THE GLORIES OF KENT AND ITS RINGING

THE appealing title was culled from the letter inviting this article to mark the occasion of the Central Council's third visit to the 'Garden of England.' The writer, of West Country origin and domiciled for a mere two decades, is less likely to look through rose-coloured spectacles than some proud Man of Kent or Kentish Man (or Maid of Kent or Kentish Maid). The distinction, one should explain, is between those born east of the River Medway and those born to its west, though few are ever sure of the correct way round, which is surprising since this same river is the boundary between the dioceses of Canterbury and Rochester, and goes to show that two dioceses or no there is a unity about Kent naturally preserved among its ringers through their county Association.

The county town of Maidstone is itself astride the Medway, and the Maidstone District is the central one of the six into which the county has been divided to give workable units for ringing activities. Londonwards lies the Lewisham District, north and south the Rochester and Tonbridge Districts respectively, matched by the Canterbury and Ashford Districts as you go eastwards. Their boundaries were fixed when railways were enjoying their heyday, but any inclination to revise them in the light of the present day is heavily affected by the weight of tradition. For all the Districts are very different and individual but nevertheless form a cohesive county 'commonwealth' in quite a literal sense. One pertinent reason for this much to the credit of the founders of the Association 80 years ago—is that there is a composite and not particulate financial structure, with no continuation funds from year to year in the individual Districts. We sink or swim together, and take pleasurable interest in the variety of activity across the District boundaries.

To reach Folkestone, Central Council members will traverse eastwards through Kent and see it fresh in its new mantle of green growth the orderly fruit trees, their young fruit beginning to swell, and the hop binds racing up their strings. Free of the outskirts of the Metropolis the rural scene predominates — oast houses and village churches sprinkled around, fringed in the north by the chalky Downs, revealed nostalgically in the white cliffs at Dover. But if the heart of the Kent countryside is the Weald, there is a different loveliness in the wilder Romney Marsh which skirts it in the south. Here sheep abound, with an occasional field of tulips giving an attractive patch of colour. The fine church of Lydd, the 'cathedral' of the Marsh, is a dominating feature, and here one is right away from the holiday crowds. In bygone years the smugglers favoured this outlying corner.

At Folkestone itself another contrast presents itself, between the harbour area and the heights of the Leas Cliff, from where, on a clear day, the coast of France is plainly visible. It is an ideal conference and holiday centre, and non-ringing wives and younger members of the family will have all they need to entertain them while ringing matters are in progress. Fortunately the conference proper is restricted to a single day, so we trust that members, despite all the attractions, will put in a hard day's work.

Already I have hinted that the Kent County is celebrating its 80th birthday, for it was on Whit Monday in 1880 that the foundation meeting was held in the Chapterhouse at Canterbury Cathedral. The two previous meetings of the Central Council in Kent were, not surprisingly, held in Canterbury, the cradle of Christianity, and in 1960 it is hoped that many will include a visit to this most wonderful city. The Archbishop is the Association's president, and we recall with pleasure a recent Association dinner at Rochester when His Grace joined with us and his 'unruly' Bishop of Rochester.

All members of the Kent County are extremely proud of our one remaining foundation member, Mr. E. S. ('Old Ted') Ruck, of Willesborough, and it is no coincidence that this tower has such a remarkable record of Sunday service ringing. And here it is appropriate to mention a few names which live in the annals of Kent ringers, beginning with James Barham, of long ago, whose band, the Lenham Youths, displayed remarkable prowess. The ringing of the full extent of Bob Major (40,320 changes) at Leeds in 27 hours or so, admittedly with reliefs, was a superb enterprise, and Barham's tombstone in Leeds Churchyard is now maintained by the Association.

As for the Kent County itself, it was built up around the exertions of Canon Helmore, who for 40 years was its general secretary and treasurer. His immediate successor in office was Mr. Fred Mitchell, who has just died. Ringing is often a family affair, and to exemplify this in Kent who better than the Council's most efficient secretary. Mr. E. A. Barnett, of Crayford, whose father and grandfather achieved distinction before him?

