PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

THE democratically-elected committee entrusted by the Central Council to produce a brighter and better "Ringing World" met at Derby on October 8th, having had more than three months to assimilate the opinions of the Exercise and to submit new ideas for improvements. Two days before the committee met the members received a 12-page typed document setting out "the scope and content" of the journal and the financial obligations involved. This had been prepared by Messrs. D. Beresford and G. W. Pipe. There were also cover designs and mock make-ups for the committee's consideration which had been sent to the convener, and Mr. Pipe told the members that these had involved 92 hours' work.

Many of the points raised in the report had been considered by the committee previously, and to enable the new members to appreciate the present position the convener outlined past activities and the general policy of the committee. Indeed, Mr. R. S. Anderson extended the fullest co-operation, sympathetically considering the points raised by Mr. Beresford and answering if possible the questions submitted. There were two sessions, proceedings concluding at 4.45 p.m.

The first point considered was the title block on the front page with its silhouette of towers, domes and steeples. There was a general opinion that the time had come for a change. To enable the committee to have as wide as possible a choice, Mr. Anderson produced the various designs submitted on the occasion of the previous competition. The choice was a clear, clean-cut design of Mr. Pipe's, free from a background of towers, bells and wheels. This the Editor considered could be appropriately adapted.

Finance was involved in the next step. The two alternatives considered by the committee were a 24-page issue at regular intervals and a tinted cover with a picture of a church or bells on the front page and 16 pages inside. Both issues would cost approximately the same, about £50 more than the present price of a 16-page paper. The Editor expressed the view that the 24-page issue was of better value and it would still be possible to have an appropriate picture on the front page.

The question of the quality of paper used came under very close scrutiny. The Editor assured the committee that the unsatisfactory paper introduced because of delivery difficulties due to the seamen's strike would not be repeated. An adequate supply of the quality used in that week's issue was now available and this was of the same texture as that on which "The Times" was printed. "Times" reader Mr. Denis Bayles produced his copy, and

Mr. Smallwood, after a solemn professional examination with the current issue of the "R.W.", declared that the paper was practically identical. At any rate, these assurances satisfied the committee.

There was still a feeling that a tinted paper issue should not be dismissed without a trial, and the Editor was instructed to produce such an issue in December. The committee empowered the Editor to produce up to twenty 24-page issues during 1967, provided the material available was suitable.

The basis of the success of "The Ringing World" and also the Exercise is the family atmosphere created. The personal angle was very real and the admirable series of "Servants of the Exercise" and "Personalities of the Exercise," written respectively by J. Frank Smallwood and A. Patrick Cannon, helped and stimulated this family feeling. The continuation of such a series was long overdue. To meet the demand it was suggested that Associations should select an appropriate personality for a picture and biography and also submit an appropriate picture for a front page illustration which it was hoped would be a regular feature of 24-page issues. If a church was selected for a picture an article about the tower and/or its ringers should be included in the same copy.

It was felt that the Bellfounders' Page could be made more interesting with better co-operation. This and Gossip could be enlarged if there were live correspondents and a readiness on the part of readers to send information to the Editor. Personal news is very valuable. Such items as people going up to universities, marriages and deaths are of great interest to readers.

With more space available a great range of special articles will be required. A beginners' corner and a technical page might be regular features. We also hope that the call-change ringers of the West Country will have their interest in the journal. It is also suggested that "This Week's Anniversary" should be introduced, dealing with the anniversary of some famous ringer or event. A volunteer with an interest in the historical side of our art is required to cope with this proposed feature.

It was generally agreed at Bath that "The Ringing World" should have a better sale and 10,000 copies was the objective mentioned. We are continually meeting people who have allowed their subscription to lapse. The sale of the paper can only successfully be stimulated locally and much depends on local officials. There is a genuine desire on the part of the committee to keep the selling price of the journal as at present. This will only be achieved by creating other sources of revenue.

TUITION OF BEGINNERS

By D. C. Jackson, Southampton

MR CHADDOCK has invited us to communicate, via "The Ringing World," concerning the tuition of beginners in our art, in order to assist him in the preparation of an official manual. That few have so far accepted the invitation is an indication of a malaise which has existed in the Exercise since time immemorial, namely, that the average change ringer is a selfish personality, interested only in the furtherance of his own capabilities.

In putting forward a few thoughts upon tuition in bell ringing, I would first like to call upon certain items of information which have recently appeared in our journal:—

1. The annual sale of "Beginners' Handbooks" is 3,051 (page 392).

2. The weekly sale of "Ringing Worlds" is 5,650 (page 540).

3. Beginners regularly become proficient enough in bell handling to be elected members of Guilds (see sundry reports of District meetings).

4. "The Ringing World" could have a circulation of between 6,000 and 10,000 (page 386 and 387).

5. Mr. Percy has the courage to admit (and perhaps other C.C. representatives will now endorse this statement) that many rings of bells are not fully manned on Sundays, and that there is no national move to remedy this situation.

6. The specific reference to the general lack of ringers in the South and West of England. (Leading article, page 569.)

I would submit that the above indicate that there is no shortage of entrants to the Exercise, but that the wastage rate is so enormous that no one dare compute and publish it. Other additional references I would regard as relevant are:—

7. Mr. Lewin's reminder about selfishness in our bellfries and lack of tact in teaching (page 476).

8. Mr. Everett's reminder that District secretaries should exert themselves more for the less capable (page 492).

9. Confirmation that the published "Doubles Collection" has initiated interest (pages 387 and 428).

10. Mr. Kenchington's reminder that some towers frequently have to resort to call changes in preference to remaining silent on the Sabbath (page 540).

All this information indicates that we, the proficient 5,650 of the Exercise who read "The Ringing World," are guilty of the age-old crime of neglect of the less able. I would contend that with a little encouragement the annual 3,051 learners could become enthusiastic treble ringers, and that the uncounted hundreds of Grandsire and Bob Doubles ringers, who sometimes have to ring call changes, and who find a collection of other Doubles methods so interesting, would, with a little guidance and willing help from the proficient, become as enthusiastic and progressive as the remainder of us. The circulation of "The Ringing World" would rise slightly as their names appear in the quarter peal columns, as would the sale of C.C. publications as they enter the (as yet) unreachable realms of Bob Minor or even Kent.

The foregoing preamble is thus just an introduction to the point that all towers should regard their learners as the most important members of their band—the people who will be the responsible ringers of the future.

The stages of instruction should therefore be very carefully thought out in advance, and I would put forward the following for discussion on the subject:—

1. Appointment of a captain who is not necessarily the best ringer. The ability to conduct is not essential: the ability to organise, understand and sympathise is.

