INSTRUCTING THE PUBLIC.

Bell ringing, which to the public has been in the past a somewhat mysterious craft, is beginning to receive a more intelligent publicity in the Press than it used to do. It is true that there are still some weird and wonderful notions abroad as to what change ringing really is, but, taken as a whole, newspaper reports and comments on bell ringing are now of a more enlightened character. In our view this is all for the good of the Exercise. If the public know that what we do in the belfry has behind it something more than a mere mechanical method of making a noise; that change ringing is an operation based upon scientific principles and requiring brains, a quick perception, concentration and a vast amount of patience and practice, some at any rate will have a greater appreciation of what is performed in the belfry.

But apart from the columns of the Press, interest is being aroused in other ways, and in many instances lectures on the subject, given by ringers, have not only spread knowledge among the lay public but have found an appreciative reception in widely varying circles. Quite a new departure, so far as we are aware, is, however, to be made in the Cheshire town of Wallasey, where, at the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. F. L. Edwards (Hon. Sec. of the Salisbury Guild) is to preach on Sunday week on the subject of 'The Mystery of Triple Bob Major.' The Vicar has arranged this sermon specially because he desires that his congregation should learn something about the origin, use and purpose of church bells, about which, he admits, many people have very hazy notions.

It would be a good thing indeed if all congregations had the opportunity of enlightenment from a practical ringer like the Rector of Kington Magna, but, unfortunately, we have not enough parsons of his type to go round. There is still in many places an entire lack of interest in the ringers. If the choir were absent from their places, or if the organ were silent, all the worshippers would at once be making inquiries as to what was wrong. But the absence of the ringers or the silence of the bells is passed over without comment. In these days, when it is the object of those who have the interests of the Exercise at heart to have the bells rung regularly for the Church's services, something is needed to bring home to the church-going public not only the importance of the work which the ringers undertake, but a fuller realisation of what it involves. Bells provide a many-sided study—practical, scientific, historical and what not—but outside the ranks of the ringers themselves the majority of people are ignorant of it. The bell sermon at Wallasey is one way to educate the local public, and we should like to see the example followed in other places. A wider, general interest would almost certainly lead some to a closer investigation and a desire to learn something of the practical side of ringing, and in this way the Exercise is likely to make a direct gain. Any means by which the interest of the public can be stimulated is worth cultivating.

Composed by ARTHUR KNIGHTS. Conducted by EDWARD JENKINS.

The first Surprise peal in the county and the first of Major on the bells. The tourists were kindly received by the Vicar, the Rev. T. O. Phillips, and Mr. T. Rogers, local conductor.

The last four performances are believed to be first peals in the respective methods for the Guild. It was hoped to have visited Gorseion Church on the homeward journey, but difficulties at the Pembroke Ferry delayed the party.

FIFTY YEARS A RINGER.

RETIREMENT OF MR. JOHN LAWSON, OF LIGHTCLIFFE.

An interesting event took place on Saturday, September 24th, at St. Matthew's Church, Lightcliffe, Yorks, when a presentation was made to Mr. John Lawson in commemoration of his retirement on the completion of his fifty years' services as ringer and conductor. Mr. Lawson was one of the eight who rang the first peal at Lightcliffe in 1881, and is the only survivor of that team. He has officiated for the past 35 years as conductor, and has taken part in every peal that has been rung on these bells since that date, an achievement of which Mr. Lawson is justly proud. The Vicar, Rev. H. L. Taylor, the wardens, Church Council and the congregation determined to mark their appreciation of Mr. Lawson's services, and on Saturday afternoon a short service in the church was held, at which the Vicar officiated. A handsome tablet was unveiled by the Vicar's Warden, Col. R. H. Goldthorp. This tablet was inscribed, 'To commemorate the faithful services of Mr. John Lawson as bellringer and conductor, 1877-1927.'

An adjournment was then made to the schoolroom, where tea was served to the local ringers and friends from other towns and their wives. Afterwards, the Vicar presided and said they were assembled to express their hearty appreciation of the valuable services of Mr. John Lawson, who for 50 years had willingly given his services as bellringer, and for 35 years had been conductor. He considered bellringing was quite an important part of the church services, as it sent out an invitation to people to attend the church.

Col. Goldthorp, in making the presentation, said he thought this was a unique occasion, and spoke appreciatively of Mr. Lawson's services during the past 50 years. He understood, however, they were not severing their connection with Mr. Lawson altogether, as he was still remaining a member of the church; in fact, 'he was coming out of the belfry tower to attend the church.' He had very much pleasure on behalf of the congregation in handing to Mr. Lawson a handsome timepiece as a small token of the esteem in which he was held by them at St. Matthew's Church, and he hoped he would live long to enjoy his well-earned retirement. The inscription on the clock was, 'Presented to Mr. John Lawson by the congregation of St. Matthew's Church, Lightcliffe, as a mark of their appreciation of his services as bellringer 1877 to 1927, as conductor 1892 to 1927.'

In acknowledgment of this and other gifts, Mr. Lawson returned thanks, and for the kind words of the appreciation of his services. He said that change ringing was a very healthy occupation, and he certainly had got a good deal of pleasure from it. He hoped that more young men would come forward and learn the interesting art of change ringing. For his part he was willing to render all the assistance he could, and would gladly give them every possible encouragement.

A short miscellaneous entertainment followed, at which Miss Norwood, Mr. Clegg and Mr. Lawson took part. Touches on the church bells were rung in the afternoon and evening.

DEATH OF THE DEAN OF NORWICH. A TRUE RINGERS' FRIEND.

The announcement of the sudden passing of the Dean of Norwich (Dr. J. W. Willink) on September 22nd came as a shock to his friends in all parts of the country. Only on the previous day he was present at the celebration of the Holy Communion and Matins at Norwich Cathedral. He also attended evensong, and was a guest at the luncheon of the Norwich Rotary Club, while that night he preached at St. Matthew's Church, Thorpe Hamlet.

On Thursday morning he seemed in his usual health, but in the afternoon, when he was preparing to leave home for Badwell Ash, Bury St. Edmunds, where he had promised to preach at the harvest festival, he was seized with severe pains round the heart. Medical aid was summoned, and the Dean was removed to bed, but he passed away at six o'clock from angina pectoris.

Dr. Willink had always been a man of boundless energy, and was greatly beloved by all who knew him. From 1885 to 1891 he was Vicar of St. John's, Sunderland. In the latter year he accepted the Vicarage of St. Helens, Lancashire, where he remained until 1904.

In 1904 Dr. Willink became Vicar of Great Yarmouth, and in 1912 he accepted the Rectorate of Birmingham. There he remained until May, 1919, and it was as Rector of Birmingham that he became known to the majority of ringers through the close interest he took in the St. Martin's Guild. As all good ringers know, St. Martin's is the Parish Church of Birmingham, and one of the first things Dr. Willink did was to visit the belfry and make the acquaintance of his ringers, of whose doings he had heard from Mr. Dennison Hayward, of Great Yarmouth.

Ever afterwards he kept in close touch, visiting the belfry nearly every Sunday, and frequently bringing with him members of his family or friends.

He took the chair at every Johnson dinner but one held during his Rectorate, and on one occasion he rose from a sick bed to be present, in order, as he said, that he should not miss the most enjoyable evening of the whole year.

Those who attended any of the dinners over which he presided will remember what a splendid chairman he made, with his fine upstanding figure, rich, powerful voice, and never failing good humour.

Birmingham has been singularly fortunate in its Rectors, but never more so than when Canon Willink (as he then was) accepted the position.

In him ringers had a true and sincere friend. With him they were not 'out of sight—out of mind.' He took a particularly keen interest in them and their doings, and his own ringers of St. Martin's were frequently invited to spend a summer afternoon on the Rectory lawn.

It was a sad day for Birmingham when he left to become Dean of Norwich, but he continued his interest in our art, and was soon elected president of the Norwich Association (now the Norfolk Guild). In this capacity he attended numerous meetings of the association, and he presided at Easter over the Jubilee gathering.

A largely attended memorial service was held at St. Martin's on Tuesday, September 27th, at the time the funeral was taking place at Norwich, and the bells of which he was so fond were rung muffled before and after the service and again in the evening.

A. P. S.

At Fakenham, Norfolk, on Sunday morning, September 25th, 1,056 changes of Bob Major were rung, half-muffled, as a tribute to the late Dean of Norwich: P. J. Alfray 1, F. Gaut 2, S. Cooke 3, G. Dye 4, C. S. Tuthill 5, Geo. Cooke 6, Harry Cooke 7, Robt. Cooke (conductor) 8.—Also on Tuesday evening, the funeral day, 800 changes.

At Diss, Norfolk, on September 27th, touches of Oxford Treble Bob Major were rung at St. Mary's Church, with the bells half-muffled, as a last tribute to the memory of the late Dean of Norwich, president of the Norfolk Guild since 1919. Those who took part in the ringing were W. Wiskins, E. Youngs, J. Souter, A. G. Harrison, W. Steggall, W. C. Chenery, G. Archer, C. J. More and C. Goodman, the touches being conducted by C. J. More and G. Archer.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A joint meeting of the Eastern and Western Districts of this association was held at Chester-le-Street on September 24th. The attendance was somewhat disappointing, but the fine peal of bells at SS. Mary and Cuthbert's Church were kept going during the afternoon in Grandair, Kent Major, Stedman, etc. After an excellent tea at the Crown Hotel, Mr. F. Sheraton presided over a short meeting, and, on the motion of the president (Mr. C. L. Routledge), Mr. R. L. Patterson was elected vice-president for the Eastern District for the coming year, and Mr. W. F. Pattison, of Chester-le-Street, for the Western District.

Mr. R. L. Patterson supported Mr. H. Tyson in expressing the regret of the members at the impending departure of Mr. J. W. Smith, of Winlaton, for Sydney, Australia, and wished him every success and happiness in his new home.—Mr. Smith feelingly replied.

Mr. E. Ferry, the secretary of the association, sent a message urging the members to do their best to make the 50th annual meeting at Durham on October 29th a great success.

The company then adjourned to the belfry, and the bells were kept going until about eight o'clock.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Smith and Sons, the well-known clockmakers of Derby, have secured the order for a new large chiming clock and carillon to play on 10 bells for the new Derby Cathedral. Other important work just completed includes a new Westminster chiming clock for St. Mary's Church, Finchley, and two large clocks and bells for Canada.

'Great Peter,' the 10½ ton bell for York Minster, which Messrs. Taylor and Co. have cast, was safely hoisted into its massive frame in the north-west tower on Thursday last. The rededication will take place on Saturday, October 22nd, when the Minster ring of twelve will be open, and a welcome extended to all ringers.

The band at Bucknall, Stoke-on-Trent, who some time since rang a peal of Minor consisting of seven different 4th's-place Delight methods, have now rung a peal of seven different 3rd's-place Delight methods. Each was the first of its kind by the North Staffs Association.

If anyone asked the late Mr. Isaac G. Shade how many peals he had rung, he used to say, 'I don't know; you must ask Jack Lamb, my secretary.' Mr. Lamb kept a careful record of Mr. Shade's peals, and he has now just completed another big task of the same description, having been through the volumes of the ringing press and extracted particulars of the more than 700 peals rung by Mr. J. H. Cheesman. Perhaps it would be well if we refrained from publishing Mr. Lamb's address, for fear of his being inundated with requests from other ringers who want their peal lists compiled.

Henry Hubbard died on October 9th, 1881. He was born a hundred and twenty years ago this year, and rendered a great deal of service to the Exercise as a writer and composer.

Holt's famous ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Shore-ditch for the first time on October 12th, 1754.

CHURCH DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Fire destroyed All Saints' Church, Eastbourne, on Thursday evening last week. All that remains standing, except the ruined walls, are the tower and two vestries. The clock in the belfry struck seven o'clock while the church was in flames.

The tower contains a ring of eight bells, and there is a regular Sunday service band there. There has been little peal ringing, however, on account of the situation of the church. The first peal on the bells was a muffled peal, rung for the funeral of Queen Victoria, and the second a peal for the coronation of King Edward VII.

SUTTON VENY BELLS. NEED FOR RESTORATION.

When the new Church of St. John-the-Evangelist, Sutton Veny, Warminster, was built by the generosity of the widow and family of Mr. Joseph Everett, of Greenhill, and dedicated nearly sixty years ago, in 1868, a faculty was obtained to move the 6 bells and bell frame from the old Church of St. Leonard. A pleasing link was thereby kept with olden times. The old bell frame is by now in so poor a condition that it is unsafe for ringing, which had to cease at Easter, 1927.

An attempt is now being made to raise funds to repair the frame or to rehang the bells in a new frame.

The bells, which are of interest, will not be altered, except that the treble, which is sharp, may perhaps be tuned, if this can be done without injury to the bell. Only five of the six bells are the original ones from the old church, as in 1886 the third bell, which had been badly cracked, was done away with. To make the peal more in harmony, the old fourth was tuned to take its place and a new fourth cast. This new bell bears the inscription of the old third, with the names of the Rector and churchwardens at the time of casting added.

Treble.—'L.C. 1696.'

2nd.—'L.C. 1696.'

3rd.—'Mr. R. Bailey, Rect. Jef Long R. Exten c.w. 1695.'

4th.—'Mr. Noah Wilkins and Mr. John Best ChWds 1749. Recast 1886 G. F. Powell, Rector, R. Elling, Jas. N. Farham, Churchwardens.'

5th.—'Saml and Stepn Long Church Wardens, Robt and Jas Wells Fecit 1793.'

Tenor.—'Mr. Stephen Long and Mr. John Rundall ch wds. Wm. Cockey Cast Mee 1723.'

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The autumn meeting of the Canterbury District was held at St. Lawrence, Thanet, on Saturday, October 1st, when the following towers were represented: Canterbury, Littlebourne, Wingham, Dover, Sturry, Wickhambreau, and St. Nicholas. Tea and the business meeting, over which the Rev. Canon F. J. O. Helmore presided, were held in the Parish Hall.

A proposition that a bye-meeting should be held at Faversham on December 10th was carried.

The sad loss which the St. Lawrence parish had recently sustained, owing to the death of the Rev. A. G. Wilcox, was mentioned, and the meeting decided to send a letter of condolence to Mrs. Wilcox.

The meeting closed with a discussion concerning the advisability of again continuing the mid-week evening meetings, but no propositions were made.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

The tenth article of this instructive series, by 'Minormania,' will appear in our next issue.

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION. QUARTERLY MEETING AND UNVEILING OF PEAL BOARD AT CHEPSTOW.

A quarterly meeting was held at Chepstow on Saturday, October 1st, and, although the day provided one continuous downpour of rain, a splendid muster put in an appearance from the towers of Monmouthshire and Glamorganshire. The bells, a fine old eight, tenor 21 cwt., by Evans, of Chepstow, were made good use of during the afternoon. The Vicar (the Rev. D. Hughes), contrary to what was expected, was able to be present, and conducted service in the church at four o'clock. Immediately afterwards he led the way to the ringing chamber, followed by the members. When all had assembled, the Vicar asked the hon. secretary (Mr. J. W. Jones), the conductor of the peal, to unveil the board which had been erected, recording a peal rung a few years ago as a farewell to Mr. John Prickett, who for several years had been leader of the local ringers and who is now in South Africa. The Vicar read the dedicatory prayers, and after a few remarks invited all present to join him at tea in the Church Rooms.

Tea over, the business meeting followed, with the Vicar in the chair. The hon. secretary read several letters received relating to the minutes, including one from Mr. Denison Taylor, of Loughborough, acknowledging a vote of sympathy, and another from the Vicar of Tredunnock, which explained the reason why the meeting was held at Chepstow instead of Tredunnock.

There were no restorations or proposed augmentations to report, but Mr. Jones reported excellent progress in instruction at Penhow. Four months ago this tower was ringing call changes. The hon. secretary has visited there each week with one exception, and with the assistance of an occasional visit of one or two others, call changes have disappeared (and the boards), and the band are now doing half-pull ringing.

The place to hold the next Monmouthshire meeting was left until the annual meeting.

A number of new members were elected, including the verification as life members of the visiting experts who had recently toured and scored so many peals in South Wales.

The item 'any other business' was taken advantage of by the hon. secretary to read the leading article in 'The Ringing World' on 'Loyalty.'

The usual vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for his kindness and hospitality, and the meeting closed.

The bells were afterwards rung in Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Double Norwich. Despite the inclement weather, the meeting was a huge success. Opportunity is now taken of thanking Mr. E. H. Sims (the local leader) for all the trouble and kindness shown, and to him is due the thanks for the very nice and fitting peal board erected.

THE RESTORATION AT FARNDON, CHESHIRE.

As announced in the 'Belfry Gossip' column last week, the ring of eight bells at Farndon, Cheshire, which have recently been tuned and rehung in a new iron frame by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, will be available for ringing on Saturday, and a hearty welcome is extended by the church authorities to all ringers.

The details of the restoration scheme are interesting. A mishap to one of the bells nearly two years ago led to the tower being examined by experts, with the result that it was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition, and all ringing was, of course, suspended. The parish, although only just having completed, at considerable cost, the restoration of the church roof, immediately tackled a more serious one, which has cost them something in the neighbourhood of £1,200. The work on the masonry was entrusted to Messrs. Morrison, the builders of Liverpool Cathedral, while Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were given the work in the belfry. All is now completed, and the opening of the bells, which has been delayed for some little time through a case of serious illness near the church, is looked forward to with keen interest.

The Rev. S. P. Gray, himself an honorary member of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and his parishioners are to be highly congratulated on their noble efforts on behalf of their ancient church.

THE LATE MR. B. FOSKETT.

The last peal the late Mr. Benjamin Foskett took part in was one of Kent Treble Bob Major at St. Mary's, Willesden, on August 9th, 1924. He rang 17 peals at this church.

In memory of this grand old gentleman, and as a last token of respect, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung by: G. M. Kilby 1, E. Lankester 2, R. G. Ilstey 3, W. G. Matthews 4, E. H. Kilby 5, T. Lock 6, J. A. Trollope 7, H. Kilby 8. He was one of the most lovable of men, and those who knew him will never forget his beautiful character.

KING'S LANGLEY, HERTS.—On Sunday, September 25th, at All Saints' Church, for harvest festival morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): J. Graney 1, Miss R. S. Cook 2, A. E. Dollimore 3, J. W. Lane 4, R. S. Cook (conductor) 5, E. J. Rowe 6, A. Hill 7, J. Hayward 8.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

NEW PLAN FOR ELECTING COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES.

The annual meeting of the Lancashire Association was held at Wigan on Saturday, September 24th, when representatives from over 50 towers met at the Parish Church at 4 p.m., after ringing at the five towers in the district. The service, a shortened form of evensong, was much appreciated, the hymns being led by the organ and choirboys. The preacher was the Ven. Archdeacon Howson, of Liverpool, the warden of the Liverpool Diocesan Guild. He took as his text, 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.' He said the Church now looked on the ringers as a ministry in the church, although it was not always so. He hoped they would not do anything to disgrace their calling.

Tea was partaken of in the schools near by, following which, in the next room, the business meeting was held. The members found themselves in a peculiar position. Their president is somewhere in Africa, and their vice-president in a nursing home in Manchester. They therefore asked the Archdeacon to take the chair, which he very kindly did, and gave them a welcome into the Liverpool diocese.

The secretary read the committee's report and balance sheet, the ringing secretary gave his report, and the auditors told how well kept they found the books, vouchers, etc., that go to make the business side of an association.

There were only sufficient nominations for ringing secretary and auditors to fill the posts, so these were confirmed.

The office of vice-president brought six nominations, two of whom retired. The other names were voted on by ballot, and while the votes were being counted a notice of motion from last year was taken and discussed, and in a new form was passed, viz., 'That the election of Central Council representatives be by ballot before the annual meeting, and the result be declared at the annual meeting.' It was thought that as many members could not get to the annual meeting it would give them a chance to vote for those they favoured. It was also suggested that the nominees should state their willingness to stand before their names were put on the paper.

The tellers having arrived with the result of the election of vice-president, Mr. J. H. Banks was declared appointed for the next two years.

The General Secretary suggested that it was the turn of Fylde Branch to find a place for the next annual meeting, and Blackpool was proposed and carried without a second place being mentioned.

The vote of thanks took the form of an omnibus vote, including thanks to the Rector of Wigan, for church, bells and school, to his curate for arranging the service, to the organist and choir, to the authorities of other churches for the use of bells, and to the Archdeacon for his sermon and for presiding over the meeting.—This was responded to by the Archdeacon and Mr. J. Grounds, the local secretary.

This terminated the meeting, and allowed the Archdeacon just five minutes to catch his train. The rest of the evening was spent among the bells and in social intercourse between old and new friends.

The committee reported that 129 new members and 15 non-resident members were enrolled during the year. The association lost 12 by death and 31 through arrears, leaving a grand total of 1,543. A balance of £5 5s. is shown on the year's working, but £12 15s. had been taken out of the funds for new emblems, which were on view and sale at the meeting. With the emblems in stock, the association is worth £37 13s.

The sympathy of the meeting was sent to Mr. Rollerson, the vice-president, in his illness, together with best wishes for his speedy recovery.

THE MEMORIAL TO THE LATE SIR A. HEYWOOD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the issue of 'The Ringing World' for July 29th you were good enough to publish an appeal from Canon H. J. Elsee in connection with the proposed memorial to the late Sir Arthur Heywood. Up to the present I have received subscriptions as shown in the following list.

Canon Elsee's appeal was intended for any old friends of the late Sir Arthur, more especially to his old colleagues on the Central Council, and if there are any others who would like to subscribe to this fund before the list is closed I should be much obliged if they would kindly let me have their subscriptions as soon as possible.—Yours, etc.,

THE NEW GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A SERIES OF DISTRICT MEETINGS.

As a preliminary to the general meeting which is to be held on November 19th, a series of district meetings have been arranged in order to discuss the organisation of the proposed Guild for the new diocese of Guildford. The first of these meetings was held at Guildford on Saturday, and was attended by some 50 ringers from various towers in the neighbourhood. The business was preceded by ringing at the pro-Cathedral of Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas' Church, and by a tea.

The meeting was held in St. Saviour's Hall, presided over by Mr. Walter Harrison, churchwarden of St. Nicolas', who has long been interested in ringing, and who presided at the meeting in November when the formation of the new Guild was definitely decided upon. Among those present were Canon E. C. Kirwan (Holy Trinity), Rev. Sir Paget M. Bowman (Shere), Rev. H. Hamilton Jackson (Shaftord), the Rev. J. M. La F. McAnally (Haslemere), Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O. (Woking), etc. Ringers were present from the pro-Cathedral and St. Nicolas', Guildford, Ash, Banstead, Cranleigh, Dunsfold, Farnham, Haslemere, Leatherhead, Merstham, Ockham, Shaftord, Shere, Thursley, West Clandon, Wotton, Worplesdon.

At the outset the Chairman proposed a vote of sympathy with Mr. A. H. Pulling in his accident, and this was at once endorsed.

A report of the Organising Committee was read by the hon. secretary pro tem. This detailed the steps which had already been taken to organise the Guild, which will come into being on January 1st next. The Guild had the cordial support of the Bishop of Guildford, who had promised to become president and to give the Guild his personal interest. In the diocese there were at present three 10-bell towers, 27 8-bell towers, 24 6-bell towers, and two 5-bell towers. The committee had been able to secure the welcome co-operation of the Winchester Diocesan Guild in their project, and they acknowledged the friendly and even generous spirit in which their proposals had been received by the parent society. At the annual meeting of the Winchester Guild a resolution was passed agreeing to the splitting up of the area as from January 1st next, and voting 25 per cent. of the funds then in hand to the Guildford Diocesan Association, an action which at once demonstrated the friendly feeling which animated all sections of the Guild.

RELATIONS WITH THE PARENT GUILD.

In order that the intimate relations between the old members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild may be preserved, a motion was also carried that a reciprocal arrangement be made whereby any resident member of the present Guild on January 1st, 1928, may become a compounding member of any of the associations into which the present Guild may be divided (other than that in which resident) upon payment of 1s. to each such association, if application be made during the year 1928. This arrangement was originally suggested by the Guildford Committee, and they attached considerable importance to it. They recommended that the necessary resolution to give effect to the proposal should be passed by the Guildford Diocesan Guild at the proper time. At the request of the Surrey Association, a conference took place between the officials of that society and the Organising Committee to consider the question of amalgamation. As the Surrey Association had no proposals to put forward except that of complete absorption of the Guildford diocesan area by the Surrey Association, the committee informed the deputation that no definite reply could be given until after the Guild had come into existence in January next, as it was a question that could only be dealt with after the Guild had been established.

The committee have given considerable attention to the drafting of a set of rules, which members were invited to consider, and which, subject to any amendments which might be made, would be submitted for approval at a later preliminary general meeting of the whole Guild, and for adoption at the inaugural meeting.

The committee had mapped out the diocesan area into four districts, and in doing so had two considerations in view: (1) To make them workable in size, and (2) convenience in regard to means of inter-communication between the towers in each group. One of the questions which the members were asked to consider was whether they would accept the Winchester Guild's recommendation that life members of the Winchester Guild should automatically become life members of this Guild without further payment. A decision on this and other important matters would have to be made when the preliminary general meeting was held on November 19th, and it was hoped that in the meantime members would also carefully consider whom they desired to see holding the various offices in the Guild. The success of the Guild would depend largely upon the manner in which its organisation was now moulded and the officers who were entrusted with its administration. The committee would welcome proposals which would add to the efficiency of the Guild and further its objects, and they therefore invited suggestions from those who would become its future members. It was proposed that all those who joined by the date of the inauguration should always be distinguished as foundation members, and be so described in the records. It was hoped, therefore, that all who contemplate joining the Guild would become enrolled by January 1st next. The committee desired to enlist the support of every ringer in the diocese in making the new Guild one of the best ringing organisations in the country. There were sufficient ringers in the diocese to make a strong and virile Guild, and before the Organising Committee laid down their work for a permanent executive to take over the task, they hoped to see in being a Guild worthy of the diocese and worthy of the Exercise of which it would form a not unimportant part.

The report was approved, and the following resolution was unanimously carried, on the motion of the Rev. Hamilton Jackson, seconded by Mr. R. Hasted: 'That this preliminary district meeting approves of the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, to come into being on January 1st next, and pledges itself to do its utmost to support the objects of the Guild and further its interests.'

The proposed rules were then considered serialim, and a few alterations suggested.

On the motion of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Canon Kirwan, it was resolved to support the proposal that 'members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, residing in the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth on December 31st next, be admitted as compounding members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at any time before December 31st, 1928, upon payment of one shilling.'

On the question of life members of the Winchester Guild becoming life members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild without further payment, the meeting regretted that it could not support the proposal.

Suggestions were invited for promoting the successful conduct of the Guild, and a discussion took place as to the best time for the annual meeting. Eventually a proposal was carried that it be recommended that there should be an annual business meeting early in the year and an annual festival in the summer.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting, which revealed an extremely gratifying interest in the scheme for the new Guild.

A similar meeting is to be held at Leatherhead to-morrow.

STAVELEY'S LOSSES.

DEATH CLAIMS RECTOR AND CAPTAIN OF RINGERS.

During recent weeks, Staveley churchpeople, and the ringers in particular, have been very hard hit by death. On August 26th, the beloved Rector (Canon Molineux) passed away and was buried at Lewes, Sussex. Canon Molineux had a seizure three years ago, and since that time had been an invalid, having lost his speech and the use of his right side. He held the living of Staveley for 40 years, having been appointed in 1887, and during his rectorship had done a vast amount of good work in the parish, and was loved and honoured by everybody with whom he came in contact. He died at the ripe old age of 83 years, mourned by all, and especially the ringers, to whom he had been such a good friend, and in whose doings he took a big interest. Almost the last meeting Canon Molineux attended before his seizure was a meeting of the Sheffield District Society, held at Staveley in 1924, and in his address, when speaking to that gathering, he said that his clapper was nearly done. It was little thought then how soon his words would come true.

The bells were fully muffled, with tenor open only at back stroke, for all services on the Sunday following his death, and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples rung in the evening. Two of the ringers were among the bearers on his removal from the church, which he had loved so much, and in which he had laboured for so many years, to the train which bore him away on his last journey. One of those was Mr. Samuel Smedley, who had been captain of the ringers for many years, and a ringer at Staveley 41 years.

He was suddenly called to his rest on Sunday, September 11th, after only three days' illness. Of him it can truly be said he did his duty nobly and well. He was seldom absent from the tower, and never late when there was any ringing to be done. It did not matter if it was to ring the old year out or to ring for 6 a.m. Communion service on Easter Sunday, Sam was always present, and regularly took his rope, which was usually the 7th. He has left an example to all young ringers.

Not only was he a ringer, but he had taken his place in Staveley Church choir for the past 61 years, and he did his duty in that position as he did in the tower, being regularly in his place on Sundays and on practice nights.

Of a quiet, unassuming nature, he lived a good life, and worked at his trade as a blacksmith right up to the last. He had been employed by the Staveley Coal and Iron Company nearly 58 years.

He was carried to his last resting place by four of his fellow ringers on September 14th, and the 'whole pull and stand' was rung at the graveside, and 672 Bob Major after the funeral, with the bells half-muffled. On the following Sunday, a half-muffled peal of Bob Major was attempted as a last tribute to his memory, but owing to indisposition of one of the band had to be brought round at half-way after 1 hr. 40 mins. splendid ringing, much to the regret of all.

Samuel Smedley had passed the allotted span, having reached the age of 73 years. He had rung 32 peals, chiefly of Treble Bob and Bob Major. He was a member of the Yorkshire, Midland Counties and Sheffield District Associations. He was a good ringer, and will be greatly missed.

STAINES.—A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in St. Peter's Church on Wednesday evening, September 21st, after the institution and induction of the new Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Flecker, M.A., D.C.L.: W. R. Shorter 1, J. Phillips 2, J. Lamb 3, A. J. Hiscock 4, G. Walsley 5, W. E. Butler 6, W. C. Parker (conductor) 7, F. W. Smith 8.

STANLEY BRAGG.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN ST. MARTIN'S GUILD MEMBER.

To those of us who, like the writer of these few lines, had known him for something like 30 years, it seemed impossible of belief that the ruddy-countenanced, plump-checked, jovial-spirited Stanley Bragg could really be dead, but there it was in cold and unrelenting lettering on the tablet.

The falling leaves skirled and whirled, the skies wept, and all around seemed hushed in pity and regret, as, in the last few hours of 'Summer time' of this year which has seen no 'summer,' all that was mortal of Stanley Bragg was lowered into the bosom of mother earth on Saturday, October 1st.

On his bold visage middle age
Had slightly pressed its signet sage,
Yet had not quenched the open truth
And fiery vehemence of youth:
Forward and frolic glee was there,
The will to do, the soul to dare.—Scott.

Mr. Bragg had been a member of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, for about thirty years, having learnt to pull a bell at his native place, Solihull.

For many years he had been towerkeeper, during which period the well-known ring of ten have gone like the proverbial fiddle, and Solihull has been one of the favourite places with members of the Guild for meetings and peals.

'Stan,' as he was familiarly known, became a very safe ringer and good striker, and rang numerous peals on 8, 10 and 12 bells in the standard methods. He had been a regular attendant at the 'Johnson' dinners for the past twenty-five years, and his ready wit and hearty laugh will be sadly missed by many.

He was present at the last dinner, but had only then just got about after an attack of 'flu.' A few weeks later he complained of what was at first thought to be indigestion, and after going to the sea for a change he seemed to be improving, but rapidly went back again. Specialists were called in, and an operation advised, which was performed in a private nursing home.

The doctors did not seem to be too sanguine, however, and later, at his own request, Mr. Bragg was removed to his own home, where, although he had the best of attention and nursing, and everything that medical science could do was done, he gradually sank and passed away in the early hours of Thursday, September 29th.

The funeral took place at the new cemetery at Solihull on Saturday, October 1st, the service proper being held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar.

The organist and choir were present, and the beautiful old church was nearly filled by relatives and friends of the deceased and the family who came to show their respect for one who had been cut off in the very prime of life, one who had everything that man could wish to live for.

Psalm 39 was sung to a well-known old chant, and the old words seemed to take on a new meaning as one looked at the casket and had difficulty in making oneself realise that it contained the mortal remains of a man who, only a few months ago, was the very picture of health and looked good for forty years on.

'Lord, let me know mine end and the number of my days; that I may be certified how long I have to live.'

The solemn service of the Church of England for the burial of the dead, than which nothing is more impressive, was reverently conducted by the Vicar, and equally reverently taken part in by the large congregation present. The singing of deceased's favourite hymn, 'Abide with me,' was most touching, and many eyes were wet as the old familiar words were sung—

'Swift to its close ebbs out life's little day,
Earth's joys grow dim, its glories pass away.'

A few minutes of quiet prayer, a few audible sobs, and the organ pealed out to the majestic tune of the Easter hymn which tells of ultimate triumph over death—

'On that happy Easter morning
All the graves their dead restore;
Father, sister, child and mother,
Meet once more.'

A shuffling of feet and the bearers are already taking our friend out of his old Parish Church, in which he sang as a little boy, to his last home.

The cortege that followed the coffin for the three miles to the new cemetery was a long and imposing one, and many were the marks of respect in the form of drawn blinds and bared heads as it passed through the beautiful old Warwickshire village. The chief mourners were Mrs. Stanley Bragg, widow, with her two eldest sons (Robert and Arthur), Roland, Alfred, and Robert Bragg, brothers, and many other members of the family. The St. Martin's Guild was represented by Messrs. E. T. Allaway, J. E. Groves, S. J. Jessop, E. Mansell, Morris J. Morris, Geoffrey Martineau, F. Weeks, F. W. Perrens, T. H. Reeves, G. F. Swann, Albert Walker, A. Paddon Smith, E. C. Shepherd and T. Shepherd.

The coffin was borne to the grave by six of the employees of Messrs. Bragg Bros., Ltd., builders, of which company Mr. Bragg was a director. Many floral tributes were sent, among which was a beautiful wreath from his old friends of the Guild.

A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells round the open grave by A. Walker 1-2, G. F. Swann 3-4, E. C. Shepherd 5-6, J. E. Groves 7-8.

In the evening a muffled peal of Stedman Caters was rung on the tower bells, and will be found recorded in its proper place.

By the untimely death of Stanley Bragg, his wife and family have lost one of the best of husbands and fathers, the business has lost a man of fine experience and sound judgment, Solihull one of its most highly respected inhabitants, St. Martin's Guild one of its most popular members, and the writer of these lines one of his oldest ringing friends. It will be many a long day before Solihull will seem quite the same, and have quite the same attraction for those of us who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance, and the privilege of being numbered amongst his intimates.

'To know, to esteem, to love, and then to part,
Makes up life's tale to many a feeling heart!—Coleridge.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD,
TAMWORTH BELLS TO BE REHUNG.

A very successful meeting was held at Tamworth on Saturday, September 24th, when about a hundred members and friends assembled, which is undoubtedly a record attendance for a quarterly meeting. The bells were raised at three o'clock, and were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening. Partly owing to the fact that they are hung 'back handed,' also that they need rehanging, the striking was not quite what might be desired. However, stops are being taken to have the bells rehung, when no doubt both these defects will be remedied. They are a mixed lot: 4th by Hugh Watts, 1621; 5th, 1629, and 6th, 1628, by G. Oldfield, jun.; 7th, 1656, by B. Eldridge; the rest by Taylor and Co.

The service was taken by the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th., clerical secretary and treasurer, and an admirable address delivered by the Rev. E. H. Rogers (Vicar). A capital tea was provided in the Parish Hall. The Vicar presided, and was supported by the Rev. C. H. Barker, Messrs. H. C. Goostry and P. Findley (churchwardens), R. P. Brindley, G. Chaplin and others.

The Rev. C. H. Barker moved that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded the Vicar for his address, use of the bells, etc., and to Mr. H. C. Goostry for so generously providing tea. The Vicar humorously replied, and gave the party a most hearty welcome.—Mr. H. C. Goostry, on rising, was received with applause, and said he was pleasantly surprised at the large muster, and wished to thank his willing helpers, who so readily acquiesced when he approached them with regard to making provision for tea.

On the proposition of Mr. R. P. Brindley, the Rev. E. H. Rogers and Messrs. H. C. Goostry and P. Findley (churchwardens) were unanimously elected hon. members.

Immediately before the service a photograph of all present was taken on the north side of the church. Although the light was not good, the photographer has hopes of getting a good picture.

The next meeting is provisionally arranged to take place at Willenhall on January 14th or 21st.

EASTERN DIVISION AT SALEHURST.

A most successful meeting of the Eastern District was held at Salehurst on Saturday, September 24th, between 30 and 40 members attending, representing the following towers: Battle; Christ Church, St. Leonards; Christ Church, Blacklands; St. Clement's, Hastings; Burwash; Benenden; Pevensey; Waldron; and St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, together with members of the local band. Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, was also present. A short service was held, at which an address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. C. E. Ward), who extended a most hearty welcome to the members of the association.

After the service, an excellent tea was provided at the Old Eight Bells Inn, through the kindness of the Vicar and churchwardens, at which Mr. L. J. Hodson, an hon. life member of the association, presided.

The usual business meeting followed, Mr. L. J. Hodson being voted to the chair.

Following some discussion, it was proposed by Mr. W. Franks, and seconded by Mr. A. Kennett, that the next meeting be held at Bexhill. This was put to the meeting and carried.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and also for their hospitality in providing the tea. He also thanked Mr. L. J. Hodson for presiding at the tea and meeting.—Mr. Hodson responded, both for the Vicar and churchwardens, and himself, and remarked that he was pleased to see such a large number of members present, and assured the company that it had been a great pleasure to be amongst them.

This closed the meeting, and the company repaired to the tower, where excellent practice was obtained, several members ringing their first touches in various methods.

CAMBRIDGE IN CUMBERLAND.

At All Saints' Church, Cockermouth, Cumberland, on Sunday, October 2nd, for evening service, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: R. Potts 1, J. Smithson 2, J. Casson 3, W. Bowe 4, F. Tickle 5, Wm. T. Holmes (conductor) 6. This was the first 720 in the method by all.

THE ROMANCE OF THE BELFRY.

Two more well-known ringers, whose acquaintance began in the belfry, have joined their lives in matrimony—Mr. Robert A. Fardon, son of Mr. G. R. Fardon, a former Master of the College Youths, and Miss Ruby Hawksworth, who are ringers at St. Mary's, Acton.

In honour of the event a peal of Stedman Triples was rung by members of the Middlesex Association at Acton on Wednesday week, the band wishing the bride and bridegroom 'long life and happiness.'

WEDDING BELLS AT LINSLADE.

On Monday, September 26th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Barnabas' Church, Linslade, Bucks, by members of the local band, and friends from All Saints' belfry, Leighton Buzzard, to celebrate the wedding of Mr. Fred Vickers to Miss Ada Payne. The bridegroom has been foreman of the St. Barnabas' tower for the past 31 years, and during the whole of that time has had the confidence and esteem of the many ringers who have been associated with the tower during such a long period. He has done much to encourage change ringing in this district, and has taught the ancient art to many young men. Many of them have settled in other towns, and have become useful members of other bands, but all look back with pleasure to the happy hours spent under his kind and patient tuition. He has made many friends in local ringing circles, being a regular and enthusiastic attendant at most meetings held in the district. Mr. Vickers is continuing to reside in Linslade, and his colleagues wish him and his wife a long and happy married life, and express the hope that he will carry on and score the half-century as foreman of St. Barnabas' tower. The following took part in the quarter-peal: R. Butcher 1, R. Oliver 2, F. Dedman 3, F. Buttram 4, W. J. Jeffs 5, J. E. Arnold (conductor) 6, J. Nicolls 7, W. T. Jeffs 8.

WEDDING OF NUNEATON LADY RINGER.

The wedding took place at the Parish Church, Nuneaton, on Wednesday, September 28th, of Mr. Hayward Billington, of Attleborough, Nuneaton, and Miss 'Pattie' Clarke, who has been for some years a member of the Nuneaton Parish Church band of ringers.

The bride, who is a member of the Warwickshire Guild, and also of the Midland Counties Association, was charmingly attired in a dress of beige georgette and lace, with georgette hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses, and was attended by her sister, Miss Phoebe Clarke, who wore a crepe-de-chine dress of 'Mary' blue, with beige hat, and carried a bouquet of cream roses.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. James F. Clarke, who has been for many years a member of the Nuneaton Society of Change Ringers. The best man was Mr. Frederick Billington, brother of the bridegroom.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. L. White, Vicar of Nuneaton, and president of the Warwickshire Guild.

Owing to the early hour, a band of ringers could not be obtained to ring the tower bells, so handbells were rung by Miss D. E. Lewis and Mr. A. H. Beamish, of the Chilvers Cotton band, as the newly-married couple were returning from the altar.

The honeymoon is being spent in Bedford and London.

'THE MYSTERY OF TRIPLE BOB MAJOR.'

A COMING SERMON.

In the monthly magazine of St. Nicholas' Church, Wallasey, the Vicar (the Rev. A. S. Roscamp) says that on Saturday, October 15th, St. Nicholas' belfry entertains the members of other towers in the Wirral for their monthly gathering. 'Once a year,' he remarks, 'it is our turn and our pleasure to do this. Ringing will take place during the afternoon and evening, and a service will be held in the church at 5.30 p.m., to which anyone and everyone is welcome. The Rev. F. L. Edwards, Rector of Kingston Magna, Dorsetshire, and a member of the Central Council of Bellringers, is coming north to spend this week-end with us, and I have asked him to preach at St. Nicholas' on the Sunday night, October 16th, and tell us something about church bells. I feel sure that some information on the origin and the use and purpose of church bells, and some stories of old customs connected and associated with them, will be very welcome to many, as it will certainly be to me. Not only the great events of the life of each of us, but the great events in the life of the Church and also of the nation are linked up with church bells. I find that people's notions of the causes that produce the effect they listen to are so hazy that I am sometimes asked if one man rings all our bells! Mr. Edwards has chosen for the title of his sermon, "The Mystery of Triple Bob Major"! It sounds like Sherlock Holmes! Who was Bob Major, and why and how was he Triple? I give it up, but shall look forward to being enlightened on the evening of Sunday, October 16th.'

HARVEST FESTIVALS.

A BISHOP RINGS AT TAUNTON.

At St. James' Church, Taunton, on October 2nd, on the occasion of harvest festival, the Bishop of Taunton joined the ringers in ringing rounds. Afterwards a touch of 504 Stedman Triples: S. THE VICTORY TOWER Height 300 feet

OTTAWA

Where the World's Greatest Carillon is installed.

WHERE THE CLERGY CAN HELP.

Speaking on Saturday at one of the series of district meetings now being held to organise the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, the Rector of Leatherhead alluded to the need that existed in many places to stimulate interest in church bell ringing, if the art were not to become extinct. He pointed out how bands in his own neighbourhood were becoming depleted by the passing of old members and the absence of young ringers. This is a state of affairs which all those concerned with the welfare of the art have been seriously considering for some time, and for which they have been seeking a solution. It is well that it should have consideration also by the clergy who are outside the Exercise, because we believe the task of those who are endeavouring to keep the bell ropes fully manned will be facilitated if the importance as well as the difficulty of their work is realised by the Church authorities.

We have often dwelt upon the discouraging results which meet the efforts of many a patient ringer in his efforts to keep together a band and to make good with new material the ravages of time and the losses of men occasioned by other reasons. Men go on year after year teaching young ringers, not one-tenth of whom probably ever remain to be of real assistance in the tower where they are taught. They move away to other places, or disappear from the belfry, because they fail to find sufficient interest in the early stages of their training to resist the many counter-attractions of this pleasure loving age. And so, time after time, the patient, painstaking instructor has to begin all over again.

The initial difficulty is, of course, to find the material to work upon. It is here that the clergy can be of such great assistance. They can influence the right type of young man to visit the belfry, and, at any rate, see for himself whether ringing is likely to appeal to him. The clergy can even do a good deal by way of inducing them actually to take up ringing as a definite contribution to church work. The great drawback in many parishes is that the clergy do not interest themselves sufficiently in the welfare of the ringers to lend a helping hand in this direction. They lose no opportunity of encouraging boys to come into the choir, or to join such organisations as the Lads' Brigade or the Scouts, and yet they display a marked apathy with regard to the efficient manning of the bells. A personal interest on the part of the clergy would do much to remedy the present troubles in recruiting for the belfry, and ringers should do their utmost to bring home to the church authorities that they, too, have responsibilities in this matter as well as the men who are already giving their services in ringing the bells. The relations between the clergy and the ringers have improved immeasurably in the last five and twenty years, but there is still much to be done in bringing the authorities to realise the importance of their direct interest in the affairs of the belfry. In their scheme for the future management of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, the committee have proposals which it is hoped may assist in this direction, and, while only time can prove their efficacy, they are a step in the right direction in the organisation of a ringers' association.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO WOLVERHAMPTON RINGER.

KNOCKED DOWN BY MOTOR-CYCLE.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Harry Andrew Farlow, of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, at the age of 55 years.

The deceased, accompanied by two friends, was crossing the road in the evening to join a birthday party—where he had but a few minutes earlier been listening to some wireless items—when a motor-cycle came whizzing by, catching him in the back and dragging him some 20 yards. Upon examination at the hospital it was found that little hope to save him could be entertained, and in less than three hours later he had passed away.

Harry, as he was familiarly known, was of a bright and cheerful disposition, was always ready to stand in for a peal attempt, and was successful in scoring a total of 39 peals, including Grandsire Triples, Caters and Cinques, Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, and Bob Major and Maximus. He joined St. Peter's company on September 29th, 1907, and by a strange coincidence died on September 29th, 1927, thus being a member for exactly 20 years.

The funeral took place on the 4th inst., when the mortal remains were borne to the grave by three of deceased's workmates and three ringers. The first part of the service was held in St. Peter's Church, conducted by the Rev. Prob. Stockley (Rector), and the committal portion at the cemetery by the Rev. L. Morgan (senior curate). The floral tributes were many and beautiful, including some from St. Peter's and St. Luke's (Wolverhampton), Tettenhall, and Penn towers. Ringers present included Messrs. T. Smith, W. Maddox and H. Knight (bearers), T. Roden, T. Hinsel (Penn), A. Greenfield and A. Presidge (Netherton), J. D. G. Harris and G. Langley (St. Peter's).

Bells were rung half-muffled at St. Luke's, both mid-day and in the evening, and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples brought round at Penn by: H. Brewster 1, A. Bowyer 2, J. Hickman 3, T. Roden 4, J. Bloore 5, T. Beards 6, E. G. Bowyer (conductor) 7, E. Beards 8. A peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at Tettenhall, but came to grief after two and a half hours' ringing: J. Williams 1, H. Knight (conductor) 2, R. Pickering 3, E. F. Mitchell 4, W. E. Cooper 5, T. Smith 6, W. H. Lawley 7, J. D. G. Harris 8.

AMBITIONS.

In almost every walk of life we see and admire people with ambition. Some set their aim very high, some even at the impossible, yet he who would progress must of necessity have some goal to aspire to. In ringing, we have certain prominent men who with earnestness and zeal set out with certain aims. Some are merely ambitious to ring every bell in their own particular tower to a peal; some to conduct a peal from each bell; others with wider interests try the like at neighbouring towers. Then there are those with 'pet' methods to ring the extent of on all numbers, while others have the desire to ring as many tenors as possible. The late Rev. F. E. Robinson, not content with a 1,000 peals, endeavoured to get a like number of Stedman Triples. 'Uncle' Joe has (among others) the desire to ring every possible number of changes of 'Yorkshire Glory' from 5,000 to 50,000, as well as 'bagging' all the tenors in this and other distant countries. The great 'J. G.' of England has the desire (and, if rumour be true, he is not the only one) to ring a peal on every date in the year. In like manner, the hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association (Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester) has another ambition, and that is to ring peals on every ring of five bells and upwards in his native county. This may prove one of the impossible tasks, fraught, as it is, with very many difficulties, such as travel to outlandish places (he is not blessed with possession of either motor or cycle), finding the bells sadly neglected, especially the fives and sixes, sometimes making more than one long journey to oil bearings, tighten up frames and fittings, taking ropes to replace worn-out and unfit ones, and, in many cases, only scoring under great difficulties and punishment by way of blisters and aching limbs.

As reported recently, Mr. Morris has now scored peals in 100 towers in Leicestershire—a number yet unequalled by any for one county. They comprise peals in 35 five-bell towers, 31 sixes, 29 eights, 4 tens, 1 twelve, and included, in 33 cases, the 'first peal on the bells.' The peals are in all the standard and many Surprise methods from Doubles to Maximus, and include Doubles, Triples, Caters and Cinques in both Grandsire and Stedman, Minor, Major, Royal and Maximus in Cambridge Surprise and Kent Treble Bob, and the three former in Plain Bob and Spliced Treble Bob. They also include the longest M.C.A. peals of Doubles, Minor, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Spliced Treble Bob, Little Bob, and Cambridge Surprise.

In his visits to these Leicestershire towers, Mr. Morris is also correcting and revising up to date the book 'Church Bells of Leicestershire,' by the late Thos. North, F.S.A.

MR. GEO. FREEBREY'S 50 PEALS.

Grandsire Doubles 2 (conducted 1), Grandsire Triples 10 (conducted 6), Grandsire Caters 1, Grandsire Cinques 1, Bob Minor 3 (conducted 2), Minor in two methods 3 (conducted 3), Stedman Triples 13, Bob Major 11 (conducted 9), Double Norwich 2, Duffield Major 1, Cambridge Surprise Major (Treble) 1, Bristol Surprise Major (Treble) 1, Canterbury and Plain Bob Major (Spliced) 1. Total rung 50 (conducted 21).

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH TO LOSE ITS CHAIRMAN.

A quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, on Saturday, October 1st. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Wyndham Noel, M.A. Tea followed, after which the business meeting was held.

In the absence of the chairman, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, through illness, the vice-chairman, Mr. B. Cook, presided.

The Secretary (Mr. F. Green) read a letter from the chairman, giving notice of his intention of resigning the office of chairman at the next annual meeting of the branch.—This was received with very great regret by everyone present, as Mr. Heginbotham has been an excellent chairman.

On the motion of the vice-chairman, the secretary was asked to convey the sympathy of the meeting to the chairman, and also to express their regret at his intention to resign.

The Secretary also reported the receipt of a cheque for over £4 from the Parochial Church Council of St. John's, Devizes, as a donation to the funds of the branch.

Mr. S. J. Hector, of Trowbridge, was proposed as a candidate for the chairmanship.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Warminster; Melksham was proposed for the meeting in December, and Trowbridge for the annual meeting in January, 1928.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for conducting the service, and also to the organist.

The Vicar, in reply, said how pleased he was to welcome the branch, and as an honorary member, although taking no part in the general business of the branch, he was pleased to see the keenness which had been shown by those present in the work of the Guild. He said how much he appreciated the work of the ringers, and he did not believe in any way interfering with the ringers in their work, as he thought as long as a man was doing his job well he should be allowed to get on with it without interference.

Ringers were present from Bradford-on-Avon (Christ Church and Holy Trinity), Bratton, Devizes (St. Mary's), Rowde, Holt, Melksham and Trowbridge. Ringing also took place at Holy Trinity Church. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, and Cambridge Minor were rung at both churches.

There was a small attendance through the wet weather, but the quality of the ringing compensated for this, and one cannot help noticing the advance made by the branch.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Northern District of the above association was held at Royston on Saturday, October 1st. In spite of the wet afternoon a goodly number of ringers attended, and nine different towers were represented. Royston is just now without a Vicar, so a short service was not possible. Tea, kindly arranged by Mr. R. G. King, was partaken of at Beales' Cafe, 22 members sitting down.

Mr. Hargreaves kindly consented to take the chair at the short business meeting, at which Hitchin was decided upon for the next place of meeting.

A 'whip round' was made towards Ickleton bells fund, and the collection handed over to Mr. P. Webb, who was present.

Mr. H. E. Day moved a vote of thanks to the churchwardens for the use of the bells. The ringing throughout was good, Stedman Triples seeming to be the favourite method.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Sounding Deanery Branch was held on Saturday, September 24th, at Sandhurst, ringers being present from Binfield, Finchampstead, Twyford, Wokingham, Waltham St. Lawrence and the local band. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and at five the party adjourned to the schoolroom for tea, about 15 sitting down.

The tea was kindly provided by the Rector, the Rev. H. Craven, who has recently come to the parish, and the ringers were pleased to make his acquaintance. The wives and mothers of some of the local ringers kindly served the tea, and they and the Rector were cordially thanked by the secretary for all the trouble they had taken to make the meeting a success. The Rector briefly replied, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to meet the ringers and to do what he could to make the meeting enjoyable.

Service followed in the Parish Church, the Rector giving a short and practical address, urging those present to regard their work as something they were doing for Christ and His Church, and also that by reason of their high office people outside looked to them to see that their life and conduct was in keeping with the work which they did.

The tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going until 8.30. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Woodbine, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and York Surprise Minor, and 'rounds' for beginners.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The performance of Miss Jessie Davenport, in ringing a peal of Bob Major at Dore, as recorded last week, raises the question as to who is the youngest girl to ring a peal. Miss Davenport was 14 years and 11 months old when she rang this peal. Incidentally, she has a twin brother who has twice rung about half-way in an attempt for a peal. They still have a chance of making history by being the first twin brother and sister to ring a peal together.

Mr. Wm. H. Fussell's jubilee as a ringer has been celebrated by a peal at Slough, not in the tower where he learned to ring, but in its successor. Mr. Fussell is one of the 'institutions' in the Exercise, and he must have had more experience in arranging ringing tours than any other individual. He has arranged three 'weeks' this year in Scotland, Ireland and Wales. And he looks as young as ever.

'This board was placed here by order of the Churchwardens, in consequence of the attention and good conduct of the ringers.' Thus runs the 'footnote' to the record in the tower at Wakefield, where on October 16th, 1820, was rung 'a complete peal of Grandsire Caters, comprising 6,530 changes of 60 nine six eights and 60 eight nines, composed by Wm. Woodhead, and performed in 3 hrs. 44 mins.'

William Ireland, one of the foundation members of the Norwich Diocesan Guild, called a peal of 10,272 Kent Treble Bob Major at Debenham on October 16th, 1880.

Thomas Tolladay, a leading light in the ranks of the old St. James's Society, in its early days, died on October 18th, 1843. He rang and conducted many peals in and around London.

We have heard a good deal in recent years about the necessity for retaining the old names of methods, but no one in these days rings 'Union Treble Bob', although that was the name applied to the method in the early days of Treble Bob ringing, and is found in the records down to the end of the eighteenth century. On October 20th, 1776, a 5,376 of Union Treble Bob was rung at St. Mary's, Rotherhithe, and on October 20th, 1794, 6,720 was rung under the same name at St. Giles', Camberwell.

Exactly 150 years ago next Thursday a peal of 5,040 'Grandsire Trebbles' was rung by the College Youths at St. Mary's, Lambeth.

At the dedication of 'Great Peter' on Saturday, the 22nd instant, the York Minster bells will be rung prior to the service. Great Peter will be rung only at the dedication, and afterwards in conjunction with the peal of 12. The Minster bells will also be available for ringers during the evening.

The bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, will be broadcast at 8 p.m. on Sunday evening for a special service.

BUNTOSE AND BATRYES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Could any of your readers solve the following entries from parish registers:—

Date 1627.—To a Bell Buntose, 1s. 6d.

Date 1631.—Mending the Bell Batryes, 6d.

What were Buntose and Batryes? I shall be very pleased if you can help with this information.—Yours faithfully,

J. H. LENTON.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS.

MR. A. H. PULLING'S SATISFACTORY PROGRESS.

We are very pleased to be able to report that Mr. A. H. Pulling, who is still in Hertford County Hospital, as a result of his serious accident on September 2nd, is making good progress towards recovery, and there has been a marked improvement in his condition in the last ten days.

He has been able to write a short message to us saying that he is getting better, and in that cheery spirit of his adds that if he could only get hold of the end of a rope he would soon get on. The best of the joke is, he says, that he read in 'The Ringing World' an account of his spill before he knew he had had one. He wishes to thank all who have written letters of sympathy and made inquiries.

By a strange coincidence there are now four ringers lying in Hertford County Hospital. In addition to Mr. Pulling, there are Mr. G. H. Barker, of Ware, suffering from yellow jaundice, Mr. Ladley, of Hertford, with throat trouble, and Mr. Leonard Chapman, at one time a member of the famous Bennington band, who has a broken thigh. The last-named, although over eighty years of age, is very cheerful.

Among the visitors to the invalids on Sunday were Mr. R. Dore, hon. secretary of St. Andrew's Branch of the Hertford College Youths, and Mr. W. H. Lawrence, hon. secretary of the Eastern Division of Herts County Association.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the tenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

PRACTICAL USE OF THE LEAD-ENDS.

While we have set ourselves to the study of the theory, we can, in passing, pay some little attention to the practical use of the pricking of the lead-ends.

So far as Minor is concerned, our 'calling positions' have the same effect, when applied to any method, no matter what the first lead-end may be, so long as the same POSITIONS are used.

For example, the W.R.W. calling repeats the following characteristics in each part, when applied to methods with any one of the four lead-ends:—

The first bob at 'W' in each part is always 'made' by the fifth's-place bell at the part-head (the 5). In other words, the '5' bell makes fourth's place at the bob row. The second's-place bell at the part-head, always rung 'IN' to the treble. This is done by the '2' in the first part, the '5' in the second, and by the '4' in the third part. The third's-place bell at the part-head runs 'OUT' (the '3,' the '4,' and the '2' in the respective parts). The sixth's-place bell at the part-head (the tenor) is, of course, always at 'W,' and the fourth's-place bell is always at 'R' (the '4,' the '2,' and, lastly, the '3').

The bob at 'R' in each part is always made by the second's-place bell at the part-head ('2,' '3,' and the '4'). The fourth's-place bell is always 'IN,' and the fifth's-place bell always 'OUT.' The tenor, of course, is 'R,' and the third's-place bell is always at 'W.'

The third bob (the second at 'W') is always 'made' by the third's-place bell at the part-head, the fourth's-place bell 'IN,' the fifth's-place bell 'OUT,' the tenor at 'W,' and the second's-place bell at 'R.'

The part-heads are always the same, in all methods called the same way, and, therefore, the conductor may always know where his bells should be at the bobs, if not elsewhere. These same characteristics apply to any method called W.R.W., and, once memorised, they can be applied whenever this calling is used.

Similarly with the other callings at I.I.4th's, I.O.I., etc., the characteristics differing, according to which calling is used.

PROOF.

Before proceeding with this subject, it is necessary to understand clearly what is meant by certain terms, and what we are going to try to do.

A 'true' peal consists of a certain number of rows, of which no two are identical. The object of 'proving' a peal is to endeavour to find those lead-heads, which, although differing from all of the others, will produce rows that will appear elsewhere in the peal.

In the first place, all of the lead-heads must differ; if any two are identical, the whole leads will, of course, be identical.

Rows with the treble in different places in each are not mentioned here, because there is no possibility of these repeating with each other. 'Rows' mentioned hereafter, will refer only to those rows which have the treble in the same place therein.

'Corresponding rows.'—These are rows which appear in different leads at the same distance from their respective lead-heads. Row No. 3 in one lead is the corresponding row to No. 3 row of every lead, etc. These 'corresponding rows' are produced (in every lead) by changing EXACTLY the same pairs, and therefore cannot repeat with each other (although the treble is in the same place in each), because DIFFERENT bells at the lead-heads go to make the SAME PAIRS which change.

'Similar rows.'—These are rows which have the treble in the same place, but which are not 'corresponding rows.' The changing pairs which produce them are NOT the same pairs in each case, and therefore there is possibility of repetition. That is to say, while row No. 5 of one lead cannot repeat with row No. 5 of another lead, yet row No. 5 of the one might repeat with ROW No. 7 of another, although the lead-heads be different; and so on, with all of the 'similar rows' in the leads. There are four such rows, for every place in which the treble appears, in every lead of a Treble Bob method.

The following example is given merely to show how 'similar' rows can repeat, while the lead-heads and the 'corresponding' rows differ. Similar rows (No. 7 and No. 28) are chosen from the first lead of Kent Treble Bob Major; the corresponding rows in the other leads have been arrived at by transposition, as we did when finding 'internal rows,' by covering 12345678 with the other lead-heads in turn, and transferring the red cards first to 42163857, and then to 23154768:—

	From first lead-head. 12345678	From lead-head. 13426587	From lead-head. 14236587
Row No. 7 in each	42163857	23154768	34152768
Row No. 28 in each	23154768	34162857	42163857

It will be seen that No. 7 in the first lead is repeated by No. 28 in the third, and that No. 28 in the first is repeated by No. 7 in the second lead given. Also that all of the No. 7 rows differ, as do all of those numbered 28.

Taking a pair of 'similar' rows in the first lead, we can find the lead-heads that will produce each of them again, but as the CORRE-SPONDING row of the other. For example, we can take the pair given above (No. 7 and No. 28), and the questions are: If 12345678 gives 42163857 as the 7th row, and 23154768 as the 28th row, which lead-head will give No. 7 again as its 28th row? Also, which lead-head will give No. 28 again as its 7th row?

FINDING THE FALSE ROWS.

First deal with No. 7 (42163857), and find the lead-head which will give 23154768 (No. 28) as the corresponding row to No. 7. Use the 'transposition back to lead-heads' as before. Place the 'known' row and head side by side (42163857—12345678), and under the row place the 'unknown' row (23154768); draw lines between all of the figures, and then fill in the empty spaces under 12345678, with figures which will make the same pairs READ DOWNWARDS, which you find in the two rows. The finished example will be:—

4 2 1 6 3 8 5 7	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8
2 3 1 5 4 7 6 8	1 3 4 2 6 5 8 7

Then, if 42163857 is the 7th row from 12345678, the 7th row from 13426587 will be 23154768.

Now deal with the other row of the original pair by reversing the above procedure; find which lead-head will give No. 7 again as the corresponding row to No. 28:—

If 2 3 1 5 4 7 6 8 is the 28th row from	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8
Then 4 2 1 6 3 8 5 7 will be the 28th row from	1 4 2 3 6 5 8 7

We have two false lead-heads from this pair of 'similar' rows, which, if admitted to the peal, will give repetitions of these two rows which come from 12345678 (the first lead-head).

Ordinarily, this procedure should be applied to every pair of 'similar' rows in the first lead. There are four similar rows for every place (in the row) in which the treble appears; that is, four rows 10000000, four of 01000000, four of 00100000, etc. We can make four different pairs with four separate rows. So that, in Major, we have eight 'places' of four pairs each—32 different pairs in all. In Minor, we have six places of four pairs each, being 24 pairs in all; and so on.

So then, in Major, 32 pairs ought to be compared, but our law that 'odd and even rows cannot repeat' helps us here. Our basis at each lead-head is always 'even' in Treble Bob methods, so that 'corresponding' rows in the leads are always of the same nature; if No. 7 row in one lead is 'even,' then all of the No. 7 rows will be 'even,' and never an 'odd'; vice versa with the odd rows. This is always the case, unless the nature of the lead-head be altered by singles, which we do not use in Treble Bob.

Therefore, in comparing similar rows, if No. 7 is odd, and No. 28 is even (in the first lead) we can know that No. 28 (being even) will not appear elsewhere AS A No. 7 ROW, because all of the No. 7 rows will be odd, and vice versa. We only have to compare similar rows when both are 'odd,' or both are 'even.'

When we have taken all of the pairs of similar odd rows, and all pairs of similar even rows, in the first lead, and have compared them in the above manner, we shall have arrived at so many false lead-heads (two heads for every pair of rows compared). We can strike out all of the duplicates, and the remainder are placed in a column headed '... 12345678 (No. 1) ...'. Then, in this column, we have all of the lead-heads that will produce identical rows which are also to be found in the FIRST LEAD (from 12345678). Therefore, if we ring this first lead, we must not ring a lead headed by any of the 'false' heads shown in our column No. 1.

HENRY V. TRADITION.

DID THE MONARCH BRING FRENCH BELLS TO MONMOUTH?

The recent visit to Wales of what the 'Western Mail' described as a band of National Ringers has elicited some interesting history with regard to some old bells of Monmouth. Mr. R. G. Williams, of Penybont-ar-Ogwr, wrote to the 'Western Mail' as follows:—

'The presence of the National Bellringers in Cardiff calls to mind a reference I have recently read in a book on old South Wales, relating to the bells in the tower of St. Mary's, Monmouth. This book states that these bells once hung in the steeple of a church in Calais, France. When Henry V. sailed from that port for England on a certain memorable occasion, great was the joy of the French at sight of the hated Englishman's back; and to express their joy at the tidance they set the bells to ringing a merry peal as the invading army sailed toward the chalk cliffs.

'This left-handed compliment annoyed Henry, it seems, and when he got home he sent back to France and had the impertinent bells unhung and transported to his native town. There were ten, but two were left to console the Calaisois; the remaining eight were hung in this tower, and here they are still.

'As a boy in Monmouth I heard frequent reference to this tradition. Further, it was stated that the biggest bell was so heavy, and the weather so rough, that it capsized the boat and slid to the bottom of the sea.

'The local story was that Harry of Monmouth put back to ask the inhabitants of Calais the cause of their bellinging, and on learning the reason gave orders there and then for the removal to Monmouth of the bells. I have never heard nor read of authentic corroboration of the above tradition. Surely, such an incident as the transfer of the bells of Calais to the Royal and ancient borough of Monmouth would be mentioned somewhere in the records of the days of "Harry of Monmouth"! It is possible some of the bellringers at present in Cardiff can throw light on this matter, or, failing them, some of your readers.'

THE PROPOSED GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

RELATIONS WITH SURREY ASSOCIATION.

The second of the series of district meetings in connection with the founding of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Leatherhead on Saturday. This is a corner of the old widespread diocese of Winchester in which the Winchester Guild failed to make any headway, but the new spirit which the formation of the diocese of Guildford has put into church work promises to be reflected in the new diocesan Guild, and towers were represented on Saturday which have been unattached, at any rate for a number of years, to any association. The peal of ten bells at the Parish Church were at the disposal of the visitors, and were utilised both afternoon and evening, and the methods included Bob Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters and Cambridge Surprise Royal.

A short service was held, at which the Vicar of Leatherhead (the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge) officiated, and gave an appropriate address, based upon the words, 'There are, it may be, so many voices in the world and none of them is without signification' (1 Cor. xiv. 10).

A capital 'knife and fork' tea was partaken of at the Institute, which is a centre of life and activity in this old and thriving Surrey town. At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge presided, and among those present were the Rev. C. F. Carver (Vicar of Capel), the Rev. H. C. Martin (Rector of Ockley), and ringers from Leatherhead, Banstead, Capel, Cobham, Cranleigh, Epsom, Guildford, Ockley, and Woking, and visitors from Streatham, Beddington, Edmonton, Woodford and Croydon.

The Vicar, in opening the meeting, said he could not help feeling that the whole cause of ringing in that part of the diocese would be advanced by the formation of the new Guild. It would not only stimulate interest in ringing among those who were already ringers, but he hoped it might help them in the difficulty which was being experienced in getting young ringers. There were many towers where the old bands were gradually dying out, and unless young ringers could be brought in, the art of ringing in those towers was in danger of extinction.

THE SUGGESTED AMALGAMATION.

The Organising Committee's report was presented by the hon. secretary pro tem. (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), who said that since this report was presented at Guildford on the preceding Saturday, the hon. secretary of the Surrey Association had raised with him the accuracy of the interpretation which the committee had put upon the Surrey Association's proposals for amalgamation. Although the Guildford Diocesan Committee fully gained the impression that the Surrey Association's suggestion was one of absorption, they were now assured that this was not the case, but that what was intended was amalgamation on a fifty-fifty basis. As the outcome of an informal talk that afternoon between the members of the committee and those of the Surrey Association Executive who were present, it was now suggested that the Surrey Association, if they desired to do so, should put an amalgamation scheme on paper, which the Guildford Diocesan Guild, after its formation, could consider. At the moment, the Organising Committee was appointed to organise a Guildford Diocesan Guild, and they could not go outside their terms of reference. Proceeding, Mr. Goldsmith said that the Organising Committee desired to make it as plain as they possibly could that in coming into that district they did so with no designs whatever upon the Surrey Association. They recognised the loyalty which many towers in that area had given to the county association, but as they were organising a diocesan Guild, and that area was within the diocese, they would be failing in their duty and they would be unable to claim to be a truly diocesan body, unless they set up their organisation in that district as in the other parts of the diocese. Whatever might be the outcome of future negotiations, the earnest desire of the Guildford committee was that the two associations, which had common interests, should work amicably side by side.

The report was accepted, and a resolution approving of the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and pledging support, was carried nem. con., on the motion of the chairman, seconded by the Rev. C. H. Carver.

The proposed rules were then considered in detail, and met with general approval, one or two slight alterations being suggested which will be brought to the notice of the preliminary general meeting.

A motion in support of the reciprocal arrangement with the Winchester Guild as to present members becoming compounding members on payment of 1s. was carried, but the meeting regretted being unable to support a proposal of the Winchester Guild that life members of that Guild should become life members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild without further payment.

A number of suggestions for furthering the work of the Guild when formed were put forward for consideration by the committee, and the business concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge for the service, the use of the bells and presiding at the meeting, also to the lady organist, who had assisted at the service.

Mr. R. Whittington voiced appreciation of the work which has been done in organising the Guild by the hon. secretary.

The towers which it is proposed shall form the Leatherhead District are: Ashted, Banstead, Capel, Cobham, Dorking, Epsom (Christ Church and St. Martin's), Ewell, Leatherhead, Newdigate, Ramore and Ockley.

Further district meetings are to be held at Chertsey (to-morrow) and Farnham (October 22nd). The preliminary general meeting of the Guild will be held at Guildford on November 19th.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the report of the meeting of the above Guild which was held at Guildford on October 1st, may I enquire through the medium of your paper if the decision not to admit life members of the Winchester Guild to membership of the Guildford Diocesan Guild without further payment also applies to compounding members of the former society?

If it does, what will the payment be? Will these 280 or more members of the Winchester Guild be given advantageous terms in view of the fact that they are already members of a society covering the area over which the new Guild will operate, and which is the predecessor of that Guild?—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

REIGATE BELLS RE-DEDICATED.

PEAL OF TEN RETUNED AND REHUNG.

The bells of Reigate Parish Church, Surrey, after the silence of ten months, were set ringing again on September 22nd. Their reopening was signalled by a service of rededication, conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon of Kingston, and attended by a crowded congregation. It was a service at which all the Parish Church clergy officiated—the Vicar (Canon F. C. Davies, R.D.), the Rev. A. H. W. Sanders and the Rev. O. C. McD. Morgan. After the processional hymn, 'See the conqueror mounts in triumph,' there followed evening prayer, Psalms cxli., cl., the lesson from Numbers x., 1-11, and the Magnificat. Before the clergy and choir proceeded to the belfry, the hymn, 'Hark the sound of Holy Voices,' was sung. Suitable dedicatory prayers were offered, and while the clergy and choir were returning to the chancel, the bells were rung for two minutes. A special hymn, 'The sacred bells of England,' was sung, and, after an address by the Archdeacon, the service closed with 'Now thank we all our God.'

At the conclusion of the service, 557 Grandsire Caters was rung by: H. Ewins 1, A. A. Hughes 2, A. Bull 3, R. H. Thorpe 4, H. Jordan 5, J. Foster 6, G. F. Hoad (conductor) 7, W. Claydon 8, F. T. Hoad 9, W. Pooley 10.

The restoration and re-hanging of the bells was entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, to whom great credit is due for the splendid work they have carried out in recasting the 9th bell, retuning the whole peal, fitting new gudgeons, and re-hanging the peal in ball bearings, and also for the promptitude with which the work was carried out.

The bells, with weights and inscriptions, are as follows:—

Treble.—4 cwt. 1 qr., 25 lb. 'J. Newman Harrison, Vicar, 1847-1899 (Little John).'

2nd.—5 cwt. 1 qr. 1 lb. 'Given to our dear Vicar, John Newman Harrison, by his Parish Church workers, 1899.'

4th.—5 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb. 'Recast 1899. J. Newman Harrison, Vicar.'

5th.—6 cwt. 1 qr. 'We eight were cast to supply the place of six, 1784.'

6th.—7 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb. 'The gift of R. Ladbrooke, Esq., and others, 1784.'

7th.—10 cwt. 0 qr. 5 lb. 'The gift of Edward Leeds and William Bellingham, Esqre., 1784.'

8th.—10 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb. 'The gift of the Earl of Hardwicke, 1784.'

9th.—14 cwt. 1 qr. 26 lb. 'The gift of Charles Lord Somers, Lord of the Manor, 1784. Recast to record the completion of 25 years' ministry by Frederick Charles Davies, M.A., C.B.E., Hon. Canon of Southwark, as Vicar of Reigate, 18th June, 1925. F. C. Davies, Vicar; F. S. Orme, W. J. Bennett, Churchwardens.'

Tenor.—19 cwt. 2 qr. 3 lb. 'The Rev. Geoffrey Snelson, Vicar; Thomas Bodle, John Burt, Churchwardens, 1784.'

'DOWN IN KENT.'