Finally, the bells of Kent, truly a wonderful and varied array. How difficult to pick out individual towers; but the various excursions planned over Whitsun include a goodly sample, ranging from the ring of five in the wooden campanile at Brookland, and the light 12 in the Waterloo Tower at Quex Park, to such lovely octaves as New Romney, Ashford and Headcorn, and the recast ten at Maid-

Kent, its countryside, its maids and men, its churches and bells, every member of the Kent County welcome the ringers of England to this Garden of England!

Folkestone's Welcome To The Central Council

By JOHN WILLIS

Vice-President and Acting Chairman, Kent County Association

Members of the Kent County Associa-tion, and especially those residing in East Kent, are particularly pleased that this year, on Whit Tuesday, the Central Council will meet at Folkestone.

Folkestone is well accustomed to conferences of all kinds, and to please the eye of the visitor there are lavish displays of flowers to beautify a naturally lovely locality.

The Council will be honoured by a civic welcome from the Mayor of Folkestone (Ald. F. W. Archer), and the Church will be represented by the Rt. Rev. the Bishop (Suffragan) of Tonbridge and Canon J. F. Hough, M.A., Vicar of Folkestone.

Hotels and guest houses of all types will seek to provide pleasure to the palate and restful comfort for weary ringers.

and restful comfort for weary ringers.

Weary they will indeed be if they visit all the towers—about 50—listed in 'The Ringing World' (May 6th, 1960, p. 313) where, through the work of the District secretaries, Messrs, Hillis and Phillimore, and Mr. J. R. Cooper (Ringing Master), the kind co-operation of the clergy and other authorities has been secured. Dr. Hatcher has been in general charge of arrangements with Mr. A. Berry taking care of reception tickets.

Ringers, old and young, will join in welcoming the Central Council, and they confidently expect to hear striking worthy of such an exalted body.

CENTRAL COUNCIL VISIT

After losing a peal of Kent T.B. Minor at Whitchurch. Glam. on the day of the Royal wedding, the band made a second attempt at Peterston-super-Ely on the following Tuesday. After about 20 minutes' ringing, the Vicar, who had another key, entered the church and asked the band to stop for about 20 minutes. When ringing was resumed there was only time for a quarter peal.

Among the recent group of registrations of membership of the College of Campanology is yet another overseas one—that of Mrs. Valhalla Grossmith, of Umvukwes (P.O. Box 43), Southern Rhodesia. She will be better remembered as Miss V. Hill, and she sends greetings to all old ringing friends, especially those of whom she has peal-ringing memories, in Oxford and Leicester.

Mr. Sedgley has excelled in the art of composition, and his contributions have been timely and exceedingly useful. He has some very strong views on how peal compositions should be set out when published and would

Born in 1887 at King's Lynn, where his father was a ringer, he learned to ring there, and he rang his first peal at Stow Bardolph in 1906. This was Bob Major, conducted by Frederick R. Borrett. #### KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District

Ashford District

The first meeting to be held by the Association at Lympne attracted some 40 visitors to this quiet backwater off the A20, on May 21st. It was held under the auspices of the Ashford District.

The church, with its fine Norman tower, overlooking Romney Marsh, completes an impressive mediæval group with the castle beside it. to which it was attached for centuries.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. W. Neilson. Mr. R. Brotherston read the lesson, and Miss M. Atkinson was at the organ. Afterwards an excellent tea was enjoyed in the Village Hall. At the business meeting, nine new members were elected to the Association, including five from the local band. The bells, which were restored in 1928 and augmented to, six by the addition of a treble in 1952, are rung from the centre of the church floor. Ringing was under the direction of Mr. L. T. Pope, of Willesborough.

Associate Membership

TNHE annual meeting of the Yorkshire Assotiation was held at Sheffield on April 30th, when, by kind consent of the respective clergy, the fine ring of eight at St. Marie's and the modern light ten at Ramoor were available during the afternoon, and the Cathedral (12) following the meeting till 9 p.m.

An excellent tea was enjoyed at the Wolstenholme Hall. followed by the business meeting at which the chair was taken by the president (Archdeacon C. O. Ellison), supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the honorary peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley). and Mr. A. E. Marsh, who deputised for the honorary treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield), also Messrs. E. Hudson, H. Chant, W. F. Moreton, B. Sutton, S. H. Steeel and M. Phipps.

