

The Ringing World ' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

OLD BERT

SITTING on a seat with me one evening was a man who often travelled in the same compartment to London with me on weekdays, and although we had not previously spoken he broke the ice by saying: "Those bells sound nice.' Since then we have both retired from business in town and our meetings are few, but whenever he spots me he immediately plunges into the subject of bells. At first I gained the impression that he had been a ringer in London for he spoke of several well-known rings in various parts, but I was wrong, as I soon found out that Bert was a keen listener to church bells not only in London and Surrey but even as far afield as Devonshire. His knowledge of towers was remarkable, and he found out many of the best vantage points in order that his ears could appreciate the bells at their best; yet he was not one who made himself known in any way, for he only desired to listen and gain a lasting impression of how the bells sounded in that locality

Of stoutish build, with a ruddy face and a cheerful smile, he would greet me and then tell of his experiences since our last conversation, relating in his own way where he had heard bells and what he thought of their tone. He knew the difference between method and call-changes and when chiming was being done, but though he knew nothing about our technical terms his chief delight was, to use his own words, 'to hear them evenly spaced.' Last year he asked me to name 'some nice old peals of bells,' and he jotted down in his pocket book various towers with the number of bells contained therein, ranging from five to rings of 12 , after which he toddled off quite delighted.

One morning last summer he caught sight of me and asked if I could spare an hour to hear of his latest experiences as a listener on the spot. He started with a description of hearing Exeter Cathedral bells at a distance, his gradual approach to the Norman tower, and then his impressions of the grandest ring he had ever heard. Such words coming from the lips of a keen listener were very pleasing to the writer, who was born at Exeter within sound of these bells prior to Queen Victoria's jubilee. Bert had other towers to speak of in Devon, Somerset and Dorset, and it was surprising what a memory he had for details. After he had related the particulars of a certain tower I asked him the name of the vicar, a name he promptly and correctly gave. Our talks together are few and far between, but perhaps it will be possible one of these days to learn a little more about Bert, whether he is a Londoner by birth and how he first became interested in bells.

We have our share of critics who complain about some of our activities and indifferent striking, but in Bert we have one who does not find fault with any ringing he hears, for he is of the opinion that 'it wants some doing' to get perfection in striking because of the varying circumstances in different towers. He also holds the view that ringers are trying to do their best often under difficult conditions, and their voluntary work should be more widely appreciated. When the subject of bells on the radio was mentioned to Bert he quickly said that the time generally allowed was insufficient and he preferred to listen at his own selected spot in order to get the 'real thing' in actual surroundings.

Undoubtedly some of us in many parts of the country have been ringing when Old Bert was listening, for he would not disclose when or where his 'live listening' would take place, and apparently his one desire was to hear a ring of bells to the best advantage. Bert does not profess to know anything regarding method ringing and it is years since he witnessed a bell in motion, but where there is ringing from the ground floor he would watch for a short while then silently fade from the scene. Not many non-ringers visit towers purposely to hear the bells rung in their local surroundings, coupled with the possible opportunity of having a look at the church; but Bert enjoys walking, especially in the country, where he can see and appreciate nature in various moods. Somehow or another he is different to the average person one meets, and bellringers come up for conversation when they declare ringers are a funny lot of folk in the belfry. One such person said we ring what is called rounds for a short while, then somebody shouted ' Go' but nobody went anywhere, and presently one of the band was told to 'dodge,' yet there were no signs of any evasions. After some bobs and singles the order was given to 'stand' although all the ringers had been standing during the whole of the ringing. No, Bert knew better than to say anything about our strange technical terms, for he must have seen and heard ringing in many parts; yet he scemed to understand that the skill and patience needed could not be attained by easy means and that teamwork was an important factor. I am hoping to meet Old Bert again in the near future and hear some more news of his visits to town and country places where church workers strive to give of their best.

75th ANNIVERSARY OF BALDOCK GUILD

On December 10th the Baldock and Norton ringers and friends enjoyed their annual dinner at the Rose and Crown. After a superb Christmas meal, Canon Smith proposed the loyal toast, and also expressed his appreciation of the happy spirit which exists among the ringers of his own tower and at Norton

In proposing 'St. Mary's Guild,' Mr. H. V. Frost (general secretary of the Hertfordshire Association) mentioned that although the Guild was officially established in 1880 (which made it older that the Hertfordshire Association itself), there was a board in the tower which recorded a touch of 720 Bob Minor in 1737.

Mr. E. G. Buck (the captain) said that the best sign of the Guild's health was the number of learners. They were trying to keep the bells ringing Sunday by Sunday and, in achieving this. he did value the regular practices. Apologies for absence, and best wishes, had been received from several friends. All stood in silence in remembrance of Mr. A. Bray, who was the last of the pre-1914 band who had continued to take interest in the present one.
Mr. H. S. Bonnett, in proposing 'The Ladies," said how gratified he was to discover how much they enjoyed the dinner; and Mrs. Critchley, in a witty reply, said that ringing was one of the few occupations where standards for men and women were comparable, and elaborated upon the two groups of ringers' wives, those who do and those who don't ring.
Peal attempts during the afternoon at both Baldock and Norton came to grief, but in spite of these disappointment; the dinner was most successful.

Ringing was enjoyed on this light eight until 4.45, when tea, kindly provided by the Vicar (the Rev. Frank Food), was enjoyed in thr? Church Hall.

A lively business meeting followed, with the Vicar as chairman. Four ringers were duly elected members of the Association.

It was decided to hold a learners' practice in 1956, starting in January: further details will appear in 'The Ringing World 'in due course.

More ringing took place under the direction of the District Master, Mr. C. A. Hughes.

Festive Tea for Cheltenham Branch

Some 40 ringers, including visitors from Bristol. Gloucester and Ross, were present at the annual meeting of the Cheltenham Branch held at Leckhampton on December 17th.

The service was conducted by the Rector of Leckhampton, the Rev. E. J. White, who afterwards ioined the ringers at a festive tea, provided by Miss Davidson, of Cheltenham Ladies College. The tables were tastefully decorated with evergreens and golden bells, and pride of place was given to iced Christmas cakes, which were also adorned with bells.

The Branch chairman, Mr. C. Rouse, welcomed the Rector to the Branch, as it was the first opportunity the ringers had had of meeting him officially since he came to Leckhampton. A special welcome was also accorded to Mr. F. Skidmore, the general secretary of the Association.

At the business meeting the Branch chairman. Mr. C. Rouse, and the Branch secretary, Miss E. M. Bliss, were unanimously re-elected. Mr. W. A. Farmer was elected as the Branch renresentative on the Management Committee. It was agreed that during 1956 all Branch meetines should be held on the fourth Saturday of each month at 3 p.m. The next three monthly meetines are to be held at Prestbury; St. Mark's. Cheltenham ; and Badgeworth.

The peal at Preston was arranged for Mr. Victor J. C. $\quad$ BELFRY Wood, who has just returned to Clitheroe, Lancs, with his wife and family, after living in New Zealand for two and a half years. It was purely coincidental that the composition was put together by Mr. Cornelius Charge, of New Zealand, and published in 'The Ringing World ' in 1937.
Six ringers scored their first peal on ten beils with the peal of Plain Bob Royal at Grantham on December 17th.

We are pleased to hear from Mr. Albert Walker that Mr. F. E. Pervin has returned home to 68, Newfield Road, Radford, Coventry, from hospital and can now sit out. His speech has returned and he looks very much better.
It is with pleasure we note St. Matthew's, Overseale, again appears in our peal columns, following the tragic occurrence on April 3rd, 1954. A well-struck peal of Stedman Triples (reported in our peal columns) was rung on December 17 th to welcome the new Rector of Seale (the Rev. N. K. Brownsell) who met the ringers after the peal. It was also a birthday compliment to Mr. P. J. Staniforth and Mr. J. W. Cotton.

Bedford has a world-wide reputation for its Public Schools, two for boys and two for girls, and it is interesting to note that several peals have been rung by separate schools' and combined schools' bands-Bedford Modern and Bedford Schools have both rung peals without outside help, and peals have been rung by the following combined bands: Bedford Modern and Dame Alice Harpur Schools, Bedford Modern and Bedford Schools, and last week Bedford Modern, Bedford and Dame Alice Harpur Schools took part in a peal. It is hoped to ring a peal incorporating all four schools in the near future.

GOSSIP

It is not given to many to ring a peal of Stedman Cinques as their very first touch (of Cinques). That, however, was accomplished by Joseph Thornley, of Farnworth, Bolton, when he rang the fourth in the peal at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, recorded elsewhere in this issuc. None of the others in the band had the slightest inkling that this was the first time he had rung Cinques. Later he was congratulated on his excellent performance.

Double Norwich was the method chosen for the peal attempt at Sevenoaks, Kent, on Christ mas eve. Alas, during the morning one of the band dropped out through illness, and as a substitute for Double Norwich could not be found the conductor (Mr. E. J. Ladd) decided to take his daughter and go for Plain Bob, with the result that Margaret scored a peal at the first attempt.
Holywood, Co. Down, band had an unfortunate experience in their Christmas Day broadcast, and although the announcer said eight, only seven bells sounded. Just before the bells went on the air the rope of the third jammed and jumped off, leaving the bell completely wedged. There was a hurried switch to seven bells.

Because of the demand of National Service, Aldrington (Sussex) have been recruiting to their tower girls instead of boys. During the last eight months three ringers have moved from the district due to their careers and four young ladies have married, and all made homes in other counties! The tower is fortunate in having a waiting list of people anxious to learn the art and three more have thus been given the opportunity. It is encouraging to learn that Aldrington has provided seven other counties with ringers, for all are ringing in their new home towns.

REDEDICATIONS

POLSTEAD, SUFFOLK

Reader, have you been to Polstead Church? It not, don't miss the opportunity-not only to see the church, but also the view from the churchyard southwards across the valley of the little River Box to Stoke-by-Nayland's imposing tower standing high on the other side. Yes, it's some of Suffolk's best scenery, away from main roads, and St. Mary's Church stands at the top of a ridge with a lake at the bottom on the north side.
St. Mary's is one of the ancients, even as churches go. I doubt if you'll see anything like it anywhere else. Here, Mr. Historian and Mr. Antiquary, you will find much interest. The tower has a stone spire and six bells, and the congregation which filled the church in the late afternoon of Sunday, December 18th, assembled to join in a service of praise and thanksgiving when the Lord Bishop of Dunwich rededicated the bells after their overhaul They have been retuned, quarter-turned and rehung in a modern metal frame, with ball bearings and new fittings, by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

The tower has been reinforced to the design of Mr. Robert Potter, F.R.I.B.A., and Mr. Richard Hare, B.A. (Arch.), A.R.I.B.A.

The tenor is about 10 cwt. and is inscribed: - Revd. John Whitmore, Rector, John Corder, Isaac Strutt, Churchwardens.' All six bells are inscribed: 'T. Mears of London, fecit 1825.'

The Rector of Polstead, the Rev. P. H. Biddiccombe, conducted the service, and Mr. Gcorge Pipe (Grundisburgh) read the lesson. Hymns 'Hark the Glad Sound !,' Unchanging God Who Livest,' 'Angel Voices Ever Singing' and 'Ring Forth, Holy Bells, were sung and the choir sang the bell carol 'In Every Town and Village the Bells Do Ring.'

One of the churchwardens who led the procession to the tower was a lady, Mrs. W. A. Stirling, and in clear voice she asked the Bishop to rededicate the bells. Rounds were rung and then came the 25 -minute sermon.

The Bishod reminded the congregation of the goodwill of all and the skill of architects, builders and bellfounders which make these restorations possible.

He quoted from a report he had some time ago by Messrs. Taylor regarding the bells int a church in the Pennines. It ran: "The peal, as is only too well realised, is of very poos tone and distressingly unmusical.' This became the core of his sermon-we, like bells, must be in cond order and receive attention sometimes. When we are in good order, we should go forth and witness. Five points he put for-ward:-1 Daily prayer: 2 Bible reading; 3 Church on Sundays; 4 If confirmed, communicate, and then 5 Ring out the message to the world. He went on: The tower points to Heaven- the eternals. It speaks of stability in an ever-changing scene and a world of con flict . . . . The bells say, "Come to church, come to church . . "" but some go off ill buses. some dig gardens and some take no notice at all. But some day there is the passing bell . . . . pity they didn't listen before.'
Bellringing, he said, is a very important ministry in the life of the church, but bellringers can fail in their ministry so that the message does not go forth, or they can refuse to answer the call they have passed on to other veople. -No wonder people don't come to church if they sec the ringers going home directly after ringing. . . . . They are just ringing for fun and their skill on the ropesnot as ministers on the bells. The ministry of bellringing is the ringers' way of proclaiming.
The service over, the bells rang out and there were many ringers from Suffolk and Essex to trv them, while others went to tea at the W.I. Hall.
Coming out of church, it was a perfect evening; the tower and spire were silhouetted against a clear sky, the air had a clear, cold sting it was starlight and the silvery new moon lay on its back away to the south-west, light streamed from the church windows and porch and, down in the road below the hill, the Salvation Army band from the Suffolk town of Hadleigh were playing carols.

Reader, don't forget what I said, go to Polstead if you have the chance. Bcfore you come away you can think of Maria Marten and The Red Barn Murder, and there is a little left of the famous 1,000-years-old Gospel Oak.

PEAL RINGERS OF 1955

In an endeavour to make this annual review more comprehensive, we propose to publish a list of those who rang 25 or more peals during 1955.

Details required: Number of peals rung (in brackets conducted) for both towerand handbells.

CHIPPING, LANCS

The six bells of Chipping Parish Church, Lancs, were rededicated on December 11th. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev J. H. K. Nye, and was fully choral. The act of dedication was performed by the Suffragan Bishop of Burnley (the Right Rev. G. E. Holderness), who also preached the sermon.

Ringers were present from Broughton, Leyland, Preston, Penwortham and Clitheroe. The Lancashire Association was represented by the vice-president (Mr. E. R. Martin) and the Preston Branch secretary (Mr. L. Walmsley).

After the dedication, rounds were rung by the local company, and at the close of service touches of Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise were rung by mixed bands.

The bells have been quarter turned and fitted with ball bearings and new fittings. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have carried out the work, and the 'go' is now all that can be desired.

WREXHAM

On December 8th the Archbishop of Wales, the Rt. Rev. John Morgan, rededicated the bells of Wrexham Parish Church, which during the past seven months have been undergoing renovations and retuning in Loughborough.
During the service, the Archbishop and the Vicar of Wrexham, the Rev. D. E. M. Glynne Jones, and other clergy, churchwardens and the crossbearer went to the foot of the tower, where the Archbishop led the congregation in prayer. There was later an address, which was followed by the Blessing.
Outside, the church and 16th century tower were illuminated by floodlights.
It was in May that all but two of the eleven bells were taken down and transported to Messrs. John Taylor and Co. at Loughborough. Now, after seven months of silence, they will ring again.
Other fittings in the tower have also been overhauled to make the belfry one of the most up to date in the country. The clock has been restored to working order so that the chimes and hourly striking may be heard again.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

A much-admired ring when the Central Council visited Newcastle was the eight of St. Stephen's. These bells are not often available in fact, including one on December 26th, only three peals have been rung in the last seven years. Mr. Denis A. Bayles is the only ringer fortunate enough to ring in all three peals.
The peal of Stcdman Triples at North Brad. ley, on December 17th, was rung in honour of the wedding of Mr. Clive Barber to Miss June Parker. Clive is a member of the local band, and is leaving to reside in Chipping Sodbury. He was presented with an inscribed harometer in honour of his wedding and his valued services as a ringer and as a faithful churchman. Mr. P. Harding, the local captain, by ringing the treble in this peal, has now completed the circle ' three times.

ST. MARGARETSS, WOLSTANTON

By E. H. EDGE

T1HE date of the first peal on the bells is not known. although the first peal for the Stoke-on-Trent Archidiaconal Association (now the North Staffs Association) was rung on these bells on Tucsday, February 19th. 1884, and is stated to have been the first peal on the bells. The ringers were:-

| Samuel Walker | 1 | Samuel Wootton | 4 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| Levi Miller | 2 | Wm. Priestman | 5 |
| Wm. Miller | 3 | Samuel Spencer | 6 |

The peal consisted of two 720's of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and one 720 each of Courı Bob. Grandsire and Plain Bob Minor. This may have been the first peal on the tells but it is more likely to have been the first peal in five methods on them.

Before the formation of the Archidiaconal Association. many 720 's had been rung and in 1879, on May 25th, the longest pcal of Plain Bob was rung fully-muffied to the memory of Wm. Miller, senior, ringer at the church from 1846 to 1879 . Mrs. Miller (recently deccased). daughter-in-law of that Wm. Miller, and at that time fiancee of the conductor, remembered the occasion very clearly for the length of time it took-much longer than any other ringing she heard at the time. It is described as a full peal and is the only early peal for which the time and number of changes are not given. and it is very probable that it was 5,040 . The claim is supported by the fact that the method was Plain Bob. and the band, who were all accustomed to ringing extents of a great number of Minor methods. attempted the peal every evening in the week until it was finally brought round on the Saturday.

A further example of the band's enthusiasm is contained in an extract from "The Bell News." describing a peal-ringing expedition to Uttoxeter. The peal was Taylor's Bob and Single Variation and was conducted by Samuel Spencer. The ringers were James Baddeley. Levi Miller, Samuel Walker. Fred Martin. Wm. Greenleaf. Samuel Spencer, William Miller and G. Hodgkins.

FOURTH TIME LUCKY

' On Monday, November 10th (1884), a band of ringers from Wolstanton, with Mr. W. Greenleaf, bell-hanger of Stoke-on-Trent, paid a visit to the tower of Uttoxeter Church to attempt a peal of 5,040 Grandsire Triples. They were met at the station by members of the Uttoxeter Society, who had everything in readiness for the start. The band were soon uncoated and "go" called. but ill-luck attended them. for after three attempts it was decided to retire for refreshments. and to make another effort for the peal : so in the afternoon another start was made, but unfortunately without success. The last train for the Potteries returns early in the evening, so by mutual agreement it was decided to stay in Uttoxeter the night. which enabled them to make another start for the peal. which they had the satisfaction of completing in 2 hours 55 minutes. particulars of which appear in the peal columns of this paper. Messrs. Coulson and Bunting (Churchwardens) Kindly provided a capital dinner for the ringers. which was well put upon the table by host Kent of the "Spread Eagle" Inn, and the ringers take the opportunity of thanking these gentlemen for their liberality and the vicar also, for his good wishes and permission for the use of the bells.

Ringers from Leek, Ellastone, Norton and Stoke were present, as also was the Rev. H. W. Howe, Secretary of the Stoke-on-Trent Archidiaconal Association, who takes a great interest in change ringing. This is the first 5.040 ever rung in Uttoxeter. On Tuesday a visit was made to the village of Doveridge: the towar contains a pleasant peal of five bells, the use of which was kindly granted by the Vicar, who met the ringers. Some $120^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$ of Doubles were rung and, before leaving. the Vicar had thoughtfully provided refreshments at the Vicarage, for which. and other kindnesses shown them, the ringers return him their sincere thanks. On the return to Uttoxeter, the party spent a pleasant hour with host Kent, and the ringers returned to the Potteries delighted with their outing which had been made so pleasant by their many friends.:

FORTY-SEVEN PEALS RECORDED

The records of the Stoke-on-Trent Archidiaconal and North Staffs Association show 47 peals as having been rung on Wolstanton bells. almost entirely by the Sunday service bands. between the foundation of the Association in 1884 and 1954, and these include the first peal for the Association, and the first peals of Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples for the Association. Only two peals, both Grandsire Triples, have been rung since 1926 -one in 1939 and the other in 1954. The heyday of peal ringing was the three-year period 1905-1907 when 21 peals were brought round and many more must have been attempted. Of the peals rung since the augmentation. 29 have been of Grandsire Triples, nine of Stedman Triples. four of Kent Treble Bob Major, three of Plain Bob and one Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Among the visiting conductors are numbered J. W. Washbrook, senior, the Rev. F. E. Robinson and the Rev. E. V. Cox, curate for a time at Fenton.
For some years after the first world war the tower severed its connections with the Association (and ceased to subscribe to the ringing journals), but it is unlikely that any startling performances were achieved during that period. There are no minutes for these years but it is known that the effects of the war and internal dissensions in the Society reduced the bands available, and sometimes only six bells were rung for services.

By 1939 the bells were in need of considerable attention, and deterioration during the last war rendered them almost unringable. An appeal was launched and the bells were rehung in a metal frame in 1948 by Taylors. Ringing since that time has fluctuated considerably through old members leaving and the disruption caused by National Service. Considerable progress is now being made and the band is strengthened by the presence of younger ringers of ability and promise. Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major are regularly rung for Sunday services and an attempt is being made to introduce Surprise ringing. Quarter peals for Evensong are attempted and brought round almost every month.
It would be wrong to conclude without paying tribute to Mr. W. A. Fitchford, who passed away in 1954. He rang at the tower for Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1887, for the Coronation of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II in 1953, and for all the Church and State occasions in the intervening years. He was Ringing Master at the tower for 49 years. He rang in some 64 peals for the Association, of which 40 were Grandsire Triples and nine Stedman Triples. He conducted 35 peals. among which were ten of Holt's Original, which he called from every bell in the tower. Mr. Fitchford was not a prolific peal-ringer and considered always that his first duties were in service ringing and the teaching of the art, and it is for these qualities that he will be remembered and looked up to as an example for those who follow him in the tower.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GULDD

Melton Mowbray District Annual Dinner
It has been said that you cannot get a quart. into a pint pot. Mrs. Seagrave, of the King's Arms, Scalford, did her best on December 3rd to disprove this contention. She likes to restrict her numbers to 50 : last year she was persuaded to allow 60 ; this time, no doubt under the persuasive charm of the District secretary, Mr. J. H. Cook, she very kindly conceded 70.

That number sat down to an excellent meal. under the watchful eye of Mr. District Chairman Williams, who was presiding, alas, for the last time-unless he can be persuaded to return from his distant Nottinghamshire retreat to the Melton District. He was supported by Canon C. M. S. and Mrs. Clarke, of Melton Mowbray, Messrs. Paul L. Taylor and E. Charles Turner, vice-presidents of the Guild. and Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Turner, Mr. Shirley Burton, peal secretary, and Mrs. Burton. Other visitors from outside the District included Mrs. Phyllis Poole, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. of Leicester, and Mr. A. S. Richards, of West Wickham, Kent.

The toast of 'The Leicester Diocesan Guild was proposed by Mr. P. A. Corby, and Mr P. L. Taylor replied. Mr. J. H. Coak proposed the health of Mr. F. J. Williams, the retiring District chairman, and Mrs. Williams, and in doing so expressed the gratitude of the District for all that Mr. and Mrs. Williams had done. An alarm clock and a fountain pen had been subscribed for by the District, and Mr, Cook called upon Canon Clarke to present these gifts to Mr. Williams. Canon Clarke added his own sincere tribute to Mr. Williams and made the presentation.

In his reply Mr. Williams said that despite the 100 mile return journey he and Mrs. Williams hoped frequently to attend the future meetings and functions of the District. Anything he had done had given him the greatest possible pleasure and he was greatly moved to know that his efforts had been appreciated. He asked the District to support their new officers and urged all to make an effort to attend the annual District meeting at Melton on Saturday, January 21 st, when the meeting would have the considerable responsibility of electing not only a District chairman and District secretary, but also of making nominations for a new president of the Guild. Absentee members often had a great deal to say about what they would have done at a meeting had they been there. This sort of thing would be avoided if all were present at the meeting and had their say at the time.

The health of the visitors, who were mentioned by name, was proposed by Mr. Williams. and Mr. A. S. Richards was called upon to respond. He recalled that this was the third successive Scalford dinner he had attended and each one had been most enjoyable.

The entertainment after dinner was organised and led by the "Kirby Twins "-Arthur Wheeler, churchwarden, superintendent of the - Specials constabulary, chief tormentor of Harry Cook, bellringer, reserve choirman, builder of belfry floors and author of all sorts of good works at Kirby Bellars and the life and soul of any party, ably assisted by his partner, Albert Bailey, who seems to specialise in making a piano talk. Unfortunately your corresoondent was from time to time engaged elsewhere and did not witness all the indignities to which the guests were subjected, but he did see Jack Day on bended knee demonstrating how he would make a proposal to a charming young lady.

The first Saturday in December, 1956, has been orovisionally reserved for a repeat performance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PEALS IN WARWICKSHIRE

Dear Sir,-I am grateful to several correspondents for pointing out two errors in my article on 'Peals in Warwickshire.' Firstly, with regard to Emscote, which I said had been 'silent since 1905. I find I had the peals in this tower in two places in my card indexone under Emscote and the other under Warwick. All Saints', Emscote. I did not look at the former card, only the latter, where I had recorded the last peal in 1905. On the other card 1 have six more peals ending with three in 1910 (August 29th, October 3rd and October 12th). This last was the last peal on the bells and it was conducted by my friend Canon C. C. Cox. who was one of the pcople who kindly pointed out the error. I expect the original use of two cards for the tower was due to the way it appeared in ' Bell News '-sometimes as 'Emscote,' sometimes as Warwick, All Saints'. However, the mistake has been rectified.
The second concerns mention of Knowle. This is purely my own fault. In preparing the list of peals for each tower, I did not put numbers quite by the side of the name, and the peal total of 80 has been credited to Knowle, the next name on the list. It should have been Harborne, and the remarks apply to that tower (silent since 1937). At Knowle there have been 14 peals, the last in 1954 . I apologise for the mistakes.-Yours faithfully,

Southampton

Dear Sir,-As a ringer residing in Warwick for a good number of years, I was interested to read 'Peal Ringing in Warwickshire.' I can quite understand the tremendous amount of work involved in compiling such a survey, and how very difficult it must be to obtain full particulars of each individual tower. I would like to make a correction concerning the tower of All Saints', Emscote. The article states that it is the longest tower 'silent' and that the last of its two peals was rung in 1905, which is not correct. As I read it, it scems to imply that there have been only two peals rung there. I know of at least seven peals rung there from 1902 onwards, and by what I have heard, I think there was one rung by members of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, previous to that. Perhaps one of our respected friends of St. Martin's could say if that is correct.
The peals rung from 1902 are:-
November 16th, 1902. Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original), conducted by the late John D. Matthews.

March 9th, 1903. Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original). conducted by Edward H. Adams.
June 15th, 1903. Bob Major, conducted by John D. Matthews.
January 7th, 1905. Grandsire Triples (Holt's Ten-Part), conducted by W. Collett.

August 29th, 1910. Stedman Triples.
October 3rd, 1910. Stedman Triples, conducted by the Rev. C. C. Cox.
October 10th, 1910. Stedman Triples.
This was the last peal rung in this tower I myself took part in five of these peals.- Yours sincerely,
W. COLLETT.

Warwick.

ST. MARY'S, PENZANCE

Dear Sir,-If Mr. E. T. P. Field will refer to Shipway's 'Campanologia (1816) he will find the following remark under Cornwall, page xxiii. The account of a peal of ten bells at Penzance, in tha Clavis, is erroneous; the parish church having only five.'-Yours faithfully.
C. CAREW COX.

Bridport, Dorset.

A BACHELORS' PEAL 65 YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,-Prospective members of the band of bachelors for a peal of Stedman Cinques, mentioned in 'Belfry Gossip ' recently, may be interested in the following extract from the - Bell News ' of February 14th, 1891:-

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS. BACHELORS' PEAL
On Saturday, February 7th, 1891, in 3 hours and 50 minutes
At the Church of St. Bride, Fleet Street
A PEAL OF STEDMAN CINQUES 5,019 CHANGES

Tenor 28 cwt .

Composed and conducted by Francis Edward

 DaweFirst peal on 12 bells by Messrs. Davies and Barrell. All the above band, who are in the category of "Bachelors," belong to London, and the novelty of achieving a peal at St. Bride's by twelve Bachelors has been in contemplation for a long time, although only one previous attempt has been made. Their ages, which range from 20 to 40 years, show an average of about 27 . This is the first peal of Stedman Cinques ever accomplished in which the conductor has also been the tenor-man.' Yours faithfully,
E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

PARKER'S 12-PART

Dear Sir,-As I am a poor hand at figures I should be glad to know whether any of your more capable readers could inform me whether it is possible to transpose Parker's 12-Part peal of Grandsire Triples so as to make the third, fourth and fifth the observation bell.
One of the most musical touches of Grandsire is the 504 , No. 26 , on page 35 of the current edition of 'Grandsire' in the Snowdon series. This touch also appears on page 59 of the old 1905 edition. Many years ago my old friend, Mr. A. N. Wood, of Northampton, pointed out to me that it is false. - Yours faithfully,
E. J. TAYLOR.

Tiverton

DEREHAM, NORFOLK, BELLS

Dear Sir,-Dereham, Norfolk, bells are to be restored in a new steel frame, and with belfry repairs will cost something in the region of $£ 3,000$.
Dereham, birthplace of I. Armiger Trollops, had its ring of eight, 24 cwt . in E flat, hung in 1753 in a detached bell tower and the first peal was rung in 1756.
Apart from a rehanging on ball bearings little has been done. An appeal has been launched in the town and in just over two months over $£ 500$ has come in.

I would appreciate very much if you could find space in your columns to ask for donations. -Yours sincerely,

GEORGE P. ADAMS.

Dercham, Norfolk

ST. MICHAEL'S, GLOUCESTER

Dear Sir,-The site on which the Church of St. Michael, Gloucester, stands, together with the disused burial ground, has been sold recently for $£ 52,000$.

The tower, however, is to remain and $£ 12,000$ of the purchase price has been reserved to ensure its safety when it is severed from the nave, and to provide a fund for its future maintenance, but there is no mention that anything is to be done about the bells, a ring of ten, which have been unringable for many years.

It was at this church during the incumbency of their father that the Rev. H. Law and E. Bankes James helped to make considerable ringing history in the 1890 's by forming the Society known as 'The St. Michael's Juniors,' and with John Austin as their principal conductor, rang many peals in the area, including what was then thought to be the first of Cambridge Surprise Royal.
Can someone from the Gloucester and Bristol Association say what is to happen to the bells? - Yours truly,
E. BARNETT.

10, King's Close, Crayford.

Another Aldrington Bride

On December-17th the secretary of the Aldrington band, Miss Ann Law, was married to Mr. Bob Jones at All Saints' Church, Crawley Down. As there is but one bell in the church, handbells were rung by eight members of the Aldrington band at the church gate and later at the reception. Another member of the band, the bride's sister, Pam, was bridesmaid.
Evidence of the good send-off from Gatwick Station was seen on Southover belfry floor at the Southern Division meeting later in the day! Apologies to the Southover ringers for all the confetti.
The honeymoon was spent at Bournemouth, and the happy couple are making their home in Northern Ireland, Bob at present serving in the Royal Navy.

The local ringers presented them with a water set and pyrex ware.
On the previous Sunday a quarter peal of 1,260 Plain Bob Doubles was rung in appreciation of Ann's work as secretary by the following: Ann Law 1, June Grieveson 2, Diana Gough 3, R. D. Brown 4, H. W. Brown (conductor) 5, D. H. Paine 6.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Stoke-on-Trent on December 3rd, attended by some 60 members and guests. The Rev. A. H. Yates presided at the business meeting, which followed tea. Welcoming the Association, he said that he had been asked to extend to the meeting the best wishes of the president, the Ven. Percy Hartill, Archdeacon and Rector of Stoke, whose illness prevented him from attending.

In his most interesting address, Mr. Yates referred to the sense of fellowship and unity which existed among all ringers, which was an example to both congregations and to those clergy who tended to become somewhat overjealous of their rights. Ringers performed an important part in the life and ministry of the Church, which was greatly appreciated, but he recalled the obligations which accompanied such service.

Replying for the Association, Mr. R. S. Anderson thanked Mr. Yates for the welcome it had received; everyone regretted that the Archdeacon was unable to attend what would have been his 21 st annual meeting as president of the Association.
By far the majority of ringers were conscious of and fulfilled their duties as churchmen as far as they were able and were particularly proud of their privilege of giving audible voice to the message of the Church through their work in the belfry. He felt, however, that there was a tendency for ringers' work to be taken too much for granted Incumbents and church officers could play a greater part in maintaining this service by encouraging theis own bands by taking a more lively interest in this aspect of church work, particularly by visiting their belfries more frequently and in the recruitment of new ringers.

The meeting then stood in silence before a short prayer was said for Mr. George Jones, of Hanley, Mr. W. Rigby, of Lawton, and Mr. F. W. Wells, of Longton, who had passed away during the year.

The minutes of the last annual general meeting were read, confirmed and signed, followed by the confirmation of the report of the annual committee meeting, under which the following officers were rc-appointed for the year 1955-56:--Chairman, R. S. Anderson; vice-chans. man, A. W. Hall; secretary, E. H. Edge; auditor, C. H. Page; Ringing Masters: cight and ten bells, W. P. Deane; six bells, W. Hazeldene.

It was noted that Eccleshall had become reaffiliated to the Association.

During the Association year ten peals had been rung, viz.: Major, two; Triples, one; Minor, four ; Doubles, three; eight having been conducted by F. E. Wilshaw.
Geoffrey Holland, of Biddulph, was elected a ringing member.
Ringing took place at Stoke Parish Church during the afternoon and in the evening, after the business meeting.

100 Years Ago Peal at Ilminster

Under the heading of ' 100 Years Ago' the following appeared recently in 'The Western Gazette ':

Ilminster.-We are pleased to learn that the principal tradesmen of this town have been duly impressed with the importance of shortening the hours of confinement and labour for those in their employ, and have accordingly agreed to close their places of business at 7 o'clock in the evening during the winter months. The sweetly-toned bells sent forth their merry peals for three hours, which, we hear, was arranged by the young people employed as an acknowledgment of the great toon conferred on them by their cmployers.'

We would be interested to learn from our Somerset ringers if a peal was recorded on this occasion.

Analysis of Handbell Peals rung during 1954

The process of bell casting. tuning and some bell ringing is being televised from Messrs. John Taylor & Co., Loughborough, by the B.B.C. television service on Thursday, January 19th, at 7.30 p.m. This will be a 'live' programme feature and not a recording.

We cannot insert Notices relating, to births. marriages or deaths without the name and address of the sender. The charge is 3s. 6d.

With regret we announce the deaths of Mr. Benjamin A. Knights, son of the famous ringer and composer, Arthur Knights, and Mr. W. J. Thyng. Both were members of the old Chesterficld company.

CORRECTION

The total of peals given in the peals analysis table (see page 809) should read 2,406, and not 2,506 .

Four members of the local company took part in the first peal on the augmented ring at Gressenhall, Norfolk. The Rector, the Rev. G. E. Dodson, who arranged the peal, was responsible for raising the money for the installation of the two new trebles, which are in memory of the ministry of the late Rev. Percy Edmund Hall, rector for 45 years, and his widow. Mrs. Margaret P. Hall. A resident of the village for over 80 years, Mrs. Hall remembers while in her teens helping her father, who wis then rector, to raise the money for the original six.

His -many friends in the Oxford Guild (N. Berks) will be sorry to hear Mr. Fred James, of Blewbury, has had a stroke and is in Didcot Hospital. Mr. James, who has been a Guild member and ringer at Blewbury over 52 years, scored his first peal of Major as recently as November 5th.
The peal of Minor in seven methods at Apsley End (p. 805) was the 50th by E. J. Upton and not William J. Puddifoot as printed.

A correspondent writes that not one ringer was invited to attend the rededication of Wrexham bells, the only ten, and premier ring of North Wales.
A well-known team of handbell-ringers entertained the company at Newark's anoual Gopher Dinner. One of the objects behind their visit was to obtain permission to make the longawaited peal attempt on Newark Parish Church bells. However, permission was refused, and it is presumed that when next year's dinner comes around they will not attend as there will be nothing to "Gopher.'
The 1,260 Grandsire Triples rung at St. Mary's, Stafford, on November 25th, was a compliment to A. B. Garbett on attaining his maiority. Before leaving Stafford to take an appointment in Glasgow he was a regular ringer at St. Mary's Church. He now looks in' at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, when able. The ringer of the treble was the son of R. J. Warrilow, the head ringer, and grandfather Warrilow was in the belfry to see him ring in his first quarter peal.

A NEW YEAR EVE'S TALE  OR

HOW GIANTS ARE MADE

$\mathrm{O}^{\prime}$NCE upon a time there were two giants-a Big Giant and a Littlc Giant. In actual fact some less kind persons referred to them as two lunatics, but in our story we shall give them the benefit of the doubt. Now these two giants lived in different lands, but it was the custom of the Big Giant to visit the land of the Little Giant at Christmas time.

One year, the Big Giant informed the Little Giant that he would be arriving two days before Christmas so, naturally, a peal was arranged to begin within a few minutes of his arrival. This being successfully accomplished, the giants both looked at their notebooks; the Big Giant discovered that he had just rung his 97 th peal for the year whilst the Little Giant had just rung his 48 th. Since for some years the relationship between their peal ringing numbers had always been of a geometric nature involving the factor two, it was decided that the former must ring 100 whilst the latter must ring 50 .
The Little Giant was therefore detailed to arrange a peal on Christmas Eve, in fact the following afternoon. This was no light task and caused great consternation in his household since he had already promised to set aside the morning of Christmas Eve for the purpose of transporting his family to the local town for Christmas shopping, an operation which had already been postponed many times owing to abortive attempts for peals numbers 47 and 48. However, five ringers were found easily, but there the matter was allowed to rest until the middle of the night when the Little Giant awoke with sudden intuition and, shaking the Little Giantess into consciousness, instructed her to remind him to ring up the local Vicar and borrow his five bells.
As might be expected, the Little Giant was awakened early the next morning with the good news that the Vicar had agreed to the peal attempt but, unfortunately, no sooner had he arisen than the Vicar reappeared on the telephone to say that although he didn't mind them ringing the peal, he would like them to break off for half-an-hour in the middle while he conducted a funeral.
Thus you can imagine the predicament; the peal must start in four hours' time if the bells were not to be confused with Father Christmas' sleigh bells and, as all readers know, even giants have a very healthy respect for Father Christmas. Therefore, much feverish activity commenced and eventually a nice melodious six were procured, the six ringers found (the sixth being forcibly removed from a pigeon-shoot) and the Christmas shopping disposed of. The peal got away to a good start but in the middte of the fourth extent, the Big Giant, who was conducting, got excited and missed a bob. But, there being another Weck before the end of the year, no one was worried and all went quite happily about their own particular Christmas activities.

On St. Stephen's Day the Big Giant departed into another land to ring a peal of Yorkshire Royal, but met one short. However, this was a day when the fairies were kind to our heroes and provided a native of that land, which enabled a peal of Plain Bob Royal (B. G.'s 98 th) to be rung. At the same time the Little Giant rang a peal of Cambridge Major (his 49 th) on bells with a long draught and no guides, and the fairies ensured that the more rotund members missed their sallies with much less frequency than usual.

By St. John's Day, however, the fairies had departed: both giants joincd forces to attempt a peal of Stedman Cinques, the Big Giant having obtained a composition from an even bigger giant. Unfortunatcly, the latter had not realised that ' $A$ ' as a description of the 'goingoff course is inadequate for lesser giants or even for ordinary mortals so, after calling the 'turning' course as a 'going-off' course and then various 'going-off ' courses described as ' $A$ ' in other members' notebooks, it was decided that the figures and the composition bore little relation to each other. Consequently, ringing had to be abandoned and a quieter and less strenuous recreation followed in a nearby still-room. No one need worry at this stage as there were still four days left before the end of the year.

On the following day the Big Giant had to return to his own land for three days to assist in the manufacture of rockets, presumably for Guy Fawkes, while the Little Giant should have rung a peal of Major but this was unfortunately cancelled owing to a lack of mortals in the vicinity. The Big Giant rang his 99th peal the next day but the Little Giant, confidently conducting an attempt for Ipswich Minor fell asleep in the fourth extent and on waking said 'bob' when he should have said something quite different.

Thus December 30th was a great day of preparation, the Big Giant travelling to the lund of the Little Giant, whilst the latter, so be safe, so he thought, arranged two attempts for the last day of the year, the peal totals now being 99 and 49 respectively. The last day dawned bright, but this never augurs well in Little Giant land, and the first attempt started late owing to the vagaries of a number of internal combustion machines. This attempt was for seven minor methods, but the first went badly and the second looked like doing the same, which would never do for such an important peal, so the order 'stand' was given. It was decided that since the two badly-rung methods were named after the School of Magic attended by the Big Giant, they had better be left out. The new attempt settled down immediately to a really worthy beat and it looked as if the peal would be completed in two hours and fifteen minutes, but in the middle of the fourth extent, a method named after the School of Magic attended by the Little Giant, the latter got so excited and confident that he would grow into a big giant that he pulled too hard, whereupon his rope broke and descended on his head.

After repairing the rope, the party dispersed to reassemble two hours later at another tower with a view to ringing a peal of Ealing. Here they were delayed by many things. First the Big Giant was delayed by the peculiarities of the infernal machine which he was wont to ride. Then on raising the second bell it was found to cavort in a most unfriendly manner. Fortunately the band included a highly skilled and most respected automobile engineer, who soon diagnosed the trouble as a "too long" stay, wherefore he sent another member to fetch his complete tool-kit from the back of his car. As soon as this member arrived with the four-and-a-half-pound hammer, it was used to good effect and they were ready to raise the third. This bell swung very well but, unfortunately, continued to swing beyond top-centre so that the whole rope disappeared into the room above. This unusual behaviour was soon found to be due to a nut being missing from the end of the Hastings stay, and was soon remedied by treating the end of the bolt with the heavy hammer.

The remaining six bells were raised without mishap and they *ent Ealing' as directed by the Big Giant. The composition started with wrong and three, and the first course went well. but at the start of the second course a little unevenness caused the Big Giant to get excited and tell the fifth that he had just run in. By the time the latter gentleman had reminded the conductor of the general rules of transposition 'Stand' was the only possible call. The whole episode was then repeated only this time the Big Giant told the fifth that he should have made the bob. Another start, a couple of courses, and then the sixth place bell ran straight to the front in spite of instructions to the contrary. "Stand; and the Big Giant was heard to say: "This time it's not my fault.' It was then decided that they must ring something that they really knew, so 'Go Cambridge. After one hour and twenty minutes (almost exactly half-way) of good and undisturbed ringing, the automobile enginecr suddenly aspired to become a giant, pulled too hard and was seen festooned with his descending rope.
By this time it was $5.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., with only six-and-a-half hours of the year remaining, and the last four of these were already booked by a party and a performance for the B.B.C. Offers of a six-bell tower were forthcoming but they dare not chance another broken rope. The giants therefore carried off one mortal (leaving the others to clear up the mess) to the Little Giant's house and, after a quick tea, carried out a very thorough inspection of the straps and clappers of L. G.'s handbelis, put the next generation of little giants to bed, locked the Little Giantess in her own room, took the telephone off the hook and the striking weights off the grandfather clock, and settled down to a peal of Bob Minor 'in hand.' This was completed without mishap so that we can now record that they can all live happily ever after.

On hearing this story the next day, the five-year-old member of the next generation of little giants remarked that she knew all along which was the Big Giant because he had eaten most tea.

HOW CHANGE RINGING

 STARTED AT EAST BUDLEIGHA peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at East Budleigh on December 31st was rung in memory of the ${ }^{-}$Rey. Herbert William Gardiner, vicar from 1928 to 1948, and it is interesting to recall that it was during his early days that the tower switched from call changes to method ringing. He never failed to call on practice nights, and one night while we were happily striking some Stedman from cards on the 'music desk and changing every whole pull. he brought along the late Rev. E. S. Powell and Mrs. Powell.
At that time there were nine old hands and eight of us youngsters, and it was the start of a very embarrassing period for Mr. Gardiner. While we youngsters were 'all for it,' the old hands "didn't want nart to do wi" this "newfangled"stuff." A serious "tiff in the tower " started and went on for some weeks until Mr. Gardiner wisely withdrew and asked the late Rear-Admiral (later Rev.) Pallot to handle the situation. He brought about a compromise whereby we each had separate practice nights and rang on alternate Sundays. One by one the old hands died or gave up and so the 'newfangled stuff ' took over completely until, as in recent years, East Budleigh became the only tower in Devon where one could walk in on a practice and ask for a touch of London Minor.
The 'young uns," however, will always be grateful to the Littleham ringers who came once a week to instruct them in Grandsire Doubles. One of these. Jack West, will celebrate his 80 th birthday this month and his 60th year as a ringer at Littleham, and he's still ringing.

Wintry Weather at Drighlington Meeting

Approximately 30 members were present at the quarterly meeting of the Western District, held at St. Paul's Drighlington, on December 17th. Weather conditions being somewhat wintry, it was a most welcome sight, upon entering the spacious ringing room, to find an electric fire burning in one corner-a very popular corner for those not participating in any particular touch. Once more a wide variety of methods was rung, and it was encouraging to sce some of the company trying their hand at new methods.
Ringing was discontinued at 4.30 p.m. and a short service held, conducted by the Vicar of Drighlington. Tea was taken in a nearby café, after which the business meeting was held in the tower.
The thanks of the meeting were expressed to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company for their hospitality, and the Vicar, in his reply, formally welcomed the Western District to Drighlington. He subsequently became involved in a somewhat lengthy discourse on the origin of change ringing as a result of certain remarks made during the course of his address having reached the attentive ear of the vice-president.
Five new members were elected. viz.: Miss Barbara Morton and Messrs. Michacl Stephenson, Colin Sweeney, John Pogson and W. T. Cook.
The next meeting is to be held on March 17th at Halifax, with ringing at both St. John's, Halifax, and All Souls', Haley Hill.

For the first time in its history the University of Bristol Society sent out two bands to attempt peals, one of Cambridge Minor and one of Grandsire Doubles, on December 15 th. Unfortunately Cambridge was lost in the second extent and the Doubles band met one short owing to an overfull bus at 5 p.m. The local tower captain, Mr. W. M. Malpass, very kindly agreed to stand in for a quarter peal at Stone to enable the Doubles band to achieve some success.
Mr. G. C. Goodman, of Wimbledon, late Master of All Saints', Kingston-on-Thames, has returned to this country.

By a peal of Tripies at Bicker, Mr. R. C. Noon, of Spalding, has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. Success came after very many attempts.

Congratulations to Jae Roast, of Danbury, Essex, who, having just celebrated his 20th birthday, rang his 100 th peal on December 27th. Of these he conducted 61

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Browne, of Loddon, Norfolk, were ' at home' to the ringers and their wives after the peal of Double Oxford Bob Major on the local bells in honour of their golden wedding.

The peal at Branston, Lines, was rung in two days, two weeks, two months and two years. 'Go' was called at 9.30 p.m. on Saturday, December 31st, 1955, and 'That's all' at 12.28 a.m. on Sunday, January Ist, 1956.

The peal at Dunkerton rung by the Twerton-on-Avon band with Mr. Leslie R. G. Taylor was followed by an excellent tea kindly provided by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Butt. With two exceptions it was a teen-age band, and through 'The Ringing World' they desire to express thanks to their hosts new band formed in the ringing their first peal Three were recorded in a peal on April 16th and two more on December 28th. The latter included Mr. Ivan Cooper, who had his first lesson on June 28th and rang the third faultlessly throughout the peal.Errata.-The peal at Hersham, Surrey (see page 3), should read 5040 Plain Bob Major, and not as printed.

Itchingfield, Sussex, band have rung a quarter peal of 10 methods of Spliced Doubles. This is the most methods yet rung to a quarter peal.

We regret to hear of the death of Mr. Leslie C. Wightman, the well-known Suffolk ringer, on January 4th.

Mr. Walter Allwood, an old member of tho Chesterfield band, is in a very serious condition in Scarsdale Hospital, Chesterfield. We trust he may soon be restored to health.
The ringers of the third and fifth in the peal at Locking, Somerset (see page 821), should read John Schofield and Ian H. Oram respectively and not as printed.
News only reached the Editor this week-end that there was an unsuccessful attempt for London Surprise Maximus at Southwark Cathedral last summer.

Mr. J. R. Dennis, of 33, Clafendon Street, Cambridge, asks us to inform our Bath corrcspondent that he would like to represent the Cambridge District in the bachelors' peal attempt of Stedman Cinques.

Mr. Joseph Burgess, of Friezland, writes expressing the hope that the many young aspirants to ringing will pay more attention to their striking than "tower snatching." In his opinion 'tower snatching' is more competitive than the competitions for striking.

SALISBURY CATHEDRAL AND ITS BELLS

T
HE present Cathedral actually replaced an older one of Norman origin which was situated on the high and windy uplands of Old Sarum, about two miles north of the city, and it was in 1220 that Bishop Poore came down to the water meadows and laid the foundations on this site. It was partly completed and brought into use five years after.

As one views the exterior, standing in the Close, it is upwards that the eye is drawn, right to the cross at the top of England's highest spire-soaring 404 feet skywards, balanced and blended in true proportion upon the great central tower (which itself follows the usual pattern of so many Wiltshire towers).

But the real cause for amazement is that this marvellous spire was not originally planned by the early builders at all, but was not begun until long after the completion of the tower, and was really crected between the ycars 1310 and 1335, a hundred years or so after the foundations were laid. That it was, in a way, an afterthought, is borne out by the fact that the thickness of the four great piers which carry the entire weight is a mere seven fect each-and the placing of the spire alone added an extra estimated weight of 6,470 tons on them. The four great colunns which carry the Bell Harry Tower at Canterbury are each 12 feet in thickness, whilst the massive tower at St. Albans Cathedral is spread comfortably upon 64 feet of base- 16 feet at each corner ! The massive scaffolding which was used in building the spire at Salisbury is still in place, whilst at its base there still remains the treadmill, and this is still used in work carried out in hauling up, stone and materials for repairs, etc.

NOTICEABLE BULGE

Looking up inside the Cathedral at the columns there is a noticeable bulge outwards, as with the weight, whilst the spire itself lears nearly 28 inches to the south-west, but it is still considered safe. It is said that should the underground springs dry up hereabouts disaster would soon follow!
The great Sir Christopher Wren (himsclt Wiltshire born) placed two mighty crossbeams with an outward thrust in the central tower. Adjoining the main part of the building are the lovely Cloisters and the Chapter House. Various legends and tales are woven around the story of the building of the Cathedral, one being that the foundations were literally placed on bales of wool owing to the watery state of the locality.

To see the exterior at its best one should stand at the north-cast corner of the Green, near the Deanery, where the form of the double cross may best be seen. As one obscrver put it, 'Salisbury is all glorious without, but Exeter is all glorious within.' Both must be seen to be fully appreciated.

Foremost among the traditions of this great church, and amongst its chief glories, are the music and singing. The lovely treble voices are drawn from the boys of the Choristers' School, in the Close, whilst the harmonious whole choir is supported and led by the magnificent Wallis organ, considered to be one of the finest in the country.

THE RESTORER

But now, to music of another kind - and many people are surprised to learn that Salisbury Cathedral once possessed a noble and heavy ring of bells, which, with the great campanile containing them, were nearly all destroyed and swept away by our restorer friend, Wyatt. We know for sure that there were eight heayy bells in the campanile, but whilst recently making my investigations I was more than surprised to learn that there were certainly ten bells, and probably twelve, in the Cathedral's possession at some time! Some of the bells hung in the central tower, and may even have been brought down from the old cathedral at Old Sarum. But then came the building of the spire, about 1310 onwards, so, for safety's sake, the bells were removed and rehung in the campanile, which was built for them at the same time.
The campanile was taken down by Wyatt irs 1789 and the details concerning it are as fol-lows:-
It was constructed on the most massive scale, the walls being eight feet thick, and the interior of the tower 33 feet square. This stone part was 80 feet high to the top of the parapet. The ringing chamber was 37 feet above the ground, and the belfry 32 feet above this. Rising up from the top of the stonework there was an octagonal battlemented lantern which had a lead-covered spire rising from it, and on the top of that a cross and a weathercock. The entire structure was about 200 feet high.

SALE OF BELLS

Both the campanile and the bells were the victims of negligence, and from 1740 the bells could not be rung in peal because of the dilapidated state of the frame. In the year 1777, numbers two, three, five, seven and eight, which were all cracked, were sold at 10 s . 6 d . a stone, and of the remaining three bellis, the treble and number four were sold for $£ 105$, whilst number 6 was hung in the central tower in 1793, where it remains to this day doing duty as the service bell and the hour bell for the clock.

As one approaches the north porch of the Cathedral, coming in from the High Street gate, the actual site of the bell tower is just on the Green on one's left, and the exact markings of the old foundations may be traced after a dry spell of summer weather such as we experienced last year, for, as they still exist only a little way under the surface of the turf, the grass turns off brown first owing to the rubble and drainage underneath.

E. A BARNETT.

Hon. Secretary.
A visit to the spot should be preceded or followed by a visit to the Salisbury and Blackmore Museum in St. Anne's Street, where there are, fortunately, two large engravings of the Cathedral exterior showing the campanile itself (and a third giving the interior before 'restoration '). The whole Close must have presented a vastly different appearance in those days-for one thing even the old ponydrawn mowing machines had not then been invented, so the grass appears much longer, suitable for the sheep which grazed there.

A PURDUE BELL

And now a brief word about the only existing bell may be of interest. It was cast by William Purdue in 1661 (which, if my memory is correct, is two years before the casting of 'Purdue's Masterpiece,' which is Queen Camel tenor). Its weight is 24 cwt . 2 qr .; diameter of mouth $57 \frac{3}{3}$ in.; its note is $D$; and the inscription is as follows: 'Fusa Anno Regis Caroli 2di. XIIo. Aoa. Dni. 1661. Impensis Ecclesiz. William Purdue.'

The bell now carries no wheel and is hung dead, fastened to its original headstock with the old style cannons. The clapper strikes the bell by means of a balanced wooden lever arrangement just underneath it, the rope descending to the Cathedral floor by the north-west pier. It is altogether a lovely bell and worthy in every way of the tower that carries it, and of its founder.
It is unfortunate that, of all the other bells belonging to the ring, no record appears to exist regarding their history, and no knowledge remains as to their founders, and if any of the early bells really had come down from Oid Sarum that is all the more regrettable. Did the great campanile once resound to the music of ten, or perhaps even twelve? I myself can scarcely credit that-and would love to know for sure.

This, then, is the incomplete story of the bells of Salisbury Cathedral, and to us of this age an outstanding example of the consequences of neglect and apathy against which we are so rightly warned from time to time in our journal. A pooular local impression in Salisbury is that the bells of $\mathrm{St}^{2}$ Thomas' Church came from the Cathedral, but this is definitely not so.

SILENT FOR 20 OR MORE YEARS

The city now possesses four rings of eight, with a ring of six pending, and it is, maybe, a somewhat ironical coincidence that the finest of them all-eight, tenor 28 cwt .-has now remained silent for 20 years or more, for various reasons- dcterioration, lack of interest, money and ringers !
For those who may be fortunate enough to have the opportunity and the wish to pass a quiet hour or so in the Close with the Cathedral chimes and the voice of Purduc's bell for company, there is still much to meditate upon, for though the Cathedral cannot claim such royal and historical associations as Winchester and Canterbury, it still has an interesting story of its own to tell.
Note.-I would like to record my indebtedness to Mr. B. C. Parsons, Clerk of the Works to the Dean and Chapter, for his help in certain details, and his kindness in arranging for me to be shown up into the tower. Also to the book 'Bells in England,' by Tom Ingram, which gave me the details of the campanile and the disposal of its bells.-J. B. P.

THE QUICKEST TOWER-BELL PEAL

On Wednesday evening. December 7th, the South Wigston ringers had arranged to meet at the Loughborough Bell Foundry for their customary Wednesday evening peal attempt.

This was William Thornley's 'turn' to be in charge of the arrangements, and he had specially 'laid on' a peal of Bristol and included in the band a famous ringing character from Lincolnshire, who is making his presence felt in Lecester for a few months.

At the last moment. one of the band was indisposed and as the 'first reserve ' had not had enough time to get shaved even (let alone learn Bristol!) a peal of Double Oxford was started. It was soon obvious that several people did no! know the blue line and after 20 minutes 'Stand ' was called.
This caused great disappointment to the younger members and also to Ernest Morris, who wanted as many peals as possible to equal his 1922 record.

Let's go for a quick peal of Plain Bob.' said the gentleman from Lincolnshire. 'Yes.' replied six others. (The writer did not reply as he had left his wife in bed.)
Ropes were shortened and the band rearranged. It was 7 p.m. when the bells went into changes-how many people have started for a tower-bell peal at that time?-and it was exactly $8.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. when rounds came up.

Every change was rung correctly-there is no doubt about that, but there was no enjoyment in ringing at that speed as the sound of the bells merged into one continuous hum It was obvious that the limit had been reached when the tenor sally at handstroke only just managed to bob up and down again. Nevertheless it was a true peal with every one of the 5.024 changes struck correctly.

CAMBRIDGE YOUTHS BROADCAST

The last evening of 1955 was a joyful one for members of the Cambridge Youths, for invitations had gone out from their popular secretary, Mr. J. Quinney, to dine and wine with him at his home.
The party, including the Vicar and Curate of Great St. Mary's, began to assemble at 8 p.m. to partake of the good things provided. Tales were told of the past, records of previous broadcasts from Cambridge were heard on the radiogram, and with courses of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples ${ }^{\circ}$ on handbells time passed all too quickly, and we were reminded of one more job we had to do-an half-hour broadcast on the B.B.C.'s overseas programme, 11.45 p.m. to $12.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. So after expressing our thanks and appreciation to our hosts, off to the tower of St. Mary's, and on the air went 748 Grandsire Cinques.
The ringers were: P. H. Pigg 1. P. Border 2. C. A. Hurst 3. H. Brown 4. E.G. Hibbins (conductor) 5. T. R. Dennis 6. W. J. Ridgman ${ }^{-7}$. B. Pratt 8. C. W. Smith 9, H. Martin 10, W. J. Quinney 11, A. Rayner 12 . E. G. H.

A BOXING DAY OUTING

To many ringers Boxing Day each year is the highlight of the Christmas holidays, for this is the day on which Wilf Panter arranges one of his grand ringing tours together, usually, with a short reliability trial.
Although part of the area chosen for the 1955 outing should have provided at least one excellent trials section, surprisingly none was included!

At 11 a.m. a mixed band of ringers met at Burlescombe (Devon) to ring on the heavy six (tenor 17 cwt .) before travelling to Holcombe Rogus ( $6,17 \mathrm{cwt}$.) for half-an-hour's ringing. Over the Somerset border to Ashbrittle ( $6,8-0$ 21) where the bells go like tops. Hot pasties and mincepies at the 'local' strengthened the party for the afternoon's programme which started at Milverton (8. 18 cwt .) ; here the band were pleased to meet Claude Tarr and Mrs. E. S. Powell.

At Oake ( $5,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) the entry to the ringing chamber is by way of a vertical ladder and a trap door, which caused some difficulty to the less slim members of the party. Those excellent young ringers, Pam and Jean Stevens, 'bagged" this tower with the other visitors, but unfortunately the ropes are very bad and in the middle of a touch of "mixed ' Doubles the writer was suddenly left holding about one foot of the tenor rope. However, a temporary repair was made to enable all the band to have a ring.
Halse ( 6.11 cwt .) was soon reached.-and after a short ring a move was made to Thurloxton ( 5 . 7 cwt .) with its long draught and very stiff ropes. Unfortunately the organiser's car had increasingly developed a terrific thirst for water owing to a choked radiator. and the programme now being far behind schedule, it was decided to miss the next tower on the list (Goathurst) and go direct to North Petherton ( $6,21 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Here the party were met by Messis. Major and Miller. of the local band, and were reioined by Pam and Jean, this time with their father as well. Good use was made of these fine toned bells till about 7 p.m.. which concluded the day's outing.

All the band are grateful to Wilf for his fine organisation. and to all incumbents and local ringers for the use of their bells. E. T. P. F.

Because of the carly Easter, the Peals Analysis Committee have to expedite their work on the Analysis Tables in time for the Whitsun Central Council meeting. They cannot complete their work until all 1955 deals have been published. Will conductors please send to the Editor any outstanding 1955 peals without delay.

CHRISTMAS IN SOUTH CORNWALL

Cornwall at Christmastime is a totally different place from what it is in summer with its throngs of holiday-makers. At the present time one can go miles without seeing a soul. However, the friendliness and hospitality of its people remain unchanged, none the less by the ringers. Ringing is just one of the activitics in this arca. Everyone seems to belong to something-church or chapel choir, male voice choir, village band. etc., often to more than one organisation.

Good humour and talking with friends on Christmas Eve till after midnight left some doubt as to whether the writer would be up for early ringing. However. an alarm clock and some bumping on the wall from the next room? at $5.20 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. had the desired effect, and after a quick snack, a dash up the steep one-mile hill (by car!) to the Square at St. Keverne found 15 more had arrived right on time.

The tower with spire, which can be seen many miles in either direction up and down the Channel, contains a finc Taylor eight, the most southerly in the country. These were set going promptly at $6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. into rounds. "Queens' and call changes with wonderful precision. At 7 a.m. coats were put on and footsteps directed to the Vicarage, where as usual on this day, breakfast was waiting by a roaring fire and brightlylit Christmas trec. (I wonder how many places have such a custom as this?) Afterwards, back to the tower for another half-hour's 'peal 'for early service. and later for Matins and Evensong, the writer not being allowed to stand out once!

Boxing Day brought further ringing in a tour organised by friends at Kenwyn, Truro, when towers were visited at Fowey, Lanlivery, Luxulyan, Blisland, Cardynham, St. Breward and St. Mabyn.

Plenty of ringing. listening to carols under the Christmas tree in the Square, good friends and good food! What more could a ringer want at this season? Thank you, Cornwall!

CHRISTMAS AT BRISTOL

Enthusiasm for the ancient art in Bristol is not on the wane.
On Christmas morning at 6 o'clock 17 12-belt ringers turned up at St. Mary Redclife, Bristol, Cinques being enjoyed from the outset.

No transport, other than that possessed by some of them, made the conditions of travel the usual 'hoof it."
The average distance from the church was three miles, and Alfred Pearce, now $85 \frac{1}{2}$ years young, was there at 6 a.m., having travelled seven miles. He rang Cinques as well as the rest.

The St. Mary Guild is indeed grateful for the support of the visitors.

KIMPTON BELLS

Dear Sir,-A Restoration Fund opened a year ago with a target of $£ 600$ to have the Kimpton bells tunced and rehung has already reached $£ 200$ through the keen efforts of the young band and the support of the village organisations.

The oldest bell, the fifth, is reputed to have been cast by one William Burford, whose last will dates from the year 1390. and on this evidence the bell appears to be more than 500 years old. (This information abstracted from an article, "Ancient Bells at Kimpton, 'The Ringing World,' November 22nd, 1929.)
Any contributions or ideas to assist in raising the remainder of the money required would be very gratefully recejved by me.-Yours faithfully.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HE MET JASPER SNOWDON

Dear Sir,-I read your leading article of November 18th regarding the famous names of noen in the ringing world, and 1 was most interested in the description of Snowdon. I think I may be the only one living who ever met him: also Robert Tuke, the great friend of Snowdon.
He was my first instructor in bell ringing. although my father was the conductor of the hand at Bradford Parish Church when I learnt to ring. Perhaps it was because I was an apprentice at the same firm where he was manager and he had enough bother with me there? He soon took me in hand and told me 1 had to be a treble ringer because there were not many good treble ringers and that I had to be one. I might say I made good at both jobs under his instruction.
I have also been a photographer, played howls. billiards. snooker and, of course, domines. At Bradford Cricket Club I have won prizes at all these games: that's why I have not many peals to my credit- 66 for Yorkshire Association and six with the tourists -three away and three at home.
I have now finished with ringing because of a left leg fractured and a right leg amputated. During had weather I have terrible pain on my stump and cannot do anything. I am very well just now so 1 thought I had better write wishing you a very happy New Year. May the year 1956 be a more prosperous one for "The Ringing World.' I was a great friend of Jack Goldsmith and I want the paper to carry on for his sake. I have had a ringing paper since 1887 up to the present time. Yours sincercly,

JOE HARDCASTLE.
P S.- I have also met Sir Percival Heywood, Henry Johnson and William Sottanstall.-J. H. - 70, Beechwood Avenue, Wibsey, Bradford.

WHO'S FOR A RAILWAYMEN'S PEAL?

Dear Sir,-Reference in 'The Ringing World ' for December 16th to 'The British Railways Magazine.' which contained an attractive cover picture of a team of railwaymen-ringers in action. revives the desire for a railwaymen's peal.
We at Crewe, a famous railway town and very central, offer our Christ Church ring of 10 (tenor 20 cwt .) for a railwaymen's peal. The bells are quite a good ring, as those who have rung them will agree.
Method, Caters for preference. Date, somewhere between the end of March to the beginning of May. Any railwayman wishing to stand in please reply to the address below.
Now, Rodney, here's your opportunity for a bit of good ringing and a bit of Belfrymanship. Yours, etc.
W. FRANK STENSON.

Crewe. Cheshire.
THESE BACHELORS ARE SUSPICIOUS
Dear Sir,-I note with some alarm Mr. R. O. Fry's warning regarding the arrangement of a peal for eligible bachelors. As he is a near neighbour of the arranger and obviously in possession of more facts, he can perhaps enlighten us.
From his letter, and taking into account the anonymity of the arranger. one might deduce that the peal is not being arranged by an "eligible bachelor," but by some "poor frustrated female.' If this deduction is correct, then many would-be participants will undoubtedly be gratcful for Mr. Fry's warning.-Yours sincerelv.

Derby.

CENTRAL COUNCLL LITERATLRE AND

 PRESS COMMITTEEDear Sir.-I should be grateful if you would kindly allow me to trespass on your valuable space with reference to the above committee. It would greatly assist the committee in its review of 1955 if readers would be good enough to send copies of articles that have appeared in national or local papers relating to ringing and ringing affairs. The Report for the Ceniral Council has to be based on a broad survey of the literature of the year, and there is therefore little possibility of considering the multitudinous small accounts of ringing activities that so often (and rightly) appear in local papers. What the committee really secks is the article or feature illustrating the impact of ringing on the general public or revealing the view of ringing taken by the layman.
Suitable material for csinsideration may be sent to me at the addres; given below or to Mr. F. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath, Ircland.

It may not, of course, be possible to acknowledge every contribution, and I must therefore ask the indulgence of helpers in being content with a general acknowledgment in your columns later on.-Yours sincerely,

EDGAR C SHEPHERD.
2, Witley Avenue, Solihull.

> RINGERS REMEMBERED IN WILL Mr. John Joseph Cecil Rowden, M.B.E., a retired civil servant, who died at Loughton, Essex, on September 28 th . left $£ 100$ in his will to the Rector of Loughton to pay the sum of $£ 5$ to each of the persons acting as bellringers at the time of his death. He lived quite close to the church and the reason for the bequest was that during his illness, when he was confined to bed, he could hear the bells and so say his prayers at the same time as those in church.

> The Rector of St. John's, Loughron. presented the money to the ringers after ringing in the New Year at 12.10 a.m. with an additional $£ 1$ from the Parish Council for their loyal services during the year.

'THE WRITING ON THE WALL'

Dear Sir,-It is the irresponsible attitude exhibited by Mr. Stenson, and which is prevalent among many ringers, which will in the end, no doubt. lead to our activities being curtailed to a greater or lesser extent.
That many bells are noisy in the vicinity of the tower, and that ringing, especially of peals, on them causes justifiable annoyance to those living nearby, it is futile to deny.
Furthermore, it is not only to the indifferent or hostile listener that the battering deluge of sound which floods with little or no restriction from some towers is unpleasant, but also to lovers of bells whose ears have not become entirely insensitive or whose prejudice does not outweigh their reason. In fact. there are many beautiful rings of bells which are spoilt simply because the volume of sound from them is uncontrolled.
The other factor influencing the degree of nuisance is, of course, bad ringing. Very many of us have been guilty of rhis, as it is easy in the excitement of achievement to lower our standards unconsciously. It would perhaps help here if we could keep uppermost in our minds that our ringing is our advertisement, and if we want the right type of recruits to come along to learn to ring we shall have to put the right kind of stuff out of our towers to attract them.-Yours sincerely,
P. H. WHITAKER.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS.  Exeter Branch  The annual meeting of the Exeter Branch was held at Heavitree on December 10th, commencing with the glorious tones of this fine octave ringing out just after 3 p.m. signalling the usual service before the tea and business.The Rev. J. Benton welcomed the members on behalf of the Vicar and Church Council, and spoke of the value of the ringers' work in connection with the church. The new 'form of service' was used for the first time in this Branch.

After an enjoyable tea. the meeting started with the Rev. C. J. Poulton in the chair, supported by the president of the Guild. the general secretary, and vice-president (Mr. E. J. Ryall).
The general account had increased by $£ 1$ 6s. and the instruction account now stood at $£ 39$ 10s. The chairman suggested that a proposal be forwarded for discussion by the general committee that some consideration should be shown to men on National Service with regard to their subscription to the funds of the Guild.
The annual report was accepted, the main point being a slight decrease in membership. It was suggested that this was caused by members not giving the instruction to learners that was required, and the 'going down' of some seven or eight university members. Memters were urged to encourage more recruits and to give more support to. Branch activities.
The officers elected for 1956 were : chairman, the Rev. C. J. Poulton ; hon. secrctary, Mr. F. Wreford; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. F. Wills; Ringing Master, Mr. E, W. Biffin ; assistant Ringing Master, Mr. N. Mallett.
Meetings arranged for 1956 were for April 14th. Alphington: June 9th, Newton St. Cyres; September 8th. Thorverton, and December 8ib, St. Thomas', Exeter-subject to permission being obtained.
Guild proficiency certificates were presented to Miss Mary Wills and Mr. Bernard Stone, of St. Thomas', Exeter, by the president, the Rev. Preb. E. V.' Cox. Dr. D. Longridge. a local Devonian, now resident in British Columbia and a member of the Victoria Cathedral ringers, was elected a non-resident life member of the Guild. Messrs. A. R. Jones and B. Stone were elected performing members.
Mr. E. J. Ryall suggested that ringing should be encouraged among students at the University and St. Luke's College. It was decided to send an invitation giving details of ringing available in the city.
The meeting concluded with the usual thanks being accorded to those contributing to the success of the meeting.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES IN MID-DEVON

A number of members of the Mid-Devon Branch made good use of their time during the Christmas holidays. On Boxing Day afternoon a quarter peal was rung at St Michael's Church. East Teignmouth, after which a visit was paid to Dawlish Parish Church for further ringing.

On the following afternoon a few memhers journeyed to Dartmouth where some good practice was put in at St. Clement's, Townstal, with the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge and some of his ringers.
On Saturday, to finish the year, a visit was paid to Buckfast Abbey where a most enjoyable afternoon was spent. some of the ringers admiring the very fine Crib at the west end of the Abhey. Handbells were later brought into use on this occasion, and the thanks of all are due to those who provided hospitality,

OBITUARY

MR. JOSHUA DEAN

We deeply regret to record the passing at the age of 85 of Mr. Joshua Dean, the last of the old school at Norbury, a school tutored by that great teacher, James S. Wilde.

Mr. Dean took part in the first change ringing by a local band at Norbury when in 1896 they rang an extent of Plain Bob Minor. In 1897 they rang a date touch arranged by J. S. Wilde, and on May 5th, 1900, the first peal on the bells was rung by a local band which contained four first pealers, to which Mr. Dean rang the treble. The peal was two extents Oxford Treble Bob, two extents Kent Treble Bob, two extents Plain Bob and an extent College Single, and was the first peal of Minor rung by the Stockport and Bowdon Branch of the Chester Guild.
Six months later the same band, with one alteration, rang a peal in seven methods (Violet, New London Pleasure, Oxford, Kent, College Single, Warnham Court and Plain Bob), the first in seven methods by all and by the Branch. On December 20th, 1902, he took part in the first 11 method peal by the Chester Guild; this consisted of eight 360 's and three extents, and then, on May 23rd, 1903, 14360 's in 14 different methods were rung, followed in December by nine extents in nine different methods. About this time Mr. Dean's work took him away from the village but he retained his interest in the activities of the tower, and although since his retirement he did not do much ringing, he was often seen in the tower chatting about old times and encouraging young ringers.
With his passing goes the last link with the old band at Norbury, a band which laid, under the guidance of J. S. Wilde, a foundation upon which the late James Fernley, spurred on by the Rev. A. T. Beeston, built and upon which we are still building.

He was laid to rest in Norbury Churchyard on December 27 th, when the bells were rung as the cortege approached the church, and handbells were rung at the graveside as a last tribute to his memory by members of the Stockport and Bowdon Branch of the Chester Guild.

MR. BENJAMIN A. KNIGHTS
It is with the deepest regret that we report the passing of Mr. Benjamin A. Knights (son of the famous ringer and composer, Arthur Knights), whose death occurred on December 27th. He was laid to rest on December 30th at Spital Cemetery, Chesterfield, where his talented father is buried.

Ben Knights was a keen and expert ringer and conductor and in the days when the Chesterfield company was going strong, ringing peals almost week by week of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Kent Royal and other methods, he took his place in that enthusiastic band. He joined the old Midland Counties Association in 1901 and with that Society rang about 250 peals. He migrated to Lancashire, and with the local and other companies rang many peals and also others for the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. Knights was the last surviving member of the band who rang the then record long peal of Stedman Caters $(18,027)$ at All Saints', Loughborough, on April 12th, 1909, in 12 hours 18 minutes. Mr. W. J. Nudds, of London, who recently passed away, rang the eighth to this same record peal-Ben Knights rang the sixth. Thus pass on the last two survivors. The present writer recalls vividly and with pride, peals rung with these two great men, viz.: with Mr. Nudds on the original old Bow Bells, February 27th, 1926, in 3 hours 56 minutes, 5,280 Cambridge Surprise Maximus, conducted by the late Wm. Pye. Mr. Nudds rang ninth and I rang the eighth.
With Mr. Knights at Manchester Town Hall on the rough-going old ten (tenor 52 cwt .), February 12th, 1921, I rang in a pcal of Stedman Caters. In this peal were some noted figures -James W. Washbrook (junior) treble, Benjamin A. Knights 2, Ernest Morris 3, Samuel Wood 4, Frederick Page 5, Charles H. Page 6, Harry Chapman 7, James W. Washbrook (composer and conductor) 8, Richard F. Deal 9, Councillor Amos Trippier and Joseph Wilson, tenor.

ERNEST MORRIS.

MR. W. J. THYNG

It is with further regret we learn that another member of the old Chesterfield company-Mr. W. J. Thyng-passed away about three weeks ago. He joined the Midland Counties Association in 1894 and with them rang in 89 peals -many along with the above mentioned Knights family and the Chesterfield Society. He also rang 100 peals for the Yorkshire Association on both tower- and handbells.

ERNEST MORRIS.

MR. RICHARD J. JENNER

With the passing of Mr. Richard Jonathan Jenner, who was born in Edenbridge and lived there all his life, the Kent County Association has lost its oldest member. He died on Dec. 17th, after a short illness, in Oxted Hospital, in his 93 rd year. He was the last surviving member of the band which rang the first peal on the then new eight, on October 4th, 1896.
' Dick,' as he was familiarly known, was of a most musical nature. In his younger days he played the bass fiddle in the local string orchestra and was a member of the Town Band and Choral Society. He first sang in the Parish Church Choir as a lad of eight years, and later took up the art of bell-ringing.

In 1951 he completed eighty years' scrvice as chorister and ringer, and to commemorate this unique event a peal of Bob Major (conducted by Mr. E. J. Ladd) was rung on his 88 th birthday.

His last visit to the tower was in September of last year, when the Vicar of Edenbridge, the Rev. E. A. Graham, on behalf of the Kent County Association, presented him with a letter of congratulation on attaining the age of 92 , from the secretary of the Kent County Association, Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher, and a cheque from the Benevolent Fund. Before and after the presentation, the local band, joined by ringing friends from Tunbridge Wells and Limpsfield Chart, rang several touches.

There is no complete record of all his peals, but it is believed that he rang well over fifty, many of them Stedman Triples, his favourite method.

The funeral service on December 21st was conducted by the Rev. E. A. Graham, and Mr. Jenner's favourite hymn, 'Pleasant are Thy courts above,' was sung.

He was laid to rest in the Old Churchyard within the sound of the bells he loved so well.

MR. W. HARDING

We regret to record the death of Mr. W. Harding, of Blunham, Beds, which took place on December 16th, at the age of 78 years.

A lifelong ringer at his Parish Church, he had been steeplckeeper for many years until failing health made it impossible for him to climb the awkward ladder into the ringing room. But though unable to take part himself, he was always within earshot whenever the bells were rung, and if he heard any bad striking he did not hesitate to ask why.
In the evening following the funeral a halfmuffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung to his memory.
C. H. H.

MR. ALBERT H. WARD  AN APPRECIATION

It was with sorrow and regret we read in -The Ringing World, of November 11 th of the passing of yet another old member of the Exercise-Albert H. Ward, at his home in Derby at the ripe age of 82 years.

Albert had given many years of excellent service to ringing, especially in and around Derby. He joined the Midland Counties Association in 1893 and, until its conclusion in 1945 when the M.C.A. was divided into diocesan guilds, rang 225 peals for the Association in the Standard and Surprise methods. A large number of the peals were on eight to twelve bells and he conducted many. He was equally at home and rang many peals on handbells.

One particular peal of which he was very proud was 5,050 Stedman Caters rung on Oct. 29 th, 1932, composed by the late Sir Arthur P. Heywood, president, and conducted by Ernest Morris, secretary, to commemorate the 50 th jubilee of the Midland Counties, Association, which was founded at St. Andrew's, Derby, in 1882. It was at this church where Albert rang for Sunday and other services, and when the bells were increased he gave the second of the present ring of ten. It is inscribed, 'Grant us Thy peace, and was given, I believe, in memory of his wife.
Albert, among other kindred associations. was an honoured member for many years of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, and took part in several peals for the Guild on eight, ten and twelve bells.

After Worcester Cathedral bells were recast the St. Martin's Guild were privileged to ring occasionally (and still are) for the Sunday evening nave services, and Albert often motored from Derby, calling at Birmingham to join in the journey to Worcester. It was generally midnight when he left Birmingham to return home; he always loved to hear and ring on this grand twelve, as do so many other visiting ringers.
So passes another fine old stalwart in Albert H. Ward

In conclusion, may I take this opportunity to thank Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, for much valuable information.

ALBERT WALKER.

ANCIENT BELLS IN DEVON

A Progress Report

WHO were the founders? So asks Mr. Frederick Smale, and I for one wish I could tell him all the answers-though if I. knew them all 1 should have to find another hobby. But although this is and can be nothing but a progress report, there is some progress, and that, it would seem, the first for a good many years in this county.

The last complete survey of the bells of Devon was made nigh on a century ago, and a monumental work it was, but it seems a pity that since then so many people have relied on it as much as they have, for it is as fallible as most human works. The Rev. H. T. Ellacombe worked by candle or lantern-light in much dirtier and worse-kept bellchambers than most of ours to-day, yet few people have taken it in hand to check or revise his information. His proof-reader was not very accurate either, and misprints abound in his beautiful and invaluable book. But Pearson's 'Ringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Devon,' sections in church and local guide-books, and even erudite articles in the Transactions of the Devon Association and such-like bodies, all perpetuate both mistakes and misprints unchecked. Often it's of no consequence; sometimes it can be annoying, as when a friend of mine visited East Ogwell to look at a particular bell and found that 'East ' and 'West' had been switched in Ellacombe's work (though corrected by Pearson). It can also cause a great waste of brain-work, as it has undoubtedly done in the case of the 2nd of the big five at Molland. Pearson and Mr. Smale are not the only people who have puzzled over the inscription, 'giftosanctomaradrono,' but a visit to the bell itself provides the solution. The mystery was caused by two people; by Thomas Geffries, the founder of the bell, who put two letters in upside down, and left no indication of the start and finish of the motto; and the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, who misread those letters and three others and omitted four more-easy enough because they come below the headstock.

Here is the solution of that puzzle :-
Actual inscription: sanctamariaorapronobistg
[* These letters are inverted.]

Ellacombe's version: sanctomar----adrono§gifto

Ellacombe began reading at $\S$. He read the 'long ' $s$ ' as an ' $f$ ' and the ' g ,' and later an ' a ' as ' 0 '; he left out the four letters 'iaor,', and made the very easy mistake of misreading the inverted ' $p$ ' and ' $b$.' The actual inscription is an invocation of the prayers of the Blessed Virgin Mary, with the founder's initials, T.G., which are found on several bells in that part of the county; he lived in Bristol, and his foundry had been doing business in North Devon and as far south as Woodbury since before the middle of the 14th century. The tenor at Molland, a splendid bell, came from Bristol too, some time before.
But apart from the checking and correcting of Ellacombe's work, there is new material to be used. We have the benefit of much immensely important work done in other counties by such men as Stahlschmidt, Walters and Sharpe, on the development of bell-forms and lettering, and the identification of London and provincial founders. In addition there is material in documents and church registers to which Ellacombe had no access.

As far as the mediæval Exeter foundry is concerned, the picture at present seems to be like this. Ellacombe knew three of the founders by name: Norton (c. 1440) and the two Byrdalls (c. 1600-1624). He also knew the initials I.T. The full name of this founder still remains a mystery, but he seems to have followed Norton almost immediately; the matter isn't made any more simple because his trade-mark was still in use almost 150 years later!

Before Norton the foundry used Lombardic letters of a very handsome type, and before that a different set which are rare but appear at Templeton and possibly elsewhere. It would seem that the foundry began not long before 1400 ; if earlier, nothing seems to remain of its work. It was Robert Norton who left the greatest mark on the business: under his management the change to black-letter took place, and he seems to have invented a kind of mass-production system for the making of his inscriptions, some of which were standard ones, put on the bell a whole word at a time instead of letter by letter.

Some later founders adopted the custom of putting coins into the crown-mould of their, bells; these coins were never remarked upon by Ellacombe, but they are useful in dating the bells; most of them belong to the reign of Edward IV. Apart from this, the foundry continued with the same stamps, mostly, as Norton had Icft behind, and in much the same style of workmanship, until the Reformation or perhaps beyond it, though there are signs of illiteracy in the later years.

The Reformation brought a slump, and when the Byrdalls revived the bell-founding side of what was then probably a general brass-andcopper foundry, they inherited the old 'plant' but not the old workmanship. These two appear to have been the last owners of the business; the Pennington firm, using quite different methods and equipment, began before John Byrdall's death in 1624, and seems to have been a rival conçern. You can read more about the Byrdalls in "The Ringing World ' of August 27th, 1954.

One more name we know-William Baker, who in about 1515 fought an action in Chancery against all the might of the Exeter City Fathers. I hope he won it, for his case sounds very reasonable, but so far none of his bells have been identified.

Apart from the work of this fine firm, whose bells went as far afield as Dorchester, Oxon, and the Channel Islands, there was a steady 'import' trade with the Bristol and London foundries. We have touched on the Bristol foundry already; of the London founders' work Devon has a really remarkable collection, including two original peals of three and much of another. Brushford has a peal by Dawe; Townstal has its back three by Chamberlain; and Wolborough preserves in its church one wholc bell and the inscription-bands of two others by Bird. In addition there are single bells or pairs by Wymbish, Joanna Hille (two beauties at Manaton), and Danyell's successors, and possibly others. Bells were also imported during the latter part of this period, in Queen Mary's reign, from Ash Priors, the home of Roger Semson.

Lastly, there are the mysteries. The treble at Molland is one; its date is 1595 , not 1562, like the rest of the inscription it reads backwards and upside down, and looks like 1562 until you see it in a mirror. The rest seems to have come from a monumental brass, as probably did the word 'lemosinary, which appears several times on the tenor at Abbotsham and a small clock bell in Torre Abbcy. Most of the uninscribed bells can readily be dated, and ascribed to one foundry or another, but one of these is quite without parallel: a small bell, rather long-waisted with prettily-moulded cable cannons, it belongs to the church at Haccombe. where it will soon hang again. with a new headstock. Mr. George P. Elphick estimates its date at about 1290, so that it is easily the oldest known bell in the colnty. Who cast it no one can yet say, but it is close in date, as in distance, to Roger de Ropeforde, of Paignton, who was 'campanistarius' to the Cathedral of Exeter. It may have come from anywhere.

So much we know; a little more we can guess. More, at least, than Ellacombe knew, but not half as much as we ought to have found out if his work had been continued all throligh the 90 years since his great survey. Much there is that still lies hidden, but although this is only a progress report, it can report something.

Because of his recent accident, for the first time in his 72 years as a ringer Mr. Dick Standard was not in a tower for Christmas and the New Year ringing. Looking much less than his 84 years, Dick attended the South-Western District of the Essex Association annual meeting at Barking, and enjoyed a chat in the church with many friends coming through on their way to the tower Youth was represented by ten-joar-old Susan Leach, of Bexley, who rang rounds with confidence and grace.

Keele, Staffs, ringers have had an estimate of $£ 562$ for the complete restoration of their bells. One of the bells was cast by an unknown founder about the end of the 15 th century.

Wedding bells will soon be ringing for Bobby Ferris, captain of All Saints', Parramatta, N.S.W. What about another peal, Parramatta? asks an Essex correspondent.
The band that rang a peal at Chaddesley Corbett, Worcs, would like to associate Mr. W. Jones, the local captain, with it; he has now been a ringer here for 55 years.

Insids a parcel containing delicacies from Spain, recelved by a well-known Lancashire ringer, was the message: 'With my best wishes when the bells ring so well conducted by you, and may this beautiful sound bring us the peace we want.' The message was attached to an onion decorated with the Spanish colours!
Prior to the peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Paul's, Burton, on December 31st, members of the local band assembled in the ringing chamber where, on their behalf, the Vicar, the Rev. W. Willis Price, presented a leather bound peal record book to Mrs. Dorothy Gardiner as a memento of her membership with St. Paul's Society of Change-ringers.

The rope breaking on the sixth after $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' ringing brought to an end a peal
GOSSIP attemot of Grandsire Caters at Appleton, Berks, on December 31st. The peal was to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Fred White, who has rung 120 peals on Appleton tenor, among them being the record lengths of 16,271 of Grandsire Caters and 21,363 of Stedman Caters.
Mr. R. Roger Savory informs us that the peal at Badsey, Worcs, reported on page 4, is not the 50 th in the tower.
The Church of St. Chad, Burton, has but one bell hung in a frame designed to carry eight bells. To enable the parishioners to hear changeringing, four members of St. Paul's ringers attended Evensong on January 1st, and before the Blessing rang rounds, Queens, and a touch of Grandsire Triples on handbells. The ringers were A. G. Foster $1-2$, D. T. Gardiner 3-4, B. G. Key 5-6, E. M. Key 7-8.
'The Poultry World' of January 12th contains a letter from Mr. A. Beverley Ringer. A correspondent assures us that this is not a nom-de-plume as Mr. A. Beverley Ringer lives at Seeth:ng, near Norwich. We hope with such a name he is one of us and not a wringer of poultry. Apropos names our correspondent once worked with a Mr. Godbelieve.
We hope that the offer of Mr. J. L. GarnerHayward, of 8, Orchard Crescent, Coventry, to organise a party of English ringers to visit Australia for the Olympic Games will receive a good response. While Mr. Garner-Hayward suggests flying in his letter, he would be prepared to consider making the journey by sea. At one time Mr. Garner-Hayward was a tenant of one of the houses of the late Mr. W. H. Fussell, who organised the last tour.

UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATION REUNION

RINGERS' RELATIONS WITH OTHER CHURCH WORKERS

$r_{1}$HE Universities Association annual dinner, held at the Victoria, London, on Jan. 6th, was attended by about 50 members, with Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, the president, in the chair. Guests present included the Rev. G. C. Taylor, Vicar of St. Giles-in-the-Fields, where the service was held in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett, Mr. J. S. Mason, (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) and Mr. T. Franzis (Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths).
Mr. A. York-Bramble was unable to be present to propose the toast of 'The Church.' He sent his notes, and these were read by Mr. Wilfrid Moreton. He wrote : 'I cannot but feel that two aspects of the pursuit of ringing, which are virtually inseparable, often tend to be regarded as diverse. I mean, on the one hand, the study and practice of ringing as an art and an accomplishment, and on the other, its application to the service of the Church. The recognition, by the Church, of our contribution as ringers to its service, will grow, I suggest, in direct proportion to the degree to which we ourselves identify these two aspects.

TRADITIONS DIE HARD

Some traditions die hard; and that which holds that ringers are scarcely in the same category as other church workers is, in these days, as unintelligible as it seems to be prevalent. Nevertheless ringers are themselves largely to blame for any tenure of this view: firstly, I think, as well as the aural evidence of this contribution of theirs, by not cntering collectively, while the last bell tolls. into the church to complete their act of worship. even into a set place, like the choir. Secondly, they are to be blamed, I think, for creating the impression (through the absence of some ringers from divine service) that they have no desire to be recognised as church workers.

- To correct these false views, closer contact with the church and its work could be sought. For example, the belfry must be declared open to members of the congregation by reservation on specific occasions, say, the first Sunday in the month. A ringers' Sunday might be celebrated annually, when ringers might read lessons and give handbell voluntaries in the nave, in lieu of, say, a choral anthem, and when addresses might treat of church workers in general and of ringers in particular. No doubt the liaison could be strengthened by a measure of propaganda in the Sunday school, so as to highlight the services of ringing as one of those enjoyable activities to be pursued throughout a lifetime. lifetime.

PEOPLE THINKING ABOUT RELIGION

The Rev. G. C. Taylor. Vicar of St. Giles-in-the-Fields. thanked the U.A. for holding their service in his church, and hoped it would be possible to make it an annual event. He happened to be just one member of the church among 50 poople present that evening. He did not represent any abstract Church with a capital 'C. It was animal. not vegetable or mineral. although some people thought it was so. This ringing was a legal right. 'Let us be certain that the Church is something other than ourselves? selves.'
There was, be believed, a great morning arising for the Church. It was now possible to mention religious things in ordinary conversation with unreligious people without anybody being scandalised or put out. He had only been a parson sfice 1938 , but in that time there had parson sifice 1938, but in that time there had been a great change. There had been too long a spiritual vacuum and it had got to cease. He passed this on in order that they would take their ringing more seriously. At St. Giles' they had been keeping records of communions since 1887, and they had more communions this Christmas than in any previous Christmas.
Mr. E. A. Barnett, in proposing the toast of ' The Universities Association,' said twice quite recently it had been his pleasure to attend the 75 th anniversary dinners of Metropolitan Associations; theirs was one of the younger Associations and it was good to think of the changes that had occurred between the days of those associations and their own. Of course it was not true to say that all the ringers of 75 years ago were a bad lot. There might have been some terrible characters among them, and there still are. Generally speaking, they had said goodbye to that sort of thing, but it would be nice to think that the standard of ringing had improved in a manner commensurate with it.

ACID TEST OF A GOOD RINGER

It seemed to him that ringing was suffering from several diseases; one was unless a man could ring spliced Surprise within six weeks of handling a bell he was written off as a failure. Another thing was that the peals in "The Ringing World ' bore no relation to the state of ringing in the country. For instance, Sunday service ringing did not receive the support it should. He knew the Association did excellent work in that respect but the acid test was whether they could retain their attachment to a Sunday service band. If they could continue that attachment for 25 years then they had achieved something. He felt it was un to them to do their best for the Sunday service bands, and if their Association could set an example then it would have more than justified its existence.
Mr. Brian Threlfall, in acknowledging the toast, welcomed the guests-the Rev. ©. C. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs, Barnett, Mr. J. S. Mason (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) and Mr. T. Francis (Master of the Socicty of Royal Cumberland Youths). He thanked the incumbents of Edgware, Harrow-on-the-Hill, Harrow Wcald and St. Giles-in-theFields for permission to ring in their churches. and the organist (the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow) for his services, and the Rev. G. C. Taylor.

THE BUSINESS MEETING

A meeting of the Society followed the dinner. The accounts, presented by Mr. R. F. B. Speed. showed that the year started with a balance in hand of $£ 198$ s. 5d. and concluded with $£ 23$.
The report of the secretary recorded that nine tower bell peals and three 'in hand' had been rung during the ycar. New members elected totalled 57 from eight universities.
Arrangements for the Suffolk tour, from August 25 th to September 1st, were discussed. and upon the proposition of Mr. P. L. Taylor the meeting decided to make Sheffield the headquarters for the 1957 tour.
Considerable discussion took place as to whether Saturday would not be a more popular day than Friday for the annual dinner. The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow pointed out the impossibility of many clerical members attending a Saturday dinner in London. The meeting eventually agreed that the next dinner be held on Saturday. December 29th.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COTLEGE YOUTHS

In recent years there has been such a heavy increase in applications for membership that the supply of rule books issued to new members has bee. exhausted, and it was thought that when a new edition was printed, opportunity should be taken to overhaul the rules, and bring the book generally up-to-date. The Society has always taken great pride in its rule book, for it is a very handsomely produced effort, containing fine illustrations of various articles of its property, together with a condensed version of the Society's history, etc.

At the meeting on January 14th, the Master, Mr. J. S. Mason, presided over a large attendance, and the rules were considered and passed. No substantial alterations to the old rules were made, but it was decided that, following the general trend, and to cover expenses, the entrance fee on joining after January 14th should be raised to the sum of one guinea, and the qualifying fee to vote on financial matters should be raised to five shillings. The work of revision, etc., has been handled by a committee consisting of the Master, the past Master, Mr. C. J. Watts, the secretary, Mr. A. B. Peck, and Mr. J. F. Smallwood.
The committee were thanked for their work, and it is hoped that the new rule books will be circulated at an early date.

A LANCASHIRE GOLDEN WEDDING

Lancashire ringers will extend their warmest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cutsforth, of Westhoughton, who celebrated their golden wedding on December 26 th. They were married by the Rev. D. K. Moore, at St. James' Church, Hull, on December 26th, 1905.
In his occupation as a paint manufacturer Mr. Cutsforth moved to several districts in Yorkshire, then, in 1918, he crossed the border into Lancashire, where he settled in the Bolton district. In both counties he was always to be found in his place in a tower until shortly after settling in the Bolton district, when his ringing activities were curtailed as the result of serious injuries in a railway accident.
After his recovery he took part in many peals, noteworthy of which are the record lengths of 11.232 Superlative Surprise Major on January 29th, 1927, at Bolton Parish Church, and 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Major on April 18th in the same year at Heptonstall (both these records still hold).
Owing to business pressure during the war he had no time for regular ringing but was always there on special occasions.
On Boxing Day Mr. and Mrs. Cutsforth celebrated the anniversary with a reception in Westhoughten, to which they invited Masonic, Rotarian and ringing friends and their wives. As part of the entertainment handbells were appropriately rung.
Earlier in the day an attempt for a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was made at Westhoughton Parish Church, but came to grief after 40 minutes through the tenor clapper breaking. Another attempt was arranged at Holy Trinity, Bolton, for January 6th; again there was bad luck, as the thick fog prevented one member from getting there. A 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor and a course of London Surprise Minor were rung by Albert Greenhalgh, Geoffrey Fothergill, Trevor Taylor, Brian A. Tomlinson, Peter Crook, sen., Alan Pendlebury (conductor).
Mr. Cutsforth is still interested in cricket, however, and only a few days ago he accepted the presidency of the Westhoughton Cricket Club. He is also a big worker in the Rotary movement.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION

SOUTH-WESTERN'S INFLUX OF NEW MEMBERS

The annual meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association was held at St. Margaret's. Barking, on January 7th. Ringing ranging from rounds to Cambridge Major preceded the service, which was condusted by the Vicar of Barking (Rev. R. W. Chadwick).
About 70 ringers sat down to tea in the Church Hall: besides the usual spread of good things there was also a magnificent iced cake in the shape of a bell. which had kindly been made by Mrs. Beard. and every ringer enjoyed a piece of it .
At the meeting. Mr. John Crampion presided: and he called attention to the old stalwarts: of the Division who were unable to attend owing to either age or sickness. Mr. © Dick Stannard came to the church during the afternoon ringing but. owing to his recent accident. was unable to climb the stairs to the lower. Mr. Crampion suggested that the meeting should send greetings to Caleb Fenn. who has been associated with St. Margaret's. Barking, for over 50 years. Charlie Morss. Bill Theobald and Mr. Goodwin. of Havering. who is just recovering from a serious operation.
The annual report, submitted by the secretary. Mr. C. Willmington, commented on the number of towers in which Sunday ringing was being resumed. even though many were only yet attempting call changes. The year 1955 brought a small increase in membership (both nonringing and ringing), which would probably be larger when all subscriptions were paid.

The statement of accounts did not present such a rosy picture as last year, but neverthcless the District had managed to keep its head above water.

The election of officers followed, and those at present holding office were returned for a further period without opposition.
It was a bumper meeting for new members. both ringing and honorary. The Vicar of Barking and his three churchwardens (all of whom were present at the meeting) were clected honorary members of the Association. Mrs. Warne, of Dagenham, was also proposed: her late husband, a churchwarden at Dagenham. had been an honorary member. and she expressed the wish to carry on in his place. A member of Dagenham choir, Edvard Bailcy, was also proposed for honorary membership. Ringing members included four from Prittlewell, four from Hornchurch, seven from Barking, two from Barkingside. six from Waltham Abbey, one from Great Wakering and two from Leytonstone. These are the first youngsters to have been elected from Leytonstone tower within living memory-surely a record. Bcsides' these were two non-resident members who had stood in successful peal attempts for the Association.
The meeting agreed that the Division should support the re-election of all the officers of the Association at the next annual general meeting at Chelmsford.
The chairman asked for nominations for life membership of the Essex Association, and the names suggested for consideration were Henry T. Wilson, of Brentwood. Roland Fenn, of Barking, and Jimmy Rann, of Loughton.

Mr. Gant, of Hornchurch, raised the question of district boundaries, and this old 'war horse' was greeted with laughter as he was trotted out again. The views of Mr. Sadler, of the Southend Guild, were sought on the matter, and he agreed that they had no desire to split from the Division and stand as a separate entity. The Guild had been formed merely to encourage the young ringers in that corner of the Division, and did not wish to become an administrative division in its own right.
Mr. Gant proposed that a memo. be sent to Chelmsford to the effect that the District wished things to stay as they were, and to this the meeting agreed.
The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks from Mr. George Cecil to the Vicar for his welcome to the ringers, and also for the manner in which he conducted the service ; to the organist; and finally to Mr. Beard and David for organising tea-not forgetting Mrs. Beard and her Christmas cake.

Ringing after the meeting included rounds, Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Yorkshire and Bristol.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Devizes Branch

Somu 50 members and friends attended the annual meeting of the Deviies Branch held at Devizes on January 7th. The Guild service in St. John's Church was conducted by Canon Blair. Vicar of Southbroom. Tea was served in St. John's Parish Room.

The Branch chairman (Mr. A. Weeks) welcomed the visitors and specially mentioned Canon Blair, who was attending his first meeting since coming to Devizes: also Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, of Wyke Regis, who have come to live in Devizes. Among other visitors was a member of the Keevil tower. In the near future the Branch will hold a meeting at Keevil, when it is hoped the ringers will rejoin the Guild.

Officers elected for the coming year were:Mr. A. Weeks, chairman: Mr. S. Cockell, vicechairman: Mr. F. Slatford, hon. secretafy; Mr. P. Harding and Mr. S. Grant, Ringing Masters. The next three meetings were fixed for Hilperton, Keevil and Westbury.

Votes of thanks were passed to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for providing the tea. Ringing continued at the three towers until late in the evening in spite of having to get home in the thick fog.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION A Welcome to Wye
The Ashford District met at Wye on January 7th. The attendance was not up to the usual average, which was regretted, as we had the combination of a warm church, spatless ringing chamber and fine belis. We were glad to have with us the Hodgson trin from Ryc, and a new. comer, Mr. Westwood, from Dover, whose home tower is at Plymouth.
Ringing began about $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and continued until time for the service at 4,30 . This was conducted by the new Vicar, the Rev. A. E. Pearce. In his address he made us feel we really were welcome. Mr. R. J. Carlton read the lesson, and Mr. W. P. Garner was at the organ. The collection was given to the Association's Belfry Repair Fund.

Then came a surprise. Uusually at Wye we have tea at a cafe, but we found that Mrs. Greenstreet. the new secretary, Had gathered her friends together and they were our hosts and hostesses at a lavish tea.
After tea the Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which apologics for absence were read from Mr. J. Willis, Mr. S. G. Waters and Miss Haffenden.
The District secretary reminded members that subscriptions for 1956 are now due and that he would like them to be paid by towers rather than individually.
It was decided not to hold a meeting in February this year but to have an additional one in the summer months. Mr. T. Cullingworth thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for taking the service, and Mrs. Greenstreet and her colleagues for having given and served such a delightful tea.
Ringing continued until 8.30, Tom Cullingworth joining in with a one-handed effort, as his other arm is still in plaster.