Mr. E. A. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council, and Messrs. Challis Winney and G. R. Fardon, paid a visit to Tenterden for the week-end, and on Saturday, October 1st, attended the annual meeting of the Ashford District, which was held at Hythe.

On Sunday, October 2nd, being the harvest festival services at St. Mildred's Church, Tenterden, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung for morning service. For a children's fruit and flower service in the afternoon, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples from Holt's Original: E. A. Young 1, Mrs. H. Baker 2, C. F. Winney (conductor) 3, H. Baker 4, W. Tickner 5, R. Edwards 6, C. Tribe 7, C. H. Ballard 8.—For evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: Mrs. Baker 1, G. R. Fardon (conductor) 2, C. Winney 3, R. Edwards 4, H. Baker 5, C. W. Player 6, A. Saxby 7, A. Battin 8.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. COMBINED PRACTICES IN TONBRIDGE DISTRICT.

A meeting of this district was held at Speldhurst on Saturday, October 1st, and was attended by nearly 40 members from Edenbridge, Horsham, Lamberhurst, Leigh, Penshurst, Sevenoaks, Tonbridge, Tunbridge Wells, and the local members. Service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Canon H. Masters), who also gave a short appropriate address. Mr. Aldridge (the local organist) presided at the organ, and the service was very bright and hearty.

Afterwards, the members were kindly entertained to tea at the George and Dragon Inn by the Rector, who also presided at the business meeting which followed. One new practising member from Tonbridge was elected, and the Rector was elected an hon. member amid applause.

Mr. A. Richardson (Tunbridge Wells) brought forward the subject of arranging combined practices at various towers, so as to enable members to practise methods which they were unable to do at their own towers.

The District Secretary intimated that while he heartily approved of the scheme, he was quite unable, owing to other duties, to undertake any further secretarial work in the matter.

It was ultimately decided that Messrs. A. Richardson and D. Findley, of Tunbridge Wells, should arrange monthly meetings for this object. It was pointed out that if these meetings were to be a success, members, both learners and those more advanced in the art, must make efforts to attend.

Mr. A. Relfe (Lamberhurst) spoke of the frequent clashing of district meetings, and suggested that efforts should be made to have fixed dates for the various district meetings.—It was decided that the matter should be placed on the agenda for the meeting of the Central Committee in November with a view of making some arrangements in the matter.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his generosity in entertaining the members to tea, and also to the organist for his services, were passed, and the Rector replied. The members then adjourned to the tower for further ringing. Altogether it was a most enjoyable meeting, but, unfortunately, the weather did not permit acceptance of the Rector's kind invitation to view the Rectory garden.

ASHFORD DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Ashford District was held at Hythe on October 1st. Although the weather was not too inviting, there was a good attendance, including Messrs. E. Alex. Young, C. F. Winney and G. Fardon, of London. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by a service, at which the Vicar (Rev. De Boinville) gave the association a most hearty welcome to Hythe.

Tea was partaken of at Paddock House, presided over by the Vicar. At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar in the chair, the secretary's report was read and passed.

The election of officers next took place, and, after some discussion, Mr. Tribe was persuaded to carry on, and all officers were then re-elected, viz., Mr. C. Tribe and Mr. E. Ruck, representatives on the Central Committee; Mr. A. C. Kay, district secretary.

Meetings for 1928 are to be arranged as follows: February, Headcorn; May, Folkestone; June, Brabourne; and September, Ashford.

One new member from Brabourne and one hon. member (Mrs. C. W. Player) were elected with cheers.

The Secretary referred to the loss the district had sustained by the death of one of the Headcorn band, Mr. W. Hucksins. Mr. C. Tribe spoke a few words of tribute, and the company stood in silence for a few moments, and directed that a letter be forwarded to the widow from the meeting, expressing sympathy and condolence.

Ringing was kept up until 8.30, Stedman, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Grandsire being the methods rung.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The usual monthly meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held at St. Paul's, Widnes, on Saturday, October 8th, about 35 members being present, representing eleven towers.

Mr. W. H. Shaker (the general secretary) gave a report of the annual meeting held at Wigan.

Nineteen new members were elected.

The proposal of the previous meeting to pay special attention to two methods was highly appreciated, and good practice was made. At the suggestion of the Ringing Master, the same two methods will be taken at the next meeting at St. Francis Xavier on Saturday, November 12th.

A hearty vote of congratulation was accorded to Mr. E. L. Humphreys, of Woolton, on scoring his first peal as conductor, and four of his colleagues on ringing their first peal.

ICKLETON BELL FUND.

The following further donations to the Ickleton Bell Fund are acknowledged with thanks: Mr. R. Lathbury 5s., Miss V. Shorter 5s., Mrs. B. Buttress 5s., Messrs. R. G. King 2s. 6d., R. Howard 2s. 6d., T. Fitzjohn (second donation) 1s., S. Bowtell 2s. 6d., Wm. Watts 2s. 6d., W. Watts 1s. 6d., collected at Herk's meeting at Royston 11s. 1d. Contributions should be sent to Mr. P. Webb, Ickleton, Cambs.

AN INNOCENT IN THE BELFRY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I feel I must write to your paper and express my admiration of those stalwarts, the bellringers. It is only recently that the Art has come to my notice; already my interest is stimulated. I shall, Sir, give bellringing my wholehearted support, and endeavour, through your columns, to understand some of its mysteries.

At present I am somewhat bewildered.

Am I right in assuming that the ropes in the belfry are for ringing the bells?

I watched a band of ringers last week for two and three-quarter hours; then the ringing suddenly stopped. Apparently an argument ensued, for two members appeared most annoyed. Can you explain all this? There also appeared to be an extraordinary number of ringers named Bob, for they all spoke at once when somebody called that name. Is this unusual?

I already know six ringers. Wishing you success, yours very truly,

'SURPRISED MAJOR.'

[We welcome a new supporter of our art, and hasten to assure him that the ropes are not for ringing the bells, but for testing the strength of the ringers. We could probably explain the argument when the bells suddenly stopped after ringing two and three-quarter hours, but perhaps it would be better not to do so here. We are glad 'Surprised Major' already knows six ringers. There are about 39,994 more whose acquaintance he has yet to make, and we reciprocate his good wishes for success.—Ed. 'R.W.']

LADIES' GUILD.

A quarterly meeting was held at Leatherhead on Saturday, October 1st, when the ladies received a hearty welcome from the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge, and the local ringers. Ringing commenced soon after 3.30, and then the Guild service was held, the Vicar giving an inspiring address. Tea was enjoyed in the Institute, and Miss E. K. Parker (general secretary) took this opportunity of thanking the Vicar and Mr. A. Dean for their kindness and help.

There was very little business to deal with, the most important item being that it was proposed to hold the next meeting in conjunction with the Central District at St. Clement Danes, on January 21st.

Mrs. Hairs particularly asks all ladies to keep this date free, as she is anxious to have a very good meeting.

After the meeting the members revisited the tower and continued ringing until 8 o'clock.

HUNGERFORD BELLS DEDICATED.

FIRST CHANGE RINGING AT NANTMEL.

The Brecon ringers, accompanied by Mr. J. P. Hyett, of Hay, by the kind invitation of the Rev. E. E. Davies, visited St. Cynllo's Church, Nantmel, Radnorshire, where there is a very nice ring of six bells, cast in 1903 by Llewellyn and James. There is no record of these bells ever having been rung in peal. They had been well oiled and overhauled for this occasion, and with a new set of ropes were in perfect order. Several touches of Grandsire Doubles were brought round, also a touch of 220 changes, dedicated to the Rector's son and heir, who had attained that number of days since birth.

The Rector afterwards invited the band to a sumptuous tea, and it was difficult to know who was the more pleased, the Rector at the ringers' visit to his tower, or the Brecon band with the kindness shown to them.

BIRTHDAY COMPLIMENT TO LONDON RECTOR.

A PUTNEY WEDDING.

At the Parish Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Putney, on October 1st, the marriage was solemnised of Miss Elizabeth Bolton and Mr. William H. Saunders. The Vicar of Putney (Rev. E. Priestley Swain) officiated. The bride, who was simply and daintily attired, was given away by her father, Mr. Thomas Bolton, the genial master of the local society of ringers. Mr. Paul Saunders (brother) was best man, whilst the bride was attended by her sisters, Annie and Ethel, as bridesmaids.

The local ringers attended in good force, and as the bridal party left the church the bells were fired, afterwards breaking into Stedman Triples, some good touches of which were subsequently rung. Owing to business and other calls it was regretted a quarter-peal could not be attempted. The ringers afterwards adjourned to another 'place,' where the health of the newly-wedded pair was suitably honoured, and a pleasant hour was spent as the guests of Mr. Bolton, who has now for many years filled the post of Master and steeplekeeper with great tact and courtesy.

BRIDEGROOM RINGS FOR HIS OWN WEDDING.

At Glemsford, Suffolk, on Saturday, October 1st, Mr. P. Leslie Johnson, one of the local ringers, was married to Miss Sparham, the sister of another of the Glemsford band. Later in the day, the bridegroom took part in a 720 Bob Minor rung on the Parish Church bells in honour of the event: C. Watson 1, H. List 2, P. Leslie Johnson 3, J. Sparham 4, R. V. Johnson (conductor) 5, T. E. Slater 6.

A PLEDGE TO THE COUNCIL.

The new Guildford Diocesan Guild proposes to include as one of its rules a definite provision that it shall be affiliated to the Central Council and shall recognise and observe the Council's rulings. Although practically all the Guilds and Associations throughout the country are affiliated to the central body, there are few who make it an obligation under their rules to join the Council, nor do they commit themselves to observing the Council's rulings. At a meeting at which the Guildford Guild's rules were discussed on Saturday the question was raised as to whether any good purpose would be served by including the provision for recognition of the Council's rulings. The step which the organisers of the new Guild propose is, in our opinion, a very desirable one if we are to see the Central Council's position in the Exercise strengthened. It is true that nothing which the Central Council decides can be enforced upon either unwilling individuals or associations, but it is a logical attitude for an association to take to say that, if it agrees with the objects of the Council — as it implies when it affiliates — it will give its loyal support to the Council's decisions and do its best to give effect to them.

Let it be said at once that, taken as a whole, associations do, in their formal capacity, generally accept the Council's rulings on matters concerning the Exercise, but there is in the Council an undercurrent of feeling, or shall we say of hesitancy, when it comes to dealing with questions which concern ringing organisations, hesitancy because it is not known how the various bodies would take the ruling. If, however, the Council were assured beforehand that its decisions would be loyally accepted, it could turn with greater freedom to some of those subjects which at present it approaches with diffidence. The argument against action by the Council is always that it cannot compel acceptance of its resolutions. That being admitted, the next best thing is to achieve a voluntary acceptance, and this would be largely secured if all the associations were to incorporate in their rules a recognition clause. If only as an advisory body, the Council's decisions would have more effect if all its constituent organisations were pledged to its support rather than, as at present, entering upon the basis of, 'If I like it I'll have it, and if I don't like it I'll leave it alone.' At present the constitution of the Council is but loosely built up. There is very little tie between it and the associations who send representatives. This was probably all that was feasible when the Council was instituted, for the relationship between the Council and the Exercise was as uncertain as the ties between the associations and the ringers forty years ago. To-day things have changed. Ringers look upon their work from a totally different view-point, and the Central Council is as essential to the well-being of the Exercise as a whole as the existence of associations is to draw together the bands in the various dioceses and counties. The time has surely come, then, when the ringing organisations of this country can confidently bind themselves to support the parent body of the Exercise.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

CHERTSEY DISTRICT'S SPLENDID RESPONSE.

Another very successful district meeting, in connection with the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, was held at the ancient town of Chertsey on Saturday, when the attendance was even greater than anticipated by the organisers—and they are no pessimists. Nearly every tower which it is proposed to include in the district was represented, and there were several welcome visitors from places across the Thames, who were obviously interested in the proceedings. In the unavoidable absence of the Rector, the Rev. E. H. W. Leachman, Mr. W. Melville, of Guildford, a member of the Organising Committee, was voted to the chair for the meeting, which was held in the Church Room. Representatives of the following towers in the Chertsey area were present: Chertsey, Egham, Esher, Hersham, Otlands, Ottershaw, Thames Ditton, Walton and Weybridge. Ringers from other places in the Guild's territory attended from Bagshot, Cranleigh, Guildford and Woking, and there were visitors from London, Iwer Heath, Uxbridge, Staines, Maidenhead, Cookham and Hounslow, while the presence of Mr. W. H. Hollier, hon. sec., South and West District of the Middlesex Association, was much appreciated. Regret was expressed at the absence, through illness, of Mr. J. B. Hessey, hon. secretary of the Yorktown District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

The Organising Committee's report was read by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), who welcomed the presence of ringers from several towers which had not been associated with the Winchester Guild, and said this indication of support promised well for the future of the new Guild. He explained the new position which had arisen with the Surrey Association, and, reiterating what had been said at the meeting at Leatherhead, expressed the hope that, whatever might be the outcome of the negotiations with Surrey, the two organisations would work amicably side by side in those areas where their territory overlapped.

Mr. Ferris J. Sheppard moved the adoption of the report, and complimented the committee on the work which they had done.—Mr. W. T. Beeston seconded, and the motion was carried.

On the proposition of Mr. A. Woodrow, seconded by Mr. J. A. Crocker, the following resolution was adopted: 'That this preliminary district meeting approves of the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, to come into being on January 1st next, and pledges itself to do its utmost to support the objects of the Guild and further its interests.'

In the detailed consideration of the proposed rules the meeting showed the keenest interest, and discussions took place on various points. The suggestions made at this and the other meetings will be considered by the committee before the final draft is submitted to a general meeting of the whole of the ringers of the diocese.

A QUESTION OF TITLE.

A point which has caused considerable discussion at each of the meetings has been the inclusion of the word 'Church' in the title, which, as at present proposed, is to be 'The Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers.' It was argued at Guildford that the word 'Church,' in conjunction with the word 'Diocesan,' is tautology, and is, therefore, redundant. There are others, however, who claim that the word is necessary to distinguish the kind of diocesan ringers which the Guild will include, and there promises to be a great discussion on the matter at the general meeting at Guildford. The meeting at Chertsey voted almost unanimously in favour of retaining the word 'Church.'

A resolution in support of the reciprocal arrangement with the Winchester and Portsmouth dioceses to admit resident members of one Guild as compounding members of the other on payment of one shilling, was carried, but the proposal to admit as life members without further payment the present life members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild did not find favour.

Mr. W. Shepherd raised the question as to whether any good purpose would be served by including in the rules a provision that the Guild should recognise and observe the rulings of the Central Council, but it was pointed out that unless its rulings were observed it was rather useless to affiliate to the Council.

Mr. Sheppard also suggested that Weybridge should be substituted for Chertsey as the name of the district, as the former was more nearly in the centre of the area.

Discussion on a variety of matters relating to the future conduct of the Guild took place, and the proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the committee and the hon. secretary for their work, to the Rector for the use of the Church Room and the bells, and to the chairman for presiding.

Chertsey can claim the distinction of having been at one time famous for a bell foundry. The Eldridges carried on their craft there for nearly a hundred years, possibly setting up their furnaces there in 1619, and coming to an end as founders with the death, at the age of 82, of William Eldridge in the year 1716. During this period a great many bells were cast for churches in Surrey and the neighbouring counties.

Only one bell from this foundry remains in Chertsey tower, and that is the 6th, cast in 1712 by the last of the line of Eldridges. But the 5th is a fine old pre-Reformation bell, one of the oldest in the county, and one which local tradition states came from the Abbey at its dis-

TISBURY'S OLD BELLS RESTORED.

The renovated and restored tower and bells of St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Tisbury, Wilts, were dedicated by the Bishop of Salisbury on Wednesday evening, October 12th. The tower has been thoroughly renovated, all decayed portions having been replaced by new stones and concrete. The peal of six 17th century bells, which were last rung in 1919 on the occasion of the peace festival, have been tuned and rehung in a new iron frame, with room for two more bells, with all the latest modern improvements and ball bearings, by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry. The weight of the tenor is 16 cwt. in D.

After the dedication service, the local band rang the first rounds on the bells, after which ringers from Salisbury, Britford, Mere, Buckhorn Weston and Zeals rang 120's of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and short touches of Bob Minor and Kent. Mr. Cyril Johnston represented the firm, and also took part in the ringing.

All the ringers present were pleased with the excellent 'go' of the bells. The old clock has been replaced by one of the latest design, and, in addition to the original face, two new stone dials have been added, and there is now a dial on the north, east and west sides of the tower.

OLD NORFOLK RINGER'S DEATH.

On Saturday, October 8th, seven members of the Norfolk Guild met at the Parish Church, St. Cross, and rang three 120's of Bob Doubles as a last token of respect to Charles Clarke, of St. Cross, who died on the previous Tuesday. The deceased, who will be greatly missed by his fellow ringers in the Redenhall and Bungay districts, passed away suddenly at the age of 66. He had been a member of the old Norwich Diocesan Association and the Norfolk Guild since 1883.

On the following Monday, F. Borrett, G. Curson, R. Baldry, G. Howlett, R. Riches, W. Barrett, G. Poynter and C. Cutting met at Alburgh. Unfortunately, because of the serious illness of the Rector's wife, Redenhall bells were not available, and after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Kent rang 1,008 of Double Norwich, with the bells half-muffled.

OXFORD SOCIETY'S ANNUAL OUTING.

The Oxford Society held their annual outing on Saturday, September 10th, by charabanc to Berks and Gloucester districts, leaving Oxford at 9.25 a.m. and making Faringdon the first call, which was reached at 10.10. The party soon got to work on this grand ring of eight, when touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Kent Major were well rung. The next call was Cirencester, where the old church was visited. Stroud was reached at one o'clock, the party being met by Mr. A. Wright. The secretary thanked Mr. Wright for his kindness. The tower was visited for touches of Stedman Caters and Triples, and a short touch of Kent Major. Afterwards the members left for Painswick with Mr. Wright and a Stroud ringer. They found a lovely ring of twelve, all going well. A touch of Stedman Cinques was tried, but had to be given up. Next Caters, and, to finish, a touch of Plain Bob Major. Good-bye was said to Mr. Wright, and the company set out for Cheltenham. Arriving about 5.20, they found Mr. Pates and a few others to welcome them. They had a short ring, and soon followed the leader. Time did not permit of visiting Prestley, and regret was expressed at any inconvenience which might have been caused to the local ringers. Charlton Kings was reached at 8.10, an hour late, where touches of Stedman Triples and Kent Major were tried. The party arrived at Oxford at 11.10, and wish to thank all helpers for their kindness to them on this occasion.

A 'SILENT' TOUCH.

At Lawton, Cheshire, 504 Grandsire Triples (taken from Holt's 10-part) was rung silent at the Parish Church for Sunday evening service, on October 2nd. It is 15 years since a similar touch was rung at Lawton: R. Harper 1, W. Rigby 2, *T. Arrowsmith 3, J. Booth 4, *G. Biddulph 5, J. Wildblood 6, E. Harper 7, R. Arrowsmith 8. * First Silent touch.

The tower also contains another fine antiquarian specimen in the 7th, which was cast by Robert Mot, the first of the White-chapel founders, in 1588. The tenor, originally cast in 1670, was recast in 1859, when two trebles were added. The third was cast in 1730 by Richard Phelps, and the 4th in 1756 by Lester and Pack. The ring are, therefore, a very mixed, if interesting, lot. With a somewhat long draught, many of the visitors found them a little difficult to handle on Saturday, but touches in a variety of methods were rung, both during the afternoon and after the meeting.

The last of the series of district meetings will be held at Farnham to-morrow. The general meeting for the diocese is to take place at Guildford on November 19th, and the inauguration, at which the Lord Bishop will be present, on December 31st.

DUAL DIOCESAN GUILD.

The dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth are to remain united in one Guild, and an important meeting is to be held to-morrow at Southampton to give effect to this proposal. The agenda includes the alteration of the constitution of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, arising out of the change of area, the question of name, the election of officers, and the rearrangement of the districts. Nearly the whole of Hampshire, and all the Isle of Wight, is covered by the two dioceses.

SUTTON-ON-TRENT BELLS. RESTORATION SCHEME COMPLETED.

The North Notts Association have taken a keen interest in the Sutton-on-Trent bells' restoration fund, and have given a good deal of practical help, financially, and by exhibitions of their skill in change-ringing on Bank Holidays, while the annual sports and gala have been taking place, to provide funds to pay for the bells. They will be pleased to know that the object for which the sports and gala have been held for the last four years is now fully achieved—i.e., the payment of the church bells restoration costs. The bells are now entirely free from debt.

It is interesting to record that the sports committees, patrons, subscribers, and helpers have each year consisted of members of every religious denomination represented in Sutton-on-Trent, and of ringers in all parts of the county of Nottingham.

Prior to 1922, the bells were a peal of five, cast by J. Harrison in 1825. These bells were of poor tone, and it was decided to have them recast into perfect musical tone and tune, and add a new smaller bell to complete the ring of six.

The work was done by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who also rehung the peal with modern fittings, including iron headstocks and ball bearings, in a new, strong and massive cast-iron framework, which they made complete for a ring of eight bells, so that two additional bells may be added in the future to complete the peal. The peal is in the key of G, and the tenor weighs 12 cwt. 1 qr. 11 lb.

The inscriptions on the six bells are as follows:—

Treble.—'The Faith Bell, G. H. C. Bartley, M.A., Vicar, 1922.'

2nd.—'All Saints' Bell, 1825, recast 1922.'

3rd.—'St. George for England, 1825, recast 1922.'

4th.—'The ringers' bell, E. A. Midwinter, J. W. Neep, 1922, 1825, recast 1922.'

5th.—'G. H. C. Bartley, M.A., Vicar. J. E. Gregory, H. Rogerson, churchwardens, 1922, 1825, recast 1922.'

Tenor.—'J. Harrison, Founder, Samuel Pennington and William Buttery, churchwardens, 1825, recast 1922.'

The contract was considerably extended after the first order, which was for rehanging the five bells in a new framework for six bells for £400. Additions to this order were made to cover the new bell to make six, recasting the old ring into five of musical tone, supplying new clock hammers, etc., floor bosses, mufflers, and inscription on the bells. The total amount paid to Messrs. John Taylor and Co. is £791 3s. 8d. Other work, including new screen, and woodwork, cost £157 1s. 11d., and stonemasons' work cost £7 12s. 8d., making a grand total of £955 18s. 5d.

The Sports Committee have each year recorded their thanks to the North Notts Association for the help they have so willingly given by attending the sports and bringing their friends, and by giving advertisements of the event in 'The Ringing World,' and by their clever ringing which always helped to give a festive feeling on the sports and gala day.

PEAL TABLET UNVEILED AT PULBOROUGH.

The belfry of the Parish Church, Pulborough, Sussex, on Sunday evening, October 9th, was the scene of an interesting little ceremony, when the Rector (the Rev. E. I. Frost), accompanied by the churchwardens (Mr. Basil Gray and Mr. A. C. Dewdney), met the ringers for the purpose of unveiling and dedicating a handsome oak tablet which he has given to commemorate a peal of Grandsire Triples (5,040 changes) rung on December 8th, 1926.

After the brief but impressive dedication service, the Rector warmly thanked the bellringers for their services, and said their efforts were much appreciated.—In a happy little speech, Mr. A. C. Dewdney endorsed the Rector's remarks, and congratulated the ringers on the high standard of their striking.

Mr. P. H. Doick, on behalf of the ringers, thanked the Rector for his kind thought in providing a permanent record of a performance that was a real credit to local ringers. They were very fortunate in having a Rector and churchwardens who took such a keen interest in ringing. Mr. Doick, continuing, paid a tribute to the loyalty of ringers generally, and was pleased to say that the brotherly spirit was very pronounced among the local band.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Work on the installation of two trebles, the gift of an anonymous donor, to make a peal of ten at Haslemere, Surrey, has been begun by Messrs. Taylor and Co. This will be one of the lightest peals of ten in the country, the tenor being only 13 cwt. 6 lb. It will be a valuable addition to the rings of ten in the area of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild. At present there are three such rings in the new diocese—Guildford, Leatherhead and Epsom.

The bells of St. John's, Leytoustone, will be broadcast on Sunday, October 30th, at 8 p.m., on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the men's service. Ringers will be interested in this performance, but we are informed that the tenors do not go as well as could be wished.

The second peal of four Spliced Surprise Major methods has been rung, the performance having been achieved at Willesden last week by the Middlesex Association. For those who can ring Surprise methods, this form of peal ringing is of added interest, because of its greater difficulty.

The 'broadcast' of the bells at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on Sunday evening, was a disappointment for listeners. No microphone had been fixed for the bells, and all that was heard of them was for a few moments, as in the dim distance, through the microphone in the church.

In 1705, Goody Burkott was paid 2s. 10d. for welters, which the workmen drank when they repaired the bells at Hughenden.

The 'Faithful Couple' rang their 50th peal together at Bridgend on the Welsh tour.

Mr. Arthur Knights composed the 'Treble ten' rung at Cardiff, not Mr. Arthur Craven, as reported by our benighted correspondent.

Bucks ringers who heard the Cambridge twelve at High Wycombe speak very highly of the striking and the music of this performance.

Has anyone seen a 'last whole turn' of Stedman lying about in one of the city towers? If so, will he please forward it to the tower-keeper of St Bride's?

'Anxious' wishes to know if it is true that the four most famous anatomical specimens that will go down to history are the Heel of Achilles, William Gifford's Blister, 'Uncle Joe's' Ankle, and 'He of England's' Nerve.

A hundred and thirty-seven years ago to-day a peal of 8,448 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung in the old tower at St. Mary Abbots, Kensington. The board recording the performance is still in existence, and runs as follows:—

'1790.—Thursday, October 21st, was performed on the bells in this steeple. A true peal Oxford Treble Bob, consisting of 8,448 changes, being the most ever accomplished without parting the tenors, and the greatest number of changes ever rung in this steeple, in 5 hours and 8 minutes. Performed by part of the Society College Youths. Benn. Prince treble, Edwd. Rumball 2, John Cotton 3, Charles Barber 4, James Brown 5, Jon. Langley 6, James Bartlett 7, William Parris 8. The peal was celled by J. Bartlett. Mr. Jno. Bordin, Mr. James Cowmedow, Churchwardens.'

The Vicar's name is not given, but the Rev. Richard Ormerod was Vicar of Kensington at that time. There is probably little doubt that the composition was the one by J. Reeves, which had been produced a few years earlier, and which Shipway records as having been rung in the Kent variation by the Society of Junior Cumberlands in 1787 at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, 'being the first time it was ever performed.'

Next Tuesday is the anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Triples ever rung. It was achieved at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on October 25th, 1731. It is a quaint old record, which is still preserved at Norwich: 'Here was Rung that Misterious Peal called Stedman Tripples, the discovery thereof has been the Study of several Ingenious Ringers in England, though to no effect, until this intricate Peal, which differs from all other Methods of Tripples, as being every bell of like course, was perfectly discovered by Tho. Melchior, who first completed the Peal of Perfect Stedman Tripples, with only two Doubles and no alteration; the extent being 5,040 changes, was completely rung by us in 3 hours and 40 minutes.'

The story of the dispute between the rival Norwich companies over this performance has been well told in these columns by Mr. J. A. Trollope.

THE CLERGY AND RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Referring to your article on the help which the clergy might give towards getting more ringers for our belfries, I think that a good many of the clergy would be more interested if their present ringers would attend the services more frequently. I had occasion recently to ask a local clergyman for his subscription to the Guild to which I belong, and he remarked that he would give it more readily if his ringers turned up better on Sundays. I have also in mind a church near my own tower, where often a dozen ringers will be present in the belfry and not more than two or three ever think of attending the service afterwards.

A great many ringers still look on ringing as merely an amusement or recreation, and as long as this state of affairs continues we cannot wonder that the clergy are apathetic towards the work of the ringers.

—Yours faithfully,

REFLEX.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY. BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the eleventh of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

PROVING A METHOD.

The next step is to treat all of the leads in the 'plain course' in exactly the same way as shown in the last article, but this does not mean that the pairs of rows have to be compared. Every lead is a replica of the first, except that the bells at the lead-heads are differently placed in the row, so that the 'internal-row' transposition can be used to give us the heads that will prove false against ANY LEAD. We transpose the new lead-head by every false row (in column 1) in turn. Cover 12345678 with your new lead-head (whatever it may be), and transfer the red cards to each row in your column 1, in turn. Here you should arrive at no duplicates, because they have been eliminated from column 1. Place the false heads produced in a column No. 2 (with the second lead-head of the plain course at the top, as in column 1).

Do this with every lead-head, as it appears in the plain course, and you will have seven columns of false lead-heads, which will produce identical rows to be found in the PLAIN COURSE; the identical rows from a particular false head will be found in that lead of the plain course which is at the top of its column. Then, if any of the seven plain-course leads is rung, the false heads in its column must be omitted from the peal; if any of them is not rung, then the false heads may be admitted; that is, those false heads which refer to the lead which is not rung. Provided that we do not discover other heads which are false against THOSE FALSE HEADS upon further investigation.

The seven columns that we now have, refer only to the PLAIN COURSE (headed 12345678), and, ordinarily, every course in the peal should be treated in like manner; but, in the majority of peals, this may be considerably abridged, due to the effect that 'fixed bells' have upon the rows.

We found in Minor that the tenors is fixed course by course, but that it was necessary to 'part' the 5th and 6th bells in order to obtain the extent of the rows, thus fixing the 5th bell part by part, instead of course by course. Peals in Major are generally arranged so that the tenors (7 and 8) shall not be 'parted.' In other words, BOTH of them are fixed course by course, and both of them come 'home' at every course-end, with the result that they pursue a 'plain course path' throughout the peal, which has the effect of fixing them (taken together) in positions at every lead-head, which are identical with the positions in which they appear in one of the PLAIN COURSE LEAD-HEADS.

For this reason, when the tenors are not parted in a peal, all of those false heads, where 7 and 8 are NOT in plain course positions, will never appear; they are not allowed to, and they may be eliminated from our seven columns, when proving a peal with the 'tenors together.'

All of the 'legitimate' Major methods follow the rule laid down for the Minor methods; they are compelled to produce 'Bob Major lead-heads,' and below are given the seven lead-heads (or heads) which will be found in a plain course of any legitimate Major method. They are not given in any 'order of sequence' in the column, as each one is intended to stand by itself as an example, and not as part of the whole block. At the side are shown the positions held (in the rows) by 7 and 8, and these are the ONLY positions they will hold (relatively) in all of the lead-heads throughout the peal, unless they are 'parted' by the calling, which usually is not done.

Bob Major lead-heads. Positions of 7-8 therein.

13527486	10007080
14263857	10000807
15738264	10708000
16482735	10080700

Therefore, the false lead-heads which may be eliminated from our seven columns are such as follow: 18700000, 17080000, 10870000, etc. In short, any of them which has not 7-8 placed EXACTLY as in one of the seven examples given above, which, of course, does not apply if calls are made that will cause 7-8 to appear in places other than those of the 'plain coursing order.'

When these are eliminated, we shall have seven abridged columns of lead-heads, which are false against the leads of the PLAIN COURSE; otherwise, the course that is headed by 12345678. The calling of each bob has the effect of introducing into the peal leads from various other courses; theoretically, our abridged false lead-heads should be extended to meet the new conditions, when parts of new courses are introduced. This would be done in exactly the same way as we extended column 1 to the other six columns, by transposing the new course-head by each false-head in turn. The better way is to find those COURSE heads which are false against the whole plain course, so that they may be avoided if necessary.

This is done in the same manner as that in which we found the false heads, by comparison of 'similar' rows; there, the treble is the only bell in the same place in the rows, but here 1-7-8 must be in the same places in the two rows compared. One of the rows for comparison is a false head, and the other of the pair is its FELLOW from one of the plain course lead-heads given above. By 'its fellow' is meant the one of the seven which has 1-7-8 in the same positions as the false-head under consideration.

For example: A false-head in your column 1 might be 16254(8)3(7); its fellow in the plain course is 14263(8)5(7). Then—because 14263857 is the 6th lead-head in course headed 12345678 then 16254837 will be 6th L.-H. from course headed 12463578

Note.—While all methods have the same seven lead-heads in the plain course, they turn up in different sequences in different methods, so that 14263857 might be the third in one method, the fourth in another, and the fifth lead-head in the plain course of another method. Also note that in writing course-heads, 1-7-8 are generally omitted, always being understood to be 'at home.'

Then at the foot of our column 1 we can note '. . . 24635 (VI) . . .', signifying that the 6th lead-head from the course headed 12463578 will be false with the first lead (shown at top of column 1) from the course headed 12345678—the plain course.

One more example: Your third lead of the plain course (column No. 3) might contain a false lead-head 1(78)35264; its fellow is 1(78)56342, which may appear as the FOURTH lead-head of the plain course. Then—

then 17835264 will be 4th L.-H. from 14263578.

At the foot of column 3 we note '. . . 42635 (IV)', signifying that lead 4 from 42635 will give repetition with lead THREE (column 3) from course headed 23456.

Every false head having been treated in this way, we shall have, at the foot of each column, all of the course-heads that will be false against each particular lead of our plain course.

From these course-heads, which are false against the PLAIN course, we can produce those which are false against any course whatsoever by applying the 'internal rows transposition.' Cover 23456 with a new course-head and transfer the cards to each false-head in turn, and we shall produce the course-heads that are false against the new course which has been introduced into the peal.

Following the examples quoted above, if we ring the lead which heads column No. 1 (12345678), we must cut out lead VI. from the course headed 24635; on the contrary, if we cut out the lead which heads our column No. 3 (whatever the third lead-head of the plain course may happen to be), then we may include lead IV. in the course headed 42635, and so on, with the other five columns of our plain course.

Similarly with leads (included or omitted) in every other course of the peal and their corresponding false courses.

Then we have to decide, from the calling of our peal, which leads of the courses will be rung, and which will be omitted. Actually, each 'course' of a peal can (and will) consist of SEVERAL PORTIONS OF DIFFERENT COURSES, varying according to the composition of the peal. These 'portions' are welded into proper courses by the 'calling positions' laid down by the composer. This aspect must be dealt with in its proper place.

The examples given above, have been included by way of explanation only, and are not intended to be true examples. I propose to review what has been said by way of concrete figures, which must of necessity be curtailed, in view of the detailed explanation that has gone before.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

PROMISING YOUNG SURPRISE RINGERS.

The fifth meeting of the year was held at Shireoaks in bright and summer-like weather on Saturday last. Members were present from Anston, Blyth, Cuckney, Warsop, Barlborough, Staveley Town, Work-sop, Creswell, Gainsborough, Misterton, Ordsall, and a full number of the local company, also one lady ringer. A party of 30 sat down to tea in the Public Hall. The Vicar of Shireoaks (Rev. R. V. Dodd) afterwards presided over the business meeting, supported by the churchwardens (Messrs. W. H. Getcliffe and S. Winter), and the hon. secretary, H. Haigh, and the assistant hon. secretary, Mr. H. Revill.

The next meeting will be at Sutton-on-Trent, on December 10th, and will be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

The following were duly elected members: Messrs. A. Ensor and W. Wilkinson, of Blyth, and T. Negus, of Shireoaks.

The Rev. R. V. Dodd, Vicar of Shireoaks, was elected as vice-president. A vote of thanks was duly accorded to the Vicar for presiding over tea and meeting, and for use of Public Hall, to the churchwardens for their attendance, and to the ladies of Shireoaks for their excellent catering, also to the hon. secretary.

The Vicar suitably replied, and moved a vote of sympathy to the hon. secretary in his bereavement in the loss of his wife, who was a valued worker for the association. The members accorded the vote of condolence by standing in silence for a few moments.

Ringing commenced in the early afternoon, and was kept up until a late hour in the evening, the following methods being rung: Plain Bob Minor, Woodbine, Kent, Oxford, Killamarsh, Sandal, College Single, Double Court, Violet, Duke of York, Cambridge and London Surprise, four or five of the juniors acquitting themselves admirably in the Surprise methods, three touches of Cambridge being rung.

DISAPPEARING LINKS WITH PAST GENERATION.

The band of veterans, of whom Mr. James George is the only survivor, after they had rung the peal of Grandsire Caters on May 2nd, 1914. Left to right, seated: J. Jones, S. Spittle, W. Rock Small, T. Horton, J. Sanders. Standing: J. Carter, R. Hall, J. Smith, J. Bradney, J. George.

DEATH OF MR. REUBEN HALL.

Another old and respected Midland ringer has passed away in the person of Mr. Reuben Hall, of West Bromwich, who was in his 75th year. He rang for service at the Parish Church as usual on Sunday morning, Oct. 9th, but was taken ill afterwards and died the same day.

Mr. Hall was a very old member of St. Martin's Guild, and a foundation member of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, and by his death another link with the old school of Birmingham District ringers has been broken. The contemporaries of Henry Johnson are fast disappearing.

Mr. Reuben Hall was one of a band of veterans who rang two peals together. All but one have now gone to their last rest. The only survivor of the company is Mr. James George, who, happily, is still among the most active of ringers.

It is interesting to recall these two peals. The first was Grandsire Caters, rung at Aston Manor, Warwickshire, on April 11th, 1908, composed and conducted by John Carter. It was rung with the bells muffled as a mark of respect to the late Mr. W. S. Pritchett, of King's Norton, secretary to the Lord Mayor of Birmingham and vice-president of St. Martin's Guild, who was interred in the family grave at King's Norton on April 14th. It was also rung as an 'old men's' peal.

	Age.	Peals rung.
John Carter	55	234
William H. Godden	58	131
William R. Small	68	293
Thomas Horton	61	200
Thomas Reynolds	55	260
James Jones	58	109
Reuben Hall	55	178
John Smith	55	93
John Bradney	58	20
James George	54	370
	575	1,888

The second was a 'veterans' peal of Grandsire Caters, at Aston, on May 2nd, 1914, also composed and conducted by John Carter. The total age of the band was 653 years 10 months, and the average age 65 years 4 months. This was supposed to be the oldest band that ever rang a peal on ten bells, and the accompanying photograph appeared in 'The Ringing World' at the time.

In recording the peal, 'The Ringing World' said: 'A gay lot of "youngsters," ranging in age from 60 to 77 years of age, have been displaying their prowess at Aston, where they have scored a peal of Grandsire Caters, and put to their credit what is believed to be a record, by being the oldest band to score a ten-bell peal. The conductor just qualified to squeeze into the band by reaching his sixtieth birthday a day or two before, while the task of ringing the tenor was pushed on to the next youngest in years, although, despite his youth, we can believe it was a congenial job. But these two were almost juvenile compared with the real veteran, Mr. Sam Spittle, who carried his 77 years well, and Mr. William Rock Small, who at 74 is as keen as ever.'

The band was: James Jones, Birmingham, 64 years 1 month; Samuel Spittle, Dudley, 77 years 4 months; William R. Small, Tipton, 74 years 5 months; Thomas Horton, West Bromwich, 67 years 7 months; John Sanders, Birmingham, 61 years 10 months; John Carter, Birmingham, 60 years; Reuben Hall, West Bromwich, 61 years 6 months; John Smith, Tipton, 62 years 5 months; John Bradney, Wolverhampton, 64 years 3 months; James George, Rugby, 60 years 5 months.

MUFFLED RINGING AT ST. PETER'S, WOLVERHAMPTON.

On Tuesday, October 11th, the members of St. Peter's band met and rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (consisting of 1,259 changes) in 59 mins., with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect to the late Mr. Harry A. Farlow, who was for the past 20 years a respected member of St. Peter's band; also for the late Mr. Reuben Hall (age 74), of Christ Church, West Bromwich, who had been a member of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford since its inception in 1883: G. A. Baker 1, H. Knight (conductor) 2, J. Williams 3, T. Roden 4, F. Brotherton 5, E. F. Mitchell 6, T. Smith 7, W. A. Cooper 8, W. H. Lawley 9, R. Thompson 10.

At the conclusion of the quarter-peal the whole 'pull and stand' was rung for 55 times, representing the age of the late Mr. H. A. Farlow.

ASHTED, SURREY.—On Thursday, October 8th, for practice, 224 and 334 of Superlative Surprise Major: W. Cook 1, J. H. B. Hesse 2, Miss I. Hastie 3, J. Beams 4, G. Marriner 5, A. H. Winch 6, J. Hoyle 7, A. Harman (conductor) 8.—Also 576 of London: J. H. B. Hesse 1, Miss I. Hastie 2, J. Beams 3, G. Marriner 4, A. H. Winch 5, G. Cook 6, J. Hoyle 7, A. Harman (conductor) 8.

FOLKESTONE, KENT.—On Tuesday evening, October 4th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: S. Binfield (Folkestone) 1, R. Birch (Hythe) 2, C. R. Millway (Dover) 3, W. Fright (Hythe) 4, W. Bidnell (Hythe) 5, M. Pierce (Canterbury) 6, C. Turner (Dover) (conductor) 7, J. Coppins (Folkestone) 8.

RE-OPENING OF FARNDON BELLS.COMPLETION OF A CHESHIRE RESTORATION.

The eight bells at Farnndon, Cheshire, which have recently been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were opened on Friday evening, October 7th, on the occasion of the harvest festival. After the ringing of rounds and call changes by the local company, the following took part in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: R. Sperring (conductor) 1, A. E. Richards 2, G. Jones 3, H. W. Wilde 4, W. Thomas 5, J. Morgan 6, J. W. Clarke 7, R. Ince 8.

On the following day, the Chester Branch held its autumn meeting at Farnndon, when some forty ringers were present, representing most of the towers in the neighbourhood. Some well-struck touches of Triples and Major were heard in the early afternoon, prior to the Guild service at 4 p.m. The service was fully choral, and was attended by many parishioners as well as the visiting ringers. The prayers were read by the Rector, the Rev. S. P. Gray, and the sermon was preached by the Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, the Rev. C. A. Clements. Mr. A. E. Richards presided at the organ.

A most enjoyable tea was served in the Memorial Hall, during which Mr. H. A. Heywood, vice-chairman of the Chester Branch, took the opportunity to congratulate the church authorities and parishioners of Farnndon on their efforts, which had resulted in the excellent peal of bells now installed in the church tower. On behalf of the visitors, he tendered sincere thanks for the warm welcome they had received. The Rector suitably replied.

After tea, the tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going during the evening, Mr. J. P. Fidler, representing the founders, joining in.

Farnndon bells were cast by Messrs. Taylor in 1841, and hung in a wooden frame. The first peal, Grandsire Triples, is recorded as having been rung on Jan. 27th, 1843. Under a general restoration scheme, the bells were rehung in an H pattern iron frame, with the two trebles above, in 1899. The ropes were handled from the ground floor. The bells are now hung in a lower position in the tower, in an H pattern steel frame, and are fitted with ball bearings. They are in two tiers, and the relative positions have been very carefully considered with regard to strain on the ancient fabric. The treble, 6th and 4th hang on the top tier. Messrs. Taylor and Co. deserve great credit for the excellent manner in which they have carried out the restoration, for the tone and 'go' leave nothing further to be desired, and the Farnndon people are now justly proud of their bells.

J. W. C.

On Friday, October 7th, for harvest thanksgiving (evensong), a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: R. Sperring 1, A. E. Richards 2, George Jones 3, H. W. Wilde 4, Walter Thomas 5, J. Morgan 6, W. Clarke 7, R. Ince 8. First quarter-peal on the bells.

SURREY ASSOCIATION'S LOSS.SUDDEN DEATH OF SOUTHERN DISTRICT SECRETARY.

The Surrey Association has sustained a severe loss by the death of Mr. H. F. Ewins, of Reigate, who expired suddenly in the early hours of Tuesday, October 11th.

Mr. Ewins was the hon. secretary of the Southern Division of the Surrey Association, and on Saturday, October 8th, had attended a meeting at Betchingley. On the Monday he spent the day at Brighton, and was apparently in his usual health. He was, however, taken ill in the night, and passed away most unexpectedly.

The funeral took place at Reigate on Saturday.

Mr. Ewins had been a district secretary of the Surrey Association for many years, and had been a most painstaking and efficient official.

EAST HAGBOURNE BELL FUND.

The restored bells at East Hagbourne are to be dedicated on Oct. 29th, and particulars of the arrangements for ringers will be found among the notices.

Appended is a list of subscribers to the bell fund from among ringers and ringing companies: Ringers at Sutton Courtenay 10s., Childrey 10s., Culham 10s., Stevenston 6s., Wantage 18s. 6d., Newbury 6s., Milton 21 17s., Ardington 8s., Goring 10s., Kidlington 8s., Blewbury 11s., Hughenden 21 1s., St. Helen's, Abingdon, 11s., East Isley 21 10s., East Hendred 10s. 6d., Cambridge University Guild 21, North Berks Branch, O.D.G., 24, Rev. Grateful thanks are extended to all who have contributed.

STAINES.—A quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) in 44 mins., on Saturday, September 24th, at the Church at St. Peter: J. H. Lucas 1, W. E. Butler 2, W. C. Parker 3, W. E. Taylor 4, L. Mannerling 5, T. Goodchild 6, P. E. Jones 7, F. Corke (first quarter of Major as conductor) 8.

BUNTOSE AND BATTRYES.

'Come Buntose! tell us who you were,
And you, too, Battryes, who be ye?
Perhaps the lads who did the job,
Or drew the beer in lieu of fee?
At any rate, in this life humdrum,
You're both a maddening conundrum.'

THE YOUNGEST GIRL TO RING A PEAL.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the paragraph under the heading of 'Belfry Gossip' in your last week's issue, may I state that Miss Nancy Denyer rang in a peal of Bob Major at Aldershot on December 14th, 1923, her age then being 13 years. The peal in question was by the local band, who were fifty-five—four female and four male members. I should like, all the same, to convey my heartiest congratulations to Miss Jessie Davenport on her performance, and I hope some day to see that she is the youngest girl to ring in a peal of London.—Yours, etc.,

GEO. GILBERT.

Rainham, Kent.

YOUNG RINGER'S FIRST PEAL.

Dear Sir,—With reference to your note in the 'Belfry Gossip' in 'The Ringing World' last week, re the youngest girl to ring a peal, I should like to state that Miss Violet Beckett rang inside to a peal of Treble Bob Major at Loddon on Sunday, June 12th, 1927 (see 'The Ringing World' of June 24th), at the age of 14 years and 8½ months, which beats the record of Miss Davenport at Dore.

I have also found out that she rang in a peal of Doubles on December 31st last, when she was only 14 yrs. 3 mths. This peal of Doubles was rung by beginners, who have been learning under the tuition of Beccles and Bungay ringers, and they told me one they were starting for it, and said little about it afterwards. I told them at the time to have it published, but none of them troubled to do so (they said they had rung the peal, and that was all it mattered), so I have obtained the particulars from them, which I am sending on for publication. None of them were members of an association at the time.—Yours faithfully,

EDWIN R. GOATE.

The record of the peal is as follows: Ellingham, Norfolk.—At the Church of St. Mary, on Friday, December 31st, 1926, in 3 hrs. 5 mins., a peal of Grandsire Doubles (5,040 changes) (tenor 12 cwt.): Herbert Marshall (aged 16) treble, Miss Violet Beckett (14 years 3 months) 2, Sidney Hood (14 years), Stanley Rumsby (16 years) 4, Edward Chambers (22 years) (conductor) tenor. This is the first peal by all the ringers.

Dear Sir,—Congratulations to Miss Jessie Davenport on ringing her peal of Bob Major. Regarding the query in 'Belfry Gossip' as to the youngest girl to ring a peal, Miss C. E. Hepburn rang the treble in a peal in seven Minor methods at Isham, Northants, on Christmas Day, 1918, when she was 14 years and 11 months old.—Yours faithfully,

R. G. BLACK.

A VISIT TO EXETER.

A flying visit to Exeter by some well-known London ringers resulted in a good peal of Stedman Cinques being rung on the cathedral bells. The following morning, at St. Sidwell's Church, a course of Cambridge Royal, the first in Exeter, and 507 Stedman Caters were rung, whilst at St. David's courses of Bristol and London Major were brought round. The visitors tender their best thanks to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the cathedral bells, to Messrs. T. Laver and F. J. Davoy for their kindness in making excellent arrangements for their welfare, and to the ringers at St. Sidwell's and St. David's Churches for giving up their morning ringing.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A NORTANTS RINGER.

The death of Mr. George A. Blaxley has removed a well-known figure from ringing circles in the county of Northants. While returning from ringing for a harvest festival service at Addington, on the evening of Thursday, October 6th, he apparently had an apoplectic seizure, and was discovered lying dead beside his bicycle early the next morning.

The funeral took place at Isham on Monday, October 10th, and was attended by ringers from various places in the county, among those represented being Kettering, Burton Latimer, Addington, Ringstead, Thrapston and Isham. Immediately after the service the 'whole pull and stand' was rung by a mixed band, and then six members of the local band rang a memorial peal, which is recorded elsewhere.

When the Isham bells were restored more than 20 years ago, George Blaxley set to work to teach a band to ring, and a good many ringers have learnt their first steps under his instruction. Unfortunately, some years ago he had to leave the parish, but this enabled his talent to be more widely utilised, and Addington is among the places which benefited by his removal. He was a frequent visitor, however, to Isham on a Sunday evening, and always took his old place in the choir.

He rang many peals of Minor, and must have rung between 20 and 30 at Isham alone. His quiet and diffident manner was not always understood by beginners, but he always succeeded in raising the tone of the ringing, and was very keen on good striking. Always ready to turn out at whatever cost and however difficult the hour, he will be much missed. The more so at Isham, as it was anticipated that he was about to take up his residence there again, and great things had been looked forward to. His was a character which will long be remembered and emulated by all who knew him.—R.I.P.

KINGSTHORPE RINGER'S DEATH.

We very much regret to report the death of Mr. A. Pickford, of Kingsthorpe, which occurred on October 6th, at the early age of 20 years. Deceased had been in fairly good health till about a fortnight before his death.

He was a very highly respected member of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, a quiet unassuming man, who made many friends during his comparatively short ringing career as an active member of the Guild. He joined the Kingsthorpe band about three years ago, and being of a studious nature he soon mastered the four standard methods. He was a regular Sunday service ringer at the Parish Church, where he will be greatly missed.

He was a good ringer, and fast becoming a reliable conductor. He rang his first peal on July 10th, 1926. He had rung five peals altogether.

On Sunday evening, October 10th, the ringers rang the whole 'pull and stand' twenty times, and on Monday evening, after the funeral, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Double (1,260 changes) with the bells muffled: J. Dunkley 1, H. Parker 2, H. Clarke 3, W. Parsons 4, G. Parker (conductor) 5, H. Bannister 6.

The two youngest members of the band, Messrs. H. Parker and H. Bannister, with two of deceased's friends, acted as bearers.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT'S SMALL MEETING AT POCKLINGTON.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Pocklington on Saturday, October 8th, and the attendance proved somewhat disappointing on this, the association's first visit, only some twelve members attending, representing towers at Beverley, Howden, Hull, Market Weighton, Selby and Tadcaster. A short service was held in All Saints' Church, in which the Rector, the Rev. I. McN. Smith, B.A., gave a most helpful and instructive address, which was greatly appreciated by those present.

Tea was afterwards served in Kemp's Cafe, and was followed by the business meeting, the chair being occupied by the Rector. Three new members were elected—Mr. F. W. Hinton, jun. (Selby), and Messrs. E. Wood and C. Corrick (Hull).

The next quarterly meeting will be held at Beverley in December.

On the motion of Mr. J. H. Howell (Hull), a unanimous hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for granting the use of bells and presiding over the tea and meeting, the organist, and the local ringers for their efficient arrangements.—The Rector briefly replied, which closed a very pleasant meeting.

ANOTHER JUBILEE.

The manner in which the idea of county and diocesan ringing associations spread through the country fifty years or so ago can be judged by the fact that this week the fifth 'jubilee' celebration in a little over three years is being held. To-morrow the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association will commemorate a half century of existence, and it follows upon similar celebrations by the Devon Guild (established in 1874), the Yorkshire and Lancashire Associations and the Norfolk Guild, the last named having reached this notable landmark in its history earlier this year. Indeed, the Norwich Diocesan Association, as it was in those days, has some claim to be the parent of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, for, fresh from the newly established organisation in the Eastern Counties, Mr. G. J. Clarkson went north and was the initiator of the movement which resulted in an association to embrace the then diocese of Durham. Norwich was the first and Durham the second to take a diocesan title, and thus, by their designation, proclaim their connection with the church.

As other associations came into being some took a territorial, others a diocesan title, as best pleased them, but in view of the present development of the Exercise, to become more and more allied with Church organisation, it would, perhaps, have been a good thing if all of them had made their boundaries diocesan instead of civic. Where these overlap there is always a latent cause of friction, but we believe that the trend in the future will be towards organisations diocesan rather than county in character, with a splitting up of some of the larger ones.

Be that as it may, the occurrence of 'jubilees' in various parts of the country come as a reminder of the progress which the Exercise has made in the last half century. Associations which began with a membership numbered in tens are now organisations with members to be counted in hundreds. Not only have they raised the whole tone of the belfry and spread the art of ringing to a previously undreamt of degree, but they have been responsible for putting in order the bells of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of towers throughout the land. But for the activities of the associations, first in creating an interest in change ringing, and then in arousing appreciation of the importance of having bells in good order, numberless rings would be lying to-day dilapidated, unused and unusable, except perhaps for chiming or, more deplorable still, for clocking. There is, even now, plenty of work to be done in this direction, but a great deal of what has been accomplished has been due either directly or indirectly to the influence of our ringing associations.

THE LATE MR. REUBEN HALL.

MUFFLED BELLS INSTEAD OF BIRTHDAY PEAL.

The sudden death of Mr. Reuben Hall, which was recorded in these columns last week, came as a great shock to all his friends, especially to those who were so closely associated with him and rang with him so often in many Midland towers. On Sunday, October 9th, Mr. Hall was present as usual in the tower of Christ Church, West Bromwich, ringing for morning service. He was deeply interested in the 'go' of the bells and the condition of the ropes, which formed a subject of conversation with one of his brother ringers, Mr. Joseph Walker. Shortly afterwards, he returned to his home in Alfred Street and expired in his bedroom. His death was particularly tragic, inasmuch as he would have celebrated his 75th anniversary on the Tuesday following, and in honour of what would have been a happy event. Mr. Hall had already selected a band from the members of the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society to attempt a peal of Grandsire Caters at Christ Church, in which he himself was to take part, despite his advanced age. After the peal he was to be the guest of honour at a social gathering. All these arrangements were quickly cancelled, and a half-muffled peal arranged to be attempted on Saturday, October 15th.

Born at Bourton-on-the-Water, Gloucestershire, in the year 1852, and at which place he recently enjoyed a short holiday, Mr. Hall went to live in the Midlands when quite young, and he had been employed at Messrs. Lees' saw mills, Swan Village, for fifty-three years. Although a ringing member of the Christ Church band, the late Mr. Hall was for thirty years a ringer at Oldbury Parish Church, during which period also he was towerkeeper and clock winder.

His visits to any neighbouring tower were always welcomed, and his interest in the younger members of any company was always prominent, especially in those he met at any association gathering with which he was connected.

The late Mr. Hall was a member of the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, Dudley and Districts Guild, and was for many years a member of the Worcestershire Association. At the annual meeting of the Stafford Society held at Lichfield in June last, a free honorary membership was conferred upon him, he being one of the oldest members of the society, which he joined in the year 1883, when the society was inaugurated. During his career he has taught many young ringers to manage a bell, some of whom are now prominent in the Exercise.

Not only was the deceased gentleman interested in tower bells, but he took a very great interest in handbells, and his tune playing, with his devoted friend, Mr. John Jaggard, was always masterly. Recently, at Burton-on-Trent, when the old ringers had a re-union, the many selections by Mr. Hall and Mr. Jaggard were greatly enjoyed. The late Mr. Hall was ever willing to assist in any charitable cause with the handbells, and for many years he and John Jaggard visited the institutions at West Bromwich on Christmas morning and delighted the inmates and patients with appropriate selections.

Mr. Hall rang nearly 220 peals on tower bells in various methods, two being worthy of mention, namely, 11,563 Grandsire Caters, and another peal in the same method, rung half-muffled, consisting of over 9,000 changes. Both these peals were rung at St. Peter's, Wolverhampton.

Many messages of sympathy have been received by his relatives, bearing testimony to the esteem in which he was held, not only as a ringer, but as one of the best type of British workman, a gentleman by nature, and beloved by all who knew him. Among these many kind messages were letters from Ald. J. S. Pritchett, Mr. W. W. Worthington, Mr. J. H. Swinfield, and Mr. H. Sheppard, secretary of Dudley Guild.

The funeral took place on Thursday, October 13th, amid many manifestations of sorrow and regret. The first part of the service, at which the Rev. E. N. Thomas officiated, was held at Christ Church, West Bromwich, where many old friends assembled. Among those present were the churchwardens (Messrs. Eales and Griffiths), Mr. W. Mason, ex-warden, Mr. John Lee, deceased's employer, Messrs. Jones and Guthbert, of the firm of Lees and Sons, Mr. H. Sheppard Dudley, and the employees of Lees and Sons. The interment took place at All Saints' Churchyard, and was of an impressive character. The mourners were Mr. and Mrs. R. Hall, jun., Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, Jack, Cyril and Ernie (grandsons), Miss Kate Hall (granddaughter), Mr. John Jaggard (Oldbury), Mr. Jos. Walker (West Bromwich), Mr. and Mrs. A. Greenfield and Mr. A. Prestidge (Netherton). Representatives of ringing associations at the graveside were Rev. C. W. Barker (Archdeaconry of Stafford Society) and Mr. H. Sheppard (Dudley and Districts Guild), also Mr. A. Prestidge (St. Andrew's company, Netherton). The bearers were six of deceased's fellow workmen.

Among the many floral tributes, in addition to those from his son and daughter and other relatives, was one from his employer, Mr. John Lee, 'in memory of a faithful servant for fifty-three years,' and others from Ald. J. S. Pritchett; Mr. John Jaggard; the wardens at Christ Church; Christ Church bellringers; Archdeaconry of Stafford Society of Change Ringers; and Netherton Parish Church bellringers, the last-named bearing the following inscription:—

'Year by year the bells so softly
O'er the graves their music pour,
Where the dust of saints is garnered,
Till the Master comes once more.
'Life's work well done,
Life's race well run,
Life's crown well won,
Now comes rest.'

On Saturday, October 15th, a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted at Christ Church, West Bromwich, but, unfortunately, after 2 hours 32 minutes, a 'change course' brought the ringing to an end. The ringers were J. Jaggard 1, A. Pickering 2, W. A. Cooper 3, S. J. Hughes 4, J. Walker 5, B. Gough 6, A. Greenfield 7, J. Screen 8, T. H. Reeves (conductor) 9, J. Reed 10.

On Sunday, October 16th, at Christ Church, West Bromwich, a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 47 mins.: F. Pickering 1, A. Pickering 2, S. J. Hughes 3, F. Barraclough 4, A. E. Reeves 5, J. Screen (conductor) 6, A. Greenfield 7, J. N. Reed 8.

LADIES' GUILD.

NORTHERN DISTRICT AT WORKSOP.

A most enjoyable meeting was held at the Abbey Church of St. Cuthbert, Worksop, on Saturday, October 22nd. This beautiful old church dates back to the 12th century, and was a source of great interest to many of the visitors.

Despite a thoroughly wet day and many counter-attractions in the way of ringing meetings, quite a number of ladies and gentlemen were present from Anston, Dore, Gainsborough, Sutton-on-Trent, Rotherham, etc., and the light bells were used to good purpose in methods ranging from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise.

Miss Taylor is to be congratulated on the very excellent arrangements that were made for tea, which was provided in the old Gatehouse, and at which Mrs. D'Arcy, the Vicar's wife, presided, and the members were also privileged to have her as chairman at the business meeting which followed.

It was decided that the secretary should approach Mrs. James Gotterell with a view to asking her to become the vice-president of the Northern District.

One new member, Miss Ethel Winrow, of Worksop, was elected. It was also arranged that, with the consent of the local authorities, the next meeting should be held at Deane Church, Bolton, on Saturday, January 14th.

The meeting closed with expressions of thanks to Canon and Mrs. D'Arcy for their cordial welcome to the Guild on this its first visit to Worksop.

DOUBLE LONDON SURPRISE.

On Sunday, at St. Giles' Church, Sandiacre, for evening service, 720 of Mr. George Baker's variation of Double London Surprise Minor was rung, the first extent, we believe, in the method: W. Halford 1, W. R. Drage 2, J. Hall 3, A. Freeman 4, R. H. Cox (conductor) 5, H. Turner 6.

'GREAT PETER' OF YORK.

The dedication of 'Great Peter,' the great 10½ ton bell which Messrs. Taylor and Co. have cast for York Minster, took place on Saturday, the ceremony being performed by the Dean, while the Archbishop of York was also present.

There was a large number of ringers among the congregation, and afterwards, at a gathering in the Ebor Hall, Canon Nolloth, whose enthusiasm largely inspired the work which has now been completed in connection with the bells of the Minster, was presented by York ringers with a beautifully illuminated address.

A report of the proceedings will appear in our next issue.

PRESENTATION AT NUNEATON.WEDDING GIFTS TO LADY RINGER.

On Thursday evening, October 13th, a pleasing little ceremony took place in the ringing chamber of the Parish Church at Nuneaton, in connection with the marriage of Mr. H. Billington with Miss Pattie Clarke, which has already been reported in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. T. W. Chapman said they had met to show their appreciation of the services rendered by Mrs. Billington in the belfry. She had been with them over 10 years, and had rung several peals with the Nuneaton company, as well as having been very helpful in ringing for the services of the church—the first and most important duty of the ringer. Many thanks are due to her for the trouble she has taken in keeping the ringing chamber clean and comfortable. Mrs. Billington would now have other duties to attend to, so they could not expect to see her so often in the future as in the past, but she could always expect a hearty welcome in the belfry. He wished Mr. and Mrs. Billington the best of luck, health and happiness.

The Vicar sent an apology for his unavoidable absence, with best wishes to the newly-wedded couple.

Mr. H. Argyle, as the senior member of the company, then presented Mrs. Billington with a very nice clock, a gift from the Vicar and ringers. Mr. Argyle said they would be sorry to lose Mrs. Billington from the belfry, and he expressed the best wishes of the company for her future happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Billington thanked the Vicar and ringers for their kind wishes and the beautiful present.

Mrs. Billington was also the recipient of a very nice bridecake, made and presented by a well-known member of the Nuneaton Society, Mr. A. Wilkerson.

After the presentation, the bells were raised, and touches of London, Cambridge and Double Norwich Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung, in which Mrs. Billington took part.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A CAERLEON RINGER.

The death of Mr. George Watts, of Caerleon, Mon., has removed an ardent and respected South Wales ringer. He was not an advanced change ringer, but what knowledge he did possess he was ever willing to impart to beginners. He had taught many to handle the rope, and as a consequence he was privileged at his last visit to the tower on Sunday evening, October 16th, to see fourteen present, ten of them being his pupils. His last words to the band were, 'Let us turn up on Friday and have a good practice.' But, unfortunately, by that time he had passed away. His motto was 'Loyalty,' and he placed the leading article of 'The Ringing World' of September 30th in the tower to remain and to be read by all visitors included. He practised what he preached, namely, regularity and punctuality, particularly at Sunday service ringing.

He had not rung many peals, but was always willing to take treble or tenor for anyone when meeting short, etc.

He leaves a widow, one son and two daughters to mourn the loss of an ideal father. He was known as 'father' even to the Caerleon band.

Mr. Watts retired to rest in the best of health on Tuesday, October 18th, but on Wednesday morning at 5.40 his wife became alarmed. He had a seizure, and by 6.10 a.m. had passed away.

The funeral took place at Caerleon on Saturday, October 22nd, and was attended by many ringers, including the Master of the Blandaff and Monmouth Association (Mr. Tom Ford). The bells were rung muffled, and the service was fully choral. In church, the hymn, 'God moves in a mysterious way,' was sung, and at the graveside, 'Jesus, Lover of my soul.' The muffled bells rang out again afterwards, several touches being conducted by his old and intimate friend, Mr. Samuel Jones, who is a regular ringer at Caerleon. George Watts will long be remembered by all.—R.I.P.

DEATH OF AN IPSWICH RINGER.

On October 12th, there passed away at Ipswich a noted ringer of a generation ago, in the person of Mr. Samuel Tillett. 'Old Sam,' as he was generally known of late years, did not pile up huge numbers of peals, but preferred good striking; that is to say, quality before quantity. To hear him strike St. Mary-le-Tower tenor in the eighties was something to remember. His rang his first peal in 1881, and altogether rang 19 peals on tower bells and nine on handbells.

He was laid to rest in Ipswich Cemetery on Saturday, October 15th, and a muffled peal was rung to his memory the following Saturday, in which his son, grandson and nephew took part.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The condition of Mr. Alfred H. Pulling continues satisfactory, and last week-end he was removed by ambulance from the County Hospital at Hertford to his home at Guildford. He is, of course, still confined to bed, and complete rest and quiet are essential. His friends throughout the country will, however, be glad to learn that he is making progress.

It has often been said that there seems to be no 'age limit' in ringing, and another instance, demonstrating that advancing years is no bar to participation in the art, is provided at Malsemore, Gloucestershire, where Mr. Benjamin Etheridge, who is in his 81st year, has conducted a peal of Grandsire and St. Simon's Doubles!

We hear that the Ladies' Guild is shortly to attempt a peal of Major, and that the method is to be Cambridge. They have now a number of excellent Surprise ringers in their ranks, and we hope their efforts will be crowned with success at the first attempt.

The Georges have scored a peal of London Surprise Major at a church dedicated to their own patron saint. The first 'name' peal of London Surprise was rung by a band of Johns at St. Stephen's, Westminster, on January 2nd, 1904.

The peal of Little Bob Maximus which Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., conducted at Canterbury Cathedral, as recorded in our last issue, was the 26th 'first in the method for the association' which he has called. This, surely, must be a record.

In the peal of Doubles at South Weald, rung on the 15th inst., and the report of which was published last week, the number of changes of Grandsire should have been given as 3,120.

Exactly one hundred years ago to-day Henry Hubbard rang his first peal. He was then nineteen years of age, and he lived to make his mark in the Exercise. This first peal of his was a 6,680 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung at Alburgh, and was conducted by Samuel Thurston.

A peal of Kent Treble Bob (9,120 changes), 'the longest length over rung with the tenors together,' was achieved at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, Leeds, on October 28th, 1876. The composition, however, would hardly be accepted in these days. It runs true to 9,119 changes with 4th's-place bobs, and is brought round with a single.

Ninety years ago to-day Henry Dais was born at Tibenham, Norfolk.

Another century this week is that of a peal of 6,011 Grandsire Caters, rung at Bromsgrove, on October 29th, 1827.

On October 31st, 1791, a peal of 7,002 Grandsire 'Quaters' was rung at the Church of Great St. Mary, Cambridge. This use of the word 'Quaters,' the only instance we know of in peal records, shows the derivation of the word 'Caters.' It comes from the French 'quatre,' meaning four.

St. Paul's Cathedral bells were opened forty-nine years ago next Tuesday.

The first 'name' peal was rung on November 3rd, 1796, when eleven Williams, including William Shipway, rang a peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

CLERGY AND RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to 'Reflex's' letter as to ringers attending service, would it not be conducive to their attending more regularly if the clergy visited the belfry at more frequent intervals. How many members of the congregation would put in an appearance if they never saw the clergy from one month's end to another?—Yours faithfully,

TOWERKEEPER.

THE RINGERS' 'LITTLE BIT.'

Dear Sir,—Re 'Reflex's' letter of last week, I think that a ringer should attend one service on a Sunday, but 'Reflex' apparently forgets that in most cases the ringers start ringing about three-quarters of an hour before the service, and that in attending a service they are kept 2 hours or 2½ hours at the church at one stretch. I wonder how many consider this? Anyway, a ringer, whether he attends the service or not, has done his 'little bit.'—Your faithfully,

NEW RINGER.

CLERGY SHOULD VISIT THE BELFRY.

Dear Sir,—The local clergyman to whom 'Reflex' refers is not using quite the right spirit when he says, 'He would take more interest if their present ringers attended the services more frequently.'

At the short services that we hold at our meetings, we occasionally get 'rubs' for not stopping for the service after ringing is over. Ringers do not like that: it only makes them want to keep away from such men. If the Rector were to visit the belfry and encourage the ringers, much good would be done in many ways.

Where ringers go to ring just for amusement or recreation I think it the duty of the clergy to visit them, and so help them to higher things. There are some clergy who do not care whether their bells are rung properly, or just one or two chimed, but I hope these are few and far between.—Yours faithfully,

LAYMAN.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the twelfth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

The first lead of Superlative Surprise Major is here given, divided into sections, with the rows numbered and marked 'Even' and 'Odd' (+ and -). Also a few comparisons of 'similar' rows, showing the false heads that they give. The duplicate false heads from rows 2/29, 12/23, etc., are eliminated, and the completed result will be column No. 1, headed by the first lead-head of the plain course (12345678). The treble is omitted from the rows, being always at the lead.

The lead-heads of the plain course are given, in the order in which they appear. Note the positions held by the 'tenors' in each. Columns 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 will be headed by each of these in turn.

(The false COURSE-HEADS are placed under each column.)

When the seven columns are completed, ignore those false lead-heads which have not got '7-8' in their 'plain course positions,' picking out those heads in which '7-8' occupy the same places as shown in one of the PLAIN-COURSE lead-heads. There is none in column No. 1, and all can be ignored there. In column No. 2, the third one will be picked out—(8)5(7)4632—where '7-8' are in the same positions as in the third lead-head of the plain course—1(8)6(7)4523. In column No. 3, the fourth one will be picked out—6(7)2(8)354—where '7-8' correspond to the second plain course lead-head—15(7)3(8)264.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANOTHER ENCOURAGING PRELIMINARY MEETING.

Farnham, probably more than any other town in the new diocese of Guildford, loses old associations by its severance from Winchester, for it is here, in its historic castle, that for seven hundred years the Bishops of Winchester have made their home. Now, with the division of the diocese, the castle will no more house the prelates of Winchester, among the earliest of whom to inhabit the ancient pile was the great Henry of Blois. But Farnham has loyally accepted the cutting up of the diocese in the interest of modern needs, and, following the example of the other churchmen, the ringers in the district are preparing to give their wholehearted allegiance to the new Guildford Diocesan Guild.

On Saturday, the last of the series of district meetings, arranged by the Organising Committee, was held in the old Surrey town, and out of the eleven towers which will comprise the district seven were represented, viz., Aldershot, Ash, Bagshot, Farnham, Pirbright, Seale and Yorktown. The meeting, which was held in the Church House, was presided over by the Rector (the Rev. J. M. C. Crum), and there were ringers also present from Guildford, Cranleigh, Crawley and Woking, the number attending being over 40.

The Rector, in opening the proceedings, spoke of the more intensive work which would be possible under the new regime, and, paraphrasing a now well-known song, said, 'The more we ring together the happier we shall be.'

The Organising Committee's report was presented by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) and accepted, and a resolution was unanimously passed approving of the formation of the new Guild, and pledging those present to do their utmost to support its objects and further its interests.

The rules were considered in detail, and, with the various amendments which the Organising Committee propose to put forward as the result of the district meetings, were approved.

Mr. R. Whittington pointed out the importance of securing the best possible men for the various offices in the Guild and districts, and asked the future members to think seriously about these appointments before the time came for making them.

After the rules had been disposed of, the Rector had to leave for another engagement, and Mr. W. R. Melville was voted to the chair. Before his departure, however, the Rector was cordially thanked for presiding, and for granting the use of the bells.

A resolution was carried in favour of the proposed reciprocal arrangement with the Winchester Diocesan Guild, to admit resident members in the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth as compounding members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on payment of one shilling, but the meeting was unable to agree to the suggestion that the life members should be admitted free.

The question of the date of the annual meeting was discussed, and, as at the other district meetings, the suggestion which found most favour was a business meeting early in the year and a Guild festival in the summer.

A general discussion on a variety of matters of interest took place before the business, in which keen interest was shown, was concluded.

Afterwards, the ringers returned to the tower, where ringing, which had taken place in the afternoon, was resumed. Several ringers were helped through methods a stage higher than they are in the habit of practising, and altogether a very useful time was spent in the belfry. The church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is hidden away behind the houses and shops in the main street of the town, and, unless one knows the way, is not at all easy to find. You can reach a corner of the churchyard by a side street, but Farnham goes to church chiefly by alleys and footpaths. The bells are a mixed lot, of no particular interest, the earliest dating from 1723.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Rawmarsh on Saturday, October 22nd. Owing to the clashing of dates between the various societies in the division and the wretched weather conditions, the attendance was small, but a very enjoyable time was spent, and opportunity was taken to give some beginners a good drilling in the art.

A service conducted by the Rector of Rawmarsh (the Rev. Canon Scovell) was very much appreciated, and his remarks were keenly followed. After tea, the business meeting was held, the Rector taking the chair. Messrs. Milner (Southwell) and Bates (Norton) were elected out-county life members, and C. Otter (Arksey) a resident member.

The next meeting, to be held in December, was left in the secretary's hands to arrange, and after votes of thanks to all concerned the meeting closed.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION'S JUBILEE.