An omnibus vote of thanks to the Cathedral authorities. St. John's, Ranmoor. and St. Marie's R.C. churches for the use of their bells was accorded on the motion of Mr. V. Bottomley, seconded by Mr. H. O. Chaddock. A similar vote of thanks to the respective local companies was unanimously accorded on the motion of Miss M. E. Wilkinson, seconded by the general secretary. Mr. J. Seager replied.

In presenting the 84th annual report, the president said they welcomed 53 new members, who lad joined during the year, but they had still a long way to go before the position could be considered as being satisfactory. There were many towers without members, and consequently not affiliated to the Association. This indicates the desirability of some form of Associate membership to attach to the Association those ringers who have not yen as the proper of the rules was also being undertaken, but as yet it was incomplete. So far it has been decided to make no alteration in the title of the Association, and not to relax the conditions for full membership. In future nominations for delegates to the Central Council will be received every third year at the September general membership of the Association. Ellison, who had now guided their affairs with commendable skill and courtesy for the past 13 years. He had great pleasure in moving that Archdeacon Ellison be re-elected. This was seconded by Mr. A. E. Marsh, and carried with acclamation. In acknowledgment, the president thanked the members for their continued confidence, adding that he would be pleased to do his best in the interests of the Association at all times.

It was unanimously decided to accept an invitation to hold the next meeting at Hull on September 17th on the motion of Mr. H. Walker, seconded by Mr. J. Slack. The president reminded the meeting that arrangements were in hand concerning the Snowdon Dinner, which would this year be held at Rotherham on October 22nd. Members were asked to note the date, and help to ensure its success by giving it their support.

Miss Carol Fernley, of Hazel Grove, and Mr. E. Bennett, of Ulverston, were elected cut/county members on the motion of the general secretary, seconded by Mr. J. Slack. This concluded the business, and ringing at the Cathedral followed until 9 p.m.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

The bright sunshine and horse chestnut trees in full bloom created a perfect setting for the meeting of the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society at Codsall, near Wolverhampton, on May 14th. A varied programme of ringing on the excellent light eight was ably supervised by Mr. E. Malin, the Ringing Master. The Society has, indeed, a bright future with the large number of young ringers present.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Gilbert Smith and in his address he spoke of the part bells played throughout the ages. They formed, he said, an historical background going back 600 years and their message was still the same today as long ago.

Tea followed in the church hall where more than 96 members and friends sat down to enjoy the hospitality of the Codsall ringers. Accommodation, needless to say, was rather cramped and many people were unable to sit at tables. We were indebted to Mr. Albert Richards, the Codsall ringers and their many lady helpers for the excellent meal provided.

Ringing continued after tea until about 8.30 p.m. Ringers were left with pleasant memories and we look forward to holding further meetings at Codsall in the future.

'LEARNING AND TEACHING BELL CONTROL'

Mr. Norman Chaddock's script of 'Learn-Mr. Norman Chaddock's script of 'Learning and Teaching Bell Control' (see Notice page 358) has a preface written by Mr. Edgar C Shepherd who writes: 'The course itself is thoroughly and thoughtfully prepared, and is clearly planned to provide for the quick learner and the slower student. The material is obligingly selective, and so are the pictures; and the experience of a skilled teacher is plainly revealed in such features as suggestioning paragraphs on stance and for questioning, paragraphs on stance and poise, and practical hints. The script is valuable without the illustrations, and the illustrations may be used in any normal form of instruction, but the course and the illustrations together make an impressive and valuable addition to the instructor's resources.'

