THE GUIDE

THE second edition of Ronald H. Dove's 'A Bellringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Britain' has made its welcome appearance. The original Guide was an instantaneous success, and but for difficulties in the printing industry a second edition would have been in the hands of the waiting public many months ago. It is very significant of the change and, generally speaking, advancement that over 2,000 amendments to the original Guide were necessary. Some are of necessity corrections to the original work, which arise through the light of publication, but augmentations and recastings are constantly occurring. The new Guide includes many improvements, among them being a stronger and better finished binding, a necessity for many perhaps with a well-thumbed book

A comparison since the last Guide was published in 1950 is of interest. In England there were 5,226 rings of bells; the number has now been reduced to 5,208 . This total is made up of 55 rings of 12 (against 54 in 1950), 160 rings of ten (158), one ring of nine (All Saints', Basingstoke), 1,523 rings of eight ( 1,482 ), one ring of seven (Goldhanger, Essex), 2,488 rings of six $(2,484)$, and 980 rings of five ( 1,048 ). In Wales and Monmouth there is a decrease of one to 168 , the respective figures being 12 bells one (1), ten bells four (4), eight bells 58 (61), six bells 84 (85), and five bells 21 (18). Scotland has one new eight for ringing, at Dunblane, Perth, where the eight were previously chimed, and totals 13. In Ireland there are 33 rings-a new 10 at St. Mark's, Dundela, Belfast. Thus the total for the British Isles is 12 bells 57 (56), ten bells 174 (171), nine bells 1 , eight bells $1,607(1,568)$, seven bells 1 , six bells $2,580(2,577)$, and five bells 1,002 ( 1,067 ); total 5,422 $(5,439)$.

As regards rings of 12 , Liverpool has been enriched by the 12 in the Cathedral and the recasting of St . Nicholas', with a tenor weighing 41 cwt .3 cwt .15 lb . St. Giles', Cripplegate, is a replacement and Evesham is added to the list. The loss has been at Christ Church, West Bromwich, where four unsatisfactory trebles have been scrapped. There have been some noteworthy changes among the rings of 10 . There are two new rings at New Westminster, B.C., and at Belfast, and augmentations by two trebles at Stradbroke and Marsden. The ten in the former Church of All Hallows, Lombard Street, have now a home at Twickenham. (They were originally at St . Dionis', Fenchurch Street.) The former Church of St. Michael, Gloucester, has been deconsecrated, but the bells have not been removed, although they are not allowed to be rung.

Sherborne's claim of having the heaviest eight (tenor 46 cwt.) is still undisputed. Ullenhall, Warwicks, is now regarded as having the lightest eight with a tenor of not more than three cwt. Among the sixes the pride of place is Queen Camel, Somerset (tenor 36 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb.), but the lightest is now at Home Farm, Balscote, Oxon, with a tenor of 134 lb . Peterborough Cathedral with a tenor of approximately 30 cwt . has the heaviest five. These bells have not been rung for about 40 years, although Mr. Dove is inclined to question the justification of this decision. Next in order are East Pennard, Somerset, and Isleham, Cambs. For light bells the order appears to be Foots Cray ( $3 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), Advent, Cornwall ( $3 \mathrm{cwt}$.2 qr .24 lb .) and Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey ( 3 cwt .3 qr. 11 lb .).

Interesting new features in the second Guide are ' PostWar Losses of Ringing Bells' and 'Transfers of Ringing Peals.' There have been ten post-war losses, but only at St. Helen's, Worcester, and Shenstone, Staffs, were the bells in ringing order. Two incidents recorded are to be deeply deplored. At Perlethorpe, Notts, five of the six bells have been sold and a gramophone installation provided. The other instance comes from West Lulworth, Dorset. Because of proximity of an artillery range a new tower was necessary. The tower designed by a diocesan architect was not only too weak to carry ringing bells, but too small to house even a chime. Only two bells were kept for use in connection with the clock.

The foreword to the second edition has been written by Group Capt. T. V. Lister, of Apperley, Glos. 'It is invaluable,' he writes, 'to organisers of ringers' outings; to ringers whose daily avocations involve travelling, and to every ringer who requires an easy book of reference.' Your editor regards Mr. Ronald H. Dove's work as indispensable, and no one could say a warmer 'Thank you' to him. He wore out three copies of the first edition with almost daily consultations! Mr. Dove certainly deserves some form of recognition from the Central Council, and we trust that the second edition will meet with a rapid sale.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Wellingborough Branch

A successful quarterly meeting was held at Bozeat on April 21st. A company of 80 was present at tea, which included Miss E. Steele, of Biddenham, Bedford, and visitors from the Northampton and Kettering Branches. The Vicar of Bozeat-with-Easton Maudit (the Rev. W. C. Knight) gave a very interesting address during the Guild service. The Guild Bell Restoration Fund collection amounted to $£ 2$.
During the business proceedings the members stood in silence in memory of Mrs. H. Linnell, Wilby, for 30 years an honorary member, and Mr . C. Payne, for many years leader of the Irchester belfry.
Five new ringing members from Bozeat were elected. Higham Ferrers was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, and one guinea was voted to the Bow Bells appeal.
Bozeat. Easton Maudit and Yardley Hastings bells were open for ringing during the afternoon and evening.
A. $B$.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

An enjoyable meeting of the North Norfolk Branch was held at Aylsham on April 21st. Ringing included Stedman Triples, Plain Royal and, of course, Bristol Major.
The service was conducted by the Rev. C W. Martyn, who welcomed the ringers to his church. At the business meeting, following a most enjoyable tea, Mr. A. G. Bason presided.
It was decided to hold an interim meeting at Heydon on June 9th, subject to permission. The meeting on July 14th will be at Coltishall and not as Mattishall, as stated.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Melton Mowbray District

Buckminster is a village in a wood. The houses and village street are surrounded by trees and the Parish Church is in a lovely setting at the far end of the village green, with yew trees in the churchyard. The tower, crowned with a spire, is unusually situated in the south aisle, and the pleasant ring of six is rung from the ground floor with the ringers standing in the open church. A very successful meeting of the District took place on April 28th

Canon H. V. Williams, the Vicar of Buckminster, has recently had a serious operation and had not returned to the parish. Members were sad to learn that, in addition to his indisposition, the Vicar had sustained a great sorrow in the sudden death of his daughter, who leaves a young family. At the business meeting the District secretary, Mrs. P. A. Corby, was instructed to write to Canon Williams to express the condolences of the Guild. The Rev. G. H. Salaman conducted the service.
At the business meeting members were reminded of the Central Council visit to Leicester at Whitsun, and were invited to apply to the District secretary for tickets for the dance and social (free to members and friends) that is to take place at the Bell Hotel, Lejcester, on Whit Tuesday evening. The joint meeting with the Nottingham Branch of the Southwell Guild was suggested for June 9th.
For the next district meeting at Great Dalby on May 26th, the District secretary is to do her best to arrange a bus from Waltham and Melton.
Mr. Simpkin, leader of the local band, was re-elected to the Guild and the hope was expressed that the new band of ringers he is training would shortly become members.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The Southern District meeting at Oxted on April 21 st attracted a good attendance and one of the surprises of the ringing, supervised by the District Ringing Master, Mr. A. P. Cannon, was a boy of 12 years of age ringing Surprise methods and calling other touches with great efficiency.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Hawkes conducted the sarvice in the absence of the Vicar through indisposition, and in his address recalled many of his past associations with tells and ringing.

Ten new members were elected and a collection for the Bow Bells Fund raised 15s. The presentation to Mr. C. T. Champion, the recent District secretary, on his marriage, was to be made at Burstow on May 12th.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The Halesworth District meeting at Wrentham on April 21 st was attended by about 35 members and visitors from Essex and Norfolk.

The weather was kind and allowed the west doors to be opened, and ringing took place in the warm sunlight. The accent was on youth. Time was found to suit all tastes from rounds to Surprise Minor.
The service was conducted by the curate, who made all welcome, and apologised for the unavoidable absence of the Rector. An excellent tea was served to all at The Pantry. Five new members were elected from Beccles and Southwold. The next meeting, it is hoped, will be held at Southwold on July 14th.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Soham on April 28 th was the first known peal of Royal on the bells since November 23rd, 1821, when the Society of Soham Youths rang a peal of New Treble Bob Royal.
The Rev. F. LI. Edwards, Rector of Kington Magna since 1908, is resigning the living as from July 25th.

Miss Barbara Mizchell has been lucky in four peals from four attempts in her three weeks' leave from the Middle East.

Determination of Devon friends of Mr . and Mrs. Norman Mallett won in the end. The peal at St. David's, Exeter, on April 20th, in honour of their wedding, was the third attempt.
Dr. Neil Smith, of London, was an unexpected but nevertheless welcome visitor to the annual meeting of the Irish Association at Dublin on April 28th.
'Tower snatching may be fun but it is not really very good manners.'-The Rev. M. B. St. L. Hurst-Bannister, Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

The Bishop of Lancaster, missioner at Wal-ton-on-Thames for the Guildford Diocesan Mission, visited the belfry and thanked each ringer personally for his services. The bells were rung for each service during the week.

After a long absence from the peal and quarter peal columns, Brixworth, Northants, recorded a quarter peal on April 14th, in which three of the local band took part in their first attempt.
Three Grammar School boys from Grantham cycled to Silk Willoughby and rang a peal of Plain Bob Minor on April 18th. "The striking was perfect all the time,' reports the conductor, Mr. J. H. Musson.

GOSSIP

An amusing story is in minent Yorkshire peal ringers. It appears that south of the Yorkshire border a band was attempting a peal, and throughout the ringing the conductor was making heartrending appeals such as 'Don't make such wide leads ; fill in the gaps in the middle and don't keep missing dodges behind.' At the conclusion of the peal the Vicar came in, shook hands all round and expressed his regret that one of the clappers sent away to be repaired the previous week had not yet been returned! One wonders if outside listeners were able to ascertain whether the methods was 8 ths place or 2 nds place at the lead-ends.

Ringing at Swefling, Suffolk (6), has been stopped as the builders who carried out a $£ 1,000$ repair on the tower claim damage is bejng caused to the new work.

An order has been given to Messrs. John Taylor and Co. to commence work on Theberton bells. It is hoped to have the bells back in the tower during the year.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mr. George Bunyan, of Pirton, Herts. A stalwart of the band for many years, his willingness to teach the youngsters and his cheerful disposition will be sadly missed in the belfry.
Reporting on the peal at Pershore Abbey, Mr. Frank C. Price writes that the quality of this peal was 100 per cent., being witnessed by Mr. W. H. Coles. The bells were by general opinion probably the best tone of their age and weight anywhere.

The passing of Mrs. E. M. Savage, of East Budleigh, Devon, is regretted by many friends in the West Country. Although a non-ringer she was keenly interested in ringing and was never happier than when 'doing the rounds" with or entertaining a ringing party.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Standard methods were rung at the annual meeting, of the Bicester Deanery Branch on the very fine ejght at Kirtlington on April 28 th.

The Branch president (the Rev. A. F. Gatehouse) presided at the business meeting, when the secretary (Mr. C. H. Kinch) stated that on the whole Sunday service ringing was well maintained and the accounts showed an increased balance of $£ 72 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d . from $£ 315 \mathrm{~s}$.

The president was re-elected as were the Rev. J. Elkerton and Mr. F. Sharpe vice-presidents, and Mr. Kinch hon, secretary. The sum of $£^{2}$ 2s. was donated to the Bow Bells Restoralion Fund.

In an address the Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) mentioned the appeal for 2 s . per bell from each parish towards the Guild's Restoration Fund. The donations from the Parochial Councils had enabled increased grants to be made.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rev. L. A. Gutch for conducting the service and his address, to Mrs. L. Kirkland for ber "ringers' tea," the organist and the hon. secretary.

JOINT MEETING AT BURTON-ON-TRENT

A joint meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Staftord, Midland Counties Guild and Shropshire Association was held at Burton-on-Trent on April 14th, and proved most enjoyable and successful. With five towers available for ringing. the meeting attracted an attendance of 102 . The towers in question were All Saints'. St. Modwen's and St. Paul's, at Burton-on-Trent, Winshill and Rolleston-onDove, all of which were put to good use.

The service was held at St. Paul's, where the Vicar, Rev. W. Willis Price, gave the address. A sumptuous tea was served in St. Paul's Institute by a willing band of lady helpers. After the meal. Mr. W. Curzon. of the Midland Counties Guild. thanked Rev. W. Willis Price for his inspiring address, and Mr. B. G. Key and his helpers and the ladies for the excellent arrangements.

Although not officially taking part, a number of North Staffordshire Association members, including the secretary, Mr. E. H. Edge, were present.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The sprightly Mr. T. Reginald Dennis has just rung his first peal of London Surprise at the age of 72 .

The ringer of the 2 nd in the peal at Apsley End on April 3rd, 1956 ('Ringing World,' page 245), was Frederick J. Plummer and not as printed.

Forty ringers and friends from Northampton and District visited Wolverton, Stony Stratford, Whaddon, Bletchley, Fenny Stratford, Woburn, Husborne Crawley and Wavendon for their Easter Monday outing. Thanks are due to those who met the party at the various towers.

His friends in St. David's Diocese and elsewhere regret to learn that Mr. R. Scudamore, of Llandilo, will be unable to ring for some weeks. 'Hurry up Ralph, and get better. The Diocese needs your services,' write some of his old pals.

On April 24th, on the recommendation of 'The Church Times,' Mr. Ronald Hamilton, of the Canadian Broadcasting Company, took a tape recording of the bells of St. Martin's Church, Chelsfield, Kent, and interviewed some of the ringers. The recording is to be used in a programme featuring people and places.

Willesborough (Kent) has lost, temporarily, one of its most promising younger ringersDavid Staples - who has gone to Formby (Lancs) to start his National Service. He will be missed, too, by his many other friends in the parish, as he was a keen and willing worker in other activities of his church. We feel sure he will soon make friends in his new surroundings and be a welcome visitor at nearby towers.

It was a big disappointment to the band which rang the peal of Dunmow Surprise Maior on the Queen's birthday that Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen was prevented by a bad cold from being in the band. He had taken part in two practice quarters in the method and also in a previous peal attempt, lasting nearly three hours, in which he rang faultlessly. Mr. Walter Arnold, who stood in his place at very short notice. had never struck a blow of Dunmow before he rang in the peal.
The 50 years' service rendered by Mr. Arthur Windsor to Kidsgrove, Staffordshire, was recognised not only by a peal on the bells, but by the ringers and church officials being entertained to tea at the Vicarage. Presentations followed-a barometer and a cheque from the church. The Vicar (the Rev. W. Yates), in thanking Mr. Windsor for his services, hoped that his example of service would be followed by the younger members of the tower. Mr. Windsor suitably replicd and added that the peal had been a great pleasure to listen to.

A WALTHAMSTOW WEDDING

Two ringers attached to St. Mary's Church, Walthamstow, Miss Sonia Coles, daughter of Mr. C. T. W. Coles and granddaughter of the late Mr. C. T. Coles, for many years hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association, and Mr. Alan Shepherd, a student at Cambridge University, were married at the Methodist Church, Highams Park, on April 28th. The ceremony was attended by many friends and relatives and several members of the St. Mary's, Walthamstow, Society of Ringers.

Unfortunately as there were several weddings at St. Mary's that day it was impossible to ring the bells at the time of the wedding. but on Sunday, April 29th, the St. Mary's ringers rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples before the morning service and attempted a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters before the evening service. The writer also rang at the wedding of the bride's grandparents at St. George s-in-the-East.

PILTON BELLS  REDEDICATED

Among the large congregation that assembled at Pilton Parish Church on April 21st for the rededication of the church bells by the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells (the Rt. Rev. W. H. Bradfield) were ringers representative of a large number of towers scattered over a wide area of the Diocese.

Before the service began a recording of the retuned bells was made. Later in the afternoon when the ringers were having tea at the Vicarage, this recording, together with one made before the bells were taken away in January, were replayed to show the remarkable and distinctive improvement.

The following ringers, all of Pilton, rang when the recording of the bells was made: Messrs. R. Harris 1, T. Harris 2 S . Atwell 3 , R. Talbot 4, E. Lambert (captain) 5, Rev. L. M. Hurst-Bannister (Vicar) 6.

Mr. W. Theobald officially represented Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, London.
During the service the lesson was read by Mr. Roger O. Fry, the general secretary of the Diocesan Association.

COSTLY PIECE OF WORK

The Bishop. in his address, referred to the costly piece of work that had been undertaken by the parish in getting the bells retuned, and he praised the parishioners that there had Ecen no lack of response. It had rapidly become possible to put this work in hand and now the parishioners could rightly rejoice for the completion of this task. During the time the bells had been in the process of being retuned and recast the people of Pilton had been without them in the common life of the parish, and he recalled how much the people of Britain had missed the sound of church bells during the grim years of the war.
The Bishop said that change ringing in the Church of England had become a unique art; it was unique to this country and was known nowhere else in the world.
The right use of the bells depends upon those who are called to ring them Sunday by Sunday and at other times as occasion shall require. Let it not be thought for one moment.' the Bishop declared, 'that bell ringing is a bit of healthy exercise for those who like that kind of thing, although that kind of impression is abroad. That may well be due to the fact that some bell ringers have not brought to their task that degree of consecration and witness that is expected from all those who are called to the service of the Church. The laity have a part to play in the Church as vell as the ordained minister, and it is not enough merely to ring bells to call people to worship and then walk away from that very worship to which they are summoning people. Bell ringing is very much a part of the ministry of the laity as serving at the altar of God, and a good bell ringer ought always to be a good churchman.
-The Diocesan Association of Bell Ringers, of which your Vicar is the Master, is trying to ensure that those who are called to the active service are themselves consecrated men and women, who are finding their fellowship not only in their art of bell ringing but also in their fellowship of worship.

TWOFOLD PURPOSE

The Bishop said that the purpose of church bells was twofold. Their first purpose was to summon the congregation into the fellowship of worship in their parish church. This summons was an individual summons for the simple reason that men and women are unique individuals and therefore each has his own part and place in the worship of the Church. If one person was to withhold his worship the whole worship of the Church and the fellowship of the whole Christian family is thereby weakened.

Secondly, whenever the bells are rung, on a Sunday, or at any other time. we must remember the Lord our God and that we are His children. The message the bells proclaim is that the Christian faith and practice in the Christian life are the one essential in the spiritual extension of the congregation and the whole community. The bells call you to lift up your hearts to Him whose love we share. Let it not be thought that it is merely a case of playing a musical tune. The whole point is the bells call us to Him and tell us to remember Him at that moment. It is a loss to us all when their special significance is overlooked and forgotten.'
During the singing of the last hymn a collection was taken for the Church Bell Appeal and amounted to £16, bringing the total of the Appeal to $£ 475$. Another $£ 45$ is now needed to complete the Appeal. Donations are most welcome and should be sent to the Vicar, or to the Treasurer of the Appeal, Mr. R. Kennard Davis, On the Hill, Pilton, Shepton Mallet, Somerset.

WEST WICKHAM, KENT

The story behind the rehanging of the ring of six at St. John-the-Baptist's, West Wickham, Kent, is one of purposeful endeavour and enterprise. The bells (tenor about 13 cwt .) needed rehanging and the fifth had to be recast. The resident band, under their leader, Mr. Arthur Richards, tackled the work of dismantling and rehanging and now have a tuneful ring, which, we understand, go like the proverbial tops.
Not only did the ringers do all the work (except the recasting) but they have contributed a sum of $£ 110$ towards the cost. This money represents their ringing fees for weddings, etc.) over a number of years, which they carefully saved up until the work could be tackled.

West Wickham ringers are to be congratulated on such an outstanding effort, and we wish them all possible enioyment in ringing their bells.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Canon H. S. Stephenson

The retirement of Canon H. S. Stephenson last September was noted in "The Ringing World and marked by a peal of Grandsire Triples on the bells of St. Mary's, Gateshead, on his last day as Rector there-an office he had held since 1914. The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association decided at the time to make a presentation to him but for various reasons, principally the Canon's inability to travel any great distance, this was delayed until the Western District met on April 21st at Whickham.
At the conclusion of the ordinary business the president (Mr. Richard A. Gofton) made the presentation to Canon Stephenson. He recalled that Canon Stephenson was the immedjate past president and was probably the only man to hold the office of president who was not a practical ringer. That alons demonstrated the esteem in which he was held by ringers, and his friendship had extended over a great many years. It was the hope of all that Canon Stephenson would be spared for many years to enjoy the retirement he had so richly earned. The presentation was a finely-illustrated volume on 'English Cathedrals,' beautifully inscribed by Mr. J. Brewster, as follows: 'Presented to their friend of many years standing, Canon H. S. Stephenson. on his retirement, by the members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association of Change Ringers. April, 1956.'

Canon Stephenson acknowledged the gift and said that it was a very happy coincidence that the Association's area covered the only two dioceses in which he had served, despite his long ministry. He would value that book in his now greatly reduced library and he hoped that the good work of the Association would be continued.

Mr. C. McGuiness voiced the thanks of the meeting to Mr. Stephen Thompson, who had taken the chair. All present were delighted to see him again after his indisposition and wished him well for the future.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ROUNDS ACCIDENTALLY IN A PEAL ATTEMPT
Dear Sir.-On Agendum 10 (c) at the next Central Council meeting members will be asked to agree that no peal should be recognised (presumably by the Council) in which rounds occur accidentally,' 'for any reason,' in the course of the peal. The following situation may, therefore, occur. In a peal ending with three bobs at Home, and Mr. P. Bear conducting, the first bob at Home is called and the fourth hesitates to run in. Not being a bear of enormous brain, the conductor wastes his efforts shouting at the fourth, but in spite of this 12345678 comes up, however badly struck, and, though followed by the correct row 41326587 , no peal is admitted. In a similar peal, with Mr . Wol conduoting, the same trouble occurs, but Mr. Wol, being much wiser and having foreseen such difficulty, is ringing the tenor, and instead of trying to put the fourth right he puts all his encrgy into heaving on his backstroke, and just manages to get it in before the 7th, thereby producing the row 12345687 . In doing so he creates a horrible noise-much more so than does Mr. P. B., but since 12345687 is not counted as rounds his peal is 'recognised,' provided, of course, he corrects the mistake "immediately.

It is almost impossible to explain why two wrongs should make a right and one would think. sir, that there must be something illogical in a rule which allows such a situation to occur. It is to be hoped that, by amendment or even by more positive means, members will ensure that such a rule is not added to the Council's Rules and Decisions.-Yours faithfully,

Arrington.
W. J. RIDGMAN.

PROPOSED AUSTRALIAN TOUR

Dear Sir,-I regret to inform the ringers interested in the proposed tour of Australia that owing to the lack of support it will now have to be abandoned, for this year at least. I should be pleased to arrange it for another year if anyone is interested. This would give some an opportunity to save up for it.
I was much encouraged in the first place by letters from ringers who had returned from Australia, one of wham suggested that if I anly got five willing to make the trip it should be made. I still feel, however, that a band of eight would be the minimum required to make the trip. I take this opportunity of thanking those who have interested themselves in the project. and thank them for their letters.Yours faithfully,
J. L. GARNER HAYWARD.

LINCOLN TIPS

Dear Sir,-I am not in the habit of sticking my neck out, but as no one with the exception of J. R. Mayne has made an attempt at clearing the question up. I may be able to at least move in that direction.

Although Rochester Surprise Major was claimed by A . Craven, the first peal in the method was rung at Leiston as the product of G. Lindoff. I would like to say that I agree entirely, on what Mr. Mayne says about 'Ripon ' and 'Norton.' ' Lincoln,' the method rung at Helmingham on February 14th, 1935, was produced by G. Lindoff.

New London. one of the four methods published by A. Craven on August 22 nd, 1924, was claimed by Mr. G. Baker as 'Bellthorpe,' putlished on October 5th, 1921; Mr. Craven withdrew his claim on September Sth, 1924. However, I have no knowledge of how. why or when the name was shortened to "Thorpe.' Sincerely yours,
E. W. TIPLER.

Lutterworth.

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE BELLS
Dear Sir,-As two possible future homes for the Imperial Institute's bells, in the event of the wanton destruction of this building, have already been proposed, may I suggest yet another possibility.
These bells, known as the Alexandra Ring, were presented to Queen Victoria to be hung in the campanile of the Imperial Institute and rung on royal birthdays and other State occasions. All the bells bear the names of members of the Royal Family of that time, and to transfer them to any church tower would seem most improper.
Should Her Majesty deem that they be transferred to Windsor Castle, would they not be heard to better advantage in the town if hung on top of the Round Tower? Also, the historic ring in the Curfew Tower could then remain undisturbed.
If the bells are to remain in London, the Victoria Tower of the Palace of Westminster would seem a very fitting place for them. This tower has recently been strengthened after being encased in scaffolding for years. If the Alexandra Ring was hung in this tower, it would not lose its identity and could be rung on the same days as at present, and also for the State opening of Parliament.-Yours faithfully,

> London, W.3.

ALAN J. BLAIR

CLOSED SHOP

Dear Sir,-Mr. William Stote's letter in the issue of April 27th makes very interesting reading, perhaps more so to me than many.
He states that the bells of St. Paul's, Imperial Institute and Westminster Abbey are not the playthings of the Exercise, whatever that may mean, and goes on to say that tradition demands they be manned by safe ringers and good strikers; he would have us believe that they are only a 'closed shop' to poor strikers and stay-basners.

I have no first-hand experience of the first two above named towers, but as far as the Abbey bells are concerned they are a "closed shop'-I repeat, a "closed shop"-whatever Mr. Stote would have us believe otherwise, whether you are a stay-basher, a good ringer or a ringer of the highest order.

It is a rule of the Abbey authorities (I have this in writing) that no ringer whatsoever shall ring the Abbey bells other than the eight official ringers appointed by the Dean and Chapter, and that only in the case of illness or other unforeseen circumstances shall one of the ringers be replaced by an official deputy; deputies are limited to about six in number. Furthermore, no person shall enter the ringing chamber except by special permission of the Abbey authorities.

I am well aware that all these rules are made by the Dean, etc., but those closcly interested are in agreement.
Please don't let anyone write and say that the Abbey is a special place, that it is not in the Diocese of Westminster but is under the jurisdiction of the reigning sovereign. I am fully aware of this, but it is still a place where God is worshipped, and I am certain that God does not recognise any part of His house as a closed shop.
Mr. Stote says 'tradition demands'; I am quite sure that even rounds rung ty a so-called 'stoney band 'to the true glory of God is far more acceptable to Him than Spliced Surprise Major rung for the self-glorification of those concerned. whether it be abbey or village church.-Yours truly,

MAURICE J. LOCKEY.
Maulden.

NO RIGHT TO RING ANYWHERE
Dear Sir ,-In my opinion, Mr. Birmingham's letter of April 13th is an example of biased and extremely exaggerated wishful thinking. The bells of the Imperial Institute were given by Mrs. E. Millar, of Melbourne, Australia, to the President of the Institute, Edward VII, when he was Prince of Wales, to be rung on royal occasions. If they are the property of the Queen then they are not her personal property, but only her property in her capacity as Queen. They are secular bells, and the bells at Windsor Castle are rung on religious as well as royal occasions. If the Institute bells have to be moved I certainly hope they will stay in Westminster, as now. Surely there is a sccular tower somewhere in Westminster that could hold them. How about the Houses of Parliament? In any case it would be discourteous not to consult the Australian Embassy about their removal. Perhaps they could be hung in Australia House?

He must be the only person to hold the opinion that the Curfew beils are tuneless. They might sound rough when a few visiting learners start splashing around, but get a band on them that knows how to ring and you will have to go a long way to hear anything grander. Personally, I do not think that the Institute bells are better than the Curfew bells. The only difference lies in the extra weight.

His allegation of a 'closed shop ' in London is completely unjustified. Certainly a decent standard of ringing is insisted upon at the Institute, but if a ringer can ring on that weight and can ring Stedman Caters, he will be made welcome and allowed to ring. He will be told what bell to ring, but surely that always happens where a visitor's capabilities are not known to the locals. Village choirs might be invited to sing in cathedrals, but too many learners have been given the impression by their instructors that they have a right to ring where and what they like. This is absolutely wrong. And it is wrong for Mr. Birmingham to suggest that ringers, experienced or otherwise, have a right to ring anywhere. No one has the right to ring at any tower. The incumbent is in sole charge of a ring of bells, although in general he grants the locals the right to ring on their own bells more or less when they wish, in exchange for regular and decent service ringing. In far too many places the ringers don't stick to the bargain and ring Surprise on practice night and Doubles on Sunday sometimes. I hope he does not think he has the right to ring at Stanwell, although as in nearly every tower he is always welcome to ring.
There is absolutely no closed shop in London. Certainly the College Youths insist on a high standard from visiting ringers, and rightly so. for they have a high standard and without them there would be no decent regular service ringing on the heavier and higher numbered rings in London. No other Society or Association is capable of it, and without them the number of keyboards in the city would increase tre-mendously.-Yours sincerely.

Stanwell.

'BEASTS OF THE BELFRY'

Dear Sir,-I cannot understand how Miss K M. Yeo failed to appreciate the witticism of the article 'Beauty and the Belfry." which I feel sure was written by a woman. I thoroughly enjoyed it as a light, amusing piece of literature. and 1 am sure other ringers will agree with me.
No one. not even the 'Beasts of the Belfry (male ringers), could take it seriously, as they know only too well that. nowadays. many bands could not function without the so-called ' Beauties."-Yours faithfully.
Worthing.

LETTERS-Continued

'THE HUNTRESS ${ }^{\prime}$

Dear Sir,-I thought that 'D. R. C.' 's article 'Beauty and the Belfry' was one of the wittiest and most amusing articles I have read for a good while.

I don't know about women getting pushed into ringing by so-called friends, but it is certainly a fact that many of them take up ringing to please their husbands-I have known several such cases.

Like 'D. R. C., I aiso wondered which category I came into-I have met examples of each of the types that she describes.

I wonder if Miss Yeo has met the 'Huntress.' She erupts into the belfry full of enthusiasm. She is to be met with at all meetings and practices, and before long is peal ringing busily. Her enthusiasm is as boundless as her energy and her leisure appears to be infinite. Her rjnging career is short and brilliant and terminates triumphantly with her marriage to the most eligible male in the distriot and she is never seen in the belfry again. Worse still, she often keeps her husband away, also. assure Miss Yeo that she is to be met with occasionally, along with the others in -D. R. C.'s' article.

Anyhow, how about an article about the male types?-Yours faithfully,

JESSIE M. KIPPIN.

THE BELLS OF DROITWICH

Dear Sir,-I remember reading with interest the article of the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead on the bells of Worcestershire, and, in particuar, his reference to two Droitwich churches. The particular 'Ringing World "in which his article appeared I have passed to another member of our band so I can only reply from memory.
Droitwich originally possessed two churches. The Parish Church of St. Andrew, which had eight bells, with a tenor about 21 cwt ., had the tower lowered sometime in the 1920's, and seven of the bells lie dormant in the base of the tower. I am not in possession of any record of peals that may have been rung on these bells orior to dismantling.

There is a Church of St. Peter de Witton, which had its bells augmented from three to six in memory of parishioners killed in the 1914-18 war. The tower is at present unsafe and ringing is not allowed, but a few peals have been rung on thesc bells at different times. The period during which I have knowledge is from April 29th, 1928, when one peal of Doubles was rumg by the local band, to September 5th, 1936, eight peals (five of which were Doubles). Since the war one peal was rung for the Coronation of Her Majesty.

There is another church, once in a parish adjoining Droitwich, but now in the borough, the Church of St. Augustine, Dodderhill, with the finest ring of eight bells in the Midlands. I wonder if this was one of the two churches to which Mr. Felstead refers. The bells here were all of the old six run out, and a new set of eight cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1932. Because of the great demand for these bells peals have been restricted, but the following are some of which I have record, but I may have missed some:-
First peal on the bells, April 2nd, 1933; total from then until the ban numbered eight. Since the ban was lifted up to July 11 th, 1953 , the total was 19.

Though these bells are rung more or less regularly for two services on Sunday and practice on Tuesday. we are still not strong enough for local peal ringing, and many thanks are due to Mr. J. Lindon, of Birmingham. and his friend, Miss Yeld, for continued visits to assist at practice.-Yours faithfully.
W. H. RAXTER.

BOW BELLS AND THEIR RINGERS

Dear Sir,-Surely not, when Bow Bells are restored, are we going to witness a controversy as to who shall ring them accordjing to whether they subscribed to the Bell Fund or not. Let us hope that the same conditions will prevail as before the last war, when practices were held and, occasionally, Association meetings. As P. H. Whitaker remarks, we do not want any unnecessary restrictions to invade our ringing rooms.

In most towers visitors are made very welcome and, providing they behave in a manner expected of them, they are usually given an invitation to come again.

The Exercise can be looked upon as a brotherhood, and rightly so, as it brings people together not only for the purpose of ringing bells but also enables them to know each other better. When we realise where we meet, for what purpose we use our energies, the instruments we use and to whom they are dedicated, the Exercise becomes a brotherhood in every sense of the word. Silly differences should never be tolerated. - Yours faithfully,

RICHARD NEWMAN.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

 ASSOCIATION
Chew Deanery Branch

The quarterly meeting was held at Portishead on April 21st and was attended by 39 ringers representing 18 different towers.

Ringing was followed by the Association form of service conducted by the Rev. J. M. Burroughs.

Some amusement was caused during tea in the Church Hall (also used as a school room) by the seemingly unintelligible "writings on the wall,' which, it turned out, was the modern way of teaching children to read and write. Perhaps one of our ringing-schoolmastering friends could give us a little "Technical TittleTattle on this subject.

Before the business meeting those present stood in silence to the memory of George Yeo, of Long Ashton, who had passed away since the last meeting. Two new members each from Backwell, Portishead and Publow and one from Nailsea were elected. Subject to permission being given, it was decided to hold meetings 98 follows:-Weston-in-Gordiano, May; Chew Stoke or Publow, June; and Long Ashton (quarterly) in July. In connection with the practice meetings it was resolved that in future these should be from 5 to 8 p.m.

The secretary said that he had received some literature in connection with the Bow Bells appeal and stated that the Association general committee had suggested that each tower should be left to decide whether or not to support the appeal and should pass any contributions to him before the committec meeting on June 30th, when the total amount for the Association would be sent to the fund.

CORPORATE COMMUNION

Despite the loss of an hour during the night the fine octave at Wraxall was pulled up in peal soon after seven o'clock the next morning, when members rang for and attended the Parish Communion, when the celebrant was the Reotor (Prebendary W. N. Kempe). Breakfast was afterwards enjoyed in the library adjoining the church. and we are very much indebted to the Wraxall ringers and their ladies for providing such a fine fecd. Ringing was resumed until morning service.

OBITUARY  MR. CHARLES WHITING

The sudden death of Mr. Charles Whiting occurred at his home at Leiston on March 5th. Born at Theberton in 1874, Mr. Whiting was first employed as a carpenter at Leiston. In 1896 he joined the Army and served in the Royal Engineers until 1903, the last three years being spent at Hong Kong. When the first world war came he rejoined the R.E.S in 1914 and was in the Dardanelles landing in 1915 when he was seriously wounded.

At the age of 82 years, when called to higher scrvice. Mr. Whiting had been associated with hell ringing for about 62 years, and was a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, with 12 peals to his credit. On the formation of the Suffolk Guild he became a founder member, with whom he rang ten peals, making a total of 22. In 1951 he rang the second to a quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob Major for his 77th birthday. As can be seen he was not a great peal ringer but enjoyed ringing for Sunday services.
The funcral took place on March 10th, with many of his ringing friends present, after which the bells of St. Margaret's, Leiston, were rung half-muffled in his honour.

MR. J. W. JONES

Among the many towers in South Wales who remembered the passing of Mr. J. W. Jones was Pentre, Rhondda. Mr. Jones rang in the first peal on the bells in 1901, and in all rang seven peals at Pentre. The bells were zung half-muffled to Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob as a mark of respect. Those ringing included Mr. G. N. Leech, of Dudley.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCLETY

The annual meeting of the Society was held at Armley on April 28th, and members representing 14 towers in the District were present. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening in methods ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise.
The business meeting was held in the Church Hall immediately after tea. Officers for the year were elected as follows:-President, Mr. H. Lofthouse; vice-presidents, Messrs. S. H. Barron, I. Slack and T. W. Strangeway; Ringing Master, Mr. J. Gibson; secretary and ireasurer, Mr. J. F. Hodson: auditors, Messrs. F. Rayment and C. F. Sutcliffe.

The secretary, in his report, stated that 11 meetings had been held and that both the membership and funds of the Society had increased during the past year. He particularly thanked all tower secretaries and local companies for their arrangtments for the meetings

Other business included the election of two members; the alteration of two items on the mewer list for 1956-57-for the June meeting, read Sherburn instead of Hunslet, and for the meeting next March, Hunslet instead of Armley; and votes of thanks to the local company and their helpers, the Vicar and churchwardens and the retiring officers of the Society
The next meeting will be held at Guiseley on May 26th.

Rushden Ringers in Bedfordshire

A coacl?-load of ringers from Rushden and neighbouring towers had an enjoyable half-day's outting in Bedfordshire. Ringing took place at Sharnbrook. Felmersham (a recently augmented nctave which was much admired). Harrold, Turvey, Biddenham and St. Paul's, Bedford where some of the younger members had their lirst ring on ten).

RINGERS' OUTING

ROSS-ON-WYE AND BRIDSTOW

On April 3rd a small party of enthusiasts from Ross and Bridstow spent an enjoyable day 'tower-grabbing' around the HerefordshireWorcestershire border.
First on the list were the pleasant six ( 16 cwt .) at Bosbury, Herefordshire, where the tower is detached from the main body of the church. Next came Mathon $(6,9)$ which, by a coincidence, proved to be the 100 th tower for two different members of the band. This double event was duly honoured by the first touch of Cambridge for the day. A move was made towards Cradley ( 6,13 ), the last Herefordshire tower on the programme. Here the long draught proved rather troublesome. An additional distraction was provided by the juvenile population of the village, at least half of whom-drawn by the sound of the bells-wandered into the church and surveyed the visitors curiously through the spaces in the wooden screen which divided the vestry from the nave.
After a picnic lunch the band proceeded to Leigh (Worcs), which possesses a heavier ring of six (tenor $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). This church has the unusual dedication of St. Edburgha.
The anti-clockwise ring at Kempscy ( 6,193 ) was next, and this was voted the best six of the day. Proceeding via what was signposted as a "deep ford' we arrived, slightly damp, at Earl's Croome. The occupants of the car came off best at the ford-the motor cycle stopped dead in the middle of it. and the unfortunate rider had to kick off again in about a foot of water! The light Earl's Croome bells $(6,9)$ were a pleasant contrast to the two previous heavy rings, their description as 'ladies' bells' being proved by both the girls gravitating towards the back end, one of them turning in the tenor to a touch of Minor. It was here that the first course of Killamarsh by all the band was rung.

Through the kindness of the local ringers who met us after tea at Upton-on-Severn, we had enough to ring Triples and Major on this lovely eight (tenor 14 cwt .). The one and only mishap of the tour occurred here: the rope of the sixth broke during the last touch.
The final tower of the day was Ripple ( 6,13 ), another nice ring; but owing to the number of blisters and sore hands that the band by then possessed, their visit here was slightly curtailed, and everyone soon made for home, well pleased with their day's outing

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge conducted the service and acted as organist when the MidDevon Branch met at Townstal, Dartmouth, on April 28th. The Vicar (the Rev. T. G. D. Watkins) gave an admirable address.
At the business meeting, with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair, five new members from Townstal and one from Torquay were elected. Wishes for a speedy recovery from his recent accident are to be sent to the general secretary and also a letter of sympathy to Mr. C. F. Austin, Paignton, on the death of his wife. Subject to confirmation, June 16 th was suggested for the ioint meeting with the S.W. Branch at Plymouth, and July 21st for the next quarterly meeting at Bovey Tracey. Ringing took place afterwards at Stoke Fleming.

TIT-FOR-TAT

IT was a nice morning in the middle of May, 1905, when young Bill was enjoying a three-mile walk towards the lovely church of St. Saviour, Arklow, Ireland, where for some years the famous James W. Washbrook was verger and steeplekeeper. Being a little early for the peal attempt, Bill was a little surprised to see Washbrook busy in his garden as he passed nearby, and he concluded that his task was nearly done; therefore he went on his way to the tower to meet the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the Rev. Cyril Jenkyn, both from the Oxford Guild, and Mr. C. Cleveland Ellis, from Edinburgh, who had come to Ireland chiefly for the purpose of seeing Washbrook ring two bells to a peal. When Washbrook first performed this feat most ringers were sceptical and many asserted it was impossible, but young Bill was able to disabuse the minds of many ringers in England because he was in the band when Washbrook rang 3-4 and called the first peal of Bob Major in Ireland on December 27th, 1904.

For some unknown reason Washbrook failed to appear at the appointed time, so, at the request of the Rev. F. E. Robinson, young Bill went to find him and he soon spotted him still at work in his garden. 'How about the peal, Jim?' asked Bill, and to his surprise Washbrook replied: 'What peal?' Yes, he had forgotten, so Bill waited while a hurried change of garments was made, and soon they set off to join the waiting party at the tower. Then came a shock when F. E. R. told Washbrook to ring 3-4 for a peal of Stedman Triples, and though the latter protested at the very short notice he had been given, the Vicar of Drayton briefly explained the object of the visit, viz.: actually to see two bells rung in a peal.
The Rev. F. E. Robinson regarded one of the ringers with a little apprehension and asked his age, which was given as 12, but knowing the name of the lad was James W. Washbrook, jun., he seemed satisfied. In the early stages of the peal the Rev. F. E. R. watched the 3-4 ropes very carefully, for this was something out of the ordinary in ringing, a new idea for the peal ringer and Sunday service ringer; but the parson conductor soon realised that Washbrook was making his task look easy; in fact he handled his bells perfectly and was never in any difficulty. After the peal had finished. arrangements were made for another peal in two days' time, and as Washbrook walked towards his home in company with young Bill, he said:
' I have something saved up for the old gent for our next peal; tit-for-tat, you know.' Questions on the plan to surprise the Rev. F. E. R. only ended in mystery so Bill had to be content until Thursday, but was enjoined to 'watch the parson's face sometimes.'

On the Thursday a party of eight assembled in the tower for Stedman Triples, and Washbrook was the first to take a rope, the 7th, whereupon the Rev. Robinson, considerably surprised on account of being in the habit of ringing the 7th and calling his favourite variation of Thurstans' Four-part, bluntly remarked: 'Where do I ring then?', to to which Washbrook replied: 'The 6th, sir.'

Reluctantly, the Rev. F. E. R. took the 6th rope, and off wo went in fine style, but it soon became evident that the peal composition was quite different from Thurstans', and this caused the 6 th ringer to wear a worried look, probably because he was out of his element, was not ringing his usual 7th, was not conducting, and did not know the composition. At times he would hesitate slightly, a most unusual thing for the famous parson to do, but Washbrook was always alert and watchful even though it was a complex composition being rung for the first time. When the peal was finished, the Rev. Robinson asked the reason why such an unusual composition was chosen, and Washbrook's reply was: 'This is the first peal of Stedman Triples to be rung with all the 6-7's at backstroke.'

In the Rev. F. E. Robinson's book, Among the Bells, these two peals are briefly recorded, and though 51 years have elapsed, there is still one who can recall the events in more detail-the one named 'Bill' in this article but who was always called 'Will' by Jim Washbrook.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

AN IDEA

WITH printing costs getting steeper and steeper, various Associations are searching for economies. Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association have just published their handbook, which contains the list of members. Under each tower a space is left so that additional names can be added as new members join. The printing order also covers the estimated number of new members for the next five years to enable those joining to receive a handbook. By this means the cost of the report is spread over five years.

COLLEGE YOUTHS

WILST enthusiastic footballers were busy leaving Birmingham to visit Wembley for the Cup Final, other enthusiasts were equally busy making a journey in the opposite direction. These were the London contingent of the Ancient Society, and on arrival ai Birmingham a warm welcome was awaiting them, for the Master of the St. Martin's Guild and Mr. Albert Walker, with several other prominent Birmingham ringers, were at the station.
Whether the opportunity of ringing on three rings of 12 plus one of eight in one city or the certainty of receiving such a warm welcome was the attraction, the fact remains that a large number of College Youths gathered in the famous Midland city and full opportunity was taken to enjoy the facilities provided. Members came from many Midland districts including Oxford, Northampton, Shrewsbury, Gloucester, Norwich, Evesham and Coventry and also from Yeovil and Cowbridge.
Ringing took place at the Cathedral, St. Martin's and Aston and also at St. Chad's (R.C.) Cathedral, and a meat tea was provided in the city, followed by the business meeting, presided over by the Master, Squadron Leader John S. Mason. Mr. F. E. Haynes first expressed the satisfaction Midland College Youths felt that it had been decided to come to Birmingham for this meeting, and whilst he had heard that the bells in that city had been described in some quarters as drawing room jobs,' he was at somewhat of a loss to find a suitable description for some of the London fings (laughter). He hoped that the result of this gathering would be to cement further the friendly relations which had existed so long between the two cities. Mr. Albert Walker also welcomed the visitors, and mentioned that he was elected to the Ancient Society in 1896.

AT BIRMINGHAM

The Master suitably acknowledged the welcome and said all present would desire to join in congratulating Mr. Walker on attaining his 80th birthday, and trusted he would be with them for many more years.

It was pointed out that Mr. Walker's membershup certificate was one of the lithographed copies, and the meeting decided that one of the original etching certificates by Bartolozzi (now in use) should be presented to him as a memento of his 80th birthday. Details will be copied from the old certificate. Mr. Walker also was presented with a copy of the latest edition of the Rule Book.
The secretary, Mr. A. B. Peck, reported that the appeal on behalf of Bow Bells was making steady progress, and reminded members that individual donations were still required if the sum it was desired to contribute was to be reached.
Several new members were elected and a pleasant social hour terminated the proceedings. Certainly the party returning to London were in much happier mood than were the party returning from the Cup Final to Birmingham!

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A cycling party who attended the Northern District meeting at Anstey on April 28th rang in the morning at Wallington, Sandon and Barkway. At the business meeting hearty votes of thanks were given to the Vicar (the Rev. A. B. Lea), the organist (Mrs. Fox) and the ladies who provided the free tea. Surfleet Surprise was chosen as the special method for the next meeting at Walkern on May 26th.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Southern District

The April meeting of the Southern District was held at the Church of All Saints, Hur-worth-on-Tees-a beautiful South Durham village, with the church bordering the River Tees. Beside the tower can be seen the memorial to William Emerson, who lived through most of the 18 th century, an F.R.S. and an eminent mathematician, though very eccentric.
The ringing was curtailed owing to illness near the tower and was limited to short touches of Bob Minor, Grandsire Doubles, St. Clement's. Kent and Cambridge.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. Piper) and the lesson was rung by the young Hurworth ringer, Peter Holland.
An excellent tea was provided by the ringers' wives, and they were ably thanked. The vicepresident commented on the great progress made by the local ringers in the past three years.

Within the octave of his 80,h birthday Mr. Albert BELFRY Walker rang three 12-bell peals for three different Societies. The peal on his birthday (May 3rd) rung for the Ancient Society of College Youths was conducted by Albert himself. It was a worthy celebration of a great ringer.

Congratulations to Mr. Frederick C. Southgate, who rang his first peal in his own tower at Ardleigh, Essex, at the age of 64.
The portrait of Mr. Ernest Morris has been hung in the campanological museum in the Mitchell tower of Chicago University.
Ringing at Wonersh, Surrey, has been suspended until further notice owing to a cracked gudgeon.
In our front page article of April 22nd Provost Michael Clarke is inadventently described as Provost Michael Parker.
In recognition of his services over 32 years to the Norwich Diocesan Association Mr. Nolan Golden has been elected a vice-president of the Association.
One of Devon's famous beauty spots, Cockington Village, Torquay, was the venue for six members of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild on Saturday, May 5th, when they rang a peal of Plain Bob Minor on the bells, the first of Minor on these bells. There were three 'firsts' in the band, whilst another reached his half a century.
Dr. D. J. Neal Smith, of Twickenham, writes expressing his gratitude to all the ringers in Ircland who gave him such a welcome during his short visit. Not only did he meet most of the officials of the Irish Association and was able to ring with them but he was given the opportunity of ringing in six towers and taking part in a quarter peal attempt.

GOSSIP

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, of Solihull, had something unique for his 500th peal on May 7th. It was rung in the same place (St. Alphege's Church, Solihull) in the same method (Grandsire Doubles "in hand") and with the same band as his first peal 38 years ago. Neither Messrs. Harry nor Charles Bragg had rung a peal (or even thought of starting for one) for well over 30 years.
The College Youths have received invitations to visit Yeovil and Cambridge.
The peal of Stedman Triples at All Saints'. Leicester, on April 14th, was duplicated in two issues of 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. John A. Martin, of Horsell, now in the R.A.F., thanks all ringers in the Wilmslow area for their kindness to him during his stay at R.A.F., Wilmslow.

Mr. W. B. Cartwright is the new Master of the Worcestershire and Districts Association. He succeeds Mr. C. Skidmore, who has held the office since 1948.
To the memory of the Rev. A. St. J. Heard, late president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, a bronze tablet is to be placed in the ringing chamber at Mulbarton Church.

During practice at Wadhurst, Sussex, on May 2nd Miss Ann Bassett was piesented by Mr. George Baker, a local ringer, with an iced cake modelled in the shape of a bell, with a little church in place of the canons. Inscribed round the sound bow was: "Congratulations to Ann on her 21st birthday, and on the crown ' Cast in 1935. Pealed in 1956.' Twenty ringers were present, and after leaving the church Ann's health was drunk with a bottle of sherry ourchased with money from a recent wedding peal. Unfortunately Ann refused to stand in the peal in honour of her birthday the following Saturday.

AT LEICESTER AFTER 45 YEARS

The following letter of welcome has been sent to the president of the Central Council (Mr. Edwin H. Lewis) by Mr. Paul L. Taylor, president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild : Dear Mr. Lewis,

As the new president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers I am writing to welcome the Central Council to Leicester at Whit week-end. I am writing a personal letter owing to the close connections which my family has had with the Central Council.

It was in 1911 when Leicester was last honoured by a visit of the Council, at which lime the president was Sir Arthur Heywood, Bart., who was also president of the Midland Counties' Association, from which Associafion springs the Leicester Diocesan Guild. The vice-president of the M.C.A. was my father, to whom fell the pleasant but maybe onerous task of looking after the Central Council while in Leicester.

Leicester is not unknown to you and the Central Council, so that there is no need to enumerate the various glories that it possesses, sufficient to say that the Guild is doing its utmost that our visitors will be able to have both a successful meeting and an enjoyable stay, and will go away with pleasant memories of their sojourn within the diocese of Leicester.

In closing, may I again say how welcome you and the Council will be this Whitsuntide. Yours sincerely, (Signed) PAUL LEA TAYLOR.

MR. PAUL L. TAYLOR

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATTON

The Scottish Association were pleased to welcome eight visitors from the Newcastle area and two from Wolverhampton at the annual meeting which was held in Edinburgh on April 28th. Ringing began at St. James', Constitution Street, shortly after midday and continued until 1.30. The start of ringing at St . Cuthbert's was delayed somewhat by the difficulties caused by and the interest on the part of some of the ringers in the procession for Student Charities Week. Tea followed a short service conducted by the Rev. W. S. Elliott in the Memorial Chapel of St. Cuthbert's.
The president, Mr. Ernest Boumphrey, of Glasgow, took the chair at the business meeting. The Ringing Master, Mr. C. R. Raine, of Edinburgh, and the secretary had little to report. Seven new members were elected and the officers re-elected for a further year. The secretary stated that the new ring of bells at Fettes had just been hung and that all towers would be informed as soon as possible of the ringing arrangements there.

After discussion about the places for the next meetings it was decided to hold the annual meeting at St Mary's, Great Western Road, Glasgow, in 1957, and the other two meetings at Dundee and Alloa. The matter of the committee was raised and the secretary instructed to remind all towers of their rights in this connection.

Mr. Lloyd moved a vote of thanks to the various church authorities, steeplekeepers, minister, organist and St. Cuthbert's Society for entertaining everyone to tea, and the officers for their work during the year. Ringing was resumed for a further half-hour. R.S. W.

THE BELLS OF LEICESTER CITY CHURCHES - by Ernest Morris

TISITORS to Leicester for the Central Council meeting will find plenty of interest in the bells of the city and neighbourhood, for which an excellent programme of times available for ringing has been drawn up by the peal secretary, Mr. Shirley Burton. Tours also have been arranged, as already advertised. In every case it will be found that the various rings are in good order and can be enjoyed to the full. To those who are able to take advantage of these tours arranged for Sunday and Monday, it will be found that the places chosen are not only noted for their grand bells, but also for the beauty of the churches and the fame of their structures.

Leicester Cathedral.-This is one of the lesse, parish church cathedrals but, nevertheless, full of interest. Built on the site of a pagan temple, it shows traces of Norman work in the base of its modern central tower and spire, which is not yet 100 years old !! It has been much restored and enlarged during the centuries past, and was for long the civic church. The bells began as a ring of five, then six, eight and ten, but as such were a mixed lot until the great restoration in 1937, when they were all recast, and now form a grand ring of 12 (tenor 25 t cwt .) with a flat 6 th to form a lighter octave.
St. Margaret's.-Not very far distant-is an even larger church and stands on the site of the earliest Christian church (Saxon) in the city. It has a long historic background and is noted for having the only effigy-in alabaster-of a Bishop in this Diocese [John Penny, Bishop of Carlisle, ob 1520]. An ancient well within the church and other treasures. Its noble Perpendicular tower, built in 1444, has a grand modern ring of 12 -the heaviest in the county (tenor 33 cwt .) and a flat 6 th, like the Cathedral.

St. John-the-Divine.-Near the Midland Sta-tion-one of the redundant parishes of Lcicester, was threatened with demolition, but through the efforts of many faithful worshippers there (and we remember in this connection Mr. Sidner Harrison, the Ringing Master) it was providentially saved. Its tower-now minus the spire-has a glorious ring of ten (tenor 21 cwt.) in a splendidly-kept belfry which is a joy to behold.
St. Mary de Castro (the church of the Castle) is a grand building almost all Norman, a delight for all who love architecture, and one for deep study of its varying stages. Its tower is unique and stands within the church, which was once two distinct churches in one, where services were held simultaneously-one for the parish, the other for the Castle. Here is a Mears ring of seven covered by a Watts tenor, and since their recent restoration and rehanging in new frame and fittings are a delightful set to ring on.
All Saints', in Highcross Strect-near to the Central Station-has its Norman tower placed on the north side of the chancel-an unusual feature. This church has much of historic interest and it noted for its Jacobean clock with attendant 'quarter boys.' The bells were an ancient five dating back to 1370, of various later dates, and of recent years restored and augmented first to six and now to eight (tenor $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and so form a handy set, easy to ring.
St. Saviour's.-From the City centre a busvia Humberstone Road-brings one to St. Saviour's Road, where is the church of that name, whose brick tower with stone spire has a heavy octave ( 27 cwt .) not going too well Aylestone.-A short bus ride from the Town Hall gets one to Aylestone, noted for its connection with the Manners family and Dorothy Vernon. Here the old six bells with long draught of rope were recently rehung and augmented to eight (tenor 16 cwt .) and rope guides provided-now form a very nice ring.
Belgrave.-From the City centre a bus ride will take one to Belgrave (St. Peter's), where its handy octave (tenor 14 cwt .) is rung from the ground floor. Not far distant (and once attached to this parish) is Birstall, whose old five bells were in recent years augmented to eight (tenor 10 cwt .). Then, again, a short distance further on, is Wanlip-still retaining its oldworld appearance-whose three ancient bells are now a lovely little ring of six.

Anstey.-A bus ride from St. Margaret's will take one to Anstey, where Redvers Elkington (affectionately called 'Anstey' for short !) looks after a very nice eight (tenor $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., the only bell in England with 'Edward VIII.' on it !). The Cathedral tenor originally had this, but later it was very carefully filed off and 'Gcorge VI.' engraved thereon. These are just a few of the towers worth a visit-a number of others are quite easily reached by good bus services. such as Wigston Magna: South Wigston; Kibworth: Thurcaston : and the six-bell towers of Humberstone, Great Glen, Whetstone, Countesthorpe and others.

When will cartoonists depicting ringing study their subjects first-hand? Bentley's cartoon in the 'News Chronicle' of May 7th spoilt a good idea by bad craftsmanship. Probably best example of automation is to be found in Carter's ringing machine.

Mr . Shirley Burton writes that the two compositions published in *The Ringing World of May 11th should not be credited to him. The 5,088 for Arnesby was a transposition of $G$. Baker's, and the 5,152 of Woodstock a transposed variation of an old composition, probably by C. H. Hattersley.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Memorial to J. A. Trollope Proposed THE 59th annual general meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Twickenham on April 21st.

A large number of members and friends met at St. Mary's, where ringing took place during the afternoon and evening.

The Guild's service was held at St. Mary's, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. J. Davis, and the address was given by the president, the Rev. G. C. Taylor, Rector of St. Giles-in-theFields. Over 75 were present at tea, served in Sc. Mary's Hall by the local ringers and friends.

At the business meeting which followed, the chair was taken by the president. This was the first annual meeting since his election last year. Mr. E. A. Morris, churchwarden and ringer of St. Mary's, apologised for the absence of the Vicar from the meeting. He drew attention to the very fine memorial altar cross in memory of the late Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane, past president of the Association.
The general secretary, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, sent his apologies for absence, owing to illness, and the meeting expressed its pleasure that he is recovering satisfactorily.

The names of those members who had died since the last meeting were read, and those present stood in silent memory of: J. C. Adams (Walthamstow), W. S. Beaumont (Ruislip), W. H. L. Buckingham (St. Albans), C. Glenn (Grantham). T. Goodchild (Maidenhead), B. A. Knights (Chesterfield), W. J. Nudds (Edgware), H. J. Poole (Leicester), Mrs A. S. Roberts (Carbis Bay), J. W. F. ## POINTS FROM ANNUAL REPORT

The report for 1955 was presented and the main points are as follows: The usual monthly District meetings have been held, the visit to Harrow-on-the-Hill being particularly noteworthy as it was the first there for very many years. Thirty-five peals were rung, of which Sudbury, Kenninghall, Queensland, Walbrook and Xavier Surprise Major were rung for the first time. A record of Doubles ringing was set up at Stanwell with a peal in 72 methods spliced into 42 different extents. F. T. Blagrove conducted this peal and also rang two bells.

The audited accounts were adopted and showed small increases in the Bell Restoration Fund and assets compared with the previous year.

Officers elected were: President, the Rev. G. C. Taylor: vice-presidents, Messrs. S. G. Hart and W. H. Coles; general secretary, Mr. E. C. S. Turner: assistant geoeral secretary, Mr. W. N. Genna; Master, Mr. T. Price; treasurer, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow; auditor, Mr. M. Hodgson: trustees, Messrs. T. J. Lock, E. C. S. Turner, F. W. Goodfellow. One honorary member, seven non-resident life members and seven ringing members were elected.

It was agreed by a large majority that the annual general meeting next year should be held at Harrow Weald.

The assistant secretary reported that the Lord Bishop of London had agreed to become patron, and the Bishop of Willesden had become a vice-president of the Association.
The Association had offered congratulations to Mr. James Parker, formerly of Edmonton, on his 90th birthday, in March. Mr. Parker had been a very prominent ringer in the county and is now resident at Caister-on-Sea.

Mr. A. Harding had given the Association a set of annual reports, and the appreciation of the members was gratefully expressed.

SUPPORT FOR BOW BELLS

It was decided to donate five guineas to the Bow Bells Appeal with the proviso that the Association would consider making a further contribution if found to be necessary.
The question of a memorial to the late $\mathbf{J}$. Armiger Trollope was discussed and the meeting elected a committee to consider suggestions as to the form it should take. Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow, E. Kilby, T. J. Lock, C. F. Neale and E. C. S. Turner were elected as the committee.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Twickenham, the Rector of All Hallows', Twickenham, and to the local ringers for all the arrangements made.

Ringing continued after the meeting at St. Mary's and All Hallows', Twickenham.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GULLD

Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch
A meeting of the above Branch was held at New Mills on April 28th, when some 50 members and friends were present during the afternoon and evening. Ringing was enjoyed from early in the afternoon and the usual service was replaced by Evensong, at which the assistant curate, the Rev. H. B. Baker, gave a fine address.

After an excellent tea, served by the local ringers and ladies, the business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Rev. H. B. Baker. The following new members were elected: Miss S. Mason, Miss E. Sheppard and Ian Wright, of New Mills, Samuel Clarke and Dr. T. Dinsdale, of Stockport St. Mary, and the following non-resident life members: John S. Barnes, Victor Griffin, Rev. G. Gordon Graham and Derek F. Yates. The secretary reported that he had now arranged the remainder of the meetings for the year as follows: June 23rd, Knutsford; July 21st, Taxal; September 29th, Bowdon; and November 24th, Bredbury.
Further ringing was enjoyed until a very late hour, a wide variety of methods from rounds to Surprise being practised. It was pleasing to note that at least half the members present were under 21, and at the other end of the scale there were two veterans of 87 and 84 years of age.

PAT CHAPMANS 18 TOWERS ON EASTER MONDAY

The 'Pat Chapman' annual tower hunt on Easter Monday is becoming a popular event. The venue this year was South Warwicks and North Oxon, and the ringers (14) came from the Kettering and Northampton area with visitors from Byfield, and Dorking, Surrey.

Punctually, at 9 a.m. the five bells at Farnborough (tenor 7 cwt .) were raised in peal, and the Vicar welcomed us in the tower. He is also Vicar of Avon Dassett $(5,13)$, but at first thought that it would be unwise to ring there as a stay was broken, and he was not certain of the condition of the others. However, we gave him assurances that we would not ring unless all was in order, so permission was granted.
On arrival at the tower we were expecting a rough time, but to the surprise of everyone, the bells went extraordinarily well. The birds' nests. etc., had left their mark, including two or three dead birds, and this is one of the few churches still lit by oil lamps and candles.

Our next tower was the very isolated one of Burton Dassett ( 6,13 ), which has a fine church and a magnificent view of the famous Edge Hill, scene of the Civil War battle of 1642 . Kineton ( 6,11 ) has the treble heavier than the fourth, and Butlers Marston ( 6,16 ) are extremely noisy. At Oxhill $(5,9)$ a local ringer seemed surprised that we did not ring from cards, and at Tysoe $(6,15)$ we were amazed at the really excellent 'go' of the bells. Tredington ( 6,16 ) has a fine church and bells, and the ringing Vicar was delighted to welcome us.
Lunch was enjoyed at Shipston-on-Stour (6, 12) and fortified us for a well-struck course of Cambridge on the roughest six of the daye Difficulty was experienced at Sutton-underBrailes ( 5,9 ), due to the poor 'go' of the bells and the closeness of the ropes to the wall. We found Cherrington ( $5,7 \frac{1}{2}$ ) with very long ropes, and enioyed the fine bells at Whichford (6, 13).

At Hook Norton $(8,20)$ we were met by Mr. Bossberry, and these excellent bells were rung to Stedman and Double Norwich. A charge is now made here for a peal attempt to cover cost of wear on the ropes. This idea seems fair and one which might well be copied by other churches.

After tea visits were paid to Swalcliffe ( 6, 13 ) and Tadmaston ( 6,11 ), the latter having the entrance to the ringing chamber up a vertical ladder enclosed in casing. Here a good course of London was rung, after failing at Swalcliffe. The Vicar of Bodicote ( 5,9 ) met us at his church and then came a pleasant hour on the fine ring at Banbury (10, 171 $)$. We were met by Messrs. Cave and Watson and rang Grandsire Caters, Bob Royal, Little Bob Major and Cambridge Major. The last tower to be visited was the not well-known light ring at Balscote Farm ( 6,11 ). Mr. C. Jervis congratulated the band, who eventually succeeded in ringing a course of Cambridge Minor. He said that he is shortly having two trebles added, and that the new bells will not be lighter than the present treble.
The usual refreshment was taken at the Butchers Arms, Balscote, and the party returned to their various homes, after once again thanking Pat Chapman for his excellent arrangements.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WOMEN'S PLACE IN THE BELFRY
Dear Sir, -Although, like Miss Margaret E Wilkinson, I am a comparative newcomer to the ringing fraternity, I feel I must protest against the attitude taken by Mrs. G. Parkinson in her recent letter. It is unfortunately typical of the spirit beginning to prevail in ringing, that women are quite as capable as men of taking over tasks such as ringing the tenor, seeing to the upkeep of the belfry and acting as tower foreman. This seems to me quite wrong. The male sex were destined by providence for the heavier belfry work, such as this, and very well they do it; as St. Paul says, women should not be suffered to have domination over men, but should be in subjection to them. A woman turning a heavy tenor in is, whatever the writer of 'Beauty in the Belfry may say, usually a most ungraceful sight-far better it is that she should stick to something she can do reasonably well, rather than usurp male privileges.
My own husband was, as I am sure many ringers will remember, for many years a muchloved and respected captain in a country tower, though he seldom did anything but bump the tenor: and I have never allowed the fact that I myself can ring Treble Bob methods to prevent me from deferring to him and consulting him on every occasion. As for Mrs. Parkinson's support of milk-bars and 'the other sort of bars,' I can only say that I was shocked to read it. Miss Yeo's behaviour after a practice scems to me a far more innocent and healthy way for a female ringer to conduct herself. Milk-bars may be on the surface harmless, hut they are full of disgusting ' jukeboxes' and long-haired Teddy Boys or girls in tartan trousers; and though, unfortunately, we know that some lady ringers occasionally enter the 'other kind of bar,' that is no reason why we should condone a thoroughly unwomanly practice.-Yours faithfully,

BOW BELLS AND VISITING RINGERS

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Whitaker's letter in 'The Ringing World' of April 27th, I cannot agree that a previous letter written by Mr. Spavins on Bow Bells had anything of a 'spiteful air' about it.
I feel sure what Mr. Spavins meant to imply was that ringers whose Associations had made a contribution to the Bow Bells Fund would be granted the privilege of ringing on these famous bells. and not that they would claim it as a right.

The remark that visiting bands of ringers should not he allowed to ring at any tower as if they had a right to do so and without first presenting credentials, is ridiculous.
I quite agree that permission should be obtained beforehand through the proper channels, and I feel sure that this procedure is adopted more often as the rule rather than the exception. and I have very little doubt that only on very rare occasions has such permission not been granted.

Mr. Whitaker is evidently unaware of the conditions which prevail at many of our parish churches and even some Cathedrals, in that the ranks of the ringeis are so depleted that it is very often only possible to ring at one Sunday service with no hope of being able to have a mid-week practice.

I know of many instances where holiday makers. servicemen, etc., have been very welcome at such towers, and there has been no need for them to curn up, cap in hand, complete with credentials, and beg for a ring as Mr. Whitaker apparently thinks should be necessary.

PEAL AT SOUTH WIGSTON WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-As conductor of the peal of Stedman Triples rung at South Wisston, Leics, on February 4th, 1956, 1 wish the following to be made known.
The peal was arranged on the eve of the 63rd dedication festival of St. Thomas' Church and was rung at the express wish of the Vicar. A band had been arranged for a peal of Surprise, but at 11 a.m. on the day of the attempt I was informed by telephone that Mr. E. J. Jelley, one of the band, was ill in bed. His son, John, spent from then until 4 p.m. searching for a substitute. At that time 1 suggested that the best thing to do was to ask one of our - learners' to come and ring the tenor to a quarter peal of Stedman. However, when we met at the church at 6 p.m. we decided to start calling the peal and stop if necessary-in other words, if this 12 -year-old lad was unable to manage the $14-\mathrm{cwt}$. tenor.
Now, in reply to T. H. Vallance's letter which appeared in 'The Ringing World' on March 2nd, this was definitely not a pealsnatchers' ' peal. If it had been an ordinary peal for our own amusement then it would never have been started. The 12 -year-old boy handled the bell perfectly-he was quite capable of handling it and he was asked four or five times if he felt capable of carrying on. After three hours he was just as fit as when we started (not even a blister) and was ready for ringing at the morning service at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the next day with no ill effects whatever.

His ringing career has not been 'crucified 'in fact he is just as keen as ever. Incidentally, there are not hundreds of ringers in the vicinity of the tower,' as T. H. Vallance seems to suggest.
The letter written by F. S. Cheney certainly makes interesting reading. It will not escape notice that his address is given as 'South Wigston.' In fact 1 think it is true to say that he lives closer to the church than any other South Wigston ringer and yet not once in the last three years (at least) has he even been ioside the tower. Obviously there must be some reason for this-he would have been quite welcome to have made an appearance at any time. He had not the courtesy either to see me or write to me personally, but had to resort to the underhand method of writing to 'The Ringing World, thereby dragging not only the South Wigston band of ringers into disrepute but also damaging the reputation of the Leicester Diocesan Guild.
All that F. S. Cheney says is not quite true. Due to inexperience, the tenor (through not being pulled hard enough) struck in $7 \frac{1}{2}$ ths place and 7 ths place - realising that was not right a harder pull was given, which was just a little too much, causing the tenor to strike in $8 \frac{1}{2}$ ths and 9 ths place. This made the ringing rather uneven and so it was more difficult for the rest of the band to ring Stedman. Stedman Triples is a difficult method for a peal; in fact I think in is true to say that there are more peals of Stedman Triples lost than any other method.
However after one and a half hours, when it seemed likely that the lad would last to the end, the ringing got better, as from then on to the end I told him every pair of bells to strike over as they came to the back. Anyone who heard the end would have heard a good finish.
The bells did not "fire' eight times. If they did it would mean all the bells striking together for over a six. How could any band ring Stedman under those conditions?
There is no doubt that 5,040 true and complete changes of Stedman Triples were rung. Mr. Ernest Morris (with 1.600 peals) and J (with 400 peals) can vouch that the bobs were called correctly and that all 20 part-ends were absolutely correct
F. C. Cheney takes Mr. F. H. Dexter's name in vain. Neither he nor I knew F. H. Dexter in his glory 40 years ago. Neither he nor 1 have seen Dexter go stark raving mad in the middle of a peal when some awful muddle occurred. Ernest Morris has, and even then he has got them out of it and scored a peal.
The letters which followed, by Messrs. W. G. Smith, A. J. Moore and M. Best, have all been inspired efforts not worth the paper they were written on because not one of them actually heard the peal.
W. G. Smith ('Ringing World,' March 16th)simply does not exist. There is no such person on the books of the Leicester Diocesan Guild and extensive inquirics have fajled to locate him. It is obviously written by someone with an intense dislike for me and the work I am domg for the Leicester Diocesan Guild in an attempt to keep it one of the best in the country, but not content with that he throws mud at the rest of the band. It is to the good work of the Guild that so many members manage to apdear in the leading peal-ringers' list eacn D.

Due to the bad name which F.S. Cheney has now bestowed on the Leicester Diocesan Guild at a time when a double change in officers is taking place I propose to withdraw this peal from the records of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, but in doing so 1 wish to make it quite clear that there were 5,040 true and complete changes of Stedman Triples.
In conclusion, I should like to add, in order to remove any misunderstanding that may arise, that I am not writing this letter officially as general hon. secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild.-Yours faithfully,

BRIAN G. WARWICK,

Ringing Master,
St. Thomas' Church, South Wigston.

ROUNDS IN A PEAL

Dear Sir,-Your correspondent, Mr. Lonsbrough, has expressed very well the point which I made myself when this vexed question was discussed some time ago.
The motion. as proposed by Mr. Barnett and seconded by Mr. Lewis, is clearly illogical. Perhaps they would care to amend it so that a peal can be discountenanced after the first mistake which causes the hells to strike in other than the specified order. By this means we should save a great deal of space in "The Ringing World.'

As an alkernative and less restrictive proposition somebody might suggest that peals be not recognised in which rounds, the back change, 'queens' and 'tittums' appear in other than their allotted places.
I feel bound to add that a large number of ringers would not be able to tell whether "queens," for example, had been rung half a dozen times, let alone whether or not it was rung in the right place.-Yours faithfully,

PETER BORDER

RINGING IN MISSION FILMS

Dear Sir, -When the article in 'The Ringing World , of April 20th appeared, about ringing appearing in two films in one programme, those films happened to be showing in Salisbury. I couldn't get to see them as I was going to a meeting of the Missions to Seamen here that night. But at the meeting they showed their centenary film, 'Sea Parish,' woven round the story of a merchant seaman; he and his family are just going to church on his last Sunday at home and suddenly the music of rounds on 10 rang out, with a 'flash' of ringers in the belfry-real bells, really being rung! So I didn't miss hearing bells in a film after all. 'Sea Parish' acknowledged the help of the clergy and people of King's Langley. I wonder if the ringing was from there, too-Yours truly, YVONNE L. ELOIE.

Salisbury.

LETTERS-Continued

- THE OFFICE AND THE BELLS

Dear Sir, - Your leader in 'The Ringing World' of April 27th ('The Office and the Bells ') was probably intended to provoke discussion, and in that it should certainly succeed. Your points, while worth making, are also worth answering.
It should not come as a surprise that a change in the relations between Church and State has been discussed in higher circles, for a commission was set up by the Church Assembly in 1949 to consider the matter, and its report has since been published. The difficulties inherent in this relationship are very real, and stem largely from the fact that although the pattern of the partnership has not changed officially for hundreds of years, the State has gradually developed an altogether different view of its function. Whereas once the Church in England embodied the whole of the State in its religious aspect, the latter nowadays regards itsclf as the protector of the freedom of worship of all its members, and our Church is little more than another ' denomination.' But whilst the other denominations are free to order their own affairs, we are not. To give just two examples: A Parliament including Nonconformists, Roman Catholics and Jews, as well, of course, as members of our posed revision of the Prayer Book. And our Bishops are appointed by the Prime Minister, who might at some future date take less care than at present, or even be aotively hostile.
We may think of 'the Christian community as a whole.' It is a comforting gencralisation, but it breaks down in practice. What would you say, for example, is the view of 'the Christian community as a whole ' on Premium Bonds?

The truth is that a very great proportion of the population thinks of itself as members of the Church of England only when they wani her services, e.g., at weddings, and we shall remain weak until membership of the Church once more means active discipleship of our Lord. For good or ill, and there is much to be said on both sides, the clergy will be powetless to take united and effective action until the Church can order her own affairs with as much freedom as is accorded to other religious bodies.

Nor is it so fantastic to remember the belly If any new agreement should be brought about. However happily the arrangement was made, and whatever the emergency, was it the State or the Church which decided in 1940 that the bells should be silent except to proclaim an invasion? The Church's right could not be taken for granted.

Your other point is of a different naturc. We have in this parish a most loyal band who are regular in their worship and do much else for the Church besides, and with the captain's encouragement I have taken up ringing. So I am concerned to defend not myself bue those of my fellow clergy who are not so happily placed. It is quite impossible for us to take an active part in every single one of the organisations which look for our support and interest and have an equal claim to be work of real Christian importance. I could name well over a dozen in my village. Is it surprising that some clergy. faced with rising costs, large vicarages and inadequate stipends, get disheartened, sometimes to the extent of letting the size of their task overwhelm them? But I do sympathise with our friends in this great fraternity who fail to get the encouragement they look forperhaps God is calling them, as He often calls His clergy, on carry on alone, and for years. if aecessary, upholding that which they value most in the Church's work. May God bless them .all.-Yours sincerely,

PATRICK FOORT (Rev.).

Rector of Clifton, Beds.

THE COVENTRY  Mrs. Beamish Retires After 24 Years' Service

THE annual meeting of the Coventry Diocesan Guild was held at Stratford-on-Avon on April 21 st. Stratford was looking its loveliest. Great preparations had been made for the festivities to take place on the 23 rd , and the town had many visitors. The lovely ring of ten was put to'good use during the afternoon and then members and friends adjourned to the upper room of a local hostelry for a buffet tea.
The Vicar (the Rev. Canon T. N. R. Prentice) joined the company and took the chair for the latter half of the business meeting, the Master, Mr. R. J. Edden, opening the proceedings.

Arising from the minutes, it was announced that a committee had met to arrange for classes in conducting, for which there was felt to be a great need, and that the first class had already been held on April 11th, and others were to be held fortnightly.
The general hon. secretary's report gave the total membership for the year as 204,17 life members, 5 honorary members and 182 ringing members. Seventeen peals were rung, a decrease of seven on 1954. The annual dinner had taken place in Coventry in October, the Provost, the Very Rev. R. T. Howard, being the chief guest. During the year the Guild had sustained the loss of its patron, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, who always took the keenest interest in Guild affairs. Mr. J. W. Taylor and Mr. O. J. Hunt, of the Allesley band, and Mr. J. W. F. Trotman, a former captain of Nuncaton. tower, had all passed to higher service.

Bell restorations and improvements were made at Rugby. Nuncaton, Wellesbourne, Wootton Wawen, Dunchurch and Honiley, a donation of $£ 15$ being made to Wootton Wawen. The general funds, with a balance of $£ 339 \mathrm{~s}$. 8d., showed an increase of $£ 16 \mathrm{~s}$. 1d. over 1954 , and the Bell Repair Fund had a balance of £19 is.

NO SUPPORT FOR COMPETITION RINGING

Compctition ringing had been brought to the notice of the members at the summer quarterly meeting and left for discussion at the annual meeting. As there was no support for the introduction of competitions the matter was dropped.
The Northern District secretary reported meetings reasonably well attended and the standard of ringing very good.

The Southern District secretary reported slow progress, with attendances gradually increasing. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. H. M. Windsor for his painstaking work in organising and successfully carrying. through a series of meetings in the Southern District. The work had been of a pioneer nature and was beginning to bear fruit.

The election of officers resulted as follows:President, Mr. F. W. Perrens (a former Master and present Central Council representative); Master, Mr. R. J. Edden (re-elected); hon. general secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. L. Garner Hayward: hon. Northern District secretary, Mr. D. A. Carpenter: hon. Southern District secretary, Mr. H. M. Windsor : hon. auditor, Mr. F. E. Pervin.
Mrs. D. E. Beamish, the retiring secretary, having served the Guild for 24 years, was warmly thanked for her services by Mr. F. W. Perrens and Mr. J. L. Garner Hayward. She thanked them for their kjnd remarks and for the assistance she had been given by officers of the Guild over the years and for the support of all members. She would always retain the greatest interest in Guild affairs and would render any assistance required of her to the newly-elected secretary.

DIOCESAN GUILD

The place of the July meeting was to be Bid-ford-on-Avon together with Salford Priors.
New members elected were: Canon A. M. Startin, Messrs. W. L. Gower, T. Lamb, J. Green, D. Gardener, L. Johnson, J. Stockley, J. Snell (all of Wootton Wawen), F. Greenway, R. Moore, J. Richardson and Miss P. Nicholls (all of Nuneaton) and S. G. Osborne, of Rugby.

The request for ai donation to the Bow Bells appeal was read by the hon. secretary. Several members spoke on the matter and all agreed that a donation should be sent. Mr. F. W. Perrens finally gave notice of motion that he would propose at the next meeting to send two guineas from the Bell Repair Fund, thus abiding by the rule which decrees that three months' notice should be given when any call for outside objects is made upon Guild funds.

The Vicar was accorded a vote of thanks for his welcome, for allowing the use of the bells and for acting as chairman at the meeting, and he responded in his own humorous fashion, inviting the ringers to visit Stratford as often as possible.

A return was made to the tower for further ringing until all tastes had been catered for.

A PEAL IN EACH COUNTY OF WALES

The peal rung at Gresford on April 28th is of more than passing interest as it was the first peal on the bells since rehanging on new castiron headstocks by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. It also represents the completion of a long-cherjshed ambition of Wilfred Williams and Donald Clift to ring a peal in each countv in the Principality, a distinction it is believed only previously accomplishcd by the late W. H. Fussell. In addition, W. Williams has now conducted a pcal in a Surprise method in each county, a number of them being the first in Wales.

For three members of the band this was thelr second attempt in this tower, and for two the third. At the conclusion of the peal the Rector (the Rev. W. V. Lort) ascended the tower to congratulate us. We should like to associate this peal as a compliment to him on his elevation to a Canonry of St. Asaph.

The two members of the band who only it quired this tower to complete the sequence had previously spent over six hours in this towel without ringing a peal. An attempt in 1953 for Pudsey ended after 2 hours and 50 minutes through a miscall, and Cambridge was lost in 1954 after three hours and 15 minutes with six leads to ring, owing to the tenot rope breaking. Following this attempt the National Coal Board announced in September. 1954, that they planned to mine 250,000 tons of coal from a seam running under the church. It was feared that this would endanger the church and tower and curtail ringing; however, strong protests from the Welsh Church Commissioners caused the plan to be abandoned, and we were extremely pleased when we received an invitation from Mr. Griffiths to attempt the first peal on the bells when they were rehung.
The completion of the sequence has been difficult, as in six countes only one ring of eight has been either ringable or obtainable for peals and these were not always available. At Barmouth, in 1953, two hours were spent before the attempt removing clock and chiming fittings, fitting new ropes, etc. Similarly, at Beaumaris and Llanbadarn-Fawr, more than an hour's work was necessary putting the bells in a pealable condition.

THE GUILDFORD  DIOCESAN GUILD

Juvenile Members Deprived of Vote
"WO matters gave rise to keen discussions at the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Guildford on May 5th, with Mr. A. E. Harman (Master) in the chair. The first was a limitation of the period of the office of Master for three years. The resolution came from the Leatherhead District, and Mr. A. P Cannon, who proposed the change, pointed out that the Guild had only had two Masters in 28 years. There were a large number of suitable candidates, and he would like to see other keen men have a chance.
The secretary (Mr. G. L. Grover) emphatically said that the executive were against any change. Under the present rule the Master was elected annually.
Mr. A. C. Hazelden said when the rule was first made, in 1927, they expected each District to nominate from their own members. This was not the case and only one man had been nominated. The solution was in the hands of members without any change of rules. The meeting favoured no change.
The second resolution came from the executive: 'That junior members should have no vote.' Opposing, after pointing out that the executive were not unanimous, Mr. J. F. Dodson said many towers would collapse if the younesters left. After a keen debate, in which it was pointed out that a tower leader with a lot of young people had a great pull on any Guild matter, the resolution was carried by 47 votes to 37.
Regarding the routine busincss, the only change in the officers was the addition of Mr. W. Shepherd, of Addlestone, as a vice-president. A hearty clap greeted the appointment, and Mr. Shepherd, in thanking the Guild for the honour, said it was conferred not only on him, but also on the Chertsey District. The officers of the Guild were re-elected.
The report gave the Guild a membership of 482 ringing and 110 honorary members, and mentioned that a word of congratulation was due to the officers and tower leaders in the Chertsey District, wherc, alone of all Districts in the year under review, headway had been made and membership increased.

The meeting stood in remembrance of losses by death-Mr. Wilkins Massey (Claygate), Mr. Tom Smith (Newdigate), Mr. F. Marchant and Mr. A. Hunt (Yorktown).
Major E. J. Bragg presented the peal report - 34 peals against 50 the previous year. Peals were rung by 94 out of their 482 members in 17 different towers. Winchester Surprise Major, Spliced Plain and Little Bob, Bob Triples and Doubles in 21 methods were rung for the first time.
The accounts showed that the Guild had a balance in hand of $£ 6913 \mathrm{~s}$. 1d. The New Cathedral Bell Fund stood at $£ 97$ 17s. 11d., being augmented by a legacy of $£ 10$ from Mrs Emily Saps. The Benevolent Fund had $£ 108$ 10s. in hand. During the year the Guild raised $£ 21$ 5s. towards the building of the New Cathedral at Guildford.
A number of new members were electedfive from Stoke D'Abernon, three from Merrow, two from Stoke-next-Guildford and one from Farnborough. Mr. Malcolm S. Cloke was elected a compounding member.
The meeting confirmed the date of the annual dinner-October 13th, but left the venue nuane of two hotels in Guildford-to the committee.

The appeal for Bow Bells was considered and the Guild voted the sum of five guineas. The officers were thanked on the proposition of Mr. C. W. Denyer, and the Master, in acknowledging the compliment, thanked the members for their loyalty and the splendid attendance at the meeting. Proceedings concluded with a vote of thanks to the ladies who had prepared tea, which was moved by Mr. H. N. Pitstow.
Ringing took place at all Guildford towers, the highlight being London Surprise Royal, mainly by visitors from Southampton. The servioe at St. Mary's Church was conducted by the Rev. C. Pilgrim, priest-in-charge of the New Cathedral District.

A BEDDINGTON WEDDING

Eighty relations and friends gathered at St. Mary's Church, Beddington, on April 27th, to attend the marriage of David Parsons with Joyce England. David and Joyce first met at All Saints' Church, Carshalton, in 1944, where they were taught to ring by Mr. L. Reece. Since then they have rung peals in many parts of the country and have become well-known and popular ringers.

A touch of Stedman Triples heralded the arrival of the bride accompanied by her uncle, Mr. A. Budden. She was dressed in a full. length white lace dress, carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley and was attended by two bridesmaids-her niece, Rebecca England, and a friend, Kathleen Weller, also a ringer at Beddington. After the service Joyce and David left the church to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by the organist, Ken Mackintosh, a friend of the bride and bridegroom. A buffet reception was held at the Grange Mansion and soon after the telegrams had been read by the best man, John Chilcott, the bride and bridegroom left by car en route for the West Country.
Amongst the many gifts received by Joyce and David were a Lloyd loom chair from the Society of Roving Ringers, and a Russell Hobbs coffee percolator from the St Mary's Society of Change Ringers. A peal attempt for Stedman Caters, made the following day, was unfortunately lost after 2 hours and 20 minutes' ringing.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

At the quanterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch at Hawkchurch on April 28th, ringing during the afternoon consisted of call changes, prounds, Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob and London Surprise with Stedman Doubles as the service touch.

The Rev. P. Smith (Vicar) conducted the service and gave a helpful address regarding the office of a bellringer. Some 34 ringers sat down to lea served in the Village Hall by the Vicar's wife with lady helpers.
The next quarterly meeting was fixed for Evershot with Melbury Osmond on July 14th, and a by-meeting for June 13th at Symondsbury. Two non-resident life ringing members were elected-Mr. H. W. Pearce, of West Coker, and Mr. R. J. Fox, of Yeovil.
Canon Cox, chairman of the Branch, thanked the Vicar for his very warm welcome and for conducting the service, and Mrs. Wood for playing the organ, also Mrs. Smith for the very generous tea.
Following the meeting members of the Lyme Regis band rang Grandsire and Stedman Triples end Plain Bob Major on handbells.
Further ringing then followed in the tower including Plain Bob, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise.

OBITUARY

MR. J. E. ASHCROFT
The Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Guild has suffered a severe loss by the death of Mr. John Edward Ashcroft. Seventy-eight years of age he was secretary and treasurer of the Branch for 40 years until resigning about four years ago. John, as he was familiarly called, was of a genial disposition and highly respected by all. He was buried in the shadow of the tower, where he had spent so many hours. He leaves a sister to mourn her loss.
May he rest in pcace.

MR. T. G. IMPEY

It is with regret that we learn of the death at Banbury on April 26 th of Mr. Thomas George Impey at the age of 76 . He had been in failing health for some time but the end came suddenly and peacefully.
Mr. Impey learned to ring at Burford and came to Banbury some 47 ycars ago and joined the ringers at St. Mary's. For some years he was steeplekeeper and rang the curfew regularly until about four years ago. He was not a prolific peal ringer and kept no record of his peals, but it is understood that he had taken part in about 20. But he was most faithful in Sunday service ringing and in attendance at meetings of the Oxford Diocesan Guild until failing health prevented him. At a recent meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Guild he was made an honorary life member in appreciation of his services
Our sympathy is extended to his widow, daughter and son, Mr. Herbert Impey, captain of the ringers at St. Margaret's, Uxbridge.

The funeral took place at St. Mary's, Banbury, on May 1st, and the bells were rung half-muffled in his memory in the evening.

MR. DONALD J. POTTER

With deep regret ringers of the Bromsgrove District heard of the tragic death of Mr. Don Potter, Ringing Master of Bromsgrove Parish Church, at the early age of 39 years.
Donald James Potter started ringing in 1937 and showed early prorise. Called to the Forces in the early days of the war he saw considerable service in the Western Descrt-experiences which left their mark Takjing charge of the Bromsgrove tower after demobilisation, he carried out his duties with energy and thoroughness. A keen ringer, he set an example in regularity at both Sunday service and practice ringing.
The funeral service took place at Bromsgrove Parish Church followed by interment at Catshill, the service bcing taken by the Rev. F. G. Shepherd and the Rev. L. Birch (Worcestershire Association chaplain).
The ringers formed a guard of honour at both church and cemetery, and handbells were rung as the coffin was lowered into the earth. The large congregation included ringing from Dodderhill. Droji wich, Wychbold, Hanbury, Stoke, Hallow and all the local ringers.
His death is a great loss not only to his own tower hut also to neighbouring towers, which he so frequently visited to lend a hand.
H. F. M.

MRS. RACHEL SPOONER

Mrs. Rachel Spooner, of Capel, Surrey, who died while on holiday at Plymouth, aged 69, was the first lady to ring a peal for the Guildford Diocesan Guild. This was on January Ist. 1928. when she rang the second to a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor at Capel. She had learned to handle a rope the previous year, and she was also the first lady to ring a peal at Capel. Her husband, Mr. W. C. Spooner, who died in 1947, and her younger sister, who died 14 months ago. were also ringers. For health reasons Mrs. Spooner had not been able to. ring since the restoration of the bells in 1951.

PEALS RUNG BY LATE HAROLD J. POOLE

We are now able to publish the full list of peals rung by the late Harold J. Poole, president of the Lejcester Diocesan Guild and president of the National Police Guild, whose death occurred on July 14th, 1955.

Other ringers have rung a greater number of peals but this must surely be the most varied and the most remarkable peal list of all times and one which will not often be equalled, since such achievements could never become commonplace. There are many outstanding performances including the 12,896 of Cambridge Surprise Major, which Mr. Poole conducted at the age of 21 , and a 13,440 Bob Major.

A striking feature of Mr. Poole's peal-ringing career is that he rang his 500 th peal as recently as July 10th, 1946, so he therefore rang the remaining 747 in just nine years. His 1,000 th peal was the first rung of 10 Spliced Surprise Maximus methods and took place on December 11th, 1952, at Leicester Cathedral. His first peal was rung on July 3rd, 1920, being Stedman Triples, at Stoney Stanton, conducted by Frederick H. Dexter. His last peal was Stedman Caters, at Loughborough Bell Foundry, on July 13th, 1955, conducted by his son-in-law, Mr. Peter J. Staniforth.

The list includes the only peal yet rung of Cambridge Surprise Maximus on handbells and a collection of 12 -bell peals in the tower, the like of which would have been deemed impossible even as recently as the end of the war. These stupendous achievements derived from the sheer force of personality, the gift of leadership and the outstanding genius that was his at the end of a rope. Surely here was a man and a record that will be remembered as long as the art of change ringing lasts.

The list is as follows:-

GLORIOUS FAILURES

AS far as peals go, the successes we know about, for they are recorded for all time, but the failures are quite another matter; it is true that many of them do not deserve a mention, but on the other hand there are some which deserve a better fate - they become a memory and are rarely heard about. In a good number of instances the premature end was unexpected and a big disappoint-ment-broken ropes, broken clappers, missed bobs and indisposition are the common causes; mind wandering causes trouble too, for when two 'wool gatherers' get together anything can happen. There are other causes such as one I heard about in the West Country many years ago: a visiting band having met one short enlisted the aid of one of the local stoney band to beat 'the drum.' All went well for a couple of hours when the tenor man 'stood '; as could only be expected the rest 'stood' too. The local, with some surprise, asked: ' What have you stopped for, I only wanted to wipe my nose.'
Many of the 'performances,' as far as they went, were good, and if they had been successful would have been remembered with pride and joy; however, very few enter these in their peal books and in course of time the dates become hazy, and it is only during those periods of reminiscences at some convivial gathering do we glean anything of these outstanding failures.
I used to make a note of my failures but they became so numerous that the practice ceased. Like many another, my first attempt for a peal failed, a broken rope being the cause. This was on December 21st. 1919. and several more went west ere I scored my first. My first attempt to call a peal came to grief through indifferent striking, and my second attempt at Disley on November 19th. 1921, was lost through good striking. The striking throughout this attempt was exceptionally good. and when the first 'slip' arrived no one was prepared for it-someone hesitated at lead with the result that every bell 'stood.' We looked at each other in amazement, and the late Rev. A. T. Beeston, who rang the treble, said: 'Well, we had better go outside and listen to them.'

New Mills has seen some failures, but none so comic as our first attempt for Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major there: the end was in sight, the treble was working down to lead for the last time when all of a sudden the ringer of the 4th went astray and would not be corrected and rounds did not come up. When asked what he was thinking about, the ringer of the 4th calmly replied: ' I was wondering how County had gone on.' Needless to say, Alan Samson went home alone that night.

The eccentric Rector of Taxal, the late Rev. S. Evans, caused a few failures. At this church the ringers stand on the ground floor of the west tower, so it is not possible to lock the door, and you could not keep old Sammy away. Half way through my first attempt there, in walked his reverence carrying as basket containing bottled ale and glasses: then saying we must be feeling thirsty, he commenced to fill the glasses-need I say more? Still, the old man was a good sort and you could not be angry with him - he laid on a good feed at the 'Royal Oak' to make amends. One branch meeting at Taxal nearly came to an untimely end through one of the members not knowing the Rector, who on seeing a very unkempt, tramp-like figure with odd boots tied with string prowling around the church, decided to do something about it . . . a lot of oil had to be poured on the troubled waters.

Another failure caused by a broken rope might have been very disastrous: it happened a few days after my wedding, and the attempt was at Hyde. Having finished ringing earlier than we should have done, all adjourned to 'The George.' and I think we stayed a bit longer than anticipated. However, Bill Fernley and I managed to catch the last tram to Hazel Grove. We got off the tram and when we reached Grove Street Bill asked me if Rachel was at my mother's. I had to admit she was not and that I had forgotten all about her. To make matters worse, rain was coming down in torrents: the last tram had returned to Stockport so I had to walk back to the house I had passed twenty minutes' earlier on the tram. Needless to say. I never was allowed to go to Hyde unaccompanied after that.

I have found that not all failures can really be classed as 'failures' in the true sense of the word, for they invariably have lead to something better, and I think I am right in saying it is also the experience of all ringers.

Ringers are featured in this year's Royal Academy. Entitled 'The Bell Ringers,' the painting is based on a scene in Liverpool Cathedral when the bells are being rung. It is a compelling composition, showing the ringers outlined against the blackness of the dark beams. The artist, Mr. J. A. Clecland, art master at Grangefield Grammar School, Stockton, spent several hours sketching scenes in Liverpool Cathedral. The picture had previously been shown at Manchester City Art Gallery.

Congratulations to Mr. Ernest Treagus and John K. Cooper, who have rung their 100 th peal.
The peal at Eye on April 13th was specially arranged for the 21 st birthday of Mr. John Girt, one of the local ringers. After the peal the band were kindly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rush.
Old friends from both sides of the border met at Carmarthen on May 5 th for the peal attempt at Llanstephan. During the peal the lightenders were confronted with the amusing spectacle of a large crayon drawing of 'Mickey Mouse' on the whitewashed wall, being, so it scemed, over the conductor's shoulder. It gave the impression that 'Big Brother' was watching him in case he missed a bob!

To enable them to ring on the heaviest ring of eight in the world, two Bristol Rural members travelled a distance of 111 miles on a - Vespa ' scooter to Sherborne Abbey and were rewarded with 168 Grandsire Triples. Persons knowing the two will regard this as a record. It is claimed that this was the greatest weight (31 stones) to be carried on the smallest machine, for the greatest distance for the shortest ring. on the heaviest bells.

leaves for Melbourne, Australia, in June. George will be joined by his wife, nee Miss Diana M. Matthew, in six months. With some 250 peals to his credit, including Excter Cathedral, where he and his father performed on the tenor in October, 1954, he will be a useful additenor in October, 1954, he will be a useful addition to the team at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne. Diana's name has also appeared in our peal columns; she has been ringing four our peal columns; she has been ringing four years. Ringers wish them every happiness in their married life.
The death took place on May 13th of Mr. Arthur Firth, a valued member of Rotherham Parish Church ringers. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after Evensong and the Vicar (Bishop G. V. Gerand) visited the ringing chamber and offered prayers.
Ringers of St. Margaret's, Wolstanton, presented Mr. Philip S. Whalley with a new edition of Dove's 'Church Bclls' as a farewell gift on of Dove's Church Bclls as a farewell gift on leaving for National Service with the R.A.F. A quarter peal of Plain Bob Major also marked the occasion.
Congratulations to Miss Frances Welch. of Bennington, Herts, on ringing her first pcal, at Great Wymondley, Herts. Frances is the daughter of Mr. Jack Welch, who rang in the 12,000 of Bob Major at Bennington some years back.
A proposition has been made to install electronic church bells in St. John's Church, Lowestoft. Already the record of York Minster bells has been heard through the four loudspeakers in a demonstration. Perhaps the Rev. A. G. G. ## SOUTH OF ENGLAND RINGERS' RALLY

THE tenth Ringers' Rally was held at Bournemouth on May 5th, followed by the seventh George Williams Commemoration Dinner held at the Gaumont Restaurant, which was attended by 87 ringers and friends. Ringing took place duing the afternoon on the two Bournemouth octaves in a variety of methods.
The chairman, Rev. J. L. Featherstone, Vicar of St. John's, Surrey Road, invited Canon A. L. E. Williams, Vicar of Bournemouth, to say grace, and the company sat down to a wellserved dinner.
The loyal toast was honoured in the bellringers' traditional fashion by the ringing of a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells.
Mr. William B. Cartwright, Master of the Worcestershire Association, proposed 'The County Borough of Bournemouth.' He said he knew very little about the county borough in spite of having visited Bournemouth regularly for nearly 25 years, but he had always received a very kind welcome from all when visiting Bournemouth, especially from the bellringers. He revealed that during the last day or so he had joined the ranks of the old stagers by becoming a grandfather (applause).
Councillor H. P. E. Mears responded, and brought the apologies for absence of the Mayor and Deputy Mayor, who were both busily engaged elsewhere in the borough. He recalled that his first duty as Mayor in Coronation Ycar was to come to the Ringers' Dinner in the Devonshire Hotel. He was glad Mr. Cartwright decided not to talk about sewage: he agreed with him that something ought to have been done about the piers and outlined some of the difficulties and hindrances they were up against.

VICAR AND BELL COMPLAINTS

The Vicar of Bournemouth, in proposing the toast of 'Bells and Bellringers,' commented that he did not know if it would be in order for Mr. Cartwright and Councillor Mears to discuss sewage at that stage as they had a Conference of the Sanitary Inspectors of England coming to Bournemouth, and he had just arranged for them to have a church parade service on the Sunday of their stay. In a tribute to the work of ringers, the Canon said: 'You ringers are a strong medium of advertisement for the Church You call to the people-Come to church! Come to church!! You are doing a great part of the advertising for us and we clergy are grateful to you.' Sometimes letters arrived at the Vicarage saying how beautiful the bells are, and sometimes the letters were quite rude. Sometimes peoplc telephoned complaining about the bells. He always asked them if they came to church, and the reply was usually: 'Oh, no! I don't go to church'-very significant, commented Canon Williams.

Mr. J. A. C. King, hon. secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, responded on behalf of the ringers.

COMMEMORATION DINNERS

Mr. Arthur Davis, in proposing 'The Memory of Mr. George Williams,' said he was sure that there were others in the room that evening who were in a much better position to propose the toast, having known the late Mr. George Williams as a personal friend. Mr. Davis said that he had heard it mooted at different times that the Commemoration Dinner should be dropped: he had heard it in connection with other dinners in other parts of the country and it had been suggested in connection with this dinner

It would be a pity to do this,' the speaker said, 'for these men and their contemporaries had done so much for the bells and bellringing that we should be grateful to them and honour ibeir memory. Had Mr. George Williams been alive that day and with them that evening, he would have been delighted at the tribute paid to them by Canon Williams and he would have left them that evening with renewed resolution to do all within his power to further the art of bellringing.
Mr. Davis hoped that the function would continue to be the George Williams Commemoration Dinner,' and that it would continue to gather strength in the years to come.
The chairman proposed the toast of "The Visitors.' Mr. Featherstone first of all read apologies from Canon R. P. Price, Vicar of Christchurch. An apology for absence was also received from the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, of Southampton. The chairman welcomed the visitors who were with them that evening, and he hoped they had enjoyed their visit. He had great pleasure in endorsing what the Vicar of Bournemouth had said about bellringers, and could assure all present that there was always a welcome awaiting them at Christchurch at St. Petcr's or at his own church of St. John, Surrey Road.

Mr. Gcorge Pullinger replied for the visitors, saying that they were most grateful to those responsible for arranging such an enjoyable function. It was worth coming to the Dinner just to hear the excellent handbell ringing of the Bournemouth people and also to hear the beautiful singing of Mr, and Mrs. Charles Beresford
That morning he had called upon another old ringer well known in Bournemouth area, Mr. George Preston, and he was very sorry to say that Mr. Preston was far from well, but he sent his best wishes to them for a very successful evening. Mr. Pullinger said he would like to propose that the committee should send a message to Mr. Preston from that gathering.

During the evening Mr . and Mrs. Charles Beresford sang songs and duets: they were accompanied at the piano by Mr. Simon Preston, of Canford School. The Bournemouth handbell ringers rang some Spliced Royal and the St. Peter's handbell band rang a selection of tunes on their ring of 28 bells.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND  DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

Mr. W. B. Cartwright the New Master

THE 73rd annual meeting of the Worcester shire and Districts Association, held at Worcester on Easter Monday, attracted the usual good attendance of members, together with visitors from distant parts of the country. The service was held in All Saints' Church, the Chaplain, the Rev. L. J. Birch, officiating, assisted by the Rev. A. Webb, and Miss D. Hicks as organist.

At the general business meeting in College Hall, the Dean of Worcester, the Very Rev. W. E. Beck, presided, and he was supported by the Rev. L. J. Birch, Mr. C. Skidmore (Master) and Mr. J. D. Johnson (general secretary and treasurer).

Arising from the minutes a letter of thanks from Great Comberton Church Council was read, thanking the Association for a grant of $£ 15$ lowards their restoration scheme, and it was further reported that the Central Committee had approved a provisional grant of $£ 10$ to Redmarley.

Reporting for the Central Committee, the secretary said that the Guildhall being fully booked up for October, the Hall had been booked for the nearest available Saturday, and that the annual dinner would be held this year on 3rd November. Further, that the Ladies' Guild would be holding their annual meeting in Worcester on July 7th, and that the Committee had decided to entertain them to tea. The Committee felt, however, that such an invitation would have to be limited to bona-fide members of the Guild.

The librarian (Mr. C. W. Cooper) stated that during the year eight applications had been received for the loan of 12 books.

The balance sheet for the year showed that performing membership had increased by 11 to a total of 489 . The membership badges had proved very popular, and the first issue was proved sold out; the sale of 205 resulted in a credit to the General Fund of over $£ 30$. The General Fund had a credit balance for the year of $£ 4117 \mathrm{~s}$. 4 d ., or excluding the badge account, still a balance of $£ 112 \mathrm{~s}$. 4 d . on the year. The Belfry Repair Fund had increased in value by over $£ 18$ to a total of $£ 228 \mathrm{19s}$ s 5 d ., and the total worth of Association Funds stood at $£ 287$ 14s. 11 d.
The Dean of Worcester was unanimously reelected president, and the clerical and lay vicepresidents were re-clected en bloc, with the addition of the Rev. A. Webb to the former. The retiring Master, Mr. C. Skidmore, having previously intimated to the committee that he felt it time for someone else to take the office. proposed Mr. W. B. Cartwright as the new Master, and this was unanimously agreed to. Sterling tributes were paid by the chairman and other members to the work of Mr. Skidmore, who had been Master since 1948. All other officers were re-elected.
The arrangements for the annual peal were left to the new Master, and it was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Worcester
The appeal for Bow Bells was discussed. and eventually left to the Branches.
Bells used during the day were those at the Cathedral, All Saints', Claines, St. John's and Kempsey.

Mr. J. Bennett, of Grundisburgh. after his world tour, is on holiday in Jersey. He writes: "This is no place for "tower grabbing," but very good for bell-hunting if ones, twos and threes are considered. Have been up among the bells in the three towers given in Dove's Guide. Of the ring of six at St. Mark's. hung for ringing in 1844 by Mears, two bells only have wheels and can be swung. The other four are moved and permanently fixed, all (apparently) for the sake of a heavy bell ( $50-60 \mathrm{cwt}$. perhaps) which is hung "dead" in the centre of the tower.'

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

THE annual general meeting was held in Norwich on May 5th, attended by nearly 100 members and friends from all parts of the Diocese and Suffolk.
Ringing took place at St. Peter Mancroft (12), St. Giles' (8) and St. George, Colegate (6), during the afternoon and evening.
The annual service was held in St. Peter Mancroft Church, conducted by the Vicar, Canon Waddington, assisted by the Revs. H. G. Lillingston and A. G. G. Thurlow. The address was given by the Bishop of Thetford (the Rt. Rev. M. P. G. Leonard), whose theme was 'Sermon in Sound.' Most Englishmen living abroad would say the sound in memory which most stirred their hearts was the sound of bells stealing across the meadows on a quiet summer's evening. The sound of bells, like wireless, could get into houses closed to the clergy. They proclaimed that this is a Christian country. A sermon in sound, said the Bishop, reached a wider audience than the words of the preacher.
A substantial tea was provided by the wives of several of the Norwich ringers in the Chantry Hall.
The president, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston, presided at the business meeting. A list of members who had passed on to higher service was read, and members present stood for a moment in silent memory of the late president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard, W. Brooke (Kings Lynn), N. R. Bailey (Aldeburgh), W. Chandler (Spooner Row), H. G. Fulcher (Starston), C. J. More (Palgrave), W. J. Nudds (London), F. J. Roope (Pulham Market), R. C. Sharpe (Newmarket), F. J. Tillett (Ipswich) and F. Warrington (St. Ives).

CONGRATULATIONS TO NOLAN GOLDEN

The president congratulated Mr. Nolan Golden upon completing 1,000 peals, and spoke of the devoted service Mr. Golden had rendered to the Association for many years. He also praised the work of the Branch secretaries and Ringing Masters, especially the way Branch meetings were conducted. He welcomed new members into the Association and urged them to persevere and keep the bells ringing in the villages. Help from other towers would do much to encourage these newcomers. Members were reminded that they were office holders in the church, and after ringing for the service should take their place with the congregation.
The general secretary reported a year of steady progress, especially in the number of young people coming into the Association. Membership was now 446 . Elected during the year: 5 honorary and 38 ringing members.

Restoration work had been carried out at Great Ryburgh to the tenor. At Gressenhall the six had been augmented to eight by the addition of two new trebles. Restoration was also being carried out at Carlton Colville and a band of learners are attending practice nights at Pakefield. An appeal had been launched at East Dereham for the eight to be recast and rehung in a new frame. Grants had been made from the Belfry Repair Fund for all the foregoing and to Thetford St. Peter's for repair work carried out on the 6th.

The new Association badge, designcd by Mr. Nolan Golden, had been on sale and approximately 150 had been sold since the last annual meeting.

MEMORIAL TO LATE PRESIDENT

Subscriptions for the memorial to be erected to the memory of the late president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard, amounted to approximately £18. It is proposed to place a bronze tablet in the ringing chamber at Mulbarton Church in the near future.

The Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Barrett, reported that the peal total equalled the 1952 post-war record of 97 . In view of the apparent increasing interest and enthusiasm it is hoped that the 1937 record total of 108 would soon be surpassed.
The accounts were presented by the treasurer and adopted by the meeting.
Officers elected for the ensuing year: President, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston; general secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Love; vicepresidents re elected with the addition of Mr . Nolan Golden (after 32 years' service to the Association; Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Barrett; hon. auditor, Mr. A. Bason.
It was agreed to donate $£ 5$ to the Bow Bells Appeal Fund.
Votes of thanks were passed to Canon Waddington for conducting the service, the Bishop of Thetford for giving the address, the various clergy for their permission to ring their bells, and the ladies who had provided and served the teas.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

 South-West BranchOver 40 ringers supported the meeting held at Stowford on April 28th. The Guild's new form of service was used by the Branch for the first time and was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. J. Hearne), who in the course of his address extended to all present a cordial welcome to Stowford.
The meeting coincided with a village fete to raise funds for the purchase of a village hall, and the ringing of the tuneful bells formed a pleasing background to the activities during the afternoon and evening.
A buffet tea was served in the old church school, which will eventually be the new village hall.
Mr. G. Harry Myers (vice-president of the Guild) presided at the business meeting in the absence of the Branch chairman, Mr. H. Howard Thomas, who was ill.
Four new members were elected, the belfry elections of five others confirmed, and Guild proficiency certificates presented to the following members of Plympton St. Maurice: Miss B. Browning, Miss R. Hansford, and Messrs. D. J. Farnham, K. Farnham, D. Pengelly and M. Roberts.

