BELL FUNDS.

The spirit which prompts the effort to raise funds to add two new bells to the peal at Isleworth is highly to be commended, and shows a faith in the generosity of ringers which, we hope, will not be found misplaced. The object behind the scheme, which we published last week, is to provide a peal of ten bells in a part of West Middlesex where facilities for ten-bell ringing are now very meagre, and is solely to promote the art. The church authorities are sympathetic, but they have no funds to assist the project; hence, if it is to be carried out, it must be financed by ringers. For this reason it is likely to prove a big undertaking. Ringers, as a whole, are far from being a monied class, and those who have endeavoured to raise funds for special objects have realised the difficulties.

The proposed memorial to Mr. J. W. Washbrook is still far from complete, yet here is a scheme which appeals to a wide circle from the fact that the object is to perpetuate the memory of one of the greatest ringers of all time; who was known throughout the country, and who had done, in his day, a tremendous amount of work among beginners which had a lasting effect upon the fortunes of the Oxford Guild, and later of those other societies with which he happened to be connected. The memorial is to consist of two bells to increase a peal of six to a ring of eight, and in that respect is very similar to the Isleworth proposal. At present, however, a considerable sum is required to complete this memorial, and we trust that no time will be lost by ringers throughout the Exercise in bringing this scheme to successful fruition. There must still be many associations who have not yet sent any collective contribution, and it is from this source that the bulk of the fund must come if the project is to be completed within a reasonable time.

At Isleworth the position is different to that at Oxford, in that there is nothing to make a countrywide appeal, and for this reason the promoters will have to make up with zeal what they lack in the way of a special cause. There have been cases where an association has made itself responsible for adding bells to a peal, notably recent instances of bells given in memory of ringers who fell in the war, so that a scheme of this description is by no means beyond the possibility of achievement. Unfortunately the Middlesex Association is itself not too well endowed with funds, and a big donation from this source is not to be expected. The venture, therefore, is likely to depend almost entirely on the individual members, and if they can successfully shoulder this scheme they will deserve every credit. Enthusiasm and work will do wonders, and we may expect both from the officials of the Middlesex Association who will have to undertake the task. Reliance on outside help will, we are afraid, prove but a weak reed, but we hope the faith in which the scheme has been launched will be rewarded by a liberal response from all who desire to see the advance of ringing. Upon the men of Middlesex will mainly depend the success of the scheme, but there must be many others who will like to help.

CENTRAL COUNCIL PEAL COLLECTION.

SECTION III. CORRIGENDA.

Following the revision of Sections I. and II. of the Central Council's Peal Collection the correction of Section III. has now been completed. The following corrigenda will be printed by the Central Council, and issued in form to correspond with the original publication:—

Page 270, Peal 5.—The note should read 'Single instead of Bob at 1, in the 12th and 24th parts.'

Page 271, Line 19.—Omit words 'two courses of.'

Page 271, Peal 6.—False (11,136 by W. Walmsley).

Page 271, Peal 7.—Omit final sentence—'By using Bob Major.'

Page 272, Peal 8.—For 54263 read 54236.

Page 272, Peal 9.—For 6972 read 6912.

Page 272, Peal 9.—For 36542 read 56342.

Page 273, Line 9.—Add the words 'first and ' between the words 'except' and '7th.'

Page 273, Peal 15.—For 53624 read 53264.

Page 274, Peal 18.—Read 63542 bobs 1 and 6 not 4.

Page 274, Peal 19.—The calling given in the footnote for 5056 is false. It may be reduced to 5056 by calling Single for Bob at the first 6 instead of at the last 6, and omitting the second bob at 6 in the 5th and 10th parts. It was so rung, in a transposed form, at Northop, Flintshire, on July 8th, 1909, as the composition of the conductor, the Rev. H. L. James.

Page 276, Peal 26.—False in its shortened form (5,056 by H. Dains).

Page 277.—In notes to peals 28 and 29 read 'full extent in 6th place, etc.,' striking out '5.'

THE CONSTRUCTION OF BRISTOL SURPRISE

By W. TAYLOR.