SOME OF THE PIONEERS. By C. L. ROUTLEDGE.

To-morrow, at Durham, the city of its birth, the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association will celebrate its jubilee, and some notes on its early history will be read with interest.

The initial meeting of the Durham Diocesan Association (the diocese of Newcastle had not then been founded) was held in the Choristers' Room of Durham Cathedral, on August 17th, 1877, and was convened by the first secretary, Mr. G. J. Clarkson. Dean Lake occupied the chair, and there were present some 22 ringers from Darlington, Hurworth, Newcastle, North Shields, Sunderland, Staindrop, Brancepeth, Stockton, South Shields, Morpeth, and Durham. Mr. Clarkson, who had come from the diocese of Norwich to the town of Stockton-on-Tees, as its engineer, was fired with enthusiasm and the spirit of emulation, in that the Norwich Association had then entered on its early years of activity. We may, therefore, assume that we are an offspring of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Previous to this the Devonshire Guild and the Yorkshire and Lancashire Associations had come into existence, so that of the territorial ringing institutions we are fifth on the list.

GEORGE J. CLARKSON.
The first secretary.

also an exceedingly good organist, and did duty at the Parish Church, North Shields, until his death some ten years ago. He once told the writer that he had three times more difficulty in teaching a ringer than he had in instructing a learner to play the organ, inferring, of course, that 'rope-sight' was more difficult to grasp than the manuals of the church organ.

The vice-presidents elected were Mr. Johnson E. Hern and Mr. Francis Lees. The former was then at Hurworth-on-Tees, and, shortly after, moved to Reading to become 'mine host' of a famous hostelry, and in this town he was for many years a tower of strength to the ringing fraternity. His brother, Mr. Joel Hern, whom everyone of us loved and respected, came to North Shields from Norfolk shortly after, and was the backbone of North Shields' belfry until his death some seven years ago. The late Mr. Robert Story, who followed Mr. Reed in the presidency in 1883, used to hold Mr. Hern up to the young ringers as the finest stylist in rope handling that he knew, and bade them copy his style. His rope went up as smoothly as it came down, in perfect rhythm and time in all methods.

The other vice-president, Mr. F. Lees, was a product of Derbyshire's best, coming from Glossop, where good striking was not secondary to the ringing of numerous methods, though he could do both. He came to the North as the servant of the 'Newcastle Chronicle' under Sir (then Mr.) Joseph Cowen, 'the silver-tongued M.P.', as head dispatcher for that newspaper. For fully twenty years he carried the St. John's Guild on his back, so to speak, and grounded the best methods and the best spirit of camaraderie into his pupils. In fact, St. John's was for many years the 'nursery' for ringers in the district, and more men have rung their first peals in that tower than in any in the North.

Mr. Clarkson himself was a tremendous enthusiast for the art. He was, too, an ardent Freemason, and held high honours in the province. In Stockton-on-Tees he did good work, and it was due to his efforts and to those of his devoted band of helpers, that the bells of St. Thomas', which were originally a peal of six, 11 cwt. tenor, were eventually in the Diamond Jubilee Year, 1897, augmented to a fine ring of ten, tenor 30 cwt. They were erected under his own expert engineering eye, and were at that time 'the' thing in up-to-date hanging. He was a hard taskmaster, but he got the best out of all he came in contact with. One of his best hands and staunchest supporters was Mr. Wm. Newton, the only original ringing member of the association now living, and still in harness at Stockton belfry. All the original members of the committee have passed away, and of the honorary members, only Dr. Barrow, of Rothbury, and Canon W. B. East, of St. Ann's, Newcastle, now remain.

Following up the work of the pioneers, we come to the man who did much for the association—Robert Spencer Story. He joined the association in 1879, and was elected second president in 1883, holding that office for 22 years, showing the utmost tact, capability and enthusiasm in the administration of its affairs. Under his rule, tremendous progress was made, not only in improving change ringing and striking, but in the status of the ringer as a recognised church worker. He was one of the founders of the Central Council, and upheld its decisions and ideals in his own association with the utmost loyalty. Many of his colleagues in St. John's belfry gave him their best support, and, later, held responsible offices in the association, namely, his brother, Mr. Wm. Story, a president of later years, Mr. Walter Routledge and his brother, the writer of these notes, who was secretary and then president for a number of years, and was also elected to fill the chair over the jubilee celebrations.

The first annual report, printed in 'Church Bells,' September 28th, 1878, shows the state of affairs in the counties at that time: 'The only society in the diocese which has any pretensions to a history is the Union Society of Newcastle and Gateshead. These two towns have a heavy eight at St. Nicholas', medium eights at All Saints' and St. Mary's, Gateshead, and a six each at St. Andrew's and St. John's, all out of repair. A 5,040 would be impracticable at St. Nicholas' or St. Mary's, while All Saints' would have to be patched up to have any chance of success.'

This, unfortunately, was typical of most rings in the two counties at that date, and we mention with pleasure and pride that now in Newcastle alone, including Gosforth, there is one peal of 12 (13 with the half-tone bell), one of 10, five of 8, ranging from 30 to 11 cwt. tenors, and two of 6, only one of which is still unringable. Gateshead still has only one peal, but they are now in first-class condition, and are rung for all services on Sundays, practices and an occasional peal attempt. In 1893, the St. John's Guild tackled a peal there, after much screwing up, oiling and a supply of new ropes—Grandsire Triples—and as the tenor could not be raised she was 'clocked in' to cover, and 'Holt's Original' was brought round in 3 hours 8 minutes: Similar increases in numbers of bells and in the proficiency of ringing have gone steadily on in nearly all the towns and villages of the two dioceses.

TARRINGTON BELLS RESTORED.

Sunday, October 23rd, was a red-letter day in the annals of Tarrington, a Herefordshire village, when the reopening and dedication of the bells took place. The 2nd and tenor have been recast, the whole peal of six retuned, and the framework overhauled by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The Bishop of Hereford performed the dedication ceremony, and afterwards gave a very appropriate address on bells and ringing, paying a great tribute to the Hereford Guild. There was a crowded congregation, the whole of the inhabitants of the parish apparently being present, and they have now achieved their desire to have a musical peal in place of what has been described as 'a wretched old lot.'

A great number of visiting ringers were present, and all were delighted with the tone and 'go' of the bells. Rounds and methods up to Cambridge Surprise were rung.

WELL-KNOWN RINGERS MARRIED.MR. HAROLD POOLE AND MISS PHYLLIS HARE.

Two well-known ringers were wedded on Monday, when the marriage took place at St. Augustine's Church, Woodston, near Peterborough, of Mr. Harold Poole, youngest son of Mr. S. Poole and the late Mrs. Poole, of Leicester, and Miss Phyllis Hare, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hare, of Church View, Woodston.

Mr. Harold Poole, who is a member of the Leicester Police Force, is one of the most brilliant of the younger generation of ringers, and has displayed remarkable abilities as a conductor. Miss Phyllis Hare is also an extremely able exponent of the art, and on Saturday, at Deeping St. James, completed her first one hundred peals, which include all the commonly practised Surprise methods and Cambridge from Minor to Royal.

The good wishes of a large circle of ringing friends will go with the bride and bridegroom for their future happiness.

MISS HARE'S 100 PEALS.

Doubles 1, Bob Minor 2, Minor in two methods 2, in 3 methods 5, in four methods 2, in five methods 4, in six methods 1, in seven methods 12, in eight methods 3, in nine methods 1, St. Clement's Minor 1, Cambridge Surprise Minor 2, Grandsire Triples 7, Stedman Triples 6, Bob Major 5, Kent Treble Bob Major 2, Double Norwich Major 4, Cambridge Surprise Major 8, Superlative Surprise Major 8, Bristol Surprise Major 1, London Surprise Major 6, Grandsire Caters 2, Stedman Caters 4, Bob Royal 2, Cambridge Surprise Royal 8, New Cambridge Surprise Royal 1; total 100. Rung in 14 counties for 12 associations, and with 202 ringers in 50 towers.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The 57th quarterly meeting of this Guild was held at Bedworth on Saturday, October 15th. About 20 members attended, and various methods were rung before tea, which was partaken of in the school-room. The general meeting was held afterwards, presided over by Mr. H. Argyle.

It was suggested that monthly meetings be held in the winter months at the six-bell towers, and Bulkington and Exhall were proposed for November and December respectively.

Leamington was selected for the quarterly meeting in January.

Four new life ringing members were enrolled.

In proposing a vote of thanks for the use of the bells to the Rector, Mr. T. W. Chapman, the Ringing Master, said he would very much have liked to see some of the local ringers at the meeting, as the main object of these meetings was missed if no local ringers showed up.

Ringing during the day included Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol, and London Surprise, and a course of Duffield Major.

Other officers who did splendid work in the early life of the association were Messrs. Thos. Clark, of Ripon, J. H. Blakiston, of Middlesbrough, George Overton, R. Monaster, Geo. Park and W. Porter, of Darlington, John Simm, of Newcastle, D. Shipp, Staindrop, Tom Stephenson, of Stockton, Tom Gofton, of Whitley Bay, Lance Newton, Durham, and the Rev. C. Buxton, Embleton. The last and greatest of all was Mr. Thos. Hudson, of Sunderland, who gave of his best, and helped to bring the association to a high standard of perfection during his four years of secretaryship. He was a man with a high sense of duty, and of strong moral and religious integrity, and every one of the members felt that influence long after his regime had passed.

It would take too long to give even some sort of history of the years that have passed between then and now, but to bring home the vast progress made in the 50 years we may state that the 1877 list of members was 126, and the towers in union 12. Now the total membership is, roughly, 700, and towers in union 43. The number of peals rung is now well over 900, ranging from Minor to Maximus, from Plain Bob to Bristol Surprise.

There is still much good work to do, both in the tower and outside, but the association is on a sound footing, and is likely to continue to prosper and fulfil its objects and its destiny.

FIREMAN AND BELLRINGER.DEATH OF A CREWE VETERAN.

The death has occurred at Crewe of Mr. George Harding, late captain of the Crewe Corporation Fire Brigade, and formerly a ringer at Christ Church, Crewe. Mr. Harding had been in failing health for some time, and the end was not unexpected. He joined the Crewe Fire Brigade in 1886, and on his retirement in 1926 was presented with a gold watch and an illuminated address by members of Crewe Town Council in recognition of his long and faithful service.

He had been a bellringer from his youth, and was one of the band that rang in the first peal (Grandsire Triples) at Crewe by a local band. This was in the year 1891, and since then he had rung about 30 peals, principally of Grandsire Triples and Caters, with a few of Bob Major. He had not been able to do much ringing in late years, but gave occasional help in the belfry.

The funeral service took place at Christ Church, and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. W. Haworth). The coffin, covered with beautiful wreaths, was borne on the new motor fire engine, and members of the brigade attended in uniform, firemen also acting as bearers.

In the evening the bells of Christ Church were rung muffled, a touch of 503 Grandsire Caters being rung by: O. Beckett 1, J. W. Edge 2, H. Edwards 3, H. F. Holding 4, R. T. Holding 5, W. T. Holding 6, E. I. Holloway 7, R. D. Langford 8, H. Gorton 9, J. H. Riding 10.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.RAISING AND FALLING IN PEAL.

A meeting of the Eastern District was held on Saturday at Broxbourne, when, in spite of the bad weather, a fair number attended and spent a pleasant time. The Vicar (Rev. A. Jenkins) extended a very hearty welcome to all, and gave the address at the service. He also presided at the business meeting after tea, and made everyone feel that in him they had a real ringers' Vicar. In the course of the meeting he suggested that raising and lowering of the bells in peal should be more practised, as it sounded so much better to listeners outside than the clanging of three or four bells before the actual ringing, and, so to say, spoiling the effect of good ringing before or after. He thought that it ought not to be a thing impossible to do by practical ringers.

Several of those present agreed with his remarks.

The death of Mr. G. H. Barker was alluded to by the district secretary (Mr. W. H. Lawrence), and Mr. G. Radley spoke feelingly of the great loss all had sustained by his passing. All stood in silence as a mark of respect to his memory.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for his interest and welcome concluded the meeting.

LADY RINGERS' BEREAVEMENT.

On Friday, October 21st, several members of the Bedfordshire Association met at St. Peter's Church, Bedford, and rang 720 each of Plain Bob and Oxford Treble Bob, with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect to the late Rev. H. A. Steel, father of the Misses Evelyn and Dorothy Steel, and who for many years was an hon. member of the Beds. Association.

Those taking part in the Plain Bob were: Miss Rose Beard 1, Miss Edith Knight 2, H. J. Harlow 3, W. Stapleton 4, H. Beard 5, H. L. Harlow 6. In the Oxford Treble Bob: H. L. Harlow 1, F. Webb 2, H. Harlow 3, W. Church 4, H. Beard 5, W. Stapleton (conductor) 6.

'CLAVIS' DRAW AT BROMLEY, KENT.

Mr. P. J. Spice and Mr. J. Emery beg to announce that the draw for the copy of 'The Clavis,' which they organised for the benefit of the widow of the late Mr. G. Durling, took place on Friday last, in the presence of two prominent members of the Kent County Association. The winner proved to be a well-known London ringer, Mr. H. S. Ellis, of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

Messrs. Spice and Emery take this opportunity of thanking all who participated, and especially those who sold the tickets, for their assistance in the matter. They will be able to hand the widow the sum of £6.

BISHOP'S ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

In connection with the recent peal rung at Dore, to commemorate the founding of the diocese of Derby, and the appointment as first Bishop of Dr. E. Courtenay Pearce, the conductor (Mr. Cockey) has received a letter from the new Bishop, stating that he is much interested in and gratified at the performance, and asking him to convey his thanks to the band, which he is glad to note comprises both sexes. Dr. Pearce adds that, though he cannot pretend to be a ringer, he loves to hear good changes rung. The record of the peal is also to be published in the 'Diocesan Gazette' for the dioceses of Southwell and Derby.

ROCHESTER, KENT.—On Saturday, October 8th, after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Stedman, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: T. Beaumont 1, W. Spice 2, C. Winsor 3, E. Beer 4, W. Senger 5, W. G. Walker 6, G. Gilberto (conductor) 7, A. Haylor 8.

STISTED BELLS REOPENED.RESTORATION OF AN ESSEX RING.

The reopening of the bells at the Parish Church, Stisted, Essex, on Saturday week, was a very enjoyable event, and was attended by a large number of ringers from various parts of the county. The six bells have been rehung on ball bearings, in an entirely new frame, and pits provided for two trebles, which will be added when funds are available. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry, with excellent results, the highest commendation being passed by all who had the opportunity of trying the bells. The old oak frame, which has just been taken out, was probably constructed in 1799, but it got into such a dilapidated condition that ringing had to cease last November. Thanks, however, to the interest taken by Mr. Frederick May and his son, Mr. Douglas May, efficient restoration has been possible. Nearly half the cost, which has been about £270, was provided out of a sum generously given last year by Miss Mary May, of Richmond, Surrey, for the erection of a chancel screen, in memory of her two sisters, and which did not absorb all the funds available. The balance is being raised by subscriptions, and about £90 is still required.

The reopening of the bells was marked with a special service, at which an address was given by the Bishop of Chelmsford. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. Jenkins), and the lesson was read by Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association).

BELLS TEACH BROTHERHOOD.

The Bishop, who preached from 2 Chronicles xxix. 28, said he was very glad that it was possible for him to visit Stisted that afternoon to share with the parishioners in thankfulness for the restoration of their bells. It was the first time he had had an opportunity of visiting Stisted. His Lordship went on to say that he claimed bellringers as fellow servants in the cause of the Kingdom of God. Church bellringing was either service to the Lord Jesus Christ or it was worthless; indeed, he would go further and say that if it was not service to our Lord it was mischievous. Their whole lives were lives of service, if they understood their religion aright. Religion was not for Sunday only, but was a life's service. No matter whether they were ringers, choristers or worshippers, all had their part to do to the Glory of God. In church worship the use of bells was a comparatively modern invention; the people used to be called together by means of trumpets. A wonderful lesson could, however, be drawn from a peal of bells. Each bell was different from the others and had a separate tone; they had to be rung in order and tune to produce harmony. The bells preached a sermon; they had to be kept in tune; they must ring in the right order; and they must ring at the right time. They taught brotherhood in the service of the Lord, and it was this that the world needed so badly to-day. This spirit of brotherhood helped forward the Kingdom of God. It might be asked how could a little parish like Stisted help in the brotherhood of a great diocese like Chelmsford, with its 500 parishes, and to that he would reply that the bells supplied the answer. The influence of each life spread, just as the sound of the bells spread from the belfry and was heard a long way off. Each one was ringing a little peal in his or her own heart—sometimes, perhaps, a little cracked—but helped by the Holy Ghost each life could be the means of helping to bring home the Kingdom of God to the home, to the parish, and to the land.

During the singing of the hymn 'Unchanging God Who Livest,' a collection was taken for the bell fund and amounted to £1 9s. The Blessing was pronounced by the Bishop.

WISE STEPS.

After ringing on the restored bells, visiting ringers were entertained to tea in the schoolroom by the Rector.

The Master of the association thanked the Rector for his kind hospitality, and congratulated the Rector, churchwardens, Parochial Church Council, and also Mr. Johnston, on the business-like manner in which the work had been carried out. Stisted had placed the work in the hands of a firm of the highest repute, and the bells had now been remarkably well hung on the latest improved principle. They ought not to cost very much in the future, for at least 100 years, except for an occasional coat of paint for the frame. He considered that they had been very wise in having the bells hung on ball bearings, and in the future bad striking at Stisted would be unpardonable. In his early days he had taken part in much ringing at Stisted; it was there that he had learned a good deal of the art of ringing, and much of his success in that art was due to the tuition of friends at Stisted. There was no reason now why Stisted should not again become a change-ringing centre as it used to be; he felt sure Mr. Cooper would teach any young men who would like to become ringers. He also thought they were wise at Stisted in making provision for eight bells, and he hoped that the necessary money would soon be raised so that the cost would be completely wiped out. He expressed the hope that those towers who had not yet contributed would do so, as it was only right that they should help each other (applause).

In reply, the Rector said he was very grateful to those ringers who had come such a long distance to join in celebrating the reopening of the bells. He did not expect so many present in church, and when they at Stisted got their other two bells he hoped all the friends present that day would again visit Stisted. Much of the success in raising money for the fund was due to Mr. Douglas May, who had worked hard on its behalf.

Mr. Cyril Johnston, of the firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, said that Mr. Howard had remarked that the bells should cost but little for at least 100 years; unfortunately for the bell founders, he (Mr. Johnston) thought it would be nearer 200 years (laughter). In Essex they were fortunate in having such a skilled ringer as Mr. Howard, to whom they might go for advice. He thanked the Rector and Mr. Howard for their kind remarks regarding the work, and added that when they at Stisted were in the position to fill the two gaps in the bell frame, they would know where to get the work done.

Mr. Douglas May thanked the Rector for what he had said, and also Mr. Howard for his valuable advice. The firm, too, had come 'up to scratch.' When the work was started, the belfry was in a very bad state, and they had previously had to stop ringing, as to do so would have endangered the tower. He had hoped that sufficient money would remain over from the cost of the chancel screen to meet the cost of the bells, but when the estimate was sent in he found that only sufficient to pay about half remained. However, they decided to go on with the work. Mr. May acknowledged the help he had received from Mr. Cooper, and also the Parochial Church Council, and said he hoped the church would not be in debt for very long. Mr. May said he considered they had done well in providing a frame for eight bells. Concluding, he said he wished his father had been able to be present on that occasion, but he was now 84 years of age and could not manage to get there.

On the suggestion of the Rector, the company sent Mr. May their warm congratulations, the Rector observing that Mr. May was a great influence and power behind the scenes, and he hoped he would be spared much longer to serve his church.

Mr. Cooper related the known history of the bells at Stisted from the year 1742, when there was a peal of five. In 1799 they were taken away, and after they were brought back it seemed that an extra bell was put in, for there were six after that date. The records gave no further particulars of the bells till 1895, when the tenor was rehung. Owing to the condition of the belfry and fittings of the bells they stopped ringing last November, but the ringers, however, 'stole a march' in order to ring the old year out and the new year in.

The company then dispersed, several returning to the church, where further ringing was done.

DEATH OF A HERTFORDSHIRE RINGER.

It is with deep regret that we record the death of a well-known Hertfordshire ringer, Mr. G. H. Barker, of Ware, which took place on the 14th inst., after a short illness. He had only taken to his bed three weeks before, although for several months he had not felt quite well. A steadfast friend to all, and liked by everyone with whom he came in contact, he was a man whose word was his bond. He was a faithful servant of the Church, having filled the office of sidesman and been a member of the Church Council at the Parish Church.

He was laid to rest on Wednesday of last week in Ware Cemetery, a large number of the residents of Ware attending, including members of the Town Council and employees, of which he was one. The many floral tributes which covered the grave testified to the respect in which he was held.

The Hertford College Youths were represented by Messrs. G. R. Gray and J. Ladley; Mr. W. H. Lawrence represented the Herts Association, and Mr. W. Greenaway the Ware band. The bells of Ware and also of Hertford were rung muffled in the evening.

Deceased was a member of the Herts, Essex, Middlesex, Sussex, Peterborough and District, Lincolnshire, and London County Associations, and the Royal Cumberland Youths, and had rung 119 peals in all the standard methods, including many in Minor methods with his friends at Little Mundon, and his familiar face there will be greatly missed. He leaves a sorrowing wife, but no family, and the world is the poorer by his death.

On Wednesday, October 19th, at All Saints' Church, Hertford, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 51 mins. with the bells fully muffled, after the funeral and to the memory of Mr. G. H. Barker, who was Deputy Master of the Hertford College Youths: S. Rochester 1, R. Dore 2, D. Dye 3, W. Greenaway 4, G. Gray 5, H. J. Gray 6, A. Wright (conductor) 7, A. E. Akers 8.

BODELWYDDAN BELLS.

The bells at the celebrated 'marble church,' Bodelwyddan, Flintshire, have just been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A special service, with Benediction of the bells, was held on Thursday week, conducted by the Vicar and the Ven. Archdeacon Lloyd.

A peal is to be attempted shortly, to try the bells, and the local ringers intend to join the North Wales Association and take up change ringing.

HARVEST FESTIVALS.

LYE, WORCESTERSHIRE.—At the Parish Church, on Sunday, October 16th, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes), with 6-8 covering, for harvest festival evensong: W. Smith (first quarter-peal) 1, G. Smith 2, H. Smith 3, G. Roberts (first quarter with a working bell) 4, F. V. Beasley 5, B. Chance 6, A. C. Buxley (conductor) 7, J. S. Pearson 8. All are members of the local band.

BREWOOD, STAFFORD.—On Thursday, October 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 49 mins.: J. Yerrold (first quarter-peal) 1, H. E. Booth 2, F. R. Blewitt 3, J. W. Perry 4, T. Perry 5, A. G. Hunt 6, John Perry (conductor) 7, T. Whitehouse 8. Ring on the occasion of the harvest festival.

GREAT WYMONDLEY, HERTS.—At St. Mary's Church, for harvest festival service on Thursday, October 13th, a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor: G. Cherry 1, F. C. Webb 2, F. Gardner 3, G. Wolfe 4, R. E. Croft 5, R. T. Newman 6. Conducted by Geo. T. Croft. First 720 in the method by ringers of 3rd and 6th.

PONTEFRAC.—At the Parish Church, on Sunday, October 2nd, for harvest festival morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: J. H. Lenton 1, A. Walker, jun. (conductor) 2, A. Fox 3, W. Senior 4, A. Walker, sen., 5, T. Holder 6, V. Applegate 7, H. C. Walters 8. In the evening, touches of Stedman and Oxford Major were rung. On the Tuesday preceding, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples was made at All Saints' Church, but 'stand' had to be called through an unfortunate 'mix-up' after 2½ hours' good ringing.

'RAISING AND FALLING' IN PEAL.

The opinion expressed by the Vicar of Broxbourne, at a meeting of the Hertford County Association in his parish the other day, on the subject of 'raising and falling' in peal is not only worthy of notice, but is a view which should be encouraged. He urged that the practice should be more universal, as this form of getting the bells up and down sounds much better to listeners outside than the clanging of three or four bells, and spoiling the effect of good ringing before or after. From this opinion few will differ, but like everything else, raising and falling needs to be properly done.

The practice of getting bells up and down in peal is one which, it must be admitted, is nothing like as common in towers where change ringing prevails as where 'stony' is the order of the day. In many of the towers, where nothing is known of scientific change ringing, the ringers take a real pride in their raising and falling, and it is often a matter of greater ritual than anything that comes in between. One has only to visit some of the west country belfries to realise this. Among the men who ring the bells in some of these village churches, a man is of small account as a ringer, whatever other accomplishments he may have, if he cannot make something of a show at 'raising' and 'falling.' In this matter the call-change men often set an example to many of those who pride themselves on their change ringing abilities.

Obviously, bells well raised or lowered in peal are much nicer to listen to than bells jangled up or down, two or three at a time, often without the exercise of any regard for the 'chords.' And yet, to men with 'ears' and with ability to strike their bells, the task is an easy one. Why, then, is it not more extensively practised? Is it laziness, or is it a desire to save time and so put in a few more minutes' change ringing, or is it sheer indifference? Whatever the cause, there is no excuse why bands should not make themselves proficient in this branch of ringing. It needs practice, but it is worth it. We have seen men ring a bell with admirable precision through a difficult method, yet make a complete hash, immediately afterwards, of lowering a bell in peal, demonstrating that, however simple the process looks, it cannot be properly carried out without practice. Raising and lowering ought to form as important a part of a young ringer's training as his instruction in ringing rounds, but where there are towers—and there must be thousands of them up and down the country—in which no one can do it properly, he gets no tuition in this department of ringing, and cuts a sorry figure when he tries his hand in another belfry, or has to admit that the process is beyond him. It would be far pleasanter for the listening public if bells were raised and lowered in peal, and associations might do something to encourage it. We hope the plea of the Vicar of Broxbourne will have effect not only in the county of Herts, but in a much wider sphere where ringers do not at present utilise this excellent way of beginning and ending their ringing.

THE LATE REV. C. E. MATTHEWS.PROPOSED MEMORIAL SCHEME.

A special meeting of the Christchurch District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild was held at Milford-on-Sea, on Saturday, October 15th, those present including Mr. G. Preston, Mr. Elliott, Mr. W. Andrews, and members from Christchurch, Brockenhurst, Lymington, Winchester, North Stoneham and the local band.

At the business meeting, which was held in the tower, the Vicar (Rev. H. M. Larner) presided, and was supported by Mr. Manders and Mr. Pike, churchwardens.

The General Secretary of the Guild (Mr. G. Pullinger) said the meeting was arranged for the purpose of meeting the Vicar and churchwardens to consider if anything could be done in the way of rehanging the present ring of five bells, and, if possible, to add at least one more bell as a memorial to the late Vicar, Rev. C. E. Matthews, who had been connected with the Guild for over forty years, during which time he had held the posts of secretary, treasurer, master, and, finally, vice-president. There was £33 earmarked in the funds of the Guild for the purpose of restoring Milford bells, which was a scheme that their late vice-president had contemplated. With this sum, together with subscriptions, which he thought could be raised, the Guild would add a bell to their late vice-president's memory, if the Vicar, churchwardens and Church Council would proceed with the work of restoring their present old ring of five and put in a new frame for six.

The Vicar, in reply, expressed his pleasure and that of the churchwardens in welcoming the Guild to Milford. He knew that the Rev. C. E. Matthews had taken a great interest in bells and ringers, and was aware that he had started a scheme before his death for the restoration of Milford bells. He thought there was nothing more appropriate to his memory than that the Guild's memorial should be a 'name' bell, added to the present peal of five after they had been put in order; in fact, he was greatly in favour of having a complete octave. The whole question would be laid before the Church Council at their meeting to be held during the week, together with the Guild's generous offer, for which he heartily thanked the members.

Messrs. Andrews, Elliott and Tucker also spoke in favour of the scheme, and the Vicar said that no effort should be spared to get the scheme under way.

After various touches of Doubles had been rung, the members proceeded to Lymington, where a splendid tea was provided for them by the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott.

After tea, the bells at Lymington were available, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major practised.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.
HANDSOME GRANT FOR DERBY BELLS.

The second general quarterly meeting of the year was held at North Wingfield, Derbyshire, on Saturday, October 22nd. The weather was most unkind—very wet, windy, and generally miserable. In spite of this, however, a good number of visitors and friends turned up from the Burton, Derby, Leicester, Loughborough and Nottingham districts, as well as the local ringers from Chesterfield, Sheffield, etc.

The bells, a splendid going peal of eight, were kept going to most standard methods, the striking being of the usual 'meeting' sort. The committee met in the schools at 3.30, and in the absence of the president (Alderman R. B. Chambers, J.P.), who sent a telegram regretting his absence owing to the state of his health and the terrible weather, Mr. C. Draper took the chair.

The usual routine business over, it was proposed to grant £20 to the rehanging and retuning of the bells at the new cathedral of Derby (All Saints').

In respect to the proposed memorial peal tablet to be erected in Duffield Church, recording the last peal rung by Sir A. P. Heywood, it was left to the hon. secretary to communicate with Mr. H. W. Wilde, of Chester (who has the matter in hand) and suggest that the M.C.A. make up the amount he has already collected, towards a suitable slate or stone tablet, to the sum required.

The Hon. Treasurer (Mr. W. Willson) also suggested that before printing the committee's report for the year it should first be read out at the third quarterly meeting in January, so that any comments, etc., might be noted.

An excellent tea was provided, and the general meeting took place immediately afterwards, the Rev. W. Peter Wright, of Eyam, being voted to the chair. New members elected since the last meeting were confirmed, viz., 16 ringing, 9 honorary and 3 life.

The proposed grant to Derby Cathedral bells was ratified, and the proposal with regard to the memorial peal tablet to Sir A. P. Heywood was passed. A further suggestion as to a stained glass window was discussed, and it was left to the hon. secretary to communicate with the president on the matter, with a view to an appeal to all associations, Guilds, societies and individual towers or ringers to subscribe.

The Rev. Peter Wright gave an outline of certain proposals he had in hand with a view to stimulating interest in change ringing in the scattered towers around Bakewell district, and appealed for support in this excellent work.

Hearty votes to the local committee and the ladies were passed and suitably replied to by Mr. J. P. Tarlton. Further ringing took place on the bells, during which the hon. secretary just had time to have a course of Cambridge on the tenor, dash off to catch the bus—incidentally falling 'up' (not down) the church step—away to Chesterfield and home with the hon. treasurer, wet and weary.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We are pleased to report that Mr. A. H. Pulling, who is now at his own home at Guildford, is making steady progress, but rest and quiet are essential to his successful recovery. Mr. Pulling is much touched by the many expressions of sympathy which have been sent, and he hopes in time to be able to acknowledge them.

To-morrow is the anniversary of several important events. Leaving out of account such things as Gunpowder Plot, it is the 290th anniversary of the foundation of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and the 106th anniversary of the first peal of Superlative. This latter performance took place at Huddersfield, and was conducted by Benjamin Thackrah.

One hundred and forty years ago, also, a peal of 6,048 Cambridge Surprise Major (obviously, in the light of present knowledge, false) was rung at what is now Sheffield Cathedral, on the old ring, the tenor of which was 35 cwt.

The Yorkshire Association scored their first peal on November 9th, 1875.

We regret that through an error, the meeting of the Midland Counties Association at Loughborough was announced last week to take place on October 29th. This was the date originally fixed, but it was changed to to-morrow (November 5th), and the alteration did not appear in the advertisement.

A noteworthy performance was accomplished at Wath-on-Dearne, Yorks, on Saturday, when a band rang a peal in seven Surprise Minor methods without having previously rung a touch or plain course of either of them. This is a unique achievement upon which the ringers are to be heartily congratulated.

The death took place at a nursing home in Tunbridge Wells of Mr. William Wooding Starmer, A.R.A.M., who was a great advocate of carillon music. He was the composer of a variety of Church and secular music, a writer on musical subjects, and an examiner at the Mechlin School of Carillonneurs. He will be remembered by ringers as one of the principal witnesses in favour of recasting Coventry bells. Mr. Starmer was 60 years of age.

CLERGY AND RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to 'New Ringer,' I do not wish to say anything against those ringers who attend one service on Sunday; my point was that there are many (not entirely numbered among the readers of 'The Ringing World') who do not go at all.

With reference to his remarks about ringers being 'kept' in church for two and a half hours, surely it is not a penance to attend the service, and, in any case, peal ringers have no objection to being 'kept' in for three and a half hours.

To 'Layman,' I would say that the clergyman I referred to does sometimes visit his ringers at practice, and is very pleased if the bells can be rung on Sundays; but he would sooner have a couple chimed than see three or four of the ringers walk out as the service is about to begin (there is no belfry door at this church).

We often read in 'The Ringing World,' and hear at meetings, high-sounding phrases about the position of ringers as church workers, and I think it does us good to hear the reverse side of the case sometimes, and to be told of our shortcomings. We should not forget that the primary purpose of the bells is to call the people to worship, and if those ringers who seldom or never attend that worship would take more interest in the affairs of the church, the clergy, on their part, would be more ready to help and encourage us.—Yours faithfully,

REFLEX.

AN OPINION FROM A 41 YEARS' RINGER.

Dear Sir,—If the tone of 'New Ringer's' letter is a reflection of his feeling, I would not give much for his churchmanship, especially if he thinks two hours a long time to be in church. Besides, if the clergy do not come to see you, go and see them, and hear if they have anything good to tell you.

I might add that I ring for and attend all the services, and it is not a flash in the pan, because I have been doing that for 41 years, and hope to do it a long time yet. If 'New Ringer' thinks he has done his 'bit' by going to ring, I should call it a very little bit.—Yours faithfully,

REGULAR RINGER AND SERVICE MAN.

MEMORIAL PEAL TABLET UNVEILED.

During the service at Lawton Church, Cheshire, on Sunday evening, October 16th, a peal tablet was dedicated in the belfry. This tablet, which records a peal of Grandsire Triples rung by the local band on February 26th, 1927, was dedicated by the Rector (Rev. W. Harrison) to the glory of God and in memory of two late Lawton ringers who fell in the war. The tablet, which is made of oak, was carved and lettered throughout by one of the ringers in the peal, and was unveiled by Mrs. Condliffe, a sister of one of the fallen men.

LONDON.—On Tuesday, October 18th, at the Church of St. Clement Danes, Strand, 1,350 Grandsire Triples: R. Bullen 1, Miss B. M. Mills 2, G. Cole 3, C. W. Roberts 4, E. C. Garrard 5, W. R. Madgwick 6, J. E. Davis (conductor) 7, E. A. Young 8. Rung as a compliment to Mrs. W. Pennington-Bickford, wife of the Rector of the church, on the occasion of her birthday.

JOINT GUILD FOR WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESES.

THE QUESTION OF TITLE.

A special general meeting of members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild residing in the new dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth was held at Southampton on Saturday, October 22nd, when about 50 members attended from the following towers: Basingstoke, Bishopstoke, Christchurch, Curdridge, Fareham, Hursley, King's Somborne, North Stoneham, Portsea, Portsmouth, Ringwood, Romsey, Newport, Lyndhurst, Southampton, Whitechurch, Twyford and Winchester. A very welcome visitor was Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, with his usual outfit.

The meeting was held in the Chantry Hall, presided over by Rev. N. C. Woods, who was supported by Rev. E. Jones, Messrs. G. Williams, H. Barton, G. Preston, W. Andrews, F. W. Rogers, E. J. Harding, F. Burnett, and other prominent members of the Guild. Apologies were received from the Archdeacon of Winchester, Canon Braithwaite, Rev. R. Spread and others.

In opening the meeting, the Chairman stated that it had been called to decide the future of the Guild. As most present would know, the members in the new diocese of Guildford had decided to form a separate Guild, which would come into being on January 1st next. The members in the new dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth had passed resolutions at their district meetings in favour of forming a joint Guild for those two dioceses; the Bishops of Winchester and Portsmouth had been approached for their views, and replies received were read, which stated that both Bishops were in favour of a joint Guild, and promised to assist in every way possible.

It was unanimously decided to form a joint Guild for the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth. The question of title caused considerable discussion, particularly as to whether it should be a Guild or an association, also as to whether the word 'Church' should be included. Finally, it was resolved that the title should be 'The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers.' The following officers were elected to take office as from January 1st next:—

Joint presidents: The Bishop of Winchester and the Bishop of Portsmouth.

Vice-presidents: The Bishop of Southampton and the Archdeacons of Winchester, Portsmouth, Basingstoke and the Isle of Wight.

Master: Mr. G. Williams. Treasurer: Rev. N. C. Woods. Hon. secretary: Mr. G. Pullinger. Recorder of peals: Mr. F. W. Rogers. Auditor: Mr. G. Smith. Central Council representatives: Mr. G. Williams and Mr. H. Barton.

It was decided to approach the respective Bishops to see if they would allow the Guild to nominate a member to serve and give advice regarding bells on the diocesan faculties' advisory committees. Dr. Williamson was nominated for the diocese of Portsmouth, and Mr. W. Andrews for the diocese of Winchester, as the names to put before the Bishops.

It was decided to form the area into the following eight districts: Alton, Andover, Basingstoke, Christchurch, Isle of Wight, Portsmouth, Southampton and Winchester. The number of rings of bells in the two dioceses is: Twelve-bell towers 1, ten-bell towers 1, eight-bell towers 40, six-bell towers 55, five-bell towers 36; total, 133.

It was decided that all incumbents and bands should be circularised, and that an organising meeting should be held in each district early in the new year.

A sub-committee was appointed, consisting of the Master, general secretary and the district secretaries to revise the rules and report to the next annual meeting. In the meantime, the Guild will carry on under the present rules.

It was decided that the next annual meeting be held at Winchester on July 7th, 1928.

The suggested reciprocal arrangement with the Guildford Diocesan Guild, to admit resident members of one Guild as compounding members of the other, upon payment of 1s., if application is made during the year 1928, was adopted, conditionally upon it being also accepted by the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

The question of the present life and compounding members was raised, and it was pointed out that nearly 50 per cent. of the former resided in the diocese of Guildford. Mr. G. Williams thought that there should be no difficulty over this, as both the life and compounding members would become members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, which was merely the same Guild under a new title.

The general secretary gave a report of the meeting held at Milford-on-Sea on the previous Saturday, in connection with a suggested memorial to the late vice-president, Rev. C. E. Matthews. Mr. Andrews also spoke on the matter (a full report of this meeting appears elsewhere), and the meeting endorsed and approved what had been done.

A splendid tea was provided in the Chantry Hall, to which full justice was done.

The bells of both St. Mary's and St. Michael's Churches were available for ringing before and after the meeting, and good use was made of this privilege. A variety of methods was practised, ranging from 'Grandsire Doubles to Bristol and London Surprise Major.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

'Minormania's' next article in this series is unavoidably held over this week.

INTERESTING GATHERING AT BURNHAM.

BERKS AND BUCKS BELLRINGERS MEET.

The monthly practice fixed for Saturday last at St. Peter's Parish Church, Burnham, was well attended by some 30 ringers and friends, when a most enjoyable half-day was spent under 'summer-time' conditions, so far as the weather was concerned. The tower bells were set going at 3.45, and at intervals until nine o'clock the four Surprise methods, with Kent Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples, were brought home in the various touches and courses.

A pleasant interlude was arranged for five o'clock in the belfry, when the formal unveiling of a peal tablet, recording the first 'London' on these bells, rung on November 5th, 1921, by the Rev. Percy P. Nott, M.A., took place. He was supported by the churchwardens (Messrs. W. H. Williams and J. Hall). As it happened, the same band who took part in the peal were present, and they rang a touch in the same method, standing in same order with the same Vicar and wardens in office. The tablet has been made to match one recording a peal of Superlative. It is written in gold letters on a black ground, the actual board being the top of a table from Burnham Priory, some 150 years old, and past further service domestically. Time and the hands of man have not very much 'changed' the substance, when a table becomes a tablet.

On removing the cover, the Vicar, in addressing the assembly, referred to the value of such records, to perform which much time, study and patience were essential. They served a valuable purpose in handing down to posterity the names of those church workers who would no longer be with them as the years passed. They often saw and admired the beautiful carved stone in doorway and window of their ancient parish churches throughout England, and wondered about the men who placed them. In that tower they left a token of the voluntary work done by members of that old association of ringers, so that future generations in the art might well remember them.

On behalf of those present, Mr. J. Evans offered a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for so kindly meeting them, and each suitably replied. Mr. Williams, referring to his help in the betterment of the belfry of St. Peter's as a pleasure, briefly mentioned how as a young man many years ago he was able to effect a restoration of the church bells of Bedwas, his home in Glamorgan, where the bells had long been in disuse.

Mr. Hall, who, with his father before him, had carried on business in Burnham for nearly a century, expressed his appreciation of the bellringers' work, and mentioned Mr. Alder's faithful services in keeping the bells going for so many years.

Incidentally, it may here be stated that 'George' has been a ringer in Burnham for 55 years, and steeplekeeper for 43 years, starting to ring on the old peal of five. He hopes to score a jubilee peal for the branch on his 70th birthday in November. He is one of the three or four 'remnants' left from the foundation of the Berks and Bucks Association, started in the autumn of 1876.

Following the unveiling ceremony, an adjournment was made to the Five Bells Inn for an excellent tea, where the knife and fork played havoc in Bucks style with a Berkshire ham. Mr. J. Evans, as Central Council representative, was placed in the chair, supported by Mr. C. C. Mayne (Branch Ringing Master). Handbells were first brought into use for a touch of Treble Eight, the attractions of tea table and tower then proving too much for any further use of them.

After 'Grace' by the chairman, complimentary thanks to the generous hosts were proposed and heartily endorsed by all. It was subsequently ascertained that all expenses had been amply covered by Burnham friends—a family party consisting of Vicar, wardens and towerkeeper, who not only bore the cost of a bountiful tea and a beautiful peal board, but other little items, such as mats for the belfry floor and new ropes. The Parochial Council had been busy, too, since the last meeting at this tower in furnishing electric lighting for the belfry and bell loft, and the partial rehanging of several bells. It will greatly interest Mr. J. Bullock to know that the tenor is now pealable in Treble Bob. Mr. J. E. Davis also will be glad to hear that she is 'permissible,' in case he would wish to repeat his 29 miles' cycle journey in wind and rain on an occasion when permission was refused some 20 years since.

The gathering broke up with reluctance. Buses do not wait any longer than trains. Amongst the visitors may be mentioned Mr. Howard Freeborn, of Rickmansworth, Miss P. Moss, of Uxbridge, Mr. Fletcher and daughter, of Beaconsfield, Mr. Boreham and his son from High Wycombe, the Martin brothers, of Boyne Hill, Mr. Gutteridge, of Stoke, Mr. G. Wilson, of Leiston, and the three Bills.

The Diocesan Master, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, was prevented from attending owing to prior engagements at Hagbourne. 'Cut him in half' was one remedy hinted at, where two calls clashed on the same date. This idea was, however, discarded by the others in view of the Master wishing to ring a peal another day and to continue his work for the Oxford Guild.

CANON NOLLOTH'S GREAT WORK. YORK MINSTER RINGERS' RECOGNITION.

With a desire to mark their sense of appreciation of the work done by Canon Nolloth in connection with the recasting of the new peal of 12 bells and 'Great Peter' at York Minster, the Minster ringers organised a presentation which took place at the Ebor Hall, on Saturday week, after the re-dedication of 'Great Peter' at the Minster. The presentation took the form of a beautifully framed illuminated address, and was made by the Dean of York after a tea at which some 50 guests were present, including ringers from all parts of the county, Canon Nolloth was for many years Vicar of Beverley Minster, and is now living in retirement at Oxford.

The Very Rev. the Dean of York (Dr. Lionel Ford) presided, and amongst those present were Canon and Mrs. Nolloth, Mr. A. H. Barron, Mr. E. D. Taylor (of the Loughborough Bell Foundry), the Rev. R. G. and Miss Pyne, the Rev. C. C. Marshall (president of the Yorkshire Association), the Rev. H. Spence, Mrs. Rigg (Beverley), Mr. P. J. Johnson (hon. secretary of Yorkshire Association), Messrs. G. Robinson (Leeds), S. Palmer (Sheffield), G. Grimwood (Leeds), G. McHale (Holbeck), H. Smith (Armley), J. Cotterell (Bradford), H. Horner (York), H. Williams (Leeds), J. Broadley (Bradford), H. Gibson (Scarborough), T. Metcalfe (Middlesbrough), Kendall (Bradford), W. H. Maude (Pudsey), Porter (Darlington), and Broadley (Darlington).

Mr. T. F. Earnshaw, president of the Minster Society, invited the Dean to make the presentation. He said that some three years ago the Minster bells were sadly in need of repair, and the then Dean (Dr. Norris) undertook to see they got something done to them. It was understood it would only be repairs. The matter was taken in hand, and the Dean did the wisest thing possible when he placed the work in the hands of a gentleman whose knowledge of bells and his interest in all matters that appertain to ringing, as well as his enthusiasm for bells and the ringers, was very great. He referred to their friend, Canon Nolloth (applause). They knew when he got hold of the work there would be no patchwork about it, but thorough work, and to-day they had a new peal of 12 bells second to none in the world. 'Great Peter' came on later. The Canon must be a glutton for work, and, not being satisfied with what he had done in regard to the peal, they had now got 'Great Peter' recast. It was a stupendous task for a man so advanced in years to undertake. However, he took 'Great Peter' in hand, and everybody would agree it was musical in tone and of good shape, and blended with the peal, and he should say there was not another bell like it in the world. The Dean could rest assured that the ringers would always use these beautiful bells with due regard for the high purpose for which they were installed. The Minster ringers, seeing the Canon took such a great interest in the bells, and having kept in touch with them all the time, kept them informed of what was proposed, and always ready to accept any suggestions, they could not let the occasion pass without some recognition of what he had done. That had taken the form of an address, which had been beautifully illuminated. He asked the Dean to present this address to Canon Nolloth on behalf of the York Minster bellringers (applause).

CANON NOLLOTH'S DEVOTED LABOURS.

The Dean of York, in making the presentation, said that when he came to York Minster he had a long talk with Dean Foxley Norris, in which the latter mentioned, amongst other great enterprises that were in hand, the recasting and renewing of the Minster bells. Dean Norris told him it was a big thing, but that he need not have any fear or trouble himself at all, as he would find Canon Nolloth knew more about bells than anyone else living, and would do it all for him (laughter). As he knew so little about bells himself he was very much relieved when Dean Norris told him that. The Dean said that all his predecessor had told him about Canon Nolloth was perfectly true, and he simply could not exaggerate his sense of obligation, and their sense of gratitude, to Canon Nolloth for his most devoted labours, which he knew had been a labour of love to the Canon from beginning to end. What Canon Nolloth did before in his old parish at Beverley so completely and so successfully he had done again at York Minster, on an even larger scale, and their thanks went out to him with full hearts, together with an expression of appreciation of the silent generosity that had accompanied his labours. He was glad the address spoke of the Canon's personal interest in the ringers. They knew it was not merely his interest in or love of bells that had stimulated his work, but a desire that the men who rang the bells should do it as an act of offering to Almighty God. He was sure it was their wish and prayer that the bells should be rung in that spirit. The Archbishop had asked to be permitted to couple with that desire, which was his also, a very earnest message of goodwill to all the ringers present, and impressing upon them that it was their business to ensure there would always be a supply of fit and proper young men to serve alike in church and belfry, and that they would train on their sons in order to carry on the work which they were so excellently carrying on at the present time. The Dean thanked Canon Nolloth for the extraordinary consideration he had always shown to him in connection with the work of recasting the bells so happily completed that day with the rededication of 'Great Peter,' to which the present generation and their successors would always listen with admiration (applause).

THE ADDRESS.

To the Rev. Henry Edward Nolloth, D.D., Canon of York.

Dear Sir,—We, the ringers at York Minster, desire to express our sincere appreciation of your work and generous help in connection with the peal of 12 bells recast in 1926 and 'Great Peter' recast in 1927.

In addition to your care for the material efficiency of the belfry and its contents, we record with gratitude your warm interest in the welfare of ringers, and earnest wish that the Exercise in all its changes may ever be consecrated to the glory of God.

With heartfelt esteem,

We are, Reverend Sir, yours respectfully,

Then follow the names of the 14 ringers.

The Rev. C. C. Marshall, president of the Yorkshire Association, said he felt highly honoured to be associated with that presentation and to have the privilege of being able to speak a word about Canon Nolloth on behalf of the Association. He wanted to assure the Canon that the members and officers of the association had long known how much they owed to him for the tremendous and vital interest he had always taken in bells and bellringers in the county of Yorkshire, and especially the ringers in the Yorkshire Association. He would like to assure the Canon that his interest was something that helped them very much indeed, because they did not always find it among those who had peals of bells under their charge, and they had found that his sympathy and interest had been of the greatest benefit and assistance in the common work which they were undertaking. Apart from that, there were the great gifts which Canon Nolloth had given to the Church in that part of the world—first in the magnificent bells at Beverley Minster; through him, too, that wonderful peal at St. Mary's, Beverley; and now again here in all that he had done to consummate this very great gift of the peal at York Minster and Great Peter. He took it as a great privilege that the York ringers had allowed him to join with them in thanking the Canon for all he had done, and he hoped it would not be lost on the ringers of this great county. They all wished him happiness and Godspeed during the remaining years of his life (applause).

ONE BETTER THAN BEVERLEY.

Mr. Percy Johnson (secretary of the Yorkshire Association) said he felt it a great honour to take part in that rededication ceremony. With regard to the work Canon Nolloth had done, he said it was his privilege a good many years ago to ring a peal at Beverley Minster on the new bells, and when he heard of the new peal for York Minster he told the founders they had something to do to beat their own work at Beverley. He was going to tell the founders, however, that they had gone one better in the new peal at York. The name of Canon Nolloth was known throughout England and throughout the ringing world. They felt that in the Canon they had a very great friend, and they thought the York Minster authorities and ringers were exceptionally fortunate in having had such an authority at their disposal. Canon Nolloth had added the crowning glory to his life's work in the restoration of the bells in the mother church of the North, and had done something which was absolutely unequalled in the ringing world, and the whole universe, as well as the York Minster authorities, were under a great debt of gratitude to him for the unsparing labours he had discharged in this way. His only regret was that Canon Nolloth had never paid a visit to Leeds, where there was an ample field for his energies, if he still felt he had some energy left (laughter). They thanked him from the bottom of their hearts for the great services he had performed in connection with the York Minster bells and other peals throughout the York diocese, and they hoped he would be spared to enjoy the fruits of his labours for many years to come. His name would ever be honoured by the York Minster ringers, whose bells he had been so instrumental in preserving (applause).

CANON NOLLOTH'S REPLY.

Canon Nolloth, who was received with cheers, said he had been entirely taken by surprise at the very kind thought of his friends the ringers. He had never dreamed of anything of the sort. At the same time he thanked them very warmly for the gift, which he very much appreciated, and said the beautifully illuminated address would be placed in his study to keep company with the one presented to him by the clergy in the Beverley deanery when he vacated the office of Rural Dean. He thought the ringers of York Minster had made quite a record in this respect, that when the recasting of the bells was taken in hand they, with the greatest public spirit and generosity, undertook the cost of the recasting of one of the bells. He had never heard of the ringers of any church having shown such a practical interest in their bells, and what they had done must have meant a self-sacrificing act of generosity on their part. Canon Nolloth recalled how he first began to take an interest in bells as a small boy some 76 years ago, and said some twenty years ago he was very anxious to get something done at York. Dean Purey Cust asked him to obtain a specification from Messrs. Taylor for the work to be done both in connection with the old peal and 'Great Peter,' but he was certain that if the work had been carried out then it could not have been done with such great success as the firm of Messrs. Taylor had carried out the work now. When they were out of order some three years ago, it was suggested that as they had to go to Loughborough, it would be a great pity to have them sent back without being recast and returned in accordance with all the latest (Continued in next column.)

THE DEDICATION OF 'GREAT PETER.' MEMORABLE SERVICE AT YORK MINSTER.

As recorded briefly in our last issue, 'Great Peter,' the 10½ ton bell of York Minster, which Messrs. Taylor and Co. have recast and tuned to harmonise with the new ring of twelve, was dedicated at a service which was attended by the Archbishop of York and other notable personages. Among the clergy were the Dean of York (Dr. Lionel Ford), the Archdeacon of York (Canon Cooper), Canon Nolloth, formerly of Beverley, to whose interest and energies the carrying out of the work was largely due, and the Rev. C. C. Marshall, president of the Yorkshire Association. There were, among the congregation, many ringers from Yorkshire towers. In the course of the specially arranged evening-song, the Archbishop, the Dean, clergy and choir, singing the hymn 'When morning gilds the skies,' went in procession to the north-west tower, where the Dean, in the name of the Dean and Chapter, greeted the bellringers and the representatives of the bellfounders: 'May the Lord preserve your going out and your coming in and strengthen you to perform the service to which He has called you, now and for evermore. Amen.'

THE BELL HANDED OVER.

Canon Nolloth then placed the rope in the hands of the Dean, saying: 'Very Reverend Sir,—In the name of all who have contributed towards the recasting and renewing of this bell, I beg you, as representing the Dean and Chapter of this cathedral church, to signify your acceptance of the same.' The Dean replied: 'We receive this bell, to be solemnly set apart from all profane and unhallowed uses, as a sacred trust committed to the Dean and Chapter of this cathedral church, who do promise and profess that they will give their utmost care that it shall be ever and only used in God's service and for His glory.'

At the request of the Canon-in-Residence, the Dean then rededicated the bell in these words: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ we dedicate this bell to the glory of God in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.'

Two prayers followed, the one asking Almighty God 'to accept this offering at our hands,' and the other for God's blessing on the ringers.

As the Archbishop, the Dean, clergy and choir returned up the nave to their stalls, 'Great Peter' for the first time boomed out his note—now said to be the deepest note of any church bell in Christendom. It was a thrilling moment. The sound reverberated through the great cathedral, and was heard all over the city and far beyond. The clapper struck the bell about 20 times, and at its conclusion the choir sang Canon Bell's hymn: 'Ad Petrum Magnum' in Latin, of which the following is the translation:

We hail our Peter
Whom reborn we dedicate.
Brethren, let us rejoice together
In hymns and holy songs.
Thou who in the fire hast burned,
As of old Christ's Martyrs burned,
Now hast come forth safe and sound—
Unto God alone be glory!
O Great chieftain of the Bells,
Lo! to the Chapter of thy comrades
Who join their voices with thine
In gladness we restore thee.
Let the City of York,
Bereft of thee for many months,
Happy, with eager ears,
Listen to thy voice.
Let the Chapter here rejoice:
Listen now, the choir begins
Over land and over sea
To chant its praises.
Let us worship God the Father,
Let us also hymn the Son,
Let us give to Holy Spirit,
Glory in the highest.

This hymn was sung to a fine tune by Dr. Bairstow, organist of the Minster.

A YEAR'S TASK.

After further Collects, the Dean gave an address, in the course of which he said the 13th centenary of the Minster had been a year of scientific discoveries that had been made. Some of the Canons undertook the cost of recasting some of them; the chapter clerk (Mr. Barron) and Mrs. Barron bore the cost of one; five others were given by the people as memorials; and the ringers also came forward and did a great thing, as he thought, in undertaking the cost of another. He only hoped that for a long time to come both the ringers who rang them and the people who heard them would more and more be reminded of the great realities which lay beyond this world (applause).

Canon Nolloth concluded with a quotation which one of the Beverley ringers, William Plaxton, said to him when on his deathbed, that he always looked upon the service as beginning when they began to raise the bells, and that he always began the bell service with prayer. He would always, he said, regard that gift as one of his most treasured possessions (applause).

new beginnings, of movements set on foot, some great, some small, of which they could not forecast the end. But that day's ceremony, he continued, did seem to introduce an element of completion. Throughout the year Great Peter has been the great absentee—he the chieftain of the sweet-toned sisterhood of bells who have chimed to us so melodiously through the months, but until to-day without him. And now he has returned to us in safety—recast, retuned—his great frame reposing easily on his bed of ball bearings, so that a single sexton can set his 11 tons of metal vibrating, and cause the booming of his deep E flat to be heard within and without the city walls. And if the finished work proves to function according to its plan, our Minster loud speaker, whom we have just rededicated, will speak in exact correspondence and perfect tune with the pitch of the B flat peal, to which he will contribute the Bourdon accompaniment. His refashioning has been a whole year's task—and to those who set it on foot and those who have executed it so thoroughly, our deepest gratitude is due. Others have laboured, and now we enter into their labours. We thank them from our hearts as we welcome our exile home and give God the glory for the finished work—'Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto Thy Name be the praise.' But ought we to stop short at that? It is good to come together and rejoice that our beloved Minster, which every Yorkshireman regards as the finest of cathedral churches, should now be presented with what he must also regard as the finest and completest of bell peals—a new set of precious jewels in the Minster's crown. But cost is the essential of sacrifice, and the words of King David to Araunah keep sounding uneasily in my ears, 'Neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the Lord God of that which doth cost me nothing.' Can we say, most of us, that these bells, this great bell which we dedicate to-day, have cost us, US—YOU and ME—anything? And unless we can say that, is there not something a little hollow about our enthusiasm, our chorus of self-congratulation on other people's generosity and self-sacrifice? So much has been done for us, but by so few people. Only yesterday, in gathering up the results of the Minster Thankoffering Fund, did I become aware that of the tens of thousands who flocked rejoicing to our 1,300th Anniversary Festival, or of the two million people who form the population of Yorkshire, only 524 in all, and those not all Yorkshire people, have so far made any outward and visible response to their Minster's cry for help. Are they, are you, content to leave it at that, while so much still remains to be done for her, for the mother church of the North's preservation and maintenance during her 14th century of life? Carry this thought a stage further. What is the end to which such offerings as to-day's are meant to lead? There is no question as to that. They are meant to strengthen, enhance, and deepen our worship of Almighty God. Not the selfish saving of our own souls, not saving, but giving, the giving of ourselves and our possessions to God, that is the keynote of the religion we profess. The better and higher worship of God, that is the centre and core of it all. When these bells ring in our ears with their summons to join in the Church's sacred liturgy or services, it will be of little profit for those who lie in bed to murmur, 'How beautiful is this peal.' When Peter booms his mid-day call to prayer, or when he tolls the knell on some soul that has passed into the great Beyond, his calling will not be heard with our ears alone. We shall miss his meaning, if at the sound no message of an angel echoes in our hearts: we shall be unworthy of our beautiful peal if Sunday by Sunday we make no response to their summons to the House of God, nor enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise. Dear people, will you not resolve with me to-night that you will henceforth bear your part more faithfully, and praise and serve God better than before?

The service concluded with the hymn, 'Ye watchers and ye holy ones,' and the Benediction pronounced by the Archbishop.

Immediately after the ceremony a course of Grandsire Cinques was rung, afterwards 'Great Peter' alone for five minutes, and then Grandsire Cinques with 'Great Peter' accompanying.

Later in the evening the bells were kept going by visitors to Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Bob Major.

NEW BAND AT BOCKING.

After several years, a new band has been formed at St. Mary's, Bocking, Essex. The new ringers have now been at it two months, and are making steady progress. They are very fortunate in having Mr. George Wiffen and Mr. L. W. Wiffen to instruct them. These two ringers, with their great knowledge of change ringing, regularly walk three miles each practice night, and under their tuition the local ringers are progressing. The instructors are very popular with the band, and the keenest interest is taken in what they have to say. Mr. Albert Coate, who was responsible for getting the company together, is captain, and is to be congratulated on having got together such a 'jolly good lot of chaps.' The motto is 'Fellowship and forward.'

MR. G. POPNELL'S 50 PEALS.

Doubles 6 (conducted 3), Bob Minor 6, Grandsire Triples 16 (conducted 1), Stedman Triples 6, Bob Major 4 (conducted 1), Kent Treble Bob Major 4, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 1, Grandsire Caters 7: total, 50. Rung in seven counties for eight associations, with 152 different ringers in 30 towers.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

POSITION OF WINCHESTER GUILD COMPOUNDING MEMBERS.

The question has been raised in these columns as to the position of Compounding Members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild in relation to the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, and we are authorised to say that the Organising Committee propose to recommend to the general meeting on November 19th that these shall be admitted on the same terms as the ordinary members residing in the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth, viz., on payment of a compounding subscription of one shilling at any time before December 31st, 1928. Those who before December 31st, 1927, take advantage of this arrangement, assuming it is approved by the general meeting, will be included among the Foundation Members.

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

NOISY BELLS.

A quarterly meeting was held at Whitechurch, nr. Cardiff, on Saturday, when a good number from the towers of both dioceses put in an appearance. The bells, a ring of six by Llewellyn and James, were kept busy during the afternoon in the various standard methods. In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, Mr. W. Bolton was voted to the chair at the business meeting, at which several letters were read by the hon. secretary.

Comment was made on the noise of the bells outside the tower, owing to the louvres being so large, and an offer was made by Mr. Weaver, of Penarth, and Mr. Large, of Cardiff, that if the church authorities would find the material, in either timber or bricks, to close them up, they would do the work free of charge. The hon. secretary was asked to write to the Vicar to this effect.

The selection of a place for the next Glamorgan quarterly meeting was left until the annual meeting. The hon. secretary reported that he had purchased Peal Book No. 2, as No. 1 was filled up.

Several new members were elected, and a vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding, and to the Vicar for the use of the bells, brought the meeting to a close.

The bells were afterwards kept busy until late in the evening.

AN ORDSALL JUBILEE.

The Mansfield ringers paid a visit to Ordsall and West Retford on Saturday last to fulfil a long-standing invitation, and to oblige their esteemed and loved tutor, Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, who had, during the time he was curate at Mansfield, taught them the rudiments of the art. The date marked the 50th anniversary of the reopening of All Hallows' Church, after restoration, on October 31st, 1877, and thus celebrated the jubilee. The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson was in readiness to greet the ringers, and subsequently entertained them to tea.

The writer of these lines, who took part in the service 50 years ago, accepted the invitation to be present and take part, and 35 years ago was instrumental with the late Rector in getting the bells rehung, one of them recast, and the peal augmented to six, which gave a rather light musical ring, with tenor 7½ cwt. They were opened as a ring of six on Wednesday, August 4th, 1892.

Good touches of Plain Bob, Stedman Doubles, Kent and Oxford were rung at both churches, and as a jubilee touch, to wind up, 360 Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung by: Rev. R. F. Wilkinson 1, J. Bleby 2, H. Haigh (conductor) 3, H. Alsopp 4, S. Hurdle 5, C. Carr 6. The other ringers taking part were P. Hardsaff, W. Dodd, A. Freeman and C. Randall.

LINCOLN AND LADIES' GUILDS' JOINT MEETING.

A pleasant meeting was held by the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, in conjunction with the Lincoln District of the Ladies' Guild, at Barton-on-Humber, on Saturday, October 22nd. This combined gathering brought together a large number of ringers, including visitors from Hull. The service was held in the fine old Church of St. Mary, which has only four bells, but room enough for twelve. The service was conducted by the Rev. G. H. Legge, the Ladies' Guild service form being used. Mr. H. Rushby, of Grimsby, presided at the organ, and the Rev. G. H. Legge gave a very interesting address. Tea was partaken of in the assembly rooms, 33 members and friends sitting down.

Tea over, the business meeting of the Grimsby district took place, presided over by the president, the Rev. H. T. Parry.

The Rev. G. H. Legge was elected an honorary member, and Mr. J. W. Hobson, of Hull, was elected a non-resident life member of the Guild.

The President moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the Rev. G. H. Legge for conducting the service, to Mr. H. Rushby for presiding at the organ, and to Mrs. R. Richardson (secretary to the Ladies' Guild) for the use of their Guild forms, also to the caterers for the excellent tea.—This was seconded by Mr. Baker, of Gainsborough, and concluded the meeting, after which the ladies transacted their business.

Thanks are due to Mr. A. W. Hoodless, of Barton-on-Humber, for making all the arrangements. Towers represented were Grimsby, Barrow-on-Humber, Bigby, Ulceby, Burton-on-Stather, Gainsborough, Surfleet, Isham, Hull, and during the afternoon and evening a variety of methods was rung on the eight bells.

SAM TILLET.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The passing of my first instructor, 'Old Sam,' as he has been called, brings back to me the memory of early days. It must have been in the late 'fifties that I first became known to him as an aspirant to change ringing. I remember vividly on one occasion he was ringing the old tenor (now the 11th) at St. Mary-le-Tower, when the gudgeon snapped. There was a side entrance to the belfry of the old tower, into which most of us ran for safety. 'Old Sam' was 'Young Sam' then, and was first to examine the nature of the catastrophe. Returning from aloft, with his hands begrimed, and describing the trouble, he smothered my face in grease, which took me days to eradicate. The company then included John Naunton, Robt. Burch, Henry Card, James Allen, Sewell, Adams, etc.

I was surprised by 'The Ringing World's' report that my old instructor Sam only rang his first peal in 1881. The present writer rang his first peal at St. Matthew's, Ipswich, in 1869. How's that, ye old veterans of the magic circle?

I am pleased to think that upon my last visit to Ipswich I found 'Old Sam' at his home in Woodbridge Road. Of course, so many years had elapsed since our last meeting, it was like another resurrection of the dead. Could that be the 'Sam' I once knew so well? It was obvious I remembered him better than he did me. I had wished to meet him again, but it was not to be. 'Tired, he now sleeps, and life's poor play is o'er.' His decease reminds me that soon I must make my bed with him, and lie down to pleasant dreams. His immortality is manifest in that his gallant and clever son, Fred, takes up and continues the good life of his father, one of the greatest enthusiasts of a bygone age.—Yours faithfully,

G. F. MARGETSON.

WEDDING PRESENTATIONS AT GUILDFORD.

In the belfry at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford, on Sunday morning, two presentations were made. Mr. George W. Steere, who has been a member of the band for a number of years, and was secretary for some time, was the recipient of a teapot, and Mr. John A. Cole, who, although residing at Godalming, rendered considerable aid to the society, was given a timepiece. Mr. Cole was married in August, and Mr. Steere's wedding takes place on November 12th, and these gifts were made as a token of the members' good wishes for the future happiness of the respective couples. Unfortunately for Holy Trinity Society, the services of both these ringers will be lost to the regular Sunday band, as Mr. Steere is removing to Carshalton, and Mr. Cole is already residing at Teddington.

Each gift was suitably inscribed, and the presentations were made in a felicitous speech by Canon E. C. Kirwan and suitably acknowledged.

LEYTONSTONE'S BROADCAST.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I through 'The Ringing World' thank the Leytonstone ringers for their beautiful ringing on Sunday night? It came through on the wireless perfectly; it was like clockwork, it was grand, but it was all too short. To me, who can but seldom go out at night, it was like a gleam of sunshine in an otherwise darkened room. It was, as the late Henry Johnson used to say, 'Whatever we have, let it be good, if the less,' and that certainly was good.—Faithfully yours,

T. RUSSAM.

YOUNG RINGERS' PROGRESS.

At Elmdon, Essex, on October 25th, 720 Bob Minor in 26 mins.: F. Hammond 1, S. Bard 2, B. D. Buttress (conductor) 3, E. Hayes 4, J. Negus 5, G. Hoy 6. First 720 by all except the conductor. Great credit is due to these young ringers for the way in which they struck their bells. They only started ringing about twelve months ago, with no one to instruct them. This 720 was rung at the third attempt and without any mistakes.

DOUBLE LONDON SURPRISE MINOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of October 28th, you record a 720 of the above method rung at St. Giles' Church, Sandiacre, believed to be the first 720 ever rung in the method. May I state that the first 720 in this method was rung at St. Giles' Church, Killamarsh, in the year 1913?

May I also state that all the Double Surprise Minor methods that can be obtained have been rung by the Killamarsh company?—Yours faithfully,

C. SEVERN.

26, Budge Street, Killamarsh.

Dear Sir,—A 720 of Double London Surprise was rung on August 14th, at St. Mary's, Lamberhurst, and published in 'The Ringing World' on August 19th.—Yours truly,

A. RELFE.

E. Carr 3, C. H. Webb 4, H. Bird (conductor) 5. This tower possesses a splendid peal of bells, but no local ringers. The above band belong to various towers in the neighbourhood, and they rang for the festival on the invitation of the Rector (the Rev. E. A. Ingham), who entertained the band and the churchwardens to a sumptuous supper after the service.

DEATH OF AN EXETER RINGER.

By the death of Mr. Frank Murphy, who passed away at Heavitree, Exeter, on October 17th, at the age of 60 years, Exeter Cathedral and St. Sidwell's bands have lost a staunch and reliable member who will be greatly missed. He commenced his ringing career at Heavitree in 1898, on the formation of the company, and there he learnt to ring. In 1902, with several others, he joined St. Sidwell's band, and regularly attended the service and practice ringing until prevented by illness. His record of peals was 30, comprising Grandsire Triples 9, Grandsire Caters 10, Grandsire Cinques 1, Stedman Triples 7, Stedman Caters 1, Bob Major 1, and Kent Treble Bob 1.

He took part in the first peal of Grandsire Caters at Exeter Cathedral on January 14th, 1905, also the first of Grandsire Cinques on January 9th, 1926, the latter being the last peal in which he rang.

Of a fine physique, with an easy and graceful style, he was generally under a heavy bell, and, although somewhat reserved in manner, his good-humoured and unselfish nature endeared him to all his colleagues. His robust constitution was probably undermined by working in the warm moist air of the greenhouse (being a gardener by occupation), and he fell a victim to the all too prevalent cancer scourge. He leaves a widow and one son, another son having died on active service during the war.

At the funeral in Heavitree Churchyard on Saturday, October 22nd, representatives of the Cathedral and St. Sidwell's bands were present, and in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with bells half-muffled was rung on the Stafford eight at the Cathedral, and the 'whole pull and stand' at St. Sidwell's, Exeter.

THE VICTORY TOWER Height 300 feet

OTTAWA

Where the World's Greatest Carillon is installed.

THE OLDEST RINGING SOCIETY.

Year by year interest grows in what is probably the greatest social function in the Exercise—the annual dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths. This year's festivities attracted a record gathering and the company came from the four corners of the kingdom. There are College Youths the world over and ringers, whether or not they are members of this really ancient Society, look up to it as the parent organisation of the Exercise. It has its roots deep in history; it came into being before change ringing, as we know it to-day, began and it has had a longer unbroken record than any other organisation connected with bells. It was formed thirty years before the Fire of London, which swept away the tower where first the College Youths met and from which they took their name, and it was a happy thought that led the Society a few years ago to institute, at the successor to that older church which stood on College Hill, in the City of London, a service as a preface to their festival.

Charles I. was on the throne when first the men, who rang the bells at College Hill, formed themselves into a society and they certainly did not realise then what history they were making. They were just a little company who rang the bells purely as a pastime, looking upon it as merely a sport and a healthy exercise. Half pull changes were probably unknown, Fabian Stedman had not invented his method of changing the bells by a set plan; another eighty years were to elapse before the first peal was rung. The College Youths, then, go back into a very distant past; they are enshrouded with traditions of hoary antiquity; but throughout their long history they have ever been in the forefront of the Exercise, and their membership has never been without men who were shining lights in the art. Ancient though it is, the Society has always kept pace with the developments of our science and, just as in days gone by the Society claimed many records, so in recent years it has shown that it is well able to hold its own, when one remembers that its members were among the first to ring a peal of Cambridge Maximus, the first to ring Carter's Odd-Bob peal of Stedman Triples on hand-bells, and still hold, among other proud performances, the record for Stedman Cinques.

These are but two or three examples of many which could be quoted to show that the College Youths is not only the oldest ringing society, but still one of the greatest when it comes to the practice of our art. The great tradition which lies behind nearly three centuries of activity is being worthily upheld. It is not surprising, therefore, that as each anniversary comes round, members of the Ancient Society scattered throughout the land, and others who value the opportunity of renewing friendships, should take advantage of the occasion to meet round the festive board, where the spirit of goodwill and comradeship best manifests itself. Last Saturday's gathering included scores of men who had travelled long distances to take part in the function, but hundreds more were there in thought and would have been present in the flesh had circumstances permitted. The annual dinner of the College Youths is a great event and with the passing of time has developed a deeper significance than that of a merely convivial evening.

RESTORATION OF HAGBOURNE BELLS.

DEDICATION OF NEW FRAME.

The new bell frame in East Hagbourne tower was dedicated by Bishop E. D. Shaw, Archdeacon of Oxford, on Saturday, October 29th, in the presence of a large congregation. The interest which Hagbourne people always take in ringing matters was well shown by the crowded state of the church. Evensong was sung, and after the second lesson the Bishop proceeded to the west end of the aisle and, standing under the tower, pronounced the sentences of dedication. In his sermon he referred to past performances recorded by the peal boards in the tower, and called attention to the message of the bells, pointing out that whoever heard that message could not be left as before, but must either be elevated by taking heed or hardened by neglecting it.