A joint meeting with the Mid-Devon Branch will be held at Plymouth on June 30th, and the next Branch meeting at Modbury on September 29th, subject to permission.

A SUFFOLK WEDDING

Mr. George Pipe and Miss Diana Matthew
St. Nicholas' Church, Bedfield, Suffolk, is not often filled to capacity, but it was on May 12th, when Mr. George James Wilgress Pipe, of Easta, Grundisburgh. was married to Miss Diana Mary Matthew, of White House Farm, Bedfield.
The bride's father, Mr. F. W. Matthew, is people's warden, and the bridegroom's father, Mr. C. W. ('Jim ') Pipe, is the former secretary of the Suffolk Guild and a member of the Central Council.
Both the bride and bridegroom are peal ringers, and many ringers from Suffolk, Norfolk and beyond were present at the ceremony.
The officiating clergy were the Rev. Hugh Wilson (Vicar of Bedfield and Monk Soham) and the Rev. J. Anthony Thursfield (Vicar of Grundisburgh). Mr. Frank Davies, of Grundisburgh, a friend of the bridegroom, was the organist.
The bride made her own gown of white nylon organza trimmed with lace. She wore a tulle veil and a pink and red rose headdress. There were four bridesmaids-the Misses Barbara Paramour and Rosemary Reynolds, dressed in pale mauve eyelet material, and little Pat Mayhew and Heather Airey, in primrose eyelet. Five-year-old John Willis was pageboy.
Mr. Barrie Steel was the best man and the bridegroom's brother, Roderick, usher.
Call changes and Cambridge Minor were rung on the Bedfield bells at the end of the service and the bells were also fired.
The reception was held in a large marquee on the lawn at the bride's home, and the health of the happy pair was proposed by Mr. Henry Bradley. The honeymoon is being spent somewhere in the south-west.
In connection with his business in the lawn mower and general sales department of Messrs: Ransome, Sims and Jefferies, of Ipswich, the bridegroom leaves for Melbourne in June. and the bride is to join him there six months later.
In the evening an attempt for a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Grundisburgh broke down after several courses had been rung. Afterwards 1,287 Stedman Caters were brought round.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society held its April meeting at All Saints' Church, Driffield, at the invitation of the Vicar (Rev. John Watkins) and Sgt. T. H. Huddleston, E.R. Constabulary, captain of the local ringers.

Forty-eight members attended and the bells were raised in peal and rung to various methods during the afternoon.

The service, held in church, was conducted by the Vicar, assisted by Rev. George Storer, chaplain to the Society, during which one of the hymns was accompanied by handbells rung by the local ringers.

Tea, provided by the local ringers and the Verger, and served by their wives and mothers, was taken in the choir room adjoining the church, and followed by the business meeting.
The Vicar, in his reply to a vote of thanks, stated how pleased he was to see this first meeting by any association of ringers to be held at Driffield, and hoped they would enjoy their visit and come again.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

IS THE PEAL WELL AND TRULY RUNG ?
Dear Sir,-I was amused to read the account in 'Belfry Gossip" of the peal attempl where it was not noticed that the clapper of onc of the bells was missing. To my mind this raises an interesting point: can a peal be said to be well and truly rung if for some reason a bell docs not sound, even if the ringer of that bell and the rest of the band ring faultlessly? Perhaps the Central Council can supply an answer.-Yours faithfully:
Wallasey, Cheshire.

THE STALWARTS OF OLD

Dear Sir,-We read today of faulty peals, so I will give you a personal experience of mine years ago with the old stalwarts of St. Peter's, Sudbury. I had the honour to ring a few quarter peals with them for services, my bell at St. Peter's being the fifth (having been told it was the only one I could strike properly!).

As was usual, rounds were rung until the exact time to start the quarter. 'Go. Kent' was called, and I committed a grave offence about half way by missing my 5-6 dodge. For the rest of the ringing I received a scowl from David whenever I was approaching that position. After 'Stand' was called, he stepped off the tenor box and informed me in no uncertain words that I had ruined it !

Over two months elapsed before I was allowed to ring with him for service again. He lived seven miles from Sudbury and if no transport was available he walked-but heaven help anyone who arrived late.

All the youngsters were afraid of him where ringing was concerned, and yet we all loved him.-Yours truly,

LESLIE D. MILLS.
Bures, Suffolk.

THE PEAL AT FOLKINGHAM

Dear Sir,-As conductor of the peal of Plain Bob Minor rung at Folkingham on April 2nd, 1 most strongly deny Mr. C. T. H. Bradley's allegation that the bells only came into rounds six times. This mythical third 720 has evidently become a persistent obsession with him as this is the sixth consecutive occasion on which he has protested to me personally. It appears that after the first 720 Mr . Bradley's powers of observation and also concentration lead him violently astray. The very consistency of the ringing proves that there was nothing to complain about, viz.: First 120, 23 mins.; second. 23 mins. ; third, 23 mins.; fourth, 24 mins.: fifth, $24^{\circ}$ mins. ; sixth, 23 mins.; scventh, 23 mins.

This cynical criticism by Mr. Bradley every time one goes is rather embarrassing from onc who should know better. Why did he not come to the belfry and complain instead of leaving us locked in? If we are not welcome we would appreciate being told so. The Rector is always delighted for us to go. If Mr. Bradley had his way, I'm sure all peals would be withdrawn. According to him, in fact, to use his own words to me: (I) "There are very few true peals rung anywhere.' (2) 'Peal ringing is a farce. (3) 'Peals are ten a penny today.' These striking assumptions I'm afraid he would find hard to prove. I can say with honesty and confidence that the bells came into rounds at the end of each 720 clearly, and I have no intention of wnthdrawing it. I have consulted all who took part in it and they are astounded at Mr. Bradley's fabrication.-Y Yours faithfully.

JAMES H. MUSSON.

Dear Sir, - I wonder how many of your readers have noticed, as I have, the general decline in the number of different methods practised on 10 and 12 bells? It is possible to count on the fingers of both hands the number of 10 -bell methods which appear with reasonable regularity in the peal columns; whilst this can be accomplished using only one limb for 12-bell methods.

I further wonder how many readers have found a reason for this lack of variety. Perhaps the key lies in James Barke's preface to his 1955 edition of 'Burns' Poems and Songs,' wherein he says, 'His experience, if scaring, was fundamental and therefore universal.' Yes, indeed. If a method is fundamental it will be universal. That, I think, is why many new Major methods are rung once and then forgotten. As an old Apache once said, "Hot fires burn out quickly.'

About 12 months ago ' E. C. S.' wrote a fine leading article entitled 'Fresh Possibilities,' in which he quoted Sherlock Holmes as saying, 'There is nothing new under the sun.' What appears in the rest of this letter will, I hope, be considered weighty evidence against this statement, for the following is the result of over two years' (on and off) thought on the subject. Below are some of the products of the final distillation; I trust they are fundamental enough to be considered of universal appeal. Firstly, one of the most beautiful and musical methods is Double Norwich Major. The Royal, however, is far less appealing and enjoys little popularity Below is the place-notation of a method which I have called Norfolk Court Bob. Royal. In this method all the work of Double Norwich Major is completely reproduced with the sole exception of full work at the back The only addition is plain hunting.

( ${ }^{\prime} \mathrm{X}$ ' means that no places are made.)
Next, let us consider Bristol Surprise. Whilst the Royal (and Maximus) produced by A. Craven are undoubtedly the correct extensions, there are two main attributes which are not preserved, namely, four-bell work and ex-tending-bob-leads. I have called the following method Bedminster Surprise Royal (it is actually an improvement of the original, and may even prove to be better than Bristol Major !). $\times 70 \times 14 \times 56 \times 36$ ( 14 and 70 ) X ( 14 and 70 )

The blue-line of this is very similar to that of the Major, the main difference being the addition of a double-dodge to the point-blowsthis portion of the work is, I think, 'held together' better as a result.
The following method I have called Nottingham Surprise Royal.

. . AND ALL UNCHARITABLENESS ${ }^{\text {? }}$ ?
Dear Sir,-Mr. W. Birmingham's attack on 'Technical Tittle-tattles' can hardly have any result other than possibly to hinder the very work that many ringers of long standing consider to be of prime importance, namely, the encouragement and help of the learner by articles or lectures or practical instruction. To counter this potential hindrance (and not in any self-defence, which seems unnecessary in this case) I would offer the following comments
(1) The series of articles, as you know, sir, has been planned not for crystallised critics, but for open-minded learners, who initially find difficulty and disinterest in the paper work of ringing. It is intended firstly to arouse their interest and show that their difficulties are appreciated, and then to smooth them out.
(2) In a life largely spent in instructing and lecturing, experience has shown the value of certain methods of exposition and explanation. Learners are entitled to any benefit of such proved experience. That such methods are appreciated is revealed in personal contacts up and down the country. (Beginners are often reIuctant to 'go into print.')
(3) Almost innumerable references may be quoted from authoritative writers on the need for what Mr. B. seems entirely to have overlooked in his attack, namely, distinctive terms and clear definitions as the essential bases of all sound exposition. For example, from Dr. Robert H. Thouless, of Cambridge-a past president of the British Psychological Societyin his work, 'Straight and Crooked Thinking'; or again, from W. W. Sanger, also of Cambridge, in his book entitled 'Mathematician's Delight'; or, to come to ringing literature, take Shipway, who recognised the same lack of basic essentials in it; or Snowdon, who also refers to Shipway's views, and who, in his "Treatise on Treble Bob,' says : ' . . . the explanations published hitherto appear to me to be generally very hard to understand, and in some cases quite at variance with the truth .... I (am) of opinion that other words might be found better adapted to express meaning than are those actually employed .... The same idea is expressed by the compilers in their introduction to the Central Council's 'Glossary of Technical Terms.' In short, there is still the need for clearer terms, and beginners do appreciate the point. Our duty remains clear.
(4) Mr. B.'s objection to the Latin-derived word 'transit' appears without 'rhyme or reason, when it is realised that some of the most commonly-used words in ringing parlance are pure Latin. For example. for the stages of a method family- 'Minimus,' Minor,' 'Major' and 'Maximus.' Also he seems to have forgotten that 'transit,' often used in astronomical connections, in this sense, refers to the relative crossing-over of two heavenly bodies. In fact it does, of course. literally mean a going across, something : that is, a relative motion is implied between two things. Hence its appropriate use to express succinctly the crossing-over of two bells. If he has not come across it in ringing parlance, that will not adversely affect any beginner who has readily formed a definite concept from its definition!
(5) Mr. B.'s last paragraph, asking how to recognise the phase of any particular changerow (following Mr. Shepherd's discussion of 'odd' and 'even' rows). rather lays the questioner open to this: the answer lies in ascertaining the number (odd or even) of transits required to convert that row back to rounds. Short cuts of recognition are built up from this simple and undeniable fact. (The seventh article in the T. T-T. series was planned to deal with this subject.)

Not to recognise the truth of these things seems like trying to deny, to our more recentlyjoined members of the Exercise, their right to know the facts.-Yours very truly.

Southsea.
A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

IRISH ASSOCIATION'S RECORD MEMBERSHIP

The annual mecting of the Executive Council of the Irish Association was held in Dublin on April 28th. Prior to it the final striking competition for the Murphy Cup was held at St. George's Church. Drogheda were the winners with 52 faults, Kilbroney second with 64 faults, and St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, had 67 faults. This is Drogheda's first time to win the all-Ireland Cup. They have now won in 1956 all possible trophies, having previously won the Attendance Challenge Shield and the Gabriel Lindoff Cup for District striking competition.

The business meeting was held in St. George's Parochial Hall and was attended by most of the District representatives. Before the meeting commenced all stood in silence as a mark of respect for those members who had died since the last meeting, viz.: T. Dunwoody (Holywood), W. Fulton (Enniskillen), D. Lowther (Londonderry), H. S. Lightbody and W. Young, life members; $T$. Hammond and Harold $J$. Poole.
It was reported that the invitation had been issued to the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers to hold its meeting in Ireland in 1958, and that the matter was left with the councillors to think it over and save up.
Points from the annual report were as follows:
Bell Inspections.-'The Armagh Diocesan Church Inspection and Advisory Committee in its first annual report on 20 churches thoroughly examined, referred to dangerous conditions on a number of their bells.'
Bell Dedications.-A new ring of ten bells was dedicated at St. Mark's Church, Dundela. Belfast.
Peal Ringing.-Only two handbell peals were rung during 1955. There were no tower bell peals.
Accounts.-The Central Fund kalance shows a slight decrease over previous years and steps were suggested to remedy same. At present the balance is about $£ 47$.
Membership. -The total membership at 31st December was 516 , of which resident ringers numbered 385 -the greatest number yet reached in the history of the Association.
The report of the 'Irish Bell News' was also adopted. It expressed concern at the drop in circulation and appealed for more readers.
The following were elected life members:Fred Henly and William Green (Drogheda), in recognition of their 54 years' service to ringing; Dr. H A. Magennis (Hillsborough), D. Ireland, J.P. (Belfast), R. Greer (Drumbo), Miss E. M. Young (Carrickfergus) and Miss L. M. Cunningham, J.P. (Rostrevor).
An appeal from the Bow Bells Restoration Committee was placed before the meeting. It was decided not to take any action at this meeting pending further information which the general secretary is to obtain.
It was decided to make a grant of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. towards the repairs to the bells at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin. These bells are at present in the hands of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.
The election of officers resulted as follows: President, William Pratt (Holywood); vicepresidents, Rev. J. Barry, S. J. Evans and F. Bogan; Master and librarian, R. S. F. Murphy, P.C.; general secretary, Fred E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath; auditors, W. Bovenizer and R. W. Smyth ; badge secretary, J. T. Dunwoody; representatives on the Central Councit, F. E. Dukes, J. T. Dunwoody and Miss J. Stewart.
The Council decided that, in order to encourage those towers who are struggling in their efforts to learn change-ringing, plain hunting will be permitted to comply with the rule requiring 240 changes of method for striking competitions.
Touches of Plain Bob Minor, Triples and Major and Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung at St. George's Church after the meeting.

AN EXAMPLE FROM WALES

For Ascension Day service at Cowbridge, Glam, a band of pupils from schools in the borough rang call changes. They were Stewart Cooksley (14), Vernon Hopkins (16), Mary Burnage (14). Dianne Morgan (15), Roger Brown (15). Barbara Evans (15), Anthony Hutchings (16), Clive Howell (15). Tony Hutchings called, and according to "The Lion. the weekly newspaper of Cowbridge Grammar School, the striking was extremely good. Another band of scholars afterwards rang rounds. This is the first time the eight bells have been rung for a service by a band consisting entirely of school pupils.

REDEDICATION

BIDSTON, BIRKENHEAD

During Evensong on Palm Sunday the bells of St. Oswald's, Bidston, were rededicated by Rev. E. O. A. Thomas, Rural Dean of Birkenhead.

The bells, a light ring of six (tenor $5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., approx.), have been rehung on ball-bearings with new fittings after quarter turning and returning by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.
It is some 40 years since the bells received professional attention, and had progressively deteriorated, the wheels in particular being in a very bad state. The wooden frame, however, was in very good order, and drilling revealed that it is teak and not oak as previously assumed.
The tone of the bells leaves a lot to be desired but money was not available for recasting and the bellhangers are to be commended on the improved resonance.
Whilst the bells were away the local ringers, under their young captain, Mr. 'Banky' Pemberton, redecorated the inside of the tower from roof to floor level, and richly deserved the thanks extended to them by the Vicar on behalf of all members of the church.

MR. HOWARD HOWELL'S 500 PEALS

With the peal of Grandsire Cinques at Walsall on April $28 \mathrm{th}, \mathrm{Mr}$. Howard Howell, of Wolverhampton, completed his 500th peal (conducted 174 peals). These have been rung for 17 Societies in 121 different towers: 397 have been rung for the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.
Doubles.-One to six methods, 33 peals ( 8 conducted).

Minor.-One to seven methods, 61 peals.
Triples.-- 52 peals (1).
Major- 114 peals (29).
Caters.- 111 peals ( 70 ).
Royal.- 34 peals (10).
Cinques. 85 peals (51).
Maximus. 7 peals (4).
Doubles on handbells. -2 pcals (1).
Major on handbells.-1 peal.
Total: 500 peals; 174 conducted.

THE LADIES' GUILD Hereford Branch

Despite the wet weather a fair number of ringers were present at the quarterly mecting held at Leominster Priory on April 14th.
It was possible, thanks to the gentlemen ringers, to ring the ten bells, and apart from a few unfortunate incidents the meeting went off smoothly!
The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. Thomas, Vicar of Kimbolton, after which tea was taken in the Church Hall. This was followed by the business meeting, where several new members were elected.
R. J.

Midland Branch

A meeting of the Midland Branch was held at Waltham-on-the-Wolds on April 14th, and was well attended despite the cold weather. The bells were rung to various methods before the service, conducted by the Rector. Tea was organised by the wives of the local ringers and upheld the high standard always set at Waltham.

At the meeting it was decided to cancel the outing to Derbyshire on June 2nd, owing to lack of support, and it was decided to hold a meeting at Rothwell on the same date. Mrs. Smart, of Waltham, was elected a member.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD'S EASTER TOUR

HOR its first ringing week, the Southampton University Guild decided to employ the bicycle as a means of locomotion and to base its activities on Weston-super-Mare. It was also decided to investigate the hospitality offered by the Youth Hostels Association, and by these means we were able to maintain cost at a reasonable level. It was found, surprisingly enough, that members also wished to travel between Southampton and Weston by bicycle, and so the Ringing Week commenced at Southampton on April 21st.

Our first Somerset towers were gained with service ringing at St. Cuthbert's, Wells, and Uphill (Old Church), where we were warmly welcomed by the local ringers. The presence of the sun made cycling and ringing a very exhausting business, but the production of varying sun-tan lotions by the ladies to ease their reddened features soon banished the sun from the skies, and the skin from their noses.

We were, of necessity, restricted in choice of towers, but we visited all the eights and sixes within reazh, all in perfect conditions and a credit to the local ringers, taking the opportunity to raise the ringing abilities of our members, both in handling heavy bells and in extending their method capabilities.

Vivid memories of the tour remain, such as the sight of our secretary suspended on the sally of the 35 cwt Congresbury tenor and still unable to pull it off, and the sight of our Master-elect, underestimating the weight of the Wrington tenor and falling off his box in his attempt to pull off in time. He succeeded in turning it in very nicely to rounds, while he $\mathrm{re}_{8}$ gained his perch! We also remember Axbridge, where the Rector was so busy in regaling us with the history of the church and town that he forgot to explain to us the intricate clock chimes-we hope they strike properly now. At Winscombe the Vicar had forgotten us and had not returned from his holiday. The scxton, a fund of knowledge, informed us of the keys" whereabouts, the cost of a phone call to Bristol, the easiest road to Bath, the name of the nearest pub to our next tower, the cost of getting married, and the winner of the Cup Tie-almost in one breath. Also we remember crossing the Mendips in a hailstorm after splicing our only broken rope, at Burrington. The men are not likely to forget the missing pyjama cords, or the keyhole, with the eye on the other side, in the door separating the dormitories at Cheddar Youth Hostel.
The highlight of the week was on the Tuesday when, with the aid of cars driven by friends and relations, we held a day's outing in the Exmoor region. The picturesque town of Dunster resounded to the tune of Stedman, Plain Bob and Double Norwich on the fine eight, while on the even finer Taylor ten of Minehead. Grandsire Caters and Kent Royal sounded even better. While we 'grabbed' the six at Porlock, our drivers prepared their engines for the climbs ahead. Our ascent of the famous, almost vertical Porlock Hill, took us straight through the low clouds, and we celebrated our arrival above them by serenading a very lonely and startled A.A. man with a course of Bob Major 'in hand.' Our arrival in Devon was marked with a course of London on the Lynton six. and soon we were gorging ourselves with a Devon cream tea. We returned over the centre of Exmoor, ringing on the new Mears six at Exford.

Our tour was completed with an invitation from the Bristol University Society to an afternoon's ringing. After being fed at their refectory, we were taken on a lightning toun of the city, managing, in the course of the afternoon, to visit eight towers, cycling twenty miles round Bristol to do so. We have to thank Bristol for knowledge of how to cycle through and across fast moving traffic, without wasting precious ringing time; how to ring "Chase " and "Clifford's Pleasure,' and an introduction to Cecil's motor-bike. Thank you very much, Bristol, for the way in which you turned out to make our afternoor enjoyable.
In all, we visited 36 towers- 3 tens, 9 eights and 24 sixes. Methods rung were: RoyalKent; Caters-Grandsire ; Major-Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent, Little Bob and Cambridge; Triples-Grandsire, Stedman, Oxford Bob and Hawkhurst Bob; Minor-London, Surfleet, Beverley, Cambridge, Kent T.B., Oxford T.B., Killamarsh T.B., Plain Bob, Double Oxford, Single Oxford, St. Clement's, Forward and Reverse Forward, or Backward, as we have named it.

Before closing, we would like to thank the parents of our local members at Weston, who entertained us right royally during the week to teas and suppers, and also the members of the Bath and Wells Association, who welcomed us to their districts and towers.
D. C. J.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Canterbury District at Ospringe

Fifty-six members and friends attended the Canterbury District's quarterly mceting, held at Ospringe on April 28th. These came from 11 towers in the District, with visitors from East Farleigh and Brenchley, while another from Hildenborough slipped in to grab the tower.
The church, with a pleasing ring of eight, is set in equally pleasant surroundings, and has an unusual approach, via 'Water Lane,' which literally lives up to its name, as a stream runs along part of it and then disappears under the houses. A notice board asks motorists to drive slowly to avoid splashing the pavement.

After ringing during the afternoon, a service was held in the church, this being conducted by the recently inducted Vicar, Rev. M. G. Gilbert; Mr. G. Milgate was organist and Mr. J. A. Russell read the lesson.

Tea was taken in the Church Room, where all enjoyed a really good first attempt at catering in larger proportions by Mrs. E. T. Eades and Mrs. F. C. Farnsworth.

At the business mecting, Miss Molly Thursby, of Walmer, was elected a member. Selling was unanimously voted as the place of the next quarterly meeting. Ringwould outvoted Hernhill for a by-meeting previous.

ISLE OF WIGHT RINGING TOUR

Most people have made early starts for tours but not many can have set out earlier than eight ringers from the Bristol and Bridgwater areas, who met at Long Ashton at $3 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on April 7th to go to the Isle of Wight. Everything went according to plan, and breakfast, which had been booked for 8 a.m. at a conveniently situated hotel in Yarmouth, was welcomed enthasiastically.
Ringing got off to a good start at Freshwater (tenor $18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), a fine six, where we had a very warm welcome from the three local ringers. On our way from here to Shorwell the 'experts' inspected the ring of five at Brightstone where, we had been told, two of the five bells were out of order. The Vicar met us at Shorwell and took us on a conducted tour of the church-which we enjoyed more than the bells. After an excellent sandwich lunch we moved to Niton, a lovely little five, where the standard of striking was very good, which 'compensated' a bit for that at Whitwell ( $6,7 \mathrm{cwt}$.) where it was only average.
It was generally agreed that the finest bells on the island are at Godshill ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt} 3 \mathrm{qr} .7$ lb.), where we were met by Mr. L. Bailey. The bells were kept going almost continuously to various Minor methods and Stedman so that everyone could have a 'good ring.'
After a filling cooked tea at Brading we rang at two eight-bell towers, Brading itself and Carisbrooke. At Brading, after some initial difficulty with the chiming apparatus, we enjoyed touches of Stedman Triples and the first part of Parker's 12 -part. We were met at Carisbrooke by Mr. and Mrs. Guy and several other local ringers and we enjoyed about an hour's tinging on this fine-toned eight.
Everyone had a good night's sleep-well earned, we thought-and after an excellent hreakfast we rang for Matins at Newport. These bells, as we had been warned, are almost inaudible in the ringing chamber, so much so that the most appalling striking could pass almost unnoticed. Assisted by Mr. Jackson, we rang for the childrens service at Ryde. This concluded 'official' ringing and it remained only for us to drive back to Yarmouth for tea and the ferry. We were fortunate enough, however, to have a ring at Lyndhurst for evening service.
Thanks are accorded to Michael for making the arrangements, and Mrs. Guy who gave considerable help locally and arranged such excellent accommodation.

OBITUARY

MR. ALBERT NORTH

An esteemed member of the Yorkshire Association since 1910, Mr. Alfred North, of Mirfield, passed away on Thursday May 10th, aged 84 years. During his long association with ringing he had rung 17 peals, of which he had conducted two.

The funeral service was on May 14th, interment being in St. Mary's Churchyard. Handbells were rung at the graveside and St. Mary's bells were rung half-muffled as a token of respect.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

A New Band Welcomed

A fine day brought a large attendance at the Salisbury Branch meeting on April 21st at Compton Chamberlayne: 37 members of the Branch, and visitors from-one might almost say-as far afield as Coventry (A. E. Stote), St. Martha's, Korea (P. Minchin), and Durban (P Cahill). The Church of St. Michael overlooks the grounds and lake of Compton House, once the seat of Colonel Penruddock, a Royalist leader who lost his life in an attempted rising during the Commonwealth, and its whole setting is most attractive.

The 'ringing room' is the porch of the church, and the ring of six was kept going in rounds, call changes, standard methods and Cambridge during the afternoon until the service. The Rev. L. D. Griffith, of Barford St Martin, conducted the service, and gave an address which showed he had done much research into the history of bells; Miss E. Ball, of St. Paul's, Salisbury, was the organist.
After tea in the Village Hall, Mr. Griffith took the chair at the business meeting, the Branch chairman, Mr. H. A. Roles, being unavoidably absent. The secretary reported, amongst other things, the dedication by the Bishop of Salisbury on Easter Tuesday of the plaque and peal board at Damerham, in memory of the Rev. H. W. Moule, Vicar for 30 years, who died in 1953; as the inscription on the plaque tells: 'He taught many to ring.' Miss Ann Sweeney, now of Sarum St. Thomas, was elected a member, and perhaps the most notable event of the meeting was the election of eight members, the entire band, from Enford. Mr. F. W. T. Phillimore has built up this company and they have taught themselves to ring Doubles and Minor, in the short space of 18 months. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rectors of Fovant and Compton Chamberlayne, and of Barford St. Martin, and to Mrs. Avery who had so ably coped with the large number for tea.

Ringing continued during the evening at St. George's, Fovant (5), and St. Margaret's, Barford St. Martin (6).

Devizes Branch

The May meeting of the Devizes Branch, held at Upavon, was favoured with grand sunshine. Some 25 members attended to ring on this lovely six, with village and church set in the midst of Salisbury Plain. The Guild service was con: ducted by the Vicar. Tea was served in the Village Hall. A special welcome was given to Mr. H. Prout-his first meeting since his long illness. Mr. Prout expressed his pleasure at ringing again with old friends. but said that he had to go steady. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and to the ladies for the tea. Methods rung during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Cambridge Minor.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Mr. Frederick Sharpe Again at Annual Competition

The annual competition of the Guild was held at Llanbadarn Fawr, Cardiganshire, on May 12th. The Vicar, the Rev. Canon D. H. Lloyd, was at the church to receive the secretary, Mr. Chris. Hawkins, and the adjudicator, Mr. Frederick Sharpe, and his company of lady handbell ringers from Launton, Bicester, Oxford.

Four teams entered the competition, namely Carmarthen, Tenby, Llanelly and Llanbadarn Fawr, and by 4.10 p.m. the competition was over.
After tea, the Vicar kindly presided at the meeting, and extended a very hearty welcome to the members of the Guild. Then came the big moment when Mr. Frederick Sharpe, the adjudicator, rose to give his findings on the competition. After pointing out all the faults of each band he awarded the Dr. Prosser Shield to Llanbadarn Fawr, with Tenby 2nd, Llanelly 3rd, Carmarthen 4th. The shield and certificates were then presented to the winning bands by the Vicar's wife, Mrs. Lloyd.

Then came the highlight of the day, with Mr. Frederick Sharpe and the Launton Bicester handbell ringers giving a grand display of tunes and hymns on the handbells, while the members sang the hymns as well. This was greatly appreciated and members would have sat down for hours listening to the handbells.

We regarded it as a great honour to have Mrs. Sharpe and Mr. and Mrs. Steeples, not forgetting Elizabeth and all the other ladies at the meeting, thus making the competition a memorable one. We should like to express our thanks.
The meeting was brought to a close by a very hearty vote of thanks by Councillor Mr. R. E. Davies, of Burry Port, seconded by Mr. Ed. J. Thomas, of Carmarthen, the Master. The Vicar then said the prayers, and members made tracks for home after a most wonderful and lovely day.

LEICESTER, 1956

THE main impression of the Central Council meeting at Leicester was that it was a happy conference. True, there were differences of opinion; no big gathering of ringers would have complete unanimity; but the atmosphere was one of determination to advance the Exercise. Above all, there was a recognition that ringing was not merely a pastime or a healthy recreation that disciplines a man's or woman's physical and mental faculties, but when performed in conjunction with Sunday service ringing is an act of worship. For this we have the authority of the Bishop of Leicester. The ringing that precedes a service is not only a summons to worship but a part of the worship, he maintained. Ringers at times have differed on this point, but the endorsement of the Bishop on this matter is heartening and an encouragement to all to make Sunday service ringing something very different from a practice or a peal attempt-an offering to the Highest given with all our best skill. And this worship is not in the method but the perfection of the performance.

This thought seemed to dovetail into the afternoon's debate arising from Miss Marie R. Cross' notice of motion dealing with the reprinting of 'Hints to Instructors and Beginners.' Miss Cross carried the Council in her desire that not only should there be a complete revision, but a section should be incorporated of special use to beginners. Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson has been appointed to the subcommittee entrusted with the revision. He prepared a little booklet for his own beginners and it proved so popular that in two or three years he has disposed of between 2,000 and 3,000 copies. Although the demand was good he lost money on it, and is not prepared to face the costs of a new personal publication. At the present time the Central Council has only one booklet for beginners-'Village Bells'-a popular production which was commended by speakers with teaching experience. The idea is not to compete with the standard text books in the Jasper Snowdon series, or 'The Ringers' Handbook,' by the late Rev. E. S. Powell, but something inexpensive to whet the beginner's appetite. One of the pleasing features for the future of ringing is the increased interest on the part of H.M. Inspector of Education in ringing, both on handbells and on tower bells, as an evening institute activity. Experiments are being conducted in Yorkshire and other parts of the country. Simple text books, both for change ringing and tune ringing, are required; and while the latter is perhaps outside the purview of the Central Council, we know of many bands of change ringers who are first-class exponents. Literature on the subject is badly needed.

There are, however, other publications in the offing which might be confidently expected in the next 12 months. The Central Council librarian is anxious for a new edition of 'Minor Methods' and a new edition of 'Triples Methods.' and the Methods Committee are enthusiastic about 'delivering the goods.' There is plenty of new material to be incorporated, including Spliced Minor and various Triples methods at present unnamed and probably never attempted. The final manuscript of the Council's handbook is now ready for the printers. This is an urgent necessity. It is a deplorable fact that in view of the intricacy of our art there is no printed copy of the Council's Rules and Decisions available, and the appropriate back number of 'The Ringing World ' is the only guide. Fortunately the Council is in a position to face the initial cost of publications. On December 31st the Council had $£ 1,600$ in investments and also a substantial cash balance which more than covered existing liabilities. Since then the Council has received a bequest of $£ 815$ from the will of the late Mr. Clement Glenn.

The Council's most difficult child is 'The Ringing World.' With the increase of price to 6 d. , and by exercising stringent economies, 'The Ringing World' profit and loss account showed a credit on the right side of $£ 1,049$, which included $£ 217$ in donations. Within the last six weeks the position has changed completely with the new award of wages in the printing industry, and other factors that have to be met. To ensure the solvency of the paper additional revenue has to be found. This is being met by a slight increase in charges for notices and advertisements, and the hope that those who ring peals and quarter peals will make a voluntary donation when submitting their reports. The committee are strongly against an increase in price. We want a circulation fillip, and this will not be forthcoming if the selling price goes beyond sixpence. The position of 'The Ringing World' will be elaborated in a later editorial.

Another important step taken at Leicester was the paving of the way for a new president. A nomination in favour of Mr. Frederick Sharpe for this office will be presented to the 1957 Council meeting at Chelmsford. A new office is also to be introduced, that of vice-president. and the name of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow is to be submitted. This does not preclude other nominations being submitted for these offices, but the names mentioned have the support of the Standing Committee.

OUTINGS

NORTH SOMERSET RINGERS

Eight North Somerset ringers had an outing to Windsor on April 21 st, ringing en route at Andover and Basingstoke Parish Churches. A quarter of Stedman Triples was rung at St. John's, Windsor, and later through the introduction of Mr. A. J. Glass, the Curfew Tower bells.

ST. MARGARET'S, LEICESTER

The ringers and friends of St. Margaret's, Leicester, had, on May 12th, one of their best outings. Leaving Leicester at 8 a.m. a brief hale was made at Stratford-on-Avon, thence to Stroud, Glos, where the Vicar had-at very short notice- granted permission for half an hour's ringing

Then on to Bristol, where at St. Stephen-the-Martyr good touches in various methods were rung from 2 to 3 p.m. 'Uncle' Ernest recalled his previous visit in January, 1927, when he rang the 9th here to a peal of Stedman Caters called by Mr. A. E. Reeves. Down the street we went to Christ Church, where the ten bells were rung and a good half-course of Cambridge Surprise Royal brought round. Thence to the 'highlight' of the day-St. Mary Red-cliffe-with its magnificent ring of 12 (tenor $50^{\frac{3}{3}}$ cwt.) and a flat 6 th. After raising the back ten in peal a short touch of Grandsire Caters for 'the girls,' a well-struck half-course of Cambridge Royal and a course of Double Norwich (on the back eight) were successfully rung. Ringing concluded with a course of Stedman Cinques and a good 'fall.'
The journey home was interrupted for a visit to Bourton-on-the-Water to see the model village, and home was reached at midnight.

JOINT MEETING AT ASHBRITTLE

The 1956 joint meeting of the Taunton Deanery and the North-Eastern Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held on May 5th at Ashbrittle and attended by representatives from 14 differeat towers. A Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. Ralph-Bowman), who also took the chair at the business meeting.

Amongst those present at the meeting was Prebendary E. V. Cox and Mr. W. Ware (secretary, N.E. Branch, Devon Guild). During the ensuing business the chairman congratulated the Ashbrittle tower on completing 21 years' membership of the Bath and Wells Association; also Mr. Stanley Bristow, one of the original members of the tower, on his having recently rung his 50 th peal for the Association. The first peal by the local band was rung on November $23 \mathrm{rd}, 1935$.

Four new members were elected (all from the local tower) and it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Hilverton in September, subject to the incumbent's permission.
The Branch's representative on the General Committee informed the meeting that the Association had made Mr. J. Pugsley an honorary life member, to mark his long service to the Association, also that he hoped by the next meeting the proposed new rules for the Association would be available for the members to discuss and propose any further amendments.
The meeting closed with Mr. A. W. Hayward voicing the thanks of the meeting to all who had contributed to its success.

READING UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The annual report of the Reading University Society, presented at the A.G.M. held on May 10th, stated that the Society had had a good year. Practising as a band at St. Giles' had helped the ringing immensely, and the Society had maintained Sunday service ringing at St. Giles' as well as helping at St. Laurence's.
Eight ringing meetings were held during the year, ringing at which ranged from Treble Bob to rounds. Two joint meetings have been held with Oxford and Southampton Universities. Three members have rung their first peals, and several more have rung first quarters. The Society lost two quarters, but two "end of term" quarters have been rung with help.
The officers elected at the meeting were: Master, Miss Jean Dawson ; secretary, Mr. John White ; treasurer, Mr. John Coates.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The rehung bells of Warmley Parish Church were put to good use on May 5th, when the Bristol Rural and Bristol City Branches held a combined meeting. A service was conducted by Rev. L. Stevenson, Rector of Winterbourne.

About 50 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent tea at the nearby School Hall, and this was followed by a short business meeting, with Mr. T. T. Walters, Bristol Rural chairman, presiding.

Replying to the welcome to visitors, Dr. R. J. Brocklehurst, the Bristol City chairman, thanked the Rural Branch for allowing his Branch to visit Warmley.

 awarded to the local band of regular service ringers judged to be the best strikers, suggests a Hull reader. Contest could be at three levels district, county or association and finals. Collective glorification would then be substituted for individual glorification.Mr. Albert Walker reccived an invitation to come to London for the National Savings celebrations. He had the privilege of calling the service touch at St. Paul's Cathedral.
Mr. J. Frank Smallwood had a memorable day of service ringing on Whit Sunday. He rang for two services at each of the following towers: St. Paul's, Westminster Abbey and St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington.

Who was the member of the Central Council who blotted his copy book by breaking a stay at Leicester during Whitsun? Were his proteats that the stay must have been cracked before the unfortunate incident accepted by the rest of the company?
Shaftesbury, Dorset, Chamber of Trade had a complaint at their recent mecting, of church bells ringing at 6.30 a.m. at certain times of the year. The complaint emanated from a local hotelier, who was reminded that complaints might also be directed to the noise made by people leaving hostelries at 10 and 10.30 p.m., and waking up other people's children.
Bedfordshire Young Ringers had a spring weekend in Hertfordshire, starting on April 21st. Ringing took place at Great and Little Munden, Bennington, Aston and Kimpton. The night was spent at Whitwell Youth Hostel. For Sunday morning ringing the party divided, some going to Hitchin and others to King's Walden. It was a most enjoyable sunny weekend in a corner of rural England.

GOSSIP

To celebrate Mr. John Walder completing 50 years as a member of the Lincoin Diocesan Guild, peals of Stedman (his favourite method) were rung at Caythorpe, where he learned to ring, and at Lincoln Cathedral, where he is tower secretary. A wide circle of friends, we are sure, will wish to congratulate him.

The Rev. K. W. W. Felstead writes that the last peals rung at Elstree (page 308) and Rendcomb (page 309) were both in 1922.

Members of the Ladies' Guild attempted a peal of Cambridge Royal at Chilvers Coton on Whit Monday. It was unfortunately lost after two hours' ringing.
Using Thomas Hood's description of bells as 'music's laughter,' a ringer of experience writes entertainingly and instructively on bells in 'Pivot,' the excellent house magazine of Smiths of England.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, during their visit to Cornwall, were welcomed by the bells from the ancient Parish Church of Stokeclimsland. After inspecting the church the Duke spoke to the ten ringers, of whom the captain is Mr. Walter Rowe. At the Duke's request they gave a five minutes' demonstration of their art.

At the laying of the foundation stone of the new Church of St. Benedict, Bennett's End, Hemel Hempstead, Bob Major was rung on handbells and broadcast over the loudspeakers. The ringers were Miss P. A. Martin, G. Dodds, W. Ayre and D. E. Latchford. A tower with a ring of bells is contemplated in this church. A mecting of the Western District of the Herts County Association prevented a peal attempt on that day, but a peal in 12 Surprise methods was rung in the Mother Church at Apsley End the following Monday.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL AT LEICESTER

SERVICE RINGING AS WORSHIP - THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE - UNIVERSITY OF LONDON ADMITTED TO MEMBERSHIP - CLEMENT GLENN'S LEGACY OF $£ 815$ - 'THE RINGING WORLD' FINANCES - INCREASED CHARGES ABSORB PROFIT - PUBLICATION OF PEALS CHARGE AGAIN DEBATED

THERE was the second largest attendance at a Central Council meeting when the 27 th Council (59th annual meeting) was held at the Council Chamber of Leicester Town Hall on Whit Tuesday. The cordiality of the welcome to Leicester made a deep impression upon all members. The Lord Bishop gave a very gracious message at the opening of the Council meeting and the Lord Mayor, in a homely manner, made members feel welcome at the close of the long proceedings.

Of the business transacted perhaps the most important was the preparations for the retirement next year of Mr. E. H. Lewis from the office of president. A nomination supported by the Standing Committee will be submitted in favour of Mr. Frederick Sharpe as his successor. The Council also felt that it was desirable to have a vice-president, and for this office the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow will be the official nomination.

The most disturbing thing arising from the reports of committees was the report of 'The Ringing World ' Committee. The trading for 1955 resulted in a profit of $£ 832$ after disregarding donations, but the revised charges for printing introduced recently are so heavy that this favourable result will be nullified and new sources of revenue will be necessary.

THE BISHOP'S WELCOME

The Lord Bishop of Leicester (Dr. R. R. Williams), in a welcome to the Council to the Diocese of Leicester, said he felt that the Council had come to a good centre, where bellringing had a prominent place and was held in high honour.

I am afraid to talk about bellringing,' said the Bishop, 'because it is a world where it is easy to drop a brick or a clanger. When I saw the film "Richard III." I did not realise all the mistakes in ringing until I read "The Ringing World."

Ringers in Leicester owed much to the late ex-Inspector Harold Poole. The presence of this conference here was largely due to him, and during the week-end they had placed a plaque in the tower of Leicester Cathedral to the memory of the late ex-Police Inspector Harold Poole, a lay canon of the Cathedral and a prominent bellringer.

On a more cheerful subject, the Bishop said they had some good towers, which no doubt many of them had tried. He would like to mention one--St. John-the-Divine, Leicester. He was particularly interested in that tower because if it had not been for him that tower might not now be in being. When he came to Leicester there was a well-thought-out proposal for the demolition of that church. 'I do not know what would have happened to the bells if I had not found some excuses, other than the bells, for keeping the church. If that plan for closure had been approved I might have had the Central Council of Bellringers "hollering for my blood."

They also had in Leicester in Mr. Morris, of St. Margaret's, a great exponent of the world of bells. He was an authority on the subject, and he saw from their journal he held the record of having more peals to his credit than any other living ringer.

They also had their foundry at Loughborough. They would realise that they had not come to a diocese where the art was not appreciated. He felt that bellingers had a very vital part to play in keeping a link between the church and the people. It was a national in-stitution-an institution in which he thought that their English tradition was unique and it was something he hoped would long continue.
'I have to do a great deal of peace-making for you sometimes because it is not everybody who appreciates bells and ringing. I always try to do my best to keep the bells pealing and the people from squealing. I think the best way is to have as many people as possible taking part in ringing.'

BELLS: WORSHIP OF CHURCH

Wishing the Council and ringers every success in the coming year, the Bishop said the bells were the only part of the Church's worship that was heard by all the people, and when church-going was not so strong they could let people hear that very outward sound of worship. 'I hope you realise that your bells are nart of the worship of God and not merely calling people to take part in worship.'

The Bishop then said prayers and pronounced his Blessing on the conference.

Mr. P. L. Taylor, as president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, also extended a welcome to the conference. He had already written a letter to Mr. Lewis, their president, to say how pleased they were that they were here.

It was 45 years since the Central Council was at Leicester and at that time his father was vice-president of the Midland Counties Association. from which the Leicester Guild was formed, Further, in 1911, 'The Ringing World; was started, and it was through Billy Wilson, of Leicester, that it started. There was a lot of talk about what was to happen to "The Ringing World.' They all knew it was going strong, and Leicester had given a hand to keep it going. He welcomed them all to Leicester.

LEICESTER IN 1911

The president, on behalf of the Council, thanked Leicester for its welcome. He remembered being at Leicester in 1911, when they met in the old Moot Hall, and they were very glad to come back because they looked on Leicester as one of the big centres of change ringing for the past 200 years. About 200 years ago there was great rivalry between Leicester and Nottingham as to who should ring the first peal of Grandsire Caters. Leicester won by a few weeks.
The Lord Bishop mentioned the objection that some people had to ringing. He might say that one of the problems of the Central Council had been the modification of the sound of bells so that they should not be noisy to people living near the church. In that matter they had been very successful, but unfortunately there were churches who would not ask them for advice. Where they had asked them for advice they had been successful.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The Council stood when the following members of the Council who had died since the last meeting were remembered:-

Maddock, Bath and Wells Diocesan Association ; John C. Mitchell, honorary; Harold J. Poole, Midland County Association and Leicester Diocesan Guild; Mrs. A. S. Roberts, Truro Diocesan Association.
The president said Mr. Buckingham and Mr. Mitchell were the two surviving members who rang Holt's Original 'silent' on handbells rather more than 40 years ago. They also missed very much Mr. Jones, who was such a familiar figure at their Council meetings, and, last of all, it would be in their minds the sad loss of Mr. Harold J. Poole.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

The Minutes of the last meeting, as circulated to members, were accepted on the proposition of Mr. C. K. Lewis, seconded by Mr. E. C. S. Turner.

HON. SECRETARY'S REPORT

There is little of outstanding interest to report for the year under review. Perhaps the most interesting event was a bequest to the Council by the late Mr. Clement Glenn of the residue of his estate (about $£ 800$ ) for such purposes as may be thought fit.
Members will note the more encouraging results of 'The Ringing World ' arising from the increased price of 6 d . per copy, which made it possible for $£ 800$ to be invested at the end of the year in the then new 4 per cent. Defence Bond Issue. It must not, however, be thought that solvency in the future is assured. Disregarding donations, the profit of $£ 832$ represents little more than a two months' printing bill and is less than $\frac{3}{4} d$. per copy. The new postal rates from June 1st will cost an additional £112 this year if the present postal circulation of just over 2,000 copies per week is maintained.

Were it not once again for the kindness of Mr. Wilson and Miss Groves in undertaking the typing and duplicating work, it might well have been impossible this year for a number of reports to have been circulated before the meeting.
Finally my thanks are expressed to those who very kindly send copies of reports and other publications.
The hon. secretary moved the adoption of the report. Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded, and the report was agreed to.

The profit and loss account of 'The Ringing World gave the following items of ex-penditure:-
To Woodbridge Press, printing $£ 3,297 \mathrm{lls}$. 3d.; blocks $£ 3$ 10s.; total $£ 3,301$ Is. 3d.
Editorial Office expenses $£ 439$ 7s. 5 d.; postal subscribers $£ 86114 \mathrm{~s}$. 1d.; accounts department £.166 4s. 10 d ; miscellaneous expenses $£ 915 \mathrm{~s}$. 4 d .; audit fee $£ 21$; income tax on interest receivable $£ 1111 \mathrm{~s}$. $7 \mathrm{~d} . ;$; making a total of $£ 4,810$ 14 s . 6 d .

Income was: Rolls Publishing Co. $£ 2,312$ 11s. 8d.; postal subscribers $£ 2,4196 \mathrm{~s}$. 11d.; donations $£ 2174 \mathrm{~s}$. 5 d . ; advertisements $£ 442$ 3s. 6d.; notices $£ 416$ 2s. 11d.; sundry receipts $£ 24$ 11s. 10 d . ; interest receivable on $£ 8003 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Defence Bonds $£ 283 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$. The profit for the year was $£ 1,04910$ s. 1d.
The balance sheet of 'The Ringing World' gave Goodwill, blocks, etc., at cost $£ 200$; debtors £7?5 1s. 7d.; investments at cost $£ 1,600$; cash at bankers $£ 1,40717 \mathrm{~s}$. 7 d . and in hand $£ 12 \mathrm{~s}$. $11 \mathrm{~d} .$, making a total of $£ 1,409 \mathrm{Os}$. 6 d . ; amount due from General Fund $£ 8615 \mathrm{ss}$.
Upon the president's suggestion the accounts of 'The Ringing World' were considered with the report of 'The Ringing World ' Committee.

The hon. secretary said the Standing Committee recommended that the accounts be adopted. The General Fund had been audited by Messrs. A. A. Hughes and F. W. Perrens. Members would have noticed that there was an excess of income over expenditure of $£ 50$. He hoped no one would feel that they were accumulating funds, as they would require a great deal of money for printing, such as the Council's handbook, which would have to be undertaken this year. The publications account had made a profit of $£ 18$ in spite of the payment of $£ 20$ for advertisements in "The Ringing World." He moved the adoption of the report.
Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded.

CLEMENT GLENN'S BEQUEST

The president said he would like to mention two matters. They would see from the secretary's report that they had a bequest from the late Clement Glenn. That money had been received from the solicitors and amounted to $£ 81515 \mathrm{~s}$. 5d. The money had been placed on deposit at 31 per cent. and the standing Committee had asked the officers of the Council toconsider a good way of making use of that bequest. It was left to the Council to use as it thought best. There would be some sort of memorial stone to Clement Glenn and it was left to the secretary of the Council to contribute to the cost as he thought fit. Another thing that would come into the accounts next year was that the Standing Committee decided tosend ten guineas to the Bow Restoration Fund.
The accounts were adopted.

The hon. secretary, in presenting the accounts of 'The Ringing World,' said on the income side members would notice that in 1955 there was an increase of over $£ 500$ from postal subscribers and a smaller increase from the Rolls Publishing Company. These were due to the increased price of the paper which followed from January 1st, 1955 . Similarly, notices showed an increase because there was a further addition to the minimum charge for notices. On the expenditure side printing costs were a little less due to the fact that in 1954 there were 53 issues. The increase in the number of postal subscribers led to an addition to the cost of dispatch of copies and wrapping. He moved that 'The Ringing World ' accounts be adopted subject to audit.

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded.
Mr. N. Chaddock: Do we pay income tax on the profit?

The Hon. Secretary: That was dealt with last year. We only pay on the investments of the Council and we are liable to any profit from sales of 'The Ringing World ' to non-members. I estimated that the sales to non-members was one per cent., and that figure was accepted by the Inland Revenue authorities, and, as that was so small, they raised no charge for the fiscal year 1954-55. We are definitely liable to income tax on investments.
Mr. Chaddock: Can you give me the circulation figure and the price of production per copy?
Mr. R. S. Anderson: The circulation figures for April 22nd, 1955, were: Rolls House 3,406; postal 2,144; sundries 22; total 5,572. The figures for April 27th, 1956, were: Rolls House 3,276; postal 2,078; sundries 17; total 5,371 . This represented a drop of 200.

The accounts were then adopted.

THE REPORT

The report, signed by Mr. J. F. Smallwood, stated :-

Your committee is able to report a more satisfactory year. The measures taken to secure greater financial stability would appear to be satisfactory, and although final figures are not available at the time of writing this report, the indications are that at long last the corner has been turned. There is, however, still much to be done and your committee is of the opinion that the first charges against any profits should be the adequate remuneration of those directly responsible for the production and distibution of the paper. After that has been done, steps will be taken to improve the paper wherever possible. Already it has been found that a few illustrations can be included, and it is hoped to increase the number.

The committee is not too sanguine yet for there is the matter of increased costs to be faced, due to the impending increase in printers' wages. Then there are increased postal charges, which, in the opinion of your committee, should be passed on to subscribers.
Ever since 1946, the charge in 'The Ringing World for small advertisements has been one penny per word. We have this matter under review and it may be found necessary to raise the figure to $1 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$.
Since our last report your committee has suffered a grievous loss by the death of Mr. H. J. Poole, whose able judgment and wise counsels are very sadly missed. We tender our heartfelt sympathy to his wife and family.
We desire to place on record our appreciation of the efforts of the Woodbridge Press and its staff, who through a most difficult period during the printing dispute contrived to produce the paper regularly and on time. This speaks volumes for the good relations which exist among directors, editor and employees. If the paper had been produced in London instead of in Guildford it would have had to cease publication until the end of the dispute.

Once again the committee places on record its grateful thanks to Mr. Tom White, the Editor, and his assistant; to Mr. Jeater for his supervision of the accounts; to all literary contributors and district representatives; to Major J. H. R. Freeborn for the gift of blocks; and finally to those who have sent donations towards the cost of producing the journal.

CONVENER'S BAD NEWS

Mr. J. F. Smallwood, in moving the adoption of the report, said as they would see from the report of the committee and the statement of accounts they had made a little progress in regard to profit. But as against that profit they made last year he had some very bad news for the coming year, and already they were paying an increased cost of printing. So far as they could see, against any profit 'The Ringing World 'would thus cost something like $£ 700$ or $£ 800$ more. If anyone was feeling smug and comfortable he would dissuade them for they were exactly where they were a year ago.

It was obvious that new ways of revenue must be found and increase charges for various kinds of revenue to try and meet the extra cost. It had been suggested to them that the time was ripe for the reconsideration of the proposition made at Bournemouth when a peal levy was suggested. It remained whether the Council would see fit to consider that matter but the committee made no recommendation about

They had also heard that the circulation now was about 5,400 per week, and in his mind that was a disgrace to the Exercise, because they were all aware that the number who read the iournal was considerably in excess of that number. Why these people did not take the paper was a mystery. We appeal to all interested ringers to support the paper. It belongs to them and we hope that they will see that there is a very substantial increase in the circulation. As it is not our habit to ask for any subsidy to help "The Ringing World," we are determined to get this revenue and keep it solvent. We look for support from all who value the paper look for su to help us.
Mr. R. S. Anderson, in seconding, said the circulation of "The Ringing World " had dropped 200 copies per week and that was partly through newsagents and partly from postal subscribers. In appealing for new subscribers he said there was a bigger margin from postal subscribers than from newsagents.
RESPONSIBILITY OF REPRESENTATIVES
Mr. P. A. Corby said he would like to pay tribute to the splendid work done on their behalf by 'The Ringing World, Committee and congratulate them on the way they had kept the journal solvent. He commiserated with them that in spite of their efforts they were again in for a difficult time. On the question of postal subscribers he believed that arrangements were made that each of the Guilds and Associations should have special representatives whose dutjes would be to boost the postal sales and report items of news. It seemed to him that some of these people were slacking in their efforts.
Another point he would like to make was that it was rather disappointing to see so little reference to the great amount of new building work to the charches in and around the City of London. In recent years there had been several new rings of bells hung in London. Presumably they had been dedicated, but no news had appeared in their journal. He would welcome the opportunity of reading about these churches and their bells. One was St. Giles', Cripplegate, where there was a new ring. He was wondering if a correspondent could be found in the London area who would supply the news about these bells and the dedication services

Mr. N. Chaddock also thanked the committee and Editor for their work. He pointed out that there was a fall in voluntary donations since the price had been increased and felt that something must be done about it. There was an attitude that they were all right now and people need not send donations. Another was the falling off of about 130 postal subscribers and that was a big disappointment. Some people did not like 'The Ringing World ' because they understood it was a peal-ringer's paper. If they had articles to appeal to young ringers they might increase the circulation. His experience was that quite a proportion of capable ringers did not like "The Ringing World.'
Mr. A. D. Barker said some months ago figures were given of new subscribers in counties. Perhaps the figures in reverse could be given.

Mr. F. I. Hairs, in a reference to voluntary donations, said they had worked it out that if they made a charge for quarter peals they would not get a great deal of extra money. It was estimated that last year 17,342 names appeared in the peal columns, and voluntary donations from peal ringers did not represent 12 per cent. of that number.

Miss M. Lidgey (Truro Diocesan Guild) moved that the proposition submitted at Bournemouth of one shilling for the publication of peals be adopted for one year.

THE WHIRLPOOL OF CHANGE

Mr. P. Johnson said they were in a whirlpool in the world where the continuous change of prices made it impossible for anyone to prophesy. If any of them had experience of the printing trade they would know that it was impossible for them to try to square the circle. He did not believe they could do anything but wait the course of events. As to why people did not want to read the paper the answer was obvious-because they would have to pay for it. They had to face the position-if the publication was to cost more they would have to pay more. He had the deepest sympathy with the committee in their work. He thought they should be honest and go to the support of the paper-pay for it and work for it.
Mr. N. Chaddock maintained that 'The Ringing World' was a good sixpennyworth. He did not think that peal ringers would be so mean as not to do their full share. They had had mention of one shilling a peal; he would like to see threepence per rope. Even if a charge was made he did not see why voluntary subscriptions should cease. Those who could afford the odd shilling would do so.

Mr. C. K. Lewis said at Bournemouth when it was suggested that people who rang peals should make a donation the statement was made: 'You don't pay people for news.' If they were going to charge for peals they were making a charge for news. It was not often that he agreed with Mr. Johnson, but he agreed that the only answer was that they must put up their subscription. Associations had to face the fact of increased prices and had increased their subscription. He appealed to any members who had suggestions to make to send them to Mr. Smallwood or other members of the committee.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead: I would deprecate a charge for peals. Think what a calamity it would be if peals were rung and not published. Various records could not be kept.

The Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith said peal Tingers were people particularly interested in "The Ringing World.' If they wanted anything they must pay for it. It meant that peal ringers. should pay more for their 'Ringing World.

ANOTHER THREEPENCE

Mr. John Fidler: Let us get down to brass tacks. Bell ringers get the use of valuable instruments for nought. They will spend bus fares to go for a peal. What is another 3d. to that? If a peal is worth ringing it is worth publishing. The other 3 d , on your travelling expenses is nothing. But if you go to a ringing meeting and there is a charge of 2 s . 6d. for a tea then only half turn up. There are a lot of peal ringers who don't buy 'The Ringing World,' but they are always pleased to look at someone else's. I am not going to agree it is news. It is only news to the small crowd; it is personal glorification.

Mr. J. Crampion: 'The Ringing World' is a good thing. Let us tell all that it is a good paper and what a good thing it is.
Mr. H. Miles: The proposition I made at Bournemouth of a publication fee for peals and quarter peals is now being recommended by The Ringing World ' Committee. ('No.')
Mr. N. Chaddock asked if the increased charges for notices and advertisements would solve the problem.
INCREASED CHARGES NO SOLUTION
Mr. J. F. Smallwood: 'The Ringing World ' Committee do not say that putting up the cost of advertising will solve the whole problem. Our difficulty is to find the way to meet the extra cost. The Council will agree that the charges for small advertisements are very modest and we feel that it would not be inflicting an undue hardship on the Associations if we ask them to pay a little more, and that we shall, but it will not solve the problem. 1 hear it suggested that 'The Ringing World ' is the peal-ringer's paper. I assert that 'The Ringing World ' is published for all and sundry interested in ringing. I don't regard peals as of greater or lesser importance. I would stress with all the force I can that the solution lies in an increased circulation. It is not outside the bounds of possibility for "The Ringing 'World ' to be 10,000 a week, and the fact that it is 5,400 is a disgrace to the Exercise. We are not receiving the support from the members of this Council or the Exercise generally.

Mr. R. G. Blackman: I wonder how many in this room can say they have persuaded one person during the last two years to buy "The Ringing World.' We should resolve as we leave this meeting we shall persuade one ringer to buy 'The Ringing World.' Unless we do something ourselves it will not continue.

Mr. Harry Sanger: Very little has been said about voluntary subscriptions. I am rather proud of the fact that if I see a peal or a quarter peal in "The Ringing World 'from the West Country I invariably see a small sum in the 'Gratefully Acknowledged, column. This problem would be solved if every time a peal was rung there was a small contribution.

Mr. J. W. Raithby: I am not a defeatist in any way. I feel you are going to have a great difficulty in persuading another 5,000 people to take 'The Ringing World.' Those who take the journal are those who keep ringing going; the other people are on the fringe. It is very difficult to persuade people to take 'The Ringing World." Not that it is not a good journal. I know a president of a Guild who will not be bothered to take it through the post, but buys it through the newsagent. If you get people like presidents doing that you cannot expect smaller fry.

ONE COPY IN A TOWER

Mr. Bernard Ashford: One of the principal difficulties is the idea of tower copies, and I have not been able to break it down. I can assure you that in my district of 37 towers quite a lot have only one copy per tower. It is surprising how well-informed they are but they don't pay for it. In several cases 'The Ringing World' comes out of the tower funds-from the 1 d . or 2 d . fines for being late. I have tried hard to break this down but have not yet found the answer.

Mr. N. Chaddock thought if conductors of peals made it a habis of collecting a contribution for peals rung nobody would begrudge it. It was just the idea that had got to be got used to. He would like to move as an amendment that a charge of 3 d . per rope be made for publication of peals.

The President: I think we have had a very good discussion on the report. I put it to the meeting that the report of 'The Ringing World Committee be adopted.
This was agreed to.
The president said in regard to the motion of Miss Lidgey that a charge of one shilling per peal be made for publication, he did not think they should tie down "The Ringing World Committee on that matter. He did not think they had a right to make the charge. He would ask Miss Lidgey to accept a motion in this form: "That "The Ringing World" Committee be asked to consider once more the question of charging for peals.' He did not think that they ought to tie down the comnittee.
Mr. N. Chaddock: I agree entirely with that
Mr. F. I. Hairs: Taking last year's figures, a charge of 3d. a rope for quarter peals would bring in $£ 120$. If we charge 6 d . per rope for peals it would produce $£ 43311 \mathrm{~s}$.

Mr. Walter Ayre: How much would be saved if the Peal Analysis Committee tables were not published?

Mr . Hairs: We should save about $£ 11$,
The motion that 'The Ringing World 'Committee consider making a charge for peals was put to the meeting and lost.

CARTER'S RINGING MACHINE

Mr. A. A. Hughes reported that during the past 12 months some repairs and adjustments had been made. The machine continued to run very well. Stedman Cinques and Combridge Maximus had been rung, the latter for the first time. It was proposed to hold demonstrations on Saturday afternoons, and announcements would be made.

Mr. A. A. Walker, seconding, said they owed a deep debt of gratitude to Mr. Douglas Hughes, who looked after the machine. The fact was that it had rung Cambridge Maximus, showing the work of the 11th and the treble. It took 26 minutes to demonstrate. The machine was in very good hands.

The president said that a diagram was available showing the work of the 11th and treble in red and blue lines, and would be passed round the room for the members' inspection.
The report was adopted.

Eleven Towers In Half a Day

A half-day's tour of North Cornwall and Devon was organised by Mr. E. T. Paul Field on May Sth, the party including ringers from Kenwyn, St. Mawgan, Carbis Bay, Launcestoin, Bridgwater and London. Assembly point was the sleepy North Devon village of Welcombe, with its merry little six (tenor 7 cwt .).
Towers visited were Morwenstow ( 6, tenor 8 cwt.), Kilkhampton ( 8 , tenor $11 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt.), Paug. hill ( 6, tenor 11 cwt ). Stratton ( 8 , tenor 23 cwt.), Launcells ( 6, tenor $9 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt.), Whitstone ( 6, tenor 12 cwt .), North Tamerton ( 6, tenor 8 cwt.), Poundstock ( 6 , tenor 10 cwt.). Jacobstow ( 6, tenor 7 cwt .) and Tintagel ( 6, tenor 7 cwt .)
Goodnight was said at Tintagel, an isolated church on the edge of the cliffs, to friends from Somerset and Launceston. Certain of the party departed to fill in the hour before "Time, gentlemen, please" with ale and handbells. Grateful thanks are expressed to Paul Field and all incumbents.

Gratefully Acknowledged

The Editorial Committee acknowledge with gratitude the following donations to meet the cost of producing 'The Ringing World':-
Peals.-Stretham 3s., Abbotsbury 2s., Martock 4s., Gloucester 2 s .

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 Voluntary Subscriptions SuggestedThe 71st annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held on May 5th in the Union Church Hall, Brighton. The service at the Church of St. Nicholas was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. E. Walker), who, in his address, stressed three points-balance, rhythm and purpose.
At the business meeting the various reports were accepted. The treasurer stated that the Divisional levies would be 80 per cent. of income. Four new members were elected. The president and vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc.
All officers for the previous year were reelected. The peal secretary, Mr. Dearlove, had recently recovered from an illness; if he was unable to carry on Mr. L. Stilwell' was elected to take over.
The printing of certificates, held over from the previous annual general meeting, was again discussed. Three suggestions were put forward, but as no decision was reached it was left to the General Committee to decide on design and price and to place the order.
To put the Association on a firmer footing the hon. general secretary suggested a voluntary subscription of not less than 3d. per member be introduced and put into a Capital Account to meet such items as certificates, binding reports, etc. Various propositions were made from a voluntary subscription of 3 d . per member to altering the Rules to 3 s . per member,
Finally Mr. Overy gave the necessary 14 days' notice to make an alteration to the Rules, and a prodosition was carried that members should be asked to make a voluntary subseription.
Mr. Percy spoke of Mr. Stilwell's service to the Association and proposed that he be made an honorary life member of the Association. This was seconded by Mr. Weller and carried with acclamation.
Mr. Hant proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. Nicholas' for conducting the service and to the Vicars of St. Nicholas', St. Peter's and The Good Shepherd for the use of their bells.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  Chertsey District

Twenty-eight people attended the Chertsey District meeting at Thames Ditton (6) on May 12th.
Ringing was conducted until 4.30 by the Ringing Master, after which the Rev. G. Blacktop led the Guild's form of service whilst Miss A. Marwood did duty at the organ.

An excellent tea in the Church Hall was followed by a short business meetimg at which four new members were elected. The secretary asked especially for a good attendance at the next meeting, to be held at Weybridge on June 23 rd .
On return to the tower, rounds and Grandsire were in profusion, although methods up to Cambridge were also rung.
E. A. H.

UNIVERSITIES' JOINT MEETING AT SALISBURY

A successful joint meeting of members and friends of Reading and Southampton University Guilds was held at Salisbury on May 16th.
Ringing started at St. Paul's, Salisbury, followed by visits to two six-bell towers-Wilton and Combe Bissett. After tea at Salisbury visils were paid to the light six at Britford and later to St. Martin's, Salisbury. Ringing included Double Norwich Court Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major.

Original arrangements included members of the Bristol University Guild, but at the last minute they were unable to make the journey.

Hopes are entertained for another joint meeting later in the year.

LETTERS TO  THE EDITOR

THE TIME FACTOR IN OPEN AND CLOSED RINGING
Dear Sir,-It was gratifying to read that Mr. Moreton appears to think that the Barnsley and District Society's striking is above the average for the rest of the country. Although I have been a member of the Society since I could pull a bell I must confess that I have heard some really excellent Minor ringing in the Sheffield & District Society where open leads are the rule.
Assuming that Mr. Moreton is correct-and his experience of ringing outside Yorkshire far exceeds mine-then there must be some exDlanation for this other than the fact that the ringers are not Yorkshiremen!
Personally, I do not mind whether the ringing is 'open' or 'cartwheel,' providing it is well done-I say this in case someone might think I have a personal axe to grind.
Perhaps we could approach the matter from a mathematical angle. Take the case of Felkirk, in the heart of the Yorkshire cartwheel area, tenor 10 cwt . (approx.), and which has, according to Mr. Felstead, had more peals of Minor than any other tower in the West Riding,
The average time for peals rung on these bells is about 2 hours and 50 minutes.
$2 \mathrm{hr} .50 \mathrm{~min} .=170 \mathrm{~min} .=10,200 \mathrm{sec}$.
Now, slightly adapting Mr. Moreton's notation. let us call the interval between the clapper of one bell striking to the clapper of the next bell (i.e., the actual commencement of the sound) $=T$. Then cartwheel ringing would be reoresented by :-

T T T T D T T T T T T T (ad infinitum)
Or if the length of time taken for a complete change $=\mathrm{L}$, then $\mathrm{T}=\frac{\mathrm{L}}{6}$
Then the number of blows struck in $5,040=$ $5.040 \times 6=30,240$.

10.200  Therefore $T=10.200$ seconds.

$=.3373$ seconds to four places of decimals.
In open lead ringing there seems to be no fixed interval for the pause ( x in Mr. Moreton's notation). Let us assume that $t=T$ (in length). Then the time taken for two complete rows appears as follows: T T T T T T T T T T T T $t$ t, i.e., the pause $x=$ to two intervals of actual blows struck. Tried out on the piano, a la Chopin, sans rubato, it seems a reasonable Dause.
Then, using the previous symbols, $T=\frac{L}{7}$ seeing that two rows contain 14 intervals equal to T.
Therefore the number of intervals $=$ the actual speed of striking (assuming 2 hr . 50 min . for peal) $=5,040 \times 7=35,280$.

Therefore $\mathrm{T}=.2889 \mathrm{sec}$.
Now $3373-.2889=.0484 \mathrm{sec}$
Therefore increase in rate of striking $=$ 0484
$-3393 \times 100 \%=14.3 \%$ Increase.
Or, assuming that cartwheel ringers struck at the same rate as open-lead ringers the peal would be rung in:
$.2889 \times 5,040 \times 6$
$=145.6 \mathrm{~min} .=2 \mathrm{hr} .26 \mathrm{~min}$.
Again, assuming that the pause $x=t$ (which is extremely short) then $T=\frac{L}{6.5}$
Therefore number of intervals $(T)=5,040 \times$ $6.5=32,760$.
Therefore $T=\frac{10.200}{32.760}=.3113 \mathrm{sec}$.
Or, assuming a 'cartwheel ' peal at the same rate of striking:
$=3.113 \times 5,040 \times 6 \mathrm{~min} .=157 \mathrm{~min}$. (approx.) $=2 \mathrm{hr} .37 \mathrm{~min}$.
Now the quickest peal on Felkirk bells is about 2 hours and 45 minutes, so that even with the extremely short pause (and higher value of T) the differerce is considerable.

With the more normal pause this difference amounts to something like 20 minutes, assuming that both of the original peals were rung at normal speed.
Now cartwheel ringers would condemn this speed immediately, asserting that it was impossible to control and ring the bell properly. The old Felkirk band, of which I was one, were sometime frowned upon because of their speed ( 2 hours and 45 minutes to a peal).
There is no difference at either handstroke or backstroke in the amount of weight exerted by a close-lead ringer, and consequently the bell's approach to its maximum height is the same on both strokes. Perhaps this enables the close-lead ringer to place his bell exactly where it should go.
With an open-lead ringer the amount of pressure exerted at hand is less than at back, as he has to allow for the hand-stroke pause. If care is not taken there is a tendency for a ringer to allow his bell to drop down from back-stroke; a frequent cause, I have noticed, of bad striking. striking.
In both open and closed, of course, the experienced ringer will adjust force and check to accommodate his dodging and place-making -particularly the former.

THAT EXTRA POSTAGE

From this issue the charge for postage of copies of 'The Ringing World,' in common with other periodicals, will be 2 d . instead of 11 d . This will cost the Editorial Committee another $£ 250$ for 1956. Postal subscribers are asked to meet their share of the cost by remitting 1s. 3d. either to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall, or to the Editorial Offices, c/o Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Onslow Street, Guildford, Surrey.

Most ringers will have had the experience of adjusting their striking to reduce fauks. This can become, indeed, a fine art. The slight discrepancy of the minutest fraction of a second, almost inescapable to the ear, is 'ironed out' over a sequence of blows until the fault (if fault it was) is swallowed in the general rhythm. (I don't mean a 'trip' or 'clip,' but something like a dying ripple on a large pond.)

Even this is more easily accomplished in close-leads as the ringer has, generally speaking, more control over his bell on the back-stroke.
Close-lead ringers, I have no doubt, work parder than open-lead ringers. An old ringer, member of a team that won many contests, once said to me: 'Tha'll hev to put the bell theere, noan let it drop theere!' and this in general sums up the cartwheel ringer's attitude towards his ringing.-Yours sincerely, Wakefield.
H. CHANT.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS

Dear Sir,-Mr. F. T. Blagrove's letter makes strong reading. Surely he will agree that the College Youths absorbed more good ringers than they produced.
As to claims of rights, he reminds me of the sergeant-major who told us our only rights were 17 inches in the ranks and a blanket for burial purposes.
He should bear in mind what my old grannie used to say: "Foolish are they who think they can't be done without. Some day they will be hellishly deceived.-Yours, etc.,

Nuneaton. T. H. VALLANCE,
P.S.-I formed an opinion 40 years ago; no London ringer was allowed is the belfry under 60 years of age.

WOMEN IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,-Regarding the question of a woman's place in the belfry, I understand that the first "all-ladics"' peal was rung prior to the first world war. At that time we had the Suffragette movement that momentarily rocked the world, quite apart from Great Britain. No doubt the Isle of Dogs peal caused quite a sensation, too, and in all probability the validity of that peal was questioned by some of our 'worthies' at that time, by witnesses and listeners alike. By this, I do not mean the striking, time taken or the band's capabilities, but on account of the ringers being all women -iust that!
From that first peal we, as an 'Exercise,' have scen the steady progress of the womenfolk in our belfries as ringers and for tower secretaries, etc., etc. It is to their credit that belfry reform, in the main, has come about, practical examples of tower cleanliness, furnishings and a Christian-like language on the part of the men have found their origin, no doubt, on account of the presence of the lady ringer. Each week, without fail, there appear in the peal columns the names of various lady ringers. In the issue of May 18th out of a total of 41 peals no less than 23 had been rung with their help-it might have been that some of those peals would never have been rung without their assistance.
Looking over some old 'Ringing Worlds' of pre-war issue I note that roughly the same number of peals on an average were rung, but there were not the corresponding number of female ringers. Now this is something to bear in mind-the ladies are here to stay; they make excellent ringers and are invaluable to the health and strength of the belfries throughout the land. Some of them do make good tenor ringers. and they know their stuff when it comes to the theory side of it, but it really is too bad when apparently certain of their sisters thjnk fit to write abusive articles about themselves and try to undermine the prestige of the ladies.-Yours, etc.

MR. STANLEY J. T. SHELLOCK

It is with regret that we record the passing of Mr. Stanley J. T. Shellock, of Gillingham, Kent, on May 21st, at the residence of his daughter at 12, Boleyn Avenue, Margate. He was cremated at Barham, near Canterbury, on May 24th.
Mr. Shellock entered the belfry at St. Mary's, Chatham, in July, 1904, from the choir. A pupil of the late F. A. Holden, he rang his first peal in March, 1910. He was secretary of St. Mary's company for many years, also a member of the company at Rochester Cathedral and St. Mary's, Gillingham. For some years he was secretary of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association. A man of great tact and integrity, he was a good instructor for learners. His peal score was about 60 . He had suffered during the last ten years with rheumatism.
Mr. Shellock entered the naval yard at Chatham as an apprentice shipwright in 1903. He progressed to draughtsman and was posted to the Admiralty at Whitehall, and later was transferred to Bath, where he gained his promotion to Chief. He was invalided from the Service on account of ill health during the last war, when he returned to Gillingham. Although unable to do any ringing, he retained his interest in the Exercise through 'The Ringing World until the last. Unfortunately, owing to short notice, none of his ringing friends were able to attend the cremation service. His membership of the Kent County Association was for 47 years and he was a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

AFTER the rather heavy agenda with which they were faced at Bristol last year, it may well have been with some relief that members assembled in the Council Chamber of Leicester's Town Hall-surely one of the best meeting places which it has been their privilege to usewith what looked to be a comparatively light programme in front of them, as indeed it proved to be.

In some ways, age stole the stage in the earlier part of the day. The meeting took place on the 91st birthday of a respected member and former secretary, Mr. E. Alexander Young, and the good wishes of all were sent to him. The absence on account of work arising from his forthcoming retirement, after nearly half a century as Rector of Kington Magna, of the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, one octogenarian member of long standing, was noted with much regret, while it was a pleasure to see another, Mr. Albert Walker, again able to attend a meeting. The oldest member present, however, was one of the youngest in terms of service, Mr. H. Stalham, of the Sussex Association.

The Biographies Committee had listed a number of former members now over 90 years of age, and it is a sobering thought that since the report was drafted, three of those originally included had passed on. The Council was able to offer congratulations in advance to the convener of the Committee, Mr. A. C. Hazelden, who himself reached the age of 80 two days later.

The affiliation of the University of London Society was duly agreed, and then a letter from the New South Wales Association, received too late for the printed agenda, was read, applying for membership. Ten years ago the then secretary of that Association, Mr. W. M. Rowe, had been made an honorary member in recognition of his services to Australian ringing, and last year the Standing Committee had felt it would be more appropriate if the Association itself were invited to join the Council. A special meeting held in Sydney in March had agreed that application should be made, and it was with great pleasure that the Council approved the inclusion within its ranks of the only sizable Association outside the British Isles. For the present, its representative will be drawn from among those ringers in England with first-hand knowledge of Australian ringing. This seems a very sensible arrangement, but it is to be hoped that in the not too distant future an Australianborn ringer, perhaps temporarily residing here, will make history by taking his seat on the Council. He would receive a great welcome, such as was extended on this occasion to an outstanding figure in the Exercise, Mr. A. J. Pitman, when he was presented to the president.

With the exception of that of 'The Ringing World' Committee, the reports did not arouse a great deal of discussion, and since the former will be dealt with separately it need not be mentioned here, except to say that the financial outlook of the paper is once again causing anxiety to those who share the responsibility for keeping it solvent. One indirect outcome of this is that the Peals Analysis will in future be published in a modified form. The Council's other funds are in a healthier state, although the printing of the Handbook will absorb much of the cash in hand; however, the Clement Glenn bequest, a suitable use for which the officers of the Council are to consider, provides at the moment an additional reserve.
Of the four motions, the first produced a useful discussion from which much good may come if a suitable textbook can be produced. The last two were treated, by their sponsors as well as other speakers, rather more lightheartedly than is usually the case, a fact which, so far as one of them was concerned, led a member to protest with perhaps undue severity; but if nothing else, this motion served to bring to the fore the question of peal standards generally.

The large attendance, exceeded only at the last London meeting in 1948, must have been particularly gratifying to the Leicester Diocesan Guild, justifying their decision to carry on after the first doubts which inevitably arose on the death of Mr. Poole. The ringing and social arrangements were admirable in every way. During the social evening after the meeting, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's prowess as an entertainer was once again demonstrated in a hastilycomposed monologue about an incident in the cathedral belfry when, it appears, a stay was broken by a former member of the Council. The presentation of the pieces by the president to the ringer concerned caused much hilarity.

That this was the last complete meeting over which Mr. Lewis would be presiding must have been very much in the minds of all who were there, a large number of whom, like the writer, do not really remember the Council when he was not its president. When Mr. Lewis hands over next year he will have been in office longer than any of his three predecessors, and it may be permissible to end this brief survey by quoting a comment of one member who was unable to be present: 'No one has done more for the Exercise than he has, even if one has not always agreed with him.'

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

Approximately 36 ringers and friends attended the Newark District meeting at East Bridgford on May 19th, when ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise. Tea was taken at the Wharf Cafe, followed by the business meeting at which Mr. F. W. Vernon was elected to the chair.

Barnby-in-the-Willows was confirmed for the July meeting, and Whatton-jn-the-Vale was chosen for September.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks by Mr. F. W. Vernon to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. A. V. Dent for his arrangements.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Farnham District at Bentley

It was a good idea to hold a ringers' meeting the day before Whit Sunday, because ' Whitsuntide is a time of fellowship,' said Canon G. L. Cole, when he welcomed ringers to the Farnham District's meeting at Bentley on May 19th.

A large number enjoyed ringing a variety of methods during the afternoon and evening under the leadership of Mr. R. J. Corke and Mr. D. M. MacPherson.
After the ringers' service conducted by the Rector, witk Miss M. Beeken at the organ, an excellent tea was served in the Village Hall by local ladies. A short business meeting followed during which four nex members were elected.

Major E. J. Bragg thanked the Rector, the Bentley ringers and ladies who had helped make the meeting a success.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Lewisham District quarterly meeting, held at St. Mary's, Hayes, was a thoroughly enjoyable event for the 48 members who were present. Fourteen towers in the district were represented.

Ringing, directed by Miss M. Andrews, Ringing Master, preceded the service in church, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. E. Smith. Mr. E. Barnett (Crayford) read the Jesson. Mr. A. Davidson, St. Mary's organist, led the singing of psalms and hymns.
Tea followed, abundantly provided and tastefully served by the local ringers and their parents; the Rector was at the head of the table.

Seven ringers were elected members of the Association at the business meeting. Mr. J. Dafters, district representative, read an excellent report of proceedings of the Easter committee meeting and of the annual general meeting.

Eynsford was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, to be held on July 28th, and St. John's, Deptford, for the combined meeting with the Surrey Association on October 13th. Practice meetings are to be held at Downe on June 23 rd and Penge on a date to be arranged. Owing to the incidence of the Association's annual dinner, it is necessary to alter the long established last Saturday in October arrangement for the annual district meeting. This will be held on November 3rd.
The chairman read the Bow Bells Appeal, and it was agreed that each tower be asked to contribute to this cause and towerkeepers pass such contributions to the district secretary.
The meeting received in the traditional manner the news of the passing of Mr. E. Horton, verger of SS. Peter and Paul's, Bromley, a member of the Association.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

 October 27th.About 40 ringers from all parts of Suffolk attended the meeting of the Saxmundham District at Benhall and Saxmundham on May 19th. Ringing in the afternoon was at Benhall, where the Rector greeted the ringers.

The service at Saxmundham was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Mr. Moyle). The business meeting followed tea, at which Mr. A. R. Bridges and Mr. J. M. Bailey were re-elected hon. secretary and Ringing Master respectively. The next meeting will be held on July 7th at Peasenhall and Yoxford.

Sudbury District Start a Bell Fund

There was a record attendance of well over 40 at a meeting held at the six-bell tower of Felsham on May 26th. This may have been because there has not been a meeting there for over 50 years, but the bells do not go- too well, and the collection taken at the service was used to start a bell fund.

The weather was very favourable, and as ringing is on the ground floor visitors were able 10 sit on the grass in the sun outside the tower between touches, or ring the handbells.

At the business meeting it was decided to cancel plans for the social arranged for June 23 rd and, instead, to hold a dinner and social at Lavenham later in the year, probably on Ringing continued after the meeting up till 9 p.m., and the bells at Drinkstone and Rougham were also rung for a short while in the evening. Ringing varied from rounds and call changes to London Surprise.

Before leaving the Council Chamber at Leicester on Whit Tuesday, Mr. Fred Dukes, an Irish representative, gave Mr. Frank Lufkin 5s, as his subscription as a non-resident life member of the Essex Association, in readiness for the Central Council's visit to Chelmsford next year.

We regret to learn that Mr. A. Harman, Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, has met with an accident, cutting off the tops of two fingers.
The well-known Cheshire ringer, Mr. Peter Laflin, celebrated the 50th anniversary of his first peal with a peal at Norbury, Cheshire, rung in the same method and the same composition.
Mr. John Segar, of Retford, Southwell Diocesan Guild's representative on the Central Council, has towed his caravan to the meetings at Newcastle, Bristol and Leicester. Why worry about hotel accommodation, he asks.

Mr. Edward Rudkin, a native of Ridlington, where he rang in the 3 -bell tower, has rung his first quaiter peal at the age of 70 . It was rung at Weston Favell as a farewell to the Rev. R. B. Disney, who is leaving to live in Bedford.
The quarter peal at Rye on May 28 th was a farewell to Mr. G. F. B. Smith, a ringer at Rye since 1932 and captain of the band since the war. Thirty past and present ringers at Rye contributed towards a travelling clock, to be presented to him before he sails for South Africa

Mr. Tom W. Lewis, of Worcester, had a big disappointment when illness prevented him from participating in the peal attempt of Cambridge Surprise Major, arranged for his father's 70th birthday. Stedman Triples was substituted and successfully brought round. His father, Mr. ' Bill' 'Lewis, has been the popular towerkeeper at St. John's, Worcester, for over 20 years.

GOSSIP

An example of Leicester's hospitality comes from Whitwick. After a peal on Whit Monday a ringer ordered two rounds of meat sandwiches in a local public house. On offering to pay he was told they were on the house, as he had been working hard! And good sandwiches they were, too!!

Ladies are now admitted to the belfry of Liverpool Cathedral.

Mr. George Preston, for 69 years a ringer at Christchurch Priory, died on Sunday. He had been unwell for some time and entered hospital three weeks ago.
The librarian of the Central Council acknowledges with grateful thanks the gift by Mr. W. H. Viggers to the library of a bound copy of - A Bellringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Britain,' by Ronald H. Dove.

Following the peal of Darlaston Bob Triples at Mountsorrel, 'Grandma' Wilmore kindly entertained the band to tea, "and the Vicar came too'! This was deeply appreciated by all corfcerned.

During the peal at Kingston-on-Soar, the Rector visited the belfry and tried to hold a conversation with the tenor ringer, whilst his dog made a Stedman whole turn round the ringer of the treble, but fortunately the ringers were not distracted too long from their work.

St. Laurence-in-Thanet (Ramsgate) band have unfortunately lost the services and guidance of their longest serving member, Mr. Albert E. Jarman, who, on the advice of his doctor, has had to give up ringing following a heart attack. 'Bert' Jarman, who is now aged 68, has been a member of the St. Laurence band for the past 48 years, has been captain since 1934 and was most regular in his attendances for Sunday service ringing. His loss to the already depleted band will be greatly felt.

THE HANDBOOK SUB-COMMITTEE THE report, which was signed by Mr. E. A. Barnett and Mr. C. K. Lewis, stated:We regret that circumstances have prevented us from putting in hand the printing of the Handbook as yet. The final manuscript will, it is hoped, be presented to the Standing Committee at its forthcoming meeting.

The secretary moved the adoption of the report and said they proposed to obtain an estimate within a week or two. The committee regretted the delay. The idea was first mooted in 1950, and the present sub-committee had only been dealing with it for two years.

The report by seconded by Mr. Lewis and adopted.

REPORT OF THE HON. LIBRARIAN

The year 1955 saw a marked increase in demand for the Council's publications. The total sales amounted to $£ 107$, an increase of over 30 per cent. on the previous year. This was largely due to the publication of a new edition of ${ }^{\text {a }}$ Preservation and Repair of Bells, etc.' and the issue of the new book on 'Doubles Methods.' 1 am glad to report a profit of $£ 1815 \mathrm{~s}$. on the year's working.
This year's best seller' has been 'Hints to Beginners '- 246 copies, with 'Preservation, etc., of Bells ' a close second with 243 copies sold. In the last two months of the year 234 copies of the new 'Doubles Methods' book were sold. 'Village Bells,' which topped the sales lists so many times, has this year ' made fourth's place,' Among many inquiries I am constantly asked for (1) a new edition of 'Minor Methods,' (2) a new edition of 'Triples Methods' and (3) an illustrated book on how to learn to ring a bell, and acquire an elementary knowledge of the rudiments of change ringing. It would greatly benefit the Exercise if these could be published at the earliest possible moment.

The borrowing of works of reference has again increased and, in this connection, it would greatly help me if borrowers of Library books who have had these for more than 12 months would write me a note confirming that the books are still required.

During the year the Library has received many valuable gifts. From our president, Mr. E. H. Lewis, we received the magnificent donation of 58 foreign books on bells, and also of two English ones: these have been catalogued, and a list printed in 'The Ringing World.' From Mrs. J. Padmore we received 21 books, formerly the property of her grandfather, the late Thomas North, who wrote extensively on bells in the 19th century: a list of these has been published in 'The Ringing World.'

In addition to the above-mentioned we have received, and acknowledge with grateful thanks, the gifts of the following works:-From Mr. E. H. Lewis-(1) 'Experiments with spring bell frames," MS.: (2) 'Report of experiments carried out at All 'Saints', Loughborough.' MS.. and two extremely rare and valuable foreign books: (3) 'Magius de Tintinnabulis,' 1689; and (4) 'Biringuccio Pirotechnia,' 1559.
We received a copy of 'The History and Rules of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild ': 'Carillon Bibliographies,' from the author, Mr. J. R. Lawson: 'The History of Ringing in Hertfordshire,' from the author, Mr. H. V. Frost; 'Peal Tablets at Eye.' MS.. from Mr. C. Rush: from Miss Jenkyn, the note book of the late Rev. C, W. O. Jenkyn: 'Bob Minor and Bob Major, -Cambridge Minor and Major' and 'Grandsire Doubles and Triples,' by I. H. Rowe and M.

Broome, from the authors; 'The Irish Bell News,' from Mr. F. E. Dukes; and from Mr. B. Glen copies of 'The Clavis Campanologia' and 'Shipway's Campanologia.'
The report concluded with appreciation of the services of Mrs. J. Steeples (nee Patricia J. Ayris) in connection with the sales section of the Library and to the Rev. E. S. Tarrant for housing the library in Launton Rectory.
Mr. F. Sharpe, in moving the adoption of the reoort, said they had received requests for all sorts of publications. During the year they had received a considerable number of gifts and they tendered their best thanks to the president for his magnificent gift of foreign books, a list of which had been published in "The Ringing World.'

Mr. Leslie Morris seconded the adoption of the report.
The president said he was very fortunate some years ago in being able through Mr. H. B. Walters, to get the library of Mr. Morris, a clergyman in South Wales, who had been collecting books on bells. He felt that as he was getting rather old it would be well to start getting rid of certain things to the destination he wished them to go.
The report was adopted.

NOMINATION COMMITTEE

The report of the committee, signed by Mr. F. W. Perrens, stated that the Committee's terms of reference were:-
(a) To consider nominations for the position of president and to make a recommendation;
(b) To consider and submit to the Council suitable designs for a badge of office for the president;
(c) To consider the appointment of a vicepresident of the Council;
(d) To alter any rules that are necessary.

Briefly, the results of the deliberations of the committee on these matters are:-
(a) The committee recommends the nomination of Mr. Frederick Sharpe for the position of president;
(b) Alhough it is the committee's opinion that a badge of office for the president is not really necessary, designs for a badge have been considered and two are presented for inspection:
(c) The committee considers that it would be a distinct advantage to have a vice-president of the Council and recommends the nomination of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow for the position.
(d) Alteration of Rules-see note (b) by secretary.

In addition, the committee recommends that normally the president and vice-president should hold office for six years, but the members of the committee are most strongly against any rule to this effect.

Note by the Secretary: (a) The other members of the committee are:-Standing Committee, R. S. Anderson, A. A. Hughes; Council: P. A. Corby, J. A. Freeman, T. J. Lock.
(b) Alteration of Rules.-If it is agreed that there should be a vice-president, consideration will be given to the amendment of the following rules:-
(i) Rule 6 -Life Members.
(ii) Rule 9-Election of officers.
(iii Rule 12-Vesting of property.
(iv) Rule 14-Procedure at meetings.

In addition, if the proposed clause (ii) is added to Rule 11 at the forthcoming meeting (see Item 9 on the agenda), this will need further amendment.

Mr. F. W. Perrens, in moving the adoption of the report, asked that the items should be taken separately. On (b) it was for the Council to decide whether they considered a badge of office was necessary. The committee did not think that it was necessary and the Standing Committee also approved of that decision. There was no reason to consider a design if the Council considered that a badge of office was unnecessary.

The hon. secretary said the Standing Committee endorsed the view that it would be an advantage to have a vice-president and recommended the nomination of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow for that office.
Mr. R. S. Anderson seconded the adoption of the report.
The Council agreed to the nomination of Mr. Frederick Sharpe as president, of the appointment of a vice-president and the nomination of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow for that office. It regarded a badge of office as unnecessary.
In regard to the period of office, Mr. G. W. Fletcher, in answer to the Rev. St. John Smith, oointed out that the president retired every three vears. Mr. A. A. Hughes explained that after a period of six years the president was still open for re-election.
The report was then adopted.
In consequence of this decision the hon. secretary gave notice of motion to amend the Rules of the Council accordingly. This was agreed to.

BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE

The report of the committee, signed by Mr. H. J. Sanger, stated:-

In this second year of office your committee have to a great extent consolidated their efforts of last year. You will remember that we set out to gain a good system of contact with the B.B.C. and to encourage this body to consult us whenever possible on matters relative to our art. We are pleased to report that, particularly as far as the Publicity Department is concerned, we have achieved this object. The Editor of our journal reports that this department now communicate with him regularly, and have on several occasions consulted him, chiefly in connection with handbell ringing. We feel that this official recognition of our journal by the publicity department is a major achievement. Again we find that the B.B.C. regularly makes an item in its programme concerning Sundav services, of the bells, and includes the name of the captain of the ringers. Descriptive matter, too, is now much more correct, a point which is most important where the general public are concerned, and all of which adds up to the fact that the B.B.C. are taking much greater care than formerly in the presentation of bells and ringing.
During the year many rings of bells have been on the air prior to divine service, and much of the ringing has been quite pleasant for listeners. Some, however, has not been so good and here we would emphasise the point we made last year, i.e., 'good rounds are much to be preferred to bad change ringing.' Listeners in general, too, are in the main quite oblivious to any particular changes. If asked, they will either say the bells sounded well or were an awful clatter. May we, therefore, stress the need of making your bells sound their very best when on the air.

Television has featured bells and ringing on a number of occasions. The casting of Gressenhall bells was filmed and televised, the dedication service broadcast and at the opening service later on the ringers and bells were filmed whilst ringing, which film was later televised. The new ring of ten for St. Clement Danes', Strand, was also shown on television and interviews have been recorded.
The Christmas broadcast was quite good and well presented. In a letter we expressed our appreciation of it to the B.B.C.
An idea in connection with the television 'Interval,' which was sent in last year by a member of the Salisbury Guild, and which has been the subject of some correspondence with the B.B.C., has not to date borne much fruit, but the matter is still in hand.
Handbells featured in a number of programmes around the Christmas season in carol services, and the performances were extremcly good.
In concluding this report we would mention the old complaint of too little time given to bells prior to divine service. In this respect we have as yet gained no further concession of time; it is, in fact, a very difficult problem. There is, however, one way in which all ringers concerned can help-that is by being most accurate in their timing collaboration with the engineers. It is so easy to lose valuable seconds on the air by bad timing. It should also be horne in mind that incumbents' wishes are respected by the B.B.C., and if tower captains would always see to it that their incumbents are well acquainted with our views on the subject, namely, the desirability of a reasonable period of uninterrupted ringing, much good would probably be done.
Mr. H. J. Sanger moved, and Mr. J. W. Dunwoody seconded, the adoption of the report.
In reply to a question by Mr. E.C. S. Turner, Mr. Sanger said a suggestion had been made that a film be made of handbells ringing made that a film be made of handbells ringing for television interval and only the hands and bells be shown. The suggestion was being gone into.

PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE

The report stated: The committee has now the compositions which are to be published in the new 'Stedman' book, and while regarding this collection as much more comprehensive than the previous one, still considers that there might be a separate collection of peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques, as there are so many compositions which should be made available to conductors. Some preliminary work has been done on this collection and the time has come to invite those having interesting compositions in their possession to send them to one of the committee. The book would be about the same size as the 'Collection of Compositions in the Popular Major Methods,' and it is hoped to include every type of composition.
Mr. C. W. Woolley, in moving the adoption of the report, said to do all this work and turn down publication would be very hard. He would like to know if the Council would pubwould like to lish the work.
The Secretary: The Standing Committee recommended that the collection of Stedman Caters and Cinques be published.

Mr. E. W. Critchley seconded.
Mr. P. A. Corby: Has any question of cust been considered? Personally I think it would he extremely valuable.

The President: It would be about the same size as the book on Major compositions.
The report was adopted and on the proposition of Mr. P. A. Corby, seconded by Mr. B. G. Key. It was decided to print the collection of Stedman Caters and Cinques.

BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

An examination of our record books reveals the names of 715 persons who, in 65 years of the Council's existence, have been elected to membership. Of this total 320 are known or believed to be deceased. The latter figure is given with reserve because it is likely that some former members have retired and, removed from the scene of their former activity, have died without the news reaching the Council.
At the time of preparing this report about 120 of the biographies are included in our album which is exhibited, a further 100 are complete and are in varying stages of final editing by Mr. Viggers and writing by Mr. Willis. Of the remainder, 20 await only a photograph and a few must be included in our unknown ' class.
With reference to this unknown class, we have a list containing 40 names of those who became members but who never attended a meeting of the Council. The committec recommends that these names be entered in the album in list form only, with an appropriate note of explanation attached.
In the months preceding our meeting to-day, the birthdays of some past, and of one present, members have been passed. A list of nine names is appended, all of whom are over 90 years of age:-H. W. Brown, November 1st, 1862: J. Ashmole, February 6th. 1863; S. J. Hughes, August 19th, 1864 : F. G. May, January 4th, 1875; J. A. Smith, December 17th, 1863: C. Willshire, January 8th, 1866 ; H. W. Tompkins, April 4th, 1862 : E. A. Young, May 22nd, 1865; James Parker, March 17th, 1866
We feel sure that the Council will wish to extend its greetings to these veterans. The Biographies Committee has had indirect correspondence with Mr. F. G. May, per Mr. Sheppard, of Cape Town, and with Mr. C. Willshire (now living in Montreal) per Mr. A. H. Pulling.
Your Biographies Committee again wishes to offer thanks to the many correspondents without whose help its task would indeed be an almost impossible one. We are particularly grateful to Mr. A. D. Barker, who obtained the loan of photographs of the two Groombridges (senior and junior): to Mr. F. E. Dukes, of the Irish Association, through whose good offices a very worthy photograph of the late Mr. G. Lindoff was obtained: to Mr. F. W. Lack and Mr. Ridgman, of Ely Diocesan Association, who obtained for us a loan of a fine photograph of the late Rev. W. W. C. Covey-Crump: and to Mr. Irvin Slack for his assistance in collecting data regarding North Country members.
Members will have noted throughout this report the emphasis on photographs, which are regarded as an essential part of our records. They are also the most difficult to collect. We therefore append to this paragraph a specimen batch of six from the many which we need. All are names of outstanding past members of the Council, and we would be grateful for help in obtaining their photographs:-John Basden, Middlesex County Association (died 1911): C. W. P. Clifton, Lincoln Diocesan Guild (1926): R. A. Danjell, Royal Cumberland Youths (1935): R. G Knowles, Worcestershire and Districts Association (1942): T. Lockwood.

Honorary (1911) ; T. Walmsley, Chester Diocesan Guild (1933).
Mr. A. C. Hazelden, in moving the adoption of the report, said that two of those of 90 and over had died-Mr. J. Ashmole and Mr. S. J. Hughes.

Mr. W. H. Viggers seconded, and mentioned that the record book was on vjew.
Mr. W. Rogers, in congratulating the contmittec on making an excellent job, said that in the record of Mr. John Carter there was no reference to composition.
The president wishod Mr. A. C. Hazelden a happy 80th birthday on the following Thursday.

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE
The report stated: The Committee again regret a falling off in peals, both on tower- and handbells during the year 1955 .
There was a grand total of 2,237 , with 2,126 on tower bells and 111 on bandbells. The analysis shows as follows :-

| Maximus |  | .. | . | 17 | Tower | Hand |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :---: | ---: | ---: | Total 170 17

Once again the Leicester Diocesan Guild appears at the head of the list, with the Lincoln Guild next, followed by the Oxford Guild. The first six places are:-

|  | Tower | Hand | Total |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Leicester | 143 | 25 | 168 |
| Lincoln | 117 | 6 | 123 |
| Oxford Diocesan | 116 |  | 116 |
| Kent | 107 | 2 | 109 |
| Yorkshire | 92 | 14 | 106 |
| Norwich | 94 | 3 | 97 |

Certain Guilds and Assocjations have fallen this year and must look to their laurels. No peals were recorded by the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association, National Police Guild or the Scottish Association. Two peals not completed till 1956 (the early hours thereof) are not included in this analysis. A moot point, maybe, but a peal is never rung until it is completed, as many of us know.
There were two outstanding performances on tower bells:-
(a) A peal in 53 Surprise Major methods by the Yorkshire Association;
(b) A peal in 72 Doubles methods by the Middlesex Diocesan Guild.
On handbells the Minor record 'went by the board with the Yorkshire Association raising the number to 109 after 'practice peals' in 72 and 57 methods, surpassing the one, also rung in 1955, of 106 methods by the Lincoln Guild.

With the alteration of rules last year, one might have expected a spate of "unorthodox" peals. but with the exception of a few additional Bob Triples, plus Grandsire Royal and Major, with the inclusion of Grandsire Minor in a peal, the temptation appears to have been resisted.
The committee trust that the decline in the number of peals rung does not mean a corrcsponding reduction in Sunday service ringing. as that is our essential duty.
The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre, seconded by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead.

STRONG PUBLIC INTEREST IN BELLS

LITERARY AND PRESS COMMITTEE
The year 1955 was marked by no great national celebration or prodigious ringing enterprise such as brought bells and ringers so vividly hefore the public in 1954. In one or two centres of activity the Press recorded some reaction against what was called excessive ringing. Your committee would commend such manifestations to the consideration of all ringers, and would venture to suggest that these monitory rumblings, although not the prelude to any great storm, should by no means be ignored.
In general, the appeal of the bells remains strong and the articles and news items that have appeared show that public interest is fully maintained. 'The Sunday Times' of August 7th, and 'The Western Gazette' of October 28th gave us well-written articles on bell customs and their appeal to the people of this country, and in May ' The Yorkshire Evening Post ' described a visit to the belfry at Armley. The South African National Magazine, 'Outspan, for July 29 h , provided a well-illustrated and lively account of the activities at St. Mary's, Woodstock, Cape Town, and the accompanying photographs were very striking.

From the East there came in September the story of the installation of a ring of five bells in the little Church of St. Martha, near the 38th Parallel in Korea-work that has been carried out under the supervision of Sapper Peter Minchin, of Swindon. An autumn number of 'The Illustrated Carpenter and Builder ' published photographs of the church and of the bells being hung in their frame,
A moving reminder of the bonds uniting our Commonwealth comes from the leading article in the 'Cornish Evening Tidings' of August 17th, where the suggestion is made that the sons of the West Country now scattered over the world should provide a memorial ring of bells for St. Michael's, Plymouth

Articles in three trade journals came to the notice of the committee. In the 'Brush Group Publication' Mr. J. W. Gibson gave a lighthearted account of a ringer's troubles, while, in contrast, the (Irish) 'Chamber of Commerce Journal ' in a lengthy and detailed article on bell founding provided an interesting reminder of the Fountain Head Bell Foundry of Matthew O'Byrne, Dublin. A second article on the founding of bells appeared in 'Jenolite News,' and this excellent thesis may, for its authority, clarity and general interest perhaps rank as the outstanding article of the year. This essay will be found reproduced in 'The Ringing World of August 5th
Ringers featured in the Press during 1955 have been nicely divided between 'ancient' and ' modern.' No small amount of attention has been given to youth, and it will doubtless be noted with pleasure that this publicity has not been devoted to the exaltation of the youthful prodigy but to the much more desirable revelation of team work and communal activity among the children and young people.
Considerable activity is reported from schools up and down the country, and there are indications of a growing number of handbell groups in primary and secondary schools. In August 'The South Yorkshire and Rotherham Gazette ' printed an excellent photograph of the Rotherham High School girls looking very businesslike at their ropes, and in the following month - The Surrey Times' gave us a pleasant picture of 70 -year-old Mr. W. A. Goldstone surrounded by a group of his charming young pupils. In March - The Folkestone and Hythe Gazette visited Cheriton and found young ringers playing a prominent part in the belfry of St. Martin's Church.
-In ringing circles youth is linked with age to a remarkable degree, and it is therefore pleasing to find that the Press has once again shown us some of the vigour and enterprise of the older brethren. In June 'The Birmingham Gazette' portrayed Mr. Albert Walker assisting the Rector of Birmingham to ring the new bell at St. Martin's Church, and in 'The Birmingham Weekly Post' of September 2nd Vivien Bird wrote at some length on the churches and bells of Bredon, Worcestershire. The article was well illustrated and included pictures of Mr . and Mrs. John Thomas and Mr. Stedman Devereux Towards the end of the year 'The Kent Messenger' published a photograph of the 88 -yearold Mr. E. Ruck, the only surviving foundermember of the Kent County Association.
Two photographs of bell rehanging appeared in the Press in January. 'The Surrey Times pictured the bells in St. Nicholas' Church, Cranleigh, together with members of the Charman family. An excellent picture in ' The Birmingham Mail' provided an interesting demonstration of the man-handling of one of the bells in its approach to the tower of Handsworth Parish Church, Birmingham. A new treble for this ring of eight was the gift of Alderman A. Paddon Smith.

> THAT EXTRA POSTAGE With this issue the charge for postage of copies of 'The Ringing World, in common with other periodicals, will be 2d. instead of 11d. This will cost the Editorial Committee another £250 for 1956. Postal subscribers are asked to meet their share of the cost by remitting Is. 3d. either to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall, or to the Editorial Offices, c/o Woodbridge Press, Lti, Onslow Street, Guildford, Surrey.

An encouraging manifestation of the vitality of the Exercise is provided by the periodicals and publications devoted specifically to the art of ringing. In addition to "The Ringing World ' it is pleasing to note the continued publication of 'The Belfry,' the quarterly magazine of the Maidstone District, that enterprising little monthly 'The Ringing Towers,' which works so gallantly to link the scattered ringing centres of Australia, and the very comprehensive 'Irish Bell News.' The year has witnessed also the publication of a new American magazine, 'Overtones,' produced as the organ of The American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. The president of the Guild is Mrs. Arthur Shurcliff, daughter of the late Dr. Nicholls, and the magazine reveals that since she formed the Guild in 1937 the movement has grown into an extensive organisation for the teaching and practice of tune ringing in all its stages. The size of the Guild and the scope of its work are indeed astonishing.
Ringing books and pamphlets of the year oresent both the historical and practical approaches to the art. Mr. J. W. Clarke has published Part IV. of 'Cheshire Bells,' and Mr. Ernest Morris' monumental work 'Towers and Bells of Britain' provides an exhaustive survey of its subject. It is encouraging to find Mr. Wilson's 'Notes for Beginners' reaching a fifth edition, while for the young conductor it may be pointed out that C. Chambers' 'Calling Grandsire Triples into Rounds' offers an unusual approach to an interesting technique. Two booklets of considerable interest have been produced by local effort and for local church funds. The first, Mr. H. V. Frost's 'Ringing in Hertfordshire,' should have received attention in the last report, and for the omission your committee tenders apologies. The booklet is attractively produced, with an excellent cover, and contains besides a careful survey of Hertfordshire ringing, much matter of general interest. The second little work -The Bells of St. Mary's,' issued by the Bed-dington Band, is a most attractive booklet, which. in the care and selection of its material, may well serve as a model for any pamphlet designed for the general public.
During the year the Central Council has published its fifth edition of 'The Preservation and Repair of Bells'; and the long-awaited and very welcome 'Collection of Doubles Methods' appeared in November. Messrs. Viggers and Hodgson continue to produce the - Ringer's Note Book and Diary,' and we are informed that the current issue is sold out
This report cannot close without reference to the volume of poems entitled By Wandering Tempest,' the work of Mr. A. J. Lancefield, well known in Kentish ringing circles. The book contains a number of poems on bells and their nostalgic appeal, written in a distinctive style and with considerable power. Lovers of verse may find this collection a pleasant companion to the more technical books on their shelves.

The adoption of the report was moved by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes, and carried.

NORTH STONEHAM BELLS

An appeal is made to the friends of St. Nicholas', North Stoneham, Hants, to help in the restoration of their bells. Seven of the bells are to be recast, viz. : Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and tenor, and all these except No. 6 rehung on ball bearings. The tenor is to be increased in weight to about $10+\mathrm{cwt}$., the work to be carried out by John Taylor and Co.

North Stoneham became famous during the time that George Williams was in command, when ringers from all over the county used to travel there regularly for practice in methods which were seldom rung anywhere nearer than Guildford. Peals were also rung there regularly.
Towards the cost the ringers have raised a very substantial sum, but $£ 400$ is still needed. Mr. R. A. Reed (captain), of 135, Chamberlayne Road, Eastleigh, Hants, appeals to the host of ringers-many of them now famouswho have rung peals there, or have any fond memories of the light ten, to send donations to him, which will be officially acknowledged.

The bells were rung for the last time before removal on June 3rd, and in the afternoon an attempt was made for the 250 th peal on the bells.

A RECRUITING VISIT

At the request of the Rector (the Rev. A. J. Bishop, M.A.) a party of ringers from Rotherham Parish Church visited Harthill with a view to creating interest in bell ringing amongst the Anglican Young People's Association. An inspection of the bells had been made the previous week, ropes attended to and the ringing chamber cleaned up.
From 7 till 8 p.m. the tower bells were ruag to Grandsire Triples and Plain and Little Bob Major, after which they were lowered in beal. Some 15 to 20 young people who watched the proceedings and also listened outside were thrilled at the sound of the bells being rung in full peal.
The whole gathering then adjourned to the nearby church room, where, while refreshments were being served, they were able to hear a tape recording of the ringing just done, and learn with interest that the recording was being sent to Australia. A short introductory talk and demonstrations of change ringing were given on handbells, and the evening's activities concluded with a selection of tunes on handbells.
As a result of the visit over a dozen recruits have volunteered to attend the belfry and church room each week for instruction, and it is hoped to be able to report some progress in the not too distant future.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual general mecting of the Lancashire Association was held at Prestwich on April 28th and was attended by members and friends from all parts of the county.
The day's procecdings started with ringing at Hulme (8), Miles Platting (8), Worsley (10), Manchester Cathedral (10). Manchester Town Hall (12)-this provided quite a tour for car Darties.

The annual service was held at the Church of St. Mary, Prestwich, and was conducted by the president, the Rev, R. D. St. John Smith. The Rev. D. P. Roberts, of Liverpool, gave the address, and the Rev. P. T. Robbins read the lesson. Tea was partaken of in the Prestwich Co-operative Society dining hall.

After tea the annual meeting commenced under the president's guidance. No apologies were received. The minutes of the last annual general meeting were read and there were no matters out of the minutes.

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS

The president asked the scrutineer to declare the result of the ballot for vice-president. Mr. Blakey declared the result as follows:- $\mathbf{N}$. M. Newby, E. R. Marton, P. H. Derbyshire. Whereupon Mr. N. M. Newby was declared by the president as the vice-president for the ensuing two years. Mr. Newby expressed his appreciation. The president said that there was only one nomination for general secretary, namely. Mr. F. Dunkerley, and declared him duly elected. Mr. Dunkerley thanked the members for their renewed confidence.