The other four variations are not symmetrical, and should be called Bristol Surprise Major (?) Variation, substituting any suitable name for the (?) mark. For the sake of completeness I give them here:—

In Lancashire Surprise, the construction is just the same, the Stedman blocks commencing with a whole pull the opposite way to Bristol, the 5th makes a peculiar variety of P. Court Shunt, taking up the whole half lead to complete it. This is because it gets involved in the Stedman block. Further, we may make the Stedman blocks, Bristol fashion on one side of the treble and Lancashire fashion on the other, either way about, and the half lead end is always 23456781.

In Royal it is possible to make use of two Stedman blocks above the treble and two below in each half lead. There is, however, overlapping of the middle pair, giving rise to a triple change when the treble is in 5—6; also the P. Court Shunts are cut out, leaving only R. Court Shunts in each position. From this circumstance, the method should be called 'Bristol Surprise Royal, Norwich Variation.' The bells at the half lead end are, of course, in proper coursing order, but, at a different stage to Major, consequent on the cutting out of the P. Court Shunts, the order is 4263850791 at handstroke. If no extremes are made when treble is leading and lying, we get the peculiar lead head 1860492735, from which, although it is a regular Bob Royal lead head, the bells run round after three leads only. The other lead head having this property is 1795038264, which results when extremes are used at the leading and lying of the treble, with a half lead end of 3527496081. These two lead heads, together with rounds, form a round block. Here follows the method. Extremes should be used.

N.B.—With Extremes it should be called Double Oxford Variation.

According to the different numbers of bells which may take part in the Stedman blocks the Method may be rung in 180 variations, of which 10 are symmetrical or double.

I now give Bristol Surprise Royal along with Mr. Craven's variation for comparison. It will be seen that in the correct form the (a) type of P. Court Shunt is used, whereas Mr. Craven uses one each of types (c) and (d), Major uses the (a) type.

The order in which the Court Shunts occur shows conclusively that Bristol Surprise Royal is the correct form. In Major they are in the order, R, P, R; in Royal this becomes R, P, R, P, R. In each of these the number of variations possible is 30, of which 5 are symmetrical, and quintuple and quadruple changes only.

Finally, in Maximus we can have a Norwich variation without overlapping of the Stedman blocks, and so having only sextuple and quintuple changes. The half lead end being 42638507T9E1 and lead head without extremes 18604T2e3857, and with both extremes 142638507T9e. In Bristol Surprise Maximus, the two central Stedman blocks overlap, the Court Shunts are in order, R, P, R; R, P, R; that is, Major duplicated and a Stedman block for each series R, P, R on each side of the treble. The half lead end is 3527496e8T01, and lead head without extremes 13527496e8T01, and with both extremes 1795e3T20486.

each may be further varied four ways, giving a grand total of 10,800 perfect methods. Enough for the most ambitious band. This variation is far superior to the one using P. Court Shunts. It is the Double Norwich of Treble Bob.

The Stedman five row block is not the only way in which plain hunting bells may be brought back to coursing order with dodging bells. For instance, four rows of slow hunting with only two bells taking part do the same thing. See Kent with treble in 1-2, or Albion Treble Bob with treble in all positions. Court Shunts can be used in simple variation of Albion.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Swindon branch was held at Chippenham on Saturday, with a fair attendance. Ringing commenced at St. Paul's at 3 p.m., and continued until 4.30, when a short service was held, conducted by the Vicar, who gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Chippenham, and congratulated them on their beautiful form of service.

Afterwards, a move was made for the Waverley Hotel, where an excellent tea was provided. The usual business meeting followed, at which Mr. E. Bishop (Swindon) presided.

Rishopstone was proposed for the next quarterly meeting, in June, and two monthly meetings are to be held, viz., St. Mark's, Swindon, in April; and Purton in May. The party adjourned to St. Andrew's, where touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Double Norwich were rung, after which the bells were lowered.

The following towers were represented: Swindon, Broad Hinton, Stratton St. Margaret's, Wootton Bassett and Devizes, together with members of the local bands.

A well-attended meeting was held at Lydney, Glos., on Saturday, March 14th. Mr. Davis was elected chairman, with Mr. Thomas as hon. secretary. Mr. T. Hart, junr., was elected representative upon the management committee.

There were numerous elections of honorary and performing members.

