BETJEMAN — A POET OF ECCLESIOLOGY

By PETER CAME

JOHN Betjeman's love of churches, their architecture and furnishings, is well known from his many articles, poems, broadcasts and from the book he edited: 'Collins' Guide to the English Churches.' He is in fact one of the few interesting and sophisticated writers on the subject and seems to discover aspects about any church that both please and amuse him; things that the average person would overlook.

Again, Betjeman's familiarity and deep affection for English ecclesiology is only too apparent from his 'Collected Poems.' The reading of these gives one the impression that he has much more than just an interest in matters ecclesiological; he is fanatical about them. Anything from musty hassocks to a great piece of architecture like Westminster Abbey gains his attention. This interest is of paramount importance to his life and his enthusiasm for things ecclesiastical has perhaps come down from Gray, of 'The Elegy in a Country Churchyard,' who seems to be Betjeman's true poetic ancestor.

In 'Before the Anæsthetic' or 'Real Fright' are found many ecclesiological terms as well as other terms that are obviously analogous with those in campanology, together with the author's apparent fear of death. In this poem many terrifying thoughts are conveyed to him through the noise of the bells. The bells at first call softly and gently and finally become hard:

Now hard and new as pitch pine stalls,
Now full with hope from ages past,
Now dull with death and hell at last.
Swing up! and give me hope of life,
Swing down! and plunge the surgeon's knife.
I, breathing for a moment, see
Death wing himself away from me
And think, as on this bed I lie,
Is it extinction when I die?

After his doubting during the fright, the bells ask him whether he has known the Lord. He replies:

St. Giles's bells they hear me call
I never knew the Lord at all.
Oh not in me your Saviour dwells
Your ancient, rich St. Giles's bells Illuminating missals—spires—
Wide screens and decorated quires—
All these I loved, and on my knees
I thanked myself for knowing these.

Once again this poem shows only too clearly Betjeman's love for churches. They delight him and however pathetic or depressed he feels he knows that there is something to live for: 'I thanked the Lord for knowing these.'

Betjeman has studied Victorian architecture with great diligence:

On villa'd hill and on Sir Gilbert's spire
So new, so high, so pure, so broached, so tall.

The author can appreciate that the spire of '... Christ Church, Swindon,' has qualities as a piece of architecture: it is tall and broached and is as pure a Gothic as Sir Gilbert Scott could make it.

Betjeman's pursuit of things Victorian, if he is being serious, is well brought out in the poem 'Hymn,' referring to 'The Church's Restoration in eighteen eighty three,' of which he sings the praises:

Worthy persecution
Oh dust! O hue divine!
O cheerful substitution,
Thou varnished pitch pine!
Church furnishing! Church furnishing!
Sing art and crafty praise!

It seems that Betjeman finds something aesthetically beautiful in Victorian architecture which other people perhaps fail to appreciate. He has a very deep feeling for it, which may be either religious or sentimental, as conveyed to us in 'St. Saviour's, Aberdeen Park, Highbury, London, N.':

Great red church of my parents cruciform crossing they knew—

Over these same encaustics they and their parents trod Bound through a red-brick transept for a once familiar pew

Where the organ set them singing and the sermon let them nod

And up this coloured brickwork the same long shadows grew.

As these in the stencilled chancel where I feel in the presence of God.

Lord Birkenhead in his introduction to 'Collected Poems,' quoting John Sparrow, has described Betjeman as 'a landscape poet' (though he does not completely ignore his ecclesiastical interests). This description does not do justice to Betjeman's true interest. There are few of his poems in which one does not find mention of the 'broached spire,' the 'Victorian tower,' the tombstone or even the noise of bells. He is obviously so aware of churches, their architecture and furnishings, that he rarely fails to leave them out of any of his writings. Even in 'The Licorice Fields at Pontefract' he has to include:

From various black Victorian towers
The Sunday evening bells
Came pealing over dales and hills:

MISS JEAN BARNETT'S WEDDING

THE wedding took place at St. Paulinus', Crayford, on Saturday, July 18th, of Miss Jean F. Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett, of Crayford, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, and Mr. James A. D. Woolford, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Woolford, of Acomb, Yorks. The service was conducted by the Rector (Canon P. C. Collins), and during the ceremony Miss Gillian Sunmall, a young member of the Crayford band, sang 'Jesu, joy of man's desiring.'

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a princess line white satin brocade dress with a short bouffant veil and carried a crescent of dark red roses. The bridesmaids were the Misses Pat Wayman (Surfleet), Ann Fellows (Kings Norton and Exeter), Judith Corby (Sevenoaks), Amanda Woolley (Bushey Heath) and Jennifer Freeman (Lincoln), who all wore green taffeta brocade dresses and carried white prayer books. The best man was Mr. Colin Reeves, a fellow member with the bridegroom of the York Minster band.

A reception, attended by some 90 guests, including a number of well-known ringers, was held at the Royal Victoria and Bull Hotel, Dartford.

Before and after the service the bells were rung by Messrs. H. E. Audsley, W. E. Bond, P. A. Corby (Jean's godfather), F. J. Cullum, J. Freeman, T. J. Lock and C. W. Woolley, all of whom have known Jean 'since she was so-high,' and Mr. V. Bottomley, a friend of Jim's.

Both bride and bridegroom have recently been living in Exeter, where they rang at Heavitree and at the Cathedral, also taking part in a number of peals in the area.

During the evening a peal of Cambridge Major was rung at St. John-the-Baptist's, Eriih, and Cumberlands assembled at Lincoln rang a peal of Bristol Surprise Major. An earlier attempt at St. Mary Magdalene's, Holloway, was unfortunately unsuccessful, as was one for a quarter peal at Withyham. Other ringing included quarters on the following Monday at St. Clement Danes by some of the 'first Sunday' band, of which Jean was for several years a member, and at Sidcup by six of the Crayford band.

After a honeymoon spent touring Jean and Jim will be living at Tattershall, Lincoln, when Jim takes up a teaching appointment at nearby Coningsby.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A successful quarterly meeting of the Northern District was held at Knebworth on July 4th. Ringing in methods to suit all began soon after 3 o'clock, until the Rev. P. Maddox, from Codicote, conducted the service. There had been difficulties in arranging tea, for which apologies were made, so some enjoyed a picnic meal.