The general secretary read the committee's and the ringing secretary's reports, which were accepted. Mr. Peter Crook, treasurer, read the balance shect and auditors' certificate. After several questions had been asked and dealt with, the balance sheet and auditors' certificate were duly accepted. The total assets of the Association stand at $£ 519$ OS. 6d.

FROM COMMITTEE'S REPORT
One of the chjef items was the general secretary's scheme for the simplification of the Association's accounts, in particular the collecting of subscriptions direct from tower leaders to the general secretary. The arrears fipure for 1955 was 116 as against 265 members in 1954. The general secretary in his report for 1954 said that the value of the 265 members' arrears would cover 80 per cent. of the cost of printing the annual report, so one can see that much leewav has been made in 1955. Three amendments and one additional rule were adopted.
Losses by death were as follows:-Life ringing members: T. W. Hammond (Liverpool), A. T. Houldsworth (Newton Abbot): ringing members: F. Youles (St. Annes-on-Sea) W. Lawrenson (Poulton-le-Fylde). L. Reynolds (Prestwich), R. B. Smith (Sefton), M. Stables (Kirkby-in-Furness), C. H. C. Haines (Penwortham).
The Association extended a hearty welcome to the 102 new members who joined during the year. The total number of members resident in the county is 1,091 .
Tribute was paid to the following members with long records of faithful service to the Association:-J. March, 61 years: C. Sharples. 60 years; P. H. Derbyshire, 59 years: H. Barlow, 58 years: T. Metcalfe, 55 years: H. Entwistle. 51 years: P. Crook (sen). W. Fowler, H. France and J . Littlefair all with 50 years membership.

On the ringing side. 89 peals were recorded for the vear, and of this total 27 were Surprise. This showed a definite increase in Surprise ringing and reflected in a great measure the work of Mr. W. J. Ridyard, of Southport, in his determination to put the L.A.C.R. on the Surprise ringing map.
It was noted with pleasure that a new ring of eight had been provided at East Crompton in the Rochdale Branch.

Votes of thanks were accorded to all who ihad helped to make the dav a success. F. D.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THANK YOU, LEICESTER

Dear Sir,-May I, through this journal, say 'Thank you, Leicester,' for the splendid hospitality which we have enjoyed this Whitsuntide?

The facilities provided and the generosity extended to us could hardly be surpassed. The social evening and dance was a most enjoyable function, thanks in no small degree to the presence of so many young members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild.
Once again the Leicester Guild has maintained its high tradition of good bells, wellkept belfries, good ringing and generous hos-pitality.-Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

Rotherham.

FROME TENOR

Dear Sir,-We in Frome would like to know where the information quoted in the new 'Dove,' that our tenor weighs 27 cwt. 2 qr. 22 lb ., comes from, as we ourselves have no record of it ever having been weighed. It was reputed to weigh 36 cwt . with cannons, but was estimated by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who rehung the bells in 1937, to weigh 31 cwt . Its diameter is $55 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$., height to crown $39 \frac{1}{2}$ in.. circumference at inscription band 92 in., thickness at soundbow $39 / 16$ in... note C sharp, date 1662, John Lott founder, and it has been slightly flattened some fime by means of a pointed tool.
If the figure given is a calculation an accuracy of .03 per cent. seems a bit optimistic; if the bells have been weighed it is odd that this has been so completely forgotten locally.Yours sincerely,

A REPLY TO MR. WARWICK

Dear Sir,-I was very distressed to read Mir. Warwick's letter, particularly from my point of view, in that he suggests that my only letter to "The Ringing World, was not worth the paper it was written on because I did not hear the alleged peal.
The time lag between my letter and his reply should have given him plenty of time to read my letter properly, which made no actual reference to the peal's merits in any way. All I suggested was that the standard of striking in any peal is that which is allowed by the conductor, and I quoted two cases of opposite values of standards, one at Leicester and one at Salford Priors, both of which $$$ heard. The conductor of the first allowed a very poorlystruck peal. The conductor of the second stopped a good peal because it became ragged towards the cod. I made no suggestion at all as to which class Mr. Warwick's peals fallyour readers will judge for themselves, but I have no reason to doubt anything that Mr. Cheney heard, providing he is a responsible person, as he must be if he is welcome to ring at Wigston at any time.
Furthermore, if a conductor claims his peais through the medium of "The Ringing World,' surely any comment should also be sent through the same channels, whether it be praiseworthy or not. It is not underhanded in any wayrather to the contrary.

I remember reading a comment from Mr . Warwick some years ago, when several 'silent : peals were being claimed. He suggested that such peals should have a witness. He was probably right, but I do not remember anyone writing and saying his letter was not worth the paper it was written on because he had not heard the peals.

I wish him a very successful secretaryship, in helping to solve the loss of members in his Guild-Yours faithfully, A. J. MOORE

Uppingham.

THE PEAL AT FOLKINGHAM

Dear Sir,--I don't wish to take up too much valuable space in your columns, but would like to answer Mr. J. H. Musson's letter in 'The Ringing World' of May 25th regarding the peal at Folkingham on April 2nd. I am sorry he has got somewhat hot under the collar over the matter, but am afraid I cannot retract from my opinion of rounds coming up six times only in the peal. I am not quite so dull of hearing or unable to count up to seven, as Mr. Musson would have one believe.

Anyway, if the rest of the band who rang in the peal are of the same opinion as the conductor, well, let them claim it by all means. As for the rest of Mr. Musson's remarks about myself, well, of course, they are exaggerated, unfounded and totally insignificant as to the real point in question. However, if the same band care to come again at any time we shall be glad to see them, and hope we shall not be at sixes and sevens over the validity of a 'peal of Minor.'-Yours faithfully,
C. T. H. BRADLEY

Folkingham, Lincs.

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. C. T. H. Bradley's letter questioning the authenticity of a peal of Plain Bob Minor rung at Folkingham on April 2 nd. I rang the treble and in my opinion it was a perfect peal.
No doubt Mr. Bradley did hear only six 720 's from the near vicinity of the church, as stated, but I suggest that he forgot that he was actually in the ringing chamber for the first of the seven 720 's He did, in fact, lock the belfry door, conceal the key in a crevice in the wall and fail to return at the end of the peal to release the ringers.

It was fortunate that another ringer happened to be in the church. otherwise we may not have been extricated from our prison for some considerable time.-Yours faithfully,
Sleaford Lincs. D. HENRY METTAM.

HANBOROUGH BELLS

Dear Sir,-The Church of SS. Peter and Paul had a ring of five which were extremely hard going but of superb tone.

A local band, with wonderful perseverance, mastered these bells under many difficulties and change ringing was again accomplished for Sunday services. Interest revived, the ringers wished for bells which would entice more ringers, so rehanging of bells was contemplated and ambition soared higher to the desire for a new treble. Since February, 1954, the ringers themselves have raised the sum of $£ 255$ and a further $£ 20$ has been received in grants. $£ 200$ is still needed for their project and three generous people have loaned this sum free of interest for four years.
The new treble bell was dedicated by the Rev. Canon Spafford, Rector of Hanborough, on March 20th.
The peal, rung on April 23 rd, in which four Hanborough ringers took part, expresses their pride in the restoration of the bells.- Yours truly,

Eynsham, Oxon.

THE STALWARTS OF OLD

Dear Sir,-I would like to give my experience of ringing a peal with the late John Souter, of Diss. The method was Double Norwich, and I was reminded by the conductor, the late $F$. R. Borrett, that if I rang well and pleased John Souter I might consider myself able to ring.
If. on the other hand, I failed to do so. I should never be a ringer. The peal was duly rung and John made no comments. I rang with him several times after this, and so I took it all was well.-Yours truly.

GEORGE W. HOWLETT Lowestoft, Suffolk.

MEMORIAL TO HAROLD J. POOLE

Following the 8 a.m. Holy Communion service in Leicester Cathedral on Whit Sunday the Provost (the Very Rev. Mervyn Armstrong) conducted a service in the ringing chamber of the Cathedral and dedicated a memorial plaque to Mr. Harold J. Poole. The service was attended by all the members of the Cathedral company.
The plaque, which is in oak, reads:

The ringing chamber, recently painted, and the table adorned with spring flowers, presented a most attractive appearance. On the walls are three peal tablets - Bristol Surprise Maximus, 12 Surprise Maximus peals and the memorial peal to Harold J. Poole.

GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS

The first annual meeting of the Guild took place on May 12th at Abbots Langley. Ringing at the Church of St. Lawrence preceded Evensong, conducted by the Vicar. Tea was kindly provided by Mrs. F. S. Poole, with the help of other members' ladics. At the business meeting the secretary reported on progress since the inaugural meeting a year ago. The Guild now has a membership of 26 , two being student members; it was hoped that other interested members of the profession would be encouraged to join. Only one peal had been rung for the Guild in the year, two other arranged attempts failing because of insufficient numbers. During the year two boards commemorating the two doctors' peals rung before the formation of the Guild had been dedicated-at Abbots Langley and Great Baddow. The annual dinner was at the Crown Hotel, Garston, and much enjoyed.
The officers of the Guild were re-elected, viz: President, F. S. Poole; Master, R. E. Price; secretary-treasurer, D. L. Gullick. It was agreed that the next annual meeting be at Stevenage and that a winter meeting be held in London.

ARCHDEACON'S PROTEST AT  RECORDED BELLS

Opposing the use of electrically-recorded church bells in the Parish Church of Chesterton, Staffs, at a Consistory Court at Lichfield Cathedral on May 26th, the Archdeacon of Stafford (the Ven. W. A. Parker) said the sound was 'very disturbing-particularly if worn or cracked records are used.'

In granting the petition, the Chancellor (Mr. C. H. Gage) said he was generally opposed to recorded bells, as imitations were quite vut of place in church worship. He stipulated, however, that the bells should be reproduced for only 20 minutes before morning and evening service on Sundays; the present bell in the church must be used for all other purposes: the apparatus must be kept under lock and key and not used for reproducing any other sound than that of bells.
The petitioners had said that to install ordinary bells would be impossible because of mining subsidence.

MR. EDWIN TMMBRELL
The death took place at Sharoe Green Hospital, Preston, on May 26th, of Mr. Edwin Timbrell, the Lancashire composer. He was 85 and had been a patient for the past 15 months, but not always confined to bed. His ringing was learned at the Parish Church of Chipping, where there was a good Minor band in 1890, two brothers being also members of the band. It was as a composer that he became well known at the turn of the century; the records show that the late T. T. Gofton called one of Timbrell's peals of Superlative in 1901.
The funeral took place at Chipping on May 29th, and the service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. K. Nye, who spoke very highly of Mr. Timbrell. The Lancashire Association was represented by Mr. L. Walmsley, branch secretary, and Mr. E. R. Martin, Preston. A memorial peal is being arranged as early as convenient.

AN APPRECIATION

Edwin Timbrell was the last of the three ringing brothers who rang handbells together as far back as 1898. He joined the Lancashire Association in 1892 and became well known as a peal composer in the early part of the present century. The popular method in those days was Treble Bob and he produced many firstclass compositions, especially one-parts. He broke the deadlock in long peal composition, superseding Thomas Day's 16,608 by a five-part 16,800 . This he later extended to 17,120. At the age of 81 he produced a new peal of Treble Bob Major, which was rung to Bristol and Treble Bob.
He was a contemporary of the late Arthur Craven and also Arthur Knights, who paid him a very high compliment. Arthur had been trying as he said for years to produce a 14 course peal with 5.6 the extent in 5.6. Timbrell gave one to Arthur's son, Ben, who posted it to his father. His reply was typical. 'Timbrell,' he said, 'there's a man I want to meet, but before I do meet him I will say that he is no fool.' Arthur Knights conducted the composition at Eckington in June, 1933.
The village of Chipping, where the Timbrells lived, is among the Pennine Hills, $5 \frac{1}{2}$ miles north of Longridge, and before the days of buses this meant walking to Longridge Railway Station if they wanted a Major peal. Edwin had rung between 30 and 40 peals, mostly Treble Bob Major, but he kept no records and was not as careful as he should have been in tabulating his peals. Of a very shy and retiring nature, he never liked the limelight, but he was a true friend and loved ringing when he was younger. Thus passes one of the old brigade of composers, and happily his compositions are preserved. May he rest in peace.

MR. JACK WALTER

Members of the Canterbury District will learn with regret of the sudden death of Mr. Jack Walter, which occurred on May 22nd at his home in Whitstable. He had been ringing the Saturday previous. On Sunday he complained of feeling unwell and lapsed into unconsciousness, in which condition he remained until his passing.

Mr . Walter, who was 69 , originally lived at Wickhambreaux. It was here he learnt his ringing, and remained a member of that band until his removal to Whitstable. On November 15th, 1902, he was, together with eight of his fellow-villagers, made a member of the Kent County Association, and he remained a member for life. Of that eight, his brother, Mr. S. Walter, is now the last active ringer. Jack joined the Canterbury Cathedral band in 1936, and he remained one of its most regular members. Quiet, unassuming, he was, nevertheless, a most popular member at both the Cathedral and Whitstable. He was well known throughout East Kent, and bis little blue Austin Seven was always seen at district meetings, which he attended with unfailing regularity.

In the presence of many friends, the funeral took place at All Saints, Whitstable, among them being ringers from Canterbury, Sturry and Wickhambreaux, together with the local ringers. Previous to the service the bells were rung halfmuffled. During the evening the bells of Canterbury Cathedral were also rung to his memory. Much sympathy will be expressed to his widow and two daughters.

MR. G. F. WILLIAMS

It is with deep regret that we report the death of Mr. George Forbes Williams, of Cottingham, for many years captain and secretary of Holy Trinity tower, Hull. He was 74.

Mr. Williams was born in Ireland, but spent his childhood in Essex, where he learned to ring. He came to Hull and joined the Yorkshire Association in 1907 and succeeded the late Mr. Charles Jackson as leader at Holy Trinity. For some years he was president of the Beverley and District Society, retiring a few years ago on account of ill-health. An extremely competent conductor, his place will be most difficult to fill. For the Yorkshire Association he rang 69 peals, conducting 45, and would have rung a great many more had his spare time been not so limited.
The service at Hull Crematorium was attended by a large congregation, including many of his ringing friends from Beverley, Huli, Patrington, Sutton and other towers. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the coffin by R. Ducker 1-2, J. Parr 3-4, C. Barker 5-6, L. Rodmell 7-8. Mr. A. E. Sellars, vice-president of the Yorkshire Association and president of the Beverley and District Society, was present to represent both bodies. Others present included Messrs. A. B. Cook, F. W. Dale and G. Braithwaite, all very old friends.
A quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung half-muffled at Holy Trinity on the Wednesday evening.
$\mathbf{M r}$. Williams leaves a widow, son and daughter to whom the deepest sympathy is extended.

MR. G. A. WOODCOCK

A faithful ringer whose family name appears in the parish registers of Tanworth-in-Arden, Warwickshire, as Jong ago as 1680 , died on April 20th, in the person of Mr. George A. Woodcock. He was 72.

A chorister for over 60 years and a bellringer over 50 years, he came of a family whose building firm is renowned locally for its craftsmanship. His loving care of the church fabric made him a devoted servant of the church; he was parish clerk for ten years prior to the First World War and was a prime mover in having electric lighting installed in 1932. His firm was responsible for all repairs to the tower and spire undertaken in recent years and he personally installed the new floor under the bells at the restoration in 1949, working closely with the founders, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A member of the Parochial Council since its inception, his annual survey of the church was always useful to the Council.

Canon D. W. Lee (Vicar) said at his funeral that God should be thanked for such men whose Christian witness, broad outlook and artistic appreciation were an example to all. His memorial would be the many public buildings and private houses he had constructed locally and the excellent state of the church fabric.

On the evening of the funeral a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung half muffled on the bells he had rung quite recently, by Miss J. Hemming (first quarter) 1, John H. Jones 2, James W. Jones 3, Basil Tisor 4, James Corbett (cond.) 5, A. James Collins 6.

BROADWINDSOR, DORSET

Whit Saturday will long be remembered in the Parish of Broadwindsor, for on this day the restored ring of six bells was rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Sherborne. Prior to the service the streets of the village had been decorated, and on an open space near the church numerous stalls had been erected for the sale of local handicrafts and products, the receipts being in aid of the Bell Fund.

At the service the church was packed to capacity and the service was relayed to those outside. Immediately after the dedicatory prayers the bells were rung by the local ringers and after the service the bells were thrown open to the visiting ringers, who made good use of the time at their disposal.

During the past few months it has been broadcast on the B.B.C. and widely published in the papers that Broadwindsor may possess the oldest church bell still capable of being rung. Of the three pre-Reformation vintage, the fifth bell bears markings that it was cast in the 13th century. This may or may not be correct, though it is accepted generally that Broadwindsor can claim to be the only parish to possess three bells that date back to at least 100 years before the Reformation.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. have equipped the hells with new fittings, with cast iron headstocks instead of the older type of timber ones and the bearings are of the ball bearing type. Mr. John P. Fidler represented the founders, and those who had had previous experience with these bells expressed their admiration on the vastly improved 'go.' The details of the bells are as under:-
Treble- - Daniel Ewans and Azariah Elswood. Bilbie 1806.' Six cwt.

Second.-Henry Slade and Thomas Studley. Bilhic $17900^{\circ}$ Six and a half cwt.

Third. -'Sancta Maria ora pro nobis.' (PreReformation.) Eight cwt.

On May 26th 40 members crowded into the little tea shop at Wadhurst, Sussex, which was the only cafe left in the town after the recent air accident. However, the weather was kind to the unfortunate few who waited outside for vacant seats

For many it was their first experience of the augmented eight, and everyone agreed they were a pleasure to handle and to hear. The Ringing Master (Mr. L. Giles), officiating in his own tower for a change, was hard put to satisty a variety of demands, and the bells were kept going to methods ranging from Grandsire and Plain Bob to Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.
The service was taken by the Rev. A. N. H. Roscamp, and the Vicar and his wife later joined the ringers at tea.

At the short business meeting thanks were voted to the Vicar and organist, and to Mr. C. Bassett for arranging the tea under very

INSTRUCTION OR DESTRUCTION?

APART from the discussion on the financial position of 'The Ringing World,' the Leicester meeting will be remembered for the 'spotlight' brought to bear on ' Instruction,' the most important item in our Exercise, yet one approached in a very haphazard manner. Good instructors are few and far between; they experience little trouble in keeping their pupils and retaining their interest, but the majority of those who set out to impart their knowledge do so in rather a ' hit or miss' method; they not only waste their own time but also that of their pupils merely because they do not know how to tackle the task. No doubt they were taught in a similar manner and cannot be blamed. It does not follow that the best of ringers make the best instructors, but they can help once the initial training is over. In any scheme of instruction the good ringers would come in at a later stage. In a correctly planned 'Course of Instruction ' instructors of several types (specialists in their respective spheres) would be needed, but for the time being we can ignore them.

In the main a beginner's introduction seems to take one pattern: he or she is introduced to the art by being taken to see 'how it is done.' He then expresses a wish to have a try; someone takes the pupil in hand -it might be a friend or it might be the captain of the ringers. If the tutor has been well taught, and in turn can teach, the chances are that the pupil will become a 'good handler,' but if the tutor was taught in an indifferent manner and cannot teach, then the chances are the pupil will not receive good instruction and will become a 'poor handler.'
The number of clergy who have been heard to say that they cannot understand why youngsters who have had some elementary training just lose interest and drop out is legion. In the majority of instances 'The Instructor' (whoever he be) is usually the cause, simply because he is unable to teach and make the introduction to our art interesting. This loss of budding ringers is a serious matter; true not every pupil will stay the course, but a good number of those who pack up could be retained.

We pride ourselves on our organisation of Diocesan and County Guilds, with the Central Council at the head, yet there is no organised system of instruction. The intake of new blood upon which the whole future of the Exercise depends seems to be treated in a most casual way, yet with a little care and thought a more positive way could be devised. True, in many guild reports the names of 'instructors' appear, yet how many have been made use of, or if they are engaged how many have a definite ' training programme '?

Surely it is not impossible to develop a system of training which pays particular attention to the initial stages. The first requirement appears to be 'Instruction for Instructors,' who in turn could advise in their particular area. In the normal set up of any band of ringers we have the captain or ringing master, the tower secretary and treasurer and the towerkeeper. Why not an instructor as well who would be responsible for the initial training of the beginner? The appointment of a tower instructor may not be easy, but possibly a study group might be formed in a branch area where the potential instructors could attend and benefit from the experiences of those who take a pride in their ability to handle a bell correctly. By this means something like standard system of training could be developed.

On the control of a bell, the tutor need only adopt a simple formula, 'Explanation, Demonstration, Imitation and Correction,' paying particular attention to 'Correction, ${ }^{3}$ for if a faulty style is nipped in the bud, little or no trouble will be experienced, but without 'Correction ' bad styles develop and a bad habit of long standing is well nigh impossible to eradicate. I have been surprised at the number of leaders of bands of ringers who, in the main, have the right idea in maintaining interest, but just lack the knowledge of instructing. They take their pupils to other towers and mix with other youngsters on a similar bent, yet even though keen to learn, they are handicapped for want of the right advice at the right time. I have met quite a number of such cases where practically each pupil had the same awkward style; they had been taught by the same 'tutor' who, possessing the same faults, had passed them on and could see no faults, yet they were obvious to others.

It may be that the term 'Instructor' or 'Tutor' is out of date, so why not introduce that well-known chatacter, 'The Coach '? I think I am correct when I say that those who wish to excel in any kind of sport place themselves in the hands of a good coach and are guided by the advice given, and also benefit from criticism of the coach without taking umbrage. Is it too much to suggest that in addition to a 'Ringing Master ' who controls the ringing at a branch meeting there is also a 'Coach ' appointed who could take in hand novices, a feature that should make the newcomer feel that his journey has been worth while? How many times does one see a bewildered visitor in a tower?

The present method of starting off the beginner seems to be controlled by custom, and old customs die hard, yet I see no reason why a new approach cannot be promulgated.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual cup contest for the Society's silver cup was held at Clcwne on June 2nd. Six teams, representing the following towers, took part:-Sheffield Cathedral, Rotherham, Handsworth. Bolsover, Old Whittington and Warsop. The ringing was of a high standard throughout and the two judges, Mr. J. Thorley and Mr. W. Robinson, had a difficult task to find the winner. An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, which was much enjoyed by 70 members and friends.

After the business meeting it was announced that Warsop had won the cup, with Bolsover a close second. In conclusion a very interesting account of the meeting of the Central Council at Leicester was given by Mr. Norman Chaddock, who is the Society's representative.

CASUALTIES IN NORTH HERTS

On May 26th the Northern District of the Herts County Association met at Walkern. At the moment Walkern is without a priest, so there was no service, but an excellent tea was enjoyed before the business meeting.
The next meeting will be at Barkway, not Pinton, and the special method is Winchendon Place Bob. Before that there will be the joint meeting with the Bedfordshire Association on June 16th at St. Albans.
Sympathetic concern was expressed when the members heard of Dr. Gullick's broken collar-bone, due to a ringing accident. Before the bells had been rung down 'The Ringing World, representative doubled the District's casualties by skidding in Walkern ford. J. S.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Well over 40 members, representing 16 towers. attended the Society's monthly meeting at Guiseley on May 26 th. A very pleasant summerlike day enabled the overflow from the belfry to take full advantage of the well-kept churchyard. During the afternoon and evening methods ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge and Superlative were rung.
A very bountiful tea had been provided by the local company in the Church Hall. This was followed by handbell ringing and the business meeting.
Replying to the vote of thanks, the Rector (the Rev. F. Wrangham-Hardy) said how pleased he was to hear of the continued prosperity of the Society. He extended an invitation to those present to visit the Rectory grounds before returning to the tower. Mr. Walsh also replied on behalf of the churchwardens and local company. He drew attention to the fact that St . Oswald's belonged to that seleot number of towers in Yorkshire in which more than 100 peals had been rung.

Returning to the tower, via the Rectory grounds, modern Guiseley was left far behind. A Roman well, used in time past for baptism by immersion : the remains of a moat-now a fish pond: the house itself, a fine example of original Tudor building-all were glmpses of what had been.
Ringing again in the tower, one thought afresh of those hundred or so peals and the people who had rung in them; for they, too, were part of the past, and the bells a bridge joining past, present and future together.
The next meeting will be held at Sherburn-in-Elmet on June 30th.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Crusader Meeting at Fyfield

The South-Western Division held a crusader meeting at Fyfield on May 12th. In spite of the fact that this is rather a difficult tower to reach by public transport, about 40 members enjoyed ringing on this pleasant light six.
After a service conducted by the Rector of Fyfield, tea was served in the Church Hall and copies of the Association report were distributed. Ringing, ranging from rounds and call changes to London Surprise Minor, continued until about eight o'clock.
It was encouraging to see several very young learners, one of whom rang on an open bell for the first time, and one little lass who was still 'back stroke only.' Thanks are due to Mr. Blatch for arranging the use of the bells and also for organising the tea, and to the Rector for conducting the service and for the original address which he gave.

HUGHENDEN RINGERS' WEDDING

In a church beautifully decorated and in the presence of $a$ large congregation, Miss $D$. Coker and Mr. A. E. Cox were married at Hughenden on May 19th. The Vicar officiated and the service was choral. Both bride and bridegroom are active members of the tower, with a number of peals in various methods to their credit. The bridegroom is also the Branch Ringing Master.

On the Tuesday before the wedding they were presented with a clock, suitably inscribed, from the Vicar, churchwardens and ringers.
The bells were rung before and after the service. A peal attempr after the reception was unsuccessful.

GOSSIP

While a new ring has been installed at St. Giles', Cripplegate, the repairs from bomb damage are far from complete, and the church is still in the hands of the builders. It is probable that the dedication of the bells will coincide with the rededication of the church.

We are informed that the spire of St. Dun-stan's-in-the-East has to be rebuilt, and until the masonry has hardened the bells cannot be rung.
Tuesday, May 22nd, saw the revival of an old custom at Romsey, Hants, when the Abbey bells were rung during the mayor-making ceremony. The new Mayor is Councillor H. G. Mackrell, an Abbey choirman.

Today is the 40th anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Cinques 'in hand ' by the Birmingham ringers. There are three survivors of the band-Messrs. Albert Walker, J. F. Smallwood and F. W. Perrens.
Trinity Sunday was a great day at Pirton, Herts, when the local band rang their first quarter. They desire to express their gratitude

In spite of repeated requests for compositions of new methods, one conductor only has sent these along to the Committee; for these we are very grateful, but there are still about 100 outstanding.

Mrs. E. K. Fletcher moved the adoption of the report and Mrs. L. K. Marshall seconded. Mr. P. Johnson said the Yorkshire Association could produce any composition rung for the Association which the Committee desired.
Mr. W. F. Moreton: Is it not the duty of the conductor when any new method is rung to send it to the Records Committee?
The President: It should be sent to the Records Committee.
The report was adopted.

METHODS COMMITTEE

The report stated: We have little to report this year. After a longer delay than was expected, the book of Doubles Methods was published last autumn and appears to have been generally welcomed. We believe it is filling a long-felt need.
Work has proceeded on revising the Minor and Triple Methods books, but the progress has been slower than hoped for. We trust we shall be able to report that the work has been finished on both these books at the next session of the Council.

Moving the adoption of the report, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said they had now had a formal request from the Council to consider the revision of Triples and Minor methods, and if the Council asked them to expedite the matter it would be done.
In reply to questions. Mr. Felstead said they would include Spliced Minor, but they did not contemplate putting in irregular methods.
Mr. R. F. B. Speed said the number of irregular methods was not very large. If people did not know what they were called they would get in a mess. The same applied to Triples. There were quite a number of Triples methods that had never been published. Mr. Trollope put some in 'The Ringing World' which he believed were quite well worth ringing. The Triples collection was very poor. These new methods could be put in a tabulated form, as he believed that place notation was now well understood.
Mr. C. K. Lewis said he had access to the late Rev. A. T. Bceson's collection. There were practicallv as many irregular as there were regular methods. A lot of the methods had two names. As regards Triples and Mr. Sinced's suggestion, they were in the midst of producing by formula all the six lead Triples methods that had treble and triple changes. As most of them knew, his first love was Spliced Minor. and that would be included.
Mr. John Fidler said it was his privilege to try and sort out Mr. Beeson's collection.

Mr. G. E. Feirn asked if the Minor Book contained the Alliance methods.

PEAL BOARDS COMMITTEE

The report stated: The year has been somewhat uneventful since few additions have been made to the collection, which has now reached a total of 315 . It is felt that there are still quite a number awaiting discovery, and the Committee makes no apology for renewing the request for co-operation from members of the Exercise. Only by such co-operation can the task be completed.

The Collection has been arranged in two volumes, the first covering the period ending 1799 and the second 1800 to 1825 . Where possible, details of interest such as style of lettering and ornament and the general condition of the board have been noted in the record. The bindings are of the 'spring clip' type so that pages can be added at any time and in the correct position chronologically without disturbance to existing leaves.
Title pages are in course of preparation and it is hoped that both volumes will be available for inspection at the Council meeting.
Mr. J. W. Clarke, in moving the adoption of the report, said they wanted to emphasise that they did not consider the work finished. If any boards were discovered, would particulars be sent to him. The volumes were in loose-leaf form so that additions could be made at any time.
Mr. Walter Ayre seconded and the report was adopted.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE

During the past year members of the Committee have dealt with 42 enquiries, chiefly concerning the rehanging of bells and the provision of new frames and gear. Inspections and reports were made regarding the restoration of bells in 29 towers; in ten instances advice was given by correspondence, and in the remaining three advice was sought on problems of sound control. The work of each member is appended.

Mr. J. W. Clarke has made inspections and given advice in three Cheshire towers; in twa his advice was taken and bells are to be rehung, but in the third, much against his advice, the incumbent afterwards called in a 'local craftsman' to carry out the 'restoration '-the result is not known.
Mr. F. E. Collins inspected and advised on restoration work in seven towers. In two the work has now been completed and in the others his advice is being taken and restorations are pending. The seven towers are situated in Cambridgeshire, Essex, Hertfordshire and Sussex.
Mr. J. Freeman has been called in for advice in one Lincolnshire tower. Here it was desired to ascertain whether it was safe to ring the bells, and his recommendations were followed.
Mr. E. H. Lewis has inspected one tower in Hertfordshire and has given advice on the problems of reducing tower oscillation; he has also been consulted regarding the rehanging of a ring in Warwickshire.

Mr. W. Osborne has been consulted in 11 instances. In eight of these he made inspections and reports and in six cases faculties have been granted for restorations on the lines advised by him. In two other instances he has given advice by correspondence: and in the remaining tower he advised on problems of sound control. He reports great interest among Church Councils to put bells in ringing order, and maintain them in good condition. Nine towers dealt with by Mr. Osborne were in Somerset and one each in Dorset and Wiltshire. One involved the rehanging of a medixval ring of three.
Mr. F. Sharpe dealt with 16 enquiries. They were situated in Bedfordshire, Berkshire, Cambridgeshire. Cumberland. Gloucestershire. Lancashire, Norfolk. Northamptonshire, Oxfordshire and Yorkshire. Inspections and reports were made in eight towers, and in each instance the work is either in hand or pending; in six cases, chiefly with Docesan Advisory Committee secretaries, advice was given by correspondence, and in the remaining two advice was sought on sound control. He has given many lectures to Diocesan Authorities and Church Authorities, and he has had correspondence with the Principal of the Royal Academy of Music on the subject of bell tones and tuning. In one instance he advised against a proposal to weld a mediæval bell.

Mr. E. A. Young's advice has been sought regarding the restoration of two rings in the City of London. He dealt with enquiries regarding these by correspondence, and the Convener has also had correspondence with him on matters concerning bell and tower restoration.
The new edition of the Council's handbook on 'Preservation and Repair of Bells, etc.' has proved to be one of the library's 'best sellers ' during the year.

Mr. F. Sharpe, in moving the adoption of the report. said the report of the Committee was very condensed. If the reports were written out they would amount to many hundreds of sheets, and members of the Committee had done a great deal of work. They had had much to sort out belween Parochial Councils and Diocesan Advisory Committees as to the manner in which bells should be rehung. Mr. Clarke had had a difficult case in which the advice he gave was not accepted. Instead of a bell-hanger a local craftsman was called in, but they did not know the result yet.
Mr. J. W. Clarke seconded.
The president said there was one case mentioned of a tower in Hertfordshire where the bells were hung in a wooden tower built up inside a Norman tower. He was able to convince the architect, although terrified at the time, that he could anchor the frame to the stone walls.

Mr. Clarke said he had given advice when it had been asked for, and it had not always been accepted. He went into a great many towers in the research work he was doing. 'One of the worst troubles was birds getting into the tower, and the other was that incumbents thought that the bell room was a place where no one should go. and if it was suggested that money should be spent on the bell room hands were raised in horror.' There was a great deal of neglect of bell rooms. and one of the reasons was the statement that bells should receive attention once in ten years. He had done his best to get incumbents and churchwardens to give attention to bell rooms. but it was a hard job.
Mr. N. Chaddock asked if the bells were rung regularly in'these towers.

Mr. Clarke: With most of them they are a stoney band.

The report was adopted.

ALTERATION OF RULES

The following amendment of Rule 1I, of which notice was given last year, was submitted to the Council.
(ii) The Standing Committee shall consist of (a) Past and present holders of the office of president, hon. secretary and treasurer, and hon. librarian of the Council.
(b) Honorary auditors and conveners of committees, ex-officio.
(c) Twelve elected members (chosen by ballot if more than 12 names are proposed). The 12 retiring members to be the first names to be proposed.

The committee shall have power to co-opt not more than two other members of the Council.
(iii) At the annual meeting next after each Triennial Election members of any committee who have not been re-elected to the Council shall (when such a committee has a report to present) have the right to attend and vote on any matter arising exclusively out of that report.
The hon. secretary said at the standing committee it was agreed to amend (iii) to read 'have the right to attend and speak on any matter arising exclusively out of that report.'
Mr. P. Corby moved as an amendment to clause (c) that 'The 12 retiring members to be the first names to be proposed 'be deleted. Mrs. Staniforth seconded and this was agreed to.
The other alteration to rules, including the recommendation of the standing committee. were agreed to.

HINTS TO INSTRUCTORS AND BEGINNERS

Miss M. R. Cross moved: That the Central Council publication 'Hints to Instructors and Beginners' be revised in the light of recent advances and experiments in teaching technique. and that such revision should contain not only sections intended primarily for instructors on the teaching of handling a bell, instruction in ringing rounds and method ringing in its early stages, but also a section on these matters which can easily be understood by beginners.

Miss Cross said last year they sold 246 copies of 'Hints to Instructors,' and there were at present 287 copies in stock. If they did not do anything about reprinting they would have no books in 1958. There had been experiments in new teaching technique in various parts of the country, and further, the book should be enlarged to include rounds and early stages of change ringing. The book was not suitable for beginners: she thought that a book for beginners should be written.
Mr. R. F. B. Speed seconded the motion.
Mr. C. H. Kippin: After what happened in Leicester Cathedral belfry a night or two ago can we know what is a beginner? [Laughter.]

Mr. F. Sharpe said he was constantly being asked for a book for beginners. The book they had was primarily for instructors. Twice young people had sent the book back. saying: "We don't think it is suitable for beginners. He thought the book should contain a section for beginners, giving them a definition of the rudiments of change ringing and the technical terms used.
Mr. Wilfrid Wilson said he lost on every copy of his book. If such a section was included he would be pleased to stop producing his. He was sure there was a market. In two or three years he had sold between 2,000 and 3,000 .

Mr. Walter Ayre: Do we want a book for instructors or beginners? As we go round we all see faults in handling. He suggested that a film strip be made on the handling of a bell.
Mr. Clarke : I think it is an excellent suggestion. The only snag is getting a projector to show the film. I know schools have them. Whether we can get the loan of a projector I do not know. I feel that a film strip is the real answer.
The president said there were photographs but they were static, taken by Mr. Jenkyn. The photographs were of old Mr. Hibbert. The book arose from a matter he brought up, and Mr. Jenkyn, Mr. Dyke and Mr. Hibbert were responsible for its production.

Mr. John Fidler: Aś one gets about the country one feels that it is the instructors who want instructing because there were very few who could impart their knowledge.
Mr. N. Chaddock said he agreed entirely with the motion and suggested that ideas for beginners be invited to be published in 'The Ringing World.' He thought the film strip was a good idea. As to projectors, the more they got in touch with education authorities the better. Many of their instructors today were in the teaching profession.
Mr. W. F. Moreton'said they wanted a book to teach instructors how to teach, and secondly a book to teach beginners. He did not agree with the advantages of a film strip. These pictures could be put in a book. He thought a proper film would be very useful. He did not think a projector would be so difficult to obtain as some people imagined.
The Rev. K. W. H. Feistead suggested that Miss Cross and Mr. Speed should work out something on the lines suggested by the motion.

Mr. C. K. Lewis supported Mr. Felstead's suggestion and said he would like to recommend to beginners 'Village Bells.'

The hon. secretary said the standing committee supported the resolution and suggested that Miss Cross and Mr. Speed be asked to draw up what they consider to be required.
Mr. F. E. Perrens suggested that Mr. Wilson be added to this sub-committee.

The Council unanimously agreed that Mr. W. Wilson, Miss Cross, Mr. Speed and Mr. Dyke be appointed a committee to produce a book on the lines suggested, including hints for beginners.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EARLY RINGING - IS IT WISE?
Sir.-One notes, in the current issuc of R.W.' that an hotelier has complained to his local Chamber of Trade about church bells being rung at $6.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on certain occasions. and wonders whether this ringing was worth the hostility it has undoubtedly engendered in his mind and that of his guests, not to mention those others who may have suffered in silence. The remarks addressed, apparently, to the hotelier regarding noises at 10.30 p.m. appear quite ill timed and irrelevant; one might just as well comment on the din created by, say, the local salvage department's dustbins.

This practice of ringing at unearthly hours of the morning appears to be not uncommon in certain parts of the country and leads one to the conclusion that those who indulge in it have a great capacity for self delusion. Whilst Mr. Average Man is usually not hostile to the sound of bells it is almost always only 'when distance lends enchantment ' (or the louvres are blocked up well) and at a time when he is out and about and expecting to hear them that this happy state of affairs prevails. To inflict them upon him when he, quite rightly, does not desire them is, to my mind, likely to have unpleasant repercussions, in spite of high falutin' words about the challenge of the bells to an indifferent world. That world could be a very bitter enemy if the challenge is overdone. for at no other time have we ringers been so dependent upon public goodwill and in the case of the above mentioned hotelier, by what right can we jeopardise another person's livelihood?

I very well recall arriving in Amsterdam en route to London and realising. with horror, that the hotel chosen, hurriedly I admit, was immediately opposite the Westertoren carillon, the chimes of which, at each quarter. are almost the length of short 'touch' and 'carry on ' for 24 hours each day. Fond as I am of bells, and particularly of the Amstedam carillons. i thought that this was a litlle too much but, as things turned out, a back room and the soporific effects of excellent Dutch gin, in quantity, relegated the sound of the chimes to insignificant proportions; but I have not stayed there since. lest I be given a front room and the gin be not so good. What must be the effect upon a person not fond of bells? And could not this case be paralleled in places where early ringing takes place?

By all means let us see that our bells are rung but at a time reasonable and acceptable to our unseen audience, upon whom so much depends, for to force ourselves upon them when not required, be the day Christmas, Easter, Whitsun or what you will, is not enthusiasm for ringing hut sheer. dangerous and anti-social thoughless-ness.-Yours sincerely.

RAILWAYMEN'S PEALS & PROPOSED FORMATION OF GUILD

Dear Sir,-Arrangements are now complete in connection with the above. Headquarters will be at Christ Church Parochial Buildings. Crewe. across the way from the church, where cups of tea will be laid on. Take a bus from the station to the market square, which is town centre, and two minutes from the church, which can be seen. Time: I would appreciate meeting as near between 11 a.m. and 12 noon. Peals have been arranged-and bands-at Christ Church. Crewe (10). Nantwich (8). and Acton. Nantwich (6). Arrangements can also be made for ringing at Sandbach (8), Holmes Chapel (6) and Goostrey (6), so that everyone might have a ring. All railwaymen are welcome, and bring any ideas with you-and happy meeting.

SUGGESTED NEW DUTY FOR CONDUCTORS

Sir,-The report of 'The Ringing World' Committee, and the subsequent discussion thereon at the Central Council, makes dismal reading and throws a lurid light on the amazing manners of the vast majority of ringers. It has been calculated that there are 40,000 ringers in the country. Of these, one-eighth take 'The Ringing World'; the rest go to make up the army of cadgers and scroungers who are content to cull their information second-hand rather than pay the price of threc cigarettes per week for it. Is there any reason why 'The Ringing World' should continue to print their names?

I sugzest and pass it on to the appropriate committee, that conductors when sending reports of peals or quarters for publication should omit the names of those whom he knows do not take 'The Ringing World.' All the essentials would still be there for record purposes, the only difference would be blanks instead of certain names. It would place a heavy onus on conductors, but it could be done.
It will be said that these are hard words: they are so purposely, and it is time a little straight talk was had on this matter. If it shames a few shirkers into taking the journal it will have served its purpose. We do not want to see the jour:al priced out of existence-that would be a calamity-Yours faithfully, Ipswich.

BELLRINGERS' GUIDE

Dear Sir,-I should like to say a very sincere 'Thank you ' to Mr. R. H. Dove for his second edition of 'The Ringers' Bible.' When one considers the terrific amount of work which must go into a directory of this kind. Mr. Dove is to be congratulated on the lack of errors.
I was pleased to see that the compiler has got to grips with the tricky business of county towns and city boundaries, and also that he has broken away from Crockford and tried to keep place names as they are in local usage. In the firs! edition some of our favourite 'double-barrelled villages turned up in the most peculiar places.

Finally, Mr. Dove also gives us an after-sale; service usually only reserved for expensive things like care and refrigerators, for in yesterday's post. lo and behold, an amendment list!Yours sincerely, MICHAEL HORSEMAN. Nailsea.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Hinton-on-the-Green, Worsestershire, was the first by the treble ringer as a grandfather! It was rung to celebrate the birth of a daughter to Patricia Anne Chamberlain (nce Cartwright) on May 2nd in Nairobi. Kenya. Pat Cartwright was, before her marriage, an active member of the Sunday service band at Selly Oak. Birmingham.
Whilst on a ringing outing on Whit Monday. a well-known S.E. Dorset ringer lost his cap (and almost his head). The cap was last scen floating serenely down the River Dart at a point six miles upstream from Buckfast. Other members of the party sent 'the cap round for new headgear as an expression of gratitude for arranging a most enjoyable outing.

MAINTAINING STANDARDS AND THE CASUAL VISITOR
Dear Sir,-I would be glad if you would allow me space in your columns to comment on Mr. Rouse's letter in 'The Ringing World' of May 15 th.
He comes very near to hitting the nail on roe head when he remarks on the shortage of ringers at some towers, including our Cathedrals, but scems to miss the point that, in such cases, hospitality is but a virtue made of necessity. It does seem that in cases where the bells are fully manned and perhaps where the ringers have to travel some distance to ring, they would, with justification, resent yielding a place to the casual visitor, especially where, as in the Metropolis, a visitor may be a frequent occurrence rather than the rarity he is elsewhere.

Further, it does seem desirable that tradition and high standards should be given some respect, and that there should still be some towers where to ring is a real privilege not to be had just for the asking.
Lastly, no one with self-respect need be ahjeet in asking to ring anywhere, but humility would not be out of place when the standards expected are high.--Yours sincerely,
P. H. WHITAKER,

CAMBRIDGE ROYAL

Dear Sir,-Mr. Nolan Golden's peal of Cambridge Royal is easily recognisable as being the old ten courses often used for Cambridge Maximus, i.e., $2 \mathrm{~W}, 2 \mathrm{M}, 2 \mathrm{H}$ repeated, with 3 M and 3 W added to give the 14 courses for a peal of Royal. I have a copy of a peal on this plan by J. Carter, and I believe I am correct in stating that it was rung at St. Clement Danes', conducted by W. Pye, and the figures published in an old Middlesex Association report about 1912.- Yours faithfully,
H. V. FROST.

STRIKING

Dear Sir,-Would that Leslic D. Mills' letter in your issue of May 25th be published every month. Do the majority to-day realise what pure change ringing is?
In how many peals of Minor on a really good six do those participating hear the rhythm of ten bells going? True Minor is not rung without hearing this. Speed kills the effect. I am always proud of footnote 'believed to be the slowest peal on the bells.' Any band can 'get through ' a fast peal. hut it takes a good band to ring a slow one.-Yours, etc.,

GEORGE GILBERT.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING & AFTER

Dear Sir.-At the general meeting of the Diocesan Association of Ringers at Norwich, the president referred to ringers who rang for service and then didn't stay as hypocrites. I have an invalid wife whom I have to look after as I cannot get a woman to do the work. We have a decent band of ringers at Beccles now, and I have spent many hours helping to get them along. As my wife cannot eat solid food. I have to cook every day, so I ring for Sunday service and go home to cook. I go to one service on a Sunday, either 8 oclock or Evensong. Are we hypocrites, I wonder?-Yours, etc.,
C. BAILEY.

Beccles.

Note.-We feel cerlain that the president would be the last person to classify Mr. Bailey as a hypocrite. It is when no attempt is made to join in the worship of the congregation that Sunday service ringing becomes hypocritical.Ed.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Two New Peal Records

THE annual general meeting of the Association took place at York on Saturday, May 12th-the first time the county city has provided the venue for 36 years, the last occasion being on January 31st, 1920. The fine ring of 12 at the Minster was available during the afternoon, and the recently-restored ring of six at the York Institute of Architectural Study in the evening. Ringers were present from each of the four Districts, and the fine weather added a lustre to the event.

Following Evensong in the Minster, an excellent tea was enjoyed at the Festival Restaurant, from which an adjournment was made to the Institute of Architectural Study, where the business meeting was held, presided over by Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, president of the Association, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the hon. treasurer Mr. G. Benfield) and the hon. peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley) Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. S. F. Palmer, W. Barton, J. Ambler, F. A. Staveley and L. M. Woodhead.

A vote of thanks to the Dean of York and Minster authorities, the authorities of the York Institute of Architectural Study for the use of the bells, and in the latter case the provision of a room for the meeting, was moved by Mr. E. Hudson, who included also the Minster choir, and complimented them on the perfection of their singing. Mr. A. E. Sellers seconded and this was carried with applause. A similar vote of thanks to the York Minster Society for their excellent arrangements was moved by the general secretary, seconded by Mr. P. J. Johnson and carried unanimously. Mr. H. Walker replied.

The president presented the Association's 80th annual report, which stated that there had been a decrease in membership mainly due to the carelessness of many members in regard to the payment of their subscriptions. The balance sheet showed that 625 current subscriptions had been paid which, with 68 new subscriptions, made a total membership of 693. This was 69 fewer than last year.

With regret, the death of Mr. Clement Glenn was recorded. He was a former general secretary and had rung 375 peals for the Association. "He was a most able peal conductor, and no one had a better knowledge of abstruse compositions in Grandsire and Stedrian Triples and Caters. in which he specialised. The death of Mr. Robert B. Smith, a member of the geaeral committee of the Eastern District, was also recorded with regret.

The peal secretary's report stated that 106 peals had been rung at 54 different churches and four handbell centres. First peals had been rung by 34 members, and eight members had rung their first peal as conductor. The record for the most Major methods ever rung to a peal was now held by the Association, by virtue of the peal rung at Conisbrough in 53 Spliced Surprise Major methods. In the realm of Minor on handbells a peal in 109 methods, the most methods rung to a peal, was rung on November 3 rd . The peal secretary, Mr. W. Eric Critchley, had both rung and conducted the most peals during the year with totals of 32 and 18 respectively. Mr. H. Scott was second with 27 peals. Mr. Leslje W. G. Morris rang his 100 th consecutive Surprise peal for the Association, and this was quite likely the first time this had been achieved by a member of the Association.
The accounts showed a loss on the year of $£ 1518 \mathrm{~s} .3 \mathrm{~d}$. There was a balance on the Capital Account of $£ 2589 \mathrm{~s}$. 8 d .. and on the Yearly Account of $£ 5419 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d. From the Bell Repair Fund grants of $£ 5$ each had been made to Marsden, Sherburn and York Institute of Architectural Study. This account had a balance of $£ 575 \mathrm{~s} .7 \mathrm{~d}$.

The report and balance sheet were adopted on the proposition of Mr. S. H. Steel, seconded by Mr. V. Bottomley.

Mr. L. W. G. Morris was re-elected general secretary, and Mr. W. E. Critchley peal secretary.

After discussion it was decided to hold the next meeting at Ripon on September 15 th, if the necessary arrangements could be made. Having regard to the geographical difficulties associated with the Northern District it was urged upon members to make a special effort to suppont the meeting.

The president announced that the Snowdon Dinner would be held in York on October 20th, and the Archbishop of York (Dr. H. M. Ramsay) had kindly accepted an invitation to attend. The dinner is becoming more and more popular, and again the committee and organisers looked to the loyal support of members to ensure its success.

Peter Windley (St. Martin's), Leslie Leach (St. Marie's, Sheffield), Miss Jennifer Holmes and Miss Pamela Robinson (Otley), Christine Cutts (Whiston) and Rosemary Hick (Leeds) were eleoted members.

Some considerable discussion ensued on the cost of producing the annual report, and eventually Mr. P. J. Johnson moved, and Mr. L. W. G. Morris seconded, a resolution that the General Committee appoint a sub-committee to examine the whole position and report to the January general meeting. This was carried.

This concluded the business and members were able to enjoy further ringing at the Institute until 9 p.m.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

South Norfolk Branch Gain 12

Twelve new members, including a new band from Starston and the Rector (the Rev. J. $F$. Gratton-Guiness), were elected at the South Norfolk Branch's meeting at Redenhall on May 12th. Forty-one ringers attended, representing 26 parishes in Norfolk and Suffolk.

Matters referred to the Standing Committee included a request from one member that the annual meeting of the Association should be called on a date which did not clash with the F.A. Cup Final.

The Association's president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston), who presided, congratulated Mr. William Flatt on attending his first meeting as Ringing Master of the branch, and for making arrangements for the service, which was conducted by Canon Pickering (Rector).

Western Branch

Thirty-five members representing 15 towers attended the quarterly meeting of the Western Branch held at Sculthorpe on May 26 th. Various methods, and rounds for the not so experienced ringers, were conducted by the Ringing Master, Mr. C. V. Ebberson.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. F. G. Gunn), assisted by the president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston), and an excellent tea provided by the wives of the local band.

At the business meeting a short report of the Central Council's meeting was read and discussed. The president spoke of the future of 'The Ringing World,' and appealed to all members to increase the circulation by becoming postal subscribers.

An invitation to hold the next interim meeting to celebrate the 50 th anniversary of the bells at Gaywood on July 21st was accepted, and the next quarterly meeting is to be held at Wells on August 25 th

SALISBURY GUILD HAVE A SENSE OF OPTIMISM

The Annual Festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on May 12th drew a large attendance of ringers to Sherborne, all parts of the Diocese being represented.

The Master (Canon G. Carew Cox) presided at the annual meeting held in the Digby Memorial Church Hall, supported by the Rev. F. L1. Edwards (vice-president), Mr. W. C. West (hon. secretary and treasurer) and Mr. F. S. Slatford (hon, assistant secretary).

The chairman opened the proceedings with prayer. Apologies were received from Lord Shaftesbury, the Rev. R. A. Wells. Canon Markby. Miss Eloic, Messrs. L. A. Wilson. G. H. Harding, Alan Macdonald and F. Peicey.

The hon. secretary and treasurer, in his report, stated that there had been a slight increase in membership to 1,082 . During the year 26 peals had been rung. In the Branch hon. secretaries' reports there seemed to be a sense of optimism, and showed a steady and general improvement all round.
The officers were unanimously re-elected, viz: President. the Earl of Shaftesbury: Master. Canon C. Carew Cox; hon, secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. C. West; hon. assistant secretary, Mr. F. S. Slatford: hon. auditors. Mr. J. S. Weeks and Mr. C. F. Andrews. Mr. F. Precey not wishing to stand, the Central Council representatives elected were the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards. Messrs. W. C. West, G. H. Harding and G. S. Morris.
The statement of accounts showed a balance in hand of $£ 22616 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d., which included $£ 100$ invested, and was considered satisfactory, as was the report. The hon. secretary and treasurer was thanked for his efforts on behalf of the Guild.

In his vote of thanks the Master mentioned Canon S. B. Wingfield Digby for the services in the Abbey and all the incumbents who allowed the use of their bells. and the hon. secretary, North Dorset Branch, who in his first year as hon. secretary went to such trouble to ensure the success of the Festival.

Grants of money were made to: Broadwindsor $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$.: Bow Bells $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$.
A letter of congratulation had been sent to Mr. L. A. Wilson, and it was asked that one be sent to Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart. nast master, both in connection with their 80 th birthdays. The chairman then closed the meeting with prayer.

The service was held in the Abbey. The address by the Vicar. the hearty rendering of the hymns and Grandsire Triples on handbells were most inspiring. Some American tourists expressed themselves as most privileged to be able to join in such a service never before experienced by them.

The last item in the proceedings was a meat tea, when 150 ringers and their friends enjoyed the fare supplied by Rothwells, caterers, who had on a previous occasion supplied the wants of hungry ringers and knew just what to do.

DEATH OF MRS. A. J. HUGHES

The sympathy of many ringing friends will be extended to Mr. A. J. Hughes, of Bangor. in the passing of his wife on June 8th. Mr, and Mrs. Hughes had been married for nearly 50 years. She was always a good friend to the Exercise and had been hostess to many famous ringers in past years. The widower shares his bereavement with his two daughters and son and seven grand-children.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON  SOCIETY

Whitsun Tour

THE University of London Society held their Whitsun tour in Essex this year with their headquarters at the Green Man, Harlow. Most of the party assembled on Friday evening, May 18th, at St. Mary's, Harlow, and here one of the female members, not to be outdone, gave an exhibition of tenor ringing.

A fine morning greeted us on Saturday, and after having queued to use the only bathroom in the inn, an advance party journeyed to the first tower of the day at Newport. Here the frame was loose in the tower, and it was without regret that we soon left this rough-going six. However, by this time our main transport for the tour had arrived in the form of a hired Bedford 'Dormobile.' This vehicle formed ideal transport for the tour and at one period it carried 14 somewhat squashed passengers.

Journeying on to Thaxted, the lovely town and bells were much admired, and it was here that a splinter group, who preferred to use public transport rather than wait for the 'Dormobile, eventually caught up with the main party. Great Bardfield was next on the list, and then lunch was taken at Finchingfield to the accompaniment of jet aircraft screaming overhead. The font at Finchingfield stands in the midst of the circle of ropes, but, nevertheless, the pleasant eight were enjoyable to ring. Again at Wethersfield visibility was somewhat reduced by a wooden post in the centre of the belfry, and it was here that Senator Clouston measured a $\frac{1}{4}$ in. movement in the frame.

At sible Hedingham a course of London came round, but on the other hand Double Norwich did not go very well. The last tower of the day was at Bocking, where we had the pleasure of ringing with some of the local ringers including the immediate past master of our Society.

Some early risers attended Communion at Harlow on Sunday, and after breakfast the party rang for service on the ten at Bishop's Stortford. Stedman would not go here, but the best memory of Stortford will be the difficulty that was experienced in finding a seat at the service after ringing. The majority of the party spent Sunday afternoon in looking over the treasures at Audley End House, but, nevertheless, the handbell friends gave a demonstration in the grounds to the amusement of some onlookers. Evening ringing was at Saffron Walden, and after the journey back to headquarters a demonstration of tune ringing on handbells by John and Renée Armstrong was much enjoyed.

On Monday morning, after going to the wrong church at Stansted Mountfitchet, our time for ringing on this anti-clockwise octave was somewhat reduced, but nevertheless we arrived at Great Easton on time. Then on to Great Dunmow, where the fine octave was much admired and a course of Lincolnshire came round in fine style. The day's organised ringing finished at Fyfield, where the ringing chamber is lit with fuorescent lights, and it was there that the traditional touch of Original Minor was rung. After saying goodbue to some of the party. 'Geoff's Goons. in the 'Dormobile' travelled on to ring with the Essex Association at Great Waltham, and after tea the 12 at Chelmsford Cathedral provided a fine conclusion to a most enjoyable tour in the beautiful countryside of Essex.
The Society thank, in addition to the organiser, Richard Stephens, all the incumbents and local ringers

Louis MacNeice's feature, 'Bow Bells,' to he broadcast on the B.B.C. Home Service next Sunday, is likely to make a strong appeal to ringers.

MR. FREDERICK H. DEXTER
There will be regret much further afield than Leicester at the passing of Fred Dexter, or, as he was affectionately known, 'The SergeantMajor.' He had not been well for some time, but the end came suddenly on June 6th. Athough he had not done any ringing for several years his interest never waned and many who visited him could testify that his ability was not impaired, and attribute to his help and guidance their great progress made as ringers.
He was mainly responsible for putting Leicester on the pedestal it has enjoyed for many years, and it was he who made the late Harold Poole the great ringer and conductor he was. Fred was a great composer and conductor and undoubtedly an authority on Stedman.

In the belfry he was a martinet and had no patience with indifferent striking. He expected and generally succeeded in extraoting the maximum of effort. Outside the belfry he enjoyed the convivial relaxation which usually followed a peal and was generous to a fault.

He was a widower, and the loss of his wife a few years ago was a blow from which he never fully recovered. He leaves a son, Harold Dexter, who was at Cambridge University and has recently been appointed organist and musical director at Southwark Cathedral.
The funeral was on June 9th.

MR. GEORGE PRESTON

The death occurred in Christchurch Hospital on June 3rd, at the age of 86 , of Mr. George Preston, one of the oldest and best-known ringers in the south of England.

Born within the sound of the bells of Christchurch Priory, he joined the band in 1887, the eight bells then in the tower having just been rehung on a new frame. It fell to him to introduce change ringing, and soon he became the acknowledged leader of the band. As a young man he took dart in several tours with the leading ringers of the time, but records of these and of his early peals were lost when his house was flooded in 1916.
Although he was always ready to arrange a peal for a special occasion, or to make one of a band for a peal attempt, it is not as a peal ringer that he will be remembered. His main interest was in service ringing, which nothing would cause him to neglect. In recent years his increasing infirmity had made the climbing of a hundred steps to the ringing chamber on Sundays almost a superhuman efort.
Few can have taught more ringers than he did. Perhaps among his proudest moments were when, shortly after the ring had been increased to ten, he called a peal of Caters on the bells, and again, when they were augmented to 12 , a peal of Cinques-in each case the ringers were regular service ringers, and most of them his pupils.
In 1937, to celebrate his jubilee as a ringer, he received a presentation from a large number of friends, and, ten years later, when his 60th anniversary was celebrated, he received the personal congratulations of the then Bishop of Winchester. His ambition to be a ringer at the Priory for 70 years was not granted, but his period of service fell short of this by only a few months.
As a boy, George Preston had an accident, which resulted in a broken spine and left him permanently injured. Yet he was usually found at the heavy end of the clrcle and was an alrround sportsman. In his younger days he played football for his town, he was a keen oarsman and yachtsman, and no mean performer with gun and rod
The funeral service, held in the Priory Church and attended by a large and representative congregation, was conducted by the Vicar, Canon Price. He emphasised the great service Mr.

Preston had given to the Church and the example he had shown by his devotion to duty, especially in the face of growing disability.
The interment took place in Christchurch Cemetery beside his wife, who had died 15 years earlier.

MR. C. H. WEBB

When Mr. Charles Henry Webb passed away on April 26th, at the age of 71, the Exercise lost one of its staunchest supporters. Harry Webb was known to thousands in the Midlands, not just amongst his friends in the Coventry and Leicester Guilds, but also to the public in this area and to ringers throughout the country; His straight stance and waxed ' sergeant-major's ' moustache, and his absolute intolerance of anything not of the best, assured him the respect of his contemporaries and the awe of the young.sters. Harry was a stonemason by trade and examples of his excellent work hang in many ringing chambers in the country.

Harry had an absolute passion for bells. His ringing days started at Croft in Leicestershire, with the Midland Counties Association, and though he moved subsequently to Rugby and then Coventry, his heart turned always towards the towers in the neighbourhood of Croft. His first peal was Grandsire Triples in July, 1919, and most of his subsequent ringing was on eight. He rang several peals on ten and one peal of Stedman Cinques. Harry's thirst for bells though could not be satisfied by tower bells alone, and as a handbell ringer he was known far and wide. In this way he came into contact with the public on many occasions, particularly at Christmas time, when for many years he led the tune ringing team from Allesley, Coventry, round the local hostelries and hospitals. From the former he would collect for charity with great success, and at the hospitals and old folks' homes his reward was in the happiness he brought to his listeners.

Despite his austere moustache he had a kindly twinkle when he got four bells in his hands, and many an 'evening out ' has been enlivened by his complicated and energetic rendering of many well loved tunes. 'Soldier's Joy' and 'Grandfather's Clock' probably rank as his own favourites, and on tower bells it was no secret that his favourite methods were Superlative Surprise Major and Grandsire Caters.

Harry had not enjoyed very good health for some years, his recurring heart trouble causing him several long, tedious spells in bed. He was the patriarch of a large family, extending to four generations-he had several great-grandchildren-and he was quite satisfied to have had his 'three score years and ten.'

HIS PEALS

His first peal, Grandsire Triples, conducted by Ernest Morris, was rung at Stoney Stanton in July. 1919. His last was Plain Bob Royal ' in hand ' in June, 1950, at Newfield Road, Coventry. This was his first peal on ten "ink hand.' A few weeks before that he rang his first peal of Bob Major 'in hand' at the same address. The list is as follows:-

Tower bells.-Doubles: Grandsire 8 (cond. 1), Stedman 1, two methods 1, four methods 1 .
Minor: Plain Bob 12. Kent 3, Oxford 1, Kent and Oxford 1, Cambridge 1, four methods 1 . Triples: Grandsire 17, Stedman 18.
Major: Plain Bob 19. Kent 4, Oxford 2, Little Bob 2, Canterbury Pleasure 1, Spliced Treble Bob 3. Double Norwich 6, Shilton 1, New Cambridge 1, Cambridge 8, Superlative 4, Bristol 1, London 1 .
Caters: Stedman 4.
Royal: Cambridge 7, Melton 1
Cinques: Stedman 1 .
-In hand '.-Grandsire Doubles 3 (3), Plain Bob Major 1, Plain Bob Royal 1.
Total: 136 (4)

THE LADIES' GUILD

Kent Branch
Fine weather favoured the Kent Branch for their meeting at Ashford on May 26th. The service was taken by the Vicar (Canon N. M. G. Sharp).

Some 40 ringers and friends then sat down to a very satisfying tea, which had been prepared by members of the Mothers' Union, in the Parish Room. After tea Mrs. Mitchell (vicepresident) accorded the usual votes of thanks and then asked the gentlemen to leave, so that the ladies could hold their business meeting.
Mrs. Mitchell then asked the secretary (Miss Jill Haffenden), who is to be married in July, to accept a set of six glass goblets as a wedding gift from members of the Kent Branch. Accepting the present, Miss Haffenden thanked the members most sincerely for the gift and good wishes that went with it. Several new members were elected. It was decided, subject to permission, to hold the next meeting at Walmer on either August 11 th or 18 th. In future the collection at the service will be donated to church expenses.
The ladies then joined the gentlemen in the belfry where ringing, from rounds to Bristol Surprise Major, continued until 8 p.m.

Bolton Branch

A very successful meeting of the Bolton Branch was held at St. Paul's Church, Walkden, on May 26 th , with over 50 ringers present. The bells were kept going with a minimum of time between touches. The striking throughout was of a very high order, the rounds by the learners being perfect (and most of them are still at school).

Visitors included Alfred Barnes, of Manchester, who has almost reached 90 years of age. His ringing is still very good, and so is his memory. He said that if he lived until next April he would have completed 70 years' ringing. It is 50 years since he rang his first peal of Stedman at Walkden. Another visitor was the ringing secretary, Mr. Stephen Ll. Parry. There are some very enthusiastic ringers in the District-a band had rung two peals and then came to the meeting to finish off the day, one or two having a handful of blisters.
The Vicar presided at the business meeting. He gave all a very warm welcome.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Christchurch Branch at Lymington

The second quarterly meeting of the year was held at Lymington on June 2nd, attended by 25 members. Mr. S. Clarke, of Harlow, Essex, was a welcome visitor.
Prior to the meeting the hon. secretary of the District preseated the recently-married chairman and his wife (Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Daniells) with a case of fish knives and forks to mark the occasion and to express the District ringers' good wishes for a long life of happiness. Mr. J. E. Daniells suitably replied. and on behalf of himself and his wife expressed their pleasure at receiving such a pleasant surprise.
Two new ringing members-Mr. J. Coleman (Fordingbridge) and Mr. Charles Pring-were elected at the ensuing business meeting. The next quarterly meeting will be at Bournemouth on September 1st. Ringing in all methods took place during the afternoon and evening on the octaves at Lymington and Lyndhurst.

The outing in North Cornwall on May 5th. during which 11 towers were visited [see R.W., June 1st], was arranged by Mr. Alan Carveth, of Truro. Our correspondent tenders his apologies for the error.

Coffinswell's New Band

The Mid-Devon Branch held an enthusiastic meeting at Coffinswell, near Newton Abbot, on June 2nd, the main object being to assist a new band of ringers which has been formed there. The bells were rung continuously throughout the afternoon, several of the new recruits being given ample opportunity to ring, whilst at other intervals members rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor.

After an excellent tea in the Parish Hall, which was kindly provided by the parishioners, the Rector and churchwardens extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, and thanked them for ail the assistance which they had already given. Mr. J. E. Lilley (Branch chairman) and the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox (president) spoke in reply, and thanked the parishioners for their kind hospitality. Mr. Gale was appointed captain of the tower, and it was resolved to hold practices on Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock, the Mid-Devon Branch consenting to send instructors on each occasion.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.
No. 2360 Vol. LII.
FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1956 transmission as a newspaper Registered at the G.P.O. for
'THE RINGING WORLD'

THE Committee makes no apology for taking up this valuable space for the purpose of clarifying the position concerning this journal. It is felt that interested readers will desire to have full information as to how we stand. Last year, mainly owing to the increase in the price of the paper to 6 d ., we were able to show a credit balance of about $£ 800$. This sum was supplemented by about $£ 250$ in donations from peal and quarter peal ringers. Naturally the Committee felt that the corner had been turned, and plans were under consideration for the improvement of the paper. It is realised that the better we can make it, the greater the number of readers who may be induced to take it. Our hopes have been dimmed, however, by the sudden rise in printing costs and, so far as we are able to estimate, the whole of the profits made in 1955 will be swallowed up to meet them. So much for our good intentions! We are now back again to where we started, and we have to look for new sources of revenue. That is the bald position.

We stated at the Central Council meeting that a simple way out was to get a larger circulation, which would enable the costs to be spread over more copies, so making the production cost per copy less. It is realised that the paper is read by a much greater number of people than the number of copies sold. This is probably because so many towers only take one copy (generally paid for by church authorities), which is shared by all the ringers associated with such towers. Then there are cases where ringers who have bought the journal pass it on to others after they have read it. That, of course, is better than throwing it away, but it might lessen our chances of selling copies to those who are sufficiently interested as to want to read it. We have had various 'drives,' and district representatives have been appointed (the Committee sincerely appreciates their good work), but still the desired increase in circulation does not come - indeed, such advances that have been made have been cancelled out by death and other causes. If the paper is to survive, we must have a bigger circulation. We propose to increase the charges for advertisements, but the yield from this source will not be sufficient by itself.

We feel that there has not yet been a sufficient realisation by the Exercise of its responsibilities concerning its own paper. The Committee will work hard and continuously, but it is not equipped with magical powers, and cannot perform the duties which fall to every individual who wants to see the paper survive. It is up to every reader to take up at once the task of securing new readers, and with a big push all round we should soon be out of trouble, and get back to the work of improving the paper, not just merely keeping it alive.

Those who read the Committee's report will have noted that although there recently was a dispute in the printing trade, the paper appeared regularly and on time. Had it been usually produced in London, it would have ceased to appear. We are not too sure whether, if this had happened, that it would have been an entirely bad thing-it would certainly have brought about a realisation that the paper is essential to the life of the Exercise. Isn't it a fact that we take it too much for granted that 'The Ringing World' will always be available when we want it?

We appeal to all ringers and all district representatives to make a strong effort to enrol new readers, to stimulate interest in the paper by bringing it up continuously for discussion at meetings, and we hope that those generousminded souls (bless them!) will continue to send their donations along, to be acknowledged in 'The Ringing World.' This appeal is addressed to every responsible member of the Exercise, and we now ask you to back up your Committee by personal effort.

 relinquishing their attempt on Southwark Cathedral bells on June 9th to enable the R.R. to ring a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus. This was Mrs. Joyce Parsons' first peal since her wedding and it made her eligible to join the elite band who have rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.The peal rung at Repton for the Patronal Festival of St. Wystan was also a 28 th wedding anniversary compliment to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cotton, of Overseal.

With the ringing of 5,040 College Triples at Chester on June 3rd, Mr. H. O. Baker has completed peals in the 11 pure Triples methods with two hunts. He has also rung peals of Stedman and Erin Triples.
In the 'Mills' peal, the band was made up as follows: Father, daughter, son on the front three; mother, father, son on the back three; Marian and Donald being 16 and Michael 14 . This is presumably the first 'Mills ' peal to be rung.
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead writes that there has been a previous peal at Ewhurst, Sussex, on December 10th, 1916. 'I confirm the recent peal at Cadoxton as the 50 th on the bells, but I made the last peal at Burton Latimer the 51st since augmentation, not the 50th.'
Several peals have been arranged in which each ringer has hailed from a different county, but it is unusual for this to occur purely by coincidence. Such a case was the peal at Norton, Glos, in which the counties represented were Bedfordshire. Devon. Hampshire, Gloucestershire, Essex, Cornwali, Derbyshire and Middlesex. To complete the story, the composer was from Suffolk!

GOSSIP

 Turner, aged 11, of Hardington. rang with Mr J. Pugsley, the Minehead veteran, who is 73 years his senior.Ringing has been resumed at Wonersh, Surrey, at usual times. The cracked gudgeon has been repaired.

The peal at Cromer was the first on the bells for over 20 years. The conductor, Mr. Walter C. Medler, was also the conductor of the first peal on the bells rung 32 years ago.

The headstocks of the 14 bells at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, are now at Taylor's Bell Foundry at Loughborough, having new ballbearing fittings fitted to them. Consequently ringing will be off for some months. Intending visitors to Eire please note.

In the Cambridge University Guild peal at Longstanto 1 on May 19th (' R.W.'. p. 339) Mr. T. R. Dennis acted as umpire. The intention was to ring a silent peal. and it would have been so but for words which escaped one member of the band towards the end of the second part.

We have had most encouraging news concerning Mr. W. T. Elson, following the mid-thigh amputation of his left leg. He now gets about the ward at London University Hospital in a wheeled chair and is planning what he will do when he comes out of Roehampton Hospital, after learning to get about on one leg.

After a lapse of several years the bells of St. Mary the Virgin, Ditchingham, Norfolk, ring out again. A band of ringers, including learners, has been formed and keen interest is shown by certain members from Ellingham and Earsham. who come regularly to every practice (Wednesdays) to help with Plain Bob.

TWO MOTIONS DEFEATED - BELLS IN ROUNDS IN A PEAL - TWIN BOBS MARKED X - NEXT COUNCIL MEETING - APPRECIATION OF PRESIDENT - HAPPY SOCIAL CONCLUSION

BELLS IN ROUNDS

The next motion debated was

1. That no peal of Doubles or Minor shall be recognised in which, for any reason, the bells strike in rounds other than
(i) at the beginning and end of the peal;
(ii) at the beginning of each extent;
(iii) when round-blocks of two or more extents are used, at the appropriate places in the round-blocks.
2. That no peal on higher numbers of bells shall be recognised in which for any reason the bells strike in rounds other than at the beginning and end of the peal.

Proposing the motion, Mr. E. A. Barnett said there were two reasons why he put it on the agenda. One was that they had not a lot to discuss that day, and secondly that 15 or 16 months ago somebody in the Ely district rang a peal in which, one gathered, rounds came up in the middle, and the conductor quite rightly said that the Central Council had never made provision when such an event occurred. This was not a matter of life or death, or a matter in which he would lose any sleep.

He was a little surprised to find three letters in 'The Ringing World ' deploring the fact that they proposed to reject peals in which rounds came up in the middle. He could recall three times in which rounds occurred when he had been ringing and on each occasion they stopped immediately. He really believed that most of the Exercise would stop if rounds came up.

He noticed that two of the letters were concerned with peals in which rounds came up in the middle, and he could not help feeling that the writers had a vested interest in the matter. A further point was that two of the people came from East Anglia. He wondered if there was a different standard of peal ringing morality in East Anglia.

Mr. C. K. Lewis, seconding, said when he started to ring it was stressed on him that rounds had a special significance, and if rounds came up that was the end. He persisted in this belief for five or six years and then he read the book of Decisions. He read there that a peal should begin and end with rounds, and later that one could have a trip and if it was corrected immediately it was all right.

Mr. Peter Border said as most members knew he knew a good deal about ringing in East Anglia, and he could assure the Council that ringing in East Anglia was no worse than in any other part of the country, and it was better than in some.

The matter referred to was a peal at Iggleton and the information submitted to "The Ringing World, was third-hand at the very least. He wanted to make it clear that rounds did not occur at any place. When the trip occurred there was a mix-up, but it was not rounds. The bells 345 came down in a heap. He told the ringer what to do. The next change he was nearly right and the following one he was right. 'I had no doubt ahout the validity of the peal at the time.'

As to rounds in the middle of a peal, he thought they should know what was meant by rounds- $1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8$. If they came into rounds as the result of a trip they would come down in a haphazard fashion and not in perfeet rounds.

The Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith moved the rejection of the motion and the closure of the debate. It was childish in the extreme. If they got 1234 at back stroke and 5,678 at hand stroke, would that be rounds?

Mr. P. Johnson, supporting the rejection, said if the Council were to tie themsclves down to the motion they would bring themselves into the derision of the whole of the Exercise.

Mr. J. H. Crampion: I deplore that such a thing should be brought up before the Council.

Mr. John Freeman said as ringers they should be practical. He had rung in a peal in which rounds occurred. There was a mistake and it was recorded as a peal. It happened to have been rung in the south of England. It had been suggested that if the bells were fired and the conductor shouted 'Keep them going, and the position was righted, it should be called a peal. He did not think they should pass that out of hand. He suggested that they move on to the next item on the agenda.

The Council decided to pass on to the next item, the chairman remarking that he felt that the discussion had been of some value.

TWIN BOBS MARKED ' $X$,

A motion was submitted by Mr. J. Segar : "That this Council disapproves of the twin bob mark "X" being used to indicate one bob only in compositions printed in "The Ringing World

Mr. Segar said when he was young nobody thought of twin bobs except in Stedman. The more recent use of twin bobs was in the Major methods, especially London. Calls could be made in London at Middle, In, Fifths, Wrong and Home, and it was under In and Fifths that they found the twin bob. The legitimate use was under 5 th and 4 ths.
'I would like to introduce a few young students of more advanced methods who will be the peal secretaries of the future, and I am pleased to say that some of them write to me. If I am asked what is a twin bob. I ought to give a straightforward answer. If the student friend approaches with "The Ringing World " in his pocket, I would say: "Let me look at the figures, then I will tell you what the cross indicates."

- The amount of notice Mr. Barnett told me would be required for this motion took me back to a composition of the Double Norwich type. It is a transposition of the Double Norwich type. In this there is $1,4,5$ and 6 , and no one is taught to distinguish the difference. A "X" at 5 shortens the course. We have got two bobs at 5 , as distinguished by the even bob mark. The double bob mark appears to be used for one bob only.
- It would be unfortunate for any young student if he turns to another page-a peal in a second place method-where the $\mathbf{X}$ occurs in the befores. In this composition the figure 3 is sufficient for three befores and 2 for two befores. The student was definitely confused when he saiv a twin bob meaning one bob.

Mr. P. A. Corby seconded the motion
Mr. Peter Border : Does Mr. Segar deplore the use of twin bobs in various treble bob methods?

Mr. P. Johnson said the X which Mr. Segar referred to was much older than the speaker. In 'Clavis' the X was in all the bobs before, and the idea of the X indicating two bobs was in the minds of pcople who were specialising in Stedman Triples. 'I can see little or no use for it. A straight dash means one bob, and if you get people who don't know that and put an $\mathbf{X}$ in blind ignorance, their ignoranee is not our fault. There is no doubt the $\mathbf{X}$ comes from Stedman Triples.'

Mr. C. H. Woolley: If this $X$ causes any contention then I would be all for abolishing it. $I$ don't know. In my profession $X$ can mean anything you like.

The motion was lost.
THE NEXT MEETING
The hon. secretary said an invitation had been received from the Oxford Diocesan Guild te visit Oxford in 1957, and an invitation had also been received to visit Essex.

Mr. P. A. Corby asked if it was intended to revert to the pre-war arrangement, to visit London every third year.

The president replied that each three years the standing committee considered very carefully whether it would be possible to go back to London. In their opinion the time had not arrived when they could find suitable accommodation.

Mr. A. A. Hughes said he would have no difficulty about getting a hall-the difficulty was in getting accommodation for headquarters like thoy had in Leicester and other provincial towns.

After discussion the Council decided to go to Essex for their 1957 meeting.

'THE RINGING WORLD

At the close of the mecting Mr. H. W. Rogers said he felt that the discussion on 'The Ringing World' was left in a very untidy state. They must make it very clear to ringers throughout the country that the circulation must be increased. He begged to move:
Following the report of 'The Ringing World ' Committee, to the effect that under present circumstances and circulation a deficit is likely to he encountered in 1957, the Council urges:
(1) That all ringers, and particularly Association officers and peal ringers, endeavour to increase circulation by encouraging many more ringers to purchase regularly copies of 'The Ringing World.
(2) That all peal ringers should be asked to send voluntary subscriptions with peal reports.
Mr. R. G. Blackman seconded and the resolution was carricd.

THE ATTENDANCE

The hon. sccretary reported : 33 Associations fully represented-76 members: 17 Associations partly represented 40 members. 25 absent ; 5 Associations not represented-8 absent: life members-5 present, 2 absent ; hon, members14 presert, 4 absent. Total: 135 present, 39 absent.

This was the second largest attendance in the history or the Council.

THANKS TO THE PRESIDENT

Mr. R. S. Anderson said for two or three Council meetings he had had the very pleasant duty of proposing a vote of thanks to the president. During the day the thought frequently occurred to him that this was the last Council meeting at which Mr. Lewis would preside. For many years he had graced the Council by the dignity. authority and wisdom with which he had presided.

I ask you to rise and show by acclamation our appreciation of his services from the chair.? The meeting received the proposition with great cordiality.

The president, in thanking Mr. Anderson and the members for their tribute, said it was next year before he finally vacated the chair, and he would then take the opportunity of saying a little more.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS

The president said that his son-in law, the late Wilfred Hooton, was very anxious that something should be said about four-bell towers. In all associations there were four-bell towers, but they were never put in the list of towers. He thought it would be worth while because one of his best pupils came from a three-bell tower-Mr. Ted Gobey, of Ilkeston. If they had any four-bell towers in their areas he asked them not to neglect them.

VOTES OF THANKS

The president asked the Council to pass a vote of thanks to the Lord Mayor and Corporation of Leicester for the use of the Council Chamber. They would also like to thank the Lord Bishop of Leicester for his welcome. and the president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild for his welcome on behalf of the Leicester Guild. which was very much appreciated. They also wished to thank the Provost of Leicester, the Very Rev. Mervyn Armstrong, for officiating at the service that morning, at which some 70 members were present. They also thanked the Leicester Entertainment Committee for the splendid local arrangements, and Mr. Shirley Burton for arranging the peal attempts, and all local incumbents and stecplekcepers for allowing them to ring on the bells, and in having the bells ready. [Applause.]

Mr . T. Dunwoody proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. E. A. Barnett for the way he had carried out his work as secretary, which was carried with acclamation.

CIVIC RECEPTION

The meeting was followed by a civic reception, held in the town, by the Lord Mayor (Ald. Samuel Cooper). The Lord Mayor in his welcome said that before he came to Leicester he used to pull a bell in a four-bell tower, but he never aspired. He hoped they would take away with them happy memories of their visit. The president thanked the Lord Mayor and the officials of the Corporation for permitting the Council mecting to be held in the Council Chamber. It was much nicer than the Old Moot Hall where they met when they last visited Leicester in 1911.

In the evening a social and dance was given by the president and members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild in the Bell Hotel. It was a very happy gathering and made a pleasing conclusion to an excellent weekend.

ADDENDUM

The report of the Methods Committee (sec page 377 was adopted after further discussion, during which Mr. Eric Nobles asked where Plain Bob with a Grandsire Single was rung were they to call it April Day or Plain Bob?

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead replied that the Council had accepted for a long time that the Bob did not alter the method and the answer was that it was Plain Bob and not April Day.

The hon. secretary said he did not think there would be much harm done if Plain Bob with a Grandsire Single was called April Day.

A LEICESTER MEMORY

I'll tell you a bell ringing story Of a lad that won honour and fame, Wi' Shirley at bell ringing practice; Pat Cannon, that were 'is name.

He was one of this 'ere Central Council, And Pat's work when ringing begun Was to rake 'old of end of bell rope And pull it like fury and fun.

One day 'im and Hilda were ringing The bells at Cathedral with band. When Pat tried to set it at finish He found that 'is bell wouldn't stand.

By gum there weren't half a commotion. Ringers was filled wi' alarm As rope flopped round about belfry And Pat got a coil round each arm.

Of course, towerkeeper 'ad to be sent for.
He came, and said: 'What's to do?'
Ringers said: "Pat's bust a bell stay.
And in his Sunday clothes too!'
Pat said: 'Right's right, young fellow, I think it's a shame on you all. For someone to go and blame me When I'm not the one's done it at all.

- I'd only just gat 'old of bell rope And pulled it so gently and mild. And to blame me for all the commotion, It doesn't seem right to this child.
- You see, someone's been 'ere before me, Ana clouted it and stroke and back. It only needs touching to break it, The thing's 'ad a terrible crack.'

But nobody believed what old Pat said, They knew he'd given it a bang. And so for the rest of the meeting His ringing suffered a clang.

But when the meeting was over And ringers 'ad gone, cept a few, Old Pat went away very thankful That 'e still' 'ad 'is raisins to chew.

MISS STELLA WICKENS MARRIED

Handbell ringers from Aldrington grected the hride at the church porch, which was decorated with bell ropes and handbells, when the marriage took place on April 28 ih at St. Peter's. Twincham, of Miss Stella Wickens to Mr. Kenneth Charles Knight. Both bride and bridegroom are members of St. Peter's band. of which the bride's father is captain.

The Rector (the Rev. B. W. Hazledine) officiated at the choral service, assisted by the Rev. N . Miller (Vicar of Titchfield. Hants). The tower bells were rung as the happy couple left the church, and afterwards a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles.

The reception in Twincham Village Hall was attended by 50 guests, and the honeymoon spent at Wellingore, Lincs, where the bride's uncle is vicar.

OUNDLE SCHOOL QUATERCENTENARY CELEBRATIONS

The foundation of Oundle, ene of the great: public schools of England, occurred in 1556, and May 26th was a day of great celebration when the School was graciously honoured by a visit from H.M. Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother.
The chief event to mark the 400th anniversary of the foundation was a service in the morning in the old Parish Church of St. Peter, and this was followed later in the day by the dedication of new stained-glass windows in the chapel of Oundle School. Her Majesty attended both these events.

Ringing was organised by Mr. Paul Taylor, head of the famous Loughborough firm of bell founders, who is himself. an old boy of the School. He was anxious to collect a band of old members of the School, but as far as could be ascertained there are only five who have taken up the Exercise, and only three-Paul Taylor, Douglas Birkinshaw and R. D. Wilson -were available. The local band and the Peterborough Diocesan Guild gladly made up a band of eight.
Her Majesty was duc to arrive at 11.15 a.m., but a start was made at 8.30 a.m.. when touches in various methods were rung until approximately 10 a.m., when the band rang an excellent quarter peal of Grandsire Triples which came round in good order at 10.55 . After a very short interval, the bells were kept going in rounds. Queen's, and firing until the arrival of Her Majesty's car at 11.15. At this juncture the most important member of the organisation was one of the boys stationed on the roof of the church to give the signal when to stop, and so well was the timing managed that the final fire occurred just as the Queen Mother alighted from her car.
The quarter peal was: Mrs. Clarke 1, D. C. Birkinshaw 2, P. L. Taylor 3. G. W. Jeffis 4, L. Witten 5. R. D. Wilson 6. E. Whitmore (cond.) 7. A. B. Clarke 8.
From the many appreciative remarks made to the writer afterwards about the ringing it was fully evident what the lay public notice about ringing is whether it is well struck or not. This particular quarter peal was quite well struck, and although those who heard it would not know whether it was Grandsire Triples or Cambridge Major. they appreciated what many dcscribed as 'the evenness ' of the ringing. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A GIFT TO HIS TOWER

Dear Sir,-I was gratified and deeply moved to note that the late C. Arthur Manning, of Alcester and Market Harborough, had in his will left $£ 200$ to the Parochial Church Council of Market Harborough upon trust for the maintenance and repair of the church bells, and his bell ringing books and papers for the use of the bellringers. This is an example that might be followed with advantage by many ringers, for we know so well-to our regret-that in the past many prominent and eminent ringers have passed on, and all their records perished with them. It has so often happened that, where no son or other near relatives interested in the art have followed, these records have been destroyed and books dispersed and lost. It seems a great pity that where a ringer has gathered together either books of historic value, peal records. compositions and other odds and ends he has cherished over the years, these should simply be scrapped because there is no one interested enough to preserve them.

I have here at St. Margaret's, Leicester, some scrap books' that formerly belonged to the late Sir A. P. Heywood, which for years were lost or misplaced, but eventually found and handed to me by his son, Sir Percival Heywood, Bart. I also have the diaries and other papers of W. H. Fussell and some oddments that belonged to the late James Pagett, of Derby. I was able to 'rescue' two old ringing books that belonged to the old Leicester Scholars, written by John Martin. and others about 1750 onwards. These passed through many adventures. but I have had one of them restored and rebound. In themselves they may not be of great value, but as historic memoirs they are irreplaceable.

Preseat day ringers who have such records. either of their own personal researches or others of early date handed on to them, should make provision to see that they are not destroyed at their passing on, but leave them to their local Society or Guild or the Central Council Library or elsewhere. where they will be preserved and kept as historic memoirs.

This act of Arthur Manning affected me deeply, probably because I knew him well and had rung with him many times and taken part in several peals which he conducted. It is gratifying that his memory will thus be kept in the belfry he loved so well.-Yours sincerely, ERNEST MORRIS.
St. Margaret's, Leicester

FROME TENOR

Dear Sir.-The information quoted in the new 'Dove " concerning the weight of the above was derived from the records of the late J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, who recorded the weights and diameters of upwards of 2,000 tenors.
He ciearly records 27.2.22 in this instance. hut as this was an isolated case where the weight was not shown to the nearest quarter hundredweight, and as a $55 \frac{1}{2}$ irch diameter bell must weigh nearer 31 cwt . I now have the uncasy feeling that what I took to be a note of the weight in cwts. qrs. lbs. may have been nothing more than the note of the date of Jim Shepherd's visit to Frome!

If my suspicion is correct, then I can only offer my apologies to Frome-any implication that their tenor has shrunk was quite unintentional, and would suggest that owners of the new 'Dove' might like to alter the weight to 31 cwt . for accuracy.

At the same time I would assure them that this was the only time I altered a weight from J. H. S.'s notes so there need be no fear of other similar mistakes arising.-Yours truly.
R. H. DOVE.

CHICHESTER BELL TOWER IN FILMS
Dear Sir,-Correspondents who have commented on bells in recent films may be interested to know that an entertaining account of the Cathedral bell tower at Chichester, written for the annual report of the Friends of the Cathedral by the Archdeacon, concludes as follows:

Friends who are keen film-goers will soon have two opportunities of seeing the belfry of Chichester Cathedral, if only for a few fleeting seconds. At the beginning of the year the British Lion Film Corporation descended upon us and transformed the belfry into Baynards Castle for the film 'Richard III. More recently, the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Company arrived and disguised the belfry as Liege Cathedral for the film 'Quentin Durward.' The cathedral funds benefited from the contributions of the two film companies. The Prebendal School benefited from the autograph of Sir Laurence Olivier.'-Yours faithfully,
E. G. CAPLE

THE EXTRA POSTAGE

 Over 300 of our postal subscribers have paid the extra 1s. 3d, postage for their Ringing World' until the end of the year. Many have thoughtfully sent a little extra in case there should be a deficit, and this kindness is much appreciated. Remittances can be sent either to the Editor, c/o Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Guildford, or to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall. Receipts are not given.
CENTRAL COUNCIL CANDIDATE QUESTION

Dear Sir ,-In my humble view, the Central Council candidate should be a sincere and good churchman and one who works hard to keep his church bells rung regularly for Sunday services. However, it seems that some ringers think that the average ringer is out of his depth listening to the debates at the Council's sessions.

Peals and peal ringers are a minority in the Exercise and mean very little to the outside listeners. Therefore, if the Central Council is only for the peal and method construction experts, as some would have us think, then it is a waste of money paid out annually, by the rank and file, the majority of whom are regular service ringers.-Yours faithfully, Irthlingborough.
ARTHUR BIGLEY.
BOW BELLS & SUBSCRIBERS' PRIVILEGE
Dear Sir,-I'm sorry that my letter should have been misread by people who prefer to read in between the lines rather than along them. The question was asked for two reasons only.
(1) Because in a back number of the 'R.W.' it was stated that a member of the pre-war band at Bow removed the tenor clapper to prevent visiting ringers from ringing it.
(2) Because at our annual meeting at Bedford on Easter Monday, a member said that it wouldn't matter how much we gave to the Bow Bells fund, we wouldn't be allowed to ring them anyway.
Incidentally, Mr. Whittaker may be interested to know that not one member of our Association objected to a grant. The only point that we had to debate was how much we could afford to give.-Yours sincerely,

P.S.-My letter was not intended to reflect on the hospitality of the London ringers.-K. G. S.

STEDMAN TRIPLES AT SOUTH WIGSTON.

Dear Sir,-In his letter withdrawing his 'peal' of February 4th, Mr. B. G. Warwick made certain allegations about me which, although I am reluctant to take up more of your space, cannot go unchallenged. He also failed to give the full details concerning the withdrawal of this peal.'
I confirm that I have not visited St. Thomas' tower recently, but not by reason of any ulterior motive as implied. I ring at the tower of the church which I have attended for the past 20 years and which, it so happens, is not the church nearest to my homc. For some years now my spare time has been so fully occupied that I have not attended my own tower so frequently as I would have wished, even though I regularly attend the services. Surely my duty to my own tower comes before tower-hopping.
I did not contact the conductor re this peal as I expected he would have sufficient gumption not to publish it-it is not unheard of for rough peals to go unpublished and unrecorded. A letter to you, Mr. Editor, who had published the peal in good faith, was obviously called for. Whether the Guild's reputation was damaged by my action is a moot point. Personally, I should have thought it was enhanced by the fact that it possesses at least one member who is not prepared to condone such peals!
It is alleged that all I said in my letter was ' not quite true.' It most certainly was true. The question of this ' peal' was brought up at a committee meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild which I was requested to attend on Aprit 30th. Six members of the hand were present (whether this was to outweigh me by numbers is a matter for conjecture) and the remaining member of the 'inside' band, who was prevented from attending by his duties as a verger, sent a letter containing abusive remarks about me. At first the only admission was that the tenor did get down to 7th's place: the firing was denied. After nearly an hour's discussion it was admitted by members of the band that the tenor had got down below 5th's place. I wonder how much longer would have been required for the firing to have been admitted too! However. the members of the band withdrew for a short time and. upon their return. the conductor announced that he would withdraw the peal ' not because it was not a true peal but because of had striking.' None of this was mentioned by B. G. W. who wastes half a page of 'The Ringing World ' to withdraw the peal because of the bad name 1 have given the Guild, which just doesn't make sense!

I am accused of taking Mr. F. H. Dexter's name in vain. B. G. W. scems to have forgotten that it was F. H. Dexter's Variation of Thurstans' Four-part which he was supposed to be calling.
If the withdrawal of this 'peal' is such a trouble to the band I suggest that they ring it again, in the same positions, within the next six to eight weeks. and that it be umpired by an independent party. the time and date to be published in 'The Ringing World' in advance.Yours faithfully.
F. S. CHENEY.

South Wigston, Leicester.

AN UNWILLING DEFALLTER

Dear Sir, -In the report as to membership which I gave at the recent Council meeting, I stated that the subscription for the East Derhy and Notts Association had not been paid. I am informed by the secretary of that Association that this had been sent to me shortly after Easter. but the letter had evidently gone astray.
Althouzh my statement was technically correct. therefore, the Association was an unwilling defaulter.-Yours faithfully,
E. A. BARNETT,

Hon. Secretary.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Meeting at Kettering

Since the early days of the Change Ringing Associations in the county of Northampton, Whit Monday has been the traditional day for the annual general meeting. Its observance was continued when the Diocesan Guild was formed in 1924, and although its pattern changed this link with the past was still favoured.
Now, however, Whit Monday is not a Bank Holiday for many industries in the county, and the ties of employment again prevented quite a number from attending the last one aţ Kettering on May 21st. To comply with local requests the service was combined with Evensong in the Parish Church at 6.30 p.m. The Rector, the Rev. H. G. L. Roberts, found that time to be most convenient. For a variety of reasons the number attending was less than usual, but the service was no less appreciated, and some hearty singing, led by Mr. S. Loasby at the organ, was enjoyed.
Tea and business were arranged in the Corn Market Hall by Mr. P. Chapman, the catering being in the hands of a committee of local ladies, whose efforts were much appreciated.

The Master, Mr. B. P. Morris, presided, and with him was the Kettering Branch president, Canon G. F. Turner, and Miss J. Luck, Branch secretary. The annual report as printed was adopted, together with the statement.
The general secretary's report stated that the total membership seemed to be unaltered, gains and losses having more or less cancelled each other out. Ten non-resident life members were elected. The obituary list contained ten names and included Mr. M. Hobbs, well known for his work in connection with Doubles methods. Fifty-three peals were recorded. including one rung in December, 1954, omitted from the last report.

As a further step towards stabilising finances the Guild committee had decided not to recommend an increase in subscriptions but that a charge be made for the annual reports.
The Master's report mentioned that most of the branches were in a satisfactory condition. There were one or two branches where opportunities for advancement were not so great as others, and he appealed to members of neighbouring branches to support outings of struggling districts. An encouraging feature was the formation of the Kettering Grammar School Society of Change Ringers. The local education committee had shown some interest, inasmuch that it had approached the general secretary for information with a view to including ringing in its education syllabus. Although this might not seem practicable, it was done in good faith, and was worthy of any help and advice they could offer.
The financial statement showed a balance of $£ 616 \mathrm{~s}$. 4 d . in the general account and $£ 556$ 19s. 4d. in the Bell Restoration Fund.
The reports and statements of accounts were adopted.
There were no nominations for a change of officers and all were re-elected. as were the four representatives to the Central Council. Four grants, each of $£ 20$, were made from the Bell Restoration Fund to local restoration work, as well as a grant of one guinea to the Bow Bells appeal.
The rehung ring of ten at Kettering was available from mid-day and received favourable comment. Towers in the Branch were also open at various times and were much in demand.

Later in the year, at the summer festival at Oundle on September 1st. members will again have the opportunity to decide for or against changing the day of the annual meeting. No doubt the experience of May 21 st will influence many in their opinion. but careful thought is of course still necessary.

CHESTER GUILD ANNUAL FESTIVAL

The annual report of the Chester Diocesan Guild, presented at its annual meeting at Crewe on May 26th, welcomes its new president, the Rt. Rev. Gerald A. Ellison, D.D., Bishop of Chester, as the first ringing president it has had in its history. The Bishop demonstrates his practical interest in ringing as he goes about the diocese, for whenever possible he goes into the tower and enjoys a touch with the local band. The report expresses the hope that ringers throughout the diocese will be determined to support him in a practical manner as he faces the great tasks which confront him in the diocese.
Reference is also made to the duty of ringers to see that the bells are rung for service and that the ringing is the best which can be produced. and comments: 'No band is so good that it cannot be better, and no band, if it is to continue, can neglect the training of new ringers.'
Last year the Guild rang 87 peals, in which 121 resident members took part together with 40 non-resident members. There were 11 first pealers and 26 conductors.
Throughout the diocese the social side of the Art is not neglected; and the report contains references to ringers outings, social evenings. dances, etc., which maintain their popularity and serve to bring non-ringers into contact with the Exercise.

At the meeting, which adopted the report, decisions were taken to raise the subscription by sixpence with effect from January 1st, 1957, and also to double the maximum grant payable from the Bell Restoration and Augmentation Fund.

After some debate it was decided to hold the Annual Festival in 1957 on the second Saturday in May at Northwich, as it was felt that Trinity weekend was unsuitable on account of Trinity ordinations, particularly as it was desired that the president should be given the opportunity ta be present.
It was decided that subscriptions to the Bow Restoration Appeal be sent through the Guild general secretary, and that the closing date for such subscriptions should be September 30th.
A report on the Central Council meeting at Leicester was presented by Mr. C. K. Lewis, in the unavoidable absence of the representative member, Mr. R. G. Corby.

The meeting reaffirmed its confidence in its officers by re-electing them for a further year. with very sincere appreciation of the time and trouble they expend on the Guild's affairs.
The annual meeting was preceded by tea and service in Christ Church, Crewe, at which the service in Cerist Church, Crewe, at which the Rev. Gentry officiated and the Rev. A. Hockley, of Coppenhall, preached. He took the Trinity ordination as his starting point. and developed it to point out that whilst the priesthod had its part to play the laity, and ringers especially, had their part in the Church's tasks. He emphasised that if complaints were made of the quality of the clergy, as they often were, they should not forget that they were chosen from the laity. He asked that ringers should make a point of putting first things first in order that their fellows with whom they worked and played might be able to see a truc picture of a Christian. He asked: 'Is your hobby related to the total life of the Church. and if not, why not?'

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF ANSTEY'S DEDICATION

On Saturday, June 9th, 1906, the old flve bells of Anstey, Leics, were rededicated and three new trebles added. The first 'touch' on the bells on that historic occasion was 336 Grandsire Triples by William P. Cooper 1, Arthur R. Aldham 2, Ernest Morris 3, R. Henry Bartram 4, Josiah Morris 5, William H. Inglesant 6, Charles H. Fowler 7, William Willson (conductor) 8. Of this band only the two Morris's (father and son) remain alive.
It is not generally known that the first recorded peal yet found of Doubles in Leicestershire was rung on the old five bells here. "The Leicester Journal of September 27th, 1782, record: © On Thursday last was rung at Anstey in this county upon five bells, 5.280 Grandsire bobs, in three hours and ten minutes.' It is a great pity no names of the ringers are given. They had, however. their own code of rules, and Nichols, the historian. records them as being on the wall of the belfry:-

- Whoever takes a bell in hand

Must first these orders understand.
Before you begin a peal to swing
Off your hat, spurs and girdle, be sure you do fling.
He that rings with his spurs on, his girdle or hat,
He must pay down two pence-be sure of that.
He that doth a bell overthrow, I say,
Shall two pence pay the clerk, without delay.
He that doth a bell pull back again,
Shall surely pay down sixpence for the same.
If yol: refuse the stated sum to pay,
Presented you shall be, the next Court day."
To commemorate the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the octave, a peal was arranged, but owing to unforeseen circumstances the band met short, so a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by R. Elkington (conductor) 1, P. Kirk 2, E. Morris 3, M. Staniforth 4, A. Disney 5, G. H. Arguile 6. W. A. Lacey 7. Margaret Disney 8 . Ernest Morris rang the same bell as he did at the dedication 50 years ago; Margaret Disney is the granddaughter of the towerkeeper of that time, the late Mr. Alfred Cufflin.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE BISHOP

A member of the Merewarth. Kent. band since 1926, Mr. George ('Joe ') Bishop died on June 3rd, aged 73. Previously he was a member of the East Peckham Band.

The following colleagues from these two towers rang 1,260 Plain Bob Minor to his memory on June 6th: L. Newman 1. G. Fry 2, L. J. Honess 3, T. Saunders 4, H. H. Ushorge (cond.) 5, J. Saunders 6.

THE OUTING SEASON HAS ARRIVED

CHELTENHAM AND PRESTBURY

A warm welcome from the Vicar (the Rev. T. Wilkinson) was accorded ringers from Cheltenham and Prestbury when they visited Bishampton Church on Whit Saturday afternoon. Other towers in the tour were Bredon, Bredon's Norton, Great Comberton, Pershore Abbey and Great Hampton. We have heard from Bishampton how much the parishioners appreciated the visit.

ALL SAINTS', CORSTON

The ringers of All Saints', Corston, near Bath, had a very enjoyable outing into Dorset on May 12 th and were accompanied by their Rector and other ringing enthusiasts.

Towers visited were Beaminster, Netherbury, Bradpole, Burton Bradstock, Bridport and East Coker.

Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Plain Bob, Little Bob. Double Court. Cambridge and London Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major.

Thanks are due to Mr. L. R. G. Taylor for the excellent arrangements, those friends who provided the means of transport, and to $1 n$ cumbents and local bands who welcomed the party at each towe:

RIPPINGALE, LINCS

A most enjoyable day's ringing was spent in Bedfordshire on May 26 th by the Rippingale band accompanied by friends from Billingborough, Silk Willoughby, Market Deeping, Morton, Thurlby, Helpringham and Peterborough. Towers visited were the beautifully-restored church of Eaton Socon, Tempsford, Sandy, Biggleswade, Clifton, Elstow and St. Pauls', Bedrord.

The outing was splendidly arranged by Mr . Bill Marsh, and ringing included Cambridge Surprise, Oxford Treble Bob, Plain Bob and other methods. Thanks are due to incumbents for permission to ring and to local ringers.

WHIT MONDAY IN .HERFFORDSHIRE

The glorious highways and byways of Herefordshire were the venue of another ringing tour organised by Mr. E. T. Paul Field on Whit Monday. There was an imposing list of ten towers starting from the handy little six at Weston-under-Penyard. Then followed Ross-on-Wye (where the Hereford Guild made the visitors most welcome), Bridstow, Sellack Little Dewchurch (where the tower master and his wife kjndly provided tea and cakes, King's Capel (a difficult tenor), Upton Bishop, Aston Ingham and Blaisdon.

Thanks are due to Paul Field and to ringers and incumbents of Herefordshire for so kindly allowing the use of the bells.

WALTON-ON-THAMES

An early start was made on Whit Monday by Wakon-on-Thames ringers and friends. A beautiful drive through Buckinghamshire led to St. Laurence's Winslow ( $8,19 \ddagger \mathrm{cwt}$ ), and then into Bedfordshire for the ten at Leighton Buzzard ( $24 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.).

The afternoon's programme after lunch at Cross Keys included the beautiful church and bells at St. Mary's, Woburn, and the second ten of the day, St. Mary's, Luton.

A long drive through country lanes was the route to Enfield ( $8,20 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where ringing abruptly terminated when the clapper of the tenor departed from the bell. Thanks are due to Mr. Peter Alderton for his excellent arrangements and also to incumbents and local ringers.

ST. MARY'S, HENDON

A very pleasant afternoon was spent by St. Mary's Guild, Hendon, on May 19th, the party including six members of St. Mary's, Finchley, and other friends.

After ringing on the lovely-toned six at Kingswood various good touches were rung at Bletchingley (8). While this was in progress one member drew the attention of the Vicar of Hendon and other friends to the improvements that would be made if Hendon had another two bells.

The good tea at Godistone resulted in a late arrival at Thames Ditton. Miss Ruth Foreman was the capable Ringing Master. Thanks are expressed to incumbents and tower captains.

HLLLINGDON

The destination for this year's outing of St. John's, Hillingdon, Guild of Ringers on May 26th was Kent, and the 31 members and friends had to leave early.

A good start was made on the light eight at Speldhurst. After a good lunch the band never seemed quite at home on the 30 cwt . eight at Tenterden but fared better on the lighter eights at Biddenden and Wrotham, the latter being acclaimed the 'best tower of the day' both for tone and for ease of handling. An hour's ringing was also enjoyed at Westerham.

Seen In A Belfry

From Essex comes the following inci-dent:-

Bob Doubles were in progress when the fifth ringer (a lady) misses her dodge with the second (also a lady) and tries to make second's place from the ringer of the fourth.

The bells were righted and eventually came into rounds and 'Stand' was called. Instantly the ringer of the fourth advanced towards the ringer of the fifth, with rope end in hand, and exclaimed: - You'd steal my work, you would.'

The ringer of the second then rushes across to the ringer of the fifth, and throwing her head on her shoulder sobbed out: 'It's all too bad. You made me make the dodge all on my own.'

Altogether the day was a great success; the rain kept off, the methods rung ranged from rounds and Grandsire to Bristol and London, and striking was of a good standard, in fact many with long memories regard it as "the best yet.'

PAKEEIELD, SUFFOLK

Two coaches were required for the Pakefield company's outing on Whit Monday. Ringing friends, the Rector, churchwardens, choir and members of the congregation finding the outing planned by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kindred most attractive.

An hour's ringing at Woodbridge was followed by tea at Sudbury, the very musical ring at Long Melford, with the unusual approach to the belfry, and finally Lavenham, with a warm welcome from the Rector and Mr. Stedman Symonds. Here a shortened Evensong was sung and the Rector gave a most interesting talk on the church and the bells. Good use was made of the bells.

Ringing during the day consisted of Bob Major, Bob Triples, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Treble Bob, with rounds and call changes for beginners. The beauty of Constable's county' impressed all the party.

On Saturday, May 26th, a party of 50 ringers and friends from North Muskham and towers around travelled by bus and cars to South Lincolnshire.
Some good ringing at All Saints', Stamford, set the pace for the day. Moving eastwards into the Fen District the next tower visited was Market Deeping ( $6,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.). There ringing was perhaps not quite so good owing to the fourth and fifth ropes falling very close together. At Deeping St. Nicholas ( $6,6 \mathrm{cwt}$.) it was soon evident that the bells went like the proverbial "little tops,' Cambridge Minor being tapped out in fine style.

The next tower, the Mecca of all ringers, Croyland ( 6,9 cwe. 2 qr .8 lb .), was reached early enough to listen to the bells being rung by a party from Northampton whilst we looked round the ruins. These fine bells, with their tremendously long draught of rope, both go and sound well and are surprisingly easy to handle.
Tea was taken at the Bell Hotel, Deeping St. James, followed by ringing on the magnificent six of St. James' Church (tenor 19 cwt 1 qr .).

The final tower was St. Andrew's, West Deeping ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt} .2 \mathrm{gr}$.). There we did not do justice to a fine ring of bells; perhaps we were a little tired at the end of a good day.
Methods rung included rounds for the learners, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Original, Double Court and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Thanks are due to Mr. F. W. Midwinter (the organiser), incumbents and ringers who met the party.

OBITUARY

MR. F. H. DEXTER

Mr. Frederick Henry Dexter, of Leicester Cathedral Society, whose death was announced last week, was one of Leicester's most famous leaders-both as a composer and conductor and in his prime was a martinet in the belfry, yet beneath all his forceful remarks he was one of the most genial individuals one could ever wish to meet.

Woe to the man who blundered or struck his bell badly when he was ringing, the 'SergeantMajor,' as he was affectionately called, would pounce on him with a language all his own! He was a 'character' who was forthright in speech and actions-without fear or favour for anyone-yet beloved for his generous nad friendly spirit. Many are the episodes of his ringing career that could be told of his exploits both inside and outside the belfry. Not of a robust build, he could, nevertheless, turn in a heavy tenor with precision and ease, and it was there he was usually found.

His first peal was at Stanford-on-Soar, Notts, Grandsire Triples, on January 19th, 1901, and his first as conductor at Lutterworth, September 19th, 1003, when he called Parker's One-Part, and followed this shortly afterwards with Holt's Original. The old St. Martin's Society (then having 10 bells) rang Grandsire and Stedman almost exclusively, but F. H. D. soon raised the standard to Surprise Royal methods, and peals followed of Cambridge, New Camloridge, Melton, Leicester, York, Goldsborough and others. Most of these and many Major peals (and. later on. Cinques and Maximus) were called by him, but although he was such a capable conductor he never aspired to that honour. More often than not he preferred to hand over to his apt pupils-the late H. J. Poole, H. Broughton, E. Morris and others, whom he taught to conduct, and not merely to call and trust to luck !

When he was practising for the record extent of Cambridge Major we rang every then known composition and F. H. D. called 7,008 but left the rest to the others, invariably ringing the tenor, which he did to the 12,896 . Also to 10,400 Real Superlative and 13,440 Bob Major, which latter the writer had the pleasure of calling. He also rang the tenor at St. Margaret's to the first Maximus peal in Leicester, and many other fine performances too numerous to mention.