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T. J. LOCK 11311

JANGLE, JAR, JEER, JERK, JOG, JOLT, JUGGLE, JUMBLE.—Don't, in the interests of all that life stands for, avoid all these things. There seems to be a complete scarcity of technical terms relating to ringing which commence with the letter J. but something has got to be written in order to continue and complete the alphabet. Some of the above words can be applied to human character, inasmuch you will find no jeering, jolting, juggling or jumbling in a happy, well organised and progressive band. If you feel like committing any of these things at any time, please don't. Endeavour to find a better solution to the situation. Of the other words, jangling, jarring, jogging and jerking can be applied to your success or otherwise at ringing. If you manage not to jangle, jar, jog or jerk you will be making good progress towards becoming a competent ringer. As an aid to achieving this, when you are preparing to ring, stand easy with one foot slightly in front of the other and a few inches apart (all to suit your own stature): stand with your nose not more than six inches from the natural position of the rope; face the centre of the circle of ropes so that you can see them all with the minimum of movement: stretch your arms so that you catch hold of the sally as high as you are able comfortably to do and then, when you pull at the sally, make a smooth and straight-down-towards-the-floor movement with your hands, retaining hold of the sally in its downward movement for as long as and straight-down-towards-the-floor movement with your hands, retaining hold of the sally in its downward movement for as long as you can. Your grip of the rope at tail-end will also be at the position, when the bell is at back-stroke, that your arms are again comfortably straightened. When you pull the bell from back-stroke, repeat the smooth and straight-down-towards-the-floor movement as far as you can. Always keep your elbours straight-down-towards-the-floor movement as far as you can. Always keep your elbows in to your body, no jogging your colleague on the next rope, never raise your heels off the floor and never twist your body one way or the other. Hold the rope firmly and do not let it slip through your hands. Several photographic examples of correct holding and handling of a bell rope are to be found in the Art of Change Ringing. issued by the Central Council, price one shilling. When you meet the ringer who does not do any of these Js quoted above, judge him and make him your pattern. him your pattern.

JOHNSON.—Henry Johnson. 1809-1890. one of the illustrious men of the Exercise. is remembered regularly by the annual dinner held in Birmingham, where he spent most of his life. At the age of twenty he called his own 720 changes of Grandsire Minor and at the age of 35 he was an acknowledged leader. He stimulated and sustained Thomas Thurstans in a great struggle for a peal of Stedman Triples and he was the first person to call the famous four-part extent in this method. Johnson composed a notable 26.016 Stedman Caters containing the 120 course ends and wihout a fixed bell in seconds place. He produced compositions in various standard methods, gaining merit with his originality and it was he who first showed how Middleton's composition of 5.600 Cambridge Surprise Major could be reduced to a convenient 5.056. To celebrate Johnson's eightieth birthday Sir A. P. Heywood gave a dinner in Birmingham to which all the prominent members of the ringing societies were invited and during which JOHNSON.-Henry Johnson, 1809-1890, one to which all the prominent members of the ringing societies were invited and during which the broad scheme for the formation of a Central Council for Ringers was outlined. Henry Johnson was buried in Aston church-yard and the Exercise showed its respect and appreciation to a remarkable character by erecting a tombstone on his grave.

WHEN YOUR OUTING TAKES PLACE

TAKES PLACE

Dear Sir,—I have again been asked to assist in arranging outings in this area, which is becoming increasingly difficult, so I am making an appeal to visitors of all towers. Please remember permission is granted to ring: the bells are not yours to bang about. You are in God's house and if you wore downstairs you would act as such. You are in strange surroundings so why try methods too ambitious for your company?

Here in Bures we try to keep our tower as good as the rest of our church, but last year we had the paintwork all scratched with shoes, a low ceiling so three tailends cut to pieces, three cracked stays and our Vicar has asked me if visitors could be a little quieter. We had five learners in at one time—four could not even catch the sally; the din outside was unbearable. Parishioners have every reason to try and stop visitors.

unbearable. Parishioners have every reason to try and stop visitors.

Some towers have already been closed on Saturday mornings. The fashion seems to be to grab a quick pull instead of enjoying a nice course of good striking. Can we blame some clergy for thinking we are a company of heathens? Please try to keep our towers open for our fellow ringers who wish to come later.—Yours faithfully.

THE BROADCAST-'ONE SOLITARY DONG'

Dear Sir.—Seeing the letter by H. N. After some trouble in 'tuning in.' we heard the announcer say that they were just going over to Bristol for the evening service.