Mr. W. Critchley was chairman for the business meeting, at which Mr. R. Trebilcock (Baldock) and Miss R. Spicer (Knebworth) were elected members, and Mr. B. Cousins (Saffron Walden) a non-resident life member. The District was invited to hold its next quarterly meeting at Codicote on October 3rd; the August meeting will not be held, but we hope to visit Graveley for the evening meeting in September. There was some discussion on the topics of ringing courses and district boundaries. Members were asked for their views on the contents of the annual report. The members stood in silence in memory of the late L. Fidler, who had one time been Northern District secretary and also president of the Association.

Ringing continued until 8.30 with many visitors. J.S.

Mr. E. P. Inskio, of Bromham, Beds, writes that he is very pleased with the new plan for peals. He has taken 'The Ringing World' since No. 1 and has not missed a copy.

MR. J. A. D. WOOLFORD—MISS J. F. BARNETT.

WEDDING OF MISS JANET S. BAILEY

The ringers of St. Mary's, Sunbury-on-Thames, rang their bells on July 18th in honour of Miss Janet Sylvia Bailey (a member of the band) who was married there that day to Mr. William Charles (Joe) Hopper, of Putney. The Vicar, Rev. David Savill, officiated at the fully choral service. In the beautifully decorated church each pew had been bedecked with flowers and the base of the tower with 'trees' of carnations by the Altar Flower Guild, assisted by a friend of the bride skilled in the art of floral display.

A full length dress of nylon organza with bouffant veil was worn by the bride, whose bouquet was of green orchids with stephanotis. She was given away by her uncle and attended by her sister and the bridegroom's niece.

Janet was one of a group of Sunbury learner-ringers taught change-ringing by Tony Price, of Feltham, about 15 years ago. Her progress was rapid and in a short space of time she had entered the peal-ringing field with a high standard. Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus, and Cinques came easily to her. She was also a member of the Roving Ringers and toured with them. A soprano singer, she has taken the leading parts in oratorios with several local choral societies and with the Parish Church choir which she joined when a schoolgirl. The bridegroom, who is an engineer with the B.P. Research Centre at Sunbury, does not ring but is a frequent visitor to the belfry and well-known to the ringers.

The reception was at the Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court, and the honeymoon in Corsica. D.B.

Grantley Hall Course

The next Grantley Hall Ringing course will be held from September 25th to September 27th with Messrs. Frederick Sharpe, Nolan Golden and Norman Chaddock as lecturers. A talk on the Washington visit illustrated by coloured slides and recordings of the bells will be given by Mr. Chaddock.

Further details later. Applications to The Warden, Grantley Hall, near Ripon, Yorkshire.

Centenary of a Leeds Parish

The peal recorded in our columns at St. Mary's, Hunslet, Parish Church (Leeds) to commemorate the centenary of the church was a send off to the Anniversary Week which commenced on July 12th. Records of the installation of this ring of eight bells in the parochial Church Council minutes are practically non-existent.

The report in the minutes on the recast bells in 1939 by John Taylor and Co. state that they were cast by John Warner and Sons, 1863. A peal record book, in beautiful copperplate writing exists, which gives the first peal in this tower. Oxford Treble Bob Major, in 1871. In all 16 peals were rung up to 1922. J. W. Snowden, founder of the Yorkshire Association, conducted three peals in 1876 and 1878; as far as I can ascertain only 4 have been rung since. Amongst the past incumbents who attended this anniversary was the Rt. Rev. E. M. Gresford Jones, now Bishop of St. Albans, who was the vicar from 1939 and through the last war years.

This church with spire is in a district in the suburbs of the city of Leeds: the district is older than the city itself, and is set amidst engineering works and industry where such firms as Hunslet Engine Co. and Towlers Tractors produce diesel engines and tractors for many countries of the world today.

One wonders about the future of this church and parish as the population is fast disappearing under the steam roller of Leeds Corporation slum clearance programme? But one closely connected cannot help but have affection for this church which, despite an occasional broken window and its blackened stonework, stands gaunt and defiant, its bells ringing out God's message far and wide. A.C.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK W. ROGERS

An Appreciation

Mr. E. A. Barnett writes:—
I was glad to read the tribute paid by Mr. George Pullinger to Fred Rogers at the annual meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. It seemed wrong that the passing of such a ringer should have gone almost unnoticed.

I first met Mr. Rogers in the early 1930's. For several years he and his great friend, Alf Greenwood, spent a week or so peal ringing in this area, and Crayford, which in those days was something of a Mecca for peal ringers, frequently figured in the list. My grandfather, who was no mean judge, once described Fred to me as 'a perfect striker', a distinction he accorded, in my hearing at least, to one other ringer only, Mr. Reuben Sanders. I also recall visits around that time to St. Mary's, Portsea, during family holidays in the area, and being smuggled afterwards into 'The Salvation', having fortunately the height, if not the years, to carry it off.

Among Fred's numerous ringing distinctions was that he rang more than fifty peals at St. Peter's, Brighton, although living many miles away. One memorable tour in which he took part was in South Wales in 1932 along with a number of the finest ringers of the day—Keith Hart and Oliver Sippetts, Charles W. Roberts and Wilfred Williams among them. It is rather sad that of the eleven whose photograph appeared in 'The Ringing World' afterwards, five are dead and only Don Clift and Wilfred Williams are now active ringers. Fred served the cause of ringing in many ways and his passing is a great loss.

MISS CHRISTINE GOLDEN

The ashes of the late Miss Christine Golden were interred in the quiet setting of the church of St. Mary, Northrepps, the birthplace of her father, Mr. F. N. Golden.

Canon A. G. G. Thurlow officiated, and after the interment 720 Bob Minor was rung with the bells half-muffled by Mrs. G. Sayer 1, Mr. G. Sayer 2, Chris Sayer 3, Canon A. G. G. Thurlow 4, Mr. F. N. Golden (cond.) 5, Mr. C. Bird 6.

WRATTEN'S WRINGERS, 1964

SATURDAY, July 4th, dawned bright as ringers from Swindon, Bristol, Southampton and East Anelia made their way to Colwall, in Herefordshire, for the start of the second annual peal tour of 'Wratten's Wringers'. The first peal attempt of the week was delayed to enable a number of the ropes to be replaced and, more importantly, to allow the tenor man to satisfy himself that England were going to lose the third Test. These preliminaries over, the band settled down to ring a good peal of Stratford Surprise, the first in the method for all. By eight o'clock the week's headquarters, the Great Western Hotel, Cheltenham, had been reached, and three more members of the party collected.