His great ability as a composer is well known and he turned out some very fine compositions in standard and Surprise methods. It was, however, in Stedman that he excelled, and some of his Cater compositions are of exceptional merit, right oft the beaten rack and very musical. He also had a habit of turning compositions inside out and upside down (often to the consternation to of their composers) but always with a specific purpose. For the old M.C.A. he rang 355 peals as well as a number for other Societies, and a perusal of the reports of these Associations will show the excellence of his performances.
The funeral service at Leicester Cathedral on June 9th was conducted by the Rev. Canon Atkinson, and among those present were Mr. Paul L. Taylor (president, Leicester Diocesan Guild), Mr. B. G. Warwick (general hon. secretary), Mr. W. A. Lacey (hon. secretary, Leicester District), Mrs. H. J. Poole, Messrs. P. Staniforth (Cathedral), E. Morris, W. Tanser (St. Margaret's), C. Harrison, J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), R. Elkington (Anstey), J. S. Carter, K. F. Roe (Wigston Magna), G. A. Newton (Earl Shilton) and others. It was, perhaps very unfortunate that the Cathedral annual outing had been fixed for this day, as this prevented many ringers attending. A muffled peal of Stedman Cinques was rung to his respected memory.
The deceased leaves one son, Mr. Harold Dexter, M.A., F.R.C.O.. Mus.Bac.. recently appointed organist of Southwark Cathedral.

E. M.

OUTING

ST. MARY'S, WALTHAMSTOW

A pleasant day in the heart of Kent was spent by ringers of St. Mary's, Walthamstow, their wives and friends, on May 26 th.

After ringing Stedman and Grandsire at St. Stephen's, Canterbury, the party enjoyed an excellent lunch at Margate. Caters were rung at St. Laurence's, Ramsgate, before returning to Margate to ring at St. John-the-Baptist's, where Double Norwich was included in the ringing programme.

Finally came an hour's ringing at St. George's, Wrotham, in various odd- and even-bell methods. Here an irate lady locked the ringers in the church, but by the time ringing was finished the doors were unlocked.

Thanks to the co-operation of incumbents and ringing masters the outing was one of the most successful in the long history of the St. Mary's Socjety.

BLAME MR. PENNINGTON

NO lover of the Devon countryside would take from choice the main road between Newton Abbot and Torquay. Sir Hugh Casson would find here Subtopia exemplified; the brick and roughcast and pebble-dash bungalows of Torquay Road, Newton Abbot, stretch out their pretentious, bow-windowed facades to meet the brick and roughcast and pebble-dash bungalows of Newton Road, Torquay, with a little gathering or pimple in the middle at Kingskerswell, which once was a village. Here and there, there are no dying-swan lamp-posts in ferro-concrete, no hoardings, no filling-stations, no quarries, no pull-ins; in one place there's even a wood, but in a few more years of progress we'll soon get rid of that old thing.

The driver who takes this road, or the passenger who runs on the railway line beside it, would never guess that not a mile from it he can find a village remote enough from urban life for the most choosy hermit, with thatched cottages and whitewashed cob walls, roses round the doors, and if he's lucky even a late-mediæval Austin parked outside one of the charming houses, brass radiator, pram-hood, acetylene lamps and all-even a wicker umbrella-case behind the driver's seat. But so it is; Coffinswell still hugs its seclusion in its fold of the hills which end in Babbacombe, and there is the Barton, built round three sides of its cobbled courtyard, with the wistaria over the granite-mullioned windows, its huge range of thatched barns, shippons and linhays, its ciderhouse, not in use but still containing an adze-hewn beam 3ft. 6 in. by 2 ft .6 in . at one end-and, in one corner of the farmyard, the parish church.

On June 9th, this farmyard was fuller than it can have been for many a day, of men standing, sitting, talking or silent, or grouped round cars listening with one ear (for such is civilisation) to John Arlott, but at least with the other to the six bells of the church. It's the sixbell final for the whole of Devon; five bands from North Devon, led by Down St. Mary, the holders of the Ross Shield, and five from the South, led by West Alvington's first team, with the second also among the top five.

Service over, a great crowd gathers in the yard for the draw. The indestructible Mr. Miners, still full of energy and laughter after two serious illnesses, holds up two hats, one containing the names of the ten bands, the other numbers 1 to 10 . First a neutral gentleman draws the name of a band; then the captain of the band named comes through a good deal of chaff and draws his place in the ringing. The four judges, of course, are already immured for the afternoon in their secret chamber, and know nothing about which band is ringing.

West Alvington I.. looking rather glum at having drawn first place, troop into church; the treble rings its warning, and everyone listens, for every band competing will do its best to gauge the "go" of the bells from hearing this first peal: no practice is allowed beforehand. And from the first few rounds of the rise it's clear that the 5th is the bell to lose marks; she goes up sluggishly, a shade late all the way, and West Alvington are well into their 'top ringing ' before their 5 th man has got her where she belongs. Once that is done, they do well, and we hear some good music, but in the lower the 5th is slow again, and we are to hear many rises and lowers like that before the competition is over.

Considering their place in the draw, West Alvington I. have done fairly well, but they shouldn't be hard to beat, and next come the holders, Down St. Mary, all ready to beat them. The bells go up well, the 5th much better in her place, and then, dropping a little into a perfect speed for the top ringing, they give us some lovely music. settling into the steady, fluent rhythm of good call-changes-or good 'scientific ringing' for that matter-which makes you start and look up, or pause in mid-sentence, at the smallest irregularity. The lower is as good as the rise, but Down St. Mary lose two full marks when the 4 th and 5 th sound after the rest have ceased. General opinion in the farmyard is that that will take some beating.

Arlington come next; they were 6th in the Northern semi-final, but are here in place of St. Giles-in-the-Wood, who are short-handed. They pitch the bells in very slowly for the rise, but we shall hear worse in the afternoon; I fancy that they lost the most marks in their top ringing, which was a little too stiff for these bells with their ground-floor draught and ball-bearings-about 31 a minute. It never settled down. Symbridge and Mortehoe likewise found the bells tricky, but West Alvington II. did much better; had they not lost a good many marks on the rise, it would have been better still, and perhaps put them right among the leaders, but still it's going to run their first team close enough. After them, Talaton were not really in it; Colebrooke prove a little better, and then we are suddenly irr the evening, and there are two more bands to go into the tower.

The hopes of South Devon are pinned on Widecombe, for no other team has shown anything like the standard of Down St. Mary. Widecombe again show their skill at finding the pitch of the bells in the top ringing, a skill which Mr. Miners, no longer allowed to ring, seems to have passed on to them; but their rise and lower cost them marks, and it seems as though Down St. Mary are going to win without a struggle. Only West Down remains, and the opinion of the experts in the farmyard is that West Down "may do anything.

They certainly make us sit up and take notice. They don't quite get the sth in her place in the rise, but once the bells are up we really hear some music. The buzz of conversation in the farmyard hushes down: there's no doubt that West Down are tapping it out, and that this is the stuff to beat Down St. Mary if anyone can. A slow, steady fall does nothing to dispel the doubts, and the heads are still wagging as we group ourselves round the west door of the church to wait for the judges. However, we have some pleasant business to transact while we wait for them. On the table, beside the Ross Shield and the Shelley Cup, are two new shields, presented for the winners of the North and South Devon competitions by Mrs. George Facey, the widow of one of the Association's most celebrated judges of call-change ringing, in memory of her husband. They are already won, by Down St. Mary and West Alvington I., but they are to be presented at Coffinswell because it was here that the late George Facey rang his first peal of call-changes and his last. We thank Mrs. Facey, she presents them to their holders, and soon after round the corner come the judges, with that fateful little notebook in the hands of their leader, Mr. Tommy Darch. Still, he doesn't know the identity of the winners; only their place in the programme : and in a tense silence he announces"First, number two; 301 faults.' Down St. Mary have held the Shicld, and very well they deserve it, but West Down pushed them close enough with 37\%. The best South Devon can do is done by Widecombe, third with $58 \%$. One other excitement is still to be announced, for West Alvington I. have been beaten by the youngsters by $5 \frac{3}{4}$ faults, in 4 th and 5th places! After them there is a big gap, and the last teams come in a bunch in the 80 's and 90 's, with Talaton last with over a hundred faults.

Judging by the figures, one might think that the standard has dropped sharply since last year's competition at Torrington, for there have been more than twice the number of faults awarded by a panel of judges who are the same as last year's, with one exception. But in truth I'd award a good three hundred faults to a gentleman who died almost as many years ago-Mr. Thomas Pennington, who cast the 5 th at Coffinswell. Her hanging seems fine, and the frame is as good now as when Harry Stokes built it 59 years ago, but the fact is that Pennington's bell is a long one, much longer than the mediaval 3 rd and 4 th , and very much longer in proportion than the Warner tenor, and I suppose that's why she's a little awkward and slow to pull up and down. Down St. Mary showed us that it can be done, and won deservedly by displaying more than any other band a quality which callchange ringing does not foster, but which competition ringing demands -a consummate ability to adapt themselves to the vagaries of strange bells in an unknown tower.

The golden wedding of MI. and Mrs. E. Burnett, of Darlington, was celebrated by a peal of London Surpnse Minor at Holy Trinity Church, Darlington, on June 15th. Mr. Burnett learned to ring at Sharow, near Ripon, Yorks, and spent a lifetime in railway service. For a number of years he was at West Hartlepool, Durham, and afterwards was in charge of the station staff at Kirkby Stephen, Westmorland. On his retirement he took up residence in Darlington, where he is Ringing Master at St. John's Church. The best wishes of ringers in the north-east are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Burnett for many more happy years together.Mr. Thomas Newman, of Gloucester, rang in his 82 nd birthday peal at St . Mary-de-Crypt, Gloucester, on June 11th. Many more happy birthdays !

BELFRY

The attempt for a memorial peal of Grandsirc Caters to Mr. George Preston on the bells of Christchurch Priory was lost after two hours' ringing on June 16th. A handbell peal to his memory was rung the following day.

There will shortly be dedicated a ring of five in a new frame at Dean, North Bedfordshire. The original four have been restored and a new bell added. Mr. P. Amos called the Rector's attention to their state during a visit to search for historical records some two to three years ago.

An appeal is being launched for $£ 1,300$ to restore the six bells of St. Peter's, Wenhaston, Suffolk. The three smallest are to be recast and two others retuned. The tenor, weighing nine cwt., was cast in Norwich in 1500, and the fourth, which is now in a bad condition, cast at Bury St. Edmunds in 1450. The old wooden frame, that has been attacked by death watch beetle, is to be replaced by a new steel frame. and a new ringing floor is to be built.

GOSSIP 'The Ringing World ' committee thank the 460 postal subscribers who have kindly remitted the extra postage of 1 s . 3 d. ., including the many who have sent 'something extra' for those who might forget. Remittances can be sent either to Mr. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall, or to the Editor.

The bells of St. Remigius'. Hethersett, will be heard before the $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. broadcast service in the Midland Region of the B.B.C. on July 1st.

Sole remaining founder of the Kent County Association. Mr. E. S. Ruck look part in a quarter peal of Double Bob Minor on June 20th for his 89th birthday.
The Essex Association attributed their drop in peals from 123 to 68 to Cupid, who, states the secretary, in his report, seems to have fired more arrows at the Association's ranks than the English archers did at Agincourt!

With a team of handbell ringers, Mr. Harold Pitstow gave a lecture on bells at Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey, on June 15th. The talk, which attracted a large attendance, was arranged by Mr. Norman Champness

Mr. Dennis Neal and Miss Gwendoline L. Friswell, who were married at St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, on June 16 th, are the third couple from this tower to be married. Two brothers and two sisters are involved in this unusual sequence but, adds our correspondent, it seems the flame has now been spent.

A processional crucifix and a bible, both later going overseas, are on a tour of the parishes of the Diocese of St. Albans. On June 2nd a Missionary Festival was held at Royston (Herts) to receive them into the Baldock Deanerv. The bells were rung to welcome them before the service at Royston, and on Sunday at Wallington.

ESSEX RINGERS AND CATHEDRAL FESTIVAL

The Cathedral Festival has again been a great success. This is due in no small measure to the part played by all the diocesan organisations who were invited to assist.

The ringers showed that when they undertake a task, time or distance is no object. The festival was heralded by a peal of Grandsire Cinques on the evening before the first ceremony.
Owing to other services it was not possible to ring on Saturday, May 26th, before the Friends of the Cathedral scrvice, so the congregation left to the sound of well-struck Stedman Triples. Unfortunately, a shift course spoiled the quarter peal. This ringing was the prelude to the official opening ceremony, at which Sir Frank Foster, hon. member of the Essex Association of Change Ringers, presided.
Following the opening ceremony, a lecture. - The Sceing Eye, was given by Sir Hugh Casson.

On Sunday the Cathedral ringers rang for the Trinity ordination service; this year there were more ordinands than ever before.

On Monday, preceding a recital of music, the following Northern District ringers rang 1,080 Bob Royal: H. G. Felton 1. F. Claydon 2, A. Catterwell 3, J. Warner 4. J. H. Brett 5 ,
A. R. Syder 6, R. Suckling 7, T. Earle 8, W. Arnold 9, Miss H. G. Snowden (cond.) 10.

On Tuesday, preceding the play, 'Murder in the Cathedral, the South-Eastern District rang 1,256 Bob Major: L. P. Joslin 1, Miss M. Dowsett 2, A. Edwards 3, B. Bover 4, P. Saltmarsh 5, P. Came 6, J. Roast 7, P. Eves (cond.) 8 .

half a century at st. ALBANS ABBEY

His many friends throughout the Exercise will congratulate Mr. H. E. C. Goodenough, who on June 7 th completed 50 years as a ringer at St. Albans Abbey. Since 1922 he has been conductor at the Abbey.

There are 160 steps up the Abbey tower and in a rough estimate Mr. Goodenough calculates that he has climbed the tower 8,000 times, probably the equivalent of 100 miles.

In 1935, with Dean Henderson, he was instrumental in getting the bells augmented from eight to twelve with the addition of four trebles and one of the old bells recast. When the bells were brought down in 1935 it was the first time they had been lowered for 200 years. and Mr. Goodenough thought it would be the only occasion on which he would participate in such an intricate operation. However, the 1939-45 war again saw the bells at ground level.

Of Mr. Goodenough's 80 peals, 25 have been rung on the Abbey bells.

On June 9th, 1,323 Stedman Cinques was rung in his honour by members of the Hertfordshire Association.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

It is not always our lot to hold the annual meeting in a place with such historical interest as was the case on Whit Monday. From the 16 th to the 18 th century Cullompton was one of the most important woollen manufacturing towns in Devon, and its greatest merchant was a certain John Lane, a contemporary of John Greenway, of Tiverton. These two men rivalled each other in the magnificent additions which they made to the buildings of their respective parish churches. That at Cullompton was a collegiate church before the Conquest, and has a very fine ring of ten bells. The Vicar (the Rev. E. G. Hammond) conducted the service at 12.15 , and afterwards joined members, numbering 72 , at the luncheon.

At the subsequent business meeting, with the president (Prebendary E. V. Cox) in the chair, the chief items of interest included the formation of a Guild Library, the purchase of $£ 200$ $4 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Defence Bonds with money standing to the credit of the Bells Restoration Fund, and the election of Mr. E. Maurice Atkins as general treasurer and Mr. Norman Mallett as peals secretary. The other officers were reelected, and Messrs. A. L. Bennett (who had resigned the treasurership), L. E. Lilley, T. G. Myers and the Rev. J. G. M. Scott were appointed representatives on the Central Council for 1957-59.

FOR NEW CHARGES  FOR NOTICES  SEE PAGE 414

The report of the general committee made complimentary reference to the Guild's 1,000 th peal, which was also the first peal to be rung by officers of the Guild, and contained a timely comment on the use of quarterly meetings as follows:-
-We seem at times . . . to be forgetting their main purpose, namely, that members of different bands should help one another in the progress of their art. So often we are content to ring just what we can ring without any outside help in our home towers, whereas these meetings are a great opportunity to look up a fresh method beforehand and then to stand in with those who know it. It is here that the office of Ringing Master carries a great responsibility in so arranging much of the ringing: already something has been done in this way.' An addendum to the report contained a message of deepest sympathy with the general secretary (Mr. E. J. Taylor), who met with a very serious accident last February, together with the earnest prayer of all the members that he might fully recover in due time, and an expression of gratitude to his wife for her help in Guild matters since the accident. Ringing took place at Cullompton and Bradninch, and at other towers in the neighbourhood.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The half-yearly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Bishopstone on June 9th and visitors were welcomed from Aldbourne, Bishops Cannings, Buckland, Devizes, Leamington and Shrivenham. The arrangements were as usual, consisting of ringing, service and tea, followed by the business meeting. at which Dr. H. Craig presided. One new member was elected and the branch secretary gave a report of the recent Central Council meeting.

In order to maintain contact with a greater number of towers it was decided to hold four evening meetings during July and August in place of the two customary Saturday meetings. The towers proposed were South Marston, Blunsdon, Lydiard Millicent and Castle Eaton. Further ringing followed, various methods up

JOINT FESTIVAL OF BEDS & HERTS ASSOCIATIONS
The first joint meeting between the Hertford County Association and the Bedfordshire Association took place on June 16th, when over 100 members attended the summer festival in St. Albans.

Although the weather did its best, it could not damp the spirits of members present, who started the day with ringing at St. Mary's, Redbourn ( $6.15 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Other towers at the disposal of the coach and car parties were Sandridge (6), Welwyn (8), Hatfield (10), North Mymms (8), Harpenden (8) and the City towers of St. Peter's (10), St. Michael's (8) and the Catherdal (12). The coach party also managed to include the six with a notorious long draught at Wheathamstead.

At 4 p.m. members attended Evensong at the Cathedral, the handbell voluntary of Grandsire Caters being of a very high standard.

In his address the Dean of St. Albans welcomed ringers and drew their attention to the need of complete participation in services whenever possible.

After tea at the Abbey Institute, presided over by the Dcan, the president of the Hertford Association (Mr. W. T. Holmes) welcomed those present and reminisced about his ringing experiences.

The president of the Bedfordshire Association, Miss E. Steel, replied and thanked all present for a very enjoyable day.

The general secretary of the Hertford Association (Mr. H. V. Frost) drew attention to the fact that this was the first occasion ringers of the St. Albans Diocese had officially joined together under one roof and hoped there would be many more in the future.

The St. Albans towers were put to good use in the evening, the Abbey bells being lowered at 8.20 .

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, SOUTHAMPTON

The rededication of the restored Church of St. Mary, Southampton (the mother church of the town), by the Bishop of Winchester (Dr. Alwyn Williams) took place on June 12th. After nearly 16 years the great Church of St. Mary towers above its parish, a noble building of stone, brick and timber, its interior full of light and modern things, yet retaining relics and memories of the past. It was a great day for the parish, the town and the deanery. The principal guest was the Lord Lieutenant of Hampshire (the Duke of Wellington). A great congregation of 1,400 , representative of every aspect of life in the town and port. was present.
Before and after the service the ten bells were rung by the local band, supported by members of the Southampton University Society of Ringers, 20 ringers sharing in the ringing on this great occasion.

In the afternoon a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung by representatives of St . Michael's and St. Mary's bands and the Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, Mr. F. W. Rogers.

The bells, originally an octave, were the gift of a parishioner in 1914. and were increased to ten in 1934 through the Barron Bell Trust. They are world famous, and inspired the song. "The Bells of St. Mary's,' written by Douglas Furber and the Australian composer, A. Emmett Adams, during the Great War of 1914-1918, when they heard them sounding across the water of Southampton Docks. This song is now the college song of the New York State Maritime College. It is pleasant to be able to record that the sister of the Australian composer, A. Emmett Adams, was present at the great service of consecration.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Target of $\mathbf{1 , 0 0 0}$ Members Set for 1956

On Whit Monday the 77th annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford.

Ringing commenced at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. followed by a service in the Cathedral, conducted by the Provost of Chelmsford, the Very Rev. G. E. Gordon. The Master of the Association, Mr. R. C. Heazel, read the lesson, and the address was given by the Lord Bishop of Colchester, the Rt. Rev. F. D. Narborough.

During the service the names of members who passed on to higher service during 1955 were read, namely:- J. C. Adams, J. Allison-Etheridge, Mrs. M. Butler, W. Butler, H. T. Etheridge, Mrs. M. Butler, W. Butler, H. T.
C. Childs, K. G. Fox, F. French, E. Gimson. H. E. Hammond, C. N. Howard, A. D. Howell, Mrs. C. J. Matthews, F. Norman, W. J. Nudds. C. Saywood. P. Scase, A. South, Sir Roland Storrs. S. J. Tillett, W. H. Warne and S. Wallington. Their loss leaves the Association much poorer and they are remembered with affection and thanksgiving for their contribution to the Exercise.

The Bishop of Colchester, in a heartening address, said that it was proper that Whitsun, which was the day when a flame came down from heaven. should be remembered by the ringing of bells. The collection taken at the service for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 53 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d .

THE BUSINESS MEETING

The Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel) presided at the annual general meeting held in the Cathedral Chapter House, supported by the Deputy Master and officers of the Association. The Master. in the name of the Association, welcomed the Bishop of Colchester, and also extended a hearty welcome to all visitors.
Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. H. J. Mansfield (vice-president), F. B. Lufkin, Miss H. Snowden, Mr. J. Crampion and Mr. B. G. Burton.
The annual report, prepared by Mr. F. V. Gant (hon. secretary and treasurer of the Association) with the co-operation of the District secretaries. showed that the interest in the Association had not flagged during 1955. The ringing membership of the Association now stands at 903, while the honorary membership stands at 209. There are now some 108 towers in union. These figures are most encouraging but it must be remembered that the strength of any Association is in its ringing members and efforts must always be in that direction-to increasc the ringing strength to 1,000 members. This target should not be too high for an Association of the calibre of the Essex Association.
Two rededications had taken place in the county during the year; the first at Ardleigh and the sccond at Kirby-le-Soken.
The effects of National Service are still being felt in some towers. Old hands and the fairer sex are keeping the 'ship' going until the young ringers return.

During the year divine service had been the aim throughout, but it is regretted that some towers which are ringable still stand silent Sunday by Sunday through apathy or lack of interest.

DROP IN PEALS

The report recorded a drop in the number of peals to 68 from 123 in 1954. Quarter peals amounted to 135 rung in 46 different towers-a reduction of 12 on the previous year's total of 145, Hornchurch having regained the 'county championship.' Among these was one rung at North Weald commemorating 50 years of service by Mr. Harry King, and the first for many years by a local band from Finchingfield.

Although the number of peals was reduced, it is interesting to note that Surprise methods and multi-method Minor peals have increased. Peals of special interest were those of Maximus at the Cathedral and of Cinques at Saffron Walden, both rung by an all-resident Essex band. A peal of Stedman Triples rung in the Northern Distriot was the first in that division for 21 years, and from the same division came the first peal of Feering Surprise, composed by the late William Keeble. for many years a pillar of the Exercise in North Essex.
The Association's congratulations must go to Mr. D. W. Beard, Mr. J. E. G. Roast and Mr. D. A. Symonds on their 100th peal, and to Mr. U. W. Wildney on his 100 th peal as conductor. Mr. J. E. G. Roast again heads the list of conductors with 15 peals, with Mr. F. B. Lufkin next with 13, and Mr. T. Earle with five.
For the recorders, 108 members rang their - first in the method, as against 243 in 1954 ; 15 members scored their first peal, an increase of 10 ; there being two 'first as conductors,' 158 different members participated in the peals, representing approximately 17 per cent. of the membership.
From Loughton comes a unique incident. An elderly gentleman, who had been bedridden for some years, left a sum of money in his will to be distributed among the ringers in appreciation of the fact that by their ringing he had been reminded weekly of his church. and assured that it was still alive and active.
Various members spoke on the report generally. The attention of the Association was drawn to the fact that there was a number of very valuable books in the library and that some manuscripts were well worth reading.
On the proposition of Mr. G. J. Butler, of Colchester, scoonded by Mr. S. G. Butt, of Rayleigh, the report was adopted.
The hon. treasurer presented the accounts, which showed that the gross income from the Districts totalled $£ 107$ 17s. 3d., while the sum of $£ 5610 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$. had been contributed to the Bell Restoration Fund. Peals fees added a further $£ 114 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d . The balance on the general account at the end of the year stood at $£ 266$ 2s. 2d., and that of the Bell Restoration Fund was $£ 18414 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d . Mr. J. Chalk (Wanstead) said that he was not satisfied that the Association was getting as many honorary members as they might, and quoted figures to the meeting to show how the honorary members could bc increased, and asked that the strongest endeavours should be made in this direction.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The election of officers followed:-Master, Mr. R. C. Heazel; Deputy Master, Mr. H. Turner ; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. F. V. Gant ; auditors, Messrs. M. Baker and D. G.

Mayell ; trustees, Messrs. P. Eves, P. Saltmarsh and C. Smith.

The following were elected life members:Messrs. A. Catterwell (Sible Hedingham), A. Cole (Great Bromley), E. E. Davey (Clacton), A. Appleton (Goldhanger), R. Fenn (Barking), H. T. Wilson (Brentwood), J. Rann (Loughton).

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Provost for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, to the Precentor for his assistance, to the Cathedral organist and verger and to the Lord Bishop of Colchester for his excellent address.
The meeting then adjourned to the Cathedral Hall for lunch, at which the Bishop of Colchester and the Provost of Chelmsford were the chief guests. For the second year running the luncheon had been organised by members of the South-Eastern District, and their cfforts in this direction are very much appreciated.
During the day the following towers were open for tinging: Chelmsford Cathedral, Great Baddow, Boreham, Galleywood, Widford, Writtle, Broomfield, Danbury, Springfield, Little Waltham, Great Waltham, Sandon and Little Baddow.

This report of the year's work of the Essex Association can do no better than to close with the exhortation of the Association's Master at the end of the annual report

Maybe 1955 has not been the year of progress many of us would have liked it to be; maybe the peal total is less, maybe keenness has waned, but whatever it is, as long as we recognise the symptoms and take steps to arrest the decline then no harm has been done.

So with high hopes and a firm resolve let us go forward into 1956 with the honest intention. of doing everything in our might to keep the work of the Association moving ever onwards.

DURHAM COLLEGES SOCIETY OF CHANGE RINGERS

There have been several attempts in the past to found a Society in the Durham Colleges, but, owing to smallness of numbers in this division of the University of Durbam, these attempts have eventually come to grief. The present Society, founded two years ago, appears, however, to be making some headway. At present there are 23 members at various stages of proficiency. Beginners are taught to handle at St. Nicholas', in Durham, and rounds and simple changes are practised at Houghton-leSpring, while the more advanced members are progressing rapidly under the tuition of Mr. Dennis A. Bayles, at Chester-le-Street. The present committec consists of Mr. G. S. R. Simms, of University Collegc, president; Mr. J. R. Worsdale, of Hatfield College, past president ; and Mr. R. Bailey, of University College, secretary.
On June 16th the Society held its first annual ringing day. Towers visited included St. Nicholas', Durham, Chester-le-Street and Houghton-le-Spring. Visitors attended from Leeds. Edinburgh, Newcastle and South Shields. Ringing included rounds, Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Triples, Little Bob, Kent and Cambridge.
Next year's ringing day, to which all visitors will be most welcome. will be on May 4th, when it is hoped that the Blackhill and Consett area will be visited.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SCHEME OF INSTRUCTION WANTED
Dear Sir ,-I should like to comment on your admirable article 'Instruction or Destruction.' Our bells were rehung and augmented at Stoke D'Abernon in February last, as reported in your paper.

We had not a single ringer in the parish, so by the kindness of neighbouring towers at Leatherhead and Cobham, some five adults and eight youngsters have been receiving instruction once a week.
I know the adults, who included myself, felt irked by the slowness of our initial instruction, but now that we have progressed as far as ringing rounds, the wisdom of sound and careful instruction is abundantly clear.

Our problem in the near future is that of an instructor or coach at our own tower. I am more than anxious to keep the enthusiasm of some 15 novices going. I firmly believe that if a syllabus of training were drawn up by experts it would enable such novices to see the delights ahead of them, and they would, I feel certain. see that they allotted time to make progress in a definite scheme, week by week. I can only say, in conclusion, how very grateful we all are to those splendid instructors such as Mr. Marriner, Mr. Young, Mr. Smith, Mr. Cannon and Mr. Wren, who have so willingly given of their time to take us through our first steps.-Yours faithfully,

NORMAN CHAMPNESS.

NOMINATIONS FOR OFFICE

Dear Sir.-In reporting the Central Council mecting at Leicester you say that the Council agreed to the nomination of Mr. Frederick Sharpe as president, to the appointment of a vice-president and the nomination of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow for that office.

This is I think, misleading. Surely the Council is not required to agree in advance to the nomination of a member for office. Your account conveys an unfortunate impression thereby that the nominations are now cut and dried. or even perhaps that the elections are settled. On the contrary, as the president (Mr. Lewis) was careful to point out (not reported in your account). the way was none the less open for other nominations.
In the case of the proposed vice-presidency. it is very doubtful if the Council could at this stage even accept nominations, as the office does not yet exist, that is until such time as the Council may see fit to amend its rules. Motion to this effect will be discussed next year.
The Nomination Committee, as was proper in an advisory capacity, worded ils recommendations in a very fair and tentative fashion. The verdict of the Council's discussion should go no further than to say that the report was adopted. I do not recall that we agreed to anything more.-Yours fairhfully, Bath.

R. B. MEADOWS.

Note.-The Council only accepted the nominations being presented to the Council meeting of 1957. This does not preclude other nominations.-Ed.

THANK YOU, LIVERPOOL

Dear Sir,-On a visit to Liverpool Cathedral in November of last year I was grieved to witness a lady in tears because she was not allowed in the helfry. She was a member of a southern counties Association. who had travelled from Llandudno. I am very pleased that this matter has been remedied and would remind our fellow has been remedicd and would remind our fell ow ways give way to a lady.- Yours truly, Manchester.

AN IMMEMORIAL CUSTOM

Dear Sir,-I entirely disagree with Mr. Box.
There are many places where it has been the custom from time immemorial to herald Christmas and Easter by ringing our bells, not, as Mr. Box says, out of enthusiasm for ringing, but as a means of announcing to the world at large, believers and unbelievers alike, the two great festivals of the Christian year, the birth of Christ and his triumph over sin, and I hope the custom will be continued while there are bells to pull.

It is well to remember that it is on the two events referred to that the world's rise from barbarity to humanity is hinged and it will be a sad day for all of us (Mr. Box and his hotelier included) if and when these two events are completely forgotten. as well they may be unless the Christian Church by every means in its power continually reminds the country of them.
I think the intolerant people are those like the fellow who calls himself an hotelier (snob language for innkeeper, 1 suspect) who expect the rest of the community to abandon all activities for their convenience.

All the while I can raise a band at my Parish Church to ring for the early services at Christmas, Easter and other special occasions I intend to-protesting publicans, Mr. Boxes or not.
Incidentally, it is no advertisement for the hotel keeder to admit his boarders were awakened early-cvidently his wares are not as potent as was Mr. Box's Dutch gin.- Yours,

THIS AGE
Dear Sir,-What admirable views Mr. W. E. Box expresses in his letter.

Why cannot we realise that this is an age of progress, and that cranky minorities just cannot be catered for? People must not be allowed to follow the old. sentimental. non-productive pursuits of their forefathers: they must he made to see that the only path permitted for them to tread is the one of quiet efficiency
(just a moment, please, while I turn my radio up a bit).
Nothing is so relentlessly wearing to man's nerves, so deadly to the force which drives him on in his search for peace than Noise (half a mo-my radiogram has stopped-there. that's better. Lovely record this! 'Don't ringa da bell '-I could play it all night)
Peace-that is what we are all seeking. Smooth, efficient peace. Peace for a man to enjoy far into the night (and his neighbours. too) the soothing music of the dance band compleţe with drums; to awake relaxed and joyful, to the inspiring melodies of early morning radio.
Let us not be afraid to make a stand for our aims; let us admit that the outworn memories of a former age must not be allowed to come between us and our ideal: let us strive to make the world (or at any rate, Birmingham) freefree for a man to sit and listen to the road drills. the jet planes, the motor cycles. the fairgrounds, undisturbed by such nerve-racking sounds as the call of the bells to the worship of a God we no longer recognise.-Yours, etc., Guildford.

INCONSIDERATE RINGING

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ have, as you are aware, repeatedly written to you in the same vein as W, E. Box writes. It is with great pleasure that 1 see there are others beside myself who are considering the future of ringing and the effects. of inconsiderate ringing on that future. At two towers in North London, both of which get. complaints (one serious), ringing was performed. at midnight, New Year's Eve, and $6.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Christmas morning. I would not like my children woken up at these hours. Why, then, do we inflict this on others?
Despite this, a well-known ringer suggests that it is the public's privilege to listen as well as ours to perform.

I am willing to take any member of the Exercise to a few towers not 1,000 miles from Stamford Hill, and they can judge whether it is a privilege to listen at any time, let alone 6.30 in the morning.-Sincerely yours,

ERNEST J. ROWE,

WINDSOR CASTLE BELLS

Dear Sir,-I am writing with regard to the ring of bells in the Curfew Tower, Windsor Castle. The fact that these bells are hung in a campanile within the Castle and are only rung on certain days, principally Royal birthdays, has been taken to indicate that it is a Castlepeal, and Mr. Dove unfortunately lists it as a secular tower.
Nothing is further from the truth, however, for they are the bells of St. George's Chapel and are chimed by means of a keyboard for the daily services held there, at which prayers are said for the Knights of the Garter.
There is ample evidence that the bells belong to the College of St. George, rather than H.M. the Queen, as was suggested in recent correspondence, for payments concerning the bells have appeared in the Account Rolls from its foundation. In 1614, for instance, the College authorities were hard up so they sold the newlycast tenor. It was nine years later before their finances had recovered sufficiently to enable them to replace it, but the second-hand one they bought was a bargain, for it remains to this day!
Having, I hope, disposed of the secular elassification, you may be interested in the dedication of what is known as 'Her Majesty's Free Chapel of St. George within Her Castle at Windsor.' The dedication is a triple one to Mary the Virgin Mother, St. George the Martyr and St. Edward, King and Confessor,' and it is intefesting to note that all three are honoured by proper ringing days.-Yours sincercly,
K. BUCKINGHAM.

ST. MARY'S, WEYMOUTH

Dear Sir,-In the 'Western Gazette' of June 1st. 1956, under the heading of 'From our files of $1856 .{ }^{\circ}$ appears the following report

Weymouth.-In compliance with a requisition from a number of the gentry and principal tradesmen of the Borough. the Mayor convened a public mecting at the Guildhall. on Wednesday evening, for the purpose of taking into consideration the erection of a tower, and the purchase of a peal of bells for the Church of St. Mary. A committee of forty-two with power to add to their number was formed. in order to collect the subscriptions. It was suggested that the tower and peal of bells should be considered as commemorative of the Peace of 1846.
St. Mary's Church never got its tower or ring of bells, and it wouid be interesting to know why the plan never materialised. Surely the committec was big enough to cope with the task or was it too big to come to any agreement? - Yours sincerely.
E. T. PAUL FIELD.

BROADWINDSOR BELLS

Dear Sir,-I hate to disappoint anybody, but I can't help feeling that the claims made for Broadwindsor bells are a little extravagant. Mr. Paul Taylor, of Loughborough, has been extraordinarily kind in sending me a complete set of rubbings, and some casts, from these bells, from which it is clear that though they are very interesting, and rightly a source of pride for any church, they are not quite as old as they are claimed to be.
The third appears to be the oldest bell in the tower, and not the fifth; I am not familiar with the stamps and lettering, but I suspect that it may be a Salisbury bell, and my guess is that it dates from about the beginning of the 15 th century, or the latter half of the 14th.
The fifth, unlike many bells attributed to him. probably was in fact cast by Robert Norton, of Exeter, as it bears his trade mark, and is inscribed: SANCTE:GABRIEL: ORA:PRO: NOBIS not quite the same as that given in your report of June 8 th . Robert Norton seems quite certainly to have been alive and working round about the year 1430 , as we have documentary evidence of his name then, so that this would seem to be the period from which this bell comes. Judging by the rubbings and casts it would appear to be a very good bell.
The fourth is the latest of the three medizvals, and probably dates from about 1470 or a little later. It was also cast in Exeter, and bears one of the standard Exeter inscriptions and an Exeter cross. If one dates the Reformation from the first English Prayer Book in 1549. I doubt whether this bell would qualify for the claim of being a century older.
Any parish may be proud of having three pre-Reformation bells, but even if the Broadwindsor bells were found to date from a century before the Reformation I don't think they could claim this to be unique. Townstal, Dartmouth, has three by Chamberlain which may possibly be as old; Brushford has an original three by Dawe, whose dates are given as 1393-1418: the former are still ringable, forming the back three of a ring of six. There, are many others: I quote these at random from memory
Broadwindsor has some lovely bells. and I hope before long to see them for myself, but it is not alone in being the subject of rather improbable claims. I was sent recently by a neighbouring incumbent a report written some years ago about his bells, three of which are Exeter bells about the same date as Broadwindsor's fourth. The report began thus: 'In this lovely old church and tower there are five bells -four of which are the oldest in England.' The fourth of these bears the date 1674!-Yours,

JOHN G. M. SCOTT.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

North Notts District

The Crawford Cup contest, which should have taken place at Edwinstowe on June 9th, was a disappointing affair. With the Southwell millenary celebrations taking place, only Warsop could enter a team. However, the ordinary meeting took place for the 40 who attended. Tea was had in the Church Room, followed by the business meeting, the Rector of Warsop, the Rev. J. G. P. Habgood, taking the chair. It was decided to visit Clayworth on July 14th. Messrs. R. Brightmoor, F. Spittlehouse and P. Smith, of North Wheatley, were elected ringing members and the Rev, J. G. P. Habgood a vice-president. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund came to $£ 12 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d .
It is hoped to rearrange the contest again at Rampton on October 13th. Votes of thanks were given to the churchwardens for the use were given to the bells and all those in charge of tea arrangements. Further ringing again took place.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Festival

The annual festival of the Guild was held at St. David's Cathedral on June 9th. The bells were available at 2 p.m. and members were present from every tower in the diocese.
The Dean, the Very Rev. C. Witton Davies was at the Bell Tower to greet members, and it was grand to see him take hold of a rope and have a ring with the members.
At 4 p.m. a service was held in the Cathedral stalls, at which the Dean kindly officiated and the lesson read by Councillor R. E. Davies, Burry Port. At the end of the service the Dean dedicated badges of office and presented them to the officers of the Guild. These badges were the gifts of Mr. and Mrs. B. Rees, wife and auditor of the Guild, in appreciation of the work of the ringers for the Church. Their kind gesture is much appreciated.

Eighty members sat down to tea at the Dynevor Cafe. The Vicar of Steynton (the Rev. W. R. Nicholas) was in the chair for the business meeting. The secretary extended a hearty welcome to members and apologised for the absence of the Bishop. Reference was made to Mr. R. Scudamore, who had recovered from his accident and was back ringing again. The usual touch on the handbells was given, and the Master of the Guild. Mr. Ed. J. Thomas, of Carmarthen, spoke about the presentation of the badges of office of the Guild.

All the officers were re-elected for another 12 months, and Mr. Chris Hawkins was elected as the Guild representative at the next Central Council meeting at Chelmsford. The annual competition of the Guild will take place at Carmarthen, and the next quarterly meeting in September will be held at Tenby. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised the sum of $£ 27 \mathrm{~s}$.
A hearty vote of thanks was given by Councillor R. E. Davies, of Burry Port, to the Dean and all those people who had made this meeting such a success. The chairman closed the meeting with a prayer.

AN AUSTRALIAN BRIDE

Miss Jennifer A. Jobson, of St. Mark's Church, Sydney, New South Wales, was married to Mr. Henry St. George Smith, of Piperstown House, Drogheda, in St. Nicholas' Church, Ballymakenny, Drogheda, on June 9th. The bride was a ringer in Australia before coming to England for a holiday, where she did quite a bit of ringing.
As the bride approached the church, which has only one bell, the sound of bells was heard. It came from loudspeakers in the tower. The bells were a recording of St. Mark's Church bells, Sydney. They were specially recorded and sent over to Ireland for the wedding. Jennifer's sister was one of those who took part in the recording. There is also no orean in Ballymakenny Church, so the choir and organ of St. Mark's provided the music and singing for the ceremony-again recorded.

Four bell-ringers were waiting at Piperstown House when the happy pair arrived for the reception, viz., Alan P. Cave, London (who as a friend of the bride travelled over to Ireland for the wedding), Roy Huber, Sidncy Lewis and Fred Dukes, all of Drogheda. They rang handbells to Grandsire Triples under the shade of a tree on the lawn outside the mansion whilst the guests were being received.
As the couple left for their honeymoon in Iceland, a sleigh was tied to the back of their car, so to the accompaniment of jingling bells they departed.
On the following day the peal was rung in honour of the marriage.
Piperstown House has 365 acres-one for each day of the year. One additional acre has to be rented from a local farmer every leap year! The house. lands and stock were a wedding gift from the bridegroom's father, who was the previous owner

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The quarterly meeting of the Ashford District was again favoured by good weather when it was held at Appledore on June 9 th. It is interesting to recall that it was at this spot, now some seven miles from the sea, that the Danes landed in 893 to sack the surrounding countryside.
Mrs. Paddon had assumed responsibility for local arrangements, and the Vicar (the Rev. I. B. Hodgson) conducted the service. Mr. C. T. Hillis read the lesson and the church organist played for the choral service. The collection was given to the Church Repair Fund, which is badly in need of cash.
An excellent tea had been provided at the Parish Hall, the gift of the ladies and gentlemen connected with the church.
The Vicar presided at the short business meeting. The next meeting, it is hoped, will be at Burmarsh in late August. Mr. T. Cullingworth thanked the Vicar and also the ladies and gentlemen who had provided and served such a good tea, and Mrs. Paddon for arranging the meeting.
Altogether about 30 ringers and friends were present, representing eleven towers. Methods were rung up to Cambridge Surprise Major.
W. P. G.

Rochester District

Approximately 40 members and friends attended the by-meeting held at Eastchurch on June 2nd. Ringing commenced at 2.45 and carried on until 8 p.m. A variety of methods were rung and all touches came home.
The Rector of Eastchurch was not available to take the service, but one of the honorary members, the Rev. G. Prentice, of Frindsbury, kindly came and also took the chair at the meeting.
Six new members were elected, all from Eastchurch, and so another tower is back in union with the Association.
The meeting stood in silence in memory of Mr. S. T. Shellock, who was at one time secretary of the Rochester District. A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. G. Prentice, the helpers who served at tea, and the organist.

WHITSUN IN SUSSEX

Eight Somerset ringers, with David Hoare acting as a rather youthful 'father,' spent Whitsun in Sussex, where George Francis had planned an interesting programme.
Ringing started at Wisborough Green on Friday, May 18th, at 6.30 p.m., followed by joining in the practice at Itchingfield and hospitality by Leslie Weller and his mother.
Headquarters were Ye Olde King's Head, Horsham, and a disturbed night was spent by a farmer in the party owing to a dance in the adjoining ballroom and the discordant clock chime. It is assumed he missed his feather bed!
Ringing on Saturday included Billingshurst, Petworth, Easebourne, Chichester Cathedral Bell Tower, Arundel and Pulborough (where a course of Bristol Surprise Major was rung). After ringing at Warnham the party joined the local ringers for matins and in the afternoon rang at Slaugham, followed by Horsham for evensong. A handbell peal was attempted at Itchingfield in the evening, but came to grief and afterwards Mrs. Weller entertained the company to supper.
The last day came all too soon. Leaving Horsham after breakfast, towers visited were Henfield, St. Nicholas' and St. Peter's, Brighton, and St. Mary's, New Shoreham. 'Thank you,' Sussex, incumbents, local ringers. George Francis and David Hoare for an enjovable week-nd

OUR OUTINGS PAGE  ROCHIDALE BRANCH

After a break of some years the Rochdale Branch of the Lancashire Association decided to hold a day trip on May 12th, which was organised this year by the Heywood band. We decided to go to Derbyshire.

Tideswell has a beautiful church and its eight bells (tenor 13 cwt .) go well. Here Plain Bob, Grandsire, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman were rung, but, being the first ringing of the day, we had not yet got used to one another so that the ringing might only be called satisfactory. After thanking Mr. Chapman for meeting us we wended our way to Baslow (6). The tenor is given in 'Dove's' as 71 cwt ., but some thought it sounded heavier than this. Perhaps someone could enlighten us and give us the name of the founder. We started ringing with some very well-struck Cambridge Surprise but through some fundamental misunderstanding it did not finish in the approved manner. After an attempt at Little Bob we came to the conclusion that the method was quite unsound, or, at least, our interpretation of it, so Oxford Treble Bob was chosen with much more success. The ringing finished with Plain Bob.

Thence to the Devonshire Arms at the other end of the village, where lunch was ready. An hour later even the most extendable stomachs were well contented under a load of chicken and those things which go with it.

At Ashover (8, tenor 18 cwt .) we really struck form, starting with a rattling good touch of Stcdman. Then followed Bob Major whilst the Stedman band stood in church and watched, for these bells are rung from the ground floor. The local ringers agreed with us that the tenor seemed to belong to a different ring of bells in tone and weight, but despite this we thought they are a good lot, and, to prove it, tapped off a very pleasant two courses of Double Norwich.

We pressed north with all haste, but Derbyshire hills restrained us. The Vicar made us welcome at Dronfield and he is, justly proud of his fine church, whose choir is vaguely reminiscent of Tideswell. We found a very easygoing eight (tenor 13 cwt .) which sounded a bit dull inside the tower, but outside, where, after all, is where they are intended to be heard, they sound well.

After an excellent tea at Chesterfield the last tower of the day turned out to be the most enjoyable of all, for the magnificent Mears ten beneath the crooked spire brought forth unbounded praise even from those not given to eulogy. Off we went to Grandsire Caters, and, with this complete, three leads of Kent Treble Bob followed by Bob Royal showed that this beautifully balanced ring, both in tone and volume, was equally at home in both odd- and even-bell methods.

After rounds we took to the delightful music of Stedman Caters. By now time was running on, so we finished with a course of Grandsire Caters, after which the bells were lowered for Evensong. When we had finished ringing. our kind host, Sam Scattergood, took us higher up the tower to examine at close quarters both the bells and that most extraordinary structure which surmounts them. We were pleased to learn that the spire is safe!

Our final call was the village of Pilsley. This had not originally been included in our programme because of the absence of bells, and was only now included as the road there promised to be a short cut-in fact, it was a deadend, so we were obliged to reverse our coach back through the village to a chorus of bellylaughs from the local inhabitants!

We should like to place on record how grateful we are to all incumbents and local ringers who made so enjoyable a day a pleasant memory to us all.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

Links between Lichfield and Yorkshire werc mentioned by the Dean of Lichfield, the Very Rev. W. S. MacPherson, when he welcomed the Leeds Parish Church ringers to Lichfield Cathedral on their annual outing on May 12 th. Aware, of course, that the present Bishop was until recently Vicar of Leeds, they learned that the first Bishop of the See. St. Chad, also emanated from Yorkshire, while, incidentally, the Dean himself is a Leodiensian.

An hour's ringing at the Cathedral for Evensong was a great privilege and it was an added pleasure that the Bishop (Dr. Reeve) could meet his former ringers once more.

The outward journey was relieved by a break at Baslow for 'elevenses' and a short ring on the lovely ten at St. Paul's, Burton.

Ringing on the magnificent heavy six at Hoar Cross, claimed by some who profess to know to be the best six in the country, and a visit to this wonderful church which beggars description followed a sumptuous tea at the Meynell Ingram Arms. Hoar Cross.

For good measure two eight-bell towers were thrown in-Lichfield, St. Mary's, and Wirksworth, but it was perhaps a little unfair on the former to go there straight after the Cathedral, and to the latter after coming from a ring with a tenor twice its weight.

The return journey took the party across Chatsworth Park and through Matlock, thus enabling the organiser to substantiate his boast that both the scenery and the bells would equal anything experienced on previous outings.

WITNEY, OXON

The first tower outing of the revived and newly-constituted Witney Ringing Society took place on Whit Monday, when a party of 37, which included members' families and ringing friends from Standlake, Eynsham and Oxford, visited six towers in the Thames Valley district.

After a morning's sightseeing and ringing on eight bells at Dorchester and six bells at Pangbourne, an excellent lunch was enjoyed at the Elephant Hotel, Pangbourne, during which time a handsome ringing record album and a copy of R.H. Dove's 'Church Bells of Britain' were presented by the Witney Ringing Society to a member who was celebrating a 21 st birthday.

All Saints', Wokingham, Twyford, Henley-on-Thames and Nettlebed were afterwards visited.

Tired and happy the coachload made its way home after a sun-drenched day's satisfying and varied ringing.

CHILVERS COTON

The Chilvers Coton (Nuneaton) ringers toured Worcestershire and Herefordshire on Whit Monday. With relatives and ringing friends from Bulkington, an early start was made and Bromsgrove reached at 8.45 a.m. Mr. C. L. Hawkins met the party and soon the pleasant ring of ten was going. An hour quickly passed and then it was all aboard for a most beautiful run of 40 miles to Leominster. Mr. F. Fox welcomed us to the Priory and we examined the ducking stool which occupied a prominent position in the north aisle of the church, the ladies turning a deaf ear to remarks made by certain gentlemen (?) regarding the use of that relic 100 years ago. Some good ringing was enjoyed.

We were ready for a good lunch at the Talbot Hotel. Off on a five-mile run to the lovely village of Eardisland, where we could have stayed for the rest of the day in such sylvan surroundings. In the beautifully-appointed belfry we were gratified to see a peal board denoting a peal rung a year previously by members of our Coventry Diocesan Guild. After a ring on the bells of All Saints', Hereford, we were ready for a "cuppa.' A glimpse of the Cathedral and the river and we were off again for Worcester via Ledbury. A substantial dinner had been arranged at the Deansway Restaurant, to which all did full justice. Then a cwo-mile run to Hallow, where the bells sound good outside but are very noisy in the ringing chamber. A social half-hour followed and then the final run to Nuneaton, which was reached about midnight.
The general opinion was that it had been a splendid outing, the weather had been perfect the country looking its loveliest, bells and ringing good, a welcome at every church and first-class meals. What more could a party of touring ringers and their friends desire?

STONHAM ASPAL

Some 300 miles were covered by the Stonham Aspal, Suffolk, band on May 26th, when they visited Brighton. A start was made at $5.40 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$ and London was left behind before $90^{\prime}$ clock. Towers visited were Crawley and St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd, Brighton Ringing extended from rounds to four-spliced Home was reached at $2.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. A big thank you to Bill Button, the organiser, for a grand day and good bells.

OBITUARY

MR. W. C. DOWDING

It is with regret we record the death of Wilgiam Charles Dowding, of King's Heath, Birmingham, who passed away in Selly Oak Hospital on June 6th, aged 73 years.

Bill,' as he was affectionately called, had not been well for some time and a month before his death was removed to hospital, where an operation was performed. Although this in itself was successful he never rallied and passed peacefully away in the presence of his wife, son and daughter, to whom the deepest synipathy is extended.

The funeral service at Edgbaston Parish Church on June 9 th was conducted by the Vicar, Canon E. T. Allen; the organist and choir were also in attendance. The Vicar, in his address, spoke feelingly of Bill's service and of his valuable work as Ringing Master of the church for the past seven years. Previously he was a member of St. Martin's Sunday service band and a member of St. Martin's.

The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service; the Worcestershire Association was represented by the Master, Mr. W. B. Cartwright, and the St. Martin's Guild by Messrs. J. Pinfold, G. E. Fearn, H. H. Fearn and A. Walker. The Edgbaston ringers also were present.

Born at Martley, Worcestershire, Mr. Dowding joined the Worcestershire Police Force at an early age, being eventually transferred to the Birmingham City Police Force, and during his years of service was promoted to the rank of sergeant. In July, 1927, he rescued and saved a boy from drowning and for this was awarded the parchment certificate of the Royal Humane Society.

It was at Martley where he rang his first peal, in April, 1903, five Minor methods, conducted by the late William Short, and throughout the years he rang a total of 296 peals in various methods on six to twelve bells. He was also a member of the following Societies, with whom he rang peals:-Worcestershire Association. St. Martin's Guild, Ancient Society of College Youths, Archdeaconry of Stafford Lancashire. Hereford, Middlesex, Coventry, Midland Counties. Bath and Wells, Salisbury, Dudley, National Police Guild.

OUTTNG

ST. ANDREW'S, FARNHAM

A sunny day, comfortable new coach, congenial company, superb timing, excellent food and very friendly welcomes, all went to make Farnham's outing on May 26th a great success Six towers were visited. the first being St. Margaret's, Uxbridge. Here a large crowd gathered outside the church expecting to see a weduing party! Then came two ten-belf towers-St. Mary's, Rickmansworth, and St. Peter's, St. Albans, the bells of which were both appreciated. At St. Peter's the visitors were interested in the stained glass window, recording a peal.

A grand drive through pleasing countryside to St. Andrew's. Hertford, and then on to Hoddesdon, and the 'cracking whip' roves of St. Paul's. A delicious tea was served at the Salisbury Arms hefore the party left for their last tower, St. Marv's, Cheshunt. Ringing ended for the day with a delightful course of Cambridge.

The route home was past the Lonion Air-port-much to the youncer ones' delight-and after a short stop for refreshment and handbell ringing Farnham was reached at 9.44.
Many thanks are due lo Mr. C. W. Denyer, cadtain of the Farnham tower. who made the arrangements for such a successful day.

U IN THE BELFRY

ASHORT while ago Professor Ross, of Birmingham University, published a paper in Finland on 'Linguistic Class-Indicators in Present Day English.' This led to a far greater general interest than one might imagine-apparently even in this politically enlightened age, the aristocracy have a fascination for the mass of the population. The subject has since been taken up by several other authors, and $U$ (i.e., Upper Class) speech and customs have been discussed at length in several of our contemporaries.

These discussions have, of course, been related to social behaviour in general. Thus, it is ' $U$ ' to take (not drink) tea with the milk added after the tea has been poured into the cup; dinner in U usage is an evening meal and never a midday one, and it is very non-U to have a 'sweet' as part of one's dinner-the correct word for that course is 'pudding.' It soon becomes clear, however, to any acute observer of his fellow creatures that an analogous code of speech and behaviour is to be found among the elite in more restricted fields of activity.

The art of Belfrymanship has already been described in this journal by a. able scribe. It is the art by which a ringer achieves virtual supremacy over his fellows in the tower without necessarily being an outstandingly good ringer. The successful belfryman, however, is akin to the self-made man in the general social hierarchy. He is an object of wonder and even, perhaps, of admiration, but scarcely one of respect. There are, on the other hand, ringers who have no need of the common ruses of the belfryman. They-it would seem-have not had to struggle hard to reach the summit. There is never any question of their right to inhabit Mount Olympus. When the Top Drawer was opened, there they were already (if the mixture of metaphors may be pardoned).

It is not so easy to describe U behaviour in the tower as to describe the subterfuges of belfrymanship because the technique is more subtle, and generally more subconsciously practised. Nevertheless, a U ringer can generally be recognised as soon as he enters the ringing chamber. His attitude is one of aloofness though not remoteness, friendliness but not familiarity. He greets, in a gentle sort of way, those whom he knows and returns, quite civilly, the greetings of those whom he does not know or whose names he cannot remember. On no account will he announce his identity. He only gives his name in reply to a direct (and, if his entry has been made well, almost apologetic) question. To rush cheerfully into the tower with an audible greeting to all and sundry followed by a round of vigorous hand shaking is, though much more matey, quite definitely non-U.

When a touch is called for, the $U$ response is inactivity for at least one minute. At the expiration of this period, if he has not been asked to stand in but wishes to ring, the U ringer may unhurriedly take a rope, carefully, but not too studiously see that it is not twisted, and wait for the rest of the band to fill in. On no account will he ask how his bell starts or even show the slightest doubt. If someone else asks how his bell starts he will politely tell him if he knows, or reply, 'I haven't got a clue,' if he does not. It is, almost needless to say, very non-U to show undue enthusiasm, to ask for a particular method, to offer unsolicited advice to those who are not sure of their starts or to spit upon one's hands on catching hold of the rope. Moreover, the correct mixture of diffidence and indifference is vitally important since any appearance of being blasé immediately bespeaks the seasoned belfryman. The $U$ ringer, though remaining a little detached from his fellows, unless they are also $U$, nevertheless always keeps his mind on the job in hand and never talks while ringing.

If during the touch he is shouted at by the conductor, or any other ringer, for some real or imaginary mistake, the correct action is a courtcous, but completely non-committal, bow of the head in the direction of the speaker. No audible reply will be made. Should chaos occur and the touch suffer an untimely end, it is U to refrain from the post-mortem. If it is clear to everyone that the cause of the trouble was the U ringer himself, the only possible thing to do is admit the fault at once in a matter-of-fact way with just sufficient apology to make the other ringers feel vaguely uncomfortable for having let such a distinguished person get into such trouble. (This, of course, requires courage to be successful; but this quality is one possessed to a remarkable degree by all U classes everywhere and at all times.) The U ringer is, to some extent, at a disadvantage compared with the belfryman, who in the same desperate circumstances can normally adopt the principle that attack is the best method of defence.

There is also an unwritten code of U behaviour at business meetings. If it is necessary to elect a chairman because of the absence of the local incumbent and the custom for the Ringing Master not to take the chair, the most $U$ ringer will (if he is really $U$ ) generally be appointed, and he should accept the task without displaying either reluctance or eagerness. Sometimes a mere belfryman will be elected to the chair, but no indication of shock at such impropriety may be given. Contributions to debates should be made with quiet assurance and be of such a nature, either in content or delivery, as to render further discussion unnecessary if not actually impossible. Second contributions on the same subject should not be made except, and then only rarely, to reaffirm what has already been said earlier. Points of order are raised with the chairman in such a way as to imply that of course he (the chairman) was really aware of the point and the U ringer is only lending moral support to action which the chairman has already decided upon.

It may seem to some readers that U behaviour is merely Belfrymanship writ large, but even they must surely admit that it is also written much more delicately. The two, however, really do differ in their nature. The U ringer is generally something of a stylist and a perfectionist (qualities which may be regarded as necessary but not sufficient), and is frequently though not always a proficient method ringer or conductor. The Belfryman, on the other hand, too clearly achieves his eminence by conscious effort. Any sensitive ringer realises that $U$ in the belfry tends to add dignity to the proceedings and stability to the organisation.

FIRST PEAL AT EWHURST, SUSSEX

Mr. W. A. Kitchenside writes that he has been informed by his very old friend, Mr. A. E. Perry 2, Trayton Booth 3, Edward Hills 4, Albert E. Edwards (cond.) 5 .

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION  Southern District

The June meeting of the Southern District was held at the pretty Teesdale village of Gainford, whose recently renovated bells of St. Mary's Church provided a very pleasant afternoon's ringing.
The meeting attracted 13 Darlington ringers and two visitors from Middlesbrough, and early in the afternoon a short visit was paid by three members of the Durham University Association.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. I. Samuel), who afterwards accompanied the ringers at tea. The ringing was of a high standard and consisted of touches of Grandsire, Stedman Doubles, Kent, Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Cambridge and London Surprise, all interspersed by Test Match commentaries.
The annual general meeting is to be held at South Church, Bishop Auckland, on August 25th.

BELFRY

 Church, Linslade, Bucks. A pioneer of change ringing in his area, Mr. Vickers numbers among his early pupils several noteworthy ringers, including the late Mr. Cecil C. Mayne. He still rings regularly twice every Sunday and also acts as verger, a post which he took over from his father. We wish him many more years of happy ringing.The bells of St. Dunstan's Church, Stepney, will be heard before the evening service to be broadcast nest Sunday at $7.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The captain of the ringers is Mr. L. J. Fox.

Roland H. Cook has celebrated his first year of peal ringing by 12 peals in 11 towers. His last, on June 23 rd at Kirby Muxloe, was rung on the eve of his 14th birthday.

On the I.T.V. television programme Epilogue, a record of six bells is played, and a picture of cight or ten bells is shown with the bells swinging. Can any reader enlighten an enquirer as to (1) which are the six bells, (2) what is the location of the bell frame and bells shown?
A correspondent writes: "The "Daily Sketch" is running a competition called "Win a Pub." They show a picture of a public house called the "Ring of Bells," and an attractive village church.' Can anyone tell him the name of the village?
Two well-known Hastings ringers, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Downing, celebrated their silver wedding with a quarter peal. For 38 years Mr. Downing has been a member of the Christ Church, Blacklands, band and tower captain for nearly 30 years. Mrs. Downing and their two children are also members of the Blacklands band.

We regret to learn that Mr F. J. Dodson, Ringing Master of the Chertsey District, Guildford Diocesan Guild, is in hospital. As he will be unable to ring for some time Mr. J. King was appointed, at the District meeting at Weybridge, Assistant Ringing Master for the rest of the year. Good wishes were sent for Mr. Dodson's speedy recovery.
Mr. A. Hubert Eplett has now 'circled' Carbis Bay tower.
Mr. K. R. Dunstan, of Watford, wishes to thank Norwich ringers for therr cordial welcome to him.
We said recently that St. Dunstan's in the East spire was to be rebuilt. We find that this has already been done. It is the spire of St. Mary-le-Bow which has to be taken down and rebuilt.
Mr. Josiah Morris is very seriously ill in the Leicester Royal Infirmary (Oliver Ward). Mr. Morris, who was 89 on July 1st, underwent an internal operation last week. Our sympathy is extended to Ernest, Stedman and other members of his family in the anxious time they are going through.
The alarm bell which is rung at Spurn Point to call out lifeboatmen was dismounted and upturned and filled with holy water for the christening of the son of Mr. J. P. Hanley, a lifeboatman, and Mrs. Hanley, on June 14th. The ceremony was performed at Spurn because Lifeboatman Hanley was still on duty.
St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, N.. is one of the few towers in London where Surprise is rung for Sunday services, and the local band have a repertoire of nearly 30 methods. Latest member of the tower's quarter peal band is 11-year-old Pat Rowe. She is in the company of several girls who have progressed from Rounds to London in the last six months, states our correspondent.

RAILWAYMEN FORM THEIR GUILD

Inaugural Meeting at Crewe

"I'HE B.T.C. Railwaymen's Ringers' Guild came into being on Saturday, June 23rd, at a meeting at Crewe-and what better town for the birth of any railway project !

After six months of correspondence in 'The Ringing World,' 'The Railway Magazine,' in a lesser degree, and 'The Crewe Chronicle,' railwaymen ringers from as far afield as Scarborough, across country to Ormskirk, to Bath and Exmouth, including South Wales, to Wadhurst, Sussex, Ditton and Ashford, Kent, Great Yarmouth, to Melton Mowbray, attended, not forgetting two young ringers from the Apprentices' Training School, Crewe.

Mr. Rodney Meadows, Bath, and of the Oxford University Association, was unanimously voted to take the chair. Mr. I. C. Forsyth, works manager, L.M. Region, Crewe, welcomed the ringers and said there was evidently something more in life beside work, which brought them together from so far afield. He was once, when at Duffield (famed for ringing), very interested in ringing, but he did not progress very far. He wished the ringers pleasure and profit in their deliberations and success to the Railwaymen's Guild.
Also present to welcome the ringers was Alderman John A. Madeley, former Mayor of Crewe, a Christ Church 'Boy' and Area Welfare Officer, L.M. Region, Crewe. Alderman Madeley said be was not there in the latter capacity but as a railwayman, interested in railwaymen ringers.

Last, but not least, to welcome the ringers was the genial Vicar of Christ Church, Crewe, the Rev. Francis G. Gentry, in whose Parochial Hall the meeting was held, and who granted the use of his bells for what, most happily and successfully, turned out to be the first peal for the newly formed Railwaymen Ringers' Guild (and a real first class peal of Grandsire Caters it was).

The meeting then settled down to consider the main object, the formation of a Guild, which was discussed from every angle. It was eventually moved. seconded, supported and unanimously resolved, 'that a Railwaymen's Guild of Ringers be formed on the lines of this meeting; which was that all had come at their own initiative and expense, and would like to continue to do so, at least annually.'

The question of the Regions was discussed and it was decided to ask the following ringers to see what could be done, on a regional basis, in their respective Regions : Mr. Harold Walker (York), North Eastern Region ; Mr. Peter Newstead (Great Yarmouth), Eastern Region; Mr. Sydney Foskett, the real prime-mover (Bedford), London Mid. Region; Mr. B. W. Kynaston (Swindon), Western Region, and Mr. Charles Bassett (V:?dhurst, Sussex), Southern Region.

Quite a number of prominent ringers, also interested supporters, were unavoidably absent owing to other duties, including numbers 1,2 and 4, S. G. Sulley, South Molton, Devon : 'R. E. Dannett. Chelmsford: L. W. Giles, Burwash, Sussex ; and Jack N. Brown, Ormskirk. All sent messages of good wishes for the success of the venture. A similar message was received from Sergeant J. G. A. Prior, of the Police Guild.

Mr. W. Frank Stenson, retired locomotive inspector, Crewe, who, along with Mr. Sydney Foskett, driver, Bedford, organised the meeting and carried out the secretarial duties, was thanked for doing a good job, and was unanimously elected to act as general secretary, but he asked not to be kept on too long.

A proper constitution will be drawn up and submitted to a further mecting, probably in September.

Those taking part in the peal at Crewe were John W. Griffiths, Chester, Rodncy B. Meadows, Bath, Richard D. Langford, Crewe. Frederick Seager, Leeds. Edmund J. Morris, Skewen, South Wales, Albert J. Pitman. Aberavon, South Wales, George A. Packer (conductor), Crewe, Bert Sutton, Scarborough, Brian D. Threlfall, Gresford and Liverpool, and John R. Cooper, Ashford, Kent. Another peal attempt at Nantwich came to grief half way.

Other towers open were Acton (Nantwich), Sandbach, Holmes Chapel and Goostrey. Our grateful thanks are due to the incumbents, and to the ringers who met us.

THE LADIES' GUILD

West Midland District

The summer meeting was held on June 9th in the Forest of Arden, at the charming village of Tanworth. Here, within a few miles of Birmingham, was country untouched by modern civilisation-ringers arriving by train had to walk a mile to the church, and those who travelled by bus even further. Rounds, Stedman, Grandsire, Bristol, London and other methods were heard on the lovely bells during the afternoon and evening. A course of Bob Major was rung by an all Jadies' band.
A short service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon D. W. Lee.

A splendid tea was prepared in the Village Hall under the admirable supervision of Mr. J. Corbett, the local tower captain. Before the gentlemen returned to the tower, Evelyn Fletcher thanked Canon Lee, the organist and the local ringers, all of whom had helped so much with the arrangements.
Ons new member from Chilvers Coton was elected and also another King's Norton lady. The next meeting will be held at a Staffordshire Church early in September.

Western District

A quarterly meeting of the Western District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Withycombe Raleigh on June 9th. A coachload of members and friends travelled from the Bath-Bristol district. A stop was made at the Exeter Orthopadic Hospital to enable some members of the party to call upon the general secretary of the Devon Guild, Mr. E. J. Taylor, where a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells around his bedside, to the astonishment and, apparently, interest and enjoyment of the other patients in the ward.

Good justice was done to a sumptuous lunch at the local hostelry at Clyst St. George, where members also enjoyed a ring on the new six in the recently restored church.
After ringing at Withycombe Raleigh the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar. Tea was taken at Exmouth, and at the business meeting which followed it was decided that the meeting in June next year should be at Lyme Regis, subject to the necessary permission being obtained.
The following new members were elected: Miss M. Lidgey (Cornwall), Mrs. Bathe, Miss Bathe and Miss P. Matthews (Clyst St. George).

BEDS & HERTS ASSOCIATIONS

Summer Festival at St. Albans

In spite of a wet day on June 16 th, a very succescful Summer Festival was held by both associations at St. Albans, with several other towers in the vicinity at the disposal of over 100 visitors, who came not only from all parts of the diocese, but also from Lichfield, Leicester, Wolverhampton, Kettering, Ossett, Southport and many other centres.

Ringing commenced at 9.30 a.m. at Redbourn (six, $15 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$ ), then Sandridge (six, 61 cwt.), Welwyn (eight, $8 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.), Hatfield (ten, 23 cwt.), North Mymms (eight, 13 cwt .). Unfortunately, Wheathampstead's six ( 15 cwt .) were not available owing to defective ropes, but being apparently unaware of this ruling, a party from Bedfordshire arrived by coach and enjoyed a ring on this ground-fioor six.

Afternoon ringing was arranged at Harpenden (eight, 15 cwt .), Sandridge again, St. Peter's, St. Albans (ten, 21 cwt.) and the Cathedral (twelve, 23 cwt .). The ancient clock tower containing a large curfew bell and a small market bell, although open to the public, was used by special permission for handbell ringing.

At evensong the Dean of St. Albans (the Very Rev. K. Matthews), who appreciates the niceties of ringing by way of Cuddesdon and Rogate and has at least taken pars in rounds on his twelve bells, gave a warm welcome to the ringers and showed a very real understanding of their work in the church. A tittum course of Grandsire Caters was rung on a large set of handbells at the close of the service by T. J. Southam, G. Dodds, W. Ayre, C. W. Woolley and H. V. Frost.

After an excellent meat tea at the Abbey Institute, the Dean again spoke to the members and said how pleased he was to be with them on the eve of St. Alban's Day for their summer festival. He apologised for the absence of the Bishops of St. Albans and Bedford, who were at the Diocesan Conference at Harpenden.

Mr. W. T. Holmes (president of the Hertfordshire Association) welcomed the visitors and said that he wished more peals could be rung by combined bands of both associations. Miss Steel, for Bedfordshire, thanked the Hertfordshire Association for their invitation and said how much they had enjoyed their outing and hoped it could be arranged again.

Mr. H. V. Frost (the organising secretary) gave notice of the evening ringing arrangements and said that peals by both associations could be rung if they were in a diocesan guild and that he thought that one might be formed to advantage without interfering with the rules of either association.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. W. Ayre, who mentioned the Bishop's note concerning the festival in his Diocesan Leaflet.

Further ringing took place at St. Michacl's (eight, 13 cwt .) and the other St. Albans towers. It is hoped that the bells of St. Stephen's will be available after restoration by next year if it is decided to make this Diocesan Festival an annual gathering.

STEDMAN CINQUES ON HANDBELLS

U
NTIL 1888, only two peals in this method had been rung on handbells, both in London, the first being by the St. James' Society on February 10th, 1854. The ringers were H.W. Haley 1-2, J. Cox 3-4, G. E. Ferris 5-6, M. A. Wood 7-8, W. Cooter 9-10, J. Dwight 11-12. Time, 3 hours 28 minutes; number of changes, 5,014 .

The second was by the College Youths on January 2nd, 1858: H. W. Haley 1-2, W. Cooter 3-4, M. A. Wood 5-6, G. E. Ferris 7-8. W. Green 9-10, J. Dwight 11-12. Time, 3 hours 25 minutes; number of changes, 5,016 . Both these peals were conducted by H. W. Haley and were in the tittums throughout until the last course.

The third peal was rung in 1888 by the Holt Socicty, Aston-juxta-Birmingham, on April 4th, in 3 hours 12 minutes, at the residence of H . Johnson, jun., 102, Queen's Road. Aston, by T. Russam 1-2. W. Kent 3-4, T. Miller 5-6. H. Bastable 7-8, B. Witchell 9-10, H. Johnson, jun. 11-12. Composed by H. Johnson, sen., conducted by Henry Bastable. This was the first peal of Stcdman Cinques ever rung on handbells out of London, and the first with the bells turned half way. Referee: A. Thomas. Witnesses: H. Johnson. G. W. Townsend, W. Bryant. W. H. Godden, W. Munday (Exeter).

THE 1888 PEAL
We give an extract from 'The Bell News' of April 14th. 1888, which shows how determined the Aston men were to reach their objective:-

As it is not an everyday occurrence to see touches or peals in the above method rung double handed on handbells, it may be interesting to some of the readers of . The Bell News.' especially those who are fond of change ringing upon handbells retained in hand, to know of the progress of this peal from the first practice.

It was at the anniversary dinner of Mr. Johnson. sen., on February 28th, that the members who took part in the peal decided to practise for a peal of Stedman Cinques.

The following week found the six members of the Holt Society at their meeting house, the Ring of Bells, Aston, having a good try to ring threc courses, but without success, getting within a few sixes from home.

The next meeting was at the home of Mr. Tom Russam on March 8th, and was more successful, four courses being attempted, but still without bringing the bells home. Another attempt, however, the same cvening resulted in bringing round the first touch of 790 . The next meeting was arranged for March 11th, when they surpassed themseives by completing 1,047 in fair style, considering the short time since they started.

The following Thursday found them at it again, when they rang the same 1,047 , which was well struck. A few days later they attempted a longer touch. which was well rung and brought round in 1 hour 1 minute, namely, 1,575 changes. Having been so fortunate, they decided to start for the peal on the following Thursday at the house of Mr. H. Johnson, 63 , Vicarage Road. Aston, when to the surprise of some of them on arriving there they found that A. P. Heywood, esq., had made a purpose journey from home to listen to them, remarking that he could not resist the temptation.
because it was only about twice in a century that anyone had the chance to listen to touches or peals of Stedman Cinques rung upon handbells. A start was made at 7.30 p.m. for the peal, and when in the third course, the ringing not being satisfactory, they stopped and made another start, this time with more success, for they sailed on course after course till they began to think their efforts would be crowned with success, but it was not to be so, for after ringing so far as 32 courses out of 38 , or 4.214 changes, in 2 hours 43 minutes, the whole thing came to grief when least expected. They were much disappointed after ringing so near to the finish, but were pleased to learn that Mr. Heywood stayed in the next room long enough to hear twenty-three courses before leaving to catch the train home and expressed himsclf highly pleased with what he had heard.

The next attempt was unavoidably postponed till Saturday. March 31st. when a mecting was arranged at the home of Mr. H. Johnson, jun., 102, Queen's Road, Aston. A start was made at 6.45 . when they managed to ring 2,200 in 1 hour 10 minutes. Nothing daunted. they made another start at 8.5 , which also resulted in failure after ringing 1,400 changes in 58 minutes, so that they had to console themsclves with the fact that they had a couple of good practices. Wednesday evening, April 4th, was selected for the next meeting at the house of Mr. H. Johnson, jun., when 'Go' was called so late as 8.15 , and very little else was said except the calls from the conductor, till the welcome words, "This is all,' brought a wellstruck peal to a successful termination in 3 hours 12 minutes.

THE 1916 PEAL

Twenty-cight years later, the Birmingham men rang the first peal by the St. Martin's Guild, in the caty of Birmingham, on June 15th. 1916. The following extract from 'The Ringing World' shows how they fared :

We give on this page the photograph of the band that rang the first peal on twelve bells 'in hand in the city of Birmingham. This was accomplished on June 15th last, and was noteworthy because, while more peals of Stedman Cinques have been rung at the famous Church of St. Martin than upon any other peal of bells in the country, no such peal had been rung on handbells in the city, which for so long has been one of the chief centres of Stedman ringing. Peals of Cinques had, of course, been rung on handbells in the district. the last having been by the Holt Society of Aston on April 4th, 1888, but Aston was not then included in the city of Birmingham.

The band that scored this first peal for St. Martin's Guild were not long in accomplishing their object. They met for the first practice on May 27 th and rang six and cight courses. At their next mecting on June 8th they decided to start peal fashion and rang 14 courses, while two days later they met again and got as far as 18 courses, when the bells were brought round owing to a 'change course.' An attempt reaching to 27 courses followed on June 13 th. and then on June 15 th came success. Mr. Tom Russam was the referce, and on June 29th he took part in another peal of Cinques, it being 28 years since he had rung a peal of Stedman Cinques 'in hand.' In that previous peal of (Continued at foot of next column)

Eastern Branch at Pakefield

The reputation which the Eastern Branch has hitherto held for fine weather at its meetings was sadly let down on June 16 hh , when the Branch visited Pakefield. Heavy rain and blustering winds, however, failed to dampen the spirits or to diminish in any way the warm welcome which Pakefield always extends.

Ringing to cater for all tastes and talents was soon in progress under the guidance of the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. Godfrey G. Walpole. The fully choral service (Pakefield possesses several dual role types, i.e., choristers-cum-campanologists) was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. K. Wilkjnson Riddle) assisted by his curate.

After one of the mammoth teas, which over the years have come to be a feature of meetings here, the business meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Mr. E. R. Goate) supported by the Association president, secretary and Ringing Master (the Rev. H. Lillingston, Mr. W. Love and Mr. H. W. Barrett) and Branch officials.

Messrs. Bickers, Bokkis and Cattermole were elected ringing members, and Mrs. R. Bickers an honorary member. Halvergate was proposed as the venue for the next meeting, on September 29th. Other subjects discussed were the Rev. A. St. J. Heard Memorial Fund, for which funds are still urgently needed, non-resident members' subscriptions and the recent Central Council meeting at Leicester.

Satisfaction was expressed at the nomination of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Vicar of Great Yarmouth and a member of the Branch, as a candidate for the vice-presidency of the Council.

The meeting closed with hearty votes of thanks to the Rector, curate, organist, Mr. Peter Kindred, of the local company, and the lady helpers for the excellent arrangements.

North Norfolk Branch

Between 30 and 40 members attended an interim meeting at Heydon on June 9th.

The service was conducted by the Rev. A. E. Dickinson, who afterwards was elected an honorary member; also elected were five probationary members.

The Rev. H. G. Lillingston was present, along with members from Ayisham, Caston, Cromer, Hevingham, Marsham, Norwich, Northrepps, Snettisham, Southrepps, Wroxham, Wymondham, Great Yarmouth and Ealing (London).

An enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent ringing from call changes to Cambridge Minor.

his 3-4 was rung by W. Kent, who came in as referee on this occasion.

Forty years later, the survivors of the 1916 peal, with P. J. Staniforth, F. E. Haynes and G. E. Fearn, rang another peal to commemorate the anniversary.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EARLY RINGING
Dear Sir,-A recent letter on 'Early Ringing ' adopted a really shocking attitude. The celebration of Church festivals by ringing at an early hour to 'hail the festal day' is the timehonoured practice in all Christian countriesand in Moslehn countries the place of bells is taken by firing of guns or other festive sounds. In some parts the ringing begins a good deal carlier than is usual in England. In the south of Spain I have heard bells rung on the octave of Corpus Christi at 3.30 a.m. This might be regarded as a somewhat ' unearthly' hour, but it would be absurd to apply such an appellation to 6.30. Within half-an-hour of that time most of the adult population are up and moving ahout. or they would be late for their duties. It would be deplorable in the extreme if the Ringing Isle' abandoned the godly tradition of universal Christendom. Indeed it would be a sacrilege.-Yours sincercly

Kington Magna. F. Ll. EDWARDS.

SHOLLD PEALS BE DISPLAYED?

Dear Sir-I was unable to attend this year's Council meeting and have therefore read your detailed report of the proceedings with greater interest than usual. 'The Ringing World' was apparently the subject of a lively debate. The publication of peals and their cost quite rightly came under consideration. I wholeheartedly agree with the view that peals are news. The peal reports indicate the progress of method ringing in the Exercise, but should not alone be accepted as evidence of the ringing health of the Associations. Quite frequently a band gathered from various towers will ring an amazing collection of peals, but their home towers, if they have one, might be very poor. Again, peals are often the result of one man's initiative. hecause he wants to complete some personal record. In passing. it often happens that the reasons for inflicting on the public three hours' continuous ringing are often fantastic, and if the true facts were known there would be a public outcry.

This is by the way, for what I want to draw attention to is the extravagant layout by which the news of peals is recorded. A comparison will demonstrate my point. In the issue (June 1st) I am looking at there are some 40 peals rung by 300 ringers (the number of individual ringers would be less as many of these took part in more than one peal) and their performances accupy $3 \frac{1}{2}$ pages. Therc are some 46 quarter peals rung by 340 ringers (this figure very nearly represents the number of individuals as well and their performances occupy one page. And, we must not overlook that the majority of these performances were demonstrably to the glory of God. being rung for Sunday services

This kind of $1 t \mathrm{hg}$ occurs in every issue. We have just referred to a figure of 300 peal ringers. The weekly circulation is 5,400 . Is . The Ringing World' Committee convinced that the 5.400 agree to the activities of the 300 being given such extravagant treatment in the paper when the 300 are not prepared to finance this traditional but expensive layout? Is it not possible for the paper actually to be reduced in size by drastically curtailing the space devoted to peals, using the layout adopted for quarter peals and so cutting the cost of production?

My Association found the cost of its annual report impossible to maintain, so we altered the traditional layout of the peal reports, saved several pages and restored financial stability. I suggest 'The Ringing World' should do the same. The circulation might even go up, for I feel many of the so-called slackers do not buy the paper because it 'is all peals.' What do your readers think? -Yours sincercly.

Iver Heath.

- THE RINGING WORLD

Dear Sir,-Your leading article in the current issue of 'The Ringing World ' Icaves little doubt that drastic action is lurking around the corner which will either raise its price or seek other sources of revenue to meet rising costs. In your article we read: "This sum was supplemented by about $£ 250$ in donations from peal and quarter peal ringers.' but just how does this figure analyse? Taking four copies at random I find 168 peals and 180 quarters reported but donations from 27 peals and 65 quarters only.

Mr. Sedgley's letter in your issue of June 15th states that this publication exists on the support of one-eighth of the ringers of the country, which shows that previous appeals for increased circulation have fallen on stony ground, and if, as it now seems likely, drastic action is to be taken then, sir. I suggest a direct charge for printing peal and quarter peal reports, bearing in mind that quarter peal ringers have been the more generous in the past.

The printing of these reports are seemingly necessary to those who compile elaborate records of personal achievements, and are, in my opinion, equivalent to advertisements and should be paid for by those who read them.

If this is too drastic, then I suggest as an alternative that you do away with your Gratefully Acknowledged feature and print the amount contributed with the sometimes overelaborated footnotes. This will give all readers a chance to appreciate those who support "The Ringing World' as it should be supported. The only people who would object are those who want something for nothing and hope to get by unnoticed.-Yours sincerely,
W. J. GAIT.

High Littleton, Bristol.

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE TOWER

Dear Sir,-As I was responsible for starting the correspondence about the possible demolition of the tower of the Imperial Institute at South Kensington, and the question that would then arise as to the future of the fine ring of ten bells there, I think I should now say that the tower is likely to be saved.

In the Commons debate on technical education on June 21st, Mr. Butler announced that a revised plan regarding the site of the Collcutt Building has been prepared, which will enable the central tower to be preserved by the Imperial College as a free-standing campanile. Before a decision on the tower can be taken, it will be necessary for expert advice to be obtained on the stability of the tower as a separate unit.

I don't doubt that the revised decision has been made as a result of the protests of the public and the Royal Fine Arts Commission, to whom is due the gratitude of ringers generally for saving the tower (and possibly the bells) from destruction.-Yours sincerely,
F. W. GOODFELLOW.

Iver Heath.

100 CONSECUTIVE SURPRISE PEALS
Dear Sir,-The report of the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association (p. 380) includes a statement that Mr. Leslie W. G. Morris is most likely to be the first member to ring a hundred consecutive Surprise peals for the Association. I concluded such a century on November 15 th. 1952, with the last peal II rang for the Association.-Yours faithfully,
J. E. CAWSER.

Lichfield.

DEDICATION

ST. GWINEAR, CORNWALL
The last unringable ring of bells in West Cornwall has been put in first-class order. Until the eve of Whit Sunday, May 19th, the six bells at St. Gwinear, near Hayle, had not been rung for more than 50 years. The late Vicar (the Rev. H. A. Benaton) started a bells fund, but the war and his retirement left its completion to his successor, the Rev. W. G. Revill, who, on coming to the parish about three years ago, set to work with great zeal, and at the dedication rejoiced in the results of his labours. With his parishioners he has raised over $£ 2,000$ to restore tower and bells.

The tower originally contained a complete ring of six, cast in 1767 by the Penningtons. In 1903 the fifth cracked and was recast by Warner. The year after that the tenor cracked and the bells had never been rung since. The restoration has been complete and thorough. The tower has been repointed, pinnacles rebuilt and new floors and roof installed by Messrs. Dawson Bros. The new cast-iron bell-frame has been built on African hardwood beams of Iroko. All fittings are new. The cracked tenor has been recast and is now a splendid bell of 12 cwt . 1 qr. 17 lb . Details of the bells are as follows:-
Treble. -4 cwt . 1 , qr. 22 lb . I call all ye to follow Me. 1767.

Second. - 4 cwt. 1 qr. 12 lb . 'God preserve the Church. 1767.
Third. -5 cwt. 0 qr. 2 lb . 'God Save the King. 1767.
Fourth.-5 cwt. 0. qr. 26 lb . "Penningtons cast us all. 1767.
Fifth.-6 cwt. 2 qr. 2 lb . 'Recast by John Warner and Sons, Ltd., London. 1903.'

Tenor. -12 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb . 'Ego Sum Vox Clamantis Parate, 1767. Recast 1956. Taylor's Shield. W. G. Revill, Vicar. F. W. Trewhella, W. Faull, Churchwardens.'

The bells were dedicated by the Archdeacon of Cornwall (the Ven. F. Boreham) and the lesson was read by the Rev. A. S. Roberts, Rural Dean. As the procession returned to the chancel the bells were raised faultlessly by six of the Kenwyn band: A. Carveth 1, Mrs. B. Simpkin 2, Miss M. Matthews 3, A. Matthews 4. D. E. Penrose 5, R. A. Southwood 6. Amongst the clergy present was the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella (secretary, Truro Diocesan Guild).

The full church included ringers from many towers in the district and beyond, and until late in the evening the bells were kept going to rounds, call changes and methods up to Cambridge Minor. A pleasant feature was that the service and ringing of the bells had been recorded, and several were able to go to the Vicarage to hear the dedication again.

A strong band of young people had commenced to learn to ring in Carbis Bay tower several weeks before the dedication, and now they are progressing in their own tower. The practice night is Monday at 7.30 .

A Visit to London

On June 16 th ringets from Sussex and Surrey, W. Rogers (Rotherfield), F. Hicks (East. Grinstead). G. Jennings (Crawley), E. Rapley (Horsham). A. Lewry (Crowborough). C. Wood (Billingshurst). W. Slaughter (Horlcy). G. Olliver (Bletchingley) and E. Talbot (Bcddington) visited All Saints'. Poplar, and with the assistance of H. Wecdon. of Stepney. a good touch of Caters was enjoyed.

After tea, a well struck quarter of Grandsire Caters was rung at Southwark Cathedral by W. Rogers (cond.) 1, G. Olliver 2. E. Rapley 3, A. Lewry 4. G. Jennings 5. C. Wood 6, E. Talbot 7. F. Hicks 8. J. Euston 9. W. Slaughter 10. All the band extend thanks and appreciation to those in charge at both towers for their help and friendship.

THE SUNDAY SERVICE CONDUCTOR

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

3. GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

In Grandsire Triples the conductor will, of course, find far more scope for musical arrangements than can be hoped for in Doubles or Minor. He will discover, nevertheless, in a logical approach to the handling of Triples, that the principles he has mastered on the lower number of bells are by no means without significance. The means used to bring 4 and 5 together in Doubles or 5 and 6 together in Minor are the means used to bring 567 together in Grandsire Triples, and the operations performed in producing 42356 and 34256 in Minor are those pursued in securing 423567 and 342567 in Triples.

The text books contain for the conductor large and varied selections of touches and peals, and these are not, of course, to be ignored by the student. But as our purpose in these papers is to deal chicfly with the principles upon which touches are constructed and bells called round, we shall say little about set touches, and shall confine ourselves, as in Doubles and Minor, to the task of trying to give to the conductor what might, not inaptly perhaps, be called 'the freedom of the method '; and by this we mean the power to get bells into musical positions just as he wishes, and the ability to call the bells round in a reasonable time when he desires to do so.
It would seem logical to approach first the question of calling the bobs and singles at the right moment and with absolute confidence. If the conductor feels already confident of his competency in this respect, then be will doubtless wish to skip the present paragraph and push on to later passages. But let him to the accurate placing of calls

S234567 touch the beginner should not attempt to count the leads between the singles, but should rather note that the singles are called when 2 and 3 are coming down in front of the treble.

The attention of the student is particularly drawn to the important phenomenon of S.B.B.S., fur a short study of the second touch will show that this arrangement of calls (S.B.B.S.) has taken the place of a bob and has produced the same leadend as a bob would have produced. In the process three leads have been added to the touch. We shall return to this question of the Bob Block (as it is called)

KETTERING GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Eight members of Kettering Grammar School spent a day among the bells on May 23rd, visiting some of the lesser-rung rings in the county.

The journey was made by bicycle, and ringing took place at Kelmarsh, Maidwell, BrixWorth, Spratton, Creaton. Guilsborough. Ravensthorpe, Thornby, Naseby and Walgrave.

At Brixworth four ringing personalities who had been to Leicester for the Central Council meeting appeared, including A. Patrick Cannon and Wilfred Williams. Seven different methods were rung by the Society alone during the day.
later on. Meanwhile, for further practice in calling the bobs and singles accurately the beginner may call touches with a single at each lead, or with a single at alternate leads, or with bob and single alternately, all of which will give him practice in placing calls accurately without having to commit to memory any particular compositional plan.

Once the power to call accurately has been acquired the conductor should devote his study to two important minor skills, the one the calling of a bell Before, and the other the calling of a bell Into the Hunt. The first will present little diffictulty, provided the learner has mastered the requirements of the preceding paragraph for to call a bell Before means merely to call it to make ordinary thirds place, and that means calling the bob when that bell comes down in front of the treble. To call a bell Into the Hunt requires some extra alertness, for it involves spotting when the bell comes down in front of the bell coming down in front of the treble.
This is undoubtedly somewhat more difficult than just calling a bell Before, but it is not so very difficult, and in a very short time the persistent conductor will master the process. But easy or difficult as it may be found, it is a vitally important skill, for without it the conductor will stand little chance of mastering the art of calling from a non-observation bell or of calling the bells round.

For the purpose of practice in calling bells Before or In and Out of the Hunt, the wellknown touches quoted here provide excellent material. They are all really one and the same touch, and each must be twice repeated to produce 168 changes. In the first the 7 th is called In and Out of the Hunt, in the second the 6th is so called, and in the third, an interesting and musical fragment, the 2nd is called Out, and after an interval is called In again. In these touches the beginner should steadfastly cast aside the temptation to count the leads, and should call the appropriate bell Into the Hunt by making himself observe when that bell comes down in front of the bell Before.

IN THE ' BORDER' COUNTRY
Ringers from Backwell. Clutton, Long Ashton, Nailsea and Wembdon enjoyed a half-day tour on the Somerset-Dorset border on May 26 th . The fine six at Pylle, restored by Mears and Stambank in 1952, were put to good use in methods up to Cambridge.

A 15 -mile run brought us to Tintinhull and a good ring of five in a tower unusually situated on the north side of the church. An enormous clock took up most of the ringing chamber but there was just room for four ropes along one side and the treble behing the clock's woodwork. These bells are hung on two tiers, the back two 'shouting' down the stairs and the front three, on the top storey, being a little difficult to hear.

At Yetminster we first prevailed upon a lady living opposite the church to boil us up gallons of water to make some tea and, when duly fortified, we pulled the bells up (not very well) in peal and rang on this heavy six with a long draught.
Several members of the new band which has been formed at Melbury Osmond (still in Dorset) met and welcomed us there-five bells, recently restored. The fine wooden screen in contemporary style which divides the ringing gallery from the church was greatly admired.
Back over the boundary again to Somerset to the hamlet of Closworth (5), where the Vicar had warned us that the bells did not go too well and had not, in fact, been rung since his induction in December last. Having oiled the bells and mended a rope-which broke in the first few changes of Stedman-we were agreeably surprised to find that the bells were not too bad after all. The front three, however, had a habit of "jumping' at handstroke.
Before leaving Closworth for home we all inspected the grave of the bellfounder, Perdue, the tomb having a bell cut in the stone on one end and bearing the inscription:

Here lies the Bellfounder,
Honest and true,
'Till Resurrection,
Named Perdue.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Monmouth Branch Make History

On June 9th, the first meeting ever to be held at a five-bell tower in Monmouthshire took place at the beautiful little church of Llanover.
Some 45 ringers attended and exhausted the Doubles methods provided in the Ringer's Diary. The Rev. W. G. Walker, who has recently started to ring, gave everyone a hearty welcome to the church and later conducted the service. The Rev. I. J. Richards, Vicar of Llanarth, read the lesson.
A beautiful tea was afterwards provided in the Church Hall, and Mr. F. J. Hannington thanked the ladies concerned.
The Rev. W. G. Walker took the chair at the business meeting and new members were elected from Llanover, St. Woolos and Abergavenny. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Caldicot in September.
The members then returned to the church and the excellent ring of five bells was kept going until 9.30 p.m. Everyone agreed that the meeting had been exceptionally enjoyable and that five-bell towers should be visited more frequently.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Seventeen Hertfordshire towers were represented at the Northern District meeting at Great Wymondley in substitution for Backway on June 21st. There were also present visitors from Turvey, Beds, and Mr. Frank Haynes, of Birmingham.

At the business meeting Masters . S. Hutton and J. Bray, of Baldock. were elected members. The next meeting will be held at Norton on July 21st, with Ashread as the special method.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

ROTHERHAM

Early in the morning of May 25 th ringers from Rotherham, Sheffield and Huddersfield set off for an outing into Shropshire. The absence of the late Mr. Arthur Firth, a stalwart ringer of Rotherham Parish Church and splendid organiser of the outings for many years, was deeply felt.
After an excellent breakfast at Whitchurch the ringers made their way to the Church of St. Alkmund ( $8,19 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) only to find that the fifth's wheel was broken. Therefore, only the remaining seven bells were rung to some Minor methods with the tenor covering.
On the journey to Shrewsbury a few enthusiasts filled in the time by ringing courses of Plain Bob and Grandsire on the handbells, and the belles of the coach entertained the company with tune ringing, aided by the captain.
Soon after arriving in busy Shrewsbury the beautiful bells of St. Chad's (12, $39 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) were being rung to a variety of methods. This enjoyable hour provided a chance for five ringers to strike their first course of Maximus. Then a happy time was spent in the Church of St. Mary ( $10,19 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where the bells proved to be easy going.
Later in the day the splendid ring of eight (171 $\frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) at Market Drayton was brought round to many pleasing methods. During the whole day methods had ranged from rounds and Plain Bob to Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Major

UPPER CLAPHAM

St. Matthew's, Upper Clapham, ringers saw a very fair cross-section of the 'Garden of England,' on April 28th, when a pleasant day was spent in Kent.
The first tower was Westerham, and the rather penetrating N.E. wind might have explained the slightly sub-standard ringing. One lady of the party had a remedy for keeping warm by vigorously rubbing some of the famous brass memorials in the church!
The eminently-strikable eight at St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, produced in a touch of Stedman the best ringing of the day. After an excellent lunch the route was through the hopfields and orchards to West Malling, another lovely example of a Kent ragstone church, hidden away in a valley, which reminded one of Kipling's lines - the little lost parish churches who praise the Lord who made their hills.'
The tea at Sevenoaks was equal in volume and quality to the lunch of not so long before with the result that there was some jet-propelled Stedman on the heavyish but most handy eight at Sevenoaks.
At St. Nicholas', Chislehurst, where some inspected the Walsingham tomb, others dallied with the almost "qually controversial details of Spliced Plain and Little Bob. So ended another good day of good fellowship and enjoyable ringing for which thanks are due to Charles Neal, for his efficient organisation. and Dennis Neal, who acted as Ringing Master.

ST. GEORGE'S, CAMBERWELL

The third annual outing of the Guild of St. George's, Camberwell, took place on June 9th. We left a very overcast Camberwell after lunch but arrived in Berkshire to fair weather and, at times, very hot sun.

Towers visited were Wargrave, Shiplake and St. Paul's, Wokingham. Ringing went from rounds to Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent, during which six members had their first touch of Kent Major.
We arrived home at 11.35 p.m. after a very happy half-day, tired, but in merry mood. Our grateful thanks are due to the incumbents and tower captains and also to John Sansom, who gave us guidance both before and on the outing.

SUTTON-ON-TRENT

Sutton-on-Trent ringers had an outing into Leicestershire and Warwickshire on June 2nd. Calling first at South Wigston ( $8,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.), these fine bells were raised in peal and rung to standard methods and a touch of Double Norwich with the assistance of Mr. B. G. Warwick, who kindly met us at his home tower.
Ringing at Rugby was delayed owing to a wedding, but some lucky couple left the church to the ringing of Stedman Doubles on a very good five ( 9 cwt .) to be found in the west tower. These were followed by the eight (24 cwt .), which are hung in the north-east tower of this unique church.
The six ( 19 cwt .) of St. Peter's, Dunchurch, went well for their weight, and Cambridge was accomplished with reasonable care. The last tower before tea, St. James', Southam ( 8,15 cwt.), were rung to various methods, but Single Oxford Major could not be brought round.
The very fine ten ( 24 cwt .) of St. Mary's, Warwick, were then rung, and with the help of two local ringers a touch of Grandsire Caters was accomplished. The last tower of the day was the ten ( 13 cwt .) of All Saints', Chilvers Coton, where, with the help of Mr. and Mrs. A. Beamish, Stedman Caters was rung.

Methods rung included Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Triples and Doubles, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Single Oxford Major, Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob, Kent, Single Oxford and Cambridge Minor.
Many thanks are due to the incumbents and local ringers and to Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson for arranging such a successful outing.
W. L. E.

ASHTEAD, SURREY

The Ashtead ringers, with some friends from neighbouring towers, had a day's ringing in Surrey and Hampshire on June 2nd. An early start was made and the towers visited before lunch were Chobham, Bagshot, Yateley and Alton, all eights. All the ringing was enjoyed, but the most enjoyable bells were at Alton, when even the most inexperienced made a good showing.
Lunch was taken at Alton, and before tea the visitors were privileged to ring at Privett and Petersfield.
After tea at Petersfield, the last church of the day was visited, the 10 -bell tower of Haslemere. Those who had not previously rung at a 10 -beli tower were a little concerned to know how they would perform, but the ringing was perhaps the best of the day, and courses of Grandsire, Caters and Bob Royal were successfully rung. Other methods rung during the day were Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major.
Thanks are due to all incumbents and tower captains who made the outing so enjoyable.
J. T. S.

BALDOCK AND NORTON

Windsor Castle proved a big attraction to many who accompanied the Baldock and Norton ringers on their outing on June 9th. The fine octave of St. John-the-Baptist, Windsor, was enjoyed.

Before reaching Reading the rather heavy eight at Hurst were tested. After lunch came the highlight of the day, the 12 at St. Laurence, with its ringing chamber beautifully decorated with peal boards. and St. Giles' good heavy octave. A break for tea and then to the famous eight at St. Peter's. Caversham. The beautiful lettering in the peal book recording nearly 180 performances was much admired.

Finally, Henley-on-Thames, and the eight bells here were voted by some of the party as 'the best of the day.' Thanks are due to those who made the outing such a success.

WEDDINGS

MR. DENNIS NEAL - MISS G. L. FRISWELL
The marriage between Dennis Neal and Gwendoline L. Friswell, two members of the local band, took place at St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, on June 16 th. Several ringing friends were present at the service, which was fully choral, and included the hymns, 'O Father all creating' and 'Love divine.' The Rev. C. H. Shaw Kew, Vicar of St. Matthew's, officiated. Ringing took place both before and after the service, those taking part being Miss N. Hales, Miss M. Prockson, Messrs. W. Prockson and W. Jarvis, and the band which took part in the peal of Bob Major which followed the service ringing.
Dennis and Gwen are the third couple from the Upper Clapton belfry to be 'spliced' together in matrimony. Two brothers and two sisters are involved in this unusual sequence, but it seems the flame has now been spent.
Of those taking part in the peal, Mr. George Parsons taught most of the local ringers, including the bridal couple, to ring. Mr. Alec Richardson, the blind ringer attached to St. Mary's, Finchley, was educated at the East London School for the Blind, and although not now existing, the school was very close to St. Matthew's Church. The late Bertram F. Tubb taught Alec to ring and he would have been overjoyed at his pupil's performance on the treble, for it was first class. Not once was he spoken to throughout the peal; he struck his bell over all the other bells immaculately, and it was only a very occasional trouble in catching the sally that prevented a perfect performance.

MR. G. R. TEBBLE-MISS K. HARRISON A wedding of great interest to Norfolk and Suffolk ringers took place at Diss Parish Church on June 16th between Miss Kathleen Irene Harrison and Mr. Geoffrey Robert Tebble.
The bride is the only child, of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Harrison, whose family has been prominent in the life of the town for generations Mr. Harrison has been the efficient sec retary of the Norwich Diocesan Association since 1937, helped by his daughter in the secretarial work for some years, and has welcomed to his tower-the best kept in the Dio-cesc-hundreds of ringers loud in praise of the standard in which the bells are maintained. tained.

Kathleen has the distinction of being the first lady to be taught here, and took part in her first peal at the age of 15 . She has on several occasions obliged by taking part in peal attempts at short notice.

Bells played an important part in the ceremony, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. O. Kenyon) before a large congregation. The bride was 'rung in, and as the couple left the church the bells were 'fired. and a touch of Double Norwich rung. In this method, a peal, recorded in the usual columns, was rung after the reception at the Church Hall, where ringers formed a good percentage of the 110 guests. One of the many messages of congratulation received was a telegram from the chairman on behalf of the Southern Branch couched in ringing parlance. Among the large number of presents were two from the local band. The honeymoon was spent touring the south of England.

Mr. and Mrs. Tebble, who will be residing in the town, have the congratulations and good wishes of all the many business and ringing friends of the family.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Stoke-byNayland (tenor 26 cwt .), have been removed for renovation and retuning. The timbers of the old oak frame are riddled with death-watch beetle, and a new steel frame is to be provided and also two new bells given in memory of thelate Rear Admiral and Mrs. C. H. Simpson.

RICHARD WHITE OF APPLETON

IN the passing of Richard White, of Appleton, the Exercise has suffered a severe loss, and one which will be keenly felt by numerous ringers. Born at Besselsleigh, near Appleton, in Berkshire, in 1878, son of Frederick and grandson of Alfred White, he followed like them the trade of a bellhanger, and his whole life was devoted to bells.

Familiarly known as Dick to his friends, he was greatly beloved by all who knew him; a man of great integrity, a ringer of outstanding quality and one of the finest of master craftsmen. In writing of him the greatest difficulty lis to describe effectively his true worth: he was big in every way, a true Christian and a true gentleman; and, like all great men, he was graced by sincere humility and modesty. But above all he was a happy man, full of natural wit and good humour, and even in his latter years he never appeared to be growing old. His home had an ever open door to ringers, and visitors to Appleton tower will always remember the cordial welcome they received from him.

Dick White rang his first peal in 1893. He was then 15 years of age and assisted his brother, Stedman, to ring the badly going tenor at Great Tew, in Oxfordshire, as a cover to a peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by the Rev. F. E. Robinson. So began a peal ringing career of remarkable achievement, not so much in the number of peals successfully accomplished, but in their length and quality. So far as can be ascertained he rang just over 230 peals, most of them at Appleton. In over 100 of them he rang the ninth bell, while his brother, Fred, rang the tenor. How magnificently they rang them is well known, not only in the Oxford Diocese, but by the Exercise in general.

A few of Dick White's long peals deserve especial mention. He rang the ninth at Appleton to 10,043 Grandsire Caters in 6 hours 5 minutes on November 19th, 1921, and on April 22nd in the following year the world's record returned to Appleton when a mixed band of members of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Oxford Diocesan Guild rang a peal of 21,363 Stedman Caters in 12 hours and 25 minutes. This still remains the record length of Stedman Caters, although recently exceeded by an even greater length of Major. In the year 1932 the Grandsire Caters record was regained by members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Appleton when a peal of 16,271 changes in that method was successfully accomplished in 9 hours and 20 minutes on December 27th. In these record lengths Dick, as usual, rang the ninth.

Possessed of fine physique and the keenest of ears his striking was faultless. But perhaps one of his greatest achievements was the participation in the ringing of the record peal of 12,663 Stedman Cinques at Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, on August 24th, 1946, in 8 hours 48 minutes. He was now 69 years of age and some members of his family tried to dissuade him from ringing, saying he would kill himself in making the attempt. Dick just smiled and said: ' Ah well, if so I shall die happy.' He rang the eleventh bell on this memorable occasion. In later years he was to be found ringing one of the smaller bells with the same ease and accuracy as in the record peals, and in his last peal, one of Stedman Caters, rung on the 'March-theFourth' ringing day at Appleton this year, he rang the treble.

As a master craftsman Dick White had few equals and he was proficient in working in either metal- or woodwork. In 1909 he inherited from his father the family business, which under his capable management prospered and flourished. Many are the rings of bells rehung by him; from Yorkshire in the north to Hampshire in the south, and from Somerset and Devon in the west to Suffolk in the east. In Oxfordshire alone over fifty rings of bells were restored by him since 1909, and he was even more active in his native Berkshire and the adjacent parts of Wiltshire and Gloucestershire. Very appropriately the Rt. Rev. Dr. Riches, Bishop of Dorchester, offered thanksgiving prayers - for the skill, craftsmanship and devotion of the White family' at the recent dedication of a new cast iron frame and an augmented ring at Langford. Dick continued to work in the bellhangers' shop until a few weeks ago. His last new cast iron frame was installed at Warborough where he supplied new gear and augmented the bells to form a ring of eight. The last tower in which he worked personally was Hanborough, where he added a treble to make six; and he turned and fitted gudgeons to headstocks for Mapledurham bells, which are still in process of being rehung.

Dick White will be sorely missed-in his own native village, in the church from which he was never absent on Sundays, and in the belfries of England. As a valued member of the General Committee his loss will be keenly felt by the Oxford Diocesan Guild. But, perhaps, most of all ringers will miss him on the 'Fourtb-of-March' ringing day, where for so many years his outstanding personality and his anecdotes of the old days were so greatly enjoyed. The 'Fourth-of-March' is noted for its traditional songs.

One of the more recent of these commemorates the 10,043 Grandsire Caters peal and those who took part in it. One verse runs:-

- Richard White rang the ninth, a bellhanger by trade;

He's been ringing bells since he was but a blade:
He was a young man, and was strong and was well;
And that was the reason that he rang the ninth bell.
Hurrah! for the Appleton Ringers I say;
Who rang a ten thousand on a November day.'
His passing removes the last link with the first ' March-the-Fourth ' ringing day, for Dick had rung with those who knew the ringers who rang on that never to be forgotten occasion in 1818. Appleton will not seem the same without him. May he rest in peace.
F. S.

DONCASTER

The annual outing of St. George's, Doncaster Guild of ringers took place in South Lincolnshire on Whit Monday.
At St. Vincent's, Caytborpe, the party was given a warm welcome by the Vicar (the Rev. A. J. Ison). This fine ring of eight was soon ringing out to various touches, including a fine course of Cambridge Major.
St. Michael's and All Angels', Edenham, was reached after a drive through beautiful country and the ringing included a touch of Superlative, which turned out to be the highlight of the day.

A pleasant drive through the Fen country, where some of the tulips were seen, led to St. Lawrence's, Surfleet, with its well-known light twelve. The ringing here included rounds on iwelve. Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters, Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Cambridge Major.

After an excellent tea at the Greyhound Hotel, Spalding, the company set out for the final tower, St. Andrew's, Ewerby. So ended a good day's outing with uninterrupted sunshine, and many thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and the ringers who met the party.
D. A. C.

FARINGDON, BERKS

Ringers and friends from Faringdon, Shrivenham, Stamford-in-the-Vale, Buckland and Aldenham (Herts) journeyed to Bath on June 16 th, proceeding later to St. Cuthbert's, Wells, Evercreech and Trowbridge via Longleat.
Lunch was taken at Wells and tea at Evercreech. The best ringing of the day was on the fine twelve at Trowbridge. The outing was arranged by Mr. F. H. Whipp and Mr. D. Vincent. Thanks are duc to all incumbents and secretaries for their assistance.
F. H. W.

OUTINGS

HITCHIN AND DISTRICT

On Whit Monday a party of ringers and friends from Pirton, Great Wymondley, Clifton, Norton. St. Ippolyts and Stevenage had a pleasant coach out to the Thames Valley.

Ringing took place at Great Missenden, Hughenden, Marlow, Henley, Boyne Hill (Maidenhead), Beaconsfield and Amersham. Thanks are accorded to the tower keepers and all who made the party so welcome.

TWERTON-ON-AVON, BATH

The Twerton-on-Avon ringers held their annual outing on June 23 rd and were accompanied by many friends. The recently-rehung five (terior $12 \frac{\mathrm{c}}{\mathrm{cwt}}$. in F sharp) at All Saints', Clevedon, were a joy to ring. Our visit ended with an excellent fall in peal.
At St. Andrew's, Clevedon, we were met by Mr. James. This Taylor octave (tenor 14 cwt. 1 qr .20 lb .) go very well.
After tea we made our way to St. Mary's, Yatton, where we found Mr. Price waiting to welcome us. The eight bells (tenor 21 cwt . 4 lb . in D) are glorious. All too soon time came for us to leave.
Our last tower was St. Andrew's, Blagdon $\left(8\right.$ bells, tenor $19 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where Mr. Andrews met us.
Thanks are due to Mr. R. O. Fry for the excellent arrangements and to the local men who met us.
A. F. L.