2. Introduce the band to the idea that a set of learners must be acquired once every year or every two years, and help and friendship must be offered them.

3. Set up a standard system of recruitment, e.g.: Announcement in church and posters in hall; illustrated talk to Youth Club, W.I., Rotary, etc.; advertisement and article in local newspaper; invitation to all members of a particular year group in the local school; circulation of Scouts, Guides and Duke of Edinburgh Award schemes to prepare for qualification for badge. Whatever the scheme used, I would emphasise that a group of beginners be taught. Allow for a definite wastage, and if possible select your learners from your applicants.

4. For the first session prepare a set talk on the bells and belfry, take them amongst the bells, arrange for another ringer to ring one bell, and allow them each to chime a bell. Before departing, in the case of young recruits, issue them each with a duplicated letter to their parents explaining practice times, Sunday ringing, etc. Request a note of permission for their children to participate in all these activities. Also record all names and addresses in a suitable book, since this induces the feeling of belonging to an organisation. Finally indicate to them that a subscription of 1s. is required at the next session, and with this purchase one copy of the "Beginners' Handbook" each.

5. Arrange a definite day and time for each practice session, preferably prior to practice night, so that recruits become accustomed to devoting that specific evening to ringing. Initiate the highest standards of punctuality and attendance. Do not accept any absenteeism unless you have received prior notice, and hence make sure that everyone is conversant with your address and telephone number. The slack attendee rarely lasts long, and it is better to lose him now before you have wasted time and effort. Still upon this point, I strongly recommend that one also initiates the feeling that you are devoting hours of your valuable time for their benefit, and that they should be grateful that you can spare them this time. At all costs the modern idea that the instructed are "doing you a favour" by occasionally attending should be obliterated. All this may require a stricter relationship between learner and tutor than is at present the custom.

6. With the aid of a model, visits to the belfry, blackboard drawings, photographs, etc., link the movements of the rope in the ringing chamber to the movements of the bell in the bell chamber, during the raising of a bell, ringing of a bell, and lowering. Provide reasons for each step in your instruction.

7. Divide bell handling into a series of progressive steps, starting with one of the rope movements. After perfecting this, start on the second, then link them together. (Apply 6.) During these weeks ensure that the bell is silent. This will be partly for the benefit of the neighbours and partly to reserve the achievement of hearing one's bell until the appropriate psychological moment.

I cannot concur with the idea of allowing a learner loose upon a raised bell to discover his own method of handling, or presenting him initially with a lowered bell and helping him to raise and set it. Both of these techniques are favoured, I understand, by some of our leading ringers.

8. After about six weeks the learner will be able to "set" his bell with the instructor's aid. (Again apply 6.) A session should now be devoted to the learner "setting" his own bell and then practising until he can repeat this several times, consecutively. The competitive spirit can be utilised here, and a norm of say 20 consecutive "settings" at handstrike could be aimed at.

9. Learners should not be allowed to sound their own bell on a practice night solely because they can handle correctly and set their bell. A series of practice rounds on the silenced bells should be employed to provide practice in bell control at varying speeds. Call changes and place making can be introduced here so that the learner is familiar with these techniques on practice night. It is at this point that all the other ringers can participate and demonstrate some of the comradeship which is the distinct characteristic of the Exercise.

10. The organisation of the practice evening is the primary task of the captain, and if of suitable personality he will realise that the learner's first open rounds will be one of the great events in his life. Thus the occasion should be more than a mundane few minutes of rounds. The general feeling of fellowship and friendliness among ringers is another distinct impression that the learner should carry home with him on that night.

11. On successive practice nights, presuming that there are at least five learners remaining, the ringing should be arranged around them. I would go so far as to suggest that rounds should be rung alternately with methods throughout the evening. This will prevent (a) discouragement of learners at this stage, and (b) the need for too many learners to ring at the same time.

12. The routine described in 11 should be repeated on practice nights for possibly two months, but certainly for at least one month. The aim of this programme is to improve bell handling and striking, and until this is achieved I would discourage any attempt to "push" the learner through plain hunting. A band will soon become accustomed to an arrangement of two months per year being devoted to this routine. Once a tradition is established it will be accepted unquestioningly.

13. I would not try to defend my scheme of work as perfect, and certainly I would expect to have an amount of wastage. By stage 8 some will have found that they and ringing are incompatible and, luckily for all, will have departed. By stage 11 I would aim to retain at least five learners capable of bell handling. These are the people whom the Exercise cannot afford to lose, but they will certainly leave if they are treated as something undesirable, and are fobbed off with five minutes of rounds only per week.

By now it will be only the physical challenge, and the will to achieve a difficult technique, that has maintained interest. I would contend that only a planned introduction to change ringing will awaken and stimulate the fascination that grips all of us still remaining in the Exercise.

14. For reasons which I enumerated in my letter on page 245, I would recommend the introduction initially of the Plain Bob method rather than Grandsire. However, it is the method of introduction that now concerns us. During stage 12 the time previously devoted to silent practice should now be utilised for method instruction. This should be carried out on handbells, for reasons that should be obvious, following a well-planned system. Above all I would stress that every learner must write out his methods from first principles, and should not yet be introduced to books containing printed blue lines.

As a conclusion, may I stress that I would oppose the forcible introduction of any one person's set of ideas into a voluntary organisation, since it is variety that makes it progressive and alive. However, we do suffer from so many elementary faults that I hope that my ideas may encourage some of us to concentrate on our one great failing, neglect of learners. As a final thought, can I suggest that it was only by complete chance that the majority of the 5,650 of us survived stage 12 and conquered stage 14.

LONDON PEALS

Miss Mary R. Andrews, secretary of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association, writes that she has consulted the secretaries of the towers in her District most concerned in peal ringing, and they are all very strongly against the suggestion to alter the place name to that of the new borough.

HATS IN THE BELFRY

FOR the past 250 years a battered old hat has hung 45 feet up in the tower of Great Bromley Parish Church, Essex. It is generally accepted that the hat was placed on the wall just beneath the floor of the ringing chamber when the captain of the bellringing team of 1716 died. It is not known why this custom started.

Since that day in 1716 five more hats have been hung in the Bromley belfry from time to time. Nobody knows when the second hat was fixed on the wall, but the third one arrived in 1825. The other three appeared on the tower wall in 1913, 1919 and the last one in 1935.

A local historian has made a detailed history of the church since moving to the village in 1943, but has been unable to discover why the custom of hanging hats of dead captains started.

The custom is unique. Nobody has heard of it being observed at other churches anywhere in the country.