We did not hear Redcliffe bells, but one solitary dong. As one who spent three years in Bristol and frequently rang at Redcliffe, it is an understatement to say that I was a little disappointed!—Yours faithfully,

Dons in the south and Sex in between, there's bound to be some smattering. The voice I heard at Yarmuth bell oupnun, I agree, had a slight Suffolk flavour but no more than a little 'Seud orf tha wort'ur' and would certainly be treated as furren in a good many places between the Waveney and Deben valleys. #### MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD NOT UN-CO-OPERATIVE

NOT UN-CO-OPERATIVE

Dear Sir.—One can obtain an impression from recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World.' particularly from the impertinent comment in the report of the London University Guild annual meeting, that the Manchester University Guild has purposely been an aloof and unco-operative member of the Universities Association. This impression is most certainly not a true one. We have never refused to help other Universities in our own area, and any member of other Guilds, including London University, are always welcome in Manchester. The purpose of the letter from our secretary was to correct a false claim regarding a 'bigfour' group amongst the University Guilds, and to stress that with as many Guilds north of Birmingham as south of it, the viewpoint of certain southerners who consider the northerners as remote outsiders is now quite unjustified.

northerners as remote outsiders is now quite unjustified.

We have invited the Universities Association to hold a dinner in Manchester, and I believe that if it takes place it will be the first annual dinner held north of Birmingham. We shall certainly do all we can to help if in future members of southern Universities wish to come 'up North' more frequently than in the past.—Yours faithfully.

Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, for the welcome received at their ringing festival on May 14th.

Like many other visitors. I was much impressed by the excellent arrangements and the willingness of local ringers to act as guides, etc., and this great occasion, given civic recognition by the presence of the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Bristol at the official luncheon, will long he remembered by those privileged to attend.—Yours faithfully.

PERFORMANCES

Dear Sir.—I was interested to read Mr. May's letter headed 'Quarter Peals,' in which he mentions 1.000 changes at Headington.

This, of course, was a performance encouraging to the young ringers included, but, of course, was not intended to be claimed at any time as a quarter peal.—Yours sincerely.

One Sunday morning, whilst listening to the broadcast of one of those excellent recordings of Evercreech bells, a prominent North Country ringer, as he heard the tenors dodging behind, exclaimed. 'That's a bob there! His thrifty wife immediately began to search the floor in the hope of finding a shilling, and it was several minutes before he could subdue his laughter enough to explain to her just what kind of a 'bob' he meant!

BRISTOL RINGING FESTIVAL

PRISTOL'S first festival went off very well indeed. How could it have been otherwise when you have the loveliest city in England on a glorious spring day, many fine rings of bells and the whole show organised by one so able as Bert Bennett, assisted by his committee. We've never had it so good! It is said we had 200 ringers there, but it seemed a lot more when they were all crowded into the belfries at Redcliffe, Kingsdown, or the Cathedral. It was a day for the tenor ringer, for from his lofty elevation he alone could see which of the crowd had a bell-rope and which had not. More than once an innocent bystander was fiercely told to dodge before the conductor realised he was not actually ringing!

It was a hey-day for the tower-grabber, but realised he was not actually ringing!

It was a hey-day for the tower-grabber, but 140 took time off to lunch informally with Bristol's Lord Mayor. His Worship, feeling no doubt in a somewhat statistical mood after having polled more votes against than for himself in the Council elections two days previously, pointed out that had twelve men set out to ring the extent of Maximus on the day the Gloucester and Bristol Association was formed, they could have done it twice over by now. What opportunities we do let slip!

But still the respectability of sitting down by now. What opportunities we do let slip!

But still, the respectability of sitting down to lunch with a Lord Mayor, a Dean and the Chancellor of the Diocese would probably not have been offered to ringers back in 1878. Nor perhaps would we then have had the opportunity of attending together, and filling the nave at such a moving service as we had in the Cathedral that afternoon. Ringers together are no ordinary congregation, for it is their ministry to assist in the service of worship, and one often feels a oneness between priest and congregation in ringers' services. worship, and one often feels a oneness between priest and congregation in ringers' services, which is not always present in parish services. What finer hymn could we have had than that wonderful one by George Herbert:

'Let all the world in every corner sing.
My God and King.'
And what appropriate hymn to close with

And what appropriate hymn to close with than:

'Now think we all our God.'

The Dean reminded us of the sacred ministry of our calling, and closed his address with this quotation, 'What we become in the presence of God, so we are all the day through.'