ST. ANN'S, STAMFORD HILL

Hertfordshire was the venue chosen for this year's outing, which took place on June 2nd. Visitors included Mr. Peter N. Bond, who acted as Ringing Master.
Touches of Plain Bob, Kent and Cambridge were rung at St. Ann's until it was time to leave. At 12.30 p.m. the tour commenced, and a convoy of cars conveyed us to Hoddesdon ( 8,12 cwt.), where we found the bells already 'up.' Stedman Superlative and Grandsire Triples were rung and the bells lowered in peal. Our second tower, Great Amwell ( $6,7 \mathrm{cwt}$.), has a pleasant ring. Methods up to Superlative were rung at Hunsdon ( $8, .10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) ; these bells were not easy to strike. Next we visited Standon ( $6,17 \mathrm{cwt}$.) the heaviest six of the tour.
Half-way, at Braughing ( $8,19 \mathrm{cwt}$.), was marked by tea-which we enioyed in the churchyard. There were no onlookers to watch us eat. The entire local population appeared to be concentrated in the Village Hall, where a wedding was being celebrated. A good course of Yorkshire was rung before leaving.
At Great Hormead ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.) we rang sonc touches of Kent, York and Plain Bob on the easy-going bells despite a sudden failure of the electric light. The bells at Ardeley ( $6,12 \mathrm{cw}$.) were next raised in peal and rung to Plain Bob and Cambridge, following which we paid a visit to Westmill ( $5,7 \mathrm{cwt}$.) with its anti-clockwise circle. Difficulty was also experienced at Great Munden ( $6,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Our tenth and last tower was Little Munden ( 6.13 cwt .). where courses of London and York came as a climax to an exciting afternoon.
The thanks of us all go to the authorities at the towers concerned, and also to Mr. Ernest J. Rowe for his excellent arrangements. M. C.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, now leaving Kington Magna after 48 years, has something strong to say about increased postal charges in his parish notes: ' By raising the postage on printed matter to the outrageous figure of 2 d . they (the Government) have destroyed the last despairing vestige of ctvilisation in our longsuffering country.

Mr. Kenneth W. Price, of Weston-superMare, leaves for Iraq today.
Errata. - The quarter peal at Ashford, Kent, on June 12th (page 422) was rung to the memory of Mrs. H. Wickens, and not as printed. The error is regretted. It was at Halling and not Holling, Kent, that the peal of Minor (page 420) was rung Apropos the site of the Ring $o^{\prime}$ Bells, referred to in this column last week, there are two claimants. Mr. M. Ward, of Bottesford, states that it is at Swinton. Mexborough, Yorks, opposite the church, and Mr. Charles Clegg informs us that it is at Winkleigh, Devon, where All Saints' Church has a ring of eight with a 20 cwt . tenor.

The De Profundis bell at the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament, Christchurch, New Zealand, weighing $2 \frac{1}{2}$ tons, which crashed in October, 1936, has been repaired by Mr. D. M. Thompson and an associate. There was a crack of about two inches and this has been repaired with a nickel alloy.
The suggestion made at the annual meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild to establish a College of Campanology is developing. Details of the 'Manual of Ringing Training, the handbook of the College, particularly in regard to the elementary part, will be published at an early date. Information should be sought from the Registrar, College of Campanology, 24, Doyle Avenue, Portsmouth.

The peal of Stedman Cinques at Aston on June 30 th was a birthday compliment to the Master of the Guild, Mr. Frank E. Haynes. and Miss Juliette Hayward, daughter of J. L. Garner Hayward.

The only other peal of Superlative rung at Bolney was conducted by J. W. Washbrook on May 13th, 1891, in 2 hours and 55 minutes, on the oldest ring of bells in Sussex, and our 'Pat' was thrilled to clip this time by two minutes.
The peal at Loughborough Bell Foundry of Yorkshire Royal (June 29th) coincided with the engagement of Nancy Toon, of Hinckley, and Roger Hayward, of Stoney Stanton, both having been 'tutored' by Alf Ballard. We congratulate them and wish them 'all the best.'
After the peal at Bedford on June 25th, Mr. and Mrs, C. E. Jeffries kindly entertained the band to supper. The visitors were very grateful to Mr. S. Foskett and the local band for forgoing their practice night to that the peal could be rung The peal was rung on Mrs. Poole's birthday, and other birthdays were Mrs. Lock's (June 17th), Mr. Lock's (June 23 rd) and Mr. P. A. Corby's (June 22nd).

The Worcestershire Association Receive Civic Honours

Inclement weather did not prevent an excellent attendance on the occasion of the Northern Branch meeting at Bewdley, one of the gems of the upper Severn Valley, on June 16th, when the gathering was honoured by the presence of the Mayor and Mayoress at the service and afterwards at tea.

Bewdley had been without a full band for some considerable time before the arrival of Mr . Raymond C. Sayers, late of Claines, who, with Mr. T. F. W. Harris as secretary, reorganised the St. Anne's Guild of Voluntary Church Bell Ringers, so that the bells are once more rung regularly for Sunday services.

The bells, a fine-toned eight with a tenor of approximately 18 cwt., were made good use of before the service, at which the Rector, the Rev. Ronald A. Jones, gave an excellent address upon the functions of ringers and the value of their ministry to the well-being of the Church.
ieta was afterwards served in the Town Hall, and approximately 70 sat down to enjoy the first-rate meal provided by the local ringers and their ladies.

The Association Master. Mr. W. B. Cartwright, referred to the great honour bestowed upon the gathering by the Mayor and Mayoress in being present with them, and in thanking them hoped that they had enjoyed what was to them, probably, a unique occasion. At this point the Mayor was unfortunately compelled to hurry away to keep another appointment and was unable to make the full reply he would otherwise have done.

At the business meeting, reference was made to the passing of two very valued members of the Association in the persons of Messrs. William C. Dowding. Kings Heath, and Donald Potter, leader of the Bromsgrove band, and the members stood in silence for a short space.

Several new members were elected and Cradley was chosen as the venue for the next quarterly meeting on September 15 th. The secretary gave a resume of the proceedings at Leicester on the occasion of the Central Council meeting and referred to the position of "The Ringing World' as then given. asking all members to give the journal the maximum support possible, particularly in making every effort to secure new subscribers, and to bear in mind the Editorial Committee's request for more local news, a request which had hitherto met with very little response.

The Bow Bells Appeal was then dealt with and it was decided that each tower secretary should be asked to make a local collection for the fund, as was being done in other areas, in time for the next quarterly meeting, when the total collected would be forwarded to help the fund.

A hearty vote of thanks was then proposed by Mr. W. B. Cartwright to all concerned in the excellent arrangements which had been made. and the meeting was then declared closed, members dividing themselves between handbells in the Town Hall and the heavier metal in the tower.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

On June 9th the Society held its monthly meeting at St. Mary's Church, Scarborough, which was a joint meeting with the Northern District of the Yorkshire Association. Some 48 members attended. The eight bells (tenor 21 cwt.), which were retuned and rehung in 1952. were raised and rung to various methods during the afternoon.

A short service was conducted by the Curate, who welcomed the Society on their first visit to Scarborough, and made apologies for the Vicar who was on an out-of-town engagement.

Tea was served in an adjoining cafe and was followed by the business meeting, with Mr. A. E. Sellers, the president. in the chair. Mr. Sellers asked the members to stand in remembrance of Mr. George F. Williams, of Hull, and went on to say whal a great loss the passing of this brilliant ringer, conductor and composer. who was the first president of the Beverley and District Ringing Society, and the prime-mover in its foundation, would be to the ringing community.
After tea ringers returned to the tower for further ringing, until time to cease the bells, bringing another successful meeting to a close.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

The annual meeting of the Society took place at Lichfield on June 23rd. Presenting the committee's report, Mr. F. Bennett, lay secretary, said it had been a most encouraging feature during the year to see an increasing number of young ringers attending the Society's meetings.

Mr. G. Hughes, Ringing Master, stated that the number of peals rung, 50, showed an increase of 14 over the previous year. These peals had included a good proportion of young ringe:s and learners in a variety of methods.

Mr. F. Brotherton, hon. treasurer. reported that the Society's balance in hand of $£ 689 \mathrm{~s} .7 \mathrm{~d}$. was an increase of $£ 811 \mathrm{~s}$. compared with the previous year. A donation of $£ 44 \mathrm{~s}$. had been forwarded to Bow Bells Appeal.

Summing up the year under review, the Society's president, Ven. W. A. Parker, Archdeacon of Stafford, said that the results showed steady progress and the officers were to be congratulated on their efforts.

The officials elected for the year 1956/7 were: Ringing Master Mr. G. Hughes, clerical secretary Rev. C. H. Barker (for the 41 st year), lay secretary Mr. F. Bennett, hon. Ireasurer Mr. F. Brotherton, peal secretary and auditor Mr. E. Speake, Central Council representatives Messrs. B. G. Key and G. Hughes.

Mectings for the next 12 months were provisionally arranged as follows: August, Kings Bromley; October, Tutbury ; January, Sedgeley ; March, Penkridge; May, Penn: and the annual meeting at Lichfield in June, 1957.

Thanks to the Archdeacon for taking the chair, and Prebendary Cresswell for taking the service at St. Mary's and allowing the use of St. Mary's schools for tea and the meeting concluded the proceedings.

Ringing during the afternoon and evening took place at the Cathedral. St. Mary's and St. Michael's.
F. C. A. B.

According to 'Ringing Towers,' Mr. Marsden Horden. of St. James', Turramurra, is now on his way to England, where he will be residing for the next four years or so. We are sure he will receive a welcome from any tower he visits.

AN AUSTRALIAN RINGER IN ENGLAND

NCE 1 arrived from Australia, 18 months ago, I have been convinced that there is no better way of seeing England than as a bellringer. My whole picture has been buil! up from my experiences in or on my way is or from church towers. Guide-books have oeen used in conjunction with a 'Dove,' an my guides were ringers who know and love heir churches and districts. While I have prolably missed many of the points of interest sc.ught by the orthodox traveller, I cannot help but feel that mine is a far truer and lovelier picture.

From Hawkshead, Lantes, south to Kerwyn, Cornwall, and west to Walmer and Canterbury, I have met with the kindness of ringers that is so often taken for granted, but which can be truly appreciated by someone as far away from home as I. Through visiting towers while on touring holidays, going to meetings or on various outings I have rung in over 80 towers, and in my diaries I have always found it difticult to record adequately the welcome of the local ringers and the beauty in and around these historic churches.

The casual ' snatching' of half a dozen towers on outings arranged by my home tower here, Christ-the-Saviour, Ealing, and others to which I have been invited, amazes me when I think of such an outing from St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne. For a similar 'bag' the return journey would cover about 1,200 miles, the nearest towers being at Ballarat, Bendigo, Yass and Sydney.

It is a pity that my ringing is not yet of a sufficiently high standard to be of much use to the Exercise; but this fact in itself would prove to any other ringing visitor to England that ringers are tolerant people. And if perhaps, when letting down bells in peal, I am ringing hand-stroke and everyone else back, it at least affords the opportunity for pointed remarks about Australia and similar upside-down nations!

I have tried on several occasions to convince other travellers who have not been as happy as I, that only by following up some such interest can one ever hope to know something of England-or, for that matter, of any other country. None has been prepared to give up the vague frivoling of ordinary tourists. who must be lost and lonely when the weather breaks or their arches fall. My membership of a local tower and Association, and the knowledge that there are friends in a dozen nearby towers always gives me that comfortable feeling of belonging here.
Among the unforgettable memories of my first year or so in England are those of Winchester, as shown by our guide, Mr. G. A. Pullinger; carols sung by the Kenwyn ringers last Christmas; stories of London churches told by Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey before he went to Canada : the alarming sight of Southwark Cathedral bells ringing: the small children of Wrotham seriously cleaning the church's ornaments, while the Stanmore ringers rang overhead: the Pilgrims' Way churches of Puttenham and Seale: and, of course, the jncomparable setting of any English church in spring to name just a few.
There is a type of person in all countries with whom people like ringers have nothing in common, and on one occasion I found myself surrounded by three or four of them. I was introduced as an Australian, and once the rest had digested this, my hostess also volunteered the information that I was a bellringer. One good lady was really shaken, and eventually cried. 'But the ringers here are the people of the village.
When left to my own thoughts I chose a kinder and truer meaning to this statement, knowing the value of my delightful friends, the local ringers, who had only that morning offered to help me through a quarter peal on my next visit. 'People of the village' . . . . be it the tiniest hamlet or London, the greatest village of them all, I do not think that better words, kindly and correctly used, could be found to describe bellringers.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch

A meeting of this Branch was held at Knutsford on June 23 rd, when over 70 members and friends were present from a wide area. The six bells were in full use from early in the afternoon until the service. conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. H. M. Harris). who gave a very fine address.
A typical Knutsford tea, served in the Parish Hall, was enjoyed by all. The business meeting was under the chairmanship of the Vicar, who welcomed the Branch to Knutsford. The deaths of Allen S. Gordon (Stockport St. Mary) and Edward A. Jackson were reported, and the meeting stood for a moment in tribute to their memory. Mrs. D. B. Sproson, of Hyde, and Adrian Hough, of Knutsford, were elected members of the Guild.
The secretary reported on the proceeding of the annual festival for the bencfit of those who were unable to be present, and made an appeal for more subscribers to 'The Ringing World,' drawing attention to the leading article of the previous day. It was agreed to make the meeting at Bowdon on September 29th a joint meeting with the North Western Branch of the Ladies' Guild. The meeting concluded with a very cordial vote of thanks to all who had contributed to its success. Members were glad to see Mr. and Mrs. S. Hough looking so well and whilst the number of young members was considerable, one touch at least contained two octogenarians, Mr. Alfred Barnes (87) and Mr. John Wheadon (84).

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS Joint Meeting at Plymouth

The Mid-Devon and South-West Branches held a joint meeting at St. Andrew's. Plymouth, on June 30th. the event heing well supported by members of both Branches and visitors.
The fine ring of ten was made good use of throughout the afternoon, a short service being later held in St. Andrew's Chapel. This was followed by a hountiful tea in the Abbey Hall.
Mr. T. G. Myers welcomed the visitors on behalf of the South-West Branch, and Preb. E. V. Cox, the president, and Mr. J. E. Lilley, of Newton Abbot, suitably replied, returning thanks to Mr. Myers for making such excellent arrangements.
Further ringing took place in the evening, and included touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Plain Bob Royal.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Western District Annual Meeting

The happy couple who were married at All Saints', Bingley, on June 16th, were no doubt pleasantly surprised, upon leaving the church, to hear the bells ringing out their greetings. This by no means unusual coincidence occurred when the Western District held its summer meeting. The word summer was on this day something of a misnomer as a steady drizzle descended. In spite of this, the meeting was an outstanding success. and a very representative attendance of about 60 members was recorded.

Ringing continued throughout the afternoon and there was a good variety of methods catering for all. The visitors' tastes were further catered for in the excellent tea which had been arranged by the local company. The vicepresident, Mr. P. J. Johnson, took the chair at the business meeting, when votes of thanks werc accorded to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company of Bingley for their kind hospitality.
This being the annual meeting of the District. the election of officers then took place. The officers due to retire were the hon. District secretary, Mr. A.. E. Marsh and Messrs. J. Ambler, P. Birkett and H. Lofthouse. of the District committee. These were all re-elected for further terms of three years. and Mr. J. Ambler was re-elected to serve on the general committee of the Association for a similar period. Miss M. Barker was obliged to retire from the committec as she will shortly be leaving the district. and Miss S. Schofield was elected to serve for the unexpired portion of Miss Barker's term of office.
The usual date for the September meeting coincides with a general meeting of the Association to be held at Ripon. Rather than move the date of the District meeting it was agreed that an effort should be made to organise an afternoon bus trip to Ripon on September 15 th and so give some additional support to the general meeting. It is hoped that as many members as possible will rally round and ensure the success of this venture.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION  Cheltenham Branch

The majestic church of Chipping Campden. bathed in sunshine, was an ideal setting for the June quarterly meeting of the Cheltenham Branch on June 23rd. It was the first Branch meeting to be held there for nearly 20 years.
It proved to be a popular choice for during the afternoon and evening more than 50 ringers visited the tower to ring on the heavy eight. Among the many visitors who came from the surrounding counties of Worcestershire, Oxfordshire and Staffordshire was P.C. W. F. Scudamore, of Winterbourne, the Association general secretary, who. with his family, was paying his first visit to the Branch since his election as general secretary earlier this year.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. B. O'Loughlin. who in an inspiring address spoke of the great Christian work performed by ringers. A special vote of thanks for allowing the use of the bells was accorded to him at the business meeting which followed tea. It was disappointing that so few Branch members were present at the business meeting. Ringing continued until about 8 oclock.

PLAIN BOB MINOR TESTS

Dear Sir,-Some weeks ago one of your correspondents wanted to know how many 720's of Plain Bob Minor there were with no 65's at backstroke. When associated with a six-bell tower I tried not to repeat a calling and I seem to have called about 50720 's with the tenor always the right way. Many years ago I made a pack of 60 cards representing the 60 leads of Plain Bob. In recent weeks I have been playing - Patience ; with them, and so far about 190 different 720's or variations have appeared with the required conditions. This does not exhaust the possibilities by any means.-Yours, etc.,

EDWIN H. LEWIS,
Lochgilphead. Argyll.

BOW BELLS APPEAL

Dear Sir,-Last March you were kind enough to refer in your columns to the appeal for the restoration of Bow Bells and St. Mary-le-Bow Church. Since that date I have reccived contributions from no less than 45 Associations totalling f125. May I. through the courtesy of your columns, express to them all our very sincere thanks. We shall keep a permanent record of those who have contributed in our Church here, and will be glad to welcome any other gifts which may be sent to us, and to create a link between this Church and all whose interest in the craft of bell ringing has led them to help restore our famous ring.-Yours, etc.,

HUGH EVAN HOPKINS.
Rector of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside.

THINK OF THE POOR SECRETARY

Dear Sir,-Having had a short experience of acting as a Guild Branch secretary, I feel that I am voicing the opinion of others who do similar work for their Guilds in organising meetings, etc.
Do ringers, I wonder, stop to think what their secretaries have to put up with organising these meetings, and in particular the difficulties in arranging teas?-if they did 1 am sure they would not be so reluctant sending their names in. Caterers find it very helpful if you can give them the exact numbers to avoid waste.
I fol that the get-together at tea once a mortri is just as important as the ringing, so I appeal to ringers to give this matter some thought and in future spend 2 d . on a post card rather than turn up and embarrass your sec-retary.-Yours faithfully.

J. L. GARNER HAYWARD.

EARLY MORNING RINGING

Dear Sir.-Whilst making every allowance for Mr. Rowe's objections to what he calls "inconsiderate ringing. he has surely chosen two very bad examples with which to illustrate his case. New Year's Eve and Christmas morning-the latter especially-have been associated with the ringing of bells for centuries.
When we go to church on Christmas morning to ring in the Festival. there are few houses in which there are not lights at 6 a.m. in the children's bedrooms. So why bring the poor children into the discussion? They are examining the contents of their stockings and the sound of the bells is a fitting accompaniment to that pleasant task.-Yours faithfully.
W. GARNER.

Dear Sir,-Of late there have been several letters in "The Ringing World regarding early morning ringing on festival days and New Year's Eve. In this village it has always been the custom to ring for early services on festivals, and we have our few critics who object to it, and would have one believe they hate the sound of bells at 6 a.m. But, let us miss one festival morning and those same people are the ones who cre ste because we didn't ring.
Owing to the closeness of a railway level crossing we do not ring in foggy weather: occasionally this has meant no ringing on New. Ycar's Eve, then our critics really "go to town' and blame us for not ringing. Therefore I would say don't take your critics seriously.

One point I would like to mention: On a ringing tour yesterday I stood near the church, and although the touch was well struck the sound of the bells all merged in together was hideous, and that same ringing at $6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. would have made any bell-lover living near the church see red. Yet that same ring of bells rung at a slower pace so that each bell was clear sounded lovely.
Therefore, to those who get undue criticism I would say. look to your striking and ring slower than normal so that each bell can be heard clearly and distinctly.

It is too easy to say: "These bells want ringing fast ': perhaps they do handle better if rung quickly, but after all let us not forget the people outside who are forced to listen to what is very often an unmusical noise.
Finally, I would like to add that circumstances alter cases, and whether or not early morning ringing is practical must depend on local reception: but clear and distinct bells are received much better than an indistinct jangle.-Yours sincercly,

Kelvedon, Essex.

ALAN R. ELLIOTT.

MR. W. E. BOX REPLIES

Dear Sir,-May I crave your indulgence yet again to say a few brief words to the gentlemen who upbraid me for my views on ringing early in the day?
Their attitude seems to me to reveal an incredible intolerance coupled with a strong tinge of mediavalism. It was, not so long ago, an immemorial custom for people to live in disgusting hovels lacking sanitation, and easy prey for frightful diseases but, as I cannot imagine either Mr. Grover or Miss Oliver advocating a return to such conditions, I fail to see why they should be so anxious to retain the atmosphere of the Middle Ages in the belfry when their efforts almost certainly only irritate the very people they are trying to attract.
I am afraid although it was certainly not my original intention to start a controversy on ecclesiastical history, that I cannot accept Mr. Grover's assertion that man's rise from barbarism to humanity is the particular monopoly of the Christian religion, for quite apart from the ancient civilisations of Egypt and Babylonia. ctc., in the pre-Christian era, my reading of history has shown me that the 'black night of the thousand years following the collapse of the Western Roman Empire in A.D. 476 was the socalled 'Age of Faith' (or, better, Age of Filth) with its accompanying cruelty, vice, superstition and ignorance, and all that when the Christian Church was absolutely supreme. Nor is the record of our own Church of England much cleaner as a little study of social conditions from 1550 to 1900 will quickly show. Let us not in seeing the mote in our brother's eye overlook the beam in our own.-Yours sincerely.

SAFFRON WALDEN'S GREAT  RINGING DAY

Dear Sir,-On p. 414 of "The Ringing World " dated June 29th, one reads: "Saffron Walden Society (Estd. 1623)-The 333rd anniversary of Great Ringing Day will be held on Saturday, June 30 th. Bells (12) available from 2.30 p.m. Service 6 p.m.-L. E. Pitstow, 27. Highfields.

I live over 50 miles away from this very pleasant Essex town with its near- 7.000 souls, but the notice was sufficient to attract me to go and listen-the 333 years, 'Great Ringing Day." 12 bells, the service and the name of Pitstow were all a draw.
1 arrived while the service was in progress. and I crept in by the west door of this beautiful church. with its inspiring tower and spire reaching. perhaps, 150 ft . There, in the lofty nave, with sunshine streaming through the windows, sat 18 people, and I guess that not all of them were or had been ringers. The preacher had undoubtedly taken trouble beforehand with his sermon-it was a good one and extremely well delivered.

The organist-not the regular one-played very nicely from the three-manual console. which is wonderfully concealed on the centre of the rood screen high above the floor. (Up there he must feel in a position of full control of everything, although unseen by 99 per cent, of the congregation, I expect.) Those 18 people sang very nicely.
The service over, the congregation turned towards the tower. I found that I did not know a single face. One of them approached me in a friendly way. I found that he came from Biggleswade (Bedfordshire), so he was roughly 30 miles from home. I was anxious to meet that Essex lady who likes to get on the tenor even if it weighs well on for two tons-see p. 409 of "The Ringing World.' June 29th, 1956. for instance-but, no luck!
I wandered round the church outside wondering if I should hear 12 rung. Presently the back eight started up (tenor behind) and soon had to stand. Then eight again, and again, always tenor behind.

So, after noticing that, as well as the sound of the bells, we got some clickety-clicks from the bell chamber-loose clapper(s), perhaps-I set out for my 50 -odd miles home, but not before I had a pleasant iwo minutes with Mr. Parish, who told me that he couldn't ring that day because he had had an accident, and showed me his name on two of the peal tablets at the base of the tower. He is a tenor ringer. and rang his first peal half-mufficd for Queen Victoria's funeral in 1901. Let's hope he will soon be fit to climb the stairs again. (If he feels a bit off-colour his looks don't pity him!)
I admit that I was not as Saffron Walden from 2.30 to 6 p.m. so 1 do not know how many ringers were there then, nor who they were, but the number I did see disappointed me, and I feel sure that the preacher and Mr. Pitstow were disappointed, too. Also, I didn't hear the sound of the front four bells at all! It was a warm, fine day, so the weather ought to have brought ringers out. I trust it was not lack of interest, but simply so many other attractions and engagements which made the party so small on this Great Ringing Day. It would be nice to know.-Yours very truly,

CLAUDE RUSH.

THE SUNDAY SERVICE CONDUCTOR

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES
It is the avowed intention of these papers to encourage the conductor to experiment with his calling, to invent his own touches, and to practise calling the bells round. It is time now to approach more closely to these aims, and the matter that must be considered first is the question of calling the bells into rounds. Until the conductor has at his command an easily remembered and easily manipulated means of getting the bells into rounds from any position he will hesitate to venture away from the welltrodden paths of musical sequence and the well-- worn touches of the text books. We must therefore now proceed to the principles governing the gathering together of the bells into their plain coursing order, and it will be necessary at the start to make some reference to the sequence of Odd and Even rows in Grandsire Triples. In Granisire Triples the rows are alternately Odd and Even, which means that, while bobs and plain leads only succeed each other, the handstroke leads of the treble are Odd and the backstroke leads are Even, because the bells are In Course. After a single has been called the reverse is the case, and all the handstroke leads of the treble are Even and the backstroke leads are Odd. The important result of all this is that when the bells are Out of Course rounds can come only at handstroke, and when the bells are In Course rounds can come only at backstroke. There are, of course, many more things dependent on, and affected by, the Odd - or Even nature of the rows in Grandsire Triples, but for the time being let the above facts concerning the coming round of the bells suffice, and let us proceed to the actual calling round.
The process is a perfectly logical one, but where it starts will depend on the position of the bells. Let us assume that the bells are nowhere near the plain course order, that 5,6 , and 7 are not coursing each other but are widely scattered. There are three stages.

1. Getting 67 together to produce a course end 000067 .
2. Getting the 5 th into line to produce a course end 000567.
3. Rotating 234 to produce 234567.

We take cach of these in order.

1. Getting 67 together. In Grandsire, as in many other methods, in order to get two bells together it is necessary to keep one of them plain hunting until the other one comes to it. Applying this principle in the present case we shall call 7 into the hunt, and then call 6 Bc fore. This will produce the position 067000 , and 6 and 7 will be in their required coursing order. (The student should prick this out on paper and satisfy himself that the procedure produces the stated result.)
We now come to Stage 2. which is not quite so simple as Stage 1 .
2. Getting the 5 th into line. This follows the general principle, and so 5 must be got into the 'hunt and left there until 6 and 7 are in the correct relative position. But 5 has to be placed in the hunt without disturbing the order of 6 and 7, and it is here that some care has to be used so that the work achieved in Stage $I$ is not undone.

The safest plan for the beginner is to call 5 into the hunt by means of a single … not by a bob. By following this rigidly the conductor can be sure of calling 5 into the hunt without disturbing 67: and though doubtless he will speedily discover the places where a bob might with advantage be used, it will be well for him to adhere to the use of the single in the early stages of experiment.

At the moment in Stage 1 when the 6th is called Before the position of the three back bells is bound to be one of the following:
$067050 \quad 567000 \quad 067500 \quad 067005$
In the first of these 567 are in their plain course order and will come to lead 6-7-5. There is therefore no need to put 5 in the hunt.
In the second, the bells are not in plain course order, but 5 is already in the hunt and so is favourably placed. It must be left where it is for a short time.
In the third and fourth contingencies the 5th is not in line with 6 and 7, nor is it in the hunt. It can be got into the hunt, nevertheless, very quickly, and the conductor must be alert and ready at this point to make a quick decision. From 067500 a single called immediately puts 5 in the hunt. From 067005 a bob would put 5 into the hunt, but as we are proposing to use only the single for this part of the work, we must allow one more lead to go by plain, watch for 5 coming down in front of the treble and then call the single.

WEDDING

MR. W. A. YATES-MISS K. I. BALLARD
The picturesque Church of St. James, Paulerspury, Northants, provided a pleasant setting on June 23 rd for the wedding of William Alfred, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Yates, of Welsh Lane, Boycott, Buckingham, and Kathleen Ivy Ballard, of Plumpton End, Paulerspury. The church itself was filled with a large number of relatives and ringing friends.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. P . Foster, wore a gown of white taffeta and lace and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Roger Keeley was best man. The service began with the singing of the hymn, 'Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, the King of Creation, with the choir leading the bride to the foot of the chancel in procession. The Rector. the Rev. J. Lewis, paid fitting tribute to both bride and bridegroom for their active church work in his brief address.
As the newly-wed couple left the church a short touch was rung on the bells by the local band, of which the bride was a member.

The reception was held in the village schoolroom. Mr. L. Flynn proposed the toast to the bride and bridegroom, to which Mr. Yates suitably replied, and the best man followed in the traditional way, toasting the bridesmaids and reading a large number of telegrams from all over the country.

Mr . and Mrs. Yates have made their new home in Dodford and plan to spend their honeymoon later in the year at Lyme Regis.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Chertsey District

For the first time since 1945, the bells of Weybridge Parish Church were available for a meeting on June 23rd. Rounds to Double Norwich were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Spencer, with Mr. H. D. Hillier at the organ.
After tea. Mr. W. Shepherd took the chair for the business meeting, in the absence of the Ringing Master, Mr. F. J. Dodson. who is in hospital. Five new members were clected from Weybridge, one from Send and one from Chobham.

As Mr. Dodson will be unable to ring for some time Mr. J. King was appointed as assistant Ringing Master for the rest of the year. The secretary said he would send the meeting's good wishes to Mr. Dodson for a speedy recovery.

In the evening, ringing was at Oatlands Park, where rounds to London was rung. E. A. H.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Yorkshire District
A very pleasant meeting was held at Bolsover on June 16 th, when members were present from Bolsover, Chesterficld, Cresswell, Handsworth, Rotherham and Thrybergh.
During the afternoon and evening the lovely light ring of eight was put to good use. With the help of the gentlemen, methods rung ranged from Plain Bob and Grandsire to Cambridge, Superlative and Yorkshire Surprise Major. Two touches of Bob Minor were rung by the ladies.
After a very substantial tea in the Church Hall, a warm welcome was extended to the Ladies' Guild by the Vicar (Rev. W. Speakman). He said that he had been trying to decide what qualifications were required to make a good lady ringer-brain, brawn, or a good figure. He finally decided on the last one!
At the business meeting four new members were elected.
It was decided to hold the next meeting on September 8th in the Leeds area.
Grateful thanks were given to the Bolsover band, and especially Mr. A. B. Cooper, for making the excellent arrangements $\quad$ E. $\mathbf{B}$.

Central District

A large gathering of members and friends met in a blaze of sunshine outside St. Mary's, Beddington, on June 30th, and eight of the ten bells were soon ringing in various methods, including Cambritge and Stedman. After a short service everyone adjourned to tackle a really tremendous tea.
At the business meeting three new members were elected, and Mrs. T. J. Lock was unanimously proposed as this District's candidate for the presidency of the Ladies' Guild. Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Curate for taking the service, to Mr. Jennings for making the arrangements and supervising the tea, and to all his willing helpers. Further ringing took place until 8 p.m., the piece de resistance being a well struck course of Grandsire Caters by ten ladies.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD  Winchester District

The quarterly meeting of the Winchester District, which was held at Stockbridge on June 30th, was an extra special occasion for it coincided with the local captain's (Mr. S. B. Carey) completion of 50 years as a ringer at Stockbridge. Many ringers came from a wide area to do him honour, and the bells were kept going under the leadership of Mr. R. Smith, Ringing Master.
The Rev. N. A. S. Tupholme, Vicar of Stockbridge, took the service and, in his address, said that Mr . Carey's record was an example all should try to copy.
Tea was held in the Town Hall, where the ringers were joined by Bishop Lang (Assistant Bishop of Winchester). the Rev. Mr. Uppington (former Vicar of Stockbridge) and other local dignitaries.

After tea, Mr. Carcy thanked everyone for turning up, and said that the tea had been donated by his sons, daughters, sons- and daughters-in-law. He spoke briefly of his career as a ringer, mentioning that he had served under seven rectors. The Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth (District chairman), Bishop Lang, the Rev. N. A. S. Tupholme and others made suitable replies.
One ringing member was elected-Mr. Forder, of Old Alresford. and one honorary memberMiss H. D. Roxburgh. Headmistress of the County High School. Winchester.
The secretary reported arrangements for the District outing, which is to be held on September 8 th.

NEWARK PARISH CHURCH
For their annual outing on June 23rd Newark Parish Church ringers decided to visit Shakespeare's country.
Leaving Newark at 8 a.m., St. Nicholas', Kenilworth ( $6,14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), was reached by 10.15 a.m., despite a long delay due to a traffic jam. The bells are rather heavy, but go reasonably well, and Minor and Doubles methods were rung, with the exception of Cambridge Surprise, which would not go, possibly due to the Ringing Master being unable to count his dodges!

Stratford-on-Avon, Holy Trinity ( $10,19 \mathrm{cwt}$.), the next tower of the day, was reached by 12 noon. Here we were greeted by the Vicar and one of the local ringers. The Vicar, who was once a curate at Newark, said he was very pleased to be able to welcome a party from Newark and that he hoped they would enjoy ringing on his bells. Grandsire and Stedman Caters followed, and the time allotted passed all too quickly, and it was with deep regret farewell was said to this fine ring of bells.

A pleasant couple of hours was then spent in Stratford, including a visit to Shottery, to see Ann Hathaway's Cottage. It was here that our Oxford friend was nearly left behind.

The Roman Catholic Church of St. Peter, Leamingten Spa ( $8,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.), with its fine, slender, very tall brick tower almost detached from the church, was also visited. Due to the bells being extremely high in the tower it sways alarmingly when the bells are rung. Here the Rev. Father came up to see us ring, saying it was the first time he had seen the bells rung up. It is recommended that visiting ringers have some practice on the third before attempting to ring the second, which due to the sway of the tower it is almost impossible to keep up.

Homeward bound via Coventry, a call was made at All Saints', Allesley ( $8,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.). A very fine eight, which perhaps we did not do full justice to, probably due to the previous ringing at Leamington and a large tea.
The last call was the ground floor ring of St. Michael's, Stoke (Coventry) ( $8,13 \mathrm{f} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Ringing here was much improved, and with the help of some of the local ringers Double Norwich was rung.

Methods rung included Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Triples and Doubles, "Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Double Court Minor and Cambridge Surprise.

Many thanks are due to the incumbents and the ringers who so kindly met us, and to Mr. F. W. Midwinter, the organiser of this pleasant day's outing.
W. L. E.

NORTH STONEHAM, HANTS

When planaing an outing several weeks in advance. it is not possible to foretell the mood of the clerk of the weather. This year he frowned upon the North Stoncham band, and it rained solidly all day. Despite this--or because of it-an enjoyable day was had with some fine ringing at Highclere, Newbury, Marlow, Denham and Windsor.

An excellent high tea was taken at Denham after the rather heavy ring there had tested the skill of many of the band, used to a light ring in the home tower. Members of the Southampton University Ringers' Association, Iogether with friends from neighbouring towers, joined with the Stoncham band, and there was no lack of response to 'catch hold.' Ringing ranged from rounds to advanced methods, with the lady members acquitting themselves with honours Grateful thanks are expressed to those tower eaptains. ringers and incumbents for their cooperation.

DARTFORD AND DISTRICT

On June 16th Dartford and District ringers chose to make a trip to Cambridge for their outing, and although the weather was far from pleasant a very good day's ringing was enjoyed by some 30 -odd ringers, who were accompanied by a few friends.
At Bishop's Stortford we were met by the Vicar and local ringers. This pleasant ring of ten was kept going from rounds to Royal without difficulty.
After lunch the afternoon's programme of three towers in Cambridge took us first to the grand twelve at Great St. Mary's, where only a short period was taken owing to the proximity of the market. Here Mr. Quinney had arranged everything for our convenience. St. Andrew's was visited with mixed feelings, but although these bells are soon to be rehung, some good touches were obtained. Good use was then made of the easy-going six at St. Benet's.
After tea a stop was made on the homeward journey at Harlow, a very good eight, which provided some of the best ringing of the day.
Methods rung ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain and Surprise Minor, Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Royal, Grandsire Triples and Caters and Kent Royal, and the final touch of the day, Cambridge Surprise.
As we understand that four parties of ringers were in Cambridge, a special vote of thanks must go to those tower secretaries who arranged the ringing so that little or no overlapping took place. This in addition to thanks to all clergy and local ringers for the use of bells and belfrics.
R. G. B.

THERE WERE 122

of our postal subscribers who last week remitted the extra postage (1s. 3d.) for the current year. We aqain thank those who kindly sent a little extra to provide for those who forgot. There is still time to remit either to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, or to the Editor, c/o 'The Ringing World, Guildford.

ELLAND, YORKS

Elland Parish Church ringers and friends spent Whit Monday very pleasantly with a coach trip from Yorkshire into Lancashire.

After a brief ring on the five bells at Skipton the route was through the delightful limestone country of the Yorkshire Dales to Hornby, with a good eight in its octagonal tower, and lunch at the Royal Oak.

The Lancashire countryside made a strong appeal and ringing took place at Ribchester, Downham and Whalley (a fine old parish church truly in keeping with its fine ring of eight bells). It was really a delightful outing.

HELMINGHAM AND DISTRICT

On June 30th 'Pipe's Pilgrims' jet coach took off at $5.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for a tour of Herts and Beds. All Saints', Edmonton, where the party was met by the Vicar (the Rev. S. W. Wright), was the first stop. At Rickmansworth the handy ring of ten was made good use of in the short time before lunch.
The fine ring at Hemel Hempstead was much appreciated as were the light bells at Totternhoe. Here a bounteous tea, organised by Mrs. Scott and her lady helpers, was thoroughly enjoyed.
Luton, with its fine ten, was a grand finish, and courses of Cambridge Royal and Stedman Caters were rung, also Yorkshire Major. Home was reached on July Ist, some 270 miles having been covered.

ST. AMBROSE, BRISTOL
The annual outing of the St. Ambrose Ringing Guild or rather the outing organised by the St. Ambrose Ringing Guild, and well supported by ringers from other Bristol Guilds, was held on June 16th, and the places visited were Yeovil, Kingston, Swanage and Evercreech. A coachload of 41 ringers and friends left St. Ambrose Church at 8 a.m., en route for Yeovil, which was reached at 10 a.m., where we were met by Tom Setter, and a very enjoyable hour was spent on this very nice ten. After enjoying a very nice lunch at the White Horse Inn, Swanage, the ringers indulged in an hour's ringing at the parish church, where we were welcomed by Mr. Lott, and then we made the short journey to Kingston for an hour on the glorious ring of eight, returning to Swanage for tea.
The weather had not behaved itself all day until now, having been a continuous downpour all day, but it improved when we had to leave Swanage at 6 p.m.; but more rain met us on the way to Evercreech, which we reached at about 8.15 p.m., and were welcomed by Harry Sanger who had everything ready. Some nice ringing was enjoyed urtil 9 p.m., when a move was made to the Bell Inn where a sumptuous supper had been prepared, to which the party did justice.
After supper the Vicar of St. Ambrose (the Rev. M. H. W. Hocking) thanked the ringers for their work during the year, and remarked how pleased he was to have the bells rung for both morning and evening service every Sunday. He also had a very pleasant duty to perform by presenting a Book of Common Prayer, with Hymns A. & M. Revised, suitably inscribed, to Mr. Charlie Baker, who had been captain of St. Ambrose tower for nine years, a position he resigned at this year's Guild meeting.
Mr. Reg Hooper, the present captain, thanked the secretary for organising the outing, and Mr. Skidmore thanked the visitors for their always willing support to these functions. On behalf of the visitors, Mr. John Jefferies thanked the St. Ambrose Guild for their welcome, and spoke of the close association that had always existed between St. Ambrose and Mangotsfield Guilds. He also thanked the incumbents and steeplekeepers for the use of the bells, with a special word of thanks to Harry Sanger.
A move was made for home at 10.30 p.m., which was reached before midnight.

NOTTINGHAM

The weather on June 23rd for the Nottingham and District ringers' outing was ideal-warm and dry, but not too hot. The first tower visited was the recently-augmented eight at Donington, which we found rather difficult to handle. During the short journey from here to Boston an excerpt from Holt's Original was rung on handbells in the coach.

At the famous Stump we much admired the fine ten, the well-kept ringing room and the view from the top of the tower. After an excellent lunch at the White Hart we enjoyed some good ringing on the easy-going eight at Sutterton. The next stop was at Spalding, where we had the best ringing of the day on the pleasant octave.

After a substantial tea the last tower of the day, Heckington, was reached ahead of schedule. In this beautiful church we had over an hour's good ringing. Methods rung during the day included Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob. Spliced. Triples, Mixed Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Little Bob.

Our thanks are due to the incumbents, to the local ringers who met us at every tower, espectally Mr. W. E. Clarke, of Boston, who arranged the lunch, to the Ringing Master for the day (Mr. F. A. Salter) and finally to the hard-working pair who arranged the whole outing, Mr, and Mrs. A. Simpson.

OBITUARY

MR. RICHARD WHITE
Mr. Richard White, the well-known bellhanger, died at his home in Appleton, -Berkshire, on June 25 th, aged 78 years. The funeral took place at Appleton on June 28th.
The service was conducted by the Rev. H. C. Joyce, Rector of Appleton, assisted by the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) and the Rev. C. F. Cross (chairman of the North Berkshire Branch of the Guild).

The village church would scarcely hold those who came from far and near to pay tribute to the memory of a dearly beloved friend. All the officers of the Oxford Diocesan Guild were there, as were those of the North Berkshire Branch, and representatives of other firms of bellhangers.

The service was simple and sincere, and after the committal a course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by W. F. Judge, W. Hibbert, F. Sharpe and A. H. Webb, on a deeptoned octave of handbells made by Richard White's father.

Afterwards a peal of $\cdot$ Grandsire Caters was rung on the tower bells. as reported in our peal columns. Mr. White's wife predeceased him by a few years, and he leaves one daughter and four sons, one of whom, Frank, will (D.V.) carry on the great bell-hanging and ringing traditions of the White family.

MR. F. G. H. MAY

Mr. Frederick George Heywood May, who died in Capetown on July 2nd, was born on January 4th, 1875, at Avening, Glos, and learned to ring there and at Cirencester, scoring his first peal at St. Michael's, Gloucester, on November 21 st, 1895 , when he rang the tenor to Grandsire Caters, Progress was rapid, for three years later he became Master of the Bristol and Gloucester Association, and followed this by being secretary until 1905.
Leaving Gloucester for Bristol, he founded there, on November 6th, 1900, the St. Nicholas' with St. Leonard's Guild, and served the following rinine years on the Central Council. By 1913 he had rung over 300 peals, his probable total being 666, mostly accomplished in the West, the last at Stroud on August 4th, 1919. He went to South Africa in 1925 as an accountant and had travelled widely in this country. His funeral was attended by members of St. Mary's, Woodstock, who also sent a wreath.

An Appreciation

A composer and noted conductor who favoured Stedman Caters, he extended Camhridge Surprise Royal to Maximus, and was in the first band to ring it. A College and also a Cumberland Youth, a member of more than ten teritorial Associations, he had conducted many 'firsts' and the last peal at St. Bride's, Fleet Street.
His friends of old were great names-Challis Winney, John Hesse, the Rev. F. E. Robinson (whom he had the unusual pleasure of correcting, and saving the peal), William Pye (the hest man on the heavy end he had ever met), John Austin (the competent and respected leader of the St. Michael's Juniors), Sidney Romans. and the brothers James (of whom he wrote • My vote would go to Edward, who was in my day a slave to mathematics ').
Nothing gave him greater pleasure in recent vears than receiving from Mr. Croft, of Southampton, his long-lost copy of 'Clavis'; this was made possible by Mr. Spencer, a Merchant Navy ringer. Some years ago he had patented a perpetual calendar.
Always a keen follower of English cricket. especially the fortunes of Gloucestershire and his nephew, Peter May, he remembered (with the Rev. F. LI. Edwards) W. G. Grace, (not the least for the great doctor's lent language).
Mr. May kept meticulous records of his peals, and I hope his first books which are in England will not be lost to the Exercise. A. V.S.

STEDMAN CINQUES ON HANDBELLS

THE article by J. F.S. on the above subject clearly shows that peals of Stedman Cinques 'in hand' have not been as plentiful since the first peal was rung 102 years ago, and this is borne out by the fact that 30 years elapsed between the second and third peals. After 1888 Birmingham called a halt until 1916, but during the early years of this century the three brothers Pye, William, Ernest and George, together with Bertram Prewett and a 9-10 ringer, rang peals of Stedman Caters ' in hand,' mostly in the City of London.

In March, 1910, the writer was invited by Arthur T. King, president of the Middlesex Association, to take part in a peal at his office in Old Jewry, and after a peal of Stedman Caters it was plain to see that when Ernest Pye was available a peal of Cinques was possible. The date of April 18th was fixed for the attempt at the same meeting place and the outcome of this meeting resulted in the writer receiving the congratulations of the band and three umpires on his first of Cinques 'in hand.' It was then a secret ambition arose within my mind, that of ringing each of the six pairs to a peal of Stedman Cinques, yet it was not to be, for one pair never came my way and 11-12 became the only pair which eluded me for a peal.

From 1910 to 1915 quite a number of peals in this method were scored in London and are recorded as examples of skill in the art of handbell ringing when double-handed peals began to increase. Perhaps the two best remembered peals of Stedman Cinques in which the writer took part was the 6,063 on March 22nd, 1913, and a short course composition on May 4th, 1914. The 6,063 is, strangely enough, still the longest length 'in hand 'and has stood for 43 years. Those who rang this peal with me have passed on, but their names will not easily be forgotten; they are William Pye, Ernest Pye, George Pye, Bertram Prewett and Alf Grimes. One of the two umpires is still with us, that well-known veteran Reuben Sanders.

The short-course peal was a 5,049 consisting of 69 courses instead of the usual 38 , and was the first to be rung on handbells. It was rung by the same band at the same meeting place and the same rate of striking prevailed as in the previous mentioned peal, yet there was a remarkable difference in the composition. Instead of the calls being made chiefly by the front bells, the back bells were called upon to make plenty of bobs, which produced a remarkable difference from the set courses usually rung. Short course peals of Stedman Cinques 'in hand ' have been rare events, and it is hardly to be wondered at seeing that plenty of concentration is needed for nearly $3 \frac{1}{2}$ hours, yet we were all conscious when the peal ended that something new in a composition had produced many changes seldom heard in a twelve-bell peal, and it was a pity that more umpires and witnesses could not be present to testify something out of the ordinary in double-handed Stedman Cinques.

A few months after the death of Queen Victoria in 1901 the writer heard a touch of Stedman Cinques 'in hand" performed by members of the St. Stephen's, Westminster, band of handbell ringers, who were highly skilled both in tower- and handbell ringing, and such a performance created a lasting impression on his mind, for such results were the reward of constant practice and good teamwork. At that time there were two bands in Westminster who practised the same evening and it sometimes happened that members of St. Margaret's and St. Stephen's bands paid visits to one another at the meeting places after tower-bell practice, and this was the means of cementing many friendships, having chats together, also sitting round for touches on handbells, thus creating opportunities for those who desired to rise in the realm of handbell ringing.
J. F. S. gave us a good review of Birmingham's noble part in the history of this subject since the two earliest peals performed in London, and one can rightly say that Brum ' is known as the producer of many good things over a number of years, among them being Stedman Cinques. Probably I have guessed the identity of J. F. S. aright when I assume he has divided a busy life both in Birmingham and London and is still happy to take a pair of handbells whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Many pages in the book, 'Stedman,' are devoted to history, but very little space is devoted to Cinques on handbells, and I trust a little added information will be of interest.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

BRAINTREE, ESSEX

Kent was visited this year by the Braintree St. Michael's Guild for the annual outing on June 16 th. On arriving at Bromley, we were met by that veteran, Mr. 1. Emery; we very much enjoyed the lovely ring at this church. Miss D. Colegate welcomed the party at Sevenoaks, which was the next stop after lunch. Then on to Tonbridge, where we were met by Mr. White, after which we went to Tunbridge Wells, where Mr. B. Collinson greeted us.
The journey was resumed after a break for tea, and at Godstone the Rector not only met the party, but joined in the ringing.
Methods ruag during the day ranged from Plain Bob Major to London and Bristol Surprise. Home was reached at approximately 11.30 p.m, and, although it had been wet all day, a most enjoyable day's ringing had been provided. Special thanks are due to Mr. Martin, of Bromley, Miss D. Colgate and Mr. B. Collinson, who gave me so much help in making arrangements.

COLESHILL, WARWICKSHIRE

On June 23rd, Coleshill ringers, together with ingers from Handsworth, Kingsbury, Castle Bromwich and Nottingham, spent an enjoyable day touring the Cotswolds; there was ringing at five churches.
Broadway was the first stop. The 'Old Church' was eventually found some distance down the lane, and good use was made of the six bells. Painswick, with the church standing among the yew trees, was the next place to be visited, and after a ring here the party met for lunch. The towns visited in the afternoon were Bibury and Shipton-under-Wychwood, where tea was also arranged. Finally, after a good hour's singing at Chipping Norton, the party returned home.

MAULDEN, BEDS.

Joined by friends from the Biggleswade and neighbouring districts, Maulden, Beds., ringers visited the Weald of Kent for their annual outing. The pleasing Gillett 8 ( 20 cwt .) at Wrotham, below the North Downs, were first, and a good course of London Major was rung. Maidstone traffic made us a little late at Wye. near Ashford, but this lovely old Lester and Pack 8 ( $20 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in D) were put to good use, including an excellent course of Superlative, Their tone reminded some of certain famous Somerset peals of similar weight.
Fortified by a satisfying lunch at Ashford, we tackled Kent's heaviest eight at Tenterden ( 30 cwt . in D flat). Ringing was not so balanced on these, but, then, they are no playthings, and need time to get accustomed to them, for they sound very impressive when rung in measured, even fashion. A journey through some of the most heautiful wooded and orchard country of the High Weald brought us to the musical eight ( 19 cwt .) at Horsmonden, recently augmented from a fine six, where the keen locals, the Lambert brothers, met us and took part in Bristol. There is a remarkably low ringing chamber ceiling, but it does not seem to interfere with the handling.

We ate to repletion at nearby Goudhurst before hastening to the last tower, the Annunciation, Chislehurst ( $8,20 \mathrm{cwt}$., Taylor's, which are a ringer's delight in tone and 'go." though much bricked in for the outside listemer). We opened here with an immaculate course of Yorkshire and ended with a very good lower-in-peal. So ended a most enjoyable day, with some of the best ringing we could remember on an outing and on good hells. Thanks are due to all incumbents and local ringers who accommodated us and to Ron Sharp for his excellent arrangements. D. P. J.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL

The Cathedral company, together with friends from All Saints' and St. Marie's, left Sheffield at 8.15 on Saturday, June 30th, the first stop being Melton Mowbray. After a short delay whilst a wedding was in progress, good use was made of the ten bells, which were already raised. After a short run to Loughborough, the next item was a substantial lunch.
The party was then conducted round Messrs. J. Taylor's bell foundry by Mr. C. Harrison, who explained the various processes and answered a number of questions. Clearly the average person little realises the vast amount of experience, technical knowledge and craftsman's skill that goes into the making of a ring of bells. A 50 cwt . bell, hung to be mechanically swung, as well as to give a pre-determined series of chimes, was an interesting showpiece. The foundry campanile was the next item of interest, and, after a little practice, Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters were accomplished, much to the delight of those taking part. on these ultra-light bells. The Parish Church was then visited and an hour's ringing here very much enjoyed.
The next stop was Grantham, and after tea the magnificent tower, crowned with its beautiful spire, 280 ft ., was visited. The ten bells here (tenor 32 cwt .) are really first class, and all too soon the time passed and a day's ringing finished with lowering them in peal Methods rung included Plain and Little Bob Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters and Double Norwich, etc. The company tender their thanks to the tower keepers and Mr. C. Harrison and Messrs. Taylor's.
H. O. C.

MARSHAM, NORFOLK

On Saturday, June 30th, the Marsham ringers, accompanied by ringing friends from Aylsham and Cromer, took their annual outing.
Our Rector and Association President, the Rev. H. Lillingston, gave us a surprise by turning up in a brand new Austin car, which apparently had such an effect on the Secretary that he missed the turn to our first tower, Bergh-Apton (6), causing a late arrival and a frantic search for the Rectory to obtain the key. However, all eventually managed to squecze into the quaint ringing chamber ( 17 adults, one infant and a dog), and, after shutting ourselves in. we managed to give everyone a ring.

Next stop was Loddon; here Mr. Barrett had kindly arranged for Mr. Copeland to meet us, and we enjoyed some touches of Bob Maior, Oxford. Treble Bob and rounds for beginners on this excellent eight
After a pienic lunch at a roadside inn, which entailed struggles with a Primus stove to heat the infant's meal, we finally made our way to Beccles, where we were welcomed by Mr. Goate, who had the bells all ready for us. Everyone enjoyed this grand ten, and courses of Bob Major, Stedman Triples and Bob Royal, also rounds, were rung. Some of the party visited the church and inspected the quaint old ringer's jug, which now has a home there instead of in the tower.

Ringing at Pakefield (8), our next tower, was certainly below standard, due, we imagine, to waiting for the local band to finish some good ringing for a wedding and also to being a changc from the heavier bells at Beccles. An excellent tea was taken at the pleasant restaurant overlooking Oulton Broad, and after a stroll by the sea we proceeded to St. Margaret's, Lowestoft, where two local ringers met us, and some good touches of Kent and Bob Major were brought romed.

Here our Cromer friends left for home and we, at the special request of the Rector, went on to Catfield (5) to try out some Doubles methods. We found the very large ropes and bad 'go' of the tenor did not assist us, but we had a fine demonstration by the Rector on how to miss one's sally, and W.M. nearly collapsed amongst the choir surplices.
However, home was finally reached about 10 p.m. after a most enjoyable day. We wish to thank all incumbents and local ringers for their kind assistance.
H. F. C.

NOITINGHAM DISTRICT

A coach, loaded with ringers from Nottingham and district, set out at 7.45 a.m. on June 23 rd to explore part of the neighbouring and friendly kingdom of Lincolnshire.
We stopped for an al fresco breakfast beside a field of sugar beet, making the writer feel really at home; then on to our first call at Donington. Here Mr. Cyril Wander unlocked doors and introduced us to the belfry. Mr F. A. Salter, our Ringing Master for the day, took charge, and soon the eight were going to various Triples and Major methods. We did not really settle down here, neither did the weathercock!
At St. Botolph's, Boston, with its famous 'Stump,' containing a lovely ring of ten bells, Mr. W. E. Clarke met us and showed us the ropes. We also have to thank Mr. Clarke for arranging a very good lunch and for making plans for our ringing at Sutterton in the afternoon. Good use was made of the eight bells here, while some members went to meet the Rector at his Garden Feto beyond the church.
At Spalding. where Miss Lawson, the verger, was busy pulling up the bells for us, we enjoyed touches of Double Norwich and Spliced Triples. Tea at the Greyhound and then a ride to Heckington. Mr. Dixon was waiting for us and we spent a most enjoyable hour ringing on this lovely eight. Home was reached safely and happily after various adventures not really connected with ringing!
The grateful thanks of the party are due to all those who met us, to the clergy, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Simpson, who organised the trip so efficiently C. W. T.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Dorchester Branch Meeting

Milton Abbey was the scene of the quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch. The $&$ bells were rung prior to the Guild service at 11 oclock, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. J. Collis. In his address the Yicar spoke on the history of bells from the fith century until the present day. He said that to-day there are too many silent bells.
Tea was served at the Dale tea gardens and the business meeting which followed was conducted by the Rev. A. W. Wheeler, Vicar of Frampton, in the unavoidable absence of both the Chairman, Canon A. W. Markby, and the Vice-Chairman, the Rev. S. P. Roweroft.
It was suggested that the next meeting be held at Maiden Newton on August 18th. subject to confirmation by the Rector, and that a by-meeting be held at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on September 15th. Branch practices were suggested for Litton Cheney, July 28th; Charminster, August 11th; and St. Peter's, Dorchester, August 25th.
New members accepted were Mr. J. James (Upwey), Miss J. Tuffin and Mr. C. Bongard (St. Peter's, Dorchester).

The Chairman thanked all who had heiped to make the meeting a success and the Rev. C. J. Collis suitably replied.

Ringing continued throughout the evening under the direction of the-Ringing Master.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting and six-bell contest were held at Longwood on June 30th.

Four teams rang in the competition, and the judge, Mr. H. Nutt, gave his decision as follows: Liversedge, 69 faults; Meltham, 128 faults; Friezland, rang-out; mixed band, 89 faults. No. 1 company, Liversedge, were the winners.

At the annual meeting, held afterwards, a proposition to donate 2 guineas to the Bow Bells Appeal Fund was carried.

The balance sheet showed a gain in the funds of $£ 113 \mathrm{~s}$. $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$., to everybody's satisfaction.

The officers were re-elected en bloc, and a resolution to the effect that the secretary write to all tower secretaries whose members are in arrears with their subscriptions was passed by the meeting.

Finally, members returned to the tower for further touches of Major and Minor and rounds for the learners.

Weston Favell, Northants, Ringers' Outing

A party of 14 , including Mr. B. S. Cope and Mr. P. I. Chapman, visited some littleknown towers in Leicestershire, the journey being made by private cars. At the first tower, Saddington (5), the party was augmented by Mr. H. Millward (Foxton) and Mr. D. Griffin (Oxendon).

Other towers visited were Arnesby (5), tricky bells with no guides to the long pull; Willoughby Waterleys, a lighter five with two trebles a bit too much for the juniors; Peatling Parva (5) and Spratton (5), the best bells of the day.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Sussex Division

Saturday. June 30th, was the date suggested for the meeting of the Sussex Division to be held at Aldrington, but the sun must have been the reason for the lack of the ringers.

Ringing commenced at 3.30 p.m., and at 5 p.m. an enjoyable tea was served in the Scouts' Hall. Thanks were extended to the Vicar for the use of the bells, Mrs. Mepham and her helpers for the tea, and Messrs. H. and S. Brown for making the necessary arrangements.
A short meeting was held, at which three new members were elected. Mention was made of the quarter peal attempted at Buxted on June 9 th-the nearest Saturday of the first year of the re-formation of the Sussex Division.
During the day 12 methods were rung, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Minor. It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Bexhill on September 29th.
K. M. Y.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting of the Society was held at Sherburn-in-Elmet on June 30th. Ringing in the standard methods took place on these recently rehung bells during the afternoon and evening. The attendance was not as large as usual, but 23 members and friends, including visitors from Thorne and York, had tea together in the Village Hall, where cups of tea had been provided by members of the local band.

The business meeting was held later in the tower, at which the thanks of the Society were conveyed to all concerned with the local arrangements for the meeting.

The next meeting will be held at Calverley on July 28th.

ACTIVITIES IN EAST DEVON

On the afternoon of June 7th a party of East Devon ringers had a trip in the Tiverton area and rang at Holcombe Rogus ( 6 , tenor 17 cwt .), Burlescombe ( 6, tenor 17 cwt .), Ashbrittle ( 6 , tenor 8 cwt .), Bampton ( 6, tenor $15 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), Stoodleigh ( 6 , tenor 9 cwt.), Washfield ( 6 , tenor $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), Calverleigh ( 6, tenor $5 \frac{1}{\frac{1}{2}} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob.
An evening trip into Dorset was arranged on June 23rd. Ringing took place at Broadwindsor ( 6 , tenor $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), recently rehung, and now a lovely ring, Stoke Abbot ( 5 , tenor $14 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.) and Netherbury ( 6, tenor 20 cwt.). The countryside was looking at its best, but on the run home a violent thunderstorm was experienced.

Remittances to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones,

Mr. Pat Chapman, of Kettering, Northants, who recently spent a weekend in Surrey, had an unfortunate experience at Bletchingley. An attempt for a peal of Yorkshire was terminated after ten minutes' ringing through the seventh clapper staple losing its nut. On going up to investigate, Pat stood on the belfry floor, not realising it was only plasterboard, and immediately fell through to the clock room-a drop of some 12 feet! Fortunately his massive figure-he weighs 15 stone -saved him from serious injury, and he only sustained some nasty bruises. He was soon ringing again at Fairwarp, and taking part in a peal at Rotherfield the next day.

Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen rang his 100 th peal with one of his former pupils, Miss Hilda G. Snowden, at Bocking on June 30th.

Miss Marie R. Cross is the new hon. general secretary of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. At the Guild Festival on Saturday, Mr. T. Trollope. of Oxford. now 96 . who is a foundation member of the Guild, was elected a vice-president.

The centenary of 'The Rochdale Observer' has been honoured by a peal. This peal, which was rung at East Crompton, enabled Mr . Stephen Ll. Parry to complete Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus. We hope when the s0th year of the founding of 'The Ringing World is reached in 1961 there will be a great rejoicing.
It is interesting to recall in connection with the Railwaymen's Guild that in 1898 all the ringers at Christ Church, Crewe, worked in Crewe Locomotive Works. The only survivors of that band are Mr. J. Simon and Mr. A. Crawley. Christ Church has always been known as the Railwaymen's Church, and at one time Mr. C. J. Bowen-Coope, chief mechanical engineer and locomotive superintendent, L.N.W.R., was nut only a regular ringer there but also president of the Chester Guild.

 compliment to the Rev. R. P. and Mrs. Farrow included six ringers who had rung peals with him when he was Rector of this church. The conductor, Mr. Alfred Ballard, was one of the many he taught to handle a bell.We are very sorry to learn that Mr. C. Ernest Turner has had to return to hospital.
A peal of Minor in seven methods, silent and non-conducted, was rung at Cavendish. Suffolk. Congratulations to all concerned.
Ten verses for a footnote to a wonderful performance of A.P.C.'s. Thank you, 'your Riverence,' but surely this was not his first in the method? Thus saith George Gilbert.

Keele bells have now been removed to the Loughborough Foundry for refitting and retuning, and are expected to be restored to the tower during the autumn.
The band of All Saints'. Poplar, has been reformed with a range in both age and ability. All visitors are welcome although the standard is only rounds. Practice night will be Tuesday, though this will be slightly irregular until October.
Sgt. F. E. Roberts, 10 Air Formation Signals Regt., Sergeants' Mess, R.A.F. Station, Goch, B.F.P.O. 43, writes that it would be a pleasure to meet any ringers in the R.A.F. passing through this transit camp on the Dutch-German border. With enough notice they might be able to arrange a handbell session
When the Bishop of New York (the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B, Donegan. D.D.) preached at Haslemere, Surrey, Church on Sunday, he was most interested in the bells and the way they were rung for the service. This was his first visit to a country tower in England. On other occasions he has been to St. Paul's or Westminster where the ringers cannot be seen in action.

Presentation to Mr. F. W. Rogers

TN spite of rather overcast weather in the morning, over 100 ringers gathered together at Ryde, Isle of Wight, on the occasion of the annual general meeting of the above Guild on July 7th.

The bells of Ryde itself were available, together with other churches on the island, and several ringers, equipped with their own means of transport, took the opportunity of making a tour of the island's towers.

The service was held at All Saints' Church, conducted by the Rev. R. H. Bassett, with the address by the Rural Dean of the Isle of Wight (Canon A. Cory). During tea a pleasant ceremony took place. The Archdeacon rose to say he had been pressed into service to make a presentation on behalf of the Guild to Mr. F. W. Rogers in appreciation of his (Mr. Rogers') 25 years' service as general secretary (1930-1955). The presentation took the form of a model bell. suitably inscribed, and mounted in a small frame. With this, the Rural Dean also presented Mr . Rogers with a pen and pencil set and a cheque for £7. Mr. Rogers was taken completely by surprise, but thanked the members for their gesture and said they 'shouldn't have done it.'

Shortly afterwards, the business part of the meeting commenced, with the Master (Mr. F. W. Rogers) in the chair, supported by the hon. general secretary (Mr. J. A. S. King) and the hon. general treasurer (Mr. R. A. Reed). A letter of apology for non-attendance was read out from Mr. G. Pullinger, vice-president, due to his wife's illness. He mentioned that this was only the second time he had missed a meeting since 1918.

The treasurer gave a broad outline of the accounts and balance sheets. He said the receipts from the Districts were a bit up. There was an increase in the year's working of $£ 12$ whilst the trading account showed a profit of $£ 516 \mathrm{~s}$.

Mr. C. H. Kippin, one of the Guild's Central Council representatives, gave a brief and amusing account of the recent Central Council meeting.

All the officers were re-elected.

FIFTY YEARS' MEMBERSHIP - A

 RECOGNITIONA recommendation by the Executive Committee that an addition to rule be made instructing the general treasurer to close his accounts on February 28th was accepted by the meeting. Another recommendation by the Exesutive Committee, that 20 per cent. of the surplus on a year's working be put into the Special Purposes Fund, was also accepted. It was also decided to accept, after modification, a proposition from the Andover District that all members who had given 50 years' membership to the Guild should automatically become life members without further payment.

Four appeals for financial assistance towards the cost of bell restorations were heard by the meeting. They came from Swanmore, Cheriton and North Stoneham-each of which was granted five guineas-and from Bow Bells, to which a token grant of one guinea was made.

It was decided to hold the 1957 annual meeting at Bournemouth on the first Saturday in July.
Mr. York-Bramble gave a brief description of a 'College of Campanology' which, he said, had been founded at Portsmouth. A number of eminent ringers had been approached seeking their support, and anyone interested either as students or instructors were invited to communicate with the Registrar of Portsmouth University.

The Master then rose to propose a vote of thanks to Mr. Bailey and Mrs. Guy, who had helped in the local arrangements. to Canon $\mathbf{A}$ Cory and the Vicar (Rev. R. H. Bassett) and other incumbents who had granted the use of their bells, to the Friends of St. John, for the catering arrangements, and to the organist; after which he declared the meeting closed.

MR. BRUCE ROGERS - MISS SHIRLEY STEVENSON

It was something of a ringers' occasion when Mr. Bruce Rogers, of the St. Peter's, Bournemouth, Company of Ringers, married Miss Shirley Stevenson, of Highcliffe-on-Sea, Hants, at St. Peter's Church on July 7th. The service was fully choral, and there were many ringers in the belfry ready to ring out the wedding bells at the conclusion of the ceremony.
The Vicar, Canon A. L. E. Williams, officiated at the service. and the organist was Mr. Andrew Pearmain, a former colleague of the bridegroom in St. Peter's belfry, but now a chorister in St. Paul's Cathedral choir. Mr. John V. Davis, also a member of St. Peter's ringers, was best man, and the bride was attended by Miss Ann Cowley and Miss Binkie Brudenell as bridesmaids. She was given away by her father, Mr. Duncan Stevenson, O.B.E.

The reception, held at the Carlton Hotel, was attended by over 100 guests, including Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cartwright, of Selly Oak, Birmingham, and members of St. Peter's Company.

The couple were given a rather boisterous send-off from the hotel, which was witnessed by scores of holiday-makers making their way homewards from the cliffs and beach. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rogers are spending a honeymoon in Jersey and will restde in London.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Festival

In spite of indifferent weather and small attendance, a very good annual meeting was held at Sketty, Swansea, on Saturday, June 30th.
The president, the Rt. Rev. Dr. Glynn Simon, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, gave an account of the ringing throughout the diocese. It is very pleasing, he said, to see the efforts made to get the bells rung for Sunday services. He was particularly interested in the young band of ringers at Devynock. Brecon. 'We must serve these young ringers, and everything should be done to keep them interested in the Art. I know personally how difficult it is to be able to ring a bell,' he said. It is hoped that Cefn bells would be ringing again very soon.

An offer had been made for the six bells at Abergwesyn, but the Bishop had hoped that the bells would have been bought by the Parish Church of Brynmawr. It was still not too late for the $n$ to do this.
After a great deal of discussion, the 'Ringing Competition ' may be revived in 1957.

A splendid tea was served in the Stuart Hall, for which the local bellringers were warmly thanked.
At the afternoon service the Vicar. the Rev. H. C. Williams, gave an interesting address on 'Service to the Church." and he said enthusiasm of the young members often turned to apathy, and in the end staying away from the church.
The business meeting was presided over by the Bishop-all the officers were re-elected, with the exception of the Master, and Mr. S. Edwards. of Talgarth, was elected to this office.
The 1957 annual festival is to be held at New Radnor.

ON TOUR IN SOMERSET

0N Saturday, June 16th, a party of old and new ringing friends met at Yeovil for the start of a ringing week in Somerset. Mr. Tom Setter was waiting to greet us at St. John's Church, and soon, with two local lads standing in with us. the music of Stedman Caters was rolling forth from these grand bells. Two of the back-enders, in an effort to preserve their hands from blisters, commenced the peal with chamois leather covers attached to their backropes, but the string holding these soon failed and the covers ended up on the floor, much to the amusement of the band. The peal attempt ended abruptly after some two-and-a-half hours at a moment which coincided with the opening of a nearby hostelry, where several local ringers joined us.

Our party then journeyed to Glastonbury, where at the Crown Hotel we were to make our headquarters for the week. Without handbells for the first evenings, we were delighted to find a piano in the lounge, on which Frank Price gave us a rendering of several popular classics, and also an excellent course of Little Bob Maximus. at 28 to the minute.

WRINGTON'S HOSPITALITY

Early on Sunday morning we drove to Wells for service ringing at St . Cuthbert's, where the resident ringers very kindly handed over the tower to us. which enabled us to ring a course of Yorkshire Major and three courses of Stedman Triples on this fine eight. After lunch, we rang for Evensong at Wells Cathedral, with Bob Royal and Stedman Caters as the methods in this heavy ring. It was here that we were joined by Bill and Hilda Kingcott, who kindly took us back to Wrington for tea. Ringing for evening service commenced at 5 p.m. and with an hour-and-a-half's ringing, we rang a course of Cambridge Roval. followed by Grandsire, Stedman and Erin Caters. An evening with handbells and supper concluded a delightful day's visit. We made our way back to headquarters via a crosscountry route, which at times had us steaming a circular course, and when it had been noted that we were passing through West Harptree for the second time, it was decided that Roger's navigator's badge should be withdrawn.
Monday's ringing commenced at Frome, where we received a warm welcome from Miss Eunice Overend, who joined in the ringing. Yorkshire. Little Bob. Double Norwich and Stedman sounded well on these weighty bells. Beckington was our next tower for a peal attempt. and Plain Bob Major came successfully home after ? hours 53 minutes.
The chamois leather blister-preventers, which had, on this occasion, been secured to the ropes with boot-laces, lasted for an even shorter period of time. and with whip-like cracks the covers themselves broke off. Needless to say, they were abandoned for the rest of the week.
On Tuesday morning. an hour's ringing at Cheddar was enjoyed. Mr. Small, the tower secretary. kindly left his work to meet us and join us for Erin Triples. Then on to Banwell, for an attempt at Cambridge Major on these fine bells. an attempt which came to grief after 50 minutes" good ringing. Before lowering the bells, we rang some Spliced Cambridge and Triples, and then journeyed on to Bath to join the organiser's youthful band at Twerton-onAvon for practice.

QUALITY BUT NO PEAL

The next morning, the journey to Bridgwater was via Street, where we called in to borrow a set of handbelis from Mr. Billy Marsh, the secretary of the Glaston Branch. The noble eight at St. Mary's, Bridgwater, were rung to a variety of methods, and it gave us great pleasure to meet Canon B. F. Sheppard, who stayed to ring a course of Double Norwich with us. The afternoon peal attempt was at Drayton, where the quality of the Stedman Triples evoked favourable comment from our London Stedman expert, but unfortunately the bells had to be brought round after two-and-a-half hours owing to a change-course.

Thursday saw the party at Dunster in the morning, visiting the fine parish church, which is kept in spotless condition. One wishes that all our churches had such devoted carctakers. The Cloister Garden. laid in memory of the fallen of two World Wars, delighted the rosarian of the party. The afternoon peal attempt was at Minehead. where we rang Stedman Caters in 3 hours and 16 minutes on this melodious ten. The members of the band wish to record the peal as a compliment to Mr. Jack Pugsley, the Ringing Master of the Dunster Branch, and 83 years young, who was recently elceted an honorary life member of the Diocesan Association for his outstanding services to ringing over the past 65 years. Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Thorne met the band out of the tower and took us to their local club to quench our thirst in the most appropriate manner. Roger and Dick took the opportunity of having an extra pint to celebrate their 25 th peal together.

THE SETTLEMENT OF A BET
Our homeward journey was via Taunton, where we stopped at St. Mary's for a touch of Stedman Cinques, with the help of Arthur Reed and Bill Gigg. A friendly get-together at the Staplegrove Inn was started by George Coles buying pints for all the Minehead peal band in settlement of a little bet. It was at that moment that it was realised that the Welsh member of our party was missing, and Father William was hastily despatched back into Taunton to collect him. Whilst in the Taunton area, it was our privilege to borrow the late James Hunt's famous handbells, on which was rung the record length of Stedman Caters, conducted by Alfred H. Pulling, details of the performance being engraved on the tenor.
On Friday morning. an hour's ringing at Street included London Major and Mike Moreton's new method, Camden Treble Bob Triples, after which we went on to Mark to score Double Norwich Major as our final peal of the week. Arriving back in Glastonbury, we were just in time for a quick ring at St. John's, before a dinner and social evening at which we were joined by Mr. Bill Marsh.
Our sincere thanks go to all those who contributed towards making our week a success, especially all incumbents and towerkeepers. We were particularly pleased with Mr. R. O. Fry's organising ability for a ringing programme where the emphasis was on the quality of striking in comparatively simple methods. rather than the gaining of peals.

A RINGING DAY IN THREE COUNTIES

A small party of young ringers, drawn from Crayford, Kent, St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, Little Aston, and Lichfield Cathedral, Staffs, spent May 5 th visiting some 5 - and 6 -bell towers in Shropshire, Worcestershire and Warwickshire. Means of transport was provided by a car and motor-bicycles.

The pleasant village of Sheriff-Hales, with its black and white cottages, was our first stop. Here we found a good going six with a tenor of 9 cwt . in A flat, housed in a tower rebuilt in 1721.

A road through fine scenery and stretches of woodland along the Severn Valley brought us to Quat Malvern. This church, dedicated to St. Andrew, possesses a Norman font, a north chapel over 600 years old, and a 13th century priest $s$ doorway. However, the tower is more modern. being brick built with round louvres. It contains a good six, all cast by A. Rudhall in 1700 .

Nearby Alverley has a churchyard surrounded by massive walls, together with a wall-stile alongside the lych gate. The foundations of the tower of St. Mary's Church are Norman, but the rest is of a later period. The approach to the ringing room is up a tall steel spiral stairway, and here we found a nicely kept set of handbells. The six tower bells are not too easy to handle, although the tenor is only 11 cwt . in G., and were cast in 1779 by T. Rudhall.

After taking the road through Kidderminster, where we had lunch, and Worcester, we arrived at Stoulton. The church is dedicated to St. Edmund, King and Martyr, and it contains a modern six, excellent in every way, with a tenor of $7 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. in B flat. St. Michael's Church, Great Comberton, has a 13th century tower doorway, a 15 th century window above, a $600-$ year-old font, and two Jacobean chairs. The bells, however. although unringable until very recently, have now had the treble recast and the rest rehung with new fittings by J. Taylor and Co. They have done a good job, although it is a pity the noise could not be lessened in the ringing room.
The next bells we rang had also had a recent overhaul-the six at St. Peter's, Wellesbourne Hastings. Here yet another excellent job had been accomplished, and they are now all that could be desired. They were a ring of six by H . Bagley in 1681, with a tenor of approximately $9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.
In contrast, the last place to be visited for the day has a fund in operation for the restoration of the five bells, with perhaps the addition of a sixth. The parish church of Studley lies some distance away from the village, together with an old gabled house by the banks of the River Arrow. The church is 700 years old, but to ringers the most interesting feature lies in the fact that the bells are hung in a straight line and rung from a bridge-like affair suspended above the vestry behind the organ. These bells are not fit for bands to visit regularly or to be rung for any length of time, but the Vicar kindly gave us permission to ring them for a short while. The tone for a ring of five cast in 1688 by M. Bagley is very good, but rehanging is long overdue.
Home was reached at about midnight after a very enjoyable day, which could not have been possible but for the co-operation of the various church officials and incumbents.

BERWICK-UPON-TWEED'S MASTER RINGER

Dear Sir,-During the course of a recent business journey in the north of England I was enabled, through the courtesy of Mr. C. Manderson, the Master Bell Ringer of the town, to inspect the ring of eight bells (tenor 21 cwt .) hung in the bell tower of the Town Hall, Ber-wick-upon-Tweed.

These bells are the most northerly ring in the country, being approximately only two miles from the Scottish border, 335 miles from London (by road) and 12 miles from the nearest ring at St. Aidan's, Bamburgh (8).

Mr. Manderson was unaware of the exact date these bells were hung for ringing, but probably early in the present century the present oak frame and fittings were installed. This now is very dilapidated owing to the action of the weather and woodworm. Several of the wheels are broken, and altogether the services of the bell hangers are badly needed here.

The bells were sounded up to a few years ago by means of chiming hammers, but this apparatus is now out of order, 'clocking ' being done at present by means of ropes tied to the clappers.

There is no record of any peals having been rung on these bells or of even a short touch, in fact the only record of any description in the ringing room is a photograph of the group of ringers who rang in 1911 for the Coronation of King George $V$ and Queen Mary. This photograph shows eight ringers, of which Mr. Manderson is the youngest, grouped round the Master Bell Ringer of that time, Mr. George Payne, the latter complete with uniform and tall silk hat ; but there are no details as to what method was rung on that occasion, and Mr. Manderson confessed that he could not now recollect any details.
The office of 'Master Bell Ringer' must be peculiar to this ancient town of Berwick-uponTweed, certainly I know of no other place in the six northern counties where there is one. The holder of this office is elected by the Town Council and receives a yearly honorarium. He is supplied with a uniform consisting of a tall silk hat, a buff-coloured coat with brass buttons, a pair of navy blue trousers, and a pair of black boots, in which he is expected to turn out at most civic functions. Mr. Manderson told me with pride that it was his duty to walk immediately behind the Mayor, carrying the town's wreath to the war memorial on Remembrance Sunday.

His ringing duties consist of ringing the curfew for a quarter-of-an-hour every evening, ringing before every Town Council and committee meeting, and twice on Sundays for 25 minutes before church services. Incidentally, none of the churches in this town have more than one bell, and these are sounded for five minutes before service time, after the Town Hall bells cease.
The Town Hall itself was in the process of being renovated and redecorated in preparation for the forthcoming visit of H.M. the Queen. It is a great pity that these bells are not in better ringing order so that they could add their music to the general rejoicing on this special occasion-the first time for many years that a reigning monarch has visited this historic old town.

I trust your readers will find some little interest in the foregoing, and my thanks are due to Mr. Manderson for his knidness and pleasant courtesy on the occasion of my visit.Yours sincerely,

> THOMAS OGDEN.

CAMELEOUS HUMPS

Dear Sir,-The indignant correspondence, which has resulted from some, apparently misguided, lady's endeavours to describe the presence of belles in the belfry through an article published recently in 'The Ringing World,' has made it alarmingly plain that as ringers probe further into the mysteries of rope and wheel and the latent possibilities of Surprises and Delights, so the blank stupor which overcomes their physical features infects their inner souls. Thus it is to their detriment that, in attaining their heart's desire in negotiating Double Norwich Court Bob Major, they lose the attribute which is reputed to typify the Britisher-good-natured humour. It is extraordinary that the one characteristic, which is presumed to be indicative of our island, is lacking in those who indulge in the art and science which is peculiar to their country.
Much criticism has been levelled at the national traits of other lands, but through history the Englishman has been admired for his upright good humour. It was an uadisputed fact that Olde England could laugh at herself -and enjoy the joke!

> REMIT TO-DAY
> Will postal subscribers whose subscriptions were due on Joly 6th please remit without delay to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro. Rates: 12 months, &1 8s.; six months, 14s. 6d.; three months, 7s. 6 d .

Our ringing tradition is nearly as old as our history, and it is not unnatural that the tourist should consider practitioners in the Exercise to be significant of all that Britain can offer. But for some mysterious reason, the belfry is completely devoid of the good-natured humour to be found in other British pursuits.
Surely, the very fact that surnames are superfluous in ringing circles is evidence enough of a friendly spirit?

The fault-if so it be-no doubt lies in the most experienced ringers, who live and sleep in a happy world of indecipherable permutations. Let us hope that the novices among us will cling to the momentary smile caused by the lady who was too abashed at her bravado to sign her name! Otherwise, it will be farewell for ever to the bulldog, and a sad existence with the sour pekinese.
Sages of the belfry, we salute you for your manipulation of your bells, but you do our national spirit discredit if you cannot appreclate a bright and apt dig in the ribs; let us hope that we may resist your froustiness, which seems as contagious as your campanology!
Ladies, since we are now accepted in the sanctum sanctorum of the ringing chamber, let us at least preserve some degree of our femininity in charming our superiors back to humanity! -Yours, etc..

WINDSOR CASTLE BELLS
Dear Sir,-Replying to Mr. K. Buckingham's letter in your issue of June 29th, 1 understand that the above are hung in a campanile on the Curfew Tower. Since this is neither a consecrated building nor a place of worship, it seems appropriate to classify these bells as a "secular" ring, regardless of their use.

Incidentally, Ernest Morris in his 'History and Art of Change Ringing.' also describes the Castle bells as a 'secular 'ring.-Yours, etc.,

ST. MARY'S, DENBIGH

Dear Sir,-Recently in his article on Peals in North Wales the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead referred to St. Mary's, Denbigh (8), as being 'unconquered.'

The story is that these bells have never been rung since they were hung. Reasons given to me have been that there are springs in the rock under the tower, and that the bells are too heavy for the tower.

I have passed this tower many times and have been puzzled by the above. Recently I was able to make a personal call and found out that the bells were ordered by R. Williams, borough surveyor, and were cast and installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1873. The tenor is 15 cwt .1 qr .11 lb . in F , and from the chimes I judge these to be a beautiful ring.

The following facts may be of interest. The church, indeed the whole town, is built on a mountain of limestone which comes right to the surface, and the tower, not a very high one, looks as strong and as solid as the mountain itself.

I cannot help but feel that the reasons given have been handed down from 1873 and there may have been prejudice against the bells at that time. The key to the tower was not available so I cannot say what state the bells and fittings are in.
I have expressed my views and opinions to one local churchman and these might start the ball rolling, but if a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee should be in the area at any time he might be able to do even more and get to know the truth, as I feel sure a qualified inspection would reveal it.-Yours fraternally,

DENNIS H. B. MILLWARD.

A WEEK-END IN GERMANY

Dear Sir,-Cpl. George Morris, of Malvern, Worcs, and R.A.F., Saarbruck, A.C. Glyn Jenkins, St. Woolos', Newport, and R.A.F., Wildenrath, and I enjoyed a pleasant campanological weekend at Goch on June 23rd and 24th.
On the Saturday afternoon we were able to inspect the belfry of St. Mary Magdalene (R.C.) Church in this town. We were told that of the original bells, two were taken for war purposes; since then, one was acquired from a neighbouring village, so that now three bells hang in the massive wooden frame. In the empty pit lies an old headstock, probably in the same drunken position as when it was discarded 15 or so years. ago.

Electric motors swing the bells about waist high, by means of sprocket and chain; the chain is joined to a wire rope, in turn attached to a thin wheel made up of angle iron. Such things as stays and sliders are never required, of course.
There seemed nothing particularly outstanding about the bells; their weights were perhaps about 8,12 and 17 cwt .
For the rest of the weekend, Mr. George Morris's handbells were put to good use. Although our numerous peal attempts, stretching over a total of more than 100 minutes, failed, the standard of striking improved enormously, and on Sunday morning many churchgoers ex: pressed appreciation of the service ringing-Bob Minor and rounds on eight-relayed from inside by loudspeaker. We hope to meet again soon for another peal attempt.-Yours sincerely,

> ERIC ROBERTS.

THE SUNDAY SERVICE CONDUCTOR

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

At the risk of vain repetition we will summarise this part of Stage 2. As soon as the 6th is called Before (in Stage 1) the conductor must appreciate the position. and be certain

1. If 5 is already in the hunt, or
2. If 567 are already in plain course orcer, or
3. Whether 5 will come down in front of the treble the next lead, or
4. Whether he must wait one lead longer for 5 to come down in front of the treble.
The quickest decision required is.. of course, at 3. but the whole matter rests on a realisation of the position of the bells and the power to take the necessary action.

With the 5 th in the hunt we can now do nothing until the 7 th comes down in frwit of the treble, and this will come sooner or later. From the position 567000 it will take some leads, but in Examples 3 and 4 just quoted it will happen very quickly; in fact, a glance at Example 4 will show that 7 comes down in front of the treble the very lead after 5 has been called into the hunt with the single. The important thing is that 7 must be called Before with a Double, and so the conductor must be thoroughly alert to catch the 7th as soon as she comes to make thirds. As soon as 7 is called Before the position will be 675000 , and the call at the succeeding lead is for the purpose of getting 6 out of the hunt. We give here three specimen fragments showing what might happen in this Stage 2 and the way in which 5 is got into the hunt and 7 called Before with a Double.

We have now arrived at 000567 and are ready for Stage 3.

The above is rather wordy, perhaps, and contains a great number of things to be thought of very quickly. But as our emphasis is on principles and not just on rules it is essential that the reasons for procedure be fully understood: and with pencil, paper, and patience. the student must practise these movements until he nas a clear mental picture of what is happening.

We come now to the final stage, Stage 3.
3. Rotating 234 to produce rounds. With 567 at Home the position at the course end may be any one of the following six:
$234567,423567,342567,243567.324567,432567$.

If the bells are Out-of-Course, so that one of the latter three course ends appears, then two of the little bells must be turned over by the use of a single. From 324567 the calling B.B.S. will give 234567 . From 243567 the same calling will give 423567 , and from 432567 we may secure 342567. Once the bells are In-Course the final step should be clear.

The explanation has now covered the three stages necessary for calling the bells round when 5.6. and 7 are widely parted. Should 67 be already together it will be clear that Stage 1 can be dispensed with, and the conductor will be able to proceed straight away with getting 5 into the hunt. Should 567 be together then the only process needed is the rotation of 234 to produce rounds.

The complete formula then is:
Call 7 Into the Hunt and 6 Before. Call 5
Into the Hunt (by a single), and 7 Before with a Double. This will produce 000567.
This formula should be learned by heart and repeated over and over again until it springs readily to the mind while ringing.

Of the three stages of the calling only Stage 2 presents any difficulty, and this will be no great embarrassment to a conductor who is capable of calling a bell into the hunt with bob or single. The principles examined here do not necessarily provide the shortest way of bringing up rounds, nor do they exclude the possibility of falseness in the touch. They do, however, give means that will serve for any occasion and any position of the bells, and they are free from long lists of rules and alternatives. As the conductor gains experience, an increased knowledge of touches and an enhanced confidence in handling the bells will reveal to him certain convenient short cuts. Some of these possibilities will be referred to in the notes that follow.

For those who wish to carry the study of this matter a little further it may be worth while drawing attention to the following point relating to Stage 3, the final manouvre by which 2,3 . and 4 are rotated to bring rounds. A useful and easily remembered short cut may here be employed. In any course with 567 in the plain course position either 2,3 , or 4 must be in the hunt. If 4 is in the hunt a call at the course end will inevitably produce either 324567 or 234567. If. therefore, in the process of calling round, as soon as Stage 2 is accomplished, 4 can be got into the hunt without disturbing 567, then it is clear that at the course end rounds can be got immediately either by a bob or a single, whichever brings 2 into the hunt. The conductor has no beed to consider whether the bells are InCourse or Out-of-Course. Provided 4 is in the hunt he can produce rounds at the course end either by bob or single. It is clearly, then, of great advantage to get 4 into the hunt at the earliest moment; and, as we shall see, it can be done very quickly.

Consider the possible positions of the bells at the moment when Stage 2 is completed and 6 and 7 are together.

In Stage 2 at the moment when 7 is called Before the position is this (as has been previously shown): 675000 , and 4 must be in one of these places:
A. 675400. B. 675004 . C. 675040.

A call at the next lead is imperative in order to preserve 567 in their coursing order. If the position is either A or B the 4th may be immediately called into the hunt by bob or single (whichever will do the trick); if the position is C. then a further call, an added single, will place 4 in the hunt. Once 4 is in the hunt a bob or single at Home will bring rounds. In order to make this quite clear we set out below the six possible contingencies at the moment (in Stage 2) when 7 is called Before. From these six possibilities we show: (a) How to put 4 into the hunt; (b) How to secure rounds.

The above is worthy of study by reason of its simplieity and speed of operation. The working rule may be stated briefly: As soon as 7 is called Before get 4 into the hunt. If the next call (bob or single) will not do it, then boldly add another call (a single), and do not fear the consequences. You will not upset 567, and you are bound to get 4 into the hunt. Call 567 home (as you have already learned to do), using bob or single, whichever brings 2 into the hunt, and the bells are round.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL'S SUMMER TOUR

The area chosen for this year's tour was North Gloucestershire, and accordingly the party met at Cambridge for lunch on June 15th. Whilst one member went off in search of luggage the Master had left on the train; the remainder of the party cycled to Slymbridge. Here the tower secretary got the tenor up wrong and ringing was not improved by the newness of the ropes. Our next stop was Moreton-Valence, a hard going six; and so on to Quedgeley, the first eight of the tour. As the ceiling here is low, the sallies acted as muffles at backstroke, which did not help the striking, but fairly good Triples were managed. After supper had been obtained in Cheltenham, we went on to Bishop's Cleeve, where we were joined by friends from the district, including a past Master, who helped us considerably for most of the tour. The Master demonstrated her skill in trebling up light eights, which was not appreciated round the back end, but after this good Double Norwich and Triples were brought round.

Saturday dawned wet and stayed wet all day. The day's first call was at St. Mark's, Cheltenham. Next came Deerhurst. with its tenor rung in a separate room, where some spliced London

ONE OR SIX BELLS ?

At a church where service ringing had just started for Evensong, the conductor called 'Go Bob Minor.' After about two courses of very rough striking the conductor called 'Stand,' and rold th band that it was a jangled effort etc. baind that it was a jangled effort, etc.
He was preparing to go again when an Eastern gentleman in Western clothes put his head around the curtains and said: 'Excuse me, is there one bell or six bells up there?'
The conductor beamed after his previous remarks, and one well-known ringer was heard 10 say: ‘Gosh, was it that bad?; 1 guess - (the conductor) was right.'

WHITSUN IN DEVON

The 'Vrends of the Exercise,' whose tour in ' Zummerzeet' was reported last year, met again from distant parts of the kingdom to sample some of Devon's fine towers, deep flowery lanes, red soil and rolling moors, in a three-day tour by car and motor-cycle. Banwell $(8,23)$, near Weston-super-Mare, preceded a run through the Mendips and Quantocks to Old Cleeve (8, $18)$ and Dunster $(8,22)$, a renowned beauty spot, where lunch was of salad and Devon cream. Some very good Caters were rung on the fine ten at Minehead ( 20 cwt .), whence there is a grand view over the bay, before heading inland to Twerton through lovely hilly country on the edge of Exmoor, calling at Timberscombe ( $8,12 \frac{1}{2}$ ) and Bampton ( $6,15 \frac{1}{2}$ ) on the way. Twerton's $(8,26)$ are some of Taylor's best, and are always a treat to look forward to, and Silverton $(8,17)$ had the same qualities. The day ended well at Broad Clyst $(8,21)$.

The accommodation at the King's Arms, East Budleigh, was excellent, and the party joined the locals at the nearby church $(6,8)$ for Matins. After dinner some went to sample the glorious bells of Exeter Cathedral ( $13,73 \mathrm{cwt}$.) before joining the rest for Kenn $(6,13)$ and Ideford $(6,8)$, and a Devon tea at Bishopsteignton, where ringing took place both before and after the Evensong service. The latter, it must be admitted, was in friendly rivalry with the local ringers, who demonstrated close-lead callchanges, but readily gave credit for the "scientific's' best efforts at London Minor, etc., and wished it could always be as good.

After farewells next morning to mine host at East Budleigh. the first call was at the home of Bilbie, Cullompton $(10,19)$, where the tower and bells must be the pride of the locality, full of distinctive tone. Kentisbeare $(6,14)$ found out some weak spots, and lunch at Tiverton was preceded by two good sixes, each 17 cwt ., at Halberton and Sampford Peverell. The key could not be found at Holcombe Rogus, but a member was nearly battle-axed by an aged lady defender when demonstrating a cannon at nearby Holcombe Court. The tricky light 8 (13) at Huntsham came next, and Troyte's grave was noted. Some got lost and arrived very late at the first of two good eights. Wiveliscombe ( 20 cwt., Bilbie?); then came Milverton (18 cwt.), back in Somerset, and tea, before the surprise of the tour, St. Mary's, Taunton (12, 30 cwt.). only just reopened after tower renovations and recasting of the tenth bell by Messrs. Mears. This wonderful tower combines all that is most noteworthy in Somerset towers-great size (170 feet), rich panelling, Perpendicular lines, cream and pink stonework, statued niches, and above all, an amazing crown of lace-like stonework, tall pinnacles, and even flying pinnacles standing away from the tower. The bells, mostly Bilbie's, are a very good 12, but are affected a bit by tower movement and length of draught. Thus came a fitting conclusion to a tour of good bells, good fellowship and fun, and beautiful sunny weather in fine scenery. Thanks are due to all incumbents and all who made the excellent arrangements possible.

BELLS IN I.T.V. EPILOGUE

Dear Sir.-A correspondent asks for information regarding the bells used on I.T.V. for an epilogue.

Some time ago I wrote to I.T.V. concerning this film. in which I asked the same questions. I received a reply but not an answer to my questions, only to say that the "bells' are not models (which they most certainly are), as the 'treble' is a solid block and the clapper does not move. It also swings at about three times the pace of the others, bumping the stay both ways.

I was no wiser after I had received the letter than before.- I remain, sincerely yours,
London, N. 15 .
E. J. ROWE.

NEWS FROM NORTH STAFEORDSHIRE

Seven monthly meetings of the North Staffordshire Association have been held so far in 1956. Attendances at the January (Longton) and February (Madeley) meetings were below average owing to inclement weather and dense fog on both days.

The March meeting was at Cheadle where, as it was not possible to resume ringing at the Roman Catholic Church after tea, the Vicar very kindly gave permission for the bells of the parish church to be rung in the evening so that the numerous visitors had the opportunity of ringing at both St. Giles', the six and the eight.

Kingsley (April) was as popular as ever, and in addition to ringing many members were entertained by and involved in friendly argument with the Welsh Vicar of Whiston and Foxt (who presided at tea) and delighted by the organ playing of the Rector-elect of Kingsley.

At the May meeting at Leek, the Vicar, the Rev. G. Youcll, newly appointed Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent, accepted the presidency of the Association, from which office the Ven. Percy Hartill. formerly Rector and Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent, retired earlier this year after 21 years' service. Considerable restoration is being carried out at Leek and it is hoped and anticipated that attention will be given to the bells during the course of this work.

Marchington, the most distant tower in the Association, was the venue for June, when a small but enthusiastic and appreciative party made the difficult journey to ring at this delightful six, where no mceting had been held for a number of years. Some. however, nearly didn't get there at all. Arrangements had been made for the Stoke-Derby train to make a special stop at Marchington, but a check at Stoke as the train was about to depart revealed that Control had failed to issue the necessary instructions. Hurried telephone calls, however, soon put matters to rights.

July 7th saw the Association at Broughton. equally inaccessible, but nevertheless some 42 ringers and friends, including visitors from Leicester and Macclesfield, were present. The weather was again most favourable and between touches the ringers explored this interesting and in many ways, unique, church or enjoyed the fine view of the Welsh mountains to the west. The service was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. W. D. Morgan, a ringer at the church, and other ringers performed the other offices of the service.

Ringing has been of a high order during the period. ranging from call-changes, Minor methods such as Woodbine and Violet, a variety of Surprise Major, to Caters and Royal.

Several committee meetings have taken place, and with regard to the Bow Bells Appeal it was agreed that collections should be taken at the individual towers to make up the Association contribution.

The death occurred at Whitsuntide of Father MacDonald. of the Roman Catholic Church, Cheadle, and an honorary member of the Association. A half-muffied peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted at the church on June 30th, but was miscalled after two hours' ringing.

Twineham, Sussex, Ringers' Outing

The ringers and friends of St. Peter's, Twineham, had a very enjoyable day's outing on June 30th. Towers visited were Burwash, Ewhurst (Sussex), Rye and Dallington. Methods rung were Grandsire. Stedman and Reverse St. Bartholomew's, Doubles, Grandsire. Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob Minor and Major, Cambridge Surprise Minor and Major, Kent Major, with plenty of rounds for the learners.

Thanks are due to Mr. C. H. Wickens and local ringers for the use of the bells.

OBITUARY  DR. A. J. H. ILES

A former Mayor of Taunton. Dr. Alfred John Hopkinson Iles, died at Musgrove Park Hospital, Taunton, on July 3rd at the age of 77.
The son of the late Dr. A. R. Iles, he was educated at Repton, and received his medical training at St. Thomas's Hospital. London, where he later became governor. His degrees were M.R.C.S. (Eng.), L.R.C.P. (Lond.) and F.F.R.

He was also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and while in London became a member of St. Paul's Cathedral Ringers. He was interested in music, having been trained at the Guildhall School of Music, and later was a regular member of St. Mary's Church Bell Ringers, Taunton.
The funeral service was at St. Mary's Church, Taunton, on July 9th. The A.S.C.Y. was represented by Mr. Arthur Prince.

MR. REUBEN CHARGE

The funeral of Mr. Reuben Charge, whose death was reported in our issue of July 6th, took place at Mitcham Road Cemetery on July 4th.
In addition to the family mourners, the following ringers were present: R. Sanders, J. Hawkins. J. Euston, S. Howard, F. Sinkins and J. Chapman. Among the floral tributes was one from the ringers of St. Leonard's, Streatham.
Mr . Charge was a member of the College Youths, Middlesex and Surrey Associations, and had many ringing friends north and south of the Thames. Born at Much Hadham, Herts, he was one of five ringing brothers, and was the last survivor. Reuben Charge never kept a record of his peals, a number of which he rang with the late brothers Pye at the beginning of the century. He moved from Hampstead to Mitcham in 1948, after the death of his wife, and joined the Streatham ringers and also St. Margaret's, Westminster.
He was a man of retiring nature and loving respect; as a ringer he was a perfect striker, and will be greatly missed. He was present at the meeting of 'Old Timers' held at Bishopsgate, E.C.. last September. R.I.P.

AN APPRECIATION

The passing of Reuben Charge unfortunately brings to an end the well-known trio of the brothers Charge. Born near Bishop's Stortford, Essex. some 77 years ago, Reuben was the last of a family of five brothers: four of them were ringer:, the best known being Cornelius and George.
Reuben came to London many years ago and was employed up to the time of his retirement by that authority known today as the London Passenger Transport Board. He was a modest and most likeable man, and his happy-golucky' disposition made him many friends. both at his work and in the capacity of a bell ringer.

In his early days he quickly advanced in the art of campanology, and was often peal ringing in the company of the brothers Pye. He was for many years a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Middlesex County Association, and of St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, in the heyday of their activities.
A brilliant striker, his keen ear would instantly detect a repeat in the ringing. It is said he was never known to 'call a touch,' but his powers of observation were such that he knew when a 'call' had been made in the wrong place or accidentally omitted.
It will never be known how many peals he took part in. as he kept no personal records. The writer of these lines had the pleasure of taking part in three peals and over 100 quarter peals with him. the latter mostly for church services: he was very keen on Sunday service ringing. He will be greatly missed. but his memory will live for a long time in the minds of those who knew him.

SNATCH AND GRAB

TOWER grabbing is a pastime in which we all indulge at some time in our ringing careers. Few of us fail to be stirred and tempted by the sound of bells coming from a strange tower. Others master the most complicated navigational problems in weekly pilgrimages to meatings and finally are more expert perhaps at translating Bradshaw and transport time-tables than at ringing. Even the most considerate and self-sacrificing family man will have a surreptitious look at Dove's before departing on his holidays.

Snatching,' however, is a peculiar accomplishment, a technique which from the accounts in "The Ringing World 'is increasing in popularity and application; it is an activity for the enthusiast and one which can be most rewarding and beneficial providing it is undertaken with due circumspection and organisation. Its object is to 'collect' as many towers as possible within a given space of time, and if the optimum results are to be obtained certain essential conditions emerge of which the experienced snatcher will already be aware, but which are, nevertheless, worth while recapitulating.

Since time is of prime importance, towers with eight or more bells should not be included in the programme. Touches on eight or more bells take time; in addition, the methods and their musical qualities are too absorbing to be compatible with a snatch-to cut short the ringing would fail to do justice to the bells in any circumstances, to prolong the ringing would defeat the object of the exercise. The number of ringers required, moreover, would be too large for this intimate and delicate operation.

Indeed, the only towers which may be legitimately snatched are fives and sixes, and those which under normal circumstances would be relatively inaccessible and preferably, though not necessarily, rarely rung. (Towers reasonably easily reached for practice nights, peals or meetings should be excluded.) A cursary run through Dove's shows that in this field there is almost endless scope for a snatch.

With regard to conveyance it is apparent from the foregoing that private, generally reliable transport, preferably mechanised, is a most desirable adjunct. Judicious invitation can avoid the necessity to hire transport, although this can be done quite cheaply. The number of vehicles should be limited to the minimum required to accommodate the party, having due regard to the state of the vehicles concerned.

Oldish clothes, a supply of cattle-castor oil, adequate maps and sandwiches are also desirable.

The number of ringers should not exceed the minimum necessary to ring the bells well-eight at the most and of these at least one should be a beginner at a stage where he or she is able to reap the maximum benefit from ringing on strange bells with their variations in weight and "go ' and music, from the experience in raising and lowering in peal, and the practice concentrated ringing with more experienced ringers can provide. It was for this very purpose that the snatches in which the writer has been involved were first organised.

The ideal period for a snatch is, of course, a full day, finishing at the last tower in the region of 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening. In this time. with an overall distance of perhaps 100 miles, ten or more towers can be collected in reasonable comfort. Twenty-five minutes at a fiveor six-bell tower has been shown by experience to be an ideal time for a visit. This is not a tower 'outing' or a sightseeing tour, and timing should be tight but adequate. Sandwiches at some village hostelry for lunch and resorting to a conveniently situated town for high tea make up the day.

These are bare bones of the plan. The reality is indescribably rewarding. The day is spent in the country, in quaint villages of infinite variety, with their gems of architecture and local craftsmanship, which whet an appetite that cannot on this occasion be indulged. There is the work of a variety of founders, some long forgotten, to be enjoyed.

There was, for instance, the "find " of a magnificent majestic six at a church in a beautiful setting in a village near the Welsh border. Another occasion provided a five at a Victorian church with a slender, fairisle,' italienate tower. The fifth was half-way up in peal, but was dropped because of its 'feel.' The local inhabitant who met us said that there had been some complaints about the bell; an examination showed that all but one of the bolts in the headstock had long since sheared through and the bell revolved slowly but incisively round the remaining one! On the same day two further fives, one being 13456, the other 12346 of sixes, both waiting for a donor to complete the ring. One, unrung, had an infested ringing chamber and a member of the party had to climb a ladder to the intervening floor to raise the rope channels, which swung loosely at crazy angles as they bore on the ropes, before ringing could begin.

At one isolated six the human aspect was most touching. Two of the villagers appeared, one a former method ringer in the tower where only call changes had been rung since the war, and sat enraptured as endless Stedman Doubles were rung to their request.

Amusing incidents have their place as well. At one tower the organiser saw the Vicar in the church, introduced himself and asked where the key to the belfry might be obtained. The conversation went something like this:-

Vicar: ' I'm afraid you can't ring.'
Organiser : 'Oh, how is that? I have your letter giving us permission to do so. It is very awkward as we have come 40 miles to ring here." Vicar: 'I am afraid I forgot to mention it to our head ringer. What would you think if you were in his place and I let you ring without his permission?'
Organiser: ' If I were he, I should think you were a very forgetful Vicar.'

Permission was obtained, the local ringer contacted, and all went well.

On another occasion a five was visited at an odd church (the arcade ran down the centre aisle of the nave). A warning had been given about the bells, but in what connection the organiser could not quite remember (it had not been given by the vicar, but had reached him at third hand). The ropes were in extremely poor shape; that might be it. They were ranged round two sides of the tower close to the wall, two down one side and three in a straight row down the other and the ropesight poor in consequence. That was probably it. When the bells began to rise the most unmusical noise ever heard arose. The bells were out of tune with each other and themselves. It was only after some argument that it was decided that the bells were in rounds. This was undoubtedly it. 'Stand if you can,' called the treble-the 'if you can' a sort of postscript evoked by the general atmosphere in the belfry. The treble had no stay and the abrupt gymnastics of the ringer of the fourth showed that that bell had none either. On returning home the organiser found that the warning had been that some of the bells were believed to be stayless. Accurate but how inadequate! Indeed, the stories one could tell would shame the imagination of the most hardened freshwater fisherman.

The term 'snatch' has a somewhat unpleasant ring, but it is probably the most adequate one for this kind of operation, an exercise which can be satisfying to the individual, and if not beneficial in all other respects, at least not harmful in any way. For all who take part it is a tiring but enjoyable day. The opportunity to exercise one's skill and that of others by handling different rings of bells, the chance to practise a variety of methods and improve one's skill in raising and lowering in peal are never so readily available. The length of ringing time is sufficient in so many respects; it is half the normal service singing time at the most, but adequate for touches on five and six bells; the ringing is not so prolonged as to cause objection to the neighbourhood, and offen, in unrung towers particularly, sufficient to arouse the interest of the villagers in their bells and to demonstrate change ringing, we hope, of a high quality

In the writer's experience permission to ring has never been refused on such occasions and indeed in the majority of cases the party has been only too warmly welcomed by both the incumbent and the local ringers. Although the stipulation not to ring too long has sometimes been made (where the tower has proved to be popular with visitors), regret has usually been expressed that the stay has been short. It is often better, however. that this regret should have been left rather than a welcome outstayed and the visits of other ringers to the tower prejudiced.

In obtaining permission to ring, the normal courtesies should not be overlooked. It is preferable to over-indulge in correspondence rather than to be inconsiderate: usually application for the bells is made well in advance and a firm time given a few days before the visit. A postcard of thanks is not out of place after the visit and is usually much appreciated.

Finally, may it be said that snatches should not be used as a substitute for peals, meetings or tower outings, but, like all good things, enjoyed in moderation for their own sake.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

HUNTS DISTRICT TOUR
Saturday, July 7th, was the day that the Hunts District ringers chose for their tour of John Taylor's foundry and four towers in Derbyshire. Setting off just after 7 a.m.. the foundry was reached ten minutes early, and the party were welcomed by Mr. Marcon. Thev were most interested in all departments and an hour soon slipped by. Through a most unfortunate time error, the party were unable to ring on the foundry campanile, but were somewhat compensated by ringing at the Loughborough Parish Church.

After a perfect lunch they set off for Derbyshire. The first tower was Breaston and this oleasant six were soon ringing out merrily. Spondon proved to be another pleasant ring. On to Allestree for tea, where the view over the Derwent Valley appealed to all.

Duffield's was a really grand ring, and amongst various Major methods, Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were rung, For some of the members this was their first ring on ten bells. The one hour there passed much too quickly. At the last tower of the day, Shardlow, many Minor methods were brought round. Home was reached by most just before midnight, and many thanks are due to the incumbents and those who met the party.

RAINHAM RINGERS AND FRIENDS

Rainham ringers and friends from Frindshury, Chatham, Newington. Bobbing, Sittingbourne and Queenborough held their annual outing on July 7th. Another two members who had travelled from Bath joined the coach at various stops along the route, the last being dicked up at Stockbury.
Starting at 7.30 a.m., a good journey was made via Key Street, Maidstone, Wateringbury, to Brenchley, in a new 41 -seater coach. Just before 9 a.m. the party were welcomed to All Saints', Brenchley, by one of the churchwardens. Soon this handy ring of eight was being rung by some of the company, while the rest partook of refreshments kindly laid on in grand style by Mr. and Mrs. Wells at the Bull Hotel.
The journey then went through 'the Garden of England' to Salehurst, which was reached at 10.30 . Here we were greeted by Mr. Avery, who has recovered from illness in hospital. A good hour's ringing was enjoyed before making tracks, under the guidance of Mr. George Kenward, to Rye. Lunch was partaken of at George's Cafe, Rye, and for once ringing at Rye Parish Church was missed ; instead, the little church at Iden, with a fine ring of six (tenor 15 cwt .), was visited. It was here that George learned to ring many years ago and also called his first peal, along with his verv old friend, Mr. Wood, who looks well despite his years. The Rev. A. Douglas Wing also gave us a welcome.