The origin of it will always remain a mystery.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

A MANCHESTER OUTING

Thirty ringers and friends from Manchester Cathedral and St. James', Birch-in-Rusholme, went by coach to Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire for their annual outing on September 24th.

The first tower, St. Peter's, Nottingham, contained the new twelve, and ringing consisted of rounds, Grandsire Cinques and Stedman Caters. At the beautiful Church of St. Mary, Newark-on-Trent, more Stedman Caters was rung and also Plain Bob and Kent Royal.

When we arrived at St. Mary's, Sutton-in-Ashfield two weddings were in progress. Although the time was curtailed, Cambridge Major and Double Norwich as well as Grandsire and rounds were rung.

We then travelled to Chesterfield, where we had a substantial meal before ringing at our last tower, St. Mary's. The party managed to ring Grandsire Caters, Stedman and Double Norwich, before having to lower the beautiful bells for Evensong.

Grateful thanks are extended to the organisers and the tower captain at the churches we visited for the very pleasant day.

DEVIZES RINGERS VISIT DORCHESTER

For their second outing this year Devizes ringers and those of Southbroom spent a pleasant day in Dorset. At St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, Mr. R. H. Duke made the party most welcome and an enjoyable time was spent on these bells.

Tea at a café was followed by visits to St. Andrew's, Preston, where Canon W. J. Smith and some of his ringers were waiting for us. After 40 minutes' ringing here we made our way to St. Lawrence's Church, Upwey, where the former Vicar, the late Rev. A. S. Bryant, was known to some of the party when he was at Southbroom. Incumbents and captains of towers are thanked for having everything in readiness and for enabling us to have a very enjoyable time.

BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS AT GUILDFORD

The weather was not very promising on the morning of October 1st, when a party of ringers from St. Peter's, Bournemouth, left by coach for their annual tour with friends from Ringwood, Lymington and Milford-on-Sea. After a stop at Winchester for refreshments Guildford Cathedral was reached at noon.

The bells were put to good use with call changes, Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob Major. The opportunity was taken to view the Flower Festival which was taking place, by which time the sun was shining. The next tower was at Dunsfold, where various Doubles and Minor methods were rung on this good ring of six. After tea the light ten at Haslemere were rung to methods up to Stedman Caters. The evening stop was at Liphook for liquid refreshment to round off an enjoyable day. Bournemouth was reached by 11 p.m. Thanks are due to the incumbents for allowing the bells to be rung, and special thanks to Colin Conway, of St. Peter's, for making all the necessary arrangements.

CRANTOCK, CORNWALL

Crantock ringers and friends were in the Plymouth area for their annual outing on October 1st. Before lunch at Plymouth ringing took place at Buckland-Monachorum and Tamerton Foliot. We had never experienced so many weddings on an outing as in Plymouth, and in consequence the route had to be altered. At Emmanuel we rang with the locals for a wedding. Then on to Egg Buckland and Plymstock, but judging by the shields and prizes displayed in the latter belfry we are doubtful if our ringing reached the standard set by local ringers. Back to Plymouth for tea, and on the homeward journey ringing at St. Budeaux, with fish and chips at Lanivet.

For this most enjoyable day, our thanks go to incumbents and ringers who met us. J. R.

While there has been a marked improvement in the space occupied by Notices, we still do not get our full complement of "Birth, Marriages and Deaths." Many like their engagement announcement to appear in association with the quarter peal column and ignore the appropriate place. The display advertisement among Notices, at a very low figure compared with the general run of advertisements in local papers, is becoming more popular. We hope this source of revenue will increase. There might well be a time when a charge will have to be introduced for quarter peals; if revenue from this source is maintained this might be avoided.

Sales revenue will never be enough to finance journals like "The Ringing World." Readers should know that the printing and dispatch bill of a 16-page paper is £148 a week. The return from the publishers, that is sales through newsgagents, is 9s. a quire (26 copies) or a fraction over 4d. a copy. We get a better return from postal copies, but even if all copies were dispatched through that source it would fall a long way short of donations of £676 we received last year. We are now reaping a little from the prudence in the past, which this year should be about £500 in interest on investments. Despite these difficulties "The Ringing World" is putting on a bold front; is planning to spend very much more on larger papers, confident that such is the family spirit of the Exercise that it will not be let down.

CHESTERFIELD TO CHESTER

The Chesterfield District's annual outing on September 10th this year was to Chester, and a happy band of 55 members assembled for what proved to be the best outing to date.

The coach left for Baslow to pick up three more passengers and then wound its way along the narrow High Peak roads until reaching Great Budworth, the first tower. Here a wedding was in progress but after the ceremony we rang on the melodious eight—much to the surprise of the bridal party.

Tracks were then made for Chester Zoo, where we enjoyed lunch. During the afternoon non-ringers stayed at the Zoo whilst the ringers visited two light sixes at Shotwick and Backford. The meal must have proved too good, because at the first tower one of our strong-armed party broke a stay, and at the second we procured a broken rope. Thus we were doomed to ring Doubles instead of Minor all the afternoon.

We returned to the Zoo at 5 p.m. for more sustenance and once more boarded the coach for the last stage of the journey. On the way home we called at St. Peter's, Macclesfield, for a short ring on their light but easy-going eight. We returned home in a happy frame of mind, arriving in Chesterfield at 10.45 p.m.

Congratulations are due to Malcolm Phipps for such a well-organised day. Methods rung: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Oxford, Kent, Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Oxford, Kent, Cambridge and Plain Hunt.

Letters to the Editor

A NOVEL "FIRST"

Dear Sir,—I think you may find interest in the fact that last Saturday (October 1st) we accomplished at Washington Cathedral a "first" for the Exercise itself, though a rather undistinguished one.

By 5 p.m. Roger Bailey had successfully guided our yoked bells (audible within about 100 yards of the tower) through 720's of Cambridge and Oxford, two of Kent, and into the second of the concluding three of Bob Minor. Suddenly the carillon on the floor below us began a one-hour recital, completely drowning out the sound of our bells. Ringing Plain Bob, it would have been no problem to continue the peal, but it was apparent that our ringing would be most unwelcome to the carillonneur and to any listeners, especially during rests and pianissimo sections of the recital. Therefore, we felt it best to defer to the scheduled recital, which all of us, in the excitement of ringing a peal, had forgotten, and Roger quickly brought the bells truly round, having completed 4,044 changes.

Peals are lost regularly and for a number of unusual reasons. However, this is unquestionably the first time a peal has ever been lost because of competition from a carillon—for this is the only tower in the world containing both sets of bells!—Your sincerely,

RICHARD S. DIRKSEN,
Bellmaster,
Washington Cathedral, D.C., U.S.A.