The next meeting will be held at Nornham.

This opportunity is taken to thank all visitors who helped to make the meeting a great success.

DEATH OF MR. HARRY HOLIFIELD.

A WELL-KNOWN ABINGDON RINGER.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Harry Holifield, member of a well-known ringing family, which took place at his residence, 6, The Vineyard, Abingdon, on Friday, March 13th. For the past two months he had been ailing, but the end came rather suddenly, the deceased having only taken to his bed a week previous to his death. Mr. Holifield, who was 68, was born at Appleton, Berks, and started his ringing in 1884 by ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples, this being his first peal. After ringing several years with the Appleton Society he went to Hertford, where he rang a few peals with the Hertford Association. After seven years at Hertford he left, and took up residence at Abingdon, where he established his business as plumber and decorator.

He was a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and St. Helen's company, where he has scored a good number of his peals. He had kept no record of his peal ringing, but his total was upwards of one hundred peals in various methods. His longest performance was at Appleton, where he took part in the 10,043 of Grandsire Caters in November, 1921, and the last peal he rang with the Appleton Society was a peal of Grandsire Caters on March 4th, 1922. His last peal of all was Stedman Caters at St. Helen's Church, Abingdon, on Boxing Day, 1924. The deceased was a steady ringer, and a willing helper, and was much respected by all.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, March 17th, the first part of the service being at St. Nicholas' Church, Abingdon, where he was a member of the choir. The Rev. C. S. Fleet officiated. The interment took place at Appleton later in the afternoon.

As the funeral party reached the village, the bells of St. Laurence were rung deeply muffled. The coffin was met at the churchyard gate by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) and the Rev. A. H. W. Theodosius (curate of St. Helen's, Abingdon), who conducted the service. The remains were carried to their last resting-place by four members of the Appleton Society—four of the Brothers White.

As the mourners left the grave 503 Grandsire Caters was rung, with the bells deeply muffled. The bells of St. Nicholas' and St. Helen's were rung muffled during the afternoon and evening, and the following towers were represented: St. Helen's, Abingdon; St. Giles', Reading; Witney, Cumnor and Appleton.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On March 24th, 1856, Hyde ringers rang at Hyde 9,600 changes of Grandsire Major. After the peal was rung, Mr. William Harrison, of Mottram, was presented with a valuable silver lever watch, and appendages, the gift of the Hyde ringers, as a token of regard for his attention during two years in teaching them the art of change ringing.

The attempt for a peal of 7,392 Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Bow Church, Cheapside, on Saturday, was unsuccessful, the ringing coming to an end in the eighth course, after nearly three hours.

There seem to have been no peals of record length rung at Bow, principally, we presume, on account of the weight of metal, although several long lengths were rung in the distant past at Southwark, where the bells are very little lighter.

But Southwark has long had twelve bells, while Bow was only made into twelve in 1881. They had been a ring of ten from 1762, but even so no Caters or Royal records were made on this big peal, the task being considered too great. But although no records have been made there, there have been some memorable performances.

Both the steeple and the bells of St. Mary-le-Bow perished in the Great Fire of 1666. They were rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren, and an order for a peal of eight bells was then given to John and Christopher Hodson, the funds to pay for same being derived from the sale of the site of All Hallows', Soper Lane, which was not rebuilt after the fire.

When a certain local historian wished to give a lecture on All Saints' Church, Leicester, recently, he desired to bring in the bells and their inscriptions. One of the ringers obligingly pulled the bells up, and left them so, to enable him to get the inscriptions more easily!

A remarkable peal was rung by the eight persons as under, called the Quarter-peal of Oxford Treble Bob, all eight in, or the Union Bob, consisting of 10,080 changes which they rung in 6 hours 28 minutes on the 1st day of April, anno 1727. There was no change alike or bell out of course. This is the record of a peal at St. Michael's Coslany, Norwich, but in view of the limited knowledge at that date concerning the composition of such peals, it is considered highly probable that it was false.

The first peal of Grandsire Triples 'by Kent men only' was rung at Wye on March 29th, 1736.

A 6,000 of Treble Bob Maximus was rung at Southwark on April 1st, 1777, by the College Youths.