An early start was made on Sunday by those staying at the Wratten establishment, who rang at Charlton Kings (8. 17 cwt.), before joining the local band and the rest of the party for ringing at St. Mary's, Cheltenham, with Cambridge Royal, Stedman Cinques and Little Bob Maximus. Sufficient time remained before lunch for the Bristol contingent to beat The Rest 9-8 at football.

When we arrived at Hanbury (8. 12 cwt.) for the afternoon peal there was no sign of Brian Bladon, the last 'full-timer' of the party, and Chris Kippin was persuaded to take his place. The conductor having learnt a new composition of Aldenham, a good peal was duly rung. Outside Brian was waiting for us, having repaired the mechanical trouble to his car, and shortly afterwards the non-pealers returned from ringing on the ten at Kings Norton.

NO 'MONDAY MORNING FEELING

There was no sign of the 'Monday morning feeling' about the attempt for Cambridge Minor at Ripple, Worcs. (6. 13 cwt.), but unfortunately a broken rope put paid to it after 1½ hours' ringing. Meanwhile the rest of the party were more fortunate with a first-class long length (5,216) of Lincolnshire at Malvern Link (16½ cwt.). Claines (10. 14 cwt.) was the afternoon tower, and here two-spliced Surprise Royal was rushed round in 24 hours—rather too fast for these easy-going bells, and it was suspected that the cricketer tenor-man was impatient to know the outcome of the Test match.

One car-load managed to 'grab' Strensham (6. 11 cwt.) on their way back to Cheltenham afterwards. Once back at headquarters, it soon became apparent that Cheltenham's famous Promenade had been taken over by teenagers (quite legally, as part of Cheltenham's Music Festival), and after tea various members of the party joined the throng. The sight of six of them standing in a circle on a zebra-crossing and solemnly going through the motions of ringing a touch of Minor on tower-bells caused considerable interest, and it is expected that the Twist may soon be replaced by another 'dance' that may seem rather familiar to those who know something of ringing!

Tuesday morning's programme called for Minor at Great Barrington (8 cwt.) and Superlative at Kingham (8. 12 cwt.), but again the Minor didn't go, this time because of a shift. Once more the eight-bell peal was luckier. After the fast peal here, Pudsey was rung in what seemed a very stately pace at Kirtlington (8. 16½ cwt.) in the afternoon while the non-ringers disappeared to the cinema in Oxford.

With haze hanging round the Malvern Hills the next morning eight made their way to Ross-on-Wye (8. 25 cwt.) for a peal of Yorkshire. Some of the bells have a tendency to drop here, and a fair amount of hard work was called for. After two hours a couple of men appeared in the belfry and, to the conductor's consternation, made their way towards the bells. Fortunately they had only come to wind the clock, and the peal was concluded without further incident. Meanwhile six more had gone to Aston Ingham (6. 5½ cwt.) for what turned out to be the only successful attempt for Minor during the week. A good knowledge of Minor splicing enabled thirteen methods to be rung, rather to the surprise of the Bristol member of the band, who was sure he knew no more than seven or eight methods altogether!

The afternoon attempt was on the fine eight at Usk, Monmouthshire (14½ cwt.), but unfortunately 7-Spliced was lost through a shift after 2½ hours with only one more part to go. Spirits were soon revived on returning to Cheltenham, where the non-drivers showed that there was 'nothing to it,' albeit only in dodgery (surely a misnomer!) at the fair-ground.

CAMBRIDGE AS AN ALARM CLOCK

Thursday morning started for Chris Kippin with Cambridge 'in hand' over his bed, as effective as any alarm clock. Later, Bisley (8. 17 cwt.) proved a surprising handful, and at the end of the peal of Rutland the refreshments provided at the Rectory were extremely welcome. After well over two hours' ringing at Tetbury (8. 17 cwt.) the conductor set up an attempt for Whitminster, when it became clear that something was wrong. The 'something' turned out to be the composition, which would have been one of the most musical yet rung, having the sixth 16 courses in 6ths!

Two ringers were found to be missing upon descending from the tower. They returned in the early hours of Friday morning from, of all places, Birmingham, where they'd scored a 'bonus' peal of Royal at the Cathedral.

Two good peals were rung in the Vale of Evesham on Friday—four-Spliced at Bretforton (8. 9 cwt.) in the morning, and Whitminster at Hinton-on-the-Green (8. 10 cwt.) in the afternoon, making up for the previous day's failure. The non-ringers took to golf for the afternoon, with varying degrees of success. In the evening the usual celebration was held at an unsuspecting inn, the highlight being Chris Kippin struggling to master an antiquated accordion. By the end of the evening he had become quite adept and we were able to fulfil musical requests from the public bar to everyone's satisfaction.

Alas, the end was now in sight and the pace telling. On Saturday morning a tenors-parted composition of Cambridge Major was lost at Iedbury (8. 22 cwt.) after an hour because of a shift, and in the afternoon Minor in the method at Tisbury (6. 12 cwt.) didn't last beyond the first extent. Fortunately the afternoon's eight-bell band managed to ring a peal of Ashted at Watermoor, Cirencester (8. 19½ cwt.), so we could still hold up our heads.

Our appreciation and thanks are due to Cyril and Margery for the excellent arrangements and accommodation during the week, and also to all the incumbents and ringers who made the week possible and us all so welcome. It only remains to say: 'Roll on next year!'

MERSHAM CHURCH BELLS

The bells, 5 by Joseph Hatch c. 1630 and 3 by Mears 1880-2 are in urgent need of repair, a new frame and fittings are required, and if possible a new ringing floor, and new floor under bells. This is not all: the south wall of the tower needs extensive repairs.

Mersham is a small parish and although a good sum has been raised, there is still a lot more to get.

Will anyone who has rung these or may like to when the job is finished care to send a donation to the Rev. C. F. Pollard, Mersham Rectory, Ashford, Kent.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

About twenty visitors were present for the service and tea at Cheriton on July 18th. Unfortunately the meeting coincided with the Hythe and Lympne outings, and these towers sent their apologies, as did Mr. B. Marks of Brabourne.

The service was conducted by the Rector, (the Rev. C. Munt), Mr. W. Chandler, choir-master and hon. secretary of the Cheriton ringers, was at the organ, and the choir was in attendance. The Rector, who is himself a change-ringer, gave an interesting address. Tea was afterwards enjoyed at the Church School, served by the ladies of the Cheriton ringers.