NOTICE WANTED ON BELFRY DOOR

Dear Sir,—In my travels up and down the country I am often at a loss to understand why so very few towers advertise their ringing times outside the belfry door. Some towers do put a notice either in the church porch, the church magazine or outside the tower door. The vast majority do nothing.

I am not throwing stones at anyone, only just making a polite suggestion to the Exercise in general that a little co-operation in this matter should not be difficult. If towers advertise their practice nights where the notice can be seen, it helps visiting ringers like myself and also saves ringers running round trying to find the incumbent or some other church officer to seek the necessary information as to when ringing takes place.

There are plenty of struggling bands up and down the country who would welcome help with their ringing on Sundays or practice nights. Surely somebody can put up a notice outside the tower saying when ringing takes place; and, if the bells are unringable or there is no band, say so! One cannot always go by "Dove's" or even the local Association report.

Six years ago I rang at Bath Abbey. They were then short of ringers. I rang there quite by accident. They had a notice outside the belfry door stating their practice night, which was not every week, also all the Sundays throughout the year! It was morning ringing one Sunday and evening ringing the next. If only other towers did that, they might find larger numbers in the belfry.

Finally, I have just returned from a most enjoyable holiday in Shrewsbury. I should like to thank all those good people in Shropshire, Staffordshire, Denbighshire and Cheshire for making me so welcome, and also to the touring party from Oxford for letting me ring with them while "on tour."—Yours faithfully,

J. MICHAEL SWIFT.

ADVERTISEMENTS PROVIDE LUXURIES

Dear Sir,—May I thank Mr. Amos (page 652) for two things. One, for having read my letter (page 620)—even if he did not understand it—and the other for the probably unintentional compliment, "You are no window dresser, Mr. Wilson."

Mr. Amos had no need to remind me of the six years of war—three of my own six years in uniform were spent abroad, but in line with his above-quoted comment, I have never worn the little buttonhole badge I was given.

Mr. Amos is so far off beam that I doubt the value of a reply, except that I would not wish other readers to draw the same conclusions. Of course I want advertisements in "The Ringing World," for the sake of the income they would bring which would pay for the luxuries other journals are able to enjoy. My own publishers would confirm my pressure on them for "Ringing World" advertisements. The point I made was simply that "The Ringing World" cannot get advertisements on this scale. I am sure that you, sir, have never refused an advertisement from a man who wanted to sell his car. But if he wanted a quick and profitable sale he would not rely on "The Ringing World." I do not recall seeing an advertisement from Mr. Amos for his rare breeds of poultry!

I do not have to look in my own church magazine to know what is done there. I duplicate it and staple it inside printed covers full of advertisements. But it circulates among 500 families all living near the advertisers.

Of course it is an individual's right to criticise. My letter was to counter the effect you, sir, feared might come of certain criticism and, if possible, to ensure that future criticism, when made, was valid. As for talk about democracy, my present work enables me to see and learn more of its workings than Mr. Amos has ever dreamed of.

I doubt the value of trying further to answer more of the tortuous thinking of Mr. Amos—it's too devious for me.—Yours, etc.,

WILFRID G. WILSON.

London.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,—Many peals have been rung and many changes have taken place to the persons who have rung them since I made my first attempt for a peal. This was on the bells of the Holy Trinity, Nottingham, as long ago as July 25th, 1906. The method was Grand-sire Triples and conducted by Samuel Wesley (the conductor at this church).

We had almost completed our task and were expecting the words "This is all." when the man on the third, Joe Wooley (conductor at All Saints', Nottingham), set his bell. He was still grasping the sally with his head leaning forward, and we at first thought that he was ill, then he said that the music of the organ (the organist was preparing for the dedication the next day) had completely taken his control. With that we decided to grant him pardon.

A second attempt was arranged to take place immediately after the dedication on July 26th, which was reputed to be the hottest day of 1906. I remember fixing the tower flag to the large chamber window to shade us from the sun's rays. 5,040 well struck changes were accomplished in 2 hours and 45 minutes.—Yours faithfully,

T. R. FLINT.

Workop, Notts.

P.S.—The organ was presented by John Player, of tobacco fame.—T.R.F.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD AND "THE RINGING WORLD"

Dear Sir,—About this time last year the Oxford Diocesan Guild came under fire in "The Ringing World" on account of its funds. Members of the Guild have asked that you publish the enclosed extract from the Report for 1964-1965 in the hope that it will clear up the misunderstanding that had arisen:—

"In August the Guild came under fire in 'The Ringing World,' when we were criticised for being 'mean' over a grant to the paper. I think that it would be wise to mention here the following details, as I have found that even members of the Guild are not aware of certain facts. Guild funds stood at £1,971 6s. 9d. at the end of 1964. Of this, £1,792 2s. 1d. was the amount of money in the Restoration Fund. Of this sum £800 is in trust for the Jenkyn Bequests, £505 11s. 7d. is invested on behalf of the Restoration Fund, and practically all the remaining £485 16s. was earmarked for grants made for unfinished restoration work in the Diocese. None of this money can be used for anything except restoration work. This means also that with the £56 in the Reserve Fund the Guild has approximately £1,826 out of £1,971 invested for the good of either bell restoration in the Diocese or for the good of the Exercise. That we work within the limits of our annual income, give £40 to 'The Ringing World,' and also transfer £25 to the Reserve Fund so that we can give help where needed is due to the excellent management of the honorary treasurer. It is most important that all members should be aware of these facts and that we should understand what the balance sheet really means. We do not own the money, we are trustees for it."

The following facts may also be of interest:

	Income	Donation to R.W.
1960	£138	£10
1961	£247	£25
1962	£207	£25
1963	£237	£40
1964	£227	£40
1965	£229	£40

Yours faithfully,
MARIE R. CROSS,
Hon. Gen. Sec.

MORE ATTENTION TO THE CHURCH

Dear Sir,—I believe that anything you can do to bring "The Ringing World" up to date would be all to the good.

I would like to see a little more attention paid to the Church in the magazine, as I have felt for some time that our art is inclined to become just a little secular at times. A few articles on theological matters might remind a lot of people that ringing is primarily a service for our Church.

Ringers are just as vital to the Church as the choir, and that fact is not always realised, I regret to say. A firm reminder to everybody concerned at times would do no harm.—Yours sincerely,

J. M. L. HOOTON.

Ardingly, Sussex.

"IN ROPESIGHT"

Dear Sir,—In partial answer to Mr. Harry Corbishley, the last chapter of Jasper W. Snowdon's "Ropesight" is devoted to bell rope splicing.