This report must not be closed without tribute to Bill Curtis, who has been the guiding spirit of Wye tower for so long, and whoseringing chamber does him so much credit.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

N.E. Branch Have Increased Membership

The fog and local F.A. Cup ties reduced the attendance to 40 at the annual meeting of the N.E. Branch held at Tiverton on January , fith. Nevertheless, with the exception of Bradninch, all the towers were represented. Under the direction of Mr. A. G. Selley good use was made of the bells before the service and in the evening.
Canon R. C. Worsley, the Rector, conducted for the first time the new form of Guild service and gave the address. Mrs: C. H. Miles, a Branch member, was the organist.
Following a gond tea at the Half Monn Hotel, certificates were presented to four members of the Bampton band by the president, Preb. E. V. Cox.
At the business meeting the Rev. J. H. Jones, Branch chairman, presided, and the secretary, Mr. W. H. Ware, was able to report an increased membership during 1955 and a balance in hand of $£ 4411 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. He regarded the attendance at Branch meetings as disappointing, being only about one-third of the membership.
All the officers were re-elected for 1956, viz: Chairman, the Rev. J. H. Jones; secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. H. Ware; Ringing Master, Mr. A. G. Selley : representatives on the General Committee, Messrs. D. Bellamy, W. E. Richards and A. G. Selley.
The next meeting will be at Bradninch on Saturday, April 7th, subject to permission being obtained.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

VISIT TO AUSTRALIA

Dear Sir,-Further to the letter from Melbourne re ringers visiting that country during the Games, I wonder if any ringers would be interested in making up a party to visit Australia during that period? The idea is to fly there and back, and stay about two to three weeks.
If anyone is interested, would they let me know as soon as possible, as arrangements would have to be made very quickly. When W. H. Fussell's party visited that country he told me what a wonderful time they all had and how worth while the journey was. It wants at least eight in the party.

J. L. GARNER-HAYWARD.

8. Orchard Crescent,

Coventry.
CORRECTION TO CHELFORD PEAL
Dear Sir,-I would like to make a correction to the footnote of the peal of Grandsirc Doubles rung at Chelford, Cheshire, on Dec. 13th, 1955. There were 378 singles and 63 bobs. not 372 and 66 as published. I would like to apologise for making this mistake. The tenor ringer's name was George Barber and not George Barker as published.-Yours faithfully, Chelford, Cheshire.

FOOTNOTES TO PEALS

Dear Sir,-It was, of course, quite obvious that Mr. Barron, as, I presume, the peal correspondent in this instance, would have to offer some explanation, however difficult it was to find one suitable, for the footnote to which I referred in my recent letter. His effort is, however, pitifully weak.
Personally knowing the obvious reactions of several members of the band who rang in the peal. I doubted, and still doubt, that they (a) knew they were ringing it for 'the opening of the Vienna State Opera,' or (b) were in favour of such a footnote (even supposing they were aware of the suggestion). Only the venerable members themselves can supply the answer of course. but I am not in doubt.
Mr. Barron's love of one particular secular art, or perhaps his friend's who specially requested the footnote, is no concern of mine, but neither is it the concern of the Church, Exercise or the band, and for that reason only, such an association should not have been made.
My earlier correspondence of some 18 months ago will already have shown my feelings on the subiect of footnotes, but from time to time a really hlatant example of space wasting appears which tempts me to write.
I do not doubt Mr. Barron's statement that - the bells of St. Stephen's Cathedral. Vienna. were rung for the formal opening of the Opera House." but then, it is generally accepted that man, of our European neighbours are very excitable by nature. and are likely to act in many ways strange to our own mode of life. There is certainly no rhyme or reason why we should follow their example.
Mr. Barron does not, I fear, appear to sec the dividing line between occasions that we in this country consider to warrant national rejoicing and the 'we'll celebrate anything' outlook of our foreign friends in this respect, hence his ill chosen footnote.-Yours faithfully.

MICHAEL G. MORTON.
Erdington. Birmingham
Mr. George Talbot, who took part in the peal of Plain Bob Triples at Chobham on Dec. 31st, the first for the Guildford Diocesan Guild. also rang in the first peal of Grandsire Triples for the Guild.

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART

Dear Sir,-It is, of course, possible to transpose any peal to make any desired bell the observation. The point about Parker's Twelvepart is that two other 'part bells' come home (or are reversed) in each part as well as the observation. To transpose the calling for another bell to be observation it is thus desirable to choose wisely in the matter of part bells. Thus to make the 3rd the observation, begin the calling from where the usual observation bell is in 3rds place at a lead-end. This happens three times in each part, and thus there are three ways of calling the peal with 3rd the observation. To decide which variation to use see where the other part bells are at the same lead-end-they are in 4 ths and 7 ths, 4 ths and 6 ths, 4 ths and 5 ths. Thus if 3 is to be observation the part bells will be either 4 and 7 or 4 and 6 or 4 and 5 . The last seems the better pair so start from that lead-end.

I enclose the figures of variations for 3, 4 and 5, the observation as seems best to me.Yours faithfully,

PETER C. WRIGHT
Wallington. Surrey.
PARKER'S TWELVE-PART

MAXIMUM AND MINIMUM

Dear Sir,-In reply to the query asked by C. T. H. Bradley as to the maximum and minimum of calls in 720 Plain Bob Minor, the maximum is 28 bobs and 18 singles, and the minimum 8 bobs and 6 singles.-Yours, etc.,

Blackpool.

ST. MARY'S, PENZANCE

Dear Sir,-For replying to my queries re the above. I am grateful to my three clerical friends the Rev. A. S. Roberts and Canon C. C. Cox, for their letters in 'The Ringing World; and the Rev. W. H. Trewhella for his long letter sent to me direct.-Yours sincerely, E. T. PAUL FIELD.

A FINE EXAMPLE FROM LANCASHIRE

Dear Sir,-With the object of encouraging members of those belfries who are at present appealing for funds to have their bells restored, I would like to quote our own experiences under these conditions.

We belong to the Parish Church of St. James, East Crompton, in the township of Shaw, near Oldham. In February, 1954, we decided that the time had come to have our six bells recast and rehung in a steel frame, and with this object in view we proceeded to work.

We shall always be grateful to all those good people who willingly gave to our funds, but we soon realised that we would have to explore other avenues in order to boost our funds. It was said many times that people who would like to identify themselves with our appeal just couldn't afford any large sum, therefore we instituted an 'Exchange and Mart.' All those who had any surplus items of furniture or 'white elephants' in their homes were invited to give them to us.

We collected, sold them and credited the donor with the amount received as a donation to our funds. A local tradesman put his wagon at our disposal every Friday evening and this night became our collecting night. The furniture we stored in the Church Institute and within a short time we found several parishioners waiting in the Institute on Friday evenings for our return with a loaded wagon-waiting to snap up the first bargains Most donors were not a bit worried how much we got for the sale of the furniture they gave, but one or two stipulated that they would like us to sell at ? figure. We were always careful to put this question to donors when they gave. The items we received were varied to say the least of it-wireless sets -old iron bedsteads (sold as scrap at 7s. 6d.)wooden bedsteads-a pair of skis-hallstands-tables-American organs-pianos-gas firesfire grates-carpets-all were grist to the mill. A local decorator gave us 60 rolls of wallpaper which were 'sticking.' We sold them within two nights at 1 s . per roll.
Other good people joined our "instalment" plan. They entered into an agreement to donate, say, $£ 1$ is., and on being given a card paid the sum at the rate of 6 d . or 1 s . per week.
Whist drives and dances of course played their part, and we were fortunate to have the goodwill of the local press, who kept our efforts well in the news.
I wrote all over the world to old parishioners and it was amazing how many dollars came from America and Canada.
All the donors' names were entered in our ' Bencfaction Book: which was brought up-todate every Saturday ready for placing in churchr every Sunday for all to see. All names were inscribed in old English text-a very laborious process, but looking very effective now.
Our work prompted an old parishioner, who is an official of the Lancashire Association. to give us two more trebles to make us up to eight.
The result of all this was that our new bells were rehung in July, 1955, being rededicated on July 24th, 1955.
Invitations were sent to all who had helped us, and Mr. A. Hughes attended from Mears and Stainbank.
So to all beliringers I say-go ahead and get your jackets off and get to work. You will be surprised how much goodwill you will fosterfar more than just appealing and sitting back waiting for donations to come along. The operative word is WORK.-Yours faithfully.

Oldham, Lancs. GEOFFREY ABBOTT

P.S.-The final account for the six bells, amounting to $£ 1,300$, was paid on August 2nd, 1955. The account re the two new trebles was discharged privately by the donor himself.

OBITUARY

MR. CECIL C. MAYNE

We regret to announce the death, after a short illness, of Cecil Charles Mayne on January 7th, at the age of 63. He had been in hospital following an attack of coronary thrombosis, and death intervened when the prospects of his recovery had become a little brighter. We extend to his widow and son our deepest sympathy.
The funeral took place in the early morning of January 10th, the cremation at Golders Green Crematorium being preceded by a service at All Saints', Harrow Weald. Both services were conducted by the Vicar, Rev. R. D. Deasey, assisted at the latter by the Rector of Edgware, Rev. J. Melville Scutt. The mourners included the widow and son and other relatives. Mr. Fred Goodfellow, and representatives of the Air Ministry.
During the service the Vicar of Harrow Weald gave an appreciation of Mr. Mayne's life and work, especially as far as they were connected with Harrow Weald. As the funeral procession left the chancel steps handbells were rung in rounds very slowly as a last tribute to a valued colleague and friend by A. D. Barker, T. J. Lock, E. C. S. Turner and C. W. Woolley. The tower bells were rung half-muffled both before and after the service.
Also among those present at the service were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hart, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Leversuch, Mr. and Mrs. E. Thurlow, and Messrs. F. G. Baldwin, W. Wenban, A. Cutler, R. G. Beil, R. Ouston (representing Edgware), W. N. Genna and T. Shepherd.

It is known that the short notice and early hour of the funeral (both unavoidable) prevented many more ringing friends being present.
The wreaths included those from the ringers of All Saints', Harrow Weald, St. John's. Stanmore, and Edgware, and from the R.A.F. and the Air Ministry.
A quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung at All Saints ${ }^{\prime}$ in the evening, and other halfmuffled nnging took place at Pinner, Stanmore and Beaconsfield.
Born at Stewkley, North Bucks, on August 10th. 1892, Mr. Payne assisted his father at an early age in his father's business of a well sinker. When the 1914 war came, there was little scope at Stewkley, and Cecil and a brother moved to Beaconsfield and opened a cycle business there, and later established a motor business. He left Beaconsfield in 1929 for Bournemouth, but soon moved to Harrow. During his employment at Siemens and G.E.C. he travelled the country supervising the installation of traffic signals-an innovation at that time. Wartime work followed, taking Cecil to South Wales, Suffolk, and concluding with the post of station engineer at London Airport before and during the time the new aerodrome was handed over to the civil authorities by the R.A.F. In his final years he was similarly employed at other aerodromes by the Air Ministry. In July, 1929, at the country village of Fulmer, he married Miss Phyllis M. Moss, then of Uxbridge, and who was making a name for herself in the ringing fraternity. Four years later a son was born, who seems to be already as well known as his father.
Cecil learned to pull a bell at Stewkley when be was ten years old. later ringing at Wing when he was 12 no mean feat in those days when the bells were rung from the ground floor. Before he was 18 he had taught a band to ring rounds at Stewkley. His first peal was Stedman Triples, rung at Knebworth in July, 1910, conducted by R. E. Stavert.
At Beaconsfield he soon became attached to the band that used to meet at Burnham for practice in advanced methods, under the leadership of George Martin. While he was resident in the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild he rang 150 peals, mostly locally.

In the middle 1920's, together with Arthur Barker and others, Cecil worked hard to revive the Branch, and became its first Ringing Master in 1927. It was during this period that the Beaconsfield Branch, to which he belonged. made great strides.

On his removal to Middlesex, he was attached to Pinner. where he was captain in the early 1930's. He and his family finally became members of All Saints', Harrow Weald, in 1946, and under their influence the band advanced rapidly, and it is now quite normal to ring Spliced Surprise Major on Sundays. Some indication of local progress is given by the ringing of 11 peals within the Borough of Harrow in 1955.

Cecil Mayne's final achievement was to make the bells in Edgware ringable after 25 years' silence, ard to teach a young band that was self-sufficient in 12 months. It set the seal of a great instructor and Cecil was very proud of it, and rightly so.

AN APPRECIATION

The passing of Cecil Mayne will leave a gap in the Exercise difficult to fill, a gap that will be more noticeable as time goes on.
In a sincere and moving tribute during the funeral service at Harrow Weald, the Vicar described Cecil Mayne as a gentle, unassuming, kindly man, whose love for his family and his love for his ringing were the two main joys in his life.

Cecil left his mark on local ringing wherever he happened to be, and almost always left affairs a lot better than he found them. He was not an ambitious man in the personal sense; his thought was always for the tower he was in. If he wasn't taking part in the ringing one could be sure he was standing behind someonc. In his eagerness to see the right course taken it was possible that he might have irritated some folk by the manner of his interventions from time to time both inside and outside the tower. But whatever the bone of contention, there was no doubt of Cecil's selfless interest and his anxiety to see that ringing should suffer no harm or its standards lowered. And on looking back, I ask of the critics, how often was he wrong?

Cecil Mayne was a practical man, always ready to suggest and carry out ideas for improvements in the tower. He also had the knack and ability of imparting his knowledge to beginners, so that with the right material the raw recruit was, almost overnight it seemed, transformed into a good striker and a safe ringer. In his soft, slow manner of speaking, he said enough to his pupil and no more. He was careful not to confuse the beginner's mind with too much knowledge. His methods embraced two principles which ought to be placed on record for the consideration of all instructors or wouldbe instructors.
He did not teach his pupil to handle a bell from the 'set' position. The pupil had to pull his bell up and maintain its swing with the bell at something over frame height, thus learning the virtues of keeping a tight rope. Then in rounds he had to keep a count of the beat as though he had a metronome. Finally, he commenced change-ringing with three-bell changes and dodging, combining the two to quickly find himself ringing Stedman Doubles. That beginners should start on Stedman may surprise some instructors, but Cecil had given much thought to the problem and the results he achieved seem to indicate pretty conclusively that he was right.

His last efforts are almost his memorial. At Edgware, two years ago, he first made the bells ringable after 25 years of neglect and silence, and saw that they played their part in the Coronation celebrations. With the active support of the Rector, he recruited the younger members of the church, and with the help of his wife and son and other local ringers, moulded them into a good self-sufficient Sunday service band. Within a year they were, unaided. ringing Cambridge Minor, a splendid achievement, probably unequalled.
In his own tower he was a power for good, and the band has gonc from strength to strength until it can be said today that in no tower in the London area can the striking be bettered or the variety of methods excelled.
He spent many years in the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He had much to do with the Branch's revival after the 1914-18 war, calling the first peal of Bristol rung by Branch members. It was during this period that I first became associated with him. Often he packed eight ringers into his old Ford car, 'the Flivver,' and chugged off somewhere for a peal, stopping occasionally to see how the springs were standing up to it!
His many ringing friends, not only in Middlesex and Bucks, but in many other parts of the country, mourn their loss and extend their sympathy to the remaining members of the famous trio-Phyllis and John.
F. W. G.

MR. ERNEST J. KING

Many ringers, particularly of the London County Association, will learn with regret of the passing of Mr. Ernest J. King on January 8th, after a brief illness, at Horsham Hospital.
Mr. King, who was 68 years of age, did most of his ringing in London between the wars, and later at Cowfold, Sussex. He had taken part in 151 peals, from Doubles to Maximus, conducting 11, and included in these were 15 handbell peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques.

The funeral took place at Nuthurst, a little country village, on January 11 th. Mr. F. Ford represented Cowfold ringers, and rounds were rung at the graveside by Messrs. E. R. Rapley and L. Stilwell.

Of a quiet and unassuming nature, much sympathy is telt for his widow and large family.

OBITUARY

mr. LesLIE C. WIGHTMAN
After failing health for some three ycars. the death of Leslie C. Wightman took place on January 4th.

The second son of the late Alfred S. Wightman, he was a born ringer, and rang his first peal with his brother George A., at Helmingham in 1912. During the years he had taken part in 560 -odd peals, several of which he ably conducted.
A carpenter and wheelwright by trade, he was a skilled craftsman. In his early life he was a keen stee! quoit player and was once Suffolk County champion. Of recent years he took to bowls; agein his skilled hand was always to be relied upon. He served in the 1914-1918 campaign and had since been a member of the British Legion.
At the funeral on January 7th the service was conducted by the Rev. J. A. Burness, Rector of Helmingham and Framsden. Besides the family mourners, the congregation included members of the British Legion with banners, bowls representatives and the Suffolk Quoits Association. The Suffolk Guild was represented by Charles E. Fisher (vice-president), Cecil W. Pipe (late secretary), W. E. Maulden, G. A. Fleming. D. M. Matthew. G. Bennett, A. E. Whiting, M. M. Pipe, P. M. Clarke, F. and W. Ruffics. W. W. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Button. Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Brett. Owing to indisposition. Mr. C. W. Beecroft was unable to attend.

Over the open grave a steady course of Grandsire Triples was rung by G. A. Fleming, C. E. Fisher, W. E. Maulden and C. W. Pipe. Fully-muffled ringing took place before the service, afte: which a well-struck peal of Cambridge (Mr. Wightman's favourite method) was rung to the memory of a perfect ringer. L. G. B.

A NEW USE FOR HANDBELLS

TO most ringers in this country the use of handbells as a medium for the application of mental therapy would seem to be a novel idea - but in America, according to the latest issue of the journal 'Overtones,' it is claimed that positive results have been achieved.

The experiments were made at Westwood Lodge, a sanatorium for nervous and mental diseases such as psychoneurosis, mild depression, alcoholics, drug addicts and schizcphrenia. It is for both men and women, and the age range is not limited. Although the majority of the patients are older, there are very often young people. Because of the great variation in the social, economic, educational and emotional backgrounds of the patients, it is often difficult to find a medium of self-expression (other than singing) which appeals to all and in which all can participate as a group.

Westwood Lodge is situated about 15 miles from Boston's Beacon Hill, where for many years people have gathered on Christmas Eve to hear the traditional ringing of English handbells. It was thought that bellringing might be a valuable and interesting musical activity in the weekly programme. A set of twelve handbells were purchased from England, and they arrived just eight weeks before the annual Christmas party. From then on a part of each music therapy class was set aside for the rehearsal of Christmas carols to be rung at the party.

The ringers were divided into two groups. For the regressed group, no harmony was attempted. The conductor pointed to the single bell which was to be rung to procuce the melody in correct pitch and rhythm. For the more able group the carols were arranged on large charts where the letter names of the bells were printed in proper sequence. These arrangements were made for two and three part harmony, and again the conductor indicated the rhythmic and melodic sequence, this time by fointing to the letters on the charts. The patients were enthusiastic, for though it required no knowledge of music, and no special technique, the musical results were very satisfying. Both performers and audience were pleased with the bell-ringing on the night of the party, and at the next music therapy class all eagerly asked what were the plans for the next bell-ringing programme.

In analysing the positive therapeutic values resulting from the ringing, the following seemed to be most significant:-
(1) Since this was a group activity, it required the co-operation of each individual within the framework of a social as well as a musical situation. The ability of the patient to adjust himself to the demands of the group was felt to be a major accomplishment.
(2) Though the musical requirements were not taxing, the success of the project depended on the willingness of each individual to accept personal responsibility to do his part as one of the team. This willingness was again a major step forward for the patients.
(3) The feeling of self-satisfaction and accomplishment experienced at the conclusion of a successful programme may prove to be of definite therapeutic value.
(4) Handbell ringing was a new venture for all. Some were surprised that they were able to perform capably in a new field, and it was felt that, having succeeded in one new venture, the patients might have the confidence to try other new fields.
(5) Even with the regressed group strict concentration was essential. Obviously, whilst concentrating on the music they could not permit their minds to dwell on their own personal problems.
(6) Being accepted by others as an equal in a group tends to help them to regain faith in themselves, and in their ability to become integrated again into society.
An ambitious programme is being planned for spring rehearsals, including "Finlandia,' Brahms' 'Lullaby," ' Drink to me only,' etc. It is hoped to encourage those patients with some musical knowledge to help in arranging the scores.

We are sure all ringers on this side of the Atlantic will be interested in this new enterprise, and that they will wish every success to Florence R. Flanders in her efforts on behalf of those in her care, and also to Margaret Shurcliff for her great work in stimulating interest in bells and ringing in America.

We feel certain that many of our readers enjoyed the television outside broadcast from Loughborough Bell Foundry on January 19th. Mr. Paul Taylor was very clear in his explanations and the Stedman Doubles rung on the ring of five for Fettes School made a pleasing conclusion to a delightful broadcast.

The peal of Minor rung at Branston, Lincs.'R.W.' p. 22-will be included in the 1956 Analysis.

As the result of a recent visit of Mr. B. J. Luck to Petham, the local tower has decided to join the Kent County Association. We hope they will also take "The Ringing World."

Mossley Parish Church has had a record made of its bells. It was played back to members of the congregation inside the church recently.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead writes: The last time the following towers appeared in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World ' previous to recent weeks were:-Uxbridge, 1936; Crossthwaite, 1933; Doulting, 1935; Tregaer, 1938.

The band who rang the peal at West Hallam, Derbys, wish to congratulate the conductor, Mr. Jack Bailey, not merely on his efficient calling in the midst of competition from the church organ. Bobs were called amid strains of the Hallelujah Chorus, 'Onward Christian Soldiers ' and other music.

An encouraging report has been received of the new band formed at St. Anne's, Bewdley, Worcs, who have Mr. R. C. Sayers, formerly of Claines, as Ringing Master. New ropes have been fitted and improvements made. Mr. T. F. W. Harris, of Chedworth, Park Lane, Bewdley, informs us that they would welcome visits from organised bands, if given notice to make the arrangements.

GOSSIP

 Mr. E. Alexander Young reminds the Exercise that Benjamin Annable died 200 years ago, viz., February 1st, 1756. "Here and there, perhaps we might ring a touch of his in memoriam, half-muffied,' he suggests.Congratulations to Mr. Nolan Golden, of Norwich, who rang his 1,000 th peal on January 18th at Gressenhall, Norfolk.

After 18 years of loyal service as secretary of the North Norfolk Branch of the Norwich Association, Mr. H. Tooke, has resigned. His successor is Mr. Clifford Bird.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Horace Roberts, the veteran Pirton ringer, is in hospital. His friends hope that it will not be long before he is back again in the belfry.

Owing to the fog on January 5th, which delayed one member of the band, a memorial quarter peal to the Rt. Rev. P.S. Abraham, Bishop of Newfoundland and former Vicar of St. Edward's, Romford, had to be abandoned at this church. Touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles were substituted.

Last week we had news of four first peals on the bells-at Weston-upon-Penyard, Herefordshire, Felmersham, Bedfordshire, Lammas, Norfolk, and Wroughton, Wilts. At Blunham, Beds, it is the first peal since augmentation. Only one previous peal has been recorded here, on February 9th, 1937, in which Mr. C. E. Jeffries and Mr. C. H. Harding participated.

Broadwindsor, Dorset, bells are to be retuned and to be provided with new headstocks and fittings. The bells were rung for the last time on Sunday previous to dismantling and removal to Messrs. John Taylor & Co.'s foundry. Mr. H. S. Harden, Broadwindsor, Dorset, is secretary of the Appeals Committee, who have to raise $£ 600$ for the work. Contributions to help this small parish would be gratefully acknowledged.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

SALISBURY'S CAMPANILE THAT WAS DEMOLISHED

THE article by J. B. P. on Salisbury Cathedral and its bells that oppeared in 'The Ringing World' of January 13th has aroused much interest, and different readers have contributed letters on the subject.

To Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, we are indebted for the drawing of the campanile and a selection of a number of articles written by various authors on the bells.

Of the original bells, St. Osmund gives most minute directions for ringing them and keeping them in repair. In 1331 a letter of remonstrance was addressed to the treasurer by the Chapter, saying that 'the bells in the belfry, with much art suspended, of great weight and price, and sweet-sounding to the ears, by the fault of your officers are suffered to decay, and rendered totally useless for ringing.'

In the Muniment Room there is an entry dated 1480 in the clerk of the works' accounts for repairs to the bells, and a document of 1680 of an agreement for the recasting of the 7th and 8th bells by Clement Tosier, of the city of New Sarum, and Elizabeth Flowry or Florey, widow of Richard Florey.

On October 10th, 1746, several of the bells being cracked, it was ordered that 'after the fifth day of November next no peals be rung on any occasion whatever, until the cracked bells can be recast, and the rest properly tuned.' This was never done.

Dodsworth, in his 'History of Salisbury Cathedral,' writes: 'The peal must have been a grand one, as the tenor was in the key of B flat and must have weighed at least 50 cwt . I may just say that the weights of the bells are given in the late Mr. Ellacombe's "Bells of the Church," but I imagine that they are not quite correct, since he gives the seventh at 30 cwt . and the tenor as 38 cwt . I think this must be a misprint for 58 cwt .'

READERS' LETTERS

Dear Sir,-I read with much interest the article by J. B. P. on the above subject and I trust that some additional information might prove useful.

St. Osmund gave most minute directions for the ringing and upkeep of the bells. Notwithstanding this, in 1331 a letter of protest was addressed to the treasurer by the Chapter, saying that the bells in the belfry ' with much art suspended, of great weight and price, and sweet sounding to the ears, by the fault of your officers, are suffered to decay, and rendered useless for ringing."

There scems to be no record of how many bells were originally brought to the tower or there they came from, but at the end of the 15th century five bells are mentioned, viz:"Clock Bell,' "Morning Bell,' 'St. Osmund's Bell,' "Bell for the first Mass ' and the 'Tolling Bell. The Bishop's bell was inscibed in Lombardic leitering: + Jesus Nazarenus Rex Judeorum.:
In May, 1634, a sum of 13 s . 4 d . was paid When the visitation of Archbishop Laud took place, and in 1665 King Charles II. desiring to hear the bells the cost was 10 s . 6 d ., tut when another Archbishop's visitation took place in 1686 the amount paid was $£ 2$ 16s. Possibly this ringing was done on the ring of eight, tenor about 38 cwt ., of which only number six survives.
The events which led to the disposal of the bells and the destruction of the campanile fecm to have started on October 10th, 1746, when, on account of several bells being cracked and the fittings out of order, it was ordered 'that they be no more rung after November Sth till the cracked ones be recast,' but this was never carried out. In 1762 a faculty was applied for to sell five cracked bells, but this was refused, and it was not until 1777 that sanction was granted to sell them. Robert Wells, the Aldbourne founder, gave 84s. per cwt . for them, the total weight being computed at 7 tons 14 t cwt. In January, 1793, Robert Wells bought two more bells for $£ 105$, leaving the Purdue bell, dated 1661, for use in the present tower.

I very much doubt if the Cathedral possessed more than eight bells.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.
Addlestone, Surrey.
Dear Sir,-Your correspondent, J. P. B., will find Articles of Agreement between the Dean and Chapter and Clement Tosier and Elizabeth Florey, for the recasting of the seventh and tenor bells of the ring of eight in 1680 , printed in extenso in Walters' 'Church Bells of Wiltshire,' together with a little additional information on the bells of the Cathedral.Yours faithfully, FREDERICK SHARPE.

Bicester, Oxon.

The ringers of the peal at Bilsborrow, Lancs, would like to place on record their sincerc thanks to the Rev. Canon and Mrs. Moss, for the way in which the visiting band were welcomed at Bilsborrow. A good peal of Plain Bob was rung, after which the ringers partook of refreshments provided by the Canon and Mrs. Moss. The tenor of this ring is a memorial to the two sons of Canon and Mrs. Moss, and was given by them in 1949.

A PLEA FOR A CARILLON
Sir,-In his most interesting and informative article on Salisbury Cathedral bells ('The Ring ing World,' January 13th, 1956), J. B. P. conveys the impression that only one bell exists, but according to some notes collected by me from various sources there are five bells besides that by Purdue, details of which follow:-
Quarter bells.-Each inscribed ' J. Taylor and Co., Bellfounders, Loughborough, 1884.
(i) $26 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$. dia. 4 cwt .2 qr. Note F sharp.
(2) $28 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$. dia. 5 cwt .2 qr. Note E.
(3) 31 im . dia. 7 cwt . Note D
(4) $39+$ in. dia. 12 cwt. 2 qr. Note A.

Clock given by 62 nd Wiltshire Regiment, 1884, Col, J. R. Jerram formally striking the bells for the first time May 17th, 1884.
' Bishop's bell' 'hung over south transept and used whenever the Bishop attends service:-
C. & G. Mears, Founders, London, 1854.' 26 in . diameter. 4 cwt .
If ever the funds were forthcoming good use could be made of Salisbury tower, even though too weak to carry a ringing peal, by housing a carillon of, say, 40 odd bells in the style of Utrecht, Malines, Delft, Antwerp or the Amsterdam churches therein. When one hears the fine instruments in the above mentioned towers it is tempting to wonder whether we, in this country, do not miss something, musically and zasthetically, by our adherence to the ringing peal, the sound of which, by and large, is quite unintelligible to the listening public upon whose tolerance the continuance of ringing depends.

Will You Be Disappointed?  Next Friday a number of our readers will have a disappointment unless they take immediate action and renew their subscription with Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro.  Rates:- Yearly 81 6s., six months

 13s. 6d., three months 7s.A further point in favour of a carillon at Salisbury is the fact that almost all bells exported are for carillon use and yet not one English cathedral possesses one. Lest I be accused of having 'carillonitis,' I would say by all means keep our ringing peals, but where a tower, particularly a fine one like Salisbury, is not suited to carry swinging bells, it seems a reasonable suggestion to install a carillon rather than have it silent or, worse still, containing 'canned ' bells.-Yours faithfully, Harborne, Birmingham. W. E. BOX.
P.S.-The approximate weights of the old Salisbury bells were as follows:-
(1) 7 cwt .1 qr .
(2) 7 cwt .3 qr.
(3) 11 cwt 3 qr .
(4) 15 cwt .
(5) 20 cwt .
(6) 24 cwt. 2 qr. (surviving).
(7) 30 cwt .
(8) 38 cwt . B flat.

The Royal Commission report of 1553 mentions ten bells, of which 7 and 8 were recast in 1680 by the Purdues.-W.E.B.

MR. FRANK LUFKIN'S NEW BAND

Frank Lufkin has conducted many peals in illustrious company, but he must have obtained equal satisfaction from the peal he called at St. Mary's, Bocking, on New Year's Eve, with practically a local band, some of whom had been waiting nearly two years for the opportunity to ring Grandsire Triples. For five of the band it was their first peal in that method. Sinco Frank's arrival in Bocking his unbounded enthusiasm, kindly words of advice and his willingness to ring with his less talented brethren have been of immense value.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Sussex Division

There was an attendance of 36 ringers, 19 being ladies, at the annual meeting of the Sussex Division held at St. John-the-Baptist. Southover, on January 14th. This is one of the three 10 -bell towers in Sussex, and gave some members of the Guild their first experience on 10 bells. The only all-lady effort of note was some well-struck rounds on 10 bells.

At the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Matthews), Miss Kathleen M. Yeo, the hon. secretary, read the lesson. After tea Mr . Matthews was thanked for conducting the service, and also Mr. Hide for making arrangements.

When the gentlemen had returned to the belfry the business meeting was held. Seveu new members were elected and the following were appointed officers of the Division for 1956:- Mrs. Percy, vice-president; Miss K. M. Yeo, hon. secretary; Mrs. Levett and Mrs. R. Reynolds, committee. It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Uckfield on April 14th.

PEAL RINGERS OF 1955

In an endeavour to make this annual review more comprehensive, we propose to publish a list of those, who rang 25 or more peals during 1955.
Details required: Number of peals rung (in brackets conducted) for both towerand handbells.

Mr. Frank E. Haynes New Master of St. Martin’s Guild

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at the St. Martin's Hotel on January 7th, with the Master, Mr. Albert Walker, in the chair.
Since the last meeting the Guild had suffered the loss, at the age of 82 , of one of its life members, Albert H. Ward, of Derby, who had been a frequent visitor to Birmingham and who had rung several peals for the Guild on all numbers of bells. The members stood in silence in respect to their departed colleague.
The tower elections of the following life members were duly ratified: Miss Gillian A. Smith (Oxford), and Messrs. George W. Hughes (Walsall), lan Oram (London), John H. Fielden (Halifax). Cyril J. Watts (London), Sydney Foskett and Roger A. Lennard (Bedford).
The balance sheet, which showed a decreased balance by $£ 51$ on the year's working, was considered satisfactory, in view of the abnormal expenditure. The chief items of expense were for peal writing ( $£ 51$ ) and the Master's silver badge ( $£ 265 \mathrm{~s}$.). The secretary explained that the present peal-booking fee was sufficient to cover the cost of recording, and that the present high expenditure was to cover the cost of inserting the large number of peals rung pior to the inception of the peal-booking fee.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

All the vice-presidents of the Guild were re-elected with the addition of Alderman Sir Theodore Pritchett, who was a keen change ringer and who regularly attended the weekly practice at Tanworth-in-Arden.

To the regret of everyone, Mr. Albert Walker announced his intention of relinquishing the office of Master. Mr. Walker said that he had served the Guild for fifty years, and whilst he was thankful to have been spared to perform his duties for so long, he felt that the time had come for him to make way for a younger man. He would still be amongst them. and his willing support would be just as freely given as in the past. Mr. Walker proposed, and it was unanimously agreed, that Mr. Frank E. Haynes, M.A., be elected as his successor, and Mr. Walker thereupon vacated the chair in Mr. Haynes' favour.

In acknowledging his election, Mr. Haynes said that it was an honour that he did not expect quite so soon, and he knew that if Mr. Walker had decided to continue in office everyone would be very pleased. Mr. Walker's mind was made up, however, and Mr. Haynes thanked him for all that he had done for the Guild during the past fifty years-thirty years of which period he had held office of various kinds. Mr. Walker's prowess in the realm of Stedman Cinques was known throughout the country, and had brought honour to the Guild. Mr . Haynes thanked the members for electing him, and said that he would do all in his power to uphold the dignity and further the interests of the Guild at all times.
The other officers of the Guild were re-elected as follows: Ringing Master, Mr. John Pinfold; trustees, Alderman A. Paddon Smith and Mr. Ernest T. Allaway; auditors, Messrs. Henry H. Fearn and Mr. Sidney $\mathbf{O}^{\circ} \mathrm{C}$. Holloway; librarian. Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. George E. Fearn.

It was unanimously decided to invite Alderman A. Paddon Smith, J.P., to oecupy the chair at the Henry Johnson Dinner, which will be held on February 25th.

The next meeting will be held at Aston Parish Church on April 7th.
The revised rules, which had been redrafted by a small committee, were discussed in detail. For the most part, the old rules had merely been modernised; the only altcration to evoke lengthy discussion was the one which sought to increase the annual subscription to 5 s. It was finally decided to make the subscription 3 s . 6 d . -an increase of is. per annum.
The Master welcomed Mr. John S. Mason and congratulated him upon his election as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths. His Birmingham colleagues were very pleased to see him, and wished him a happy and successful year in office.

Bow Bells Again

Last Tuesday the Lord Mayor of London launched an appeal for $£ 150,000$ for the rebuilding of St. Mary-le-Bow and the recasting of the ring of 12 bells, which has been described as 'the most famous peal in Christendom.'
The church was destroyed by fire on May 10th, 1941, and the metal since then has been stored at the Whitechapel foundry.

The new ring of 12 will be recast entirely out of the old metal and will be about two tons lighter. The Bow Bells, known to millions, weighed 11 tons, The new tenor will be 42 cwt. against 53 cwt .

Bow bells, first mentioned in 1496, were destroyed in the Great Fire, 1666. The tenor bell for Wren's new church, cast three years later, lasted until 1941. Bow Bells were augmented to ten in 1762 and 12 in 1881 . The bells were reconditioned in 1933.

LONDON COUNTY

ASSOCIATION'S NEW YEAR ACTIVITIES

The London County Association started 1956 by ringing in the New Year at a number of towers within its area. This was followed by a practice at St. Mary's. Lambeth, on January 2nd. Arranged regularly on the first Monday evening in each month, the popularity of this practice is increasing and visitors to London are always welcome, as indeed they are to all L.C.A. functions.

On January 7th the quarterly mecting was held at the churches of St. George and St. Giles, Camberwell. Ringing commenced on the eight bells of St. George's and continued until the service, conducted by the Rev. D. A. Vile, a vice-patron of the Association. During the service a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells, and the organ was played by the local Ringing Master, Mr. F. R. L. Blewer.

In the nearby Church Hall local ringers wives provided an excellent tea, which was followed by the business meeting. The current inflationary spiral of costs was reflected in the business which was transacted, to the effect that membership subscriptions were increased from 7 s .6 d . to 10 s . 6 d . All ringers joining the Association are life members and each is issued, without any additional charge, with a wellillustrated rule book and certificate of membership.

Nominations for officers were taken and the election of these will take place at the annual general meeting at Southwark Cathedral on February 4th. The bells of the Cathedral, the Festival Church (St. John's, Waterloo Road) and St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, will be available on that day.

The evening ringing was on the fine ten at St. Giles', Camberwell. Here the ninth clapper had just been repaired and fitted prior to the meeting, but, alas, during the last touch of the evening a loud bump was heard overhead and this time the eighth bell swung silently. Investigation showed that it was not a broken shaft but merely that the pivot pin had worked out. More work for Mr. Woolley, the local captain, to whom, with the Rector, the Association was indebted for allowing the use of the bells.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FIRST PEALS ON 12 BELLS
Dear Sir,-The reference in 'Belfry Gossip. to the achievement of Mr. Joseph Thornley in ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques without having rung this method previously recalls what I have always felt to be a unique performance by Mr. John G. Nash. Previous to his first peal of Stedman Cinques, at Southwark Cathedral in June, 1931, he had not struck a blow on 12 bells (in fact, he had only once seen 12 ropes hanging in a tower).
It is perhaps interesting to note that two ringers at least have rung Maximus for their first peal. Ore, Mr. Albert Smithson, took part in Little Bob Maximus at Sheffield Cathedral somewhere about 1928, and Mr. J. A. Hales rang Kent Maximus at Southwark last year. I do not know any other instances of this, although at least two more ringers, Messrs. John Froeman and the late T. W. Taffender, rang Stedman Cinques for their firsts. Mr. Freeman also called his peal; also, I think, a unique achievement.-Yours faithfully,

fast peals on heavy bells

Dear Sir,-During recent weeks there have ap. peared in 'The Ringing World 'two peals which seem to call for comment. The first was Bob Major at Chewton Mendip, in 2 hours and 50 minutes, on December 17th, and the second was Kent Treble Bob Minor, at Doulting, in hours and 57 minutes, on December 24th.
The tenor weight at Chewton was given as $24 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., and Doulting's as 24 cwt . In my opinion the published times are ridiculous and practically impossible to achieve on these weights. Was anything inadvertently omitted at Chewton Mendip? And I suggest the tenor at Doulting is nearer 14 cwt ., and not 24 cwt .Yours faithfully,

London.

A PREVIOUS NAME

Dear Sir,-I find on going through my records that the method rung in the handbell peal at Doncaster on November 3rd and named 'Normanton' was rung at Lamberhurst, Kent, on November 26th, 1932, in the first Alliance and Little Minor peal, and was named 'Hever.'

Nine methods by the late Mr. A. G. Driver were published in 'The Ringing World,' August 11th, 1933, and the method 'Hever' is numbered 69 . 'Kilndown,' No. 66 , was also rung in the peal at Lamberhurst. The cormpositions of the peal composed by him werc printed in the Kent report for 1934.-Yours faithfully,
A. RELFE.

IRRESPONSIBILITY TO 'THE WRITING ON THE WALL,

Dear Sir.-I hope I know our responsibilitics to the public, and had written them. I cannot help Mr. Whitaker to understand them. Words such as ' provided that we observe the ordinary decencies of conduct and custom, and try to give of our best, even on practice night,' could not by any stretch of imagination be called an irresponsible attitude-only by a very preJudiced person.
In fact, if I have read Mr. Whitaker's letter more carefully than he read mine, that is exactly what he says, if he does not mean.
I always try to write constructively and with a moral : however, I leave it to our readers.Yours sincercly.
W. FRANK STENSON.

ST. JOHN-THE-EVANGELIST, YORK

Dear Sir,-Referring to the article in 'The Ringing World dated May 20th, 1955, under this heading, many readers may now be interested to learn the work of converting thls old church into the headquarters of the York Institute of Architectural Study is rapidly approaching completion.

The ancient ring of six bells which had hung in the church for 300 years has now been restored and hung for ringing by Messrs. John Taylor to the requirements of Mr. Frederick Sharpe, Convener of the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, and consultant, in all matters concerning bells, to the Institute I have no doubt Mr. Sharpe's report on these bells will form a most interesting item at the next Council meeting.
At one time there was some doubt as to whether the six bells would be restored as a ring of six, for it was found the late Archbishop of York had given three of them back to the York parish, whose property they were prior to 1653 . Financial considerations had prevented their removal from the old church but legally they were no longer the property of St. John's. A happy solution was found when it was agreed the three bells remain at St. John's on permanent loan to the Institute.
The restored bells were tried out by the York Minster Society on the day after the installation was completed. A 720 of Bob Minor was rung before the bells were lowered in peal -the first changes to be rung on the bells, several of which are over 500 years cld.
So much importance is now attached to the work of the Institute that the Ministry of Works has made a grant of $£ 1,000$ to the restoration fund and the Minister himself is to formally open the restored building on Friday, March 16 th.
Subscriptions to the restoration fund are still needed and should be sent to the Secretary, St. Anthony's Hall, York.-Yours sincerely, York.
HAROLD WALKER.

A GLOSSARY WANTED

Dear Sir,-During a recent discussion in a local belfry it was suggested that a welcome item in 'The Ringing World, would be a short course of instruction on the terminology used in the naming of methods. I am quite prepared to admit that I do not know exactly what constitutes a 'Delight ' method or why a 'Principle' is a 'Principle'; I could probably ask some of my more knowledgeable ringing friends, hut it would be uscful to have the information in a more concrete form, which could be kept for future needs, such as an article, or even a short glossary. I feel less ashamed of these admissions when I consider that though six of us were capable of ringing Surprise, none of us knew what the definition of a 'Delight' method is. I understand that some information of this kind was published in 'The Ringing World ' many years ago. Could it perhaps be resurrected?Yours sincerely, DAPHNE R. CASTELL. Oxford.

YOUNG RINGERS AND BRANCH MEETINGS

Dear Sir. - Mr. Joseph Burgess expresses similar views to Mr. Walter Trueman, who, at a recent annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, Swindon Branch, held at Swindon, appealed to young ringers to support the Branch mectings and so improve their striking with more experienced ringers, instead of roaming the countryside ringing Churchyard Bob at this tower and that, making lots of doubtful claims.- Yours faithfully,
T. A. PALMER

THE 29 COLRSE BLOCK

Dear Sir,-May I point out that the 5,152 Wembley Surprise Major, published on page 16 of your issue dated January 6th, is reduction of what might be termed the 29 course block ( 6,496 changes), which is true for all methods which have the false course heads 24365,32546 , 46253,65432 and 53624 and seconds place at the lead end. The incidence of falseness does not affect this statement, neither does the fact that only one, or three of the five false course heads occur in the method concerned, although this often. facilitates composition.
I do not know who first produced the block, but the Rev. H. Law James used it to produce first, 29 courses of Cambridge Royal and then the 29 courses (record) Cambridge Maximus. I know Mr. Lindoff was well aware of, and used, the composition as the basis of many peals.

I give the figures at the foot for methods in which the calls occur M.W.H. and also for those in which they come W.M.H. - Yours faithfully,
C. KENNETH LEWIS.

RUNCORN LOSES A FINE SECRETARY

Dear Sir,--Ernic Hughes, who sailed for Australia on January 20th, is what has been described as the backbone of the Excrcise - a regular Sunday service ringer. Not a prolific peal ringer-he only rang seven peals-he could be found in the belfry for every service and practice.
It was as secretary of the tower that his work was most appreciated. During a bazaar held in 1952 for the restoration of the church, the ringers borrowed a sum of approximately $£ 200$ and in a year had paid it back and given the Vicar a sum of $£ 400$.
At about the same time Ernic was onc of the founders of a "Tower Fund:' This was to be used for the purchase of new belliopes, ringing mats, decorating of the ringing room and any improvements deemed necessary. The fund now has a balance in the bank of $£ 140$.-Yours sincerely,

WALTER ALLMAN.

PEAL RINGING IN YORKSHIRE

By The Rev. K

HOR the purpose of this series of articles $I$ propose to divide Yorkshire into two parts because there are so many towers and peals to talk about. Only Somerset has a greater number of 'conquered' towers, but the county could be taken as a whole because the numbers of peals rung at these towers have not been great (only four had passed the 50 mark). In Yorkshire there are both a large number of towers and peals, added to which the divisions of the county into 'Ridings, makes it easy to divide the county. There is, too, an obvious dividing line, for the most towers and the most peals come from the West Riding, so that will be the subject of the second article, and the East and North Ridings the subject of this one
In the East and North Ridings of Yorkshire we have one 12 -bell tower-York Minster. This is very easily 'dealt with,' for there has only been one peal rung there in the last 75 years-in 1892. It was of Grandsire Caters. I have come across some four or five peals there in the 18th and 19th centuries. Mr. Ernest Morris in his book 'The History and Art of Change Ringing' gives the history of the Minster bells and mentions that there have been two 12's and a 10 there in the space of 200 years Although the present ring was installed in 1844, no peal has yet been rung on the 12. Wouldn't some 12 -bell ringers like the chance!!

The tower in these parts of the county with the most peals is Middlesbrough (8), which has just passed the 100 mark, with 101 peals. There were 57 rung before 1914, starting in 1888 (a footnote to one on May 26th, 1908, says it was the 51 st on the bells-1 make it the 50 th . but perhaps there was one before my period commences), then came 41 from 1919 to 1936, but there have only been three since the war (two in 1947 and one in 1950).
Second comes Hull, Holy Trinity (10). Again. we find the greatest activity before 1914, for 74 of the 90 peals were rung then. There were 11 from 1919 to 1929 and an odd peal in 1938. Since the war there have been four more. Ormesby (8) didn't have its first peal until 1908, but then came 35 peals in the next seven years, so it did very well. From 1920 to 1937 came 27 (a smaller yearly average), and there have only been five since 1947-a further diminution. Total- 67 .

Another 10-bell tower comes fourth, Whitby with 56 . The first peal was not rung until 1909 , and once again the yearly average before 1914 was the best in its history, for 27 peals were rung up to 1915 . There were 16 before the wars, but activity has increased somewhat since then for there have been 13 since 1948. These are the only four towers which have passed the 50 mark.

We have only three more towers which have passed the 25 mark, and these only just. Hull, St. James' (8), has 27 peals, 25 of them from 188.3 to 1893, and only two this century, in 1904 and 1909, so there has been a long silence here! Scarborough's (8) 26 have come, a peal every few years, on the average, since 1896 There have teen five since 1947. A 6 -bell tower, Hemingbrough, has the 25 peals. Most of these (11) have come in the last 10 years. There were four from 1909 to 1915 and 10 between the wars. Escrick (8) has 22. As a 6 -bell tower two peals were rung in 1918. Twelve were rung after augmentation from 1926 to 1939, and the past 10 years have seen eight more. Eighteen of Thornaby's (8) 21 peals were rung before 1914, commencing in 1899. The other three were rung in 1925 and 1947 (two).

Beverley Minster (10) is the only other tower which has reached 20. Eleven were rung from 1882 to 1908, five from 1921 to 1938 and four from 1947 to 1953. The last of the four $10-$ bell towers in these two Ridings is also at Beverley-St. Mary's Church. Fifteen peals have been rung there-three before 1914, seven before the wars and five since 1945. Other 8 -bell towers which have reached double figures are Howden and Richmond (16); Bridlington, Fylingdales (or Robin Hood's Bay), Middleham, Patrington and Saltburn (15): Hedon and Shelton (13); Thirsk (11) and Northallerton (10). The longest silence of any tower where a peal had been rung was at the war-destroyed Church of St. Martin, York, where the only peal was in 1888. Baldersby appears to be the only unconquered 8 -bell tower.

A few words about the sixes and fives. Apart from Hemingbrough, only two have reached double figures. They are Eastrington (6) with 12 peals, eight since the war and four from 1923 to 1930, and Sutton (Hull) with 11 -three from 1907 to 1912, four from 1921 to 1938, and four from 1951 to 1953. The next highest are six peals at Guisborough and Hutton Cranswick, with five at Kirk Ella and Market Weighton. Thirteen of the 38 -bell towers have still to have a peal. They are Driffield; Hull, St. Mary's; Middleton-on-theWolds; Appleton-le-Moors; Askrigg; Aysgarth; Brafferton; Burneston; Cotherstone; Hovingham; Kirkby-on-the-Moor; West Tanfield and Whitwell-on-the-Hill.

Of the 80 or so towers under review, only three have five bells (fives seem to be much more infrequent in the north than in the south of the country). Two of these have had a single peal-Roos (in 1935) and Wykeham (in 1913). The remaining one is Rise. So much for the East and North Ridings of Yorkshire. We shall see that peals are much more frequent in the West Riding, and there are, of course, many more rings of bells. Peals include all published to December 9th, 1955.

A CATHERINGTON WEDDING

The wedding was solemnised by the Rev. B. P. Sheppard at the Church of All Saints, Catherington, Portsmouth, on December 31st, between Miss K. M. Harding and Mr. F. J. Tribe.
The bride was only a recent convert to the noble ar of campanology, but with a natural aptitude she had progressed very rapidly. The light musical six were set going merrily before and after the happy event by Messrs. H. Dobson, F. Bessant and C. Wring, of Catherington, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Turner and Mrs. J. H. Hall, of Hambledon, and Mr. J. H. Harding, of Bath. The bride's father also managed a pull before escorting his daughter to the altar.

The honeymoon being spent on a sea voyage to Malta where the bridegroom is in the service of the Admiralty.

A quarter peal at Catherington unfortunately came to grief two minutes from the end, but was successful at Hambledon at a later date.

RUNCORN RINGER SAILS FOR AUSTRALIA

On January 6th a farewell dinner, organised by the Parish Church bellringers, was held at the Wilson's Hotel, Runcorn, when goodbyes were said to Mr. Ernest Hughes and his wife, who sailed for Australia on the 20th. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes are joining their daughter, Jean, who married an Australian and is now to siding in Melbourne.

A memter of the Parish Church belfry for the past 30 years, Mr. Hughes has been in the band longer than any other member, and for many years was the secretary. He hopes to continue ringing at the Cathedral in Melbourne. continue ringing at the Cathedral in Melbourne.
The Vicar, the Rev. G. Davidson, said that he had experienced the feeling one gets whea leaving England behind, but he knew they would be compensated by being with their daughter, son-in-law and the granddaughter they had not yet seen.
Mr. Robert Hulse spoke of how much the band would miss Ernie, especially his comrades who were privileged enough to join him in that highly-skilled game of 'Fives and Threes,' The work Ernie had done could never be fully appreciated, especially that of his wife and himself in the running of the bazaar in 1952 . Mr. Hulse, on behalf of the bellringers, presented them with a 365 -day clock.

A rather novel idea of a permanent reminder to Mr. and Mrs. Hughes of their connection with Runcorn Parish Church was the presentation to them, by Mr. Walter Allman, of a tape recording, introduced by the Vicar, of the bells and part of the service on Christmas morning. Also recorded were the songs 'Good luck, good health, God bless you' and 'Auld Lang Syne' sung by those people present at the dinner. The recording was made possible by the kind efforts of Mr. Lawson.
Mr. Hughes said that he would try to obtain a similar recording of the bells at Melbourne, thus forming a link between the old world and the new.

Entertainment was provided by Mr. Lawson, aided and abetted by several members of the audience, the rendering of 'I Wonder' by Mr . Bill Allman (tenor) being much appreciated. Mr. J. Ridcock played the accompaniments.

STOKE D'ABERNON BELLS

Through the generosity of Mr. N. C. Champness, St. Mary's, Stoke D'Abernon (Surrey) bells have been rehung and augmented to a ring of six. The dedication service by the new Bishop of London will take place on Saturday, Feb. 5th. Mr. Harold N. Pitstow has arranged for a team to ring following the dedication and for half-an-hour after the service.

The tower will then be open to experienoed visiting ringers, who are asked to make themselves known to Mr. Champness, who will be standing at the door leading to the ringing chamber. This is a very light ring, and it is hoped that visitors will exercise care to avoid damage to stays.
The B.B.C. intend to record the dedication for Radio Newsreel, and TV also appear to be interested in recording the event
Requests to ring on the bells should be addressed to Mr. N. C. Champness, Lantern Cottage. Fairoak Lane, Oxshott. Some 15 applications from local aspirants have been received, but until a band is trained St. Mary's will be dependent on other teams.

OBITUARY

MR. FIELDING CROSSLEY

Mr. Fielding Crossley, a member of the Northowram, Halifax, team, died suddenly at his home in Bradford on January 4th at the age of 53 .
As a boy he was in the choir of St Matthew's Church and, as a youth, he learned to ring there.

Prior to leaving the village to join the police force (he attained the rank of sergeant with the Bradford City Force), he rang three peals, all of Kent Treble Bob Major.
On his retirement from the police force early in 1955 he took up ringing again with great enthusiasm, and travelled from Bradford regularly for service ringing and for practice. He started to learn methods which he had never practised as a youth, and could be relied upon to take a rope at every opportunity.
Great was his joy on November 2.6th last, when a peal of Bob Major, to which he rang the seventh, came home. His first peal for 33 years.

The funeral service took place at Bradford on January 7th, and on January 13th a haltmuffled quarter peal of 1,280 Kent and Oxtord Treble Bob Major, in the Ilkeston variation, was rung at Northowram by members of the local team and friends from Halifax and Lightcliffe: A. E. Hancock, F. Jagger, F. Popplewell, J. Greenwood, C. F. Sutcliffe, W. G. Turner, R. Mann, J. Pearson (conductor). W. G. T.

MR. LESLIE WIGHTMAN AN APPRECIATION

It was with extreme regret that I read in 'The Ringing World' of the death of my old friend, Leslie Wightman.

With his passing Suffolk has lost another of her great ringers. Quiet and unassuming, Les was a fine ringer and striker. Some twenty or thirty years ago we rang quite a number of peals together, many of which I called. Whenever he was in any peal that I was calling I could always rely on him, not only to ring his bell and the method perfectly, but also to assist in his quiet manner to help in correcting any error
When he lived with his parents at the Bell Inn, Cretingham, 1 spent many happy hours there. During these holidays we rang many peals on the bells in that district. One of these was a peal of London at Helmingham, which was the first in the method by all the band with the exception of myself. The following day we met at Debenham for a peal and Bill Rumsey asked how far we had got with our attempt for London. When I told him we had rung a good peal he did not believe me and would not be convinced until Les confirmed it. Afterwards the Helmingham band rang many peals in this method.
Another peal worthy of mention that I rang with him was one of Bristol at Framsden. We were late in starting and nobody remembered to light the lamp. so we finished the peal almost in darkness. We could just see our shirt sleeves going up and down and the rinaing was almost perfect. This was also my wife's first peal of Bristol.
During the past year several other Suffolk friends of mine have passed on. These include Norman Bailey. Frank Fisher, Fred Tillett and Alfred Watson, all of whom did much in their day to imnove ringing and good fellowship wherever they were.

May they rest in peace.
GEORGE H. CROSS.

MR. BENJAMIN KNIGHTS

Dear Sir,-The obituary notice of the late Benjamin Knights, written by my old friend, Ernest Morris, carries my thoughts back 50 years. Although I rang my first peal in November, 1892, it was not till 1906, when I became a curate in Derbyshire, that I met. the Knights, father and son.
From 1906 onwards I took part in nine peals with the Knights. Of these Arthur conducted three and Ben six. They included 6,656 Kent Treble Bob Major at North Wingfield on November 10 th, 1906 , in 4 hours and 12 min utes; three of Oxford Treble Bob Major and one of Kent Treble Bob Royal in 3 hours and 25 minutes, under the crooked spire of Chesterfield.

To cycle for miles along the steep and lonely roads of Derbyshire was well worth while if Arthur or Ben or both were taking part in the peal.

Eheu fugaces, Posthume, Posthume
Labunter anni and are lost to me, lost to me.

Yours truly,
R. P. FARROW (REV.)

East Lulworth Vicarage,
Dorset.

ALICE'S ADVENTURES IN THE BELFRY

A Frolic In Wonderland

If they're all called Sally, asked Alice, 'how shall I know which is what ? It was her first visit to a belfry, and she wanted to learn all she could before the ringing began.
'By ropesight, my dear,' said the Red Queen; kindly, as nothing had happened to upset her for seven and a half minutes.
' What is ropesight, please, Your Majesty ?' asked Alice.
Ropesight,' returned the Red Queen, 'is the art of seeing what is which.'
'That's what I need to know,' said Alice. 'Will you teach me?'

- You'll soon learn that,' put in the White Rabbit, flicking his ears and doing a little hop, skip and jump to signify how easy it all is. 'On the way up, you follow the one who followed you.'
'Up where ?' asked Alice, looking nervously towards where the ropes disappeared through holes in the ceiling: nervously, because she knew that bells are dangerous and unaccountable things.
' Up behind, of course, Child,' snapped the Red Queen.'
'But behind what, if you please, Your Majesty ?' faltered Alice, thoroughly bewildered.
'Behind all the other bells, idiot,' said the Red Queen, 'except, of course, the tenor. Never get behind him; unless, you know, he's turned in, and then you must get behind him, too.'

Alice was still wondering at what time the tenor went to bed when the Red Queen went on. 'On the way down, you naturally follow the one that's going to follow you.'
'However shall I know which one that is ?' she enquired.
That,' said the Red Queen, 'is a question on which the greatest intellects have spent themselves in vain. Lives have been lost in single combat by the protagonists of rival theories. The Lion and Unicorn were not really fighting for the crown,' she added, 'they quarrelled about how to know whom to follow. But don't worry, Child, just hunt down until you come to lead.'
' But I shan't know when I get there,' objected Alice.
'Oh, yes, you will,' put in the Dormouse, rousing himself suddenly, and taking hold of a rope. "When we all shout "Two bells to lead" you'll know it's two bells to. lead-but one at a time, of course. It's all a matter of hunting really?
'Do you ever catch anything ?' asked Alice.
'Oh, dear, no!' said Humpty Dumpty. 'We have to consider the feelings of the March Hare. Naturally, though, we have to course him, and he courses us, too.'

- What a very odd hunt!' thought Alice.

At this moment, the Mad Hatter, who had been scribbling hard for some time, put on an important look and his hat, and said, 'As Alice hasn't rung before, I've made a little song which tells her all she really needs to know. Shall I sing it ?' he asked, with a sort of mock shyness.
'Please, do,' they all called out, Alice the loudest, for she felt in her bones that she would soon need all the help she could gather.
The Mad Hatter stepped forward, doffed his hat, made a deep bow towards the Red Queen, a slight one towards Alice, and sang

A Touch in Three Parts.

On hand and back, and back and hand,
We make the learners learn to stand.
On back and hand, and hand and back,
They dare not give their stays a crack.

If Wrong is wrong, and Right is right, The bells set up a horrid fight.
If Wrong is right, and Right is wrong,
The bells ring out a merry song.
In snap and dodge, and dodge and snap, There's never time to take a nap. In dodge -
'That's the trouble with the Dormouse, broke in the Walrus, very rudely, Alice thought. 'That's why he'll never make a really good ringer. He keeps dozing off-look at him now, nodding in the corner.'
Before anyone had time to look anywhere the Red Queen shouted, Now you know it all, Alice. We shall ring Cinques.'
'Why are they called Cinques?' asked Alice, who was an earnest child, and still hoped to learn something about this astonishing new world.
' Because they're rung on eleven bells, of course.' snapped the Red Queen. 'Good gracious me! how stupid this child is!'
'But I thought cinque meant five," objected Alice, who had begun to learn French, and was getting on nicely.

The Red Queen stamped her foot, an action which set her crown awry, and made it dangle over her right car.
' It doesn't matter a bit what you thought,' she said. 'In a belfry Cinques mean eleven, so just remember that for a start. Here's Father William; he ll conduct, and we shall begin now.'
'Does he use a baton?' asked Alice, wondering how he managed that as well as Sally. 'Dear me, no, Child; he just shouts. That's why calling is called calling,' she added.
'Choose your weapons, good people,' cried out Father William. 'O for the wings of a dove !' he moancd, as he re-erected himself after adjusting his mat to his liking. 'Remember to course the Bell Before, Alice.'
Before what ? Alice wanted to ask, but at that moment she found everyone glaring at hor.
'Shout "Look to,"' called out Humpty Dumpty, who was a kindly creature and wanted to help.
' But they're looking already,' Alice complained. 'They're all looking at me.'
'Say " Treble's going! She's gone !" then,' shouted the Red Qucen.
'Gone where ?' asked poor Alice, looking anxiously around her.
'Gone off her balance,' explained the Whise Rabbit.
'I'm sorry she's afflicted in that way," said Alice sympathetically, adding to herself, 'I wonder if that's because of having bats in the belfry.
She still seemed no nearer beginning to ring. and the Red Quecn was becorring more impatient than cver, tossing her head until the crewn on it bounced up and down.
"Pull me.' whispered Alice's Sally kindly, "and you'll be surprised." Alice did as she was bid, and WAS surprised: but she had no tine to meditate on this now discovery. for in a moment all the other Sallies were flying up and down in a mad dance.
'Strike the bell that struck you. Alice,' cal'.ed out the Carpenter. who was standirg en a large box and working very hard. Alice was at a loss to understand what he reant, as she had nin feit any blows. nor had she seen any bell; but she thanked him politely.

- What happens if we let our Sally go altogether ?' Alice whispered to the Cheshire Cat, who was ringing the secend "Their stays breal:. he whisfered back with a more than usually genial grin, because they burst their sides with laughing.'

' Which one is Bob ?' asked Alice after they had been ringing for some time.
'He's the one who keeps mixing things up so that we can go on.: answered the Cheshire Cat. "When he doesn't do it, Single does. If they didn't, you know, the bells would come round.'

If they aren't round,' objected Alice, 'what shape are they? and why don't you want them round? They are always that shape on Christmas cards,' she added.

Before the Cheshire Cat could reply, nearly everyone began shouting, but Father William out-shouted them all. "Six-seven up, six-seven down,' was all Alice could hear, and she didn't understand at all.

It's the White Knight and the Black Knight missing their dodges agzin,' explained the Cheshire Cat, when the hubbub had died down a little. 'I don't know why they do it. You'd think dodging would come natural to them, with all the practice they get,' he added gloomily; - They can't do a plain hunt, you know. Their union won't let them.'

This is all,' said Father William. 'Stand!'
We've been standing all the time, thought Alice; but she was too bewildered to ask any more questions, so she went on ringing instead.

 tion on the history, use and construction of church bells. A series of lantern slides illustrated the talk, and a demonstration of handbell ringing was given by Mr. and Mrs. Last, Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong and Mr. P. A. F. Chalk. Mr. J. Chalk, a life vice-president of the Essex Association, was in the chair. The Association is fortunate in having several members who give talks on bells and ringing, and their lectures prove most acceptable to the general public.Mr. Arnoid Hill has now 'circled ' Warsop tower to peals.
The peal of Minor in four methods at Steventon, Berks, was rung on December 31st and not December 26th as submitted.
Mr. L. G. Williams, of Wool, is in hospital but is progressing. A message of best wishes was sent to him for the annual meeting of the Dorchester (Dorset) Branch.
The peal ringing bogey which has been besetting the University of London Society for so long has at last been thrown off. After umpteen attempts the Society has at last scored another peal, at Cranford.
Arriving home on January 21st after ringing at Dursley, Glos, and Barrow Gurney, Somerset, Mr. W. A. Stote, of 47, Cedars Avenue, Coundon, Coventry, found a large-size pair of leather gloves in his overcoat. He will be pleased to return the same by post to the owner.
Mr. Sydney Leatherbarrow returned to his home tower at Newchurch to conduct his first peal. His father, Mr. Joseph Leatherbarrow, a past vice-president of the Lancashire Association and Ringing Master at Newchurch, was prevented through illness from taking part in the peal. Sydney now rings at Blackburn Cathedral.

GOSSIP

The bells of St. Anne's Parish Church, Lancs, have been dismantled prior to being hung on ball bearings by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. It is hoped the work will be completed for Easter Day.
Has a quarter peal been rung previously at Culmstock, Devon?
Mr. H. E. Audsley is the new Master of The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. A report will appear in our next issue.
Mr. Walter Ayre, who introduces Dacorum Imperial Bob Major in this issue, states that Northchurch, where the peal was rung, is in the Dacorum Hundred.
It is belicved that the Rev. J. H. Ransom, of Great Bromley, Essex, is the first Essex incumbent to ring a peal on his own bells. Is this correct?
Mr. Frank Whitemore, at the age of 60 , mado his first attempt for a peal at Publow and was successful. An accident to his legs some years ago prevented him making a previous attempt.
January 13th was the 60th anniversary of the first peal of Mr. Sydney Flint, of Maghull, Lancs. Friends in the Norwich Diocesan Associatio 1 remembered the occasion with a peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major at Hethersett.
For many years a ringer in the Dartford District, Mr. John Wheadon, who is now 84, rang his 99th peal of Stedman at Bowdon, Cheshira on January 14th. The peal was Dennis Mottershead's first in an odd-bell method.
The first peal has been rung at Arkesden, Essex, a reniote thatched village on the hilly borderland between Herts, Cambs and Essex The bells, a light ring hung by Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, 'go' well but are noisy in the ring ing chamber. For the successful attempt on January 14th new ropes were fitted. The band travelled an average of 25 miles each way.

TIVERTON RINGERS SUPPER

Roast turkey and fruit salad with Devonshire cream figured on the menu for the second annual supper of St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers, Tiverton, on January 20th. Mr. A. W. Payne, the genial secretary, who made arrangements for the evening, was in the chair.

Proposing a toast to the ringers, the Rector (Canon R. C. Worsley) thanked them for their services during 1955, when the bells had been rung regularly on all Sundays and for practice. He called attention to the publicity St. Peter's Church had been given on the B.B.C. that evening and of the $£ 15,000$ Restoration Appeal. The appeal week was from February 5 th to 12 th, and he asked the ringers to ring each evening for at least one hour, or longer if they wished.

Responding, Mr. E. J. Taylor, general secretary of the Devon Guild, sooke of the good leadership in the parish from the Rector, and the happy band of ringers under their good captain, Mr. Upton, who had led the Society for 20 years.

Mr. W. H. Ware, secretary of the N.E. Branch of the Devon Guild, proposed 'The Visitors.' Mr. Giles, a churchwarden, replied.

Our correspondent, Mr. W. H. Ware, of 1, Holly Road, Cowleymoor, Tiverton, writes: Through the channels of "The Ringing World " I should like to say thank God our bells are in good order; but if any ringers who have enjoyed ringing on the bells would like to subscribe to the $£ 15,000$ appeal, I shall be glad to forward any subscriptions, however small.'

Norwich Association Congratulates Former Master

Dear Si,-,-May I, throush your columns, take this opportunity on behalf of all members of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers in extending to Nolan Golden sincere and heartiest congratulations on having joined the short list of immortals who have completed a thousand peals.

The 1,000 th was rung on January 18 th at Gressenhall, Norfolk, where the bells have recently been augmented to eight by the addition of two trebles. Typical of Nolan, the peal was composed and conducted by him and named "Gressenhall Delight Major."

It is rot necessary to enumerate upon his achievements in the Art, and knowing Nolan, he would not wish it ; but personally, I can say it is ever a pleasure to be in his band whether for peal or touch, and there is always the feeling of confidence when he is in command.
So to Nolan, congratulations on having reached the first thousand, and the Association's best wishes for the future.-Yours faithfully,
H. WILLIAM BARRETT, Ringing Master,

Norwich Diocesan Association.

Ringing began at 3 p.m. and was followed by a service in church, conducted by the Rural Dean. Canon E. Bevan, with the address given by Canon Fisher.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Macclesfield Branch

The bells of Macclesfield Parish Church, Cheshire's only 12, were put to good use on January 14th when the Branch held its annual meeting. Ringing began soon after 3 p.m., sending an unknown bride upon her way, and continued until time for the service, which was delayed which a representative of the local press flashed bright lights at the assembled company. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Tom Clarke, president of the Branch.

Royal, Cambridge Minor and Maximus, and Stedman from Triples to Cinques. Besides visitors from other branches, there were others from as far afield as Staffordshire, Warwickshire and Lancashire.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On January 21st the Northern District of the Hertfordshire Association held their annual meeting at St. Mary's, Hitchin. Ringing began at 2.30 for a wedding, and continued until it was time for the service.
The business meeting was held after tea in the towir. The secretary's report was fairly encouraging. Although attendance at meetings had been poor. 15 peals had been rung, and 55 quarters, a great many for services. The balance was good, even if it was lower than last year's.

Mr. E. G. Buck was re-elected hon. district secretary with acclamation; Messrs. J. Dear and B. Marks are now the general committee; Messrs. W. Brown, F. Croft, W. Ferris, K. Timbury and $H$. Werrett form the district committee. Miss J. Sanderson remains as the 'R. W.' representative.
Three new members were elected : Messrs. P. Andrews, of Pirton, and R. Coppage and W. Hamilton, of Hitchin.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

Annual Meeting at Overseale

$\mathrm{S}^{1}$TUATED on the southern border of the Diocese of Derby, and on the edge of Leicestershire (of which it once formed a part). lies the parish of Seale. It is composed of two distinct parts. called Nether and Over, each having its own Church of St. Peter and St. Matthew respectively. Both possess a fine ring of eight bells.
The tenth annual meeting of the Guild was held on January 14th at St. Matthew's, Overseale, which stands picturesquely on the Burton to Watling Strect main road. It was to this church that the late W. W. Worthington gave three bells to complete the octave as a thankoffering for the 1914-18 victory.
Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., followed by a short service, conducted by the recently appointed Rector, the Rev. N. K. Brownsell, who gave a short but inspiring address and extended a welcome to the ringers.
Following tea in the Church Hall, the annual meeting was held, at which the chairman (Mr. W. H. Curson), in the unavoidable absence of the president, the Ven. H. E. FitzHerbert, presided.
In his remarks the chairman spoke of the apathy that existed apart from a few and appealed to the members to give their support to the meetings.
The statement of accounts read by the treasurer (Mr. J. H. Brittan) showed that receipts again balanced payments.
In presenting the yearly report, the secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton) referred to the loss the Guild had sustained by the deaths of the Rev. C. O. Haden (hon member) and Mr. J. W. F. Trotman, of Nuneaton, and said that 1955 had not been one of the Guild's successful years. Average attendance at meetings was lower than in previous years and only 21 peals were rung, this being the lowest total but one since the Guild was formed in 1946.

Guild membership was now 26 honorary and 98 ringing members. Nine conductors shared the calling of the peals, viz. Messis. $R$. Beniston (4), D. P. Jones (3), B. G. Key, J. E. Cawser, W. Thornley and C. Glenn (two each), D. R. Carlisle, P. J. Staniforth, J. R. Mayne. G. E. Oliver and D. Beresford (one each). Peals of Lincolnshire, Southwell and Wye Surprise Major were rung for the Guild for the first time.

The Hon. Secretary was the Guild's leading peal ringer, with 18 to his credit. Personal 'milestones, were: W. G. Soar (Ringing Master) 100 and J. W. Cotton 400 peals.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Officers for 1956 were elected as follows: President, the Ven. H. E. FitzHerbert: Chairman, Mr. W. H. Curson: Ringing Master. Mr. W. G. Soar: Treasurer, Mr. J. H. Brittan : Secretary. Mr. J. W. Cotion: Auditor, Mr. T. Pryce: Committee. Messrs. B. G. Key. S. H Jones. W. F. Woodward and T. J. Marriott.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Is New Year Ringing the Right Use of Bells?

for use of the bells and to the secretary for his hospitality.
It is hoped that the necessary arrangements will be made to carry out 1956 meetings as follows: March 3rd, Winshill: April 14th, Burton (St. Paul's & St. Modwen's): May 26th, Measham: July 7th, Hoar Cross: August 25th, Repton; October 6th, Ashby or Ticknall ; and November 17th, Netherseale.
Towers represented during afternoon or evening were Burton (St. Modwen's and St. Paul's), Ashby, Measham, Repion, Seales, Etwall, Lullington. Winshill, Hoar Cross, Newchurch. King's Bromley, Kingsbury, Castle Bromwich.

The chairman of the Frome and Midsomer Norton Branch, Mr. J. T. Dyke, suggested at the annual meeting at Midsomer Norton on January 14th that the New Year, being of no particular Christian significance, was not a suitable occasion for the ringing of bells.

He said: 'We ring for Sunday services, for necessary practice and sometimes we ring peals in order to perfect our art. All this is right and proper. But when I read in the local Press that the ringers rang out the old year and the new year in, and when I read that a crowd of revellers gathered in the market place on Dec. 31st and on the first stroke of twelve cheered, sang 'Auld Lang Syne,' popular songs and carols, I feel that the Christian significance of the bells is lost to a sentimental custom which has grown out of tradition.

- It was usual all over the country to ring half-muffled for Holy Innocents' Day, and here and there the tradition still persists. At Wedmore the bells are rung at six o.clock in the morning and again in the evening and so on each day until Dec. 31st. Then the muffles are removed and at midnight the bells ring out joyfully, not, I trust, for Jan. 1st, but for the Feast of the Circumcision. It behoves ringers to foster traditional ringing and to take care that those who follow them will have due appreciation of the Christian reasons for ringing.
The chairman reported with pleasure on the increasingly close alliance in the country between the ringers and the Church and in this branch the inter-tower visiting which had enabled, for instance, a band to be trained at Midsomer Norton Church within a year, and the bells to be rung regularly for service

After tea in the schoolroom members stood in silence for Messrs. Geoffrey Ashman and Wyndham Roberts, of Leigh, and James Perkins, of Midsomer Norton. An apology for absence was received from Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, of Binegar, who had been in a road accident.

The chairman, secretary, ringing master and press representative were all re-elected, and also nine new members and probationers from High Littleton (1), Binegar (1), Radstock (3), Paulton (2), Frome (1), Midsomer Norton (1), and eight probationers from Midsomer Norton became full members. Four tower elections were also ratified.
The quarterly meetings were arranged for April 14th, Whatley (the newest tower to join the Association): July 14th. Compton Dando: October 13th, Mells: and the annual meeting, January 12th, 1957, at Shepton Mallet. A Corporate Communion was arranged at Kilmersdon for June 17 th (service $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.), and a practice meeting at Kilmersdon on February 4th, including service and tea-all these arrangements subject to the necessary permissions.
The meeting ended with votes of thanks to the Vicar, organist and choir, and the Mothers ${ }^{\circ}$ Union and friends who provided the tea, to which about 70 members and guests sat down.
before the new band became proficient, and all, own churches.
He also remarked on the growth in membership in the last five years under the present secretary, so that now it was likely to top the eleven branches of the Association, as it did in the middle twenties.
The secretary, Mr. E. J. Chivers, reported a total membership of 181 and an average attendance of 37 at quarterly meetings. Two new towers had joined the Association during the year, Binegar and Hinton Blewett. A number of members had rung first peals in new methods and David Hoare, of Radstock, was to be congratulated both on his own peal record and on conducting so many peals which were - firsts 'for the other ringers. New bands were being trained at Midsomer Norton and Ashwick by Mr. J. T. Dyke. In conclusion, the secretary thanked tower captains, secretaries and incumbents for their co-operation.

The meeting was preceded by a service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. K. C. Scott, in which the address was given by the Master of the Association, the Rev. M. Hurst Bannister, of Pilton. A collection was taken for the restoration of Pilton bells, and the Master later reported that it had now just topped $£ 400$ since last October.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE QUICKEST TOWER BELL PEAL YET RUNG,
Dear Sir, -Thus runs a footnote to a peal of 5,024 Plain Bob Major, rung at the Loughborough Foundry Campanilc. December 7th. 1955. as reported in 'The Ringing World ' of January 13th. 1956, on p. 18. The peal took 1 hr. 45 mins. Then on p. 26 there is some more about it. Here we read that there was no enjoyment in ringing at that speed because the sound of the bells merged into a hum.

Well then. I say, why do it?
A year or two ago you kindly published a letter of mine about fast ringing, and in that letter I stressed that, in my opinion, the sound of the bells, outside, is No. 1 priority in ringing. I stilt hold that opinion and think that everything else comes after that.

If we increase on the claimed record of Dec. 7th. the hum will get to a whine, then a scream and-who knows?-in the end it may go off bang! Poor bells! Not one had a chance to be heard and admired.

The achievement of the ringers in this case is wonderful-oh yes !-I don't know how they do it. But. if they want to try their skill in that direction. I suggest they lash the clappers.

It makes me think of some of the very high-brow-and some of the very low-brow-music: to compose it must be wonderful, to play it musi be marvellous-but. after all, what is it when it comes forth, and why did I go to hear it?
The foundry ring is very light and so the speed is greater, but on an eight with a ton tenor I think that 13 whole pulls per minute is ideal. If the bells are then well struck each one stands out and can be appreciated.

Some of my friends will say that I am very elementary. Quite so, sir, but I am a good listener-and I also read carefully. Come on. somebody, let me have it-but not too fast!Yours very truly.

CLAUDE RUSH.
Eye. Suffolk.

J. J. PARKER'S TWELVE-PART PEAL OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

Dear Sir,-The letter of Mr. Peter Wright in your issue of January 20th re the above is interesting. and the variations he gives are ingenious, but I think there are a few points in connection with them which are worth mentioning.

From a conductor's point of view, in a peal of Grandsire Triples with 180 calls. including a good number of singles, it is an advantage to good number of singles, it is an advantage to have clear cut part ends in order to check the true coursing order of the bells as the peal proceeds. So that in the variation with the 3rd as observation bell it is not a good plan to have 6 and 7 in the front and the 2 nd in 67 at the part ends.

In the variation with 5 as observation he has 2 and 3 alternating on the front at part ends of 4. 6 and 7 falling into musical positions behind which is good. Of course, in the second half of the peal these musical properties would occur at handstroke instead of the backstroke.

The variation with the 4th as observation is perhaps the best of the three with 6 and 7 behind at all part ends and unaffected by the half way single.
We may be sure that an able composer like the late J. J. Parker would have explored all possible fields for the production of his 'masterpiece' and the well-known one with the 6th as observation bell is no doubt the best that could be produced on that plan. The two well-known variations, viz., by 2 and 7, are both good with perhaps the latter as the better of the two.Yours truly,
W. J. PAICE.

Wokingham, Berks.

A RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD?

Dear Sir.-In answer to the suggestion of a Railwaymen's peal attempt. I have received 16 replies offering to 'stand in, which does not include at least six ringers from Crewe. Arising from the letter. I have had many requests for a Railwaymen's Guild or Association of ChangeRingers. Why not, indeed?
I have written to Mr. J. W. Watkins, general manager, British Railways, London Midland Region, asking for his official blessing.
When the date for the proposed peal is fixed the occasion might provide a good opportunity for the inaugural meeting. The replies are from as far apart as Wadhurst (Sussex), Leeds (Yorks). Ditton (Kent). Swansea (Glam.), Bath (Somerset), Chester. Chelmsford, Melton Mowbray (Leics), Chorley (Lancs), Wellington (Shropshire). Newport (Mon.), Liverpool and Bedford. -Yours sincercly,

> W. FRANK STENSON,
> (Retired) Initial Inspector, C.M.E., > Progress Office, Crewe.

AN ANNIVERSARY PEAL

Dear Sir,-Later this year, on the 60th anniversary of a first peal, it is proposed to ring an identical peal. The original peal included 'Violet Treble Bob Minor' and 'Duke of York Treble Bob Minor.' and as neither of these methods are included in the C.C.C. would you or the Methods Committee tell me what has happened to them. Are they known under another name or have they been rejected?Yours truly,

Sutton, Ely.

Note.-Both Violet and Duke of York Treble Bob Minor are irregular methods, and have for that reason never been included in the collection of Minor methods. However, as a result of the revision of the Central Council's decisions at Bristol last year, a peal which includes extents of these methods would be recognised provided it otherwise satisfied the Council's requirements as regards truth, etc.-Ed.

COLLECTION OF SURPRISE MAJOR  COMPOSITIONS WANTED

Dear Sir,-I regret to say that the $5,088 \mathrm{Lin}$ colnshire Surprise Major, published on p. 416 of your issue for July 1st, 1955, is simply an inferior variation of the three-part peal usually ascribed to W. Barton, and cannot be credited to H. Poyner as an original composition.
The courses incorporated in this composition by a Q-set at the Wrong of the course 42356 may equally well be included by a Q-set at the Home of the course 43526, or its equivalent in parts 2 and 3. Begin this at the course 54326. to avoid 32s, and the result is, I fear, the wellknown peal referred to above, by Mr. Barton.

Any others who are interested in the composition of Lincolnshire are well advised to read the letters in the 'R. W.'s' of November 28th and December 5th. 1952 on this subject before claiming their carly attempts in this strictly limited field of composition.
Also, while I have pen to paper, in view of the popularity achieved by the easier Surprise Major methods over the last few years, it would appear highly advantageous to compile an inclusive and, as far as possible, exhaustive collection of compositions in these methods, as was attempted in the case of Double Norwich and Plain Bob nearly half a century ago. Would the appropriate committees back such an enterprise? Perhaps your readers will have something to suggest on this subject.-Yours sincerely,

STEPHEN IVIN
Houghton Conquest, Bedford.

FOOTNOTES TO PEALS

Dear Sir,-Some years ago I was asked to take part in a peal attempt at my home tower. The band met and the peal was duly rung and published. Much to my amazement I read that the peal had been rung to compliment the ringers of the 5th and tenor on their respective wedding anniversaries. Normally this would not have surprised me as I would have known this already, but this was my first intimation in this case. I did not wish to detract from these good wishes so I kept my peace.

However, the really unfortunate omission from the footnote was the real reason for the ringing of the peal, namely, the reason for which permission had been granted. It was rung on Holy Saturday after the Morning Office, which in the Catholic Church, and I believe in some Anglican churches, is the first service of Easter. Thus we had the ironical situation of the clergy, parishioners, and at least one of the ringers under the impression that we were ringing for the Glory of God, to celebrate the Resurrection of His Son, while seven of the ringers were congratulating their friends on having completed a number of years of nuptial bliss.
Mr. Barron will have a long time to wait before he hears of me criticising the ringing of anniversary peals, providing they are rung primarily for that purpose; but I hope that Mr. Morton will never again have to take pen in the case of the "Vienna State Opera peal.' I wonder if someone will suggest that we greet $M$. Bulganin and M. Kruschev with three courses of Stedman Cinques from St. Paul's as they tour London.-Yours faithfully,

PETER J. HUTCHINGS.

' MR. A. BEVERLEY RINGER'

Dear Sir,-Referring to your notes in Belfry Gossip. The Ringing World, p. 40. of Jan. 20th, I can confirm that Mr. A. Beverkey Ringer lives at Seething. near Norwich, and has done for sever 11 years. He is well known in 'The Poultry World' and specialises in show birds, the Indian game variety being his pets, and has met with considerable success.

Even with such a name he is not to my knowledge a ringer in the sense that we use it. His name very often crops up around here as Beverley Surprise Minor is one of the methods practised, and it is not uncommon to hear 'Let's have a touch of Beverley Ringer.'-Yours faithfully,
H. W BARRETT.

Loddon, Norfolk.

Grandsire Major

Eight previous arrangements had been made for the peal of Grandsire Major rung at Hungerford on January 17th, but each came to nothing for various reasons, including miscalling, shift coursing, illness, meeting short and having the lights switched off. The successful attempt was accomplished with the aid of a hurricane lamp.

ANCIENT BELLS IN DEVON

Dear Sir,-I hasten to thank J. G. M. S. for the solution of the Marwood enigma. It seems clear that he has climbed the tower and has seen where Ellacombe was wrong. As tower hunters, we had no time for such athletic endeavour and I, for one, relied on what has been printed. I notice that he used the name John Byrdall in connection with the Exeter firm of Penningtons. Does he mean John Byrdan, who cast the fourth of the Cathedral ring in 1616? If so, the guide to 'Church Bells of Devon' of 1927 is wrong.

My notes in " Tower Hunting in Devon ${ }^{\text {a }}$ were gathered and written to stimulate interest and to answer queries on the question of bellfounders, and I purposely omitted some of them, as Bryant of Hereford, who cast the back six of Barnstaple Parish Church in 1803, Llewellyn and James of Bristol, and Abbott of Bideford, as we had not recently visited towers in which their bells hang. Nor have we visited the three- and four-bell towers where many mediæval bells still do service, e.g., two at Hittesleigh, all three at Abbots Bickington, two at Meeth (4), the three at Huish (in original frame, I believe), tenor and sccond of the three at Newton St. Petrock, the three at Newton Tracey-to mention a few in N. Devon.

There are puzzles, as he says, and one of these, so far as I am concerned, is that of the fifth and tenor of Marland St. Peter's N. Devon). The inscriptions are: Tenor-Protege virgo pia quos convoso sancta Maria, in equally spaced Lombardic capitals; fifth-Stop. Stop. Marim Anna Petero Dia Johanni Stop mimim iacim iculeat hoc via Johannie, in black lettering with m's of Lombardic type. This is a copy of my own rubbing, and from the weathered state of the bell may not be quite correct. I am puzzled at the translation of the second part and I wonder why two such ancient bells are found in a tower probably dating from the 16 th century, and why they are so much weathered on the outside. The first of the stops is square and the circle within contains a bell; the single stop is also square, within which is a circle containing four impressions roughly similar to a fleur-de-lis. I may also say that the church was a chapelry worked from the priory of Frithelstock.

As a suggestion, may I say that where ancient bells do service, a piece of cartridge paper and some heel-ball in the hands of some young ringers might helo to check some of the work done by Mr. Ellacombe.

Both the bells referred to above are quite good-perhaps the tenor is the better; but each has a saddish 'panny' effect, and personally I cannot distinguish the "tierce' nor the 'quint as can be done with modern bells. I have observed this in other ancient bells, so it is I have another puzzle. How were ancient bells tuned? or were they tuned at all so long as the "strike note' was about correct.
F. S. SMALE.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

 ASSOCIATION
Straight Words to Tower Captains

In his report as secretary, Mr. S. S. Woodburn criticised the support of tower captains at the annual meeting of the Bath Branch on January 14th at Bath.

Pointing out that there had been an average attendance of 50 at meetings, he said: "The attendance of the Tower Masters makes very disappointing reading. With the exception of the annual meeting the most there have been at any other meeting have been four out of 18 towers in the Branch. To say the least it doe; not show very much enthusiasm.'
The report also recorded that after just over 50 years of service at Swainswick there was difference of opinion between the Rector and the Tower Master, the outcome being the resignation of the latter. 'It is not for us to hold any views one way or the other, but this sort of thing is unsavoury to us all, and one would have thought that if the liaison between Rector and Tower Master was in the right perspective this matter could have been settled more amicably to all concerned.'

The Rev. E. J. Rowe presided at the meeting and welcomed visitors from Ebbw Vale, Bournemouth, Corsham, Southampton, Ilminster, Breadsall (Derbyshire), Reading, Bristol, Trowbridge, Newport, Pelsall (Staffordshire) and Chepstow
Officers elected for 1956 were :-Chairman, the Rev. E. J. Rowe; vice-chairman, the Rev. E. H. G. Sargent; secretary, Mr. S. S. Woodburn: treasurer, Mr. T. J. Hayward; Ringing Master, Mr. S. S. Woodburn; Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. R. O. Fry; representative on General Committee, Mr. S. S. Woodburn.
Ringing took place at Bath Abbey prior to the service at St. Michael's-with-St. Paul's, conducted by the Rev E. H. G. Sargent (Rector). The lesson was read by the hon. secretary.

Branch Meeting at Teignmouth

There was a good attendance of members and friends at the annual meeting of Mid-Devon Branch at St. Michael's, Teignmouth, on Jan. 14th. The bells were well utilised throughout the afternoon, this being followed by a service in church, which was conducted by the Rev. Fr. Crisford (assistant priest). The Rev. J. G. M. Scott gave the address and the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge acted as organist.

After an excellent tea, the usual business meeting followed with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair, he being supported by the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox (president), Messrs. E. J. Taylor (general secretary) and A. L. Bennett (branch secretary).

The secretary's report gave details of many new members having been elected and the number of peals and quarter peals rung during the year. The treasurer's report showed a small balance in hand. Both reports were adopted.
Three new members were elected, and certificates of full membership were presented by the president to Miss Patricia Mills and Mr. Dennis Cross, both of St. Michael's, Teignmouth.

The following officers were elected: Chairman and Ringing Master. Mr. J. E. Lilley; sccretary and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Bennett; three members to serve on the General Committee, the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, Messrs. E. M. Atkins and H. W. Simmonds.

The next meeting will be at Townstal with Stoke-Fleming on April 28th.
The chairman, in proposing the usual votes of thanks to those who contributed to the success of the meeting, extended a welcome to the visitors, and the Rev. Preb. Cox suitably replied.

Further ringing took place until about 8

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Fifty-eight ringers and friends met at St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, on January 21 st for the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch.
The eight bells of St. Peter's and the six of St. George's, Fordington, were available. The Guild service was conducted by the Branch chairman, Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, Rector of St. Peter's, who also gave the address, in which he spoke of the R.A.F. taking over the church of St Clement Danes in the Strand, and gave the translation of the inscriptions on some of the new bells.
Tea was served at the Wessex Restaurant, and was followed by the business meeting, conducted by the chairman.

The hon. secretary, Mr. J. H. Hayne, in his report for 1955 stated that the membership of the Branch had dropped from 186 to 178. Two peals were rung-Plain Bob Minor at Abbotsbury, and two Doubles methods at Martinstown, both conducted by Mr. H. J. Ford. Seven conductors shared 12 quarter peals-three at Wyke Regis, two at Buckland Newton, two at Upwey, and one each at Abbotsbury, Charminster, St. Peter's, Dorchester, Piddlehinton and Preston.

The financial statement showed a credit balance of $£ 24$, and was adopted together with the report.
Canon Markby was re-elected chairman ; the Rev. S. P. Rowcroft (Abbotsbury) vice-chairman; Mr. F. Precey Ringing Master; Messrs. H. J. Ford and J. W. Rose deputy Ringing Masters (Mr. Rose follows his captain, Mr. F. Stedman, of Wyke Regis, who resigned because of advancing years); Mr. J. H. Hayne hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. R. H. Duke assistant hon. secretary.
Meetings were suggested for 1956: Upwey in April; Milton Abbey, June; Maiden Newton, August; and Litton Cheney, October, subject to confirmation.

New ringing members elected were Miss T. A. Barnett and Comm. R. C. Bucknall (Charminster), and Miss A. Kemp and Major R. F. Browning (St. Peter's, Dorchester) Mrs. and Miss Browning were elected associate members.

BROADWINDSOR, DORSET

Attention is drawn to Broadwindsor, West Dorset, bells by the fact that they are to be rehung, and hung with new headstocks and fittings.

Three of these are pre-Reformation hells, and were cast at the time the tower was built, more than 100 years before the Reformation. No. 5, the oldest, bears in clear Lombardic lettering a dedication to St. Gabricl (Sancte Gabriel, ora pro nobis). and was cast by Robert Norton, of Exeter. No. 4 was probably cast by the same foundry, and No. 3, dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary, came from Salisbury. Nos. 1 and 2, dated 1806 and 1790 , were from the Bilbie foundry at Cullompton. The tenor was recast in 1897, but there is no record of its predecessor.

The headstocks, which are split in places, have been extensively attacked by worm, and are to be replaced by cast-iron ones. New gudgeons, stay sliders and ropes are necessary. By voluntary labour parishioners are to construct a new and more convenient ringing chamber. An appeal for $£ 600$ has been launched and contributions, however small, will be welcomed by the hon. Ireasurer of the Parochial Church Council.

Stoke D'Abernon bells are to be dedicated on Sunday, February 5th, at 3 p.m.. and not on February 4 th as stated last week. This is a ring of five, and the first peal attempt will be on February 12th by The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

OBITUARY  MR. JAMES CARTER

Ashton-under-Lyne Society of Change Ringers have. lost their president. conductor and towerkeeper by the sudden death, without illness, on January 12th, of Mr. James Carter, at the age of 52 years. The Sunday preceding his death he had conducted a quarter peal in which there were several learners. Although it came round true, he would not count it as good enough for publication, and jokingly remarked that it had been good practice for the next attempt.

The last ringing member of the famous prewar Ashton team, under Sam Wood and Ben Thorpe, Mr. Carter had been a ringer for 33 years. The majority of his 60 to 70 peals were on 10 or 12 bells and included all the standard methods and Cambridge Surprise. In the six peals he had conducted, practically all the ringers had been trained by him.

After serving in the Armed Forces during the war, he taught an entirely new band of ringers at Ashton and conducted his first peal as conductor and the first peal for the other members of the band. This was Grandsire Doubles, and it was quickly followed by peals of Grandsire Trinles and Caters. Due to his endless patience and enthusiasm, the ringing position as Ashton is now very strong.

Many friends attended the funeral service on January 17th, conducted by the Rector, Canon Colin Lamont, as Mr. Carter was a member of both the Lancashire Association and Chester Dincesan Guild. The 12 bells were rung fully mulfled. As the procession left the church handbells were rung, and again at the crematorium as the coffin moved out of sight. The ringers were Miss Joan Carter, Mr. W. Harrison, Mr. F. Ronan and Mr. L. Hill. Mr. Carter will be sadly missed by his many friends.

MR. F. GOODWIN
For over 50 years a ringer and choirman. and until recently churchwarden at St. John-theEvangelist, Havering-atte-Bower, Essex, Mr. F. Goodwin died on January 15th. He was an honorary member of the S.W. Division of the Essex Association.

A memorial service was held at the Parish Church on Sunday. January 22nd, and before the service some of his fellow ringers rang an in memoriam quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles. The band was: Mrs. H. Roome 1, B. Branch 2, T. G. Fox 3, J. Brice 4, G. W. Cecil (conductor) 5. H. Roome 6.

We regret to report the deaths of Mr. Henry George Thompson, of Parkstone, Dorset, and Mr. Stephen Read, of Asfordby, Leics.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Blackburn Branch

The annual meeting of the Blackburn Branch was held on January 7th at the Cathedral. About fifty ringers attended from Rishton, Church Kirk, Oswaldtwistle, Accrington, Burnley, Clitheroe, Ribchester, Blackburn Cathedral, Preston, Chorley, Brindle, Whittle-le-Woods. Haslingden, Bacup, Farnworth, Manchester and Halifax.
A satisfactory tea was provided, and a quiet, brief service held in the Cathedral crypt.
Mr. Ernest Gower, of Clitheroo, was elected branch president and Association committee member for a period of two years. Three new members were enrolled.
Sufficient experts were present to ring London Surprise Major and Cambridge Royal, and there were many opportunities for the less expert. Mr. Harry Entwistle, of Burnley, who joined the Association in 1904 and still rings for service, was warmly welcomed.

Miss Patricia Bourn moved a vote of thanks to the Provost for the use of the bells.

INTO PRINT

TO anyone who has indulged in the pastime of writing, and has ventured for his amusement into the realm of authorship, the remark must often have been made: 'That's very good, you know. You ought to publish that.' Or it may be an admirer has said: 'That ought to be in book form; it would sell like hot cakes, a thing like that would.' Alas! Well-meaning as some of these good friends are, little do they know the trials, tribulations and disappointments attendant upon getting a book into print, and little knowledge do they have of the difficulties of selling it when it is in print.

The compiling and the writing of the thesis is almost invariably the part of the task that gives the greatest pleasure. For the student there is real joy in the visits to the Reference Library, the searching of this and that authority, the interviewing of some person possessing relevant information, the gathering of scraps from here and there and the piecing of them together in support of a theory or statement. Then the planning of the chapters, the sections, and even the paragraphs, followed by the actual writing, wherein passages scribbled upon old envelopes and in tattered note books, worked at, maybe, in the train, in the bus, in the smoke room at the club, or even in bed, are knit together and built up into the final edifice we call the book. And after much revision, much correction, and much heart searching the author sits back and in his heart fondly believes (even if he does not say it): 'Exegi monumentum aere perennius!'

But this monument he has erected more lasting than brass, as he may believe, has yet to be brought before the world, and how shall this be done? There are two chief ways in which a man may publish a book. The first is, of course, to interest some publisher sufficiently that the man of business offers to buy the book outright and publish it or publish it at his expense and pay the author a royalty on copies sold. This a publisher will do if he is convinced he can make money out of the book. But publishers are hard men of the world and always give the impression of having suffered a whole life of cruel disappointment; and they are very hard to move sentimentally and financially. And so the 'monumentum aere perennius' may make many weary journeys backwards and forwards to and from publishers, returning, as one writer expressed it, ' with the uncanny certainty of a homing pigeon.' For the literary world presents to us this extraordinary paradox: it is not prepared to print and publish an author until he has made his name with the reading public; which, when we come to think of $i$ t, has some quaint affinity with the dictum of the fond mother who stated that her son should not go bathing until he could swim well.

It is true, of course, that some books catch the publisher's eye straight away and that some authors spring immediately to popularity. But such things are not common, and it is in this connection interesting to reflect that Barrie could not get 'Peter Pan' on the stage without agreeing to write at the same time what has proved to be a play of much less significance. And one would recall too, that as soon as Conan Doyle was famous he was able, without any difficulty, to get his publisher to print ' The Firm of Girdlestone,' a book of little merit and one that had previously gone the round of the publishers in vain.

All this, of course, brings us to the question of specialised publications like change ringing text books. Here the chance of securing-the aid of an ordinary publisher is very small, for the demand for such books is small. The writer is, therefore, brought in most cases to the problem of printing and publishing at his own expense, and this is a matter that calls for much thought and consideration. It can be done without too much trouble, of course, and a very interesting procedure it is found to be; but it involves expense, and most ordinary ringers will wish to be assured of an adequate sale of the work before embarking on this enterprise. There are so many thousands of ringers in the land that one is tempted to assume that the selling of three or four hundred booklets, enough to cover cost of publication, is a simple task. This is not so, as many have found. In order to sell, one must advertise continually, and to advertise continually is to incur a running expense that may not be reimbursed by current sales. So the fact has to be faced that the author-publisher must consider himself fortunate if he covers his expenses over a small specialised publication.

We in the Ringing Exercise are, of course, fortunate in that we have the columns of 'The Ringing World ' available for the publication of anything we have that we believe to be of value to our fellows, and we must not lose sight of this privilege. But after all it is the book, the booklet, the pamphlet, that give the most satisfaction to the author and provide the most satisfying reward for his labours. It may not therefore be considered importunate to suggest that all ringers should consider carefully what support and help they can give to the ringing books and booklets; nor may we, perhaps, think it vain to hope that in more prosperous days our ringing journal will be able to give more direct help in furthering the sale of books and pamphlets devoted to the maintenance and expansion of the art of change ringing.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Eastern District's annual general meeting was held at Hertford on January 7th at 3 p.m. St. Andrew's Church bells were rung until 4.30 p.m. to Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob and other methods up to Yorkshire Surprise.
A service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. H. Gill) preceded tea, attended by some 33 ringers.
At the business meeting Mr. H. V. Frost was voted to the chair. The secretary (Mr. T. J. Southam) read his annual report, which was carried. He stated that the district had a balance of $£ 1810 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d ., which would be handed to the treasurer. The secretary was re-elected and Mr. A. S. Carter was asked to continue in the post of ringing master. The district committec will consist of Messrs. G. Ditton, W. Newnham. E. Rochester, R. Hayden and A. Walsh, with the first two members also serving on the Association general committee. Mr. C. Hayter was re-elected 'Ringing World' representative.
The district's February meeting will probably be at Little Munden. Votes of thanks were accorded to the incumbents of the Hertford churches for the use of the bells and also the ladies who prepared tea.

Ringing then followed on the ten bells at All Saints' Church until 8.30 p.m. Methods rung there included Stedman, Grandsire and Erin Caters, Plain Bob, Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Royal, and London Surprise Major.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Northern District held their annual meeting at St. Mary-atte-Bow, Stratford, E., on January 21st. Ringing was under the direction of the District Master, Mr. C. A. Hughes.