After the service, a tea was provided in the school. Unfortunately, the treasurer of the bell fund had been called away on that day, so that no formal meeting was held as had been intended. Also, owing to the large number of people who stayed for tea, although they had not sent in their names or bought tickets, the seating accommodation was insufficient, and the tea had to be taken in two relays. However, while some were having tea, others were able to ring the bells, and, we believe, everybody got tea sooner or later. The evening was spent in ringing numerous methods from rounds to Cambridge, and an attempt was made to see that every visitor had a pull in whatever he wanted to ring. It was agreed by everybody that Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have made a thoroughly good job of the rechanging, and the only criticism the Hagbourne ringers can make is that visitors will now be able to ring the bells as well as they can themselves, which they did not consider to be the case in the old frame.

The village people were overjoyed to hear the bells again, and one of the most stalwart supporters of the theory that an iron frame would spoil the tone of the bells was heard to remark in a stentorian voice, 'It sounds nice to hear 'em again, and I can't see that there's much difference.'

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. A. Smith Masters, and the lessons were read by Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Among those present were Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council, Mr. E. T. Hibbert, secretary of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, Mr. A. E. Lock, secretary of the North Berks Branch, and Mr. A. A. Hughes, representing Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, as well as ringers, too numerous to mention, from many towers in the diocese.

TRAGIC DEATH OF A FULHAM RINGER.

Mr. Douglas Stevens, one of Fulham's promising ringers and a member of the Middlesex County Association, has died under tragic circumstances at the early age of 23 years. He collapsed and suddenly expired in a bus, while on his way to business on Monday morning, October 31st.

A most devoted and respected member of the Middlesex Association, he recently rang his first peal (Stedman Caters) at Fulham. He had rung several quarter-peals, both 'in hand' and on tower bells, and was ringing as usual on the Sunday prior to his death.

He was buried on Friday in Fulham Cemetery. In the evening, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung, followed by touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters, with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect by Messrs. Driver, Judd, Belcher, Skivington, Roberts, Folkard, Page, Norris, Ellis, Fulwell, Cutmore, Arthurton, Smith, Bennett, Edwards, and Hollier.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH.

A monthly meeting of Devizes Branch was held at the Minster Church, Warminster, on Saturday, November 5th, and, in spite of the wet weather, was largely attended, and the members were pleased to have with them the esteemed Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry, M.A., Rector of Shroton, Dorset).

Ringling commenced at 3 p.m., and the Vicar, the Rev. A. R. Bellars, M.A., visited the belfry, shook hands with those present, and expressed the hope that all would have a good time.

The Guild service was held at 4.40 p.m., and was conducted by the Vicar, the Master reading the lesson. As those present were leaving, the churchwardens stood at the church door and shook hands with the visitors. After tea, the business meeting was presided over by the Master of the Guild, supported by the chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, whom all were pleased to see in improved health.

The Secretary (Mr. F. Green) reported the receipt of a cheque for 14s. 6d. from the Parochial Church Council of St. James', Bratton, towards the funds of the branch.

Discussion on matters affecting the branch took place, and on the motion of the Chairman a vote of thanks was passed to the Master for attending.—The Master, in reply, said how pleased he was to be able to attend the meeting. He would attend more often, but he lived in Dorset, and it was difficult to attend meetings on Saturday if they were held at the other end of the branch. He made reference to the good work done by the chairman of the Devizes Branch, and hoped that he would see his way clear to withdraw his resignation. He also expressed his thanks to the branch for the kind enquiries during his illness.

On the motion of the Vice-Chairman, Mr. B. Cook, an invitation was given to the Master to attend the annual meeting of the branch to be held at Devizes in January, 1928.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Holt.

Ringers, including the Master and Mrs. West, of Melksham, were present from Shroton (Dorset), Mere, Buckhorn Weston, Trowbridge, Warminster, Bratton, Holt, Rowde, Devizes, St. John's, and Melksham. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, and Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The ringers of Warminster are to be congratulated on having had electric light installed in the ringing chamber, which helps to make it one of the most comfortable in the branch.

Ringling also took place at Corsley.

PRESENTATION TO MR. A. C. FEARNLEY, OF YORK.FIFTY YEARS' SERVICE WITH ONE FIRM.

A pleasing ceremony took place recently, when a well-known ringer, in the person of Mr. Albert C. Fearnley, was entertained by the directors of Messrs. J. Terry and Sons (in company with the staff) to dinner, in honour of the completion of fifty years' service with the firm by Mr. Fearnley. The Chairman, Mr. F. W. Terry, in proposing 'The Health of Mr. Fearnley,' commented on the fact that twenty-five of the company present had an average of forty-three years' service with the firm, and stated on behalf of the directors their gratification at the excellent relations existing between the firm and its employees. Mr. Noel Terry in supporting, stated that between them Mr. Fearnley and his father had eighty years' continuous service with the firm, this constituting a record for the firm. Mr. Fearnley was the recipient of a handsome gold watch, suitably inscribed, as a memento of the memorable occasion from the firm, and also a pair of handsome candlesticks from the directors. Joining the Yorkshire Association in 1883, Mr. Fearnley has been instrumental in teaching many young ringers at York, and the writer has many recollections of being steered through the mysteries of York Surprise by some of the pupils at that nursery of York ringers, the historic Church of St. Mary, Bishophill. The good wishes of the Exercise are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Fearnley, and though one misses the many handbell performances in which formerly Mr. Fearnley took part, we trust that he may long be spared to guide the novices with sage advice, and give to the experts the value of his many years as an expert ringer.

BEGINNERS' TOUCHES.

At Bishopwearmouth Parish Church, Sunderland, on October 31st, 672 Grandsire Triples: G. Taylor 1, *N. Mills 2, J. Pickering 3, *J. Sewell 4, *J. Airey 5, *A. Robinson 6, R. Patterson (conductor) 7, R. Langton 8. * First touch in the method. The ringers of the treble and 7th belong to St. Ignatius' band, Sunderland, and the ringers at Bishopwearmouth are very grateful to them and others of their band who kindly give their help at the practices.

At Staveley, Derbyshire, on November 1st, two young ringers scored their first 720's. The extent was rung by a Sunday service band: A. Markwell 1, L. Palmer 2, F. Diable (first 720) 3, A. Steward (first 720) 4, W. Palmer 5, J. Knott (first 720 as conductor) 6. Messrs. Steward and Diable began ringing in February, 1926.

WOOLWICH.—At St. Mary Magdalene's Church, on Sunday, October 2nd, for morning service, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Grandsire Doubles in 44 mins.: H. G. Marlyn 1, T. H. Culver 2, H. Finch 3, C. E. Palmer 4, B. Aldridge (conductor) 5, C. Fairman 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A band that rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Coscley, Staffs, on Saturday, can boast of a combined record of 250 years as Sunday service ringers, which, it is suggested, may prove to be a record.

There were a number of clergy present at the College Youths' dinner on Saturday night, but not everyone was aware that the company included two Bishops. Both came from Swindon—but they were neither diocesan nor suffragan; just plain Mr.

The 'Tom-tits' were present in considerable numbers, their strength being revealed when their Grand Primo took wine with his fellow-members.

The Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner is to take place at Birmingham on Saturday, February 25th.

The bells of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, will be broadcast on Sunday, November 20th, at 7.55 p.m.

'Amerryceuss' wishes to know who is the famous family of twelve bellringers in town who are known as the 'Fourteen Thieves,' and is Uncle one of 'em?

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at St. Giles', Camberwell, recorded elsewhere in this issue, was rung at the first attempt and as a final test of the bells after their being rehung in March by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The perfect ease and comfort that is experienced in ringing them is surprising, and has delighted the large numbers of ringers who have rung on them at meetings or in the quarter-peals that have been rung almost each week since their restoration.

Ramsbottom Parish Church steeple was damaged by the recent gales. Some of the upper stonework was loosened, and the weather-vane damaged. For the present, therefore, the bells cannot be rung, and the meeting of the Rossendale Branch of the Lancashire Association, which was to have been held at this church on November 19th, is postponed.

The marriage will shortly take place between Rev. E. S. Powell, Vicar of Holbeton, and president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, and son of the late Rev. J. Powell, Rector of St. Clement's, Ipswich, and Miss Molly Davenport, secretary of the northern branch of the Ladies' Guild, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Davenport, of Dore, near Sheffield.

Miss Dorothy D. Steel, a well-known Bedford ringer, has sailed for Australia on a tour with the English croquet team. Miss Steel has five times won the Open English Ladies' Croquet Championship, and is the present holder of the title.

Next week sees the anniversary of two notable peals on the same bells, St. Andrew's, Norwich, now never rung. On November 17th, 1835, the first peal of London Surprise Major was rung, and on November 16th, 1837, a 7,360 Oxford Treble Bob.

The first peal of 'Real' Double Norwich was rung at Woolwich on November 16th, 1848.

'GREAT PETER' OF YORK.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the account of the dedication of 'Great Peter' which appears in 'The Ringing World' of November 4th there is no mention whatever of the inscription thereon, or any particulars as to diameter, thickness of sound bow, or any other matters beyond the weight and note.

I am sure that your readers would be glad of some information on these points, and also as to whether the arms of see and city of York have been reproduced from the old bell.

I notice in the inscriptions on the new peal of twelve, which appeared some weeks ago, no mention is made of Dr. Stephen Beckwith, who bequeathed the former peal cast in 1844, according to the inscription on the eleventh bell of that peal. Surely, some mention ought to have been made of this, even if the whole inscription had not been reproduced on one of the new bells.

I believe that the eleventh was the only bell that bore any inscription beyond the founders' names and date.—Yours faithfully,

J. R. JERRAM.

Clerical Library, Salisbury,
November 4th, 1927.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co., the founders, have supplied us with the following information with regard to 'Great Peter':—

The inscription, in Gothic characters, is as follows: 'SANCTI PETRI APOSTOLI CAMPANA MAGNA VOCOR'—'ITERUM FUSA A.D. MCMXXVII,' the English translation of which is, 'I am called the Great Bell of Saint Peter the Apostle.'

In addition to the inscription, the Minster arms appears on the obverse side with the founders' mark on the reverse side.

The diameter of the bell is 8 ft. 8 in., and its weight is 10 tons 16 cwt. 2 qr. 22 lb.

MERSTHAM, SURREY.—At St. Katherine's Church, on October 15th, a quarter 'peal' of Bob Minor in 45 mins.: A. Wood 1, C. Hilton 2, D. K. C. Boil 3, R. Wells 4, H. Wood 5, C. Killick (conductor) 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a mark of respect for the late Mr. H. F. Ewins, an hon. member of St. Katherine's band and Southern District secretary of the Surrey Association.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the thirteenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

In the following seven columns, all of the false lead-heads with the 'tenors together' have been filled in; also, under the lines, the false course-heads derived therefrom. These are all of the course-heads that will prove false AGAINST COURSE HEADED 23456, in a peal with the tenors together. The numerals against the false course-heads, '(III.), (II.), (V.), etc.,' denote which lead (in that false course; will be headed by the false lead-head, from which the false course-head has been found.

Columns Nos. 1, 4, and 7 contain no false lead-heads with the tenors in plain course positions:—

Column No.	2.	3.	5.	6.
From plain L.-H.	(5738264)	(8674523)	(3527486)	(7856342)
False course-heads	32465(III.) 43265(II.)	32465(II.)	43265(VI.)	43265(V.) 32465(VI.)

Duplicate false course-heads must NOT be ignored, when they refer to different columns, nor when they refer to different leads OF THEMSELVES. That is to say, in column No. 2 we might have had 32465 (III.) AND ALSO 32465 (IV.), etc.

One example, showing the finding of the false course-heads. In column 2 we have (8)5(7)4632. Its 'fellow' is the THIRD in the plain course (8)6(7)4523. We can ignore '1-7-8,' because, being in the same places in BOTH rows, they all go back 'home.' Read the pairs 'downwards' as before:—

course is	by
So that our row	From course headed will be 3rd L.-H. 00504632	by
(or) 32465 (III.)	03246500

We are now able to make for ourselves a 'proof scale' for any Treble Bob method, and the proving of plain methods should present no difficulty; but before leaving the subject I should like to touch upon one or two short-cuts which I have purposely omitted to mention in order to avoid confusion.

Given any lead-head, the course-head may be found in this way: The place occupied in the given lead-head by the tenor should properly be occupied (at rounds) by ANOTHER BELL; then, take the plain course lead-head which has that OTHER BELL in tenor's place (i.e., 'eight's-place'), and transpose the given head by the plain one. As an example, we will take the one quoted above. Column No. 2 has a false lead-head 1(8)574632; tenor is in the place which would be occupied (at rounds) by the '2.' The plain course lead-head, which has '2' in the tenor's place (i.e., 'eight's'), is 1785634(2). Then, transpose 18574632 by 17856342, which gives 13246578, or the course-head 32465.

When finding the lead-heads which are false against the first lead, we found that comparison of 'similar rows' sometimes produced duplicate pairs of false heads. This is due to the 'sections' being 'symmetrical.'

The 'sections' consist of the eight rows in which the treble bell is 'working' in adjacent places. There are eight rows where she is in first's and second's places (rows Nos. 1 to 4, and 29 to 32); eight rows when she is in '3/4 places' (rows Nos. 5 to 8, and 25 to 28); similarly there are eight rows in each '5/6' and '7/8' places.

Observe that, starting from Row No. 1, the treble gradually works her way from the front to the back of the rows, and finishes at row No. 16. Starting from row No. 32, and TRAVELLING BACKWARDS, she does exactly the same thing, and while we compare rows 1/30, we do not compare 2/31; row 2 is compared with row 29, etc.

A 'symmetrical' method causes the same pairs to change, when traced BACKWARDS from row 32, as those which change when traced FORWARDS from row No. 1. Therefore, if we compare rows 1/30, we need not compare rows 2/29, provided that the same pairs that change from row 1 to 2, also change from row 30-29. In the following example, rows 29/30 are reversed for comparison purposes:—

Symmetry in the sections is easily recognised by the 'places' which are made in the rows. That is, by the bells which retain the same places in the rows. Bells which do not make one of a changing pair are forced to stop in the same place in the rows. Therefore, similar places being made, means similar pairs being changed. So that if no places are made when the treble is passing from one place in the row to another, as in the example above, it means that every pair of bells (in the row) change. In Superlative this happens in every case in which the treble steps from the 'odd place' (1, 3, 5, 7) to the 'even' place (2, 4, 6, 8), in the first half of the lead; bells 'make places' when she steps from the even to the odd place, as in rows 2 and 3 (where '4' and '5' retain the same places in the rows), and in rows 10 and 11 (places made by '6' and '4').

This latter does not affect our point, because, when comparing rows 10/21, row 11 is compared with row 24. We look for symmetry in the rows from Odd to Even places in the first half of the lead, and in their fellows in the second (or backward) half of the lead, where, of course, the reverse is the case—from EVEN TO ODD places.

If the sections are symmetrical regarding this 'place-making,' in the rows that have to be compared, we need only compare those similar rows which have the treble in the 'odd' places therein (either in 1, 3, 5, or 7), because the 'even' places (2, 4, 6, 8) will produce the same false lead-heads. If they are not symmetrical, all of the rows must be compared, subject, of course, to the condition that + rows need not be compared with — rows, etc.

As Superlative does not show 'place-making' between the rows which have to be compared, two halves of a section of London Surprise Major are given:—

No. First half of lead.	No. Second half of lead.
1. 12 3 4567 8 +	29. 41 8 7652 3 —
2. 21 3 5476 8 —	30. 14 8 6725 3 +
3. 12 5 3748 6 —	31. 41 6 8273 5 +
4. 21 5 7384 6 +	32. 14 6 2837 5 —

It will be seen that, ordinarily, the similar rows for comparison should be: 1/30, 2/29, 3/32, and 4/31; but the places made between 1/2 (made by '3' and '8') are symmetrical with those between rows 29/30 (made by '8' and '3'). Therefore, having compared 1/30, we need not trouble about 2/29, because the false heads will be duplicated. Similarly with rows 3/32 and 4/31.

The places need not necessarily be made by the same bells; it is the changing pairs that have to be symmetrical, and observation of the places is an easy means to deciding if the changing pairs are the same.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NEW NORTHERN DISTRICT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Northern Division was held at Bocking on Saturday last. Forty-three members were present from Rayne, Great Bardfield, Braintree, Black Notley, Witham, Ears Colne, Greenstead Green, Halstead, Sudbury, Dunmow, Stisted, Maldon (All Saints'), Felsted, Stebbing, Feering, Sible Hedingham, and the members of the newly-formed local band. At the service held in the Parish Church, Rev. T. P. R. Clark, senior curate, officiated, and the lesson was read by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association. The Very Rev. Dean Brownrigg gave an impressive address, based upon the words: 'Their sound is gone out into all lands.' Rev. P. W. Jenkins, assistant curate, and a full choir of men were also present.

According to a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the association, a collection was made for the Association Bell Restoration Fund. The offerings amounted to 13s. 3d.

Tea and meeting followed in the Church Hut. Mr. F. Claydon, District Master, who presided, having expressed his wish to retire in order to give others an opportunity to aspire to office, Mr. A. Saunders, of Greenstead Green, was elected Master, and the retiring Master was thanked for his services.

Mr. W. Arnold, Ears Colne, was elected secretary in place of the late Mr. W. H. Dyson.

A vote of sympathy was passed with Mr. W. Smith, of Dunmow, whose father was buried that afternoon, and the Master of the association was requested to write him a letter of condolence.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Dunmow in February.

A vote of thanks was passed to the aged Dean for the use of the bells and his excellent address, to the organist and to the ladies who managed the tea.—Rev. T. P. R. Clark and Mr. A. W. Tyler, churchwarden, suitably replied.

Mr. Wiffen, a member of the newly-formed Bocking band, who have taken up their duties in a most enthusiastic manner, thanked Messrs. G. and L. W. Wiffen, of Braintree, for their services as instructors, and expressed a wish that ere long the band would become change ringers and members of the association.

It being the Master's 59th birthday, Mr. L. W. Wiffen expressed the feeling of the meeting in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

During the afternoon and evening, touches in methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise were rung.

DEATH OF FORMER MASTER OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

As a mark of respect to the late Mr. Harold Walton, at one time Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and member of St. Leonard's Society, Streatham, and Mr. William Shepherd, for over fifty years ringer at Immanuel Church, Streatham Common, and one of the founders of the Surrey Association, who both died recently, a peal of Stedman Triples was attempted with the bells half-muffled at St. Leonard's Church, on Saturday, November 5th, but, unfortunately, came to grief after ringing one hour and thirty-five minutes: L. Attwater 1, Miss F. E. Orr 2, J. W. Chapman 3, E. E. Bish 4, T. W. Welbourne 5, J. Rumley 6, J. L. Watkins (conductor) 7, W. E. G. Hewson 8.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

There was a record gathering of nearly 220 present at the 290th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths, at the London Tavern on Saturday, the visitors to the Metropolis including representative ringers from all parts of the country. There was ringing during the afternoon at St. Saviour's Cathedral, St. Magnus' and St. Andrew's, Holborn, Churches, and following recent practice a service was held at the Church of St. Michael, College Hill, from which the society gets its name. The church was filled with the congregation of ringers, and the special form of service, brief but particularly appropriate, was conducted by the Rector, Canon Bullock Webster. The hymns were very heartily sung. The Rev. E. C. Bedford, of St. Andrew's, Holborn, was the preacher, and his subject was 'Hobbies.' He dwelt upon the importance of everyone having a hobby, and enlarged upon the advantages of such a hobby as bellringing, which was not only healthful, but had also the deeper purpose of service to God and His Church. He also urged his hearers to unite with the hobby adopted for pleasure some other hobby which would render social service in the world around them.

The Master (Mr. Thomas Groombridge, sen.) presided over the dinner, and was supported by Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), Prebendary Ponsonby (Rector of Bow), Mr. E. H. Lewis (Glasgow), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Guild), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer of the Oxford Guild), Major J. H. B. Hesse, Major F. A. Yorke, R.A., Rev. H. Fynes-Clinton (St. Magnus'), Mr. C. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. J. D. Matthews (Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths), Mr. J. George (Birmingham), Mr. A. Coppock (Master of the Sherwood Youths, Nottingham), Mr. W. Skinner (Dean's Verger at St. Paul's Cathedral), Rev. E. C. Bedford, Mr. E. A. Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council), Rev. W. Pennington Beckford (St. Clement Danes), Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn. Among other visitors were Messrs. J. T. Rickman (Master), A. D. Stone (hon. secretary) and K. Hart, of the Sussex Association; A. Walker (Ringing Master), A. Paddon Smith (hon. secretary), and P. Laffin, of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham; J. T. Dyke (hon. secretary) and T. King, of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association; C. H. Kippin (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association); J. W. Jones (hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association); H. Walker (secretary) and G. Clark, of the Doncaster District Society; R. T. Hibbert (secretary of the Oxford Diocesan Guild); F. A. Smith (president of the Hertford County Association); J. Christopher Mitchell (London), W. Haigh (Rockester), W. T. Pates (Cheltenham), G. Bowen (Ilfracombe), G. Ludd (Pinchbeck), L. Wightman (Norwich), Gillingham and Tillett (Ipswich), W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), S. Palmer and J. Thorpe (Sheffield), E. Bishop (Swindon), W. Davies (Liverpool), L. Wilson (Wootton Bassett), J. Evans (Hugghenden), W. D. Smith (Eastbourne), E. C. Goldsmith (Clapham), J. Parker (Edmonton), A. D. Cullum (Caversham), E. F. Poppy (Eye), W. Melville (Guildford), F. Dench (Saffron Walden), W. Hibbert, jun. (now home for a holiday from Nigeria), and ringers from many towers in London and within a big radius of the Metropolis. Mr. H. R. Newton occupied the vice-chair, and among the officers of the College Youths present were Messrs. W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary), A. A. Hughes (hon. treasurer), C. F. Winney and W. Prime (trustees), J. Hawkins and J. Bullock (stewards). The oldest member present was Mr. Ted Wallace, who joined the society 57 years ago.

After the toast of 'The King,' the Master proposed 'The Church,' to which Prebendary Ponsonby responded.

Canon Coleridge submitted 'Continued prosperity to the Ancient Society of College Youths,' to which Mr. W. T. Cockerill replied.

'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. C. H. Horton, and acknowledged by the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford.

The Vice-chairman gave 'The London and Provincial Ringing Societies,' nineteen of which, he said, were represented there that night. Mr. P. W. H. Sergesen and Mr. J. T. Dyke replied to the toast.

'The Press' was proposed by Mr. E. A. Young, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Editor of 'The Ringing World') responded.

Bells figured prominently in the musical programme. A course of Stedman Cinques was rung 'double handed' by Messrs. H. Hodgkiss, A. Peck, C. F. Winney, H. Langdon, J. Thomas and W. T. Cockerill; Mrs. Hughes once more delighted the company with her handbell solos, playing, with her accustomed skill and grace, 'Londonderry Air,' 'The Old Brigade,' and, as an encore, 'Land of Hope and Glory'; and the Brothers Brett-Smith (Jack, Cyril, Percy, David and Tom) roused the audience to a pitch of great enthusiasm by their tune ringing, which included such favourites as 'Drink to me only,' 'The Farmer's Boy,' 'Ring the bell, watchman,' etc. Capt. Freeborn was encored for his delightful rendering of the song 'Danny Boy,' and a similar compliment was paid to Mr. T. Warren, who sang 'Leavin'' in fine style. Mr. F. Groombridge was the accompanist.

The happy evening was concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne.' The reports of the speeches will appear in our next issue.

WYRARDISBURY, BUCKS.—On Saturday, Oct. 29th, a quarter-peal of Grandisle Triples in 43 mins.: A. J. Sylvester 1, L. Mannerling 2, W. F. Ellingham 3, W. E. Butler 4, E. Burley 5, F. E. Hawthorne 6, W. C. Parker (conductor) 7, W. Brants 8. First quarter-peal by ringers of treble and tenor. Rung after a peal failure for the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

THE JUBILEE GATHERING.

The 50th annual festival of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held on Saturday, October 29th, in the city of its birth, Durham. There were over 100 members present from York, Newcastle (three towers), Gosforth, Bishop Auckland, Chester-le-Street, Cramlington, Darlington (three towers), Durham (two towers), Gateshead, Houghton, Hurworth, North Shields, Shildon, Staindrop, Stockton, Sunderland (two towers), Tanfield, West Hartlepool, and Whitley Bay.

Early in the day, ringing was kept going at St. Oswald's, St. Nicholas' bells not being yet available, owing to rehanging work going on in the tower by Mr. Ernest Ferry. The committee met at mid-day, and got through a lot of business, deciding to send or present an address of welcome to the newly-appointed Bishop of Newcastle, Dr. Bilbrough; and also fixed the general meetings for the ensuing year: Pre-Lent, Cramlington; Whit-Monday, Stockton; and summer meeting, Bamburgh.

At one o'clock the members assembled in the beautiful chancel choir of Durham Cathedral for the service, the Dean of Durham (Bishop J. E. C. Welldon) giving the address.

Bishop Welldon, in his discourse, greeted the ringers as his fellow-workers in the ministry of the Church. It was a strange coincidence, he said, that their meeting that day in the cathedral should be marked by the news that the one professor of campanology in all the universities of the world had passed away. So far as he knew, there had been no other professor like Professor Starmer in the University of Birmingham, and it was with sadness, and yet with thankfulness of heart, they remembered before God his services to the art of bell-ringing. Church bells, he continued, were a part of the legacy which the Church inherited from the Middle Ages. 'I like to think,' said Dr. Welldon, 'that the bells have done much for religion in England and in the world. I do not know what the Church would do without her bells; and, as you reflect upon the varying messages of the bells—the happy message of the marriage bells, the tragic message of the passing bell when the soul has departed to God Who made it—you will realise that the ringing of the bells is no more a mechanical business, but a spiritual office.'

The members afterwards gathered round the festive board at the Rose and Crown Hotel, where Mr. C. L. Routledge, president of the association, occupied the chair. He was supported by the president of the Yorkshire Association (Rev. C. C. Marshall), Mr. Joseph Broadley, of Bradford, Bishop Wood, Vicar of St. George's, Newcastle, Canon Stephenson, of Gateshead, the Vicar of South Shields (Canon Hudson Barker), the Vicar of Tynemouth (Rev. R. E. Holmes), Canon Bothomley, Durham, Mr. T. T. Goffton and his wife (Mrs. Councillor Goffton), the Rev. J. Wall (sacristan of Durham Cathedral), Mr. J. W. Parker, and Mr. G. S. Taylor, Sunderland, Mr. W. Story and Mr. E. Ferry (secretary), Newcastle, Mr. A. M. Hall, Gateshead, and Mr. F. Lowe, Tanfield. Mr. R. Patterson, of Sunderland, vice-president, occupied the vice-chair. The Bishops and Durham and Newcastle sent messages of regret for being absent on that auspicious occasion, and a telegram of good wishes and regretting absence was received from Mr. F. E. Dawe (London).

The visitors were formally but cordially welcomed by the Chairman, and, in reply, the Rev. C. C. Marshall expressed his pleasure at being able to represent the neighbouring association of Yorks at that gathering, and to bring with him another staunch supporter of his association in Mr. Broadley.

Mr. William Story, of Newcastle, giving the toast 'The Bishops and the Clergy of the two dioceses,' described the new Bishop of Newcastle as 'a big, hefty chap,' and remarked that if he and the Dean of Durham would take the tenor bell he had no doubt that the ringing would be 'Welldon.' There had been of late a good deal of controversy as to the relations between the clergy and the bellringers, and he was of the opinion that they were all to blame.

Bishop Wood, responding, remarked that many young curates would be only too glad to start ringing when they had health and strength, and life was all a game. He was perfectly certain they would find in the new Bishop of Newcastle a strong friend of that work. They were fortunate at St. George's, Jesmond, in having Mr. Ferry as master of the belfry.

MR. WILLIAM REED.

A SATISFACTORY YEAR.

Mr. E. E. Ferry, of Gosforth, presenting the 50th annual report, said the association was formed in 1877, and in 1882 there was a membership of 195, as against 686 at the present time. The old idea of the clergy and ringers looking upon each other as a necessary evil had died out, and now they looked upon each other as fellow-workers in the service of God. They had the support of five bishops and 33 clergy, but there were still 15 Vicars in the Durham diocese and two in Newcastle diocese who had bells in the church towers and were not hon. members. They were glad to have among them that day the only member of the original organisation left, Mr. William Newton, of Stockton. The past year showed an improvement in the number and quality of the Sunday service sheets sent in. Chief returns were: For the 8, 10, 12-bell towers: North Shields, 1, 1596.596; St. Ignatius, Sunderland, 2, 1333.984; Whitley Bay, 3, 868.446; Newcastle Cathedral, 4, 618.97; St. John's, Darlington, 5, 319.97. Six-bell towers: Holy Trinity, Darlington, 1, 1370.08; Hurworth-on-Tees, 2, 775.96; Benfieldside, 3, 353.76; Newburn, 4, 221; Newton Hall, 5, 140.32. North Shields had taken first place for the second year in succession. Durham Cathedral and St. Oswald's, Durham, had sent in ringing sheets for the first time. Holy Trinity, Darlington, had taken first place for the sixth successive year. Mr. Adam Deas headed the list of peals with nine, and Mr. J. W. Parker was at the top of the list of conductors with four.

Mr. G. S. Taylor, treasurer, produced an excellent balance sheet, with an unprecedented balance in hand of £21 15s. 6d., but, as he explained later, though all outstanding debts were paid, 1927-28 was likely to be a heavy year of expense and would swallow it up.—The Chairman proposed the adoption of the balance sheet and report, and they were adopted.

'OUR FOUNDERS.'

The President submitted the jubilee meeting toast 'To the memory of our founders, 1877, and to the continued prosperity of the association.' He referred the audience to 'The Ringing World's' issue of that week for the details of the initiation of the association, which took place in that very city, in the song school of the cathedral. The first annual report, printed and in MS., was on the table for everyone to see, and he quoted from the account of the first annual meeting, published in 'Church Bells' of September 28th, 1878, some details of how the Durham Cathedral ringers themselves hauled the efforts of advancement in those days. After all these years, this obstruction had been overcome by their secretary, Mr. Ferry, with the co-operation of Dean Weldon and his chapter, and not only were the bells being rung now to changes on Sunday, but all the young band of enthusiasts were members of the association. Mr. Routledge mentioned the men of grit and enthusiasm who had carried on the work from the earlier days of the founders, in addition to those mentioned in

'The Ringing World' of October 29th, including such fine exponents of the art as Wm. Newton and Tom Stephenson, of Stockton, Joel Hern and Moffatt, of Shields, Wallis, Denton and Power, of Newcastle, the Gofsons, of Whitley Bay, the Hudsons, of Sunderland, Field and Falconer, of Gosforth, the Ferrys, of Newcastle, Blakiston, of Middlesbrough, Porter, Todd and the Parks, of Darlington. Of the parsons who had been most prominent were the Revs. C. Buxton, sometime secretary, C. C. Cox and H. S. T. Richardson, Bernard Jealous, A. Simpson, and Canon Williams, and last, but not least, their ex-president, Rev. A. W. Lister, of South Shields, formerly of Stockton and Tanfield. Of the non-ringing parsons they delighted in giving honour to were the Rev. Canon

The present hon. secretary.

Barker, Canon Stephenson, Gateshead, and Rev. H. H. Barff, of Wylam, all of whom have given nearly 30 years' kindly support to this association. The President asked, Has this association influenced and improved the status of the ringer as a Church worker? The spread of voluntary ringing by the love of change ringing for its own beautiful intricacies and worth, and their staunch loyalty to the Church with its Bishop, priests and deacons, proved that up to the hilt. Voluntary work was the platform on which the ringer as a Church worker stood.

As to belfry reform, he continued, I can only refer you to our list of bells of the two dioceses in the final pages of our report to show you there is hardly one of the peals of bells mentioned there that has not been installed, augmented or rebung at the instance of some officer or member of this association, from the cathedrals down to the five bells at Willington. Over and above these conquests, there is that magnificent feeling of brotherhood which has ever cemented us together as a whole family, free of cliques and factions, large in number though we be. These facts can only bring us to one conclusion—that we have justified our founders' ideas and plans, and that we would have been very much poorer morally, physically and certainly mentally, had we never been banded together as an association. Every effort should be made to gain the confidence and appreciation of the public, of our art and of our work, by propaganda. When a lecture can be given, let it be taken in hand at once and carried through thoroughly, with lantern slides and a handbell demonstration where possible.

In conclusion, the President referred to his 47 years as a ringer, and said he had never regretted one minute of the time spent in the belfry and in the company of the whole-hearted change ringer. He coupled with the toast the name of Mr. William Newton, of Stockton-on-Tees, the only living member of the association who was present at the inaugural meeting in Durham 50 years ago, and who was there that day, hale in body and still whole-hearted in his ringing, and one of the straightest and kindest men he had ever known. For fifty years he had never wavered in his loyalty to the association (applause).

The toast was drunk with enthusiasm by all present, and Mr. Newton, in his reply, gave some delightful reminiscences of his experiences of the early days of the association and its meetings, which were listened to with rapt attention by the members and warmly applauded.

After a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, the following were elected officers for the coming year: President, Mr. G. L. Routledge; vice-presidents, Messrs. E. A. Hern, Foster Pattison, R. L. Patterson, and T. Clark; secretary, Mr. Ernest Ferry; treasurer, Mr. G. S. Taylor; editorial secretary, Mr. A. Payne; and auditor, Mr. A. M. Hall. The district secretaries were all re-elected—Messrs. A. Deas (including the Newcastle division of Northern District), G. S. Taylor, J. T. Tiff, H. Tyson, and Chas. Symon, for West Tyne division.

The Rev. C. C. Marshall then graciously presented the winning certificates for the Sunday service ringing, awarded upon what is known as Ferry's List.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Durham, with particular reference to Dr. Weldon's very beautiful address, to Canon Culley for presiding at the organ, and to the Vicars of St. Oswald's and St. Nicolas', Durham, for the use of the bells during the day.

After the election of new members, both honorary (including two Residentiary Canons of Durham) and ringing, of which there were about 25, a vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.

The rest of the evening was spent in ringing at the cathedral and, later, at Chester-le-Street, at both of which touches of Treble Bob Major and Stedman were rung.

REOPENING OF BELLS AT GUISBOROUGH.

On Saturday evening, October 29th, the peal of six bells (tenor 9 cwt.) at Guisborough, Yorks, were rededicated by the Rector of the parish after being tuned and rebung in ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

A short service was held, during which the Rector entered the ringing chamber (which is open to the church), and there read the dedicatory prayers. After the singing of the closing hymn, the bells were raised in peal, while the congregation stood as interested spectators. A band of ringers, which included the president and the secretary of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, then rang touches of Cambridge Surprise, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob.

Guisborough is to be congratulated on possessing such a fine ring of six, and the bell hangers upon the excellent 'go' of the bells.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

HELP FOR WEST DRAYTON BELL FUND.

A most successful meeting of the South and West District was held at Twickenham on Saturday, October 29th. It was a pleasure to see so many young enthusiasts present, and their company was welcomed by the Ringing Master (Mr. R. Holloway) and Mr. Trollope. Splendid practice was done before service, which was conducted by the Rev. E. P. Cole-Skeane, Vicar, the Rev. R. Jones presiding at the organ. After service, the members were entertained to tea by the Vicar and churchwardens, the meal being served by Mr. and Mrs. J. Lovell. The Vicar presided, supported by Mr. Etherington (churchwarden), Mrs. Cole-Skeane, Mr. Bird (vice-president), the Ringing Master, and hon. treasurer, and a company of 52 had an enjoyable time.

The usual business was transacted, with hearty thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for their kind hospitality, to Mrs. Cole-Skeane, to the organist, to the Ringing Master, the vice-president, the host and hostess, Mrs. G. Bradford, Mr. E. Morris, and Mr. and Mrs. Belcher and family for their several selections on the handbells, which were very much appreciated.

The Hon. Secretary made an appeal for money to help the West Drayton Bell Fund, and two guineas have been sent and duly acknowledged by the Fund Committee.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. John-the-Baptist's, Eltham, on Saturday, October 29th.

The bells were kept going to touches in the standard methods throughout the afternoon and evening. Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Elphinstone Rivers), who gave a very interesting address, in the course of which he welcomed the association to Eltham.

After the service, the members repaired to the Parish Hall, where a splendid tea was attractively served by Mrs. Anderson and a committee of ladies. Some sixty members partook of the repast, which was generously provided by the local ringers and friends.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar occupying the chair. The Secretary read a report of last year's work, and this was adopted.

Three new members were elected, and the officers for the year were chosen. The retiring secretary (Mr. A. G. Hill) was re-elected. Then followed the election of two representatives on the Central Committee of the association. Mr. W. J. Jeffries, having become a trustee of the society, was unable to continue his long and faithful service in this capacity, but his colleague, Mr. I. Emery, was re-elected, and two nominations were made to fill the vacancy. The voting resulted in the appointment of Mr. E. Barnett, jun., of Crayford.

Only one suggestion was made for the place of the next quarterly meeting, i.e., St. Luke's, Brounley Common, and this was agreed to.

A discussion followed on the rule concerning non-resident life members. This resulted in the district representatives being instructed to bring the matter to the attention of the coming committee meeting, and to get the rule revised to avoid the existing ambiguity.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, for his address, and for presiding at the meeting; to the organist for his services, to the donors of the tea for their generous hospitality, and to Capt. Anderson, captain of the local ringers, who was solely responsible for all the excellent arrangements made.—This was carried with applause, as was a similar vote, proposed by Mr. I. Emery, to Mrs. Anderson and her committee, for their able supervision of the social function.

The Vicar and Capt. Anderson responded, the latter gentleman asking for ringers to visit Eltham on Wednesday afternoon, November 2nd, to ring on the occasion of the opening of the Woolwich War Memorial Hospital.

This concluded a successful meeting, the tower being again visited and further ringing taking place.

On Wednesday, November 2nd, on the occasion of the opening of the Woolwich War Memorial Hospital, by their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of York, touches of Stedman Triples, Treble Bob and Bob Major by the following: W. J. Jeffries, G. H. Daynes and E. Barnett, sen. (conductors), F. Fraser, E. Mounter, J. Hurrell, H. Wood, W. A. Simmonds, F. Coley, C. A. Bines and E. B. Crowder.

THE CLASHING OF DISTRICT MEETINGS.

The annual general meeting of the Rochester District was held at Chatham on Saturday, October 29th, nearly 50 members attending, and it is interesting to record that every 'touch,' in methods varying from Grandsire to Superlative, that was attempted 'came home.'

The association service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Wiltshire, Mr. E. A. G. Allen, of Frindsbury, accompanying the singing on the organ.

Tea followed in the schoolroom, after which the business meeting was held, presided over by the Rector.

The district secretary (Mr. F. M. Mitchell) presented his annual report, which showed a slight falling off in the number of practising members in the district, but an increase in the number of peals rung. In the report, the secretary urged all to try and get new members, as he did not like to see their membership declining.—The report was unanimously adopted, and the secretary thanked.

Mr. Mitchell was unanimously re-elected district hon. secretary, and Messrs. Haigh and W. Spice district representatives on the Association Committee.

A discussion took place on the clashing of dates of the various district meetings, and it was unanimously resolved that the representatives should do their best at the forthcoming general committee meeting to remedy this, not that that district was often privileged to have visits from other district members, but to enable its own members to visit other meetings if they so desired.

Rainham was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, having beaten Gravesend in the ballot.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to all for the success of the meeting, and the tower was again visited and ringing indulged in until nine o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal on another highly successful meeting.

DERBY CATHEDRAL HALLOWING.

At Hartshorne, Derbyshire, on November 3rd, in commemoration of the Derby Cathedral hallowing, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (the longest length on the bells) in 41 mins.: A. Sharp 1, R. H. Dove 2, P. W. Grice 3, F. Boulstridge 4, J. W. Cosson (conductor) 5. A peal on these bells had to be abandoned owing to the bad 'go' of the 4th and tenor.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT HITCHIN.

An exceptionally good meeting of the Northern District of the Herts Association was held at Hitchin on Saturday, when, by the kindness of the Vicar, the bells, a beautiful ring of eight, were available the whole afternoon and evening. Ringers were present from Baldock, Barley, Kempston, St. Neots, Hatfield, Offley, Biggleswade, Graveley, Royston, Trumpington, Kimpton, Sandy, Southill, Roxton, Little Munden, Luton and the local band. Ringing commenced early in the afternoon, and no time was lost between the various touches, so that all present might have as much ringing as possible. The Vicar conducted a short service, and joined the ringers afterwards at the tea and meeting. One new life member was elected, viz., Mr. E. H. Finch, of Great Shelford.

The Vicar very heartily welcomed all present, and remarked that bellringing must be a very fine art to bring so many men together at one place for it. Reference was made to the sad bereavement of a Royston ringer, Mr. S. C. Roberts, in the sudden death of his son, who was also a ringer, and as a mark of respect the whole company stood in silence for a few moments.

The belfry was visited again for further ringing, and the bells kept going till about nine o'clock. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise. London Surprise was attempted, but did not go too well. The success of the meeting was the subject of general comment, as was also the good 'go' of the bells, the back three of which have just been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AND A PRESENTATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Bristol Branch was held at Mangotsfield on Saturday, Oct. 29th, and between 40 and 50 members and friends were present. The well-known captain of the local band (Mr. 'Jack' Jefferies), who, by the way, is the chairman of the Bristol United Guilds for the year, was at the church to welcome the members. The bells, a light peal of eight, were raised in peal, and were rung up till service time at 4.30. The service was a great feature of the meeting, the full choir being augmented by the ladies' choir. The Vicar (the Rev. F. R. H. Crews) officiated, and also gave an address. He welcomed the association to Mangotsfield, and hoped they would come oftener.

After the service, the ringers adjourned to the Crown Hotel for tea, and at the meeting which followed the chairman of the branch (Mr. J. Gould) presided.

Mr. Jefferies undertook the duty of instructing the Absom ringers in change ringing, and was thanked for his kind offer and service.

It was resolved to recommend to the general committee that a grant be made from the funds towards rehanging Marshfield bells.

Abbots Leigh was chosen for the next monthly meeting on Saturday, November 26th, and Brighthelm for the meeting on December 17th.

The Chairman proposed, and Mr. Wm. Knight seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, the organist and the choir, also to Mr. J. Jefferies for making such excellent local arrangements, and this was carried by acclamation.—The Vicar, responding, said he would repeat what he said at the service, that a hearty welcome would be always given them at any time, and if they could not arrange a meeting at any chosen place, Mangotsfield would be always open to them as an alternative. He paid a high compliment to their captain and ringers.—Mr. Fussell responded for the choir, and said it was a real pleasure to them all.

This concluded the business meeting. The Vicar and the local ringers took advantage of the meeting to make a presentation to one of their members (Mr. C. R. Harding), who was shortly leaving them to take up his residence at Cheltenham. Mr. Jefferies spoke of Mr. Harding's past service, the help he had always given them, and the good fellowship he had always exhibited, and asked the Vicar to present Mr. Harding with a handsome mounted walking stick. The Vicar spoke of the loss which the local band would sustain by Mr. Harding's departure, and wished him well. Mr. Harding was loudly applauded on receiving the gift from the Vicar.

The Chairman outlined Mr. Harding's career as a ringer, and the Secretary, on behalf of the association, gave him warm wishes for his future health and happiness, and more usefulness to the cause of church bellringing.

Mr. Harding, who was taken by surprise, thanked them all, and said he would do his best to continue to give all assistance he could to the cause of bellringing.

The members then returned to the belfry until 9 p.m., special instruction being given to several learners, who were very pleased with their first success.

ONE HUNDRED 720's THIS YEAR.

At Over, Cambs, on Sunday, October 30th, Mr. F. Warrington rang his one hundredth 720 for 1927. This was before the evening service, and was a 720 Cambridge Surprise: C. Robinson 1, F. C. Ginn 2, B. Wayman 3, F. G. Gleaves 4, A. J. Ginn 5, F. Warrington (conductor) 6.

DEATH OF MR. F. S. BARNES.A WELL-KNOWN CHESHIRE RINGER.

We regret to record the death of a well-known Wirral ringer in the person of Mr. Francis Sydney Barnes, who passed away on October 26th, after a long and painful illness, at the age of 50 years. The deceased commenced his ringing career at St. Albans Abbey, Herts, but removed to Birkenhead, Cheshire, in 1899, and became attached to St. Saviour's Church, Oxton, where he took a keen and active part in the ringing. The peals in which he took part, though not numerous, were invariably of a good quality, and he could always be relied upon as a 'safe' ringer.

His remains were laid to rest at Bebington Cemetery on Saturday, October 29th, in the presence of a large number of ringing and Masonic friends, who had gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to their old colleague. Prior to the interment a service was held at St. Saviour's Church, conducted by the Rev. Canon Sayer, M.A. (Vicar), who also officiated at the cemetery. The bells were rung half-muffled previous to the service, and at the graveside a farewell touch on handbells was rung by Messrs. J. Cooke, W. Dean, C. I. Davies and H. Ludkin.

In addition to the relatives and other friends present at the church and cemetery, there were also present Messrs. E. W. Elwell (hon. secretary, Chester Diocesan Guild), H. S. Brocklebank (Wirral Branch secretary, Chester Diocesan Guild), R. Birchall, J. Evans, W. Hughes, S. Moston, G. Smith and W. Wharton (St. Saviour's Church), Claude I. Davies (Liverpool Branch secretary, Lancashire Association), J. Cooke, W. Dean, R. Fitzsimmons and J. Withers (St. Peter's, Rock Ferry), G. R. Edwards, J. Griffin, H. Ludkin, H. Marsh and H. Martin.

On Sunday, October 30th, for morning service, at St. Saviour's Church, a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled by the following: R. Birchall (conductor), H. S. Brocklebank, J. Evans, E. J. Glanville, W. Hughes, S. Moston, H. J. Samuel and W. Wharton.

FURNESS AND LAKE DISTRICT LOSS.SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. FURNESS WOODEND.

Members of the Exercise in the Lake District have sustained a severe loss by the death of Mr. F. Woodend, of Brathay, who expired suddenly in the early hours of Wednesday, November 2nd. Mr. Woodend was 57 years of age, and is survived by two sons and two daughters. He had been a ringer at Brathay for 35 years, and had taken part in 35 peals, his last peal being Kent Treble Bob Major on October 22nd of this year.

The funeral took place at Brathay on Saturday, November 5th, there being a large number of ringers and friends present. Ringers from Silverdale, Hawkshead, Brathay and Ambleside carried him to his last resting place near to the tower he loved so well. After the funeral a muffled peal was rung, ringers from Hawkshead, Kendal, Silverdale and Ambleside taking part. Among his peals Mr. Woodend had rung one of 6,120 changes of Minor in five methods, and two 10,080's of Minor in seven methods: Minor in one method 11, in two methods 1, in three methods 10, in four methods 2, in five methods 2, in six methods 1, in seven methods 5, Grandsire Doubles 1, Bob Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1.

FORMER LANCASHIRE SECRETARY'S DEATH.

The death has occurred of Mr. J. Tomlinson, of Blackburn, formerly hon. secretary of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association. Many of his old ringing friends attended the funeral on November 1st, and afterwards, on the bells at Balderstone, Rochdale, a representative band rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells fully muffled: J. Griffiths 1, S. K. Taylor 2, J. H. Kershaw (Rochdale Parish Church) 3, W. Staff (Milnrow) 4, T. Fletcher (Whitworth) 5, J. H. Lees (conductor) 6, F. Hartley (Shore) 7, G. Staff (Milnrow) 8.

On Sunday evening, November 6th, for service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) half-muffled: Tom Clegg 1, C. Horsefall (conductor) 2, S. Taylor 3, J. Griffiths 4, F. Leah 5, J. H. Lees 6, J. Jones 7, E. Chadwick 8.

RAISING AND FALLING IN PEAL.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was one of those present at the meeting at Broxbourne, and heartily agreed with the Vicar in his views re the raising and falling of bells in peal. I think that the music which pours forth when they are about halfway up is grand, and far more pleasing to listeners than the lowering of a few at a time, even if they harmonise. It should not be too difficult for a great many bands to raise in peal or lower, if the treble is pulled up steadily and leading off the tenor carefully. I think the great secret is to keep them going up all the time and not to stay in one position. The same thing applies to lowering.

Your leading article of last week is a word in season, and I hope will bear fruit, and many change-ringing bands might copy some of the 'stony' bands in this, for, as you rightly say, they raise and fall perfectly, especially some of the heavy peals in the West Country. I am glad to say that it has been done here for many years.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. LAWRENCE.

METHOD EXTENSION.

On slightly different lines perhaps, but very much the same in principle as the suggestion which we put forward some time ago in this column, Mr. J. S. Wilde writes from New Zealand advocating the investigation of method extension. Mr. Wilde, although now living on the other side of the world, where he has had little chance of practising change ringing, is nevertheless no mean composer, and in his detached sphere has been able to watch and to follow the disputation of the 'experts' in this country absolutely without bias. At the present time method extension is in a state of chaos for the ordinary student. And how can it be otherwise when the experts—men to whom the Exercise ought to be able to look for guidance in these matters—are divided on the very bed rock of the question? Each side honestly believes itself to be right, and at present there seems no possibility of their coming to any kind of agreement. Each is also convinced that the other is indubitably wrong, and either will not or cannot appreciate the truth—and so imagines there is nothing more to be said. While this kind of feeling exists we shall get nowhere, and yet the question of method extension is one about which, as the art progresses, the average ringer will want to know more.

For instance, it is absurd to leave the question of the extension of Superlative Surprise where it is, and we do not agree with the view put forward that there are not half a dozen people in the Exercise capable of forming a judgment on the matter. If this is the case it is rather a sorry outlook. As things stand at present two entirely different methods have been rung as the extension of Superlative Surprise Major. Whether the Royal or the Maximus, or either of them, is correctly named does not enter into the argument at the moment. What we want to see is some body which would command the confidence of the Exercise and which could weigh the arguments of both sides, and come to a decision which ringers would, through the Central Council, accept. There are a number of men in the Exercise—not necessarily in the Council, of course—who would be capable of forming a judgment on a matter of this kind, and to say otherwise is a slight to their intelligence. The case of Superlative, however, is that of only one method, but it is the most pressing at the moment, because of the unsatisfactory position in which it has been left, and the fact that the method is being rung on the higher numbers.

But the root of the question goes deeper than this. It affects all methods. We have settled rules for building up the methods themselves; why should there not be equally well defined principles for making extensions of them? In the old days many methods were constructed which have long since been discarded because they do not come into line with present ideas of method building. In the same way the Central Council has only steadily to encourage method extension on right lines, and the Exercise in due course will accept it. At first there would probably be those who would not agree, but a new generation would doubtless be ready to adopt the principles laid down, assuming that they are correct ones. Mr. Wilde's suggestion is one which would make a start in the desired direction—and somewhere, sometime a beginning has got to be made.

WEDDING BELLS.

WELL-KNOWN GUILDFORD RINGER MARRIED.

The wedding took place on Saturday last of Mr. George William Steere, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Steere, of Shalford, and Miss Winnifred Mary Howick, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howick, of Cranleigh, at the Parish Church of St. Nicholas, Cranleigh. Mr. Steere has been for many years an active member of the Holy Trinity Cathedral band, Guildford, and for some time was secretary. The Rector, the Rev. P. Cunningham, officiated, and the service was fully choral, with Miss B. Dodgson presiding at the organ. The hymns, 'The Voice that breathed o'er Eden' and 'Love Divine, all loves excelling,' were sung, and the organist played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bridal couple left the church.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. F. Howick, was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss C. Steere, and Mr. C. N. Burdock, the present secretary of Holy Trinity Society, acted as best man.

A reception, attended by about 30 guests, was afterwards held at the bride's home, and the newly-married couple later left for Worthing, where the honeymoon is being spent.

As a compliment to Mr. Steere and his bride, his colleagues from Guildford rang the bells of Cranleigh Parish Church before and after the nuptial ceremony, the chief item being 360 changes of Stedman Triples. Mr. and Mrs. Steere were the recipients of a large number of presents. Their new home will be at Carshalton.

On Sunday, October 30th, at Edenbridge, for the wedding of Mr. E. Jenner, son of Mr. R. Jenner, one of the local ringers, 1,036 Grandsire Triples: E. Leigh, jun., 1, J. Hensman (conductor) 2, W. Leigh, sen., 3, H. Leigh 4, G. Malyan 5, E. Collison 6, E. Leigh 7, W. Leigh, jun., 8.

Cross 5, W. Page 6, H. Page (conductor) 7, T. Page 8. First quarter-peal in the method by all the band, and first quarter in the method by a local band for the association.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.BRANCH MEETING DISCUSSES DIPLOMAS FOR YOUNG RINGERS.

The annual meeting of the Witney and Woodstock Deaneries Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Aston Bampton on Saturday, October 22nd. Bad weather considerably affected the attendance, but there was a fairly good muster of members. The business meeting was preceded by a service in the church, conducted by the Rector (Rev. W. W. Preedy), who was assisted by the Rev. C. A. Ward-Jackson, the address being given by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, the Master of the Guild. Before the service and after the business meeting the members made good use of permission to ring the peal of six.

The Master of the Guild, in the course of his address, said it needed a Christian man to be a bellringer; a man who was not a Christian could take part in bellringing as a sort of amusement, but that was a different thing to being a real church bellringer. Yet they knew that a weariness did come over them at times. It came to the young lad at his battle with the elementary stages of learning to ring, especially in these days when there were so many attractions, but they must not give way to that weariness, for 'in due season we shall reap if we faint not,' and they would soon get really to appreciate the joy of being a bellringer. He did not think there had been the number of young and dependable change ringers which he had hoped would come forward after the war, but, on the other hand, there had been an extraordinary forward movement in the putting of bells into proper order, and he believed that soon there would be a tremendous revival of bellringing. They, as Christian bellringers, had a great duty to perform in that connection.

In the absence of the chairman (Rev. F. R. Marriott), the Master of the Guild presided at the annual meeting which followed tea in the schoolroom.

The Rev. W. W. Preedy extended a cordial welcome to the members, and especially to the Master.

Mr. W. Evetts, jun., the hon. secretary, reported that the branch was in a very flourishing condition. Membership had been maintained, and one tower had been gained, while there was a substantial balance at the bank.

The Rev. F. R. Marriott was re-elected chairman, and Mr. J. Monk, moving the re-election of Mr. Evetts as hon. secretary and treasurer, paid a glowing tribute to his work. On the motion of Mr. Flanders, seconded by Mr. Smith, Messrs. W. T. Bond, W. Judge and N. Spendlove were reappointed representatives on the Guild Committee, and, on the suggestion of the secretary, seconded by Mr. Brooks, it was decided to hold the spring meeting at Kidlington.

GRANT TO RESTORATION FUND.

The Secretary brought forward the question of a grant to the Guild Restoration Fund. He pointed out that it was quite a voluntary matter, but said it had been stated it was the duty of branches to make a donation.

The General Secretary of the Guild (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) spoke of the inauguration of the fund by the general treasurer, and said that last year seven parishes were given grants so that their bells could be put in order. That number being greater than was anticipated, the fund had become sadly depleted, and the general treasurer would welcome donations from branches with balances in hand, so that next year help would be available without calling on the general funds.

After discussion, it was agreed to grant £5.

The Master said their action was in conformity with the principles of Guild work. Their branch, he thought, was particularly fortunate in their bells, and, therefore, had not the same strain upon their funds as others had. Their action that day would no doubt be an incentive to other branches.

A letter was read from the Master of the Guild stating that at the last meeting of the Central Council he put forward a motion that the Council should issue a diploma with a view to encouraging young ringers. This action, it was explained, was the result of a suggestion dealt with by two young ringers in letters to 'The Ringing World,' but the question had been deferred until the next meeting of the Council. In the meantime, ringers generally were asked to consider the matter and express their opinions to the representatives on the Council.

The Master explained that he was not pressing the question on the Council or on ringers, but, as much had been written as to how the interest of the young ringer could be maintained, and as the suggestion came from young men, he thought it would be well to have the question discussed. At the present time he did not think he would value a certificate saying he was proficient in a certain method, but no doubt in his early bellringing days it would have been a great encouragement.

The General Secretary thought a diploma would be an encouragement to young ringers. In the absence of many of them that day, he thought that was not the proper place to discuss it, and he suggested the views of the young men should be ascertained in the various towers.

After further discussion, it was decided that consideration should be given the question in the manner suggested by the general secretary.

The Master expressed thanks to the Rector of Aston Bampton, to all who had taken part in the service, and to the ladies who served the tea. The Rev. W. W. Preedy having replied, the meeting concluded with thanks to the Master.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Kent County Association members will congratulate Mr. F. G. Brett, of the Canterbury Cathedral company, on ringing his first peal of Bob Major on Saturday last at Faversham. Having rung close on two hundred peals, including Cinques, this is a noteworthy performance. We are informed that he did not slumber once.

On November 27th, Mr. Jas. George will celebrate his 74th birthday, and all his many friends will wish this 'grand young man' of the Exercise 'many happy returns of the day.' A birthday party of personal friends will be entertained by Mr. George at Birmingham on Saturday, the 26th.

A ringer's wedding of much interest to the Exercise is to take place on February 4th next, when Miss Edith K. Parker, hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild, is to be married to Mr. George W. Fletcher.

Congratulations to the two youths who took part in the handbell peal of Bob Major at Ealing last week, and particularly to Ernest Turner, who called it. He and Wilfred Wilson are schoolboys, who belong to a band of lads now being taught ringing at Christ Church, Ealing, by Mr. J. A. Trollope. The youthful conductor began ringing only last spring. The instructor has evidently some promising material, and the pupils are fortunate in having so capable a teacher.

A big gathering of ringers is expected at Guildford to-morrow for the first general meeting of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild. All contentious business is to be disposed of in order to pave the way for the formal inauguration on December 31st, when the Bishop of Guildford will preside and will, it is hoped, be supported not only by leading Churchmen in the diocese, but also by official representatives of all the neighbouring associations.

The first peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Martin's, Birmingham, was rung on November 19th, 1758. This famous peal of bells has been rung as regularly through the centuries as probably any other ring in the country, but in their present form they have nearly seen their day. A restoration scheme is promised, and it may be on a big scale. 'Many happy returns of the day' to that well-known pillar of the Exercise, Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester, who will be 64 years old to-morrow.

Even in these days 'family' peals are a rare occurrence. What was probably the first of these performances took place at Soham on November 20th, 1809, when eight Tebbits rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major.

An old society, of which we now know little or nothing, the Society of City Scholars, rang a peal of 6,012 Grandsire Caters at Cripplegate on November 23rd, 1732.

The first peal on the present ring of twelve at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, was rung on November 23rd, 1775.

It was not long after the introduction of peal ringing that devotees of the Exercise began record breaking, and as early as November 25th, 1737, a peal of 15,120 Bob Major was rung at West Ham, by the Eastern Scholars. It took them 8 hrs. 40 mins.

ON EXTENSIONS: A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Many years ago there was lengthy discussion as to correct versions of Double Norwich Caters and Cinques. In recent years, Bristol Surprise has had tacked to it, by publication, no less than four separate extensions, by as many different authors, each of whom advanced the claim that theirs was the only correct version. In Superlative Surprise there are at present two notable versions contending for preference. Further, in this latter instance peals in both versions have been rung, and there is no reason why more peals in each version should not be rung again under the same claims. Not only so, a similar undesirable state of things may happen in the case of Bristol or other methods, leading to a state of chaos from which, as time goes on, it will become increasingly difficult to establish order. All this points to the urgent need of legislation. The fact that such legislation will not please everyone does not, in any way, lessen either its importance or its urgency.

In order to help to bring this about I suggest a patient consideration of the laws governing Mr. George Baker's proof of extensions by means of round blocks and transpositions. His published extensions of the many methods he has dealt with exhibit a uniform regularity of progression which may only be attained by rigid adherence to standard laws supporting the principles of a science.

Other systems, if so they may be called, have so far entirely failed to show such uniform results. Indeed, extensions under such conditions appear to qualify for separate rules for each version, and each progressive version, produced. So long as this want of order obtains, so long, then, will confusion, as to what is or is not correct of extensions, prevail.—Yours faithfully,

JAMES S. WILDE.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the fourteenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

PROVING A PEAL.

The first thing to be done, in applying to a peal our 'proof scale' of false course-heads, is to find out what courses, or portions thereof, will be introduced by the composition into each course of the peal.

We know that courses are joined together by means of bobs and singles, and that each time a call is made a fresh course is introduced. This fresh course continues until another call is made, when another new course is brought in. The fresh courses are not necessarily introduced from their commencements; the point (within themselves) where they begin depends upon the 'position' held by the tenor at the 'call.'

If, for instance, in the plain course of Superlative, the tenor is at 'M' (or in sixth's place in the row) at lead-head No. 4, 14263(8)57, and a bob be called, this lead-head will be displaced by 16423(8)57, and a fresh course will be introduced; but the tenor is still at 'M' IN THE FRESH COURSE. Therefore, the new course commences at ITS FOURTH LEAD, cutting out its leads Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

If, in the plain course, the tenor is at 'W' (or in seventh's place in the row) at lead-head No. 5, 135274(8)6, and a bob be called, this row will be displaced by 123574(8)6, we then commence a fresh course from ITS FIFTH LEAD, cutting out its leads Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, and so on.

If a bob at 'M' be followed by one at 'W,' then, into our plain course is introduced a fresh course for its FOURTH LEAD ONLY, and the following bob (at 'W') introduces another course, which starts at its fifth lead. If the bob at 'W' be omitted, then we CONTINUE with the course that was introduced at 'M,' until another call is made.

These calls do not affect the paths of the tenors, and every time they complete the circle (and come 'home') a 'peal course' has been rung, although this 'peal course' may be made up of various portions of differing courses. The peal courses vary in length—there are 'long' courses and 'short' courses; in some methods the calls lengthen or shorten the paths of the tenors, without 'disturbing' their plain-course positions, which has the effect of adding to, or cutting out, whole leads in the peal courses. In Superlative, however, the peal courses here consist of seven leads each, the ordinary number in the plain course.

We proceed, then, to discover what courses are introduced by the given calls, and which portions of these courses will be rung. Our golden rule all along has been 'refer to rounds,' and the first thing we do is to see what effect EACH CALL will have upon rounds. The lead-heads are transposed by the plain first lead-end (15738264), until a bob is called, when we use the bob row for transposition (13578264).

We will presume that our peal is composed of calls at 'M,' 'W' and 'H' only (i.e., when the tenor is due to appear in sixth's place, seventh's place, or in eighth's place in the bob rows). The following three columns show the effects that each call will have upon rounds. The course-heads given are found by comparing each bob row with its fellow in the plain course in the usual way:—

5738264	5738264	5738264
8674523	8674523	8674523
— 6423857	4263857	4263857
Introducing	— 2357486	3527486
course-head	Introducing	7856342
43652	course-head	6482735
	52436	— 4235678
		Introducing

Then, the course-head 23456 is transposed into 43652 by a bob at 'M,' into 52436 by a bob at 'W,' and into 42356 by a bob at 'H.' Therefore, if the peal be started from course-head 23456, and a bob at the first 'M' is introduced, the new course-head will be 43652, which will continue until another bob is called. If the next bob is at 'W,' then 43652 will be transposed by the 'W' formula (52436), giving 54632 as the new course-head. Or, if the 'W' be omitted, and the next bob is at 'H,' then 43652 will be transposed by the 'H' formula (42356), giving 64352 as the new course-head. Or, if BOTH the 'W' and 'H' be omitted, and the next bob is at 'M' again, then 43652 will be transposed by the 'M' formula (43652), giving 63254 as the new course-head; and so on throughout the peal, transposing the previous course-head by the formula which applies to the following call. By this means we can produce all of the course-heads that will be introduced by the composition.

The next step is to tabulate those PORTIONS of the courses which will be rung, as we are not concerned with those that are cut out, and we have to apply our false course-heads ONLY to those portions which they will affect, as we shall see. Notice (in the columns above) that the bob at 'H' occurs at the row where '7-8' have completed their plain-course paths, and are BACK AGAIN in those positions that they occupied at 23456(78); therefore, rounds is a theoretical 'home.'

Examination of the columns will show that between 'H' (2345678 or 4235678) and 'M' (6423857) three full leads are rung; the 'M' position row COMMENCES the fourth lead. We also notice that the 'W' position row (2357486) commences lead No. 5. Therefore, BETWEEN the positions of 'M' and 'W' ONLY lead No. 4 is rung. The 'H' position at 4235678 commences lead No. 1 of the following course (or, if you prefer, 2345678 again). Therefore, between the positions of 'W' and 'H,' leads Nos. 5, 6 and 7 are rung.

This applies to every peal course, whether bobs be called at every position therein, or whether bobs be omitted at some of the positions, because the tenors are undisturbed by the calls, and thus occupy the same positions in every corresponding row of the courses. We can tabulate the result of our investigations as follows:—

Between the positions of H. and M. M. and W. W. and H.
We ring (in every course) leads numbered	1, 2, 3 4 only 5, 6, 7
And course-head 23456 (at a call) becomes	(H) 42356 (M) 43652 (W) 52436

DEATH OF MR. W. J. KEMP.

A WELL-KNOWN LONDON RINGER.

We regret to have to record the death of Mr. William J. Kemp, of St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, who died in the Hackney Hospital on Tuesday, November 8th, after a short illness, the cause of death being pleurisy. As recently as October 29th, he had rung in a peal of Bob Major at St. John-at-Hackney, but a day or two later he became sick with a severe cold, from which he never recovered.

He was buried on Saturday last at Abney Park Cemetery, Stoke Newington, the first part of the service being held at St. Matthew's Church, where the deceased was for some 20 years a ringer. The Rev. H. Wilde (curate-in-charge) officiated, and besides the widow and parents of the deceased, there were present a large congregation, which included several members of the local band and well-known members of the College Youths and the Middlesex Association, amongst whom were Messrs. A. A. Hughes, A. R. Macdonald, H. Pasmore, H. Langdon, C. T. Coles, W. Pye, G. R. Pye, R. Maynard, E. J. King, etc.

After a short, simple, but impressive service, which included the singing of the 23rd Psalm and the hymn 'On the resurrection morning,' a short touch of Stedman Triples, with half-muffled clappers, was rung, whilst the funeral cortege was on its way to the cemetery. After the committal, a course of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by H. Langdon, G. R. Pye, H. R. Pasmore and E. J. King—a fitting requiem to one who was devoted to the art.

The deceased, who was in his 36th year, was an accomplished ringer and a capable conductor. His ringing career started at St. Matthew's Church, Upper Clapton, about 20 years ago, where he was mainly instrumental in building up an efficient local band, and in August, 1913, had the satisfaction of calling a peal of Grandsire Triples, the first peal ever rung on the bells by a band composed of Sundry service ringers. Two of this band, alas! made the great sacrifice in the war, as did two other members of the same company.

Although no record of William Kemp's peals is at present available, they were of a very varied nature, extending from Grandsire Triples and Bob Major (in which methods he had conducted peals) to Stedman Chimes, Cambridge Surprise Royal and Maximus, and London and Bristol Surprise Major. He was a very safe ringer and a good striker. He was a member of the Middlesex County Association, the College Youths, the Essex, London County, and Hertford County Associations, and had been for 16 years assistant hon. secretary in the North and East District of the first-named society. For many years he was regular in his attendance at the annual dinner of the College Youths, and would have been at the recent gathering but for his fatal illness.

During the war he served in the A.S.C., attaining the rank of C.Q.M.S., and spent a considerable time in Egypt and Palestine. He was a member of the company that, on the second anniversary of the fall of Jerusalem, rang in a peal of Stedman Triples at the Church of St. John of Jerusalem, South Hackney, when the band was composed of ex-Service men who had served in the war in the East. By a strange coincidence, another member of that band, Harold J. Walton, has recently passed away. May they rest in peace!

EX-LORD MAYOR'S THANKS.

Sir Rowland Blades, the late Lord Mayor of London, having so courteously received ringers at the Mansion House on the occasion of the meeting of the Central Council, it was decided by a party of College Youths to show their appreciation of his kindness by ringing handbells from one of the balconies of the Great Hall of the Law Courts, during the passage of the civic party through the hall on November 9th. Unfortunately, Major Hunt, the superintendent of the Law Courts, could not see his way to allow the innovation, but Sir Rowland Blades nevertheless fully appreciated the intended courtesy.

He wrote to Mr. E. Alex Young as follows:—

'Thank you very much for your kind letter of congratulations on my Mayoralty on behalf of the Central Council of Church Bellringers. I must also thank the members of the Ancient Society of College Youths for the compliment they wished to pay me, which, although not permitted, is none the less appreciated by me. Will you kindly convey my warm thanks to all concerned?'

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' FESTIVAL. OLDEST MEMBER DISCOVERED IN AUSTRALIA.

The large and representative gathering of ringers that attended the 290th anniversary festival of the Ancient Society of College Youths on Saturday week spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening at the London Tavern, where they were genially presided over by the Master (Mr. T. Groombridge, sen.). The most interesting feature of the speeches was the announcement that the oldest College Youth, in point of years of membership, had been found in Australia, where Mr. Harry Henden, who was elected in 1867, had been living for many years.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, the Master proposed 'The Church,' which, as ringers, he said, they were all proud of and loved. In coupling with the toast the name of the Rev. Gordon Ponsonby, he said he hoped the historic bells of Bow would soon be heard again sending forth their melodies over the city (applause).

The Rev. Gordon Ponsonby, in replying, said it was a little difficult for any man to-day to respond on behalf of the Church, because he must have a very wide sympathy and a very large heart. Before he came to Bow Church, famous for its bells, he was in charge of a Cambridge church, famous for its architecture—the Round Church; and when a friend of his was asked by an inquisitive stranger what sort of a Churchman he (the speaker) was, the friend replied that he was 'Round Church' (laughter). He had always tried to live up to that idea, and live in love and fellowship with his neighbours, trying to find out what was good in all of them, and humbly trying to follow what was best in them (hear, hear). He hoped that in the days to come they would have a larger charity among those who professed and called themselves Christians. Greater unity could only come in a better knowledge of the Gospels and a closer life in union with the Lord whom they revealed.

Canon G. F. Coleridge proposed 'Continued prosperity to the Ancient Society of College Youths.' When he was asked, he said, again to propose this toast, he wrote to Mr. Cockerill that he was like a bearing run dry. He had proposed the toast so often that he really had nothing new to say ('Oh' and laughter). Some of them might laugh, but when he told them it was 32 years since he first came to the College Youths' annual dinner they would realise the position. On that first occasion he was put down to reply for 'Queen Victoria and the rest of the Royal Family' (laughter). The toast was joined to 'The Church,' but, nevertheless, he responded for the Queen and the rest of the Royal Family. The next year he was lower down the toast list, but he did not make his speech, because, on account of the long interval after dinner, they did not reach that part of the programme before he had to leave to catch his train (laughter). Canon Coleridge entered a polite but emphatic protest against the waste of valuable time by an extended interval after the loyal toast, which caused many to have to depart before the programme had been got through. Canon Coleridge went on to refer to many of the distinguished names to which ringers owed something—men who had given bells to churches or had interested themselves in the actual ringing. He mentioned the generous gifts of the late Lord Iveagh to St. Patrick's Cathedral, and of Lord Carysfort to Arklow Church. He recollected that the gentleman who afterwards became the Earl of Winchelsea used to ring with the Oxford University Guild in the days when he (the speaker) went up to Oxford. He mentioned the fact that a granddaughter of the Earl of Oxford and Asquith had not only shown her interest in ringing by visiting a tower and watching the operations of the ringers during the recent Somerset tour, but was also actually learning to ring at Oxford. In the Ancient Society of College Youths they had Lord Breton as one of their founders, and he believed he was a practical ringer. They found other noble names in the preface of the College Youths' 'Rule Book,' and in more recent years they had a distinguished baronet, the late Sir Arthur Heywood, who did a tremendous lot for ringing in general and for the College Youths in particular. In the rank and file they had men in all walks of life doing their part in carrying on this great work of service to God in their churches. In conclusion, Canon Coleridge said he was quite sure one hundred per cent. of the ringers of England would join with him that night in wishing success and prosperity to the Ancient Society of College Youths, and tender, through him, their good wishes to their esteemed and excellent secretary, Mr. Cockerill (applause).

MESSAGE TO THE OLDEST MEMBER.

Mr. W. T. Cockerill, who replied, said he had received letters regretting absence and wishing success from Canon Haldane, Canon Perkins, Rev. Bullock Webster, Rev. B. F. Simpson, Rev. F. L. Edwards (secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild), Rev. Prebendary Isaacs, Rev. J. H. Ellison, Hon. and Rev. S. H. Phillimore, Alderman Pritchett, Mr. J. E. Groves and Mr. A. Prince. During the year the society had lost by death Mr. John Carter, Mr. W. Pitfield Chapple, Mr. W. H. Godden, Mr. G. Durling, Mr. Pryce Taylor, Mr. H. F. Ewins, Mr. Sam Tillett, and Mr. Harold Walton, who six years ago presiding at their dinner. The number of new members made was 26, and the peals rung during the year were Stedman Triples 9, on handbells 3, Stedman Caters 3, Stedman Cinques 5, Grandsire Triples 2, on handbells 1, Bob Major 1, Treble Bob Major 1, Treble Bob Royal 2, Treble Bob Maximus 1, Cambridge Surprise Major 1, London Surprise Major 1, total 30. The number of practices held at city churches and Southwark during the year was 74, which, on the whole, were very well attended. Since the last dinner, continued Mr. Cockerill, it had come to their knowledge that they had a member in Mr. Henry Henden, a jeweller, of Summer Street, Orange, New South Wales, who was elected in 1867 at Lewisham. He took it he must be the senior College Youth from a membership point of view. He was over 81 years of age, and he (Mr. Cockerill) thought it would be a very nice thing to send him a message of congratulation from that meeting (applause). Mr. Henden heard nothing about ringing or the College Youths except through 'The Ringing World,' which had been sent to him for about twelve months by Miss E. K. Parker. Proceeding, Mr. Cockerill said that during the last year they had had eight of their books repaired, one of them being the old autograph name book, which contained the names of members back to 1760—something. There were some extraordinary writing and signatures in the book, some of the leaves of which had become loose and were in danger of being lost. The books had now been put into an excellent state of repair at a total cost of about £30, but, thanks to the generosity of Mr. Young, the amount which the society had had to bear was about £20 (applause).