This was not, however, a part of the original work of 1879, but was added by the author's brother, William Snowdon, when the fifth edition appeared in 1900.—Yours faithfully,

J. E. BEAMS.

Ewell, Surrey.

ST. KATHERINE'S SOCIETY'S THIRD TOUR

WITH Lincolnshire and Yorkshire as the hunting—or, dare it be said, grabbing—ground for the Society's third annual tour, we assembled at the unrealistic hour of 7 a.m. at Croydon on September 3rd. We numbered 15 bleary-eyed ringers and two "gonks"—thus dispelling all rumours that Janette had been brought along as a mascot!

Crammed into three cars, we set off in cavalcade and arrived at Grantham, where, sandwiched between weddings, we rang Stedman, Grandsire and Cambridge on the ten. Following lunch, we wended our way north, and at Doncaster climbed the first of the many long staircases we were to encounter during the week to tackle the heavy eight. The rigours of travelling are probably to blame for our poor striking here, although a good course of Bristol was rung. The ten at St. Giles', Pontefract, were visited next; striking improved here and Bob Royal was added to the day's methods. And so to York, where, after pursuing circuitous routes, we found a place to eat and, eventually, our digs. Here we were joined by Tom Metcalfe, the Pride of Flookburgh, and Ian Wickens who had journeyed up by train that evening from Charlwood.

TWO CATHEDRALS

Sunday morning found us ringing for the service at York Minster, while in the afternoon we rang at Whixley. This, our first six-bell tower, proved a good choice; we were also recommended to visit Aldborough and did so successfully. The day's ringing was concluded at Ripon Cathedral for Evenson 5g. After a somewhat hair-raising return journey with more than our fair share of "Z" bends, we ensconced in a suitable hostelry with a surfeit of sandwiches. Handbells were rung, to the delight of the publican.

Ringing began in earnest on Monday, though with a false start. With no one to meet us at Pocklington and unable to find the key, we moved on to St. Mary's, Beverley, while two carloads grabbed a tower en route by way of compensation. The afternoon's ringing began on the good light six at Wakington after which, appetites whetted, we made our way to Cottingham. Here we stood in the rain while one of the locals departed for the key. The wait proved worthwhile, for some enjoyable ringing was had here, after which we made our way to Hull. Holy Trinity proved more difficult to find than our directions had suggested, so, navigators having abdicated responsibility, we enjoyed a splendid, if unexpected, tour of the city. Hull proved to have a fine ring, as also had Howden, the last stop of the day.

Tuesday saw us branching into West Yorkshire. At Acomb we rang in cramped conditions, and quality varied. Stedman grinding to a halt, but Kent and Oxford Spliced proved more successful. At Collingham, on the light eight (requiring careful handling), we were gratified to be informed by a local ringer that we were the best strikers he had heard on the bells! At Wetherby, four-spliced Surprise was achieved, and with this to our credit we headed to Birstall, where we found the only Yorkshire tail-ends of the week. All agreed the bells were superb, and a first attempt at

Erin Triples was a great success. And so on, through Batley and Dewsbury (where we had occasional altercation with point-duty policemen), to ring at Ossett. The day was rounded off at Wakefield by participating in the Cathedral practice. Having accustomed ourselves to 14 ropes in one chamber, we achieved some good ringing with the added strength of the local band.

INTO LINCOLNSHIRE

On Wednesday we departed from York to Lincoln. Ringing en route was at Selby, where Little Bob Royal was rung, and Gainsborough in the evening. The remainder of the day was occupied with tower-grabs and the Society's annual general meeting. Conducted in traditional style, the assembled company discussed (when persuaded to) the election of officers, next year's tour and the annual reunion.

Thursday, our first full day in Lincolnshire, proved interesting. After cramming ourselves into the tiny chamber at St. Peter-at-Gowts' Lincoln, we visited Wragby, where three bells were rung kneeling. Louth presented us with a heavy eight requiring skilful handling, and after lunch we made our way to St. James', Grimsby. Here, two bells proved difficult to handle; investigation aloft showed that an additional frame for the two bells had been strapped to the existing one, an admirable economy, but unfortunately the considerable movement of this new fixture failed to justify it. Pausing for a short time at the four-bell tower at Stallingborough, we continued to Caistor, where Antelope was rung for no apparent reason. And so to Lincoln Cathedral and the second 12-bell practice which we were fortunate enough to be allowed to invade. As at Wakefield, we enjoyed ringing of a high standard and would like to express our thanks to both bands for their courtesy on these occasions.

A DAY IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE

Friday took us westward and into Nottinghamshire. Starting the day at Brant Broughton, we graduated from this heavy six to the ten at Newark, giving not only a demonstration of ringing but also a Press report. After lunch, Southwell Minster was visited. The anti-clockwise 12 came as a shock to some, Roger, for one, setting out to raise the four with his back to the third. At Mansfield Woodhouse all will remember the odd-struck bells, on which we nevertheless managed some good striking. Workshop also provided interest as Oxford Bob Triples was rung with the ringers of the back four sitting down. East Retford proved to have a fine ten, and we were surprised to hear that the church's restoration programme included some attention to the bells. Tuxford, the last tower of the day, possessed a pleasant ring, where good striking was achieved.

Saturday took us south of Lincoln. Waddington bells proved a useful six and Caythorpe (a good eight), had two stays missing. The fine light ten at Ewerby were substituted for Hough-on-the-Hill, and Sleaford, Ruskington and Harmston were three well-chosen towers. Back in Lincoln, the four at St. Mary-le-Wigford and the six at St. Botolph's were both rung before all assembled at St. Giles'. Here, at the umpteenth attempt, Glasgow was finally added to the week's methods. The tour was brought to a close in traditional fashion later that evening, and some members, in signing the hotel's visitors book, inserted home tower for full address, and number of bells and tenor weight for room number!

Sadly, an isolated incident marred the week—the discovery on Sunday morning of the theft from one of the cars of three cameras. After a successful week this was extremely regrettable, especially as the occupants suffered the further inconvenience of missing ringing at Boston that morning. Homeward bound, further towers were visited—Croyland Abbey was grabbed shortly after lunch, and we were fortunate to be allowed to invade Baldock, thus fulfilling an ambition for Alan and Christine, and Hitchin.

The week proved hectic but successful and was enjoyed by one and all. A vote of thanks is due to the organisers, drivers and to all local ringers and incumbents. For future reference, it can be reported that all ropes, stays and, as far as we know, bells, were left intact—an improvement on last year!

HAROLD CHANT'S BOOK ON METHOD SPLICING

Reviewed by A. S. Hudson

IT is an unfortunate fact that where specialised theoretical treatises are concerned, the knowledge and understanding of the author usually far exceeds that of the reviewer. This is most certainly the case with the present work, "Method Splicing, Part I, Minor Methods," by H. Chant, published by John Hilton of Tonbridge at 8s. 6d.