At the business meeting, held in the choir vestry, the officers elected for 1956 were Messrs. C. A. Hughes Master, L. W. Bullock secretary, M. Hayes treasurer, S. Nelson steward. New members elected were: B. Weaver (Loughton), C. McMurray (Ilford). D. Hewitt (London, E.).

Among the items on the agenda was special ringing for the 45 th anniversary of the District. Details, will appear later in 'The Ringing World.

The Master, in his report, stated that the District was in a very healthy position, and 15 new members had been elected during the year. The balance in hand was a record and he hoped members would support the officers in 1956 as they had done in 1955.

Guild of Devonshire Ringers

The East Devon Branch held their quarterly meeting at Cotleigh on January 21st. About 25 ringers and friends attended. A service was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. Carey Pike, followed by tea and meeting.

The chair was taken by Mr. G. C. Woodley (Sidmouth). The president, Preb. E. V. Cox, presented certificates to Margaret Snell (Cotleigh), Sylvia Goldstein and Geoffrey Broadhurst (Buckerell). Touches were rung on the bells before and after the service.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GULD

The Salisbury Branch held their annual meeting on January 21st, when 64 members and visitors sat down to tea in the Assembly Rooms, several more coming in time for the business meeting.

The secretary had no outstanding events to report; membership had remained almost stationary at 117. A message of good wishes was sent to the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards on his recovery.

The Branch officers were all re-elected for another year: H. A. Roles, chairman; W. Chalk, vice-chairman ; Miss Y. L. Eloie, secretary and treasurer; H. H. Abrahams, A. Haines and J. Maidment, Ringing Masters ; with J. Lewis and J. Sutton on the committee. On the secretary's proposition, Miss M. Page was elected hon. auditor. Eighteen new members were proposed for election, and two certificates of proficiency presented to Toni Morgan and Jane Skelton, of St. Martin's, Salisbury. After discussion, it was decided that in future a collection should be taken at the quarterly service, to be halved between the church where the meeting was held and a Branch fund for bell repairs and restorations.

The service in the afternoon was at St. Paul's, conducted by the newly-instituted Rector, the Rev. T. E. Dobson. Having recently returned from ten years ${ }^{2}$ work in Uganda, he had grown accustomed to drums, beating in an ever-changing rhythm, as the call to worship on Sunday mornings.
During the afternoon and evening, all enjoyed ringing according to their abilities at St. Martin's, St. Paul's and St. Thomas', Salisbury, and Wilton.

The fastest peal to be rung for the Bedfordshire Association took place at Willington on January 27th. The time was 2 tors 15 minutes. The conductor, Mr Bryan Pattison, writes that the band had no ideas of breaking the record. The bells wanted to go at that speed and none of the band suffered any discomfiture. Indeed, the striking was of a fairly high order.

Mr. P. W. Cave is breaking his long association with St. Nicholas', Liverpool, which dates from January, 1924 (with a break of six years). He is going to live in the London area.

Wilfred Pickles has been taken to task by more than one ringer for his comment in 'Illustrated ': "Many women and young people are bell ringers, so it can't be too difficult. But I can't understand anyone wanting to do it: I find the sound of church bells so depressing.'
The peal at Kettering on January 7th was arranged for Mr. Charles W. Bird, who rang his first peal at Kelmarsh, Northants, on December 30th, 1905. Unfortunately, through last-minute difficulties, Mr. Bird could not attend. The band wish this Kettering veteran good health and many more peals in the future.
The peal rung at Wootton, Beds, on January 28th was a farewell compliment to Bryan Pattison, who is leaving for National Service in the R.A.F. He will be greatly missed both as an able conductor in the District and as tower captain of St. Mary's, Cardington.
Thirteen employees of Leyland Motors, Ltd., took part in the half-muffled ringing on the ten bells of Leyland Parish Church for the memorial service to Mr. John Ambler, a director of the company. The arrangements for ringing were made by Mr. Lawrence Walmsley, the secretary of the Preston Branch.

BELFRY

GOSSIP
We are sorry to learn that Mr. Wm. S. Theobald is in the Hampshire Ward, Odstock Hospital, Salisbury, following a leg operation.

We regret to hear of the passing of Mr. Charles Arthur Manning (53), at Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Birmingham, on January 27th.
Fourteen-year-old Arthur Foxall, who stood in at short notice for a peal of Stedman Triples at Hughenden on January 7th, rang very well to score a peal at his first attempt. (See p. 51.)
It is hoped that Warmley, Bristol, bells will be ringing again for Easter, after being rehung by John Taylor and Co. Nearly $£ 200$ out of the $£ 300$ required has been raised, and an allout effort is being made to clear this off.
Heythrop Surprise Major, first rung at Chipping Norton on January 21st, has the same relationship to Fordham Surprise Major as New Cambridge bears to Cambridge, writes the conductor of the first peal in the method, Mr Alan R. Pink.
Today a memorial service to the late Bishop of Peterborough will be held at Peterborough Cathedral. Mr. B. P. Morris, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, appeals to ringers throughout the diocese to pay tribute to a great Christian leader by muffled ringing during the coming week. We hope to publish next week a selection of the many tributes received to the memory of Dr. Spencer Lceson.
Mr. Mark Lancefield conducted peals of six spliced and five spliced on successive days during a week-end spent by Mr. Alan Ainsworth, at Ashford. After the peal at Lydd the band we-e invited to a high supper by Mr. and Mrs. S. Boulden, and the 21st birthday cake was cut a day earlier for the occasion. Alan has now finished his military service and has returned to Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

Only One Centenarian

Mr. Peter Border, of Coventry, rang the most peals in 1955. He was the only ringer to accomplish 100 peals, and the story of his reaching his 100 th with a peal 'in hand' of Plain Bob Minor on New Year's Eve was told in our issue of January 13th. In the last four years he has rung 307 peals. He was also the leading conductor with 56 peals to his credit, and a number of these were first peals in the method.
Closely behind him was Mr. George E. Fearn, the hon. secretary of the St. Martin's Guild, with 95 peals. Since 1948 Mr. Fearn has rung 853 peals, an average of 106.6 peals a year, which is the highest consistency of peal ringing yet recorded, beating the late Mr. Harold J. Poole's average of 106.3 per year for a sixyear period.
In view of the interest in these records we have extended the record to 25 peals and over. We regret that a number of prominent ringers have not responded to our invitation to make the list as complete as possible.
The figures in parentheses denote number of peals conducted.

DEDICATION

ST. MARY'S BURWELL

The restored ring of five bells and three new treble bells at St. Mary's Church, Burwell Cambs, were dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Gordon Walsh, assistant Bishop of Ely, on December 21st. They are now a pleasant ring of eight with a tenor of approximately 13 cwt ., the work having been carried out by John Taylor and Co.

The old five bells were retuned, quarter turned and rehung in new headstocks and ball bearing fittings complete, the massive frame being in good condition; the three new bells, new framework and fittings complete were given by Mr. Arthur G. Mason, of Lewisham, in memory of his parents who were regular worshippers in St. Mary's Church. Mr. Mason first learned to handle a bell here, and has now gratified a secret ambition to see eight bells in his own tower.

There was a large congregation for the beautiful service of praise and thanksgiving, which was conducted by the Vicar of Burwell; the lessons were read by the churchwardens and the sermon preached by the Assistant Bishop of Ely.

After the dedication a plain course of Stedman Triples was rung by the general secretary, district secretary, the Cambridge ringers and Mr. Mason, while the procession returned to the chancel singing 'Ye holy angels bright.' The service corcluded with a glorious ' Te Deum.'

Ringers were present from Herts, Suffolk and Cambridgeshire, and touches of Stedman and Double Norwich Major were brought round until 9 o'clock, when all adjourned to the Gardiner Memorial Hall for light refreshments. Mr. Mason was then thanked by the Vicar, Parochial Church Council and churchwardens for his magnanimous gift ; Mr. Mason suitably replied.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District's Favourable Report

The ninth annual general meeting of the Newark District was held at Sutton-on-Trent on January 21st, and was well attended despite a cold, bleak day with heavy rain.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. T. Keal). Tea was provided in the church hall by the ladies, and ample justice was done to the well-laden tables.
The business meeting was presided over by the Guild chairman, the Rev. Canon R. F. Wilkinson. A minute's silence was observed for three departed members-Mrs, L. L East (N. Collingham), Rev. E. A. Rigden (N. Muskham) and Mr. Clement Glenn-and two old friends of the Guild, the Rev. O. G. O. Lart (N. Collingham) and the Rev. G. Anderson (Harby). Members heard with regret that the retiring hon secretary, Mr. S. L. Barley, had been admitted to hospital. Orston was confirmed as the place of the next meeting and East Bridgford was chosen for May.

Seven new members were elected, namely: Mr. C. Reed, Miss Thelma Williams, Miss Marion Noble and Miss Helen de Vos (all of Balderton), Mr. J. W. Wilson (Sutton-on-Trent), Miss Betty Buxton and Miss Joan Buxton (Whatton-in-the-Vale).
The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: chairman. Mr. F. W. Midwinter; hon. secretary, Mr. W. L. Exton: Ringing Master, Mr. C. Reed; two committcemenMr. D. Clarke and Mr. G. E. Foster.
The chairman gave a brief resumé of the prospects of the Guild, with particular reference to the restorations completed and pending, and warmly congratulated the Newark District on its progress.
A comprehensive vote of thanks was moved by Mr. F. W. Midwinter. The meeting was then declared closed and a mass return to the tower followed.

LICHFIELD'S TRIBUTE TO MR. WALTER J. COPE

Lichfield and Alrewas ringers honoured Mr Walter J. Cope at their dinner at the King's Head Hotel, Lichfield, on January 18th, by presenting him with a chiming clock in recog nition of his service of over 60 years to ringing. Mr. Cope is shortly leaving for Fakenham, Norfolk.
In making the presentation, the Dean (the Very Rev. S. Macpherson) said Mr. Cope started his ringing career over 60 years ago being introduced by his father, who afterwards became captain of the Cathedral ringers. That day they were happy to wish him many happy returns on his 72 nd birthday.
During that time Mr. Cope has taken part in the ringing for all the royal events from the reign of Queen Victoria to the ringing for the birth of the present Duke of Cornwall He took part in the first peal on the Cathedral bells after they were recast in 1947, which was for the wedding of the present Queen; also the first peal to be rung by a regular Sunday service band at the Cathedral, and several other notable peals.
In his young days very little encouragement was given to probationers, the belfry being nearly a ' closed shop.' Therefore advancement in the art became a very slow process.

At the time of the ban on church bells during the last war, change ringing at the Cathedral had become non-existent, and the revival which had taken place since the recasting of the bells had been due, in no small measure, to the efforts of Mr. Cope in teaching youngsters and generally setting a wonderful example, being most conscientious and regular in his attendance for service ringing.
He showed great vitality and keenness when, three years ago, he went to reside in Alrewas, and immediately set about the task of converting the Alrewas ringers from 'Stoney' to change ringing, and considerable progress has been made as a result. Finally, the Dean said, he hoped that when Mr. Cope took up his new residence at Fakenham, in Norfolk, he would find time to visit Lichfield occasionally. Mr. Cope thanked the ringers for their gift, which he said he would always treasure.
Preb. H. S. Cresswell (Vicar of St. Mary's) added his tribute to Mr. Cope, and thanked him for the fine work he had done. He said that he had boen closely associated with his family for nearly fifty years.
The clock has Westminster chimes and is inscribed: 'Presented to Walter J. Cope, as a mark of esteem by his colleagues at Lichfield Cathedral and Alrewas, to commemorate his 60 years' service as bellringer.'
Mr. C. Malin proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean for taking the chair, which was carried unanimously. The rest of the evening was taken up with handbel! ringing and reminiscing.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

Mr. H. E. Audsley the New Master

Mr. H. E. Audsley was unanimously elected Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths at the annual meeting in the vestry hall of St. Martin-in-the-Fields on January 21st. He succeeds Mr. T. H. Francis, who said he did not wish to stand again.

Other officers elected were Mr. P. N. Bond hon secretary, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne hon treasurer, Mr. R. Ling senior steward, Mr. J. R. Leeming junior steward, Mr. A. Butler and Mr. A. Harding trustees, Mrs. R. F. Deal and Mrs. T. H. Francis auditors.

The secretary, in his annual report, said the year had not been a good one for the Society as there had been far too much apathy and lack of support for the officers.

Peals numbered six and ranged from Grandsire Doubles at Bosham, to Stedman and Erie Cinques at St. Martin's. Thirty-one new members had been elected. The secretary appealed for more support for the officers and asked that local members should make a special effort to attend meetings in their area. During the year the Society sent a band to ring at the re-opening of the bells of St. Gabriel's, Pimlico, after a long period of disuse.
During the year the Society had lost through death Mrs. K. Matthews (St. Martin's), Mr. W. J. Nudds (Edgware), Mr. T. Goodchild (Boyne Hill) and Mr. W. J. Walker (Rainham).
The accounts, presented in the absence of Mr. W. R. Winterton (hon. treasurer) by Mrs. R. F. Deal, showed a balance in hand of $£ 118$ 16s. 5 d . There was a loss of $£ 1013 \mathrm{~s}$. 4 d . on the dinner.
The secretary then proposed an addition to the rules, as follows: 'That no person shall be proposed as a member of this Society until he or she has rung at least a 720 in a recognised method.' This brought some discussion, and finally it was proposed as an amendment that the words '...at least a $720 \ldots$, should be deleted, so that the rule should read ". . . until he or she can ring changes in a recognised method... This amendment was passed by a majority, and the amended rule accepted. Mrs.
R. F. Deal asked for a record to be made in the minutes to the effect that proposers should give a verbal guarantee as to the ringing capabilities of their nominees.
The following new members were elected: Messrs. G. M. Rouse, G. R. Parker (Nettleham), D. Beresford (Lichfield), S. F. Ford (Loughton), F. G. Barron and D. W. Nuttall (Alverstoke), N. Steere (Croydon), S. Richardson (White haven), G. Tembey (Cleator), J. R. Mossop (Moor Row), Miss V. Tumber (Bishopstoke), Miss R. Hide (Farnham). Miss C. Ford (Loughton), Miss D. M. Ward (Bexley), Miss J. Clements (Worthing), Miss S. A. Parvin (Alverstoke), Mrs. R. Armstrong, Miss J. Midgley, Miss J. Cox (Bexley), Miss C. McNeil Love (London), Rev. Canon W. R. M. Chaplin, hon. member.
Meetings for the coming year were proposed as follows: Croydon, April 17th; Chelmsford, July 7th: Pinner and Ruislip, Scptember 15th; and a joint meeting with the Middlesex County Association on Saturday, December 1st.

Mr. F. E. Hawthorne gave a brief report on the C.C. meeting at Bristol at Whitsun, 1955, and announced that the Roll of Honour is on display in the Library Gallery of St. Paul's Cathedral.
It was decided to hold the annual dinner on Saturday, October 6th, at the Old Bell, Holborn, and the Master asked for members to give this function their fullest support.

Under the heading of any other business, it was agreed that the Society should contribute the sum of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. to the fund for a presentation to the retiring Vicar of St. Martin's, Rt. Rev. L. M. Charles Edwards, on his elevation to the See of Worcester. The secretary was asked to write to the Bishop on behalf of the Society, congratulating him on his preferment.
Finally, a comprehensive vote of thanks to the following was proposed by Mr. T. H. Francis and passed with acclamation: The Vicars of St. James', Clerkenwell, St. Bartholomew-the-Great and St. Martin's, for the use of their bells during the afternoon; to the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Martin's, for the use of the vestry hall for the meeting; and to the ladies of the canteen, for an excellent tea.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

An interesting point rose from the quarterly meeting of the Guild at Warwick on January 21 st, with the Master, Mr. R. J. Eden in the chair. A discussion took place regarding the desirability of making application for a grant from the education authorities so that a course in campanology might be included in the autumn syllabus for Further Education. A subcommittee, consisting of the Master, the general secretary and two district secretaries, was appointed to go into the matter fully and take such action as they decided. The meeting is to be held at Coventry on February 10th.

Stratford-on-Avon was selected for the annual meeting.
New members elected were: S. A. Dawson (Warwick), S. J. Merry (Clifton) and Miss M. Woodward (Kenilworth) as resident members. and R. G. Morris (Stroud), B. Jones (Knowle). F. Amos (Long Buckby) and Miss D. V. Elson (Yelvertoft) as non-resident life members.
Since the previous meeting of the Guild a great loss had been sustained by the death of the Bishop of the Diocese, who had been a most encouraging patron, and also by the loss of Mr . Oswald J. Hunt, a Guild member since 1912 and a staunch supporter of ringing in Coventry. A few moments' silence was observed in their memory.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

The annual meeting of the Guild was held at Marsden on January 14th. Despite adverse weather conditions, the attendance was up to expectations, nearly 30 , including visitors, attending. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. L. Facey, and an excellent tea proviod by local ringers.

At the business meeting Mr. J. Pearson was elected to the chair. In a letter regretting his absence, the Archdeacon thanked the members for the help given in training the new team at Halifax Parish Church.
The secretary and treasurer, in his annual report, stated that the six meetings had been fairly well attended. Membership had been steadily maintained.. A peal board had been dedicated, but fewer peals had been rung. Progress was being made in creating a new team at Halifax Parish Church. The Guild was sound financially with a nett gain of $£ 212 \mathrm{~s}$. 7 d . on the year.

The secretary and treasurer, Ringing Master and auditors were re-elected. The three new committee members are Messrs. W. Sykes, H. Renshaw and C. F. Sutcliffe. The local company were heartily thanked for making the Guild so welcome, and Mr. D. B. Cater suitably replied. Three new members were elected. Further ringing on tower- and handbells continued until nearly 9.30 .

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Melton District's New Chairman
Custom demands that the annual meeting of the Melton District shall be held at Melton in January, and on January 21st a goodly gathering assembled. Harry Clayton had the bells in readiness and touches were arranged to suit all tastes, culminating in a course of Cambridge Royal as a service touch. The band for this included six members of the local band, of whom two, plus the treble man, were ringing their first course of Surprise Royal.

Canon C. M. S. Clarke conducted the service and the Rev. W. W. Evans gave the address.

Some 50 persons sat down to tea in the Colles Hall. The good things to eat had been prepared by members of the Mothers' Union and the meal was much enjoyed.
The business commenced with the retiring chairman, Mr. F. J. Williams, presiding. The chairman's resignation, due to his removal from the district, was accepted with great regret. The secretary (Mr. J. H. Cook) announced that having completed ten years' service he was unable to stand for re-election, but before he could recover breath he found he had been elected chairman. Mrs. P. A. Corby was elected to the vacant secretaryship and Messrs. T. Templeton (Melton Mowbray) and A. E. Hinman (Kirby Bellars) were re-elected as the District committee. The District 'Ringing World' correspondent, Mr. P. A. Corby, was re-elected.

Various nominations were put forward for general officers of the Guild, including the name of Mr. Shirley Burton as peal secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Burton were present at the meeting and the opportunity was taken to pay a welldeserved tribute to the prodigious amount of work which Mr. Burton does so efficiently for the Guild.

An invitation was received to hold the next District meeting at Bottesford on March 10th. The District secretary is to arrange a bus if at all possible.
It was agreed that the District outing which normally takes place on Whit Monday should instead be held on Easter Monday this year in view of the Central Council visit to Leicester. The former chairman, Mr. Williams, is arranging a tour of the towers in his new neighbourhood around Blyth, Nottinghamshire.
The usual votes of thanks were passed, and in particular the chairman expressed the thanks of the members to Mr. Evans for his address in church.
More ringing took place in the evening and visitors, from Rutland, Nottingham, Grantham. Rugby and other places were made very welcome, not forgetting a very faithful friend, Mr. Redvers F. Elkington, and his henchmen from Anstey.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN  GUILD

The annual meeting of Wellingborough Branch at Irthlingborough on January 21st was well supported.
A service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. V. Rogers), who also gave the address. Mr. L. George was organist. A collection for the bell restoration fund amounted to $£ 25 \mathrm{~s} .9 \mathrm{~d}$. At the business meeting the Rev. W. C. Knight (Branch president) presided, and members stood in memory of Mr. Horace. Plowman (WeHingborough).
The balance sheet, presented by Mr. A. Bigley (secretary), showed an increased balance. The officers, with the exception of one committee member, were all re-elected.
It was decided to visit Bozeat for the next quarterly meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FAST PEALS ON HEAVY BELLS
Dear Sir,-With reference to the letter on this subject from Mr. W. Williams, I agree for the most part with his comments. Regarding Doulting, however, I think the time of 2 hours and 57 minutes quite possible. The first peal of Minor on the bells, in 1923, was rung in 3 hours and 3 minutes with Mr. J. T. Dyke ringing the tenor. The tenor is a 51 inch bell and very close to 24 cwt . The belfry is a small one, which always makes for fast ringing, if the band are so minded.
In the case of Chewton Mendip, these are a peal which can be rung at any speed. Previous peals of Major have varied from 3 hours and 8 minutes to 3 hours and 40 minutes. But in view of the particular tuning, I agree that a speed of about 3 hours and 15 minutes to be ideal for these. I've no doubt that the time of 2 hours and 50 minutes was correct (in view of the calibre of the band), but this was much too fast and would not allow these magnificent bells to be heard at their best.
I have many times deliberately set out to ring the 'fastest on the bells,' but in all cases these have been on light rings of bells with tenors under 18 cwt . And always the bells were 'old style ' tuning and sounded better rung fast. If the tenor man is prepared to work quite a large number of minutes can be 'knocked off ' existing times and still a good peal can be rung.
But keep a reasonably steady pace on 'Simpson tuned, rings and heavy metal. I would add that, in addition, I have also rung several times the 'slowest peal on the bells,' including the four slowest peals of Major yet rung. There is merit in both kinds of performances, providing the striking is perfect.-Yours faithfully,

Dorking, Surrey.

AN OFFER TO MR. W. WILLIAMS
Dear Sir,-In answer to Mr. W. Williams with regard to the peals at Chewton Mendip and Doulting: As conductor of both of these peals. I would like to point out to Mr. Williams that firstly, both of these peals were perfectly true and complete, and that the stated number of changes were rung in each case. Secondly, the times were as published.
I have always been given to understand that Doulting tenor is 24 cwt., and having rung the bell, I have no reason to disbelieve this.
If Mr. Williams is still in doubt as to the truth of either of these peals. I would suggest that he comes to Somerset, when I shall be delighted, with the permission of the two incumbents, to repeat at both towers with the same band a quarter peal which he may time. This should dispel any doubt which he has.-Yours sincerely,

Radstock.

A LISTENER-IN REPORTS

Dear Sir,-In answer to Mr. W. Williams' query about the ringing of a peal of Bob Major at Chewton Mendip on December 17th in 2 hours and 55 minutes, I had the pleasure of listening to it for half-an-hour; it was very fast ringing for a ring with a tenor $24 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{c}}$., but the striking was excellent.

I timed the ringing very carefully, which was 28 changes to the minute. D. Hoare rang the tenor as though it was a handbell.

There were five other conductors in the band who knew the composition, so I do not see how any omission could have been made.-Yours faithfully,
W. J. PRESCOTT.

Bath.

' GOOD-BUT SOMEWHAT UNPOLISHED '

Dear Sir,-In regard to Mr. W. Williams's letter, would you be good enough to allow me through your columns to assure him of four things?
(i.) The peal at Chewton Mendip was true and complete.
(ii.) The time was as printed, and was plainly shown to most of those who rang by the interior dial operated by the church clock There was no 'chancy" wrist-watch timing.
(iii.) The time of the Doulting peal was probably as given in your pages. I heard some 50 minutes of it, and when I left I felt sure that it would be completed in under three hours.
(iv.) The weight of Doulting tenor is very close to 24 cwt .
The Chewton peal was good, albeit somewhat unpolished, and what $I$ heard of the Doulting peal was really good, in view of the general 'go' of the bells.
We in this part of Somerset believe in ringing at a brisk pace, with the tenors ringing off balance, and for two reasons. First, we find that we can achieve a better rhythm, and second, the tone of the bells is heard to better advantage. Of course, the backenders have to work hard, but that is what they're there for, and from that point of view only I would have been glad of another ten minutes on the peal at Chewton.-Truly yours,
J. T. DYKE.

RINGERS AND OLYMPIC GAMES

Dear Sir,-Further to my letter re ringers visiting Australia during the coming Games, I feel it might help some to make up their minds if I gave approximate costs, times, and the various methods of travel.

- To travel by air both ways would cost in fares $£ 448$; time required at least three weeks.

To do the outward journey by air and return by sea, or vice-versa, would cost from $£ 330$ to £382, according to class of travel, or even less if you share a cabin on the sea route. Time: eight weeks.
To travel by sea both ways would cost from $£ 188$ to $£ 290$, again according to class of travel. Time: twelve weeks.
The times quoted would give at least 14 days in Australia. We need not all travel by the same route, but must arrive at the same time. I feel that half the pleasure would be taken away if we did nor go together.

If the outward journey is made by air, ringing would start at Sydney, but if by sea it would commence in Melbourne. The fares quoted are to Melbjurne in all cases, and at least another $£ 50$ would be required to cover all other costs. including accommodation. etc., while in Australia. All would require passports suitably endorsed for the journey. So far I have had five replies.-Yours faithfully,
J. L. GARNER-HAYWARD.
P.S.-The Games are on from November 22nd to December 8th, 1956.-J. L. G.-H.

RULES FOR METHOD NAMING

Dear Sir.-Whilst applauding Miss Daphne Castell for her desire to learn more of the whys and wherefores of method naming - would that more ringers took an intelligent interest in such matters-may I point out that all the information she seeks was published in 'The Ringing World ' not ' many years ago,' but as recently as July 1st last year. In that issue appeared the discussion at the last Council meeting on the report of the committee on Regular Methods and the report on Method Classification, as amended at the meeting.-Yours faithfully.
E. A. BARNETT.

A NEW USE FOR HANDBELLS

Dear Sir ,-Your leader of the issue of Jan. 27th under the above title calls to mind my own experience. Some years ago Dr. Davidson, of the Leicester Towers (Mental) Hospital, asked me to get a set of 12 handbells for the inmates' use. He explained that they had there one of the finest musicians in Leicester, who would teach other inmates, and who (when in the mood) wrote all the music played and sung at their concerts.
With the assistance of Mr. Sidney Harrison and his boys, I went there and gave demonstrations of double-handed tune ringing, playing from the table, tapping tunes with bells suspended, and so on.
Within a few months a band was formed of several mental patients, and they have since given performances at a number of concerts.

ERNEST MORRIS.

ST. MARY-LE-BOW, CHEAPSIDE

Dear Sir,-Your editorial remarks on the subject of Bow Bells differ from the information which I have had from old ringers who knew Bow, Cheapside, in the days of the old 12 .
I have always understood that in 1930 the eleventh became cracked and Mr. Gordon Selfridge donated the cost of completely renovating the ring. This work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, and several bells were recast, including the tenor, and the weight reduced from 54 cwt . to 53 cwt . The decision to recast this bell. often described as being a band of music in itself, was, I understand, a subject of great controversy in the Exercise, particularly in London.
It is interesting to note that during the period 1933-39 only one band was successful in ringing a peal of Maximus on the new 12, this being one of Kent Treble Bob, conducted by Mr. T. H. Taffender, and rung for the London County Association.
Let us hope, Mr. Editor, that the new ring will prove a handier ring than the last, although I deprecate the decision to recast them with a 42 cwt . tenor. This must surely mean that an awful amount of the old 17th century bell metal will be left out. Perhaps sufficient funds could be made available to. use this metal to provide two or maybe three semitones, thus putting London on a par with many provincial 12's. Is there a lead here for the Exercise?-Yours faithfully,

PEAL RINGING IN YORKSHIRE

Dear Sir,-The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's excellent article calls for comment on several points.

Escrick was a 5 -bell tower in 1918 and the two peals rung there were Grandsire Doubles, conducted by Ernest Morris.
The 1888 peal at St. Martin's, York, was the last but not the first on the bells. Peals of Grandsire Triples were rung in 1830, 1849, 1850 and 1852; these were followed by Kent T.B. Major in 1862, 1868 and 1888, the last being rung by members of the York Minster Society for the Yorkshire Association (see 'R.W.' of April 23rd, 1954, p. 269).

The bells at Baldersby (tenor 24 cwt .) are not now ringable. The six at Whitwell-on-theHill are ringable but not pealable.-Yours sincerely.

HAROLD WALKER

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Sheffield Catholics' Generosity

The winter general meeting of the Association was held at Sheffield on January 21st when, notwithstanding the inclement weather, the attendance was extremely good. The outstandingly bright star on the bleak winter horizon was the most willing co-operation of the authorities of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Marie and the Cathedral in combining so readily to ensure the comfort of the visitors.
For the first time in many years the Cathedral authorities found themselves without facilities for providing a room for the tea and mecting. but when the local ringers-always renowned for their inexhaustible resources-made approach to Monsignor John Dinn, of St. Marie's, he immediately not only placed a room at their disposal for tea and meeting, but extended the Association a most cordial welcome and expressed his delight in being able to be their host.
At the business meeting the chair was taken by the president (Archdeacon C. O. Ellison). supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield) and the hon. peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley). A hearty vote of thanks to the authorities of St. Marie's and the Cathedral for the use of their bells and providing facilities for the meeting was moved by Mr. I. Slack. seconded by Mr. J. Gibson, and carried with acclamation.

Monsignor Dinn, in acknowledgment, said that he was most glad to receive the Association and to place the room at their disposal. The work, however, had been done by the local ringers of both St. Marie's and the Cathedral. and he had never seen the room looking so nice or enjoyed a better meal in it A similar vote of thanks to the local companies was ably moved by Mr. N. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. V . Bottomley, and carried with applause. In reply, Mr. H. O. Chaddock said that he never remembered an instance in his career when the members had met in that room.
The president reported that in the absence of any specific invitation the committee had considered the place and date of the next meeting, which would be the annual meeting, and had reached agreement to recommend that it be held at York on May 12th. There being no alternative proposition, Mr. H. Walker moved and Mr. L. W. G. Morris seconded that the committee's recommendation be endorsed. This was carried.
Mr. A. E. Marsh gave a brief report of the Snowdon Dinner held in Leeds on October 15th last, which showed increased support and that the venture had proved a financial success. The president reported that the committee had unanimously decided to recommend acceptance of an invitation from the York Minster Society to hold the dinner at York on October 20th next, and asked members to note the date and ensure its success by loyally supporting it.
An application on behalf of Mr. W. Robinson, of Sandal Magna, to be transferred to the list of honorary members under the provisions of Rule 10 was unanimously approved on the motion of Mr. N. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. J. Seager. The president reported that the committee had approved two grants of $£ 5$ each from the belfry repair fund in response to applications received from Sherburn-in-Elmet and the York Institute of Architectural Study, where an ancient city ring of six had now been installed.
The president next reported that the general secretary was due to retire by rota, and that the committee were unanimous in recommending the re-election of Mr. L. W. G. Morris, who had agreed to continue for the next triennial period, which if completed would bring the score to 21 years' tenure of office, and so, the secretary hoped, qualify him for a walking stick! Under the provisions of Rule IV, however, nominations could be received until the 31st of the month duly proposed and seconded. and the same rule stated that the election should take place at the annual general meeting.

Miss Valerie Flint, of the Vicarage, Cawthorne, Miss Judith Rodber, of Richmond, Miss Margaret Taylor, of Thrybergh, Miss Margaret Cutts and Geoffrey Robinson, of Whiston, were elected members on the motion of Mr. A. Johnson, seconded by Mr. N. Chaddock. This concluded the business and further ringing was enjoyed at the Cathedral until 9 p.m.

THE LADIES' GUILD

N.E. District Want Annual in April

In spite of the weather, the third annual meeting of the North Eastern District at Houghton-le-Spring on January 14th was very successful. It was, however, felt that there would be a better attendance if the annual meeting was held in April. A resolution to this effect will be submitted to the April meeting.
The officers were re-elected, viz. : Mrs. McGuiness vice-president, Mrs. N. I. Lea hon. secretary, Miss E. Softley Ringing Master, Mrs. Park and Mrs. Lawson general committee. Mrs. Bayles and the Misses D. Killingley, J. B. Softley and K. Softley, District committee.
A vote of thanks to the Rector (the Rev. Mr. $G$ williams) for conducting the service and for the use of the bells, was proposed by Miss D. Killingley, and Miss E. Softley thanked the ladies who had prepared the excellent tea.

FIRST PEAL ON 12 BELLS

Dear Sir,-It was John Hales who rang his first peal on 12 at Southwark. not your humble. Although not to be compared with Jack Nash's performance, it was the first method ringing on 12 that Jack had taken part in. -Yours truly, London, E. 5.
J. A. HALES.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

SOCIETY

It was a cold afternoon with driving rain on the occasion of the Society's winter meeting at Bloxwich on January 21st, after ten years. Despite these conditions, the meeting attracted an attendance of 70 , which was most satisfactory. The pleasing ring of eight bells was put to good use, ringing being under the direction of Mr . George Hughes (Ringing Master).
In his address at the service, the Vicar of Bloxwich, Rev. W. J. Walton, gave some interesting details relating to the history of the Parish Church of All Saints and its bells. Mr. Walton said how much he appreciated the services of ringers and how the sound of the bells was a constant reminder of the Church and all that it stood for.

A very nice tea was served in the Parish Hall by the wives and lady friends of the local band. After tea Mr. Fred Bennett thanked the Rev. W. J. Walton, Mr. L. E. Gill and the members of the local band, and the ladies for all they had done to make the mecting so enjoyable.

The next meeting of the Society will be at Shareshill on March 24th. A joint Festival of the Society, the North Staffs Association, Midland Counties Guild and Shropshire Association will take place at Burton-on-Trent on April 14th.

A RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

A Step Nearer

Mr. W. Frank Stenson, of Crewe, who has suggested the formation of a Railwaymen's Guild of Ringers, has received the following letter from Lieut.-Col. J. W. Watkins, general manager of the London Midland Region of British Railways:-
'I have your letter of 21st January enclosing copies of "The Ringing World" for December 23rd, 1955, and January 13th, 1956, which I have read in conjunction with your letter.
' I am interested in the art you have so much at heart and, indeed. have had some practical knowledge of it. I have requested that consideration should be given to the suggestion you make in conjunction with the objects of our newly-formed Staff Association to which you refer.

- Each Region has, of course, a Staff Association, and the matter will also be looked at from an Inter-Regional point of view, and you will be communicated with further in due course.
- I return the two copies of the periodical which you sent me. [Then, in his own handwritingl I was a ringer at our village church in 1908. [I wonder if "the Chief" was too modest to ask for a rope in the peal.] Yours faithfully,
(signed) J. W. WATKINS.'
Incidentally, by the same post Mr. Stenson received a letter from the Crewe works manager, Mr. I. C. Forsyth, in which he stated: 'I was very interested to read about the Railwaymen's peal and perhaps you will let me know if anything comes of this proposal.'

The replies Mr. Stenson has received are from as far apart as Wadhurst (Sussex), Leeds (Yorks), Ditton and Maidstone (Kent), Swansea (Glam.), Bath, Chester. Chelmsford, Chorley, Melton Mowbray. Wellington (Salop), Newport (Mons), Bedford, Liverpool and Crewe-pretty scattered representation.

The date for the peal has been provisionally fixed for June 23rd.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Hunts District

The annual meeting was held at Huntingdon on January 21st and, for a change, arctic conditions did not prevail. Ringing commenced at Godmanchester at 3 p.m. and All Saints' 4 p.m. The short service was at All Saints', conducted by the Rev. J. M. E. Bagley, after which tea. followed by the meeting.
At the meeting members stood in silence to the memory of two late members-Mr. F. Warrington (St. Ives) and Mr. T. H Townsend (Gt. Staughton). Many members spoke tributes to the memory of these two members.
In the election of district officers the Rev. J. M. E. Bagley was elected president, in succession to Canon B. F. Sheppard, who has left the District. and to whom a vote of thanks was proposed. Mr. H. S. Peacock was re-elected secretary. Mr. F. W. Lack Ringing Master, and Mr. W. Ransome Deputy Ringing Master. The remainder of the officers were re-elected with thanks to past services. The February meeting will be held at Buckden.

For the annual tour it was agreed that a visit to the Midlands be entertained, arrangements being left to the secretary. Three new members were welcomed to the Association from the Winwick tower. Votes of thanks to all who helped, especially the ladies who served tea, concluded the proceedings.
Further ringing took place on the St. Mary's (8) and All Saints' (6) bells until 9 p.m.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK W. ALLEN

Mr. Frederick William Allen, who passed away on January 14th after a short illness, aged 77 years, served St. Andrew's Church, Boreham, Essex, in various capacities for over 60 years.

At the age of 18 he paid his shilling (the fee then demanded by the tutor) to be taught to handle a bell, and gradually became accepted as a member of the local band. In 1903, under the conductorship of the late Arthur Edwards, he rang the fifth to a peal in five methods, this being the first peal on the bells. In this same peal James Young rang the second to his first and only peal at the age of 81 years.

No complete record is available of his peals, but it is thought that all were rung at Boreham, the last of these being on the occasion of his 70th birthday.

Early in World War I he became village constable, also sexton and clerk to the parish church, in which capacity he served until the end.

The funeral service took place in his beloved church on January 18th, when a large congregation representative of village organisations gathered to pay their last respect to one whom all knew so well. The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. T. W. J. House.

After the interment in the churchyard the bells were rung half-muffled by the following members of the Essex Association: C. Smith 1, Mrs. S. Andrews 2, E. J. Runter 3, A. H. Everett 4, R. Thrift 5, G. Andrews 6. A short touch of Kent Treble Bob, his favourite method, was rung, followed by the whole pull and stand 77 times.

On January 22 nd the local band rang 1,224 Kent Treble Bob Minor to the honoured memory of an old and faithful servant: K. Joslin 1, R. Joslin 2, A. H. Everett (conductor) 3, J, Sheppard 4, L. Joslin 5, A. H. Edwards 6.

MR. WILLIAM SHORT

With deep regret we report the death, early on January 26th, of Mr. William Short, of Hawarden, near Chester, in his 85th year. For some months he had suffered indifferent health.

Mr. Short was captain of the Hawarden ringers, and until recently was able to take his place in the tower. He will be greatly missed by his own ringers and by all the ringers and friends he made in Buckley.

Mr . Short was a ringer and captain of the Buckley company for many years, and it was he who conducted the first peal of Stedman Triples on the bells on September 24th. 1904. This was also the first peal of the Buckley band, which was formed in 1903 and trained by Mr. Harry Dew, with able assistance by other Chester ringers.
Mr. Short went on to conduct other peals in this tower during his service as a ringer, and throughout worked hard and conscientiously for church and tower. He was a foundation member of the North Wales Association of Bellringers.

The funeral took place at Hawarden Parish Church on January 28th. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service by a band of ringers from his old tower at Buckley, assisted by Mr. L. S. Griffiths and Miss D. Lester, representing Llandudno. Mr. J. L. Evans. Rhyl, and Mr. W. Cathrall. representing the North Wales Association and Wrexham.

At St. Matthew's, Buckley, on Sunday evening. January 29th, an attempt was made for an in memoriam quarter peal of Stedman Triples, rung half-muffled. Unfortunately, after some excellent ringing, this came to grief half a course from home.

Thus passes to a greater service a muchrespected and beloved ringer, gentleman and friend of all. R.I.P. $\quad$ D. H. B. M.

MR. STEPHEN READ
Mr. Stephen Read, a menber of All Saints', Asfordby, ringers, passed peacefully away on January 23rd at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. Curtis, of Asfordby Hill. He was 82 .

Mr. Read learned to ring at Easton, in Huntingdonshire, where there were only four bells. He came from Sheffield to Asfordby and joined the local band in 1904, and continued ringing up to about two years ago. Although not a great change-ringer, he was a very regular attender and was also a sidesman for many years.
At his funeral on January 26th four of his fellow ringers (including 82 -year-old Mr. E. Littlewood) attended.
On January 28 th a quarter peal of Doubles (360 Canterbury, 360 Plain Bob, 540 Grandsire) was rung half-muffled on the bells as a token of respect. Those taking part were J. W. Day 1, E. Littlewood 2, R. H. Cook 3, J. H. Cook (conductor) 4, R. Looker 5, J. Day 6.

MR. H. G. THOMPSON

We regret to record the death of Mr. Henry G. ('Harry ') Thompson, on January 20th at his home at Parkstone, Dorset, at the age of 73 . He had been in failing health for some time and was obliged to give up ringing at St. James', Poole, where he was a most regular service ringer, a few weeks before Christmas.

Mr. Thompson came to Poole in 1915 from Waltham Abbey, with others to open a new ordnance factory at Halton Heath, near Poole. He joined Mr. F. W. Townsend's ringers at St. James', Poole, and remained an active service ringer until the time of his death.

He rang a few peals in his early days, and was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, as well as the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.
The funeral service was held on January 25th at St. James', Poole, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. G. H. W. Bevington. With the family mourners, his sister and two brothers, there was a representative congregation of ringers from the local towers, and members of the Poole Conservative Club. The interment was in the Branksome cemetery.

In the evening St. James' bells were rung half-muffled to his memory by the local company, with friends from St. John's, Bournemouth, and Wimborne. The Rector of Poole conducted a short service in the belfry before the ringing.

WHERE ARE THE INSTRUCTORS?

WHEN browsing through reports of functions in 'The Ringing World,' one occasionally drops across words of wisdom or outspoken comments by speakers proposing or replying to toasts. At the Universities Association Reunion recently, Mr. E. A. Barnett focused attention on Sunday service ringing and urged the Association to do its best for Sunday service bands.

There is no doubt that his remarks fell upon fertile ground, for many young people from the University Association and various University Guilds have become stalwarts in the Exercise, and the process is likely to continue. Ringing activities of the University Guilds are of great value and are extending.

The yardstick of a good ringer is his (or her) effectiveness in Sunday service ringing. Peal ringing is an essential part of ringing activities, but its importance should not be exaggerated. Mr. Barnett, who, as secretary of the Central Council, is well qualified to speak, said that peal ringing bears no relation to the state of ringing in the country and that Sunday service ringing does not receive the support it should.

There is no doubt that many keen peal ringers are also most active workers for their own tower and guild, and the best of them will always put the latter before their peal ringing. But the state of Sunday service ringing leaves no room for complacency; far too many bells are silent or undermanned on Sundays. In many cases recruits are available; the greatest need is suitable tutors to see through the task of training bands where needed.

An improvement might be stimulated if somehow more interest and attention could be focused amongst ringers and in 'The Ringing World' on this branch of ringing activity. In Central Council reports, Association reports and 'The Ringing World,' peal ringing activities are analysed to the last detail-rightly so, but in most association reports the whole year's activities in other ringing spheres is dealt with in a few paragraphs. The Central Council reports and association reports do not disclose the true position regarding Sunday service ringing. If they did it might be easier to find means of bringing about an improvement.

Would it not be advantageous for the Central Council to appoint a committee to report annually on the state of Sunday service ringing? From such a report and discussion thereon, much helpful information might result and stimulus be given.

Naturally, the help of the Guilds, Associations and District Societies would be needed and the whole thing handled in a spirit of co-operation. As in other matters, the Central Council would depend upon its affiliated societies and the ringing fraternity in general for help in compiling such a report.

The important thing is to stir a terrific enthusiasm for local band progress - in recruitment, methods rung for service, ringing standards and, occasionally, local band peals. Perhaps most important of all is the need to produce more leaders and tutors from within our ranks and somehow create enthusiasm for this most important and really worth-while task. This returns us to the point where this article started--a speech at the U.A. Reunion.

The various University Guilds are in an advantageous position to help in the future provision of tutors. A good proportion of university students enter the teaching profession where they come in touch with likely sources from which future ringers may be recruited. There is an increasing interest in handbell ringing as an out-of-school activity. Change ringing and tune ringing on handbells compare favourably with other worth-while cultural out-of-school activities, and a little further expansion may lead to education authorities giving official help and encouragement.

Perhaps the day is not far distant when the Central Council may appoint an official to seek co-operation between the Council and education authorities and organisations. Such a scheme could be of great help to church bell ringing and at the same time provide education authorities with a worth-while truly British spare time activity to put before the youngsters of to-day.

PEAL RINGING IN YORKSHIRE (2)

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WE come now to consider the peals rung in the West Riding of Yorkshire. Just over two-thirds of the rings of bells in Yorkshire are in this part, and it is, of course, the most thickly populated part. Its four 12's and ten 10's can only be rivalled by Middlesex, and the very few 5 's in the whole county is also noteworthy. There are one or two points which make this county rather different from all the others, especially in the early days of the period about which I am writing. Firstly is (or was) the popularity of Treble. Bob. Where Grandsire was the usual 'simple' method first rung in other parts, Kent Treble Bob seems to have been the norm in Yorkshire. This led to another fact-the large number of false peals rung in the early days. It is a good example of the liability to falseness of this method. Secondly, the county is distinguished by the number of 'unusual ' methods practised and rung (I fear many would not conform to the rules!). Especially was this true of Calverley, where we find peals of Rose of England, Prince Albert and London Treble Bob Major (one of Prince Albert was rung as late as 1926). And of course, the 6 -bell ringers have always loved their Woodbine and Duke of York etc. (cf. the one rung at Cawthorne on November 26th last). Yes, we certainly find an individualistic character in the Yorkshire ringers.
But now for the peals. Several towers have had their greatest popularity in the past, and so it will perhaps be a surprise to some readers to see their names mentioned amongst those with the biggest totals. This is probably true of the tower with the most peals since 1881-Drighlington ( $\varepsilon$ ), with a score of 141. Of these, 100 were rung from 1881 to 1914, with 28 between the wars and 13 since 1945 . Over 60 of the first 100 peals were of Treble Bob ( 43 of the first 50 ). Easily the most popular tower in the county between the wars, Handsworth (Sheffield) comes second on the list. The first peal here was not rung until 1921, but 89 were rung up to 1940. It has maintained its average since the war, for a further 44 peals have come since 1944, a grand total of 133. The first peal of Major by eight ladies was accomplished here in 1928.

The tower with the most peals since the last war comes third-Queensbury (8) with 130. Eleven were rung from 1908 to 1916, 55 from 1922 to 1939 and 64 since 1943, so it is doing well now. We turn to a 12 -bell tower for the fourth centenarian-Sheffield Cathedral. This tower has had a long and distinguished ringing history, commencing nearly 200 years ago. Of the 117 peals, 65 came from 1881 to 1915, 41 from 1919 to 1939, and 11 since 1946, so the history has been consistent with a slightly better average early on than now. The last centenarian is Rothwell (8). More than half the 105 peals were runs prior to the first war (58), there were 35 betwcen the wars and 12 since 1945, so we have a similar story to the Cathedral.

BRADFORD CATHEDRAL MOST 10-BELL PEALS

Bradford Cathedral is almost a centenarian in the period-it has now reached 99. The tower has the most of the 10 -bell peals of the county. It is doing very well at the moment for just one-third of the peals have come since the last war in 11 years. Twenty-seven were rung from 1884 to 1905 ( 22 of these were Kent Treble Bob Royal), then there was a gap until 1922 when 39 peals were rung up to 1938, so it did well in that period. Four 8 -bell towers follow. Guiseley has 98 in the period, 70 before 1914 and 15 since 1946. There were earlier peals, so it will also have passed the 100 mark. Shipley comes next with 96 . This tower has not been heard since 1938. The peals were rung without any war years break from 1882 to 1938. Of the 57 peals, 51 rung at Pudsey between 1881 and 1913 were Treble Bob. There were 15 rung from 1916 to 1934, and then there was a silence until 1945 since when there have been ten. Total is 82. Wortley's golden age was from the first peal in 1893 to 1912 , for 63 of the 81 peals were rung then. Between the wars there were 17, and there has only been a single peal since (in 1949).

Three towers have 77 peals since 1881. Rotherham (10) is the best known of them. The peals come regularly from 1881 -between one and two per year on the average with the usual war years gaps. Mr. N. Chaddock wrote at length about this tower recently, so I would refer readers to that article for full information. Bolsterstone (8) is similar to Wortley in history. Forty of the 77 peals came from 1892 to 1914 and the remainder from 1919 to 1938. Thus the tower has not been heard of since the war. A striking feature here is that 26 of the peals are of Colleze Single Major (the last peal rung there was of this method). The third 77-peal tower is Wath-on-Dearne. This was a famous 6-bell tower of old, but it had been silent for many years until a peal was rung in 1904. There werc eight in all up to 1912 and after the war. 31 from 1917 to 1935. Then came augmentation and 21 peals were rung in the next four years. Since the war there have been 17.

All Saints', Pontefract (8), has $76-34$ from 1899 to 1914, 37 from 1921 to 1937, and only five since 1947, so there is a diminution here. Liversedge (8) is another tower more famous 50 years ago. Fifty of the 75 peals were rung before 1914. Before our period commences, the tower achieved fame for the first peals in some of the methods mentioned above-Prince Albert T.B., Rose of England T.B., also Nightingale. Cumberland Exercise (longest length) and Albion Treble Bob. There have been nine since the war. Next is Conisborough (8) This tower is going strong now, for there have been 45 peals since 1944. The remaining 27 come from 1921 to 1937. Sheffield, St. Marie, had a lean time between the wars. There had been 40 from 1881 to 1910, but there were only eight in the 1920's and one in the 1930's (in 1937). There have been 14 since the war, so it is picking up again.

12-BELL TOWERS

Now we come to the second of the 12-bell towers. Wakefield Cathedral has 58 peals. From 1883 to 1914, 26 peals were rung on ten bells. There were only two between the wars (in 1931 and 1933), but there have been 30 on the 12 since 1947, so it is doing well now. The other two 12-bell towers, Halifax and Leeds, have 34 and 39 respectively. At Halifax, there were 24 from 1887 to 1914, and only two between the wars (in 1931 and 1932). The remaining eight have come since 1944. At Leeds the numbers are 16,8 and 15 in the three periods. Two 10bell towers follow Wakefield Cathedral in order of peals. They are Pontefract and Sheffield, Ranmoor. Both were 8 -bell towers at first. The former had 25 peals on the eight from 1888 to 1912. After augmentation, 27 were rung from 1921 to 1939, and there have only been four since the war. Ranmoor's augmentation came later in the middle 1930's, although the first peal on the ten wasn't rung until 1944 due to several failures. As an 8 -bell tower, 38 peals came from 1881 to 1915, including the first ever of Yorkshire Surprise Major in 1903 and Original Major in 1908. There were seven more from 1919 to 1924. Then came the long silence (not for want of trying in the ' 30 's!) until 1944, and there have been 11 peals since the war. The other six 10-bell towers have not reached the 20 mark. They are Huddersfield (five peals), Mirfield (11), Ossett (17), Marsden (18)-lately augmented, Ripon Cathedral (16), and Selby (18). All have been heard since the war.
Calverley (8), mentioned above, also has 56 peals-most (34) before 1914. There have been ten since the war. Of the 34 pre-1914 peals, all but threz were of Treble Bob (Kent 18, Oxford 3, London 7, Rose of England 2, Prince Albert 1). With 55 peals are Eastwood and Holbeck. The former was a new ring in 1910 and 24 peals came before the first war, there were 28 from 1919 to 1939 and only three since. Holbeck's heyday was in the last century. Forty-two peals were rung up to 1913, nine from 1931 to 1935 and four from 1945 to 1947, so it isn't heard much of now. Birstall and Northowram have 53. At the former the numbers are 19,26 and 8 respectively in the three periods, and at the latter, 32 from 1913 to 1932 (all the war years), four in 1938 and 1939, and 17 since 1946. A 6 bell tower is the only other one which has passed the 50 mark-Felkirk, with 52. Forty-one came from the first peal in 1927 to 1940, and there have been 11 since 1945. The nearest to the 50 mark is Bolton (Bradford) with 49. The tower has been silent since 1921, and 42 of the peals were rung before 1913 . All the 858 -bell towers have been 'conquered,' the longest silent are Holbeck R.C. Church (since 1908) and Settle (since 1909).
As for 6 -bell towers, only Tong has more than half the number of peals of Felkirk. This will probably surprise readers of the county, but 40 of the 46 peals were rung from 1883 to 1915 The other six have been in 1917, 1922 (2), 1923 and 1945 (2). Others with double figures are Thrybergh ( 25 -all since 1947), Barnby-on-Don (22-19 since 1945), Cawthorne (21), Friezland (20-15 from 1884 to 1904), Woodlesford (1917 from 1887 to 1910), Haworth and Hoylandswaine (15), Royston ( $14-13$ since 1947), Silkstone (13), Bradfield (12-10 from 1885 to 1905), Sandal (11), and Carlton (Goole) ( 10 -all since the war). There are 196 -bell towers still to be 'conquered.'
Of the five 5 -bell towers, two have had peals. Bentley has seven (three from 1935 to 1938 and four from 1945 to 1952). Bradshaw has three (from 1944 to 1950). Drax, Meanwood and Nidd remain virgin territory.

So much for this interesting county. Peal totals include those published to December 9th, 1955.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 Northern DivisionTwenty-seven members, with visitors from Surrey, attended the annual divisional meeting at Crawley on February 4th.

At the business meeting which followed tea. members decided not to adopt the proposal to introduce a meeting card-giving details of towers to be visited during the whole year.
The secretary reported that he had received a request from the Southern District of the Surrey Association for consideration to be given to a joint meeting. Mr. George Oliver said that his district of the Surrey Association hoped that joint meetings could be arranged annually. It was agreed that a joint meeting be held ai Crawley on October 6th and that Surrey should provide the venue for a meeting in 1957.

Members stood in silence to the memory of Mr. E. King, who has recently passed on.
Officers elected for 1956 were: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Overy; secretary, Mr. 1 . Butcher; committee members, Mr. E. Knapp and Mr. A. E. Laker; auditor, Mr. G. Apps.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Retirement of Mr. C. R. Harding

Over 50 members attended the annual meeting of the Bristol Rural Branch, held at St. Ambrose's Church, Bristol East, on January 28th.
The secretary and treasurer in his report stated that the Branch had had another successful year, and that it still maintained its lead over the other branches of the Association. Of a Branch membership of 226 , only one member was in arrears with his subscription. Of 23 'live ' towers in the Branch only two were unaffiliated.
The Branch chairman, Mr. C. R. Harding, also gave a good account of the Branch's activities during the year, and he intimated that he did not seek re-election to his office. A vote of thanks was extended to him for bis 17 years' service to the Branch.

Officers for 1956 were elected as follows: Mr. T. T. Walters (Winterbourne) Branch chairman, Mr. W. F. Scudamore (Winterbourne) secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. Baker (St. Ambrose's) representative on management committec, Mr. R. G. Hooper (St. Ambrose's) Ringing Master.

It was proposed that the next annual meeting be again held at St. Ambrose's, with monthly meetings at St. George's, Bristol, Marshfield and Almondsbury.
The service was conducted by the Rev. H. M. Hocking, and wives of some of the local ringers prepared the tea.

MR. JOE HARDCASTLE'S FINE RECORD

Mr. Joe Hardcastle, of 70, Beechwood Avenue, Wibsey, Bradford, recently celebrated his 86 th birthday and has a record of over 60 years as a bell-ringer at Bradford Cathedral.
Mr. Hardcastle rang his first peal at the age of 18 at Bradford Cathedral. In 1934 he was one of the Australian tourists, ringing for the Melbourne centenary celebrations. He returned home via the Pacific and Panama.
In 1950 he had the misfortune to break a thigh and he spent his 80th birthday in hospital. It was necessary to amputate his right leg and since then he has been unable to ring. Nevertheless, Mr. Hardcastle follows ringing closely through 'The Ringing World' and recently a letter from him appeared in our columns.

RINGING IN MID-DEVON

A number of ringers in the Mid-Devon area had another pleasant afternoon on a recent Saturday, when an hour's ringing was indulged in at Kingsteignton Parish Church. From here the party moved to Highweek Parish Church, where another hour was spent, after which a move was made to Derry Farm, Highweek, where a sumptuous tea was much enjoyed. The remainder of the time was spent with handbells, television and radiogram music. Grateful thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lilley for their hospitality.

On January 21 st a practice meeting was held at Buckfast Abbey, where some of the members of the Community are making rapid strides in half pull ringing.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN

There was a record attendance at the annual meeting of the Northampton Branch, held at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Northampton. Representatives of 25 church towers were present.

As a tribute to the memory of the Patron of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, the Bishop of Peterborough (Dr. Spencer Leeson), the eight bells were rung half-muffled before the service.
The Guild service, at which the church choir was in attendance, was conducted by the Vicar of the Holy Sepulchre, the Rev. G. P. H. Rowson, who also gave the address. The organist was Miss E. M. Desponds. A collection for the Guild Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 28 \mathrm{~s}$.
Tea was served in the church rooms by lady bellringers to 113 ringers and friends.
Before the beginning of the business meeting, members stood in silence in memory of the Bishop and of the late Mr. H. Clarke, of Kingsthorpe.
Election of officers resulted: President, Mr. E. Nobles; secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. F. Roome ; committec-Messrs. P. Jones, B. O. Soden, B. E. Frost, J. G. Chapinan, F. Burgess, S. Earl and W. A. Gammage.

New ringing members elected were: Messrs. J. Busby (Brafield), T. Bass (All Saints', Northampton), D. Powell and G. Burton (Holy Sepulchre, Northampton), C. Hill, E. Cave, J. Hammons, the Misses V. Stone and P. Tuckfield (St. Giles', Northampton), and the Misses S. Bateman, S.' Tompkins and P. Neasham, of Roade.

A First Peal Certificate was presented to Miss D. Miller.

With regret, we learn that Mr. E. J. Taylor, of Tiverton, hon. secretary of the Guild of Devonshre Ringers, on February 4th (his birthday) fell from the loft in his house to the foot of the stairs. He has had a successful operation for a fractured spine and is now in the Princess Elizabeth Orthopæedic Hospital, Exeter, making slow but satisfactory progress.

Last year Birmingham Cathedral and the Loughborough Bell Foundry thed for most peals in the year, with 34 each.
The last peals at Crofton, Hartest, Nunney and Wootton (Beds) were rung in 1938, 1938, 1935 and 1922 respectively.
Mr. G. Evenden, of Bournemouth, is the new Master of the Society of Roving Ringers. He is a foundation member.

In answer to Mr. Blagrove, Mr. R. O. Fry informs us that the method rung at Swainswick in 1953 was Union Doubles, not Ninian as published (printer's error).

Mr. Herrick B. Bowley, of 108, Anstey Lane. Leicester, has been elected Ringing Master of Leicester Cathedral Society for 1956, and Mr. Peter J Staniforth deputy Master. Mr. S. Anthony Jesson is the hon. secretary.

The librarian of the Central Council Library acknowledges with grateful thanks the gift, by Mr. B. Glenn, of 21 , Joyce Avenue, Sherwood, Nottingham, to the Central Council's library of copies of the 'Clavis Campanologia' and ' Shipway's Campanalogia.'

The visit of a number of schoolboys with their master to the Morpeth Watch Tower recently, gave Miss J. Armstrong an opportunity to explain many of the features of the tower and the bells. The visitors were particularly thrilled with the 44 handbells, and another visit has been arranged. Miss Armstrong has hopes of some potential recruits.

The 200th anniversary of the death of Benjamin Annable was noted in the Durham and Newcastle Association on February 2nd, when one of his compositions was rung at Gatcshead, conducted by Mr. Robin G. Leale.
We regret to learn that Mr. George A. Wightman, brother of the late Mr. L. C. Wightman, is seriously ill in Chelmsford Hospital.
A period of 16 years has elapsed since Mr. H. Hamer, who conducted a peal to the memory of Mr. Fred Hartley, at Shore, Littleborough, Lancs, on Feb. 4th, last rang a peal.
Congratulations to 12 -years-old Roger Stretton, of South Wigston, who, at two hours notice, deputised for Ernest Jelley, who was ill, and rang the $14-\mathrm{cwt}$. tenor to Stedman Triples for his first peal on February 4th.

We have received many appreciative letters concerning 'Alice's Visit to the Belfry, ${ }^{\text {' }}$ in the issue of February 3rd. Of the critics we would say, "They only do it to annoy, because they know it teases.'
Mr. R. J. Fox, of Ycovil, who has been demobilised, would like to thank his ringing friends in the Winchester and Salisbury areas for their friendly help and co-operation whilst he was stationed at Middle Wallop.
Another step in the Ringing Crusade was taken recently at St. Mary's Hall, Portsea, where an interested audience enthusiastically received the demonstration lecture entitled - Change Ringing-A Uniquely British Art.' Ringers from St. Mary's Parish Church and from Portsmouth Cathedral joined, under the Master of the Guild (Mr. Fred Rogers), in handbell demonstration movements and handbell ringing to demonstrate the talk given by Mr. York-Bramble. The lecturer employed lantern slides and a large model of a bell to exemplify his remarks.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION  Southern District

The first meeting of the year was held at the fine Wren brick-built Church of St. Thomas, Stockton-on-Tees, with its ten bells, the only ring of ten in the Southern District. It attracted ringers from Richmond, Bishop Auckland, Darlington and Hartlepool.
The service was conducted by the Rev. R. T Heselton and the tea was provided by the local ringers' wives. Thanks to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells was proposed by Mr. W. N. Park. Miss D. Killingly thanked the ladies.
Methods rung consisted of Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Major and Double Norwich.

SUFFOLK RINGER'S WEDDING

On January 28th, at St. Mary's Church, Barking, Suffolk, Mr. John Prentice, of the local company, was married to Miss Freda Clarke, of Needham Market. The ceremony was performed by the Rector, Canon S. H. De la Bere.
The bells were rung before and after the service by the local company, the bridegroom obliging for one touch. In the evening a complimentary quarter was rung with the best wishes of the band for the couple's future nappiness.

PASSING OF DR. SPENCER LEESON

The death of Dr. Spencer Leeson, Bishop of Peterborough since 1949, at the age of 63, has been received with very deep regret by people of all walks of life in his diocese. The following messages from ringers of the district have been received:

MASTER, DIOCESAN GUILD

Ringers throughout the Diocese of Peterborough will share with others the great loss in the death of the Bishop of Peterborough, the Right Rev Spencer Leeson. Dr. Leeson came to Peterborough in 1949, and his work, not only in the Church but in other organisations, will long be remembered.

He was keenly interested in ringers, and only very recently did he appeal in the Diocesan Leaflet for young men and women to take up this noble art.
Whenever possible, he attended the Guild annual meeting, and I well recall the first annual meeting after his enthronement, when he made the journey to Wicken in the far end of the diocese to preach at our service. Little did we think when he came amongst us at our annual meeting at Peterborough on Whit Monday that it would be the last time we should have him with us.

Always keen on the welfare of youth he attended a number of school speech days, and the formation of the Kettering Grammar School Society of Changeringers was of special interest to him.

In many places there will be similar services and I appeal to ringers in the diocese through this journal to pay tribute to a great Christian leader in muffled ringing during the coming week. This appeal, I am sure, will not go unheeded. There are, of course, a number of towers without bands of ringers, and I hope that members will readily give assistance to such belfries.

B. P. MORRIS (Master),

Peterborough Guild.

AN INCUMBENT RINGER

As an incumbent in the Peterborough Diocese and a regular bellininger. I should like to pay tribute to the late Bishop for the great encouragement he gave to the Diocesan Guild of Ringers in his diocese

He was interested in bellringing when Rector of St. Mary's, Southampton, and on most Sundays when he was there he would put in an appearance in the belfry, when the bells were being rung for service. If he could not be present himself he made it a rule that one of his curates should be there. I know that this interest was a great encouragement to the ringers. Incidentally, in order to reach the belfry, more than 80 steps had to be climbed!

When he came to Peterborough his interest in bellringing was retained, and indeed, I believe, increased. In a letter to the diocese a few months ago he stressed the importance of bellringing, and wrote that when he journeyed through his diocese on a Sunday evening in the summer and heard the bells ringing out calling people to church, he realised as never before what a tremendous inspiration they were to the dwellers of the countryside. I know that his personal interest and appreciation of the work of ringers was indeed an inspiration to many of them; and in our own belfry when we rang a quarter peal half-muffled in honour of his memory we felt we were honouring not only our Bishop but a personal friend.

G. J. HALES,

Rector of Green's Norton with Bradden

A RINGER
The death of the Right Reverend Spencer Leeson, D.D., Lord Bishop of Peterborough, Patron of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, may perhaps have come as a shock to some who were unaware of the serious nature of his illness until a few days before his passing.
He himself did much to minimise his illness and endeavoured to continue his work in the diocese with that dogged determination so characteristic of him. For instance, the last address which he gave was to a gathering of men at a service of the C.E.M.S. at Thrapston on November 26th last year.
Although he was far from well, an obvious fact to everyone there, he said that having promised to give that address he intended to do so. and he went on to say: 'If I had been carried into this church on a stretcher I would not be denied the pleasure of shaking hands with each one of you as you leave the church.' This was a custom with him wherever he went.
His interest in ringers was very sincere and he never failed to wish them God speed in their ministry, as he termed it, which was indeed the theme of his address in the Cathedral last Whit Monday. As Bishop he had been in the diocese for little more than five years, but in that all-too-brief period he endeared himself to all in the area, and to many he became as well known as a parish priest. Ringers especially mourn the loss of a very great man and a dear friend.

ANOTHER RINGER

In the six years Dr. Spencer Leeson had been Bishop of Peterborough he had endeared himself to almos: every member of the Church in nearly every village and town throughout Northamptonshire and Rutland. He was a great evangelist and there was hardly a church in his diocese which he had not visited and shook hands with every member of the congregation on leaving. Dr. Leeson was a true Father-inGod, a learned and lovable personality. Dr. Spencer Leeson did not enter the Ministry until 46 years of age, and within ten years rose to become a bishop-something almost unknown in previous episcopal history. In earlier life he had been a schoolmaster, and prior to that a barrister: but the Church proved his greatest call. It would be untrue for anyone to say they could not get on with Dr. Leeson, or that they did not like his preaching. One of his last acts of induction (which the writer attended) was that of the new Vicar of St. Matthew's, Northampton. He preached a great sermon, and a most cordial gathering followed, during which his Lordship talked with me upon the future of two bells from a derelict church being saved to history-Dr. Leeson was keenly interested in the preservation of old bells.
Ringers and their work had a warm place in his heart, and whenever time and occasion allowed, his presence was to be seen among them.

Everyone in the Peterborough Diocese feels they have lost a sincere friend. Half-muffled ringing took place in many churches.

The University Of Bristol Annual Reunion & Dinner

TVHE Annual Dinner and Reunion of the Bristol University Society was held on January 28th. The day's ringing commenced with a peal attempt of Plain Bob Royal at Christ Church. but this unfortunately came to grief after an hour and a half's ringing owing to a miscall. Meanwhile other visitors and members were sampling the bells at St. John's-on-the-Wall, SS. Philip and Jacob's, and at the Lord Mayor's Chapel. In the afternoon, St. Stephen's and St. Mary Redcliffe were visited. Ringing during the day included Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, London Minor, Cambridge Major, rounds on 12 bells. Stedman Cinques, and three leads of Kent Maximus.

The party then moved off to St. Michacl's, where after an hour's ringing a short service took place, conducted by the Rector (Rev. F. C Vyvyan-Jones). At the organ was Mr. Kenneth E. Pinney, and the lesson was read by Mr. Alan J. Smith. In his address, the Rector said how much he appreciated the work of the University Guild, and that his faith in the younger generation was very much restored when seeing a group of young men so ably ringing the bells.

In the evening, the Eighth Annual Dinner of the Society was held in the comfort of the Senior Common Room of the University Refectory. by the kind invitation of the president, Professor R. J. Brocklehurst. Seventy-five persons, comprising guests. visitors and members, attended with the president in the chair. The guests included the Rector of St. Michael's and Dr. Hudson, Professor S. H. Piper (ex-president of the Society), and the masters of the Cambridge, London, Manchester and Oxford University Societies.

The president proposed the first two toaststo 'The Queen ' and to 'The Church.' He went on to say how pleased he was to see such a large gathering, which was a record for the Society. He congratulated Mr. J. R. Worrall on his recent engagement, before calling on Dr. C. T. Brown to propose the toast of "The Exercisc."

Chris Brown was Master at the Society's first dinner. and in putting the question 'Is the Exercise healthy or unhealthy?' he said there were two kinds of dud towers. There were those which did not belong to an Association, and on visiting these towers on a Sunday morning one would find the bells being pulled up sinely, and then half-a-dozen 'Gaffers' sitting puffing and blowing on a bench. The bell-frame would be rusty, and pigeons would be amongst the hells. Here indeed was ignorance.

The second type of tower was where one ascended to a spick-and-span ringing room. Here were pleasant men. all over 60 years of age, but some good touches of Stedman Triples and Bob Major would be rung. However, this tower was still dud, as there were no young ringers to be seen. What would happen in ten years' time? -this was the complacent tower. The answer to these two towers was young ringers, and co-operation between church and ringers. He said that within this Society there was an ideal organisation. It had the ideal incumbent interested in the ringers and the ringers interested in his church and choir. and also as president it had Professor Brocklehurst, who besides heing a ringer was an ideal church worker.

Mr. A. York-Bramble replied. remarking that he was deputising for his old friend, Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, who was unable to attend as he was just recovering from an attack of 'flu. In agreeing with Chris Brown's remarks he pointed out that the state of the Exercise was what we made it, and he considered that the Universities owed the Exercise a great duty.

In proposing the toast of 'The Visitors,' Mr Clifford T. Blundell (hon. secretary) extended a special welcome to members of the City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. They always gave the Bristol University ringers a warm welcome at City towers during the week.
Mr . Blundell made apologies for absent friends-Rev. K. W. H. Felstead and the deputy Master of Southampton University, Miss Audrey Gladwell (Master of Reading Úniversity), whe had attended ringing during the day but had to return to Reading before the dinner, the Lord Bishop of Bristol, Mr. J. T. Dyke, Mr. C. R. Harding, Mr. R. O. Fry, Mr. P. Cave and Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennett.

Mr. Philip Gray responded, and as he had only recently returned from Australia, he drew contrasts between ringing in that country and here. He asked the company to imagine ringing at St. Mary Redcliffe on a Sunday morning, having cycled 13 miles to get there. Their next nearest tower would be as far away as Oxford, and their nearest centre of ringing about in Inverness. There were no dinners, and one always saw the same faces week after week. Nevertheless, the ringers were very keen and conscientious. There were about 25 towers in Australia, and of these at least 90 per cent. were manned.

He said that before returning to this country he had had great pleasure in ringing with a past Master of the Society-Miss Enid Lloyd Roberts.

The toast of 'The Society' was proposed by Mr. W. T. Cook (Master of Cambridge University). He pointed out that there was a high standard to be kept up in University ringing. and very important was the teaching of beginners, so that when they left University they could go and be of real use in their home towers. Ringers should aim at perfection, which was difficult to attain, and at the same time it must be remembered that ringing was to the glory of God.
Proceedings were at this point interrupted while Mr. Michael T. Sprackling presented a bouquet of daffodils and irises to the Master. Miss Patricia M. Bourn, on behalf of the Society.

The Master then replied to the toast. Starting on a solemn note, she mentioned the passing of Mr . Clement Glenn, a founder member of the Society, without whose help in the early days the Society would not have succeeded so well. She was pleased to announce, however, that last week they heard that he had left his set of handbells to the Society, and these would be in the lounge for use afterwards.

Miss Bourn then went on to outline the activities of the Society over the past year. Becoming engaged was one of their latest ideas, no less than five members doing so since the last dinner. As well as Mr. J. R. Worrall, already mentioned, she congratulated Messrs. G. Beynon, L. Watson, D. Marshall and D. Heighton on this achicvement.

She also mentioned two letters of "best wishes' she had received from 'Bell' Roberts in Australia and Bob Stokes in America. Peal ringing over the year had nof been a major success, only five peals being scored (two of Bob Minor "in hand,' one of Minor in four methods, one of Boh Minor and one of Plain Bob Major). On the other hand, the Society had had several successful tower grabs, and four members had reached their 'century ' for the year. The Master said that Sunday ringing at St. Michael's had been maintained, and St. Matthew's, Kingsdown, was now visited once a term. It was hoped to give St. Thomas' (City) also a regular visit.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Rochester District
Despite a wet afternoon, some 70 members and friends attended the Rochester District meeting at Bobbing on January 21st. Not only is there a handy six, but the Vicar (the Rev. L. F. Tabor), who took the service, is a ringer himself, and his address was suitable to the occasion. A former District hon. secretary, Mr. B. W. May, is one of the churchwardens, and with his fellow warden, Mr. R. J. Powell, kindly gave the tea.

At the business meeting members stood in respect to the late Mr. W. J. Walker, of Rainham, and several new members were elected The Rev. J. Clifford, Vicar of Rainham, was elected an honorary member. A full report of the K.C.A. committee was given by Mr. G. A. Naylor, who was thanked by Mr. G. H. Spice. Appropriate votes of thanks were passed. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was under the guidance of Mr. W. A. J. Knight, District Ringing Master.

Canterbury District Gaining Members

An accession of strength resulted from the Canterbury District's quarterly meeting at Ash on January 21 st. From towers in union 15 new members were elected, and as the result of missionary work the whole of the band (14) at Petham were welcomed as members. In addition, four honorary members were elected.

It was decided that the collection at the service, conducted by the Vicar, with Miss Attwood as organist, amounting to $£ 16 \mathrm{~s}$.. should be given to the R.A.F. appeal for St. Clement Danes'. The meeting turned down the suggestion for a ringers' tie. Best wishes for a speedy recovery were sent to Mrs. H. R. French (Sturry), who is in hospital, and Mrs. E. Gambrill (Ash). who after a spell in hospital has to go for further treatment.

The next quarterly meeting will be held at Northbourne, and Lynsted was chosen for the by-meeting.

KENT TREBLE BOB ROYAL

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. D. Knox's question concerning the originality of the composition of Treble Bob Royal called by him at Luton on December 26th, 1955, I find that this composition was rung at Manchester on March 13th, 1897, as the composition of Samuel Wood. The conductor on this occasion was Harry Chapman, and the report of the performance and the figures of the composition will be found in the Lancashire Association report for 1896-97, page 49.-Yours sincerely,

CHARLES W. ROBERTS.

Waltham Abbey.

Dear Sir,-Re composition of Treble Bob Royal on page 76 of issue of 'The Ringing World,' February 3rd, this should be accredited to James Wood, of Ashton-under-Lyne, circa 1880.-Yours, etc.,

E. JENKINS.

Oldham.

Dear Sir,-The peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal which Mr. D. Knox enquires about in 'The Ringing World' was composed by James Wood and was conducted by Samuel Wood at (I believe) Ashton-under-Lyne about 45 years ago. Others have claimed the same composi-tion.-Yours sincerely,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MORE ABOUT FOOTNOTES

Dear Sir,-Having been entertained by the recent correspondence on the subject of footnotes, I now find I am to be involved in a similar controversy.

The peal in question was at Stevenage and is on p. 51 . I was asked to let the secretary of the C.U.G. send it up to you so that he could make the necessary arrangements in respect of peal cards. The result is an excellent example of the old saying about doing it oneself.
Firstly, of course, the treble ringer should have no footnote-he will deserve one when he rings it 'inside.'
Secondly, I am certain that the ringer of the sixth had not previously rung six spliced, and I suspect that the ringers of the fourth and fifth had not done so either. They should have the appropriate footnote.
Lastly, the peal was not rung to celebrate any one's engagement. While I am completely in sympathy with the footnote, the subject was not mentioned at all to me, and so it is just not true.

Personally, I cannot see that it matters very much what footnotes are published with a peal so long as they are relevant. However, I think they ought to be such as to show that progress has been made either by an individual or a Society, or to show for what occasion the peal was rung.
An excellent example of a footnote indicating a state of no-progress was that to a peal of 30 Doubles methods rung recently. It was claimed as the 'first peal in 30 individual plain course Doubles methods.' Some of the same band had previously rung a peal in a very much larger number of methods, and it is a matter for debate whether this is in any way superior to the peals of Doubles rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild some years ago. So what has been achieved?-Yours sincerely,

> Hampton Wick.

FOOTNOTES TO PEALS

Dear Sir,-A recent 'Ringing World ' produced a very odd footnote-Denis Mottershead's first peal in an odd bell method. Mr. Mottershead must now have been ringing peals for about six years; I don't think I will be alone when I say that I hope he won't deny himself this pleasure so long in future.-Yours sincerely,

Richmond, Yorks.

THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH

Dear Sir,-The implication contained in $\mathbf{M r}$. P. J. Hutchings' letter, that the Church of England does not belong to the Catholic Church, may be unintentional, but it must not pass unchallenged.
When saying the Apostles' Creed we affirm our belief in 'The Holy Catholick Church.' This creed was used more than 1,000 years before the words 'Roman Catholic' came into use'Catholic' means now just what it meant when first used, and its use to-day is not the prerogative of one branch of the Church.
A second point. The anticipating of Easter Day by some 16 hours may, at one time, have been a convenience. Of course it does not really matter on which day we celebrate the Resurrection of Christ, but since the Church does give us a special day for doing so, we ought to accept it and not juggle with time. A peal rung in honour of the Resurrection on Holy Saturday seems to be a convenience.Yours sincerely,

Normanton, Yorks.

A RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD?

Dear Sir,-Is such a Guild really going to be of any practical use? Is it going to advance the cause of Sunday service ringing or is its object to be the meeting together of a few railwaymen ringers to ring an occasional peal?
Why has Mr. Stenson asked the general manager of the London Midland Region for his official blessing? That gentleman can only speak for his own region and not for British Railways as a whole. There are five other regions on British Railways and it has not been unknown for anything coming off the London Midland to be treated with a certain amount of suspicion.

I would suggest there is ample scope within the framework of the British Railways Staff Association for the formation, at the large railway centres, of local change ringing groups; such groups would automatically be affiliated to each other. At York there are some nine ringers of sorts who are railway employees, but I cannot say that any of these would wish to join such a group. It is difficult enough now for many to find time to attend practices and meetings, and so far as I am personally concerned there are never sufficient evenings in a week or Saturdays in a month.

To put the subject into its correct perspective, will someone please propose Ringing Guilds to represent the other nationalised in-dustries-Docks and Inland Waterways, Road Services, Hotels, Coal, Electricity and Gas?Yours faithfully,

HAROLD WALKER,

Assistant Carriage and Wagon
Works Manager, British Railways, York.

THE QUICKEST TOWER-BELL PEAL YET RUNG

Dear Sir,-In answer to Mr. Claude Rush, while I do not propose to 'let him have it, there is a comment I would like to make.

Although I like fast ringing on bells which are surted to this, AND consider the sound of the bells outside and inside the tower as No. 1 priority, I think that the Loughborough peal is a justified exception. The foundry campanile is one of the exceptionally few rings suitable for the above attempt. If Mr. Rush has had recent experience of the foundry bells he should know that the noise outside the tower is so slight as to be negligible.-Yours faithfully,

Macclesfield.

MR. BEVERLEY RINGER

Dear Sir,-Mr. Beverley Ringer, of Seething, Norfolk, does come of a ringing family.
Many years ago a member of his family farmed and was buried in my native village of Tharston and used to ring at Redenhall, Norfolk. Also I have known two other members of his family who were good ringers. - Yours faithfully,

Long Stratton, Norwich.

BURES' YOUNG RINGERS

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{Mr}$. Barnett's letter on those who rang their first peals on twelve bells has aroused our interest. One of our pupils rang a peal of Maximus last year, being the first changes he had ever rung on twelve. He stood in at short notice and we were all proud of receiving congratulations on how well he rang his bell. Two more of our young pupils rang touches of Stedman Cinques when they were 12 and 14 years of age.

We are situated in an area which requires a good journey to get a ring on even a tenbell tower.-Yours sincerely,

LESLIE D. MILLS (Master),
Bures St. Mary's Society.

ORIGINALITY OF SURPRISE MAJOR COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir, We were interested to read Mr. C. K. Lewis' letter on page 59 of your recent issue with regard to the composition of Wembley in which he quite rightly points out that the composition claimed by us is merely a shortening of a 29 course round block used previously by other composers.
We, of course, were not aware that the 29 course block had been previously published, but are glad that an observation has been made about it because this raises the question of the originality of compositions. It so happened that the composition in question was one of several dozens of Wembley, which we had derived, all of different characteristics, and was selected for simplicity of conducting and on its musical merits.
The deriving of all these peals was part of an attempt by us to obtain a logical system in the composition of Surprise Major. It was obvious to us that several of our well-known composers use a logical system of composition, but when one of us wrote for information on this subject there was no adequate reply. The only ones to comment were Mr. York-Bramble and Mr. B. Price.
Our own efforts have shown that there is a logical system and we now know that it is a simple matter to derive the maximum extent from a given set of courses using complete bobbed Q -sets ${ }^{*}$ in a few minutes. It is not even necessary to write out the composition to know that it is true and to know what the length is. An article by one of our leading composers might have saved us and others interested in the subject from going over the same ground.

Suppose we had submitted the following composition instead of the 5,152 .

\begin{aligned}
& \text { 5,120 WEMBLEY } \\
& \mathrm{M} \quad \mathrm{~B} \quad \mathrm{~W} \text { H }
\end{aligned}

| 3 | x |  | 3 | 35264 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 4 x |  | - | 34256 |
|  | $x$ |  |  | 45362 |
|  | x |  |  | 56342 |
| 3 | 2 x |  | 3 | 42635 |
|  | x | 3 | - | 42356 |
|  | x |  |  | 25463 |
| - | 4 x |  | 一 | 23456 |

This composition is a Q -set variation of the original 29 course block. Would this have been recognised as such? Must this be attributed to Mr. G. Lindoff or the Rev. H. Law James?
The majority of simple compositions of Wembley are variations and transpositions of the 29 course block or of one other 29 course block which is unique. By simple, we mean compositions containing only bobbed Q -sets.
Whether Q -set variations should be claimed as original or not depends on the definition of the term ' Q -set variation.'
If the term means bobbing or plaining whole Q-sets and retaining all the original courses or shortening by complete courses then there is little originality.

If the term also embraces shortening by a plurality of parts of courses then it would be unfair to say originality was not shown since in order to produce the required result a great deal of ingenuity may be required.

Whatever rules could be agreed on with regard to originality of composition would be difficult to apply because:-
(a) There is no comprehensive reference book of original compositions.
(b) Some Q-set variations of an original composition may be difficult to recognise. Yours, etc., R. CARLISLE.
G. A. HALLS.

Northern District Has 267 Members

A slight increase in membership, bringing the total to 267, was reported at the annual meeting of the Northern District, held at Beddington on January 28th. Attending the meeting were 39 members from ten towers, and ten visitors.
The Ringing Master (Mr. F. E. Collins) presided, and announced the deaths of Mr. Shuffell, of Streatham, and Mr. E. A. Reeve, of Battersea. The company stood in silence as a mark of respect.
Only six peals had been rung in the District during the year. These included Stedman Cinques at Southwark, two of Cambridge Surprise Royal and one of Grandsire Royal at Beddington. Plain Bob Major at Wimbledon and seven Minor methods at Thames Ditton. A higher balance was shown on the financial report.
District officers elected were: Master, Mr. F. E. Collins; hon. secretary, Mr. W. Parrot; hon. treasurer, Mr. H. N. Pitstow; hon. auditor, Mr. R. F. Layton : ' Ringing World; representative, Mr. A. J. Weise; committee, Messrs. A. J. Adams, G. Peters and H. V. Young. Five new members were elected.

The committee announced the programme for 1956 as follows: April 7th, two towers at Epsom; July 14th, Hersham and Walton-onThames; August 6th. Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. F. D. Jennings for arranging the meeting, and to the Rector (the Rev. G. M. Jukes) for taking the service, and for the use of the bells. Ringing continued until 8 p.m.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Senior Chaplain to the Forces at Bicester, the Rev. J. M. Pickering conducted the service at the Bicester Deanery Branch meeting at Islip on January 28th. The Guild's Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) presided at the business meeting. It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Kirtlington on the last Saturday in April and an outing on the last Saturday in June. A joint meeting with the Oxford City Branch is to be held at Bicester on February 18th. Mr. John Hadland, of Brill, was elected a member of the Guild.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildford District

Forty-three ringers were present at the annual meeting of the Guildford District, held at Guildford on January 21st. Mr. A. Harman, Master of the Guild, presided for the business meeting, which followed tea in S. Nicolas' Hall.

The officers elected for 1956 were: Ringing Master, Mr. F. A. Munday; joint hon. secretaries, Miss M. E. Collins and Miss A. M. Cox: hon. auditor, Mr. J. Horseman. Mr. R. C. Fincher was re-elected to the Executive Committee.
Eight new members were elected, viz.: Mrs. M. Cox, Misses J. Young, J. Beesley, Margaret and Maralyn Oliver, Messrs. S. Hobbs, M. Hobbs and J. Ward.
The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rev. C. S. F. O'Dwyer, who conducted the service, and to the ladies who provided tea.
Ringing took place at Holy Trinity and St. Mary's Churches in the afternoon, and at $S$. Nicolas' Church in the evening.

Chertsey District

Less than half of Chertsey District's towers were represented at the annual meeting held at Chobham on February 4th.
The service was conducted by the Rev. P. D. A. Campbell, and the address given by the Vicar, the Rev. O. R. Acworth. Mr. P. Readings was at the organ.
After tea in the Church Hall, the Vicar took the chair for the business meeting. The officers elected were the same as last year, viz.: Ringing Master, J. F. Dodson; hon. secretary, R. Collins; hon. auditor, W. Shepherd. Eight ringing and five junior ringing members were elected from Chobham and one ringing member from Horsell.
Last year the Guild's general secretary put forward a suggestion that the district be renamed Hersham district, as Chertsey was a dead-end as far as ringing was concerned. The secretary pointed out that it would be expensive to change the name, and that the same end could come to any other tower. A vote was taken and it was unanimously decided to remain Chertsey district.
Mr. Collins proposed and it was agreed that the name of Mr. William Shepherd be submitted as a vice-president of the Guild. Mr. Shepherd, a founder member who had been ringing since the 1890 's, was well known for his articles in 'The Ringing World,' and was still an active ringing member, always ready to help the younger folk. Mr. G. Talbot seconded the proposal.
All present stood to the memory of Wilkins Masscy, of Claygate, who passed away earlier in the week.
Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m., ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Major.

THE LADIES' GUILD

South Wales District

The annual meeting of the South Wales District was held on February 4th at St. Mary's. Aberavon. The bitterly cold weather had its usual adverse effect upon the attendance, but this fine ring of bells was certainly appreciated by those who attended. Perman, conducted a short service and spoke on the correct interpretation and application of bellringing. The charming internal decoration of the church belies its grim exterior, and the rich bronze altar frontal contrasts well with the delicate pastel walls.

Tea. a varied home-made spread, was provided by the committee in the Church Hall. As there were not enough gentlemen present to ring the bells on their own, they kindly 'volunteered to wash up.

At the business meeting, Mrs. T. J. Lock was re-elected vice-president, as were the rest of the committer, with Miss B. Marks in place of Miss J. Sandersen. Carter to replace Miss Mary Tapley, who has gone to Saffron Walden. The Branch wish her every success and happiness in her new venture. Five new members were elected. ## NOTICES

Scale of Charges

MR. WILKINS MASSEY
Mr. Wilkins Massey died on January 30th, aged 62, at his home at Claygate, Surrey, after a short illness.
Bill learned to ring at St. Peter's, Newdigate, in 1906, where he remained until the outbreak of war in 1914. He served in the King's Royal Rifle Corps and after the war moved to the Kingston area, finally settling in Claygate in 1927.

Having no bells in his own parish, he had to go to the surrounding district for his ringing, and at various times he was a regular Sunday service ringer at Thames Ditton, Esher, King-ston-on-Thames and Christ Church, Epsom. He became widely known in Surrey and for many years was a committee member of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Guild. He was appointed captain of Esher belfry in 1949.
Although not a prolific peal ringer, he enjoyed those he rang. His duties as verger of Claygate Church restricted his ringing career for some years. His last peal was at Radstock during a visit to Somerset in October last year.
He was always enthusiastic in encouraging young ringers and assisting struggling bands. He spent much of his leisure time in teaching new recruits to the Exercise, and at the time of his death he had a large new band at Esher.
The funeral service was held at Esher Crematorium on February 2nd, conducted by the Rev. J. Huggins, Rector of Esher. A memorial service was held at Esher Parish Church on February 11 th, attended by his ringing friends.

MR. C. A. MANNING

The death took place on January 27th at the Qucen Elizabeth Hospital, Birmingham, after an operation, of Mr. Charles Arthur Manning, at the age of 53 years.
Born at Naseby, Northamptonshire, he was better known in ringing circles as C. Arthur Manning. When Arthur was quite young his parents moved to Market Harborough, and here he joined the Parish Church choir and later learned to ring. He subsequently came under the expert guidance of Mr. Fred Dexter at the same time as the late Mr. Harold J. Poole was learning to ring. In 1937 he left Market Harborough to take a post as manager at Broom Flour Mills, near Evesham, where he was employed until his death.
Although he did not keep a record of his peals, the writer would think, from comments Arthur made, that he had rung about 200 . He was an excellent striker and was not afraid to voice his opinion in the belfry when necessary.
Mr. Manning had a wide knowledge of music and had he taken up music in place of ringing there is no doubt that he would have been an excellent musician. His favourite musical work was Handel's 'The Messiah,' and he had heard many performances of it, often travelling considerable distances to hear choirs. He was also a great lover of architecture, and there were very few of our great cathedrals that he had not visited. To some people Arthur appeared to be a rugged and stern character, but underneath this exterior was a warmth and friendliness. A widow, four daughters and one son are left to mourn his passing.
The funeral took place at Bidford-on-Avon on January 31st, and afterwards a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled by A. T. Shorey 1, W. J. Newman 2, G. C. Hemming (conductor) 3, R. C. Chapman 4, H . Huxley 5, F. C. Lyne 6, G. J. Hemming 7, J. Moore 8. The ring of ten at Holy Trinity Church, Stratford-on-Avon, was also rung muffled in the evening.

MR. E. E. LOMAS
All Saints', Asfordby, has lost another of its veteran ringers by the death in Leicester Infirmary on February 1st of Mr. Ernest Edward Lomas, aged 81. On the previous Wednesday he slipped and fractured his thigh.
Mr. Lomas came to Asfordby as a youth, being apprenticed to the village blacksmith. Afterwards he worked at the Holwell Iron Works as a smith until he was 70 . For 63 years he had been a member of Asfordby ringers and was captain for several years. In the early ' 30 's he took part in many quarter peals of Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise He was a great Christian character-loved and respected by all.
Five of his fellow ringers attended the funeral service, and in the evening a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor, with the bells halfmuffled, was rung to his memory. The band was: Mrs. Dorothy Day 1, Evander Littlewood 2, Roland H. Cook 3, A. E. Hurman 4, R. Looker 5, J. H. Cook (conductor) 6.

ACID TEST OF A GOOD RINGER

IN the issue of 'The Ringing World' dated January 20th is given an account of the Universities Association Reunion, and under the sub-heading, 'Acid Test of a Good Ringer,' Mr. E. A. Barnett says it seemed to him that ringing was suffering from several diseases; one was unless a man could ring spliced Surprise within six weeks of handling a bell he was written off as a failure. It took some courage to say that and he certainly has some grounds for such a statement. His comments, coupled with the account of the passing away of Mr. Joshua Dean, of Norbury, which appeared in the previous week's issue, brings to mind the early struggles of the Norbury band and make me ask, 'What is the acid test of a good ringer?'
When Norbury Church was built in 1837, the old six bells of Disley were taken down and replaced by a new ring of six, and as there was a tower to Norbury Church, the old Disley bells were hung in it. Previous to 1896 nothing in the way of change ringing, other than Bob Doubles, had been attempted, and although the ringers then in office - Messrs. S. Fernley, J. Dean, G. D. Warburton, S. Rutter, A. Fernley, J. Shallcross and E. Bradbury-had served for a number of years, they had never been stirred by any ambition to become scientific change ringers. However, the Rev. H. Leigh-Mallory, then of Wilmslow, wrote to the secretary of the Norbury ringers informing him of the existence of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers, and as the hon. secretary of the Stockport and Bowdon Branch (in whose district Norbury tower was situate), he requested that the ringers should become members of the Guild, which they did in July, 1896. A practice night was arranged and all set to work in real earnest, valuable assistance being given by the late James $\mathbf{S}$. Wilde, of Hyde, who later emigrated to Dunedin. New Zealand, and to this gentleman the ringers were mainly indebted for their rapid and satisfactory progress. Jim Wilde, as he was affectionately known, had to walk from Hyde and back each practice night-those who know the district know what that entailed.

The first Minor extent was rung for morning service on Sunday, September 13th, 1896, the method being Plain Bob. As this was the first Minor extent in which any of the band had taken part, and considering that they only had been in practice two months with the tenor as a working bell, it was, a creditable performance.

Later their efforts were directed to learning Treble Bob methods, the first being in the Kent Variation, and it was on Sunday morning, February 7th, 1897, that their first extent of this method was successfully brought round.
The following extract from the old Norbury peal book relative to the ringing on that date speaks for itself:-
' Feb. 7th. This date will always be remembered by the band as being the date on which they accomplished their first peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor. The day was Sunday and ringing for morning service was commenced at 9.50 . Of course, a peal was attempted as usual, but went wrong about 10.10 . Another start was made and at 10.30 (the time to stop ringing) the peal was going strong and well. The conductor decided to go on to the end if possible, and the peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor was accomplished seven minutes after service had commenced, notwithstanding the fact that for the last five minutes the irate choirmaster had been pounding on the belfry door for ringing to cease. Positions as follows:- Treble J. Dean, 2 S. Fernley, 3 G. D. Warburton, 4 S. Rutter, 5 A. Fernley, Tenor J. Shallcross. Conductor J. Shallcross. Time 25 minutes.'
There is no record as to what happened or the reactions of the Vicar after this spot of 'overtime.'
More difficult methods were tackled with successful results and, in addition, they had been putting a new pupil through his paces; this was the late James Fernley, who later, under the guidance of the late Rev. A. T. Beeston, made a name for himself as a conductor of Spliced Minor methods. He scored his first Minor extent in April, 1897.

As Mr. C. K. Lewis says in his memoir, with the passing of Mr. Joshua Dean goes the last link with the old Norbury band. There are, however, intermediary links; Mr. J. W. Hartley is one and he has done yeoman service at Norbury. When the present ring of eight was opened in October, 1925, the survivors of the old Norbury band were just as interested as they would have been had they been active ringers; they participated in the ringing which took place every night during the week following the dedication of the bells. We of the then 'younger end' had the pleasure of ringing with them. Even after years of ceasing to be active ringers they still could 'strike.' Sam Fernley was the oldest of the Fernley brothers and a traveller for a hat trimming firm. Albert and Jim were hatters-incidentally Jim Wilde was a hatter too. I do not remember the occupations of Joshua Dean or George D. Warburton.

George D. was a short tubby chap and when the bells were installed at St. George's, Stockport, he became one of the ringers there; Jim Shallcross was the village shoemaker and at one time part-time postman. Jim was a bit of an eccentric, and if during ringing he suddenly remembered he had a job to do, would stand his bell and dash off to do it.

Jim Wilde and his pupils little realised when they were struggling to master method ringing that over fifty years later their efforts were still bearing fruit. Jim Wilde died a few years ago in New Zealand and until the last he took a great interest in the ringing at Norbury. When the first 'Thirty-five Method Peal' was rung on December 4th, 1923, his delight knew no bounds and he lost no time in writing to congratulate Jim Fernley. So great was his modesty he never made reference to the hard work he had done in preparing the foundations. On more than one occasion when ringing was not up to standard Jim Fernley would say, 'You want Jim Wilde at the back of you,' and that was enough to make bands pay more attention to their ringing.

And so again I ask, 'What is the acid test of a good ringer?

ST. JAMES', HULL

Dear Sir,-In the issue of "The Ringing World' dated January 27th, page 60, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, in his very interesting review of peal ringing in Yorkshire East Riding, states that there has been a long silence at St. James', Hull, as the last peal was rung there in 1909.
If my memory serves me correctly, these bells were stopped in 1912, owing to the frame being in a dangerous condition. That will explain the long silence. Since that time they have only been chimed. This is one of the poorest parishes in the city, and it was impossible to raise the necessary money for the repairs. I understand that this church is to be demolished some time as this area is to be an industrial zone under the town planning scheme.

In the next parish (St. Luke's) the church was completely burnt out in the blitz of 1941 and these two parishes are now in the care of Holy Trinity Church. Some time ago I was informed that a new church is to be built and both parishes combined. I do not know whether the bells are to be saved and placed in the new church or not. I sincerely hope so.
There is another eight-bell tower in Hull (All Saints'). These bells were stopped about 1924 owing to the bad condition of the frame. I only know of three peals being rung there; there may have been more. A bell fund was opened, but I do not know what became of it. The bells are still silent.-Yours sincerely, Eessle, East Yorks.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The first meeting of the New Year was held in Wakefield Cathedral on January 28th. Ringing took place in the standard methods on eight and ten bells until 8.45 p.m.
The president took the chair at the short business meeting. Two new members were elected and the Cathedral authorities, together with the local company, were thanked for the use of the bells.

The March meeting will be held a week earlier than usual this year, on March 24th, as the last Saturday in the month is Easter Saturday.

Fourteen local towers were represented. The next meeting will be held at St. Michael's, Headingley, on February 25th.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

In spite of the bad weather, about 30 members and friends met at Dronfield on February 4th for the monthly meeting of the Society. Altogether there were ten towers represented, one ringer having come all the way from Coventry.

Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued in a variety of methods until 5 p.m., when tea was provided at the Green Dragon. One much appreciated item was a roaring fire, around which everybody soon congregated.

No business meeting was held, but will members please note that the next meeting will be the annual to be held at Ranmoor on March 3rd.
After tea members returned to the tower for further ringing.

WEDDINGS

At Sutton-in-Holderness

There was a happy gathering of ringers at St. James' Church, Sutton-in-Holderness, on Saturday, February 11th, when the Vicar, the Rev. L. Reynolds, had the pleasure of marrying two young people who had learned to ring on his bells. The bride was Sylvia Iredale, of Sutton, and the bridegroom John Michael Harrop, of Howden. Another local ringer, Ron Ducker, was best man.
The bells were rung before the service and as the happy couple left the church; the local band was there in full strength, and were assisted by the bridegroom's sister and uncle from Howden. Later, at the bride's home, after the usual toasts and cutting of the cake, the bride, bridegroom and best man called on Mr. L. Rodmell to join them in a plain course of Grandsire Triples on handbells.

At Sutton-on-Trent

Two members of the Sutton-on-Trent tower, Mr. Allan Wilson and Miss Betty Castle, were married on February 11th by the Rev. R. T. Keal. The service was choral, with the bridegroom's brother acting as organist. The bride, who was dressed in white brocade, was attended by three bridesmaids-Miss Evelyn Wilson (bridegroom's sister) Miss Gillian Castle and Mrs. Dorothy Goddard. Mr. L. Wilson was best man to his brother. The honeymoon was in London, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's future home will be Home Farm. Ossington. After the ceremony a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung.

The members of Reading University Society spent an interesting day in London on February 8th, which included a visit to the Whitechapel Bell-foundry and ringing at St. Olave's, Hart Street, and at Stepney, where they joined the local practice. Ringing at Stepney included Stedman and Grandsire Caters.

Southampton University Society, formed just over a year ago, has now a membership of 15 .

Congratulations to ringing members of the R.A.F. at Locking Camp, Somerset, on scoring a peal at Bleadon, Somerset, on February 8th.

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Horsham on February 11th was the first on the bells for 32 years

Mr. Peter Crook, of Bolton, has conducted 100 peals of Grandsire Triples, the centenary being reached at Deane on February 11th.
Mr. Percy C. Sayer, who was 80 on New Year's Day, stood in at the last moment to ring in a quarter of Minor at Great Totham, Essex on February 12th. He rang his favourite bell, the tenor, faultlessly.
Eighty-three years ago, on February 11th, the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Benington, Herts. Unfortunately, an anniversary peal attempt failed, but a quarter in the method was rung, conducted by Mr. F. Croft.
Owing to snow and bad road conditions five ringers from the north, due to take part in a peal of Cambridge Maximus at St. Mary Redcliffe, were prevented from reaching Bristol on February 11th. Despite a 5 a.m. start they only succeeded in covering about 40 miles in four hours, when the journey had to be abandoned. The remainder of the band wish to express their thanks to the three ringers who agreed to stand in at the 11th hour and enable a peal of Stedman Caters to be rung.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. H. A. Pratt informs us of Great Bromley, is not the first Essex incumbent to ring a peal on his own bells. The Rev. John Southam rang three peals on the bells of Black Notley, Essex, where he was rector in 1944-45.