Mr. C. H. Horton, in submitting 'The Visitors,' said November the fifth was a notable date in the annals of that great city. Two episodes which left their mark in the country happened on November 5th. One was the fusing of the gunpowder plot, and the other the founding of that Society of College Youths. Although, doubtless, the College Youths was founded practically for the purpose of change ringing in their wonderful city churches, he was sure that the great men who founded it had other thoughts in their mind, and they thought of the social side of the question. At their dinner, which no doubt they held in that first year of their existence, they most likely felt they would not keep all the good things to themselves, and they probably had a few visitors. That night they were honoured by the presence of a number of visitors, among them the Rev. Gordon Ponsonby, Rector of Bow, and he (the speaker) believed every man in that room would be a Dick Whittington could he but hear the music of those wonderful bells again. They also had with them Canon Hawkins, of St. Paul's, the Rev. Fynes Clinton, of St. Magnus', the Rev. E. C. Bedford, of St. Andrew's, and the Rev. Pennington Bickford, of St. Clement Danes. They owed a great debt of gratitude to the clergy and other visitors who interested themselves in that society. 'They gave them the use of the towers most willingly for practice, and the members appreciated it (applause).

'FOND OF OLD THINGS.'

The Rev. W. Pennington Bickford, who replied, said he was very jealous of them all. He had often wished to ring. He had tried, but had not continued, so he would never be highly skilled enough. All the same, he appreciated and honoured what the ringers did in the ringing chamber. He knew what a high art it was, and what patience it required to ring long peals, and he appreciated what was done in the church towers in ringing for services. The speaker paid a tribute to the services Mr. Young rendered to the Exercise, and said he did not know what he would do at St. Clement's without him. Although there might be some who differed from him, they would all admire him for what he did to save the bells at Coventry (hear, hear). He (the speaker) was very fond of old things, and if he had had anything to do with those bells he would have moved heaven and earth to retain them, despite all the money that was offered. When St. Clement's bells were restored he set his face strongly against the removal of the cannons of the bells, and Mr. Hughes managed to do the job for them without cutting the cannons off. Those old bells might be a few vibrations out, but, generally speaking, he always heard good things said about the bells of St. Clement's (applause). He did not want to be misunderstood, because he knew there were differences of opinion, but he had a great love for old things, and he liked to retain them.

The Vice-Chairman (Mr. H. R. Newton) submitted 'London and Provincial Ringing Societies,' and said no fewer than nineteen societies were represented in that gathering. Whenever he had gone out to represent the College Youths he had met with the greatest kindness and hospitality, and he hoped members of visiting associations that night would take back similar feelings. He urged that the feelings generated at such gatherings as that should be carried into the towers, and every visitor accommodated with a pull, even if it was only rounds.

Mr. F. W. H. Sergison (St. Clement's Youths) first responded for the London Societies, who, he said, appreciated the kindness of the College Youths at their annual feast in always remembering the other societies. They all knew what the College Youths had done for ringing in London. They trained young men to handle a bell and helped them to ring a quarter-peal, and the next thing they saw them at the Coffee Pot (laughter). Sunday ringing at the London churches was dropping off, and one of the reasons was the high fares which the men had to pay to get to the churches. The ringers were fast moving out of the centre of London to the suburbs, and it cost some of them a good deal to perform their duties at the churches.

Mr. J. T. Dyke (Bath and Wells Diocesan Association) replied for the provincial societies in an amusing speech. He compared the differences in the conditions under which ringing could be carried out in London and in country districts such as that in which he lived, instancing, in connection with the enthusiasm which some provincial ringers displayed, that recently one of a band with which he rang cycled 35 miles to practise Cambridge Surprise Minor.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. LAST MEETING OF THE YORKTOWN DISTRICT. PRESENTATION TO THE SECRETARY.

The members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild in the new diocese of Guildford are now reaching the parting of the ways. The Guildford Diocesan Guild will come into being on January 1st, and on Saturday the last meeting of the Yorktown District of the Winchester Guild was held at Hawley. This district has embraced the area from Yateley, in Hants, to Esher, in Surrey, and on account of its poor means of intercommunication has been one of the most difficult to work. Nevertheless, it has been not the least successful of the districts of the old Guild, and a great deal of this success has been due to the quiet but painstaking efforts of Mr. J. B. Hessey, of Chertsey, the hon. secretary.

At Saturday's meeting the members showed their appreciation of his services by presenting Mr. Hessey with a handsome barometer, with a suitable inscription. There were representatives present from Ash, Bagshot, Chertsey, Camberley, Egham, Hawley, Pirbright, Weybridge, Woking, Yateley and Yorktown, and visitors from Finchampstead and Maidenhead.

The presentation was made by the Rev. G. R. M. Ellwood, who was formerly at Chertsey, and who paid a warm tribute to the work which Mr. Hessey had done for the Guild.—Mr. Hessey, who was taken by surprise, suitably acknowledged the gift.

Prior to the presentation, a service, at which the Rev. G. R. M. Ellwood gave an address, and the final business meeting had been held. The latter was presided over by the Vicar, the Rev. R. Armitstead. The year had closed with a membership of 95 in the district, and a balance of nearly £7. Mr. Hessey thanked the members for the support which they had given him, and particularly Mr. Chaffey (Chertsey) and Mr. Armstrong (Weybridge) for their assistance during the time that he was laid aside by sickness.

A vote of sympathy was passed, by the members standing in silence, with the widow of the late Mr. G. Attfield, of Ottershaw, an old member of the Guild, who had died suddenly on the preceding Monday.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and the Rev. G. R. M. Ellwood, and also to the ladies who had provided the tea.

The hope was expressed that, although the towers in that district would now be divided, there would be a frequent interchange of visits in the future.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who is hon. secretary of the Organising Committee of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, gave an outline of the proposals which it was hoped to carry through, and made an appeal to the ringers in all the churches not only to come into the Guild, but to pull their weight in the endeavour to make it a success.

Ringings took place on the bells of the Parish Church, both in the afternoon and evening.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Portsmouth on Saturday last, when over 50 members were present from Alverstoke, Bramshott, Fareham, Gosport, Havant, Netley Abbey, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Wickham and Winchester.

Ringings at the cathedral was indulged in until 4.30, when the Guild's form of service was used at the special service, at which the Archdeacon of Portsmouth (Ven. H. N. Rodgers) officiated and preached, assisted by the Vicar of Portsmouth (Rev. Bernard Williams). At the conclusion, the members adjourned to the Parish Rooms, where an excellent tea awaited them.

The business meeting followed, the Archdeacon occupying the chair, supported by the Vicar, the general secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger), Master (Mr. G. Williams), district secretary (Mr. F. W. Rogers), the Central Committee representatives (Messrs. F. A. Burnett and R. J. Stone), and the auditor (Mr. H. G. Reynolds). At the outset the Chairman referred to the keen enthusiasm the new Vicar had taken in the Guild, despite his short time in the city, and also to the eagerness and thoroughness the members took in performing their duties.

The balance sheet for the past year showed that the membership of the district was now 17 hon. members, 124 full members, 14 probationers, 3 unattached and one compounding member. The receipts amounted to £18 2s. 6d., and expenditure to £5 2s. 6d., leaving a balance in hand of £11 19s. 10d., and to the treasurer of £11.

It was decided to hold the inaugural meeting of the district in the new Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild at St. Mary's, Portsmouth, on January 28th next, when it is hoped that representatives of all towers in the district, affiliated and unaffiliated, will attend. The present district officers were re-elected en bloc, to serve until that meeting.

Mr. E. Alex Young submitted 'The Press,' and remarked upon the fact that the Exercise was fortunate in having a journal of its own. Without it, they would be badly handicapped, and such gatherings as that would be almost impossible. He spoke in complimentary terms of the service which 'The Ringing World' rendered to the Exercise, and of the importance of giving the paper wholehearted support.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Editor of 'The Ringing World') responded. This concluded the speech-making, and the evening was brought to a conclusion with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

The Vicar of Portsmouth was elected an honorary member, and D. Halliday (Gosport) a probationer.

A complete peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original), written in full and executed by Mr. J. D. Harris (Portsmouth), was presented to the district, and the Vicar readily acceded to the request that it should be framed and hung in the cathedral tower. The cost of the frame was guaranteed by the members present.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Archdeacon, Vicar, organist and caterers for their various services. The Vicar, in reply, thanked the members for the warm welcome they had given him that day, especially in electing him an honorary member. As the late Dean of Grahams-town, South Africa, he had greatly missed the beautiful bells of the motherland, and it was a source of delight to him to hear them ringing again. He added that he would always be willing to do what he could for the Guild, and promised to be present at the inaugural meeting in January.

After the close of the meeting the members adjourned to the tower for further ringing, which during the day ranged from rounds to Bristol Surprise Major. A few made the journey across to Gosport to try the rehung bells at Holy Trinity, and it was arranged with the Vicar to have a Guild opening on Monday, December 5th, when a service will be held in the evening and the bells rung afterwards.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Winchester District was held at Winchester on Saturday, November 5th. The bells at the cathedral (12) and St. Maurice's (6) were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, and the members attended the ordinary evening service at the cathedral at 4 p.m., at which special prayers were offered for the work of the Guild. Tea was served and the business meeting took place at St. Maurice's Hall. Rev. Canon Braithwaite, district chairman, being in the chair, supported by the Lord Bishop of Southampton, Rev. N. C. Woods, hon. treasurer of the Guild, Mr. Geo. Williams, Master, Mr. Geo. Pullinger, general secretary, Mr. W. Andrews, Central Committee, Mr. F. W. Rogers, secretary, Portsmouth District, and Mr. W. T. Tucker, district secretary of the Winchester District. The district secretary gave a brief report of the work in the district during the year. This was considered very satisfactory and was accepted with thanks to Mr. Tucker. The secretary also presented the balance sheet for the year, which showed total receipts £21 9s. 5d., payments £8 3s. 0d. The sum of £9 was handed over to the hon. treasurer of the Guild, leaving a balance in hands of secretary of £4 6d. 5d. This was approved and passed, on the motion of Mr. Loveland, seconded by Mr. Brown.

In view of the rearranging of the various districts to take effect early in the new year, it was proposed by Mr. Pullinger, seconded by Mr. Fray, that the officers be asked to carry on until the new districts were brought into being.

It was proposed to hold inaugural meetings in three districts, the first at Southampton on January 7th for the Southampton District, at Winchester on January 14th for the Winchester District, and at Alton on January 21st for the Alton District.

It was proposed by the District Secretary, and seconded by Mr. Andrews, that the Bishop of Southampton be elected a life member of the Guild.

On the proposition of Mr. Loveland, seconded by Mr. Brown, a vote of sympathy was passed to Mr. and Mrs. Pullinger, of Guildford, on the accident recently sustained by Mr. Pullinger, and the Rev. Canon Braithwaite consented to convey this to them.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Dean and Chapter for the cathedral bells, and Rev. T. M. Watson for St. Maurice's bells. Mr. Watson was unable to be present at the meeting.

The towers represented were Hursley, Southampton, Fareham, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), King's Somborne, Oakley, North Stoneham, Upham, Winchester, Twyford, Stockbridge, Salisbury (St. Edmund's and St. Martin's), and Bishopstoke.

LECTURE ON BELLS AND BELLRINGING.

On Wednesday, November 2nd, a lecture on bells and bellringing was given at the Church Room, Northenden, under the auspices of the Northenden Literary Society. The lecturer was the Rev. F. P. Cheetham, M.A., principal of Egerton Hall, Manchester, a former member of the Cambridge University Guild, and the lecture was illustrated by demonstrations of change-ringing on handbells by the following well-known Manchester ringers: A. Barnes, H. Jackson, F. Page, P. Ladin, M. J. Morris and A. F. Bailey.

After referring briefly to the origin of bells and their use in worship, the lecturer proceeded to explain the various ways of ringing bells now practised, and expressed his own decided preference for change ringing. The method of hanging tower bells was illustrated with the help of a model bell kindly lent by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. A short explanation of the fundamental principles of change ringing followed, illustrated by leads of Bob Minor, Major and Royal and Grandsire Triples on the handbells. The ringers afterwards rang plain courses of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and Grandsire Cinques, all of which were given with admirable striking and rhythm.

The lecture was followed attentively by a large audience consisting almost entirely of non-ringers. The handbell ringing was particularly appreciated by all those present, most of whom had never heard anything of the kind before.

NEW BELLS AT REGINA, SASKATCHEWAN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—After 30 years of silence (not having heard chime or ring in this inland of Canada), the music of the bells was again borne on the air to me (this time in Regina, Canada, instead of England), the occasion being the chiming on a ring of 12 bells, installed in the Metropolitan United Church. The bells were given as a memorial by a Mr. Darke of the city.

The bells are a splendid ring by Mears and Stainbank, of London, and the chimes as given by Mr. Jesse B. Tyler, the representative of that firm, brought out many of their beautiful properties. As the tunes and courses of Grandsire Treble and Bob Major rang out again, old times were recalled. Unfortunately, this ring has only been fixed for chiming, and so the full beauty of change ringing will not be heard. However, I am content at having once more heard a course on the air again.—Yours faithfully,

G. H. DEAN,

THE PEAL AT LONG CLAWSON, LEICESTERSHIRE.

MEN'S BELLS.

As reported elsewhere, another Leicestershire tower has 'fallen' for a peal to Mr. Ernest Morris, this time one of those heavy-weight fives with a long draught of rope which tend to make the critics say 'impossible.' After ringing a peal on the light five of its sister church of Rose, with the Framland Society, Mr. Morris expressed a wish for one at Long Clawson, and Mr. W. Smith at once responded with assistance and men. It so happened that his namesake, of Australia, was over in the 'old country' on a visit to his native home, and being very keen for a peal at the church where he learnt to ring before going 'back under,' he was included in the band, which was made up of two of the best local worthies who 'knew the ropes.' These bells are rung from the ground floor in the centre of the church between the chancel, nave and transepts, being open on all sides, and without a single guide to the roof 40ft. above (even higher than the similar lot at Asfordby), but much heavier bells. They are consequently a 'hefty' lot to handle, and are aptly described as 'men's bells.' With so long a draught of rope, they require more than ordinary skill in handling. Before starting, Mr. E. Morris very reluctantly climbed the thin iron ladder which is let down for the purpose from the roof to the floor of the church, nowhere near a wall, to visit the bells and verify the ancient inscriptions which are in Roman, Gothic and black letter. Returning was even a greater ordeal, happily performed without anything worse than a bad scare at the thoughts of such a perilous descent. The Vicar (Rev. Jordon) said a prayer before the ringing commenced, and, happily, all went well, and a well-struck peal scored, verified by Mr. R. Mount, of Waltham, who came specially to listen, and who timed many of the six-scores. The band, with the Vicar, were entertained to a most welcome tea by Mrs. Wilford, which was much appreciated, and, needless to say, all were very pleased with themselves, especially the 'first pealers,' but none so much as our friend of the treble, who returns to Australia during the week. This was the 104th Leicestershire tower in which Mr. E. Morris has rung a peal.

LADIES' PEAL ATTEMPT.

On Saturday, November 12th, in memory of the fallen, there was rung at Christ Church, Dore, with half-muffled clappers, the first quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) ever rung by a band of ladies in the North of England. The band was composed of the following: Mrs. C. Ryder (Rotherham) 1, Miss Elsie Smith (Norton) 2, Miss Dorothy Tarlton (N. Wingfield) 3, Miss Eva Hopkins (Handsworth) 4, Miss Molly Davenport (conductor) (Dore) 5, Miss Noel Cawthorne (Handsworth) 6, Miss Amy Taylor (Worksop) 7, Miss Elizabeth Foulk (Duffield) 8. This was rung subsequent to the failure of a peal attempt, but the band hope for success in the near future.

THE PEAL AT TRING.

Dear Sir,—A peal of Single Oxford Bob Major (Oxford Bob Major) was rung at St. Mary's, Pulford, by the Chester Diocesan Guild on Wednesday, October 20th, 1909. It was not claimed as the first in the method. The composition is appended.—Yours faithfully,

EDWIN H. LEWIS.

BRAVERY REWARDED.

Police-Sergeant W. J. Dowding, of 10, Goldsmith Road, King's Heath, Birmingham, a well-known member of St. Martin's Guild, has just received, at the hands of the Lord Mayor of Birmingham, the certificate of the Royal Humane Society for courageous conduct. Last July Sergeant Dowding rescued a boy of twelve, named Edward Morgan, of 5, Lower Darwin Street, Highgate, from the River Cole. Fully dressed in uniform, he jumped into water 8ft. deep and brought the boy to the bank.

BISHOP'S VISIT TO HUSBORNE CRAWLEY.

A date touch of Minor (1,927 changes) was rung at Husborne Crawley, Bedfordshire, before the dedication of stained glass windows erected to the memory of the late Rev. Alfred Sasse, by the Bishop of St. Albans on Sunday, October 23rd. The touch consisted of 1,207 Kent Treble Bob and 720 Bob Minor, and was rung in 1 hr. 10 mins.: H. Fleet 1, A. Fleet 2, C. Sinfield 3, W. Peacock 4, E. J. Hobbs 5, H. H. Smith (conductor) 6.

'SILVER BELLS.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—The following quotation is taken from the 'Scotsman' of November 5th:—

'H.M.S. "Nelson," the world's largest battleship, built by Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth, and Company, on the Tyne, is to be presented with the largest solid silver ship's bell ever made, to commemorate the fact that she was built on the Tyne. The making of the bell has been entrusted to Messrs. Reid and Sons, silversmiths, of Newcastle. It will weigh, when finished, nearly 2,500 ounces, that is, about 1½ cwt. The difference in tone between bells of the ordinary metal and those of pure silver of the same size is remarkable. A bell of solid silver gives an exceptionally clear, ringing, and "silvery" note.'

The Rev. G. S. Tyack, in his book about Bells (p. 26), states that 'silver, if used at all, in the casting of bells, was in almost inappreciable quantities. It is, in fact, alleged by experts that the employment of that metal would have precisely the contrary effect upon the tone of the bell to that which tradition assigns to it, silver being in its nature too closely allied to lead to permit of its use in this case.'

Again, Lord Grimthorpe tells us in his book on 'Clocks, Watches and Bells' (eighth edition, 1903, p. 364): 'The most inveterate of all popular delusions about bells is the notion that old bells had silver in them, and that all bells would be improved by it. There is not the slightest foundation for that belief. Nevertheless we had some experiments made for the purpose of being quite sure that silver was of no use, either with reference to sound or strength of the metal; several different proportions were tried, beginning with sixpence in a bell of nearly a pound weight, and it was clear that the silver rather did harm than good in both respects.'

The observations of any of your readers on these apparently conflicting statements would be interesting.—Yours faithfully,

C. CLEVELAND ELLIS.

PRESENTATION AT TILEHURST, BERKS.

On Tuesday, October 18th, the ringers at Tilehurst, Berks, with Messrs. F. W. Hopgood and R. T. Hibbert, of Reading, met in St. Michael's tower, and, after several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, adjourned to the Church Room, and there found the table laid with sandwiches, cakes, etc., and various kinds of liquid refreshments. The venerable Rector, Dr. Cooper Smith, took the chair, and in a short speech said they were met together to show their regard and appreciation of one who was leaving them after many years of faithful devotion to his many duties in the parish, viz., the Rev. W. F. Lane. The ringers would miss him more than most people, as he had always been keenly interested in their work, and had always enjoyed ringing with them on every occasion that he could get to the tower. To show that the ringers had really appreciated his work, and his ringing with them, the Chairman asked Mr. Lane to accept a silver inkstand, suitably inscribed, and he hoped he would use it often with happy memories of Tilehurst.

The Rev. W. F. Lane, who was greatly surprised, said how pleased and touched he was by the beautiful present, and assured one and all that it should be used and valued, both by Mrs. Lane and himself. Messrs. Goodger, Hopgood and Hibbert expressed their regret at losing the Rev. W. F. Lane from the neighbourhood, but wished him and Mrs. Lane all happiness and prosperity in their new home at Bishop's Stortford.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Dr. Cooper Smith for providing the refreshments, and a vote of sympathy was passed to Mr. E. G. Foster, who was prevented by illness from being present.

BRISTOL.—On Monday, November 7th, at Clifton, a quarter-peal of Cambridge Surprise Major (1,280 changes) in 45 mins.: G. Price 1, A. Parker 2, Mrs. Wilkins 3, C. Andrews 4, E. Parker 5, S. J. Hector 6, W. H. Parker 7, Richard Clarke (conductor) 8. Arranged for the ringers of 4th and 6th, who hail from Trowbridge. This was their first quarter-peal in the method.

ARMISTICE.

PORTMADOC.—At St. John's Church, on Armistice Day, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor, half-muffled: R. McMillan 1, H. Roberts 2, H. McMillan 3, P. Roberts 4, F. Williams 5, John Owen (conductor) 6, Edmund Humphreys 8.

BIDSTON, CHESHIRE.—On November 11th, 720 Woodbine Treble Bob Minor, by the local band: G. R. Edwards 1, J. Owens 2, J. F. Smith 3, W. J. Jones 4, R. G. Edwards 5, S. Woods (conductor) 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled to commemorate Armistice Day.

It is not often in these days that a new diocesan ringers' organisation is formed, but no association ever started under brighter auspices than seem to be attending the initiation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, which will begin its career on January 1st next, but which, in all except the formalities, was established on Saturday. In area the new diocese is comparatively small, for it covers only part of Surrey and a fringe of Hampshire parishes, so that it lends itself geographically to homogeneous organisation. For this reason the new Guild will have a decided advantage over the old Winchester Diocesan Guild, whose territory covered all Hampshire and the Isle of Wight, as well as a big portion of Surrey. The Guildford Diocese is a compact whole, and what the new Guild will lack in number of towers ought to be made up in interest and activity, and will be, if last Saturday's meeting is any criterion. The outstanding feature, apart from the enthusiasm displayed, was the fact that 42 out of the 56 towers were actually represented at the meeting. Some of these towers had never before shown any interest in a ringing Guild, others had never been connected with the Winchester Diocesan Guild. The new spirit which is evincing itself in Church life as a result of the division of the Diocese is obviously manifesting itself in a similar way in regard to ringing.

This new spirit emphasises the point that, although the ringers in the Guildford Diocese are parting from their old colleagues of the Winchester Diocesan Guild on the most friendly terms, the Guildford Guild is in no sense merely a portion of the old Guild under another name. It is an entirely new organisation. The scheme was launched without any definite knowledge as to how the Winchester Guild would receive it, and even in the face of opposition of a considerable section of the members of the old Guild in the area. The facts that the whole of the towers and ringers in the Guildford Diocese which were formerly associated with Winchester are joining the new Guild and that the Winchester Guild has willingly ceded the territory are a tribute to the tact with which the Organising Committee have handled their task. That the Committee have done some excellent and effective propaganda work is proved by last Saturday's gathering, at which nearly two hundred ringers, clergy and churchwardens were present. A gathering equally large, if not larger, is expected when the Lord Bishop of the Diocese formerly inaugurates the Guild on the last day of this year.

No ringing society can have started with brighter prospects, but those who are responsible for its well-being are under no illusions as to the task which lies before them if the ambitions and aspirations of the founders are to be achieved. It is one thing to create enthusiasm and interest; it is another thing to retain them. There is work for all to do; but the new Guild has this in its favour: it is making a clean-cut start; it has the opportunity of profiting by the mistakes of other associations; and it can make experiments without first having to break down old traditions. If the policy which it is hoped to adopt is to mature there is spade work to do, and plenty of it, but with the good will of the church authorities and the active participation of the rank and file success ought to be assured. The Guildford Diocesan Guild will, we are sure, come into being with the good wishes of all the older associations.

METHOD EXTENSION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The confusion which at present exists is due to the fact that different people have different theories about what an extension ought to be, and when they use the word extension they attach to it some meaning which is not contained in the word itself, and expect everybody to accept what is really only their arbitrary selection of one system of extending methods to the exclusion of all other possible extensions.

The first thing to do is to lay aside all their theories and study the facts, and this is exactly the thing which most people who have looked into the matter have failed to do.

How have methods been extended in the past? That is the important question, and when that is answered, and not till then, will the majority of ringers be able to approach the question intelligently.

I propose to answer that question, and I begin with the 'Campanologia' by J. D. C. M. On page 22 we get the four and twenty doubles and singles which we call Bob Minimus. On page 24 we read, 'This peal on five bells is thirty . . .,' and then we are given what we call a plain course of Grandsire Doubles.

Now, this is obtained by adding an extra bell in the hunt to Bob Minimus. Shipway adopted this system of extension in his 'Campanologia,' and, speaking of Oxford Bob on page 49, 'On four and five bells it is the same as the Bob and Grandsire systems, and requires on odd numbers—the same as Grandsire ringing—a bell in the hunt along with the treble.' He gives us, page 50, Oxford Bob Triples, Caters and Cinques; on page 52, Reverse Triples, Caters and Cinques; on page 53 Double Triples and Caters. He treats Court Bob in the same way on pages 58, 59 and 60, London Court Bob on pages 63, 64, and 65, and Norwich Court Bob on pages 68, 70 and 71.

In each of these cases he gets Triples from Minor, Caters from Major, and Cinques from Royal by adding a bell in the hunt along with the treble in exactly the same way as J. D. C. M. showed us that Grandsire Doubles was obtained from Bob Minimus.

I conclude that the first system of extension we have found is to add a bell in the hunt along with the treble.

H. LAW JAMES.

INSUFFICIENT KNOWLEDGE FOR FINAL DECISION.

Dear Sir,—Most ringers, I think, will agree with your leading article of this week. The question of the extension of methods is, at the moment, the most important of the outstanding problems of theoretic ringing, and it is most desirable that the Exercise should know all there is to be known about it. But there are one or two things I should like to point out. The matter is not nearly so easy as it looks. You could, no doubt, find without difficulty a number of men who could weigh the available evidence in the Superlative controversy and give a judgment approximately correct. But it is doubtful if any such judgment would do any good. It might even do harm. For what we want to do is not so much to settle these things by authority as to induce ringers to take an interest, so far as they are able, in these more abstruse branches of our science. We don't want to say to young intelligent ringers, 'It is no use your bothering yourself about Shipway's Superlative Royal; it has already been decided by authority that it is not Superlative at all.' We want them to understand exactly what idea a great master like Shipway had in his mind when he produced his Royal, and how it is really related to the Major. My experience is that the more you know about these things the less willing you will be to give dogmatic opinion as to whether Shipway was right or wrong. But, as you say, this is only part of the wider question of the general laws of extension of methods.

Now, I am quite sure that at present there is not sufficient knowledge of that question in the Exercise for any final decision to be given. If, as you suggest, a number of competent persons were to consider the matter and publish their opinions, it would be all to the good. But such opinions could not be final, nor could or should they be binding on anybody. Finality can only come when the whole question is thoroughly understood. Then it will settle itself without any final pronouncement. You point to the fact that 'we have settled rules for building methods.' Yes; but that question was not settled by the adoption of the method report by the Central Council. It was settled, so far as it has really been settled, by the spread of the knowledge and recognition of the mathematical laws on which methods are based. It was the controversies and the discussions which centred round the report and which grew out of the report which really did good. If the report had merely been issued by authority, I am quite sure it would have had no effect whatever. In the same way the present divergence of opinion about extension is not an evil. It is a sign of the interest that is being taken in the matter, and a necessary step in the process of arriving at the truth. Of course, when a man takes up the position that he alone has the truth and refuses to consider any other views, he is hopeless. No doubt there are such men, and there are certainly many others who are quite honestly trying to find the truth, but whose mental equipment is not suited for the investigation of such problems as this. That cannot be helped. It will right itself in time.

Finally, let me point out briefly what the problem really is. It is this: Ringing is based on an exact mathematical science. It is controlled by exact mathematical laws. It is these laws which settle what is and what is not an extension, and if you want to understand what

THE CHARM OF SANDAL.

HAPPY RELATIONS UNBROKEN FOR 100 YEARS.

A meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Sandal on Saturday, November 12th, when members were present from Horbury, Hoylandswaine, Wath, Crofton, Felkirk, Shelley, Armley and Barnsley. The bells were ringing early in the afternoon. About thirty sat down to tea in the Church Room, and, needless to say, brightness reigned over this happy gathering.

The Vicar (Rev. A. A. Parry) presided, and, before the business meeting which followed tea, gave a hearty welcome to the association to his tower, and, further, in praise of his own ringers, declared that they by their 'service before self' had gained his profound respect.

The Vicar then took the chair for the business meeting. As the year is drawing to its close, new members were not elected, and the usual routine was mostly deferred to the annual meeting in January. Horbury was selected for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, December 10th.

In a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding, to the churchwardens for use of the bells, to the ladies for tea, and to the ringers for other arrangements made, Mr. R. Thickills (Horbury) declared that Sandal had given a warm welcome to ringers that extended far away into the past.—Mr. L. Wilkinson (Hoylandswaine) said that there was such a charm in the bells, the prettiness of the place and the goodness of its people, that was irresistible to-day.—The Vicar, in replying, stated that the people were enamoured of the bells. The ringers and the Church had always been united in harmony.

Mr. W. Reynier, a local ringer with over 50 years' ringing attachment to the tower and over 70 years with the Church, said it was just over one hundred years since the bells were placed in the tower, and never had there been a break in the happy relations between Sandal ringers and its clergy.—The vote was carried with acclamation. Further ringing followed to complete the meeting.

extension is you must understand these laws. Obviously it is not a thing that anybody can settle, nor anyone who has not given it much time and study. It might, perhaps, be possible to draw up a set of rule of thumb directions which the ordinary ringer could understand, though he did not understand the reasons for them. But I doubt if even that is possible. It would be possible for simply constructed methods, where such directions are not needed. It would almost certainly fail where it was most needed. However, no harm would be done if someone tried it.—Yours sincerely,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

THE LATE MR. W. WOODING STARMER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There has recently appeared in your 'Belfry Gossip' the statement that Mr. W. W. Starmer was the chief witness for the recasting of the Coventry bells, whilst in another column the services of the deceased were referred to in eulogistic terms as regards the Ringing Exercise. The report was that of the annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association, and the speaker was a distinguished prelate. There has also appeared a long obituary notice in the 'Times' newspaper.

I observe that these statements partly conflict, and that they are partly erroneous. I would therefore ask you to allow me either to modify or restrict them, as may be deemed fair.

Mr. Starmer, who was a member of the Royal College of Music, was an organist and composer of some note; and, as a carillonneur and examiner at Mechlin, he was an authority upon carillons. As the latter generally exemplify 'Simpson' tuning, he was naturally a follower of the late Canon of that name. As far as we ringers are concerned, there he stops, for though, as a boy, he appears to have learnt to handle a bell, he had but an indifferent love for ringing as we know it. For instance, it will be remembered that at Coventry, when asked if he had ever rung a peal, he replied, 'No, and added the significant remark, 'I am glad to say.'

Mr. Starmer enjoyed what is called 'a good Press.' He was frequently referred to as doctor and professor, and it is remarkable that in the obituary notice which appeared in the 'Times' he is stated to have been Professor of Campanology at Birmingham University, when no such chair exists. Those who, like myself, attended the Coventry bells' hearing will remember the great play that was made with 'Dr. this and Professor the other,' little knowing at the time the actual facts. From a recent letter in the 'Times,' I see that there never has been a professorship of campanology at Birmingham, and it is fair to assume that the other title is equally apocryphal.

If Mr. Starmer's efforts helped to introduce the carillon into England or America, we are both interested and gratified. Beyond this, however, I cannot see that we have much cause to congratulate ourselves upon the deceased gentleman's connection with the Ringing Exercise.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Some gay young sparks from Wilts and Somerset spent 6 hours and 20 minutes ringing Bob Major at Bradford-on-Avon last Saturday, at the end of which time they brought round a peal, 10,032 changes in length.

We mentioned in this column last week how, quite early in the history of peal ringing, long lengths were rung, and on November 27th, 1729, a peal of 6,204 Grandsire Cinques was achieved at St. Michael's, Cornhill, by the London Scholars.

William Doubleday Crofts, solicitor, of Nottingham, one of the ablest ringers and conductors of his day, died on November 29th, 1809, and was buried at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on December 2nd, when 'a mourning peal' of 1,494 Grandsire Caters was rung.

Two well-known Lancashire ringers—Messrs. Titus Barlow and T. B. Worsley—last Saturday rang their 150th peal together.

The conductor of the peal of Oxford Bob Major at Tring withdraws the claim to this being the first peal in the method. In addition to the peal mentioned last week as having been rung at Pulford on October 20th, 1909, a peal in the same method was rung by the Kent County Association at Sittingbourne on May 7th, 1909.

The ringer of the 4th in the peal of Stedman Caters at Leicester Cathedral (the report of which was published in our issue of November 4th) was C. Ferguson Howitt.

It must be almost a record to be a member of one band for over 70 years. This was the long space of time during which Mr. H. Porter, who has recently passed away, was associated with the tower at Easton-in-Gordano, Somerset. He was made a member at the age of 13 years, having been taught to ring some time previous to this by his father.

'GREAT PETER' OF YORK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the excellent report of the dedication in your issue of the 4th instant, I read that Great Peter's note is 'now said to be the deepest note of any church bell in Christendom.'

I should like to point out that this statement requires some qualification. It is certainly the deepest note of any bell in the British Isles and Belgium—an E flat of a lower pitch than the only other bell of that note in those countries, 'Great Paul' of London. But there are several larger bells in Russia, and one or two in French churches.

It is probable that the recast peal of 12 (to which a half-tone has been added) may be the deepest-toned ringing peal anywhere, for its B flat tenor is of a lower pitch than those of St. Paul's, and, I think, of Exeter.

I alluded at York to the critical condition of the late Mr. W. W. Starmer. He is a great loss to campanology. 'Oh! how he loved his bells!' his widow wrote to me a few days ago; and she added that she and her children placed on his coffin a large bell of flowers.—Yours faithfully,

H. E. NOLLOTH.

'CLAPPERLESS' PEAL TO COUNT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is with interest that I write you regarding the recent peal of Treble Bob Royal rung at Canterbury Cathedral, which has raised some doubt owing to the clapper of the 8th falling out near the end of the peal.

At the committee meeting of the Kent County Association held at Tonbridge on November 12th last, it was decided, without opposition, to record the same as a peal.

It would appear now that we may publish any peal that meets with the same calamity, but I really think the committee should not contravene the existing rule of the Central Council.

T. E. SONE.

Warrington Bungalow,
Paddock Wood.

AFTER TWENTY-SIX YEARS' SILENCE.

The bells at the ancient church of Stowey, Somerset, a nice ring of five, cast in 1730 by Bilbie, of Chew Stoke, have been lying idle for twenty-six years, it being thought the frame was unsafe. At the request of the new parish warden, Mr. W. T. Young, an inspection was made by two ringers from local towers, with a view to ringing for the harvest festival. It was found that with a few minor repairs everything would at least be safe for a trial 'spin.' This proving successful, the parishioners were once again rung to church by ringers from Chewton Mendip, Clutton, and Stanton Drew. Permission was given for a peal attempt to be made, and this was successful, as recorded elsewhere. A very promising young band has now been formed, and they are being taught by ringers from Clutton and Stanton Drew.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the fifteenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

We now trace the courses, as they are introduced by the calls, throughout the peal, placing under its respective heading that portion of the course which is rung. Below is given an example of six courses, tabulated as shown above. The dash in a calling position denotes the omission of a call there, and necessitates the continuance of the previous course-head, in the column that applies to the position of the omitted call. The first course, pricked out in full by the lead-heads, is given merely to emphasise those portions of the courses which are rung.

LEAD-HEADS.

Nos. of leads rung
from course headed:

	2345678
	5738264	...	1, 2, 3 from 23456
	8674523
'M' —	6423857	...	4 from 43652
	3547682
	2684735		from 43652
'H' —	6435278	...	1, 2, 3, etc.
	etc.		from 64352

The peal starts from 23456 course-head, which, transposed by 'M' (43652), gives 43652 for the M-W column; omit call at 'W,' still 43652 for the W-H. Transpose 43652 by 'H' formula (42356) gives 64352 for the H-M; omit call at 'M,' still 64352 for the M-W. Transpose 64352 by the 'W' formula (52436), gives 56342 for the W-H. Transpose 56342 by the 'H' formula, gives 35642 for the H-M, etc.

We now have, in tabulated form, all of the course-heads introduced into the peal, showing which leads of the courses will be rung, and before we apply our false course-heads, we must see that none of the proper course-heads repeats itself in the SAME COLUMN. Notice that 23456 appears in each of the three columns; leads Nos. 1, 2 and 3 from 23456 are rung in the first course, and leads Nos. 4, 5, 6 and 7 from 23456 are rung in the last course. The 23456 under the line in the H-M column is, of course, the beginning of the peal over again. The introduction of a bob at the last 'H' would alter this to 42356, and we could then repeat the whole twice, making eighteen courses of it; but apart from this particular 23456 no course-head appears twice in the same column, and therefore each portion is true TO ITSELF.

Reference to our table of false course-heads will show that we have none for leads Nos. 1, 4 and 7, two for lead No. 2, one each for Nos. 3 and 5, and two for lead No. 6. Therefore, for the H-M column we must apply those false heads which refer to leads Nos. 2 and 3 (lead No. 1 having none); for the M-W we have none at all; and for the W-H we must apply those that refer to leads Nos. 5 and 6 (lead No. 7 having none).

Then, for the 'H-M' column apply the false course-heads 32465 and 43265 (the third one being a duplicate); for the 'W-H' apply 43265 and 32465 (the third one being a duplicate). We can ignore the numerals against the false course-heads here, because they happen to refer to the same leads as those in the blocks to which the false course-heads will be applied, and we are not able to cut out any particular lead of the blocks under consideration ('H-M,' 'M-W,' etc.).

We prepare two columns for the 'H-M'—one for the false course-head 32465, and one for 43265; also two columns for the 'W-H' similarly. We then transpose all of the course-heads in the 'H-M' peal-course column by our false course-head 32465, placing the results in its column; the same peal-course heads are transposed by the other false course-head which applies (43265), and the results placed in its column. The false heads in these two columns must not appear in the 'H-M' peal-course column.

Treat the 'W-H' in exactly the same way; and, if there is no corresponding row in the peal-course column, the peal is true. If any of the false heads appear in the peal-course column to which they refer, then the peal is false. The false heads, produced upon the above lines, are given below:—

Positions	...	H-M.	W-H.
Leads rung	...	(1, 2, 3).	(5, 6, 7).
Heads false against 23456	...	32465 43265	32465 43265
Transpositions of peal-course		32465 43265	34625 63425
heads	...	46325 34625	65324 38524
		53624 65324	64235 26435
		64235 26435	25346 32546
		36245 23645	32465 43265

A course-head showing in the 'H-M' false columns may not appear in the 'H-M' peal-course column, because it is false against the leads of that column (Nos. 1, 2 and 3). But this does not debar it from appearing in the other peal-course columns, 'M-W' (lead No. 4) or 'W-H' (leads 5, 6 and 7), because it is not false against THOSE LEADS. This is shown in our table of false course-heads, wherein the numerals against the false course-heads, (II.) and (III.), refer only to columns (or leads) Nos. 2 and 3. Vice versa with the false heads under the 'W-H.' Our table shows that numerals (V.) and (VI.) refer only to columns (or leads) 5 and 6. If the numerals had NOT been particular to their own columns, as shown above, a different case would arise.

In our column No. 3 we have a false course-lead 32465(II.), signifying that lead NUMBER TWO of course headed 32465 will be false against lead NUMBER THREE of course headed 23456.

Then, if one of our calling positions in the peal happened to isolate leads No. 3 (in the same way as the 'M-W' isolates leads No. 4), we should have to transpose all the peal-course heads in that column by our false head 32465(II.), in the usual way, but with this difference: The false heads obtained by this transposition would not apply to THAT column, and may appear there, but they may not appear in the peal-course column which covers lead NUMBER TWO. Because lead No. 2 of the false heads—(II.)—will be false against leads No. 3 in the peal-course heads.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

At the meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths on Tuesday of last week Mr. Joseph S. Hawkins was elected Master for the ensuing year. Mr. A. A. Hughes was re-elected hon. treasurer, and Messrs. C. F. Winney and Walter Prime trustees. Mr. James Bullock was appointed senior steward, and Mr. Wilson Rushton junior steward. Mr. W. T. Cockerill was again re-elected hon. secretary.

USEFUL ADDITION TO SURREY BELLS.

One of the lightest rings of ten bells in the country was completed on Wednesday of last week, when two treble bells, added to the peal of eight at St. Bartholomew's Church, Haslemere, Surrey, were dedicated. They are the gift of an anonymous donor, and have been cast and hung by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The older octave, with a tenor of 13 cwt. 6 lb. in F, came from the same foundry three or four years ago, and are a magnificent ring for their weight. There was some curiosity as to whether the smaller trebles would be a good match for such excellent bells, but they are a perfect 'splice,' and make up a delightful ring of ten. The bells are all hung on ball bearings, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. have completed the work with their accustomed skill.

The dedication service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. M. la F. McNally), who offered the dedicatory prayers. The Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council) and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) also took part in the service, and Canon Coleridge preached an appropriate sermon from the words, 'Sing we merrily unto God our strength.' Among the visiting ringers was Mr. G. Williams (Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild).

At the dedication a few rounds were rung by J. H. B. Hesse, R. Overy, F. Bowden, Miss Collard, B. Elliott, H. Mullah, H. Furlonger, J. McDermott, F. White and W. Eldridge. After the service, the first touch of Grandsire Caters was rung by Canon Coleridge 1, R. Overy 2, F. Bowden 3, G. Steere 4, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 5, W. Melville 6, G. Williams 7, J. McDermott 8, F. White 9, W. Eldridge 10. A touch of Stedman Caters was then brought round by J. H. B. Hesse 1, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 2, Miss I. Hastie 3, F. Bayley 4, R. Overy 5, W. Melville 6, G. Williams 7, Canon Coleridge 8, A. Dean 9, W. Eldridge 10. Three leads of Treble Ten and more Grandsire Caters followed.

A HALF PEAL.

At Radyr, Glamorganshire, on Saturday, November 19th, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples (2,520 changes) in 1 hr. 33 mins., at the Parish Church: S. Dawe 1, J. W. Jones 2, W. Heath 3, J. Davies 4, J. Phillips 5, E. Coorbes 6, G. Large (conductor) 7, S. R. Barker 8. An attempt was made for Groves' transposition of Parker's 12-part, to give Mr. G. Large his first peal as conductor, but just before half-way the Vicar put in an appearance, requesting the bells to be stopped, in consequence of a case of illness near the church, hence the reason for bringing the bells home at half-way.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. PUTTING THE NEW ORGANISATION ON ITS FEET. AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

A happy augury of the future success of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild was forthcoming in the general meeting held at Guildford on Saturday, when nearly 200 prospective members were present from no fewer than 42 towers in the diocese. When it is remembered that there are only 56 towers with rings of bells in the area, and that in a few cases there are no bands of ringers, the response to the invitation to the meeting was truly magnificent. The towers represented were Albury, Aldershot, Ash, Bagshot, Banstead, Capel, Chertsey, Cobham, Cranleigh, Dunsfold, Egham, Epsom (St. Martin's), Esher, Ewell, Farnham, Farnham, Frensham, Godalming, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Haslemere, Hersham, Horsell, Leatherhead, Newdigate, Oatlands, Ockham, Ockley, Ottershaw, Pirbright, Puttenham, Seale, Shalford, Shere, Thames Ditton, Walton, West Clendon, Witley, Woking, Wokingham, Worplesdon and Yorktown.

The ringers first attended the service held at St. Nicolas' Church, in connection with the final meeting of the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and afterwards sat down to tea in St. Saviour's Church Hall. It was here, also, that the business meeting was held, and the necessarily long agenda took about two hours to dispose of, it being desired to get rid of all contentious business so that at the inaugural meeting on December 31st the formal resolutions can be carried without discussion. Mr. Walter Harrison, churchwarden of St. Nicolas' Church, and a warm supporter of the old Winchester Guild, was voted to the chair, and among those present were Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), Canon Kirwan (Rector of Holy Trinity, Guildford), Canon Irwin (Bishop's chaplain), Revs. Sir John Herschel (West Clendon), G. M. Wheeler (St. Nicolas', Guildford), H. Hamilton Jackson (Shalford), J. M. la F. McNally (Haslemere), C. F. Carver (Capel), J. W. Ward (Newdigate), P. Cunningham (Cranleigh), H. C. Martin (Ockley), Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O. (Woking), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Haslemere). Among the visitors were the churchwardens of a number of churches, and Mr. C. E. Kippin (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association), etc.

The Organising Committee, in a report read by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary pro tem.), referred to the approval which the new Guild had received from the Lord Bishop of the diocese, who has promised to become president, and to the friendly spirit with which the Winchester Diocesan Guild had met the new Guild. In the diocese, the report continued, there are 56 towers containing rings of five bells and upwards, viz., five bells 2, six bells 25, eight bells 25, ten bells 4. The committee had devoted their attention during the year to preparing the ground, and, in addition to circularising the clergy, Parochial Church Councils and ringers at the churches with rings of bells, held a successful propaganda meeting at Capel in September, and preliminary district meetings in October at Guildford, Leatherhead, Chertsey and Farnham respectively to discuss rules and promote the organisation of the Guild. Each meeting was well attended, and a great deal of interest shown in the steps which it is proposed to take. The total attendance at these district meetings was 170, and 32 towers in the diocese were represented. The most gratifying feature was the interest displayed by ringers belonging to towers which had not previously, or had not for a considerable time, been attached to the Winchester Guild. The committee welcomed this indication that the new Guild will have the support of nearly all the towers in the diocese.

THE SEVERANCE FROM WINCHESTER.

Canon Kirwan proposed: 'That this meeting approves of the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, to come into being on January 1st, 1928, that the Lord Bishop of the diocese be ex-officio president, and that those persons who signify in writing by December 31st next their intention of becoming members of the Guild be enrolled (subject to the approval of the executive committee) as "Foundation Members," and be so distinguished in the records of the Guild.' He supposed most of them in that room would feel something of the wrench which followed the separation from the mother diocese, but he was quite sure of this, there was no department of Church life where the need for the division was so palpable as in this matter of bellringing. They all knew how impossible it was for those living in East Surrey, and for some of those in West Surrey, to get to Winchester, and they had now come to the position, he thought, when the bellringers, with the rest of the Church workers, in the new diocese of Guildford, must 'paddle their own canoe,' or, in other words, run their own show. He was perfectly certain the result would be, in a degree there had never been before, a healthy rivalry between the different towers, and a great manifestation of that friendly spirit without which they could do nothing at all. The Guild would have the very best wishes of all churchmen for a future of prosperity and splendid usefulness in the diocese (applause).

Mr. J. J. Jones, one of the oldest members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and formerly for many years hon. secretary of the Guildford District, seconded the motion. He spoke of the relations which had existed between the old Guild and the Bishops of Winchester, and humorously remarked that the ignorance of many Bishops with regard to bellringing was amazing (laughter). They could not expect them to know much about Double Norwich or Minor methods, but one did think they ought to know how many bells they had in their cathedral. He had had to enlighten more than one Bishop of Winchester on that point. Mr. Jones referred to the interest which the late Bishop Kyle took in bells as a result of a visit of the Winchester Guild to Farnham Castle, and said as the outcome of this, when he became Dean of Westminster, he was instrumental in getting the old five bells augmented to the splendid ring of eight which was now at the Abbey. In parting with the old Winchester Guild, he added, they tendered it a loving farewell (hear, hear). They were fully convinced that the new Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers would afford to larger numbers the opportunity for more work, more zeal, and more enthusiasm for the glory of God, the good of His Church, and the safety, honour and welfare of bells and bellringing (applause).

The motion, on being put, was carried with applause.

The meeting next considered the draft rules drawn up by the Organising Committee. The rule that caused most controversy was the first, relating to the name, 'The Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers.'—Admiral Walker moved the omission of the word 'Church.' He argued that, with the use of the word Diocesan, it was tautology, and its omission would make the title more euphonious.—The Bishop of Guildford, in a letter to the hon. secretary, which was read, expressed the opinion that it would be better to retain the word 'Church.'—The amendment was defeated, and the title, as recommended, will stand.

One or two amendments in regard to detail were made, but the draft went through virtually unscathed.

OFFICERS SELECTED.

The following general officers were selected, their election to take place at the inaugural meeting: Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse; hon. treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker; hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; hon. auditor, Mr. C. N. Burdock.

Under the rules, the Guild is to be affiliated to the Central Council, and the following were nominated for the two places to which the Guild will be entitled: Messrs. R. Whittington, A. H. Pulling, W. Shepherd, C. Hazelden, F. G. Woodiss, F. Nye, A. Harman, S. Pelter and W. Denyer.

The Bishop having intimated that he would be quite ready to accept a member nominated by the Guild to serve on the Diocesan Advisory Committee in regard to all matters in connection with bells and ringing, Major J. H. B. Hesse was selected for nomination.

The division of the diocesan area into four districts for administrative purposes was agreed to, and the towers allocated to each, it being the recommendation of the committee that the arrangement should be tried for a year.

Various recommendations of the committee were agreed to, including the admission during 1928 of members of the Winchester Guild residing on December 31st, 1927, in the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth, as compounding members on payment of one shilling, and the admission of compounding members of the Winchester Guild on similar terms.

On the question of the admission of life members of the Winchester Guild without further payment, a letter, containing reasoned arguments in favour of this step, was read from the Rev. N. C. Woods, hon. treasurer of the Winchester Diocesan Guild.—In the course of discussion it was pointed out that the concession to ordinary members of the Winchester Guild was entered into because it was to be reciprocal, but that, as the Guild was an entirely new organisation and not merely a part of the old Winchester Guild under a new name, there was no obligation on the part of the Guild to take over the life members free of charge.

The life members of the Winchester Guild present expressed the opinion that they were not entitled to free life membership of the Guildford Guild, and the meeting resolved not to entertain the suggestion.

Other minor recommendations of the committee were agreed to, and it having been decided, in approving of the rules, that there should be both an annual festival and an annual business meeting, it was decided that the first annual meeting should be held at Guildford in 1929, before April 30th, and the first festival on the last Saturday in June, 1928. Three places, viz., Epsom, Haslemere and Farnham, were proposed for the festival, and, on being put to the vote, Epsom was decided upon.

THE FUTURE.

On the subject of the future conduct of the Guild, the Hon. Secretary said the committee, in addition to having dealt with the formation of the Guild, had considered something of what the future policy of the Guild ought to be, and they laid emphasis, in the first place, on devoting attention to the organisation at every church of a Sunday service band (applause). Then, having organised the band, they should do their best to give, wherever needed, instruction in change ringing. It was also hoped that in each of the four districts there would be at least six meetings a year, which would provide them with a meeting somewhere in the diocese once a fortnight. A co-ordinated effort would be made to avoid the clashing of meetings, and it was hoped there would be joint district meetings as a regular feature of the programme, so that the members would have the opportunity of fraternising more often than at just the annual meeting. It was felt that this would lead to an extension of the spirit of brotherhood which it should be one of the great desires of the Guild to foster. The committee had received an extremely valuable proposal from Mr. A. H. Winch, of Leatherhead, for a scheme of combined practices, and it was hoped that it would be possible to work this out in each district. The

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

In spite of the inclement weather, the South-Western Division annual meeting at Hornchurch was fairly well attended on Saturday last, over 40 members representing the following towers being present: Leytonstone, Woodford, Waustead, Romford, Loughton, Prittlewell, Hornchurch, Brentwood, Streatham, Shenfield, Westminster, and West Tilbury.

A start was made at 3 p.m. with a touch of Grandsire, followed by touches in various methods till 4.30 p.m., when those present attended the association service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. E. Strong, who gave a hearty welcome to the members to Hornchurch, remarking that it was the first meeting to be held there since his appointment as Vicar, and trusting the association would pay him another visit in the near future.

After tea, the business meeting was held, at which the Vicar of Hornchurch was elected an hon. member, and four new ringing members were also elected. Messrs. A. Prior and E. J. Butler were unanimously re-elected Master and hon. secretary respectively, and acknowledged their election.

Prittlewell, Woodford and West Ham were proposed for the next meeting, and on being put to the vote West Ham was selected by 13 votes to 3 and 10 respectively for the other towers. A question was raised as to whether it would be possible to give preference to a particular method or methods to be practised at future meetings, but after a long discussion it was ultimately decided that no alteration be made from the usual procedure now observed at the meetings, i.e., that the methods rung be left to the discretion of those present, under the supervision of the Master.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for use of tower and bells and for his able address, to the organist for accompanying the hymns, and to the steeplekeeper, Mr. Dale, for having everything in readiness. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the Vicar from the meeting, Mr. Dale suitably replied, and mentioned that Hornchurch tower was open every Tuesday evening for practice from 7.30 to 9 p.m., and a hearty welcome would be given to ringers who could see their way to attend, especially to practise Double Norwich.

The bells were kept going till 9 p.m., and touches in practically all standard methods from Grandsire to Bristol Surprise were rung.

The collection in aid of the association bell restoration fund amounted to 12s. 7½d. The next meeting will be held at West Ham early in the New Year.

Hon. Secretary also referred to the desirability of ringers being represented on Parochial Church Councils, not only because of the duties which they rendered, but also because of the valuable church property which was in their care, and the desirability of having on the Councils, just as the Guild would have on the Diocesan Advisory Committee, a representative who could give practical advice when matters affecting the bells and belfry had to be considered. In conclusion, he appealed for the whole-hearted support of bands and individual ringers, pointing out how ineffective would be the best efforts of the officers without the backing and interest of the rank and file.

Canon Coleridge, called upon by the chairman for 'a few words of wisdom,' said he could hardly tell them how delighted he was to be there that evening. He hoped to be there again on December 31st (applause). He had been filled with profound delight at many things. First of all at the fellowship and friendship displayed all through the meeting, which had been carried through in a magnificent way, and, he trusted, to the satisfaction of everyone. He could say a good deal about a great many things that had been said that night which pointed to an era of very great prosperity before this Guildford Diocesan Guild. He was sure it would be a great success and a great pattern and example to many other Guilds much older than themselves. There was one rule that he would like to mention, and that was about their representatives on the Central Council. He hoped their numbers would increase, and that they would be entitled shortly to three representatives instead of two. He was delighted to see nine nominations for two places. Whoever was elected, the Central Council would be delighted to welcome, but he would tell them this quite plainly, that it would be very little use sending representatives unless the Guild supplied them with matters for discussion. It was a very common thing for people to say, 'Oh, the Central Council does nothing.' It was for the ringing organisations to supply the Council with resolutions and motions. Would they, then, bear this in mind: if they wanted anything discussed and any ruling given by the Central Council they should let their representatives know, so that they might put it on the agenda, and have a full discussion in the Council. It had been known in past years that the secretary had had to make an agenda paper simply out of his own head, because the different Guilds and associations had not sent up matters for discussion. He thought from the fertile brains in that new Guild they could provide the Council with many matters to discuss. Canon Coleridge concluded: 'God bless you all in your work, and may this new Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers flourish and prosper, and be a great shining light in the ringing Exercise as a whole' (applause).

The meeting, which throughout been full of interest and enthusiasm, terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman, moved by Canon Kirwan.

PASSING COMMENTS ON CURRENT TOPICS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—You will be delighted to hear that I have been translated to the 'Sea of Aarhus.' I say advisedly the 'sea,' because 'Gasvaerket' lies sandwiched in between Aarhus and the battleground (?) of Jutland. If Aarhus sideslips—well, exit Vikong Joseph den eigen (in brown tights and swash bucklings complete). But I trust it won't come to that, because I am a member of a select little coterie which meets in the Tabernacle (no, Sir, NOT Spurgeon's), which lies in the neighbourhood of Turn-again Lane, E.C. The said coterie is yeleft, 'The Fourteen Thieves.' Qualification for membership? Yes, Sir, to qualify you must have been expelled from Frothblowers and the Coffee Pot Counter Meeting set. Now, I don't want to put the members of my hereinafteraforesaid coterie to the expense of black ties, as they can't afford even a stamp just at present! So perhaps Aarhus won't slip. Should it do so, I have the consolation of knowing that l'ilie 'Renious did dub me a Knight Fluke of ye Ancient Anchorites, and that should ensure me a welcome from Father Neptune and his wheelks. Oh, succulent courtesans!

I note your leader on the rise and fall in peal question. I think, Sir, that stage fright has a lot to do with good men not practising this beautiful (when well done) method of producing bell music. I have known really good method men refuse to stand in a 'lower,' even when the other seven were expert lowerers. I always found a good way to teach novices was to make one of them follow me up and down, and then two of them do it alone until perfect. Then get two to follow me up and down till perfect, and so on, but never attempt to rise or fall six with all novices to start with.

I note that the old East Derbyshire Association have rung a peal in honour of the hallowing of the new diocese. I hope that this is a sign of a future step in the right direction. The O.E.D. is a good old society, and should they see fit to change their title to that of Derby Diocesan Guild, they would be within their rights, and a diocesan title is more fitting to church workers.

As to whether the aforesaid church workers should always attend services for which they ring is a matter of opinion. First we hear one cry, then another. Not long since we could not get men enough to man the ropes. Now we can't get 'em to service. I suppose we must all have a grumble of some sort. I would beg to suggest that if the ringers and parsons vie with one another to see who could make their end of the church most interesting, we might have less complaints from both parties. A parson is only human, and all parsons are not born pewfillers. I have heard truly magnificent Stedman Cinques rung to call the faithful to hear rapid utterances, badly delivered, and a service certainly not 'Simpson's' intoned. On the other hand, I have heard Deans, whom one could listen to for hours, welcomed to their preaching by rotten Grandsire Triples, with no pretence at striking, and rung by men who had been Grandsire ringers for years. People will neither come to ring nor stay to service, unless the whole ensemble is of the highest standard. Duty alone will neither fill pulpit, belfry nor the pews in these days.

The parson and the ringers should command the respect of their audiences by their abilities, high characters, and the great worth of what they offer their hearers every Sunday. The fact that the one wears a 'halo' of broadcloth and the others are his bellpullers is not sufficient to place them above criticism. 'By your good works shall ye be known' should be their slogan. There are such men, for I know some, but alas! they are too few.

May I, Sir, in passing, offer my congratulations to my very good friends at Wath? That was a grand performance of theirs. But then, they are real six-bell ringers. It has been said—yes, and has been published in your journal—that 'Wath' was an awkward topographical place name. Perhaps this peal will prove that Wath is neither topographically awkward nor campanologically backward.

Ye men of Wath, please tell me,

Why is Wath an awkward place name?

It's the Queen of Yorkshire villages I've been told.

Is it true they grease Wath bells with Burton?

Is 'Burton' topographically 'best' when 'old'?

Yours sincerely,

JOE E. SYKES.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. BURTON-ON-TRENT DISTRICT.

A successful meeting was held at Ashby Parish Church on Saturday, November 12th, when nearly thirty ringers were present from about ten towers, including St. Margaret's and the cathedral, Leicester.

The bells were well utilised between the hours of three and eight, the methods being chiefly Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, a course of Kent Treble Bob Major being also brought round in the evening.

By the kind hospitality of the Vicar, a splendid tea was provided in the Parish Room, after which the usual business was transacted. This was followed by handbell selections, and further ringing in the tower.

The next meeting (the annual district meeting) will be held at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, on January 15th, 1928.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.WINDING UP THE GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

The last meeting of the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday prior to the general meeting of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild. Mr. W. R. Melville, chairman of the district, presided, and pointed out that they had now come to the parting of the ways. The Guildford District had always endeavoured to do its best in the interest of the Guild and of ringing, and the officers were thankful for the support they had received. There had been much to encourage them, and while they had some disappointments, they had spent some very happy times.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. Raddon) presented the balance sheet, which showed that £13 16s. was received from ringing members' subscriptions, £3 5s. from hon. members, and 3s. 6d. from one compound member. The year began with a balance in hand of £3 8s. 8d., and, after paying the expenses amounting to £10 13s. 9d., including £1 10s. for instruction to a band, there remained a balance to date of £9 19s. 5d., from which certain small expenses would have to be paid in connection with that day's meeting. At the close of the year there were 144 ringing members, 16 probationers, and 2 unattached members in the district.—The balance sheet was adopted.

Mr. C. Hazelden presented his report as District Ringing Master. He said the work of the Winchester Diocesan Guild in that area had, in that its last year, been somewhat clouded and overshadowed by the preparations for the advent of the new Guild. The six-bell combined practices were held at the beginning of the year, and were well attended until they were interrupted by the number of organisation meetings held in connection with the new diocesan Guild. An attempt made in the spring to attract members to combined practices at ten-bell towers was a complete failure, and was therefore given up. A total of 14 peals have been rung in the district, as against 18 for the previous year. This reduction is a continuation of the progressive decline of interest in peal ringing which set in about four years ago. In conclusion, the report said that while perhaps casting lingering, wistful glances on their past connection with the old See and city of Winchester, might they not hold out glad hands of welcome to the new See, the new city and the new Guild?

The report was accepted, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the officers of the district and the representatives of the district on the Central Committee for their ungrudging services to the interests of the Guild. This was ordered to be recorded on the minutes.

Mr. E. Raddon was appointed to represent the district at the meeting of the Winchester Guild Committee, when the affairs of the Guild as at present constituted are wound up.

A service afterwards held at St. Nicolas' Church was largely attended. The Rector (the Rev. G. M. Wheeler) officiated, and, in the absence of the Archdeacon of Surrey, the address was given by Canon Irwin (Bishop's chaplain).

NORFOLK GUILD.

A general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Kenninghall on Saturday, November 12th. The ring of eight bells of St. Mary's Church were, by the kind permission of the Vicar (Rev. C. G. Wyche), at the disposal of the members throughout the afternoon and evening.

Mr. G. P. Burton was voted to the chair, and was supported by the general secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) and representatives from Norwich, North Lopham, New Buckenham and Banham.

The Secretary moved the ratification of the belfry elections (prior to peals) of Mr. Arthur S. Roberts, of Truro, Mr. John C. Dicken, of Great Yarmouth, and Mr. Ernest J. Trimmer, of Bermondsey. This was agreed to.

On the motion of the Secretary, seconded by Mr. G. H. Claxton, Messrs. Thomas Baker, Eric George Bennett, Frank Stanley Clarke, Raymond Grant, Charles Frederick Keeble, and George Land, all of North Lopham, were elected members of the Guild.

It was agreed to transfer Banham and New Buckenham from Wymondham District to the Diss District, with North Lopham also to come into the latter district.

This concluded a small but very useful meeting, which was enjoyed by those present. During the afternoon and evening some good touches in the standard methods were rung.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.CHIPPING NORTON DEANERY BRANCH.

The autumn meeting was held at Chipping Norton on Saturday, November 6th, when a fair number of members put in an appearance for a little ringing during the afternoon. A service was held in the Parish Church. The Rev. J. D. Payne, R.D., preached. Tea was next served in the Town Hall, and a short business meeting was presided over by the chairman of the board (the Rev. E. G. Freeman).

A resolution was put forward supporting a proposition of the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkin) with regard to a diploma to encourage ringers ringing their first peals.

Kingham (eight bells) was chosen for the spring meeting.

Further ringing brought the day to a close.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO LT.-COL. G. H. STILWELL.

It is with deep regret that we are asked to record the death by accident of Lt.-Col. G. H. Stilwell, of Hillfield, Yateley, Hants. While cycling home from Yorktown on Saturday last a collision occurred between deceased and a motor-car, as a result of which he passed away on Sunday evening.

Like his esteemed father, the late Mr. J. P. Stilwell, who was for many years the president of the Winchester Guild, deceased always took a kindly interest in the Guild and the local band. He was a life member of the Guild, and the sympathy of all will go out to Mrs. Stilwell and her family, two of whom are members of the Yateley Company, and to the deceased officer's brothers and sisters, all of whom are life members of the Guild.

A PRINCIPLE AT STAKE.

We imagine that no little surprise has been created by the announcement made last week in these columns that the Kent County Association are to recognise and officially record as a peal the performance at Canterbury Cathedral on August Bank Holiday, when the clapper of one of the bells came out a little time before the end of the ringing. It is a strange decision. It has not been stated officially exactly at what stage of the peal the clapper left the bell—it was rumoured that it was four leads from the end—but if it was only in the last lead the performance ought not, in these days, to be counted as a peal. We can only suppose that there must have been some strong ground put before the committee of the Kent Association to have influenced them to the decision which they made, but on the face of it and without knowing what led them to accept such a performance, there is nothing which justifies its inclusion in the peal records.

These are not days when peals are rareties, and there is no excuse that we can see for claiming that the 'Treble Bob at Canterbury should rank in the category of properly completed 5,000's. All the band were old hands at peal ringing, and several have rung many hundreds, so that there was not even the mitigating circumstance of a first peal to support the claim. The report of the performance was published without any reference to its having been finished without one of the bells sounding, but that, perhaps, may be excused if the whole band thought that they had rung a legitimate peal. Many ringers, of course, would not have let it go to a finish, but would have 'set up' as soon as they realised that the sound of one bell had disappeared for good; and that is, frankly, the best thing that can be done under such circumstances. After all, of what importance is a peal to the ringers, unless it is the satisfaction of a performance well and truly accomplished? And can it be said to be well and truly accomplished if one of the bells suddenly ceases to make itself heard, and in every change from that point onward there is a gap, which breaks the rhythm and must obviously spoil the ringing.

In addition, there is the further consideration of what ought legitimately to be recognised. The Central Council in 1902 laid down some very sensible rules for practical ringing, and among them they gave, as one of the conditions required for a peal, the following: 'That every bell must, during the peal, sound at every change.' When attention was first drawn by a correspondent in these columns to what had happened at Canterbury, this rule was pointed out, and it is not a little surprising that, with a full knowledge of this, the committee of the Kent County Association should fly directly in the face of it. The Kent Association may, of course, do whatever they please in the matter of perpetuating the record, but it is obvious that the Council must ignore the performance, assuming the facts stated and still indisputed to be true. The peal in itself is a small thing, but there is a principle at stake. Peals are cheap enough in these days in all conscience, and it is essential that only those which comply with certain elementary standards should be recognised. Unless this is done the whole value attached to a peal vanishes. The original report may have been published under a misapprehension as to what is admitted as a peal under the present code; the silence of the band when the performance was challenged and the plain rule on the matter pointed out can also, perhaps, be understood; but the action of the Kent Association's Committee is, in the absence of some further explanation, inexplicable.

Alderman Tunbridge was for some years chief commissioner of police in New Zealand.

A NEW DIVISIONAL SECRETARY.

The annual district meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Writtle on Saturday, November 19th, and was well attended in spite of the bad weather. Thirty-six members were present, representing Braintree, Great Baddow, Chelmsford, Galleywood, Maldon, Springfield, Danbury, Rettendon, and the local company. Several touches were rung during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Upton), the lesson being read by Dr. Spencer Phillips.

The collection, which is devoted to the bell restoration fund of the association, amounted to 11s. 10d.

Tea was afterwards served at the Rose and Crown, and was followed by the business meeting. Mr. G. Green was re-elected Master, and Mr. R. Clark was elected hon. district secretary in place of Mr. P. Timson, who wished to retire.

Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Timson for the way in which he had carried out his duties for the past eight years, and this was cordially adopted.

The Rev. J. H. Upton was elected an honorary member, and Mr. F. Warrington, of Long Stanton, was elected a non-resident life member.

Miss Chapman and Mr. C. Roberts were confirmed as non-resident life members. Four new ringing members and nine probationary members were also elected.

Springfield and Fryerning were proposed for the next place of meeting, and, on being put to the vote, Springfield was selected by 26 votes to 6.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his helpful address, also to the organist and choir for assisting at the service.

Touches were afterwards rung on the handbells, and the tower visited for further ringing.

Mr. R. Clark's address is 8, Hill Road, Chelmsford.

MUFFLED RINGING.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION'S PRESIDENT BEREAVED.

On Monday, November 21st, at St. John's, Chipping Barnet, Herts, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: S. Casley 1, G. Herbert 2, W. Taring 3, F. Chandler 4, H. J. Eldred 5, R. Roffey 6, N. A. Tomlinson (conductor) 7, W. Langley 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute of respect to Mrs. F. A. Milne, wife of the president of the Middlesex Association and a church worker in Barnet for many years, who was interred on that day.

At Debenham, Suffolk, on Friday evening, November 25th, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich (1,344 changes) at St. Mary's Church: C. Tyler (longest length in any method) 1, E. G. Grindell 2, F. Ruffles 3, L. C. Wightman 4, W. J. Groom 5, W. C. Runsey (conductor) 6, L. G. Brett 7, E. E. Grimes 8. Rung with half-muffled clappers in memory of George Rowe, sen., for over 47 years vergier at the above church, whose funeral took place the same afternoon. After the quarter-peal, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung, followed by the age of the deceased (74 years) tolled on the tenor bell.

At the Parish Church, Thames Ditton, on Friday, November 18th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes, in ten callings): G. F. Adley (conductor) 1, H. Halt (Molesey) 2, H. Barber (Esher) 3, W. Massey 4, G. Higgs 5, R. Coles 6. Rung with the bells fully muffled, except the tenor, which was open at back stroke, in memory of Mr. S. Sharpus Jones, churchwarden at the above church, who was interred earlier the same day. Mr. Jones was a great friend of the ringers, being largely responsible for the bells being relunged some time ago, and also for the belfry being kept clean. In many ways he will be greatly missed.

MR. L. C. WIGHTMAN'S 200 PEALS.

By ringing a peal of Norfolk Surprise of St. John's, Erith, on Wednesday, October 10th, Mr. Leslie C. Wightman completed his two-hundredth peal: Minor in 7 methods 5, Grandsire Triples 6, St. Clement's Triples 1, Erin Triples 1, Stedman Triples 11, Stedman Caters 2, Stedman Cinques 2, Bob Major 6, Little Bob Major 1, Double Oxford Bob Major 1, Double Norwich Major 56, Oxford Treble Bob Major 19, Kent Treble Bob Major 12, Kent Treble Bob Royal 3, Kent Treble Bob Maximus 1, Superlative Surprise Major 21, Yorkshire Surprise Major 2, Norfolk Surprise Major 3, Bristol Surprise Major 2, London Surprise Major 6, Cambridge Surprise Major 32, Cambridge Surprise Royal 1, New Cambridge Surprise Major 6. Conducted one each of Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major.

* One on handbells and one (Holt's Original) non-conducted. † Includes 7,019 and 11,563. ‡ The first ever rung.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, November 19th, a meeting of the Central Division was held at Withyham. There was not a large number present, the total reaching twenty by the end of the day. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Double Norwich, and several were enabled to ring their first or longest touch in the method. The tower was opened for ringing from 2.30 till 5, and after the meeting. Owing to various reasons the service which had been arranged did not take place, and at 5 o'clock tea was served in the local inn, followed by the usual business meeting, the Rector (the Rev. H. W. Layng) presiding.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. A. Steele and A. Coote (Balcombe), R. Dival (Coleman's Hatch).

The meeting confirmed the election as non-resident members: Messrs. H. C. Edwards, Stony Stratford, Bucks; H. W. Gayton, Harrold, Beds; F. C. Beuges, Dorchester, Dorset; E. Collison, Edenbridge, Kent.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, presiding at the meeting, and for making all local arrangements.

The hon. secretary announced Southover, Lewes, for the next meeting in January, 1928.

The following towers were represented: Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), East Grinstead, Hartfield, Henfield, Withyham, and non-resident members.

WESTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Heene on Saturday, when 24 members attended from the following towers: Brighton, Shoreham, Steyning, Chichester, Kirdford, Angmering and several members of the local band. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Minor and Major, Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise Major. A substantial tea was served in the Church Room, kindly provided by the Rector, the Rev. J. P. Fal-lows, who, owing to illness, was unable to be present.

At the business meeting, with the Master of the association, Mr. J. T. Rickman, presiding, it was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Lyminster.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Master for presiding, who, after responding, proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector of Heene, for granting the use of the bells, also for providing the excellent tea, and wished that gentleman a speedy recovery.

A move was then again made to the belfry for further ringing.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.
NEWBURY BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Newbury on Saturday, November 19th. Despite a very wet day, there was a good company present. Service was held in the Parish Church conducted by the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), who also gave a very interesting address. The Rector (the Rev. L. R. Majendie) presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the Parish Room by Mrs. H. W. Curtis, assisted by Mrs. Crocker, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Owen, when 50 sat down to tea.