It will not have escaped the attention of the bell-ringing public that in the opinion of many authorities there is a long unsatisfied need for definite texts on the many theoretical aspects of change ringing. Method splicing is one such aspect of the general theory of composition, and this book concerns what is probably the most intricate of all splicing problems, that of obtaining a true extent. The fact that Minor methods are being considered is in some ways incidental to the general problem.

Mr. Chant begins by considering Plain methods, beginning with the "opposite half" splice across a single, passing via course splicing, three lead splices and cross splices to grid splicing, or as the author remarks "a new use for old methods." The succeeding chapter he devotes to Treble Bob methods, discussing one-lead, three-lead, five-lead (course) and six-lead splicing. At this stage he digs up a few more old methods and finds new uses for them.

The last part of the book concerns Alliance methods, and first of all explains how Little methods are required in conjunction with them in order to produce an extent. Following this procedure, Treble Bob and Plain methods are integrated, then Treble Bob methods are broken down into Little and Alliance methods with the same changes in the lead, and finally all the techniques are brought together in some most ingenious extents.

I had, of course, met several Multi-Minor extents before and had studied them at length to see how they were put together. Consequently it was with a cheerful heart that I tackled Chapter 1 on the Plain methods. The techniques in this chapter are very well explained and simple to follow. I was not at all happy about the new use for old methods, and let it pass in the hope of later clarification. With relief we sailed into the familiar waters of the College Exercise group, and then the pace heated up until I floundered in grid splicing again. After some study this became clear and, accepting the author's invitation, I felt capable of arranging some simple extents on the same plan myself.

The section on Alliance methods was fascinating in the extreme and the section entitled "At work with paper and pencil" provided the information necessary to make use of all the previously explained techniques.

This book is a most valuable addition to the ringing library. It is a pleasant surprise to find a subject dealt with in considerable detail, indeed it must be one of the first books to do so. The tendency of modern texts to be written down to the beginner has continued too long: the standard methods were first described a long time ago and the works have not as yet become dated. Mr. Chant's work describes multi-Minor splicing in detail and completely, a rare feature today. A considerable amount of previous knowledge and interest is, of course, required, but without this knowledge and facility one would not trouble to open the book at all.

The layout is perhaps somewhat lacking, and the tables a little cramped. I do not like Roman numerals at all—up to XX perhaps, but beyond this, no. As for XLVIII, it is quite meaningless to me. It is not always easy to find the required diagram since several pages of text may ensue before the diagram appears, and I cannot agree that most of the table on page 88 is self-explanatory. These, however, are relatively unimportant criticisms and I must congratulate Mr. Chant and his publisher on producing a first-rate text book on a most difficult subject. It is to be hoped that other works in the series will attain the same high standard.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN A. RUSSELL

The Canterbury District has been shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden passing of Mr. John A. Russell, of Birchington, which occurred on September 30th.

Jack, as he was known to us all, had been a ringer at All Saints' for many years, was captain for 21 years, and was one of the local ringers who re-formed the Quex Park Society some years ago, being its secretary at the time of his death. He was appointed people's warden at All Saints' three years ago. He was beloved by all who were attached to the church and to many of the local parishioners.

To ringers in the Canterbury District he was loved as their chairman, an office he had held since its inception in 1946, and a more popular figure could hardly be found. He knew his meeting procedure thoroughly, was never lost on a point, could keep a meeting in the way it should go, and at the same time was patient, humorous, kindly and helpful to any speaker, in fact the ideal chairman.

A tribute to his popularity was seen at the funeral held at All Saints'. A large congregation, which included many of his Post Office colleagues, parishioners and ringers from a wide area, attended the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. V. Fordham), assisted by the Rev. J. M. Stephens. The lesson was read by his fellow church-warden, Mr. T. A. Walker.

Much sympathy has been expressed to Mrs. Russell, who has two young boys, for whom a trust fund has been set up and to which many contributions have been made.

So we leave him with a thought given by the Vicar in his address, "He was a man who had his priorities right. His life was balanced, and loving his God first, the rest slipped easily into place."

MR. THOMAS G. DENNIS

With great regret we record the sad and sudden death on September 11th of Mr. Thomas G. Dennis aged 65 years, in Brook Hospital, Ashford Kent, having been taken seriously ill the previous Friday night.

For many years Tom had been a well-known figure at Rainham and was known as a keen churchman and a willing worker for local organisations. All his life he had been a regular worshipper at St. Margaret's Parish Church, Rainham, where he was a sidesman, Sunday School teacher, a member of the Parochial Church Council and Toc H, besides being a very useful member of St. Margaret's bellringers. Tom only missed attending church or ringing when his working duties called for him to skipper his barge upon the waters of the Rivers Medway or Thames.

He had been a member of the Kent County Association since 1924. His cheerful manner and wise counsel and willing help will be missed in the belfry, where he acted as tower chaplain always taking prayers before service ringing. The deepest sympathy of many friends is extended to his widow, son and daughter-in-law.

The funeral service at St. Margaret's Church, Rainham, on September 17th, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. James Clifford, assisted by the Rev. R. Etheridge. Among the ringers who attended, representing St. Margaret's Church ringers and the Rochester District of the Kent County Association, were: Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cheal, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Nayler, Miss E. Cumberworth, Messrs. P. Thomas, K. Williamson and D. Baldock. Thus on a fine and sunny September afternoon Tom, our dear friend, was laid to rest near the church he had loved and served so well.

Before and after the service and on the two Sundays since his passing the bells of St. Margaret's have rung the half-muffled message: "We peal in muffled sadness for loved ones laid to rest."

WEST HUNTSPELL, SOMERSET.—On Sept. 28th, 1.260 Grandshire Doubles: T. Bryant 1, A. Jones 2, E. Reasons 3, M. Farthing 4, F. J. White (cond.) 5, G. Luxton 6. Rung half-muffled as token of respect to the late Mrs. E. Fowler.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Tonbridge District

The Tonbridge District held their annual meeting at Tonbridge on October 1st. Ringing could not begin at the usual time owing to a wedding, but a few touches were rung before a service held at 4 p.m. conducted by the Rev. R. Huddlesdon. Forty-five members and friends enjoyed tea at the Parish Room provided and served by the lady members and wives of the Tonbridge band before adjourning to the Vicarage for the business meeting. The Rev. R. Huddlesdon was invited to take the chair, and he tendered apologies for absence from Canon and Mrs. Bewes, who are in Israel.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Dobbie; Ringing Master, Mr. A. Leves; District representatives, Miss D. Colgate and Mr. L. Pope. Mr. S. Jenner automatically remains a District representative due to his appointment of C.C. representative. "Ringing World" correspondent, Miss M. A. Ladd.

