Can you hear him?' William asked Annie. A proper slave-driver, that's what he is.'

It's a good job there's someone to make you toe the line." replied Annie, "otherwise you would get as slack as a yard of ditchwater.'

I thought we should get some sympathy from you,' grinned William. 'That I did.
And so, with final adieux. William, George and Henry made their way down the yard. George carrying a large carpet bag that he certainly had not brought with him. In respect to the latter, I should not be at all surprised if it contained what Annee described as 'one or two scraps that will help on a meal or two,' and, judging from the clink ' that issued from it when George the 'clink that issued from it when George nearly overturned the handcart in the semidarkness. perhaps two or three of the otherwise unexplainable vacant spaces of the case in the corner could also be accounted for.

Although 'The Ringing World' usually arrived on Fridays, it quite frequently on that received only a cursory glance from the various members of the family, any serious discussion of the contents thereof being as a rule held over until Sunday afternoon. However, as soon as Arthur (the postman) popped the mail through the letter box on the Friday morning. Annie. who was in the house on her own. went and picked up the paper and immediately perused it. Yes, there was the peal with an asterisk against Joe's name and a footnote saying it was his hundredth peal.
She walked across to the workshop where Joe was busy and held out "The Ringing World to him, opened at the appropriate page. 'It's in.' she said.
Joe put down the jack-plane he was using and read the report of the peal through with Annie looking over his shoulder.

I'll leave it here and then you can show it to Henry when he returns.' said Annie. 'He should be back any time now: there were only two window cords to fix and they were on the bottom sash.
Joe placed 'The Ringing World on the saw stool and took up his jack-plane again as Annie returned to the house. When she was out of sight he put down the plane and once more read through the report.

What peculiar pleasure we derive from secing in print our own performances, he thought to himself. Is this because we can visualise many other people reading about oul prowess at the same time? It was not difficult to imagine someone saying, "Look here, Joe Smith has rung his hundredth pealSurprise Minor too!' People who ring peals every week, he told himself, cannot obtain nearly so much pleasure out of seeing their names in print as those who ring, say, four or five peals a year.
At this point in his cogitations Henry arrived and put his tool kit down, removed a knot of sashcord and hung it up on a nail.

- I had to put on a new window fastener and re-cord the whole window,' he said. told the ald skinflint that the next time the window wants re-cording a new sash will be required or else I shall have nothing to nail to. lit's about time she put a bit of putty and paint on the outside.
Joe handed him .The Ringing World, and he sat down on the saw stool to read it. On the following sunday afternoon when th: dinner things had been cleared away and ing World' made its usual appearance and Annie quickly procured it once more.
She read again the report of 'Joe's peal' and then glanced through the remainder of the peals without, for her, a great deal of interest, her attention 'being constantly lured back to the one at Hexworth. She then scanned Belfry Gossip in order, chiefly, to make some show at looking elsewhere in the paper when suddenly her attention was at tracted by an jtem she saw there. "Congratulations to three members of Con. Dewitt's -Travellers,'", she read aloud, "." who on November 25 th rang three peals in one day. Two of these peals were of Surprise Minor and the third was of Yorkshire Surprise Major." Why those are the people who rang in the peal here, aren't they? I wonder if the peals are in this week's edition.' And as she turned the pages to find out John walked across and looked over her shoulder.

Ah, yes. here they are!' said Mrs. Smith.
Joe studied 'The Sunday Times' with great concentration and Phyllis wondered why her father had suddenly taken such an absorbing interest in the section which was headed Properties: London and Suburban.

What a coincidence,' explained John, 'the methods they rang are exactly the same as those we rang in your hundredth peal, dad.
('Yes,' thought Joe. 'That had shaken them a bit when I was prepared to ring the methods they had arranged to ring without even looking them up!')
'How strange, he commented to John's observations.
'I see an Arthur Smith rang the third, continued John. 'Pinched your middle name, dad ! Isn't it queer that there should be a Smith in both peals?

Queer, indeed!
Joe gave a sickly smile and ran his finger round the inside of his collar which suddenly seemed to have become rather tight.

Such an uncommon name, he said, with a feeble attempt at a joke. Most people in the Guild knew that Joseph A. Smith was the head ringer at Hexworth, but very few knew what the A stood for.

Push the damper in John, commanded Mrs. Smith. 'Your father's sweating. I realise that it requires too much effort for Phyllis looked hard at her father, but his attention was again apparently riveted on Suburban Properties. He knew that she was looking at him. could feel her eyes boring into him and must perforce glanced up at her.

Their eyes met: quickly he looked back at his paper.

Give me "The Ringing World," she said. quietly, "and let me enter the peal in the folio.
Ten minutes later it was done and Annie fondled the folio.

One hundred peals,' she said. 'Fancy that!'

Phyllis has entered several peals since then and will. no doubt, enter many more, but. gentle reader, and others not so gentle, if you should have at some time the privilege of looking through Joe Smith's peal folio. and you notice that the date of peal 101 is two days earlier than that of peal 100 -keep your big mouth shut!

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch, held $\alpha \mathrm{t}$ North Bradley on April 7th, attracted an excellent attendance of over 50 members. The beils of St. Nicholas' Church were rung from 3 p.m. until the Guild service at 4.30 p.m. This was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. A Shaw, who also gave the address. The lesson was read by the Master of the Salisbury Guild, Rev. R. N. Longridge, and the singing was led by the ringing members of the choir. Afterwards the company sat down to an excellent tea, provided and served by the local band and friends.

The Branch chairman, Mr. N. Knee, presided at the business meeting and welcomed the Master and the visitors. He congratulated the young band from Holt on the very good progress they were making. Sixteen new members were eleased, including 10 from Keevil, a tower which has not been affiliatted for some years. Mr. A. Weeks, of Devizes, was thanked for his help in this matter.
Both the Master and the general secretary (Mr. W. West) spoke of the Guild festival, to be held in Salisbury on May 12th, asking everyone to make an effort to attend. This year is the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Guild, and it is hoped to make it a memorable one. After the chairman had called for appropriate votes of thanks ringing was resumed until 8.30 p.m. Many more visitors arrived during the evening and it is estimated that about 65 people must have rung on the bells during the day. Methods rung ranged from rounds to Double Norwich. A.T.K.

Over the Easter week-end, Mr. Clive M. Smith, of Lichfield. is hoping to give a series of amateur carillon recitals on the four Sco tish carillons. Any broadminded ringers would be welcome at Perth, April 21 st, 3 p.m. Aberdeen (St. Nich.) Easter Day, 10.30-1i a.m. and 6-6.30 p.m.; on Easter Monday at Dumbarton, early afternoon, and Kilmarnock, evening.

DENIS AND JEAN LEAVE DARTFORD

O
WING to his employers moving their place of business, Mr. Denis Hall, captain of the Darford band since the untimely death of Mr. Harry Hoverd, five years ago, is leaving Dartford for Burgess Hill.
There was a ringers' farewell to Denis and his wife, Jean, on April 5th, as both have given very loyal service to the tower. In the presence of the whole company of ringers, they were presented with an eleotric potit point clock. Mr. Rayfield, before asking the Vicar (the Rev. Rutland B. Griffin) to make the presentation, mentioned Denis' and Jean's long connection with the church and tower, and paid a tribute to Denis' stewardship as captain.
In making the presentation the Vicar expressed on behalf of the band their best wishes for the recipients' future happiness in Sussex. The present, said the Vicar, was not so much a reward for services rendered as to remind them both of the many years spent in the company of their fellow ringers, who had thought quite rightly that this occasion should not pass unnoticed.'

Denis, in thanking the Vicar and band, expressed his regret at having to leave the tower at a time when his help could be very useful as about eight new recruits had joined in as many months. He wished his successor every success in the colossal job he would have to undertake in the next year or two.
The Vicar was thanked for coming along and making the presentation, and the evening's programme ended with Denis presiding over his band for the last time to appoint his successor. Mr. is. Ball was unanimously chosen to succeed him, no change being made with regard to the other officers. R.G.R.

JOINT MEETING AT BOLSOVER

Some good ringing on the fine eight at Bolsover, which are now rung from a new ringing chamber on the first floor, was a feature of the joint meeting of the Derbyshire Association and the Sheffield and District Socielty there on April 8th.
The ringing chamber is part of the reconstruction after the recent fire, and the Vicar later showed the visitors round the rebuilt interiar. All were most impressed by the care, taste and craftsmanship exhibited.
Cambridge and Double Norwich were rung during the afternoon, and the last touch before tea was some well struck Stedman, called by ' missionary' 'Jafus,' whose work of converting the Derbyshire heathen to a proper appreciation of Fabian's masterpiece has now met with some success.
Thirty-two ringers sat down to an excellent tea in the Church Hall. It was agreed to hold the next meeting as another joint one at Dore on May 12th (not 5th), and plans were laid for a Sheffield and District outing in the Peak District on July 7th. A collection in aid of the reconstruction work realised $£ 28$ s. Ringing was resumed after tea and included a course of Bristol.

An order to rehang Swithland (Leics) bells and fit new clappers has been given to

BELFRY

 Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Lough borough. This work should be started in July and take about a month to complete. The local band have worked admirably to raise money to clean out the tower and redecorate the ringing chamber with the object of making Swithland's one of the best rings of six in the county. The band have two big events ahead viz., a musical May fair with a 100 -piece brass band is planned for May 19th and a barbecue and dance on June 23 rd.The Sunday service band at Great Crosby, Liverpool, have rung a quanter peal-the first on the bells for over 12 years. We hope to see more about this tower in our columns.
The Ladies' Guild is celebrating its 50th anniversary in October. A dinner will be held on Saturday, October 27th, in honour of the occasion at The Vietoria, Buckingham Palace Road, London.
At Warfield, Berks, there are some promising beginners. With the exception of the conductor everybody was a first of something in a quarter of Minor rung there on April 3rd. Two of the band, Mrs. S. Sargeant and Miss R. Rich, had only been ringing just over a year.
As a compliment to the University crews a quarter peal of Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise was rung at St. Mary's Church, Putney, on April 7th. We cannot believe that this is the first time that there has been ringing at Putney in connection with the Boat Race. Perhaps some of our veaders the Boat Race Perhaps some of o might set the band's minds at rest!
On Sunday, April 10th. 1932, Mr. Frank Absolom first rang for Sunday service at Warborough. Oxfordshire, and on Sunday, April 10th. 1932, to mark his 30 years' ringing in one tower, he was presented by the Vicar with a cheque. After that Frank conducted the service ringing of 800 odd changes of Stedman Triples rung by the local band. Such faithful Sunday service and jts recognition makes pleasant reading. Our congratulations, Frank a peal of Wychwood Surprise the morning stood in peal of Oxford and Cambridge Minor $3, \mathrm{~L}$ Great Witcombe, Glos, to mark the Boat Race. A broken rope at the end of the fifth extent brought it to an untimely end, and as only Single Oxford, Double Oxford and Oxford Treble Bob had been rung up to that point it seemed a bad omen for Cambridge's chances of winning the race. This all goes to show that peal attempts aren't a good guide to the outcome of the Boat Race!The number of changes in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Ipswich on March 31st was 5,280 and not 5,040 as printed.

GOSSIP

Spliced Minor has now reached 83 methods to a peal! Congratulations to Mr. Joe E. G. Roast and the other members of the band who rang at Stisted, Essex, on April 6th.
Peals on the bells of St. Mary's, Gateshead, usually take 2 hours 40 minutes to 2 hours 50 minutes. In the peal rung on April 9th ringing sounded so nice at a slower pace that this was maintained throughout and the peal was completed in 3 hours 2 minutes.
The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association are planning a course of instruction for the week-end September 7th-9th. It will be held at Redland College, Bristol, and be in charge of Mr. Pat Bird. There will be room for both resident and non-resident ringers. For residents the charge will be about £2 10s.
Mr. W. H. Harrison, of Gomshall, Surrey, a nephew of George Freebrey, Ringing Master of Derby Cathedral, who took lover the young band at Albury, is meeting with success and two peals and about 12 quarter peals have since been rung on the bells. He learnt his ringing under the Late Bill Lawrence at Little Munden, Herts, and in 1937 rang the second to a peal of Treble Bob in seven methods. Other towers with which he has been associated are St. Maurice's. Winchester, until demolition, Walberton, Sussex, with Ernie Treagus, and Dorking with the late Ted Coward.

A JOURNEY TO 'MECCA'

Ringers from Kingston, Wimbledon and Putney were joined by friends from Peterborough and Hertfordshire when they arrived at the Loughborough Bell Foundry on April 7th and were given an extremely warm welcome by Mr. Paul Taylor. Between ringing, the visitors toured the foundry and were impressed by the large carillon being prepared for Washington Cathedral and demoralised in attempts to tap out Grandsire Triples on the new bells for Bodmin.
The centre of activities then moved to the Parish Church, undoubtedly a magnificent ring. Here a lady from a Surrey 10 -bell tower was to be seen enraptured in the church below. For her the sounds above were full of meaning as there is quite a possibility that such tones may soon be heard from her own tower. Later she ascended the tower and graciously lowered the tenor in all its majesty.
The next stop was at Botitesford, noted for its tall spire and the tombs of nine earls in the chancel. After long struggles with clock wires the melodious, heavy oolave was put to good use. At Croxton Kerrial we found a central tower containing a good going ald six. The ten bells of Melton Mowbray are hung in the central tower of a fine panish church which shows good examples of every period of architeoture. Suffice to say that the bells are every bit as good as the architecture. The last tower was Whissendine-included to allow the party to ring in Rutland. A much-needed supper was awaiting us at Oakham, and so completed a perfect day. Margaret Lewis is to be congratulated on yet another success to add to many others. To incumbents, ringers and Paul Taylor, our grateful thanks.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Ringers from many towers, including Bury Norman Tower, Elveden, Eriswell, Euston, Horringer and Rougham met Lakenheath ringers at Lakenheath Church on April 7th. Visitors from Luton and Maulden, Bedfordshire, joined them. Methods rung included Plain Bob, Grandsire, St. Clement's, Double Count, Double Oxford, Kent, Cambridge, Oxford Treble Bob, London and Stedman. An excellent tea was provided by Mrs. Beale and friends. The Rector, the Rev. T. B. Beale, welcomed the ringers, and was thanked by Mr. L. Wright.
Mr. L. Wright presided at the quarterly meeting. In view of the success of the dinner. held last winter, it was agreed that the N.W. District should again amalgamate with the Sudbury District and hold another in the autumn. The Bury District, N.W. Suffolk Committee was re-elected, viz. : Mrs. Ivings, Misses D. Reeve and J. Wright. Messrs. Alderton and L. Wright, and Miss E. G. Reeve was appointed secretary to the Joint Dinner Committee. Mr. L. Wright suggested that a Press secretary be appointed and Miss E. G. Reeve was elected.
Forthcoming fixtures: Evening practices, Felsham (6), May 12th; Elveden, June 9th; quarterly, Ingham (5), July 7th.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

No society of change ringers could wish for a better welcome than that given at Wednesbury Parish Church to the meeting of the Archdeaconry of Stafford Socjety held on March 24th. Ten bells ringing was enjoyed until Evensong.
The choral service over, the Vicar and churchwardens joined the Society for tea at the nearby school. This bounteous meal was kindly presented by the ladies of the parish. and to them, the Vicar, local ringers and all who contributed to this successful meeting our thanks are extended.
Duning the business it was agreed to make a presentation to Mr. Derek Tranter, in recognition of his services as secretary. In addition B was agreed to donate $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. to Shenstone Bell Restoration Fund, and to hold the annual dinner on November 10 th next, at Cannock.
During the evening methods up to Cambridge Surprise Royal continued. whilst a large number of ringers tried the rather difficult ring of eight at nearby St. Paul's Church. Wood Green.
Next meeting: Penn, near Wolverhampton, May 1?th.

EXPERIMENTING

Dear Sir,-Along with others I too have been experimenting-trying to find something different for the treble other than Plain o: Treble Bob Hunt, or part of a principle.
I forward the result. Note the treble always hunts back and hand. When in the lead and ai back it does the work of one bell at a single in Stedman Doubles, or two interlocked whole turns.
All the bells hunt backwards below the treble and always lead back hand.

Places are made before passing the treble, when going to lead and after passing treble when hunting up behind. Two bells make sixth places and two a Stedman whole turn in $8-7$, and to become respectable the lead ends as Plain Bob.

The method is symmetrical reversing from the treble whole pull behind, but it does not retain a Plain Bob coursing order, therefore is irregular.
Why should it be, since it has no Principle, will not Surprise anyone, might not be a Pleasure to ring, and fails to Delight.
I wonder if it has been thought of before, published or rung. Could you find room for :: in 'The Ringing World.' which, incidentally, I have taken almost consistently since the days of the old 'Bel! News.'
Anyway, do not merely put it away on the mantelshelf where it might even light the pipe of a tinger who only rings regular methods.-Yours faithfully,

Market Bosworth, Nuneaton.

COMMENT

We print Mr. Hollis' letter and a lead of his method because it shows that there is wide scope in ringing for experiment. The idea of a path for the treble which is neither wholly a plain hunt or wholly a Treble Bob one has, of course, been used in Minor, in the Alliance methods. While these have been rung occasionally, they have never proved very popular, possibly because you cannot produce an extent of the method without splicing it with a Little method.

The method submitted suffers to an even greater extent from this difficulty. If the tieble in each lead strikes more times in some places than in others, then, unless you give each bell in turn the chance of acting as treble, you limit the number of changes possible. It will be seen that the treble strikes first 6 times in each lead, second 4 times and only twice in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth positions. Then again 4 times in seventh's position and 6 times in eighth's. That means that, assuming that all else is simple, which it probably is not, you could only get a third of the full extent of the changes.
So the next step is for Mr. Hollis to devise a method, which will splice with this one, in which the treble is in each lead twice in first and eighth places. 4 times in second and seventh places and 6 times in the other four positions.
Seriously though, there are many unrung methods which have Bob Major leadends, which do not have the tenors striking 8-7 at backstroke as does this one. and which would prove more interesting to ring. This one has an interesting treble path at the expense of monotony in long stretches of plain hunting on the other bells.

The great advantage of Bob Major leadends, as Mr. Hollis probably knows-though ringers who are not conductors may not realise-is that at the calls the effect is the same on the corresponding bells, whatever the method. For example, in a seconds place method on any number of bells, a bob wrong affects the first three bells in the coursing order (after the first bells) : bob middle affects the last three and a bob home the middle three. Apart from any question of irregularity therefore, a method would have to have exceptional qualities to appeal to a band, especially to the composer or the conductor, if it had not the normal leadends.

We suggest that our readers do not, because of these observations, cease to experiment with methods and compositions. They will find endless pleasure and may one day solve one of the many problems which still exist to be solved.

THE SQUARE VIEW

AN article appeared on the front page of the 'R.W.' for February 23 rd this year entitled 'Are You a Square?', and the answer was a very unsympathetic affirmative.
Yes, I am. We are. If we are 90 per cent. it is the writer of that article and those of like mind who keep the percentage so high.
'Why can't he hear the bad blow?'-Is that a serious question? Unfortunately, I am afraid it is. A man who can hear his bell easily is simply not able to understand or believe that another can not. 'Listen to them, p-1-e-a-s-e' -I too have been guilty of that, forgetting that others may have even more difficulty than myself.

I used to be completely, and still am partially, tone deaf. Much time and money was spent on this in my youth, so I can say from experience that such a defect of hearing cannot be completely cured. I can pick out the treble and tenor, I can hear when the striking is bad and I try to judge from timing and place if I am at fault, or who is. My best hope is rhythm.

Just as there are many tone deaf people, so there are many more with no sense of rhythm, and I am prepared to believe it is equally hard to correct. Until one has felt the rhythm of perfect striking one cannot realise what is meant by it. To feel it, it is necessary to be the only learner in a band of perfect strikers; and we all know many bands are struggling to train their recruits while they themselves have never had the opportunity to develop rhythm.

If all the ringers who contend with these two difficulties were to give up there would be many more silent towers. They are regular and faithful Sunday service ringers; they do their best, no one can do more. Many simply do not know what is meant by perfect striking nor how far short of it their own standard may be. Once I heard an 'experienced' ringer say of some ringing he had heard: 'It was so good you could hear the handstroke pause right through the changes!'

Some of us know how bad we are and want to improve, but how? Ring lots of peals, the experts say (but not with us!); badly-struck peals would be no help. The experts do help with the learners of their own towers, but many will not help those from elsewhere who have no chance in their own area. I have heard it said you should only practise in your home tower; never ring first attempts at a meeting-if I had stuck to that I would never have become a ringer.

Three or four times a year there may be an opportunity at some meeting to take a rope with the experts: one does not make the grade; the time is too short; the interval since last time too long; one is very unpopular. Perhaps the touch comes round in an atmosphere of hostility; if one has the misfortune, from nervousness, to make a mistake there is no second chance; the attempt is abandoned, usually with some sarcastic remark. They appear to think one spoilt their fun deliberately.

In 20 years-no, in half that time-one will no doubt have given up hope; I have almost done so now. I have a deep conviction that the right practice is all that is needed, but it is not to be had. You, Mr. Anon, all 10 per cent. of you, are to blame. Why do you ring as a service to the Church, to the glory of God, or just for your own pleasure?

A SQUARE.

GOLDEN WEDDING OF MR. &

MRS. P. G. TURLEY

On April 6th, 1912, Mr. and Mrs. P. G Turley were married at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Penshurst, Kent, and took up residence in the Sevenoaks area, Turley has worked as a gardener.
On coming to Sevenoaks, Mr. T
On coming to Sevenoaks, Mr, Turley joined the local band at St. Nicholas' Church, and has heen most regular in his attendance ever since. He has rung six peals, but in that modest total is a peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Ten-Part) by an all-local band, which Mr. Turley conducted on Octaber 8th, 1930.
The present generation of Sevenoaks ringers are very proud of their oldest member and it was hoped that an ah-local Sevenoaks band would be able to ring the goiden wedding peal at Penshurst. Unfortunately, illness intervened and at the last moment Mr. J. D. Faircloth, of Went Wickham, kindly made up the band, and a peal of Cambridge was rung, as recorded elsewhere, in which seven Sevenoaks ringers took part.
Before the peal siarted Mr. and Mrs. Turley's daughter, son-in-law and their two sons were waiting at the church to greet the ringers, and when the peal was in progress other members of the family brought the 'bride' and 'bridegroom' over to hear the ringing, and as the ringing at Penshurst is from downstairs they were also able to see the ringers at work. This was a great delight to the old couple and they were greatly thrilled to learn. later in the day at their family party, the peal had been completed Older readers will remember the late Mr J. A. Card. for many years secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, who originated from Speldhurst, Kent, and with Percy Turley and many other members of the Turley family was a member of a very active local band. Mr. Card encouraged Percy Turley to join the Cumberlands and he is the proud possessor of a membership certificate which proclaims that he joined the Society on April 12th, 1902, and has thus completed sixty years' membership, and is probably the oldest member of the Society.
Several of Mr. Turley's children learned to ring and his son, Len, is a member of the Sevenoaks band, so we hope to see father and son in the belfry together for many more years to come, with continued good health and happiness for the old folk at Brookside. London Road, Riverhead.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Northern District at Sandon and Rushden

The wind blew hard and the sky was an ominous grey for the Northern Distriot's quarterly meeting at Sandon and Rushden on April 7th. In spite of some members having to cycle, ringing began soon after 2.30 on Sandon's five hells. At 4.30 the Vicar, the Rev. M. Pomfrey, conducted the service and gave a stimulating and dearned address. Mrs. Sell played the organ
More than 20 sat down to an ample tea, prepared by Mr. and Mrs. L. Hatchett and their helpers, as guests of Mr. E. Bradfield, a kindness which was much appreciated.
From the business meeting it transpired that Cottered bells may be ready in August. there will not be a meeting in the District in August, Royston is not available for the November meeting, and the Kimpon Cup competition will clash with the quarterly meeting at Stevenage in October.
A. Mayes and P. Belcher, of Norton, C Dixey and D. Moclean, of Hitchin. and Mr and Mrs. J. Meredith were elected members Two Norton members were re-elected, M Collings and R. Werrett. The elections of Miss A. C. Garnett (Wimbledon), Miss K. M Higgins (Hambledon) and T. G. Hawkins (Edmonton) were confirmed

Topics to be raised at the A.G.M. at Hitchin on April 28 th included a proposal that subscriptions shoukd be raised, and that the Association's name should be changed to the H.C.A. of Church Bell Ringers.

Ringing continued at Rushden, where six bells used to hang. but the second mysteriously disappeared. We hope that our visit ha helped and encouraged the young local band

PERSONALITIES OF THE EXERCISE-56

MR. LEWIS W. WIFFEN

Fssex Association
In an age when the young ringer has better opportunities for progress then ever before, it is only right to remember those older ringers who have helped to lay good foundations Such a man is Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen, of Braintree. Essex. who, in the course of over 65 years' experience, has always demanded a very high standard of ringing. Indeed he might well be described as a 'martinet,' as this insistence on good striking, always given in a quiet manner. has resulted in many excellent paals.
Lewis was born at Colne Engaine, near Halstead, Essex, on August 26th. 1881, and was educated at the local C. of E. School When he was a lad. his father taught him to ring on the six bells in the local church In 1899. at the age of 18 , Lewis went to work in Ipswich. and had the good fortune to be introduced to the famous St. Mary-leTower Society, and to ring with such well known ringers as the brothers James and William Motts. Wilham L. Catchpole and Robert H. Brundle. During this period. Ipswich and all Suffolk was part of the Norwioh Diocesan Association, and for the next decade this Association was generally the leading peal scorer in the country, and never lower than second place in the annuat Peal Analysis
Lewis soon came under the eye of the then foremost Suffolk conductor, James Motts. who called his first peal at Southwold, SuffolkKent Trehle Bob Major-on April 9th, 1901, and several other peals that year. From then until 1912, Lewis rang just over 200 peals generally for the Norwich Association, and was associated with the St. Mary-le-Tower band in some of their most famous performances.

On August 16th, 1902, close on his 21st birthday, he took part in 10.080 Double

OUR MUSCULAR YOUNG MEN!

Comments A. J. Branston in 'Liverpool Daily Post; April 12th, in an article on bells.

The post-war years have seen an astonishing and almost inexplicable revival of interest not only in church bells as such but also in bellringing. especially in England.

- Two reasons given for this remarkable interest are: (1) that the clergy and priests are themselves taking a greater interest in their bells; (2) that young men have "discovered" in bellringing a new and fascinating hobby which simmitaneously gives them wonderful physical exerciseand muscles to boast abont!'

Norwich at Henley, Suffolk. and on December 31st. 1904, he rang in the first peal of Double Norwich Maximus. A day visit to NorthEast Essex by William Pye, and his brothers Ernest and George, enabled Lewis to score his first peal of London at Coggeshall on April 14th. 190.3, and just to make sure of it. they rang another one on the same day at Great Tey, with the same hand except for the treble ringer, possibly the first occasion on which this had been done.

THE ONLY SURVIVOR

Undoubldly the peal of which Lewis probably feels most pleased. and of which he is the last survivor, is the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, rung at St. Mary-le-Tower on August 15th. 1908, in which he rang the 11th. and two years later he took part in the second peal in this method, this time rung with a local company. On November 7th. 1908. he scored his first peal as conduc-tor-Kent T.B. Major at Henley-and before leaving Ipswich. he had the satisfaction of ringing the St. Mary-le-Tower tenor to a peal of London on the back eight on November 26th, 1910.
In 1912. Lewis moved to Wyke Regis, Weymouth, Dorset, and was employed at the Whitehead Torpedo Works. He had quite a lot to do with helping the locals to become a change ringing band. and was pleased with having rung in the only peal of Stedman Triples at Dorchester by a local company. During a short stay in Guildford. Lew is rang his first handbell peals, under the conductorship of the late Alfred H. Pulling.
Returning to Essex in 1922, where that gifted conductor, William Keeble, was very active, the lived at Braintree, and joined the band at the Parish Church, to which he has been attached ever since for some 40 years. For a long period he was the Ringing Master, and helped to build up the local band to score peals of Double Norwich and Cambridge, and other methods. Lewis full total of peals is 672, conducted 91 , and of this number 83 have been rung on handbells. of which he has called two. No fewer than 87 of his tower-bell peals were London Major. The only reason that Lewis did not call more peals was that he only stanted serious conducting when he was over 40 . During his stay in lpswich, the band to which he was attached was already led by a famous conductor, and unlike today, it was difficult to gain experience under these circumstances. However, from about 1923-1939. Lewis called peals in most methods up to four Spliced Surprise. including the first peals of Belgrave and Yorkshire for the Essex Association. and several peals of London. On four occasions he returned to St . Mary-leTower to take part in the first peals of Pudsey Rochester. Superlative and Yorkshire Maximus, all rung without previous practice.

LIFE VICE-PRESIDENT

Besides his peal ringing activthies, Lewis has served the Essex Association in several offices. He has been Ringing Master of the Northern District, peals seoretary for several years, and was a representative on the Central Council from 1936-38. For this work, in addition to his wonderful skill as a ringer and conductor. he was rightly honoured by being elected a life vice-president since 1949. He has completed 60 years as a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, having been elected a member in January, 1902.
Wherever he has resided. Lewis has always been a very conscientious and loyal Sunday service ringer. Unfortunately, these days, at the age of nearly 81. he is more or less crippled with arthritis. and cannot do much ringing beyond a course of something on a small hell. However, he still attends on Sundays, and is usually there on practice nights to lend a helping hand. Lewis is a most modest man, rarely talking about his achievements, but he can rest assured that his ringing carcer has included some of the greatest performances of all qime. and that his meticulous attention to good striking. no matter what the occasion, has set a fine example to any generation of singers.

EAST AFRICA CALLING

-KILIFI CHURCH BELL FUND

Dear Sir ,-Readers may be interested to hear of the progress of this project, since, if we believe that the good ringing of bells is the best way to call people to church, we should be anxious to pass on our heritage to the great new Anglican Province of East Africa, where St. Thomas'. Kilifi. has the only tower strong enough to take a ring.
Letters were sent out in March to 75 Guilds and Associations. Five have responded so far:

> Norwich Diocesan
> Salisbury Diocesan
> Univers:ty of Wales
> Derbyshire Association
> (incl Chesterfield Branch, 1 gn.)
> Gloucester & Bristol Diocesan

Total
$\pm 21 \quad 16$
In addition, the following sums have been received as a result of lectures with coloured slides: Beaminster area. £10 9s. 7d. : Rockland Dzanery Men's Fellowship (Norwich), £15: other private donations bring the total to $\pm 539$... which, with the $£ 120$ already collected in Kenya in 1961, makes £1739s.
The target is $£ 750$, which should enable us to send out a secondhand ring of five, with a six:h bell, which has just been presented free from the Thetford area.
The B.I. shipping line has agreed to carry the bells at 50 per cent reduction, and I have confirmed that no duty is payable. I have a promise of $£ 60$ and expect to collect a further $£ 50$ by lectures. If therefore the remaining 70 Guilds and Associations average $£ 7$ each. the success of this missionary effort will be assured.-Yours faithfully,

RAYNE DELIGHT MINOR

Dear Sir.-I beg to point out that the method given as Rayne Delight Minor in The Ringing World ' of April 13th. page 243, actually Middlesex Delight Minor.
It was first rung to a paal at Cranford on November 12th. 1960 , and the peal report and the method will be found in . The Ringing World of November 25th, 1960, on page 781 - Yours faithfully,

JOHN R. MAYNE.

MIDDLESEX DELIGHT

Dear Sir.-It has just bzen brought to my notice. and on checking found correct that the notation I sent you for Rayne Delight, and published on page 243. has been rung to a peal before and called Middlesex.
1 apologise for asking you to print the correction.-Yours faithfully,

SOLIHULL RINGING MASTER'S 70th BIRTHDAY

On April 13th the Ringing Master, Mr. C. Dale, celebrated his 70th birthday. Mr. Dale began his ringing career at Coleshill in the days of the notable Frederick Clayton and that very able Siedman ringer and conductor, Bernard Witchell. Moving to Solihull between the two great wars he became associated with the Solihull band, taking over the office of Ringing Master in October, 1957.
One of his first great tasks was the organising of a new company of beginners. The task was formidable. and almosi unendurably difficult but the patience and perseverance shown have been rewarded by the providing of ringing at three services each Sunday. Mr. Dale is a regular attender at the 8 a.m Communion, rings at the three main services of the day, and autends Evensong; his example may well be said to provide an answer to those who generalise rashly about fingers and their work
For his kindness. discretion and quiet wisdom the is greatly loved in the Solhull tower and widely esteemed in St. Martin's Guild. To help to celebrate the occasion the secretary of the Guild. Mr. G. E. Fearn, came t.) take part in 1.259 Grandsire Caters. rung at Evensong by E. C. Shepherd (conduotor) 1 , P. Warren 2. V. W. Rigg 3, Jill Palmer 4, M. Hart 5, R. Cann 6. T. Warner 7. C. Bragg 8, G. E. Fearn 9. G. Palmer 10. First quarter peal on 10 bells by Nos. 4 and 10, two of Mr. Dale's pupils.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GULLD  Dorchester Branch

The spring quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Liton Cheney on April 7th. when good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening. The recently renovated five bells at Long Bredy were also available.
The Guild service was conducted by the Rector of Litton Cheney, the Rev. A. Lynch, and tea was served to 41 members.
The Branch chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth (Rector of Cattistock), presided at the business meeting and extended a welcome to all present. particularly to Canon C. C. Cox, the Guild president. Two new members elected were: Miss M. Lush (St. Peter's, Dorchester) and Mr. A. Hurst (Litton Cheney).

Branch practices were arranged as follows (subject to confirmation): April 28 th, Piddlehinton: May 5th. Charminster; May 19th, Upwey: June 2nd. St. Peter's, Dorchester; June 16th, Leigh; June 30th, Wyke Regis; July 14th, Bere Regis.
Arrangements for the Guild festival were announced and it was decided that members attending should make their own arrangements.

It was announced that the bells of Abbotsbury would not be ready quite as soon as had heen hoped as repairs had to be carried out to the tower and some recasting done. It was now hoped the bells would be ready by Whitsun.

Next meeting: Cattistock, July 7th.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fourteen towers were represented at the April meeting of the Barnsley District Society held at South Kirkhy. Mr. Noel F. Moxon presided at the business meeting, when three new members were elected. The outing will be to Southport on June 2nd: the shield contest at Wentworth on June 9th. with Mr. Harold Chant as judge. and a meeting at Wortley, near Sheffield. on June 12 h .
Proposing the vote of thanks. Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton gave a special invitation to members to attend the meeting of the Yorkshire Association at Wakefield on May 5th.

Ringing Problems during the Phoney War

The first connected account of bells, and ringing during the 'Phoney War' in 1939 until the Dunkirk tragedy has been vividly written in 'The Phoney War on the Home Front,' by E. S Turner (Michael Joseph, Lid., 21 s. net).
With the publishers' permission, The Ringing World' is able to present to its readers sidelights on a very difficult period for ringers generally. Ringers form a very small section of the people whose phoney war problems are revealed, together with some of the idiosyncrasies and blunders of the bureaucrats. 'The Phoney War' is definitely one for the library list.

THE Order which, on the outbreak of war, had banned sirens, trumpets and other secular noises, specially exempted church bells. A second anti-noise Order, issued in the following month, did not specitically exclude church bells, with the result that in some areas police imposed a ban on ringing. The editor of "The Ringing World, pressed the Home Office for a ruling and was told that church bells were still exempt from the ban. Nevertheless, in the public interest, bellringers exercised their discretion.

At the outset 'The Ringing World' had warned: 'Most, if not all, singers will feel that the times are too serious to indulge in mere pleasure ringing, but ringing for Sunday services is on an entirely different plane.'
In danger areas bellringers desisted even from Sunday ringing for fear of obliterating the sound of air raid warnings or causing embarrassment to listening posts. Elsewhere bells were rung on most of the usual occasions. On practice nights a look-out stood outside the tower, ready to halt the peal at a moment's notice.

In the spring of 1940 an old controversy had broken out: should women be encouraged to ring bells? They had been admitted to the mystery in the First World War and had shown no disposition to retire after 1918. According to one critic, the presence of women meant that men were abliged 'to be very polite, make pretty speeches and keep a perpetual smile going'; also, they had to pretend not to notice bad striking by women. The defence case was that the presence of women had raised the standard of conduct in helfries.

WHY? WHY? WHY?
This controversy was killed by the announcement in mid-June of a total ban on bellringing, save as a warning of invasion by narachutists. Expectedly there was anger from those who demanded to know why Hitler should be allowed to silence the voice of God. The bells had rung for a thousand years; surely some other form of warning could have been devised? Why not allow, at least, the ringing of the Angelus, which no one could mistake for an invasion warning? Why put churches in the hands of the military, thus making them legitimate targets? More practically, why select the only public building without a telephone?

In the higher councils of the nation, also. there was criticism. Lord Halifax thought the decision was a mistake, and when told that the two archbishops. after some demur, had conceded the necessity for it. he said, "The archbishops always support the wrong side.'

MILITARY COMPETENCE

The decision had hardly been announced before knowledgeable people began to point out the danger and difficulties that would ensue from sending unskilled soldiers or defence workers to ring church bells. The conductor of St: Albans Cathedral Society of Change Ringers pointed out in "The Church of England Newspaper':

To handle a bell set for ringing requires great skill only attained by conslant practice and should a novice be sent to ring such a bell, the bell might and probably would "wring" him. If on the other hand, the bell is "down" the novice might tug the rope for a considerable time and get no sound. He would pull harder; still no result except a whipping rope flung in all directions, which with a bell weighing from 10 to 25 cwt. would be very dangerous.'
Another critic thought an inexperienced ringer might be carried up and have his skull cracked on the belfry roof. Miss Dorothy Sayers summed up in The Daily Telegraph': 'To order a completely raw hand to run along and ring a church bell is rather like ordering him to run along and milk a savage and reluctant cow; the net result would be the same except that the bell can kick much harder than the cow.

The consensus of bellringers seemed to be that the military would be well advised to arnange with local vicars for a rota of skilled ringers to be maintained. It does not appear, however, that the War Office ever seriously modified its view that anybody can ring a church bell.
Here and there ringers were caught napping by the order, At Mitcham Parish Church the bells were 'up' and it would have been dangerous to leave them in that position ; moreover, if they had fallen, they could have caused a local panic. A request was made to the Government for permission to ring one more peal, and this was granted on condition that adequate local warning was given. At Exeter, authority was given for the bells of the old clock at the Cathedral to go on chiming until the weights had run down.

RECTOR SENTENCED-AN APPEAL
In various places, Oxford and Cambridge among them, bells were rung in error after the ban was announced. Mostly, these offenders went unpunished, but in Lincolnshire the 70 -year-old Rector of Bolingbroke-with Hareby became the subject of a miscarriage of justice. He was sentenced to four weeks' imprisonment, at Spilsbury, for sounding his church bells three days before the ban was due to come into effect. The editor of "The Ringing World' had some difficulty in convincing Home Office officials that a mistake had been made: they said he had been charged under the second Control of Noise Order, which they had already admitted allowed bells to be rung.

At Lindsey Quarter Sessions the Rector won his appeal with costs. It was very clear, said the court. thait he should never have been prosecuted, still less convicted. The magistrates had not taken the trouble to examine the regulations, but had listened to hearsay evidence of them.
The Rector, who had served twelve days of his sentence, was congratulated by the Bishop of Grimsby as he left the court. In that nervous summer he was far from being the only innocent man-or the only reotor-to be put under lock and key.

The ban on ringing caused dismay among devoted campanologists. It was', said "The Ringing World,' 'a stunning blow from which, even when the war is over, it will take a long time to recover, unless the ringers here and now resolve on maintaining their organisations, both local and territorial.' Church bells were rung as a thanksgiving after El Alamein in 1942 ; and the ban was lifted in 1943. Learners could still be taught the elements of their craft with lashed bells; and all, with advantage, could take up indoor handbell ringing, a good substitute and a fascinating hobby.

BOW BELLS

In 'The Church Times,' and elsewhere, amusement was caused by the B.B.C.'s decision to abandon its Bow Bells interval signal. - There is no sort of likeness between the music of such exemplary change ringing and the alarming din of the tocsin.' it considered. But when the Ministry of Information put out a short film depicting an attemnted invasion by parachutists, bellringers noted that the belfry alarm was given by a weld-drilled team- 'we hear the local ring of eight going to rounds and all changes." On the various occasions that bells were sounded during invasion scares, they were never rung in this immaculate fashion. As far as can be discovered. no one was ever stunned trying to ring a bell.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Ashford District

About 50 visitors were present at the meeting of the Ashford District at Folkestone on April 7 th. The service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon J. F. Hough, and Miss A. Barber (aged 15). of the Folkestone band, was at the organ. An excellent tea was enjoyed in the nearby Woodward Hall, and was kindly given by the Folkestone ringers and friends.
In the absence of Mr . J. Willis, Association and District chairman, Mr. J. Batchelor, District representative, took the chair, and presided with his usual good humour. The secretary was asked to write to Mr. Willis in thospital and convey the meeting's best wishes for a speedy recovery. Five new members were elected to the Association.
Mr. Batchelor voiced the thanks of the gathering to Canon Hough, for taking the service; to the young lady organist; to the Folkestone ringers and their friends, for their hospitality, and to Mr. F. J. Whittaker, secre tary of the Folkestone ringers, for his excellent arrangements.
Ringing on the fine eight (tenor 25 cwt.) continued until 9 o'clock.

Lewisham District

A new venture was tried at Crayford on March 31st. When the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association had a joint mecting with the Bexley Organists' and Choirmasters' Association.
Ringing preceded the service, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. P. Churton Collins; the music was provided by one of the organists, and Mr. E. A. Barnett read the lesson.
About 60 persons enjoyed a good tea, which was prepared and served by Mrs. Barnett and members and friends of the Crayford band. Following this Mr. Barnett gave a short talk on change ringing, and Mr. J. V. Barrett, the organist and choirmaster from St. Mary's. Bexley, gave an interesting talk on organ playing.

Members then returned to the church for 3 practical demonstration on the organ by Mr. Barrett and one of his colleagues. Evening ringing at Bexley concluded the programme fot the day.

Mr. Philip A. Corhy was elected secretary Monday in succession to Dr. John Hatcher.

THE THEORY

OF

CALLS

None of the methods for five and six bells which have been described produced the extent of the possible rows in their plain courses The missing rows are produced by using devices known as Bobs and Singles. These 'calls, are not part of the method, but are introduced at the discretion of the conductor, usually in a sequence which has been worked out on piper beforehand.

A Bob is defined as a device which alters the 'coursing order' of three bells. Referring to the diagram of the plain course of Bob Minor for example (VI), neglecting the treble the bells arrive at lead in the order 2-4-6-5-3 all the way through. This coursing order' is cyclical. in the different leads it stants at a different point on the circle. Thus for the first lead it is as above, for the second it is $3-2-4-6-5$ and so on. The next diagram shows how the bob is made.

(XXVII)

Normally 2nds place is made at the lead end of Bob Minor; at a bob this place becomes 4ths. In the diagram a bob has been made at the first lead end and the next lead head low has become 123564 instead of 135264 . If the succeeding lead is written out the coursing order will be found to have becone $2-5-4-6-3$ iristead of 3-2-4-6-5. Three bells, 2, 3 and 5, have been affected. It will also be found that the succeeding lead contains rows which do not occur in the plain course and, further, contains no rows which do appear in the plain course. The student should check this asserkion fo- himself (or harself). It is well to point out here that whilst the first part of the foregoing statement is true for any method, the second part is not. However, it can now be seen that bobs provide the means whereby 'touches' of Bob Minor containing more than the 60 rows of the plain course may be obtained. How about the extent. 720? The in and out of course tells us that half these rows are in, and half out of course. In the plain course in and out of course rows occur in alternate pairs; does the bob affect this? A moment's study of (XXVII) and comparison with the plain course (XXIII) shows that the pattern is unchanged, Hence it would seem that one merely requires an appropriate arrangement of bobs to obtain all the 720 rows. This is not in fact so.
Close examination of the lead of Bob Minor shown in diagram (XXIII) reveals that all the rows with the treble in any one position are of the same nature; all the rows with the treble at kead, for instance, are in course. As bobs do not affect the pattern of the in and out of course we can, using bohs only, produce no more than half the possible rows- 360 . The Single is the device used to ubtain the oiher half.

CHANGE RINGING

The diagram shows a single made at the first lead end of the plain course. Secands, 3rds and 4 ths places are made so that only one pair of bells is reversed instead of two. Thus the resulting lead head is out of course and until another single is made (although the pattern of in and out of course rows is unalered) where a pair of rows were 'in course' in the plain course they will be 'out of course, and vice versa. All the rows with the treble at Jead, for example, will be out of course.
All that has been said above about Bob Minor applies to the other plain Minor methods, which have been described. The bob is made by aktering the 2nds or 6ths blace. as the case may be. at the lead end to 4ths. In methods where 6ths place is made at the lead end 4 ths, 5 ths and 6 ths places are made at a s:ngle.
In methods with a 'treble bob' hunting treble bell the extent is obtainable without singles. In each lead of these methods there are four rows with the treble in each position two in course rows and two out of course The bob is made in exactly the same way as in plain Minor methods.
Turning now to odd bell methods, what happens at a bob in Grandsire?

Diagram (XXIX) shows the bob, Sths place, just before the treble comes to lead has been ahtered to 3 rds. c.f. (XVII). As in Bob Minor the bob has affected three bells, 2, 3 and 4 in the diagram where the bob is made at the end of the first lead. The coursing order in Grandsire Doubles is more difficult to follow than Bob Minor owing to the bell in the hunt,' but comparison with the second lead of the plain course will show that in the lead after the bob the order of three bells has bien transposed.
It is obvious that the extent of Grandsire Doubles cannot be produced using bobs alone The bob does not alter the sequence of in and out of course rows found in the plain course. Since all the rows in the plain course arc in course singles must oe used to fit in the out of course rows. The Grandsire single is a more cumbersome affair than it is in Bob Minor; it is made, not at the same change as a bob, but ait the one following.
> $\begin{array}{llll}45 & 3 & 1 & 2 \\ 5 & 41 & 3 & 2 \\ 5 & 1 & 4 & 2\end{array}$
> 15423 ; single

(XXX)

First of all a 3rds place is made as at a bob, followed at the next change by 2 nds and 3rds. The bell which makes the 3 rds place has now to make the ordinary 3rds, which is part of the method, i.e. a total of four blows in the same place. Where the 2 nds and 3 rds places are made only ane pair is reversed so that the 'course is turned' as it is sometimes said. Since rounds is always in course a touch must thave either an even number of singles or else none at all. An extent (or any touch longer than 60 ahanges) must contain at least two singles.

The bob in Bob Doubles is made in a similar manner to thait in Bob Minor; the 2 nds place becomes a 4 ths place.

Due to the fact that the course of the changes is turned at every lead end (see diagram XXV), although the positions of three bells at the lead head are transposed, the nett effect is to alter two bells only in the coursing order. Not only can it be said that a single is made at every plain lead end but that the bob is another sort of single. This is the reason why, unlike Grandsire, singles are not required to produce a six-score. Bob Doubles, and indeed, Plain Bob on any odd number of bells, from the theoretical point of view is a decidedly irregular method.

50 YEARS AGO

R.W:' April 26th, 1912.

The London Society of Compositors can muster a band between them, and on Saturday, at St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, they made their first attempt for a peal (Holt's Original), but unfortunately it was lost owing to a change course, after ringing 4,000 changes in 2 hours 25 minutes. The bells were half-muffled as a mark of esteem to those who lost their lives in the 'Titanic' disaster, and the ringers were: J. A. Dart 1, T. Loosemore 2, J. Bartlett 3, C. N. Leman 4, G. F. Margetson 5, W. H. Dickinson 6. J. D. Matthews (conductor) 7, J. Millman 8.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD  West Central District

A special welcome was extended by the chairman, Mr. L. E. Last, to Mr. G. F. Brown, of Billingborough. Lincs, who travelled 100 miles to attend the West Central District's meeting at Wetherden on April 7th. At the service, conducted by the Rector, the organ was played by Mr. David Brand, of Houghley, who was welcomed back into ringing circles.
Ringing continued until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., under Mr. Robert E. Lester's eagle eye. He kept the ringing most interesting by calling for methods away from the standard seven. These included College Bob, Primrose Surprise, Ipswich Surprise and College Exercise T.B.
Next meetings: Evening practice, Barking, May 19th; full meeting, Eye, June 9h (subject to the dedication of the bells having taken place).

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Mansfield District

Teversal was visiled on March 24th for the first time by the Southwell Diocesin Guild. Thirty-four ringers representing 15 lowers attended. most of them only for a short time, as the beils do not go very well.
A short Evensong was conducted in church by the Vicar. Rev. -. MoCutcheon, who in a short address welcomed everyone and hoped that a return visit would be made in the not too distant future. An excellent tea was served by local ladies.

Ringing in a wide varioly of methods included Reverse Stedman. At 8.30 the bells were lowered in peal.

Next meeting: Cuckney, May 26 th , cup contest.

A Saint, Kings and Bells put Croyland on the Map

By T. A. BEVISIn Holland, hark, stands Croyland d'ye mark There's wine such as 'tis; there's hay like swys; There's beds hard as stones; and when you will You may be gone.(Fenland Notes and Queries.)

TRAVELLERS of long ago who approached Croyland by way of the few routes which served to guide them with reasonable safety through mist-enveloped marshes would be greeted with the following words engraved on rocks set up beside recognised paths four miles from the town: 'This rock 1 say is Guthlac's utmost bound.'

The inscription was an introduction or greeting to those who converged on Croyland -or Cirowland, as it is sometimes knowna small town synonymous with kings, disciplined religious matters and bells.

Croyland is a Fenland town of great renown. It has received much acclaim in connection with its imperishable ties with religious order, and it is with a sense of revulsion that one learns that a book, published 100 years ago, described the deplorable conditions of miselable slaves of opium and laudanum in Croyland in the 1850 's.

This, however, is no isolated case as far as Fenland history is concerned. Generadly speaking, poppy heads were gathered, crushed and processed and the resultant opium taken by Fen folk as a protection against the Fen ague, then a common malady in these lowlying parts.

Nevertheless it does seem strange this drug should be connected through biterary means with a town made famous by a buiJding erected to the triumph of goodness, order, discipline and education, over the forces of evil, violence and destruction.

The Abbey Church of St. Mary, B.V., St. Bartholomew and St. Guthlac casts a venerable, fatherly eye over the township. A lofty tower and quaint, stumpy spire rise in an atmosphere endowed upon the precincts by centuries of culture and prayer.
Here came kings to seek Guthlac's advice, and here, too, in a less complimentary mood came Oliver Cromwell with his artillery to devastate the church, which had been unthoughtfully fortified by Royalists.

Long. long ago. A.D. 699, a little boat emerged from the swirling mists and nudged its prow on to a small area of dry land encircled by a dismal morass from which Croyland derives its name-Cru-land, soft, muddy land.

The boat bore a young Mercian, Guthlac, who is said to have dreamed that he must travel in these isolated parts until he found a sow suckling her young. His journey ended ai Croyland.
Before entering Holy Orders, Guthlac was a wealthy. headstrong youth of unpredictable temperament. well skilled in the art of swordplay, who eventually came to regard his wayward life in a disdainful light and who desired 2 life of penance and austerity. He studied assiduously at Repton Abbey and later, at the age of 26. founded a cell and chapel on the site of the present Abbey Church at Croyland.
Space will not permit a detailed description of the Abbey; suffice to add that the fane possesses numerous points of interest. Although the Benedictine church reflects but a shadow of its former glory, it is, nevertheless, a resplendent gem, fallen from a crown of mediæval lustre.

BELL HISTORY

It is very doubtful if any church in the land-with the exception of Croylandposisesses records of its bells harking back to pre-Conquest time. It is reasonable to assume that Croyland Abbey was indeed the first church in England to possess a chime of chromatic bells.
Turketyl, the sixth Abbat (946-975), cast a great bell for the Abbey, and named it Guthlac.' This particular bell was said to possess remedial qualities for headaches.

THE ABBEY CHLRCH AT CROYLAND.

Elgerie (995-984), nephew of the donor of Gnthlac. placed six bells with his uncle's esonant cure. the two largest named Bartholomew' and 'Beccelm. the middle pair 'Turketyl' and Tatwyn.' and the trebles Tega' and 'Bega.
At that time the Abbey was fortunate in having the services of a conscientious and reliable chronicler, Ingulphus, who duly recorded that when these bells were rung an excellent harmony was produced thereby: nor was there such a ring of bells in all England.
This unique ring hung in the central tower until 1091, in which year it was destroyed by fire. That disastrous occurrence aroused much sympathy among neighbours and the Abbat received many gifts, among these being sympathetic tokens from Fergus, a coppersmith, of Boston, in the form of two metal skillets, which were hung by the monks in a temporary structure and which gave out a certain amount of resonance

Next we learn that a detached bell tower was erected between 1253-1291 by Abbat Ralph Merske; this was known as the Outer Bell Tower, and it contained 'large bells' Which were later cast or recast by Abbat John De Asheby, who died in 1392.

According to records, in 1405 four "sweetly sounding bells' had a home in the tower behind the choir, but these were recast betheen 1427-1469.' that they might be brought into a state of more perfect harmony.
In 1465. Abbat John Lytlyngton ordered five 'fine and choice bells'; these being cast in London at a cost of $£ 160$, carriage by water and land included, the expense defrayed by the said Abbat. These bells were dedicated to Guthlac, Bartholomew, Mary and Trinity, Up to the year 1783. two of these 15 th century bells were held in the bell frame, together with antother of earlier casting. They were inscribed
(1) May the bell of John be sound for am the Rose of the world, named
(3) These bells are sacred to the Blessed Trinity.
The present six bells are contained in an oak frame. centred in a commodious belfry. They revolve on plain bearings, and 'sun.' or should I state are rung. with the persuasive ais of castor oil!
Handling well despite the frightening rope draught-over 90 feet, the longest in England
-the bells sound very musical; helpful acoustics of a vast shell of a tower enhance this effect, beyond doubt. The ropes glide between guides-three wires per rope, beginning a few feet from the sallies and ending a few feet beneath the belfry floor, about 80 feet above the ringers' heads.

It is believed that the existing bells were the second complete ring to be broadcast in England. Buckfast Abbey, Devon, a more recent building, possessing a fine ring of 12 bells, had the foremost honour of introducing its bells to the public through the medium of the "listening box.' It was largely due to the fact that Buckfast somehow collared honours from our indignant Lincolnshire fane -the first church with a chime of bells evidently worth listening to-that Croyland were also given the freedom of the air in the year 1925.

Even then this broadcast was only partially successful, for while the ringers freely perspired at considerable length in their efforts to put Buckfast in their place, the Post Office line over which the bells were relayed to the network system was mysteriously severed only few miles from the town. If the Devonshire monastery had been a little nearer, who could have blamed the Croyland men for casting suspicious glances in that direction!

Briefly, detailed inscriptions of Croyland bells are penned below (churchwardens' names, etc., omitted):

Treble: 5cwt. 0 qr. 2 Ib. (recast 1895). Thomas Norris made me, 1674.
2nd: 6 cwt .2 qr .14 lb . (The Parson's Bell) (recast 1903). To the Glory of God this bell was recast in memory of W. J. Cutton Esa.. of York.

3rd: 6 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb . Edward Arnold, Leicester, made me. 1788
4th: 5 cwt. 0 qr. 2 lb. (1903). Glory to God in the Highest.

5th: 9 cwt. 1 qr. 7 lb . (The Curfew). F. Arnold. Leicester, made me, 1797.

Tenor: 9 cwt .2 qr. 8 lb . (originally dated 1464). May the bell of Jahn resound through many years. Jesu Merci Ladi Help.
It will be observed that the 4th is considerably lighter than the second and third.
In its inscription, the tenor does not refer to John the Evangelist, but reveres the memory of its donor, Abbat John Lytlington (142\%1469). It will be noticed that number four is given at the same weight as the treble.

Mr. R. Strickland, captain of the ringers, is admirably supported in his efforts by Mr. W. A. Smedley; they and the Rector, Rev. C. T. Lee, very kindly opened the tower to the writer and generously furnished him with information appertaining to the Abbey and the bells.
The Rector emphasised that Croyland ringers are punctual and regular in their attendance on Sundays and added, It is most gratifying to see them stay to the services they ring for.' Mr. Lee said that on various church festivals the bells have been heard to ring for no less than five sessions.

This is indeed encouraging to young practitioners and speaks highly of Croyland ringers that undiminished loyalty and devotion continues to abide within this pile of a remarkable and lovely Abbey Churoh, where, for over a thousand years, bells have played a noble part in the advancement of the Christian faith.

Croyland the courteous of their meat and drink...

WILTSHIRE AND SOMERSET FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Mr. R. J. Purnell, of Bradford-on-Avon, sends us the following information concerning four bell towers in Wiltshire and Somerset.

WILTSHIRE

Berwick Bassett.-Tenor about 4 cwt.. quite unringable and one bell at least cracked.
Great Somerford.-Tenor about 10 cwt. These bells are very rough to ring and in a very poor state, but when I rang here in 1961 there was a local band.
Luckington.-Could not get to the bells here, but there are only three ropes hanging in the tower, and they seem tied to the clappers.
Langley Burrell.-These are rung from an upstairs ringing room and are all complete with good ropes. Probably quite ringable.
Yatiton Keynell.-Tenor about 7 cwt. I rang here in 1960 and the bells went perfectly, although the ropes do need adjusting (one ainger found it more comfortable kneeling on a hassock).

Westwood-Tenor about 5 cwt . I have rung here quite often. but unfortunately bells were declared dangerous and unsafe last month. All recast by Llewellin and James, of Bristol, in 1886.

SOMERSET

Claverton.-Tenor 6 cwt. The bells are quite ringable, but go a bit rough. They hang in almost a straight line across the back of the church: hung in 1882 by Warners, who cast the treble at the same time.

Farleigh Hungerford.-Tenor 3 to 4 cwt . I believe that the bells were done up in 1952. They have an excellent tone, but are not rung very often. We last rang them for Easter in 1961.

Combe Hay-Tenor about 6 cwt. Last year these bells looked as if they might be ringable. There are no ropes, however, and the back of the churah. from where they are rung, was filled with rubbish.

Comment of Southampton University Society on the 'thres-bell peal': 'May the minimality of Minimus remain superlative At the annual meeting the secord of this performance was torn from the peal book, screwed up and thrown into the gathering. More expressive than a couple of columns of letters:
rhe Sunday service band at All Souls; Church, Hadifax, have now rung A. J. Pitman's 'all the work' compositions in $4,5,6,7,8$ and 9 methods.
There were four first pealers in a peal of 10 Doubles methods at Bedworth, Warwicks, on May 31st. We hope to hear more about this company.
What is claimed to be the first peal on the anti-clockwise ring at Great Rissington, Glos, was rung on April 13th. These bells were cast by J. Rudhall in 1791.
The Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association have a new youngest conductor-David S. Bishop, who is 14 years 8 months. He called the first handbell peal of Major for the Association on April 10th.
It was Mr. Russell Stephenson and not Mr. James Thorley whom the ringers at Campsall, Yorks (page 225), desired to congratulate on his ninth wedding anniversary. Our correspondent offers his apologies to the ringer of the third, in which we as publishers join.
The $$ 50$ prize for an original composition fo- handbells has been awarded to Dick $L$. Kite, of St. Anselmo, California, for his entry 'Portland Weather,' a little suite for bells. Among the numerous entries, writes Mrs. Among the numerous entries, writes Mrs. Englishman whose nom-de-plume was 'The Cheshire Cat.'
On Sunday, April 15th, fire broke out in St. Peter's Church, Petersfield, causing several hundred pounds worth of damage. Although the tower got too hot far comfort (the secretary was in it part of the time) no real damage was done and the local ringers rang for Evensong, which was held in the unaffected part of the church. Practices on Mondays, except for Bank Holidays, will continue as usual.

The conductor of the quarter at Walkington, East delight at the horks, writes expressing his obtained throughout the performance. As a result, two more members have now qualified for membership of the Yorkshire Association, making seven out of the 15 learners who regularly attend on Sundays and Fridays. Ten of these 15 are under 17 years of age. Much more will be heard of this tower if the current rate of progress is maintained.
Four things a man must have, according to a Spanish proverb: 'Good air, good bread, good water and good bells.'
The peal of Redcliffe Surprise Royal (on page 81) rung at Leyland, Lancs, on January 3rd is withdrawn. It has been replaced by another in the same method rung at Christ Church, Macclesfield on April 14 th .

The first quarter on the newly-restored ring of St. Andrew's, Holborn Circus (tenor 18 cwt.), was rung on March 6th. These bells, a product of the Whitechapel Foundry, are rung regularly between 12.45 and 1.15 p.m. every Thursday before the Communion service.
Fourteen-year-old Paul Smith, of Bromley, rang his first quarter of Caters at St. Clement Danes' on April 15th. So far this year he has scored his first peals of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples. And there are eight more months to go!
The Clerical Guild assemble for their week on April 30th at Brunswick Hotel, Great Yarmouth. The party will consist of the Revs. Preb. J. H. B. Andrews, N. F. D. Coleridge (Tatworth); Canon C. Carew Cox (Whitchurch Canonicorum), K. C. Davis (Tadley). K. W. H. Felstead (Southampton), G. C. Galley, Wed., Thurs. (King's Lynn), J. B. T. Homfray (Cheltenham), R. N. Longridge (Bourton), C. J. B. Marshall (Crewkerne), M. C. C. Melville (London), I. J. Richards (Llanarth), Canon F. A. Sanders (Overton), R. D. St. J. Smith (Astley Bridge), A. G. G. Thurlow (Great Yarmouth). H. F. Warren (Exford), E. B. Wood (Leatherhead). Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Wood and Miss Homfray will accompany the party.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

Annual General Meeting

The S.U.G.C.R. held its annual general meeting on Wednesday, March 21st, a dozen students and three past members were present. The Master, Hugh N. Evans, first gave his report. Regular Sunday ringing at North Stoneham had alternated with ringing at other local churches. The Guild's summer tour in Devon, organised by friends at Reading, had been a success. He then mentioned the Guild's own day and week-end tours, the several fruitless peal attempts and seven successful quarter peals. There had been other performances.

GUILD'S DINNER

The 1961 Guild dinner had followed a day's ringing in and around Southampton, culminating in a service at St. Nicholas, North Stoneham. at which the priest-in-charge, the Rev. J. Pibworth, gave the address. Last year's Master, Mr. A. J. Tumber, was in the chair, a W. H. Felstead replied to the toast "The Church, in an ententaining speech which belied his 'I do not consider myself a good after dinner speaker' introduction, mentioning the part played by universities in providing leadors.
Proposing the heallh of 'The Visitors,' the chairman revealed something of the lighter side of the Guild's history. He welcomed the local ringers, hoping that their enjoyment of the evening would, in part, repay their help to the Guild. He gave apologies from Mr. George Pullinger and Mr. A. R. Pargeter (vicepresidents), both sincere helpers and friends of the Guild. and wished Mr. Pargeter every happiness in his new post in Devon.

Mr. Paul Cattermole, Master of the University of London Society, replied, thanking the Guild for the toast and a good ringing programme and dinner.

The Master of Reading University Socieiy, Mr. J. Manly, proposed the health of the Guild, commending its enthusiastic corporate spirit and its insistence on the value of handbell ringing. Hugh Evans responded. All speakers had been profuse in their thanks to everybody else.

After the formal proceedings, Mr. R. A. Reed (vice-president), Mrs. A. Reed and Miss Diane Reed entertained the company with their excellent rendering of 'The Road to Mandalay' and an aria from 'The Bantered Bride.' Dancing and handbell ringing followed. The evening ended riotously when Mr. Tom Chapman (trumpet) and Mr. R. Chris Kippin (piano) displayed their instrumental skill.
Mr. Evans ended his report by thanking Mr. Tumber for his work towards the dinner.
Mr. Hugh N. Evans was re-elected Master ; Miss Christine Hadfield vice-Master; Mr'. Edw. D. Elderkin secretary; Mr. M. Morris commitiee.

THREE-BELL PERFORMANCES

Mr. Harrison asked if the Guild should accept three-bell performances as peals. It was pointed out that there was no Central Council ruling, and so theoretically 'The Ringing World, should have published it as a peal. Relevant letters in the 'R.W.' were then discussed. Although some members wished to propose a motion of censure and dissociation it was thought neither politic nor moral to start mudslinging.
Mr. Forder's motion 'This Guild shall not recognise three-bell performances' was easily passed : only two votes opposed. The record of such a performance was torn from the peal book, screwed up and thrown into the gathering. which then adjourned for refreshgnents. May the minimality of Minimus remain superlative!
Votes of thanks were later proposed to Hugh Evans and Alan Harrison for devoted service and to the ladies of Chamberlain Hall for the refreshments. The next dinner was fixed for December list. E. D. E.

OLD SWINFORD RINGERS IN THE VALE OF EVESHAM

On April 7ih the Old Swinford bellringers enjoyed their first annual outing. We got a way to a fairly prompt start at $8.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for the first tower St. Lawrence's, Alveclurch, Worcs. The rough eight here were very difficult to handle; nevertheless a few reasonable touches were managed.
We moved on to St. Peter's, Wootton Wawen, where the light ring of six had been completely renovated in 1950. These were a joy to ring, and a touch of "London' actually came round. Unfortunately our strict programme enforced us to leave that delightful ringing chamber in order to make Stralford-upan-Avon in time for lunch!
This strengthened us for the next ring at St. Eadburgh's, Broadway, reached after a short but pleasant ride through lovely countryside. Despite the fact that the church is now unused, the bells were in very good order. slightly marred by the ropes falling in two straight lines of three-right in between the choir stalls. The ropes were crudely guided by a wire network which made them tricky. Our founth tower was St. Peter's, Hinton-on-the-Green, where we were welcomed by a distinguished lady ringer. After a quick rise. the bells soon rang out to a 'very dodgy' touch of Stedman.
Immediately after the wholesome tea at Eckington we were surprised at being granted permission to ring the heavy six there. This opportunity arose through the initiative of th3 secretary and the kindness of the local Vicar and tower-keeper. With some regret and yet with our time-table in mind, we had to leave in order to reach our last tower. SS. Peter and Paul, Upton-on-Severn. We ali squeezed into the immaculate ringing chamber. This tower cartainly deserves its popularity as the bells are very good.
Ringing during the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major. Sincere thanks are due to incumbents and tower-keepers for their kind co-operation. and to our young secretary kind co-operation. and to our young secretary for his very bard work.
G. A. B.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

An attendance of 40 gathered at the monthly meeting of the North and East District at All Saints', Harrow Weald, on April 14th, held in conjunction with the Watford District of the Hertford County Association.

Ringing on the pleasart eight commenced at 3 p.m. and methods ranged from Grandsire to Surprise, according to requirements
The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Roy Deasy, an honorary member of the Association, whilst Mrs. Beedie accompanied at the organ. Following an excellent tea, ably prepared and served by Mrs. Hart and lady members of the local band, the Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the members from the Watford District or 'our friends from over the border" as he humorously referred to them. Miss Jennifer Bunyan, on behalf of the visitors, replied.

Mir. John R. Mayne, Master, expressed thanks to the Vicar, to the organist and to the ladies.

The company then returned to the belfry and ringing continued in a variety of methods until 8.30 p.m. E.H.K.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern Branch

About 30 ringers from 16 different lowers, including one from Redhill, attended the spring meeting of the Eastern District at Hedon on April 7th. Ringing started at $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and continued until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. Dann). An excellent tea followed.

In the absence through illness of the vicepresident (Mr. A. E. Sellers) the Vicar presided at the business meeting. Apologies were also received from the District secretary (Mr. H. S. Morley) owing to the iHness of his wife, Mr. D. Miles and Mr. Ian Goldthorpe.

Six new members were proposed. viz.: Miss M. and Mr. D. Whitehead (Selby Abbey), Mr. M. Wilson (Kirk Ella), Miss E. Haynes. Messrs. G. Drew and N. Castle (Walkington). The provision by the Association of service sheets was left to the General Committee. Letters are to be sent to Messrs. A. E. Sellers and L. Rodmell, wishing them both better health, and a vote of condolence was passed to the family of the late Mr. C. Thorley. of Thorne.
Next meeting: Annual, June 23rd, Selby Abbey, if possible

'THEIR TOWERS ARE DESOLATE'- Zechariah

By the Rev. J. D. Meacham, Vicar of Sittingbourne, in a sermon to the Kent County Association of Change Ringers.

ISUPPOSE ever since the end of the war there has been a shortage of people ready to help with the work of their churches. Some parishes have difficulty in getting choirboys and choirmen, others Sunday School teachers and parish workers; but the shortage of ringers is as bad as any of these. Of so many churches can be said, in the words of the prophet Zechariah: 'Their towers are desolate. The boards are still on the walls of the ringing chambers, telling of the glories of the past, yet of how many churches in this locality can it be said that their bells are rung fully for all services?

The causes of this dearth go very deep. Ours is a lethargic age, when it is difficult to engender enthusiasm for anything. There are now many diversions, and these are apt to result in those which make demands on mind and body being excluded. Ringing makes claims on both, so it can be seen why towers are desolate.

How can this be got over? There is no easy solution for this or for any other part of the community where resources are depleted. But we who work for the Church have something to fall back on. Because it is the Church's bells that we are ringing. we can never quite treat our craft as a hobby that one takes up or lays down at will, or doesn't turn up for when it doesn't suit one to. However practical our church work may be, it has an element of the mysterious or the spiritual about it.

Our ringing is part of that significance. It has a bigger significance than merely that it should delight me or my friends. We can jog along for a time doing practical things for the Church because they interest us and amuse us to do so, but as soon as our interest flags or we are discouraged in some way, perhaps because someone does not say 'Thank you,' the question arises: 'What's it all about, anyhow?' Then we find we need some other incentive or inspiration that will give a firmer foothold to support our human weakness.

Our service this morning. and particularly the ringers' hymn and our prayers, should do something to supply that foothold. It reminded us that we did our work for God's honour and glory.

Every art and science should be done for God's honour and glory, but ringing is openly done for that end. It isn't done to entertain the neighbourhood-though one hopes it does, and indeed it ought. It is done to proclaim God, to remind people of God. And if everybody (in John Betjeman's words) was not ' summoned by bells,' how many otherwise forgetful Christians would have their complacency ruffled by this brave reminder that the Church was about to embark on its worship?

Ringers make more noise on God's behalf and make it more publicly than any other body of people in God's Church. Church bellringers of this country are a reminder of God forced upon the public. People cannot help hearing them, and to many it might possibly be the only audible reminder.

Ringers are not on view to the congregation like the choir or the sidesmen. Their work is done in secret, and the consequence often is that the ringers don't get so much as a 'thank you.' This is, of course, ungrateful and discourteous, and one hopes it is not widespread.

But the obscurity in which ringing is done has a message for the whole Church. It is reasonable that we should want to be recognised and appreciated in the job we do for the Church, whatever it may be. But in the long run it doesn't matter much: what really matters is our message.

I expect ringers get a great pleasure in ringing, both in its technical and its social aspects. But we don't have to be sanctimonious only to recall a fact that can make make so much difference-that it is God's work we do and for His honour and glory that we do it.

LATE NEWS

Death Of Mr. Ernest Morris

With sincere regret we announce the death last Saturday, at the Leicester Royal Infirmary, of Mr. Ernest Morris. of 38. Strensall Road. Eyres Monsall, Leicester. He was 72 years of age.

He had not been really well since Christmas, but carried on until Palm Sunday, when he did not attend evening service at St. Margaret's, Leicester. The next day (just before he was due to go to Loughborough with 'the Monday peal band') he was rushed to hospital with severe internal pain.
On Good Friday he had an operation for a prolapse of the prostrate gland. The operation was a success and subsequent progress satisfactory until last Friday when he complained of a new pain across his chest. The end came suddenly, just after midnight on Saturday morning. The cause of death was coronary thrombosis. So passes from our midst the humblest and yet greatest ringer of all time.

The funeral service, followed by cremation. was at St. Margaret's on Tuesday.

B. G. $\mathbf{W}$.

A message to 'The Ringing World' from Ernest. written in hospital, appears under Belfry Gossip. -Ed .

For over 170 years the Elliott family has given failhful service in the belfry of Kelvedon, Essex. It was in 1790 that the first Elliott entered this belfry.

A special meeting was held on April 14th to mark the 70th birthday of Mr. Joseph Elliott and to congratulate him on completing 54 years as a bellringer and 25 years as tower captain of St. Mary's, Kelvedon.
A specially cast 'scale model bell' suitably inscribed was presented to Mr. Elliott by the Vicar, the Rev. P. C. Elers, M.A., on behalf of the Kelvedon ringing members.
Prior to the presentation a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung on the church bells to honour the occasion.

There are two generations ready to follow Mr. Joseph Elliott and maintain this wonderful record of continuity.

BRISTOL UNIVERSTTY WEDDING

The wedding took place on Easter Monday of two members of the University of Bristol Society-Mr. John C. Kaldwin. a former master from Whitstable. Kent, and Miss Beryl W. Abbott. The service took place at the bride's home church. St. John's. Cleckheaton. Yorkshire.
The bride was given away by her father, $M_{1}$. H. Abbolt. and attended by her two sisters, Kathleen and Gillian. Miss Elizabeth Jackson and Mr. Royston Blackler. the chiof bridesmaid and best man respectively, are also members of the University Sooiety.
The bells of St. John's are not regularly rung and the bride and bridegroom, with the help of Miss Elizabeth Jackson. spent Easter Saturday cleaning the belfry and oiling the bells. Ringing friends from all parts of the country rang before and after the service. Unfortunately a badly frayed rope broke. much to the amusement of the non-ringing guests.
Speaking at the reception afterwards the hest man. Mr. Blackler. explained that this wedding was yet another success for the Bristol Society cupids. although unfortunately he could not claim the success for his own term of office. Mr. Baldwin, the bridegroom's father, thanked the Abbott family on behalf of the guests for the true Yorkshire hospitahity they had all enjoyed during the week end.
A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells as a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin and a fleet of cars aecompanied them to Leeds station where. with tive Bristol efficiency. they boarded the Scotland train just as the whistle blew.

KENT COUNTY

1 NEW chapter was opened in the history of the Kent County Association at the 82nd annual meeting held at Sittingbourne on Easter Monday. Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher, who for the past eight years had held the office of honorary secretary, had signified that he was not seeking re-election. There were two nominations for the office. A ballot resulted in the election of Mr. P. A. Corby. $\mathrm{H}=$ polled 78 against 51 by Mr. C. T. Hillis, honorary secretary of the Ashford District.

The day's proceedings started with the service in St. Michael's Church. where the Vicar (the Rev. J. D. Meacham) officiated. assisted by the Rev. P. V. M. Allen, Rector of Tunstall. The lesson was read by Dr. Hatcher.

There was a company of 168 at the luncheon. held in the Drill Hall. Mr. G. H. Spice, a vice-president and former secretary of the Association, presided and guests included Councidlor K. R. C. Ravensdale. chairman of the Sittingbourne and Milton U.D.C., and the Rector and Mrs. Meachan.

Mr. Spice apologised for the absence of Mr. John Willis, the Association's chairman, whom he said had undergone an operation in Dovar Hospital. He was improving but was not strong enough to come that day. He welcomed the guests.
Remarking that it was the first time the Association had visited Sittingbourne, the chairman of the U.D.C. extended to the company a very cordial welcome. The ringing of bells, the said, was part of the English way of life and he for one would be very sorry if it was to stop.
The Rev. J. D. Meacham also gave a welcome. 'You are here,' he said, 'because of the vicissitudes of Rochester ; because you could not get a meal there on Easter Monday We are glad you thought of us as a good second choice. What a good thing it was that Rochester was able to provide a meal in Dickens' day. else there would have been no Pickwick Papers. Sittingbourne, however, could look back to Chaucer.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' also replied.
Mr. Spice was in the chair for the business meeting when apologies were received from Messrs. J. Willis, Tom Cullingworth, E. J. Ladd. Peter Richards (New South Wales) and P. Wilkinson.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The members stood while the following deaths were reported by the secretary. Practising members: Mrs. H. Stringer (Goodnestone), R A. Jenkins (Dartford), C. C. Bishop (Upchurch). G. Wood (Queenborough. oldest member of the Rochester District), F. A. Fairbeard (Canterbury), A. Kedwell (Folkestone); honorary: Mrs. F. Pack (Faversham): nonresident members : A. F Martin Stewart (Wimborne), A. B. Peck (Reigate). Preb E. V. Cox (Axminster). J. T Kentish (Hatfield) P. E. Clark (Ealing), L. H. Baybutt (Bexley Heathformerly Kashmir). H. Belcher (Osterley) and W. H. Hoad (Salehurst).

The committee's report stated that subscriptions were received from 1.094 practising members-a slight increase on last year. The considerable increase last year in the number of honorary members was not maintained, but the figure of 67 was comparable with recent years: 21 non-resident life members were enrolled Brookland and Hothfield were welcomed into union, but regrettably Brenchley and Cowden had lapsed.
Mrs. E. A. Barnett returned to the committee as a Lewisham District representative. in place of Miss Isobel Inman. Mr. R. L. Sills had resigned the secretaryship of the Maidstone District after several years of dis-

ADVAN:CE OF INFLATION

In a personal message, Dr. Hatcher wrote: For many vears now we as an Association have become progressively poorer as, with the advance of inflation, the value of our subscription income has declined. That we have maintained the nominal level of our assets has been due entirely to controlled spending. Certainly with a large but mainly passive membership, it is practicable to keep going 01 our present income, and in the post-war years there has been much encouraging activity in all our Districts.

But how large a force are we in the land? Can anyone who believes in the art of singing, dedicated to the service of God feel entirely happy about the future? Think of the hundreds of new churches being built without towers of bells. Think of the danger that in our older churches there will be increasing reluctance to keep their bells in full repair.

- For a beginning, members of the Association should be prepared to subscribe. in real value, as much as did their grandfathers. Our Association activities should expand and make increasing impact on the life of the Church. As an Association, we should be in a position to make sizable contributions to funds for beli restoration. If you like, we should

The report was then adopted on the proThe chairman thanked Dr. Hatcher for his services. 'He has been a very worthy secretary to the Association. He has not pleased everyone. Who does? I am going to say here and now that Dr. Hatcher has held office in a very worthy manner.
The heport was then adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Dobbie, seconded by Mr. F. S. Macey.

The treasurer ( Mr . W. B. May) presented the accounts. The income and expenditure account showed a balance of $£ 142$ against $£ 171$ brought forward. which was accounted for by the purchase of badges and certificates. From the Benevolent Fund ( $£ 230$ in hand) only one grant of $f 10$ had been made and only one grant of $£ 10$ from the Belfry Repair Fund, which had a balance of $£ 270$. The balance sheet showed that the actual assets of $\pm 1.108$ against the amount of holding of £1.437. The auditor. Mr. A. S. Richards. said the balance sheet showed that they were about $£ 30$ better off than last year with the current value of their holdings.

The accounts were then accepied.

INCREASE IN PEALS

The report of the peal secretary, Mr. Ian H Oram, stated that 161 peals were rung for the Association during 1961. which was the highest total since 1951. Included in the peals were two at Leeds. rung to commemorate the 200 th anniversary of the extent of Bob Major rung at that church in 1761. Twenty-two members rang their first peal; there were 34 conductors, the peal secretary heading the list with 31.
Several 'firsts' for the Association were performed, viz. Barham Delight Minor, Rochester Surprise Major. Spliced Surprise Minor in 12 and 13 methods and Spliced Surprise Minor in 27 and 30 methods. the latter being the most methods ever rung for the Association.

Mr. Oram said he wanted compositions of all peals on seven bells upwards. except well known ones like Middleton's Cambridge.
In thanking Mr. Oram for his work, the chairman congratulated him on conducting the peal of 30 Spliced Surprise Minor.

Two now members were elected-C. W. Brown and Heather Dadds. both of Margate. With the exception of the secretary, there were no changes in the officers or committee elected.

Mr. P. A. Corby, speaking on the printed reports. said the number printed had been reduced from 500 to 420 . They had had a bill of $£ 109$ for printing those reports and he proposed to challenge that amount.

ASSOCIATION'S FINANCES

Mr. Corby said the General Committee had before them in Navember a proposition for raising the subscription and the imposition of peal booking fees. It was felt that before recommending such an increase the finances of the Association should be looked into and a sub-committee was appointed to get out statistic. from the Association's accounts over 10 years. The sub-committee would submit their report to general District meetings in order to make alterations, if necessary, at the 1963 general meeting.
Views of members were invited as to the annual meeting being held on a Saturday instead of Easter Monday. Mr. Hillis thought Saturday was worth trying, and contended that it would be cheaper from the point of view of feeding. There was an overwhelming show of hands in the meeting being held on Easter Monday
The meeting concluded with votes of thanks The chairman proposed one to the District secretaries. for their 'labour of lave, Mr. J. A Russell proposed one to the chairman, and the 'omnibus' vote came from Mr. B. W. May, which included the Vicar, choir and organist. with a special 'thank you' to Mr. Terry Barton. the Rochester Distriot secretary, upon whose shoulders fell responsibility for local arrangements.

50 YEARS AGO  A ' PEELERS• PEAL

R.W: May 3rd. 1912.

The policemen of London have rung a peal The 'porce have peal we are tempted to remark. The Force have made many captures in their time. but never before have they captured a 5,040 of Grandsire Triples. There were two separate 'charges' in this case. Cornelius and George.

Stedman Triples on the back eight at Manchester Town Hall is a pretty big order. but it was successfully accomplished on Saturday. The tenor is $$ 2 \mathrm{cwt}$.. and this is the heaviest ring of bells rung to a peal of Triples by eight men only.

'PEACE AND GOOD NEIGHBOURHOOD'

(Popular Rudhall Inscription)

On April 12th, a Western Region train bore down on Evesham Station, narrowly missing a porter carsying six cycles across the track. One mile later, a puncture occurred. Thus started a three-day outing by a band of Worcestershire ringers.
At Childswickham, we found the bells halfmuffled for Lent, and the Rector joined us in Cambridge Minor. Grandsire Minor was rung at Buckland, after which the Rector, riding a sports cycle, led us by a narrow bridle path to his other church at Stanton. Surrounded by twigs and oil-stoves we raised this anti-clockwise six and broke the tenor rope.
A quarter of Dumbleton was rung at Dumbleton. the tenor ringer's hands disappearing through the ceiling at regular interva!'s. We visited Alderton, before tackling the long ropes on Winchcombe's fine six. The night was spent at Duntisbourne Youth Hastel.
Friday, 13th, saw us ringing Double Oxford at Chedworth. Refreshed by Easter eggs and liquorice, we arrived at Great Rissington. The first peal was rung on the magnificent toned it rough-going, Rudhah six, Jubricated with dripping from the Rector's Sunday joint. The ropes fall in an anti-clockwise circle except for the fourth, which is in a circle of its own, between the fifth ringer and a large horizontal beam. The huge tea which awaited us in the Rectory remained partia!ly unconquered, however.

The hospitality shown by the Stow-on-theWold local band was much appreciated. the captain, Mr. Ewins, having arranged for choir practice to be stopped so that we could ring. At Stow Hostel, the tallest member of the party was seen to disappear carrying a large green bottle, rumoured to contain either a love potion or possibly liniment for cyclist's cramp.
At Adlestrop, our sociable treble ringer was forced to turn an unsociable back on the band, and ring into the corner. He has scars on the back of his hands to prove this! The fourth bell at Evenlode was found to go badly and after brief consultation its ringer ascended the tower armed with a hammer, reappearing some crashes later, bearing hammer and chunk of Cotswold sione. The bells now bsing ringable, a peal in seven methods was scored. the first on the bells, which were five in 1725!

Ringers were present from Stourbridge, Kingswinford and St. Peter's, Droitwich, with a foreigner from Putney, who soon overcame language difficulties.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Tonbridge District

The quarterly meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Hadlow on April 7th. Ringing began promptly with plenty of opportunity for learners and then members attended a service, conducted by Rev. Peter Bardsley. Mr. Peter Bond Kindly accompanied the hymns. Unfortunately only a limited number could take teat at a nearby cafe, but 35 memhers attended the business meeting which followed.
Mr. E. A. Barnelt took the chair for the meeting. and 19 new members were elected and five honorary members. Li.-Col. O. G. A. Phillips, of Sandhurst, was made welcome to this meeting. and he was able to tell members that Sandhurst bells (6) may be ready for ringing again by Whitsun. Joined by more visitors, ringing continued in the evening in a variety of methods.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THREE BELL RINGING
Dear Sir,-The recent correspondence on the three-belt performance at Botley leads me 10 recall an occasion, some time ago, when I was teaching a band of youngsters in a sixbsll tower not far from here. Our bells were out of action for several weeks, and during this period we were allowed to practise in a neighbouring village, where the church conlained a farrly substantial ring of three. One evening three of the local ringers, apparently not satisfied with our standard of striking, came up and gave us a demonstration. Their repertoire, I remember, consisted of forward Original, followed by a sequence of four or five changes in which one he!l (the tenor, I think) jumped from lead to 3rds place in a single blow. They rang these changes cartwheel fashion, and performed the most amazing serjes of contortions in order to check their bells in. Nevertheless, they maintained a perfect rhythm throughout which would have been a credit to any Minor band. Afterwards, one of the ringers proudly declared that they had 'once rung a quarter peal of that'-a highly miscellaneous performance!

The tower captain, incidentally, had the most unorthodox habit, when the ringing was not too strenuous, of sitting on a chair whilst ringing the treble. Also, in the intervals between the ringing the ringers would take out cigarettes or p:pe, according to taste, and puff away quite unconcernedily in the ringing chamber, being undeterred even by a visit from the Vicar!-Yours, etc.,

BILDESTON, SUFFOLK, BELLS

Dear Sir.-Mr. Fitzgerald, in his letter in your issue of April 20th (page 253), is mislaken in thinking that Bildeston, Suffolk, bells have been augmented to eight.

A recent inspection of the six bells hero disclosed that the treble. cast by John Danyell about 1450 , is badly cracked in the crown; the fifth bell is the only one used and that was unsafely clocked. The frame is a peculiar gallows type structure, 10 ft . 6 in . high, part in aak and part in soft wood, and badly wormeaten. All the bells swing $\mathrm{N}-\mathrm{S}$., the weaker way of the tower, and the latter is cracked apparently because of this arrangement. The sope circle is peculiar, being 145326 in a clockwise direction. The fittings are fragmentary and change ringing is now out of th: question. There is a peal board of 1841 . The tenor is $463 / 16 \mathrm{in}$. diameter and probably scales 17 cwt.-Yours. etc.,

RANALD W. M. CLOUSTON.
Radlett, Herts.

SAFFRON WALDEN BELLS

Dear Sir, It has been found necessary to strengthen the tower walls with a concrete ring all round before the main girders can be inserted to lake the new bell frame.

The opening day has therefore to be postponed until later in the year and the new date will be announced in 'The Ringing World' as soon as it is known.-Yours faithfully,
Saffron Walden, Essex. L. E. PITSTOW.

WITHDRAW QUICKLY

Dear Sir.-I was shocked and dismayed to read the Jetter from, Mr. James Taylor in 'The Ringing World.' For an apparently sensible man Mr. Taylor surprises me by writing such nonsense about a man who is a dedicated service of the Exercise.
To say that Mr. Martin knows nothing about good striking is ridiculous; he is as good a striker as anyone I know, and is renowned for this in north-west England.
Unfortunately Mr. Martin's words were not reported completely. The words he used were more like, the University Societies have for some time had a reputation for bad striking, although I do not travel about sufficiently to know whether or not this is true," and, "the danger is that as soon as jearners can handle a bell they may be pushed on to ring complicated methods before they can strike properly.
I think there is some truth in his first statement, and as regards the second this is a real problem which all University Society Ringing Masters have to face up to and do all in their power to prevent.

I imagine that the Wirral meeting that Mr. Taylor attended was unique. That any tower $0_{i}$ district could have too many youngsters 0 . be giving them too much encouragement is unbelievatle : and that no good striking results at. Wirral meetings is downright untrue.
Having been rather rude about a speech that was not reported completely, I consider that the best thing Mr. Taylor can do is to apologise to Mr . Martin and withdraw quickly. -Yours faithfully,

PETER S. BENNETT, Ringing Master, Liverpool U.S.C.R.

DEVON GUILD'S BELL RESTORATION FUND

Dear Sir.-I should like to correct a statement made by our Branch correspondent in a Mid-Devon Branch report in your issue of April 20th.
The proposal made by me at the Chudleigh meeting, concernirig the Guild's Betls Restoration Fund was that balances of over $£ 10$ held by this Branch be sent annually to the said fund with the hope that other Branches might follow our example. It would therefore be up to other Branches to consider, if they liked. whether they could help this worthy fund in a similar manner. Some Branches have considerable balances and it would be highly presumptuous to expect them to reduce them to $£ 10$ as implied by the incorrect statement. We hope, however, they may be able to set same other arbitrary ceiling of balance.
At the moment the Devon Bells Restoration Fund is financed almost entirely from the half collections at Branch and annual meeting services. but the incoming maneys do not keep pace with the requests for grants.
I believe it is up to ringers in their time to set a strong lead in this question of bell restorations and it is hoped that the above proposition is a small step in the right direc-tion.-Yours sincerely,
D. J. ROBERTS.

Hon. Sec., Mid-Devon Branch.

MORE EXPERIMENTING

Dear Sir,-Like some other correspandents, I have been experimenting with methods with a different treble path and I have arrived at the figures below.

Since I am no composer and the method has a plain course of five-thirds the length of Surprise and T.B. methods, I have not tried to obtain an extent, but I wonder if any of the composers of the Exercise could obtain a 720 (if the method is in fact original)? As will be seen, the treble double dodges in 1-2 and 5-6 and makes Court places in 3-4. It is easily extended to Royal, but unfortunately if extended to Major the treble loses its symmetrical path.-Yours sincerely, P. A. BRAND.

Sunbury-on-Thames, Middlesex.

N.B.-I suppose I ought to give this class of method a name-perhaps Court Place Bob.

bells that have made history

Dear Sir.-Following upon the very interesting article from the pen of Mr. Ernest Morris, which mentioned the tradition from Nichols? - History of Leicestershire, of an exchange of bells between Long Clawson (Lejcs) and Grantham (Lincs), may I thank Mr. Simpson, of Grantham, for his research amongst the records of the church and the Town Council. I share his disappointment in drawing a blank.

At my request the Vicar of Long Clawson, the Rev. A. Wilcock, has searched the records of his ohurch, but unfortunately he has neither churchwardens' accounts nor minutes of meetings prior to 1800 .

I have made inquiries at the office of the archivist at Lincoln and there is no record of such an exchange in 1662. (Apparently-no records.)
Mr. Thomas North, in his book "Church Bells of Leicestershire, dces not confirm this story of an exchange of tenor bells, but he does accept that the bells are the gift of the then Lord of the Manor-William Bozan-who served at Agincourt with King Henry V.Yours sincerely,
Long Clawson, Leics

CONDITIONS IN SUFFOLK BELFRIES

By R. W. M. CLOUSTON

T has always surprised the writer how bells appear to survive undamaged under the most adverse conditions, though sometimes not without risk to the ringers concerned. He well remembers hearing from the ringer of a single pre-Reformation bell in a church in Sussex of the day, when, during ringing, there was a rumbling noise and the bell descended to the ground. Fortunately the ringer got out of the way quickly and the bell landed on the crown. and, apart from breaking a canon or two. was undamaged. Such stories are fortunately rare, but with the coming into force of the Quinquennial Inspection of Churches Measure, which covers only the architectural features of a church, the writer would be highly desirable. The architect's inspection does cover the bell frame and supporting structure, but here the thrusts due to swinging bells can produce effects which are not observable with the bells stationary, and can get overlooked when inspections are made under these latter conditions.
Inquirjes failed to reveal that any similar engineering survey covering all towers in a particular area had ever been carried out, and as it was desirable that the results should be on a standard basis the writer designed a form which covers two foolscap sheets. The design was at least in part based on that used by a friend when making similar inspections of windmills. The first sheet covers tower details; the bells collectively, the frame and the fitings, and points needing attention. The second sheet deals with each bell individually, up to five on each, including such items as diameter diameter. pitches. tone. soundbow thickness (worn and unworn). clapper correct length(?), tuning marks. cast-in crown staple retained(?), argent and canons retained(?), bell loose in headstock(?), type of securing ironwork, type of artachment and state of gudgeon pins, founder. casting date, inscription. details of clapper and suspension system, clapper roll Naturally incumbents can be a little reluctant to allow inspections to be made which might disclose that costly repairs are unavoidable! However, in the Diocese of St. Edmundshury and Ipswich the writer is in a better position than most people wishing improvements in belfry standards. As a Bishop's representative on the Diocesan Advisory Committee and technical adviser to the Suffolk Guild of Ringers, he is in close contact with the Archdeacons and other diocesan officers and no difficulties have arisen so far

226 TOWERS SURVEYED

The bel! inspection work commenced using the forms in 1955 and to date the writer has covered 226 towers. which is just under half the towers in the diocese, and in time he hopes 10 complete them all. Copies of the reports go to the parish. the Archdeacon concerned, the Diocesan Advisory Committee, the Diocesan Inspecting Architect (a rare appointment not generally found in other dioceses) and the Central Council for the Care of Churches.

An analysis of some of the details on the forms for the first hundred towers may be of interest : in due course a review of the second hundred will be prepared.
The towers were mainly selected at random, or because of their proximity to Ipswich. or hecause a faculty application was pending. hecause a faculty application was pending.
Twenty-seven contained sets of five or more bells: three rings of eight; ten rings of six 14 sets of five, including four hung dead.

The hundred towers contained 284 bells; of these 100 were rung in full circles, 97 were swing chimed, and 50 were unsafely clocked. swing chimed, and 50 were unsafely clocked. held in contact with the side of the bell, while the latter was vibrating so giving rise to a considerable risk of onacking. Only six were safely clocked. Seventeen were hung dead and were sounded with Ehacombe hammers.
The securing ironwork was interesting; though 256 bells had normal screwed straps or bolts. four still hung from nailed straps. With these a strip of iron, say 1 inch, wide by $t$ inch thick, was made into a $V$, and passed through a canon and then nailed to the headstock, so the whole weight of the bell is then taken on the nails in shear. These nails were very probubly driven in some 300 years ago. One of the four bells had additional more modern straps, bui the other three in one tower, with a tenor of $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. all hang from nails. Twenty-three had wedge bolted straps: these preceded the screw thread and are in effect triangular wedges of metal driven through slots in the bolts and then curled over to prevent loosening. Weakening due to corrosion and slackening are the main defects with these and they would seem to have been obsolete by about 1780

BELLS LOOSE IN HEADSTOCK

Of the 197 bells which were regularly swung 20 were found to be loose in their headstocks Since most of them were hung using canons and argent, which are liable to snap off when bells are rung under these conditions, this number, at 10 per cent, is far too high. Some of the worst cases were in towers where the bell or bells were extremely difficult to reach.
On the age of the 284 bells inspected. 69 (24 pe: cent). were cast before 1600 . 84 (30 per cent) in the next century and 61 (22 per cent) in the 18 th century. As one might expect. 100 had been turned from the position ia which they were originally hung, but turning had not been applied to a number of seriously worn bells. Five had pits where the clappers still strike in excess of $\frac{1}{4}$ inch deep, one to the extent of $t$ inch.

This defect cannot be taken in isolation from that of the clappers being too long, as the overall result is the same: the bell where struck is thinner than it ought to be. In two extreme cases the clappers were too long and there were serious pits where they struck. with the result that the metal was over $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thinner than it should be; on both the unworn soundbow was some $2 \frac{1}{2}$ in. thick.

13 VISIBLY CRACKED

Of the bells with clappers, some 52 had them over $\frac{1}{2}$ inch too long and two with them as much as 2 inches too long. The smaller amounts were due to wear of the staple joint and the others to fitting by completely inexperienced hangers
Of the 284 bells 13 were visibly cracked. Eight of these had cracks in the crown due to the cast-in iron crown staple and only five had failed by the mouth due to misuse. This is quite a useful guide as to how important it is to drill out the remains of cast-in crown staples and fit independent ones when overhauling beHs. The eight inolude two bells hung out on top of the tower, which suggests that the main trouble is that in frosty weather the bronze in the crown tries to contract more than the iron staple will allow it due to the different coefficients of expansion, and cracks develop.

Some founders' bells do seem to be more likely to suffer from this defect than others. mainly because they used larger section iron staples. Apart from the two bells on the top of towers, which suffered from their environment. three of the other six are from Miles Graye's Colchester foundry and two from Gardiner's 18th century one at Sudbury.

Two hundred and ten bells of those inspected still used their cast-in staples: in 44 more the dangerous stump still remained even though a false staple had been fitted separately. Only 26 had independent staples. even though these have been in use over a century now.

On the musical properties lack of tuning forks in the period when the first 100 towers were inspected prevented detailed analysis. However, bells with unsatisfactory tone were generally those which had been considerably chipped to alter the strike note. some others were mairlen bells, but were either porous or quite the wrong shape or thickness.

Another interesting analysis is the comparison of the number of bells these churches had at the Reformation and now. The 1553 Returns ordered by King Edward VI relate to 96 of the 100 churches, of the balance one made no return and the three others are later fabrics. These 96 towers now contain 280 bells. yet in 1553 and therefore before the days of change ringing, they oontained 304 plus 14 sanctus bells. The orginal sanctus bells have nearly all disappeared, though one of 14 th century date is the clock bell on the local Town Hall, and others have been recas into clock and service bells. At the Reformation only seven of the churches had single bells, now, alas, the number has risen to 41. and overall it does seem that 80 bells have disappeared wrihout a trace, though in some cases the vacant pits remain in the frame.

HAMMER AS CLAPPER

The inspections have revealed a number of interesting jems. An almost complete bell wheel dated 1738 of unusual design and just under 7 feet in diameter.
One swing chimed bell had a hammer clamped to the headstock which struck the bell just below the inscription band, and which was used as a 'five minute bell.' The cord passed from the hammer, over the crown and to a pulley in the top cill of the pit end. The sound produced was horrible and as a result of the recommendations made the bell has since been rehung without this gadget.

Another bell is in a timber gallows structure in the churchyard, with the mouth just below the level of the grass; a chain is thed to the clapper and this passes through a buried iron pipe into the church. The set-up is highly inadequate, but the tower fell down years ago. Another swing chimed bell hangs in a frame of about 1850. the gudgeon pins instead of running in brasses run in the timber of the frame.

One church has a noofless west tower and the 4 cwt . bell is hung from a single ' $U$ ', bolt from a beam spanning the middle of the west window opening.
Another church which has lost its tower has by the churchyard boundary a small timber structure, rather like those seen at the bottom of cottage gardens in the heart of the country. Here, however, it has a different use, and houses the $2 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt. bell some 6 feet above the ground.

No comments have been made so far on difficukties of access. Ladders are notoriously untrustworthy; the worst one come across so far and which was used to reach the bell was some 15 feet long and had six missing rungs, three being consecutive. Also one of the verticals was badly cracked and had been strapped up with iron banding. As a result of his experiences. the writer has obtained a three section extending ladder, which can be taken round on the car roof.

JACKDAWS STICKS 6 FEET HIGH

The record for a pile of jackdaws' sticks is held by a tower not covered by the first 100 reports: this had a free standing pile on the first floor 6 feet high. The previous figure was 3 ft . 6 in .. but this was in one corner of the tower.
As a result of the reports remedial work has been undertaken in a number of towers, some bells have been lowered to the ground pending funds being raised for their rehanging. and others have been rehung. In one unfortunate case of the tenor of a ring of six. the report stated that the Ellacombe chiming hammer was bent and struck the bell where the metal was far too thin. Apparently nothing was done and it is now reported that this 11 cwt. bell is cracked, which it was certainly not at While Suffolk inspeotion
While Suffolk may have a higher proportion of unringable bolls than is general elsewhere, and quite obviously conditions in towers with less than five bells are far from satisfactory, it coes seem from the writer's general observations in oiher counties that considerable improvements should be aimed for in other dioceses. Are we. as a fraternity, doing enough to see that something is done about this state of affairs?

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES THORLEY

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mr. Charles Thorley, of Thorne, West Yorks, aged 64, who passed away at his home on March 31st, after a short illness.

From boyhood he had been a bellringer and after the last war was tower captain and conductor at Thorne Parish Church. Under his leadership the ringing at Thorne reached a very high standard and the striking was excellent at every service. Of a quiet and unassuming disposition he, nevertheless, enjoyed ringing and loved to hear the bell's well struck.
He resigned as a ringer four years ago when the team was depleted by members leaving the area.

In his early days he was a member of Thorne Colliery band during its prizewinning period. As a boy he was apprenticed as a printer and during the latter years he had been a colliery surface worker at Thorne, Bentley and Armthorpe:

BARCOMBE (SUSSEX) JUBILEE

The three old bells at St. Mary's, Barcombe, Sussex. were recast and three new ones added to form a ring of six in 1912

They were funed on the five-tone Simpson principle. and all hung in a new steel and iron frame. and supplied with new fittings throughout by Gillett and Johnston. Detafls of the bells:

BELLS AROUND BURNLEY

DADIHAM. Nelson and Colne form the Burnley area, which includes four rings of eight bells and two chimes of eight bells, apart from the numerous single bells. Travelling from west to east we come first to Padiham S:. Leonard's. This church possesses a ring of eighi bells by Taylors, with a tenor of 16 cwt. in E. They are hung in a wooden frame, all on one level, and in plain bearings except for the tenor, which is in ball bearings. In spite of this the go of the bells is not too bad, and several peals have been rung there, although none recently. At one time there were only six bells here, but these were augmented about the beginning of the century.

Next is Burnley Holy Trinity. To find the ringing chamber enter the church porch, then turn left through a small door and up a short flight of stairs to the room. The ropes fall near the wall; rising up one side of the room is a stairway, which leads to the clock chamber and on up a ladder to the bells. These are by Gillett and Co., and were cast in 1825 , with a tenor of 11 cwt . in F sharp. The bells are hung in a wooden frame which is in need of repair, the treble and third being hung above the rest. They are very noisy outside, although the tone is not very bad The go is not good as the clappers can strike the soundbow in any direction and it has been found that the sliders break instead of the stays! Trinity ringers used to be the leading ringers of Burnley.

Burnley Parish Church is in the centre of the town. Bells were hung in the tower at the west end of the church 400 years ago, but the present bells are a Taylor octave. with a tenor 18 cwt . in E. Previously there was an octave with a similar weight by Mears and octave with a simiar weight by Mears and ringable and were recast and hung in an iron frame. At some time the tower was raised and the bells are rung now from a spacious ringing room about 40 feet up. with the bells another twenty feet higher.

The ringing chamber is reached by entering a door at the bottom of the tower, then climbing the spiral staircase. Once the door was on the inside of the tower, and one ringer coming to a meeting went to this door, only to find to his astonishment that it had gone! St. Peter's is the only church in Burnley where there is regular service and practice ringing.
From the imposing spire of St. Mary's, Nelson, we would expect a heavy eight, but no. it holds eleven chiming bells, the heaviest being 24 cwt. in $F$, and cast in 1924 by Taylors. These bells are bolted on girders and chimed from a keyboard. St. Philip's is the next Nelson tower. The Whitechapel Foundry cast eight bells in 1923 and hung them in an iron frame with the third and fifth above the rest. The tenor is 14 cwt . in F and they go well. The ringing chamber is small and the circle good, though the room for those not ringing is very dimited. The entrance to the tower stairs is well concealed at the back of the church in a little alcove near the light switches.

Alter Nelson comes Colne. The bells here are fairly old. The back six were cast by Mears and Stainbank about 1880 . Two trebles were added later and were hung over the rest, in a wooden frame. There is ran old ringing chamber in the tower, but this is just below the bells and they sound very loudly, so they are rung from ground level, with the ringers standing around the font. The tenor weighs 16 cwt . in $\mathbb{F}$, and the go of the bells is quite good, though they are now rather hard to hear and there is some rope rattle.

Leaving Colne in the direction of Skipton we come to the last tower in the disitrict, Foulridge St. Michael and All Angels, with ten bells, tenor 12 cwt. in A flat. and cast in 1925 by Gillett and Johnston. These bells are bolted to girders like those at Nelson St. Mary's, and are chimed from a keyboard in a small room in the solidly built red brick tower.

Mr. Ronald Dove, of 26, Sycamore Avenue, Leeds 8, writes requesting 'correchim direct and not via corresp to be sent to of 'R.W' He proposes to publis augmentations which have taken the Guide went to press last June.
Four first quarters are reported from Egremont, Cumberland.
The practice night at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh, is on Tuesdays.