The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Waldron, Sussex, and recorded last week, was rung on the 35th anniversary of the first peal rung by the Waldron band, viz., on March 15th, 1890. Six of the band are still alive, and one, Mr. Albert Reid, passed away on Feb. 13th this year, deeply regretted and sadly missed.

The Winchester Guild have a promising young ringer in John A. Cole, of Godalming, Surrey. Full of enthusiasm, he has shown perseverance and remarkable ability, and, seeking practice with the band at Holy Trinity, Guildford, he has within the space of three months rung his first peals of Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

The peal at Oswestry, published in our last issue, was conducted by T. R. Butler.

THE EXPERTS & THE EXERCISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your article in last week's issue I consider very fair and just. While agreeing with you that there are a vast number of ringers to whom articles dealing with theory do not appeal, yet there are doubtless some who, like myself, can follow all the pros and cons on either side, but yet are not able as these writers are to put our thoughts into words, or, rather, I might say, not so gifted with the pen. I may add that, although Mr. Trollope has given us some brilliant articles, I am more inclined to agree with Mr. G. Baker. I would also like to thank Mr. W. Taylor for his excellent exposition on the construction of Bristol Surprise and allied methods.

—Yours truly,
Feering.

BIRMINGHAM BELLS BROADCAST.

The bells at St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, were again broadcast on Sunday evening.

Mr. G. Holmes, of Sheffield, writes:—

On Sunday I was listening in at my wireless, and was much surprised to hear the Birmingham station announce that the Cathedral chimes were going to ring. I listened to some very good Stedman Caters, I heard the course end 213546978 come up beautifully, and a hob at 2 made. Eventually at three minutes to eight the bells came round. I must congratulate our Birmingham friends on their effort.

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL, DUBLIN

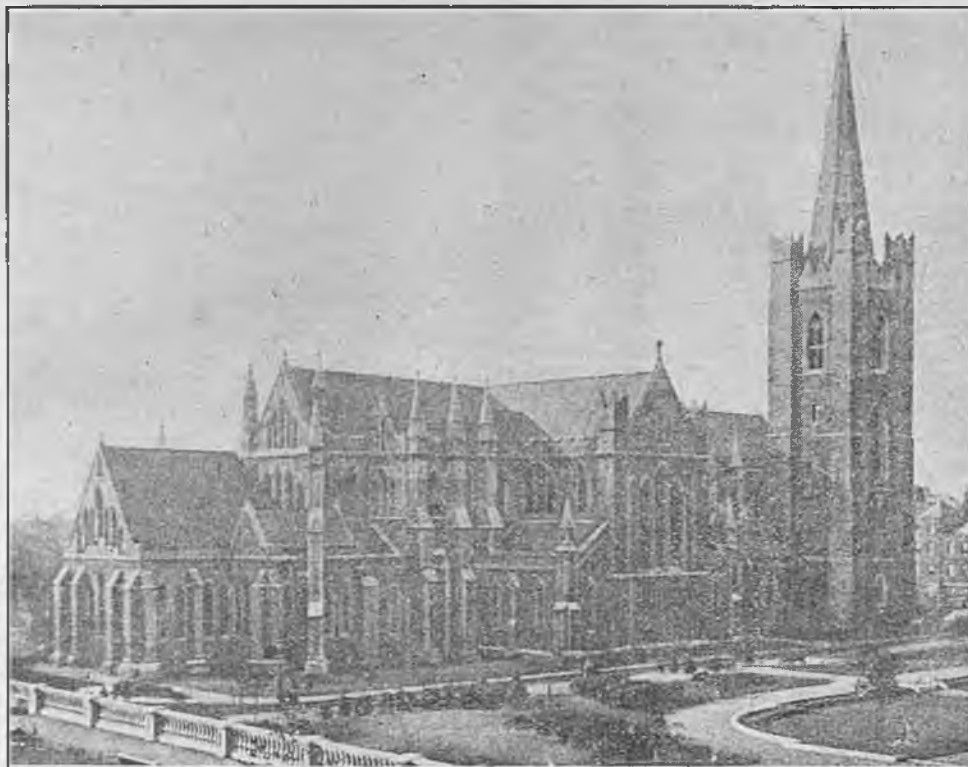

TO BE MADE A UNIQUE PEAL.