This festival, you see, was conceived with a service to God, to promote our Christian fellowship with one another and particularly with our own clergy. Was it successful? That is only known to each one of us in our own hearts as we live the day through.

A record number of well over 50 people attended the meeting of the Chertsey District at Walton on May 14th. Most of them came from within the Diocese, but there were also visitors from Petersfield. Kingston and Sunbury.

Prior to the service, a meeting of the District Ringing Masters was held to discuss plans for a memorial to the late Mr. A. H. Pulling. It was decided that a bell should be hung in the new Cathedral, preferably to be installed before the dedication service, which could be used for the Cathedral services, and later be incorporated in the ring of bells when the tower is completed. tower is completed.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY EASTER TOUR

ON Easter Eve the first-comers descended upon Heathfield, in Sussex, where the Society had 'taken over' a guest house, Barratts Park, as a base for the tour. After the first of a series of excellent suppers, they rang sundry unadventurous methods, as if by way of a gentle warm-up before the tour proper began, on the sweet-toned six at Warhleton. proper be Warbleton.

proper began, on the sweet-toned six at Warbleton.

On Sunday morning there was ringing for services at Brightling, Dallington, Waldron and Heathfield; at the last, a course of Kent was halted while young Nancy Threlfall protested against the idea of her mother ringing while she was not there to watch. Having established, however, that such a thing would not occur again, she preserved an admirable equanimity for the rest of the tour.

After lunch came an impromptu tower-grab; a five was called for, and a good one found at Ewhurst; then followed some pleasant touches on the six at Sedlescombe. After some acrobatics had permitted the recovery of a rope-hook that had run up to its pulley, the heavy-laden vehicles moved on to Dallington. Before the band who were to ring for evening service at Heathfield went on their way, one member demonstrated his answer to the prevailing Sussex fashion of rope-adjustment. Disdaining the use of knots, he struck his bell while remaining seated, rising only at the call of 'Stand.'

of 'Stand.'

The Master was so moved by this performance that he organised an immediate quarter peal, which was abandoned only when we were joined by members of the local band for some combined touches.

band for some combined touches.

On Monday morning there arrived the coach which was to carry us about for the next four days, its driver becoming a enthusiastic spectator in every ringing room. After negotiating for the first time the two right-angled corners between Barratts Park and the Heathfield Hotel (which housed the overflow party), we set out for Hailsham. Here we found a neatly-kept ringing loft, and, conditions being favourable, a touch of six-spliced was brought round.

At Eastbourne the party sampled four interestingly varied rings of eight. At St. Mary's (15\frac{1}{4} cwt.) the bells went well but were a shade thin in tone. There was something of a scramble to give everyone a ring at All Saints' but in spite of harassed cries up the stairs ('Tell him to call it round: there's a service in five minutes and two bands to go yet!') no one was disappointed.

A CANCELLATION

The rush was the result of an alteration of our schedule following the cancellation of a morning peal attempt. Last year, there were no less than nine peals in the tour programme, and the report in the 'R. W.' contained disturbing phrases such as 'anguished moments.' considerable furore.' 'ceased abruptly with the Master acting on humanitarian principles' and 'lack of volunteers.' This year, the reduction of the number of peals to three prevented the appearance of any furore, anguish or necessity to apply humanitarian principles; it did not, however, promote the appearance of any volunteers.

The Society continued its ringing at East-bourne after lunch, exercising itself at St. Saviour's (24\frac{1}{2}\text{ cwt. in an imposing brick tower) before relaxing at Christ Church (8\frac{1}{2}\text{ cwt.); it then went home by way of Alfriston, where ringers perform in the very centre of the cruciform church. In spite of ominous quiverings of the guide-frame the ropes 'came down straight.' which was just as well in view of the number of holiday-makers who crowded into the church to witness the spectacle.

The strain of this public performance seemed to tell upon several members; although the careful coaching by our tame Wealdman ensured that we all pronounced correctly the name of our last tower, we did less than justice to Hellingly's sound 11 cwt. six.