Handbell enthusiasts in Leicester are getting new targets; first peals of New Cambridge Surprise Maximus and York Surprise Major.
Lyneham, Wilts, ringers wish to convey their thanks to Miss E. R. Knutton, who stood in at the last minute in a quarter peal rung at St. Michael's Church for Palm Sunday.

The first quarter peal by the present local band at Salford Priors, Warwickshire, formed in June, 1959, and starting change ringing in October, 1960, was rung on Easter Sunday for Holy Communion. Friends will note the progress.
The peal of Plain Bob Triples at Ardleigh, Essex, on Easter Monday, had six locals, believed to be most from the tower that have stood in a peal. They were all taught by the local captain, Mr. Felix H. Erith.
There was a happy Easter morning in the belfry at Shipton-under-Wychwood, where 16 ringers turned up and all had a ring, includ ing the two oldest active ringing members of the Chipping Norton Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Methods rung were: Doubles, Sledman and Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major
The B.B.C. T.V. local news men visited St Mary's, Eling. Hants, on April 17th to film the magnolia tree which hangs over the wall next to the church. The ringers were quickly called, and on the following evening in the local news the tree was shown with the church. Background music of Grandsire Doubles was provided on the bells. Later viewers saw the seven ringers there were also some good close-ups.

Mr. Ernest Morris, who is in the Oliver Ward of the Leicester Royal Infirmary, had an internal operation on Good Friday and the latest news is that he is resting comfortably and progressing satisfactorily. Ernest comments: Having been rushed off for an immediate and urgent operation he first had a Minor then a Major one in Leicester Royal Infirmary, which caused him the maximum amount of pain and suffering. However, he is now on the road to recovery and hopes to be home again soon. Alas! it was not to be,

In connection with the Ladies' Guild meeting at Buckfast Abbey on Saturday (May Sth) there is to be a slight alteration in the times of the evening ringing. Buckfastleigh bells are to be available from 5.30 p.m. and Dean Prior bells from 6.45 p.m.
A correspondent writes: 'It was wonderful to hear Stotfold bells ringing out again at 6.30 on Easter morning, ringing as they have not done for ten years or more, telling not only the Easter message itself but that the message means something in Stotfold. St. Nicholas', Norton, band were ringing at $6.31 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and I expect they were ringing at Baldock too, but the wind was wrong for me.'

Ringer and chorister at the Church of St. Peter-de-Witton, Droitwich, Mr. Robin Skerratt was married on March 24th to Miss Julie Cook. A pre-nuptual quarter finished 30 seconds before the service, with barely tome for ringers to robe before taking their seats in the choir. It would have been far better for the quarter to have been lost than unseemly haste on the part of certain choristers.

Four different constabularies were sepresented in the National Police Guild's peal at Manchester Town Hall on April 7th. Manchester City Police contributed Frank Yates, Richard Benson, Stanley Livesey and Arthur Pearce; Lancashire Constabulary Richard Holt and Kenneth Bonehill, Cheshire Constabulary William H. Dowse, and from Bolton Borough came the conductor, Peter Crook sen. Three of the band are pensioners.

STRATTON (CORNWALL) RINGING DAY

A very early start was made by Stratton ringers and visitors from Devon. Kent and Hampshire for a tour of Somerset towers on Easter Monday. Travelling through glorious sunshine. Wells Cathedral was reached on time and the party were joined by friends from the Pdymouth and Yeovil area, some fair ringing being experienced

At Evercreech (10) the bells were thoroughly enjoyed and the ringing was good. After the usual hearty lunch in the local inn, the party made their way to Ditcheat (8), where the hells really did live up to their name. We then went on to Castle Cary (8) and then Wincanton (8), arriving early to find a notice of welcame waiting, and the bells ready for use. The last ringing of the day, at Queen Camel ( $6,36 \mathrm{cwt}$.), was a most memorable experience.

THE LADIES GULLD

The meeting of the Kent Branch of the Ladies Guild. joint with the Maidstone District. K.C.A.. was held on a rather sogby March day at St. Nicholas', Linton. However is was fairly well attended and a good amount of ringing enjoyed by all.

After a very nice service and a huge tea, provided by Mr. P. Town and local ringers, the respective meetings were held.
The ladies held theirs in church, which was attended by nine members. Business proceeded as usual with a few new elections plus the re-election of officers and committee. Next meeting: June 30th. Bromley (joint with the Central District of the Ladies' Guild), week before the A.G.M. at Darlington.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.
No. 2664 Vol.LVII FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1962 8d.

ERNEST MORRIS

THE unexpected death of Mr. Ernest Morris was a profound shock to many. Although he had passed 'the allotted span,' few expected when he entered hospital that his end was so near. Indeed, the Editor received a note from him penned in his inimitable style, punning on ringing terms and hinting that the worst was over, and he had reached the convalescent stage.

Ernest accomplished more in his life than is given to most people. His service towards the advancement of ringing covered a wide compass. As a peal ringer he set foot in an untrodden country in being the only person ever to have rung 2,000 peals. That was accomplished in a span of 55 years. For the 2,000th peal, rung on February 27th, 1961, at the Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile, a new method was introduced - Morriston Surprise Royalthe name being taken from a village near Swansea. His peal ringing did not stop then. Of his 2,000 peals. 1,666 had been rung on tower bells, and in a sense he set himself a new goal of 2,000 peals on tower bells. And gallantly he applied himself towards amassing this total. During 1961 he rang 82 peals and, despite his 71 years, he was fourth among the leading peal ringer of the country.

His ringing was very comprehensive and contained not only record lengths but also such peals as fathers and sons on six, eight and ten bells, four sets of brothers, eight and ten Ernests. Nine of his peals were non-conducted, and these include Cambridge, Yorkshire, Superlative, Bristol and New Cambridge Surprise Major. His longest peal was 13,440 Plain Bob Major at Loughborough Foundry, but other long lengths picked from a very substantial list were 12,633 Stedman Cinques at Oxford Cathedral in 1946 and 12,896 of Cambridge Surprise at Stoney Stanton.

At times he was criticised for ringing peals of Doubles. Invariably such performances were in helping one or two individuals through their first peal. Such visits that he paid to village belfries, particularly in Leicestershire where he had rung on all ringable rings of bells. did much to promote friendliness. And there was no air of condescension about him of the big man with lesser brethren. It was Ernest, the friendly verger and sure conductor, who steered the novice through the peal.
Of latter years he had been a member of the Monday evening band that rang peals at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and as a result he had an unusual collection of Surprise Royal methods. With the late Mr. Harold J. Poole, he also rang in peals of Cinques and Maximus. Naturally, as verger of St. Margaret's, he could not be a member of the Leicester Cathedral band, and at St. Margaret's he also had his own band; but Mr. Poole frequently invited him to take part in tower- and handbell ringing.
and of his 40 neals of Stedman Cinaues 'in hand many were in association with the Poole family. Yes, as a peal ringer his name will go down to posterity with the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the first man to ring 1,000 peals, and Mr. Wm. Pye, of Walthamstow, who was in a sense within hailing distance of 2,000 peals with 1,969 to his credit when he died.
But Ernest Morris will go down to posterity as an author. His 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' published in 1930, was a most comprehensive survey which embodied information from many sources and included much personal knowledge. No book of this character had been published before, and it is to be regretted that funds were not available for revised editions. Three other books 'Bells of All Nations,' 'Towers and Bells of Britain' and 'Tintinnabula' -were published in the 1950's. These were very favourably received in the American market, as well as among ringers in this country.
Ernest was a good friend of 'The Ringing World.' He had contributed series of articles, such as "Bells in English Life ' and 'English Towers and their Bells,' and was writing a new series, 'Bells that have made History.' Some of these articles are already in type. He knew of the Editor's difficulty of maintaining a constant flow of articles to such a journal, and when a request for a contribution was made it would come back almost by return of post.

For many years he took an active part in the advancement of ringing organisation. For 21 years he was general hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association. In 1946 its territory was divided and there was formed the Leicester Diocesan Guild, the Midland Counties Guild, the Derbyshire Association and the Southwell Diocesan Guild. Ernest was vice-president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild from 1946-7 and hon. treasurer from 1949 until the last annual meeting. He was also a member of the Central Council, although he never took part in public debate.
He had, however, other interests besides bells and ringing. A student practically all his life of church architecture. he had made a particular study of church fonts and old registers. His versatility might well be indicated by the wide range of articles he had written for magazines and journals. These included wool weights, wool churches. windmills, decorative door knockers, crosses of England, horse brasses, bellringers' jugs and pitchers. A skilled illuminator, his services were in frequent demand for testimonials and peal books.
Of Ernest Morris it might be said that fewer ringers had received greater notoriety but none could have lived more quietly. When called upon, he would face the limelight and then retire into anonymity and continue the task at hand, doing it to his best ability. Even in the hour of his greatest triumph. the ringing of his 2,000 th peal, when celehration drinks were in evidence, he retired to his corner

ERNEST MORRIS: HIS NAME GOES TO POSTERITY

$I^{N}$two ways Mr. Ernest Morris. of Eyres Monsall. Leicester, whose lamented death was announced in our last issue. was preeminent in the Exercise. Firstly, he had rung more peals than any other bellringer alive or dead, being the only man to have passed the 2.000 peal mark. His other claim to eminence was as an author, his History and Art of Change Ringing, being hy far the most comprehensive survey ever written.

In a sense he was born into the art in 1889 and started ringing at St. Margaret's, Leicester in 1902. His father. Mr. Josiah Morris. was dubbed 'the Rhythm King' by the la.e Mr Harold Poole on account of his faultless striking and father and son were associated together in many peals: there was even one of father and two sons (the other being Mr Stedman Morris. of Lyme Regis), which was rung " in hand on December 20th. 1919 Josiah also nang with Ernest in his first peal -one of Grandsire Triples at Grimsby on August 6th. 1906. and again figured in his 1.000th peal 41 years later-Stedman Cinques ' in hand, conducted by Harold J. Poole
Ernest faced life with an elementary education at St. Margaret's. Leicester, and at the age of 14 he was working in a leather factory. He was, however, of a studious disposition and was mainly self-educated. It was after World War I. during which he served overseas, that he really came to the fore as a ringer, although he was conspicuous in 1911, when he took part in 10.080 Minor at Ratby for the Midland Counties Association. He stood in a peal Wi Stedman Caters, conducted by James Washbrook in 1921, on the old hells of Manchester Town Hall. Manchester Town Hall.

PEAL OF 12 SECRETARIES

It was in 1925, the year that ihe hecame hononary general secretary of the Midland Counties Association, a post he held for 21 years, that he took part in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Southwark Cathedral. conducted by William Pye, and in the following year he was in another of Pye's peals in the same method on the old 12 at Bow. Later he was to ring in a peal of Stedman Cinques rung by 12 secretaries of Guilds or Associations. When the M.C.A. was dissolved he was appointed a vice-president of the Leicester Dlocesan Guild. In 1959 he was elected treasurer; a post he held until the last annual meeting.
Ernest was ever ready to stand in attempts for record lengths and if he was, say, 50 years younger he would have been taking his place in the queue for attempts on the extents of Major. Actually, the longest length hi rang was at Loughborough Bell Foundry, 13.440 Plain Bob Major. Other conspicuous peals on his list were 12,663 Stedman Cinques at Oxford Cathedral (1948). 12.896 Cambridge Surprise Major at Stoney Stanton (1923). 10,912 Kent Treble Bob Major at Thurcasion (1923). 9.999 Stedman Caters on handbells (1948), 9.600 Worcester Treble Bob Major, extents of tenors together. Loughborough. 1927.
One of his great ambitions was to ring a ful! peal at all possible churches in his rative Leicestershire. on five bells and over. The accomplishment of this task meant overcoming many difficulties-travelling to outlandish places. finding bells sadly neglected. entailing more than one journey to oil bearings, tighten up frames and fittings, mend wheels and splice ropes. The peals also were often only secured under great difficulties and punishment by way under great difficulties and punishment by of blisters, aching limbs and wet shirts!

ENJOYED HUMBLE PEALS

Not only in his own tower. St. Margaret's. but in numerous villages. Ernest helped many a struggling band. He wrote: I have truly enjoyed helping with humble peals of Doubles and Minor, whth local lads. as much as I have with the experts in Cinques and Maximus or in the "Surprise " class.'
Ernest retired after 20 years as verger of St. Margaret's. Leicester, on March 1st. 1958. hut he still continued as clerk to the Select Vestry and assisted at services and in the ringing chamber. Canon E. N. Ducker, Vicar of St. Margaret's, paid this tribute to Vicar of St him in 1945.

THE LATE MR. ERNEST MORRIS.
Ernest by name.
Earnest by nature
Writer, composer,
Ringer renowned.
He cleans with his dusters.
And traces ancestors,
Collector-historian-
On bells most profound.
He lectures-he talks-
His subjects abound.
Old scrap he disentangles
And puts out the candles.
To him so inspiring, In work so untiring,
There few words be token Affection unbroken.

AN AUTHORITY ON LEICESTER

In many ways he was regarded as an authority on his native city and when he moved from the verger's lodge he presented his collection of tintinnabula (small hells) to Leicester City Museum. There was a television recording and a broadcast. His last book. Tintinnabula dealt much with this subject. He had written hooklets on St. Margaret's Church and the history of St. Margaret's Select Vestry and contributed to the Victoria History of England (Leicestershire) an article on Leicestershire hell founders and holls. Our front page article refers to his other literary work.

The crowning triumph of his career was on February 27th. 1961 . When he rang his 2.000 th peal at Loughborough Bell Foundry and this slory appeared fittingly in our Jubilee issueone of the few things we could do to one who had contributed so much to our columns.

To his widow and relatives. ringers the world over extend their deepest sympathy.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral was at St. Margaret's Church, Leicester. on May 1st, and was fully choral. The Vicar (Canon E. N. Ducker) officiated There was a very large congregation of ringers and friends from the Leicester D:ocese. Owing to the short notice there was only his brother from Lyme Regis (George Stedman Morris) from outside the county. Members of the congregation included Mr. F. K. Measures (president of the Guild). Mr. P. L. Taylor (vice-president). Mr. J. A. Acres (peal secretary). Mr. William Smith, from Turramurra (on holiday near Melton), and many people with whom Ernest had rung peals, especially in the outlying areas of the Diocese.
By speoial request of his widow. handbells were not rung at the cremation, hut rounds on $12^{\circ}$ were sung as the cortege left the church by B. G. Warwick 1-2. Mrs. P. J. 7-8, J. M. Jelley 9-10 and J. A. Acres 11-12.

To his memory peals were rung by the - Monday band 'at Loughborough Bell Foundry on April 30th, and on the same evening Stedman Cinques at Leicester Cathedral. On the duy of the funeral a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at South Wigston by a band he helped to teach and on the day following one of Stedman Caters at St. Margaret's. Leicester. Last Saturday a half-muffled peal was rung at Blaby.
Details of his peals will be published in our next issue

TRIBUTE TO A PRESIDENT
The vice-president, officers and members of the College of Campanology unite in paying tribute to the memory of their esteemed founder-president, Ernest Morris, and in recording their gratitude for his never-failing help and generous support of the aims and work of the college. Their heartfelt sympathy goes to his widow in her great loss.
All members of the college, entering up to the present, have a valued memento of this record author and practitioner of the ant oí ringing. in the form of the membership certificate. Every certificate issued hitherto has been signed and inseribed by him in that Old English lettering. for the use of which he is justly famous. The College principal treasures many letters received from Ernest over the year. The following extract typifies his character

- Our Leicester Corporation motto is Semper Eadem" (Always the same) and the same might be said of me for 1 always try to be the same to all and sundry, and to do my duty in every sphere of life to the very best of my ability. God has been good to me in this way, and with good health I so richly enjoyed until recently, I endeavoured to excel in all my hand found to do. What success I have had. however. has always been gained with a humble spirit.

In my ringing career. for instance. I have been called a blanketty btank fool more than once because I have taken part one day in a peal of, perhaps, London Surprise, and the next, one of Doubles: or again Maximus and. maybe, followed with a simple Plain Minor one. Yet I venture to say the ones where I have helped some country band through a simple peal gave not only me but all concerned much more satisfaction and pleasure than a peal where all the performers are already expert.'
At the ringing of the bells we will remember him. A.Y.-B.

AN APPRECIATION

The ringers of St. Thomas', South Wigston, have cause to mourn very deeply the passing of • Uncle ' Ernest (as he was known affectionately by so many). During the last three years he had not failed to attend Sunday morning ringing and the Tuesday practice and had helped train the band of young ringers from rounds to Kent Major.
His first connection with the tower was on December 27th. 1904. when he listened to the conclusion of the record peal of 17,104 Double Norwich, in which his father rang the treble. His first peal was Kent Treble Bob Major on May 22 nd. 1909 , and he had rung 61 peals there. the last being on February 3rd. 1962.

Never did he miss a Tuesday practice in recent years and he was extremely happy in teaching people from the very earliest stages of bell control. Only seldom was he absent o1 a Sunday morning and that only when a quarter' had been arranged at St. Margaret's

AN AUSTRALIAN THANK YOU

Dear Sir.-On behalf of the bellringers of Australia and for myself, may I add my tribute to Ernest Morris, the 'Master Ringer and true friend of all ningers. It was a shock to learn of his sudden 'home-call.
We in Sydney are decply indebted to him for guidance and encouragement over the years and will keep him always in affectionate remembrance. - Yours sincerely,

MORE RINGING IN THE COTSWOLDS

ON Friday, March 16 th, 17 ringers from Kent, Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire left Croydon, in two-mini-buses, on the first leg of a ringing week-end in the Cotswolds. Our base was the Fleece Hotel in Gloucester, where the first mini-bus arrived at about 11.30 p.m. The second arrived fifteen minutes later, and was greeted by a curious character, carrying a large bundle of keys, who became rather confused when we admitted that we were part of the party which had already booked in. When he had shown us. somewhat suspiciously, to our rooms. he suggested that. after we had placed our toothbrushes in the receptacles provided, we should join our friends. who. he said, were already propping up the hotel bar. This suggestion was promptly acted upon, but as the night wore on our party gradually dwindled. leaving behind only a nucleus of solid drinkers. By 2 a.m. even these giants hegan to feel the need of a change of scenery, and they retired in concert to the Testers" Room, ostensibly to ring handbells. hut it was reporied next morning that shouts of 'Snap' had been heard from time to time. and it was accepted that they had actually been playing cards.
Saturday was a cold, sunny morning and this atmosphere did much to dispose of our remaining lethargy. The bells at Prestbury are odd-struck, but we completed quite a cieditable course of London Surprise Major before turning to Grandsire Triples and Cambridge.

At Bishop's Cleeve church admittance is gained by ascending a centuries-old wooden staircase. the gnarled timbers of which have an odd attractiveness about them. The bells have a fine rich tone, and we enjoyed ringing Superlative, Bristol, Stedman and Bob Major.
After an early Junch in Tewkesbury, six spliced was attempted at Upton-on-Severn, but after three failures to complete a touch it was abandoned in favour of Grandsire Triples, which accorded more favourably with the after-a-heavy-lunch feeling. Three leads of Bristol rounded off our visit there.
Our striking on the six bells at Madresfield left a lot to be desired: the pleasant eight at St. Matthias'. Malvern Link, sounded crisp and clear, and it was a pity that we did not strike them hetter. Both five Spliced Surprise and Stedman came unstuck.
After tea in Great Malvern, we moved to Colwall in Herefordshire, an unprepossessing eight. and then to the detached tower at Ledbury. The circle is very large for eight ropes, which, unless you know better, tends to make for slow ringing. We fell into the trap and did not get them tapping round as we should have done.
Our last tower of the day was Eldersfield. This has a heavy ring of six that needed a lot of effort.

CHATTERING TEETH

Breakfast the following morning followed much the same pattern as Saturday's. and by ten oclock we had vacated our rooms, and were ready for the short walk to Gloucester Cathedral, where we had arranged to ring at $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Although sunny, the morning was once again very cold, and the ringing chamber of the Cathedral did nothing to quieten our chattering teeth. It is a large room. next to a 3 ton hour bell, and where the wind whistles through. its force broken only by wooden louvres on each side. After raising the bells. we rang Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Royal
The bells of St. Mary-de-Crypt then awaited our attention. and before attending morning service we rang Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major. Back at the hotel we enjoyed an excellent lunch, and then made our farewells. The landlord waved us goodbye with a trembling hand and tears in his eyes. We were not sure whether that was caused by lack of sleep the previous two nights, sadness at our leaving or sheer relief.

Our penultimate lower was Bisley in Gloucestershire. The church is set slightly above the village and has a ground floor ring of eight, which goes well enough, but the two rebles are almost inaudible from inside the church.

The ten at Christ Church, Swindon, where we rang at 5.15 p.m.. are really splendid. We rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and half a course of Cambridge Royal, and then were joined by some of the local ringers for the service touch of Stedman Caters.

Thus ended a week-end which. I am sure, we all enjoyed thoroughly. We are grateful to Colin Tester, who made all the arrengements, to Stewart, Bob and John, who drove us around, to incumbents and the local ringers who welcomed us.
J. D. F.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Lewisham District received a warm welcome to Dartford on April 28th. when Holy Trinity was visited by about 50 members and friends for the District's quarterly meeting

The service was conducted by the Vicar. Rev. R. B. Griffin. Mr. E. Barnett read the lesson and the organ was played by Mr. Pearson.

An excellent tea was followed by a lively business meeting, with the Vicar in the chair. This concluded with warm votes of thanks to the Vicar for his welcome. his excellent address and his chairmanship of the meeting. to the organist- and to Mrs. Griffin and Dartford ringers and their wives for providing tea.

Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Surprise Major and was under the leadership of Mr. I. H. Oram, District Ringing Master.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM

A well attended meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Aston Parish Church on April 14th. The Master. Mr. Richard C. Ingram. welcomed Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, of Darley Dale, and several visitors from Chilvers Coton.

The passing of an old Perry Barr ringer. Mr. George H. Williams, at the age of 89 at the residence of his daughter at Heavitree was regretted, the members standing in silence for a moment as a tribute of respect to his memory.

Graham J. Lightfoot. of Knowle, was elected a full member of the Guild, and the tower elections of the following life members vere duly ratified: Mrs. Mary Poyner, F. Hector Bennett and John C. Baldwin. Shrewsbury: F. Alan Jacques, Uppingham: W. Ernest Rawson, John M. Jelly and Russell S. Morris. Leicester: Martin C. Faulkes, Hinckley: Miss G. A. Smith. Twickenham; Miss Iris Thompson. Newcastle-on-Tyne; G. S. Deas, Gateshead; A. R. Patterson, Cramlington: N. Errington, Consett : and Miss Lucy Allen, of Abbots Bromley.

The next meeting will be held at Northfield on July 7th. subject to the Rector's consent.
Mr. J. Frank Smallwood proposed a vote of thanks to Canon F. F. Guy Warman. Vicar of Aston. for the use of the ring of twelve, and to the local ringers for arranging tea

50 Years Ago

'R.W. May 10th. 1912.-
A stroke of bad luck met the Irthlingboro' men on Saturday. when. after ringing 2 hours 55 minutes for a peal of Bristol Surprise Major, they lost it ten leads from home.
A peal of Stedman Cinques is to be attempted at St. Saviour's Cathedral. Southwark, on Saturday by the members of the St . Martin's Guild. Birmingham.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

STANDARDS IN WIRRAL BRANCH
Dear Sir,-On reading Mr. Taylor's recent letter on striking at the universities, I was disgusted to see his derogatory attack on Mr. Martin and the Wirral Branch. As the author of the report to which Mr. Taylor was refersing, I feel that I should explain Mr. Martin's remark, which. due to condensation, appears to have lost its true meaning.
Mr. Martin was pointing out that universities, such as ours, where there is only a small band, might easily tend to push their learners in a vain attempt to make them ring the methods that the more experienced can ring. This could do untold damage to the striking of the learners and even to that of the experienced ringers, and would, of course, lower the general standard of striking. This temark was not intended to be damaging to the universities, but rather a comment which Mr. Martin felt would help a new Society to set high standards.
I also consider Mr. Taylor's remarks about the Wirral Branch as being both unfounded the Wirral Branch as being both unfounded spent ringing on the Wirral was hardly sufficient for him to make such poisonous and damaging comments about a Branch of ringers who certainly do not deserve it. Whilst I have been in Liverpool, I have been to quite a few Wirral meetings, where I have been made very welcome by a very keen and pleasant set of ringers. The striking that pleasant set of ringers. a number of touches it was very good and, in addition, the striking in a recent peal attempt of Spliced Minor has been described as first class. So I sincerely hope that Mr. Taylor will withdraw his accusations against Taylor of the most active Societies that I have one of known.
On the subject of teaching at universities, I am afraid that I must disagree with Mr. Taylor. Some universities may be fortunate enough to have a good teacher, but others may consider themselves lucky to have two or three 'experienced' ringers, let alone a good teacher. Therefore the standard of striking at universities can in no way approach that at a tower which has a good and experienced teacher and a band that is not always changing each year.
Finally. I hope that readers will join me in condemning Mr. Taylor's selfish attitude that youngsters should not receive too much encouragement. It is this sort of idea that, if put into practice, could ruin the future of the Exercise, because although good ringing would result for a short time, a rapid decline would set in. I think that a good motto is that no one can be encouraged too much. especially youngsters and learners.-Yours faithfully, (C. K. COOPER

FECKENHAM BELLS RESTORED

Dear. Sir,-Feckenham ringers, after ten months' hard work and much generous help from other parishioners, have succeeded in raising almost the $£ 1.000$ needed for the restoration of this ring of eight-including the recasting of two bells. As this seemed. at the time the estimate was received from Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. an almost impossible task, its record achievement may be of some encouragement to others in the same position. Undoubiedly we could not have done so weli without the unstinted support of members of the Worcestershire Change Ringing Association. and we would like to offer them our gratitude now. The bells were dedicated last Sunday.-Yours faithfully,

JENNIE NEWTON.
Secretary, Feckenham Ringers.

THE END OF THE BAN AT

 BIRMINGHAMDear Sir,-Your account of ringing during the last war calls to mind an amusing incident at St. Chad's Cathedral, Birmingham, in 1943. In that year the ban was lifted for Sundays only from Easter Day, April 25th, and a few weeks later rescinded entirely-the announcement, I think, being made on a Wednesday.

On the following Saturday, a peal of Plain Bob Major was attempted at St. Chad's and wc were ahout two leads from the end when a prolonged, thunderous knocking on the door caused us to stop. On opening the door, we were confronted by a police sergeant and two constables, bearing the expression of a not too prosperous seaside landlady about to fill her lodging house, no doubt in this case Steelhouse Lane lock-up. The bland question was put, ' Don't you know there's a ban on bell ringing? and it took about 20 minutes' hard talking by the band to convince the zealous men in blue that they were very much behind the times.
Fortunately, we were aided after a few minutes by the arrival of the then Administrator, that good friend of ringing. the late Monsignor Roskell, who not only vigorously confirmed our explanation but added several siders on the bungling and stupidity of the police force in general and the Birmingham force in particular as there represented, finally shepherding the three bewildered and apologetic policemen firmly out of the Cathedral. Later, he sought and obtained a written apology from the Chief Constable for the blundering zea! of some of his subordinates.-Yours sincerely.

Harborne, Birmingham.

PARISH OF 110 AIMS AT RAISING $\mathbf{5 5 , 0 0 0}$

Dear Sir,-I reported some 18 months ago that All Saints' Church, Thorpe Malsor. had a band of ringers, the first for some 20 years.
Since that date the church has been inspected in detail by the architect and this revealed that the spire top was in a very dangerous condition. The bells. which, although tuneful. went badly, were in a bad circle, and the frame was too high in the tower.
The P.C.C. decided to tackle the immense task of raising approximately $£ 5.000$. On the face of it, the pattern must be the same as that in parishes up and down the country, the big difference heing that there is a total population of nnly 110 .
To enable the tower and spire to be made safe to enable the six bells to be rehung at a lower level in a new frame may I . through your columns. appeal to all ringers for help, however small.
All contributions. which will be acknowledged, should be sent to the honorary theasurer. Thorpe Malsor P.C.C., Pinfold, sincerely,

BRIAN AUSTIN,

Hon. Treasurer.
P.S.- The honorary treasurer is also the tower captain and, alas ... the architect!-B. A.

LITTLEHEMPSTON, DEVON

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr, Bennett's letter (page 253). I am afraid that he is wrong about the condition of the tower and bells at Littlehempston, near To:nes. One of my friends and myself have recently cleaned out the tower, provided a new set of ropes, oiled and greased the bells, and checked all the nuts. Recently, on April 26th. five ringers from Toines went there and rang a few touches. Yours faithfully,
P. F. PHILLIPS.

LONDON RINGING

Dear Sir,-Why is the standard of twelvebell ringing-indeed ringing in general-in the London area so appalling? Presumably the bells are to blame, for ancient societies of long standing are surely beyond reproach. Or are they reluctant to criticise their hopeful visitors on their Tuesday excursions to the great Metropolis.

Perhaps one day we shall see well organised practices and good meetings for all ringers who are keen to perform on twelve bells, and not those few who ring Stedman Cinques.-Yours sincerely,

GEORGE DENZIL.
Brasted, Kent.

DOVE'S GUIDE

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}_{1},-$ Over tharee years ago the practice night at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh, was changed to Tuesday, and this fact was advertised in 'The Ringing World ' at that time. Practices are still held on that evening and information in Dave's Guide is wrong on this point.

The tower shown as Leith St. James' should be included among the Edinburgh entries, as Leith has for many years been part of the city of Edinburgh.-Yours faithfully,
R. S. WILSON.

ERIN CATERS

Dear Sir,-From time to time, people write asking that Erin Caters be rung more often always giving the musical qualities it possesses as making it worth ringing. It is undoubtedly true that it is very musical, but why has no mention been made of the ease with which it can be conducted? With a little experience it can be called by the coursing order as easily as one calls Double Norwich.
The extra difficulty is the addition of the treble giving a C.O. of 531246. Assuming that 7, 8,9 are either in the Tittums or Handstroke Home there are four ways in which bobs can be called in a course without affecting them: these are $4,5,6,7$. Applying the code ABC to CAB to the C.O. a Beh at 4 changes 531246 to 153246. at 5 to 523146 , at 6 to 534126 and at 7 to 531624 . The bells affected work in exactly the same way as in Double Norwich, A making the bob and B and C continuing dodging.
I hope that Erin will be rung as often as Stedman in the future as it is in every way equal if not superior to it and being at least a regular method!-Yours, etc.,

NICHOLAS W. H. SIMON.

A PERSONAL APPRECIATION OF

 MR. ERNEST MORRISDear Sir.-I counted Ernest Morris as a true friend. He called my first peal of Grandsire Doubles in 1948, and since then he had rung 352 peals with me. It did not matter what we were ringing, whether it was a new Surprise Royal method or a peal of Doubles or Plain Beh Minar to help younger ringers. whatever I had arranged he always said, 'Yes.'
He set a very high example of devotion to duty in service ringing. Each Sunday he rang three times-at South. Wigston and St. Margaret's in the morning and again at St. Margaret's at night (and very often pulled an afterncon handball peal in as well).
Whatever I asked him to do connected with ringing he would always do and his passing is a great personal loss.-Yours sincerely.

Derbyshire Association of Change Ringers

M
1 EMBERS of the Derbyshire Association gathered in Derby on April 28th for their annual general meeting. They were joined by members of the Railwaymen's Guild, who were also holding sheir annual meeting in Derby, and ringers from all parts of the country attended. The bells of Derby Cathedral, Duffield, Derby St. Andrew's, St. Peter's, St. Alkmund's and Si Luke's were made available throughout the day. A service was held in St. Peter's Church. conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. A Shaw, and this followed by tea in St. Peter's Parochial Hall, kindly arranged by Miss. Wickman and wives and friends of St. Peter's ringers.

The president of the Derbysihire Association, the Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes, Provost of Derby, exiended a hearty welcome to the Railwaymen's Guild and hoped that they would pay another visit to Derby in the not too distant future. On behalf of the Railwaymen's Guild, Mr. S. Faskett, of Bedford, thanked the president for his welcome, and also the Derbyshire Association for its part in the ringing arrangements and invitation to join them for tea. Both Associations then dispersed for their respective business meetings. The Provost opened the Derbyshire Association's meeting with prayers and afterwards expressed his pleasure that the Association was now financially sound. thanks to the work of the Financial Action Committee. He said that there was still much to be done in the way of public relations and if the progress made during 1961 was maintained, he felt sure that everybody would take the view of change ringing that it deserved.

PROGRESS

In his annual report, the general secretary (Mr. B. P. Morris) reported an increase of membership and that as a result the Association was entitled to one additional member to represent it on the Central Council. He congratulated Derby and Ilkeston District, also the Peak District on gaining, a total of 75 new members. Young ringers' attendance at meetings had been most encouraging; eleven had joined the Association from Heanor. There was also a revival of interest at Melbourne, where a young band was trying hard to master the art of change ringing.

Mention was made of bellringing courses on behalf of the Derbyshire Education Committee at West Hallam, where some very useful work had been carried out by Mr. G. A. Halls. assisted by Mr. J. C. Woolley. An appeal was made to young members to attend a week-end course on bellninging, which was being given on behalf of Northamptonshire Education Committee at Knuston Hall, Irchester. from July 6 th-8th. It was decided to consider giving some financial assistance to members wishing to attend this course, and pointed out that the local education authority might consider a grant
On the Bell Repair Fund. Mr. Morris reported that 44 Parochial Church Councils had joined the affiliation scheme, and to them the Association tendered its grateful thanks, Grants from the fund had been made to Scarcliffe, Pleasley and Chellaston and the Association's honorary consultants had given advice to Dore, Pleasley, West Hallam, St. Osmund's, Derby, and Sawley.

In thanking the clergy for allowing the use of their bells for peals, meetings and outings the secretary reminded ringers that their ringing on Sundays was an act of worship and nothing but the best should be aimed at There were cases (fortunately rare) where ringers were completely divorced from their church. This was chiefly where they were paid, and often their ringing left much to be desired. Seeing that churches of different denominations were getting together to try and understand each other's point of view, ringers should also join in other church activities.

The president reminded members that this vear was the 300 th anniversary of the Prayer Book and requested that peals should be rung to mark the occasion.
It was decided to hold the 1963 annual general meeting at Derby and that the summer quarterly meeting be held at Tideswell.

Mr. F. Adams, vice-president, moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. Peter's, for takjng the service, the clergy of the various churches for allowing us to ring, and the ladies who provided tea

THE RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

This Guild is not making the full progress it should. Why? because of a misapprehen-sion-that you must be a member of the Staff Association.

All members of the Guild are first and foremost Railwaymen; most were before the Staff Association was even thought of, let alone formed. It is not absolutely necessary to be a member of it to be a member of the Railwaymen's Guild.

The Staff Association was formed a few years ago to further, encourage and assist in developing the social, sporting and educational side of the railwayman's life, and to include cricket, football, athletics, golf, tennis, fishing, music, art and drama. Now campanology has been added, so, as members of the $S: A$. we can take part in these pleasant pursuit and pastimes, and enjoy any privileges, faoilities and benefits of the Staft Association.
Incidentally, Mr. Robinson, the new general secretary of the Regional Establishment Staff Association Welfare, kindly accepted the invitation of the Guild to the annual general meeting at Derby on April 28 th , and was very interested and impressed with the whole proceedings.

Now, all railwaymen ringers, pull your weight and make our Guild what it was intended-a well running Guild.
W.F.S.

EMMANUEL CHURCH, PLYMOUTH

The quarter peal rung at Emmanuel Church, Plymouth. on April 26 th created three or four records. It was the first quarter the singers of Emmanuel had ever rung with three ladies taking part; it was the first time two sisters (the Misses Drake) had ever taken part, and they had firsts in the same quarter-Miss P. M Drake rang her first of Triples and for Miss V L. Drake it was her first "inside." On several occasions they have had father and daughter, Mr. Sims (captain of Emmanuel) and Miss Sims, and two brothers. Messrs. A. E. and $\mathbf{R}$. Perkin; Mr. R. Perkin is also Mr. Sims' brother-in-law; a husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Godard: two Thomases. Mesirs. H. H. and O., not related, but both Cornishmen.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

The 69 th annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association rwas held at St. Woolos', Newport, on Easter Monday. About 75 members attended a very enjoyable meeting. The Cathedral bells were available for an hour in the morning and before and after the meeting.
The tinging was supervised by Mr. Alfred Hannington (the Master). In the unavoidable absence of the Dean, the service was conducted by one of his curates. A bountiful tea was provided by the churchwardens and ably served by the St. Woolos' lady ringers. A hearty vote of thanks to the churchwardens and the ladies was proposed by the Rev. I. Richards.
Rev. I. Richards took the chuir for the business meeting. After the minutes, the chairman presented the balance sheet and explained that although it showed a slight surplus it was not as satisfactory as it appeared, because officers were still not claiming expenses to which they were entitled.
The secretary, in his report, said there were far too many towers silent for want of ringers; also there had been a fall in membership, the present total being 244 fully paid-up from 32 towers in affiliation. Several towers had lapsed in recent years. During the year 24 towerbell peals and six handbell peals were rung; six ringers had rung their first peal, and 25 in a new method or progressive length. Four ringers had been lost by death during the year.
Mr. T. Stephens, of Ebbw Vale, was elected Master. honorary secretary, Mr. F. J. Hannington, expressed his wish to give up office, and Mr. J. Pryor was elected his successor. The auditors were re-elected.
Mr. J. Pryor moved that the subscription be raised to 3 s . per year for those over 18 , and Is 6 d . for those under 18 . As some members felt that this might cause hardship to those on pension. it was decided, after discussion, that members over 65 should pay 1s. 6d. as a minimum. Twenty-two new members were elected, also two life members
It was reported that bands had been reformed at Magor, Nash and Bedwellty.
The secretary concluded the business meeting with a short report on the arrangements made for the meeting of the Central Council at Cardiff.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The recently rehung Ashtead bells proved to be an attraction at the Northern District's spring quarterly meeting and striking competition. The service, which was conducted hy a lay reader of Ashtead, Dr. Oliver Holmes, was followed by the draw for the order of ringing by competing bands. Five teams entered the competition, these being: Ashtead, Beddington. St. John's. Croydon, Christ Church, Epsom, and St. Martin's, Epsom.

After tea, the judge, Mr. T. Lock, announced the results and made useful comments on how the less experienced teams might improve their striking. Beddington retained the title of 'Champion Strikers of Surrey,' followed by Croydon and Christ Church, Epsom

It was announced at the meeting that Barnes had made a request to the Association for a course of instruction in Plain Bob. After the usual votes of thanks, the meeting was concluded with general ringing of a good standard.

THE THEORY OF CHANGE RINGING

Turning now to Stedman. inspection of the plain course (XX) shows that all the changes are double changes as they are in the plail course of Grandsire Doubles. Thus no only are all the rows in course, but as the plain course contains 60 rows it includes all the possible in course rows. Hence, to oblain the extent all that is needed is two singles. These are made by causing the two bells dodging in $4-5$ to make 4ths and 5 ths in the-middle of a six

$\begin{array}{llllll}\begin{array}{l}3 \\ 2\end{array} 4 & 1 & \\ 2 & 4 & 4 & 1 & \\ 2 & 4 & 1 & 1 & \\ 4 & 2 & 3 & 15 \\ 4 & & \text { single }\end{array}$  34215

(XXXII) shows a single made in the first six of the plain course. To obtain the extent it is merely necessary to ring 60 changes after the first single and then made another. It is also possible to obtain a sixscore using four singles made at intervals of 30 changes. No bobs are required and none are ever used.

No discourse of this sort can be complete wrhout including some example of the application of the principles which have been enunciated. One object of the study of change ringing theory is the composition of touches and peals. Composition is hardly a suitable topic for inclusion in a series of elementary articles. but proof. which is an essential adjunct to composition, is a subject about which every conductor, at least, should know something

PROOF

If a composition, be it a peal or a shorter souch. purports to run to a given number of rows or changes it is necessary to check that no combination occurs more than once. A given number of rows implies that this number of rows are all different. hence if any row is repeated then the number of different ones is less than the stated total. If the touch is an extent and a row is repeated then there must be another one missing. The process of checking to find whether any rows are repeated is known as 'proof.' In a true touch the number of changes is the same as the number of rows so that it is quite correct to describe its length by either term.
How is a touch proved? It is clearly possible to write out all the rows in the touch and by careful inspection determine whether any of them occur more than once. This is quite a practicable process for four or five bell methods, but far a 720 of Minor even would be very tedious and. indeed, likable to error solely on account of is length. Fortunately it is usually possible to devise short cuts which are reliable. As an example, which illustrates the application of some of the principles described earlier. consider the proof of Bob Major.

In a lead of Bob Major, as can be seen from the above diagram, the two rows with the treble in eaoh position are of opposise nature. Hence, if no singles are used, a lead is defined unambiguously by the lead head row : no other lead can contain the rows in the lead above, for instance. If singles are used in the wuch the same rows may occur in another lead.
head would have been 43652 . Now, if 52436 is transposed as 43652 from 23456, the result is 42635 ; if it is transposed in the same way by itself the result is 35426 . These combinations are the same as the course heads we found occurred if a bob at Wrong was followed by a bob Middle or another bob Wrong respectively.

From this follows a simple way of ensuring that no part of a course is sung more than once in a touch and hence that no lead is repeated. The usuad procedure is to write out the touch in columns using one column for each calling position. Here is a touch written out first for the conductor and then for proof.

| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 23456 | $\mathbf{W}$ | $\mathbf{M}$ | $\mathbf{H}$ |  |
| 45236 |  |  |  | - |
| 62534 |  |  | - | - |
| 52436 |  | - |  |  |
| 35426 | - |  |  |  |
| 23456 | - |  |  |  |

| $(52436)$ | $(43652)$  $\mathbf{W}$ | (42356)  $\mathbf{H}$ |
| :---: | ---: | ---: |
| -52436 | 52436 | -45236 |
| 45236 | -25634 | -62534 |
| 62534 | -52436 | 52436 |
| -35426 | 35426 | 35426 |
| -23456 | 23456 | 23456 |

This touch has calls at Wrong, Middle and Home so there are three columns headed to correspond. Above each column. for convenience, are noted the appropriate transpositions in brackets.
It is understood that the ' $W$ ' column refers to the purt of the course from the Wrong position up to, but not including, the backstroke treble lead at the Middle position (the Middle lead head) and similarly for the other columns. This particular touch commences with a bob at Wrong so the first entry in the ' $W$ ' column is 23456. 2ransposed by 52436 . i.e. 52436 . There is no call at Middle, so. as We must still be in the same course, 52436 is entered in the ' M ' column. There is a bob ait Home so the entry there is 52436 . transposed by the appropriate formula. 42356. i.e. 45236. It is usual to mark bobs by a - as shown above. At the Home position we are at the end of the course and the row 14235678 will be rung at backstroke. It is the head of the next course and as there is no call at Wrong in the next course 45236 appears in that column as well. This procedure is continued for the whole touch. Now inspect all the columns carefully. Does any combination appear more than once in the same column? In this case 52436 appears twice in the M column. This means that the lead belonging to this course between the Middle and Home positions has been rung twice and the touch is theretore false.
This technique is known as proof by Natural Courses, or frequently Natural Course Ends.' Natural Course Ends is, properly, incorrect as the rows which are used are course heads and not course ends. In the example bobs only were used, singles are catered for in just the same way using the appropriate transpositions which students should deduce for themselves. Out of cours: blocks cannot, in Bob Major, contain rows which occur in in course blocks of courses so that portions of touches or peals between singles may be proved independently of the rest. Natural courses may be used to prove many methods. with considerable economy of time and effort though modifications to the detailed procedure may sometimes be necessary
One further point in the proof of Bob Major by Natural Courses should be mentioned. It has been stated that there are three places in the course where calls may be made without disturbing the tenors. It is also possible to make a bob at the lead where the 7th and tenor are coursing one on either side of the treble. A bob at this, the Before. position causes the tenor to run out and the 7 th to run in and they both. in effect, step back one lead and remain in the relative positions which they occupy in the plain course. If a bob Before is called in the plain course the next course head is 35264 so this is the relevant cransposition. Let us now prove the following touch.

| Theory | Of Chang  704 BO  23456 | e Ringing MAJOR B M H |  |
|  | $\begin{aligned} & 23564 \\ & 53462 \\ & 43265 \\ & 26435 \\ & 42635 \\ & 23456 \end{aligned}$ |  |  |
| $(\underset{W}{52436})$ | $\underset{B}{(35264)}$ | (43652) | $(42356)$ |
| 23456 |  |  |  |
| 23564 | $\begin{array}{r} 35264 \\ \hline 23564 \end{array}$ | 35264 -53462 | -23564 53462 |
| 53462 | 53462 | -43265 | 43265 |
| -64235 26435 | 64235 26435 | $\begin{aligned} & 64235 \\ & 26435 \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & -26435 \\ & -42635 \end{aligned}$ |
| 42635 | 42635 |  |  |

There are now four columns which are completed as in the previous example, but with one important difference. Since the bob Before causes the tenors to step back and repeat a lead of their work where this occurs two entries are necessary in the ' $B$ ' column. one for the course in which the position is reached and one for the course into which the bob shunts us. Were this not done the repetition in the touch above would not be apparent. Writing out the first and last courses of the touch will show that the lead 17856342 is used twice.

Proof is a very darge subjeot and the foregoing can only give some idea of the reasoning used. Many methods can be treated in almost the same way as Bob Major, but others. particularly odd-bell methods. may present more difficult problems. Whatever the mehod or number of bells the basic approach is the same

These articles contain nothing which is not well known to most expert ringers, but a great deal of which beginners generally seem to be ignorant. It is hoped that they will stimulate interest in a rather neglected aspect of ringing instruction.

OBITUARY

MR. W. F. JAINE
We regret to record the death in the County Hospital. Hereford, of Mr. William Frederick Juine (74), of Kimbolton.

For 63 years he had been a ringer with the Hereford Diocesan Guild and for 32 years was Ringing Master of the Leominster District. Higher honours came in 1959 and 1960, when he wits Master of the Guild. His other church activities included those of clerk, sexton, chorister and gravedigger, and he took a great pride in the upkeep of Kimbolton churchyard, regarded by visitors as a perfect model.

At the funeral service bell ringers were represented by Messrs. Wilfrid F. Moreton, Austin T. Wingate and George S. Cousins.

MR. JABEZ PREECE

Mr. Jabez Preece, of Lee Lodge, Stauntonon Arrow. Herefords. who died recently, at the age of 82 , had been a ringer at St. Peter's Church for 60 years and secretary of the Bellringers Guild for 38 years. He had also been in the choir for 73 years, parish clerk for 33 years and secretary to the P.C.C. for 18 years.

At the conclusion of the funeral service a peal of Doubles was rung by members of the Kington and Clifford Districts of the Hereford Diocesan Guild. conducted by Mr. B. Ellsmore.

Bell ringers present at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. W. J. Bennett, were: Messrs. A. T. Wingate, G. Cousins, F. Reed (Hereford Cathedrail). Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams. Miss M. Williams. Messrs. J. Hope (Almeley). R. Hatcher (Eardisley), J. Wilce and Mrs. E. Chandler (Lyonshall), Mr, and Mrs. B. Ellsmore (Halesowen), Mr. and Mrs. D. Jaine, Miss Denise Jaine, Messrs. L. Jaine, J. Fox (Kimbolton), L. Cooke (Eye). Mr, and Mrs. J. Bridges (Pembridge). Mr. and Mrs. L. Evans (Eardisland). Messis. J. Petrie. J. Dyke (Staunton-on-Arrow), L. Miles, A. Owens, T. Giddings, B. Giddings (Kington).

MR. LEONARD G. STONE

The Christchurch Priory ringers have suffered a great loss by the sudden death of their captain, Mr. Leonard G. Stone, on April 12 th at the early age of 58.

Mr. Stone was a skilled engineer, and had carried on the business in Christchurah established by his father over sixty years ago. He was taught to ring by the late George Preston, and he conducted his first peal Grandsire Triples-at Ringwood at the age of sixteen. $\mathrm{H}_{2}$ became tower captain in 1956, and his quiet. unassuming manner made him very popular
The Priory bells were rung half-muffled for the funeral service, and an attempt for a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters the same evening was lost after half an hour.

Among the floral tributes was a "bell' from his fellow ringers at the Priory, and a wreath from the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild (Christchurch Branch).

Mr. Stone leaves a son and two daughters, to whom much sympathy is extended.

MR. WILLIAM A. GOLDSTONE

A keen Sunday service ringer in the Chertsey District of Guildford Diocesan Guild. Mr. Wm. A. Goldstone died at his Addlestone home in the early hours of April 29th, aged 76. Born at Great Bardfield, Essex, he came to Surrey after serving in his local tower and was for some years out of touch with ringing until he was 'discovered' by the writer in the late 30 s . He took a great interest in training young ringers by regular practice nights, and for some years he cycled eight miles from his home to the isolated church at Send. In recent years he helped in the revival of ringing at his nearest tower. Weybridge.

He was not a great peal ninger, but he loved a quarter peal, especially if it was for a Sunday service, and he was a devoted reader of our paper

The funeral service took place at St. John's Crematorium. Woking, on May 3rd. and various tributes were paid not only by flowers from ringers but also in the evening by special ringing in the district.

Sometmes wedding hospitality is not conducive to good peal ringing. This was the the wedding at Stoney Stanton , Dorothy Cox and Michael Vernon A peal attempt of Cambridge Surprise Major was halted and a good quarter of Plain Bob Major rung in its place. Ten days later however, after the wedding of Michael's twin brother John a well-struck peal of Bob Major was rung.
The average age of the Stourbridge Grammar School band that rang a peal of Doubles at Broadwas-on-Teme on April 27 th was 14 years 7 months.
Mr. Henry Stalham, now 90 years of age, rang in a College Youth peal of Plain Bob Royal on April 28 th at St. Peter's, Brighton.
Mr. Frank Claydon, who will be 81 this year, rang his 69th peal of I.ondon Surprise at Colchester on Easter Monday.
Mr. David F. Breakspear rang a peal of Plain Bob Major when he rang his first touch in the method at Frindsbury, Kent, on April 21 st.

Owing 10 still being under doctor's orders, Mr. T. Cullingworth could not participate in the peal at Maidstone. He was, however, able to act as timekeeper.

Sian Evans and Sid Thomas, who rang their first quarter in the first to be rung on the restored bells at St. Mary's, Cardigan, have less than 9 months' ringing experience.

Owing to a dislocated knee, Miss Jean Barnett was unable to ring in her birthday peal on April 27th. Her father was also unable to stand in at the last minute, and thanks Mr. John Faircloth for coming in at short notice. Forlunately both her grandfathers were fit enough to take part.

After participating in an Anzac Day quarter peal at St. Mary's Basilica, Sydney, Australia, Mr. David Trueman flew home to England the following day. Writes a correspondent: - We'd like to have him back for the peal attempt next Anzac Day-purely wishful thinking!' David rang another quarter at Parramatta on Easter Day.

Mr. E. G. Hibbins, who called a quarter at Great St. of Mr. T. R. Dennis' 50 years' membership of the Society of Cambridge Youths, was celebrating the 52nd anniversary of his own first peal. This was a peal of Doubles in 12 methods rung at Fen Ditton, Cambs. The band was W. Nicholls 1, E. G. Hibbins 2, L. G. Mallion 3, H. Wisbeach 4, H. Newman 5. With the exception of $H$. Newman, who conducted the peal, the others are still living. And long may it be so.
The quarter peal of London Surprise Minor at West Buckland was rung as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. H. Morrish on the birth of a daughter, the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stevens.

The peal at Broadwas, Worcs, on April 27th was rung as a birthday compliment to the father of the treble singer, Mr. Wooldridge.

The dedication of Portsmouth Cathedral Church is St. Thomas a Becket and not St. Thomas of Canterbury, as published on page 289.

The Hereford Diocesan Guild has lost by death two stalwarts-Mr. W. F. Jaine, of Kimbolton, aged 74, and Mr. Jabez Preece, of Staunton-on-Arrow, aged 84.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

A certain Shrewsbury ringer is to be congratulated on a very lucky escape. While on his honeymoon in Easter week he slipped on the slopes of Ben Nevis, fell 200 feet, and sustained only a broken ankle.
Melling, Lancs, had three bells in 1552. Five were recast in 1753 by Rudhalls and a treble added in 1954. For over 100 years a member of the Gibson family has rung these bells, which are on plain bearings and 'go' quite well.
When northern members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths rang a peal of Stedman Caters at Newark, Notts, on Easter Monday, the composer chosen was the honorary secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

RINGING TO 'TIME'

TIIME, according to the dictionary, is defined as rate of movement-rhythm; so in ringing to time we think of rate of movement leading to rhythm of the bells.
Bells are rung in changes at various speeds, which is normally referred to as a number of changes per minute. Therefore, whatever number of bells are being rung, whether $6,8,10$ or 12 , in order to get rhythm each of the ringers must ring his bell at the same rate of movement as the others, so that all are ringing the same number of changes per minute.
Ringing may be likened unto walking. If a party of people set off to walk together and one acts as pacemaker, then all the others walk at the same rate or pace. But if one of the walkers decides to run for a while, then in order to finish at the same time as the others that one will have to wait for a while; and in reverse, if one walks slower than the others for a while, then that one will have to walk quicker to get back in line.
The same effect is occasioned in ringing by quick or late blows. Bells intended to be ringing at 30 changes per minute must all be striking at that time or speed, bearing in mind the fractional change of time necessary to change positions in change-ringing. A hold up by a ringer causing a late blow means that that particular change by that ringer was only rung at a speed of say 26 changes per minute, whereas a quick blow may mean that an attempt had been made to ring at perhaps 40 changes per minute. A hold up or a quick blow alters the rate of movement. and thereby spoils the rhythm.
'Time' ringing is achieved by three kinds of pull on the rope:-
(1) 'Even' pull, as in ringing rounds, or place making, or wherever two consecutive blows in the same place are made.
(2) 'Short' pull, when moving downwards from behind to front, or dodging back as in 3-4 or 5-6.
(3) 'Long' pull, when moving from front to behind, or dodging down as in 6-5 or 4-3.
N.B. $-3-4$ refers to a dodge commonly known as $3-4$ up, and $4-3$ to a dodge commonly known as 3-4 down.
It is impossible to assume that a ringer in ringing allows 6 in . over the treble, 9 in . over the fifth. and 18 in . over the tenor, as if anyone was to try such a system, apart from the fact that the movement of the ropes is too quick to measure these distances, a ringer in an 8 -bell tower would have to remember 112 distances to cover hand and back, providing that ringer is capable of ringing from treble to tenor, and would be completely lost with striking a bell in a strange tower.

Who is pacemaker responsible for setting the 'time' for ringing? The tenor ringer is normally responsible for this, and it is that ringer's duty to ascertain the speed at which a particular ring of bells, or a particular band of ringers, is most suited for ringing. It is then the duty of the other ringers to ring at the speed set by the tenor ringer, thereby ringing as a team and not as a set of individual ringers each attempting to ring its own 'time.'

In ringing to time no attention is paid to the bell being struck over if that bell is rung quick or slow, as if an attempt is made to strike correctly over that faulty beat then the fault is only extended until the 'time' ringer is reached, when the fault is then heard that should have been heard immediately after the badly-struck bell, and a system of erratic ringing is thereby only prolonged.
The only way to good striking is to know the method being rung so that one knows the path of the bell, make the 'even,' 'long,' or 'short ' pull as required, bearing in mind that when a bell is proceeding from front to back by 'long' pulls that bell may be striking over bells that are coming from behind making 'short' pulls, and when proceeding from back to front by 'short ' pulls the bell being struck over may be proceeding to behind and making 'long' pulls. This can lead to deception in striking over, so do not heed the other pull but 'ring to time.'
F. AITCH.

No Health Precautions Necessary For Cardiff Visit

An assurance has been given by the Medical Officer of Heath for the city that no health precautions need be taken by members visiting Cardiff for the Central Council meeting this Whitsun.
Mr. E. A. Barnett, in a lelter to the madical officer, wrote: ' One or two members have questioned the desirability of holding the meeting in Cardiff in view of the recent smallpox outbreak. and I should be grateful for your views on whether it would be preferable to meat elsewhere.

The following reply, signed W. Powell Phillips. Medical Officer of Health, City of Cardiff. has been received by Mr. Barnett:

Thank you for your letter of May 2nd, telling me of your meeting at the City Hall, Cardiff, on June 12th next. I would like to assure you that there is no need for any health precautions to be taken by your members, in connection with their visit to Cardiff on account of any recent smallpox outbreak in South Wales. The only case occurring in Cardiff was in January last and any subsequent cases, have taken place some distance from Cardiff.

IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA

St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, had two meetings during April. The first was the inauguration of what it is hoped will be a series of regular quarterly meetings with the only other ringing tower in South Australia. Si. Andrew's, Walkerville. The meeting was on April 1st in St. Peter's Cathedral. After $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' ringing the Bishop conducted a service in the Lady Chapel. similar to that used by the Gloucester and Bristol Guild. The Bishop was entertained to tea and there was evening ringing.
At Easter we wore happy to welcome some inter-State ringers. George Pipe came over from Melbourne and Messrs. Goodyer, Fryer. Clark and Hughes drove 990 miles from Sydney. A feast of ringing was spread over two days. beginning on Easter morning at 6.30 a.m. Methods rung included Cambridge Norwich and London Minor, Grandsire. Court Bob and Stedman Triples, and Bob Major. Two quarter peals at the Cathedral (Stedman Triples and Bob Major) and one at St. Andrew's (Cambridge Minor) were successfully brought round. This inter-State gathering proved highly enjoyable and profitable. Not only did we all extend our range of ringing but we discovered a restaurant which serves a wonderful shashlick

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Over thirty members and friends attended the meeting of the Southern Branch at East Harling on April 28th.
A short service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle), with the lesson read by Dr. P. H. A. Jonason. the Branch chairman. This was followed by an excellent tea. kindly provided by the local ringers and members of the Mothers Union.
It was decided to hold the next meeting on July 28 th at Saxlingham (subject to permission), with an evening practice meeting at New Buckenham on May 19 th.

MEMORIAL TABLE TO CATHEDRAL MASTER

THIS beautiful, solid oak table, 4 ft .6 in . in diameter. stands in the ringing chamber of Lincoln Cathedral as an inscribed memorial to John Ashley Freeman, Master, 1929-1961. It is the gift of the Cathedral company and was made by the staff of the clerk of works of the Cathedral.
The table was dedicated by the Dean (the Right Rev. D. C. Dunlop), on April 12th. in the morning chapel prior to the Thursday practice. The Cathedral company, their wives and friends and relatives of the late Mr . Freeman attended the service, which opened with a prayer offered by his son, the Rev. Michael Freeman.
The present Master. Mr. J. Walden. spoke of Mr. Freeman's long association with the Cathedral company, his membership dating from 1914 and his Mastership from 1929, until his death in 1961
In 1914, said Mr. Walden, the standard of ringing was not very high. In 1928 the Cathedral bells were augmented to 12 and under Mr. Freeman's Mastership there was continued improvement in the standard of ringing and at the time of his death the Cathedral company as a resident 12 -bell band could compare favourably with any in the country.
After the Dean had said the prayers of the dedication he was thanked by Mr. John Freeman, the late Master's elder son. He also thanked Mr. Higgins. the clerk of the works and his staff for their beautiful craftsmanship.
Afterwards in the tower the Cathedral company rang a touch of Stedman Cinques, with which the late Mr. Freeman would have been proud to be associated.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY

Officers of the Cambridge University Guild f Change Ringers for the year 1962-63: President. W. J. Ridgmas (Queens') : honorary treasurer. B. D. Threlfall (Trinity): Master. J. R. Hough (Jesus) ; honorary secretary. A. S. Hudson (Clare): Jibrarian. D. J. Mundy (Peterhouse): steeplekeeper, J. W. McClenahan (Christ's).

50 Years Ago

May 17th. 1912.
By a pure coincidence the peal at St. Paul's. Bedford, last Saturday. by Royal Cumberland Youths. was rung on the 151 st anniversary of the first peal on the hells. which. curiouslv enough, was rung by the same Society. This Has a peal of Bob Major, on May 111h, 1761. The peal last Saturday was arranged some weeks before it was discovered that it was an anniversary celebration.

Gloucester & Bristol Assn Face Financial Problem

BY increasing members' subscriptions and increasing the peal booking fee the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association are endeavouring to meet difficulties in their finances. These steps were approved at the annual general meeting held at Lydney on April 28 th. Over 150 members were present The last visit by the Association to Lydney wals in 1947
The Master ( Mr . A. Bennett, in his report wrote: "It is interesting to note the continued enthusiasm for Surprise methods and peal ringing in the Swindon. Bristol and Gloucester areas. On the cther hand, I am rather concerned at the standard of striking, particularly when leading. in some places. and I would urge experienced ringers to do all they can t) help those less experienced, so that we can endeavour to rectify this.

PEALS-A NEW PEAK

The general secretary (Mr. C. Rouse) re ported that peats had reached a new peak, total of 102 having been rung; they would be printed as soon as funds permitted. There were four firsts in method-Longney Surprise, Peterborough Surprise and Quedgeley Surprise Major and Stroud Surprise Royal: also the first peal of Maximus in nine methods. Of the 741 ropes handled in the peals rung only 29 were held by first pealers of the Association Was this number too small?

At least 13 members had died. two of them-Messrs. S. Romans and F. Qakhillbeing vice-presidents. Others included W. H Payne. G. H. Wiggins. P. Tanner, C. Holbrook, W. J. Preece. W. D. Nichols, Canon T. E. Meurig Davis. A. Kinsey, W. H. Harris C Hathaway. J. Durham and T. Newman.
The memorial to W. F. Skidmore, a credence table. in St. Ambrose's. Bristod, had been dedicated. Thanks were expressed to Mrs. Skidmore. for providing tea for those attending the serwice
Mr. S. G. Riches (honorasy treasurer) reported that the year had been a difficult one for finances, printing expenses having taken $£ 192$ in one year. The cost of printing the report, stationery and postage absorbed pracrically the whole of the income in one year from members' subscriptions. The Management ${ }^{\text {Fund }}$ had run into serious trouble, with a deficit of $£ 54$ on the year's working.
The paid up membership figures were disapoointing, with juniors 150 (186) and seniors 789 (864). The membership subscription for seniors was increased to 3 s . 6 d . each as from January 1st. 1961. and the total subscriptions received amounted to $£ 165$ ( $£ 142$ ). The accumulated balance on the Belfry Repair Fund was $£ 470$

INCREASED SUBSCRIPTIONS AT ONCE

All the reports were adopted as printed, including the statement of accounts, which showed a deficit in the Management Fund of $£ 2615 \mathrm{~s}$. : a bill for the reports received since for $\pm 74$ makes the total daficit for 1961 over $£ 100$. In an attempt to remedy this, subscription for senior mombers was increased to 5 s ., and the age of juniors reduced from 18 to 16, with an increase in subscription to 2 s . 6d. Another increase to cover cost of printing peals, which had to be omitted from the current report. was to raise the peal booking fee to 1 s . per ringer taking part in peals for the Assocration. These increases take place at once. Peal ringers. please note.
Mr. A. V. Bennett was re-elected Master and all other officers were re-elected. except that Mr. E. Sutton bicomes peal secretary, His task for the present will the confined to writing up the back-log of over 300 peals.
New vice-presidents elected were Mr. E. T. New vice-presidents elected were Mr. E. T, Newbury. of Beckford, Mr. H. Hobbs, of Slimbridge, and Mr. F. Roberts, of Wickwar Mr. F. Pratt. of Leckhampton. and Mr. G.

Edmunds, of Avening, were made honorary

The four Central Council representatives were re-elected, and those serving on the Management Committee also re-elected, excep for Mrs. A. V. Bennett who, after fifiteen years service, did not seek a further team; he place was filled by Mr. E. W. Penn.

NEW RULES

There was general agreement between members that a new set of rules were needed; a motion to hold a Special General Meeting in July to adopt a draft set was defeated by a large majority and a proposition to have a sub-committee to submit rules not later than October, 1963. was passed. They will get to work very soon on the job and the result will be awaited with interest.
The next A.G.M. will be at Henbury, in the Bristol Rural Branch, on April 20th, 1963.

Details of the course of instruction to be held in Bristol were given and by a very large majority members present voted a sum of $£ 25$ from the Belfry Repair Fund for St. Paul's Cathedral, Mebbourne, Australia

Votes of thanks were passed to those who had made the day such a success, those named being the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Leach), Mr. N. K. Winspear. Mr. W. F. Scudamore and $\mathrm{Mi}_{1}$, and Mrs. Rouse.

The service followed a very good and well organised tea and was taken by the Vicar assisted by the curate and the Rectors of Awre and Ruardean and Newland. The sum of $\pm 512$ s. was collected for the Belfry Repair Fund.

There was ringing at most towers in the Branch, but stays were broken at Awre and Lydney, a clapper fell out at Westbury-onSevern, and a complaint had been received that the bells at Hewelsfield were left up, a very dangerous thing to have done, as the ropes hang between the choir stalls, and the church is always left open. Ringers should never leave bells up where the public can get at the ropes.
Fee for peals should still be sent to the general secretary at Churchdown.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society held its annual meeting at St Chad's. Headingley, on April 28th and the fined-toned bells were kept going in a variety of methods

After a nice tea, provided by the local company, the business meeting was held, and two new members were elected-Mr. Allan New bould (Rothwell) and Mr. John Thomas (Headingley).

The proposal that the subscription rate be ircreased from 6d. per member per annum to 1s. per annum was carried unanimously
The following officers were elected to serve for the next twelve months: President. Mr Thomas Strangeway vice-presidents, Messrs. Leonard Drake. John Gibson and Alfred Smith: secretary, Miss Angela Skidmore Ringing Master, Mr. Ian North.
The retiring secretary, Mr. D. Thorp, did not seek re-election, owing to increasing business commitments.
The Vicar and churchwardens were thanked for allowing the Society to visit St. Chad's, by Mr. John Gibson, seconded by Mr. Leonard Drake.
The retiring secretary, Mr. D. Thorp, presented his report on the Society's activities over the previous 12 months and deplored the fact that membership was decreasing. He called for more support from members who called for more support from mem did not attend the monthly meetings
Next meeting: Barwick in Elmet. subject to permission.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION Eastern District

The annual meeting of the Eastern District was held at Bray on Easter Monday, and was attended by 43 members from Arklow, Bray, Dublin and Drogheda.

The president, Mr. Fred Bogan, graced the meeting with his presence, as also did Mr. Harold Greene, an original and founder member of the Association, and who started to ring at St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1888. Mr B. Bruce represented the Northern District. The meeting was welcomed to Bray by Rev. W. M. Rooke, Rector

The election of District officers resulted as follows: Chairman, Mr. James McManus; Ringing Master, Mr. Fred E. Dukes; treasurer, Mr. William D. Graham; secretary, Mrs. F. Er. Dukes: assislant secretary, Mr. Adrian Doak. Representatives on the Executive Council were appointed as follows: Vice-president. Mr. H. J. Johnston (Bray); Counci members, Mrs. Dukes, Messrs. McManus and Doak

The Lindoff Cup was contested for and the judges-Messis. F. Bogan, J. McManus and R. Keegan-decided that the Drogheda team were best with 30 faulis. Bray were second with 50 faults and St. George's. Dublin, third with 63 faults. Both Drogheda and Bray rang method. Drogheda have now held the cup for the past eight years. Their team was: Edwin Dukes (aged 15). W. D. Graham. Mrs F. E. Dukes, J. Dolan. Randal Henly, W Bovenizer, J. Nuzum and F. E. Dukes.
The success of the change ringing practices held during the winter months caused the meeting to decide upan their continuance-at outlying towers during the summer and at St George's Church. Dublin, during the winter.
Lunch was taken in the Mellifont Hotel. Bray, and tea was kindly provided by the local team in the Parochial Hall. The Rector, Select Vestry, ringers and ladies were thanked for the arrangemnts.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD West Dorset Branch

Although Mr. Ernest Morris had only died early that morning. members of the West Dorset Branch, at their meeting at Evershot on April 28th. stood in a silent tribute to his memory. Mr. Morris was well known to most members of the Branch, as he often spent his holidays at Lyme Regis
The Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. N. Longridge) was among the visitors and ringing included Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford T.B with Cambridge Surprise as the service touch on these delightful six bells. The new Rector, the Rev. Mr. Andrews. based his address, at the service he conducted. on the two attitudes of the public towards bells: Later de was thanked at the business meeting by the chairman. the Rev. J. S. Arthur, who, in a reference 10 his address said a story was always remembered. There were thanks also from the chairman to Evershot ringers for the ample tea so generously given, and to the organist.
The secretary, Mr. J. E. Barrett, mentioned how inspired he had been at the Guild anniversaries he had attended and regretted that nothing big was being done this year to mark the 80th anniversary. However, it was suggested that on two Sundays-September 9th and 16th-Ringers' Sundays should be observed with special services.
Other business included the election of Mr . and Mrs. Mead, of Bradpole, as members and a receipt of $£ 39 \mathrm{~s}$. for the donation to Kilifi Bell Fund

Next meeting: Netherbury, June 30th.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD  A Change Of Presidency

EICESTER Diocesan Guild, at its annual general meeting on April 28 th, elected a new president-Mr. Frank K. Measures, who secured 61 votes against 56 polled for the retiring president, Mr. P. J. Staniforth.

Other officers elected were: Vice-presidents. Messrs. B. S. Payne and P. L. Taylor; general secretary, B. G. Warwick; peal secretary, J. A. Acres; honorary treasurer, Mrs. B. G. Warwick, in place of the late Ernest Morris; Central Council for one year, J. A. Acres, vice Ernest Morris.

Central Council representatives for three years commencing January 1 st, 1963, are: Messrs. S. Burton, J. M. Jelley, P. J. Staniforth and B. G. Warwick.

The general report of the honorary secretary showed that adults who paid in 1961 were 510 and juniors 189, making a total membership of 699. There were 151 who owed just one year. These together, totalled 850 . Five years ago the membership total was 604 paid, 128 owing one year, total 732.

The outstanding achievement of the year was the enthusiasm in the Soar Valley area of the Syston District, where there were 65 juniars.

The following members had been transferred to the list of honorary life members in appreciation of their work done for the Guild: Messrs. T. H. Vallance, Stoke Golding; E. H. Staneley, Stoke Golding; G. Butler, Shepshed; G. Hadfield. Hugglescote; A. Woodvine, Ashley-de-la-Zouch.

The report of the treasurer (the late Mr . Ernest Morris) showed a deficit on the year of $£ 39$, the balance in hand on the general fund being $£ 72$. The bell repair fund had a balance of $£ 119$, a grant of 15 guineas being made to Whetstone.

BIG YEAR FOR PEALS

The peal secretary, Mr. John A. Acres, reported that 203 peals had been rung in 1961, the greatest number achieved for 10 years. Of these 61 were rung on handbells, there being a marked increase in the Syston District.

Individual performances were: First peal 37. first as conductor 3 , different canductors 38. Leading conductors: Brian G. Warwick 53, John M. Jelley 27, B. Stedman Payne 27, Robert B. Smith 16 ; leading peal ringers: John M. Jelley 80, John A. Acres 72, Ernest Morris 69, Brian G. Warwick 57, A. James Poynor 51. John M. Jelley completed the alphabet in Surprise Major and Surprise Royal methods on tower bells. Brian G. Warwick completed the alphabe to Surprise Royal methods and he and John Jelley were the first ringers in the county to do so.

Additians to rules provide for life ringing membership on the payment of a single sum of 555 s . and members reaching the age of 65 shall not require to pay an annual subscription.
Some lively discussion took place at the end about towers whose correspondents had not requested annual reports for their memhers and therefore had not received any. The secretary stated that it was made clear in the circular letter to all towers and at meetings that reparts would be ordered only for those who requested them. They could not expect the Guild to co-operate with them if they refused to co-operate with the Guild. The secretary, however, agreed (as he had taken the precaution of ordering a few extra copies) to supply those who asked him for one. It should be clearly understood that next year extra copies will not be ordered.

Next general meeting: Market Harborough District, July 14th. Annual dinner: October 13th.

BRISTOL CUPID AGAIN

We feel certain that university readers would like to see the wedding smiles of John C. Baldwin and Beryl W. Abbo!t after the ceremony at Cleckheaton, Yorks, and 10 congratulate John on his escape after a dislodged boulder rolled on his leg. while on a honeymoon visit to Ben Nevis. The fall of $200 f$ f. was sheer fiction circulated by a Scottish reporter. The leg is mending quite well, and John hopes to be ringing by the end of next week.

CHEW DEANERY'S GIFT TO PREB. BEECHEY

Ringers from most Chew Deanery towers were present at the 'Prince of Orange,' Yatton, on Easter Tuesday evening, when the Branch made a presentation to the retiring Vicar of Yatton, Preb. G. A. Beechey, and his wife.
The local Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Knight, spoke of the warm affection which the ringers felt towards Mr. Beechey. His kindness and support for the Branch were well known and demonstrated at the very happy meetings which were held at Yatton.

Others present echoed these sentiments, and Mr. H. A. Price, the local tower captain, spoke of the Prebendary's never failing interest and support for his bells and the ringers.
The presentation of a bookcase was made by Mr. Knight. This was inscribed: - Presented by the Chew Deanery Bellringers to Prebendary Beechey in appreciation of his interest and encouragement: Mrs. Knight presented Mrs. Beechey with a bouquet.
In his reply, the Prebendary thanked all who had contributed to such a splendid gift, which came to him as a complete surprise. He spoke of his very happy years at Yatton, and paid a generous tribute not only to his own ringers but to all those who gave of their time so generously to ting for service.
Mr. Beechey claimed to know a little more about ringing than many of his colleagues, as not only were both he and his wife ringers but he was also directly related, on his mother's side. to Purdue, the Somerset bell founder
Mrs. Beechey thanked the Jocal company for their patience in guiding her through the mysieries of change ringing, and especially Stedman Triples!
A peal of Grandsire Triples to mark the event was unfortunately lost in the afternoon.

LL regions were well represented at the 6 A.G.M. of the Railwaymen's Guild, held at Derby on April 28th, when the programme for the day was merged with the Derbyshira Association, who were holding their annual mesting. The visitors included Mr. S. Robinson. secretary of Joint Committee, British Railways Staff Association, who followed the programme through to the end. At the tea table, Mr. S:d Foskett thanked those respon sible for the excellent arrangements.
The highlight of the ringing was the visit to St. Alkmund s, Duffield, the home tower of Sir Arthur Heywood, the founder of the Central Council. Ringing there and throughout the day was of a high standard.
The Master, Mr. Bert Kynaston, was unable to attend. and 28 members also sent apologies; Mr. Foskett was voted to the chair The news of the passing of Mr. Jack Hogg, a few days previously, was received with grea regret, the members standing in silence
The accounts showed a surplus on the year's working and the general secretary, in his report, said the system was working to the satisfaction of everyone.

THE NEW MASTER
As Mr. Kynaston was not seeking re election as Master, on the proposition of Mr. Fred Hodgson, seconded by Mr. A. Bassett. Mr. Frank Stenson, of Crewe, was elected his successor. At first Mr. Stenson demurredhe thought a younger man and a better ringer than himself should have been elected. He promised, however, to do his best while in office.

The regional officers were re-elected, on the proposition of Mr. F. Hodgson, and seconded by Mr. Michae! Bland. as follows: Western Mr. W. B. Kynaston; Southers, Mr. A Bassett: London Midland. Mr. S. Foskett North-Eastern. Mr. Harold Walker; Eastern. Mr. R. Meadows. Mr. H. Walker moved the re-election of Mr. A. Hoare as general secretary and treasurer, the seconder being Mr W. Hollands. Messrs. Jack Brough and Frank Morton were re-elected auditors.

After discussion, Lincoln was selected for the autumn meeting and Kent for the 1963 A.G.M. A motion from Mr. S. Foskett to introduce a ringing competition was defeated. Messrs. Geo. E. Lewis, H. G. Basson and Ireland were elected members, and Mr. T Cox to associate membership.

The meeting concluded with a comprehensive vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. F. Stenson to the chairman and officers and the incumments of the six churches visited.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A LITERARY MEMORIAL TO ERNEST MORRIS
Dear Sir,-Ernest Morris, whose passing we all grieve, will not only be remembered for his unique practical ringing achievements but also for his outstanding contributions to the literature about bells. Unfortunately many of his line books are no longer in print, and difficult to obtain secondhand; they ought to be readily available to all ringers.

As a fitting memorial to this great ringer, could the Central Council undertake the republication of his works? If financial considerations prevent such a scheme in its entirety lor the present, could a memorial edition of History and Art of Change Ringing' be produced, with two appendices: one to bring the material up to the present day and the other to tell the life story of Ernest Morris himself?-Yours sincerely,

> DEREK P. JONES.

Stapenhill, Burton-on-Trent, Notts.

'SUNBURY COURT PLACE BOB,

Dear Sir, -In reference to Mr. P. A. Brand's letter of May 3rd, 1962, I would like to thank him for his Court Place Bob treble work, as I too have been experimenting with treble works. but have not found any particularly good ones.

1 do not know about the originality of Sunbury, but, assuming a fourlhs place bob, this is a 720 .
23456 Wrong Home (i.e. 5 ths start, 6 ths start)

45236  32456  45326 23456

Incidentally, the 180 plain course of Sunbury is three halves, not five thirds of the Treble Bob course ; and would not Court Place Treble Bob be a more accurate name? A Major version of the treble work would surely be double dodge in $1 / 2$, Court places in $3 / 4$ and $5 / 6$, and double dodge in $7 / 8$ : from where the work would be symmetrical.-Yours incerely.
Abingdon, Berks.

'SUNBURY' WORTHLESS

Dear Sir,-I regret to inform Mr. P. A. Brand that his concoction 'Sunbury' is worthless, it being impossible to obtain an extent in the ' method.'
In the 1850 's, a D. Scholfield, of Huddersfield, published a book which contained similar methods. A copy of this is now in the C.C. library and has a note scribbled across the title page: 'Rubbish, A.P.H.' I am inclined to agree. - Yours sincerely,
H. CHANT.

Ryhill, Wakefield

'SUNBURY'

Dear Sir.-Reference, 'Sunbury' (page 285). Provided the figures produce a clear proof throughout the course, the standard calling for Plain Bob. i.e. 6 without 5 or 5 without 6 will apply and produce the extend Congratulations on your enthusiasm!-Yours Preston, Lancs.

STRIKING AT UNIVERSITIES

Dear Sir,-Mr. Bennett has replied to my letter with more haste than thought. If he reads it again he will find in it no suggestion that Mr. Alexander Martin is himself anything other than an exemplary striker. I merely stated that Mr. Martin has livtle knowledge of striking or teaching at Universities. Nor does the letter mention an isolated visit to a Wirral Branch meeting. My opinion is based on eight weeks of ringing. frequently in the area, and others have expressed the same feelings in my hearing.

However, 1 am relieved that the report of the speech has proved to be inaccurate. No doubt such an article intended for publication will be vetted by an officer of the Sooiety in future.-Yours faithfully,

Bristol.
JAMES R. TAYLOR.

RESTORATION PLANNED

Dear Sir-The eight bells of St. Mary's, Ullenhall, Warwicks, are at present unringable, but it is hoped to include them in a very fuli programme of restoration with which the new vicar is confronted.
It is hoped that the bell founders will be irspecting them shortly and notice of their availability will appear in 'The Ringing World ' in due course.-Yours, etc.,
J. K. FOOT.

Henley-in-Arden, Warwicks.

A COMPOSITION OF MR. IVIN'S

Dear Sir,-I am informed that the Composition 5,024 Yorkshire Surprise Major, published over my name in 'R.W.' April 20th (page 264), was first published April 13th, 1956, as the production of Stephen Ivin. Being satisfied that this is correct, I would like to withdraw all claim to the same, with apologies.-Yours rruly,
E. W. TIPLER.

Lutterworth.

ST. LEONARD'S, PADIHAM

Dear Sir,-In your account of 'Bells around Burnley,' singed by E.J.F.W., the first tower mentioned is Padiham, possessing a ring of eight (tenor 16 cwt.) by Taylors.
Have these bells been recast, because my records state they were cast by Mears in 1901. - Yours faithfully,
B. CARTER.

Seven Kings, Essex.

WIGGENHALL ST. GERMAN

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr . Peter Bond's four-bell comments (puge 236) I would like to make a correction about Wiggenhall St. German, Norfolk, whose bells, he says, are hung dead.
I understand that Mr. E. H. Mastin, of Downham Market, and others have rung Minimus on these bells since the war, and he assures me that with a "little attention' they are ringable.-Yours, etc.

GRAHAM J. MANN.

OBITUARY

MR. T. A. BLOW

The ringers of St. Peter's, South Croydon, have suffered a great loss in the death of their captain, Mr. Tom Blow, who died on April 9th, in his 74th year.

Going to Croydon in 1938, he remained for 23 years devoted to the advancement of the local band, as well as taking part in many other affairs of the church. His early ringing years were spent at the Abbey Church, St. Albans, and although he kept no record he aang many peals there, at St. Peter's and in other towers.

A quarter peal was rung half-muffled at St. Peter's oul April 27h.

MR. W. C. HART

St. Peter's Church, Brighton, was truly the centre of Mr. William Charles ( Bill') Hart's life and interest. Born within sound of his beloved bells, he was baptised, confirmed and married, sang in the choir as boy and man, later becoming sidesman and verger. For over 60 years a member of St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers and of the Sussex County Association, he rang his first pzal (Superlative) conducted by his brother, Keith Hart, on December 31st, 1903, for the midnight service.

Of the 148 peals in which he rang, 72 were at St. Peter's and 17 at St. Nicholas', Brighton. Although his last peal (Stedman Caters) was at St. Peter's on April 25th, 1947, he continued to ring for Sunday services until about three years ago.

Perhaps his proudest memory was ringing in the first peal ever of London Surprise Royal rung at St. Peter's by the Sunday service band in 1926. again conducted by his brother Keith. Of that band. there is now only one survivor, Mr. Jack Capp.
-Bill' Hart died on Good Friday, aged 84 years. At the funeral service on April 25 th two courses of Grandsire Caters were rung halfmuffled by the following: Audrey Evans 1, D. Snoswell 2, Ruth How 3. H. Brown 4, S. Brown 5, L. Stilwell 6, A. Bond 7, H. Stalham 8, W. A. Riddington 9, F. Lewis 10.
Later at the graveside the traditional course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung by: H. Stalham 1-2, L. Stilwell 3-4. A. Bond
5-6, D. Snoswell 7-8.

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

At the annual meeting of the Society on March 27 th , the following officers were elected for 1962-63: Chairman, Geoffrey Davis; Ringing Master, Roderick W. Pipe; secretary and treasurer, Margaret Essen.

RINGER-CHURCHWARDEN

Although he is only 27. Mr. John Sellers, a ringer at Arundel, has been elected churciwarden for the third year. His wedding on April 29th at Chichester to Miss Janet Wyatt was marked by a quarter on Arundel bells the following day. Triples had been planned, but unfortunately one ringer was taken ill. Mr. J. B. Daughtry stood down and watched his wife (John's sister) score her first 'inside' and his niece, Gillian, her first quarter.

Saxilby (Lincs) Sunday service band established another tower record on Easter Day when they used two entirely different teams to ring two quarter peals on the same day. Martin Mann (who has several quarters to his credit) was the only member of the band who did not take part.

ERNEST MORRIS RANG 2,076 PEALS

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N February 27th, 1961, Ernest Morris became the first person to ring 2,000 peals. It was a peal of Morriston Surprise Royal, especially named for the occasion, rung at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and the conductor had never known him so happy
Since that day, Ernest had rung another 76 peals on all numbers of bells except 11. His last peal was again at the Bell Foundry, where altogether he had rung 334 peals. It was Woodstock Surprise Royal rung on April 9 th. which shows that he was fully alert and active right up to the end.
His last attempt for a peal was at Whetstone on April 14th. He was then feeling the effect of the indisposition which necessitated his operation, but the peal was lost through a mistake in the fourth 720 . On Monday, April 16th, he was prepared to travel to Loughborough as usual, but at 5 p.m., instead of being taken there, he was taken by ambulance to the Leicester Royal Infirmary.

This was characteristic of Ernest. He would have to be really ill before he would give up a peal attempt.
Details of his peals are appended:-

TRIBUTES

HIS HUMILITY

It is with deepest sorrow that I embark upon a most difficult task; that of paying a tribute to my late friend, Ernest Morris, with whom I have been closely associated for well over 30 years.
Many ringers will remember those happy days before the war, when my small group of handbells singers acoompanied Ernest at his lectures to various organisations.
A great man, yet the humblest of men, he was always ready to give his assistance to struggling ringing bands; be it a peal of Doubles or Maximus, or for any special ringing, if help was required. Ernest could always be relied upon. He was always ready to recompense a service to himself, yet desired no reward for his service to others.
Many years ago. during my youth, I was taking part in Sunday service ringing at St. Margaret's, Leicester. Ernest was conducting. The ringing was developing into a shocking state, and he was trying to put it right. In the heat of the moment, I am afraid. I took offence. set my bell and left the belfry. Two days after. I received a letter from Ernest. apparently written immediately after the unfortunate incident, in which he offered his humble apologies.

If I have caused you paid and ill-feeling. he wrote, "I am sorry-really and truly. I am quite ready to come down to your leve and understanding and laugh it off with you We were both wrong,' etc.

Only those who have known him will fully realise the loss we have sustained. He gave himself wholly to God and to his fellow men.
S. HARRISON.

St. John-the-Divine, Leicester

GREATEST RINGER OF OUR DAY
It was with a sad heart that I found ${ }^{3}$ postcard in my letter-box last week from Mr. P. I. Chapman telling me of the passing of Mr. Ernest Morris. whom I have always regarded not only as a true friend but as the greatest ringer of our day; great because he was one of the few 12 -bell ringers we find who was prepared to ring anything on any number of bells.
To Ernest, there was no such thing as lowering himself' to sing five bells. Bells number and that is the way we should all of us look at ringing them.
Ernest was but a young man of 37-38 when I first knew him. We rang our first peal together on May 23rd, 1927, at Stoney Stratford, which meant a journey of some 50 miles fo: Ernest to ring a humbie peal of Grandsire Triples-as it was my first on eight bells.
On August 18th, 1928, in the following year, we met again to ring a peal on the newly rehung five at Stanford-on-Avon, near Rugby, and his own interest in the founder's stamps on those bells actually set me off studying bell archæology. There must be hundreds of others who have become interested in this study through his example and lectures.
After that we rang just over 30 peals together on 5, 6, 8 and 10 bells four last being at Clipston, Northants, just over three years ago on the newly rehung five), most of them being in towers strange to Ernest. He had a liking for fresh towers, as well as an ambition to ring a peal in every tower in Leicestershire with five or more bells, with the exception. I believe, of Shawell (5) and Skeffington (5), both totally unringable for years on end. He also had an ambition to ring a peal on the heavy going five in the historic famous old church at Brixworth Northants, which also never materialised.

It seems hard to think of bellringing without him, and there must be hundreds who feel not only the loss, but a sense of prayerful duty to give thanks to our blessed Lord for the life of Ernest Morris, for he was a lovable, scholarly personalicy and a true Christianonly happy when he was passing his know ledge on to others.
Ernest Morris had helped to teach the newlyformed local band at St. Thomas', South Wigston. He came every practice night and every Sunday morning. Thanks to his help the band are now able to stand on their own feet' and were able to ring an 'all-local peal of Granidsire Triples to his memory on the day of his funeral. He had been associated with the tower since his father rang in the record peal of 17.104 Double Norwich on December 27 th, 1904 , and had rung 61 on Deals there.

Mr. J. D. Johnson Resigns Secretaryship

T
HE annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Worcester on Easter Monday. The bells of All Saints' Church were rung before the service, which was conducted by the curate of Claines, who had kindly stepped into the breach at the last moment in the unavoidable absence of the Association's chaplain, the Rev. H. L. Davies, Vicar of Cradley. In his brief remarks. he said that until moving to Claines he had never had a parish with a ring of bells and had not realised till then how much bells meant to parishioners, particularly those who, through age or infirmity, were no longer able to get to the church. He thanked a! I ringers for the service to the church.
Dusing the service, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung ' in hand by R. G. Morris, D Beacham. M. D. Fellows and M. J. Fellows.
The business meeting was held in College Hall. with the Association's president, the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn, Dean of Worcester, in the chair.

The general secretary. Mr. J. D. Johnson, read the report of the Central Committee. He said that the sub-committee appointed to consider the problem of 'silent towers' had met and a further meeting was to be held. The annual dinner had been held at the Co-operative Hall. Worcester, in November and had again proved a success. The same hall was provisionally booked for October 13th, 1962.

MEMBERSHIP HIGHEST TOTAL
Financially, the year could be looked upon as a sound one. There had been no grants from the Belfry Repair Fund, which now stood at $£ 271$. The paid-up. performing membership was 526 . equalling the highest total. Seventy peals were rung in 1961. all on tower bells.

Districts Association

Under the election of officers, the Dean of Worcester was re-elected president. The clerical vice-presidents and the lay vice-presidents were also re-elected. Mr. W. B. Cartwright was re-elected Master.

Mr. J. D. Johnson then rose to say that, as already notified at the last annual meeting, he did not wish to stand for re-election as general secretary and treasurer. It was with some reluctance that he gave up the office because, after so many years, it had become part of his life. In giving up this year he did so after 40 years as an officer, 27 of them as general secretary. Previously he had been secretary and then Master of the Southern Branch. He thanked all those various members who had given him assistance over these years and who had become personal friends.

Tributes to Mr. Johnson's work were paid by the Master and from the floor of the meeting.

The Master then proposed that Mr. D. Beacham be elected as Mr. Johnson's successor. There were no other nominations and Mr . Beacham was elected as the new general secretary and treasurer.
Mr. Beacham thanked the meeting for electing him to this office. He said that the Association was celebrating its 80th birthday: and in its time it had had only four secretaries. The first one was in office for only one year, but the other three had served 22, 30 and 27 years respectively. Mr. Beacham said that he would do his best to follow the wonderful example of his predecessors in his work.
The remainder of the officers were re-elected and Mr. Johnson was elected a Freeman of the Association

A resolution from the Western Branch asking the Association to consider revising the form of service was discussed and it was left to the chaplain and committee to look into it.

WEDDING

Mr. J. W. BROWN-Miss A. C. LUFKIN
Two popular members of the Essex Associa-tion-Miss A. C. Lufkin and Mr. J. W. Brown -were married at Kirby-le-Soken on Apri! 28th.

The bride, the only daughter of Mr. Frank Lufkin, was given away by her father. She was charmingly attired in white satin, with an overdress of digured nylon net, and carried a white Bible wilh a spray of golden freesias. The bridesmaid. Miss M. Browr, was in peach flowered brocade. Mr. M. Johnson, friend of the bridegroom, was best man.

The choral service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Thomas), was preceded by short touches on the bells by fellow members of the Essex Association. As the happy couple appeared at the north door after the ceremony the bells were fired and rung round for a few minutes and then went straight into the changes of Bob Major. A beautifully struck peal, under the able conductorship of Mr. Urban Wildney, was the result.

The reception, which was held in the Village Hall, was attended by many friends.
The honeymoon was spent touring North Wales. Mr. and Mrs. Brown's future address is 26, Hayes Road, Clacton-on-Sea.

READING UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

At the annual meeting held on April 30th, the following were elected to the committee for 1962-1963: Master, Peter M. Wilkinson, Faculty of Letters. Whiteknights Park: secretary, Jane Foster. St. Andrew's Hall. Redlands Raad; treasurer, John Bartlett, St. Patrick's Hall, Northcourt Avenue; lay members, Anne M. White and John Croxton.
An omnibus vote of thanks to all who had helped in the meeting arrangements was proposed by Mr. J. D. Jahnson.
During the afternoon ringing took place at the Cathedral, St. John's and St. Swithun's, Worcester, and at Claines and Kempsey. Tea was taken at the Old Pheasant Inn, New Street.

The pead rung at Potton, Beds, on May 5th is only the second peal on the bells since 1933. The previous peal was Cambridge Surprise Minar rung in 1958.
Mr. Frederick R. Scott, of Slough, desires to thank all incumbents and tower captains for the use of the bells during his party's five day tour of South Buckinghamshire.
When Mr. Murray Coleman called a quanter of Grandsire Triples at Titchmarsh. Northants, it was the first he had rung in and had not conducted!

Miss Naomi Hales, of Warwick Grove, London, E.5, sailed for Texas on May 7th. She took part in a farewell quarter peal at S:. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, the previous evening.

By conducting the peal of Yorkshire Royal 'in hand' at Leicester, Mr. Peter J. Staniforth has now called Yorkshire Major, Royal and Maximus both 'in hand' and on tower bells.
In the peal at Old Warden, Beds (see page 259), the ringer of the second was Martin Press and not Martin Best. The peal was his first of Minor and not his first peal.
Thanks to Mr. Albert Harman, an all-Capel, Surrey, band has rung a peal, the last occasion being on January 1st, 1928. That peal was conducted by the late Mr. F. R. Tullitt and his son Ronald rang in the peal on April 28 th.
This year's bellringing course at Grantley Hall. Ripon, was a great success and possibly the best held so far. The needs of individual small groups were catered for and many students expressed their appreciation of the great benefit derived.

Mr. Charles J. Sedgley writes expressing his pleasure at ringing a peal with Mrs. Sylvia Pipe. She rang in her old impeccable style, without a trip and the peal completed her series in York Surprise from Minor 10 Maximus.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coles' kind hospitality was greatly enjoyed by the College Youths after the peal at Hillingdon on April. 7th, and it was fortunate that the peal coincided with the birthdays of Bill Coles and Fred Goodfellow, both senior members of the St. John's, Hillingdon, band.

Mr. Wilfred Bowers, in whose memory a peal was rung at Thetford on April 23 rd, was a Sunday service ringer at Elveden for many years. He was interred the previous Thursday. It was also an in memoriam peal to Mr. James Bailey, one of the famous Bailey brothers, of Leiston.
Mr. R. Bolt informs us in regard to the articles 'Bells around Burnley' that St. Peter's, Burnley, is not the only tower in the distric: having regular practices and Sunday service ringing. Holy Trinity has practices on Frrday (by arrangement) and also Sunday service ringing.
The 'Monday band' rang a peal of Plain Bob Royal at the Loughborough Bell Foundry to the memory of Ernest Morris, who was the regular ringer of the 4 th. He had rung 334 peals at the Foundry and actually rang his last peal there-Woodstock Sunprise Royal on April 9th. Congratulations to B. Stedman Payne whose 300 th peal it was-something which would have delighted 'uncle' Ernest.

BROMHAM (BEDS) OUTING

On April 28th the ringers of Bromham, with many friends, had a most enjoyable day's outing in the Derbyshire area.

At 7 a.m., according to the programme, we started punctually and headed north, calling at Leicester for a leisurely cup of coffee (or did certain ladies have two cups?) before proceeding to our dirst zower, Ashby-de-la-Zouch.
The lovely and interesting church was much admired, as were its excellent sing of eight bells
Next stop was Sudbury, whose church stands in a most pleasant situation, but whose bells appeared to be rather in need of lubrication, which was unfortunately not available. How ever, the dryness caused by hard work was, in the case of the ringers themselves, suitably treated. Lunch was taken at Ashbourne, and afterwards a visit was made to the stately Church of St. Oswald, where the bells hang in the fine central tower and are rung from the crossing. But what a pioture this church was! And as though embellishment were need, the churchyard was one mass of daffodils.
Derbyshire, however, had other beauties, and soon we were among the noble hills around Bakewell. where a short pull on the easygoing eight was enjoyed.
We found that Chesterfield's noble Parish Church had been severely damaged by fire though fortunately the bells are still ringable, and what a splendid ten they are!
After an excellent tea we wemt on 10 Bolsover, where, two years ago, fire caused even greater damage to the church. but this has, happily, now been fully restored-the fine ring of eight is a joy to handle and perhaps the best ringing of the day took place here. Our last tower was All Saints'. Nottingham.

The sincere thanks of all are offered to incumbents, local ringers and to our excellent organiser, Miss K. Rivett.

JUBILEE BELLS AT HAMBLEDON, HAMPSHIRE

The captain of the Hambledon ringers, Mr Chris H . Turner, has completed 50 years as chorister at SS. Peter and Paul. Hambledon and over 30 years as a ringer and was the very surprised recipient of an inscribed wrist watch from the Parochial Church Council.

The occasion could not be allowed to pass without an appreciation from the bells and as the jubilee coincided with Easter Day it was decided to attempt a quarter peal of Grand sire Doubles. To enable all the members of the band to participate in the joyful occasion quarter peals were rung for the morning and evening services, both being conducted by the captain
In the morning the ringers were: Mrs. C $\underset{\text { Hurner }}{\text { H. }}$ C. S. J. Harding. Mrs. F. Hall. R. J. Turner, C. H. Turner and G. Pidgeon; for S. J. Harding. J. H. Harding, C. H. Turner and $H$. Dobson
It would have completed the family circle if Mr. Turner's daughter. Sandra, could have taken part. hut unfortunately she could not be released from nursing duties in London.

RINGING COURSE AT LUMLEY CASTLE, CO. DURHAM

WRITING in the early part of the 19th century. Robert Surtes, the North Country historian, said of Lumley Castle: ' It stands glittering with a bright open aspect, on a fine, gradual elevation above the niver Wear.' Although not so glittering today, after a century and more of the effects of atmospheric pollution, the $14 t h$ century edifice still stands as an imposing sentinel overlooking the adjacent township of Chester-le-Street.
Until recently, the castle was the seat of the Earl of Scarborough. a descendant of the first Sir Ralph Lumley who built it, and up to then was claimed to be the oldest inhabitated house in England. Since the end of the last war, howover, it has become a hall of residence of Durham University and so continues in a new phase of its existence with a constant otream of residents to appreciate its romantic past.

Such then was the setting for a one-day course in bell ringing organised for members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association on April 14th. Arranged as part of a general scheme for the promotion of efficient instruction and the advancement of ringing standards in the area, this new venture was undertaken in the nature of an experiment to gauge the response and requirements of the members. A three-man committee under the Ringing Master put the planning in hand last November and from the outset they were greatly encouraged by the co-operation of Dr. W. A. Prowse, Vice-Master of University College, Durham, who readily placed the facilities of Lumley Castle at their disposal for lectures and catering, and of the Rev. A. Spurr, Rector of Chester-le-Street, who granted the use of the bells of his church for practical demonstrations. It was realised from the commencement that a one-day course would necessitate a restricted curriculum, so it was resolved to provide for subjects which would be of general benefit to students, and following from this it was felt that division into two classes, one for members at the stage of rounds and call changes and the other for change ringers seeking a further insight into the elements of change ringing, would be desirable.

The enrolment of a sufficient number of students for the course was naturally one of the essential requirements to ensure its success and it was felt that a total of 30 would justify the experiment. In the event, however, the number of accoptances exceeded all expectations and a total of 60 students was registered, with approximately 20 in the primary stage (Course A) and 40 in the secondary (Course B). The timetable for each course was drawn up for four sessions, three being lectures in the classroom and one a practical lesson in the tower, with lunch and tea intervening and dinner to round off the proceedings at $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. in the Great Hall.

Ironically, April 14th dawned with a freak snowstorm, but by 10.30 a.m., when the course was assembling. the sun was shining benignly and making the castle. its approaches and its lawns a welcoming scene of splendour. Following roll call and the formation of classes, an introductory talk was given by the Ringing Master. He said it was not intended to produce Spliced Surprise ringing in two easy lessons, but simply to give guidance, to correct wrong ideas and to stimulate a desire for more knowledge of the art and science of singing. After the issue of exercise books with squared paper the students split up into two classes-Course A proceeding to the Pillared Hall to be instructed by Messrs. K. Arthur and F. Hodgson, and Course B to the Junior Common Room for instruction by Mess-s. D. A. Bayles and J. A. Ainsworth.

Commencing the lectures of Course A. Mr. Arthur said he would begin at the beginning, as he had found from expenience that many dearners were ignorant of the basic essentials of bells and ringing. due either to inferior instruction or to lack of opportunity. Then with hlackboard ilfustrations and the use of a model bell, reference was made to the parts of a bell, bell swing and rope movement, consideration being given to the requirements of correct rope control by the ringer. This was followed by an analysis of striking in ohanges with practical exercises on handbells and a listening test by a demonstration of common faults on a special tape recording.
The second leoture dealt with the elements of change ringing, reference being made to the production of the plain hunt on 2,3 and 4 bells and the conventions followed in this process. Details of exercises to be carried out in the tower were explained and the class then adjourned to the tower nearby. Here the students were required to ring rounds on six bells while styles of handling were checked and corrected by the instructors, and this was followed by exercises in correct leading and the attainment of shythm, with each student concentrating on listening to his own bell. On return to the castle, a final lecture was given on 'paper work,' which dealt with the benefit of method study at home and touched upon the elements of method structure, transposition of lead and course ends, notation of peals and touches and the in and out of course of changes.
Course B commenced with two lecture sessions by Mr. Bayles. who dealt with Method Structure. He examined in detail the Plain Bob system in its applioation from two to six bells, seeing how the various additional devices had to be introduced to obtain the extent of the changes in each case. Plain Bob Minor was examined in detail to derive the various rules for the practical ninging of the method. The variations of Plain Bab and the system incorporating the College and Double Court shunts were examined to formulate rules for ringing 15 out of the 30 regular Plain Minor methods. The relationship of Plain Bob Minor to Grandsire Triples was examined and from this rules wore formulated for ringing most of the Triples methods with two hunts. Treble Bob was examined with the construction of Kent T.B. described. From Kent with its 'in phase' dodging and hunting the switch to 'out of phase' dodging and hunting producing Cambridge Surprise was worked out. In the next session, Mr. Ainsworth gave a lecture on 'Elementary Conducting' and he dealt with the various notations for touches of Plain Bob Major, describing the way of working these out. The transposition of coursing order by bobs at $\mathrm{W}, \mathrm{B}, \mathrm{M}$ and H were given. Touches were transposed on paper and in the following practical lesson in the tower the touch was rung with a commentary on the positions of the tenor and the coursing orders resulting from the bobs. Practical exercises resulting from the previous lectures included the ringing of Callege Bob Minor and Triples. Double Court Minor and Triples.

At dinner guests were the Rector of Chester-le-Street and Mrs. Spurr and the thanks of the Association were duly accorded the Rector for all his help and interest in the occasion. Members were then given a conducted tour of the castle by the Vice-Master, Dr. W. A. Prowse, who was able to describe the chequered history of the building in colourful detail.

The final rendezvous was in the Junior Common Room. where a general discussion on the day's proceedings was held. It was a unanimous opinion that the course had filled a long felt want in the Association and the organising committee and lecturers were warmly thanked for their services. There was a general desire for a similar one-day course to be held again next year, but with the provision of three classes instead of two-to enable the change ringers course to he divided into Elementary and Advanced groups. An informal social evening then followed.

During the afternoon a B.B.C. reporter recorded ringing at the church and interviewed the Ringing Master and honorary general secretary at the castle. This was broadcast in the programme 'Calendar' on April 27 th in the North Home Service.

A.G.M. At Southwark

$A^{1}$FTER many years, the Surrey Association held their annual meeting on May 5th at Southwark. the venue being the Church Hall of St. George the Martyr. An hour's ringing at Southwark Ca:hedral, a ringers' service at St. George's and an excellent tea preceded the meeting. The Masier of the Association, Mr F. E. Darby, presided and 51 members were present. The atiendance was rather disappointing, even though the weather was hardly prepitious.

The minutes of the previous A.G.M., hald at Reigate on April 15th, 1961. and the spacial general meeting held at Croydon on February 24th. for the purpose of a ballot on the princ:ple of a merger with the Guildford Diocesan Guild, were read and approved.

Apologies for absence had bzen receivefrom Mr. D. A. R. May, the new Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and from Messrs. G. West, F. E. Rcberts, M. V. Clatcott. Mr. and Mrs. Jand Mrs. D. E. Parsons, Mr. A Macve. Mr. F. Oakshott and Miss S. Parrott
The general secretary, Mr. R. I. F. Parsons read the committee report for 1961. It had been a comparatively uneventful year with steady work in the two Districts, preparation for consideration of the merger proposal and the completion of the first course of instruction by a moble team, headed by Mr. N Bagworth. to the band at Walton. Membership had increased by 10 , to a total of 372
The peal total was 31 for 1961. with seven new methods being rung for the Association. and there was a large increase in the number of quarter peals to 152. Putney again headed the list with 26 to its credit. Members stood in silence to the memory of Miss A. Cutler and Mr. E. G. L. Coward.
The statement of accounts showed that the balance in hand had risen by $£ 10$ to $£ 159$. In the Belfry Repair Fund the balance had increased by 10 s., and a donation of twenty guineas had been given to Ashtead to assis: in the restoration of the bells. This was now complete and the bells were in use for the 1962 striking competition.