Then came the glories of the South Downs as the coach sped along the open road via New Romney, Dymchurch, to Hythe. After climbing the steep steps of this ancient town. St. Leonard's Church was reached on time, and the party were greeted by Mr. Bidnell. A good ring was enjoyed before tea was partaken at Slade's Hotel. Next came the very old and pretty village of Chilham. where the Rev. Sir Reginald Champion welcomed the visitors. Another good hour's ringing was enjoyed. During the day touches had been rung in the usual standard methods, with rounds for the younger members.

On the homeward journey a short stop was made at the Halfway House for refreshments. where Bert Dunk found some "singing beer; for along the road to Sittingbourne.

Thanks are due to all incumbents for the use of their bells and to all who kindly met the party at the different towers. F.J.C.

BRANSTON, LINCS
A very full programme was arranged for Branston ringers on July 7th, the occasion being their annual outing.

As Matins was being said at Dunham-onTrent (5), ringing was not possible here, but Tuxford (8) bells were going into changes at $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and a pleasant hour followed. The light six at Cuckney are housed in a tower large enough for a heavy ring of 12. After ringing here a good lunch was enjoyed.

The long climb to Gamston's ringing chamber was an aid to digesting lunch. A good hour was later spent on the recently rehung six at Ordsall. After an excellent tea, West Retford (6) was visited. Ringers of vast girth should avoid this tower or they will find themselves stuck midst ringing chamber and ground floor, for the spiral staircase is very narrow.

The last towers (and the best) of the day were the two new rings of six at Rampton and East Drayton. The ringing at both towers was very much enjoyed. Methods rung during the day were: Major, Kent and Plain; Minor, London, York, Beverley. Surfleet, Lightsfoot, Rossendale, Stamford, Ipswich, Bourne, Norwich, Netherseale, Cambridge, College Bob IV.. Kent, Oxford. Oxford Bob, Single Court and Plain Bob.
Thanks are due to the incumbents and local ringers for the use of the bells and to Louis Willders for organising such a grand outing.

ST. PAUL'S, BURTON-ON-TRENT

Saturday, July 14th, was the date chosen by the St. Paul's, Burton, band and their colleagues from nearby towers for their tenth annual outing. After the long tours of previous years, the trip this year consisted of a visit to four Warwickshire towers.

Leaving Bunton in heavy mist, at lunch time we arrived at Holy Trinity, Sutton Coldfield (8), at 1.30 p.nI. for 45 minutes' ringing before proceeding to SS. Peter and Paul, Coleshill (8). Later in the afternoon we stopped at St. Nicholas', Kenilworth (6). And so to Warwick for tea and the privilege of ringing at St. Mary's (10). Well over an hour was spent in this lovely tower and a very high standard of ringing: was maintained throughout.
Successful touches of Grandsire, Stedman, St. Simon's Doubles, Cambridge Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, Grandsire and Stedman Caters and a course of Plain Bob Royal were rung during the tour.

Unfortunately, continuous rain in the evening spoilt the proccedings somewhat. but, by and large, it was a most successful outing.

HERTFORD RINGERS IN EAST ANGLIA

On June 30th the Hertford College Youths and friends spent a most enjoyable day's outing in East Anglia.
Leaving Hertford at 6.30 a.m., the first stop was at Stowmarket, where the eight of St. Mary's were rung to methods to suit all. At Framlingham an hour's ringing on the eight of St. Michael's was enjoyed before leaving for Lowestoft.

All were ready for the fine lunch at The Scotsman, and the afternoon was spent ringing on the eight of St. Margaret's. After tea we left for Diss. The fine eight of St. Mary's were rung for an hour before leaving for home. A short stop was made at Newmarket for refreshments, and Hertford was reached at 10.15 p.m.

Our thanks are due to the incumbents and the local ringers who made the outing enjoyable. J. W. T.

WORCESTER CATHEDRAL

On June 30th, Worcester Cathedral band, ioined by ringers from the other Worcester towers and Cheltenham, travelled northwards on their annual outing.

Unfortunately we started a little later than olanned, and along some tortuous roads, which seem inseparable from beautiful countryside, we were unable to make up lost time. When we arrived at St. Chad's at Shrewsbury it was a great help to find that most of the bells had been raised for us. St. Chad's has quite a good ring of twelve, recast in 1914, with a tenor of $39 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.

Our next tower was to have been St. Mary-without-the-Walls, at Chester, but, as we came nearer to the city, the traffic became ever thicker and we moved slower and slower. Consequently we got very far down on our schedule and thought it advisable to omit St. Mary's in order to be on time at our next checking place. Our slow progress through Chester did, However, give us an opportunity of studying the remarkable construction of its shopping centre. These continuous balconies could surely be very attractive and advantageous in our modern shopping centres.
Liverpool was now our destination, and on the way some handbell ringing was attempted. After getting five people in such a position that each could see one other. we succeeded in ringing Grandsire Caters. As we approached Birkenhead, all eyes were fixed on the horizon, looking for the great Cathedral at Liverpool. We were not disappointed: its tower stood high above the city, upright, aloof and proud. And then it disappeared, and we were speeding through the Mersey tunnel, a new and exciting experience for most of us. We emerged in Liverpool and were soon having lunch. Then we rang on the magnificent twelve, tenor 42 cwt ., at St. Nicholas ${ }^{\circ}$.

The next journey was dull in comparison with what we had already scen, but the road was good and nothing delayed us, so that we arrived in Manchester-sunny Manchester-in good time. (It is possible that some people were a little disappointed to find the sun shining.) What town councillor does not dream of a building like Manchester Town Hall. and what ringer would not consider the burden of rates more tolerable if his town owned a ring of bells like the twelve here? With a tenor of $42 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., they are a joy to ring on. and we had our best ringing of the day. But we should like more information about these bells, please, Mr. Taylor: what is the secret?

After tea we moved on to Leek. where St. Fdward"s Church contains a ring of ten, tenor $18 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt. The bells are difficult to strike and sound poor from inside the tower, but a little better from outside. At first we were only able to ring eight because the treble stay had been broken: its clapper was tied and it seemed impossible to get to the bell because of a temporary floor laid on top of the ' H ' frame. but later we moved some boards and put things right.

After some refreshment there only remained the iourney back home, and, in spite of what was probably the record length of 'Bluebells are Blue, we found that we only knew sixty miles of songs. Still, it was a very enjoyable day and we should like to thank all those who in any way contributed to its success. G. E.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. F. H. Mitchell, of Gravesend, is not making progress in regard to his health. He writes: 'At my age the bronchitis is too deep-rooted to expect much.'
Congratulations to the barmaid who most appropriately told 'the even-bell method Lincolnshire gentleman' to hold his bell up while she passed with the liquid refreshment.
A ' Biro ' ball-point pen was found at Weston by Welland tower on July 14 th. Will owner please contact Miss J. Luck, 40, The Broadway, Kettering?

Mr. J. Frederick Milner and Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton rang their 600th peal on July 14th. It was Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Wakefield Cathedral.
Congratulations to Mr. Ernest H. Simpson, of Bradford, on his peal at Queensbury to mark the 50th anniversary of his first peal. This is also Mr. Simpson's 50 th year as a member of the Yorkshire Association.
Mr. G. Peck, of Rugby, recently celebrated his 88th birthday, and to mark the occasion he conducted a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples on July 15 th. A very regular service ringer, he conducted his last quarter peal of Triples eight years ago at Kingston-upon-Thames. Many more happy touches and games over the chess more board!

GOSSIP

Liverpool Cathedral tower has since Whitsun ceased to be in the hands of builders, and the first ladies have rung there. These include Miss Hackett, of Woolton, Miss Ridyard, of Southport, and Miss Doreen Dutton, also of Southport.
If the ringer who put his pen in the wrong jacket at the Bovey Tracey meeting will apply to E. T. P. Field, Marshfield, Knole, Langport, Somerset, he will have it returned to him.
Will B. W. P. or M. J. H. kindly send their name and address to the Editor? Letters cannot be considered for publication unless the name and address of the sender is sent to the Editor.

A reader is enquiring for a list of peals lasting five hours or more rung since April 28th. The particulars he requires are date, time, place, method and number of changes, and date of publication in 'The Ringing World.'
Superstition was defied by a handbell peal at Gosport. It was rung on Friday the 13th in 13 methods. It was also the 13 th handbell peal for one of the band, and his 13th handbell peal with the conductor, who was conducting his 13th peal this year.
The eight bells of Ellesmere, Shropshire (the oldest ring in the county and certainly one of the oldest in the country) are to be broadcast on the Midland Regional programme on Sunday, August 5th, at 6.30 p.m., prior to a service there. This will be the third broadcast from this ancient Norman church.
Mr. Clive M. Smith, of Lichfield Cathedral, Staffs, would like to tender his sincere thanks to the Winchester Cathedral ringers for allowing him to join in ringing with them on Sunday afternoon, July 8 th. Unbeknown to them he was achieving a long cherished ambition, to ring in his 1,000 th tower before he came of age on July 12th.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

New Secretary Appointed

THE Oxford Diocesan Guiid Festival, held on July 14th at Oxford, was again very well supported. Proceedings started with the festival service in Christ Church Cathedral, at which the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) officiated. Singing was led by a choir of 16 men and 16 boys, and the Deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharp) read the lesson.

The Rev. H. H. Martin, Rector of Oxford, preached the sermon. He said the wonderful thing about their bells was their variety, and ringers were doing the thing that the Church had always been urged to do-to summon the people to worship. They did it in a so much better way than many others did.

- I don't believe anyone has been compelled to come to church by the sound of church bells. Ringing is something very beautiful in a language that everyone understands and with which everyone in this country is familar.

I am sure that over those hundreds of years that the Christian faith has been taught in this country our national life is impregnated with a spirit of Christianity. We may be living on our spiritual capital, but there is still a capital there. and every person in England is glad to know it is there, and the summons of the bells tells them that someone is praying for them. I hope you all realise how important is this lovely summons of the bells, and it is just as established as the established Church.'

THE BUSINESS MEETING

The Chapter House was crowded for the annual meeting which followed the service. The Master presided, supported by the Deputy Master, the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker) and the retiring general secretary (Mr. W. Hibbert).

The Master, at the opening of the meeting, said within the last few weeks they had lost by death a greatly honoured member of their Guild -Mr. Richard White, of Appleton. He was one of the finest craftsmen, a gentleman, and a true friend of all who knew him, a very accomplished ringer and one well loved throughout the Guild and beyond. The meeting stood in his memory.

Apologies were received from the Vicar of Churchill, Miss Lottie Pimm and Mr. E. Pearson.
The reports of the Master, treasurer, secretary and librarian were in the hands of the printers and were taken as read.
Acknowledging his re-election as Master, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg said: 'One's duties get not less as one gets on in life, and I do not have as much time as I did to give to the affairs of the Guild, but while I can I will carry on.'
Mr. Frederick Sharpe was re-elected Deputy Master, and Mr. A. D. Barker hon. treasurer. Commented Mr. Barker on his election: 'I must thank, you, but wait until the credit squeeze starts.' [Laughter.]

FOUR NOMINATIONS FOR SECRETARY

When the election of general secretary was reached the Master said they were very sorry to hear that Mr. Hibbert had signified that he was not able to carry on for another year. He would like to express their gratitude to "Bill' for the work he had done since his father's death, and before that he did a great deal in helping his father. They had enjoyed at their meetings his little talks full of pep.
Supporting, the Deputy Master said Mr. Hibbert was quite a link with the past, and they appreciated what he had done in the years that had gone. If he was determined to retire they wished him many years of happy life. [Applause.]

There were four nominations for the post of hon. secretary. They were Mr. C. H. Kinch, secretary of the Bicester Branch. Mr. Philip Walker, of Oxford, Mr. William Butler, hon. secretary of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch and Miss Marie R. Cross, hon. librarian, of Radley. A ballot was taken, the voting being Miss Cross 56, Mr. Walker 25, Mr. Kinch 21 and Mr. Butler 20. Miss Cross was then elected hon. secretary.
Mr. Hibbert, in thanking the Guild for their appreciation of his services during the last ten or 12 years, said with his father they would have been 40 years on the job mext year. Until he took the job on he had never held an office, not even deputy foreman of his tower. He took it on not so much for the Guild but to help on the last few years of his father's life. It was good for every Guild and Association to have a change and he hoped that Miss Cross would be happy in the office. 'I bid you goodbye.'

[Applause.]

Miss Cross thanked the members for her election and said she would do her best to follow in the footsteps of those who had gone before.

Mr. H. L. Roper was elected the new librarian. He said he was engaged on indexing ' The Ringing World ' and 'The Bell News,' and if any member wanted any particular information he would endeavour to find it.

Elected to the general committee were Messrs. G. Cauldwell. W. F. Judge. G. Holifield, W. Dixon, Miss D. Fletcher, Messrs. C. J. Hibbert, A. R. Pink, P. Walker and W. J. Price.

The Central Council representatives of the Guild for the next three ycars are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker, Mr. W. Butler and Mr. A. E. Lock.
Upon the recommendation of the general committee it was decided to hold the 1957 festival at Oxford.

RESTORATION FUND GRANTS

Grants from the Restoration Fund of $£ 35$ for Bloxham and $£ 20$ to Mapledurham were approved.
An application was submitted to the meeting on behalf of Woodstock. Mr. F. Sharpe said the cost of this work was $£ 300$ and all but $£ 80$ had been raised. A grant of $£ 5$ had been made by the Branch. The Guild voted the sum of $£ 20$.
At Churchill a scheme costing approximately $£ 1,100$ was proposed. Five bells were to be rehung, one recast and two more provided. It was not likely that the work would be done in the immediate future, said Mr. Sharpe. A grant of $£ 35$ was approved.
Mr. Hibbert said he had been in correspondence with Mrs. Townsend, of Oxford, who was anxious to get St. Peter's in the East going again. The tower was to be restored, which would cost $£ 3,000$. The sum of $£ 150$ had been collected.

Mr. P. Walker said the $£ 150$ was collected a considerable time ago. At the present time there was no incumbent of the church.

No action was taken.
An amendment to the rules was approved to the effect that ringing members should pay not less than 2 s . 6 d . per annum.

BANNER FOR THE GUILD

Mr. G. Edmans said the Mothers' Union, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, British Legion and other bodies had banners, but they had not a banner to carry in procession. He submitted designs for a Guild banner and a District banner.
Other speakers favoured the idea, and to Mr . A. D. Barker's observation that the Guild had no money to pay for it, a member said he thought the branches would pay.

It was decided to appoint a small committee consisting of the officers and Mr. Edmans to go into the question of design and cost, and report back to the Guild.

A recommendation, proposed by Mr. J. Brooks and seconded by Mr. H. Wingrove, that ex-officio members of each Branch be members of the Guild general committee, was referred to the committee. Mr. Fowler expressed the opinion that the constitution of the committee was far too large.

The Master said it was proposed by the general committee that Mr. T. Trollope should be elected a vice-president of the Guild, of which he was a foundation member. Commending the recommendation, Mr. Wigg said they would all like to express their gratitude to Mr. Trollope for the interest he had taken in the Guild. The election was agreed to.
In reply, Mr. Trollope, who is now 96, said he had the privilege of being trained by that great ringer Mr. J. W. Washbrook, but he had not done much ringing in recent years.

BOW BELLS

Mr. T. J. Fowler called attention to the Bow Bells Appeal, and said he felt it was up to all the ringers of England to assist in the restoration of these bells. They heard the back ten in the B.B.C. interval signal, and there was no doubt that they were a very fine ring. The striking in those call changes for the interval signal was magnificent. He suggested that each branch secretary should endeavour to get each tower to subscribe and send their contributions to Mr . Barker so that the money collected throughout the Guild could be sent as one contribution.

Mr. A. D. Barker said he had already received $£ 14$ from four branches. Upon the suggestion of Mr. Roper, it was decided to wait until the next committee meeting, and from the Guild Restoration Fund make up a round sum of say $£ 50$ or $£ 100$.
The meeting confirmed the election of 312 new members during the past two years.

THE LUNCHEON

The luncheon was held in the hall of Christ Church, with the Master presiding.

The toast of 'The Visitors ' was proposed by Mr. T. John Fowler, who accorded a special welcome to Mrs. Mayne and Mr. John Mayne.

Mr. John Mayne in reply said there was a close relationship with the Oxford Guild and both his parents, who did much of their early ringing in the area of the South Bucks and East Berks Branch. He proposed the toast of ' The Oxford Diocesan Guild.'
The toast was acknowledged by the Deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe), who moved a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church, to the Rev. H. H. Martin for his excellent sermon, to Dr. Watson, the new organist of Christ Church, and to the choir of 16 men and 16 boys from a number of churches in the diocese, and to Mr. Wilfrid Wilson for duplicating the agenda sheets.
Mr. T. W. White, editor of "The Ringing World,' was also called upon to speak. He gave an encouraging report on the goodwill engendered from a very large number of readers to meet the increased postage and the very heavy rise in printing costs. The committee, he said, were very appreciative of this help. The great need was increased circulation and if they could secure another 1,000 subscribers they would go a long way towards solving their difficukies. On an average they had lost 50 subscribers each year by death and about 40 by marriage. Ringers naturally married ringers, and when they became one it was perhaps natural that one copy of 'The Ringing World' would meet their needs. There must be a constant search for new readers. He felt confident that 'The Ringing World' would survive the present difficulties.

A big programme of ringing was available for visitors during the afternoon and evening, no fewer than 13 towers being open.

TRURO DHOCESAN GUILD

The Diocesan Ringing Festival was held at Gulval on July 15 th . These festivals are not usually well attended, but this year was an exception, for there were over a hundred ringers present.

Change ringing began in Cornwall. at St. Mary's, Penzance, and, when these bells became unringable, it sprang up at Gulval under the late Dr. Symons. The poor-toned six were soon increased by the addition of two trebles and later replaced by a lovely eight by Taylor. In a wooden frame outside is a 17 th century bell, a relic of the original three, which was sounded many times at the festival by the curious and is of good tone.

The Vicar, Canon Buckley, was unfortunatelv away, and the service was taken by his locum, the Diocesan Secretary, the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella giving the address and the lesson being read by the secretary of the Penzance Branch, the Rev. A. S. Roberts. Other clergy present included Canon Murley, of Ludgvan, and the Vicars of Crowan and Zennor.

There was a splendid tea and seven other towers were open besides Gulval. The collection at the service amounted to $£ 213 \mathrm{~s}$. Id for Guild funds. Thanks are due to Mr. W. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Rowe and all others who helped to make the festival such a success.
W. H. R. T.

EXTRA POSTAGE

Last week 59 postal subscribers kindly remitted the extra 1s. 3 d . postage. We give special thanks to the many who decided to pay for someone else. Remirtances may be sent either to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greysiones. Cusgarne. Truro, Cornwall, or to the Editor.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Coleshill on July 7hh.

The bells are a ring of eight, mostly by Joseoh Smith, of Edgbaston, hung anti-clockwise. and hardly worthy of the glorious spire, which is a landmark for miles around. The beautifully-kept ringing room is a tribute to the care expended upon it by the Coleshill ringers.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Vice-President Edgar Shepherd, who referred to the loss sustained by the Guild by the passing of Wil liam C. Dowding, who had served as ringer and chorister at St. Martin's for some years, and, more recently, as Ringing Master at Edebaston Parish Church. The members stood in silence for a moment as a loken of respect. The inwer elections, as life members, of Miss Ruth Jackson, of Sale, Cheshire, 'and Mr Harold Marcon, of Loughborough, were duly ratified.

Edgbaston and Shirley were both proposed as the venue for the next meeting on October 6 th, and, upon being put to the vote. Shirley obtained the majority.

After further ringing at Coleshill, which was of a good slandard, ranging from Grandsire to Soliced Surprise, several members visited the neighbouring village of Shustoke to ring on the six bells.

BACK TO HIS OLD LOVE AFTER 47 YEARS

In 1909, a young man of 23 who was a member of the famous Kettering band. and a very promising conductor, packed his bags and sailed for the United States. He had rung quite a number of peals by then, the last being one of Superlative in December, 1908.

Settling in Philadelphia, where he eventually married, he was disappointed 10 find that the eight bells were not rung. So, not expecting ever to return to England, he tried hard 10 pur out of his heart his great love of bells and bellringing.

Two years ago, a record of Kettering bells ringing Grandsire Triples was sent to him across the Allantic. The sound of the bells was too much for the 'young man'-now nearing 70 and before long his brother received news that this year was to see him in Kettering for a six months holiday.

In May, Morris Alfred Turner set foot once again in the belfry of the great tower of Kettering and, with some trepidation, tried to ring a bell. After so many years, naturally, the exact technique was not quite at his fingertips, but gradually, and with encouragement from the captain (his brother, Mr. Robert F Turner), confidence returned. Now, after several weeks' practice, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Kent and several other methods have been re-mastered, many towers in Northants. Leicestershire and Hampshire visited, and many happy hours spent in meeting old friends and new in the belfries.
A peal attempt is being arranged at Kettering in the near future so that Mr. Turner can show 'The Ringing World that he hasn't forgotten how; and from his performances so far, it looks like being, as far as he is concerned, a good. well-struck peal.

Mr. Turner will be pleased to hear from any of his old friends, at his brother's house, 160, St. Peter's Avenue, Kettering, Norihants. He would also be pleased if anyone can tell of any ringing in the U.S.A. at the present time.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Despite rainy weather, some 14 ringers, representing eleven towers. attended the Eastern District meeting at Widford on July 14th. The bells were rung in the afternoon up till 5 D.m.. when the party adjourned to tea.

Mr. J. Suckling was elected to take the chair for the business meeting. Howard Fyson, of Great Amwell, was elected a ringing member. The secretary announced that the August meeting was to be held at Standon, and it is hoped that Ware bells would be available for a meeting in Scptember.
Ringing was resumed until $8.30^{\circ}$ p.m. Methods rung during the meeting included Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles, Little and Plain Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

NEWS FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

Mr. W. Izard, of Slindon, 980, Arundel Drive, Victoria, B.C., sends the following account of how the flag of change ringing is maintained in Canada :-

On Thursday, July 12 h, which was the 20th anniversary of the dedication of the bells in Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C., the bells were specially rung to commemorate the event. A quarter-peal of 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung on Thursday evening, followed by a touch of Bob Major and another touch of Stedman Triples. The ringing was very good throughout and the striking excellent. a great deal of credit being due to the rinvers, as thev rang under unusual conditions of American and other visitors coming up into the ringing chamber whilst the ringing was in progress. Altogether there were 35 visitors, and. whilst conducting the quarter-peal, the conductor had to repeatedly request the visitors to be silent.

Those taking part in the ringing were: Dr. Longridge 1, Margaret Izard 2, Godfrey White 3. Douglas Boniface 4, Arthur Izard 5, C. Millard 6, E. W. Izard 7, J. V. Donaldson 8.

The ringing was also carried out as a comoliment to Mr. Millard on the birth of a granddaughter

The following is a copy of an interesting tribute from the 'Victoria Daily Colonist': -

WITH THE BELL RINGERS

'Every once in a while, and often when it is least expected, Victorians on their way home from work hear the gay pealing of bells from the tower of Christ Church Cathedral. Once they rang to welcome King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother. Again they rang to welcome the then Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, before Her Majesty succeeded to the Throne. They have pealed in the reioicing of this nation at the end of cruel war. They have sounded their sombre note on accasions when no one was rejoicing; and now the bells have become part and parcel of what Canada associates with Victoria.

Almost unique in Canada is this ant which keeps alive the centuries-old practice of bell ringing, with its strange names from an Elizabethan past. Grandsire Triples cannot be rung by the uninitiated. Bell ringers must undergo a tong process of training, on a voluntary basis. That the self-sacrifice which goes into this does not go unappreciated is evident from the remarks of residents and visitors to the community alike when the bells drive the swallows out of their roosting places. As yet, however. Victoria has not made as much of this attraction as could be done, and the gift of the bell ringers has too often been taken for granted. It is a precious one.
It is now some time since you have had news of the ringing in Victoria. On January 1 st . 1956, the bells and the ringing of the hells were on the television broadcast Wide. Wide World of the National Broadcasting Corporation, New York City, N.Y., and we were informed that approximately 32 million neoole saw this broadcast. This was a live broadcast and only those who have experienced taking dart in a live broadcast will realise the difficulties involved with ringing.

PLAIN, ALLIANCE AND LITTLE METHODS

Dear Sir,-The two following extents illustrate in (1) the combining of Plain, Alliance and Little methods, and in (2) the splicing of Treble Bob, Plain, Alliance and Little methods.

Number two is a variation of Mr. C. K. Lewis' wonderful 720 in 22 methods (Treble Bob and Plain), and now makes the number of methods included (23) equal to the number spliced by using regular and irregular methods together.

1 hope they will prove of interest to Spliced Minor ringers.-Yours sincerely.

EARLY RINGING

Dear Sir,-I regret that the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards should describe my attitude toward early ringing as "shocking " whilst missing the point of my remarks.

He completely overlooks the fact that this ringing takes place almost invariably on Sundays which are Bank Holidays when the industrial population most certainly is not up and moving about within half an hour of 6.30 a.m., at least not in industrial or residential Birmingham, and I still contend that to disturb the well-earned rest of these people and their families for want of a little thought is likely to have dire results at some time, perhaps not too far distant. We must realise that times are changing and the mind of the populace is changing with them, and whilst preserving what is good in tradition and custom let us not preserve that which only infuriates. Mr. Edwards would surely not wish us to take such areas as Spain and the Moslem countries as our example.

Incidentally, he too appears to have fallen into the common error of supposing that bell ringing arose from a desire to 'hail the festal day,' whereas its origin dates from long before the Christian era, when bells were utilised to drive away 'evil spirits.' and this idea persisted right through the Middle Ages.-Yours sincerely,
W. E. BOX.

SAFFRON WALDEN GREAT RINGING DAY

Dear Sir,-May I take the opportunity of adding to that which has already been written by Mr. Claude Rush, of Eye, Suffolk. On June 30th I travelled 50 miles from Woburn, Beds, to attend the Great Ringing Day, taking two other ringers with me. I hoped to have the opportunity of some 12 -bell ringing, but alas, the best that could be attempted all the afternoon was an indifferent touch of Bob Major.

As there were no other meetings being held in the area that day I remained until about 7 p.m., hoping that some more ringers might attend, but did not see any more. After tea we continued ringing on the back eight.

It was not worth while travelling 50 miles to attend the 333 rd anniversary of the Great Ringing Day.--Yours sincerely,
Toddington, Beds. PETER NEWING.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

About 30 members and visitors attended the quarterly meeting at Evershot on July 14th. Canon C. C. Cox conducted the Guild service and the Rector of Evershot gave the address, in which he extended a warm welcome to the branch. He said that ringing held no place for the lazy man and that ringing meant work in every way. The average ringer was a good churchman and ringing was an act of worship.

A substantial tea was provided in the Village Hall. At the business meeting it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Broadwindsor on September 15 th and a by-meeting at Bradpole on August 22nd, starting at 6.30 D.m.

In a brief speech to conclude the meeting, Canon Cox welcomed the visitors, who included some from as far afield as Leicester and Doncaster. He thanked the Rector for his address and use of the bells, the organist for playing, and last, but not least, the Evershot ringers and their wives for a grand tea provided free.

Handbell ringing followed before going on to ring at Melbury Osmond and further ringing at Evershot. Two sets of handbells were available and members coming out of the Village Hall after listening to the 'first cleven' were much surprised to hear the second eleven' going Grandsire Triples outside. ## NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  North Norfolk Branch

A very successful meeting was held at Coltishall on July 14 th , when over 40 mem bers attended from a wide area. Good use was made of the bells before and after the service, which was conducted by the Rev. W. R. F. Addison, V.C.

Squadron-Leader G. W. Massey. of Frome, Somerset, and K. . . Dunston, of King's Langley, Hertfordshire, were elected non-resident life members, Alan Ellis, of Norwich, a ringing member, and Mrs. Spencer Brothers, of Norwich, an honorary member.

Mr. A. G. Bason, Ringing Master, proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. W. R. F. Addison. Mr. W. Stibbons for playing the organ and to all who helped to make the meeting a success. This was seconded by the President, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston.

4. Construction and Improvisation of Touches. Having secured a safe and convenient method of calling the bells into rounds the conductor is now free to experiment with callings, putting bobs and singles where he will, knowing that he can get the bells Home when he so desires. Usually a conductor will wish to exploit the musical possibilities of Grandsire Triples and to work to some plan, and it is the object of the following notes to indicate to him what he may compose and even venture to improvise in the tower (for this is the most interesting adventure of all), by such devices as the rotation of 567 , the turning of two bells by use of the single, the employment of the bob block, and so on. What is said on these matters does not claim to be exhaustive; rather is it meant to draw attention to certain principles and to leave the experimentalist to develop the plans indicated.

Before dealing with convenient placings of musical groups of bells it is important to note the great utility of the two touches given earlier in this work. They are the two round blocks which produce 423567, 342567 and 234567 (and, of course, 243567, 324567 and 432567). For the means by which we are able to secure the extent of the 000567 course ends will enable us to obtain the extent of any other grouping of back bells. Two instances are given here, examples

a. and $c$. showing the principle applied to ringing the extent of the 000246 course end, and examples b . and d . showing the extent of the 000756 course end. The fragments given provide the extent of the In-Course course ends, and the use of singles will secure the three Out-of-Course course ends. In passing, it is worth noting that in a. and b. the course ends come up at calls, whereas in $c$. and $d$. the course ends come at plain leads. The former, with their double dodging at the course ends may therefore be said to be the more musical.
The Rotation of 567 . From rounds there are two quick ways of reaching 000756 . One is by S.P.S.P., and the other is S.P.B.P. The former is quoted in the preceding paragraph. It will be clear, one imagines. that if this calling is repeated the course end 000675 can be brought up. Another repetition will. of course. bring 000567 . It will thus be seen that it is not difficult to start from rounds, move into the position 000756 , calling one or more courses in this position (by use of callings b. or d. above), and then turning the bells over to 000675 , and subsequently (when one wishes) to 000567. This is a very useful type of touch for the beginner to experiment with, for 567 are never away from each other, and 234 are always reasonably close.
The inverted forms of these positions are 000765,000576 and 000657 , and it is possible to move into these quite easily and to use them as we used the other three. An interesting thing to note is that when we are using 000657 or 000576 we may find that rounds has suddenly appeared at handstroke. Experience will teach where this is likely to happen, and will enable the conductor to ward off the contingency if he wishes to avoid it, or to take advantage of it if he wishes to bring the touch to an end.

234567 The position 000765 is a useful
S $\overline{572634}$ one. It can be reached from S 572634 rounds by turning over 7 and 5 465372 with a single, as shown here. Six 436257 course ends are obviously avail423765 able, and the position has the ade. vantage that it can be turned to 000567 quickly and simply by another single on 57.

The Sunday service conductor should make himself perfectly familiar with the two callings S.P.S.P. and S.P.B.P., which effect the useful transposition from 000567 to 000756 , and that shown at e., which turns 000567 to 000765 . By the use of these it is possible to carry out much play on 567 , moving easily from one position to another, and never at any time getting awkwardly remote from 000567 . The important furction of the calling e. in turning 000756 to 000657 will be dealt with separately, and it may be well at this point to consider the use of the single for turning a pair of bells.
Use of the Single. Any pair of coursing bells may have their positions reversed by calling a single when they come down in front of the treble. Study of the calling e. will show this reversing of two bells, 7 and 5 , and it must be clear that the same calling could be usefully employed to change over other pairs of bells. If, for instance, we arrive at 234576, we may note that but for the reversal of 6 and 7 we are in rounds. Indeed rounds may be secured quite

234576 easily by turning 6 and 7 with a
253647 how this is done, and it will be S 672453 apparent that after the third call - 346572 the touch has run into the plain - 253746 course.
h. A much more frequent and important use of the single in turn-342657 ing two bells is revealed in the 364725 well-known turning from 000756
364725 to 000657 . When the big bells are 376542 in the latter position then they are 357264 well placed for coming into
325476 rounds at handstroke, and, in fact,
342657 in the course 342657 rounds does k. actually occur at the handstroke of the lead before the course end. Example k. shows the whole course, and it will be seen quite easily that 234567 comes as the handstroke of 325476 . The lead before this, 357264 , is merely the Queen's Change with 46 reversed. The conductor should familiarise himself with the sound of this row, for it is the easily recognised harbinger, the very forerunner of rounds at handstroke. It provides an interesting and easily aciieved coming Home when the conductor has been exploiting the 000756 position; and he cannot, indeed, go far astray.

423756 From 423756 he may reach S 764523 rounds at handstroke in three
-357264 where the single merely turns over 3254766 and 7, the next call producing
m . the warning 357264 . If he wishes he may turn 6 and 7 from 234756 or 342756 , arriving at 423657 or 234657; from each of these, courses called B.B.P.P. will soon bring 325476 at handstroke
The Bob Block. The Bob Block, called S.B.B.S., has been referred to earlier in these notes, and notice should certainly be taken of the utility of this device. If it is substituted for a bob the result is that three leads are added to

Newark District

Approximately 30 ringers and friends attended the July meeting at Barnby-in-theWillows. Ringing, under the District Ringing Master, Mr. C. Reed, ranged from rounds to Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.
Tea was at the Willow Tree Inn, where it was later learned that the 'good lady' had risen at $5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. in order to provide home-made cakes for tea. This was due to a warning on the previous night that the power would be off during the morning.

Whatton-in-the-Vale was confirmed as the place of the September meeting, and, after some discussion, it was decided to visit North Muskham in November.
Mr. F. W. Vernon proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. T. Vessey for all the work they had done and to the churchwardens for the use of the bells. The meeting closed and ringing continued until 8 D.m. A 'get well' card was sent from the meeting to Mr. G. E. Foster, one of the District Committee, who was ill in Nottingham the touch, and if the lead selected for the sub746325 stitution is a musical one there $\overrightarrow{357246}$ will be a double portion of music. S 357246 In the calling of the Bob Block -623457 the caller should not attempt to - 746523 count the leads. He should note S 537246 the pair of bells down in front of the treble at the first single, and wait for the same pair (the other way round) to come down before the treble again.

46 and 74, and their inversions. These are the two most musical positions that can be secured in Triples, and the music of each is greatly enhanced if the conductor can bring up such lead-ends at a call, where the double dodging causes a repetition of the termination. It is therefore more effective to call, where possible, $\begin{array}{lll}357246 & 325674\end{array} \begin{aligned} & \text { courses, as shown here as } \\ & \text { distinct from courses }\end{aligned}$ $\overline{325674} \quad \overline{362457}$ distinct from courses $362457 \quad 346725$ also. in this type of 346725374562 course, the opportunity $-573246-253674$ to substitute a Bob Block for one or more of the bobs and so enrich the musical experience.
The position 46 actually exists in the plain course, but the practitioner may, of course, wish to approach it from some other position. It may he secured with advantage (and perhaps in the best way) by calling 6 into the hunt and then calling the 4 th Before. This gives 046000 . A call the next lead will cause 46 to double dodge behind. (Note that the process is the same as that used for getting 67 together when we are calling the bells round.)
The position 74 is, of course, handled in precisely the same manner. The 4th is called into the hunt and the 7th is called Before. This gives 074000. A call at the next lead brings 74 to double dodge behind. The musical effects of these two terminations are good whatever bell is in Sths place, but the most pleasing are probably 000246,000746 and 000674.
The inversions 64 and 47 are not so pleasing as 46 and 74 . the music coming on the handstroke row. But when the bells are muffled at backstroke then the inverted forms are very useful, for the musical rows stand out very prominently on the handstroke. A little thought will show that 64 can be produced by 4 into the hunt and 6 Before, and 47 by 7 into the hunt and 4 Before. Alternatively, from the 46 position 4 and 6 can be turned over by a single music, and turn it back to 46 and revert to the set touch. The same trick may be employed with 74 courses.

To bring this matter to a conclusion it will be instructive to take an example of an improvised touch and show its possible developments. Although the whole touch is for convenience given at once, let us suppose (as well as we can) that the conductor has set off from rounds with no really fixed intention except that of starting with some 46 music. We will then imagine how his thoughts run and how his plan develops.

Following one of the set plans for getting 46 behind, the caller rings Part 1. Note here that if he wishes he can easily insert Bob Blocks where 246 come behind, and so add leads to his touch.

Arriving at 753246 he uses a single to put the bells into the plain course, and here, if time presses, the bells can run home.

At this point, however, our conductor decides that he wishes to extend his touch, and so by calling a bob the lead after A. he stops the bells from coming round and reaches B. and then 423567 (C.). From here he knows that a bob four leads later will bring rounds, and so again he has the chance of a quick finish. Time still permits of further ringing, and he takes $C$. as the starting point for another little adventure, turning the bells to 000756 and playing with this position until either he is tired of it or time is up. By remembering that 7 and 6 are easily turned with a single the conductor is not afraid of losing himself and has no difficulty in bringing the bells round at hand.

CONCLUSION

These papers have dealt only with the elements of Grandsire and Plain Bob, and it must now be left to the enterprise and persistence of the conductor to pursue his studies and to apply these principles to other methods suitable for Sunday service ringing. The Major methods will not lend themselves so well to improvisation or to calling round with ease, but Stedman Triples, once an easily-handled means of calling round is mastered, will offer scope for the extemporisation of musical touches. Grandsire Caters, too, allow plenty of scope for experiment. hut naturally some extra allowance of time must be made for calling round.

There is no easy path to success in the mastering of the principles set forth in this essay. Abundant experiment on paper and downright boldness in the tower are essential, and if the student is sufficiently in earnest he will not grudge the time spent in study or be afraid of the occasional false venture he will make in the ringing chamber. To obtain 'the freedom of the methods' should be his fixed aim, and success in this aim will enhance both his pleasure and his utility as leader of the band.

THE 29 COURSES AND THEIR ORIGIN

Dear Sir,-Early this year there was some correspondence about the 29 Courses. As it was in the 1920s when these came into being, a new generation of ringers has arisen who may not know much about these courses. Let us trace them from the beginning.
In 1844 (according to the Rev, C. D. P. Davies) Charles Middleton, of Norwich, composed his famous five-part peal of Cambridge Major, 5,600 changes. Very little information is available about Middleton or the system he used, but this was the first true peal of Cambridge ever composed. All previous peals were false and Mr. Davies later established that these 25 courses were the only ones available for a Major peal with the tenors together. Today this is still true, so the 2 M 2 W 3 H became familiar to most conductors. The alternative form (which was the first to be rung on February 11th, 1873) is 2 H 2 M 21 H , but this was not used in the 29 Courses. There are, of course, several variations for shortening the 5,600 , but they need not concern us here.
After World War I when ringing got under way, many of the existing records began to be beaten, such as the Stedman Caters record and T.B. Major. The late Rev. H. Law James, who was looked upon as the stormy petrel of the Exercise, turned his attention to Cambridge Royal composition. By adapting Middleton's to Royal you get 9,000 changes, but H. L. J. knew that this was not long enough so he managed to add four more courses at the beginning to make it 29 or 10,440 changes. This length was rung at Walthamstow on December 26th, 1923, conducted by Wm . Pye, and remained the record till December 15th, 1951, when it was beaten at Worsley by 15,480 , conducted by J. Worth. The extra courses are got by IW then NW four times with a final W, this puts you back in Middleton's, and the last 23 courses are purely so. The 29 Courses were rung to Maximus 15,312 changes on August 5th, 1929, again conducted by $\mathbf{W m}$. Pye. This is still the Maximus record.

After this peal Mr. Gabriel Lindoff wrote to 'The Ringing World ' suggesting that H. Law James should withdraw his claim to the authorship and let it be known as Middleton's Peal. Mr. Lindoff had good cause to attack the Rev. H. Law James for he brought out a 14,144 of London, beating Lindoff's 14,112 by one lead. This, Mr. Lindoff claimed, was just an extension of his peal, but H. L. J. never withdrew. After the Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne it was understood that H. L. J. said there was the problem of putting in the extra courses and therefore he was justified in claiming the peal. The long pcal at Worsley is ascribed to the late T. B. Worsley, but the 29 Courses form the basis of the peal and are all in the composition as published in the 'R.W.' Well, we hope that it has been made plain what these 29 Courses are, and anyone interested can cast them cut or obtain them from other sources. Certainly Middleton knew nothing beyond his 25 and Cambridge Royal would not be rung in his day. Any band who wish to beat the present records has a real big job on, and there we must leave it.-Yours, etc., Preston, Lancs.

HOLTON'S PRE-REFORMATION BELLS

The three bells at Holton, Somerset, dating back to 1430 or earlier, and cast by Robert Norton, are to be retuned. The existing cast-in staples are to be drilled out and new crown staples fitted. While the bells are at the foundry the tower and belfry are to be repaired. All but $\{90$ has been raised to meet the cost, and the hope is expressed that bell lovers desirous of retaining such bells of archroological value will send donations to the hon. treasurer, Holton Parish Church, Mr. G. B. Wylam, Green Pastures, Holton, Wincanton, Somerset.

A SUSSEX WEDDING  Rev. P. R. Blackman - Miss J. E. Curtis

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Storrington, pealed out on the morning of July 7th for the happy occasion of the marriage of Miss J. E. Curtis, of Storrington, to the Rev. Peter Richard Blackman, of Chichester.

Known to all West Sussex ringers as Jean and Peter, both have done much to foster change ringing, especially among young ringers, and appreciation of this good work, together with good wishes, was ably expressed by the Storrington ringers, together with friends from Chichester. Walberton and Washington, in ringing various 'touches' before and after the service. Other Sussex ringers elsewhere marked the happy event with the ringing of peals.
The fully choral service, conducted by the Rev. W. G. Fostick, former Rector of Storrington, was followed by nuptial Communion, at which the present Rector, the Rev. G. Mackenzie, officiated. The singing was delightfully accompanied by a small orchestra.

Given away by her father, Mr. W. Curtis, the bride looked charming in her gown of ivory lace over satin, with a short veil and headdress of orange blossom. The bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Curtis. sister of the bride, wore turquoise net over taffeta with a halo headdress. Both carried bouquets of pink roses. Mr. David Treagus, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride also served the church as a chorister and Sunday School teacher, and her friends were responsible for the beautiful decorations at the church.

The service was followed by a splendid reception at the Village Hall, after which the happy couple left for their honeymoon in North Devon. They will make their home at Aylestone, Leicester, where the bridegroom is now curate.

Among the numerous presents were a set of fish knives and forks from West Sussex ringers, also cooking utensils from the ringers of Chichester Cathedral where, prior to his ordination, the bridegroom was Ringing Master and server.

MR. EDWARD LINTIN

Many who read this obituary notice will not have known Edward (Ted) Lintin. He rang no peals, and hardly ever went to a ringing meeting. Yet he served Branston (Lincs) tower well in his own simple way (for he could only drum the tenor) for well over 40 years. In latter years the ringing at Branston has almost entirely been Minor, and as it was almost inevitably a 720 that was attempted, ' Ted ' did little ringing. Yet if the band turned up short there he was to ring the tenor. He did not mind being left out, for he had also his office of vicar's warden to fulfil, and as long as the bells rang for service he was happy.

For over 20 years he was treasurer of the band. and from him we always received a concise and straightforward presentation of accounts. He enjoyed doing this work. and it was always a great pleasure to him if the previous year's total was surpassed.

No. his name has not rung throughout the Exercise, he has accomplished no great feats of ringing. Therefore it is not as a ringer that we remember him, but as a man. It is in his willingness to serve his church to the best of his ability that he will be remembered.

His death occurred on July 8th and the funcral service was held at Branston on July 12 th. and the following ringers attended: A. G. Brummitt, A. Ingall, L. Willders, C. Speed, J. E. Cook W. Green (Branston) and L. Thompson (Waddington). Directly after the service the bells were rung half-muffled, and in the evening a quarter peal was rung to his memory, and on the following evening a full peal was rung.

RUSHDEN, NORTHANTS

On July 7th, Rushden ringers, together with friends from neighbouring towers, had a very enjoyable outing to the borders of the Cotswolds. Leaving home at 7 a.m.. the first stop was at Leamington. where the tall. slender tower of the Roman Catholic church sways violently when the bells are rung. Indeed. the sway of the tower was so bad that it was almost impossible to keep the second up at every third whole pull.
Journeying on to the village of Salford Priors, the nice octave here would just not go to Superlative, but nevertheless the time spent at this tower was still very worth while, Lunch was taken at Evesham at a café overlooking the river, and then, whilst the non-ringers basked in the sunshine, the ringers spent an enjoyable hour on the 12 hung in the massive bell tower. Be sides ringing rounds on 12, treble ten and Grandsire Caters, a very well struck course of Superlative was going along in fine style, until it suddenly collapsed near the end. Photographs and purchase of ice cream caused a late departure from Evesham, and more time was lost at Alcester, where the local towerkeener had forgotten his key. Nevertheless Stratford-on-Avon was reached on time, and after a climb up the very narrow stairs. the time allotted to ringing on this fine ten passed all too quickly.
The last tower of the day was at Lillington, where the tiny ringing chamber, already a quarter filled with the organ blower, was somewhat inconvenient. but nevertheless this did not prevent a very well struck touch of Stedman from coming round. Late dinner was taken at Leamingion, and after the younger members (together with some of the not so "young-uns') had had a game with a ball in a neighbouring park, the coach journeyed homeward, to get back to Rushden soon after 11.15 p.m., after a most enjoyable day's outing.

MILTON-NEXT-GRAVESEND, KENT

What turned out to be one of the brightest days of the year so far was chosen by the organiser of the Milton band for their annual outing on June 30th.

A full load of 32 ringers and friends were on the road soon after 8.30 for a trip through their own county of Kent. The first stop was at Ospringe, Faversham, where the eight bells were soon going for an hour in various methods.
A run along the coast brought the company to Margate. Unfortunately no towers were available on this run, as Whitstable was booked for two weddings and Birchington bells were not back from the founders. After lunch an hour's ringing at St. John's. Margate, was much enjoyed. What a delightful ring, and how beautiful the ringing chamber is kept!

The return journey was commenced at 3.15 by way of Canterbury to Chartham, where a halt was called to try the ring of six. These turned out to be rather noisy in the belfrynevertheless some good Minor was tapped off.

On again through lovely scenery, where the hops were making a brave show, by way of Charing and Lenham to Harrietsham, where an excellent meat tea was waiting at the Rendezvous Cafe. After tea, a visit was paid to the church. when the eight bells were kept going for an hour. Two of the local ringers joined in with Stedman and Plain Bob as they do not have much opportunity of ringing these methods owing to the lack of ringers.

The last call was at Halling, where the Rev. George Adams, a former curate at Christ Church. Gravesend, welcomed the visitors. Unfortunately there are no ringers at this church and the bells are somewhat neglected. A fine struck course of Cambridge and Surprise finished the day's ringing.

Home was reached at 10 o.clock after a glorious day of sunshine, and thanks are due to all who helped to make the outing a success. At every tower one of the locals welcomed the visitors.

ALL SAINTS', BIRCHINGTON

July 14th was a day to remember in the history of the parish church of All Saints', Birchington, as it saw the fulfilment of months of endeavour-the ringing again of the bells at this ancient church, though with a vast difference. The former nondescript eight were no more. Here was a ncw ring and a new sound over the village. The old bells were taken down last November and sent to the Whitechapel Foundry, broken up and recast. The old frame was removed and a new steel frame erected in its place.
The service of dedication was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. C. Donaldson, assisted by the Rural Dean, Rev. S. A. Odom (Vicar of Margate). The act of dedication was made by the Archdeacon of Canterbury, Ven. A. Sargent. Immediately following the dedication the local ringers set the bells going into rounds, and the ears of other ringers in church were alert to catch, for the first time, the sound of these new bells, which from rounds went into a touch of Grandsire Triples, and which could be heard during the pauses of the hymn which followed. This proved to be a very effective combination.
Among the large congregation present were the Deputy Mayor of Margate, Councillor J. C. Reed, ringers from Margate, St. Laurence and St. Peter's, together with the officers of the Canterbury District of the Kent Association.

Following the service the organisers of the appeal, clergy, choir and ringers, were entertained to tea, after which in a few remarks the Vicar thanked all who had taken part in the day's ceremony. He mentioned that the collection during the service amounted to $£ 18$, and that this had been made up to $£ 20$ by a donation from the Margate ringers, which he said was a magnificent gesture.

After tea the bells were set going in various methods. everyone expressing a very high opinion of the "go' and sound of the new ring The tenor now weighs $8 \ddagger$ cwt.. and they constitute a really beautiful ring. Great credit is due to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank on the way they have carried out this restoration. Now a word of credit to the 'local boys': by their own efforts they have transformed the ringing chamber and given it an entirely "new look. Old matchboarding has been removed, and the whole given a complete new colour scheme in paint and distemper; they have added new ringing mats and floor covering.
Many of the older residents came to hear the new bells, great satisfaction being expressed by all. Needless to say, the bells were christened in the good old way during the last two hours of a memorable day.

MUTUAL RESPONSIBILITY

THROUGHOUT the ages poets and philosophers of many races and languages have pointed out to us that it is by no means easy for youth and age to live and work together. It is indeed well known that there are incompatibilities of outlook, due to differences in maturity and experience, that lead the young person into impatience with his elders and drive the older person into an attitude contemptuous or patronising. It may be that the difficulties attendant on the co-operation of youth and age have, in all ages, been exaggerated, for the record of human progress provides ample evidence of the partnership of young and old in the inception and consummation of great enterprises. Certainly the last forty years, with their two great wars and their startling social changes, have shown not only the possibility but also the sheer necessity of the combining of the powers and potentialities of all age groups for the forwarding of major projects.

It is not without interest, therefore, to dwell once again on the relationship between the old and experienced change ringer and the young beginner, and to consider what each owes as a duty to the other. Years ago, it would seem certain, the standing and prospects of a beginner in the art depended largely on the view the ringing band took of his services, and whether they really wanted him to recruit their numbers or whether they looked upon him as an intruder, one who might wish to share in the moneys that might come their way.

The position of the beginner to-day is, generally speaking, quite different. The means by which he may get instruction are much more ample, and the relationship between the older and the younger ringer has very much altered. In very few places, one imagines, would there be a minor conspiracy to exclude the anxious inquirer after bell knowledge. There would be companies and towers in which, quite rightly, he could not expect to have freedom of ringing until he reached a recognised standard of efficiency, but there can be few parts of this ringing isle where a band, however advanced, is not on the look out for an enthusiastic beginner. So whatever the position forty, sixty or a hundred years ago, it seems to be certain that this is the age of opportunity for the young person, the age of welcome for the earnest student.

This brings us then to the question of mutual responsibility, for if the beginner has a right to expect tuition and encouragement so the tutor has an equal right to demand respect, attention and industry from his pupil. In the beginning the initiative is with the instructor. It is his business to plan the stages of instruction carefully, so that while the pupil acquires correct technique he is not discouraged by the prospect of too many difficulties appearing at once. And in the later stage, when some facility in change ringing is being secured, no instructor should comn the capital mistake (one that has often been made) of teading the learner to believe that the higher methods are something entirely beyond his powers, things only to be attempted by mysterious circles of cleverness called the experts.

At the beginning the learner will be fully occupied with his desire to acquire skill in this fascinating art of ringing and will have very few views on anything. But when he has reached some degree of competence the initiative passes to him and it is here that he may begin to disappoint his tutor by seeming less tolerant of instruction, less amenable to hints, and perhaps failing to give evidence of study at home. But it is in these matters that he owes the biggest duty to his painstaking instructor, and it is certain that in these matters he can either dishearten or greatly reward his teacher. For the supreme joy of the true teacher is to see his pupil outstrip him.

Whatever responsibilities therefore the older man has in respect of the young beginner (and they are important ones) there can be no possible doubt that when the learner reaches the stage of discretion and discrimination he owes it to those who have laboured for him to improve himself according to his talent, walking humbly and observantly, but without abasement, among his elders, mindful that the whole realm of change ringing is freely his, but that only with a great price will he obtain this freedom. E.C.S.

HARTHILL (ALL HALLOWS) & ITS BELLS

By NORMAN CHADDOCK

The village of Harthill lies off the beaten track in the most southern tip of Yorkshire, about 10 miles from Sheffield and Rotherham, and almost within a 'stone's throw' of the counties of Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire. Although there is a large colliery at Kineton only two miles away, this is hidden by higher land between, and Harthill and its surroundings are completely unspoiled by modern industrial development.
The Harthill scene has in fact changed little over the centuries, the village being off the main routes, and its population has increased but slowly to its present 1,300 or so. It possesses some ancient buildings. most prominent of which is the fine old parish church of All Hallows, a good portion of which remains from Norman times.
Before 1937 there were six bells, the oldest dated 1660 . There is known to have been four bells in the church tower in 1632, but by 1660 these had disappcared, probably in 1649 during the Commonwealth when many churches were denuded of their bells by the Puritans who looked upon bells, music, etc., as idolatrous.

THE OLD BELLS

There is an interesting entry in Harthill Church papers: 'This year of Our Lord God. 1632 . . . bell frames . . etc., for four bells, $£ 105 \mathrm{~s} .$, . . . workmanship, $£ 10 \ldots$ iron, cords, runners, £6 4s. 6 d .'

Soon after the return to this country of King Charles II in May 1660, a new bell, cast at Nottingham, was hung in Harthill Church. It Nottingham, was hung in Harthill Church. It was inscribed:
God Save the King, 1660 , was inscribed: 'God Save the King, 1660 .' King Charles' return was certain, and this bell must have been ordered and cast some time before, a risky venture whilst the Puritans were still in power.
Sir Thomas Osborne (1632-1712), later made Lord Earl Danby, Duke of Leeds, and King Charles II's chief adviser, had many estates and interests in Harthill and frequently attended the parish church. He was responsible for the first two bells being installed in Harthill Church, the second one being installed in 1668 and inscribed 'I swectly tolling do call to taste on meat that feeds the soul.' It became the dinner bell signal for mid-day meal, a custom that was maintained until 1940 .
In 1711 the bells were augmented to five and a new wooden frame fitted. A sixth (treble bell) was cast by $J$. Warner in 1889 in memory of G. T. Hudson. Rector, 1852-1884.

By 1930, Harthill's six bells were in a sad state of repair, and it was decided to replace the six partially cracked bells with a new ring of eight.

A ROMANTIC STORY

Reference has been made above to Sir Thomas Osborne, and it is interesting to know how he acquired that title.
In 1540 , living in a cottage near Hard Dam, a stretch of water near Harthill, was a poor widow named Osborne. Sir William Hewitt, a rich London merchant who was owner of the cottage, was impressed by her young son's brightness and intelligence, and persuaded the widow to let her son become an apprentice in his cloth merchant's business at his premises on London Bridge.

One day a negligent maid allowed Sir William's only daughter, Anne. aged 4, to fall into the river, which was in high flood. Nearby was young Edward Osborne who, brought up by Hard Dim. was an excellent swimmer. He dived in instantly and rescued the child, and as a result was taken into the family of the proud and grateful Sir William Hewitt.
The romantic climax of this story is that Edward Osborne, when he grew up. married Anne Hewitt, and in 1583 became Lord Mayor of London and, during his year of office, was knighted by Queen Elizabeth. This is truly a story outshining that of Dick Whittington. This Edward Osborne was great-grandfather of Sir Thomas Osborne. The Osborne (Leeds) family remained patrons of Harthill benefice until very recently when the right to appoint ncw incumbents was delegated to the Bishop of Sheffield.

THE NEW BELLS

The money for the new ring, installed in 1937, was raised mainly through historical pageants about Harthill, organised by Mr. Harry Garbett (head teacher of Harthill Council School for 31 years) and others. A keen historian, Mr. Garbett wrote a 300-page history of Harthill, which was published in 1950. In it he makes some outspoken comments on the new ring of eight bells He says:

Why are they not rung? formed? Why has not a team of eight been rings of eight bells ... and yet has no team to ring them. It is a disgrace.
He also makes reference to Harthill's former handbell team, saying: 'From 1870 to 1900, Harthill was famous for its handbell ringers, and sweetly could they chime, charming many with their playing, but now they are heard no more. The handbells rest silent and dusty in an old box in the church belfry, fit resting place, near to those mightier bells, which like them. seem fated to eternal silence.;

The old six bells had a tenor in F weighing 18 cwt. (foundry unknown). Their total weight was 65 cwt .
The new eight bells, cast by Gillett and Johnston in 1937, range from tenor $18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. to treble $4 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt., and were rung and officially opened on Coronation Day, May 12th, 1937. Outside they are a very musical ring. Inside the ringing chamber they are very noisy indeed the ringing chamber they are very noisy indeed. which accounts for the fact that only one peal has been rung on them-a fully-muffled one.
The arrangements in the ringing chamber are The arrangements in the ringing chamber are marred by a clock case and two huge iron brackets fixed to the wall to support a clock winder's platform. With modification of these arrangements and provision of another floor, the ringing chamber could be made very comfortable.

A RETROGRADE STEP

Although almost 20 years have passed since Harthill Church acquired a melodious modern ring of eight bells, she has not yet obtained a team of ringers to ring them. Determined to have the bells sounded somehow, the late rector had electro-pneumatic chiming apparatus installed a few years ago, so that the bells could be clocked electrically from a keyboard in the vestry. This apparatus involves the use of an electrically-driven air compressor, rectifiers to provide direct current, an electrical relay and an air cylinder for each bell plus an elaborate system of wires, rods and balanced hammers. From an engineering point of view this is a very fine installation.
Harthill, however, has recently had a: new incumbent who wishes the bells to be rung in the proper way by his own churchpeople, to offer a worthy office and activity for the Church's Anglican Young People's Association, thus providing another means to retain their interest in the church. and at the same time enable Harthill bells to be heard in their full beauty of tone. Elsewhere in this issue will be found a report of efforts to help the Recior of Harthill to obtain a team of ringers.

ASHBRITTLE, SOMERSET.-On July 20th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: J. Smith 1 , Miss M 4lderman 2, Mrs. E. A. North 3, S. N. Bristow

A RINGING EXCURSION IN CORNWALL

One of the most delightful ringing tours our partv has had occurred on July 18th, when we crossed the Tamar at Gunnislake into the delectable Duchy. Ascending the steep slope through the village we ran along the main Highway to Liskard, passing many old-time mine workings with ivy-mantled shafts looking like pollarded trees. With views away to Plymouth Sound the scenery was impressive.
The venuc of assembly was Menheniot ( 6, 12 cwt .), where we were met by the Vicar (the Rev. C. M. Thomas), who helped us with our ringing and pointed out many interesting features in the fine old church. Prebendary F. V. Cox. with Messrs. M. Atkins and Ryall, led us back to Liskard, where we were joined hv Messrs. Mvers (four) with Mrs. Bill Myers and the two boys, Messrs. A. and R. Truman and Mrs. Pat Johnstone with her little son, Richard. We were welcomed by Mrs. Hiscott and Mrs. S. J. Robinson (treasurer of the Truro Guild of Ringers). Liskard Church is one of the largest of the Duchy and has a fine tower with a spacious ringing chamber. In the north wall of the tower there is a fine characteristically ornamented Norman arch and the newel stairs in the north-west corner have been rebuilt. Good touches of triples were rung on the fine old octave (tenor 19 cwt.).

St. Cleer, a moorland village with magnificent views, was our next tower ( 6,12 cwt.). Here we rang good touches on the pleasing six. Near the fine church is a holy well said to have been used in ancient days for baptism. At St. Ives the church has many interesting features of the 14 th century and a fine 16 th century tower in which hang six good bells. with tenor near 19 cwt . Thanks to the industrv of the local ringers the bells run well and good touches were rung. Here we met an old Plymouth ringer.
At Callington, a shrunken market town, now a favourite residential centre, we were met by the Rector, the Rev. G. H. Marsh, who kindly directed us to the cafe where we had tea. Good touches were brought round on the lumpy six. The tea, which Mrs. Bolase (an erstwhile ringer) provided, was excellent. At the tea-table Prebendary Cox informed us that this trip qave him his 1.000 th tower, and we celebrated the occasion (at tea) on his generosity

The name of John Pennington, bellhanger, who died in 1826. we read on a tombstone in Stoke Climsland Churchyard. We have wondered why the famous firm who cast so many hundreds of bells in Devon and Cornwall should have worked from Stoke Climsland, and the derelict mineworkings seem to give the answer. The area around was once the centre for the production of tin and copper. In the tower we found a fine ring of eight (tenor near 19 cwt .). They went like tops, and good touches of Stedman and Grandsire Trinles came round. Meanwhile Mr. W. H. R. Smale with Mrs. Pat Johnstone ran of to see the famous Duchy herd of Devons, so it was that the Rev. W. H. Smale and his brother had to tarry awhile as the body of the nartv moved on to Calstock ( 6 , tenor 9 cwt .). Here qood touches of Doubles and Minor Here good touches of came round. Interestingly, the bells seemed more tuneful when the tenor was turned in. In this tower the first peal of method ringing in Cornwall was done in 1864: Bannister. Cocks and Trelawnev were mentioned in this connection and the peal board hangs in the tower. The Rev. P. M. Denny gave us a welcome.
Fine towers, fine bells, beautiful weather, delightful scenery and a wonderful excursion into the Duchy. What more does the change ringer want?

Bangor, Co. Down, bells will be heard on the B.B.C. on August 12th at 9.30 a.m. They are an eight with a tenor of 21 cwt . in E .
The Prestbury, Glos., band have sent a donation of five guineas to be added to the Gloucester and Bristol Association donation to the Bow Bells Fund.

St. Andrew's Church, Cromhall, Glos., is at present a five-bell tower, as the pre-Reformation fourth is cracked. This is a tragic blow to the keen young band, but they ring on the five, and hope to raise enough money to be able to replace the broken bell.
The date of the quarter peal rung at St. Marv Magdalene, Holloway (July 22nd) coincides with the 40 th wedding anniversary of Mr . Tom Bevan and the 77th birthday of Mr. Josenh Hawkins. The band wish to associate the auarter with them.
The peal at Mickleton was rung on the birthday of both the local Vicar, the Rev. E. P. Hammond, and Tower Secretary, Mr. F. G. Kinchin. The members of the band are very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Kinchin for entertaining them to an excellent tea after the peal.
Commenting on the Central Council meeting, 'Irish Bell News' states that the report on Broadcasting and Television dealt solely with the activities of the B.B.C. and did not consider the activities of Radio Eireann, which gave ' plenty of time' in any broadcasts during 1955, especially in regard to Wexford and St. George's, Dublin.

COSSIP

With reference to the peal at Atcham, Shropshire, in commemoration of a 720 of Bob Minor rung there on May 25th, 1827 (see 'R.W.' dage 356), Mr. Ernest Weatherby, of Los Angeles, writes that three of his relatives rang in that 720 , which at that time was a rare event. He rang on the bells two years ago when visiting Shrewsbury. His friends will be pleased to hear that he is enjoying verv good health.

Mr. George E. Fearn and Mr. John Penfold rang their 600th peal together on July 14th. The deal was Stedman Cinques rung at the Cathedral.

The 26 th issue of 'The Belfry,' the quarterly magazine of the Maidstone District, has been published, and features St. Peter's Church, Boughton Monchelsea. The instructional section deals with Cambridge Court Maior and Hull Surprise.
The printed report of the Kent County Association for 1955 is now available. An improvement in the number of practising members noted in 1954 continued in 1955, and their total now stands at 1,055 . Assets of the Association at par total $£ 1,274$, of which $£ 1403 \mathrm{~s}$. is in the General Account, $£ 1726 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d , in the Belfry Repair Fund and $£ 1679 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. in the Benevolent Fund.

Through a typographical error a line was omitted in making a correction in our issue of June 29th (page 407) to a quarter peal rung at Weston Favell, Northants, on June 10th. The quarter peal should read: 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: T. L. Pendred (first quarter, age 15) 1, Miss G. Ashby 2, Miss J. Downie 3, G. F. Roome 4, P. Amos (cond.) 5. Our sincere regrets to the sender.

BOW TENOR RECAST

Lord Mayor's Pride in Famous Ring

 TN the presence of the Lord Mayor of London (Ald. Sir Cuthbert Ackroyd), the Master of the Worshipful Company of Founders (Mr. H. C. Bradbrook) and the Master of the Worshipful Company of Turners (Mr. Claude Munday), the tenor of St. Mary-le-Bow was recast at the Whitechapel Foundry on Friday, July 20th.There were other distinguished guests present, including the Rector of Bow (the Rev. Hugh Evans Hopkins), his churchwardens and vestry clerk, and also the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths (Squadron Leader John S. Mason).

The occasion was one of national importance. Photographers and news-reel cameramen were there in numbers to give publicity to the event and to enlist thereby the sympathy of the public in the rebuilding of St. Mary-le-Bow Church, and the restoration of its bells, destroyed by enemy action in 1941. Many thousands of pounds have yet to be raised.
Proceedings started with the time-honoured custom of the Master Bellfounder (Mr. A. A. Hughes) inviting the Lord Mayor and the Masters of the two city companies to cast a coin into the furnace. 'The Big Bell of Bow ' was cast first, and this will be approximately 42 cwt. Afterwards came 'Fabian,' the second, which will be associated with the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The casting completed, the Rector of Bow invited the Lord Mayor to speak. In his speech the Lord Mayor expressed his pleasure at being present on such an historic occasion. 'It is fitting,' he said, 'that the Lord Mayor of London should be present. in memory of my predecessor. Richard Whittington, who heard it ring in 1375 and by its sound was inspired to return to the city of London, and finally became Lord Mayor in 1397, and again in 1406 and 1419. This bell, I understand, is a direct descendant of the old curfew bell which was cast in 1334 and ordered to be rung at 8 o'clock every night. That bell was destroyed in the Great Fire of London in 1666, and was recast in 1669 and again in 1738, and as they all knew, it was destroyed by Hitler's fury in 1941.

The City of London, and indeed Greater London, should be proud of this new curfew bell, the largest of the Bow bells, in the restored church of Christopher Wren's finest steeple in London.

The Lord Mayor added that he was proud to be the alderman of Cordwainer Ward in which St. Mary-le-Bow Church was situated. 'Long may these bells ring again, not only for the City of London and its historic associations, but to remind the people of London and the visitors who come to our city that the earth is the Lord's and the fullness therein!'

He then read Tennyson's poem:
Ring out the old ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow:
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.
Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more;
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.
Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife;
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws.
Ring out the want, the care, the sin,
The faithless coldness of the times;
Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,
But ring the fuller minstrel in.

Squadron Leader John S. Mason, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, naming the second bell of the ring 'Fabian, after the father of English change ringing, Fabian Stedman.

Ring out false pride in place and blood, The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right, Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease ;
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold ;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.
Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.
The Rector of Bow, with his churchwardens (Mr. H. G. Hicklenton and Mr. J. F. C. Bennett), and the vestry clerk (Mr. John H. L. Trustram), then named the recast tenor "Bow." This was done by the Rector who recited the inscription on the bell, ' Now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen Thy salvation.

On the waist of the bell is inscribed:
The Bell of the Parish of St. Mary-le-Bow. Rung for Curfew 1334. Destroyed by Fire 1666 Recast 1669. Recast 1738. Destroyed by enemy action 1941. Recast 1956
Hugh Evan Hopkins, O.B.E., M.A., Rector. Howard George Hicklenton Julien Frederick Charles

Bennett, D.T
John H. L. Trustram, M.B.E., M.A., vestry clerk, Named Me
'Bow'
Around the soundbow is a decorative border of London Pride.

The Master of the College Youths then stepped forward to name the second bell, using these words: ' I, John Stanley Mason, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, name this bell "Fabian"?
This bell is inscribed : " Whoso offereth praise glorifieth Me.'
The Rector ther offered prayers and gave the blessing.
Afterwards the Lord Mayor and the visitors inspected the bells that had already been cast. Mr. Douglas Hughes and Mr. W. A. Hughes were very fully employed in explaining the principles of bell-founding to the company, who were impressed by the novelty of the occasion.
Mrs. Hughes afterwards served tea to the Lord Mayor and other guests. As the Lord Mayor, who was wearing his robes and chain of office, left. people lined the pavement of Whitechapel Road.

Hutton's Cordial Welcome

The summer quarterly meeting of the SouthEastern Division was held at Hutton on July 7th. It is a long time since the Division visited this little 5-bell tower, and the local band and church folk made the visitors more than welcome. About 40 members attended the service in the tiny church and enjoyed a special anthem rendered by the choir.

At the business meeting, which followed an ample tea, the Master of the Essex Association (Mr. R. C. Heazel) was present. The Rector of Hution took the chair, and said how pleased he was to welcome the Division to his church. Mr. Crampion called the attention of the meeting to the absence of Mr. Reeve, one of our oldest ringing members, who was in Rochford Hospital with a broken leg following an accident on his motor cycle. It was agreed that a letter should be sent to Mr. Reeve from the Division wishing him a speedy recovery. An apology for absence was received from Mr. F. Gant.
New members were elected from Shenfield, Hutton and Brentwood, and eight non-resident members who stood in a peal at Waltham Abbey were confirmed. Mr. Campion gave a brief résume of the activities of the Central Council this year, touching on the new membership of the New South Wales Association, Carter's Ringing Machine, and 'The Ringing World' finances. Next year the Association would have the honour of entertaining the Central Council at Chelmsford.

Mr. Heazel asked the meeting to support the Association Dinner at Chelmsford later in the year, and mentioned the eminent members of the Church in Essex who had promised to attend. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 2$. The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks, and ringing continued at Shenfield and Brentwood during the evening. Thanks are duc to the Rector and the entire Hutton band, who made everyone so welcome and provided such an excellent tea.

MRS. K. LOCK NATIONAL PRESIDENT OF LADIES' GUILD

THE annual general meeting of the Ladies Guild was held at Worcester on Saturday, July 7th. As there is no branch of the Guild actually operating in Worcester, all the arrangements were very kindly made by Mr. J. Johnson, the general secretary of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, and most efficient these arrangements proved to be.

The bells at Claines (10) and St. John's (8) were available during the morning, St. John's and All Saints (10) in the afternoon and All Saints' after the meeting. Special arrangements were also madc for those staying overnight to ring at the Cathedral (12) and Evesham bell tower (12) on Sunday morning.

The service was held in All Saints' Church, conducted by Bishop C. E. Stuart. the organ being played by Miss D. Hicks. The Bishop based his address on the text: Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.' drawing the comparison between ringing and the Christian life.

Tea was prepared in the Abbot's Kitchen in the Old Palace, and over 90 members and friends sat down, the Bishop presiding. Tea was very kindly given to members of the Ladies' Guild by the Worcestershire and Districts Association, and the grateful thanks of the members were expressed by Mrs. O. Barnett, in the absence of the president. Mrs. E. K. Fletcher

The Guild was welcomed to Worcester by Mr. W. B. Cartwright, and after votes of thanks had been passed to all those who had helped with the arrangements, the gentlemen left the meeting.

The ladies then held their business meeting, Mrs. Barnett taking the chair. This was one of the most representative mectings held by the Guild for several years, for of the 13 districts covering England and Wales, only two districts were not represented, some of the members travelling long distances in order to attend

MRS. FLETCHER'S GREAT WORK

The main item on the agenda was the election of a new president, Mrs. Fletcher having stated that she did not wish to continue in office Those who know anything of the early history of the Guild will know that it was mainly through Mrs. Fletcher's efforts that the Ladies' Guild was formed. and she has held office continuously since its formation in 1912 . being general secretary and treasurer for 35 years and president for the following nine years.

Six members were nominated by the Districts, of whom three stated they were not willing to stand. A ballot was therefore held, as a result of which Mrs. K. Lock was elected. In thanking the members, Mrs. Lock paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Fletcher, and proposed that she should be offered honorary life membership. In supporting this, Miss E. Steele and Miss H. Snowden also spoke in appreciation of all that Mrs. Fletcher had done to get lady ringers accepted in the belfry.

This is the first oceasion on which it has been suggested that honorary life membership should be conferred on a member of the Guild, and those present were unanimous that Mrs. Fletcher should be the first to receive this tribute. It was then agreed that it should also be offered to Miss E. Steele, who has also done a great deal of work for the Guild.

Several resolutions were passed for circulation to all Districts, to be discussed at the next annual general meeting, and it was agreed that this should be held at Newcastle-on-Tyne on July 6th, 1957.

The secretary showed the members the peal book which has been given to the Guild, and stated that Miss Muriel Reay, of Birmingham. had very kindly agreed to enter up the peals Votes of thanks to all those who had helped brought a very happy meeting to a successful conclusion, and it is hoped that "Beau Pepe was present and appreciated the "good-natured humour ${ }^{\text {a }}$ of the discussions.

NEWS FROM AUSTRALIA

A Sydney ringer. Marsden Hordern, of St. James'. Turramurra, is now on his way to England where he will be living for the next four years. Also in England is Ruth Donnelly, of St. Jude's, Randwick, while Philip Cooper and Ron Nogare, of St. Andrew's, Walkerville, are expected later in the year. If you hear an Australian accent in the tower, please go up and give its possessor a welcome to England.

News of an engagement. a marriage and a birth have reached us from Sydney. Laurie Curran, captain of St. Mary's Cathedral. Sydney, and Betty Heron, also a ringer of Cnristchurch St. Lawrence, announced their engagement on March 23rd. On the same day Ian Napper, of St. Jude's, Randwick, was married to June Carpenter at their local church. On April 3rd a son (Ian Keith) was born at the War Memorial Hospital to Margaret and Bruce Dunbar, of All Saints', Parramatta. 'It is interesting to note,' says the Editor of 'Ringing Towers.' "that the three most recent births amongst bell ringers in Sydney have all been boys, and that none of them has been given names that can be confused with the word "bob"-a wise precaution.

Banbury and District Branch

About 80 members and friends from 19 towers attended the annual meeting of the Banbury and District Branch, held on July 21st at Great Tew. The service was conducted by the Rev. E. N. C. Sergeant, and the organist said how much she had enjoyed playing to the vigorous singing.
Tea was served in the School, and at the meeting which followed the Branch chairman, the Rev. C. O. Moreton, presided, supported by the Rev. C. E. Wigg, Master of the Guild, who gave the members some helpful words of encouragement. Miss M. R. Cross, the Guild secretary. and Mr. A. D. Barker, the Guild treasurer, also addressed the members.

The Rev. C. O. Moreton was re-elected chairman. and Mr. H. L. Roper was elected secretary and treasurcr in succession to Mr. E. C. Pearson, who had been elected at Great Tew 25 years ago. Mr. E. E. Pearson was elected Branch Ringing Master, so ensuring continuity of the influence of the Pearson family in the Branch. Mr. W. Watson was elected auditor, and the representatives to the general committee were reelected.

The lovely ring of bells was kept going before and after the service. It was good to see a number of the young members of the Branch taking part in Kent and Double Norwich; they are getting on.
The fine weather, the lovely sylvan surroundings of the church, and the good attendance combined to make the meeting a memorable one.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch was held at Bovey Tracey on July 21st, when there was a fair attendance, including a number of the younger element. Ringing took place throughout the afternoon, this being followed by a service in church, conducted by the Rev. A. G. Lough (Vicar of Hennock). A Branch member, Mr. W. J. Harvey, acted as organist.
After tea at the Torvue Cafe, the usual business meeting followed, with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair. Four new members were elected. It was resolved, after discussion, that the next meeting, due to take place at Buckfast Abbey. should be held on Saturday, October 6th, and it was also decided to arrange a by-meeting at Coffinswell on Saturday, September 8th.
It was resolved to inquire into the question of a weekend visit to Lincolnshire next summer. and the usual votes of thanks concluded the mecting.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

In spite of slight damage, caused by lightning. the bells of St. Nicholas'. Norton, were rung on July 21 st for the District meeting. Perhaps the holidays and the weather were to blame for the many absences.
After the tea and business meeting a short service was held by the Rev. G. Kenyon, then ringing continued. Hitchin practices are beginning again on Mondays: the next meeting will be at Pirton on August 25th, when it is hoped to ring the special method, Winchendon Place Bob.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NON-RESIDENT LIFE MEMBERS

Dear Sir,-At various times over the years suggestions have been put forward that all our Associations. Guilds and Societies should be amalgamated into a National Association.
Whether this would be to the advantage of the Exercise I very much doubt, for after all, tradition does count for something and a National Association would become an unwicldy, impersonal organisation.
I suspect one of the reasons for the establishment of a National Association is that for ringing a peal in an area outside his own a peal will cost a ringer anything from 5 s . to 10 s . for non-resident life membership of the organisation under whose auspices the peal may be rung, plus any booking fee that is customary

To my mind, 10 s , is too much for ringing, in many cases, an isolated peal. This point has come under my notice, here in Lowestoft, one of the centres of the East Anglian holiday area, where we do get quite a number of visitors, many of whom I am pleased to say are promising youngsters who would like to join in a peal but feel that 10 s. is a bit too much to pay for it. Moreover, being situated on the border of the Norwich Association and the Suffolk Guild, the 10s. fee for the Norwich against the 5 s , for the Suffolk has come in for some caustic comment from our neighbours just across the border.

The point I want to make is that every encouragement should be given to anyone who would like to join in a pcal outside their own particular Association's area. This applies more particularly to young ringers, and in this connection may I say that there is nothing better than a peal for improving a young ringer's striking, more especially because of the experience gained by ringing with fresh faces and strange bells and surroundings.

May I make in all seriousness this suggestion : That all ringing organisations should abolish the non-resident life member rules and in its place have a voluntary fee of. say. 1s. above the ordinary annual subscription, the receipt being endorsed 'Compounded member,' or something of that sort. This produced would entitle a ringer to ring a peal in any part of the country.

I think something of this kind is in operation in one or two secular organisations in the country, and has operated very well indeed
I do not think that, in the long run, any Association would suffer financially by this scheme : they would probably gain, and it would encourage those who are not so keen.
Of course. there are details to sort out such as the position of the non-regional Socicty, but I cannot envisage any great difficulty in that direction. I sincerely believe a scheme of this sort would be of great benefit to the Exercise as a whole.-Yours very truly.

EXPLANATION WANTED

Dear Sir.-We at Stoulton were interested to read in 'The Ringing World ' of July 20th the account of a tour of threc counties by a band of young ringers. Interested inasmuch as we had been wanting to know who the ill-mannered people were who saw fit to visit the church here without prior permission to ring, and, being unable to find the vicar, ransacked the cupboards to find the key. Then, regardless of what damage they might do. or as to whether anyone was seriously ill near the church, they rang the bells.

By this behaviour they not only do themselves a disservice but also those who follow after them.-Yours sincerely.

ON HOLIDAY IN ENGLAND

Dear Sir,-As secretary of the New South Wales Association of Ringers, and one-time Editor of 'Ringing Towers' (of which I am at present treasurer), my husband and I have had the pleasure of meeting and entertaining many English ringers in Sydney.
I flew to London last Monday for a brief ten weeks' visit to my parents here in Quedgeley. Tom is in New York on business and will spend only one week in England on his way to France and Italy. As this trip was arranged suddenly I was unable to write to some of our friends over here. I now find that I do not remember the address of several of them. Such ringers as Philip and Joan Gray, of Bristol, and Joan Hills, of Essex, I hawe already contacted as we knew them very well in Australia.

However, I would be very pleased if you could ask anyone whom we have met, in particular Mr. Fred Savage and Mr. Jim Bennett. if they would care to write or phone me for news of Australian friends. (Telephone: Hardwicke 206.) I apologise for not writing to them before I left Australia.
In addition. I wish to bring greetings from all Australian ringers to our friends over here, I wish it were possible for me to spend time amongst ringers during my short stay here and tell them something more of conditions 'down under,' but I'm afraid that will be impossible.
Tom, I am sure, will be contacting Mr. E. A. Barnett. who wrote to us concerning our affiliation with the Central Council.
We are hoping that Philip Gray will be able to arrange a peal for Tom whilst he is here, but apart from this, and a ring here in Quedgeley, I'm afraid his time will be occupied.
The Quedgeley ringers rang a 'welcome home ' quarter last Monday.

Thank you for keeping interest in Australian ringing alive through paragraphs which you print in 'The Ringing World.'-Yours sincerely,

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

Dear Sir,-I have noticed several interesting points in the peal columns in recent weeks, and thought your readers might like 10 know of them. Several towers appear for the first time since the war. Croscombe's last peal was in 1935. Cromer's in 1933, whilst the recent peal at Hayes was only the third this century-the previous one being in 1936.

Then we have Broxbourne's first peal for 22 years. Kendal's first for 20 years. and Bolney with the last peal in 1938. Even longer than all the above. Halling hadn't appeared in the peal lists since December. 1920.

The most outstanding event is still to come! It isn't often that a peal is recorded in a conquered 'tower after a lapse of nearly 60 years. But that appears to be the case with Chipping, Lancs. The recent peal seems to be the first this century! The last peal was rung in 1898. the seventh peal from 1892 when the first peal was rung. That is most unusual.

Although there was no footnote to that effect. I think the peal at Ampney Crucis, Glos, was the first on the bells. I confirm that the peal at Bunney. Notts. was also the first in that tower. -Yours faithfully.

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

CORNELILS CHARGE'S COMPOSITIONS
Dear Sir.-I note with regret the passing of Reuben, the last of the brothers Charge
It might be of interest to those who knew them, that I have in my possession two notebooks that belonged to the late Cornelius Charge. One is superscribed Compositions rung as composed by C. Charge at various towers throughout the country in which he did not take part: 129 cuttings from " Bell News " and "The Ringing World " includes 19 Silver Jubilee peals for H.M. King George V and 14 peals of Coronation of King George VI.'
At the reverse end, of the book are many compositions in various methods, by such composers as R. Williams (Liverpool). Samuel Marsh (Killamarsh). Arthur Knights. York Green. Henry Dains, Charles H. Hattersley, and many others.
The second notebook is of - Peal Compositions by Cornelius Charge, of London.' and has a large selection of mostly Plain Bob. Grandsire and Stedman, etc.-Yours sincercly.

South Staffordshire Ringers Visit South Herefordshire

The usual hand of enthusiasts from Bushbury, Lichfield Cathedral. Little Aston. and St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, spent half a day among some country towers south-west of Leominster on July 14th.
Thanks to the co-operation of Mr. Leslic Evans, a ring was enjoyed on the excellent eight at St. Mary-the-Virgin's, Eardisland. These are an old six. since recast with two more added by John Taylor and Co. in 1953.
A Rudhall six of 1727 was next sampled at St. Michael's, Lyonshall. Of poor tonc. they went quite well with a tenor of 12 cwt . in G. St. Mary's Church. Kington. has a ring of six with a tenor of 13 cwt . They not only went all their weight, but also the ringing is spoilt by the second being out of tune. They were originally a Minor five by Rudhall in 1736, a tenor was added in 1739, and finally a treble was cast by Evans in 1764.
There was originally a ring of five at St. Mary's. Eardisley, cast by Rudhall in 1708. A treble was added to them in 1887 by Mears and Stainbank, and now they are an excellent little six (tenor 8-1-27). We not only enjoyed the bells but also the enthusiastic welcome by the Vicar, who invited us to go again whenever we liked. At his suggestion we then called in at a meeting at Whitney, where the local band and the Vicar welcomed us. We enjoyed this lightish five. by W. Evans in 1740, but the fourth was recast by Blews in 1868.
It is a great pity there is no local band at all at St. Mary's. Clifford, for here we found amid fine scenery a very good eight (tenor 12-1-14). Once a ring of six. by Evans in 1736, the fifth and seventh bells were recast and two trebles added in 1897 by Mears and Stainbank.

Unfortunately at this point Jeffrey Webb had to leave us as the rain had well and truly set in.' and he had to travel back to Lichfield by motor cycle. However, we splashed our, by then, weary way on to the last tower. St. Nicholas', Norton Cannon. Here amid paraffin lamps we rang Doubles on the fair five (tenor $8 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Before Mears and Stainbank cast a tenor for them in 1904, these were a Minor four by Rudhall in 1769.
Home was reached at various times from midnight until $1.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. ; all were wet, tired but contented. Methods rung during the day were Cambridge Surprise Minor. Kent T.B. Minor, Plain Bob Minor and Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob and Reverse St. Bartholomew, not to mention the St. Clement's Minor-a new venture for some. Many thanks to all who helped us gain access to the various towers. C. M. S.

THE TEACHING OF RINGING - 1

Following the acceptance by the Central Council of Miss Marie Cross's proposition as to the rcvision and supplementing of the booklet of 'Hints for Instructors and Beginners,' this subject is again topical.
But the consequential official action to be taken covers only part of the general requirement. The remaining part is indicated in the front page article of 'The Ringing World' for June 15th, 1956, by 'J. P. F.', entitled: ' Instruction or Destruction'; where he spotlights the core of the problem when he says: 'In a correctly-planned "Course of Instruction," instructors of several types (specialists in their respective spheres) would be needed.' This article seeks to show that such organisation is essential and practicable.
In the post-war development of ringing the importance of this aspect of training has become increasingly evident. To this fact one has been privileged to refer in these pages from time to time, more specifically perhaps in article No. III of the series, 'Topic for the Month,' in which was outlined a 'Manual of Instruction, with a synopsis of contents, based on many years of experience and brought up to date with proved modern methods. (Vide 'R.W.' No. 2296 of April 1st, 1955.)

COMPETENT TUTORS THE BASIC  \section*{REQUIREMENT}

As St. Paul has reminded us, abilities and - gifts ' vary from one person to another. Not all ringers are brilliant conductors, nor even brilliant Surprise ringers, nor need they be, so long as they are good at some aspect of ringing, even if it be only well-struck rounds and callchanges for services; but we must have some who are good teachers of ringing, for they are as important as any in the Exercise.

It is generally understood nowadays that not everyone has or can have the faculty of being a successful teacher. Certain innate qualities. basically, are essential; but the most successful teachers are generally those who have been trained in the art of instructing. Fortunately we have many such in the Exercise today; though there are also others, untrained, who have the ability to dissect and set forth interestingly the subject matter, to spot and correct faults, and generally to get results.

RINGING INSTRUCTION FREQUENTLY FAULTY

But we have to face the fact, nevertheless, that comparatively few ringers have been and are being properly trained in the all-important initial stages. For the rest, their partial success obtains in spite of, rather than because of, their early 'instruction. If that had been sound and complete (with checks and tests eliminating every one of the score or more of potential faultsources, and with adequate practice solo in the acquisition of skills in bell-control and bellsound recognition), before any attempt to ring open' with others, any success they have would have been the greater and the more rapidly achieved. And the proportion of successes would be far higher with the percentage of wastaze in training far less. Altogether worth while, surely? What, then, is lacking?

An interesting appraisement may be taken by almost any ringer of his own early training, to show him whether it was all it might have been, by asking himself whether it included such items as the following (and the list is not ex-thaustive!):-

1. Proper introduction to the bell chamber and the ringing chamber with logical explanation of what is involved in the physical action of ringing; or a general familiarisation to promote intelligent understanding of what is to come.
2. The musical aspect-tone recognition and bell identification. (Full use of tapped handbells.)
3. Some appreciation of the elementary mechanics involved in ringing. (Fewer broken stays and 'frightened-off ' pupils.)
4. Emphasis on rope-approach, on the stance and general attitude.
5. Release drill. (Elimination of rope injuries.)
6. Dummy action or handling motions on a ' lowered ' bell-rope.
7. Introduction to rope-handling, in successive stages, and in logical stage-sequence, on a 'raised ' bell-rope.
8. Bell-balancing, especially from the moment of pulling solo, and no 'open' ringing until this is up to 80 per cent. pulls.
9. Raising and lowering action taught in detail, solo, on a silenced bell. (To complete confidence in bell-handling.)
10. Positive indication of, and relentless checking of, the 20 -odd common faults in approach and handling of a bell.
11. Learning of dodging, place-making, then hunting, on few bells silenced (four is probably the best for this), before being stood-in for, say, hunting the treble in "open " method-ringing.
12. Questions of pupil and by pupil on handling and control.
Once again, the foregoing are merely typical.
THREE ESSENTIALS OF A PROPER SCHEME OF TRAINING
Experience has shown, beyond all doubt, that for the success that ought reasonably to be gained, at least three things are primarily essen-tial:-
(a) A system of training demanding a minimum of recognised standards, available in print. (A Training Manual.)
(b) Training of tutors according to such a system.
(c) Examination and certification of tutors, (High standard.) The certificates or diplomas to be for the particular stage or stages of training in which they have qualified; of which stages there would be at least seven.
The question at once poses itself: How is this to be done, and who is to do it? Some may say: 'The Central Council.' But while the Central Council can set its 'seal of authority' on a work of some kind or on an achievement, and can depute committees to undertake special commissions (for example, of investigation or summarisation and report), yet it can hardly be expected to get down to detailed work amongst the rank and file of ringers everywhere. Such must be done, for example, territorially. Or it could be done by an organisation which, from a modest localised beginning. might spread (particularly through the help of the Council's official journal. 'The Ringing World ') throughout the land; and, in showing its value by such growth, receive the cachet of the Council.

COURSES FOR INSTRUCTORS

Some years ago the Immediate Past Master of the Guild in the writer's territory discussed the possibility of courses of training for instructors. The idea had tremendous appeal, and it was visualised in the form of weekend conferences at a suitable centre, with lectures and demonstrations over two days; and the issue of a specially-prepared summarising pamphlet. Adequate board and lodging accommodation at reasonable cost was one of the main difficulties; and the scheme in that form seemed hardly practicable.

BIRTH OF A PLAN

Since then, persistent consideration of various other ideas has yielded a scheme which is considered to be practicable to initiate in a modest way, but which, nevertheless, could develop in snowball fashion. Eventually it might well produce a countrywide distribution of examined and certificated or licensed ringing tutors, with the consequential growing body of qualitytrained and fault-free ringers. The primary object of all such training is to produce ringers of good style and a high degree of skill in handling and striking with precision. Such a scheme, in fact, is already in course of inception, and its success or failure will rest upon the support it gets It embraces the three essentials, (a), (b) and (c) indicated above, and employs a system of training in the elementary stages identified as the 'Cathedral' system. A 'school' of 20 pupils is now well under way, with three studenttutors taking part in the course; and the scheme is being developed for administration in higher stages, with the issue of diplomas, as a 'College of Campanology.' To outline such development calls for consideration in some detail of those three ' cssentials.'

THE 'BIBLE' OR TRAINING MANUAL

The first of these essentials is a standard of reference, by which the training can be 'streamlined' yet maintained at a recognised level of proficiency. In other words, a 'Manual of Training ' is the No. 1 indispensable. Now it is said, and with truth, that there is always something more to be learned in ringing; and the vista of advancement may usefully be viewed in seven stages, forming the seven 'parts' of the Manual:

1. Bell Handling and Control and the elements of Method Ringing.
2. Method Structure and Theory.
3. Practical Method Ringing-Simple to Advanced.
4. Handbell Ringing.
5. Composition and Proof.
6. Calling and Conducting.
7. Historical.

It is envisaged that the various 'parts' will be compiled (or initially ' adopted ' from extant publications) by one or more specialists in the particular subject matter of each Part. Additionally, where possible, the specialist knowledge and experience is to be combined with that of professional teaching, technical authorship and (most important) practical skill on the ringing side. The Parts are thus issuable in stages, each complete in itself; and though it may be some time yet before all seven Parts have been published (or announced as publications "adopted ' for inclusion), yet a start has already been made with Parts 1 and 2, which exist in a typescript synoptic form.

THE 'CATHEDRAL' SYSTEM

The scheme detailed in Part 1 has been built up from combined experience extending over many years, and is distinguished as the "Cathedral' system. It has proved particularly successful in its application to beginners; and its plan is designed to enable a ringer who wishes to become an instructor to go a long way towards his goal by self-study. The examination which should provide his College Diploma as a Tutor is, of course, based on the content of this Part. The material is highly detailed, carefully arranged in order of logical development, and gives reference to extant publications such as the Central Council's 'Hints, etc.,' Snowdon's 'Ropesight,' and others. Some ringers may be surprised at the high standard it demands in training and in execution: but the College is determined to aim at nothing less than the highest achievements in striking and general performance.

RINGERS'

GLOUCESTER GUILD

Our day started at Bodenham. A good rise was followed by Rounds and call-changes, Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, and a very well struck touch of Spliced Plain and Little Bob Minor.
Leintwardine was the next stop and, typical of the tour manager's reputation, none of the party was surprised to find that the police had been forewarned of his intended presence in the area. However, after three of the elder members had offered to stand surety, and with the help of Mr. Hunt, this lovely eight were soon going to Grandsire Triples. After call-changes and a 120 of Grandsire Doubles, we enjoyed touches of Plain Bob Major and Oxford Bob Triples. Unfortunately, an attempt at Stedman Triples came to grief.
Following an excellent lunch at Leintwardine, we proceeded to Clun (Ivor Goulter's 300th), through beautiful countryside, where we again rang Plain Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and call-changes. Again Stedman wouldn't go.
To Knighton for tea, after an hour on their very pleasant light eight, where we heard a very good touch of Plain Bob Triples. Despite an enormous tea, one of the party, female at that, boarded the 'bus to Old Radnor with 2 lb . each of apples and pears, and a coconut, and with the statement that she was still hungry proceeded to demolish the lot-well, nearly the lot!
At Old Radnor (David Beard's 415th) we soon raised their heavyish six and had touches of Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob Minor. Rounds and call-changes were followed by some Spliced Single Oxford, Plain and Little Bob Minor and a plain course of Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Homeward bound after a thoroughly enjoyable day, our thanks were due to all incumbents and tower captains for welcomes extended and the use of their bells, to Gannet (pronounced Janet) and Toothless Slash for laughter en route, and finally to our tour manager for a good job exceedingly well done. We all regretted that our chairman couldn't be with us due toholidays, and we all hope that Jesse (recently engaged) hasn't had too many sleepless nights after her conversations with an aged landlord.

Who was our tour manager? Why, Corby's lad, of course.

SEND, SURREY

The young ringers of Send held their first annual outing on July 7th. Two coaches gathered ringers and other friends from surrounding parts and the party was soon heading for the eight at Billingshurst, Sussex.

Thakeham was the next stop, and several peonle seemed to have the idea of ringing Deals there at a later date! As Worthing drew near, a mist appeared, and so those with bathing costumes hastily packed them away again, except for one bright spark, who was determined to take a plunge, whilst most of the narty tried to hide in wind-free corners to eat their sandwiches.
On to West Tarring and then to Heene, where we found the bells had just been rung down. An excellent high tea was provided in Heene Church Hall. Back in Surrey again, the six at Capel were put to good use, everyone being pleased to see Mr. Bob Andrews having a pull for the first time for 18 months. It was noticed, however, that the King's Head had for some a greater attraction than the church.

Thanks are due to the various incumbents, to the ringers who met us, and also to Mr. S. Strudwick, the organiser of the pleasant dav's outing.
E. A. H.

OUTINGS

DURLEIGH, SOMERSET

Ringers from Durleigh and Wembdon, accompanicd by their friends and relations, set out on July 7th for their fourth annual outing. These outings seem to have become so popular that this year more people than the number of seats available wanted to go.
Before crossing the boundary into Dorset, a stop was made for coffee at Yeovil, and then the party proceeded to Evershot, where the six bells (tenor ? 7 cwt .) were soon 'risen' and set going to various touches. Lunch at an inn in Grimstone preceded the journey to Abbotsbury ( 6, tenor 12 cwt .), reached after an unexpected, roundabout route. through foggy countryside.
Ringing at St. Michael the Archangel, Lyme Regis, was thoroughly enjoyed. Tea was followed by a break of about two hours for sightseeing and several of the party were lucky in having a boat trip around a submarine in the bay. On account of an early departure, Chardstock (Devon), the last tower of the day, was reached rather early, and extra touches were added to the programme.
Touches during the day included Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob Doubles and Maior and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Many thanks are due to all those who helped arrange the outing and to those who welcomed the party to the various churches, which were greatly admired by everyone. G. R. M.

WOTTON-UNDER-EDGE BRANCH

The annual outing of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch on July 14th was one of the best ever. Twenty-seven members and friends from 11 towers had to be collected up so an early start was necessary.
Worcestershire was to be visited, and the first stop was Eldersfield, with a very good six. At Malvern Priory (8) a learner had broken the stay of the third a few hours before, but we were warned and rung it to Grandsire and Stedman without a stay, and the beginners had rounds.
Malvern Link proved to be another good eight, and between there and Hanley Swan we stopped at Guarlford, where some grabbed an extra tower, or should it be tree. for the one bell is hung from a branch of a fir tree in the churchyard. Is this the only one in this country?
Upton-upon-Severn were the next eight after the six at Hanley Swan, and the last tower was Longdon (6), where we had the best striking of the day. A number of the ringers had been on the sick list, not having rung for several months, so it was a great day for them.
An excellent lunch was taken at Great Malvern, and after tea at Upton-upon-Severn the Rev. Mr. Peel, Branch chairman, expressed the thanks of all to Miss M. Drew for such a wellarranged outing, and to Ronnie Cox for guiding the coach driver and thus saving much time.
C. R.

LOUGHTON, ESSEX

The St. John's, Loughton, Essex, ringers enjoyed a pleasant journey into three counties for their annual outing on June 30th. They were joined by ringing friends from Hornchurch, Waltham Abbey, Walthamstow, Wanstead, and one from Lichfield Cathedral.
The first stop was at Hemel Hempstead, Herts, where, after a slight delay, half-an-hour's ringing was enjoyed on this eight with a tenor of 19 cwt. Meanwhile, non-ringers admired the fine Norman work with which St. Mary's Church is blessed.

A lighter ring was found at Linslade (tenor 9 cwt .2 qr. 21 lb .). Ringing over, a move was made into Leighton Buzzard where an excellent lunch was enjoyed. Perhaps the highlight of the day was when the ringers of Loughton, Essex, rang for the village fair at Loughton, Bucks. Despite the tenor at All Saints' Church being badly out of tune, the novelty of the occasion made a strong appeal.
Woburn, Bedfordshire, is well known for its Abbey and deer park, but it was the Church of St. Mary, with its famed ring of eight (tenor 24 cwt .1 qr. 16 lb. ), that attracted the visitors, who made full use of the bells. The last tower visited was Redbourn, Herts, but before ringing the party sat down to a very good tea. Thus fortified, they enjoyed the fine six bells (tenor 15 cwt . 3 qr. 18 lb .).
The sincere thanks of all who took part in the outing are expressed to Mr. D. Riley, who so ably organised the trip, and also to the incumbents and those who met the party.

HORNCHURCH

One ringers' outing is very much like the other, and the same may be said of all the reports of such outings-weather, comments on the bells and countryside, methods rung, etc., etc. Indeed the remark was made in the Hornchurch coach on July 14th: 'I see the usual outing reports are appearing in the 'R.W:pretty dull reading!'
Hornchurch were out on July 14th and visited Biggleswade, Huntingdon, Godmanchester. Barkway and Hertford. We have no criticisms to make-we enjoyed the ringing everywhere, and appreciated the very sincere welcome we received at all towers, and all the efforts made on our behalf by a variety of people.
As, a change from the usual comments on the go,' etc., here are two suggestions for those who are contemplating more or less the same route: Barkway is an excellent stop for tea (The Cross Keys), and if it's a convivial hour that is required, well, try the Pied Bull Inn, Stanstead Abbots.
Sorry about the advertising, Mr. E., but this is a report meant to convey our thanks and to be helpful-I hope we've succeeded.
F. V. G.

BECCLES

On Julv 21 st about 25 ringers and frlends from Beccles. Bursham, Lowestoft, Loddon and Norton Subcourse spent an enjoyable day in the Bury St. Edmunds district.

After an early start, ringing commenced on the grand eight at Stowmarket (tenor 24 cwt .), where we were met by a local ringer. Good touches of Plain Bob, Kent and Grandsire Trinles were rung. Our next tower was St. Mary's. Bury St. Edmunds, where the good eight (tenor $281_{1}^{\circ} \mathrm{cwt}$.) were thoroughly enioved and some good Stedman Triples were rune.
After an excellent lunch we iourneyed to Horringer, where ringing on this light eight (tenor 9 cwt .) was well up to standard. Tea was followed by a visit to the glorious ten (tenor 30 cwt .) in the detached tower of Bury St.. Edmunds' Cathedral. These fine bells were rung to a variety of methods during the evening and we were joined by a few local rinzers.. The day's ringing concluded with an excellent course of Stedman Caters.
The thanks of the party go to all those who met us, the clergy and to Mr. E. R. Coate for arranging the outing so well. T. N. J. B.

WICKEN, NORTHANTS.-On June 23rd, 1.260 Stedman Triples: H. G. Ridgway 1. R, H. Howson 2, F. Vickers 3, I. Dicken 4, K. Perkins 5, G. E. Green 6, T. E. Roberts (cond.) 7, F. C. Case 8. Rung as a wedding compliment to Miss Kathleen Ivy Ballard and Mr. William Alfred Yates, who were married the same day at St. James' Church, Paulers Pury.

ST. MICHAEL'S, MAIDSTONE, BELLS RING AGAIN

By E. S. JOHN HATCHER, Secretary, Kent County Association

THE bells of the Church of St. Michael's and All Angels, Maidstone, have been silent for a very long time. Kent County Association reports reveal that a local band existed up to 1932, but thereafter its membership lapsed. Why this should have been is a question of legendary fame, and it would be a pity to dispel all sense of mystery. The bells themselves may provide a cluc, for instead of being a normal six lacking trebles to make the octave $(3,4,5,6,7,8)$, they are the middle six $(2,3,4,5,6,7)$. The 8 -bell frame with two vacant places suggests a motive ; the parishioners were perhaps expected to react to the sound of their bells by subscribing the necessary funds to complete the octave. This gambit failed; indeed the contrary effect somehow resulted and ringing ceased altogether.
In pre-war years ringing in the Maidstone District was in the doldrums, and when the wartime ban on ringing was lifted a new beginning had to be made. This had the declared aim of rebuilding bands in all towers and achieving complete Association membership. Year by year steady progress was made, and the number of towers still to come under the influence of this revigoration grew smaller. Among such towers was St. Michael's.

After the present Vicar, the Rev. F. H. V. Fordham, came to the parish, however, it was not long before encouraging signs began to appear. A garden fete was held in aid of the Tower Fund (was the structure unsafe?); the church clock was repaired (helping his father do this was a keen ringer from St. Peter's, Aylesford) ; certain young people of St. Michael's developed a strong curiosity to "have a go' at ringing (one of whom joined in the traditional custom of ringing out the old year); and it seemed that fair winds were beginning to blow.

Then came Mr. P. M. Town, of Linton, who has captivated our interest by his superb enthusiasm, and has brought a freshness of outlook which is an inspiration. Within a very short time he has brought back life to the belfry of St. Nicholas', Linton. Evidence of Mr. Town's efforts was contained in a letter to 'The Belfry ' (the Maidstone District quarterly magazine), appealing for the loan of bellropes, and it was my great thrill to go along one evening to ring the bells silent. There I found ringers from Linton and Loose (a ncighbouring 3-bell tower also under Mr. Town's wing), as well as three or four from St. Michael's whose instruction in bell-control had already begun.
So the time at last came for the bells to ring out again, and on July 16 th a representative group of ringers met by invitation, including R. L. Sills (Wrotham) A. Waddington (Egerton). W. R. Manser (Barming), L. Mannering (All Saints'. Maidstone), P. Carter (West Malling). D. Bowyer (Aylesford), S. A. Hayzelden (East Farleigh) and G. F. Cantrill (Bearsted). The Vicar, Mr. Town, and a host of young people of 'St. Michael's welcomed us, and in church together Father Fordham outlined the legendary history of the bells, and paid warm tribute to Mr. Town and all who had helped prepare for this important occasion.
Father Fordham then led prayers for all aspects of the ringer's calling, and for the witness of the bells. In the ringing chamber, after the press photographer had gone into action. the bells were expertly raised in peal, followed by a touch of Stedman Doubles, a course of Cambridge Surprise and, previous to the attempl at a 720 of Double Court, other ringers who had come along were invited to ring. Before, inadvertently, it came to grief, the Double Court was struck with perfection, and opinion was that. despite their unusual music, the bells did not lack a certain charm of their own, and certainly no one could reasonably object to them.

What a merry throng crowded the Vicarage for refreshments after the ringing, and not unnaturally handbells were soon in evidence. It was quite late before final goodnights were exchanged.
The future? Well, we all share Father Fordham's wish that St. Michael's will soon be the possessor of a keen band of ringers, loyal to their own tower, and yet playing an active part in the wider fellowship of the belfry. Building a new band is not an easy task, but one which is very worth while and which we are confident will be achieved.
After their night out the bells have their tongues lashed into silence again, and teaching is going forward with zeal under Mr. Town's supervision, with all the help the Association through its members can give. Just when service ringing begins must depend on the rate of progress, and this should be a strong incentive to the young recruits.

The bells will, it is hoped, ring again on Saturday, October 13 th, the day of the Maidstone annual District meeting, and it is certain that many will seize this early opportunity for adding St. Michael's to their list of towers.

Good luck, St. Michael's. Thank you, Mr. Town.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM T. POWELL
The ringers of Wednesbury, Staffs., regret to hear of the passing of Mr-W. T. Powell ('Old Bill'). Although only 70 years of age, he suffered a great deal during the last four vears after a serious operation.

He learned to pull a bell at St. Paul's, after being in the choir as a boy. At the age of about 24 he went up to Lecds and met Mr. P. Johnson, who tanght him the art of change ringing. Fron there he went to work at Warners Bell Foundry in London; then, after about five years, he came back to Wednesburv. where he made himself useful, both as a Sunday Service ringer and in care and attention of the bells, especially at St. Paul's, where he put in new gudgeons after being turned at Edward Elwell Lid. Although the bells were jnstalled in 1887, the "go' of the bells are quite good now, due to the work put in by 'Old Bill.'
The ringers of Wednesbury and District exoress their deepest sympathy to his widow and children.
A quarter peal of Stedman was attempted a few days after the funeral, but was lost.

THE BEAST IN THE BELFRY

IT is quite impossible to divide the Belfrymen into types, as the Belfrywomen may be divided: every male ringer is, of course, Unique. Still, it seems to the writer, in spite of dark threats from masculine acquaintances, that some are so much more Unique than others that they would serve as models for young bell-ringers who aspire to becoming Personalities or Specialists.

The Unique ringer is remarkable for his conversational powers;" it is a fairly.easy matter to distinguish one Unique ringer from another by hearing him talk.

The Record-Keeper, or Footnote Man, for instance, is slow and precise in his ringing, his movements and his speech; and all three of them are liable to go on for some time, if nothing occurs to interrupt him: ' This is rather an interesting occasion for me as it happens, because the treble is the 85 th person to have rung his first peal of Major with me, and it will be the 175 th peal in which I have made the single midway and at the end. Of course, it's also the anniversary of the day on which the Imperial Institute bells went to Exeter in 1960 and the Exeter ring was transferred to Bow. And I believe Ben here will agree that it's 21 years ago to-morrow that old Dick Turpin called his last peal at York Minster. Queer old chap, but a grand old ringer, eh. Ben?' And so on.

The Tower-Grabber is another Unique ringer-a likeable man on the whole. The fairies were at his christening and bestowed on him the gift of being able to talk himself out of and into any situation: 'It's all right, I know the vicar here-nice old boy-at least his gardener was one of my sergeants during the war-here, Tom, if I stand on your shoulder, I can smash that pane and reach the catch - bit high for a ground-floor ring, isn't it?-fetch one of the choirboys' cassocks, Bill, there'll be some in the vestry. I'll tie it to one of the bars and haul the rest of you up. Now don't say I ever fail to get you boys a tower-it's in the bag! Here, don't forget to take the chimes off-we don't want to do any damage.'

A collector of another kind is the Peal-Hunter:-
'Well, I don't know about you chaps, but I'm going to have a bit of a job to get my hundred in this year. Harry Gamp's well up in the forties now, and it's only May.

Suppose we fix up a couple of handbell peals in my pottingshed on Thursday and Friday, then on Saturday afternoon, some of us can cycle over to Diddlebury and try for the first peal since the rehanging. That local chap who rings the Sanctus for service can bump the tenor. Saturday evening we'll fix up an 88th birthday peal for Old Grimes at Warlock. I hear he's in bed with arthritis, but we'll get him up for the occasion. I haven't much in mind for Sunday; unless anyone wants to ring a peal for morning service; that'll mean 7.30 here in the belfry-all right?'
The Instructor is a notable man. A brisk, neat person, he believes in encouraging young ringers: 'Oh, aye, lad, a nice-sounding touch-but false, you know-false as all get out. Mind you, I admire your spirit. When I was your age, I'd never have dreamt of calling touches with all these experienced ringers standing round - let alone false touches. You'll mend, lad, you'll mend. All you want's a bit of help and advice from someone with the know-how; mind and call your bobs a blow earlier, and strike wider at back, and steer clear of false touches, and you'll improve past all knowing.'
He has a brother, the Veteran, who also specialises in advice to young hopefuls: 'Now I don't pretend to be a tip-top ringer, but I'm always willing to give young folks a hand and, in my opinion, the man who doesn't isn't worth twopence. But I don't approve of young folks overreaching themselves, and you can overdo all this Delight and Surprise. And I can't say I like a young ringer pushing himself forward, that won't take a word in season from his elders, and calls "Go, Stedman," and then "Bob," before everyone's had a chance to get his breath and settle down.'