At the business meeting it was reported that work was to start on rehanging the bells at Pluckley about the middle of August. Ringing at Brabourne has finally had to stop until a major restoration can be undertaken. A new frame is needed, which, it is hoped, will make provision for eight bells. This thinly populated parish has already raised £4,000 for the restoration of the church, and is now faced with this further heavy expense of £2,000. Brabourne has eight enthusiastic learners, recruited by Mr. Marks (who is also organising the Bells Appeal Fund). In the meantime they are continuing to practise at Stowting. They rang every Sunday until the ban was imposed. The historic bells of Mersham will probably be taken to the foundry at the end of the year. The report on the tower at Ashford has been received, but it is not yet clear whether or not the ring will be augmented to ten.

Eight new members, three adults and five juniors, were elected to the Association. Mr. Alan Berry, the Ringing Master, voiced the thanks of the visitors to the Rector, to the organist and the choir, and to Mr. A. Eastmoad, captain of Cheriton ringers, and his helpers for making all the arrangements.

Some useful practice continued for about an hour on the light eight. The old tower, splendidly situated, and with its Saxon window and doorway, has been much improved by its new ringing floor. Ringing continued until about 9 o'clock at St. Nicholas', Newington, where the ringers were joined by visitors from Chelsfield, Greenwich and South Wales.

C.T.H.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual general meeting of the Hereford Diocesan Guild was held at Clifford, Herefordshire, on Whit-Monday, and during the day ringing took place at towers in the Clifford District.

Over 120 members and visitors were present at the service in St. Mary's Church which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Hayes). Tea was served in the Church Hall, and was followed by the annual meeting.

Mr. H. G. Thomas, of Bridgnorth, was elected Master to succeed Mr. A. T. Wingate, whose term of office had expired. All other officers were re-elected. In recognition of services rendered to the Guild, and in appreciation of the services that he still performs, particularly in regard to week-end courses of instruction, Mr. W. F. Moreton was made a vice-president.

Proposals made by the Rules Revision Committee were adopted and it was decided that the revised rules should operate from January 1st, 1965. A striking competition was inaugurated.

The 1965 annual general meeting will be held at Clun.

A LAYMAN ON A BELLRINGERS' OUTING

'If you are not doing anything on June 27th, care to come on the ringers' outing?' My son casually put the question across the table one morning some months ago. 'And do you think you could do a piece for "The Ringing World"?' you know, the layman's point of view? I thought for a moment what I would have in common with the number of lusty (vigorous and healthy connotation) young lads and lasses who make up the band at St. Mary's of Beddington. Ale! It has been my experience that wherever there is a church so there would be a pub. I have often wondered which was there first, a church or a pub. While the ringers sampled the bells, I could sample the local brews — an arrangement which should bring pleasure to all concerned.

Although not being a ringer I am not entirely ignorant of the profession. I know that Grand-sire is pronounced to sound like Grantser, that a touch is not an attempt to borrow half-a-crown, that a spliced double is not a mixture of spirits, that a canon, besides being a Church dignitary, is also a part of a bell and that if one wishes to upset a ringer call him a campanologist.

And so on June 27th, 35 ringers and non-ringers set out for the Thames Valley. It was such a day which old and middle-aged talk about nostalgically when discussing their youth. Warm, clear-skied, peaceful, apart from the hundreds of maniacs hurtling along the roads at breakneck speed. Past Kempton Park, of unhappy memory (never did any good there), we left the main roads and twisted and turned through the lovely quiet lanes of Berkshire, lanes green and hedges high, through gaps in which one could see the rolling, wooded hills stretching towards the horizon. Past the White Hart at Sonning, the sight of which made me lick my lips—this coach-riding was thirsty work —to Shiplake, the square tower peeping over the tree-tops, which at that time were wreathed with mist.

The coach stopped outside the Ploewden Arms (not yet open). Alighting, we crossed the quiet country road, along a tree-tunnelled lane, where diminutive, triangular flags were being draped in preparation for the afternoon's fete, past a board which informed us that Tennyson was married at the church and that the church was at least 12th century, to a spot where time appeared to have stood still for at least a couple of hundred years. My brochure informed me that the tower has 8 bells (9 cwt. tenor), but for me the joy of the church was a really beautiful memorial in the form of a clock set on the west wall of the building, facing the pulpit.

Coming out of the church I happened to glance over the hedge and thought for the moment the standing figure was of a lady wearing one of the new topless dresses. Being both short-sighted and embarrassed I nudged my companion, who reassured me it was a piece of classical statuary in a garden. I immediately repaired to the Ploewden Arms for a little something to assist my recovery from what had been quite a shock. Sitting outside the bar on a wooden bench, my back against the wall, a pint of good ale, drawn from the wood, in my fist, the sun blazing down and the sweet sound of the bells one felt that the England of our ancestors had not entirely vanished in the fumes of diesel, petrol and burning rubber and the cacophony of juke boxes and portable wireless sets.

And so to Dorchester. Topping a hill, across the green flat fields one saw again a square, stone tower topped by a gaily waving crossed flag of St. George. Sweeping round the bend in the road at the entrance to Dorchester, passing on the right the ancient-looking Fleur de Lys, a coaching inn, and stopping outside another charming white-faced hostelry, the White Hart, we alighted and walked back over the pavement of rounded stones—in modern thin shoes, most uncomfortable to traverse. Through a most imposing entrance to the church, with the museum on the left, one enters the grand old Abbey, as it once was. For me at least it was all rather spoilt because of the bustle of preparing the church for a concert. I was invited to see the ringing room, and large and important it was. Continuing up the narrow, twisting, steep stone stairs (with visions of becoming jammed and spending the rest of my life stuck on the stairs) I rather recklessly entered the bell chamber. I now know just how the poor unfortunate in Dorothy Sayers' 'The Nine Tailors' must have suffered. There they were—a nest of bells, brazen throated and iron tongued—the large (16 cwt.) bossman in the middle, surrounded by his ever-decreasing satellites, turning over and over, roaring and bellowing their message over the surrounding countryside. To assist my eardrums to recover, I adjourned to the hotel across the road to imbibe in the quiet of the bar beer from a pewter pot. Whether it was the bells or the warmth of the day the ale tasted superb.