NO COMPETITION FOR OFFICE

Three new members were elacted and the ratification of seven non-resident members wias approved. There being only one nomination for each of the following offices, the general officers for 1962 were declared elected General Master, Mr. F. E. Darby; general secretary. Mr. R. I. F. Parsons: general treasurer. Mrs. K. E. Chilcott: assistant secretary Mr. F. E. Roberts; auditor. Mr. M. V Chilcott: liaison officer to Guildford Guild Mr. F. E. Collins.
As this was the first A.G.M. held on the new fixed date (first Saturday in May) it was necessary to elect the Central Council representatives for 1963. 1964 and 1965. After a ballot, the following were elected: Mr. N. S. Bagworth, Mr. F. E. Collins. Mr. W. Parrott.
The Master congratulated the new offizers and representativen and thanked Mr. T. Blow (the retiring auditor) and Messrs. A. $P$ Cannon and W. F. Oatway, the retiring representatives. Mr. Derek West was appointed to the post of librarian-the library being thoused at St. John's. Redhill.
The A.G.M. in 1963 would be on May 4th and the meeting elected to go to Leatherhead. if this was possible.
Following a question on the recording of Association peals, the meeting agreed that th: secretary should inform the membership of the state of the peal book as an item on the agenda of future A.G.M s.
The letter received resarding the Kilifi appeal was then read and discussed in the light of further information from 'The Ringing World.' The meeting felt that the Association sliould participate in this work and voted a sum of $£ 7$ from the general account.
The Master then thanked the Provost of Southwark, the Rector of St. George's. Mr. Bagworth, the ladies who had prepared tea and all associated with arrangements for the meeting and work during the year
Ringing at St . George the Martyr brought the day's activities to a close.

CANON C. ELLIOT WIGG, M.A., Oxford Diocesan Guild.

A very welcome trend in ring ing personne since the war has been the increase in the number of clerical ringers. Several already well known men have taken Holy Orders. some are still completing their training, and many students have learnt to handle a bell while at college. This is very much to the good, because a ringing clergyman can be a valuable asset to his Association or Guild. With the passing of the years, many of the older generation of clerical ringers have died, and of those who started ringing between the two wars none has been more skilful or varsatile than the Rev. Canon C. Elliot Wigg. Rector of Wavendon, near Bletchley. Bucks. the popular Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild since 1943.
Elliot Wigg was born in Oxford on June 21 st, 1908 . and received his early education at the City of Oxford School. where Mr. Frederick Sharpe. president of the Central Council, was also a pupil at the same time. Passing into Keble College, Oxford, in 192才 he took his B.A. degree in 1930 . His theological studies were at Wycliffe Hall, Oxford, and he was awarded his diploma in Theology in 1932, and his M.A. degree in 1933. While at the University, Elliot was taught to ring at New College. about 1929, by Harry Miles who was then residing in Oxford. His first $\mathrm{p}: 31$ (Grandsire Triples) was rung on January 22nd. 1931. at St. Ebbe's. Oxford, conducted by Francis E. Taylor, and his first as conductor was on October 19th, 1935, when he called five Minor methods at Finchamps'ead. Berks.
Up to date Elliot has rung 275 peals, and conducted 15, and of these 162 have been rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in a wide variety of methods from Doubles to Maximus. He is an excellent striker, a very good heavy-bell ringer, and has "turned in quite a good number of tenors to peals. He looks back on two performances as his best heavy-bell efforts. The first was ringing the 37 cwt. tenor to Double Norwich on the back eight at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. and the other was the 27 cwt. tenor at St. Mary-the-Virgin. Oxford, to four Minor methods in 1945. In January, 1937, he rang the fifth at Queen Camel. Somerset. to eight Minor methods, conducted by Nolan Golden, and amongst many Oxford Diocesan Guild tenors which he has rung. Denham. Bucks. to Superlative and Yarnton, Oxon. to seven Minor methods are certainly not anybody's choice! On many occasions he has rung the fifth to Minor, and the seventh to Major, and the tenor man has been mpst fortunate to secure his help. He is very pleased with ringing the fourih to 42 Doubles methods on July 19th. 1948, at Old Marsien. Oxford, as this was the first time that each 120 had been rung to a different method. For several years belore the war he was a mimber of Frank Bznnett's touring party, and he has taken part in peals in many parts of the British Is'es.

As a clergyman ringer, Ell ot has naturally been destined to hold high office in his native Guild. In 1933 he was elected Deputy Mastar and in 1943. on the retirement of Canon G. F Coleridge, he was appointed Master. Th: latter office has cut down his peal ringng activities. as he has always conscientiously endeavoured to attend as many Branch mest ings as he can. Since 1934 he has been president of the Oxford University Society, and was one of their Central Council representatives from 1935-53. In 1961, in apprecation of h's services to ringing for his Guild he was made an Honorary Canen of Chris Church Cathadral, Oxiord Ellioi's first curacy was at the Parish Church, High Wycombe, Bucks, and his first incumbency was at Nether Winchendon with Chearsley, Bucks, the former church containing five balls. Since about 1950 he ha been Rector of Wavendon, also in Bucks where there is a very pleasant ring of six In both these two livings he has trained a band to keep the bells ringing on Sundays More recently he has, in addition, been given the charge of three other churches to look after, so his t:me is fully occupied!
Elliot has several interests besides bellringing. He is a member of the Royal Toxophilitic Society, London, the oldest archery society. He plays the cello in an amateur string quartet, started in 1948. and he is a member of the Oxford University Swimming Club, having played water polo for the club when at Keble College.
The Oxford Diocesan Guild have always been fortunate in having a first class clerical ringer as their Master. Canon Elliot Wigg is the fourth since the Guild was formed in 1880 , and he is well fitted to maintain their tradition of service to the art. This he does with a genial and friendly personality. coupled with a genuine love of anything to do with bellringing

A TRIBUTE TO ERNEST MORRIS

The passing of Ernest Morris has touched the hearts of a great number of ringers. known or unknown to him personally. I shall always remember him as one of the finest men that I have met. He paid me two visits, in December, 1946. when he gave an illustrated lecture to the Woodford and District Historical Society on Bells of all Nations-their history and romance,' to an audience which included ringers from various parts of S.W. Essex ; and in October. 1959. when he was the honoured guest at the annual dinner of the Essex Association of Change Ringers. On that occasion he joined in the handbell ringing and enterlained the company when replying to the toast, 'The Exercise. with amusing reminiscences.

His letters to me were always greatly enjoyed. His vitality seemed unlimited, characterised by his marvellous ringing performances and his extensive literary contributions, the latter demanding tremendous res:arch work. I feel sure that he will be regarded as the greatest ringer of all time. One mark of his greatness was his readiness to ring with the learners and in so doing endeared himself to all who met him in the many towers he visited.

There's more than enough of friendliness And love in human hearts,
To bring so much of heaven to earth
If only someone starts.
Such are the words that grace the calendar that Ernest sent to me at Christmas. A loyal and devoted churchman he passed from us!

- To live in hearts we leave behind is not die.'

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION  Subscriptions To Be Raised In 1963

THE decision was taken at the annual meeting of the Lancashire Association of Change Ringers, held at St. Anne's on April Change Ringers, held at sion Anne s. 1963 .
28th, to raise subscriptions as
The meeting was preceded by the annual service. held in the Parish Church. at which the Vicar, the Rev. E. S. Pickup. was the preacher. Tea was served in the Parish Hall, and the meeting was held in the school, Clarendon Road North. The president. the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, was in the chair. The Association's membership is made up as follows: 68 honorary life members, 716 non-resident members and 1,014 ringing members. The general secretary informed the meeting that the commitlee were very concerned at the rising cost of the publication of the annual report, and that a sub-committee had been iifto the matter with the result that the annual report would have less pages than before.
The president announced that Mr. Cyril Crossthwaite had received the highest number of votes in the ballot for vice-president, and duly declared him elected. Mr. Crossthwaite thanked members for this honour and said he would endeavour to visit each Branch during his term of office. The president declared Mr. F. Dunkerley re-elected to the office of general secretary. Mr. Dunkerley thanked the members for their renewed confidence.

INCOME INADEQUATE

The committee's and ringing secretary's reports were taken as read. The balance sheet and auditor's report was presented by the treasurer. Mr. J. F. Wood, who remarked that the Association was in a very healithy state. but warned members that there was a great danger that the Association's income would not, in a few years' time. be sufficient to cover the cost of running the Association.
The outcome of this statement was resolved at a later stage of the meeting, that subscriptions be raised as follows: Adule ringers by 2s., making a total of 5s. per year: junior ringers by 1 s.: making a total of 3s. per year: and non-resident members' subscription to 7 s . 6 d . per year, instead of the present 5 s . These measures were adopted and would come into force in 1963.
The library sub-committee was given authority to go ahead with the formation of a library. which would be housed in the belfry at Manchester Cathedral, by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter. The venue of the next annual general meeting would be in the Rossendale Branch. with Preston as the alternative. The president, on members behalf. gave thanks to all who had contributed to make the meeting a success.
After the meeting a collection was taken for the Kilifi Church Bell Fund. which amounted to $£ 15 \mathrm{IS}$.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

When the Society held its monthly meeting at Wortley, near Sheffield, on May 12 th, with the Vicar. the Rev. F. V. Robinson, in the chair, Mr. Harold Chant paid tribute to Mr. Ernest Morris, who, he said. had helped him in many matters. Mr. Noel F. Moxon also spoke and the meeting decided to offer its sympathy to his widow and family.
Appeals were received from the Kilif Bell Fund and from Mr. Geo. Pipe on behalf of Melbourne Caihedral. The Society decided to send 10 s. to each fund, which has been augmented by a donation of 10s. from Mr. Leslie Smith to be divided between the two funds.
Next meeting: Shield contest. Wentworth,

AN ESSEX SECRETARY  MARRIED

The Northern District of the Essex Association have a charming secretary in Miss Marian Helen Mills, S.R.N., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mills, of Hillside Cottage. Thonpe-le-Soken. Guiding her hand in cutting the wedding cake after her wedding at Thorp: Parish Church on April 28th, is a fellow ringer, Mr. Peter Wood. only son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wood. of the Downs, Stehbing. Both are also choristers, and the bridegroom has been for a number of years assistant organist at St. Mary's. Stebbing.
The fully choral service was conducted by the Rev. D. E. James, issisted by the Rev. W. H. N. Mumford. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a long white dress of Nottingham lace, a white coronet and short veil. She carried a white prayenbook, with a spray of pink roses and freesias. Miss Vera Jolly dressed in royal blue. shot with gold, was the bridesmaid, and Mr. J. Newman, a friend and ringer from Great Dunmow, was best man. A peal of Minor in seven methods was rung on Thorpe bells after the service.
Mr. and Mrs. Wood are making their home at Finchingfield, Essex.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  Chertsey District

Oatlands Park was visited by the Cherisey District on May 5th, and the pleasant eight by Warners was enjoyed by some 40 ringers. The Guild service was conducted by the curate the Rev. A. Headland. The usual fine tea was provided by Mrs. Smith and her helpers. The Guild Master. Mr. D. A. R. May. took the chair for the brief business meeting. He asked those present to stand in silent tribute to William A. Goldstone. a loyal and devoted servant of the District, who died on April 29th.
Plans for the summer festival were outlinad by the secretary. All towers in the District will be open. except Thames Ditton. whose bells are at the foundry.
Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge. though an attempt for Union Triples led to some very unofficial striking!

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION
Bishop Attends District Meeting
The Tonbridge District had the unexpected honour and pleasure of the company of the Bishop of Rochester (the Rt. Rev. R. D. Say) at their by-meeting at Hever on May 5th. The Bistop was visiting Hever during the course of a week long tour of the parishes in the Tonbridge Rural Deanery, and preached and gave the blessing at the ringers' service, conducted by the Rector, Rev. J. B. Collins.
This is probably the first occasion in the history of the association that a Diocesan Bishop has attended a District meeting. In his sermon the Bishop took as his theme Our Lord's example in washing the feet of his disciples, a task which was normally performed by the lowliest person present. From this he drew an analogy between the basin and the towel, and the bread and wine; and emphasised the necessity for both service and worship to take an equal part in the contribution of each individual to the life of the church. so that devotion to one does not exclude the other.
The Bishop was also present at tea, and members were able to oneot him in informal surroundings. Prior to his departure, as his pastoral progress was due to continue immediately, the District secretary expressed the warmest thanks of the District to the Bishop. for his interest and attendance at the meeting, and the pleasure and encouragement all had derived from it.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the Rector, whose efforts had ensured the success of the meeting. and to Mr. Bunch, who had made the local arrangements.
This meeting was also noteworthy in being the first at the tower since the bells were rehung and rededicated. about a year ago. It was supported by almost 40 ringers who, though not all able to be in the ringing chamber at the same time, put the bells to constant use during the entire time they wero available.

Rochester District

Some 50 odd members of the Rochester District attended a quarterly meeting held at Holy Trinity, Queenborough, Isle of Sheppey, on May 5 th. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was under the leadership of Mr. P. N. Bond. the District Ringing Master.

The ringers service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. A. Daws) who, in his address, welcomed the Kent County Associa. tion to the ancient church. containing a light ring of six bells. The Vicar gave a full account of the restoration work that had been carried out to the painted ceiling; work needed for the restoration of main porch and dormer windows. and lastly, phase II of the work. which was very urgent, upon their cracked and displaced tower, involving thousands of pounds. A collection taken at the ringers' service amounted to $£ 2$ 6is. 8d., and wais given to the tower repair fund. The lesson was read by Mr. P. N. Bond.
Kindly given by the Queenborough bellringers and friends, an excellent tea was served in the Church Hall.
The Vicar accepted the proposition to act as chairman of the meeting. at which 11 new members were elected.
Under other business. Mr. T. Crane spoke about the need for publishing a magazine once month for the Rochester District; other speakers on this subject were Mr. P N Bond. Mr. B. W. May and Mr. T. Rarton. Another question raised was of peail attempts in the Rochester District on Saturdays, when District meetings were held. This was raised by Mr. G. A. Naylor, of Rainham.
A vote of thanks to the Rev. H. A. Daws. the organist and Queenhorough ringers and their lady friends for their hospitality was passed.

Bath and Wells Association has 1,670 Members

THE 72nd annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association took place at Wrington on Easter Monday. About 150 ringers from all parts of the Diocese were present for the service in All Saints' Church, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. B. T. Leigh). The Master of the Association (the Rev. H. F. Warren), who gave the Mr. E. Morris' book, 'Bells of All Nations':

The bells are then washed and cleansed with this water, both inside and outside. This is to indioate that the bells are to be clean instruments of a pure and holy religion, and are thus cleansed before they are permitted to send forth a sound in the service of God.
The preacher made the point that the bells should primarily be rung for the glory of God and were not playthings to be used indiscriminately for peals, outings and meetindisc ings.

After lunch, served by the Wrington ringers, the Master opened the meeting with prayer and asked members to stand in memory of the following who had passed away: F. Field, C. Greedy, J. Hawkins. J. Lambert, A. Shattock, R. Williams, W. G. Gigg and W. Kent.

Apologies for absence were received from the president (the Lord Bishop), the Rt. Rev.
D. J. Wilson, also from Messrs. J. T. Dyke, D. J. Wilson, also from Messrs. J. T. Dyke,
P. Field, R. Fox, D. Lee, A. Reed, M. Rose, T Setter and W. Turner.

For the second year in succession the Association was honoured by the presence of Mr. F. Sharpe, president of the Central CounMr. F. Sharpe, president of the Central CounLeicester and Gloucester were also present.

TWO NOTABLE OCCASIONS  In presenting his report, the Master mentioned two notable occasions in the history of Somerset ringing. The year 1961 had seen the golden jubilee of the famous bells at Wrington, and also the rededication of Milverton bells by the president. In sounding a somewhat critical note Mr. Warren said that hehad occasionally noliced at Branch meetings had occasionally noticed at Branch meetings service or did not arrive until it was over. The corporate worship that they offered ' 10 God at their meetings was one of the things that marked them as His servants, and set them apart from secular organisations. He thought that it would be a pity if this was thought that it would be a pity if this was dost to view.

The Master commented on recent figures purblished in 'The Ringing World.' He said that apparently there were 2,389 ringers in Somerset. Probably not all of these were ringers in the true sense. but even making allowances for this the figures showed that there must be many who did not belong to the Association. He suggested that they made it their business to draw in as many as possible of these missing ringers by demonstrating by word and example the advantages of membership.

The general secretary reported an extremely active year. The Parochial Church Councils of the Diocese had given increased support and the numerous inquiries received from them showed the measure of their interest. Many of the instructors had been busy and their services were really appreciated.
The number of performing members had increased by 54 to 1,670 and youth was much in evidence at Branch meetings. In saying that several Branches were holding Corporate Communion services he asked members to give these activities loyal support as they were ericouraging signs of the fellowship that existed between the Church and ringers today.

BALANCE UP £54

In presenting the balance sheet. the treasurer seported an increased balance of $£ 54$ on the year. This was largely due to the increase in membership. increased bank interest and a saving of $£ 40$ in expenditure. A total of $£ 115$ had been allocated to restoration work and the following towers had benefited: Stanton Drew £50. Milverton £25. Glistanbury St. Benedict's £15, Barton St David's £15. IThley £5, Stockland-Rrisfol £2 10s. and Stogumber is 10s.

The Diocesan adviser on the Care of Bells Mr. H. J. Sanger, told the meeting that in spections and advice had baen given at seven towers during the year. He stressed the fact that this service was given entirely free of charge to all affiliated towers and that the Association wished it to be used as much as possible. Mr. Sanger acknowledged the valuable work of Mr. Osborn in this sphere, and referred to work outside the Diocese that Mr Osborn had undertaken.

Arising from $1 \mathbf{M r}$. Sanger's report the maeting was informed that Hemington and Stanton Drew bells would be rededicated shortly and it was hoped that Barton St. David's bells would be ready in August. It was also probable that a major overhaul would be carried out at Glastonbury St. Benedict's.

SURPRISE ROYAL PEALS BY RESIDENTS

Mr. P. Wright, peal secretary, stated that 59 peals had been rung, this being seven fewer than in 1960. Alan Lee was the leading ringer, having conducted 12 of his 17 peals The two outstanding peals were probably the two peals of Surprise Royal. Both peals were rung by resident bands and were the first as such for the Association. Mr. Wright made special mention of a peal of Doubles at Carhampton with five first pealers, a peal at Selworthy rung by the Arscott family and a peal of Doubles in five methods rung by the Sunday service band at Compton Bishop. He lamented the fact that so few peals or quarter peals had been rung on the numerous occasions of national rejoicing in 1961 and asked conductors to make better use of their opportunities.
On the proposition of Mr. E. Fisher, seconded by Mr. L. Derrick, the reports were adopted en bloc.
The following officers were re-elected: The Rev. H. F. Warren, Master; G. Salmon, general secretary; E. Naylor, treasurer; H. J. Sanger. Diocesan adviser on the care of bells; P. C. Wright, peal secretary; and D. E. Lee, auditor.
The Master announced that the committee had unanimously elected, as honorary life members, Mr. W. H. Marsh, of Street. who had recently retired after serving 25 years as sicretary of Glaston Branch, and Mr. G Prescott, of Kewstoke. The announcement was warmly applauded
Under any other business Mr. S. G. Coles proposed that the secretary by given an honorarium of $£ 15$. Mr. Chivers proposed that the Central Council representatives bs given a grant of $£ 20$. Both propositions were carried
A member asked why the time of the meeting was not published in the notice that appeared in 'The Ringing World.' Mr. W. A Osborn responded by pointing out that the time was given. It said simply, Service 12 noon.
change of day for the mecting was considered. but the general feeling was that Easter Monday was an ideal choice. It was realised that catering would be difficult, but that was far outweighed by the opportunity the day afforded to visit many churches so beautifully decorated for Easter.
The Rev. C. Marshall, in proposing a vote of thanks, mentioned the able way in which the Master had conducted the meeting and thanked the Rev. B. T. Leigh for the use of also thanked all the incumbents and tower correspondents of all the towers that were open.

50 Years Ago

R.W." May 24th. 1912.-

Recorded briefly in our last issue. was the death of Mrs, Rosa James, of Palace Yard. Gloucester. widow of the late Canon George James, Rector of St. Michael's. and mother of two of the best known of the ringing clergy. the Revs. H. Law James and E. Bankes James The first portion of the funeral service took place in the Cathedral, and was of a most impressive character.... As a tribute of respect. the St. Michael's Juniors rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters (time no permitting a peal) with the bells multled.

CUMBERLAND AND NORTH WESTMORLAND ASSOCIATION

More than 50 ringers attended the A.G.M. of the Association at Great Salkeld on April 23 rd. They heard a sermon from the Rector, Canon G. A. K. Hervey, who conducted the service, with Mr. W. Thompson at the organ. The treasurer, Mr. G. Tembey, of Cleator Moor, read the lesson. In his address, the Canon said Great Salkeld Church was one of the historic churches of Cumberland. Part of the building belonged to the 11 th century and they were now ringing bells from a tower built in the 14th century. Some of the oak work dated back to the 17th century and there were a chalice and documents of the 16th century Canon W. R. M. Chaplin, of Workington, presided at the business meeting held after tea in the Village Hall.
Last year had been the most successful since the formation of the Association after the war. There were 86 members, and eight peals and seven quarters had been rung. The funds had increased by about $£ 12$ to $£ 69$.
Elections were as follows: President, Canon W. R. M. Chaplin; secretary Mr. J. W.
Brownrigg: ing secretary. Mr. S. Richardson; auditor. Mr C. Heelis; C.C. representative. Mr. G. McKay committee members. Messrs. L. Boumphrey, J Butterfield, G. Eilbeck, A. Forsyth. C. Forsyth C. Heelis, H. Wilson, and the Misses V. Bell and E. Birney.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The spring meeting of the S.W. Branch was held on April 28th at Bigbury Parish Church which is just about two miles from the well known holiday centre of Bigbury-on-Sea. The beautiful afternoon made this lovely church, with its well kept churchyard, look its best, and the ringing on the very light six (tenor 71 cwt.) was greatly enjoyed. Several of the young ladies present rang the tenor.

We were accorded a very hearty welcome by the Vicar (the Rev. F. E. Davies), who, before going to Bigbury about three years ago, was Vicar of St. Augustine's, Plymouth He expressed the hope we would not wait another 15 years before our next visit. The local ringers were there to greet us and extend a welcome, and the Ladies did their part by providing a first class tea.
Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent, with rounds for the less experienced, were rung under the direction of Mr. T. G. Myers, Ringing Master. At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. H. H. Thomas, a vole of sympathy was moved with Mr. Charles Sangwin. of Bude, on the death of his wife, at the early age of 48 . Her funeral was that afternoon.
It was decided to approach the members of the Woodley and Plympton Deaneries of the Devon Association with a view to having a joint meating, thus further cementing the great friendship now existing between all the ringers concerned
Next meeting: Cornwood (if possible).

A report is to be presented at the next meeting on the possibilities of holding a striking competition. Two new members were elected and two re-elected from Chew Stoke. Ringing was under the direction of Mr. H. W. Knight (Ringing Master).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ST. PAUL'S, MELBOURNE RESTORATION APPEAL

Dear Sir,-At a time when restoration work in most count:es is at a premium one feels a little fearful at pressing yet another appeal before the Exercise.
However, I commend the above appeal most earnestly. especially to all those ringers who have had first-hand information or experience of Australian towers. bells and ringing. A target of some A. $£ 6,000$ has been set in conjunction with St. Paul's Cathedral. Melbourne. General Appeal of A. $£ 150,000$; a very considerable sum.

The full ring of thirteen will be dismantled, shipped back to England, retuned and rehung in a steel frame with all now fittings, etc.. and finally despatched back to Melbourne for reinstallation. Apart from cost the project itself is enormous and is probably the first of its kind with an overscas ring (?).

I have contacted each Association and already some have given most generous support. But in case any Association has been missed or people would prefer to donate privately, I particularly direct this appeal. Any donation, however small, will be gratefully acknowledged and we hope that it won"t be too far hence when British ringers will have the opportunity of ringing on what will bo a first class twelve.-Yours. etc.,

GEORGE W. PIPE.

HANDBELL MUSIC

Dear, Sir,-Re your paragraph in 'Belfry Gossip, dated April 27th last, I should be pleased to let any band of handbell ringers have my M.S. of 'Canterbury Bells' if they can make use of it. This is the Jolly Piece" sent to the U.S.A. by 'The Cheshire Cat.
At the moment we have the handbells. but not a band of ringers at Crewe. but we hope to rectify this in due course.-Yours faithfully,

KILIFI BELL FUND

Dear Sir.-Since my letter in the 'R.W. of April 27th. this fund has increased from $£ 173$ to $£ 290$. Six more Guilds or Associations have responded, making a tolal of eleven out of the 75 circulated. Of these, the five larger Associations contributed as follows:

Lancashire Association
N. Staffs Association

Shropshire Association
Clerical Guild
Hertford Association
The noble effort by Lancashire is $\begin{gathered}5 \\ 0\end{gathered} 0$ tinuing with donations by individual towers. Eight have so far sent $£ 104 \mathrm{~s}$. Private gifts total £15, and a collection at the A.G.M. was 15 guineas. In addition, Knuston gave £5 10 s . as a result of a talk with slides.
The Salisbury Guild's gift of $£ 22$ s. has been augmented by $£ 109 \mathrm{~s}$. from Branches, 16 gu:neas mainly from non-ringers in the diocese. and f 138 s . from lectures.

If the remaining 64 Guilds could follow the example of Lancashire. there would be no difficulty about establishing this first ring in the new East African province of the Anglican Church.
I am returning to Kilifi this month and any contributions should be sent to: The Kilfi Church Bell Fund. c/o The Midland Bank. Acocks Green. Birmingham 27.-Yours faithfully,

FIRST NONAGENARIAN TOWER

PEAL RINGER

Dear Sir.-Although no mention was made in the report of the peal. I believe that by taking part in a peal of Bob Royal at Brighton on April 28th. Mr. Harry Stalham be:ame the first nonagenarian to accomplish a tower-bell peal.
The late James George rang one on handbells at the age of. I think, 94 , and I have been told that when over 90 he was in an unsuccessful attempt for a tower-bell paal which came to grief hecause of some difficulty over an artifical leg which he then had. However: it leads one to wonder who is the oldest pirson to have rung tower-bells at all. Mr E. S. Ruck. of Willesborough, Kent, it the age of 94 . must have a very strong claim. -Yours faithfully.

A CHANCE FOR MR. DENZIL TO SHOW HIS METTLE:

Dear Sir.-We, the London ringers who were criticisid by a Mr. Gzorge Denzil, would he pleased to see him at any time for ringing instruction. We are willing to learn and suggest that if he is willing to arrange meetings we will turn up in force for the instruction he is able to impart.
Only one question remains, and we are all interested in the answer. and this is "Who the devil is George Denzil?' as nobody here has ever heard of him, but I expect we shall soon read of the peals of Surprise Maximus that are being rung on the twelve at Brasted, through your columns.- Sincerely yours.

BELLS AND NEW CHURCHES

Dear Sir.-In his address at the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers, the president (Ven. C. O. Ellison) said he was very sorry that many of the new churches being built did not possess a ring of bells and some not even one bell. He was raferring especially to those churches being built to serve new conventional districts and housing estate.
This struck me forcibly as being a subject about which remarkably little has been said and done. Are we to assume that only the venerable old churches and those not less than 50 years old will contain a ring of bells? I know that the authorities may find that the money they have available may be in sufficient to build a tower and install a ring of bells. In 'The Ringing World' recently was a letter which stated that a parish of 110 people is aiming to raise $£ 5.000$ to restore the tower and bells. What would it be possible to raise in some housing areas which contain populations many times 110 . Considering also the amount spent annually on betting. etc. including bingo. it seems a pity that more rings of bells are not installed in new churches.
In many of the new areas where churches are being built, would not bellringing be an excellent youth work for some of the young people living in the area? Why therefore do no: diocesan architects. clergy and laity responsible include a tower and provision for bells more often in their designs for new churches? The church clock also in both town and village is of real use in giving the time to all who pass.
I do write this letter as an appeal to those responsible that the tower and bells are an important part of God's House. If we are to be assured of the continuance of our art for many generations to come. this matter will have to be seriously considered in the Ringing Isle. - Yours sincerely,

PAUL BIRKETT.

A PEAL ON EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR

Dear Sir,-The late Mr. Ernest Morris was a frequent visitor to these parts and whilst chatting at Stoke at Whitsuntide last year he revealed that July 3rd was the only date in the year upon which he had not scored a peal and he "wondered if anything could be done about it during his forthcoming stay in Bournemouth.
Well. sir, as you know, with the kind cocperation of the Vicar of Milford-on-Sea, who consented to an evening peal attempt, we were successful in doing something about it. Ernest was delighted to complete this record of a peal on every date in the year, including February 29th. but it was typical of him that he should be more concerned to congratulate the first pealer in the band than to receive compliments himself from the company
July 3rd, 1961. proved to be Ernest Morris' last opportunity to realise his ambition. We who helped him on that Qecasion, and his many other friends in the South. join the Exercise in mourning the death of this great ringer.-Yours faithfully.

THREE YORKSHIRE 4-BELL TOWERS
Dear Sir-Within a dozen miles or so of the city of York are three ringable rings of four bells. They are at:

Bishopthorpe.-Cast and hung in 1903. the same year in which the tower was completed, The upstairs ringing chamber is reached by going into the church first. The tenor is probably around 12-15 cwt. The bells are hung in a 6 -bell frame and are in good condition. The local band here ring regularly on Sundays and meet occasionally for practices.
Bubwith.-This tower is not mentioned in Dove's Guide. Originally, when cast in 1779 by Pack and Chapman, the ring consisted of five bells. The four bells are rung from the ground floor. Indications such as newish ropes, a belfry fund box and tidy ringing chamber suggest a local band. the tenor weighs 8 cwt. and is in note $A$.
Stockton-on-the-Forest.-This tower is again not mentioned in Dove's Guide. The writer met the Vicar, who is wanting to get the bells ringing regularly again. On testing. the "go, of these hells, rung from the ground floor. was found to be satisfactory. The tenor weighs about 7 cwt . It is hoped that soon this ring of bells will once again be in fuller use.-Yours, etc.

THE RABBITS GUILD'S' GRATITUDE
Dear Sir.-A meeting of the Rabbits Guild, held shortly after the publication of the article "The Square View" (page 265), passed unanimously a resolution expressing gratituds fo: its sympathy with the ungifted-be it tene deaf, unrhythmic or just plain stupidwho aspire to give their service in the ringing of church bells.
I am instructed, sir. to request that through you the thanks of the Guild may be conveyed to A Square for his understanding and compassion.
May he never give up hope!-Yours faithfully.

PASSER-BY LOVED BELLS

The ringers from St. Stephen's. Westminster, and the London University Society, who recently rang a quarter peal at St. Vedast's. Foster Lane, in the City of London. were delighted to hear that a passer-by had made a donation of ten shillings to the Rector because the bells sounded so lovely.

Middlesex Association Debate Outside Appeals

IVHE Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at its 65 th annual general meeting held at Hillingdon on May 12th reported a good year. Sixty-two resident ringing members. 31 non-resident life memhers and two honorary members had been elected. giving a ringing membership of 407.

Continued, incentive and keenness to ring new methods' was evident among the 50 peals recorded. Details were also given in the report of 200 quarter peals rung in 41 towers. Stanwell's excellent total of 66 seemed unapproachable: C. B. Fynes conducted scven Surprise Minor methods at Stanwell whilst ringing two bells for his 20th birthday, and also rang two tower bells to a peal of Spliced Surprise which he also conducted.
Mr. J. R Mayne was the leading peal conductor with a total of 33 ; A. Cutler had rung his 500 th peal and completed 250 on the bells of St. Mary's, Willesden.
The meeting, which followed the service and tea, was presided over by the president (the Rev. G. C. Taylor).

LADY CRAIG

Early in the proceedings Mr. F. W. Goodfellow proposed the election of Lady Craig as an honorary member. He said Hililngdon Church owed much to Lady Craig and her family. They were responsible for the recasting and two additional bells in 1911, and new handbells in the belfry.
Thanking the Association for her election, Iady Craig said her family had always been bell-minded. Her father was churchwarden when the bells were recast.
The meeting stood in silence as the following losses by death were remembered: I. J. Altwater (Barkingside) H. Belcher (Osterley). G. E. Biadford (Twickenham), E. G. Coward (Dorking). H. M. Day (Market Deeping). R. F. Deal (East Ham). H. G: Jenney (Lsicester). A.
(Harlington).
E. (Harlington). E. Morris (Leicester),
Rumens (Chicago), A. F. M. Siewart (Wimborne), A. Walker (Birminghan). W. W. Webb (Heston). W. Welling (Old Windsor): also past members: P. Clark (Ealing) and F. Sinkins members
The Master (Mr. John Mayne). in his report, said there were a number of bands that were making progress. He would like to mention, in particular, Sia nes. When he first went there as Master they could only do a plain hunt of Triples; now they had rung a quarter of Cambridge for Sunday service.

The accounts were presented by the honorary treasurer (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow). The year's working shows an excess of rece:pls over payments of $£ 96 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d .. the largest since the payments of war. On the Central Fund there was a balance of $£ 194 \mathrm{Hlls}$. 11d. and in the Bell Restoration Fund $£ 33$ 6s. The accounts and secretary's feport were adopted.

MEMORIAL DINNER TO MR  TOM COLES

The triennial dinner of the Association would be held in 1963 and would be to the memory of Mr. Tom Coles. Appointed to the D:nner Committee were Mrs. H. G. Hart, Miss R. M. Foreman. Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow, E. H. Kilby and C. F. Neal
There were no changes in the officers and the following were re-elecied: President. Rev. G. C. Taylor: Master, J. R. Mayne: treasurer, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow : secretary. T. J. Lock: assistant secretary, Miss R. M. Foreman, librarian. G. A. Patsons; audilor, M.
Hodgson: trustees. A. Culler, F.W. GoodHodgson : trustees. A. Cutler, F. W. Goodfellow and T J. Lock. The election of Mr. and Mrs. T. Chapman as non-resident life members was ratified: also the election as members of Robert Spures, Miss S. Reeve and A. Peters, of Uxbridge, and L. Way and G. Harvey, unattached.

It was agreed that the library of the Assoc:ation should be housed at St. Giles-in-theFilds. The vestry there was used for committee meetines. Mr. Lock said the General Committee felt they owed some debt to their president. who was Rector of St. Giles', and suggested that the Association purchase a large electric kettle and present it for use in the vestry. This was agreed to. The president expressed his thanks.

The next annual general meeting of the Association will be held at Hendon.

OUTSIDE BELL APPEALS

The placid atmosphere of the meeting was disturbed when two bell appeals were considered. These were from Kilifi and St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne.
Mrs. Mayne moved that $£ 10$ be sent to the Kilifi Fund. Kenya. Mr. A. Cutler had a sirong sympathy with Melbourne. He pointed out that Mr. G. W. Pipe rang with tham Jast year in Springvale Surprise Major. He moved, as an amendment, that $f 5$ should be sen! to both appeals.

Mr. W. H. Coles thought that only a token sum should be sent and that $£ 5$ was too much. Their bell fund. he said, was created to keep their own bells in order. He suggested two guineas in each case.

Mr. J. R. Mayne strongly supported his mother's appeal for Kilifi and felt that the Association should not adept a miserly a:titude. It was giving money to missions to support the Kilifi appeal.
Mr . Coles denied that he had taken a miserly attitude. People had given their money to their bell fund for a special purpose and if sent outside their area it was not being used for that purpose. He was not miserly, and he was subscribing for missions to Africa hefore Mr. Mayne was born.
After the various amendments had been sorted out the meeting decided to send from the Bell Restoration Fund $£ 10$ to Kill:ii and ${ }^{5} 5$ to Melbourne.
The honorary treasurer suggested that the General Committee should consider drafting a rule defining the use of, the Bell Restoration Fund Mr. Johr Hill wanted. however, a general revision of rules and a special committee appointed for the purpose.
Mr. T. J. Lock pointed out that the rules oi the Association were drafted in the form of a guide to procedure and he would prefer that principle to remain.
The meeting did not favour a general revision of rules and the honorary treasurer was informed that he could bring his matter hefore the General Committec without a special resalution.
At the conclusion the president said he particularly welcomed the Kilifi Bell Fund as hz had worked in Kenya. He would certainly bring the appeal to the notice of St. Giles' P.C.C. He proposed the vote of thanks which embraced the Vicar of Hillingdon, his curate. the Rev. Eric Cooper, who conducted the service. the Vicars of St. Margarel's and St. Andrew's. Uxbridge. Mrs. Goodfellow and local ringers' wives for the tea.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

A keen competitive spirit was in evidence at the Guild's annual ring ng competition held at St. Gwendoline's Church. Talgarth. on May 12th. Five bands entered-two from the Northern District and three from the Southern District. Mr. Lestie Evans, of Eardisland. the judg=. was very fair in his summing up. although somewhat critical in his detailed account. The result brought surprises and disappointments, esp:cially as one point separated the winners and runners-up.
The points awarded the first three were:-
 2, Cadoxton: Rising 36. Methot.
11i.' Falling. 4i. Total 188.
3. Talgarth: Rising 38, Method ringing 101, Falling 25. Total 164
Tea was laid on at the Church Hall, and afterwards the Vicar. Rev. T. H. James presenied to each in turn the shizld and certificates. The official presentat on w Il take place at the annual festival in Swansea
A cordial welcome to Talgarth was given by Mr. Stan. Edwards. Mr. D. J. Lewis expressed the sincere thanks of all for the hountiful tea, to the Vicar and to those who were responsible for the arrangements made.

A CORNISH WORTHY'S 80th BIRTHDAY

Mr. Heber C. Harris, who was at one time captain of All Hallows', St. Kea, band and a. original member of the pioneer band of method ringing at St. Kea, colebrated his 80 th birthday and 55 years' change ringing on May 15th. Unfortunately, he is not now able to climb to the tower.
To mark the occasion, on May 16th. a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted with five of the St. Kea band standing in, but this failed as did a quarter peal. However, a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung with threc bells covering. Mr. Harris was listening to some of the ringing.
Mr. Harris has rung several peals, and his first recalls an interesting occasion. It was a real 'ringing day' when, on August 2nd 1909. two peals of Grandsire Triples were rung at St. Kea. in which eight of the local band rang their first peal, four being in each. The peals were conducted by the late George $F$ Williams. and another who rang in both was Frank Hockaday and who was killed in the First World War. The late Dr. John Symons also rang in the morning peal. There is no doubt the tradition for method ringing at St . Kea still inspires the present leader, Mr Clement W. Jose.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the Salishury Branch, held at St. James'. Ludgershall. on April 28 th , was the first visit there by the Guild for many years. This tower is in the extreme north of the area covered by the Salisbury Branch, and one or two enthusiasts found an instructor and got the bells ( 6 , tener $6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) going again last year. They were welcomed into membership of the Guild, and jn turn welcomed us at the first opportunity to: a meeting. Some 30 members were present.
The Rector (Dr. F. C. Oliver) conducted the Guild service, and in his address spoke of the ring ng of a bell as the ringer's expression of his faith, and of the sacrifice and obedience is entailed. After an excellent tea, arranged by Mrs. Joyce Penny, the short business meeting was held. at the beginning of which the company stood in silence in remembrance of Mrs. Eileen Bush, the correspondent of Damerham. who had died on Easter Tuesday after a short illness. The sympathy of their many friends goes to her husband and daughter, themselves ringers.

OUTING

TWYFORD

The bells of St. Mary's, Twyford, greeied Easier Sunday with some well stru:k Grandsire Tripies for the early Communion servica, after which the ringers made a Corporate Communion and rang as usual for the other services. The following day the band, reinforced by singers from five other towers set out in a coach and three cars for thei Ester outing.
The first stop was at Laverstoke, where the Vicar rang with us on the lively six. On our way to Salisbury we stopped at Stonehenge. which was baihed in br.lliant sunshine. At were rung. the long draught making handling difficult for the less experienced. At lunch in Salisbury we were joined by Silvia Castle, a nurse who had been on duty the previous night at her hospital in London, but was determined not to miss the opportunity of ringing with us.
Ringing in the afternoon was at Longbridge Deverill (a rather noisy eight). Warminster and Westbury (a good heavy eight with a 35 cwt. tinnor). By then we were feeling in need of refreshment and stopped for tea. Finallv came two sixes-Bratton and Great Cheverell. In acknowledging a very enjoyatle ime the ringers would like to thank the organ ser, and the incumben's for the use of their bells.

Hertford County  Assn. Reject Higher Subscriptions

A
RECORD gathering of over 150 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Hertford County Association held at Hitchin on April 28th. Ringing commenced at St. Paul's, Walden, at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and ten minutes before the tower was opened there was a strong nucleus of 30 ringers assembled to give the proceedings a lively start. During the morning and afternoon ringing continued at Codicote. Knebworth, Stevenage. Graveley, Great Wymondley. Baldock, Norton and Hitchin. The service at Hitchin was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. G. N. O. Walsh, with Mr. Percy Wells at the organ. A collection was taken for the Northern District Bell Fund, which raised $£ 5$ 17s.

The tea, prepared by the ladies of the local band and several very welcome helpers. was held in the spacious dining hall of the boys' grammar school. This venue proved to be most satisfactory; several members commenting on the pleasant sucroundings.
The president, Mr. G. W. Seaman, took the chair at the meeting and expressed his thanks to the Association for the honour they had bestowed upon him. He felt that that number present, together with the list of resolutions on the agenda. indicated a healthy interest in the affairs of the Association.
Apologies for absence were reccived from Messrs. D. L. Gullick and R. G. Bell. Members stood in silence as a mark of respect to those who had ded during the year. Thes included Messrs. E. G. Sanderson (associate), A. Gilbert (Roys:on). J. T. Kentish (Hatfield) and T. A. Blow (St. Albans Cathedral), life members; B. A. Cornell (St. Atbans Cathemembers; B A. Cornell (St. Abbans Cathedral). W. Hill (Harpenden) and H. E. Werrett (Nortan).
From the minutes questions arose regarding the long awaited bookcase and the proposed revival of the Great Ringing Day at Benington It was reported that the bookcase had, in fact, been installed in St. Peter's, St. Albans, ringing chamber that morning; a statement which was not without its effect upon the librarian. Arrangements regarding a meeting at Benington were stated to be in the hands of the Vicar. New members elected were: W Aaron (St. Albans Cathedral) and M. Lock (North Mymms)
The committee report noted the formation of a new District in the area around Bishop; Storiford, which includes the new tower at Brent Pelham. Congratulations were also tendered to the Hon. Barbara Gibbs (Hunsdon) who had received the O.B.E, during the year.

120 RINGERS IN PEALS

The peal secretary's report showed a reduction in peal ringing over the previous two years. Seventy-eight peals had been rung by 120 ringers. including 12 first pealers; 18 conductors shared the calling. with G. W Critchley and J. R. Mayne conducting 15 each. There was no ringer who called his first peal. Twenty-threc peals were rung in methods new to the Association, although a peal of 12 Spliced Surprise Major had been rung previously on handbells
The treasurer, Mr. F. J. Plummer, who did not stand for re-election. as he is leaving the county, introduced the accounts which showed a deficit of $£ 7$ 11s. over the year. He pointed out that the annual subscriptions did not finance the cost of the reports and the administration of the Association. An extra sum of approximately $\grave{2} 20$ was offset by interest from investments and peal fees.
A proposition to increase the annual subseription to 5 s . was presented by the treasu:er, and seconded by Mr. U. W. Debenham. A' lively discussion ensued with several members suggesting alternative methods of increasing the revenue. Finatly an amendment. proposed by Mr. G. W. Critchley, that the subscription remain at 3 s . 6 d . was put to the meeting and carried by 55 votes to 15 .

The new president of the Association is Mr. H. V. Frost (St. Albans), who was proposed by Mr. W. Ayre, and seconded by Mr. W. C. Hughes. He was installed by his predecessor and conducted the remainder of the meeting. With the exception of the treasurer the officers ware re-elected as follows: Messrs. A. R. Agg (general secretary), H. V. Frost (assistant secretary), G. W. Debenham (peal secretary) and C. F. Sayer (librarian). Mr. K. R. Dunstan was elected to the office of treasurer

MOTIONS

Several of the rules of the Association were the subject of controversial resolutions. A motion to alter Ruse 1, which defines the title and objects of the Association, aimed at an emphasis on Sunday service ringing and sought to embrace into membership the call change ringers at present outside the Association. Mr. C. W. Woolley questioned the continued inclusion of the phrase 'belfry reform' in the present enlightened age. Several amendments were proposed. but ultimately the meeting voted on a section of the motion which was deemed out of order and the proposition was lost.

The Northern District presented a motion to introduce a new office of 'Master' into the Association, which would be filled by a ringer elected annually, as is the present practice for the presidency. The new president would stand for 3 years and would be eligible for reelection; it was felt that a clergyman would provide a closer link with the Church and save the proposed 'Master, the difficult task of taking the chair at meetings. The propasal, however did not meet with the approval of the meeting -17 voting in favour

One motion which did find favour was the introduction of a certficate to be presented to ringers after 50 years' continuous membership, when they automatically became life members. An estimate to have these printed was carried by 49 votes to 18.

The Association also voted $£ 5$ towards the Kilifi Church Bell Fund in response to a written appeal from the organiser. Mr. G. Dobbs informed the meeting that a 12 -bell practice was being instituted at St. Albans Cathedral on the first Tuesday evening of the month to which any members would be welcome.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the ladies for the very satisfying tea, proposed by Mr. E. G. Buck : to the headmaster and the Education Authority. for the use of the school, and to the Vicar and organist at Hitchin and other clergy, for the use of their bells. proposed by Mr. W. Ayre ; and finally on behalf of the many visitors. Mr. F. E. Collins expressed his thanks to Hertfordshire for a most enjoyable day. Further ringing was available at Hitchin and St. Ippolyts to conclude a tusy spring day in North Hertfordshire.

ANOTHER NEW RING FOR DERBYSHIRE

ON Low Sunday, April 29th, the new fing of five bells (tenor 11 cwt .) at St. Leonard's, Scarcliffe, near Bolsover, Denbyshire, was dedicated by the Assistant Bishop of Southwell, the Rt Rev. A. M. Gelsthorpe. Originally there was a ring of three in the eight-bell frame and three other bells on the church floor, one of which is mediæval.
A new bell has been made from the metal of the other two, which are from the 16th and 17 th centuries, whose crowns and inseription bands have been preserved in the church along with the mediaval bell for their historical value.
This new bell was dedicated to the memory of the Rev. C. H. Talmay, who was Vicar of Scarcliffe when the original ring was installed in 1934, and whose only surviving daughter. Miss Margaret H. E. Talmay, had travelled Miss Margare H . E. E. Tassex for the ceremony, The original r.ng consisted of another mediæval bell, did:cited to St. Peter. and two other comparatively modern bells given by the Godber family, in whose memory these ware dedicated Three generations of this family were present the dedication.
The fifth bell. given by the Archdeacon of Chesterfield. the Ven. T. D.lworth-Harrison. used to hang in Derwent Church until the valley was flooded to form a reservoir. The racasting of the two old be!ls to form ons of the new ones and the tuning of the others to match was done iby Messrs. Taylor & Co. at a cost of $£ 400$, most of which was puid lor by an ancient bell fund, founded in the 13th century by a local noblewoman.

The dedication ceramony preceded the Parish Communion service, celobrated by the Vicar, the Rev. F. J. Wootton, after which the opening rounds were rung by the local company, followed by a touch of Bob Doubles by singers from Bolsover and Chesterfield.

Central Council Secretary Busy in His Own Tower

Recently 'The Erith Observer and Kentish Times, had a feature article on the 19 teenagers in the 27 -strong hellringing team at St. Paulinus. Church, Crayford. Watching over this young and enthusiastic team are Mr. E. Barnett (76), his son Mr. E. A. Barnett (43), Mrs. Olive Barnett. his daughter-in-law, and granddaughter Jean (18).

For four generations the Barnetts have rung the bells of St. Paulinus', as Mr. E. Barnett's father, Mr Edwin Barnett, was leader of the belfry between 1889-1932. A plaque in the belfry, approached by Jadder and trap-door, records the service of Mr. Edwin Barnett. senior.
This is what Mr. E. A. Barnett, who is in charge, is reported to have said about his band: 'There are very few teenage bell ringing teams in the country. We have a tremendously enthusiastic team. and although it takes at least 12 months to train a ringer they thoroughly enjoy the fascinating intellectual and physical exercise ringing gives.

The Rector of Crayford (the Rev. Peter Collins) is equally appreciative of his young ringers. . There are not many church ball ringing teams as good as ours. he said. They are all members of the church, and as good as any I have heard. Some of them pick up ringing quickly. Of course. we are fortunate, to have Mr. Barnett training them.'
Concluding the Rector said: 'The name of Barnett is a byword in bell ringing, and I think his patience in training the youngsters has led to our good team. They went to him knowing , nothing-now they are excellent.

MR. RICHARD SMITH SWORDER

Mr. Cyril Chambers has at last succeeded in getting information about Mr. Richard Smith Sworder-a quest that he started in 1944

Recently he was in Cape Town and decided to go back to Dunban ( 1.200 miles) by road. He called at St. John the Evangelist, the principal Anglican church at East London. and mel the Vicar, who produced a register of burials beginning at 1922. Within 10 minutes they discovered that Mr . Sworder, of Dormer Lodge, Bonny Doon Place, East London, died on June 4 th. 1949. and was buried on June 6:h. 1949, aged 81 .
He went to the address indicated and found $t$ occupied by a Mr. Taylor, who stated he was the second tenant after Mr. Sworder and that a certain Mr. Bagshawe-Smith, of Bonza Buy. East London. might be able to supply information. This Mr. Smith referred Mr. Chambers to his wife. formerly Mrs. R. S. Sworder!

She stated that her first husband came of ${ }^{3}$ farming family from Hallingbury Hall, Bishop's Stortford. There were three brothers. Dick. Fred (who was in South Africa for a number of years) and Bob. They must all have been ringers from a very early age, because Mrs. Smith mentioned that her late husband had told her that when he first began to ring handbells he had to be lifted on to a stool! From the information she gave. Mr. Chambers has hopes of tracing her late husband's ringing books.

MR. W. K. SHARPE

Elected a member of the Aldrington. Sussex, band on January 24th, 1911. Mr. William Kenneth Sharpe died on April 26th. aged 70 . He was a regular Sunday service ringer until recent years, when his health declined. A keen churchman, he sang in the choir from the age of 10 , served on the P.C.C. and helped in many other ways the church he loved.
A memorial service was held on May 3rd at which there was half-muffled ringing. Sympathy is extended to his widow and sons -Kenneth and Roy.

DBITUARY

MR. JOHN GASSON

One of a family of ringers. Mr. John Gasson died on May 4th, aged 47. His father and brothers had rung the Bolney bells for many years and it is fitting that his nieces. Sheila and Carol. should be in the present band with their father, Gearge Gasson.
John also served the tower as winder of the church clock for the last eight years as well as 25 years as a ringer. Work having ccmmenced on the bells a few days previously. it was impossible to ring them half-mufled for the funeral service. May he rest in peace. H. W. B

MR. W. A. GOIDSTONE AN APPRECIATION

The passing of ${ }^{\text {Big Bill' }}$ Goldstone will leave a gap in the Chertsey District of the Gu:ldford Diocesan Guild. which will be hard to fill. A great believer in the open hand stroke, he sometimes scared young learners with loud denunciations of bad striking. Thase who persevered found in him a kindly. warm-hearted man.

He was an upholsterer by trade, and his wonderful rope splicing is in evidence in a number of local towers. He made a set of muffles for Send bells, and these were used for his memorial peal. He rang his last peal at Send on February 21 st, the treble to Bob Minor, conducted by John Wells.

MR. JOHN HOGG

Jack Hogg had been a regular ringer at Leeds Parish Church from the time the present bells were installed, in 1932, until indifferent health compelled him to give up ringing in May of last year.

Before coming to Leeds he had been a ringer at Keighley Parish Church for eight years. and whilst not a great peal ringer-he had rung five in all for the Yorkshire Asso-ciation-he was a dependable Sunday service ringer.

During the First World War, Jack saw active service at Gallipolli and biter in France. Besides ringing, one of his hobbies was embroidery, at which he was singularly adept, and he has left us a memento in the Leeds belfry in the framed embroidery of the Parish Church with the names of the ringers of the time. a piece of work he modestly said he knocked up one Sunday afternoon.

He died on Easter Eve at the age of 70 and, as reported in the peal columns. a half-muffled peal was rung by colleagues and friends on the day of his funeral.
R.H.D.

MR. JAMFS M. BAILEY AN APPRECIATION

Leiston will always be remembered for the famous Bailey brothers and it is Leiston's losis in the passing to higher service of brother James.

Nearly 60 years a ringer at St. Margaret's, Leiston, he served on the P.C.C. for many years: also tower captain and Ringing Master of N.E. District of Suffolk Guild. His achievenents were many, including Surprise Major methods rung for the first time, one of these being Suffolk. The writer had the privilege of standing in the 50th anniversary peal of 11.040 Double Norwich (May, 1909) and the first tower-bell peal by eight brothers (Plain Bob. October. 1911). His peals, which were on all numbers of bells. totalled 498. many being conducted.

Jim had been in poor health for several years. but it took a lot to keep him away from his place in the tower on Sundays Following an operation in Ipswich Hospital which was successful, he was looking forward to going home when a clot touched the heart.

The funeral service at St. Margaret's was attended by many parishioners and friends A half-muftled quarter peal of Plain Boh Major was rung at Leiston as soon as could be arranqed by John Marjoram 1. Ray Peck 2. Jack Pilgrim 3, Alan R. Bridges 4. Ernest S. Bailey 5. Alan S. Pipe 6, Leonard P. Bailey 7. Peier S. Bedford (conductor) 8.

Unringable Six in Old Exeter Church

In recent years the writer has aften received inquiries regarding the history of this church and its light ring of six bells, the latter being declared uningable, probably on account of the heavy air raid damage in 1942. The church, which is situated in the main street, quite near to the Guildhall and not far from the Cathedral, was in ancient times the centrc and core of Exeter. In fact the parish jtsclf only boasted $2 \frac{1}{2}$ acres in extent. The church was there long before Athelstan founded the monastery which Leofric afterwards made into the Cathedral

The dedication of this church is to a British saint, St. Petrock. the Abbot of a monastery at Bodmin, who died on June 4th, A.D. 564 , thirty-three years before the coming of St . Augustine to Canterbury. St. Petrock's was one of the twenty-nine churches to each of which William the Conqueror, in 1066, directed the City Provost to pay one silver penny yearly out of public taxes.
A new bell tower was erected in 1513 and forty years later we learn from the Royal Inventory that the number of bells in the tower was three. Details of the bells, said to rank among the lightest rings of six in this country, are Treble: A. Rudhall, founder, 1742
Second: I.S. 1693
Third: Johannes est nomen ejus.
Fourth: T.P. 1683
Fifth: Soli Deo detvr gloria. 1677.
Tenor: (No inscription.) Diameter 30 inches. About 6 cwt.
The 2nd was cast by John Siadler, of Chulmleigh, who founded 1693 to 1720

The 3rd shows the Arms of Henry V. who ame to the throne in 1413 . Possibly the bell was given to commemorate the occasion.
No. 4 was cast by T. Pennington, of Exeter, and the 5th probably came from the same founcry. The tenor is plain.

The bells were restored by Doble and Son. of Taunton, in 1922. hut I cannot trace the existence of any local band and I recall the 1890's when volunteers were called for in order to give the six-hell tower a turn. Often would I try to be one of the half dozen who would hurry from one tower to St. Petrock's, where the tiny ringing chamber on the ground floor enabled the congregation to see the ringers at work, for this was my first six-bell lower.
On January 10th. 1935, this narish became united to St. Mary Major, with St. George and St. John. Not many years and when in 1945 St. Petrock's bells were declared unringable a big problem presented itself to the authorities.

For over 16 years nothing seems to have been settled regarding their future, and though I have visited the church several times no information could be obtained. I am aware of the many difficulties which prevail in towns and cities because of war damage, and each parish has had to face up to its own particular problems
In Exeter. prior to the war, some 60 to 70 ringers would be needed if Sunday service ringing could be maintained in towers having eight or more bells and it often happens that the only six-bell tower gets little or no ringing. St. Petrock's bells could he transferred to another parish needing a light ring of six. and the same could be said regarding the eight in another nearby parish ( Si . Edmund). where I also sought information, but one comes away with the same question ringing in one's ears: How can we raise the money?

THE LADIES' GUILD
Devon Branch Formed
As the result of a Ladies' Guild meeting at Buckfast Abbey on May 5th, which was atterded by 81 ringers and friends, a new branch of the Ladies' Guild was formed. The president (Mrs. Staniforth) proposed a vote of thanks to the incumbent who conducted the service, and to Mr. A. Bennett for making the local arrangements.
Originally it was intended to have a Devon and Cornwall Branch, but as Cornwall was not represented the title was confined, for the time being, to the Devon Branch. The Branch starls with 22 members; 13 were elected at the meeting. The first officers are: Vicepresident, Miss M. Shepherd; secretary, Miss Y. Porter; committee. Miss C. Dodridge, Mrs. Retter. Mrs. Hood, Miss M. Russell ; represen tatives, the Misses V. Goss and P.' Stephens Mrs. Lock expressed the hope that the Branch would be represented at the annual meeting of the Guild at Darlington on July 7th and at the dinner in London to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Guild's foundation on October 27th.

Next meeting: ,Plymouth, either September 1 st or 8 th.

There is no active local band at Baschurch, Shropshire. a four-bell tower mentioned in the 'R.W. of April 13th. The Ellesmere area secretary of the Shropshire Association, Mr. T R. Davies, is organising a rota to ensure that the bells are rung at least once a month. Although the frame has pits for six. the spare pits are in opposite corners of the tower. and the ropes fall in a straight line. The bells were rehung by Taylors in 1909, and two of them recast.

The 'Hybrid’ Group Analysed

In a recent letter to the Editor reference was made to the wide scope of design in methods, and $I$ indicated the incipient interest in the Hybrid' type of structure. In a 'Ringing World ' issue shortly afterwards (dated April 13th, 1962) appeared the report (page 242) of peal of Major (the first) in this group principle, named 'Deddington,' after the place where it was rung, by Robin Leale and band.
A footnote gives the usual row-code of a 'half-lead,' etc., and indicates the method as one's Composition.' Two points arise: (a) A small point but important in theoretic con-sideration-one does not 'compose' methods. It is preferable to rescribe them as 'designed.' Compositions, of course, connotes the arranging of something that is 'not part of the method,' as the Central Council dictum has it, i.e. the arranging of 'calls' to produce touches and peals, out of the plain course of the design. Though I have produced peal compositions for use in this method yet that for the peal, as rung. was by James Topp, and is given on the back page of the issue of 'The Ringing World,' dated April 27th. 1962. The second point (b) The row-code in this case does not directly indicate the peculiar path of the treble.

Several points of interest may arise. Firstly. his is not just another new method. It is, in fact, the first to be published of a new group or type of design ; and the design is "generic "; that is to say it is capable of definition by a specification. from which the student of method structure can set out the principle of the group, for any stage applicable

SPECIFICATION

From this it follows that a series of methods can be designed on this principle, also capable of delineation, from specification, in the cognate stages. i.e., for various numbers of bells. The idea of specification is not new. It was first introduced to the Exercise generally at the time of the accession of our reigning Queen: when a method I named "Regina" not only showed that all Plain Major methods had not been produced, but also that it conhad not been produced, but also that it constages. The method was pealed by a band conducted by Alan Pink.

But to get back to 'Deddington'-this happens to be No. 6 of the methods so far designed in the Hybrid principle. It was first attempted at St. Mary's, Portsmouth, in July, 1955; but the first plain course was rung by the Universities Association in August of that year at Holy Trinity Church, Rothwell. The conductor of the first peal, just rung (Robin Leale), reports that, in the opinion of his band, the method proves to be very musical." A brief statement of group features indicates the principle and the figures of a division (lead) of the plain course indicates the method -Deddington, in the Major stage

THE HYBRID PRINCIPLE

1. 'Alliance' type of hunt-control, but introducing a new pattern element-reverse "T.B." Curtailed type of hunt-control, as in Little' methods; yet varying in hunt span from stage to stage, the upper limit of the hunt being fixed as from the back, and not, as in Little methods, from the front. Hence, methods in this principle do not havo a constant number of rows per division per stage, i.e. not as in Little Bob, for example, which has eight rows per division (lead) in all stages from Minor to Maximus. In fact, the number of rows in the division for any one stage is given by the expression ( $2 \times n$ ) plus 2 , where $n$ is the number of columns or bells per stage
The remaining work, i.e. that of the working' bells, is of the 'surprise' type, having places made at all cross-sections, 1.e. when applied in even-bell stages

THE DEDDINGTON METHOD
(Hybrid No. 6)
From these figures the blue Major line for the Major stage can be delineated. Taking. as example, tho second bell, i.e. as from rounds, the work evolving can be described as in this order: Last half of front work; dodge $3 / 4$ down; Point one first; Places up: Triple lie ; Places down; Point one last; Triple dodge $3 / 4$ up: Point 8/5: Last T.B. lie; First half of front work

Calls as in Plain Bob: but Singles can be dispensed with. It is seen that in this method the treble hunts up to the third and fourth places from behind wher

THE SMITHS

THE STORY OF A RINGING FAMILY By I. N. QUICK
As loyal members of the Guild. Hexworth lower are giving 100 per cent. support to the anmual outing. Joe Smith, the head ringer, is being accompanied by his wife Amie, his daughter and son Phyllis and John, and the rest of the company.

THE ANNUAL OUTING

The Guild had held an annual outing for tho last 14 years. It might be thought that this would be an unwieldy affair, involving a fleet of buses, but in aotual fact, although relatives and friends of singers were allowed, nay, even invited on the trip, two thirty-two seater buses were the most that had ever been required. In this project, as in many others, the main support was contributed by a comparatively small but 'happy band of pilgrims.'

The outing ' was always included as one of the stems on the agenda of the annual meeting where it was usually placed between the 'election of officers' and 'new members, but little or no progress was ever made at this gathering. To be sure there would be some discussion as to where (and where not) the outing should go, the more ambitious and enthusiastic, led quite often by a group of young ringers headed by Raymond Smithson. would suggest some cathedral town, any distance up to 200 miles away, calling at about ten churohes on the way there and awice that number on the way back.
At the other extreme there would be one or two old and staid ringers, who would probably never go on the trip anyway, who weyond the confines of the Guybe two, just beyond the confines of the Guild, which they had visited many times before, but where they could discuss ald times with ringers with whom they were old friends.
Still another group there was, labelled by Joe the seasiders, who insisted on some seaside holiday resort that possessed a tower or two containing bolls, but whose main concern was to have a day on the sands with the wife and children, but who didn't mind having a useful alternative for themselves in case it was raining!

It was generally agreed after the discussion had gone on for ten or fifteen minutes, that the matter be left in the hands of the secretary for the time being, consequently at the next two or three meetings he would be 'chivvied, to see what progress he had made. Of course he wouldn't have made any, but being an experienced secretary he would say that he had made inquiries about the state of the bells at $X$ and $Y$, but had been, as yet, unable to obtain any satisfactory reply. whereupon someone who had recently called at $X$ would say that when he visited there he was unable to get up to the tower, but understood unable to get up to the tower, but understood from the verger (' a little bowlegged man!) that there were only three bells and one of those was cracked. At this point someone else would jump up and produce a 'Dove's' which clearly stated that the tower in question, far from having only three bells, had eight: tenor from having only three bells, had eight; tenor $15 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in $A$ sharp. and the practice night was Wednesday.
A group of people, including the secretary, would then gather round the book and one of two things would be brought to light:
(a) that the person who said he had called at (a) that the person who said he had called at
X was mistaken: the church having been one with a similar name in another county, or (b) the person who had produced the "Dove's" was illiterate.
Having disposed of X it would turn out that omeone else knew a chap who had a second someone olse knew a chap who had a second cousin who was a ringer at $Y$ and that he understood from this miniature Bush telegraph that athough the bells were in excellent trim and a joy to handle they were not available under any circumstances on Saturdays as this was market day and the church was immediately adjacent to the market, square. This statement would be strongly denied by another ringer who had noticed that there had been a meeting there only a fortnight ago, and would point to a report of it in that week's Ringing World,' whioh he would then hold aloft. for the benefit of disbelievers, like the torch of the Statue of Liberty.

And then a committee would be appointed to look into the matter and report to the next monthly meeting and at this later event the spokesman would offer three alternatives, which was worse than none at all, seeing that ali the arguments would once again be thrown into the melting pot where they would bubble and spit, and eventually overflow.

After funther heated discussion the three alternatives would be reduced to two and these would be put to the vote. The chairman, Edward Lee, would then stand up and count the show of hands and discover that both proposition and amendment had received the same number of votes. Carefully once again he would count and arrive at the same result, and it would then be left to Wim. as chairman. to make the casting vote. With great reluctance he would decide for onc or the other, knowing full well that whichever he chose he would be blamed for the weather. or if a bus broke down on the day of the outing. by those who maintained he should have chosen the other one.
Normally, the day of the outing was fixed for the second Saturday in July. On the occasion we are about to describe, howeves, it had been brought forward to the first Saturday in May, it having been decided to make a tour of Lincolnshire. in the Spalding area at tulip time, and as someone rightly observed there wasn't much point in 'tiptoeing through the tulip fields if there were no tulips to tiptoe through!!
It was left to the secretary to make final arrangements with the bus company and to write the various towers concerned so that $h=$ could complete the itinerary and make arrangements for meals. As soon as the details were complete and Edward was able details were complete and Edward was able to announce the times and prices and that he would like names as soon as possible, Joe approached him and booked seats, eleven in all, for the Hexworth company and paid the necessary fees.

I wish they were all like you, Joe.' said Edward. Some of them will be dallying about until the last minute and I shali be collecting, money on the bus on the day of the outing.

He sighed

Who would be secretary to a lot like this?" The day of the outing dawned bright and fair with even a promise of better things to come. Arrangements had been made so that the two coaches before meeting at Barnswood should perform a circular tour, but in different directions. to collect odd groups of ringers from outlandish districts: The members of the Hexworth party, consisting of the Smith family, with Henry, Mr. Challen. Old George, the two Williams. father and son, and the Browning twins, Alice and Rene, met about $7.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m} .$, and when the bus arrived at about 7.20 it was already pretty full.

The Brigton contingent was well represented, ringers. Wives, sweethearts and children; big Allan Slater and his diminutive wife, John Chappell with his wife and two daughters. both of whom were proficient ringers, Donald Russell. Tom Greenfield and several younger ones whose faces were familiar to Joe but whose names were not. The remaining passengers were practically all from Redbank and Joe received a grin and a nod from Raymond Smithson and a word from Edgar Peltigrew, a staunch Guild supporter, who. with sly humour and pleasant drawl. congratulated them on being on time. 'for a change '! Of course, Edward Lee was there and after wishing them a very good morning and remarking what a lovely day it was in a manner which implied that he took full credit for it, he gave each of them a duplicated copy of the itinerary, at the botom of which was printed in capital letters: "Members are asked to cooperate in seeing that this schedule is strictly adhered to,' a request that had appeared on each itinerary since the institution of the outings without it ever having had the slightest effect.

At Barnswood, where the two buses joined forces, a last check-up was made by Edward, who performed a fairly rapid reciprocal motion between the two vehioles like the crossslide of a horizontal steam engine (marine type), during which process he generated an almost equivalent amount of heat. When he was finally satisfied that all was in order he permitted the tour to proceed.

The next stop being at Gainsbarough, well over an hour's journey distant, people settled down to read the morning papers. chat or simply stare out of the windows. Annie had brought along the current issue of "The Ringing World,' which was therefore read in detail one day before its usual time and she quick.ly became immersed in it, giving simultaneously a running commentary on the contents thereof, for the benefit of Joe, who was sitting beside her.

No doubt this helped him to while away the time, although perhaps he would have preferred to read the paper which he had in front of him. If we do a spot of eavesdropping we may (or may not) find Annie's observations and comments edifying.

- I see some people are still moaning about the lay out and contents of "The Ringing World"; if they printed it in gold leaf and gave a premium bond away with each copy there would still be someone who was dissatisfied. Oh! look here, there's a snippet from "Jafus." Isn't that the fellow called Smallwood who came to listen to our contest last year? Aye, but he was a rum 'un, le Was : couldn't half tell a good tale. Do you remember the one he told about the man who got a new pair of spectacles? Moved the vote of thanks very nicely though all the same! What! another attempt at the Major extent? I think that if they had changed the method or rung some "spliced" they would have got it long ago. They must get fed up with with sight of Plain Bob after all that time. Come to think of it, they must get fed up with the sight of one another. This fellow Cannon (What's that, Joe? one of the big guns? Very amusing, I don't think). He must have a consititution like an ox. If they hung the great bell of Moscow I think he'd attempt to ring a peal on it. What? If they put it on Cannon-ball-bearings? You'se very uitty today, aren't you?'
Meanwhile, as they approached Gainsborough. Mr. Challen, as always a mine of information, was explaining to the twins, who were sitting in the seat immediately in front of him. that the town was none other than the town of St. Oggs, around which was woven the story of George Eliot's 'The Mil on the Floss.' Neither of them had read the book allhough one of them knew that - George Eliot was a woman. and they listened round-eyed as Mr. Challen pointed in lurid colours a verbal picture of Tom and Maggie Tulliver being swept away in the flood and as the bus crossed the bridge over the river Trent they looked through the window, almost as if they expected to see the two poor wretche, being carried through the arches in a raging torrent
Breakfast was held in a kind of upper room reached by a flight of wooden steps from the cobbled backyard of a public house. Seeing that this was the first time since they set off that the travellers of both buses had been able to get together. there was a buzz of conversation. Many of the friends and relatives of the ringers, living as they did far from each other and not having seen one another since the last annual outing, or at the best since the annual dinner, had such a lot to talk about. Gradually, however, they gravitated towards the rows of long tables. sorted themselves out and sat down ready for the attack. but just as everyone was settled and ready to commence, John Chappell made his usual announcement :
- Will you please stand while we sing Grace?
At which request everybody stood again and when the shuffling of feet and the scraping of chairs had subsided:

THE SMITHS-Continued

This was not John Chappell's private address, nor indeed the name of one of his aristocratic friends, but, as by this time all members of the Guild were aware, the title of the tune which he always chose in preference to the 'Old Hundredth,' and which without further ado he began to sing to the all familiar words in his pleasant but purposeful baritone voice, whence he was jained by the remainder of the company. Having successfully launched the others into the tune John proceeded to supply the bass and, having been assisted in this venture by several hitherto hesitant bass singers he wandered off into the tenors, where, amongst others, Joe was offering a tentative counterpoint. Finally he reinforced Don Russell who was warbling in a resonant falsetto 3 reasonably adequate alto, so that within the short space of four brief lines John Chappell had demonstrated his musical versatility, for he was a musician to the core.
There was. of course. an 'Amen.'
Joe liked his 'Amens.' If ever he attended a service away from his biloved Hexworth at, say, a meeting or on holiday, and the hymin ended without one he experienced a curious disappointment: the ending seemed abrupt and incomplete and he had the feeling that he hiad been cheated. John said that his father liked his hymns to be like the proverb:al 'lost chord' and to 'tremble away into silence as though they were Joath to cease "! Perhaps, as Phyllis sometimes insisted, he was old fashioned. but, he used to argue. it was inconsistent to use an "Amen" at the end of a spoken prayer and omit it at the end of a musical one!

After breakfast the ringers quickly made their way to the church. Edward Lee alone remaining behind to 'settle up,' as he put it. The older ones and non-ringers followed at a more leisurely pace in order to continue their interrupted conversations, shop-window gaze or simply enjoy the morning sun.

When the ringers arrived at the church the Rev. Michael Freeman was waiting to greet them and direct them to the belfry door. He even entered the belfry with them, but when pressed to ring a little later in a wuch of Sledman Triples he at first refused, saying: - No, it's your outing. I can ring here at any time.' although it was not difficult to see that the was itching to have a go. And when one of the ringers stood down saying that he wasn't very sure of Stedman, and would rather not spoil the touch and held out the rather not spoil the touch and held out the replied. 'Oh. well, if you are really one short!' and took hold and rang an excellent touch (equally as good as the ringer whose place he had filled would have done. even if he had rung in a peal of Stedman Triples the previoris week!). as indeed he should, being the son of a ringer who, until his death not long ago, was for so long the mainstay of the Lincoln Cathedral company, and whose name was known and respeoted wherever ringers met.

Several other touches were rung and John Chappell. the Ringing Master, took care that every ringer should have a pull, including those who could ring only rounds. It is galling to go to a meeting and for some galing to go to a meeting and for some be unable to have a ring, but to ge on a tour, or outing. and visit some 'fresh, tower without having the opportunity to sample the goods must be, to any ringer, a most grievous disappointment.

Joe remembered on one outing a lady ringer being (temporarily) overlooked as she was outside the tower looking after her 12 -month old son, and he sometimes wondered how she must have felt as she heard this much extolled ring being lowered prior to departure. He had bsen one of those who. when this grave error had bein discovered. had returned to the tower and got the bells up again so that the ladv could have a ring after an obliging - Nanny had been found to take care of the infant. Never, he felt. must the music of the bslls have sounded so wonderful to her (charming) ears, nor a schedule disturbed with greater justification.

His many friends will be sorry to hear that Mr. E. G. (George) Cottis, of Barking, has been adwised by his doct ringing. A member of doctor to discontinue ing band of some years ago, George has giving encouragement and help to a learner band, recently established at St. Margaret's. A! who know him jo n in sending best wishes and a sincere 'Get well soon.'
The conductor of the quarter peal at Childwall. Liverpool (page 309), was Dr. T. P. Edwards and not as published.
A peal of Stedman Triples (Dexter's No. 2 variation) was rung silent at Esith. Congratulations.
From 'Evening Echo,' Cork: A bellringer has retired after half-a-century's continuous service. Fifty years all tolled!
The peal at Croft on May 12th to the memory of Mr. Ernest Morris was rung on the $34: h$ anniversary of the dedication of the bells by the late Bishop Bardsley.

News of the engagement of Mr. John Perrett, now in London, to Miss Jennifer Brown reached Kirk Ella, East Yorks, where ho learnt to ring, and was honoured by a quarter peal.
The Rochester District at their meeting at Queenborough offered their good wishes to Mr. P. N. Bond, their Ringing Master, who will be taking his first curacy at St. Augustine's. Gillingham, after his ordination on Trinity Sunday.

For the first time a quarter of Spliced Surprise Major has been rung by a resident band of Peterborough Guild members. This was on April 13th at St. Edmund's Church, Northampton. A peal is planned which, it is hoped, will lead to still greater things.
Here is something for the ladies of Somerville and Girton to consider, to say nothing of those at Bristol and other seats of learn-ing-the ladies of London University rang ${ }^{2}$ peal of Plain Bob Major at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, on May 12th. We understand it was a 'lawless' achievement. Congratulations!

Congratulations to S. Barry Schafield, son of Mr. H. B Scholield, of Bradford Cathedral, who has just rung his 50 th peal (Cambridge Royal). Barry will be 15 on Nov. 23 rd this year and his list contains 22 ten-bel peals, including two of four Spliced Royal. There is every indication that he has a brilliant ringing future ahead of him.

In the in memoriam peads to Mr. Ernest Morris those at Boyne Hill and Cole-Orton were his own compositions.

Miss Rosemary Thompson (20) is the Ringing Master of St. Murk's, Dundela, Belfast. She writes a special for 'The Irish Bell News' entitled 'What it feels like to be a young Ringing Master.'
Mr. D. Mottershead. of 8. Hawthorn Walk, Wilmslow, Cheshire, asks if any reader can supply him with the name of a firm who will give a quotation for peal board carved in oak.
With the ringing on May 12 th of a peal on the difficult five at Minster-in-Thanet, a peal has been rung in every tower in Kent with ringable bells. Mr. A. P. Cannon had hoped to ring the 17 cwt tenor, but due to an infection in his right arm he had to je content with the trevle. However, Mr. Ralph Bird made a good job of the rough-going bell to complete the paal in 2 hours 58 minutes.
A new metal frame is being installed at Bolney and in consequince there will be no ringing thare for some time. The Bolney band are practising at Łindficld, on the first and third Wednesdays, thanks to the kindness of the local captain. The band are in the process of dearning Grandsire Triples and would welcome assistance at their practices.
'The Irish Bell News ' quotes the following from "The People,' Australia: 'The bell in the Church of England. which overlooks the lovely Gosford (N.S.W.) Broadwater. is actually set in whisky battles. The bell swings were set in the necks of two bottles, cemented into the masonry of the belfry. This was in 1904 and the whisky bobles still serve their purpose. Is this true. Australia!

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The spring meeting of the Kington Distric was held at Old Radnor on April 28th and there was a good attendance of members, with visitors from Kimbolion. Leominster, Abingdon and Danbury. Essex.
The Guild form of service was conducted by the Rev. D. Williams, with Mrs. Williams as organist

The bells were muffled as a tribule to the memory of three Guild officers whose deaths have occurred recently: Mr. Jahez Preece. 38 years' secretary of Kington District: Mr. Fred Jaine, Master of Leominster District: and Mr. Harry Edge. secretary of Bridgnorth District. and, before the business meeting, members stood in silence, remembering them

Mrs. E. Chandler will act as District secretary until the annual meeting.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

The spring festival of the Penzance Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild was held at Lelant on May 13th. Those present included the Revs. A. J. Vincent (Vicar of Kenwyn and Diocesan secretary) and W. H. R. Trewhella (vice-president), and about 50 ringers. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. P. S. Gagg). who also gave an address. The Rev. A. S. Roberts (Branch secretary) read piano, Lelant organ being at present under restoration. Mr. H. Miles was in charge of the tower.
A splendid tea was served in the Village Hall by the ladies of the church, and the Vicar and all local helpers were thanked by the Branch secretary. An invitation to hold the autumn festival at St. Mawgan-in-Meneage was accepted with thanks. This would coincide with the silver jubilee of the installation of the present ring there
It was agreed to make a grant of $£ 10$ towards the recent recasting of the 7th bel at Madron. which had developed a crack was cast at Hayle in 1823 and was so inscribed Ringing took place throughout the day as Lelant. Phillack, Towednack and Carbis Bay.

JOINT MEETING AT DORE

Due to the cold, wet weather only about 30 ringers attended the joint meeting of the Derbyshire Association and the Sheffeld and District Society at Dore on May 12th.

Afternoon ringing ranged from call changes to Stedman Triples. but unfortunately a rope was broken just before tea. Mr. J. Seage saved the day with some very efficient splicing and duning the interregnum Mr. J. Frank Sm'allwood organised handbell ringing.
After a very appetising tea. prepared by the Vicar's wife and some of the mothers of the young local band. the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Heawood) presided at the business meeting. when final arrangements were agreed for the outing in July

There was more ringing until 8.30 p.m. and among the methods rung were well-struck touches of Double Norwich and Kent Major.

Corston, Bath, Ringers' Outing

The ringers of All Saints'. Corston. Bath accompanied by their Rector and friends. spent a very enjovable afternoon and evening ringing in South Gloucestershire on May 12th. Towers visited were Tortworth. Frampton-on-Severn. Stinchcombe. North Nibley (all sixes) and Berkeley (10). In spite of the day being very overcast and far from warm the party were able to demonstrate their skill by ringing a wide variety of methods. whilst the non-ringers enjoyed the beauties of the churches visited and the adioining countryside Sincere thanks are due to the incumbents of the churches visited.

The quarter peal at Aylestone, Leics, on Palm Sunday was the first of Bristol by an alllocal band. It was rung as a first wedding anniversary compliment to Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Morris, Ringing Master and secretary of the band respectively.

' 'TWAS IN ASHWATER TOWN,

says the old song,
The bells they did sound,
They rung for a belt and a hat laced with gold.'

BBUT on May 12 th they rang for the glory of God and the love of ringing, though perhaps the village of Ashwater ('town' in Devon can mean no more than a farm) has not changed so very much since that 'day in October' when Northlew beat Broadwoodwidger.

Ashwater is what one might call a 'proper village.' It has a triangular green. with the church at one corner and the pub in the middle of the opposite side, not glaring at each other in hated rivalry but each contributing to the wellbeing of the whole man. There is a garage where once perhaps was a forge, but Ashwater is one of those happy communities which is able to move with the times enough to keep in touch and still not lose its identity.

Here, then, was a good place for a ringing festival, and it was a good festival that the Tamar Valley Guild of Ringers held there. Bands came from both sides of the Tamar-from Launcells, Week St. Mary, Poughill, Marhamchurch, North Tamerton and Kilkhampton; from Clawton, Pyworthy, Hartland, Bridgerule and (new to the Guild) Clovelly. They comfortably filled the nave of St. Peter-ad-Vincula's Church, sang lustily the Guild's own unique selection of hymns, and did ample justice to a notable tea in the Parish Hall afterwards. At the usual brief meeting in the churchyard after the service, they agreed to double the Guild's subscription with probably less trouble than such a motion has ever involved. The Guild's funds are used almost entirely to help affiliated towers with repairs and restorations to their bells, and the income was hardly enough to make the sort of grants we'd like to make, but that was hardly surprising seeing that the subscription has remained the same since the Guild's foundation in 1889-6d. per head per annum.

In these parts we like to ring with our own bands, though visitors who come singly are gladly welcomed. So after tea it is the custom for all towers in the Guild to be open and for bands to go roving about. This year, however, we were on the extreme south-eastern edge of the Guild's area, so that many of us went to remind foreign towers of the joys of belonging to our company. The tower that received most attention was Halwill. where the local ringers will have no excuse for forgetting for some years; this little six was kept going for much of the day.

At Northlew, so they say, the Devil died with the cold. (They buried him at Shebbear, but that's another story.) It was perhaps in celebration of this that the people of Northlew built their very splendid church. with a screen and roof which are worth going a long way to see. There are no ringers here-at least none that ring-and we hope that a visit from some of the Guild bands may start something going, for Northlew is a live village, and ought to have a good band.

Bratton Clovelly, on the other hand, is a lost village, not on the way to anywhere nor near anywhere; none of our party had been there before, nor was anything known about the bells. We were met by Mr. Palmer, the very kindly captain of the ringers, who showed us into a most lovely church and made us welcome in a well-kept belfry. We took hold and 'pitched ' the bells up, to be astonished with a flood of really glorious music from this old six. They were cast by the Penningtons in 1767, all of them, with a tenor of 14 cwt ., and though their tone is oldfashioned it is rich and smooth. In a good oak frame by Harry Stokes. they go as well as you can expect from plain bearings-they don't ring themselves, but they don't go hard and they don't go awkward, and if you give them the chance they settle down to a fine natural rhythm. We liked this six so much that we came back and spent the evening with them five days later.

The last stop for ringing was at Broadwoodwidger. (Some people seem to find that name funny; round here. we just call it 'Brad'ood.' and find it fairly normal.) Broadwood sits, as it were, on the stairs: its head is in the windy heights of Broadbury Down. its toes dabble in the sheltered waters of the Wolf, and the village climbs up the hill between. The church is at the top end, and if the inn and the church were together, as they usually were, this must have had much to commend it, for it's fair enough to get a thirst on the way to the pub, but it's a whisht job if you raise one on the way home from it. Outside the church stands a very fine tree, which had us all quite mystified: the bark and shape were those of a fine big beech. but the leaves were slender and pointed, their sides deeply toothed. (Later we learnt that it is a 'ferned-leaved beech': whatever it is, it's a lovely tree.) Broadwood is another village which progress is leaving behind, and there are no ringers here now-strange that the great rivals of the song should now have no successors. This is a very handy little six, or would be with a little more maintenance, and they sound tunable enough; it's a pity to think that they hadn't been rung since harvest festival.

Nine o'clock, and the light getting dimpsey: and from towers all over our 12 -mile area ringers come out buttoning their coats, and head for the last call of the day. It's been a good day, but then we think that, with its oddities (in some ways it's unique), its achievements. its past of which we are proud and its future of which we are hopeful. ours is a good Guild.

CLERICAL RINGERS IN EAST ANGLIA

THE annual ringing week of the Guild of Clerical Ringers took place this year in the easternmost part of England, based on Great Yarmouth. It is really incorrect to describe this pleasant gathering as a tour because, according to the dictionary, this is prolonged journey from place to place, particularly for pleasure. The Guild always has a firm base of operations from which to make its daily excursions and the choice of Great Yarmouth was a very good one. providing excellent hotel accommodation and a good variety of churches and towers in the area.
Our gathering was inevitably overshadowed by our loss by death since last year of Preb. -as he was always known-was in reality the founder of the Guild. with his cousin our president. Tribute has been paid to him in 'The Ringing World' for all his work for ringing, but it was natural that in the Clerical Guild his loss was most keenly felt. Preb. Benson was one of our most enthusiastic members and there was a sad irony in the fact that last year we chose Church Stretton as our alternative centre to Great Yarmoulh because he would have been able to help organise the tour. These losses depleted our ringing strength considerably and in addition R. D. St. John Smith had to ration his ringing time severely. On the other hand we were strengthened by having with us for part of the time both A. G. G. Thurlow and his sometime curate, G. C. Galley.
We found East Anglia abounding in churches. almost all with west end towers. The maintenance of some of these enormous buildings in tiny parishes must be a severe strain on parochial funds. We were in the midst of the Norfolk Broads and so from our coach we saw sailing boats gliding along, apparently through green fields and marvelled again a the clarity of the air which gives widespread views from every church tower. Our week was superbly organised and so was free from incident-which are meat and drink to the reporter! At one tower, which shall be nameless. we found the church locked, but, encouraged by some choirboys, we banged on all the doors at once, so attracting the attention of the organist who was practising the next Sunday's voluntary. It takes a good deal to Sunday's voluntary, It takes a good
On our first day we had no less than three five-bell towers. There was speculation whether Stedman Doubles would fire out even with a good band. It did! We enjoyed some excellent six- and eight-bell towers and two 10 s . At one of these, the detached tower at Beccles. we were interviewed by 'the Press. Our worthy president. on shopping bent. had to listen to a long complaint from a local sbopkeeper about the noise the bells were making. He revealed the identity of the culprits and-no doubt in belated respect to the cloth-was told that 'we weren't doing too bad. This was, so far as we know, the only comment on our efforts throughout the tour. At Aylsham, our other 10 -bell tower Grandsire and Stcuman Caters were successfilly brought round.

We rang at two 12's. one very new and one very old. The former was, of course, at Great Yarmouth itself. The church has been magnificently restored and the bells match the building. We, who have to hook wires or pull levers to take off the chimes were greatly impressed by the complicated way it is done at Yarmoush. We found the bells easy to ring. but that did nothing to aid our attempt at Grandsire Cinques. The appropriate clerical comment would be "We have erred and strayed like lost sheep.' On the other hand an excellent course of Cambridge was rung on the bottom eight-a most satisfactory noise. Our annunl peal attempt. of Bob Major this year, was made on the middle eight at this tower. It was conducted by . C. Galley and unfortunately failed after 2. hours. The other 12 at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, was memorable. Apart from the majesty of the bells there is the atmosphere of ringing history which fills the belfry. The pal board recording Garthon's first peal of Triples has been suitably restored and this is only one of the indications of the significance of this great tower. With the assistance of two local ringers some splendid Grandsire Caters was rung.

At the annual meeting of the Guild business was transacted with commendable efficiency under our president, who defies the passing of the years, and was re-eleoted with acclamation. Our roll of vice-presidents was in creased to four-the names of R. D. St. John Smith and A. G. G. Thurlow being added to those of Canon Wilkinson and Canon Sheppard. Preb. Andrews was re-elecied secretary and I. J. Richards was made a member of the committee. We agreed that next year's gathering should be in the Church Stretton Shrewsbury area. with Exeter as alternative.

We were received with warm welcome a a! ! the towers we visited and record our thanks to incumbents and ringers who met us-and often had the bells up in readiness for us. We are particularly grateful to the Vicar of Aldeby, who augmented our packed lunch in his home with generous hospitality and to the ringers of Norwich who prepared a delighiful dinner for us prigr to our ring at Mancroft. One final word of gratitude goes to Gillbent Thurlow for organising our visit so well and allowing us to have our Corporate Communion on SS. Philip and James' Day at his church.
Parsons are naturally interested in church buildings as well as church bells. Among the many fine churches we visited many will remain in our memories. Among them were Ranworth's. with its 14th century screes and Ranworth's. with its 14th century screen and beautiful Sarum antiphoner, and Salle huge church of magnificent proportions with a huge font cover, operated by what must be the most primitive crane in existencs. Admiration of the glorious abbey church at Wymondham gave us energy to climb the 92 steps to the belfry for an enjoyable ring. Often the last day of the week is something of an anticlimax. This year we rang at three churches in Suffolk on our way home. They proved a filting ending to a successful week. Southwold is a grand church, with a noteworthy screen and fine 15 th century pulpit. while Blychburgh is one of the best examples of a country church in the Eastern Counties, with much fine 15 th century woodwark. As we left the village we stopped to hear the music of the bells ringing out across the marsties. while in the gorse nearby a nightingale sang mightily to match. So, appropriately, we said farewell to East Anglia.

R.W. May 31st, 1912.-

A really wonderful record for a one-armed ringer has been made by Mr. George Hughes. of Wednesbury, who, with the peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Wolverhampton, recorded in another column. completed his century. Mr. Hughes had the misfortune to lose an arm many years ago, but that has in no way prevented him taking part in ringing. and his record shows that he has rung peals on all numbers from six bells to 12 , and conducted peals on most of them. His peals, also. cover a great variety of methods, including Surprise

RECTOR REMOVED WHEELS OF BELLS

A peal was rung at Weston Favell. as a farewell to the Rev. Douglass Hopkins, who has been Rector for 16 years and is leaving has been Rector for 16 years and is leaving in June to become Rector of Ketton. Rutland. Regarding the six bells at Ketton, Mr. P. Amos writes, in 1897 Messrs. John Taylor and Co. rehung the bells and they were rung for a little over 30 years.
In 1933 the late Canon Donaldson became Rector. Owing to some differences with his ringers he had all the wheels taken off, stays and sliders removed (but not the bearings) and a chiming apparatus installed. using as an excuse- ' the steeple would not stand the tells.' This has since been proved to be but an excuse.
The new incumbent to be, who likes bells, it is hoped will restore them to ringing orderat least he has been told befonehand all about them! The tenur is 10 cwt .1 qr .21 ho .

HENDON RINGERS GIVE HOLY WEEK BELL MESSAGE

ST. MARY'S. Hendon (captain. Miss Ruth M. Foreman), provided for the Central Office of Information a four-minute film of inging which was shown in Holy Week in South American countres. Canada, Australia and New Zealand
After Miss Foreman had had a preliminary meeting with the producer, filming started on the Sunday morning, showing the Vicar and congregation arriving and the ringers leaving the church and at their homes. On the following practice night the church was invaded with a camera crew. cameramen, lighting effects man. sound effects man and one other. They spent nearly two hours for a four-minute film -filming close-ups and then farther away. 'It was slightly unnerving ringing with a camera about six inches from your nose,' writes our correspondent
Later was seen at the C.O.I. offices the finished product-a commentary for eash country, i.e. in Canadian English for Canada and in Spanish for South America.
There was a brief preliminary from the girl commentator and then the film showed four of the ringers leaving their homes, giving their names and occupations. The ringers were seen arriving outside the church and tanding in a group, talking and looking at The Ringing Wroup,
Inside the belfry shots were of taking off coats and pulling up the bells. There were close-ups of various people ringing and a boy learner watching. A penoramic view of the ceiling showed the sallies going up and down. and also a short piece of sound track of the bells ringing rounds and Queens. A shot was also given of beills ringing, but they weren't Hendon's, but a piece of film from the library.

Two comments Miss Foreman found amusing. One was when the commentator said that the Ringing Master in a tower was usually the one with the most experience, and perhaps it was a sign of the times that. at Hendon, the Ringing Master is a woman! At the beginning of the century there were practically no women ringers at all.
The other came at the end of the film. with the bells silent and the commentator standing outside the church. She said that church bells were so much a part of English life that they weren't really noticed until they were silent. as they were in Holy Week. until Easter Day. when, with bills all over the world, they would join in celebration

The C.O.I. made a good job of the film and they didn't make the mistakes that nonringers usually make when talking about bells and bellringing.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY

The Master. Mr. D. W. Friend, reported to the A.G.M. of the Nottingham University Society held on May 9th that progress had Society held on May 9th that progress had been maintained during the year. The general standard of ringing had improved and Sunday ringing at All Saints' Church. Nottingham, had been regular, despite the fact that the bells need rehanging. and it is difficult to train learners on them. This year five peals had been rung for the Society
The following officers were elected for 1962-63: Honorary president, Mr. P. L. Taylor; honorary vice-presidents, Mr. F. Salter

THE Salisbury Diocesan Guild celebrates the - 80th anniversary of its foundation this year and the annual festival and general meeting was therefore held in Salisbury, when the Guild was honoured by the presence of the Lord Bishop af the Diocese (the Rt. Rev W. L. Anderson) and the Deputy Mayor and Mayoress of the city. The presidents of the Guild also welcomed Chancellor J. S. Maples representing the Dean.

The Deputy Mayor (Councillor W. J. Rothwell) brought a message from the Mayor, who expressed his regret at not being present and said it gave him great pleasure to welcome the Guild to the city. Campanology was an ancient art and gave great pleasure to many. and he instanced the bells of St. Thomas., to which parish he belonged.

Chancellor Maples also welcomed parties, such as ringers, who worked Sunday by Sunday all over the Diocese and used the Cathedral for divine worship after deliberations of business were concluded
The business meeting then followed, the president (Canon C. C. Cox) taking the chair, supported by the Master (Rev. R. N. Longridge), the general secretary (Mr. W. C. West), the assistant secretary (Mr. F. Slatford) and Mr. L. A. Wilson (vice-president). The honorary secretary reported an increase in membership, which now stands at over 1,100 , the highest ever: he heartily congratulated the Branch officers who had made this possible. (Honorary members had increased to 24, and 43 life ringing members had been elected during the year: these however, are not in cluded in the number given above.)
AUGMENTATIONS AND RESTORATIONS
At Charminster the ring of six had been augmented to eight, a new treble had been added to the five at Long Bredy making a ring of six. Pewsey and Thorncombe had been reopened after restoration work. The bells at Poole were being rung regularly again on Sundays: Ludgershall and Chitterne had joined the Guild; the bells at the latter were being restored.
The president had produced a summary of the Guild's activities to continue from 1932 when a former publication had been made by the late Rev. F. L1. Edwards; the thanks of the members were expressed to the president for this work.

The balance sheet was stated to be satisfactory with a balance in the current account of £109. The treasurer said this would be used up by the end of the year, the expenses of the annual report having to be met. Grants were made to the following towers from the 'Edwards Memorial Fund ': Thorncombe, Bradford-on-A von Holy Trinity. Chitterne and Senley.

PRESIDENT'S 80th ANNIVERSARY, TOO

The Master referred to this year, seeing it was not only the 80th anniversary of the Guild but also of its president. He expressed appreciation of all concerned-Ringing Masters, instructors, captains of towers-who work steadily week by week to maintain and improve ringing. He made the suggestion that Parochial Church Councils with rings of bells might care to send a corporate subscription to the funds of the Guild.
The retiring officers of the Guild were all re-elected with the addition of Messrs. Young (Wareham), N. Bush and C. Haines (Salisbury) and J. T. Barreft (Beaminster) as belfry inspectors. Mr. Alan Macdonald was elected a vice-president.
From the meeting the whole company of 200 went to the Cathedral for the festival servioc. This was conducted by Canon J. S. Maples. the president reading the lesson, after which a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by members of the Devizes Branch.

80th ANNIVERSARY

The Lord Bishop, in his address, instanced how bellringing was connected with all the events of their lives-not only for their personal joys and sorrows but the bells rang tor national and local occasions-the Queen's birthday, the Mayor's election, the Bishop's enthronement or the consecration of a new cathedral.
'Today,' he said. 'we are commemorating the 80th anniversary of our Guild, a day which marks the faithful work over the years of men and women, who often work out of sight and are content to do so, I am, therefore, glad as your Bishop to have this opportunity of thanking you callectively for your service to the Church-though I always try, when visiting a parish, to thank individually the ringers for their part in the service.

Bells are often rung to mark a victory. and at this Easter seașon we are commemorating the greatest of victories. We are naturally proud of the triumphs of men; they have harnessed the lightning and split the atom, and generated space : they have discovered the Poles and climbed the world's highest mountains Bui these triumphs serve only to accentuate the irony, for at the end of man's brief span the grave-digger's spade closes his career. It does not, however, for at this season we are celebrating the greatest victory, the conquest of death, and not only has the fear of death been stripped away, it is the mystery of death that has been solved

STILL THE SAME CHURCH

Those who have passed beyond our sigh -we commemorate them just now-are in another world, but not in another Church. We of the Church militant raise the hymn. "Christ the Lord is risen again," and as we sing our ears hear the strain of greater, nobler music: it is the Church triumphant singing. "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain." Our worship is shared with the great multitude no man ca! number Always think, then of the worship and its purpose to which your bells are summoning you, as well' as others, and as you go home ponder the words of John Bunyan, and pray that when our work is done we may pass, as did Mr . Valiant-for-Truth. "• I am going to my Father, and though with great difficulty I have got hither, yet do I not repent me of all the trouble I have been at to arrive home. My sword I give to him that shall succeed me in my pilgrimage, and my courage and strength to him that can get it. My marks and scars I carry with me to be a witness for me that I have fought His battle, and He will now be my reward." When the day that he must gn hence had come, many accompanied him to the river side, into which as he went he said, "Death, where is thy sting?", and as hi went down deeper he said. "Grave, where is thy victory?" So he passed over. and all the trumpets sounded for him on the other side. And in such a company as this, dare I add, "And all the bells rang, too.

Afterwards tea was served in the Churchill Room of the Red Lion Hotel, previously used for the meeting, the Bishop with the Deputy Mayor and Mayoress being special guests. After tea thanks were offered to those responsible for the success of the meeting and service. The assembly was then entertained by a eam of handbell ringers (youths) under Mr. A T. Palmer, of the Marlborough Branch

SUFFOLK GUILD HAVE AVERAGE YEAR

WHEN the affairs of the Suffolk Guild were reviewed at the annual general meeting at Bury St. Edmunds, on April 28th, the words of the Ringing Master, Mr. Leslie G. Brett, summed up the year 1961- An average year with 101 peals. Membership, however, was up at 515
Over 60 members and visitors were present and ringing took place during the afternoon and evening at the Cathedral, St. Mary's, Horringer. Fornham St. Martin and Rougham. The service in the Cathedral was conducted by Canon $D$. Duval. who also gave the address. Local ladies of the church, in conjunction with Mr. Leslie Wright, provided an excellent tea at St. Mary's House. when the guests of honour were the Mayor (Councillor Cyril Grainger). the Archdeacon of Sudbury (Ven. H. R. Norton), Canons Duval and Godfrey (Vicar of St. Mary's).
Mr. C. W. Pipe (vice-president) presided at the meeting, supported by two other vice-presidents (Messrs. C. J. Sedgley and G. E. Symonds). Mr. Brett (Ringing Master) and Mr. J. W. Blythe (general secretary). The Mayor extended a warm welcome to Bury to the company and this was acknowledged by the chairman

STEDMAN MISSING

The Ringing Master analysed the local peals, in his report, as follows: Maximus 3 (two Cambridge), Royal 8 (six Surprise), Caters 3. Major 39 ( 24 Surprise), Triples 1, Minor 46 (one 14 methods) and Doubles 1 . Yet again Cinques are missing from our records, as also is that most musical method. Stedman. Whilst it appears that Suffolk ringers still prefer "tenor in " I still maintain that a peal of Stedman on all numbers is an achievement by any band. Do let us revive this interesting method.'
The general secretary in his report appealed to every competent ringer to examine his conscience and ask himself whether he was doing a!l he could in finding and teaching recruits. Restorations and augmentations had taken place at Aldeburgh and Eye, and the latter would be rededicated on June 9th. Many places were actively engaged in training recruits, bui there was room for more of this if Sunday service ringing was to be improved. The accounts had held their own. The technical adviser (Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston) had continued his work of inspecting all the towers in the Diocese-a programme involving several years" work.
The officers were re-elected and thanked for their services. An appeal had been received from Mr. George Pipe on behalf of Melbourne Cathedral restoration scheme of $£ 150.000$, of which $£ 7.000$ would be to put the bell in order. The Guild agreed to donate $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. to the fund
Thanks were accorded the clergy, Mr. and Mrs. Wright and the ladies, the organist and verger for their contributions towards the success of the meeting. A collection was taken a: the service in aid of the fund to provide a service bell for the Cathedral.

A CANOPY OF BELL ROPES

Margery has been a keen member of the Linton band for four years. Brian often helps, but he prefers to be at the organ.
In the presence of a large congregation, the service was conducted by the Rev. $\mathbf{P}$. M Townend, assisted by the Rev. E. N. Bath. Mr. H. A. Bennett, of Rochester. was the organist. IPhoto: Sloman and Pettel, Maidstone.

WYHEN two of their ringers-Miss Margery Burton and Mr. Brian Moore-were married at their church, St. Nicholas', Linton, Kent. fellow ringers staged this effective canopy of bell ropes. Later a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung with two trebles in front.

KINGSCLERE NOW

TWO new trebles were dedicated at Kingsclere. Hants. on May 5th. They had been cast by Mears and Stainbank and bore interesting inscriptions-the treble " 1962 . Let your light so shine before men' ( 4 cwt .), and the 2nd '1962. Christian Stewardship' ( $4 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). The 2nd must surely be the first bell in the country to commemorate a Stewardship Campaign! The old six were originally all cast by Henry Knight II, of Reading, in 1664, but the fifth was recast by John Taylor in 1849. They have now been rehung on ball bearings by Frank White, of Appleton, and the existing frame has been strengthened and supported by steel girders let into the massive walls of the tower

Those who knew the bells as they were will find them much improved. They go well and the new trebles sound outside the tower satisfactorily to match the other six. In the ringing chamber the new bells are almost too well heard, but this will. no doubt, be easily corrected.
At the service of dedication the captain of the ringers. Mr. John Pares, read the lesson, and prayers were conducted by the Vicar: the Rev. F. Simpson. The ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God who lives,' preceded the dedication, which was carried out by the Rural Dean of Whitchurch. Canon F. A. Sanders. Immediately the new trebles were raised and the full octave rung by the local band. Next came the carol. 'Ding, dong! Merrily on high,' sung by the Kingsolere carol party.

HAS AN OCTAVE

In his address, the Rural Dean spoke of the assured place that ringers now had in the life of the church and of the need for sustained enthusiasm in the art of ringing. The captain of the Kingsclere band had shown this quality in marked manner and it was due to this that he had succeeded in improving the ring and so strengthening this part of the parochial life. The service concluded with 'Angel voices ever singing' and the Blessing.
As the congregation, which included a good number of parishioners as well as visiting ringers, left the church a touch of Stedman Triples was rung by W. Hibbert 1. J. Hibbert 2, C. J. Hibbert 3. H. Balaam 4, C. Osler 5, $\stackrel{\rightharpoonup}{F} . C$. White 6, A. W. Davis 7, F. White 8. the whole band being members of the College Youths.
Then followed uninterrupted ringing by the large number of visitors who came from 30 different towers in 10 counties. the furthest being from Devon and Kent. They included representatives from SI. Paul's Cathedral, and also Mr. Frederick J. Sharpe. president of the Central Council. Because of their numbers, tea was served in two shifts. Altogether it was a great day for Kingsclere and reflected much credit on those responsible for the organisation.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

A MEMBERSHIP 20 honorary and 119 A ringing members was reported at the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Guild, held at St. Paul's. Burton, on May 12th. The meeting followed a service in St. Paul's Church, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Woolley, and a good tea in the Church Institute. Mr. G. H. Lane presided at the A.G.M.. and the company stood in silence in remembrance of Messrs. S: Scattergood. Herbert Carter and Errest Morris, who had died since the last meeting.