Meetings for 1967 are due to be held at Tunbridge Wells (January), Brenchley and Marden (April), Penshurst and Hever (June), Goudhurst (A.D.M., October).

After the main business of the day, a vote of thanks was given for the use of the bells, to Mr. Dent for playing the organ, the Rev. R. Huddlesdon, and the Tonbridge band for providing such a splendid tea.

Further ringing was enjoyed until 8.30 p.m.
M. A. L.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

A good variety of ringing was available to all who attended the Biggleswade District's October meeting at Stotfold. A sumptuous tea was available in the nearby Church School, prepared by local ringers and families.

At the business meeting it was decided to go to Maulden on November 12th, and Northill on December 10th.

Further ringing followed until 9 p.m. The total attendance reached 37.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

At Hertingfordbury (11 cwt. in A flat) the Eastern District held a successful meeting on October 8th. Methods rung included Cambridge and a variety of Spliced Doubles.

Next meeting: St. Andrew's, Hertford (8), November 12th, 6.30 p.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Three readers have sent in interesting articles on "Rope Splicing." We hope to publish something useful at an early date.

The Dodds family won the St. Albans District car rally. Julia's story will appear next week.

The last quarter peal on Old Headington, Oxford, bells, before being rehung, was rung on October 2nd, and was a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Robin Trebilcock on the birth of a son.

The first member of St. Nicholas' Society, Marston, Oxford, to ring 50 peals of Doubles in one tower is Mr. Alec Gammon. To mark the occasion he conducted a peal of 50 Doubles methods, which was a first for the Guild.

Mr. Ernest Weatherby's 95th birthday at Plumb Hall, Alhambra, California, U.S.A., was remembered by friends at Market Drayton, where he was captain for many years. A quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on September 24th.

"Not many of the learners who attended the Yorkshire Association District practice at Kildwick had had the advantage of such tuition," writes our correspondent, and slyly adds "and apparently never before heard such lung power as that of Vernon Bottomley, Fred Munday and Maurice Thurmott." More anon!

DIAMOND WEDDING AT MARESFIELD

Members of the Sussex County Association on October 8th honoured Captain (Church Army) J. R. and Mrs. Martin, on the occasion of their diamond wedding celebrations, with a peal in the morning. This was rung at nearby Fairwarp, and there was more ringing in the afternoon with a beautifully struck quarter peal of Stedman Triples. The band were afterwards invited to the Village Hall (opposite St. Bartholomew's Church) to partake in the actual celebrations.

The Rector (the Rev. F. S. Bardell), after a speech of high praise for the service rendered to the Church by Captain Martin, presented him with a cheque for £50. Mrs. Martin was also honoured, being presented with a magnificent bouquet of chrysanthemums.

In expressing thanks for the generous gifts, Captain Martin spoke of his lifelong work for the Church and his extremely happy marriage. He thanked everyone who had made "their great day" such a wonderful success.

The celebrations were concluded by hand-bell ringing, which was greatly appreciated by many present.

CUMBERLAND YOUTH'S WEDDING

The wedding of Mr. Andrew J. Strathee and Miss J. Wendy Smith took place at SS Peter and Paul's Church, Harlington, where they are both ringers, on September 10th. The service was taken by the Vicar.

The bride wore a full-length classical-style dress and train of heavy white brocade. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Janet Strathee, the bridegroom's sister, who wore a long princess-line dress of pale pink heavy brocade, and carried a bouquet of matching carnations. The best man was Mr. Derek E. Sibson.

The reception was held in the nearby Church Hall. As the couple left the church the bells were rung by members of the local band and friends.

The honeymoon was spent near Eastbourne, and the couple will make their home at Cowley Peachev, near Uxbridge.

Later that afternoon a congratulatory peal was rung at Chiswick by members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, of which Andrew is a member, conducted by the best man.

BLESSED ARE THEY

This week we received a letter from one of our elderly readers who had spent 50 weeks in bed. There are many who have sympathy with the work of Mr. John Euston for the veterans, and we commend to them the following anonymous verses that came our way:

Blessed are they who understand
My faltering step and shaking hand,
Blessed who know my ears today
Must strain to catch the things they say.
Blessed are they who seem to know
My eyes are dim and my mind is slow.
Blessed are they who looked away
When tea spilled on the cloth that day.
Blessed are they with a cheery smile
Who stopped to chat for a little while.
Blessed are they who never say
"You've told that story twice today."
Blessed are they who make it known
That I'm loved, respected and not alone.
And blessed are they who ease the days
Of my journey home, in loving ways.

PLIGHT OF RIPON CATHEDRAL

Pleading for more young people to become ringers at Ripon Cathedral, the Dean (the Very Rev. F. L. Hughes) writes in the Cathedral magazine: "Bells carry a message, and I am perpetually grieved by the silence of the Cathedral bells on Sundays. My cheeks burn with shame as I hear the Sharow bells pealing across the River Ure, and our melancholy ding-dong, the only Ripon answer."

"We must make a major effort to get a band of ringers again. Our deserted belfry must be manned once more. Our two or three remaining ringers have made valiant efforts to train young ringers, but these vanish away like smoke."

"The trouble in Ripon is that the very young go away to college or to work elsewhere, and the college students are birds of passage," says the Dean, and he thinks the only hope is in the 18-25 age group among those who have settled to work in the city.

"JACK" CAME BEFORE "BOB"

Two well-known Hawkhurst ringers, Mr. J. Davis and his son, have been to the West Country, not for ringing, but bowls. They were members of a bowls party playing in tournaments each afternoon and evening. Unfortunately by the time they returned to their hotel for dinner it was too late to get in any tower snatching.

INDUCTION WAS REUNION

The induction of the new Rector of Barley, Herts, the Rev. A. S. Lockett, was preceded by a quarter peal of Bob Minor rung by members of St. John's Church, Hillingdon, Middlesex. Mr. Lockett was previously a curate at St. John's, and many other Hillingdon friends made the long journey to take part in the service. After the service a touch of Cambridge Minor was rung, in which the Rev. David Hoare, of Amptill, Beds, who was present at the induction, took part. Several of the Hillingdon band were delighted to thus meet and ring with an old friend.

"SUDDENLY RETURN"

A band of ringers in a North Yorkshire village were ringing a ground-floor six for the wedding of a village girl. Having rung the bride into church, they adjourned to the home of the local captain for a welcome cup of coffee. A somewhat speedy return to the church was made, the ringers entering the church during the singing of a hymn whilst the register was being signed. The hymn was "Love divine," and as the ringers re-entered the church the lines sung were "Suddenly return and never, never more thy temples leave."