After the excellent lunch, on 20 miles to Bampton (8 bells, with a 25 cwt. tenor). With its extraordinarily high needle-like spire, the church set on a rising mound appeared not only a fortress against evil but against marauding bands of raiders of long ago. The stone-walled houses with their slate roofs flanking the wide roads seemed to have stood there for ever. Where the inhabitants were I do not know, but the place appeared to be deserted, even the roads were so empty that I could stand in the middle of the main road and take photographs without having to make frantic leaps sideways to avoid traffic—there just wasn't any. If anyone is seeking employment, not particularly highly paid but obviously leisurely. Bampton is seeking a clerk to the council—£60 p.a., plus a further £20 for looking after the Graves Register.

On a further 15 miles to ancient Abingdon. Another tall spired church set beside the river (10 bells this time, with a 20 cwt. tenor). To describe adequately the treasures of Abingdon Church would take up much more space than I am likely to be allotted—the old chained Bible, a rare Breeches Bible (I know of another at Rye), the velvet covered pews for the Mayor and other civic dignitaries. A pause beside the river—to see a large carp flirting with the bait of an outraged angler and the excitement when he thought he had a 'good 'un' only to find he had hooked into a large sunken tree... Tea in the High Street and on another 20 miles to Reading (8 bells and a 25½ cwt. tenor). The church being locked I was forced to make a tour of some of the local inns, and I can only hope that the church was more impressive than Reading's pubs. The paper seller outside the church was not. I fear, either a ringer or a lover of bells. After having difficulty in hearing which paper I required and giving me the correct change from a sixpence he grunted something about 'bloody row every Saturday night,' and looked as if I were responsible.

And so along the darkening roads, with one further stop to permit the thirsty ringers to remove some of the dust of Reading Church from their throats, we made our way back to Beddington, tired but happy and satisfied ringers, and at least one not tired but very happy, satisfied non-ringer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Gentleman Ringer

Dear Sir,—Mr. Wratten's article recalls several names which were well-known to the Shepherd family of Exeter in the early years of the Devon Guild, and Mr. G. H. Phillott was no stranger to the county. At 39 he was a member of the Central Council (1891) and the names of Troyte, Ellacombe, Field, Hounslow and Rev. F. E. Robinson were also associated with change ringing in Devon.

Regarding Ellacombe's chiming apparatus I prefer to remember him best for his wonderful work as a West Country historian.

Canon Cattle is a new name to me, but it is news that he was largely responsible for Worcester Cathedral having a ring of 12, and also procuring a 62 cwt. tenor for St. Paul's Cathedral. Taylors cast a peal of 13 for Worcester in 1876 and the ring was designed by Lord Grimthorpe, who had a wide influence for big bells, including St. Paul's Cathedral in 1878. The tenor is inscribed 'Presented by The Corporation of the City of London'; in fact all the 12 were presentations or gifts.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

'Our Ringing World'

Dear Sir.—Yours and mine; now at its peak; a lovely set-up; something for everybody from cover to cover; and no complaints lately.

Then the postal upset, but still our journal arrived, thanks to the thought of the Editor and staff.

Thank you for the thought not to let us down, and here is a little practical appreciation from

OAD BAT-ER.

Note.—Canon C. Carew Cox has also sent us a donation and has expressed the hope that others might be induced to help. Extra postage has now reached £60.—Ed.

Jarrom Surprise Minor

Dear Sir, — Re peal of Jarrom Surprise Minor (page 503 of 'The Ringing World', July 24th, 1964).

I would be very grateful if the seven extents of the above method could be published, please.—Yours sincerely, A. BISHOP.

London, S.W.

Peals withdrawn

Dear Sir,—I wish to withdraw the following peals conducted by myself, the composition of which is false, and offer my sincere apologies to all who took part.

The peal is 5,008 Plain Bob Major, attributed to the late Mr. G. Hughes, of Wednesbury, and this was rung at: Broseley (Hereford Guild), June 24th, 1961; Eardisland (Staffs. Society), November 26th, 1962; and Brewood (Staffs. Society), October 5th, 1963.

The figures were given to me with the inscription: 'This is an excellent peal and contains some good music, I have called it several times.' I regret to say I have done the same.—Yours faithfully,

BARNABAS C. KEY.

Gnosall, Stafford.

The thanks of all who went on the outing for the interesting route and other arrangements he made are due to the organiser and Master of the tower, Stewart Kimber

HANDBELL ARCH AT RAVING RINGERS' WEDDING

On July 4th (Independence Day) Mr. Anthony L. Mann and Miss Heather Oakley were married at St. John's Church, Aldenham, Herts. In the morning a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung at Bushey by fellow members of the Society of Raving Ringers.

The bride wore a full-length dress of white brocade and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony, while the couple were being photographed beneath an archway of handbells, a cascade of rose petals descended on them from the tower.

The reception was held in the Memorial Hall, Letchmore Heath. The couple afterwards left for Northern Ireland, where Tony has been posted by the Air Ministry Police.

In the evening the Ravers joined three members of the local band in a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Aldenham. H. O.

HANDBELL RECITAL AT CATHEDRAL

The Launton Handbell Ringers gave a recital to the Friends of Hereford Cathedral on July 4th in the nave of the Cathedral. The music included items by classical and modern composers, mediæval, foreign and traditional English carols.

Seventy-six handbells were used in the recital. They form part of the collection of 207 bells which Mr. F. Sharpe has acquired in an effort to include examples of the work of all known English bellfounders from the time of Charles II until the present day. All the bells have been tuned and fitted with leatherwork by him and are in first-class order. Examples of the work of seven founders are required to complete the collection.

The ringers were first entertained to lunch by the Dean of Hereford (the Very Rev. R. P. Price) and afterwards attended Festal Evenson. Mr. Frederick Sharpe then gave a lecture and the company of over 500 were present at tea in the Bishop's palace gardens. The recital followed.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Collingham on June 20th.

The business meeting was held in the church. This probably accounted for the subdued behaviour of those present and the speed at which the business was conducted. Before the election of officers took place it was learned with regret that Mr. T. W. Strangeway wished to resign from the General Committee. The vice-president, Mr. W. Barton, spoke warmly of the many years' active and faithful service he had given to the Association.

COWBRIDGE SCHOOL RINGERS AT WHITECHAPEL

(Condensed from report in the school's weekly magazine, 'The Lion,' dated July 11th.)

On July 7th Mr. I. Davies took ten of the school's bellringers on a trip to London to visit the famous bell foundry of Mears and Stainbank at Whitechapel. At 8.30 we all piled into Mr. D.'s van and commenced our journey to Cardiff, where we arrived at the station safely.