Mr. J. H. Brittain presented the treasurer's report which showed that the balance in hand had increased by $£ 4$ to $\pm 92$.
Mr. J. W. Cotton the secretary, in his report, said that peal ringing in 1961 had been very satisfactory: 38 peals, one more than the previous year having been rung. Major methods were by far the most popular and it was surprising that only three odd bell methods appeared in the Jist. Firsts for the Guild included Grandsire Cinques, Ulverscroft Surprise Royal, Warwickshire, Rugby. Painswick and Stratford Surprise Major; Oxford Treble Bob Royal: College Bob IV Peveri' and Leasowe Delight Minor. The last three were the first peals ever rung in the method.
Personal milestones for 1961 were: Mr. Cotton 800 peals ( 397 for M.C.G.. far more than any other member). Mr. D. P. Jones and Mr. F. E. Wilshaw 100th peal for the Guild. Mr. D. P. Jones was the leading conductor (11 peals) and Mr. Cotton the leading peal ringer ( 31 peals).
The officers. in the main. were re-elected: M1. B. Worthington, a generous supporter, president: Rev. W. V. G. Griffiths, vize-president; Messrs. R. A. Welton, chairman; J. H. Brittain, treasurer: T. Pryce, auditor: J W. Cotton. secretary and Central Counci] representative. Mr. Lane retired from the office of Ringing Master and Mr. J. K. Smith was elected. The committee elected were Messrs. S. H. Jones, G. H. Lane, P. K. Stretton and P. Marriott.

The meeting decided to send a donation of three guineas towards the cost of rehanging Hoar Cross tenor ( 28 cwt.). Mr. Curzon congratulated the young Stretton ringers on the ir progress.
Next meeting: Packington (with Loughborough of the Leicester Diocesan Guild). July 7th.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Midland District

The president, Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, made the presentation of a gift voucher to Miss I. B Thampson, of Nattingham, the retiring vicepresident. at a meeting of the Midland District held at Oakham. Rutland, on May 19th, and attended by 30 members and friends. Miss Thompson was elected vice-president at the inaugural meeting of the District in July, 1946. and had remained in that position until this year. The gift, explained Mrs. Staniforth, was a token of the members' appreciation. Miss Thompson. in her reply, thanked members for the kind gift and said she hoped to attend meetings whenever possible.
The Vicar, the Rev. H. V. Prytherch, was thanked for the use of the bells and taking the service, as were Mr. and Mrs. Hill for the arrangements and tea. Members were asked to support a coach running to Darlington for the A.G.M. on July 7th. The cost would be $25 \mathrm{~s} .$. and a deposit of 5 s . was required, which could be given to Mrs. Bennett, of Radcliffe, Mrs. Staniforth or Mrs. Warwick.

Forthcoming meetings: Mansfield, September 15th: Aylestone, November 17th: A.G.M. joint with Leicester Guild. Fobruary 16th; Guild dinner, London, October 27th.

NOT ONLY AN ORNAMENT TO THE BELFRY -

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A LESSON FROM SUNBURY

Dear Sir. - In view of the two letters extolling the virtues of 'Sunbury' and mine condemning it. which appeared together (page 317), perhaps I ought to explain why it is impossible 10 obtain a 720 in the method, in case someone else tries to obtain one.

Here are the first 12 rows:

On examination it will be found that all the changes (rows) with the treble in 3rds place are of the same 'course.' This precludes a 720 by Bobs alone as an in-course $(+)$ row ( 521364 for example). can never occur. A similar argument holds for the treble in 4ths place.
Moreover, when the treble is leading the number of in-course $(+)$ and out-of-course $(-)$ rows are unbalanced, i.e. out of the six rows with the treble in the lead, four are + ve and two -ve. Again a similar argument holds with the treble behind. These conditions, like the previous ones, make it impossible to obtain a 720 by Bobs alone.

At this point I feel like the young doctor who, making a report on an important personage wounded in a shooting accident. reporied that although two of the shots were fatal he was pleased to state that the others were not serious. Except that in our case the other shots are just as serious!
Before we attempt to overcome these difficulties by using Singles let us have a closer look at the figures. It will be seen at once that row 'o' (126543) cannot be used as a lead-end (or lead-head); we can therefore regard it as public enemy No. 1. We may as well observe in passing that this row if used as a lead-end (or lead-head) will also produce repetition with the treble in 5-6 as well

Further examination of the figures will show row ' j ' could occur at ' g , sow ' $k$ ' could occur at ' $g$ ' and the same row, ' $k$,' could also occur at " j ." These three substitutions produce false lead-heads 132654, 154632 and 145236. This means that if any of these three rows were used as lead-heads. rows would be produced with the treble in 3-4 that have already been used in the extract given at the beginning of this epistle, as can easily be proved by writing them out.
We have then four false lead-heads from 12.3456. Working backwards from the leadend will give us another four.
Now a lead of 'Sunbury' contains 36 changes so that a 360 (with in-course lead-ends and lead-heads) gives us 10 lead-heads and 10 lead-ends- 20 in all. These will produce $20 \times 4=80$ false lead-heads (or lead-ends), that cannot be used. But seeing that there are only 60 In-course rows available with the treble in one position (i.e. half the extent on five bells), it doesn't require much imagination to realise that duplication of sows must occur somewhere. In fact so false is the method that if a Bob is called at any lead-end in the plain course the lead following will be false against the plain course itself, i.e. it will contain rows used somewhere during a plain course.

Turning to Mr. C. I. Rowson's 'extent' we find it is riddled with falseness. There is not one lead that does not contain rows which are used elsewhere in the 720 !
In fact some of the leads offer some of their rows on permanent loan to more than one lead, as for example lead No. 7 (124653) which has rows duplicated in lead No. 3 (164523) and lead No. 5 (123564). Again it is a simple matter to prove this by writing out the leads in question.
It is worth nothing that if the treble path in 3-4 was changed to double-dodging, the - $720^{\circ}$ would still be hopelessly false.

I am sorry to have written at such length, bui I hope this information will prevent future experimenters falling into similar traps.
Fritz Kreizler once said that a lifetime is no: enough to discover all there is in a page of Beethoven. I sometimes think that if ' a 720 of Minor' was substituted for 'a page of Beethoven.' the statement would still be true. This is not always realised by some people who are inclined to regard Minor as ur.worthy of their attention.-Yours sincerely, Ryhill, Wakefield.
H. CHANT.

GREAT RISSINGTON BELLS

Dear Sir-On behalf of the Stow-on-theWold Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, I would like to apologise to any visiting ringers who made the journey to Great Rissington on May 19th and found that the meeting had been cancelled. Unfortunately on the previous Wednesday and Thursday, the diocesan architect and Messrs. Taylor and Co. had made inspections of the bells and condemned the tower. The original wooden frame which was erected nearly 250 years ago was in bad decay, having suffered the ravages of the wood worm.

This fine ring of six. rung anti-clock wise and cas: by Rudhalls, of Gloucester, in 1725 , is one of the few original rings left in Gloucestershire. The Rector, the Rev. W. H. Bates, states that the bells will have to be rehung in a steel frame and, together with other repairs to the tower, the cost will be in the region of £1.000.
An extraordinary fact is that the only peal ever rung on these bells was one of Minor by the Worcestershire and Districts Association. just over a month ago. I expect that Messrs. Taylors will marvel at this accomplish-ment.-Yours. etc.,
L. C. DOWDESWELL

Stow-on-the-Wold. Branch Secretary.

LADIES AND PEALS AT BRIDGEND

Dear Sir.-Although many more than hundred peals have been rung on the bells of Bridgend. a lady had taken part in only one. Mrs. John Thomas rang the 4th to Holt's Original in 1956. Which was conducted by her hushand. Miss Margaret Eshelby rang the treble to her first peal of Triples on May 16 h , and to her falls the credit of being the first lady of the Church in Wales to ring a pea! on Bridgend bells.- Yours faithfully, Porthcawl.

ST. MARGARET'S PROPOSED

 MEMORIALDear Sir,-It is difficult, indeed, to put into words one's feelings on the passing of Ernest Morris. We, at St. Margaret's, came to know and love him not only as our Ringing Master but as a great friend. Nothing was too much trouble for him to do for any of us and his enthusiasm and interest went a long way towards keeping youngsters interested. We thank God for his life and will try to follow his example.

St. Margaret's will always be Ernest's church, and we intend to erect a memorial in the church to his memory. If any of his many friends throughout the Exercise would like to help towards the cost of this, would they please send their donations to me.-Yours sincerely,

GORDON A. OLLIFFE
43. Fernhurst Road,

Braunstone, Leicester.

WIGGENHALL ST. GERMAN

Dear Sir.-Mr. Graham Mann's letter concerning bells at Wiggenhall St. German leaves mat vaguely surprised. I say vaguely in the sense that Mr. Peter Bond's findings failed to elicit any comment from ringers in the King's Lynn area.

I worked on a project in St. German for four years from 1930 and was, in fact, in the choir, under the Rev. J. M. Trevor, and there were no bells-no belfry.
The hells in question are at Wiggenhall St. Mary, the next village.
I knew them well, and, indeed, made some effort to train local lads.-Yours sincerely
Consett, Co. Durham.

THE LATE R. S. SWORDER

Dear Sir, -Congratulations to Cyril Chambers on his persistence and success in tracing Dick Sworder. My own inquiries three years agn at East London were fruilless, and I thought nothing more of it until September, 1961.

I had then been in England a week, and attended practice at Rayleigh, Essex, where the first question from an elderly ringer was. 'Did you know Dick Sworder!' I have now for gotten the name of the ringer to whom I was speaking. but recollect he nad a artificial leg. Perhaps he or Mr. House can contribute this search.-Yours. etc., J. SHEPPARD.
Brighton.

A BURTON TRIBUTE

'The Burton Daily Mail' had this contributed appreciation of Mr. Ernest Morris: - Many of his 2.076 peals had been rung in the Burton area, and the secretary of the Midland Counties Guild Mr. Joseph W. Cotton, of Overseal. in his friendship with Mr. Morris extending 40 years. had rung in 262 of these peals-few having rung more than this with Mr. Morris.

Mr. Cotton was Bumon District secretary of the Old Midland Counties Association at the time Mr. Morris was general secretary. Later, in 1946, when the old Association was divided, the Burton District was re-formed into the Midland Counties Guild.

Mr. Morris had for many years shared the task of inscribing the Guild's membership certificates and other beautifully executed commemorative tablets, and he was always keen to join in the Guild's peals and ringing activities. He was a humble and cheerful character, who viewed his own achievements with great modesty

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

THE attendance was most encouraging at the 16th annual meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, held at Sutton-on-Trent on April 28th. Ringing took place at North Nuskham and on the eight bells at Sutton-onTrent. A short service was held at the Church of All Saints, Sutton, conducted by the Vicar, Canon R. T. Keel.

The business meeting, following tea, was presided over, in the unavoidable absence of the chairman (Canon R. F. Wilkinson), by the Vicar, who welcomed the ringers and commented favourably on the large attendance at the service.
A minute's silence was observed for five members who had passed away during the pasi year, ramely: Messrs. O. Street (East Retford), S. Mason (North Wheatley), A. Dennett (Mansfield Woodhouse) and Mr. and Mrs. D. McNeil (West Relford).

Twelve new members were elected, namely: Andrew Stanley, Pat Dennett and Lesley Dennelt (Warsop), Robert Marsh, Gordon Marsh and Jane Dowse (Holme Pierrepont), J. R.
Howard. Mrs. L. Worwood, Miss A. Linning Howard, Mrs. L. Worwood, Miss A. Linning and Miss V. G. Brumell (West Bridgford), and H. Johnson and R. Kitching (Granby).

The annual report having been in circulation for almost a month, it was resolved to take all the reports as read. and they were confirmed without comment

INCREASE OF PEALS

The Peal Committee reported that 54 peals had been rung during the year, an increase of five: conductors numbered 22 , an increase of two; first pealers numbered 16, an increase of five. Pudsey and Painswick Surprise Major, Spliced Triples in three methods, and Snowdon Treble Bob Minor were rung for the first time for the Guild.
The general secretary, in his report, welcomed both new and returning towers and members to the Guild. Included this year are St. Wilfrid's, Kirkby-in-Ashfield. Holy Trinity, Lenton, All Saints', Nottingham. and St. Helen's, Selston, thus' bringing the Guild membership to 442 . Warsop once again won the Crawford Cup. and on this showing it will take a very good team to wrest the cup from them.
The honorary treasurer's report and accounts revealed a healthy state of affairs, a surplus of £11 12s. 9d. being shown on the year's working. During the year donations of $£ 15$ each. from the Bell Repair Fund, have been made to Gedling, where the old four have been rehung with the addition of two trebles, and Cuckney, where the six bells thave been rehung on ball bearings. From the balance of e85 11s. 11d. canried forward it was decided on a majority vote to donate $£ 10$ towards the Kilifi Bell Appeal Fund. and $£ 5$ towards the Melbourne Restoration Fund.

PRESENTATION TO RETIRING  TREASURER

The election of officers resulted as follows: Canon R. F. Wilkinson (chairman), Mr. F. W Midwinter (vice-chairman). Mr. W. L. Exton (honorary general secretary). Mr. W. Nichols having previously intimated that the wished to retire. Mr. J. W. Raithby was elected honosary treasurer. At this point Mr. F. W. Midwinter presented Mr. Nichols with a greenhouse spray from Guild members in appreciation for his services, he having been honorary treasurer since 1948. Mr. Nichols was deeply moved and thanked members for their kind throughts.
Messrs. C. J. C'opp and B. Hough were appointed auditors, and Messrs. W. Nichols and F. W. Midwinter trustees. Mr. D. H. Rooke (peal secretary) and Mr. B. M. Busweli form the Peal Committee, and, with the addition of Mr, J. D. Clarke, were elected to serve on the Central Council for 1963-65. Mr. W. L. Exton is to stand as reserve if the memhership increases so as to entitle the Guild to four representatives
Mr. H. Denman, the honorary secretary of the North Notts District, introduced Mr. B. Street. who wished to donate a cup to the Guild in memory of his later father. Mr. O. Street, who was for many years the chairman of the North Notts District. Mr. Street wished it to be for a ringing contest, in which Ordsall, his father's old tower, could compete, and it was finally decided to make this an open contest on six bells, to be rung for on the last Saturday in September at Ordsall.

A NEW DISTRICT

A proposal to form a new District. to serve the south-east of the Diocese, was submitted by the general secretary. He explained that the area was reasonably small and compact. and contained a large number of five-bell towers. Membership at present was very small. but ringers must exist as certain towers were heard to ring on Sundays for service.

As a proposal had already been approved on a majority vote in both the Newark and Nottingham Districts, these being the only Districts directly affected. no opposition was offered. It was proposed and agreed that the Distnict be formed there and then, and the general secretary call an inaugural meeting at Bingham in June, when the District officers would be appointed.

The new District now formed consists of the following towers: Bingham, East Bridgford. Orston and Whatton from the Newark Dist-ict. and Colston Bassett, Cotgrave. Cropwell Bishop. Granby, Hickling. Holme Pierrepont, K noulton. Langar, Lowdham. Radeliffe-on-Trent. Shelford and Willoughby-on-theWolds from the Nottingham District, making 16 towers in all.
The proposal from the Notlingham District, that each tower have a bell repair fund collecting box, these to be emptied once a year, instead of the present system of a collection at each meeting was defeated. The present system is to be continued, and towers are to be approached to make a donation once a year in addition.
Mr. Foster reported that Southwell bells were now restored to the tower, and he understood that the contractors would be cleared by June 6th, and the dedication would follow ome time later.
Mr. F. W. Midwinter, the vice-chairman, proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar. the Sutton ladies for the fine tea. the officers for all their work during the past year, and the Rev. W. N. Snow for use of North Muskham bells

Southern District

A prominent member of the Southern District. whose other interest is cricket was able, thanks to the weather, to indulge in his two loves at Whiston on May 19th. By coincidence, he was umpiring the cricket match in the field at the side of the church to the music of St. Mary's bells which were being rung for the annual meeting of the District. The rain stopped the cricket just in time for him to join his colleagues at an excellent tea, served by members of the local company, and where about 50 members, representing all corners of the District, were joined by the Rector. Rev. J. Redrohe, and his wife.
The Rector, presiding at the meeting, extended a hearty welcome to the District. Apologies for absence were received from the Ringing Master. Mr. Harold Chant, and Mr. J. Thorley. Miss Sandra Crossley (Wath-onDearne), Mr. and Mrs. C. Ashton and Mr. D. Cutts (Whiston) were elected to Association membership. Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert was reelected District secretary. and Mr. W. F. Moreton was re-elected to the General Committee. Messrs. J. Seager. of Sheffield Cathedral, and S. Armeson, of Rotherham Parish Church. were elected to fill two vacant seats on the District Committee. A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised £1 10 s, 2 d

It was decided that the Barnsley and District Society be approached with a view to holding a joint meeting in August, a venture which in recent years has been a great success, the stiggested tower being Wraghy, with one or two other towers also open for ringing.

The business meeting ended with a lively discussion on various Association matters, and afterwards St . Mary's bells were kept very busy

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

 A 'Striking' ContestThe above heading appeared in an East Berkshire local newspaper recently, announcinig a competition to be held between seven towers within the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

Competitors from Binfield. Hurst. Sandhurst Sonning, Twyford and Warfield gathered with the 'locals" at Easthampstead on a blustering and wet May 19 th and, while the judges were being made comfortable in a nearby house, the draw for the order of ringing was made in the church.
So was set the stage for the Branch's third annual competition-a stage with an air of luck Jims and Georges , thrown captains as the teams wound their separate ways up the spiral stairs to the ringing chamber, ushered with competent timing by Messrs. Parker and Smith, the Branch joint Ringing Masters.
During the afternoon the presence of our Branch chairman. the Rev. Mr. HarcourtTrevor, added to the enjoyment of the proceedngs together with the arrival of the Press.
The six bells (tenor $8-2-27$ ) were generally rung to Grandsire by the teams in their allotted ten minutes with the exception of Hurst, who gave a high standard with Stedman to open the contest, and Sandhurst, who bravely struck Plain Bob and became the first team to ring a Minor method in the history of the competition.

When the last team had come to 'Stand' some 60 ringers and friends took tea in the local school room. and. like waiting for the dentist, with a certain amount of trepidation, tension and expectancy on the faces of the assembly Major Bragg and Mr. C. W. Denyer, the patient adjudicators, gave their findings as follows: 1 Hurst, 2 Twyford, 3 Sonning.
The standard of striking, we were told, was high throughout and a big improvement on the previous year.
Branch secretary, Mr. B. C. Castle, called an adjournment to the tower after thanking the judges for their services and the local band and helpers for an excellent tea.

OBITUARY

MR. CALEB R. FENN

A well known and beloved London and Essex ringer. Mr. Caleb R. Fenn, died after a very short illness on May 17 th, aged 83.
Born at Barking. he was educated at the Jocal C. of E. School, and in his teens learned to ring: as far back as 1896 he joined the College Youths and the Essex Association. Keen on striking, he was a regular Sunday service ringer. Of his ringing achievements mention should be made that he was the last of the band who rang the first course of London Surprise Major on handbells double handed. He also took part in the first peals of Double Norwich C.B. Major and Superlative Surprise in the City of London.

For a number of years he was captain of the St. Margaret's hand and steeple keeper, and for 60 years he wound the church clock. After a serious operation a few years ago, he was obliged to give up ringing, much to his regret. He had. however, two other hobbies-helping is friends and gardening.
He was laid to rest at Rippleside Cemetery. following a service at St. Margaret's Church. which was attended by many relatives and ringing friends. The Vicar gave a much appreciated address. Caleb will be missed by all who knew him. As one ringer said at the service: There will never be another Caleb.
May he rest in peace.

PETERSFIELD YOUTH TAKES THE SALLY

We often hear that bellringing is a deolining art. and that bells are silent through the lack of ringers or are rung only on rare occasions by a handful of 'old timers.' How refreshing it was to see so many 'teenagers' amongst the Petersfield ringers on their annual outing. Of the 31 ringers, 13 were of school age and their presence gave a feeling of gay lightheartedness as we arrived at the attractive village of King's Somborne for the first ring. After touches of Grandsire Doubles, Bob Doubles and Bob Minor we collected ou, party together from the church, the shops and the hostelry across the green and travelled more or less in convoy to Lockerley, where We rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman until lunchtime.

After an excellent lunch at Romsey, where the ladies seemed to forget their diets, we were soon assembled in the spacious ringing chambe: of Sherfield English. Twelve-year-old Paul Robinson rang the tenor surprisingly well to Grandsire Doubles and afterwards touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung before moving on to Fordingbridge for an hour's ringing. Then came a tea of sandwiches and the sweetest, creamiest cakes one can imagine.

At Ringwood, where we were met by the local captain. Bill Cheater, and the touch of Grandsire Triples which he conducted was the best of the day. On then to our last call at Lyndhurst, and, assisted by two local ringers and a visitor from London, came further touches of Triples. The Vicar of Petersfield (Rev. J. S. Long). who had kept a discreet, fatherly eye upon us throughout the day. expressed all our feelings in a vote of thanks to Keith Sanson and Charlie Bassett for organising such an enjoyable day's ringing.

OUTINGS

WATFORD

On May 12 th Watford Parish Church ringers and friends had an excellent, if rather cold, day out. The quiet village of Appleton came first and, if the ringing on this tuneful and famous ten was not as good as it should have been, all felt that the visit was well worth while.
At Christ Church, Swindon, a wedding was in progress and a touch of Grandsire Caters saw the happy couple on their way. Bob Royal and Stedman Caters were also rung on the fine ring. After a good lunch at the Co-operative restaurant, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major were rung on the pleasant bells of St. Mark's. Railway enthusiasts were interested to see the Evening Star Delight' peal board. to say nothing of the nearby Railway Museum.
The fine church at Fairford was much admired as were the bells and the grand six at Lechlade were put to very good use. Abingdon provided a fine ring at St. Helen's, on which Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Major sounded well. and the last tower of the day was St. Nicolas', where the good light six rang down the curtain on a most successful outing.
We thank all the good people who helped with arrangements, also those who came along to make us so welcome.
R. G. B.

TORRE, TORQUAY

The ringers of St. Saviour's, Torre, Torquay held their annual outing on May 194 h in cold and showery weather, among their friends being the Rev. R. P. Rose (curate), Messrs. W. Simonds (Babbacombe), A. L. Bennett (Buckfastleigh) and W. J. Harvey and Mrs. Harvey, formerly of Torre. and now of Topsham.

During the ringing at the first tower, Chagford. the sliders of two of the bells shifted causing the bells to turn over. At Heavitree we were met by Mr. Norman Mallett, and the ringing here was much enjoyed, among this being a good course of Plain Bob Major. Further ringing was later enjoyed on the grand octave at Broadclyst, followed by ringing at Sampford Peverell. After tea at Tiverion the final call was at Silverton. where the party was met by Mr. A. G. Selley.
Great credit was due to Mr. Keith Fursdon, the captain, for making such excellent arrangements.

SPALDING, LINCS

Spalding's annual outing on May 12 th was to Stoke. and a company of 26 (there were some from neighbouring towers) left in a slight drizzle at 6 a.m. Traffic delays meant a late arrival at Stone, but the bells were soon up and ringing to various methods.
Mr. J. G. Burton, who had made most of the arrangements, met them at Stoke and guided them through a maze of traffic to the Parish Church, and then to Wolstanton, threequarters of an hour being spent at each tower. Lunch was at the Sneyd Arms, Tunstall, where a band of enthusiastic youngsters had raised the bells. A keen-eyed member spotted the faded notice board outside Longton Church. Then followed a cross country ride to the beautiful R.C. Church at Cheadle. with a grand ring of bells. Tea had been arranged at the Ideal Cafe, Alton, and the whole hour spent on the glorious bells at Alton went far too quickly.

On the homeward journey there was a stop for ringing on the fine octave at Uttoxeter and for the refreshments at Sandiacre. Spald. ing was reached at $12.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Special thanks are extended to Mr. J. G. Burton and to Mr. E. T. Chapman. the untiring secretary.

The peal at St. Andrew's, Holborn, recorded this week, is of historic interest as it is the first on the new bells. This church has been rebuilt three times-firstly in the 15th century, then by Christopher Wren and finally after its almost complete destruction during the war. This last restoration was done during the incumbency of Canon Hunter-Hopkins, a the ncumbency of Canon Hunter-Hopkins, a kind and helpful friend of ringers. The peal was also a farewell to the Canon. The refreshments he provided after the peal were very welcome.

We do not know if the leading bell ringers are included, but "Who's' Who in Music, 1962 ' with 6.000 biographies has just been published at 45 s . per copy?
Inst. Lt.-Cdr. A. S. Watt, R.N., is expected back shortly in this country from Malta. He is being posted to the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth.
Miss Ann M. Cox would like to thank Mr. Arthur H. Reed for kindly offering her his rape in the peal of Yorkshire, rung at Tiverton, Devon, on May 19th, a gesture which she much appreciated.
Due to lack of support, the West Midland District of the Ladies' Guild has ceased to exist. Members from that area would be most welcome at Midland District meetings: it is hoped to arrange a meeting in the Warwickshire district.
Warfield' Sunday service band are proud of the quarter of Grandsire Doubles rung on May 20th. the first by the local band for several years. There were two first quarters and three firsts in the method, and also a first as conductor. We are looking forward to continuation of the good work.

National publicity has been given to a dispute at Halwell, near Totnes, Devon, betheen the Vicar and the ringers. Main causes of complaint is that the Vicar wanted the band, who ring on Sunday evenings, to ring on Sunday mornings. This, states the captain, is impossible, as most of the team cannot get away from their farm work
'The Church Times' tells the story of the recent visit of the Bishop of Kensington GOSSIP (the Right Rev. E. J. K. Roberts) to Twickenham parish to address a Mothers' Union service. He looked into the belfry and saw that the ringers-four women and a boymight like to ring Minor instead of Doubles. The Bishop took one of the vacant ropes. When in the Bristol Diocese-he was Bishop of Malmesbury - he had been known to ring at St. Mary Redcliffe, and earlier still as Archdeacon of Portsmouth he had surprised many a churchwarden by going to the belfry and raising the tenor bell.
The new ring of 12 bells at Southwell Cathedral will be dedicated during Evensong on Saturday, June 9th. The ring is by John Taylor and Co.
The Ecclesiastical Insurance Company is celebrating its 75 th birthday. In the past year the amount paid back by the company to the genenal funds of the Church was $£ 100.000$ and during the 75 years it has reached a total of £2.066,400.
Through their own jnitiative Feckenham (Worcestershire) ringers have collected, in ten months, $£ 1.000$ to have the ring of eight bells in their parish church restored. The bells were recently dedicated by the Bishop of Worcester.

The eight bells of St. Mary's, Battle. Sussex, are being rehung on ball bearings, and are, at present, at Whitechapel for retuning. Consequently there will be no ringing until August. at the earliest. Meanwhile. Salehurst ringers are holding their practice on Tuesday evenings.
A peal attempt was lost at Weston Favell on May 19th after three six-scores, when a woman churchworker 'barged-in' (climbing over a lawn mower, buckets and brooms put at the entry to the belfry as a barrage) to ask if anyone had a knife to lend her? Mr. Amos reports: 'Stand was called and the woman given "a straight lesson" on the dangers to herself and the inconvenience to ringers.' On the second attempt the peal was successful.

REDEDICATION

POTTERNE, WILTS

The bells of St. Mary's Church. Potterne were ringing again after a lapse of four months on May 17th, when the Vicar. Rev Davies. held a service of rededication, to which a large number of ringers from the Devizes Branch of the Salishury Diocesan Guild attended. Miss E. M. Wright was the organist.
Ringing during the evening consisted of rounds. Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Boh and continued till 9 p.m.
The Vicar visited the tower during the evening to welcome all visitors, and so did the churchwardens.

While Arundel ringers had their first outing on May 5th. Mr. J. B. Daughtry, the captain. while clearing out the Vicarage. found in an old record book that eight ringers from Arundel crossed the South Downs on Decemhe. 26th, 1885. and rang at Fittleworth and Petworth.
A peal attempt arranged to mark the openinez of the remodelled St. James" Junior School Barrow-in-Furness. came to an untimely end just after the half-way mark. when one of the oopes caught the arm of a bench in the belfry The bench was lifted off the floor and the rope pulled from the grasp of the ringer.

OUR HOSTS THIS WHITSUN

The Llandaff and Monmouth Association

$I^{N}$1893 the Diocese of Llandaff covered a very large geographical area comprising the whole of Monmouthshire and the greater part of Glamorgan. There was at that time a ring of ten bellis, at St. John's, Cardiff, eleven rings of eight and quite a number of sixes and fives scattered over the Diocese. Change ringing bands were limited to four or five at the most.
This was the situation on October 13th. 1893, when, mainly through the efforts of Mr. Evan Davies, of Caerleon, a meeting was held at Llandaff to consider the advisability of forming an association. The Bishop of Llandaff presided, and the minutes record that a large number of ringers attended. The Bishop was elected president. Evan Davies the first Master, and the Rev. Minor Canon Downing the first secretary, Evan Davies was a schoolmaster at Caerleon and did a great deal of work to further the interests of change ringing in the area. He collected a band together at Caerleon, where there were then six bells, and taught them change ringing. Later he had two additional bells cast and hung them in the tower himself.
Canon Downing was succeeded as secretary in 1895 by the Rev. D. H. Griffiths, of St. John's, Cardiff. In this year the bells of St. Woolos' Cathedral, Newport, were increased from six to eight and on June 7th, 1898, the first peal on ten bells, Grandsire Caters. was rung for the Association at Cardiff. Mr. Griffiths resigned in 1899 and his place was taken by Mr. J. W. Jones and Canon Price, who acted as joint secretaries. From the start Mr. Jones did all the work and became the sole secretary a couple of years later. He remained in office for 46 years, until his retirement in 1945; his yeoman service and leadership enabled the Association to make great progress both in membership and in the spread of claange ringing. He was succeeded in 1945 by Mr. F. J. Hannington, of Cardiff, who has nobly continued with the good work up to the present time, but intends to hand over his duties immediately after the Central Council meeting. It is a fitting climax to his seventeen years of hard work to be the prime executive in arranging for the Central Council to visit Wales this year. Mr. Hannington has been a most regular ringer for almost 40 years despite the handicap of having lost an arm in an accident shortly after the First World War.
A study of the peal book in the early years is interesting; in the first seventeen years to 1909 only 69 peals were rung, giving a yearly average of four. From 1910 to 1913 the bell hangers were active in the area and new rings of eight were installed at Radyr. Caerphilly, Llanbradach and Pontypridd, whilst Marshficld and Machen were augmented to eight. This gave an impetus to peal ringing and the years $1911-1914$ produced 131 peals. The early peals were all of either Grandsire or Plain Bob and the first peal of Stedman was not recorded until 1911; after that peals of Stedman and Treble Bob were fairly frequent. Miss Ethel Pacey was the first lady member to score a peal, at Rumney on December 13th, 1913.
The year 1914 saw the Association in quite a flourishing state with nearly all the eight- and six-bell towers having their regular Sunday Service change ringing band. The First World War then lad its effects, depleting many of the hands. Several ladies were recruited to fill the gaps and a complete band of lady ringers was estahlished at Rumney. Only ten peals were rung during the war years,

In 1913 St. Woolos', Newport, bells were augmented to ten and a further augmentation in 1939 gave the Association its first and only ring of twelve bells. Llandaff Cathedral bells were increased to ten in 1920, making three rings of ten at that time.

During 1921 the new Diocese of Monmouth was created and the question arose as to the splitting up of the Association. It was decided to continue as one Association, but to alter the title to its present form. the Bishops of the two Dioceses to act as joint presidents. Many years later, in 1953, two Branches were formed within the Association, each covering a Diocese.

In the early 1920 's Mr. Fred Chamberlain was the leading conductor in the area. most of his peals being of Grandsire or Stedman Caters. Unfortunately a railway accident cut short his ringing career. On July 27th. 1922. a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung at St. Peter's, Pentre, by the local band. This band was the first in the area to advance beyond the four standard methods and they later achieved peals of Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.
From 1925 onwards Mr. A. J. Pitman, of Aberavon, was busy with his compositions and, with him in the band, many of his new compositions were rung on the delightful eight at Bridgend. These included the first peal of Spliced Triples (Union and Grandsire), and the first of London Bob Triples. Peals of Grandsire, New Grandsire. Oxford Bob. St. Clement's and St. Illtyd's were rung in various combinations. During the years 1919-1939 517 peals were rung, an average of 26 peals per year.
Llandaff Cathedral was very badly damaged by. enemy air action during the war, but the bells were not destroyed; they had to await the restoration of the tower before ringing again in 1953. The whole building has been rebuilt and is well worth a visit. At the present time there is a very youthful and enthusiastic band making steady progress on both tower- and handbells.
Probably the most musical ring of ten is that at Abergavenny and this was installed in 1948, and a further ring of ten has been installed at Chepstow. Here the old eight were removed and, with two added bells, most of the work of rehanging was carried out by local craftsmen. Post-war augmentations included a handy ring of six at Sully, and a light eight at Newton Nottage.

Immediately after the war very few peals were rung by resident bands, but since that time there has been a steady stream of new recruits of both sexes. In 1952 the first peal on twelve bells by a resident band was rung at St. Woolos'. conducted by Jack Worrall. whose keenness and ability at that time produced many peals, including the first on handbells.

Very recently a further peal of Surprise Major. Yorkshire. has been rung by a resident band and the young lads at Llandaff have made rapid progress in handbell ringing to peal standard. During the past ten years an average of thirty peals a year have been rung and the total number of peals is now 1.191.

The membership of the Association now totals 250. Like many other Associations we have far too many silent towers and others arc only partly manned, but it is encouraging to note that there are several bands making very good progress. and some of the younger ringers are already showing signs of developing into the conductors required for the future. There is a very real responsibility on the shoulders of the members to ensure that this rising generation of ringers is given every encouragement and not allowed to be wasted,
M.J. P.

A Welcome to Wales

By the REV. I. J. RICHARDS,

Hon. Treasurer of the Llandaff & Monmouth Diocesan Association.
We are looking forward with the greatest pleasure to the visit of the Central Council to the capital of Wales. We can assure the members of a warm welcome in the city which over the years has entertained thousands in its sporting arena and which can provide many facilities for ringers within a short distance of its centre.

We hope you will visit Llandaff Cathedral, most beautifully restored after its severe bombing during the war, reminding us of its long history of witness to the Christian Faith from the earliest centuries.

The Parish Church of St. John-theBaptist stands in the centre of the city, its tower dominating the busy streets, and nearby there is the Casile, which you cannot fail to see. We hope, too, that you will like the civic buildings, some of the finest of their kind.

This is the second time you have been invited to Cardiff. On the first occasion the meeting was cancelled owing to the outbreak of war in 1939. We are very happy to renew the invitation and wish members of the Council to know that it is no less sincere than it was almost a quarter of a century ago.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD  West Lindsey Branch

A new bell left to the church by the late Rev. B. H. N. Nugent Wilson, who was Vicar of Upton for 27 years. made the Upton meeting of the West Lindsey Branch on May 18 th of special interest as at the service, attended by Guild members and parishioners, the new bell was dedicated.
Afternoon ringing was on five bells and prior to the service local ringers took over and rang down. During the service the new treble was dedicated by the Rev. Hugh Mans-field-Williams, who is himself a ringer and a Guild member Immediately afterwards the local band raised the six and the criticisms and remarks of the listeners can well be imagined!
Fifity-four members sat down to an excellen! tea, provided by ringers' wives, and the business meeting followed.

More ringing then took place with members uho had to depart early eagerly trying the fresh ring before making for their cars or the bus stop. The general verdict was that Taylors had done a good job and Upton now has a useful ring of six, besides having a permanent memorial to a loved vicar and friend.

Elloe Deaneries Branch

Good use was made of the bells of Moulton Parish Church, where the quarterly meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch was held on May 19th. The new Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Cory) conducted the service, and a substantial meat tea was provided in the old Grammar School building.
Mr. R. E. Noon presided at the business meeting, when two new members were elected and donations of one guinea each sent to Melbourne Cathedral and Kilifi, Kenya. appeals. Mr. J. G. Ames proposed an omaibus vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting. Future events: Evening meeting. Quadring. June 30th: quarterly, Fulney, July 14 th.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

G1NCE its formation in 1899, the Lincoln Diocesan Guild has held its annual meeting on the last Saturday in April and, traditionally, Lincoln has been its venue. The 1962 annual meeting followed this established pattern and some 140 members, together with visitors from as far afield as Cambridge, forgathered.
During the morning ringing took place at Branston, Waddington and Washingborough, and in the afternoon in Lincoln at the Churches of St. Botolph, St. Peter-at-Gowts and St. Giles and at the Cathedral.
Many members attended Evensang in the Cathedral, and this was followed by tea in the Tithe Barn. Once again the Guild was indebted to ringers' wives for their efforts in providing the tea

Normally, at the annual meeting, one seems to be faced with purely routine matters, but this year was an exception. for the meeting had to consider three items of some importance. Firsi, the meeting was to see the results of the efforts instigated at the annual meeting in 1961 to provide a suitable memorial to the late John A. Freeman; second, to receive and consider an annual repont. with fuller information than previous ones had contained : and, last but by no means least, to consider a resolution calling for increased annual subscriptions, amongst other things.

MASTER'S BADGE OF OFFICE

At the annual meeting in 1961 a sub-committee was appointed to give consideration to the acquisition of a badge of office for the Master as a memorial to John A. Freeman. A fund had been opened and a total of $£ 81$ 16 s 3d. had been received not only from members but also from friends and other ringing Societies. This had allowed for the purchase of a handsome badge of office from Messrs. Thomas Fattorini Lid.. of Birmingham. who nat only executed the work but also submitted the design.
The jewel, supported by a ribbon, is made in silver gilt with a dark red enamel facing. surmounted by a gilt bell, bearing the arms of the Diocese of Lincoln. It bears the words The Lincaln Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers' and is suitably insetibed on the back to the memory of John A. Freeman. The supporting ribhon carries four name bars, also in hallmarked silver gilt. upon which are inscribed the names of the Masters and the year of their coming to office. They are: $H$. Law James. 1899: R. Richardson. 1933; J. A. Freeman. 1947; and J. Bray, 1961.

The fund had also covered the cost of a bronze plaque which is now affixed to the viall in the ringers' chapel at the Cathedral, bearing the words:
' In affectionate memory of John Ashley Freeman. Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, 1947-1961.' Following the re-election of Mr. Jack Bray to the office of Master, the president, the Dean o $^{+}$Lincoln (the Rt. Rev. D. C. Dunlop), dedicated the badge of office and invested Mr. Bray with it.
Arising from a discussion in 1961, a subcommittee was appointed to consider the contents and layout of the annual report, and the result of their labours was presented to the meeting. The report. 74 pages long, contained, in addition to the information given in previous years. a report by the honorary secretary and a list of towers throughout the Diocese. giving the number and 'go' of the bells, the weight of the tenor and the name and address of the tower correspandent. The honorary secretary stated that the list was no: as full nor the information as complete as might be wished, but he expressed the hope that what was included in this year's report would form a satisfactory foundation upon which to build up a more comolete picture in ensuing years. The report, which included details of 152 peals, was approved by the meeting.

FINDING MORE REVENUE

The item which provoked the most interest was a resolution proposed by Mr. John Freeman, and seconded by Mr. J. L. Millhouse, that subscriptions should be increased and a peal booking fee imposed to improve the finances of the Guild.
The proposer and seconder outlined the circumstances which had led to the proposal, pointing out how. in 1961 , it had been necessary for the honorary secretary and treasurer to levy a sum from each of the six Branches at the rate of 4 s . per member to meet the expenses of the Guild. As this amount equalled the amount of the annual subscription. it meant that. in 1961. the Branches had had to conduct their affairs at a loss.

The effect of the proposal would be to increase the ringing members' annual subscription from 4 s . to 5 s ., that of honorary members to 3 minimum of 5 s . and the subscription of non-resident life members from 5 s . to 10 s . In addition a peal booking fee of 6 d . per person taking part in peals would be levied.
After same discussion and an amendment that the subscription for non-resident life members should remain at 5 s . had been defeated, the motion was carried. The peal levy came into operation with effect from May lst. 1962, and the increased subscriptions will operate from January 1st. 1963.
The secretary submitted an appeal from Mr. George Pye. on behalf of the St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, for funds for the restoration of the twelve bells. and it was resolved to give the sum of $£ 66 \mathrm{~s}$.
The Dean of Lincoln was re-elected president. Mr. Jack Bray Master, and Mr. John Freeman honorary secretary and treasurer.

R.W: June 8th, 1912 .

Peals of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus are few and far between, and this makes the peal at Cripplegate, recorded in our last issue. a! l the more interesting. The previous peal of Oxford Maximus, so far as we can ascertain. was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on August 2nd, 1897. At the time it was claimed, and the claim was not disputed to be the first peal of Oxford Twelve with the big bells in plain course order for 95 years, the prewious one having boen the 7,104 by the Royal Cumberland Ypuths at ISt. Saviour's. Southwark, in 1802, conducted by George Gross, junior.

O.U.S.C.R. EASTER TOUR

THIS year the tour was favoured by magnificent weather, heralded on Easter Sunday morning by the dawn chorus, which started at 4 oclock and carried up the slope to our hotel in Malvern, with unimpaired clarity and volume. It took us several days to get used to this, varied as it was by solos for cuckoos, chiming bells, owls, etc.
At least early rising on Sunday was left in no doubt. Our party split up for service ringing at Leigh, Ledbury and Colwall. So fuli of vigour were certain members that at the last named tower a course of Cambridge started with a whole pull and snap by the started with a whole pull and snap by the treble ringer. We tied the rope ends together and completed the course as a service touch.
A little energy was worked off by a climb $t 0$ Malvern Beacon before the afternoon tower grab. The notes of the well-hung eight in the yellow stone tower of Upton-on-Severn tend to merge together, and merged they were, even more than usual in the first of some very strange touches of Stedman. We were then joined by Wilf Moreton and Hugh Ncill, and the convoy of cars, having failed in an attempt ai a formation three-point turn, moved on to Hanley Castle. Here we encountered the first of the 'funny fourths." which marred a number of the six-bell rings we were to visit, but these were likeable bells for all that.
St. Peler's, Powick, has a good heavy six, but also a drive which has one of those miss; this started a break-up in the convoy system and as we eventually reached Worcester at random intervals, the sight of John Pusey leaning despondently on a bollard and recognising each car just too late 10 guide it down the raad to St. Swithun's was one to bring Whang to the heart of any tour organiser. While each driver, now inextricably in the parking space by the Cathedral, St. Swithun's remained regrettably without a band.

At the Cathedral we were met by David Beacham, and essayed cautious touches of Caters and Cinques, as even with reinforcements our 12 -bell band was out of practice. Indeed, a point of the tour was the disinclination of all taking part to lose touches by being over adventurous.

THE ' ON-OFF' PEAL

In the evening. a much relieved organiser informed us that the coach company had accepted our last minute cancellation (in view of the small size of the party) without anlagonism. We were free to proceed by car, which was very fortunate in view of the glorious weather. However, he was now faced with much more delicate negotiations, as he had been rash enough to plan a peal for the morrow, and such things are just not popular on O.U.S. tours these days. The popular on O.U.S. tours these days. The issue was in constant doubt until $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Monday, when a statesmanlike compromise was reached and a quarter of Bristal duly rung on the light eight at Eardisland.
Those not in the quarter gained by having the chance to try these excellent bells before going on to Pembridge, where the 16 cwt . five is hung on a detached wooden candlesnuffer campanile. The party reunited for ringing at the jsolated Church of St. Stephen, Old Radnor. hefore going on to Presteigne for a good course of Yorkshire and an even better packed lunch.
Navigational errors notwithstanding, we were still together at Clun. where the growling eight needed a deal of pushing along: but the nonscheduled consumption of tea meant that - ${ }^{\text {forces were divided again at Ludlow. Group }}$ to be the conclusion of ancther interesting touch of Stedman. but was in fact the result of the fifth rope breaking!

At Leominster, however, things went much better. The Church of SS. Peter and Paul was greatly admired, and the 22 cwt . ten seemed to encourage a good performance. Nobody would call these bells the best ten they knew, but while some of our party negotiated their first touch of Caters with success, others produced a really good rhythm in a halfcourse of Cambridge.
In the evening Group ' $B$ ' made up for missing Ludlow by ringing at Malvern Link, and brought back a glowing report on the tone of the eight there.

THIRD VISIT TO CHELTENHAM

Tuesday saw the arrival of reinforcements and resultant touches of spliced at Bishop's Cleeve, before the O.U.S. paid its third visit to St. Mary the Virgin, Cheltenham. The light twelve sound a shade inadequate in the ringing room, but have much more body outside.
No such reservations could be had about the twelve at Painswick, where we stood amongst the yew trees in the churchyard, listening to sounds tike well-tuned cymbals of the 150th Psalm.
The ten at St. Lawrence's, Stroud, were a little disappointing, as something among the fittings of the tenor made a noise like a glass jug filled with halfpennies, which ruined the sound close to the tower. The day finished at Gloucester; first, at St. Mary-deLode. we tried our hand at another 'funny fourth,' which was most marvellously slow at back. We then waited at the Cathedral, and were admitted to the tower staircase, unfortunately converted into a fume chamber by a leaking stovepipe. Our coughing was shortlived, as the ringing room, an open floor level with the lower set of louvres in the tower, has no ventilation problem. All the breezes can enter at will, and also all the noise, and in these circumstances we made very hard work of a ten which seemed heavier than its 25 cwt The final blow to our morale came when, at 7 p.m., the hour was struck on 'Great Peter,' which has its frame on the same floor. Shaking visibly, we lowered the bells and departed.

A DAY OF LOSSES

Our organiser had succeeded in arranging a peal of Yorkshire at Ross on Wednesday, and as this started the tiny remnint of the party visited Ledbury and Ruardean, returning to Ross for coffee, to listen to the peal and to write letters to 'absent friends.' At lunch, however, the peal band met them with news oi an abandonment, and in the resulting mood of disappointment transport arrangements nearly went awry.
It was discovered at Lugwardine that one member of the party had apparently been left in Ross, causing much earnest discussion about whether to call first the police or the fire brigade. However, at the end of some ragged 'first-tower-after-lunch' ringing it was found that everyone was present after all. We were next doubly fortunate in being able to try the bells of Hereford Cathedral, and then to be entertained by Canon and Mrs. Moreton to a fine ringers' tea. The Cathedral bells were found to be not of the sort which can be struck well on the basis of a casual acquaintanceship, altheugh the array of pillars in the ringing chamber was less disturbing than might be thought. At tea, there was a period of temporary excitement, caused by the disappearance of Wilf Moreton's small son, at which Canon Wigg christened the occasion 'The Day of Losses.' Alas, this title proved to be prophetic of the fate of a handbell peal commenced while others rang the eight of All Saints', Hereford.
Thursday began more auspiciously at Withington. where the 16 cwt . six could hardly be improved upon. The only untoward event occurred when one of our clerical members was nearly unfrocked while enthusiastically turning in the tenor. Eight-bell ringing followed at Burghill and then at Clifford, where once the lesson had been learnt that the thickest sope might well be on the treble, some good Rutland was rung.
After lunch in Hay-on-Wye we revelled in an afternoon of involved navigation through supert countryside. At Abbey Dore the little anti-clockwise six have a quaint tane, almost like clock bells, which suits the atmosphere of this fascinating church. The day finished with two modern Taylor sixes at Clodock and Linton.

A DAY OF DWINDLING NUMBERS

Friday, our last day, saw not too serious ringing, while John Pusey toiled to prevent the transport disappearing faster than the ringers and the ringers faster than the number of bells remaining. We just made it in both respects, thanks to the fact that we were joined once again by George Morris and John Slater
At Elmley Castle the treble was found to be a semitone flat, an irregularity which gave rise to some very soulful music, particularly in Stedman Doubles. Next the eight at Hinton-on-the-Green were to shatter the rule of thumb built up during the tour that striking could be improved by pushing along a little faster than the rate you first thought of. Chastened. we went on to lunch in Evesham, and then to Broadway.
Here, sad to relate, our organiser fell straight into the standard trap laid for visiting ringers: on entering the village he espied a solid-looking tower and sallied forth to find the key. Ten minutes later he discovered he was at the wrong church. We reached the Church of St. Eadburga without more ado. however. and a'though we were greeted by ancther 'funny fourth' and strange looking wire guide frame. we were not daunted.
The band had dwindled to six when we arrived at our final tower, Church Honeybourne. The 19 cwt . five are bells of good tone. but their hanging leaves a jittle to be desired. Strong men who, earlier in the tour, had mounted Cathedral tenor boxes with light hearts, now wilted visibly after two minutes of rounds Eventually we achieved a course of Original Minimus, with two men on enor covering.
Our thanks go to all incumbents who gave us permission to ring their bells: to those who met and rang with us. and to our organiser.

TONBRIDGE RINGERS' ANNUAL SERVICE

On May 27th. Evensong at SS. Peter and Paul's. Tonbridge. Kent, took the form of the annual ringers service. Ringing on the eight bells preceded the service, which was conducted by the Rev. J. F. Morris.
The Rector of Godstone. the Rev. K. G. Haare, gave the address, and handbells were rung during the service in the nave, firstly a course of Grandsire Triples, as the anthem, by Mrs. O. Barnett 1-2. E. A. Barnett 3-4. W. 7-8, and secondly a course of Grandsire Caters as the vesper. by Mrs. 0 . Barnett 1 -2, Mrs. S. M. Dobbie 3-4. E. A. Barnett $5-6, W$. H. Dobbie $7-8$, W. Rogers
$9-10$. The lessons weré read by Miss H. Swallow and Mr. R. A. Large.
After the service. members of the congregalion were invited to the belfry to view the ringing and given the opportunity to try their hand at backstroke.' There were a venturesome few and it is hoped this initial interest may lead to them becoming recrupts.
Ringing continued for about an hour: the Tonbridge ringers and their visiting friends from Crayford and Tunbridge Wells were then entertained to an excellent supper by Canon T. F. C. Bewes and his wife.

Big Muster Say 'Thank You' to East Devon Chairman

IN the centre of this pioture is Mr . G. C. Woodley, of Sidmouth, who at the annual meeting of the East Devon Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, retired from the office of chairman. Now at the age of 80 , and having been ringing for 67 years, he is retiring. An appreciation of his work as chairman was proas chairman was proTurner, seconded by Mr. W. Webb. who remarked that members were sorry he was retiring. but realised his age was to blame. Mr. Woodley has been able to see an increased interest in ringing. The Branch bas a higher membership than ever before of 160 , and the proportion of boys and girls augurs well for the future of the art in East Devon.

During the meeting six proficiency certificates were presented to performing members. The new team of officers is : Chairman, Mr. J. Sage (Luppitt); vioe-chairman and Ringinge Master, Mr. Colin Turner (Ottery Si. Mary); hon. secretary, Mr. W. Webb (Honiton).

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. D. Holden), and there was an attendance of about 80 Ringing was in standard methods.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The summer meeting (in more wintry-like weather) was held at St. Bartholomew's Church, Penn. situated in a pleasant residential district of Wolverhampton.
The Society's form of Evensong, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. L. H. Townsend, who, at tea afterwards, said how pleased everyone at Penn was to welcome visiting bellringers. This was pioved by the splendid meal which followed. and we thank Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eyre and their helpers for all the hard work they must have put in.

The secretary asked members to note that the annual meeting is on June 23 rd at Lichfield. when, in addition to the usual business, members will be asked to consider whether there should be a series of regular Saturday evening Society practices held, and whether future annual meetings should always be held in Liohfield, as in the past.
The following new members were elected: Miss Margaret Essen (Birmingham). David J. Ovledge (Wincanton) (both peal ratifications), the Misses P. Garbett, A. Biddulph and G. Griffiths, and G. Griffiths, all of Penn.
Ringing under the Master. Mr. John Eastwood. constinued on the light Gillett and Johnston ring of eight, in a variety of methods to suit all lastes, a course of Yorkshire being lape recorded.
Our thanks to Penn who so obviously welcomed us.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The District meeting of the Cary Branch, attended by ringers from 17 towers, including Ferndown and Hersham (Surrey), followed the traditional form. The Vicar (the Rev. P. S Thomas) took the service, assisted by the Branch chairman (the Rev. G. S. Robinson) Mrs. Sawtell was the organist.

Tea at the Three Old Castles Hotel, Keinton Mandeville, was followed by the business meeting, at which a new member was elected from Castle Cary, two from Maperton and three from Templecombe. A Branch practice meeting will be held at South Cadbury at the end of June

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  North Berks Branch

An attendance of 110 members and friends assured success of the annual meeting at Appleton, where election of 28 new members, jricluding nine from Little Wittenham ( 5 bells), was encouraging proof of Branch progress. It is hoped that other towers will soon emerge into the light of Guild fellowship.
The Branch is indebted to Appleton parish for such warm hospitality, to the Vicar for an unforgettable service, to Frank White and the Appleton ringers for making arrangements so easy and to Norman and Mrs. Randall, of the Plough, for their hard work in supplying a bumper tea.
G. W. B.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF C.C. A CANON
Members of the Central Council. we are sure. will desire to congratulate their vicepresident, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. Vicar of Great Yarmouth, on his appointment as a Canon of Norwich Cathedral.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

Officers elected at the annual general meeting of the University of London Society on May 5th were: President, P. M. J. Gray; vice-presidents. Dr. D. N. Layton, Dr. J. Armstrong, D. J. R. Martin; Master, P. Cattermole ; secretary, N. J. Davis; treasurer, Diana Lawless; committee. Mary S. Taylor, P. J. Bushell. J. C. Eisel. The annual reports for the previous year were available-an unprecedented event Thanks are due to the editor, M. P. Barton.
Ringing took place at St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, and St. Olave's, Hart Street. During the morning the attempt for the Society's 100 th peal was lost at Beddington after $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' good ringing. The service at St. Olave's was conducted by the Rector.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Mr. J. Blythe was clected Ringing Master of the North East District when they met at Halesworth on May 19 h . He succeeds the late Mr. J. Bailey, who died before Easter. A short silence was observed at the beginning of the meeting to his memory.

Elected probationary members were: Jacqueline Ellis and James Read (Halesworth) and Andrew Carter, Edwin Warren and Frederick Carter (Aldeburgh).
The service was conducted by the Rev. E. J. Button, and the address was given by the Rev. Mr. Phillips.

Next quarterly meeting: Southwold, August 18th: practice meeting, Peasenhall and Yoxford, July 21 st.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RING IN THE NEW
Dear Sir,-The letter by Mr. Paul Birkett draws attention once again to the lack of bells or towers capable of carrying them in new shurches. It will be remembered that this was the subject of a motion passed by the Central Council at Stoke-on-Trent last year. Arising from this, the Towers and Bolfries Committee were requested to go into the matter and I believe they are to present their recommendations in the form of an article or report in appropriate church and architectural publications.

An article on the subject, written early last year, was published in 'Church Buildings loday,* a new architectural magazine. In It was proposed a cheap, basic tower which, using voluntary labour, could be built for less tnan $£ 500$ and which would carry a very light ring of bells costing just over $£ 500$ - a tower and bells for about $£ 1.000$ !
This would satusfy ringers and many outlying parishoners from the pro-bells paint of view and some of the Church Council from the cost aspect. In my experience, the rest of the Council would thave to be convinced that, in this day and age, with clocks in every home, their church still needs bells at all and the adjacent parishioners, naturally preferring their Sunday peace and quiet to be shatlered only by their own telly. motor bikes and do-ityourself hammerings, would have to be convinced that properly installed, sound controlled bells can sound very pleasant even around the churchyard. Very few of our established rings are so installed or sound at their best from there.
Lastly, assuming the new parishioners have formed a community spirit and have agreed on the need for bells, the architect may have to be persuaded to provide a suitable tower. rather different from the current architectural fashion of an openwork, scaffolding-type mast. perhaps carrying loudspeakers and looking more like a kind of 'Early Warning' system.
It is all very well deploring the lack of new church bells. but who could touch off the spark of enthusiasm required in a new parish? Surely this could come from the local ringing Guild or Association, who could introduce a new 'Aim' into their rule books:
-To encourage the creation of new and the restoration of disused rings of bells, and to ensure that all church, bells are fully manned for service ringing.'
Their committee should note any proposed new church in their area and tactfully approach the appropriate diocesan committee, the local incumbent of the mother church and any active local ringer. They could offer advice perhaps based on published information and practical help, if possible. This should be followed up right through the design and building stage by talks on ringing and an article or two in the local press, giving emphasis on new ideas on bells and belfries rather than overstressing the historical aspect.
Tune ringing on handbells by a neighbouring team of ringers, especially at Christmas. may discover many lovers of bells who should then be encouraged to speak up for bells in their own church. No matter how much ringers from outside may press for a tower and bells, the real demand must come either from the parishioners themselves or from a local henefactor. i.e. from those who will pay for them and listen to them. If success is achieved and bells are provided, then the local Asso-ciation-and that means the ringers living in the area should provide assistance in training the new band.
In this way, may we hope to find many more new churches with rings of bells, but it is up to us, through much patient work, to persuade these parishes and the authorities thai bells gare necessary to prevent our new churches from outwardly proclaiming a dumb and silent faith.-Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY DODDS.

ST. PETROCK'S. EXETER

Dear Sir,-It is always a pleasure to read articles from the pen of my old friend, William Shepherd, and his article on the bells of St. Petrock's, Exeter, was no exception.
Two years ago, while on business in Exeter and having a couple of hours on my hands, I called on the Rector of St. Petrock's and made inquiries about the bells and was fortunate in getting permission to see them the same day.

The Rector had just then received a quotation from a firm of bell hangers, who operate from Wembley, Middlesex, to supply and fix a new set of chiming ropes, to replace the old set. which apparently had been gnawed away by rats. I expressed surprise that it should be necessary to go to the expense of getting a man from London just to fit chiming ropes, when I felt sure that contact with the Cathedral ringers would have found a volunteer to carry out the job.
On visiting the church during the afternoon. I climbed the stairway to the bells. I found the bell chamber surprisingly clean after so many years and the fittings generally appeared to be in good order. The wheels seemed to be quite firm and the bells were still tight on their headstocks, as no slackness was felt when moved both ways briskly by the stays.

In the half light of the shuttered bell chamber it was not possible to make a good examination of the supporting beams, but I came away with the opinion that, with a little voluntary labour, some use of spanner and oilcan, the bells would still be ringable. The six ropes, complete with their sallies, hang down into the church, beneath the S.W. tower.

The Rector said in conversation that he hoped that the bells would be able to be rung again and I feel that an approach with this end in view would be well worth while.
St. Edmund's bells have been visited by Mr. N. Mallett during the past year and I understand they are entirely derelict, and the church is closed. I believe a new home for the bells hay been already been mooted.-Yours faithfully,

BOWELL'S FOUNDRY

Dear Sir--Could any seader tell me whether the late Mr. Alfred Bowell kept detailed records in connection with his bell founding business in Ipswich. I am trying to ascertain the whereabouts of any such records.-Yours sincerely,

PETER J. CAME.

THE RINGERS' MAGAZINE

Dear Sir,-May I through your columns, offer an apology to the readers of the Ringers' Magazine. My colleague who types and duplicates the material has informed me that owing to pressure of business he will not be able to carry out this work any longer. I have endeavoured to find an alternative means of production, but have been unsuccessful.

Thus there will be no more issues. I would like to thank all those people who have subscribed during the past five years and again offer my apologies.
Advance subscriptions will be returned in due course.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM BUTLER.

' OLD PALS' REUNION'

Dear Sir,-Once again the time is almost here for the annual old pals' reunion and no doubt many members of the Central Council are busy counting up their peal and tower totals in anticipation of another record breaking Whit-weekend.
It is about time that the Central Council realised its responsibility to the Exercise and got down to some work for a change. Too much time is spent gallivanting over the countryside tower grabbing, time which could well be spent in the council chamber doing something a little more constructive and beneficial to us all.-Yours faithfully,

St. Mary's, Slough.
Note,-Perhaps if reader Scott attended a session of the Central Council he would form a different opinion.-Ed.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GULLD

The Newark District held the Crawford Cup competition on May 19th at Barnby-in-theWillows. It was a really cold, miserable, wet evening, and those listening to the ringing huddled inside the charch. Perhaps the weather or the teams found the light six a little tricky to handle, but the ringing was not of such a high standard as the previous year. No team challenged dast year's winners, Whatton-in-the-Vale. with 74 faults. Sutton-on-Trent came next, with Newark ' B , followed closely by Newark ' A! Balderton unfortunately rang out. The judges, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley, made one or two criticisms, which, it is hoped, everyone took t", heart. After a little general ringing the bells were lowered.

Ringing during the afternoon was on the five bells at Coddington, where Sunday service ringing has recently been restarted. Three of the band were made members at the business meeting. Tea was served in the Village Hall. kindly organised by lady singers and helpers.

Next meeting: July 1st, North Collingham. with South Scarle and Harby open in the evening.

The many friends of Mr. W. Iball, of the Mansfield District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, will regret to hear that his doctor has barred thim from ringing for three months, owing to thrombosis in the left arm, and wish him a speedy recovery. Nevertheless, he still faithfulyy attends his tower and meetings, using the period to help learners.

THE SMITHS

THE STORY OF A RINGING FAMILY

By I. N. QUICK

The story of the Hexworth band on the Guild outing is continued. Characters include Joe Smith, head ringer; Annie, his wife; Phyllis and John, his daughter and son.
At the appointed time the bells were lowered and everybody made towards the two buses, which were drawn up outside the church gates. The conscientious ones took their seats and the inevitable business of checking began, a business that was subsequently repeated several times during the day. Whatever the occasion, be it an outing, excursion, tour, ramble, parade, meeting, congress, conversazione, conclave, gathering, dinner or what you will, there will always be people who are five (or ten) minutes behind everyone else.

Edward lee was a wise man of pretty equable disposition and stolid temperament; he expected to have trouble collecting his flock he expected to have trouble collecting his flock together on these outings and they for their part wouldn't dream of disappointing him. To his eternal credit it may be said that he had never left a passenger stranded yet, although it can't be denied that he frequently had had the inclination to do so. or the justification.
Their journey to Sleaford. where lunch had been arranged. took them through the outskirts of Lineoln and as Joe caught a glimpse of the mellow fabric of the mighty Cathedral. bathed in the morning sunlight, he experienced the thrill of wonder and excitement that he always felt when he saw this most magnificent of buildings. Mr. Challen could he herd of buildings. Mr. Challen could be heard explaining to the twins all about the great limestone belt that ran north-ast across the country from Gloucestershire into Lincolnshire, and its influence upon church buildings. He and its influence upon church buildings. He enlarged upon the architectural features of the Cathedral itself, commenting upon the screenlike facade of the west front, with the three great Norman caverns biting into it; its two attenuated towers. great perpendicular twins, rising somewhat abruptly above and he pointed rising somewhat abruptly above and he pointed out the exquisite proportions of the central tower.
As the buses described a great are on the outer fringes of the city, giving them vantage points that varied roughly from west 10 south, a succession of architectural wonders was revealed, each with its own peculiar charm that seemed to penetrate even the more mundane-minded - and not every ringer, thought Joe to himself. is a noble thoughts or lofty ideals.
After Lincoln had been left behind out came the handbells. There were no real 'experts' among them and Joe and Mr. Challen were the only two who had ever rung a peal 'in hand. Both John and Phyllis could 'do a oit and. in fact. John, had he been able to excellent handbell ringer.
Each change of team led to a kind of musical chairs. without music. so that four seats could be had logether, two each side of the gangway. John Chappell rang his bi-annual course of Grandsire Triples on $3-4$. the other course being at the annual Guild dinner. Considering his lack of practice he managed this quite well until he reached the last lead when. as exponents of Grandsire well know, the two bells part company. This mosit unfair development explains why the last most unfair development explains why the last lead of the course, when rung on handbells. sometimes contains more mistakes than the first and has been the undoing of more than one ringer
Joe had seen various little comedies enacted upon this particular theme. What usually happens is that the handbells are produced by A (who is always a proficient performer). with the intention of filling a gap at a meeting or dirner. Often. of course, where the occasion is of some importance, the team will be handpicked, and B, C and D (plus E. if Caters is contemplated) will already have been chosen. Even this arrangement has been known to come unstuck when, for instance, B , or C , or D (or E). has been included because he is a person of some importance, or has put in a lot of work in order that the function may be a suzcess, or for some other reason, but who is not really equal to the task, something with which each member of the team. himself excluded, is cognisant.

So long as he confines his activities to the trebles or the tenors, all will be well, but he has been known to pick up 3-4 (he avoids 5-6- or in Caters 7-8 as well-like the plague), and then refuse to budge in the hope, presumably, that when he reaches the last lead one of two things will happen: (a) a miracle will take place and divine inspiration wil! enable him to ring the last lead faultlessly (a contingency which, it may be remarked, has hitherto eluded him), or (b) he will be excused the errors he makes in the last lead, sceing that he has rung the others reasonably well. In either case he hopes to shine in the reflected glory of the whole performance.
Of course the event might be a much less formal afrair and A, after a muffled and hurried consultation with the chairman, or whoever he thinks is likely to agree with him, removes the handbells from the container. This may be a box, a carpet bag. an attache cise, or the boot of a car, from which, in the latter case. they are borne into the room like strings of beads. the handle of one through the loop of another, and dumped. jangling discordantly together on the nearest table.
Then A surveys the room inquiringly.
B. C and D (there is rarely an $E$ on these occasions) gather round $\mathbf{A}$ and his handbells and make a few tentative inquiries about the programme. A, with the indifference of one who is confident of his superior accomplishnents, shrugs his shoulders and says. 'I don't mind what you ring.' B picks up $1-2$, and. heing fuily aware that neither $C$ nor $D$ will attempt anything but Grandsire Triples, asks, 'What about Plain Bob?' and being rewarded hy the looks of dismay on their faces adds, Treble Bob, if you like!' and then assumes the attitude of one who rings a touch of Spliced Surprise double-handed every morning before breakfast.
C and D both make a grab for the tenors but $C$ is the nearer of the two. He picks them up and says, 'Grandsire Triples!' Poor D looks disconsolately at $3-4$ and 5-6 lying on the table and A asks him which pair he would like. He takes 3-4 and prepares for the worst. Then he tinkles the bells to make sure he has them the right, way round and they set off. The first 'round' comes up 12435678! D is tone-deaf.
Just hefore they reached Sleaford, Rene, one of the twins came across to Joe
Mr. Smith.' she said. 'do you think that Alice and I will be able to have a "touch" ot Plain Bob when we arrive at Sleaford? We have learnt the Bobs and Singles!'
think it can be arranged. replied Joe with a smile. 'You had only rounds and call changes at Gainsborough, didn"t you? I ought to have thought about it then. I'm sorry. Never mind. we will try and repair the omission.
He knew they, were both anxious to ring
Sleaford was reached about $12.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and after lunch. which had been arranged at an hotel not far from the church. the bells were raised and set going to a course of Cambridge Surprise Major. This 'pleasant eight,' as Mr. Challen desoribed them, which are rung from the ground floor inside the west door, were soon. if we may be allowed to borrow a phrase from Raymond Smithson's vocabulary. "bouncing along nicely!"
As usual, John Chappell took charge and saw to it that everyone had a fair share, including the 'young 'uns,' some of whom being used to ringing in belfries which had the ceiling just above their heads. found the longer draught and springier ropes somewhat awkward to manage.

Joe had a word with John Chappell.
Could we have a touch of Plain Bob Minor
'Of course, I'll fix it up when the next touch is over Do

No, I'll see to them, Joe replied. 'We'll have them both together, one of the 2 nd and the ather on the 3 rd , then I can watch them both. I think they will be all right, but see that they have a fair chance.
By which he intimated that it would be wise not to have too many learners in at the sume time. John nodded. When the touch which was in progress had finished, he arranged his team in the manner of an exarranged his team in the manner of an experienced Ringing Master, which, of course, he

George, he said to the old Hexworth ringer, will you ring the treble to Plain Bob Minor? Raymond. ring the tenor, please:
David (of Whetherton), would you take hold David (of Whetherton), would you take hold of the fourth?
He, himself, took the fifth.
Joe had a word with the twins before they began to ring.

Remember to pull well down from the backstroke; further (if anything) than you do when ringing Hexworth bells. If you find them springy at first, don't panic, you will soon get the " feel" of them. Keep a tightish rope and you will be all righ
He stood near them for the first few rounds, but they managed quite well and having made sure they were all right he sat down and when they went off into changes watched them carefully. Once he rose quickly, when Alice missed her sally, but she righted herself Alice missed her sally, but she righted herself before he could intervene. He repeated his advice about 'keeping a tightish rope and sat down as the touch sailed along once more.
When it came round the twins beamed with delight and Joe offered a word of congratulation: it was a long time, he thought to himself, since he had seen such a picture, nay two pictures. of uninhibited happiness.
Joe was always careful when standing behind. to make sure that he was not overriding the conductor. Some, he knew, preferred to make their own corrections and if at any time he was correcting a mistake made by arother ringer and the conductor began to overshout him he immediately dried up. On the other hand he knew of others who, knowing the:e was a weak link in the chain. would ash, Do you mind standing behind the Ind (or whichever bell it might be)? which seemed to Joe a sensible idea.
There was. Joe contended. nearly as much concealed skill in 'standing behind, as there was in most other branches of bellringing activity. One must be careful. by a curious blend of intuition or anticipation, to deliver th: necessary instruction or command at the precise moment, and. what was perhaps more important, to know when to keep quiet. Sometimes only an odd word at intervals was required: little purpose could be served by telling the learner. bell for bell, what he had $t 0$ do: he (or she) must be made 10 work mentally as well as physically.

The time to depart arrived. as it always does when the ringing is good. all too soor, the bells were lowered and soon the buses were heading Spaldingwards.

MR. RICHARD KENDALL

Luton Parish Church has lost a most faithful and valuable servant by the death on May 25 th, at the Luton and Dunstable Hospital, of Mr. Richard Kendall.
Born at Barton-le-Clay in 1890. he served his country in the First World War and was severely wounded. In 1916 he married a Norfolk girl, Miss Kate Hubbard, at Tivetshall, and later the couple settled down in Luton. For some months his health had been failing and an operation failed to save his life.
The funeral service at Luton Parish Church on May 28 th was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends, including most of the local ringers. The Vicar (the Rev. H. E. Frankham) paid a very sincere tribute to a great ringer and churchman. The sympathy of all who knew him is extended to Mrs. Kendall in her gieat loss.

AN APPRECIATION

Week by week the bells ring out from the steeples of Britain, and of the faithful body of people who keep them sounding was Richard Kendall:

Possessing many fine qualities and gifts, he was remarkable for his organising ability and his wonderful memory. He never forgot a face or a name.

A most reliable ringer, he joined the Ancient Society of College Youths in May. 1913, and fo- many years has been a very well known member of the Bedfordshire Association. A 'natural' bell handler, he first became acquainted with a bell rope at the early age of three years, when he helped his grandfather to toll the tenor bell at Barton, for the passing of the Duke of Clarence.

His first interest, and this he regarded as a sacred duty, was Sunday service ringing. though he rang many peals, too, but mostly ir his earlier years. He mastered many methods, but remained a lover of Grandsire Tiples, and it was in this method that his fellow ringers rang a memorial quarter peal at his beloved Luton Parish Church on the day of his funeral.

God grant him a safe lodging, a holy rest and peace at the last.

MR. MARK FARNISH HATCH AN APPRECIATION

The sudden and untimely death of Mark Hatch (24). the only son of Rev. G. W. Hatch (Rector of Rayleigh) and Mrs. Hatch, has come as a great shock to all who knew him. He was a sergeant in the Royal Dragoons, and died in an accident while on duty in Singapore on May 23 rd.
A member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mark learnt to ring at Duffield, where he was a regular ringer until he joined the Army. He had been attached to the Rayleigh band since 1956. where he rang at every available opportunity. His service career took him into towers all over the country.

Mark's last peal was at Downham on April 27 th . 1961, where he conducted Plain Bob Minor, just prior to his departure for Singapore and Malaya.

A memorial service was held in Holy Trinity Church, Rayleigh, on Friday, May 25 th, to coincide with the military funeral held in Singapore.
All his ringing friends extend their deepest sympathy to his family.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

A $T$ the annual meeting of the Executive A. Council of the Irish Association, held at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, on May 19th. with Mr. A. F. Bogan, the president. in the chair, it was decided to increase the annual subscrjption to 2 s . 6 d . per member, and 1s. 3d. for school children under 17 years.
The question of the types of leads which should be permitted in cup competitions led to a lengthy discussion. due to the attitude oî several towers in the Southern District, who fcund it very hard to break with tradition in that area. A compromise was agreed to whereby call change ringers may elect to ring either the open handstroke, or "cartwheel' leads, providing they advise the Ringing Master in advance of the type of lead they propose.

It was agreed to make a special effort to iticrease the capital of the Bell Restoration Fund to at least $£ 200$, to enable larger grants to be made out of interest in answer to appeals. A notice is to be sent to each tower asking for donations of $£ 10$ or at least $£ 5$ per tower. It was also thought that there might be others outside the country who might like to be associated with this effort. Contributions to the general secretary will be gratefully acknowledged.
Deaths remembered with respect were: The Very Rev. E. H. Lewis-Crosby (Dean of Christ Church), the Very Rev. R. Stevenson (former Dean of Waterford), Mr. S. McClefland (St. Thomas'. Belfast), Mrs. G. Dukes (honorary member) and Mr. Ernest Morris.
Officers elected were: President. Mr. A. Fred Bogan, Cork ; vice-presidents, Rev. E. G. Parke (Belfast), Messrs. H. H. Johnson (Bray). S Nagle (Doneraile); general secretary, Fred F. Dukes (Meadow Cottage. Julianstown, Co. Meath); Ringing Master, J. T. Dunwoody (Holywood) : librarian, W. H. Wilson (Dublin); badge secretary, J. T. Dunwoody: auditors, W. Bovenizer and J. N. Dolan: representatives on Central Council. F. E. Dukes. J. T. Dunwoody and Mrs. F. E. Dukes (vice Mrs. J. Jeffery resigned).

Tenor King,' Cecil Mogford, becomes the only ringer to ring this tenor to more than one peal and now holds the record for the fastest peal on the bells.
The time taken in the peal of Major rung at Shepshed on May 19th (see page 363) was 2 hours and 53 minutes.

Will the bride who, in the midst of her happiness. thought of the Editor and sent him some wedding cake, please accept his sincere thanks and best wishes.

Congratulations 10 Mr . Alick Cutler, of Harlesden, who is the first person to ring peals in 200 different Surprise Major methods. This total was reached with a peal of Staining Surprise Major at Willesden on May 24th.

Five of the local band who rang for service at the village of Hagbourne, Berks, on Sunday, May 26 th. were all conductors of the five methods-Grandsire. Stedman, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich.
Peals to commemorate the consecration of Coventry Cathedral were rung at Dunholme (Linos), Dunchurch, Harpole (Northants), Atherstone where Warwickshire Surprise Major was rung, Hambleden (Bucks), Exhall, Honiley, Chilvers Coton and Ashton-under-Lyne (Lancs).
Mr. E. W. G. Ballinger, Hereford's 581st Mayor, saw the ringers of St. Nicholas' Church. Hereford, ringing on May 24th in honour of his installation as Mayor. Two of the ringers, Mr. A. J. Williams and Mr. M. V. Powell, work with the Mayor, who is an engineer with the G.P.O.

We hope one day to read more 'Reminiscences' from a certain London ringer and to hear at first hand of his adventure at Chertsey on the Chelsea ringers' outing. During a touch of Grandsire he and his teeth parted company. Despite this distraction the touch came round and the teeth were later retrieved from beneath the grating in the church floor.

GOSSIP

 Bogan said his mother gave him the name ot Fred which means ' Peaceful ruler' and that was the way he intended to act. We know of another Fred, who we trust will try to emulate the Irish president this Whitsun.At Bristol a quarter of Coventry Delight Minor was rung in honour of the consecration of Coventry Cathedral.

Among other letters received on Sunbury Court Place is one from Mr. Hugh N. Evans, of Shirley, Southampton, whose conclusions are similar to those of Mr. H. Chant.

It seems as if Bristol's Cupid has gone to Manchester. A peal and a quarter peal have been rung in honour of the engagement of the secretary of Manchester University Guild (Miss Nancy J. Robins) to the immediate Past Master (Mr. J. H. Soanes).
Mr. Henry Statham, of Brighton, who is now 90 , has rung two 10 -bell peals in three weeks. Ringing with him in the peal recorded this week was Mr. Reuben Sanders, who is now $88 \frac{1}{2}$ years old and has approximately 550 peals to his credit.

Mr. Thomas Roache, from 27, Hall Avenue, Norman Park. Brisbane, writes: 'I hope the bells at Shortlands, near Bromley, are still ringing. May it give the ringers there encouragement to know that a boy of 15 was sitting by the roadside in Den Road one Sunday in 1905 and felt the power of sweet influence coming from those bells, a very sermon I have never forgotten.'
Fourteen Slough ringers participated in two quanter peals on May 20 th to celebrate their Rector's installation as a Canon of Chrisi Church, Oxford, on May 19th. Canon Perkins is chairman of the local Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Both conductors were 16 -year-olds. Had they read of the Saxilby. Lincs, ringers' two six-bell 'quarters " with different bands a little earlier, they would have emulated their example by bringing in two more local ringers to make two eightbell bands! Perhaps some other tower will do so now.

' BREAKDOWN

THERE must be thousands of belfries throughout the ringing world which have electric lighting installed. Lighting is necessary when ringing takes place during the hours of darkness, and in very many belfries there is not the remotest glimmer of light from outside at night, even when there is a full moon.
Some years ago, when a team of recruits was ringing in rounds for the first time one of the ringers missed the sally, with the result that a stay was broken and the tail end of the rope flew madly around the ringing room. It hit the electric light and put it out, leaving the ringing room in darkness. The remaining ringers took fright and let their bells run wild. The ringers scrambled into corners, under stairs and tables, and mercifully no injury was caused to any of them.
On another occasion when a practice was in progress the Vicar happened to be in the church, and on leaving switched off all lights, including the one controlling the tower lights, leaving the ringers in complete darkness. As the access to the belfry was an easy one, some shouting advised the Vicar hurriedly to restore lighting.

A peal was in progress in a Cheshire church when someone switched off the circuit controlling the tower lighting. On this occasion it was twilight so a certain amount of light penetrated the small window in the belfry to enable the experts to finish the peal in almost complete darkness.

The writer has visited many towers in his travels and is concerned at the number of belfries which have only one light in the ringing room. There is no guarantee that this single light will not fail, and particularly where inexperienced ringers are ringing. It is essential that some precautions should be taken to avert accidents.

The three cases referred to above, which are true, are typical of many such instances of failure of lighting.

We cannot too strongly recommend to those responsible for the training and practising of bellringers to see that the lighting facilities are adequate and safe. Some years ago the matter was discussed at the meeting of the Central Council, the result of which was that a special notice was produced to indicate to all concerned that the tower switches were not to be switched off whilst ringing was in progress. These notices are still available for any tower requiring them, price 3 d . (including postage), from the Publications Dept., Central Council (see back page).

Our recommendations are that-
(a) There should be at least two lights in the belfry.
(b) The lights must be so fixed that a loose rope cannot catch and damage same.
(c) There should always be a spare lamp (some people call it a bulb) available in the ringing room to replace one which might burn out during ringing.
(d) The lighting circuit to the belfry should not be switched off at the main or sub-distribution board. It must, however, be fused of sufficient capacity for safety
(e) The lights should be mounted well above the eye level of ringers, to eliminate glare during ringing.
(f) Where there is an alternative source of light, gas or candle, it should be lit if there is only one electric lighting point in the ringing room.
(g) No appliance or electric heater must be connected to the lighting circuit unless the cabling is of sufficient capacity to cater for the additional load, and then only through a separate outlet socket and plug.
We do stress that those responsible for the training of ringers should bring to the attention of the Church Authorities the existence of inadequate lighting and of the potential dangers due to such conditions. Most ringers are insured against accidents in the belfry. Let us not depend upon insurance but take all necessary steps to minimise risks of injury to ringers who, as far as Ireland is concerned, give their services voluntarily.

THE YORKSHIRE  ASSOCIATION

Mr. Leslie Morris' 24 Years As Secretary

'THE annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Wakefield on May 5 th, and was well supported by members and friends from each of the four Districts. During the day ringing was enjoyed on no fewer than eight rings of bedls, in addition to the Cathedral, the experiment proving highly successful.
A new departure we made by holding the business meeting in the afternoon. instead of the evening. the chair being taken by the president, Archdeacon Ellison, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris). the honorary treasurer (Mr. V. Bottomley) and the honorary peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley).
In his opening remariks, the president welcomed the assembly to Wakefield, and announced apologies for absence from Miss D. M. Killingley. Mrs. D. E. Ketly and Mr. A. E. Marsh. An omnibus vote of thanks to the Cathedral authorities, incumbentis and churchwardens of the numerous churches who had given consent for the use of their bells was unanimously accorded on the motion of Mr. E. Hudson, seconded by Mr. P. Birkett, and a similar vole of thanks to the respeotive local companies was also accorded on the motion of Mr. I. Slack. seconded by Mr. W. Barton. Mr. W. F. Moreton suitably replied.
In presenting the 86th annual report, the president said that the Association was holding jts own so far as membership was concerned: 62 new resident members and 17 non-resident members having been elected during the year. To offset this. however, 15 members had died and 34 had lapsed through non-payment of subscriptions. Two matters gave rise to anxiety, firstly the cost of the reports, and secondly the late payment of subscriptions. Unfortunately the former was outside the control of the Association. but the latter was in the hands of the members.
The balance sheet revealed a small gain on the year's working. and was the first to be presented by the new treasurer. Mr. V. Bottomley, who had succeeded Mr. G. Benfieid. The thanks of the Association were due to Mr. Benfield, who had held office for mine years, and had reluctantly found it necessary to resign on account of increased studies. Mr . Benfield had. however, found it possible to accept the less onerous office of Western Distriot Ringing Master. so that his services would still be at the disposal of the Association.

147 PEALS

The peal secretary's report showed that 147 peals had been rung during the year, 13? on tower-bells and 13 on handbells. Thirty-four members had rung a peal for the first time. and six their first as conductor. Included in the list are peals rung by the following local bands: Wakefield (Grandsire Triples). Haley Hill (Spliced Surprise Major in nine methods), Handsworth (Little Bob Major), Bradford Cathedral rCambridge Surprise Royal and Yorkshire Surprise Royal). Kirk Ella (five Minor methods). Following a brief discussion. the report was unanimously adopted on the motion of Mr. I. Slack. seconded by Mr. W. Barton.
On the motion of the president. seconded by Mr. W. Barton. Mr. L. W. G. Morris was unanimously re-elected general secretary. The president said that Mr. Morris had now held office for 24 years. and their best thanks were duc to him for his distinguished record. In duc to himm or his distinguished record. the members for their renewed confidence, and added that he would be pleased to serve to the best of his ability so long as he held office. Mr. W. E. Critchley was unanimously re-elected peal secretary on the motion of Mr. P. Birkett. seconded by Mr. N. Chaddock, who paid tribute to the very capable manner in which. Mr . Critchley continued to perform this exacting work.

Invitations for the next meeting, on September 15 th. had been received from Howden and Scarborough. Mr. N. Chaddock moved and Mr. J. Seager seconded. that Howden be the venue. and Mr. P. Scholfield moved and Mr. W. F. Moreton seconded, acceptance of the Scarborough invitation. On being put to the vote. Scarborough was chosen by a substantial majority.
An appeal for a grant towards the cost of restoring the ring of twelve bells at St. Paul's Cathedral. Melbourne, Australia, was considered and, after discussion. the sum of two guineas was granted. Mr. H. Walker feported that arrangements were proceeding in connection with the Snowdon dinner to be held at York on October 13th. and asked members to reserve the date and ensure its success by giving their usual good support.
On the motion of Mr. G. Benfield. seconded by Mr. W. IE. Critchley, the following new members were elected: Miss D. E. A. Jackson and Miss C. R. Slater (Crofton), Christine Saville (Cawthorne), M. R. Corby (Sandal), C. Cooper (York. unattached), Richard Senior (Kirkheaton). W. Pilkington' (Rawmarsh), and as out-county members: Eric Wall and Richard Parker, of Burnley.

This concluded the business and further ringing was enjoyed, the consensus of opinion being that the meeting had been one of the most successful and enjoyable held. and reflected every credit on those responsible for the elaborate arrangements, and Mr. W. F. Moreton. of Wakefield, in particular.

THE BELLS OF QUEENSLAND
We are indebted to Mr. Thomas Roache, information regarding the bells of Queensland. Mr. Pipe, he writes, mentions Maryborough as possessing an octave. These are the only bells in the State that can be pealed. Brisbane, a large city, has a light eight at St . John's Anglican Cathedral. They are in a wooden belfry standing in the churchyard: the bells are not turned on wheels, but are chimed by four ringers-two ropes each. In the suburb of Kedron there is an octave which is played by a keyboard, and is more like an outsize Glockenspiel.
The city of Bundabury has an octave, worked mechanically. The octave at Rockhampton Cathedral was a gift by American Servicemen. who had a large camp in the district during World War II. These bells are mechanically operated. and 'I cannot say 1 am impressed with their tone.'

THE LADIES' GUILD  Southern District

A fine but cold day greeted over 25 members and friends when they gathered at St. Lawrence's, Alton. Hants, for the quarterly meeting on May 12 th . The easy going ring of eight were put to good use during the afternoon and evening. in the standard methods. The Vicar conducted the Guild's form of service, welcomed us to his church and afterwards joined us for tea. At the business meeting six new members were elected.
Next meeting: Ockham and Send. July 21st

Popularity of Grantley Hall Course

$S^{\circ}$ popular are the courses run by the Hall Adult Education College that the Educaion Committee is now finding it essential to make a careful selection from the rapidly increasing number of applicants.

Perhaps this is not surprising. for the Hall is a most lovely Georgian house in a secluded part of the Skell Valley: it provides luxurious accommodation. excellent food and a most friendly welcome from the permanent staff. When a party of some 20 ringers assembled for the third annual course, the daffodils were in full bloom and they found. rather appropriately, that the parallel course was one with the title 'Creation and Re-creation.' So whilst we delved into the mysteries of multi-method ringing, false course heads and $Q$ sets our fellow students endeavoured to produce plaster masks. futuristic paintings and English verse. The writer was moved to attempt a summary of the course in verse and submits, below, his meagre effont.
The lecturers were the president of the Central Council. Mr. Fred Sharpe. who arrived complete with his wonderful collection of handbells and photographs, and delighted and amazed everyone with his knowledge of bells. bell founders, bell hangers and belfries: Mr. Norman Chaddock. with his customary patience and clarity dealt. with bell hanging and conducting (many ringers must know Norman as a very competent ringer and corductor, few can know how thoroughly he has mastered the art of teaching the practical aspects of ringing) : Mr. Wilfnid Moreton was able to impart to a number of students a considerable knowledge of the science of multimethod Minor Jinging, and when his students attempted to put into practice their newly acquired knowledge the resulting ringing was. in the writer's opinion. very commendable.

As a new lecturer and newcomer to Grantley H all we welcomed Mr. William Barton: in an all 100 restricted space of time he dealt very clearly with the subjects of proof and composition. His knowledge of his subjects was patent. his ability to teach was obvious. his inability to avoid the soiling effects of schoolboard chalk was. at the end of each lecture. very obvious.

We made excursions to Sharow (8). Kirkby Malzeard (6) and Ripon Cathedral (10). At these towers the art of conducting and the ringing of Spliced Minor methods was practised. with considerable success. A Sunday morning trip to the six-bell tower at Wath proved somewhat abortive, time was limited and yet further reduced by the absence of a stay and the breaking of a rope.
Before lectures began on Sunday morning the writer was privileged to conduct a short service for his follow ringers: an unusual and most pleasing feature of this service was the harmonious rendering of an Easter hymn. with handbell accompaniment. The handbell course of Grandsire Caters. which preceded the service. drew admiration from students of the parallel course.

The writer has no doubt about the value of the Grantley Hall courses, and he would advise potential students to book early for any future courses. Perhaps the greatest value of such courses is that panticipation in them teaches us how many sided is our art.
The keenness of the younger generation of ringers was well exemplified by the young man who cycled from the Manchester area to take part in the course. Well played. the Red Rose!

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION AT WISBECH

THE Wisbech District was visited by the Ely Diocesan Association for its annual meeting on Easter Monday, and by tea time there were about 150 members present
Ringing started at 10 o'clock at Hilgay and Tydd St. Giles, and was followed by other towers during the day: Denver. Downham Market, Watlington, Tilney All Saints, Walpole St. Peter, Walpole St. Andrew, Newton, Wisbech Si. Mary, Leveringion. Upwell. Emneth, Elm. Walsoken and Wisbech St. Peter. The weather this year was on its best behaviour. and the number of ringers. both vsitors and diocesan members, was very good indeed.
The service was held in St. Peter's Church, Wisbech, conducted by the Vicar. Rev. R. M. McCaughey. Mr. F. Elmer. the president of the Wisbech District, read the lesson. and Mr. F Wigmore was at the organ. In a short address the Vicar welcomed all to Wisbech. Tea had been arranged in St. Peter's Church Hall by the committee members, assisted by many ladies, who provided a well prepared meal.

Mr. F. Elmer presided at the business meeting. at which the general secretary's report and balance sheet were adopted

FEWER PEALS

The report stated that peals, at 43, were seven less than the previous year. The number of ringers taking part was 117. and nine of them rang their first peal. Of the Major peals. 10 were in Surprise methods: Shelford Delight was rung on the augmented ring at Little Shelford
The year had been unusual as, whilst down on peals and resident members' subscriptions. the balance sheet showed an increase on the credit side, mainly due to an increase in nonresident life members. Congratulations were extended to the Cambridge District, with 103 paid up resident members. A welcome back was extended to Mr. B. D. Threlfall. who was a member of the Central Council Towers and Belfries Committee. Congratulations were extended to Mr. Trevor Bevis and his wife on their marriage and appreciation expressed of Mr. Bevis' article in 'The Ringing World:

The following officers were re-elected: Vicepresident. the Ven. J. P. Pelloe: general secretary and treasurer. Mr. H. S. Peacock: peal R. Dennis. Central Council representatives fo- the 25 th session were elected as follows: Messrs. J. G. Gibson. E. H. Mastin. T. A. Bevis and H.S. Peacock.
It was decided to transfer Caxton tower from Cambridge to the Hunts District. The 1963 annual meeting is to be held in the Hunts District. A comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. R. F. Baker, to a! l who had helped to make the day so successful. particularly Mr. J. E. Fox. the Wisbech District secretary, and members of the committee, Mr. F. Elmer, who presided, and the Vicar and organist at the service.

Leicester District Striking Competition At Thurcaston

The annual striking competition for the Leicester District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held at Thurcaston on June 2nd.
The judges were Mr. F. K. Measures (Burbage). president of the Guild: Mr. A. Ballard (Hinckley), and Mr. J. B. Bennett (Nottingham).
Seven teams entered and the result was as follows: 1 South Wigston 'A' 35 faults, 2 Belgrave 47. 3 Leicester St. Margaret's 54. 4 Aylestone 60.5 South Wigston ' B 67. Leicester St. John's 71. 7 Blaby, disqualified due to a misunderstanding.
At the conclusion. the president presented the Ringing Master of South Wigston (Mr.
$\mathbf{R}$ G. Warwick) with a pewter tankard.

BOLSOVER CHURCH RECONSECRATED

VISITORS to Bolsover Parish Church will be interested to know that the work of restonation. after the disastrous fire early in 1960, is now completed and the service of reconsecration by the Lord Bishop of Derby took place on May 23 rd.

As the service was held at a time when many people were at work, visiting ringers from Chesterfield, Darley Dale. Mansfield, Staveley and Warsop joined members of the local company for special ringing in the afternoon and again in the evening, when there was a service for Confirmation. Several messages of appreciation, including one from the churchwardens, were expressed about the ringing. which included touches of Little Bob Major. Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Cambridge Surprise Major. Superlative Surprise Major. Yorkshire Surprise Major and Stedman Triples.

The scheme for restoration of the church includes a new ringing room above ground level and the local ringers have made strenuous efforts with the decoration and furnishings to ensure conditions of the standard normally recognised at Bolsover

Those attending the services were greatly impressed with the work of restoration. which has included the replacement of the roof of the nave and chancel, new vestries and a new organ. The windows have been rebuilt with clear glass. and new dormer windows inserted in the roof give added light to bring out the best effect of the brightly painted timbers. The space which formerly contained the vestry and organ has been converted into a baptistery, and all the new furnishings are of bright colours.

A new puspit has been placed in the nave and the whole of the seating has been cleaned and varnished. The altar for regular use and the choir stalls have been brought forward in position, and the former sanctuary has been set apart by a screen for use as a Lady Chapel. The reredos has been beautifully coloured and the altar tables covered by cloths of blue and gold.
There were capacity congregations at each of the sepcial services: visitors included former clergy at Bolsover and the incumbents of churches in the district.
On the following Sunday the preacher at Evensong was the Bishop of Honduras, and details of a quarter peal rung by the local band are reported elsewhere

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

Murphy Cup Competition

The finalists from the three Irish Districts competed for the Murphy Cup at St. George's Church, Dublin, on May 19th. The test was 30 call changes in 10 minutes or 240 method changes.
The judges were Messrs. W. Pratt (Holywood), T. Wilson (St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin) and G. Bingham (Limerick). Mr. J. T. Dunwoody was Ringing Master in the ower. Their findings were as follows:
Ballymodan. Co. Cork ( 6 bells, call changes). steady ringing throughout, 24 faults.
Drogheda ( 8 bells. method). good ringing throughout. 41 faults.
Coleraine ( 8 bells, call changes), bad start, improved towards the end, 64 faults
The cup was presented to Mr. E. Gabriel. for the winners. and he answered the call for a speech. He said that his team were particularly pleased that they were the winners of all three trophies-Cherry Cup. Attendance Shield and Murphy Cup-this year. without sharing with anybody else. Much amusement was caused when he concluded his remarks with Three cheers for Bandon and nobody cheered!

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

75th Birthday Plans

TWHE annual meeting of the Chester Guild was held at Grappenhall Parish Church on May 12th. The preacher at the customary service was the Rev. J. W. Roberts, Rector of Grappenhall, who, in his address, spoke of the history of his church and bells. He remarked on the large proportion of younger members present and said that the Guild was paying proper attention to providing opportunity for the learning of the ancient art. He considered bell ringing as a vital ministry of the Church.
After tea in the Parish Hall the A.G.M. was held, under the chairmanship of the Master, Mr. J. W. Clarke. The routine business of an annual meeting was carried out; all the officers were re-elected and thanked for their work during the past year: Central Council representatives for $1963 / 5$ were appointed, and the annual meeting for 1963 fixed for May 11th in the Crewe Branch.
On November 17 th, 1962. the Guild celebrates its 75 th birthday and arrangements have been made to hold a service in the Cathedral or that day, at which the Lord Bishop will preach. Whether this should be followed by the annual dinner provoked a very lively debate. It was finally decided that a dinner be held at the Bars Hotel and that Messrs. H. O. Baker and R. C. H. Sibley constitute a Social Committee to arrange it.

Notice of motion to increase the subscription was given by the committee and it was revealed that the actual increase in mind was to double the present amount which is contributed by each Branch to the central fund.
The report made mention of the Deputy Master's 1.000 th peal and it was decided to mark the attainment of this milestone by the first resident member of the Guild to make a presentation to him. Mr. Worth, in his acknowledgment of the congratulations, said that the attainment of this goal had been reached through team work over a number of years by many anxious to raise the stiandard of ringing in the Guild and to promote the interest of all members

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rector. the wardens. the organist and choir, the ladies and local ringers, and also to the incumbents of other churches. who had placed their bells at the disposal of the Guild

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

At the A.G.M. of Liverpool University Society on May 1,1 th. the following officers were elected for the $1962 / 63$ session: President, M. Pilgrim: Ringing Master, J. H. Fielden: secretary/treasurer. C. K. Cooper; committee member, Miss H. A. Arrowsmith A fresher representative will be elected next term.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The second spring practice meeting of the Northern District was held at Christ Church, Mitcham, and St. Mary's. Merton. on May 26th. Some 40 members and friends. mostly youngsters, had a pleasant afternoon's ringing at Mitcham in Minor methods and rounds, followed by a service. conducted by the Vicar.
Tea, in the Church Hall, had been prepared bj Mr. H. Allen and the local ringers, and was efficiently dealt with by the company, who then had the further pleasure of learning they had been the guests of the Mitcham ringers. After the usual votes of thanks to all who had contributed to a most successful afternoon. ringing on the five at St. Mary's. Merton. concluded a happy day

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION  St. Albans District

Kimpton, with its typical 'Hertfordshire Needle, spire, where the Hentfordshire ringing contest (the Kimpton Cup) is held, was the venue for the St. Albans District meeting on May 19th. An interesting feature of this church is the beauty of the ringers' gallery, which is the work of a local ringer.
Afternoon ninging inoluded a touch of Spliced Surprise Minor (Londan. Norwich, Cambridge and Beverley) by a band of District members. which was the first in living memory! Norman weather spoiled plans to have tea outdoors. but this did not stop ringers from tackling the spread provided by Mrs. Price, a local ringer, in the usual way.
The president of the Association, Mr. H. V. Frost, presided at the business meeting Welwyn and Tewin (special methods: New Bob Doubles and Killamarsh Treble Bob Minor) were decided on for the June meeting. Mr. J. Cuil. of Kimpton, informed the meeting that 360 Doubles or Minor would be accepted as test piece for the Kimpton Cup contest on October 6th. Mr. G. Penney (R.M.) welcomed the young Wheathampstead ringers (the first to attend a meeting for many years) on behalf of all present. It was refreshing to find beginners from this tower, many of whom rang rounds on open bells for the first time. Mir. S. Huckle proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector, Mr. and Mrs. Price for so kindly opening their home to us, and the secretary, Mrs. M. A. Coburn.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

Some 25 ringers and parishioners were present at the service and tea connected with the meeting of the Ashford District at Woodchurch an May 26th.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. E. Price, who gave an address worthy of a larger congregation. Mr. Martin-Smith was at the organ.

An excellent tea was enjoyed in the Village Hall, and was kindly given by the Woodchurch ringers and finiends.

The Vicar took the chair for the business part of the meeting. The secretary gave an account of the annual general meeting. Five new practising members were elected to the Association. Among these was John Hemsley, of Rolvenden, which means that all the eightbell towers in the District are now affiliated to the Association. Much credit is due to Mr. Hemsley for his hard work in reviving interest in those fine bells.

Mr . T. Cullingworth voiced the thanks of the visitors to the Vicar organist, Woodchurch ringers and friends, for the tea, and to $\mathbf{M r}$. R. Pellett for making the arrangements.

Ringing was mainly under the direction of the secretary, and was remarkable for the youthfulness and variety of the conductors. A feature of the evening was the touch of Spliced Minor and Doubles, composed and conducted by Mr. N. J. Davies.

ST. MARY'S, PORTSEA, MEMORIAL MATS

A ' lower' set of ringing mats in blue, to match the table cloth. was presented to St. Mary's, Porlsea, before practice ninging on June 5th. The mats are the gift of Mr. A. Matthews, who, for $3 \frac{1}{2}$ years, has been a ringer at the tower. He asked the company to accept them as a memorial to his wife. They were married, he said, at St. Mary's, Portsea. 40 years ago (June. 1922) and had 30 very happy years logether.

Mr. F. W. Rogers, the tower captain, expressed thanks on behalf of the ringers for this most sincere gesture on Mr. Matthews' part.

Saturday, May 5th, dawned early for mem hers of Durham University Society (too early for some) who left Palace Green at $8.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. bound for the east coast of Yorkshire.
The first stop was at Marske-by-the-Sea, where it was found that the ropes had been removed and the bells sounded by an Ellacombe chiming apparatus. Undaunted we pressed on to Saltburn-by-the-Sea, where awaited a heavy but loud eight ( 23 cwt .), witn a clapperless seventh. Ringing was confined to the front six, Cambridge, Kent, Plain Bob Minor being rung. with a touch of Grandsire Triples on the seven bells available! It was there that some of our German friends, in here that some of our German friends. in Durham for this term only, were introduced to the mysteries of change ringing.

FIRST OF ROYAL FOR THE SOCIETY

The sun was gradually dispersing the sea mist as we journeyed to Whitby, lunch being eaten on the bus. Here we found a delightful fishing town with St. Mary's Church on the headland, overlooking the town and sea. There is a magnificent ten here ( 19 cwt.), and after pulling the back eight up in peal we proceeded to ring Cambridge Major. Bob Royal, Bob Major and Grandsire Triples. This was the first course of Royal rung by the Society and the first on ten for about half the band. The striking was as good as many ten bell bands who ring Royal regularly.

The president issued a warning that Yorkshire Surprise Major would be rung at the next tower, Scarborough ( $8,20 \mathrm{cw}$ ), where we were unfortunately late. Our apologies to Mr. B. Sutton, who was waiting patiently for us. Wi proceeded to ring a course of Yorkshire Surprise Major (which Mr. Sutton said was the best bit of ringing on the bells since a peal last year), it being the first course for the Society, and a touch of Stedman Triples.
We had to eat in the bus again, an underestimate of time having been made, but we were on time again when we reached Wykeham's five ( 9 cwt .) in a detached tower. A search of the village had to be made to oblain the key, but once inside the tower good use was made of the bells: Plain Bob. Grandsire and made of the bells : Phain boo. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being rung. together with a back five for our 'Man of Kent.'

SUPERLATIVE UEARNED IN THE BUS
The local captain met us at Pickering and showed us the belfry. The churoh is Saxon in origin, though only the font and part of the shaft of a cross date from this time. Much of the Norman church is in evidence, as well as the beautiful 15 th century frescoes which came to light in 1851. Superlative had been learned on the way from Wykeham and was rung. though not in the immaculate style of the Yorkshire at Scarborough. Cambridge Minor, Bob Major and rounds for the learners were also rung.
On to our last tower, Helmsley, where the Vicar was awaiting our arrival. He conducted us to the belfry and we finished up the day's ringing with another course of Superlative (w. knew it better by then, rockets having been delivered in the right direction), Stedman Triples and Bob Major

The party arrived back in Durham at about 10.30 p.m., minus the president, who went into the deep south of Yorkshire. Thanks and appreciation were expressed to the incumbents. to Mary Marshall for arranging the outing and to our very tolerant driver.

OUTING

ARUNDEL, SUSSEX

Arundel ringers and friends from Lyminster and Walberton on May 5 th had some interesting experiences. The very light six ( $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) at Fittleworth, rung at the west end of the church, were much lighter than we were used church, were much lighter than we were used to Another six ( 14 cwt ) followed at Kirdford, rung from a square balcony, overlooking the nave. At Horsham. Mr. White had kindly raised the bells and these were soon going to Grandsire Triples. The bells are much heavier than ours, but the tone is lovely.
After tea at Horsham, we left for the fine Church of St. George. West Grinstead, with its beautiful 'Sussex Cap.' The six bells ( 8 cwt.) have a very long draught, which we found not too easy to manage. The ohd aak pews, bearing the names of farms and colleges, were an interesting feature
Findon's well kept belfry made us very envious of the lovely carpet on the floor and no steps to climb. We wished we could have stayed longer to enjoy these bells. Our thanks to all incumbents and ringers who helped to make our day so enjoyable

LETTERS TO

WIGGENHALL ST. GERMAN'S
Dear Sir,-Anybody reading the letters in The Ringing World' (page 357) will marvel at things ringers do. one band ringing bells that should have fallen down and others ringing bells that are not there.
St, German's tower contains 4 bells; treble cast at Bury St. Edmunds. 2, 3, 4 by John Draper. 1618, 1621, 1630 . I have just returned from a visit to the church, but only two ropes are now hanging in the belfry. If Mr. Mann's letter leaves Mr. Tyson surprised this one will leave him dumbfounded.

He says no comment from King's Lynn area. I would like to point out St. German's Churoh is in the Wisbech Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association. He goes on to state he was in the choir, but he does not say for how long. The ground floor ringing chamber is at the foot of the tower and is wide open to the church, and how any ringer could fail to recognise bell ropes, is beyond me.
There is no doubt that we are talking about the same church, as I have confirmed the Rev. J. M. Trevor was in charge of this church. Yours sincerely,
Downham Market.

RINGING TO 'TIME,

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Aitch's article in the issue of May 18th, all this ringing to 'time' is far too complicated. It is much easier to ring to rhythm. Call the speed of ringing ' A .' When hunting up or moving from front to back the speed is $A+$, and when hunting down the speed is A -

So long as one can get to know these speeds and know how much to pull in or hold up and then to maintain these speeds one need not worry at all about keeping off the heavy bells and ringing close to the lighter bells. This can be proved quite easily by ringing blindfolded or by looking at a spot on the floor and then one will not know which bell he is ringing after unless he has a good ear.