By the addition of another treble, the bells at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, are to be made unique among ringing peals. There is already an additional bell in the tower giving a choice of rings, and another bell above the present treble has now been offered, which will give a second peal of twelve, in D Minor, tenor 30 cwt., and a third peal of ten in F, tenor 19 cwt.

The bell is to be the gift of Lady Leeds Kay in memory of her husband, and the offer is only awaiting the formal acceptance of the Cathedral Board, which meets on the 31st inst.

Of the bells at present hung in the Cathedral, the back ten, with a tenor of 45 cwt. in C, were given by Lord Iveagh in 1897, and with them is an additional B flat bell. The late Lord Justice Cherry gave two trebles to make a peal of twelve in 1909.

Originally there was a ring of eight, and two of them, the 3rd (cast in 1670) and the tenor (cast in 1670 and recast in 1809), are still used for occasional services, and the rest of the old peal stand in a room in the tower.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

BISHOP ATTENDS MEETING OF SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Southern Division was held at All Saints' Church, Sheffield, on Saturday, by the kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. W. G. Largie, an honorary member of the association. With the exception of four, all the towers in the division were represented, and, with visitors from Chesterfield, Killamarsh, Norton and Worktop, the number was brought up to 60, an attendance very gratifying to the officials, and, it is hoped, a good omen for future meetings, and the good of change ringing in the division. Various methods were practised during the afternoon, and a short meeting was held, at which the Vicar officiated. His very interesting address was very much enjoyed, as was also the splendid singing of the choir boys.

An excellent tea was served in the Institute, and the members were honoured by the presence of the Lord Bishop of Sheffield, and the president and hon. secretary of the association, the Rev. C. C. Marshall and Mr. P. J. Johnson.

Immediately after tea, the Bishop addressed the meeting, and apologised for not being able to take the service. He gave a very interesting address on the status of ringers in the service of the church, and the importance of that service.

His Lordship was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks, on the proposition of the president, seconded by the general secretary.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. C. C. Marshall was voted to the chair, and was supported by the Vicar, Mr. P. J. Johnson, Mr. F. Willey (vice-president), and Mr. G. Halksworth (Ringing Master).—Nine new members were elected, viz.: Miss Noel Cawthorne (Handsworth), and Messrs. A. Winn (Tickhill), R. Sarsby (Conisborough), R. Macfarlane (Sprothorough), J. Tuke and T. G. Sarel (St. Maries), A. Marshall (Darfield), J. Greaves (Ecclesfield) and J. Parker (Ranmoor).

Mr. G. Halksworth (Doncaster) was re-elected Ringing Master for three years, and the retiring committee, Messrs. Cockey (Ranmoor), Wooler (Wortley) and Panther (Wath), were also re-elected.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for his address; to the organist and choir boys; and to the local company for the excellent arrangements made, were passed, and were replied to by the Vicar. This brought a most successful and enjoyable meeting to a close.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At All Saints' Church, Gainsborough, Lincs., on Friday, March 20th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 46 mins., by H. Cooper 1, F. S. W. Butler (conductor) 2, J. T. Bartram 3, J. Dixon 4, J. T. Ladd 5, C. H. Baker 6, H. Torr 7, E. Dalingwater 8. This was rung, with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect to the late Mr. W. N. Harrison, who, for over 40 years, was a loyal church worker and a member of All Saints' choir; also in memory of Mr. Edward Pask, who for a considerable number of years was a ringer at St. Lawrence's Church, Corringham, and passed away on March 18th, at the age of 77 years.

At St. Mary's Church, Bucknall, Staffs., for morning service, on March 22nd, 720 Cambridge Treble Bob; for evening service, 720 College Exercise. Rung with the bells muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. Arthur Barlow and Mr. Harold L. Barlow, both members of the Parochial Council, and sidesmen of the above church. The whole pull and stand was rung at intervals prior to the evening service: R. Preston 1, C. Bowen (conductor) 2, H. Billings 3, C. Preston 4, W. Wheeldon, senr., 5, W. Fradley 6.

ROTHERHAM PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

A MAGNIFICENT ADDITION TO YORKSHIRE PEALS.