On the journey in the train the back six of our 12 handbells appeared and a course of Plain Bob Minor ensued. While standing in the corridor Mr. D. heard two ladies' remarks about our ringing. One said: 'Doesn't that sound lovely!' while the other said: 'Coo! Get away from this lot!' and proceeded to do so. During a course of Cambridge 'Evs' let out a cry of 'Hi! I'm trying to get a snap at lead!' to which remark Gareth Jones replied: 'You haven't got a chance.' Which was the truth.

After a satisfying lunch we made our way to Whitechapel. At 2.15 we entered the foundry and a very enjoyable tour followed. We saw most of the aspects of bell founding except the bell being actually cast. We went to the handbell shop and saw the way Mears finish their handbells. 'Ken' then played 'Hyfrydol,' an old Welsh tune, on the back six of 16 bells for Cape Town Cathedral, to the delight and amazement of our guide.

We returned to the station after visiting St. Paul's, and caught the 7 p.m. train to Cardiff. After fish and chips at Canton we crept into school at about 11.15 thus ending an enjoyable day. C.R.

OUTINGS LUTON, BEDS

The annual outing of the Luton Parish Church ringers took place on July 4th, when they visited Lichfield, Walsall, Wolverhampton and Redditch.

After a stop for coffee en route, Lichfield Cathedral was reached in good time, and the fine ring of ten much enjoyed, as were the architectural features of this venerable pile.

An excellent lunch was followed by the short run to Walsall where an enjoyable hour was spent on the easy-going twelve at St. Matthew's. The noble Parish Church of St. Peter, Wolverhampton, has a fine ring of twelve, and a very pleasant hour was spent here.—What a pity that, through lack of ringers, these bells are seldom heard! One hopes that soon those residents of Wolverhampton who possess ringing potential will wander into the belfry!

Approaching Redditch the scenery became very attractive, though the roads became narrower and narrower, retarding our progress, but allowing more time to admire the view! After a pull on the light eight at St. Stephen's, full justice was done to a most adequate tea, and the homeward journey, through Stratford-on-Avon and Banbury was quite delightful, on this pleasant summer evening.

It was a great privilege, and one that was much appreciated, to ring at all these interesting places, and the grateful thanks of all are accorded to the Dean of Lichfield and the incumbents of Walsall, Wolverhampton and Redditch, and to the local ringers who were so kind. May I say, 'So nice to meet you!' from all of us.

BARNSELY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Barnsley and District Society made a 7 a.m. start for their annual outing on July 25th so as to reach St. Andrew's, Kildwick by 9.30. A memory of this eight-bell tower is the gravestone in the churchyard representing an organ. At Skipton we had the privilege of ringing for a wedding, and some of it was very delightful. Julia will remember Skipton, not only for the lunch at the Midland Hotel, but where she lost the sole of her shoe! Providentially, one of the ladies had brought along two pairs and all was well.

A hymn tune was being rung by a ringer as we climbed the steps of St. Andrew's Church, Gargrave (8). Our third St. Andrew's tower of the day was Aysgarth (6), where we had good ringing and visited the falls. High tea was waiting for us at the Blue Lion, Witton, and afterwards we found the six bells at St. John's Church a little tricky. Opportunity was taken by some of the party to see Jervaulx Abbey.

Happy memories remain of this well-organised outing by Mr. Christopher Moxon, and of the skilful driving of Mr. Eric Stainrod. Incumbents and those who met us are thanked.

EASTBOURNE, SUSSEX

Leaving Eastbourne on the traditional second Saturday in July, St. Mary's ringers, with some friends and neighbours, set out for a quick tour of Kent. The coach was soon weaving along the smugglers' roads to Lydd, and on this excellent octave the best performances of the day took place—Double Norwich and Grandsire Triples. From Lydd we counted the Martello towers to Folkestone, where a heavier eight with newish ropes demanded more attention, and we added Kent and Stedman to our repertoire.

After lunch at Ramsgate, the unorthodox entrance to St. Laurence's tower caused some comment. Cambridge and Grandsire Caters came round, but Little and Plain Bob Spliced failed before moving on to Faversham. Here St. Clement's Major and Bob Major were included.

The final tower was Marden, where the tiring band rang more Grandsire, Plain Bob and Double Norwich. On the way home we fought paper battles, stole Jane's shoes, named a new method for three bells Spong Sorrow—and decided NOT to submit it for publication. The day's achievements also included Paul's first and second touches of Bob Major, and Harold's discovery that a certain bell was very deep set, due to the slider being in the next pit.

LITTLE ASTON, WARWICKSHIRE

Celebrations were not only being held throughout America on July 4th. Little Aston, too, was aroused from slumber in the early hours of the morning as local ringers and friends piled languidly into the coach, which was waiting to take them on the annual outing—this year to the Wye Valley. Welcome additions to the party came from the Cannock and Lichfield bands..

The prospects of a day's good ringing and fine, sunny weather lay before us as we set out for the first of the seven churches, Ombersley. After a ring on the 16 cwt. six, we moved on to Ledbury and spent a most enjoyable hour ringing the very pleasant eight there to a variety of touches including a half course of Cambridge Major. Then, after a coffee break, there followed a long drive through delightful countryside to Symond's Yat, a beautiful corner of Herefordshire on a bend in the River Wye. An unexpected opportunity of having our packed lunches while 'cruising down the river' was seized without delay. The boatman, however, despite enthusiastic requests, disappointed some by refusing to shoot the 200 ft. long rapids—a drop of a mere eight feet.

During the afternoon ringing took place at Longhope Church and Norton, and from here we went into Tewkesbury for high tea. Afterwards we took the opportunity to look around the Abbey and admire its floral decorations.

On our homeward route we stopped at Dumbleton (a pleasant ring of six), where a touch of Six Spliced Surprise Minor was accomplished without undue difficulty. The last tower of the day contained the eight at Norton, Evesham, where, after touches of Stedman and Little Bob, a respectable course of Yorkshire completed the day's ringing.

Despite the earlier misgivings of our organiser, Kay Moore, all concerned agreed that it was a most successful outing. Thanks must be given to those who made the arrangements, and to the incumbents and ringers of the churches visited. M.C.S.