At the business meeting, the chairman (the Rev. L. R. Majendie) presided, and was supported by the Master of the Guild, the general secretary, the hon. treasurer, and the hon. branch secretary and treasurer (Mr. H. W. Curtis). Among those present were the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (Shaw), Rev. H. Wardley King (Hungerford), the Rev. C. B. Clayton (Newbury), Miss Vera Robinson (Wokingham), Mr. and Mrs. Taylor (Maidenhead), Miss Phyllis Moss (Beaconsfield), Mr. C. Mayne (Beaconsfield), Mr. D. Cooper (Croydon), and Mr. J. Abery, Englefield.

The chairman offered a hearty welcome to the members and visitors. —Mr. H. W. Curtis gave details of meetings and practices held during the year, which had been well attended. They had to welcome our more eight-bell tower into the Guild, namely, Hungerford, and had to record a happy and prosperous year.

The Rev. L. R. Majendie was re-elected chairman, and Mr. H. W. Curtis was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer.

Miss S. Davis, Messrs. S. Quintin, T. Curtis and F. Owen were elected as representatives on the general committee of the Guild.

The foremen of towers gave satisfactory reports.

The next meetings were proposed for Hampstead Norris in February and Bucklebury in April, the exact date to be left to the secretary to arrange.

The Master congratulated the foremen on their reports, and said they would always like to hear something about towers which were represented. —Mr. A. J. Wright (the Guild treasurer) said that the Master had told them that they were well on the way to bell restoration all over the diocese, and he called for some suggestions for a scheme to raise additional money for the restoration fund.

Four hon. members were elected, and several ringing members.

The Hon. Secretary proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Master for his address and to the chairman for presiding at the new organ, and thus giving the visitors the opportunity to hear the organ, which has recently been dedicated, and which cost £3,500 to build.

Touces of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Major were rung during the afternoon and evening.

BELL ROPES. MUFFLES. &c

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal at Barley on November 10th is claimed as the first in seven Surprise Minor methods for the Herts County Association.

There was a 'Johnson' dinner in miniature at Birmingham on Saturday, when Mr. James George, 'of England,' celebrated his 74th birthday.

Except for the Norwich peal, rung in 1718, the earliest peal of Grand-sire Triples of which any record is still left appears to have been one at Stroud, in Gloucestershire, where, on December 4th, 1722, 'in this place was rung the whole peal of Grand-sire Triples containing 5,040 changes.'

The College Youths' first peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, on December 4th, 1803. This was nearly a hundred and fifty years after Fabian Stedman had dedicated his work to them. It is not surprising, however, when one remembers the difficulty in those days of getting a true peal of Triples. Caters and Cinques had, of course, been rung long before.

At Norwich, of course, peals had been rung eighty years earlier, and the performance at Coslany, which caused such excitement in the city, was rung on December 6th, 1731.

The feeling which was aroused over this performance may be gauged by the following extract from the 'Norwich Daily Press' just afterwards:—

'That ingenious peal, called Stedman Triples, which contains 5,040 changes (being the first time that ever it was rung), notwithstanding some of the St. Peter's company did employ a bellman to cry about the street the following scandalous verses just before we began to ring, viz:—

This is to give notice to all sorts of people,
That the ringers that practise at St. Michael's steeple
Have crazed their brains by setting forth false pretences,
That it is to be feared they have quite lost their senses.
Therefore, let 'em repair to John Foster's, and 'tis plain,
There's those that can help them to their senses again.

And a little before the peal was ended they had the impudence to swear we should not ring it out, and so did fling stones up the church leads and against the doors, and did cause the boys in the streets to cry buzzas; nay, one of them was so impertinent as to open the window of the church to have got in, but was prevented by the people that stood to hear the peal, and were sent home to their shame with bloody noses.'

'CLAPPERLESS' PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—If it has been decided, as Mr. T. E. Sone's letter indicates, to allow a peal to stand in which a clapper was missing from one of the bells, what, I wonder, would be the best course to pursue when bells fail to sound from other causes? I have recently taken part in two peal attempts in which one of the bells failed to 'speak,' in the first case for two or three leads, in the second case for a complete course of Stedman Caters. In each case the conductor honourably (in my opinion) called 'stand' as soon as it was certain that the particular bell had definitely failed to sound, and subsequent examination of the clapper, both by experts and ringers, has failed to reveal any defect, but it is assumed that it must be due to the modern device known as the 'clapper control.' I have heard of other cases of the same kind. The question is, Shall we observe the Central Council's ruling or go on, in such cases?—Yours faithfully,

PETER LAFLIN.

'SOME RING PEALS, OTHERS—'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It appears that some men ring peals, others just ring. Many ring badly and call them peals, which is what this is about.

We were ringing Bob Major 'the morning after,' and three bells made fourth's place at the same time. We called it bad striking and finished the peal—which shows that some men are ringers of genius. I know a man who conducted Very Double Norwich, after calling one over the eight in the Seven Bells. Others have rung spliced methods. Which reminds me that I heard of a band which rang for the wedding of a local celebrity and called it a 'spliced' peal. I refer this to the Nomenclature experts, for, compared to some, it would seem an important problem. And so we progress.—Yours faithfully,

SURPRISED MAJOR.

MR. G. W. STEEL'S 100 PEALS FOR YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. G. W. Steel (Rothwell, Yorks) created a record for Rothwell ringers on Saturday, November 12th, at Otley, by completing 100 peals rung for the Yorkshire Association. The list is as follows: Bob Minor 1, Treble Bob Minor 22 (conducted 5), Grand-sire Triples 4, Stedman Triples 6, Bob Major 7, Oxford Treble Bob Major 34 (conducted 2), Kent Treble Bob Major 24 (conducted 6), Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, College Exercise Major 1; total, 100 (conducted 13). Included in this list is the 8,448 Oxford Treble Bob Major record peal for the Yorkshire Association, rung at Holy Trinity, Rothwell, on February 21st, 1903.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the sixteenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

COURSING ORDER.

'Coursing Order' is a term which is applied to the order in which bells follow one another down to the lead. In another way, it is the sequence in which they appear at the leading position in the successive rows. I propose to deal with that phase which affects the lead-heads, and which is based upon the coursing order of a 'plain hunting course,' wherein every bell does the same work—the plain hunt, or the path pursued by the treble in Bob Minor.

Take 12345678 and change four pairs (21436587); then change the three 'inside pairs,' causing the first and last bells to retain the same positions (24163857). Repeat this procedure, first four and then three pairs, until a 'four-pair' change causes the treble to lead at 13254768. Complete the operation, and rounds will turn up, having caused 'eighth's place' to be made at the 'lead-end.' We have now produced a 'plain hunting lead' on eight bells; or, properly put, a plain hunting course (the bells having run round).

Examine the sequence in which the bells appear at the lead; it is 2-4-6-8-7-5-3, which will be repeated so long as this 'method' prevails; that is, so long as eighth's place is made at the 'lead-end,' and we can look upon 'coursing order' as being of a continuous nature, a circle, as it were—2468753, 2468 again, etc.

Instead of eighth's place at the lead-end, cause second's place to be made (by the '3'), and the next row to 13254768 will be 13527486. We have now completed the first lead of Plain Bob Major, and we know that from this lead we can produce all the rows in the plain course.

If we write out these plain course leads in full, we shall find that the bells appear at the leading position in the same SEQUENCE as given in the coursing order above, except that at each succeeding lead the sequence is commenced at a different place in our coursing order 'circle'; each lead commences the 'circle,' at the bell which immediately precedes the one which began the sequence in the lead before.

The first lead commences the coursing order at the '2,' the second lead at the '3' (3246875), the third lead at the '5' (5324687), and so on. So that the actual ORDER, given in the continuous coursing order above, remains unaltered throughout the whole of the plain course, and we may know that the coursing order will remain the same while second's or eighth's places are made at the lead-ends. Bobs and singles will cause alteration in the coursing order, as we shall see later on.

Now, if the bells come down to the first place in regular order in all of the leads, our knowledge of transposition would indicate that there is corresponding regularity at the LEAD-HEADS. At the 'rounds lead-head' the coursing order picks up, as it were, the 'even-place bells,' 2, 4, 6, 8, and then works backwards on the 'odd-place' bells, 7, 5, 3, and we should find that this pertains to any other lead-head, bearing in mind that we look upon the coursing order as being a 'continuous circle' of figures.

In lead-head No. 2 (13527486), the 'even' bells are 3-2-4-6, and the 'odd' ones, backwards, are 8-7-5; and so it goes on, the coursing order positions being preserved at every lead-head.

Before proceeding we will agree:—

(1) That the bell immediately in front of another in the coursing order is COURSING BEFORE the other. The '8' is before the '7,' the '7' before the '5,' etc.

(2) That the bell which immediately follows another in the coursing order is COURSING AFTER the other. The '7' is after the '8,' the '8' after the '6,' etc.

(3) That 'COURSING PAIRS' are those bells which are NEXT EACH OTHER IN the coursing order; and that, in Major, there are seven such pairs—24, 46, 68, 87, 75, 53, 32.

Ignore the treble, and examine the positions held at 2345678 by the COURSING PAIRS. The 32 and 87 are adjacent, in the first two and last two positions in the row, being REVERSED there; that is to say, the '32' in coursing order becomes '23' at rounds, etc. The 24, 46, and 68 pairs are in the even places, with another bell between the pair. The 75 and 53 pairs are reversed in the odd places in the row, with another bell between the two paired bells.

Now, if the arrangement of the bells in the row at each lead-head is different, and yet the regularity of the coursing order positions is maintained, it follows, that when a position at any lead-head is occupied by one of a coursing pair, the other of the coursing pair is compelled to occupy a position that is relative, the relationship corresponding to the two positions at rounds which are occupied by ANOTHER COURSING PAIR.

In other words, the adjacent, even, and odd places, which we examined at rounds (above), will be occupied, in other lead-heads, ONLY BY COURSING PAIRS, and those pairs will be reversed in the 2/3 and 7/8 places, etc., etc., in exactly the same way as at rounds.

In the examples which follow, coursing pairs are shown in various positions at the lead-heads; the heads are given in the sequence in which they appear in Bob Major:—

Lead-head No.:	(1) 12345678	(2) 12346678	(3) 12346678	Lead-heads in full.
1.	23...78	2.4.6.8	..3.5.7	12345678
2.	..35...86	..3.2.4.6	..5.7.8	13527486
3.	..57...64	..5.3.2.4	..7.8.6	15738264
4.	..78...42	..7.5.8.2	..8.6.4	17856342
	etc.	etc.	etc.	etc.

(1) Second's place is occupied by '2' at lead-head No. 1 (or rounds), and (third's place by the '3,' which, in the coursing order, is COURSING BEFORE the '2.' In lead-head No. 2 the '2' is replaced by the '3,' and the relative position (third's place) is occupied by '5,' and by NO OTHER, because '5' is COURSING BEFORE '3' in the coursing order, and so on. Similarly with the pair in the 7/8 places.

(2) Here we see the even places (2/4, 4/6, 6/8), and because fourth's place at lead-head No. 1 is occupied by the '4,' which is COURSING AFTER the '2,' when the '7' replaces the '2' in second's place at lead-head No. 4, the relative position (fourth's place) must be occupied by the bell which is COURSING AFTER the '7,' which is the '5,' and so on. Similarly with the 4/6 and 6/8 places.

(3) Because fifth's place at rounds is occupied by the bell which is COURSING BEFORE the '3,' which is in third's place, then fifth's place will be occupied by the bell which is 'before' ANY OTHER ONE that happens to take third's place at a lead-head. Similarly with the 5/7 places.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT.

The thick fog which hung over North London on Saturday last undoubtedly affected the attendance at a meeting of the North and East District of the above association, held at St. John of Jerusalem, South Hackney, but happily it did not pervade the belfry, and all the touches attempted were brought round. Most of the standard methods from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise were rung, prior to the service being held at 5 p.m. At the latter, a very interesting discourse was given by the Rector (Rev. G. T. McLean) on the new Prayer Book, which was listened to very attentively.

An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, and afterwards the business meeting was held. Four new members were elected, including the Rev. G. T. McLean as an honorary member.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) proposed a vote of condolence with the president (Mr. F. A. Milne), who had suffered bereavement by the death of his wife. This was carried by the members standing in silence for a few moments, and was briefly acknowledged by the president.

The action of the hon. secretary in writing a sympathetic letter to Mrs. Kemp, widow of the late Mr. W. J. Kemp, for 16 years assist. hon. secretary of the district, was endorsed, and many regrets were expressed at the loss of so valuable a member.

A vote of thanks, proposed by the president, was unanimously passed, and was acknowledged by the Rector, who stated his pleasure at once again meeting the association, and also thanked the members for electing him as an honorary member.

Mr. Riley, the towerkeeper, to whose invaluable activities the members were much indebted, also responded, and the meeting terminated. Ringing was again indulged in until nearly 9 p.m.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

It is most desirable that the Exercise should consider and, if possible, settle the question of the extension of methods, but it is essential that we should first of all thoroughly understand the nature of the problem and the difficulties which confront us. If there is to be anything like finality in the conclusions arrived at, we must have rules which are applicable to all methods alike; such that, given any previously unknown method, we could tell definitely whether it will extend and what the correct extension is. It would be comparatively easy to select a number of men who could give a sound judgment on the extension of any particular method; it is quite another thing to lay down rules for the extension of methods in general. This is only what we should expect when we realise that the almost universal custom of composers is to deal with each method separately and without reference to other methods.

In extending a method like, say, Superlative or London, a man will allow deviation from the original, which he would not tolerate in simpler methods like Plain Bob or Kent. He will be prepared with arguments for his deviations, and he may be fully justified in making them; but it shows that he consciously or unconsciously has a different standard for different methods, and so long as that happens any general rules of extension are impossible. The difficulty arises from the fact that the Exercise has not begun to consider whether there are any general laws that apply or not.

A man takes an eight-bell method, studies it, notes what he considers its important features, and tries to reproduce them on ten or twelve bells. Obviously, since the features of different methods differ from one another, and because what may appear important to one man, often appears less important to another, you are bound to get contrary results. Much good work has been done, and will be done, in this way, but it does not begin to help that solution of our problem, for which the Editor of 'The Ringing World' has been pressing.

It will no doubt appear to many people that there should be no really great difficulty in drawing up a set of clear-cut rules which would enable a competent person to decide whether an extension is valid or not; that there is no lack of men in the Exercise who, if they really tackle the task, have sufficient ability to perform it; but I am not at all sure that any fully satisfactory solution is possible. It is possible to understand the mathematical laws which govern the construction of methods, and the mathematical laws which govern the expansion of methods; and when these laws are understood it is possible to write out all the extensions of any given methods, extensions which will be so accurate that you can write out any row you choose on any number of bells by merely studying the original. Such extensions will satisfy every list from a theoretical point of view, but they will not necessarily give you what practical ringing is asking for. You are faced with a difficulty which is, I believe, insurmountable. I can, I think, best explain this by a simple illustration.

Double Court Minor is one of the simplest of six-bell methods—except for Plain Bob, it is the simplest of all six-bell methods. Its constructional shunt (which consists of fourth's and third's places round the treble, with their attendant dodging), is one of the movements which are most frequently used in the construction of methods of all sorts and on all numbers of bells. It adapts itself readily to any number. If there is one method more than another which is capable of extension it is Double Court Minor. But when we come to apply it to eight bells we find that, while there is on six bells only one position in which this shunt can be made, on eight bells there are two. Either is equally entitled to be called the equivalent of the one position on six bells, and equally so are the two positions taken together. We get, therefore, three eight-bell methods, all of them with an equal right to be considered the proper Major version of Double Court Minor:—

21436587	21436587	21436587
24135678	24163857	24135678
42316587	42618375	42316587
24361857	46281357	24361578
42638175	64823175	42635187
46283715	46283715	24365817

From no point of view, neither from the theoretical nor from the practical, can we say that any one of these is to be preferred to the others. Each is a valid extension. But note that no one alone does or can reproduce all the features of the Minor method. It takes all three to do that. Nor do they together wholly exhaust the possibilities of extension of the Minor. The larger the number of bells to which you extend the method the greater the number of available extensions. What is true of Double Court Minor is true, to a greater or less degree, of every method, and this partly explains why there is usually so much difference of opinion as to what is the correct extension of any given method.

No set of rules which you can draw up will help you over this difficulty. The only way out that I can see is to recognise that in theory these are all equally valid extensions, but for practical purposes to treat them as separate, independent methods distinct from the original six-bell method. That is not to face the difficulty, but to shirk it, and it is not a solution which is at all likely to commend itself to people in cases where, as in Superlative, there is acute controversy.

I proposed something of this sort at the Central Council meeting with regard to that method. I suggested that the method rung at Ipswich should be called Ipswich Superlative Maximus, and Shipway's extension Shipway's Superlative Royal, but I was not surprised to find that the adherents of those methods were not prepared to accept the suggestion. If people always approached these questions with an open mind and judged them as matters of cold mathematical law, it would be different. But that is what they seldom do. The question is nearly always complicated by feelings and prejudices which really have nothing to do with the matter, but which are perfectly natural and human, and which will never be done away with. If I had rung in the Ipswich peal, or if I, like Mr. Wilde, had been the first to produce the method, possibly I should have been prejudiced in its favour. I might not have liked to give up the title of Superlative Maximus without a struggle. But all this adds immensely to the difficulty of settling the question of extension.

There is one other difficulty which I should like to point out. Although practically every method is capable of a mathematical extension, the expansion which takes place is always unequal. This is so in even the simplest methods with traditional extensions which have never seriously been disputed. In Stedman Doubles, for instance, the three-bell work comprises three-fifths of the whole of the method, in Triples it is three-sevenths, in Caters three-ninths, and so on in decreasing proportion as the number of bells increases. In Stedman, the practical ringer finds no difficulty in this unequal expansion, but when you come to more complex methods it does seriously upset the balance of the different work. In London Surprise Major a large proportion of the work is plain hunting backwards. When people have tried to extend the method to Royal, they, without exception, have tried to expand this backward hunting, but the laws—the mathematical laws—of extension forbid any such thing. When you extend hunting on any number of bells you require a space which bears an exact proportion to the space occupied by the original hunting; and when you extend a method from eight bells to ten bells you have an increased space which bears an exact proportion to the original space. But the expansions of space are not the same in the two cases. The extended backward hunting of the Major requires more space than the Royal supplies, and, therefore, cannot be expanded. While, if you follow the precedent of Stedman and keep the backward hunting of the Royal the same size of as in Major, you do, indeed, get an extension which is mathematically correct, but in the eyes of the practical ringer you have destroyed what he considers the proper balance of the work, and offered him a method which is not what he is looking for, and which he does not want.

You must also face the fact that there are many methods, especially among the more complex, which are excellent on one number of bells, but whose good qualities are practically confined to that number. They will extend, but in their extension they lose almost all those qualities which make the original attractive. Superlative is an example of this. It is quite safe to say that none of the extensions of that method either to ten or to twelve bells would be considered worthy of practice on its own merits. The sole attraction they have in the eyes of ringers is that they claim the title of Superlative.

MR. BAKER'S QUESTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Allow me briefly to reply to Messrs. James and Trollope. Of the first gentleman, let me ask: Has the Exercise, as a whole, advanced since the Campanologia by J. D. C. M. was written? If Mr. James agrees that it has, why does he bring in the dead hand and intellect to-day?

Mr. Trollope, I notice, is not nearly so certain of things as he was in June, 1924, and I would suggest that he, and any of your readers who keep a file of 'The Ringing World,' should read up what he wrote then and compare it with what he has written in your last issue.

In conclusion, let me point out the following: When the Methods Committee have learned how to find the round blocks of any method, principle or system, they will then be able to say whether an extension is the SAME METHOD or merely an extension—reciprocal or otherwise.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

On November 17th, at St. Leonard's Church, Hythe, Kent, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): W. Fright 1, W. Bidnell 2, S. Baker 3, A. R. Manning 4, S. Mowl 5, A. Wratten 6, S. A. Gower (conductor) 7, W. J. Prebble 8. This was rung as a compliment to Alderman and Mrs. J. B. Tunbridge, it being the alderman's 77th birthday, his wife's 74th, and also their golden wedding day—a three-fold anniversary.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Arksey, Doncaster, on Saturday, November 19th, at the Parish Church, in 43 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): F. Garner 1, H. Arrand 2, J. McCluskey (conductor) 3, C. Otter 4, E. Cooper 5, A. Hall 6, T. Revil 7, T. Bysouth 8. Rung as a compliment to Mr. George Bramham and Miss Sadie McCluskey, who were married at the church during the afternoon.

MR. JAMES GEORGE.

A BIRMINGHAM BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

The 74th birthday of Mr. James George, who, as one of the best-known figures in the Exercise, needs no introduction to our readers, was celebrated in Birmingham on Saturday (the eve of his natal day), when he entertained the members of St. Nicolas' Guild, King's Norton, and a number of other intimate friends. 'Hale and hearty' is only one of the descriptions which can be applied to this Peter Pan of the Exercise. Not only is he hale and hearty, he preserves the bloom of youth to a remarkable degree, and the physical fitness and buoyant spirits of a man in the prime of life. Indeed, Mr. George will tell you that he is in the prime of life. On Saturday, he was the soul of the party, and after some ringing in the afternoon at King's Norton, on the glorious ring of ten bells, welcomed his guests at the Crown Hotel, Corporation Street. The party, which numbered about 40, was presided over by Mr. Frank B. Yates, Ringing Master of St. Nicolas' Guild, and among those present to do honour to Mr. George were Mrs. Yates, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, and Mrs. Pritchett, Mr. A. Paddon Smith, hon. secretary of the Guild, and Mrs. Paddon Smith, Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy Ringing Master, and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Parsons (Old Hill), Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smallwood (Derby), Mr. and Mrs. P. Laffin (King's Norton), Mr. and Mrs. F. Perrens (Coventry), Mr. and Mrs. T. Reeves, Mr. G. F. Swann, Mr. J. Neal, Mr. H. Withers, Mr. J. Pemberton, and the members of the King's Norton Guild.

After enjoying an excellent dinner, the company honoured the toast of 'The King,' on the call of the chairman, and Alderman Pritchett then proposed the toast of 'Our Host.' He said England had been described as the 'Ringing Isle,' and in that respect it was the most wonderful country in the world, and one of the most wonderful men in that most wonderful country was their host, Mr. James George (applause). The few ringing friends whom he saw before him were but a sample of those hundreds of friends whom Mr. George possessed all over the country in every town, in almost every village. Mr. George rang his first peal at St. George's, Camberwell, on February 16th, 1889. They would observe that that was only 38 years ago. Nowadays ringers began to ring peals at 12 or 13 years of age. Had Mr. George begun at that period of his life and had rung peals at the rate he had been ringing them, he would have no doubt created a record. As it was, he had now rung 960 peals. To ring a thousand peals was a legitimate ambition, and it was hardly necessary to remind them that very few people had achieved that ambition. Mr. George had got very near to it, and they hoped before he celebrated another birthday after the one which was to take place on the morrow, he would have achieved that great ambition. When they considered it, to ring 960 peals was a very great achievement. Looked at from the point of view of time alone, those 960 peals, at an average of three hours per peal, represented 120 days and nights spent in peal ringing. He had rung those peals in 334 towers, and that in itself must be nearly, if not quite, a record; and these towers were in 42 different counties. Fortunately for Mr. George, he entered the service of the London and North Western Railway Company, and that had given him unusual facilities for travelling. He (the speaker) had often envied Mr. George, when he had been ringing at a distance from home, to notice the ease with which he got past the ticket collector (laughter). Unfortunately, although Mr. George could pass himself through all the while he was a servant of the railway company, he was unable to pass his friends through (laughter). Among the many interesting peals in which Mr. George had taken part was the record peal of 12,240 Treble Bob Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne, on April 17th, 1911, and that record, so far as one could judge, was likely to continue to be a record. The marvellous thing about it was that, although Mr. George was then about 60 years of age, he rang the tenor bell—a bell which weighed about 28 cwt.—for 8 hrs. 39 mins. That was a great physical feat as well as a great intellectual feat. Then, on November 28th, 1925, the day after Mr. George was 72 years of age, he rang a tenor weighing 53 cwt. 22 lb. in a peal of Treble Bob Maximus which lasted 4 hrs. 7 mins. (applause). On that occasion he was the senior of all the ringers present by 16 years. A great feature of Mr. George's ringing, especially in recent years, since he had got into the prime of his manhood, had been that he usually rang the heaviest bell—he claimed that as a privilege. He had rung a bell weighing well over 2½ tons for four hours, which would seem incredible if they did not know that it were true, but he liked occasionally to show that he could also ring a light one, and among other feats of which he was very proud was the fact that he on one occasion rang the treble at Lye Church, which weighed only 60lb., and he (the speaker) had heard Mr. George say that he felt far more exhausted after that peal than after ringing the tenor to the Treble Bob Maximus peal at Bow Church. Alderman Pritchett went on to say that the first peal he had the pleasure of ringing with Mr. George was on October 14th, 1893, and on June 20th, 1903, he had the honour and privilege of conducting Mr. George's 250th peal—a peal of Stedman Triples at King's Norton (applause). Mr. George's had been a wonderful career. It showed what enthusiasm and perseverance could do in a man of determined character. Naturally, he was very proud of it, but there was one thing of which he could feel prouder still, and that was that he had attained the age of 73 years and 364 days in such an excellent state of health and preservation (applause). He could only hope that all of them present would follow Mr. George's example. His life showed that strenuous exertion did no harm to a man; it showed that steady, temperate habits and good living conduce to longevity. Mr. George had always been a man of temperate habits, and he had always been a man of good humour, and that was a great thing towards getting to be an old man—to be cheerful always, to take an interest in the things around you, and to cultivate friendships among those of similar tastes. On behalf of all those present, he tendered to Mr. George their warmest thanks, as well as their congratulations. They appreciated the hospitality he had shown them, and it was with the utmost sincerity that they tendered to him their warmest congratulations, not only upon his wonderful career as a ringer, but upon his having attained the eve of his 74th birthday. 'May he long continue to live and ring,' concluded the alderman, 'and may this not be the last occasion we shall have the pleasure of enjoying his hospitality and showing our appreciation of his friendship' (applause).

The toast was enthusiastically drunk with musical honours.

Mr. George was greeted with applause on rising to respond. He assured the company that he would far rather be ringing a peal than to have the task which was put upon him at that moment of acknowledging the hearty congratulations of his friends. First of all he wished to congratulate Alderman Pritchett upon the peal for the Masonic Order which had been rung on the previous Saturday. It was one of which he might feel very proud (hear, hear). There was only one thing which he would have liked to see added to the performance, and perhaps that could be done when a peal of Maximus was rung; it was that the composer of the peal, as well as all the members of the band, should be a member of the craft. Proceeding, Mr. George referred to the ambition which he had to ring a peal upon every one of the 366 dates of the year. Mr. Pye had only one date left to fill in, while he had 13. Mr. Pye, however, had rung peals on a number of dates on handbells, but he found from his own list that handbell peals accounted, by themselves, for only six of the dates in his list, so that when he had rung peals on the 19 remaining dates he would be the first to ring a tower bell peal on every date in the year (applause). Continuing, he said when he first thought of that little gathering it was out of recognition of the kindness which he had received from the King's Norton band, from Mr. Yates, Mr. Laffin, and the other ringers, and he felt he would like to show his appreciation. Then he thought he would like to include a few of his other friends in Birmingham, and he was delighted to see them present. He had been going to King's Norton for some months, and he had always received a cordial welcome. It had been a great help to him, for he realised that he had a lot to learn yet, and he hoped by the end of the next fifty years he would be something like he ought to be (laughter and applause). He thanked God for the health and strength given to him, and he could only say that whatever he had done had been with the help of the Supreme Father (hear, hear). It had been a real joy to him to go to King's Norton, where, as in so many other bellries, he had been made very welcome indeed. He had recently been made an honorary member of the King's Norton band, and he thought it was a very nice thing that they should have done it. There were four couples present who had come a long distance to pay him honour that night, and he deeply appreciated their kindness. They were Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith, who had come all the way from Woking, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons from Old Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Perrens from Coventry, and Mr. and Mrs. Smallwood from Derby. He thanked them very much for their kindness, and also all the other numerous friends who had joined them, and particularly Mr. and Mrs. Yates and Alderman and Mrs. Pritchett. He hoped that they would all long be spared to ring peals together. At one time he thought he should stop at 1,000 (A Voice: 'Never!'), but if his health continued he might go on again (applause). He thanked Alderman Pritchett for the way he had spoken of him, and the company for the manner in which they drank his health (applause).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith proposed the toast of 'St. Martin's Guild.' He referred to the great traditions of the past of this, the third oldest ringing organisation in the country, spoke of the proud position which it held in the Exercise to-day, and of the admirable way in which it was managed by its efficient officers, and went on in humorous vein to take a peep into the future.

Mr. Albert Walker responded, and remarked that while they tried, as the proposer had said, to uphold the traditions of the past, he believed that, with such good and enthusiastic members as they now had, the future would be equally as brilliant as the past (applause). There had been but a few peals rung at St. Martin's recently, and the practices had not been quite so well attended, but the main reason for that was that the bells were not really ringable. They were glad to know, however, that they were going to get the bells put in order, and reports had been received from three firms of founders. They hoped a scheme would now go forward which would provide them with a really splendid peal of 12 bells, the best at their weight in the world, worthy of the church and worthy of the ancient Guild (applause).

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, in felicitous terms proposed 'The Ringing World,' to which Mr. Goldsmith responded, and a lady present then handed to Mr. George a pretty little gift, in the form of a bell inkstand, engraved with his initials and the date, which Mr. George suitably acknowledged.

In the absence of Mr. Tom Russam, who was prevented by illness from attending, Mr. Walker submitted the toast of 'St. Nicolas' Guild.' He referred to the association which had long existed between:

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT TO BE DIVIDED.

The annual meeting of the Basingstoke District was held at Basingstoke on Saturday, and was a great success, over ninety members and visitors attending from Basingstoke (All Saints' and St. Michael's), Bramley, Oakley, Overton, Whitchurch, Andover, Highclere, Woolton Hill, Silchester, Yateley, Ellisfield, St. Mary Bourne, Sherfield, Dummer, Odiham, Stevenon, North Stoneham, Winchester and Newbury.

The Guild's service was held at St. Michael's Church, and the address given by Rev. H. W. Boustead, D.D. Afterwards, the members sat down to a splendid tea in the Church Cottage, which was provided by the generosity of the Basingstoke ringers.

At the business meeting, which followed the tea, the Rev. H. W. Boustead, D.D., was voted to the chair, and among those present were Rev. E. Jones (district secretary), Rev. T. S. Adams (Silchester), Rev. G. H. Jaudwine (Oakley), Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), Mr. Curtis (secretary, Newbury District, Oxford Guild), and others.

Following the usual routine business, the general secretary gave a report of the special meeting which was held at Southampton on October 22nd, at which a joint Guild for the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth had been formed.

Following the decision to rearrange the districts, the present Basingstoke District is to be divided into the two new districts of Andover and Basingstoke, and it was decided to hold the inaugural meeting for the new Andover District at Whitchurch on February 4th, and that for the new Basingstoke District at Basingstoke on February 13th.

The present district officers consented to carry on until the new districts are brought into being.

Mr. G. Williams spoke on the question of getting the clergy generally interested in the Guild and ringing, and urged the clergy present to do all they could in this direction.

The bells of St. Michael's and All Saints' Churches were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and a variety of methods practised.

WEST DRAYTON TOWER AND BELLS. A CRUMBLING THIRTEENTH-CENTURY RELIC.

An appeal has been issued on behalf of the fund that is being raised for the preservation of the tower and rehanging of the bells at St. Martin's Church, West Drayton, Middlesex. The tower is over 700 years old, and is now in a state of crumbling decay, and, having been pronounced a danger to the public, its door has been closed, it has been fenced off, the bellcote that used to surmount the roof has been removed, and a detailed examination has been made. It has been found that the work of preservation must be taken in hand at once, lest it prove too late to save this ancient, historic building.

The bells were cast 216 years ago, from an earlier peal, but they have not been rung for over 30 years. They are a peal of six. The fifth is badly cracked and must be recast, but the other five will be tuned and quarter turned. It is proposed to rehang the bells in wood frame, using as much as possible of the present timber, the bulk of which is quite sound.

Contributions towards the scheme will be welcomed, and should be sent to Mr. T. A. Dymes, Carthana, 5, De Burgh Crescent, West Drayton, Middlesex. Donations intended for the bells can be earmarked accordingly.

King's Norton and St. Martin's Guild, and to the high efficiency of the King's Norton band through many years. There were not even to-day many Sunday bands with whom one could go and ring London Surprise or Cambridge Royal for service, but this they could do at King's Norton. They looked upon King's Norton as a stepping stone to St. Martin's, and he hoped when they got the new bells in the Bull Ring that they would see more of the King's Norton men at the practices and helping in the good work they were trying to do at St. Martin's.

The Chairman, who responded, spoke of the pleasure which it gave the St. Nicolas' Guild to welcome any members of St. Martin's Guild at King's Norton, and said they were sorry they did not see more of them. St. Nicolas' Guild was formed three years ago, not with the idea of competition with St. Martin's Guild, but with the idea, if possible, of helping them. They were looking forward to the time when St. Martin's bells would be recast, and they could visit St. Martin's and ring with the Guild (applause).

Mr. George thanked Mr. Yates and Mr. Laffin for their work in arranging that gathering, and the toast list concluded with 'The Chairman,' submitted in complimentary terms by Mr. Frank Smallwood, and acknowledged by Mr. Yates.

An excellent musical entertainment had been arranged by Mr. Tom Davies, and included songs by Mr. W. Avery, and duets by Mr. Davies and Mr. Dai Thomas, Mrs. Davies being the accompanist. Professor 'Gazeeka' amused and mystified the company with his sleight of hand, and entertained them with a ventriloquial sketch. Tunes were rung by Messrs. Walker, Laffin and Withers, and a topping course of Stedman Cinques by Messrs. Laffin, Perrens, Swann, Smallwood, Walker and George.

A highly enjoyable evening came to an end at 11 p.m. with the National Anthem.

Mr. George wishes, through these columns, to thank his many friends for their congratulations and good wishes on his 74th birthday, as they are too numerous to reply to separately.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

FELKIRK, YORKS.—At St. Peter's Church on Sunday, November 13th, four different extents of Treble Bob. For matins: 720 Kent: H. Cooper 1, A. Kelsall (first 720 of Treble Bob) 2, A. Cole 3, H. METHOD EXTENSION.

The informative article by Mr. J. A. Trollope, which appeared in our last issue and which is followed up by another this week, is a useful contribution to the vexed problem of method extension. Whether our readers will be in full agreement or not with all that Mr. Trollope has to say on the subject does not at the moment matter, at any rate from our own point of view. Hitherto the question has been so much obscured by controversy over individual method extensions that the general principles involved have been lost—even if there has ever been an attempt to expound them—to the general body of the Exercise. What we have from time to time sought to impress upon the experts has been the need for arriving at the principles which can be recognised as governing method extension. Mr. Trollope, in his two articles, has set forth some of the difficulties which would have to be faced by any body of men who tried to get down to the task. There may be those who will say that the difficulties are to some extent mythical, and that there are already formulæ upon which all methods can be extended. Be that as it may, if it is possible to get those who take these divergent views to set down their rival opinions and to discuss their respective merits with others who could give a sound judgment, we might go a long way to reducing order out of what is, to the ordinary ringer, apparent chaos.

We readily admit that whoever enter upon this task, if they are to produce something of real value to the Exercise, have to face a thorny problem, and it may be that many of the points at issue will take long to settle. Mr. Trollope has already pointed out that the construction of methods was not settled by the Methods Committee's report, but settled, as far as it has been settled, by the controversies and discussions which grew out of the report. If method extension can be settled in the same way, a great gain will be achieved, and it is because we believe that a solution of the problem can be found if the matter is approached in the right way that we have so constantly urged that it should be taken in hand. If those who at present advance definite views on the subject have the courage of their convictions, they ought not to object to submitting them to an impartial body who could weigh the material before them and come to some conclusion that would give a definite lead to the Exercise at large.

If the discussion which has now reopened in our columns takes the matter nearer to settlement it will have served a useful purpose. We realise that a debate on abstruse points, with masses of technicalities, cannot be followed by the majority of our readers, and this should be reserved for a committee, who should be asked to consider the problem. But broad principles can well be understood and some of the difficulties which confront the Exercise can be appreciated by all, from articles such as Mr. Trollope has written. All sides have got to be heard if an acceptable decision is to be arrived at, and while the figures of proof must be left for the consideration of those competent to deal with them, the Exercise will profit by simply stated facts.

A CHESHIRE TOUR.MOTORING ON A TYPICAL 'SUMMER' DAY.

On a typical English summer day—like most of those we have enjoyed (P) this year—a day when the makers of umbrellas and 'macks' rub their hands with satisfaction—six members of the Chester Diocesan Guild (Chester Branch), Messrs. H. W. Wilde, J. Morgan, G. Jones, W. Thomas, A. E. Richards, and J. W. Clarke, set off early in the morning to endeavour to raise a few blisters. They met in the ancient city of Chester, complete with Austin car and Rudge motor-cycle—two trusty vehicles which have had previous 'honourable mentions' in these columns.

On the command, 'Prepare to mount,' the five gentlemen for the car placed themselves in position—i.e., fat ones in front, thin ones behind. Failing to persuade any of the car people to take a turn on the motor-cycle, Mr. Clarke had to ride it himself.

After a good swim, Great Budworth, the first place of call, was reached at 9.45, and after a look round the beautiful church, the Vicar led the ascent to the lofty tower. The bells, delightfully old-fashioned and mellow, were soon ringing out Oxford Treble Bob, a good 720 being brought round on the back six. Mr. Richards set a noble example of early morning energy by turning in the 23 cwt. tenor. After 120 Stedman Doubles, the 'swim' was again continued as far as Mobberley. The exquisite carving in this ancient church is worthy of mention, and the beauty of the building was enhanced by harvest decorations. The ringing chamber, evidently once a west gallery, could scarcely be called ideal. The floor is in two tiers, one about a yard above the other, three ropes falling on the upper floor and three on the lower. Although this is somewhat out of the ordinary, ringers on holiday don't worry much, and a 720 of Double Oxford was completed before the bells were lowered. A move was then made towards lunch, and a cosy restaurant was chosen in Alderley Edge.

The water had somewhat subsided in the afternoon, and travelling was a little more pleasant. Rubber tyres, however, did not quite like the cobbled lane leading to the quaint old church at Alderley, which was reached about 2.30 p.m. An extent of Kent Minor was accomplished on the pleasing ring of six before the journey was continued to the little brick church at Chelford. Chelford bells are a light six, and ringers are tempted to run them along at a speed which sometimes spells disaster. The mishap came when nearly half-way through a 720 of Double Bob, but, fortunately, time allowed of an extent being obtained before leaving for Holmes Chapel.

Tea was now the order of the day, and, as no cafe was visible, the party walked into a hostelry conveniently situated near the church. There was an awkward moment just after they entered—a maid dropped a laden tray with a terrible crash. It appears that she imagined herself to be dreaming on hearing ringers asking for 'tea'!

The bells of Holmes Chapel, although of considerable age, have been rehung during recent years, and 'go' excellently. The day's ringing was concluded here with an enjoyable 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor, after which wheels revolved towards Chester again. After safely negotiating the narrow streets of Middlewich and the market crowds of Winsford, Chester was safely reached. Mr. Richards and Mr. Thomas were put down to look for their bus; the other four, at any rate, arrived home at the highly respectable hour of 9.30.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

A successful meeting was held at St. Stephen's, Ealing, on Saturday, November 26th, where, in spite, of the inclement weather, over 40 attended.

Ringings started at 3 p.m., and good practice was put in by the probationers, as well as the more advanced members, till 4.50, when the Rev. H. M. Maynard (Vicar) visited the tower to unveil a tablet, recording the first peal of Bob Major rung on the bells by the Ancient Society of College Youths. Service followed, conducted by the Vicar, with Miss Fry at the organ. Afterwards, tea was served in the Church Hall by Mr. and Mrs. Hudson. At the request of the Vicar, who presided, Mr. and Mrs. Belcher and family, assisted by Mr. A. H. Fulwell, rendered some fine selections on the handbells, which were much appreciated by all the company.

The Vicar gave a hearty welcome to the association, and expressed the hope that they would pay another visit in the near future.

The Vicar vacated the chair after tea, and his place was ably filled by Mr. A. F. Gunning (churchwarden) for the business meeting.

Three new members were elected.—St. John's, Hillingdon, and St. Mary's, Acton, were proposed for the January meeting. Acton secured 16 votes and Hillingdon 14. Further selections were given on the handbells, and Grandsire Caters, etc., were also rung.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, churchwarden, organist, host and hostess, Messrs. P. E. Clark, E. J. Walsom and C. Edwards, of St. Stephen's band, Mr. and Mrs. Belcher and family, and A. H. Fulwell for their entertainment, and all who helped to make the meeting a success.

St. Mary's was visited after tea, when the company was added to, and Double Norwich, Cambridge, and Superlative Surprise were practised.

Thanks were accorded to the Rev. Sharp (Vicar) for the use of the bells, and to Mr. J. H. Hunnisett for the welcome he gave to the members.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A record which stood for 80 years was made at Painswick on December 9th, 1833, when a peal of 10,224 Treble Bob Maximus was rung in 6 hrs. 50 mins.

One hundred and forty years ago to-morrow '5,040 Holt's Grandsire Trebles' was rung at Kingston-on-Thames, 'call'd by Robert Porter, age 17 years.' This must have been a unique performance for so young a ringer at that time. Do any of our readers know what was the future career of this youthful conductor?

A peal of 'Real Double Caters' was composed and conducted by George Gross, and rung at St. Magnus', London Bridge, on December 10th, 1770. The composition is preserved, and is to be found in the 'Clavis.'

On December 15th, 1735, 8,008 Grandsire Cinques was rung by the College Youths at Southwark. When one remembers that it was only a bare twenty years earlier that the first peal of any kind had been rung, the progress which was made in those early days of peal ringing must have been considerable, for there were not the means of inter-communication of ideas then that there are now.

The first peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at St. Clement Dances was rung 80 years ago next Thursday.

December 15th is also the anniversary of the first peal rung in South Africa—a peal of Grandsire Triples at Woodstock, in the year 1904.

It is proposed to attempt a peal of Stedman at Dartford on Saturday, January 6th, 1928, at 2.30 p.m., by members of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows. Any ringers belonging to the Unity who would like to ring should write to Bro. R. A. Jenkins, Dartford Lodge, 84, Priory Road, Dartford. For the event a dinner and concert are being arranged at the Co-operative Hall, it being the 89th anniversary of the lodge in Dartford. The conductor of the peal will be Bro. J. H. Cheesman, Greenhithe Lodge.

SILVER BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Referring to this subject brought up by your correspondent in these columns a short time ago, I am sending this extract from an old book, 'Popular Errors Explained,' by John Timbs, F.S.A., which may interest ringers generally:—

'Silver in bells. A prejudice has long existed that the old church bells contained a smaller or larger portion of silver, and the large bell of Rouen Cathedral was, from its beautiful sounds, called the silver bell. It was broken up, and melted into cannon, in the first French Revolution; and M. Girardin has, by a careful analysis, ascertained that this Rouen bell had not a trace of silver in it. One hundred parts of it by weight contained: Copper 71, brass 26, zinc 1.80, iron 1.20. Modern French bells differ little from the above, being composed of: Copper 78, brass 22.'

Mr. E. Beckett Denison, in his account of the great bell of Westminster, says that silver is 'a purely poetical and not a chemical ingredient of any known bell metal; and that there is no foundation whatever for the vulgar notion that it was used in old bells, nor the least reason to believe that it would do any good. I happened to hear,' adds Mr. Denison, 'of an instance where it had been tried by a gentleman who had put his own silver into the pot at the bell foundry some years ago. I wrote to him to inquire about it, and he could not say that he remembered any particular effect. This seemed to me to be quite enough to settle that question. You may easily see for yourselves that a silver cup makes a rather worse bell than a cast-iron saucepan.'

One thing, however, seems certain, and that is that church bells made of solid silver would be very expensive.—Yours faithfully,

EDWARD GEORGE ELLENGER.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. PRESENTATIONS.

The final meeting of the Organising Committee of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, when arrangements were completed for the inaugural meeting, which is to be held on Saturday, December 31st, at Guildford.

The Bishop of Guildford will preside at this meeting, and it is hoped the initiation of the new Guild will be attended by the president and hon. secretary of the Central Council and by officers of all the neighbouring Guilds and associations.

The inaugural meeting will be followed by a special service in the cathedral. After tea, there will be facilities for ringing.

Indisposition prevented the hon. secretary from attending the meeting on Saturday, but he received a pleasant surprise on Monday, when one of the members visited him and handed him an attaché case, the gift of the committee in appreciation of the work which he had done in connection with organising the new Guild. There was a kindly thought also for Mrs. Goldsmith, who received a silver-mounted walking stick. As the secretary did not have the opportunity of thanking the committee personally for their great kindness, he desires to do so through these columns.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

MORE ABOUT COURSING ORDER.

All legitimate Major methods being compelled to produce Bob Major lead-heads, it follows that these coursing order positions will apply to the lead-heads of any Major method. Notice the words 'lead-heads.' In other methods the coursing order may be broken WITHIN the leads, but it is put right again before the end of the leads, being maintained in the lead-heads until a 'call' introduces a new course, as will be shown; but, for the moment, we will only consider the fact that in our peal the calls do not disturb the plain coursing positions of our tenors—that they are not 'parted' from one another in the coursing order; and that, at every lead-head throughout the peal, they will occupy positions which correspond to one of the plain course lead-heads, thus:—

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 Notice that the '87' coursing pair are adjacent only in the 2/3 and 7/8 places, and that it is '78' there; it will never be '87.' That in the odd places (3/5 and 5/7) it is '703,' and that in the even places (2/4, 4/6 and 6/8) it is '807.'

Now let ANY OTHER COURSING PAIR replace the '87' pair, say the '46.' Then in the odd places we may expect to find '604,' and in the even places '406,' and so on. It will never be '603,' etc., etc., because '63' are not a coursing pair. Similarly with any pair chosen from the coursing order.

There are seven coursing pairs in the coursing order, and during their progress through the seven leads of the plain course each pair will, in turn, occupy each position taken by '87' above. In another way, when '87' do NOT occupy a certain pair of the places given, another coursing pair will do so.

When finding the lead-heads that were false against the PLAIN COURSE, we had seven columns, each containing fourteen false heads, from which we abstracted those which had the tenors in plain coursing positions, and we were left with only six that mattered. These six could have been produced straight from column No. 1, in the following manner.

Given our fourteen false heads that are false against lead-head 2345678, if any of them has a COURSING PAIR of bells in a pair of the seven plain coursing positions, it follows that we can substitute (for 2345678) a PLAIN COURSE LEAD-HEAD that will bring the 87 pair into those plain coursing positions, which are held by that other coursing pair in the false head, the false head being relative to 2345678.

No. 3 false head in column No. 1 is 5238746, and '53' are a coursing pair which occupy therein a pair of plain course positions (5030000). Now the false head (5)2(3)8746 is false against (2)3(4)5(6)78, wherein '53' occupy the THIRD AND FIFTH places in the row. Then: Find a plain course lead-head which has the 87 pair (the tenors) in the THIRD AND FIFTH places, and—

If lead-head 2(3)4(5)678 has a false head (5)2(3)8746, then lead-head 0(7)0(8)000 will have a false head (8)0(7)0000.

First examine the 14 heads in column No. 1 that are false against 2345678, and note any coursing pair that occupy EXACTLY the same positions as they do in ANY PLAIN COURSE LEAD-HEAD. The false head No. 1 is the first (57)83246, wherein the 75 pair correspond in positions to No. 2 lead-head (57)38264. (Note.—This lead-head does not enter into the question, and may immediately be forgotten. It is merely the means of enabling us easily to recognise a coursing pair in plain course positions.) Then look for the plain-course lead-head which has the 87 pair IN THE 5/7 PLACES. It is the lead-head at the top of your column No. 5—352(7)4(8)6. Then, lead-head 3527456, transposed by the false head 5783246, gives 7865324, which is a 'tenors together' false head belonging to COLUMN NO. FIVE.

No. 2 false head is another—657(2)8(3)4, the 32 pair corresponding in positions to lead-head No. 7—648(2)7(3)5. Here we want the lead-head with the 87 pair in the 2/3 places, the 2/3 places corresponding to the '23' bells. It is that lead-head which heads our column No. 6—(78)56342. Then, lead-head 7865342, transposed by the false head 6572834, gives 3647285, which is a 'tenors together' false head belonging to THAT COLUMN—No. 6.

And so on, the tenors having to be in those PLACES in the lead-heads that correspond to the NUMBERS of the coursing pair picked out in the false head, the result of the transposition belonging to the column which is headed by the lead-head that has the tenors in the necessary places. The whole of them are given below:—

(1) Shows the heads that are false against 2345678, denoting the coursing pairs in plain course positions.

(2) Lead-heads with the tenors in corresponding places.

(3) Transpositions of (2) by (1), being false heads with 'tenors together,' denoting their respective columns.

F.H. No.	(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	(57)83246	352(7)4(8)6	7865324—column 5.
2.	657(2)8(3)4	(78)56342	3647285—column 6.
3.	(5)2(3)8746	5(7)3(8)264	8574632—column 2.
4.	3(4)7(2)865	(8)16(7)4523	6728354—column 3.
13.	7(3)4(5)826	5(7)3(8)264	6738452—column 2.
14.	(23)54976	(78)56342	7865243—column 6.

It so happens that Superlative Surprise Major has given false heads which contain only one pair of coursing bells in the plain course positions, but it is possible for more than two bells to be in plain course places in a false head. These must be carefully searched for, if this short cut is going to be used.

For instance, a head that is false against 2345678 might be 4327586. Here we have two combinations—432(7)5(8)6, wherein the positions of the 87 pair correspond to lead-head No. 5; AND ALSO 43275(8)6, wherein the 68 pair correspond also to lead-head No. 5. In this instance it is necessary to transpose TWO plain course lead-heads with the tenors in corresponding places, by the ONE false head; that is, BOTH 23456(78) and 4263(8)5(7) will be transposed by the false head 4327586, giving 4327586 and 6245378 respectively.

Again, the false-head might be 26(7)8(5)4(3), wherein '75' and '53' are coursing pairs in plain course positions. Here it is necessary to transpose the two lead-heads 352(7)4(8)6 and 5(7)3(8)264 by this one false head, giving 3486725 and 5264837 as the respective false heads with the 'tenors together.' And so on, taking care to pick out, in the false head, EVERY COMBINATION of coursing bells in plain course positions, and applying each combination to the plain course lead-head, with the tenors in the necessary places.

We have found that if we cause second's or eight's places to be made at the lead-ends, our coursing order remains unaltered; but, if a 'place' other than these is made, a different case will arise.

In Major methods, bobs are made in two ways—either by fourth's place or by sixth's place being made at the lead-ends, instead of the usual second's or eighth's places, as the case may be. We can discover how coursing order will be affected by both of these bobs by turning our 'plain hunting lead' into a bobbed lead, first by causing fourth's place to be made (by the '5'), and then by causing sixth's place to be made (by the '7'):—

Now 'pick up' the even-place bells and work backwards on the odd ones, as before, and we have coursing order 2546873254, etc., for the first, and coursing order 247685324, etc., for the second. Comparison of these new orders with our original will show that a FOURTH'S-PLACE BOB causes the bell which makes the bob place (the '5' in this particular instance) to take two steps BACKWARDS in the coursing order, now appearing between '2-4' instead of between '7-3,' as in the original. The SIXTH'S-PLACE BOB causes the bell which makes the bob place (the '7' here) to take two steps FORWARDS in the coursing order.

Different bells will, of course, make the bob places at other lead-heads, and those bells will then be the ones to take the steps forwards or backwards in the coursing order then prevailing, but the EFFECT will always be the same.

When bobs are used, only the one place is made in the rows, as in the Minor, but when singles are introduced in Major, TWO PLACES are made IN ADDITION to the usual second's or eighth's place—again as in the Minor. A single in a second's-place method causes THIRD'S AND FOURTH'S places to be made IN ADDITION, and in an eighth's-place method SIXTH'S AND SEVENTH'S places are made in addition to the eighth's place. We shall find that the single, applied in either way will have the same effect upon coursing order.

Turn the plain lead into a singled lead, first by making second's, third's and fourth's places, and then by making sixth's, seventh's, and eighth's places, thus:—

and we find that the coursing order is 354687235, etc., and 247865324, etc., respectively, and, when compared with the original, we see that the TWO BELLS which make the EXTRA PLACES change positions with EACH OTHER in the coursing order, the 25 in the first and the 76 in the second case.

In this connection it may be noted that a single in a Major method does not mean a 'single change,' as in the Minor; in fact, it is a misnomer here, TWO pairs changing in the row, instead of the three pairs as at the plain lead. Similarly with the higher numbers.

Each call will alter the prevailing coursing order in the manner shown above, and the conductor is enabled to carry the coursing order of the bells in mind by transposing them as each call is made. He is immediately in a position to know if his bells are not in their proper places.

This is the seventeenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

LONDON.—For the fish harvest festival at St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, on Sunday evening, October 30th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. Ayles (first quarter-peal in the method) 1, W. H. Fussell 2, T. H. Taffender 3, S. C. Moye 4, T. W. Taffender (conductor) 5, W. Rogers 6, J. R. Gammon 7, W. Bayliss 8.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

PLAIN BOB.

To understand the extension of Plain Bob we must first understand the structure of the method. There are six changes on three bells. Let us ring them with a covering tenor, and divide them into three sections of two rows each. Now hunt the tenor down to lead, let her lead a whole pull, and hunt her up behind again between each section, and we get Reverse Bob Minimus. (Write it out in full.) Add a bell to the working bells thus, and do the same, and we get Bob Doubles. Add another thus, and do the same, and we get the Bob Minor. I have given the reverse variation in each case as this best shows the nature of the method. It consists of a plain hunting course with a tenor behind, but the tenor is turned in at every cross section, hunted down to lead, and then up again, and when she is behind the working bells continue their independent hunting course just as if the tenor had not been turned in. The row above the line becomes the lead-end, and the row below the line the lead-head of the method. In practice, we discard Bob Doubles, Triples, etc., not because they are not a true extension, but because they cause a bell to strike four consecutive rows behind.

We have now seen that Bob Minimus can be extended to five bells in two different ways—by adding a bell in the hunt, which gives us Grandsire Doubles, the other by adding a bell in the work, which gives us Bob Doubles.

H. LAW JAMES.

WHAT IS A METHOD?

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The first thing to do is to settle clearly and definitely exactly what it is you are going to extend. That sounds like a truism, but it is not. A very large part of the difficulty in these matters arises from the fact that men take foundations and fundamentals too much for granted. You will probably say, 'Methods are what we want to extend, and every ringer knows what a method is.' Yes; every ringer does know what a method is up to a certain point, and to a point which includes everything which ordinarily concerns him. But we are dealing with a much disputed part of the science of ringing, and we want a much clearer and more definite idea and definition of a method than will suffice for all ordinary purposes. Here is a test. Take a piece of paper and write down exactly what you understand by the term method when you are dealing with this question of extension. Test it by every means you can think of. See that it satisfies, not only your own strong criticism, but also any fair criticism others can bring against it. In a word, start your arguments on clear, definite ideas. When you have done this, you can go on to ask yourself the next important question, What exactly do we mean by extension?

What is a method? At the outset let us thoroughly realise what it is not. It is not a collection of figures. There is no more subtle trap that a man can fall into in this matter than to think that a lead of, say, Superlative Major is a collection of figures, and to extend the method to Superlative Royal is to make as near a copy as possible with ten figures of the original eight. The figures we use are a more or less imperfect means of representing the method, but they are not the method. If you treat them as if they were the method (and the temptation is exceedingly strong), you are bound to fall into many fallacies and mistakes. A man may know (and many men do know) a vast deal about methods who never bothers himself about figures at all. If you want to know what a method really is, put your figures on one side and go into the tower and ring.

Now when we attempt a peal of Bob Major or London Surprise, or anything else, we do not start with the intention of ringing so many particular rows. Not one of the band, not even the conductor or the composer, could tell you what rows you actually have rung unless he makes elaborate calculations. What we do attempt to do, and we do know, everyone of us, whether we have done or not, is so much hunting, so much dodging, and so much place making. Everything, in fact, that we call 'work.' But all this work is only so much movement. It is this movement of the bells among each other which is the essential thing in ringing, which, indeed, is ringing itself. I hope no one will think I am writing platitudes or what everybody knows; for I am quite certain that until you realise that ringing is neither a collection of figures nor a succession of rows, nor even a succession of changes, but an amount of movement, you will never realise what an extension really is. A method is so much movement.

This is a fact, the proofs of which are abundant directly you enter the tower, but which you are extremely likely to overlook when you sit down at home with pencil and paper to work out theoretic problems in ringing. It was the idea of movement which first started ringing more than three hundred years ago, and which sharply conditions and controls what ringing is. Notice how almost every term we use implies movement and practically nothing else—hunting, dodging, place making, bob, course, lead and the rest—they all bear witness to the fact that we are concerned primarily with movement, and that all other things are subordinate.

Fabian Stedman knew and realised this. He does not give you figures and then leave you to find out what to do from them. He first of all describes how the bells are to move, which ones you have to hunt up or down; and afterwards, as an illustration, he gives you figures. But it is always as an illustration. It would be a good thing if we could work out this problem of extension without the aid of figures at all. That, perhaps, is not possible. But it is possible to free ourselves from the tyranny of the figures and treat the method as it really is—a thing which belongs to practical ringing and to the tower.

That brings us to an important general truth. No extension is a true and valid extension unless it can be rung by the same rules as the original. This is the only sure test in the matter, and all arguments and all proofs which you can produce are only of use so far as they recognise this. Of course, like all general statements, this is a test which has to be applied with care and knowledge. It does not mean that every rule by which you ring Double Norwich Major must apply to any method calling itself Double Norwich Royal. It might even be that no rule by which you personally ring the Major will apply to the Royal. It does mean that there must be a set of rules which, applied to eight bells, will enable you to ring Double Norwich Major, and, applied to ten bells, will enable you to ring Double Norwich Royal.

Here, then, is our problem broadly stated. A method is so much movement with certain definite rules. How can we extend that movement, using exactly the same rules?

CHESHIRE AND STAFFORDSHIRE RINGERS UNITE.

UNVEILING CEREMONY AT WISTASTON.

On Saturday, November 26th, in the cosy little belfry of Wistaston, a very interesting ceremony took place, the Rector (Rev. W. Mayne) unveiling a tablet recording a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor. This was preceded by a short service, at which about twenty ringers were present from Norton, Lawton, Barthomley, Crewe and Wistaston.

The Rector said it gave him very great pleasure to unveil the tablet, which would show to future generations the splendid activities in change ringing which had been accomplished in the past.

Both churchwardens were present, and Mr. C. Hartley, on behalf of the parishioners, thanked Mr. J. E. Wheeldon and Mr. H. G. Smith for their kindness in presenting to Wistaston such a beautiful adornment to the belfry, especially as the work was executed by these two gentlemen who formed two of the band who rang the peal. He could assure them that they all appreciated the gift very much.

Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, in response, said it always gave him pleasure to do anything he possibly could to further the art of change ringing. He had often wished to conduct Cambridge Surprise Minor in seven different extents, and he thanked Mr. A. Crawley very much for having given him the opportunity to do so. He also added that the composition of the band was a mixture of Cheshire and Staffordshire men, and that it was really a happy combination which resulted in a good peal. He thanked the Rector and churchwardens for the way they had received them that afternoon, and although this was his 60th peal he would always remember Wistaston because the peal was his first one outside his native county of Staffordshire.

Mr. T. Billington (warden) said he remembered not many years ago they possessed a 'stick-in-the-mud band,' who were content with 'stony' ringing, but since the advent of Mr. A. Crawley as conductor he had changed all that, and now they had a good change-ringing band.

By the generosity of Mr. C. Hartley, tea was partaken of in the large choir vestry. Mr. W. P. Deane proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Hartley for his kindness, and said that if the Wistaston ringers would come to Norton they would be only too pleased to return the compliment.—This was seconded by Mr. Geo. Crawley.

London, Chester and Cambridge Surprise, etc., were rung during the afternoon and evening, the ringing terminating a very happy gathering.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A by-meeting was held at Faversham on Saturday, December 3rd, where eleven towers were represented: Ashford, Canterbury, Ospringe, Littlebourne, Wickhambreaux, Sittingbourne, Herne, Faversham, Headcorn, Dover and Wingham.

A short service was held in the church, the Rev. Canon Clarke officiating. After the service, about 25 members sat down to tea at the Central Cafe, Faversham. The Rev. Canon Clarke presided over the business meeting which followed.

A letter from Mrs. Wilcox, St. Lawrence Vicarage, Thanet, expressing appreciation of condolences sent from a previous meeting, was read by the district secretary.

The next by-meeting will be held at Wickhambreaux, by the kind invitation of the Rev. W. Horne (Rector), the probable date being January 14th.

Before the meeting closed, a hearty vote of thanks was proposed to the chairman for the use of the church bells, and also for presiding over the meeting.—This was carried by acclamation.

During the afternoon and evening the methods rung included Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire, Bob Major, and Stedman.

GLoucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. MEETING AT ABBOTS LEIGH.

Considering the fine afternoon, it was rather disappointing on Saturday week that such a small number of members attended the Bristol Branch meeting, which was held at the charming village of Abbots Leigh, but those who did put in an appearance had a very enjoyable time. Mr. G. Bennett (the local secretary) was at the church to welcome the members. The bells were raised in peal, and good touches of Minor were rung. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. R. Raymer), who also gave an excellent address, which was listened to with the deepest interest. Mr. T. H. Osgood presided at the organ, and at the conclusion, as a voluntary, he played the 'Hallelujah Chorus,' which was much appreciated.

Tea was served in the old schoolroom, and was followed by a short business meeting presided over by the chairman (Mr. J. Gould), who was supported by the Vicar. The hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings) read a letter from the general secretary, saying he would recommend a grant be made for the rehanging of Marshfield bells, and Mr. F. C. Williams asked if the branch could not also make a grant. This was left for decision at the annual meeting to be held in January next.

Mr. E. S. Machin was elected an honorary member.

The Secretary reported that the arrangements were well in hand for the next meeting at Brislington on Saturday, December 17th, and that the Vicar was giving them his usual hearty welcome.

The Chairman proposed, and Mr. Williams seconded, a comprehensive vote to the Vicar, organist and local band.—The Vicar, responding, said it was his last opportunity to say 'Good-bye' to them all and to the dioceses, as he was shortly leaving for Sheldon, near Birmingham. He was glad of the opportunity of welcoming the association, and he hoped they would get all the towers into the association, which was serving the Church so well, and which pointed to a great brotherhood. He would like to see all the choirs have such an association.

The organist also replied, and said he would be at their service at any time he was required.

The Chairman, in conclusion, wished the Vicar every success in his new sphere.

Another visit was then paid to the belfry, and some were pleased with their first touch of Surprise Minor.

It may be of interest to all ringers to know that Abbots Leigh bells have a lightning conductor attached and connected with the tower conductor outside. The tower, being on a hill, is exposed, and no doubt this is an excellent 'safety first' idea for the bells and tower.

GLoucester BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester Branch was held at Quedgeley on Saturday, November 26th, and was well attended, the Master, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who had motored over from Hemerton, being among those present. Service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. G. Hadow, who extended a very hearty welcome to the members, and gave an address.

Tea was afterwards partaken of, the Vicar presiding. The usual business meeting followed, Mr. A. Wright (in the absence of the Vicar, who had to leave to fulfill another engagement) presiding.

The Secretary gave his report, which showed that during the past year eight meetings had been held, with an attendance of 153 members, showing an average of 19 members per meeting. The membership now is 119 performing members, against 107 last year, 24 honorary members (the same as last year), including three lady honorary members, showing an increase of 12 in the total membership.

The report, which was considered very satisfactory, was adopted.

The Rev. H. G. Hadow was unanimously elected chairman of the branch; vice-chairman, the Rev. F. H. O. Paton, who has removed from the city. Mr. W. H. Harrison was re-elected branch secretary, and Mr. T. Baldwin as representative on the Branch Management Committee.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar was proposed by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and seconded by Mr. J. Austen, and carried unanimously.—The Vicar, in replying, said he would carry out the duties of chairman to the best of his ability, and he wished the association every success.

This terminated the business meeting, and the members returned to the tower, where further ringing was indulged in.

MR. W. BURGESS' 100 PEALS.

On five bells in seven methods 2, on six bells in one method 2 (conducted 2), in three methods 3 (conducted 2), in four methods 3 (conducted 2), in five methods 3, in seven methods 4, in seven Surprise methods 1, Oxford Bob Triples 1, St. Clement's 1, Grandsire 7, Stedman 2, Bob Major 9, Kent Treble Bob 19 (conducted 7), Oxford Treble Bob 13 (conducted 1), Double Norwich 9, Cambridge Surprise 2, Superlative Surprise 6, London Surprise 4, Cambridge Surprise Royal 1, Stedman Cinques 5, Oxford Treble Bob Maximus 1, Double Norwich Maximus 1, Cambridge Surprise Maximus 1. Mr. Burgess has also rung in 100 different towers in three counties.

EDGBASTON, BIRMINGHAM.—On Sunday, October 30th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) in 47 mins.: H. Atkins 1, H. Withers 2, E. Rose 3, W. Mumford 4, G. Pigott (conductor) 5, E. Boylin 6, T. Russell 7, W. Cartwright 8.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY, CLUN.

PRESENTATIONS.

The thirtieth annual meeting of St. George's Society, Clun, was held at Trinity Hospital on Monday evening, November 28th, when the Rev. H. J. Scott presided. Reference was made to the death of Mr. J. S. Buchanan, which had occurred during the year (he was the originator of half-pull ringing in Clun when the diocesan Guild was founded in 1886), and to the departure of Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, late Vicar of Hopesay, who had removed to Hereford.

The Hon. Secretary stated that the funds were in a good condition, as they had increased their balance in hand during the year.

The chairman was elected a life member of the society, and Mr. Wm. Mead was re-elected hon. secretary and conductor, and Mr. F. A. Watkins was reappointed captain.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mr. Watkins called upon Mr. Mead (churchwarden and hon. secretary) to present their chairman with a silver inkstand in the model of a bell, suitably inscribed, as a token of their esteem. In asking Mr. Scott to accept the gift, Mr. Mead said, on behalf of the bellringers of St. George's Church, Clun, he was privileged to ask him to accept that little gift as a slight token of their sincere esteem and appreciation of his valuable help in the belfry, and also the warm interest he had always taken in bellringers and bellringing in particular. They wished to express their grateful thanks for the valuable time the chairman had freely given in teaching young ringers the art of bellringing. It was a great disappointment to them that they were losing their tutor, but they must see to it that the good progress made was continued, so that the seed sown might bring forth lasting fruit. The older members would remember the condition of bells and bellringing when he (Mr. Scott) came to Clun nearly 28 years ago, then a cracked and dilapidated tower, six bells of poor tone in a rickety frame, and dangerous to ring, a ringing room more or less full of the sexton's tools and barrow and the church cleaner's bucket and brooms. Now they had a restored tower, a new clock, a complete octave of well-tuned bells, and a ringing room equal to any in the country, or which they were justly proud. They were grateful that he had been able to take his share in the great work of the restoration of the noble old church tower and bells. It was with a certain amount of feeling that they made their little presentation, as it meant the leave taking of one with whom it had been delightful to work, and who had never failed in practice or service ringing. They all united in wishing him every happiness in his new sphere of work, and trusted he would be spared to stand with them in the belfry when he paid them a visit.

Mr. Scott, in reply, said he was delighted with the gift—a most appropriate one, which he should treasure most of all. He was particularly interested in bellringing, which was a branch of church work of great importance.

The inkstand was inscribed, 'Presented to the Rev. H. J. Scott, M.A., by the bellringers of Clun, as a token of their esteem, November, 1927.'

After the presentation, the ringers were entertained to light refreshments.

On the previous Thursday, Mr. Scott was the recipient of an illuminated address, a cheque for £42, and an album containing about 400 names of subscribers. The presentation took place in the Town Hall before a crowded audience. The Rev. S. Dugdale, R.D., presided, and was supported by Sir George and Lady Cuyler, Rev. J. Harrison, Vicar, and Messrs. W. Mead and Jas. Humphrey (churchwardens). The presentation was made by Sir George Cuyler, and Mr. Scott suitably replied. Another presentation was a silver-mounted umbrella from the inmates and staff of the hospital, of which Mr. Scott was subwarden.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held on Saturday last at St. Katherine's Church, Holt. Ringing commenced about 2.30 p.m., and at 4.40 p.m. the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. T. Roberts, Mr. Wicks, of Devizes, kindly taking the duty of organist.

Tea followed in the Church Room, after which a short business meeting was held, the chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, presiding. The Chairman referred to the peals rung since the last meeting, viz., the peal of Double Norwich at Holy Trinity, Bradford-on-Avon, the long peal rung at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, and the peal of Grandsire Triples rung by local men at Melksham. He also made reference to the deaths of the Right Rev. R. C. Abbott, Bishop of Sherborne, who dedicated the bells at Holt on November 25th, 1925, and the Very Rev. A. E. Burn, Dean of Salisbury, who, he said, he knew personally, and whose death was a loss to the diocese.

All present stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Mr. H. Cockell, of Melksham, was elected a member of the Guild.

Ringers were present from Bratton, Bradford-on-Avon (Christ Church), Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Rowde, Holt, Trowbridge, Melksham and Mere, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Cambridge, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening.

Ringings also took place during the evening at Melksham, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung.

'CLAPPERLESS' PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—No doubt many ringers, like myself, have been waiting for the facts about the peal recorded as having been rung at Canterbury Cathedral in August. May I appeal to the conductor to give the exact particulars to the Exercise, for, judging from the names appearing in the peal record, surely the rumour that one bell did not strike for four leads cannot be true? If it is, then I am far more surprised than I can express in words that it was ever published as a peal, and still more surprised that the Kent County or any other association should recognise such a performance.

If the rumour be true, and it be recognised as a peal, I can imagine that all the present records of the Exercise will be beaten in the near future by peals rung (?) with tied clappers. What a job for the umpires outside the tower? Or, perhaps, we shall find that in a peal of Cinques at Clappertown the tenor man set his bell for twelve minutes while he had some refreshment (not liquid, of course), and then continued his task with renewed vigour. Or, perhaps—but no, Sir. I must not encroach too much upon your space, for there are no limits to the unique performances that might be published.

All this, of course, is only based on rumour, and no one will be more pleased to hear that such a rumour is not true than

Yours faithfully,

FRANK W. PERRENS.

45, Engleton Road, Coventry.

[Will 'Kentish Bob' please send his name and address (not for publication)? His letter will then be published.—Ed. 'R.W.']

LADIES' ATTEMPT FOR A SURPRISE PEAL.

Members of the Ladies' Guild attempted a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Crayford on Saturday, and, although they were unsuccessful, they had some perfect ringing for an hour. The ringing, indeed, was almost too good, and the first trip—as it is wont to do in such cases—sent the peal to join the great majority.

We understand another attempt is to be made in February.

DEATH OF A NEATH RINGER.

AN APPEAL.

By the death of Mr. A. Hatton, who passed away at Llansamlet on November 17th, at the age of 68 years, Neath tower has lost one of its most faithful ringers. He was always to be found there to time, whether for practice or service ringing. He had rung a few peals, consisting of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, and Bob Minor, on treble and tenor. Although not confined to bed, he had not been able to work for the last six months.

He was buried at Newham. A wreath was sent by his fellow-ringers, by whom he will be greatly missed, and a half-peal of Bob Minor, half-muffled, was rung at Neath. The deceased leaves a widow to mourn his loss, and on her behalf an appeal for help is being made among members of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild, of which he was a life member. Any ringer wishing to help towards this fund should send his contribution to E. Stitch, 21, Cambrian Place, Port Talbot, Glam.

ADMIRAL RINGS HIS FIRST 720.

Admiral T. P. Walker, who is to be hon. secretary of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, rang his first 720 on December 1st at St. Peter's Church, Old Woking, where he is churchwarden. The 720 of Bob Minor was rung in 28 mins., as a birthday compliment to the conductor: Admiral T. P. Walker (first 720) 1, W. H. Edwards 2, Mrs. W. H. Edwards 3, A. P. Osborne 4, J. Brackley (conductor) 5, T. Strudwick 6.

DEATH OF A LEISTON RINGER.

The death of Albert J. Lincoln, which took place at Leiston on Friday, November 25th, at the age of 58 years, removes one of the first hand formed at Leiston after the augmentation of the bells to a peal of eight in 1884. He started ringing at an early age, taking part in a peal of 10,304 Bob Major, at the age of 18 years. He was the leading conductor of the company until 1907, when he retired. He conducted the first peal of Double Norwich by the local band, and helped several ringers through their first peal. He had taken part in all in 86 peals, comprising Bob Major, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Major and Double Norwich, several of which he had conducted. He was a member of the Suffolk, Norfolk and Lincoln Guilds, the Kent County Association, and the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich.