In Saxon times, Rotherham seems to have been a place of some importance. It had a Saxon church, it also had a market, and a fair before the Norman Conquest. If there be any truth in the old tradition that its big neighbour, Sheffield, was at one period of its history 'A Vill, Near Rotherham,' one has now the effrontery to say it applies with more force to-day (when we speak of bells!) than ever it did in bygone days, when Rotherham had its market and fair, and Sheffield had no such privileges. Strange, how history repeats itself! To visitors the Parish Church of Rotherham is the chief object of attraction, its rare beauty is so great inasmuch that it gives interest to the very irregular township. The church is a most spacious and handsome fabric, built in the reign of Edward IV. on the site of a Saxon edifice, it is dedicated to 'All Saints,' and is indisputably one of the finest parochial places of worship in Yorkshire.

On Wednesday, March 18th, 'all roads led thither.' On entering the sacred portal we found it packed to the utmost of its seating capacity, a reverent congregation awaiting—what? The ceremony of the dedication of the recast ring of ten bells, recast and erected in memory of a true son of the church, a beloved and revered fellow-townsmen—Robert Dyson.

The impressive service commenced with the singing of the hymn, 'Pleasant are Thy Courts,' a shortened form of evensong followed intoned by the Vicar (Canon Allen). Psalm 122 was chanted, and a former Vicar, Canon Goodhall, read the special lesson from Numbers x, followed by the 'Nunc Dimittis,' which was also chanted.

At 3.35, the soul-stirring moment had arrived, beneath the traceried roof of that spire stood the Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Sheffield (Dr. Burrows), who dedicated the bells in the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, to the Honour and Glory of God, and His Church, and in memory of Robert Dyson, and setting them apart from all profane and unhallowed uses. Anon, a sweet velvety note falls upon the ear as the treble is raised into the inverted position, reminding one of the pure, clear and poetic beauty of a silvery voiced choir-boy, whose voice rings out in solo as a preliminary to some great anthem. Picture the scene. A congregation standing in mute reverence, the stillness broken only by the odious hoot of some passing motor, dispelled the next moment by the harmonious song which burst forth from the brazen throats of the recast peal: through the old church on ethereal soundwaves their cadences ripple with soothing influence, and in majestic grandeur over the ancient township rolls the concordant harmony of these magnificent bells.

Never before in the chequered bell history of Rotherham had such a stately half-muffled requiem sobbed from lips of bronze, a lament, half sorrow, half exultation, in alternate permutation. Never before had such charming purity of tone, such temperament poured over the heads of a congregation in that church. Never before had a concourse of humanity assembled outside and listened to such a delightful and well-balanced Liturgy, to such a melting ritual of the soul.

The bells cease. The lingering vibrations die away, the grand old hymn, 'Hark! hark! my soul,' re-echoes through chancel and columned aisle. His lordship delivers an eloquent and impressive address, basing his remarks on 'A Bell and a Pomegranate,' and the ceremony concludes with the hymn, 'There is a blessed home.'

After service, the local band rang touches of Grandsire Caters, Kent, and Bob Royal, and a mixed band rang a touch of Double Norwich on the back eight, the bells were lowered in peal, and the locals adjourned to the residence of Mr. Dyson, who entertained them to dinner, along with other guests who partook of the donor's hospitality, as follows: Canon Allen (Vicar), Messrs. Elmhurst, Green, Smith and Hemmingway (churchwardens). Dr. Baker Dr. Knight, Mr. J. E. Knight, Mr. R. Fawcett (ex-wardens) and Mr. Dyson.

During the course of the evening, Mr. Dyson referred to a thing that weighed most (apart from his own opinion of the musical qualities of the old peal), when it came to a question of recasting. There was within recent years a peal of twelve (not many miles from home), which had had quite a considerable sum of money spent upon them with very little improvement, and it was not his (Mr. Dyson's) intention to have the job 'half done' at Rotherham!

With regard to the renovation and recasting which have been so generously undertaken as a memorial to the late Mr. Robert Dyson, the cost being defrayed by the widow, Mr. W. Dyson and Mrs. Knight (son and daughter) 'moves up to the hilt' that the Dyson family have always taken a deep and sincere interest in Rotherham Church, and difficult it would be even to try and estimate the extent of their munificence.