Regarding the question of who is responsible for setting the time, I say it is the second bell and then the tenor maintains this time. To explain-if the second pulls off with a wide interval between is and the treble, the remaining bells should keep to this same interval and, no matter what the tenor does, to try to shorten this interval he will only be clipping the one in front of him. which will soon lead to bad striking. The same applies if the second pulls off with a short interval between it and the treble.
This subject of 'time,' 'rhythm' and 'interval' is very interesting and has just had the surface scraped. I know it has been in these columns before but, for the benefit of new readers and learners. may we have some more comments from the experts-not too technical though.-Yours sincerely,

Portsmouth.

ALAN A. J. BUSWELL.

A VERGERS' PEAL?

Dear Sir.-Mr. Ernest Marris. in a detter, told me he would have liked to organise a vergers' peal. However, he found it was not possible to contact eight or six verger ringers, living within a convenient distance. who were capable of attempting a peal.-Yours sincerely,
Burghill, Herefordshire.
F. MORRIS.

THE EDITOR

RUDHALL'S, OF GLOUCESTER

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read Mr . Dowdeswell's letter regarding the original Rudhall ring at great Rissington; they have certainly stood the test of time. I learnt to ring on a Rudhall six-at Yate, Glos-and although they were not the easiest of bells to handle, I never heard any criticism of the quality of the metal. I believe that bell founders were numerous in the 18th century, but from my regular reading of "The Ringing World, I have come to the conclusion that Rudhall's must have been one of the longest and most important founders of their day, as I read mention of Rudhall bells in all parts of Britain.
Founding a ring of bells must have been a big job in those days, and raising and setting them into their aak frames a tricky operation, but it is also interesting to reflect on the problems of transport, as in some cases the destination of the bells was several hundreds of miles from the foundry, and the only means of transport available, presumably, was horses and wagons!

I would be interested to learn more of the history and activities of the firm of Rudhall -Yours truly,
A. J. GOULD.

Portishead, Bristol.
Note.-River or canal transport was used extensively by Rudhall's and other bell founders.-Ed.

GREAT RISSINGTON BELLS

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. L. C. Dowdeswell's letter concerning Great Rissington bells, as conductor of the peal there on April 13 th, I think I may speak for all the band when I say that had we been aware of the seemingly dangerous position of the tower and bells, the peal would not have been attempted.
Before starting for the peal we raised each bell separately and looked for signs of excessive movement in the wooden frame. As the frame seemed fairly sound we decided to attempt the peal, which was accomplished without any difficulty and with a 'first pealer' on the treble!
I trust that the magnificent six will not. when restored, have to wait another 200 -odd years before another peal is rung on them.-Yours sincerely,

MARTIN D. FELLOWS.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

A warm welcome was received at all towers visited. with an invitation to come again, when the Barnsley and District Society went to Southport for their outing on June 2 nd.

Before reaching Southport, there was ringing at Upholland, where Mr. Peter Ashcroft met the party. The visit to Christ Church. Southport. came after lunch, and this was followed by Chnist Churah, Aughton (welcomed by Mr. Eric Roughley), and All Saints', Rainford (Mr D R. Jones).
Thanks go to Mr. Eric Stainrod and Mr. Trevor Tarbatt, the organisers, and to incumbents and those who met the party, and finajly Mr. Eric Stainrod, our driver. If you require FREE advice regarding your

MAYING IN DISTANT BELFRIES

BOLSOVER RINGERS VISIT LAKELAND
For the annual outing of the Bolsover Parish Church ringers and friends an May 18th/19th ,the programme was more ambitious than usual. A party of 25 , including ringers from Chesterfield, Creswell and the everpresent Jafus and his wife, from Darley Dale, left Bolsover on Friday evening and the night was spent at the Grand Hotel, Grange-over-Sands. Unfortunately the weather was over-sands. not too kind, but after a leisurely breakfast the party left at $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Saturday for a tour of the Lake District. The suggestions for the tour and the arrangements for ringing had been very kindly undertaken by Mr. Nicholas Newby, of Ulverston, and as he and his wife joined the party for the day their help as guides was invaluable
At the first tower, Kendal, the ten bells were raised in pead and although the ringing of Royal was not too good a reasonable standard was achieved on the back eight. Methods rung were Little Bob Royal, Kent Royal and Dauble Norwich, Superlative Surprise Major and Stedman Triples.
The heavy eight at Ambleside presented some difficulty to those accustomed to light bells and the standard of striking suffered in consequence. Reasonable courses of Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, but a touch of Stedman Triples was unsuccessful. Lunch was taken at a cafe in Ambleside, and it was fortunate that a puncture in the front wheel of the coach was discovered in time for a replacement to be made during the break for lunch.
A run through delightful country around Coniston Water was marred by inclement weather, but some excellent ringing was enjoyed on the light eight at Broughton-inFurness. A touch of Double Norwich, called by Stanley Slaney, was very well struck and the ringers were afterward complimented by Jafus on their performance. Other methods rung were Little Bob Major. Kent Treble Bob Major and Yorkshire Surprise Major.

The last tower visited was Dalton-in-Furness and the visitors were very impressed by the newly decorated ringing room. Mr. Newby helped to raise the bells and joined in wellstruck touches of Little Bob Royal and Stedman Triples. A course of Superlative Surprise Major was rung on the back eight.

Tea had been arranged at the Old Minl cafe, on the coast at Bardsea, and as Mr. Newby and his wife had to leave early Mr. Cooper thanked them. on behalf of the party, for ail their help in the organisation.

A DAY IN ESSEX

Who they were we know not, but we have had a very nicely typed report of an outing in Essex on May 19th. Perhaps some of our readers might get a clue from the fact that at $7.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. they "dashed" to pick up an essential member at Enfield Towers visited were: Danbury. Maldon. Tolleshunt D'Arcy, Colchester St. Leonard's and St. Peter's. Earl's Colne. Halstead. Braintree and Black Notley.
The day's repertoire included Bob Major and Minor, Oxford and Kent T.B.. Oxford Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, one ccurse of Grandsire Major. Cambridge Surprise iMinor and Spliced Doubles.

A DEVON OUTING

A small number of South Devon enthusiasts held a very successful half-day outing in the Teign Valley on May 26th. The first tower was Trusham, where there is a short draught and where one felt that the bells were not rung very frequently. From here the party moved to Christow, where the bells were much enjoyed: also, the deathwatch beetle was much in evidence in the church. Dunsford's bells seemed more difficult to handle after the previous tower. Tea was enjoyed at the Steps Bridge cafe, a charming little spot.
A pleasant hour was spent at Ashton, and one of the company was thrilled to have the opportunity to take part in a six-score of Stedman Doubles. Incidentally, it was the first visit to this district for most of the party, which enhanced the enjoyment of the afternoon.

HOLBEACH, LINCS
Holbeach ringers for their second annual outing on May 26th, had John Taylor's bell foundry as their first objective; Mr. Harrison gave an interesting commentary as he conducted the party through the foundry. Our young ringers acquitted themselves well on the foundry bells and three Holbeach ringers were pleased to ning their first touch of Plain Bob Royal.

During one touch, one of the band made a pretence at taking a snack from the shelf fixed to the wall and it was good to be reminded that we were standing where some of our more illustrious fellow ringers have stood in their conrageous attempts to ning the extent of Major. An excellent lunch concluded the visit to Loughborough.

The tour continued across the meadow to St. John's Church, Stanford-on-Soar, and then o. to St. Mary's, Wymeswold. We had a short stay at Nottingham for tea and afterwards visited the Churches of St. Mary at Radcliffe-on-Trent and Orston. The ninging at all these beautiful churches was most enjoyabl: and numerous mehods were rung. including Cambridge Major, Stedman Triples, London S. Minor and a touch of Spliced Minor.

Homeward bound we called at Donington for much wanted refreshment and arrived at Holbeach Church at 11 p.m. Our thanks to a' 1 who contributed to this journey of distinction.

BARKING, SUFFOLK

Mr. Robert E. Lester provided Barking and distniot ringers with an excellent outing on May 26 th, when he led them into Lincolnshire. The light eight in the Saxon and Norman Church at Bicker proved a little awkward to some of the learners, who were trained on the heavy five at Mendlesham. At the neigh bouring village of Swineshead, the bells were much heavier, but the lack of guides set back the learners. Compensation followed immediately with a good lunch at a local tavern.

Before tea in Sleaford, the excellent eight at Heckington were enjoyed. Evening ringing was at Bilkingborough and Bourne, but before reaching the latter town blue lines were drawn and six of the company learned Bourne Surprise. This was rung at Bourne and proved to be one of the best struck touches of the day Our best thanks to Mr. Robert Lester.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT

Always a popular event in Bedfordshire, the annual outing of the Biggleswade District rings this year was no exception.

Mr. L. H. Bywaters chose Buckinghamshire and Berkshire for the scene of operations, and early on May 12 th the party of about 40 set out for Chalfont St. Giles, the first tower, and the fine ring of six was soon going merrily.
The countryside, with cherry blossom coming out in great profusion. looked most attractive, and was much admired. The next stop was at Stoke Poges, and some goour ringing was enjoyed on the splendid ring of eight.
After lunch at Windsor, the party headed for Winkfield, where the Church of St. Mary embraces many periods of architecture and its roof, supported by massive wood pillars, was very impressive. The six bells impressed $t 00$, especially the second, which lost its clapper in the course of ringing up! This was soon replaced and ringing resumed.
At Wokingham, singing took place at St Paul's. before tea, and afterwards at All Saints', and the town is fortunate to possess two such fine octaves. Twyford's very easygoing eight provided a fitting end to a good day's ringing.
Grateful thanks are offered to incumbents, to local ringers, who welcomed us, and to Mr

BALDOCK. HERTS

A dull, cold day does not seem ideal for an outing to Kent, but the Baldock ringers and friends were determined to enjoy themselves on May 26th. We arrived in good time at SS. Peter & Paul's. Bromley, to meet old friends Mr. R. T. Newman and his family, who joined the party. The church was rebuilt after being bombed, and the parchment signed by the Queen (then Princess) at the rededication is displayed. After ringing to suit all tastes, from sounds to Bristol, we left this delightful i6 cwt. octave reluctantly and went to its red brick neighbour. St. Luke's, Bromley Common. The eight bells here are pleasant, if not outsianding, in their swaying tower. Lunch was at the Greyhound, Bromley, which can be recommended.

On to Westerham, with a ground floor ning in an unusual and attractive tower, which has a splendid wooden spiral staircase up to the eight bells. Another famous signature is displayed here. an extract from the baptismal registers, showing Sir Winston Churchill's signature. At Wrotham a wedding had been arranged to start at 3.30 , leaving only a quarter of an hour of ringing before and not much longer after the ceremony. This was unfor tunate as the bells are well worth a visit.

Maidstone's grey stone buildings were handsome. particularly All Saints' Church, which stands high on the banks of the River Medway After ringing the ten bells there we went on to the aptly named Church of St. Peter on the Hill over the River. Aylesford. We clembed a wooden spiral staircase to get to the ropes and finished a satisfactory day's ringing on this octave.
Our thanks are due to Mr. E. G. Buck, who arranged the outing, those who gave us permission to ring and those who welcomed us at their towers

DOWN "LONG O" WE  or WESTWARD THE WAGONS!

On the last Saturday in May. Upton (Torquay) ringers went on their annual outing. across the water, into Cornwall.
Crossing Dartmoor in the morning sunlight, Tavistock was reached for coffee. After : brief halt in this the town of Franky Drake, the 'frontier' was crossed at Gunnislake to make the first ringing stop at Probus, with its noble tower. A beautiful eight, but disconcerting to find that reasonably new ropes had been adjusted for length by the rather novel method of simply cutting off the ends The tenor man was practically on his knees to rise '! However, this could not detract from the 'go' and music of the bells themselves as they went well to call changes.
After lunch in Truro, and having fought shy ' of the Cathedraj bells, because of their weight. Kenwyn Parish Church was visitedembowered in chestnuts and copper beeches in their early summer glory. Here was another satisfying ring and just Upton's 'weight.' to which, it as hoped. justice was done.
The homeward way took the party to St. Austell's splended eight, voted by some to be the best of the day. Mr. Lander, the local captain. awaited the visitors to give them a warm welcome. In none of the day's lowers was the "rise" up to standard, but, once the feel ' of the bells was achieved, the striking was. at times. quite passable!
Then. after an hour's ringing, 'twas 'home. James. and don't spare the horses." except that Ivybridge's fish and chips proved irresistrble to some-and the 'London' to others!

TOTTERNHOE, BEDS

A very enjoyable day's ringing among six-bell cowers in South Warwickshire was held by Totternhoe ringers and friends on May 26th.
Towers visited were Harbury Whitnash, Snitterfield, Wootton Wawen. Aston Cantlow and Quinton. Lunch was taken at Warwick. and tea at Great Alne Village Hall. Ringing included London, Cambridge. Norwich, Netherseale. Oxford, Plain and Little Bob, Stedman and Grandsire.
The organiser. Mr. J. Scott, is thanked for his successful planning, and also the incumbems and ringers who welcomed the party.

DBITUARY

MR. H. J. HOBBS

For more than 50 years a ringer at Slimbridge, Glos, and for most of that time captain, Mr. Harold Jesse Hobbs, of 2, Council Houses. Moor End, Slimbridge, died o7 May 30th, aged 71.

Mr. Hobbs had done much for bell ninging in the Wotton Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and his services were acknowledged last April, when he was made a vice-president of the Association. At the time of his death, he was organising an appeal to raise $£ 500$ for the rehanging of the six bells at Slimbridge.

Harold's soft voice and unassuming manner gained him friends well beyond the boundaries of his small parish, and. too, outside the county. His heart was in bell ringing, for practically every week-end he and his wife were to be seen at Branch meetings. His chief interest was in the training of young folk. He had a number of peals to his credit, but that was not his main aim in life. His desire was to help people and this he did to the full. For a number of years he was Ringing Master and Management Committee sepresentative of the Wotton Branch.

Bellringers from all over Gloucestershire were present to pay their respects at the funeral service, at Slimbridge Parish Church on June 5th. The Rector (Canon W. H. Thomas) officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. A. Peel (Tontworth) and the Rev. W. F. Burlton (Cromhall), chairman of the Wotton Branch.

Among those present were: Mr. C. Rouse (general secretary), Mr. B. T. Cooper (Wotton Branch secretary), Mr. S. T. Price (Stroud Branch secretary) and representatives of the North Forest and Gloucester Branches.

Donations in lieu of flowers were to be sent to the Rector of Slimbridge for the church bell rehanging fund.

THE LATE MR. J. M. BAILEY'S PEALS

The quarter peal recorded this week at St. Laurence's Church, Reading, was a compliment to Mrs. Doris Catherall and Mr. W Lampton, who have served the church and tower faithfully for over 40 years and are, fortunately, looking and feeling well enough to go on for many more years. It was also a great day for Miss Florence Gonge, who, after many attempts, scored her first quarter.
We are asked to state that Skipton tenor woighs 22 cwt ., and not 25 cwt . as inadvertently stated on page 362 .
They get a move on in Devon! From ' North Devon Journal-Herald,' May 31st: The bells of Westleigh Parish Church were rung for the first time since being rehung 0.1 Monday.

Gerald McIlhone, of Warborough, Oxon, will remember his first quarter of Stedman rung at Blewbury on June 2nd. The village schoolmaster, who is compiling a record of various aspects of the life of the village, spent the first 20 minutes dodging in and out of the ropes taking photographs of the ringers in action. Despite this, we hear that Gerald rang faulitessly.

Although the bells of St. Mary the Virgin, Marlborough, were rehung in 1922, the quarter peal rung on June 3rd for Confirmation is believed locally to be the first on the bells. A peal was rung in 1930. Ringing his first quarter was R. A. G. Inglis, of Marlborough College. It is hoped that he is the forerunner of other boys from the college who aie attending the belfry.
The bells of St. John of Jerusalem. South Hackney, were rung by young ringers from Si. Mary's, Lewjsham, and St. John's, Deptford, on June 1st, when Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, opened the new Toc H, Mark III, Prideaux House, which is opposite the church. The ringers were: Katherine Guy (16), Barbara Leigh (I6), P. Ebswonth, M. Ferrier and June Mead (St. Mary's, Lewisham), and T. A. Easterby (tower captain), Christine Barron (16), Anne Spooner (16), Janet Foster (16) and Barry Hollis (St. John's, Deptford).

BELFRY GOSSIP

 100 th peal on the bells at Apsley End, Herts, had been delayed since Christmas, so that various reasons for attempting it have slipped by. It should be recorded that it was a farewell peal to Rev. J. H. Dominey; welcome to two grandsons for the ringer of the treble; welcome to Deborah, daughter of R. E. and Daphne Sheppard, and another grand-daughter for A. V. Good. The first peal on the bells was rung on March 15 th. 1902, second on December 8 th, 1923,50 th on November 23 rd, 1950. The conductor of the 100 th (Mr. Walter Ayre) has rung in 94 (conducted 83), A. V. Good in 86.Mr. Norman Chaddock was recently appointed people's warden of Rotherham Parish Church.

The band who rang in the peal at Stakeclimsland Cornwall, tender their sincere thanks to the Rector and to Mr. W. J. Rowe (captain of ringers) for having all in readiness.

At Heckington, Lincs, there is a notice on the peal hoard: 'Peal ringing is limited to one successful attempt per year. And they are an excellent ootave, too.
Mr. Frank J. Hazzard, for whose 70th birthday a quarter peal was rung at Templecombe. has been responsible for maintaining regular fortnightly Surprise practices in the Templecombe area for the last 16 years or so. Though handicapped by blindness, his enthusiasm and determination to master the intricacies of method ringing have been a wonderful example, and those who have benefited from his help are indeed grateful.
In 'The New Strand; David Boyce writes about our art in lighter vein, under the heading 'Bells are so Bellicose.' This is one of his comments: "Nowadays more and more girls are taking up the campanologists' art, and belles are now as common in the belfry as bats. This is because girls have been told that bell ringing is good for their figure. Bells are fine bust developers.' The illustrations by Alex Noel Watson are typical of someone who has never been in a belfry.

ALL SAINTS', ROTHERHAM,
one of the famous ringing towers of the country, has for nearly four years been shrouded in scaffolding while repairs, costing about $£ 10.000$. have been undertaken to the time-ravaged stonework. Now, except for one small section, the scaffolding has been removed, thus revealing a spire of great beauty.

Churchwarden Norman Chaddock tells us that about one-third of the surface stone was removed from the south-west face of the tower up to a depth of 18 inches. All the arches above the eight lourres have been replaced. Inside, the lourres have been bricked up to the spring of the arches, above which shutters have been fixed. These can be closed by the operation of a cable in the ringing chamber, which produces sound control to any required degree.

During the work there has been no interference with regular service ringing or practices.

WEEK-END IN SOMERSET

Arranged by 'Margaret,' four carloads of
18th for a week end in Somerset. As last year, 18th for a week-end in Somerset. As last year, the headquarters were the King's Head, Wells. Saturday mornjng's ringing was at Street, Wilton, Wellingion and Milverton, and at the last named tower 'Brigand' Young joined the pary and conducted them to his delightful home at Waterrow for Junch.
Chipstable's light six sounded out of tune, and the long draught at old Cleeve did not improve the striking Some Minor methods were rung on the heavy six at Stogumber and the day's ringing was rounded Stogumber and the day off at Nether Stowey.
Sunday dawned bright and sunny. The Iocal ringers were joinod at St. Cuthbert's, the afternoon the 10 bells at the Cathedral were kept going for an hour to Grandsire. Stedman and Cambridge. again with the aid of the locals. Other ringing followed at. Heytesbury. Croscombe ('must he the noisest six in England ) and Great Wishford. Over supper at Salisbury the accounts were settled before the journey hack 10 London.
Our thanks are due to Margaret, the drivers,
B. M.

SOMETHING NEW

TTHERE is an attraction about something new. The 1962 Central Council meeting, held at Cardiff, was the first meeting to be held in the Principality of Wales. To most of the representatives it was a new experience; they returned to their homes with a new conception of the Capital of Wales, the friendliness of its people, the beauty of its bells and to some the singing of a Welsh choir amid its own surroundings. There was also Welsh hospitality to be remembered. The Llandaff and Monmouth Association were delightful hosts, and the City Council of Cardiff and the Bishop of Llandaff were equally co-operative. How 'Newport' Jones would have rejoiced to have seen this day! The stage was all set at the Council meeting in 1939 for a visit to Wales at Whitsun. 1940, but it was not to be. Long may the horizon be untroubled by war clouds.

Some might say that there was nothing of a special character in the business transacted in the City Hall of Cardiff to call for comment and that the proceedings were largely a matter of tidying up outstanding matters. But to those who watch the trend of events and study the reports there were significant pointers as to the state of the Exercise and ringing generally. The first was the amazing increase in the sales of Central Council publications-of no less than 25 per cent. above those of last year, and that constituted a record. It can be safely asserted that where there is good leadership in a belfry and also co-operation with the clergy, recruitment is good. The type of boy or girl attracted to ringing is now of a more studious nature; they are accustomed in life to a text book. and they turn naturally to ringing literature when once their enthusiasm is kindled. Wisely, the officers of the Council are endeavouring to meet this demand. Since last Whitsun printing bills amounting to $£ 770$ have been paid, of which over $£ 500$ has been incurred this year. This indicates a need of a liquidity of the resources of the Council.

Questions were asked, and rightly so, concerning the margin of profit on the Publications Account. A profit of $£ 38$ for a record year is inadequate, especially when it is remembered that the arduous job of seeing to the dispatch of thousands of copies is entirely honorary. Because of the high losses arising from books standing on the shelves, booksellers work on a gross profit of at least $33 \frac{1}{3}$ per cent. Library sales can only meet a part of the big printing bills. Fortunately the Council now has resources in another direction that it can usefully employ. The publications department must expand and be ready to meet the demand of the age; there must be no hold-up in the reprinting of popular books, especially those catering for beginners. The Council have been most generously served by Mr. and Mrs. Speed, who have dealt with the heavy job of distribution.

Another satisfactory pointer as to the degree of enthusiasm of young entrants was that 591 people rang their first peal last year, and another 87 . their first as conductor. A major hurdle has been surmounted when a first peal has been rung. It is to those who have rung peals or in some cases quarter peals that the Exercise looks for its proficiency or the maintenance of standards. These are the people that 'The Ringing World' Committee look to to ensure that the circulation of the journal is progressive the losses by death and marriage made good. The ringer who confines his activities to Sunday ringing and an occasional practice, and has no desire to advance beyond Doubles or to go to meetings, cares nothing for the Central Council, 'The Ringing World,' or even his own Guild. It is to be regretted that each Association carries a percentage of such dead wood. 'The Ringing World ' meets them at times; they are subscribers for a quarter and then drop the paper. Fortunately the majority of our readers find more than a casual interest in our columns, and are almost lifelong subscribers. To them the Exercise is real: they are the life blood of Guilds and Associations.
Back to Cardiff; the proceedings started on Sunday night with the showing of three films by Mr. A. J. M. Collins. of Vancouver. The film he had made, showing the training of a band of ringers from scratch, was very impressive. Films was a subject discussed at the Council meeting, and Mr. Collins' achievement as an amateur was indeed stimulating to those who dabble with cine-photography. Although the Rank Organisation film gave an insight into the casting of bells and tuning of handbells at the Whitechapel Foundry, and also members of the College Youths ringing at St. Paul's, the general opinion was that Mr. Collins had produced a better vehicle for interesting beginners. He deserved the commendations showered upon him.
There is an element of uncertainty as to the venue of the next Council meeting. The majority favoured Great Yarmouth as against London. The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow was visibly pleased at the vote. He is, however, unable to confirm as the civic authorities at Great Yarmouth have not yet been consulted: another organisation might have secured the honours. There are other conference centres in Norfolk including Norwich. which has a record of organised ringing of over 300 years. Failing Norfolk, the meeting will be in London.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S FIRST VISIT TO WALES

A WARM WELCOME TO CARDIFF FROM BISHOP AND LORD MAYOR - LIBRARY SALES UP 25 PER CENT. - GIFT OF RARE BOOK - 'RINGING WORLD' COMMITTEE REALLY HAPPY LIVE OR RECORDED BROADCASTS? - 591 FIRST PEALERS LAST YEAR - FILMS ON RINGING

It was a memorable day for ringing in Wales when, on Whit Tuesday, the president of the Central Council, Mr. Frederick Sharpe, was escorted by the Lord Mayor of Cardiff (Ald. Dr. C. E. Bence) to the platform of the City Hall for the third session of the 24th Council. The procession was representative: there was the Lord Bishop of Llandaff (Dr. Glyn Simon), the Vicar of Cardiff (Canon W. E. C. Thomas) and leading officials of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association of Change Ringers-Mr. T. Stevens. the Ringing Master; Mr. F. J. Hannington, the hon. secretary; and the Rev. lvor Richards, the hon, treasurer. Andi on the platform there were the Council's leading officers: Canon A. G. G. Thurlow (vice-president). Mr. E. A. Barnett (hon. secretary and treasurer), Mr. F. W. Perrens (hon. librarian) and Mrs. Barnett (assistant hon. secretary).

The proceedings opened with the Lord Mayor extending a warm welcome to Cardiff. 'For many of you," he said, 'it is your first visit ta Cardiff. You knew that its prosperity depended on coal, and 1 am sure many of you were surprised to find that it is a beautiful and clean city.'
He understood that bellringing was one of the oldest arts in the country. The Ancient Sociely of College Youths was founded in 1637 and had been going ever since. He was very pleased to learn that his own school had a team of bellringers; he felt sure that there was some pleasure in ringing apart from the hard work. The Lord Mayor concluded that he understood it was their first visit. In 1939 they decided to go to Cardiff, but the war intervened and the meeting was cancelled.

The Lord Bishop of Llandaff added his welcome on behalf of the Diocese of Llandaff and the Church in Wales. They had come to them in days of prosperity, and he hoped that the message of the bells would be one of peace. and that it would be more permanent than it seemed at times lately.

BISHOP'S SONS RINGERS

It was very encouraging to see the way bellringing was coming more and more to the fore, and more and more people, particularly the young, were taking to ringing. Both his sons the elder 16 - were ringers, and one a fanatical enthusiast. A handbell peal was rung at his house after church on Sunday. He looked in the room afterwards and there were four pairs of smiling eyes telling him that they had brought off the peal.
Of people unconnected with bellringing, some regarded the sound of bells as a call to church, but others regarded ringing as an unmitigated nuisance. He thought they had to exercise some consideration to the latter class as he knew of one town where ringing had ceased because of the objections of the residents to the harsh clashes going on.
The more they explained their art the more sympathy they would get because people were genuinely interested in any art that came from the past, and were prepared to support ringers when once the art was explained to them.
The Bishop concluded by saying how pleased he was to see so many of the Council at church that morning for the celebration of the Holy Communion. (There were 115 present.) He felt it would induce others to go to church if bellringers set them an example. 'A welcome to you all to Wales and a blessing on your work.
Another welcome came from Mr. T. Stevens. of Ebbw Vale. He hoped they had enjoyed their ringing and Welsh hospitality. Some of them had heard one of their choirs sing, and he would remind them that Wales was a land of song. At the opening of the Eisteddfod the

THE PRESIDENT

(Mr. FREDERICK SHARPE), whose wife is a Welsh lady, and he acknowledged the welcome in Welsh.
question was asked 'Is there peace?' and the answer was ' Yes.'
The president said he was particularly glad that during his term of office the Council had paid its first visit to Wales. He had a great liking for Wales, apart from the fact that he married a Welsh girl.
Bells were closely associated with the Celtic saints, and it was the custom to present every bishop with a handbell: in the 10th century they were supposed to be the means of performing miracles.

PERSONALITIES

The Llandaff and Monmouth Association was formed in 1893, largely though the efforts of Mr. Evan Davies. Great names came to his mind in connection with their Association. There was 'Newport' Jones, who was secretary for 46 years, and their present secretary, Mr. Hannington, had been in office for some 17 or 18 years, and the Association was well served with its officers, like the Rev. Ivor Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. King.
The year 1961 had been a memorable one Yor inging. There had been attempts on the extent. of Bob Major and the ringing of the record length of 13,440 Spliced Surprise Major in six methods. They had had many publications and there had been the jubilee issue of "The Ringing World and a tribute to their first editor. John Sparkes Goldsmith, with a pilgrimage to his grave and the attendance afterwards at a service in Guildford Cathedral. He would particularly tike to thank the Exercise Cor their excellent response to his appeal for a National Ringing Day to mark the enthronement of the 100th Archbishop of Canterbury.
The president concluded his speech in Welsh: - Dioich yn fawr am eich croeso I Cymru, am eich croeso 1 Caerdydd.' (Thank you very much indeed for the appreciative welcome to Wales, and in particular to Cardiff.)

A MEMENTO

As a memento of the Council's visit to Wales the Bishop of Llandaff presented the Council, on behalf of the Association, with a visitors book.
Thanking the Association, Mr. Sharpe said it was a very fitting gift, and the Council would have inscribed in the book the names of the visitors to their annual meetings. 'We shall always have memories of the City of Cardiff and the wonderful generosity of the people of Wales,' concluded the president.

REPRESENTATION IOF SOCIETIES

The business meeting opened with the repor of the hon. secretary as to representation of Societies and subscriptions
Mr. Barnett said 59 Associations were afffliated to the Council with 162 members. The Council also had 24 honorary and 8 life members, making a total of 194 . There were honorary and 2 representative vacancies. All subscriptions had heen paid.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP

The hon. secretary stated that for the election of a life member a two-thirds majority was necessary. The Standing Committee at their meeting the previous night expressed the opinion that the list of life members should not' be added to at the present time.
Mr. Brian G. Warwick nominated Mr. Shirley Burton as a life member, and mentioned his services in many directions towards the advancement of ringing. particularly in the field of composition.
The hon. secretary formally seconded.
The voting was 43 for and 42 against, and the motion was not carried.

HONORARY MEMBERS

On the proposition of Mr. F. E. Dukes the following retiring honorary members were reelected: Mrs. O. D. Barnett, Messrs. F. I. Hairs, C. K. Lewis, W. A. Osborn. A. J. Pitman and H. L. Roper.

CARTER RINGING MACHINE

Messrs. Douglas Hughes and F. E. Haynes were elected trustees of the Carter Ringing Machine.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

The minutes as published in 'The Ringing World ' of March 23rd. 1962, and circulated to members, were adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. Ayre.

Losses by Death include Noted Ringers

The Council stood while the list of those past and present members who had died since the last meeting was read, viz.: Messrs. R. D. Langford, F. C. Smale. A. F. Martin Stewart, Rev. E. V. Cox, Mr. A. Walker, Rev. E. G. Benson. Messrs. H. Baxter, S. F. Palmer, Rev. R. P. Farrow, Mr. G. W. Jeffs, Rev. J. Kingdon. Mr. A. B. Peck, the Earl of Shafteshury, Messrs. Alfred King and C. Willshire
Tributes being invited, Mr. J. F. Smallwood spoke first with a reference to Mr. Albert Walker, 'the grand little man.' At Stoke-onTrent last year they conferred on him the highest honour in their power of honorary life membership, and he was only sorry that Mr. Walker did not live long enough to enjoy it. He was a great man, who did more for ringing than most people know

Mr. Douglas Hughes said Mr. Walker was a great help to him in regard to the Carter Ringing Machine. John Carter promised Albert Walker that he would have the opportunity of ringing the first peal on the machine. To his (Mr. Hughes') lasting regret it was not possible.

Mr. F. Haynes spoke of a 30 years' association with Mr. Walker, and that he valued his membership of the Central Council, having attended 14 meetings.

Mr. A. D. Barker paid tributes to Mr. Martin Stewart, who was very kind to the Council, Preb. E. V. Cox, whom he first met in 1920, and was very kind to him and his wife on their honeymoon; Mr. S. Palmer, Mr. Alfred Peck -a worthy successor to Mr. Cockerell, Mr. Alfred King and the Earl of Shaftesbury.
Mr. W. F. Moreton, in a reference to Preb. E. G. Benson, mentioned his services to Cambridge University Guild, the Clerical Guild and the Hereford Diocesan Guild, of which he was a vice-president and secretary for 20 years.

Mr. P. I. Chapman referred to Mr. Geo Jeffs' services to the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, and described him as a born organiser. His remarks were endorsed by Mr. S. Foskett, who also mentioned Mr. Harry Baxter, who called the first peal for the Peterborough Guild after its formation in 1934. Mr. E. A. Barnett described Mr. Jeffs as among the best of secretaries.

Mr. Shirley Burton spoke of the loss to the Exercise by the passing of Mr. Ernest Morris. as a practical ringer, author and valued contrihutor to 'The Ringing World.'
Speaking of Preb. Cox, the Rev. J. G. M. Scott said his influence for over 50 years on the Guild of Devonshire Ringers they were only just beginning to learn. The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow mentioned Preb. Cox's work for the Guild of Clerical Ringers. Mr. B. Bartlett expressed the sympathy of the Devon Association and Mr. J. T. Barrett the Salisbury Diocesan Guild's.
Mr. W. G. Wilson called the Council's attention to the death of Mr. Albert Eldred and his work for 'The Ringing World.'
Mr. T. J. Lock said of Mr. S. Palmer: 'He was one of the gentlemen who gave me a very friendly welcome at my first Council meeting. Mr. G. Benfield spoke of Mr. Palmer's thoroughness in everything he did for the Yorkshire Association, and Mr. N. Chaddock acknow ledged his work for the Sheffield and District Society.

Mr. A. E. Rushton paid a tribute to Mr . Alfred King, who was 90 when he died.
Mr. A. R. Elkins paid a tribute to the Rev J. Kingdon, of the Chester Diocesan Guild

Non-routine Items Reported by Hon. Secretary

Mr. E. A. Barnett reported.
Among the non-routine items dealt with during the year, the following are worthy of note:

Dr. Fisher. As agreed last year, a letter of good wishes was sent to Dr. Fisher on his retirement: In his reply the Archbishop added an manuscript note. 'In thanking you I thank your Council also.' A donation of five guineas was made to his Retirement Presentation Fund.

Swedish Visitor. The programme arranged for Mr. A. V. Jakobson, from Stockholm, at the request of the British Council, was carried out in July. It included attendance at a ringing meeting, service ringing, a handbell ringing demonstration and a visit to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry.

Gramophone Record of Spliced Surprise on Handbells. The remaining copies have now been disposed of, and I would like to record my thanks to Mr. C. W. Woolley for assistance in arranging for its re-issue. It will be seen from the accounts that despite all efforts it has not been possible to obtain payment for several records sent to Australia.
'Symbolic Treatment of False Course Heads' Agreement was reached with Mr. Maurice Hodgson on the terms on which the Council would undertake the sale of this mathematical treatise, which is now available.

Noise Abatement Acr. Advice was given in response to one or two queries arising from this Act.

Bow Bells Re-opening. The Council was officially represented by the president at this ceremony. It will be recalled that five guineas was contributed to the fund.

For the tenth year Mr. W. G. Wilson and Miss C. L. Groves have typed and duplicated the report, and once again I record my gratitude to them.

Moving the adoption. Mr. E. A. Barnett said there was one rider he would like to add. He had to thank his wife for her help and his daughter who had helped with the typing. With regard to the gramophone records that had not: heen paid for, he had received a letter from Miss W. Nichols. of Sydney, stating that the money for two of the three records not paid for had been sent by' banker's draft and the matter was being taken up with the banks concerned.

Mr. P. A. Corby, in seconding, wished the secretary and the assistant secretary a very happy day on Wednesday, which would be the 20th anniversary of their wedding day.

Mr. N. Chaddock said he would like to express the Council's grateful thanks to Mr. Wilson for arranging for the duplicating of the minutes. He had done the work for ten years and was willing to continue.

The report was then adopted.

Sales of Publications show a 25 per cent. increase

The report of the hon. librarian stated that the sales of publications this year show an increase of 25 per cent. on last year's exceptionally high figure. The iwo new publications. 'Ringing for Service' and 'Compositions of Stedman Caters and Cinques.' are partly responsible for this increase, but it is most gratifying to see a record number of 'On Conducting sold during the year, and a marked increase in the sales of the 'Beginner's Handbook' and 'Change Ringing on Handbells.'

In addition to the two new publications there has been a reprint of the 'Doubles Methods.' which is still selling very well. and the 'Collection of Minor Methods' was in print at the end of the year and on sale in January, 1962. The revision of the 'Handbook on the Installation. Preservation and Repair of Bells' is now nearing completion, and the book will soon be printed.

The increased cost of postage this year is due to the increase in postal rates.

Our thanks are due to Mr. R. W. M. Clouston for a copy of 'The Church and Other Bells of Aberdeenshire' for the library, and to Mr. F. E. Dukes for copies of the 'Irish Bell News.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. B. Speed have again had a very busy year with the sales section of the library, yet have also found time to check proofs. Our most hearty thanks are due to them for the valuable work they are doing for the Exercise.

Mr. F. W. Perrens moved the adoption and stated that Mr. Speed was not able to be present
Seconding, Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward said the Council would be pleased to know that by now Mr. Speed's wife had presented him with another Speed. He felt members should realise the amount of work involved in running the library. They all appreciated what Mr. Perrens and Mr. and Mrs. Speed were doing.

Mr. Brian Warwick said under the will of the late Mr. Morris a number of books were bequeathed to the Council. Where should the books be sent?

The president: To the hon. librarian.

VALUABLE FIRST COPY

Mr. E. H. Lewis said it had been his intention that the Central Council should have the pick of any of his books that they wanted. He had brought four books along with him which he knew the Council did not possess.

The first and the most valuable, of which only three copies existed, was "Tintinnalogia," by Richard Duckworth, printed in 1668 . This was the lirst book in English on ringing. The atuthor, in a preface, said he had recently read a book written by a Dutchman in Latin. Of the three books one was on loan to the British Museum and another on loan to Cambridge University Library, both by Mr. Pearson, of Henley. Mr. Lewis asked that this book should never be sem out on loan.
The second was a book from Melbourne. Australia, containing a number of compositions of peals, mainly of Grandsire Triples, dated 1938. The third was Mr. Trollope's account of the College Youths, written prior to his book. It was typed, and was sent and dedicated to him. The last was a copy of the proceedings of the Royal Philosophical Society, containing an article written by Dr. Allen about bell tones
The president said there was a memorial to Richard Duckworth in the chancel of Steeple Aston Church, and there was in the parish Duckworth's Well. Duckworth was a close friend of Fabian Stedman. The Bodleian Library would very much like to get this copy. They had one of the 1671 edition It was a very valuable gift, and he thanked Mr. Lewis most sincerely.
Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson said he typed the manuscript of Trollope's 'College Youths.'

BEGINNERS' HANDBOOK SUPPLEMENT

 WANTEDMiss M. Cross moved that the Committee responsible for the preparation of the Beginners'. Handbook be reappointed and asked to consider whether on the next reprinting a supplement should be included dealing with methods of instruction
Mr. W. G. Wilson, in seconding, hoped that it would be done without increasing the price.
Mr. F. W. Perrens: I cannot say if this can he done without increasing the price. I think it would he hest for the Committee to decide whether they want this particular item to he added.
The amendment was put to the meeting and carried.

The secretary remarked that only last week he paid $£ 160$ for the reprinting of the Handhook.
Miss Cross: Have we permission to co-opt if necessary?
The chairman: Yes
Mr. F. W. Perrens urged the Committee that if they decided to add to the book to get on with the work at once. else it might be too late.

THE ROLL OF HONOUR

The hon. secretary reported that Mr. Harold Pitstow had intimated that he desired to resign the trusteeship of the Roll of Honour and that Mr. C. G. J. Watts, a member of the College Youths, who attended St. Paul's Cathedral each Sunday and furned over a page of the roll, be appointed. The Standing Committee endorsed this view, which was carried.

ENCOURAGING PROFIT ON 'THE RINGING WORLD

THE RINGING WORLD ${ }^{\circ}$ COMMITTEE
Mr. J. Frank Smallwood reported.
Your Committee is happy to be able to report a successful year. Circulation has not only been maintained but slightly increased.
Despite a 10 per cent. increase in printing costs, and higher postal rates, there is an encouraging profit balance. Due to the steps taken in increasing the selling price to 8d. the extra printing costs had been provided for The postal increase could not have been foreseen, but your Committee decided that it should not at present be passed on to postal subscribers.
The Golden Jubilee celebration took place at Guildford and was very well attended. A pil grimage to the grave of our founder. John $S$ Goidsmith. was made by a large and representative company. A wreath was placed on the grave by Mrs. F. I. Hairs on hehalf of your Committee, and handhells were rung. Evencong at the new Cathedral was attended by upwards of 200, and an enjoyable dinner and social was held in the evening. Your Committee is deeply indebted to Mr. C. W. Denyer for making the arrangements, and his help in carrying them out
A special issue of 'The Ringing World ' was well received. and great credit goes to the Editor. Mr. T. W. White, for a most excellent production.
During the year we have considerably increased the number of illustrations in the paper, and this seems to have been generally appreciated. We shall continue our efforts to make it more attractive and to give it a wider appeal.
Our sincere thanks are due to the Editor for his loyal and painstaking service : to his assistant ; to Mr. J. E. Jeater, our accountant: 10 all who have contributed matter for publication : to Mr. H. L. Roper for compiling the index : and finally to those who sent donations towards the cost of producing the paper.

Presenting the accounts, the hon. treasurer said the Publications Account showed that they had had an extremely good year. They had continued to issue and reprint publications. Since last Whitsun printing bills had amounted to $£ 770$, of which $£ 500$ would appear in next year's account. On the General Fund, which had been audited by Messrs. A. A. Hughes and H. N. Pitstow, the excess of income over expenditure of $£ 50$ included $£ 38$ profit on the Publications Account. The Clement Glenn Bequest Account had added $£ 23$ of interest. In 1957. $£ 400$ British Electrics $41 \%$ had been purchased for $£ 365$. These matured in 1967-69 and must be redeemed at par. On the General Fund Balance Sheet the $£ 423$ as a creditor to The Ringing World was an internal transaction. The reserves to the General Furid were not sufficiently large to pay these large printing expenses, and it was necessary to borrow some of 'The Ringing World' mpney.
Mr. N. Chaddock asked if there were any conditions attached to the Clement Glenn bequest.

The hon. secretary: No. the money was, bequeathed for such purposes as the Council may decide.

BELLS AND RINGING POPULAR TOPICS

Mr. EDGAR C. SHEPHERD
convener of the Literature and Press Committee, who wants all references to bells and ringing sent to him.

Report of the Literature and Press Committee:
We thave persuaded the large amount of newsparper and other published references to bells and hell ringing and we are most grateful to those who, year after year, keep us supplied with this information.
The matter received duning the ycar may be divided into three main sections-Informatory, Personal and Controversial-as well as some jtems of general interest.
In the Informative sphere, we find articles and notes published which endeavoured to give the general public some idea of what is involved in bell ringing. For instance, the G.E.C.'s publication 'Research Review' included an excellently written article by John Mayne under the heading 'Ring Out Wild Bells.' (This article has been reviewed in 'The Ringing World.') It is one of the best informed ever written and brings the reader from the first principles of bells and ringing. tells how they are rung and proceeds to change ringing. One can almosi become a change ringer on reading this discourse without ever actually learning how to handle a bell. In 'The Croydon Advertiser, a whole page was devoted to the bells of Croydon Parish Church and its ringers, with prominence given to Frederick E. Collins and photographs of the bells and ringers. There is a lengthy explanation of how changes are rung, and altogether the article is very instructive. A

Mr. Chaddock asked if the money could be used by the Sunday Service and Education Committee to sponsor a new publication or a film.

Mr. F. B. Lufkin seconded such usage.
On the chairman's suggestion it was decided to deal with the matter when the reoort of the Sunday Service Committee was received.

Mr. R. S. Anderson pointed out that there was a charge of $£ 20$ in the Publications Account for advertisements in The Ringing World: This was included some years back on a resolution of the Council. 'The Ringing World Committee now considered that the advertisements could be inserted free from January Ist. 1962. The Committee asked the librarian to make a close study of the selling prices of publications. They were entitled to make more than $£ 38$ profit on the turnover.
Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded.
The amendment to make no charge for the advertisements was carried, but there was a suhstantial vote against.

The accounts were then adopted.
well illustrated article in "The Daily Herald explained the facts behind Ringing the Changes '! It described and showed how a bell is rung and the various positions of the rope as the hell swings. There were notes on change ringing and some sound advice about afety in the belfry. Another Advertiser (Yorkshire) described the method of teaching a learner to handle a bell and then mentioned how changes are rung. The introduction to this article is about Rotherham Parish Church and its ten bells. Even 'The Times" considered an article, 'Begnner in a Bell Tower. well worth inclusion, in which it tells of an elderly man in the West Country learning to ring. It talks of 'Grandsires' and 'Stedman,' otherwise it is excellently written 'Ringing the Changes' by Christine Bradburn appeared in "The Lady, It described the arrangement of a bell tower and the mechanics of a bell and it said the only strength needed in ringing is strength of mind. Unfortunately, a rather patchy article was written for 'She entitled "The Object of the Exercise.
gave a large amount of general information about the Exercise and published at least two good photographs.

PERSONALITIES

Personalities' who received publicity included Frederick E. Collins, in the South Eastern Gas Board's House journal, 'SEGAS.' The article covered his ringing career and his present association with Croydon Pavish Church. A photograph was included showing the younger ringers there along with Mr. Collins. The 'milestone' reached by Ernest Morris in scoring his 2.000 ih peal resulted in a special commemorative pamphlet being produced. It gave an historical account of Ernest a list of the books he had written and recorded his more spectacular peals. The event did not pass unnoticed in the U.S.A., where the American Bell Association published a brochure called 'The Bell Tower' and devoted two of its pages to his career as a ringer. It described him as the world's most prolific writer of articles about bells. Mr. James R. Lawson. of 'Overtones.' dedicated his Easter Carillon concert at the Riverside Church. New York, to Mr. Morris and this was referred to in 'Overtones' itself. 'The Dublin Evening Mail' devoted much space to the (wo oldest ringers at Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin-Fred Scott and Billy Lynch-who have a total of over 110 years of ringing between them. 'Stroller' in 'The South Wales Echo' related the rincing and business career of one-armed Fred Hannington. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouthshire Association. Brief references were also made to Mr. and Mrs. David King, as well as to other members of the Association, who gave some intelligent information in an interview 0.1 ringing.

GREAT SALKELD PHOTOGRAPHS

At the meeting in Stoke-on-Trent on last Whit Tuesday we drew attention to the fact that private belfry 'rows' received publicity of aia unsavoury nature in the public Press. A long discussion took place in regard to these unwanted reports in general, and to "The Sunday Pictorial' photographs of ringing at Great Salkeld in particular. It was decided that the distasteful portrayal therein of the ringers might be brought to the notice of the Press Council. After careful consideration some correspondence with Mr. E. A. Barnett and, in view of the fact that numerous protests were made to the paper itself (some of which werepublished, the committee agreed that little real good would come of such a course. The publicity given in the Exercise and in the Council meeting will. we hope. prove to have been of value. if it reiterates and reinforces the need of great care in dealing with journalists and press photographers. We take the opportunity of recording the fact that the churchwarden of St . Cuthbert's. Great Salkeld, wrote to us expressing his great concern that such grossly distorted aspeots of bell ringing should have come from photographs taken in his church. The ringers, too, were very distressed.

Whilst on this theme, it is disturbing to abserve that the Press continues to make national capital out of Jocal difficulties. The dispute at Chudleigh, Devon. received wide publicity in 'The Sunday Despatch' and 'The, Evening Standard.' The sequel to this 'row' was the dissolution of the team of ringers, the banning of lady ringers from the tower and the re-formation of the team composed entirely of men, all because two women could not agree. 'The Daily Express' mentioned a protest to the Bishop by some 'cranks,' because it was alleged that carols were sung and the bells of Winslow Church, Bucks, were rung for the meeting of the fox hunt nearby. The Vicar, we are glad to note, said that the ringing was a coincidence and that in any case no one will stop them from ringing their bells when they want to.
A "welcome, peal was rung for the new Vicar of St. Mary's, Wabberton. Sussex, who showed his displeasure by prohibiting ringing and telling the conductor to stay away from the belfry, so relates 'The Sunday Despatch.' Warwickshire and Staffordshire have had their share of unpopularity. In 'The Birmingham Mail a local resident protested in a letter about the ringing of the Cathedral bells on Thursdays. This was followed by an encourag ing reply which made some complimentary remarks about this ring of bells. A happy solution was reached, according to 'The Birmingham Post ' to some abjections from several residents about the noise from the bells of Stretton Parish Church. Burton-onTrent. The local Council was asked to take action under the Noise Abatement Act. The complaint was amicably solved by the fitting of baffles to the openings in the tower. Some letters of protest about the ringing at Knowle $0: 1$ Thursdays and Saturdays were published in 'The Solihull News.'

BOW BELLS AGAIN

On a wider plane in the general sense some intelkgent and interesting articles appeared. 'The Guardian,' in its article on 'Ringing the Changes at Norbury: refers to the variety of trades and professions to be found in the belfry. It was an intelligent piece of lay observation and jt deprecated synthetic ringing. 'The Irish Times' magazine page included an essay called. The Sound of Bow Bells' which dealt with Cookney London and the association of the famous bells with the City. The author concludes on an encouraging note- Cockney has left its mark on the speech of the people who have no trace of true Cockney vigour, people who were born far outside the small orbit of the genuine, nonelectronic bronze and clapper. Bow Bells. Bow Bells were mentioned. too. in an article on 'The Magic of Bells' which was published in "The Safe Driver.' The author recalls his visit to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, where he saw these bells.

The dedication and opening of Bow Bells were widely covered by the Press, throughout these islands. 'Shell-B.P. News' had five pages, excellently coloured, all devoted to bells. They showed bells ringing, Big Ben and Westminster, clock and bells of St. Dunstan-in-the-West. Ernest Oliver with handbells in the Whitechapel Bell Foundry and ringers Standing-to " at Great Amwell. Herts. A whole page of 'The Cambridge Daily News" was devoted to 'Bell Ringing.' It said: 'Bell, ringing helps ringers to stay young and fit.' Ii dealt with the older ringers of the Ely Diocese and mentioned Stedman's association with Cambridge. The article went on to discuss bells in general and those of Cambridge in particular, and it was an outstanding account of local interest. "The Drogheda Independent' in, a reference to 'Ringing in the New Yeas' gave a lengthy account of the history of bells, with special mention of the Loughborough Bell Foundry.

Brian Price's ringing machine received publicity in "The Western Standard' under the title of 'Electronics reach the Belfry,' in which it was shown and described. It is very pleasing to note that the machine is not intended to supplant church bells, but is a device for personal pleasure. 'The Observer's' article 'Under the Sound of Bells' was cool and calculating. There was a reference to Walter Ауге.

THIE DEVIL'S ROCK

Some references which ringers would regard as amusing had publicity. 'The Daily Express,' for example, mentioned an advertisement for bell ringers from a Rector, telling how to get the He-man look. We wonder what impressions prospective lady ringers would get on reading such matter! The same paper also contained a note to the effect that the Vicar of Shebbear, Devon, was concerned because there are only four ringers in the village. There is an ancient custom there of turning the Devil's Rock, which must be performed by six bell ringers. The ringers ring a discordant peal before the ceremony ring a discordant peal betore and the amusing side we note that 'The Clanger,' a cartoon book of ringers for ringers by a ringer, was published during the year.

There does not appear to be any slackening in the mention of bells and bell singing in the Press. and this is encouraging. If such publicity hel.ps to create practical interest in ringing it must ibe all to the good; but we would urge those in belfries to keep their disputes out of the Press and to give, instead, more material that will engender goodwill towards our art and perhaps gain some who would otherwise not become bell ringers.
The following publications came to our notice during the year: 'Overtones,' "The Belfry, 'The Bellringer's Diary,' 'The Irish Bell News.' 'The, Ringing Towers.' 'The Ringer's Magazine.' Edgar C. Fhepherd Ringer's Magazine.' - Edgar C. Shepherd
(convener), Fred E. Dukes.
Mr. Edgar Shepherd moved the adoption of the report.
Mr. F. E. Dukes seconded, and the report was adopted.

LATE NEWS

Mr. Russell Young and ten boys from Groton School. Mass. U.S.A. arrive in this country today (Friday). They will be attending the Oxford Guild Festival and are planning a week's ringang in the Winchester area from Julv 7th.
The eight bells at Groton are being recast into a ring of ten at the Whitechapel Foundry and the boys are hoping to see the recasting of the tenor. They will be staying near Hillingdon and Stoke Poges. and letters can be addressed to Mr. W. H. Coles. 92. Harlington Road. Hillingdon.

BIOGRAPHIES WANTED

The report of the Biographies Committee stated:

Our records show that throughout the 60 years of the Council's existence 797 persons have been elected to membership, of whom 416 are know to be deceased. Since we also know that 345 persons are still living these figures show that there are 36 persons of whom, for a variety of reasons (but not for want of trying on this committee's part), nothing is known except their names, the Association they represented and the years of their membership.

Some names have been circulated in earlier sepon's and another 'short list' is given below in the hope that some member now present may be able to give some details regarding them. All served the Council before the Biographies Committee was formed and all were in their day active in ringing circles and attended meetings of the Council: R. Binns, Leeds and District Association, 18971899 ; J. Norbury, Chester Diocesan Guild, 1909-1935 (intermittently) ; J. C. Pollard, Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, 1932-1938; H. Parker, Chesier Diocesan Guild. 1936-1938; Rev. R. L. Twells, Ely Diocesan Association, 1906-1908.
The report mentions the deaths of members -already reported to the Council-and continues.

A letter was posted in December, 1961, to Mr. Charles Willshire, who was then the oldest past member of the Council. offering him our best wishes both for Christmas and for his birthday, which occurred on January 8th. Mr. Willshire was born in 1866, so was 95 this year. Also sent to him were same jtems of interest concerning Guildford. where, with his family, he lived trom 1895 till 1913 when they moved to Canada.

Photographs only are required for the completion of records of the following past members: T. G. Bartlett, E. W. Biffen, A. E. Coles, J. G. Buchanan, H. Dew, H. Fairclough. Rev. C. W. H. Griffiths. F. Preacay. S. F. C. Saker. R. G. Knowles, W. Walmsley and J: Maddock. These photographs are believed to exist and present day members of Societies concerned are asked to investigate the possibiliy of obtaining them.

The report again acknowledges the help received from many, both of the Council and outside it, in the collection of information and in obtaining loans of rhotographs.-A. C. Hazelden (convener).

Mr. A. C. Hazelden, who moved the adoption, said of 52 forms handed out in respect of new members who joined in 1960, only 18 had been returned with photographs.
Mr. John Willis, seconding. said this year they had sot been able to write up all the forms submitted. A young man of the Kent Association was now helping with the work.

The honorary secretary: The Standing Committee recommend the adcption of the report and ask if any member has any communication to make relating to the committee to send it to Mr. A. C. Hazelden, 109, Grange Road. Guildford.

Mr. Harry Poyner said he preferred to write h:s own biography than leave it to the committee.

The report was adopted

Greater Use of Bells Wanted in Church Broadcasts

The report of the Broadcasting and Television Committee stated:
From Northern Ireland we are able to report that during the year the bells from some of the towers were broadcast prior to services, but again the time allowed was all too short. In ane case, due to some difficulty, the B.B.C. after asking the ringers to turn up, were unable to broadcast the bells. Lurgan ringers broke new ground this year by appearing on B.B.C. Television, the bells being rung as a prologue to a feature programme on the Borough of Lurgan. The camera shots were well taken and gave a good illustration of the ringing. St. Thomas, Belfast, also appeared on Ulster Television at New Year. Enniskillen represented Northern Ireland on Christmas Day and the general impression was of good striking. Unfortunately the distriot has lost a very good friend on the B.B.C. through the death of Robert Crossett. who was always trying to think of new ways and means to introduce bells into broadcasting. Radio Eireann featured bells from the ' Free State' on a number of occasions, including Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, as part of the New Year celebrations, when All Dublin assembled to welcome the New Year and hear the bells. St. Patrick's Cathedral bells were broadcast at the conclusion of the Nine Lessons and Carols service on Christmas Eve and St. George's, Dublin, were heard prior to a service in June. The catillon of Armagh Cathedral was broadcast as part of the St. Patrick's Day celebration.

ST. PETER'S, WOOLTON

In the North we have had the opportunity further to improve our relationship with the B.B.C., and some interesting correspondence has passed between us. We have raised a number of points regarding the possible wider use of church bells, not only prior to Sunday services, which occurs only occasionally, but in feature programmes and the like. We played our part in the choice of tower for the Christmas round-up and the resultant ringing from St. Peter's. Woolton was of a good standard. It is to be regretted that subsequent correspondence in "The Ringing World' from this tower was quite uncalled fo: and in extremely bad taste

Little of interest has occurred in the Scottish region during the year and as chimes greatly outnumber rings in Scotland, it is felt to be not unreasonable that a chime was jncluded in Christmas ringing this year
Nothing of interest from the braadcasting point. of view has occurred in the Midland Region with the exception of the Christmas ringing from Worcester Cathedral, which was of a very good standard and the band are to be congratulated on their performance
In the West our relationship with the B.B.C. continues to flourish and a number of items other than Sunday services have featured various rings of bells. In June in the programme 'Round-up' there was good call change ringing from Shirwell and an interview between the B.B.C.'s Peggy Archer and Tom Darch, the chairman of the Devon Association, who ted the four judges at the D.A. six-bell contest there. There was the usual dying art' argument. which was properly dealt with by Mr. Darch, who spoke so warmly and enthusiastically, and sounded so thoroughly nice with his rich, musical North Devon voice, that it is felt he did the Exercise a very goad service.

BRISTOL FESTIVAL

The Bristol Ringing Guilds Festival was covered on Network Three, when the Cathedral bells were heard and Mr. A. V. Bennett was interviewed. T.W.W. also covered the event and featured Emmanuel bells, which were both seen and heard ringing and Mr. Frank Hansford discussed the festival in an interview.

The John Betjeman programme 'The A.B.C of Churches' was rebroadcast and Aldbourne bells and ringers featured.
In November the B.B.C. telewision programme "View Point included an item entitled 'Ringing in the Quantocks and there was some good ringing and close-ups of the ringers convener of the Broadcasting and Television Commirtee. In the West our relationship with the B.B.C. continues to flourish.

Mr. H. J. SANGER,

There was some excellent pre-service ringing during the year, culminating in the bells of Bath Ahbey on Christmas morning. St. Mary Redcliffe bells were also heard in the Christmas morning round-up. The inclusion of these bells was particubarly desired by the B.B.C.

In Wales, Cowbridge came over very well, and in 'Hook-up' on April 1lth Mr. Arthur Hoare's handbell band gave an excellent performance which included Grandsire Caters and has a finale 'The Bells of St. Mary's.' During the programme Mr. Hoare gave an interesting talk on bells and ringing in general.

A 15 MINUTE FEATURE

In the London Region two famous London rings have featured in radio and television programmes. In 'Here and Now' on I.T.V. St. Paul's bells and ringers were featured for 15 minutes. during which time the bells were heard ringing rounds. whilst on the screen appeared shots of the ringers and of parts of the Cathedral. John Philips demonstrated chiming on the middle six, and John Chilcott. Philip Chalk and John Rook were interview?d. On B.B.C. a radio programme covered the opening of the new ring at St. Mary-le-Bow. but unfortunately little ringing was beard. On television there were some excellent shots of the bells turning over and of some of the ringers. Some excellent rounds were theard.

The tower recommended for the Christmas Broadcast from this region was used by the B.B.C. and the result was an excellent performance.

In general we could wish that bells were used more often before servises in most regions. In the West we are very fairly dealt with and it would be a riatter of interest to know how much ringers do toward getting their bells included when it is known a service is to be broadcast. Where a band is well organised and its services are appreciated by the incumbent as being part of the service for which the bells are rung. there should be no trouble in getting the bells included when a broadcast is to take place. Direct action by ringers could well improve the situation.

Complaints have been received regarding the use of the Bow Bells Interval Signal, and in correspondence with the B.B.C. We have been assured that snatches of it are often used to fill in odd moments. We can only hope that our protest at the undesirable way in which it has been used of late will bring about an improvement.

12 BELLS AND MICROPHONES

The Christmas Broadcast was generally con sidered to be on a par with last year. The B.B.C. again asked our co-operation in the selection of towers in most regions, and we were very pleased to help. Owing to rather short notice we were unable to implement ou desire to have a wider seleotion of towers. but we again hope this may be possible next time. A point we have to bear in mind is that the B.B.C. have expressly stated that they have a preference for bells from places of historical or architectural interest. The placing of microphones when recordings are being made in busy lowns always presents a difficul problem for the engineers; both the 12-bell broadcasts this year suffered in this respect.
Our thanks are due to those who have given us assistance during the year, and to the one or two who have sent us information of broadcasts. We should appreciate more information from those concerned with feature broadcasts, giving full reports of those events. H. J. Sanger (convener N. Chaddock, J. T Dunwoody, G. E. Fearn, H. N. Pitstow, A. G. G. Thurlow, R. S. Wilson.

Mr. Harry Sanger moved the adoption of the report. He said during the year a number of things had happened and it was impossible to keep a striot check of everything. He asked those responsible for broadcasts to tell him about them.
Seconding. Mr. J. T. Dunwoody endorsed Mr. Sanger's plea

The honorary secretary: The Standing Committee recommended the adoption of the report and that Mr. D. Bayles be added to the committee. in place of $\mathbf{M r}$. N. Chaddozk, who wished to retire
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead asked where information should the sent to. It was eventually agreed that the address of conveners should b published with the reports
Mr. N. Chaddock also suggested "The Ringer's Dary' a point Mr. W. H. Viggers promised to consider.
The Rev. John Scott said in the Western Region the name of the captain of ringers was published when bells were broadcast in connection with services, with the names of clergy and organist. He would like to see it in other region reports

Mr. Sanger: That point has been the subjec: of correspondence.

The report was then adopted.

committee since it was formed. They were not like some people who could spend money before they received it. They had got a reserve by blood, sweat and toil over many years. They were trying to make the paper readable and attractive. So far as quarts peals were concerned they appreciated Mr Roper's remarks. There was no obligation to publish rhem. If they wanted their sons or daughters' engagement published they had to pay for it. That was what they were doing with quarter peals. They were not governed by any Government $2 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent guiding light. In the past they had cheap service, and now they were trying to give adequate reward for that service
Mr. J. H. Crampion asked when last the Editor had a rise.
The honorary secretary: I think I am right in saying approximately 12 months ago.
Mr. Crampion: I would like to move $£ 100$ The president: I think that is a matter o internal arrangement. Mr. White's salary Mr . D Beresford. comm:itee
Mr. D. Beresford: If the Editor's salary is a matter for the committee, surely the income of the paper is a matter for the committee and not the Council.
The final comment came from Mr. Small wood that the Publications Committee should consider the selling price of their publications

The report and accounts were then adopted.

Films on Ringing Wanted, but not by the Council

The report of the Education and Sunday Service Ringing Committee was sectionalised Appended is the report dealing with ringing:
Thorough investigations have been made into the possibilities of making a film about bell ringers and various aspects have been considered. All suggestions put forward by those responding to the Convener's invitation in 'The Ringing World' have heen followed up.

Three people made offers of personal assislance in producing a film. One offered services, aided by two ringing friends, in camera work and 16 mm . photography, but said he was not sure how much time he would have to spare due to studies. Another offered help with 8 mm . film and a tape recorder, and a third offered the loan of 'still' piotures of ringers in action from a project she is doing in photo-journalism.
Careful consideration of all relevant factors and advice offered leads to the conclusion that the suggested film should be in colour and with sound track in either 16 or 35 mm . film. A 35 mm . film would have to be produced professionaily and distributed commercially and the following are extracts of replies to inquiries made of two different reputable commercial film companies, one in London and the other in the Midlands.
(1) 'Professional production of a 20 minutes' film in colour, covering the sort of aspects you mention would be likely to cost about $£ 4,000$, of which $£ 2,000$ to $£ 3,000$ might be recovered over a period of years. A 16 mm . film would be a little cheaper, but would produce only a few hundred pounds from library fees.
(2) 'Films produced by private sponsors rarely achieve cinema distribution, except where the sponsor pays the distributor for gelting the film shown-a 20 minutes' sound, film may cost anything from $£ 300$ to $£ 4,000$. The above abviously rules out this method of having a film produced so far as the Central Council is concerned, so efforts were made 10 interest the following bodies in the production or distribution of a film on bell ringing. Their responses are also indicated. When approaching them brief details were given of the various aspects from which they could select materials for such a film. It was also indicated that the Central Council could help in many ways.
The Central Office of Information. The Crown Film Unit and The Central Film Library. Inquiries to all three of these organisations with a view to getting them to include a film on bell ringing in their series - Our Glorious Heritago' have failed to produce a reply, although a oheck has been made 0.1 the corsectness of the addresses to which te Convener wrote and no letter as been returned to him as being incorrectly addressed.
A very courteous roply was received from Rank Film Industries, pointing out that their - Looking at Life' series included a 10 minute film on 'Ringing the Changes' which received general showing about 18 months previously in their Weekly Magazine programme. black and white 16 mm . version of this film. which covers many of the desired aspects. is available on loan for 10 s. from the G.B. Film Library, 1, Aintree Road. Perivale. Middlesex. Its locations are Loughborough. Hastings, Whitechapel and St. Paul's Cathedral.

The producer of 'Ringing the Changes doubts whether they would want to return to the subject, at least for a considerable time. in view of the specialised nature of the subject.

Granady T.V. Network and the B.B.C. T.V. Department have been approached and both have formally acknowledged receipt of the letter.
It is possible that the above inquiries may bear fruit at a later date, but for the time being no help appears to be forthcoming from these sources.
It is not recommended that the Council produce an 8 mm . film. There are many ringers with 8 mm . equipment capable of producing a useful 8 mm ., or 8 mm . plus tape convener of the Education and Sunday Service Ringing Committee, who investigated the making of films about ringing. recorded sound, film on bell ringing. Such films could be loaned to ringing friends or publicised in 'The Ringing World.' The Council could be approached by anyone who had made a satisfaclory film for help in getting copies made and in distributing such copies on loan. One correspondent referred to a nine minutes 8 mm . film on bell ringing with sound recorded on tupe made recently at Blackburn Cathedral.

Mr. NORMAN CHADDOCK

This committee recommends that though indiyidual efforts to produce a film on bell ringing are to be commended, it is not advisable that the Council or one of its committees should undertake this task.
An additional reason for this recommendation is that a 16 mm . sound film on bell ringing has just been produced in Canada by Mr. A. J. M. Collins. who will be presen at the Council meeting at Whitsuntide. Arrangements are progressing for Council members to see this film at Whitsuntide and to consider how it might be made available for general circulation.

Moving the adoption of the section relating to films. Mr. Norman Chaddock said he had a lot of replies, but only three of concrete assistance. One was from a gentleman at Harrow Weald of 16 mm . colour. The other offers were for taking with 16 mm . silent ofilm. Were committee recommended that whilst they commend the efforts of any individual they did not think the Council should take on the task as it was very expensive. The film they saw on Sunday evening would cost about $£ 300$ for an amateur alone.
After the report had heen seconded. Mr Garner-Hayward thought the committee should s:t out an outline of the kind of film they wanted. He had no doubt that a number of people could produce it.

Mr. Philip Gray: It seems. reading through the report. that there is a considerable amount of confusion as to the kind of film wansed. There may he some purpose in making an instructional film by amateurs. The other sort of film is commercial-for presenting ringing to the public and that can only be made one way and that is a professional organisation producing a film for television or as a company film. I think that ringing, being a fascinating subject, would made a good film
Mr. Chaddock said he had correspondence with two commercial companies-one in Birmingham the other in London-and neither of these felt ringing would warrant them making a film. As to Mr. Hayward's question as to what was wanted, it included historical, making of a bell and the place of ringing in the community.

Mr. R. S. Anderson said on Sunday evening they saw an excellent film in the form of a narrative and of general instruction. What they wanted to know was, was it possible to have an instructional film? He thought that to spend the Clement Glenn bequest on a film was not the wisest move.
Mr. G. Dodds: The film by Mr. Collins was the best we have had so far.
The seport was then adopted.

RESIDENTIAL COURSES

In 1961 the two courses with which members of this committee assisted were very successful, one at Knuston Hall, Northants, and one at Grantley Hall, Yorkshire. Both are being repeated this year and some 15 to 20 ringers who applied to go to Grantley Hall were disappointed to find all available places taken. The 1962 course at Grantley Hall is the third in succession. Jis popularity is indicated by the fact that many of those who applied to go in 1962 had attended the previous bell ringing courses held there.
The Durham and Newcastle Association approached us about residential week-end courses and we have since learned that one is being held in their area this year.
This report was moved by Mr. Chaddock, and seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs, and adopted without discussion.

THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES

There is scope for much useful work and propaganda here, and the best results will probably come from personal contacts on the lines followed during the last year, when Mr Lufkin twice visited St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, and gave talks on bell ringing, and visited Bishop's Callege, Cheshunt, Herts, and made arrangements to give talks during 1962. The students of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, also all visited the Cathedral for a practical demonstration. Mr. Lufkin was well received at both Colleges and presented each college library with a copy of:

1 The Central Council Handbook  2 Preservation of Bells  3 Ringing for Service  4 Elementary Change Ringing.

In each case these four books were bound together into one book to make a more attractive and permanent addition to the college libraries. Local Association officials were consulted first in each of these cases.
It is suggested that the Council authorise the presentation of the above four booklets where similar contact can be established. The cost would be about $£ 1$ for each set of books. Mr. F. B. Lufkin moved the adoption of the report and said there was much work that could be done. They required help and somebody who knew the way in. He asked for authority to spend money on binding books. He felt that useful work could be done in teachers' training colleges. In St. Augustine's College there were only six ordinands out of 40 and those people were going all over the world.
Mr. H. S. Roper said the way in was by nersonal approach. Valuable work was done at Cuddesdon College. where Miss Cross takes these ordinands out on a Saturday afternoon and gets them inoculated with the ringing bug. Oxford University Society was also helping at Ripon Hall and St. Stephen's.
Mr . Walter Ayre said there were three or four colleges where there were very good ringers training as ordinands.
Miss Cross said they were constantly at Cuddesdon. Next term there would be one there who had been Master of a University Society.
This section was then adopted.

591 Rang their First Peal in 1961

The repart of the Peal Analysis Committee for 1961 shows a slight reduction in the number of peals sung as compared with that for 1960.

The grand total of peals accepted is 2.810 with 2,653 on tower bells and 157 on hand bell, a drop on tower bells, but a jump on handbells, the latter mainly due to the efforts of the Derbyshire Association (27), the Leicester Diocesan Guild (61) and the Yorkshire Association (14).
On tower bells there is a fall on every number except Cinques and Triples, while on handbetls the main increases are in Major, Minor and Doubles. Handbell peals of Minimus have been excluded, while we are taking opinion about a 'so-called' peal of Treble Bob Minimus.
First, pealers, as shown in 'The Ringing World,' amounted to 591, with 87 first as con-ductor-a most essential part of the report and one which we trust will continue to be maintained. Herewith is shown the break down of the analysis:

|  | Tower | Bells |  | Handbells 19611960 |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 1961 | 1960 |  |  |  |
| Maximus | 47 | 52 | -5 | 2 | +2 |
| Cinques | 32 | 31 | +1 | 2 | $+1$ |
| Royal | 165 | 174 | -9 | 42 | +2 |
| Caters | 75 | 82 | -7 | 38 | -5 |
| Major | 1,070 | -1,077 | -7 | $49 \quad 18$ | $+31$ |
| Triples | 215 | 196 | -19 | 23 | -1 |
| Minor | 787 | 870 | -83 | $47 \quad 34$ | +13 |
| Doubles | 256 | 265 | -9 | 4821 | $+27$ |
| Minimus | 6 | 2 | $+4$ |  |  |
|  | 2.653 | 2.749 | $-96$ | 15787 | $+70$ |

A study of the first pealers reveals some interesting facts, notably: first peal for the whole band (6) in a peal of Doubles, with a conductor aged 15 ; five firsts in a peal of Doubles; four firsts, with first as conductor (Doubles); four first pealers in a peal of Minar; while one young man, at his first attempt. called Stedman Triples: these, with other youngsters of $13-15$ calling peals, show initiative and foresight, auguring well for the future. These are the sort of peals we should encourage.
How do the various Associations and Guilds stand in the race'? The Leicester D.G. is still on top, with 203 peals: the Oxford Guild coming second with 183-all tower bell pealsto honour their 80th year of existence
The first seven positions are as follows:

| Leicester D.G. | 203 |
| :--- | :--- |
| Oxford D.G. | 183 |
| Kent C.A. | 163 |
| Lincoln D.G. | 151 |
| Chester D.G. | 150 |
| Yorkshire A. | 142 |
| Essex A. | 112 |

The increase in pay for the Police Force has not refiected itself in peal ringing! The Scottish Association and the St. David's Guild both failed to score, while some others just managed to creep into the table

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCES

Now for the experts. The outstanding performances we think should receive special mention are as follows:

Chester D.G. 13,440 Spliced Surprise Major ( 6 methods)
Essex A.. 80. 63. 41 Minor methods
Gloucester and Bristol A., 9 Spliced Surprise Maximus: Lancashine A., 55 Plain Major methods and 16,920 Yorkshire Surprise Royal Leicester D.G.. 32,704 Plain Bob Major, and Cambridge Major, Royal and Maximus on handbells
Middlesex C.A. Minor on tower bells, double-handed by three ringers, and 12 Surprise Minor, in which the conductor rang 2-3;
North Staffs' A. 5 Spliced Surprise Majorsilent and non-conducted:
Salisbury D.G.. 6 Spliced Surprise Major at Sherborne Abbey. and 10.080 Spliced Surprise Minor in 41 methods
Winchester and Portsmouth D.G., Plain Boh Major, in which two rang double-handed on tower bells
Yorkshire A., 125 Minor methods on tower bells, and 130 Minor methods on handbells.

Mr. WALTER AYRE, convener of the Peals Analysis Commitree.

QUESTIONS

Was the Superlative Minor, rung for the Surrey Association, really reverse Cambridge. as we understand there is no Superlative Minor? While fully appreciating and understanding the increasing number of methods being rung in peals of Surprise Minor, is it not a fact that there was an understood agreement among the experts in the past that there should be at least one plain lead of every method rung in these peals?
Perhaps the present Minor experts could enlighten us!

We thank all those who send in peal reports for their co-operation: trusting they will continue to give us all the essential information we require.
This year the convener was actually able to compile this information before the end of February-please continue the good work.W. Ayre. K. W. F. Felstead (Rev.), H. L. Roper.

Moving the adoption of the report. Mr. Walter Ayre said the report meant that Treble Bob Minimus was out, Superlative Surprise Minor was not Superlative. it was Reverse Cambridge, and there was general agreement that there should be one plain lead of every method rung in a peal of Surprise Minor.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead seconded.
The honorary secretary: The Standing Committee recommended the adoption of the report, subject to the following: the omission of a peal of Treble Boh Minimus, on the basis that there was no true plain course; the inclusion of any peals of Minimus between January 1st and May 21st last year because they did not know the Council's decision; in regard to Spliced Surprise Minor they deprecated the ringing of any such peal that did not include a plain lead of every method.

Mr. P. A. Oram pointed out that in particular composition in the peal referred to one could not have a plain lead.

Mr. C. K. Lewis said the peal Mr. Oram had referred to had been in existence for 25 years. He first saw it in 1936, and at the time he did not approve of it and he did not approve of it now. People had rung it hout it had never been ohallenged in 'The Ringing World.' It was a question of good or bad taste and no amount of regulations would alter that. In regard to the 1,440 , he examined this 10 or 12 years ago and the first block did not come round at the end. It was the same touch that the Rev. E. Bankes James used, therefore the 1.440 must be approved.

There were many and varied types of records and when claiming a record the grounds on which the claim was made should be stated.

The report was adopted, it being understood that peals of Minimus rung up to the last Council meeting be counted and not peals of Treble Bob Minimus.

PROGRESSIVE LENGTHS

July 15. 32.704 Plain Bob M., Leicester Dio (longest length of Major yet rung) ; Dec. 23, 16.920 Yorkshire S.R., Lancashire (longest length of Royal yet rung).
(Signed) Mrs. E. K. FLETCHER (convener), F. T. BLAGROVE, Miss L. K. MARSHALL, JOHN R. MAYNE
Mr. F. T. Blagrove moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. C. K. Lewis seconded, and asked for the inclusion of 13,440 Surprise Major in six methods, rung by the Chester Diocesan Guild on last Whir Sunday, to be included in the list of progressive lengths.
This was agreed to and the report was adopted

Miscellaneous Questions to Sunday Service Ringing  Committee

The convener has also dealt with the following inquiries: Requests for advice and syllabuses for evening school classes in bell ringing: for advice on establishing a school bell ringing society; for the loan of a film on bell ringing: for loan of instructional film strip or slides; suggestions for handbell groups; information on bell ringing in this country by the Editor of 'Overtones' : to act as local examiner for Boys Scouts' and Girl Guides bell ringing badges; copies of belfry prayers.

Miscellaneous inquiries, such as these, seem to be increasing in number and often arise as a result of reading the Council's recent publication 'Ringing for Service.' It is recommended that this be advertised again in the Church Press since many of those to whom it will be most useful are out of touch with ringing circles. probably do not take. The Ringing World and are, therefore, unaware of the existence of the publication. - N . Chaddock (convener), W. F. Moreton, F. B. Lufkin, D. N. Layton. A. G. G. Thurlow (Rev.).

The Rev. John Scolt called attention to the need of the right people being called to act as examiners for Scouts' and 'Guides' ringing badges.

Mr. E. H. Mastin said he had 20 young ringers at three different towers and three had asked if they could take the Guides' or Scouts ringer's badge. They were expecting a lot for the badge.

Mrs. Rogers, who is a Guide captain, said they Jiked their badges to be given for a good standard. She did not think the standard for the Guides' badge was too high or too hard. She had had one or two go through.

A member said he had to fail a girl because she could not splice a rope.

Mr. Chaddock: If you have an easy badge they get it and are not seen in the belfry any more.

Mrs. Rogers: There is a knotter's badge and some of the things they have to do is much harder than splicing a rope.

Mr. Denis Bayles thought that $£ 25$ might be spent from the Clement Glenn bequest on new books of instruction.
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead moved that the matter of using the interest from the Clement Glenn bequest be referred to the Standing Committee.
Mr. P. A. Corby seconded, and this amendment was carried.

The report was then adopted.
PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE
The report stated that during the past year the collection of Stedman Cinques and Caters was completed and is now in print.
A start has been made on a second collection of compositions in Major methods, the first problem being to come to a decision as ta which Surprise methods should have compositions included in the collection. This project, however, is expected to be completed during 1962.
(Signed) W. E. CRITCHLEY (convener), G. E. FEIRN, A. J. PITMAN, R F. B. SPEED.

Moving the adoption, Mr. G. E. Feirn said they hoped ta include one or two more compositions, including Lincolnshire. He thought conductors would welcome it.

The hon. secretary: The Standing Committee recommend that the report be adopted and that the Committee be thanked for their work in connection with the Collection of Siedman.

The report was then adopted.

FOUR MORE YORKSHIRE FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Aberford-Situated six miles south-west of Tadcaster, close to the A.I, this church contains a ringable ring of four bells. The ringing chamber is on the ground floor. There is a local band here as their names appear on one of the walls. Access to the bells was not possible, but judging from the quarter chimes the tenor is around 8 cwt . An Ellacombe chiming apparatus is also fitted.

Bossall.-This church, ten miles east of York, has four bells hung for ringing in its east-central tower. At present, the bells are only chimed and do not appear to have been rung for quite some time, although the ropes in the ringing chamber above the transepts are still attached to the bells. The tenor here is about 8 cwt . and was recast by T. Mears in 1882. The treble's slider is lying on the floor of the bell chamber, otherwise the bells seem to have all the necessary fittings.

Elvington.-Seven miles south-east of York on the B. 1228 is this unringable ring of four with a tenor of 6 cwt . (approx.). It seems that the tower will need a great deal of strengthening before the bells could be rung again. The cramped ringing chamber is ahove the porch. At present the bells are chimed only.
Spofforth.-This church is three miles northwest of Wetherby. In the massive west tower hangs a ringable ring of four bells with a tenor of between 12 and 15 cwl . The bells were rehung by Taylors in a metal frame in 1960 . They are rung from an upstairs ringing chamber. A new local band rings them regularly for 20 minutes each Sunday morning and evening, and practices are held by arrangement, usually before a wedding or one of the church main festivals. There is room for two more bells. One of the bells here is reputed to have come from Fountains Abbey.

The installation of the Revs. A. G. G. Thurlow and E. W. Blythe as honorary canons of Norwich Cathedral takes place on Wednesday, June 20th, at 5.15 p.m. Mr. Nolan Golden, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, expresses the hope that as many ringing friends as possible will be present at the service.
To stimulate the local band, which has just been started at Studham, near Dunstable, with the Vicar among the learners, the Luton District of the Beds Association is holding a meeting at this 4 -bell tower. Great Gaddesden (6) bells are also available.
An attempt for a ladies' peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Woolos' Cathedral, Newport, on Whit Monday, was not successful. Miss Joan Beresford was the conductor. The peal was lost after about half-an-hour's ringing; until then the ringing was very good.
At the Exeter Diocesan Conference on June 5th, a monthly diocesan newspaper was launched. Ringing was well featured in the pilot issue published at the meeting - callchange ringing by photographs of ringers round the font at Clovelly and by a group photo outside Ashwater Church of the Tamar Valley meeting, and scientific by a photograph, mostly of teenagers, taken in the belfry at Teignmouth.

Ringers from all over Lancashire and beyond will congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Birley Walshaw, of Manchester, on their golden wedding anniversary on June 12 th. The Cathedral bells rang out a quarter peal in honour of the event. Birley has been ringing with the Cathedral company since 1933.
Mr. W. A. Yates, who claimed that the peal - 1 Middleton Cheney on May 19th was the first of seven Surprise Minor methods on the bells, has been informed by Mr. Avery. of Rayleigh, Essex, that the Leytonstone band rang a similar peal there about 40 years ago, conducted by Mr . Ted Smith. In thanking Mr. Avery for the information, Mr. Yates tenders his apologies for making a false claim.

GOSSIP lia in Adventure to Austrapeople at the Central Council meeting at Cardiff expressed interest in the proposition. The proposal is to travel by air for a four or five weeks' holiday. Two well-known members of the Norwich Diocesan Association are thinking of spending a year in Australia and New Zealand.

There has been a change of officers of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Mr. W. Barrett is the new secretary and treasurer and Mr. F. C. Goodman Ringing Master.

Mr. M. J. Pryor, of 43, Downton Road, Cardiff, is the new hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association. He succeeds Mr. F. J. Hannington.
Mrs. Shirley Harris, wife of Mr. Brian Harris, of Werrington, Peterborough, hast been admitted to the John Collins Ward, Peterborough Memorial Hospital, and is likely to be there for several weeks. She would welcome letters from ringing friends.

Regarding the Rambling Ringers' peal of 6 Spliced Surprise Major at Shepshed, Leics (see page 363), a correspondent sends the following corrections: The peal was rung on Saturday, May 19th, and not as printed: the time taken was 2 hours 53 minutes. We refrain from publishing his comments.

Those who rang in the peal at Putney on June 9th would like to associate the name of Alan Millidge with the performance. He was to have rung but was taken into hospital the previous Tuesday and operated on for appendicitis. He is progressing well and the band wish him a speedy return to the belfry.
A year after the event took place we hear that Spalding (92) beat Grantham (52) in the final of the Lincolnshire Ringers cricket competition at Edenham. Tea at the village hall was followed by indifferent ringing at the local church as little-used muscles stiffened up. The player deputed to submit the report has fled to Gainsborough and the County Police Force, assuring himself of double immunity.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

120 FOR CALL CHANGE RINGERS
After studying a call-change card at Alveley, Mr. Harry Poyner, secretary of the Shropshire Association, has sent the following letter to Mr. Arnold, captain of the Alveley band.
'There is a fairly simple system behind the sequence you use at Alveley which would enrable one, with practice, to call the changes without the use of a card. It depends on watching carefully where the second bell falls us the treble strikes beneath the tenor and as it leads. You know of this, I expect.

There is a card in the belfry at Uppingion, near to Shrewsbury, which uses a similar system 10 yours. Whether it gives the whole 120 or not I cannot remember, but I may be able ta find out for you if you are interested. At Atcham they also ring call-changes by moving the treble a place at a time towards the "back," swopping over two bells somewhere below it while it is there, then moving it towards the lead and again changing the order of two bells above it while it leads. In the belfry at Baschurch, a 4 -bell tower ten miles from here, the 24 changes are written out. I will put these down later-they may be useful to you if ever you should meet short.
'As I shan't be seeing anyone from Devon to have a talk with them until Whitsuntide, I have been playing around with the figures and have put a few 120's together, which are enclosed, complete with calling instructions.

- To economise on space I have written down only the changes while the treble is at lead and behind - that is, just before the tenor. For instance, when I put down these changes are the first and last of a group of five produced like this:-

| 1 | 23 | 4 | 5 |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 2 | 1 | 3 | 4 | 5 |
| 2 | 3 | 1 | 4 | 5 |
| 2 | 3 | 4 | 1 | 5 |
| 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 1 |

- Here you will notice the treble moving step by step towards the tenor (which always strikes last, so I haven't bothered to put in the " 6 " every time).
- Similarly, 25431

| 12543 occurs elsewhere in the |

25413
25143
21543

- In this group the treble works towards the Jead.
- The four 120 's enclosed are different from each other in the sense that the changes are produced in different sequence - that is, although you get the same music, it comes at differert times. If you look at them carefully, though, you will see that they are all variations of each other.
"The 24 is an example of what " scientific" ringers call a "double" method because the path of each bell through the other bells is the same from front to back as it is from back to front. For the second this path is, for example, three changes at lead: two changes next after lead (" in second"s place "): two changes in "third"s place": three changes "behind " two in thirds: three behind: two in thirds; two in seconds: three at lead: two in seconds. The other bells rexcept the treble, which moves regularly up and down) have the same path but start at different points on it.

There is a newspaper called "The Ringing World " which comes out every week. It does not often have articles of interest to call-change ringers, so I am going to send them a copy of this letter in the hope that if it is published it' may provoke some correspondence.

Dear Sir,-Unlike Mr. Scott, I see no harm in the fact that the occasion of the annual Central Council meeting on Whit Tuesday provides an opportunity for ringers from ali over Britain and Ireland to gather together in various ringing activities on the few days prior to the Council meeting.

Amongst the officers, committee members and conveners of the Council are to be found many who devote countless hours, talents and expense in work beneficial and constructive which goes on throughout the year. Some of these, in a matter of a year or two. deal with hundreds of inquiries involving hundreds of hours of work quite voluntarily and, moreover, bear the cost of postage on all this correspondence. Many receive no contribution from their Associations towards their expenses involved in attending the Council meeting. As the Editor indicates, Mr. Scott's opinion might change if he took the trouble to attend a Council session and really get to know what the Council is doing.

Moreover, the Council is ever in need of men with Mr. Scott's zeal for doing something constructive and beneficial. Should he be sent as a representative he will find ample scope for exercising these good intentions. Since I would perhaps be regarded as grinding a personal axe, I sign myself Yours, etc.,

ONE OF THE OLD PALS.'

Dear Sir,-Re 'Old Pals' Reunion,' Mr. Scoit thinks it time that the Central Council got down to some work 'constructive and beneficial.'
A meeting is held every Whitsun Tuesday for just that. Quite a number of 'old pals' go to some trouble and expense to attend for the day What the more leisured and affluent 'old pals; do during the week-end is surely their business. -Yours iruly,
(your old pal)
Watford.

BOWELL'S FOUNDRY

Dear Sir,-Very little information seems to bs available regarding Mr. Alfred Bowell's bellfounding business in Ipswich, and one wonders whether bells happened to be a sideline among other activities. His bells were mostly light castings, and the following items give some idea of his work some little distance from Ipswich.
Elstow, Beds.-New treble in 1908.
Maldon, Essex.-Recast the back six in 1922.
Little Baddow, Essex.-Recast two bells and added a new one in 1925.

Bucklebury, Berks.-Two new trebles and one recast in 1915; also one recast in 1926.
I have no knowledge of any. complete list. Yours sincerely, WM. SHEPHERD Addlestone.

MY DEAR WATSON:

Dear Sir,-My colleague and I have been reading a letter in your excellent journal by a certain $F$. Scott, and in the course of our deliberations were privileged to see the reports of the various committees of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.
It is quite obvious to us that this work must go on throughout the year, and that the meeting held on Whit Tuesday must mainly be to receive and adopt those reports, also to consider such other items are are considered necessary.
This little boy Scott has much to learn although he has approached 40 tower-grabs in one day, over 50 peals with his shadow, as well as some 'bramble jelly,' but he appears to be a new member of the cower that he quotes, and has apparently fallen for the wiles of someone who did not wish to grasp the nettle himself.Sincerely yours,
S. HOLMES.

RINGING TO 'TIME,

Dear Sir,-I still stand to be corrected, but I am again claiming that the tenor bell is the best one to set the "time," and not the second as suggested by Mr. Buswell in "The Ringing World of June 15 th.
Except in freak circumstances, I think I can safely say that the tenor can be picked out much better than the second by the rest of the band whilst ringing changes, and 1 suggest that if it is found necessary to alter the speed of ringing during a touch or a peal rather than the speed of the original ringing round, then it is much better to let this alteration be dictated by the tenor than the second.

Furthermore, if the speed of the ringing was dictated by the second and that ringer set a slow pace, we may find the tenor ringer on a heavy ring of bells with rather strained wrists due to holding the weight, but if a too rapid pace was set then the tenor ringer may be unable to turn in the bell at that pace.
I have a recollection of reading in the Obituary column an appreciation of a certain ringer describing what a wonderful 'time' he used to set when ringing handbells with the tenors, so I would assume that this principle of the tenor setting the time also applies to handbell ringing.

I also would like to see further comments and advice on this aspect of ringing, but I would not like it to be tied down to the experts as it may be difficult to define who are the experts, although we have in our midst a 'Professor ' who resides, to the best of my knowledge, in an area where near-perfect striking can be heard, even if it is 6 -bell cartwheeling, condemned, certainly not by me, but by experts and not so expert who have never even tried it; but it would be interesting to know who dictates their "time" in this near-perfect ringing Yours faithfully,
F. AITCH.

LONDON ROYAL AT BEDDINGTON

Dear Sir.-I beg to point out that the footnote claiming the peal of London Surprise Royal (No. 3 version) rung at Beddington. Surrey, on May 19th last, and reported in. The Ringing World ' on page 393 as the first in, this version by the Ancient Society of College Youths is incorrest, a peal in this version having been rung at Stratford-on-Avon, Warwicks. for the A.S.C.Y. on June 6th, 1953, conducted by J. E. Bibby. A record of this will be found on page 426 of The Ringing World of July 3rd, 1953, correctly described.-Yours truly,
L. W. G. MORRIS.

Bradford.

BRISTOL CLPID EXPLAINS

Dear Sir.-With reference to your mentioning me in last week's issue. I have to admit that. flying at 20,000 feet a little while ago, 1 lost my way, and due to difficult weather conditions had to make a forced landing in Manchester. Yours faithfully, University of Bristol.

MR. CALEB FENN AN APPRECIATION

By the death of Caleb Fenn, another interesting and talented character has passed on. for indeed Caleb was all of these - interesting. talented and a character.

A native of Barking. he served his church in many ways, but his main interest was his beloved bells and belfry. For many years he was a member of a very able and talented company in the days when Surprise methods were becoming popular, and was a member of the band who first rang London double-handed. The peal boards in the ringing chamber at St. Margarel's. Barking, give ample proof of his practical skill.
A person of pronounced views, a "stickler" for good striking, and an able and competent conductor, it was regrettable that an operation curtailed his ringing activities some years ago but Caleb still 'listened to 'em' all the time.

An impression of Caleb I shall never forget was when on a practice night, at the age of 70 , he was still able to chase some cheeky boys out of the churchyard at Barking-his speed down the churchyard path had to be seen to be believed.

In a very sincere tribute at his funeral the Vicar referred to Caleb's ability to give colourful accounts of past events in the history of Barking. I would reiterate those words and say that in the passing of Caleb Fenn the Exercise has lost a lovable and colourful character.

MR. ROBERT LEONARD SCARTH

Captain of the Pickering, Yorks, ringers, Mr Len Scarth died on May 13th after a short ill ness, aged 60 . A native of Pickering, he took an active part in the life of the parish church being a member of the choir as well as a ringer He joined the Yorkshire Association in 1933. and apart from a short interlude at Scarborough had been connected with the ringing at Pickering since that date.

Of a pleasant disposition, with always a cheery word. Len will be sorely missed at Pickering.

MR. WILLIAM L. DUFFIELD

By the passing of Mr. William L. Duffield. the Norwich Diocesan Association has lost its oldest member. He had been a member for over 70 years, a vice-president since 1948 and chairman of the Southern Branch from 1931 to 1952. where his quiet counsel and sound advice in the earlyodays did much to ensure its suc cessful future.

His achievements were many, including a peal of Plain Bob Minor at St. Mary's, Long Stratton. with five of his sons, on December 27th, 1957.

One could not fail to be struck by his great knowledge of bells, not only in his native county but also of some of the famous rings throughout the country.

Besides being a ringer, he served his church in many ways. being a former churchwarden at Tasburgh, where he took a leading part in the restoring and adding of a new treble to the four bells. I had the privilege of visiting him a few days before his death when, as always he wanted to hear of all that was happening in the district
His passing means the loss of a fine Christian gentleman and a good man, whose simple faith impressed all who knew him. C.F.W.P.
KINGSTON-UPON-THAMES, SURREY.-On June 11 th. 1,296 Cambridge Surprise Minor: Margaret Lew:s 1. Cherry White 2. Susan Rawlings 3, S. C. Walters 4. K. Newman 5, A. S. Bishop (cond.) 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Mrs. Wilkins, mother of a Kingston ringer, who died suddenly this day

MR. RICHARD W. STANNARD
It is with regret that the death of Dick Stannard is recorded. Dick passed on at The Wil lows, St. George's Hospital. Hornchurch, on June 4 th, at the grand old age of 92 years.

He was a Suffolk man through and through, and commenced his ringing career at Leiston in 1883. He was a member of the original band there in 1884. and scored his first three peals there in 1886, the third one being a peal of 6,024 Oxford Treble Bob Major, conducted by Gabriel Lindoff, the first peal the conductor called under that name. In 1884 he also rang in the 10,304 of Bob Major at Leiston. His first quarter as conductor was called at 5 a.m for Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

From Leiston he moved to Ipswich and soon joined up with the famous band at St. Mary-leTower. His one regret here was that a peal of Double Norwich Maximus eluded him as his work took him on to Colchester, and he was denied the opportunity of a fourth attempt

At Colchester he was Master of the St Peter's band for 40 years, hon, secretary of the North Eastern District of the Essex Association for 12 years and Master for four years.

He was especially proud of his membership of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and would stand with great pride at the annual banquet as the toast to members of long stand ing was honoured.
On his retirement he moved to Upminster but this was marred by the early death of his wife, and subsequently he moved to Barking and lived with his daughter and son-in-law
His life then developed into a somewhat strict pattern-early service at his local church and then Barking and Leytonstone alternately for Matins, witn St. Margaret's, Westminster, and Hornchurch in the evenings.
Failing eyesight handicapped him towards the end of his life, but he maintained his interest and was always full of ringing anecdotes with the odd anniversary of some ringing landmark
He was buried at Hornchurch on June 8th. Unfortunately, owing to lack of information and some confusion as to timing, it was impossible for the Exercise to be adequately represented; but the memory of Dick Stannard will last a long, long time.

APPRECIATIONS

Dick Stannard was a countryman at heart, and was very proud of his Suffolk connections He was a tailor by trade, and his appearance and general carriage bespoke his trade

Dick was a jolly man, full of anecdotes and laughter. Fond of his cricket, he followed keenly the fortunes of the Essex C.C. and attended regularly the home matches until his evesight made it impossible to follow the ball.
There was always the odd sweet in his pocket and on joining our outings there were always ice creams for the ladies.
Possessing a pleasing voice in his early years he was prominent as a local entertainer, and even in later years did not need much encouragement to don suitable head- and neckwear to do a song and patter in local dialect.
A very devout man, Dick loathed coarseness and vulgarity in any way, and many times have heard him rebuke his friends over a game of cribbage in the Old People's Club.
When I inquired at The Willows, the nursing attendant there looked at me and said: 'Yes, Dick is gone, and if there is a heaven he's there all right.' I'm sure he is too, and may he rest there in peace.
F. V. G.

Mr. E. G. Fenn. in an appreciation, mentions that Dick was very pleased of the fact that he introduced the Bailey brothers to the belfry at Leiston. His membership of the College Youths dated from 1890 , the year he moved to Ipswich. He was very proud of taking part in an octogenarian peal at Deptford. As the result of being knocked down by a motor-cycle, he had to give up ringing: but right up to the last he continued to take a great interest in the Exercise.

A PEAL FOR TOM

Inspired by hearing a peal altempt in memory of the Rev. Thomas Beer, Vicar of Goosnargh, who did much to encourage ringing in the Preston Branch.

As I came over Goosnargh fields,
Thinking of days gone by
I shivered in the cold March wind
That shook the country sky
And asked: 'Oh, why should it be so.
The best-loved are the first to go?'
But as I stood there pondering
The sense of it, the pain-
I heard the bells beginning from
The old church down the lane
Not sad, as on the funeral day,
But loud and proud and glad and gay!
And knew they rang in thanksgiving
Across the wakening land
For all his good and kindly deeds. His ever-ready hand-
At one-without a single word-
The friends who rang, the friends who heard
And all at once I ceased to doubt.
God's Will, not ours, be done-
For other bells, the Bells of Heaven
Were ringing, every one,
Through Goosnargh fields so clearly then
For Tom - who loved, his fellow-men.
Joan Pompret.

50 Years Ago

R.W.'. June 14th, 1912

An interesting event took place at Penwortham. Lancs, on Saturday, when the 200th an niversary of the bells was celebrated. It was a commemoration in which the village, as well as the ringers throughout the Preston district joined. What a pity it is that anniversaries of this kind are not more generally celebrated : i would help the public to a greater appreciation of the value of their church bells. We hope that one result of the Penwortham festivities may be a permanent memorial of the event in the shape of two additional bells to complete the octave. The Squire talked about it, so perhaps the County Palatine may have one more peal of eight before long.
A unique performance was put up on Saturday, when a peal on tower bells was rung by Whind all associated with the well-known Whitechapel Foundry.

PLAYING WITH FIGURES

Dear Sir.-There have been recent articles in 'The Ringing World' by people who play with figures, mostly in methods of their own invention. but I find fascination in playing with figures in known methods-even in Grandsire. How many conductors and bob callers know of a touch of Triples that comes round at hand with a call, i.e. calling the 5th out of the hunt with a bob or single. it does not matter which? I know it is false, but what does that matter as long as it is decent ringing. And another thing, how many ringers can repeat the 97 of Grandsire Triples, so as to give a touch of 194? It is unusual; it is something different; it is false-so what?
But out of all my experimenting $I$ have never been able to find a quarter peal of Triples that comes round 'at hand'-can anyhody help?-Yours sincerely, Havant.

A Selection of Outings

SLOUGH, BUCKS

Accompanied by many friends. St. Mary's, Slough, ringers spent an enjoyable day in Gloucestershire on May 19th. Some good ringing. up to Grandsire Cinques, was enjoyed at Cheltenham. A pleasant spot was found for a picnic junch, and at 1.15 we were admiring Gloucester Cathedral, where the local ringers let us ring for a wedding. Alas! the ringing was only fair.
Mid-afternoon found us at Painswick, where, on the glorious 12. a half course of Cambridge Maximus, Stedman and Grandsire were all well struck. At Stroud we enjoyed some good ringing in anticipation of tea, to which we eventually did justice. The last tower was Watermoor. Cirencester (a splendid eight), where a pleasant hour was spent, ringing ranging from rounds to five spliced. Sincere thanks to incumbents. local ringers and our skipper. Mr. W. Birmingham, who so ablv organised a grand outing.

CATTISTOCK, DORSET

For a country tower the outing was quite ambitious-four towers in Bristol. It all started hecause George Goringe (captain of the Cattistock ringers) has a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Grant, at Kingsdown. Bristol.

Mrs. Grant volunteered to find lunch. and Mr Grant not only guided us through the centre at the mid-day rush hour but welcomed us to his own tower at St. Matthew's. Kingsdown (8, 22 cwt.).

After lunch Mr. Grant led us round Bristol to visit St. Mary Magdalene's, Stoke Bishop ( 6, 11 cwt ), St. James' Central ( $10,28 \mathrm{cwt}$ ) and St. Michael-on-the-Mount (6. $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), bringing us safely to Fairfax House for tea. Our rounds were not too bad, our Doubles not very good, but the achievement of the day, to my thinking, was rounds on the ten at St. James' Central.
We visited Holy Cross. Babcary ( 6,12 cwt.), on our way out and All Saints', Castle Cary ( $8,15 \mathrm{cwt}$.), on our way home. Queen Camel was missed by a quarter-of-an-hour, it being too late to raise and lower

We all join in thanking our host and hostess (for a lovely 'spread' and being a helpful guide). the incumbents, captains and towerkeepers and, of course, George, for all the prior arrangements.
C. E. C. B.

ST. MARY'S, PORTSEA

A half-day "snatch' of three towers by ringers of Si. Mary's, Portsea, and friends from Portsmouth Cathedral. Fareham and Chichester on June 2nd, was of great value to the less ex perienced and a success generally. Towers visited were Farnham: St. Michael's, Basingstoke, and St. Mary's, Overton. Methods rung included Cambridge. Yorkshire. Double Norwich C.B.. Stedman. Plain Bob and Grandsire Thanks are accorded to incumbents and those who met the party.
L. D. D.

BURTON-ON-TRENT

On May 26th. St. Paul's. Burton-on-Trent. ringers and their friends made a tour of Shropshire and Lancashire for their annual outing.
The itinerary included Lymm (8) and Leigh (10) in the morning. Leyland (10) and Ormskirk (8) in the afternoon, with St. Helens (10) and Great Budworth (8) in the evening

A good standard of ringing was maintained throughout the day, and methods rung included Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples. Plain Boh and Kenı Major, Granúsire, Siedman and Erin Caters, Plain Boh and Kent Royal. with rounds and call-changes for the youngsters.

An excellent lunch was provided at Leyland. and a most satisfying tea at St. Helens

We thank our hosts who contributed to a most successful outing, and our special thanks go to Mr. Geo Roobottom for his part in making the arrangements. W.J.L.

Mr. Arthur Garbett, of Hampstead, sends us this novel picture of a clockmaker's and jeweller's shop in Bonn. West Germany, close by the house where Beethoven, the famous composer, was born. The bells make an impressive sign-probably suggesting hour bells.

WILLINGDON, EASTBOURNE

Fairwarp, in the heart of Ashdown Forest, was the first tower visited by Willingdon ringers and their friends on their second annual outing on May 19th. Good use was made of this octave, and although most of the party were 6 -bell ringers they handled the bells well. In the 700 -year-old church at Hever (6), with the staircase to the belfry made of triangular wooden blocks, the ringers were more at home.
Edenbridge (8) was reached after passing fields of apple blossom, and later hop fields as the route was through narrow country lanes to Chiddingstone (8). At St. Peter's. Tunbridge Wells, Mr. Collison was waiting to welcome the party. An evening meal at the Castle Hotel rounded off a very pleasant day. Of the 30 ringers, more than half were under the age of 16 . and no doubt the experience gained will hold them in good stead in the future.

ST. MARY'S, DOVER

For their first outing on May 26th, ringers and friends from St. Mary's, Dover, visited some of the most beautiful parts of Kent. A thrill was provided by picturesque Chilham and ringing enjoyed on the fine eight. Charing (6) bells were more difficult to handle, but the view from the top of the tower was much admired Before tea. ringing at Throwley (8), a miles from anywhere village. where the church belfry is lit by oil lamps, gave much pleasure.

Rain necessitated a picnic tea in the coach: handbells were rung on the way to Faversham (8), a popular tower. Our thanks to incumbents.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

A small but successful meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Winterton on May 26th. The newly inducted Vicar, the Rev. A. Burton, welcomed the ringers and conducted the service.

Dates for future meetings were announced: Burton-on-Stather (light 8). July 28th: Louth (heavy 8), September 8th: Waliham (6). October 20th Ringing in standard methods look place under Mr. G. Moody, Branch Ringing Master.