Under the shadow of a mighty university, the writer dares not say much about the College Lad, a fine young flower forced into premature bloom, in a hothouse atmosphere, producing wonderful effects, but often, alas, fading untimely into marriage, a career, or similar disasters; nor about his relative, the Bright Spark, who leaps into the belfry on a practice night: 'Look here, let's ring Bumblebee Disgrace - it's simple! St. Clement's when treble's behind, Superlative when treble leads, and Grandsire singles at both ends when treble's in the middle!'

There are, of course, other Unique Belfrymen, but perhaps the examples quoted are sufficient models for rising young ringers.
D. R.C.

THE TEACHING OF RINGING - II.

Last week's instalment concluded with a note on the first of the three essentials for a successful scheme of training; namely, a standard manual of instruction; and it referred to the - Cathedral ' system of training, as included in Part I. of the 'Manual of Training' of the College of Campanology. This Part of the Manual also contains material on Principles of Teaching.

REMAINING PARTS, AND PUBLICATION (?)

Some thought has been given to the content and form of the remaining Parts; but the specialist co-operation in their compilation is yet to be sought and included. As indicated, certain extant publications can be adopted (i.e., recommended by the College) as standard references for and substitute content for some of the Parts thus: Part II. A work on Method Structure is being compiled, but certain works may be adopted meanwhile, e.g., Snowdon's 'Treatise on Treble Bob-Part I.' and others. For Part III. several works are meanwhile available, but much additional analytical matter is needed to present a corrclated study of methods for the actual ringing of them. For Part IV. there exists the Central Council's 'Change Ringing on Handbells' and other published references. For Part V. there is the Central Council's. Mysteries Unveiled' (Parker) and 'Variation and Transposition' (Trollope) and other references; but here again an exposition of general principles of composition is needed and expert co-operation is intended to be sought. A Corrigan publication on the Half-Lead System of Proof exists and there are other references also. For Part VI. there is the Central Council's 'an Conducting' by Wilfred G. Wilson, and additional expert views are intended to be incorporated. For Part VII. a number of published references are available, and other expert help is to be sought. Generally speaking, no serious obstacle to the compilation of the Manual is foreseen, but its publication is another matter.
It is part of the scheme of things, as discussed below, that a copy must be available to each student-tutor for self-study; that is to say a copy of any material that is not available in already-published form. Copies must be available also to tutors and examiners of the College. It is also a basic principle that in the whole enterprise there should be no possibility of private profit-making. As far as possible it must be self-supporting, though financial demands (if any) upon its pupils must be at a minimum. Initial courses in Part I. will employ the few typescript copies that are to be available: but as the organisation of the work of the College develops and, it is hoped, local centres of courses and certification of members of the College spread further afield, wide publication of the material will be needed.

A SOLUTION

In the previous article an indication was given of a solution to this problem, which is largely one of initial finance. If the Editor and his committee approve, the matter of Part I. of the Manual can be published serially in these pages. Apart from the general interest in what is going on, and how the College is handling this early training of the ringers of the future, to be tutors for those who will follow on, there will be many, no doubt, who will welcome some guidance on how to set about teaching beginners. In any event, the prime aim is to give the benefits (being derived from the operation of this scheme) to the Exercise as a whole. Consideration of the second and third essentials (as follows) will add emphasis to this point.

TRAINING OF TUTORS
This second essential of the plan is really the crux of the whole matter. This is probably the right moment to indicate a vital point and perhaps forestall a possible misconception as to the function of the College. In no sense whatever is it intended to usurp or override the functions of any existing ringing bodies or organisations. On the other hand one of its main objects (detailed below) is the training of tutors of ringing and their certification as properly qualified tutors; and to a high and universally recognised standard that is acceptable to the sternest critics. It is considered that only out of the achievement of such an objective will come the really well-trained ringers of the future. Why? Because it has been repeatedly noted that increasing distractions from and decreasing leisure for the learning of ringing are forcing the incompetent instruotor right out of business.

MAHOMET TO THE MOUNTAIN

In the previous article it was stated that the original idea of student-tutors coming to a training centre in every case was eventually considered impracticable. No scheme of training, however, can be completely successful without some measure of personal guidance from the teacher to his pupils. So in this scheme ' Mahomet goes to the mountain.' And it works out this way:-In a district where tuition in ringing is to be introduced, and there is no possible provision of such by the local ringing authority, or again, where a potential instructor is in need of advice or of a refresher course, application can be made to the Registrar of the College for information of its scheme of training, in the particular stage or Part to be undertaken.
Particulars as required, together with an enrolment form, are sent; and on the form's completion and return the appropriate Part of the Manual is despatched with instructions for its preliminary study. At an arranged date a tutor on the register of the College (one within a day-return journey) visits the applicant's tower and gives a talk and demonstration to the student-tutor and his ringing pupils; particularly on the applied use of the Manual-Part in directing their training.
The student-tutor then carries on for a given period, working from the Manual. A second or 'check' visit is then paid by the College tutor, principally to check faults and to assess progress, also to give a "dummy ' test. Later, by arrangement, the candidate takes the examination (as explained below) for his diploma. Once on the register of the College, this new tutor is available for spreading the work further afield, from his district as a base. The aim is that in this way the distribution of qualified members of the College will become such that one is available, within a day-return journey, of almost any place in the land. (Meanwhile ringers of standing in a number of widespread districts are to be invited to accept appointment as honorary examiners to the College.)
Initially, unti] the distribution of registered tutors has reached that stage, some tutors will no doubt be willing to give more 'distant ' services; especially if some contribution were made towards their (considerable) out-ofpocket expenses, by a group of learners clubbing together in the 'remote' area. The visiting tutor would then devote the whole of a week-end, say, to the travelling and the work, which would include a short series of talks punctuated by demonstrations to both tutor trainees and ringing pupils. Indeed, territorial associations unable to provide their own instructors could obtain expert help in this way, particularly if the usual grant towards expenses were paid.

EXAMINATION AND CERTIFICATION

To explain the process of this third 'essential,' it is necessary to say a word or two about the organisation of the College of Campanology. Its objeots may be stated as including:-

1. The teaching of ringing practice (and theory) according to developed principles and generally accepted standards and in the primary stages particularly as exemplified in the 'Cathedral' system of tuition.
2. The compilation and maintenance in up-to-date material and methods, of a College
'Manual of Training, issuable in 'Parts'; 'Manual of Training,' issuable in 'Parts'; recognised experts in the particular subject matter treated, including the Cathedral system.
3. The pursuit of research into the theory of method structure and of composition and the history of the art of ringing.
4. The training of tutors, to rigorous standards, in the use of the Cathedral system, with the object of raising and maintaining the standard of ringing tuition, and of assisting ringing organisations in recruiting and training, where such belp is needed; and the certifying of tutors by examination.
5. The selection (from qualified tutors of a requisite minimum experience) and appointment of examiners to the College; and the appointment, from among acknowledged experts in the Exercise, of honorary examiners.
6. The issue of diplomas of the College in various grades, including ' Ringer,' ' Tutor,' 'Examiner' and 'Fellow, and the maintenance of a register of all admitted members.
As already said, the College is being initiated in a modest way, but care is being exercised to secure a firm foundation on which an organisation of repute can develop. First officials will comprise: A president and vicepresident, leading figures in the Exercise; principal, a ringer with considerable professional experience of teaching and academics; two examiners : two or more tukors; and a registrar and bursar. The founder officers in these positions constitute the first governors of the College and, together with the hon. correspondents or College representatives being appointed for various districts, will shape the future policy for the administration of its work: the standard of reference being its 'Manual of Instruction, as already outlined.
Examinations in the various grades are open to enrolled members with qualifying attendance at courses, or otherwise satisfying relevant conditions. Examinations in Grades 1I., V. and VII. do not require attendances. The fitness of 'self-study' candidates is assessed on College tutors' check visits. Tutors are authorised to take courses in the work of only those Parts of the Manual for which they are certificated. A tutor in any grade is ineligible to take the test for examiner in that grade. Additionally, ringers of recognised status and ability may be appointed as honorary examiners.
Tests. Examinations in Parts I., III., IV. and VI. of the Manual comprise both oral and practical tests; while that for tutor in Part I. (which contains matter on the Principles of Teaching) include a demonstration test (or alternative satisfactory evidence) with a class of students (or student). Examinations in Part II. are mainly written, and in Parts V. and VII. wholly so. Where possible, more than one examiner will officiate. The diploma shows to what degree the successful candidate has satisfied the College.

Work begum. As indicated last week, a current course in Part I. of the training scheme is running successfully in Portsmouth, with over 20 students and three student-teachers. Those gaining diplomas will be registered among the founder-members of the College. Clearly much hard work lies ahcad in laying the foundations, but the founders view it as a labour of love in a needful field, and are confident that present signs will bring ever-widening support. Much encouragement was given by the warm reception, at the recent annual general meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, of the Master's introduction of the subject, and his high commendation of its work and purpose. Support is also forthcoming from personalities of the Exercise now being approached It is hoped that Part I, of the Manual may be published in these pages in serial form, so as to give not only a fairly good idea of what is being done, and how, but also to provide College members and other workers in the training field with a ready reference for the initiation and maintenance of this work.

College Journal. The College has 'adopted, - The Ringing World' as its 'journal,' and looks to its members to take the paper and to encourage other ringers to become subscribers. It will submit reports of progress for publication from time to time and will include news of College personnel and all additions of qualified and elected members on the register.

Further information is obtainable from the Registrar of the College, 24, Doyle Avenue, Portsmouth; but, during the summer recess (i.e., until August 22nd) from the Principal, 32, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea.

Chew Deanery at Wrington

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Wrington on July 21st, and during the afternoon and evening the fine ten were kept ringing in a variety of methods up to Cambridge Royal. Ringing was under the direction of the Master, Mr. H. W. Knight.
The Association form of service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. B. Lec), who said a few words of welcome. Following the usual magnificent 'Wrington tea' the business meeting was held, and it was decided that, subject to permission being granted, the next quarterly meeting should be held at Long Ashton (on the second Saturday, and not the usual third) in October, with practice meetings at All Saints', Clevedon, and Backwell for August and September respectively. The half-yearly Corporate Communion was arranged for Chew Magna on the fourth Sunday in October.
The Branch representatives on the general committee sought the opinions of the meeting on the subject of changing the date of the Association annual meeting and also that of 'unattached members.' The general feeling of the meeting was that the annual meeting should be left as it was (Easter Monday) and members were unanimously for the abolition of 'unattached membership.' It was also mentioned that subscriptions were now payable before the end of each year. Votes of tharks to all who had helped to make such an enjoyable meeting concluded the business, and the tower was again visited.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  Meeting of Ross District at Goodrich

The Ross District held an extremely successful quarterly meeting at Goodrich (6) on July 21 st. Local towers represented were Bridstow, Much Marcle, Ross, Weston-under-Penyard and the home tower, with visitors present from Hereford, Leintwardine, Staunton (Forest of Dean), Cardiff and as far afield as Kent.
The Guild Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Williams) and tea Was afterwards served in the Vicarage garden-the weather being exceptionally warm. The Vicar also presided over the business meeting which followed. It was arranged that the next quarterly meeting should be held at Aston Ingham, in October. Miss R. Jarrett drew the attention of those present to a meeting of the newlyformed Hercford Branch of the Ladies' Guild, which was to be held at nearby Weston-underPenyard on the following Saturday. He hoped that as many local ringers as possible would support it-including the gentlemen, who were cordially invited. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks from Mr. J. J. Webb (District Ringing Master) to the Vicar, the organist, and the ladies who had helped with the tea.

Handbells were then produced and were made good use of before the members returned to the tower. Here, as in the afternoon, a variety of methods were rung. ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge, London and Primrose Surprise Minor.

Altogether it was agreed that the mecting had been the most successful one held in the District for a long time.

Mr. Norman Chaddock has conducted 29 ringers through their first peal since the war. BLLAK Of these, 19 have been his own pupils-from handling a bell to ringing a peal. Mr. Chaddock conducted his 100 th peal at Whiston on July 21 st , and two of the ringers scoring their first were his son, John, and his daughter, Susan.
The last peal on the bells of St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge, prior to recasting, was rung on July 21 st.

Mr. Wilfrid Moreton has accepted the office of Vice-Princibal of the College of Campanology.

Mr. A. P. Cannon's peal tour this year is from August 11th-18th, with headquarters at Leicester. Thirteen peal attempts have been arranged.

Veteran of Fairfield. Glos, tower, Mr. J. Hope, in calling a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples for his 80th birthday, on July 27th, used the same calling from Clavis that he employed for his first quarter 40 years ago.
At a fete and flower show in aid of Theberton Bell Fund just over $£ 100$ was raised. The programme included change ringing on handbells by the Leiston and Aldeburgh ringers, and tune ringing by boys under the direction of Mr. J. Pilgrim. Despite wind and rain there was a good attendance, the fete being held in the open park. This leaves $£ 650$ to be raised.
The bands which rang the bells at Hart Street and Tonbridge would like to associate with them the name of Mr. Ralph G. Edwards. Mr. Edwards had arrived in Dorking but was recalled home by telephone because his house had been struck by lightning. Grateful thanks to Mr. Stewart Kimber for 'standing in' at short notice.

GOSSIP

Articles of general interest to readers of this journal are particularly appreciated during the holiday months, when normal activities are not so numerous.

For the benefit of those interested in the training of beginners we hope to serialise Part I. of the Manual of Instruction of the College of Campanology.

Mr. David K. Walklate informs us that in the peal rung at Spondon on June 30th there were five extents of Plain Bob, and not four, as stated.
Miss C. Wakefield, of Cray St. Mary, Kent, is taking up an appointment at Leicester. A farewell 720 of Plain Bob Minor was rung on July 24th by R. Beard 1, F. Gorringe 2, Miss C. Wakefield 3. S. Zobal, jun. (first 720) 4, S. Zobal 5, B. Aldridge (conductor) 6.

The departure of Mr. Vernon Green from Oxford after 18 months' stay in the village is regretted by his many ringing friends. He was very active in ringing circles and endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. A farewell peal is recorded in this issue.
The Vicar of Harthill, the story of whose bells appeared in our last issue, and 10 members of his youth group attended the practice at Rotherham on July 24th. Four of them attempted rounds and did quite well. The keenest goes to Manchester University in October, so will be able to continue his tuition there.

Mr. Henry Stalham added yet 'another one, when he took part in the peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at his own tower, St. Nicholas', Brighton. What a remarkable man for his years- $84 \frac{1}{2}$ ! He rang faultlessly for the whole of the peal. Congratulations, Harry! and many happy returns!!

an american CHANGE RINGING MACHINE

JUST over three years ago a short article appeared in 'The Ringing World ' about a ringing machine which two members of the Department of Mathematics at Cornell Universitv. New York, Professor R. J. Walker and Mr. J. Keifer, were constructing. In 1954, Dr. Walker journeyed to this country with some friends, and visited St. Paul's Cathedral to hear the Sunday morning ringing there, which he described as "the perfect ending to a wonderful trip.' The progress of the machine is told in a letter recently received by Mr. E. A. Barnett, of which the following is an extract:-

You may have wondered at times whether Mr. Keifer and I ever renewed our attempt to construct a mechanical change ringer. Strictly speaking, we did not, and the pieces of Ringer, Change, Mark I. are still gathering dust. But Ringer, Change, Mark II., a much more elaborate machine, is essentially finished. We hope to have its formal dedication in a few weeks.

The history of Mark II. is interesting. Mark I. was basically mechanical, and neither Mr. Keifer nor I was good enough machinist to do the design and construction necessary to make it work. We had discussed the possibilitv of changing the design radically and making the Ringer entirely out of electric relavs, but we didn't have the heart to start over from scratch. But in the fall of 1954, while on leave in California, Mr. Keifer met a bright engineering student, Donald Stevens, who was looking for a project for his senior thesis. Stevens was easily converted into a change ringing enthusiast, and in the spring of 1955 he designed and built eighty per cent. of Mark II. Then he graduated and left Cornell. leaving Mr. Keifer and me with a partly completed, very elaborate mechanism which we still don't understand completely. However, we have managed to finish it, except for a few details which we hope to fix up in a week or two.

MACHINE'S CAPABILITIES

When the machine is finished I shall send you a detailed description of it, together with some pictures. In the meantime, here is a brief description of what it will be able to do:
(1) Ring any method on any number of bells up to eight.
(2) Ring any peal. The bobs and singles can be called by pushing buttons at the appropriate times, or it can be arranged for the machine to do this automatically. Theoretically, Mark 11. is able to ring the full 40,320 changes on eight bells without any human attention; but I am not optimistic enough (though I believe Mr. Keifer is) to expect that there would not be some malfunction of the machinery in so long a deal.
(3) Upon returning to rounds, the changing mechanism is automatically disconnected and the machine continues to ring rounds until stopped.
(4) We understand that in ringing changes there is a pause after every second change, except in Yorkshire, where there is a pause after every change. By throwing a switch we can select either of these ways of ringing, or a third way in which there are no pauses at all.
(5) At the beginning of each change the machine shows, by means of a pattern of lights, what the change is to be. If desired, the lights can be adjusted to follow iust one bell in its course, or to follow two or more. Hunting, dodging and place making show up very pretily in this manner.
(6) Such special effects as firing, Queens, and the Nine Tailors followed by strokes for a person's age can be rung.
Some of these special effects have not yet been installed, and in connection with the Nine Tailors we need some advice. Dorothy Sayers savs that the Tailors are rung in groups of three, two such for a woman and three for a man. Is this correct? And, if so, can you give us some idea of the timing; that is, how does the pause between two groups of three compare with the pause between two strokes within a group.

If vou have any other comments or suggestions to make in the light of the above description. we would be most grateful to have them. Is there anything else that the machine should be able to do? The only obvious addition I can think of is a device for handling spliced methods. We know how to do this and plan to incorporate it in a later model.

The enclosed item, which was sent to science editors in newspapers and magazines in the U.S.. is a result of some relaxation while I was on leave last year. I apologise for the hash the reporter made of my attempt to describe change ringing Actually, once one has a machine as complicated and versatile as SWAC, the problem of introducing it to the melodjous art' is really quite simple. I wonder if it hasn't been done with EDSAC, the big machine at Cambridge?

I also gave a couple of talks to local clubs about change ringing, mathematics and machines. Many people seemed interested, and I have spread at least a little knowledge of change ringing along the Californian coast.

The newspaper item for which Dr. Walker apologises is no worse, in fact, a great deal better, than many an English reporter has produced on the subject of ringing:-

Three veterans of Christ Church, Southgate -Mr . Norman Tomlinson ( 52 years' service), Mr. Sidney Wade ( 60 years') and Mr. Alfred Glasscock ( 57 years')-are seen here from left to right.

Mr. Wade has now retired and moved away. He started ringing at Southgate in 1896 and at the annual outing on July 7th he was presented with a per, suitably engraved, by the captain of the band, Mr. S. G. Peck. All three veterans have been members of the Middlesex County Association since they started ringing.

ELECTRONIC BRAIN RIGGED TO PLAY MUSICAL GAME By SCIENCE SERVICE
LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 28 -SWAC, the giant 'electronic brain' at the University of California at Los Angeles, is now rigged to play a 17 th century musical game in the interest of solving mathematics problems.

The game is called 'change ringing '-a sort of a numbers game with bells which originated more than three centuries ago in England.

Dr Robert J. Walker, a professor of mathematics from Cornell University on leave to do research at U.C.L.A. Institute of Numerical Analysis, has introduced SWAC to the melodious art.

In England the game is played with church bells. Numerical sequences, based upon the number of bells in a given church tower, are plotted in advance. Except for the beginning and end runs, no two sequences in the series, which is called a peal, can be the same. Each 'ringer' is assigned a number and follows a numerical script. Peals have been rung involving 15,000 changes and taking nine hours to perform.

SWAC has its peals coded on IBM cards which are fed to the big automatic computer. Of course, it cannot rival the resonant ring of a church bell. But otherwise it can toll out a 'Kent Treble Bob Major' (a standard peal) with the best of them.

Ringers will look forward with interest to seeing the detailed technical description which Dr. Walker has promised. Mr. Douglas Hughes, one of the demonstrators of the Carter Ringing Machine, comments that he particularly likes the idea of the indicator lights.

One thing which 'Ringer, Change, Mark II.' does not so far appear to have been made to do is produce a printed diagram of the method which is being rung, but this could no doubt be made an 'extra.' Those who were at the Council meeting at Leicester will remember the excellent diagram of Cambridge Surprise Maximus which had just been made by John Carter's machine.

SOCIETY OF SHERWOOD YOUTHS

The July meeting of the Sherwood Youths was held at Wymeswold, Leics. A wedding was in progress when the first ringers arrived and they heard the local band ring the happy couple out of church with some well-struck rounds and Queens. After the guests had departed the Vicar welcomed us, and after exhorting us not to pull the tower down, left us to it. The meeting began with a touch of Cambridge Minor, and as the ranks of the ringers swelled, the ringing was varied both in method and striking.
The service was held at 4.30 p.m. and afterwards the ringers adjourned for an excellent repast. Nineteen sat down to tea, although some others had brought their owa. The ringing after tea was once more varied and continued until 8 p.m.

Methods rung included Stedman and Grandsire Doubles: Plain, Little and Double Oxford: Double Court, St. Clement's, Bob Minor, Grandsire Minor, Original, Double Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge, London and York Surprise. Thanks are due to Mrs. Pailing, the secretary, who arranged the meeting, the Vicar, who conducted the service, and last but by no means least, Mrs. Downs, who provided the excellent high tea at a very moderate charge.

THE SOCIETY OF LIVERPOOL COLLEGE YOUTHS ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1800

THE ringing of the curfew in 1561 and the opening of the church gate on the second peal ringing every Sabbath in 1592 are among LiverDool's ancient recordings, but it was not until the ringing of the first peal of 5,040 changes in Liverpool that a recorded ringing society became established.
In 1628. St. Nicholas was furnished with four bells, and a century later was in possession of a ring of six, tenor 15 cwt ., by Rudhall. St. Nicholas' tower was reported unstabie in 1788, and though much bell ringing was recorded in 1794, the Liverpool College Youths did not record a single visit to the old tower, which began to disintegrate during the ringing for Sunday service on the morning of February 11th, 1810, and collapsed while the congregation was entering the church.
St. Peter's was furnished with a clock and four bells by Rudhall in 1707, four lighter bells being added in 1724, and it was on this ring of eight, tenor 21 cwt ., that the first peals were rung.

THE FIRST PEAL
Liverpool's first peal was rung on Sunday evening, November 9 th, 1800 . A peal of Grandsire Triples in 3 hours 7 minutes, John Hand, the conductor, ringing the 4th. It was not until November 3rd, 1808, that William Jacger-who rang the 6th in the first pealconducted Liverpool's second peal, also Grandsire Triples, on the same bells. On May 23 rd, 1809. the 'Youths' opened the bells of Croston, Lancashire, with their third peal of Grandsire Triples.
Though not recorded, members of the St. Peter's band rang a peal at Dolgelley on September 26th, 1809, of Oxford Treble Bob Major, in which Sam Lawrence rang the tenor.

Oxford Treble Bob Major and Bob Major, both rung at St. Peter's in 1809, and two of Grandsire Triples in 1811, at the home tower, are next recorded in the society's peal book. A visit to St. Michael's, Ashton-under-Lyne. on September 9 th, 1811, records a peal of Grandsire Caters rung by a joint band.

THE NEW DOBSON RING

Two peals are recorded in 1812, both Grandsire Triples, one at St. Peter's and one at St. Mary Ann's, Ormskirk, the first on these bells, tenor 25 cwt., and taking 3 hours 29 minutes. The Parish Church of Ormskirk is one of three churches to possess both tower and spire. The tower, being built a century after the spire, possessed five bells in 1552. In 1714, and again in 1774, Rudhall appears to have recast all but the tenor, making a ring of eight.

The opening of Lord Nelson's monument was celebrated by the ringing of the next peal on October 21st, 1813, at St. Peter's, and October 3rd, 1814, a peal of Grandsire Caters (on the new Dobson ring of twelve) at St. Nicholas' was recorded in 3 hours 25 minutes (there must still be many of us who remember these bells with great pleasure; they were often spoken of as Dobson's best work). A year later a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the same bells and is recorded as being 'one of the finest struck peals ever rung.'

In 1815-the year of Waterloo-one peal is recorded at St. Peter's and two at St. Nicholas'. A third peal rung at St. Nicholas', Grandsire Caters, on June 25th, is not recorded.
The year 1815 also records the opening of a Dobson ring at Christ Church, Liversedge, Yorkshire, with a peal of Grandsire. Triples, conducted by John Hand, the year being completed with a 5,120 of Oxford Treble Bob Major at St. Nicholas'.

WITH WILLIAM THURSTANS

April 16th, 1816, finds Liverpool College Youths, with bands from Birmingham, Stroud, Stourbridge and Shifnal, opening a new ring of bells by Mears at Lane End Church, Staffordshire. Sam Lawreace, on the 4 th, and William Thurstans, on the 7th, joined the Liverpool company for the first peal. In all, five peals are attempted and 21,692 changes are rung, but the elusive peal is not recorded. All attempts failed, mainly through change courses.
The Liverpool men were somewhat compensated by ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. John's, Preston, on June 5th, 1816, though it would appear that probably some Preston men stood in, because the peal is not recorded in the society's peal book
On May 23rd, 1817, the first peal of Grandsire Cinques is rung, at St. 'Nicholas' by the 'Youths, and four days later a touch of Grandsire Cinques on handbells was rung on the tod of the Lord Hill Monument, Shrewsbury. A peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Peter's in 1817, Bob Major and Grandsire Caters follow at St. Nicholas' in 1818 and 1820.

Grandsire Triples was again rung at St . Peter's in 1821 and a peal of Grandsire Major at St. Nicholas' in the same year was followed bv one of Grandsire Royal at the same tower in 1824, with Grandsire Cinques and Caters in 1826 and 1827 . In 1828 the first peal in Stedman's principle to be rung in the county is credited to the 'Youths,' with a peal of 5.016 Stedman Cinques in 3 hours 25 minutes at St. Nicholas', composed and conducted by William Thistlewood.

GREAT DAYS WITH NEW BELLS
These were indeed great days for Liverpool, for a new ring of ten by Mears was opened at St. Peter's on Sunday, April 11th, 1830, tenor 25 cwt. in $D$, and the first peal on the new bells is recorded the following year; a peal of Kent Trebble Bob Royal in 3 hours 27 minutes. A peal in the same method was rung at St. Peter's by a joint Liverpool and Manchester band on August 23rd of this same vear. 1831, and a return peal at the Collegiate Church. Manchester, also Kent Treble Bob Roval, was rung a month later on September 26th.
The excellence of the new. Mears bells is recorded. It was at this period that Rudhall and Dobson were joined with the Mears foundry at Whitechapel.
Grandsire Caters is next recorded by the Society at St. Peter's in 1840, and a first peal on a new ring of bells by Mr. Taylor, of Oxford, at St. John's, Farndon, Cheshire, is recorded in 1841 . Two peals at St. Nicholas follow, both in 1842 .

FIRST IN IRON FRAME
A United Societies' peal was rung at St Luke's on December 31st, 1844, consisting of 5.088 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major.

St. Luke's bells are distinctive as being the first ring ever to be hung in an iron frame The construction of this and the hanging of the hells was most successfully carried out by Messrs. Gillibrand of this city in 1829. The bells were cast by Dobson and had been seeking a home since 1818.
The next deal to be recorded was one of Stedman Caters, rung at St. Peter's in 1845. In April of the same year, on the new ring of bells being installed at St. Peter's, Prescot, an eight by Mears, tenor 14 cwt ., the 'Youths recoid a peal of Grandsire Triples. St. Marv's is the fourth church to be built on the site. and the tower, still in regular use, dates from 1729.

An outing to Wrexham on May 4th, 1846. records a peal of Grandsire Caters for the Liverpool Youths, followed by peals at St. Peter's in 1848 and 1850, a peal at St. Luke's in 1850 , and a November 9th Jubilee Peal at St. Peter's, a compliment to John Mand, Esq., the only survivor of the first Deal, completes the first half-century.

RAVENFIELD BELLS

The bells of Ravenfield Church, near Rotherham, have been unringable for over 30 years and are to have Ellacombe system of chiming apparatus installed at a cost of about £360. The clock is being dismantled for repairs and sent to Leeds.
The church is rather isolated from the village and in view of other pressing needs it was considered that it would be unjustified to attempt to raise the money needed for a new frame and rehanging.
The bells were cast by J. Bosvile in 1796, 40 years after the church was built in 1756. It is hoped to have the work on the clock and chimes completed in three months' time.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

South Norfolk Branch

The meeting at Bunwell on July 28th at tracted 47 ringers from 22 different parishes, including lady ringers from Leamington Spa, Warwickshire, and Yelvertoft, near Rugby. The six bells were rung to suit all talents, from rounds to London Surprise Minor.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. J. Warren) and the lesson was read by Mr. C. F. W. Phillips, a chorister and captain of the local ringers.
The business meeting was presided over by the Association president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston) supported by the general secretary (Mr. W. Love), the Rev. C. J. Warren and Miss Betty Syrett, Messrs. H. Moss, C. F. W. Phillips, F. Roper and W. G. Saunders, committee, and Mr. A. G. Harrison, Branch secretary. It was decided to visit Brockdish for the next meeting, on October 20th.
The meeting ended with votes of thanks to Mr. Phillips and the local ringers and ladies who kindly provided and gave the tea, also to the Rector and organist.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOT THE FIRST

Dear Sir,-I should like to point out that the two compositions published in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' by Mr. D. N. Layton are both old compositions.
The arrangement of 5,184 Double Norwich Court Bob Major appears in the 1908 Central Council Collection, on page 278, Peal No. 31, as the composition of $\mathbf{H}$. Dains, and Peal No 33, by J. R. Pritchard, the only difference be ing in the placing of the singles. This composition is also credited to W. H. L. Bucking ham, H. Johnson and A. Craven. I believe that H. Dains first produced it in 1886, and that the other composers mentioned obtained it, at about the same time. This block of eight courses also forms the main part of a 5,024 by Sir A. P. Heywood, which is still a popular peal.
The 5,088 of Yorkshire Surprise Maior was sent to me with several other three-part 5,088 's, in the early 1930's, as the composition of A. Craven, bur I think that it may have been composed many years earlier, as Mr. Craven produced three-part peals of Yorkshire Surprise Major about 50 years ago, the first peal in the method, conducted by Sam Thomas, being a peal of this number, composed by Mr. Craven, and this composition is often rung nowadays.
I am sure that Mr. D. N. Layton, who Duts his name to both sets of figures, composed them in good faith, but it is a duty of new composers to make reasonably certain that their efforts have not already been placed before the Exercise, either in the 'Bell News' or 'The Ringing World,' or in the various Association reports. The 5,184 of Double Norwich has been rung dozens of times, under the names mentioned previously, and young composers should have no excuse for not knowing of its existence.-Yours sincerely,

CHARLES W. ROBERTS.

Waltham Abbey

Note. - Mr. Layton, in sending the compositions to 'The Ringing World,' expressed the opinion that both had probably been rung Before. Other contributors are also thanked for their letters on this subject, Mr. William Shepherd pointing out that the Double Norwich was composed by Henry Dains in 1886.-Ed.

STAMFORD'S COUNTY BOUNDARY

Dear Sir.-Mr. Dove's book shows St. Martin's Church, Stamford Baron, as in the county of Northamptonshire, and I had also understood that this part of the town was in Northamptonshire and the rest of the town in Lincolnshire. It used also to be said that these two counties and the county of Rutland met on the bridge over the River Welland.
In recent years, however, a county boundary sign has made its appearance at the southern end of the town on the Great North Road well beyond St. Martin's, in such a position that if the sign is correctly, placed the church must be in the county of Lincolnshire.
Perhaps some reader can tell us whether the county boundary has been changed or whether the sign is in the wrong position or whether, in fact, the church never was in Northampton-shire.-Yours truly,
Melton Mowbray.

A DISCLAIMER

Dear Sir,-I have been somewhat disconcerted at being addressed by several of my acquaintances as 'Beau Pepe.

Will you be kind enough to publish this disclaimer? I do not think I know any of the ladies concerned nor do I know anything abouk the matter under discussion.-Yours sincerely

Guildford.
W. OLIVER (Miss).

EARLY RINGING
Dear Sir,-Mr. Box is confused. Sundays are not Bank Holidays, but these holidays owe their origin to the established practice of government offices and banks closing on the feast days of the Church. The number of saints' days was so large that the holidays were reduced to the statutory four, three being attached to the great festivals of the Church, two of which are 'movable.' The importance of these Church occasions is not moreover limited to the Established Church. These particular Church festivals are days of obligation, and it is right and proper that the bells should ring for the first Communion on these days. I am surprised that someone, whom I take to be a - live' member of the Church of England, should advocate appeasing those who like to admit their reiigious duties only when it is convenient to them. Perhaps we shall be asked eventually to stop or reduce ringing for Sunday Evensong because it interferes with children's television.
Unless we pay only lip service to our religion we ought not to accept our ringing being relegated to a state of popular and sentimental association unconnected with regular religious worship and on a par with background music at the cinema, but to be prepared to defend our ringing for services, particularly on the great festivals of the Church, as a duty to what is ostensibly a Christian community. We are, after all, members of a church militant.-Yours faithfully,
E. H. EDGE.

AN EXAMPLE

Dear Sir,-Most of your readers are, without doubt, aware of the fact that bells were in use for a variety of purposes, both sacred and secular, long before the binth of Christ. One of the oldest references to their use is to be found in the directions given in the Pentateuch for the High Priests' apparel. When the use of bells was adopted by the Christian Church it was mainly for the twofold purpose of glving the call to worship and celebrating festivals. Amongst other mediæval errors they were imagined to be effective in driving away not only evil spirits but also thunderstorms, as bellfounders' inscriptions testify.
With regard to Spain or Moslem countries, they may not show an example to be generally followed, but Christian humility tells us to bear in mind that other nations may occasionally have something to teach us, and English people might do worse than to emulate the national piety of Spaniards or observe the intense devotion of Moslems to religious duties and the profound reverence of their worship.Yours sincerely,

KNOSSINGTON SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-The footnote to the peal of Knossington Surprise Major rung at Loughborough on June 27th states that the method is Ashtead with 8ths place at the lead-end.
In a series of articles written by the late J. A. Trollope and published in "The Ringing World ' in 1941, Ashtead with 8ths place at the lead-end is named Ewell.
I trust someone will be able to clarify this matter and so prevent one more knot being tied in the tangle of Surprise nomenclature.

LANGDON HILLS

Dear Sir,-It should be noted that on page 65 of Mr. Dove's book reference is made to the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin and All Saints', Laindon Hills. This should, in fact, be Langdon Hills.

The error is excusable since the parish adjoins Laindon and is frequently referred to as Laindon Hills. Further, the error appears in the list of towers in the old Essex Association reports. I have not had the pleasure of seeing an Essex report for many years now and so do not know whether they are still able to publish a list of towers or whether this has fallen under the 'economy axe.'

When 1 learned to ring at Langdon Hills we only rang call changes. Attempts to establish change ringing did not meet with very much success, although at least two of us became change ringers and tried to interest the others.

I do not chink the bells are rung much these days. I was told some time ago that the bell chamber was knee-deep in twigs.

The Church of St. Nicholas. Laindon, also appears on page 65 of Mr. Dove's book as containing five bells for chiming only. These are chimed from a keyboard and the bells were hung 'dead' about 22 or 23 years ago, so there is no hope of them being rung again. The church has a wooden tower, of which there are several in Essex, so it is not surprising that when the bells were hung for ringing they were not considered safe.

When I lived in the district and was learning to ring I knew an elderly man, a local butcher, who had been a ringer at St. Nicholas' in the days when the bells were rung-about 60 years ago now at least, I should think.

Another memory of my call change ringing days at Langdon Hills is of a member of the congregation who had formerly been a member of the famous peal-ringing band at Southgate about the turn of the century. We often tried to persuade him to come and join us in the belfry but he would not do so, although after the service he often walked home with me and would tell me whether our striking had been satisfactory or not. He often talked of the peals of Surprise he had rung at Southgate but said he gave up ringing because he had lost interest. Alas, I cannot now remember his name, but I could easily take you to the house where he lived! Perhaps some of the old Southgate ringers may remember one of their number who moved to Laindon.-Yours truly,
P. A. CORBY.

Melton Mowbray.

OVER 100 YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,-An interesting paragraph relating to Dagenham, Essex, appeared in the Annual Register for October, 1804:

- A singular accident happened at the new church, Dagenham, Essex. The Society of Cumberland Youths were invited to open the new peal of bells, which they performed in the morning by ringing 7,008 changes of Ox ford Treble Bob Royal in four hours and forty-nine minutes; but in the evening Mr Channon, Master of the Society, wished to obljge the inhabitants of the village with another peal. when, unfortunately, his leg got entangled in the rope, which drew him up to the next loft, and falling from thence on his head he was killed on the spot, the upper part of the skull being beat in so that the brains oozed out through the cavities.
Nothing is known of this gruesome report at Dagenham, which has never had more than eight bells. One wonders whether this is recorded in the archives of the Cumberlands, and if so are they to emulate their eminent brothers and introduce a toast to the fragrant memory? -Yours sincerely,
L. V. GANT.

WHERE DO SHIPS' BELLS GO?

By ERNEST MORRIS, F.R.Hist.S., F.R.G.S.

$\mathbf{M}^{\prime}$ANY a ship's bell, after an adventurous career, often continues to render service long after the decease of its parent ship. Thus in many villages near the Scottish coast, and in other parts of Great Britain, we may find bells used to call the good folk to church that formerly were in service on the sea! Others may be found serving as alarm bells, fire bells or even factory bells. Some are preserved in museums as mementoes, or serve as memorials similar to that of the R.N.V.R. at Crystal Palace, and those in the headquarters in London of the League of Remembrance.
The bell of H.M.S. 'Canterbury,' which has been through tempest and battle (the cruiser of this name was present at Jutland) now rests in the peaceful surroundings of Canterbury Cathedral. An impressive service, attended by five thousand seafarers, was held in the Cathedral on June 9th, 1934, when the bell was presented. Admiral. Sir Percy Royds, who commanded the 'Canterbury' during the first Great War, struck six bells, and the Psalm beginning 'They that go down to the sea in ships' was sung, and the famous anthem by Tennyson, 'Crossing the Bar,' was chanted. Now every morning at 11 o'clock a serving or retired seafarer strikes six bells on the 'Canterbury bell, thus to remind all seafarers that the longest voyage and the strongest gale come to an end. Also, just as the Army has its - Unknown Warrior,' so the Navy has a permanent memorial to those who gave their lives.

THE 'EMDEN'S' BELL

A bell that had a chequered history is that of the German cruiser 'Emden.' This vessel was launched in 1908, and during the Great War did much damage to British and Allied commerce. It was while convoying Australian troops to England that the Australian cruiser 'Sydney' learned that the 'Emden' was at Cocos Island and drove her ashore at the North Keeling Island on November 9th, 1914, destroying her with the loss of 230 of her crew. Commander Muller, who was among those saved, and who had put up a gallant defence, was allowed to retain his sword. This was the first actual fighting done by any ship of the Australian Navy, and relics from the Emden, were distributed in various citics in Australia. The bell. broken and battle scarred, was displayed in the Garden Island Navy Depot, Sydney. In 1932 it mysteriously vanished, but later was discovered buried in Hyde Park, Sydney. For safety it was then placed in the Museum, yet even so was stolen again on April 28th, 1933. Eventually a young German was sentenced to imprisonment on a charge of stealing the bell. After such an adventurous career this bell was later restored to the German people by the Hon. Stanley Bruce, High Commissioner in London, who made a special journey to Germany for the purpose.

The bell of the German battleship "Hindenburg, sunk at Scapa Flow, was restored to the German Navy. It was carried over by the British cruiser 'Neptune' on August 3rd, 1936, in recognition of the graceful act in restoring the drums of the Gordon Highlanders.

Preserved in the Mission Inn Museum, California, is the bell from the cruiser "Don Juan de Austria' inscribed with that name and the words 'Crucero 1889' and 'Caraca.' The cruiser was one of the Spanish squadron captured in Manila Bay on May 1st, 1898, by Admiral Dewey in the Spanish-American war. With other ships, this cruiser was burned after the battle, and the Philippine Islands became a

THE LUTINE BELL
The historic 'Lutine Bell' at Lloyd's had many vicissitudes. It began life as a ship bell of the French frigate 'La Lutine,' subsequently captured by Admiral Duncan. In October, 1799, the 'Lutine' was wrecked at the entrance to the Zuyder Zee while carrying specie from England. Lloyd's eventually obtained salvage rights, and in 1858 the bell was recovered. Since then it has been preserved at Lloyd's, and is now rung to announce the arrival of a vessel that is overdue or presumed lost.

At the Baltic Mercantile and Shipping Exchange, London, is preserved a bell inscribed 'Ceres $1729^{\circ}$ and a brass tablet records: 'This bell was washed ashore at St. Colomb. Porth, Cornwall, September, 1929. The chapel of St. Endock, Minver, Cornwall, purchased the bell of the "Immacolata" of Barlette, after it had been driven on the rocks in 1875, and the church at Carbis Bay was formerly served by a ship's bell until able to have a proper ring of church bells. At Jevington, Sussex, one of the bells is inscribed: "W. Gyles, Captain; John Wood made me 1698, and this is thought to have been a ship's bell from a wreck, similar to the one at Berwick. There are quite a number of churches in Scotland whose bell was formerly serving on sea. Thus at Durness, Lairg, Sutherland, is one inscribed: William 1782; and its history says that the ship "William ' ran ashore on the shallow sands at Bakakiel Bay below the ancient parish church of Durness. All the men folk were away from home fishing, so the women helped to remove the sand away from the ship which, when the tide arose, was able to refloat. In return for their services the Captain presented them with the ship's bell

Until quite recent times the ancient and venerated Cathedral of Iona was served by a ship's bell, while at Stonehaven, Kincardineshire, the bell formerly used was that of a wrecked Norwegian vessel. At Durris an old bell inscribed 'Fortune' is used, and at Fetteresso the bell used as the church bell was fished up from the sea in 1847.

At Sutton Bridge, Lincolnshire, where an armament training station of the R.A.F. is situated, there is a one-time ship's bell serving as the church bell, and at St. George's Church, Oldham Road, Manchester, is a bell from the Bremen steamer 'Rheim,' dated 1868 . In the Scilly Islands the five churches have one bell each, four of which appear to have been originally ship's bells.

A JAPANESE NATIONAL TREASURE

One would hardly expect to find a ship's bell in a Japanese temple and registered as a national treasure of the country ! Yet the Shungo-in, one of the subsidiary temples of the Mioshin-ji, possesses one which is claimed to be the bell of Namban-ji. It is unquestionably of Western manufacture, for it is rung with a clapper inside instead of being struck from the outside as in the case of all Eastern bells whether smal! or large. On the waist in lowrelief is the date 1577 and threc repetitions of a device consisting of the sacred monogram 'I.H.S.' surmounted by a cross with the three sacred nails below. This bell was taken to Korea by the Lord of Sendai at the time of Hideyoshi's invasion of that country and used as a ship's bell, being brought back again at the conclusion of the expedition.
The writer frequently receives from the Admiralty notice of the sale of ship's bells from British ships that have been famous in historic association, and one wonders where some of these will and their days. At the moment I have a small one mounted in a suitable frame and standing on the top of my desk and sometimes used as a dinner gong! The bell of the (Continued foot of next column)

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society was held at Hutton Cranswick on July 14th at the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. G. Storer. The occasion was the sixth anniversary of the dedication of the bells by the late Archbishop of York on July 15th, 1950.
Forty-one members attended from Acomb, Beverley Minster and St. Mary's, Bridlington, Cottingham, Driffield, Goole, Hessle, Hutton Cranswick, Kirkella, Patrington, Pocklington, Rise, Sutton-on-Hull, Scarborough and York.

The six bells were raised and rung to various methods from rounds to the service touch of Cambridge Surprise. The service was conducted by the Vicar, who welcomed the Society in his address and was pleased to see such a good attendance.

Tea was provided and served by the church ladies in the schoolroom, and was followed by the business meeting, with Mr. A. E. Sellers, president, in the chair. After the meeting members returned to the church, where the bells were again rung until 9 p.m., when they were lowered in peal, bringing an enjoyable and memorable meeting to a close.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Mary's, Leyton, was visited by the Northern District for their quarterly meeting on July 21 st. Ringing, under the direction of the District Master, Mr. C. A. Hughes, commenced at 3 p.m. and methods ranged from call changes to Cambridge Surprise

A short service was conducted by the curate, the Rev. M. Strapps, who extended a very cordial welcome to the Association. Tea and cakes, kindly provided by the Vicar, the Rev. Frank Food, were served in the Church Hall. The business meeting followed, with the Master in the chair. Three vice-patrons were recommended, namely, the Rev. James Isherwood (South Hackney), the Rev. Francis Mettrick (Bow, East), the Rev. Frank Food (Leyton, East). Three ringers were elccted members, Messrs. J. D. and D. M. Hibbert (Herts) and Mr. B. W. Patmore (Walthamstow). Votes of thanks were duly recorded.
Further ringing was obtained at St. Mary's, Woodford, where these light and tuneful eight were rung until 8 p.m., when methods up to spliced were rung.

5,088 BRISTOL SURPRISE MAJOR By WILLIAM THORNLEY H In Out 5th 23456

First rung June 20th, 1956. at Loughborough Bell Foundry, conducted by the composer.
well-known liner 'Lord Gough ' is now on the stage at Eastham on the Mersey, whilst that of the 'Royal Charles, which sank off the coast with $£ 350,000$, is now at Lord Boston's castle in Anglesey. The bell of the original 'Britannic' (1870) is preserved by the White Star Line. The bell of the 'La Marguarita,' the ship that conveyed the City of London Rifles to France, is now to be found at their headquarters in Farringdon Street, London. Thus we see that some of our old ship's bells do finish their activities in peaceful and appropriate surroundings, no longer to be subjected to the caprices of storm and tempest.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

HASLEMERE, SURREY

A most enjoyable day was spent by the Haslemere ringers and friends from neighbouring towers on July 21st, when they toured the Thames Valley.

Towers visited in the morning were St. Peter's, Old Windsor, St. Giles', Stoke Poges (where the inevitable American tourists to the scene of Gray's Elegy provided an unusual and interested audience), and St. Peter's, Burnham. It was most interesting to meet Mr. George Gilbert here, for he well remembers, ringing peals with Mr. F. Bowden (the band's tower captain and Ringing Master) at Haslemere before the recasting in 1927.

After a hilarious lunch at Maidenhead and several attempts to find a way out of the oneway streets of the town, a very pleasant hour was spent at Ail Saints', Boyne Hill, where the sway was apparently rather frightening to some of the younger members of the party. Unfortunately there was not sufficient time for bathing but an agrecable half-hour was spent watching the boats and ringing the handbells before tea at Bourne End.

During the evening All Saints', Marlowon the banks of the river-St. Mary's, Twyford, and St. Peter's, Caversham, were visited. Since the majority of the band are teenagers without a great deal of expericnce of other towers, all rings chosen for this tour were light in weight, and only simple methods were rung, including rounds, Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob, and the youngsters acquitted themsclves very well.

The band was particularly struck by the friendly welcome received at each tower and the excellent 'go' of the bells. They are very grateful to the local ringers who met and took a rope with them.

BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT

On July 7th our party left Barnsley in the early morning and after a short journey arrived at Carlton-juxta-Snaith, where we received a hearty welcome from the Vicar, members of the local band and Mr. Leslie Woodhead. A nice light six proved somewhat lively for some of the visitors, but some fair ringing was done when we settled down. A halt was made at Selby for a late breakfast at the Corunna Cafe, where the fare is well known amongst Barnsley ringers. At our next tower. Escrick, we were greeted by Mr. Robbins and Miss Wilkinson, who had kindly travelled from York to tell us of a re-arrangement in the ringing at York. Oxford and Kent Minor were rung ing at York. Oxford and Kempted as most of the party were from six-bell towers, but as all were contest ringers some good cartwheeling resulted.
After a short run to York a quick lunch was taken, then the ringers proceeded to the Institute of Architectural Study, where Mr. Walker and Mr. Steel awaited the party, having had to secure these bells at short notice owing to a misunderstanding. Mr. Frank Atkinson, an old friend, stood in with the 'tykes' for a touch of Oxford and soon recalled his closelead ringing days. After some good striking on the old bells we hurried to the Minster, where only a few moments', ringing could be had as tea awaited us at the City Arms Hotel.
On the return journey a call was made at the old church at Sherburn-in-Elmet, where we had some really good ringing on a fine ring of bells. Miss M. Hawley and Mr. Edward Bradley stood in with us and the Oxford Minor was close to perfection. This was the last call of the outing, which was very successful, due in no small part to the welcome we received at all the towers.

LYME REGIS

Members of St. Michael's Guild visited East Dorset on July 28th, penetrating a little way into Hampshire. Making an early start in rather unpleasant weather, Wimborne Minster was the first objective. Mr. L. J. Lockyer met the party here, and after some little refreshment (coffee only) the lovely ten in the Norman tower were kept going in Caters and Royal for an hour. Travelling on to Cranborne the good-going eight were soon swinging to various methods, including Bristol and Yorkshire Major. The solidity and roominess of the tower here are noticeable and all the bells can be heard comfortably.

It is an attractive, winding run from there to Fordingbridge, the road skirting at first the watercress beds. Fordingbridge was reached a little after schedule. This tower was drafted into the programme in place of Ringwood, where the bells were otherwise engaged. The lightish eight proved easy to handle, though the standard of striking suffered a little owing to the false clappering of some of the bells. From Fordingbridge the heavy stream of Bournemouth traffic was joined. A quiet spot, however, for a well-earned picnic lunch was found by crossing the Avon at Harbridge. Then on through Ringwood for the pleasant drive to Christchurch, making good progress until A35 was reached, when some patience had to be exercised before that ultra-busy road could be taken.

Mr. A. W. Davis had everything in readiness at St. Peter's, Boarnemouth, where the nicetoned eight were fully enjoyed for an hour, Mr. Davis joining in some London Major. Afterwards everyone found the interval for tea very welcome with some spare time following for shopping-not a little 'dodging' being necessary on the overcrowded pavements.

From here sunshine favoured the more interesting part of the tour via the Sandbanks Ferry, giving clear views of the intricacies of Poole harbour, and through the Purbeck hills to Swanage-also teeming with holiday makers. Some good ringing was done on the fine eight at St. Mary's, Mr. A. J. Clark coming along to give his welcome. Fishing was unexpectedly included in the programme here before leaving -what was thought to be a small shark being netted by one of the party out of the shallow stream below the church amid the excited directions of the rest ! It proved to be an unknown species of dab, to be carried home triumphantly by a small boy in his bucket. Kingston was the final tower of the day, the climb thither giving a wide view with a splendid impression of Corfe Castle as the ancient gateway to the Dorset moorlands. A pleasant hour was spent on the fine heavy eight of this church, the interior of which is a gem of Purbeck marble erected regardless of cost.
With storm clouds gathering the homeward route was taken and, after a short supper stop at Wareham, Lyme Regis was reached soon after 10.30 p.m. Methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, Bristol, Cambridge, Yorkshire, London and Superlative Surprise and Double Norwich.

All were grateful for the enjoyable arrangements made, especially to the incumbents who granted the use of their bells, to the drivers of the cars, also to the ringing friends who added to their welcome at each tower by having the bells raised beforehand.

WARSOP, NOTTS.-On July 22nd, 1,440 Minor ( 720 each of St. Clement's and Plain Bob): J. Rooke 1, Miss B. Payne 2, Miss F. Robinson 3, G. Challans 4, F. Flint 5, H. T. Rooke (cond.) 6. Rung as a farewell to Miss B. Payne, who is leaving the district.

TAUNTON

Ringers, from the three towers at TauntonSt. James', St. Mary's and Wilton-and friends from neighbouring towers had a very enjoyable outing in the Torquay area on June 16th.

Taunton was left at 8 a.m. and after ringing at Kingsteignton (8, tenor 17 cwt .) and Brixham ( 8 , tenor 15 cwt .), the ferry was taken to Dartmouth from Kingswear.
After lunch the good eight at Paignton were rung for an hour, and later came one of the best rings of the day at Upton, Torquay. At tea, at Callard's Cafe, Mr. G. Coles thanked Mr. W. Gigg for making the arrangements for such an excellent outing. An hour's ringing at Babbacombe, and then the attractive drive along the coast road to Teignmouth, the last tower of the day. Here Mr. Atkins joined in a very good touch of Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

Methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich. The journey home was via Dawlish and Exeter, with a stop at Pinhoe for refreshments. Taunton was reached at 11.45 p.m.

REDENHALL AND DISS

The annual outing of the Redenhall and Diss ringers took place on July 21 st. Leaving Diss at 7 a.m. for a tour in Northamptonshire, the first call was at Higham Ferrers. Then on to St. Edmund's, Northampton, and, after an hour's ringing, lunch, and during the afternoon the bells of St. Peter's (8) and St. Giles' (10) were rung. After tea, on the homeward journey, Earls Barton was visited, and the last call was at Wellingborough, with the heaviest eight of the day. Bidding farewell to Northamptonshire at $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. a call was made at St. Neots for supper, and Diss was reached at midnight.

Thanks to Mr. William Flatt, Ringing Master for South Norfolk, who again arranged such an enjoyable and successful outing. A. G. H.

WISTASTON, CHESHIRE

On May 12th ringers from Wistaston, Marbury and other towers combined for a pleasan: half-day outing, which covered four six-bell towers in Cheshire. The towers visited were Chelford, Nether Alderley, Marple and Disley, and ringing ranged from call changes to a variety of Doubles and Minor methods.
A very good tea was enjoyed at Marple after a long walk up the hill to Mrs. Thwaite's farm, the road being too steep and narrow for the bus. To round off the day's events and provide some scenic attraction for the nonringers, the return journey was made via Buxton and the Cat-and-Fiddle Moors.
To the incumbents who so readily granted permission to ring and to the ringers who met us we would say "thank you' for a warm welcome and an enjoyable outing. J. D. S.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Activities in Rochester District

Approximately 50 members and friends attended the quarterly meeting of the Rochester District held at Borden on July 14th. Kinging commenced at 3 p.m. and catered for all tastes under the guidance of the Ringing Master, Mr. W. A. J. Knight. The service in church was conducted by the Vicar of Borden. Tea in the Church Hall was given by local ringers and their friends. It was a fine spread and included cherries, recalling the teas at Tunstall at this time of the year during the time of Mr. W. Spice.

The Vicar was elected chairman of the business meeting, when various Association matters were discussed, and two new members were elected-Mr. Lawrence Mitchell, of Newington, and Mr. A. Dunk as an honorary member, from Borden.

Votes of thanks were proposed by Mr . Knight to the Vicar, organist and lady helpers and all who had had connection with the arranging of the meeting. The Vicar and Mr. T. Barton, captain of the local band, replied.
Among the ringers present was a soldier ringer who came from Portsmouth and gave the meeting the best wishes of the Porismouth Diocesan Guild, who were also holding a mecting that day. After some handbell ringing a return was made to the belfry and ringing continued until 8 o'clock.

COMBINED PRACTICE AT SITTINGBOURNE

A combined practice of the Rochester District was held at Sittingbourne on July 16 th. Quite a good number attended despite the wet weather. Ringing under the guidance of Mr. Stan Dobbie consisted of rounds and the usual standard methods up to Cambridge and Superlative. At the end of the practice a course of Grandsire Caters 'in hand' was rung to finish off the evening.

This had been quite a ringing week-end in the Sittingbourne area, as on the previous Sunday afternoon a peal of Stedman was rung at Tunstall, and included in the band was an old friend, Mr. George Spice, who had not attempted a peal for a number of years owing to his continued ill-health, and it was a pleasure to see him ringing so well.

MAIDSTONE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS' SOCIETY

The Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society met at Boughton Monchelsea on July 21 st. Fortunately the weather was favourable in spite of a dull morning, and 20 ringers were present.

The Vicar conducted the shor service and, instead of a sermon, we were told of the history of the church, with a conducted tour, which proved extremely interesting. The church, which dates back to the Norman period, is built on the site of a Roman temple. There is a glorious view across the Weald from the well-kept churchyard.

An abundant tea of sandwiches and homemade cakes was enjoyed in Boughton Monchelsea Place, at a very low cost considering the amoum of food that was consumed and enjoyed.

The business meeting was held in the vestry and two new members were elected. After the meeting, ringing continued until $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Method ringing included Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor and Doubles. It is hoped that the next meeting will be at Wateringbury on September 15 th.

ORIGINALITY OF PEAL COMPOSITIONS

Mr. Norman Chaddock writes:-
The recent correspondence on the above subiect prompts me to forward the following ode, which prefaces an old notebook formerly the prodertv of the late Mr. Arthur Knights, of Chesterfield. the famous composer. The hook contains a collection of 300 peal comnositions of Treble Bob Major 'perpetrated by ye Council of ye Wise Ones,' and was given to Arthur Knights by Joe E. Sykes 'in memory of many peals well rung.' The only date in the book is the bookseller's (1921) and no indication is given of the author of the following poem:-

THF WAY OF SPIRIT IN COMPOSING' PEPPERY'S VARIATION
One day through the primeval wood,
Holt's calf walked home as good calves should, And left a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail as all calves do
Since then. some hundred years have fled, And I infer. Holt's calf is dead.
He left behind Holt's single.
The trail was taken up next day,
For Lates' sheep dog passed that way,
And good Brook's bell-wether shecp,
Followed Holt's trail o'er vale and stecp, And drew the flock behind him too,
As E. B. James is sure to do,
When he dispenses 'Hot Tom.'
So from that day when peals were made,
Through Holt's old woods a path was made, And many men wound in and out,
And bobbed and changed and dodged about; But still they followed-do not laugh.
The early pattern of Holt's calf,
Who'd ever heard of Q sets.
Holt's forest path became a lane,
Which Vicars and Taylor used again;
Their crooked lane became a road,
Which Snowdon made a village strect;
And this, before men were aware,
The 'Ringing City's' thoroughfare
Of countless compositions.
And soon the central street was this,
Of Thurston's four-part Metropolis. Composers through an age and half Trod in the footsteps of Holt's calf; They followed still its crooked way, Left variations by the way.
Trying to improve Holt's pattern.
A moral lesson this might teach,
Were 1 ordained and called to preach,
For men are prone to go it blind.
Composing just what's on their mind.
They cail away from sun to sun,
Repeating as their course they run,
Work that other men have done.
And how the wise old woods must smile,
Who saw good Holt's primeval calf.
Walk home through the woods awhile.
The first, the pure Original.
Postscript:-
Of changes there are not a few.
Of compositions many.
Mark it well, the reason is,
Enthusiastic, eager men
Who love through every scene to range, Their own examples to produce,
Have taught us bells to change.
First this, then that, then t'other leads,
The fourth next shows the way,
Then him the fifth succeeds,
And all come into play.

OBITUARY  MR. ALBERT EDWARDS

Mr. Albert Edwards will be remembered as a member of the St. Mary's Church band of ringers, Swansea, and later at Sketty Church, Swansea. He was not a great peal ringer, but was a loyal member to the band of ringers to the church he belonged. His attendance chart always showed 100 per cens. attendance, and 'Good old Albert' was always on everyone's tongue.
He learned to ring at Pontypridd under the tuition of the late Mr. Charles Perry, and later the family moved to Swansea, where he became a member of the St. Mary's band.
After a very short illness he died on July 24th. The service, which was held at St. Paul's Church, Sketty, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. C. Williams, and the bells were rung half-muffled for the occasion by Fred Thorne, John Edney, J. Arthur Hoare, Miss Pat Whitworth, Mary Kean and Mary Dean.
"Albert' will be missed by many, but not more so than by the bellringers of Sketty Church.
J. A. H.

MR. E. ALEXANDER YOUNG

An obituary report of the great services rendered to ringing by Mr. E. Alexander Young, who died on July 23rd, will be given in our next issue.

Will those ringers who desire to write an appreciation of this courtly gentleman, who was secretary of the Central Council from 1921 to 1931, kindly forward the same as soon as possible.

OVERHEAD OR OVERBOARD?

EVERY keen ringer in the country will have been disappointed to learn from recent copies of the 'Ringing World ' that the journal is still in a precarious financial position. The situation is especially disappointing to the Committee, who find that, as a result of the recent wage awards in the printing industry, the surplus made last year will not recur this year. They had hoped to use this extra revenue for improving the paper in various ways, e.g., by the inclusion of more illustrations.
The general feeling of most ringers is 'Where do we go from here ?' Some of the representatives at the Central Council meeting said quite bluntly that if it was going to cost more to produce the journal, then we (the readers) must pay more for it. This attitude was opposed by the assertion (probably correct) that if the price were increased still further there would be a substantial fall in circulation. Such a fall would be very undesirable, even if on balance there were a net increase in revenue, since the purpose and aim of the journal should be to be read by as many ringers as possible. Other suggested ways of increasing income were increased charges for notices and a levy on all peals published. If this latter course were adopted it would be equally logical to charge all contributors at so much a line for publishing their articles and letters.

One point, however, on which everyone agreed was that the financial worries would disappear if the circulation could be increased. Even a mere increase of 250 copies a week to postal subscribers would produce an increase in net revenue of approximately $£ 220$-which is just about the amount received in donations last year. Surely there must be 250 ringers in the country who do not now take the 'Ringing World,' but who would be pleased to see it come through the letter-box every Friday morning !

What if a substantial increase in circulation cannot be achieved? Shall the 'Ringing World' cease publication? Certainly not-and that is another point over which everyone agrees. Perhaps there is another way? Yes, there is, though it may seem somewhat revolutionary to some people. However, not all revolutions are bad, and maybe a good one will be caused.

Two important facts should be remembered : (1) quite a considerable number of ringers read the 'Ringing World ' without paying anything towards it (by borrowing someone else's copy, for example), and (2) a large proportion of the present expenses of producing the 'Ringing World ' would be substantially the same whether 2,000 or 10,000 copies were sold every week. In other words, the cost of producing the journal can be divided into two main classes'fixed' expenses and variable expenses. The fixed expenses include, for example, the cost of setting up type for printing, editorial fees and office expenses, the cost of keeping the accounts and the auditor's fees. The variable expenses are directly related to the number of copies sold, and include such items as the cost of the paper on which the journal is printed, the cost of printing and the cost of wrapping and posting journals.

Clearly, if some method could be found of guaranteeing that the fixed expenses would be covered, the price of the journal could be decided according to the variable cost. Since the 'Ringing World' is the official journal of the Central Council, could that body not meet the fixed expenses? In principle this may appear attractive-many professional and technical institutions publish private journals for circulation to their members and the cost is met largely or completely from subscriptions-but the Central Council at the moment simply has not the necessary income to do so. The revenue could, however, be provided if the Exercise as a whole were willing to do so by every Association affiliated to the Council paying a contribution proportional to its membership or the number of its representatives on the Council.

There would be, of course, a number of difficulties in operating such a plan. An immediate question is whether non-territorial Associations should also contribute-it would not be unreasonable to exclude such Associations since their members, almost without exception, belong to a territorial Association as well. Some ringers, though the total number is probably comparatively small, belong to two territorial Associations whose areas overlap, but some method could possibly be devised to prevent double contributions being paid.

The basic cost of producing the 'Ringing World' each week (i.e., editorial fees, office expenses, type setting, etc.) amounts to approximately $£ 2,100$ a year. If this were distributed equally among the 150 members of the Central Council representing territorial Associations, each such Association would be asked to pay $£ 14$ a year for each representative. This, however, is somewhat unfair because the number of representatives to which an Association is entitled is not strictly proportional to its membership. The scale is: 75 to 150 members, one representative; 151 to 300 members, two representatives; 301 to 450 members, three representatives; and over 450 members, four representatives. Thus, very large Associations, such as Essex with over 900 members, could more easily find the extra money than small Associations. It would be more just to ask a contribution per head of membership. Applying the minima in the scale for representatives, there must be at least 13,610 ringers represented on the Central Council. The basic cost, on this figure, works out at just over 3s. a head. In fact, the total number of ringers represented must be much greater than this figure, and the cost distributed over all ringers belonging to territorial Associations would probably be between 2 s . and 2 s . 6 d . a head. If the basic cost of the 'Ringing World' could be covered in some such way as this, the journal could be sold to ringers for about 3d., and this much lower price would probably lead to an increased circulation. Furthermore, it would mean that every ringer was paying some contribution towards the official journal of the Exercise. The 'Ringing World' would continue to be sold to non-members at a higher price.
'That's all very well,' the harassed Association Committees will probably say, 'but where do we get the money from? Our position is bad enough already-we haven't been able to publish a Report for the last two years-and now we're to be asked to subsidise the "Ringing World."' The answer is quite simply to increase subscriptions to cover the cost. This may produce a loud outcry from ringers generally, though really it ought not to. The real purchasing power of money to-day is only about one-third of what it was pre-war, and yet most Association subscriptions are only very slightly above the rates fixed 30 or 40 (or even more) years ago.

We ringers, on the whole, are fortunate in our hobby. We do not have to buy and replace a lot of expensive equipment like so many clubs and societies do, and the only real expenses of ringing are travelling and refreshment, both of which can be as much or as little as we please. Many people will pay annual subscriptions of a guinea or more in other fields of activity, and when one stops to think of the benefits to the 'Ringing World,' and ultimately to the Exercise, an extra 2s. or 2 s . 6d. a year from every ringer in the country would produce, few people are likely to have any serious objection. Moreover, those who already take the 'Ringing World ' would, in fact, be paying less for it.

There are many points of detail which would have to be settled before the scheme could be put into operation. It is vitally important at this stage that all ringers should discuss the matter informally and at ringing meetings all over the country during the next few months. The idea would depend for its success on the wholehearted support of every ringing Guild and Association in the country. If such a scheme as this were generally agreed in principle, then the detailed operation could be fully worked out later.

WORST BELLS IN BRITAIN THAT ARE REGULARLY RUNG

$I^{N}$
IN these words were described to me, before I knew for myself, the bells of St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge. The claim might, perhaps, be disputed, but all who have rung at St Andrew's will acknowledge it to be a very strong one. Rough-going, odd-struck and discordant, ringing them was never a pleasure; nevertheless, they were the only bells St. Andrew's had, and the Cambridge University Guild have ensured that they have been rung regularly for Sunday service, morning and evening, for some years past.
The bells have, in addition, in spite of all the abuse heaped on them, proved an invaluable belp to the University Guild, for regular practices here have filled a gap which the strictly limited ringing at St. Benet's could not (Great St. Mary's is, of course, the home of the Society of Cambridge Youths, and the University Guild are only guests there). Many Guild members have rung their first quarter at St . Andrew's, and have gone on to ring their first peal, an event which the absence of practice at St. Andrew's would have delayed considerably if it had not made it impossible. Interest in ringing among the members of the University has accordingly grown, and the Guild is probably in a more flourishing state than ever before.
It is not surprising that such bells should make for poor ringing, and poor it often has been, in spite of repeated efforts to improve it. Triples went better than Maior, and some of the best ringing at St . Andrew's in recent months was appropriately enough the touch of 504 Grandsire Triples which greeted Her Majesty the Queen on the occasion of her visit to the City and University last year. The bells were easier to strike when rung fast, and the last three peals rung there took respectively 2 hours and 39 minutes, 2 hours and 35 minutes and 2 hours and 31 minutes.

Peals were never rung there for pleasure, although, thanks to the unfailing interest and encouragement of the Vicar (Canon A. L. Woodard) the bells were readily available. As something of a return for Canon Woodard's support the University Guild has for some years attempted a peal on the Saturday nearest to the Patronal Festival on November 30th, for on this day each year St. Andrew's holds its annual appeal, and the ringing attracts the attention of passers-by.
It was on this day in 1954 that a landmark in the history of the Guild was reached with a peal of London Surprise Major-the first by the Guild (and by all of the band who took part in it)-which, although by no means perfect, was a much more creditable performance than the usual ringing. This success was followed up last year by a peal of Stedman Triples, this time rung for the Ely Diocesan Association (Mr. T. R. Dennis, a good friend of the University Guild, stepped in at short notice to replaced a member who was indisposed). This was generally reckoned to be the best peal on the bells in the last few years.

NO TEARS SHED

This ycar there has been a peal rung at St . Andrew's out of turn, on July 21st. The reason for this sudden enthusiasm is not far to seek, for the following Monday Messrs. Taylors began the work of removing the bells for recasting and rehanging. None of the Cambridge ringers shed a tear as they were lowered down the tower, even if some of us did, to quote one respected member of the University Guild: 'have a sneaking affection for the old pots. Two old and thoroughly undistinguished bells from the 17 th and 18 th centuries were accompanied by six others dating from that time in the mid-19th century when bell founding was at its nadir-even when well-struck, they were never pleasing to the ear.
Now we are to have a new and, we hope, tuneful ring. It is estimated that the new tenor will weigh about $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ (the weight of the old one is variously estimated at between $8 \frac{1}{2}$ and 10 cwt .). New frame and fittings will accompany the new bells, and although there may be something to be said for teaching learners on rough bells ('If you can ring St. Andrew's you can ring anything '), the University Guild will now have at its disposal bells on which there will no longer be an excuse for bad striking. Parish and ringers both stand to gain.
There only remains the awkward matter of paying the bill. The University Guild is naturally doing all it can to help raise the money, but the only source is voluntary contributions. If any readers of 'The Ringing World,' especially those who remember what the old bells were like, can spare even the smallest sum, it will be most gratefully re-

The bells of St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge, after their removal by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Saxmundham District

A meeting of the Saxmundham District was held at Yoxford and Peasenhall on July 7th. Ringing commenced at Yoxford, a light six, in the afternoon, and Peasenhall, also a light six, in the evening. The meeting was well attended.
The service was at Peasenhall, where the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Thickett) gave an interesting address.

Tea had been organised by the Vicar, with the help of the local ladies to make sandwiches, cakes and pastries, and an excellent tea was had by all. At the business mecting the financial position of 'The Ringing World 'was discussed, and an increased circulation seemed to be the only answer. A vote of chanks was given to the Vicars for the use of the bells, and the ladies for the tea. Next meeting: Tunstall and Blaxhall on September 22nd.

Following the successful reunion of veterans last year, Mr. A. W. Coles, of 41, Holloway Lane, North Mymms, Hatfield, Herts, is arranging a similar gathering in London this year on September 15 th.

Five girls from Rotherham High School, assisted by a local ringer, rang touches of Plain Bob and Little Bob and an extent of Grandsire Doubles for the School's annual service in All Saints' Parish Church. The ringing was of a good standard and a worthy contribution by the girls to this annual function.

There are prospects of Cottingham, Yorks, bells ringing shortly. The Rector (the Rev. W. R. Hebron) writes in his parish magazine that repairs to the tower roof are to begin next week and when complete 'we shall be able to ring our bells again.' For the repair work 10 the roof, steel girders, an aluminium alloy foor and a thin coating of asphalt are to be used.

Owing to severe damage to GOSSIP bell ropes by pigeons at Holy Trinity Church, West Hill, S.W., the bells will be silent until further notice.

The first peal of Chester Imperial Bob Major was rung at Chester on August 4th. It is C.C.C. 252.

The centenary of the birth of Sir Henry Rider Haggard, K.B.E., the famous novelist, was celebrated by a pcal on the bells of Ditchingham, Norfolk. Following the peal the ringers were entertained to refreshments by his daughter, Miss Lilias Rider Haggard.

Members of the Kettering Grammar School Society attempted a peal at Great Addington on July 13 th which failed in the second extent because of a shift. The first extent (480) of Little Bob by the Society was then rung, and the first course of Cambridge.

St. Christopher's Society of Change Ringers have 18 members on tour this year in Lincolnshire, Nottinghamshire and Leicestershire. The Society was started in 1951 and is led by Mr. Peter N. Bond. A feature of the year's tour is the taking of tape recordings of bells so as to provide a permanent feature. Their visit to Louth on August 9th was the subject of a very good Press report in the 'Lincolnshire Evening Telegraph.'
After over 30 years as a carillonneur, Mr. Ferdinand Timmermans, Stadsbeiaardier, Rotterdam, Holland, retires this summer. Mr. Timmerman is the foremost carillonneur in Holland, and special concerts in his honour will be played on carillons all over the world. He is also a composer of note.

THE LATE MR. E. ALEXANDER YOUNG

ARCHITECT-HISTORIAN WHO WAS FOR TEN YEARS CENTRAL COUNCIL SECRETARY

$\mathrm{T}^{\mathrm{H}}$HE death occurred on July 23 rd of Mr. E. Alexander Young, A.R.I.B.A., F.S.I., of Bromley, Kent. He had reached the age of 91 in May last. Cremation took place at Streatham on July 27 th, and the ringers present included Messrs. T. H. Taffender (Master),
H. W. Rogers (secretary) A. D. Barker and H. W. Rogers (secretary), A. D. Barker and W. G. Wilson, of the London County Association, of which Mr. Young had held one office or another for more than 50 years; J. S. Mason (Master), A. A. Hughes and J. F. Smallwood (Past Masters) and A. B. Peck (secretary) of the Ancient Society of College
Youths, of whom he was Master in 1933; E Youths, of whom he was Master in 1933; E. A. Barnett, secretary of the Central Council, to 1931, and a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee from its formation in 1912 until his death; I. Emery (Bromley) and J. W. Chapman (Streatham).

Ernest Alexander Young was born at Southampton in 1865, and after being cducated in London was articled to an architect in 1881. He began in private practice as an architect and surveyor in 1904, and seven years later became district surveyor for the Borough of Lewisham, retiring in 1931. At one time he was well known in London as a public lecturer on mat. ters relative to architecture and building, and he had a wonderful knowledge of London's architectural history.

WITH ST. JAMES' SOCIETY

His acquaintance with ringing started in $\overline{1885}$, when he got to know some of the St. Clement Danes' ringers, bcing at the time engaged as a student in surveying and measuring the steeple of that church (and paying the steeplekeeper, Edward Albone, sundry half-crowns for the privilege). It was not until 1890 that Albone taught him to handle a bell. On January 5th of the following year he joined the old St. James' Society, soon to become the London County Association, at its old headquarters in Essex Street, Strand, a room at the Essex Head, which had once been a favourite rendezvous of Dr. Johnson. His membership of the College Youths began a few years later.

Mr. Young became secretary of the St. James' Society in August, 1892, holding this office for two years. Some years ago the present secretary persuaded him to record in detail his experiences during his first 15 years of membership, and this forms a fascinating account of London ringing and ringers of the day, and some of the many factions and intrigues which went on. not only between the different Societies but within the one with which he was most closely associated. Later, Mr. Young designed the present membership certificate, and in 1924, the centenary of the formation of the St. James' Society (so named from its original headquarters, St. James', Clerkenwell), presented to the London County Association a silver badge to be worn by the Master.

WORK FOR CENTRAL COUNCIL

Mr. Young's membership of the Central Council began in 1912, when he was elected for that Association, whom he continued to represent until 1923. He then became an honorary member and, in 1951, a life member. Increasing infirmity had prevented him from attending the last four meetings, but before this he had missed only three in 40 years. His work for the Council began at once when, with Mr. E. H. Lewis and Major J. H. B. Hesse, he assisted Sir Arthur Heywood in writing 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging,' which remains a standard work on the subject. Mr. Young devoted considerable attention to the movement of bell towers during ringing, and at one time was a member of a committee approved by the R.I.B.A. to report on what was then a somewhat obscure question.
In 1921 he took part in a conference between the Towers and Belfries Committee and the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, as a result of which a report was drawn up, setting out the points on which the two bodies agreed, for the first time, in connection with the hanging of bells in old church towers. In the same year Mr. Young had succeeded the Rev. C. D. P. Davies as secretary of the Council, and during 1925 and 1926 took a leading part in the gallant but unsuccessful endeavours made to save the famous ring of ten at St. Michael's, Coventry (Coventry Cathedral), from being recast and made into a carillon. He published at his own expense a booklet containing no fewer than 73 communications on the subject which passed between the various parties concerned. As a practising musician and a determined opponent of Simpson tuning, he moved a resolution on the subject at the 1926 Council meeting which led to a long and interesting discussion; before the mecting he had presented to the members a pamphlet entitled 'Bell Tones,' in which he set forth his objections to this type of tuning.

THE FRAGRANT MEMORY,

In 1933 Mr . Young was elected Master of the College Youths. It was his practice for many years at the Society's annual dinner to propose 'The Fragrant Memory of the Masters of 100,200 and 300 years ago,' which he would do with a wealth of detail which was obviously the product of much careful research. Latterly he had supplied the information for another to read out. It was he who discovered in a little courtyard opening off Lime Street, a narrow thoroughfare in the City of London, the tomb of Sir Henry Tulse, sometime Lord Mayor and Master of the College Youths in 1684 . The inscription was almost indecipherable, but luckily it was known, and in their tercentenary year the Society had the inscription restored and a commemoration plaque fixed to the stone.

A HEARTBREAKING TENOR

Mr. Young claimed no prowess as a practical ringer. He described his first attempt, at rounds, on the 9th at St. Clement Danes', as 'a lamentable failure,' adding that he was roundly admonished by a famous ringer who was present. He became a member of the 'scroof,' and was content to remain a tenorman, having no ambition to go further. In 1893, the bicentenary of the casting of the bells, he suggested a peal attempt, only 10 find himself omitted when the band was made up. After strong protests he was included but 'some grit was put into the tenor bearings in order to make it a heart-breaking job, even for a lusty youth like myself. But it was overdone, and in 40 minutes she would "set " vertically and remain stuck so.' In the following year the bell had to be rehung in new bearings.
After this discouraging experience he vowed he would never ring a peal, but 30 years later he relented and rang Lavenham tenor to Stedman Triples, in which Bert Langdon, Alf Peck and Challis Winncy took part. He had just previously rung two handbell peals, the second one when Challis Winney called Carter's OddBob One-Part peal of Stedman Triples, to which Mr . Young rang 7-8. Subsequently he took part in at least one more tower-bel! peal. He was very fond of ringing the tenor to Stedman on handbells, and a few months after his 90 th birthday took part in a course of Triples 'in hand' at a meeting at Farningham, Kent-probably the last ringing function he was able to attend.
It is, therefore, not for his ringing prowess that Mr. Young will be remembered, but he served the art of ringing faithfully for many years and in many different ways. He outlived his contemporaries, and as his main work ended nearly a quarter of a century ago, he was unknown to many ringers. Those who were acquainted with him, however, will always remember him as a dignified and courteous old gentleman, who was liked and respected by all.
E. A. B.

APPRECIATIONS

Friend after friend departs.
Who has not lost a friend? - Scott.
Mr. E. Alexander Young was a stalwart who had served the Exercise in his day, as witaess his secretaryship of the Central Council. His tenacious struggle to save Coventry Cathedral bells, his fight for the name of a famous ringer, over 30 years ago, 'tis true. To have known E. A. Y. and have his friendship I deemed an honour.
I last saw him about a year ago when he visited this Island, the first time for 25 years. When, over a cup of tea, he ioined with the late Walter Scott (another veteran of this town), then 85, and myself to talk of happy days-for instance, his 60 th birthday peal at St. Mary's, Southampton, now 31 years ago last May. Only two of that band survive-T. H. Taffender and myself. The late Challis Winney called Holt's Original. and E. A. Y. rang on the treble. We shall not see his like again, I am afraid. in these days of hurry. He was of the old Victorian type, gracious, kindly, courtly and full of humour, 'one of nature's gentlemen.' May he rest in peace and his name and memory be honoured in some way by the Exercise he served so loyally and well is the hope of one of his humble admirers.
W. UPTON.

Newport, Isle of Wight.
Dear Sir,-As one who knew the late ${ }^{-}$Mr. Young for only about 20 years-a short period compared with a good many other people-may I say what a perfect Christian gentleman I found him to be. Kindness and consideration were his watchwords. I shall always remember him ringing $7-8$ on handbells to Stedman Triples, when 90 years of age, at the annual meeting of the Lewisham District. K.C.A.. in October, 1954 -a feat many others would like to do at a much earlier age.
May he rest in peace after 'a course well rung.'-Yours sjncerely,
A. PURDOM.

REDEDICATION

ST. JAMES', BRISTOL

The rededication of the ten bells of St. James', Horsefair, Bristol, took place during the morning service on Sunday, July 29th. After the dedicatory nrayers a short course of Grandsire Caters was rung. The bells have been silent since Easter, when Messrs. Mears and Stainbank commenced the fitting of ball bearings, new clapper staples, rope guides in the ringing chamber and the strengthening of the frame carrying the two trebles. The work has cost about $£ 560$.

The bells are now in excellent condition and the keen band of ringers at this church look forward to a long period of progress under the able leadership of Mr. Leslie Pearce.

THE SOCIETY OF LIVERPOOL COLLEGE YOUTHS

$I^{T}$is 50 years since the Society was established, and 47 peals have been rung in whole or in part membership.
Easter Monday, April 21st, 1851, witnessed the opening of a new ring of eight by Mears, at Runcorn, Cheshire. The ' Youths ' were conveyed to and fro by omnibus, 'every expense was paid and every man had 7s. for his day's trouble. The first peal on the bells was accomplished on the anniversary day in 1852, when the journey was by steamboat, returning the same day.
The year 1852 saw two peals of Grandsire Caters rung at St. Peter's, and peals of Grandsire Triples at St. James', Christleton, Cheshire, and St. Luke's, and an opening peal at St. Thomas', Douglas. I.O.M.

IN THE ISLE OF MAN

To open the bells at St. Thomas', I.O.M., cast by Mr. Murphy, of Dublin, the company embarked on the 'King Orry,' at 9.25 a.m. on December 4th, and after a tolerably fine passage, arrived at Douglas at 5.50 D.m. the same evening, while the rain poured down in torrents. Ringing the following day for service, morning and afternoon, is recorded.

The opening peal, Holt's Ten-Part, was not uneventful. Following the half-way single the second and sixth ropes broke. A fresh start was made and the second rope again broke, as did the third rope. While Mr. Andrews, a ringer, spliced the ropes, some 300 ladies were entertained by the 'Youths' with their handbells., One 'Youth,' Evans, is reported 'nervous.' A change course upset the next attempt, the record continues, 'Started again and the peal was successful.-December 7th, 1852.

ELECTION INCIDENT

Ringing for the General Election, for which the Society was promised $£ 10$, but had great difficulty in getting $£ 5$, is recorded. One member, Ned Davies, 'conducted himself very disorderly and was intoxicated as well-fined 55 . 2 s . for being drunk, 2 s . for insulting and abusive language, and Is. for leaving before the ringing was done.' (Incurring the last 1s. at least stabilised his loss).

The 'Youths' had now learnt something of politics. and something of finance, more than many modern men, for an entry reads, 'Rung for the school children's anniversary- 5 s . per man, and 5 c . extra for the man getting the money.'

In 1853 a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Peter's, and in 1854 Grandsire Caters was also rung at St. Peter's, and two peals of Kent Treble Bob Maior at St. Luke's.

It was on October 3rd, 1854, George Borrow writes of the sweet bells of Llangollen ringing for jov on the reported capture of Sebastopol: Liverpool bells were rung for the same purpose on Monday, October 1st. George Borrow appears to have been the only one to benefit from the ill-founded report.
Two peals were rung in 1855, Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples, both at St. Luke's.

Holt's Original was rung 'in hand' for the Society in 1856, at Mr. Bates', Boar's Head, Drury Lane, conducted bv John Heron, ringing 3-4, and was followed by a peal at St. Luke's in honour of Mr. Hand's 80th birthday.

AN ALTERCATION

On quarter night, December 24 th, after some little altercation. Thomas Gay tendered his resignation, but becomes a member again on Sunday morning, January 2 nd.
Two peals were rung in 1857, one a United Societies' peal and one for the Liverpool College Youths-Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples, both at St. Luke's.
Visiting Liverpool in 1858 and 1859, Mr. Albert Escourt, of Painswick, took part in two peals. The distinguished visitor conducted, in 1859, a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Nicholas'.
Holt's Original was rung at St. Luke's in March, 1862, and a week later Grandsire Cinques is recorded at St. Nicholas', with Stedman Cinques the following year on the same bells. A peal of Grandsire Caters was also rung at St. Peter's in 1862. All four peals being recorded for the Liverpool College Youths.
The year 1865 brings to an end this era of Liverpool belfry life, with a muffled peal of Grandsire Caters rung at St. Peter's as a tribute of respect to the G.O.M. Mr. John Hand, who conducted the first peal in Liverpool, in 1800.

NOTES

The torrential rains at Douglas reminds the writer of an expedition into Wales, recorded thus:-

One unlucky Friday-with sorrow and pain
I proceed to record it-it came on to rain!
It rained on the Saturday, it rained on the Sunday,

1. It rained every hour of the day on the Monday,
On Tuesday it rained cats and dogs, as they say,
And Wednesday was also a very wet day.
On Thursday and Friday, especially the latter day
It rained very hard-but my gracious on Saturday.' etc.,
To be fair to Ned Davies: Liverpool possessed a modern, adequate and clean water supply in 1892. Old prints show the well from which the town's water supply was drawn in a field, in which cattle are grazing. Sterilised and pasteurised milk was introduced by the large milk distributors in the 1920 's, and about the same time a few farmers introduced T.T. milk into the city.

WILLESBOROUGH, KENT.-On July 29th, 1,260 Doublc Court: Miss R.A. Gower 1, Miss P. Lowes 2, E. S. Ruck 3, M. S. Lancefield (cond.) 4, C. T. Hillis 5, D. Staples 6. For Matins. ## SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR IN NINE METHODS

Dear Sir,-Further to my composition in eight methods, as published in 'The Ringing World ' on November 4th, 1955, I have managed to add Cassiobury, making it nine methods with all the bells doing all the work of each method, but it makes a little longer peal.
The following gives the arrangement as it must be rung with this method included. Yours faithfully, A. J. PITMAN.

North Weald Ringer's Wedding

Members of St. Andrew's Guild of Ringers, North Weald, Essex, presented an oak striking clock to Mr. Sidnev King on July 22nd as a wedding present. A congratulatory quarter peal of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor was lost five minutes before the end through the tenor rope slipping off the wheel.

Mr. King's marriage to Miss Maisic Davis touk place at Holy Trinity Church, Southall, on July 28th. Another congratulatory quarter was attempted on July 29th before morning service at North Weald, but this had to be called round after about 1,000 changes because of a late start.
The honours were done before evening service, when 1,300 Plain Bob Doubles were rung.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BELLS OF BERWICK-UPON-TWEED TOWN HALL

Dear Sir,-1 was very interested to read Mr . Ogden's letter in your issue of July 20th, as I made a similar visit to this tower in 1946 and my experience and observations are recorded in 'The Ringing World,' Vol. XLI., page 543, dated November 15 th, 1946.
The present Master Bell Ringer of Berwick appears to be rather ignorant in the matter of the history of his bells; they were certainly cast and hung for ringing long before the present century. The ring was cast by Lester and Pack of London in 1754 and presumably installed about that year; the Freeman's Records maintained at the Town Clerk's office have reference to bell repairs going back to the .early 19th century.
A peal has been rung on these bells. The bells were rehung by Carrs of Smethwick in 1894, and on completion of the work the bell hanger, J. Buffery, arranged for a trial by a band of ringers from Newcastle. The result was a peal of Stedman Triples in iust over three hours, a series of complaints by resentful citizens and tea with the Mayor in his parlour! As Mr. Ogden shows, the bells are now unsafe for ringing, but they were rung by occasional visiting bands until just before the last war.
It seems very doubtful now whether any full scale restoration of these bells is possible, as the Town Hall is owned by the Freemen of Berwick, and, like most of these old corporations, their plea is one of poverty. Then again, Berwick is isolated in both a geographical and a ringing sense and there are ao competent local ringers with the required zeal to investigate any scheme.-Yours tiuly,
K. ARTHUR.

CORNELIUS CHARGE-A MEMORY

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}^{2}$ - With reference to Mr. E. Mor:is' interesting letter of the 3rd inst. of the late brothers Charge, Reuben, who came to ring recently at Streatham, often used to talk about bis brother's achievements-'Corney slipped up,' once he said.
At one time the brothers were ringing quite a number of peals at Fulham, and at the finish of a peal of Grandsire Caters (one of Cornelius' compositions) his brother, Reuben, who took part, declared that the peal was false.

Subsequently the figures of the composition appeared in 'Bell News,' which was sent with the report of the peal in question. The figures caught the eye of Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, the wellknown composer, who proved it false. Resultpeal withdrawn.-Yours sincerely,
J. W. CHAPMAN.

'OPEN' OR ' CLOSED' LEADS

Dear Sir.-In some towers I notice that the bell leading full at handstroke makes a slight but definite pause before leading, in others no pause is made. On more than one occasion I have brought this up for discussion and find that there are two schools of thought on this matter. Some bands say pause; others say no pause.
Is there any ruling on this, please?-Yours faithfully,

Cottingham, Yorks.
Notte.-The ' Open ' handstroke lead is norma! in most parts of the country, but 'cartwheeling,' as the 'closed' lead is usually described, is not uncommon in parts of Yorkshire and Cheshire particularly among six-bell bands. It is also frequently used by call change ringers in the West Country. There is no rule on this subject. -Ed.

EXPANSION OF OUR ART

Dear Sir,--Referring to the leading article in The Ringing World ' for February 10th, on the subject of the limited scope for the production and sale of ringing books and pamphlets, I believe that this is only one small facet of a much larger problem which continually confronts the Exercise. As the author rightly suggests in his closing remarks, these books do help towards the expansion of the art.
But sureiy the converse is also true. An expansion in the art, and in the number taking part in it would also help the sales of books and pamphlets, and sir, as I believe you would be only too happy to agree, the sales of 'The Ringing World ' itself.
Are we, as ringers, doing all we can to further the art of ringing? Are we satisfied that ringing is making advances comparable with, shall we say, electronics or other expanding industries?
When one opens 'The Ringing World' and from time to time reads that yet another record has been created in Spliced Surprise, one must admit that at any rate technical advances are undoubtedly being made. But are these advances really helpful to the expansion of the art? I should not like for one moment to underestimate the very great skill and sustained effort demanded of these torch-bearers. Those who have progressed as far as the standard methods may be dimly conscious of what breaking a record in Spliced Surprise must mean in terms of skill, study, practice and time; but what of the many who can do little or no change-ringing, and what of the vast multitude of the 'listening public' who neither know nor care what is being rung so long as the striking is good?
These torch-bearers have done noble work, but their light is out of sight of the main body behind. As Sir Winston Churchill once said: - Britain leads the world; but is the world following? 'It is to the followers of the Exercise, and the general public after them, that we must look for an expansion in the art.
What then is the scope for expansion, and what part can ringers play in helping to fill the ringing vacuum that undoubtedly exists even in these overcrowded islands? Probably the most promising field for immediate expansion would be those churches where the bells are for some reason sadly silent. Most of us who have rung away from our own tower can call to mind such a church not many miles away. Then there are the churches that have towers but the bells are either derelict or wanting. A more difficult problem here. Then, scemingly right out of reach, are the churches that do not even possess a tower.

I visited such a church recently. It is comparatively modern and unfinished, the west end being bricked off and awaiting extension. Inside there is a plan showing the existing portion and the proposed extension. I could not see anything to indicate that any tower was planned. I wondered if any of the good folk living there realised what bells mean in the life of the English Church, and what they would miss if the church should be completed without them. The church is in a wealthy neighbourhood, and I came to the conclusion that it could only be through complete unawareness of the real meaning of the bells that they have been completely ignored in the design.

There must be scores of similar examples of the ringing vacuum throughout the country. A vacuum which if not filled by us will be eventually filled in other ways, leaving the churches in question permanently the poorer for being deprived of this much-cherished traditional way of life.

Surely it is up to us as ringers to ponder these things and to try and form as clear a picture as we can of what ringing means in the life of the church. This, of course, is what really matters. It is the factor that has governed the total number of ringable towers we see published in Dove's Guide. There is scope here for reading and research, and with a clearer view of the meaning and purpose of the bells constantly before us, and a willingness at all times to keep the wellbeing of the art in the forefront of our own personal desires, we can in time still further improve our relationship with our fellow ringers and the rest of the church.
Such a policy persistently carried out on a large scale would surely improve the soil in which a genuine expansion of the art could flourish.-Yours faithfully, Bexhill-on-Sea.

HENRY BRETT, OF COWLEY

Dear Sir,-Cowley is a little village just west of the main Cirencester-Cheltenham road, and it is truly an unspoilt village, and a pure agricultural village by reason of the fact that there is no trace of industrial development, no railway or main highway to mar the tranquil atmosphere of this rural community high up in the Cotswolds.

In 1946 the County Council took over the Manor House as a residential conference house for adult education and vouth movements. With the estate went the age-old rights of the Lord of the Manor, possibly the first time that a local authority has ever acted as a village Squire.'
Like much of the lands in England at that time, Cowley belonged to one of the religious houses, in this case the Abbey of St. Mary's, at Pershore, and it remained in their possession until the dissolution of the monasteries by Henry VIII. The lands were originally given to the Abbey by Edward the Confessor in return for some land which he required to build a church in London-the site where now stands Westminster Abbey.
It was Westminster Abbey with which Cowey thus possesses a singular link into whose hands the Manor passed after the dissolution of Pershore Abbey.

It was leased successively to families named Bridges, Bloomer and Brett, and late in the 17th century one of the last-named, Henry Brett, built the first Manor House on a site southeast of the present buildings. Henry Brett was eventually made bankrupt, the reason of his failure being an unusual one. The local historian, Rudder, tells us that he was passionately fond of bellringing and was continually travelling about the country at a vast expense with a company of ringers, and dissipated a splendid fortune. The present Manor House was built just over a century ago by Mr. James Hutchinson, and stones from the old Manor House were used in the foundations. Between this date and 1946, when the County Councit nurchased it, several families have lived in the house, and made imorovements and addjtions. Prominent ir this respect was the late Sir James Horlick, by which time the estate had grown to 3,000 acres.
Built in the early 134 h century and sharing the dedication to the Blessed Virgin of its parent church at Pershore, Cowley Parish Church stands close alongside the Manor House Though only a small building, its seating capacity. 100 , is roughly equal to the population of the village. In 1500 the embattled tower at the western end, the porch and chancel were added. There are six Rudhall bells in the tower, and three were given by Henry Brett, whose excessive interest in campanology brought about his ruin.
Could any reader give more details of the ringing career of Brett?-Yours faithfully,

EDWARD J. THOMAS.
Carmarthen.

AUGUST BANK HOLIDAY WEEK-END IN THREE COUNTIES

There are many ways of spending a ringing week-end. One of the most enjoyable is to invite eight ringers of much the same ability and arrange five peals for them. This is exactly what Mr. Brian Bladon, of Swindon, did for August 4th-6th, and a very successful venture was the result.

A start was made at Stratton St. Margaret, a very pleasant eight, with a tenor of $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.; for Lincolnshire. The peal seemed "in the bag,' but with only three courses to go the conductor called 'Stand,' owing to a shift course. After lunch in Swindon a visit was paid to Great Coxwell ( $5,11 \frac{1}{c}$ cwt.), where the very genial Vicar (a Yorkshireman) gladly gave permission for us to ring on his seldom-heard bells.

Then over to High worth for the first peal of Surprise on the bells. These are a clear-sounding ring, rehung by Taylors, and a start was made for Yorkshire. Brian Bladon, who was conducting, was not satisfied with the ringing, which was too slow. and set the bells up after 30 minutes. A change round in the band, and a really good peal was rung at a brisk pace. Some were a little tired, but we still went on to Lechlade ( $6,15 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and rang London and Stedman for the benciis of a local ringer.

We started off on Sunday with service ringing at Christ Church, Swindon, a grand 10 (tenor $22 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), and then went over to meet Mr. W. B. Kynaston at Rodbourne Cheney ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where on a pleasant ring we rang Plain Bob, Cambridge and London.

The afternoon peal was booked for Bishopstone, where the hells have a reputation for noise. However, Dcrek Jones made a really good job of the tenor and making his calls heard, and we scored the first of Surprise on the bells, and the first Major since 1921 . A short run over to Ashbury ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and permission was granted by the churchwarden for us to ring after Evensong on a good-going rehung Taylor six.
Our first tower for Monday was Shrivenham and we scored a very good 'fast ' peal of Rutland, which was Malcolm Cloke's first peal of Surprise as conductor. As he is the second Oxford Guild ringer to do this within two months, someone suggested the method must be easier than it looks ! The Vicar of Shrivenham kindly congratulated us while we were having lunch.

Our last tower was Watermoor, Cirencester, and we were welcomed by Mr. F. J. Lewis, whom the writer had not seen since 1934. The bells are rung from the ground floor and have a long draught, with the treble hung above the others. The method chosen was Superlative, and a very slow peal was accomplished. The writer's wrists ached more on the treble than if he had been on the tenor!
The parting of the ways came after this, and the band thanked Brian Bladon for arranging so enjoyable and successful a week-end. A. P. C.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The July meeting of the Society was held at Calverley on Saturday, July 28th. Throughout the afternoon and evening members and friends, representing a dozen or more towers, took part in ringing a variety of methods, including many touches and courses of Plain Bob for the learners present.
Tea was served in the local schoolroom at 5 o'clock and was enioyed by all present. The business meeting followed immediately afterwards, at which the local company and helpers were thanked for their hospitality to the Society.
The next meeting will be held at Otley on August 25 th.

SINGLE HUNT TRIPLES METHODS

Dear Sir, As there are only 52 decent regular six-lead Triples methods, perhaps you would publish them in 'The Ringing World.' The only double changes that occur in these 52 are of the form 125, 127, 145, 147, 347 and 167, 347. 367 at the half-lead only. There are many others with places such and 123 or 345 , but, personally, I don't think they are worth while. I give them in place notation, grid first, then half-lead, then lead-end places:-

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the Alton and Petersfield District was held at Binsted on July 21 st. This most out-of-the-way tower in the District had not been a meeting place for many years owing to the state of the bells and lack of ringing interest locally. However, in the past few months the new Vicar (the Rev. H. E. Gant) has gathered together about a dozen young people, who, under the leadership of Mrs. Gant (captain), have learned to handle and can ring rounds well. At the Guild service the Vicar welcomed the Guild and gave an amusing but instructive address. Tea was served in the Institute, to which 28 sat down.

The Vicar was elected an honorary member, and the following ringing members from Binsted tower were elected:-Mrs. P. E. Gant, the Misses G. W. C. Siretton, S. Jones, H. M. Cain, Mrs. White, Messrs. A. E. R. Knight, P. E. Knight, B. L. Newport and P. W. Collins.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The Chertsey District welcomed a fine day on August Saturday for its meeting at Ottershaw, where methods up to London were rung before the service at 4.30 .
Only 24 people sat down to a good tea at the Olter, this being followed by a short business meeting at which an honorary member was elected from Weybridge. The secretary asked whether it was worth holding a meeting on August Saturday, as the attendance was so low, but the meeting favourcd the continuance of the practice.
Mr. G. Talbot proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, the Rev. D. Hiam, for the use of the bells, to the organist, who was called in about ten minutes hefore service time, and to the ladies who prepared tea.

On returning to the tower the bells were put to good use until 8.30 p.m., about 40 people having handled the ropes during the ringing time.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

CHECKENDON, OXON

Overcast skies met the party which set out from among the Chiltern Hills for the Sussex coast on July 21st, accompanied by friends from Shiplake and Reading.

In spite of being late off the mark, we arrived at the first tower, Bosham, dead on time. This is King Canute's church, built by the Saxons, and overlooking a pleasant little Sussex backwater dotted with sailing ships. The bells ( 6 , tenor 13 cwt .7 lbs ., in F) are quite a good ring, but we found them difficult to handle and didn't really do them justice.

Later on, the peaceful countryside round the unspoilt little village of Walberton was echoing to the music of the little Taylor six ( $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), which were rather noisy in the church. An enthusiastic young reception committee met us here, and ringing was much improved on our efforts af Bosham.

At lunch-time we dispersed into the seaside crowd at Bognor, meeting later to make the short journey to Felpham ( $6,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Here a big wedding was in progress, and the happy couple were serenaded on their way with a good extent of Stedman. The bells, however, are odd-struck, and, according to their 'go,' will soon be needing some attention by the founders. Just before we left, the non-ringers' paddling party arrived back from the beach, with the usual trappings, and were annoyed to find they had missed a wedding.

The coach sped on through Littlehampton, and the good Mears six at Lyminster were soon going to Plain Bob. These bells are a credit to the towerkeeper, and the best ringing of the day was heard here. During the early touches the Vicar came in, welcomed us, and showed the party round his recently restored church.

After a commendable tea in Arundel, the swarm settled on the last tower of the day, the six at Goring-by-Sea ( 18 cwt .). A small, enclosed ringing room made it warm work but everyone enjoyed the hour spent here. The writer has iwo vivid memories of this tower; that of Ben Wakefield let loose on the fine organ next door to the ringing room, and of the one-cyed secretary of the Reading University Society poring over St. Clement's in a crowded corner. Incidentally, one also found it difficult to catch John's good eye for a Stedman dodge!

The homeward journey took us through Horsham and Guildford, where the customary halt was made. Ringing during the day ranged from rounds to Kent, and the party express their thanks to those who met us at the towers, and to George Hearns for another grand outing.
$\mathbf{R} . \mathbf{K}$. R.

SPALDING, LINCS

Spalding ringers and friends from neighbouring towers chose Norfolk for their annual outing. Leaving Spalding at 7 a.m., the first stop was made at East Dereham, where the eight bells were made good use of, although the ropes, falling anti-clockwise, were found difficult by some members.
Two famous Norwich towers, St. Giles (8) and St. Peter Mancroft (12), were visited before lunch, partaken of at Norwich, and in the afternoon Aylsham (10) and Cromer (6), where the sea also proved quitc an attraction, were visited.

The coast road was followed to Wells-onSea, tea being taken before ringing on the eight bells of St. Nicholas' Parish Church. The last tower of the day was Fakenham, where the ejght bells were kept going to a variety of methods till $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. A call was made on the homeward journey at King's Lynn for refreshments, and Spalding reached at 11.30 p.m.

GAMSTON, NOTTS.

Fine weather favoured this outing on July 21st. Joined by ringers from East Retford, Rampton, Warsop, Tuxford, Sutton-on-Trent and Muskham, the new 41 -seater bus left Retford at 7.30 a.m., making its way to Staffordshire via Newark, Nottingham and Derby. Rolleston-on-Dove was reached at 10 , dead on time. The nice eight were kept going for fifty minutes, tho Vicar giving us a welcome. Hanbury should have been reached at 11, but delays through road work, narrow lanes and inquiring the way found us forty minutes late.
The Rev. R. Russell thought we were going for the day and boiled water for making tea, which some were ready for. However, ringing had to be short on this good octave, and then came the time for departure. The Vicar was reluctant to let us go, visitors please note! We should have got to Marchington by noon, but, sad to say, did not arrive until 12.50, We marched to the church, a 'No Through Road ' notice preventing our driver from taking the coach down. Only half an hour was had on the grand six. We learned afterwards the Vicar had waited fifty minutes for us. An apology has, however, been sent to him. The six at Dilhorne followed; although the treble gave some a bit of trouble, Cambridge was brought round. Here the Rev. A. Stanley met us.

Mr. A. W. Hall met us at Cheadle (R.C.), and an hour was spent on the grand eight before tea, a touch of Spliced Oxford Bob, Court, St. Clement's and Grandsire Triples being rung. After tea the good ring of six at the Parish Church was put to good use for an hour. The last tower of the day was Mayfield, another good six. After a group photo had been taken, the hour of good ringing came to an end all too soon. Goodnight was said to the local ringer who met us and so we left for home. A short stop was made at Alfreton, as some had become hungry and others dry. Thanks are accorded to all the clergy for giving permission to ring, Messrs. J. W. Cptton and E. H. Edge for information and the local men who met us. Re' ©ord was reached at 11 p.m. after an enjoyable day.

KINGSTONE, HEREFORDSHIRE

Kingstone ringers, together with ringers from Peterchurch, Much Dewchurch, Madley and Allensmore, spent an enjoyable day in Leicestershire on July 28th. Making an early start by coach, 5 a.m. from Feterchurch, passing through Hereford at 5.45 a.m., arriving Loughboreugh at 9.45 . The first call of interest was Messrs. J. Taylor's bell foundry, where the party was met by Mr. P. Taylor. During a very good tour of the foundry various processes were explained and many questions answered. Clearly the average person knows little of the amount of experience and craftsman's skill that goes into the making of a ring of bells. The foundry campanile was the next item of interest, and most of the company tried their skill at handling this very light ring.
Calls were made at Hathern (6), Rothley (6) (best ringing of the day here), and finally Sharnford (6). Ringing during the day included rounds, Grandsire, Plain Bob, Reverse Canterbury Doubles and Plain Bob Minor. A most enjoyable day came to an end all too quickly. Heme was reached safely and happily after various adventures not really connected with ringing.
The grateful thanks of the company are due to Mr. Paul Taylor, the incumbents and local ringers who met us and gave their kind assistance, also to Messis. A. Colcombe and C. Phillips, who organised the trip so efficiently.

GRAPPENHALL, CHESHIRE

The Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild held their annual outing on July 21 st. Leaving Runcorn, we travelled to Loughborough, where we were met by our friends from Grappenhall and Frodsham who had travelled in another coach. We were then taken on a tour of the bell foundry by Mr. P. Taylor, who explained the various stages by which the bells are made. After ringing several methods on the foundry bells, we had lunch in Loughborough.
After visi ing Kegworth for ringing at the Church of St. Andrew, we returned to Loughborough for more ringing at All Saints' Parish Church. On the homeward journey ringing took place at Ashby-de-la-Zouch and Overseale. The organiser of the outing was Mr. C. Radden, of Stockton Heath.

LAVENHAM

Lavenham ringers. with their wives and friends, held their 31 st annual outing on July 28th.
Leaving Lavenham at 8 a.m., halts were made at Long Melford and Clare to pick up other ringing friends. The first stop for ringing was Godmanchester, where some good striking was enjoyed on the bells. Next came St. John's, Peterborough, with more exccllent striking, followed by lunch at the Granville Cafe. St. Mary's was next on the programme, where various courses were sung.
A move was then made to Whittlesea St. Mary's for further ringing, and, after tea, St. Andrew's was visited, where the final touches of the day were brought round.

Methods rung during the day were: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain, Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge. Thanks are due to the five incumbents for the use of their bells, to those who kindly met the party, to Messrs. G. Bush and H. S. ## NORTH SHIELDS

The annual outing of Christ Church Guild, South Shields, was held on Sunday, June 24th, when the ringers, accompanied by their wives and friends and six ringers from South Shields, travelled by coach to High Force, Middleton-in-Teesdale. Although fog was encountered, the destination was safely reached and lunch enjoyed at the High Force Hotel. The surrounding area was visited, including the waterfall, and the journcy resumed to Allendale.

After an excellent tea, the bells of St. Cuthbert's, Allendale, were rung for evensong, about 15 ringers taking part. The return journey was by Hexham and Newcastle, and North Shields was reached at 10 p.m.

A most enjoyable day was spent by the combination of a comfortable coach, good meals and a nice ring of bells.

KETTERING GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The end of term outing was made by bicycle in very wet weather. However, eleven members came, and we were met later in the day by Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Watson and Mr. B. S. Cope. Towers visited were Clipston (newly rehung), Sibbertoft (rough), Welford, Misterton, Husbands Bosworth, Lubenham, Foxton, Great Bnwren, East Farndon (with queer noises aloft) and Great Oxendon.

There was a wide range of methods, with more Surprise than on previous occasions (including the first course of London by the Society). About 70 miles were covered during the day. P. G. K. D.

THE TALE OF JOE SNOOKS

J OE SNOOKS was an airman, a regular airman, and when friends asked him why he had signed on in the R.A.F., Joe would say, 'Well, I like to do a bit of tower grabbing, and this seems as good a way as any.' Well, Joe had certainly been lucky; for nearly two years he had been stationed on an airfield in the south-west of England. He had been happy in his work; he had ploughed satisfactorily upwards from the rank of aircraftsman second class to that of junior technician. Now, with ample money in his pocket, he was able to spend his leisure hours in travelling the county and ringing in numerous towers. He had made many good friends among the local ringers, and they would spend Saturday afternoons attempting peals. These were not always successful, but each afternoon would be nevertheless most enjoyable, and there was always a noggin of ale to be had in the evenings. Each Sunday would see Joe and his friends ringing once more in fine form, and afterwards taking their places with the choir.

Yes, life was ideal for Joe; but one day the blow fell. He was happily toddling off to work one me-ning when he was collared by an N.C.O. and informed that the 'gaffer' wished to see him in his office immediately. Joe was first advised to shave, put on a clean collar, clean his boots, etc., before presenting himself to the officer. This done, Joe presented himself at the inner sanctum wherein the said officer sat. He was cordially invited therein and offered a seat (a most unusual occurrence).