Tuesday began with visits to Ticchurst, a difficult six, and to Goudhurst (8, 25 cwt.). There was a slight delay before we could get into this tower; those who did not disappear in search of coffee watched the passings and repassings of Frances, who shouted from her car window that she was getting nearer and nearer to success in her quest for the tower key. The secret of the key's hiding-place was eventually learnt, and the wait proved well worth while.

Another very good eight was found at Hawkhurst. After a little difficulty in persuading the tenor to go up right, we discovered that the quaint 'coconut' element in the sound of the bells inspired rhy A CANCELLATION

SLUMBERING DURING STEDMAN

SLUMBERING DURING STEDMAN
A pleasant afternoon began at Northiam and Salehurst. At the latter tower the afternoon sunlight filtering into the picturesque ringing room caused people to slumber during Stedman, but eventually Colin Taylor organised some good Double Norwich for the benefit of his tape recorder. Unfortunately, one of the valves died a slow death during the recording, so that the play-back gave the impression that the tower was being wheeled away slowly over the horizon.

gave the impression that the tower was being wheeled away slowly over the horizon.

After tea, some good London Major at Battle attracted Peter N. Bond, who joined us in a fast and furious touch of Spliced which gradually overtook the conductor and made its escape. In the evening there was a most enjoyable trip to Burwash, where it was shown that a low ceiling can lend atmosphere to a ringing room without interfering with striking.

On Wednesday, we found that a taperecorder had been set up to await us at Buxted: perhaps it was stage-fright which thwarted all efforts to ring a really fitting touch. The symptoms persisted at Maresfield.

thwarted all efforts to ring a really fitting touch. The symptoms persisted at Maresfield, and confidence was not regained until after a grand lunch at the Foresters Arms at Fairwarp. Then everyone found the 15 cwt. eight of Christ Church a joy to handle, although tine bells have a repressed, reedy tone in the ringing room which bears no relation to their true voice when heard outside.

Lewes bells, our only ten, were kept manned for an hour before the day finished at Ringmer. This time a low ceiling proved disturbing, and although listeners outside liked the tone of these bells, observers inside the ringing room received the impression that heavy weather was made of most touches. In the evening, the ringers of Heathfield were kind enough to welcome us to a special practice night practice night.

Came Thursday, our last full day, and the weather was as clear and bright as it had remained for the whole of the tour. We started the day at Mayfield, where the noble detonations of the tenor delighted everyone, and carried on to Wadhurst. Here the very attractive 12 cwt, eight were rung to a course of Superlative which matched the glass and wrought-steel screen which separates ringers and nave; all agreed that the idea was excellent, but some had doubts concerning the execution. execution.

Lunch in Tunbridge Wells was followed by a visit to St. Peter's, where the eight were rung at a variety of tempi; then we tried our hand on the six at Frant, a ring of decided originality. Unfortunately we failed to master these bells before our allotted time was up. The last tower of the tour, and a most fitting one with which to end, was that of St. Denys', Rotherfield. No one could fail to be impressed by this fine 23 cwt. eight.

There had been a peal attempt planned for Friday; whereas, however, many members would have liked to stand in, too few could remain to do so, which meant a reluctant cancellation. Nevertheless, everyone who had come on the tour went away well satisfied, and our grateful thanks go to the incumbents and ringers who permitted us to ring their and our grateful thanks go to the incumbents and ringers who permitted us to ring their bells and met us on our arrival. MEMBERS, representing 30 towers in the Diocese, together with visitors from London, Suffolk, Lincolnshire and St. Helens, met in Norwich, on the occasion of the annual meeting on Saturday, April 30th, well over 100 sitting down to tea.

The Rev. Giles Galley opened the meeting with prayers, and the company stood for a moment's silence in memory of the 14 members who had passed to higher service during 1959. The president, Mr. Nolan Golden, took the chair, and was given a great welcome after his recent stay in hospital. Thanking them for their good wishes and especially all who had written letters and visited him in hospital, he said it had been a source of strength and encouragement to him to know that so many of his friends had him in their thoughts and of his friends had him in their thoughts and prayers. Unfortunately, he would be going back again for a further operation very shortly, but hoped that it would result in him being fully recovered and able to play his full part in the activities of the Association once again

The Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Barrett, said he wished, on behalf of the Association, to offer their congratulations to the president on his great achievement in ringing over 1,000 peals for his home Association, the great majority of which he had also been the conductor, and composer of many of them. His 1,000th peal was a peal of 5,056 of Cambridge Surprise Major, rung at Hingham, August 12th, 1959. He asked this to be fully recorded in the minutes. This was seconded and passed with acclamation. The Association are fortunate with acclamation. The president thanked the Ringing Master for his remarks and said that he looked back with happy memories of his ringing career and of all the friends he made during that time and looked forward to resuming his activities once again. YOUTH AND 'THE RINGING WORLD'. In his review of 1959 the president said it seemed a year of consolidation rather than a record one. Membership had gone up to 478, an increase of 22 on the previous year. It was most encouraging to see again the large number of young people present, a feature of the last few annual general meetings. It was a great pity that several of the older members had lapsed from membership, but he hoped that everything possible would be done to bring them back. He reminded the younger ringers of the importance of taking 'The Ringing World.' This is essential if they were to get the full enjoyment from the ringing activities. It would help in widening their interest in new methods and could persuade them to learn composition and so eventually be able to call and conduct peals.

The great event of the year was, of course, the dedication and opening of the 13 new bells at $1. Nicholas'. Great Yarmouth. He congratulated the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. G. Restoration has been completed at Attleborough, but comment had been made in the failure to have the ropes fall in full circle. The ten at Aylsham will be restored in the present year, also the five at Kessingland. It is understood that this ring will be augmented to six. to six.

The Ringing Master, in his report, stressed the importance of maintaining and improving Sunday service ringing. He had visited a number of towers without warning during the year, and had been pleased to hear the bells ringing. With a membership of approximately 500 he was sure that a great improvement could be made 'and appealed for greater support in this direction. 85 peals were rung during the The general secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. #### SALTASH, CORNWALL

Until May 23rd, the six bells of SS. Nicholas and Faith. Saltash. Cornwall, had been unringable for about 15 years. It was because of other urgent work that the bells had to wait, but now all is well again. On Sunday, May 1st, the bells were hallowed by the Lord Bishop of Truro, the Rt. Rev. J. M. Key, before being hoisted into the tower. The work has entailed a completely new frame and fittings, and the a completely new frame and fittings, and the recasting of the third.

The bells were originally a Thomas Bilbie six.

The bells were originally a Thomas Bilbie six. cast in 1760. They were rehung by Aggett, of Chagford, in 1902 when the two tenors were recast. The tenor weighs about 15 cwt. The restoration has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.. and the bells are now tuneful and go well.

The church was filled to capacity for the opening on May 23rd. Evensong was conducted by the Vicar. Rev. J. C. Boyes. and the sermon preached by the Rev. A. S. Roberts (Vicar of Carbis Bay). who took as his text 'The seven angels which had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound' (Rev. viii, 6).

Mr. Roberts pointed out that in May of last year they were celebrating the 100th anniversary of the opening of Brunell's famous Saltash the polythese this May it was exactly two of the opening of Brunell's famous Saltash Bridge, and that this May it was exactly two hundred years since Bilbie's six bells were erected. The ringers' work was first of all a dedicated work in the service of the Church. but it was also progressive, and there was a tremendous joy in it. It was an art with a wide interest, and no other body of church workers travelled from place to place like ringers.

'To ringers Saltash, without its bells, had become rather unimportant, but now with restored bells, and a new bridge being built, no doubt many visitors might be expected.

'Receive them as brothers beloved,' said Mr. Roberts, 'and after cultivating the team spirit in the local tower remember the wider sphere of ringing in the Diocese, the whole country, as well as in many countries of the world. Further, ringing cannot be properly learnt without a text book, and every tower, if not the individual, should take "The Ringing World."

There was no lack of ringing with Landulph. St. Dominick and St. Stephen-by-Saltash also available. This last, in every circumstance, must be the finest six in Cornwall. With a 161 cwt, tenor, in a spacious tower, a frame for eight, hung low in the tower, perforated slate in place of louvres and the first example of a lantern roof in Cornwall, they sound magnificent both inside and outside, and as another Taylor ring Saltash is now blessed with two splendid rings.