EVEN MORE RINGING IN THE COTSWOLDS

Wimbledon ringers and a few friends had a new venture when they spent a weekend in the Cotswolds, starting April 13th, with headquarters at the Wheatsheaf, Northleach.
Saturday's ringing started with a course of Rutland at Barnwood. For several of the younger members it was their first ring away from their home tower, and they managed very oreditibly on this light ring. The journey was through beautiful Cotswold country to Cranham, where it seemed as if the church was on the edge of a tea cup, looking down on the village below. Ringing on the easy. going six included eight spliced.

At Painswick courses of Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Yorkshire Major were all successfully accomplished. On the way to lunch we passed between some of the 99 yew trees in the churchyard. The first ringing in the afternoon was on the four bells at Randwick. where four of the youngest members asked to have the belfry to themselves fo: a few minutes. We, who were listening outside, heard: "Go, Bob Minimus,' and awaited the confusion. Instead came, 'BobThat's all!'
At Stroud ringing ranged from rounds to Stedman Caters, the difficulty of hearing the trebles detracted from the ringing, and many were tired at Northleach and did not do justice to the bells. A good dinner in the hotel was followed by an evening in the lounge. The 14 -year-olds were carried to bed at 11 p.m. and when the rest of the company retired an hour later they found them still ringing handbells.
At the Vicar's request we rang for the 9.30 a.m. service on Sunday, when the striking was better than the night before. Service ringing at Bourton-on-the-Water included a touch of four Spliced Surprise Major and after a quick look round the model village we made for Oxford. After lunch we rang at Cuddesdon and Milton, and joined the local band for evening service ringing at Henley-on-Thames. Here the bells had been half-muffled for Holy Week and a good touch of Double Norwich brought out their excellent tone. A touch of Stedman and a good lower in peal added the final touch to a successful weekend venture.

Our thanks are due to incumbents and local ringers who made us so welcome S. J. R., K. N.

NORWICH DIOCESAN  Eastern Branch

The handy eight at Lowestoft were thoroughly tested by the 40 -odd members attending the Eastern Branch meeting at Lowestoft. The Rector, the Rev. W. Westwood, in his address at the service said that very often the sound of bells was the only reminder to the outside world that the Church existed, and therefore in the performance of their art they were serving a useful function.
Sister Riley and her staff provided an excelent tea at Harleston House, the Church Army Old People's Home. Mr. E. R. Goate. Branch chairman, presided at the business meeting and Mr . Nolan Golden, the Association's president. spoke of the welcome ringing and the instruction of learners had recently received in the local press. The rededication of Blofield bells. recently restored by Mears and Stainbank, had also been covered by Anglia Television

He and Mr. Ben Thompson also paid tribute to the memory of Mr. W. L. Duffield. for 20 years chairman of the South Norfolk Branch, who died two days previously.
A short handbell recital, given to the residents of the Home, was much appreciated.

Next meeting: September 22nd. Blofield

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT

Four bands competed for the Society's silver cup at Thrybergh on June 2nd. The judgesMessrs. H. Chant and J. Thorley-announced their decision following an excellent tea prepared by local ladies. The results, in order of ringing, were: Handsworth 144 faults, Warsop 67, Old Whittington 169 , Rotherham 150. The cup was presented by the Vicar of Thrybergh to Mr. H. Rooke, captain of the Warsop company. Ringing was then resumed until-8 p.m

BELLS THAT HAVE MADE HISTORY

By ERNEST MORRIS

DURING the war many church bells on the Continent were taken down and melted fo: munitrons, many were broken and destroyed in the 'biltz and, in some cases, elsewhere. Thus many bells that have made history were lost.

The Ringing World ' of November 20ih, 1942 (p. 47), gave the following notice, which illustrates such an event:

GENOA

Genoa has lately been much in the news through the air saids of the Royal Air Force. The only time when the town was attacked in previous wars by British forces was in the early days of the last century, when it was occupied for some time. There was a very old tradition that when a place was captured hy an army, all the church bells were the perquisite of the officer commanding the artillery, who could carry them away unless they were redeemed by a money payment. Something of the sort seems to have been done at Genoa, for one of the bells at Liversedge in Yorkshire has this inscription
"- These eight bells were cast in 1814 and 1815 "These eight bells were cast in 1814 and 1815 does not say they. were cast from looted church bells, but it is pretty certain it was so; any broken bells would be called "brass ordnance." On Tower Wharf are two bronze cannons and on the carriage of each is an inscription: "This gun was made at Woolwich from ordnance taken at Cherbourg, 1758.: There is evidence that six church bells at Cherbourg were looted and brought to the Tower, where they remained for some time.

At the end of the Napoleonic wars a Colonel Lemoine, who had been in command of the artillery in the attack on Genoa, was reminded of the custom which had existed for years in the artillery that the bells of a captured town became the property of the commanding officer of artillery on the spot. He went back to Genoa, and, making inquiries, found that there were upwards of ninety churches in the town, each with an average of five bells, which, according to the price given by the man who had charge of most of them, were worth thirty thousand livres Genoese, or seven theusand pounds sterling. It was a uphold an established privilege, but mainly as he admitted on his own account, he thought he would try to secure it. He wrote to a man named R. H. Crewe, who evidently was man named R. H. Crewe, who evidently was his advice. Crewe made extensive inquiries, and thought that on the whole the claim could not be sustained. So the matter dropped. Lemoine evidently hoped to get the money from the English Treasury as prizemoney, for of course, after peace was signed there would have been no chance of actually taking possession of the bells, even if his claim had been allowed. The correspondence claim had been allowed. The correspondence Office.:

Of the bells of Liversedge (quoted above) the contract was placed on September $29 t h$, 1814, with William Dobson, of Downham. Norfolk, for eight bells of a total weight of 63 owt., the tenor weighing 15 cwt . These were made of brass ordnance, captured by two British heroes-Lord Exmouth and Lord W. finally installed and the first peal rung on them on July 12 th. 1815 . The 7th bears the apt inscription: 'These eight bells were cast in 1814 and 1815 with brass ordnance taken Genaa.
Many notable peals were rung here in the 19 th oentury, and in methods seldom heard of these days, among which might be quoted

Dec. 21st, 1852, 5.024 London Treble Bob.
Jan. 12th. 1857, 5.024 Rose of England.
April 15th. 1859. 5.120 Prince Albert.
Oct. 26th, 1867, 6.420 Cumberland Exercise.
June 2nd, 1888. 5,056 Violet.
An early 'non-conducted' peal is recorded here: October 3rd, 1863, 5,184 Kent Treble Boh. :This was accomplished without the bobs being called, and acoording to the record, is looked upon as the greatest feat in the art of conducting ever performed by any part of ringers upon eight bells.

FROM BELL TO CANNON

We have already quoted the great bell of Cologne, which was originally cast from French cannon, captured during the FrancoGerman War, and other instances could be given. Thus in the 1914-18 war the Austrian Government resigned to the melting pot the great bell of Sl. Stephen's Church, Vienna. This bell had been cast in 1710 at the command of the Emperor Joseph I, from the metal of 180 cannon captured from the Turks, and weighed 17 tons $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.

When Louis XIV captured Mons in 1691, a formal treaty was concluded between the Council on the one part and Marshal dHumieres on the other, for the ransam of the carillon. Thus the bells were saved at that time; but during the French invasion of 1793 all were taken but one. This was in accordance with a decree of the National Convention at Paris on July 23rd, 1793: "That there shall be left only one bell in each parish church; that all the others shall be placed at the disposition of the Executive Council, which shall provide for taking them to the nearest foundry, that they may be made into cannon. Many Belgian carillons were melted down during the French Revolution period.
Another episode of the Great War (1914-18) was when the Germans removed many bells from the churches of South Jutland, and to replace these in 1925 an order was given for 44 bells to be cast from the metal of 60 old brass cannon, supplied by the Copenhagen Arsenal. Eight of these bells were hung in different churches in various parts of the town of Hadersley, and were so admirably cast that although distributed over a wide area they ring in perfect harmony with one another.
At Roverto, Italy, is a bell known as the ' Death Bell' and this was made from the guns of 19 nations who participated in the war, as a memorial to the fallen of all countries. It was cast at Verona in 1925, and countries. It was cast at Verona in 1925 , and afterwards ceremonially blessed and given the name of 'Marie Dolens.' It is $16 \frac{1}{3}$ tons in weight and nearly 10 feet in height, and its exterior is distinguished by some very fine decorations, the work of the sculptor Stephano Zuech.
As early as 997 we read that during the occupation of Spain by the Moors, the bells of the Cathedral of St. James of Compostella at Santiago were conveyed to Cordova on the shoulders of Christian captives. They were suspended by silver chains in an inverted position in the Mosque of the Great Mazquita, being filled with aromatic oil and used as lemps. However in $1235 / 6$ they were restored by Ferdinand II. being sent back on the shoulders of Moorish prisoners.

A PERQUISITE FOR ARTILLERY
In the British Museum there is an old MS, dating from about the year 1600 . headed - These be the Authorities and Powers that the Provoste Marshall and his Lieftenant have in the Jurisdiction of the Artillerie.' Among the items are the following:

As a towne is wonne (whether) it is by assault. per force, subtile practice or by anie other manner given up, be it towne. castell. pyle, church, or bastile, or fortresse, the chief master of the artillerie or his lieftenant shall ordayne that the master gunners and their companie shall have the best bell within that place so wonne or the Churchwardens shall appoynt or compound with the great master of the Artillerie and his counsell. And that to he reported by the Provoste of the Artillerie and given knowledge to the Lords and Rulers and given knowledge to the Lords and Rulers the same what that the Master of the Artillerie his counsell and mr. gunners and their companie have determined and ordeyned by a convenable and reasonable estimacion to see and knowe if the lordes and commons will hold the ordinance and appoyntment made.'

Much the same thing in a later history of the French Army: 'Le grand maitre a encore une privilege. C'est que quand une ville ou fortresse a laisse tirer le canon, les cloches des églises, etc Ues églises, etc.
In addition
In addition to the two instances I have mentioned, there are several cases where this rather curious claim was made. At Tong, in Shropshire, there is an entry in the parish accounts for the year 1644 during the Civil War: : Pajd to the cananeere (cannoner) for redeeming of the little bell, 6-0.

CARLISLE CATHEDRAL

Another instance is at Carlisle. When the Highland Army, under Prince Charles Edward Stuart, retreated to Scotland after its un successful invasion of England in 1745. a small garrison was left at Carlisle which surrendered in December to the Royal Army, under command of the Duke of Cumberland. The city was treated as if it was an enemy town, the chief citizens being arrested and the Cathedral was used as a prison for containing rebels, and a demand was made by a Major Balfour in the Duke's name for the bells as a 'perquisite to the train of artillery,' a demand which was strongly contested.
A similar incident happened during the Civil War in 1643, when Bristol was captured by the Royal Army under Prince Rupert and-as at Carlisle-a demand was sent to the town authorities for the church bells. A letter of protest was sent, and so far as can be ascer tained the demand was not carried through.
In 1758 an English army captured Cher bourg, and among the booty brought back were six bells laken from churches of that town; five were serviceable and one broken They were placed in the Tower of London and Colonel Desagulier, who commanded the artillery during the attack on Cherbourg, hav ing made frequent applications to be pard their value as his personal right, William Pitt, then Secretary of State, directed that the Board of Ordnance should inquire into the matter, bu whether the Colonel was paid is not known.
When Quebec was captured from the French, a Colonel Williamson took the bells from the Cathedral and sent them home to a lady named Jane Williamson (possibly his wife), who offered them for sale to an important unnamed person. What became of these beils is not known, but the lady's letter is among the Chatham papers.

Colonel Paterson was said to have received $£ 300$ in lieu of the bells of Guadelupe, when the island was captured from the French but when it was captured a second time the application for a similar payment made by Colonel Burton was refused.

A number of bells were taken by the British Fleet during the Crimean War. The bells of Bomarsund-in the Aland Islands-taken in 1854. was kept in the Tower of London, bu returned in 1925. Another bell. taken from the fortified monastery of Solavetski, eventually found its way to a Portsmouth church. It was restired to the monks of Solavetski in 1913.

CHARLESTON, U.S.A.
The bells of St. Michael's, Charleston, U.S.A.. originally cast in 1764, have twice suffered the calamities of war. During the War of Independence the ring was seized and sent to England. It was eventually redeemed by an American merchant and returned to Charleston. During the War of turned to Charleston. During the War of Secession these same bells were removed for safety to Columbia. S.C., but fate again intervened and they were involved in the burning of that city. The metal recovered from England and at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry formed part of a new ring being cast there
In 1893 six bells cast from copper cannon captured by the Russians in the Caucasus, were sent to Petrovsk and hung in the churches of the Orthodox Faith.
Historic allusions are often to be found on church bells commemorating victories won by armies in war. One of the most famous instances of this was that of the eight bells of St. Helen's. Worcester, cast in 1706. which commemorated in verse the victories of Marl borough in Flanders and Germany. Each bel hore the name of a battle and an appropriate couplet. The ring of eight bells at Brightling in Sussex. dated 1818. similarly bear couplets celebrating eight of Wellington's victories in the Peninsular and Waterloo. At Sileby, Leicestershire, a bell rejoices over the victorary at Culloden in 1745, and at Ashover Derbyshire. a bell says: "The old bell rung the downfall of Bvonaparte and broke, April 1814.: A similar fate befell three bells of Great Packington, Warwickshire, one of which was broken in 1805 , when ringing for the victory of Trafalgar.

REMINISCENCES OF E.V.R.

MAJOR E. R. TREVOR CORBETT
A ringer of some note locally, with whom I rang prior to World War I and subsequently. was Mr. E. R. Trevor Corbett (afterwards "Major '), whose father owned a large estate at Longnor, some ejght miles south of Shrewsbury. He was a tall gentleman and the only ringer I have seen at meetings wearing spats, as he sometimes did.
The little church at Longnor having only two bells, he came to take up ringing in the following manner. George J. Taylor, one of George Byolin's band at St. Alkmund's, Shrewsbury, and a conductor of several peals, was suffering from tuberculasis and lived for a time in a chalet on Lyth Hill. When there he used to go down to Condover to instruct the ringers and managed to teach them to ring Grandsire from the call changes to which they had been used, and I heard it said that if it had not been for George Taylor they would never have had a method band there. One evening Mr . Conbett happened to be in the neighbourhood of the church and looked in to wateh the ringers (it was a ground floor belfry). He became interested and expressed a wish to learn and was taught by George Taylor. Later on he used to motorcycle to St. Alkmund's. Shrewsbury, for the practices and on Sunday evenings. and learnt to ring Stedman Triples. For his first peal of Stedman Triples he travelled to BirminghamI suppose he thought there was nothing like making as sure of it as possible-and he rang the fourth in the last peal (Stedman) on the bells at St. Alkmund's, called by C. R. Lilley.

BROUGHT LILLEY TO SHREWSBURY

It was through Mr. Corbett that Lilley came to Shrewsbury as instructor. He (Lilley) was out of a job at the time and advertised in the ringing press. He was a joiner and cabinet maker (an excellent tradesman as 1 saw from some of his work. He made himself a fine roll-top desk and when the old bells were pulled out of St. Chad's he made pipe racks for the churchwardens out of some of the old oak). Mr. Corbett was able to get him taken on as estate carpenter on the Longnor Estate and the work he did for ringing in the area is. I think. too well known for me to relate here.

On the outbreak of hostilities Mr. Corbett got a clerical job in Shrewsbury connected with the military (in the K.S.L.I.) and attained the rank of major. He continued his ringing at St. Chad's and rang the 3rd in the first peal on the recast hells. This was Boh Major on the back eight. rung half-muffled for Lord Roberts. conducted, of course, by C. R. L. from the tenor and claimed to be the heaviest eight rung to a peal of Major in the Midlands, which it was, the tenor weighing a few pounds short of two tons.
Major Corbett rang some 20 peals in the four standard methods, mostly for the Salop Guild. I only rang one peal with him, that being Grandsire Triples at Condover on January 9th. 1915, half-muffled for George Taylor. 1 well remember it rained heavily that afternoon and I got very wet cycling the nine miles from Church Stretton. On approaching this old world village, I mel Major Corbett walking, with a long stick or staft, at least five feet long. Lilley called Holt's Ten Part, which he knew from A to Z. Some time later he told me he had called this composition ' more times than any man living or dead ' and had 'circled it eight times.' I rang the tenor to this peal. Tom Stedman, a local smallholder, rang the 7th; he was a tall gaunt man with rather big feet. An old countryman with a dry sense of humour once vexed him by telling him his toes were a long way from the ground when he was lying 0,7 his back. Of those who rang that day, I think there are only three of us left. Gearge Jones retired from the railway some years ago and went to live near Leebotwood and 1 have not seen him for a long time; E. Maurice Atkins was a lieutenant in the R.E.. stationed a: Shrewsbury, and is now secretary of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers

This may have been the last peal Major Corbett rang, as I cannot recall that he rang any more, though he came to the meetings from time to time. For one thing he was a very busy man. His father having died he had the estate to supervise, and he was also on a large number of public bodies. was interested in the Shropshire and West Midland Agricultural Show and the Shrewsbury Flower Show. He was a magistrate, and also. believe, a county councillor.
When the Guild was re-formed on a county basis in 1926 he was elected Master and took the chair at the annual meetings. and any other meeting he would occasionally atend.
The last time I saw him was on a meeting day, sitting in a wheel chair outside St. Chad's Church. completely crippled with arthritis and his hands like chalk. It was not so very long after that he died.

One who took part in the first peal on the augmented bells of Newton Nottage will remember it. Although there seemed to be no great interest on the part of the local P.C.C.. he succeeded in persuading them to sponsor the augmentation and rehanging of the bolls. he organised the appeal for the cost and filled in the application for the faculty. Afterwards he worked with the bell hanger on the job Now he has rung the first peal on a bell with his name on it.

ERADICATING A SMEAR

WIDELY publicised have been the remarks made by the Bishop of Dunwich at the dedication of Eye bells, at which he said:-
'In some churches, though not in Eye, the bellringers entered the tower to ring the bells calling people to worship and warning them the service was about to begin. And then we see them leaving the church after proclaiming something of the Gospel through the bells. They themselves slink off to the nearest pub to refresh themselves after their energetic action.'
Mr. L. E. Last, of Hoxne, chairman of the West Central District of the Suffolk Guild of Change Ringers, has given the following well-reasoned reply to the report of the dedication that appeared in 'The East Anglian Daily Times.' He hopes that his letter may help to eradicate the smear.

- The report of the dedication of the bells of Eye, which appeared under the title "A Bishop Critical of Some Bellringers," calls for a public reply, which might presumptuously be given the corollary title of "Some Bellringers Critical of a Bishop." For many of the ringers present this otherwise dignified and pleasant service was quite marred by the Bishop, who saw fit once again to devote a major part of his address to the condemnation of that very small number of ringers who may still persist in outmoded Victorian habits responsible in the past for the old jingle "Ringers and singers-no home-bringers."
'Surely the Bishop could think of more effective and less offensive methods of dealing with this problem, if and where it exists, than by using the joyous occasion of the dedication of bells to make public reference to ringers who "do not stay but slink off to the nearest pub to refresh themselves after their energetic action." For instance, a real attempt by the incumbent to reform these alcoholics, or alternatively to deny them the use of the bells, would at least indicate that some welcome interest was being taken in the bellringers' activities. Granted the Bishop did not intend that his criticism should apply indiscriminately to the general body of ringers, for he specifically excluded non-existent change-ringers at the Eye Parish Church.
' It is, however, difficult to see what useful purpose was served by this public attack upon a practice which has almost entirely disappeared. In far too many towers today the bells hang silent and the recruitment of ringers is an urgent problem, but parents who heard. or have since read, the Bishop's remarks, could hardly be blamed for discouraging their children from joining our ranks. It may be that the Bishop is unaware of this problem. for usually a very special effort is made by ringers involving much travelling to ensure that the Bishop, like the lady in the nursery rhyme, "shall have music wherever he goes."
'A recent survey conducted by the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers revealed that a high proportion of ringers also serve the Church as churchwardens, organists, choristers or vergers. There is also, as the Bishop must know, a flourishing "Clerical Guild of Ringers," and strong societies exist at all our universities. The Bishop should really join one of the many enjoyable day coach tours organised by Suffolk ringers. He could then note the abstemious habits of the present generation of ringers, who realise that the intricacies and delight of modern change-ringing methods demand a sound body and a clear mind, and that ringing is an art ill-served by brains bemused by alcohol.
'I shall no doubt be accused of exaggerating the illeffects of the Bishop's criticism, which many of the ringers present considered to be uncharitable, unjust and, to say the least, in rather bad taste. I trust that the above reply may help to eradicate the smear, and in all humiliation request that a new theme may be found for future dedication services.'

In their issue of June 18th, 'The East Anglian Daily Times' print this editorial, under the heading 'Ring Out. Wild Bells!':
'Many people, no doubt, will have been mildly surprised to discover from the Bishop of Dunwich that it is essential to be a Christian, an Anglican, a regular churchgoer and, preferably, a teetotaller in order to ring the bells in the parish church of Eye.

There is a serious shortage of bellringers. Everywhere in England church bells are mute when they should be sending out their tidings and their melodious benison because there is no one practical enough to ring the changes.

We confess to believing-up to now-that the chief requirement in a bellringer is an ability to ring bells and a certain awareness of their purpose and message. But we cannot appreciate or understand any theological or philosophical disapproval of an Anglican congregation being summoned to worship by an efficient Mohammedan if need be-though the latter's spiritual superiors might have more reason to object.
'What is understandable is that the spokesman of the Suffolk Guild of Change Ringers should have felt it necessary to express his regret at the Bishop's public condemnation of bellringers who "slink off to a pub" after their labours are over instead of staying for the service.

This may be reprehensible behaviour in the eyes of the Church, but it surely did not merit such ill-timed condemnation. Is this type of bellringer more deserving of episcopal public censure than the thousands who slink off to pubs at noon every Sunday-without even ringing church bells beforehand?

Advice Given to 1,000 Towers Since the War

MORE DEMANDS FOR TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE'S SERVICE INSTALLATION OF BELLS IN NEW CHURCHES - COUNCIL PREFER LIVE BROADCASTS ... MAJORITY VOTE FOR GREAT YARMOUTH FOR NEXT VISIT

During 1961 the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee has again increased. Advice on bell and tower restoration was given during the past year in 81 churches, 14 more than in 1960.

They may be analysed geographically, thus: Berkshire 4. Buckinghamshire 3, Cambridgeshire 1. Cardiganshire 4. Cheshire 4, Cornwall 1. Derbyshire 1. Devonshire 9. Dorset 2, Essex 2. Gloucestershire 2, Hampshire 1, Herefordshire 1, Kent 2, Lincolnshire 5, Northamptonshire 8, Oxfordshire 4, Pembrokeshire 1. Somerset 14, Surrey 2, Sussex 2, Staffordshire 2. Warwickshire 2, Yorkshire 2, Overseas 2. Total 81.

Approximately 75 per cent. of these churches were visited by members of the Committee; the other inquiries were dealt with by correspondence. It will be seen that two of these were from overseas-one in South Africa and the other in British Columbia.

In five towers advice was given on augmentation and in 13 towers on recasting. Thirty-two sought advice on rehanging or were advised by members of the Committee to completely rehang their bells. In 31 churches advice was given on the repair and maintenance of existing gear, and 19 towers sought advice on sound control and modification. In six towers considerable damage had been done to masonry.

ARCHITECT'S FEES ON BELLFOUNDER'S

 CONTRACTNo outstanding or unusual problems were reported. Mr. Osborn reported the case of an architect charging professional fees on the total amount of a bellfounder's contract. The Rev. J. G. M. Scott encountered another who specified bells to be hung 'dead' complete with gudgeons and bearings. The convener has given over 20 lectures to diocesan, architectural and other professional organisations.
The members of the Committee continue to find manty towers in a neglected state. and urge all Guilds and Associations to emphasise the need for regular inspection, adjustment and lubrication of bell gear. They are urged to do this not only to their members but also to rural deans, diocesan authorities and incumbents. In this way the advice may reach the more neglected towers.
The Committee met in November to revise the Council's Handbook on the Preservation and Repair of Bells, Bellframes and Gear. The revised edition is now in the hands of the printers. Mr. Austin has prepared an article on the installation of bells in. new churches for publication in professional journals.
It may be of interest to record that since the last war the Committee has now given advice on restoration work in approximately 1,000 towers.
(Signed) FREDERICK SHARPE, F.S.A.. F.I.O.B. (convener), B. AUSTIN, A.R.I.B.A. J. W. CLARKE. F. E. COLLINS. M.I.Inst.E., J. FREEMAN. E. H. LEWIS, M.A.. W. A. OSBORN. J. G. M. SCOTT. M.A., B. D. THRELFALL, M.A., A.M.I.C.E.
The president, in moving the adoption of the report, said the work of the Committee had increased and involved a tremendous amount of travelling. Since the war the Committee had given advice to over 1.000 towers.
Mr. Brian Austin, who seconded, has written a report on the installation of bells in new churches. In that report. he said. he had to decide whether to criticise his profession or the clergy. The basis of the report was really a direct approach to the Church diocesan authorities throughout this country telling them about bells in new churches. Mr. Geoffrey Dodds had written an article on the subject, and he thought the more articles they could put before the Church authorities the better. His report had been received fairly favourably in architectural magazines. but not so favourably in Church publications. He thought they must as a committee try to circulate the report to every diocese in the country, and if possible get a. precis in their diocesan leafiets.

Mr. P. A. Corby regretted that this important report was always received by the Council late in the proceedings. He hoped that in future it would be received earlier as the discussion would be of more use than some others. In regard to architectural fees on a bell-hanging job, he had a feeling that such fees were charged when the bell-hanging was a sub-contract. The professional fee on restoration work was 10 per cent., which was very considerable. He thought the Committee should inquire intothe question of fees.
The Rev. John Scott quoted a case where is church had an estimate from the bellfounders and the archilect drew up a specification on this information and was prepared to collar the fee.

Mr. W. A. Osborn said if there was an architect's fee on top of an 8 -bell contract it might make all the difference in regard to the number of the bells. He proposed that Mr. Harry Sanger be added to the Committee to take over his work.

Mr. Barnett seconded and this was agreed to.
Mr. Geoffrey Dodds asked that all Associations should keep a record of silent towers and make certain that the bells were maintained.

Before the report was adopted a vole of thanks was passed to the Committee for their excellent work.

THE METHODS COMMITTEE

The Committee's report stated that with the completion and publication of the Collection of Minor Methods the Committee has turned its attention to the Collection of Triples Methods, and discussion has taken place as to the content of the proposed Collection as the Committee, as now constituted, is not of quite the same opinion as its predecessor. The discussion is now drawing to a close and will. it is hoped, result in a useful Collection of Triples Methods.
Last year we were asked to make recommendations as to the inclusion or otherwise of in peal of Nightingale Treble Place Bob Major. We have carefully considered the matter and are of the opinion that the peal conforms with the Conditions required for Peals and should, therefore, be included in the Analysis.
We would draw the attention of the Council to the unsatisfactory position which has arisen as a result of the renaming, at the Council's request, of certain extensions by the Leicester Guild. We would recommend to the Leicester Guild that the method now named Morecombelake Surprise Royal, which is the correct extension of Lyme Surprise Major, be renamed Lyme Surprise Royal, and the method now named Coalville Surprise Royal, which is the correct extension of Whitwick Surprise Major, be renamed Whitwick Surprise Royal in accordance with the Council's Report on Extension.
(Signed) C. K. LEWIS (convener), F. T. BLAGROVE. K. W. H. FELSTEAD, J. R MAYNE.
Mr. C. K. Lewis, in moving the adoption of the report, asked those who wanted to ring new methods to make certain that they were proper extensions. If they had any doubt they should consult the Committee. It was rather regrettable that this cropped up.

Mr. F. T. Blagrove seconded.
Mr. Shirley Burton said they changed Whitwick Surprise and Lyme Surprise because the extensions to Royal were not perfect. The other extensions. Morecombelake and Coalville. were worse because there were only three leads like the parent lead.
Mr. Brian Warwick quoted Mr. John Mayne as saying that he did not think Whitwick and Lyme extended at all.
Mr. Blagrove replied that at that time Mr. Mayne was not a member of the Methods Committee. The position was clearly stated in the Methods Committee's report on extension.
Mr. A. D. Barker: Can the Methods Committee publish the names of methods that will extend?
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead: All we ask is that static extensions should be named' as such.
The report was adopted, hut there were three votes against.
A vote of thanks to the Methods Committee for their work was moved by Mr. W. F. Moreton.

AMENDMENT TO DECISIONS

As amendment to the Decisions arising from an exchange of bells in a peal was submitted by Mr. E. A. Barnett, who moved:-

To amend the third item of Conditions Required for Peals' in Section D (1) of the Council's Decisions by substituting the following for the existing wording:Each bell shall be rung throughout by the same person and there shall be no exchange of bells by any of the ringers during the ringing of a peal, provided. however, that this shall not prohibit the ringing of any bell throughout the peal hy two persons at the same time, where the weight or go make this essential.
Mr. W. B. Cartwright seconded.
Mr. B. Threlfall suggested that the last word of the motion he changed from essential to advisable.
Both the mover and seconder were adverse to a change and the motion was carried

COUNCIL PREFER LIVE BROADCASTS

A particularly interesting debate arose from the following motion. proposed by Dr. D. N. Layton and seconded by Mr. A. V. Davis:-- That this Council acknowledges the successful efforts of the Broadcasting Committee to ensure a higher standard of ringing broadcasts by the B.B.C.., but regrets the fact that the programme entitled Christmas Bells" broadcast on Christmas morning has been a recording on the last two occasions and asks the Broadcasting Committee to try to persuade the B.B.C. to revert to a "live " broadcast of actual ringing to mark the Christmas Festival.'
Dr. Layton said at Christmas. 1961, the B.B.C. used recordings of bells. Admittedly the recordings were special ones made for the occasion. but he thought the programme as such did not speak of spontaneity or genuineness. In 1960 the Council passed a resolution against the use of recorded bells in preference to genuine bells.
During the last few years the Broadcasting Committee had been successful in raising the standard of broadcast ringing in the country.

and it was better than it was a few years ago. He felt the motion, if passed, would strengthen the position of the Broadcasting Committee in discussing the matter with the B.B.C. The Committee would be able to say that the use of recorded bells was undesirable and then try and persuade them to have live broadcasts It must be admitted that there were technical difficulties in broadcasting live on Christmas Day, but it used to be done live and he did not think they were insurmountable.

Mr. A. V. Davis, in seconding, said on Christmas Day they celebrated the birth of the Lord. That was an event which took place and changed the whole course of the world: but for that event many of the great events would not have happened, and if that had not happened they should not be discussing that matter that day.

REALLY GENUINE

He did not want it to be felt that Dr. Layton and himself were against recordings, but they were not the real thing. They asked the Council to say that Christmas morning was a day when a live broadcast should take place and the broadcast really genuine.

Mr. Davis said he asked the B.B.C. to change to live broadcasts, and their reply was that records were more convenient. They also referred to atmospherics. He would say that there was no more peaceful place in this country than Christmas morning. He also disagreed with another reason put forward by the B.B.C. when they said they could not get arlistes to perform on Christmas morning.

We suggest that the ringers should be the recorders of the bells on Christmas morning.
$\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{H}$. Sanger said the facts were these. The Committee' said three years ago that they were in sympathy with live broadcasts but the facts were that his committee could only advise. This was a matter of policy. If the B.B.C. said they were to be recorded. much as they might deprecate it, they would continue to broadcast that way.

QUESTION OF WORK

Mr. J. R. Cooper said most of them like to have Christmas Day without work. That would be achieved for many people with a recording. Mr. R. S. Anderson: Will this resolution be any help to the Committee or will it be a hindrance?
Mr. Vernon Bottomley asked the Council not to lose sight of the fact that the bells were recording for the Christmas message.

Mr. J. T. Dunwoody said he recently visited the head of broadcasting in Northern Ireland. 'He said to me: "What is your grouse? Have you come to criticise? We are trying our best to get open bells. and if we can do it we will, but there are certain places in the country districts where we are not prepared to send a unit for bells and another to take the service."
Dr. Layton said there was no intention to write to the headquarters of the B.B.C., but a request to the Broadcasting Committee to keep this motion in mind. There was no desire to interfere with the B.B.C. All they were asking the Council to do was to express the Council's opinion.
The motion was carried.

ONE AFFILIATION FEE

There was little sympathy for the second motion before the Council:-

That this Council asks all affiliated territorial Societies to consider
(i) whether non-resident life members* subscriptions should be uniform
(ii) whether without further payment membership of one affiliated territorial Society should entitle a ringer to nonresident life membership of all other such Societies.
Mr. A. D. Barker: I have been requested to propose this motion. Personally, I cannot see any treasurer agreeing to it.
Mrs. Barker: On behalf of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, I beg to second
Mr. F. W. Perrens: In view of the way this is presented I cannot believe the Council is in sympathy with it.
Mr. F. E. Haynes: I should like to protest.
Mr. Barker: This was carried by a small majority at our meeting.
Mr. Threlfall: But you are representatives and not delegates.
The motion was defeated

NEXT MEETING

The hon. secretary reported that no specific invitation had been received for the next meeting. The Standing Committee recommended that the next meeting should take place in London, and at the same time Canon A. G. G. Thurlow said that the Norwich Diocesan Association would welcome the Council.
Voting took place. There were 67 for Great Yarmouth and 48 for London.
Canon Thurlow said it was very kind of the Council to vote in favour of Great Yarmouth. We will have to see about the Town Hall. It might have to be in London.'

PRESIDENT'S AMERICAN VISIT

Canon Thurlow said after the Whitsun meeting next year their president was going to accept a kiad and happy invitation from the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers to visit the United States. Mr. Sharpe was going to give a series of lectures on bells, tuning and composition. At this handbell festival some 300 teams come and compete. He thought it would be very nice if they could record their thanks for issuing this invitation and paying every cent of his expenses.
The announcement was received with great pleasure, and the Council decided to record its thanks at this generous gesture between two bell-loving organisations.

AUSTRALIAN AND NEW ZEALAND ASSOCIATION

The hon. treasurer announced that the New South Wales Association was reconstituted last month as the Australian and New Zealand Association. They all agreed that this was a very important step on the other side. Mr. Philip Gray was again to represent the enlarged Association.

THE PRESIDENCY

The hon. secretary said that at the meeting of the Standing Committee he was instructed to call attention to the decision of the Nomination Committee in 1956: That normally the president and vice-president should hold office for six years and that nominations for these offices must be sent in two calendar months before the meeting.

MRS. FLETCHER
Mr. E. H. Lewis said that by her absence Mrs. Fletcher had broken a 47 years' record of attendance at meetings of the Council. He proposed that the good wishes of the Council be conveyed to her. Agreed.

VOTES OF THANKS

Mr. Harold Rogers proposed the customary vote of thanks to the president and the platform of officers for their work during the past year. Everything had been very efficiently done.
The president proposed a vote of thanks to the Lard Mayor of Cardiff, the Bishop of Llandaff, Mr. T. Stephens (Master of the Llandaff' and Monmouth Association), Canon W. E. C. Thomas (Vicar of Cardiff), Messrs. Harrington. Roderick and D. King, and Miss Ridiard. Thanks were also accorded to local incumbents and tower keepers and to the Ferndale Choir for their concert.

THE SOCIAL

There was a large attendance at the social evening held at the Park Hotel on Tuesday. The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead recited and the Rev. Jomn Scott sung ditties.

VETERANS' REUNION IN LONDON

Thirty-eight veterans, with a total age of 2,821 years, ranging in age from 90 to 62 , attended the veterans' reunion, organised by Mr. John Euston, at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, on June 16th. Figure expert A. D. Barker checked the totals, and John Euston was able to announce with pride that the average age of the assembly was $74 \cdot 237$.
In addition to the usual ringing, a short organ recital was given by Mr. L. Warner, preceding the service conducted by Mr. J. Tomsett, a ringer and lay reader of the Guildford diocese. His thoughtful address concluded with the reading of the names of those who had passed to higher service during the year.
Tea in the Fanmakers' Hall was a splendid meal and was provided by Mrs. Davis, assisted by Mesdames Deal. E. E. Sanders and M Baker, and the Misses M. Prockson, G. Hindle and A. Deeley.
They were warmly thanked and received a long round of applause. Thanks were also accorded to the Vicar (Rev. Stanley Moore), Mr. Tomsett and the organist.
Those present were: H. Stalham, 90 : R. Sanders. 88 ; Mrs. Hazelden. 87 ; C. Hazelden 86 : J. S. Hawkins, 83 ; E. G. Fenn. 81 : J. W: Chapman. 80: Dr. E. L. Taylor, G. Marriner and W. Shepherd. 79; T. R. Dennis, 78; E. Barnett and F. Barker. 77: W. H. Hewett and A. Hunter, $76 ;$ C. A. Hughes, E. W. Furbank and F. W. Elliott. 75; A. W. Coles, P. H. Avey, T. Collins and F. Turner, 74: A. Newell and C. E. Norris, 73 ; L. Stilwell and Mrs. E. M. Mitchell. 72: A. D. Barker, 71 : A. G. Mason and R. Newman, $70 ;$ H. W. Clark, 69 : G. F. Oakshott and J. Marks. 67: W. Insley, 66 : W. C. G. Wainwright. 64 : F. J. Cullum and B. Baker, $63 ; \mathrm{H}^{2} \mathrm{~J}$. Hazell and H. Audley, 62.
At the informal social which followed, quite a number of apologies were read, and it was hoped that we may have them with us next year. Reminiscences were given by a number of those present, including Dr. E. Leonard Taylor and Mr. Hazelden. John Euston staged some items of interest, and at 8 p.m., when parting time came, the general view of all was that it was the best meeting of veterans they had yet attended Such a verdict could not have been possible had the veterans not had the willing help and co-operation of the under60 's.

EYE BELLS REDEDICATED Bishop: Ringers Slinking off to Nearest Pub?

THE clerk of the weather provided warm, bright sunshine on June 9th for the rededication of the eight bells of the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, at Eye.
Some 35 ringers from Suffolk, Norfolk and Essex joined Eye residents and visitors from a wide area at the service, conducted by the Vicar, Canon Donald Rea, Rural Dean. The organ was played by Mr. David Jones, an Eye ringer. The Mayor of Eye, Dr. M. ClarkeWilliams, was present.

While the congsregation assembled handhells were rung near the tower by four ringers, under Mr. Leonard E. Last, of Hoxne, chairman of the West Central District of the Suffolk Guild.
Mr. Robert E. Lester, of Needham Market, the District Ringing Master, was in charge of ringing for the day, and he and Mr. Hubert Mitson, of Buxhall, had travelled to Eye the day before to make rope adjustments, raise the bells and see that all was in order for the occasion. This was necessary because, since April, 1959, when the bells were last rung except for the try-out at the end of rehanging last December, the tower captain, Frederick Brunning, as well as three other elderly ringers Thomas Turner, his brother Harry, and William E. 'Rowley" Musk), all of whom had rung for many years, had died, and at the moment none of the six ringers left at Eye has been appointed captain. No ringing, other than by visiting bands, is taking place. However, it is hoped that recruits will come forward now that the rough going of the bells, has been cured.

MILES GRAYE TENOR

The 1640 Miles Graye tenor has been recast. Her reputed weight varied from 21 to 24 cwt . and her note $E$ flat. At the foundry she was found to be a thin bell, her note nearly down to D and her weight 18 cwt .3 qr .16 lb . She now weighs 19 cwt . 1 qr .9 lb . and her note is $D$.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have supplied all new fittings, including clappers, and Messrs. Gibbons, builders, of Crowfield, Suffolk, carried out all the other work in connection with the overhaul. Two large reinforced concrete heams have been built into the south and north walls immediately under the main wooden hearers of the bell chamber floor. These hearers are said to be the original timbers of the date the tower was built- 1461 to 1471.

The bell chamber has been. refloored and the old frame strengthened. the architects, Messis. Fletcher Watson and Partners, of Norwich, saying that it is fit for further service, although many people think that it is a pity that the bells and all the new work were not put into a new frame. The cost is the principal reason for one not having been installed.

One experienced person expressed the opinion that the existing frame, which may well be the original when the tower first had eight bells over 200 years ago, never had been sufficiently sturdy for its 4 ton ring.

Observations made in the bell chamber during ringing on dedication day indicated that even more strengthening and securing are desirable. Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston, the Guild's technical adviser, is making a report and recommendations on what he saw that day.

Nevertheless, the general opinion of ringers was that the bells handled and sounded well: the new 'boss,' after her major operation, has been accepted in complete harmony by the seven other members of the family.

BELLS NOISY
All the same, the bells are noisy near the tower, as they have always been. Nothing has been done to block up any part of the large twin-louvred windows on each face of the tower and, in these days of reduction of sound from bells, it is curious to notice that the west. louvres are set more open than any of the others, yet these west ones are those facing the built-up area of the town, the others facing open country. The bells swing above the louvre window-sills.

The tower is a beautiful example of panelled flintwork, and it was pleasing to see the Cross of St. George flying from the tall flagstaff-t he first time a flag had flown from it for nine years (the Coronation).

For the dedication the procession of crucifer, taperers, churchwardens (Mr. Victor J. Cornish and Mr. Charles W. Woods), the Vicar and the Bishop of Dunwich moved from the chancel to the tower. The Bishop rededicated the bells, the token rope being handed to him by Claude Rush (who had been responsible for raising the $£ 1,500$ in the fund for the restoration). The ringers in the opening rounds included Mrs. Doris Pallett, one of the Eye ringers.

In his address the Bishop thanked all who had subscribed or helped in any other way. He referred to the four departed ringers (mentioned above)-he also included them in prayers at the altar at the end of the service. He spoke of the former Eye bell-hanging firm of George Day and Son, who did work in towers in many counties from about 1800 to 1930. Miss Ella Day and Mrs. Dorothy Penson, daughters, and Mrs. Hubert Day, daughter-inlaw of Frederick Day, of the firm, still remembered by some older ringers, were in the congregation.

The collection ( $£ 2015 \mathrm{~s} 2 \mathrm{~d}$.) and donations received since the dedication service was announced a few weeks before amounted to $£ 37$ 1s. 2d. for the Bell Fund.

VICTORIAN STIGMA

The Bishop, in his address, said that as one approached Eye from any direction the tower reared itself as a witness to the presence of God in their midst, and the bells in it remind them that the tower lived-it did not just point to heaven.

- Ringers have often heard mention of their brethren who ring and do not then go to the service.' It is perhaps unfortunate that the large congregation at Eye on this occasion should hear the Bishop say that in some churches we see ringers leave after the toll-in and slink off to the nearest pub to refresh themselves after their energetic action.' and it is certainly unfortunate that the report of the service in the local newspaper. The East Anglian Daily Times.' should have to print these words under the sub-heading 'Ringers Criticised.' The Victorian stigma sticks!

Refreshments for the ringers and their friends were served in the Conservative Hall hy the ladies of the church, and afterwards the number of ringers was nearly doubled.

The bells were given no rest until late evening.

RINGING MASTER ORDAINED

On Trinity Sunday, in his Cathedral, the Lord Bishop of Rochester ordained as deacon to serve his title at St. Augustine's, Gillingham. Peter N. Bond, Ringing Master of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association. Peter, who is well known in ringing circles in most parts of the country, commenced his ringing at Brasted. under Mr. E. H. Lewis. He. has the distinction, possibly unique, of having rung at all the ringable towers in his native county of Kent.

A former Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, he has from time to time enlivened the columns of 'The Ringing World' with his pungent contributions. He has served for some years as a lay reader and has given up his teaching career to enter the church. Readers of 'The Ringing World' will wish him well in his new life, and rejoice that there has been such a notable addition to the ranks of clerical ringers.

At the same ordination. the Rev. H. R Silvester, curate at Sevenoaks Parish Church, was ordained priest. Members of the Sevenoaks band and other friends representing the Kent County Association were happy to be invited to join the Rochester Cathedral ringers in a long touch of Grandsire Caters before the service.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The South Wales District joined the Western District for their quarterly meeting at Bristol on June 2 nd, when ringing at the Cathedral preceded a service at St. Thomas' (City) Church, conducted by the Vicar.
Tea in St. Thomas' Hall was followed by the business meeting. at which Mrs. R. E. Smith welcomed the South Wales Branch and thanked the incumbent and Miss Johnson for making the arrangements.
Monthly practices: July 10th. Winscombe: August 22nd, Mangotsfield; October 16th, Chipping Sodbury; November 12th. St. Werburgh's, Bristol.

PERSONALITIES OF

There must be something about the Cheshire air that produces good ringers! Since the war, this Association has gone from strength to strength, and has never been short of promising talent. The expression The Cheshire Men, spans 15 years, and as soon as an older man retires from peal ringing there is always a competent young ringer-of either sex-ready to take his place with the experts. In fact, many of the regular peal ringing band today were not even ringing ten years ago! This continued enthusiasm is largely maintained through the example of Messrs. John Worth and C. Kenneth Lewis who, with other experienced ringers, do everything possible to encourage the right type of young people. One of the most enthusiastic and accomplished of the younger generation is Mr. Robert B. Smith, of Marple, Cheshire. who in less than seven years from learning to handle a bell has already conducted the record length of :1ajor and also the record length of Royal!

Bob Smith, as he is usually known, was born in Manchester on January 10th, 1938. After passing the 11 -plus examination from All Saints Primary School. Marple, he attended the Hyde County Grammar, where he took his G.C.E. He continued his education at the Hyde Technical and Aft School and at Stock port College, and is now studying for the Diploma in Technology at the Loughborough College of Advanced Technology.

Bob was taught to ring on the six bells at Marple in 1955 by Mr. Jack Pryor (now of Cardiff). It was entirely due to the latter's enthusiasm in Bob's early stages of ringing that he persevered to advance. He will always be grateful for the help and advice that has been given him by more experienced ringers, but he feels he owes more to Jack Pryor than he or any other person will imagine. Bob's first peal was on October 6ih, 1956, at Burbage, near Buxton, Derbyshire, and it was Kent and Oxford T.B. Minor, conducted by William A. Smith, who is now employed by the British Atomic Energy Authority. His first peal as conductor was Plain Bob Major at Bredbury, Cheshire. under the watchful eye of Brian J. Woodruffe, another clever young ringer. who arranged and conducted the majority of Bob's first 50 peals.

Up to the end of March this year Bob has rung 400 peals, of which he has conducted 73. These have included peals, rung and conducted, on all numbers of bells in a wide variety of methods. On handbells, through ringing with the Leicester band, he has taken part in the second peal of Cambridge Maximus and the first of Yorkshire Maximus, both conducted by Peter J. Staniforth. These are certainly amazing performances, which gave him much pleasure.

On tower bells, he was delighted to have taken part in the peal of London Royal at Wells Cathedral, conducted by C. Kenneth Lewis, when one of the finest-ever exhibitions of tenor ringing was given by that 'great little man, Edward Jenkins. Another peal with which he was pleased to be associated was John Worth's 1,000th peal-London S. Major at Christ Church, Macclesfield. Bob enjoys long length ringing more than ordinary peal ringing. As the end is so far away, he doesn't start thinking about it half-way through, and consequently finds it much easier to concentrate.

MR. ROBERT B. SMITH,
The Chishire Association.
Outside ringing, Boh enjoys a wide variety of amusements. Before taking up peal ringing he was captain of his local football and cricket team, and still plays in the odd game or two He enjoys most indoor and outdoor games, and finds table tennis a good exercise. He prefers a mixture of half popular and half classical music, and sang in the church choir until his voice broke. He is also a keen churchman, and was in the Church Lads' Brigade between the ages of 10 and 21 .
For several very important reasons, Bob will not be able to continue peal ringing at the rate he has been doing, to ring 400 peals in $5 \frac{1}{2}$ years. After leaving school, he served an apprenticeship with the engineering firm of Messrs. Muirless, Bickerton and Day Ltd., of Hazel Grove, Cheshire, and during this period he took hoth Ordinary and Higher National Certificates in Mechanical Engineering. On completing his apprenticeship in January, 1959, he was employed as a jig and tool design draughtsman, until starting his present training at Loughborough College. After taking his, final exams, he hopes to follow the career of production engineer, and will naturally not have so much spare time.
Bob Smith is the ideal type of young ringer. Although very keen and enthusiastic in his peal ringing, he does not neglect his Sunday service responsibilities. In a few years' ringing he has achieved more than most people do in a lifetime, and when he does have to slow down his ringing activities he can feel assured that, although only 24 , he has already earned a respected name for himself. The Exercise will wish him success in his chosen career

APACE.

Warsop Disqualified From

 Ringing ContestWishing to test the reputation won by the Warsop band, the Derby District put pressure on them to give a demonstration of accurate striking at the District's annual contest by advertising this demonstration in "The Ringing World, and the local papers, and then by slipping them into the contest, unknown to the judges, to have their worth judged against the other bands. All this was rather unfair since. as Herbert Rooke, their leader, pointed out. even Warsop ringers have been known to make a trip. They measured up all right, and started by winning the contest.
After tea had been enjoyed by about 120 ringers and friends in the Village Hall, the Vicar of Horsley introduced Mr. J. Else, the churchwarden. Mr. Else had promised a year ago before the first ringing contest to donate a silver cup, to be known as the "Horsley Cup. This he then produced: then, typical of his unpredictable generosity, he also produced a beautiful silver model bell, which he presented to Miss Gwen Harrison for her service to the Church and to ringing (and for feeding 120 ringers).
The judges, Messrs. Roger Baldwin and David Friend, then announced that although Warsop had won the contest, they were disqualified for not being resident members. They placed the 15 teams: 1 Derby Cathedral, 2 Derby, St. Peter's, 3 Etwail and Sawley (joint).
The president, the Rev. R. A. Beddoes, Provost of Derby, presented the cup to Harold Taylor, leader of the Cathedral band, and mentioned the progress of the Association during the past year, and of the value of Association membership.
After commending the organisers for their most unusual rules, which appeal to call change ringers and Surprise ringers alike, and commenting on the spirit which drew 15 teams from one district to the contest. Mr. Rooke led his team to further glory by ringing a 360 of Kent T.B. Minor which was awe-inspiring in its machine-like precision.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH dIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Monmouth Branch

The Monmouth Branch held a very enjoyable meeting at Marshfield on May 12 th, with some 40 ringers and friends attending. Two ringing clergymen officiated at the choral service-the Vicar of Marshfield (Rev. R. E. L. Jones), who gave the address, and the Rev. Ivor Richards (Vicar of Llanarth), who read the lesson.

A fine tea was provided in the Church Hall by Mrs. R. E. L. Jones and helpers, who were sincerely thanked by Mr. Ron. Lucas.

Mr. Brian Neil, of Marshfield, was elected to membership. Mention was made of the Rev. Roy Hallett's progress in building a band at Caldicot. Thanks were expressed to Mr . Shakell, of Rumney, for putting Marshfield bells in order for the meeting.

Next meeting. Chepstow, jointly with the South Forest Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

THE BIRTH

$\mathrm{A}^{\mathrm{N}}$NOTHER page of Australian ringing history turned.' This comment aptly sums up the events of the Queen's birthday holiday week-end in Sydney, upon which ringers from four States converged.

The Victorian contingent (from St. Paul's, Melbourne: St. Patrick's, Melbourne; and St. Paul's, Bendigo) numbered 17. St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, sent two, and St. George's, Perth, one. With 20 visitors from interstate (and Peter Richards down from Armadale, where although towerless he is very active with handbells) the Sydney ringers had a job on their hands to organise a programme to take in the seven available towers. This they did very successfully.

On Saturday, June 2nd, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Major were heard at St Mary's Basilica, Double Norwich and Cambridge Major at St. Mark's, Darling Point, al leged rounds at St. Benedict's (good bells but sadly neglected and very heavy going-comically so). Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Minor at All Saints', Parramatta, and Stedman Doubles and Kent Minor at St. James*, Turramurra, together with rounds, call-changes, etc The host ringers drove hundreds of miles and consumed gallons of petrol transporting bands from one tower to another, often as much as 15 miles apart across this sprawling city.
In the evening, at All Saints', Parramatta, about 50 ringers, representing a truly Australian gathering, were present at an historic meeting The old N.S.W. Association last year changed its name to the Australian and New Zealand Association of Change-ringers. Recently they were renamed the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers (ANZAB). This body became the N.S.W. Branch of ANZAB. Victoria. South Australia and Western Australia applied for admission as branches and were accepted.

A DREAM COMES TRUE

Thus was realised the dream of many ringers or an Australia-and-New-Zealand-wide Association. Although New Zealand and the states of Queensland and Tasmania have expressed approval, they have not as yet formally formed branches. It is hoped that they will soon do so.

The first president of the newly-constituted ANZAB is Mr. J. J. F. Roper, of Melbourne. The secretary is Mr. T. W. Goodyer, of Sydney. and Mr. K. J. Minchinton, of Melbourne, becomes the treasurer. Mr. W. B. Pitcher, of Adelaide, has the dual post of peal secretary and editor of 'Ringing Towers" (which it is hoped will be published quarterly, probably in the months of August, November. February and May). Mr. P. M. J. Grey will be asked to represent the Association on the Central Council.

Sunday dawned fine and mild, and the visitors tried their hand at the light six at Christ Church, St. Laurence (but without the fifthno rope), and rang for service at Turramurra and Si. Mary's Basilica. After lunch five ringers disappeared to attempt a handbell peal of Bob Royal, which they successfully brought round. A quarter of Bob Minor at Parramatta was also successful. but one of Grandsire Triples at St. Mary's came to grief.

THE WARNER CUP

Dear Sir-As my very old friend Mr. Hattersley has written you on this subject, may I say that my feeling, and the unanimous feeling of all the ringers I have spoken to, is that this or any other cup is a mistake. We fully appreciate Messrs. Warner's kindly motives, but, to quote a well-known ringer. 'We don't want ringing brought down to the level of football. -Yours truly.

J ARMIGER TROLLOPE

MR. J. J. F. ROPER,
the first president of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers.

The centenary of the rather, pleasant eight at St. Mark's, Darling Point, was the event of the evening. Much ringing was done by visitors. local and erstwhile ringers. This was followed by a service of thanksgiving in the church, at the conclusion of which a course of Grandsire Caters was rung 'in hand.' A magnificent supper. culminating in a large birthday cake surmounted by silver bells, concluded a very satisfying function.
Monday was the day of the annual ring of the N.S.W. Branch and the Joyner Cup ring for interstate teams. These competitions were held on Sydney's newest ring. St. Paul's, Burwood. The N.S.W. Association Shield for Doubles was won by St. Jude's, Randwick, the Duncan Shield for Minor and Triples by St Mary's, and N.S.W. won the Joyner Cup from Victoria. After a formal luncheon in the Church Hall there was ringing at Turramurra and at St. Mary's Basilica, where a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. Then it was time for the interstate ringers to make their way to the railway station or the airport, in order to be back at work on Tuesday.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  North Dorset Branch

Some 40 ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch at Stourton on June 9th, when the gardens looked their best. Unfortunately the ringing after the first few louches was upset by the tenor rope frequently slipping from the wheel. The bells were rehung on ball-bearings a year ago.

At the service the ringers were welcomed by the Rector, the Rev. H. G. Nicoll-Griffiths. Other clerical members taking part were the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore (chairman). J. M. Wright (Vicar of Maiden Bradley) and R. N. Longridge (hon. secretary)

Tea. with cream, at the Spread Eagle Hotel, was followed by the business meeting. The principal item here was the decision 10 attempt a peal or quarter by the Branch to mark the 80th anniversary of the Guild. with local attempts also on or near the Guild ' Ringing Sunday, September 16th, in affiliated towers. It was also decided to support both the Kilifi Bell Fund and the St. Paul's, Melbourne. Restoration Fund by a special collection at the next quarterly meeting. and by a donation of £5 from Branch funds.

Next quarterly meeting: Okeford Fitzpaine,

ELFCTRICAL INSTALLATIONS IN BELFRIES

Dear Sir.-I have read with great interes your leading article, taken from "The Irish Bell News." In many churches the electrical installation has been in use for many years and will shortly require rewiring. This would be the opportune time for the ringers to put their case to the P.C.C. for adequate and safe lighting in the ringing and bell chambers.
A few months ago I was taking part in a quarter peal at Gloucester Cathedral when the tower was twice plunged into darkness for short periods due to someone operating the wrong switch. A simple remedy would be for the tower circuit to be controlled by a separate main switch, which should be clearly labelled.
As to the lighting in the ringing chambers, it is preferable to use enclosed type lighting fittings mounted on the ceiling. but where the ceiling is very high they can be mounted on the wall at a suitable height to avoid glare to the ringers. An alternative method would be to replace the existing light fitting with a fitting housing more than one lamp, but care must be taken to ensure that lamps of the correct wattage are used or overheating will result
Before all the handymen rush off to install additional lights in their belfries, I would draw their attention to the booklet "Electric Wiring in Churches,' published by the Central Council for the Care of Churches, Church House. Westminster, S.W.I, price 6 d . In additional to specifying how the work should be carried out it also states that the work should only be carried out by an electrical contractor who is enrolled with the National Inspection Council for Electrical Installation Contracting.
I am in contact with one of the electrical engineers who prepared this booklet and am sending him a copy of your article with a recommendation that future amendments or editions of this booklet should include a paragraph stressing the importance of more than one light in the ringing chamber and that the main switch controlling the circuit should be clearly labelled with a suitable warning notice. - Yours sincerely.
M. J. PRYOR, Hon. Secretary.

Llandaft and Monmouth Association.

THE RINGERS' MAGAZINE'

Dear Sir,-I am, alas, in no position to help William Butler save the 'R.M. from extinction. 1 am only glad you put his letter on page 373 and not in with the obituaries.
These are the days of 'take-overs, and I wonder if 'R.W.' might formally adopt the supply of good matter which went into this splendid little publication and establish a magazine section' incorporating this and 'The Smiths and other similar articles.
The added sources of high-class matter would. if only by pressure of space. keep the bickering gentlemen confined within more stringent limits.-Yours sincerely,
Winchester. W.O. HAYTHORNE.
Note.-Feature articles dealing with one of the many varied sides of bells and ringing are always acceptable. Most issues of the R R.W. contain one or more articles of this nature.Ed.

TOWN PLANNING VANDALISM

Dear Sir,-For the edification of the Bishop of Dunwich. in Gravesend about a dozen years ago the still small voice of the bells started the movement which saved St. George's Church from being pulled down by the Corporation.

Now, the parish church at which I worship. which has no bells, is to be pulled down by the same people: it is one of town's best.

This presumably means that such details as a stained glass window, which was erected less than ten years ago for some hundreds of pounds. will be smashed to smithereens. The neighbouring school, set fire to before Easter was speedily got rid of.
It is a very hard thing, but when a few people like myself try to get these things preserved we are let down, and it is very hard trying to educate youth into reverence for the Church when it takes money off their parents to be thrown away.-Faithfully yours.
Gravesend. F.A. CLUETT.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

rIHE 77th annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association, held at Brighton on May 12 th, brought together the largest gathering of ringers at Brighton for some years. Approximately 124 sat down to tea, prepared by Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Percy and their helpers. The limitations of seating necessitated refusing those who had not notified the general secretary.

The ringing in the afternoon was at St. Nicholas' and St. Peter's Churches, and the service at St. Nicholas' was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. E. Walker), who gave an interesting address. The collection was for Church Expenses.

At the committee meeting previously held to make arrangements for the A.G.M., it was agreed to invite ringing clergy to the A.G.M. as our guests. This year we were pleased to have with us the Rev. P. L. Scott, Rector of Withyham.

The business meeting was presided over by the Master, Mr. R. V.Johnson, who welcomed the Rev. F. E. Walker and Mrs. Walker, the Rev. P. L. Scott, Mr. F. Rogers, Master of the Portsmouth and Winchester Guild, Mr. B. Jeffery, secretary of the East Grinstead and District Guild (who was accompanied by many of their members, including Mr. C. Bassett, former secretary). Mrs. Hairs. secretary of the Northern Division. mentioned that the East Grinstead Guild had postponed their own meeting to enable Sussex members in their area to attend the A G.M.

HARRY STALHAM'S 90 rh BIRTHDAY
Mr. Len Stilwell presented to the Vicar of St. Nicholas' a loose-leaf book containing details of all the peals rung there. This was a surprise gift to mark the 90 th birthday of Mr. Harry Stalham.

The chairman thanked those who had made the arrangements for tea at such a low cost. The members stood in silence in memory of those who had passed on during the year, viz.: J. Dearlove, Rev. R. P. Farrow, W. Hoad, Rev. J. Kingdon and J. Smart.

Arising from the minutes, the general secretary stated that details of a 'belfry office' for the Association would be produced as soon as possible. The various reports were accepted with little comment ; peals rung during the year were the lowest for 28 years.

The election of the various officers, including the president and vice-presidents, Master, etc., followed. All were re-elected, with the exception of the peal secretary, Mr. L. Stilwell, who, having held this position for several years, resigned to give the younger members a chance to take a more active part in the affairs of the Association. Mr. Peter Romney was elected peal secretary. Mrs. Percy proposed that Mr. L. Stilwell should be elected a vice-president in recognition of the unstinted service he had rendered to the Association. Mr. L. Weller seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

RINGING FESTIVAL

Details of a proposed ringing festival to be held in 1963 had been circulated to the divisions by Mr. Fitzhugh, of the Eastern Division. This would be run on similar lines to that held in Bristol. Various discussions took place, but no one had any useful suggestions to put forward. Mr. Pullinger asked if the Association would back any of the Divisions financially if they arranged a festival on their own. The Association would not back the festival, and the matter was dropped.

Details of the proposed new rules were given to the meeting by Mr. F. Beeney, secretary of the Eastern Division. These were not discussed but left for the Divisions to discuss and review at the 1963 A.G.M.

The general secretary gave details of the advantages between the old and new rules. Affiliation fees would be replaced by an individual subscription; everyone would receive a copy of the annual report; new members would receive a badge and certificate on joining the Association.

It was suggested by Mrs. Knight, of the Southern Division, that the A.G.M. should be held in various parts of the county. It was pointed out that wherever the meeting was held catering facilities must be available, also a suitable hall for the meeting. This item was deferred to the next A.G.M.

Details of two appeals-Kilifi Bell Fund, Kenya, and St. Paul's Cathedral Restoration Fund. Australia-were given by the general secretary. Mr. Jefferies' suggestion of a retiring collection was accepted and amounted to $\pm 7$ 18s. 6d. The Association made this up to i 10 , and i 5 will be sent to each appeal.
Mr. H. Brown informed the meeting that Bolney bells were going to the foundry.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of their bells. There was further ringing at St. Nicholas" Church.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY
Only three teams entered for the shield contest held at Wentworth, near Rotherham, on June 9th. Mr. Dan Smith was the judge, and the winners were Warsop with 81 faults, followed by Shelley 154, and Cawthorne 181. Mrs. King, the wife of the Vicar, presented the shield to Mr. H. T. Rooke, the Warsop captain, and a chrome cream jug to each member of the team.
Next meeting: Wath-on-Dearne, July 14th. Wragby, August 11th, with Southern District of the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. Anthony J. M. Collins, who provided the Central Council with such a stimulating film show at Cardiff, was able to score his first peal at Cowbridge on the Wednesday. He will have happy memorjes to take with him back to British Columbia.

Within $5 \frac{1}{2}$ months of handling a bell, Wendy Hollowell, has rung her first quarter at Peterborough.

Mr. Michael W. Brown is the first person to 'circle the tower' to peals at Swithland, Leics. And now the bells are to be rehung.
To commemorate the centenary of the death of Harriett Auber (1773-1862), who wrote the hymn ' Our Blest Redeemer,' a peal was rung at Ashton, Northamptonshire, on June 16 th.
Ringers from four States were represented at the first meeting of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers held at Sydney. Local ringers, writes a correspondent, were perfect hosts. They spent the time, when not ringing, taking the wisitors sight-seeing.
With the peal at Twerton-on-Avon on June 16 th, Terry Milsom completed the 'circle of the tower' to peals. The peal at Twerton on June 9 th was the 50 th for the Bath and Wells Association by Mr. Alan F. Lee, Bath Branch secretary.

The chimes of the Colchester Town Hall clock-referred to as an infernal machine was the subject of a protracted debate at the Town Council meeting. An amendment to refer the matter back to the Watch Committee, the governing committee, was defeated and the chimes will continue.
Meeting a non-ringer while attending the Peterborough Guild Festival. Mr. Charles A. Bassett was taken to all the towers that were open. Four of these were in Huntingdonshire, and with these Mr. Bassett can say he has rung in all the English counties, a task that has taken 25 years to complete. He wonders how long it will take him to conquer the remaining counties of Wales, Ireland and Scotland.

Mr. A. G. Hill, of 24, Stanmore Road, Belvedere, Church, Erith, the popular captain of Christ secretary of the Lewisham District, Kent County Association, was awarded the British Empire Medal in the recent honours list.
Correction: Central Council, Losses by Death (page 403), for Albert read Herbert Eldred.
New Editor of 'Ringing Towers,' the journal of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers, is Mr. W. B. Pitcher, 13, Ashbourne Avenue, Mitcham, South Australia.
The correct weight of the tenor at Dunchurch, Warwicks is $18 \mathrm{cwt} .0 \mathrm{qr} .10 \mathrm{lb} .$, and not 19 cwt. as printed in a recent peal report, writes a correspondent.
The ladies of West Dorset rang their first quarter together at Evershot on June 13 th . They enjoyed it so much, without any assistance from the 'men,' that this is likely to be the forerunner of other attempts.
After having rung 25 peals of Major, Mr. P. Cattermole by conducting a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Olaves', Hart Street, has scored his first peal of Triples. His 25th peal of Major was by a coincidence Droitwich Surprise, named after his home tower.
Mr. Anthony Collins' film 'Ringers Required, which received such a favourable reception at Cardiff, will be shown on Independent Television in Grierson's late night programme 'This Wondenful World' on the following dates : Ulster, July 1st; Wales and the West, July 17th; London, July 31st; Southern, August 22nd. It was shown in Scotland on May 31st.

There will be apportunities for ringing for visitors to the Royal Show at Newcastle upon Tyne on July 3rd-6th. Visitors will be welcome at the following practices: July 2nd, St. Paul's, Whitley Bay (8), 7.45 p.m.; July 3rd, Newcastle Cathedral (12), 7.45; July 4th, Morpeth Watch Town (8), 7.30 ; July Sth, St. George's. Jesmond (8). 7.30 ; July 6th, SS. James and Basil's, Fenham (8), 8, St. James', Benwell (6), 7.30 p.m.

OUTINGS

ELLAND, YORKS

Old world villages and churches and some of the finest scenery in England were met with by Elland ringers during their outing on Whit Monday to the North Riding of Yorkshire.
The day began with the beauties of Lidderdale and ringing on the very good eight at Birstwith, where Mr. Jackson Ewbank, the local captain, who has been a keen ringer for over 50 years, rang his first peal last year. Country lanes led to the main road and Ripon Cathedral. Justice could not be done to the fine ring of ten as our time was restricted, owing to the loss of revenue, as the tower had to be closed during ringing.

JOIN US TODAY

After lunch at Ripon we moved to the fine old market town of Thirsk, and rang Bob Major, Grandsire, Stedman and Yorkshire on the good eight at the parish church. After a mammoth tea, a winding lane led to the pleasant village of Kirby Wiske, with its excellent six in charge of Mr. Arthur Bashforth.

The homeward journey was via Boroughbridge, Wetherby and Leeds. Our thanks are due to the organiser, Mr. Frank Linfoot.

ERITH, KENT

Christ Church, Erith, ringers were joined by friends from Lewisham and Bromley for their Whit Monday tour through Kent and into Sussex, via Tunbridge Wells. The party of 41 included the Vicar and Mrs. K. H. Jocelyn. The rain had stopped by the time Rotherfield, the first tower (a fine eight with a ground floor ring), was reached. During the hour here courses of Stedman. Plain Bob and Grandsire were rung. Heathfield, the next tower has also a ground floor ring and a good eight. Lunch at the Seven Sisters Hotel, Seaford, was followed by $\frac{1}{4}$-hour ringing at St. Leonard's Church. In one of our three courses of Kent T.B. Major we were pleased to include a ringer from Middlesex on holiday. At Alfriston the ringing takes place between the congregational pews and the choir stalls. There were nearly 100 people watching us as we concluded with a course of Cambridge on this light six. We then made our way to Maresfield for tea at the Golden Wheel. and the really fine ring of eight in the Parish Churah. Another good eight finished the ringing programme at Fairwarp. and Erith was reached at $10.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. We would like to thank our captain. Mr. A. G. Hill, who organised the tour and made it a great success.

ANOTHER SOMERSET SIX

Hemington, near Bath, bells have been silent for 35 years. These bells have now been restored and augmented to a ring of six by the addition of a treble. Two of the hells date hack before 1480 . On June 16th the Bishop of Taunton, the Rt. Rev. F. A. West. performed the ceremony of hallowing the bells. Hemington ringers are grateful to Miss Eunice Overend. of Frome, for the time and patience she has spent in teaching the band in other towers.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

An ambitious programme in North Lincoin-shire-six eights, including the two heaviest in the country, with a 5 -bell tower thrown in for good measure-was arranged for May 19th for Leeds Parish Church ringers.
The first call was Epworth, capital of the ancient Isle of Axholme, renowned as the birthplace of John Wesley, where full justice was done to the 1937 Coronation bells, almest a replica of the 'middle eight' at Leeds but without the disadvantage of having to climb 69 steps to ring them,

The bald statement on the official programme morning coffee at the Old Hall, Gainsborough, 11 o'clock; ringing at Gainsborough Parish Church, 11.30 to $12.15^{\prime}$ gave no hint of the pleasures in store. Not only did the 'morning coffee' more resemble a banquet served in an historic manor house of considerable interest and charm, but the bells, which have been so much better described in the repart of the 'Smiths' recent outing, inspire good ringing
The church at Glentham has its roof propped up and its four bells hang derelict, but the village contains an excellent road house, where lunch was partaken. Grimsby bells having inconsiderately been taken down the previous week, the light eight at Walesby and the five at Claxby were substituted, both churches presenting their own particular problem of access.
Walesby Old Church stands amid fields and is reached only by a footpath which we were advised would be muddier than the field. A herd of bullocks stampeded at the sight of a swarm of ringers climbing over the fence to join them, but afterwards regained sufficient composure to line up and inspect the said ringers on their departure by the same route. Claxby Church stands at the end of a narrow dead-end lane, and the ringing on this somewhat difficult five was likewise of a dead-end character, of which the less said the better.
The highlight of the day was unquestionably the hour's ringing on the heavy eight at Louth Parish Church, bells truly in keeping with the magnificent tower and spire, which ranks among the highest in the country. Tea in Louth was of comparable quality as the bells, and feeling comfortable we set off on the return journey in pleasant anticipation of still further delights -ringing at Barrow-on-Humber and Burton Stather which, alas, was snatched from us when our coach expired some two miles from Laceby.
Despite the assistance of the A.A. patrolmen who miraculously appeared as the coach was coming to a standstill, by the time help had been summoned from Grimsby and the coach had been persuaded to go again it was too late to do anything but make for home, which was reached on schedule although at the expense of two good towers.

BARKBY, LEICESTERSHIRE

Arranged by Mautice, Kirk and James $H$ Musson, Barkby ringers' outing on May 26 th was most successful and some of the ringing was excellent. Among the failures were Little Bob Major and Stedman Triples.
Towers visited were Barkston (a pleasant six). Caythorpe (a good octave), Fulbeck (a noisy six, where Mr. George Scott met us), Leadenham (a sluggish six), Sleaford (an exce) lent eight, where the Vicar took the party on a conducted tour of the church) and Heckington (a very well kept belfry, where good touches of Bot Major were rung).

LEARNING HOW TO LOWER A BELL

T$T$ RAINING in lowering a bell may be given as soon as the pupil has made reasonable progress in the other stages. This phase of training is probably neglected more than any other, and since the ultimate aim is to be able to raise and lower a bell efficiently in peal, just as much care should be taken with this part of the pupil's instruction as any other. The dexterous taking of coils with no diminishment of control is not easy and usually needs much practice. Many otherwise competent ringers fail miserably when lowering in peal.
If the following instructions are practised, the ability to lower a bell efficiently will soon be acquired.

Start ringing the bell normally but check a little on each upward stroke, and when transferring the right hand from sally to tail-end place it on the tail-end so that there is a space of an inch or two between the two hands as they grip the rope. At the top of the backstroke, just as the downward pull is about to commence, move the left hand up next to the right hand on the tail-end. Very soon over a foot of rope, sufficient for a coil to be made, will be hanging down below the left hand. After the bell is well below balance one hand only need be used to control the handstroke, otherwise there is a tendency for the spare rope to get in the way at the handstroke. Prepare to take the coil in the following manner. As the bell rises to the backstroke grip it tightly with the upper hand (right hand) but let the left hand slip to the bottom of the tail-end. For this one upward stroke the hands are well apart but the left hand still maintains tension on the rope. Pull the backstroke down as usual, but obviously the left hand finishes the stroke before the right. Keeping the tail-end well in the crutch of the thumb, open the left hand palm upwards and as the right hand completes the backstroke bring it down between the body and the left hand, so as to place the portion of the rope immediately above the right hand into the left hand, thus making a coil.

The action of making this coil must take place at the bottom and on completion of the backstroke. On no account must the hands be stopped half way down to take the coil. Immediately after taking the coil move the right hand to catch the sally, and having guided the sally, transfer the right hand back to the tail end, but place it in the normal position above the left hand and outside the coil that has just been made.

It is likely that the coil just made will have taken up so much of the rope that if the coil and rope are gripped rightly it will not be possible to reach the following backstroke rise properly. The grip must therefore be relaxed at the top of this backstroke rise so that the bell may take the amount of rope required, thus reducing the size of the coil just taken. Failure to do this causes a sudden check on the rope which would put the bell out of line with the others if it was being lowered in peal. As lowering continues the coil just taken may be increased in size either by the same method as the spare rope to make it was obtained, or by 'nibbling' it bigger with the left hand at the bottom of the backstroke, when the right hand is on the sally. Care must be taken to keep the tail-end in the crutch of the left hand and not have spare rope hanging down.

When this first coil has been enlarged until it is ton cumbersome. another coil is taken in a similar manner to which the first one was taken. The right hand grips the tail-end and the left hand slips down the rope. In this case, however, the rope for the second coil is taken from the enlarged first coil. The grip is again relaxed momentarily at the top of the following backstroke to avoid overchecking the bell. After two or three coils have been taken the handstroke disappears so that the sally may be ignored. After the final coil has been taken the hands should be on the sally until finally the bell is hardly moving at all, and the hands are well up the sally with arms fully stretched in the chiming position, and with the coils neatly in the left hand.
When the pupil has mastered this technique, he should be instructed in following another silenced bell up and down for training to raise and lower in peal.

THE RUDHALLS OF GLOUCESTER

THE famous foundry at Gloucester was owned by members of the Rudhall family from 1679 until 1830. During that period over 4.520 bells were produced by them, of which we have an account in the form of a catalogue issued by the last bell-founding member of the family.
The fame of the Rudhalls ranged far and wide: their bells are found from the west coast of Wales to London. and as far apart as Lancashire and Cornwall. They cast the first ring to be exported to America, and most of the important rings in the Midlands and neighbouring districts were their work.
One of the chief reasons for their success was the excellent tonal quality of their bells: and, with the limited means at their disposal, they brought the art of casting 'old standard' bells as near perfection as possible. The business was afterwards bought up by Thomas Mears. of London, who for a time worked the Gloucester foundry as a branch establishment.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Subscription Raised At Annual Meeting

THE annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford on Whit Monday. The annual service was in the Cathedral, and was conducted by the Provost, assisted by the Succentor, and the address was given by the Association's president, the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford
After the service the annual meeting was held in the Chapter House and, with the Master. Mr. R. C. Heagel, in the chair, the business was expeditiously carried through.

MEMBERSHIP OVER 1,000

The report, which gave the membership as 210 honorary and 1,006 ringing, stated that this was the first time the membership had reached 1,000 , in spite of a drop in the South East District of 21 . Towers in union totalled 119. one more (Chigwell) than last year.

The number of peals rung for the Association was 112, as again 123 in 1960. Leading conductors were F. B. Lufkin 22. J. E. G Roast 19, H. W. Egglestone 10. Twenty-eight members scored their first peal and altogethe 217 members took part in peals. Quarter pea inging had again been well maintained 223 being recorded as against 202 last year
On the general account the year finishod with a balance of $£ 1008 \mathrm{~s}$. 8d.. against $£ 118$ 5s. $10 \mathrm{~d} . ;$ the Bell Restoration Fund had a balance of $£ 372$ and the balance sheet showed assets of $£ 472$.

The report was received and adopted with the correction of some of the composition figures.

Some discussion took place regarding the Association investments as to whether this could be done more profitably, and it was finally left to the Finance and General Pur poses Committee to resolve this and, if neces sary, take action.
The main item under business as tabled was the motion to raise subscriptions. This had already been discussed at the District A.G.M.s and was quickly dispased of. The new subscription rate is 3 s . 6 d . to ringing members and 7 s . 6 d . to non-resident members.

C.C. REPRESENTATIVES

All officers were re-elected, but in the voting for the Central Council eepresentatives for the next triennial session. Mr. J. Roast succeeds Mr. J. Crampion, the other three (Miss H. G. Snowden, F. B. Lufkin and P. Eves) being re-elected.
The following were made life members of the Association: Mesdames A. Everett and E Roast and Messrs. P. Avey, L. Bird, J. Elliott, H . King and C. Marven.
Any other business included the voting of five guineas each to the Kilifi Bell Fund and the Melbourne appeal. It was announced that the annual dinner would be held on October 13 th, and that the ringing competition would be held at the Cathedral on September 15 th. the middle eight being used.

After an omnibus vote of thanks. Junch was served in the Cathedral Hall by members of the South Eastern Distriot, and later tea was served in buffet style. The Association places on record its gratitude for the admirable work which these ladies do to make Whit Monday such a success.

BATH VETERANS IN QUARTER PEAL

Five veterans of the Bath Branch, each with over 40 years service as a ringer, rang together in a quarter peal at Bathampton on June 16th. conducted by the Branch secretary, Mr. Alan F. Lee. The veterans were:-

Percival R. Young.-Started ringing, 1919: has always rung at Twerton: also completed 50 years in the choir and 25 years as P.C.C. secretary.

Leslie R. Taylor.-Started ringing. 1910, at Bishop's Tawton, Devon. Now rings at Corston and is also a member of the choir.

Edmund King.-Started ringing. 1901, at Sherbourne Abbey, Dorset. Now rings at Twerton (where his name is on a peal board for 1906).

Frederick Gooding.-Started ringing, 1920, at Bathampton, where he is tower captain Albert Butt.-Started ringing. 1917, at DunKerton, where he is tower captain

FIRST PEAL IN OLD DARTMOOR CHURCH

'IHE first peall has been rung on the bells of the Church of ISt. Michael de Rupe (St. Michael of the Rock), Brent Tor, five miles from Tavistock, Devon.

Brent Tor is a bold hild on the western confines of Dartmoor and rises to a height of 1,190 feet above sea level. The church, which was built in 1190 , stands on the summit of the Tor. The interior measures only 37 feet by $14 \frac{1}{2}$ feet. On a tablet opposite the door is inscribed: Upon this rock will I build my Church.
Tradition says it was built by a merchant, who, being overtaken by a storm at sea. vowed, if he landed safely in Plymouth Sound. he would ereat a church on the firs point of land he saw. This Tor is supposed to be an extinct volcano, as implied by the name Brent or Burnt Tor.
There are five bells in the church. The inventory of Edward VI in 1553 gave two bells, the work of a 14th or 15 th century founder and on one of them was inscribed Gallus vacor ego. Solus per omne sono' (I am called the cock, I alone sound above all). The same inscription occurs in one other bell at Netteswell, Essex.
A third bell. inscribed, T. P. and Colling W. Nichols. C. W. 1668.' by Thomas Pennington, of Exeter, was added three centuries later. In 1909 the three bells were recast and two more added. This work was carried out by Mears and Stainbank, and W. Aggett and Sons. of Chagford, made the bell frame and hung the bells, which were dedicated by Dr. Archibald Robertson. Bishop of Exeter, on August 20th, 1909 . The girders securing the bells were renewed in 1958.
For the illustration and information we are indebted to Mr. W. G. Lavers

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

East Grinstead Guitd held a very enjoyable though small meeting at St. Mary's, Speldhurst, ron June 16th. Welcomed by the local captain, Mr. E. Turley, the bells were soon raised, and ringing began with plenty of practice for the young learners and instruction in the simpler methods.

Last minute tea arrangements were made at a nearby cyclists' headquarters, and 13 members were surprised to find a wonderful spread laid out on the lawn. After endless cups of tea and cricket scores provided by our hostess, the business meeting was held, Mr. Brian Jeffrey taking the chair. Among items discussed was the appeal sent by Mr. G. Pipe regarding the renovation of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, and it was finally decided to make a donation of two guineas from the Guild's funds.

PENWORTHAM BELLS 250th

ANNIVERSARY

GATURDAY. June 2nd, proved a happy and memorable day in the history of S Mary's, Penwortham. when the 250th anniver sary of the bells were celebrated Possibly and indeed most likely, there were bells in the ancient tower long before 1712 when Abram Rudhall cast a ring of five. A treble was added in 1858, and in 1926 the old third was recast and a further two new trebles added, making a handy octave. This latter work was a gift of the local Freemasons,

The church, in lovely surroundings, and with a well kept churchyard, stands high above the A.59. Leeds-Liverpool road. and across the River Ribble from the busy town of Preston.

Mr. R. Price, the local captain. spared no efforts in making arrangements, and in this matter the rest of the ringers and o:her church officials saw to it that everything wen smoothly
It was hoped that the president of the Lancashire Association. Rev. R. D. Si. John Smith, would address the gathering, as his predecessor did 25 years ago, but Territorial Army duties intervened. and Canon A. Hodgson. Vicar of Adlington and Rural Dean of Leyland, himself a ringer, ably carried out this duty. In a quiet. friendly message 10 a congregation of ringers and their families. local church workers and officials he assured ringer that their work, example and efforts, Sunday by Sunday, were greatly appreciated. Of all the various offices in the church, the ringers were perhaps less seen than any other, but nevertheless they could speak and send ou the message. to countless numbers of listeners in town and village.

NO WOULD-BE RINGER SHOULD LOSE HEART

One thing Canon Hodgson especially emphasised, and which was taken to heart by those ipresent, was the need for infinite patience on the ppart of the older and more experienced ringers, so that no learner, or would-be ringer. would lose heart and leave the tower. All too often, when a learner ringer left the tower, he also left the church, and in some cases his family left too. Usually, any members of a ringer's family, learning to ring, seemed 10 fare the worst at the hands of their parents.
An enjoyable informal gathering followed in the Church Hall, all present being entertained to an excellent tea.

The Vicar of Penwortham, Canon P. A. Schofield, welcomed the guests, mentioning those who were present at the 225 th anniversary. He outlined some of the history of bels in general, and of Penwortham bells in particular. In turn he called upon Mr. R Price (chief ringer), Mr. J. Roskell (a retired Penwortham ringer) and Mr. C. Crossthwaitz (chairman of the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association and recently elected vice-president of the Lancashire Association).
Mr. Price was able to recall some of the events of past years, and. especially for the younger ones. gave details of the outstanding and long years of service of Penwortham ringers, some of whom have passed on and others still with us and in the room. He was very glad to have been able to carry on the tradition in his family. for with his own service as a ringer, and that of his wife's father. Mr. Loxham. who was present, and grandfather, there was a combined service of over 100 years.

Amusing incidents of days gone by, in and anound the tower, described by. Mr. Roskell brought much laughter.

In thanking everyone concerned most warmly. Mr. Crossthwaite appreciated Canon Hodgson's advice perhaps more than most others present, because not only had he taught his chidren to ring but his wife also
There was plenty of ringing for everyons prior to the sarvice. and again in the even ing. 10 the atrvice. and again in the ev

CHURCHES IN WIGGENHALL AREA

Dear Sir,-May ! through your columns reply to Mr. Tyson's letter (page 357) in an endeavour to clarify the position for him as to the churches in the Wiggenhall area. There are four altogether, as follows:-
(a) Wiggenhall St. Mary Magdalen.-The church contains a musical ring of six, which were rehung only a few years ago.
(b) Wiggenhall St. Mary the Virgin.Another ring of six, but now very little rung due to the 'hard-work' involved. but nevertheless in recent months rung to a variety of Plain and Treble Bob methods.
(c) Wiggenhall St. Peter.-The church is now an extensive but interesting ruin, and has been for many years. Prior to 1930 there was a single bell here, now taken and standing in St. Mary the Virgin Church.
(d) Wiggenhall St. German.-This church contains four bells hung for ringing, but from a very recent (this month) inspection it was found that the frame appeared weak and the third bell had half a wheel broken away. The bells are as follows:-
(1) John Draper made me (1618).
(2) Ora-Pro-Nobis (no date), assumed from the Norris family.
(3) James Barwell (recast me) 1882.
(4) John Draper made me 1640.

In view of this information one wonders where Mr. Tyson actually worshipped: fortunately he has the name of the incumbent correct.
A clock with chimes was added in 1897, and this is in excellent working order.

Presumably, as these towers are in the Wisbech Branch of the Ely Association. maybe this is the reason for no comment from the Norwich Association ringers.
Perhaps Mr. Bond will also amend his records.-Yours faithfully.
A. K. PHILLIPS

Emneth.

THE EDITOR

PLAYING WITH FIGURES

Dear Sir.-In your jssue of June 22nd, Mr. Alan Buswell asks for a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples round at hand. The following Irregular 6-part 1,259.

| $\begin{aligned} & \text { Part I } \\ & 234567 \end{aligned}$ |  | $\text { Part } \frac{2}{352647}$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |

| 352647 | 2P | 364275 |

Repeat Pare 2 four times to provide Parts 3. 4. 5 and 6. A bob must be called at A ii the 4 th Part. The part ends of this - quarter ${ }^{\circ}$ are 352647. 352764. 352476. 325647. 325764, 325476.
A more interesting way to ring this touch is to start into changes at backstroke. producing immediately the row 1325476 . Treating this row as rounds, and called Part 2 with a bob at A in every part. a perfectly regular six-part can be had, with 1,260 changes coming round at handstroke. The part ends will then have the front hells alternately 352 and 325. with the back bells rotated as above. -Yours sincerely.

A MUSICAL QUARTER FROM THE ORIGINAL

Dear Sir-With reference to Mr. Buswell's letter ('R.W: June 22nd) for a quarter of Grandsire Triples that comes round at hand, I append a very musical one taken from Holt's Original:
1,259 Grandsire Triples (Call 2nd): Out at 2, Middle, Right. In and Out at 3. Right. Twice Middle. In and Out. Middle and wrong. In and Out. Middle and Wrong, Middle and Wrong, In and Out. ${ }^{2}$ Middles and Wrong. Middle and Wrong. In and Out at 2 with a double. Wrong and Middle. 2 Wrongs and Right. In and Out at 3 with a double, Middle. Single Wrong.
Round at handstroke after three plain leads -Yours faithfully.

RUDHALL'S, OF GLOUCESTER

Dear Sir,-Mr. A. J. Gould, of Portishead, tells us in your issue of June 15th that he learnt to ring on a Rudhall six at Yate, hut I think he is mistaken, seeing three of the bells are pre-Reformation and another is by R. Wiseman. date 1600 . The treble is a 1723 bell. and the tenor has TR 1765, which indicates some Rudhall founding.
This firm in 1783 claimed that the family had been in business for 100 years and it continued for another 50 years until Thomas Mears bought up the foundry in 1837.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD
Addlestone, Surrey

RHYTHM BY FRONT BELLS

Dear Sir,-I am pleased to note from Mr . Buswell's recent letter that I am not, after all, in a minonity of one in believing that the pace of ringing, at least in well-struck rhythmical ringing, is set by the front bells and not the tenor.
It seems to me that the pace of ringing is established by the apening rounds and that the pace of these is set by the interval between the front bells. extending on higher numbers to the front 3 or 4. As Mr. Buswell says, an attempt by the tenor to set, e.g., a slow pace when the front bells are 'packing in close, will have no other effect than to leave a gap between himself, and the preceding bell-or in his 'clipping' the next bell if he decides to ring at a faster pace than that set by the front bells.
Certainly the small bells. when in changes, -ring round' the back ones, but when doing so they leave an exact interval in the compass already set by them from the first rounds.
I would not advance any theory as to the reason for the changes in pace which occur during the course of peals, or the responsibility for them. Here again, though, a slowing down or speeding up by the tenor alone would merely result in loss of rhythm and bad striking-Yours faithfully,
A. BOYACK.

Westeliff-on-Sea, Essex.

F. AITCH

Dear Sir,-If 'F. Aitch' is the man 1 think he is, then he speaks from experience, as. to my knowledge, he rang the tenor victoriously in contests in the Halifax and Barnsley areas for many years both previous to and after the 1939-1945 war Ringing to tune, in my apinion, must be governed by the tenar man. He has the weight to handle, and, if a real "beat" is to be accomplished, and all bells heard, then he (or she) must dictate the pace. This maxim certainly applies to the area that 'F. Aitch mentions, one of whose judges at contests, I suspect. is the " Professor.

Finally, I'll back every word that ' $F$. Aitch' writes in regard to this matter, and so will all tenor men in and around Halifax and Barnsley. -Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR FARRAND.

MANCHESTER'S CLAIM ON CUPID

Dear Sir.-I was interested to note your remark in Belfry Gossip in a recent issue concerning the engagement of two Manchester University ringers that 'the Bristol Cupid had moved to Manchester.' I think it would be truer to say that the Manchester Cupid just paid a fleeting visit to Bristol.
In the last year there have been four engagements within the Guild. Among these there are three ex-Ringing Masters, two exsecretaries and the present secretary. However. we have not finished yet. Three other members of the Guild have got engaged to people outside the Guild. Two of these are exsecretaries.

To finish off, another two ex-members who are also the trustees of the Guild got married last summer vacation.
This, I think you will agree, is a formidable record, so any prospective members be warned. Anyway, 1 would like to wish them all the best of luck for the future.-Yours sincerely,

VIEWS ON C.C. MEETING

CUT PROFIT MARGIN ADVOCATED
Dear Sir.-I would like to be one, doubtless of many, to congratulate you on the 'R.W. of June 22 nd. With its pictures of some of the ' old pals '-and some not so old-and its very full account of the Central Council meeting at Cardiff, all additional to the material of a normal issue, I am sure that many readers will agree that you have given us full value for this week's eightpence.

But I would like to refer to that part of your editorial which dealt with the publication's account and to put the other side of the picture, You suggest that a profit of $£ 38$ for a record year is inadequate, especially when it is remembered that the arduous job of seeing to the disparch of thousands of copies is entirely, honorary. Earlier you refer to the amazing increase in the sales of Central Council publica-tions-no less than 25 per cent. above last year's record.

The Council is proud that it has among its ' old pals' many who will work voluntarily all the year in order to produce and distribute these publications for the benefit of the Exercise. But would this 'amazing increase' have come about if the Council had agreed with your view that the profit was inadequate, and had run this side of its activities on business lines? The whole reason for the labour put into the publications by their authors, their collators, the librarian and, I am quite sure by Mr. and Mrs. Speed in the dispatch of the copies. is so that they can be sold cheaply enough to ensure the increased circulation and therefore the increased benefit to ringing generally

To take a concrete example-the Beginner's Handbook could justifiably have been priced at 2 s . a copy. Part of the first print of 5.000 would probahly still be inistock, and financially the Council would not in the long run lose by it. But 'in stock' is nat where the book does most good. The Council agreed to sell at one shilling, risking a slight loss on first printing for the sake of the beginners and instructors who were clearly demanding it. What has happened? A second print, much cheaper to obtain, of course, than the first, has been almost sold out, and I gather a third print is soon due. So in spite of itself the Council is making a profit at the lower selling price, and achieving its real object to a degree that is most gratifying.

If publications are to be put on a business hasis' (a gross profit of $33+\frac{1}{t}$ per cent. is referred to) then I suggest that sales will fall off and the Council's object be so much the less successful. And. applying this business basis to both sides of the balance sheet, the gross profit. will be reduced, first by Income Tax and then by increased costs for work which is now willingly done 'for free. As one who has benefited, I am sure that the authors are amply repaid for their labours by getting into print for the good of ringing, and I believe, too, that this applies to all concerned. If and when the present distributors of our publications feel that they can no longer cope, they will not in vain ask the Council for help or reliet, and as in the past there will be no lack of volunteers. Indeed. it would be grand to know that this work had grown so much that it had to be divided among several people.

So long as the Council has in its funds sufficient liquid assets to print needed books-and it has at present and will continue to have while books are sold at the present rate-then I suggest that its prime obiect in this sohere is the placing of its publications where they will do most good, and the smaller the profit margin the more likely is the achievement of this object.-Yours faithfully,

WILFRID G. WILSON

DEAD WOOD'?

Dear Sir,-Of anything useful and helpfuli to the good of church bellingers resulting from the Cardiff meeting has, to my mind, been greatly impaired by the hurtful and irrational remarks of your contributor under 'Something New,' front page, fourth paragraph, 'Ringing World: ${ }^{\text {i }}$ dated June 22 nd, 1962. To quote: 'The ringer who confines his activities to Sundity ringing and an occasional practice, atid has no desire to advance beyond Doubles or to go to meetings, cares nothing for the Central Council, "The Ringing World," or even his own Guild. It is to be regretted that each Association carries a percentage of such dead wood.'
For to pen such remarks let us hope that the writer was only temporarily overcome by his own exuberant and vindictive thoughts. What right-thinking ringer can agree that a person who rings regularly for Sunday service, he it only Doubles!, could be referred to as dead wood,
It is nol my desire or intention to misconstrue the wording of these presumed 'crimes." 1 would say to all who have read them to read them again and pass your own judgment.Yours faithfully,

HERBERT E. TAYLOR.

Darley Dale.

Note.-Nobody who conscientiously regularly rings for service, although he takes no interest in other ringing activities, can be regarded as 'dead wood' by eternal standards. but he has forgotten 'the pit from which he was digged and the clay from which he was formed ": and if he fails to pass on his cunning his good work might well be nullified.-Ed.

CHRISTMAS BELLS

Dear Sir,-Some error seems to have crept into the report of Dr. Layton's motion re Christmas bells at Cardiff. I would be grateful to be allowed to correct the second paragraph of my remarks made in seconding the motion.
1 said that I had written to the B.B.C. after the 1960 'Christmas Bells' programme to enquire why they had recorded the same instead of broadcasting 'live' as hitherto. The reply 1 received was to the effect that it was more convenient and less costly. but that they (the B.B.C.) did ; admit that there was some loss of atmosphere, about the programme. In my speech I further suggested that this latter observation seemed to be underlined by the Council's Broadcasting Committee's report that day which stated: 'The placing of microphones when recordings are being made in busy towns always presents a difficult problem for the engineers,' a problem which of course should not arise on a quiet Christmas morning.-Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

EDUCATIONAL MATERIAL

Dear Sir,-I wish to compile a schedule of educational material regarding bellringing, with a view to wider circulation of such material.
Will readers who have any such materialfilms, film-strips, slides and the like - which they are prepared to loan to others, please let me have details so that I can include them in the schedule.
Literature which is regularly advertised in - The Ringing World ' will not, of course, anpear on the schedule as all readers are already aware of its existence.-Yours, etc

CENTRAL COUNCIL 'OLD PALS'

Dear Sir,-I quite agree with 'One of the Old Pals,' I too see no harm in taking advantage of an opportunity to gather together in various ringing activities, provided it is kep! within reasonable limits. The C.C. spend two or three days ringing and only one day at work. during which time they hope to cram a pint into a half-pint bottle. The impression I gained whilst attending the Chelmsford meeting was one of great haste and confusion simply because there was so little time available in which to discuss more fully the work outstanding.

This year there were almost 40 apologies for absence, and I suspect that many of these were prevented from attending because of difficulty in getting time off work.
wonder how many absentees would or could have been present had the meeting been held on either the Saturday or Monday, or preferably both.

May I say in reply to S. Holmes. that his statistics seem rather fantastic, no doubt his calculations were made under extreme difficulties at this year's Council meeting. Nevertheless, what I do is irrelevant. I am not a member of the C.C. As for falling for the wiles of someone else. this is absurd. It has long been my opinion that a great deal of Iime is wasted at Council meetings.
It appears that I am not the only one with much to learn. The senility of his remarks makes one think that he has spent too long ringing Stedman and is incapable of digesting a little Bramble jelly. I can thoroughly recommend it. However. I was unaware that this gentleman was capable of such humour. which just goes to show that his bark is worse than his bite. -Yours faithfully.

St. Mary's, Slough.

AUXILIARY LIGHTING

Dear Sir,-It was with real interest that 1 read the leader in the 'R.W.' dated June 15 th re towers and lighting arrangements. Generally it is agreed that if lights fail during ringing the danger is very grave, and we at Yatton have experienced such a time.

For the small sum of about $£ 2$ to purchase four lamp holders, four small lamps, two spring switches, about 30 ft . of blindcord, and some bell wire, an excellent independent lighting system can be installed. The two bell batteries required to work it cost about 3s. 6d. each and require renewing every three years on average.

Should the mains power fail during ringing. the emergency lights can be switched on by those taking part by pulling the cords which have been conveniently placed.
The light is sufficient to last at least for a quarter peal, Many visitors to our tower have seen and approved our installation.-Yours sincerely,
H. A. PRICE

Yatton, Bristol

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD WELL SUPPORTED A.G.M.

'IHE annual general meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held on June Ind at Peterborough. During the marning the following bells were available: St. Mary's, Peterborough. Warmington, Elton, Wansford. Alwalton, Woodston and Stanground. A goodly number of ringers followed the route 10 Peterborough, where the Cathedrall bells were open for inspection. Unfortunately these bells ( 5 , tenor 30 cwt.) cannot be rung, due 10 the condition of the fabric of the west front. but they were, however, chimed prior to the service at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
The service was held in the main body of the Cathedral and was attended by approxjmately 250 ringers and friends. The precentor, Rev. P. C. Nicholson, conducted the Guild form of service, assisted by the Guild president. Canon G. F. Turner. The lesson was read by Mr. P. I. Chapman, Guild Master, and the address was given by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough, the Rt. Rev. Cyril Eastaugh. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 10$.
The service was followed by an excellent tea served by the Peterborough school meals service in the Eastholm Secondary Girls' School. About 180 members and friends attended the meeting. which was presided over by the Guild president. A list of member who had passed away during 1961 was read by the presidem, who made special reference to the late George W. Jeffs, who. until his death in November last, had been the Guild's general secretary and treasurer for many years. A minute's silence was then observed.
After the adoption of the minutes, the president introduced Mr. E. Billings, who had been appointed successor to Mr.'G W. Jeffs, by the committee until the A.G.M. for the purpose of preparing the accounts and the annual report. Quite a number of visitors were present in the company and the president gave them a warm welcome.
The Master, in his report, mentioned the death of George Jeffs, the general secretary. who left an indelible mark on the Guild Charles W Bird. a ringer at Kettering for almost 60 years: Harry Baxter, Kettering Branch secretary for many years: Horace M. Day, perhaps one of the greatest Minor conductors of all times. Northampton Borough Education Committee sponsored a class in ringing, in which 11 people were enrolled. Ten of these came from M Iton Malsor and were complete newcomers. It was hoped that at the end of the 24 -week course they would all be ringing Doubles competently.
The general secretary and treasurer reported that the number of peals rung ( 52 ) compared rather poorly with last year's record total of 109. New ventures had been a week-end course organised by the Central Council Education Committee at Knustou, Hall, Irchester. and the holding of the Guild's first dinner and dance. The Guild's general account balance at $£ 101$ chowed an increase of $£ 17$. The Bell Restoration Fund had a balance of £.34: : grants totalling $£ 110$ had been paid.
Mr. P. I. Chapman took the chair for the election of the president, to which Canon Turner was unanimously re-elected. Other officers elected were as follows: Master, Mr.
P. I. Chapman; general secretary and reasurer, Mr. E., Billings; auditor, Mr. H. Richardson; Central Council representatives for $1963-64$ and 65 , Messrs. P. I. Chapman, E. Billings. B. Austin and Miss S. R. Collins.

SUPPORT FOR APPEALS

Appeals for financial help had been received from Kilif, Kenya, and Melbourne Cathedral, Australia, and on the proposition of Mr. G. F. Roome, seconded by Mrs. Collins, it was unanimously decided to send $£ 20$ to each of these causes.
Details of the Guild's second week-end course to be held at Knuston Hall, Irchester, on July 6th, 7th and 8th were given and it was agreed to hold the summer festival on September 1st at Easton Neston in the Towcester Branch. The secrelary informed members that the annual dinner would once again be held in Northampton on October 20 th and the venue for the A.G.M.. 1963, was fixed as Wellingborough.
Mr. Brian Austin proposed a voie of thanks to the Dean of Pelerborough for the use of the Cathedral for the service; to the Precentor for showing members the Cathedral bells and for conducting the service, and to the assistant organist for his services. Also to the Peterhorough Education Authorities for their help in arranging the teal, to the Peterborough Branch secretary and committee for helping to arrange the meeting, and finally to all incumbents and captains of towers open for the use of the bells. The vote of thanks was seconded by Mr. H. Richardson and appreciaseconded by Mr. H. Richardon and In addition to St. Mary's. Peterborough, Woodston and Stanground. the following were also available for ringing: St. John's, Peterborough. Fletton. Castor and All Saints'. Stamford. Ringing continued at all these towers until 9 p.m., thus concluding a most enjoyable meeting.

50 Years Ago

- R.W.' June 28th, 1912

The Hampshire village of Clanfield, near Porchester, was in uproar one day last week when, owing to a disagreement, the Rector refused to allow a wedding to be celebrated in the church, and took charge of the keys. The marriage was solemnised in the next village, but some of the parishioners climbed into Clanfield belfry by means of ladders with a yiew to ringing the bells. The ropes broke. but. nothing daunted, the clappers were swung by hand. and the village constable was called in before the 'ringers' would desist.

JULY 5th, 1912

The King has subscribed $f 25$ towards the restoration of the tower and bells of the ancient Portsmouth Church of St. Thomas a Becket. The church contains a ring of eight, tenor 27 cwt .
Mr. H. R. Cobbin, of St. Peter's company. Nottingham. an amateur swimmer of more than local fame. has just been elected to the committee of the Nottingham Forest Football Club.

TWO MORALS

Early one lovely summer's day I picked up a 'Ringing World' to choose a meeting. right, here's one-Witton, one of Cheshire's famous Salt towns, a pleasant bus ride of about thirteen miles. We could stroll round the shops and market, then go up the hill about half a mile to St. Helen's Church.
All was quiet as we approached the church at 3.15 and my mate looked at me and asked: "Are you sure it is this week. Bill?" A hurried look at 'The Ringing World, revealed that it is next week. June 9th. It had been advertised a week earlier than usual.
I could fill pages with what happened on the way home, how, while I was in the inquiry office, my mate waving frantically to tell me there was a bus leaving immediately; which I missed. The next one was not till 7.30 . so we had to catch a bus to Hartford station and a train from there which got us bus home at six o'clock.

MORAL: Read your 'Ringing World' properly.
The following Saturday we set off to Witton again, and as we climbed through the churchyard, heard Ruben Sanders' bells going right merrily, then suddenly a mixture between rounds and stand, then one coming down alone-the work of member of the StayBenders' Union? That stalwart of the Northwich Branch, Harry Parker, met us and reported that the tenor had cast her clapper, and in so doing had caught it between the hell and the iron frame. He was ifraid that the cast iron frame was cracked, and I was asked to go up and investigate. Harry Parker's fear was confirmed. The split pin had come out of the castle nut, the thread of the clapper was stripped and badly hent, and had evidently been loose for a long time. I made suggestions for repairing the damage, but there could be no more ringing at Witton today.
It was decided that the service and tea should be at Witton, and Davenham should bs open for evening ringing, with transport laid on. All those who went, and they included a galaxy of Bright Young Persons, thoroughly enjoyed the meeting.

Another MORAL: Keep your eyes on the nuts and bolts-and split pins-they are just as important as bearings and oil.

OWD-BATER.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The heavy ring of six at Blunham was not ideal for a hot June afternoon, but nevertheless there was quite a good attendance at St. James' Church for the Biggleswade District meeting on June 9th.

Mr. T. Harris played the organ for the service, which was conducted by the Rector, Rev. G. Edwards. One of the local ringers. Miss J. Harding, with other helpers, kindly provided tea in the Village Hall.