OUTINGSALDRINGTON, SUSSEX

With perfect weather on June 27th, we welcomed ringers and friends from several local towers on our annual outing. Arriving a little late at the first tower, we enjoyed our ring at St Mary's, Staines, and ate our refreshments. At Bray we admired the beautifully decorated church and splendid panoramic view from the top of the tower. Lunch was at Maidenhead followed by ringing at Twyford and then Wargrave, where a course of Cambridge Major was attempted; meanwhile several of our visitors became engrossed in looking for the tomb of Madame Tussaud, but were unsuccessful.

We found Henley preparing for the beginning of the Royal Regatta and enjoyed the tone of the bells. After a splendid tea at Bagshot we made our way to Pirbright; unfortunately we were late owing to flower purchasing! As we are used to 6 bell ringing the bells were not too bad and we managed a course of Kent Minor and touches of Stedman Doubles.

We wish to thank two of our honorary members, Pam and Diana Gough, from Guildford, for kindly inviting us to have refreshments in their garden. After this pleasant climax we arrived at Aldington at 10.30 p.m. Our thanks go to the incumbents and the ladies of the band for organising the refreshments. S.G.R.

LYMPNE OUTING

Lympne bellringers made up a party of 27 for their annual outing on July 18th which included friends from Burmarsh and Foikestone and rang in seven towers in that delightful area to the east of Canterbury.

Ringling at the beautiful old churches of Bekesbourne and Sturry was followed by a picnic lunch on the banks of the Stour during which the company were entertained by handbell ringing by Folkestone's Richard Hough, his sisters and friends who came drifting down the river in a boat.

Those charming villages (and churches), Wickhambreux and Littlebourne, were visited followed by the stately towers of Wingham and Ash where some excellent touches of Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung.

Finally to the seemingly remote and pleasant church at Goodnestone and so home.

At each tower except Ash where time pressed, touches in various methods were rung by the ladies in the party.

Thanks are due to the incumbents and ringers at the towers visited for their hospitality which helped to make the outing so enjoyable.

ELSTOW, BEDS

On June 27th the Elstow ringers, with friends from other Bedfordshire towers, spent a happy day in the Surrey area.

St. Margaret's, Uxbridge (an excellent eight), whetted our appetites for things to come, and it is surely an indication of true British fortitude to say that Stanwell failed to damp the enthusiasm of the party, though the bells here were generally vote-hm!—I forget what I was going to say!

After an excellent lunch we entered Surrey and the very fine six at Ottershaw were considered a ringer's dream—after the Vicar had been persuaded to leave his sylvan retreat and let us in.

Some enjoyable ringing took place at Chobham and Old Woking. A little difficulty was experienced in finding St. Mary's, Send, but the pleasure of a pull on the fine ring of six and the joy of lingering awhile in this charming and peaceful spot were well worth the effort. Horsell (another good six) was the conclusion of the day's ringing, which ranged from rounds to London Surprise, and the journey home was broken for the usual convivial half-hour.

Sincere thanks to our hosts in Middlesex and Surrey, and to our organiser, M'ss M. Pettitt. A. E. R.

According to 'The Irish Bell News,' Derek Jones is taking a peal ringing band to Northern Ireland at the beginning of August; Robert Smith a band of long-lengthers to Dublin for a week-end's peal ringing at the end of September; the University of Wales Society visit Southern Ireland at the beginning of October.

The memorial tablet to Mr. Albert Walker, in St. Martin's ringing room, will be unveiled by Canon Bryan Green immediately prior to the 11 a.m. Matins, on Sunday, August 9th, ringing from 10 a.m.

The peal at Exhall-by-Coventry on July 20th was arranged to enable the Rev. M. C.
C. Melville and Mr. Arthur Rowley to ring a peal together there after a lapse of over 30 years. It was at Exhall where Mr. Melville lived as a boy, and learnt to handle a bell.

On two consecutive Tuesdays at Lowdham, Notts, a well-known lady broke the stay on the same bell when she missed the sally during peal attempts. Unfortunately both attempts were well over half way. G.A.D. inquires if this is a record?

Mrs. Beatrice Morris writes fully endorsing the request for information concerning the proposed memorial window at St. Margaret's, Leicester, to the late Mr. Ernest Morris.
'Fancy being dead 2 years and 4 months and nothing done—not even a memorial peal on April 28th—well only one.' She also deplores the indifferent service ringing on Sunday evenings (only three or four bells) and regrets that with all the talent in Leicester recruits are not being taught at St. Margaret's.

The band who rang the peal at St. Neots, Hunts, on July 18th would like to associate John Gipson and Harold Peacock with it.
They were both in a previous attempt on June 20th which came to an abrupt end when the 7th bearings completely dried up with about an hour to go. The conductor and the rest of the band also wish to thank 'Joe' Chamberlain and George Bonham for their hard work in cleaning and oiling the bearings, which made this attempt possible.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In answer to Mr. W. L.
C. (Bill) Barlow's query as to other members of the band taught by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher in 1930 at Enfield, Mr. George B. Collins of Colchester, writes as one of the band to say that he is still ringing, his name appearing intermittently in the peal columns. He has been in hospital for some months but expects to be active again soon. As a tailpiece he adds: 'Does 32 years to ring one's first 50 peals qualify as a record for slowness?'

Another member of this band is Mrs.
E. M. Bagworth (nee Greenall), who has never left off ringing and frequently participates at St. Clement Danes', St. Margaret's, Westminster, and elsewhere as available.

The hospitality of the newly-inducted Vicar of Surfleet, the Rev. D. F. Button, and Mrs.
Button after the peal of welcome on July 13th was much appreciated. Surfleet has had a great ringing parson in the past who unhesitatingly laid down the law when the occasion demanded.

Capt. Marybelle Nissly, a member of the U.S.A.F. stationed near Huntingdon, and already well known to many ringers in this country, attempted and was successful in ringing her first quarter peal at All Saints', Huntingdon, on July 12th as reported in our last issue. The conductor, Mr. H. S. Peacock, who first introduced Marybelle to tower bell ringing, was very pleased at the performance, and looks forward to the ringing of more quarter peals, and then a peal.

Eight girls of St. Elphin's C. of E. Public School for Girls, Darley Dale, Derbyshire, rang the bells of Bakewell Parish Church for their annual service for scholars and parents on July 18th. The girls had been trained to ring at St. Helen's, Darley Dale, and had assisted in the Sunday service ringing there during terms. Only rounds were rung at Bakewell, but several of them can ring Plain Bob on handbells as the girls come from all parts of the country. We hope they will continue to ring at their own churches; many of them are daughters of clergymen.