He was laid to rest on Tuesday, November 29th, and in the evening eight members of St. Margaret's Society, Leiston, attempted a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to their old colleague, but after ringing seven courses a 'shift' occurred: A. Keeble 1, R. C. Kerry 2, H. C. Bails 3, J. M. Bailey 4, C. F. Bailey (conductor) 5, G. Wilson 6, E. S. Bailey 7, F. J. Smith 8.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A very successful meeting of the above society took place on Saturday last, at Eastwood, near Rotherham, when about 30 members turned up from Chesterfield, Dore, Ecclesfield, Handsworth, Killamarsh, North Wingfield, Arksey, Staveley, Treton, Sheffield Cathedral, All Saints, and St. Marie's and Rotherham Parish Church. With a very handy little peal of eight, it is to be regretted that the tenor bell 'goes' heavily, but as there is no regular band of Sunday service ringers there appears to be little encouragement for the authorities to have matters put in order. However, some very good ringing was heard, the standard methods, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative being successfully brought round.

A splendid tea was served in the local schoolroom, after which the Vicar presided at the business meeting.

The usual formalities were carried out, and it was decided that the annual meeting be held at Sheffield Cathedral and St. Marie's, jointly, on the second Saturday in March, 1928. This will be in lieu of the fixture at All Saints' where the bells are undergoing improvements at the bell foundry.

A suggestion from the hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild, northern section, that they join the Sheffield District Society in their meeting at Rotherham on Easter Monday, was welcomed, and it was left to the secretary to make the necessary arrangements with Miss Davenport.

One new member in Mr. E. Cooper, of Arksey, was accepted, after which a return was made to the belfry. The bells of Rotherham Parish Church were also available during the evening, being rung half-muffled, this special concession being granted through the death of a local prominent citizen.

As the financial year closes on December 31st, it is respectfully asked that all members who have not paid their subscription will do so at the earliest opportunity.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A very successful quarterly meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Wilby on Saturday, October 15th, over 50 ringers being present from Ipswich, Sproughton, Leiston, Ufford, Eye, Fressingfield, Thorndon, Earl Soham, Framlingham, Worlingworth, Creetingham, etc. Some good touches in various methods were rung upon the bells.

A feature of the afternoon's proceedings was a bowls match, arranged specially for the ringers.

After the match, over 50 had tea in the schoolroom, and a business meeting followed.

The ringers wish to thank the Rev. Marriott for the use of the bells, and also the local ringers for arranging the bowls match, etc.

MISCELLANEOUS PERFORMANCES.

BURTON LATIMER, NORTHANTS.—On Saturday, December 3rd, at St. Mary's Church in 43 mins., a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,260 changes): C. Hendry 1, W. Hull 2, G. Lines 3, J. Lines 4, J. Mitchell 5, H. Meadows 6, F. Payne 7, J. Saddington (conductor) 8. First quarter-peal by C. Hendry and W. Hull. All are Sunday service ringers at the above tower. Rung as a welcome to Captain Harris, of the Church Army.

HILLINGDON WEST.—At St. Andrew's Church, for evening service on Wednesday, November 30th (St. Andrew's Day), 720 of Bob Minor in 23 mins.: A. G. Twinn (first 720) 1, J. H. Lucas 2, R. SOME THOUGHTS ON 'SPLICING.'

The peal records this week include another departure in 'splicing,' Bob Major and Stedman Triples having been joined together in one true five thousand. Since this form of introducing two methods into one peal was first practised there have been a variety of compositions of this character, largely from the fertile brain of Mr. A. J. Pitman, of Port Talbot. Various methods have been linked together more or less in half peals, and are interesting productions, although in this form they probably require more ingenuity in composition than in ringing. Nevertheless, they do add to the novelty of practice and come within the range of any company that can ring the two methods which are thus treated. As we have said before, however, what we should like to see composers direct their attention to and ringers their energies, are peals with a constant change from one method to the other. Such peals may be difficult to get, and, as between some methods, perhaps impossible, but there is no question as to which form really deserves the application of the term 'splicing.' So far as we recollect by far the best thing of this kind in Triples was the spliced Grandsire and Union, which was rung in South Wales, and in which the method was constantly changed according to which bell was in the hunt. In Major the best thing so far performed is the four Surprise methods, for which the Rev. H. Law James produced a composition, and in which there are 119 changes of method in the peal.

At present, however, it is six bell ringing which offers the widest scope for 'spliced' ringing. In Minor the whole scheme has been put upon a definite and established footing, but the lead which was given by the band at Norbury, Cheshire, does not seem to have been very generally followed, despite the existence of a text book which deals fully and explicitly with the principles and practice of this phase of ringing. Here and there are bands who have taken to this new style, and they find a greater interest in their ringing as a result. Why is it, then, that 'spliced' ringing is not more generally taken up? Is it the innate conservatism of the average ringer, or is it that he is, perhaps, a little lazy when it comes to applying himself to learning something new?

For that matter, why are there not more bands ringing Surprise Minor peals, instead of contenting themselves with seven methods of the simpler kind? Minor ringers have always had the pull over the men who confine their attention to the higher numbers, inasmuch as they have always had the opportunity of changing their method at least seven times in a peal, but the ambitious among the six bell men do not appear to be as plentiful as their numbers would seem to justify. We are not for one moment belittling the performances of those bands who, from force of circumstances, have to content themselves with peals in the simpler methods, any more than we would decry the band who, perforce, have to content themselves with Grandsire Triples. But there are companies whose past records seem to warrant practice in higher methods, and who ought to be able to emulate in some degree the performances of the Cheshire band to which we have referred. In the same way there are eight-bell ringers about the country who seem very content to ring the simple stuff, when a little study and application would enable them to practise much more advanced methods. With the progress of the science, which has carried us now into the splicing of Surprise methods both on six and eight bells, the scope for ringers has been materially enlarged in the last few years, and we should like to see more bands taking advantage of it.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO MR. WALTER HUGHES.

A highly successful meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held at Garston on Saturday. Over fifty members were present.

The main feature of the meeting was the presentation of a canteen of cutlery to the late branch secretary, Mr. Walter Hughes, of Garston, who had held office for twenty-seven years.

Among those present were Archdeacon Howson, who presided, Canon Rowe, Vicar of Garston, Mr. W. H. Shuker, general secretary of the Lancashire Association, and Mr. R. F. Deal.

The Chairman, in a few well-chosen words, referred to the service the late branch secretary had rendered to the branch, and asked Mr. Hughes to come forward to receive this mark of appreciation and esteem from his brother ringers.

Canon Rowe and Mr. W. H. Shuker also spoke of the work done by Mr. Hughes.

Canon Rowe also extended a hearty welcome to the new branch secretary, and wished him success in his new office.

Mr. Hughes suitably acknowledged the gift.

It was pleasing to note that eight new members were elected.

There was a sad note introduced when the members stood in silence to pass a vote of condolence with Mr. H. Ludkin and his family in their recent bereavement.

Appreciation of the hearty welcome to Garston and the usual sumptuous tea was accorded with acclamation.

Canon Rowe, in responding, said how gratifying it was to him to meet the branch annually at Garston, and wished them continued prosperity.

BLACKBURN BRANCH SECRETARY RETIRES.

A meeting of the Blackburn Branch was held at Colne Parish Church on December 3rd, a good number of members being present from Colne, Nelson, Burnley, Blackburn, and Clitheroe, representing seven towers.

The main business was the election of a new secretary through the retirement of the veteran, Mr. J. Watson, after 21 years' service, on account of ill-health.

There were four nominations for the position. A vote by ballot was taken, with the result that Mr. F. Hindle was elected.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. J. Watson for services rendered.

PRESTON BRANCH SOCIAL.

The seventh annual social in connection with the Preston Branch was held at Preston on Saturday, December 10th, when over 90 ringers and friends were present. The proceedings commenced with ringing during the afternoon, when the standard methods were indulged in. An adjournment was then made to the Parish Church Schools, where Mr. E. R. Martin, in introducing the Vicar of Preston (the Rev. Canon Morris) to the company, said he wished the relations between the visiting ringers and their clergy were all as cordial as between Canon Morris and the local ringers.

The Vicar, in reply, welcomed the company to Preston. The ringers, he said, did a good work for the church, and he thought a bond of sympathy existed between the clergy and ringers. He added that he thought it was not the time to make a speech, as it would be like putting something between the lion and his food.

After tea, a short whist drive took place, whilst some of the keener ringers went to have another pull on the bells. Afterwards, a splendid dance programme, interspersed with songs, was gone through. The singers were Miss Armstrong, Miss Heald, Mr. Martin, and Mr. Knowles. The accompanist was Miss Heald. The different items were well rendered, and were much appreciated by all present. Mr. S. Bleasdale acted as M.C.

During an interval in the programme, the whist prizes were presented to the lucky winners by the oldest ringer, Mr. R. Rigbye, of Eccleston, who, although eighty years old, is still an active service ringer, and during the evening vied with some of the younger people present in participating in the old-fashioned barn dance.

The writer left before the proceedings terminated, but would like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to congratulate those who were responsible for the splendid arrangements made for the comfort and enjoyment of the visitors, and also to thank the artists for their services.

DEDDINGTON BELLS FUND.

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION FORBIDDEN.

The following, we are informed, appeared in the issues of the 'Oxford Times' and 'Banbury Guardian' for December 2nd:—

'The organisers regretfully announce that the police have forbidden the draw for prizes in connection with the above fund. They are most grateful to subscribers for their support, and should any desire to have their contributions returned will they please send their numbered receipts, together with a stamped addressed envelope, to the Vicar, Deddington, before December 10th.'

'CLAPPERLESS' PEALS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—A great deal has been, and will continue to be, said with regard to the 'clapperless peal' at Canterbury. I have read your article of the 2nd inst., and think I voice the opinion of the majority when I say that the main factors are indisputable. It certainly seems strange that those who took part, in view of their standing, did not stop when they became aware of the fault of the bell. One peal more or less would have made but little difference to the records of the Kent County Association, and, in consideration of the opinions of most ringers, I think there is still the opportunity to withdraw the peal and save the reputations of the band and of the association, as I, for one, being a member of the K.C.A., should not like to think that its records may probably be viewed with suspicion by others.

And that brings me to a theory I have long contended—that the terms 'rang' or 'struck,' appertaining to touches and peals, are not wide enough to cover the range by which these extraordinary peals are achieved. From a mathematical point of view, it is my firm opinion that a peal was achieved, and that that fact can be proved by various means. Therefore, I consider that it may be worth while to use, say, such terms as 'acquired,' 'achieved,' or 'accomplished,' or even 'brought round.'

There is no doubt that the bells were in their true positions the whole time, so where does the objection arise? That they rang a peal is ridiculous; that they completed a peal is indisputable.—Yours faithfully,

KENTISH BOB.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Willingham on Saturday, December 10th, about 34 ringers being present from Bourn, Chatteris, Dry Draiton, Fulbourn, Hemingford Abbots, Long Stanton, Over, Stapleford, Trumpington, Barley (Herts), and local band.

The service was taken by the Rector (the Rev. A. G. Hair), who gave an interesting address based on the words 'To the glory of God.'

Mr. A. G. Rivers, at the subsequent meeting, spoke supporting the remarks of the Rector, which had left much 'food for thought.'

During the day Surprise ringing was to the fore, London, Wells, York, Durham, Beverley and Cambridge being successful. Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Double Court were also rung, several visitors ringing their first courses in the method.

PEALS AT BODDELLWYDDAN.

In the record of the peal, rung at 'the Marble Church,' Boddellwyddan, Flintshire, on December 3rd, it was stated that it was believed to be the first peal of Grandsire Triples on the bells.

Mr. Francis E. Dawe writes to say that the first peal of Grandsire on the bells (which he conducted) was rung on May 31st, 1896. The other seven members of the band were Wrexham men. This was the third peal on the bells, the two previous having been Treble Bob rung by Liverpool bands.

BELL ROPES. MUFFLES. & C

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A correspondent writes: 'In the face of the recent controversy on extensions, "Bellitis" has enormous pluck in daring to differ from Shipway's extension of Double n Court Bob. One wonders what your pro Shipway correspondents will have to say on the matter.'

Will all ringers with the surname of Morris write to Mr. E. Morris, 24, Coventry Street, Leicester, with a view to fixing up a Morris peal?

The peal at Pinner, reported in last week's paper, did not mention, as it ought to have done, that the tenor man was born in the parish, almost upon the threshold of the back door of the church.

Mr. G. Alder's birthday peal attempt at Burnham was lost through the second clapper coming out of the bell, but he kept it up in the Five Bells afterwards, without losing his 'clapper.'

A company of fathers and sons is, we learn, to attempt a peal of Stedman Cinques at Shoreditch to-morrow. It will be made up, we understand, of Senior and Junior Matthews, Hibbert, Bevan, Tillett, Groombridge, and Barnett.

The peal at Spreyton, Devon, published in our issue of December 2nd, consisted of Grandsire Doubles, and not Minor, as printed.

Frederick M., and not Frederick A. Mitchell, was the ringer of the 4th in the peal of Oxford Treble Bob at Rainham on December 3rd. That comes of people having names so nearly alike.

A letter from Mr. Walter Charman this week makes a claim to the first peal of Oxford Bob Triples for Warnham tower. It was here, also, on December 17th, 1888, that the first peal of Canterbury Pleasure Major was rung.

That famous old ringer, William Banister, called the first peal in Exeter on December 18th, 1875. It was Grandsire Triples at St. Sidwell's.

On the ring of twelve bells, which fire long since destroyed, at Christ Church, Spitalfields, a peal of 6,334 Stedman Cinques was rung on December 20th, 1806.

Exactly fifty years ago next Thursday, the first peal for the Lancashire Association was rung. It was Grandsire Triples at Bolton, and we hope the jubilee will be fittingly celebrated.

A STRICKEN BROTHER.

AN APPEAL TO THE EXERCISE.

One of the greatest afflictions that can overtake a man has befallen a well-known contributor to our columns—'Ireneus Pistor,' who from time to time has enlivened our columns with humorous or caustic comment. 'Ireneus' has lost his sight! Some years ago one eye was irretrievably damaged by an accident, and since then the other has given him trouble. About nine months ago he was stricken with illness which has ended in blindness. This, following on a long period of short time in his employment, has left him in straitened circumstances.

The old traits are still there, despite the distressing nature of his trouble—a brave heart, a cheery spirit and a pride which revolts against making known his troubles to the world.

'Nemo' writes to us as follows:—

'No doubt you and other friends, too, along with myself have wondered what has become of our old friend 'Ireneus,' so I thought I would find his lair and rouse the old lion up. But no, Sir, I was not altogether successful. I found his lair and I found 'Ireneus,' but he was suffering under grievous affliction. After several years of short time at work, nine months ago he was again stricken with illness, which has left him in darkness, as he has lost the sight of the only eye he had left, having lost the other some years ago. He is now trying to exist upon the few shillings allowed from his sick fund with the loving assistance of his only child, a young girl. After doing what little I could to cheer him and his, it was with a sore heart that I left him, still having his "Ringing World" read to him.'

Cannot we, in the Exercise, do something to cheer the heart of this stricken brother? This is a season of giving, when with hearts full of goodwill we do our best to bring joy to those around us. A quick response would brighten the Christmas of this little family, whose breadwinner is bereft of the blessing of sight and is hard put to it. He gives twice who gives quickly.'

We should be pleased to forward and acknowledge any gifts if sent to this office and marked 'Ireneus.'

THE KENT ASSOCIATION'S HON. SECRETARY.

The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, Minor Canon and Precentor of Canterbury Cathedral, who is well known as honorary secretary of the Kent County Association, is resigning the benefice of Stodmarsh, which he has held since 1913.

Mr. Helmore was ordained in 1875, and went to Hereford Cathedral. In 1877 he went to Stratford-on-Avon Parish Church as Precentor, and since 1878—that is, for the long period of 49 years—he has been associated with Canterbury Cathedral. During that time he has served under four Archbishops and four Deans. He had also served as Sunday evening lecturer at St. Mildred's Church, 1874-96, and as Chaplain of Canterbury Poor Law Institution 1882-1916. Stodmarsh, which has a population of 105, is in the gift of the Archdeacon of Canterbury, and the income of the benefice is £150 gross.

A BEGINNER'S THEORY.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

A 'method,' in the practical sense of the term, is a collection of rows which are produced by the SYSTEMATIC changing of pairs. Actually, the system which is used is the method; a different method means a different system of changing the pairs.

A bell which does not make one of a changing pair is forced to retain the same position in the row, or to 'make places'; certain bells NOT being changed cause certain places to be made. Alternatively, bells making certain places cause certain particular pairs to change. Therefore, the changing of pairs and the making of places are synonymous, and for the sake of ease we refer to the places in the rows, rather than to the pairs which change. 'First's and second's' (places) signifies that only the last three pairs (in Major) will change. 'First's and eighth's' means that only the three 'inside' pairs will change.

For the purpose of this article we call first's and eighth's in Major 'places,' but strictly they are not places in the sense that 2nd's and 4th's are places. The former are made because the bell that makes them can go no further in the direction in which it is hunting, and has to turn about. In themselves they have no effect on the coursing order, as 'interior' places have. But for convenience we will call them 'places.'

In dealing with an EVEN NUMBER of bells, it is impossible for one place alone to be made in a row; one place being made will cause at least one other. Certain of the places will cause another place to be made in a DEFINITE POSITION. For instance, when speaking of '2nd's place' being made, first's place also is understood, because the bell in the first position can do nothing else. Similarly, if 7th's place is made, 8th's place also is understood.

For the moment, we will accept as a fact that it is undesirable that more than two places be made in any one row, other than in a 'call row.' Then 3rd's place being made, it is understood that the bells in the 1/2 places will change to avoid this. Similarly, with the bells in the 7/8 places, if '6th's place' is made. Also, it is usual to change the pairs immediately next the place which is made, leaving the unavoidable place to be made by the bell which CANNOT CHANGE—either 1st's or 8th's places, as the case may be, unless otherwise stated.

The most elementary of 'systems' is the changing of EVERY PAIR each time, which, of course, will produce two rows only—12345678 and 21436587.

The next system is the one which changes first four, and then three pairs; in other words, which alternately makes no place, and '1st's and 8th's.' This produces our 'plain hunting course' of 16 rows, and is called the 'Plain Hunt Principle'—'principle' because EVERY BELL does the same work in the course; 'plain hunt' because this work is a straightforward path from the lead to behind, and vice versa. Notice therein, that no row contains more than two places.

If we make a new method by altering our principle at one row only, transferring the places to 1st's and 2nd's when the treble leads, we find that our new system will produce seven leads of 16 rows each, being 112 rows to the course. This we name Plain Bob Major, and the lead-end produced is 13527486 (instead of 12345678 in the principle).

We have steadfastly ignored the treble in our 'coursing order,' in the endeavour to point attention to the coursing pairs, but we will now examine the position it holds in the coursing order of our principle. The bells actually appear at the leading position in this order: 24687531-24, etc., and we agree that this will be repeated so long as we do not alter our system. Then, in the principle, the treble is between the '32' coursing pair. Immediately we disturb the plain hunting of the bells by transferring the places when the treble leads, the coursing order in the following lead becomes 32468751-32, etc., the treble having 'moved up one,' now being between the 53 coursing pair; and, every lead being a replica of the first, in each succeeding lead of this method the same thing will occur—the treble 'moving up one' and the remaining bells preserving the same order:—

Lead No: Coursing Order:—

1. 246875312
2. 324687513
3. 532468715
4. 753246817

etc., etc.

The proper way to view this 'moving up' is, that the treble EXCHANGES PLACES in the coursing order with the bell that is COURSING BEFORE it, in every successive lead of the plain course until it reaches its original position at the end.

We have already found one very good reason why the coursing order should be maintained as much as possible; also, we know that if the EXACT coursing order of the principle is preserved we can only produce 16 rows. So we produce a new system (or method) which is based upon the other, and which has the effect of moving the treble SYSTEMATICALLY through the seven possible places in the coursing order, thus producing the seven different leads without disturbing the coursing order of the remaining bells.

We can now produce only 112 rows, and are compelled to EXTEND our method by the introduction of calls, which, as we have already found, disturb the coursing order of the other bells and introduce fresh leads. Once the call is made, we revert to the steady progression of the treble through the seven places of the new coursing order.

When the treble changes places with the bell which is coursing before her, the rounds lead-head is transposed into 13527486 at the lead-end. Therefore, each time the coursing order is altered in this way, the lead-head will be transposed by 13527486; in fact, this is how we produce the lead-ends of Bob Major—by using the first lead-end as the transposition row.

Then we may assume, within limits, if a method produces 13527486 as its first lead-end, that similar action has taken place WITHIN that lead.

Now each of the seven plain course lead-ends of Bob Major is a transposition of the previous one by 13527486. It follows that each successive one is 'so many times' removed from rounds BY THIS TRANSPOSITION. In other words, the second lead-end 1573826, actually, is rounds transposed by 13527486 TWICE; the fifth lead-end 16482735 is rounds transposed by 13527486 FIVE TIMES; and so on.

Presumably, therefore, a method which produces 15738264 as its FIRST lead-end has, within its first lead, DOUBLE THE ACTION that takes place in the first lead of Bob Major, and when we use the first lead-end (15738264) for the transposition row, in producing the lead-ends in the plain course of this method, we really transpose each one by 13527486 TWICE to produce the lead-end NEXT FOLLOWING.

In another way, ONE lead of this method is equal (in transposition) to TWO leads of Bob Major. Similarly, a method which has 16482735 for its first lead-end is equal to FIVE LEADS of Bob Major transposition. Then, in the latter case, for instance, we should assume that the treble has 'moved up' five places in the coursing order in the one lead of this method.

Then every plain course lead-end of ANY 'regular' method is really the transposition of rounds by 13527486 'so many times,' bearing in mind that it might be possible for rounds to be transposed by 13527486 EIGHT TIMES, which would bring us back to 13527486 again, etc., etc.

With the foregoing firmly in mind, we can turn attention to the CAUSE of the treble's exchange of places in the coursing order. First notice, in the principle, that 1st's and 8th's places in the rows do not disturb the coursing order in any way. Then observe the bell which is COURSING BEFORE the treble (the 3). She is always preceding the treble, whether travelling from the front to the back of the rows, or vice versa; she always gets there first. Examine the action which takes place when she crosses the treble's path at 86745231. She makes a place (8th's), crosses the path, and immediately hunts AWAY FROM the treble, or 'before' the treble, which courses AFTER her. This happens throughout the system, and, all bells doing the same work, the other coursing pairs are acting similarly.

In our new method we cause 2nd's place to be made (when the treble leads) by the bell which is coursing before her. The 3 makes a place (1st's) and crosses the treble's path as usual, and then, instead of hunting away, she makes ANOTHER PLACE IMMEDIATELY, which causes her to become the bell that is now coursing AFTER the treble, having taken the place in the row that would have been occupied by the 2 in the ordinary way, and the 2 was coursing after the treble. Thus are '31' reversed in the coursing order while the other bells retain the same relationship. Notice that the 'dodge' performed by '254768' here does not disturb their ultimate positions in the row, and that '13' has become '31':—

etc.

etc.

etc.

etc.

Then the action is: The bell 'before' the treble makes a place, crosses the treble's path, makes another place immediately, and hunts AFTER the treble, producing 13527486 as the lead-end.

Now, instead of doing this when the treble leads, transfer this action to the two rows when she is behind, by causing the 3 to make 7th's place there, taking care to make not more than the usual two places in the row, after which carry on with the principle (first 4, and then 3 pairs):—

We produce 13527486 as the lead-end, and action similar to that of the Bob Major has taken place. The bell before the treble (the 3) makes a place (8th's), crosses the path and makes another place immediately (7th's), and then, theoretically, hunts after the treble by recrossing her path, which the bell that is coursing after her would do in the ordinary way. This method is called Reverse Bob Major—'reverse' for a very obvious reason.

This is the eighteenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE ROYAL.

Mr. W. A. Cave (Bristol) writes: 'On September 9th you published five peals of Cambridge Surprise Royal by Mr. G. E. Symonds. I wish to point out that No. 2 was composed many years ago by Mr. John Carter. I had it by me for some years, but did not call it until February 11th, 1926, and it will be found in the Gloucester and Bristol Report.'

KIMPTON, HERTS.—On Thursday, September 29th, 720 Oxford Bob Minor: G. Cain 1, A. Gillings (conductor) 2, D. Luck 3, J. Wells 4, H. Fellows 5, T. Cann 6. Rung at the close of the harvest service. First 720 by ringer of the treble, who is 14 years of age.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

In his letter of a few weeks ago, Mr. Law James tells us that 'the first thing to do is to lay aside all theories and to study facts.' In the sense in which I believe he meant it, this is sound and necessary advice, and I should like to expand and explain his meaning.

We all of us (all of us, that is, who have experience as practical ringers) know quite well what we mean by a true extension, so far as actual ringing is concerned. We know definitely and beyond all question of contradiction that Bob Major is the correct extension of Bob Minor, Kent Major of Kent Minor, Duffield Royal of Duffield Major, and so on. And when we talk of an extension of any method we do quite definitely mean that so far as practical ringing is concerned it must be related to its original as these are. And this view is a thoroughly sound one. It has behind it not only the actual experience of the individual ringer, but also the inherited experience of the whole Exercise for more than two centuries. During that time there has grown up an instinct on this question among ringers, and the one final test is that this instinct must be satisfied. The Exercise itself, consisting of practical ringers who ring, is the final judge, not any body of 'experts,' however eminent, who only, or mainly, theorise. Mr. J. W. Parker, at the Central Council, was using a sound argument when he said that if Shipway's Superlative Royal is really a true extension of Superlative Major, we should not have had to wait for a hundred years for the second peal of it to be rung—except that he forgot that it takes time for the Exercise to assimilate these higher methods. It took about a hundred years before the Exercise was ready for Cambridge Royal, but, when it was ready, it at once accepted it as the correct extension of Cambridge Major. In the same way, if Shipway's Royal is really Superlative, the Exercise will in due course adopt it. And if not, not.

But we must realise that the capacity of the practical ringer to judge on this matter, this instinct, as I have called it, depends entirely on his actual and inherited experience. It does not depend a little bit on any conscious reasons or any definite thinking which he has done for himself. On the contrary, directly he begins to think about it and to try and find reasons, he is sure to go wrong, or at any rate to see but a small part of the question. It is a paradox, but it is perfectly true, that if a band of competent Surprise ringers, who had not previously concerned themselves with questions of extensions, were to practice Shipway's Royal, they could give an approximately correct answer to the question, 'Is it Superlative?' But directly they began to think, and to try and find reasons, they would certainly go wrong. And the reason is that though this instinct is real and in its sphere definite, it is far too elusive to be put down readily into words. Men turn to the figures to find their reasons, and they are immediately faced with a number of details. One or more of these attracts them, and is given an importance not really warranted. The temptation is to force everything to agree with the ideas thus suggested. These are the 'theories' against which Mr. James warns us.

But there is a way in which we may form theories and use them to find out the truth. It is not a method of working which I personally think is the best in this matter, but I am not writing to express my own views so much as to try and help others to think out things for themselves. And this method of working will suit some men and runy do good.

For more than two hundred years the Exercise has been ringing and extending methods. During that time there has been evolved a number of extensions of methods which perfectly satisfy all requirements. These extensions are universally recognised, and they constitute a standard for all possible extensions. There is not a large number of them. They differ in many ways one from another: some are simple, some are complex. But in every case the extensions appeal to the ringer in the same way. We know, as I have already said, beyond all fear of contradiction, that Bob Major is the correct extension of Bob Minor, and for exactly the same reason we know that Cambridge Royal is the correct extension of Cambridge Major. Well then, let us try and find out what that reason is. Let us take all these methods, examine and study them thoroughly, and, having done so, let us see by experiment if we can find a theory which will perfectly cover all the ground. Having got that theory then (and this is the most important thing of all), test it thoroughly. Do not seek for reasons to support it; they will come readily enough. Seek for anything which will upset it.

I will illustrate what I mean by an example. You may be tempted to lay down as a general law that, if the original is a double method, then any extension of it must be double also. I suppose most people would on first thoughts take this as almost obvious. I suppose that everybody who has tried to extend Superlative to Royal or Maximus has at the outset ruled out any extensions which were not double. Now it is extremely probable that any true extension of Superlative will be double. But supposing you could get an extension not double which in other respects satisfied your requirements, would that be a true extension? Most of our 'experts' would, I fancy, answer 'No.' But here comes the value of testing from a knowledge of all the accepted extensions. Duffield Major is perfectly double. Duffield Royal is not. But Duffield Royal, by the consent of the Exercise, is a true extension. Therefore it is a fallacy to say that because the original is double the extension must be so also.

Or, to take another instance. Some time ago (I forget exactly when and where) a theory was put forth dealing with the position of places. It was pointed out that in the second change of Superlative you have two places made—third's and sixth's. Now third's is third's from the front and sixth's is third's from the back, therefore there is a certain symmetrical relation between these two places. Hence it was argued that in Superlative Royal this relation must be preserved, and the places must be third's and eighth's. Shipway makes third's and sixth's (as in the Major), and therefore his extension was condemned. Is there any truth in this theory? Test it and see. Turn to Oxford Treble Bob Minor. In the second change you have two places made—third's and fourth's. Third's is third's from the front, fourth's is third's from behind. Hence, if this theory be sound, the Major should have third's and sixth's made, which any practical ringer can see is absurd.

One more example. Shipway gave implicitly, if not explicitly, a general rule that the nine bell extension of any eight-bell method (treble a plain hunt) can be had by adding a bell in the hunt, and that the extension so got is fully entitled to be considered the same method and to have the same name as the original. Test the theory and see if it is sound. There are over eight hundred plain Major methods in the Central Council's complete collection. If these are not immediately available, there are sixty-six in the published collection. You will find there is not one to which this rule does not apply. If you can, ring the Cater variations and see if they are the same method as the Major. If you cannot, draw out a skeleton course. You will find that Shipway is abundantly justified, and, since this theory stands the one vital test, you can put aside as irrelevant any objections that can be raised.

COURT METHODS.

STRUCTURE AND EXTENSION.

The structure of all Court methods is contained in the three following four-and-twenties:—

1234	4321	1234
2314	4132	2314
3241	1423	2341
3421	1243	2431
4312	2134	2413
1432	2341	1243

These three can all be extended either by adding a bell in the hunt or a bell in the work, all the way up to Maximus and beyond. We can get three five-bell methods with a bell in the hunt, and three more with four working bells.

1342	2431	1423
The double method bell added in the hunt.
12345

The single method, adding a bell in the work.

21435	21354
24135	23145
42315	32415
43251	34251
43521	43521
45312	45312
45132	54132
41523	51432
14253	15342

Single and Double Court Bob Minor appeared in the 'Campanologia' in 1677. The figures are so well known that there is no need to print them here, but the three following variations are important:—

Single.	Double.	Double Norwich.
123456	123456	123456
213546	213546	213546
231456	231456	231456
324165	234165	234156
342615	243615	243516
436251	426351	234561
463521	462531
645312	645213	243651
654132	654123	etc.
561432	651432
516342	615342
153624	165432
135264	156342
etc.	etc.

Now Minimus, Doubles, and these three variations are of no practical value in the tower, but they are all useful in extending Court methods.

Take the 'Collection of Major Methods' published by the Central Council, and you will find Nos. 4, 8, and 12 all come from Double Court Minor, Nos. 19, 31 and 35 from Single Court, No. 23 comes from Double and Single Court, and all the pure Major methods in the book come from Plain, Reverse and Double Bob, Single, Reverse and Double Court Minimus, and most of the mixed methods from these with the three variations of the Minor which I have given.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CHELTENHAM BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Cheltenham Branch took place at Prestbury on Saturday, December 3rd. Owing to serious illness adjoining the tower the bells could not be rung, to the great disappointment of the large number present, not a few hoping to get their first pull on a peal of eight. However, the Vicar (the Rev. Baghot de la Bere) had a huge fire in the Church Room, where handbell ringing was indulged in until service time. The service held in the church was conducted by the Vicar, the association Master (Rev. C. D. P. Davies) reading the lesson. After service, all adjourned to the Church Room, where they were the guests of the Vicar to a substantial and well served tea.

Owing to the Vicar having to take evensong, the Master was voted to the chair, and had the support of some 50 members from the following towers: Leckhampton, Cheltenham, Swindon, Dumbleton, Alderton, Elkstone, Winchcombe, Twenning, Kemerton, Badgeworth, Witcombe and Prestbury.

The Secretary said he received valuable assistance from all members, especially G. H. Walters (Prestbury), F. Nurden (Dumbleton), and W. Oakley (Badgeworth).

A letter regretting absence was received from the esteemed chairman of the district (Rev. A. D. Pennington).

The following new members were elected: Mr. G. A. Nock (Elkstone), hon. member, Messrs. W. Grubb (Winchcombe), G. W. Kilminster, T. Davies, T. W. Parsons, R. Townsend, T. Parsons (Badgeworth), R. Lloyd and F. Beecham (Swindon). The following officers were elected for 1928: Chairman, Rev. A. D. Pennington (Alderton); representative, G. H. Walters (Prestbury); hon. secretary, W. Yeend (Swindon).

St. Mark's (Cheltenham) was selected for the next meeting (in March). The chairman and secretary urged all to do their best to attend the jubilee meeting at Bristol on Whit Monday. Mr. Hale suggested that a charabanc party be arranged, and this was agreed to, and a small committee formed.

The Chairman proposed, and Mr. W. Devereux seconded, a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for all that he had done to make the meeting so successful, despite the silent bells.—This was acknowledged by the Vicar, who said how pleased he was to have the association in his parish once again.—This concluded a very happy meeting.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Christchurch District was held at Christchurch, Hants, on Saturday, December 3rd, and was attended by about 50 members, those present including Rev. W. H. Gay (Christchurch), Rev. Larner (Milford), Mr. G. Preston (district secretary), Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), and members from Bournemouth, Brockenhurst, Christchurch, Lymington, Lyndhurst, Milford-on-Sea, Ringwood, Sopley, Poole, Fareham and North Stoneham, and a visitor from Luton, Beds.

At the business meeting, which was presided over by Mr. E. E. Elliott, the retiring officers were re-elected, and it was decided to hold district meetings at Bournemouth, Lymington, Fordingbridge and Christchurch.

The Master gave a report of the special general meeting which was held at Southampton on October 22nd last.

The bells at the Priory Church were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, the methods practised ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Kent Treble Bob Royal.

Finally, take Double Court Minimus, which we have seen, and extend it step by step up to Maximus, ignoring all extensions from six bells upwards which cause a bell to strike more than two blows behind; we have seen Doubles and Minor.

In Major, the 3rd can make 4th's and 3rd's or 6th's and 5th's, and also the 3rd can make 4th's and 3rd's, and the 5th 6th's and 5th's (this is Double Norwich)—three methods.

In Royal, the 3rd can make 4th's and 3rd's, 6th's and 5th's (this is Double Court), or 8th's and 7th's. The 3rd can make 4th's and 3rd's, and the 5th can make 6th's and 5th's or 8th's and 7th's (this is Double Norwich). Or the 3rd can make 6th's and 5th's, and the 5th 8th's and 7th's. Or the 3rd can make 4th's and 3rd's, the 5th 6th's and 5th's, and the 7th 8th's and 7th's—seven methods.

In Maximus, in the same way the 3rd can make her places in 3-4, 5-6, 7-8, or 9-0. The 3rd in 3-4 and the 5th in 5-6, 7-8, or 9-0. (The last of these is Double Norwich.)

The 3rd in 5-6, and the 5th in 7-8 or 9-0.

The 3rd in 3-4, the 5th in 5-6, and the 7th in 7-8 or 9-0.

The 3rd in 3-4, the 5th in 7-8, and the 7th in 9-0.

Finally, 3, 5, 7 and 9 can all make places—thirteen methods.

This makes twenty-four extensions from the four-and-twenty on four bells, all of which are practical methods, and all of which are of equal value as extensions.

Surely this shows how futile it is to say that Double Norwich Royal and Maximus are not Double Norwich. They received that name a hundred years ago, and other extensions must have other names.

Now look at the Maximus with places in 5-6 and 7-8. It is much more like the Major from a practical point of view than Double Norwich Maximus. It is quite as much, and no more, an extension of the Major. It is well worth ringing, but it must have another name.

Finally, we can get Triples from Minor, Caters from Major, and Cinques from Royal by adding a bell in hunt. H. LAW JAMES.

A SILVER CUP FOR COMPETITION.

The last meeting of the year was held at Sutton-on-Trent on Saturday last, where one of the most beautiful peals of six bells is installed in the tower of All Saints' Church. They are tuned on Taylor's latest harmonic principle, and their sweetness and purity of tone is the admiration of all ringers. A good attendance was naturally expected at this meeting, but only 20 turned up, the inclement weather of the early morning, perhaps, having something to do with it. The ringers hailed from Newark, Southwell Cathedral, Warsop, Worksop, Ordsall, Barlborough, East Retford and Shireoaks, and there was also a good number of the local company, including the Misses Burchnall.

The following methods were rung during the afternoon and evening: Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent, Violet, Duke of York, Double Oxford Bob, Oxford Bob, Stedman, and Cambridge Surprise. A good course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. H. Revill, Rev. R. F. Wilkinson and two ringers from Southwell.

The association's silver cup, presented by Mr. Arthur Rawford, of Rampton, adorned the tea table. It was given in memory of his late father by Charles Rawford, of East Markham, who was a ringer and member of the association for 36 years.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. H. Haigh) moved that the best thanks of the association be accorded to Mr. Arthur Crawford, of Rampton, for presenting the cup, and said he was sorry overpressure of business prevented his attendance at the meeting.—This was carried with acclamation.

The cup will be competed for next year, and will be held for twelve months by the winners. Probably the best regular attendance for Sunday service ringing, combined with the smallest number of faults in a test piece for ringing, will decide its destination for the year.

Tea was provided in the Church Institute by Mrs. Scott and others, and the general meeting followed.

A discussion took place on 'open' and 'closed' leads, in which the general secretary, Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Mr. F. Hargreaves and Mr. P. Hibbard took part, and it is hoped some good may result therefrom.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar of Sutton for the use of the bells and Church Institute and for presiding over the tea and meeting, also to the ladies for providing such an excellent tea.—The Rev. B. M. Hawes briefly responded.

Further ringing was indulged in up to 9 p.m.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Horbury on Saturday. Although the weather was damp, dull and dispiriting, members attended from Sandal, Shelley, Felkirk, Royston, Wath, Barnsley, Arncliffe, and a good muster of the local company. There was also a very welcome mixture of kindred spirits from neighbouring towns who are not in the association, but all agreed to be ringers first and members after.

Tea was served in a local cafe, about 30 sitting down to attractive fare.

The business meeting was gone through at the tea table, the president being in the chair.

The secretary was asked to make the possible arrangements at the coming annual meeting at headquarters, Barnsley, regarding service in church, the business meeting, etc., also to give notice of committee meeting—all on Saturday, January 14th, 1928.

The bells were freely rung, both before and after tea, in standard methods. Taking the meeting as a whole, it was interesting and much enjoyed by all.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Bradford on Saturday, December 3rd, when over sixty members were present from Lightcliffe, Pudsey, Keighley, Denholme, Shipley, Guiseley, Arncliffe, Bingley, Idle, Earlsheaton, Calverley, Silsden, Kibburton, Huddersfield, Almondbury, Sowerby, Headingley, Far Headingley, Leeds, Queensbury, Liversedge, Rothwell, Drighlington, Horbury, Ilkley, and the local company. The peal of ten bells at the cathedral and the peal of eight at St. John's were rung during the afternoon.

Tea was served in the Captain Street Schools at five o'clock, and the business meeting was held immediately after, Mr. J. Cotterell being in the chair.

Four new members were elected, viz., B. Kendall, L. W. Parry (Ilkley), J. Windle (Denholme), and J. Waterhouse (Pudsey).

It was proposed that the next meeting should be held at Earlsheaton.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the respective Vicars and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to the ladies for presiding at the tea tables, and to the local company for the arrangements made. Mr. H. Bland suitably replied, and the meeting then terminated.

The towers were again visited, and further ringing took place.

STREATHAM.—On Sunday, December 11th, at the Church of St. Leonard, for evensong, 1,264 Bob Major: W. E. G. Hewson 1, Miss F. E. Orr 2, Miss E. E. Harcastle 3, E. E. Bish 4, C. W. Roberts 5, T. W. Welbourne 6, J. L. Watkins 7, J. W. Chapman (conductor) 8.

CUCKFIELD, SUSSEX.—On Sunday, December 11th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Bob Major in 44 mins.: A. Starley 1, F. R. Hounsell 2, G. Apps 3, T. Mitchell 4, J. Feist 5, A. Absalom 6, G. Wood 7, E. Davey (conductor) 8.

A BELLFOUNDER'S BILL OF THE YEAR 1510.

In the year 1510, when Henry VIII. was king, the wardens of the Church of St. Mary-at-Hill, near London Bridge, decided to put the bells of their church in order. To do this, says 'The Foundry Journal,' they called in no less than three bellfounders, Mr. William Smyth, Mr. Bullesdon and Mr. Coulverton.

The first thing to be done seems to have been to have a supper and consultation at a Mr. Sidborough's, who probably kept the Salutation Inn. At the meal, the food consisted of a shoulder of mutton, six rabbits and five chickens, with bread, ale, wine and beer. The bill for all this amounted to 4s. 2d. In spite of all these delicacies, the parties do not appear to have parted amicably, for the next stage of the business is the arrest of Mr. Smyth, and an action at law against him, which seems, however, to have been dropped.

The next difficulty to be disposed of, was to discover whether Mr. Smyth's bell was tuneable or not, and to decide this, four of the parishioners, with the clerks of a neighbouring church, were invited to meet and to give their opinion. Wine and pears were provided to fortify them for their task. Apparently their report was in favour of Mr. Smyth, for his bell was found to be wholly satisfactory, and despite the late action taken against him a 'skryvener' or professional writer was called in to make an indenture between Mr. Smyth and the wardens for the furnishing of new bells. On this occasion wine was forthcoming, probably to celebrate the readmission of Mr. Smyth to the parochial fold.

The entry in the wardens' books reads:—

'Paid to the skryvener for making of the Indentures betwixt William Smyth bellfounder and the parish.'

At the same time a Mr. Reve was summoned from the neighbourhood of Ludgate Hill. He had 'brekefast' provided for him, for he had come to hear 'if the 4th bell was in tune or not.'

Below are given the items of the bellfounder's account. It will be noticed that the founder does not charge for each bell, but for the metal of which it is made. This was a common custom: for instance, in 1487 a Mr. Nele, for casting a number of gutters, was paid for each hundredweight cast.

The Gods penny mentioned is the penny paid as earnest money to settle or establish the bargain made.

SILVER WEDDING.

The ringers of St. Michael's Church, Stone, Staffs, rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, on September 27th, as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. E. Baker on celebrating their silver wedding. Mr. Baker has been a bellringer 13 years, and a chorister 33 years. H. Hodson 1, H. Buckley 2, J. Moulson 3, W. Buckley 4, C. Templeton 5, J. Head 6, A. Rooley (conductor) 7, E. Baker 8.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD.

CERTIFICATES PRESENTED.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held at Gorseinon on December 3rd, when about 30 ringers attended from Aberavon, Baglan, Cadroxton, Morriston, Swansea, Sketty, Llanelly, Llanstephen, and the local band. A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. J. Thomas), assisted by his curate. A tea was provided by the Vicar at the Church Hall, and was enjoyed by all.

At the business meeting, the Vicar presiding, Mr. E. Stitch was re-elected hon. district secretary, and Mr. G. W. Hollis was elected auditor.

Sketty was chosen for the next quarterly meeting.

The meeting confirmed the election of the following non-resident life members: Messrs. G. Williams, J. H. R. Freaborn, A. E. Sharman, H. Barton, J. H. Riding, E. Jenkins, W. J. Nevard, and G. Martin, and the best thanks of the Guild were voted to them for ringing the four 'firsts in the method' for the Guild.

The chairman then presented to the captains of the towers present the Guild's certificate. He congratulated all on the good work being done, and wished success to the Guild.

The best thanks of the Guild were given to Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, for his kindness in giving the design of certificate to the Guild.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for taking the service, the use of the bells, for the tea, and for kindly presiding at meeting, to the organist, and to all the ladies who so kindly helped at the tea table.

The Vicar proposed a vote of condolence with the widow of the late Mr. A. Hatton, a life member of the Guild.—This was carried by the members standing in silence for a few moments.

The bells were made good use of, both before and after the meeting.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of North Bucks Branch was held at Buckingham on Saturday, December 3rd, when a representative gathering attended, there being about 40 members present, representing the following towers: Bletchley, Bradwell, East Claydon, Emberton, Fenny Stratford, Maids Moreton, Newport Pagnell, Padbury, Stony Stratford and the local ringers, also visitors from Northamptonshire representing Peterborough Diocesan Guild and Towcester and District Guild. Ringing took place during the afternoon, and a short service was held, the Guild form being used, the Rev. C. C. Naters, Vicar of Buckingham, officiating. After service, a good tea was served, much to the appreciation of all.

The Master, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, unexpectedly turned up during the afternoon, and stayed as long as possible, but had to leave before tea was over owing to a long journey in front of him.

The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) thought it was an opportune time to ask the Master to say a few words on the subject of peal diplomas for young ringers before such a good gathering, and this he did before leaving.

After tea was over, the Secretary stated that he had no special business to bring before the meeting, but after having heard what the Master had said about 'peal diplomas,' he thought that it would be a good thing if the members would vote either for or against, seeing that there was a good representation of the branch, and they would not get a better opportunity to arrive at some definite decision. On being put to the vote, the proposal was carried.

Further discussions took place on branch work generally for the benefit of all, and proposals made which may mature a little later on. This brought a happy meeting to a close, thanks being given by the secretary to those responsible for making all arrangements.

Further ringing then took place, the methods ranging from Grand-sire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

OXFORD BOB MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Re the peal of Oxford Bob Major at Tring, on looking through our records I find that what was supposed to be the first peal in the method was rung by the Warnham Branch of the Sussex County Association on the bells of the Parish Church on January 10th, 1889, conducted by H. H. Chandler.—Yours faithfully, Warnham.

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

There is no festival of the Church with which bells have long been and still are more closely identified than that of Christmas. Indeed their intimate association with Yuletide would seem to go back as far into the mists of the past as the history of rings of bells themselves, for there is a tradition that the original purpose of hanging bells in numbers was that they should be rung at the Christ Mass. However that may be, church bells have played their part in celebrating the Christmas festival in this land for many hundreds of years—centuries before change ringing was introduced. Their connection with this joyous season has been a favourite theme with poets, and bell shapes form the most popular decoration on Christmas cards. In every way the association of ideas blends Christmas and bells, and so our art plays a large part not only in the religious festival, but in the sentiments of the people.

Ringers, therefore, have an important duty to perform at this season; let them see to it that they perform the task worthily. Those who are in the habit of ringing Sunday by Sunday may not, perhaps, fully appreciate how, on the great festivals, they are responsible for interpreting the feelings of churchpeople. Familiarity with their calling may have blunted the sense with which some ringers discharge their obligation; they may even be tempted to think only of their own convenience, and to decide what ringing, if any, they shall do according to the vagaries of fancy at the moment. We have known such cases. Happily, however, they are not frequent, and ringers, as a whole, enter fully into the spirit of the occasion. But Christmas is more than a festival for church-folk. It is, so far as this country especially is concerned, a national festival, into the spirit of which the people enter in a way not shown at any other time. And the people want to hear the bells at Christmas as they do at no other time. An English Christmas without bells would be unthinkable—as well imagine it without the traditional plum pudding.

This year Christmas and Sunday coincide, and ringers ought everywhere to mark it by some additional ringing beyond that which usually precludes the ordinary Sunday services. There ought to be ringing on Saturday, for the Eve of the Festival, and a special period of ringing on Christmas Day itself. Probably this will have been arranged at many churches; we should like to see it generally carried out all over the country, for, to the public, Christmas bells convey a very special message. They stir the emotions, they awaken memories, and do as much to symbolise the spirit of the day as anything that can affect the feelings of the multitude. Thus we ringers have a duty beyond the expression of our own feelings. We ring at Christmas for the delight of others. Let us do it well, remembering that the bells convey the age old message of 'Peace on earth; goodwill to men.'

'The time draws near the birth of Christ;

The moon is hid; the night is still;

The Christmas bells from hill to hill

DUDLEY & DISTRICT GUILD.

MEMORIAL TO MR. W. ROCK SMALL.

On Saturday, December 3rd, the quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at St. Martin's Parish Church, Tipton. The bells were placed at the disposal of the members during the afternoon until the Guild service at 4.30. At 4.15 there was a crowded audience in the belfry for a short dedication service. There were present the Vicar, who officiated, the Rev. W. R. Noel Naylor (assistant priest), the churchwardens, Mr. F. Fantom, Mr. A. Matty, Mr. A. Rowley (Ringing Master), the sons of the late Mr. W. Rock Small, and a number of ringers from the neighbouring churches.

The Vicar referred to the notable and noble record of the late Mr. William Rock Small as a ringer for 60 years, 40 of them being devoted to the service of Christ at Tipton Parish Church.

A tablet to his memory was then unveiled by one of the seven sons, who have already collectively given a stained-glass window to the church in memory of their father.

The memorial tablet records particulars of two peals, viz., the last peal in which the late Mr. W. R. Small took part, and the peal subsequently rung half-muffled to his memory.

The Vicar then dedicated the tablet to the glory of God, and closed with prayer and the Benediction.

A plain course of Stedman Triples (Mr. Small's favourite method) was afterwards rung by a band representing eight different towers in the Guild, viz., B. Gough (Coseley), P. Cottell (Tipton), H. Mason (Hagley), H. Sheppard (Dudley), A. Greenfield, conductor (Netherton), J. Screen (West Bromwich), H. Withers (Selly Oak), and B. Fullwood (Sedgley).

The usual Guild service followed in the church. The Vicar, in his address, spoke on three matters as mottoes for ringers: 'Do all to the glory of God,' 'with thy might,' and 'members one of another.'

After the service an adjournment was made to the schoolroom, where a bounteous tea was in readiness, for which the churchwardens were responsible, and, needless to say, full justice was done to the good things provided, upwards of 60 members and friends sitting down at the tables.

The business meeting followed, at which the Vicar presided, supported by the churchwardens, Mr. Matty, Mr. H. Mason (vice-president), and the secretary (Mr. H. Sheppard). Apologies were received from Mr. Churchwarden Fantom, who was unable to stay to the meeting, also from Mr. S. J. Hughes, for the same cause, Mr. J. Goodman (Ringing Master), Mr. J. George and Mr. Herbert Knight, who were all unable to be present.

Business of a routine character having been disposed of, three new honorary and several ringing members were added to the roll, and it was proposed to hold the next meeting, which is the annual, at Dudley.

The quarterly peal is proposed to be attempted at Tipton.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Mason proposed that the best thanks of the Guild be given to the Vicar of Tipton (the Rev. G. R. Mortimore) for permission to hold the meeting at his church, for conducting the service, for his inspiring address, for the use of the tower and bells and schoolroom, and for his courteous conduct in the chair at the business meeting, also to his colleague, the Rev. W. R. N. Naylor, for his part in the service, and to the organist and choir boys for the musical part of the service, for which the members were very grateful to them. They also wished to thank Mr. A. Bowley (the Ringing Master) and his ringers for the trouble that they took in making the necessary arrangements for the meeting.

It is also desired to place on record hearty thanks to the churchwardens and Parochial Church Council for providing so bountiful a tea. Hearty thanks are also tendered to the ladies for preparing and serving the tea and for generally looking after the comfort of all present, also to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting a most successful and happy one.

The Vicar, in his reply, said what a pleasure it had given him on behalf of himself and churchwardens and Parochial Church Council to welcome the Guild to Tipton. Mr. Churchwarden Matty also welcomed the members, and the Vicar then closed the meeting with prayer, after which the members again visited the belfry and kept the bells merrily going until the time came only too soon for each one to make tracks for home.

THE LATE MR. G. H. PHILLOTT.

Friends of the late Mr. G. H. Phillott (Cheltenham) will like to know that the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association is placing a tablet to his memory in St. Mary's Church ringing chamber. It is probable that it will be unveiled on Sunday, January 8th, about 2 p.m. A definite announcement will be made in next week's notice column.

RINGERS ENTERTAINED AT SHIPLAKE.A GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, of the Old Vicarage, Shiplake, Oxon, celebrated their golden wedding on Sunday, December 4th, and a well-struck 600 odd of Grandsire Triples was rung in honour of the event after morning prayer.

The ringers have continually received the kind hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson since they came to Shiplake some 20 years ago. 'Often during the winter practice,' writes a correspondent, 'the bell-fry door is flung open. "Come on, boys; Mrs. Nicholson wishes you to have some refreshments. Good of you coming these winter nights to ring." The voice is Mr. Nicholson's; there is no hesitation; it is the word for the deed. "Bang, clash, stand," and soon we're off to the front hall or dining-room, where the very best these human hearts can provide is waiting for us.

On Thursday, December 8th, with the Vicar and choirmen, we were invited to dine with Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson in honour of their golden wedding. The delightful dining-room with its 24 guests provided heaps of room. From its windows one could muse for hours. Tennyson stayed many times at this home, and was married at the dear old church. No wonder the poet sang while at Shiplake, 'Ring out the old, ring in the new.' But we are guests to dinner—roast turkey, roast beef of old England, and every thought to satisfy our wants. In the plum pudding, silver coins had been inserted. After dinner, at the sincere wish of the Vicar, Mr. O. W. Porter, the leader of the ringers, proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, which he did in happy phrase, adding that under that roof not only those present, but many, many more had received from Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson that human touch of Christianity. Mr. Nicholson briefly responded, and then in the billiard room billiards and songs were continued until 11.30. Hearty cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Nicholson, 'Auld Lang Syne,' and 'The King,' brought to a close one more of those happy evenings in which that touch of human kindness make the whole world kin.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson have had six sons, one of whom made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. He is peacefully resting in the churchyard close by.

The ringers' present to Mrs. Nicholson was a gold bell brooch, suitably engraved, specially and excellently made by Mr. Stacey, of Minchhead.

SUFFOLK GUILD.WHAT A VISIT TO STONHAM ASPAL DID.

A quarterly meeting of the above Guild was held at Stonham Aspal on Saturday, December 3rd, and was attended by about twenty-five members, representing the towers of Debenham, Eye, Wetheringsett, Thornham Magna, Ipswich, Ufford, Otley, Helmingham and Stowmarket. The bells were set going soon after three o'clock, and ringing continued until five p.m., when an adjournment was made to the schoolroom for tea. The Rector, Rev. T. O. Wenacott, was present, and took the chair at the business meeting which followed. He extended a hearty welcome to the Guild, and took the opportunity of thanking them for the meeting held at Stonham Aspal during the summer of 1926, when the bad state of some of the bells was brought to his notice. As a result of this he called in the services of a bell hanger (Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich), who effected the necessary repairs. New ropes had also been supplied for the whole peal of ten, and they are now in fair ringing order. He (the Rector) emphasised the fact that but for the action of the Guild in bringing the matter to his notice the bells would have remained in the same state, he himself being entirely ignorant that anything was wrong with them.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for his welcome, and also for the use of the schoolroom, etc.

Mr. F. Warrington, of Long Stanton, Cambs, was confirmed as a non-resident life member of the Guild (following a bellfry election), and Hadleigh was selected for the next quarterly meeting to be held in January, followed by one at Fressingfield in the early spring.

This concluded the business, after which the members repaired to the tower and indulged in ringing ranging from rounds on the ten and Plain Bob Minor, Major and Royal for the learners, to Treble Bob Royal, Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Royal for the more experienced hands.

The inhabitants of Stonham Aspal are to be congratulated on the fact that their fine old peal of ten is once again in a good state of repair, and it is to be hoped that this will arouse more local interest, so that change ringing may be established in the parish.

LONGEST LENGTH AT 73.

At Milnrow, Lancashire, on Tuesday, December 6th, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes) in 49 mins.: J. Fitton 1, G. Staff (conductor) 2, S. Dunn 3, C. Bennett 4, A. Ruckley 5, J. H. C. Massey 6. Tenor 20 cwt. Rung after meeting short for Major (owing to illness), as a 73rd birthday compliment to Mr. J. Fitton, who rang the treble. He has been a regular ringer at the above church for 53 years. Longest length of Minor by all except G. Staff.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

To all our readers we extend the warmest Christmas greetings, and we desire to thank the many correspondents who have sent us their good wishes.

Church bells were rung and an oak tree was planted in the churchyard at Hailsham (Sussex) to mark the rejection of the Prayer Book Measure.

A large attendance is expected at the inaugural meeting of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild on the last day of the year. An event of this description is, in these days, a rare occurrence, and visitors from neighbouring associations will be welcome. We are asked to say, however, that those who require tea must send a notification to the hon. secretary, whose address will be found in our notice columns.

In the peal of Kent Treble Bob rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on December 3rd, the ringer of the 7th was Albert Adams.

The Yorkshire Association's longest length of Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung on Saturday at Oxenhope, when John Thorp's 8,864 was achieved in 5 hrs. 48 mins.

The peal of Grandsire Caters at Cardiff on Saturday week (composed by Ernest Coombes) consisted of 5,093 changes and not 5,003 as published.

On December 30th, 1830, St. Michael's Society, Bishop's Stortford, rang at St. Michael's Church a peal of Grandsire Caters (6,156 changes) in 4 hrs. 5 mins. It was composed and conducted by Robert Tharby, and was the longest length rung upon the ten bells.

One of the earliest performances of Holt's Original, conducted by one of the ringers, was at Saffron Walden on Christmas Day, 1753. We are not certain if it had ever been done before, but such an achievement was a noteworthy one.

Boxing Day is a day full of anniversaries in connection with ringing, and some memorable performances have been put up on this holiday, which ringers have seized upon as being suitable for long lengths.

Nearly a hundred years ago, namely, in 1831, 15,168 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at Elland. This Boxing Day performance occupied 8 hrs. 43 mins.

Two Superlative Surprise records were put up on Boxing Day—9,312 was rung at Crawley, Sussex, in 1894, and in 1910 9,728 at Clent, Worcestershire.

Among other long lengths on Boxing Day have been the celebrated 'five ones' (11,111) Stedman Cinques at Birmingham, in 1901, 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major at South Wigston in 1901; 10,080 Bob Major at Helmingham in 1895; and 10,440 Cambridge Surprise Royal at Walthamstow in 1923.

A band of College Youths, on December 26th, 1782, which happened to be Sunday, rang, 'the whole peal of 5,040 London Union Trebbles in 3 hrs. 20 mins., being the first peal in that method,' at St. Giles-in-the-Fields. The peal was 'composed and called by Mr. J. Plegis.'

One of the best of many good performances by Squire Leonard Proctor and his Benington band, of which there is now only one survivor, was the 6,048 of London Surprise Major on Boxing Day, 1871. It was rung by a band of village residents, and was 'the greatest scientific performance ever achieved in change ringing.'

An illustration of how some of our methods came by their names is to be found in a peal, the anniversary of which occurs on Monday. On December 27th, 1718, the Union Scholars rang 5,120 Union Bob (now known as Oxford Treble Bob) at St. Dunstan's, City. This is one of the few early peals of which the composition remains to us.

December 27th is the anniversary of the 17,104 Double Norwich Major at South Wigston in 1904, and the 10,176 Double Oxford Bob Major at Brierley Hill in 1909.

The first 'John' peal was rung at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Hagley, on December 27th, 1902—John Holt's Original, reversed by John Carter and conducted by John Jaggard.

In the report of the peal at Dublin on December 10th, the initials before the name of Mr. R. F. S. Murphy were contracted to P.C., which will probably have conveyed an entirely erroneous impression. Mr. Murphy is a Peace Commissioner. The name of the ringer of the 5th should have been given as Tait, not Tail.

PORCELAIN BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I will first of all do myself the honour of wishing you and yours a very happy Christmas and a bright and prosperous new year. I have often heard ringers refer to this or the other peal of bells as 'old pots,' but never really knew how near the truth this saying was until I came across the enclosed copy of the Copenhagen 'Evening News' of date November 21st. It records that the world-renowned porcelain factory at Meissen, in Germany, is engaged in making a carillon of 40 bells for the Meissen Parish Church. 'Kirkeklokker of Porcelæn!' But Mears, Johnston and Taylors need not file their petitions till we hear the new products. What about the lads and lasses hanging up mother's pudding bowls after Christmas dinner and trying 'em out?—Yours sincerely,

UNCLE JOE E. SYKES.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the nineteenth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

In last week's article we saw the effect of a place, made in 2nd's or 7th's in the plain principle.

Now cause BOTH ACTIONS to take place in your principle—7th's place by the 3 when the treble is behind, AND ALSO 2nd's place by the 5 when the treble leads, bearing in mind that when the 3 makes the 7th's place the 5 immediately becomes the bell which is 'before' the treble. You will now have DOUBLED the Bob Major action and have caused the treble to 'move up two,' thus producing as your FIRST lead-end 15738264, which is the SECOND lead-end of Bob Major. We name this Double Bob Major, again for a very obvious reason.

Now transfer this 'action' to any place WITHIN the rows of the principle. Let the bell which is 'before' the treble make ANY INTERNAL PLACE, cross the treble's path, and make another place immediately, and then hunt after the treble. The 3 is the bell which does this in each example. Plain hunt the bells from the last row given in each example (first 4 and then 3 pairs), and the lead-ends will be 13527486. Notice that not more than two places are made in any row, and in each case similar action to that which is given above has taken place:—

(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)
21354768	21436587	21436587	21436587	21436587
23145678	24135678	24163857	24163857	24163857
23416587	42316587	42618375	42618375	42618375
24361857	24361857	46231857	46231357	46231735
		42638175	64823175	64827135
		46283715	46283715	68472315

Examples 1, 3 and 5 are included merely to emphasise the action of changing the two bells in the coursing order, and are useless in this form, but examples 2 and 4 are quite workable as they stand. When we fully realise that these 'places' can be made in the lower half of the principle—that is to say, when the treble is hunting down (or from the back to the front of the rows)—we shall know that we can easily produce a method that will be equal to six times the transposition of Bob Major. Bear in mind, if the places are made when the treble is hunting down, that they will APPEAR TO BE the reverse of the examples given. For instance, in the lower half of the lead the action which is relative to the second example will cause the '3' to make 'third's cross and fourth's,' instead of 'fourth's cross and third's,' as in example No. 2, because she makes first her place 'before' the treble crosses, and then makes her place 'after.' Similarly with the others.

Then, taking examples 2 and 4 only (being the straightforward ones), we can have one of them in a lead, or both of them; either of the similar ones in the lower half of the lead, or both; three of them in the same lead, or the whole four. Any of these combinations with 7th's place when the treble is behind ALSO; any of them with 2nd's place when the treble leads, or with BOTH of the latter. A modification of example No. 3 may be brought in amongst all of these, so that we can see that we have enough material to practise upon.

Each action will move the treble 'up one' in the coursing order, and each one will cause rounds to be transposed by 13527486—so many times to produce the lead-end, the times being governed by the number of the actions that are crowded into the one lead.

It might occur to the reader to write out a lead of the method which he constructs, and to look therein for the bells to appear AT LEAD in their proper coursing order; he will be disappointed. 'Coursing order' was explained in this manner, being the simplest form of bringing it to the notice. Coursing order is really the preservation in the rows of the coursing positions that are held by the coursing pairs at the lead-heads (which we have already studied), and which WOULD cause the bells to appear at the lead or out behind, if they were allowed to PLAIN HUNT as from the row under consideration. As explained, the coursing order gets broken within the leads, but is put right again as soon as convenient, and certainly before the lead-end.

Examine the rows of your principle, one by one. 'Pick up' the even-place bells and work backwards upon the odd-place ones, as you have done before. You will find that the coursing order is preserved and reversed in alternate rows throughout. Take any row and commence to plain hunt the bells therefrom; they will appear at the leading position in proper coursing order, or the reverse of coursing order, according to which of the alternate rows you use as the base. In another way—in one row you will pick up the even-place bells and work backwards upon the odd, to obtain your coursing order (the usual way), while in another row you will pick up the ODD and work back upon the EVEN, to obtain your proper coursing order (the reverse of the usual).

Now try with your rows in the Reverse and Double Bob methods, and see that your coursing order positions are preserved, in spite of the fact that the bells do not appear at lead in the proper sequence. Some methods will absolutely disturb the coursing order in the rows, but it is put right again sooner or later within the lead.

It must not be supposed that a combination of these 'actions' will of necessity give a desirable method, but it will give a method of some sort, true or otherwise, which will preserve the coursing order of the bells. After the method is constructed on these lines, it may be necessary to introduce various structural alterations to improve it, to avoid possibility of repetition rows, or what not?

These 'actions' have affected the coursing order only so far as the treble and her course-bell are concerned. In order words, they have literally reversed a COURSING PAIR in the coursing order, and we may assume that similar action being applied to ANY TWO BELLS will have the same effect upon the coursing order. This means that each bell so reversed will not take more than ONE STEP forwards or backwards in the coursing order in its exchange of places therein. Other actions will not confine themselves to this effect, as we shall see, and bells other than those of coursing pairs will be made to exchange coursing order positions.

The foregoing actions might be known here as 'plain actions,' and we will now examine the 'singled' action—that is to say, the action of the two bells which 'make the single.' We already know that the bells which make these two extra places will each take the other's place in the coursing order, and we will now look for the cause.

Turn the plain lead of Bob Major into a singled lead by making 2nd's, 3rd's and 4th's places when the treble leads, as you have done before; continue the following leads for a few rows in each, and compare the singled lead with the plain. Ignore the exchange of '13' in the lead-end rows, as we know all about this action; concentrate upon the bells which make the single:—

Plain Lead.	Singled Lead.	Coursing Order.

The coursing order of the principle is included to show that the usual action of the '13' pair has taken place in both of the plain and singled leads. Notice in the rows that the '25' are in reverse positions when comparing the singled lead with the plain; also that they have exchanged places in the coursing order, and, not being a coursing pair, they have taken more than one step forwards or backwards to make the exchange, thus COMPLETELY altering the order of the bells other than the treble. We see that '4768' are undisturbed in the rows and in the coursing order.

Now observe the action in the rows. The '25' are hunting towards each other, or in opposite directions, and the 'dodge' that they perform in the plain lead allows them to pursue their hunts in the SAME DIRECTIONS afterwards, but when they make the two places at the single they are COMPELLED by the method, or the system of changing the pairs, to pursue their hunts in the OPPOSITE directions to which they were going.

Now turn your Reverse Bob Major into a singled lead, bearing in mind that, in an 'eighth's-place' method, the single is made by making 6th's, 7th's and 8th's places when the treble leads, and we shall find that similar action takes place with the two bells that make the 'single places.' Here we shall find that the reversing of the two bells is more plainly shown, because there is no 'dodge' at the plain lead-end, '13' already having made their exchange when the treble was behind. We shall realise that if we made the single in the 3/4 places instead of the 6/7 places in this 'eighth's-place' method, we should automatically produce a singled lead of Double Bob Major. In one case we make FIRST'S, SECOND'S, and two extra places, thus reversing the treble and another in addition to the bells making the single; and in the other case make FIRST'S, two extra, AND EIGHTH'S places, and, as we know, 'first's and eighth's' do not affect the coursing order.

We assume, then, that ANY TWO BELLS which perform a 'singled action' in a lead will each take the place of the other in the coursing order.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I draw attention to a slight error in the second column of the article of 16th inst. In line 11, the '4' is omitted from the lead-end, which should read: 1573264.

This is the only occasion where the type has materially differed from the MS. unnecessarily, and your readers will agree that, in a series of this length, this is 'good going.'—Yours sincerely,

MINORMANIA.

BELLS, THEIR TONES AND TUNING. AN HISTORICAL SKETCH.

BY E. ALEX. YOUNG.

Though the question of bell tones and their production, and, of course, incidentally, bell tuning, must always have given food for reflection to bellfounders and lovers of bell music, we have no available material upon which to found a connected history showing, before comparatively recent years, the development of bell tones. On the other hand, in regard to the bell itself, though its origin lies beyond historic time, we have ample material to do it justice, and, indeed, many excellent works have been produced dealing with its early history and also its modern use, particularly so in regard to change ringing in England and to the carillon in Belgium. It is to such works one would refer a reader who is desirous of studying the subject more deeply regarding the bell and its uses. Upon turning to the question of its tones—the particular subject of this work—there is, as stated above, little to guide us, except what can be unravelled from the history of campanology or deduced from the metal, weights, and sizes of surviving bells.

Turning for a moment to the side of general history, for from it that of bell tones must evolve, we know that bells have been cast or forged from pre-historic times, and that throughout the Christian era they have approximated to their present shapes, and, indeed, very closely so for the past 500 years.

We can well surmise from man's efforts in other directions that this almost perfect result is due to countless attempts at improvement. It is the old tale of 'trial and error' resulting in ultimate achievement. The scientist to-day does not appear able to improve much upon this result; indeed, one recently admitted that there was yet much to learn about bells.* From time to time the scientist, after years of thought, deduces some great truth or establishes an invention, only to find that he is confirming the rule based upon 'trial and error' long used by the mechanic or craftsman. It will probably be found also that the bell is a case in point.

The above is somewhat discursive, and in the same style we may suggest that the unexpected tone of our first bell came from the accidentally struck piece of pottery or even glass, ages before bronze took similar shape, when louder and more sonorous tones were born. This period antedates that of the earliest written histories. In the Bible cymbals both large and small are referred to, but though these cymbals were probably of definite note and pitch, music itself in those days was in its infancy, and we must pass forward over many centuries.

In early medieval days in Europe the arts of casting and of music may be said to have not, for bells in series and of several tons in weight appear to have been cast in England, and certainly so upon the Continent.†

In England (later to become the 'Ringing Isle') we read of Croyland possessing the first known 'ring' of bells (afterwards destroyed by fire in A.D. 1091); these are described as producing such exquisite harmony as to be unsurpassed by any peal in England. It should be observed this famous peal was one of seven bells; the treble was thus probably an octave of the tenor (said to have been exceptionally fine in tone), and being only seven and so musical the bells probably were in one of the several minor scales anciently used of seven tones. These were termed pentatonic, appearing thus in the key of C: E, F, G, A, B, D, E.‡ It should also be noticed that in A.D. 1050, there were large bells in SS. Mary and Peter's Abbey, Exeter, also seven in number, and probably in the same sequence. We have, however, no information either as to weights or notes; indeed, the latter is not to be expected: but at Ely in 1345 we read that there was a 'ring' of four bells which were of 37, 27, 21 and 18 cwt., and their notes can be approximately computed as being C.D.E.F. It is important to observe that the old minor-third, E.G., has been replaced by the new major-third, C.E., showing that bells were no exception to the gradual change in musical taste which occurred throughout Europe from the 14th to the 16th centuries, culminating in the general adoption of our present major scale as fixed by the great Bach. There are other cases which seem to show the same, thus of Croyland's later bells (probably a near copy of the former ones) we read that Abbot Lytlington (1427-63) caused some of the bells to be recast, so that they 'might be brought to a state of more perfect harmony,' converting, perhaps, a ring of seven bells in minor, to one of six in major, the E.A. and B. being recast a semitone lower (on the previous assumption). In Lytlington's time also was presented to King's College, Cambridge, a peal of five heavy bells of 46, 32, 21, 15 and 11 cwt., so their notes approximately may have been C.D.E.F.G. (the tenor a little heavy, and the trebles a little light), and so again conforming to the then new mode.

Of the many thousands of bells here in England in medieval times, only a few hundred remain, many having disappeared quite in recent years: enough, however, is known of them for us to be able to fix the character of their general tone. It is clear that they were on the same lines as those governing most continental bells—i.e., having the octave hum-note and with it the minor-third as chief harmonic, and known to-day, for reason given later, as 'Simpson.' These medieval bells were undoubtedly sonorous, and had for some obscure reason a certain quality of tone which cannot be matched to-day.§ The bellfounders were now masters of their craft, and we have also reached (historically) Tudor times, when men's minds were alert for the best, and the Arts had reached a high standard. And yet at this time the medieval bell not only culminated but passed in England. Let us seek a reason.

These Tudor times were truly pregnant with great events. The Renaissance and the Reformation (those two great waves) struck us almost at the same time. Printing and America were both new, and the Armada was now to be miraculously defeated. Along these stirring times, the art of change ringing, as we know it, was born, for with the closing of the 16th century there matured this great change in bell-ringing in England. The change had been gradual, for, despite some opinions to the contrary, the writer is convinced that what we know as 'call changes' had at this time been in use for possibly two hundred years, and that certain elements of what we now term change ringing were also then commonly practised.||

It is to be noticed that changes in the use of an object are likely to affect it—cause and effect, our Simpsonian friends say; and it has been widely suggested by them that with this advance in the art the bellfounders shortened their bells to make them handier in ringing. Shorten them they undoubtedly did, and most deliberately, just as they largely altered the character of their notes. We should still remember, however, that these men were alert master craftsmen with an age-long tradition behind them, and, again, that the English of the time were considered famous for their musical gifts, just as we know them to-day as having been gifted in poetry, and to a less extent in painting and architecture. Also that amongst so musical a people with unspoiled ears, that of the bellfounder would be at least as acute, and probably more so than that of his successor to-day.