With the peal of Stedman Doubles at Bleadon, Somerset, on February 8th, John Waters, of Paul, near Penzance, completes the Stedman family from Doubles to Cinques.
The peal of Doubles at Bathampton on Jan. 17th consisted of 30 six-scores of Grandsire (ten callings) and 12 of Plain Bob (four callings) and not as printed on page 84.
Christopher J. Herbert is to be congratulated for his performance in the peal at Darlington on February 11th. Not only was it his first peal and in a method in which he had little experience, but he had spent the whole of the previous night on 'guard duty' at Catterick Camp.
A quarter peal of Stedman Triples at Farnham Royal, near Slough, on February 8th, was arranged to enable Dvr. Alan Hartley, of Leeds, now stationed at Farnborough, to ring at the tower made famous by the late Joseph J. Parker, composer of the famous 12 -part of Grandsire Triples. One of Mr. Parker's compositions was rung, and afterwards Dvr. Hartley visited the graves of J. J. Parker and Wm. H. Fussell.
The peal on the recently-restored ring at Weston, Bath, was rung on the occasion of the silver wedding anniversary of the Vicar, the Rev. E. J. Rowe, who is the chairman of the Bath Branch of the Association. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe kindly entertained the band after the peal. Taking part in the peal was Mr. R. J. Cousins, who will be 75 years old next week. He last rang a peal, one of Cambridge Major, at Twerton in 1934.

BOILING A BELL

'The Lincoln Diocesan Magazine ' records an interesting experiment of boiling a bell (extracted from the 22 nd annual report of the Friends of Durham Cathedral). The article states:
I he Church of St. Mary, Monkhesleden, Co. Durham, is now permanently closed. One of its two ancient bells has been given to a neighbouring church and the other referred to below has been handed over to the Dean and Chapter of Durham. It is now in the Great Dormitory in the cloisters.
The original clapper-staple of the bell now in the Great Dormitory must have been broken off at some time or another, because a false staple has been fitted by boring two holes through the head of the bell itself. The inscription on the bell reads:-
ihesus nazarenus rex yudaeorum.
When the bell reached the Cathedral workshop it was decided to remove the products of corrosion by the usual method of electrolysis. When this was done and the bell was washed down and dried, it was thought that little more remained to do but to brush off any encrusted dirt and to apply a coat of suitable preservative. This, however, turned out to be far from the truth of the matter, for, with the removal of the layer of corroded material, innumerable minute pinholes in the metal, resulting from the method of casting, started to exude a variety of crystalline substances. Scrub as one might. within a few days the bell again looked as though it had been out overnight in a hard frost.
As it seemed probable that the corrosion of the bell had been increased by salt brought over by the wind from the sea, which is only a mile-and-a-half away, it was decided to test the effect of boiling; so with but an inch or two of the lip of the bell sticking out of a new dustbin. bought specially for the job, an experimental boiling for a few hours was tried.
Boiling proved to be the answer to the problem, and after a boiling marathon lasting for four days, the salt which had been accumulating for some six-and-a-half centuries was finally dissolved. Scveral weeks, however, were allowed to elapse to make sure that no further crystals formed. and then a coat of preservative was applied.
Mr. Ronald Clouston, who sends us the magazine, makes these interesting comments:-
(1) Bronze is not attacked by salt in sea air, but is by sulphurous gases as found in chimney gases. Monkhesleden is in the coal mining area of Co. Durham.
(2) The only other example of boiling a bell I had heard of is given in my 'Church Bells of Renfrewshire,' p. 172. The bell was cracked!

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH  Monmouth Branch Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Monmouth Branch Was successfully held at Ebbw Vale on January 28 th and was attended by a large number of ringers.
Ringing on these lovely bells was jointly arranged by the Association Master, Mr. F. Bailey, and the Branch Master, Mr. J. Alsop.

The choral service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Oliver Davies. A bounteous tea was afterwards provided in the church hall by the Vicar and the social committee. Mr. F. Hannington, general secretary, thanked the ladies concerned.
At the business meeting the Branch secretary gave a favourable report of the past year and was later re-elected. Mr. J. Alsop entered his second year as Branch Master. Various items of interest and progress were mentioned. Three young ladies from Ebbw Vale were elected new members.

Bow Bells are Silent and have been ever since the blitz on the night of May 11th, 1941, when St. Mary-le-Bow Church caught fire from burning buildings next door. The steeple was gutted and the bells fell from the tower and were smashed.

Bow Bells will ring again

as soon as we have received enough money to restore and secure the fabric of our Crypt Church and steeple.

THIS WE ARE ASKING YOU TO HELP US TO DO.  IT WILL COST $£ 150,000$.

These are the opening paragraphs of an attractive brochure which has been circulated by an influential Appeals Committee. Many copies have been sent to officials of ringing organisations all over the country, and the Rector has promised that all moneys received from ringers will be separately accounted for.

At the recent business meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths it was decided to support the appeal, and that a sum of money (to be decided later) should be donated by the Society, supplemented by amounts subscribed by individual College Youths.

It is felt that many ringers belonging to the various Diocesan and County Associations, being also College Youths, might on this special appeal desire to associate themselves with the Society's effort, and the secretary, Mr. A. B. Peck, 1, Eversfield Road, Reigate, Surrey, has been authorised to receive the contributions made by members. Whilst it is hoped that the final sum donated by the Ancient Society shall be a substantial amount, it is not desired that efforts which will be made by other ringing organisations shall be in any way prejudicedthe main idea is that every ringer who can afford to do so shall make a contribution to the appeal for the restoration of these famous bells.

Prior to the destruction of the church and bells, the Society had always been closely associated with this famous church, and the familiar interval signal used by the B.B.C. Was made and recorded by College Youths.

Dear Sir,-Many ringing guild officials have just received a copy of the Rector's appeal for the restoration of Bow Bells. These, thanks to the B.B.C., are of nationwide interest, especially to us ringers.

May I suggest that we ringers should support this fund by contributions from all our Guild and Association funds. I would further like to see this paid into and through our own Central Council. I hope to bring this before our own Guild at the A.G.M. What do other readers think of this proposition?-Yours sincerely,

ARTHUR F. WELLINGTON.
East Grinstead and District Guild.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Devizes Branch

Despite the very cold weather, some 25 members attended the February meeting of the Devizes Branch, held at Hilperton. The support of the young ringers from Holt was much appreciated; meetings would be of more value if other towers followed their example. A hearty welcome was given to the Rector, this being his first Guild meeting since his induction to the living. The next meeting will be held at Keevil. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and for taking the service, and to the ladies for providing the tea. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Minor.

A WEEK-END IN BRISTOL

A team from far and wide, including Birmingham, Bedford, Derby and Swindon, converged on Bristol on January 28th, at the invitation of Miss Elisabeth Grime, who had gone to some trouble to arrange an attractive ringing programme, including peal attempts at Long Ashton and on a certain notorious heavy eight in Bristol. There was also the added attraction of the Bristol University Society Dinner.
The fine eight at Long Ashton were rung to a very good peal of Yorkshire at a steady but good beat. Several of the party visited Twerton-on-Avon on the Sunday morning, where they met Mr. Roger Fry and admired his nice little ring and the progress made by his young band. He came to Bristol to hear the ringing at St. Thomas', Bedminster, where one of the very rare peal attempts was to be made. This hiad caused much local speculation, and dark hints about 'the slaughterhouse' and the like had been made.
The band bravely launched forth with Bob Major on this good old eight, where the tenor ( 29 cwt . in D) is very heavy going, and some of the others play tricks, and quickly mastered the difficulties so that the music rolled out across the sad ruins of this badly damaged part of Bristol at a measured 22 changes a minute, with an even beat that belied the battle that was going on above and the sweat that beaded the faces of the back-enders.

But the band were a little tired after the previous day's efforts, and St. Thomas' bells find out every weakness and, though no hint of tiredness came , to the listeners outside, they were surprised to hear the bells run round after 1 hour 4 minutes. The conductor, knowing that a finish of good standard was unlikely owing to the onset of fatigue, deemed it wise to call the bells round while the ringing was going well. thus completing an excellent quarter peal, possibly the greatest length of Major on the bells.

Thus they earned a leisured tea and a ring at St. Mary Redcliffe, and, it is hoped, a chance to visit again this fine old eieht at St. Thomas', when really fresh and fit. Thank you, Bristol, and Elisabeth, for a grand weekend. D. P. J.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

The rain and fog on January 28th did not deter 70 members of the Northern District, assembled at Dunmow for the annual District meeting. During the afternoon the grand ring of eight was keot going in many methods.

The Vicar, Rev. D. Callum, conducted the service and welcomed the ringers to Dunmow. Mr. R. C. Heazel, Master of the Association, read the lesson, and Mrs. Coates was at the organ. Tea was provided in the Church Hall by the local ringers and their wives and friends.
At the business meeting the Vicar presided, and the District Master's and secretary's reports were adopted. These showed a decline in the number of peals rung, and that the attendance at the five meetings held during the year was greater than the year before. There were only three churches in the District where no Sunday service ringing took place. Five new members were elected, and the next meeting is to be held at Pebmarsh in March.
Miss H. G. Snowden was re-elected District Master, Mr. H. A. Pratt district secretary, and Messrs. J. Elliott and J. Warner were re-elected to the committee. After a discussion on the question of the alteration of the date of the annual general meeting of the Association, the meeting voted in favour of altering it from Whitsun Monday to a suitable Saturday. Afterwards the handbells were rung, whilst others returned to the church for ringing. H. A. P.

Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch

The annual meeting of the Branch was held at Stockport St. George's Church on January 28th, when some 70 members and friends were present. A wedding delayed the start of the proceedings, but the bride was delighted to have the sound of the bells which she had not anticipated.

The usual Guild form of service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Wilfred Garlick, well known for his broadcast and other activities, who gave the Branch a warm welcome to the church and delighted them with an excellent address delivered in his inimitable manner. Tea was served in the nearby Parish Room.

The business meeting was held under the able guidance of the Vicar. Arising from the minutes, the secretary reported that so far only the New Mills meeting on April 28 th had been definitely fixed. The deaths of Canon Winstanley, of Poynton, and of Mr . Joshua Dean, the last of the old band at Norbury, were reported, and the meeting stood in silent tribute to the memory of two old friends and supporters of the Guild.

The statement of accounts for 1955 was presented by the secretary and adopted by the meeting. In his report for 1955 the secretary commented on the arrival of the new Bishop of Chester, who had demonstrated his interest in the Guild and Art by active participation in the ringing at churches he had visited. He appealed to the members to rally to the support of the Bishop as he tackled the tremendous tasks in the dioccse. Membership of the Branch had increased and 35 peals had been rung within the confines of the Branch during the past year. The proportion of young ringers at meetings had been very encouraging, a good augury for the future prosperity of the Branch which, as the secretary remarked, has a tradition second to none.

The following officers were elected for 1956 : President, Canon R. Simpson; chairman, Mr. Alan J. Brown ; vice-chairman, Mr. M. J. Pryor ; Ringing Master, Mr. B. Jones, secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. K. Lewis ; committee-Messrs. Brown, Jones and A. R. Elkins. The following were elected members of the Guild: Mr. and Mrs. A. Edmonds (Dunham Massey), Miss L. Bottomley, Miss M. Leech and P. N. Sprosen (Hyde), Miss K. Beswick, M. Booth and P. Hough (Knutsford), A. and F. Osbaldiston (Marple) Miss M. J. Hainsworth and C. Cameron Stuart (Stockport St. George's). The belfry election of G. D. Fearnehough, of Birch-in-Rusholme, was confirmed.

The meeting extended its congratulations to Mr. Tohn Wheadon, aged 84, who had just rung his 99th peal of Stedman, and wished him luck with his 100 th. Mr. S. Hough, sen., whom the meeting was glad to see looking so well after his recent illness, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring officers for their work, and this was seconded by another old and valued member, Mr, A. Barnes, whose name first appeared in 'Bell News' in 1886.

The meeting concluded with a very cordial vote of thanks to the Vicar, the wardens, the organist, the local ringers and ladies, who had served tea. Further ringing was enjoyed on the ten bells until a very late hour, and many had their first ring on ten. It is fortunate that the ringing roum at St. George's is large, otherwise many would have had to wait outside for their turn to ring.

WITNEY RINGING SOCIETY ANNUAL DINNER

Presentation to Mr. L. T. Oliffe

The theme, in the Garden Room at the Fleece Hotel, Witney, throughout the evening of Thursday, February 9th, centred upon the mysteries of campanology; for here, the members of the newly-reconstituted Witney Ringing Society and their guests, were gathered together for the annual dinner. The company of 29 who attended was forewarned that it was likely to be a novel evening as it scanned the programmes, which began: 'On Thursday, February 9th, in two hours a True and Complete Dinner in several irregular methods.' 'Touches' from the menu included Berkshire Soup Bob, Tomato Juice Pleasure, Peach Flan Delight, Cheese and Biscuit Singles, all of which were brought round with Holt's Original Coffee!

The president of the Society, Canon R. F. Bale, took advantage of the treble handbell in calling attention to the youngest lady ringer, Miss Valerie Lewis (aged 15), who proposed the loyal toast. Congratulating the Society on its regular Sunday and practice ringing, Canon Bale said that he was gratified to find a growing membership of young people, particularly of the fairer sex. The ministry of the bells, he asserted, was of the greatest importance.
Miss Lottie Pimm, of Eynsham, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Society for its hospitality and said how much everyone enjoyed ringing at Witney.

Replying to the toast of 'The Witney Ringing Society,' the secretary, Mr. David J. Smith, pointed out that in reviving the custom of an annual dinner, the Society was carrying on a precedent which had started many years ago. The first record of a Witney Ringing Society dinner which he could find was in 1902, but there was little doubt that it had been a tradition for some years before. Describing himself as a 'new boy' to the belfry, Mr. Smith paid tribute to the services of the Master, Mr. L. T. Oliffe, 'who was ringing,' stated Mr. Smith, ' for more than ten years before I was born!' He went on to speak, on behalf of all the ringers, of their gratitude to Mr . Oliffe for his long service and hard work. He then asked the president to present Mr. Oliffe with an electric clock, as a token of the appreciation and respect felt for him by the band.

Thanking all those who had contributed towards the gift, Mr. Oliffe said that he hoped to serve as Master for several years to come.
The ten shining handbells had lain silent and tantalising throughout the meal, but when the speeches had ceased, the secretary called for a Grandsire band. As the bells hunted up and down systematically, their clear tone filled the room, fascinating members and visitors alike, with the result that before the cry of 'That is all . . stand,' which terminated the programme, the bells had been passed from table to table for beginners' rounds and queens!

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

North and East District

The annual meeting of the North and East District took place at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on February 11th. The afternoon's ringing was followed by a service in church, conducted by the Rector and president of the Association, Rev. G. C. Taylor.
At the business meeting, with Mr. H. G. Hart, vice-president, in the chair, the secretary submitted his annual report, which indicated that nine District meetings and two joint meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 36 ringers. Harrow-on-the-Hill had been visited for a meeting after a period of very many years. Six resident members had been lost through death. Forty-nine new ringing and life members had been elected. Harrow Weald, with 25 quarter peals, headed the list, which totalled 92 .
The statement of accounts revealed a balance of $£ 313 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d ., which was lower than last year and chiefly due to the lateness of payment of subscriptions. Fees for ringing peals had also dropped from last year's amount. Collections for the Bell Restoration Fund totalled $£ 7$ 2s. 4 d . and showed an increase.
Elections of officers were: Mr. A. Cutter Ringing Master, Mr. H. G. Hart assistant, Mr. T. J. Lock secretary, Mr. C. F. Neal assistant Miss R. Foreman, Messrs. J. R. Mayne and G. A. Parsons representatives on the Central Committee; Mr. R. F. B. Speed was re-elected auditor.

New members elected were: Miss A. Tape Kingsbury; J. Bacon, Edmonton; Rev, G Buston and D. H. Oliver, Enfield; C. Aldridge, R. Motton, J. Perrett and Miss G. Iddins Southgate; K. Hart and Miss P. Miller, Wood Green. The Misses S. Clayton, Pinner, and G Newcombe, Edmonton, and E. H. Kilby, Willesden, and A. Warren, Finchley, will continue to act as 'Ringing World ' representatives.

A list of proposed meetings for the coming year was agreed upon, and it was voted to hold the next District annual meeting at Clerkenwell.
The ringing which took place during the afternoon and evening was not above average, and for an annual occasion the meeting was poorly attended, one reason being, it was suggested, that no tea had been arranged.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Watford District

The annual District meeting was held at S . Mary's, Watford, on February 11th. The unfavourable weather did not prevent a good attendance and the ten bells were put to some useful ringing, which ranged from rounds to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Surprise Major.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, who also took the chair at the business meeting. All officers were re-elected, namely: Mr. K. R Dunstan, secretary ; Mr. S. H. Hoare, Ringing Master ; Messrs. S. H. Hoare and G. W. Seaman, general committee; Mr. K. R. Dunstan, 'R.W.' representative; District committee-er bloc.
Discussion was made on the Bow Bells appeal, which had been received by the president, Mr C. W. Woolley, and also on the Association's Voluntary Bell Fund, and annual general meeting arrangements in April at Bishop's Stortford

A vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. R. G Bell and her band of helpers, who so ably provided the splendid tea arrangements.

It is desired to place on record of the visit to the belfry, and to tea and service, of two visitors from Sweden. They seemed most interested in the art and it is said that they are coming, at later date, to view the bells.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BELLS DEODAND

Dear Sir,-For a number of weeks during the latter part of the summer of 1955 the Rev. W. J. Bolt, B.A., LL.M., had articles published in 'The Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review.' These articles were compiled by him while studying the older volumes of the publication, which first appeared on January 28th, 1837, and picking out items of interest.
In the issue of September $24 \mathrm{th}, 1955, \mathrm{Mr}$. Bolt writes: 'A most bewildering article appears at 1839 , page $37:-$

Chunch Bells. - The question whether church bells can become a deodand was mooted in the following two cases, both of which originated in a similar description of incident.
'Term Pasch, 16 Carl 2, Bowman v. Milbanke. Brocker in ringing was taken up by the bell rope and by it he was killed, and now the coroner took an inquisition upon his death and found the bell to be a deodand.

Siderfin for the churchwardens moved that the bell is not to be a deodand, because a bell is already given to God and to the Church; and bells were invented about 400 A.D. by Paulinus, a bishop here; and the case of Fitzh. Corona 389, of a mill wheel, is not law, and it was adjourned.
" Trin. Term, 16 Carl 2, in BR. The King v. Cross and Dabbyn. It was moved last term to quash an inquisition taken before the coroner upon yiew of the body of John Brucas, who was killed by a bell in the church of Axminster in Devon. The bell being ringing, the said John Brocas was caught in the rope of the said bell and so bruised by reason of the violent motion that he incidentally died. . And the inquest before the said coroner found that the bell and the whole of the rope were deodand.
" After a long argument, Hide C. J. and Windham, J., feuront d'opinion que l bell icy n'est deodand quia fuit fix, sed les auters justices doubt mais ils agard que proces serra stay tangue sont auternont advise et ne fuit move arrere, et issint ceux de Axminster enjoy leurs bells.'

Nothing further appears to have been done in either case.'
I have not succeeded in tracing the relevance of this entry to anything else which appears in the same issue.-Yours truly,

JOINT MEETING AT BURTON-ON-TRENT

Dear Sir ,-I note from the report, in your issue of February 10th, of the January meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, that a joint Festival is to be held at Burton-onTrent on April 14th; the report states furthermore that the North Staffs Association is one of the four sponsor organisations.

I should like through your columns to make it clear that the North Staffs Association has not been approached on the matter at all, and so is not directly concerned with the Festival.
This Association would be only too willing to consider such joint meetings or other functions of a similar nature, if it is approached through the proper channels in good time.
Some of our members, however. may be pleased to attend the Festival and I know they will be made welcome.-Yours faithfully,
E. H. EDGE.

Hon. Secretary; North Staffis Association.

A TIME-HONOURED CUSTOM

Dear Sir,-I have read with interest Mr. Dyke's observations on the custom of midnight ringing for the New Year. He refers to this practice as 'a sentimental custom, which has grown out of tradition.' Admittedly, both sentiment and tradition have a prominent part in it, but the tradition is one that commands respect, for the usage of welcoming the New Year with the joyous music of church bells has not only been persetuated in England for many generations, but is also a cherished observance in a number of European countries. It is at least probable that such a widespread custom rests on a definitely religious foundation, however much the 'Christian significance of the bells' may have faded into the background.
For my own part, I regard this time-honoured custom as an act of public thanksgiving for our safe preservation to the beginning of another year, while the sound of the bells at that moment represents to me the voice of the Church of Christ pronouncing a benediction on the new period of life thus begun.-Yours sincerely,

FAST RINGING

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{Re}$ the footnote to the peal of Plain Bob Major of 5,024 being the quickest peal on tower bells, I think it would have been better if it had been recorded as the shortest peal on tower bells. I think they must have cut across the fields and jumped a few hedges.

I have rung several peals on the same bells, and quick ones, too- 2 hours and 35 minutes, but when it comes to 1 hour and 45 minutes, is it ringing, and what good is it? It is very easy for the caller to waken up and find course and coming up, say 52436 . Oh, sir just called three homes. It's very casily done, and not to know about it. Going at that rate, it's a wonder the louvres did not burst open again. I think the best thing is to cross off the peal and ring a pual.

We all think we have done some clever things. I myself knocked all the skittles over on the table at one throw, but my friends did not know I had thrown two cheeses at first shot until I told them. Well, if ringers enjoy ringing at that rate. let them; I don't want to hear it. Give me a steady, well struck peal, and no cups of tea on the way, and no stamping. It reminds me of an old itching horse stamping its foot in the stable.-Yours truly,

E. C. GOBEY.

PEAL RINGING IN LINCOLNSHIRE

Dear Sir,-In Mr. Felstead's article of April 15th, 1955, he states that three peals were rung at Boston between 1903 and 1913. After very careful search for this record I can only find the record of a peal of Stedman Triples rung in 1913 and conducted by the late Rev. H. Law James. I shall be very grateful to Mr. Felstead if he can supply me with the record of the other two peals.-Yours sincerely,
W. E. CLARKE.

DOULTING TENOR

Dear Sir,-In view of the recent correspondence in your columns, it might be of interest for us to state that the weight of Doulting tenor is given in our records as 23 cWt . 2 qr. 17 lb .; although the bell is inscribed 'Taylor & Co. Oxford Fecerunt 1828.' it was actually cast at Buckland Brewer in Devon.-Yours faithfully,

A 27 COURSE BLOCK

Dear Sir,-The recent publication of a 29 course block true to methods with any or all of the false course heads $24365,46253,32546$, 65432 and 53624 irrespective of incidence of falseness prompts me to enquire as to whether the enclosed 27 course block for the same false course heads has any history. It was rung, in a reversed and transposed form, to a peal of Braunstone Surprise in the latter part of last year, and on that occasion my name was attached to it. Its scope is rather limited by the use of bobs Before, and the leads must be connected in the Cambridge order.
5,184 for methods (seconds place) with F.C.H. $24365,46253,32546,65432$ and 53624 with 5738264 the first lead-head.

Also, whilst in print, I must apologise to Mr. Barton for having claimed a variation of his three-part of Lincolnshire as my own, and must thank $S$. Ivin for pointing this out. If Lincolnshire had been considered one of the 'popular methods' when the C.C. Collection in the popular methods was compiled, then Mr. Barton's peal would almost certainly have been included and my mistake would not have been made. I have inspected all the standard books of reference, all the old reports of various associations which have come my way, and every copy of 'The Ringing World ' back to mid1948 without finding the figures.-Yours faithfully,

' USURPING A PREROGATIVE'

Dear Sir,-The officers of the Guildford Guild and its Leatherhead District have read with amazement the paragraph about Stoke D'Abernon bells on page 76 of your issue of February 3rd.
We cannot think that the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, as a Society, would be interested in ringing the first peal on a humble five in our area.
We fear that the true explanation is that some plausible and unscrupulous tower grabbers have put a fast one over the authorities at Stoke D'Abernon and used the name of the Society in order to usurp the prerogative of the Guildford Guild.-Yours faithfully,

G. L. GROVER,  General Secretary,  Guildford and District Guild

STECHFORD SURPRISE MAJOR
Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ should like to point out that the peal rung at Birmingham on January 19th, and published in 'The Ringing World ' under the name of 'Stechford,' is in fact a peal of 'Zetland.' This method was first rung on February 4th, 1939, at Bushey, Herts. Good thing some of us keep filing systems!-Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. MAYNE.

LETTERS-Continued

A SURPRISE MAJOR COLLECTION
Dear Sir,-I would like to thank Mr. Stephen Ivin for the claim he makes for me in his letter concerning Lincolnshire Surprise Major. The three-part peal in question was produced, along with a few one-part compositions, in the early 1930s. As Mr. Ivin states, the field of composition in Lincolnshire Surprise Major is very limited.

Mr. Ivin's suggestion that a collection of compositions in the easier Surprise Major methods would be highly advantageous is not without merit, but what a stupendous task for anyone to undertake! To mention but three composers, Arthur Knights, Arthur Craven and George Lewis-all now deceased-their collective compositions of Superlative Surprise alone will run into several hundreds.
Granted, most of those compositions will run true to Yorkshire, Pudsey, etc., but to print all the compositions by all the composers in all of what might be termed the easier Surprise methods would fill several books of no small size.
A greater task even than collecting and compiling would be the crediting of the various compositions to the rightful producers, so difficult is it to say where originality ends and where variation begins. Quite a number of compositions which have appeared in 'The Ringing World ' during the past two years are variations of others produced many years ago.
However, such a collection would be of great benefit to conductors, but, is anyone prepared to undertake the task? -Yours sincerely,

> WILLIAM BARTON.

Pudsey, Yorkshire.

'FIRSTS' ON 12 BELLS

Dear Sir,-To the list of those who rang their first peal on 12 bells should be added the name of Mr. Albert M. Tyler, of Bristol. His performance was especially noteworthy on account of his youth. A few days before his 14th birthday he rang Tewkesbury treble faultessly to a peal of Stedman Cinques, and followed this up a fortnight later with one at Cheltenham. As a matter of fact, I think his first three peals were all of Stedman Cinques.-Yours faithfully, Evesham, Worcs.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Resignation of South Norfolk Ringing Master

Despite the cold weather and snow, 35 ringers from 20 parishes in Norfolk and Suffolk attended the 22 nd annual meeting of the South Norfolk Branch at Diss on February 4th.
The service was conducted by Mr. H. J. Watts, lay reader, who also preached, assisted by the president, Rev. H. G. Lillingston, and Canon Nock, Rural Dean.
Dr. Paul H. A. Jonason presided at the meeting, at which it was learned with regret that Mr. Ernest Whiting, Ringing Master for South Norfolk, wished to resign. Mr. W. Flatt, of Redenhall, was elected as the new Ringing Master, and Messrs. Whiting and F. Arnold to the Branch committee. The other officers were re-elected. Four new members were electedMessrs. G. Burrows, R. Burrows and P. Savory (Banham) and Mr. T. Bailey (Beccles). Redenhall was chosen for a meeting on May 12th, and other dates for meetings are July 28th and October 20th.

PULHAM MARKET RINGERS' TEA

By kind invitation of Mr. A. R. Todd, of Pulham Market Hall, 62 ringers and friends from 18 parishes in South Norfolk and Suffolk were entertained to tea in the Village Hall on January 14th.
Mr. Todd was supported at the tea by Rev. A. G. Wiseman, Rector of Pulham Market, Rev. -. Dennis, Rector of Pulham St. Mary, Rev. T. H. Child, Rector of East Harling, the churchwardens, Mr. A. Roope, Ringing Master, Pulham Market, Mr. Ernest Whiting, Ringing Master for South Norfolk, Dr. Paul Jonason (chairman, South Norfolk) and Mr. A. G. Harrison (South Norfolk secretary).
Mr. Todd expressed his great pleasure at the large company present and the large number of young people of both sexes who were taking up the art of bellringing.
Dr. Paul Jonason, on behalf of all present, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Todd, Mr. A. G. Harrison, seconding the vote of thanks, said this was the best attended meeting in South Norfolk for many years.
The bells of the parish church were rung during the afternoon and evening, also Pulham St. Mary's bells during the evening.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH

Winchester District

The annual meeting of the Winchester District was held in Winchester on February 4th. The bells of the Cathedral were unfortunately not available due to belfry repairs, but good use was made of the six bells of St. Maurice's, under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. R. Smith. The service was held in St. Laurence's Church, with a short address by the Rev. E. Bannister.

The tea was held in St. Maurice's Hall, followed by the meeting, under the chairmanship of the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. The secretary reported that a record of 17 meetings had been held during 1955. The bells of Preston Candover had been augmented and restored during the year and others were pending-Old Alresford. Cheriton and Owslebury. The treasurer had not such a bright report, having to record a loss of $£ 9$, partly due to a donation of $£ 5$ to the Old Alresford Bell Restoration Fund.

The secretary, Mr. J. A. C. King, announced his decision not to stand again as secretary. Having been elected the general secretary the previous July, he felt he could not carry on as District Secretary. Mr. C. W. Lampard, captain of Winchester Cathedral, spoke in appreciation of Mr. King's services. Mr. R. F. Brewer was elected District secretary and Mr. P. Nash became the assistant secretary. Other officers were re-elected.
It was decided to go ahead with the dinner again this year and also, after some discussion, the outing. Mr. P. Dickinson appealed for financial assistance towards the Cheriton Bell Restoration Fund. It was agreed to donate $£ 5$. This concluded the business and ringing was continued at St. Maurice's until later in the evening.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Full use was made of the fine Warner eight at Revelstoke, which have recently been renovated by J. Taylor and Co., when the South West Branch annual meeting was held on Jan. 21 st. Visitors included Messrs. A. and R. Truman, of Kenn, and Mr. Duguid, of St. Mary's, Portsea.
The service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. R. Channer), was followed by a bountiful tea, provided by the ladies of the parish.

Mr. H. H. Thomas presided at the business meeting, and apologies through indisposition were received from Rev. H. E. Bennett, Mr. G. H. Myers, and Mr. H. W. Milford. The secretary's report was approved and he was thanked for his services. The treasurer's statement showed a balance in hand of $£ 2412 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d .
Officers elected were: chairman, Mr. H. H. Thomas; hon. secretary, treasurer and Ringing Master, Mr. T. G. Myers; general committee. Messrs. F. E. Day, H. W. Milford and J. P. Sims. Meeting dates chosen were April 28th, June 30th, September 29th and January 26th. the place being left to the secretary's discretion. The vote of thanks to the Vicar, Mr. P. J. Hall, organist, Mr. Parsons (local captain) and ladies was carried with acclamation. Further ringing was enjoyed, the bells being lowered at 8.30 p.m.

Mr. E. J. Taylor, general secretary of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, much appreciates the many letters he has received while in the Princess Elizabeth Orthopædic Hospital (Ward 3A), Exeter. He is suffering from a fracture of the spine.

MR. HERBERT GEORGE MIDDLETON

When last I saw Mr. Middleton, he looked everything he was, except 73 years old. There was the dignity and the wisdom which comes of a life well and fully lived, and which had brought him to be chosen as the chairman of the South Devon Association of Ringers for several years, and also to be Mayor of Dartmouth in his turn. There was the integrity and self-respect of the craftsman-he was a blacksmith and engineer-and there were also the geniality and humour of a good companion and the extra something that a ringer bears about him.

He was by preference and by training an 8bell ringer, hailing as he did from a town with a great reputation for 8 -bell call-changesBideford. In Dartmouth, where he spent the greater part of his life, he had fostered a tradition for good ringing on the lovely eight at St. Saviour's which will undoubtedly live long after him, and so unassailable was his leadership of the band there that when he suddenly had to give up ringing on his doctor's orders, there was no thought of putting anyone in his place as captain of the tower. Nor was his leadership thereafter a nominal one only; no one could meet the Dartmouth ringers and retain that idea. He would never have forsaken his call-change ringing for 'scientific'-perhaps he loved good striking too much-but he was a good friend to change-ringers, and it was the pleasure of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, when last the Mid-Devon Branch met at Dartmouth, tc have him as their guest-guest at table and host in the tower.

He had known for some time that his health would not bear up under much activity, but he was not a man to take easily to idleness, and if his life was shortened thereby, it was the fuller for it. He would have agreed, I think, with Edna St. Vincent Millay:-

My candle burns at both ends;
It will not last the night.
But ah! my foes, and oh! my friends, It gives a lovely light.
He died on Saturday, January 14th, and will be missed by all who know him. J. G. M. S.

MR. WILKINS MASSEY

The death of Mr. Wilkins Massey, of Claygate, on January 30 th after a short illness, has deprived Esher Parish Church of a devoted leader, and the Surrey Association of a staunch supporter and valued friend. The Exercise will be the poorer for his absence.

A memorial service was held at Esher Church on February 11th, and despite the bitter weather was well attended. Prior to the service the bells were rung to rounds and Grandsire Triples, the ringers including some of his pupils, friends from Hersham, and Mr. W. F. Oatway, general secretary of the Surrey Association. Representing the Northern District at the service were Mr. F. E. Collins, Ringing Master, and the District secretary.
In his address the Rector spoke of Mr. Massey as a keen and loyal Church worker. He loved all churches and Esher in particular. He was a simple man of a retiring nature. He never pushed himself forward, but was always willing to offer himself and his services when he thought that he could be of use. Once he undertook a task it was faithfully performed. He was a happy man as was evidenced by his wish that the bells for the memorial service should be rung open. His life was a lesson to all. The service concluded with the singing of Mr. Massey's favourite hymn, 'We love the place 0 God.'

MR. TOM EAST

North Berkshire and many other ringers will be sorry to hear of the death, at his home, Upper Cross, East Hagbourne, of Mr. Tom East, at the age of 86 years. After an illness of about five weeks he died on February 6th, and was laid to rest on February 9 th. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. H. A. Smith Masters.

The mourners included a son, grandson and grand-daughter, who are keen present-day ringers. Other ringing friends attended the service, and afterwards a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled was rung by A. Woodley 1, A. E. Lock 2, Mrs. Lock 3, K. White 4, G. Bishop 5, F. White 6, A. Webb (conductor) 7, D. Napper 8.

Tom East had led a very active life up to his recent illness. His great ringing years were from 1890 to 1927 , during which time he was a well-known member in the Oxford Diocesan Guild. His many friends in those days included such great men as the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Tom Hibbert and J. W. Washbrook.
In the village of Hagbourne he will be remembered with loving respect as a keen but encouraging critic, a kind and valued friend to ringers young and old, and a true and faithful member and sidesman of his church. For many years he was foreman in Hagbourne tower. He took an active part in forming the North Berkshire Branch and was a qualified instructor in the District. His favourite peal, which he rang and conducted many times, was Holt's Tenpart.
A. H. W.

MR. HARRY WOLSTENCROFT

The death of Mr. Harry Wolstencroft at the age of 76 on February 4th, after a long and painful illness in hospital, removes the youngest of an old trio of ringers from Ashton-underLyne.
His one and only peal took place on November 2nd; 1899, and, incidentally, was the first as conductor his eldest brother (W. W. W.) called. which was rung in their tower.

Having served in France during the first world war, and being twice wounded, his activities as a ringer were much curtailed, though he never lost interest in the belfry and in ringing. Whenever possible, he took part in Sunday service ringing.
Owing to structural and decoration work in the church, the service was held at his parents' home on February 8th, at which the Vicar, Rev. R. C. Barsley, officiated. Interment was at the Dukinfield Cemetery.
The bells were rung in memoriam the following day, when an attempt was made for a peal of Spliced Treble Bob Minor, arranged by Derek Ogden, which unfortunately came to grief after an hour's ringing. R.I.P.

EXPANSION OF OUR ART

THE leading article in 'The Ringing World' for February 10th made reference to the limited scope for the production and sale of ringing books and pamphlets, but I believe that this is only one small facet of a much larger problem which continually confronts the Exercise. As the author rightly suggests in his closing remarks, these books do help towards the expansion of the art. But surely the converse is also true. An expansion in the art, and in the number taking part in it, would also help the sales of books and pamphlets, and also the sales of ' The Ringing World ' itself.
Are we, as ringers, doing all we can to further the art of ringing? Are we satisfied that ringing is making advances comparable with, shall we say, electronics or other expanding industries? When one opens 'The Ringing World' and from time to time reads that yet another record has been created in Spliced Surprise, one must admit that at any rate technical advances are undoubtedly being made. But are these advances really helpful to the expansion of the art? I should not like for one moment to underestimate the very great skill and sustained effort demanded of these torch-bearers. Those who have progressed as far as the standard methods may be dimly conscious of what breaking a record in Spliced Surprise must mean in terms of skill, study, practice and time; but what of the many who can do little or no change-ringing, and what of the vast multitude of the 'listening public' who neither know nor care what is being rung so long as the striking is good?

These torch-bearers have done noble work, but their light is out of sight of the main body behind. As Sir Winston Churchill once said: ' Britain leads the world; but is the world following?' It is to the followers of the Exercise, and the general public after them, that we must look for an expansion in the art.

What then is the scope for expansion, and what part can ringers play in helping to fill the ringing vacuum that undoubtedly exists even in these overcrowded islands? Probably the most promising field for immediate expansion would be those churches where the bells are for some reason sadly silent. Most of us who have rung away from our own tower can call to mind such a church not many miles away. Then there are the churches that have towers but the bells are either derelict or wanting. A more difficult problem here. Then, seemingly right out of reach, are the churches that do not even possess a tower.

I visited such a church recently. It is comparatively modern and unfinished, the west end being bricked off and awaiting extension. Inside there is a plan showing the existing portion and the proposed extension. I could not see anything to indicate that any tower was planned. I wondered if any of the good folk living there realised what bells mean in the life of the English Church, and what they would miss if the church should be completed without them. The church is in a wealthy neighbourhood, and I came to the conclusion that it could only be through complete unawareness of the real meaning of the bells that they have been completely ignored in the design.

There must be scores of similar examples of the ringing vacuum throughout the country. A vacuum which if not filled by us will be eventually filled in other ways, leaving the churches in question permanently the poorer for being deprived of this much-cherished traditional way of life.

Surely it is up to us as ringers to ponder these things and to try and form as clear a picture as we can of what ringing means in the life of the Church. This, of course, is what really matters. It is the factor that has governed the total number of ringable towers we see published in Dove's Guide. There is scope here for reading and research, and with a clearer view of the meaning and purpose of the bells constantly before us, and a willingness at all times to keep the wellbeing of the art in the forefront of our own personal desires, we can in time still further improve our relationship with our fellow-ringers and the rest of the church.

Such a policy persistently carried out on a large scale would surely improve the soil in which a genuine expansion of the art could flourish. COLIN E. VERDON.

GILLETT  AND JOHNSTON

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett & Johnston bells or tower clocks. Gillett & Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service - as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

BELL FOUNDERS  AND  CLOCK MAKERS

PEAL RINGING IN WALES & MONMOUTH

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

FOLLOWING the example of Mr. Dove in his Ringers' Guide, I include Monmouth with Wales for peal ringing purposes especially as, by doing so, the number of towers to talk about altogether is that of an average English county-about 170, of which just about half are in the two counties of Monmouth and Glamorgan. I am informed by Mr. Dove that there are several mistakes in his list of towers in this area, so that if I inadvertently perpetuate any such. I trust I may be forgiven beforehand.
Actually, there is not a large number of peals to talk about-I suppose that, to some extent, we are already getting away from the chief peal ringing centres of England, for it is quite remarkable how change ringing is an English art rather than a British one. However, there are two centenarian towers-St. John the Baptist, Cardiff (10), and Bridgend (8). At the former 136 peals have been rung (in the Clerical Ringing Week in 1954 I was pleased to be able to compare my figures with the peal books there and found complete agreement). Thirty-ninc were rung from 1889 to 1914 and the main bulk (82) from 1917 to 1938. There have been 15 since 1946. Bridgend has very similar figures except for the first period. With a later start (1898), only 15 had been rung before the first war, but its total between the wars just beats that of Cardiff-84. There have been similarly, a few more since the last war-19. Even though the post-war figures show a drop compared with the pre-war ones, they still mean that they are the most popular towers in the area on the higher numbers of bells (two 6-bell towers can equal their performances, however).

A FAKED PEAL

The third tower comes a long way behind. It is Pentre Rhondda (8) with 68 peals. Again it is between the wars that we find the greatest activity, for 40 of the peals came then. There had been 23 from 1901 to 1916, but only five since 1945 , so the yearly average is lowest of late. Bangor (8) had its best period before 1914. It was the most popular tower in Wales at that time and 52 of the 64 peals came in 20 years from 1895. Nine were rung between the wars and the remaining three since, so again we find reduced activity of late. The only 12 -bell tower. Newport Cathedral, comes a close fifth. Sixty-three peals have been rung here, .11 from 1895 to 1911 and 41 from 1919 to 1939. It was a 10 -bell tower at this time and only became one with 12 bells about ten years ago. There have been 11 peals since then (again a lower average). It was from this tower that there appeared in 'The Ringing World, details of a peal in 1945 which was later shown to be a 'fake.' As far as I know, the mystery was never solved as to who sent in the false report. Two towers have 55 peals-an 8 - and a 6 -bell tower. Gresford (8) had 38 of the peals between the wars. There had been four before then, in 1883 , 1905 and 1912 (two). There have been 13 since 1945 (none last year). Llanelly (6) shows a similar distribution through the years-seven before 1914, 37 from 1918 to 1940 and 11 since 1946 (likewise none last year). The only other tower which has reached the half century is Aberavon with 53. The three pre-first war ones were in 1904 and 1914 (two), and since there have been ten since 1947 (none last year again). 40 came from 1919 to 1938 (the best period)

Wrexham's (10) next peal will be the 50th in the tower during the years under review. The tower is not heard much about nowadays for only two peals have been rung since the warboth in 1946. The average per year was a little better between the wars ( 22 peals) than before 1914 (25 peals from 1883). Cadoxton (Neath) (6) also has 49 peals. The first peal only came in 1914, so it has done well since the first war ended. Twenty-seven peals were rung from 1921 to 1938 and the 21 peals in the last ten years make it the most popular 6 -bell tower in the Principality. Before proceeding with towers in order of numbers of peals, it is convenient to mention here the two remaining 10 -bell towers. They are Abergavenny and Llandaff Cathedral. Both had eight bells 50 years ago, but the latter were augmented just after the first war and the former just after the second war. Only eight peals have been rung at Abergavenny-two in 1901 and one each in 1927, 1929 and 1932. There have been three on the 10 from 1950 to 1952. Llandaff had six from 1891 to 1899 and three from 1908 to 1911. On the 10 , nine peals were rung from 1922 to 1934 and only one has come since then-last year. Total 19

MOST POPULAR TOWER SINCE THE WAR

And now for the remaining towers which have reached 25 peals. They are Newport, All Saints' (8), with 46 ( 23 from 1902 to 1913, 13 from 1917 to 1938 and ten since 1946); Buckley (8) with 41 ( 11 from 1902 to 1911, 15 from 1921 to 1938 and 15 since 1946); Caerphilly (8) and Llanfrechfa (8) have both 34. The latter was a 6 -bell tower until 1937 and had had six peals from 1922 to 1936. There was time to ring six peals before 'the balloon went up.' The 22 rung since 1946 make it the most popular tower since the war in the Principality, even though none were rung in 1955. At Caerphilly, four peals came from 1911 to 1913, 20 from 1919 to 1935 and ten since 1945. Neath (6) has 33 ( 16 from 1921 to 1938 and 17 from 1945). Talgarth (6) has 30 ( 20 from 1907 to 1912, seven from 1919 to 1938 and three in 1948 and 1949). Glasbury-on-Wye (8) has 28 ( 13 from 1907 to 1914 and 15 from 1919 to 1939 -none since then). Lastly Caldicot has 26 (in 1889, 1907 and 1914 (2); 14 from 1922 to 1937 and eight since 1950).
Two 8 -bell rings still remain to be conquered.' They are Denbigh and Pembroke Dock. Nearly half of the 80 -odd rings of 6 have not had a peal rung on them whilst only nine of the 20 approximately 5 -bell towers are similarly virgin territory. Of these latter towers, Clyro has most peals-four, whilst Burry Port, Llanover and Tregaer have two each. Six-bell towers with ten or more are Rumney (16), Newton Nottage (14). Bonvilston (13), Baglan (13), St. Mellons and Whitchurch (11); Hope and Llan-fihangel-Rhydeithon (10). At the latter place, five peals were rung in one day on April 15th. 1952, which is a record which is likely to remain such for a very long time! Of 8 -bell towers which have had peals, Radyr has the longest silence-its three peals were rung in 1911 and 1912. For 6-bell towers, Forden hasn't been heard this century-1897 being the year of its only peal (Peterston-super-Ely has also a 50years' silence). Peals at the 5-bell towers have been more recent-St. Nicholas's only one was, however, in 1922.

So much for Wales and Monmouth. Peal totals include all published up to January 27th. 1956.

REDEDICATION

HONILEY, WARWICKSHIRE

There is no village of Honiley, the parish being a sparsely populated rural area between Kenilworth and Knowle. Lying well in the wooded Warwickshire countryside, its peace is often disturbed nowadays by the noise of jet planes. In the parish is the R.A.F. station (Headquarters of No. 605 County of Warwick Squadron) recently visited by H.R.H. Princess Margaret.

Another, sweeter sound was heard on Sunday, February Sth. when the five 18 th century bells rang at their rededication by the Rt. Rev. Newnham Davis, acting Bishop of Coventry. They have been repaired and put in a new frame by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

Bequeathed by John Sanders, an 18th century squire, the bells form a light ring of five in the key of A natural, the tenor weighing an estimated 7 cwt . Inscriptions are identical on all five bells, viz.: 'Iohannes Sanders arm: Hujus Eccl: Fundat me pie vovit Anno Dom: qui obit 1727,' and underneath: 'Fudit T. Eayre Kettering 1731.'

Of tiny dimensions, the church is a classical gem, treated with much architectural circumstance. It has a short spire surmounting a large tower, the lower portion of which serves as the porch. Above this is the ringing chamber, which is lit by a circular (bull's-eye) window. Inside, the church has Corinthian pillars supporting the west end gallery and Corinthian pilasters in the apse. Each of the pews has its own door.

Local folk believe the church to have been designed by Sir Christopher Wren himself, who lived at Wroxall Abbey, a few fields away. He was not resident there very long, but certain walls there are attributed to him. There is a very lovely story concerning the way in which Sir Christopher was invited to design the church whilst at a dinner party in Honiley. Immediately, he used a tablecloth and drew sketches approved, doubtless, by John Sanders who financed its building.
The Rev. A. W. Dodds, Rector of Honiley, has been instrumental in raising funds for the restoration. In his address, the Bishop praised the zeal with which parishioners also tackled the job of raising so much, which they did in a remarkably short period. He warned the Rector that bellringers are never quite satisfied, and soon he would be requested, no doubt, to have a sixth bell added. Rumour has it that a little bird overheard a belfry conversation prior to the service and related it to the Bishop!
Representing the bellfounders was Mr. Paul Taylor, who presented the ropes to the Bishop for dedication. The first touch on the repaired bells was accomplished by friends from the towers of Knowle, Harbury and Southam. Pitman's 240 Grandsire Doubles was called, appropriately, by Mr. A. Charles Morris, the local captain, the ringers being $A$. Charles Morris (conductor) 1, Thomas Gwilt (Knowle) 2. Anthony A. Úpton (Knowle) 3, George Aldhouse (Harbury) 4, Harry Windsor (Southam)

Mr. Morris is now faced with the task of building up a completely new team of ringers. Before the war, Honiley boasted a good average village band, and our good wishes go out to Mr. Morris in his undertaking. A. A. U.

WOKINGHAM, RERKS.-On Feb, 8th, at the Church of All Saints, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Mio G. Pigeot 1, Miss M. Cole 2, W. Pearce 3, F. Mitchel 4. W. Brooks (cond.) 5, H. Dyer 6, T. Langley 7 . E. Pearce 8. Rung to honour the birth of a son (Christopher) to Mr. and Mrs. Newton, both ringers at All Saints.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE

A meeting of the Eastern District was held at Sunderland Parish Church on February 11th. The weather was most inclement and this had something to do with the poor attendance. A very tasty tea was disposed of.
At the business meeting, the vice-president, Mr. K. Lawson, stressed the lack of attendance at meetings and hoped that it would improve in future. Mr. Sheraton, the secretary, announced that his tower (St. Michael, Houghton-le-Spring) had started a ' lost property dept.' Some articles of clothing and personal effects had been left after the Ladies' Guild meeting, and he was still looking for the owner of a Napier tartan scarf (blue, black and white).
The Rector, the Rev. R. S. Troop, conducted a short service, and ringing was resumed until about 8.45 p.m.

Northern District

In spite of the cold weather, the meeting of the Northern District on February 4th at the Church of SS. James and Basil, Fenham, New-castle-upon-Tyne, was well attended. Ringing gave plenty of scope for the learner to gain experience.
An enjoyable tea was served by local ringers and their friends. Mr. Kenneth Arthur opened the business meeting with remarks about striking the bells. He emphasised the need for careful and thoughtful striking and particularly when in the lead.

William Hedley was elected as a new member.
After attending Evensong, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Prophet, ringing continued until 8 o'clock.

MID-DEVON RINGERS' WEDDING

A wedding, which was of interest to MidDevon ringers, took place at Plymstock Parish Church on February 18th, when Mr. Wm. James Harvey, of 29, Smithfields, Plymouth Road, Totnes, was married to Miss Valerie Kathlecn Faull, of Plymstock. The officiating clergymen were Revs. Gordon H. Samuel (Vicar of Tolnes) and N. Round (Vicar of Plymstock), the service being choral.

The reception was later held in Plymouth, after which the bride and bridegroom left for Bournemouth for their honeymoon. As the happy couple left the church, six members of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers rang on the bells a six-score each of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. The bridegroom was for a number of years a chorister and ringer at Totnes. He is also a member of the County Guild.

WEDDING AT STURRY

The wedding took place at the Parish Church, Sturry, Kent, on Feb. 18th, between Mr. Harry Rogers and Miss Margaret Brockman, both of whom are very popular ringers at this tower.
Immediately following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom went up into the belfry and took part in a touch of Bob Minor, the remaining ringers in the touch being the bride's two sisters, her brother-in-law and his father. A press photographer also climbed into the belfry and took photos of this rather unusual event.

A reception was held at the home of the bride. They were the recipients of a large number of presents, useful for their new home in Canterbury.

OBITUARY

MR. C. ARTHUR MANNING

 AN APPRECIATIONAs one who both knew and rang quite a few peals years ago with the late Mr. C. Arthur Manning, when he lived at Market Harborough. I would not only like to endorse all that has been stated of him by G. J. H. in your issue of February 17th, but add my own tribute to the one who got me through my first peal on a working bell, at Brampton Ash, near Market Harborough.
Having previously rung plenty of peals on the treble, Arthur got to hear of this, and when meeting one day he commented ' If I can't make an "inside" ringer of you I'll eat my hat!" A fortnight later the peal was fixed, and what others had sighed upon, Arthur succeeded in achieving.
The question is asked on the front page of the same issue, 'Where are the instructors?' Arthur certainly was one of them, and because (like myself) he often spoke his mind, he was sometimes misunderstood. But behind all this was a deep friendliness. I enjoyed many peal ringing occasions with him, and often recall one, at Monks Kirby in 1930, in which the late James George took part, rung in what I believe is still the record time for those bells, 2 hours 58 minutes, with tenor of $24 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.; Arthur conducted it. Oakham was another of his favourite rings: as has already been stated by G. J. H., he had a keen musical ear. P.A. -

Mr. Danicl Richards, writing from Wellington, New Zealand, informs us that since arriving in New Zealand at the beginning of December he had rung at both Christchurch and Hamilton Cathedrals, the only places in the Dominion with their own bands. His ringing at Hamilton was for the wedding of Miss Jean McAdam, a local ringer.

From the congregation of Christ Church, Wanstead, there are 20 honorary members of the Essex Association.

Four local ladics rang together for the first time at Walsall in the peal of Stedman Caters on February 3rd.

The Bedfordshire Association have accepted the invitation of the Hertford County Association to hold a joint summer festival at St. Albans on June 16 th. Coach transport is being arranged.

Three interesting points concerning the peal of Double Norwich C.B. Major at Frodsham on February 11th: It was the 40th peal on Frodsham tenor by C. Raddon; H. Raddon 'circled the tower,' and W. Allman completed ' the circle' for a second time.

Mr. Anthony A. Upton, of Knowle, is anxious to know if Knowle, Warks, is unique in having a complete set of rules and a Ringing Society for a three-bell tower. This was in the last century and during Queen Victoria's reign. The rules prohibit, inter alia, the keeping of a ringers' score at a public house.
Mr. Bernard Bown, former ringer and chorister at St. Michael and All Angels', MarkGield, will be sorry to learn that a peal attempt for his 21st birthday on Markfield bells failed after two hours' ringing. The peal, if accomplished, would have been the first in five methods for four Markfield ringers.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The 60th anniversary of the Maghull, Liverpool, was commemorated by his ringing the treble to a peal of Grandsire Triples at Sefton on February 11th. Mr. Flint was 17 when he rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) at Ormskirk on January 11th, 1896. He is the only survivor of the band. The peal, composed by J. Sholicar, was called by W. Bentham, and the footnote reads: 'And was my throat dry calling dodge at every plain lead.' Mr. Flint has rung 125 peals

We regret to learn that Mr. John A. Freeman, Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, is confined to his house with a slight heart attack.

An attack of sciatica prevented Mr. A. A. Hughes from attending the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner last Saturday.

Ringing at St. Martin's, Birmingham, was suspended recently on account of vibration of the cross at the top of the tower. The Rector (the Rev. Bryan S. Green), however, permitted ringing to take place on Sunday last, when there were many visitors to the tower in connection with the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner. Three excellent touches of Stedman Cinques were rung.

Although nearly 300 peals have been rung at Ashtead, Surrey, it was not until St. Giles' Society of Change Ringers was formed some four years ago that the bells were rung regularly for all choral services. Quinquagesima Sunday will long be remembered as the local Society brought round a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, the first quarter of Triples by a resident Sunday service band. It is due to the enthusiasm of a former tower captain, Mr. G. A. Cook, who unfortunately is not able to take part in ringing, that the present enthusiastic band was created.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S LUNCH AND RINGING DAY

THE annual lunch and ringing day of the Oxford University Society was held in Oxford on Feb. 4th. Ringing started in the morning at St. Mary Magdalen, followed by St. Ebbe's and St. Mary-the-Virgin. Here the service was held, the address being given by the Rev. F. A. Sanders. He took as his text the words, 'Ye are a peculiar people,' and drew a comparison between the early Christians and the ringers of today. Ringers were looked upon as unusual by the outside world in just the same way as the carly Christian Church. There was the same close fellowship, the same use of a strange language, while even persecution of ringers, at least in a mild form, was not unknown these days. This ringing fellowship was a very fine thing, but ringers must not forget that they are working for Christ's Church and allow pride in their own achievements in the belfry to blind their eyes to the real reason for ringing.
The lunch was held at the Forum Restaurant, with the president, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg, in the chair. Guests included Mr. A. P. Cannon (guest of honour), Mr. W. T. Cook (Master of the Cambridge University Guild), Mr. G. F.

Bryant (Master of the University of London Society), the Rev. T. Grimwade (assistant pricst at St. Mary-the-Virgin), the Rev. J. C. Stephenson (Vicar of St. Mary Magdalen), and the Rev. F. A. Sanders.

In proposing the toast to the clergy, Mr. P. R. Sanders referred to the co-operation and help received by the university ringers from the incumbents of the city and neighbouring churches where they rang, and expressed the hope that this would long continue.
The Rev. J. Grimwade, in reply, said that while he was not himself a ringer, he appreciated the work that ringers were doing, and considered that in Oxford they constituted a valuable link between the different churches.
Mr. D. H. Niblett, in proposing a toast to the guests, welcomed Mr. A. P. Cannon, and referred to some of his ringing achicvements. He also greeted the visitors from Cambridge and London Universities, and welcomed Mr W. F. Judge and the other city ringers present

Acknowledging the toast, Mr. A. P. Cannon mentioned some of the well-known ringers of the past who had come from Oxford University, notably the Rev. F. E. Robinson. From this great ringer he had learnt the value of calling the same composition continually in peals. This was often held against him, but he made no apology for it. He considered that university societies could make a great contribution to the Exercise as a whole. Not only had their members time and opportunity to improve their own ringing and to teach others, but they could also act as a valuable liaison between ringers and clergy.

Mr. W. T. Cook submitted the toast of "The Society.' He too stressed that it was an important duty of a university society to teach new members to ring, and suggested means by which they might be retained.

In reply, the Master, Mr. W. H. Jackson extended a warm welcome to all visitors. The aim of a ringing society, he pointed out, was Sunday ringing, and with this aim in view he had arranged a number of quarter peals on Sundays during the year. This policy had been criticised, but he considered it justifiable. He also gave some account of the Society's peals and outings during the previous year, and mentioned the annual tour held last Easter.

After the lunch, ringing continued at New College, Merton College and St. Cross. Dr. L. E. Sutton, of Magdalen, had very kindly arranged for tea at this college, and ringing was enjoyed here after tea, continuing afterwards at Christ Church and All Saints'.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY'S ANNUAL DINNER

School of Ringing Suggested

THE annual dinner of the University of London Society was held on February 11 th at the 'Old Bell Restaurant,' Holborn. During the afternoon there was ringing at St. James', Clerkenwell, and St. Dunstan's, Stepney, and at the latter church members attended Evensong. If the wintry weather had affected the ringing in the afternoon, at least it was soon forgotten in the evening, when nearly 50 members and guests sat down to dinner, with the president, Dr. D. N. Layton, in the chair.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, the vice-president, Mr. P. M. J. Gray, proposed the toast of 'The Church.' He spoke about the basic unit of bellringing, namely, the Sunday service band. Just as the Royal School of Church Music was trying to improve the standard of church choirs by holding summer schools, etc., so he contended a similar 'school of church bellringing' could help to foster a greater interest in Sunday service ringing. However, Mr. Gray added that during the past few years there seemed to have been an improvement generally in ringing and in the connections of ringers with the Church. and he hoped that this improvement would continue.

In reply, the Rev. A: Powell Miller, Rector of St. Olave's. Hart Street, said he had been readIng the last few issues of "The Ringing World.' and the caused considerable amusement to the gathering by giving a layman's interpretation of various bellringing terms. Why, he asked, should a bellringer want to "circle a tower' when church towers were almost invariably square, and why does a ringer "hunt ' when he has no idea of ever catching anything? It was obvious that Maximus was better than Minor, but the Rector had no idea why some methods should be 'Surprise' but others only 'Plain.' In conclusion, he thanked the Society for ringing at St. Olave's on Sundays, and said that as the church had not got its own Sunday service band, having University ringers was next best. The health of the Socicty was proposed by Miss P. Bourn, Master of the University of Bristol Society. She spoke of how ringers at provincial universities were envious of their

London counterparts, who had so many fine rings of bells close at hand. A University Society should provide a training ground for ringers who, on going down, would be able to help to improve the ringing all over the country.

QUARTER PEAL PROGRAMME

The Master, Mr. G. F. Bryant, replied, and outlined the Society's activities during the past year, mentioning the large attendances at the Monday evening practices. This term he was arranging a quarter peal every other Sunday evening, to try and improve the Sunday service ringing, but so far none of these had been successful. The Society had started the year off well with a peal on the first Saturday of term. and the Master hoped that this year would mark the beginning of a new era of peal ringing for the Society.
The toast of 'The Visitors' was proposed by that stalwart of the Society, Mr. G. F. Carter, who although appearing to be suffering from a 'frog in his throat,' went on to welcome the Masters of the Oxford, Cambridge and Bristol Societies, together with the Rector of St. Olave's. Hart Street. In between numerous little tales, Mr. Carter also welcomed a number of old friends of the Society, including Mr. Tom Bevan, of Hampstead, who it seems is reputed to have a very large collection of college scarves. and was recently seen wearing two different ones at the same time. Finally, Mr. Carter welcomed the vice-president. Mr. Philip Gray, and his wife, back to this country after their stay in Australia, during which time they had done much good work for ringing in that country.

The Master of the Cambridge University Guild. Mr. W. T. Cook, replicd. He thanked the Society for their hospitality, and spoke briefly about the possible improvements which might be made in the connections between ringers and the Church.

At the end of the proceedings a chauffeur's cap, embroidered with the initials of the Society, was presented to Mr. Alan Thirst in recognition of his services to the Society in providing transport for members on numerous occasions in the past. The remainder of the evening was then spent in handbell ringing and general reminiscing.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Fourth Annual Dinner

THE fourth annual dinner of the Derbyshire Association was held on February 11 th at the Corporation Hotel, Derby, when 80 members, friends and guests attended. Following an excellent repast, the vice-president made a short address apologising for the absence of the president, the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes (Provost of Derby Cathedral), and welcoming visitors from neighbouring Associations, making particular mention of representatives from Nottingham, Lichfield, Shefficld and Burton.
The programme of entertainment which followed was in the capable hands of Mr. A. B. Cooper, and lasted from 7.30 to 11 p.m. Highlights of the entertainment were handbell ringing on the recently overhauled and greatly improved Association handbells (which were bequeathed to the Association by the late Sir A P. Heywood), by Mr. A. Mould (Derby), Mr. George Oliver and Joan Beresford (Lichfield), Mr. W. Robinson (Chesterficld) and Mr. Robin Turner (no fixed abode). There was also a first-class presentation of a three part play by Mr. Derek Jones, who played all the parts and finished quite breathless.

Mr. F. Wiles, the well-known Derby disillusionist, entertained with some very amusing and original magical tricks.

Singing, by the Old Basford. Notts, ringers, of the 'Ringers Song," which was composed specially for the occasion by G. A. Halls and D. R. Carlisle, was received favourably, in spite of the many rather dubious references to ringers present.
It is the custom at the annual dinner to award the medallion of the order of 'Capita Magnissimus, to the most worthy 'Belfryman of the Year.' This year the honour went to Mr. David Walklate. Mr. G. A. Halls stressed the difficulties besetting the awarding committee before calling upon Mr. A. B. Cooper to read the citation

Mr. W. T. Holmes, of Hatfield, has been nominated for president of the Hertford County Association. The annual general meeting is being held this year at Bishop's Stortford-a new departure.

Rededication Of Bells Of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Dallington

By ERIC NOBLES

DALLINGTON, although within the borough boundary of Northampton, remains essentially a village and has retained its rural charm. The Corporation bus will take one into the town centre within a few minutes. The church and manor, now St. Margaret Spencer Hospital; the Wheatsheaf Inn over the road and, adjoining, the vicarage in its own grounds; the old school, now used as a church hall, and the four 17 th century almshouses are all clustered around the village green, through the centre of which runs a rippling brook.

The present church, dedicated to St. Mary-the-Virgin, was probably built by Geoffrey de Lucy between the years 1207-1252. The building is of Early English and Decorated style of architecture. It consists of a chancel with northern chapel, nave, aisles, south porch, and low embattled tower at the western end.

In 1880 there were four bells in the tower. The first bell, the present 4th. was cast by Francis Watts, of Leicester, in 1598 , and is inscribed 'Obe the Queen 1598.' It was recast by John Taylor, of Loughborough, in 1880 . The weight is 5 cwt. 2 lb ., key C sharp.

The second bell, the present tenor, was cast by James Keene, of Woodstock, in 1625 . It is original, apart from the loss of the cannons, and now weighs 7 cwt. 2 gr. 2 lb . and is in key $A$. The inscription is 'God Save Our King 1625.' The figure 6 is backwards owing to an error in the casting.

The third bell, the present third, was cast by Alexander Rigby, of Stamford, in 1688, and is suitably inscribed "Alexander Rigbe made me 1688.' This bell still retains its cannons, and a special cannon retaining headstock has been fitted. The weight is 4 cwt. $3 \mathrm{lb} .$, key D.

The fourth bell, the present fifth, was cast in 1713 by Henry Bagley, of Chacombe, Northamptonshire. It was recast by John Taylor, of Loughborough, in 1880 . The inscription is God Save Our Queen 1713.' The weight is 6 cwt. 1 gr. 24 lb. , key B.

The fifth was added in 1880 and cast by John Taylor and Co., and inscribed "Ultimus et Minimus et Primus 1880.' The weight is 3 cwt. 3 qr. $2 \mathrm{lb} .$, key E.

The sixth bell, the present treble, was added in 1902, and was cast by John Taylor and Co. It was to mark the Coronation of King Edward VII., and is inscribed 'The gift of Joseph Shuttleworth on the coronation of King Edward VII. 1902.' The weight is $3 \mathrm{cwt} .1 \mathrm{qr} .6 \mathrm{lb} .$, key $F$ sharp.

From that time to this, no major operations were carried out, and the bells gradually deteriorated, and in 1955 it was decided to have a complete restoration, and Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were given the work. The bells were removed and returned to the foundry for retuning, the old oak frame removed and the tower strengthened. The bells were rehung on ball bearings with new fittings in a new steel frame.

The rededication service was on February 4th conducted by the Archdeacon of Northampton, assisted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Morgan) and the curate (the Rev. F. J. Twycross-Raines). The service started with the hymn in procession, 'The sacred bells of England,' and followed a form of evensong.

OLDEST 'MAIDEN BELL' IN COUNTRY?

At Broadwindsor, Dorset

ST. MARY-THE-VIRGIN, DALLINGTON

worship Thy holy Name; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Whilst the churchwardens and the clergy returned to the chancel, the following members of the local band-Messrs. Eric Nobles 1, Keith Alton 2, Jack Hadley 3, Roger E. Old 4, John G. Chapman 5 and John M. Nash 6-rang three bob leads of Plain Bob Minor. Prayers followed and the hymn, "Lifted gently to the steeple.'

The address was given by Archdeacon Grimes. After the Blessing the local band rang rounds, 200 of Plain Bob Doubles, and a course of Kent Treble Bob, and Messrs. C. H. Bushell, N. Morton, C. T. Windram and Miss Hicks were included.

The first recorded peal at Dallington was on January 18 th, 1902 , a peal of Doubles, on the then five bells. The conductor, Mr. F. Hopper, is the only member of the band now alive.

During the second hymn, "Unchanging God who livest,' the churchwardens, chorister ringers, ringers and clergy moved in procession to the tower.

The Vicar presented the ropes of the bells to the Archdeacon and said, "Venerable sir, we request you to dedicate these bells, this offering in memory of Christopher Croft, to the glory and praise of God.'

The Archdeacon, receiving the ropes of the bells, said, 'Almighty God, we beseech Thee to accept this offering at our hands; bless, sanctify and hallow these bells, and grant that they may call together Thy faithful people to praise and ABELL, believed to be the oldest " maiden bell' 'in the country, one of a ring of six from the tower of the Parish Church of the Dorset village of Broadwindsor, is now at Messrs. Taylor's foundry for retuning.

It was known that three of the six bells were mediaval, but on removal of the last bell, number five, it was discovered that it bore the same markings as that on a bell which is a museum show-piece in Tenby, South Wales. The date of this bell, which has been retuned and is cracked, is believed to be 1260 . The Broadwindsor bell, however, has never been retuned, and it is still in perfect condition. It bears, in clear Lombardic lettering, a dedication to St . Gabriel and was cast in the village by Robert Norton, of Exeter.

When the bell was loaded on to a lorry for removal it was the first time it had ever left the village since it was cast and, when it was lowered to the ground the day before, it was probably the first time it had been at ground level for nearly 700 years.

In charge of the removal operations was Mr. J. Walker, who, with many years experience in this work, has never known the existence of such an old ' maiden bell.'

Two more bells in the ring are also medirval and were cast in the village when the church tower was built over 500 years ago - 100 years before the Reformation. This means that the village has not only the oldest collection of bells in Dorset but also, probably, in the whole of the country.
Of the three bells, Mr. Walker told 'The Western Gazette ': 'It is very unusual and I have never seen three pre-Reformation bells before -you get the odd one here and there, but not very often.'
The first and second bells, dated 1806 and 1790 , came from the Bilbie foundry at Cullompton. The tenor bell is the youngest of the ring, having been recast in 1897.

All the fittings and bearings of the bells were badly worn. The Church Council decided that the existing timber headstocks should be replaced by cast-iron ones and that other new parts should also be installed.

The work on the bells will take over four months and will cost in the region of $\mathbf{5 6 0 0}$. In order to raise this money an appeal has been launched, not only to all those who have been connected with the parish, but also to the many people in the West Country and elsewhere who take a pride and interest in the bells of England. Reference to this appeal has already appeared in 'The Ringing World.
The first peal on the six bells was on January 13th, 1912, a peal of Minor. The present Sunday service band was the first local band to ring a peal. This, a peal of Doubles, was rung on March 10th, 1951, and it is commemorated by a peal board. On April 11th, 1953, a local church officers peal of Doubles was rung, and on Coronation Day nine members were included in a quarter peal and a peal of Doubles. A peal board, the second, commemorates this. A peal of Minor has been attempted, but failed. and it is now hoped for success and advancement in this field of ringing in the near future.

LETTERS TO  THE EDITOR

PROPOSED RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD
Dear Sir,-I have received to date 26 replies to the question, 'Who's for a Railwaymen's peal?' "What about a Railwaymen's Guild?, 'Why not?,' has also received a lot of support

However, the most reasoned letter in reply to the latter question comes from my friend Rodney Meadows, in which he says: "The idea of railwaymen having meetings and ringing peals now and then is excellent, and I am always delighted to meet a fellow ringer on the line, or fellow railwaymen in the tower. It happens that I keep in my mind a list and could probably add to your railwaymen ringers already mentioned, (then he gives a dozen more railwaymen ringers) and continues: "but all this brings me round to saying that I do not favour a Guild for Railwaymen. My personal feeling is that these "craft" Guilds cut across the established Diocesan and County Guilds which need all the support they can get from us as members; the Police Guild is for that reason not well liked. I think we too should be courting unpopularity by forming a Guild of our own : no doubt we shall have other views."

This side can, and will be, thoroughly discussed before any decision is taken, if we arrange a mecting at Crewe on June 23rd.

To absorb as many ringers as possible who attend, arrangements are under consideration for the bells of Nantwich, a lovely eight, and Acton, not at all a bad six, both of easy access. The names received to date are Messrs. Chas. A. Bassett and L. W. Giles, Wadhurst, Sussex ; F. Seager, Leeds, Yorks; W. R. Rich, Ditton, Kent: J. Arthur Hoare, A. J. Pitman and E. Morris. Swansea; Rodney Meadows, Bath: John W. Griffiths, Chester; Brian D. Threlfall, Liverpooi; Robert E. Dannett, Chelmsford: J. L. Day, Melton Mowbray; W. O. Farrimond, Chorley; Henry Douglas, Dawley, Wellington. Salop: Donald G. Clarke, Newport, Mons; Sydney Foskett, Bedford; Richard D. Langford and George A. Packer. Crewe; W. J. Carter, Fenton, S.O.T., Staffs; John R. Cooper, Ashford, Kent ; Peter G. W. Newstead, Great Yarmouth: Jack N. Brown, Ormskirk; Cyril C. Deem, Littleham, Exmouth; Bert Sutton, Scarborough; Fred Sutton, Acton, Crewe; Jack Brough. Nantwich; and W. Frank Stenson, Crewe.-Yours sincerely,

Crewe. W. FRANK STENSON.

Dear Sir,-Typical of a railway manager's letter is that from Harold Walker: 'With the view if you cannot do harm, don't do any good.

Fortunately, the Midland Region general manager did not take that view. He also said the scheme would have to be inter-regional.

Seeing that Mr. Stenson has received replies from five of the six regions to stand in a peal at Crewe on June 23rd, it does seem that others think a Guild would serve a useful purpose

Only a railwayman would understand Harold Walker's letter.-Thirty-nine years a railwayman, Bedford.

ORIGINALITY OF SURPRISE MAJOR COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,-The letter in the 'R.W.' on p. 107 from Messrs. Carlisle and Halls raises some interesting points: admittedly they are not new and have not been settled (nor are ever likely to be), but they are surely worth discussion in the light of changing ideas.

After Mr. C. K. Lewis's letter of January 27th, doubtless many people will comment that the peal of Wye Surprise Major on p. 108 is merely a reduction of 'the 29 courses'; so, at first sight. it is. However, on closer examination it is found to be true for the f.c.e. 25634 as well as the 'London' group of five f.c.e.'s; and, as it happens, it was produced with this end in view, even though, in this case, the method rung to it does not have this falseness. Mr. Burton has therefore achieved something and surely has a claim to the composition.

It may well be that the 5,120 of Wembley has useful properties for some methods because of the large number of 'before' leads omitted.

It is worth noticing in passing that if the courses are to be selected for a composition on a five-part plan, such as the ' 29 courses' uses, there are only two possible ways of doing this -the set used and another which is not much use for Wembley but which enables a 6,720 of London to be put together:-

| 23456 | M | W | $H$ |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 65432 | - | - | - |
| 43652 |  | - | - |

four times repeated

I believe this should be attributed to T. B. Worsley. If, however, a three- or one-part plan is chosen and less than 30 courses are required, the possible range of courses goes up very rapidly, as can be seen by examining compositions by Messrs. Lindoff, Worsley, Bennett. Roberts, etc. (an exercise I recommend to Messrs. Carlisle and Hall).

An interesting example of two peals on an identical plan which both contain the same changes but which look very different is provided by these two peals of Spliced Surprise:-

| by |  |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Rev. H. | Law | James |
| 23456 | M | W H |
| 63542 | - | 2 - |

| 26435 | 2 |  |

| 53624 | - | - |  |  |
| 34562 |  | - |  |  |

Each is in ten parts, five starting from 23456 and the other five from 54326 -connecting the two halves can be achieved in a variety of ways. There is no doubt they are both original compositions and yet one can easily be transformed into the other by bobbing and plaining a few Q-sets.

Has anyone any views?-Yours sincerely, RICHARD F. B. SPEED.
Hampton Wick.
Dear Sir,-After reading "The Ringing World ' of February 17th. p. 108, we are now prepared to agree with $\mathbf{M r}$. C. K. Lewis that our composition of Wembley has 'Shirley gone for a "Burton' but we still don't understand 'Wye.' (See pp. 16, 59, 107 and 108.)Yours sincerely,

D. R. CARLISLE and G. A. HALLS.

Risley, Derby.
A correspondent writes: "It is a pity that so many people indulge in wishful thinking when adding footnotes to their peals. Canon Papillon who was Vicar of Writtle from 1894 to 1909 rang and conducted dozens of peals on his own bells.

Dear Sir,-Why do our leading composers never breathe a word to the Excrcise explaining their clever systems of composition, whereby they produce true and original peals with such profusion and apparent ease? Everybody would be most interested to see how it is done, yet the lack of response to the earlier request mentioned by Messrs. Carlisle and Halls would seem to indicate that they have no intention of divulging the secret. Is this in the best interest of the Exercise?
Some while ago I tried to produce a peal of Wembley. Surprise in response to a request, and after hours of the most laborious effort, produced a peal that was obviously a variation of Law James' 5,024 . After further effort, by hit and miss methods, I produced the following, which, as far as I can see, does not resemble anything else in the Collection. Nevertheless, I have no confidence that it will be allowed to pass as original.

Had I the cunning mentioned above, I could have produced this in a few minutes, and discarded it as being no good.
Composers, how is it done? We are not picking your brains. We are students of our art, wanting to learn more about it.-Yours, etc.,

FIRST ON 12 BELLS

Dear Sir,-I am grateful to Messrs. Mills and J. A. Hales for their letters, and apologise to the latter for confusing him with his son. There was also a second error in the reference in my previous letter to ringers whose first peals were on 12 bells, which shows the danger of writing from memory, and for which I am sorry. Wilfred Taffender's first peal was one of London; his second, a fortnight later, was Stedman Cinques. Perhaps I was confusing him in my mind with Robert A. Fardon, whose father was also a well-known London rirger, and who did ring Stedman Cinques for his first; however, I would like to thank Messrs. Audsley and Blewer for drawing my attention to this.

Mr. T. R. Butler tells me that he believes the late Mr. Robert Sperring, of Chester, for his first touch on 12, called a peal of Kent Maximus, and that like Mr. Nash he had never previously seen 12 ropes in a tower. Mr. Butler mentions that his own first peal was one of Stedman Caters on handbells to which he rang 1-2. This was indeed, to guote " The Ringing World.' 'an unusual start in peal ringing.' But the most remarkable of all, surely, was by Mr. R. W. R. Picton, then of Watford, who for his first peal rang $1-2$ to Superlative on handbells in 1927. I doubt if this achievement will ever be equalled.-Yours faithfully,

> E. A. BARNETT.

RINGERS HELP SINGERS AT WANSTEAD

The need of new service books for the choir of Christ Church, Wanstead, gave the ringers an opportunity to stage a talk on Church Bells' in the local C. of E. School. Mr. L. E. Last was invited to give the talk, using the school's apparatus and his own very interesting strip filnı.
In spite of snow showers, about 70 turned up, including Mr. F. V. Gant (Hornchurch), the enthusiastic secretary of the Essex Association, local clergy, churchwardens, choristers and ringers. Those present greatly enjoyed Mr. Last's fascinating 'survey' of bells through the ages. followed by a demonstration of change-ringing on handbells, in which Messrs. L. E. Last, F. V. Gant, P. A. F. Chalk and J. Chalk took part.
The retiring collection was a worthy contribution towards the requirements of a large choir, of which some of the ringers are members.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

Some Problems Involved In Its Maintenance

W
HERE are the instructors? pleads a recent leading article. The author continues with a statement no church bell-ringer worthy of the name dares refute; that is, that 'the yardstick of a good ringer is his effectiveness in Sunday service ringing.' Yet we are all aware of towers, now silent, where since the war there has been a flourishing band. Another problem is the apathy of some bands. On a recent Sunday the writer was obliged to be in a village away from his own tower. No bells were rung for the morning service, and in the evening the band didn't muster till five minutes before the service was due to commence, when some well-struck changes were rung. A band of this ability should not allow itself, as it regularly is doing, I understand, to become so indifferent about its Sunday ringing. Who is to blame? Is it the fault of the captain? Should the band be criticised collecsively? Or is it the Vicar's lack of interest?. It certainly isn't the bells which are to blame-they run perfectly.

Some bells are occasionally found in an unringable state. More often than not, as the founders will acknowledge, regular ringing and proper care would have prevented their deterioration until a large sum of money would have to be raised before they could be restored to ringing order. Quite often an enthusiastic band with a will to succeed can themselves rectify any deficiencies in their bells without calling on their parish for help.

Before considering instructors we must turn our thoughts to the material upon which they will have to work. Recruitment of ringers is no easy task. One encounters various obstacles. One is a misinformed public. Recently the writer appealed to the headmaster of the local Boys' Grammar School. There was not a single volunteer. It transpired later that the head stressed that bell-ringing was very strenuous, and only boys of exceptional physique would be suitable candidates! Obviously a different approach will be made next time. A similar request to the Girls' High School resulted in so many volunteers that the headmistress had to whittle the number down to four by a process of elimination. One's own church can be an obstructionist. The writer regarded the choir as a natural recruiting ground, the choirboys already having a faithful attachment to their church, which they would probably like to continue after their voices broke. Two lads already plain hunting were discovered by the choirmaster to be ringers and singers, and plainly told that they could not be вотн and that they were sinters first! Fortunately this attitude is not universal. There is much to commend the recruitment of young people. Teaching elderly folk is a painstakingly slow, patient task and hours are wasted which could more profitably be spent on youngsters. Very few old pupils make first-class change ringers, and acquiring this art is a joint objective, with Sunday ringing, of all ringing associations.

It is unwise to have too many learners all at the same stage. Each has to be considered, with the result that he may get something for his benefit only once or twice throughout a whole practice. Sitting watching others ring is neither going to advance his progress nor satisfy his enthusiasm for his new pastime. An investigation of a potential recruit's outside interests should be made. If he has already several evenings committed to other organisations, he should be passed over. No one can do many jobs thoroughly. An encumbered ringer will either fail through a clash of loyalties, or make little headway because of insufficient time to study, or be one of those pcople 'who are constantly attempting something fresh and tiring of it as soon as the novelty has worn off. It takes a long time to make a proficient ringer, and one should not throw away hours of practice time on a beginner who is likely to become one of the drifters.

Potential ringers should be made to understand that ringing is not just a pleasurable hobby, but a duty to the Church, which demands their regular attendance twice on Sundays and on practice night. Sunday ringing should be held up as something very special, ringing which is not practice, but the performance of what one has already learned to do, and do with perfection, if possible. Learners should be encouraged to read AND STUDY ringing books. They should constantly be given 'homework,' but not forced to study matter beyond their grasp. Thus they will be always in a state of preparedness for their next advance.

The responsibility for this recruiting and teaching lies on the instructor. A good instructor needs many qualities.

First, he must be an enthusiast. If he is apathetic, or puts other activities before his belfry, he loses the respect of his ringers, and kills their ardour. If he is keen, his band will share his enthusiasm.

The second attribute is his own ability. An instructor can take his pupil no further than he has gone himself. He should therefore seek to keep himself a proficient ringer and conductor: he should encourage his pupils to conduct, so they can step into the breach in his absence, and be initiated into a branch of change ringing they can pursue at home by patient study, thus eventually outstripping their teacher through their own initiative.

An instructor must maintain discipline in the belfry and not allow interference in his teaching methods. He must always be prepared to learn some better method; but when he has decided on a teaching system he must keep to it, or his pupils will be confused. He must secure the co-operation of his band in ringing mainly humble methods when he has learners. They have opportunities for peals, and at Guild practices, which the beginners have not.

There are times when an instructor needs the courage of his convictions. He may be unwilling, for reasons of charity or numerical strength, to tell someone that he ought to give up ringing, as he will never make a good ringer. A choir or an orehestra would not keep a performer who is not up to standard; neither should a belfry retain a ringer who is a danger to himself and others with a bellrope in his hand, or who is such a bad striker that (after long perseverance) he will always ruin all the ringing in which he participates. After all, it is GOOD Sunday ringing we desire, and the outside listeners are only concerned with good striking.

A good instructor will urge his pupils to attend Guild practices and other local weekly practices-but not the latter before they can hunt, or they will hold up their neighbours' practices and be unwelcome. These visits will start young ringers "tower-snatching, a diversion which helps to keep them from giving up. Other diversions, such, as organised visits to other towers or handbell ringing (especially tune ringing), all help to maintain a band.

Yes, instructors are vital. A good band should be prepared to release any good ringer who will undertake the raising of a band in a neighbouring parish where the bells are silent. One of the ringers in the writer's tower left, to the regret of his colleagues, and soon had a flourishing band in a tower which had become silent. Could one really do other than commend his action, or be unwilling to lose a good and faithful member who is undertaking a difficult and honourable task?

Might we hope that others with nearby silent bells will follow his example if their towers can possibly spare them. Thus will the call for instructors be answered and silent bells be heard again. With the right instructors, and the right type of pupils properly taught, we shall have our bells rung on Sundays: but we also need the older hands who should be prepared to sacrifice their Sunday morning "lie-in ' and often their breakfast to their duty. Even the garden should wait.

When EVERY ringer views his Sunday ringing as a DUTY the problem will be solved.

THE SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS

Ninth Annual Reunion

Despite the weather and bad road conditions 41 members and friends attended the ninth re. union held at Nottingham on February 4th and 5th.

Most members reached Nottingham in time 10 visit the light eight at Daybrook, where we were given a very warm welcome by Mr. Ball. After some enjoyable ringing we all left by car for Nottingham. At St. Mary's we were met and welcomed by Mr. Nichols and everyone was soon eager to begin ringing on these fine bells. Unfortunately several touches came to an untimely end through the sixth rope slipping wheel but, with Mr. Nichols' able assistance, we soon rectified this and concluded by ringing a half course of Yorkshire Royal.

Whilst some people had tea the rest went on to St. Peter's, where we found a little difficulty with our striking but enjoyed a very pleasant hour's ringing before leaving for our hotelThe Flying Horse.

After an excellent dinner we adjourned to the residents' lounge and began our meeting.
Mr. Roger Fry was elected chairman and the meeting began with the secretaries' report. Letters of apology were received from several members, including Simon Barley, who unfortunately had to go into hospital for a slight operation. We were pleased to see John Hill back with us and three members of H.M. Forces, who managed to obtain leave for the occasion. The 1955 tour, commencing at Cambridge and finishing in Cheltenham, had been very successful, with 16 members taking part during the week and 30 at the Bank Holiday week-end. The report concluded with the notice of two forthcoming marriages and the announcement of the engagement between Terry and Sheila, to whom we extend our congratulations.

The following new members were elected:Marjorie Hunter (London), Doreen Dutton (Leicester) and Ann Cox (Guildford). It was decided that in future, to be eligible for election, the ringer must attend at least one tour. Before electing the new officers for 1956 we expressed our thanks to all those who had held office in 1955, particularly the retiring Master (Mr. N. J. Diserens) and Miss A. Bailey, who has been our recorder since the beginning of the S.R.R. and is going to Canada for 18 months.
To mark the 10 th anniversary of the Society a new office, that of president, has been created, and Mr. Mark White (one of our founders and the original secretary) was proposed and unanimously elected. George Evenden was elected Master, John Sansom takes over from Audrey Bailey and the other officers were reelected.

As we have no funds it was decided on the treasurer's advice that members would make a small contribution at all future reunions and tour weck-ends, to be placed in a Post Office account as a permanent backing to cover the Society's expenses.

Proposals for the 1956 tour were made and North Yorkshire received the most votes.

The meeting ended with an invitation from Bill and Hilda Kingcott to Wrington for a peal on April 7th. The rest of the evening passed quickly and pleasantly.

The party divided for Sunday morning ringing, some of the six-bell enthusiasts rang at Woolaton and the rest attended St. Mary's and St. Peter's. After lunch we rang at Radclifte-on-Trent, where the incumbent came up to the belfry to welcome us to his church. Then some farewells were said and the rest of us went on to Bulwell. After a regretfully short visit the party went their various ways home, but seven met again at Leicester Cathedral and six stopped at Birmingham Cathedral to help ring for Evensong.

We would like to express our thanks to all the people who helped to make the week-end so enjoyable, especially the tower captains who made us so very welcome to Nottingham.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

In bitterly cold weather, 51 members attended the annual Llandaff Branch meeting held at Bonvilston on February 11 th, coming from as far away as Chepstow, Bedwellty and Swansea. The bells were ringing quite early, under the direction of the General Master, Mr. Fred Bailey.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Trevor Bevan, and following this visitors were invited to the village hall, where a variety of delightful refreshments in abundance was placed before them. For this, a vote of thanks was given to the ladies of the church by the Branch secretary. Taking the chair, the Vicar opened the business meeting with prayer, and asked members to stand in silent tribute to the memory of the late Mr. W. Heath, of St. John's Church, Cardiff.

Mr. R. E. Coles was re-elected as secretary and Mr. T. Ycomans Ringing Master. Eight new members were elected. The next meeting will be held at Llangynwyd. Further ringing followed.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

In spite of the persistence of wintry conditions some 30 members, representing 12 towers, attended the meeting held at St. Michael's, Headingley, on February 25th. Of those pre sent more than half could count themselves as belonging to the younger generation of ringers -a sign which augurs well for this Society in particular and for the Exercise in general.

Tea was served in a local cafe and was fol lowed by the business meeting, at which three new members were elected, and the Vicar, churchwardens and local company thanked for the use of the bells and the arrangements for the meeting. It was decided to defer until the annual meeting in April consideration of tho 'Bow Bells ' appeal.
Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridgo and continued until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The next meet ing, at which nominations will be received for officers for the ensuing year, will be held at Drighlington on March 24 th.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Organists and Ringers Meet

Some time ago the secretary of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association gave a talk on bells and bellringing to the members of the Incorporated Association of Organists (Swindon Branch) and at the organists' request a further meeting was arranged.
This consisted of a practical demonstration of change ringing on tower bells and was held at Stratton-St. Margaret on February 18th. The ringing room is on the ground floor and partly open to the church so the visitors were able to watch the ringing and listen to the commentary. After showing how a bell was raised, examples were given of dodging, plain bunting and simple change ringing on six bells, Considerable interest was aroused and a number of questions were dealt with by the ringers. After tea Mr. G. H. Harris. F.R.C.O., gave a short talk on the evolution of the organ and explained to the ringers the mechanism of the present-day instrument.

Although we are not likely to gain any recruits to bell ringing as a result of this meeting it was generally agreed that a gathering of two groups of church workers such as this was a good thing and should help to produce mutual understanding between them.

Ladies' Guild Recruit 30 Members In Herefordshire

On February 4th the first meeting of the Hereford District of the Ladies' Guild was held in conjunction with the Hereford Guild.
It was a very cold day and very few ladies attended. However, at the meeting, which was held round the fire in the north transept of the Cathedral, 30 new members and two honorary members were elected. It was proposed that the quarterly meeting should be held in Leominster.
Following the meeting Evensong was attended In the Cathedral, after which a very pleasant tea was provided by Mrs. Davis and her helpers in the College Hall. Ringing was then continued at All Saints' until 8.30 p.m.

Midland District

Despite the wintry weather a successful annual meeting of the Midland District was held at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on February 18th. Ringing was enjoyed on the ten bells of St. Mary's in the afternoon and St. Peter's in the evening.

After a short service, conducted by the Vicar, who welcomed the Ladies' Guild to St. Mary's, a most enjoyable tea was partaken in the nearby Church Hall. Miss Thompson, vice-president, expressed thanks to all concerned, before the gentlemen left for St. Peter's, whilst the ladies held their business meeting.

Miss I. B. Thompson was re-elected vicepresident. Miss J. M. Simpson resigned her position as secretary, and Mrs. P. A. Corby was elected in her place. Committee members were elected as follows:-General Committes, Mrs. B. G. Warwick and Miss J. M. Simpson; District Committee, Miss B. Endall, Miss L Foulk, Mrs. P. Poole and Mrs. C. Walker.
One honorary member and three new ringiag members were elected.
The vice-president thanked the members for their good attendance at meetings durims the past year and said that she hoped thes would keep it up. It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Melton Mowbray on Aprit 14th. It was agreed that a day's outing should be arranged for June 2nd to Darley Dalcs Derbyshire, and other towers in that vicinity. A bus will leave Leicester, calling at Notting ham and Derby en route. This outing will not be exclusive to members only, and aw other ringers and friends who would like go will be very welcome. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. P. A. Corby, 11, Bowley Avenue. Melton Mowbray, Leics, as soon possible.

An eerie experience befell ringers at Bucknall, Staffs. A peal had been satisfactorily completed and the bells just lowered when they heard the peal being rung again! The explanation was that the Rector, unknown to the ringers, had recorded some ten minutes of the peal and was playing it back in the church.A one-time ringer at Pitsford, Northants, has died (rather tragically) in Northampton in the person of Mr. Cyril Maltby. He rang a few peals around the late 1920's, but had done no ringing of recent years.

An Erin man writes: 'Page 90, issue Feb. 10th, reports that the Cumberland Youths rang a peal of Erin Cinques at St. Martin's-in-theFields. Should that not read "Eerie Cinques"?"

The many friends of Mr. William Hewett will regret to hear that he was taken to St. Giles' Hospital, Camberwell, Ward E 3, and is under observation. He wishes to state that the ringing at St. Margaret's, Westminster, will continue in his absence.

Visitors to Edinburgh for the Scotland $V$. England Rugby international on March 17 th will be welcome at the joint practice at St. Cuthbert's Parish Church (opposite Princes Street Station) from 5 to 7 p.m. on that day. Sunday ringing in the City centre is available at St. Mary's Cathedral (Palmerston Place), 10.30 and 6, and St. Cuthbert's 10.20 and 6 .

Included in the 'Home Town' Leicester programme of the Midlands I.T.V. (Commercial Television) on Saturday, March 10th, 7.30 to 8.15 p.m., is a performance of tune ringing on handbells by the Beltonian Handbell Ringers, members of the band of St. John-the-Divine Church, Leicester. There will be 32 belis operating by eight persons. St. John's, which is under the leadership of Mr. S. Harrison, has the voungest change-ringing band in Leicester.

GOSSIP

Six members of the Huyton Parish Church Girl Guide Company rang for the Girl Guide Thinking Day service at Huyton on February 19th. They were Sheila Cameron 1, Jean Flanagan 2, Janet Peers 3, Margaret Daniels 4, Margaret Hardman 5, Audrey Adshead 6. The ringers of $1,3,4$ and 5 have learned to handle a bell since last September. The whole band are service ringers. Can any other tower produce a Girl Guide band?

Anthony Bax had an unusual experience in his first peal attempt at Stockbury. A late start resulted in the last half-hour of the peal being rung in nearly total darkness. Well done, Tony!

Members of the Hertfordshire County Association and old friends in the West Country will wish to congratulate Mr. J. Ferris, of Kneb worth, on his 90th birthday. He has only recently given up active ringing but remains the veteran captain of the local band.

On February 4th a plaque was unveiled and dedicated at Higher Walton, Lancs, to mark the birthplace of the late Kathleen Mary Ferrier. Unfortunately a peal attempt on Higher Walton bells that day was unsuccessful, and as time was short a quartes peal was rung instead. On February 25th, at the request of the local Council, a peal was successfully accomplished to mark the occasion.

Mr. A. W. Osborne, of Reading, desires to thank his many ringing friends who sent him complimentary letters on the occasion of his diamond wedding. He desires especially to thank his old pal, Mr. Sinkins, Miss Cross, of Radley, a lad of 70 whom he taught change ringing 60 years ago, the ringers of St. Laurence's, Reading, who rang a peal in his favourite method (Stedman Caters), and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell. Mr. Osborne's one regret is that he cannot take a rope in the belfry as arthritis prevents him climbing the steps.

68th HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER

his great contribution to the ringing of stedman cinques and a record length ON HIS 72nd BIRTHDAY

HENRY JOHNSON died on January 7th, 1890, and the 68th annual commemoration dinner to his memory on February 25th at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, was the first occasion when no ringer was present who knew this outstanding character in English ringing in the flesh.
Ald. A. Paddon Smith was this year's chairman. With that geniality that ever accompanies him, that wide knowledge of the affairs of St. Martin's Guild, of which he was secretary for 20 years, and his extensive service to the public life of Birmingham, including the office of Lord Mayor, he was an ideal chairman. Visitors and members of the Guild had a very enjoyable evening.
Apologies for absence were received from the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, the Lord Bishop of Birmingham, the Archdeacon of Birmingham, Miss Marie Cross, Messrs, A. A. Hughes, Herbert Langdon, A.B. Peck, Arthur Joncs, F. E. Collins and C. McGuiness.
Mr. R. S. Anderson, in submitting the toast of 'The Church and State,' said they were fortunate in this country that such good relations existed between the Established Church and successive Governments of varying colour. Differences did arise, it would be wrong to suppose otherwise, but these never developed into open breaches. What better example to Christian life and sincerity could they have from the head of a State than that of their beloved Queen and her family.

THE CHURCH'S MOST POWERFUL VOICE

To the Church they as ringers were its most powerful voice to the people at large. He knew the radio and television reached millions at the same moment, but they were announcing the presence of the Church by the bells long before those mediums, and, please God, they would continue their work. Unfortunately to-day too many belfries were suffering from a lack of ringers, and there were few districts where recruits were not urgently needed.

- One reflects on the facilities now provided for the enjoyment of leisure and wonders whether we are becoming a nation of listeners and lookers rather than being active doers. Are the young people of to-day disinclined to do anything without reward? Surely not; and is not work for the Church its own and sufficient reward?

We all realise the heavy burden of duties our clergy are carrying, but I do appeal to them to spare a little help to the struggling ringers. The belfry is a natural step for the choirboy when his voice breaks. Ringing is a fascinating art and in joining the belfry our young boys and girls are helping to continue their work in the Church.'
The Provost of Birminghàm (the Very Rev. H. G. Michael Clarke), in reply, said he was not entirely satisfied with the relationship between Church and State or that the perfect cooperation, as was suggested, existed. There was always bound to be a degree of uneasy partnership between Church and State, and he had often turned over in his mind the advantages of separation. It was called disestablishment of the Church or the unsanctification of the State. Whether it would be worth while he was not prepared to state, but it was an open question.
In human marriage one had to be married or not married, but in regard to Church and State the relationship could be considerably modified without a breach. He felt that the present situation could not continue indefinitely, and if there was to be a new form of contract he hoped that the bells would still remain with the religious bodies and not be taken over by the State. He thought it was one of the sentimental attachments of English life that the bells should summon people to church. He had one request to make-that the bells should always stop ringing at the time the service was due to start, and not encroach a minute or two on the service time. On behalf of the clergy he thanked the Guild for their services in doing something for the expression of church life which they could not do without.

The Memory of the late Henry Johnson was proposed by the chairman, who said that much had been said about Henry Johnson in that room and many other rooms over the years and the story of his life had also been printed.

HENRY JOHNSON AND STEDMAN CINQUES

Henry Johnson was born in Lichfield on February 28 th, 1809 , and was a distant relative of the more famous Samuel Johnson. They were both good eaters and, he was told, good drinkers, and both lived to a ripe old age. Henry Johnson in his day and generation was by far the most outstanding personality in the world of bell ringing. He was the greatest composer in his day, and amongst other things he did he invented the idea of placing the turning course in Stedman Caters and Stedman Cinques in the centre of the peal instead of at the end, because in the early days many peals of Stedman Cinques were lost at the turning course, and as the turning course was then at the end much effort was spent in vain. Johnson felt it would be better to have the turning course from tittums position into the handstroke home position so that if they lost peals of Stedman Cinques they would lose them at the middle and not at the end.
He could recount many interesting anecdotes related to him concerning Henry Johnson by people who knew him in the flesh. 'I am sorry to think,' continued the chairman, 'that possibly we have arrived for the first time in the history of this commemoration dinner when there will be no one to stand up who actually knew Henry Johnson in the flesh. I am afraid they have passed on.'
Johnson was a remarkable man in many ways. He was a business man and for many years he was in charge of the canal wharf in the centre of the city when he imported timber for building purposes.
Those who had been in St. Martin's belfry would have seen a tablet recording a peal of Stedman Cinques rung on his 72 nd birthday in which he took part. It reads: This tablet is erected by the St. Martin's Society to record the longest peal of Stedman Cinques ever accomplished and rung by them on the 28th February, 1891, being the composer's 72nd birthday. 9,238 changes in 6 hours 48 minutes, the band being placed as follows:-

Composed by Henry Johnson Conducted by Wm. Hallsworth

Thomas Reynolds, said Ald. Paddon Smith, was a man who in later years weighed over 20 stones and he was an excellent ringer. On one occasion the band went to the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow to attempt a peal of Stedman Cinques on the original 12 bells there. This was before the bells destroyed by the war had been recast They were 'chest-cracker' bells to ring. For three and a quarter hours they rang and then unfortunately, the two tenor men could ring no longer. They adjourned to the house of the College Youths, and afterwards, on the way home, Thomas Reynolds found that he was wearing an overcoat-and he never possessed an overcoat. A few days later it was found that the coat belonged to John Buffery, who declared that he must have been among thieves
Henry Johnson died on January 7th, 1890, at the age of 81 years, and he was buried in Aston Churchyard. Aston Churchyard had been divided up and most of the gravestones had been laid flat, but the blue-grey granite stone to Henry Johnson, erected by the ringers of England, still stood.
The toast was honoured in silence and was followed by a touch of Stedman Cinques rung by John Chilcott, Frank Perrens, Albert Walker, J. F. Smallwood. Frank E. Haynes and George E. Fearn.
Mr. Rodney B. Meadows proposed Continued Prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild.' Deploring his great misfortune in having been moved from Birmingham, he noticed on his return that the bells of St. Martin's were silent, and he hoped that it would not be for long. He was particularly fascinated by the clock in Bishop Ryder's Church. He noticed that it was still five minutes past six, the time they started peals, and had been showing that time for seven years.