BETJEMAN—A Poet of Ecclesiology

and in 'Bristol':

Ringers in an oil-lit belfry—Bitton? Kelston? who shall say?

Smoothly practising a plain course, caverned out the dying day

As their melancholy music flooded up and ebbed away.

By the tall embattled church-towers of the Bristol waterside.

And an undersong to branches dripping into pools and wells

Out of the multitudes of elm trees over leagues of hills and dells

Was the mathematical pattern of a plain course on the bells.

It is apparent that John Betjeman can be more aptly described as 'a poet of ecclesiology' and it is appropriate that the Central Council of Church Bellringers is approaching him to become an Honorary Member of that body—a branch of ecclesiology in which I am sure he will be pleased to share and has unwittingly shared, as for example:

Come on! come on! a final pull. Tom Blake Stalks over from the bell-rope to his pew.

MR. CLAUDE RUSH DELVES INTO 'CHURCH BELLS'

Vol. XI, Advent, 1880 - Advent, 1881

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, LONDON

The bells will be rung on the following days throughout 1881:—January 1, New Year's Day; January 25, Dedication Festival; April 17, Easter; May 24, Queen's Birthday; May 26, Ascension; June 5, Whitsun; June 20, Queen's Accession; November 1, All Saints' Day; November 9, Lord Mayor's Day; December 24, Christmas Eve; December 25, Christmas Day; December 31, New Year's Eve.

Eleven Tuesday evenings are listed for practice.

Later.—The Dean and Chapter have decided to have the grand ring of 12 rung every Sunday before Divine Service in the morning and afternoon to commence on Easter Sunday.

Looker-on in India, writing from Calcutta, expresses the view that there should be a new hour bell at St. Paul's.—It should be E flat below the present tenor. If it had two wheels, it could be raised and would then give such a sound as has rarely been heard. I need hardly say that it should be offered for competition to the world and the best bell should be chosen.

In March, 1881, Canon Robert Gregory, treasurer to the Dean and Chapter, wrote: "The Dean and Chapter are anxious to obtain a large Bourdon bell. Many City Companies have generously responded to our appeal. Owing to the very low price of bell metal we can secure a good bell, but not quite so good a one as we desire, for the money we have or have had promised. If we had £600 more we believe that St. Paul's would have the finest bell in England. We have determined to delay sending the order for a short time in the hope that some citizens of London or some of the Corporations which have not yet contributed will be moved with a public-spirit determination that St. Paul's shall have the finest bell in England."

"We are now being perpetually urged to ring our bells more frequently, while no complaints reach us of any being annoyed by them. Before they were rung we continually heard of the fears of those living in our immediate neighbourhood."

ST. ANDREW'S, WELLS STREET, LONDON

This new ring of 8 bells has been presented to the church by a mother in memory of a beloved daughter. They have been cast by Mr. T. C. Lewis, of Shepherd's Lane, Brixton, and are what is called among bellfounders "a Maiden Peal," none of the bells having required any kind of tuning since they left the moulds. The whole ring weighs 76 cwt. The weight of the tenor is 21 cwt. its note is E. flat. Given by Susanna Imbert-Terry in memory of Antoinette Catherine Imbert-Terry, died 1878, aged 18. Dedicated by a solemn service after Evensong on St. Andrew's Eve, 1880.

"Tubal Cain" asked in the next issue of 'Church Bells'—"A maiden ring of eight bells is a wonderful turn-out from a bell-foundry. Will Mr. Lewis tell us how many of the castings failed before he obtained correct eight virgin bells?"

The next issue contained no reference, but later 'Another Tubal Cain' wrote, "Every-one connected with 'Church Bells' has learned to 'ring in the true' in connection with all reports of skill and practices, and would be very glad to see an answer by Mr. Lewis to the query lately put by 'Tubal Cain'...to the report of his doings as a bellfounder, knowing him to be clever at organs and architecture. How many bells did he make or have made, so as to pick out his octave of maidens; and how many maidens' hearts has he broken, or has he in stock with useless inscriptions for other places or suitors, resulting from his selection? Will he answer?"

Then, later, Ed. Matthews, of Macclesfield, wrote, "I see from the tone of one or two of your correspondents that they seem to doubt the existence of a 'maiden' ring of bells. Without entering into the controversy as to how such a ring is got out, I will just state that we had a maiden ring of ten bells, cast in 1777 by Rudhall, in the tower of Christ Church here; seven of which are now in the tower, the other three—the 1st, 2nd and 9th—being given in exchange for the present seventh in place of the then 9th which got broke in 1815."

I see no reply by or on behalf of Mr. Lewis.—C.R. (To be continued)

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION

The Church of St. Lawrence, Cucklington, with its six bells rung from the porch and extensive views of Somerset and Dorset to be seen from the churchyard, was chosen for the summer quarterly meeting of the Cary Branch on July 25th. Members were joined by ringers from the Salisbury Guild and visitors from Bedford and Newbury.

The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. R. G. Harewood, the organist was Rev. G. S. Robinson (Branch chairman), and the lesson was read by Preb. O. H. Skipwith (vice-chairman).

After tea, in the Village Hall, those present stood in silence in memory of Rev. W. M. K. Warren, a former Master of the Association.

The chairman presented Association certificates to eight members from Cucklington, two from Bruton and two from Castle Cary.

Plans for the Branch outing were announced and the date for the Corporate Communion at Charlton Horethorne in October was fixed.

An amusing tape recording of the Cucklington ringers' New Year's Eve party was played. This featured the Rector leading the singing, in his own composition on the bells and ringers, sung to the tune of 'Uncle Tom Cobley.'

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector and to the ladies who had provided tea.

Ringling was then resumed at Cucklington, and also took place at Stoke Trister.

OUTING

FRAMSDEN AND DISTRICT

Memories of a few of the party in the Framsdens and district outing on June 25th to Kent were revived by visiting Christ Church, Erith, Dartford (and lunch), Swanscombe, Northfleet (and tea). Ringling was finally completed at Gravesend.

Standard methods to Spliced Surprise (which was well rung) and rounds for the juniors were included in the programme. Thanks are expressed to those who met the party, incumbents, Mr. E. A. Barnett for valuable assistance, Mr. Rayfield as guide and Mr. G. Butcher for arranging such sumptuous meals.

Having previously been presented with a bundle of stationery and a Parker pen, the organiser (Mr. L. G. Brett) has now been given a set of touring maps and an atlas in the hope that many more new towers can be visited!