The business meeting followed, with Mr. L. Bywaters in the chair, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Eaton Socon on July 14th, in the evening.
Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m., with Mr. A. Smith acting as Ringing Master. The special methods were Kingston and Brentford Bob.

Abstract

CUM GRANO SALLIS The Rev. W. G. Hargrave Thomas, Vicar of Needham Market, writing to - The Fast Anglian Daily Times' regarding the Bishop of Dumwich's observations on ringers, states

Everybody who isn't a perfect fool knows quite well the habits of bellringers. My grandfather, Thomas Hargrave Thomas, of Cordworth, Warwickshire, told me how his rector, when ministering to a dying parishioner, inquired as to the latter's sins. The man replied that he had been a lifelong chorister. At this the clergyman shook his head omniously. "And also I have been a bellringer." "Bellringer:" exclaimed the priest, " hurry-up, whatever you do, and repent, for we shall have extreme difficulty in getting you to heaven." - It must be said that my dear grandparent had no particular love for parsons. Of his own parish minister his comment was, "A sweet man of prayer, but an awful liar!",

The Rev. Hargrave Thomas concludes by asking readers to take his letter with 'a grain of salt" and so do we!

BATHEASTON BELLS, BATH

Dear Sir.-The bells at this church are ring able again, following the serious fire last January. New floors have been installed and the founders have inspected all the bell fittings, etc.
Also ( R.W: April 27th), my old friend R. Purnell states that the four bells at Combe Hay look ringable: the last time these bells were rung (this was by the Dunkerton ringers) the second or third fell out of the frame and took four tough men to lift it back into the bearings-so pending a restoration I should say they were best left alone.
Regarding Luckington (Wilts), the four are unsafe, but it is good to see someone taking interest in the 4 -bell towers in these parts.Yours sincerely.

ALAN LEE,
Bath Branch secretary.
Twerton. Bath.

ANOTHER EXPERIMENTER

Dear Sir,-Not so long ago, an article in The Ringing World' suggested that new ways and principles should be found for new methods.

An odd glance at my method does not uncover much light, but a closer examination will uncover some rather interesting facts. One is that the lead-ends come out in exactly the same order as in Plain Bob so, therefore, any louch of Plain Bob fits 'the method.' The only stipulation is that a bell in 4ths place at a lead-end will have to make 'long fourths at a bob or single. This method daes not exiend to Major, but it does to Royal. Here then is the method:-

213465
$\begin{array}{llll}2 & 3 & 1 & 645 \\ 3 & 2 & 1 & 654\end{array}$
312564
135264
If a line were to be drawn through the middle of a block, it would be seen that the front three plain hunt and the back three backwards hunt, until they make 2 nds at the leadend. The bobs and singles are as Plain Bob.Yours sincerely,

NICHOLAS R. WEBBER.
The Lord Weymouth School.
Warminster
A service of thanksgiving for the life and work of Thomas Coram was held at St. Andrew's, Holborn Circus, on June 6th. He founded the Foundling Hospital in 1739 and was buried there. In 1926, his tomb was removed to Berkhamsted. and jr. March. 1962, his remains were reinterred in a new tomb at St. Andrew's Church. Immediately fodlowing the service a quarter peal was rung by London Unjversity Society.

BEDFORDSHIRE LADY

RINGER'S WEDDING

For seven years Miss Jill Mayes, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey W Mayes of 75, Broad Street, Clifton. Beds, has been a member of All Saints'. Clifton, band. She has rung 37 peals, including several in Surprise methods. Her marriage took place at All Saints' Church on June 23 rd to Mr. Peter Harris, of Great Baddow. Essex, who has recently taken up ringing and so far has rung a quarter on the treble.
The Rev. E. Hall officiated at the service. The bride wore a full length dress of white satin brocade, with a short veil held in place by a rose. Her cousins, the Misses Avril and Andrea Benny, were the ibridesmaids, and Mr. J. A. Harris was best mas to his brother.

The reception at Clifton Church Hall was followed by a honeymoon at Tenby. Their future home will be at Ipswich.

LAVENHAM'S 151st RINGING ANNIVERSARY

Many ringers from far and near attended this annual gathering, including one who had attended each assembly since 1902. and whose father, grandfather and great-grandfather many times before him.
The number present was increased in the evening by members of the Ladies Guild, who in the afternoon had held their District meeting at the nearby village of Preston St. Mary.

Places represented were Bury St. Edmunds. Bures. Buxhall. Clare, Earl's Soham. Felsham. Framlingham, Long Melford. Ipswich. Newton. Needham Market. Preston. Rougham. Sudbury, Sproughton. West Stow. Whepstead. Uxbridge (Middlesex). Trumpington (Cambs) and Hampstead.

Methods rung were Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich Court Bob, Superlative and London Surprise, Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING A CORRECTION

In our report of the Biographies Committee at the Central Council, we regret that we inadvertently misrepresented the remarks made by Mr. Harry Poyner. He said he preferred not to write his own biography, but would much rather leave it to his contemporaries.

SPLICED SURPRISE ROYAL

Dear Sir.-I send the following composition of Spliced London, Cambridge and Yorkshire. with the second never in 5ths or 6ths.-Yours faithfully.
A. J. PITMAN,

This contains 1.800 London (No. 3). 1,640 Cambridge, 1.600 Yorkshire: with 50 changes of method and all the work of each method for every bell.
For 5,520 , repeat first 13 courses with the methods rung in the same order.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Although only five of the 16 towers were represented, there were approximately 40 ringers present at the inaugural meeting of the Bingham District. held on June 16 th at the Church of St. John of Beverley, Whatton-in-the-Vale. The ringers were welcomed by the Rector, the Rt. Rev. A. M. Gelsthorpe, and ollowing tea a service was conducted by the Rev. J. Pickworth Hutchenson, who also took the chair at the business meeting.
The objects of the new District were explained by Mr. W. Exton. Officers elected to serve for 1962 were: Chairman. Mr. J. D. Clarke (Whatton): hon. secretary. Miss Ruth Blackshaw (Holme Pierrepont); Ringing Master. Mr. J. B. Bennett (Radcliffe-on-Trent): committee. Messrs. C. Cross and T. G. Goodwin.

An encouraging sign was the election of ten new members. namely: Messrs. C. Cross, R Larker. S. Marriott. A. and G. Morris (Bingham). H. Wakefield (Orston): Mrs. B. Exton. Misses M. Gaydon. S. Mitchell and C. Ward (Whatton).

Next meeting: Orston. July 14th: August meeting probably Colston Bassett.

Further ringing then look place at Bingham.

A DEVON CALL-CHANGE FESTIVAL

At the annual festival of the Plympton Deanery of the Devonshire Association of Ringers held at Egg Buckland on June 16th. the ringers of Emmanuel Church, Plymouth. by the kind invitation of the Association, entered a band for the rounds' and one for the 'rise. ring 60 call-changes. and lower.

Two of the six ringers for the 'rounds' had to be beginners, and in this they were awarded a 'First. certificate, and in the changes a 'Fourth. Eight teams competed in each section. The band which obtained the 'First in the changes was Plympton St. Mary, who had as their treble-man Mr. W. G. Lavers, a vicepresident of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. whilst a member of the Emmanuel band was the chairman of the $S . W$. Branch of the Guild

ST. LAURENCE'S, READING

Whit Monday again, and what is left of the St. Laurence ringers, with the help of good friends, held their annual outing, arranged by Maurice and Jane Thurmott, late members of the tower. Our first town was Abingdon, where we rang Grandsire and Stedman Caters on the - dear little ten,' then on to Witney for Stedman and Cambridge. Here for a few moments the older members of the party paused, remembering the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, late beloved Master of the O.D.G., who held his first curacy in this parish.

At Burford, with its unspoiled main street, good Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge were rung, and then to the Cotswold Arms for refreshment and a good luncheon.
The 'tit-bit' of the day was the glorious thatched village of Great Tew, with its wonderful church and good eight, in a most cathedrallike setting. Standard methods and Double Norwich were rung reasonably well; and then to Adderbury, where Brian White hadn't rung before but was looking forward to trying the tenor. So the foreman urged the band on to a fast course of Cambridge, and even Brian acknowledged that 2 hours 50 minutes for Major would have been over-fast on these hefty bells.

At Bicester, Jane and Maurice Thurmott entertained the party to tea, and this was much appreciated in preference to a cafe tea. In the tower we had, perhaps, our best ringing of the day. The easy going of the bells suited our ladies admirably.

The party included the Vicar, and some at tended Communion in their own church before setting out. Ringing concluded at Bicester, and here a hymn was sung and prayers and the Blessing given by the Vicar. Thanks are accorded the organisers, Mrs. Catherall, incumbents and steeplekeepers. W.H.

CHILCUMPTUN, SOMERSET, -On June 2nd, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: Rosemary Smith 1. M. Heyman (first of Minor 'inside') 2, C. Clarke 3, M. Horseman 4. M. Stone 5, D. Cobb (cond.) 6.

OUTINGS

CHRIST CHURCH, SWINDON

A cloudless sky and the prospects of a warm. sunny day heartened the Christ Church ringers and their friends on their annual outing on June 2nd. Much cf the , oute was new and the scenery along the Hog's Back to Guildford, and from Newlands Conner down the hill to Shere, did much to prepare us for the enjoyable day ahead.

After coffee and ringing at Shere, Junch was taken at the old coaching inn, the White Horse Hotel, Dorking. Pat Cannon escorted us to Martin's, with its fine ring of 8. Betchworth, an attractive old village with many modern houses, was the next tower visited. Close by, a fete was in progress to raise money for the rehanging of the bells. St. Martin's. Epsom, a fairly light ring of ten. proved to be a bit difficult for some of the junior members. Tea had been arranged at 'Party Fare,' Epsom, and the doubts we had about catering for a party of 42 in so small an establishment were soon dispelled as plateful after plateful of freshly cut sandwiches and bread and butter, cakes and cups of tea were brought from the rear. It was a tea to be remembered.

At Walton-on-Thames, the last tower. the Vicar joined us in ringing on the eight. With juniars forming a fair proportion of the ringers, Cambridge Major was the only Surprise method rung. Good touches of Double Norwich, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire were sung, with plenty of rounds for the learners.

In thanking Mr. Eric Suttan for making the arrangements. 'Doc' expressed the views of all that this was one of the best ever outings with good scenery, good food and pleasant ringing.

EAST RIDING RINGERS

With a rather ominous weather forecast. 37 ringers and friends from Sutton. Kirk Ella, Cottingham. Ferriby, Beverley, Howden and Walkington set out on their annual outing on Whit Monday. Sharow, the first tower, had the best kept and most orderly ringing chamber with an ingenious pulley system for opening the trapdoor entrance from the church below.
After lunch. Bedale provided a contrast ; a great deal of attention was needed to sing the betls well. The tower was once used as a fortress against Scottish invaders, the staircase door having once been guarded with a portcullis, the slit for which stili remains. The ringing chamber, once used as living quarters by the guards, showed remains of a fireplace.
Not until the bells were half-way up was the second clock hammer wire noticed at Middleham. When the chimes had been secured, some very good striking followed on these excellent bells.
A ring on the light six at East Witton preceded tea and ringing at Ripon. Grandsire Caters at the Cathedral may have been the best ring of the day. All the ringers seemed to manage these bells without trouble. The outing proved most successful, and the weather stayed fine. J.I.B.

Thanks For Happy Welcome

The party of Central Councif members and friends who visited South West Wales after the meeting and rang three peals for the three different South Wales Societies, would like to thank all concerned for the happy welcome they received. In particular they were very pleased by the kindness of Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, who entertained them to tea, after the peal at Swansea. Owing to a sudden attack of lumbago. Ron Sharp was unable to stand in at Newton Nottage. so Mr. Trevor Roderick quickly got a lady treble ringer at an hour's notice.

A swarm of bees caused a minor disturbance during the wedding reception at the home of Miss Margaret E. Panton at Chelmsford. Guests had overflown into the spacious garden and enioyed handbell ringing, in which the bridegroom (Howard W. Egglestone) participated. The swarm was expertly taken by the bride's father. This caused much interest to the non-bee-keeping ringers, as was the handbell ringing to the non-ringing bee-keepers. Wedding presents included an ironing board from the ringers at Broomfield and Chelmsford.

The time taken in the peal of Major at Rotherham Parish Church (page 414) was 3 hours 31 minutes and not as published. Our correspondent regrets error
Mr. C. W. Cooper, of Stourbridge, who is in his 76th year, rang the sixth in the quarter peal of Bob Major at Oldswinford on June 23 rd . In the band were his two great-nephews, the brothers Fellows.

The eight bells of All Saints', Northallerton, are now back from Loughborough after recasting, and are being rehung. They were taken out last August during an extensive restoration of the church.

A good feature article appeared in 'The Leicester Evening, Mail' of June 20th dealing with the under-17's in the South Wigston band. With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Warwick, the remainder of the band are 17 or under. Mr. Warwick combines his duties of Ringing Master with those of choirmaster.

Are the bells at Brent Tor, where a peal has recently been rung, the highest above sea level in England? By a rough calculation, Mr. T. G. Myers thinks the hells are hung about 1.200 feet above sea level. The tower to challenge any such claim is in Derbyshire. It was a very pleasant surprise to the ringers when at the conclusion of the peal, the Rector, the Rev. R. J. Hearne, came into the church and congratulated the band on their splendid ringing.

Mr. C. Donald Wheat, a former member of the band of St. Peter's, Bentley, Yorks. was ordained a deacon in Sheffield Cathedral on Trinity Sunday. For Parish Communion on June 24 th a 720 ( 360 Plain Bob and 360 Grandsire) was rung by the local band as a compliment to Mr. Wheat, who has now taken up his appointment as curate at St. Paul's, Arbourthorne, Sheffield.

The peal of Grandsire Major at Twerton-on-Avon (page 434) was the first for the Bath and Wells Association.
We are asked to state that the 'tower' of St. Peter's, Woolton, took no part in the correspondence referred to on page 491.
The in memoriam peal to Mr. W. L. Dufficld on June 4th was rung at Long Stratton, Norfolk, and not Bunwell as published on page 434. Our correspondent sends his apologies to all concerned.

Andrew Mayes, son of the Rev. H. L. Mayes, of Norton, rang in a touch of Bob Major at St. Albans Abbey for his father's ordination into the priesthood. Andrew had his first lesson in ringing at Norton just a year ago.
A welcome to our quarter peal columns is extended to the Llandovery College Bellringing Society. The quarter rung at Llandingat Church was the first for all the band and first recorded for the present Society. And now for a peal!
We have pleasure in welcoming several new postal subscribers, as this issue is the first of the new quarter. (It is not too late to join now.) We have also lost one clerical reader as a protest against our front page article - Eradicating a Smear.

When the Duke of Edinburgh visited Aldeburgh for the festival, the bells of the parish church were rung by a team of ringers of whom seven of the eight were under 15 years of age. Our correspondent says that their striking was good under their captain, Mr. Jack Pilgrim.

OBITUARY

MR. L. T. TAYLOR

We regret to report the sudden death while at work of Mr. Leslie T. Taylor, of Wigtoft. Lincs. on June 25th.

The previous Friday he rang in a quarter peal at Sibsey for the induction of the Rev. 1. W. S. Jones, Ph.D. Mr. Taylor, who was about 55 years of age, had been a ringer since leaving school, and was the popular Ringing Master of the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. For a number of years he had been organiser of the Branch's annual outing.

MR. F. BERNARD DREW

A member of the Farningham lower of the Kent County Association. Mr. F. Berrard Drew died on June 28th. Mr. Drew was news editor of 'The Sunday Express' and was also a sidesman at St. Bride's Church. Fleet Street. The funeral service was on Monday.

MR. JOHN TEI

Little Missenden ringers wish to express deep regret at the untimely death of John Tei. who had been a regular and enthusiastic member of the band for some two years before his illness made it impossible for him to continue.
As a mark of admiration and respect for John, a great Christian gentleman, the Little Missenden bells were rung muffled before and after his memorial service on June 22 nd .

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

History was made at the monthly meeting of the Marlborough Branch at Chisledon on June 16th by the presence of the Master, the Rev. R. N. Longridge, Vicar of Bourton. This was the first time in the long annals of the Branch that a holder of that office had attended a Branch meeting.

Ringing preceded the Guild service, conducted by the Vicar, Canon S. W. A. Collins, who welcomed the assembly to the parish. Mr. W. Drewitt was the organist. Mrs. W. Court and her helpers provided the traditional lavish tea,
Mr. F. Read was elected to preside at the business meeting in the unavoidable absence of the chairman (Mr, G. Newman). Subject to permission, the next two meetings will be at Shalbourne and Everleigh respectively, and the September meeting (the annual outing) possibly 10 Weston-super-Mare. Thanks to the Vicar and ladies were expressed by the chairman Ringing then followed, under the direction of Mr. T. A. Palmer, hon. secretary and Branch Ringing Master.
W. A. E.

FROM NEW ZEALAND

Mr. G. Nelson Sloane. of Christchurch Cathedral. New Zealand, writes: 'We were delighted to have Mr. C. W. Martin. of Gloucestershire, ringing with us for two Sundays. He is staying with his son in Wellington and is returning to England in September. With them was Mr. Daniel Richards, a New Zealander recently returned from London, and touches of Grandsire Triples were rung. It means a lot to us to receive visits from experienced English ringers, and their advice is appreciated by all.

ST. DAVID'S CATHEDRAL BELLS

MR. FREDERICK SHARPE this year addressed the Friends of St. David's Cathedral and, with the handbell ringers of St. Mary's, Launton, gave a recital of sacred music on handbells, which included selections from Bach and Mozart, mediæval and moral carols and Welsh hymns. His address has been printed in the annual report of the Friends of the Cathedral. Summarised, the story dealt with: Pirates-Danes-the collapse of the tower-earthquake-slander-mediæval generosity-fanatic Puritans-thieves and robbers-neglect; a long story with a happy ending-a magnificent gift and a glorious ring of bells.
According to one writer, it was in 1649 that certain 'sacriligeous villans' stole the tenor and treble bells. In their haste or incompetence in lowering the large bell it crashed to the pavement, doing considerable damage. The bells were taken away in a ship, which was sunk before it reached its destination.
Another story that might be almost legendary is that during the Civil War, when fanatical Puritan soldiers were destroying the organ, a small boy climbed to one of the upper galleries and threw stones at them. One stone hit a soldier on the head and hurt him severely.
The enraged soldier gave chase. Finding himself pursued, and despairing of being able to escape, the boy climbed into the belfry. Here he hid inside one of the bells, holding on to its clapper until the search was abandoned. The boy, whose name was Williams. afterwards became a vicar choral of the cathedral, and lived to the age of 90 .
In 1719 there were five bells in St. David's Cathedral, and rubbings and drawings of their inscriptions and rough sketches of the founders' marks are preserved in the Bodleian Library at Oxford. For two centuries their story is a sorry one. Referring to their condition in the 18th century. Capt. G. W. Mandy wrote: 'When rung they puzzle the hearer to determine whether they are intended to utter expressions of joy or sorrow.'
Four large bells were reported to be cracked and unfit for use in 1748, and an order was made for them to be sold and replaced by a new one. Whether this was acted upon is not clear, but in 1777 three of the ancient bells, weighing 36 cwt .3 qr .25 lb . (bells named Andrew, Katharine and Michael), were sold to William Savill, a London bell-founder. He made two new bells; the one at the top of the central tower weighs $13 \mathrm{cwt} .3 \mathrm{qr} .12 \mathrm{lb} .$. is used as a clock bell and is tolled as a service bell.

The present ring of eight were the generous gift of an anonymous donor in 1928 and were cast at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry,

WHEN THE BELLS STOP RINGING -

By The Rev. Kenneth Stuart,  Rector of Milton-next-Gravesend

IT is commonly stated that bellringers are not regular attenders at church. They spend half an hour or so pulling the bells to invite the parishioners to come to church, and then slip off to the local for a glass of beer while the service is going on.

The recent rededication of the bells at a Suffolk church was the occasion for remarks on these lines by the bishop who carried out the ceremony of rededication.

Now, it is true that once the bells have finished ringing the ringers do not always come into church, but I doubt very much whether they go straight to the pub.

For one thing, the pubs aren't open on Sundays until at least half an hour after most churches begin Evensong, and for an hour after most of us begin Matins.
My experience is that a fair proportion of bellringers do come into church for the service. But I would like to put a slightly different point of view here: the bellringers are not simply inviting us to worship God when they ring: they are, in the act of ringing, worshipping God themselves.

The congregation worships at 6.30 by singing hymns and psalms and by hearing the Bible read to them, but the ringers worship a little earlier than the rest of us by making a melody on their bells.

There is scriptural authority for this: the 150th Psalm lists musical instruments on which we may praise God; and the ringers may feel that after an hour or so's pulling they are a little hot and dishevelled and have praised God and so may now go home.

It is very encouraging when they do come to church for the service, and no doubt it is acceptable to God. But if we criticise the ringers for not coming into church then we should surely criticise ourselves also for not being at church an hour or so earlier to listen to the bells in an attitude of worship.

Bellringers on the whole are very pleasant people. Not only do they take time off to ring on Sundays, but they frequently take time off to practise ringing and to teach others how to ring. They are in frequent demand at weddings, a task which involves them in at least an hour's service by the time they have rung for the bride to come into church, waited for the service to be concluded, and rung the newly-married couple out of church.
For something like an hour's work, usually on a Saturday afternoon, they get paid round about 10 s.- not an excessive fee by any standards. I personally don't grudge the ringers a glass of beer on Sundays or on any other day of the week,
[From 'The Gravesend Reporter,'

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS  Preb. Cox Memorial Fund To Be Closed

THE 83rd annual festival of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held at Exeter on June 23 rd, when ringing was enjoyed at the Cathedral, and at the four other Exeter churches with ringable bells.
The service, at St. Mark's. was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. C. G. Poulton, who, in welcoming the Guild once again, regretted that, as he would shortly be leaving the parish, it would be his last welcome, but he hoped that the Guild would continue to have its festivals there. The lesson was read by the president, Preb. J. H. B. Andrews.

The Bishop of Plymouth, the Rt. Rey. Norman H. Clarke, preached, and in his address referred to his impending retirement and said that two memories he would take with him were hearing the bells of St Andrew's, Plymouth, ringing after his induction as Vicar of Plymouth in 1944, and hearing bells ringing from country churches during his visits, the sound of which often guided him to the church.

REASON FOR RINGING

He gave three reasons why we ring: (1) We enjoy ringing-it is a pleasure away from routine and there is a fellowship which extends outside our own tower, and a reminder that God has a share in all our amusements: (2) It is a worthwhile craft and there is great variety in ringing. Many churches have records of ringing achievements commemorating public happenings, and thus it is an ancient craft, which reflects the life of the community. God is Lord of all life and of all our skills, including ringing: (3) It is a service for God and His Church. In Devon our towers were built for bells, and in other parts spires point heavenwards. The towers indicate to us that God is Lord of all joy and all life
A service like this. he said. reminds us of the purpose of ringing. which is for the Glory of God in calling to worship week by week We must keep our towers really alive; he thought that more towers were ringing now than five or ten years ago and we must get rogether and cement our brotherhood.
The collection which amounted to $£ 410 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d was shared between the Guild's Bell Restoration Fund and St. Mark's Church funds.
More than 100 members had tea in the parish room and, in addition to the Bishop Plymouth, the president of the Central Council. Mr. Frederiok Sharpe. were honoured

THE SUFFOLK GUILD  South-West District

We were especially pleased to welcome a visitor from Pontefract. Yorkshire, among the 26 ringers and friends who attended the District meeting at Great Thurlow on June 9th. A short service was conducted by the Rev. Barrington Barnes, with the lesson read by Mr. Allen W. Cansdale, afiter which an excellent tea was enjoyed, given by Mr. and Mrs. Vestey, of Great Thurlow HaH
At the business meeting two new ringing members were elected-Miss Brenda Mander. of Higham. and Mr. Michael Jackman, of Stratford St. Mary.
Mr. Ernest Smith reported that the Assington ringers had appealed to the villagers by handwritten letters for $£ 15$ for new bell ropes. and to date the fund had realised $£ 24$. He fe't that by reporting this overwheiming response it might assist other towers who were in a similar position.
The Rev. Barrington Barnes said that Mr. and Mrs. Vesty were willing to give a cup if this would encounage ringing in the District. It was decided to accept this offer and to send a circular letter to all District towers to obtain the views of those members not present, on this subject, the results of which are to be put forward for discussion at the next Districl meeting at Glemsford on Augus 2 Sth.
guests. At the subsequent husiness meeting the president took the chair and the t"easurer presented the accounts, which were accepted. He referred to the fund to provide a memorial to the late president, the Rev Preb E. V. Cox, and suggested that the fund should be closed at the end of August. The committee could then disouss the form the memorial should take. This was agreed to and the treasurer asked for any amounts outstanding to be forwarded as soon as possible. Grants of $£ 25$ and $£ 20$ respectively were made from the Bell Restoration Fund to Bampton and Westleigh.

PROSPECTS GOOD

In presenting the committec's report, the secretary pointed out that although memhership was stationary at about 650 . there were many young members, and prospects were good provided older members gave them every encounagement. At the committee's request the Bishop had inserted a reference in the Diocesan Leaflet and the Directory to the Rev. J. G. M. Scott as adviser on bells and belfries.
The printed report contains a condensation from 'The Ringing World' of an article on the early history of the Guild by the late Mr. F. C. Smale, which had heen inserted as a tribute to the author, who had been general secretary for 10 years. The committee had met twice during the year and had confirmed as honorary life members Mr A Newman. of Dartmouth, and Mr. W. G Hiscott. of Liscard.

The librarian made an appeal for old books and haped that old ringers would see that any in their possession were not lost. He also reported on the recent meeting of the Centrad Council and said that the advent of the Devonshire Association had produced a new spirit, and made members realise that call change ringers were also ringers.

It was agreed to hold next year's festival again in Exeter, and the officers were all reelected. with the addition of Mr. G. C. Woodley of Sidbury, as a vice-president. The Central Council representatives were also reelected, and Mr. Sharpe was elected a nonresident life member. After the president had proposed an omnibus vote of thanks, members relurned to the ibelfries for more ringing.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Andover District

The Andover District members had beautiful sunny weather for their summer meeting when ringing took place in seven towers in North Hampshire.
East Woodhay's pleasant six were available for an hour from 1 to 2 p.m., then the noisy six at Woolton Hill before going on to the eight at Highclere.
The service was conducted at Highclere by the Reotor (the Rev. T. W. Lewis), who welcomed the visitors. Tea was served by the Highclere lady ringers, and there was more than enough for everyone present.
Six new members were elected from the Burghclere tower, making seven in all from here. others elected being from Andover and a life member from Ashby-de-la-Zouch. Mr Alliston. the District's chairman, announced that Mr. J. Wimlett, a ringing member of Whitchurch, had been awarded the M.BE. in the recent honours list and, being present, he was congratulated by the meeting.
Ringing afterwards followed at Burghclere Newton, Sydmonton and Kingsclere. Methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Bristol Surprise Major.

Officers for Michaelmas term: F. J. Nelson (Conpus), Master: Miss C. B. Clayton (St Anne's) and J. E. Camp (Jesus). secretaries Miss C. C. Macnair (L.M.H.), treasurer.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

THE Lord Bishop of St. Asaph's, Dr. D, D Bartlett, attended the annual meeting of the North Wales Association at Llangollen on June 23rd, and gave an address at the choral service. Showing a keen interest in the work of the Association, he joined the members at tea and afterwards presided at the business meting.
The attendance was not as good as expected considering the attractions of Llangollen. which is one of the beauty spots of North Wales and now famous for its International Eisteddfod. Towers represented were Macbynlleth, Rhyl, Abergele. Hope, Buckley, Flint, Wrexham and Llangollen Ringing commenced at 2 p.m.. followed by a service conducted by the Vioar (Chancellor Dr. J. Alun Thomas), assisted by the Rev. John Gilpin.

Tea was served at Dorothy's Cafe when the ringers were joined by the Bishop and clergy. Also present were Mr. A. Bailey, an old Llangollen ringer in his 90th year, and Mr. T. R. Butler, president of the Police Guild. Mr. Butler spoke of his pleasure at being at the meeting and how delighted he was to meet some of his old friends. Mr. D. H. B. Millward thanked the Ladies for the excellent tea provided.
At the business meeting the chairman requested the members to stand in silence as a token of respect to Mr. J. Powell, of Rhyl, and Mr. J. Lewis, of Hope. Both were staunch members who had died recently.

LIFE MEMBERS

As an honour for their long service as ringing members, the following were voted life members: Mr. Russell Edwards (Abergele). Mr. Jos Hayes (Buckley), Mr. Ll. Griffiths (Llandudno) and Mr. J. Evans (Rhyl). The secretary read a letter from Mr. A. J. Hughes, of Bangor, expressing his inability to be present and conveyed his good wishes for a uccessful meeting.
Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Piesident, Chancellor Dr. J. Alun Thomas: vice-presidents. L.t.-Col. Combett Winder (Lord Lieutenant of Montgomeryshire), Archdeacon Richards. the Rev. C. Humphrey Jones. the Rev. D. R. Griffiths, Mr. J. S. Antiss and Mr. G. F. Hewitt; Ringing Master, Mr. F. R Evans (Wrexham): honorary secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Cathrall (Wrexham): District secretaries, Mrs. L.. S. Griffiths and Mr. D. H B. Millward: District instructors, Mr. Li S. Griffiths and Mr. F. R. Evans; audior, Mr. $\dot{w}$. H. Lewis (Hope)
Mr. D. H. B. Millward. Central Council representative, gave a report of the C.C. meeting at Cardiff, and stressed importance of tower captains purchasing C.C. publications for young ringers
It was decided to hold the next half-yearly meeting at Bodelwyddan on September ist and the annual meeting next year at Beaumaris on the second Saturday after Whitsun.
A retiring collection was taken on behalf of the restoration of the bells at Llandigai and the Kilifi Church Bell Fund. East Africa.
On behalf of the ringers Mr. E. Jones expressed thanks to the Bishop for his interest and for giving the address. A vote of thanks was also proposed by Mr. D. H. B. Millward to the Vicar, and to Mr. A. Bailey, captain of the Llangollen ringers. for the excellent arrangements.
The meeting was most enjoyable both from a sociall and ringing point of view. The duty of Ringing Master was ably carried put by Mr. F. R. Evans. of Wrexham. The bells are a fine ring of eight, tenor 17 cwt .

50 Years Ago

R.W. July 12th. 1912

For the proposed new tower and spire for St. Mary's Church. Southampton (long associated with the name of Wilberforce), £2.562 has now been raised, exclusive of the $£ 1.000$ promised for a peal of bells.
Congratulations to the hand that on Sunday scored the 8,099 Grandsire Caters on handhells, and particularly to Miss Elsie Bennett, who rang 1-2. Miss Bennett is making a splendid record in handbeld ringing. and this latest achievement is a capital performance. The peal is the longest length in the method rung on handtells.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEADWOOD

Dear Sir,-Your leading article, June 22nd, once again brings to mind the state of so many towers that remain stagnant. They have a regular band, ring for Sunday service, but beyond this and the occasional practice, take no active part in their Guild's functions, not even when the Guild visits their own tower for ringing.
We in these parts have our fair share of these towers, but we have proved that they can be made to awaken; in fact, in this immediate area we have three towers which are now learning Bob Doubles, due to a sudden spur of enthusiasm. ibrought about by one keen ringer who, in at least two cases, has given them a new lease on life.

In my experience I have found that if there is one enthusiastic member in the team he can usually pass on his enthusiasm to the others. especially if he has a big car. If they can follow this up with local quarter peals they soon tbecome a live tower. wishing to join in with other activities.

However, this enthusiasm has to be created from inside. outside help is usually not welcomed, although a lot depends on the local captain and how enthusiastic he is for his hand to progress.

Fortunately the majority of tower captains. whatever the state of their bands, are only $t 00$ pleased to allow visitors to ring on their hells. Refusals to visiting bands are extremely rare, and these tower captains are given the cold shoulder.
A lot also depends on the incumbent, but, although he is in charge of the bells, it is always the tower captain who has the last word and on this individual depends whether he has a live band or deadwood, as his enthusiasm can usually be passed on to the rest of the team.
So look to it, tower captains. it rests on yas as to how your band is described by your fellow ringers.-Yours faithfully.
Highclere, Hants.

IN DEFENCE OF THE 'DEADWOODS'

Dear Sir,-I doubt very much whether the reference to certain ringers as "deadwood" ('R.W.' front page, June 2?nd) will be regarded as constructive criticism. There must be hundreds and I know of some, who qualify for what seems to me to be an unwarranted accusation. These people are doing a fine job. in these days of so many silent towers. in keeping the bells going. In most cases, where Grandsire Doubles is the only method, the bells are generally well struck, which is to the credit of the deadwoods.
There may be quite a number of reasons for the non-attendance of these ringers at Guild and A.G.M.s. Inconvenience may be one and another is that they find the A.G.M.s a little boring. (My experience is that they appear to be too much of 'the cut and dried aftairs.)

For financial reasons these ringers may find The Ringing World 100 costly, or uninteresting and not worth the cost, plus postage. That is my view and I now purchase mv Ringing World' through a newsagent.
Finally, in these days of abundant amusements and recreations great credit is due to those who are keeping bands together by ringing the simplest of methods and call changes. Constructive criticism is always welcome and, coupled with real assistance and the right approach. might well bring these deadwoods into the fold.-Yours truly

EYE BELLS

Dear Sir.-At the rededication of Eye, Suffolk, eight bells the Bishop is reported to have said and the ringers slink off to the nearest pub to refresh themselves. This shows his ignorance of the license laws. as the locals, do not open on Sundays till 12 noon and 7 p.m. These times are more convenient for the tenors and basses of the choir, who desire refreshments after their "energetic action' and perhaps a dry sermon
It has been said that Queen Victoria, attending divine service, gave instructions for a bottle of sherry to be placed in the vestry for the use of the officiating priest. From my knowledge of the "cloth' very few of them would resist the 'evil' (?) temptation of taking a 'drop,' before and after the service.Yours, etc.,
G. E. SYMONDS.

CRICKET MATCH RECALLED

Dear Sir,-I read in the 'R.W.' (dated June 22nd) that one of your hidden reporters has beaten me to the task of reporting a cricket match held at Edenham some time last year. It is only right that the 40 -run victory of Spalding should not go unsung or that the player. mentioned in the sentence of the report, be rapped over the knuckles for his omission.
Perhaps it will suffice to say that the player in question, having been dropped from this year's team, is still in exile at Mablethorpe, where he still enjoys that singular privilege of the blue uniform.-Yours faithfully.
A. L. L. BUTTS.

Mahlethorpe, Lincs.

WHEN ELFCTRICITY SUPPLY FAILS

Dear Sir-I was interested to read your article and correspondence concerning electrical installations in belfries and, whilst precautions against lamp failure and accidental switching of are no doubt desirable, there still remains the possibility of failure of the supply.
I do wonder whether the danger is exaggerated-I well remember one Sunday evening in winter, some twelve years ago, when the power supply for the district failed whilst we were ringing. The touch of Major went up the spout. but we all controlled our bells und caught our sallies in pitch darkness for and least iwo whole pulls until the conductor called. 'Stand!'-Yours faithfully,

FRANK S. CHENEY.

Wigston Magna, Leics

DOUBLE NORWICH PEAL AT NEWTON NOTTAGE

Dear Sir,-Regarding the peal of Double Norwich rung at Newton Nottage, on page 433, the report needs some correction.
The dedication of the ancient church is $S$. John Baptist-without "The.' The note of the tenor is $\mathbf{B}$ flat, not ' A.' The treble ringer spells her christian name Rosemarie: it is her first peal of Major, not her first on "eight bells.'
The ringer of the second (myself) is not the local captain. (I am a churchwarden of the parish.) It may hurt the feelings of the tower captain if it is not corrected (his name is Michael Larcher)-Yours sincerely,

Portheawl

THEOLOGICAL STUDENT AND

RINGING BUG

Dear Sir, From reading your account of the report of the Education and Sunday Service Committee, we are still wondering exactly what it is that the committee hopes will be achieved in the Theological Colleges.
It is understandable, that any account of the proceedings of the Central Council, which appears in 'The Ringing World,' must be condensed, but the report of this committee in so far as it referred to the Theological Colleges, must raise many questions in the minds of those who are interested or involved By all means let us have more propaganda by way of talks and even visits to a belfry for practical demonstrations. Most Theological Colleges have talks and lectures by visiting speakers on a wide range of subjects connected with the future work of the theological student and it is a good thing that the committee should be concerned to see that the aims and objects of the Exercise arc included in these.
Here at Lichfield we are hoping that something like this will be done during the coming term, but in my view, there is a definite limit to what can be done. Is it necessary, as the report would suggest, that Ordinands should be 'innoculated with the ringing bug'? If a man has been taught to ring before he begins his theological training, this is a different matter. For this is one of the special gifts which he brings to the ministry, as others might have the ability to play a musical instrument, or excel at some form of sport.
Theological Colleges vary greatly both in their understanding of what they are trying to do. as well as in their methods of doing it and one can only speak from personal experience, but it appears that the whole curriculum of theological training and the pattern of college life combine to make this the least desirable time to begin to teach a person 10 ring.
to believe all that is said by various lecturers in a theological college, then a priest must have a real concern for all aspects of the life and work of the Church. but it does not follow that he must he actively engaged in them all. From the report. however. this must be how the committee does think, and presumably we shall soon be seeing that they are recommending that their pupils" first curacy be served at a church with a good ring of bells and a high standard of ringing, where the man's youthful enthusiasm can best be maintained!!
Presumably. these are the men who will some day be telling ringers at Guild meetings. etc., just how important ringers are to the life of the Church. For this, they need a more balanced picture of what ringing is, than that which is usually gained by the enthusiastic adolescent, who is being irtoculated with the Saturday afternoon 'ringing bug.'-Yours sincerely,

BIRTH OF ANZAB

Dear Sit.-I was pleased to read "the Birth of Anzab. as a few years ago, while spending a holiday in Auckland, New Zealand. I discovered a ring of eight by Warners in St. Matthew's tower, of that city.

I was given to understand the tower, a substantial building of stone, had settled and was unsafe for ringing
With the ansicipated visit of English ringers now being arranged. could a member of the Tcwer and Belfries Committee be invited to inspect and advise about this tower.-Yours sincercly,

ALLEN B. STROUD.

ALFRED BOWELL'S FOUNDRY

HELPED CAST LAST BOWELL BELL
Dear Sir,-It was between the years 1896 and 1939 when Mr. Alfred Bowell cast his first bell and his last. The second war was the end of the business, and of him, on August 29th. 1940, at the early age of 66. His first bell was cast when I was a few weeks old, and I helped to cast the last; I also did all the tuning after 1918.
One job was to use the old six and additional metal from a disused church single bell, approximately 15 cwt., to make a new ring of eight at All Saints'. Maldon, Essex, and hanging all in a new steel frame and plain hearings. The old six in oak frame filled the tower, but he got the eight (tenor 12 cwt .) in same space on level with steel frame, and with good circle in church below. This tower is the only triangular tower in the country.
His bellfounding and hanging extended over 25 counties, from Ulceby, Lincs, 1907-8 to East Langdon. Kent: Wigmore. Herefordshire, Bishop's Castle, Salop. Hinton Blewett. Somerset, Thurcaston, Leicester, 1919 (ring of Taylors) tuned and rehung in steel frame for eight on plain bearings and 1922 added two trebles. All eastern counties, and Kent. So hardly a sideline. Largest bells cast: Turvey, Beds, $19 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.. and Dennington, Suffolk, $19 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt.-Yours truly, FREDERICK BOWELL.

91. Levington Road,

Ipswich, Suffolk

RECORDS DESTROYED BY BLITZ

Dear Si ,-With reference to your recent correspondence regarding Bowell's foundry, it might interest, readers to know that most of the records, kept by the foundry, were destroyed during the war.

About 10 years ago I wrote to the foundry requesting information about our own bells. At the dime I didn't know that it had been destroyed during enemy action.

My letter was duly passed on to one of the sons of the family. who had just a few of the records left. Fortunately he had the information that I required which he let me have, at the same time stating that most of the records had been destroyed.

Incidentally, he carried out a major restoration of Weldon bells. new steel frame, recasting and rehanging of the whole ring in 1907. -Yours sincorely,
R. A. WEBSTER.

Weldon, Northants.

SOME MORE OF HIS BELLS

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. Shepherd's letter about the Bowell's bell foundry, the following may be of interest to him:
Cheddington, Buoks.-Rehung and a treble added. 1911.

Maids Moreton, Bucks.-Six bells cast, 1906 (These have since been recast by Taylors.) Barton-le-Cley, Beds.-Rehung the old five and added three trebles in 1904.
Chicheley. Bucks.-The six bells rehung and quarter turned in 1905.

Braintree. Essex. - Alt rehung in 1927.
Fryerning, Essex.-Rehung, 1884 and 1900 This information has mostly been gleaned from boards in the towers concerned, or from local ringers, so I cannot vouch for absolute correctness.- Yours faithfully.

Leicester.

ALFRED BOWELL

Dear Sir-Your correspondent who inquires about works of the late Alfred Bowell may like to have particulars of the following in Northants:
Cogenhoe.-Recast three bells of 1678 and added three trebles in 1909, tenor 8 cwt . 20 lb.
East Farndon.-Added a treble to four in 1897.

East Haddon.-Rehung all five in new metal frame, 1905. Tenor 15 cwt 3 qr .4 lb . (Messrs. John Taylor and Co. added a treble to make six in 1928.)

Hardingstone.-Rehung all five in new metal frame in 1910 . Tenor $12 \frac{1}{t}$ cwt.

Kingsthorpe.-Rehung five old bolls and added a treble and new metal frame, 1911. Bells placed on ball bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, 1951. Tenor 15 cwt. 2 qr. 14 lh.
Lois Weedon.-Recast four bells (tenor $6 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt.) and added two trebles in 1924.

Passenham.-Recast a pre-Reformation treble and rehung all five bells, 1907. The fourth is a Richard Bentlye bell, dated 1585 . All rehung in old oak frame.
Weston Favell.-Rehung all five bells in oak frame of 1808 , by John Over, of Rugby, with new headstocks and new wheels in 1908. These have since been 'put on ball bearings by White's, of Appleton, 1960.
Weldon. - Recast treble and tenor of six bells and rehung all in new metal frame, tenor $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.
Clifton Reynes, Bucks.-Rehung six bells, 1910.

In 1911 he inspected the small (Wren designed) steeple of Great Houghton, where there were two bells-one of 1590 period, by one of the Newcombes, of Leicester, taken from the old church and put in the new, built around 1760, after which another was added by Robert Taylor in 1817 -with a view to adding more bells. Bowoll determined he could hang five-the existing two (tenor 8 cwt . 0 qr. 25 lb.$)$ and add three trebles-four on one level and a treble above. This he told me in one of several letters as we corresponded from time to time. Messrs. Taylor's have since (in 1936) added four more, and hung them stationary as a chime of six, with an apparatus. After seeing the job at Woodston, near Peterborough, where six bells are hung in an even smaller tower than Great Houghton, with a tenor of only 25 lb . less. I am convinced that Bowell was right, as is an architect friend of mine who has seen both jobs.-Yours faithfully,
P. AMOS

Weston Favell.

NOT TOO LATE

We can still take you as a postal subscriber for this quarter. Rates: 3 months 9s. 6d.. 6 months 18 s ., 12 months $£ 115 \mathrm{~s}$. Remit to J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall.

SWANSEA TENOR

Dear Sir.-Mr. Wilfred Williams conducted a peal of Cambridge at Swansea last year and the weight of the tenor was given in "The Ringing World ' as 19 cwt . 0 qr .6 lh
A peal of Yorkshire was rung there recently, conducted by Mr. J. L. Millhouse, and the tenor appears as being 20 cwt .2 qr .12 lb . Can either of these gentlemen, or anyone else, say which is the correct weight, please? -Yours faithfully, Rodbourne Cheney, Swindon, Wilts.

REDEDICATIONS AND AUGMENTATIONS  HEMINGTON BELLS

Additional details to the paragraph that appeared in our issue of June 29th of the hallowing of the restored and augmented ring of six in the little Somerset village of Hemington, have heen forwarded by the Rector, the Rev. A. G. Durston.

The work with the additional items is likely to cost some $£ 2.000$. Of this about $£ 1,850$ is now raised. Events on the dedication day raised some $£ 210$. The Barron Bell Trust has given $\pm 500$ and the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association a contribution. The remainder of the fund has been found by the parish. which has also dealt with the tower roof, the restoration of the windows and the organ.
The new bell is a treble of $5 t$ cwt., having the following inscription: 'John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough. This peal was restared and augmented by the assistance of the Barron Bell Trust, 1962 . Emma Barron, founder, H. W. Eldred, K. C. Walrond, E. R. Pennell, 1 rustees.
The third and the fifth are old bells of before 1480 , the tenor of 1610 is of $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. ani the fourth was cast in 1592.
The rounds during the service and ringing as the congregation left the church was by members of the parish's own hand. This is almost completely new since the bells have been unringable for nearly 40 years.

DORNEY, BUCKINGHAMSHIRE

The old ring of four bells at Dorney has been augmented to six by the addition of two new trebles. On Sunday, June 241 h , the bells, and also a new organ, were dedicated during Matins by the Bishop of Buckingham, the Rt. Rev. G. D. Satage.
The dedication rounds were rung by Mr W. A. Theobald, bell hanger, and five members of the newly formed local company Mears and Stainbank were represented by Mr D. Hughes. Immediately after the service the first peal on the bells was successfully completed in two hours and twenty-five minutes, the first 720 , Dorney Court Minor, being the first exent on the bells.

There have been four bells at Dorney since at least 1637, but the bells have been unringable for many years. This restoration is due mainly to the enthusiasm of Lt.-Col. Palmer, of Dorney Court. The inscriptions on the bells are Treble. - Eton gave to God's Glory, Mears and Stainbank, 1961.'
Second.- The Palmers gave me, Mears and Stainbank. 1961.
Third.- William Eldridge made mee, 1698.' Fourth- 'Prayes the Lord, 1631." (This bell is by Ellis Knight.)
Fifth.- Blessed be the name of the lorde, 1582, Joseph Carter
Tenor. - Richard Siddings, Thos. Martin, Church Wardens. Thos. Swain Fecit, 1771. Recast by Mears and Stainbank, 1961.

A local band is being trained, and have been ringing for morning service since Whit Sunday, having commenced on May 3rd. An open meeting was held on June 30th, and a variety of methods were rung by visitors from as far away as Coventry. Farnborough and East Grinstead. It was generally agreed that an excellent musical ring of six has been once again produced by the Whitchapel Bell Foundry

STRATTON, CURNWALL. - On June 24th. 1,26n Stedman Triples: C. Sangwin 1, W. L. Exton 2, S Jenner 3. Ann Georae 4. M. Sinden 5. H. Stacey (cond.) 6. J.. D. Clarke 7, J. Halford 8.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY'S WHITSUN TOUR

BOUT 17 members (mostly graudates) of the Society took part in a highly successf.1 tour. centred on Rochester, during the Whit week-end, good weather, bells and organisation contributing greatly 40 enjoyment.

A prompt arrival at the tirst tower, Boxley, on Saturday morning ensured plenty of good ringing on this lively, 11 cwt ., Mears six, including a touch of Spliced Doubles and Minor which came round quite unexpectedly. Thence we passed on at a hair-raising pace 10 Charing, where we were joined by Rex Agg and Gay Williams, for a variety of methods on this pleasant Taylor six, which seemed to sound better than they went. After a fairly long trek across country we arrived, surprisingly early, at Biddenden, and took advanage of the glorious sunshine to sunbathe in the churchyard before someone had the presence of mind to rout out a local ringer, who had not expected us for another two hours. It is a joy to ring in this tower with its attractive ringing chamber, but we unfortunatedy $\mathrm{d}_{1}$ I not do justice to this 23 cwt . eight.

A short trip brought us to Headcorn, where we lunched and played billiards in the local, whilst others sunbathed. At the parish church an odd-struck tenor was encountered, but courses of Stedman and Bristol both got underway. The ten bells at Leeds, famous in the annals of change tinging, are housed in a tower that more resembles some castle keep. Touches of Spliced Plain and Little Bob Royal, and Stedman Caters both come round on bedls that go very well.
Feeling by now very hot and thirsty we pressed on to Aylesford, and further exhausted ourselves in trying to find a shop to sell us minerals. Thirsts having been quenched, the ringing improved on the good eight here, and David Martin finally managed to persuade us to ring a course of Duffield. Later during the evening we joined the local ringers at Rochester Cathedral, enjoying Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal.
Sunday was mainly a day of rest and relaxation; ringing was enjoyed during the morning at Chatham, and most took the opportunity of boating on the river during the afternoon, although the boating company may be still looking for some of their oars! Ringing during the evening took place at Maidstone.

Grey skies and rain greeted us on Monday morning as we made our way to ring at the only undenominational church in IEngland with a ring of bells. St. George's Chapel of Unity, Gravesend. The fine Taylor eight were rung quiet well despite a long rope draught and springy ropes, although the treble was found to be almost unringable to Yorkshire (or perhaps it did not know the method?)!
At Milton-nexi-Gravesend the light eight go very well. being rung from a neat little ringing gallery.

LADIES' TOUCH
The weather improved as we arrived at the quiet village of Shorne to awaken the inhabitants so the ladies' touch of Grandsire Doubles. A local gentleman working in his garden declared that he had 'never 'eard the bells going so fast,' but we were not sure whether he was referring to the Society's traditional course of London Scholars' Pleasure, or another erudite touch of Spliced Doubles and Minor. The local pub was again invaded for lunch.
We arrived early at the picture-postcard village of Cobham, and had to wander around the church fete, and watched Chris Pain bowling for a pig! It was generally agreed that Cobham bells were not easy to ring, the fifth bell having a rhythm of its own, and even though Derek Sibson and Jane Langton had now joined us, Eric Roberts' touch of Spliced Court Bob Minor refused to come round, although London Surprise fared better.

At the next tower, Meopham, we found it necessary to use Jumbo's tool kit to prise open the belfry door, but both tower and bells were found to go very well, a halfcourse of London Major nearly coming sound At the last scheduled tower, Atsh-by-Wrotham, we were met by the local captain. Mr. John Muller. who joined us in the ringing and spoke of the proposed restoration of the bells Some of us stayed on at Ash to watch a locad cricket match, whilst the rest wended their weary but contented ways home.

Grateful accords are expressed to all the local incumbents and landlords who made us so welcome, and especially hearty thanks are aocorded to Mike Layton, who made the excellent local arrangements.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

Near 40 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Eastern District, held at Selby on June 23 rd. Visitors from Somerset, Berkshire, Warwickshire and Leicestershire", were welcomed, and also Mr. Harold Marcom, of Loughborough, who learned to handle a bell at Selby Abbey nearly 50 years ago.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, and tea was seryed by ringers' wives in the Howdon Institute.
In the absence of the vice-president, Mr. H. Walker presided. Mr. Horace S. Morley, who had held office as District secretary for over 30 years, was re-elected. His suggestion that he should stand down to make way for a younger man was not accepted. Representatives on the District and General Committees were re-elected. with the exception of Mr. S. Johnson on the General Committee in place of Mr. L. Rodmell, who resigned owing to ill-health, and Mr. J. Potts to fill a vacancy on the District Committee.
New members elected were: Miss L. Dalton (Kirk Ella), Miss Pat Teal and Mr. K Kitchen (Walkington) residential: Mr. J Underwood (Hoxey) non-residential. To the votes of thanks. Miss Margaret Whitehead replied for the local company and ladies. Next meeting: Holy Trinity, Hull, September 29 th , if possible.

Mr. A. E. Marsh Retires From Secretaryship

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Cross Stone, Todmorden, on Jine 16th. For several of the 50 or so members and friends present this was their first visit to Cross Stone, with its splendid views and light, tuneful ring of eight bells, not to mention the hospitality of the local company, which left nothing to be desired.

The business meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mr., W. Barton. Routine business matters were completed and hearty votes of thanks accorded to those responsible for the meeting arrangements before passing on to the main business, the election of officers.

Mr. A. E. Marsh was due to retire from the office of honorary Distriot secretary and had expressed his intention not to seek re-election This vacancy had been considered by the District Committee and they recommended the election of Mr. R . Lumley. No other nomination was forthcoming and Mr. Lumley was duly elected. The chairman and others expressed regret that Mr. Marsh had found it necessary to relinquish his post and paid tribute to the cheerful and efficient manner in which he had performed his duties during the last ten years. Mr. Marsh said that he had derived much pleasure from his work as secretary, but now felt that, owing to other commitments, he was unable to devote sufficient time to the job.

Retiring members of the District Committee were Messrs. P. Birkett, I. Slack and P. Dawson. Mr. Slack did not seek re-election and the retiring secretary was elected to fill the vacancy. Messrs. Birkett and Dawson were re-elected. Mr. Birkett was also elected to the Generad Committee of the Association New members elected were: the Misses Jennifer Jackson, Jeannie Settle, Sheila Teale and Karen Walker, of Northowram, and Dr M. F. D. Burton, of Skipton.

Before the meeting terminated, reference was made to the Snowdon commemoration dinner to be held this year at the Windmil Hotel, York, on October 13th. Members were asked to give the function their full support.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Eastern District

About 40 members and friends were present at a meeting held at Preston St. Mary (6) on June 23rd. Ringing ranged from Plain Bob to Surprise. At the business meeting, which followed tea at the Six Bells Inn, several new members were elected, and the next meeting was provisionally fixed for East Dereham on September 29th.

Other items on the agenda included the proposed venue for the 1963 Guild A.G.M. Congratulations were expressed to Mrs. E. Lock wood on ringing her first peal. At the close of the meeting most people went to ring at Livenham, but a few others 'grabbed Felsham and Acton. Our thanks go to the incumbents and to all who came and made this meeting one of the most successful we have had.

CHURCH OF EIGHT CENTURIES ALMOST DESTROYED

DURING the last war skies above East Angtia and Lincolnshire vibrated with the peculiar and persistent throb of aircraft diesel engines hauling loads of destruction from a militant Germany.
Time and time again enemy aeroplanes flew above eastern shores, bent upon mischief. the sadistic idea being two-fold: to bomb at random and un-nerve the countryside's inhabitants, at the same time to afford experience to young German aircrews who had nrt long been in possession of their hardcarned wings.
Thus on one occasion a hit-and-run raider of Teutonic origin circled above the virile soll of south Lincolnshire, hidden in the dark mantle of night. Away to the east, muddy waters of the Wash fed numerous inland creeks harbouring a variety of wild life; slightly to the north rose the spectacular lantern-tower at Boston, and beneath the lean shape of the intrusive aircraft small villages appeared and disappeared: Algarkirk, Suttertoln, Donington and Swineshead-all would hear harsh noise of those kaborious pistons.
It is quite possible that the navigator had wheen briefed on one particular spot, Boston docks perhaps, or even Boston. 'Stump'?
Approaching Bicker the aircraft's navigator may have imagined that he was already over Boston town, or the pilot may have feared that his position had been fixed by a British night-fighter. At any rate the dethal cargo consisting of 14 bombs was relcased in a string above the pleasant collection of dwelling places enriched with pantile roofs and creepered walls. The missiles plunged into the ground and one fell a mere 20 feet away from Bicker's impressive cruciform churchyct not one of those sinister canisters exploded!
Never before in a thousand years had Bicker been so near to complete annihilation. The stately church, dedicated to St. Swithin. has long honoured the saint and his strong aquatic connections, but the day it rained bombs was, even in war-time, beyond the liveliest imagination.

GIFT OF THANKSGIVING

It all had a happy ending, however, for as a thanksgiving for the remarkable and miraculous deliverance from death, hurt and destruction, the then existing ring of six bells was augmented to eight. the second of the new bells in actual fact being the token instrument of Bicker's gratitude.

St. Swithin's Church prides itself as being one of the oldest ecclesiastical buildings in Lincolnshire. There are considerable Norman works to admire and even a portion of an 8th century preaching cross, used in the days of Saxon England, can the seen at the west end of the fane Entered from the exterior a turret stairway leads to a passage in the thickness of the transept wall. and entering the tower proper a further climb leads to the comfortable ringing chamber directly beneath the bells.
With the exception of the two new trebles (added by Messrs. Taylor's at a cost of nearly $£ 400$ ) the original six have witnessed the passing of time for many years. The third be!l is inscribed. 'Percule Dulcie Cano,' cast at Downham Manket by Thomas Osborn in 1784. Number four informs the inquirer that she was 'Raised by Subscription' and cast by Osborn in the same year. Pack and Chapman, of London, created the fifth in 1780, this bell also having been acquired by public subscription.
The London foundry provided the sixth bell in the same year as the fifth, and the seventh (1636) possesses an appropriate inscription in the light of near disaster: 'God Save the Chureh '-this prophetic appeal was assuredly heard. The tenor ( 7 cwt . 3 gr.
15 tb . in A), dated 1661 . came from the olden-time foundry at Stamford, which was managed by that indefatigible man-of-metal, Thomas Norris.

There is also a sanotus bell. now in its 663 rd year (undoubtedly one of the oldest bells in use).

Surprisingly for its light weight, the octave is most delightful to the ear, and the bells without exception are a delight to handle.
A few peal boards are displayed in the ringing chamber, most peals having been brought round on six hells. The peal of Bob Major on November 18 th , 1949, conducted by Cyril Wander, is of particular interest, for it was the first of its kind in the tower. due almost entirely to that uncharitable and unwelcome visitor from a country in the east.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

At the quarterly meeting of the Hereford District held at Burghill, the Vicar (the Rev. R. J. Coombs), at the senvice, referred to the loss ringers had suffered by the deaths of thtee stalwarts: Mr. F. A. Jaine of Kimbolton, who had been Ringing Master of Leominster District for 32 years and who in 1959 and 1960 was Master of the Diocesan Guild; Mr. Jabez Preece. Staunton-on-Arrow, a ringer at St. Peter's Church for 60 years and secretary of Kington District for 38 years: Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, who was known to bellringers in many parts of the world and his literary works include notes on the towers and bells of the Cathedral and other Herefordshire churches.
Mr . G. Cousins, District Ringing Master, presided at the business meeting, when 11 new members were elected. As an experiment during the summer months, it was decided to change the customary monthly Saturday evening combined practice of the District to a Thursday evening.
After the tea break a representative gathering of ringers from Clifford. Kington, Leominster and Hereford Distriots, together with visitors from Cornwall. Cheshire and London met at the belfry and the bells were kept going until 9 p.m.

SHERWOOD YOUTHS

Members from Warsop. Greasley and the Leicester District attended the Holme Pierrepont meeting of the Society of Sherwood Youths on June 23rd. The handbell ringing. given by four members, was very much appreciated by the visitors to the annual fete and gala, during the afternoon tea. Ringing in the tower continued until 8.30 p.m.

A PLYMOUTH WEDDING

For some time honorary secretary of Birmingham University Guild and the organiser of the Guild's ringing week in Devon and Cornwall last year, Mr. Alan James Collings, B.Sc., was married at St. Andrew's Church, Plymouth, on June 30th to Miss Esther Mary Congdon. The ringers of St. Andrew's turned up in force to ring for this very popular young couple. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung before and after the service, under the conductorship of Mr. T. G. Myers.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a deep cream peau-de-soie classic gown, with a matching veil, held by a headdress of real roses and carnations. Her cousin. Miss Margaret Jolliffe, was bridesmaid, and Mr. John Collings was best man to his brother.
Among the presents was a clock from St. Andrew's ringers, which company the bridegroom joined in his early teens as a pupil of Mr. T. G. Myers. He is now engaged on research at Birmingham University.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

The Southern District met at Staindrop.

 Co. Durham, on June 23rd, in conjunction with the Ladies' Guild, and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon and evening, in spite of finding on arrival at the tower, that the bells had been completely fitted out with new ropes, some of which needed adjustment.Methods rung included Plain Bob Major, Stedman Triples, Cambridge, Yorkshire and London Surprise, Spliced Cambridge and Superlative and Kent T.B. Three attempts were made at a course of Prince Albert, and were unsuccessful because too few of the ringers had done the necessary homework, and the apt comment was made that Queen Victoria would not have been amused.
By sheer coincidence, 'The Ringing World" current on the day of the meeting, referred to a peal of Prince Albert at Liversedge in 1859. and a former Liversedge ringer was on the tenor at Staindrop.
It was agreed that the next meeting of the District should be in September, at either South Church, Bishop Auckland, or Sbuldom.

ST. MARY'S, WALTHAMSTOW

This year's outing of Walthamstow ringers and friends must have set a precedent for such occașions by departing five minutes before the advertised time! This ensured a prompt arrival, through London traffic, at the first tower, the excellent 10 at St. Peter's, Croydon.
Between Croydon and Guildford however, the good timing went seriously adrift with the resule that not only were we half an hour late reaching Holy Trinity but found to our mortification that we had kept the Editor waiting! After appropriate apologies, some good ringing was enjoyed, the party drifting along in relays to St. Nicolas' in order to give everyone a pull at both towers. A fine lunch followed at the Prince of Wales Hotol, well recommended to outing organisers.
In the afternoon the standard of ringing improved and on the musical eight at Alton a course of Bristol was brought round. This year's 'novelty" tower was the unique nine at Basingstoke: an odd and unrewarding experience. Those who think Landon Major unmusical should try Stedman Caters on the back nine of a normal 10: dreadful. No trace was discovered of the reputed major and minor octaves to be found within this nine.

Outing organisers may also like to note that the Co-operative Restaurant in Broad Sireet, Reading, provides a first class tea. Later, our younger members acquitted themselves on the 12 at St . Laurence's; a good half course of Cambridge Royal. some Stedman Cinques and a stately course of Double Norwich concluded the day's ringing.

Grateful thanks are extended to all who allowed us to ring. A.B

SHEPTUN MALLET, SOMERSET.-On Jun 21st, 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: Miss N. Moon (first quarter) 1. J. Rose 2, C. Scull 3. H. Smith 4, D. Lee (cond.) 5, M. Newman (first quarter) 6. Rung as a farewell 10 Mr. P. A. Newman (vice-captain) and his two sons, John and Michael, who have now left to live in Christchurch (Hants).

OUTCNTS

NEWINGTON-NEXT-SITTINGBOURNE

Six-bell towers were selected by St . Mary's. Newington-next-Sittingbourne. for their fourth annual outing on Whit Monday. The rain had stopped by the time Sedlinge was reached. At Newington-next-Folkestone the ringing chamber was found behind the ocgan. After a fish and chip lunch at Folkestone the journey to St. Nicholas', Ringwould, was along extremely narrow lanes. Two local inhabitants who were pushing their bicycles dumped their machines in the hedge and clambered up the bank to safety as they saw the coach approaching

The best ring of the day came after tea at Deal. Then on to St. Andrew's, Wickhambreaux, which is set in the midst of a typical English village, with swans, water mill, village green and antique shop. The last tower was Littlebourne.

Ringing was reasonably good and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise. Whilst a plain course of the tatter was achieved, a bob course seemed elusive. although we got within half a lead from the end.
Of the many who should be thanked two deserve special mention-Miss Darson, who did all the secretarial work, and the coach driver, Mr. W. Smith.
L. M.

HORNCHURCH, ESSEX

A glorious day was spent by the Hornchurch ringers and friends on June 23rd, when they journeyed into Berkshire and Oxfordshire.
Outings may be judged in a variety of ways-time keeping. food, towers, weather, map reading, otc. We had the best of everything.

Towers visited were Dorchester. Appleton, Drayton. Sutton Courtney, Harwell and East Hagbourne. Our gratitude to all those towers for their co-operation.
F.V.G.

LISS, HANTS

Ringers from Petersfield, Warnford, East Meon, Binsted and Alton joined Liss ringers and other non-ringing friends for their annual outing on Whit Monday. An early start was made for Aldermaston. which proved to be quite a pleasant eight. Wallingford was reached in good time, so a large section of the party squeezed into a convenient cafe for coffee. These bells were remembered for the good course of Stedman, as well as most people's first contact with a tufted rope end.

Dinner was at the Cafe de Paris, Oxford after which ringing commenced a stone's throw away at St. Martin and All Saints', where we failed to do justice to the fine ring of eight. A few minutes' walk brought us to St. Giles', where we were joined by two more ringers.
After tea in Henley, we rang at St. Mary's Church, which seemed to lbe the best ring of the day, although Yateley, our last tower, was certainly the most interesting. However, these bells went well to Kent on the back six, our final touch.
D. H.

ELSTOW, BEDS

Elstow ringers, accompanied by friends had an enjoyable outing into Leicestershire and Rutland on May 26th. St. Wilfrid's, Kibworth Beauchamp, proved to be a lovely church with a fine ring of eight. The next tower, St. Andrew's, Countesthorpe, had a light ring of six.
Dinner was booked at the Crown Inn. Great Glen, and then at $2.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. we were ringing at St. Andrew's, Twyford. Here in the centre of the belfry was a large wooden chest containing a magnificent set of handbells. The air of cathedral quietness surrounded All Saints', Oakham. After tea at the George Hotel, 'Oakham. we visited St. Peter's, Empingham, and All Saints', Stamford, where a wellstruck course of London Surprise Minor was rung.

Our sincere thanks to Miss Marion Pettitt for arranging such an enjoyable day, and also to incumbents and tower captains D.J.

When Mr. James $\mathbf{H}$. Musson, of Silk Willoughby, Lincs, left to ring a peal in honour of his daughter's seventh birthday she said, 'Good-bye, Daddy, and understand 1 don't want a lot of bad ringing tonight for my birthday.' At nine o'clock, as the peal filished, she came to the church and thanked the ringers, so father thought that she must have been satisfied!
Mr. Horace C. E. Goodenough, past captain of St. Albans Cathedral ringers, is seriously ill in Lister Ward, Clare Hall, South Mimms, Middlesex.

Mr. E. H. Chambers, St. Michael's, St. Albans, roceived the $I M B J$. in the recent Birthday Honours. Mr. Chambers is Divisional Officer of the Hertfordshire Fire Brigade, and was appointed to his present position in 1948.

Mr. Wilfred F. Moreton, of 6, Bar Lane, Wakefield. Yorks; is anxious to find out whether any people would like to attend a week-end course on either conducting or composition, or both. If so what time of the year would suit them and how far would they be piepared to travel.
In an attempt for a peal of Doubles -in seven methods at Shaw-cum-Donnington, Berks, on June 23rd, a sudden increase in the volumne of the organ caused a lapse of concentration and two bells shifted course. This occurred in the 23 rd extent and deprived four of the band of their first peal and the first peal as conductor. The next attempt will take place in a quieter church.
Thursday, July 5th, was the 80th birthday of Mr. G. C. Woodley, for many years until his retirement last May, chairman of the East Devon Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. To mark this occasion members of the East Devon Branch, including the vicechairman (Mr. C. J. Turner), the secretary (Mr. W. Webb) and the Ringing Master (Mr. C. C. Turner), rang a 720 of Bob Minor, conducted by Mr. C. C. Turner, at Branscombe. Congratulations, Mr. Woodiey, we all wish you many years of ringing yet!

BEL.FRY GOSSIP

 Bowell of foundry is Mr. Frederick Bowell, of 91, Levington Road, Ipswich, who helped to cast the last bell at this foundry in 1939. A ringer of 55 years standing and a College Youth since 1919, his grandfather was a founder member of the St. Mary-leTower, lpswich, Society, ringing in the first peal of Double Norwich there. His father's first tower bell peal was Kent T.B. Maximus there. The late Mr. Diok Standard rang in this peal.Approximately 400 bells were cast by Alfred Bowell's foundry in Ipswich, including one for Madras, India.
Mr. A. E. Marsh, who, for the past ten years has been honorary secretary of the Western District of the Yorkshire Association, has resigned. His successor is Mr. R. Lumley.
The Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild, at their annual meeting on June 30th elected Miss Hazel Way, of Sketty, Swansea, as Ringing Master of the Guild. She is the first lady to hold this office.

The peal of Bob Minor rung at Baughurst, Hants, was the first for two of the band, both members of the newly formed Kingsclere team. It was also a first for the conductor, as it was the first time he had rung a peal on a bell with no stay.

Wild the gentleman who left behind a pair of reading glasses in the belfry of East Woodhay Church on the occasion of the Andover District's summer outing, please contact the local tower captain, Mr. J. Webb, Hayes Farm, North End, East Woodhay, near Newbury, enclosing postage for return.

Those South Yorkshire ringers who are prevented from ringing by steps to the belfry should note the joint meeting of the Southern Distrjct of the Yorkshire Association and the Barnsley District Society an August 11 th at three ground floor rings-Wragley (6), near Wakefield, in the grounds of Nostel Priory: Hemsworth (8) and Crofton (6). An appeal is made to those ringers not often seen to make this a great ringing day.

OUTINGS THAT GAVE PLEASURE

AMONG HERTS AND ESSEX CHURCHES
Saturday, May 26th, found a small party of ringers from various areas visiting churches around the Hertford-Essex border.

The Kent and Surrey contingent reached Broxbourne ( $8,18 \mathrm{cwt}$.) more or less on time and rang Cambridge and London Minor with the local captain until the arrival of our Staffordshire friends, so that we concluded with a respectable course of Bristol.
The pleasant red-brick tower at Nazeing contains an easy-going Gillett six, and from here one of the resident band escorted us to Roydon, where we were pleased to receive a welcome from the Vicar. Another octave followed at Sawbridgeworth; Ted Rochester had all in readiness, and joined us for a course of Superlative on these difficult bells.
Our first call after lunch was to. Hatfield Heath, where Mears and Stainbank have augmented a ring of three to provide a delightful six (tenor 4-1-21), rung from the south porch. The next two towers gave us some work of the Loughborough Bell Foundry: Great Hallingbury, where the five bells have recently been retuned and rehung, bus are a little too noisy in the ringing chamber: and the much older but none the less very pleasant six at Thorley.
From here we journeyed to the uninspiring church and bells at Farnham. For many years the five bells at Rickling have been thought to be unringable, but permission was readily given for a ring here perhaps due to a change of incumbent. New ropes had been fitted and the tenor stay was brokenpresumably a sign of a new team in training.
After a pause for tea, during which period some of the party joined another band visiting Clavering, we sampled two rings of five which had recently been restored: Brent Pelham, where Taylor's have cast a new treble and tuned the old four; and Little Hadham, where the bells have been retuned. Widford's six were sampled, with a tenor that went "plunk. Returning to Much Hadham (8. tenor $10-3-5$ ) we made a dismal attempt at a course of London. which we soon abandoned; the draught of rope here is excessively long.

To those who did meet us and the incumbents who allowed us to the use of their bells, we extend our grateful thanks. I.H.O.

ST. PETER'S, BRIGHTON

June 23rd will be remembered by the 41 passengers aboard the very latest in coach refinement as the day when everything went with a swing. Perfect weather, grand bells. good meals. pleasant company and, perhaps most important of all. smooth arrangements by our organiser, Angela Grainger
Our first ring was on the eight of St . Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, where we were met bv Mr. Collison. At Rochester, 'Charlie, Norris awaited us and joined in the lunch Cathedral ten. Chatham eight, with its tenor of 25 cwt ., were set in motion on schedule. On leaving, two old friends, Messrs. Norris and our indefatigable Brightonian Harry Stalham bade farewell.
On to St. Paulinus'. Crayford. where our heavy tenor man, feet firmly on the trap-door. prevented Mr . Barnett (sen.) from joining in the ringing. Later, at 'Penny's' Restaurant, we were delighted to meet Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett and their daughter, Jean.
Mr. W. Cave and a number of ladies met us at Beckenham. the home town of one of our Brighton lady ringers, An hour's ringing on the ten at St. George's Church followed. Still on time. we reached our final tower, S: John's, Croydon, with its thirteen bells, the 'piece de resistance.' Grandsire Cinques was the extent of our efforts, but "rounds" were enjoyed by many as their first experience on twelve, there being none of that number in Sussex.

After bidding farewell to Mr. Brown. who had welcomed us on arrival, we set course for home, reaching Brighton exactly on schedule.
Our grateful thanks to the incumbents, the ringers who met us and finally our efficient

APPLETON. BEDS

I have, for over 40 years, been in close contact with Appleton, sharing their joys and sorrows, and attending their ringing festivals on March 4th with very few misses, and have come to the very definite canclusion that the ringers of this famous village are in a class by themselves, perhaps not as expert ringers but as men who love good ringing and enjoy life to the full.

On June 30th I was privileged to be invited to their annual outing, and what an enjoyable day it was! Ringing first on the famous 10 at Wrington, where we rang Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and had a very bappy luncheon at the 'George.' a name unknown at Wrington until the advent of Frank White and Company.
At Cheddar we rang for a wedding, and owing to the sway of the tower. had one or two good 'fires.' Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge were rung at Street and a jolly good ham and salad tea was enjoyed before setting off for the last tower of the day, Frome. a good eight; and a touch of Stedman Triples was well worth listening to as well as Grandsire and Plain Bob.
At the 'Bell, at Broadhampton, the locals again enjoyed tunc ringing, 'lapping Grandsire Caters and Grandsire Triples on a big eight, and they were quite excited and rather proud that the Vicar of Appleton could enjoy his beer the same as his ringers.

Appleton was reached about 12.30 a.m. and such is the trusting nature of the village, that I let myself in the 'Plough.' had a nice rum and so off to bed with very happy thoughts and memories of another Appleton outing.

DARLINGTON

St. Cuthbert's (Darlington) ringers, with friends from Ormesby, went south for their outing on June 30th, and stopped first at Easingwold. Here there was enjoyable ringing on the octave, with some ringers making their first acquaintance with Yorkshire ropeends.

Some of the less enthusiastic left the tower to discover, in the churchyard, the gravestone of Anne Harrison, who died in 1745, and whose nickname, Nanna Rann Dann, is carved on the stone as an epitaph, which says that 'she was chaste but no prude. and though free vet not a harlot.' 'Her tongue and her hands.' it says, 'were ungovernable, but the rest of her members she kept in subjection.'
From Easingwold the bus ran through countryside which justifies the Yorkshireman's pride in his county, to Malton and over the Derwent into the East Riding. There the notable eight at Norton were thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. H. Rowsby met the party and joined in the opening touch of Grandsire Triples.

Fortified by a ham and egg tea. the party continued to the lovely village of Hovingham. where six bells hang in a fine old Saxon tower. Here, after a preliminary touch or two of Plain Bob and Cambridge S.M., there was a local request for a quarter peal of Kent. to mark the birth of a son to the Duchess of Kent, whose ancestral home overshadows the church.

The journey home was by Helmsley, through Bilsdale to Stokesley, through Yarm, and home again.

A YORK TOUR

Ringers from Scarborough, Westworth and Acomb. Yorkshire. met at Acomb on June 30 th. A 720 of Plain Bob Doubles was rung here to enable two Acomb ringers to qualify for membership of the Yorkshire Association. The second tower was the heavy four at Bishopthorpe, where the Archbishop of York has his Palace. These bells were in immaculate condition. and the wisit was much enjoyed. After an excellent tea. provided by an Acombs ringer, another four-bell tower at Stockton-on-the-Forest was visited. The Rector joined in some rounds and the band was watched by a number of villagers, as we were the first to ring there light pleasant-toned bells. M.K.

DARTFORD AND DISTRICT

Part of the Weald of Kent and over the border into Sussex was the route taken by Dartford ringers and friends from Gravesend Erith and Bexley for their outing of June 2nd.
It was a happy augury to the day that at the first tower, Hawkhurst, the Vicar voiced his appreciation of the ringing. Very good use was made of the bells of Rye Parish Church before lunch. The next tower was Appledore. and our journey across Romsey Marsh took us by Brookland, where the five bells hang in a picturesque shingled turret. At Appledore the Vicar welcomed us and conducted the non-ringers over his church.
Before tea the lofty tower of Tenterden was climbed and this recently rehung eight ( 30 cwt.), the heaviest bells of the day, gave very little trouble and good ringing ensued. Another historic tower was High Halden, where six bells hang in a timber tower, and, although the ravages of time can be seen on the timbers it has no effect on ringing. The handy ring of 8 at Linton, that for years has been a favourite with Maidstone District ringers, provided' some of the best ringing of the day.
To all clergy and to those who had their bells ready for us and helped to make this a successful outing, our grateful thanks.
R. G. R

REDEDICATION

STANTON DREW, SOMERSET

A representative gathering of parishioners and ringers attended the rededication of the five bells at the Church of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Stanton Drew, on June 25th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev, W. D. Russell), and the rededication of the bells and unveiling of a tablet in the church was performed by the Bishop of Taunton. The Rev. T. D. V. Clatworthy, R.D., acted as Bishop's Chaplain.

Immediately after the dedication the local ringers rang the opening rounds on the bells, which were available for general ringing after the service. Messrs. Taylor have made an excellent job of providing a new frame with space for a future additional reble bell. Those present, who remembered the former condition of these bells, were impressed by their easy 'go' (tenor 15 cwt .). Visiting ringers included the general secretary and the pea! secretary of the Bath and Wells Association, and the chairman and secretary of the Chew Deanery Branch. Towers represented were Bath (Twerton), Bristol (Cathedral and St. Ambrose's), Clevedon, Evercreech, Farmborough. Long Ashton, Portbury, Publow, Wells and Wrington.
The local band, consisting of some of the former ringers and some new recruits, have been trained at Publow by Mr. F. C. Mogford, and the following tower officers have been elected: Captain, Mr. Roy Penney; vicecaptain, Mr. George Emery; secretary and treasurer, Mr. P. Dickson.

REFLECTIONS ON THE OXFORD FESTIVAL

THERE is a magnetism about the Oxford Diocesan: Guild Festival. Much of it is traditional, for a Guild that can present its 78th annual report has something to eling to, but ringers well beyond the boundaries of a large diocese, which some in the Church feel should seriously consider division, come to participate in the service, meeting, lunch and ringing. Some are just ringing, joining in the throngs that crowded up belfry stairs, or gossiping with friends in shady corners.
The Guild has adopted one sensible thing. There is a minimum of business of a controversial nature; this is left to an autumn meeting when plenty of time is allowed the controversialists. And the Oxford Guild is not all 'yes men.' There was a sample of controversy when Mr. A. D. Barker reported on the general committee's notice of motion which asked the Central Council for a consideration of non-resident life members' subscriptions to be either uniform or abolished.

As the Guild treasurer for more than 25 years, Mr. Barker contended that such a motion was a dis-service to the Guild and held it up to ridicule at Cardiff, especially the Deputy Master, who is president of the C.C. No Guild treasurer would countenance the abolition of life membership subscriptions. From a revenue-producing angle, income from this source of $£ 177 \mathrm{~s}$. is the equivalent of a healthy branch. What is surprising was that the motion received a majority vote from the general committee, which is well supplied with people of experience in the management of Guild affairs.

It might well be argued that the significant words were 'to consider,' and that does not mean pressing for abolition. An age-long practice has encouraged the system of non-resident life members, and that peals rung in a Guild's or Association's territory should, in the main, be to their credit. From time to time, infringements of this almost unwritten law cause resentment, and there appear protest letters in ' The Ringing World.' Most Guilds, because of their slender resources, are dependent on these extra subscriptions to balance their accounts, as with the rise in costs, particularly printing and travel, few Guilds are in a really healthy position.

Among young peal ringers. the multiplicity of subscriptions is irksome, and there have been frequent expressions. mostly in private, that a substantial subscription, for possibly the one and only peal for an Association, is an imposition. This was probably behind the Oxford Guild committee's motion. It is difficult to see where these young ringers are to find a spokesman to champion their cause at the Central Council, as Guild representatives are invariably elected from those with knowledge of such administration, and any substantial loss of revenue could not be tolerated.

Another point is that the Central Council has no power to interfere with the management of a Guild or Association's affairs. At the most, it can only express an opinion, and if we judge the position aright there would be a hesitancy even to give a guiding thought to the 'Old Pals' assembled.

There was another interesting point in the business. Grants from the bell restoration fund were substantial; the days of five guineas votes, hedged with a number of conditions, are gone. Support to appeals was in the $£ 40$ and $£ 50$ region, commensurate with the prevailing high costs. A disturbing thing in Mr. Sharpe's report was the number of towers found to have extensive vertical vibration cracks in their masonry. These troubles add materially to costs when coupled with bell restorations. Churches will soon be having their second quinquennial inspection, and we have heard of one archdeacon who is thinking of introducing questions concerning the care of bells in his charge at his visitation. To become au fait with the position, he has sent for the Central Council's handbook on the care and preservation of bells and kindred subjects.
Oxford on this particular day seemed to be full of American femininity 'doing Europe.' The ringers present, however, were far more interested in Mr. Russell Young and the boys of Groton School, who were that day elected to membership of the Oxford Guild. This is the second batch of boys from this school to join the Guild. They certainly had an insight into English ways and English towers. Unfortunately very little of the ringing at Oxford that day was of credit to the Exercise. The festival brings ringers together, but many found conditions and bells not conducive to their best performances. The new ropes on the ten at Magdalen proved to be more than a handful for some of the adolescents present.
Finally, we should like to say a modest 'Thank you' to the Oxford Diocesan Guild for their generous cheque of $£ 25$ towards the expenses of this paper. A gift of this nature certainly ensures an appropriate peal contribution on behalf of the Guild's members. We recognise that a donation of this character comes not merely from the peal ringers but everybody associated with the Guild. even the 'dead wood "who go not to festivals. If they should be shown this paper, we should like them to realise that our 'Thank you' includes even them.

OXFORD GUILD FESTIVAL

More American Members Elected

THE belfries of Oxford were crammed for the ringing in the afternoon of the Diocesan Guild's festival on July 7th and among the many young people present were 11 boys from Groton School, Massachusetts, U.S.A., who had been elected to membership that day
The proceedings started with a celebration of the Holy Communion at St. Aldate's Church, attended by 60 ringers. the Master (Canon C. Elliot Wigg) being the celebrant. The service in Christ Church Cathedral followed the traditional lines, a large robed choir of ringers and the boys of Winslow Parish Church leading the singing of ringers' hymns. The Master conducted the service and the Deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe) read the lesson. The sermon was preached by the Rev. G. H. Isaacson, chairman of the Central Bucks Branch, who in expressing his pleasure at the invitation to give the address said that next year he would have been ordained 40 years, and that was the only time he had preached in the Cathedral.
Mr. Harry Badger was the organist.
The annual meeting was held in the Chapter House, with the Deputy Master in the chair at the start of the proceedings. Arising from the minutes the honorary general secretary said the Guild had never officially written to the Bishop to thank him for appointing their Master as an Honorary Canon of Christ Church Cathedral. This was agreed to.

BISHOP'S RECOGNITION

The Master, in his report, had a personal note of appreciation of the honorary canonry conferred upon him. The Lord Bishop hoped that the ringers of the diocese would welcome it as some recognition of the importance of the work they did for the Church. Canon Wigg added that he had now completed his $15 \mathrm{th}^{2}$ year as Master of the Guild and had received nothing but kindness and appreciation from the ringers of their great diocese

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, the Deputy Master, reported that 24 towers were inspected during the year. More bell restoration than ever before was now contemplated. An outstanding feature of inspections made was the number of towers found to have extensive verticle vibration cracks in their masonry. In these circumstances the cost of repairs was likely to be heavy and this should be borne in mind when allocating restoration grants.
A comprehensive survey of the past year was given by the honorary secretary (Miss M. R. Cross), in her annual report. She congratulated Mr. David Smith on compiling the new service book. which had taken four years.
The membership of the Guild was 1,878 ringing (last year 1,937 ), life 38 (37), honorary 67 (82). While there was an all round loss of membership it was an increase on the figures for 1959 (ringing 1,854 . life 34 , honorary 82). Pointing out that the 1958 honorary did not agree with those of ' Facts and Iigures did not agree with hose on Facts and Cross said there was an obvious answer to the diserepancy-a number of towers did not propose their younger members for election as members of the Guild until they had proved members of the therth, but these were returned by the incumbents.

IN SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

In addition to the University Societies at Oxford and Reading there were now four school societies within the Guild-Abingdon. Wallingford, Radley College and St. Helen's and St. Katharine's. Abingdon. Fitzharrys S.M. School. Abingdon, also could raise a band for its services. Cuddesdon Theological College had 40 out of 52 of its members who could ring or were learing to ring. This augured well for the future. So far neither Wycliffe Hall nor St. Stephen's. House had taken an active interest in ringing, but individual members had. during the past year. rung with the Oxford ringers. Culham College now had a society and man Appleford bells every Sunday during term. So far neither Bletchley Park nor Easthampstead Training Colleges had societies, though some members rung. At Halton the R.A.F. apprentices continued to ring regularly at Halton and Stoke Mandeville.

Mention was made in the seport of the deaths of Mr. G. Caudwell, Mr. W. Welling. the Dean of Christ Church (the Very Rev. John Lowe) and Mr. T. J. Lock

The honorary general treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker) stated that the general funds of the Guild amounted to $£ 1,577$, of which $£ 1,424$ was in the Restoration Fund. During the year $\pm 84$ was contributed by 76 Parochial Church Councils. Another $£ 300$ had been received from the Jenkyn family and invested.

BUMPER YEAR FOR PEALS

The honorary librarian (Mr. H. L. Roper) repeated his appeal for a copy of Treble Bob of the Snowdon Series. 1961 was a bumper year for peals, 183 haying been rung for the Guild, a total that far exceeded the previous hest. IMr. A. R. Pink had rung his 500 th peal for the Guild, a total, he believed, only surpassed by the Rev. F. E. Robinson; Mr. A. D. Barker rang his 100 th peal of Stedman at Burnham, and Mr. W. F. Judge his 100 th peal of Stedman Triples as conductor at Burford.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

There were no changes in the election of officers and the following carry on for 1962-63: Master, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg; Deputy Master, Mr. F. Sharpe; honorary general treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; honorary general secretary, Miss M. R. Cross; honorary librarian, Mr. H. L. Roper; honorary auditors, Messrs. Ernest Francis and Son; trustees, Messrs. Kinch, Pink and Sharpe; Repori Editor. Mr. P. Walker: General Committee. Mrs. A. D. Barker, Miss D. Fletcher, Messrs. A. Discrens, E. Pearson. P. Walker and F. A. White; Central Council representatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker, Mr. D. Smith and Mr. $\mathbb{P}$. Walker

APPILICATIONS FOR GRANTS

When the application for a great at Lane End was considered, Mr. R. Hazel said the estimate for the work was E 600 . Mr. F. Sharpe proposed, and Mr. W. Bjrmingham seconded, a grant of $£ 40$, and this was agreed to.

Regarding Hurst, Mr. B. C. Castle said the estimate for work on the bells was $£ 600$. There was also a vertical crack to the tower and the estimate for that work was $£ 800$-a grant of $£ 50$ was agreed to on the proposition of Mr Hunt, seconded by Mr. N. J. Diserens.

To. $\mathrm{Mr}^{2}$. N. J. Diserens' suggestion of a budget for the year for the total of grants from the iBell Restoration Fund, the honorary treasurer said the usual procedure was to consider each application on its merits and the recommendation of the Branch.

An application from Padbury, for a grant towards the restoration of their bells, estimated to cost $£ 850$, was referred to the Central Bucks Branch

The election of 237 new members during the year was confirmed and also the election of the following from Groton School, U.S.A.: Joseph E. Potter. Wilton S. Pyłe, George Whitney III. John B. Chandler, Ian H. Gardiner, Samuel C. Pearce, David H. Taylor Jn., Oliver Edward VI, Thurston B. Charke, Nason P. Hamlin, Thomas C. H. Jackson.

A NEW VICE-RRESIDENT
In consideration for his work for the Guild as honorary auditor, the members agreed to the election of Mr. Oswald Francis as a vicepresident. He had now retired.

A DIS-SERVICE

A notice of motion submitted in the name of the Guild to the Central Council was reported upon by Mr. A. D. Barker.

This motion read:
-That this Council asks all affiliated territorial societies to consider:
(i) Whether non-resident life members' subscriptions should the uniform throughout the Ezercise, or
(ii) Whether without further paymen membership of one affiliated territorial society should entitle a ringer to nonresident life membership of all other such societies.
Mr. Barker said the persons responsible for getting this passed by the General Committee had done the Guild a great dis-service, and the Deputy Master, who was president of the Central Council, was placed in an awkward situation. Quite a lot of things were said before the meeting and the Guild's representatives were more or less held up to ridicule The persons responsible had done the Guild a dis-service. Their representatives were not delegates. (The motion was rejected by the Central Council.)
Mr. Noel Diserens: I think I was partly to blame. I should like to apologise to Mr Barker and the Guild for having got them into an awkward position. Mr. Barker was quite right. They could not instruct their representaives. He thought it was the duty of the Central Council to report back on this and this had not been done
Mr. Rolfe said he did not think he had brought the Guild to shame. He could not see that the General Committee did anything wrong in suggesting the motion.

A member: I can assure our friend that the Oxford Guild suffered and was regarded very unfavourably from this proposition
Mr. A. E. Diserens: 1 rather feel that this was not brought up in the spirit in which it was meant. It was only a feeler. The whole thing was discussed and there were no strong feelings. We discussed the whole thing in committee and there was now a reference trying to blame it on one or two people. The whole meeting was responsible

The Master: I understand at the committee meeting that this was to be a feeler... I feel meeting the should let the matter rest as it is!
This was agreed to.

GENEROUS GIFT TO

RINGING WORLD

Mr. H. L. Roper proposed that the com mittee's recommendation of a donation of $£ 25$ to 'The Ringing World' be adapted. 'We get much more than $£ 25$ worth of pleasure from it and I should like to express our apprecia tion to "The Ringing World " Committee for their work
Mr. W. Birmingham seconding, congratulated those people who kept "The Ringing World going. It was the blood of the ringing Exercise.
The recommendation was carried.
Mr. Wilfrid $G$. Wilson said as a member of the committee he must say "Thank you' for their gift. Whether or not there was any discredit arising from the last disscussion he could not say, but they bad now got a very good credit badance with the committee. One of the things that could be done with any extra 'The Ringing World' might have, was in the provision of cheap publications. Such gifts as theirs allowed this to be done.

DIVISION OF DIOCESE

Mr. D. G. Wheeler said those who took the Oxford Diocesan Leaflet would notice that the division of the Diocese had again heen mentioned and the committee was to make a statement on it in the next 12 months. He suggested that they. follow this with the closest interest as it was going to affect their Guild in its area and title
$A_{t}$ the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Shampe said he would like to say a word of welcome to their visitors as president of the Centra Council and on behalf of the ringers of England. They extended the warmest welcome to Mr. Russell Young and the 11 boys from Groton School. Massachusetts, and they wer very happy to have them with them. He also welcomed Mr. M. Collins, late tower keeper of Salisbury Cathedral. Southern Rhodesia and Miss Pat Stewart, from Melbourne, Australia.

THE LUNCHEON

The luncheon was afterwards held in the hall of Christ Church. The Master presided Miss Marie R. Cross proposed the toas of "The Church and State" and said she read the previous evening a most proyocative article in "The Church Times" by Valerie Pitt entitled a 'Question of responsibility.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

THE 34th annual festival, which was held at St. Mary's, ISwansea, on June 30th, was attended by over 60 ringers and friends, and most towers in the diocese were represented St. Mary's bells were available at 2 p.m... and the service at 4 p.m., with the Lord Bishop present, was conducted by Canon H. C. Williams. who gave a very impressive sermon

The tea was held in the Vestry Hall. and afterwards Mr. Barry Couzens thanked the St Mary's bellringers for supplying refreshments and Mrs. Whitworth and her helpers for arranging everything to everyone's satisfaction The Lord Bishop, who presided, opened the meeting by giving a special welcome to all the visitors. and mentioned Mr. Gwyn Thomas (Master of the St. David's Guild) Mr R. Pateman (Cardigan) and Mr. Magnus Peterson. The Bishop also congratulated Mr Colin Lewis in obtaining his degree, and thanked Canon Williams for his sermon.

The meeting then stood in silence to the memory of Mr. Charles Powell, whose death was a great loss to the ringing fraternity. Mr Powell was a past treasurer of the Guild, and his personality was known as a friend to all Apologies were received from Mr. W. Dobbins, and Mr. Leslie Evans. Letters were also received from Mr. Ernie Stitch and Mr. W. Meridith, expressing their best wishes for a successful meeting.

After the minutes of the 1961 festival had been adopted, the general secretary, in his report, said that during the year one quarterly meeting was cancelled through lack of support. No doubt this was necessary, but he thought the officers concerned should have taken a risk, and held the meeting, even if the service had to be cancelled. He appealed especially to the younger ringers to give quarterly meetings a little more priority.

RELATIVES DISCOURAGE YOUNG

RECRUITS

The ringing competition, which was held at Talgarth. was carried through successfully, with Mr . Leslie Evans as the adjudicator. One of the great problems all over the diocese was the difficulty in getting secruits into the belfry, and it was well known that young people who dared to mention that they wished to take up bellringing, were not encouraged to do so by relatives and friends. The only remedy Was for all ringers to interest the Press in the art, and with practical demonstrations when possible

Mr. Gwyn Lewis reported that only three peals were rung during the 12 months, and seemed to show that the Guild was on the down grade, in respect to peal ringing. He appealed for more interest

The Ringing Master, giving his report, stated that the band at Talgarth was now ringing all the standard methods, and were still going forward. He believed that many other towers were doing the same. He hoped that more bands would enter for the competition. The visit of the Central Council to Cardiff was reported in full by Mr. Gwyn Lewis, who stressed the urgent need of all ringers taking The Ringing World.
The statement of accounts was presented by the treasurer, Mr. D. Stokes. who stated that both the deposit and the bell restoration fund accounts showed an increase

THE RINGING SHIELD
The ringing competition. although held in May last was rounded off by the signature of the Lord Bishop on each certificate and the presentation of the shield to the winner. Positions were: 1 Newton Nottage, 2 Cadoxton, 3 Talgarth.
Mr. Stan Edwards moved that Miss Hazel Way be elected Ringing Master, which was supported oy Mr. D. J. Bennett. Miss Way who at the age of 22 is the first lady to be Master of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild. Her progress has been rapid, as in September, 1959, she became a pupil of J. Arthur Hoare, and now rings all standard and a few Surprise methods on tower bells, and 'in hand' standard methods up to Royal. She is captain of St. Paul's Church. Sketty, band and vice president of the South Wales District, Ladies Guild.

MISS HAZEL WAY,

Abstract

then received the badge of office, and the best wishes of the Bishop, who said it was a great honour, especially as she was the first lady to be elected Ringing Master of the Guild. At this stage of the meeting the Bishop had to leave, and his place was taken by the Canon H. C. Williams. The other officers were re-elected, viz.: Mr. J. A. Hoare, honorary general secretary; Mr. D. Stokes, honorary treasurer; and Mr. Stan Edwards, auditor. The committee members were left to the captain of each tower to advise the general secretary. Mr. Gwyn Lewis was re-elected as Central Council representative. It was agreed to hold the 1963 annual festival in Brecon Cathedral. The date to be arranged later. The amendment to hold the 1963 ringing competition in the south of the diocese, was lost and the proposal to hold it in Radnorshire carried.

\section*{A NEW DISTRICT}

Mr. Colin Lewis moved that a new District be formed embracing Builth Wells, Knighton. Nantmel, New Radnor and several five- and four-bell towers. Mr. Lewis thought it would encourage more interest in the northern part of the diocese. The general secretary, in supporting the motion, said it was a long overdue hope for unity throughout the diocese. Mr. T. M. Roderick was in favour of the motion. but said whatever was done must be with the knowledge of the general secretary. The motion was then carried, and a meeting in the area is to be arranged as soon as possible. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised $\dot{2} 211 \mathrm{~s}$. 2 d .
The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Lord Bishop for presiding. to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and the organist.

Miss Pitt wrote: 'The government, in proposing the measure, was concerned with the web of impersonal and organised relationships which support the life of Society; the Church .primarily, with relationships between persons in a given political community.'
Miss Cross said she thought that summed up the different between Church and State, and they as members of both had to resolve how they were going to do this duty. Today they were faced with great moral issues which had never confronted previous generationsatomic warfare, State versus private enterprise. relationaships between employer and employee and many others.
Ringers did play an important, if unobtrusive, part in influencing their own churches. One had only to attend a ringers' gathering to find out how many were churchwardens and members of P.C.C.s. There were also many serving the State on local authorities. in professions, associations and political parties. The qualities of a ringer of loyalty, self-discipline. team-work and integrity were needed by the State if the State was not to be diverged too much from the Church

The Archdeacon of Oxford (the Ven. C. Wilton-Davies), who replied. extended a welcome to those present on behalf of the Dean and Chapter. He told. especially their American visitors. that where they were meeting was one of the finest halls in the country and it was surrounded by pictures of famous men.

The Editor also replied to this toast
Mr. R. Granger. of Radlev. proposed the visitors. mentioning in particular Capt. Pointz (former Deputy Master), Mrs. Deal and Mr. W. Wilson, and also the overseas visitors Mr . Thurston B. Clarke, of Groton, replied.

The concluding expression of thanks to everyone who helped in arranging sucb a successful festival was proposed by the Deputy Master.

BRINGS DISCREDIT TO ## EXERCISE

Dear Sir,-At the meeting of the Towcester Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild on Saturday, June 30th, a number of tower representatives reported unfavourably on the activities of a band of ringers from the Evesham area.
It was reported that the party, organised by a Mr . Brazier, appeared to be endeavouring to visit as many towers as possible in one day and that their aim was to score the towers rather than to ring the bells. The procedure seems to have been that part of the band rang the bells up and then rang a few hurried rounds or badly struck changes by which time the second part of the band arrived and took over and rang the bells down and departed as hurriedly as they came. The total time spent in each tower was estimated to be ten minutes or so.
The Branch feel that this was not only exceedingly discourteous to those who had arranged for the bells to be available and had met the party, in one case at some inconvenience to the local ringers, but also that such stunts do a great dis-service to the Exercise. The ringing was commented on unfavourably in the parishes both by ringers and, more important, by non-ringers.
I' have been instructed by the Towcester Branch to write to you and to ask you to publish this letter in order that these facts may be made known and that other parishes may be spared a similar visitation. It was felt that such behavious not only brings discredit upon the Exercise as a whole and gives good grounds for such criticism but does not serve any useful purpose. We wish to draw the attention of the band concerned that the bells were placed in the towers for a religious purpose and consecrated to the Glory of God and this should not be forgotten, even though custom allows ringers to use them for practice, to gain experience of handling different bells and to perfect their ringing.-Yours faithfully,

> W. A. YATES,

Dadford. Bucks. Towcester Branch.

A REPLY

Dear Sir,-Mr. Yates has forwarded a copy of his letter, addressed to you, referring to the outing I arranged on June 23 rd.
I was greatly concerned to find our ringing, though only farily brief at each tower, gave cause for suoh criticism. As on all outings, and more so on this one, the ringers involved were much aware of the necessity for a good standard of ringing to be maintained throughout the day. Part of the ringing at a few of the towers did fall short of the standard to be expected, but this was caused mainly in raising unfamiliar bells, and for where this did occur, I offer my apologies. These were isolated causes, and generally a reasonable standard of ringing was attained.
Ringing times were almost all of twenty minutes’ duration, though on one occasion we arrived late at the church and ringing was restricted to a few minutes. I understand this was owing to a music festival which was due to start about the same time. Mtehods rung during the day inoluded Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and other Doubles methods and Plain Bob. St. Clement's and Cambridge Surprise Minor. At Towcester Parish Church we had a very enjoyable ring lasting for over half an hour. Here. as at a number of churches we were joined in ringing by one of the local ringers. Their hospitality and assistance were very much appreciated.
From Mr. Yates' letter, one could gain the impression of a band of ringers descending on the towers, raising the bells, ringing a few rounds, lowering, and departing in a matter of ten minutes. This was not so. Still less was it the intention of the ringers involved to create such an impression. For the ringers and the friends accompanying them, the outing was most enjoyable.

The band regrets any inconvenience caused to our local ringing friends in the arrangements for meeting us, and I am writing the Towcester Branch secretary privately on the subject.-Yours faithfully.

Note.-According to information received from another source. Mr. Brazier's band rang in more towers in a day than any other band to date, the number exceeding 30 . We do not commend such rivalry.-Ed.

HIGHEST RINGS OF BELLS

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. T. G. Myers' query whether Brent Tor, Devon, has the highest ring of bells in England, I have consulted the Ordnance Survey $1: 25,000$ maps of Derbyshire and can find five towers over 1.000 ft . O.D., namely:

Wormhill, 6 bells
Runbage. Buxton 6 folls $1,040 \mathrm{ft}$. O.D.

| Bunbage, Buxton, 6 | bells |
| :--- | :--- |
| Fairfield, Buxton, 8 hells | 1.075 ft . O.D. |

Taddington, 4 bells
$1,090 \mathrm{ft}$ O.D.
1.100 ft O.D.
Chelmorten, 5 bells
1,225 ft. O.D.
At the same time I checked the $1: 25,000$ maps in Devon and find here that the church at Brent To- is only just over 1.050 ft . ODD., and not 1.200 ft . O.D.. as calculated by Mr. Myers. The 1,050 feet contour runs through the rocks in the foreground of the photograph ( ' R.W.' page 442), so the height of the bells will be about 1.075 ft . O.D.

Towers with bells over 1.000 ft O.D. are few and far between, and it might interest Mr. Myers to know that Belstone Church, three miles S.E. of Okehampton, with 6 bells, stands about 1.025 ft . O.D. Bedwellty, Monmouthshire, has a church with a tower at over $1,000 \mathrm{ft}$. O.D., but I do not know whether this is the Church of St . Sannan. with 8 bells.

If anyone is sufficiently interested, I will, with the whole of the map collection of the Geography Department. King's College, London. at my disposal, produce a list of towers over 1.000 feet O.D.. for I presume there are in the ringing Exercise, a number of minor record grabbers who would no doubt claim all the ' $1,000 \mathrm{ft}$. towers' as a great achievement! At the present I am uncertain of several areas on the eastern sides of the Pennines, where probably there is an occasional tower above this height. However, as it stands, it seoms that Mr. Myers and his band can claim the highest peal of Doubles, and Fairfield the heighest peal on tower bells (Minor. Triples and Major having been rung here). since Chelmorten bells are as yet unpealed. It is to be hoped that the prospective peal hand at Chelmorten will not suffer from lack of oxygen, a rather unlikely situation, particularly in the fresh crisp air of the Peak District.-Yours sincerely.
Pistrict.-Yours sincerely.
Putney.

A CORRECTION

Dear Sir--The 1,259 Grandsire Triples from Holt's Original, submitted by Jean Buswell, does not state being false. However, the 'handstroke' of the 88 th lead does repeat with the hackstroke of the 41 st.
A true 1,259 from the 'Original can be produced by the following: Call from the start until the 79 th lead, then call the 4th Before with a 'hob,' and the 2nd with a single, The bells then run 'round' at Hand in 5 plain leads.- Yours faithfully,
LOUIS HEAD.
Maidstone.

PEALS THAT ARE CHIMED AND

 NOT RUNGDear Sir,-I should like to join in the discussion about the speed in Minor ringing. In this area, where much of the ring is olose lead, it is generally accepted that the tenor man sets the pace, for he quiakly assesses the 'go' of the bells, settles down to a speed which is comfortable to him and will produce the best striking.

We have a number of good ringers who never ring any other bell but the tenor, no matter where they go, and if you can get one of these specialists in your contest team you will be almost certain of success, providing, of course, the rest of the band can strike and are prepared to "ring to the tenor.
A good close lead tenor ringer will have his bell well up, ensuring that the full musica! effect is produced by the bell. Some open lead ringers, however, when ringing at the speeds which are printed in the peal columns of the 'R.W: arrest the bell well below the $360^{\circ}$ mark, in fact in some of the peals the bells must scarcely rise above frame level: perhaps we should say that they have chimed a peal, not rung a peal!

1 sometimes wonder if an open lead team do adapt their speed to a ring of bells of if they try to make the bells fit in with their own standard speed!
When your correspondent says that an attempt by the tenor to set a slower pace will leave a gap between him and the preceding bell, it is obvious that the smaller bell ringers are not in the least interested in good striking but merely do "get to over with' as soon as possible.
I recall hearing about an open lead ringer putting it fast man on the treble whilst ne shortened the tenor rope by wrapping it around his hand in order to get a peal over quickly!-Yours faithfully

LANFAIR P.G.

Dear Sir,-Whilst congratulating the Loughborough ringers on their latest method, Lantair P.G., it might be as well to point out a slight spelling error. The correct spelling is : Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllantysiliogogogoch.
Dare I ask for a translation by any of the band who rang it? How about some more starting with Llan, something like Llanfarmathafarneithaf or even Llandefaelog-Tref-yGraig, should be quite interesting!-Yours, etc., Glasbury.
Dear Sir,-To my mind the spelling of the name of the new method rung by the Monday Night band at Loughborough on June 4th, is somewhat suspect.