FAMOUS AND WONDERFUL

The Guild he was proposing was very famous and wonderful. It was wonderful in its ringing, not only in quantity but quality, and particularly in the thing the chairman mentioned, Stedman Cinques. He would like to quote from a letter written by Tommy Butler on the occasion of the visit of ST. Martin's Guild to ring a peal of Stedman Cinques on the bells of St. Nicholas', Liverpool: 'I have told my nephew to listen, even for a short lime, as he would hear 12 bells rung as they should be rung and as few bands could ring them.'
He knew that tradition was not popular in some quarters. Tradition was something that was handed on, and in this particular case it was Stedman Cinques. In Stedman Cinques and its ringing they had not a science but an art, and in Birmingham they had one of the few places in the country where good Stedman Cinques was rung. There was little of it in the country and little of it of good quality. They were told that Stedman Cinques in Birming ham reached its peak 20 to 30 years ago, but they had still pcople in Birmingham who knew Stedman Cinques in those days and could hand on to them the quality of the Stedman Cinques that was then rung.
As to the present state of the Guild they had still famous men. Of the seniors there was their chairman and Albert Walker to give them good advice. The golden age between 1920 and 1930 was well represented and they had a number of young people coming on and John Pinfold. the Ringing Master, ensured that on Tuesday evenings they had good Guild practices. It was, therefore, with full confidence and pleasure that he asked them to drink the toast with emphasis on the words "continued prosperity.:
The Master, Mr. Frank E. Haynes, who replied, said Mr. Meadows rightly mentioned (Continued next page) that they associated their prosperity with their ability to ring Stedman Cinques, and while it might be true to say that they diil not quite approach the standard of the w'd masters, nevertheless they did maintain a tol rably good standard and he was not without ho e that they would recover the striking of 30 ve rs ago.

* A MERRY AND JOYFUL JISE

In the 'Oxford Companion of Music' he noticed that under the heading of bellinging It said: • Change ringing may not froperly be considered as a branch of music ofr rather as a branch of mathematics applied wita physical skill to produce a merry and joyful noise.' In applying that to their prosperity th: y should remember they had great athletes in Mr. George Fearn, who could ring peals for hours and ride bicycles for hundreds of miles, $d$ as to mathematics, Peter Border, who lived in Coventry and rang in Birmingham regularly, was ne doubt a first-class mathematician, and there were others who could still put two and two together, although it sometimes made three. As to making a joyful noise, the first one he would mention was Albert Walker, who formerly at times could be heard timkliag on the piano, and Harry Withers, who used to play the dulcimer.
He had been in Birmingham 27 wirs, with a break, and it secmed to him that tirs calibre of the ringing Exercise had changed considerably during that time. Ringing was now fas more of a social activity and the number of Jady ringers in the last 20 years had increased tremendously. There was is ime when if they saw two or three girls in the b.lfry thes did not expect decent ringing. That was all gone, and a fortnight ago in Bishon Ryder's Church a young Grammar School girl came along and rang London Surprise faultessly at her first attempt.
There werc two yardsticks they could apply to their prosperity. One was the enthusiasm of their ringers, and that had been prevalent for some years although their attendance had been rather less than it had been. Another was the ability of the Guild to associate with other ringing bodies, and in that respect St. Martin's Guild had been very fortunate. To mention one, St. Martin's Guild had always maintained a close ringing association with the Ancient Society of College Youths, and they had the Master of the College Youths with them that evening. He understood that the Ancient Society contemplated holding their summer meeting at Birmingham this year.
On such an oceasion as that they remembered ringers who had passed on. One was a national figure and a non-resident member-
Mr . Harold Poole. of Leicester, and the other was Mr. Fred Rishworth. who rang for many years at Aston and died at the age of 80 . He was a kindly old man.

MYSTERIOUS PEOPLE

Canon Bryan S. W. Green, who arrived back in England two days previously from America. proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' and he assured the company that St. Martin's bells would be available for ringing at $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the following day. To the visitors he gave a most cordial welcome to Birmingham.
Bellringers, said the Canon. were mysterious people. They came and crept upstairs and then they made joyous noises with the most serious expressions on their faces. The bells stop ut the time of the service and then the ringers creep away.
The Canon said he did not think there was any danger of competition from radio or telcvision, and that the beauty of their music would be heard Sunday mornings and evenings. In the countryside particularly there was some thing very uplifting in church bells summoning them to the worship of God. and for that they welcomed their visitors.

Squadron Leader John S. Mason, Master ol the Ancient Society of College Youths, said he was not really a visitor as he had been exported from Birmingham, imported and re-exported. A close bond of friendship had existed between St. Martin's Guild and the College Youths and in the past 70 years there had been three Masters from Birmingham of the College Youths-J. Frank Smallwood, the late Samuel Reeves, who conducted the first peal in the tower where he learned to ring, and himself.
The suggestion that the summer meeting of the Ancient Society should be held in Birmingham appealed to him very much and it would be discussed at their next meeting. The last occasion the College Youths visited Birmingham was in 1951, when Mr. Smallwood was Master. Unfortunately he was not able to be present-he was 13,000 miles away ringing a peal in New Zealand, although he did not go to that country for that purpose.
Ringing in strange towers was a pleasant function and many visitors took advantage of the facilities offered in their city-in fact some survive to come again. If any of them could visit them in London in November. when they held their annual feast, they would receive an equally cordial welcome as the visitors to Birmingham had received that day.
Mr. T. W. White, who also replied, said he was reminded of a saying of the late Dr. Johnson that 'a man needs to keep his friendships in a state of constant repair,' and this annual pilgrimage to Birmingham enabled one to put a timely stitch in any rent in the human fabric that might have occurred in the interim. He came across that day a saying new to him, 'A girl hanging in the bell ropes.' It was thought to be of North Country origin. If a girl was not married within three weeks of the third calling of her banns her friends would say to her, ' Be careful you don't hang in the bell ropes, implying, of course, the danger of the wedding being broken off.

LOYALTY APPRECIATED

Speaking as Editor of 'The Ringing World, he said that although 80 weekly and monthly periodicals failed to appear that week, the production of their journal had been normal thanks to the loyalty of those associated with him (applause). Despite rising costs he did not think they would be disappointed with the results of their trading in 1956. They were certainly not in the red. But the position for 1957 was uncertain and they had to wait for the result of the present wage negotiations. It might give concern to the Editorial Committec and the loyal support of all friends of ringing was necessary.

Sir Theodore Pritchett, in proposing the toast of 'The Chairman,' that was accorded musical honours, felt that the qualities Ald. Paddon Smith had inherited through his association with St. Martin's Guild in his early years had given him an important standing in the commercial life of the city, had given him the right ideas of life and the proper way to relate affairs spiritual with ordinary business life.
Acknowledging the compliment, Ald. Paddon Smith said he was reminded by Sir Theodore of his uncle when he was Master of the Guild. He used to make speeches which left some of them rather helpless.

THE VISITORS

The visitors present included the Provost and Rector of Birmingham, Ald. Sir Theodore and Lady Pritchett, Canon F. F. Guy Worman, Messrs. R. B. Meadows, E. H. Edge, A. P. Cannon, T. J. Lock, G. J. ## SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch

Nine towers were represented and visitors were present from Stalbridge, Yetminster, Wool and Wareham at the quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch at Bridport on February 18th. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. J. P. Hinton (Rector). The 'Service Touch' was of Stedman Triples.
Forty members sat down to tea in the Church House, the tea being served by the Bridport ringers' wives.
Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds and call changes, through Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Doubles and Triples and Plain Bob Major to London, Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise and Double Norwich.
Grateful thanks are due to Bridport ringers and their wives for their hospitality and to all who helped to make this a very enjoyable meeting.
The next meeting will be held at Hawkchurch on April 28 th.
E. G. R.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Northern District

The Northern District met at Baldock on the spring-like Saturday of February 25th. A landrail beside the steps in the ringing chamber is a welcome addition. Ringing ceased at five o'clock for a short service conducted by Canon Smith, at which Miss Bates played the organ.
At the business meeting Messrs. J. Welsh (Walkern) and R. Werrett (Norton) were elected members. The next local meeting will be at St. Ippolyts, the special method being Hull Surprise. The secretary gave a report on the last officers' meeting and asked for more support if a coach is to be run from the district to the annual general meeting on April 7th at Bishops Stortford. It is hoped that the Benington Ringing Festival will be on May 26th.
Ringing began again. but attempts at Killamarsh Treble Bob Major, the special method for the day, were unsuccessful. J. S.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch took place as usual at Spalding on the Saturday previous to Lent. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and a service at 4 p.m. was conducted by the Rev. M. Apps, with an interesting address by the Vicar, Canon M. L. Synge.

An excellent tea was provided at the Greyhound Hotel, and the business meeting followed with Canon Synge in the chair. The balance shects were accepted and showed a good balance in hand. All officers were re-elected with the addition of the Rev. M. Apps as a vicepresident. Quarterly meetings were arranged at Holheach, May 12th: Tydd St. Mary, June 23 rd: Deeping St. Nicholas, September 22 nd; Bicker, November 17 th. The meeting also decided to subscribe five guineas to the 'Bow Bells ' appeal.
Votes of thanks were expressed to all who had made the meeting such a success. Ringing continued in numerous methods till $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

The songs of Mr. Albert Barley, accompanied by Miss Owen, were very popular, and in a second touch of Stedman Cinques the chairman took a pair of bells. The last accasion he rang 'in hand, was in 1951, when he was Lord Mayor of Birmingham and entertained ringers at the City Hall.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AN APOLOGY

Dear Sir,-As hon. secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and the organiser of the Stoke D'Abernon peal attempt, I write to offer sincere apologies to Mr. Grover and the Guildford Diocesan Guild if I have in any way -and completely unwittingly-attempted to usurp the prerogatives and privileges of that Guild. There was no question whatever of underhand dealings with the Church authorities, and had the matter been mentioned to me after the dedication service, at which both Mr. Grover and myself were present, I would have at once withdrawn my application. I do feel that Mr. Grover's letter was couched in unnecessarily strong terms which are quite unjustified. but, be that as it may, I do, as I say, wish to offer apologies for inadvertent discourtesy.

In common with many ringers and lovers of ancient churches, I have known this little church and its magnificent brasses for years, and I look forward, in the not too distant future, to attempting a peal on its new bells-our Society is just as interested in furthering the Art in fivebell towers as on the higher numbers! May I offer good wishes to the Guildford Guild, and success in their attempt for the first peal on Stoke bells!-Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

Hildenborough, Kent.

Dear Sir,-As a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, I would like to back up the letter of George Grover re Stoke D'Abernon, one of my reasons being that I have been in correspondence with both the Rector and donor of these bells, and some may think that I was in the rush for the first peal on the bells. To prove that this is not the case, and also to say that my first knowledge of a peal attempt on them was your publication of February 3rd of this year, I have before me a letter from the Rector, dated July 15th, 1955. An extract reads: 'Perhaps your Society of Change Ringers (meaning St. Peter's, Burnham, Bucks) will visit us in due course and show us how these old bells restored should sound.' To which I replied to the effect that there was 'honour among thieves' and that if we in this area were opening a new ring of bells our Association would feel rather hurt if we fetched a band from another area to carry out this function. I also sent the names and addresses of some members in Stoke's own area so that the Rector could get in touch with those members who, I assured him, would give him all the help that was in their power, and I added that later on, when the newness had worn off, I would be pleased to accept his kind invitation to my band and self.

Why must we have these people who must be in the first peal on every new ring, at cost of causing lasting discontent. I would not like our old Society (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths) to get a bad name owing to the greediness of one or two of its members. Well do we all remember a few years ago when an augmentation took place in our own diocese, The opening peal was rung for another Society, although our own Guild had at the time, a competent band for the job. I can assure our readers that the wound is not yet healed amongst many of our older members. Let us always remember that sanction for a peal on any bells is our privilege and not our right.

Burnham, Bucks. GEORGE GILBERT.
Owing to one of the ringers contracting cramp, the peal attempt at King's Bromley on February 4th was called round at the 18th extent and a half-peal registered. Had the peal been accomplished it would have been the first for Miss V. W. Smith, who stood in at short notice to make up the band.

WHOSE PREROGATIVE?

Dear Sir,-Why is it the prerogative of the Guildford Diocesan Guild to ring the first peal at Stoke D'Abernon?. The place is in Surrey and so the Surrey Association has an equal 'right ' to the first peal. For all I know it may be in the obscure diocese of North Southwark, in which case there will be others to have a go at this magnificent ring of bells.
After all, what does it matter? There is no special merit in the footnote 'First peal on the bells.' except when it is a great achievementin any case judging by the number of peals on five bells rung by the Guildford Guild I imagine there would have been no particular rush to ring one at Stoke D'Abernon-if someone else had not got in first !-Yours sincerely,

RICHARD F. B. SPEED.

PEAL FOOTNOTES

Dear Sir,-I would like to make a suggestion on this matter of peal footnotes. How about having a footnote to all peal reports in which the organiser of the attempt tells us exactly why he organised it? The sort of footnotes we might expect to see are:-

Rung to enable $\mathbf{X}$ to turn the tenor in to a peal of Surprise.'

To enable $Y$ to ring a peal in this tower.' - These ringers always attempt a peal on Saturday afternoon.'
The last peal I rang in was arranged because it was the first Monday in the month-a most satisfactory reason in my view.
What frequently intrigues me is not why a band should ring a peal for somebody's birthday, but why a band should ring a peal for apparently no reason whatever.
What we want is not fewer footnotes, but more. They would make interestıng reading.Yours sincerely,

JOINT MEETING AT BURTON-ON-TRENT

Dear Sir,-It is not my practice to deal with domestic issues through your correspondence columns, but Mr. E. H. Edge's letter leaves me with no alternative. For the information of members of the North Staffordshire Association and others concerned, I give the following facts:-
At the annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford it was decided to hold the April meeting at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent. Subsequently Mr. B. G. Key, of St. Paul's band, thought it would be a good idea to make this a joint meeting with the Midland Counties Guild and the Shropshire Association. Then, at the January meeting of the "Staffords, it was decided to issue an invitation to the North Staffordshire Association, and I sent such invitation to Mr. Edge on February 21st. I would point out that the members of the North Staffordshire Association are not being asked to assist with any of the arrangements for the meeting, but have just been invited to join in what I hope will be a most enjoyable occasion. In any case what appeared in your issue of January 10 th was merely intended as a preliminary announcement.
Surely under the circumstances it would have been more courteous and discreet on Mr. Edge's part had he first approached me direct rather than rushing headlong into print.-Yours very truly,

F. C. A. BENNETT,  Hon. Lay Secretary,  Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.

WHO'S FOR A RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD ?
Dear Sir,-I welcome Mr. Walker's letter in connection with the above, which is only a question, except for that bit of bad taste'Anything coming off the London Midland [Region] to be treated with a certain amount of suspicion.'
My experience of Regions is greater and longer than Mr. Walker's, and I don't know that there is much, if any, difference between them.

In answer, to his two questions, 'Is such a Guild really going to be of any practical use?* Well, we have not formed one yet, we are only asking the question. Secondly, 'Is it going to advance the cause of Sunday service ringing?' That being the primary object of all our ringing -or should be-I would say, I sincerely hope so; and any rules and regulations to that effect, should a Guild be formed, should and would be the first consideration in forming one.
Mr. Walker continues: "At York there are some nine "ringers of sorts" who are railway employees, but I cannot say that any of these would wish to join such a group.' What does be mean, 'ringers of sorts'? Are they regular, conscientious Sunday service ringers; if so, does it matter what sort, and how does he know their minds?
At 67 I am not seeking more work, unless it will be to the good of ringing in general, and Sunday service ringing in particular. Let Mr. Walker attend the proposed meeting and see and hear everyone's point of view, and if decided on, to help to make it what he would like it to be.
Our general manager told us what Mr. Walker told us regarding the Staff Association and Inter-Regional point of view.-Yours sincerely,
W. FRANK STENSON.

WHERE ARE THE INSTRUCTORS?

Dear Sir,-I feel Mr. Norman Chaddock has struck a very important note in his leading article on "Where are the instructors?
Casting my thoughts within a 15 mile radius of here, not more than two towers are fully manned for Sunday service ringing. There are also a few towers which are silent altogether due to lack of ringers. This must be typical of the state of affairs throughout the country.
There would be enormous scope if a representative committee were set up by the Central Council. I am sure much good could be done by a committee of this kind and sincerely hope Mr. Chaddock's suggestion to form this is put into operation as soon as possible.
The report that this committee would make could be handed down to the various Associations and Guilds for further use.
While meetings and peals are excellent in themselves, is not our main and most important duty to kelp and stimulate Sunday service ringing, whether it be with the help of the Central Council, meetings or as individuals? - Yours sincerely,

Elland, Yorks.

THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE

Dear Sir,-Following the success of the protest against the demolition of St. John the Divine's, Leicester, I am wondering if something similar could be done to save the Imperial Institute. The destruction of this building is included in the plan for the expansion of London University. Its great campanile contains the highest ring of bells in London, but although they are seldom heard and few have rung on them, for this and other reasons, I am sure that most will agree that it would be an act of sheer vandalism to destroy the Institute for the sake of the land it stands on.-Yours faithfully,

ALAN J. BLAIR.

THE SPEED OF RINGING

Dear Sir,-I think Mr. W. Williams was justified in querying the times of the Somerset peals, though ino doubt the peals were performed correctly. I was glad to see Mr. A. P. Cannon's advice on the matter of quick and slow peals, as it aptly sums up some of the considerations.

I would like to add a little to the discussion by first expressing a little surprise at the speed of the peals by the ringers in question, as I was told, when I first suggested visiting Somerset, that they were very particular about the finer points of striking, and I should have to watch my step; yet I cannot see how at those speeds you can concentrate on more than good rhythm, for a slight lapse of concentrationnot a trip-is certain to cause a break or clip, as, if a tenor is well off-balance. no matter how strong the ringer, it must bash devastatingly through any waverers. Yet it is easy to accommodate such slight unevenness imperceptibly with slower, deliberate ringing.

Secondly, while agreeing with Mr J. T. Dyke that it is wise to avoid the balance in a tall, swaying tower, it is not necessary to drive the bells hard to do this. for at any speed the front bells will be temperamental, and he who rings them must be as prepared to fight his own difficulties there, just as the tenor man must overcome difficulties of another sort.
I do not agree, however, that a bad going tenor should be rung faster than usual-it probably wants to go faster, especially when you try to turn it round on the front! From bitter experiences on some very bad ones, with dry bearings. loose fittings, and shuddering frames, 1 find that it is impossible to ring them properly and control them on dodges as one of a band, not with the rest trying to avoid getting smacked by you, unless rung right up to the balance. In that way, only, can a long enough pull be made to prevent the bell fulfilling its earnest desire to ring itsclf down as soon as possible. The alternative is strapping. Similarly it is best to ring peals of five more steadily than six because of the bigger variations of speed necessary in doing dodges properly.
There seem to be two styles of tenor ringing: the fast, strongly rhythmical style, best suited to light, old bells, and the deliberate up-to-thebalance style with time to attend to the finer points of striking. These vary from how to slow a peal down imperceptibly, even from a light bell, when you see that, from previous knowledge of the tenor ringer and the bell he is ringing, it is unlikely that the last quarter of the peal will be properly struck at the present speed.
I would like to see more attention paid to roll-ups. I find that many younger ringers simply do not know what you are talking about when you mention that 'there is a good roll-up coming at the next Wrong,' yet to me half the joy of ringing Surprise in particular comes from the anticipation and satisfying fulfilment of a great variety of these musical changes. They vary from the course ends (which need a slight easing by the back bells for the best effect), e.g., 13254678 , to the seque.ace around the Wrong, e.g., in Pudsey, 12436758, 12347685; 21436758 ; 12346578 ; which one can begin to look forward to as soon as the coursing order becomes 32465 . Hence the conductor's anguished cry, 'You are ruining this beautiful composition, when some rabbit blots such a sequence. Then there are the little-bell roll-ups in the middle of the laad: the 1234's at the back, and 0543's, and even the back-change starting at the hand-stroke and being completed at back stroke-if the ringer who is making the back stroke lead has anticipated the sequence and got his lead spot-on!
Looking for such things makes a pcal not so many changes to be got through as fast as possible, but a masterpiece of composition, to be given its full value and enjoyed all the way through. How can the tenor man enjoy it when he is caning himself to achicve some fantastic time? All this is probably as old as the hills to some, but it may help some improvers to enjoy their ringing more: nobody ever pointed these things out to me when I began to ring Surprise, and I am sure my striking must have been a lot worse even than it is now before I paid attention to this sort of thing.
Therefore on these grounds I think the slow, deliberate peal is the one to aim for if circumstances permit, and the only one to be considered if you, as tenor man, are of only average physique, or the bells heavy, bad going, or highly-musical.-Yours sincerely,

FOUR QUESTIONS

Dear Sir, - Could I ask Messrs. Carlisle and Halls how they get the maximum extent from a given set of courses, and, in the case of Treble Bob, keep clear of f.c.h. s?
Also, could Mr. P. Wright say why the calling of the second half of Parker's six-part commences from a different lead-end, and is this necessary?

Next, if one curtails the 29 -course block (to gain an easy calling for a certain method, for instance), could Mr. C. K. Lewis say to whom tha composition should: be ascribed, please?

And, lastly, is the attached composition one of the Pritchard variations, or am I correct in thinking it by John Carter?

MR. JOE HARDCASTLE

A correspondent suggests that Mr. Joc Hardcastle, to whose 86th birthday celebration reference was made recently, must have behind him the longest family ringing history. The Tilletts, of Ipswich, go back more generations, to John Naunton who rang peals about 1810, but Mr. Hardcastle's great-grandfather, William, rang his first peal in 1807, and in 1815 took part in the first peal of Treble Ten on Halifax bells. William's last peal, in 1862, also had in it his grandson, Mr. Hardcastle's father, an interesting account of whom appeared in 'The Bell News ' of September 7th, 1889.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Leatherhead District

There was a smaller attendance than usual at the Leatherhead District's annual meeting at Leatherhead on February 11th, partly owing to the wintry weather and also to the memorial service at Esher for Wilkins Massey. The Guild service was taken by the Vicar, Miss Collins was at the organ, and Mr. H. N. Pitstow read the lesson. Having enlisted help to overcome 'no water,' due to frozen pipes, the ladies prepared tea in St. Nicholas' Hall to which just over 30 , including the Vicar and the verger, sat down.
The business meeting was held round the fire, with the Ringing Master (Mr. H. N. Pitstow) in the chair. The meeting stood in silence to mark the recent deaths of Tom Smith, of Newdigate, and Wilkins Massey, of Claygate, whose original tower was also Newdigate.
The balance sheet showed a slight decrease in the balance.
The year's report stated that only two District peals had been rung, but a large number of quarter peals for service ringing was a good sign, for in this increasingly suburban area it is becoming more difficult to get peals put on.
Two changes were made in the District officers, Mr. H. V. Young becoming assistant secretary as Alan Smith had gone to Bristol University, and Frank Oakshott in place of Gordon Peters, who now lives in the London area, on the Executive Committee.

The general officers were renominated, but a motion to the annual general meeting, that the office of Master should not be held for more than three consecutive years, was proposed by Ted Coward, seconded by Pat Cannon, and passed by a narrow majority. Surrounding towers offered to lend a band in training a local band to ring at Stoke D'Abernon.

Farnham District

The outstanding and most cheering factor at the annual general meeting of the Farnham District on February 18th was the high persentage of young ringers present.
Despite the cold weather a very large number of ringers arrived at St. Andrew's Parish Church, Farnham, and enjoyed an afternoon's ringing under the leadership of Mr. E. J. Wells. The ringers' service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. R. Wills) with Mr. F. Anthony at the organ.

Tea was served in the Owen Hall to over 80 ringers and friends. A most exciting business meeting followed, due chiefly to the fact that Mr. E. J. Wells '(Ringing Master) and Mr. S. Joyce (secretary) did not seek re-election. Mr. C. W. Denyer, a vice-president of the Guild, was in the chair, and on behalf of the ringers thanked Mr. Wells and Mr. Joyce for their good work during their terms of office. The annual report and the financial report were read and adopted. Seven peals were rung in the District during the year, six by District ringers. Mr. E. J. Wells had rung in 20 peals during the year, having conducted 15 of them. Nineteen new members were nominated.
Aftes a ballot Mr. K. Corke, of Aldershot, was elected Ringing Master, with Mr. D. McPherson (Aldershot) his assistant. Mr. C. J. Beadle (Farnham) was elected hon. secretary, with Mr. R. Mills carrying on as assistant secretary and treasurer. Mr. W. H. Viggers was re-elected auditor. Mr. F. Cherryman (Pirbright) was nominated to the Executive Committee, and Miss M. A. Cass correspondent to 'The Ringing World.' Mr. R. Mills expressed the ringers' thanks to the Rector and organist. An enjoyable social followed. Mr. R. I. Whitford, of Aldershot, being the M.C.

THE ANCIENT BELLS OF DEVON

Dear Sir,-I am very grateful to Mr. Smale for his further letter, and for drawing my attention to the bells of Marland St. Peter. I intended to visit that tower last summer on my way home from Torrington, as it seems to be a very interesting one, but the lateness of the hour and the persistence of the rain made me decide against the detour, and instead 1 called at another tower which he mentions-Huishwhere I found the mediæval three-Exeter foundry, late 15th century, I think, and all the same casting without a doubt-to have been rehung fairly recently, in a good little oak frame which looked like one of Stokes's.
I can't pass any judgment on the fifth at Marland St. Peter until I've seen it ; Mr. Smale's reading of the inscription is very different from Ellacombe's, but the mark he mentions sounds like an Exeter foundry mark, and Ellacombe gives it as such. Mr. H. B. Walters regarded the tenor there as being the work of Richard de Wymbish, a London founder of about 1320 , which makes it one of the county's oldest bells. Byrdan or Byrdall? There are very few bells remaining with the name in full, and I have seen only one, at Woodbury. Only the elder, Thomas, signed his bells with his full name; John used his initials, I.B., in very unusual letters, which appear on the bell named 'Byrdan ' after him in Exeter Cathedral (the fourth); However, the name is never spelt with ${ }_{\mathrm{a}}$ ' LL ' on any known bell, so until recently the generally accepted spelling was ' Byrdan.: But Ellacombe gives, on p. 296 of my copy of his 'Church Belis of Devon, some entries from his ' Church Bellis of Devon, some entries from the Cathedral Act Book in all of which the 'LL ith used: he assumed, reasonably enough. that is used : he assumed, reasonaboy enough, stuck to 'Byrdan.'
Three years ago two further sources turned up information about the family; one was the City Archives of Exeter, with a deed relating to Thomas Byrdall of the parish of St. Thomas. The other was the St. Thomas registers, which contain a great number of entries relating to this quite numerous family between 1550 and 1700. The identification of the founder with the man in the deed is supported by the registers, which include the two founders, Thomas

YATTON HONOURS RETIRING CAPTAIN

During an interval in ringing at Yaton, Somerset, for morning service on February 26 th, a presentation was made to Mi. A. E. Price pletion triring tower captain) to mark his completion of 21 years in office. In the presence of the Vicar, Preb. G. A. Beechey and Mr. Royle (Vicar's warden) and a full company of ringers, Mr. L. W. Pullin, Mr. Price's successor, presented him with a cigarette lighter suitably inscribed.
'During Mr. Price's leadership.' said Mr. Pullin, ' the band has grown in knowledge from call change ringers to a very useful change ringing company, practising several Triples methods. The other ringers and I are proud to have served the tower during this time.' The Vicar endorsed these remarks.
Mr. Price (who is parish warden), in replyMr. Price (who is parish, warden), in replyhim completely by surprise and all he could say was 'Thank you all, and I hope to be a ringer here for another 21 years.
In the evening a quarter peal was rung to and John, sometimes with the note 'brazier'; the years of their respective deaths tally with the dates on their last surviving bells.
In mark the occasion.

In the registers the name is sometimes spelt Byrdall, sometimes ' Birdall.' It is never spelt 'Byrdan.'
The 'LL' in the Cathedral archives, then, is not a clerical error, and it seems almost certain that for some reason best known to himself, Thomas Byrdall spelt his name with a final ' N ', only on his bells. Or did he? He used black-letter characters for his name, and except for its greater height 'Il' in black-letter is almost indistinguishable from ' n .' Thomas Byrdall and his son used a plant of stamps which were very mixed, probably incomplete, and some of them over 150 years old. The most likely answer to the puzzle is that Thomas used either a ' 11 ' of a smaller set than the rest of his name, or else that he used a ' $n$ ' instead, trusting on its resemblance to ' 11 .' I should like to see more of his bells to be certain which of these theorics is correct, but I am fully satisfied, from the unanimous evidence of the documents (none of which spell his name with $\mathrm{an}^{\prime} \mathrm{n}$ ') that we must call these two founders -and, I suggest, the bell named after them in the Cathedral-by what seems certain to have been their true surname, Byrdall.

I fully support Mr. Smale in urging young ringers to make part of their equipment for a ringing expedition a piece of heel-ball and some cartridge paper-not forgetting a torch. And if they are in Devon, or the western parts of Somerset. they would do well to look in the crown of any medizval bells they may find; they will sometimes see, between the cannons, impressions of coins. Pencil rubbings, two or three for each coin, each rubbed in a different direction, are best for these, and I will be very glad to see any such rubbings of coins, for they are a great help in dating the bells on which they appear. Awliscombe, Northleigh and Bradford (near Taunton) are places where these coins can certainly be found, but I am sure there are many more waiting for some enterprising ringer's pencil and paper- Yours, etc., JOHN G. M. SCOTT.

OBITUARY  MR. F. RIDOUT

The death took place on February 19th of Mr. Frank Ridout, of Okeford Fitzpaine, Dorset, aged 77.
He was a ringer for over 60 years, a good ringer of five-and six-bell methods, and was known as a good striker. He took his ringing certificate over 50 years ago. Always punctual for Sunday serwice ringing in St. Andrew's Church, and also for practice, Mr. Ridout continued ringing up to the week before his death. He will be missed locally, especially by the Okeford Fitzpaine band. He had five sons, all of whom are ringers.

The funeral took place on February 22nd at St. Andrew's Church. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service, when a full church testified to the esteem in which he was held.

Mr. W. Shute (Ringing Master) and Mrs. Vacher were present.

MR. J. W. ADDISON

The death took place suddenly at his home at Thornaby, Yorks, on March 1st, of Mr. Joseph Wilfred Addison. For many years he had worked hard with his brother, Ray, to keep ringing going at St. Paul's Church, which he lived opposite. Numerous people owe their introduction to ringing to his efforts.

His daughter is now Mrs. T. Francis, the wife of the previous Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Wilf Addison had been a vice-president and auditor of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association since its re-formation in 1951, and had been throughout a most conscientious attender of the monthly meetings. His presence will be missed in many belfries on Tees-side.

Contains 4th and 6th each 14 times in 5-6, without 2 nd or 3 rd in 6ths.

This composition, as any other composition for Pudsey, is true to Lincoln. and was first rung as such at Thorne, Yorkshire, on January 7 th, 1956, conducted by the composer.

A ringing visit to Weston Favell one Sunday recently will not be forgotten in a hurry by a well-known Daventry District ringer. Lucking his car door, leaving the key inside, cost him 85 . 6 d . to get it unlocked-and a few looks from the local police, who wanted to be satisfied he was not the wanted man for six burclaries in Northampton a day previously !

Spliced Plain Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major

By ROGER BALDWIN
One lead only of Cambridge is inserted in each course of Plain Bob. This occurs when the tenor is 3rd's place bell, and the effect is to cut out one lead-end of the course, this being compensated by the length of the lead of Cambridge. If this arrangement is strictly adhered to it has a clean proof scale (no singles must be used).
The following composition was used when the peal was rung on February 11th, 1956, at Shedfield, Hants, conducted by R. Baldwin.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN FAIRIES?

MANY of us read with avid interest the tale of the Big Giant and the Little Giant, a cover feature of a few weeks ago. Well, this is the tale of the five Cornish Piskies (Pixies anywhere else). It all began when one of the senior piskies gathered his little flock around him and announced that they would be attempting a full peal of Toadstool Doubles at a certain tower on December 10th.

Thus, on that fateful day, the little folk, consisting of the senior pisky, a reverend pisky, a charming little elf, a pisky scribe and another pisky imported from the Devon moors and now working with the Dragonfly service, made their way to the scene of the day's fray. The bells, five in number with a tenor of $3 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., were raised and the peal commenced in orderly fashion.

Unfortunately, after thirty minutes' ringing, the end of the tenor rope parted company with the sally and a very puzzled looking senior pisky was left with about a foot of rope in his hands and the remainder lashing about the guides. It was first suspected that sabotage work had been carried out by the rival clan, the gremlins, but unfortunately there was insufficient evidence, and after the rope had been repaired a fresh start was made. This came to grief after nearly two hours when one rebellious pisky decided that he didn't like Grandsire, so why should he ring it? It was then too late to make a fresh start, a fresh date was fixed, and the little elf who had been ringing the treble heaved a sigh of despair, as it was to have been her first peal.

The next attempt was for New Year's Eve and the little band once more assembled in the tiny belfry. Candles were procured from the altar to provide light; the senior pisky, whom we suspect was aspiring to become a junior gnome (acting unpaid), gave a stern lecture on the folly of trying to make Court places in Plain Bob. The bells were tipped out and all went well until the Dragonfly pisky suddenly disappeared, leaving a puff of blue smoke and a strong smell of cordite. He was eventually found outside the church, clasping his abdomen and groaning in agony. It transpired that the greedy little fellow had eaten three full helpings of cowslip casserole for lunch and was now paying for it. However, he made a speedy recovery, another start was made and all went well until the little elf tried a complicated series of dodging and place making in 4-5. This was not met with general approval and 'Stand' was called. The little gathering then broke up and drifted away into the gathering dusk to celebrate in true pisky fashion the arrival of the New Year.

A third attempt was fixed for Saturday, January 21st. This time only the senior pisky's chariot was able to ascend the muddy slope into the church field, whilst the remaining piskies had to leave their chariots (of inferior quality) at the bottom of the field and walk. This time the senior pisky and the little elf were only forty-five minutes late as compared with the usual hour. However, after hasty apologies, the bells were soon going once again, and this time in spite of the fact that the senior pisky nearly miscalled, the Dragonfly pisky trying to ring Grandsire when Plain Bob had been called for, and the fact that nearly all the band missed their sallies at times, the peal triumphantly came round after 2 hours 24 minutes. The band heaved a sigh of relief, bells were lowered and candles returned to their rightful places on the altar. Afterwards, outside the church, the senior pisky was heard boasting to his followers that never had he scored his first peal for any year so early in January, and was quite deflated when two of the band mentioned a peal they had rung only the previous evening.

And so the little folk melted away into the gathering dusk and left behind them one more conquered tower and (who knows?) perhaps some enraged local gremlins. This all goes to show, doesn't it, that there are fairies at the bottoms of our bellropes.

THE LADIES' GUILD

West Midland District

On a hill overlooking Droitwich Spa and an entanglement of railway lines stands the Church of St. Augustine, Dodderhill. It was here on March 3rd that members of West Midland District assembled for their annual meeting.

The church was originally cruciform in shape but subsidence in the 17 th century resulted in the nave collapsing. All that remain to-day are the chancel and transepts of the former church, making the present church T-shaped. The tower, which, after the disappearance of the nave was removed from the crossing to the end of the southern transept, contains a beautiful ring of eight bells. During the afternoon members and friends gave varied performances on these bells with two courses of Grandsire Triples by bands of ladies.

At a short service the Vicar (the Rev. L. W. Chidzey) gave a talk on the history of the church, and then joined the Guild in an excellent tea in a Droitwich cafe.
The following officers were elected for the coming year:-Vice-president, Mrs. D. E. Beamish; secretary, Stella Hughes; Central Committee, Maureen Fellows and Samela Thomas; District Committee, Maureen Fellows, Evelyn Fletcher, Molly Flynn and Samela Thomas.

In her report the secretary stated that with one exception meetings during 1955 had been well attended. She also mentioned the history which was made in the District during the year by a peal at Shirley, Warwickshire.
The next meeting will be held in Warwickshire, probably on the first Saturday in June.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch
Some 35 members and friends attended the March meeting of the Devizes Branch held at Market Lavington. Visitors were present from Bath and Radstock. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Collins), and the choir of young ladies was in attendance.

Tea was served in the School Room. The Vicar welcomed the ringers, this being his first meeting since his induction as Vicar of Market Lavington. Votes of thanks were passed for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for providing the tea.

Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to London and Beverley Surprise Minor.

MAIDSTONE GRAMMAR SCHOOL SOCIETY

A very enjoyable meeting of the Society was held at Marden on February 18th. Ringing from 3 until 4.15 consisted of rounds and call changes and some well-struck touches of Plain Bob and Grandsire Dọubles.
The Vicar of Marden conducted the service, and Mr. G. I. F. Thomson (president of the Society and Divinity master at the Boys' Grammar School) read the lesson.
Tea in the schoolroom was followed by the meeting, held in informal style round a roaring log fire. One new member was elected.
Choir practice in the church prevented us from returning to ring until 7.30. The meeting ended at 8. Our apologies to Mr. W. R. Manser and Mr. L. Holness. P. Y. B.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society was held at Beverley Minster on February 11th at the invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. Collwyn Hargreaves) and the local ringers. Forty-five members attended.

The Minster bells were raised and rung to various methods until the service. This was held in the Minster choir and conducted by the Vicar, assisted by the Rev. George Storer (chaplain to the Society).

Tea, provided by the Minster Wives Guild, was served in the Parish Room, followed by the annual business meeting. Replying to a welcome by the president, Mr. A. E. Sellers, the Vicar said he was pleased to see so many young pcople present, and thought this was a happy augury for the future of ringing.

A surprise item was provided by Mr. T. H. Huddleston and six of his young ringers from Driffield, who gave a first-class display of handbell ringing. They played many favourite tunes on 36 handbells to the delight of the company.

At the invitation of Canon Vesey and ringers of St. Mary's Church, members then adjourned to the tower of St. Mary's to conclude a successful meeting by further ringing.

Officers elected were :-President, Mr. A. E. Sellers (Beverley); vice-presidnt, M. G. Braith. waite (Beverley); secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Parker (Bridlington); assistant secretary, Miss A. Davie (Beyerley); Ringing Master, Mr. L. Rodmell (Patrington); Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. C. Barker (Beverley); Committee, Mr. A. Taylor (Beverley), Mr. R. Ducker (Sutton), Mr. F. Wilkinson (Pocklington), Mr, F. W. Dale (Hessle), Mr. W. Tyson (Bridlington).

 under an increasing shadow. By 6 o'clock, with five 120 still to go, the ringers were mere blobs and the ropes almost completely merged in the general gloom. As an impish gesture the engineers switched on for a few seconds and then plunged the church into total darkness. Power was restored just in time for the Rector to entertain the band to tea.Mr. H. Reynolds, of 10, Eastern Avenue, Polegate, is the new hon. secretary of the Eastern Division, Sussex County Association.
Mr. Frederick A. Finch, of 14, Lancaster Gardens, West Ealing, is again in office as hon. secretary of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association.
Mr. A. P. Cannon writes that the claim for the first peal at Horningsham, Wilts (p. 148), is somewhat late. The first peal was rung here on June 23rd, 1929 - Bob Minor-conducted by Mr. W. C. Shute. Other correspondents are also thanked for the information.
Mr. Joseph E. Grensted, who rang a peal of Stedman Triples at Borden, Kent, on March 3rd, rang his last peal in the method 49 years ago at Rochester Cathedral on February 2nd, 1907, before leaving for Canada. He has recently returned to this country and received the congratulations of the band on his performance.
A bell-ringing father, whose 20 -year-old daughter is a student nurse, has a surprise awaiting him. His daughter has learnt to handle a bell, and she writes: 'Just wait until Dad knows!' She adds: 'This is my biggest and most glorious vice.' When her fellow students heard of the bell-ringing they commented: 'Willie's completely mad'; but she adds: 'Believe me, I love it!

GOSSIP

 has had a most valuable addiome 60 E. H. Lewis, Thesident of the Council, Mr for. Lewis. They are, with two exceptions, foreign books. A list will be published in our next issue. Another substantial gift comes from Mrs. Joan Padmore, grand-daughter of the late Thomas North.Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hoodless have left Nottingham for Southsea.
Kent County Association have arranged for their dinner this year to take place at Rochester on Saturday, October 27th.
A suggestion for an Easter present-a quarter, half-year or annual subscription to 'The Ringing World.' For particulars sec column 1 of this page.
Six bachelors rang a peal on Leap Year`s Day at The Leigh, Gloucestershire. Much to the disappointment of the band, there were no members of the fairer sex waiting outside the church at the conclusion of the peal, in spite of much publicity!
A candid footnote to a peal we received this week was 'Rung just for experience.' This was a very good reason seeing that four of the band were attempting their first peal of Major, and it was also a first in the method as conductor.

Mr. Norman Harding is now rate collector and financial assistant to the Freebridge Lynn Rural District Council.

Mr. J. H. Bullock, of 35, Walmer Close, Romford, Essex, writes that he understands that a recording has been made of the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral. If so, he would like details. He also asks if there are any recordings released of the bells of St. Peter's, Evercreech, Somerset. Mr. Jim Bennett, who is now back at Grundisburgh after his round-the-world trip, will tell the story of his experiences in our next issue.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

PEAL RINGING IN SCOTLAND

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

W
HEN we come to investipate peals rung in Scotland we find there are only 52 of them. Of course, there are only 12 towers to begin with, but even so, the average per tower is very small. The first peal in this country was probably one rung at Old Steeple, Dundee, on May 21st, 1873. It was of Grandsirc Triples. There have been three other peals at this tower-in 1905, 1908 and 1927.

The second peal in Scotland and the first peal of Major (Kent Treble Bob) was rung on September 27th, 1877, at Inverness. This is the only peal which has ever been rung there. These two peals come before Bell News' commenced publication (which is my chief source of 'supply' for that period).

Ooly two other peals were rung in the 19 th century-both at Edinburgh Cathedral (10). The first was of Grandsire Caters on August 31st, 1886, and the other, Kent Treble Bob Royal on August 5th, 1895. Both were, of course, the first of Caters and Royal in the country and were rung by visiting bands. This lower has heard eight peals in all, which makes it second in order of numbers of peals. The remaining six were in 1902 (two), 1904, 1927, 1952 and 1953.

Another Edinburgh tower, St. Cuthbert's (8), has the highest number-18. Eight of these were rung from 1902 to 1908, and eight from 1922 to 1938. The other two were in 1950 and 1952. The third tower in the capital city, St. Andrew's, has not had a peal yet. Both the other 10 -bell towers, Glasgow Cathedral and Inveraray, have had four peals. At the former they were rung in $1922,1937,1948$ and 1951, and at the latter in 1938, 1939, 1951 and 1954.
The remaining 8 -bell towers not already menioned are Alloa, Dundee (St. Paul's), Leith and Paisley. The last tower has had most peals of this group-six. They were rung in the years 1922. 1927, 1929, 1938, 1947 and 1954. Both St. Paul's, Dundee, and Leith had their only peals in 1927 (the frequency of 1927 in the above towers denotes a 'tour'). Alloa's five were in 1927 (!), 1935, 1938, 1950 and 1952.
There is only one 6-bell tower in ScotlandDunkeld Cathedral, and this has not yet appeared in the peal columns of the ringing Press. Thus, there is not a great deal to say about ringing in Scotland. The majority of the above peals have been rung by visiting bands and they are spread fairly evenly through the years. Thus before 1914, 17 peals had been rung. Between the wars came a further 23 , and since 1945 there have been 12. None were rung in 1955 (as in the case of Ireland, also).

FIFTY YEARS RINGER AT NORTH WEALD

A watch-chain medallion in the shape of a oell fashioned in solid gold was presented to Mr. Harry King, captain of the band at North Freald. Essex, on February 19th, to mark his 50 years as a ringer at St. Andrew's, North Weald. With the presentation was a book conraining 49 signatures of contributors who were ringers or associates of St. Andrew's Guild.
The Vicar (the Rev. Bernard Adeney) made Whe presentation, and among those present were Mr. F. C. Gant (general secretary of the Essex Association), Mr. J. H. Crampion (Master) and Mr. C. Willmington (secretary) of the SouthWestern Division.
Before the morning service a quarter peal of Wob Doubles was rung by Janet Evans 1, S. Kiny (conductor) 2, L. Cordell 3, N. King 4, 4. King 5, J. Lodge 6. After the service 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung by F. Gant (conductor) 1, Wendy Bowak 2, L. Cordell 3, (C.Willmington 4, H. King 5, J. Crampion 6.

Golden Wedding of Mr. & Mrs. John George Jefferies

MR. \& MRS. J. G. JEFFERIES celebrated their golden wedding on Saturday, March 3rd. Mr. Jack Jefferies (as he is known to all his friends) has lived most of his life in the village of Mangotsfield, which until quite recently was 'truly rural,' but has now become part of a large housing estate, which surrounds the city of Bristol. At Barley Close Farm he has carried on his dairy farm, and can quite well remember selling milk in 1d. and $\frac{1}{2}$ d. measures.
Mr. Jefferies has been a keen bellringer for over 55 years, and has been captain of Mangotsfield ringers for 30 years, a position he still retains. His two sons and two of his three grandsons are also ringers, and sometimes enjoy ringing a peal together.
A very popular personality, Mr. Jefferies has done a lot of spadework for ringing. He is a College Youth, a Past Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and a Past Master of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds.

He was congratulated by his fellowmembers of the Gloucester and Bristol Management Committee at their meeting in Gloucester on Saturday, March 3rd.

On Monday, March 5th. a representative band of the Gloucester and Bristol officials rang a quarter peal of Stedman Triples, and amongst the ringers was veteran Fred Leaker, who arranged and rang for Mr. and Mrs. Jefferies' wedding fifty years ago. Mr. Jefferies afterwards entertained the ringers and friends at the local hostelry, who thank Mr, and Mrs. Jefieries for their hospitality.
F. Skidmore in the quarter peal consisted of F. Skidmore (general hon. secretary) 1, F. G. Leaker (vice-president) $2, ~ C . \quad$ R. Harding (Master) 3, A. C. Baker (Management Commit-

MAJOR WITH SEVEN PAIRS OF HANDS

Peals at Pendleton are rare but that on February 19th was indeed a special occasion as the band included Frank Barraclough and Basil Jones, each of whom has lost an arm, amputation being at the shoulder. The apparent ease with which they handle and strike any bell is amazing.

Pendlebury, at the end of last century, was one of the most active towers in Lancashire. It was here that the late Harry Chapman conducted the first peals of Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major for the Association, and the decades to follow saw many more peals. A member of the band for many years was the late Henry Shuker, that friendly man so popular and familiar at Council meetings. Another member was his pal, Sam Greenhalgh, who joined the Association in 1892 and rang about 100 peals.
The bells were completely restored in 1908 by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and are in good tone, but a 5,120 under three hours today is not exactly a free gift. writes Dee Cee Vee, though our giant guest-star artist and conductor simply toyed with the tenor.

UNRINGABLE TOWERS RECORD

Dear Sir,-I have nearly completed my survey of the unringable towers in the British Isles and the assistance I have had from most counties has been of great help, but in order to complete my lists I must appeal for the following information.

Counties in which I have only partial information are as follows: Bucks, Hunts, Lancs, Lincs, Northants, Oxon and Somerset: also I have no information at all on the following: Berks, Cheshire, Notts, Suffolk.

If some enthusiasts could help me with these counties, I would be grateful. - Sincerely yours,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 Eastern DivisionDespite the very cold weather about 40 members attended the annual mecting of the Eastern Division at St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on February 25th. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m. and included methods up to Double Norwich Court Boh Major.

A short service was held at 4.30 p.m. conducted by the Rev. L. E. Meredith assisted by the Rev. J. Tibbs. The service included the special hymn for bellringers in the revised version of 'Ancient and Modern.' Tea was enjoyed in The Old Parsonage attached to the church.

At the business meeting Mr. F. Dallaway was elected to the chair. An apology for absence was received on behalf of Mrs. Percy, who wished the meeting every success. The statement of accounts revealed a balance of $£ 27$ 12s. 10d., a little lower than last year due to a large increase in the levy. In his report for 1955 the secretary stated that 11 meetings had been held during the year with an average attendance of 25 . Twenty-two elected members were welcomed to the Association, including two non-resident members. He was pleased to report that the condition of the bells in the Division was good. The two trebles to complete the octave at Wadhurst were dedicated on May 28th, and Bexhill bells were in ringing order once again.

The following officers were elected for 1956:-Secretary, Mr. H. G. Reynolds (Mr. R. W. Pankhurst not wishing to stand for re-election): Ringing Master, Mr. L. Giles; auditor, Mr. T. A. Hunnisett: Committec, Mrs. B. Percy and Mr. G. Beency.

Mr. Verdon proposed a vote of thanks to the officers of the Division for their good services during the past year, and Mr. Percy (general secretary of the Association) pointed out the marked increase of affiliated towers during the past three years. It was unanimously decided on a suggestion from Mr . Rogers that a letter be sent to the Master of the Association (Mr. S. E. Armstrong) on behalf of the mecting expressing regret on hearing of the illness of his wife and wishing her a speedy recovery, and hoping to see him at a future mecting of the Division. A collection was made towards the Bow Bells Appeal, which realised $£ 110$ s.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the scrvice, the organist, and the ladies for preparing an excellent tea.

EMERGENCY LIGHTING IN SOMERSET TOWER
Dear Sir ,-In the olden days when oil lamps were the means of lighting the belfry there was little chance of suddenly being cast into pitch darkness: but by modern electric light Oh, yes, it can and has happened. It did down Yatton way in Somerset.

Now by means of a handyman's work, a couple of switches, batteries, etc., that go with it to make light, an emergency lighting system has been installed, and should the power fail either ringers or others in the belfiry can pull cords, and the danger of flying ropes in the darkness has gone. Though the emergency light is only ${ }^{2}$ glimmer compared with the mains, it is sufficient to finish a touch or quarter pcal.

Has any other lower thought of the dangers of a "blackout," and are there any other in-stallations?-Yours faithfully.
H. A. PRICE

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Shropshire Association, held in Shrewsbury, attracted a gathering of more than 80 members and visitors from a wide area, who during the afternoon rang touches on the 10 bells of St. Mary's and also on the 12 at St. Chad's. The service at the latter church was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. F. A. Chapman, who said this was the last time he would have the privilege of welcoming the Association as he was shortly leaving for Stoke-on-Trent. All present heard this with the deepest regret, as during his stay in Shrewsbury the Vicar of St. Chad's has been a most valued friend and supporter of ringers.
After tea at the County Cafe the annual meeting was held in St. Chad's Parish Room. In his report the Master (Mr. A. Pritchard) said that 1955 had been a fairly successful year; six meetings had been held with an average attendance of 42 , and the ringing at these had on the whole been good. Thirteen peals had ben rung ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Bob Maximus, and including Association - firsts' of Lincolnshire Surprise Major and Yorkshire Surprise Royal. Atcham bells had been rehung and the first peal on them rung by the Association.
The halance sheet presented by the hon. treasurer showed a balance in hand on the year's working after paying for 200 reports. This was considered highly satisfactory, and a special vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. F. H . Bennett for his grand work during the year.
Officers for 1956 were elected as follows:Master. Mr. A. Pritchard : hon. secretary, Miss E. V. Jones : hon. treasurer, Mr. F. H. Bennett: trustees, Messrs. A. S. Bayley and E. Fox: auditor, Mr. Hughes. A. ballot for Central Council representative, rendered vacant by the departure of Mr. L. Hewett, resulted in the election of Mr. F. H. Bennett to this post.
An invitation was received from the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society to join in a joint meeting at Burton-on-Trent on April 14th, and it was agreed to support this. Other meetings will be held as follows:-March. Oswestry: May, Market Drayton: June, High Ercall; July, Atcham: Scptember, joint meeting with Hereford Guild, venue to be decided: November, Whitchurch.
After the usual votes of thanks the company returned to St. Chad's tower, where further ringing was enjoyed until nine o'clock.

FIRST PEAL OF SURPRISE

 MAJOR BY ALL-DEVON BANDIn the 'Royal Oak' afterwards, we were trying to work out how many attempts the Guild had had for it; we failed, but settled for 12 or 13. The first was some time in 1951, and like all the rest, except one at Honiton Clyst, was at Wolborough: they varied in duration between ten minutes and two hours. Sometimes the ringing was good-sometimes . . . well, least said soonest mended: but, conditions being what they are in Devon, it was quite an achievement. Very few of us rang any Surprise Major between one peal attempt and the next, and the arrangement of each attempt was a triumph of organisation, for there are not more than a dozen Surprise peal ringers in the county, and they live as far as 57 miles apart, and are busy men; well over a thousand miles must have been covered in the course of the attempts, one of the regular participants covering over 70 miles by train each time.

We felt a little humble. afterwards, conscious that we were the lucky eight to have our names under the peal. Any of the attempts might have been the successful one, and it was a pity that two men, in particular, couldn't get away for this one-E. J. Taylor and Tom Myers. We always felt more confident that this might be - It when they were in the band, and it was almost unfair to sncak through it without them. What's more, they came the furthest to the attempts. And there was Elizabeth Brown, 100 : she might have been in it if she hadn't had to run away to Wiltshire.

Well, there it is ; it will be quite a novelty for one of us to meet Fred without the certainty of hearing. 'When are we going for that Cambridge again?' But what do I hear, floating through the tobacco-smoke across the pint pots? Heigh-ho. they're talking about Yorkshire now.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

For their annual meeting the Eastern Branch again visited Loddon, and some 28 members and friends braved the arctic conditions to make the gathering a happy one.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. R. Ninham), the Association president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston) reading the lesson. The tusiness meeting after tea was presided over by Mr. E. R. Goate, Branch chairman.
Branch officers elected were :-Chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate : secretary, Mr. P. G. W. Ncwstead: Ringing Master. Mr. Godfrey G. Wat pole (in place of Mr. H. W. Barrett, appointed Association Ringing Master). Miss D. E. Lidbetter and Mr. S. Copling were elected as Branch representatives on the Association Standing Committec. Messrs. Forder. Chapman, Bird, Bailey and Ford were elected ta the Branch Committce.

The recent belfry election of Mr. and Mrs. B. Warwick, of Blaby, was ratified, and the following new members were also elected : Mr. P. T. D. Cattermole, Miss S. Hewitt and Miss P. Randelsome.

Subject to usual permission being obtained, a practice meeting is to be held at St. Margaret's, Lowestoft, on April 14th, a meeting proper at Pakefield on June 16th: other dates for 1956 are September 291h and December 1st, venues yet to be decided.

Certain of the Branch officers having received appeal literature in respect of the 'Bow Bells ' Fund, some discussion ensued. It was finally agreed that the question should go be fore the Association's Standing Committec.

The meeting took the opportunity of congratulating personally Mr. Nolan Golden, whe recently rang his 1,000 th peal. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. C. R. Ninham, the organist (Mr. Bond). Mr. Barrett (Master of the local company) and Mrs. Barrett and her lady helpers for the excelient tea.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'CRAFT' GUILDS

Dear Sir,-Mr. W. F. Stenson, in his letter published on March 2nd, 1956, reports the views of Mr. R. B. Meadows about the proposal for the formation of a Railwaymen's Guild. Mr. Meadows is opposed to what he calls 'craft' guilds because, in his opinion, they cut across the diocesan and county guilds and he goes on to say that the Police Guild is not liked for that reason.

So far as I know the only 'craft, guilds existing at present are the Guilds of Clerical and Medical Ringers, the National Police Guild and, if it is still in being, the Royal Air Force Association.
I am a member of the Police Guild and I cannot sec in what way it harms the interests of the territorial societies. Its members meet together as a body only for the annual meeting and dinner, and they ring very few peals as a guild. To me the success of the annual gatherings is sufficient justification for the existence of the guild.

The majority of members about whom I know anything pull their full weight in their diocesan and county guilds and in many cases they can be counted amongst the most enthusiastic and loyal supporters. At a function in Leicester a few years ago there were present, with others, the president and a vice-president of a diocesan guild, a district secretary of a county association. the Master of the College Youths and three ex-district secretaries of county associations, all of them active members of the Police Guild. Does this show that 'craft" guilds cut across diocesan and county guilds? I think not.

If the Police Guild is unpopular, the reason, in my opinion, is not the one given by Mr. Meadows, but lies in the fact that membership of it is confined to ringers with interests other than ringing in common. For the same reason the various university societies are not liked by some ringers.

I do not, however, accept that the Police Guild is generally unpopular and I know that the university socicties are not. I therefore feel that those railwaymen who are in favour of the formation of a guild for members of their craft' need not fear that they will incur the hostility of the Exercise at large. I, for onc. Wish them every success if they form their guild. -Yours sincerely.

PEAL OF KENT TREBLE BOB WITHDRAWN
Dear Sir.-I wish to withdraw the peal of 5.088 Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Pudsey on October 15th, 1955, because of falseness.

This peal was taken from an old copy of Treble Bob. Part II., and I carclessly omitted to check the figures.

I hope the band and the Yorkshire Association will accept my sincere apologies and I append the composition so others will not fall in the same trap.-Yours, etc.,
R. BETTLEY-COOKE.

BOW BELLS APPEAL
Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. A. F. Wellington's query ('Ringing World,' page 121, Feb. 24th). I should like to express agreement with his proposition concerning a centralised payment of ringers' donations, via the Central Council. There are two points which I should like to raise, however.

Firstly, if there is a C.C. official willing to act as receiver, would it not be better to send all (ringers') donations direct to this official? There are doubtless many ringers who would wish to contribute individually.

Secondly, without presuming to instruct the church authorities of St. Mary-le-Bow, I feel that we ringers should press for a 53 cwt. tenor. Although there are several very good twelves with tenors around 42 cwt. (St. Nicholas', Liverpool, are generally reckoned to be the finest in the country), the familiar Bow Bells would surely not be quite the same without the extra metal. Modern bell-hanging would, I think, give a reasonably bandy ring at this weight.-Yours faithfully,
D. MOTTERSHEAD

PEALS AT LOUGHBOROUGH FOUNDRY

Dear Sir,-The subject of the "freak' peal of Plain Bob Major rung at the Loughborough Bell Foundry should have been allowed to dic a natural death. However, I am very surprised at Mr. E. C. Gobey, thinking 2 hrs. 35 mins. a fast time for a peal on the Foundry bells.

I have rung 62 peals there at an average time of 2 hrs. 254 mins. Fifty of these have been on the back eight at an average time of 2 hrs. $22 \frac{1}{2}$ mins. Even the slowest, 2 hrs. 38 mins.. is only three minutes more than Mr . Gobey's "fast' time, and that was a 5.120 . My next slowest was 2 hrs. 32 mins. Even when Mr . Gobey rang a 9,120 on February 16th. 1924, the time was 4 hrs, 37 mins., which works out at 2 hrs. 35 mins, or 2 hrs. 36 mins. for a 5,056 . Did Mr. Gobey think that was fast or slow?

It is true that in recent years peals have tended to be rung quicker, but ringers who ring these fairly regularly in the evenings do not arrive by train until 6 p.m. and the return train leaves at 9.1 p.m.. which does not allow for any minutes to be lost.

In my opinion, Mr. Gobey ought to have more sense than to query the truth of the composition. At least three members of the hand (apart from the conductor) can vouch for the accuracy of the peal.- Yours faithfully,

BRIAN G WARWICK.
Ringing Master, St. Thomas*. South Wigston.

A GENUINE INQUIRY

Dear Sir. - In "The Ringing World ' of March and I note a cryptic paragraph beginning. "It is a pity that so many people indulge in wishful thinking when adding footnotes to their peals.

If this unnamed correspondent refers to a recent peal at Great Bromley. I must protest that it is an even greater pity that he is apparently unable to distinguish between a peal column and a gossip column, as in this instance no footnote was appended, a note being inserted in Belfry Gossip in an honest attempt to ascertain the facts.

Incidentally I wonder if this correspondent is so certain of his facts, as I have been shown a 1912 record which shows that Canon Papillon rang 14 peals for the Essex Association. which is not quite the same as ringing and conducting dozens at one tower.- Yours sincerely,
R. DUESBURY.

[Note.-We also thank Peter J. Eves for his letter making the same point.-Ed.]

ADVANTAGES OF A RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

Dear Sir,-Although not a mover of the proposed Railwaymen's Guild and feeling at first opposed to its formation, I have nevertheless exchanged views about it with a number of railwaymen and non-railwaymen friends. As also you yourself, sir, in a speech at the Heary Johnson Dinner have associated my name with the matter, perhaps I might have a few lines of your space to put forward a personal opinion which to some extent modifies what I wrote privately to Frank Stenson a few weeks ago (quoted by him in The Ringing World of March 2nd).

Let us admit that there are already enough ringing associations without our adding another, especially an exclusive non-territorial guild. Railwaymen would not wish to bring themsclves into disfavour by asking to be treated as a separate body within the ringing Exercise. It ought, then, to be made clear at the start:-

1. That the proposed guild would not wish to be considered for Central Council representation.
2. That peals would not be rung for the proposed guild, but for the local association as appropriate in each place.
3. That non-railwaymen ringers would be welcome at any ringing meetings. No doubt joint meetings with local associations could usually be arranged.
The formation of a Railwaymen's Guild is not as aimless as might appear, the significance being in railway staff facilities. To put the matter plainly, railwaymen, who in general work odd and awkward hours, are less able to attend ringing occasions than they would like, but would be seen more often in the tower if ringing were recognised as an organised activity by their Railway Staff Association. To be organised you require some kind of a guild.

Would ringers, I wonder, be willing to look more kindly on the proposed new guild if they are assured that its real purpose is not to seclude railwaymen ringers into periodical "clan' gatherings, but to assist many of them towards ringing with their friends up and dowa the country more often than is now possible.Yours faithfully, R. B. MEADOWS.

STEDMAN TRIPLES AT SOUTII WIGSTON

Dear Sir,-The report of a so-called peal of Stedman Triples at South Wigston makes one think. I myself am just a novice at this great art. and after reading $F$. S. C.'s letter I think it is betten to stay put than get mixed up with these so-called 'peal snatchers.

On looking back in "The Ringing World " (page 89), I note that six of the band were amongst the leading peal ringers of 1955, and one. I am told, has over a thousand peals to his credit.

If peals have to be rung like this just to make up the number, please save me from B. G. W.'s band.-Yours, etc.,

TENOR CLAPPER REMOVED FOR VISITORS

Dear Sir,-In the '20's after much regotiation we obtained the use of Bow bells for a short visit.

Judge of our surprise, while waiting to ascend the tower, we heard two hefty men descending carrying a body on their shoulders. The body turned out to be the clapper from the tenor. Left to our own devices, we rang some very bad Grandsire Caters. Perhaps that is what they expected. I am pleased to report better receptions at all other London and district towers.-Yours truly,
H. VALLANCE.

BEWDLEY HOLD THEIR FIRST DINNER

The young, keen and flourishing band at St. Ann's, Bewdley, Worcs., held their first annual dinner on February 13th. Although the weather did its best to wreck the function, all the cars reached their destination and all but one of the 24 acceptances were present.

The Rev. R. A. Jones (Rector) presided, and the toast of 'The St. Ann's Association' was proposed by Mr. B. C. Ashford, secretary of the Northera Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association and acknowledged by the Master. The Master proposed 'The Visitors,' and Mr. H. V. Cooper, Stourbridge, replied. Afterwards Messrs. Ashford, Cooper and A. Glazzard (Master of Hartlebury) gave a delightful programme of handbell ringing.

Congratulations to two members of the New South Wales Association who have recently qualified as doctors; they are Geoff Logan, of St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney, and Dick Bailey, of All Saints', Parramatta.
St. Mary's Cathedral has recently lost two ringers. Ted Sheehy has completed his studies as a wool classer and will be working away from Sydney, while his brother John has gone to Springwood to commence his studies for the priesthood.
A peal attempt at Parramatta for the wedding of Bobby Ferris, their tower captain, broke down after 1 hour and 40 minutes.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM H. THEOBALD

We deeply regret to record the passing on February 20th, at the age of 85 , Mr. William H. Theobald, an esteemed member of the Leytonstone band, which made history between the wars in furthering the art of Spliced Surprise Minor ringing.

Unfortunately, Mr. Theobald had been confined to his room for several years past through arthritis, and although he could no longer take any active part in ringing, his keenness never waned. His old friend Mr. E. D. Smith used to visit him frequently, as did several others of his old associates, and through them he kept in touch with ringing in general. Whenever one visited him he always had a cheery greeting, and loved to talk of old days.

Mr. Theobald was a native of Marlow, and it was in the tower of All Saints' where he first learnt to ring, and rang his first peal in 1889, conducted by the late J. W. Washbrook. On moving to the London area he quickly progressed and became a member of the St. John the Baptist Society, Leytonstone. He joined the Essex Association in 1907 and at one time held office as district secretary and later as auditor until ill health intervehed.

Mr. Theobald rang 188 peals on all numbers from Minor to Maximus. Although most were rung for the Essex Association, he rang many for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the London County Association.

With his passing goes another link with the old Leytonstone six-bell band, whose quality of ringing was of the highest standard, and still remembered by many.

He was cremated at the City of London Crematorium on February 23 rd. In addition to family mourners, Mr. E. D. Smith and Mr. J. H. Crampion attended.

CANON JOHN MOSS

The death of the Rev. Canon John Moss occurred on March 3rd after a short illness. He was Vicar of Bilsborrow, near Preston. and Rural Dean of Garstang. It did not matter whether it was a peal attempt or a moeting, Canon Moss always made a point of meeting the ringers. His wife always came on the scene with refreshments, and in this way they became known to a wide circle of ringers in Lancashire.
The funeral took place at Bilsborrow on March 6th and was attended by the Bishop of Blackburn (Rt. Rev. W. H. Baddesley), the Suffragan Bishop of Lancaster (Rt. Rev. A. L. E. Hoskyns-Abrahall), the Archdeacon of Lancaster (Ven. W. G. Fallows) and a large number of clergy from the Garstang and Preston Deaneries. The Lancashire Association was represented by the vice-president and the Preston Branch secretary. Ringers were present from Broughton, Leyland, Penwortham and Scorton. The bells were rung fully muffled before the service and after the committal.
Mr. Moss was 64 and his death is much regretted. He leaves a widow and daughter to mourn their loss, his two sons having been killed in World War II. E. R. M.

OBITUARY

MR. WALTER E. LONGMAN
The Crewe Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild is much the poorer by the death of one of its most respected members, Mr. Walter E. Longman, of All Saints' Church, Lawton, who died on February 20th. He had been in indifferent health for about 12 months but his death was unexpected.
The service he had given to the church was an example to all with whom he came in contact, and at his death he was a churchwarden, a position he had held for a number of years. He was also a member of the choir from boyhood days and a ringer of no mean ability. Mr . Longman had rung about 70 peals, ranging from Doubles upwards, and during the years when Lawton ringing was at its peak he look part in many Surprise peals. He was elected as a member of the Central Council but owing to illness was unable to attend.

He was laid to rest in the shadow of the tower he had served so well on February 23rd. Representatives of the Chester Guild and North Staffs Association attended the funeral.
After the memorial service on Sunday, Feb. 26 th , a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by his ringing friends with the bells halfmufficd. The band consisted of : Robert Arrowsmith (Lawton) 1, Phillip S. Whalley (Wolstanton) 2, Brian Ferneyhough (Alsager) 3. William Massey (Wolstanton) 4, Thomas Arrowsmith (Lawton) 5, George W. Biddulph (Wolstanton) 6, Douglas R. Whalley, conductor (Wolstanton) 7, Alex. Booth (Lawton) 8.

The ringers wish to extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Longman, Nancy and Daniel.

MR. WILLIAM E. SPICE

Following a short illness, the death occurred at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, Rochester, on March 6th, of Mr. William Edward Spice, of Tunstall, Sittingbourne.

He was 67 years of age and for the past 45 years had belonged to the Tunstall band of ringers, of which he became captain and secretary following the death some nine years ago of his father, William Spice, sen.

Although not keen on peal ringing, he partook in a number of peals during his lifetime, the first being a peal of Grandsire Triples at Penshurst in May, 1904. He was, however, a regular and reliable ringer for Sunday services at Tunstall, where he was for many years a member of the choir, served on the parochial church council, and was always a willing helper in decorating the church for the usual festivals. Because of his professional skill as a gardener, his decorative work was always much admired. It may truly be said that 'Bill' Spice, as he was known by his many friends, was of sterling cliaracter and a most likeable disposition. He will be sadly missed at Tunstall.

The funeral took place at Tunstall on March 10th. Immediately-following the committal in the churchyard, members of the Tunstall band, assisted by local ringer friends, rang the bells half-muffled.

Among the many floral tributes to his memory there was one from the members of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association. of which the deceased became a member some 50 years ago.

MR. WILLIAM EVANS

With deep regret we record the death of Mr. William Evans, late of Lvonshall, Herefordshire, at the age of 67, at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, of Old Radnor. He was for about 10 years (until 1934) Ringing Master of the Kington District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild and had rung 33 peals.

A skilled motor mechanic, he worked for many years with the firm at W. H. Burgoyne and Sons in their haulage and tent-hire business at Lyonshall.
The funeral took place on February 27th at Old Radnor Church, the service being conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. D. J. Williams, assisted by the Rev. I. Price.
The bearers were local ringers, who, after the service and assisted by Mrs. E. Chandler (assistant secretary and peal recorder, Hereford Guild) and Mr. A. Williams (Almeley), rang the bells half-muffied.
Among the floral tributes were wreaths from the Old Radnor ringers and one from the Kington District ringers.
On the following Saturday a half-muffled peal of Minor was attempted at Old Radnor by a representative band of the district, of which Mr. Evans was Master, but after ringing five extents in just over two hours, 'Stand' had to be called, much to the disappointment of the ringers and parishioners, owing to the very bad 'go' of the bells, particularly the Sth and tenor, which had given its ringers more than enough! It is hoped that a further attempt may be made at another tower. The ringers were: Leslie Evans 1, Mrs. E. Chandler 2, Laurence T. Mainwaring 3, Frederick R. Harris 4. A. Bryan Elismore (conductor) 5, Austin T. Wingate 6.

Cheddar Tower Is Alive

Two years ago there was no ringing for Christmas at Cheddar, the band having gone to pieces. Since then a gratifying revival has taken place with a record of unbroken ringing for Sunday service. Tribute to this was paid at the annual ringers' service by the Vicar (the Rev. J. T. George).

The service was preceded by a number of younger ringers playing hymns on handbells. Unfortunately the captain, Mr. E. C. Wickham, was prevented from attending through indisposition. The lessons were read by Mr. Richard Brown, vice-captain, and prayers and hymns were taken from the Association's form of service.

THE GRECIAN HANDBELL RINGERS

On my way home from school one afternoon some sixty odd years ago I saw a poster which read:-
' Come and see The Grecian Handbell Ringers.
Fresh from Greece.
See and hear them play.
Admission one penny.'
My friend Harold suggested we should get our parents to treat us because it happened to be a special feature in connection with the Annual Carnival, so it was agreed that Dad should be asked to pay, and then compare results. Before approaching Dad I had second thoughts on the subject, for he happened to be leader of a good team of handbell ringers and he might not like me to patronise a party from Greece, but in my eagerness to comply with the bidding on the poster I resolved to chance it, for after all he could only refuse to let me see and hear handbell ringers from abroad.

When I mentioned the subject to Dad I fully expected him to say I ought to support home talent, but to my surprise he became interested in the wording I saw on the poster and told me to find out where the ringing was to take place. The next day I found out the performances would take place in a large marquee, but nobody could tell me what time train the Grecians would reach the town, so Harold and I had to be content with the knowledge that our entrance fees had been promised when the eventful evening came.

When the evening did come both of us found plenty of people entering the marquee, but we managed to get a seat at the back and, after a short wait, the stage curtains were drawn aside to show about twenty-five handbells on a table. Then came four men in red and white striped costumes with black faces. They began to play and, strangely enough, the tune was one I had often heard at home on handbell practice nights, and as I looked from one ringer to another the whole truth was revealed to me in a flash. Yes, there they were, Dad and three of his band posing as ' The Grecian Handbell Ringers fresh from Greece.'

Of course, Harold and I soon felt we had been duped, and when the performance was found to consist of two tunes with a course of Grandsire Triples in between we decided it was not good value for money, so a scheme to stay and hear another performance was hastily decided upon. This scheme consisted of sitting down behind the back form quite close to the side curtains while the audience went out and the next assembly began, but our calculations were soon upset, for two men appeared from nowhere and commenced hitting us on various parts of our heads with bladders. This attack was kept up until we reached the exit in spite of Harold telling them that my Dad was leader of the 'Grecians,' which only made them give us a few more whacks to end our visit. Harold went home after declaring the show a fraud, and he also resolved to give handbell ringing a wide berth in future, but I desired to investigate matters a little further and ascertain some more information about the affair.

The next morning I found things far from normal on my arrival downstairs, for Dad had come home from his ' Grecian ' performances after Mum had gone to bed, and whether he was unable to restore his black face to normal by the removal of a new kind of make-up, or whether he was very tired and forgot about it, I could not find out, but you can readily picture what a shock Mum had when morning came! How Dad removed the stuff from his face and beard is a mystery to me, and what became of the pillow slip could not be ascertained, for my first question received a sharp reply; therefore I deemed it advisable to apply the 'silence is golden' rule.

Looking at the poster, which had not been removed, the words, 'Fresh from Greece,' caught my eye and, after pondering for a short while, I came to the conclusion that the Grecian Handbell Ringers were only connected with Greece by grease paint on their make-up. No doubt the disguise hoodwinked a lot of people and the ringers worked hard to give the public a good show for the modest sum of one penny, but for myself who had heard the tunes many times at home it was a disappointment until the humorous side of the affair became the subject of a good laugh, and when a goodly sum was handed to the hospital authorities it was a gratifying result to all concerned.

GILLETT  AND JOHNSTON

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Cillett & Johnston bells or tower clocks. Gillett & Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service - as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

PEAL RINGING IN IRELAND

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WYITH the article on ringing in Wales. my main task was over, for there only remained places where very few peals had been rung. Over the past almost two years I have written about approximately 95,000 peals rung in the English counties. The Welsh article covered the 1,754 peals rung in that country. In the rest of the world we find that 219 peals have been rung in Ireland, 50 in Scotland, 49 in Australia, eight in New Zealand, three in South Africa, two in Canada and one in the U.S.A. No wonder change ringing is an English art!
Now for the peals rung in Ireland. Usually, the period commences with the peals published in 'Bell News," which started in 1881. In this case it is possible to include all the peals which have ever been rung in this country. The first peal ever was rung on July 27th, 1872, at Waterford Cathedral (8) by the College Youths. It was of Grandsire Triples. Another in the same method followed on December 9th, 1873, also at Waterford. This is recorded in 'Church Bells,' vol. IV., page 31. The next peal I have come across is one at Lurgan (8) on July 31 st, 1877 (' Church Bells,' vol. VII., page 459). This, too, was Grandsire Triples. These are the only peals I have found before ' Bell News, commenced publication, and it wasn't until 1897 that the first peal in Ireland is recorded in its columns. This was at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, at the opening of the new ring of 10 . It was the first peal of Royal in Ireland. The 10 were augmented to 12 in 1910 , although it wasn't until 1927 that we learned of the first peal on the 12 -the first peal of Maximus to be rung outside England. Actually, 18 peals had been rung on the 10 before the first war broke out. There were 20 from 1916 to 1936 and there have been two since 1945in 1949 and 1953. The total of 40 makes it second on the list of towers for peals.
Most peals have been rung at Arklow (8)-51. No less than 42 of them were rung from 1899 to 1909 -an average which compares very well with many English towers. There were 13 peals in 1904, including two by a touring band on one day (W. Pye and Co.). It can be surmised that there must have been a "leading light' to have rung so many in this period, and the answer is-J. Washbrook, one of the most famous ringers of all time. It was his enthusiasm which led to most of the pre-firstwar peals. Gabriel Lindoff is also a name which must not be forgotten when we are thinking of Ireland and Irish peals. He. too, has left his mark on the Exercise. After the first war only three peals were rung at Arklow hefore the second war-in 1918, 1927 and 1931 . There were six from 1942 to 1950 (Ireland did not quite prevent it being said that, despite the ban on tower bell ringing in England during the war, no year was peal-less, for they missed 1941, although one or two were accomplished in 1942).
After Arklow and St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, there is a big drop to the next tower in order of peals. Only three others have reached double figures. Holywood (8) has 20 the first in 1904 (on W. Pye's tour), and 16 since 1946 (none last year). The remaining three were from 1931 to 1936. Dublin. St. George's (8), has 15, as follows: 1902, 1903 , 1909. 1930 to 1940 (5), 1942, 1944. 1947 to 1953 (5). Hillsborough (8) has U-in 1904, 1909. 1931 and 1949 to 1953 (8).

We now turn to consider the towers in descending order of numbers of bells. The only 12 -bell tower has already been mentioned.

There are six 10 -bell towers and one of these (Wexford) is still virgin territory, I believe. This means that it is the only unconquered 10 bell tower there is. Very few peals have been rung on the other five. At Derry Cathedral there have been five peals ( 1930, 1931, 1936 and 1951 (two)); at Dublin, Christ Church Cathedral seven (1899, 1901, 1904, 1927, 1928, 1936 and 1953); at Dublin, St. John-the-Baptist's, two (1899 and 1904); at Enniskillen Cathedral three (1936, 1951 and 1953); and at Limerick R.C. Monastery one (1949). Thus only 18 in all, and mostly by touring bands.
The remaining 8 -bell towers have figures as follows: Ballymena four (1931. 1936. 1951 (two)); Bangor four (1909, 1936, 1951, 1953); Belfast, St. Thomas' three (1904, 1909, 1931); Bray nine ( 1900 to 1909 six, 1927, 1953, 1954); Carrickfergus nine ( 1931 to 1936 five, 1947 to 1951 four); Coleraine four (1931, 1936, 1949, 1953): Drogheda five (1901, 1904, 1931, 1952, 1953): Kilkenny Cathedral one (1949); Limerick Cathedral two (1938, 1949); Lurgan eight (1904 two, 1909, 1931, 1947 to 1953 four) and Waterford Cathedral three (1904, 1905, 1949). The two Cathedrals at Cork still appear to be virgin territory.

As for 6-bell towers, none had been conquered before 1949, when a peal was rung at Drumbo. We now find five of the seven have had peals - Bandon one (1950): Belfast. St. Donard's (8), (all since 1950); Doneraile one (1954) ; Drumbo four 1949 to 1953); Rostrevor one (1950). There remain Blessington and Dublin. St. Andrew's, to appear in the peal columns. No peal has yet been rung on the only five-bell tower-Ross.
The best peal-ringing period in the history of the country was when J. W. Washbrook was resident there. Eighty-two peals were rung from 1899 to 1909 . This is closely approached in the 11 years from 1945 to 1955, when 70 peals were rung (none in 1955, though). Apart from these two periods, very few peals have been rung except on the occasional 'tour,' e.g.: 1931 and 1936. So much for the 'Emerald Isle: Peals include all published up to February 3rd. 1956.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

Southern District

The hospitality shown to visitors at Baglan has to be experienced to be believed. Such an occasion happened on March 3rd, when the Guild's quarterly meeting was held there. One never fails to be impressed by the beautiful Church of St. Catherine, which is always worthy of a visit; also the spire and the six bells are on a par with the church.

Members attended from Gorseinon, Sketty, Llangynwyd, Llandilo, Cadoxton, Neath, Aberavon, Porthcawl, with the local band. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was under the direction of the Master, Mr. E. Morris.

The District secretary expressed the thanks of everyone for the excellent tea provided. At the business meeting the Vicar (the Rev. J. Llew Jones) welcomed all to Baglan, and said he was always pleased to entertain members of the Guild of Bellringers. The statement of accounts was read and duly adopted. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Dyffryn. Mr. D. J. Lewis expressed pleasure in seeing Mr. E. Phillips back again.

After a rope had broken early in the evening some of the members finished the day by going on to Aberavon.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

 Melton DistrictThe Rev. Canon Alfred T. G. Blackmore, Rector of Bottesford, welcomed the Melton District meeting to his lovely parish church-- The Lady of the Vale - on March 10th. Bottesford is the last parish in the Diocese of Leicester and furthest from the Cathedral City. On several occasions meetings at Bottesford have been very poorly supported, but this time the lovely ring of eight was put to good use by a gathering of nearly 50 ringers.

Mr. A. Ward, the captain. and members of the local band were at the tower in good time to meet the visitors, many of whom arrived at an early hour. A bright and cheerful service took place at 4.30, and although Canon Blackmore insisted that he was giving a 'little talk' and not an address, he held the attention of his hearers with an informed discourse on the origins of the use of bells in Christian worship. Mrs. A. Wheeler, of Kirby Bellars, assisted very ably at the organ.

A very fine tea was scrved at the Bull, when Canon Blackmore joined the company. Mr. ${ }^{3}$. H . Cook, District chairman, presided at the business meeting, and announced, to the great pleasure of all prescnt, that Canon Blackmore had joined the Guild as an honorary memberthe first in the District.

The District secretary, Mr. P. A. Corby. stated that the list of members to appear in the following Guild report had been fully corrected, and in accordance with the rules of the Guild persons whose subscriptions were in arrears would not appear as members. Members were asked to make this policy widely known and to point out to any who complained that their names would appear next year provided their subscriptions were brought up to date.

Mr. F. J. Williams was present from Blythe, Notts, and gave details of the arrangements he had made for the District outing in Nottinghamshire on Easter Monday. The next Distriat meeting was arranged, subject to permission to be held at Buckminster on April 28th.

Mr. P. A. Corby expressed the thanks of the District to Canon Blackmore, Mrs. Wheeler and the Bottesford ringers for the success of the meeting.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The annual general meeting of the Sudbury District was held at Lavenham on March 3rd. This famous church proved a good attraction and the meeting was well attended. Visitors were present from Norfolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire, as well as the other Districts in Suffolk.

The Rector (Canon H. W. S. Cotton) Coni ducted a short service and gave the Guild and visitors a very warm welcome. He also took the chair at the business meeting after tea, at which Mr. S. J. Twitchett was re-elected Master and Miss R. J. Seabrook secretary and treasurer.

After some discussion it was decided that instead of having a District dinner this year a supper and social evening should be held at Lavenham an Juno 23rd, in conjunction with the Lavenham Ringing Day. It was also sug gested that a few peals might be rung at varpous towers in the District during the morning of that day, and anyone interested in helping to make up a band is asked to contact the sec retary.

There arrived in England on March 2nd Tommy Turner and Pat Cahill. Tommy has been in Rhodesia several years, and returns home to Barrow, where he has been a member of the Lancashire Association for 21 years. Pat, one of the youthful band at St. Paul's, Durban, is looking forward to spending a year in the U.K., beginning at Salisbury. Both joined the regular band for practice at St. Mary's, Woodstock, Cape Town, before leaving.

Fellow ringers will congratulate Miss Jean Evans, a Hythe (Kent) ringer, on having been made a Queen's Guide.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead informs us that he is now collecting Surprise Major compositions!

A new series of articles, mainly for beginners, under the general title of 'Technical Tittle-Tattle,' by A. Y-B., will start next week.

With regret, we record the death of the Rev. Dr. G. Golding-Bird, who until last year had been president of the East Grinstead and District Guild for 17 years.

Mr. George P. Elphick, of Lewes, asks for definite information as to the oldest maiden bell in the country. He questions the claim of Broadwindsor, Dorset.
Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd has written for 'The Ringing World' a most useful series of papers entitled 'The Sunday Service Conductor.' In a sense it is an introduction to Mr. W. G. Wilson's book, ' On Conducting.'

The bells at St. Margaret's Church, Leiston, Suffolk, were rung half-muffled following the funeral of Mr. Charles Whiting on March 10th. Members of the local band and friends from Aldeburgh were among those who rang 1,240 changes of Kent Treble Bob and a short touch of Stedman Triples.

St. Budeaúx, Plymouth, has a band of six Girl Guides and their captain.
GOSSIP
They started ringing last October and have reached a state of proficiency to qualify for regular Sunday Service ringing. The Guides are Christine Rogers, Margaret McClinchey, Doreen McClinchey, Ann Hiscock, Veronica Elliott and Ann Warren.

The Surrey Association have decided to increase the subscriptions of both resident and life members as from next January.

Owing to tower repairs, ringing at St. Margaret's, Westminster, will be suspended from April 16th until further notice.

Mr. E. J. Taylor, general secretary of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, is making slow progress after his recent serious accident.

Mrs. William Easter, of the Rochester District, is now out of hospital and is enjoying better health.

Should junior members be allowed to vote at Guild meetings? This question has been engaging the attention of the Executive of the Guildford Guild.

Evesham, Worcestershire, has a ringing Mayor. Cclr. Ewart A. Andrews rang a peal of Plain Bob Major on March 3rd during his Mayoral year.

Six of the ringers who participated in the peal at Tiverton for the Restoration Appeal for $£ 15,000$ for St. Peter's Church are members of the local band The peal was arranged by Mr. E. J. Taylor before his accident, and the band sends its best wishes to him for a good recovery.

Older ringers in the Rochester District will learn with regret of the sudden death of Mr. Daniel Thomas Hill in his 80th year. For a great many years he was a member of the Kent County Association and before the last war was an active member of the Chatham and Rochester Cathedral bands.

MR. J. BENNETT'S ROUND THE WORLD TRIP

Mr. Jim Bennett, of Grundisburgh, Suffolk, sends us the following interesting account of his world's tour, during which he rang in Australia and Canada.
On a recent trip round the world by sea, land and air, it was my great privilege and pleasure to meet and ring with several of our friends in Australia, as well as at Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C. May I, through 'The Ringing World,' say how grateful I am to them, not only for ringing arrangements during my stay of eight days in Melbourne and four in Sydney, but also for their very kind hospitality. Certainly no one could possibly have been better treated.

Before arranging my tour I wrote to Mr. Philip Gray (then resident in Melbourne and leader of the Cathedral band), who kindly supplied me with information generally regarding ringing in Australia, as well as leaving word with his successor of my hoped-for visit.
Of the several shore excursions en route, one was at Freemantie and another at Adelaide, but as these were onc-day visits only, ringing arrangements were hardly possible. From Freemantle a coach trip took us to Perth, where I managed to look in the ringing chamber of St. George's Cathedral; there were eight ropes minus sallies. At the Cathedral, Adelaide, 1 was unable to reach the belfry.
On arrival at Melbourne on Sunday, January 15th, my namesake, Mr. Alan Bennett, was waiting at the hotel to greet me, and took me round in his car to view some of the city's beauty spots (there are many), and then to his home for the day. Mrs. Bennett insisted on my spending another evening with them the following week. Such is Australian hospitality.

During my stay at Melbourne I was able to sing at St. Paul's Cathedral on four different days, viz., two Sundays, practice night and a Saturday meeting specially arranged for my benefit. On two occasions we had the 12 going. After the Wednesday practice and Saturday's special, excellent teas were provided and served by the lady members of the band. Mr. Jack Roper is the very amiable and popular leader, and I'm pleased to say he has several promising learners as well as experienced ringers in his band, one of whom is Mr. Jack Spencer. who took part in the peal of Grandsire Cinques which was rung there in 1934 by a mixed band of Australian and English ringers. Under such leadership and pleasant atmosphere and a really good ring of 12,1 feel sure change ringing will progress in Melbourne in spite of the fact that several move away while in the learners' stage.
On arrival at Sydney on Monday, January 3 3rd, I reccived the same kind welcome and treatment. Mr. Tom Goodyer, having arranged ringing on all four evenings of my stay, called at the hotel and took me in his Car to the Cathedral of St. Mary Basilica, where there is a fine eight with a 15 cwt . tenor. After ringing, and a wonderful view of the sights of Sydney from the top of the tower, Mr. Goodyear drove me round to view two other towers in the city containing bells. At St. Benedict's there is a heavy six. which are rung about once a year, and at St. Philip's an almost unringable eight. After this a drive both ways over the wonderful Sydney bridge and around the city. This was not the only pleasant trip 1 had in Tom's car
On Tuesday we visited Parramatta and, after ringing, an excellent late tea was served, during which we were joined by the very genial Irish Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Walker (83), who gave me a warm welcome and certainly kept us well entertained until a late hour with an inexhaustible supply of amusing stories of his young days at home.
On Wednesday we rang at Turramurra. At both these towers there is a handy ring of six with 10 cwt . tenors (approx.), and both are situated roughly 16 miles from the centre of the city. On Thursday we rang again at St. Mary's Cathedral for a special service, and afterwards at Christ Church St. Lawrence, a fairly heavy six with a long draught.
This concluded my ringing in Australia, and time to say goodbye to ical good friends came all too soon. Those present at every tower were Mr. and Mrs. Goodyer, Messrs. Jack Cummin and F. ('Chook') Fowell, and Mr. Clarke at three of them. It must have been the small (or large) hours of each morning before any of them reached home. Mr. and Mrs. Cummin both took time off from work next day and came on board the S.S. 'Orsova' to see me off with parting greetings, others wrote or telephoned same. I offer my heartfelt thanks and best wishes to all the ringers with whom I came in contact 'down under.'.

IN CANADA

On arrival at Hotel Vancouver, Vancouver (via Auckland. Suva and Honolulu), a letter from Mr. E. W. Izard was waiting with a warm welcome and an invitation to come and join in the ringing at Christ Church Cathedral. Victoria, B.C., on the Sunday, and the offer to hold the usual weekly practice any evening suit. able to myself. Victoria is 83 miles from Vancouver and is reached by two-a-day eachway boat services. Owing to the distance I was able to make the journey once only. The bells are a very fine eight with a tenor of nearly 30 cw . and go excellently, and are a replica of those at Westminster Abbey, and were dedicated on July 12th. 1936. They are the only ring on Vancouver Island.
Mr. Izard is the respected leader, having held that position since the bells were installed, during which time he has taught 40 recruits up to method ringing and has at present a fully efficient band, included in which are his son and daughter. There are also a few learners. Even with the unavoidable absence of three, several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were very creditably brought round, and this at a very isolated ringing outpost. The bells are rung regularly twice on Sundays and for the weekly practice. After the practice Mr. Izard very kindly drove me to his home for refreshments and a pleasant hour's chat with his family, and then to the landing stage to catch the midnight boat back to Vancouver, which was reached at 7 a.m. ('home with the milk, and worth it).
On the journey across Canada, from Vancouver via the Rockies and prairie to St. John's. N.B., it was a great pleasure to meet Mr. Lewis Cockey, late of Ealing. London, and now resident in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Al though arriving at a late hour Mr. Cockey met my train, three hours behind schedule owing to a real blizzard across the prairic. The $30 \mathrm{~min}-$ utes' stop was fully occupied discussing ringing and ringers; 1 was the only one he had met since leaving England last July. Mr. Cockey is comfortably settled (in about four feet of snow) in Winnipeg, but misses the bells very much, and ringing friends at home. What ringer wouldn't?
On the round trip 1 travelled in three liners, one aeroplane and about 3,400 miles by the Canadian Pacific Railway, plus several hundred miles here and there by coach, car, train, tram, bus, boat and shanks' pory.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Increase of Subscriptions Proposed

The Master, Mr. R. Davies, opened the annual general meeting at Kingston-on-Thames on March 10th by asking the members to stand in silent tribute to Mr. W. Massey, of Esher, who passed away on January 30th. An apology was received from Mr. P. S. Davis, who was sick.
The committee's report, presented by the secretary (Mr. W. F. Oatway), disclosed the disquicting fact that over 100 members were in arrears with their subscriptions for 1955, and members were asked to remedy this as soon as possible. The report mentioned that only ten peals had been rung during the year, but also noted that Sunday service ringing had been well maintained.
After the adoption of the report, the meeting, on the proposition of the Master, unanimously elected Mr. A. Arnold, one of our oldest members, who, because of an infirmity, had diffculty in getting about and had tendered his resignation, to be a vice-president.
Mr. S. W. F. Kimber, treasurer, presented the statements of accounts, which were adopted. These showed a loss of only 3 s . 6 d . on the year's working, despite a loss of over £3 on the 75th Anniversary Dinner held in May.
With the exception of the treasurer, all retiring members were re-elected, with Miss K. E. Weller succeeding Mr. Kimber, who had decided to relinquish office in anticipation of his National Service commitments later in the year. All general and District officers were thanked by the Master for their services and co-operation during the past year

The meeting decided to increase the subscriptions of both resident ringing members and life members as from next January.
It was decided to send a donation to the St. Mary-le-Bow restoration appcal, and to add to the amount any donations affiliated towers might like to forward to the general secretary, Mr. W. F. Oatway.
The meeting terminated with votes of thanks to the Rector of Esher for the use of his bells during the afternoon, to the Vicar of Kingston for taking the service, the use of the vestry for the meeting and use of the bells, and to Messrs. F. E. Hawthorne and R. F. B. Speed and their willing ladies for a splendid tea.
Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

By kind invitation of the local ringers, members of the Guild met at Brighouse on March 3 rd. The bells were put to good use during the afternoon until time for service, which was conducted by the assistant priest, and the lessons were read by two of the members.
An excellent tea was then enjoyed in the Parochial Hall by 30 members and visitors. At the husiness meeting the chair was taken by the Master. A vote of thanks to the local ringers was ably proposed by Mr. C. F. Sutclife. Coupled with this was a welcome to visitors from York Minster. It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Cross Stone on May 5th. No Guild trip is being arranged this year, but the Marsden ringers invite others to join them on June 9th.
Upon returning to the tower several other ringers arrived, and it was unfortunate for the visitors that they had to depart then, because the best ringing took place in the cvening Eva-yone was fitted in in methods up to Cambridge Major. A good lower in peal at 9 p.m. concluded a good meeting.

PEAL RINGING IN WALES & MONMOUTH

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's article on peal ringing in Wales and Monmouth was not sufficiently comprehensive for many of our readers who hail from the Principality. We give below two of the letters we have received on the subject. The elaboration will be welcomed by all who love Wales.
Dear Sir,-As an exile from the Principality I was most interested in the article on the above subject by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. am, however, disappointed that he sees fit to confine the matter to a mere two columns, and feel that in view of the small number of towers concerned a more comprehensive survey could have been given.

In connection with the statement that 55 neals have been rung at Llanelly, I would ask Mr. Felstead if he is aware that there are two places under this name in South Wales, one in the county of Carmarthen and one in Brecknock: both churches have the same dedication and both have rings of six. I feel that it is extremely unlikely that 55 peals have been rung in the former town, and I query that number for the latter.
While agreeing that a large number of peals have been rung in the Brecknock (Llanelly) tower the statement that there have been 11 since 1946 is, I feel, inaccurate, particularly as Mr. Felstead says none last year. The last peal at Llanelly, Carmarthen, was on August 19th. 1954, and this prompts the question, have the totals for these two towers been mixed up? The peal books of the late George Popnell show that he rang 19 peals at Llanelly. Brecknock. between 1922 and 1938 : however. the Rackham family, who rang at this tower for many years, undoubtedly rang more than this. Mr. S. T. Rackham, who was the conductor in this tower for many years, died some years ago, and did no ringing for some time before his death, and as far as I know there has been very little ringing in this tower since the war. I feel I must also criticise Mr. Felstead in this instance for, in the main, limiting his list of mentions to 25 peals and over. In an area such as Wales there are a number of towers containing magnificent rings which but for their geographical situation would undoubtedly have had many peals rung on them. Two of the most inaccessible are St. David's and Barmouth. Two counties have but one ring of eight-Cardigan and Anglesey-while Radnor possesses two-Presteigne and Knighton. All these towers have had more than one peal recorded. and as the total of peals rung in Wales must be small compared with those rung in some English counties, they should. I feel. have been mentioned.

In the heart of industrial Monmouthshire, Ebbw Vale has one of the best eights in Britain, while in the centre of the county Usk has had 24 peals rung on its fine eight. At Bassaleg, near Newport, there is a ring of six steel bellis and a number of peals have been rung on them. Other Monmouthshire towers where the peal total must be well into double figures are Bedwellty, Llangibby, Marshfield and PeterstoneWentloog. Llantrisant, Glamorgan, was also once a popular tower.

History tells us that the first College Youth peal in Wales was rung at Llanstephan, that Bertram Prewett called the first peal of Surprise at Llangollen, that Edwin Barnett, senior, called the first peal at Monmouth, and that the Union Youths rang an early peal at Chepstow. Why, Mr. Felstead, couldn't we have had the peal totals, at all these interesting lowers? Please don't tell me that you are limited to space or I should be tempted to remember that your article on Yorkshire was published in two parts.-Yours faithfully, Harrow, Middlesex.

PEALS IN NORTH WALES

Dear Sir,-Re the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's article on page 134 in 'The Ringing World. Northop, Flints (8), is omitted. There have been several peals rung there and this church is well worth a visit. It is on the Chester-St. Asaph road, about 15 miles from Chester. The first peal on the bells (Double Norwich Court Bob Major) was rung by a visiting clerical band before 1925. I have rung in two peals there myself, Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Treble Bob Major, 1925 and 1927.
Rhyl, Flints. (8).-First peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major in Wales, rung by Mid. land Counties Association (the Burton band) on August 13th, 1883. Other peals rung here being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major ( 10,400 changes) in six hours and five minutes on Fetruary 9th, 1924, conducted by R. Sperring (still Welsh record), two peals of Cambridge Surprise Major, one in 1925 (conducted by $\mathbb{E}$. Jenkins) and one in 1927 (conducted by F. Bennett). One peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a welcome for the Queen's recent visit. These bells are now difficult to get for a peal.
Bodelwyddan. Flints. (8).-Two peals of Kent Treble Bob were rung here by Liverpool ringers before 1886. The first peal of Grandsire Triples was rung here by the Wrexham ringers, conducted by the late F. E. Dawe, in 1886. I have taken part in five peals here from 1912 to 1927. including Grandsire Triples, London Surprise Major, Superlative Surprise Major, Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major. (There have been other peals, I think.) Abergele (6).-Three or more peals of Doubles have been rung here and one Minor (?). Llangollen (8).-Peals have been rung here. I rang in one of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1925. Llandudno (8).-Several peals have been rung here. I have been in four Ruthin (8).-One peal of Plain Bob Major has been rung here.

Llandegai (6). -Two peals of Doubles rung here, the first in 1908.

Portmadoc (8).-I think about six peals have been rung here. I rang in one of Kent Treble Bob Major.

Barmouth (8).-Two or three peals, all by tourists, I think

Machynlleth (8).-One or two by tourists, also Dolgelly, as far as I know.

Rhuddlan--Some peals of Doubles.
Beaumaris, Anglesey.-Trebles added 1925. Seven or eight peals have been rung here. I rang in four: Plain Bob Major (conducted by I. Piggott), Stedman Triples (conducted by W. T. Pegler), Plain Bob Major (conducted by A. W. Brighton) and Grandsire Triples (conducted by W. T. Pegler). The others were Grandsire Triples (conducted by R. Sperring), Yorkshire Surprise Major (conducted by E. Cawser) and Grandsire Triples (conducted by J. Griffiths).Yours truly.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Wirral Branch Annual Dinner

The eighth annual dinner, entertainment and dance, held once again at the Coach and Horses Inn, Moreton, on February 11th, was thoroughly enjoyed by over 120 ringers, relatives and friends.
The Branch chairman, Mr. W. R. Stanley, welcomed the guests of honour, the Rural Dean of Birkenhead (the Rev. E. O. A. Thomas) and Mrs. Thomas, who was presented with a bouquet of spring flowers by Miss Ethel Pemberton, The chairman was supported on the top table by the Ringing Master (Mr. T. Rogers), the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. A. J. Martin) and Mrs. Martin. The company included Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Pemberton (vice-presidents), Mr. C. B. Pemberton (Assistant Ringing Master) and ringers from St. Mary's, Birkenhead, Bromborough, Bidston, Moreton, Neston, Oxton, Wallasey St. Hilary's, Wallasey St. Nicholas' and West Kirby. Visitors welcomed were Messrs. J. Ridyard and R. Kenrick (Southport) and Mr. J. Roberts (Liverpool, now with the R.A.F. in Lincolnshire). Mr. Trevor Suttor also made the trip from Gloucestershire to maintain his unbroken sequence of attendances.
After an excellent meal the toasts were rapidly proposed and drunk, brevity being the order of the day. Miss Daphne Wain must be commended for responding so ably to the toast of 'The Ladies,' although 'butterflies in the tummy' interfered with her appetite. Toasts were interspersed with entertainment provided by Mr. Phil Kernot (comedian). Mr. T. Seed (bass). with Mrs. C. Matthiae as accompanist, and the Wirral Handbell Ringers.