Let us see, then, what it was that such bell-founders did. They raised the hum-note a semitone (nearly), and raised the minor-third overtone a semitone. To do this it was necessary to increase the hollow of the waist curve by making the bell a little less in height and a little more in width than before. As was only to be expected, this gave the bell an entirely new quality of tone, one that could not be obtained with the medieval one.

Let us also consider why this alteration was made. We must bear in mind that throughout England were many heavy peals of five and six bells, and that by their weight, and probably by the method of ringing, the time interval between the several notes would be considerable (like modern bells when 'widely struck'). Also that owing to the rise of change ringing, the old slow ringing peals were being replaced by 'rings' of 8, 10, and, later, of 12 bells, thus involving the use of smaller and lighter bells, moving quickly and 'striking closer.' Obviously something crisper was wanted, and partaking more of the character of what in music is known as 'staccato.' The rolling volume of the undertones of the old bells was no longer a desideratum; in reality their own 'legato' character (to borrow from music again) was against them. There is, indeed, only one reasonable conclusion to which we can come, as to the why and wherefore of this great change. It was undoubtedly made with this definite idea of giving greater brilliance and crispness to the tap-tones, and obtaining a more liquid and melodious quality to the bell-tone as a whole. It is as unreasonable, on the other hand, to assume that such master men, with such musical gifts, would have sacrificed the older class of bell if they knew it to be superior in musical qualities, merely to gratify the ringers' alleged plea of 'give us any bell, so long as she goes well.' The writer feels sure that, so far, the Simpsonians' suggestion falls to the ground.

Thus over three hundred years ago our English bellfounders set up another scale and a new standard—a most interesting fact and one not generally recognised even amongst ringers. What they actually thought about it we shall never know. They have always been reticent, and, like many craftsmen, seem to have relied upon oral tradition rather than written rules; perhaps some of them were conservative and loath to march with the times; but they all alike have left no records save their bells. It is so with the only existing foundry which goes back to Tudor times; and there is neither record nor tradition extant to enable any other conclusion but that above stated, to be upheld. They never even gave their new system of tuning a name, and for want of a better the writer has referred to it, both previously and here, as the 'old standard.'

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

A READY RESPONSE TO OUR APPEAL.

'Thank God I can still see. I therefore enclose £1 ls. as a thank-offering for poor Irenæus.'

Thus an anonymous donor to the fund to assist 'Irenæus Pistor,' who, as recorded in our last issue, is stricken with blindness and is now in straitened circumstances, having to eke out an existence on a small sick benefit allowance and the earnings of a young, devoted daughter.

Many a reader of this journal has enjoyed a laugh at the humour of 'Irenæus,' and appreciated his trenchant criticisms. Now they can do something in return for one who is suffering from the greatest affliction which can befall a human being.

Christmas is a time of cheerful giving, and nothing adds to one's own pleasure so much as the knowledge of help given to a brother in distress.

We appeal to our readers to make a generous response in this deserving case, for the help is badly needed.

The following donations to the fund are acknowledged by the Editor with grateful thanks:—

It will be noticed from the above list of subscriptions received that several contributions come collectively from bands. What a magnificent thing it would be if in every tower on Christmas Day a collection for this fund could be made. We hope that this course may be followed wherever possible, although that will not prevent those who desire to do so sending their individual contributions.

The spirit of the givers, as well as the gifts themselves, will, we are certain, do much to lighten the burden of 'Irenæus' and of his wife

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

THE OLDEST MEMBER.

At the dinner on November 5th it was stated that presumably Mr. Harry Henden, of Orange, New South Wales, is the senior member.

Since that date the name book has been consulted, and it is found that Mr. Joseph Barrackough, of Chicago, was elected in 1862; Dr. Amherst P. Tyssen, of Oxford, in 1863; Harry R. Trelawny, Esq., of Tavistock, and the Rev. Maitland Kelly in 1864.

THE PEAL (?) AT CANTERBURY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am sure it would be a fine Christmas message to the majority of the Exercise if the conductor and band would, as they really should, abandon all claim to the so-called peal at Canterbury.

Who amongst ringers of any experience at all cannot recall similar instances of 'hard lines'? Only recently, I had called all the bobs in a peal of Stedman Triples. 7-5 were together in 4-5 when the tenor cast her rope, but kept swinging. Result, no peal. And quite right, too; peals are cheap enough these days.—Yours faithfully,

W. A. CAVE.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

NEW RULES WANTED.

A very successful meeting of the Southern District of the Surrey Association was held at Betchworth on Saturday, December 10th.

Ringings commenced at 3.30 p.m., and at the service an address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. E. H. Kennedy. Tea was partaken of at the Red Lion, and was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the Vicar.

A vote of condolence to the relations of the late Mr. Henry Ewins was carried, the members standing in silence for a few moments.

Two ringing members were elected, and the Vicar was elected an honorary member.

The General Secretary reported that the quarterly peal had been successful (a peal of Minor at Buckland, conducted by Mr. H. R. Thorpe). It was decided that Mr. G. F. Hoad should conduct the next one, which was to be Grandsire Triples at Betchworth.

Horley was selected for the next meeting, where the restoration of the bells by Messrs. G. F. Mears and Stainbank is nearing completion.

Mr. A. J. Bull, Jesmond, Queen's Road, Horley, was elected hon. district secretary pro tem., to fill the vacancy caused by the sudden death of Mr. Ewins.

On the proposition of Mr. A. J. Bull, and seconded by Mr. G. F. Hoad, the following resolution was carried, viz., 'That this meeting is of opinion that the present rules are not satisfactory or sufficient, and the secretary be so informed, requesting him to call a committee to consider a new set of rules, to submit to the members at the next annual general meeting.'

A vote of thanks to those who helped to make the meeting a success was carried.

Twenty-eight members were present at the meeting. All the standard methods, including Cambridge Surprise, were rung.

NORTH WESTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the North Western Division was held at Sawbridgeworth on Saturday, December 3rd. The attendance was not quite so good as in previous years, but this might have been due to the foggy nature of the weather. The bells were rung during the afternoon, and a service held in the church at 4.45 p.m., at which a collection was taken in aid of the bells restoration fund. This amounted to 8s. 6d.

Tea was served at 5.30 p.m., after which the business meeting opened with Mr. H. Dew, the District Master, in the chair. Letters were read from Mr. C. H. Howard and Mr. F. J. Pilstow stating their inability to be present.

Mr. H. Dew was again re-elected District Master, and Mr. C. Beeson re-elected district secretary.

Harlow Common was decided upon for the next meeting place.

A letter was read from Mr. F. Warrington, of the Ely Diocesan Association, suggesting that a joint meeting with them be held in the coming year.—This was discussed, and eventually left to the secretary to make arrangements with Mr. Warrington.

Saffron Walden was suggested for the meeting.—Votes of thanks were then accorded to the clergy, the organist and to Mr. W. Tarling who had arranged the meeting.

and daughter, who have been struggling silently against adversity. On Monday we were able to send a first remittance of £10, and on Wednesday a further sum was despatched.

Mr. William Willson writes: 'It was with great regret I read of the terrible affliction of our friend. Enclosed please see cheque to help him at this season of Goodwill to Men, and may the fund grow quickly. An ounce of sympathy for the living is worth more than a ton of floral tributes for the dead.'

We commend this sentiment to all our readers.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

I wonder if any of my readers think I have been contradicting myself! At the outset I said that this is a question of mathematical law, not to be settled by anyone who has not the necessary qualifications, and not without much patience and study. And, later, I insisted that the final judge is the Exercise, which consists of practical ringers, and not any body of experts, however eminent. There is no real contradiction. The question is a practical one, and practical ringers in the mass, by virtue of their practical experience, are fully qualified to judge. But the causes and reasons are decided by mathematical law.

Ringing is a practical art, but it is controlled by a mathematical science. The causes which influence ringers to recognise a true extension go back to the fundamental nature of ringing. If we consider what ringing really is, we shall have gone a long way towards finding the key to the solution of our problem. The beginning of ringing was natural and spontaneous; it was in no sense the invention of one man or one band. Exactly when it began we do not know; but by the middle of the sixteenth century it was practised in many parts of England. And the beginning of ringing was not among educated or particularly intelligent men. It sprang up among the common people of widely-scattered towns and villages. Such people, as a rule, could neither read nor write, and means of personal communication between places separated by more than the shortest distances were so scanty as to be practically non-existent.

In these days of railway trains, cycles, and motors, of daily, almost hourly, posts, of associations and guilds, of frequent meetings and combined practices, with a weekly newspaper, with a Central Council, when ringers over all parts of the country can look on each other as personal acquaintances and friends, when the Exercise is really a unity—in these days it is rather difficult to grasp the idea of an Exercise consisting of independent and isolated unity, where each tower or, perhaps, group of towers, had to learn and develop its ringing by its own abilities and without any aid from outside.

It was, however, in such an Exercise that ringing began. And the remarkable fact is that, begun in this fashion, it was always the same thing. From small beginnings development started, here more rapidly, there slower; but the developments were always in the same direction. Not only so, but, great as has been the development of the past three centuries, ringing has always remained essentially the same thing. The men of two hundred years ago could, if they revisited this earth, walk into our towers and take a rope in Plain Bob, Stedman, Grandfire or Treble Bob, without noticing any difference. Even the men of a century earlier would not have much difficulty in adapting themselves to modern conditions.

Now all this points irresistibly to the conclusion that there must be one simple, strong, and obvious idea at the base of ringing, which could thus create and develop it in one straight fixed path. Simple and obvious, to appeal unconsciously to ordinary unlettered men; strong enough to override all other ideas and be proof against all changes of time and different men's fancies; alive enough to develop ringing from small beginnings to a complete art. Such an idea must have its foundations in some great principle of natural law, and by studying it we are most likely to find the solution we are seeking.

Originally ringing was what it still is in France and other countries—the more or less promiscuous sounding of bells without much regard for either time or tune. From this it developed into a kind of sport, the attraction of the sport consisting in the strength and skill required to ring bells 'up' with faulty and imperfect hangings. This naturally produced round ringing. Then there came a time when, in different parts of the country, men said to each other, in so many words, 'Let us have some variety. Change places with me.' And directly that was said, change ringing, with all its possibilities and all its limitations, was born. The idea is the idea of movement of the bells, and from that springs logically and inevitably everything there is in ringing. For directly you have got this idea of movement, you bring into play certain mathematical laws which take charge, and, whether you will or no, direct which way development must take place.

I would strongly advise people to study what Stedman has to say about early ringing and how clear it is that this idea did actually, as a matter of historical fact, and not merely of reasonable conjecture, create and develop ringing. Then think out things and see how it accounts for practically everything we have in ringing. Why, for instance, should not a bell which has struck at one row in second's strike the next in fourth's? It is not because at some time or other ringers drew up some 'rules for the game.' It is simply because it is contrary to the idea of movement for anything to pass from one position to another except by a connected path.

And now, having got this idea of movement as the essential thing in ringing, we can begin to see what is the cause of that instinct which makes a practical ringer say, 'I know quite well that Bob Major is an extension of Bob Minor, and Double Norwich Caters of Double Norwich Major, though I may not be able to argue about it.'

We all of us know, for practical purposes, what the extension of movement is. It is simply going on in the same direction for a longer space. To hunt from behind to before in Major is the extension of hunting from behind to before in Minor. But if you add twists and turns, that is not extension but adding something fresh. And so, if we were concerned solely with the movement of one bell only, the problem of extension would be a simple one. As it is, we have to extend the movement of all the bells, and they must be all alike and all fit one into another. How that can be done, and how that can not be done will appear when we study the mathematical laws which can control the movement.

SHIPWAY AND SUPERLATIVE.

DOES MR. TROLLOPE'S THEORY BREAK DOWN?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Those of your readers who study the art in anything more than the purely practical side of ringing must have had their interest in method extension renewed by the articles now appearing from Mr. J. A. Trollope and the Rev. H. Law James. Personally, I am following them with a lively anticipation, because I now hope to get a reply to the questions which I addressed to the latter through your columns on August 12th and September 9th.

Mr. Trollope, in his article last week, pins a good deal of faith to Shipway's theories, and, without actually committing himself, obviously means us to understand that in retaining in Superlative Royal third's and sixth's places at the second change (as in the Major), Shipway was right, if we accept (as everyone does) that in Oxford Treble Bob Major we must retain 3rd's and 4th's as in the Minor.

It is the principle which Mr. Law James adopts, at the second change, in his extension of Shipway's Royal to Maximus. But if that is sound reasoning, why did Shipway at the 4th change in the Royal make 6th's place, instead of 4th's as in the Major; and why do both Shipway and Mr. James make 8th's place in the Royal and Maximus respectively, at the 8th change, when in the Major 6th's place is made? I use the terms '2nd,' '4th,' and '8th' change, because Mr. Trollope speaks of the second change. But in these days of lead-heads instead of lead-ends, should it not have been the third change and the others, correspondingly, the 5th and 9th.

Mr. Trollope asks us to test theories and see for ourselves. Under the above applied test, Mr. Trollope's suggested theory apparently breaks down entirely, unless you are going to have one test for one row, and a different test for another row.

Would it not be somewhere near the fact if we said that what Shipway did was, when he found Superlative Major would not extend to Royal with the symmetry of some of the other methods, just to juggle with the figures to get the nearest thing he could on ten bells, and, having got something with a certain amount of similarity to the Major, called it 'Superlative Surprise Royal'? Shipway may never have seen Superlative extended to twelve bells; if he did I do not think there is any present evidence of it. But had he seen the method run at Ipswich I feel quite certain he would have had no hesitation in calling it Superlative without any qualification or equivocation.

Shipway doubtless knew a good deal about methods—as much as any man in his day—but I doubt if he approached method extension with anything but some broad general ideas. Personally, I have not the slightest doubt that he constructed his Superlative Royal in precisely the same way that Mr. Law James constructed it in your issue of December 24th, 1926, when he went from change to change, trying each possible row to see which, in the end, would give him a workable method most nearly approximating to the Major and producing the correct lead-end (in these days, had he been living, he would, of course, have looked for the lead-head). Shipway did his best, but why try to attribute to him a knowledge which he probably did not possess, and an experience which needed nearly another century to mature?—Yours faithfully,

A PLAIN RINGER.

UNVEILING AND DEDICATION OF PEAL BOARDS.

Three peal boards and a memorial tablet were unveiled by Mrs. Goode and dedicated by the Vicar (Rev. W. Goode) at Tettenhall, Staffordshire, on Saturday, December 10th.

There was a bright and pleasant service, at which the Vicar gave a very inspiring address on the use of bells in the service of God. After the service, about 45 ringers and friends met for tea in the Parish Hall, and were welcomed by the Vicar's warden, Major Foster, who said how pleased he was to see so many interested in the bells of Tettenhall. After tea, ringing was indulged in in various methods from Grandfire to London Surprise, and a pleasant evening was passed.

The first peal on the bells is recorded, this being Bob Minor, when there were six bells in the tower in 1809, and the first of Grandfire Triples when they were augmented to eight in 1911, on one of the boards. Another board records the first peal of Grandfire Triples, the first of Stedman Triples, and the first of Bob Major after the bells were recast and rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1923. The third board records a peal of Grandfire Triples by all ex-Service men, familiarly known as the 'Soldiers' Jolly.' Last, but not least, is a memorial tablet to the memory of Mr. Benjamin Dalton, who rendered faithful service as a ringer for well over 30 years, and this will have the place of honour in the belfry.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.A RECORD BRANCH MEETING.

The North Dorset Branch, which was formed only three years ago, scored what was probably a record in attendance at branch meetings, when 103 members were present at Sherborne for the annual meeting held on Saturday, December 10th. Full advantage was taken of the opportunity to ring on the grand old peal in the abbey tower, with its 46 cwt. tenor, the gift of Cardinal Wolsey. The Guild office was conducted by the Vicar (Canon S. H. Wingfield Digby), who also delivered a very earnest and impressive address. The service was fully choral, and a carol was sung by the choir. The Master of the Guild, Rev. R. H. Gundry, read the lesson and gave the Blessing.

Tea was provided for the large gathering in the Church Lads' Brigade Hall, and the business meeting followed.

The hon. secretary, Rev. R. E. P. Gorrings, presented a balance sheet showing a very satisfactory state of affairs, and he created general amusement by stating that every tower in the branch had paid its subscription except Shroton, where the Master of the Guild is Rector.

'I have it here in my pocket!' exclaimed Mr. Gundry, and while the company enjoyed a good laugh, the missing subscription was duly handed over.

Mr. Gundry was re-elected chairman of the branch, and Mr. Gorrings secretary, with the Rev. A. Nedham as assistant secretary. Mr. Gorrings appealed to belfry correspondents to lighten the secretarial work by a prompt reply to the annual request for members' names and subscriptions. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Blandford.

Several touches of Grandsire and Stedman were brought round on the abbey bells. The five-bell towers of Lillington, Bishop's Caundle and Lydlinch were also open for ringing. Of this last, William Barnes, the Dorset poet, wrote long ago:

'Lydlinch bells be good vor zound,' and the mellow tone of the five old bells proved the poet's words to be fully justified. Visiting ringers also concluded that the men of Lydlinch must be veritable 'sons of Anak,' for the sallies of the bell-ropes scarcely came within seven feet of the floor! The following variant of a familiar theme is displayed on a board in the belfry, and is of special interest as being dated and issued with the authority of the churchwardens:—

'Put off your hats and belts and spurs,
And when you ring make no demurs.
Sound out the bells well, if you can:
Silence is best for every man.
But if a bell you overthrow,
Sixpence unto the clerk you owe.

'John Hopkins and John Young, churchwardens, 1746.'

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Doncaster on Saturday, December 17th, when members were present from Conisborough, Tickhill, Wortley, Thorne, Arksey, Barnsley, Ecclesfield, St. Marie's, Sheffield, Sproborough and Worksop. A short business meeting was held in the ringing chamber, Mr. G. Halksworth (Ringing Master) being in the chair. Three new members were elected, viz., Messrs. A. Pashley (Treeton), G. Howe (Tickhill) and C. Holmes (Doncaster).

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the division at Tickhill on March 17th.

Votes of thanks to the Archdeacon of Doncaster and the churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company, were passed.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Beverley on Saturday, December 10th, when representatives were present from Hemingbrough, Hull, Kirkella, Market Weighton, Selby, Wortley, and the local towers.

A short service was held in the choir of the Minster, the address being given by the Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Rigg, D.D. In the unavoidable absence of the Minster organist, the accompaniment to the hymns was played by one of the association's members, Mr. A. H. Fox, who is organist of Kirkella.

Tea was afterwards served in the Minster Parish Room, in which some 28 members participated.

The business meeting followed, the chair being occupied by the Vicar, in the absence of the vice-president, Mr. F. Cryer, Selby. It was agreed that the annual meeting be held at Gole in March, 1928.

On the motion of Mr. J. H. Howell (Hull), a unanimous hearty vote of thanks was recorded the Vicar for the use of the fine peal of 10 bells, the service and address, also to the ladies for serving tea, and to Mr. W. Gibson for the efficient arrangements. The Vicar briefly replied, and this closed another small but happy and enjoyable meeting.

'OPEN' VERSUS 'CLOSED' LEADS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—On reading the report of the meeting held at Sutton-on-Trent, in the issue of 'The Ringing World' of December 16th, I notice that a discussion took place on 'open' or 'closed' leads, in which three gentlemen took part, and it states it was hoped some good may result from it. No doubt many besides myself are wondering whether the debate ended in favour of the open lead or no lead at all.

I have noticed myself that much better striking is given with an open lead on six bells than with a closed one. Most of the bad striking in change ringing, in my humble opinion, is due to bad leading, and I hope our Notts friends will decide in favour of the open lead at handstroke.—Yours truly,

INTERESTED.

FAIRFORD BELLS RECAST.

Another fine peal of eight bells in E natural was rededicated on Saturday, December 10th, at St. Mary's Church, Fairford, Glos. The work of recasting and hanging with new fittings and ball bearings has been successfully carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

After the rededication, which was conducted by the Archdeacon of Cheltenham, the bells were raised in peal, and two courses of Grandsire Triples were rung by the local band: G. Law 1, O. G. Farmer 2, B. Gury 3, G. J. Winter 4, H. A. Cock 5, J. Hope (conductor) 6, J. Smith 7, E. Gardener 8.

After the service, ringing in the following methods was much enjoyed: Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Doubles, everyone being satisfied with the 'go' and tone of the bells.

The following towers were represented: Cirencester, Northleach, Down Ampney, Maisey Hampton, South Cerney, Stroud, Coln St. Aldwyns, Minchinhampton, Faringdon, Burford, Wootton Bassett, Swindon, Bampton, Witney, Lechlade, Aldbourne, Oxford and Stratton, St. Margaret's. The members were pleased to have the company of the Association Master (the Rev. C. D. P. Davies), also Mr. J. P. Fidler, Messrs. John Taylor and Co.'s representative. Tea was kindly provided at the Home Cafe by the Vicar (Rev. Canon R. C. S. Jones) for all ringers, and over 50 were present.

EXETER.—On Wednesday, December 14th, for Confirmation service by the Rev. the Bishop of Crediton, at the Parish Church of St. David, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 46 mins. by the following members of St. David's Society: S. J. Hopkins 1, F. J. Davey 2, F. Gardner 3, C. Carter 4, J. Oke 5, G. Luxton 6, W. Lethbridge (conductor) 7, W. Bewes 8.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

The passing of the Old Year brings a parting of the ways, and a new start with new hopes and new aspirations. New resolutions are always plentiful at this time, although it is notorious that many of them are all too soon forgotten. There is plenty of room, among ringers, for new resolutions — good resolutions which should not be allowed quickly to evaporate, but which should be well kept. There is, for instance, a great deal of apathy from which a large number of ringers might with advantage part company at this moment—indifference which is holding in check the progress of others, and in many cases actually 'putting the clock back.' There can be few things in which so much depends upon each one member of a team as in ringing. One apathetic individual can and frequently does prevent the advance of seven other men, and it often has the even worse effect of causing them to lose interest and eventually breaking up of what was once a promising band. This is a good time for such a ringer either to part company with his apathy or for the band to part company with him. It is a time for good resolutions, and, on the part of a band of ringers thus afflicted, time for a little courageous determination. Apathy is a bad form of disloyalty, and a man who is not loyal to his own colleagues is better outside a band than in it. At all events, without him, the other members of the belfry do know where they are, whereas, depending on a broken reed, their position is always uncertain.

This present time is also an opportunity for a 'parting of the ways' in another respect. In many places ringers are content to go on ringing the same methods that they have practised for years; they have got into a groove from which nothing has moved them. Let there be 'good resolutions,' made and kept, that there shall be progress in the coming year. Let the band that rings only Grandsire determine to master Stedman; let those who can ring only Plain Bob go on to Double Norwich and kindred methods; let those who are content to stick at Treble Bob resolve to advance into the sphere of Surprise ringing. If only this spirit could be inculcated everywhere what great progress would be made! And it is not beyond the realms of possibility. Ringers to-day do not labour under the difficulties which beset our forefathers. The accumulated knowledge of nearly three centuries of change ringing is at their command; there is ever ready help for all those who will seek it; and books, which will assist a ringer many stages on his campanological career, can be had for a shilling or two. There is really no excuse in these days for the man who is content to 'stick-in-the-mud,' but all the labour of others to help him will be of no avail unless he determines to help himself. This is the parting of the ways, the time to kick off the trammels of apathy and self-complacency; to set out with a new spirit of that loyalty to one's colleagues, and to one's association which is called for among men who profess membership of a brotherhood like the ringing Exercise; and with a determination also to make progress in one of the most alluring arts to which a man can set his hand.

A SUSSEX RINGER'S DEATH

MR. GEORGE PENFOLD, OF PEVENSEY.

By the death of Mr. George Penfold, of Pevensey, on December 17th, the Sussex Association has lost an old and respected member, and Pevensey one of its most valued inhabitants. Mr. Penfold had been in failing health for some time past, but he had been confined to his bed for only a few days before he died.

The late Mr. Penfold, who was 66 years of age, was born at Horsham. His education commenced at the Church School, Horsham, and later he went to Richard Collyer's School, now known as the West Sussex Secondary School. He continued his studies and was appointed a pupil teacher at St. Mark's Boys' School, Horsham, where he remained for about five years, after which he was appointed assistant teacher at Arundel School. He was the headmaster of the boys' department when he left some 34 years ago to take up the appointment of headmaster of the school at Pevensey, which position he held until he retired on pension in December, 1922. During that period he gave most of his leisure time ungrudgingly to the service of the parish. For many years he was clerk to the Parish Council, an overseer of the poor and the churchwarden of the Parish Church. After his retirement from scholastic duties, he was elected to serve on the Eastbourne Rural District Council and also the Eastbourne Board of Guardians.

Mr. Penfold was known throughout Sussex as an enthusiastic ringer, and, although he had only six bells in his own Parish Church, he constantly made the journey to Eastbourne for eight-bell ringing. In his own tower he revived change ringing, and for over twenty years was captain.

There was a large and representative gathering at the funeral, which took place on Tuesday week, the public bodies with which Mr. Penfold was connected being represented, as well as all classes of the parishioners. The Sussex County Association was represented by Messrs. W. D. Smith, A. Piper and E. Bray.

The service was choral and was conducted by the Rev. A. A. Evans (Vicar of East Dean and a member of the Board of Guardians and R.D.C.), assisted by the Rev. G. M. Hutton, Vicar of Pevensey. The hymns, 'Our Blest Redeemer' and 'O strength and stay upholding all creations,' were sung, and also a Psalm.

The late Mr. Penfold was buried in the same grave as his wife, who died in July, 1914. The coffin was lowered into the grave on ropes taken from the belfry.

BELLS, THEIR TONES AND TUNING.

AN HISTORICAL SKETCH.

BY E. ALEX. YOUNG.

With the opening of the nineteenth century, bells and their history at last received full attention. Many papers and works were devoted to the subject by archaeologists and antiquaries, and definite reference also to bell-tones begins to appear with the researches and experiments of Lord Grimthorpe (1817-1902). He was the first, certainly in this country, to publish any definite instructions upon the proper weights, thicknesses and shapes of bells, and also to refer to their notes, but in respect to the latter he admitted that he had not himself a musical ear. It was not usual for Grimthorpe to admit himself wanting in any knowledge dealing with bells, for he was almost equally as well known as a controversialist on this and other subjects, as he was deservedly famous as the inventor of the gravity escapement and the Westminster clock. To him, however, we owe an increase in the scale of thicknesses, which was a reaction from certain very thin bells, where a boastful depth of note is obtained by sacrificing the quality of tone, there being unfortunately many such bells, especially in America. In addition to being largely responsible for the Westminster clock bells, Grimthorpe designed the bells of Worcester Cathedral, St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, and also Doncaster,† of which latter bells he was very proud, though they had a certain hardness of tone which always characterises over-thick bells. His best effort, however, seems to have been the peal of 12 at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, cast to his specification by Taylors. This is undoubtedly a fine peal, as even Grimthorpe himself admitted, though somewhat grudgingly, for it appears that the founders took the liberty to vary slightly from his prescribed thick scale. A slight thickening in the case of this peal was probably an advantage, considering its weight (tenor 62½ cwt. B flat), and great height of 120ft. above the pavement. It is also noticeable that the famous Bow bells are relatively somewhat thick in scale, tenor 52 cwt. in C (a little flat).

With the close of the nineteenth century came the first challenge to the old standard tuning. In 1895-6 the Rev. Canon A. B. Simpson, M.A., Rector of Fittleworth, Sussex, in articles contributed to the 'Pall Mall Magazine,' gave his convictions, 'as a result of twenty years' study of bell-tones'; and in 1897 he published 'Why bells sound out of tune, and how to cure them.' The booklet, one of 40 pages, is most interesting, and with the exception of a few remarks made by the Rev. H. R. Haweiss, and an article by Lord Rayleigh 'on tones of bells,'* was the first attempt to analyse bell-tones. Canon Simpson practically reverted to the medieval bells with their octave hum-notes, and explains in his work how for over 20 years he had been investigating these tones with the aid of tuning forks. This method (that of sympathetic vibration) applied to tuning is that now generally relied upon in modern foundry practice, where formerly tuning was done by a skilled operative working by ear alone. Whatever differences of opinion there may be as to the musical quality of 'Simpson's' bells, we must all admit that the Canon's discovery of the use of tuning forks for checking and locating the notes and tones of bells was a great and pronounced advance. It gave to every bellfounder a common basis in endeavouring to attain perfect tuning, and to a great extent made them less reliant upon the services of a few highly practised tuners, whom nature had endowed with a very sensitive and very musical ear. In his work, Canon Simpson gives a diagram showing where he considered the principal tones are located, and how the bell should be turned or filed in order to control them.

It is rather apparent that the first appeal, for what was to be the new tuning, fell somewhat flat; this was certainly so as far as the bellfounders were concerned, though in public circles the Canon received much praise and commendation. He himself says: 'Bellfounders do not care to take any more trouble than is necessary to satisfy the public.' He further stated that his object was 'to move the public to move the founders.' But he did not neglect, however, to press his views upon the various founders and endeavour to move first one and then another of them by personal persuasion. One can readily feel that he was at first none too welcome, where the memory of Grimthorpe still lingered; for here was yet another who claimed that he was right and they, with generations of experience, all wrong. In the end, however, it was left for Messrs. Taylor to be the first converts to the new style, and the first 'Simpson' peal was installed at Norton, Derbyshire, by them in 1896 (a 'ring' of eight, with tenor of 16 cwt.). They followed next year with no less than eight peals, including St. Patrick's, Dublin (45 cwt.), Heavitree, Exeter, Todmorden, etc. In 1898 came the new peal at Warrington, Devon, and Canon Simpson, in writing to the founders about these bells (a 'ring' of eight, 15 cwt.), said that he had found them to be in absolute harmony and perfect tune—the first and only peal of its kind in England.

It is interesting to note that the new scale, due to Simpson tuning, was a much lighter one. The pendulum again swings past the normal to the other side, and we are now still further removed from Lord Grimthorpe's heavy scale, but both he and Canon Simpson have some points in common. It should be observed that the former flourished in the heyday of the Gothic Revival, which, like the Oxford Movement, powerfully affected all matters to do with the Church, and the tendency was for current thought to throw back to the Middle Ages. Thus, as far as the arts and crafts were concerned, before Tudor times all was right, and after that period all wrong. A bold reformer, especially if he harked well back, was sure of a ready hearing. Grimthorpe enjoyed this advantage in the earlier days of the movement, and the Canon in its later days; the period of both also embraced a time when bells and ringing became again a matter of interest to the public. Both men, too, though they probably would have disagreed between themselves, were strongly convinced they were right, and, of course, the founders wrong. As to the founders themselves they probably were none too thankful to either. Here they were, within a few years, being first adjured to thicken their bells, and now to thin them again, for Simpson tuning generally means relatively thinner bells. The advocates for this last break with bellfounding tradition had, however, the gratification of a willing ear on the part of the public, who, looking upon the new 'Simpson' bell as being practically a medieval bell, was all in its favour, still more so if the claim were that an ancient bellfounding secret had been strangely rediscovered.

The early 'Simpson' peals, being a success, were rapidly followed by many others, notably those at Hull, Beverley, Loughborough, etc., all by Taylors, and, prior to 1900, with Edinburgh, Glasgow, Southampton, etc., after. In the present century, too, the output has been considerably augmented by the efforts of the Croydon Foundry, who have cast the peals at South Croydon, Rochester, Wimborne, etc., until to-day no town or district is far removed from the sound of a peal tuned on these lines, except in the extreme East and West of England. In respect of this latter statement, it is worthy of note that in those two parts, and also in London, are still to be found the greatest number of admittedly fine 'old standard' peals, and that in these places, therefore, the new system would naturally make slower headway.

Simpson tuning being thoroughly established, it only remains to deal with the inevitable reaction, in order to bring this short historical sketch down to the present time. It will be remembered that, owing largely to the strong views held by Lord Grimthorpe, the thickness scale of bells had been increased in some cases, and it is necessary to remark that with his death, or even before, the scale was no longer used. Doncaster bells were again recast, and, incidentally, upon the advent of Simpson tuning were once more recast. (Being such a sensitive peal, they perhaps await yet a further recasting at the hands of Fate, having already passed through the melting pot three times in less than a century!)

The next event in our historical survey is of remarkable interest, for it was a protest against both Grimthorpe's hard tones and the Canon's reversion to the medieval tones.

In 1897 Mr. T. C. Lewis published 'A protest against the modern development of musical tone.' Like the Canon's work, the booklet is small 8vo. of about 40 pages. Lewis in this deals also with church organs and pianofortes as well as church bells, for he was an expert in making all three, which strong combination makes his conclusions the more striking. It is unnecessary to refer to Lewis' record here, but he was undoubtedly a man who took great pains, and was gifted with a wonderfully true ear. His 'protest' need not be detailed in this historical sketch, but it inveighed, singularly enough, against both of the variations from the accepted traditions of bellfounding referred to before, and upheld what is called here the 'old standard.' Lewis' conclusions were based, as he says, upon the judgment of his ear and his experience as a founder,† and as no one questions but that he had a fine musical ear, if the bellfounders had wanted a ready-made ally, here indeed was one.

Lewis did not long survive the publication of his 'Protest,' and, the firm having given up casting, there was neither necessity for nor interest in further pressing his views regarding bells. The work, too, was practically issued for private circulation only. It is not surprising, therefore, that it is now almost unknown, and that where a hundred ringers may know of Canon Simpson's work, perhaps not one will have heard of this 'Protest' by Lewis.

It took several years for the Simpson tuned peals to evoke much criticism, but it was at last awakened by their demonstrating their own defects—a tendency to 'howl,' an over-booming of the bigger bells, and, on the part of the lighter ones, a certain over-sweetness (called 'sugary' by one writer), and altogether the exhibition of a nasal or brassy character of tone when the 'ring' is going in changes. The ringing Exercise could not be expected to have Lewis' fine ear, and they were under the spell of the Simpsonian's favourite 'slogan' which easily carried the day, with its 'All bells in tune with themselves and with each other.' This statement, even if one were suspicious of catchwords, expressed something which seemed, and of course is, so desirable as to disarm criticism. To relate a personal experience, the writer—then a Simpsonian—purposely visited St. Mary's, Southampton, to ring upon the then recently installed and highly praised bells. A too lively anticipation probably enhanced the disappointment felt upon hearing them, and, on comparing notes from time to time afterwards with several foremost and well-known ringers, they expressed to him that they also had the gravest doubts as to Simpson tuning, but had been diffident as to expressing them. (Amongst these were the late John Carter and Edwin Horrex, both names well known in ringing circles.) The writer's experience, it is natural to assume, was that of many other ringers.

The Great War for a time nearly ended ringing, as it did entirely bellfounding. But with the advent of peace came a pronounced revival in founding, and this was largely stimulated, not only by the accumulated back work but by 'in memoriam' orders and by the zeal of the newly-appointed Church Councils.

As was only to be expected, the output of 'Simpson' peals became greater than ever, not only for the occasional new belfry but for the replacement and enlargement of existing 'rings,' the remarkable thing being the persistent melting down of these latter, largely or only for the very fact that they were not 'Simpson,' and this in great and increasing numbers. In the pages of 'The Ringing World' continual reference was made to the recasting 'upon the five-tone principle' of bells which bore the names of famous old founders—the Rudhalls in the West, Arnold, Osborne and Dobson in the East, Mot and Phelps of Whitechapel, the Penningtons and Purdues of the South. These, together with nameless old medieval bells, all joined in the melancholy procession to the melting pot, unsung and apparently unlamented. It is true, of course, that some of these were cracked and others were poor in tone, but most of them were bells of quality and many of fine tone. A little sorting out here and there, and retuning would have saved the loss of a number of fine 'rings' and left the Exercise the richer. The feeling of this loss, however, began at last to come home to many ringers, notably after the 'Simpsonising' by Taylor's of the always famous bells of St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, and, still worse, the unexpected loss of the St. Michael's, Coventry, bells, generally admitted by the Exercise to have been the finest ring of 10 ever cast.

The voice of the protestors at last became audible, for it was felt by many that the founders, with Simpsonism in the saddle, had taken the bit between their teeth and bolted, and that nothing could stay the rush.

The action in 1926 of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers in appearing officially as it did in the Consistory Court at Coventry, marked an epoch in the history of bell tones, for Simpson tuning found itself for the first time challenged on oath in open court. The bells were not saved, however, and their loss is undoubtedly one of the black pages in bell history, and it is remarkable that Canon Simpson himself should have been (indirectly it is true) responsible for the disappearance of what would always have been the very best witnesses against the adoption of his principle of tuning. This, however, is referred to elsewhere. At the following annual meeting of the same Council held at Ipswich, Simpson tuning was debated at length, the motion being at the instance of the writer, and, though the result was rather inconclusive, it was by no means a victory for Simpson tuning. A feature of outstanding interest was the contribution to its defence by three of the leading bellfounders.

There remains but one outstanding item in the progressive history of bell tones—i.e., the installation of the great 'ring' of 12 bells at York Minster, also in 1926. The interest lies in the fact that in ringing circles the word had gone around on Simpsonian behalf of 'wait till you hear York.' This heavy ring, cast at Messrs. Taylor's Foundry, were to be the last word and the complete vindication of the 'five-tone' principle. They had appealed to Caesar. The opening, or rather dedication, was not only a solemn but made also a great public function. The writer, who was present, was certainly impressed with the volume and roar of sound when the mighty peal burst forth, but it was apparent at once that the 'ring' had all the usual drawbacks inherent in those cast upon 'Simpson' lines. The appeal has been made, and so far as the writer's opinion is of worth, the response is that Taylor's have cast probably the finest heavy peal possible on Simpson lines, but that they are less successful than in their great peal at St. Paul's, London, one of about the same weight and key. The writer is convinced that the judgment of most of those with a musical ear can with safety be relied upon, if they will listen alternately to these two great peals; but let them finish with St. Paul's and they will most probably join with the writer in saying that the appeal is not only to Caesar but to Taylor—i.e., 'from Taylor of to-day to Taylor of yesterday.'

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

All movement can roughly be divided into two kinds—regular and irregular. By regular I mean that kind which is controlled by rule and which can be calculated. Such are the movements of the sun, earth and moon, which, vast as they are, are so certain that their relative positions can be stated at any time to within a second or two. In this way eclipses are foretold years before they occur. Irregular movement is that which is capricious and subject to no rule. For instance, you turn your dog out for a walk. In due time he comes back, and, during the interval, he has made movement, but you cannot tell, unless you have watched his every step, what that movement has been. The movement in ringing belongs to the first kind; it is regular and can be calculated. In some respects it is simpler than the movement of the earth; in some respects more complex. It is an abstract movement, not the movement of any material thing, but the movements of the celestial bodies are quite good analogies by which to judge it.

And all regular movement is of two kinds—open and closed. Open movement is movement which, although controlled by strict rule, never returns to the position from which it started. A straight line is an instance of this, and there are many sorts of curves which can be calculated to any extent but which never return to the position from which they started. Closed movement is that which, controlled by rule, returns sooner or later to its starting point. Ovals and ellipses are examples of this, and the most familiar of all is the circle. All movement in ringing is closed, regular movement.

If you will go into the tower and ring the treble to Bob Major you will perhaps best realise what I want to point out. This cyclical nature of the movement in ringing is by far the most important fact in the science of change ringing, and we shall find in it the key to most of our problems. In skeleton diagrams we usually represent the path of the treble in Bob Major by diagonal lines, with short, vertical lines for the places before and behind. It does not much matter how you represent it, provided it conveys what actually happens to your mind. When you are ringing, the cyclical nature of the path will strike you at once, and I do not suppose that anyone will be disposed to deny that the treble in Bob Major moves in a series of cycles.

The important thing is for us to realise that all movement in ringing equally consists of a series of cycles. This applies not merely to symmetrically constructed methods, but to everything, even to the crudest bit of stoney; and, if this be true, then clearly we have made a big step toward the solution of the problem of extension.

But you may suggest that if this is the most important fact in the science of ringing, it is rather remarkable that it has not been recognised by the many clever men the Exercise has produced during these three centuries. It would be remarkable if it had not been recognised. I think you may take it as a general truth that any discovery you may make of any general law in change ringing will turn out to be sound only when it is corroborated by the work and opinions of men who have gone before you. But it is extremely probable that they, working only at isolated problems, may not have seen the whole of the truth, but only that part of it which concerned them at the time. So here. I do not think that anyone has ever stated the cyclicity of movement as the one fundamental law of ringing, but it has many times been recognised in particular circumstances: by W. H. Thompson in his 'Law of the Q sets,' by H. Earle Bulwer in his 'Definition of a Round Block,' by the instinct of the Exercise which saw in Bob Major lead-ends something which no other lead-ends have or can have; by Stedman and the ancients in their plain changes and in the construction of early peals and methods and in many other ways.

So I am not now advancing anything really new. I am suggesting as a solution of the problem of extension a fact to which the experience of the Exercise bears witness, and which is capable of being tested by anyone. What is new is the application of this particular fact to this particular problem.

The fact is that all ringing consists of movement in a series of cycles. We must now see how these cycles can be joined up. And, first, let me make it clear that they are all of the same nature as the Hunting Course—i.e., the first lead of Plain Bob without second's place. That this is cyclical movement beyond all manner of doubt you can prove (where it best can be proved) in the tower.

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

DONCASTER.—On Christmas Day the St. George's Society rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins., for the morning service: C. Holmes 1, G. Halksworth 2, E. Baldwin 3, C. Clarke 4, J. Holmes 5, G. Jackson 6, H. Walker (conductor) 7, H. Baldwin 8. This is the first quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by the ringers of the treble, 3rd and 5th. The performance was repeated for the evening service, the same ringers taking part with the exception that W. Lloyd rang the fourth bell in place of C. Clarke, the time being 49 mins. This is the first occasion since pre-war days that two quarter-peals have been rung in one day at St. George's.

PORTSMOUTH.—On Christmas Day for evening service at St. Mary's, 1,092 Stedman Triples in 40 mins.: J. J. Symons 1, J. D. Harris 2, C. Groves 3, F. W. Rogers (conductor) 4, J. Paterson 5, E. J. Harding, jun., 6, E. J. Stone 7, J. Gates 8.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. MEMORIAL TO THE LATE VICE-PRESIDENT.

The following circular has been issued by the hon. secretary of the Winchester Guild:

'As most members will be aware, the late Rev. C. E. Matthews was connected with our Guild for over 40 years, and during this period did a great deal of work for the cause of ringing in both Hants and Surrey, and the wish has been expressed by a large number of our members for the Guild to erect some kind of a memorial as a token of appreciation and gratitude.

'Our late vice-president had contemplated restoring the bells at Milford-on-Sea (his last parish). There is £33 in the funds of the Guild earmarked for this purpose, and the committee feel that we can raise no more appropriate memorial than to be connected with this object.

'The Church Council have decided to have their old ring of five bells put in order and increased to eight, and already have the promise of one new bell, and the scheme that the committee recommend is that we, as a Guild, should offer a name bell as a memorial.

'The estimated cost will be about £70; with the £33 in hand, this leaves a sum of about £37 to be raised, and on behalf of the committee I earnestly appeal to all our members for funds. We hope to have the names of all members to show how complete is our appreciation of Mr. Matthews' work.'

All collecting letters should be returned on or before February 1st, 1928, together with subscriptions, to Mr. G. Pullinger, hon. secretary, 17, Stoke Park Road, Bishopstoke, Hants.

LECTURE ON BELLS.

On Wednesday evening, December 7th, at Holy Trinity Parochial Hall, Norwich, Mr. J. E. Duffield, G.I.Mech.E., the leader of the St. Peter Mancroft Ringers' Guild, gave an interesting lecture on 'Bells and Bellringing.' Messrs. John Taylor and Co., the famous bell-founders, of Loughborough, loaned a model of a bell in its frame and a number of excellent lantern slides for the occasion.

Mr. Duffield showed himself a master of his subject, both in theory and practice, and illustrations of the science of change ringing were given by handbell 'touches' of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major by four of the Mancroft ringers, including the lecturer.

Refreshments were provided during the evening by a ladies' committee of the Holy Trinity Men's Fellowship. The Rector of Holy Trinity expressed his gratitude to the Mancroft ringers for the hospitality of their tower, which he often enjoyed.

The Rector, Rev. Roger Bulstrode, is a member of the committee of the Norfolk Guild, and at Holy Trinity there are eight tubular bells.

ROYAL METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—There are two short-circuiting lead-heads in Bob Royal, the third and fifth, either of which can produce a bogus plain course of three leads only. This phenomenon deals Double Court Royal a severe blow.

BELLITIS.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

TO-MORROW'S INAUGURATION.

Representatives of a number of neighbouring associations are expected to attend the inauguration of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, at Guildford, to-morrow, to show their goodwill towards the 'infant' of the Exercise.

The youngster is likely to be a sturdy one, for all the indications have been that a new interest has been stirred among the towers in the diocese. As an example of this may be mentioned the case of three six-bell towers, which were not previously connected with the Winchester Guild. Between them they have brought in 30 ringing members. This is only one of numerous indications that ringing in this area will receive a new impetus, and that the time was ripe for an organisation which could get into more intimate touch with the towers than was possible under the old regime.

The Lord Bishop of the diocese is to be president of the new Guild, and after his formal election will give an inaugural address. He will also preach at the special service in the cathedral church, which will follow the business meeting.

An interesting feature of the organisation of the Guild is a scheme under which the churches, with rings of bells, will be affiliated to the Guild by payment through the incumbent or Parochial Church Council of an annual fee of 5s. The ringing member's subscription will be 2s. annually, and hon. member's a minimum of 2s. 6d. The area will be divided into four districts, and these districts will retain for their own purposes 50 per cent. of the ringing and hon. members' subscriptions, provision being also made under rules to meet any deficiency which may occur, or, on the other hand, to call on the districts to help the central fund should that be necessary.

There are two points about the Guildford Diocesan Guild's area which distinguish it from the territory of many similar organisations. It contains a comparatively small number of towers—56 in all, and its area is compact. Therefore it ought to be worked much more easily than some of the wide-scattered diocesan and county associations. But that does not mean there is little work to be done. There is ample scope for all the energies which its members can put into it, and it will enter upon its task with the best wishes of all the kindred organisations in the country.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. C. F. Andrews and S. J. Hector have for some time been making a weekly journey from Trowbridge to Bristol to practise Cambridge Surprise. Their efforts have now been rewarded by their first peal in the method, rung at Clifton. Some of the apathetic ones who want their ringing brought to them may take an example from this, for this has involved a 40-mile journey each time.

The 'fathers and sons' peal attempt at Shoreditch on Saturday week came to an untimely end when a rope broke after 2 hrs. 10 mins.' good ringing.

An interesting article on the new Princeton, U.S.A., carillon, which was installed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, appeared in the issue of the 'Christian Science Monitor,' of Boston, Mass., recently, and the accompanying illustration shows the fine, pinnacled tower, standing up amid picturesque surroundings. The carillon of 35 bells was given to the university by the class of 1892.

Ten years ago next Wednesday Alfred W. Grimes died. Alf. Grimes, than whom there was no more likeable ringer, rose to fame very quickly and held the unique record of having rung 250 peals in two years.

It is said that the Lord does not temper the wind to the shorn lamb in Jutland, or else 'Uncle Joe' is no longer a lamb. We hear that he contemplates a trip to Spitzbergen to thaw out.

The first time the bells were raised at St. Peter's, Nottingham, after the hanging had been finished, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on them. This was on the last day of the year 1771.

Sixty years ago to-day, 6,720 Cumberland Exercise Major was rung at Liversedge, Yorks, and we believe that that is still the longest peal in the method.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild has to its credit two long peals rung on the last day of the year. It was on December 31st, 1888, that the 15,041 Stedman Caters was rung at Appleton, and on the same day in 1892 that the 12,096 Double Norwich was scored at Maidenhead.

January 1st provides a number of interesting anniversaries, but probably none more interesting than that of a peal rung on the opening day of 1793, when James Barham, of Leeds, Kent, then getting advanced in years, rang his 100th peal in company with a band whose united ages totalled 582 years.

On January 1st, 1776, 8,046 Grandsire Caters was conducted by W. D. Crofts at St. Mary's, Nottingham; and on New Year's Day, 1858, 10,270 in the same method was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne.

A peal of 14,480 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham, on January 4th, 1784, but this, of course, was far from being a record, although it may have been considered by the band at the time to have been the longest length. In 1737, a 15,120 had been rung at West Ham.

On Thursday week Mr. James George turned the 'tenor' in at Loughborough Bell Foundry to the quickest tower bell peal yet rung, viz., 114 minutes. Is there no limit to this 'young' man's ambitions?

The peal rung at Orston on December 3rd should have been credited to the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and not to the Midland Counties Association.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual report of the Lancashire Association has just been issued, and shows a membership of 1,543, made up of 77 honorary life members, 15 honorary members, 13 non-resident life members, 223 non-resident members, and 1,215 ringing members, 15 non-resident members, 129 ringing members having been elected during the year, and 31 names removed from the list. The financial position is reported to be again satisfactory, as the year's working shows a gain of £5 5s. 3jd. 267 ls. was received in subscriptions, the total income being £74 3s. 5d.

The number of peals (from September, 1926, to August, 1927) was 130—a record for the association, and the variety of the methods rung was the best accomplished, showing that the interest of the members is being well maintained. An interesting feature was the increase in the number of peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters. Congratulations are offered to bands upon some of the outstanding performances, including the jubilee peal at Blackburn Cathedral by officers of the association, Ipswich Surprise Major at Newchurch (the first over rung), and Cambridge Surprise Royal at Liverpool (the first of Surprise Royal by the Association). Congratulations are also extended to the ringers concerned in the record length of 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major at Bolton, and the Treble Bob record of 17,824 of Oxford at Heptonstall. During the year under review, 45 members rang their first peal, 139 their first in some particular method, and five members joined the ranks of the conductors.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

This is the twentieth of the series of articles which have been specially written for beginners by 'Minormania,' to explain to them the theory of change ringing. These articles are not merely for perusal. If they are to serve the purpose for which they are intended they must be studied.

The 'bob action' is not so apparent, because three bells are altered in the coursing order, but we may be able to see what happens if we travel upon similar lines. Turn the plain lead of Bob Major into a bobbed lead by making fourth's place only, when the treble is on the front, and examine the three 'front' bells which are altered by the call:—

Plain Lead.	Bobbed Lead.	Coursing Order.
3 5 1 7 - 2 8 4 6	3 5 1 7 - 2 8 4 6
8 . 5 2 -	3 . 5 2 -	Principle-2-4687-5312
1 3 2 5 - 4 7 6 8	1 3 2 5 - 4 7 6 8
1 3 5 2 -	1 2 3 5 -	Plain Lead-32-4687-5132
3 . 2 5 - 4 7 6 8	2 . 5 3 - 4 7 6 8
3 2 . . 5 . . .	2 5 . . 3 . . .	Bob Lead-25-4687-3125

Notice that '4768' are undisturbed in the rows and in the coursing order; also observe that the treble 'moves up' in the usual way, but NOT at the expense of her COURSE BELL. Three bells ('312') all move up at the expense of the 5. Then we assume that ANY BELL making fourth's place while ANOTHER LEADS may be expected to produce a similar effect upon the coursing order.

I have endeavoured to show a few of the relationships between the action of bells in the rows and their order of coursing, and the purpose of these notes has been to impress upon the mind this fact, viz., that any action within the leads, which causes bells other than the treble and its coursing fellow to be disturbed, must be omitted, or, at least, corrected before the lead-ends, if the Bob Major coursing order is to be preserved in the lead-heads of the plain course, and we have found at least one particular reason why this should prove to be most advantageous. I must ask the reader, if he is interested, to search for himself, and to observe how these, and other disturbing actions, are made and corrected in the leads of various methods.

All that has been said here applies to the Plain Hunt Principle, and there are other principles upon which methods may be based. The Treble Bob Principle, for instance, may be produced thus: No place, none again, and again; then 1st's and 8th's. Repeated systematically until rounds turns up at the treble's whole pull on the front:—

When you have produced this principle, wherein every bell has a 'treble bob' (or dodging) hunt, compare it with a lead of Kent Treble Bob Major, and then with a lead of Oxford Treble Bob, and observe how the repetition rows in the principle are avoided, and how the disturbing actions are corrected. Then compare Superlative Surprise Major with your principle, and see if you can trace any of the plain hunt 'actions' therein. Compare the coursing order of the rows in this principle with that of the Plain Hunt Principle, and observe the difference, if any.

METHOD ANALYSIS.

We have found that by the introduction of certain 'actions' into our principle we construct various methods and produce certain lead-ends, which are governed by the number and class of the 'actions' inserted, and we have examined these lead-ends in detail, only so far as they are affected by 'plain actions.' We also know that actions other than those we have called 'plain actions' will disturb the coursing order of bells other than the treble and her coursing fellow, thus producing lead-ends that differ from those which are the result of the transposition of rounds by 13527486 so many times.

It follows that we can take a method, and, by analysis, are able to determine the 'actions' that have been introduced into the principle in the course of the method's construction, and with what results upon the lead-end of our principle. If an action affects the coursing order which in turn governs the lead-end, then examination of a lead-end produced is a means of pointing to certain actions.

Before proceeding with the subject, let us endeavour fully to appreciate the value of transposition as a saver of labour and time. Our study of this has been limited to transposition from, and back to, ROUNDS; but it should clearly be understood that transposition from any one row to another will be duplicated in any other two rows, provided the same paths are travelled by the bells; or, alternatively put, provided the same pairs be changed and the same places be made between the rows in question.

Then 13527486 will become 15738264.
And if 13527486 becomes 15738264,
Then 15738264 will become 17853421.
and so on. It will be observed that this is the reverse of the way in which we 'transpose back to lead-heads.'

Then, given any two rows as an example of transposition, which we will call A and B, we can find row D, when row C is substituted for row A, by the method given above, without pricking the rows in between. Place A and B side by side, and under A place C. Then fill in D by reading the pairs downwards in A-C.

For example, row 8 in the T.B. principle is 42618375, and row 16 is 86745231. What would row 16 be if 26417853 were substituted in place of row 8?

If (A) 42618375 produces (B) 86745231 by certain transposition, Then (C) 26417853 will produce (D) 74523681 similarly. ABC are written down as directed, and D is filled in from AC afterwards.

The following is the reverse of this, being our 'transposition back to lead-heads':—

If 74523681 comes from 26417853 by certain transposition, Then 86745231 will come from 42618375 similarly.

Or:

If 86745231 comes from lead-head 12345678 by transposition,

Then 74523681 comes from lead-head 16823457 similarly.

Then: 'To substitute a certain row for row No. 8 of principle, and transpose to row No. 16,' would mean that row No. 8 is 'A,' No. 16 is 'B,' the certain row is 'C,' and the transposition derived therefrom is 'D.'

With this firmly in mind, we can turn attention to the analysis of a method, and will choose for an example our lead of Superlative Surprise Major.

First produce the Treble Bob principle as before, by making no place three times, and then 1st's and 8th's places, etc., etc. Number the rows from 1/32, and divide them into eight divisions of four rows each, as shown in the Superlative example. Row No. 5 will be the head of the second division, thus:—

1. 12345678
2. 21436587
3. 12345678
4. 21436587

5. 24163857
- etc., etc.

After row No. 32, complete the operation by producing rounds as the 'lead-end' (or head of the next lead). Then observe: In every case the line is drawn between the two rows where 1st's and 8th's places are made, and the second of these two rows is the head of the next division; that there are three division lines in each half of the principle—those between rows 4/5, 8/9, and 12/13 in the one, and 20/21, 24/25 and 28/29 in the other; that three pairs of places are made in each half (at these lines), and that each half is a replica of the other in this respect. The centre line between rows 16/17 denotes the 'odd' pair of places upon which the principle turns, and which have the effect of placing different bells into the same pairs which change in the second half.

Notice that no place is made between any of the four rows which comprise each division, and therefore the same pairs change in each division, whether they be traced forwards, backwards, or both ways in comparison. Every division being a replica of the others, it follows that the division head rows are transpositions of one another. If 12345678 becomes 24163857, then this becomes 46281735 at the next division head, and so on. Also observe that the 'two-division' blocks (rows 1/8, 9/16, etc.) are likewise symmetrical when traced either way. In short, the symmetry of the principle is perfect.

While the symmetry is perfect when traced either way in the halves, yet, actually, they are the exact reverse of one another. The bells are hunting away from 'home' in the first half, and back again in the second, having turned at the centre line. Then a method which causes identical places to be made in both halves, when traced REVERSE ways, such as Superlative, may be considered to be symmetrical in the HALVES, and anything which applies to the one should pertain to the other. Therefore, we may concentrate upon one half of our method.

Notice that the head of the second half of the principle, row No. 17 (87654321), is the exact reverse of the rounds lead-end row. This row (No. 17) is known as the 'Back Change,' and is brought about by the 'odd' division line in the centre of the principle.

If the Plain Hunt Principle be divided similarly by drawing lines between the rows where the places are made, we shall have two rows in each division, and shall find that the division heads in both principles are identical. In fact, the Treble Bob Principle is really the Plain Hunt Principle, with each pair of rows repeated to cause the 'dodging hunts' of the bells.

To return to our method analysis. We shall notice that row No. 16 of Superlative is 86745231, which is identical with the corresponding row in the principle. Then the places made in Superlative, while differing from those made in principle, have had the same effect upon the half-block in the main. In other words, the coursing order of the principle has been disturbed and corrected by the Superlative 'places,' within the half-lead. In the second halves, being duplicates both in method and principle, the same thing has occurred. Therefore, the lead-end of the method should be identical with the principle, but we have included two 'plain actions' in the method—7th's place with the treble behind, and 2nd's place with the treble at lead, thus transposing rounds by 13527486 twice, and producing 15738264 as the lead-end proper. These 'plain actions' may be ignored for the moment, as we know exactly what their effect upon the coursing order and the lead-end will be, and, for the present, they have no bearing upon the method WITHIN the halves of the lead.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

FURTHER LIST OF DONATIONS.

The generous help which has been forthcoming from a considerable number of ringers for 'Irenæus Pistor,' as the result of our appeal, is only what one might have expected from a warm-hearted brotherhood like the ringing Exercise, and, gratifying as it has been, we hope there will be a still greater further response, because, while the immediate necessities of our stricken brother have been relieved, it must be remembered that his affliction is no temporary disability. Unfortunately the ophthalmic disease from which he is suffering is one which offers absolutely no possibility of cure, and 'Irenæus' is bravely facing the prospect of permanent blindness. It needs a great heart to do this, particularly when there are dear ones who suffer as the result of the incapacity of the breadwinner.

Last week we were able to announce that £10 had been sent to 'Irenæus' on Monday, the 19th. The sum remitted on Wednesday, the 21st, was £15, and we give below the list of further subscriptions received up to the time of going to press. On account of the holidays there has not been time to judge what response was made to our suggestion that a collection should be made in the belfries on Christmas Day. The first of these, however, had come to hand when this was written.

Now, what of 'Irenæus'? In acknowledging with grateful thanks the first remittance, he wrote, 'I am too full to express my gratitude. It is unusual for me to be stuck fast, but I am too full of emotion. Please thank the donors for me. Tell them how I appreciate their practical sympathy. I did not know I had so many friends; tell them I shall try to torment them again when I have got over their killing kindness.'

The second sum reached him on the 22nd inst., and he wrote: 'Yours of the 21st to hand with £15 enclosed. Really, we—my wife, child and self—are dumbfounded. We can't express our gratitude. I cannot understand how I merit this overwhelming kindness from my ringing friends. Never did I dream, when I wrote my rubbish, that I should sway such a multitude of friends. It's God's doing, not mine. Give them our sincerest thanks; tell them how we appreciate it; tell them anything for us—we can't! Give them my heartfelt thanks.'

In view of the many inquiries as to the identity of 'Irenæus,' we asked him to allow us to reveal it. He was already known to just a few members of the Exercise, and 'Irenæus' says, 'Tell them, by all means, who I am.' 'Irenæus,' then, is Mr. Alf. T. Baker, of 22, Hawthorn Road, Hillsborough, Sheffield, and formerly of Ilkeston, Derbyshire.

A CONTRAST.

'Nemo' writes: 'Words are not much in my line, but I feel that I must express my thanks to you for your priceless support in the appeal on behalf of our worthy brother, "Irenæus," also to our brothers in the Exercise, and, no doubt, sisters too, for their generous and speedy response, which does so much to confirm our faith in them and our art. As for "Irenæus," he is too full for words, for the kindness has touched him to the very core, and could you have seen him and his on the day I last wrote to you, and again seen them, as I saw them, two days ago, the difference would have made your hearts sing for very joy that the burden had been lightened. A load had been taken away, not only in the material sense of the word, but new life had been given, new hope and new faith had come, for, as God had given him so many friends, he would in his own good time show him the way whereby he could still be of further service to the cause he has at heart.'

'Later, when the shock of your kindness has subsided, he will express his own appreciation far better than I can ever hope to do, though with me the fact remains, that we are not only ringers of the bells in the House of God, but members of that great Christian brotherhood whose Head is Christ Himself, and as such we remain true to His principles, "Love one another."'

COLLEGE METHODS.
STRUCTURE AND EXTENSION.

All College methods are extensions of this four-and-twenty, and again we can extend by adding one bell in the hunt, or by adding a bell in the work. Ignoring the addition of a bell in the hunt, we shall see the extension quite easily by adding two bells in the work, and we get:—

Adding two bells at a time to the Minor, we get two extensions to Major, three to Royal and four to Maximus. In Royal, bells coming down from the back can all make 3rd's when they pass the treble, or 5th's or 7th's, and Maximus also 9th's.

Both Major extensions can be extended to Caters, and the three Royal extensions to Cinques by adding a bell in the hunt.

We have now dealt with Bob methods, Court methods, and College methods, and we are now in a position to combine them. The Major combinations are given in the collection of Major methods, and it would be a good thing if ringers who wish to understand these matters would study the methods in the Collection.*

PEAL TABLE DEDICATED.

A peal tablet of slate has been dedicated at Higham-on-the-Hill, which records two peals, the first peal on the bells at the tower restoration, and the other one to commemorate the hallowing of the new diocese of Leicester. The cost was raised by subscription, chiefly amongst the church officials. The tablet was the work of Mr. C. H. Webb, of Croft.

THE FOUNDATION OF LOUGHBOROUGH FOUNDRY. MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. JOHN TAYLOR, SEN.

An interesting ceremony took place in Loughborough Parish Church on Saturday, December 17th, when a memorial to the late Mr. John Taylor, sen., was unveiled. Mr. Taylor, who died 21 years ago, was born in 1827, and it was considered fitting that the memorial should be erected in the centenary year of his birth.

The memorial, which was given by the present members of the family, takes the form of a bronze plaque representing very faithfully, in bas-relief, the portrait of the founder of the famous Loughborough firm of bell founders. His and the firm's close relation to the art of bellringing made the occasion of special interest to the ringing fraternity, and the service was attended by between 40 and 50 members of the Midland Counties' Association. These came from a wide area, including Leicester, Nottingham, Derby, Luton, Bakewell, Kegworth, Croft, Sileby, and other places.

The memorial was unveiled by the Mayor (Councillor Alan Moss), and amongst others present at the service were Mr. E. Denison Taylor, Mr. O. J. Taylor, and Mrs. Pryce Taylor. The service was also attended by 14 employees of the firm who worked under the late Mr. Taylor.

At the opening of the service the Rector explained that the present position of the memorial was not permanent, and that it would be placed on the side of the tower, where it was hoped to have a kind of bellringers' chapel as a centre for the bellringing world.

The service included the Psalm, 'O, come, let us sing unto the Lord,' the hymn, 'Ring out, wild bells' (Tennyson), which the Rector observed was the only hymn written for bellringers, and 'Let saints on earth.'

The Mayor, having unveiled the plaque, it was dedicated by the Rector.

His Worship said, though not born in Loughborough, the whole of Mr. Taylor's work and life was carried on in the town, and Loughborough, as the town in which he attained such a pre-eminent position in his craft, had the right to claim him as a celebrated townsman. It was a privilege for him, as Mayor and representing the burgesses, to pay tribute to Mr. Taylor's memory. It was a privilege also because Mr. Taylor was a great friend of his father. Many times had he heard his father speak with gratitude of the sympathy and generous encouragement he received from Mr. Taylor just when it was particularly needed, and it was a joy to both of them that their early-formed friendship lasted unbroken throughout their lives. It must also be a privilege to his workmen to pay tribute to the memory of one whom they held in such great respect and affectionate regard. He was held in the same affection and regard by the bellringers, and by all who knew him. Mr. Taylor was not given to much public utterance, but by the grace of God the work of his hands could and did speak far and wide. In times of rejoicing they heard them give expression to joy and gladness, and when they walked through the valley, as all of them must, they heard the tolling of the bells. To the bellringers, who regarded with legitimate pride the grand specimens of his craft, this power of expressing feelings must appeal with special force.

Before the service a mixed band of ringers rang short touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters on the fine ring of bells at the Parish Church.

EARLY ASSOCIATIONS.

The visitors were afterwards entertained at tea in the Fearon Hall by Mr. E. D. Taylor. The Rector presided.

Mr. Taylor, acknowledging thanks for his hospitality, expressed his pleasure that so many friends had gathered to honour his father's memory. It might be a filial duty, but he always considered that his father was an outstanding figure in the history of bells, not only in England, but also of the world. Although his life's work would keep his memory fresh for centuries to come, he (the speaker) felt that some memorial of his father in the church which he loved so much would be apt and fitting.

The speaker referred to the association of his father and the Mayor's father, and the appropriate association of to-day. His firm claimed to be an old-established Loughborough family, but the birthplace of his father was a little village in Devon—Buckland Brewer, and there he set up his bell foundry. When the business was transferred to Loughborough, his father was but a lad, and was only 14 years of age when he took part in a peal of 5,040 changes on the ring of bells, then a peal of eight, in Loughborough Parish Church. Such a peal was considered to be much more of a feat in those days than it would be now. After giving particulars of the Parish Church bellringers' chamber, in which was recorded the feat above mentioned, he said, one of the ringers in 1842, Thomas Grundy, was the grandfather of the present vergier. It was rather singular that his (the speaker's) father never rang in another peal for over 40 years. This was in 1885, when he was 58 years of age, and took part in a 5,000 Grandsire Triples, with his (the speaker's) brother, John, as conductor. He rang the fourth bell, and the speaker the sixth. The first site chosen for the bell foundry was in Packhorse Lane, about the year 1840, and his father removed from there to the present site about 1859. Mr. Taylor made brief reference to 'Great Paul,' weighing nearly 17 tons; the Bourdon bell of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, which would, he supposed, be accounted the apogee, the great landmark, in his father's life's labour.

DALTON-IN-FURNESS BELLS.

OLD EIGHT AUGMENTED TO TEN.

The Bishop of Barrow, on Friday, December 16th, dedicated the recast bells of Dalton-in-Furness Parish Church at a memorable service. The old eight bells have been recast, and two new trebles added. There was a large and representative congregation, and many clergy were present.

The processional hymn was 'Praise my soul, the King of Heaven,' and there followed the Exhortation, General Confession, Absolution, Lord's Prayer, Lesser Litany and Psalm XIX. In the absence of the Ven. the Archdeacon of Furness (the Rev. Godfrey G. Smith, Haverthwaite) the lesson was read by the Rev. Griove, and was from 1 Chron. XXIX. 9-15.

The clergy, lay readers, churchwardens and choir proceeded to below the bell tower, the congregation turning that way, while the hymn, 'When morning gilds the skies' was being sung. Here the Bishop greeted the bellringers, and the representative of the bellfounders, and Dr. Pooley then asked the Vicar and churchwardens to accept the bells on behalf of the church, the Vicar appropriately replying.

Mrs. Wadham said: 'I request you to dedicate this bell to the glory and praise of God, given in memory of Arthur Edward Montague Wadham and Dora Louisa Wadham,' and after the Bishop had done so, Mrs. Wadham rang the bell. The same procedure was followed by Mr. Edward Uilock, as senior churchwarden, with the bell given by the parish, and Mrs. Myles Kennedy requested the re-dedication of the other bells. After the Bishop had offered prayers, the procession moved back to its place, the hymn, 'Tell Thou my life, O Lord, my God,' having been sung. During the return the peal of bells was rung in rounds.

Before the next hymn, 'Ye watchers and ye holy ones,' the Bishop made an exhortation to all churchmen to stand together firmly and confidently, and in prayer for guidance of the Church in the grave crisis caused by the rejection of the new Prayer Book.

The preacher was Canon C. G. Bell, Canon Residentiary of York Minster, who took for his text, 'I was glad when they said unto me, let me go into the House of the Lord' (122nd Psalm, 1st verse). From time immemorial, he said, and with a sentiment of quite the right sort, church bells had been regarded as the 'silver-throated choir of the belfry,' something more than mere iron beating on iron. They had in a way a sort of personality which was manifest in these days, attaching to great bells like Great Peter, Great Paul, or even Big Ben.

In ancient days when the bells came from the hands of the founders, they passed through a ceremony of baptism, sprinkled with water and named. To-day there were bells which still had their names. Kings, princes, and nobles counted it no small honour to be 'godfather' to the bells. They had passed away, but even to-day there were those who came forward with generous gifts.

Church bells were always singing; they were joy bells, because Christian bells could be no other. Christianity was a religion of joy, where others were of despair or superstition. They were ringing when man and woman plighted their troth before God's altar, wishing them joy, health, wealth. Then they tolled when someone had passed over, bringing consolation and comfort to the mourners. They were saying all the while, 'I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the House of the Lord,' to the neighbourhood as far as the sound went. When a man was feeling bored or tired, someone might say to him, 'Let us go into the pictures or the theatre,' and he would say he was glad, but how often did they say, 'Let us go unto the House of the Lord'?

One would think it a strange thing to say. The difficulty was that somehow we had got to that state of mind. One of the great complaints of to-day was the emptiness of the churches, and the reason was simply that people did not want to go. The people had got to be made to want to go, and that was the message of the bells, filling people with a thirst of the Living Water, but if people did not want to come, the message was wasted. They should want to come to church because it was their Father's House and their home, one of the family seats of His great family. They went on the Lord's Day to sing His praises, but it was open all the week for them to come, and still they did it would never achieve its purpose. They would later hear the harmony of the bells and that harmony was meant to be a picture which the people of God would make. The Church was a place of fellowship, not social gatherings. Nothing succeeded like success, and when they had made a real success of fellowship, all the people would want to come in. The Church carried them to communion with the saints and those who had gone before. It was the home of their departed, and where we were at one with them.

The hymn, 'O worship the King,' during which a collection was taken for the bell fund, closed the service. Afterwards, the Parish Church ringers rang for a time, assisted by visitors from Ulverston Parish Church and Barrow St. James' belfries.

VETERAN RINGER'S DEATH.

At St. Patrick's Church, Nuttall, Notts, for morning service, on December 18th, with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect for the late Mr. W. Beardsmore, who was a ringer at the above church for over 50 years, a quarter-peal of Doubles (540 Plain Bob, 720 Grandsire) in 40 mins.: J. E. Hobbs (conductor) 1, T. Harrison (first quarter-peal) 2, R. Jenkinson (first quarter-peal) 3, E. Wilcox 4, G. Burton 5.

A VARIED HALF CENTURY.

It is not an unusual thing in these days for a ringer to score fifty peals in a year, but we doubt if anyone can claim a greater variety in a half-century than Mr. Oliver Sippetts, of Crawley, Sussex, has managed to put into the 50 peals which he has rung in 1927. This is how they are made up: Treble Ten 2, Stedman Caters 1, London Surprise Major 2, Bristol Surprise Major 1, Guildford Surprise Major 1, Norfolk Surprise Major 1, Dublin Surprise Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 4, Cambridge Surprise Major 2, Spliced Surprise Major 1, Double Norwich 7, Kent Treble Bob 9, Plain Bob 4, College Single Major 1, Canterbury Pleasure Major 1, Stedman Triples 4, Grandsire Triples 2, Bob Triples 1, Court Bob Triples 1, Cambridge Minor 3, Minor in three methods 1; total 50 (conducted 25).

GOLDEN WEDDING PEAL AT SWINDON.

The Swindon Parish Church Guild rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal on Christmas Eve to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lawrence. After the peal, the ringers called on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence to offer their congratulations, and many stayed to enjoy a seasonable tea provided for their entertainment.

Mr. Lawrence has been a ringer at the Swindon Parish Church for upwards of 60 years, and was always a most regular attendant at practices and for Sunday services. From a call change ringer on the old peal of six, he developed into a sound and reliable method ringer. During his career as a ringer, the bells were augmented from six to eight, and in 1924 the old ring of eight was broken up and a new ring of 10 installed. Mr. Lawrence has rung over 100 peals, including Grandsire Triples and Caters, Bob Major and Royal, Kent, Treble Bob Major and Royal, Stedman Triples and Caters, and Double Norwich Major. A safe and reliable ringer, always ready for a peal, it was an exception for him to make a trip.