"AGONISING EXPERIENCE"

Miss Ann Gardner, of Washington Cathedral band, writing to Mr. Fred Price of Southbourne about her first peal, states: "It was really an agonising experience, what with my blisters and the heat. But it made me realise how short quarter peals are! We rang one on Monday for Labor Day, and the time simply whizzed by. Of course, that was partly because of the method, Kent Treble Bob Minor, with which I was rather unfamiliar, so that I had to think all the time instead of looking at the clock."

Ann has now left Washington for college, so will be absent from ringing for many months. She has taken with her "The Washington Peal" (record) to listen to when she gets homesick.

CHESTER, 1966

We broke new ground on the tour this year. By staying where there wasn't any beer, But some scouting work was done by a few—The Talbot was found to supply drinks for the crew.

Talking of drink, poor Win had a blow, A pint for a lady—never—oh no. A half in each hand, there's a thing now, Alternately sipping—avoiding a row.

Arriving at Handbridge. I thought "Somebody new."

When peering beneath the long hair that grew, I realised I had really seen him last year—Dear Michael, you really must cut it, I fear.

When Bill found out we were going to "Retreat"

He searched out a text, simple and neat, The back of the car is the place for to show. But not on his own car, there's a limit, you know.

We have with us now a new Tenor King. So let us stand up and his praises do sing. He can't have the two or the treble no more. A back-ender, Ron, or at least on the four.

The Reverend came—spent nearly a week. The Sisters all thought him ever so meek, But Dotty and I could tell a tall tale. If we cared to, but on second thoughts—no sale.

Talking of Dotty—she's called Dorothea—The name is a mouthful, but she'll do for us here,

If only she'd grow, it is such a bind. Lengthening the tail-ends, time out of mind.

She also has brought her own tower captain. And Arthur has brought his broolly, for rain. It's stayed in my car till I'm sick of the sight, You'd better remove it, or we'll have a fight.

Gerald seems only one moan to have found—The birds are a little bit thin on the ground. He looked at the locals, decided no go, The lack of a car restricted his show.

Dennis the Menace is here for to ring, He's always so quiet, there's never a thing. On which I can comment—if only he would Kick o'er the traces, 'stead of being so good. Ian likes fish and chips, so if you hunger for food.

Follow him, and then the repast will be good. But it doesn't give him any extra pull, Liverpool tenor made him look a bit of a fool.

If you want a good route o'er the dale and the hill

The Dave is the one—he never is still. He always rings round near the front of the peal.

He changes his shirt, then enjoys a good meal. If you're a left-handed ringer, then better look out.

My next guest, Ron Sharp, is liable to shout. Never mind, Ron, we all do our best. We even forgive you for ringing in your vest.

Dick Price is back, with a wife this year, That's caused the other girls many a tear. He should look at the road instead of Andrea. Then he wouldn't have got any dents in the rear.

I've left out Tom, that will never do. This year again we've pulled him through! But seriously we thank you very sincerely, We hope you will continue to organise yearly.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Over 80 ringers attended the autumn festival of the Penzance Branch, held at Helston on October 8th. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. E. M. Woollan, who welcomed the Guild.

The ladies of the church provided a substantial tea and we offer our thanks for their generous hospitality. After tea the business meeting was held, when the Vicar presented a number of long-service certificates.

An invitation was received from Landewednack to hold the spring festival there, and the date provisionally booked is April 29th. Ringing also took place at Crowan, Mawgan and Wendron.

Towers represented at Helston were: Carbis Bay, Gulval, Landewednack, Lelant, Madron, Mawgan, Paul, Phillack, Towdnack and Wendron. M. C.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The September meeting was held at Idle on the 24th. After debate on the merit of Bradford's trolley-buses, ringers ascended the steps to raise the bells in peal.

Unfortunately a wedding was due to start at 4 o'clock, and although the happy couple had the benefit of free ringing, the ceremony interrupted the meeting for about half an hour.

Once again numbers remained constant at about 13, and although it is disappointing not to see more members attending meetings, it must be stressed that all those who were present enjoyed the ringing.

Sandwiches were eaten in the nearby school-room, and at the short meeting thanks were conveyed to the local company for the cups of tea. Some subscriptions for the year were also collected. C. S. N.

ST. ALBANS DISTRICT'S RALLY TESTS DRIVERS' KNOWLEDGE

AS in past years, October 1st saw a small gathering of cars on Nomansland Common for the annual outing. After being asked questions on the Highway Code and a few general knowledge questions, the car crews were given a set of written instructions and questions to find answers to, plus that sealed envelope "in case of emergencies," and set loose, when ready, on the county.

Those who managed to start in the right direction found themselves crossing Waterend Ford and heading to Welwyn and then on to Tewin. It was cross country to Ware, and after a short stretch of main road the route was via smaller roads to Roydon and up to the edge of Harlow. It was on this stretch that some of us began to pass familiar cars travelling in the opposite direction!! It is amazing how much confusion and laughter that causes!

At Harlow we knew we must be near the end, but the last clue, a pub situated on a corner as we turned off had many of us fooled. It was a case of cars in all directions as some returned to answer the question, others carried on with much uncertainty and laughter to follow the final directions and arrive at Sawbridgeworth to hand in answer sheets and then wait for all the cars to arrive, and the final results.

Tea was in a café nearby. There was more laughter when it was discovered one of the last to leave Nomansland nearly arrived before most of the others put together! On checking answers it seemed that counting the spokes in the cartwheels at one point in the journey seemed to be too much of an effort for some! Many failed to see "where the knight left his horse"—the "hitching rail" in the forecourt of the Crusader in one small village! Several had been stumped by the question before starting, "Where do the six main roads from London (A.1, A.2, etc.) eventually finish?" And a big surprise was the fact that not one of the drivers could name the six six-bell towers in the county!!

At long last the final missing car appeared. The points were added and the results announced. The first prize went to—need you ask—the "family" Dodds, with their usual high marks. Second to Tony Kench and Julia, and third to Graham Sillis, Babs and the South Mimms girls.

Geoff Dodds spoke for all when he thanked this year's organisers, Gerald Penney, Eric Edmondson, Graham Ridgeway and Marian Perry, for all the hard work put in by each to make what we all agreed was certainly a very enjoyable outing; the route chosen was extremely pretty—and even the weather cleared for us.

Ringing at Sawbridgeworth followed, and then we made our way to end the outing by joining the Bishop's Stortford practice.