The company then adjourned to the lounge to indulge in further liquid refreshment whilst the ballroom was cleared for dancing. The orchestra was quickly installed and dancing continued practically non-stop until midnight with but a short interval for light refreshments. So all too soon a much looked forward to function ended and the committee members are to be congratulated on once again arranging such an enjoyable occasion.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Society was held on March 3rd at Ranmoor, where a company of 60 members and friends rang on the light 10 during the afternoon. Tea was served in the Church Hall, and the business meeting was presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Pain).
During the proceedings it was interesting to note that the president. Mr. H. O. Chaddock, had received an appeal from London concerning the restoration of Bow Bells. Several mentbers promised to subscribe privately, and after a short discussion it was decided that the Society donate $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$. to this noble cause.
Methods rung during the day ranged from rounds to London Major and a course of Cambridge Royal together with Grandsire and Stedman Caters.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

Despite the snow and icy roads some 30 menrbers representing nine towers altended the annual meeting of the Western Branch held ab Swaffham on February 25th.

The service was conducted by the Vicar. As the business meeting all the officers were reelected. The next interim meeting is to be held at Great Ryburgh on April 14th: the quarterly meeting at Sculthorpe on May 26th, subject to permission.

Votes of thanks were expressed to all who had made the meeting so successful and to all officers and members for their support durting the past year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE'S BELLS AND BOW

Dear Sir,-Mr. Goodfellow informs us in his letter of the proposal to demolish the tower of the Imperial Institute and suggests that ringers protest to their M.P.s on the matter. I agrec that its removal would be an architectural loss, but the plain fact is that from the ringing point of view this swaying structure has always been a dead loss! I do not think that a lone protest here and there would carry much weight with an M.P. on such a matter.

There is little time left now to attempt to preserve the past. The thing now is for the whole Exercise to look forward in an attempt to preserve this fine ring of ten! As the tenor weighs close on two tons, why should they not be installed in the tower of St. Mary-le-Bow Church as the back ten of the ring of twelve scheduled to replace the ring destroyed by enemy action nearly 15 years ago. Two trebles could be cast from the salvaged metal of that ring. And the Ancient Society of College Youths would still be able to ring these bells on public occasions connected with Royalty Just the job! Could anyone expect more?
That your paper should publish an appeal in connection with Bow Church and bells and, the following week, inform us of the possible removal and break-up of the Institute ring is, indeed. ironic !

OUR HEADINGS ON TOPICS

Dear Sir,-I feel I must thank the writers of the following front page articles: "Into Print,' 'Where Are Our Instructors?, 'Acid Test of a Good Ringer, 'Expansion of Our Art' and. 'Sunday Service Ringing.' I think 'Into Print'. (February 10th) seems to have been an inspiration, so here is my little quota. for as a lifelong aspirant of our art I have held Sunday service ringing in the same groove as W. Birmingham's Sunday service ringing article, and, as he states, 'After all it is good Sunday ringing we desire, and the outside listeners are only concerned with good striking, or Colin E. Verdon's 'But what of the vast multitude of the " listening public," who neither know nor care what is being rung so long as the striking is good.' Therefore, in the cause of good striking and Sunday service ringing fraternity. I hereby make a statement which I feel will have a great deal of support.
In turning over from the front page what do we see? Two hundred and fifty to 300 names appear under peals which are registered. We should all be greatly shocked if we knew the percentage of those ringers who did ring for Sunday service. I give way to a certain percentage on the condition that the tower that they do really represent did have as little as a Minor set for their own church's Sunday service.
I have time and time again tried to give a lead towards good striking which I feel is the cause of our art. It is as much our part to the Church and its peoples as the sermon. It is an art. Let us try to keep it one and I do suggest to any of our fraternity to be whole. hearted towards each other, giving and taking, but firstly and foremost must be your own church bells and your Sunday service ringing. and I ask you to make this your life.-Yours faithfully,

Friczland.

[Note,-In the Editor's opinion the percentage of peal ringers who regularly ring for Sunday services is extremely high.]

JOINT MEETING AT BURTON-ON-TRENT
Dear Sir,-I do not wish to enter into a prolonged correspondence on the question of this meeting or to over-emphasise the point I made in my earlier letter.
The report I referred to, however, made an unqualified and unequivocal statement as fol lows:- A joint Festival of the Society, the North Staffs Association, Midland Countics Guild and Shropshirc Association, will take place at Burton-on-Trent on April 14th.' Anyone not present at the meeting could only interpret the report, not as of an invitation yet to be made, but as an arrangement already agreed. The meeting at which this statement was made was held on January 21st, and the report was published in "The Ringing World on February 10th. The invitation from the Archdeaconry Society, as Mr. Bennett has stated, was not made until February 21st.
The North Staffs Association holds meetings on either the first or second Saturday of every month, and as the March and May meetings were both fixed for the second Saturday of the month it is purely a matter of good fortune that the date of the joint Festival does not clash with our April meeting. Whether this Association would be called upon to do any work in connection with the joint Festival is quite irrelevant.

In view of the fact that at the time of publication of the statement this Association had not been approached by the Archdeaconry Society to find out whether it had a meeting or other engagement fixed for that day, or even was willing to participate in a joint meeting, the Association and its officers were placed in the invidious position of having been apparently committed to an engagement of which they knew nothing, so it was felt desirable that the misapprehension occasioned by the report should be officially dispelled through the same channels by which it was created. The decision to do so was made only after discussion of the matter by officers and other committee members of the Association.
I would add that I take the strongest exception to the personal tone of Mr . Bemnett's letter, which was discourteous and which cannot be conducive to the good spirit which is essential for the success of joint meetings and pleasant relationships. - Yours faithfully,
Stoke-on-Trent.
EWART H. EDGE.

LINCOLN "TIPS" WANTED

Dear Sir, On page 539 of "The Ringing World, August 22nd, 1924, appears a letter by the late Arthur Craven laying claim to the authorship of Rochester Surprise, and also giving the figures of "Norton.' "Ripon," 'Lincoln and 'New London' Surprise, all of which he claimed to have produced in May, 1923.

Upon reference to Corrigan's collection of Surprise Major methods. I find that 'Lincoln,' as published by Craven, is listed as 'Beddingcon" (method No. 23). Similarly "New London ' appears as "Thorp' (method No. 312). "Norton" and 'Ripon' appear in the collection as given by Craven.
I would be interested to learn, if possible, when and in what circumstances the names of the two methods referred to were changed, and whether peals have been rung in them (a) under their names by Craven, and (b) under their changed names. I would also welcome details of the authorship of the method given in the collection as "Lincoln' (method No. 201) and how this came to supplant the Craven version, Clarification appears to be especially necessary regarding "Lincoln,' as otherwise a mixed band meeting for a peal in the method(s) could find that the only thing they had in common was the f.c.e. 24365.-Yours truly.
L. W. G. MORRIS.

ORIGINALITY OF COMPOSITION

Dear Sir,-As Mr. Speed rightly points out on page 139, the question of originality of composition is a very old problem and is never likely to be settled satisfactorily.
I would like to endorse his suggestion that would-be, composers study carefully the productions of the old masters from Annable and Reeves up to date. This will give them a sound grounding on which to assess the originality of a composition, and though they may find that others do not agree with them the presentday composers are, in the main, quite prepared to agree to differ.

Mr. Speed attributes the 6.720 of London to T. B. Worsley, but it is, in fact. a transposition of the reverse of $W$. Harrison's peal:-

| 234 | 56 | M | $\mathbf{W}$ | H |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 546 | 3 | 2 | - | - |
| 53246 | 2 | - | - |  |
| 62345 | - |  | - |  |
| four times repeated |  |  |  |  |
| which reversed becomes |  |  |  |  |
| 23456 | M | W | H |  |
| 45236 |  | - | - |  |
| 42635 | - | - | - |  |

As regards Mr. Overy's letter there is no question of composers not wishing to divalge their secrets. if any there be, but most of them have arrived at their own systems by carefully studying the work of older composers and by spending their spare time working out as Mr . Overy did peals which merely turned out to be variations of a peal already composed. After much patient research they hit upon a new idea and exploit it. For example, it is within living memory that the three part plan with 2-3 fixed in Treble Bob was first exploited. Hitherto $5-6$ had been the fixed bells.

Mr. Overy's peal is a transposition of the following peal of J. W. Washbrook :-

| 23456 | M | B | W |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 52436 |  |  | - |
| 35426 | (a) |  | - |
| 24653 | - |  | - |
| 64352 | - |  | (a) |
| 34256 | - |  |  |
| 45236 | - | x |  |
| 53462 |  | X |  |
| 23564 |  | x | - |

To convert Washbrook's peal into Mr. Overy's add bohs at (a). Both must be called otherwise the touch runs round at the part end.
In conclusion. may I say that I am glad to see more interest in this side of the art, and if was not the intention of my letter to discourage anyone but to sound a warning note. Might I suggest that a way out of the difficulty is to say "Arranged by --" in place of Composed by

Yours sincerely,
C. KENNETH LEWIS.

FAST RINGING

Dear Sir,-Some years ago I conducted a peal of Grandsire Doubles (tenor 17 cwt .), rung in 2 hours 32 minutes. This was disputed, not the capability of the band, but time and tenor weight. I invited a responsible ringer to check on a 720 and satisfied my critics.
I am wondering if such satisfaction could be obtained for the peal of Minor rung at the Loughborough Foundry Campanile on Feb. 18th last in 1 hour 53 minutes? ('Ringing World,' page 132). I notice a peal of Doubles "in hand" (page 133) took more than two hours.

Finally I think it time that this nonsense of fast ringing should cease as it cannot please those who listen nor can it allow the music of the bells to be appreciated.-Yours faithfully,

Yatton, Somerset. H. A. PRICE.

Dear Sir,-I would be grateful if you would please give the wider publicity to the three proposed bands for the three railwaymen's attempted peals at Crewe on Junc 23rd. They are by no means 'cast iron,' and would depend entirely on those who travel to Crewe.
At Christ Church, Crewe.-R. Meadows (Bath), B. Sutton (Scarborough), F. Seager (Leeds), J. R. Cooper (Ashford, Kent), A. J. pitman (Swansea), E. Morris (Swansea), B. Threlfall (Liverpool), J. W. Griffiths (Chester), R. D. Langford (Crewe), G. A. Packer (Crewe). At St. Mary's, Nantwich.-C. Bassett (Wadhurst, Sussex), L. W. Giles (Wadhurst, Sussex), W. R. Rich (Ditton, Kent), J. A. Hoare (Swansea), J. Brough (Nantwich), C. E. Deem (Exmouth), P. G. W. Newstead (Great Yarmouth), L. J. Day (Melton Mowbray).

At St. Mary's, Acton.-(From) D. G. Clarke (Newport, Mon.), R. E. Dannett (Chelmsford), F. Sutton (Acton), J. Brown (Ormskirk), W. C. Farrimond (Coppull, Lancs), S. Foskett (Bedford), H. Douglas (Wellington, Salop), W. J. Carter (Fenton, Stoke-on-Trent), W. F. Stenson (Crewe).

I am in touch with British Railways regarding arrangements and facilities, which 1 hope will be published in 'The Ringing World ' as soon as available. After which I would be grateful if all concerned will write and give me some idea as to what time they may arrive in Crewe.-Yours sincerely,
W. FRANK STENSON.

PROPOSED RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

Dear Sir,-Three years ago I arranged a meeting of Western Region railwaymen-ringers at Bristol and a good number attended from a wide area. It was suggested that a further meeting be held at Swindon, and an invitation duly appeared in the staff magazine asking those in. terested to contact me. I received one notification outside Swindon.
A further invitation was inserted in last December's magazine with a view to a meeting at Swindon early this year, and to date only five ringers have intimated their willingness to ettend.
In view of the circumstances outlined, it would appear that Western Region ringers are not interested in attending meetings of this nature and I am forced to the conclusion that there is little demand for such a Guild.-Yours faithfully,
W. B. KYNASTON.

RINGERS, LOOK TO YOURSELVES

Dear Sir,-I have never been so disgusted as I was at the last two ringing meetings I have been to. Owing to the fact that I have two young children I do not go around to other towers as I once did, so therefore looked forward to the ringing meetings which were close at hand. Each time the good ringers had their fill of Cambridge and Double Norwich, etc., while the less advanced looked on. When it came to their turn such a clashing and a clanging was never heard before, when just a little help from the advanced ones would have been such an advantage. It seems, therefore, that once a ringer can ring well, he or she becomes selfish and cannot bear to help the struggling ones.
Therefore I say: ' Good ringers, look to yourselves. Are you selfish or could you bear to be an instructor? You may be looking to these would-be ringers for Cambridge and Double Norwich in the years to come.-Yours, etc.,

Bengeo, Herts.

WRAGBY BELLS RING OUT AGAIN

OBITUARY

MR. J. C. MITCHELL

0N Shrove Tuesday evening, Feb. 14th, the six bells at Wragby, Yorks (after being rocast and rehung), were dedicated at an impressive service by the Lord Bishop of Wakefield (Dr. Wilson) in the presence of a large congregation.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. d'Aubri Cullen), assisted by his predecessor, the Rev. J. H. Platt (Vicar of Cumberworth), under whom the fund for the bells was opened. The lesson was read by Major the Hon. Rowland Winn, of Nostell Priory, patron of the living, who entrusted the bells to the Vicar and wardens for their safe keeping and maintenance. The rope of the tenor bell was handed to the Bishop by Mr. Paul Taylor, of Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. by whom the bells had been recast. Each bell was sounded in turn by Mr. J. Brewin, a local parishioner and ringer.
The original six bells bore the inscription:-- Wm. Mears, late Lester, Pack and Chapman, of London, fecit 1786.' The tenor bell was given by Lady Winn, widow of Sir Rowland Winn, fifth baronet, of Nostell Priory, and bore the additional inscription:- 'Campanis Hujas Louisa Sabine Winn, donatrix, fecit 1786.'

All the old inscriptions have been reproduced on the recast bells, also additional ones: 'Recast 1955 through the benefaction of Thomas Ellis, a regular worshipper at this church '; Captain the Hon. Anthony Edmund Winn. Queen's Westminsters, killed in action at the battle of El Alamein, $1942^{\circ}$ (youngest son of the late Lord St. Oswald): ‘Recast and restored in the year 1955, in which the Winn famiiy celebrate their 300th anniversary at Nostell.'
The bell scheme has cost $£ 1,151$, a large sum, but the bells were opened free from debt. After the service the bells were rung by members of the Barnsley and District Society of Change Ringers.
Wragby Church is of great beauty. The choir, and probably the nave, was built in 1533 by Prior Alured Comyn in the ninth year of his Priorate (1524-1540). The tower was added later, certainly before 1578, by which time there were three bells, and may have been built by Sir Thomas Gargrave, Bart., owner of the Priory.

The sun dial over the south porch, dated 1812, bears the inscription:- We resemble the shadow.' The pulpit contains panels of exquisite carving- Adoration of the Magı, 'Adoration of the Shepherds,' 'The crowning with thoms, " The taking down from the Cross.'

The lectern is probably unique, and is composed of the figure of a Christian martyr bearing a palm branch.
Underneath the east window are some fine carvings in oak. In the Winn Memorial Chapel is a fine marble tablet by Chantrey-two fullsized figures (Charles and Louisa Winn) weeping over the tomb of their brother, John Winn, Esq., owner of Nostell Priory.
There are 19 beautiful stained glass windows in the church, 17 of them being fitted with Swiss glass; this is considered the best and largest collection of 16 th, 17th and 18 th century Swiss glass in the country. All the seating is of oak, and the bench-ends are of the folds of linen pattern.
The pillars and arches are fine and well-proportioned. Nearly a century ago the interior masonry was stripped of its plaster and whitewash and then it was beautifully rechiselled, which gives it a mellow appearance. Mr. Charles Winn, who succeeded his brother in 1817, and his son, Rowland (afterwards Lord St. Oswald), spared no pains and expense in beautifying this fine church. In the year 1902 the present fine two-manual organ was presented to the church by the second Baron St. Oswald. It had been in the Priory 58 years, and after 50 years' use in the church it was thoroughly overhauled. In 1954 electric light was installed and an electric blower added to the organ. Now, in $1955-56$, the bells have received attention, and it is to be hoped that a vigorous band of ringers will be formed and prove equal to the one that existed there at the beginning of the century.

Accompanied by Mrs. Mitchell, he attended the 317 th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1954, and he there rose to take wine with the Master as representing College Youths of ovel 70 years' standing. He was the oldest member of tho Society.
Mr. Mitchell came to London as a young man from St. Albans and was a close friend and contemporary of Percy Debenham and W. H. L. Buckingham. A clever ringer, he was the last survivor of the band who first rang Holt's Original con-conducted on handbells. on March 11th, 1889.
Mr. Mitchell had a long association with London Passenger Transport undertakings, which began in 1886, when he entered the secretary's office of London Road Car Co., Ltd. He became secretary of the Company in 1905, retaining the office through various amalgamations. From 1921 to 1923, when he retired, he was secretary and treasurer of the Underground Group.
He was elected to the council of the Chartered Institute of Secretaries in 1910, and was also president in 1917. He was a justice of the peace for London, a past master of the Worshipful Company of Coachmakers and an active Freemason, being a past Grand Deacon of the United Grand Lodge of England.
The funeral service was held yesterday. A requiem mass was said at St. Peter's, Streatham, at 6.45 a.m., and cremation was at Golder's Green. The interment was at Bexhili-onSea.

MR. GEORGE YEO

Th death occurred on March 2nd at Long Ashton, near Bristol, of George Yeo, at the age of 86 . Mr. Yeo learned to ring at Cheriton Bishop, Devon, and joined the band at Long Ashton in 1887. He was made a member of the Bath and Wells Association in the year that it was founded (1890) and held the post of secretary of the Chew Deanery Branch from 1903 to 1920 , only retiring from the post of representative on the Association General Committee in 1952 due to increasing deafness.

Mr. Yeo enjoyed good health and was ringing at Long Ashton a week before his death. A good, steady ringer, he was respected and loved by all his friends, both old and new.
The funeral service on March 7th was attended by ringers from many of the towers in the Deanery and also from Bristol. After the service a half-muffled quarter peal of 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung by the following:E. Abrahams 2, M. J. Horseman 2, Hilda M. Kingcott 3, L, W. Puilin 4, G. Prescott 5, H.

A SOUTH AFRICAN NEWS LETTER

Mr. Cyril Chambers, of 71, Garmouth Avenue, King's View, Durban, who was on holiday in England last year and was prevented by the rail strike from attending the Central Council meeting, sends us the following newsletter concerning ringing in South Africa:-

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Shepherd, of Cape Town, recently spent a couple of days in Durban. At one time there was a suggestion that several of the Cape Town (Woodstock) ringers would visit Durban in a body, but now that Bob Stickley has left them and gone to Nigeria the idea doesn't look as if it will materialise. I didn't see him in Cape Town as I came through as his ship, the "Pretoria Castle," sailed from Cape Town two days before.

About 12 months ago I wrote to the South Africa Broadcasting Corporation suggesting they might like to broadcast a bit of ringing as being done in England, conducted by me here in Durban. They wrote acknowledging my letter and saying they were interested in the idea and would get in touch with me later. Nothing happened till September, when a Mr. Neil Hepburn, of the South Africa Broadcasting Corporation, telephoned me and said he had the job of making up a programme called "Merrily on High", a half-hour devoted entirely to bells and bellringing.

At a subsequent interview at my office he borrowed half a dozen text books of mine and later borrowed more. The programme was eventually broadcast carly in December, and though it was excellent I felt sorry that ringing in Durban had no part whatever in the programme, If I had not been so busy I could, perhaps, have put more push and go into the cusiness to see that we Durban ringers camc into the picture, but all the same 1 feel that the South Affica Broadcasting Corporation were very high-handed. After the broadcast I had the impression that my text books would stay at the South Africa Broadcasting Corporation indefinitely if I didn't go and collect them, but one day Mr. Hepburn came into my office, bringing all my huoks back and all was forgiven and forgotten!

- As my work isn't so much on the top of me now I've been able to put a bit more energy into bellringing. On January 12th we rang the first touch on six tower bells I've ever rung in Durban, a 72 . Grandsire Minor. With the aid of a bit of newspaper publicity our gains in recruits exceed our losses, and we ought soon to ring a touch of Minor as a regular thing.
"A year ago another young frllow, Ivan Weiss, left Durban to take a two-years' course at Pelham in order to enter the Ministry. I haven't seen Ivan's name in "The Ringing World," but I thought I should have done as he was quite keen on ringing.
- I was sorry not to be at the Cauncil meeting and Lord Mayor's luncheon at Bristol. The rail strike was the cause of my not being able to stay. I had to be back on the Wednesday morning to join a coach party which included my mother, on a day trip to Hereford, and I had thought I could get back as far as Worcester by $11.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$, and join the party there, but the rail strike caused a rush for the longdistance buses, and at one time 1 thought I might be stuck in Bristol for days. However, 1 left at ten minutes to eight on the Tuesday morning, and by taking three local buses I was back in Kidderminster soon after two p.m. 1 told Mr. Barnett on the Monday evening that 1 couldn't stay, but I suppose he forgot to convey my apologies. One chap whose acquaintance I made at Bristol was H. J. Shuck, of Cradley. He was introduced to me by my old friend. Bernard Ashford.
- Patrick Cahill, a keen Durban ringer, is leaving for England approximately on February 9th. and by a coincidence another ringer will be on the same ship, Tom Iurner, of Lancashire. Tom has been in Rhodesia for the last five years and is now going back to England, as the Rhodesian climate doesn't seem to suit his and his wife's health. Vic Sheppard wants Patrick to stand in for a quarter peal at Wondstock (Grandsire Triples, of course), and Patrick is looking forward very much to his first touch of Triples. Vic as yet doesn't know that Tom will be coming to Woodstock at the same time as Patrick, so he has a treat in store. Tom is catching the "Stirling Castle" at Cape Town and is going there in a small Hillman car.

On Sunday, February 2nd, we had some Grandsire Doubles for morning service at St. Paul's, and it was the first time I had rung a touch of Grandsire Doubles in that tower. My two boys were in the band, which was as follows:-Patric A. L. Chambers 1, Christopher J. Chambers 2, Patrick Cahill 3, William Gardner 4, Thomas Turner 5, Cyril Chambers (conductor) 6 . We rang a few 40 's and 60 's but couldn't manage a 120 , unfortunately.'

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The spring quarterly meeting of the Swindon branch was held at Wroughton ou March 10th and a good number tumed up to ring on the recently-restored and augmented bells. Various methods up to Cambridge Minor were rung, although it must be admitted that these are the kind of bells which do not suit the drawingroom rype of ringer.
The usual service was conducted by the Rev. C. Carrier, of Wroughton R.A.F. Station, and tea was provided in the school. The efforts of the ladies in arranging tea was very much appreciated, as Wroughton School stands in a very isolated spot well away from the village.
Various matters were discussed at the business meeting and it was proposed that meetings be held at Rodbourne Chency, Malmesbury and Bishopstone during the quarter ensuing. Further ringing followed and visitors were welcomed from Chippenham, Fairford and Kempsey. The proceedings terminated with an excellent lower in peal.

EASTER

By The Rev. R. D. ST. JOHN SMITH, President of the Lancashire Association
' Easter Day breaks! Christ rises! Mercy every way is infinite!'

So writes Robert Browning. So should echo all our hearts, as we greet this great and joyous Festival of the Church. This, too, should be the message of the bells, as they peal forth across city or countryside on Easter morning. As within the House of God the strains of the organ and the voices of the choir unite in the triumphant message of praise: 'Jesus Christ is risen to-day, Alleluia!' So, too, from their home, high up in tower or steeple, the bells sound forth that same message, but to a wider audience, to the world at large, ' Jesus Christ is risen to-day, Alleluia!'
At the Incarnation, the birth of Jesus, the first message of the angels to the terrified shepherds was one of comfort and encouragement: 'Fear not.' So now, at the Resurrection, the first message of the angel to the frightened women is the same; the supreme tidings of triumph are introduced by those same words, ' Fear not.' The Easter message, with its wonderful news of victory, of triumph, of joy, of opportunity, is essentially a message of encouragement; it points out the futility and the pointlessness of fear. The glorious fact of the Resurrection has brought about the conquering of death and shown the way to the overcoming of $\sin$; it has opened the doors to life everlasting. Easter teaches us that Love and Faith are invincible, and that death is (in the Words of Whittier) ' but a covered way that leadeth into light.' As W. E. Orchard has expressed it: 'The grimbarred gates of death swing back, and the glory from an endless world shines through.' Why, O why, then, should we fear?

These few thoughts about the Easter message do but express something which is well known to and highly valued by the Christian believer. He thinks of these things as he comes on Easter morning to kneel before the altar to receive his Easter Communion; he would give expression to them as he lifts up his voice in the praise of his Easter hymns. Those who meet together in God's house on Easter Day do so as brothers and sisters of the family of God; as their voices unite in their praises, so also their hearts unite in gratitude; they join together in rejoicing in the great triumph of their Lord and Saviour, and together they brush aside the fear of death.

That is one side of the picture; the family of God coming to His house with faith and love to share in the triumph of their Master. But there is another side to that picture; outside the walls of God's house the situation is all too often very different, even on Easter morning. There are many who do not come to the altar to receive the Holy Communion; many who do not lift up their voices to join in the praise of the Easter hymns. There are many for whom Easter Day is not a Holy Day, but merely a holiday from work. There are many who lie in bed on this wonderful morning. There are the unbelieving crowds of heedless, careless, lazy folk; those who turn a deaf ear to the teaching of the Church and in whose lives there is no place for God.

It is to the world at large that the bells bear their tidings of joy on Easter morning. It is the privilege of the ringers of this land to express through their art to all within hearing the call of the Church. To all alike, to instructed and ignorant, to pious and impious, to believing and heedless, the bells on Easter Day bring the news of the triumph and glory of the Risen Christ. To old and young, to rich and poor, to saint and sinner, to those at home and to the stranger in our midst, the message is the same:-
'The strife is o'er, the battle done; Now is the Victor's triumph won;
O let the song of praise be sung.

Alleluia!'

As the bells bear the Easter message far and wide throughout the length and breadth of our land, they send with it a challenge, the challenge to prove the truth of the triumph of the Christian Faith by making it a part of our own lives. This challenge comes to all who hear the bells, but it comes first of all to those who ring them; to those who would sing, in the words of H. C. Wilder's Ringers' Hymn:-

We raise the bells for ringing
With ready mind and will,
And come before thee, bringing Our hearts, our strength, our skill.'

PEAL RINGING IN AUSTRALIA

By The Rev. K.

$0^{4}$UTSIDE the British Isles, we find Australia has had the most peals- 51 in all. There are actually more rings of bells in this country than in Scotland, and almost as many as in Ireland-25 in fact.

It was on April 9th, 1890, that the first peal ever rung in the British Empire outside these islands was heard in Sydney, at St. Philip's Church (8). This was of Grandsire Triples and it caused great excitement at the time. Two more peals in this method were accomplished at the end of the same year at Hobart (Holy Trinity Church- 8 bells), on December 29th and 31st respectively. The day after this latter peal, New Year's Day, 1891, saw a peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Melbourne Cathedral on the light eight by a completely different band (actually these four peals rung within a year had different conductors, so ringing was well established).

It was, however, six years before another peal was rung, with the first peal at St. Peter's, Ballarat. It was of Minor (seven methods) and five of the six ringers were 20 and under. The following years saw the second peal at Melbourne Cathedral-Grandsire Triples again, but on the back eight, two ringers taking it in turns to ring the tenor. This was on September 10th. 1898.

In 1903 we find three peals rung in the Dominion. Two of them were at St. Mark's, Sydney-Grandsire Minor on February 5th, and Minor (four methods) on June 13th (this latter peal does not appear to be mentioned in ' $A$ Great Adventure,' the book written about the Australian tour' in 1934, mentioned later). The third peal, also of Grandsire Minor, was rung at Parramatta on May 30th. It is this latter tower, which has six bells, that we find has the most peals in Australia- 11 in all, ten of which have been rung since 1947.
In the next year, another peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original) was rung at Melbourne Cathedral on July 2nd. This was the last peal to be rung in Australia for over 20 years, although several attempts were made, including one for Grandsire Caters in 1912 which was lost through a rope breaking. The only peal to be accomplished before the famous Australian tour was Grandsire Triples at Melbournc Cathedral on September 20th, 1926.
Now we come to this tour in 1934. This memorable occasion was undertaken by 12 ringers, and seven peals were accomplished on tower bells in Austalia (there were several handbell peals rung during the tour). These were as follows: Bob Royal at Melbourne Cathedral on October 24th, Kent Treble Bob Major and Bob Major at Holy Trinity Church, Hobart, on November 3rd and 6th respectively, Grandsire Cinques at Melbourne Cathedral on November 11th, Stedman Triples at Ballarat Town Hall on November 13th, Kent Treble Bob Major at Sydney Cathedral on November 20th, and Stedman Triples at St. Mark's, Sydney, on November 22 nd. No further peals were rung in the continent until after the last war.
Since 1944, perhaps with the greater number of immigrants into Australia, more peals have been rung than ever before ( 33 out of the 51 - so ringing is enjoying its greatest prosperity nowadays there). At Melbourne Cathedral there have been six since 1952; at Randwick (8) seven since 1948 (the first peal here in 1947 proved to be false!); the ten peals at Parramatta have already been mentioned. Yass (6) has had four peals-one in 1950 and three in 1952: Walkerville (6) has had two (1952 and 1953). Then there have been one each at

Ballarat, St. Peter's (1953), Hobart, Holy Trinity (1944), Hobart Cathedral (1953) and Sydney, St. Philip's (1945). This completes the tally of peals.

It will be seen from the above account that only 12 of the 25 towers have had peals rung at them, so there is plenty of scope for our Australian friends yet. May ringing continue to grow and flourish at the other side of the world.

$\checkmark$ HHE new headquarters of the York Institute of Architectural Study, formerly the derelict Church of St. John-the-Evangelist, Micklegate, York, were opened by the Minister of Works, Mr. Patrick Buchan-Hepburn, on March 16 th.

Owing to lack of accommodation at the Institute the opening ceremony took place in the Assembly Rooms before a large gathering representative of the city and county.

The Dean of York (The Very Rev. E. MilnerWhite), Chairman of the York Academic Trust, presided, and also on the platform were the Lord Mayor of York (Alderman Fred Brown), the City Sheriff (Councillor A. L. Philipson), Dr. J. B. Morrell (Chairman of the York Civic Trust), Dr. W. A. Singleton (Director of the Insțitute), and Mr. J. B. West-Taylor (Secretary of the York Academic Trust and of the Institute).

The Dean described the conversion of the church as something of a miracle. What was formerly an inconspicuous, disesteemed, broken down building, was now, after 800 years of life, something of first-rate importance and beauty. Thousands of their older churches were clamouring for skilled handling in repair, and in York they were tackling an all-England problem and a vital one.
The Minister of Works said the past achievements, present work, and future hopes of the Institute were an exciting venture. The venture gave rise in his mind to three themes. The first was the past, for none could dispense with a reverence and an understanding of the past. He was glad that "pseudo" architecture associated with the ' 20 s and ' 30 s was on the decline. and he admired contemporary architecture which arose out of a combination of modern needs and the wonderful new materials and techniques which science had made possible.

His second theme was appreciation, for he did not believe any other country had done so much in modern times to spoil its cities, towns and villages with unworthy building. The Government could now do something to prevent that, but an informed public opinion was the only real safeguard, which meant that nothing was more valuable than the courses run by the Institute.

His third theme was the one-ness of all who contributed to the creation of a building, and here again he felt that the comprehensive field

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at Llandilo on March 10th. Ringing commenced at 1.45 p.m. and continued until 4 p.m., when a short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon T. Hughes. A very nice tea was provided at the Church Hall, where approximately 25 members enjoyed themselves.

The business meeting was opened with a very hearty welcome to the members of the Guild by the Vicar, who presided. He stated that there would always be a welcome for the ringers whencver they came to Llandilo.

The secretary reminded the members of the annual competition at Llanbadarn Fawr on May 12th, and also of the annual meeting to be held at St. David's Cathedral on June 9th. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised the sum of 17 s .1 d ., and one new ringing member was made.
The presence of Mr. Fred Scudamore, from Bristol, and of Capt. Griffith and Mr. D. J. Hughes, of Llandilo, both of whom are honorary members of the Guild, gave great pleasure.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar for having the Guild at Llandilo, and to the ladies who provided tea, by Mr. J. T. Williams, of Morriston,

THE YORK INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTURAL STUDY

of the Institute's courses could do nothing but good.
Dr. W. A. Singleton, Director of the Institute and Architect of the conversion of St. John's Church, spoke of the wide range of the Institute's activities. It was the only one of its kind in the British Isles, or for that matter, in the worid. During the past decade there had been a grewing need and demand for the advanced and specialised architectural training provided by the Institute. They were going forward with confidence and an era of expansion leading up to the establishment in York of the first full-time post-graduate institute of architectural study.

The Lord Mayor thanked the speakers and congratulated the Minister on his achievement in opening the Institute by remote control.

Later the Minister and other invited guests inspected the Institute.

So far as ringers are concerned, the most interesting feature of the conversion of the church is the restoration of the ancient ring of six bells which have been restored for ringing, and are to be used to show students how ancient bells can be restored to full use. The bells have been hung in a new frame and placed much lower in the tower in full accordance with Central Council principles. The work was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor & Co., under the direction of Mr. Fred Sharpe, consultant in all matters concerning bells to the Institute.

During the Minister's inspection the bells were rung to a well-struck 720 of Bob Minor by a specially invited band: Mr. E. H Lewis, President. Central Council of Church Bell Ringers; Mr. F. Sharpe, Convener, Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council; Mr. P. L. Taylor (Messrs. J. Taylor & Co.); Mr. L. W. G. Morris, General Secretary, Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers; Mr. A. Marsh. District Secretary. Yorkshire Association: Mr. H. Walker. President. York Minster Socicty of Change Ringers. Mr. E. H. Lewis was the conductor
It was not possible to issue a general invitation to ringers to be present at the opening, but arrangements are being made for the annual general meeting of the Yorkshire Association to be held at the Institute on Saturday. May 12 th.

BELFRY

 since 1891 , recently celebrated his 82 nd birthday. To mark the occasion he conducted 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, rung on the 'back six' of the parish church bells. He is a regular service ringer and at the moment is helping to instruct several learners during the week.Will correspondents sending letters to the Editor kindly give their full postal address.
A reader (H. J. J.) asks what are the changes used in the B.B.C. interval signal.

Good work has been done at Quedgeley, Gloucestershire. Five first peals of Triples are recorded this week.

Cambridge University Guild recejyed a fine welcome at Ashwell, where a peal of Minor was rung on March 16th. After the peal the Vicar, the Rev. John Catterick, invited the band into the Vicarage for tea, where they were able to listen to a tape recording he had made of part of the ringing. Later he drove the entire band to the station (two miles away) to catch the train back to Cambridge.

Brief reference was made in this column last week to the passing of Mr. Joseph Wilfred Addison, of Thornaby. He and his brother, Raymond, had been of great assistance at Stockton-on-Tees since the bells were restored two-and-a-half years ago. A new band was raised under Mr. E. P. Rock. The brothers Addison's assistance was not cnly at practices but on Sunday mornings for service ringing. The latter attendance was possible as the hours of service at Thornaby are different from Stockton. Without the help and encouragement of Wilfred Addison, progress at Stockton would have been much slower, writes Mr. Rock.

GOSSIP

Mr. John W. Griffiths, of Chester, who has been ringing 32 years, rang his first birthday peal at Llandudno on March 17th. It was suggested that the peal should have been recorded to mark the withdrawal of trams which plied between Colwyn Bay and Llandudno. There were, however, other more acceptable reasons for the performance.

Mr. G. W. Steel, who for 63 years has been a ringer at Holy Trinity Church, Rothwell, Yorks, rang a peal in celebration of his 83 rd birthday.
Stanwell, Middlesex, bells rang for 30 services during the first two months of this year.
In connection with the peal of New Gloucester, rung at Willesden on March 15 th, Mr. Alick Cutler also took part in the peal in the method Mr. J. J. Parker called in 1926.
Miss Pat Bourn, Master of the Bristol University Society, impressed Cambridge University Guild by her ringing of the tenor of St. Mary's on the occasion of the Guild's aanual dinner. 'A lesson in perfection of tenor ringing,' is the tribute of our Cambridge correspondent.
Reading through the leap year number of Kington Magna Church Magazine, members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, the College Youths, and also the Central Council, will find a somewhat cryptic last paragraph: 'Leap Year Note. -The Parson is still a bachelor.'
The peal at Worle, Somerset, on March 16th, by a R.A.F. serving band, was rung as a farewell to Glyn Jenkins and Cyril Lewington, who leave R.A.F., Locking, shortly for Germany and the Far East respectively. The band extend their warmest thanks to Mr. George Prescott for having everything ready for the peal and for his hospitality afterwards.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD ANNUAL DINNER

THE Cambridge University Guild held its annual dinner in Cambridge on March 3rd. The day's festivities should have started with a peal of Grandsire Caters at Mildenhall. Unfortunately, only nine members could be found; a very possible tenth was sought diligently at four telephone numbers he is known to frequent, but fortunately for him he has a fifth place of work, the number of which has not been divugged to the Master. However, eight stalwart members rang a peal of Cambridge Major at the aforementioned Mildenhall, after much difficulty with clock-hammers and dry bearings.
The other members started to meet at St. Bene't's at 2 p.m. where, after inspection of members not seen for a year or two, and after persuading some to ring instead of going to sce the Varsity play Rosslyn Park, ringing continued until 3 p.m., finishing with a 120 of Stedman in memory of the man who, 300 years after his birth. was the cause of the ringers of England restoring these bells in 1931. Then on to St. Mary's to ring on the 12. Here, in spite of modern rehanging, the back two are known locally as "men's bells," so we were delighted to be given a lesson in perfection of tenor ringing by Miss Pat Bourn, the Master of the Bristol University Society
After tea, ringing continued at the Roman Catholic Church. Here we got away to a bad start owing to certain members eating so much tea that they raised the 32 cwt . tenor with such vigour that they broke the stay in the process. After putting the rope right it was again rung up. stayless. and rung for the next hour by the immediate past-Master, whilst the rest of us occasionally joined in with him on the other bells to produce touches of Double Norwich, Stedman and the like.
After dinner and the loyal toast, the president. Rev. A. C. Blyth, rose to introduce the speakers and explained why we had not rung at the Guild's 'home tower,' St. Andrew's. A fortnight ago the fifth had fallen out of its bearings for the second time in a very few years. Unringable bells at St. Andrew's would be a real catastrophe for the Guild. but the president was pleased to be able to tell us that it might prove a blessing in disguise, in that the Vicar, Canon Woodard, and his parochial church council had applied for a "faculty ' and were now determined to rehang the bells.
The toast of 'The Guild' was proposed by W. H. Jackson. Master of the Oxford University Society. He considered the objects of societies un general, and decided that the Cambridge University Guild measured up to them well. When man first started forming groups or societies his first object was self-preservation; in ringing, one ringer cannot exist as such by himself. From this derived preservation of the saciety for its own sake. Here in the ringing sphere one saw the need for continual initiation of new members, and in a University Society a large number of members must be taught to ring each year because of the ephemeral nature of the population. A successful society must mantain friendly relations with other societies: here Mr. Jackson assured us of the very cordial relations between the Guild and all the other University Societies, and pointed also to the good work done by members on going down, when they made material contributions to the well-being of many of the territorial associations of ringers.

BOATRACE DELIGHT

Ending on what is often termed a humorous note, the Master of the Oxford Society contended that the Cambridge men had misconstrued the objects of the composer of the method lately referred to as Boatrace Delight; it had been suggested that this should be looked at on the horizontal plane as Cambridge in front and Oxford behind, whereas he was sure that it should be looked at vertically, when it became Oxford above and Cambridge below.
Replying for the Guild, the Master, W. T Cook, gave an account of the Guild's activities during the year. Sixteen peals had been rung and most of these had been published with footnotes which 'showed real progress.' Two outstanding peals were first, the Guild's first peal of Stedman Cinques, rung at the University Church of Great St. Mary in September, and secondly, the recent peal of Spliced Surprise in six methods, which surpassed the achievement of four Spliced rung by the Society from the other place. Quarter peals had been rung on most Sunday evenings during term, and these again had resulted in many firsts being scored and had contributed very largely to an improvement in the standard of ringing. Sunday ringing facilities had been greatly increased this year since the Vicar of Great St. Mary's and the other members of the Society of Cambridge Youths had invited the Guild to ring for two services each Sunday at their church. Thus together with ringing for two services at St. Andrew's, and a handbell practice, in the Master's rooms during the afternoon, Sundays had been well spent.
The Master asked if the very high degree of wastage of recruits was inevitable: he himself had taught fifteen undergraduates to handle a bell during his year of office, but only onc of these had continued to take an interest in ringing. Finally, he referred to St. Andrew's bells, and said that the officers of the Guild had decided to do their utmost to assist in raising the money for their restoration, and as a start he was sending a plate around the tables for contributions from members present. This was done, and resulted in a promising inauguration of the St. Andrew's bell restoration fund. (Absent members will know the address of the secretary and can send their donations to him.)

THE SPIRIT OF THE LAW

The secretary, J. D. Painter, proposed the toast of 'The Guests.' He referred to the critics of ringing and some other more sincere, though in his view, misguided people who considered all so-called secular ringing to be irreverent. In these days surely the fact that we rang for Church purposes can be taken for granted; the Cbristian lives as such at all times, not just on Sundays. He thought that the trouble arose from trying to follow the letter of the law instead of the spirit of the law, so much so that to some minds the Ten Commandments had become interpreted as 'Thou must go to church twice on Sundays and be miserable for the rest of the week.' The secretary could see nothing irreverent in acquiring a skill (obtained only by mid-week practices), or in a mental or physical discipline (such as a peal rung for no other object), or in communal friendship (such as the ringing before a Guild dinner). He welcomed Bill Jackson and Peter Saunders, Master and secretary respectively, of the Oxford University Society; Pat Bourn, Master of the Bristol University Society; Geoffrey Bryant, Master of the London University Society; Jim Quinney and Reg. Dennis, of the Society of Cambridge Youths: and Canon Woodard, the Vicar of St. Andrew's.
Geoffrey Bryant replied for the guests. He compared University Ringing Societies with some of the larger University clubs and organisations. In some of the latter he found a considerable amount of bickering. Reading 'The Ringing World 'and visiting ringers throughout the country indicated that the ringing fraternity was not wholly free from this undesirable trait. However, he found that the University Ringing Societies were much more at unity within themselves, and he hoped that on going down members who had had the advantage of experiencing this unity would endeavour to instil it into whatever associations they came in contact with.
A very enjoyable day was brought to a close by an hour's handbell ringing and a barrel of beer in Trinity Hall.

The 138th Anniversary of Appleton's Ringing Day

The years roll on, but the Whites and Holifields seem to go on for ever. This year's 'Fourth of March + was held on the 10th and proved as popular as ever
At 10 a.m. seven visitors and three Whites met at the tower and rang quite a good peal of Stedman Caters, ably and quietly conducted by Walter Judge, and owing to the indisposition of Phyllis, daughter of Dick White, the visitors were entertained royally to a good lunch at the "Thatched Tavern,' instead of at Dick's house. As the afternoon rolled on more and more visitors arrived, and by $4.30 \mathrm{p.m} .68$ were accommodated in the 'Thatched Tavern' to sit down to a substantial tea.
In the evening the deputy Master of the Oxford Guild, Mr. Fred Sharpe (who really loves Appleton and Appleton ringers), was automatic choice for chairman, and he at once thanked the Rector for the use of the bells (all day). The Rector suitably replied. The general secretary of the Oxford Guild and Mayor J. H. Freeborn both briefly referred to the wonderful traditions of the ringing at Appleton. Dick and son, Frank White, responded in their usual modest fashion. Mr. Albert Tyler responded for the visitors who were given the usual very hearty welcome.
The beauty of the evening, in the writer's opinion, was the lack of a stercotyped programme. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the tune ringing and lapping of Grandsire Caters by the White family, and old ringing songs by John and Fred White. Fred Sharpe sang an old ringing song, composed over 100 years ago by the then local schoolmaster; even the general secretary of the Oxford Guild tried his voice, but could only remember two verses of his song, and Alf Wcbb and Alec Woodley, of Hagbourne, kept the fun going with old folklore songs.

Every year two or three visitors come to Appleton to see what it is all about, and this year Albert Tyler and his wife brought along Mr . Hansford and Mr. Briggs, of Bristol. Frank Hansford introduced a unique feature for Appleton this year in a tape recording machine, so the 'artistes' were able to hear how bad they really were.
But it was all good fun and the writer is convinced, having attended many 'Fourths of March' since 1919, that as long as this type of anniversary is kept up, all will be well, but if allowed to decline, then it will be a sad day for ringing, and may be the beginning of the end of our typically English art.

MR. MARTIN STEWART'S 80th BIRTHDAY

Many will desire to congratulate Mr. A. F Martin Stewart, the pioneer of change ringing in East Dorset, on his 80th birthday. The occasion was marked by a quarter peal on the belis of Wimbornc Minster. In the evening, Mr Martin Siewart entertained to dinner at Bournemouth the staff of D. Stewart & Son, Ltd., of Ferndown Nurseries, with whom he has been actively associated for 65 years.
Mr. Stewart's love of ringing was acknowledged by an enormous birthday cake in the shape of a bell. The health of the host was proposed by Mr. L. V. Heritage and the seven members of the staff. Mr. L. C. Walker presented Mr. Stewart with a fountain pen on behalf of the staff.

Mr. Martin Stewart was first attracted to bell ringing while a choirboy at Torquay. On coming to Dorset, he joined the Hampreston ringers and later rang at St. Peter's, Bournemouth. For many years he was a ringer at Christchurch Priory, and it was here that he rang his first peal in 1895, conducted by Mr. George Preston. who hopes to celebrate his 70th anniversary as a ringer this year.
He has given conspicuous service in the past to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, of which he was at one time Master. On the occasion of his marriage in 1912 the Guild presented him with a set of handbells, which he cherishes. In association with the late Canon Fletcher, Mr. Blout and Mr. W. W. Gifford, Mr. Martin Stewart was actively concerned with the restoration of Wimborne Minster bells in 1912. He is proud of his long membership of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths--' the Royal Academy' of bell ringers, he fondly calls the Society.

EAST GRINSTEAD & DISTRICT GUILD

The 29th annual meeting of the Guild was held at East Grinstead on March 10th, when there was a fair attendance representing most of the active towers in the area. It was, however, a meeting with a difference: firstly. the service had to be after tea, and as the small parish hall was not available, tea was taken in the Clarendon Restaurant and the meeting held in the belfry, which fortunately is very roomy.
After conducting the service, the president. the Rev. H. C. F. Copsey, took the chair for the business meeting, which must be the quickest for an annual as it was all over in half-anhour. The main points were, all the officers were re-elected except Mr. K. Hohl, who is now in the R.A.F. His place on the committec has heen taken by Mr. F. Hicks.
Future meetings were announced as East Peckham and Mereworth in April, and Turner's Hill in May. The summer outing was fixed for September 8th and a route to Ramsgate chosen. The annual dinner is again to be held in Tunbridge Wells. An invitation to hold a joint meeting with the Northern Division of the Sussex County Association was accepted. The appeal for the Bow Bells was discussed. and it was decided to vote $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$. from the Guild funds to this worthy cause.
After the usual votes of thanks, the meeting closed and the bells set going once more. whether members were pleased with the shortness of the business or found some inspiration from it is not known. but the fact remains that for the next hour or so. East Grinstead's grand old octave was heard at its best. Grandsire, Plain Bob. Stedman. Cambridge and Superlative all rolled out with near perfect striking -a fitting end to an annual meeting.

COMBINED MEETING AT BENENDEN

Kent C.A. & Hawkhurst Guild

The village green, which provides such a charming setting for Benenden's Parish Church, presented an unusual spectacle when we arrived on March 17th. Lining two sides of the triangle were about 80 sparkling cars-and then we remembered that a Confirmation service was being held, and that we should not be able to start ringing until 3.30 . It all worked out very nicely, however. and it was our privilege to be able to ring several good touches as the candidates and their parents were leaving the church. As the Vicar told us later at our service, this gesture was much appreciated by the parents, several of who told him it was a perfect sequel to the ceremony in which they had just taken part.

Ringing continued until 5 p.m., when a good tea was ready at the King William IV Inn Business meetings were held after tea by the Hawkhurst Guild and the Ashford District. Mr. John Cooper proposed a vote of thanks to Messrs. S. G. Waters and J. Brown (the local captain) for their work in making arrangements for the mecting.

The followed a service at the church. which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. V. B Yearsley, who also played the organ. The lesson was read by John Cooper. A collection was taken for the Association's belfry repair fund.

Ringing then continued until just after 8 p.m. in methods up to Yorkshire Surprise Major. About 35 ringers and friends were present, representing 12 towers in Kent and East Sussex.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Some 20 ringers were present at the Eastern District meeting at Bengeo on March 10th, when ringing commenced at 3 p.m. The light eight (tenor 8 cwt .) were rung until 4.30 p.m. when a short service was held in the church.
Tea was served in the Parish Hall at 5 p.m. and was enjoyed by all.

The Rector, the Rev. C. P. Hilton Briggs, himself a ringer, gladly accepted the invitation to take the chair at the business meeting and welcomed everyone to Bengeo. The main toplc of conversation was the subject of four forihcoming meetings. Arrangements for the County annual general meeting at Bishop's Stortford were discussed, and it was decided to hold the next District meeting at Benington. A joint meeting with the St. Albans District at Northaw and Cheshunt, in Junc, was asked for, and the subject of the Bedfordshire joint meeting at St. Albans was brought up.
Diana Carter, of Hertford, and Roger Durrant and Celia Dellow, of Cheshunt, were elected ringing members, and the possibility of combined practices in the District was discussed and thought desirable. At the closing of the meeting votes of thanks were accorded to the ladies who had prepared tea, and to the Rector.
Ringing was then resumed in the tower. Methods rung included Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob. Little Bob, Double Norwich and Kent Treble Bob Major until 8.30 p.m., when the bells were lowered.
C. E. H.

QUEDGELEY, GLOS.-On Mar. 5th, 1.260 Doubles (480 Plain Bob. 480 Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob, 300 Grandsirc): A. Wixey 1, S. Pugh (first in three Doubles methods 'inside ') 2, P. T. Hurcombe (cond.) 3, F. E. T. Tranter 4, C. Wixey 5, W. R. Wixey 6. Rung half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. H. S. Mansfield, a former tower-mastct at this church. For morning service.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held in Bandon, County Cork, on March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, and was attended by 80 ringers from Doneraile, Waterford, Kiikenny, Cork, Ballymodan and Limerick (St. Mary's Cathedral and Mount St. Alphonsus towers). Also present were Messrs. W. P. Pratt, Association president. Fred E. Dukes, general secretary, and J. T. Dunwoody, Northern District secretary. (The latter three travelled a sum total of 1,800 miles to attend this meeting.)
The visitors were welcomed to Bandon by the Rector of Ballymodan, Canon R. Cochrane, who also presided at lunch and tea in the Munster Arms Hotel. The business meeting took place in the hotel after lunch, with Mr. Cyril W. Galbraith in the chair, acting for Mr. David Berson. District chairman, who was absent through illness. (Mr. Benson has over 50 years' ringing to his credit, and was recently honoured by His Holiness the Pope for his services to ringing at Mount St. Alphonsus, Limerick.)
The election of officers resulted as follows: District chairman, Cyril W. Galbraith (Limerick), District secretary and treasurer, George Bingham (Limerick), assistant secretary, G. Harold Ellis (Limerick), Ringing Master, Roy McCormack (Cork).
After the meeting the contest for the R. R. Cherry Cup was held on the bells (6) of St. Peter's Church, Ballymodan, when eight teams competed. The judges were Messrs. Dukes, Dunwoody and Pratt. with R. McCormack as Ringing Master in the tower. The result was very close, with a win for St. Mary's Cathedral. Limerick. with 32 faults. Si. Finbarre's Cathedral, Cork. were second, with 40 faults, and Mount St. Alphonsus. Limerick (holders). 44 faults, were third. The remaining teams finished in the following order: Ballymodan. Doneraile, St. Mary's. Limerick. 'B,' Cork ' B' and Mount St. Alphonsus ' B.' The very high standard of striking may be judged by the fact that 1,440 faults were possible. All teams rang callchanges.
After tea. Mr. Pratt, president. presented the cup to Cyril Galbraith, captain of the winning team, amidst popular applause. He also prcsented the Attendance Challenge Shield to Mr. Gabriel. captain of the Ballymodan team, who jointly won it with Drogheda. for 1955. Each team had 100 per cent. Sunday service ringing attendances-requiring, in the case of Ballymodan. the ringing of their six bells for at least 25 minutes before each service, and 20 minutes for the eight bells in the case of Drogheda.
The president. in some words of advice, said ringers or teams should not ring for the sake of trying to win a trophy but to the service of their church.
So ended another very enjoyable meeting in the annals of the Southern District.

5,184 Whitminster Surprise Major

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ROUGH, PEALS

Dear Sir,-Combining an obscrvation of mine: the reluctance of some ringers to admit to having made a 'trip.' however bad or obvious it may be, with the gossip one hears and reads of 'rough' peals, has led me to formulate the following theory.

Either the ringers feel that their status will be impaired by admitting to a mistake, or their self-esteem is such that they genuinely believe it impossible for a mistake to have been made by them.:
If the first alternative be true then the band which record a peal in which the changes have not been made in the prescribed manner, with duc allowances as laid down in the contral Council's rules, are. to put it bluntly. lying. Should the second alternative hold, however, counsel for the defence would no doubt ask for the verdict 'Guilty but insane,' to the charge of letting loose the worst possible propaganda on the listening public.
This is the picture as seen through the eyes of a comparative beginner, and I for one am foreed to wonder whether peal-ringing and all that it implies is for the advancement of the art or the self-glorification of the individual.
Do not think that I am belittling peal-ringing on the whole: I appreciate the mental and physical effort involved. But to what end? It does not seem the 'fashion' to ring peals 'to the Glory of God,' although countless bells are. in one form or another, so inscribed.-Perplexedly yours,
P. J. LAWTON.

Silsoc. Beds.
Dear Sir,-The South Wigston peal brings back memories of a peal I heard in Leicester at St. Mary's about four years ago. The striking was atrocious-even the rounds at the beginning were an omen of things to come. I think it all depends on the standards of each conductor.
I remember hearing a peal at Salford Priors (in Warwickshire) of Surprise, and towards the end the striking became careless, after two hours of good ringing. The conductor called 'Stand only 20 minutes from the end. I believe it was W. P. Whitehead. What has happened to him? 1 cannot ring now, but a well struck peal is still a joy to hear.-Yours faithfully.

Uppingham.

THREE BRIGHTON VETERANS

Readers may be interested to have news of the following three well-known Brighton veterans.
Mr. Hatry Stalham. for whose 84th birthday a quarter peal was rung at St . Nicholas Church, Brighton, on March 171h. is a representative on the Central Council. Sussex County Association stalwart, 67 years a ringer, and with a fund of ringing lore. He is still keen on peal ringing.
Mr . Frank Bennett, for whose 87 th birthday a peal of Stedman Caters was rung at St. Peter's Church. Brighton, on January 28th. is perhaps best known as the ringer of 1,600 peals and as the composer and conductor of many peals. His many friends will be glad to hear that he is fit and well.
Mr. George Baker. now retired from active ringing, is nevertheless well known as a contributor to these columns. especially in the ficld of method extensions.
Of this trio. one wonders whether Brighton air, or their interest in ringing matters. can claim most credit for their longevity.

5,280 PUDSEY SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-Many will note with interest the 5,280 Pudsey Surprise Major, by Mr. W. E. Critchley, published in a recent issuc, which has 14 of the is possible combination courses with. out the second and third in sixths place.
I should like to point out, however, that the basic block has been used previously by other composers :-

| 23456 | B | M | W | H |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 52436 |  |  | - | (3) |
| 52364 | $x$ |  |  |  |
| 63425 37654 |  | - | - | (3) |
| 233456 | $x$ |  | - | 2 |

Unfortunately, as it stands it is impossible to insert a shunt bob into this block to give a regular three-part. Mr. Barnett has obtained a singularly useful and musical peal by omitting the shunt block, Wrong and Before on 23456 . and inserting a Before and Middle after 25346 (or their parallels in the other two-parts), which cuts out the leads false against those introduced in a full course 23456. Unfortunately, this composition gives either the second or the third three courses in sixths place.

Various other shunting alterations have been introduced, such as calling Wrong and two Homes, in place of the Middle and Wrong after 52364 (compare the peal of Belvedere by Mr. R. F. B. Speed, published recently): or instead of the Wrong Cand three Homes) on 23456, calling Wrong and Home, Middle and Home. Both these have a shunting effect, while still keeping second and third out of sixths place, but used separately they give an even number of courses, which gives a number inconveniently larger than the customary 5,000 or thereabouts: and used together they again bring the basic calling round at the first part-end. One solution is to introduce yet another variation of these shunt blocks, as in the peal we rang at Maulden last November, a three-part 5,184 with the full 15 combination courses without second or third in sixths place :-

| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| $\begin{aligned} & 45236 \\ & 62534 \end{aligned}$ | - | - | - |
| 62345 | x |  | - |
| $\begin{aligned} & 46325 \\ & 53624 \end{aligned}$ | - | - | - |
| $\begin{aligned} & 32546 \\ & 24365 \\ & 23645 \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & x \\ & x \end{aligned}$ | - | 2 |

Also, Mr. Speed has obtained a one-part 5,184 on a totally different plan, with these extent qualities, which was rung recently to Lincoln, I believe.

Another variety of composition has teen rung, that with a multiplicity of Befores: although these may have full (18) combination courses at the course-ends (regardless of 82's and 83's) it is well to bear in mind that a short course of Pudsey loses the main part of the music, that around the Middle and Wrong. Often, a simple 5.152 in full courses will produce more music than this last type.-Yours sincerely,

SWINDON WEEK-END PEAL TOUR

A small party of ringers from Beds and Surrey met at Swindon on March 16 ih , at the invitation of Mr. Brian Bladon, to attempt peals at some interesting local towers. At Broad Hinton, on top of the chalk 'Clyffe.' next morning, they were joined by their conductor, who had made a very early start from far-away Derby.

A pleasing peal of Cambridge Minor was accomplished, with only a few slight blemishes, in open-style on these light but quite deepsounding bells, and it was the first time Surprise had been rung there successfully. This good start was followed by lunch in Swindon, then out to Wanborough ( $6,19 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where unfortunately these grand bells, recently rehung, cannot be pealed owing to large cracks in the tower. Touches on the back five were tapped out in measured fashion, however, hefore proceeding to Chisledon ( $6,14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), where a Marlborough District meeting was in progress.

Fortified by high tea. the piece de résistance was to follow: an attempt for the first peal of Minor at Purton ( $6,201 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). which can be likened to a junior Hoar Cross. the tenor being a lovely soft, mellow C sharp. surprisingly deep for the weight. though it is an 18th century Rudhall bell. The band were welcomed by the Vicar and Mr. Ralph Shailes, who was to ring the treble as he had done for the two previous peals on the bells. For some reason, only two Doubles peals had been rung. the last one a number of years ago, on these good-going bells. Some difficulty was found with the ropes. as the tail-ends were too short for an adequate tuck, and they were rather thin for the weight; but all put their backs into the task, and an excellent peal in seven methods was accomplished at quite a brisk pace. The tenor man was quite surprised to hear that the ringers of 3. 4 and 5 seemed to have had a tougher time than he had. but perhaps this can be explained by the unusual weights of these bells- 14 cwt ., $15 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$. and $18 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.-only $\mathrm{I} \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. less than the tenor! . . a very unusual and yet beautiful ring of bells, fitted in some cases with Gillett's canon-retaining headstocks. This was Mr. Bladon's 100th peal, and Mr. Shailes was the 1,000 th person to have rung a peal with Mr. A. P. Cannon. The latter showed, before retiring that night, that he still had some energy left after the day's efforts for the customary hand-presses!

Ringing for matins on Passion Sunday took place at St. Mark's. Swindon. where the party joined the locals in some good Stedman Triples. Mr. and Mrs. Bladon had arranged a big lunch, deserving the party's sinzere gratitude, and soon the springs of the stalwart old Morris were sagging under six lusty passengers as it toiled undaunted over the downs to the slecping village of Ramsbury, where the fairly heavy six ( 16 cwt.) had a reputation that limited the only previous peal to Doubles. They are of clear tone, with a Warner tenor, hung in oldfashioned style. Burnaby Delight was heard for the first time in Wiltshire. The local veteran, Mr. Arthur H. Watts, met the band, and showed admirable patience in standing beside the third ringer the whole three hours, listening intently to every blow: despite the not very casy "go" of 5 and 6. and the odd-struckness of several others, there were not many bad blows either. and the locals congratulated the band on the good performance, especially the hard-working tenor man.

Thus ended the weekend's very successful ringing, and all went their various ways after sampling some of Mrs. Bladon's special cake, and the old Morris brought the last one safely home to Derby as midnight struch

I. 'ALL CHANGE

‘I say, Dad!'
' Yes, Son.'
'Taking me to practice tonight? '
' There isn't any this week.'
That's a grief! Thought I'd be standing in for rounds.'

Never mind! Next week, no doubt. But tonight Yes, Dad?

How about a bit more ringing study?
Well, I've read the chapter about changeproduction.

Understand it?
Evidently not! What's the trouble, Son? '
I can see what the author's getting at, but I get confused with different meanings-I mean for the same word

Ah-h-h.'
What d'ye mean, Dad, "Ah-h-h"?"
Go on, Son! What word? '
Well, such words as "change " and "lead " and "course" and _.,

Whoa! One word at a time, Son."
Well, take "change." It seems to have at least three meanings.

H-m-m! This isn't going to be easy, Son, but let me give you the general picture, first.

Picture of what, Dad?'
Well, of this use of one word to give two or three meanings. In ringing, as in many things, there are two sides-the practical and the theoretical; that is, the ringing in the tower and the study of the paper-work. Or, if you like, the art and the science. And, generally speaking, in order to make progress in the art of a thing, its science must be studied.'

Fair enough, Dad.
But while the science of almost any subject is something that has been carefully worked out and set down in precise terms that have been clearly defined and explained, in ringing, i'm afraid, this is not so.

D'you mean this book on ringing that I'm reading is no good?
'Of course I don't. It's quite correct, as far as it goes. But that's the point. It doesn't go back far enough to lay the foundations of the science in simple terms that should have been clearly defined and explained-terms that can have only one obvious meaning-terms that are not " ambiguous," as we say."

But why, Dad?
All in good time. On the other hand our ringing literature is hardly looking far enough ahead to deal with problems in method structure and composition, as they have emerged in the last fifty years. This is what 1 meant by giving the general picture.'

Yes. I see. But what about "laying these foundations " properly?

Well, in the first place, the terms still employed, such as you complain of, have come into use, gradually, over a long period of time, and through local custom and usage. handed down by tradition, as the art itself of ringing grew and developed. These terms suited the practice of ringing, fairly well, in the towers: especially as the "science " of ringing (such as it was in those earlier days) was imparted by word of mouth. The learner, in fact. could always query in conversation any confusion he might feel.'

But not if he d been reading it in a book. Dad?

Exactly so, Son. Yet we still employ these ambiguous terms in our writings on ringing. And that's not only just your present trouble:
it's also been a cause of misunderstanding and futile argument among those who write of and discuss the more advanced theory of ringing; by which I mean, the lack of a precisely expressed science of ringing is such a cause.'
' I'll take your word for it, Dad. But what were you going to say about the books on ringing not going far enough ahead?

- Well, in the last fifty years a good deal more has been discovered and learnt about composition, and also about the science of method structure and design. And aithough much of it is available in some form or other, yet it still remains to be set down as part of a logically developed science of ringing. And so long as this state of affairs goes on, so long will there be differences of opinion and of interpretation of such ideas as are put forward from time to time. In short, this is a check to the advancement of the science of ringing.'
- But we still have wonderful ringers, Dad, and wonderful ringing performances, as good as ever they were, and better, ch?
- True enough. But we still have learners in doubt and difficulty, and we still have the resultant wastage from the ranks of our recruitsmore so than ever it seems-though, of course, not all of that is due to what we're discussing.'
- But couldn't we have a sort of dictionary of ringing terms?
- Well. in 1894 the Central Council appointed a committee for this very purpose, and the result was "A Glossary of Technical Terms." It's now out of print, and seems to have lost favour. but I want you to have a look through my copy here, and you'll see from its introduction that those responsible had in mind similar ideas to those we ve been talking about.'
'That's fine, Dad. Now we can see what it says about my words of several meanings.?
'Certainly, it'll be a help. But you may still need explanation. What were your difficulties about the word "change "?"
"Here are the three examples in the chapter I've been reading:
(a) "To complete a peal of 5,000 or more changes."
(b) "And so transpose those changes to get these."
(c) "And in this set, they run alternately

Let's have a look, Son! Ah, yes, there are three distinct meanings here. I'm not surprised at your difficulty. But the remedy is so simple -merely to employ three distinguishing words or phrases

Such as
Well, let's get the true meanings first. In your first example the actual ringing of bells is referred to, and the "changes" here are the actual sounds produced by the different successive orders in which the bells are being rung. We can retain this word "changes" for this particular meaning only. But we shall then require something different for each of the other two meanings. In your second example reference is made to something which only represents the sounded changes of the first example; in other words these are the figures or symbols of those changes as you might write them down or visualise them in your mind, in successive rows. The "transposing" mentioned is a process of getting one row from another row by writing down the figures in a related order, and we can go into that another time. "But here, you see, we are speaking not of the "changes" heard as rung, but of "change-rows" (or even simply "rows") as written down or seen mentally. So we can keep "change-rows" or "rows " for this.'

Yes, that's clear. But the (c) example really got me beat!"

- Yes, in this example of what is called " Minimus," or change-rows produced for four bells. Better follow it in the book with me, Son.'

1234 'But why are you drawing those 2143 litte lines between pairs of $\begin{array}{ll}1324 & \text { 'Now you're guilty of it, Son!' } \\ 0 & \text { X } \\ 1342 & \text { Guilty of what? }\end{array}$ you're using the same word, "changes." ambiguously, as the book does, and creating for others you might be explaining it to, the same difficulty as you found. But don't worry, better men than you have been making the same sort of mistake for centuries.

'Well, what's to do?'
'First, notice how this changing-over in pairs goes on from row to row: two, then one, then two then one, and so on. This is what your (c) example means when it says, "two changes then one change." But we need some other word, as we have seen, to avoid confusion. Notice how, with each pair concerned, there is a "cross-over" of position. A good word which means this (and which has been used in theory talks and papers) is "transit." So between the first and second change-rows are two transits, then between the second and third rows is one transit, and so on.'
'Well, that's clear enough, Dad.'
'Yes, and your three examples would now read like this:
(a) "To complete a peal of 5,000 or more changes." (Unaltered.)
(b) "And so transpose those change-rows to get these.
(c) "And in this set of change-rows, the rows are produced successively by introducing alternately two transits and one transit."

- O.K., Dad. but this doesn't tell us how to ring changes.
- No. But one thing at a time! We've been aiming at a clearer picture of what is happening to produce change-rows. And it is only the next step to see that continuous transits from row to row in this way, produce what is called " plain hunting," so that when we take our rope for this in the tower we shall have some idea of what our instructor expects of us. Join up, with a line, the successive positions of any one symbol, and you at once get an idea of what that bell is to do.'
- But what's this little " 0 ," and " $x$." between the last two rows of figures?
' Well, that's really all there is to build up the complex patterns of the most advanced method design. The "o" represents no transit by the second figure (the 3) that ought to have made one, and this is called "making a place," in other words the 3 makes one more blow in that place; while the " $x$ " shows a crossing-back of the figures concerned, known as a "dodge." If this place-making and dodging had not been introduced here, rounds would have turned up again. Actually this makes the method of "Plain Bob "; but that's a subject for another chat.'
- Well, thanks, Dad. I think I've got it now. While you're away next month, I'll read up this chapter about "Leads": A. Y-B. (Next article in this series: 'Lead '?-Kindly enlighten!)

THE SUNDAY SERVICE CONDUCTOR

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

INTRODLCTION

IN change ringing the art of conducting is practised in two main fields of activity-peal ringing and Sunday service ringing; and the latter may, for our present purpose, include the calling of practice touches. Both forms of conducting are, of course, based upon the same principles, and to a certain extent require the same skill; but there comes a point where their aims begin to diverge and their demands to differ, so that it cannot always be said that skill in onc form of conducting necessarily implies skill in the other.
The art of peal conducting demands a very high degree of competence in calling and in all the refinements of coursing-order transposition, together with an untiring mind and powers of prolonged concentration. The peal conductor is, neverthcless, working on a fixed programme with a fixed objective, and is not troubled by the time factor nor required to irmprovise or change his plans at the last moment. The Sunday service conductor is not called upon for prolonged stretches of concentration and, in the main. the technical demands upon bim are not so great. But he has his own particular problems. connected chiefly with fitting suitable pieces of ringing into varying spaces of time, changing his touches to allow for the late-comer or other emergency, and being able to bring the ringing to an end in a reasonably graceful manner when suddenly required to do so.
It is not the purpose of these papers to explain and expand the principles of peal conducting, for this subject has been dealt with extensively and competently in Mr. W. G. Wilson's book, 'On Conducting.' The elementary parts of the present essay may be found useful as an introduction to Mr. Wilson's treatise, but our chief aim is to assist the work of the Sunday service conductor, suggesting lines of progress for the beginner and, it is hoped, shedding for the more experienced some new light on the interesting byways that surround the well-worn paths.
There is in these sections little or nothing for the expert. The methods treated are the simplest and those most used for Sunday service ringing in six-bell and eight-bell towers, and an effort has been made to avoid prolixity without omitting anything essential to a clear understanding of general principles. It is assumed that the student is capable of pricking changes from row to row and of setting out touches by the lead-ends. Beyond these essentials no especial knowledge or skill has been looked for, and it is believed that the expositions and explanations will present no great difficulty to the earnest inquirer.

1. GRANDSIRE DOUBLES

IT must be admitted that in Grandsire Doubles the field of activity for ringer and conductor is severely limited. At the same time it may be claimed that the elementary phenomena of the method will provide much matter instructive to the young conductor and helpful in the study of general principles. Grandsire Doubles offers simple means for the study of the following three interesting points: (1) The In and Out of Course of the Changes: (2) The splicing, or amalgamating, of one six-score with another; (3) The calling round of the bells by following the principle of making a particular pair of bells course one another.
It is proposed to examine these three things in turn.

1. THE IN AND OUT OF COURSE OF THE CHANGES

The old-fashioned term is here used to that the student will recognise and understand Snowdon's use of the phrase in his 'Treatise on Treble Bob,' and also comprehend the meaning of the references to the matter by older writers. In these days it is perhaps more usual to refer to the theory of Odd and Even rows. It should be made clear at this point, first that there is nothing intricate about the general principles of Odd and Even rows, and second that an understanding of the elements of the theory is indispensable if the student wishes to construct touches or to call successfully in the tower.
On all numbers of bells the extent of the changes is made up half of Even rows and half of Odd rows, just as the numbers up to, say, 100 , are made up half of even numbers and half of odd numbers. In the 24 changes on four bells 12 are Even rows and 12 are Odd rows; in the 120 changes on five bells 60 rows are Even and 60 are Odd. Now in all pure Doubles methods each row is produced from the one before it by the interchange of two pairs of bells; and as long as no single is called this rule is unbroken. It has been found and may, no doubt, be proved by formal mathematical processes, that as long as the changes in Doubles are produced by the interchange of two pairs of bells the rows are constantly Even. No Odd row can possibly be obtained. The result of this, as may easily be seen, is that 60 of the 120 changes (the 60 Odd rows) can never be produced as long as bobs and plain leads only are used. Such rows as 12354, 13245 and 12435 , are Odd rows, and no one will ever be able to ring them in Grandsire Doubles by means of plain leads and bobs only.

This brings us to an interesting and important consideration. If we begin with 12354, which is an Odd row, and ring Grandsire Doubles with bobs and plain leads only, we shall be able to ring all the 60 Odd rows but not any of the Even rows.
It will therefore doubtless be manifest that in order to ring the whole 120 changes we must have some means of transition from the Even block to the Odd block and from the Odd block to the Even block. This indispensable link is supplied by the single. The single, as its name implies, is a 'single ' change, that is the place where a row is produced from the one in front of it by the interchange of one pair of bells. The moment we make a single we are switched from Even rows to Odd rows or from Odd rows to Even rows. In the example given here we are ringing Grandsire and the rows are Even. So long as we go on ringing plain leads and bobs the rows will still be Even. But in this example we make a single, where, it will be seen, the row 13524 is produced from the row 13542 by the interchange of one pair of bells. The rows are now Odd. and as long as we go on using bobs and plain leads only we shall ring Odd rows. The only way of getting back to Even rows is by the use of another single.

54321 even 5341 3514 1354 1352 315 3 odd 35124

When Even rows are rung the bells are said to be In Course; when Odd rows are rung the bells are said to be Out of Course. Rounds is an In Course row, and when the bells are In Course. Rounds can appear. When the bells are Out of Course, Rounds can never appear.

At this point we will not go further with the theory of Odd and Even rows. The subject is a large one, capable of providing a considerable thesis, as Jasper Snowdon demonstrates in 'A Treatise on Treble Bob,' and a student wishing to pursuc the matter should secure and study this remarkable book. For the conductor, enough has been unfolded to establish the fact that no six-score of Grandsire Doubles can be obtained by the use of bobs and plain leads only.

A HASLEMERE WEDDING

The wedding was solemnised by the Rt. Rev. B. M. Dale at the Church of St. Bartholomew, Haslemere, on March 17th, between Miss K. N. Bowden and Mr. Roy Silk.

The bride was given away by her father, who is secretary of the tower.
After the service a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by Miss A. Carpenter 1, J. E. Clark 2, Miss E. Pearson 3, Miss M. P. Goode 4. Miss A. Martin 5, C. Pound 6, H Gauntlett (conductor) 7, J. B. Sidebotham 8.

The many friends of the happy pair, together with the local and visiting ringers, were entertained at the wedding reception at the Parish Hall.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD  Newark District

Southwell Diocesan Guild-Newark District
Forty-seven members and friends attended the District meeting held at St. Mary's, Orston, on March 17th.
Ringing ranged from Rounds and Grandsire Doubles for the learners to Cambridge Surprise Minor. A short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. P. Arnold-Crafts.
Tea was taken at the Durham Ox, followed by the meeting, at which the Vicar kindly consented to take the chair. Three new members were elected-Miss Pamela Goodwin (Whatton-in-the-Vale), Miss Shirley Foster and Miss Claire Foster (Southwell). The Vicar, the Rev. H. P. Arnold-Crafts, was nominated as a vicepresident
East Bridgford was confirmed for the May meeting and Barnby-in-the-Willows was chosen for July.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. W. Raithby, to which the Vicar replied, inviting the Guild to come again to Orston as soon as possible.

OBITUARY

THE REV. DR. G. GOLDING-BIRD
Ringers in northern Sussex will hear with regret of the death of the Rev. Dr. G. GoldingBird, M.A., D.D., on March 10th. Dr. GoldingBird was Vicar of East Grinstead for 27 years, and president of the East Grinstead and District Guild for 17 years, relinquishing both offices just a year ago; and it was ironic that he should pass away while the annual meeting was in progress.

The funeral was at East Grinstead on March 15 th, the service being conducted by his successor (in both Guild and parish), the Rev. H. C. F. Copsey. The Bishop of Lewes gave the address. After the service the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band, assisted by Messrs. A. Laker, A. F. Wellington and B. V. Collison.

On March 17th a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted at East Grinstead, but came to grief at the half-way mark, owing to a persistent knocking at the belfry door, which proved to be the verger, who had a musical ensemble waiting to practise in the church and they wanted the bells to stop. The ringers stood as follows: Kathleen Shepherd 1, Pat Howard 2. I. Butcher 3, R. D. Divall 4, S. G. Ponting 5. B. V. Collison 6, F. H. Hicks (conductor) 7, A. N. Other 8.

MR. F. A. BURNETT

The death took place at his home at Portsmouth. on February 23rd, of Mr. Frederick A. Burnett, aged 82 years.

He originally joined the band at Holy Trinity, Gosport, in 1889, under the leadership of one of the then stalwarts of ringing. Mr. James Hewitt. On removal to Portsmouth he became attached to the band at St. Thomas', now Portsmouth Cathedral, and was a member until his death, although he was incapacitated from ringing during recent years.

Mr. Burnett did yeoman service for the former Winchester Diocesan Guild and the present Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, serving on its executive committee for a number of years. He was one of the original band who, under the leadership of the late George Williams, introduced Surprise ringing into Hampshire, and later took part in methods up to London and Bristol, which was no mean achievement in those early days. His wife, who predeceased him some years ago, and his son and daughter were all ringers together, and he leaves his son and daughter to carry on their activities.

The funeral took place on February 27th at Portsmouth.

MR. FREDERICK FLUDDER

All Saints', Feering, Essex. band have been bereaved by the death on March 10th of Mr. Frederick Fludder, aged 54, who met with a fatal accident on his way home from work.

A member of the Essex Association, he had been a ringer for over 30 years, having been one of the late Mr. William Keeble's pupils. For the last five years he had been steeplekeeper at Feering.
Half-muffled ringing took place after the funeral and on the Sunday, rung by Feering and Kelvedon ringers.

MR. J. C. MITCHELL

The late Mr. John Christopher Mitchell, whose death we recorded last week. was elected an honorary member of the Central Council at its first meeting in 1891, and remained a member until 1900 . He was the last survivor of the first honorary members, of whom there were nine elected.

MR. WALTER SCOTT
Within a week of his 86th birthday the death occurred on March 15 th of Mr. Walter Scott, of Newport, Isle of Wight. For 60 years he was a ringer at the parish church, and during that time he only missed ringing on two Christmas mornings. He rang in honour of 58 mayormakings and served under six vicars.

Mr . Scott started ringing in 1886, and until 1913 he was one of the stoney band. He then took up change ringing and rang peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, the latter being his favourite method.

The funeral was at Carisbrooke on March 191h. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by A. Jackson $1-2$, Mrs. C. Guy $3-4, \mathbf{W}$. Upton $5-6$, C. A. Drake $7-8$. In the evening, 1,302 Grandsire Triples from Holt's Original was rung at Newport with the bells half-muffled by W. Upton 1, S. Moody 2 , N. Long 3, H. James 4, F. Taylor (conductor) 5, D. Reed 6, A. Drake 7, W. G. Scott 8.

BEAUTY AND THE BELFRY

wHO was the first lady ringer? Did she ring for the return of Charles II., perhaps? - 'Zounds, wench, hast handled thy bell passing well, i' faith!' Or were her first attempts attended by the admiring comments of Regency bucks? - 'Egad, m’lady, I vow this pretty rope all tangled round thy neck becomes thee mightily!'

Whoever she was, she showed the way to such a host of followers that it is hardly possible nowadays to enter a belfry without finding a representative of the weaker sex, either sitting mouselike in a corner among the cobwebs, or telling the conductor that he changed course with the tenor in the last touch of Stedman. The latter regrettable state of affairs has become more common since women have learnt that heated argument after the touch has broken down does not necessarily mean a complete knowledge of the method on the part of the arguers. Women are suited by nature to this sort of belfrymanship, and join in it with enthusiasm.

Female bell-ringers are of many and various types, and their progress is very erratic. Let us broadmindedly admit that, given the ideal form of transport and the ideal ringing boy-friend (if such a thing exists), these ladies may attain astonishing heights in a comparatively short space of time. Many a steady-going ringer, having assisted a timid female through her first touch of Bob Doubles, with fatherly encouragement, has been horrified to find himself curtly corrected in Cambridge Major by the same girl in the same tower twelve months later-though admittedly these are extreme cases and fortunately rare.
Many women are pushed into ringing in the first place by the efforts of so-called friends. At this stage they are either blue-eyed fluffy-haired little creatures, who cling to a sally as frantically as they did to their escort's arm on the way up to the belfry, or excitable 'teenagers, who frankly 'couldn't care less,' break a stay on the slightest provocation, and flock out, in a shower of giggles after the practice, to make a night of it at the nearest milk-bar. At this point, the writer pauses uneasily to wonder in which of these classes she belonged.

As the fair beginners pursue their ringing career, subtle differences begin to appear in them, and they blossom out as various rare and distinct specimens of the Lady Ringer.
It is difficult to know where to begin in describing the types of Lady Ringer. There is, of course, the Perfect Lady Ringer, on whom the writer looks with hopeless envy and admiration: she is neatly dressed, well made up, and she conducts Yorkshire Royal without a hair out of place-a joy to behold.

Proceeding downwards from these heights, one graduates by degrees to the lowest depths-about which the less said the better. Well, we may not be competent down here, but we're happy.- Somewhere in between these extremes are some interesting species, such as the Lady Tenor Ringer; sometimes large and commanding with a fine carrying voice and a laugh like the last trump, sometimes small and deceptively gentle and fragile-seeming, until you see her swinging a thirty-four hundredweight tenor down into five-pull dodging on the front, as if she were doing crochet-work.

Then there are the Airy-Fairies, who climb ladders in impossibly high heels, stand as far as possible from the rope when ringing, and spend much of their time trying to prop up mirrors on odd pieces of belfry furniture. They are the natural enemies of the Old Hands, reverend ladies, who usually wear hats while ringing, know most of the Central Council delegates by nick-name, and consider a missed dodge as bad as a revoke in whist. They are frequently attended by their apprentices, the Earnest Plodders, who have grim expressions and a desire to Work Their Way Up.

Possibly the most appealing of the bunch are the ladies who have taken up ringing in middle life. The married ones have usually been bullied into it by their husbands, but the motives of the single ones are not at all obvious. From outward appearances, they have either been recommended violent exercise by their doctors, and found golf too expensive, or else they are doing penance for some unspeakable crime committed in youth. They are usually completely terrified of the belfry, the ropes, the other ringers, the ringing master, and of the peculiar noises in the walls, which may be rats; but they have set their hand to the sally and, like all unfortunate women who have reached a certain stage in their devotion to ringing, they cannot turn back.

PEAL RINGING IN OTHER COUNTRIES

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

$0^{\prime}$UTSIDE the British Isles, and apart from Australia, peals have been rung in four other countries-New Zealand (eight), South Africa (three), Canada (two) and the U.S.A. (one). This short article will refer to all these. for only 14 peals are concerned!
The first peal to be rung in the Empire outside Australia was in Ncw Zealand, when Bob Triples was accomplished on January 31st, 1903, at Christchurch Cathedral. Later in the same year, on November 9th, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at the same place. It was nearly 50 years before another peal was rung in the country. Some of the 1934 tourists visited New Zealand after Australia, but their two peal attempts failed. Thus it wasn't until after the last war that we find further peals. The silence was broken by a peal of Bob Minor at Christchurch Cathedral on January 24th, 1950. Two further peals were rung in the Dominion that same year-Doubles (three methods) at Papanui (5) on April 29th, and Bob Minor at Hamilton Cathedral on October 22nd. These three towers are the only ones which have had peals yet out of the five rings in the country. After 1950, we have learned of three more peals, all rung in 1954. On January 23 rd came a further peal of Bob Minor at Christchurch Cathedral, whilst at Hamilton came two-Bob Minor on October 23 rd, and Grandsire Doubles on December 11th. We hope to learn of more progress before long.

Now we turn to South Africa's three peals. These have all been rung at one tower-Woodstock (8). The other three towers are still virgin territory. The first of the three peals was on December 15th, 1904. and was of Grandsire Triples. One ringer travelled 2,000 miles to ring in the attempt! It wasn't until 1951 that there came another peal when. on December 27th, a peal of Grandsire Doubles was accomplished. A similar peal on June 13th, 1953, was the third and last rung in South Africa. It was very interesting, last summer, to have the visit of Mr. C. Chambers from South Africa, and to learn what is being done there in ringing circles. We hope that ringing will flourish in the future.

TWO PEALS IN CANADA

Then comes Canada. The two peals there were rung in 1911 and 1945 respectively. Both peals were of Grandsire Triples. The first was rung at Vancouver at the Roman Catholic Church on Dominion Day (July 1st). 1911. Again, it wasn't until after the last war that the other peal was accomplished. This was at Victoria Cathedral on October 3rd, 1945, when there happened to be one or two ringers from this country, then in the Navy, waiting to rejoin ships. There are four other towers in Canada which have rings of bells, and we hope they will be 'conquered' before long.
Finally, the one and only peal ever to have been rung outside the British Commonwealth. This was rung as long ago as 1850 in Philadelphia, U.S.A., on June 9th. The circumslances through which it became possible to ring it are interesting, and I quote the 'Bell News' of May 31st, 1890 - a footnote to the first peal ever rung in the Colonies, at Sydney. The different style to present day writing is also not without interest!

- It is necessary here to inform our Antipodean friends and all others whom it may concern that the first peal rang outside the British Islands was rung (by Englishmen) at Philadelphia. U.S.A. The late Mr. Haley (of London) was many years ago at the head of a company of handbell musicians who were making a tour of the States. In the course of this tour, he met with one or two persons whom he had known as ringers in England, and upon reaching Philadelphia, where was a ring of eight bells in good order and hung for ringing, the great novelty of a peal in such a place became apparent. Forming a band from among his handbell musicians, aided by the one or two English ringers already referred to, he called "Holt's ten-part peal" in the above mentioned city. This performance caused at the time no small excitement among the Philadelphians; the thoroughfares in the neighbourhood of the church being literally crowded with people who listened with interest to the peal; while every coign of 'vantage was sought for to view the ringers as they left the church, their appearance being greeted with round after round of vociferous cheering.

This fact does not rob our Australian friends of the honour of ringing the first peal in the British Colonies.'
As will be seen, no date was given for the above peal, but a letter in 'Bell News,' May 27th, 1893, gives particulars. The peal was rung in 3 hours 15 minutes, and two men took it in turns to ring the tenor-the first of the two being lame in one leg and having to give up after 2 hours and 15 minutes.

Well, so much for our review of peal ringing in the English counties and in the rest of the world. A final article will try to put together various statistics from the articles which have appeared over the past two years.

THE HOLY BELL OF ROVIERTO
An outstandingly successful and unusual repair was carried out by Metalock (Italiana) S.p.a. about four months ago. The company was consulted in regard to cracks which had appeared in the 'Holy Bell of Rovierto' in the Province of Trento, which is known as the Monumental Bell of the Fallen.
This great bell, said to be one of the largest in the world, which was subscribed to by 19 nations after the first World War as a memorial to the fallen of all countries, was cast at Verona in 1925. It was afterwards ceremonially, blessed and given the name of 'Maria Dolens.'
The bell is mounted on the 13th century castle of Rovierto, which dominates the town, and is chimed 100 times each evening. The weight of the bell is $16 \frac{1}{2}$ tons, and of the clapper, 12 cwt . It is three metres, or nearly ten feet in height and diameter, and its exterior is distinguished by some very fine decoration, the work of the sculptor, Stefano Zuech.
Two cracks were found, one of 80 cm . and another of 20 cm ., situated on one side of the bell at the point of impact with the clapper, the thickness of the section varying from 70 mm . to 250 mm .

The Metalock material used was specially processed to obtain a closer expansion property to that of the bronze. The cracks were Metalocked, both on the inside and outside, with $5 / 16 \mathrm{in}$. keys: the metal proved to be very hard and brittle. The repair was carried out by one operator in about three weeks, and after it had been completed, the bell was turned by 60 degrees so that the clapper would then strike the undamaged area.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

An enjoyable meeting of the Chertsey District was held at Egham on March 24th. Before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Northridge, rounds and Grandsire were rung almost continuously for the less experienced ringers.
At the business meeting, following a most enjoyable tea, the Ringing Master, Mr. F. J. Dodson, extended a welcome to Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft and to Mr. J. F. Smallwood, also to visitors from other Districts. Two new members were elected.

Ringing for the Diocesan Mission (starting April 15th) was discussed, and it was hoped that all towers would contrive some sort of ringing programme. The six District meetings planned for the forthcoming year met with approval.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to all who had made the meeting possible was proposed by Mr. W. Shepherd.
Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m. with. methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major.

There is a natural reluctance when secretaries send reports to our columns to publish complimentary references to themselves. Members of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association have written to us expressing their deep appreciation of the efficient services rendered by Mr. R. W. Pankhurst, the retiring secretary.

Mr. John Phillips has now rung peals of Erin Cinques, Caters and Triples.

A correspondent writes that the peal of 5,152 Edmondthorpe Surprise Major (p. 188) is Middleton's Cambridge, suitably transposed.

Mr. F. G. Vickers, of Ermine Street, Ancaster, near Grantham, is the hon. secretary of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

Congratulations to Mr. Donald A. Theedom on ringing his first peal of Surprise Maximus, which was rung as a farewell peal for him. Donald came to Leicester two years ago with little experience of change-ringing, but under the expert tuition of the late Mr. H. J. Poole he made rapid strides and soon became a very efficient member of the Cathedral band.

The peal at Watton-at-Stone, near Hertford, was the first there for 25 years. The band not only survived, despite gloomy prognostications from the District, but found the bells in very fair going order, considering that they were last rehung, by Messrs. C. and G. Mears, 104 years ago! This was in some measure due to the work put in by the local captain, Mr. W. Milton (who took part in the previous peal) in splicing, preparing the bells, fitting new ropes, etc., and the band are very grateful to him. As it was Mr. R. J. Sharp's 300th peal, it was rung, by special request, for his Association-Bedfordshire. It was also Mr. A. P. Cannon's 475th.

BELFRY

GOSSIP
The Guild of Clerical Ringers are holding their ringing week from April 9th to 13th, with headquarters at High Tor Guest House, Matlock. There is to be a peal attempt at Darley Dale on April 12th. Eighteen members have promised to attend. The hon. secretary and treasurer is the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, of Chittlehampton Vicarage, Umberleigh, North Devon.

Mr. H, J. Sanger has informed us that ne recordings are available of Evercreech bells.

On Wednesday, March 21st, the Southampton and Reading Universities' Societies held a joint meeting at Whitchurch and Overton (Hants). The meeting was most enjoyable; ringing ranged from Cambridge to Grandsire.

Mr. Harry George Cobbin, the donor of the sixth bell at West Bridgford, Nottingham, died just before the dedication, which is reported in this issue. He was a ringer at St. Peter's, Nottingham, for 50 years, and was Ringing Master there for very many years.
The Lord Mayor of London, Alderman Cuthbert Ackroyd, will appeal on Sunday, April 15th, at 8.25 p.m. in the Home Service, on behalf of the recasting of Bow Bells-heard for over 25 years as the B.B.C.'s interval sig-nal-and the restoration of the historic bell tower in the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, London.
Some good work is being done at Rotherham, Yorks, where six ringers rang their first quarter of Grandsire Caters, under the fatherly eye of Mr. Norman Chaddock, on March 20th. The band consisted of Patricia Maxwell (15) 1, F. Jackson 2, Norman Smith 3, Mrs. N. Chaddock 4, H. O. Chaddock 5, J. Chaddock (15) 6. H. Woodall 7, F. Fisher 8, N. Chaddock (cond.) 9, T. C. ## THE BELLS OF ST. MARY-LE-BOW

By The Rev. HUGH EVAN HOPKINS, Rector of St. Mary-le-Bow

0F all the chimes in Christendom, Bow Bells are perhaps the best known. The earliest reference to them appears to be the children's nursery rhyme, which ends with the phrase: - I'm sure I don't know, says the big bell of Bow.' As early as this, of course, there was only one Bow Bell, which was rung as the curfew and time signal of the City of London, first recorded in 1334 as an Order of the Common Council. It is presumed, however, that this curfew had been ringing many years before that, and in 1469 there appears to have been the first known instance of daylight saving, when the order was given that at Bow the bells should ring at 9 p.m. It is on record that some of the city apprentices got annoyed with the bell ringer because he did not strictly adhere to the appointed time, and they fixed to the wall of the church the following rhyme :

Clarke of the Bow Bell,  With the yellow lockes,  For thy late ringing

Thy head shall have knockes.
To which the clerk replied:

Children of Chepe,  Hold you all still,  For you shall have Bow Bell,

Rung at your will.
It seems to have been a long day's work for the tired City workers in those days, and it is interesting to think that the church vestry clerk had a sympathetic heart. It is also recorded that the big bell of Bow was rung at a quarter-to-six every morning (in spite of many complaints) from 1472 until September Ist, 1874.

It is, of course, being born within the sound of this curfew, and not within the sound of the ring of Bow Bells. that has for many generations distinguished a Cockney; and it is thought by many that the repeated tolling of one bell can be heard much further than the ring of a peal. There is, therefore, no serious difficulty in believing that Dick Whittington may have heard the curfew of Bow Bell in 1375 from four miles away, at Highgate Hill.
Very little is known of Bow Bells before the Great Fire of London. In 1515 a William Copeland. churchwarden, presented a fifth and largest bell; but it seems impossible to discover when the sixth was added. without which, of course, the well-known Whittington chime, including the melody "Turn again. Whittington,' could not have been rung. It is in any case almost certainly a later invention. All the preFire bells were destroyed in 1666 and all their metal was lost. The famous 'Bow Bell' peal really dates from the rebuilding of St. Mary-leBow by Christopher Wren. The greal tenor bell was cast by John and Christopher Hodson, bell founders of St. Mary Cray. Kent. in 1669. which was two years before the huilding of the steeple was begun. Probably it was important for the city to have its time keeper restored as early as possible. and it is likely that it was hung provisionally on some timber campanile. The steeple of St. Mary-le-Bow is a true campanile, scparated from the church by a corridor. It springs directly from the ground up to a height of 225 ft ., and is generally recognised as Wren's greatest achievement of this kind.
First of all, a ring of eight bells. paid for by the $£ 400$ for which the site of All Hallows was sold to the city, was set up in the belfry. Of this, John Strype said in 1720: 'Surely for the number and melody of its bells Bow, since the fire, surpasseth former tunes.' This suggests that even in the medirval time the Bells of Bow were noted for their tunefulness, and that the recasting of them improved them even more. In the 'General Evening News' for Thursday, June 8th, 1738 , it is written that 'The tenor at Bow Church in Cheapside, which was accounted one of the finest bells in England, was cracked as they were ringing about 9 o'clock at night.' Presumably the curfew was being tolled, and the bell, which had been used so much more than the others, was worn out at the soundbow through not having been turned. A new big bell was then cast by Phelps and Lester (the same firm as that now named Mears and Stainbank), and the inscription of this bell shows a common ignorance of Latin grammar, using the singular forms Fecit, instead of the more correct plural.

In 1758, the vestry pronounced that this new bell was the 'compleatest bell in Europe,' and condemned the seven other bells as "greatly inferior.' Phelps and Lester were commissioned to recast them and add two more; and this new ring of ten was rung for the first time at George III's 25th birthday, June 4th, 1712. It is this peal which established the modern reputation of Bow Bells, which was by no means lessencd when two new bells were added in 1881.

As is well known, the Ancient Society of College Youths was founded in 1637, in which year they became ringers of Bow Bells. which they have remained ever since. On January 19th, 1907. they rang a peal (Treble Bob Maximus) and reached 5.088 changes in 4 hours and 1 minute.
It is interesting, however. to note that in the library of All Souls' College, Oxford, there is a MS containing - Orders conceyved and agreed upon by the Company excersising the Arte of ringing knowne and called by the name of the Schollers of Cheapsyde in London, began and so continued from the second day of February 1603.' If this is an authentic document, this Company would appear to have been the forcrunners of the 'Ancient Society,' and to have come into existence, appropriately enough, on the Feast of the Purification at Bow Church.

The Parochial Church Council of St. Mary-le-Bow has now given the order for the recasting of Bow Bells to the successors of the original founders, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank of Whitechapel. The Worshipful Company of Turners have shown the interest of their craft by giving $£ 100$ to the appeal fund to cover the estimated cost of tuning the bells. It is hoped that the recasting of the tenor bell will take place in the presence of the Lord Mayor some time in July, and if huilding operations allow. the complete ring will be cemporarily hung and rung on Lord Mayor's Day. November 9th. The Rector sincerely hopes that by that date the bulk of the $£ 150,000$ needed for the church will be within sight.

When recast, each bell will reccive its own name. The treble will be named by the bellfounder, and the second by a representative of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Their names will be recorded on the bell itself in token of the long association of both these bodies with the bells of Bow. Other bells will be named by the architect, the Lord Mayor, and the Rector, churchwardens and vestry clerk. The tenor bell is to be renamed 'Bow.'

An observant person will discover another old association with Bow Bells, if he notes carefully the following proposed inscriptions. No prize is offered for a correct solution, but it may give readers some moments of harmless occupation trying to trace the clues

Suggested Inscriptions for Bow Bells

HOW MONEY IS WASTED

The convener of 'The Ringing World ' committee recently received a letter which had been addressed to 122, Lce Road, S.E. 3 (no name). The people who now live there naturally opened it, and found a report of a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles. This they posted on to the convener's correct address-which has appeared regularly in 'The Ringing World' since Feb. 6 h . That cost them $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. As the report had not been sent to the Editor, a further $2 \frac{1}{2} d$. had to be spent to get it to him. The convener does not propose to spend yet another $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$, to draw the attention of the sender that reports should be sent to the Editor, and not to himbut it is hoped that this note will once again emphasise that there is a danger of delay-or even non-appearance-if reports are sent to the wrong person. We do not object to contributors wasting their own money, but we are not so prosperous as to be able to pay unnecessary postages, simply because of their failure 10 understand correct procedure.

REDEDICATION

BUNNEY, NOTTS

The six bells of St. Mary's, Bunncy, Notts, were dedicated at a service held during the evening of Monday, March 19th. The Vicar. the Rev. W. N. Metcalfe, officiated at the service, and the dedication ceremony was performed in the ringing chamber by the Rt. Rev. F. Russell Barry, Lord Bishop of Southwell. The bells were rung in rounds by members of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, and after the service touches of Plain Bob Minor. Oxford Treble Bob and Stedman Doubles were rung.
It is over 60 years since these bells were rung. During that time they have been chimed by means of a unique and complicated apparatus which involved the turning by hand of a drum with attached ropes, known locally as 'mangling the bells.' The tenor bell, of 15 cwt ., has been recast, and the remaining five have been quarter turned and hung in a new frame. The work has been done by Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough, with their usual efficiency. They were represented at the service by Mr. John Oldham and Mr. J. Fidler.

ST. GILES', WEST BRIDGFORD, NOTTINGHAM

0N Thursday, March 22nd, the new ring of eight bells at St. Giles' Church, West Bridgford, Nottingham, was dedicated by Bishop J. R. Weller, the service being conducted by the Rector, Canon R. F. Wilkinson. During the service the bells were rung in rounds by members of the Southwell Diocesan Guild and again after the service to touches of Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major.

The recasting of the bells was undertaken by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who were represented by Mr. Paul L. Taylor and Mr. John Oldham. A note of sadness was the receipt of the news that Mr. H. R. Cobbin, the donor of the sixth bell, had died two days previously.
The tower is only ten feet square inside but the bellfounders have overcome all difficulties. Although the bells are hung in two tiers, they all sound perfectly even in tone both inside and outside, and anyone would mistake them for a heavier ring than they are. They are a firstclass job.

NOTES ON THE BELLS

We are indebted to Canon R. F. Wilkinson for the following historical article concerning West Bridgford bells.

The tower was built about 1500 , and three bells were hung in it. This was the usual number for a village church. In those days each bell had a special use. In 1553 the Commissioners of Church Goods reported that there were ' three bells of one accorde, hanging in ye steeple of ye same churche.' Two of these bells remained in the tower for more than 450 years, until they were taken down in 1955.

The inscriptions were:-
(1) Celorum Christe placeat tibi rex sonus iste. (May this sound please Thee, O Christ, King of Heaven.")
(2) J. & E. Smith & Co., Chesterfield, 1813. GLORIA DEO. (Glory to God.)
(3) AVE MARIA.

The bells were cast by Richard Mellers, Mayor of Nottingham, in 1499, and bear marks, which he used, and are frequently found on bells in the Midland Counties, a cross and a shield with the letter $R$ and a bell. The first bell would be the daily service bell. Similar bells can be seen at Shelford. Screveton and Kelham, with the same inscription in small black letter. This bell is now preserved in the church and weighs about 3 cwt.

Ancient inscriptions always began with a cross, often of beautiful design.

The second bell. when seen by Mr. Stretton in 1808, also had the Mellers shield. but no inscription. It must have been cracked with long use and recast in 1813.

The third bell was the Angelus bell, or daily call to prayer at sunrise and sunset, rung in every church in mediæval times. The inscription is in Gothic capitals, and is now in the church. The shield, with a small cross, is found on several bells in Lincolnshire. When they heard the bell, people repeated these words and the Lord's Prayer.
On the top of each bell can be seen the ancient loops or 'cannons,' by which the bell was hung on a wooden headstock with metal straps. The clappers were hung by a leather band or 'baldrick' from iron staples cast in the crown of the bell.