I have always seen the name of the village, after which, I understand this method is nimed. spelt Llanfairpwllgwyngyll.. ', not 'Llanfairpwllghyngyll. . ; as it appeared in the pea! report.

This may appear to be quibbling over a minor detail, but I think that if a name like this is given to a new method, there should be no doubts as to the way in which it is spelt.-Yours faithfully, 'A DRUID.' Disley, Stockport.
Dear. Sir,-I see from last week's 'Ringing World ' that, inevitably perhaps, a method has been christened 'Llanfair P.G.' It seems only fair to keepers of records to point out that there are two errors in the full name as printed. It should. of course, read: "Llanfair-pwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwilllantysiliogogogoch: A third more trivial error has crept in to the setting-out in that a syllable has been divided-the division would have been preferaille between the double Ls.-Yours faithfully, BRIAN D. THRELFALL.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir- $\mathbf{l}$ feel that I must write to you about your recent report on the discussion on the 'Christmas Bells' broadcasting at the Council meeting at Cardiff, as my remarks; as reported, are so condensed as to give an erroneous impression of what I actually said.

1 had explained that the broadcasting of bells. live on Christmas Day, had presented the B.B.C. with certain difficulties, unless the broadcast could be tied in with the Church, from which the following service was coming. either by being from it or from a neighbouring church. If it could not. then a separate unit had to be found and with other demands on Christmas Day, it was not always possible. Hence the B.B.C.'s preference for prerecordings:
As will be appreciated, live broadcasting also limited the choice of towers, which. particularly, in the case of Northern Ireland, meant that many towers in areas away from Belfast were unlikely to get many chances of a Christmas Day hroadcast. The present practice of pre-recording the broadcast has meant a wider measure where possible we will of ringing, although where possible we will still seek a live broadcast.-Yours faithfully,

YATE BELLS

Dear Sir,-I am obliged to Mr. William Shepherd for correcting my impression, that the ring at Yate were cast by Rudhall

I obtained my information from the 'Chipping Sodbury Official Guide,' published in 1948. This states

The beautiful tower of Yate Church is Late 15 th century work and is as good as any of this period in the country. A peal of bells by Rudhall, of Gloucester, hanging in it are particularly mellow and sweet. Strange that the founder, who also cast Chipping Sodbury bells. could produce peals of such different qualities: one so pleasing and the other so comparatively harsh. But they do say that a great lidy in days gone by gave ail her silver for melting in the crucible when Yate bells were made. They have been recently rehung on steel girder frames and anti-friction axles.'-Yours truly,

ARTICLES ON OLD BELL FOUNDERS WANTED

Dear Sir. - Mr. Frederick Sluarpe's article on the Rudhalls, of Gloucester. was indeed an interesting one, and well worth printing.

I am sure most of us realise that Mr. Sharpe, as president of the Central Council, must have an almost inexhaustible supply of interesting and enlightening topics to relate on both bells and bellringing.
Naturally, with consent from Mr. Sharpe and also space provided by The Ringing World.' a weekly article, such as the last one. would make excellent reading, and be of great value.-Yours faithfully,

WHITSUN IN

SOMERSET

(1OOD weather, good bells, good food and good company, what more could any ringer want? All these were in abundance when a party led by Mr. Alan Pink, of Oxford, spent Whitsun week-end around the Mendips.

Alan was giving many of his party their first taste of some of North Somerset's heavy metal, and those of us who had rung in some of the towers before were looking forward to our visit just as eagerly. The pungent scent of new mown hay wafted into our minibus as it sped into the West Country, and we had ample time to admire the sunset and the promise of another fine day on the morrow.
It was obvious, from the moment we arrived at the Golden Lion in Wrington, that our hosts, Don and Doreen Bone, were out to make us welcome, and we feel sure our presence over the week-end has done nothing to mar their high opinion of all the ringers they have met.
Next morning dawned fine as anticipated, and Herbert Knight, from Wrington, with friends from Yalton and Winford, led us over the western extreme of the Mendips to Axbridge. This fine heavy six produced some rich music, but it was a little too early in the morning for Double Bob. The navigator-cumreporter made further mistakes en route to Dinder, which resulted in some uncomfortable perambulations round the one-way streets of Wells. An hour at Dinder gave us time to lounge in the sun and view the splendid copper beeches and dutch aak on the adjoining estate. After lunch in Shepton Mallet we enjoyed the music of Ditcheat's octave, but couldn't live up to our reputation-Double Norwich just wouldn't go, despite Alan's splendid efforts to sort it out. They had forgotten we were coming to Queen Camel, but spirits were again uplifted by some Cambridge and Plain Bob on this famous six, once we were let in to the belfry. It was thirsty work, however, and tea at the Sparkford Inn was most welcome. Our party was then strengthened by the arrival of Philip Gray and Dennis Layton just in time to witness the terrorists' efforts to get a good cup of tea out of other people's pots!

At Bruton, the band was completed with Noel Waite arriving from Wimbledon, and methods rung included London, with Spliced Cambridge and Primrose. This well modulated heavy six is rather spoilt by an odd-struck tenor. Back at Shepton Mallet, Double Norwich was polished off, but the best beat was found with Stedman. Herbert Knight calling a long touch.

' THE GHOSTS'

We were soon back over the hills and down Burrington Coombe to Wrington. In fact it was still light when we parked the bus in the middle of the High Street and did justice to a turkey supper. Chris Clarke, who recently became known to some of his friends as "The Ghost of Deddington Vicarage, must have wished he could have done the vanishing trick as he emerged from the Golden Lion with his fellow terrorists sometime later. It was now dark. and the minibus lights were nat on. There emerged from the shadows the figure of the local constable. with the inevitable question, 'This your vehicle?' Fortunately it was not long before he had been convinced that you didn't need lights to park there, and tite terrorists were off to their hide-out.
On Whit Sunday at Wrington we were shown Major Hesse's grave, with its aubretia just coming into full bloom in the sun. Those who heard the bells outside left with a much better impression of this fine old ten. Our route to Junch at the Star Hotel, in Wells, took us up Burrington Coonve and down Cheddar Gorge, thick with trippers. The Suffolk Tenor King did not aspire to Wells Cathedral tenor (orange squash is not recommended as a cure for blisters), but Alan turned it in to half a course of Cambridge Royal, which sounded well.

After tea Tony Sunger met us at Evercreech. This famous ten were a little disappointing inside the tower, where the second is a bit loud. Following service, Tony led us to Milton Clevedon, a choice ring of five, just down the road. We could not agree during the rise whether the third was sharp or the fourth flat. Music was forgotten, however, as we tried to get an extent roundfinally managing it. The third is odd-struck to a fantastic degree, and helps its ringer along with a liberal shower of dirt at every pull. The fourth rope gets jammed in a pully block at just the wrong moment, and the tenor has to be swung on at hoth strokes. We understand the locals are prepared to wager that they can't be pealed!

ON THE EDGE OF THE MENDIPS

Next morning, having duly recovered, there was a certain reluctance to bid our hosts farewell. before the terrorists' hide-out was unearthed on the way to Blagdon, a mehow octave, rather spoilt by rope rattle. Yorkshire came round. but St. Clement's Triples didn't. Our run along the northern edge of the Mendips brought us to Compton Martin, where the church has more Norman work in it than any other in Somerset, and a handy 15 ewt. six, which go well for their weight. The route to Hinton Blewitt caused us to engage first gear for the second time that day. and afforded some fine views of Chew Valley Lake. A variety of Doubles methods was rung on this good five, a new tower for Herberi Knight.
After lunch, Chewton Mendip's bells lived up to their good name, and we managed a course of Bristol. Some backseat navigating didn't help us to find Chilcompton, where methods up to London were rung on a rather mournful six, and those of us who knew him went off to see Joseph T. Dyke.
Farewells then began, and ringing finished at Rudstock. We were loath to go home after being spoilt all week-end. The friendliness with which we were received everywhere served to put the finishing touches to a fine weekend's ringing.
Somerset is Alan's favourite county for bells and scenery, and we thank him for organising the tour to show us what the county has to offer.

West Country Way of Ringing Down

By MISS EUNICE D. OVEREND (Bath & Wells Association Instructor)

ITT'S good to see an article in . The Ringing World on lowering a bell, particularly in a part of the country where the pulling up of the tenor singly by visiting bands is liable to bring local inquiries as to who has died.
On only a couple of minor points do I disagree with Mr. Chaddock. I have found that some instruction on raising and lowering a bell is best given right from the start. Atter the potential learners have seen the bells with one ringing (set at backstroke, out of the way), they should be encouraged to pull the sallies and start them swinging (two bells tied. or too heavy to strike).
This enables them to judge the weight a little and to practise keeping a tight rope, pulling the instant the rope slackens. The instructor can then discover who naturally pulls left-handed Coiling and uncoiling a rope can first be practised on a lowered bell, walking towards and backing away from the ringing position to keep the tension constant. Later a tugging partner can simulate a ringing bell, till the whole job can be done at any rhythm without ooking.

Particular care must be taken not to lose the place with the top hand. The left hand making the coil wraps the rope around the knuckles (loose, but that side), and grasps the double rope below the right hand, not above (as Mr. Chuddock says).
Similarly, when a tight coil around the knuckles is slipped, the left hand immediately slides up the rope to its position, touching the right. There must be no habit of taking in a bit too much and letting it out again, or letting out a whole turn at once, if good striking is to be attained later.
As soon as a learner can pull steadily at backstroke he should be taught how to shorten a rope (right-left when hands are down) and how to tengthen it (a little slipping through when hands are up), and the effect this has on the bell. While this is happening another couple can safely coil their ropes and raise their bells till the sallies scarcely begin to bob, practising tight ropes and making and unmaking single coils. Soon the learner will be able to pull up his own bell on the backrope (with perhaps a little help at frame-height) and to drop it, the instructor sallying, without getting lifted up or letting the rape flap loose. Having done this he will know what to do if the bell drops while he is ringing it.

PRACTICE TO GIVE CONFIDENCE

In between his turns on the sally, the learner can practise 'sally-to-back' and 'back-tosally on a lowered bell, in slow-motion at first, getting all the fingers round the sally, rope in crook of thumb, etc. In particular at 'sally-to-back the left hand should turn the rope downward at the lowest point so that tise right hand can find it quickly and easily. A hand fumbling later for the rope as it rises can be picked up by a twist in the loop and skinned in a flash. In addition speed at this moment enables the rope to be shortened without 'climbing up' it and gives confidence when the speed begins to quickens as a bell is lowered.
At this stage the learner must be taught how to pull and check to keep the clapper of a chiming bell the right side, essential for a neat beginning and end to the rise and fallthe five-minute boll is useful practice. Con fidence and safety are increased by instruction and practice on how to deal with a rope dropped while ringing-catch sally, slack grip to let the bell pull through what rope it needs, coil the rest, pull up again.
When he can ring rounds and rise and fall a fell neatly he must learn to follow another bell up and down. The bells must be open for this, or only quietened by car-tyre muff. so that they can be heard down the stairs but scarcely outside. since a good rise and fall depends more on the ear than the eyc. At first the instructor keeps just in front of the beginner whatever the speed, so that he learns what to look for. Then the instructor sets the pace, explaining as they arise, those puzzling differences between a bell at the right height, but in the wrong place, and one too high or too low, striking one blow right and then wrong again. Next the beginner should be the middle bell of three, learning to listen to the bell behind as well as the one in front.
When rising and falling in peal the aim is to keop in the right position between treble and tenor so that the treble can go at a comfortable speed for the tenor. In going $u_{p}$ the beginner should be prepared for a smart get-away so that the tenor can get started, and all the bells should remain close till they are striking both sides, then there need be no overlapping of rows. Going down the treble tries to keep the tenor just checking his bell all the way. If the front bells close in 100 much and the tenorman is lifted his clapper swings with the bell and stops striking, if they open out and he freewheels the same thing happens, so all the ringers must listen to all the bells.
Probably the standard of raising and lowering is noticed more by the generad public than the ringing itself since the rise first draws attention to the bells and the fall comes just as the churchgoers arrive. A good rise or fa! is skilful and satisfying, with the bells running as quick as a stick along railings and a wonderful roar coming down the stairs. Let's hear more of them!

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch

The West Dorset Branch held its quarterly meeting at Netherbury on the last day of June. The attendance of members was the lowest for some years, which might be accounted for by the fine weather, haymaking and village fetes.
The bells were rung up in peal and some of the youthful members were able to have their first ring on a heavy-going six. Ringing was from call changes to a touch of Cambridge.
The Rev. P. D. May conducted the service and gave the address, the desson being read by the Branch secretary. Netherbury ringers gave the tea, the home-made cakes being much enjoyed.
Mr. C. W. Powell, Branch vice-chaimman, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. J. T Barrett was elected an honorary member. It was decided to entertain the Guild for the annual festival at Beaminster on May 11th, 1963. In connection with the 80th anniversary of the Guild, notice was given that a Ringers' Sunday would be held at Beaminster on September 16th, when the Rev. R. L. Longridge. Master of the Guild. would preach at $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The band of West Dorset ladies who rang a quarter peal on June 13 th were congratulated by the chairman. He suggested to other towers to attempt quarters and peals. Mr. D. Bishop was asked to arrange a Stedman Triples peal attempt by Branch members
The next meeting was arranged for Lyme Regis on September 22nd. This was an alteration to the programme, as Thorncombe bells would be in Loughborough at that date being augmented to eight.

The total cost of the course, including accommodation and meals, is $£ 215 \mathrm{~s}$. Applications, enclosing a deposit of 10 s. and s.a.c.. to P. J. Bird, 17, Counterpool Raad. Kingswood, Bristal, before July 31st.

WEDDING

DONALD E. COBB-SALLY P. OATES
Mr. Donald Cobb, of Shiplake-on-Thames. and Miss Sally Oates, of Chichester, two wellknown members of the Society of Raving Ringers. were married at St. Mary's. Lavant (near Chichester), on June 23 rd. Don and Sally are also very well known to West Country ringers, as they have both been working in Bristol for several years.
The bride wore a full-length dress of white ottoman silk, which had a short train. She carried a bouquet of lilies. The three bridesmaids, in short yellow dresses of wild silk and, wearing in their hair flowers to match their bouquets, were the bride's sister Alison, the bridegroom's sister Diana, and Claire, friend of the bride. The best man was Mr. Ralph Stenner and among the four ushers were the brothers of the bride and bridegroom.
A very fine reception was held at the bride's home attended by 160 guests. Don and Sally are spending their honeymoon touring Scotland.
As Lavant Church has, unfortunately, but one bell, the many ringers present had to content themselves with handbells, rung as the newly married couple left for their honeymoon.

ST. JOHN THE DIVINE, LEICESTER

June 24th marked the 60th anniversary of the dedication of the back eight bells of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester. These bells, known throughout the country for their fine tone and excellent 'go, were the first to be tuned in principle. They still hang on the original plain bearings.

The present Ringing Master and steeple keeper (Mr. S. Harrison) is the third in order. The first was the late William Wilson, who held office for 34 years, resigning owing to ill-health in 1936. He was succeeded by Mr. W. H.
Clarke, who was in charge until 1946, Clarke, who was in charge until when Mr. Harrison was appointed.

The excellence of the bells is due to the weekly attention of all three steeple keepers, which Mr. Harrison regards as essential where plain bearings are concerned.
Unfortunately, a quarter peal attempt to mark the anniversary was not successful.

50 Years Ago

'R.W. July 19th. 1912.
Suocess to the ladies peal at Cubitt Town today! Many of them are travelling far to participate, and we hope they will not again be disappointed. The torrid weather. however, will not make their task any the lighter.
The first OddfeHows peal in Wales was rung at Talgarth, Breconshire on Sunday.

LOUGHBOROUGH

A good programme had been prepared for the 1962 annual outing of Loughborough Parish Church ringers on June 30 th and, accompanied by friends, left at 8.30 am . At the first official call, Harrow Weald Parish Church, a wedding was on at the time we arrived. When the "all clear" was given the bells were soon set in motion and full justice was given to this pleasant light ring. The learners were given a chance to try their hands and soon a couple of stays went like ninepins, to the utter bewilderment of the two novices responsible, who thought the world had come to an end! The more experienced ringers assured them not to worry as such things can happen to the most experienced ringers: now they were qualified 'stay ringers: now they were quatin but it was of a come-down for Loughborough ringers to 'bust' a couple of stays.
Ringing on the new ring at Harrow-on-theHill followed lunch and, as at Harrow Weald, the ringing was enjoyed. Those who were not ringers took the opportunity of enjoying the view which is presented to all who visit Harrow-on-the-Hill Church.

Rickmansworth, with its ten bells as against the eight bells of the two previous churches, was next on the dist and as we approached the church we could hear the bells being rung very well. It so happened that the ringers of Stowmarket Parish Church. Suffolk, were also on their annual outing and, like us, had chosen Rickmansworth as one of their calling places. Mutual greetings were exchanged.
From Rickmansworth we journeyed to Watford, a short but tricky journey. A little late in gotting the 10 bells under way, we made up for it with same decent ringing. By this time those famous words, 'I could do with a cuppa.' were to be heard on all sides, but this did not disturb the organiser, as tea had been arranged for at a nearby cafe.
Our last tower of the day was Leighton Buzzard (another ten), but on arrival it seemed that no one had prepared for our visit. Someone said that the tower door was locked. Yes, the door was locked, but the key was in the door, a point the first investigator had overlooked and next time he goes up a dark spiral staircase, perhaps he will take a torch with him! The bells had been raised and soon after we started to ring, the representative of the local ringers arrived, full of apologies. We told him not to worry as the Vicar had come to the rescue. Visitors to Leighton Buzzard will be able to envisage Leighton ibuzzaird will the proposers of the atterations at Loughborough Parish Church have in mind, for here a similar scheme has been carried out successfully.

The journey home was by way of the A.5, whose doubtful glory has departed since the M. 1 came into being. Now it is a quiet road, its noisy and endless stream of traffic has deserted it. Prosperity seems to have deserted its many hostelries, cafes and petrol stations.

We entered Loughborough soon after 10.30 p.m., but not before we dropped someane off at Quorn, who was spending the night under canvas with the Girl Guides. Some sleepy good-nights and another successful outing was concluded. All wish to thank the various incumbents and those who made the trip so enjoyable.

STONHAM ASPAL, SUFFOLK

A very full day, during which 260 miles was covered during 20 hours, was the programme of Stonham Aspal ringers on June 30th. The start was at $6.40 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the morning's ringing was at Market Harborough and both rings of bells at 'St. Andrew's, Rugby. Then came Southam and Daventry (also tea) and finally Holy Sepulchre, Northampton.

The ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise and Stedman. and for the first time finished with a course of Grandsire Triples. Thanks are accorded incumbents and those who met the party, also Miss Carol Urry, of Rugby, for her most helpful assistance.

WARMINSTER, WILTS

For the seventh year in succession the Warminster outing was arranged by the ringers' old friends, now at Haslemere, 'Pop' and Mrs. Pearson.
The party met their hosts at the beautiful church of Warnford, Hants, where the setting, in a private park, could hardly be surpassed. The six bells here are a magnificent ring, and good touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman were greatly enjoyed.

An open air lunch was enjoyed by the lake at Petersfield, and Ernie and his wife. who catered, had remembered everything, even the pickled onions! Another pleasant setting was the next church, Stedham, with a reasonable six. and then came the grand eight at Pulborough. There was time for a short visit to the Hastlemere tower, where the light ten were much to the liking of the experienced but frightened off some of the young ones.

At the School House Mrs. Pearson was waiting with the usual ample spread. the highlight of the outing. After tea, a somewhat original game of rounders was played, handbells were rung and tape recorded, and the party set off for the last tower of the day, Froyle. where the remains of a jumble sale had to be cleared from the belfry before ringing could take place. The first pull on the bells brought down showers of dust. Another surprise was the sudden appearance of an angel at the belfry door! It turned out to be one of the young ladies of the party (and she could hardly have chosen a more effective disguise) who had found a box of costumes in the gatlery.

The gauntlet had to be run of a series of forbidding 'No Caaches' signs before the final rite of the day could be performed. and a tired but happy party arrived at Warminster just after midnight.
BISHOP'S SUTTUN, HANTS.-On July Sth, 1.320 Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob Doubles: M. M. Powell 1, Mrs. Christine M. Lanegan 2, Rev. C. R. C. Coussmaker 3, E. D. Ederkin 4, H. N. Evans (cond.) 5.

Owing to business commitments, Mr. W. H. Riddle is unable to continue as hon. secretary of the Manchester Branch of Lancashire Association. Ai the half-yearly meeting at Worsley on June 23 rd , his resignation was accepted with regret and thanks were expressed for his work during recent years. Mr. Neil Bennett, of 12 , Union Road, Ashton-under-Lyne, was elected acting Branch secretary for the remaining six months of the year.
Coupled with the parish of Weston Favell's gift of a cheque of $£ 177$ to the Rev. D. Hopkins on leaving the living for Empingham, was manuscript book of 'The Church Bell of Rutland,' by P. Amos.
Mrs. E. J. Lockwood, who rang her first pea! at Barking, Suffolk (recorded this week), was the first of Mr. G. R. Goodship's band, which started at Offton in 1959 when the bells were restored, to score a peal. She rang extremely well, comments the conductor.
The six lovely-toned bells of Empingham, Rutland, need the attention of a bell hanger. A peal attempt to welcome the Rev. D. Hopkins, formerly of Weston Favell, to the Deanery failed because of the bad 'go' of the bells. An attempt is to be made at Burrowden, a neighbouring village.

Mr. Edgar Shepherd is retiring at the end of this term and hopes to make his home in Warminster not later than September. He writes: "It will be strange after being an ordinary member of St. Martin's Guild for 44 years to become a life member!' We regret to learn that he has been troubled with a recurrence of fibrositis and hope he will shortly be fully recovered.
The half peal rung at Swaffham Prior, Cambs, was originally planned as a first peal attempt for Alan Durfee, an American schoolboy in this country (hence the choice of Independence Day). Unfortunately a false start made it impossible to go the full distance, owing to the lack of lighting in the dark ringing chamber. Hopes are high of Alan ringing his first peal before returning to the States in August.

Mr. Oliver G. Barnard, secretary of the Stowmarket East Anglian Daily Times' with regard to the Bishop of Dunwich's observations concerning ringers in general, concludes: With all respeot, I say that the Bishop was wrong in his assessment of the situation. It would be taken as a very generous act on his part if he would withdraw his remanks so that the whole thing could be forgotten.'
By the peal of Kent TiB, Minor at Blithfield, Richard J. Warrilow and Derek P. Jones completed peals of Kent from Minor to Maximus.
In answer to Mr. W. B. Kynaston's question, Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, captain of St. Mary's Church bellingers, Swansea, informs us that the correct weight of the tenor bell at his church is 20 cWt . 2 qr. 12 lb
Regarding the various letters that have appeared concerning Alfred Bowell's bells, a reader suggests that the information should be collected and published in book form. He also similarly pleads for Henry Penn's works, the Bilbys and other bell founders.
The Dereks, who rang a name peal at Earl Shitton, would like to express their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Newton, who entertained them to a marvellous tea afterwards. A previous attempt was arranged for last December, but had to be cancelled owing to very adverse weather. On that occasion also, those who arrived were treated to a similar tea. This time the band feel they did rather more to earn their tea.

An interested spectator of the ringing at Cottingham, Yorks, on July 8th, was Professor Thomas Canning, Professor of Music at the University of Rochester, New Yonk, U.S.A. He has just completed a year as visiting Professor of Music at the University of Hull and wished to take some bellringing information back with him to the U.S.A. He was furnished with the history of Cottingham bells and other information and hopes to obtain literature from the Central Council for Rochester University Music Library.

SUSSEX YOKELS IN LEICESTERSHIRE

WOLLOWING the success last year of a week-end in the West, a similar three days was planned this year by Frank Hicks and his Sussex Yokels, this time northwards to Leioestershire. After rising uncomfortably early, the main body was inspected and checked oft by Gaffer Frank, at East Grinstead, and the hired minibus was soon swinging through a strangely-altered Hyde Park under the expert hands of Fred Roberts. The sun shone and shone, and the folk in the back of the bus baked and perspired and wriggled as they made faces at Leslie Weller and George Francis, with their wives in the following car.

Two members of the Hatfield College Youths met us at our first call, where we provided the overture to the Christian Stewardship Campaign. At the second touch there was a yelp from Harold Reynolds as 60 ft . of rope coiled itself at his feet. A spare rope was fitted, and Harold allowed to take hold once more, under guidance! After Stedman and Grandsire Caters, plus Treble Ten, we left Halfield and bowled along the peaceful Hertfordshire lanes in company with halfful Hertfordshire lanes in company with half-a-million other motorists to St . Neots (Hunts). and the majestic eight (tenor $29 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), were soon resounding to Cambridge and Double Norwich Major.
At Rothwell we were half-an-hour late, but thoroughly enjoyed ringing on this pleasant octave ( 21 cwt .). introducing Oxford Treble Bob into the repertoire. We met Canon Turner and discovered several mutual acquainttances.

AT PETERBOROUGH

We ate tea at Kettering, in the company of the local twistin' teenagers, while John and Peter Howard persuaded the juke-box to produce the music of Mr. Acker Bilk. Then on to try Peterborough's 26 cwt. tenor, where Stedman Triples failed miserably, but Major methods, including Little Bob, were brought round. We wandered over the copper-sheeted roof to view the magnificent three west front arches of Peterborough Cathedral, and bemoaned the fact that its heaviest five were still unable to be rung. Passing through Skeffington. a suspicious-looking badge turned out to be that of the Leicester Guild, and its owner was approached. He introduced himself as Mr. Wale, of Blaby, and his kind invitation to ring there was taken up on the following evening.
vening. after this we had our first sight of Leicester, and the conversation, 100 , turned towards this famous ringing centre. Did the policemen really have special sections in their note-books for new methods? And was it true, said a voice from the back. that there were three females to every male? We started were three females to every maie? We started into view. At $11 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the jail-like doors of the George Hotel swung open to admit the van and its saddle-sore prisoners. Later, Ron Pankhurst was released, leading out a small party to eat half-cooked hot dogs before being locked in for the night.
The next (Saturday) morning

The next (Saturday) morning we went direct to that 'must' for all tower grabbers, the Loughborough Bell Foundry. Mr. Paul Loughborough Bell Foundry. Mr. Paul round his foundry and we instructed him to take good care of West Hoathly bells. due for a visit. We goggled at the 12 ton bass bell. and some of its 52 companions already housed in their frame and labelled ' Carillon. Washington. U.S.A.: Evelyn Hicks tried the practice clavier. There was a rush to tap out a course on the upturned behs of Northallerton -and eight red faces a minute later as the bells "fired out." However, the "Bells of St. Mary' came triumphantly into rounds.
' FREEDOM OF THE CAMPANILE'
Mr. Taylor then gave us the freedom of the campanile and took his leave to welcome another party. Some of us tried, with little success, to get Eddie Rapley to talk of his part in the $16 \frac{t}{}$ hour record attempt last year. Other reverently inspected the wooden shelves fixed to the walls. Frank then exhorted us to catch hold and away we went into Grandsire Caters. to be followed by Bob Royal and Stedman Caters. Cambridge Minor and Major. We then reluctantly gave way to the ringers of Ashton, Birmingham, and piled into the bus for Quorn.

Having raised the hack six, we found the second, at least. to be odd-struck, and our Double Norwich and Kent suffered. Returning to Leicester and its Cathedral, we were made welcome by Herrick Bowley and several of his ringers. While Cinques and Treble Twelve were tapping out, those not engaged pondered over the profusion of famous names on the peal hoards, and commented on the well kept ringing chamber. We found the bells delightful to handle and, as far as we were concerned, the striking was very satisfactory, although what the twelve-bell experts watching us thought was not recorded!
Across the lown to St. John-the-Divine, where Sidney Harrison introduced us to his tea charges, tenor 21 cwt . We were well pleased with the Yorkshire Sumprise Major, less pleased with the rouch of Grandsire Caters which threatened to continue well into the night. At St. Mary's we rang a touch of Plain and Little Bob Spliced before three leads of Kent and down in peal. Another famous name, St. Margaret's, appeared next on the programme. and here the ladies came back from their shopping in time for Kent Treble Bob Maximus and, by special request, call changes. Whittington's of course.
Brian Warwick. that excellent P.R.O., was waiting for us at South Wigston and showed us, with some pride, the competition trophy won by the tower two weeks previously. Stedman Triples nearly came round and three leads of Bristol completed the ringing before rushing off to Blaby ( $5,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) behind Brian. Permission to ring was granted at a very late hour, and we went up into the tiny tower in relays to ring six spliced, among other things. Back at the hotel, handbells could be heard into the early hours of Sunday morning.

AT SOUTHWELL MINSTER

On Trinity Sunday we ate a hurried breakfast, settled our bills and departed at top speed for Southwell Minster and its now lefthanded twelve, $25 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. Time allowed for ringing was short owing to other services, but we were happy with our Grandsire Cinques and we hope that the congregation and ordinands appreciated it. 100 . After the service had commenced. a sidesman was startled hy a strange bearded figure signalling starlled by a strange bearded figure signalling frantically from the tower. John Howard and Derek Slater had been, not unlike the three old ladies of legend, locked in the belfry, and it took some time to trace a key and release them.
In Leicester for the last time we dined at the Chinese Restaurant, this time on English food-as nature intended-and went off towards Kingsthonp's six. The Sunday service band here numbering 23 and ringing advanced methods, is also energetic in other directions, having themselves raised the ringing chamber from floor level, and fitted oak doors, screen and panelling. Included in the ringing were Norwich Minor, Single Court and Plain, Little Bob and Cambridge Spliced. We left the bells up for Evensong and piled once more into our transport, careering down the M. 1 to St. Alhans. The Cathedral tower and flag pole were in splinis for restoration. The famous beams between the back bell ropes became the subject of some discussion before we embarked on Cinques and a service touch of Stedman Caters.
We rang lots of handbells, including several methods frowned upon by the Central Council. on the homeward journey. As we swept past the Buckingham Palace sentries counting their paces, 'Jim Hawkins' Nagging Wifo' was brought round. Alan sang 23 verses of 'A hole in my Bucket,' and Derek decided at the 22nd verse that he had heard it before. And at East Grinstead we tottered off to our beds, tired but happy.
The gang would like to thank all the tower captains and secretaries. particularly Peter Staniforth who arranged the Leicester ringing. A special thank you goes to Fred Roberts, who drove nearly 500 miles, and a big bouquet to Frank Hicks, who organised everything.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION Northern District

Although the attendance was not very good at the meeting at Knebworth on July 7th, nine new members were elected. They were: F. J. C. Robinson. A. E. Jones. C. H. Bott. R. Eaves and D. Copps, of Benington: the Rev. D. E. Smith, P. Crane and Susan Bradshawe, of Knebworth, and Ann Durent, of Welwyn. The Rev. David E. Smith was chairman of the meeting, which followed an ample tea. He had also conducted the service held earlier. with Mr. Besley at the organ.
The church stands in the park which surrounds Knebworth House, and there is a clear view of the ringing from either churchyard or church, so that members of the public visiting the house were able to watch the ringing in progress. As usual. there was a wide range of methods to suit most tastes. from rounds and call changes to Surprise Major.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD  After the Guild's Whit Monday meeting at Mytholmroyd, it was felt that some good work had been done in encouraging local ringers. There was a good attendance, and many metheds were rung ranging from Plain Bob to Sunprise Major. The Archdeacon of Hadifax (the Ven. J. F. Lister) joined the party before tea, which was provided by the ladies. A short business meeting followed.Next meeting. Kirkheaton, July 28th.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Newark District

A fine, warm day was a pleasant surprise for the meeting on July 7th. North Colling ham bells were set going merrily just before 3 o'clock and ringing throughout the afternoon was of a reasonable standard. The Vicar, the Rev. $\mathbb{M}$. Stevens, had arranged tea in the Vicarage, where we were his guests a gesture very much appreciated.

During the business meeting. it was announced that the District Ringing Master wished to resign, due to domestic difficulties and since there were only two more meetings in the year, it was proposed that a Ringing Master be appointed at each of the meetings and leave a permanent proposition until the annual meeting.

The mournful five bells of South Searle were available for the evening, and the Vicar went with the company to conduct a short service prior to the ringing.
This was the first meeting since four towers had been lost to help form the new Bingham District, and it was encouraging to see that. though small, the District still has some enthusiasm.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The quiet but pretty village of Heydon was the venue of the Northern Branch meeting on July 7th. While the attendance was disappointing, the six bells were rung from rounds to London Surprise, under the watchful eye of the new Branch Ringing Master, Peter Adcock The Rector (the Rev. A. E. Dickinson) conducted the service. and his wife acted as organist. Norwich lady ringers served a delightful tea.
At the business meeting Mrs. P. J. L. Purser (Cromer) and Miss B. Payne (St. George's Norwich) were elected ringing member, and the following belfry elections, prior to a peal at St. Peter Mancroft. were ratified: Mrs. F J. Marshallsay, Messrs. R. N. Marlow, R. N Rex. J. Hantless, P. N. Tubbs,
R. Haines and G. E. Evenden.
A report on the striking competition, organised by Mr. F. C. Goodman (Assistant Ringing Master) and members of the Branch committee and held at Buxton on June 19th was presented by Mr. Goodman. Five teams took part, three from Norwich and one each from the Aylsham and Wymondham Districts. No prizes were awarded and it is hoped to make it an annual event.

Owing to the Ladies' Guild meeting at Dereham on September 27th. Mulbarton was suggested as an alternative to Dereham for the meeting on October 13th

OBITUARY

MR. A. C. BOXLEY
The tragic death of Mr. Alfred C. Boxley, of Stounbridge, in Upton Snodsbury (Worcs) belfry, on July 7 th, removed a very well known and popular figure from the Worcester shire Association. Northern Branoh

In company with Mr. William Cooper, the Association's librarian, he had joined the Belbroughton ringers on their annual outing which covered several towers in South Worces tershire. Upton Snodsbury being the first.

Alf, collapsed after taking part in a touch of Stedman, and the efforts of two first aid men in the party, Messrs. IS. Bridge and J Raybould. while an ambulance was being obtained, failed to bring him round. He was taken to the Worcester Royal Hospital, but found to be dead upon arrival

Apart from taking the arranged tea a Bretforton. the outing was abandoned
Alf had taken part in approximately 80 peals. 46 of which were for the Worcestershire Association, but he kept no personad record He found his chief pleasure in visiting towers where meetings were being held in various parts of the Midlands and had a wide circle of friends
As one of the 'Friday Gang' he was a regular visitor to the instruction tower a Hartlebury on Friday evenings, where he had rendered much assistance in teaching beginners from various towers in the area, and was also an accomplished member of the Friday Gang handbell team - the North Worcestershire Handbell Ringers-whose recitals in the area for many years are very well known, and to whom his passing is a serious loss. Among his favourite tunes in the team's repertoire were Tosselli's Serenade. Brahms' Lullaby and Percy Grainger's Country Dance.
The funeral was at Lye Church on Thursday July 12 th. followed by cremation at Stour bridge, and Lye bells were rung half-muffled by members of the Association
The sympathy of all his friends goes out to his widow, son and daughte

MR. W. LANCEFIELD

Mr. William J. Lancefield, of Willesborough Kent. died peacefully at his home on Sunday, July 8th, at the age of 67 . He had been in poor health for about a year, but before that he had been a regular member of the famous Willesborough band for over 50 years
Mr . Lancefield was the father of a distinguished ringing family, and he early trans mitted to them a love of ringing and a sense of duty and responsibility, which they have worthily maintained. The names of Mark and Bert Lancefield have become household words in Kent ringing circles. and nobody Was more proud of them than their father He rang many peals just after the war, and once rang in a peal of Minor with four of his sons.
Mr.-Lancefield was an engineer with the railway until his retirement. He served in the 1914-18 war. A quiet, friendly man, he was a loving husband and father, and his passing is much regretted by the Kent County Asso ciation. especially the Willesborough ringers

OUTINGS AND OUTED

NOOW that the season of ringers' outings is in full swing I wonder how much damage will be done. Damage in two ways. First the damage and trail of destruction that can be left behind, particularly in the field of broken stays. Broken maybe by experienced ringers, but more likely, and certainly more often, by the not so experienced naturally desiring a few rounds, or perhaps just a pull at a bell in a strange tower, but not having proper supervision from a more experienced ringer on the outing.
Clock chiming apparatus also gets damaged; caused perhaps as a result of not having a good look round before commencing to pull up the bells.

In these times of so many unmanned towers it is quite common practise for the clergy to give permission for a visiting band to ring on the bells, but when the band arrives at the church they find the belfry door has been opened by either the vicar or the sexton and then that person has been called away, thereby leaving the visitors to see to certain things of their own accord.

Damage to striking apparatus can be expensive for those having to pay for it, and that is not usually the ones who have done the damage.

A broken stay is to ringers a small matter, but that small matter is usually left to someone else to attend to.
I said early on damage in two ways, and this is where the second kind of damage comes in.

As a result of the damage mentioned above, and the thoughtless behaviour of some ringers in belfries, damage of a more lasting nature than a broken stay is caused, and that is damage to the relations between clergy and visiting ringers, or between the local band and visiting ringers. There is already many local bands who have a strange attitude to visiting ringers, the classical example being of the local captain who successfully objected to an association holding a meeting at his tower, but went to ring a peal at another tower in the same area on the same day as the meeting was held at an alternative tower. A good (or bad) example of ' I'll use your bells, but you cannot use ours.'
Perhaps I can best illustrate the feelings of the clergy by quoting from a letter sent by the vicar of a country church to the secretary of a ringing association in reply to a request for the bells for an association meeting.
'The bells will be free for your use as requested. As you can imagine, we get many requests for permission to ring, and this is always granted, but unfortunately we are left with some trouble to clear up on many occasions, e.g., broken stays, the heavy curtains pulled off the runners.

I am not saying this is deliberate, but probably are accidents, so please keep a special look out.
Another common complaint is from my caretaker, who complains of toffee papers, etc. This means I am left to pacify an angry caretaker who might throw up her job at any moment.

Please do not interpret this as "getting" at you, but a request that every care be taken, then everybody will be happy.

All good wishes and good ringing.
Yours, etc.
So it behoves us all when we visit other towers to remember that after all we are visiting guests, and also that someone has provided expensive instruments for our use.
We do not have to convey our harps to the party, but travel without them, and leave them behind when we have finished. So let us leave everything as good or better than we found them, so that others may freely follow us; then everyone will be happy and the ringing fraternity will not be faced with the position of ringers 'thrown out' because of an outing.
F. AITCH.

BELLS IN MUSIC

WAGNER presented a problem when he decided to use bells in his music, for such low notes that he required could only be obtained from large bells, the hum notes of which would clash with the rest of the orchestra. At one time to solve this problem Bayreuth used very long thick piano wires stretched on a resonator and musically supported by gongs and the brass tuba. Recently, Mager also made attempt to solve the bell problem.
For the opening of the carillon at Loughborough. Elgar wrote a special composition, having written quite a few pieces for the bells.
Handel used a large set of small bells in 'Saul,' and Bach, in his cantata 'Schlage doch,' used a theme of two bells.
The late 16th century composer, Byrd, wrote a fantasia for virginals (instruments resembling the spinet) called 'The Bells.'
Many other composers used bells in their music, such as Ravel, who wrote 'The Valley of Bells', for the pianoforte, and Liszt, who wrote 'La Campanella.' But the composer all ringers should know of is Fabian Stedman, the great protagonist of change-ringing.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' PROVINCIAL MEETING

Bristol, which was chosen as the venue for this year's provincial meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths. has always been a papular place with bell-ringers, and its popularity was demonstrated on June 23rd by the fact that members came there from 3 far as London. Birmingham and Truro.
Your correspondent was one of the party which travelled by train from London, a journey which was marked by considerable discussion on the relative merits of steam and diesel locomotion. By the time we arrived, the bells of SS. Philip's and James' were already ringing, and it was not long before the bells of St. Stephen's joined in.
The lunch, which was eaten at 'The Assize Courts' Hotel. was enjoyed by about 60 people. After lunch there was ringing at the Cathedral, at Christ Church and at St. Mary Redeliffe. This was followed by the business meeting. at which the Society was welcomed to Bristol by Mr. Albert Tyler
In his roply the Master (Mr. W. T. Cook) said on hehalf of all members how pleased they were to be there. and thanked the Bristol members, particularly Mr. Frank Hansford and Mr - Tyler, for the excellent arrangements which had heen made. He mentioned that Bristol had always been a stronghold of the College Youths, and that it was particularly pleasing to see one of their oldest members there. Mr. Fred I.eaker. who at the age of 82. had been a member for upwards of 50 years.
A greetings telegram from Mr. A. A. Hughes was read, and apologies for absence were received from many members, including Mr. J. Frank Smallwood and Mr. Ernest Fenn. In the course of the meeting eleven new members were elected.
The day concluded with a 'social hour' at a nearby inn. the saloon bar of which soon became so full of ringers that there was no room for the regulars. Indeed. there was not room for all the ringers some of whom held an 'overflow meeting' in a back room. to the accompaniment of handbells. All too soon the hour came for us to return to our various homes, and so far as is known everyone got home safely

EAST RIDING VETERANS MEET

As in the past six years now, Mrs. J. J. Taylor, of Goole. on June 30 th invited vetenan members of the Yorkshire Associatoin to a tea and enjoy some ringing at Eastrington. Those present included Messrs. A. E. Sellars (84). Beverley. H. Rodmell (82). Sutton, L. Rodmell (Partington) and T. Goodin (Sutton) both 80 , and H. Morley (72), of Selby.
Some younger 'veterans attend to boost ringing in the afternoon and help to do justice to the excellent tea. which was attended by the Vioar of Eastrington and his wife.
Ringing ranged from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise and the striking was of a high order-age being considered.

Altogether an enjoyable day for all concerned.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Devizes Branch

There was a good attendance at the quanterly meeting at Urchfont on July 7th. The service, with address. was conducted by the Vicar. and an excellent iea was served by the ladies of the local band.

The business meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman, Mr. N. Knee. In the course of this meeting. Mr. A. Weeks presented the Branch with a handsome wooden case, to house the handbells, which are a memorial to the late Mr. S. Hillier.

Replying to the thanks for his gift, Mr. Weeks gave a brief appreciation of Mr. Hillier's achievements and his work for the Branch.

Ringing on the eight bells took place during the afternoon and evening. These hells sound delightful, but owing to the long draught are not the easiest to handle. On the whole. members acquitted themselves well. many touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob being brought round, a course of Cambridge after tea was particularly pleasing Wext meetings will be at Potterne and Westbury (subject to confirmation).

MR. ANTONY R. PRICE,  Middlesex County Association.

An excellent ringer, and a first class instructor. Mr. Antony R. Price, of Feltham. Middlesex, has had the great satisfaction of seeing his two sons, Frank C. and Richard E., seeing his two sons, Frank C. and Richard E., and as enthusiastic to ring as many tenors as he was himself in his earlier days.

Tony Price, as he is usually known, was born on March 14th. 1906. at Rougham Vicarage, near King's Lynn. Norfolk, where his father was the incumbent. When his father took the living at Shouldham. Norfolk, Tony had the unusual experience of teaching himself to handle a bell around Easter. 1920. but was later helped by Edward Barker and Harvey Watson, both local ringers. Such was his quick progress that he was able to score his first attempt for a peal on September 9th. 1920, within five months of starting at the age of 14! This was the treble to Oxford and Kent T.B. Minor at Shouldham, and was conducted by that well-known character, Joseph E Sykes. who congratulated him on his performance. Tony's first peal as conductor was at Fincham. Norfolk, on August 13th, 1921, heing Plain Bob Minor.

IN AMERICA

In the early 1920 's, Tony went to live in the U.S.A. and Canada. Whilst residing at Boston. he rang at Groton School. Mass.. and Kent School. Conn., and when in Montreal. Canada, he learnt to pilot an aeroplane with the Montreal Flying Club. In March. 1926. he returned to England, but was hack again in the New World in July of the same year. On September 29th, 1930, he married Agnes (née Watson. of Shouldham) in Quebec. Canada. Early in 1931, they returned to Norfolk. and finally settled down in Feltham, where they fnally setted down have lived ever since.
During the 1930 's, Tony rang a large number of peals, especially for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and particularly enjoyed visiting some awkward rings of six. and ringing the tenor to a seven method peal of Minor, with a first class band to back him up. Up-to-date he has rung 360 peals, all on tower hells. and has conducted 130 of them.
A fine heavy-bell ringer, he has 'turned in' some 120 different tenors to peals on all numbers of bells. including Inverary, Scotland, to the first peal on the bells (Kent Royal). Southwark dathedral to Kent Maximus, St.

THE EXERCISE-59
Peter Mancroft, Norwich, Stow-on-the-Wold, Bampton. Oxon, Clare. Suffolk, and Ouhdle, Northants. to mention a few of the heavier bells. He has also rung St. Mary-le-Bow tenor to Cinques, when she weighed 53 cwt :-no easy joh for anyone. His outstanding peals include the first peal of four Spliced Sunprise Royal rung at Beddington. Surrey, on February 8th. 1936. conducted by C. H. Kippin, and ringing the 11 th at Exeter Cathedral to the peal of Bob Major on the back eight in October, 1954. in 4 hours and 41 minutes.

UNIQUE DOUBLE-HANDED PEAL

Tony is one of the select band of ringers who have rung two bells to a tower-bell peal. In fact he has three to his credit; all Bob Minor. At Feltham fe conducted from 1-2, at Tetsworth. Oxon, he conducted from $-6. and in the last one at Preston Candover. Hants, he rang 1-2, and the other four beHs were rung hy his son. Frank $C$. Price, and Frank T. Blagrove, both of whom he had taught to sing! This is the only occasion on which a lower-hell peal has been rung by half the number of ringers as there were bells!

From 1936. Tony was appointed captain at Feltham, and held the position for 25 years up to 1961. In this capacity his work of instruction has been very fruitful. In addition tu teaching his wife, his two sons. Frank T. Blagrove and other well-known ringers, he has taught many others at Hampton, Sunbury, Twickenham and Stanwell, He has the happy knack of being able to get the best out of beginners, providing they are willing to learn. The Middlesex Association duly honoured him hy electing him Master of the Association in 1953. and he retained the office until 1959.

Being an engineer by profession. Tony has heen able to use his knowledge and experience for the benefit of his own belfry repairs and augmentation. He organised the recasting of the back four belk tat Feltham, and rehung them on hall bearings in 1947. In 1959 he made and fitted a new iron frame to take two trebles to make a ring of 10 , and this work he completed in one year by himself, with the assistance of one of his learners.
Although Tony does not do as much peal ringing as he used to do. he must find great pleasure in following the careers of his two talented sons, Frank and Richard, who is a doctor. He conducted their first peal at Cranford. Middlesex, on January 8 th, 1944 . and the can feel proud of them. They have made a name for themselves in various parts of the country, both as conductors and heavybell ringers-two real cheps off the old block

Tony himself is still one of the best heavybell ringers in the country, and a very severe critic of striking. Although he likes the simpler methods best, he can ring the difficult ones when required, as his peal list shows, but he insists that the striking is as good as the band is capable of doing. The many ringers who received their instruction from him, and have 'stayed the course,' will alweys he grateful for the methods he used to teach them. Tony can feel well satisfied with the part he has played to improve the ringing in South-West Middlesex. APACE.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fifteen towers were represented at the Barnsley Society's monthly meeting on July 15 th at Wath-on-Dearne. Mr. Noel F. Moxon presided at the business meeting, during which the vote of thanks was proposed from the chair and seconded by Mr. David Smith. Mr Brian Heppenstall responded on hehalf of the local company
Next meeting: Wraghy, near Wakefield August llth.

FIRST RING OF TWELVE IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE

Southwell Minster Has Lost Its Cat Walk

DRIOR to 1897 there was a ring of eight bells, with the tenor weighing rather more than 26 cwt., at Southwell Minster the ring originally having been cast by Rudhall in 1721. In 1819. however, the fourth and fifth bells were recast by Mears, who also recast the second bell in 1841. This ring of eight bells was rehung in 1894 by Taylor's, who, in 1897. cast two new bells. One being a note above the treble and the other between the second and third for the purpose of allowing more tunes to be played on the carillon machine In 1929 Taylor's rehung the bells on ball bearings.
For some years there has been a scheme on foot to provide the Diocese with its first ring of 12. and this has now been made possible by the generosity of Sir Stuart Goodwin. of Farnsfield.

The eight bells of the old ringing ring with the addition of extra metal have been recast into 11 bells and the two carillon bells have been incorporated. thus making a ring of 12, tenor nearly $25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in 1), with a flat sixth. The hells have bsen equipped with new ringing fittings throughout and the necessary extension made to the old timber bell frame.

ALL THAT COULD BE DESIRED

Those who have rung here in years gone by no doubt remember the cat-walk round the walls of the ringing room when one could look down into the depths to the ground some 70 feet below, a rather disturbing feature to those who are afraid of heights. This has been altered and a handsome new ringing chamber floor installed which covers the complete area of the tower, so ringing conditions are now all that could be desired and the sound of the bells as heard both inside and outside the tower is excellent.
The dedication of the bells took place on Whit Saturday. June 9th, by the Bishop of Southwell (Rt. Rev. F. Russell Barry), attended by the Provest of Southwell. the Archdeacons of Nottingham and Newark and most of the Cathedral Chapter. This was a very happy occasion because at the same service the installation of a new Canon (Canon Bryan) took place.

Although the old bells were removed as long ago as January, 1960. and the new ones ready for hanging several months ago. the final arrangements were made very hastily. The opening date had been altered several times and was finally officially fixed about a fort night before the actual day.

This being so. many of the local ringers and Southwell Diocesan Guild officers were unable to attend owing to other commitments. However, the Guild's chairman (Canon R. F. Wilkinson, M.A.) was present but was not able to ring owing to jll-health. As one of the founders of the Southwell Guild it must have been a great joy to him to heas 12 bells ringing in Nottinghamshire for the first time in history. The leader of the Minster ringers, Mr. G. E. Fosler, was ill in bed and so missed a great day he had waited so long to see.

DONOR MEETS RINGERS

The dedication rounds (on the middle eight) and the opening rounds on 12 were rung by founder members and junior members of the Guild. and afterwards the Bishop and Sir Stuart Goodwin, accompanied by many of the clergy and congregation. climbed to the new ringing chamber and met the ringers.

Sir Stuart presented each of the ringers of the opening rounds with a Sheffield steel pocket knife as a memento. (It is not recorded how many halfpennies were handed over in exchange!) The vice-chaprman (Mr. F. W Midwinter. of Newark) thanked Sir Stuart for his magnificent gift in covering the cost of the bells. On behalf of the ringers present and all the Guild members he hoped he would become an honorary vice-president of the Guild.

Ringing then took place in a variety of methods by a variety of ringers! All Districts of the Southwell Guild were represented, and visitors welcomed from the neighbouring Lincoln. Leicester. Derbyshire and Yorkshire counties. The bells, which still hang anticlockwise, are in a very good circle and 'go beautifully.
It is hoped to start monthly practice nights early in the autumn and, if possible, a meet ing mid-November. Meanwhile. we await the verdict of the experts who. no doubt. will now invade the old Minster sower in strength.

BELLRINGERS' PILGRIMAGE TO THE HOLY LAND

Next year a special party will be arranged fo: bellringers to visit the Holy Land. This journey of a lifetime, will leave on August 1st. 1963, returning on August 15th. The com plete cost is 110 guineas and can be paid by ristalments if desired. As the normal air fare to Tel-Aviv is over $£ 140$-this complete tour is an opportunity not to be missed.

The journey will be by Jet air-liner direct to Tel-Aviv. The first week will be spent by the Sea of Galilee at Tiberias. when the whole coast of Galilee and inland-Cana and Nazareth. Mt. Tabor, Caesaria and many other places will be visited. The second week will be centred at Jerusalem and visits will be arranged to Bethlehem. Jericho. River Jordan arranged to Bethlehem, Jericho, River Jordan and Mount of Olives.
Due to the great demand for a limited capacity of places, it will be necessary to register names at once, and a waiting list will $b=$ formed when the available places have been filled. Applications should be made to Mr. G. E. Houseley. Holy Land Advice Centre, 6. Borrowdale Avenue, Ipswich.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TOWER REFUSALS

Dear Sir,-I feel very strongly that the letter from Mr. G. Dodd ('R.W:' July 13th), in which he refers to the rarity of refusals to visiting bands, and 'These tower captain are given the cold shoulder,' calls for a little comment from a tower captain who has reluctantly had to issue a number of refusals this summer (always in agrement with the Vicar).
Goring bells are a light, easy-going eight, and we have a lat of visitors every summer.

Recently we had five applications for visits to take place within eight days, one of them for a peal.

If Mr. Dodd understands the importance of good relations with the people living near the church, he will realise that all these requests could not be granted, especially as the bells are rung twice every Sunday, and a weekly practice as well. Also, there is always the possibility of a wedding or ather service having been arranged for the time of the suggested visit.
Finally, I would like to assure all those who have been unlucky in their attempts to visit Goring that we do welcome vis:tors, and that they have only been refused because of the number of applications, and we want to be able to go on having a reasonable number of visits and remain on good terms with the local residents. My advice is, apply in good time, as it is 'First come, first served.'-Yours faithfully,

> L. G. HAINES (Tower Captain).

Goring-on-Thames, Reading.

SPLICED EXTENTS WANTED

Dear Sir,-May I make a request to the Spliced Minor ringers of Essex and Swindon for them hoth to publish the spliced extents used in their recent peals. In particular I am thinking of those extents, including methods with 1236 places made within the lead, e.g. Buxton. Rodbourne, Tollesbury and Danbury. I noted that in one of the Essex peals there was a Spliced T.B. extent in 25 methods and it is to be hoped that no more than five bobs, if any at all, were used, since I believe that there must he at least one plain lead of every method if the peal is to be recognised by the Central Council. Firstly, however, could we have these extents published as $I$ know there are several ringers, inoluding myself, who keep records of spliced extents, and I, personally, would like to get my collection up to date.Yours sincerely,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.
Putney.
PS.-Now that Llanfair P.G. Surprise Major has had to be rung, I expect in the near future we shall be ringing such methods as Ob or Ur Surprise Major, or maybe even Yü-tien-hsien or Dneprodzerzhinsk Surprise Major.
'Es wandelt, was wir schaven, Tag sinkt ins Abendrot, Die Lust hat eignes Grauen, Und alles hat den Tod.'-J. von Erchendorff.

THE ORIGINAL

Dear Sir,-Re "Musical Quarter from the Original,' July 6th. This appeared with a full quarter in "The Ringing World," about early Autumn, 1930. and was rung at Worsley last March, the bells being called Before from the second. It is noted your correspondent uses the second as observation bell. as it is never called Before or in the hunt for a full course. This may be an advantage, but as one who has to struggle hard with the composition, I would not like to comment further.-Yours sincerely.
D. 'Cee.' VINCENT.

' MAJOR' SURPRISE IN MINOR PEAL ATTEMPT  After an hour's ringing in a Minor peal attempt at Blunhan, Beds, recently, there appeared a gap between the tenor ringer's belt and trousers, which it was supposed to be supporting. The ultimate "downfall" of this garment brought a corresponding downfall of the peal attempt; the band being youthful and undisciplined were unable to withhold their laughter when the garment eventually reached the floor.  The owner of the trousens was Martin Major.

DOWN CAME THF, LAMP

Dear Sir, The article by Mr. Frank Cheney in the 'R.W.' (page 459) takes my memory back to 1897, to an incident that occurred in Warsop Parish Church. We were practicing Minmus on the four old bells and the ringing was operated from the ground floor, with no guides for well over 25 feet. The only available light was from a double-burner brass paraffin lamp, which was suspended by a long chain. We were going very nicely, when Mr. ? (he is now Rector's warden) allowed his rope to mingle with the lamp chain. Down came the lamp, crashing to the floor, and fortunately out went the golden flame. Stand, was called, but all present decided the best 'course' was to hug the tower walls until all fear of being hanged had vanished.
In 1913, J. Taylor and Co. recast the bells, and a ringing room, 25 feet higher up the tower provided, which was lighted by gas. Years later, a hoy named H. T. Rooke learned to sing here and soon became very efficient. He is now captain. With electricity replacing gas, two nice tenors added, a clean and cheerful ringing room, a goodly number of keen ringers, who make all visitors welof keen ringers, who make all visitors

In conclusion, I would like to say that during the 1914-18 war years, a dear friend, the late Ernest Morris, was almost a weekly visitor both in the belfry and choir.-Yours faithfutly,

'RINGING WORLD' DFADWOODS

Dear Sir- ' Ringing World' Deadwoods? I didn't think there were any of them left, especially after the struggle "The Ringing World' has had of late, and the perfection it has attained. Something for everybody, from cover to cover.
Can there still be those who condemn what they consider, and call destructive criticism, but are full of it themselves. What more destructive criticism. of 'The Ringing World,' could there be than that of R. Beale, Taunton? He find the 'R.W.' too costly; such a highly specialised paper, catering for pealers, quarter pealers, meetings, outings, correspondence, advertisers, ofc. Why, almost every youngster today spends more than the 'R.W.' costs -8.007 d . on comics. If Mr. Beale will join us when (D.V.) the Railwaymen's Guild visits Taunton for its autumn meeting, September 29 th, I will bring with me my 'Dossier of Bits and Pieces? with just a few interesting bits I have had n-and out of-' The Ringing World.'
Moral.- You only get what you want, do, and make, what you pay for.
And after all, $8 \frac{1}{2} d . ?-Y o u r s$, etc.,
W. FRANK STENSON.

ALFRED BOWELL'S IPSWICH BELL FOUNDRY

Dear Sir,-With regard to Alfred Bowell's Ipswich foundry. I believe it is conreot to state that his last bell is heard ringing in the tower at Doddington Church. Cambridgeshire. It forms the tenor of a light ring of six and weighs approximately $8 \frac{1}{1}$ cwt.-Yours, etc.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Sheffield and District Society chose a fine day for their tour of Derbyshire. The first tower was Edensor, in the beautiful surroundings of Chatsworth Park, and, although 13 members met at this tower, the number did not prove unlucky, as good touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge were rung on the pleasant six.
More members joined the party at Darley Dale, where we were welcomed by Mr. J. Frank Smallwood. After some very good ringing on this grand eight, a course of Yorkshire was rung, and a break was made for lunch.

The afternoon's ringing was at Great Longstone, a very musical six, and Burbage, where the six bells had just been rehung on ball bearings. They sounded very pleasing, especially when a good course of London was rung. The last tower was Fairfield, where the day was finished off in a blaze of glary with touches of Double Norwich and Bristol.
This was the first tour of the Sheffield and District Society, and Mr. J. Seager is to be congratulated on his brilliant organisation.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

T
THE 72nd annual meeting of the Society was held at Lichfield on June 23rd Last and the proceedings commenced in the tradicional way, with ringing on the excellent ring of 10 bells at the Cathedral, and the lighter ring of six at St. Michael's Church. At the latter, the Society's president, the Archdeacon of Stafford (the Ven. Basil Stratton), conducted the Society's form of Evensong, and the address was given by the Rector of St. Chad's, Lichfield.
At the Women's Institute Hall in Lombard Street, two lady members of the Cathedral band, together with several willing helpers (of both sexes), from elsewhere in the Archdeaconry, had prepared an excellent tea, to which full justice was done.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, who, after having taken all minutes as read, and noting apologies, asked Mr. E. E. Speak, honorary auditor, to present the accounts as the honorary treasurer, Mr. F. Bfotherton, was unavoidably absent. Mr. Speak, announced the Society was now in a much improved state financially, and explained why this was so, and how its money had been spent.

The acting honorary secretary presented the year's report on behalf of the committee. Briefly this showed that all was well with the Society in general, with new membership, attendance at meetings and peal ringing keeping to a healthy level. On the last subject it appeared that approximately 50 peals had been rung during the year (unfortunately none on handbells), which included two of Cambridge Royal, six new Surprise Major methods for the Society, and one each of London Surprise and Canterbury Delight Minor. In addition a similar number of quarter peals have been rung throughout the Archdeaconry, several by resident Sunday bands for services; an activity to be encouraged.
Both the Society's Central Council representatives, Messrs. B. G. Key and G. W. Hughes, spoke of the cordial welcome they had received at the recent meeting of the Council at Cardiff. Nothing directly concerning the Society appeared to have been discussed. The election of the following officers was then made: Ringing Master, Mr. J. S. Eastwood : Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. R. J. Warrilow sen.; honorary treasurer, Mr. J. H. Allen (Mr. F. Brotherton having asked to be relieved of the post, which he had held for ten years) : honorary secretary, Mr. C. M. Smith ; annual dinner secretary, Mr. B. G. Key; honorary auditor, Mr. E. E. Speake ; Central Council representatives, Messrs. B. G. Key and G. W. Hughes.

FORTHCOMING PROGRAMMES

Circumstances allowing, the following programme of forthcoming meetings was agreed to: September 15th, Lichfield Diocesan festival to be held at Shrewobury; October 20th, Shenstone (by invitation) ; January 20th, 1963, Tettenhall; March 23rd, Kingswinford; May 11th. Needwood and Newborough, whilst the annual would be at Lichfield, on June 22nd. Some discussion took place as to whether the Society should break with jts tradition of always holding the annual meeting in Lichfield. It was finally agreed that at least next year's A.G.M. should be in Lichfield, provided every effort was made to get a bellringers' service held in the Cathedral. The Archdeacon promised to do all he could and felt that this would be possible.
In addition to the above meetings it was also agreed to hold a series of monthly Saturday evening practices and it was left to the honorary secretary to arrange these. Beginning in August, these will take place in a viriety of towers throughout the Archdeaconry on the last Saturday of each month, and learners, unable to arrange ringing for themselves, will be especially welcome. These practices will be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

The following new resident members were elected: W. Blake (Walsall), R. Stanley (Stafford), G. Howells and G. Cadwallader (Wednesbury), Miss K. Moore (Little Aston), C. Elson (Lichfield Cathedral), Miss D. Toon and G. Linford (Stretton), J. Cranmer (Willenhall), C. Smallman and Miss B. Wiggin (Gnosall).
During his closing remarks, the Archdeacon of Stafford thanked all members who had helped in keeping the Society active, and he particularly made a point of mentioning Mr . F. Brotherton and Mr. D. J. Tranter for ali the work they had done in the past as honorary treasurer and honorary general secretary respectively.
The day concluded with ringing available for two hours at the Cathedral and in addition on the bells of St. Mary's. St. Michael's and St. Chad's Churches in Lichfield.

ENTHUSIASM STIRRED IN BEDFORDSHIRE

As the Biggleswade District were holding an evening meeting on July 14 th, some more enthusjastic members decided there was ample time during the day for a couple of peal attempts Ringing commenced on the light six at Flitton at approximately 9 a.m.. but soon came to a halt after a miscall in Single Court. The idea of ringing seven methods was scrapped and it was decided to ring Single Oxford Bob as a substitute. This was successful and enabled all the band to ring their first peal in the method.

After lunch we all assembled at Willington fo: the afternoon attempt. Kevin Barnes was substituted for David Saunderson and a good peal of Oxford Treble Bob was scared. This again being the first peal in the method by a'l the band.

LATE NEWS

We regret to report the death of Mr. Frederick W. Tillett, aged 84, of Ipswich.
Veterans of the Norwich Diocesan Association have made history. A peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung at Great Yarmouth on July 5 th , in which each member of the band had 50 or more years membership of the Association. It was conducted by Mr . George E. Symonds, in honour of his 87 th birthday his 55 th wedding anniversary and the birth of his great grandson.

OBITUARY

MR. S. FLINT

The death occurred at the end of June of Mr. Sydney Flint, of Maghull, near Liverpool, an old member of the Lancashire Association. He had been in indifferent heahh for some time, but was a remarkable man for his 83 years.
Sydney served his apprenticeship as a wheelwright in Aughton, near Ormskirk, where he learned to ring on the four bells of Aughton Parish Church, which were augmented to six in 1935. For the past 16 years he had been a regular ringer at Sefton Parish Church. He retired from business in 1934 and went to reside at Dersingham, in Norfolk, where he became associated with Mr . N . Golden, and rang many peals in that district. Altogether he rang over 60 peals, mostly on six bells.

He was an expert wood carver and some excellent peal boards can be scen in Sefton, Halsall, Aughton Parish Church and Aughton Christ Church. In Sefton Church there is a beautiful hymn desk which he carved. He was buried in the churchyard of Aughton Parish Church, carried by his fellow ringers.

To his memory 1,260 Stedman Triples was rung at Aughton on June 27th, with the bells half muffled. The ringers wore: J. Marsh (cond.) 1, J. R. Lunham 2, D. Jones 3, C. Byard 4, E. Asheroft 5. T. Rothwell 6, K. Rothwell 7, H. Mooscroft 8.

MISS MARGARET SNOWDON

It is with great regret that we have to report the death on July 20th of Miss Margaret Snowdon. Daughter of William and niece of Jasper Snowdon and a life member of the Central Council, her name will ever be associated with the Snowdon series of ringing text books. We hope to publish an appreciation next week.

THE SMITHS  THE STORY OF A RINGING FAMILY By I. N. QUICK

The Hexworth band, led by Jue Smith, head ringer, Annie his wife, Phyllis and John, his son and daughter, are participuting in the Guild's anmual outing. South Lincolnshire has been reached. Read on:
Eventually it became evident that they were approaching the tulip fields as several junctions along the route bore a painted board bearing an arrow and the words. To the tulip fields.' At one of these the leading bus turned off, to be followed by its companion, and before long they were in the middle of a blaze of colour with tulips stretching in coloured strips, several yards wide, towards the horizon. There were reds, yellows, whites, with all the shades in between, and some that were almost black.
The coaches stopped and the passengers alighted, some merely to stretch their limbs and gaze around, others to buy bunches of flowers to take home. Edward Lee brought out the handbells and a course of Bob Major was rung in the open air, with, of course, the usual audience of interested bystanders. Joe, who was not ringing, listened with enjoyment.

A BOYHOOD MEMORY

He remembered as a boy of about 12 years of age, going to a meeting at Renthorpe with twe other boys of about the same age, one of whom was William. Alf three of them had been taught to ring handbells by an old Hexworth ringer called John Stokes, during a period when the bells at the church were being recast and rehung. Old John took them to the meeting and, although at that time none of them could ring changes on tower-bells, he contrived that they should ring a course of Bob Minor on the handbells during the interval between the clearing away of the tea things and the beginning of the business meeting. John was very proud of his meeting.
For some reason or other they mised the train home (there were no buses on that route at that time) and the four of them decided to walk home, a distance of five or six miles. It was a beautiful moolight night and they went along quite happily. For a considerable part of the way their journey took them along the side of the canal, which wound its way alternately along through open country and then through deep cuttings shrouded with trees.
The world was perfect and, it seemed, but for them deserted. All four were in the church choir and John had a rich tenor voice. They sang hymns and snatches of Caleb Simper's "The Rolling Seasons" which helped to fill the church every harvest festival. and items from the same composer's 'King of Kings: which proved a similar attraction at Eastertide: solos and choruses from Stainer's 'Crucifixtion' were added for good measure as they wem happily on their way, passing the carpet bag which contained the handbells from one to another at intervals as they went.

At one point, where the canal passed hrough a deep cutting in the middle of a through a deep cutting in the middle of a fairly large wood they paused near a high fairly large wood they paused near a high bridge, half buried it seemed from below in the trees above. took out the handbells and rang a course of Bob Major with the bells gleaming and glancing in the light of the moon. It was, to Joe, a moment of undescrib-able beauty, and one which he would rememable beauty, and one which te would remember as long as he lived. The moonlight filtering through the interlacing canony of leaves making dancing patterns on the water, the 'plop' of a fish as it leaped to snatch a passing insect, the gentle sough of the the handbells as it echoed under the arches, apparently magnified and intensified; never again was he to hear the sound of handbells in the open air without remembering this occasion.

Boston was reached about 4.15 p.m. and tea was held, as arranged, in a cafe not far from the church. The magnificent 15 th century tower was visible through the windows and after tea there was a general movement in its direction, where the party was met by the head ringer and made the long ascent to the ringing chamber.

ANNIE'S EXPERIENCES OF TOWERS
'Are you coming up the tower?' Joe asked Annie.
'Yes, indeed,' she replied. 'I shan't stay uv very long. I shall be wandering about inside the church when you have finished.'
She always enjoyed looking round a church in which she had never been before, and loved going in a strange belfry or up a strange tower. Many of them, she tower. Many of them, she thought, very similar in design, but each had individuality; some held peculiar surprises.
At Patrington, that 'decorated' masterpiece, she had walked, a trifle ansteadily perhaps, up the transept roof and crawled along the 'cat-walk' (as she called it), that rang across the tie-beams of the roof trusses: she had made the long trek at Canterbury Cathedral; she had gazed in awe down the vast square hole that formed the middle of the old Southwell ringing chamber and playfully offered nuts to Joe through the protective meshing.
She had been in belfries so small that ringers on opposite sides sometimes got their ropes entangled, and others, such as Tewkesbury. so large that a ring of bells occupied but a fraction of the belfry and was tucked away in a corner: she had climbed 30 or 40 feet up a perpendicular iron ladder fastened on the inside of the tower wall (' a frightening experience' as she confessed to Joe afterwards), and had walked, almost double, along passages cunningly contrived and wonderfullv executed in the stone fabric: she had mounted wooden ladders, wooden steps. stone steps, concrete, granite and marble steps, always with enjoyment and always with a sense of expectancy.
Someono ought to write a book. she thought. or a series of articles in the 'R.W.' entithed: "Belfiries and their Ingresses and Egresses.' Perhaps someone already had. though she had never heard of it: it would make fascinating reading.

185 STEPS

When they arrived at the top of the steps and entered the ringing chamber Edgar Pettigrew was entering a note in a little black pocket book.

' How many?’ inquired Joe.

'One hundred and eighty-five,' answered Edgar.

It was his little quirk to keep a record of the number of steps up to the tower of any belfry into which he entered. He already knew the number of steps at any tower in the Guild, and these outings provided the opportunity for greater scope. If, for any reason. he couldn't go himself, he appointed a deputy providing he could pin someone down to the task, and woe betide the unlucky one who forgot to count.
Whilst they were ringing a touch of Bob Major Annie went up to the parapet below the lantern anl looked out acrass the countryside from her unrivalled viewpoint. Below the Witham wound its way to the sea. It almost seemed from above as though it was almost seemed from above as though it was pissing, but a few feet from the bottom of the tower. Indeed. Mr. Challen. who had also come up to enjoy the view. told her that a man had one tried to dive into the "Haven." as this part of the river is called, from the top of the tower, but had been dashed to death on the stone pavement that spanned the distance between the church and the river. How much truth there was in this story she didn't know; she intended to ask the head ringer afterwards but forgot.

JEAN INGLOW

After a while Anne descended. She peeped into the ringing chamber on her way down and saw that Joe was calling some Little Bob Royal, with his offsprings, one on either side of him. When she reached the bottom she wandered off down the aistes admiring the magnificent interior, and then sought out the north-aisle window in which Jean Ingelow was remembered in company with two other Boston women.

> A sweeter woman ne eer drew breath

Than my sonne's wife, Elizabeth
Annie murmured these lines softly 10 herself and was surprised to hear Mr. Challen's voice jusi behind her.

And dids't thou visit him no more?
Thou dids't, thou dids't, my daughter deare ;
The waters baid thee at his doore
Ere yet the early dawn was clear.
She smiled and finished off the stanza
Thy pretty bairns in fast embrace.
The lifted sun shone on thy face,
Downe drifted to thy dwelling pplace.'
'A Jean Ingelow fan, Mrs. Smith?' inquired Mr. Challen,
"A "High Tide" fan!' she replied. "I'm afraid that's all I know of hers, and I shouldn't have known that only John e did it for an examination at school. I learnt it off by heart; I believe I derived mare enjoyment from it than John did.

Which is hardly sumprising. You didn't have to learn it!'

- I was rather disappointed at first when Joe told me that the incident and the tune "The Brides of Enderby." which is "played" on the bells were fictitious, but I have long since forgiven Jean Ingelow for the deception. The poem must have given pleasure to thousands of people.'

Mr. Challen nodded, 'Indeed it must,' he said.

BABBACOMBE, DEVON

All Saints. Babbacombe ringers enjoyed their sixth annual outing into East Devon on June 16th. At the first stop, Sowton, Stedman Triples was rung with the help of a local ringer, remembering that the first peal on the bells was in this method, by the Rev. F. E. Robinson's band in 1883.

At Clyst Honiton rounds rung at a slow pace revealed true glory of these fine bells and well struck touches of Bob Minor and Grandsire Triples preceded a good fall. The Wrong road was taken by some making for Ottery St. Mary and their final humiliation was when the track ended in a five bar gate! The bells of Ottery St. Mary were a delight, and it was also a pleasure to have in attendance Miss Allin, an honorary life member of the Devon Guild. Honiton (St. Paul's) bells were fine and the interesting access to the belfry noled.
A pienic lunch was taken in the churchyard of Honiton Old Church. Bill Simmands thought that a $22 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ six here was too good to miss and, after obtaining the key from the lodge. the overpowering roar of the ancient ring was sounding out to a six-score of Grandsire Doubles.
A fine rise and near perfect 209 Grandsire Triples at Axminster did justice to a wonderpresident. Preb. E. V. Cox. It was the present fifth bell here that was claimed as a deodand by the King in 1662-300 years after a certain John Brocas was strangled when ringing this bell. The judges dismissed the claim, and fortunately none of our band who rang this bell suffered any ill, although the captain's three-year-old daughter, Caroline, sitting on a bench behind the ringer of the fifth was found to be fast asleep in an upright and cross legged position.
A heavy six ( $19 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) at Awliscombe did not prove as musical as expected. After tea in Cullompton, the 10 bells of All Saints Church were raised singly and a call change peal rung. Other towers visited were Broadwinch. Silverton and Broadclyst, and in the beautifully kept belfry of the last mentioned tower the 209 Grandsire Triples was the finest ringing of the day. A successful and memorable day.

EXETER CATHEDRAL

Some 26 ringers and friends left the Cathedral Close at 8.15 a.m. on July 7th for Poole. where, after an unavoidable delay, Grandsire Caters was rung. This was followed by an excellent lunch.
The next tower was Chnistchurch Priory, where Grandsire Caters and Cinques were rung prior to a wedding. A disappointment wals that St. John's, Surrey Road, bells were not available, but Bournemouth's amenities were adequate. The Highlight of the day was Wimbourne Minster, where most of the band had recollections of a previous visit. It was here that 'Sir' excelled himself by calling three courses of Stedman Caters, and also in ringing two handbells the size of buckets to a short course. Exeter was reached just before 11 p.m., a brief stop having been made at Bridport.

STRATTON, CORNWALL

On Whit Monday Seratton, Cornwall, ringers with their friends gathered together at 7 a.m. to embark on their second outing this year. Ringing commenced at 9 a.m. at St. Columb Major. and after an hour the journey was continued to Carbis Bay. Here the light 10 were enjoyed for three quarters of an hour. The next call was at Falmouth, for lunch, to which everyone did full justice.

Two towers were visited in the afternoon, viz.: St. Badock and St. Gluvias, and then a return visit fo Falmouth for tea. During the evening ringing was at Perran-an-Worthal and Kea.
All through the day the ringing was of a very fair standard with several touches that were particukarly satisfying. At most towers we were met by a few of the local ringers and they too joined in.
A hearty vote of thanks is extended to all incumbents and captains, and to "Henry." who organised the trip and supervised the whole affair.
We ad a good day, I tell 'ee.
G. T. J.

OUTINGS

STAVELEY, DERBY

On Saturday, June 2nd, the xingers of St. John the Baptist, Staveley, together with friends and ringers from Chesterfield and Old Brampton, held their ringing outing into Nottinghamshire. The first tower to be visited was SS. Peter and Paul, Warsop, where, on trying to raise this six in peal, they soon found that the bells were alieady up! However, in spite of this bad start and the distraction of a pendulum swinging in between the ringers, some quite reasonable ringing ensued.

Leaving this stronghold of good striking, we then rang on the rather odd-struck eight at Worksop Priory, followed by the handy six at Gamston, where Harold Denman joined us for some Grandsire and Plain Bob. A short trip to Tuxford for tea at the Newcastle Arms was next on the agenda.
Suitably replenished, we then journeyed to Sutton-on-Trent, where the Misses Bunchnadls, looking as young as ever, met us and joined us in some Little and Plain Bob Major, before the final tower of the day, the six at North Muskham, with its steel spiral staircase. Our thanks for the excellent day's outing must go to the organiser, Fred Adams, and to all incumbents of the towers visited. M. P. P.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL

The annual outing of the Cathedral company took place on June 23 rd . when we were fortunate in having a beautiful day.
The long journey to Watford passed uneventfully, except for an emergency stop. a short stop in Baldock and difficulties experienced in trying to turn the bus round at Watford. Unfortunately, we were about 40 watford. Untortunately, we were about 40 are due to the local ringers for being patient and for allowing us to extend our time.

We were joined at Watford by Walter Ayre, Peter Sharp and Claire Dillamore, all of whom continued with us on the journey to St . Albans, where we rang on the ten in the Church of St. Peter, and had tea at the Water End Barn Restaurant. After this leisurely meal we baarded the bus for Luton; here the ten bells proved the best of the day and were much enjoyed.
En route for home, we stopped at St. Neots, so that Claire and her friend could catch a bus back to Cambridge, but also so that we could stretch our legs, visit the Jocal hostelries and procure the inevitable fish and chips. Lincoln was reached about 11.30 pm ., after a most enjoyable day. The methods rung were : Cambridge, Yorkshire and Lincoln Surprise Royal, Little Bob Royal, Grandsire, Stedman, Erin and Double Norwich Caters. G. P.

LUTON, BEDS

Luton Parish Church ringers made a good start for their long journey to Chichester on July 7th; the scenery in this charming part of England looked at ils best. The party included the Vicar of Luton (Rev. H. E. Frankham) and Mrs. Frankham, and also ringing friends from Maulden, Woburn, Harpenden and Totternhoe.

The weather was most favourable, and, whilst the ringers were enjoying themselves on the bells of Chichester Cathedral, Portsmouth Cathedral. Portsea and, Aldershot, others, whose interests lay more in sightseeing, found plenty to enthuse over in the many places of historic and aesthetic interest.

The return journey was made in very high spirits, with a variety of vocal music coming from the younger element in the back of the coach.
inincere thanks to the Dean of Chichester, the Provost of Portsmouth and the incumbents of Portsea and Aldershot for the privilege of ringing on some very fine bells, and a special 'Thank you' to the local ringers who received us so warmly.

A peal of eleven Spliced Royal methods was rung at Warsley on June 14th. This is the greatest number of Roy peal Mr. Derek Ogden called position. Congratulations all round.

A young learner at Arlesey, Beds, ringing a 'tied' bell for the first time: 'Oh, has my bell got a silencer on it?'

A quarter peal was rung at Appleford, Berks, o. July 13 th to mark the end of the G.C.E. examinations.

Mr. C. J. Wimlett took part in the quarter peal at Longparish, Hants, rung in recognition of the M.B.E. being conferred upon him. It was his first quarter.

Miss Catherine Slater, whose first peal was at Wragby, Yorks, is the first of the new Crofton band to ring one. The captain of the band, Miss Dorothy Jackson, is due for one with several others almost seady.

Swaffham Prior has two churches in one churchyard. The bells hang in the tower of the ruined church of SS. Cyriac and Julietta, while services are held in St. Mary's Church, which has a partly ruined tower.
Two of the Groton boys mentioned in our last issue have already scored quarter peals. This took place while ringing with Radley College Campanological Society at Radley Church on July 3rd.

Four 'generations" associated with Mr. Lewis H. Bywaters, of Henlow, Beds, took pant in a peal at Southill on June 30th. He taught Raymond Fuller, Philip Mehew and Martin Major to ring, and Philip Mehew is now following his example as David Saunderson is one of his learners at Stotfold.

Miss Jill Swanne, whose home is at Carbis Bay and who learnt to ring there and then improved upon it with. the Southampion University Guild, is leaving for Wellington, New Zealand, to take up a three year teaching appointment. She has recently been teaching at Folkestone, where she rang in a farewell quarter peal as she also did at Carbis Bay. She is looking forward to continuing her ringing at Wellington.

BEL.FRY GOSSIP

 of Slough, Bucks, began bis year by calling a peal of Stedman Triples. He has followed up this achievement by conduoting, for his second attempt, J. J. Parker's One-Part peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Margaret's, Uxbridge, on July 11th. He did so in the same masterly way as he conducted his previous peal-quite an auspicious 'goingoff course' to a ringing career.:Mr. Kenneth Arthur has 'circled. Fenham, his home tower, to peals. He is the first person to do so.

The first peal of Stedman Cinques "in hand * by a resident band has been rung for the Yorkshire Association.

The recent peal at Campton, Bedfordshire, is believed to be only the second peal on the bells since 1927, there being a peal in 1953.
Miss Gillian Walsh is believed to be the first lady ringer to conduot a quarter pead in the tower of St. Lawrence's, Lechlade-onThames. The band offer their congratulations on a fine effort.
A correspondent would like to remind London University Society's correspondent (page 461) that Christ Church, Port Sunlight, was an undenominational church many years before Gravesend.
Miss I. Margaret Lemare, of York, who was christened at St. Margaret's, Westminster, during the time her father was organist at the church, rang a quarter peal of Stedman Caters there on July 15 th with a number of London veterans. who expressed their approval of the performance. Bill Hewett sat as umpire.
After the needs of the Sunday School procession of witness had been supplied St. James', Barrow-in-Furness, found its team almost denuded of ringers. From the belfry had come one churchwarden and a deputy warden. three banner bearers, a Cubmaster, and also a veteran who marched round the parish. Ringers of Dalton-in-Furness and from Flookburgh came to their aid and a quarter peal was scored. The Church of St. James is appreciative of such good fellowship.

OUTINGS

KIRKBY-IN-ASHFIELD, NOTTS
A party of ringers and friends set out from Kirkby-in-Ashfield on July 7th, determined, despite some black clouds, to enjoy the outing to the Loughborough Bell Foundry and eight other towers.
The bell foundry justified everything anticipated and it was an experience to ring on the Foundry Campanile

Churches visited during the course of the day were: Hathern, Diseworth, Sutton Boning ton. Gotham. Attenborough, Clifton. Barton and Thrumpton. The methods rung ranged from Plain Bab Doubles and Minor to Ken Treble Bob and Stedman Doubles.

The day was brought to a close by three of the party ot ringers visiting Ruddington and hiving a short ring.
T.E.S.

APSLEY, HERTS

St. Mary's. Apsley, and their many friends always hold their outing on the last Saturday in June. This year, favoured by glorious sun shine, the day was spent in Suffolk. Kedingtoin (6), a church possessing some wonderful woodwork, was the first stop. Then came Bury St. Edmunds Cathedral, where rounds Grandsire Caters. Bob Royal and Cambridge Royal were enjoyed.

YOUR RENEWAL IS OVERDUE?
Remit today to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall.
Rates: three months 9s. 6d., six months 18s., tweive months E 1 15 .

An excellent lunch was a good preparation for the afternoon's efforts. After the six at Buxhall. Bristol was included in the methods rung at Bures. This earned a good tea. The long draught at Earl's Colne proved to be a little difficult for some, but Stedman. Double Norwich and Single Oxford were rung. That wonderful little musical box' at Hatfield Heath. tenor only $4 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., was a delight A social hour followed and another outing was over excapt for the journey home.
Special thanks go to Walter Ayre for planning and arranging the day. We hope the get well' card. sent at tea time to an absen friend, will have its effect.

LATE NEWS

We regret to report the death on July 14 th of Mr. Horace E. C. Goodenough, singer at St. Albans Abhey for 52 years and conductor for 32 years. He was 75 years of age.

We are pleased to learn that the first quarter peal has been rung on the bells of the Cathedral Church of St. Mary and All Saints Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia. It was 1,279 Grandsire Doubles. conducted hy Mr. C . Stevenson.

Mr. Claude Tarr. captain of Milverton tower, has heen in hospital at Musgrove Park. Taunton, for the past few weeks. The latest new's of him is that he is making good progress. He sends his warmest thanks to all his ringing friends who have remembered him with such kindness while he has been in hospital.

St. Wendreda's, March, Visit Norfolk Broads

ST. WENDREDA'S, MARCH

For ten years the bellringers of St Wendreda's Church. March, have held outings to various parts of East Anglia and the Midlands and have rung bells at many churches
The circle of campanological operations is gradually expanding and fresh pastures are indicated. On July 7 th over 20 people left March town. in the watery Fenlands, for another aquatic area: the Norfolk Broads They visited the small church at Buxton, where the six bells were put to good use, and then proceeded to Wroxham and rang the bells at the parish church, thus developing a good appetite for lunch beside the attractive River Yar.

The day was warm and toright. and having refreshed themselves the tourists hired. for the afternoon. 'The Broadland Belle.' a comfortable motor-launch. and made their way 11 miles down-stream to Ranworth Church, known as the 'Queen of the Broads.' Here they studied several interesting items, including a priceless manuscript called the Sarum Antiphoner. produced in 1400 by the monks of Langley Abbey. The beautifully illustrated pages are a fascinating testimony to the patience and skill of the monks who worked the colours with the white of eggs and vegetable dyes.
Having rung the bells at Ranworth. the ringers boarded 'The Belle' and, in an hour-and-a-half, were back at Wroxham, where tea was obtained
Acle Church was next visited and six bells in the Saxon round tower were rung to a variety of methods

At Blofield. the party entered a most impressive church with an incredulously high flint tower. The ancient bells at Blofield were re-opened on Whit Monday, having been rehung at a cost of $£ 2.000$. They are a heavy ring and consequently the bells' musical qualities are very good indeed. A melodious fall' of this fine ring brought to an end a most enlightening and enjoyable day.
Methods rung were: Plain and Little Boh, Kent and Oxford T:B.. St. Clement's, Double Oxford and Stedman Doubles, not forgotting rounds for heginners Grateful thanks are extended to clergy and local ringers for permission to ring at their churches. and especial thanks to Mr. W. Love, of Norwich. for his helpful advice.

We are indebted to Trevor Bevis for the illustration

LICHFIELD CATHEDRAL

June 30th was the day put aside for the Lichfield Cathedral bellringers' outing to Yorkstire. We were accompanied by several friends from neighbouring towers.

By 11 am . We were in Pontefract. where we rang first of all at All Saints' Church, just out of the town. The tower contains a ring of eight bells with a tenor of 12 cwt . in F shanp, pleasant to ring and not very audible outside. Walking back to the town centre, we were met by the curate and head ringer of St. Giles'. A building of Georgian stvle. the tower contains a good ring of 10 bells from the Loughborough Foundry. cast in 1921, with a tenor of 18 cwt. in E . The belfry was a credit to the local bafd.
Packed lunch was eaten, whilst we proceeded to our main attraction, the City of York. At the Minster we were met by Mr. Harold Walker and other members of the York Minster company. who showed us up to the ringing room. where we rang the famous ring of 12 bells by Taylors, with its $59 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. ienor. Ringing started with call changes on 12 by method ringers, and then for an hour. prior to Evensong. Grandsire Caters, and Cambridge Royal, interspersed with call changes and touches on the lighter eights.' An excellent cooked meal having been enjoyed at the Windmill Hotel we walked to the Institute of Architectural Study and rang the six bells, tenor 9 cwt . in A flat, which to a musical ear sound rather jarring.

Leaving York. a short ride brought us to our last tower of the day. Selby Abbey. We were met by several young members of the local company and thoroughly enjoyed the hour we had on this excellent Taylor 10 (tenor $25 \frac{1}{2}$ ewt.): it is a pily they are not more audible in the ringing room. Lichfield was reached tat 11 p.m. Our thanks to Mr. Harold Walker and to all who contributed to our successful day.
C. M.S.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

An evening meeting was held at Eaton Socon on July 14 th. when nearly 30 ringers were present, including several learners. Mr. A Smith was Ringing Master, and methods rung ranged from rounds and Plain Bob to 1 .ondon Surprise Major. An attempt was also made at the special method. Longney Bob Major.

WANTAGE, BERKS

Despite a start, delayed by a torrential downpour-the first appreciable rain seen in the area for some weeks- The annual outing of the Wantage Parish Church bellringers, held on July 14 h . proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever held. The party, which was accompanied by the Vicar, consisted of 3 record number of 32 ringers and friends, including ringers at East Ilsley and Blewbury.

The furst stop was made at Kidlington, where touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major were rung. At Adderbury some quite good ringing did justice to the very fine ring of eight. By this time on a sultry afternoon all the party were in need of tea, which was taken at Banbury. During the meal we experienced the second heavy storm of the day. but this seemed to have no effect on the appetites of the party and mote Banbury cakes had to be ordered.

The rain had ceased by the time we left the cafe. and after a fleeting visit of inspection to the lovely Banbury Parish Church, we moved off for Hook Norton. We were just in time to get into the church before the rain came down for the third time. this time accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. The electric light completely failed just after we had started a touch of Kent Treble Botb Major. Nothing daunted. we carried on, although the only light came from one very small window and it was so dark that one could just see the outline of the persons at the opposite side of the belfry. The touch was successfully brought home. and also one of Stedman Triples, which gave us great satisfaction and did justice to another fine octave. The final ring was on the beautiful eight at Burford. where touches of Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major were rung. At each tower the several young recruits joined in ringing rounds.
On the way home, with the 'choir' in the front seats, ably supported by the Vicar, the company joined in the singing of many old favourites, and a few new ones.
We thank our friends from East Ilsley and Blewbury for their help and support. the ithcumbents who allowed us to ring. and our Vicar for his interest and encouragement.

POINTS FROM PEALS

By CANON K. W. H. FELSTEAD

coCOMMENCED my last article on this subject by saying that it was over a year since the previous one had appeared. It is not quite as bad this time--only 10 months, in fact!

First. may I express my gratitude to those who followed up the points I raised in that article, thereby clearing up some details in their or my records. I am not surprised that my suggesting to Mr. P. Amos that he substantiate his claim that other peals had been rung in his area really came to nothing. It brought the usual torrent of abuse and his opinion of how a parson ought to be spending his time. Apparently he ought not to have any hobby which is not related directly to church life-the teaching of how to ring or research into the history of bells, etc., is allowed, but not the keeping of records. But he did say he would look up his papers of about the time concerned at a charge of 4 s . 3 d . an hour, Everyone is entitled to his or her own opinion on any matters, and I am quite sure that Mr. Amos is not the only one who thinks the keeping of peal records is a waste of time, but it is a great pity when one who has done a great deal himself for ringing for many years allows his disagreement with something to go to such lengths. Perhaps some day I shall meet him-it will be rather interesting!

Now to the mention of particular towers for the usual reasons. Here is the list of towers where the first peals have been rung nearly all of them claimed as such. Launceston (St. Thomas'), Maidstone (St. Michael's), Church Leigh, Mawgan-in-Meneage, Gretton, Piddletrenthide, Coombe Bissett. Brookland. Childrey, Germansweek, Stockland (Bristol). High Offley. Scaldwell, Bratton Clovelly, Chetwynd, Evenlode, Minster-in-Thanet, Great Rissington, Shottesbrooke, Stoneleigh. Brent Tor. Dorney and Rise. So that is another 23 names to take off the list of unconquered towers. I said last time that there were just over 900 towers without a peal yet. Now it is under that figure. But of these, Dove's latest edition records 277 of them as unringable, so that number of towers where it is possible to ring the first peal must be just over 600 only. But what a pity that (with the towers which have been pealed and are now unringable) some 7 or $8 \%$ of the rings of bells in the country are not abie to be rung.

Since I last wrote, Birmingham Cathedral has had its 350th peal since 1881 (there were some before then, of course, of which I have come across 24). Bushey reached 300 on December 30th-I think that is its comnlete total. Ashton-under-Lyne, St. Peter's, recorded its 200th since 1881 on October 7th. I have also another 22 hefore that date, all rung in the 1870 's. Surfleet recently reached 150 (June 16 th). Several towers have reached their century these past few months. Reading. St. Lawrence. Twerton-onAvon (as claimed). Long Stanton (November 25th). Knebworth (December 30th), West Wycombe (February 3rd), Gillingham and Apsley End (February 17th). The last of these makes yet another 6 -bell tower which has reached this goal. St. Albans. St. Peter's. claimed their 100 th peal on the bells. but I made it the 101 st . Reaching 50 are Long Melford. Whickham. Eardisland, Ewerby, Dunmow. Burford. Goring-on-Thames and Brentford. A 5 -bell tower which is doing well is Pytchley. where the next peal will be the 25 th. Hammerwood is another such which has now reached double figures. I mentioned the 900 th at the Loughborough Bell Foundry last time. 950 has now been passed. despite the fact that none were rung during the last two months or so of last year, due to repairs to the tower (I hope it isn't the attempts at the 40.320 there which have had a had effect on it!). So we can expeft the 1,000 th in a few months time

Then we have rare visitors to the peal columns. The peal at Pillaton last December was rung to celebrate the first peal of Minor rung in Cornwall at that tower 50 years before. Actually that 1911 peal was the only previous peal on the bells, so that is the longest silence to note this time. Old Alresford also had not had a peal since before the first world war. The only one there before the recent one was in August, 1913. Shawley likewise. Three previous peals here before this year's-1893. 1900 and 1914. Epping has had a long silence for an 8-bell tower. Its two previous peals were Grandsire Triples in 1914 and London Surprise Major in 1919. The claim that the peal at Towcester was the first since 1912 is not quite right. The first on the bells was rung that year, but there was another (Minor in three methods) on January 22nd. 1921. but it is certainly a long absence from the peal lists. Also last heard in 1921 was Newtown Lindford. There was a previous peal here (the first) in 1912. Thrussington's claim for the first peal for 40 years was correct. The total here is now three- 1894.1921 and 1961. Peasenhall has now had seven peals. five from 1893 to 1913. one in 1923 and the one in May last. Blofield's silence is of 35 years' duration. There had also been a peal in 1903. I confirm the claim that at Mancetter the last peal was in 1928. That was the only peal on the bells before the one last December. The claim for the first of Major on Pilton bells was also true-the only previous peal there was Stedman Triples in 1921
Last recorded peals in the 1930's come next. Lowick was quite popular up to then. There were seven peals from 1908 to 1914, then one in 1916 (unusual during the first war); finally, nine from 1919 to 1931. Now once again, a peal. Great Gransden has four in all now-1908, 1930, 1932 and 1961. Similarly, Glastonbury, St. John's, had its last peal in 1932. It is interesting to note here that of the 15 peals from 1888, 13 have been of Triples (Stedman 2. Grandsire 11). Brigstock's last peal was in 1934-two before that, in 1924 and 1930. Tirley also has four peals now-1891. 1929. 1935 and 1961. The only previous peal at Thorncombe was in 1936. Several towers last appeared amongst the peals in 1937. Batheaston had its first peal in 1907, then six more from 1922 to 1937. Kirkby-in-Ashfield (5) had five peals in 1928 and 1929, then the one in 1937, then silence for 25 years. New Mill had three peals of Minor in 1899 and 1900, then a gap of 37 years to 1937. and now the 12 methods Minor peal. All the others were in seven methods. Great Torrington's four previous peals in 1888, 1892, 1906 and 1936, were all of Triples. So the 1962 Bristol Major was the first Major on the bells as claimed. Stockton, Shropshire, had its last peal in 1938. There have been seven in all now, beginning in 1925. The last tower visiting the peal lists for the first time since the 1930's is West Meon. Of the 15 peals here. four were rung from 1898 to 1912, two in the $1920^{\circ}$ s. eight from 1932 to 1939, and now Whitminster Surprise in 1961.
Finally, a few interesting points I've noticed. The peal at Bishop's Lydeard (the first since 1949) was the first of Major on the bells. All the six previous ones (starting in 1902) were of Grandsire Triples. The same is true of Woodbury, except that the first of the six Triples peals (in 1898) was of Stedman. The peal at Ottery St. Mary was not the first of Surprise on the bells -Bristol was rung there in 1912. The only other peal of Major apart from the recent one was Double Norwich in 1895. The remaining 13 peals were of Triples ( 9 Grandsire. 3 Stedman and 1 Oxford Bob). It was nice to see the name Thornham Magna amongst the peals again after 13 years (only the third peal since the war). Yet Thornham is still the 6 -bell tower with most peals -137! So even if peals are still infrequent there, it is likely to hold the lead for several years yet. The footnote to a peal at Beedon-first since 1934 was not accurate unless the pea! rung in 1947 (March 17th) was false.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Canon K. W. H. Felstead Elected Master

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{V}}$VER 80 members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild attended the annual general meeting held at Winchester on July 7 th . The high percentage of younger members present was a very encouraging sign for the future and the continuation of the work of the Guild
Ringing started at Owslebury at 10.15 a.m. and was continued at Twyford at $11: 15$ a.m., before moving into the city of Winchester Bv kind permission of the headmaster, the bells of Winchester College were made available to the Guild at 12 noon. This unprecedented opportunity was gladly taken by many members, and some very useful ringing was obtained on the College bells before moving on to the Cathedral at 1 p.m. Full use was made of the Cathedral bells until 2.15 and again between 7 and 8.30 p.m.
The meeting, held in St. Maurice's Hall, started at 2.45 p.m. with the Master, Mr. F. W Rogers. in the chair. Following the chairman's welcoming spcech, the minutes of the last A.G.M. were read and confirmed. The accounts and balance sheet were then presented by the general treasurer. Mrs. M. E. Chapman, who pointed out that considerable expense who pointed out that considerable expense had been drawn up and so the financial position was not as sound as might be concluded from the figures shown

GREAT VIARIETY OF PEALS

The peal recorder, Mr. D. T. Matkin, presented a comprehensive survey of the peals rung for the Guild during the past year Although the total number rung was not great at 58 . a wide variety of methods had been covered, including several new Surprise Royal methods for the Guild, and one new Surprise Major method. A further new Surprise Major method had unfortunately to be withdrawn due to the use of a false composition The first 5.040 of Kent T.B. Minimus had also been withdrawn from the peal records since it did not conform with Central Council requirements for peals. The peal of Nightingale Treble Place Bob Major rung in 1960 had row, however. been accepted by the Methods Committee.
Mr. John Hartless gave a very full account oi the Central Council meeting at Cardiff, held Whitsun
In the unexpected absence of Mr. L. Cobb, the proposition to hold the Guild A.G.M. a Southampton every year was presented by Mr. W. T. Godfrey. The proposition appeared to have little support in the body of the meeting. the great majority preferring to retain the present system of rotating in a four-year cycle through each of the areas of the combined Diocese. When put to the vote, the proposition was defeated heavily.

INCREASE IN SUBSCRIPTIONS
In presenting the proposition for a general increase in Guild membership subscription rates, the general secretary, Mr. R. R. Savory, indicated the low level to which the Central Fund had sunk over the last three years. Previous attempts during that time to obtain an increase in subscriptions had failed, valid objections having heen raised on each occasion. The point had now boen reached. however, where no sound-thinking member, who had the continued well-being of the Guild at heart could raise any objection to the proposed ncreases
Seconded by Mr. T. Chapman, the motion was put to the vote and was carried unanimously. The chairman. summarising the new subscription rates. stated that these would come into force on January 1st, 1963, as follows: Ringing members 5 s. (juniors 2 s . 6 d .), compounding members 7s. 6d.
The general secretary in introducing the nex: item, namely that of requests for grants to bell restorations received during the last 12 months. was pleased to he able to put forward the Executive Committee's recommendations of $£ 10$ to each Guild tower, which had requested help. Had the proposition to increase subscriptions not been passed. he would have been loath to make such a recommendation in view of the Guild's financial position. It was unfortunate that more help could not be given to the appeals from Kilifi and Melbourne, but the Executive Committee could. under the circumstances, recommend iwo guineas to each of these towers. It was agreed by the meeting that the recommended grants be made

NO REORGANISATION OF DISTRICTS

The report of the sub-committee set up to investigate the advisability of reorganising the Guild area into fewer and larger Districts was presented by the general secretary. The report stated that a great deal of opposition had been found in certain of the existing Districts to the proposed changes. This had led the sub-committee to their recommendation that no wholesale reorganisation of the Guild's Districts be carried out, but that minor alterations should be made where some benefit could be derived from the change and were mutually agreeable to the members of the towers concerned. Provision for such changes had already been incorporated in the Rules and the general secretary hoped that full use of it would be made.

ELECTION OF OPFICERS

The election of officers for the next triennial period then followed. Mr. F. W. Rogers expressed his wish not to ibe proposed for reelection to the office of Master. Two other proposals for the office were then made, namely Canon K. W. H. Felstead and Mr. A V. Davis. Mr. Davis rose to say that although sensible of the honour being paid by his nomination to Mastership of the Guild he could not accept due to physical disability which prevented him from carrying out the duties of a chairman adequately. There being ns other nominations, Canon Felstead was duly declared elected as Master
In thanking the members for their support. Canon Felstead said that he considered it a very great honour to be Master of the Guild and an honour which he greatly appreciated, Mr. C. H. Kippin rose to inform the meeting that only in the previous week or so had Mr. Felstead been appointed an Honorary Canon of Winchester Cathedral; this news was received with acclamation by the whole meeting.
Mr. George Pullinger expressed the thanks of all Guild members to the retiring Master. Mr. Rogers, for all the work and faithful service which he had given to the Guild over the past 40 years, during which time he had hold many offices, including 25 years as general secretary.
The re-elections of the general secretary, Mr. R. R. Savory; the general treasurer, Mrs.
M. E. Chapman; the honorary peal recorder, Mr. D. T. Matk in ; the honorary auditor: Mr. L. Bailey, and the Central Council representatives. Canon Felstead and Messrs. A. V. Davis. J. Hartless and F. W. Rogers, were carsied unanimously. The office of honorary librarian which had been vacated by Canon Felstead was the only remaining office to be filled and to this Mr. D. E. House was unanimtously elected.

The 1963 A.G.M. will be held in Southampton. The general secretary proposed that a day other than the first Saturday in Juhy be chosen for future anmual general meetings, since the latter always coincided with the festival of the neighbouring Oxford Diacesan Guild. This proposition was carried despite Mr . Pullinger's advice that, as fas as he could remember. it never rained on the first Saturday in July! The 1963 A.G M. will therefore day in July The
Mr. T. Chapman submitted a resolution that two Guild members, who. had for business reasons. had to leave the Guild area, he made life members of the Guild as a tribute 10 them for all the service and hard work which they had put into the Guild over the last 15 years. The two people were Charles and Jessie Kippin. Mr. Kippin rose to point out that the proposition was out of order since all proposals for life membership had to go through the Executive Committee! Mr. Chapman then stated that if it was the wish of the members. he would formally propose to the Executive Committee that Mr. and Mrs Kippin be elected life members: this was greeted with applause.
Finally, the general secretary expressed his thanks to the Dean of Winchester. the headmaster of Winchester College and all incumbents who had kindly granted permission for the use of their bells during the day.

BISHOPS GOOD WISHES

Following the business meeting, members attended Evensong in the Cathedral and then re-assembled in St. Maurice's Hall for tea. During tea the members were joined by the Lord Bishop of Winchester, the Rt. Rev. S Falkner Allison, D.D.. who spoke individually to the members present. The Bishop then said how pleased he was to see so many young people present and was delighted to be able o meet them all on this happy occasion. He was pleased to become a president of the Guild, as he had been president of the Essex Association during his stay at Cholmsford The Bishop went on to thank the members who had rung the peal of Stedman Cinques 0.1 the Cathedral bells on the day of his enthronement in January, and also those other members who had rung peals at other towers in the Diocese to mark the occasion. Finally, the Bishop expressed his good wishes to all members of the Guild in their valuable work for the Church.
Ringing was resumed at the Cathedral which. with further ringing at Sparsholt and King's Worthy, concluded a very successful and useful annual meeting.

ST. MARTINS GUILD, BIRMINGHAM

Owing to local difficulties, a number of years have elapsed since a ringing meeting was held at Northfield, so that when the St. Martin's Guidd met there for a quarterly meeting on July 7th. many of the younger ringers rang for the first time on the beautiful octave.
At the short business meeting, it was decided to donate $£ 5$ to the fund for the restoration of the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral. Melbourne, Australia

Details of a ringing course to be held at Bristol. under the auspices of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, were placed before the meeting.
The tower elections, as life members, of $R$ Kingsley Mason, of Leicester, and John Stanier, of Worcester, were duly ratified.
The next quarterly meeting will be held at Knowle. in October.
A vore of thanks was accorded the Rector of Northfield, the Rev. A. B. Morton, for the use of the bells, and the local ringers, for providing tea.