After opening an expensive gold cigarette case and offering Joe a 'Woodbine,' the officer proceeded to explain why Joe had been summoned to his presence. 'You see, Snooks, old chap, the jolly old R.A.F. are valuing your skill enough to make you up to a corporal.' Joe blushed with pride, he had never expected to reach such a position so soon in his service career. 'However,' the officer went on, ' a most unfortunate thing has happened, you are being posted to Scotland next week.' Joe was dumbfounded. 'You can't do this to me,' he cried. 'Oh no ?' said the officer; ' we've done it.' Joe pleaded, argued and very nearly wept, but to no avail; there was a bed and a place in the Naafi queue waiting for him in Scotland. Sadly he went to the billet to pack his kit. What could he do? Commit suicide? No, you could get a court-martial for that. Desert, and hide away in some lonely bell tower? No, it was winter and too cold for that.

The following week Joe bade a sad farewell to his friends and eventually entrained for bonny Scotland. Upon his arrival there (it was still snowing) he set about finding some bells to ring. In this he was sadly disappointed. True, there was a ring of eight some thirty miles from camp, but these had not been rung for at least twenty years owing to lack of interest and ringers. The nearest change ringing available was nearly 170 miles away, at Edinburgh, and necessitating a six and a half hours train journey.

Joe, as far as we know, is still in residence in the wild Highlands, silent save for the skirl of the pipes and the tinkling of cattle bells; spending his time in composing false peals and writing silly articles to "The Ringing World.'

Therefore, you ardent ringers of bells, when you ascend your towers Sunday by Sunday and casually tap off a touch of Grandsire Doubles or Cambridge Twelve, spare a thought for those even less fortunate than Joe; those who are serving (perhaps unwillingly) thousands of miles across the sea. Pray that when they eventually return to their homes their ringing enthusiasm may be doubled and that they will once more take their places as useful and active members of their towers and Associations.
R. A. S.

A TRADITION

There is one thing that all newspapers endeavour to follow-a regular style in the presentation of their news. Since 'The Ringing World' was founded by the late Mr. J. S. Goldsmith certain styles have been followed which, if correspondents could be persuaded to adopt, would save the time of the Editor.

In regard to sending in peals, have a copy of the journal in front of you and write your report as it has to be set out. Against the first footnote place a *, the second $\dagger$, the third $\ddagger$ and the fourth §. After giving these details add the reason for the peal.

There is also a style for quarter peals. Town or village, county, date, church if more than one in the town with a ring of bells, number of changes, method. Name (first quarter or any footnote), number of bell. At the end give the purpose, i.e., for evensong.

Finally, when you have written your report read it through carefully and write your name (not a signature that might be indecipherable) and address.

Reports should be written on one side of a sheet of paper. Quarter peals and peals should not be written on the same sheet.

SUSSEX TOURISTS IN THE NORTH

THIS year's tour of the Sussex ringers and could very quickly be summed up as a journey of 1,500 miles, through 22 counties ( 17 in England, five in Scotland), with visits to 24 towers in eight counties, where 13,324 changes were rung in 21 methods after climbing 1,155 steps.

However, behind this recital of figures there is a story of a very enjoyable week spent by a very friendly crowd of ringers and friends, a week in which our good luck was certainly in, to quote but two examples. First, the weather; on arrival at Carlisle we found that the city centre had been flooded out before our arrival owing to a thunderstorm, while we had been enjoying sunshine, and Friday, the day of our enjoying sunshine, and Friday, the day of our visit to Edinburgh, brought the residents their first fine day for over a week.

Your chronicler iourneyed to Liverpool on Sunday, July 1st, and after ringing for Evensong at the Parish Church of Our Lady and St. Nicholas on the grand 12, went to the hotel to wait for the main body of the party, who had joumeyed up from Horsham via Kingston, Towcester, Lichfield, picking up at various points. Arrangements had been made for all to ring on the 12 after Evensong, but we arrived too late and could only express our thanks to the captain with regret at missing this unexpected treat.

Monday sew us away through that modern engindeering marvel, the Mersey tunnel, for Bromborough, Cheshire, where the Rector met us with the news that a crack had developed in the tower, stopping all ringing. He had, however, made arrangements for us to ring at the Undenominational Church at Port Sunlight. This church was a personal gift of the first Viscount Leverhulme, and has a nice eight by Mears and Stainbank (tenor 14 cwt . 1 qr. 26 lb . in F). The bells being up, we were soon away to short touches in standard methods.
Returning via the tunnel, we headed for Lancaster, and lunch, after seeking a parking place for the coach, and the cafe lunch was enjoyed before we were away once more for Windermere. (This is the only reference I shall make to the parking problem, although it was with us all the week, and our thanks are due to Tom, our driver, for making things so easy for us and reducing walking to a minimum.)
The eigbt at St. Martin's, Windermere, proved rather tricky, but were mastered. Miss Wyman was told by the tower captain, who had been listening across the lake, that the ringing was good. Tea was enjoyed at his cafe by the lakeside, in company with swans and seagulls.

CARLISLE CATHEDRAL
Our road to Carlisle, headquarters for the rest of the week, was by the way of Kirkstone Pass. Slight engine trouble here caused us some delay. Arriving late at Carlisle, it was a case of dinner or bells: two plumped for bells, the rest for a meal, which was awaiting us. This was hastily eaten by some, who then went down to the Cathedral and were in time to meet the local ringers coming away from their practice. We had a short talk with Mr. Farrington, the head verger, and he contacted the Dean, who very kindly gave us permission to ring early on Tuesday morning between Holy Communion and Matins. Up early in the morning, 15 of the party went to Communion. Joining the others, we went by way of stairs at the west end and along the clerestory to the central tower, where it was again short touches in order to accommodate everyone in the short time given us. In 1745 the six bells were rung to welcome Prince Charles Edward (Bonnie Prince Charlie) as he marched southwards. After the rebellion had been quelled, the Duke of Northumberland had the wheels removed, and the bells were not rung again until 1926, when they were augmented to eight and rehung bells are a mixed ring, the present seventh dated 1401 , the fifth 1608 , and the tenor 1657.
On to St. Andrew's, Penrith, where the eight, augmented by Taylors, who added a tenor and treble. were soon away to some grand ringing.

In the church are two candelabra, each for 24 candles, given to Penrith by the Duke of Portland for their loyalty in the 1745 rebellion. From here we crossed into Westmorland to Kirkby Stephen. Legend has it that these bells were paid for by Dick Whituington, for Appleby, but because they were left in the churchyard for such a long time the people of Kirkby Stephen fetched them for their own church, which is one of the largest in the county and like a small cathedral. Our road to Barnard Castle lay through the North Riding of Yorkshire, and just before reaching Bowes we passed a building with a board bearing the name of Dotheboys Hall, original proprietor Wackford Squeers. We were early at Barnard Castle and had to wait because of a funeral. Again these eight were soon away to some good ringing. After tea, another light eight in Durham, at Staindrop, gave us a very enjoyable hour's ringing before returning to Barnard Castle for dinner. Staindrop has a ringing vicar, who sent us best wishes, as he was away on holiday.

CUMBERLAND TOWERS

Wednesday was spent in the south west of Cumberland, our first call being at Aspatria, where we were met by the Vicar, the Rev. V. D. Clarke, who, after the ringing, led us in a short service of prayer and dedication. They are trying very hard to train a band of young ringers here, no easy task, as they have a long draught and very springy ropes. The next tower before lunch was at Workington; work was certainly the right word. These bells had not been rung for some years before the war, and it is only recently that they have started ringing here again. The locals thought that these bells had beaten us, but before our short stay was over the bells had been mastered and several touches successfully brought round, the second being rung without a stay. After ringing, the local Press, in the neat shape of a lady reporter, was there to get details and a photograph. If the bells were not too good the lunch made up for it.

Through the mining area to Hensingham, where the bells had not been rung open since Easter. Here we were met by the Vicar, who was quite grieved at not having his bells rung more often, as they are a fine ring and bring a great deal of joy and happiness to many people when rung. (Taken from his letter to Miss Wyman.) As the bells were being raised it was found a number had clapper stays on, which a local ringer removed for us before joining us for a ring. We were told that the touch of Bristol was the first on the bells.
At Egremont, our next tower, London Surprise was the first rung on the bells. It was here that a good touch of Stedman was rung by the lady members. After tea, we rang at St. Bees, a fine old church with a beautiful Norman door, part of the old Priory. Ringing arrangements had been altered because of the close proximity of the church to the famous school, and the visit coincided with examinations.

SNOW ON MIDSUMMER DAY

Rumour has it that an Irish princess, Bega, fled here to avoid being married to a Norwegian prince, and she was well received by the great lady here, who asked her husband to give Bega land for a nunnery. He jokingly said he would give her as much land as was covered by snow on Midsummer Day. On that Midsummer morn there was snow for three miles around. Snow has been known on Midsummer Day in Cumberland-maybe there is a little truth in it. From here a short run brought $u_{s}$ to Cleator Moor; its fine eight (tenor $21 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) had all too quickly to be left so that we should not be late for dinner at Keswick. We were met at Cleator Moor by the local ringers and others, who joined in ringing with us.

Thursday was spent in two counties-Northumberland and Durham-and although we started well, a blocked road and a long detour nearly wrecked the afternoon's ringing, but, thanks to the co-operation of all, the day was saved. The first town visited was Allendale, which claims to be exactly in the centre of Britain, and has its latitude and longitude on the sundial over the church porch. Here again we were met by the Vicar, who wished us a happy tour. This was the tower of events-a broken rope, which was quickly repaired, a course of Cambridge by an all-ladies band, and Miss Wyman and Mr. F. Stilwell achieved the distinction of having rung in every county in England.

At Hexham Abbey two pulleys gave protesting squeals at hand stroke, but the bells went well and several good touches were rung. While ringing here a party of about 40 school children came into the belfry to wach us, and their behaviour was such that they did not cause any distraction. One girl asked the usual question, 'Is it hard?' and then, during some preliminary rounds, said, "They would be better if they kept them more even.' I hope someone keeps an eye on her; she could be a budding recruit for some northern tower.

After lunch came the detour to reach Black Hill, where we were met by Mr. D. A. Bayles and Mr. K. Arthur, who acted as our guide for the rest of the afternoon. Here the short time at our disposal was spent on the grand eight at the Roman Catholic Church. Chester-le-Street, in the same county (Durham), produced a fine ring of eight and a good tea to prepare us for evening ringing.

NEWCASTLE'S WELCOME

The local Press had been forewarned of our visit to Newcastle with a four-inch article in its columns about our activities at Newcastle Cathedral. Mr. and Mrs. Guigess and others were awaiting us. Touches of Bob Royal, Cambridge Royal, Siedman and Grandsire Caters were rung, with some rounds on the twelve. This most enjoyable day had been arranged with the help of Mr. D. A. Bayles, who had given quite a lot of time and thought to making our visit so pleasant. Our journey back to Carlisle was along the course of the old Roman wall, which can still be seen in places.
Each year this party has a long day with a packed lunch, and my memories of three previous ones had me looking forward to this year. Friday morning breakfast, at 7.15 a.m., and away prompt at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for Edinburgh. We made good time, and after a break at Selkirk for 'elevenses,' Edinburgh was reached just after 12 o'clock, so a normal lunch was had and the sandwiches saved for the homeward journey.

Our first ring here was at St. Mary's Cathedral, where we were met by Mr. R. S. Wilson, who was our guide for the afternoon, and once again we must say 'thank you' for all arrangements made for our visit to Scotland. The bells are under the central spire ( 276 feet high). In the ringing chamber are casts of various famous bells and these proved of great interest. The ringing chamber is very lofty and a circular canopy over the ringers acts as a rope guide and effectively disguises the long draught of rope. By ringing here M. R. Johnson has rung in every county in England, and in the four countries of this realm.

St. James', Leith, was a tougher proposition, and those who had stayed in the city round the shops need have no regrets. Our third and last tower in Scotland was St. Cuthbert's, and this grand eight was a fine climax to the afternoon's ringing, which was thoroughly enjoyed. Thank you, Scotland. A grand tea and a pleasant ride home with the usual break (only just in timethey close at 9.30 p.m.) made a really enjoyable and memorable day.

THE HOMEWARD JOURNEY

Saturday saw us packing bags ready for the first leg of the homeward journey, and shortly after 9 a_m. we were away southward to Richmond, North Yorkshire, for lunch and ringing. In the Church of St. Mary there is a nice light eight (tenor 11 cwt .); various touches in standard methods were rung. The Green Howards Memorial 'Chapel, with its carving by 'Mousey' Thompson (he left a carving of a church mouse on each piece of furniture he made), was visited by most of the party.

The journey southwards was resumed via the Great North Road to Sheffield, our headquarters for the night. Before dinner the grand eight of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Marie were at our disposal for an hour, and this proved all to short for this lovely ring. After dinner we had an hour's ringing on the twelve at the Cathedral, where Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Stedman Cinques, Cambridge Royal and a course of Double Norwich on the back eight were rung.

Owing to a delay over breakfast, we were late in leaving on Sunday morning. Before we set off, Mr. H. V. Young, in a few well-chosen and appropriate words, thanked Miss Wyman for what she had done (over 300 letters written) to give us such a grand week, and presented to her, on behalf of the party, an electric iron as a token of our appreciation and thanks. He also presented a sum of money to our driver as a small token of our appreciation for all he had done during the week for our enjoyment.

As we were late in leaving Sheffield we did not reach Newark-on-Trent in time to ring for morning service, as arranged. However, arrangements had been made for us to ring after service if we could postpone lunch at Leicester for an hour. This was arranged; some went to church, others for 'elevenses,' until we were able to start ringing, then it was a case of short touches on this grand ten (tenor 32 cwt ., cast in 1842, rehung in 1954). Everybody was catered for, and then your scribe reluctantly left the party and set off for home alone.

Our thanks are due to all clergy and local ringers for arrangements made, to our driver for all we know he did and for all he did which we never knew about, and last of all, but by no means least, to Miss Wyman, at whose labours one can only guess.

Thanks, Florrie, it was a grand week, or, as we say up here, 'a reight good do.' E. S.

Miss Wyman adds a postscript: Old friends were missed this year, but new ones made. Regret is expressed at not having more spare seats in coach. Thanks must be given to those not mentioned by name for all the help given to me in arranging this tour. Special thanks must be given to the incumbents, whether it be cathedral or village church, not only for permission to ring but for letters of thanks, io visiting, and ringing their bells.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

As a ringing member was heard to say, 'The Farnham District is like a "Yo-Yo," sometimes it is up and sometimes it is down. Well, 'it" was certainly 'up' at the meeting held on August 11th at St. Michael and All Angels', Pirbright.

There was a very good attendance and many methods were rung, under the leadership of Mr. D. M. MacPherson.

During the ringers' service, conducted by the Rev. B. A. Whitehead, the District's Mixed Choir was heard for the first time, to good effect. Mr. T. W. Busby was the organist.

Tea was served by local ladies at the Red Cross Centre. A short business meeting followed, during which one new member was elected. On behalf of all present, Mr. S. Joyce, of Farnborough, thanked all ringers and friends of Pirbright for helping to make the meeting such a success.

The quickest peal yet rung on tower bells is claimed by the Leicester Diocesan Guild. It was Stedman Doubles on Aug. 8th at the Bell Foundry Campanile in 1 hour and 37 minutes, with a tenor of 2 cwt . 1 qL 5 lb . in G .

Mr. Norman Smith, of St. Peter's, Burnley, has recently completed his National Service at Bantry, near Doncaster. Through our columns he would like to express his gratitude to the ringers of that area for their kindness and hospitality.

Due to a last-minute alteration, the bells of Ellesmere, Shropshire, were not broadcast by the B.B.C. Our correspondent informs us that these old bells had been previously broadcast three times, and not twice, as was stated in this column.

As the result of the international situation, Mr. David Brand was recalled to the Services before he could participate in the peal attempt at Stowmarket to mark his 21 st birthday. The peal was successful and was also a 21 st birthday peal for Miss Rosemary Seabrook.

Although Ernest Morris was unable to go to Grimsby on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of his first peal owing to unforeseen diffculties, it was fitting that his next peal after that date should be Grandsire Triples, and he rang the second bell, as he did in his first peal in 1906.

At Burton Dassett, Warks, where a peal attempt on July 20th was lost in the second 720 owing to a call being misinterpreted, the company had to be content with a quarter peal. Hopes are entertained of trying again later in the year. The ringing was for Mr. W. Collett's 79th birthday, and he was one of the ringers. There is a determination to ring a peal on his 80th birthday.

GOSSIP

 81, has resigned the secretarytrict, Suffolk ship of the Fressingfield District secretary in the Exercise?To the list of ringers who have rung in every county in England must be added the names of Miss Wyman and Mr. L. Stilwell.

Meeting short for practice, six Pentre (Glam) ringers raised the back six bells and rang a quarter peal to mark the holding of the National Eisteddfod at Wales at Aberdare.

An 'In Memoriam' peal to Mr. E. Alexander Young, past master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, was rung by members of the Society at Southwark Cathedral on August 11th. The Master and four past masters were included in the band.

Governors of the College of Campanology include Messrs. Wilfred Moreton (vice-principal, Messrs. J. T. Dyke (hon. examiner), 'A. J. Pitman (who will be contributing to the section on composition in the Manual), R. F. B. Specd (hon. examiner and contributor to the Manual) and Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher (hon. examiner). Other prominent ringers have also been approached.

While ringing for a wedding at Barthomley, Chesure, on August 11th, the clapper of the tenor fell out, caused through a nut having worked loose. After the clapper had been replaced and the bell was being re-raised a lady and her husband made their way into the ringing chamber. The former was so thrilled by watching the ringing that she invited the ringers to go down to the local hostelry for a refresher. What also impressed her was seeing Mr. Arthur Allman (78) and young Tony Tricketi (18) ringing together.

Cambridge University Guild's Summer Tour

Crop horne, a pretty Worcestershire village, will be the centre for this year's tour of the Cambridge University Guild, which starts next Sunday. This is a memorable year in the history of the Guild, as it is the 50th anniversary of the first tour held in Derbyshire, in 1906. These tours have been an annual event ever since, except for the two war periods, and no ringing association has such a record.
The tour has been organised by the Rev. E. G. Benson, and 27 members are expected for whole or part of the time.
Peal attempts will be made at Hinton-on-theGreen, Badsey, Salford Priors, Claines, Mickleton, Tewkesbury Abbey and Norton.

RADIO EIREANN

Dear Sir,-Your issue of August 3rd contained reference in 'Belfry Gossip' to the report of the Television and Broadcasting Committee of the Central Council with regard to the omission of any matter relating to Radio Eireann. The position has been that we have had no information of bell broadcasts in the Irish Free State, but following correspondence with Radio Eireann, a copy of whose letter I attach, we hope in future to include mention of these broadcasts, etc.-Yours faithfully,

Evercreech, Som.  H. J. SANGER.

COPY OF LETTER RECEIVED FROM  RADIU EIREANN

The Controller of Programmes has asked me to thank you for your letter of August 7th concerning the broadcast of bells from Irish churches. The position here is that bells are very infrequently broadcast-I should say only about two or three times in the year. We shall, however, take note to keep you informed of future transmissions.- Yours sincerely,

PATRICK G. O'REILLY,
Assistant to Controlier of Programmes.

In Northamptonshire and Buckinghamshire Villages

An August Week-end

$\mathrm{I}^{\mathrm{N}}$N pouring rain on Saturday, August 4th, a party of ringers from Northampton and district set out on the beginning of a three-day ringing tour of Northants and Bucks. The first day proved to be a very strenuous one with the result that the following day of rest was very much appreciated.
The first stop was East Farndon (5), where some extents of Doubles were rung at the double,' due to the treble not going right up at back stroke. (It is hoped that a certain gentleman will put things right before he attempts to ring this bell to a peal!) The next stop was Dingley (5), where we were met by two local ringers, who had oiled the bells for the occasion. The church is set in beautiful surroundings, which we could not appreciate owing to the weather.
On to Brampton Ash, where the six bells were set going to Minor methods, with the second running as hard as the tenor! Having been refreshed in the local at Stoke Albany, the beautiful Parish Church was next visited. The bells, however, were not so beautiful, and some hard work was entailed in ringing the six bells, which were desperately crying out in need of lubrication.
Wilbarston (5), however, were not so tough, but we soon found that the second rope cast wheel and the third bell was loose on its headstock. We made a quick departure after ringing several 120 's.

A much-needed meal was had at Corby, where we were able to regain our strength. At Caldecote (Rutland) the ladies of the party took over the tower, and rang some good extents of Grandsire. Here, one of the local ringers invited us to look the bells over, and, having had the pleasure of ringing on this excellent five, we departed for Gretton (5), where we were met by some of the local ringers, who took a great interest in our change ringing. We learned that this tower has a keen band, but is unable to progress due to the lack of instructors in method ringing.
The last tower for the day was Deene. Here we found an excellent ring of six, which were a joy to ring, and some good ringing was had to conclude the first day of our tour.

AN ILLEGAL ENTRY

The weather for the second day of the tour, Monday. August 6th, proved to be good, and we certainly missed the rain, although somebody had it. The first tower to be visited was Pattishall (6), where the church roof is undergoing extensive repairs. Having been warned that the tenor needed oiling, we took some oil, but were unable to use it due to the tower door being locked. We, however, managed to keep the bells going with extra effort, and an enjoyable ring was had.
Paulerspury (6) was the next place visited, and here it was that one of our 'bright sparks: made an illegal entry into the belfry to open the tower door for the party to enter. The Rector greeted and welcomed them, but was surprised at the way entrance had been gained. After stopping for a few moments the Rector went off to feed his goats. Of course, the 'bright spark' went too.

On to Whittlesey (5), where the Rector awaited us with the information that the bells had not been rung for about 18 months, and he was not sure of the condition of the bells: Before ringing, however, we ventured to the bell chamber to give the bellis a once-over. We found them in good condition with the exception of a worm-eaten stay, and, having 'oiled up.' they were set going to some Doubles methods. It is thought that noise coming from the bell chamber was due to slider trouble, as this ceased when the bells were ringing down.

SEEING THE BELLS IN MOTION

Refreshments were taken before we journeyed on to Lillingstone Lovell, where we found a very good ring of five. Although a Minor five, these proved to be quite musical. Here we were able to look up in the bell chamber and see the bells in motion-quite a novelty and good work on the part of the bellhangers.
A very good six was also found at Maids Morcton, where the bells went without effort. A very enjoyable stay here before going on to Buckingham for tea.
After relaxing, Padbury (6) was next visited, and after sampling this pleasant ring we next ventured to Winslow. Here we found that the Vicar had not informed the tower captain of our visit. Luckily the latter did not live far from the church and he was soon on the spot to allow us entrance to the church we trust we did not put him to any inconvenience. Ringing on his new eight provided the highlight of the day and time for departure came too quickly.
(6). The last tower of the day was Swanbourne (6). The Vicar and his tower captain were here to welcome us and we were able to view the bells while ringing was in progress. On our homeward journey, having stopped for refreshments, the 'bright spark ' showed us his marksmanship with a syphon of soda water!
The weather for the last day of our tour, Tuesday, August 7th, was the best yet, and the first tower of the day, Calverton, was soon reached. Having obtained the key from the Rectory, this lovely ring of six was soon ringing the changes. On leaving the church an appreciation of our ringing was received from an
Beachampton, with its unusual tower, was reached in good time and, although cramped for space, some good extents of Doubles were rung on this five. Here we wondered how a ring of five could be hung all on one level in such a small tower.

PICNIC ON RECTORY LAWN

At our next stopping place, Great Horwood (6), the Rector (himself a ringer) awaited us. The bells were pulled up in peal-this proving to be the best raise of the tour. Although we were inclined to ring this six a bit too fast, an enjoyable ring was had. On lowering the bells, the Rector invited us to have our picnic lunch on his lawn and, having accepted, we were made very comfortable and, with the sun shining beautifully, we probably could have stopped there for the rest of the afternoon. However, we were soon on our way to Mursley (6). Here we found yet another pileasant ring.

Before tea we stopped to ring at the Norman Church of Stewkley (8). The tenor here seemed to go hard for its weight, so a little oil applied made things a bit easier.
After a light tea at Leighton Buzzard, we travelled on to the highlight of the day, Wing. with its heavy six. Many of us had looked forward to ringing here and were not to be disappointed. We were also able to visit the bell chamber whilst the bells were ringing, and that hunk of bell metal swinging was a delight to see. We probably stayed a little longer than was scheduled; however, time was soon made up and our next stop was Drayton Parslow (6).

ATTENDED EVENSONG

On entering the church we found that the Vicar was making preparations for an evening service, so we hastily retreated to consult our time table. We found that if we all stayed we would be extremely late at the last tower, so we decided to split up into two parties, one going on and the other staying to join in the evening service.
On conclusion of the service the Vicar grected us and showed us the way to the belfry. On pulling up, we set to go Bob Minor, and after a few changes heard something drop to the bell chamber floor. Not realising what the trouble was, we stood up because of a short rope on the treble, only to see the lady on the second 'ascending to heaven.' She, however, came 'down to earth' when she realised where she was going-none the worse for her experience. On investigating, we found the stay broken, due, we think, to some fault other than bumping. We therefore corrected the position of the rope and tied a note to the sally warning others of the missing stay, as, judging by the condition of the ringing chamber, these bells are rarely rung.
The last tower of the day was Shenley ( 6 ), where the advance party, together with the local ringers, had made good use of the bells in our absence. Time was all too short here and we vowed to return again to have yet another ring on these glorious six bells.
Thus ended a tour which was the first for many. In all, we rang at 24 towers and the time table was kept as arranged. The standard of ringing was good, and experience gained on all sorts of bells. We had a sincere welcome from all who met us and, we thank the kind people for meeting us and having the bells ready for our use. Thanks also are recorded to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and all who made this tour possible.
G. F. R.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On August 11th the Eastern District met at Standon, and the heavy six (tenor 17 cwt .) were rung to a variety of methods. A service was held in the church at 4.30 p.m., after which 20 members enjoyed a delicious tea provided in the Church Hall.
At the business meeting R. Upton and J. Little, of Standon, were elected ringing members, and it was decided to apply for Aspenden and Westmill bells for a meeting in October.
After a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, and also to the ladies who had prepared tea, the party returned to the tower. Methods rung during the day ranged from plain hunting for the learners, up to Cambridge, London and York Surprise.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ORIGINALITY IN PEAL COMPOSITION

Dear Sir,-The lines quoted by Mr. Norman Chaddock in a recent issue (page 510) were composed by 'Samiwell Peppery' him-self-otherwise 'Uncle' Joc Sykes, as nearly everyone called him-or 'Six foot and Whiskers'! He was a notable character who could-and did-talk on and argue on any mortal subject. He was a fine linguist and on this account was sent abroad to many countries by his firm (gas plant installation) and 1 received a large quantity of postcards from him as far apart as Manchuria, Canada, France, Belgium and elsewhere.

When here in England he invariably hunted out ringers and fixed up peals, his favourite being 'Yorkshire Glory' (Kent Treble Bob) and he had an ambition to ring every possible number of changes obtainable in the Major from 5,000 to 6,000 , and all must be by his old friend, Arthur Knights. For his first peal of Doubles he travelled over 80 miles to get me to call it at Escrick, near York, whilst I was in the Army, July 20th, 1918.

I also rang peals with him in Worcestershire, Norfolk and here in Leicestershire. I have in my possession the very last postcard message he wrote before he dicd in Copenhagen in 1929. The lines quoted in your last issue appeared in your columns, I believe, about 1920.-Yours sincerely.

ERNEST MORRIS.

WHERE DO SHIPS' BELLS GO?

Dear Sir ,-Hanging in the north choir aisle of York Minster is a small bell which was formerly a ship's bell and was the spoils of an action with a Dutch frigate captured off the Frisian Islands by Admiral Brace, an ancestor of the late Canon C. C. Bell, Precentor and Canon Residentiary. Canon Bell presented it to the Minster in 1945. It is inscribed: 'Soli Deo Gloria. Anno 1742. Jean Wackernier.'

The bell is now sounded before the commencement of each service; the press of the switch actuates mechanism which strikes the bell three times.

I have in my possession a ship's bell given to me by my father-in-law, a shipbroker. It is $11 \frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter and is inscribed: 'Queen Mary, Glasgow.' Needless to say it has had nothing to do with the present Queen Mary.-Yours faithfully,

HAROLD WALKER

STAMFORD ST. MARTIN BARON

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. P. A. Corby re Stamford St. Martin Baron, the following is from Kelly's 1877 Directory: 'St. Martin Stamford Baron is a large parish adjoining Stamford in the Northern division of the County (Northants). hundred of Nassaburg, liberty of Peterborough. union of Stamford, rural deanery of Peterborough second, Archdeaconry of Oakham and Diocese of Peterborough on the south bank of the river Welland, which separates it from Lincoln.'

I suppose, like Little Bowden, Market Harborough, it has been added to the town for administrative purposes, but I think once in a county, always in the same county. We are getting quite used to bits and things being punched from us, but I believe we can still claim Stamford St. Martin as being in Northants county and the Peterborough Diocesan Guild-Yours faithfully.
G. S. VALENTINE,

Northampton.

Note.-The report on Local Government presented to Parliament in July recommends a review of county boundaries.-Ed.

KNOSSINGTON SCRPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. C. Crossthwaite's letter, I should like to make it known that when the band decided to ring a peal of the abovenamed method it was not known that the method Ashtead, with 8ths place instead of 2nds at the lead-end, had already been named.

As soon as it was published, Mr. E. W. Tipler (of Lutterworth), who has been of great assistance to me during the past two or three years, sent me a very interesting letter giving me detajls of all the variations of Ashtead.
Perhaps it would clarify the position if I summarise these variations:

Ashtead (formerly Preston): First peal at Ashtead, January 18th, 1932, conducted by A. R. Pink.

Boveney (formerly Hove): Ashtead with $1-8$ instead of $7-8$ at the half-lead. First peal at Old Windsor, October 25th, 1934, conducted by A. R. Pink Brighton: Ashtead with $1-8$ instead of $7-8$ at the half-lead, and $1-8$ instead of $1-2$ at the lead-end. First peal, St. John's, Waterloo Road, London, October 29th, 1913, conducted by Frank Bennett.

Knossington (formerly Denton, Ewell, Shoreham): Ashtead with 1-8 instead of 1-2 at the lead-end. First peal Loughborough Foundry, June 27th, 1956, conducted by B. G. Warwick.

It will be seen that Brighton is the original method and that Knossington had been given no less than three names before it had ever been rung. In any case the conductor has the sole right to name an unrung method.-Yours faithfully,

BRIAN G. WARWICK.

South Wigston, Leics.
Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr . Crossthwaite re the above, I fail to see that anything out of the ordinary has been done in altering the name of a method which has neves been rung to a peal. As stated, it is the 8ths place version of Ashtead. The methods were first introduced by Mr. G. Baker, but not under the name by which they are known now.

Taking Ashtead first, this was introduced as Preston. The first peal in the method was rung at Ashtead, hence the name. The method now known as Knossington was first known as Denton: It is understood that later it was altered to Ewell by Mr. Trollope.

Now if we look at Corrigan's 370 Surprise Major methods, No. 286, we find that once again it has been altered, this time to Shoreham. So surely the band ringing the method for the first time has every right to name it. Besides, what's in a name?-Sincerely yours,
E. W. TIPLER.

Lutterworth.

FIRST PEAL OF CAMBRIDGE ROYAL

Dear Sir,-In 'The Ringing World ' of July 27th last, R. M., in his letter headed 'The 29 Courses and their Origin,' stated that Middleton's five-part peal, composed in 1844, was 'the first true peal of Cambridge ever composed ' and that ' Cambridge Royal would not be rung in his (Middleton's) day.'

On October 26th, 1822 , nine Wakefield ringers, with one from Leeds, rang a peal of 5,400 Cambridge Royal composed and conducted by William Woodhead, 'the first Peal ever attempted in the above difficult Method by any set of Men in the Kingdom' records the peal board.
I understand from knowledgeable ringers that the composition of this peal, the courseand part-ends of which are given on the peal board, is not false.-Yours faithfully,

DAVID CUBITT
Wakefield

CHIPPING, LANCS

Dcar Sir,-With reference to Mr. Felstead's remarks about Chipping, Lancs, in the obituary of the late E. Timbrell, on June 8th, I did mention the remoteness of the place. This is one cause why not many peals have been rung but, of course, there are other causes. The peal in 1898 was in seven different Treble Bob Minor methods and rung by all local men; this is proof that they possessed a good band. Two of the brothers Timbrell began to go further afield to ring Major peals, and this curtailed their own local attempts.
During World War I. a new vicar was appointed, who had his own ideas about ringers, with the result that the band was broken up and never re-formed. A new band was formed about 1925, but its ambitions did not go beyond the first 12 changes of Bob Minor. It is, more or less, the same to-day, but the present Vicar is very enthusiastic and readily gave us permission to attempt a peal.
Another tower which seemed to mystify Mr. Felstead in his recent ' Peal Ringing in Lancashire' was St. Mark's, Preston (6). This is a very weak tower with about 20 feet of glass in all four walls at ringing room level, leaving just the four corners. The bells are perched up at the top, so the movement can be imagined by anyone, and they drop on you when ringing. I am afraid that this is one of the late Canon Elsee's mistakes, for during a restoration in 1927 he advised the Vicar that a good job could be made leaving the bells where they are. It has not proved to be true, and though they may be pealable you would want a picked band of good handlers. Only one attempt has been made, somewhere about 1930, for a peal, but the band gave it up. The church authorities have been continually advised about lowering the bells in the tower but nothing has been done.
Hoping that this makes things clearer for Mr. Felstead and others who may be interested. -Yours faithfully,
E. R. MARTIN.

Preston.

SOUTHGATE VETERANS

Dear Sir,-I am keenly interested in the photograph which appeared in 'The Ringing World recently. I knew Messrs. N. A. Tomlinson, S. Wade and A. Glasscock over 50 years ago, when I sang in the choir at Christ Church, Southgate. When I left the choir I entered tho ringing room, and these three stalwarts assisted me in my first attempts to ring rounds. Together with Mr. Harry Balaam, who, I believe, lives in the Basingstoke district, they are the last members of the Southgate band of all those years ago.

Yet another member who still gives every assistance to learners at Southgate is Mr. Walter Bowden. He came a little later, but in spite of his 80 years he seems to have the energy of a man half that age, and attends practices and Sunday service ringing most regularly. The Exercise has much to be thankful for when it can point to such long-service members as these.Yours faithfully,

BOW TENOR INSCRIPTION

Dear Sir,-I believe I am correct in saying that the bells of St. Mary-le-Bow were rehung during the inter-war years and that the tenor, along with several others of the ring, was recast. If that is so the inscription on Bow tenor when it was recast last month is not quite correct, as it was the bell that had been recast not long before the last war started that was destroyed by enemy action, and not the one recast in 1738. Can anyone throw any light on this matter?-Yours truly,

LETTERS-Continued

A POSER
Dear Sir -Would some of your readers like to comment on the $720^{\prime}$ s of Minor given below:-

Five times repeated, Single half-way and end.
(a) Should the first 720 be regarded as purely Oxford Bob, or spliced in three methods? (b) Similarly, should the second 720 be regarded as two methods or four spliced?
(c) As the ringer of the fifth in the second 720 rings only Double Oxford, should it be counted as only one method?

Yours sincerely,  WILLIAM BUTLER.

A LOSS TO ST. MARY'S, STAFFORD

Because of failing eyesight, Mr. John Warrilow, for many years head ringer at St. Mary's, Stafford, is retiring. He has a wonderful record of 62 years as an active bellringer. A native of Hopton. Mr. Warrilow began ringing at the age of 17 at Ingestre Church. In 1911 he joined St. Mary's, Stafford. band, and every Wednesday evening and Sunday morning until a few months ago cycled from his home at Walton-on-the-Hill to the church. For many years he was St. Mary's representative on the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.
Writing in appreciation of his services in the August issue of St. Mary's parish magazine, one of his fellow ringers says of him: • Those of us who have been associated with Mr. Warrilow in the belfry for a period of years hold him in the highest esteem. He is of a placid and unassuming nature, a man of sterling qualities, one who could always be relied upon to be present on all ringing occasions. For some years he has resided at Walton-on-the-Hill, yet Sunday by Sunday he has cycled to fulfil his service to God and the church in the ringing of the bells.
'His interest is not only in the ringing of bells for much has been done by him in their maintenance and much money has been saved to the church by his attemtion to the bells and bell ropes. He is now in his 80th year and age will not allow him to take so active a part in ringing, but this does not keep him from the belfry. We thank you. Mr. Warrilow, for all you have done for ringing, for your kindliness, your help, and the wonderful example you have given us to follow.'

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The N.W. Branch held its summer meeting at Holsworthy on August 4th. The weather was fine but the attendance (some 20 or so) was less than usual. (Even the Ringing Master was on a ringing tour in Sussex.) Nevertheless, ringers from Combe Martin, Plymouth, Plympton, Swansea and Woodbury, with members of the Branch, had a good time, and the fine octave responded to various methods during the afternoon. The president, the Rev. Prebendary E. $V$. Cox was also present
The service was conducted hy the Rev. D. Knight (curate), while the Rector (the Rev. A. Warne) gave an impressive address and also acted as organist. He pave a sincere weicome to all the ringers present.
After tea the shairman (Mr. F. C. Smale) expressed appreciation at the presence of the visitors, and a vote of thanks to the Rector and the Rev. D. Knight was unanimously approved.

HALF-DAY IN ESSEX

The village of Finchingfield, in North Essex, is probably one of the most picturesque in the county. It was visited by a band of ringers drawn from Dagenham, Loughton, Stamford Hill and Lichfield on July 21st, who enjoyed the pleasant eight (tenor 18 cwt .).
The splendid stone screen must surely be one of the more attractive things about St. Mary-the-Virgin's Church, Great Bardfield. As well as admiring this we also sampled the ground floor ring of cight, which we approved despite the 15 cwt . tenor setting back some considerable way at 'hand.'

After the 'inner man' had been temporarily satisfied, the three-mile journey was then taken to St. Mary Magdalene's, Wethersfield. Inside a very unusual-looking tower we found a nice ring of six (tenor $4 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). The rather large beams rising from the centre of the ground floor ringing room, rather like an old oak tree devoid of its leaves, proved to be not so awkward as was at first feared.

The gentleman who met us at Shalford gave us the sad news that the bells were very seldom rung although there was nothing wrong with them. It is perhaps typical of so many other five-bell towers up and down the country. Why can't more bands include at least one ring of five on their trips? Although the fourth proved a trifle awkward we enjoyed our stay here. They are a five, heard to better advantage outside the tower, with a tenor of 10 cwt .2 qr .1 lb . in A.

Methods rung during the day were Kent Treble Bob Major (which just would not go), Grandsire Triples and Doubles, Stedman Triples and Doubles, London and Cambridge Surprise Minor, not forgetting Reverse St. Bartholomew.
The ringers would like to tender their sincere thanks to all who met them and so readily gave permission to ring, not forgetting old "Bill" Bailey, who so cheerfully shepherded a rather unwilling vehicle through the trip. C. M. S.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Designs for a Badge

A general meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Wingfield on August 11 th, when the six bells were put to good use by the rather smaller attendance than usual. Methods rung included Stedman and Cambridge Surprise. Tea was served at short notice by one of the local ladics.
At the business mecting Mr. G. J. Filby was clected chairman. Mr. W. Cracknell was elected District secretary in place of Mr. J. Barber, who felt that at 81 it was time to retire. Thanks were extended to Mr. Barber for his services, and Mr. Cracknell was wished a happy term of office.
The secretary had received a letter from Mrs. S. R. E. Pipe, stating that she wished to resign from the committee. The matter, however, was left over to the next meeting.
A letter from Mr. L. Freeman, of Beccles, was read, in which he suggested that the Guild should have a badge, and sent a proposed design. The meeting unanimously favoured the Gujild having its own badge, and instructed the secretary to obtain further information for approval at the next meeting.
Three new probationary members were elected, two probationers elected full members. and one non-resident life-member elected.
The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the incumbents for the use of bells, the local ringers, and ladies for tea arrangements. Ringing was resumed, followed by further ringing at Stradbroke.

ACCRINGTON AND DISTRICT

On August 11 th, ringers from Accrington, Church Kirk and Burnley, together with friends and relations, set out at an early hour for a day's outing to Windermere, hoping to see and ring for the arrival of Her Majesty the Queen at Bowness. Remarks such as 'Eight o'clock! It's as bad as gooin to wark!?' could be heard. Heavy rain caused the appearance of a certain unique article of waterproof headgear, which is famous throughout the Lancashire Association.

The outward journey was made by prehistoric 33 -seater chariot via the Ribble Valley, and much rain found its way into the vehicle. However, this did not prevent several touches being rung on handbells. On approaching Kirkby Lonsdale, one of our non-ringing friends moved to a seat near the rear of the coach, and it is thought that this had some connection with the fact that both offside rear tyres burst as we neared Kirkby Lonsdale Church.

We were joined by four friends from Todmorden, who had hired a van for the day, and half an hour's ringing on the well-kept six bells was enjoyed before they had to leave, together with two of the coach party, in order to reach Bowness in time for the Queen's arrival ; they were not seen again until 6.40 p.m. Efforts were then made by the Ringing Master to persuade British Railways to lay a track from St. Mary's, Kirkby Lonsdale. to St. Martin's, Bowness, and, as a result, a substitute coach of superjor condition was obtained from a Kendal garage.

We arrived at Bowness in fine weather, but two hours behind schedule, and proceeded to ring at St. Martin's Church. After lunch, the afternoon was spent at leisurc. In spite of the determination of the Ringing Master that someone should be left behind, the whole of the party departed for Crosthwaite at 4.45 p.m.

After about 40 minutes' ringing at Crosthwaite we left for Kendal, where our original coach awaited us, and from there we travelled to our last tower, at Heversham, where we met our friends from Todmorden again. After 15 minutes' ringing on the fine six bells, our Ringing Master and the Burnley ringers deserted us to go 'tower snatching, and a good run home ended a very eventful day.

Methods rung during the day were Plain Bob (Minor and Major) and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Our thanks are due to all incumbents and those who so kindly arranged to meet us, especially to the Rector of Windermere for his assjstance in planning the route and allowing us to use the Parish Room for lunch. J. P.

DARLEY DALE

St. Helen's, Darley Dale. Derby ringers spent the afternoon and evening of Thursday, August 2nd, visiting lowers in North Derbyshire. A party of 40 ringers and friends left at 1 p.m. by motor coach and travelled by way of Chatsworth Park, Derwent Dams, Snake Pass and Kinder Scout to Glossop, where an hour was spent ringing the good-toned eight of the Parish Church. Before tea at Hayfield. the handy eight (tenor 9 ewt.) at the Pansh Church were rung.
New Mills was the next call-another good sounding and good-going eight (tenor $14 \mathrm{cwt)}$. . The last call was Taxal on the Cheshire side of the River Goyt. The church stands at the end of the road, with only the Rectory and a "pub" as neighbours. This ring of six (tenor $12 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.) was enjoyed for an hour. A short time was spent at the 'Chimes of Taxal.' where changes of a diffc ent character were accomplished.

Methods rung during the trip were Grandsire, Stedman Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob and Cambridge Mino: and Little Bob Major. The ringers wish to say "Thank you' to incumbents and local ringers who met them for a very enjoyable outing.

OUTINGS

GAINSBOROUGH AND DISTRICT

It was very late on June 30th when 37 members and friends of the Gainsborough District arrived back from their annual outing. Before falling asleep to dream, perchance, of an even better outing next year, many memories would relive this happy day

First there was the delightful Leicestershire eight at Sileby. Then on to Rugby, where, at the appointed time, we picked up Harry Morgan. He is an old friend of the District, having moved to Rugby recently. Soon after, we 'picked up' the sun, and how wrong George Clifton was in his forecast the night before of a dull day! Dunchurch next, with its thatched, half-timbered houses and good heavy six, and so on to Belton, a nice six (tenor $7+\mathrm{cwt}$.). These suited the young ringers down to the ground, of rather the boxes, so much in demand.

What we remember most, however, are the cups of tea and wonderful welcome to the home of the Morgan family. From here, most of the party went to Church Lawford, but a few caught the local bus for Rugby.

A leisurely walk through the shopping crowds of Rugby led to a sumptuous meal at Pattison's Cafe. Here we were able to repay the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and daughter, and were pleased to have Mrs. Vann, of the local company, join us. After tea we had the unique experience of collecting two rings and only one church, at St. Andrew's, Rugby. First the five in a modest tower at the west end. Amongst the rounds and Doubles methods was a 120 of Grandsire by the 'lads.' The other tower, on the north side, is most elaborate and is surmounted by a spire. The eight are a delight to ring and listen to.

Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob Minor and Major, Kent Treble Bob, Single Oxford, Single Court and Cambridge Minor. Ages ranged from eight to 83 , not forgetting that wonderful young man of Rugby, Mr. G. Peck, whose 88 th birthday was the next day.

ST. NICHOLAS', SEVENOAKS

The annual outing of St. Nicholas', Sevenoaks, ringers took place on August Bank Holiday. With 32 ringers and friends on board the coach left at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.

The first stop was at Wadhurst ( $8,12 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$ ), and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major were successfully brought round. The next pant of the journey was through heavy rain to Uckfield ( $8,11 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt.), and here the methods rung were Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major, Double Norwich and Superlative. On then to the coast and Eastbourne was reached in time for lunch.

Ringing commenced at St. Mary's (8, $15 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) at 2 p.m. Methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Spliced Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples and Yorkshire Surprise Major. The other tower visited at Eastbourne was All Saints' ( 8,18 cwt.), and here Grandsire and Stedman Triples, St. Clement's Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung.

Tea was taken at the Drive Hotel and was enjoyed by all.
The last port of call. Rye (8. 19 cwt ), was reached at $7.20 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The bells here were found to be rather noisy and the ringing was not too successful. However, Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major were rung before the party had to leave at 8 p.m.

After setting down ringers in the icy town of Tunbridge Wells and some more at Tonbridge home was reached as 10.30 p.m.

Many thanks are due to the incumbents and ringers of the churches visited for the use of the bells, and to Miss D. Colgate for organising such a successful day's outing.

ROSS AND BRIDSTOW

The usual small party of ringing enthusjasts from South Herefordshire travelled some dis tance afield on the afternoon of Saturday, August 4th, when they set out to ring at five towers in the Bridgnorth area of Shropshire. Transport was by car and motor-cycle.

Quite unintentionally the organisers had jmplicitly followed the injunctions of the author of 'Snatch and Grab' (see "The Ringing World' of July 27th, 1956) in letting the party in for a selection of towers that between them surely comprised some of the most hard-going and the most inaccessible rings in Shropshire
First on the list was Willey (5), with a lovely little church in the park of a large estate, and only reached by winding lanes. The light ring (tenor 5 cwt .) was about the best of the day for 'go'; it is a pity that they sound so shrill from inside.

We were a few minutes late at the next tower, at Chelmarsh ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), due to the mistaken enthusiasm of the map-reader, who, irt order that the Bank Holiday traffic on the main road should be avoided, succeeded in guiding the convoy" along, a number of tortuous by-roads-'short cuts' that took nearly half as long again! Chelmarsh Church has a brick tower, and the ringing chamber is reached by an ornate wrought iron spiral staircase. The latter amused everyone, since we had never come across anything like it before. A local ringer was here to greet us, and several of the villagers ventured upstairs to watch the ringing -including one of the cricketers from the match being played in the field opposite. It is to be hoped that our Cambridge didn't put any potential Lakers or Mays off their game! The bells are a pleasant ring, with a fairly long Quatt Malvern ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$.) bells were next, and once we had sorted out the chiming apparatus we found them to be another nice ring. Walsingham Alliance, our 'special method for the day,' was successfully brought round here. This church, like the previous one, has a brick tower.

The rain, which had set in between Chelmarsh and Quatt, lifted enough for us to reach Alveley ( $6,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.) in comfort. Here, to the girls' mingled amusement and dismay, we found yet another iron spiral staircase, much more formidable than the last. We were made very welcome by the local band. who had only just finished playing for a wedding. These bells. though of a good tone, take some ringing, and the girls early on decided that they were not 'ladies' bells.' Therefore, when the locals told us that we would have our work cut out to ring Kinlet bells (our final tower), we began to wonder what we had let ourselves in for. After tea at Bewdley we felt sufficiently fortified to go and find out.
Kinlet Church, like Willey, is situated on a large estate-the best part of a mile inside the large state-the lovely little building with a long park. It is a and interesting history, as the ringer who met us explained. Unfortunately, the state of the bells ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$. 2 qr . 13 lb ) does not live up to that of the rest of the church. Among other things, nearly all of them are loose on the headstock, the fourth so much so that we did not dare get it up in peal with the others. Rounds and some Doubles on 12356 were the utmost we could manage here, and we had doubts about the safety of attempting even this. It would be a pity if these tuneful bells became it would be a pial ir these lunefylechls or ignorentirely unringable through neglect or ance. and we venture to suggest that a detailed inspection and some sort of restoration work are long overdue.
Although the rain descended on us again immedjately we left Kinlet Park it did not dampen our spirits, but left us feeling not dissatisfied with our afternoon's outing. Home was reached at about 8.30 p.m. Thanks are due to all incumbents and local ringers, organisers and transport-providers for helping to make our day a success.

A LONG HANDBELL PEAL RECALLED

TO-DAY, August 31st, is a date which has stood out in my memory for 44 years, back to the year 1912 when the longest peal on handbells was rung at Guildford, a 19,738 of Stedman Caters in 9 hours and 32 minutes.

When we failed on August Bank Holiday, our meeting time was 8 a.m., but on August 31st the earliest possible time was 12 noon, plenty late enough to start for a peal of 22,222 , and even then one of the band was detained in London, which delayed the start until 1.50 p.m. During the long wait it was not easy to avoid a feeling of frustration when the task ahead was comprehended, and it was a relief when Arthur Shepherd arrived at Holy Trinity ringing chamber to take $1-2$ for the peal. At 1.50 p.m. ' Go ' was called, and after two attempts to ring the goingoff course, the third try, starting at 1.55 p.m., saw us settle down to a nice beat with an average of 35 per minute. During the afternoon very few words were spoken except the calls, but after about two hours Alf Pulling on my right whispered, 'Have you changed your bells over?' but I assured him they were right and, as there were six umpires present, the assurance proved correct.

Movements on tiptoe revealed that the umpires were going to tea in relays, probably two at a time, and their consideration for the ringers by avoiding noise was appreciated. The turning course was reached soon after ringing 11,000 , and a perfect course was rung without breaking the normal rate of striking. Some more movements towards the door by umpires told us it was probably their supper or refreshment time, but the five of us in the ringing circle could not possibly run the risk of wondering about such things, for we had passed our previous record of 14,031 , and though Jim Hunt on 7-8 and Frank Blondell on $9-10$ probably did not realise this, it was at this period (about 8.30 to 9.45 ) that we reached our fastest rate per minute, which worked out at 36 . Shortly afterwards I had a desire to know the time and by slightly turning my head I glanced at the clock, which showed 10.5 p.m., and though unaware of it at the time, we had reeled off 17,000 in 8 hours and 10 minutes.

After another hour or thereabouts, Jim Hunt began to get restless and had no desire to go on to for the 22,222 , so instead of ringing on until 12.45 a.m., which involved ringing into another day, another week and another month, the composition was shortened by 2,484 changes. Alf Pulling, the conductor, wisely consulted the rest of the band and the peal finished at 19,738 changes in 9 hours and 32 minutes with an average rate of 34.5 per minute.

It was after 11.30 p.m. when the bells came cleanly in rounds and my first desire was a drink, followed by a place where bed and breakfast could be obtained. Much to my surprise, the former was already waiting for me outside the tower, and never was a drink more enjoyed, for beyond a light breakfast nothing had touched by lips throughout the day, yet when my brother and I were hurried to the home of one of the umpires and a lovely supper awaited us, neither of us could touch a morsel of solid food. Nice comfortable beds awaited us, but sleep would not come, and after a restless night the early morning cup was doubly welcome. Breakfast enabled us to find our appetites again, and soon afterwards the cameraman was operating, after which we hurried to the station for a 13 -mile journey to our home tower in time to ring for morning service.

Forty-four years have passed since that day and three of the band have passed on, viz., Arthur Shepherd, James Hunt and Frank Blondell, leaving my old friend Alf Pulling and myself with many memories of a day when a band of handbell ringers met and rang their longest handbell peal. Most of the umpires have completed their course, but still with us is Alf Winch, whose name can still be found in the peal and quarter peal columns of this paper.

In 1898 the St. Martin's Society, Birmingham, rang a peal of 8,888 Stedman Caters 'in hand,' which occupied 5 hours and 20 minutes, but from that date until 1912, when peals of 14,031 and 19,738 were rung, there appeared to be no desire for the 8,888 to be exceeded, and these three lengths appear to stand as the three longest peals of Stedman on handbells.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

CANNON-SONE TOUR IN LEICESTERSHIRE

GOOD BELLS AND GOOD COMPANY

FOR the seventh successive year the 'CannonSone ' tour has livened up another county in their quest for peals and aew towers. A thoroughly enjoyable and successful week was the result. Twelve peals were scored out of 13 attempts, and visits were paid to 68 towers in Leicestershire, Derbyshire, Nottinghamshire, Northamptonshire and Rutland. Many may think this is a stiff programme. It is-one has to be really fit to survive on a tour like this! All arrangements were made by Mr. Brian G. Warwick, the energetic secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, and the party would like to thank him once again for the really excellent job he made of both the ringing and catering fixtures.

Our party consisted of 22 ringers, and most of them arrived for the first touch of the tour on Saturday evening, August 11 th, at Belgrave ( $8,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.). London and Bristol opened the proceedings, and we continued to Birstall ( 8 , 10 cwt .) for London and Cambridge.

On Sunday, August 12 th, we arrived at 9.30 a.m. to ring for service at Brian Warwick's tower, South Wigston ( $8,14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and then over to Aylestone ( $8,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where we were welcomed by Mr. F. E. Wilson and the ringing curate, the Rev. P. R. Blackman. As usual, we stayed for service and had a course of Yorkshire afterwards with Messrs. G. Francis and W. L. Weller, who were on their way home after a week's 'tower-grabbing.' Incidentally before service we rang three spliced (Rutland, New Cambridge and Yorkshire), the first time this had been rung on these bells for a service.
In the afternoon our first tower was Narborough ( $6,21 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt.), where we had been told told that the bells were rough ! However, the local captain is to be congratulated on getting the bells ringing again after a long silence. Then on to Broughton Astley ( $6,18 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where we were joined by Messrs. Ralph Edwards, Peter Border and Kilby Holtom. These are a fine Taylor ring, rung from the ground floor, and we rang a good course of London Minor.
Our next tower was Monk's Kirby ( $8,24 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). When we arrived here Mr. Pittam, the local captain, was mending a stay and warned us that the ropes were not too good. Sure enough, as Peter Border and the writer were raising the tenor the rope broke under the sally. Peter did a quick short splice and we rang a course of Bristol, with Ralph Edwards on the box, with a short rope.

Our last tower (or what we thought was our last tower) for the day was Hinckley ( 8,22 cwt .), and on this really grand Taylor ring a good course of Yorkshire and some Stedman for the local captain was duly rung. The service at Hinckley begins at 6 p.m., so Brian suggested we call in at Sapcote ( $6,9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where Mr. Michael Brown was surprised and pleased to see us.

THREE PEALS ON MONDAY

Our first peal tower was Whitwick $\left(8,11 \frac{1}{4}\right.$ cwt.), a popular tower for peals, and with the assistance of Mr. Joseph Cotton, the genial secretary of the Midland Counties Guild, we scored a fast peal of Yorkshire, this being the writer's 425 th tower for a peal. Those not ringing visited Melbourne ( $8,15 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and Bredon ( $6,9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.).

After an excellent lunch at the King's Arms we had two splendid light rings for the afterDoon. At Measham (8, $9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) a very good peal of Lincolnshire was scored, and at Over-seale ( $8,9 \frac{3}{8} \mathrm{cwt}$.) the well-known Double Norwich was successful-as usual! Both these rings are in excellent order and a delight to ring on. Those not ringing visited Netherseale ( $8,11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and Swepstone ( $6,10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Many of the towers in this district are reminders of the generosity of the late Mr. W. W. Worthington, of brewery fame, and himself a practical peal ringer.
When we arrived at Ashby-de-la-Zouch (8, 17 cwt .) we found the bells 'up' and were told that Ralph Edwards had raised them, but, as we were late, could not wait to join us. Thanks, Ralph! There is a long draught here, but the bells sound reasonably well in the tower. Our last two towers for Monday were Hugglescote ( $8,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where an excellent musical touch of Little Bob was conducted by G. Ronald Edwards, and Ibstock ( $6,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where there was a welcome written on the board by Mr. Arthur E. Rowley, and where Fred Lambert met his son.

VISIT FROM THE B.B.C.

Tuesday, August 14th, was Loughborough and district day. A band of ten good men was picked for Loughborough All Saints' (10, $30 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) and under the conductorship of Ralph Bird scored a very creditable peal of Kent Royal. Those not ringing visited the isolated church of Prestwold ( $8,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.), Mountsorrel ( $8,8 \mathrm{cwt}$.) where we were met by Mr. B. Stedman Payne, and Quorndon ( $8,14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where the Press caught up with us for a photograph.
During lunch at the Essoldo Cinema Cafe the B.B.C. (Midland Region) joined us and said they would like to broadcast some ringing from the famous Taylor Bell Foundry ( $10,6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) and also have a short interview with the writer. This was duly broadcast on the $6.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. news that day.

These matters somewhat delayed our start for the peal on the light ten, and we had to record our only loss of the week-Bob Royal-after one hour's ringing. Someone remarked that if the conductor had kept to Tucker's four-part instead of a Tittums peal success would have followed. Best thanks to Messrs. J. P. Fidler and C. Harrison for kindly meeting us at both towers.

Another band had gone to Shepshed ( 8,15 cwt.) and rung Cambridge on an excellent Taylor ring. The Foundry band rang at Woodhouse Eaves ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and we all continued to Blakeshay Farm, Newton Linford, for a nice dinner. A rather late arrival at Anstey ( 8 , $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) found Mr. Alban Disney still waiting for us, and we enjoyed a very short ring on this handy octave.

TOWER HUNTING IN NOTTINGHAM-

 SHIREThe Wednesday of our week is always reserved for tower hunting-no peals. The first tower was Long Clawson ( $5,17 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt.), where the bells are rung from the ground floor in the centre of the cruciform church. If they are rung slowly, good touches can be achieved. Some of the more venturesome members of our party climbed the unique iron ladder to the bells. This is let down from the ceiling and sways quite considerably.

Bottesford ( $8,22 \mathrm{cwt}$.) has a really magnificent ring, in the writer's opinion probably the best eight in Leicestershire. Bristol and Double Norwich Court Bob were duly rung and we continued into Nottinghamshire at Bingham (8, $15 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) This was the writer's 2,000 th tower, and the party were welcomed by the Vicar, Bishop Gelsthorpe. Up in the tower someone shifted the tenor box to the treble position, with an amusing two or three rounds before a with an amusing two or three rounds before a course of Yorkshire was started. (No prizes for guessing for whom this was fixed ! !) Next on the list was Radcliffe-on-Trent $(8,15 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where we rang Cambridge and Double Norwich Court Bob. Lunch followed at the Chestnuts County Club.

Then a visit to one of the titbits of the week, the glorious modern Taylor ring at West Bridgford $\left(8,9 \frac{1}{2}\right.$ cwt.). We were welcomed by the ringing Rector, Canon R F. Wilkinson. These ringing Rector, Canon R. F. Wilkinson. These bells are a real joy to ring, and we were told we were the first visitors to ring on them. Amongst other things we rang a good course of Superlative, with Reg Rex ringing the seventh. This was just like old times for Reg, who by the end of the week had completed 21 peals since losing his left arm in an accident in example to anyone with two arms.

A short run over to Cotgrave ( $6,17 \frac{\mathrm{cw}}{\mathrm{c}}$.) for a course of London an Cambridge on a fine six and then back to Nottingham, St. Mary's ( $10,35 \frac{3}{\mathrm{cwt}}$ ), where we were welcomed by Mr . Walter Nicholls. A good half-course of Cambridge Royal decided us that we had a good enough band to attempt a peal, and the omen was successful. Then over to Ruddington (8, 15 cwt .), where there is a glass roof in the ringing chamber, and the bells require quite a bit of ringing.

At Bunney ( $6,13 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.) we found another excellent modern Taylor ring. Here Ron Edwards asked to ring the tenor to a perfect course of Cambridge, a bell which he helped to tune. The last tower was Syston ( $8,15 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where Mr. E. F. Payne met us. The tenor is very slow at handstroke, but a course of Superlative proved that if one uses one's ears it can be struck perfectly.

ANOTHER DOUBLE

The programme for Thursday commenced with a ring at Knighton Church ( $5,14 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), which has a tall tower and spire. Then to Kibworth Beauchamp (8, $10 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where Mr. Fred Staniforth met us. A good peal of Rutland was scored under the conductorship of Malcolm Cloke, and Ann Cox rang the seventh well to score her 'first in the method.' Those not ringing visited Great Glen ( $6,9 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and King's Norton ( $8,21 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). At the latter tower we found the bells in fair condition and seem. ingly pealable with a good band. A visit was paid to Gally, where we inspected the near dereljct bells. They were not ringable and we persuaded the Vicar to have them attènded to.

At Illston ( $6,8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) the writer was told to ring the fifth to some spliced Minor. Something made him suspicious, and when "Stand, was called, he kept his rope! The stay was missing, and the others were hoping the bell missing, and the others Were hoping the would have gone over! Bad Iuck. Brian!

After lunch we rang an excellent peal of Yorkshire at Market Harborough ( $8,18 \frac{1}{c}$ cwt.) on a first-class Taylor ring. Mr. Fred Wallington, the local captain, congratulated us on our striking. Those not ringing visited Desborough ( $8,10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), Rothwell ( $8,21 \mathrm{cwt}$.), a fine Taylor ring, and Great Bowden ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.) with a recently-added treble. Mr. F. Kilburn, who rang peals with Mr. W. Willson, accompanicd them.

Returning to Leicester, we visited Humberstone ( $6,19 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) a Gillett and Johnston ring, with a very low ceiling to the ringing chamber, and later ioined the local ringers under Mr. Sydney Harrison for practice at Leicester, St. John-the-Divine ( $10,21 \mathrm{cwt}$.) We rang half a course of Cambridge Royal on one of the finest sens in the country. Mr. Bowley, a local ringer with one arm, was very pleased to have a pull with Reg Rex.

MELTON MOWBRAY AND RUTLAND

The opportunity of a peal at the fine tower of Melton Mowbray ( $10,25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) on Friday was much appreciated. Mr. Philip A. Corby welcomed us and kindly raised the bells ready. A creditable peal of Cambridge Royal was scored on a ring which is not too easy to strike. The local Press took photographs afterwards and we enjoyed our lunch at the Anne of Cleves Cafe. Great Dalby ( $5,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.), Ashby Folville ( $8.12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and Asfordby ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.) were visited by those not peal ringing.

It was a very big disappointment that owing to serious illness near the tower the chance of a peal at Oakham had to be cancelled. However. Somerby ( $6,11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) kindly stepped into the breach and a good peal of Minor in 13 methods was scored, with plenty of stars. Those not ringing visited three towers in RutlandWhissendine ( $6,12+\mathrm{cwt}$.), with a long draught and most of the bells going up 'wrong,' Langham ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where the local captain recalled ringing at Canterbury during the war, and Cottesmore ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.), a fine Taylor six. We joined up with the peal band to ring Rutland at Uppingham ( $8,14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), and arrived back in Leicester in time to ring Stedman Cinques at St. Margaret's ( $12,32 \frac{3}{8} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and to meet Mr. Ernest Morris.

THREE PEALS ON LAST DAY
For the last day, Saturday, August 18th, three first-class Taylor rings were at our disposal. At Claybrooke ( $8,\left\lceil 3 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\right.$.) the usual Double Norwich Court Bob was scored, this being the 20th county in which the writer had called this composition. The bells are a remarkably fine ring, with the tenor in E flat and sounding like 18 cwt . They do not want to be hurried too much. The remainder visited Bitteswell ( $6,8 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), Lutterworth ( $8,14 \frac{3}{8} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where they were welcomed by the well-known composer, Mr. Ernest W. Tipler, and Misterton (6, 7 cwt .).

After lunch at Hinckley we continued to Earl Shilton (8, $11^{\frac{3}{3}} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where Ralph Edwards joined us for a good peal of three spliced. The remainder continued to Kirkby Mallory (6, $7 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) before reaching Market Boswonth (8, $14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), a very fine modern ring, where the first peal of Surprise on the bells was duly completed, with Kilby Holtom on the treble.
The Earl Shilton band, with three others, called in at Thurlaston ( $6,15 \mathrm{cwt}$.), an excellent ring, where Joan Beazley was able to score her first quarter peal (Bob Minor), conducted by Ron Edwards (see quarter peal columns). During dinner at Market Bosworth Brian Warwick was duly thanked for a most enjoyable and successful week. Unless one has had actual experience of organising a week like this, one does not realise the amount of hard work and writing necessary to achieve success.
Before leaving on Sunday morning we visited Leicester Cathedral ( $12,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and rang two courses of Stedman Cinques and three leads of Treble Twelve. Mr. Herrick Bowley, captain, gave us a warm welcome and afterwards joined us for coffee before we caught our train for London. Monica Collins and Joan Brown were with us for the whole week, although they did not ring any peals.

Once again the writer would like to thank all Vicars and tower captains for allowing us to ring and giving us such a grand welcome. Also all members of the party who helped to create a jolly atmosphere, good striking and good fellowship. Next year we hope to tour East Lancashire.
A. PATRICK CANNON.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Kent District at Walmer

Thanks to 'Jill and Geoff,' we arrived at Walmer, but where, oh where were the ladies? They were sadly lacking in support for this meeting: however, those of us who did attend received a very warm welcome from the "locals."
With the assistance of the gentlemen, ringing went well, from rounds to a course of Cambridge Minor. The Vicar conducted a short service and afterwards joined us for tea at Lee House.

A vote of thanks and appreciation was extended to the Vicar, the organist and last, but not least, Mr. Rye, who so kindly made the arrangements.
Except for selecting Sittingbourne for the next meeting on either November 3rd or 10 th, no business was transacted as some of the ladies present had to catch trains. Will ladies please make a special effort to attend the Sittingbourne meeting.

During the Leicestershire peal tour the B.B.C. (Midland Region) recorded some ringing from the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and also interviewed Mr. Pat Cannon. This was duly broadcast on the Midland Region news at $6.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on Tuesday, August 14 th .

Mr. A. P. Cannon regards 1956 as his lucky year. He has already rung 46 peals.

Among the promising young ringers in south Lincolnshire is 14 -years-old Roland H. Cook. He has about 16 peals to his credit and has just scored his first peal 'inside.'
The bells of Preston Parish Church will be heard prior to the service to be broadcast from there on Sunday, September 16th, at 9.30 a.m., in the North Home Service only.

We have received an encouraging response from annual subscribers to remit the extra postage. So far 901 subscribers have contributed a total of $£ 7617 \mathrm{~s}$. 11 d .

Congratulations to Mr. R. Roger Savory and Mr. Ernest F. Payne, who have completed their first 100 peals. Mr. B. Stedman Payne has reached his 100 on tower bells.

St. Andrew's, Headington, Oxford, have another promising young Dorset ringer in their band in Mr. Michacl Hallett, who has just rung his first quarter (one in seven methods) with the St. Andrew's company.

Mr. John T. Walmsley, of Oldham, desires to say a big 'thank you' through the columns of - The Ringing World' to the ringers of Castle Cary, Somerset, who invited him and his wife to join them on their annual outing. Ringing took place at St. Mary's, Corscombe. Broadwindsor, Whitechurch Canonicorum and Wyke Regis. A few hours were spent at Weymouth in brilliant sunshine. The party included the tower's veteran. Mr. Milborne, who was celebrating his 84th birthday.

GOSSIP

A member of the Exeter Cathedral ringers inquires what is the record number of ringers to attend a practice. At a local practice at the Cathedral recently no fewer than 64 ringers attended.
The Universities' Association is on tour this week with headquarters at Leiston Abbey, Suffolk.

The Kent tour, organised by Mr. David Hoare, and consisting of 13 ringers from Somerset, Hampshire. Wiltshire and Sussex, scored eight peals during their week. For story see next weck's issue.

In a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at the Church of Our Lady and St. Nicholas, Liverpool, on August 18th, there were no fewer than ten of the band ringing their first of Cambridge Surprise in Maximus.

When members of your tower leave for National Service see that "The Ringing World ' is posted to them. It is the best farewell presentation and it enables the ringer to see what is going on in his own locality.

Totternhoc, Beds, has lost a member of its band by the death of Mr. William Twidell. who was also a chorister. To his memory a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on August 19 th with the bells half-muffled. The band consisted of Mrs. J. Newman 1, J. G. Newman 2, R. J. Scott 3, J. W. Sinfield 4, D. Knox 5, W. Sear 6.

The three Robert Norton bells from Holton Parish Church, Somerset, are now at a foundry bejng retuned. Thev were cast circa 1430 . $A_{n}$ appeal is made to bell lovers desirous of retaining such bells of archæological value to send donations to the hon. treasurer of Holton Parish Church, Mr. G. B. Wylam, Green Pastures, Holton, Wincanton, Somerset. All contributions will be acknowledged.

Cumberland Ringers Fight Against Electronic Bells

Chancellor Allows With 'Great Reluctance ${ }^{\text {B }}$

THE Cumberland and Westmorland Association were unsuccessful at a Consistory Court at Carlisle on August 9th in their opposition to an application by the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Nicholas', Whitehaven, to install a system of Constant Martin bells and carillon in their church. The Chancellor of the Carlisle Diocese (Mr. R. H. Mais) granted the application with very great reluctance. The scheme is estimated to cost $£ 1,000$ and the money has been subscribed.
Mr. W. C. Sumner, representing the applicants, said that in 1942 the idea was that St. Nicholas' should have a ring of bells instead of the present single bell. Money was raised and there was now about $£ 1,000$ in hand. At present the church was faced with a lot of urgent expenditure, and the Parochial Church Council decided that the system involved in the present application was preferable to the ring of eight bells as formerly suggested.

We have received no objections to the application from any parishioner or anyone who has subscribed to the fund. There has been an objection filed by the Cumberland and Westmorland Association of Change Ringers, said Mr. Sumner. The objectors favoured foundry bells, but, said Mr. Sumner, there was a difficulty in getting skilled bellringers at the present time.
Evidence in support of the application was given by the Rev. W. W. Greenwood, Vicar of St. Nicholas'. The Diocesan Advisory Committee at first disapproved of the application, but the Chancellor was informed that members of the Advisory Committee, who heard the apparatus demonstrated, were agreeably impressed.
Canon W. R. M. Chaplin, president of the Cumberland and Westmorland Association of Change Ringers, told the Chancellor that his Association was desirous that as many people as possible might be brought into church life of parishes by being attracted, through the art and skill of bellringing, to the service of the Church and the glory of God. It was always the desire of the Association to encourage young bellringers and to teach them. His Association would be quite willing to help the Vicar of St. Nicholas' to get ringers.

- NO ' TO RECORDED BELLS

The Chancellor, in his judgment, said he proposed to grant the application, but he did so with very great reluctance. In 1954 the Church Assembly, by a large majority, passed a resolution deprecating recording bells in churches. If the application had been for a recorded pet of bells he should have refused it, and shod have said, "If the people want bells, they must put in a ring of bells.'

Each case must be judged on its merits, and in granting the faculty he desired to make some general observations. Bellringing was deculiarly English; part of their inheritance. For many generations church bells had rung out over the land. Nothing would persuade him that an apparatus such as they were considering derful though it was-could possibly church bells rung by hand. He could lieve that bell ringers could not be founti If. in fact, there were bell ringers availank, ind yet there were those what were not prepared thought it was the duty of the parish as a whole to alter their way of thinking.
He deplored hearing of church bells in this land not being rung because of a lack of volunteers or for any other reason. He thought the present case was a borderline case and that there were reasons why he should grant the faculty.
I have every sympathy with the Assocjation of Bell Ringers, and so long as I hold the position I do, I shall do my best to support them in their endeavours to provide bell ringers, and to ensure that the bells are rung out by hand.'

CONDITIONS

Conditions imposed by the Chancellor for the granting of the faculty included the apparatus being kept under lock and key and being supervised by a responsible person. The apparatus must be only used (except for practice without amplifiers) before Matins and Evensong on Sundays and before and after weddings. It may also be used on Christmas Day. for midnight service on Christmas Eve, on Ascension Day and New Year's Eve. For any other occasion on which it was desired to use the apparatus application must be made to him.
The apparatus was not to be used for more than 30 minutes before any service, and for not more than ten minutes before or after any wedding. Reproduction shall nor be so loud as to be audible outside an area in which a ring of bells rung by hand is audible. Nor shall the reproduction be a nuisance or annoyance to neighbours. He made that condition so that there could be some hold upon the volume of noise. The existing bell at the church must remain

Is Bell-ringing a Dying Art?

In an interview with 'The Portsmouth Evening News,' Mr. George Chappell, of Wickham, now 91. expresses the view that bell-ringing is a dying art because modern people find is too difficult for them to learn. They think it is just a matter of pulling a rope like ringing a door-bell. When they try they find it so difficult that they give up.

This view does not deter Mr. Chappell from his life-long love of bells and ringing, extending over 70 years. As captain of the ringers at St. Nicholas' Church. Wickham, he is training a team of six boys-average age about 15. They ring under his supervision for Sunday services and also for a practice on Wednesday evenings. By leaching the art to the youngsters I know is will be carried on for a few mort rations,' he said.

Bell-ringinf needs $u$ powers of concentration for long rriods.' he explained. When you are ringing 30 changes a nenute for feveral hours on end, as I have done, you must think all the time. That is at modern people lack-power of cond niration. But I have great hopes for present ream of ringers, who are doinf splendidly.'

Taken after the first peal on the bells at Gwinear. Cornwall. August 13ih, Miss G. Neal Smith (first peal) with Mr. Walter Ayre, who had just conducted his 700th.

FIRST PEAL AT GWINEAR, CORNWALL

Three members (resident) and three visitors to the Truro Diocesan Guild rang what is believed to be the first peal on the bells at Gwinear Church, Cornwall, on Monday August 13th. The bells had been silent until early this year for over 50 years, and they were rededicated only a few months ago.
Ringing in the peal were Miss Gillian Neal Smith, who at 16 rang her first peal on an 'inside' bell, and Mr. Walter Ayre, who conducted the peal, who was ringing his 700th. The method decided on was Plain Bob Minor, after an attempt two days previously by the same band ai Zennor for Cambridge Minor had been unsuccessful.
The bells are a tuneful ring and "go' splendidly. They are a little noisy in the ringing room, hut this is to be dealt with. The band would like to express their thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. R. Revill) for his kindness in allowing the use of the bells, and for his help and co-operation
Mr. Revill has already a band of keen young ringers, who are working hard with two practice nights each week.

SMART WORK

In our issue of August 17th we published the composition of Mr. A. J. Pitman. of Port Talbot, of Spliced Surprise Major in nine methods, viz: London, Bristol, Watford. Cambridge, Dorchester, Pudsey, Cassiobury. Superlative and Lincoln.
Six days afterwards the peal, 5.472 changes, was rung at Willesden for the Middlesex County Association. The conductor, Mr. R. F. B. Speed, in announcing the success, writes: ' By a fortunate chance the band arranged for last Thursday at Willesden as almost identical to that which rang Pitman's cight spliced with all the work for all the bells earlier in the year. We were lucky and rang the new composition for nine methods at the first attempt. It is an excellent composition.'

MANUAL OF RINGING TRAINING OF THE COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

(Copyright by the Governors) INTRODUCTION
This work has been compiled as the standard of reference of the College of Campanology. and is subject to final review by the Governors of the College. It is prepared so as to be conveniently issuable in Parts, one for each of the relevant branches of ringing study.
Paragraphs or 'articles ' are numbered for indexing and for cross reference, and to show clearly every statement that may form the subject matter of a question for examination; and the sign ' $(\mathrm{Q}$ )' is inserted after each such item. The signs ' $(S)$ ' and ' $(D)$. preceding the paragraphs are intended to guide the Student-Tutor as to what is to be spoken or stated and what is to be demonstrated. as he instructs his pupils in accordance with the scheme, which is necessarily formal to maintain the requisite standards when in widespread use.
The text is detailed and explanatory to an unusual degree, perhaps, but necessarily, since the Manual is $t 0$ serve also for self-study by students who are remote from continuous contact with a College TLitor.

PART I.

THE ' CATHEDRAL• SYSTEM OF TUITION

SECTION I.

SOME PRINCIPLES OF TEACHING

1. Aim.-The objective of the teacher is to show the pupil a way of learning something efficiently, and to achieve this the teacher must know:-
(a) Precisely what is to be taught, or the access to such knowledge. The methods by which the (Q) gain that knowledge quickly, intelligenily and retentively, and put it into practice with facility.
(Q)
2. Manual. - As a guide to the teaching of ringing, this Manual aims to collate and set forth. in logical development, the requirements of 1 (a) above, as included in the syllabus of College courses; and to do so by showing, implicitly and explicitly, the methods required by 1 (b) above.
(Q)
3. Teaching systems. - Teachers under training devote years to the study and practice of the art of teaching itself, for which many systems have been introduced from time to time: so that here it is possible only to mention some points briefly and indicate the main requirements. Professional teachers may recognise in the context of the Manual points of procedure from some of those systems, among which may be mentioned those of: Froebel, Montessori, Dewey and Dalton. But for the purpose in hand certain fundamental principles may be cited, mainly to give point to the scheme herein developed.
4. Selection and arrangement. - The first principle is the proper selection, assembly and arrangement of the subject matter for information and/or demonstration. (Q). In Part I. of the Manual this has been done with care and the knowledge derived from years of experience in teaching and in ringing, and it may be taken as the embodiment of practical results, and the minimum of its kind to reproduce them. With this established it is difficult to see how the average way of 'teaching' a beginner by putting him straight on to a bell, without any introductory explanations or graduated system of control practice, can ever succeed in producing a good striker, in whatever tower or company. Yet is this not common? An analogy may be taken from the case of a visit to a production factory where successive stages in manufacture occur in a series of buildings dotted about a large area, linked by a transportation system. While some idea of the manufacture may be got by looking at the finished product (the 'straight-off' bell-handling quoted above), a better idea is got by a tour of the buildings piece-meal (the usual introduction to bell-handling), but a still better idea can be got by, indeed the best appreciation of the complete process can be got only by, visiting the buildings in the order in which the stages of manufacture therein actually succeed one another. This last, of course, is the method of 'logical development' employed in a properly devised system, such as the 'Cathedral.' The College-trained tutor adheres to it in maintenance of set standards.
5. Method employed. - For the reaching of elementary practical ringing, the choice of teaching 'methods' or 'systems' as known in the teaching profession is rather limited. Pupils' attendance at classes is restricted, textbooks on the detail of the practice are not available, teachers are not, in the main, trained to the job; and the results of the teaching are more readily observable by the public than are those of most forms of instruction. Yet experience shows that the more desirable results are not unattainable. The method employed in the Cathedral system is that of 'physical acquaintance,' 'invest:gation,' ' demonstration,' 'explanation' and 'examination'; and this sequence is applied in a scheme arranged in logical order of development throughout. (Q)
6. Presentation.-In presenting the subject matter of a study such as ringing the tutor inevitably poses problems all the time to his pupils. How, then, does the thing appear to the pupil? It has been said that the secret of successful teaching has been won if and when the feacher has virtually entered into the mind of his pupil and viewed the instruction and the consequent problem from the pupil's angle. (Q) Experience shows this to be only too true. But to some extent, it presupposes that the teacher has also "summed up" his pupil-assessed his 'type' in mind and character. This can't be done in five minutes, but the successful teacher acquires the kr . Ind then formulates the problem as the. pipil most readily perceives it: and while di- puraging rem guessing yet urges the pupil to deduce the, answer-checked and corrected as ecessary. The result is imprinted on the pup 's mind. (Q). Different mentalities require differen treatments, of course, and these mrlst be assessed and accommodated, often with patience and tact. (Q) Above all, never assume the pupil knows anything you have not checked. (Occasionally even the most experienced teacher finds he has slipped up on this!)
7. Interest.-This is the keynote of the piece. Interest must be evoked at the outset, and must be maintained. Without it real pro gress will not be made. Much depends upon the teacher's own personality and his manner of going about the job; but even if these be not strong points in any one case, there are still 'aids' to interest that can be employed. Much can be done by the way in which the pointș are ' put over '-the apt illustration, the occasional mental shock, the challenge to the pupils, the occasional sudden switch to the dramatic, variation in voice in pitch and tempo, and the careful choice of phrases and even words: these and other devices will aid, especially in the earlier stages, in focusing attention and interest to an effective degree.
(Q)
8. Aids.-In practical matters the best initial aid is a fairly large-sized model of a bell hung for ringing: failing which the actual bells in the tower must be used for certain illustrative points. A blackboard in the ringing chamber is an essential, and substitutes are easily made or acquired. An octave of handbells is almost an essential, together with a rod such as a broom handle, which can be placed across the backs of two chairs, to support the bells in order of tones, and a tapper. Several 18in. lengths of old rope are also required for the rattails.'
9. Continuity.-In all the work there must be continuity, both of sabject matter and of pupils' effort. Absence from a class and consequential 'missing' of instruction must therefore be discouraged at all costs; particularly if a class of pupis is being taken-as opposed to single pupils. The organising of the class in small groups or teams in competition is a good incentive to regular attendance; and the objective of the dioloma at the end of the course is another. The tutor must be careful to 'dovetail' his successive lessons. (N.B.Keep a register.)
(Q)
10. Questions.-Encourage these from the pupils! Let nothing 'fluffy' get passed over. Endeavour to check that all is clearly understood. Tests are best for this, and questions of the pupils should be made at each class. Recapitulation of a series of points made is essential. The team competition is helpful in the tests.
11. Obligations. - The pupils should be shown clearly that they have obligations. Tutors give up their time gladly to teach the art of ringing, but only when they can rely on their pupils sticking to the job and making a success of it, as far as their abilities allow. Point out that ringing is a divine service and one that brings joy to the performer, mentally and physically: that it can be undertaken all one's life and by persons of both sexes and from all walks of life. Stress the need for constant attention to good performance and faultless striking, even if it be only in rounds or call changes. An in terent striker is the finest advertisement folwithe abolition of ringing!
(Q)

THE ANSWERS
Dear Sir,-In reply to two recent queries:-
(a) Mr. J. A. Trollope effectively demolished the story of the attempt for 7,008 Oxford Treble Bob at Dagenham in 1804 (Major, according to the 'Norwich Mercury,' not Royal, as in the Annual Register) by pointing out that the supposed victim, Malachi Cannon, rang a peal of Grandsire Caters six weeks after he was alleged to have been killed. (See 'The Ringing World ' of February 27th, 1942.)
(b) Henry Bret joined the College Youths in 1687 and was Master in 1701. Mr. Trollope stated that he gave five, not three bells to Cowley Church, and on the question of his ruin being supposedly caused by ringing, commented - How a man could have spent an excessive amount of money on country bellringing in the 17 th and 18 th centuries is not easy to see.' ## SIXPENCE A ROPE

Dear Sir,-In connection with the front page article of 'The Ringing World ' of August 17th regarding the precarious financial position,' I think one suggestion mentioned solves the whole problem in a quite fair and legitimate manner. I refer to the 'levy' on all peals published. I wouldn't have thought a 'levy' was necessary, just an 'invitation' to contribute 1 s . a head and 6 d . a head for a peal and quarter peal respectively.

I have served on a church council where hundreds of pounds have been spent on rehanging bells with a sixth added; I have also had experience of providing new bell stays When necessary, 'charged up to the C.C.' Can anyone find a cheaper interest, exercise, recreation, pleasure, call it what you will? Within my experience bells that are rarely rung for services are seldom refused by an incumbent for a peal.

According to the foregoing suggestion, last week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' which is, I suppose, an average week, would benefit by a matter of $£ 19$ to $£ 20$, and, speaking personally, I cannor call to mind any une of my ringing acquaintances who, I think, would be averse to the idea, and I think they are typical of the whole body.-Yours faithfully,

N. ROBINSON.

Willingham, Cambs.

BRAVO, SUFFOLK:

Dear Sir,-It was very heartening to a 'Suffolker to read the peal columns in s The Ringing World ' of August $17 \mathrm{th}, 1956$.

In issues recent to that, Suffolk had not shown up very well considering its wealth of towers and bells (even though many of them need attention), but now, in the one issue, we see the following:-
(a) Only two 10 -bell peals, and one of them in Suffolk.
(b) Twenty 8 -bell peals, and three of them in Suffolk.
(c) Sixteen 6-bell peals, and three of them in Suffolk.

At the same time we must not overlook the fact that Norfolk ringers took part in all the Suffolk peals in (a) and (b) above, and that Essex ringers were in at least two of the Suffolk peals in (c).
Come on, Suffolk, swing 'em about, and also give Norfolk and Essex a hand !-Yours truly,

CLAUDE RUSH.

THE GODWARD ASPECT OF RINGING
Dear Sir,-I have been exceedingly interested in all the recent articles in 'The Ringing World , concerning ringing instruction and partícularly those giving an account of the activities of the College of Campanology. This, to me. seems to be the most worthwhile venture I have seen reported in your pages, since I started taking 'The Ringing World (three years ago). Howcver, there seems to me to be an omission which needs explaining. It is this.
The College of Campanology exists to ensure a regular supply of competent ringers and instructors and we have been given details at some length of the way this is to be accomplished and a comprehensive survey of the proposed Instruction Manual. Yet there seems no indication that anyone is to be taught anything but a secular hobby. Has the College rather forgotten the Godward aspect of ringing, or does it assume it to a degree that renders its mention unnecessary?

I have always been rather shy of all those ringers, competent and otherwise, who tend to forget that Church bells have been dedicated for use in a particular way and are not on the same plane as golf clubs and cricket bats. Such people inspire such little notices as the following, known to a few, no doubt:-

Do not ring and run away

Leaving other folk to pray.
When a ringer doeth so Hand says 'come' and foot says 'go."
Do we not find here the origin of much of the weakness of Sunday ringing in many places?. On one hand you have the person who (if he thinks of it at all) regards the relationship between ringing and Christianity as a vague union between two amorphous bodies he would call 'The Exercise' and 'The Church.' On the other you have Tom, Dick or Harry ringing a bad-going tenor and doing it well because he delights in making a joyful noise unto his Lord.' A ringer who is a truly active Christian likes service ringing. It can be understood if others regard it as a rather inconveniently timed extension of practice night.
Thus it is a prime duty of every praying ringer to leaven the lump a bit by sensible witness and continual intercession for all ringers. I have never seen this stated in "The Ringing World,' but I, may have missed it. Nevertheless, I am sure it is very necessary if we are to have a balanced outlook as far as our art is concerned. It we take Our Lord at His word we can rely on such intercession to work, provided we seck to see Him continually served and glorified in our ringing and do not use prayers as a means to attain our own ends as far as numbers are concerned.-Yours faithfully,

DAVID J. SMITH,
Witney, Oxon.
Note--Reader Smith's point has not been overlooked. Tutors are requested to point out that ringing is a divine service; that the belfry is part of the church and demands the same principles of conduct and conversation ; that meetings in the belfry for the purpose of performing what is part of the service of the Church are aptly preceded by the Belfry Office. -Ed.

NORTHILL AND NORTHAMPTONSHIRE

Dear Sir-I should like to point out that the methods Northill and Northamptonshire were both given wrongly. They should read:-

Northill: $36-14-1258-36-14-58-14-38$.
Northamptonshire: 36-14-1258-16-12-38-16-78. Yours sincerely, STEPHEN IVIN.

THE LATE MR. E. ALEXANDER YOUNG
Dear Sir ,-To the memorial notice in your columns of our late venerated'friend, Mr. E. Alexander Young, two points may well be added. One is that he was a member of the Worshipful Company of Musicians, and it was by his generous arrarigement that the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral have been rung for the Company's annual service on St. Cecilia's Day. Mr. Young confided to me that it was his intention to make permanent provision for the continuance of ringing at this celebration.
The other point is that Mr. Young organised the official talk on change ringing. which it was my privilege to give on behalf of the Central Council in 1928, and on that occasion he rang $7-8$ to a course of Stedman Triples on handbells.

It is also worthy of mention that up to the age of 90 he wrote a most elegant hand; every letter was a work of art.
I last saw him when, in his goth year, he visjted me in hospital. We spent a long time recalling memories of the past, and I had the moving experience of joining with him at his request in a simple prayer for a blessing on our advancing years. - Yours sincerely,

A JUDGMENT OF 1867

Dear Sir,-I enclose a copy of a cutting from ' The Times' of Nov., 1867, which may interest some of your readers. The cutting was pasted inside the front cover of a service book belonging to the Vicar of Willesborough at that date. -Yours faithfully,
W. P. GARNER.

'THE RIGHT TO RING PARISH  BELLS  Rev. E. S. T. Daunt v. Crocher and

This case involved the question as to the ringing of bells of a parish church. The promoter of the office as judge is Incumbent of St. Stephen's, Launceston, Cornwall, and the suit was against ten persons, who, it was alleged, had broken into the belfry and rang the bells. There was a suit against the churchwardens as to the right to the keys. The case came before the court on the admission of the articles.

Dr. Swabey appeared for the ten defendants in opposition to the articles. They were, he said, men in humble rank, and he objected to the term used in the articles.

Dr. Spinks, Q.C., with whom was Dr. Tristram, appeared for the incumbent.

The learned counsel on both sides discussed the law on the subject of ringing the bells. It was admitted that the incumbent was entitled to the custody of the key of the church, and had a right to prohibit the bells being rung.

Sir Robert Phillimore, having direoted the articles to be amended, threw out a suggestion which will probably end the case. He said, if the fact could not be denied that the bells were rung contrary to the wish of the incumbent, then an offence had been committed, and that the men, to save further expense, had better admit it, on which they would be admonished and ordered to pay the costs. It would be the far better course for them to pursue, seeing they were in humble station of life.
Dr. Swabey, on the part of the defendants, thanked his lordship and would convey his suggestion to the parties.

The articles were admitted.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD'S ANNUAL TOUR

CONVINCED for the third consecutive year that 13 is the lucky number for the annual tour, the Manchester University Guild members signed in at Shrewsbury Youth Hostel in the late afternoon of Sunday, July 8th. Three had cycled down the previous day; four had taken nine hours to cover the 60 miles from Manchester, including two stops for refreshment, one to retrieve a dropped handbell, and three for the Ringing Master to mend the same puncture (and he calls himself an engincer !); and one lady member gaily asserted that she had cycled the whole of the one mile from the railway station.
The official start of the tour was to have been that evening at St. Mary's, but unfortunately a large stone had crashed down in the tower the previous week. However, we were kindly directed to St. Chad's, where we joined the local ringers. The bells are, to quote one of our members, such as to 'make one's toenails curl' (with delight)-a phrase of which we were to become tired of hearing in the following ten days. We again rang here the next day-as per our time-table-on this grand $39 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. twelve, before visiting the six-bell towers of Ruyton-of-the-Eleven-Towns, Montford (where we were told by the Vicar, 'You are welcome to ring, but don't pull too hard, the tower may fall down '! and where one of our ladies was offered the post of choirmistress) and Bicton, where we had our first puncture 'on tour.'
Back at the hostel we amused (and confused) fellow hostellers with 'lapping ' on handbells to Plain Bob Major and Stedman Triples; we, in turn, were intrigued by ' Fred '-a most peculiar character of very odd behaviour and habits.

OVER AND ROUND THE WREKIN

The old Church of St. Eta, Atcham, built of stone from the Roman town nearby and containing 15 th and 16 th century glass, was the first on our list for Tuesday. From this re-centiy-rehung six we journeyed over and round the famous Wrekin to the very good ten at Coalbrookdale. where, possibly due to the afterlunch refreshment, we did not exactly cover ourselves with glory. The hot sun and the twomite climb to Broseley also did not engender the best ringing on this good eight, although the sumptuous tea afterwards, kindly, provided by a local lady, must be responsible for the good ringing on the augmented Rudhall bells at Much Wenlock, five miles away. Here our first attempt at Superlative was agreed to be excellent -we even received praise from the Lord Bishop of Birmingham, who was there at the time. Our swollen heads had assumed normal proportions by the time we had covered the seven miles along Wenlock Edge to Wilderhope Hostel.
Wednesday's ringing began at Hope Bowdler, where good London Surprise Minor was obtained but Treble Boh would just not come round! Nor would Cambridge on the well1oned eight at Church Stretton, but Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major werc successfully brought round. Seven miles further on, at Wistanstow, we encountered the bird and the bees: our ringing frightened a sparrow, trapped in the ringing room, and disturbed a swarm of bees, one of the ladies being stung. At Clunbury, even though it was early-closing day, the local store re-opened especially to serve our party with lemonade. After climbing a vertical ladder into the ringing room we were allowed to inspect the bells (one a mediaval hell) which were obviously well carcd for and in beautiful condition. We rose to the occasion and struck some good London Surprise Minor.

At the hostel at Clun we had to provide our own food, even though we had previously requested the warden, a Mrs. Bright, to obtain supplies for us. Our London friend did sterling work by carrying eight gallons of milk in a pan from the farm a mile away. After supper we rang at the local church, where the ringing room is festooned with old wheels, clappers, pulleys, etc., from the old ring of bells. Back at the hostel, 11.30 p.m. found the Bishop's nicce vigorously 'moth-hunting,' and two male members found that the quickest way from their dormitory to the washroom was via a large hole in the floor!

On Thursday we invaded Wales (Radnorshire) along the one in five switchback road to Knighton (8) and Presteigne, where we were joined by the Rector, a member of the Cambridge University Guild. Not surprisingly, Cambridge and Double Norwich were well rung, although a plain course of Bristol broke down two leads from home. We would have liked to stay longer but our time-table pulled us away back to England, Herefordshire and the sixes at Kington and Lyonshall, where a ladies' touch of Plain Bob and Double Court, Cambridge, London and Oswald Delight were rung. Then across the road and along the drive to the Youth Hostel, where, later in the evening, the learners were ringing, handbells in the Common Room. When the 'experts' returned refreshed from the village, one lady ringer, whilst ringing $5-6$, was seen to be gradually retreating towards the door, away from the spirited pair ringing 1-2 and 3-4.

THREAT OF DUCKING STOOL

The reputation of Eardisland for delightful singing suffered somewhat by our visit on Friday the 13 th, but we improved on the ten at Leominster Priory-possibly due to the threat to use the ducking stool from the north aisle on bad strikers. After our first indoor lunch, because of the dull weather, and the long climb to Bredenbury, we were rewarded by gallons of orange juice, kindly provided by the Vicar. The anti-clockwise $16-\mathrm{cwt}$. six at Bromyard proved a little rough, and the fact that the ringers on the third and fourth thought that they were ringing the fourth and third respectively did not help matters! It was here, too, that the lady mentioned above was photographed whilst riding her bicycle along the church path, using her umbrella as a parasol. The evening at Clifton-on-Teme hostel was spent by various members in various ways - enough said! The warden here admitted that she did not know much about ringing, although she recognised good ringing when she heard it; she thought the local ringers were horrible- 'They never ring the same thing twice logether' (!).
Presumably she would think the same about us the following morning when we rang on this good six. Two American girls from the University of Michigan were 'sure delighted by the hells and our 'Scarlet Pimpernel' 'spent a quarter of an hour with them up among the bells. Three miles away at Shelsey Beauchamp we were met by the new Rector and his churchwarden (a ringer) and the former took copious notes for the parish magazine. On the only eight of the day, at Rock, even after paying the 10s. 'entrance fee,' we could not get Superlative round. After our customary tea, the ringing at the crookedly-spired church of Cleobury Mortimer was very good. On our six miles journey to Wheathill Youth Hostel heavy rain accompanied us all of the way and during the descent of one of the numerous short steep hills, one member tried the effect of riding along the top of the hedge! Luckily there was only superficial damage done to man and machine.

Sunday, after a damp morning, proved to be well named, and our 'free day' was spent in the quaint town of Ludlow (the nearest-a mere eight miles - to the hostel). Most of the party visited the castle, rowed(?) on the river, rambled in the woods and inspected the fine church. We were allowed to ring for Evensong on this grand eight, all cast by Rudhall in 1732 and rehung (with a recast treble) by Taylor's in 1890. Plain Bob, Stedman, Superlative and a good 'fall' sharpened our appetites for a good supper at the hostel. Afterwards, allowing for interruptions by several sheep and a goat, seven spliced Major methods 'in hand 'were obtained by the 'fairies' at the bottom of the garden. It was here that one member's enthusiasm for 'Bob Caters in the tittums' was finally dampened, and later in the evening the following classic statement was heard from the women's dormitory: 'I always try to behave, but I just don't succeed ' (!)

GAS MASKS

Torrential rain again accompanied us on Monday to Bewdley, where Bristol would just not come round ! After lunch, the rain decided that it did not like our company and it was fine to Kidderminster. On this good-going and well-toned 12 we rang from Plain Bob Maximus and Stedman Caters to rounds and call changes. The rain again returned but obviously liked the long climb (Oh! Those wet cobbles!) to the six at Stone (Worcs) even less than we did, and left us: we did not need our rain capes for the rest of the bour. Whilst we were raising the bells the rope of the fourth broke at the garter-hole. Inspection upstairs showed that most of the ropes were in need of attention and that most of the pulley boxes were loose. We repaired the rope and left for the church and hostel at Chaddesley Corbett. The church. following a recent theft, was locked, and inquiry at the Vicarage showed that we were expected the next day! However, we were admitted to find ourselves confronted with a hearse, and a reminder not to forget our gas masks! Nothing daunted, we ascended the tower, and the Ringing Master ambitiously announced 'Superlative' for the opening touch. Not only did he break tradition by not starting with Plain Bob, but also broke the rope on his bell! Also worthy of mention is a 'rrue ' peal of 5,040 changes of Grandsire Triples rung in 1829 without Singles !
On Tuesday we only visited three towers all with eight bells-and cycled 27 miles. Lunch was partaken at Hartlebury, in the churchyard, with hot-from-the-oven bread in two-inch slices, after ringing on the good light ring at Stoke Prior. (In passing through Bromsgrove, the clapper of one of the handbells fell out and was run over by a lorry; the bearer of the handbell also later lost one of his pedals! After being visited by ants during lunch. listening to the Test Match and hearing the clock strike 'one' at two o'clock we ascended the tower and succeeded in breaking the rope of the second when chiming in Queen's after ringing down. A leisurelv ride brought us to Clent and a good ring of hells. The hostel, a 'self-cooker.' will alwavs be remembered for the very large bowlful of lettuce consumed by one member.

Wednesday, the last day of the tour, began at Hagley, where the treble bell rope broke. being the fourth to break in six towers. But at Lve it was the stavs which we were afraid of breaking, although when we had mastered this light ring (tenor $3 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) we really enjoyed our ringing - especially our first spliced Surprise. Our last pienic lunch followed at Wollaston before ringing on the six there. We then re-entered Stourbridge to ring at St. Mary's and then at St. Thomas'. the last tower, where we rang some good Bristol. but our last ' band for drop(Continued next page) ping' just failed to get the perfect 'fall'; nevertheless, a fine end to a fine tour.

The thunderstorm that night at Clent decided for us the method of getting home the next day-by cycle to the nearest main line railway station!
Methods rung were: Plain Bob Minor to Maximus; Grandsıre and Stedman Doubles, Triples and Caters; Bristol, Cambridge, Supe1lative and Yorkshire Surprise Major (and the last three spliced) : Cambridge and London Surprise ; Double Court: St. Clement's; Oswald Delight : Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor; and seven spliced 'in hand' (Plain, Reverse, Double. Little and Gainsborough Little Bob, Crayford and Wellington Little Court Major).
On behalf of the whole party, I would like to express our sincere gratitude to all incumbents, local ringers and Y.H.A. wardens for ensuring the success of the tour; to the excellent organisers, the Misses Ruth M. Jackson and C. Anne Muirhead: the retiring Master, Brian A. Tomlinson: and our many guests and friends for their company and support.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

King's Bromley, an old-world village some seven miles north-west of Lichfield, was the venue for the Society's summer meeting on August 18 th. The ancient Parish Church contains a pleasing ring of six bells rung from the ground floor of the tower. Mr. Edgington and members of the local band had gone to considerable trouble in making arrangements for this meeting, including a bountiful tea, and it was, therefore, regrettable that such arrangements were rewarded with a poor attendance, only 28 , including 'locals,' sitting down to tea. This figure of 28 was the lowest on record for a meeting of the Society.
The service was conducted and the address given by the Vicar of King's Bromley, the Rev. R. J. B. Smith, with Mr. Gordon Rae kindly officiating at the organ.

Ringing was under the direction of Mr. George Hughes, Ringing Master, and one result of the small attendance was that there was plenty of opportunity on the bells for those present.
Thanks were duly expressed to the Vicar, organist, Mr. Edginton and the lady helpers. The next meeting of the Society will take place at Tutbury on October 13th. F. B.

THE IDEAL OUTING

The ringers have agreed upon their route and destination;
The date is fixed, and without procrastination The secretary writes a courteous little letter
To each Vicar-or telephones, which now and then is better;

Requesting, will he kindly grant permissionHaving heard his bells are in Al condition-
For some touches on them, not of long duration;
Concluding with a 'Thank you in anticipation.'
Replies (prepaid) come in, strange as the fact is.
With speed (but that's of course the Clergy's usual practice! ):
The programme then takes shape with expedjtion,
Milcage and times being worked out with precision.

Five towers-or six at most-will be the wise selection,
For haste at each does not lend to perfection;
An ample lunch and tea will need time for digestion,
While some may fancy 'fish and chips p.m', a good suggestion.
The day arrives; warm, sunny weather is predicted;
The coach starts sharp on time and speed is not restricted:
' Fresh fields and pastures new' are soon exciting comment,
And every tower is reached (and left) exactly to the moment.

No hitch at all throughout the day, and very pretty striking;
While all have had a rope in methods to their liking.
No one is overtired and no one is complaining.
Not even if the bus comedian tries some entertaining!
And ere 'Goodnights' are said with everyone contented,
The organiser must be thanked, the driver's tip presented;
And by an early post 'twill be a point of obligation
To send the kind incumbents letters of appreciation.

WEDDINGS

AT ALDRINGTON

On August 18th Mr. Charles Douglas Linington and Miss Pamela Shearlock were married at St. Leonard's Church, Aldrington, Hove, Sussex.
The bridegroom learned to ring at Keymer before joining the Royal Navy, and his ringing tutor, Mr. Peter Romney, performed the duties of best man at the ceremony. The bride's sister, Jill, acted as bridesmaid. The pretty bride is learning to ring at Aldrington, and the joint captains, the Brown twins, were ushers in the church. Both bride and bridegroom are members of the church choir, and the arrival of a fully-trained ringer has been greatly appreciated by members of the local band, who presented the happy couple with a small wedding gift.
Before the marriage service the bridegroom, best man and the bridegroom's father (the latter two are both former secretaries of the Southern Division of the Sussex County Association) assisted in ringing the bells. As the newlywedded couple passed under the church porch, decorated with bell ropes, the bells rang out. Ringers from Wivelsfield, Shoreham, Keymer and Aldrington were there to demonstrate their good wishes by having a pull on this memorable occasion.

After a reception at the Rothbury Cafe a fine send-off was given at Brighton Railway Station, and the 'organiser' was still doing his best to discover the name of the London hotel, even after the train had moved from sight!

AT HORNCHURCH

The wedding was solemnised on August 18th of Mr. Andrew J. Salisbury and Miss Valerie Scott Maller at St. Andrew's Church, Hornchurch. The service was fully choral and was conducted by the Rev M. Sutton, M.A.
The bridegroom is a valucd member of the local band and well known in the S.W District of the Essex Association, and his bride is a prominent member of the young people's organisations at St. Andrew's.
Prior to the service a quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung, and the bride, a charming figure. entered the church as the bells ran into rounds.
The reception was held at the Railway Hotel and the honcymoon is being spent in the Scilly Isles.

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY CHINNERY
By the death of Mr. Harry Chinnery on July 27th the Essex Association has lost one of its oldest active members. Had he lived for another month Mr. Chinnery would have been 74 years of age.
Mr. Chinnery learned to ring on coming to live at Orsett, 54 years ago, and during the suc. cceding years taught many ringers there, including his own son and daughter. Until the bells became unringable he maintained a regular band at Orsett, and after that he chimed them ${ }^{\circ}$ for service every Sunday. Although no great peal ringer, Harry was, nevertheless, one of those who can be described as the backbone of the Exercise.
Until the time of his dcath he seldom missed an Association meeting, and was always present at the Essex Association's annual general meeting on Whit Monday at Chelmsford. He would often tell us how, when a younger man, he walked to Langdon Hills and Stanford to join in their practice nights, and until three years ago he rang regularly in quarter peals at the latter tower.
He was interred on August 1st within the shadow of Orsett Church, which he had served for many years as ringer, sidesman and verger. Messrs. Frank Gant and John Crampion represented the Association at the funeral, and a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung as a last tribute at Stanford-le-Hope the same day. May he rest in peace.

HERE LIES THE BELL FOUNDER

ALMOST all England was once an Industrial Area it sounds nonsense, but it isn't. In the days before the machine took the upper hand over the man, an industry was more likely to employ a handful than a multitude. Our cloth was woven, our furniture and our tools made, as much in villages as in towns, and the country factory could compete on equal terms with the town.

I suppose the Bonds of Burford were the last of our country bell founders, but they were the last of a great company. Every part of England has its remote villages and small towns which once rivalled Whitechapel and Cripplegate and Gloucester, just as in the West Country we have our Yetminster, Blackawton, Aldbourne, Chewstoke, Chulmleigh, Wellington and Cullompton.

Over the hill behind where I'm staying, the local children would see, on a day, the smoke belch up from the furnacechimney below Closworth Church, and say, 'Master Purdue's casting to-day'; and in due time they would gather in the gateway of the foundry yard to watch the glowing metal run down its trough into the moulds in the casting pit. There are not many children in Closworth parish now, and their lot will be either to find their work on the land or else in Yeovil; it wasn't always so. In this, as in many country places, industry has not encroached on the villages but abandoned them; they are the poorer for their abandonment, and not only in money.

Two and a half centuries have changed Closworth's appearance less than its life. The foundry is gone without trace, but along this lane the founder and his man must have ridden towards Sutton Bingham, beginning their long journey to recast 'Stafford ' (surely Purdue's masterpiece), 'Peter,' the Doom Bell and the bell which now bears the founder's name, in Mr. Dean's yard at Exeter. In the churchyard there are a few new tombs, including Thomas Purdue's own, but the church with its lovely golden-lichensplashed tower is unchanged outside. Within, not much remains from Closworth's great days, but the pulpit was there, gleaming new oak, when Churchwarden Purdue sat in his pew, and I celebrated the Eucharist last Sunday with a chalice and paten which were given to the church in his time.

And up in the tower the five bells hang in a frame which he may well have seen built. A tremendous frame it is, nearly six feet high from the floor, and though the gear is all comparatively new you can still see the big rollers on the floor, a relic of the days of dead-rope ringing. The ropes came down rather awkwardly then, the front four very close along the south wall and the tenor right up in the north-west corner. I suppose it must have been in an attempt to equalise the swinging periods of the bells for this type of ringing that Purdue cast the treble with that tremendous high crown. His 4th has been recast, but his initials are on it yet to show that he was a churchwarden at the time; and the 2nd was older when Thomas Purdue lived than his bells are now, for she must have celebrated her 300th birthday some time during his life. A beautiful bell, this, dedicated to St. Catherine with these words:-
' Hac Campanella Colitur Katerina Puella.' She was cast in Salisbury somewhere about 1380.

The 3rd is by the last of the Closworth founders, James Smith, who decorated it with a delightful collection of crowns, stars and cherubs, with a line from Psalm 150, ' Praise Him on the loud cymbals.'
The tenor is a splendid bell of 14 or 15 cwt .; not big by Somerset standards, but she must have been a constant challenge to Thomas Purdue, for she was cast by his grandfather William. She bears the alphabet in big curious capitals, and on the waist a string of letters which look as though they might be the initials of the donors. Her place, with one side of the tower all to herself, lit by the window on the north side, gives her a dominating position, but was it that which made my eyes stray so often towards her as I made my way about the others, and made me tap her soundbow so often with my fist as I copied her inscription, to hear her sonorous ' $F$ ' set the tower humming? Not altogether, I think. Was it entirely her fine shape and clean workmanship, memorable as those are? That certainly, but somehow there is more yet.

Above the strong, firm line of her shoulders, beyond the louvres, I saw the old Rectory garden, from which she and so many of her splendid sisters came; I saw the cottages where once proud craftsmen lived, and the churchyard below where lie Thomas Purdue and many another ' bell founder, honest and true '; I saw the days of Closworth's fame, vanished these two centuries almost, and yet ... I believe that if you go up Closworth tower, very quietly, and stood in the doorway and listened, you'll hear, now and then, that grand tenor hum softly to herself, as though she'd picked up some spiritual vibration from the air. And then you'll know that somewhere, in one of a couple of hundred towers, some proud ringer is telling a visitor, 'Ah, she's a Purdue bell.' J. G. M. S.