Richard Mellers was succeeded by his son, Robert, also Mayor and bell founder. His widow, Dame Agnes. founded the 'Free School, now the Nottingham High School, in 1513. The foundry was in Bell Founders Yard at the back of Long Row, and continued until 1791, when the last bell was cast for a cotton mill. This bell was hung in St. James' Church in 1809.
When the bells were taken down, the frame and beams were found to be very decayed and unsafe, and they had not been rung for about 30 years.

The second bell was recast by Smith of Chesterfield, who also made a bell for Parwich about that time. Probably it was conveyed by water.

THE NEW BELLS

The bells are hung in two tiers, four bells in each frame of cast-iron resting on stecl girders. The steel headstocks are set in ball-bearings which only need attention once in 12 years. A new ringing gallery has been erected in the tower. The total weight of the bells is two tons
The bells are a light ring of eight of fine clear tonc, and six have been cast by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The other two came from Perlethorpe in Thoresby Park, where a ring of six was given to the new church by the third Earl Manvers in 1876. Five of these bells were purchased, as they could not be rung any more, and three have been recast in order to secure the right musical notes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PEAL RINGING IN WALES

Dear Sir,-I am sorry that I have aroused the 'wrath' of Welsh ringing friends! Mr. Dove suggested some months ago that I should wait until the second edition of his book before tackling the peals rung in the Principality, for the new edition would correct certain mistakes in the first one. I fear I did not do so and so have heaped coals of fire on my own head, apparently! I feel I must, however, say one or two things in my own defence. Firstly, it would appear that Mr. Hughes thinks I have missed rarious towers. This is not so, of course-I various towers. This is not so, of course-I have the peal totals of all those he mentions, but the numbers do not come up to the limit I set myself. I should be very pleased to let him have the particulars if he so desires. For myself, I am very interested in the two peals he says were rung prior to 1886 at Bodelwyddan. The only one prior to that date I have come across there was one of Grandsire Triples on August 4th. 1873, which 'Church Bells' stated was the first peal on the bells. He says the two peals were of Treble Bob. I should be very grateful for details of these.

Mr. Clift has supplied very interesting details to "fill in' the barc outline which I give. I am sorry he thinks Wales has not been properly treated. Personally. I think it received about the right amount of space compared with the English counties, when numbers of towers and peals are taken into account. About one-quarter of the towers were mentioned by name (which is average for the number concerned) and they cover some 1,100 of the 1,700 -odd peals rung -a fair proportion, I feel. Throughout the length and breadth of the country, there have been many interesting and fine rings not mentioned, and I don't think. Wales came in for cavalier treatment over such. I have had the pleasure of ringing at most of the towers Mr. Clift mentions, and would agree with him that they are very fine and of interest, but my first object has been peals, and other considerations have had to be pushed into the background usually. I fear it would be very difficult to include towers which 'but for their geographical position would undoubtedly have had many peals rung on them.' That applies to many towers for different reasons. Again, I should be very pleased to let Mr. Clift have details of any towers he wishes if he will write to me. It has always been one of my difficulties to know where to draw the line of peal activity. I feel that. since there has not been any criticism of this until now, I have been about right. It was, perhaps, too much to hope that I should get away with it right to the end!

I am grateful to Mr . Clift for the mention of Llanelly. He is right in his surmise that I have mixed up the two towers, for I fear I was not aware that two towers were concerned. I have now sorted them out and find there have been 35 peals at Llanelly (Brecon) and 19 at its Carmarthen namesake. This does not include a peal rung on January 191h. 1946, where the "R.W. account does not indicate which of the two towers it was rung at. If Mr. Clift could find out which it was, I should be grateful. It was of Bob Minor. The last peal rung at the Brecon tower was on February 6th. 1946.Yours faithfully,
W. H. FELSTEAD.

FIRST PEAL AT THE LEIGH

Dear Sir,-What was thought at the time to be the first peal of Minor at The Leigh. Glos. was rung on April 13th, 1913. I think that I am the sole survivor of the band.-Yours sinserely.

ST. MARY'S, ROADE

Dear Sir,-In reply to a request for founders' names in 'The Ringing World' of March 16 th. the following information concerns the tower of St. Mary's, Roade. The tower contains a ring of five bells, as follows :-
Treble- 5 cwt .21 lb .. cast by J. Taylor and Co., 1952, and inscribed: *Roade Parish Church restored 1950: Cyril Thomas Cripps, Esq., M.B.E. The bell is named after St. Cecilia. Second-5 cwt. 3 qr. 14 lb .. originally of mediæval casting, inscribed: "Nova campana Margareta est Nominata.' Recast by Russell of Wootton in 1727.

Third- $6 \mathrm{cwt} .1 \mathrm{qr}, 20 \mathrm{lb}$. Mediæval casting, about 1450 , bearing the inscription: "Sit nomen Domini Benedictum.

Fourth- 8 cwt. 1. qr. 21 lb . Mediæval casting, about 1450, bearing the inscription: 'Sancta Katerina ora pro nobis.

Tenor- 10 cwt. 2 qr. 17 lb . in F. Mediæval casting, about 1450 , bearing the inscription: "In Multis Annis resonet campana Johannis."

It was thought from the peculiar founders mark on the back three bells that they were cast by Henry Jordan, of London, about 1450. However, recent research has established them as being cast by William Chamberlain, of London, circa A.D. 1450.

After a silence of 200 years the back four bells were rehung in a steel frame with new fittings in 1950, and the new treble added in 1952, all the work being done by J. Taylor and Co.-Yours faithfully,

ALAN C. COZENS.

THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE BELLS

Dear Sir,-In a recent issue of "The Daily Telegraph,' Peterborough stated that these bells were a personal gift to Queen Victoria and that they are now the private property of H.M. Queen Elizabeth II. If this is so, it is surely improper to lay claim to them for the benefit of this or that church tower. Should the Central Council be consulted as to their disposal. it would be a different matter.-Yours faithfully, Clevedon, Somerset.

E. G. CAPLE.

PEAL RINGING IN NORTH WALES
Dear Sir,-I have to point out two errors in my letter published in "The Ringing World' of March 23rd. The peal rung at Rhyl for the royal visit was Plain Bob Major, and not Grandsire Triples. The last peal rung at Beaumaris was also Plain Bob Major, and not as stated.

The last peal rung at Bodelwyddan was Double Bob Major (not before mentioned), all conducted by J. W. Griffiths. I regret the mis-takes.-Yours truly,
A. J. HUGHES.

Bangor, Caerns.

THE LATE MR. B. A. KNIGHTS' PEALS Dear Sir,-In the issue of "The Ringing World,' dated March 23rd, you publish, above the initials 'N. C.,' an analysis of peals rung by the late Benjamin A. Knights which is, it is stated. incomplete because records of peals rung after 1925 are not available.

I feel sure that, since Ben lived, worked and rang in Lancashire for a considerable portion of the period 1925 onwards, an application to the appropriate official of the Lancashire Association would elicit the required information.

The annual report of the Lancashire Association for the year 1949 shows that Ben joined the Association in 1910 and rang 182 peals for the Association.-Yours faithfully,
J. BLACKBURN.

Anderton, near Chorley.

LINCOLN "TIPS' SUPPLIED:

Dear Sir, -The method published by Arthur Craven in "The Ringing World' of August 22nd, 1924, as Lincoln Surprise Major, was never rung under this name. It was first rung to a peal at Beddington, Surrey. on July 7th, 1932, and named Beddington Surprise Major
The first peal of Lincoln Surprise Major was rung at Helmingham, Suffolk, on February 14th, 1935. I cannot give any details of the authorship of this method but can only suggest that the name was chosen both because it was made available by the renaming of the original Lincoln, and also because it is a very good name.
In my view, Beddington, which is a method well worth ringing, would have been much more popular had it retained its original name.
No peals of 'Ripon,' 'Norton, or 'Thorp' have yet been rung. I do not know in what circumstances 'New London' was renamed 'Thorp,' but perhaps other correspondents will be able to say.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN R. MAYNE.
Harrow.

FAST PEALS

Dear Sir,-I cannot let Mr. H. A. Price's letter about fast ringing pass without comment, as he queries a peal in which I took part, namely, one of Plain Bob Minor on the front six at Loughborough Bell Foundry on February 18 th, in 1 hour 53 minutes; tenor $2 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.

I am surprised that he should write in this vein, coming as he does from the county of fast peals on heavy bells, and having himself accomplished the feat of dubious worth of ringing a peal in 2 hours 32 minutes with a 17 cwt . tenor. Yet he is criticising a comparatively steady peal on some very light bells.

The fact is that several faster peals have been rung on these bells, even on the back eight. The circumstances on February 18 th were that a peal of Stedman Caters had gone astray, and some of the band having to return home, the six who happened to be left decided to go for Minor on the front six for a change, rather than have a blank afternoon. They were, therefore, not a band picked for speed, nor had the majority any special love for it-especially myself, as Mr. Price will note if he reads my letter on p. 156. We did not try to ring fast : the bells just went that way- 16 minutes per 720 ! Roland Beniston had his collar and tic on and showed no signs of warmth at the end. It was one of the peals I have enjoyed most, too.

One day it is going to dawn on the folk who do not have the pleasure of ringing very often at Loughborough Bell Foundry that there must be something about these bells that not only makes possible, but actually invites fast ringing, even for the very small weights concerned.Yours, etc.,

DEREK P. JONES.

THE MEETING AT BENGEO

Dear Sir,-I was very surprised to read the letter in the issue of March 23rd from Mrs. Chamberlain, about the treatment of the less advanced ringers at meetings. The two methods quoted are definitely not good examples of this, for at the recent meeting at Bengeo at least two of the band ringing Double Norwich C.B. Major (only a course) had to look it up before starting (myself included).

I do not feel I have any claim to be an advanced ringer, having only been ringing for 18 months, but i was given a chance to attempt & course of Double Norwich.-Yours faithfully,
w. D. N. FOOTE.

OBITUARY

MR. F. R. BORRETT

 AN APPRECIATION BY NOLAN GOLDEN Mr. Fred Borrett was, in ringing circles, the most outstanding personality in Norfolk, and his contribution to the Exercise and to ringing history greater than that of any other in the county during this century.From 1894 -the year in which he joined the Norwich Diocesan Association and rang his first peal-to 1929, when the Association was reorganised, he was the honorary secretary of the Redenhall District-a record for length of service. In 1927 he became the leading peal ringer in the Association, surpassing the total of 559 credited to the illustrious James Motts.

The first of the 632 peals in which Mr. Borrett was to take part was rung at Redenhall. He rang the fourth to Oxford Treble Bob Major. Ringing the fifth was Ernest Poppy, and 40 years later they were to ring on the same bells an anniversary peal, and this was also Mr. Borrett's last. He had in fact removed to the obscure, peal-less West Norfolk village of Tattersett two years before, and came out of retirement from ringing for this occasion.

Ringing was flourishing at Alburgh, the Pulhams and Diss when Mr. Borrett was initiated into change-ringing. A great tradition of advanced method ringing and fine striking had been built up by the Smiths of Alburgh and Pulbam, the Tanns and R. Whiting of Pulham, and the redoubtable Captain Moore of Redenhall. This enthusiasm remained keen and strong for more than a generation. In 1895, the year of the augmentation of the six at Pulham Saint Mary, Mr. Borrett rang his first peal on ten bells, and the next year his first of Maximus, conducted by his cousin, Mr. Charles Edward Borrett, still greatly interested in ringers and ringing. The year 1896 saw also Fred's first peal as conductor, and lengths of 6.048 and 7.008 Oxford Treble Bob Major, to which latter at Pulham he rang the tenor. New methods quickly followed; in 1899 he had rung his 50th peal. Then in 1901, when William Pyc's band was touring Norfolk, he took part in the first pual of Superlative on Thetford bells and the first peal of New Cambridge in the county at Swaffham: 1902 saw him on tour in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire, with such giants as William Pye, Isaac Shade and Gabriel Lindoff. He also took part that year in a peal of Superlative Surprise Major on Mancroft back eight, conducted by James Motts, with John Souter ringing the tenor. By the middle of 1903 Mr . Borrett's peal total had passed the 100 mark. and the augmentation of his own bells to eight in 1904 gave a new impetus to his efforts; he had taken part in 200 by 1906 and 300 by 1910. His 500th came in 1925 and his 600th in 1930.
Fred Borrett's long list of peals contains many interesting performances, for there are many - firsts' and 'first in the method ' on the eights of Norfolk and Suffolk. He called the first peal of Bristol in Norfolk by a resident band, and the first of that method in Suffolk. He took part in over 100 peals each of Oxford Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Superlative Surprise Major. Many of his peals, rather less than half, in fact, he conducted himself, the treble being his favourite bell for this purpose. Of fine physique, he was an excellent tenor ringer, and had rung Mancroft tenor in 1908 to Kent Royal, and Redenhall tenor on many occasions.
Mr. Borrett was of commanding appearance and always wore a beard. A man of few words, he was forthright in speech. He had peculiarities but he was much loved and respected. A number of ringers in the Redenhall District are indebted to him for their introduction to our fascinating art and training to a high standard of striking and method ringing.

Frederick Robert Borrett dietd on February 27th, 1956, aged 84. Cremation was at Cambridge on March 1st. An in memoriam peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Saxlingham Nethergate on March 5th, Mr. Borrett having taken part in the first peal on the eight there. An attempt for a peal of Bristol Surprise at Redenhall, so long associated with his activities, had to be abandoned after 2,400 changes owing to the indisposition of one of the band.

MR. H. R. COBBIN

It is with deep regret we record the death of Mr. H. R. Cobbin, who died at his home at West Bridgford, Nottingham, at the age of 77 years, after a long illness. He was a ringer at St. Peter's, Nottingham, for over 50 years, for 40 of which he held the office of Ringing Master.
Mr. Cobbin joined the Midland Counties Association in 1898, for which he rang 19 peals, and was a member until the Association was split up. He then became a member of the Southwell Guild. In 1919 he gave two trebles to increase the ring at St. Peter's to ten, and there was nothing he liked better than to hear Grandsire and Stedman Caters rung for service, where he would be found every Sunday until illness overtook him.

The funeral service was held at St. Peter's Church on Friday, March 23 rd, and was conducted by Canon Inglis, Rector of St. Peter's, assisted by Canon R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of St. Giles', West Bridgford. Cremation, which was private, followed at Wilford Hill Cemetery.
Before and after the service the bells were rung half-muffled to Grandsire and Stedman Caters; an attempt for a half-muffled peal came to grief after about two hours' ringing.
'He was a man who stood for all that was best,' said Canon Inglis, 'a man of marked individuality, kindly tolerance; and he was a devoted churchman.'
We shall miss Bob, as he was affectionately known, and we shall be the poorer for his passing.

MR. GEORGE HALKSWORTH

Mr. George Halksworth died at Scarborough on March 19th at the age of 90 . The funeral took place at Doncaster on March 22nd, the service being conducted by Canon Herklots, Vicar of Doncaster, ringers being present from Scarborough. York and Doncaster. A course of Grandsire Doubles was rung at the graveside.

Before moving to Scarborough in 1938, Mr. Halksworth was for nearly 50 years a ringer at St. George's Parish Church, Doncaster. He was born in Derby, and did his early ringing at St. Luke's. Derby. He moved to Doncaster in 1891 and was employed as a boilermaker on the Great Northern Railway, retiring 40 years later. He was responsible for building the boiler for the first Pacific type locomotive built at Doncaster works.

For nearly 50 years Mr. Halksworth faithfully upheld the best traditions of the art of change-ringing in Doncaster, and did all in his power to advance the art. Before going to Doncaster the only method practised at St. George's was Grandsire, but under his influence the band soon learned to ring other methods, chiefly Stedman and Double Norwich. His work, however, was not confined to St. George's, and his influence was felt in many towers in the Doncaster District. He was cofounder and first vice-president of the Doncaster and District Society of Change-ringers in 1921, and for very many years was Ringing Master of the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association of Change-ringers. and in this capacity carried out the often difficult duties of his office in a manner worthy of a diplomat, giving pleasure to many and offence to none. During his youth, Mr. Halksworth was a keen footballer, and for several years played for Doncaster Rovers. He was previously with Derby County and was a member of the team when the Football League was formed. He gave up football, following an injury received whilst playing. He had been a College Youth for well over 50 years, and had rung 62 peals for the Yorkshire Association.

Another correspondent writes:-

Mr. Hawksworth came to live in Scarborough in 1938, joining the local company there. The year 1946, when this company was re-formed after the war, found him still as keen as ever, although lame in one of his legs. His last touch of any length was a quarter peal in 1947, but he continued to ring until 1949, when his lanreness finally prevented his climbing the steps. He maintained a lively interest in ringing until his death.
The bells of St. Mary's, Scarborough, were rung half-muffled on March 21st, and in the following week a quarter peal as a tribute.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

The mother church of St. Mary, Lewisham, was 'at home ' for the occasion of the quarterly District meeting, when 90 of her kith and kin, representing 14 towers, attended a very successful function.
Ringing during the afternoon, directed by Miss M. Andrews (Bexley), preceded the service in church, at which the Vicar (Rev. F. Long-worth-Dames) officiated. The office included a more than usually interesting address, and a warm welcome to St. Mary's Church. The organist, Mr. L. Vincent, kindly led the singing and made the service additionally pleasant.
A company of over 80 visited the Church Hall for tea, and enjoyed a splendid meal, superbly served by Mirs. J. Dafters and her committee of friends; the Vicar was at the head of the table.
Mr. J. Dafters introduced Mr. J. Robertson, a life member of the Association, to the members, stating that it was very largely due to the efforts of Mr. Robertson that St. Mary's bells were in such good condition and consequently the ringing was flourishing.
Replying, Mr. Robertson said he was very pleased to see such a gathering at Lewisham, and was encouraged to see so many young people present. It augured well for the future of ringing, and with due deference to his hearers' 'local patriotism,' he contended that, for him, St. Mary's bells were the finest in the country!
The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. Twenty-four ringers were elected members of the Association and the election of two others was ratified.
A comprehensive report of proccedings at the annual committee meeting held at Maidstone, read by Mr. A. S. Richards, was adopted, with tharks to Messrs. Richards and Dafters for preparing it.

St. Mary's, Hayes, was chosen as the place for the next meeting, to be held on April 28th.

The meeting's congratulations were extended to Mr. H. E. Audsley, on his election to the Mastership of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, who acknowledged them in a few wellchosen words.

The members also sent to Mr. G. H. Daynes, one of the oldest members in the District, their sympathy and good wishes: Mr. Daynes is the victim of a severe illness.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, organist, the caterers, and all who had assisted in arranging so happy a meeting, concluded the business.

Further ringing terminated the day's activities.

THE SUNDAY SERVICE CONDUCTOR

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

2. THE AMALGAMATION OF

 SIX-SCORESIt is assumed that the normal six-scores of Grandsire Doubles are familiar to the reader. Of these there are ten-six of them variations of one basic extent, and the other four variations of another basic extent. They are so well known that we shall not write them out here. The student will, of course, probably have realised hat each of these six-scores is a round block of changes, beginning and ending with Rounds, and it may possibly have occurred to him that six-scores might easily be written out starting from some row other than Rounds. Thus, instead of beginning with 12345 and calling P.B.P.B.P.S., and repeating the calling, he could start from 14532, call P.B.P.B.P.S., repeat the calling and return to 14532 , having accomplished a true 120 changes. Or, instead of starting from 12345 and calling S.B.S.P., and repcating the calling twice to return to Rounds, he could start from 14235, call S.B.S.P., and repeat twice and return to 14235 . Now to start from 14532 or from 14235 on paper is easy; to do it in the tower is not perhaps convenient. But it is not at all inconvenient or difficult to ring and call one six-score as far as, say, 14235, then from this point use the calling of another six-score to ring round to 14235 again, resuming, at this point, the original six-score and completing it so as to arrive safely at Rounds. In case this is not clear, let us consider an example. Let the conductor call B.P.S.P.B.P. This will bring him in 60 rows to 15342 . From this point let him consider 15342 as the beginning and end of a six-score and let him call P.S.B.S., twice repeated. He will then ring 120 true changes and will return to 15342 . Now let him resume the calling of the original sixscore, calling B.P.S.P.B.P. This will return him to Rounds and he will have rung two six-scores, one fitted neatly inside the other one. Rounds will, of course, have cropped up somewhere in the 'inserted' six-score, but this does not affect the truth of the said 120 .
There is space here only for an indication of this method of inserting one six-score inside another. The possibilities of it are immense. The conductor will find by very brief investigation that it offers to him a very large number of callings, with opportunity to vary his observation bells in a way not possible with the standard six-scores. This principle of inserting one extent into another like Chinese boxes is the basis of the Morris and Pitman 240s.
The third matter we have set ourselves to consider is the calling round of the bells, and simple as this is in Grandsire Doubles, it is by no means negligible, for it holds in it the general principle of calling round on all numbers and in all methods.

3. THE CALLING ROUND OF THE  BELLS

The general principles of calling bells round are based, on all numbers, on means of causing certain bells to course each other in particular orders. In Grandsire Doubles, to bring the bells round at backstroke 5 must be made to course after 4 . This is-most easily accomplished by getting 4 into the hunt and leaving it there until 5 has made thirds place. A call at the next lead means that they dodge together behind, leaving only 2 and 3 on the front. At tbis point, if the conductor wishes the bells to come round he has only to call 2 into the hunt by bob or single (whichever is needed). The bells may, of course, be called round at hand-stroke, and to do this 4 and 5 must be reversed, 5 being called into the hunt and left there until 4 makes thirds place. The lead-end will then be either 5423 or 5432 . In the latter case, seeing that the bells are In Course, a bob at the next lead will produce Rounds at handstroke. The case of 5423 is more interesting. The bells are Out of Course and a single is needed to produce Rounds. A single at the next lead gives the lead-end 3254, and from this point the bells can run a whole plain course and come round at handstroke without any further call.

The calling of Grandsire Doubles into Rounds is thus seen to be capable of accomplishment in a very short time; so short in fact, that it might seem hardly worth while to offer it to the reader for study. The young conductor should, nevertheless, give the matter careful consideration, for two reasons. First, it is very useful to be able to bring bells round within a minute or so. It makes Sunday service ringing more casy to time, and gives pleasurable opportunitics to experiment with callings away from the convertional six-scores. Secondly, the principles of getting 4 and 5 together in plain course order in Grandsire Doubles are no different from those required for the big bells in Grandsire Triples, or Caters, or indeed in any method on any number of bells.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The nomination meeting of the Society was held at Drighlington on March 24th. This was a joint meeting with the Yorkshire District of The Ladies' Guild.

Shortly before 3 o'clock eight bells were raised in peal and the following methods were rung before the bells were lowered at 8.30 p.m.: Rounds, Stedman, Plain and Little Bob, Double Norwick, Oxford and Kent, Cambridge and Yorkshire.
Tea had been arranged in a nearby cafê, and at $50^{\circ}$ clock the company adjourned for a very enjoyable meal.
Ringing followed until 7 p.m., when the business meeting was held, the president taking the chair. The following nominations were received for the year 1956-57: President, Mr. H. Lofthouse; vice-presidents, Messrs. S. H. Barron, I.' Slack, T. W. Strangeway; Ringing Master, Mr. J. W. Gibson; secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. F. Hodson; auditors, Messrs. F. Rayment and C. F. Sutcliffe.

The secretary stated that Leeds Parish Church bells would not be available for the annual meeting of the Society on the last Saturday of April. After some discussion it was finally decided to change the place rather than the date of this meeting. It will now be held at Armley on April 28th.

The vote of thanks on this occasion was left entirely to the ladies, who very pleasantly thanked all concerned with the arrangements for this meeting.

Under any other business an announcement was made concerning the dedication of Sherburn bells, after rehanging on Easter Saturday. An invitation was extended to members of the Society to take part in the subsequent ringing.

During the afternoon and evening some 50 members and friends, representing 19 towers, had once again enjoyed these bells and the hospitality of this tower.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Enthusiastic Meeting at Halifax
Most successful was the first meeting of the year of the Western District at Halifax on March 17th. The bells of All Souls', Haley Hill, were available during the afternoon, and touches in various methods followed in quick succession under the able direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. Vernon Bottomley.
The local company had obviously given much thought to the tea arrangements, and the 50 members who had ordered tea were delighted to find turkey and tongue on the menu, followed by home-made cakes and pastries.
The Vicar of Haley Hill, the Rev. E. C. Henderson, joined the company for tea, but was unable to stay to the business meeting. He was rwelcomed by the vice-president, Mr. P. J. Johnson. The Vicar expressed pleasure at seeing so many ringers present, and also said how grateful he was to his own ringers for the conscientious way in which they performed their duties Sunday by Sunday. He added that he thought bellringing was the most important branch of voluntary church work (hear, hearl), admitting afterwards that, being a tactful man, these words were usually amended to suit the particular audience he was addressing!
The chair at the business meeting was taken by the vice-president. It was a pleasure to see Mr. William Ambler, a past District secretary, at the meeting and looking extremely well. Mr. Ambler thanked the local company for their arrargements, and said how gratifying it was to see a former apprentice, after moving to another tower, having made such good progress in forming a new band-it made one feel that one's effirts had not been in vain.

Ten new members were elected: Miss S . Collins, and Messrs. H. Barron, M. Brown, W. Wheatley, J. Crapp, F. E. Waspe, J. N. Parkin, P. Searby, K. Hainsworth and J. Buckley.

The 12 bells of Halifax Parish Church were available for the evening ringing, and as many of those present rarely have the opportunity to partake in 12 -bell ringing, rounds were a prominent feature. Touches of Major, Caters and Royal were also successfully brought round.
The next meeting is to be held at Bingley on June 16 th, and it is hoped that the enthusiastic support given to the Halifax meeting will once more be farthcoming.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

In spite of the poor weather on March 24 th, many ringers came to a delightful meeting at St. Ippolyts. Ringing started at 3 p.m. and went well until it was time for the service. The Rev. A. A. Symington conducted a short evensong, and Miss Taylor played the organ. After an excellent tea, the Vicar took the chair for the business meeting. The next District meeting will be at Anstey on April 28th, and we hope for plenty of support.
Until recently, the boundaries of the Northern District have not been clearly defined ; at present there are 35 ringable towers in this District. including Ardley and Walkern. Aspendon and Aston are definitely in the Eastern District now.
The bells were soon ringing again in many methods, from rounds to London Surprise, and the special method, Hull Surprise.

SOME THOUGHTS ON ST. MARTHA'S

IT IS STRANGE that no letter of appreciation or even comment seems to have appeared in "The Ringing World ' on what to many of us must have been one of the most inspiring episodes of its kind in the history of bell-ringing, namely, the work of Peter Minchin and his colleagues at the Army Church of St. Martha in Korea, as reported in 'The Ringing World' No. 2325 for October 21st, which showed pictures of them hanging small bells in frames which they had built, and told how they had taken on icarners to build up a service band.

Here is a case in which a church has been built. for special needs in unusual circumstances, and but for the keenness and enthusiasm of local ringers it would have had no sacred music outside its walls as a reminder of man's highest duty-to offer himself in worship before God.

The recent sad loss of Bill Matthew, the radio handyman, brings home to one the common ground which exists in the urge that thousands have expressed in the "do it yourself" philosophy, and the enterprise culminating in the establishment of a ringable tower thousands of miles away in the Far East. The difficulties of such a task, increased as they were by the isolation and the exigencies of army life, must have been very considerable. Without initiative, without determination and a very deep sensc of the value of bells in the life of the English Church, the job could never have been done.

The future course of events at St. Martha's, separated as it is from the rest of the ringing world, must of necessity be somewhat shrouded in uncertainty. But as is the $v$ hole Church. the community of the people rather than the bricks and mortar of the building, even so St. Martha's symbolises a community of ringer-handymen whose spirit will survive long after the building itself crumbles away.

Strange though it may be that these events should apparently pass unnoticed, but stranger still that they should have occurred in what seems to be the most remote and unlikely spot in all the world. It is doubtful if cver there was a clearer case of being unable to see the wood for trees. Sapper Peter Minchin, by standing well back-several thousand miles in fact-was able to "see the wood' and to show that these Ringing Isles are even now bristling with potential 'St. Martha's, which cry out for that spirit of enterprise and sense of the value of bells, and a community of ringers within the Church to ring them.

Let us for a little while stand back in thought with Peter Minchin and his colleagues and view with them the prospect of a potential - St. Martha' right in our very midst. The one chosen is a new church. one of many that are being planned, built or already completed up and down the country. It is in an area which a short time ago was just fields and hedgerows, and is now being developed under the New Towns Act of 1946 . It is what is described as a dual purpose church, consisting in the main of chancel, nave and stage, each section being separated from the others if desired by a heavy screen of the roller blind type, according to whether the building is required at a given moment as a church or a parish hall. This idea in itself, even before we look further at the details of the building and its furnishings, shows how very much alive the Church is to the constantly changing needs of the peoplc. The design is revolutionary and the materials used in its construction are modern, from the nylon curtains to the cellulin floor; from the tubular chairs to the African Agba wood font. All is up-to-date in concept, design and manufacture, except one thing-the bell!

The bell is modern neither in its conception nor in its execution, for it is dated 1793 , and was taken from an old church schoo. But it seems that in some way the architect must have been trying to appeal to what is sometimes referred to as the 'listening public,' only in this case, not perhaps knowing about or caring for campanology, he has appealed to the 'sceing public' by placing an outside stone altar and cross visible from the road.

In his notes on the church the architect says that this outside altar is probably the first of its kind in this country, and is a reminder to those who do not attend church services of the central symbol of Christian worship and, like the wayside cross so often seen abroad, may perhaps have an effect on those who pass by. He also believes that few will quarrel with the view that a new church should be an expression of our own times, and that a style that has lived and died cannot be made to live again! It is natural to wonder whether such an outside altar will in future years come to be associated with a "pseudo" architecture of the ' 50 s, or can it be taken to foreshadow a gradual change from the audible to the visual aid to worship?

Whenever the question of bells in modern churches is discussed we are always confronted with the apparently unassailable argument that bells are extremely expensive, and with so many other pressing needs it would be quite impossible to include them. The same argument would also seem to apply to such things as four-foot stone walls, lead roofs, stained glass windows and similar features of the ancient parish church. But these we do not find in the modern church. In place of the massive stone font we find a neat wooden one with inlaid copper bowl light enough to lift aside with one hand. Everyhing is designed with an eye to modern needs and produced at a price in keeping with the limited funds available.

As long as we continue to think of ringing only in terms of massive buttressed towers supporting bells whose weights often run into tons rather than hundredweights, we shall certainly never be able to keep abreast of the other developments which are taking place in church architecture. Surely there is a pointer to the right approach in what has been done at St. Martha's-the real St. Martha's in Korea, with its light dovecote belfry and 20 lb . tenor.

By the door is a table. Among the many booklets displayed there is a brochure on the building of this church. In his foreword the priest-in-charge speaks of the growth of a new town as a challenge to the institutions and services of the area in which it develops, and not least among these is the Church. Here may we pause for one moment to consider whether or not the territorial Ringing Associations should be included in these institutions and services. And the answer according to the rules of the five Associations of which I have the reports is, perhaps somewhat surprisingly-No.

It seems that the growth of a new town is not a challenge to us as ringers as regards the installation of bells. Only if such bells be installed by some other body does it become a challenge to us 'to care for those bells, and to establish. maintain and encourage service ringing, and to cultivate the art of change ringing and belfry reform.' The idea of belfry reform in a modern hall-church does seem to raise the question whether there might not be a case for a revision of the rules, but as they now stand the challenge to install new bells comes to us not as ringers but as members of the Church.

There is, however, another institution or service to which this challenge could be a target, namely, our friends the leading bellfounders. With all due respects it is pertinent to enquire if the research departments of the great bellfounding and hanging firms are planning ringing equipment which in design and price can satisfy the presentday requirements of the new churches. There has been nothing lately in "The Ringing World' to indicate that such work is going on, nor do their advertisements suggest that there is any special urge to capture new markets. The situation in our potential 'St. Martha's' seems to be somewhat like this: We must build a church for $£ 20,000$. We can spend so much on this, and so much on that, and so much on the bells.

A nice hittle ring of six, Mr. Bellfounder, planned for future augmentations. Now what can you do for us?

With copper at over $£ 400$ a ton, and tin at about double that price, it is obvious that 10 meet the situation either the weight of the bells must be very materially decreased from the present norm, or a cheaper substance must be found, or a combination of both factors employed.

With regard to the former. Peter Minchin, besides being an active follower of the 'do it yourself, philosophy is also a bell-hanger by trade. Perhaps he might be able to offer a few useful hints, for he must have almost unique experience in the hanging and subsequent handling of such lightweights. As to the latter. Many long years have rolled by since the days when Naylor Vickers first produced steel bells which, after the inevitable results of rust and scale, 'murder the music of Double Norwich,' as someone once put it. Surely after years of improvements the time must be ripe for re-examining the suitability of steel for bells. The chairman of one of our great steel companies speaks of the constant work being done by their research department on the development of better steels to meet more exacting requirements, and another says that new outlets for alloy steels are constantly being sought.

As we pass on our way we cannot but feel that the Church is answering her challenge to minister to the spiritual needs of the people with what staff and funds she can obtain. And the Church does want us as ringers. No less than three diocesan bishops have recently made special references to this need. But she is interested in ringing only in so far as it aids her in her work. If she finds it cheaper or more expedient to appeal to the eye of the people through an outside altar, rather than to their ear through bells, she will choose the former.

We can sce this white altar now, as we go out into the road, and scores of school children in the playground opposite can see it too. But will they ever hear the bells? Will they grow up to regard bells as not of our church-only the old churches have bells-the style that has lived and died and cannot be made to live again?

It is said that an oak tree spends 300 years in growth, 300 at maturity and 300 in slow decay. If there are any who feel secure in the belief that the maintenance of our art at its present levels is sufficient to ensure its indefinite survival, they are deceiving themselves, for it takes no account of the constant increase of the number of churches both here and abroad. When, as is the case, nearly all the new churches are without bells, the effect is a constant watering down of the proportion of churches with bells to those without. And this effect is made even worse by the fact that whereas these new silent churches must necessarily be in new and growing centres, old churches are frequently found in localities from which the population has drifted. This watering down effect results in a kind of inflationary process in which it is necessary actually to increase the number of ringable towers to prevent the gap from widening and to add our own contribution to our heritage to hand on unimpaired.

It must be apparent to all those who have given this aspect of ringing a thought that this is not being done. The restorations and augmentations that have taken place in the older churches have tended to blind the eye to the omissions of bells from the newer buildings. It seems that some obscuring cloud has risen up between the old and the new as happened in the States, where ringing never 'caught on'-a cloud which has alrcady dappled the English countryside with 'Little Americas ' as far as bells are concerned.

There is danger here to the Exercise, for like the Roman Empire it is not inherently immune from decline and fall, and it is certain that if nothing is done to arrest this neglect we shall eventually find that our art, like the oak tree, is slowly and imperceptibly sliding into those last 300 years.

Fortunately there are signs that the danger may be averted if and when it becomes more widely realised. But time is pressing, and the sooner the St. Martha's spirit of enterprise begins to awake the sooner shall we be able to take a greater part as ringers in that rising spiritual wave in which our clergy have expressed their belief.

CROYDON

THE SUNDAY SERVICE CONDUCTOR

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD (Continued from page 221)  2.-PLAIN BOB MINOR

$T^{0}$the conductor of Sunday service touches Plain Bob Minor will offer scope for much interesting experiment. The standard extents are well known and are easy to call, and there is a vast collection of $720^{\circ}$ s from which the conductor may draw when he wishes for something out of the ordinary. We shall, therefore, not spend time on the extents, but shall confine ourselves to the principles upon which shorter touches may be constructed and upon which the bells are called round.
The composing of touches and the calling into rounds depend chiefly upon the ability to make certain bells course each other, and in order to be able to do this the conductor must be capable of something more than just calling from an observation bell according to certain fixed rules. His observation bells, mainiy the fifth or the sixth (or both in combination) will, of course, be very important factors in the procedure, but he needs to be free from the necessity of ringing either of these bells to be able to note their relation to the treble and to call them into what positions he will, no matter what bell he is ringing. If he can do this he will be equally at home with his calling whether ringing the observation bell or some other bell; but if his practice has led him no further than calling from the observation bell then his skill is but half formed.
First efforts should be made to call from the second, third or fourth, some simple touch

Twice repeated to come to come down in front of the treble and call again by noting 3 I . on the front. (Note, if possible, that the sixth makes the bob.) Remember now that a third bob will bring the bells round, and let this remembrance prevent the calling of a third bob. Let the courseend run up neatly, and be ready for Part 2.
In Part 2 call by watching the fourth come down before the treble, and in Part 3 call by watching the second come down before treble.
The value of calling these simple touches by observing which bell courses in front of the treble cannot be too strongly emphasised. To this observation must presently be added that of noting which bell courses after the treble.
The young conductor should note the construction of the simple touch given above. Each part is built alike. The first bob parts the fifth and the sixth, the fifth making the bob. The second bob restores the fifth and the sixth to their plain course coursing order, the sixth making the bob. The touch should also be observed from another angle, in that it provides a short way of producing the three (In-course) course-ends 34256, 42356 and 23456. This means that if in any touch we arrive at 34256 or 42356 we know a simple way to get the bells round. This bit of elementary knowledge should be stored in the conductor's mind or in his notebook.

The other way of producing the three courseends 34256,42356 and 23456 is well known,

42356 and consists in calling 5-6 home three times. The first part of the touch is shown here, and the aspiring bob caller should consider by what means he will ensure that he calls his bobs at the right lead. To attempt to count the numbet of leads is far too precarious a plan, and one that will sooner or later deceive him. It is, indeed, possible to call this touch by learning what one bell (either 2, 3 or 4) does at each bob, but this pins the caller to one bell and is the very negation of the practice he is trying to give himself in calling from a non-observation bell. By far the best plan is to base the calling upon the principle of watching the sixth (and the fifth, if possible).

It should not be too difficult, whichever bell is being rung, to see when the sixth makes seconds place. It is when the sixth comes down in front of the treble, and that should make the matter easy. Now commonsense will insist that the bob cannot be called at the next lead, for at this lead the sixth is following the treble down and would run in if a call were put. The lead following is clearly the one for the bob, and, indeed, the conductor, ringing cither 2,3 or 4 , will have little doubt, if he watches carefully, that both 5 and 6 are safely tucked away up behind, clear of any impact of the bob.
The above doubtless seems very elementary, but the secret of confidence and happiness in calling Plain Bob Minor is found in a secure handling of these very primitive phenomena.

Let the conductor master the calling of the two touches already examined, and let him be capable of doubling these touches by two singles, doing these things from the non-observation bell, and it may be said that he is not far off the pleasure of being able to twist the bells about just as he wishes and of calling them into rounds just when he likes. For note this: The calling of the bells into rounds consists chiefly in getting 5 and 6 into plain course order if they happen to be parted. If they are not parted, then, as the above touches show, rounds can be reached in not too great a distance of time.

Our immediate consideration must be the question of getting 5 and 6 together if they are parted or are reversed. The latter point should be noted, for there are two chief ways in which 5 and 6 may vary from the plain course order: 1. They may not be coursing each other: 2 . They may be coursing the opposite way from the plain course, that is, with 6 coming to lead after 5 . Let us consider how, in each of these contingencies, we may get 5 and 6 into their plain course partnership.
If 5 and 6 are parted there are two simple ways of getting them together:-

1. Call the fifth to run out until the sixth dodges in 5-6 up. (It cannot possibly require more than two bobs: the reason for this must be left for the student to find out by pricking for himself.)
2. Call the sixth to run in until the fifth makes a bob. (It cannot possibly require more than two bobs, and once again the student should prove this statement by use of pencil and рарег.)
Examples of both these processes are given below:-

| Plan 1 | Plan 1 | Plan 2 | Plan 2 |
| :--- | ---: | ---: | ---: |
| 42563 | 26543 | 36542 | 42563 |
| 26435 | 64235 | 64325 | 26435 |
| 63254 | 43652 | -64253 | 63254 |
| 35642 | 35426 | -64532 | -63542 |
| -35426 | -35264 | 43625 | 34625 |
| - | 55264 | 56332 | 32456 |
| 56342 | 64523 |  | 42356 |
| 64523 | 42635 |  |  |
| 42635 | 23456 |  |  |
| 23456 |  |  |  |

After some brief study of the above the student may take any random row that has 5 and 6 apart, and proceeding on Plan 3 or Plan 2, may get the fifth and sixth together.
In the examples given, the rows after the tenors have come together have been pricked as far as a course-end, and the following important facts should be noted. In Plan 1 the tenors come together near the beginning of a course; in Plan 2 they come together near the end of a course. This may give certain advantages in the use of Plan 1 if we are anxioos to get the bells round very quickly. To this point some attention will now be given.

Examine again Plan 1. When the tenors finally come together (and are heard and seen to go behind in partnership) the position is this:-

which means that if the bells are in course the lead we have arrived at is bound to be 35264 or 45362 or 25463 . Now 35264 is the plain course and the bells will run home in four more leads. From 45362 or from 25463 the tells may be put into the plain course in a very short time by the use of Bobs Before, that is, calling bobs for the sixth to run out, and the fifth to run in.
The process is shown here and will, with a little care and practice, be found very simple.

| 45362 | 25463 | of course, be able |
| ---: | ---: | :--- |
| 56423 | 56234 | to recognise the |
| -56234 | -56342 | plain course when he |
| -56342 | 64523 | reaches it, and he |
| 64523 | 42635 | must make up his |
| 42635 | 23456 | own mind as to his |
| 23456 |  | best plan for carry- |
| ing out this indispen- |  |  | sable piece of identification. The lead-end 56342 is a well-known one, and the beginner should lose no opportunity of familiarising himself with the sound of it and with the order (3-2-4) in which the little bells come to lead.

However clear the above explanation may be, the earnest inquirer is bound sooner or later to remark that instead of 35264 or 45362 or 25463, the calling together of 5 and 6 might (and, indeed, would if the bells were Out of Course) produce 35462 or 25364 or 45263 . If this should be so it is evident that a siagle is needed somewhere. Where shall it be put? One could, of course, let the bells run on and call a single at the course-end, that is, where 5-6 dodge together behind. This would produce either 23456 or 42356 or 34256 , and the conductor knows, of course, from his previous study, how to get the bells round easily from 42356 or 34256.
The experienced conductor will, however, be able to make a short cut. Having got to 35462 or 25364 or 45263 , whichever it may be, he will procced to call Bobs Before until 56432 comes up. because 56432 is only the plaie course with 3 and 4 reversed, and a single at the course-end brings.rounds

The three possibilities are shown below. From 45263 nothing is required but a single at the course-end. The figures of the other two explain themselves and the process.

\begin{array}{rrr}
45263 & 25364 & 35462 \\
56432 & 56243 & 56324 \\

& \mathrm{~S} 23456 & 32645 \\

Mention has been made carlicr of the possibility of 5 and 6 varying from their plain course order by being reversed. In this situation 5 will be found to be coming to lead in front of 6. and when the two bells go behind they will strike 6-5 instead of 5-6 at backstroke. Should $5-6$ be thus reversed no amount of calling the sixth to run in or the fifth to run out will avail to bring them together the right way. One of two things will have to be donc. Either they must be parted by some convenient means or else a single must be called when the two bells are Before: This latter plan is the simplest and by far the quickest, for it turns 5 and over 6 immediately.

In the example shown 5 and 6 are reversed, and when the Before is reached the position is 65000 instead of the plain course $46352 \quad 56000$. If a single is now called 65423 instead of 5 running out and 6 S 56234 running in (which would preserve the inverted position), 5 makes seconds and 6 makes thirds, and the two bells are the right way round.

It is not, of course, desirable to have 5 and 6 reversed in Minor, for the music in that position is inferior and not greatly admired. It may happen, nevertheless, that in the course of experimental callings the conductor will, voluntarily or involuntarily, get 6-5's at backstroke. If this should happen he need have no difficulty, as the above note demonstrates, in getting the two bells right again.

Enough has now been written, it is hoped, to guide the aspiring conductor in-
1.- Calling from a non-observation bell;
2.-Calling the bells round from any position.

Armed with this knowledge the student should be in a position to experiment freely in calling, both in the standard touches and extents, and also, what is more to the point in these articles, in the practice of calling bobs at random and then bringing the bells home at will. It is in the latter procedure, possibly, that the greatest entertainment is secured. No lists of rules have been given here, but general principles have been exposed and explained. Final success must rest on abundant paper work and bold experiment in the tower.

This section concludes on a slightly heretical note. The Central Council will not recognise peals of Minor rung with a covering tenor, and it may, therefore, seem in doubtful taste to mention such a possibility. But there are bands who, in Sunday service touches, for some reason or other, do occasionally ring Plain Bob Minor on seven bells. Where this may ke done it is not without interest to remark that 3-5 Behind is similar in musical value to 4-6 in Triples, and 6-3 is similar in musical value to $7-4$ in Triples. The construction of touches of Plain Bob Minor to be rung with a covering tenor may therefore follow a slightly different plan from those made for ordinary Minor ringing and the musical effects of $3-5$ and $6-3$ Behind are by ho means to be despised.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

For the first time in its history the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford held a meeting at Shareshill on March 24th. Situated midway between Wolverhampton and Cannock and lying half a mile from the main road, Shareshill manages to preserve its rural nature and quiet, together with a sense of remoteness.
In his address at the service the Vicar of Shareshill, the Rev. A. Walkerdyne, mentioned that all that now remained of the church built in the 15 th century was the tower.
The pleasing light ring of six bells is rung from a very small ringing chamber, but as this opens out to the gallery, ample room is thus available for those awaiting their turn to ring. Mr. H. Butler and his young band made the visitors very welcome and they are to be congratulated on the arrangements they made for this meeting, including a bountiful tea served in the village school. The attendance of 65 included a good proportion of young ringers.

At the business meeting after tea it was decided to send a donation of $£ 44 \mathrm{~s}$. to Bow Bells Appeal Fund and another of \&1 Is, to St. Modwen, Burton-on-Trent, Restoration Fund.

The nexs meeting of the Society will be the joint meeting with the Midland Counties Guild and Shropshire Association at Burton-onTrent on April 14th.

BELFRY the North of England Home Service on April 15th will hear a certain band of ringers in the background 'pricking out the seedlings.' Only five 'perennials,' two 'blennials' and two 'seedlings' were present, which may accoumt for the varied 'spacings.'
'The seating arrangements for the homeward journey by coach looked rather like the result of a well-organised matrimonial agency, writes a North of England correspondent in describing his branch's second annual outing on Easter Monday.
The six bells of Pilton, Somerset, have been retuned, hung on ball bearings and the third recast. A big assembly of ringers is expected for the rededication ceremony on April 21st. The Rev. M. Hurst-Bannister, president of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, is Vicar of Pilton.
St. Mary's, Twyford, Berks, held their second annual outing on Easter Monday. Towers visited were Marshfield (Glos); Swainswick; St. Mark's, Lyncombe; St. Michael's and St. Paul's, Bath (where the best ringing of the day took place); St. Mary's, Bathwick; Bathampton and Bathford.

Miss Florence C. Brown, of Melbourne, writes in 'The Ringing Towers,' the journal of the New South Wales Association, of her experiences while ringing in England during the past year. She has rung in 50 towers, and writes: - Wherever I have gone I have had the same welcome that seems part of the Exercise itself-if you can ring, 'Catch hold '-and ino matter how little your experience the rest of the band will ring with you, helping you and guiding your path with a word, a beckon, a

Miss Barbara Mitchell arrived home on leave from the Persian Gulf on Easter Saturday. She is hoping to ring her 100th peal during her holiday, having at present 97 to her credit. She scored her 98 th (London Surprise) at Willesden on April 5th, and her 99th (Cambridge Surprise Major) at St. Albans on April 7th for the Ladies' Guild.

Mr. F. Bennett, of Brighton, writes correcting the footnote to the peal of Minor in seven methods rung at Bosham (page 196). He points out that it was not the first peal in seven methods rung at Bosham (page 196). He points Minor in seven methods was rung on July 16 th, 1904, conducted by Mr. George Williams, in which Mr. Bennett took part.

ANOTHER LONDON INSTALLATION

At the Church of St. James, Prebend Square, Islington, there is a ring of six bells (tenor 7 cwt.) by Warner. These were regularly rung up to the outbreak of the war, although noth. ing advanced was ever attempted. The bells were hideously noisy in the street below and complaints were fairly frequent. Still, as is usual in such cases, nothing was done, and eventually the war stopped ringing altogether. Since the war there has been no local band, and very occasionally visiting bands arrived to perform. For some years a ringing parson was the incumbent, but the best in the way of assistance that the local Association could attempt was to ring a peal there, causing more antagonism. The committee of welcome waiting outside the tower is still a vivid memory in some people's minds.)
The last time these bells were rung was on May 15th, 1954. on the occasion of the return of H.M. The Queen after her tour abroad; shortly after, the bells were condemned as unsafe and the tower given over to the birds. It is worthy of note that the hells had, some years ago, been rehung on ball bearings.
The writer was informed that the bells were to be retuned and rehung and the old ringing gallery restored. This, however, appeats to have fallen through, as the cost was beyond all possible consideration, and a record player has now been installed and the ringing fittings removed. I have heard of many towers where these players have been fitted, but it seems the height of tragedy to install such an apparatus over the top of six perfectly good bells.

What, however, is most annoying, is the fact that the recordings (about a dozen are provided) are apparently being made for the company by various groups of ringers. What hope have we of stamping out this pernicious fraud when our own members are actively assisting the enemy?

LIVERPOOL FAREWELL TO ## MR. P. W. CAVE

The members of the Liverpool Parish Church Society of Bellringers have been sorry to say goodbye to Mr. P. W. Cave. Percy Cave has been connected with St. Nicholas tower ever since 1924, except for a few years in the 1930's, when his business took him to Derby. Since 1952, when the new bells were hung and the band reconstituted, he has been Ringing Master. Many peal boards in the tower testify to his enthusiasm in pre-war days, while since 195? he has brought the band up to pealringing standard in Stedman Cinques quicker than most other men could have done. Now his work has again called him away from Liverpool, this time probably for good, and he is to settle at Beckenham, Kent.
On Sunday, February 12th, he was presented with a pipe and tobacco as a small token of appreciation from the St. Nicholas' ringers, The previous day the ringers of the Liverpooi branch of the Lancashire Association (of which the was Branch secretary) had presented him with a brief case.
On Easter Monday there was a farewell of a different kind when, after meeting short for Cinques, a good peal of Stedman Caters was Tung. All the band are regular Sunday service ringers at St. Nicholas', with the exception of Alan Cave, Percy's son.

A CORNISH WEDDING  Taylor - Carveth

On Easter Monday the little Church of St. Cuby, Kenwyn, Cornwall, was packed to capacity for the wedding of Miss Judy Ann Carveth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. N. Carveth, of Truro, with Mr. Brian Sanıson Taylor, elder son of Mrs. E. L. Taylor, also of Truro. The bride, charmingly arrayed in white, was given away by her father, who, with his daughter, is a ringer at Kenwyn Church.
A full choir was in attendance and after the singing of 'The Lord's My Shepherd, the happy couple left the church to the accompaniment of rounds and call changes on the bells.
After a sumptuous reception at the Red Lion Hotel in Truro, the couple departed by road for London and thence by air to Spain for the honeymoon
Later in the day an excellent peal of Plain Bob Major was rung on Kenwyn bells in honour of the event by members of the local team. Taking part in the peal was the bride's brother. Alan Carveth, who is president of the Truro Guild.

MISS PATRICIA AYRIS MARRIED

Miss Patricia Joan Ayris, eldest daughter of Mr . and Mrs. T. H. Ayris, of 10 , Sherwood Close, Launton, Oxon, who is in charge of the sales section of the Central Council Library and an honorary member of the Council, was married on March 24th to Mr. John Gordon Steeples, only son of Mr. F. T. Steeples and the late Mrs. Steeples, of Launton. Miss Ayris played hockey for Oxfordshire in 1951. She rang her first peal at Caversfield for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.; she has taken part in two television performances and four sound broadcasts with the handbell ringers of St. Mary's, Launton.
The ceremony was performed at St. Mary's Church, Launton. The bride was met at the church door by the choir (of which she was a member), and the ceremony was performed by the Rector (the Rev. E. S. Tarrant), with Miss E. Sharpe as organist.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a full-length taffeta gown with fitted bodice trimmed with diamante, full-length veil, and carried a bouquet of decp red carnations. Her bridesmaids were Miss Veronica Ayris (sister) and Miss Doreen Timms (cousin), and Mr. M. W. Spencer was best man.

At the reception at the Village Hall handbells were rung by the Misses S. Gilpin, S. Clarke and E. Sharpe and Messrs. S. Holtom, C. Kinch and F. Sharpe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Steeples' address is Hall View, Launton, Bicester, Oxon, and orders for Central Council publications should be sent there.

WEST DORSET SECRETARY MARRIED

The picturesque old village church at Netherbury, Dorset, was an ideal setting for the wedding of two local ringers on April 2nd. The bride was Miss Edna G. Russell, of Netherbury, who is hon. secretary of the West Dorset branch of the Salisbury Guild, and the bridegroom Mr. Edward Pannell, of Beaminster. The ceremony was choral and the officiating clergy were the Rev. P. B. May, Vicar of Netherbury, and the Rev. J. S. Arthur, M.C., Vicar of Beaminster.
The bride wore a full-length white satin dress with a three-quarter length veil held with orange blossom, and carried a bouquet of red carnations and white freesias. She was attended by two bridesmaids, who wore cyclamen pink rigured taffeta dresses with juliet caps to match.
As the couple left the church in brilliant sunshine the bells were rung by the Netherbury band. The reception was held in the Village Hall and among the many guests were ringing friends and members of Toc H . Prior to cutting the cake the bride and bridegroom, with Mr. J. T. Barrett, rang a course of Grandsire Doubles on a set of handbells that have been in the Pannell family for generations, although they have recently been recast. Mr. and Mrs. Pannell had a rousing send-off as they left for their honeymoon.

GAWSWORTH, CHESHIRE, BELLS REDEDICATED

The weather was on its very best behaviou: on March 17th, when the bells of St. James: Gawsworth, were rededicated. The visitors were delighted when they found that the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Clarke) had laid on a running buffet tea in his charming Rectory. The ring has been rehung in the original oak frame with new wheels, clappers, ball bearings, etc., by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.
Gawsworth Church, situated about three miles from Macclesfield, is well known for its picturesque setting and the many features of historic interest which it contains. Amongst these are the bells. some of which contain bell metal from the 15 th century. There were three bells in the tower as carly as 1549, and a treble was added in 1614; this bell appears to have been cast at home by Sir Edward Fytton, Lord of the Manor.
Over 150 years elapsed before any further alteration was made to the bells, and then, 'n 1776. after this long period of apparent discordancy, the four were sent to Gloucester, where Thomas Rudhall recast them into a ring of five. (Perhaps hung in one of their oou the peg, frames.) The next change camc as a result of the third bell parting trom its bearings and breaking, in 1850 . The curate-in-charge at the time promised a sixth bell if the parish would recast the broken bell; this work being entrusted to C. and G. Mears and completed in 1857.
So the restored ring remained until 1889 , when the parish magazine stated that: 'The fifth and tenor are very seriously cracked, damage has been done to the second and third which has injured their tone. The treble is unmusical in character, while the fourth is an excellent bell and will not be recast but will be taken to London and the other bells tuned to its note.' Surely this was not the work of the Grandsire band of the $1870^{\prime}$ 's? For restoring the bells once more and hanging them in a frame for eight, the sum of $£ 250$ was paid to Mears and Stainbank, and in 1890 the ring stood as follows:-
Treble.--' Make a cheerful noise unto God. 1857-1890.'
Second.- Peace and good neighbourhood 1776.

Third.- Mears and Stainbank, London. Ring, out the false, ring in the true. 17761890.'

Fourth. - C. and G. Mears, London. 1857.
Fifth-Ring every bell and sweetly tell That Christ hath conquered death and hell. 1776-1890.

Sixth.- I to the church the living call, And to the grave do summon all. $1776-1890$.

The empty spaces in the frame were filled in 1907, when the ringers raised the necessary $£ 90$. These two remaining bells were cast and installed by the Loughborough Foundry, this being the last visit from the bellhangers until the present time.
Peal boards in the ringing chamber record the ringing in 1870 of 1,870 Grandsire Doubles (in 'excellent Stile'); the first peal on the bells. Grandsire Minor, in 1904; and the first on the eight tells, Grandsire Triples, in 1909. Altogether 13 peals have been rung on the bells, the last one being rung in 1939. Incidentally, although the first peal board records the tenor as being 18 cwt ., it is, in fact, approximately 11 cwt .

In Edwardian days this was the leading tower of the district, probably through the influence of the Lomas family. In 1913 a band composed entirely of members of this family rang a 'peal,' probably Grandsire Triples, os a farewell to one of their number who was emigrating to Canada. However, as this was not published in a ringing journal it is thought that it was only a part peal, but still quite an achievement. Subsequently Mr. Andrew Lomas became a leading ringer at Vancouver Cathedral, and when he died, a few years ago, his ashes were flown to England and buried under the yew tree at the foot of Gawsworth tower. A band of ringers has been formed for this tower, which has been 'sloney' for scveral years due to the bad state of the bells, and is now progressing very well.

The church was full to capacity for the service, which commenced at 3 p.m. and was conducted by the Rector. In rededicating the bells, the Rural Dean of Macclesfield, the Rev. Tom Clarke, president of the local branch of the Guild, was acting for the Archdeacon, whose illness prevented him from attending. The Rural Dean, in his address, said that: © In these critical days the Church needs the bells more than ever to ring out a call,' and said that in this calling the 'ringers were at one with the clergy.
The opening rounds were rung by Miss May Lomas, Charles W. Lawton, Arthur Baxter, Miss Mary Worth, Harry Lomas, Harold C. Lonyon, Barry Corbishley and Alan A. Potts. The opening touch was Stedman Triples, and afterwards the bells were ringing until 9 p.m., with ringing to suit all tastes, from rounds to Spliced Surprise Major. Visitors included Mr. J. W. Clarke (Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild), the Rev. J. Kingdon (Guild secıctary) and others from Glasgow, Yorkshire, Lancashire, Staffordshire, Shropshire and several Guild branches.
Altogether, a very successful day.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Kent Branch

The Kent Branch had a lovely day for their meeting at West Malling on March 17th, where 19 ladies and a few genlemen gathered for ringing ranging from rounds to Stedman Triples.
An enjoyable service was conducted by the Vicar, who, in his address, stressed the great importance of regular Sunday service ringing. The ringers then partook of a very satisfying tea, which was followed by the business meeting, where several new members were clected and other matters of general interest were discussed. After the usual votes of thanks the ladies returned to join the gentlemen for further ringing.

Western Branch

The annual meeting of the Western District of the Ladies' Guild took place at Corston, near Bath, on March 10th. Good use was made of this light ring of eight before the service, which was immediately preceded by an all-ladies touch of Stedman Triples ably conducted by Miss B. Johnson, of Bristol.
After a somewhat unusual service conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. W. Tunwell, tea was taken in the Church Hall, and whilst the ladies were at their business meeting some of the gentlemen nobly gave up their ringing and tackled the washing up !

The meeting accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. H. Knight from the vice-presidency, a position she has held for a good many years. The new officers are as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Parfrey : hon. secretary, Mrs. de Jong: committee, Mrs. Bennett, Miss Johnson and Miss Williams.

The next meeting is to be held at Witheycombe Raleigh, near Exmouth, on June 9th, and the usual coach will run from the BathBristol district. Other towers available will be Heavitree and Clyst St. George. The September meeting will be at Melksham, subject to the necessary permission being oblained.

Manchester Ringers in West

 YorkshireThe Manchester Branch held its second annual outing on Easter Monday, when 28 of the 'junior' members (average age 21 years one month) set off by coach to visit five towers in West Yorkshire.
Marsden ( $10,16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) was surprisingly reached half an hour ahead of schedule, and the local inhabitants were roused rather early in the morning to standard methods on this grand ring. After observing the good 'go' of the bells, 10 of the 12 lady ringers took the opportunity to ring a few rounds 'unassisted.' Several members just managed to finish their breakfast on the way to the second tower, Huddersfield ( $10,23 t$ cwt.), where a funeral delayed the start. Quite early the treble suddenly went up at back stroke and refused to come down again, leaving its somewhat bewildered ringer swinging on the rope. This restricted the ringing to the back eight, and Double Norwich proved to be the most successful method.
After lunch came Ossett ( $10,27 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), ${ }^{2}$ really fine ring, where unfortunately the striking did not do full justice to the bells. Onoe again the ladies managed to ring the 10 bells on their own, and Little Bob Royal secmed to be the method of the moment. The fourth tower was Tadcaster ( $8,20 \ddagger \mathrm{cwt}$.), and here the standard of striking was much better. The ladies, by now in fine form, rang a touch of Stedman Triples, which was found to be the first occasion on which the eight bells at this tower had ever been rung by ladies.
The main tower of the day, Leeds ( $13,42 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), came after tea. Mr. Ronald Dove met the party. Stedman Cinques unfortunately came to grief, but Kent Maximus, Stedman and Grandsire Caters went quite well. Once agair the ladies, undaunted by the tenor weight, took over for a few rounds on the 12 , and to finish the day's ringing the males rang a course each of Double Norwich and Stedman on the back eight.
Thanks are due to incumbents and local ringers at the churches for having their bells in readiness for us, and also to Joan Cordwell and Alan Ward, who organised a very enjoyable outing.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Record Gathering at Wobum

A very successful meeting of the Bedfordshire Association was held at Woburn with 74 ringers attending on March 31st. At onc stage the fairly large belfry was so tightly packed that it was only with difficulty that one could enter or leave. Mr. H. D. Harris, tower captain here for nearly 60 years, remarked that it was the largest gathering that he had secn here.
Tea was arranged in the Town Hall by a lady member of the local band, after which the Vicar (the Rev. T. N. Gunner) spoke a few words of welcome and invited all to join him at Evensong, which they did. Miss E. Stecl. oresident of the Bedfordshire Association, and Mr. B. Grainger, a local ringer, read the lessons. After the service ringing continucd until 9 p.m.
Ringing included rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, London, Bristol and Spliced Surprise. K. G. S.

- I believe it is no longer true. if there ever had been any truth in the statement, that the youngster of to-day is not interested in ringing. -Mr. R. O. Fry, general secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, in reporting a record membership of his Association: of 1.600 at Tauston.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RINGING MEETINGS

Dear Sir,-The letter from Mrs. Chamberlain (March 23rd) raises a question of concern to all ringers at meetings; particularly those sufficiently experienced to stand in whatever method is rung, whom she considers selfish. While one can only sympathise with her in her unfortunate experiences, I think she is quite mistaken in attributing the cause to selfishness. Most ringers, I am sure, would feel it selfish on their part to monopolise the ringing by doing too much and keeping others out. So it is only natural that after a course in some advanced method, the band as a whole will sit out and leave the ropes to others. A difficult position may then arise if the remainder do not form a strong enough band to ring the bells properly; nor is it always possible for the Ringing Master to strengthen it by asking some of the weaker members to stand down in favour of others, as this may cause offence.

In my opinion the average experienced ringer does go to meetings with the idea of helping others; he knows also that he can get much more. and better, ringing by standing in peals. At the same time he has a right to expect that some of the ringing at meetings will be of the best order possible. I would suggest to Mrs. Chamberlain that next time she is disappointed she goes to whoever is acting as Ringing Master and asks for what she wants, pointing out, if need be, that the band needs to be strength-ened-and I am sure she will get what she wants.

The castern part of Hertfordshire has, in the past. produced some fine bands, including that under Squire Proctor at Benington, which I consider must rank as one of the finest of all time. Of late years ringing has been through a somewhat lean time in this district. Recently, under a very enthusiastic non-resident secretary. there has been a revival. During my year as president of the Association I have been to several of these meetings and have been impressed by the number of young ringers present and the general enthusiasm shown. On each occasion I have felt that the meeting has been well managed and successful, in that as good a turn as possible has been afforded to all classes present.

THE SILENT BELLS OF SWAFFHAM

Dear Sir,-I visited my birthplace, Swaffham Norfolk, this past summer, after an absence of 27 years. I was most disappointed at not hearing the Swaffham bells-not even a chime did I hear! It was a shame. Hearing the bells was something I had dreamed of for years; they played such a big part in my childhood, and the enjoyment of which I was deprived last summer by 'no bell ringing ' was frustrating. Why should Swaffham be without ringers? The small town of Caston, in Norfolk, has a team. The population of Swaffham before the war was approximately 3,000 , and Caston, at this time, is only about 400 . It is hard to believe that tiny Caston has it 'all over' Swaftham.
In a couple of years I hope to return to Swaftham. and I truly hope I shall have the belated pleasure of hearing 'the bells.'-Yours truly,

ELIZABETH G. FREESLAND (MRS).
Richmond, Virginia, U.S.A.

Mr. J. Alsop is the new Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association.
The tenor at the Cathedral of St. Mary, Basilica, Sydney, is 25 cwt . and not 15 cwt . as given on p. 185.

ANOTHER HOME FOR IMPERIAL INSTITUTE BELLS SUGGESTED

Dear Sir,-So Mr. Stote would present the Imperial Institute bells to the Church of 5 . Mary le-Bow! This might be a fine gesture if Her Majesty, whose personal property they are (as a columnist in the 'Sunday Times. recently pointed out) chose to let them go there. I would suggest they would be better in anotne: Royal tower, the Curfew Tower, Windsor Castle. The tuneless old bells there would be better in a museum-they are too old to be destroyed. Windsor Castle is a national shrine and worthy of a ring of bells as glorious as St. George's Chapel, under whose authority the Castle bells are rung.
Most of us have learned from hearsay of the excellence of the Institute's bells, as of those at Westminster Abbey, but how many ringers have ever had first-hand experience of the grandeur of either ring? Novices apart, no ringer is barred from ringing the Castle bells, and if the Institute bells were removed it Windsor they would not be subject to the London 'closed shop" custom.
Not knowing the facts, one cannot open a discussion on this subject. Perhaps that old evil, paid ringing, has something to do with it; but the Castle ringers are paid, too! cannot help feeling that, until there is perfectly free intercourse between all ringers and towers in the country the territorial Associations and the Central Council have not done all they should in promoting goodwill among ringers.
The Imperial Institute's, and other privatelyowned rings of bells, are, of course, in a peculiar position, and one has no right to ring them, but most of these are not 'closed shops.' Not being in the possession of the Church places them in a different category from the Abbey bells, and there seems to me no valid reason why any church officer (which is what a ringer is) should be denied access to any church belfry. Even village choirs are invited to sing in their Diocesan Cathedral. One would hardly expect a village chorister to take a place in the cathedral choir, but surely a cathedral chorister of equal ability and experience could do so. Why should not the same courtesy and honour be accorded to any experienced change ringer? As far as my experience goes this 'closed shop' practice exists only in London, or perhaps I am misinformed.
I am not in favour of Mr. Stote's suggestion. Few ringers, I am sure, would support the idea of placing an alien ring in Bow tower, adding two trebles and passing them off as Bow Bells. Both ringers and public would prefer to contribute towards a new ring, Bow Bells from birth.
Judging by the violent public reaction to the proposal to demolish the Imperial Institute it would appear more likely that its bells will stay where they are. But Mr. Stote has staked his claim, so I have made mine! Would anyone else like to claim a nice ring of bells if they become homeless? But please remember they are the Queen's, and that many ringers' hearts are yearning for them !-Yours truly,
W. BIRMINGHAM.

BOW BELLS - SUBSCRIBERS' PRIVILEGE
Dear Sir,-In view of the fact that all Associations and Guilds are being asked to subscribe to the Bow Bells fund, it would be of interest to many, I am sure, to read in the columns of 'The Ringing World' whether or not the subscribers will be allowed to ring on them when they are rehung.-Yours sincerely,

KENNETH G. SPAVINS.

SOME TIPS ON THE CARE OF BELLS
Dear Sir,-It is surprising when reading your journal to hear so little about the engineering side of bellringing, which is obviously taken for granted in these days of self-aligning ball bearings, etc., that perhaps a few tips that I have learned may not prove amiss.
In the course of carrying out some general maintenance and 'servicing' on the six befls at SS. Peter and Paul's, East Harling, I found that the advice given to us by the bellfounders -John Taylor and Co.-was helpful and cor-reat, but I also pass on a few things which we were not told about.
Cleaning grease, dust and dirt off the bell itself was found to be most efficiently done with petrol, after preliminary scraping. The improvement in tone was so noticeable that parishioners remarked about it. The plain bearings were also cleaned with petrol. Congealed muck found inside is duc to mixing of motor-car oil gear oil and vegetable oil. Once clean, new wicks are easily made and castor oil (veterinary, not N.H.S.) should be used. This retains high surface tension at all temperatures likely to be encountered when ringing at speeds of up to 40 r.p.m. It is ridiculous to use an oil designed for high speed revolutions as such oils only give of their best when very hot. We were most surprised at the improvement in 'go' of the bells when castor oil was used.
Do not forget the clapper bearings. These are usually steel on lignum vite or a soft metal It is less formidable to drop a clapper than at first supposed. 'Plus gas ' solution will free rusty staple bolts and nuts and it is wise to replace split pins with new ones.

On iron frames it is advisable not to tighten the frame bolts excessively as the old iron types soon shear off.
Pulley shafts are often neglected, and this is surprising as the central pin is easy to witho draw and lubricate.
Last, but not least, a well-made stay carefully fitted and properly adjusted well repays time spent on it-especially the Hastings type. Go to it now-Spring is here.-Yours faithfully.

PAUL JONASON,
East Harling, Norfolk.
FIRST PEAL ON 12 IN IRELAND
Dear Sir,-With reference to the article on peal ringing in Ireland in a recent Ringing World.' We have a peal board in our ringing room recording a peal of Grandsire Cinques, rung on Saturday, January 14th. 1911, in 3 hours 50 minutes. The footnote on the board reads as follows: 'This is the first peal on 12 bells ever rung outside England. Composed and conducted by G. Lindoff.'

Richard R. Cherry, former Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. who gave the two new trebles, rang the 11 th. and the present president of our Society, R. S. F. Murphy. P.C. (Pcace Commissioner). rang the tenth.-Yours faithfully,

SERVICE RINGING

Dear Sir.-I read with interest, a little late, perhaps, the leading article by Mr. W. Birmingham (March 9th issue) and feel it partly concerns me. I agree with what he says about getting recruits, the way to teach them and hold their interest, but what do we do when all these efforts fail? Space is too limited for me to explain the reasons why our service ringing is of such a short duration. but isn't five minutes' well-struck changes better than half an hour's 'rough music '?-Yours, etc..

FAMOUS PEAL RINGING TOWERS

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

AFTER nearly two years, we come to the final article in this attempt to survey the activities of peal ringers in all parts of the country and the world over the past 75 years or so. From the amount of correspondence it has produced, I think (and certainly hope) the articles have not been without interest to many ringers and I would like to take this opportunity of saying once again that I shall always be very pleased to help compile tower lists of peals, etc., and put my records at the disposal of anyonc requiring the kind of information they can give.
I now have tabulated under their various towers (about 4,350 of them) roughly 94,000 peals rung since 1881 together with over 3,000 rung before that date. I believe I have collected the majority of the latter-but the search still goes on there. If my estimate that there were about 5,000 peals rung before 1881 is correct (and I believe it is a good guess), it would mean that this year at some time and somewhere, the 100,000 th pcal will be rung (I am talking of tower bells, of course-there have been about 8,000 handbell peals rung also). Only 2,100 or so of these have been rung outside England (most of these in Wales). Now for some further information about one or two items.
First of all, the number of peals rung in the different counties. Without any doubt the first prize for most peals gocs to Kent, where over 6,700 peals have been rung. This total is 1,000 more than its closest rival-Lancashire, whose total is about 5,700 . Suffolk and Yorkshire have totals about the same with Suffolk probably just ahead. The number here is around the 4,800 mark. Surrey has 4,600 afproximately, and then Middlesex, with round about 4.200 . Sussex has just under this total, then follow Essex $(3,900)$, Leicestershire $(3,800)$ and Staffordshire $(3,800)$. All these are approximate totals, of course, and refer to the time when the particular article on the county appeared in 'The Ringing World.'
Then a note about 'unconquered towers. Liverpool Cathedral is the one 12 -bell tower still needing a peal. All the 160 or so 10 -bell towers have had one or more at some time in their history (St. Andrew's Norwich, not in the past 75 years). There appear to be 358 bell towers still virgin territory, nearly a quarter of them in Devon. This is not many out of the total of nearly 1.600. About one-fifth of the 6 -bell towers have still to have a peal (nearly 500 out of 2,600 approx.). A large number of these are also in the West Country. Just over half the s-bell towers have still to record their first peal-about 550 out of 1,050 or so. These figures show that more than fourfifths of the churches with rings of bells have been visited by peal-ringing bands, which is quite a good proportion, even though it leaves plenty of scope still, especially for the experts on five and six bells.
I now give a list of towers in order of numbers of peals. The totals include all the peals 1 have been able to trace from such towers, not only those since 1881 -so numbers will be different from those which have appeared in the county articles. All towers which have had more than 150 peals are included, and there are 79 of them. Altogether, 17.954 peals have been rung in these towers-nearly one-fifth of the country's grand total. This is a very high proportion considering (as I have said above) there are about 4,350 towers which have had peals. Here, then, are the 79 in order of peals:-

And so this series of articles is ended. I hope they have been of use to many ringers. May I finally acknowledge once again the debt I owe to Mr. Dove and his book the 'Ringers' Guide,' without which it would have been almost impossible to have attempted my selfappointed task.

Thus of the 12 -bell towers, St. Martin's, Birmingham (as will be expected), has had most peals. Of the 10 -kell towers, it is Loughborough Bell Foundry, or (as far as churches are concerned) St. Peter's, Brighton. Crayford leads the way in the 8 -bell towers. No 6 -bell tower appears in the above list but, as I have said on one or two previous occasions, the lead here is held by the only centenarian 6-bell tower-Thornham Magna, with 136 peals.
Ringers in the 6 -bell and 5 -bell towers might ike to have a list of those with most peals. Those with over 50 peals amongst the 6 -bell towers (after Thornham Magna) are:-

PRODUCING PEAL COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,-Recent correspondence in "The Ringing World' concerning the production of peals from certain 'blocks' prompts me to make a few observations.

It is possible to take a simple extension in certain Treble Bob Major methods and further extend them to produce peals of 5,000 and upwards. In certain methods these peals are easier to produce than Bob Major.
There are 22 11-course extensions with the sixth in 6 on the simple (complete course) extension plan, each one being capable of producing innumerable peals.
With a simple extension two things are obvious
(i.) No "ordinary" proof is required as the courses used are shown in the course-ends.
(ii.) The sixth being 'at home ' throughout, no 'internal' falseness can occur in methods that have f.c.e. that does not have the sixth in 6 (e.g., f.c.e. 24365 , 32465, etc., etc.).
The inversions M.B.W. or W.M.B. can be used, according to circumstances, in methods like Yorkshire, Pudsey, Superlative, etc., to supply the missing course-end (in the case of an 11 -course extension) and the remainder "inflated' by further extension to produce the desired lengths.

Scores, perhaps hundreds, of peals in various methods have been 'composed' on this plan, and a scrutiny of the Yorkshire Association reports over, say, the last 20 or 30 years will reveal quite a few, many being by the composers mentioned by Mr. W. Barton in his letter.

My object is not to belittle the peals of these composers, two of whom it, was my privilege to know personally, but merely to point out that such peals may be produced ad nauseam by applying the principles given above.

The advantages of using the inversion given here is twofold:
(i.) Any part of the course used is visible at the course-end.
(ii.) It keeps the sixth out of 5ths.

The first point makes proof, both ordinary and internal, merely a matter of scanning the course-ends; the advantages of the second are. I think, self-evident.
The above principles may be applied to extensions of less than 11 courses: perhaps the following may serve as an example of the application of these principles and a clarification of What I have already written (which admittedls is somewhat hotch-potch!).

Take the following nine-course extension: 23456 W H

34256
25346
32546
53246
24536
52436
45236
23456

The intention being to turn it into a peal of, say, Yorkshire.

Between the 4th and 5th 'Homes' insert W (3H) M and B. This gives:

23456 B M W H

This achieves the object of giving us the 6th the extent in 6. No ordinary or internal proof is required beyond comparing the course ends. The fact that the 6th has never been in 5ths or the 2 nd in 6 ths practically eliminates "internal ' proof.

The remainder is simply "inflation'-a horrible modern word-care being taken to keep the peal as musical as possible.

5056 Yorkshire

23456 B M W H

As can be seen from the brackets, a little thought can make a decent peal (5th and 6th extent in 6ths, 2-3 never in 6).

Hundreds of such peals can be, and no doubt have been, composed.

I may, in conclusion, point out that many peals of Surprise have been produced as simple extensions. The principle is the same: cutting out the necessity for long and laborious proofs whilst at the same time producing musical peals. -Yours very sincerely,
H. CHANT.

OBITUARY  MR. FREDERICK R. BORRETT  An Appreciation

With the passing of this great ringer on February 27th the Norwich Association lost one of its greatest ringers, as his peal total of 614 far that Association will testify, and the greater number of these he conducted. He was one of the few remaining links with the vintage years of the Norwich Association.
He was a man with a personality-was very sparing with words and had a very dry sense of humour: as an example of his brevity the first time I heard from him, a postcard in March, 1910, which read: 'Saxlingham, 29th, 3 p.m., Stedman.-F. R. B.' That peal was rung.
One had really to know him to appreciate his qualities; he loved his ringing not alone for its own sake, but as a staunch churchman, as a dersonal service to his church. He was also a lover of church music and his criticisms of this, as with ringing, were terse and to the point.

Ideas and theories of his own he had in plenty, and often expressed them in a practical way; one of his contentions was that ringing long touches was the only way to make a young ringer into anything of a striker. This theory was not always popular, more especially when it was put into practice at meetings, but nevertheless there is a lot to be said for it.
He was a cousin of Charles E. Borrett, for many years the popular secretary of the Norwich Association. His brother, Egbert Borrett, was associated with him in a great number of peals until leaving the country in the early part of the century.
Should much like to tell some stories of F. R. B., but space will not permit. B. S. T.

MR. G. W DIXON

The sudden death in hospital of Mr. George William Dixon, of East Harling, Norfolk, on March 26th, in his 67th year, came as a shock to the local band.
Although he never graduated to change ringing, 'Will' Dixon was a regular Sunday service ringer and sidesman for many years. His fine, upright figure, white hair and imperial moustache made him unmistakable as a man to be respected. He could 'blow' the tenor behind to a nicety and was always willing to let a younger ringer take his place if need be.
Unfortunately failing health over the last two years restricted his ringing, but nevertheless he came with the touring company on Christmas Eve last and assisted in touches in eight different churches in the coursc of a strenuous three hours.
Our sympathy is extended to his wife, son and sister. Half-muffled ringing was carried out by the East Harling company after the funeral.
P. J.

RINGERS' DOUBLE FEATURE

IWENT to the cinema this week to see 'Quentin Durward ' in glorious Technicolor and wide screen, with a largely British cast of actors. Some preposterous episodes in the story are acted with assured gusto by talented humorists Robert Morley, George Cole and Wilfred Hyde White, while the more romantic figures, Kay Kendall and Robert Taylor, do their best to remain serious.

The glorious extravaganza culminates, apart from some ensuing underhand diplomacy and the inevitable love conciliation, with a fight in a belfry, Quentin Durward and Count de la Marck swinging ape-like across the void clinging to bell ropes and slashing at one another, while the bells overhead clang sonorously and a conflagration blazes beneath. The bells do not sound like a modern casting, but whether appropriate to Liège in the 15th century is a nice question. Moreover, I have a fleeting impression that the frame and hanging were modern-being interested in the plot one tends to miss the technical details. Perhaps someone more observant will be able to confirm this. Rich though the film is, it is hardly worth another special visit. But if anyone is going and wants to see the bells scene round twice, he should go in about 15 minutes before the film ends.

Was it some design of the cinema manager that provided a 'second feature' that night, a British film entitled 'Doublecross'? The tale was thin, an affair of escaping spies, told with the lack of tautness and introduction of rambling by-play that betrays a second rate film. Acknowledgment to the Oxford Diocesan Guild in the film's opening credit titles aroused interest at once, and the bells this time were handbells, a team practising change ringing in the local pub (where better?). This had the slightest connection with the plot. There the village ringers were practising Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, while alongside treason was discussed in undertones. The ringing was crisp, but to expect professional actors to synchronise their hand movements was perhaps too much. (It was amusing to note the 'U.A.' straight-up-and-down style.)

To a bell-ringer in the audience the effect was disconcerting, bells all over the shop, flapping up and down, sometimes in the middle of the previous change, yet the sound coming fairly even. Later in the film a similar practice is held with one regular man short (away on a clandestine voyage) and a novice substituted. What follows must be unique in cinema history. Handbells in films are rare enough; a handbell practice course breaking down in the way we all know so well is delightful. Break down it does. The novice (local policeman) brought in as substitute just is not good enough and admits so. The ringing fiasco is nicely managed.

Who, I wonder, coached the professional actors? Who recorded the sound? Could some member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild tell us more about the circumstances?
R. B. M.

CONFIDENCE IN YOUTH

ACONFIDENCE that modern youth is interested in our art is firmly subscribed to by Mr. R. O. Fry, hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, which with 1,600 members is the largest diocesan association in the country. In the country branches in particular he finds that more young people are coming forward, There is nothing wrong with the attitude of youth to-day towards ringing. Mr. Fry's printed report makes interesting reading, and those who have recently contributed to our columns on training young ringers will not fail to give heed to this secretary who, although young in years, has already proved his worth as a successful instructor. He writes:-

CUMBERLAND & NORTH WESTMORLAND ASSOCIATION

Twenty-One New Members Since January 1st

THE annual meeting of the Association was held at Appleby on Easter Monday. The six bells at St. Lawrence's Church were rung throughout, the afternoon and carly evening, the methods ranging from rounds to London Surprise. The service was conducted by the president. Canon W. R. M. Chaplin.

A company of 80 including 39 visitors (principally from the Furness and Lake District Branch of the Lancashire Association) met for tea, the principal guests being the Mayor and Mayoress of Applety accompanicd by the Town Clerk and his wife.

After tea the president read a message from the patron of the Association, the Lord Bishop of Carlisle, which concluded with the words: ' In carrying on with the ringing, the bellringers are maintaining one of the grand and delightful customs of our country and 1 would also like them to think that as they pull the bells, that in a real sense God was using them to speak a message from Him to all who could hear. When the bells are rung in this way the ringers have themselves a sense of service on a high level.'

Mr. C. Heelis, in welcoming the Association to the county town of Westmorland, stated that it must be the first such gathering of ringers at Appleby. The welcome was supported by the Mayor.

Replying on bebalf of the visitors, M1. Peter Border said that it was his first visit to the extreme north of England, but that he had so enjoyed his visit that he was sure he would return in the near future. The general secretary, Mr. J. W. Brownrigg, replied on behalf of the Association. He stated that this was the first Association meeting to be held in Appleby, and also that it was the first Association meeting to be attended by a Mayor.
At the subsequent annual meeting the officers reports were taken as read, in view of the fact that they were contained in the annual report which was circulated prior to the meeting.
Mr. G. McKay, in proposing the adoption of a new constitution, stated that the new draft was shorter, simpler and less ambiguous than the existing constitution. The new constitution was adopted unanimously.

Canon Chaplin was re-elected president and received the thanks of all members for the extraordinary amount of work he had done in this capacity during the previous year. Other officers re-elected were: J. W. Brownrigg (general secretary); S. Richardson (ringing secretary) ; G. Tembey (treasurer); Mr. T. Hogarth (auditor).
Following the election of the new committee, twelve new members were admitted, making a total of 21 new members since January 1st. thus raising the total Association membership to 64.
The adoption of a Form of Service was discussed on the basis of a draft provided by the president, and the committee was requested to draw up a final draft for approval at the next meeting
The president called attention to the proposed Ringing Festival to be held at Carlisle

Cathedral on September 15th. Neighbouring Associations would be specifically invited to take part, although all ringers would be most welcome. A sub-cammittee (J. W. Brownrigg, J. Butterfield and G. McKay) was appointed to assist the Diocesan Advisory Committee on ringing matters when necessary.
Mr. N. M. Newby, on behalf of the visitors. thanked members for their welcome and noted with pleasure that the Association was making a rapid recovery from its recent decline and hoped that this progress would continue.

The best wishes of all present were conveyed to two members, Stanley Richardson and Myra Gibson, who were to be married on the following day.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch held at Westbury on April 7th attracted some 45 ringers. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Gallaway, who gave an inspiring address. Tea was served in the Church Room.
The business meeting was presided over by the chairman (Mr. A. Weeks), who welcomed the Vicar to his first meeting since his induction as Vicar of Westbury, also the visitors from Bath. Frome, Yeovil and Chippenham. The next three meetings were fixed for Upavon, Chirton and Warminster. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and the ladies for providing tea. Ringing continued on the lovely eight till later in the evening. Methods ranging from rounds to Yorkshire Surprise were rung.

The Exeter Cathedral bana were ringing Grandsire Caters as their salute to the Eastes Morn at $6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$., when the 10th clapper broke in the shaft. It has been sent to the foundry for repair with hopes of having it back in time to ring for the Queen's visit on May 8th. Meanwhile ringing continues on the 'Thomas Eight,' this a true octave (tenor $28 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in E flat).

Owing to a sudden illness, Mr. F. A. Salter was unable to stand in the peal at Mansfield on April 2nd. The band wish him a speedy recovery.

Well-known ringers of Lincoln Cathedral band paid a visit to St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, on Easter Monday, where they were successful in a peal of Stedman Cinques.
Mainly composed of Lichfield ringing personalities, a band rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal at Leominster, Herefordshire, on April 7th.
Last year there were over 200,000 visitors to Woburn Abbey and Park, but only three or four visiting ringers joined in the Sunday service ringing. Times of ringing on Sundays are $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $5.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
We congratulate Mr. Stephen Ivin, whose compositions have frequently appeared in our pages, on his election to an open scholarship in classics at Merton College, Oxford. The Oxford University Society, we feel sure, will find a niche in their ranks for him.
The quarter peal of Bob Minor at Walberton on Easter Sunday, called by Sylvia Streater the day after her 16 th birthday, enabled Raymond Dark, who took up ringing when he came from Edgware nearly two years ago to learn farming in the Walberton district, to ring his first quarter peal a week before leaving for National Service.

GOSSIP

 In connection with the Guildford Diocesan Mission, Farnborough, Hants, ringers had planned to ring on 18 occasions and attempt five quarter peals. Their plans received a nasty set-back when a stay broke during practice the previous week and the second bell was cracked from top to bottom, wide enough to get a finger in!Mr. F. Skidmore has retired after six years as secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. His successor is Mr. W. F. Scudamore, of Bristol Rural.

Mr. Harold Wilson (St. Bees) has been elected Master of the Cumberland and N.W. Association in succession to Mr. J. R. Mossop, who is shortly joining the R.A.F.
It should be Mr. James Parker and not Mr. J. J. Parker who called the peal of New Gloucester in 1926 at Willesden. (Correction to 'Belfry Gossip,' page 200.)
Two well-known members of the Cumberland Association, Mr. Stanley Richardson and Miss Myra Gibson, were married at Harrington Parish Church on April 3rd.
For the wedding of Mr. Henry Peter Ayre and Miss Barbara Lilian Aldous at Leverstock Green on March 31st, handbells were rung by Miss P. A. Martin, Mr. W. Ayre and Mr. D. E. Latchford, and full honours came on April 3rd with a peal of Surprise Minor in seven methods, conducted by Mr. Ayre. Leverstock Green Church has only two bells.
Mr. A. Patrick Cannon writes in the current quarterly of the Maidstone District, 'The Belfry,' his early reminiscences as a beginner. Although he first handled a bell at Easter, 1928, it was not until the following October that he first rang rounds. His first peal was on July 15th. 1930, at Deptford, the tenor to Stedman Triples.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

0VER 80 members attended the annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, held at All Saints', Newport, on Easter Monday. The bells, which were available at 2 o'clock, were made good use of until 4 o'clock - the time appointed for the service. This was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. H. R. Sproule-Jones. The tea at the Parish Rooms was served by the ladies of the church, who were duly thanked by Mr. Arthur Hoare.
The Vicar presided at the meeting. Arising out of the minutes the secretary reported that the handbells-which were being repairedwere not yet to hand.

Mr. T. Roderick presented the balance sheet, which showed a balance of $£ 10$ 1s. 10 d . on the year's working It was decided that a copy of the balance sheet should in future be sent out to each tower before the annual meeting. Mr. J. Alsop was unanimously elected Master for the ensuing year. The other officers were reelected.
The committee appointed to review the Form of Service in their report recommended only one or two minor alterations with the addition of two more hymns. The committee's report was accepted.

The secretary was asked to send a letter to Mr . J. W. Jones, the former secretary, who is 90 , conveying the goodwill of the meeting.
Mr. T. Roderick gave notice that he would propose at the next annual meeting that a panel be appointed to advise on the matter of bells whenever it was needed.

Eleven new members were elected. On the proposition of the Rev. T. Richards the Vicar was thanked for all he had done to make the meeting such a success. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Cardiff. F. J. H.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Yorkshire District

The annual mecting of the Yorkshire District took place at Drighlington on March 24th. Members came from Rotherham, Sheffield, Leeds, York, Bradford, Armley and Collingham, etc.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent in the spacious and well-heated belfry. Methods were rung to suit all tastes, including call changes for the beginners.

A nearby cafe provided a very substantial tea, after which the business meeting was held in the vestry of the church. Apologies for absence included one from the vice-president, Mrs. P. M. Thorley, and the company had the pleasure of electing her infant daughter as an honorary member of the Guild. Two ringing members were also elected.
The report showed that steady progress had been made during 1955. The present membership of the District stood at 50 , which was the highest it had ever been. The financial position was satisfactory.

The secretary pointed out that she had completed 21 years in office and, having found a willing successor, wished to retire. Miss E. Bate, of Handsworth, Sheffield, was elected the new secretary and the other officers remained as before.

It was proposed to ask permission to hold the next meeting at Bolsover on June 23rd.
On returning to the belfry a vote of thanks was expressed to the Rev. E. H. Hargrave, who is always so gencrously disposed to requests for the bells, and to Mr. S. H. Barron, who made excellent arrangements for the ringers.
The Yorkshire District of the Ladies' Guild was inaugurated at Handsworth, Sheffield, in $1926-30$ years ago. Two ladies' peals have been rung in Handsworth-in 1928 and 1931.

BATH & WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Ringing Popular With Youth

T
HE 6.7th annual general mecting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Taunton on Easter Monday. The As sociation service was held in St. James' Church conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Edwin Hirst, the sermon being preached by the Master, the Rev. Michael Hurst-Bannister. Lunch was served to 70 members in the Gaumont Restaurant after the service.

The business meeting was held in Si. James Church Hall, the Master taking the chair. By this time the numbers had increased, and there were some 120 members present, with visitors from Warwickshire, Leicestershire, Devonshire, Staffordshire, Gloucestershire, Wiltshire and Middlesex. Apologies for atsence were received from the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Lord Bishop of Taunton, the Archdeacon of Taunton, the Rev. Prebendary A. J Hook, Past-Master of the Association, the Vicar of St. James and Messrs. J. Pugsley, E. J. Chivers and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Prescott.

In his report, the Master stated that ringing had continued throughout the Diocese with its customary regularity. It was encouraging to hear of so many young people learning to ring : to them he would say 'Persevere,' as it was so casy to become discouraged because of apparent lack of success. It was important that there should be close co-operation between ringers and incumbents, and the former, as church workers, should not fail in their duty as members of the Church in attending services. He was pleased to announce that the bells of his own parish, Pilton, had been restored and would be dedicated on April 21st.

MEMBERSHIP AN ALL-TIME RECORD

The general secretary, Mr. Roger O. Fry, then presented his report. He regretted that he had not been able to attend as many Branch meetings during 1955 as in previous years, but from his own observations, and with data collected from the annual returns, he was able to report that the enthusiasm of the members carried on with unabated vigour. The membership figure was moving surely to the 1,600 mark, an all-time record, and there were many towers either re-entering the Association or joining for the first time. He again found it necessary to comment on the large and increasing number of young people joining the Association, particularly in the country Branches. He believed it was no longer truc, if there ever had been any truth in the statement, that the youngster of to-day could not be interested in ringing. He did not wish the older members to think that they had been overlooked: rather his foregoing remarks were a compliment to those older ringers who had the wisdom and foresight to teach these young pcople, thus ensuring that ringing had a good future in store in the Diocese.
From the business point of view the Association was in a healthy statc. The 1955 report had now been printed and distributed, probably the earliest report for many years. For the first time for four years there was a supply of badges in hand. The Association was grateful to Mr. W. A. Osborn, who had very generously defrayed the cost of the new die, which would now be held in safe custody by the committee.

RELATIONS WITH CALL CHANGE RINGERS

During the past 12 months both the Master and the secretary had given much thought to the matter of the Association Rules, and it had been decided that the time had come for some revisions to be made. The present Rules were the same now as those made in 1890 , when the Association was formed, its membership then being 160 in 19 towers. He would hesitate to query the wisdom of the great men who founded this Association, and who took it so successfully through its infancy, but he often found himself wishing they had named it the - Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Church Bell Ringers,' thus opening their ranks to the non-change ringing brethren. He felt that there was something of a colour-bar where the humble call change ringers were concerned. He believed that their work was equally important and worthy of iecognition, and it had been his experience over the length and breadth of the counary that they were usually better acquainted with the inside of their churches than were those ringers who looked down their noses at call change ringing. The committee had decided to have a meeting at Bath in Junc to thrash out the whole matter, and their proposals would be put to the annual general meet ing at Wrington in 1957.

The secretary commented upon a peal of Bob Major rung at Chewton Mendip during 1955. and regretted that this had been recoided for the Worcestershire and Districts Association. He hoped that all Tower Masters would take steps in future that visiting tands rang peals for the Association, unless they were members of a non-territorial Society.
In closing his report, the secretary was con scious of the privilege of addressing a mecting at Taunton, where the Inauguration Fiestival was held in July, 1890. Taunton might well be described as being the spiritual home of the Association, and for many years had possessed a band which accomplished pcal ringing feats which no local band in the West Country could emulate to-day. It was hoped that the finetoned 12 at St. Mary's would now be rung regularly and that a capable 12-bell band would be brought into being to regain the laurels of the past.

SUBSCRIPTION ADEOUATE

The treasurer, Mr. L. W. Pullin, presented a favourable balance sheet, showing that the Association was in financial good heakh, with ample reserves to draw upon should the need arise. Costs of stationery and printing were rising, but there would be no need to think about increasing subscriptions for some years, if at all. He wished to thank all the Branch sceretaries and treasurers for their help during the past year.
The peal secretary. Mr. H. J. Sanger, reported that 65 peals had been rung during 1955. in 49 towers, with 191 different ringers taking part, the conducting being shared by 28 members. Some of the normally prolific peal ringers were not so much in evidence because they had been devoting much of their energy to training new bands in towers with recently restored rings. He concluded by thanking all peal arrangers for so promptly sending in peal reports and subscriptions, evidence of the spirit of co-operation abroad in the Diocese.
Mr. W. A. Osbornc, the Diocesan adviser on the care of church bells had had another busy year. He found that the general trend in the Diocese was to restore and to keep the bells in good order. He had inspected and given advice in eight towers, and faculties had been passed for work to proceed at West Pennard, Barrington, Stawley, Holton and West Buckland. Feeling the need to take things a little easier because of advancing years, he had been looking for an assistant in his duties, and he commended for this purpose Mr. R. Gatdiner, who was prepared to take over the duties eventually.
All the officers were re-clected for the ensuing year with the addition of Mr. Gardiner.

OLD YEAR' RINGING
Under ' Any other business,' the meeting discussed the views expressed by Mr. J. T. Dyke at the annual meeting of the Frome Branch, that the 'Christian significance of the bells is lost to a sentimental custom which had growa out of tradition.' The Master commented that as long as he was an incumbent the bells of the church, belfs and church hall at the disyear. Mr. S. G. Coles expressed the opinion that Mr. Dyke's views were his personal ones and not those of the Association.

Mr. W. H. Coles, of Hillingdon, an oid and valued friend of the Association, brought greetings from the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.

The meeting was closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar of St. James' for so kindly placing the church, bells and church hall at the disposal of the members, to Mr. W. Gigg for his work in arranging the ringing at St. James' and St. Mary's, and to Mr. A. H. Reed for arranging for so many country towers to be availatle. The members then dispersed to St. James', St. Mary's (where Stedman Cinques was rung), St. George's, Wilton, Wellington, Milverton, Trull. Staplegrove and Curry Rivel.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

Eastern District Annual Meeting

Easter Monday was one of the finest and warmest April days within living memory at Dublin, when the annual meeting of the Eastern. District was held. The magnificent cight bells (tenor 283 cwt .) of Christ Church Cathedral were a great attraction.
At the business meeting Mr. James McManus (District chairman) presided, over 60 bellringers being present. Officers elected were: Vice-president (for Eastern District) Mr. S. J. Evans, Arklow; chairman, Mr. McManus, Dublin; Ringing Master, Mr. Adrian Bakker, Dublin: secretary, Mrs. F. E. Dukes= Drogheda: assistant secretary, Mr. Roy Huber. Drogheda; treasurer, Mr. W. D. Grdham. Drogheda. Five new members were elected and certificates piesented, viz:-Rev. and Mrs. J. Hobcroft (Drogheda), Miss Jennifer Jobson (Drogheda. formerly St. Mark's, Sydney, N.S.W.). M. Dwyer (St. John's, Dublin) and W. Kinch (Arklow).
Four teams compcted for the Gabriel Lindoff Cup judged by Messrs. F. Brogan, G. Bingham and H. Ellis. Drogheda won with 72 faults. followed by Bray 90, Arklow 109 and Dublin 140. Drogheda also won the attendance shield with 100 per cent. for 1955, the first time since the inauguration of the competition in 1913.
The bells were put to good use during the day to call changes, Plain Bob and Grandsire. Southern ringers present took a tape recording of the competition ringing so that they could train their team better than Drogheda's standard for the final contest for the Murphy Cup.

AN EXETER WEDDING

The marriage took place at St. Thumas Church. Exeter, on April 2nd, of two very popular members of the band. Mr. Norman Mallett and Miss Mariella Mundy.

The ceremony was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. P. Henton, and Preb. E. V. Cox. president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. The bells rang a merry send-off after the service. The brilliant sunshine was, it is hoped, a good omen for the future of the happy couple.

Peals were attempted at both St. Thomas and the Cathedral, but sadly came to grief about half-way.

Both the Cathedral (of which the bride and bridegroom are members) and St. Thomas bands are happy to learn that Mr. and Mrs Mallett will continue to reside in the district. at 98. Alphington Road, Exeter.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BEAUTY AND THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,-I have read with great indignation the article by 'D. R. C.' (whoever he may be) about 'Beauty and the Belfry' ('Ringing World,' April 6th, 1956). The writer apparently thinks very little of the lady ringers, whatever age they may be (as ringers I mean). Where, oh where, would one find enough ringers without the help of the ladics? We have five lady ringers in our towers (six bells) and five gentlemen. All the ladies have rung quarter peals and three have rung peals (onc has conducted one). Our ladies range from 14 to 21 years of age. Our band has capabilities of ringing Kent and Cambridge Minor, three ladies and three gentlemen making up the band. I am sure other towers are in the same position as us. Where would the band come from without our help?

Quoting: 'Many women are pushed into ringing in the first place by efforts of so-called friends." Oh, no! Not entirely all. in fact very few. I should say most of them either start accidentally or there have been other ringers in the family, and a desire to 'have a go takes hold of them and the 'bug' bites. When first taking hold of a rope, who wouldn't be frightened of what was going to happen until one has the feel and control of a bell, and as to breaking a stay, a thing rarely done if taught properly, I am certain it would be of great concern if such a thing happened and would not be laughed at, and 'flocking into a milk bar after the practice' is unheard of. The thing after a practice is to talk of what has happened during the practice, then cycle home between one and three miles for the local ringers,
The biggest draw-back in a lady ringer is she is unable to ' turn in, a heavy bell, with a very few exceptions, but then, surely the gentlemen can help do that.
The gentlemen, from stories I have heard, are not nearly so well behaved or regular as the ladies, who turn up in full force, come rain, sleet, snow or sunshine
One last thing. I wonder how many gentlemene make an evening of the practice by going off to the nearest non-milk-bar bar!

Gentlemen. we don't want to take charge of your ringing, but please give us the credit due to us. KATHLEEN M. YEO.
SS. Peter and Paul's, Hellingly.

FAST PEAL RINGING

Dear Sir,-Reference to Mr. Derek P: Jones' letter, I do not see that I should condone fast ringing merely because I reside in the county that he chooses to label 'Fast peals on heavy bells.'

He certainly has tried hard to justify the speed of the peal which I questioned, and I would like to give him a few facts about the fast peal in which I rang:-
(1) We were all a Sunday service band who had learned to ring Grandsire Douhles during the previous 15 months, and certainly did not start with the idea of a quick peal.
(2) The referee of the 720 pointed out to me that we rang without 'open' leads, which would account for a cut of at least ten minutes. and in addition 'open' leads would have had a slowing-up effect on the whole peal.
(3) The capping of the hells was near petfect throughout the peal in spite of the cartwheel rhythm.?
I would conclude that our performance was far from dubious worth as. heing a young band, we learned a lot about leading from our referee.
In any case we did prove our performance without any efforts of self-justification.
I still admire and look for good. stcady ringing.-Yours faithfully.
H. A. RICE

TECHNICAL TITTLE-TATTLE

Dear Sir ,-Having struggled through all the tattle and discovered ultimately what Mr. YorkBramble was attempting to teach beginners and call change ringers,' it seemed he was merely making a new start with the next generation of ringers to force upon the Exercise a self-created collection of technical terms which have failed to find acceptance among an older gencration. The subject matter has been satisfactorily explained, but why introduce learners to scientific jargon?

He would have us believe that 'a good word which has been used in theory talks and papers is transit.' I would not agrce that it is a good word, and I have never heard it used. In the first place, both my memory of Latin and my dictionary tell me that transit means ' a going across,' but in no sense a reciprocal movement as when a pair of bells exchange positions. Why, too, must those people with scientific minds fly to Latin or Greek? Our beautiful Anglo-Saxon language (which is not inadequate to express what we mean) is being crowded out by scientific un-English words or their abbreviations. Please, Mr. York-Bramble, if you must introduce new terms into ringing, use the language we speak and can under-stand--and which beginners also can understand and use without being misunderstood. Surely when two bells change places they do not make a 'transit,' but an interchange, exchange or swap. I am certain that a beginner would not understand me if I said, with Mr. York-Bramble, 'two transits and one transit." but I know he would if I said, Two swaps and one swap ' (even if it doesn't sound scientific) or 'two exchanges and one exchange.'

And why must a row become a changerow'? A row of figures is simply a row, even if it is changed from a previous row. Instead of simplifying the problems and language of change ringing Mr. York-Bramble has started his new series by complicating them, and burying them in a mass of tittle-tattle.

I much enjoyed Mr. Shepherd's article on - Odd and Even Rows'-and I notice he used the phrase the interchange of two pairs of bells.' May I ask him not to take anything for granted? A colleague who had studied his article (and who does quite an amount of conducting) asked me how to recognise whether a row was in or out of course. Perhaps Mr. Shepherd might explain this, in casc other young ringers might also have wondered the same. It is often necessary to know.-Yours faithfully,
W. BIRMINGHAM.

DISTANCE A BELL CAN BE HEARD

Dear Sir,-In his recent article on 'Bow Bells,' the Rev. H. E. Hopkins suggests that it would have been quite possible for Dick Whittington to have heard the curfew being rung from four miles away. In support of this he makes the interesting observation that the repeated tolling of one bell can be heard much further than the ring of a peal.'

I think this is probably true and it would be quite possible for a large bell to be heard four miles away if the atmospheric conditions were favourable. On a really calm day I myself have heard the faint boom of Great Tom, the clock bell of Lincoln Cathedral, when at Saxilby, ncarly six miles away. I might add that the Cathedral stands on a hill and the intervening councryside is flat and open. It is doubtful if the ringing peal could be heard at this distance. although 1 know for a fact that Saxilby bells can be heard within a radius of at least four miles - Yours faithfully,

Lincoln.

DANEHILL BELLS

Dear Sir,-The Church of All Saints in the charming little Sussex village of Danehill has a pleasant ring of four, with tenor of 7 cwt . 3 qr. 51 b . As was the case with too many of our village towers throughout the country, the local band failed to 'get going " again after the war, and apart from very occasional ringing by visitors the bells remained silent.
About a year ago, however, a determined attempt was made to train a band for Sunday service ringing-the start being made with only one individual able to handle a bell! So successful have their efforts been that the bells now ring out for Matins and Evensong each Sunday, there being a membership of abuut 12 in the local band.
They have found, however, that for additional interest, they need to visit other towers, to practise on the higher numbers, and in doing so they have revived the ringing at Ardingly-another tower which had unfortunately fallen silent.
Being even more ambitious, they have obtained permission to start a fund, aiming at $£ 500$, to have two new trebles added at Dane hill to form a ring of six. Permission to start the fund was difficult to obtain, money already being urgently required for other church improvements, such as heating. I am confident, however, that in due course the Danehill ringers, by proceeds from whist drives, jumble sales, fetes, etc., together with a local appeal, will achieve their target. I know. however-and this brings me to the main point of my letter-that any donation from the ringing fraternity will be a great encouragement to them in their efforts, and such gifts, however small, will be gratefully acknowledged.

It is worthy of mention that a private school at Danehill now encourages pupils to learn to handle a bell. Although the local band can gain no lasting benefit from this, they gladly undertake the task, hoping that when the pupils leave the school they will become efficient members of their home towers throughout the country.
Any donations, please. should be sent to:Danchill P.C.C. Bell Fund, c/o The Rev. P: G. P. Cornish, The Vicarage, Danchill, Haywards Heath, Sussex.-Yours faithfully, IVAN BUTCHER.

A DICK WHITTINGTON TEST

Dear Sir, -After reading the article by the Rector of St. Mary-le-Bow, I am reminded of a test I made of the authenticity of Dick Whittington having heard the bells of Bow calling him back to London. In about the year 1908 I, as a lad, lived acar the Whittington Stone at Higheate, and on a Tuesday, when it was a still and fairly foggy evening, and I knew it was practice night for the College Youths at St. Mary-le-Bow, I stood near the stone in Highgate Hill and definitely heard the beils in peal.-Yours faithfully,

THE LATE B. A. KNIGHTS' PEALS
Dear Sir,-The list of 369 peals rung by the above, up to 1925 , included 70 rung for the Lancashire Association. According to the figures quoted by Mr. J. Blackburn, Ben, therefore, rang a further 112 peals for the LancashireAssociation (after 1925).
Ben kept a complete personal record of his peals after 1925, but altogether it would appear that he rang almost 500 peals. The analysis already submitted by me gives a farr pleture of his great experience and ability as a ringer and conductor, and I am indebted to Mr. Blackburn for the further information about Ben's peal total.-Yours, etc.

325th Anniversary of Stedman's Birth

Y
ET again the Ely Association was favoured with fine, sunny weather for its annual meeting on Easter Monday. In all about 150 ringers and friends partook of the ringing during the day. Arrangements for ringing had been greatly disturbed by the very large number of weddings due to take place in the various churches around Ely, which was to be the centre for the day. Nevertheless ten towers were available and all were kept busy throughout the time allocated.

Proceedings began at ten o'clock, when two towers were opened-Hilgay (8), where ringing very appropriately started with rounds for two young men who had just finished the lashed-practice stage at one of the struggling towers, and Sutton, a somewhat hard-going six, which seemed to be a greater attraction, so much so that there were over 40 ringers there very soon after ten o'clock.

The Hilgay contingent moved on to St. Mary's, Ely, at 11 o'clock, and continued there until one o'clock, whilst the Sutton party moved to Haddenham and then to Wilburton, each for an hour. In the afternoon Stretham (6), Fordham (6) and Burwell (8) were all kept busy with crowded belfries, whilst a dozen or so of our 'tower-grabbing' friends found tume to 'do' Swaffham Prior (6) in addition to the prescribed programme.

Shortly before four o'clock all gathered in the Cathedral in readiness for the service, many taking the opportunity of exploring this ancient foundation. The service was conducted by the Rev. Denis Foulds, one of the District presidents, and the Bishop of Ely gave a very informative and inspiring address. After the Blessing four visitors rang a very creditable plain course of Grandsire Triples on handbells, probably the first change ringing ever heard in this Cathedral, which, like many of her sisters in this part of the country, suffers from an absence of ringable bells.

After tea the Bishop, who is president of the Association, look the chair at the mecting. The annual report had been circulated and was adopted. It showed another small increase in membership and a further increase in activity, if peals are any guide to an Association's progress. All the officers were re-elected.

The Association decided to hold a dinner in Cambridge on September 29th this year. Many expressed the hope that this will develop into an annual event, and it has been pointed out that it will be an occasion to remember the birth of Fabian Stedman (325th anniversary this year). The organiser hopes to provide opportunity for the ringing of Stedman Doubles, Triples. Caters and Cinques during the atternoon and a good mea! for not more than $15 s$. during the evening, together with the usual good fellowship and sparkling wit associated with such an enterprise. Wateh 'The Ringing World' for details.

The Association decided to support the appeal for Bow Bells by setting aside the bell repair collection at one meeting in each District during the next month or so. One further proposal was that the Association invite the Ancient Socicty of College Youths to hold their provincial meeting in Cambridge in 1957.

After the business meeting ringing continued at Stretham. St. Mary's, Ely, and Soham (10) entil 8.30 pm . At the latter place our towergrabbing, friends arrived very near the end and so tecame very desperate: five minutes of rounds were rung by some 20 ringers.

Next year's meeting will be in Cambridge and we hope that by that time the eight at St. Andrew's will have been recast and that Trumpington bells will have been augmented to eight. To our 'tower-grahbing' friendsHave you ever rung at Fen Dittom or Horntingsea?

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

THE annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association was held in Bedford on Easter Monday. As customary, the bells of St. Peter's and St. Paul's were at the disposal of members throughout the day, and some good touches brought home, including Plain, Little Bob and Cambridge Surprise Royal, Superlative, Yorkshire and London Surprise Major.

After luncheon at the Dujon members and friends attended the business meeting which followed. The president, Miss E. Steel, opened the meeting by welcoming members and visitors from as far away as Chesterfield and Middlesex to Bedford, once again.
Apologies for absence were received from Canon A. Rust and Mr. A. E. Sharman.
The Committee's report stated that membership had increased, the 1955 figures being 25 honorary and 291 performing. The financial position showed an increase of $£ 417 \mathrm{~s}$, 8 d . over the year, the balance now standing at £85 15s. $6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$
The enthusiasts amassed a total of 44 peals, this being the second largest total in the Association's history. The list contains many worthy of special mention, including the first peal of Bedfordshire Surprise Major ever rung, at Maulden, Spliced Surprise Major in six methods at Woburn, and Little Bob Royal at Leighton Buzzard.
A number of members reached important landmarks in their respective ringing careers, 14 members rang their first peal, Mr. A. C. Sinfield and Mr. R. J. Sharp their 200th peal together, and Mr. C. E. Jeffries rang his 100 th peal as conductor for the Association.
The officers of the Association were elected as follows: President, Miss E. Steel; vicepresidents, Messrs. A. King, A. E. Sharman, H. O. Harris, W. Stapleton, C. J. Ball, L. H. Bywaters, P. Inskip; secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. W. Sinfield; auditor, Mr. G. H. Mason; peal secretary, Mr. D. Knox; librarian, Mr.

Foskett; assistant librarian, Mr. D. Thompson.
The joint summer festival with the Hertford County Association in St. Albans on June 16th next was discussed and members asked to make a special effort to attend.
The meeting was of the opinion that the catering for the Association dinner would be better if placed in the hands of the Dujon Restaurant in future, which would necessitate holding the function on a week-night, possibly Wednesday, March 13th.
Mr. H. A. Harris proposed a vote of thanks to Miss E. Steel for presiding, and the clergy for the use of the bells.
Further ringing was carried on at the Bedford towers, the back eight at St. Paul's being lowered at 8.30 .

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

East Devon Financially Healthy

The annual meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Honiton on Easter Monday. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. A. Fane de Salis, who also gave the address.
At the business meeting, which followed a very enjoyable tea, two new members were elected and certificates were presented by the president, Prebendary E. V. Cox, to Mr. B. Cole, Mr. R. Netherway, Miss J. Pollard, Mr. G. B. Manley and Mr. Farmer.
All the officers were re-clected and were thanked by the president for all they had done during the past year. The secretary's report showed that the Branch was still in a very healthy financial position and had a slight increase in membership. After the meeting some good ringing was had on the bells until nine p.m.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Mr. C. W. Pipe's Successor

THE annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Bury St. Edmunds on April 7th, when the bells of the Norman Tower and St. Mary's were rung to a variety of methods during the afternoon and evening. The service was held in the Cathedral with the robed choir in attendance a gesture which was very much appreciated by the members.

A most hearty welcome was extended by the Provost (the Very Rev. J. L. White), who pointed out in his address that with ringing, as in other church work, some of the best results of that work were never known by the ringers themselves. The bells carried the voice of the Church to the people and also expressed the voices and feelings of the tation in joy and sorrow. The ringers were the unseen workers of the Church and he expressed the hope chat they werc not unseen in the worship of the Church.
Nearly 50 members and visitors sat down to an excellent tea at Dunn's Restaurant. At tho business meeting which followed, the chair was occupied by the Ringing Master (Mr. C. J. Sedgley).
In spite of the decline in peal ringing during 1955 the membership had increased and the accounts revealed a healthy state of affairs. The committee recommended that $£ 3312 \mathrm{~s}$. 8 d . be transferred to the Restoration Fund, bringing the balance up to $£ 150$, to meet applications for grants during the coming year.
Mr. C. W. Pipe, who relinquished the office of general secretary and treasurer during 1955 , was elected a vice-president in recognition of his ten years in office. Mr. C. J. Sedgley was re-elected Ringing Master and Mr. J. W. Blythe, the present general secretary and treasurer, was also re-elected. A new committee, comprising Mrs. C. W. Pipe, Miss R. Seabrook and Messrs. James Bennett, sen., R. Clouston, C. E. Fisher, R. E. Lester, H. D. Lister, L. D. Mills, C. W. Pipe and S. Twitchett, was elected.

Polstead had made application for a grant from the Restoration Fund and the sum of $£ 19$ 6 s . (two per cent. of the total cost) was approved

The appeal for Bow Bells was discussed at some length and it was eventually decided to send a donation of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. from general funds to be devoted entirely towards the cost of rehanging the bells, and expressing the hope that if at some time members desired to ring there, this privilege would not be denied them.
Three new members were elected and the election of a non-resident life member before a peal was ratified.
The next annual meeting will be held at Ipswich on the first or sccond Saturday after Easter next year.
Votes of thanks were passed to the Provost and Canon Pelly for the use of their bells, and to the Provost, choir and organist for the service.

For over 60 years a ringer at Clay Cross, during the greater part of which he was captain and stceplekeeper, Mr. Fred Marshall dicu in hospital at Chesterfield on March 28th, aged 87 years. His association with Clay Cross dates back to the days when the East Derbyshire alld Notts Association was in its infancy. As a chorister and bellringer he served under seven vicars, and he was most conscientious about his Sunday service ringing.

Al the funeral service held in Clay Cross Parish Church on April 2nd the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band, and on April 7th a memorial peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at St. Bartholomew's, conducted by the deceased's nephew, Mr. David J. Marshall.

REDEDICATION

SHERBURN-IN-ELMET

For some time the ring of eight bells at All Saints' Church, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Yorks, although ringable, were not all that could be desired from a ringer's point of view, and despite the fact that the fabric of the church requires urgent attention, by the graciousness of a parishioner, who kindly supplied the necessary loan, the work of rehanging in roller bearings, overhauling frame, wheels, etc., was undertaken recently by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughtorough.

The service of rededication was held on March 31st, being attended by a large congregation. Mr. John P. Fidler and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fider (representing John Taylor and Co .) were present along with ringers from York Minster, Selby Abbey, Goole, Rothwell, Horbury, Tadcaster, Eastrington, Thorne, Doncaster. Bawtry, Hemingbrough and the local company.

During the singing of the hymn ' Unchanging God Who Livest,' the clergy and choir proceeded to the west end of the church, and the Rev. L. E. Griffith, M.A., R.D. (Vicar of Th~ro Arch), rededicated the bellis, tolling the treble bell. The dedication hymn Lifted Safe Within the Steeple was sung, followed by an interesting address by the Rev. L. E. Griffith, who spoke on bells and their uses throughout the ages. The Blessing concluded the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. W. Mclane, assisted by Mr. T. Carr.

An excellent tea, provided by Miss D. M. Hawley and lady helpers, was served in the Schoolroom, following which ringers proceeded to the tower.

After the eight bells had been raised in peal, rounds were rung by H. Paul 1, John P. Fidler 2, Miss D. M. Hawley 3, A. Thornton 4, E. M. Bradley 5, J. Potts 6, D. Ruckledge 7. A Fidler 8 (local company and representatives of John Taylor and Co.).
Changeringing followed, all present taking part in various touches with Mr. L. M. Woodhead (St. John's, Goole) acting as Ringing Master. Methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major, During the ringing of 224 Double Norwich Court Bob Major a recording was made, and at some future date ringers will be invited to Sherburn-in-Elmet to hear the result. Ringing concluded with an excellent touch of Stedman Triples.
All present expressed their gratification upon the excellent "go and tone of the bells, and congratulations are extended to Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

THE OFFICE AND THE BELLS

LISTENERS to the Very Rev. Michael Parker responding to the toast of Church and State at the recent Henry Johnson commemoration dinner heard the Provost propound a possibility and express a wish. The possibility was that there might be in the future some modification of the present relationship of the Church and the State, and the speaker inclined to the view that some measure of severance would not be entirely undesirable. The wish, added as a rider, was that if any new form of contract came about between Church and State the bells would still remain with the religious body.

Both these statements, the possibility and the wish, are worthy of careful attention. The Very Rev. Michael Parker speaks thoughtfully and with authority, and it doubtless comes as a surprise to most ringers to find so high a dignitary of the Church prepared to consider any degree of the unsanctifying of the State. It leads one to recall that last year the Rev. Canon Guy Warman gave as his opinion (unless we misunderstood his words) that the ideal partnership lay in the State managing its own affairs and the Church attending to its own business. Both these eminent clerics were doubtless confining their considerations to the Established Church, but the ordinary layman will, if he has sincere views on this matter, think in terms of the Christian community as a whole, and will wish for the State, in all its works and all its decisions, to be dominated to a far greater degree by the influence of Christian principles.
For the Sunday service ringer the Provost's added wish may provide even more food for thought. They are strange words, and disturbing, not perhaps because they indicate the likelihood of any detachment of our belis from their sacred office, but rather for the suggestion they provide of the sense of detachment with which some of our clergy regard their bells and their ringers. With the highest regard for the integrity and authority of our leaders in the Church, and with the greatest deference to their experience and views, it may yet be permissible to suggest that there are priests who have not considered fully why their bells ring out for services and what exactly is the significance of the ringing period.

Every Sunday service ringer who takes his responsibilities seriously knows that there is the incumbent who is entirely indifferent to his bells and their function, and that there is the parish priest who pays a kind of lip service to his ringers, but who, in his heart, regards the ringing as something apart, something to be 'fitted in, if possible,' an activity that sounds well before a service and provides harmless pleasure for a number of well-meaning men and women. The earnest ringer knows, too, that there is the incumbent who may, perhaps, be called the spiritually perceptive, who looks upon every activity of his church as contributing to the worship of God. This man calls his ringers Office Bearers in the Church.

And, it must be said, every priest of discernment knows that there are ringers entirely indifferent to the significance of their church bell ringing, and that there are those to whom the Sunday service ringing is just another occasion for enjoying the pleasure of ringing or even an opportunity for practice. The earnest incumbent knows, too, that there are ringers who take a very high view of their responsibilities. These men know that they are Office Bearers in the Church and need no reminding of the fact.

Differing views may doubtless be expressed as to the value and significance of the Sunday service ringing, but surely the highest and noblest way of regarding it is as a part of the church service, a great prelude of annunciation and praise, carefully planned and timed so that it may take its part with all the other musical offerings of the worshipping congregation. Such a consideration as this forces upon the service ringer serious responsibilities in respect of the quality of his offering, just as it provides a choir with inescapable obligations in the standard of its music. It must of necessity bring before the ringer more clearly his duty in attending at the congregational worship, and what is fit and proper in this respect needs careful thought.

Where the incumbent takes this high view of the ringing, and where the ringers are themselves conscious of their office, there can be no indifference, no empty patronage, no mere tolerance. And the Provost's wish is in some measure meaningless, or, at least, pointless. For the bells are dedicated to the service of God and are hallowed for their high office. Who then shall separate them from the service of God?

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch at Upwey

1 The valley of the River Wey echoed to the sound of the six bells of the ancient Church of St. Lawrence when the Dorchester Branch held their spring meeting at Upwey on April 14th. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. S. Bryant), who gave the Branch a hearty welcome.

The lesson was read by the Rev. Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, chairman of the Branch.

An excellent tea was partaken at the Clovelly Tea Rooms, and the business meeting which followed was conducted by the chairman, supported by the vice-chairman, the Rev. S. P. Roweroft (Abbotsbury) and the Rev. A. S. Bryant.

The date of the June meeting at Milton Abbey was left to the decision of the secretary in consultation with the Vicar. It was decided to hold the next Branch practice at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on April 21st.

A belfry nomination of $\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{H}$. Jeanes as a non-resident life member was ratified. An appeal on behalf of the Restoration Fund for Bow Bells was considered and, after discussion, it was agreed that the matter should be put forward at the Guild Festival to be held at Sherborne Abbey on May 12th.

The Rev. A. S. Bryant stated that in the Upwey Church records it was noted that in 1666 the people of Upwey had contributed no less than $£ 700$ to the restoration of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The chairman thanked the Rector for his wonderful address, and, in reply, Mr. Bryant said it was a real joy to hold a ringers' meeting.

A NORFOLK WEDDING

At Ashill, on Easter Monday, a member of the Caston company, Mr. Alfred Shingfield, sixth son of Mrs. and the late Mr. L. Shingfield, of Caston, was married to Miss Sylvia Stebbings, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stebbings, of Ashill. The ceremony was performed by the Rector (the Rev. E. J. Toase), and Mr. E. W. Smith was the organist.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a satin dress with full-length veil and orange blossom headdress, and carried a bouquet of red carnations and trailing fern. There were seven bridesmaids, five of them sisters of the bride. All wore spring-coloured dresses of different shades. Mr. R. Shingfield, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Ringing was carried out by Messrs. T. A. Potter. J. Potter, G. Grix, R. C. Bution, W. M. Mann, C. E. G. Banham, S. H. Waterfield and Dr. P. H. A. Jonason, all of whom afterwards attended the reception.: The couple are making their home at Norwich Road, Carbrooke.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

There was a strong gathering of members at the monthly meeting of the Society at South Anston on April 7th. A variety of methods rung during the afternoon included touches of Little Bob. Stedman and Grandsire. A course of London Major by the 'experts' was quite the best ringing of the day.

A meat tea was served in a nearby chapel, and in the absence of the secretary no business meeting was held. Further ringing took place in the tower covering many methods, outstanding of which were Duffield, Cambridge, Superlative and Yorkshire.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Renewed Activity at Epping

There was almost a record attendance when the South-Western Division held its quarterly mecting at Loughton on April 7th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and was followed by a service conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Mr. Ottaway). Ahout 70 ringers sat down to an excellent tea in the adjoining Church Hall.
At the business meeting, which followed tea, the chair was taken by Mr. John Crampion. Sifent tribute was paid to the memory of two members who had passed on since the last meeting. These were Mr. Goodwin, of Havering, who had been a ringer for over 50 years, and Mr. Thcobald, of Leytonstone, a member of the 'old time' band at that church, and ringer of 189 peals.
Mr. Chalk told the meeting that he had recently paid a visit to Epping and was pleased to report a renewal of activity there under the leadershıp of Mr. Statham. Eleven new ringing members were elected from this tower, and the Vicar of Epping was made an honorary member. Three honorary members were elected from Loughton, one full ringing member and two probationary members. There were two new ringing members from Wanstead, and one new member from Woodford was confirmed. Three new ringing members from Rayleigh completed the picture.

Mr. Gant announced that the annual dinner of the Essex Association would be held at the Shire Hall. Chelmsford, on October 6th,

After Mr. Chalk had paid tribute to the work of Mr. Last at Wanstead, Mr. Gant thanked the Rector and the local ringers and their wives for the efficient arrangements made.

Unfortunately, owing to the loosening of the pins which secured the counter-balance to the clapper of the ninth causing the bell to cease to strike, the peal attempt for Stedman Caters at Worcester Cathedral on April 7th was lost after $3 \ddagger$ hours' ringing. The attempt was in honour of the appointment of the Rt. Rev. L. M. Charles-Edwards as Bishop of Worcester. Afterwards the ringers were entertained to tea in Church House, where Bishop CharlesEdwards expressed his appreciation of the ringing and sympathised with the band in their loss when in sight of the end. The band consisted of G. J. Hemming 1, R. G. Morris 2, S. T. Holt (cond.) 3, D. R. Morris 4, A. Morgan 5, E. F. Cubberley 6, G. C. Hemming 7, D. Beacham 8, R. Woodyatt 9, T. W. Lewis 10.

Friends of Mr. G. S. Morris, of Lyme Regis, will be glad to hear that he is recovering after an operation for hernia on April 14th, but will not be ringing for five or six weeks.

In reply to Mr. Brian T. Hale, the six bells of Holy Trinity, Lane End, are all by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, 1878.'-Walter Avery, Lane End, High Wycombe.

In three consecutive peals Mr. B. G. Warwick rang his 300 th tower-bell peal (Stedman Triples at All Saints', Leicester, on April 14th), 400th peal (ten Doubles at Kirby Bellars the same day) and 100th handbell peal (Plain Bob Royal on April 15th).

On April 14th a number of Mid-Devon Branch members visited Highweek Parish Church, Newton Abbot, where a good afternoon's instruction was given to four members of the Buckfast Abbcy ringers. A sumptuous tea was afterwards much enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lilley, and the remainder of the time was spent with handbells.

GOSSIP

The second edition of Dove's 'Bellringers' Guide to the Church Bells of Britain' has now been published. There are no fewer than 2,000 amendments and two new apper-dices-post-war losses and transfers of ringing peals. In addition, the binding has been improved. A review of this valuable guide to every keen ringer will appear in an early issue.

The peal at Measham (p. 227) was rung for the Midland Counties Guild (not Association).

Mr. Cecil V. Ebberson, of Snettisham, conveys through "The Ringing World" his best wishes to his old friend Mr. Frank Bennett.

Toddington (Glos) bells-a ring of six-have recently been rehung, and were rung for the first time at Easter. It is hoped that the Cheltenham Branch will be holding a meeting there in the very near future.

The peal at Queniborough, Leicestershire, was the first for 23 years for Charles Lowe, the tower captain. The band would like to thank the Vicar, himself a ringer, for saying a prayer in the belfry before the attempt and entertaining them to tea afterwards.

The first peal attempt on the new bells at Wragby, Yorks, on Easter Monday came to grief during the third extent. A quarter peal of Treble Bob Minor was, however, scored. Afterwards it was lcarnt that Mr. H. Chant and Mr. D. Smith, two noted peal ringers, had not rung a quarter peal since the war.
The bells of York Minster were heard yesterday afternoon prior to the broadcast in the Home Service of the enthronement of the new Archbishop. On Sunday, May 6th, in the North Home Service, there will be a broadcast of the bells of Beverley Minster previous to the 9.30 a.m. service.

THE HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

THE annual general meeting was held at Bishop's Stortford on April 7th and was attended by well over 100 members and friends from all parts of the county. The question of transport to this outpost on the Essex border was solved by three of the District secretaries organising coach parties, and so support was ensured from the outset.

The day's proceedings commenced with ringing at Little Hadham (5), Braughing (8), Standon (6) and Much Hadham (8), and this provided quite a ringing tour for the coach and car parties.

After an excellent lunch at Bishop's Stortford off went the coaches, etc., to Thorley (6) and Sawbridgeworth (8, tenor 25 cwt .) and then returned to St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford ( 10 , tenor 18 cwt .) for further ringing.

The annual service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave the address. The lesson was read by the president (Mr. C. W. Woolley), a course of Bob Major was rung on handbells by four officers, and a collection was taken for the Voluntary Bell Fund.

After tea, at which the Vicar presided, the president welcomed the visitors (especially Mr. R. Heazel, Master of the Essex Association), and in one of the best addresses ever heard at an annual meeting observed that, although this meeting showed increased interest, it could only be regarded as a success if the members continued to attend the annual meetings wherever they may be held in future years. He referred to the financial crisis through which the Association has safely passed, and urged the members to take an active interest in its affairs and not be content to leave everything to the officers and committee.

The list of members who had unfortunately passed away since the last annual meeting was read, and the members present stood for a moment in silent memory of George Hughes (Stanmore), W. Howard, A. E. Halsey, W. H. L. Buckingham, J. C. Mitchell (St. Albans), W. Stanley (Stevenage), A. Bray (Baldock), F. Warrington (Cambs) and C. C. Mayne (Harrow Weald).

Arising from the minutes, a letter from the Central Council secretary concerning peals in irregular methods was brought to the notice of the Association. The Rev. M. G. Bryant (Northaw) and Miss S. Haslam (Much Hadham) were elected members, Messis. L. T. Hansell and W. Little, of St. Albans Cathedral, were re-elected, Mr. F. J. Cullum (Erith) and Miss A. Gladwell (Reading) were elected nonresident members.
The annual report of the General Committee was read by the general secretary (Mr. H. V. Frost) and was adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre, who also paid tribute to the work of Mr. T. J. Southam and Mr. G. Dodds.

AN ENCOURAGING REPORT

The report stated that the ringing membership had increased by 50 members, many being young ringers. The District secretaries deserved most of the credit for maintaining and increasing interest as well as raising the funds of the Association towards the target of a sound financial position.

Restoration work at Elstree had also been carried out, the six bells had been recast and rehung, while the bells at Kimpton, Knebworth and St. Stephen's, St. Albans, were to be rehung in the near future.
Peal ringing, on the whole, had maintained its usual level, which was most encouraging in view of the statement in "The Ringing World " that there was a drop in peal ringing throughout the country. The three peal books were bow complete with all peals entered up to the end of 1954, and Mrs. J. Dodds, who had accomplished in one year the monumental work of correcting, inserting and completing upwards of 450 peals, had rightly earned their grateful thanks for her work. The register of compositions had been taken over by Miss P . Martin, who had entered a vast number of figures which had been audited by Mr. H. Cashmore.
Financially the Association was now free from debt, the generous interest-free loan of £ 150 made in 1952 had been entirely repaid, and thanks were due to all concerned for all they had done.
The accounts were presented by the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. W. Debenham) and showed an excess of income over expenditure of $£ 17$ 8 s .5 d . on the year. Cash at bank, £201 17s. 11d. Reserve Fund, $£ 66$ 5s. 9d. The Benevolent Fund stood at $£ 22$ 12s. 1d. with $£ 65$ 12s 8 d . on deposit. The Voluntary Bell Fund balance was $£ 4619 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d. The accounts were adopted.
It was decided to grant five guineas each to the Kimpton, Knebworth and King's Langley Bell Funds from the Voluntary Bell Fund, and two guineas to the Bow Bells Appeal from the General Fund.
It was decided to appoint a peal secretary and make the necessary alteration in Rule 5 to allow this appointment
In the elettion of officers Mr. W. T. Holmes, of Hatfield, was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year; the other officers were re-elected and the new peal secretary is Mr. B. C. Johnson, of St. Albans.

The proposition from the Watford District regarding the position of Stanmore band (Middlesex) was discussed, and it was agreed to allow them the same privilege as resident members.
On the proposition of Mr. W. L. Foute it was agreed to transfer Northaw tower from the St. Albans District to the Eastern District.
The forthcoming joint summer festival meeting with the Bedfordshire Association at St. Albans on June 16th was mentioned by the general secretary, who gave details of some of the arrangements and asked for the full support of the members.
Mr. W. Ayre proposed a vote of thanks to all who had in any way assisted with the arrangements of the meeting.
Mr. R. Heazel replied on behalf of the visitors, and members adjourned to the tower for further ringing on the excellent ring of ten bells.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Next Thursday is the 80th birthday of 'the Grand Old Man' of Birmingham, Mr. Albert Walker. He still enjoys a peal and called one of his favourite methods, Stedman Cinques, as recently as March 3rd at Wolverhampton. 'A hapey birthday, Albert,' is the sincere wish of the whole Exercise, and especially his friends of the St. Martin's Guild and the Ancient Society of College Youths.

Bells will be heard before the broadcast Rogation Service on Sunday, May 6th, from Appledore Parish Church, Devon, and before the service from Wincanton Parish Church, Somerset, on Sunday, May 27th. ## THE LEICESTER

Mr. W. A. Wood's Long Service Appreciated
THE annual meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held in Leicester on Saturday, April 7th.

During the afternoon the bells of St. Margaret's, St. John's and the Cathedral were rung to a variety of methods.

At 4.30 p.m. a service was held in the Cathedral conducted by the Rev. F. W. Pratt, chaplain of the Cathedral and priest-in-charge of St. John's. The Ven. W. J. Lyon, Arch deacon Emeritus of Loughborough, read the lesson. and the sermon was preached by the Provost, the Very Rev. M. Armstrong. He welcomed the Guild to the Cathedral and said that it was the first time he had had an opportunity of preaching at the annual service. He regretted that neither he nor the Rev. F. W. Pratt would be able to be present at che meeting.

Following the service tea was served in St. John's Schoolroom for the 130 ringers and wives who had sent their names in by the required date. This was necessary owing to the limited accommodation available. Because of this few visitors were present

At the business meeting, held after tea, the Ven. W. J. I yon took the chair. He was supported by Messrs. P. L. Taylor and E. C Turner (vice-presidents), Mr. W. A. Wood (general hon. secretary) and Mr. W. S. Burton (peal secretary)

Opening the meeting, Archdeacon Lyon said how happy he was to be back among the ringers of the Diocese. As Rector of Loughborough he was always pleased to welcome ringers to the Parish Church.

Arising from the minutes of the previous annual meeting the chairman noted how frequently the name of Mr. H. J. Poole occurred in the minutes. He thought that this was a convenient time to take note of his tragic death. He worked for the Guild and made it what it was. In his opinion there was not a more enthusiastic ringer in the Diocese. He knew him personally, as he often came to ring at Loughborough. The Guild had lost a most valued member. The chairman then asked the meeting to stand in Mr. H. J. Poole's memory.

TOTAL BALANCE $£ 334$

Mr. A. E. Rowley, hon. treasurer, presented the balance sheet. He said that for the first time in the history of the Guild he had to present the accounts without being audited, but due to circumstances beyond his control he had not been able to complete the balance sheet until the previous evening.

Although expenditure exceeded income by $£ 36$ 5s. 7d. during the year. there was a balance of $£ 9316 \mathrm{~s}$. Id. in the General Fund. A grant of $£ 21$ had been made to Queniborough from the Bell Repair Fund, which left a balance of $£ 17618 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. There was also a balance of $£ 6314 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. in the Catering Reserve Fund. The total balance in hand was, therefore, $£ 3349 \mathrm{~s}$. 3 d .
The report was adopted, subject to audit, on the proposition of Mr. E. Rawson, seconded by Mr. J. H. Cook. Thanks were expressed to the hon. treasurer for his work.

DIOCESAN GUILD

Mr. K. Roe commented on the fact that each year it was neccssary to draw from the reserve to meet current expenditure. He wondered whether the subscription should be raised.
The hon. treasurer replied that the matter would be considered by the General Committee.

27 FIRST PEALERS

Mr. S. Burton, hon. peal secretary, in his report, said that 168 peals had been rung in 1955 compared with 197 in 1954 . He thought that the drop in numbers was due to the loss of the president. Nevertheless the Leicester Diocesan Guild rang more peals than any other Guild or Association during 1955. There were 27 people who had rung their first peal, three people had conducted their first peal. The conducting was shared by 36 people, which was a healthy sign.
New methods rung for the first time werc Bristol Alliance Major, Humberstone-Delight Major, Arnesby Surprise Major, Bruntingthorpe Surprise Major, Countesthorpe Surprise Majoı, Donisthorpe Surprise Maior, Edmondthorpe Surprise Major and Woodstock Surprise Major.
Mr. C. Harrison, in proposing the adoption of the report, said that the peal secretary should receive the grateful thanks of the Guild for all the wark he did. It was seconded by Mr. P. J. Staniforth and carried unanimously.

LAPSED MEMBERSHIP PROBLEM

The hon. general secretary's report was presented by Mr. W. A. Wood. He said that all Districts generally had reported a favourable year. There had been improved attendances at meetings, some progress in ringing and increased social activities. District officers would, however, welcome more support dt some monthly meetings. The wastage of members had not yet been checked. To date a total of just over 1,200 new and non-resident members had been received into the Guild. (For 1955 the figures are 89 new and 20 nonresident.) During the year 578 subscriptions were received. 48 of these being from junior members. It would seem that it is too easy to become a member and that too low a value was then placed on Guild membership.
For the last six months of the year the presidential duties had been carried out by the two vice-presidents working together and sharing the dutics of chairman at the General Committee and the quarterly meetings. They had been mainly responsible for working out the arrangements for the facilities necessary fo, the Central Council meeting on Whit Tuesday. Ringing arrangements were being made by Mr. S. Burton, hon. peal secretary.

Mr. Wood then expressed the thanks of the Guild to the clergy for their co-operation, to the many helpers who arrange teas at the meetings and to the District secretaries for their work during the year
In conclusion Mr. Wood said that largely due to the devoted work of the late president, there is in the Leicester Diocesan one of the leading Guilds in the country. He hoped it would be kept so.

BALLOT FOR NEW PRESIDENT

There were three nominations for president, Mr. P. A. Corby, Mr. P. L. Taylor and Mr.
E. C. Turner. Voting was by ballot, Mr. F. Roe and Mr. F. J. Williams (both of whom have been transferred to the non-resident list of members) acted as tellers.
The chairman announced the result of the ballot as follows:-Mr. P. L. Taylos 48 votes, Mr. E. C. Turner 44, and Mr. P. A. Corby 15.

Archdeacon Lyon, in handing over, congratulated the Leicester Diocesan Guild on electing Mr. Taylor as president.
Mr . Taylor, on taking the chair, thanked all for their confidence. He would do his best and hoped the Guild would go from strength to strength. It was up to them all to keep the Leicester Diocesan Guild on top.
Other officers elected were: Mr. P. A. Corby and Mr. E. C. Turner, vioe-presidents; Mr. A. E. Rowley, hon. treasurer; Mr. S. Burton, hon. peal secretary; Mr. B. G. Warwick, hon. general secretary
The chairman said he was pleased to welcome Mr. B. G. Warwick as the new hon. general secretary, and expressed his thanks to Mr. W. A. Wood for all that he had done.

24 YEARS' UNBROKEN SERVICE

The hon. treasurer, Mr. A. E. Rowley, then paid tribute to the work Mr. Wood had done. They had been in office together since 1932 . Then Mr. Rowley was elected secretary of the Hinckley District with Mr. Wood as chairman. When Mr. Rowley moved to Ibstock, Mr. Wood then took his place as secretary, which he held until 1948, when he became hon. general secretary of the Guild. 'Thus,' said Mr. Rowley, 'Mr. Wood has given 24 years' unbroken service to the Guild.'
Mr. Rowley then presented Mr. Wood with a wrist watch. which had been subscribed by all members of the Guild. Mr. Wood replied, thanking members very much for their gift.
Mr. E. C. Turner, vice-president, said that the tribute should be paid to the secretary's wife. who had always helped in whatever way possible. Taken completely by surprise, she was presented with a bouquet by Miss Nancy Marklew. On behalf of his wife Mr. Wood suitably replied.
Following this pleasant interlude, the chairman stated that as Mr. B. G. Warwick was now ineligible to act as auditor a new one would have to be elected. Mr. G. Newton proposed, and Mr. J. H. Cook seconded, that Mr. W. J. Root act as auditor. This was carried unanimously.
The election of 12 new ringing members was duly confirmed.
The next quarterly meeting will be held at Bottesford on July 21st.
The chairman and peal secretary then outlined arrangements for the Central Council meeting on Whit Tuesday. Full details were being published in 'The Ringing World.'
Mr. E. C. Turner paid tribute to the hard work done by Mr. P. L. Taylor during recent months. Many people had worked very hard and he wondered how one man managed. He was very pleased to welcome Mr. P. A. Corby as vice-president. He had done good work in the Melton District. Mr. Turner concluded by asking all members to give their support to the gencral officers and to Mr. P. L. Taylor is particular.
In closing the meeting the president thanked Mr. S. Harrison for arranging the tea and meeting in St. John's schoolroom. B. G. W.

LETTERS TO  THE EDITOR

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE BELLS

Dear Sir,-May I be allowed once again .u trespass on your valuable space concerning the above? The accusation of Mr. W. Birmingham that I have staked a claim on the above ring cannot be allowed to pass unchallenged. Were I to write to one of our leading Pool promoters saying that as they seemed to have a large surplus of money to throw around, and I was in a position to use a large sum, would that be regarded by them as making a claim? No! However, had I the maximum number of points on their Treble Chance Pool and despatched a hurried telegram to say so, it would be regarded as such!
Bearing this in mind, the majority of your readers will, I think, have sufficient commonsense to differentiate between a suggestion and a claim. I could have suggested that they be transferred to the rugged and massive tower of Christ Church, Spitalfields, which would accommodate them all on one level. Would 1 like to see Spitalfields bells deposed to make room for them? Not on your life!

My chief objeot in writing was to point out that if the Institute bells were looking for a home, Bow is looking for a ring of bells, and is quite capable of carrying the weight of metal ! I had the privilege and pleasure of first ringing at the Institute on the occasion in May, 1935 , of the Silver Jubilec of King Gcorge V. and Queen Mary. We rang two excellent touches of Stedman Caters, and one ringer, whom I had never met before, and was addressed by the others as 'Taff,' afterwards invited me to go for a drink! Another asked me to take part in an attempt for a peal of Cinques at SouthFark Cathedral that evening. This I regretfully had to decline as I had been awake since 4 a.m. Strange treatment indeed for one who had invaded what Mr. Birmingham alleges to be a closed shop!

The bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey or the Institute are not the playthings of the Exercise. Tradition demands that they be manned by ringers who are safe for all practical purposes and that the striking shall be as near perfection as the varying conditions in each tower will permit. If a closed shop means the exclusion of poor strikers, bad handlers and stay bashers, then I am sure there is no need for any justification of it on my part!
Concerning paid ringing, may I put forward a point apparently overlooked by Mr. Bırming. ham? Those who ring at these towers have to travel many miles to do so. Does he not realise that in some cases the cost of transport would be in excess of the fec paid? When ringers ring for special occasions, should the travelling expenses fall on their own pockets all the time? I may be wrong, but at least I don't think so.
Getting back to the Institute ring. For the past 25 years I have owned a copy of "History and Art of Change Ringing, so am as well informed on these as Mr. Birmingham or Mr. formed on these as Mr. Birmingham or Mr.
Caple. In the event of the removal of the bells it would, of course be the prerogative of Her Majesty to say what was to happen to them. and whatever we, as ringers felt, we, as her loyal subjects, could not complain if she chose to consign them to the scrap heap! Were they to go to Bow they would lose their identity as the 'Institute, ring and become Bow Bells, even though they had not been cast for the purpose. A service of dedication in Bow Church would make them so. Do the people of Eastington, Glos, still speak of those bells from Frocester: or the people of Acomb. Yorks, still refer to 'those bells from Bishopshill'? No! They have become the voice of the towers in which they hang.

Assuming that the Institure ring were taken to Windsor and replaced what Mr. Birmingham calls the 'tuneless old bells' of the Curfew Tower, would they be accepted as part of the furniture or be referred to as those bells from Kensington'? Of course, that would be a different story. In so fai as he advocates the removal of a grand London ring to a tower close to his own home Mr. Birmingham has made it clear to all that he has an axe to grind! 1 only hope I have succeeded in making it plain to all that I haven't !

THE RIGHTS OF THE VISITING RINGER

Dear Sir,-The query raised by your correspondent, Mr. Spavins, and which I have heard voiced elsewhere, seems to have a spiteful air.
Surely we have sufficient reason to subscribe to the Bow Bells Fund, to restore a national heritage destroyed by enemy action, without asking that our subscription should entitle us to ring on the rehung bells.

But, the Bow Bells fund aside, why should any ringer, even if of sufficient ability, be allowed to ring at any tower, as your correspondent, Mr. Birmingham, suggests? Surely this is a matter for the resident band to decide. and they can hardly be blamed if they will not allow a perfect stranger with no credentials whatsoever to take a rope for Sunday servic: ringing.

It would be a pity indecd if the fellowship of ringers were to be curtailed, but on the other hand this freedom which we enjoy should not be abused and hospitality taken for granted. -Yours sincerely,
P. H. WHITAKER.

Spondon, Derbys.

RINGING MEETINGS

Dear Sir,-In connection with the correspondence under the above heading the following may be of interest.

At the annual gathering of a very important section of ringers it was-and still is-the praztice of members to visit various cowers in the district during their stay. Upon this occasion a considerable number of well-known ringers from all over the country visited a tower which had the reputation of having a very nice eight. The local band turned up to welcome theit visitors and with some curiosity as to what sort of people they were who werc only known to them by reports from time to time in "The Ringing World.' The occasion was rather over-whelming-for the locals. The visitors soon took charge of the proceedings with the locals taking a back seat, not being up to the standard of the Surprise methods that were set going.

After a time one of the locals felt that he would like to take some part in the proceedings and during a short lull between the touches, when a discussion was taking place as to whether the next touch should be Cambridge, London, Bristol, Superlative-or some of each he plucked up courage and suggested a touch of Grandsire. This suggestion was received in dead silence. and then one of the visitors politely asked if the questioner could ring Grandsire. to which he replied that providing the other seven could, he felt he could manage it.

Again silence for a moment and then a hearty laugh went up. The local got his touch of Grandsire, in which several well-known ringers took part, and his only regret was that he did not get their autographs of an occasion which to him will always be a pleasant and amusing one.-Yours truly,

FRANK HUCKLE.

PEAL RINGING IN COUNTIES
Dear Sir,-With the conclusion of the series ${ }_{7}$ I should like to express my appreciation of the work of the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. I hope I shall not be alone in doing this.
From time to time letters have appeared 'n these columns pointing out mistakes that have been made in the articles, and 1 have felt that the tone and criticism of these has sometumes been quite unjustified. In conversation, too, I have heard people saying that many more peals had been rung in a tower than as published, yet the point that the records were from 1881 onwards was often made in the articles.
Mr . Felstead has done a good job of work and the records will prove invaluable. In work of this nature mistakes are inevitable. I hope, however, that in future people who correct them will do so more kindly.

Tewkesbury.
DAVID BEACHAM.

MISUNDERSTANDING OVER JOINT MEETING

Dear Sir,-In the report of the annual meeting of the East Grinstead Guild (' Ringıng World, March 30th) it was stated that the Guild had accepted an invitation to hold a joint meeting with the Northern Division of the Sussex County Association. It appears that this statement is not correct, as I am informed by Mr. I. Butcher, the Divisional secretary, that at our February meeting he was asked if a joint meeting could be arranged, if both sides were agreeable, and when this matter was brought up at our annual meeting I was under the impression that the matter had already been discussed by the Northern Division, but this was not so, and I apologise for any misunderstanding that may have arisen.-Yours faithfully,

CHARLES A. BASSETT.
Wadhurst.

PEAL OF STEDMAN AT SOUTH WIGSTON

Dear Sir,-I feel that I would like to hear more on the subject of a recent peal (?) of 'Stedman' at South Wigston. I had hoped that it would be unnecessiry to write this letter but in the interests of 'peal ringing ' I think it is essential.
The peal was obviously not a good one, and it has received rather damning criticism from a listener. After this, if the performance is to be accepted as a 'peal,' surely we should hear the views of the conductor.
If the printed allegations are not refuted it tends to make one wonder of this 'peal' is typical of many, and that it was just unfortunate that it was overheard.
It should not be necessary to doubt any peal reported, yet distrust and suspicion must now enter into the minds of many pcople who read of the past and present performances of the ringers concerned.
I hope the conductor will take this chance of either withdrawing the peal or explainung why it was recorded, thus avoiding the reputation which may well become his and his compatriots.
I conclude by saying that I am surprised and dismayed at the apathy of several thousand ringers at the report of this performance.Yours faithfully, MICHAEL. J. E. BEST Bour nemouth.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Appointment of New Hon. Secretary $T \mathrm{HE}$ annual general meeting of the Gloucesheld at Cirencester on April 7 th, in the Church Hall, Cirencester, about 130 members having signed the attendance book. The Master (Mr. C. R. Harding) presided.

The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. W. A. Peel (Tortworth). Apologies for absence were received from the following: Lord Bishop of Gloucester, Rev. A. D. H. Allan, Mr. H. V. Robinson, Rev. Canon W. H. Thomas, vice-presidents ; Dr. R. J. Brocklehurst (Bristol) and Mr. G. Kilmister (Cheltenbam).
Arising from the minutes of the last annual meeting at Tewkesbury; Mr. Barry spoke of the Gloucester Guild of Ringers. Mr. Hansford asked what was the position with regard to the Association's ring of handbells. The sccretary gave the necessary information.
The Master (Mr. C. R. Harding) in his report stated that the year had been a memorable one and he had the honour of welcoming to Bristol the Ancient Society of College Youths and also the Central Council. He thanked Mr. Skidmore and Mr. A. Tyler for their work, which gave so much pleasure to the Council.
Peals rung during 1955 remained about the same number and membership was also about the same.
The hon, secretary (Mr. F. Skidmore) in his report gave membership at between 1,000 and 1,100 The Chippenham Branch was now working again.

Mr. S. G. Riches, the hon. treasurer, stated that the total funds of the Association had increased from $£ 375$ to $£ 433$ and the Belfry Repair Fund was up by $£ 60$ to $£ 259$.
These reports were adopted as were the Branch and belfry elections during the year.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Dr. R. J. Brocklehurst (Bristol) was elected a vice-president, and all the existing vice-presidents were re-elected. In accordance with the rules, only one nomination was received for the office of Master, that of the present Master, Mr. C. R. Harding, who was in consequence re-elected for another year. Mr. Harding promised to do all in his power to uphold the prestige of the Association.

Mr. F. Skidmore had intimated in his report that he wish to resign as hon. secretary in favour of a younger man who had the enthusiasm and ability to take over the job, which was now in good shape, and to give any assistance (if required) to his successor. Efforts Frere made to persuade Mr. Skidmore to continue for another year, but all to no avail.

Mr. Oakhill. Mr. C. R. Harding, Mr. J. G. Jefferies, Mr. A. L. Barry and Mr. T. Boreham spoke of the excellent work Mr. Skidmore had spoke of the excellent work Mr. Skidmore had marks of appreciation were received with marks of appreciation. were received with nominations for this position-Mr. C. Rouse (Cheltenham) and Mr. W. F. Scudamore (Bristol Rural). The election was by ballot, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas consenting to act as scrutimeers, and resulted in Mr. Scudamore being elected with 69 votes to Mr. Rouse's 61.

Other elections were : Mr. S. G. Riches, hon. treasurer; Mr. A. Reeves, hon. peal secretary; Mr. E. F. Hancock and Mr. J. M. Stallard, hon. auditors: six members to the Management Committee (Rule 7 re-elected en bloc; also the Association advisers.

The Management Committee had decided that, in view of the fact that there was very little time between the annual meeting and Whitsuntide, the election of Central Council representatives should be brought forward one year to enable the elected members to have sufficient time to make their arrangements with regard to accommodation at the place where the Council were meeting. The present representatives were all willing to stand for another term of three years, and there being no further nominations they were re-elected en bloc as follows: Mr. F. Skidmore (Bristol Archdeaconry), Mr. T. Boreham (Cheltenham Archdeaconry), Mr. A. L. Barry (Gloucester Archdeaconry) and Mr. W. B. Kynaston (Swindon Archdeaconry).
The secretary outlined the position with regard to the proposed peal tablet for the Coronation peal rung at Painswick. He had received the co-operation of the Vicar of Painswick, the Rev. H. F. Heal, also an estimate for the job from a firm of monumental masons at Ross-on-Wye, for a stone tablet, the drawing of which was passed round the meeting. The cost would be in the region of $£ 60$, and in view of the important national occasion it was decided to proceed with the job. Mr. Skidmore promised to see the project finalised.

BRANCH TERRITORIES

This question had been before the meetings for about four years, in an endeavour 10 make the Chippenham Branch larger in towers and membership, and it had been decided to include in the Chippenham Branch, Marshfield (8), Bristol Rural; Tetbury (8), Shipton Moyne (6) and Long Newnton (6), Cirencester; and Malmesbury (8), Swindon Branch. These changes to take effect as from January 1st, 1957.

The next year's annual meeting is to be held at Newent, North Forest Branch, on Saturday, April 27th.
Mr. Hansford asked that the rules covering voting should be altered. That only performing members should be allowed to vote, and not honorary and associate members. This was opposed by Mr. C. Rouse, Mr. F. Skidmore, Mr. W. H. Trueman, Mr. H. W. Bishop and Mrs. F. Skidmore, the general opinion being that all annual subscription members in whatever category should be allowed to vote.
Mr. J. G. Jefferies proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the officers for the way the affairs of the Association had been managed during the past year. This was cordially received. The Master suitably responded.
This concluded the business, and the Rev. W. A. Peel closed the meeting with prayer at 4.35 p.m.

A move was made for tea, at which Canon R. H. Sutch, Vicar of Cirencester, was the guest. The Master thanked the Vicar for his welcome to Cirencester and for the use of the bells and for the service which was to come at 6 p.m.; also to Mr. F. J. Lewis for having everything ready in the belfiy, to all the incumbents for the use of their bells duting the day, and last, but not least, Mr. R. E. W. Wenban, the Cirencester Branch secretary, who had been responsible for all the local arrangements, which had been admirably carried out, and were appreciated by all.

The service in the Parish Church was a grand finale to a very pleasant meeting, the address given by the Rev. T. P. Hearn, Childswickham, being most appropriate, his text being from the Psalms: 'All the foundations of the earth are out of course,' as applicd to present day conditions.

This brought to a close one of the best meetings the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has held in recent years. F. S.

Organisers of outings, etc., are asked to note that there uill be no ringing at St. Thomas', Bristol, until the belfry floor has been repaired.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

 Restoration of Ancient ChurchesTHE tenth annual meeting of the Guild was held at Southwell Minster on April 7th. The Minster bells were available from 2.30 until 8.30 with a break for Evensong, tea and the business meeting. Southwell Minster celebrates its millenary this year and so it was fitting that the annual meeting should be held in this noble setting far removed from the madding crowd.
Upwards of 75 members and friends attended the meeting, 64 sitting down to tea in the Trebeck Hall.
In the absence of Canon R. F. Wilkinson, the chair at the business meeting was taken by the Provost (the Very Rev. H. C. L. Heywood), who is well known for his hustle, and on this occasion he again revealed his ability of getting through a long agenda in the minimum of time.
A minute's silence was observed for tive deceased members, namely, Messrs. C. Carr,
E. A. Rigden, T. Jennison, C. Glenn and Mrs. L. L. East.

The annual report being still in the hands of the printers, the reports of the general secretary, treasurer, each District secretary and the Peal Committee were put before the meeting and approved.
The Income and Expenditure Account showed a surplus of income for the year of $£ 10$ 17s. 9d. The Capital Account now stands at $£ 120$ 2s. and the balance of the Bell Repair Fund is $£ 92$ 19s. Since the accounts were made up donations of $£ 1010$ s. each have been made to Bunney and West Bridgford. Promised donations to Shireoaks and Laxton still await the completion of the restoration schemes.

Miss R. Carey and Mr. C. White were elected members of the Guild and the Rev. W. N. Metcalfe, of Bunney, a vice-president.
The only change amongst the officers was the substitution of Mr. F. Dakin as an auditor in place of Mr. B. M. Buswell, and the election of the latter as Central Council representative and peal secretary in place of the late Mr. Clement Glenn.
A grant of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. was made to St . Mary-le Bow Cheapside, London, out of general funds.

An item on the agenda which resulted in an excellent discussion was the Bishop's Appeal Fund. This fund has been opened by the Fund. This fund has been opened by the Bishop for the restoration of ancient churches and the provision of new churches in the Diocese, and aims at raising $£ 200,000$ over a period of seven years. Many thinking ringers have felt that something should be done by the Guild. but the difficulty has been in deciding what form it should take without cutting across individual parish efforts.

Various novel ideas were put forward and after a full ventilation of opinion it was resolved that during the remaining six years of the appeal the Guild should make a donation towards the restoration of ancient churches out of general funds if, in the opinion of the committee, the financial position warranted it, and that for the year 1956 one half of the surplus for the preceding year ending December 31 st, 1955 , should be donated to the fund, and that in subsequent years the amount should be left to the committee's discretion. This resolution was carried unanimously and was thought to be a practical solution to the problem.

Mr. John Segar explained that he and Mr. P. A. Corby had put forward a motion to the Central Council deploring the frequent misuse of the sumbol $x$ in peal compositions and asking for the position to be clarified. Mr. Segar explained that he had acted as a private individual. Nevertheless his action was endorsed.

A vote of thanks to the Provost and all those who had helped to make the meeting a success was proposed by Mr. Bartlam.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE EDWARDS
The death occurred on Easter Sunday of Ms. George Edwards, for many years the captain of the Penshurst, Kent, ringers.

Mr. Edwards commenced his ringing carees at Chiddingstone over 60 years ago and raug his first peal, Grandsire Triples, on Novembe; 24h, 1894. In the following year he rang in a peal, which was his first as conductor, and the last peal he rang was on November 2nd, 1946, which was in honour of his golden wedding. His peals, which number 103, include 66 of Grandsire Triples, 30 of which he conducted and were rung in 18 towers, 100 of them being rung for the Kent County Association. On May 26th, 1928, he conducted at Penshurst a peai of Grandsire Triples, all the ringers being members of one Lodge of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows, and at Tonbridge on July 16th. 1930, he took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples rung ' non-conducted.

He was well known in the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association and for over 20 years represented the District on the committee. He was present at all the ringing meetings in the District and his chief delight was to help a young beginner through his first sourse or touch.
For many years he sang in the choir at Penshurst and only advancing years and frailty oaused him to give up ringing and choir work.
A loyal member of his band and the Association as well as a good friend to many in the district, Mr. Edwards will be sadly missed by all who knew him.
On April 19th, which would have been his 87th birthday, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in memory of an old friend. Those taking part were: L. Goater 1, R. D. Divall 2, Miss D. Colgate 3, E. J. Ladd (conductor) 4, T. E. Sone 5, W. H. Dobbie 6, B. Collison 7, R. Collins 8 .

MR. GREATHEART

ON May 3rd, Mr. Albert Walker celebrated his 80th birthday, and the event did not pass unnoticed in the City of Birmingham, nor, indeed, in other parts of the country. For Mr. Walker is a national figure in the ringing Exercise, and has a career that is long and remarkable. Here is a life that stretches back almost to the Franco-Prussian War, and a ringing career that links several distinct generations of famous men.

The John Buffery-Harry Bastable generation, men who knew and worked with Henry Johnson, saw the beginnings of Mr. Walker's connection with St. Martin's Church and Guild, and at the present day the notable company of Birmingham ringers still counts him as a live and active participant. Between these extremes come his associations with John Carter, Tom Miller and the circle that gathered round the Cathedral, the magnificent Stedman Cinques bands of the great days of James Groves, Alfred Paddon Smith, Percy Laflin, the kindly warm-hearted George Swann, and many others, and the brilliant handbell bands that included Haynes, Perrins, Pervin, Smallwood, Norman and Morris J. Morris.

There are really fine and exciting things for Mr. Walker to look back upon, and one wonders which of his many splendid experiences stand foremost in his mind. Perhaps it is the general recollection of the great number of cathedrals and twelve-bell towers in which he has rung peals; perhaps it is the thought that he has rung well over five hundred twelve-bell peals; it may be the prodigious feat of five twelve-bell peals in one week, or that supremely brilliant handbell peal of Stedman Cinques, non-conducted, when the pairs of bells to be rung were drawn for just before the peal began. These, and many more performances, spring to the mind, but there are some we forget at this moment, feats that doubtless are quite clear and unforgettable in Mr. Walker's encyclopædic mind. But those who know Mr. Walker may suspect that some of his most pleasant recollections are of the social side of his ringing, of the Henry Johnson Dinner, of jolly outings and ringing trips, of the gathering of the select few round certain tables, of the privileged friends who met to celebrate the golden wedding with two peals of Stedman Cinques and a comprehensive supper.

For the friendly side is the one most apparent in Albert Walker, and it breaks forth at times in sparkling fun and an impishness that might (but for his technical ability and complete control) well appear irresponsible.

As a conductor of Stedman Cinques he is unparalleled, and his resource and invention in this direction are astonishing. A peal on an unusual plan, a novel turning course, a staggering 'Single at 18,' a surprising homing of the bells: to join with him in these simple joys is a bracing experience; and it is clearly the wish of Mr. Walker that all should share his enjoyment and imitate his conductorship.

This vivacity, mental alertness and competence seem to be derived from an outlook that finds the world very full of a number of things, that finds delight in a boxing match, that secures intellectual pleasure from an organ recital or a symphony concert, and spiritual renascence in the Sunday services at St. Martin's Church.

This seems to be the secret that enables Albert Walker to touch the long-past days and at the same time to be in the forefront of modern thought, wise in years and youthful in enterprise. Well may everyone who has known him echo the words of Mr. Standfast to his conductor Mr. Greatheart: 'Since the time I knew you, you have been profitable to me.'
The whole ringing Exercise will congratulate Mr. Walker and his consort on this notable occasion.

THE LADIES' GUILD

A very cold, miserable Saturday was April 14th, when the Sussex Division met at Uckfield (8). About 35 ringers attended. A short service was held during the afternoon. Tea was enjoyed at the Limes Cafe : unfortunately those not notifying could not be accommodated. A short business meeting was held and two new members elected. The next meeting will be at Aldrington, near Hove, on June 30th, subject to the incumbent's permission.
The ringing during the afternoon and evening consisted mainly of rounds and Grandsire Triples for the younger ringers (of whom many were present) and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Double Norwich for the more advanced. with the help of the gentlemen.
Thanks were extended to Mr. Weller for the use of the bells and for arranging teas.

Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society

There was a record attendance at the meeting of the Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society at Snodland on April 14th, Of 29 who were at tea 24 were ringers.
Some good change ringing was accomplished both before and after tea. The service was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Darlington, with Mr. Gammon at the organ, and Snodland chorr leading the singing.
The Society was entertained to tea by Snodland ringers, and the business followed, the Rev. C. E. Darlington presiding. Two new members were elected, and Anthony Lurcock (aged 12) was congratulated on being a promising change ringer.
The next meeting will be at Boughton Monchelsea on July 21 st.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Aston Parish Church on April 7th. The Master (Mr. F. E. Haynes) thanked the Vicar of Aston for the use of the bells, and the Aston ringers for arranging tea. On behalf of the Guild, the Master conveyed congratulations to Mr. H. J. Yardley and Miss Hepenstal, both ringers at Aston, upon their recent engagement.

- The following were elected full ringing memhers: Miss M. Hepenstal, Miss M. Masters and Mr. John Anderson. of Aston, Miss Jean Bennett and Miss Jennifer Bennett, of Handsworth, and Mr. J. W. T. Davis, of Coleshill. The tower election as a life member of Mr. H . David Holland, of Sheffield, was duly ratified.
Coleshill was choser as the venue of the next meeting on July 7th.
An appeal from the Rector of Bow for the installation of a new ring of bells to replace the 12 that were destroyed by enemy action, was placed before the meeting, and it was decided to subscribe the sum of five guineas from the funds of the Guild.
The Master referred to the summer meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths which is to be held in Birmingham on May 5th, and he hoped that all members of the Ancient Society in Birmingham would ensure a successful meeting by giving their support. Much ringing should be heard in Birmingham during that week, as Mr. Albert Walker attains his 80th birthday on May 3rd.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

South Oxon Branch

With the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) in the chair, the annual meeting of the South Oxon Branch was held at Thame on April 21st. Five new members were elected, bringing the total to 105 . The Vicar of Brightwell Baldwin was elected Branch chairman, Mr. H. Badger' secretary, and Mr. F. Absolom Ringing Master.
The secretary in his report said that although progress had been made in several towers, there was still apathy on the part of some members to attend Branch meetings. The outstanding event of the year had been the addition of two trebles at Warborough, making seven rings of eight in the Branch.

The service was conducted by the Master of the Guild and the address given by the Rev. C. N. Middleton-Evans (Vicar). The Branch secretary was organist and singing was led by a voluntary choir from the ringers. Wives of local ringers served an excellent tea.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Farnham District

'A valuable and most enjoyable meeting,' was the verdict of the Farnham District's meeting at Seale on April 7th. Ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor, under the leadership of Mr. D. McPhearson, assistant Ringing Master. The ringers' service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. A. Gardiner), was most inspiring.
A generous tea was served by local ladies, and Mr. C. W. Denyer presided at the business meeting. when plans for ringing during the coming Diocesan Mission were discussed.

The 'Johns' have rung their first name peal of Surprise Maximus. This took place at St. John-the-Baptist's, Croydon, on April 21 st . Mr. John Thomas, who rang the third, took part in the other 'John' peal on 12 bells, one of Stedman Cinques, rung more than 40 years ago.
A Branch secretary raises an interesting question: 'What are the qualifications for a candidate for the Central Council?'
Mr . Bryan Pattison desires, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to thank all the ringers in the Birmingham and Shrewsbury area for their kindness during his short stay at R.A.F., Bridgnorth.

Blaydon, Co. Durham, this Easter celebrated the 80th anniversary of its ring of bells. It had been hoped to ring a commemoration peal on April 16th. but the band was one short, so a quarter peal of Doubles was rung instead.
Mr. Wilfred G. Saunders becomes the first ringer to "circle, his own tower at New Buckenham, Norfolk. This pleasant-toned ring was cast by William Dobson, Downham, Norfolk, 'in commemoration of peace, 1814,' and to date eleven peals on the bells are recorded. After very many attempts since the war, thic first peal of Stedman Triples on the bells was rung at Martock on April 14th. Three local ringers were in the band. The peal was for the 50th birthday of Mr. W. G. Tuck, who made the arrangements and afterwards entertained the ringers to an excellent meal.
The Rev. G. Waterson, Vicar of Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey, where the first peal has just been rung, will be very pleased to welcome any ringers at any time either for a peal or for Sunday ringing. The bells, recently augmented and rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, are a very handy and pleasant ring of five, the lightest in the country.

On the occaston of the visit of Her Majesty the Queen to Bristol and North GOSSIP Somerset, the Naisea order that all members of the tower should should be attempted instead of a peal attempt, which was first contemplated One member of the band was unable to attend so her place was taken by a ringer from Backwell, who has regularly attended the Nailsea practices. The resultant two quarter peals, recorded elsewhere, included two 'firsts ' and two 'first inside.'
After the recent peal of Doubles was rung at Collingbourne Kingston, Wilts, the ringers taking part were the guests at tea of the local ringers at the residence of Mr. E. Taplin, their captain.
The letter of Mr. N. Chaddock regarding the peals of the late Mr. Ben Knights (page 251) should read: 'Ben kept no complete personal record of his peals after 1925.' The omission of the negative is regretted.
St. Michael's, Aldbourne, ringers have lost a sincere friend by the departure of the Rev. R. H. Gitting, who has been Vicar for eight years, on his acceptance of the living of Studley, near Trowbridge. Mr. Gitting was at one time chairman of the Marlborough Branch. In the belfry on April 15 th the ringers personally thanked him for all he had done in the interests of ringing.
After 41 years' continuous service as an officer of the Kent Association, Mr. F. M. Mitchell resigned as hon. treasurer, owing to illhealth, at the annual general meeting on Easter Monday. He was first elected as Rochester District representative on the committee in 1915, and has also served as District secretary and general hon. secretary and treasurer. He also represented the county on the Central Council for 21 years.

CLERICAL RINGING WEEK IN DERBYSHIRE

EIGHTEEN members of the Clerical Guild joined in the annual tour from Monday, April 9th, to Friday, April 13th, in Derbyshire, with headquarters at the High Tor Guest House, Matlock, where Mr. and Mrs. Grant made us extremely comfortable. Most of the party assembled at Derby on the Monday, visiting St. Andrew's ( 10 , tenor 18 cwt .) after tea, where they were welcomed by the Vicar, Rev. Martin Pierce, and Mr. Geo. Freebrey, and attended Evensong. After dinner at the Clarendon Hotel a pleasant hour was spent on the fine-toned ten at All Saints' Cathedral (tenor 19 cwt .), where Mr. Ronald Bullen, of Darley Dale, and several of the Cathedral band met us. Grandsire and Stedman Caters and some Cambridge Major were rung.

Tuesday began with our customary corporate Communion at St. Giles', Matlock, the Vicar being the celebrant and, as it was the transferred Feast of the Annunciation, the congregation was enlarged by members of the Mothers' Union. Prayers for the Guild were included. Following breakfast, the coach was boarded for the hilly run to Ashover ( 8, tenor 18 cwt .), where the bells are rung from the ground floor. Here the Vicar, Rev. P. H. Fleming, and his lady churchwarden, Miss Bassett, welcomed us, afterwards entertaining us to coffee at the historical Crispin Inn. We were shown interesting monuments to the Babington family in the church.

Then on to All Saints', Chesterfield (10, tenor 25 cwt.), with its famous crooked spire. In the short time allowed for ringing we made the most of these good going bells, joined by Mr. S. Scattergood, ringing Caters, Plain Bob and Kent Royal. At the next tawer, St. Mary's, Bolsover, renowned for John Flint and his band ycars ago, the cight (tenor 14 cwt .) were enjoyed from the ground floor in various methods. The Vicar, Rev. W. Speakman, kindly presented us with copies of his guide book to the church, and drew our attention to a tombstone outside bearing the following inscription to a watchmaker:

- Here lies in a horizontal position The outside case of Thomas Hinde Clock and watchmaker Who departed this life Wound up in hope of being taken in hand by his Maker
And being thoroughly cleaned Repaired and kept going In the world to come.'
Pienic lunch was taken here, some of the more adventurous spirits climbing to enjoy theirs at Bolsover Castle, restored after 1613. Roads 'liable to subsidence' were negotiated without mishap to St. John Baptist, Staveley 18. tenor 18 cwt.). This church possesses an east window containing every colour imaginable, designed by a York artist. At SS. Peter and Paul, Eckington ( 8 , tenor 16 cwt ), the assistant priest, Rev. S. R. Kenyon, was awaiting the party. This, we learnt, was the native place of one of our members, Rev. Gordon Graham, whose motor cycle enabled him to join in much of the week's ringing when he could slip away from parochial affairs. After tea at the White Hart Inn the coach brought us to St. John Baptist, Dronfield (8, tenor 12 cwt .), where we found a chancel of cathedral-like proportions and an unusual east window. Back for dinner at headquarters and then to Matlock tower (8, tenor 14 cwt .)-proving for some rather elusive in darkness and rain. Double Norwich, Cambridge and Oxford Bob Triples satisfied us here, the small ringing chamber being uncomfortablv srowded.

DUFFIELD AT DUFFIELD

Wednesday began with a short journey to St. Mary's, Wirksworth ( 8 , tenor 14 cwt .). A practice course or two of Duffield Major was put in here in anticipation of the late Sir A. $P$. Heywood's tower, St. Alkmund, Duffield ( 10 , tenor 17 cwt .). There some good Caters and Royal were rung, but we had to be content with Duffield Major, though Royal might have been ventured.

At Heanor, the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, whose father was Vicar there for 13 years, most generously entertained us all to luncheon at the Market Hotel, including Mr. A. Elliott, a stalwart of the local band, deputising for the Vicar, who had to be away. St. Lawrence's eight (tenor 13 cwt .) were made good use of before lunch. Considerably fortified by the latter we next tacked the rough going eight (tenor 13 cwt.) at St. Martin's, Alfreton ; then on to All Saints', Ripley ( 8 , tenor $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), where the fine bells were left rather reluctantly at tea time.

The final tower of the day was Pentrich, one of five bells (tenor 11 cwt.). Here the Vicar, Rev. E. J. Lewis, kindly allowed the members to sing Evensong, conducted by our Precentor, Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, assisted by the president, Canon C. Carew Cox. Cassocks being non-existent the officiating clergy did their best in the way of camouflage, and fulsome surplices helped! The Rev. N. G. Coleridge performed powerfully on the organ-a hand-blown instrument which reduced the energies of our secretary, Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, to the point of exhaustion.

At the annual business meeting in the cevening all the officers were unanimously re-elected, with the addition of Rev. Ll. Edwards as a vice-president. Various centres for next year's tour were discussed, and the vote went in favour of Dorset, possibly touching the Somerset border. Much to be regretted was the absence of our members from the Winchester Diocese who, under obedience to their Bishop, were chained there in conference.

On Thursday morning a peal attempt for Oxford T.B. Major at Darley Dale (tenor $15 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) came early to grief. A unique feature in St. Helen's churchyard is a yew tree reputed to be over two thousand years old. Moving on to St. Anne's, Baslow (6, tenor $7 \pm$ cwt.), attention became divided between ringing and studying one of the dials of the church clock, the hours being marked by 'VICTORIA 1897 ' instead of the usual figules. Stopping next at Edensor, a model village on the edge of the Chatsworth estate, a long flight of steps led up to the Church of St. Peter ( 6 , tenor 13 cwt .). It contained interesting memorials, both to a former vicar who held the benefice for 52 years and to the Cavendish family. Chatsworth House and gardens, the principal seat of the Duke of Devonshire, and one of the 'stately homes of England,' provided a pleasant spot for our luncheon interval.

THE CATHEDRAL OF THE PEAK

From there a diversion was made so as to pass through Eyam, well known as the 'Plague" village. Then on to St. John Baptist, Tideswell ( 8 , tenor 13 cwt .), the Cathedral of the Peak, where Superlative was added to other methods. For some freak performances Wormhill had been included in the programme. Here we found the lightest six in existence (tenor $1 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), which very nearly defeated us, and stays were more of a handicap than otherwise. Bakewell (All Saints', 8, tenor 17 cwt .) was reached in time for tea, generously provided for us by the Rev. Gordon Graham, the assistant priest here. Perhaps that is why we were able to bring round a respectable course of London Major afterwards. All Saints', Youlgreave (8, tenor $26 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), the sccond heaviest eight in Derbyshire, gave us a final 45 minutes of much enjoyment; and so home to Matlock for a quiet evening.

Friday morning saw the gradual dispersal of our party, and on the way south visits were paid to St. Michael's, Crich ( 8 , tenor 12 cwt ), a delightful ring. The Vicar, Rev. J. W. Brown, himself learning the art and joining us in some rounds, turned out to be a former neighbour of one of our members, Rev. A. S. Roberts, in Cornwall. A short time was spent at St. Mary's, Denby ( 6, tenor 9 cwt .) ; then the six at St . Clement's. Horsley (tenor 12 cwt .), provided a lovely finish. There a tablet in the ringing chamber recorded that 'During the year 1915 there was rung in this steeple for Divine service 35.520 changes in the following methods: Grandsire. Manchester and Antelope,' with the names of the ringers below. Horsley only had five bells at that time. With a parting blessing from the Vicar, Rev. T. H. Miller, all then went their several ways.
We should like to place on record the excellent condition of the ropes in all the towers visited : the welcome received from the incumbents and their local ringers; our thanks also to Mr. and Mrs. Grant at High Tor Guest House ; to Mr. Jack Haynes, our coach driver, of the Silver Services; to all, too, who contributed to making our visit so pleasant in somewhat cheerless weather; and finally, to our hon. secretary for his splendid organisation of a really grand week.

Cumberlands Have Joint Meeting With Kent Association

A very successful combined quarterly meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and Tonbridge District. K.C.A., was held at Westerham on April 7ih. Ringing during the afternoon took place on the fine octave at St. Mary's Church, a large gathering of members and friends of both Societies being present.

A very enjoyable service, at which the organist. Mr. J. H. Smart, and members of his choir were present, was conducted by Rev. P. P. Kirwin (Vicar). Tea at the Kings Arms Hotel followed. At the two business meetings, Mr. H. E. Audsley. Master of the S.R.C.Y., took the chair for both meetings. The matter of the Bow Bells appeal was on the agenda for each meeting. It was decided by K.C.A. members that towers should be circulated with a view to obtaining the opinions of members on action to be taken by the Tonbridge District. For the Cumberlands. Mr. T. H. Francis proposed that the matter be left over until the annual general meeting. when he would propose that the Society grant a sum of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. The hope was expressed that members would be allowed to ring on the restored bells.

The following new members of the S.R.C.Y. were elected: Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth, Preston Candover: D. Reed, Newport, I.O.W.; P. Brown, Bexley; and E. Brunger, Tunbridge Wells.
The Society's next quarterly meeting would be at Great Baddow and Chelmsford on July 7th and the annual dinner on October 6th at the Old Bell. Holborn. and members were asked to support the function.

Finally, the Master of the Cumberlands proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all those who had helped to make the meeting such a success. This was the first time a combined meeting with the K.C.A. had been held, and he hoped it would not be the last. He thanked the K.C.A. members for welcoming the Society and also the local tower secretary, Miss M. Cosgrove, for her assistance.

MR. ERNEST MORRIS' 1,600 PEALS

MELTON MOWBRAY RINGERS IN NORTH NOTTS

W
E have already published the peal report of Mr. Ernest Morris's 1,600th peal, which was rung on April 3rd. Now 66 years of age, Mr. Morris, if his health holds out, has every chance of surpassing the totals of W. Pye, 1,969, and G. R. Pye, 1,876 .

By passing the record of Mr. Frank Bennett (82), of Brighton, Mr. Morris has more peals to his credit than any other living ringer. It was on August 6th, 1906, at St. Andrew's, Grimsby, that he rang his first peal, and by the rate he is now ringing his 50th year as a peal ringer will be a record one.

Probably no man has written more for journals and magazines and by books to enable the public to take an interest in and understand something about bells and ringing, than the verget of St. Margaret's Church, Leicester. From a ringer's point of view his 'History and Art of Change Ringing' is his greatest contribution; a second edition bringing the history up-to-date would, indeed, be welcome, but the high costs of publication today prevent such a venture.
His 1,600 peals contain many that are of special interest. Of the 645 he has conducted are the longest lengths for the Midland Counties Association of 6,600 Doubles, 7,200 and 10,080 Minor; twice 7,008 and 13,440 Bob Major and another of 9,760 with 400 Singles. He also conducted 10,912 Kent Treble Bob, 7,840 Oxford Treble Bob, the record for Little Bob $(6,720)$, Little Canterbury ( 6,720 ), Spliced Treble Bob (Ilkeston), 9,120 and (Worcester) 9,600.

Among the peals he has taken part in are 7,008 and 12,896 record of Cambridge Surprise Major ; 12,663 Stedman Cinques at Oxford Cathedral; 9,344 and 10,976 Bristol Surprise Major ; the peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark Cathedral by twelve secretaries; Cambridge Surprise Maximus on the old Bow Bells; Stedman Caters on the old ten at Manchester Town Hall called by the late James W. Washhrook and a pcal of Cambridge Maximus on the new twelve.

He conducted the quickest tower-bell peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor in 1 hour 50 minutes, also the only 'Ernest ' peal of Major, and took part in peals with four sets of brothers, four fathers and sons, also five fathers and sons.

TO PEAL CONDUCTORS

Since 'The Ringing World' was established in 1911 the following order for incidentals has been adopted for foot-notes:-

* First note when reading the list of ringers. $\dagger$ Second note. $\ddagger$ Third note. § Fourth note. If this method were adopted the Editor would be saved hours of work in the course of a month. Peals should be written out in the style they are to appear. Mistakes through omission would then be avoided.

MR. ERNEST MORRIS

Efficiently arranged by Mr. F. J. Williams, the former District chairman, who now lives at Blyth, the Melton Mowbray District outing in North Nottinghamshire on Easter Monday was a very happy day.
A great privilege and experience was to ring at Southwell Minster from a gallery round an open well in the central tower. At Warsop. where the church has been skilfully shorn up as a protection against mining subsidence, Mr. Rooke and his collcagues met the party. Simitar precautions had been taken at Cuckney.

After lunch at the Red Hart Hotel, Blyth, some rang on the pleasant six at West Retford and others on the ten at St. Swithun's, East Retford. Mr. John Segar supplied various visitors with figures and problems of a technical nature and delight all with his skill in 'tapping.' Permission was obtained by Mr. Williams for a visit to the beautiful grounds of Hodstock Priory.

Following tea at the Red Hart Hotel, Evensong was sung at the Church of SS. Mary and Martin. The fine ring of six, restored just before the war, was put to good use until a late hour when the visitors joined the rush of Bank Holdday traffic for the journey home. The thanks of the District were expressed at tea to Mr. Williams for yet one more debt for services rendered, by Mr. Harry Cook, the new District chairman.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S EASTER TOUR

FoOR the second year running, the Society visited the Midlands for its annual tour, which this year embraced North Staffordshire with bits of Cheshire and Shropshire. About 20 members participated, although some were unable to be present for the whole tour. Stoke-on-Trent was the headquarters, and we were accommodated in two hotels, the resident members living in the Clifton Hotel, while the rest, supposedly more opulent, were in the more exclusive Metropole.
Members arrived over the Easter weekend, and Sunjay was spent visiting one or two local towers and ringing for services at the parish church of Stoke-on-Trent.
On Monday morning we set off by motor coach and our first stop was Rugeley, a light six in an interesting church. Suitably fortified by a good lunch we prepared for the highlight of the day, Lichfield Cathedral. Mr. F. A. Sedgwick, of the Cathedral band, gave a very interesting account of the history of the bells. Proceeding to the tower we were given a very warm welcome by the Dean of Lichfield, and soon these very fine bells were going to Grandsire and Stedman Caters. Almost as noteworthy was our next tower, Hoare Cross, where our heavy bell ringers had a chance to prove their mettle.
Ringing began on Tuesday at Barlaston, the only 5 -bell tower on the tour, and after ringing we were very kindly provided with tea and cakes by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Freeman). From here we journeyed to Stone and then to Stafford. After lunch we moved on to Broughton, a very good eight. where we were met by the Vicar (the Rev. W. D. Morgan) and Mr. A. Lawton. Here we had a short ring, leaving a band of experts to attempt a peal of London. A somewhat depleted band reached Cheswardine, the next tower; but even so, courses of Cambridge, Yorkshire and Superlative all came round. After tea at Market Drayton we made for the tower, only to be ambushed by the press photographers of a local paper, and the sight of some familiar faces in this the following evening was but poor consolation for the resulting short ring on these fine bells. We collected the peal band on the way home, and were very disappointed to hear that the peal had been lost only two courses from the end.
On Wednesday we visited the Roman Catholic church at Cheadle, and then moved on to the second 6 -bell tower of the tour, Kingsley, where some of our members found that London Minor was not quite the same as London Major. We had a good ring at Leek. where we were joined by Mr. J. Ryder, and Cambridge Royal, Stedman. and the inevitable Grandsire Caters all came round. In the afternoon we visited Macclesfield, St. Michael's, the only 12 on the tour, and then on to Gawsworth. where we had difficulty in striking the bells. The last tower of the day was Norton-le-Moors, with a very good ring of eight recently installed. Here a course of Spliced came round, but Cambridge and Little Bob were not so successful.
On Thursday, the last day of the tour, we travelled north-west to Barthomley, but ringing here was curtailed because of an illness near the church. At Crewe, too, a broken rope shortened ringing time. After lunch some of us set off for Newcastle for a peal attempt, while the rest visited Nantwich, Middlewich and Wolstanton. The peal, Little Bob Royal, was successful and was the Society's first in the method and its 100 th tower-bell peal. Not satisfied with this, six members remained behind to ring another peal, this time one of Minor in four methods.
The Society thanks all incumbents and tower captains concerned for the use of their bells, and Mr. E. H. Edge for his very efficient organisation of the tour.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RINGING FOR THE FLLMS

Dear Sir,-The leading article of 'The Ringing World ' of April $20 t h$ prompts me to write this account of how the Oxford Diocesan Guild helped in the production of the film 'Doublecross.'
On returning home from a peal at Farnham Royal, a collection of 'phone messages and telegrams awaited, asking me to contact a certain film producer in connection with bellringing. This I did. and was asked if I would go to the Beaconsfield Film Studios to teach some actors to ring handbells.

On arriving, I found that the scenes including bell-ringing were to be filmed in three days' time, and that during that time I should not be able to have the four actors concerned together until the actual filming, also each of the actors had about two hours' free time in which to be taught to ring both Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major. This introduced quite a problem into what I thought was going to be a simple task.
To overcome it I taught four film 'extras.' not concerned with the ringing scenes in the film. to ring rounds, and then introduced the actual 'ringers' into the band when and where possible. This explains why the actual ringing as filmed was so poor in quality, since not only had the band not rung together before, but also their sum total of ringing experience amounted to about one hour per person. The sound recording was made later, and to prevent the bells sounding while the action and dialogue were recorded the clapper buffers were bent inwards to stop the clappers striking the soundbows.
The reason why the substitute incident referred to seemed such a success was because the substitute received no ringing instruction other than the method of holding handbells. Whether. therefore, the technical qualities of a ringer having one hour's experience are superior to one having none. I leave to the imagination of those sceing the film.
The sound recording was made by the following: William Butler (Clewer). Derek W. Stone (Old Windsor), Jeffrey C. Birt (Slough) and myself.
This also had its difficulties, since we had not only to ring in the semi-darkness, but watch the film for starting points and clues, to try and change the method after 17 seconds' ringing. explaining the undue speed of the ringing and why 'Go, Plain Bob Major' was called when the treble was in 7ths place.

However. I hope the total effect wasn't too aufful even for a ringer to witness.-Yours faithfully.

BOW BELLS - THEIR RADIUS

Dear Sir,-After reading the letter by Henry J Ranzetta describing the hearing of Bow Bells from the Whittington Stone at the foot of Highgate Hill, I can well believe the story told by some of the inhabitants of the wellknown village at the top of Highgate Hill som. half-mile farther north, of the bells being heard there. It appears the sound of the bells used to come on a light south wind during a calm evening; the distance must be nearly five miles It would be very interesting to hear how far from the City on the south side of the River Thames the hells were ever heard. - Yours faithfully.

ROUNDS IN A PEAL

Dear Sir,-Havjng not seen 'The Ringing World ' for some time previous to this month. I may be unwittingly re-opening a previous discussion, but I am amazed to see on page 249 the item (c) in the Central Council agenda. motions regarding bells striking in rounds during peals.
As the old saying gocs, 'The man who never made a mistake never made anything,' and according to the present rules and usage a mistake in a peal is permitted provided that it is corrected immediately. The very fact, however, that a mistake is made means that some row was rung which was not intended, and it could as easily be a row properly included in ancther place in the composition as not-on seven or fewer bells it must be.
Let us take an example:-
Suppose a peal of Bob Major is teing rungconsisting of a half-peal with bobs only and doubled by singles, and take first a true coniposition with a single at the first lead-end in each half. Suppose that 2 and 3, being taken unawares, accidentally make the first single into a bob but correct themselves immediately, then the row 12357486 will be rung instead of 13257486, and this row occurs (but this time legitimately) at the corresponding place in the second half. If no other mistake is made this peal will be recognised, even though one row has actually occurred twice, because the mistake was corrected immediately.
If this compusition be varied only by putting the singles at halfway and end, suppose it is now attempted in this form and 2 and 3 make the same mistake as before but correct themselves immediately, the halfway row, which should be 13245678 will actually be rung as 12345678, and this row (rounds) legitimately occurs elsewhere in the peal-at the very end.
Now, comparing these two performances, we find that (according to the generally accepted rules of variation) the same composition has been rung, in each case one mistake only has been made, and that by the same two bells under exactly similar circumstances.
The first is clearly a recognisable peal. Messrs. Barnett and Lewis would have the second discredited. Why?
What special significance has rounds other than that it is instantly detected if it occurs in the middle of a touch. whereas some other row would pass unnoticed if duplicated?

There may be some who would say that rounds occurs twicc already, at beginning and end; but if they go into the matter carefully they will find that only one of these (that at the end) is counted in the number of changes which make up the peal.

This motion savours of having one law for the complicated composition and another for the simple, and is most unfair.
I call, therefore, on all rightminded members of the Central Council to weigh this motion carefully, and, when it comes to the division, to have none of it .-Yours faithfully,

> J. V. LONSBROUGH.

Brackley, Northants.

A PEAL IS QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,-With reference to the peal of Plain Bob Minor comprising seven different 720's rung at Folkingham, conducted by Mr. J. H. Musson on April 2nd last, and published in 'The Ringing World' I beg to say I heard the peal in the near vicinity of the church from start to finish, and as the bells only came into rounds siz times in all I consider the peal should be withdrawn.-Yours faithfully,
C. T. H. BRADLEY

CLOSED LEADS AND FAST RINGING
Dear Sir,-In his letter (page 251) on fast ringing, Mr. Price makes two statements with which I disagree.
Closed leads themselves do not make the ringing fast. The rhythm of the bells is what matters, and this can be fast or slow, according to taste and circumstances. The faster the ringing, the shorter is the time between each blow: the slower the ringing, the longer is this lime. A state of good striking is reached when the time beween each blow is the same throughout the change, or, it may be better to say, through two changes, for we do not want, on eight bells, eight slow blows and then eight quick ones, but 16 blows at regular intervals. (I am disregarding the rallentando which some prefer.) If, therefore, a band intends to ring quickly, it closes up or shortens the interval between each blow.
May I call this interval ' $t$ '? Then rounds looks likel this:-1 t2 t 3 t 4 t 5 t 6 t 1 t 2 t 3 t 4 t 5 t 6 tx 1 t 2 t , etc.; ' x ' is the handstroke gap, or open lead, and is, of course, omitted when ringing with closed leads. Doesn't experience show that a band will make the length of ' $t$ ' longer when cartwheeling that when ringing with open leads? Or, in other words, a band will take much the same length of time for a peal whether they ring with open or closed leads. To back this argument 1 can compare the times taken for peals of Minor in Cheshire and the Barnsley area with the times for similar peals in the rest of the country. They are not, on the whole, quicker.
When I have rung with the Barnsley and District Socicty, in which closed leads are the rule, I have noticed that the emphasis is not only on the quick (to the open-lead ringer) handstroke, but also on ringing the backstroke well up. The result is that ' t ' is no longer than when ringing with open leads. The interesting thing is that the standard of striking in the Barnsley District is above the average standard in the country. The call change ringers of Devon and Cornwall also have a higher standard, I believe, and they, too, ring with closed leads.
Whether one rings with closed or open leads is a matter of choice ; there is nothing wrong or right about it. However, if closed-lead ringers have something to teach us in the way of striking we ought to be willing to learn, The question is 'What have they to teach us?
Is it that the handstroke gap ' $x$ ' is one of the chief causes of bad striking because people do not agree on its length, or, through bad bell control, they allow the bell to go up too high? (By catching the sally too low. for instance.) Is it that people fail to pull the handstroke hard enough with the result that the backstroke has to be pulled harder than necessary to keep the bell up? This, in turn, may result in a too slow handstroke.) Or what is it?
Mr. Price also says 'The tapping of the bells was near perfect throughout the peal in spite of the cartwheel rhythm.' Why 'in spite of '? 'Because of ' would surely be just as true.Yours sincerely,

WILFRID F. MORETON.

MORE FILM RINGING

Dear Sir-Anyone wishing to get a laugh at the expense of the film industry would te well rewarded by a visit to "Richard III." He should pay partjcular attemion to the campanological anachronisms with which this film is richly endowed.
The most striking example was the shot of the interior of a belfry, showing the bells swinging in full circle, and ringing some form of Triples, I think. They were celebrating the Coronation of Richard III.-Yours faithfully, PETER BORDER.

BEAUTY AND THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,-I have been reading Miss Kathleen Yeo's letter. I do not agree with everything which the writer of ' Beauty and the Belfry, says, but I should like to ask Miss Yeo why she is so set against milk-bars after a practice. I think they are very nice, and where I come from we quite often go to one afterwards. Sometimes the gentlemen come too, and as for the other kind of bars, I have known ladies asked into them too, and thought none the worse of them for it.

As for tenor ringing, with all respect, and not wishing to offend anyone, the gentlemen in our belfry are in fairly poor health, and it usually means that the ladies are expected to turn in the tenor, and I should not agree with Miss Yeo that in this case the gentlemen should be asked to help with this job.

Also, we do not think that stay-breaking is quite as bad a sin as Miss Yeo seems to think it is, though of course. it should be done as little as possible; but sometimes it cannot be helped. It has happened sometimes with us and of course we ladies always go up and see if we can put the damage straight.

No, where I think the writer of ' Beauty and the Belfry' is wrong is where he says that a ringing boy-friend helps you on. This is only a man's idea. I have done without one, and I shall go on doing so, I hope.-Yours, etc.,

Kent.
G. PARKINSON (Mrs.).

Dear Sir.-Kathleen M. Yeo, of SS. Peter and Paul's. Hellingly, evidently did not trouble to read the whole of the article. While it is evident throughout that the writer is a woman, the last sentence of the fourth paragraph confirms this: 'At this point, the writer pauses uneasily to wonder in which of these classes she belonged.' So, Miss Yeo, do not accuse the men unfairly.

Most of us must have seen many of the types described. and surely we can laugh at ourselves.

As a fairly new comer to the ringing community, and in an area where the men predominate, I should like to take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation. In a long experience of serving my country in mixed units I have nowhere found such universal kindness and helpfulness as amongst my fellow ringers. Thank you, ladies and gentlemen.-Yours faithfully, MARGARET E. WILKINSON.

York Minster.

THE FASCINATION OF RINGING

Recently in the Welsh edition of Women's Hour. Mrs. Mary Buckland, who rings at St. David's Cathedral. gave a talk on the bells of the Cathedral. In reply to the interviewer's question as to how long it took her to learn the art of bell ringing, Mrs. Buckland replied :-
'That's a difficult question: but in about six months I got over the stage of being a danger to myself and other people, and by now I'm pretty steady, and exploring some of the complications. But of course you can't become a highly skilled ringer until you've been at it regularly for years, or even a lifetime; but that's part of the fascination of bell-ringing-you always go on learning.'

EAST DERBYSHIRE & NOTTS

The 8 -bell tower of North Wingield was the venue for the annual meeting of the East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association held, as usual, on Easter Monday, Bells were raised by 2 p.m. and much good ringing ensued till $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., when all assembled for the service, conducted by the lay reader in the absence of the Rector through prolonged illness.

The ladies of the church prepared tea under the direction of the very capable Mrs. W. H. Wain, well known as a ringer, a maker of sumptuous teas and for her lovely mincepies.

At the business meeting the president (Mr. J. W. England) asked the assembly to stand in silence to the memory of those members who, since the last annual meeting, had been called to higher service, viz., M. Slater (South Normanton), Mrs. R. Mason (Shirland), A. Slater (Tibshelf), H. Draycott (Tibshelf) and F. Marshall (Clay Cross).
The secretary, in his report, thanked all members for their loyal support. Twelve meetings had been held with almost a 50 per cent. attendance of ringing members, which was very satisfactory. Looking up records he could find no one year's record to surpass 1955. He appealed to members to try and make, if possible. 1956 a greater success, as the next annual meeting would be the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Association.

The officers were re-elected. The golden jubilee shield, award ed annually for progicss. was won for the second year in succession by the Swanwick band.

An invitation was received from the Vicar, churchwardens and Parochial Church Council of Clay Cross for the Association to hold its 70th jubilee meeting at the founder church and was accepted unanimously.

Almost 100 members and ringers attended from towers near and far. A fitting end to a very successful year.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting held at Cawthorne on April 14th was well attended. After ringing in the afternoon the tea and meeting were held in the adjoining Parish Room.

It was regretted that the secretary, Mr. Dan Smith, was absent owing to illness, and Mr. H. Chant deputised during his absence.

Two unusual features, worthy of special mention, took place:-
(i) The tea, which was provided free of charge by the local company, proved to be so lavishly provisioned that in spite of commendable efforts by the assembled company, defeat was eventually admitted and mountains of food still remained on the tables.
(ii) A local inhabitant arrived, after tes, witn a tape-recording apparatus. It turned out that, unbeknown to the local ringers, he had made a recording of a touch rung for Sunday service a few weeks previous. This was duly played back and ringing, of which any winning contest team would be rightly proud, delighted the ears of all present. No wonder the people of Cawthorne are proud of their ringers!

After the meeting further ringing followed, when attempts were made, unsuccessfully, to emulate the high standard of the local band's striking.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Sir Arthur Heywood's Memory

THE annual meeting of the Derbyshire Association was held at Derby on April 7th The bells at Alvaston were available during the morning and at the Cathedral and St. Peter's during the afternoon. A rehearsal for a broadcast service at the Cathedral made it necessary to cancel the customary service and evening ringing, but after the meeting ringing continued at St. Peter's. Tea was taken at Diocesan House, and approximately 50 members and friends were present for the business meeting which followed.
The president was unable to be present and the chair was taken by Mr. W. Lancaster, the vice-president. The retiring officers were reelected as follows: President, the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes: vice-president, Mr. W. Lancaster; treasurer, Mr. J. B. Stennitt; trustee, Mr. M. Taylor.

The annual reports of the general secretary, peal secretary and treasurer were confirmed and the officers were thanked for their work in this connection. It was revealed that, in the Derby District particularly, there was a marked increase in the interest taken by younger members. There had been a slight falling off in the number of peals scored for the Association but the variety of methods and the number of peals recorded by new members was an encouraging feature. The financial statement was satisfactory but special efforts would be needed to maintain the position in future. The new Association badges were available and members expressed pleasurc with the design. The appeal for Bow Eells was discussed at some length and after some opposition it was finally decided to donate $£ 5$ from the Bell Repair Fund. Special collections would be taken in the Districts to cover the amount subscribed.
It was reported that the annual dinner held in February was again a great social success, and thanks were accorded to the sub-committee responsible for the arrangements. Members felt that future annual dinners should be held in October or November, and this would be considered by the committec. A resolution to arrange future dinners in honour of the memory of Sir Arthur Heywood was unanimously approved.
There was some discussion about a resolution to appoint additional Association officers to be responsible for advising on the condition of bells and fittings at towers in the Association in order to comply with Central Council rules. It was felt that suitably qualified persons were not available in the Association, but it was agreed that all members should watch the position and ask the general secretary to communicate with incumbents where it was considered that attention was necessary.
Thanks were accorded to all who had been concerned with the arrangements for the meeting and ringing, and to Mr. Harold Taylor for providing tea.

Ilfracombe magistrates granted an hour's extension from 3 to 4 p.m. to the Chichester Arms on the occasion of the annual festival of bellringers on May 5th. 'I had no idea they were such thirsty men,' said Mr. F. C. Reed (chairman).

OBITUARY

MR. J. W. JONES

On Saturday, April 21st, the death occurred at Newport of Mr. John William Jones, late secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, a post he held for 46 years, resigning in 1945. His death has severed one of the last links with early days of the Association; he was undoubtedly the greatest pioneer of change ringing in South Wales.
Born at Tidenham, Glos, on December 5th, 1865, he came to Caerleon with his parents at the age of four. He began his ringing career in 1888 , being taught by Mr. Evan Davies, a schoolmaster at Caerleon. He rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Caerleon on January 12th, 1889. When the bells of All Saints', Newport, were dedicated in May, 1902, he was appointed leader and held that office until about 1950 when he retired.

During his 46 years as secretary of the Association he carried out his duties with vigour and enthusiasm, and many towers in the district can thank him for their carly instruction; he must have travelled many hundreds of miles in doing this service.

For many years he was a member of the Central Council and was at the time of his resignation the oldest member. A friendly man, he was loved by all who came in contact with him.
Mr . Jones was a great traveller and visited most parts of Great Britain, ringing in nearly 700 towers. He rang over 500 peals, mostly in the standard methods.

As a boy he joined the Great Western Railway at Newport, and was a storekeeper in the engineering department at Newport.
In his younger days he was a very good cricketer and played for Monmouthshire in the Minor Counties Championship. For many years he saw every England-Australia test match in this country.

Although he had been confined to his room for three years he remained very cheerful, and was looked after by one of his three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, and her husband.