Concerning the old peal, 'Guest' writes about the opening, which took place on Easter Monday, 1822, when ringers from various parts of the country assisted in producing 'Tintinnahuly Clatter.' Truer words never were written and in confirmation of the historian's remarks of 1822, we have the honour to add our testimony a century afterwards, even less brief, 'they was!'

Thanks to the Dyson family, the cacophonous peal is 'hushed' the shrieking syrens, which only a lay mind would designate 'Trebles' are gone! That detonation, a dominating fiend, formerly known as 8th, which hid a multitude of ailments of her less lusty but equally dissonant 'Step-Sisters,' is gone! In fact, they have all—including that poor thin 'De-noted' tenor, who gave us persistent de-de-demonstrations of acute bronchial trouble—gone into the fiery cauldron, and they have all arisen, phoenix-like, from their own ashes!

The old oak frame has been removed. The donors had determined that only the very best should be done; therefore they commissioned Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, to recast and rehang the bells on modern principles, and a new steel and iron frame has been specially designed to suit the tower, and remove the hitherto unequal strain on the fabric. Massive steel girders now brace and bond the walls, forming at the same time a foundation for the new framework, with two additional pits prepared for the 'next' augmentation to twelve.

The whole job is a most magnificent piece of engineering skill, and reflects credit on the founders. The old tenor weighed 31½ cwt., the new one is increased to 34½ cwt., and on the day of dedication was raised by one man, and 'clattered-up-right-side!' This alone speaks volumes for the firm, who have introduced a superior type of clapper and other manifold improvements in hanging. All the bells are hung on patent ball bearings, and the only comment made on the 'go' is that 'they are perfection!'

A redistribution in the weight of the metal has 'hurled the thick treble theory out of sight' and worked 'wonders' (not imaginary) in conjunction with 'Taylor's harmonic system' of tuning, and has brought into being that which never before existed in the Rotherham peal, i.e., an equal temperament, combined with an absolute purity of tone. The former 'clatter' and dissonance is blotted out; in its stead, beautiful sonorous tone, and rich volumes of sound reign supreme!

The old 'Harmonious' inscription is reproduced in facsimile on the recast tenor, with this modest addition:—

'This peal of ten bells was recast 1924

In memory of Robert Dyson.'

The remaining nine each bear the inscription:—

'Recast 1924, John Taylor and Company, Bellfounders, Loughborough.'

Come, little judges, big judges, or judges of assize, find the founder (living or dead) who has cast, tuned and hung a peal that can be placed on a higher artistic, musical, or engineering plane than the 'Dyson' peal of ten at Rotherham!

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual meeting of the Council will be held on June the 2nd (Whit Tuesday) next, at Chester. Full particulars of the meeting will be published later. Notice of any proposed motion should be sent before April 18th.

Will secretaries please note that the annual subscription is now due, and, together with the names and addresses of representatives, should be sent to the hon. secretary, Mr. E. Alexr. Young, of 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6.

A GREAT ADVENTURE.

Mr. Connor O'Brien, of Dublin, who was an active ringer in London and Guildford several years ago, and who set out in 1923 for a voyage round the world in the 25-ton ketch 'Saoirse,' arrived at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, about the end of December last.

The 'Saoirse' sailed from Dublin on June 20, 1923, and called at Madeira, Pernambuco, Capetown, Durban, Melbourne, Picton, Napier, and Auckland. The vessel arrived at Auckland on May 25th of last year. On July 16th she left for a trip to Tonga, from where she returned about a month later. After refitting at Auckland the ketch took her departure from New Zealand on October 22nd, on her long journey back to Dublin via Cape Horn. On her arrival at Port Stanley the small vessel had travelled about 20,000 miles.

A CORRECTION.

In the composition of the peal of Grandsire Triples (by Mr. Samuel Jones) published last week, the rows opposite the first two singles were transposed. The peal should begin as follows:—

752634	1
237546	3
562437	1

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The peal of Grandsire Triples by Samuel Jones, given in your last issue, is W. Matthew's 12-part, and will be found in the C.C. Collection, No. 63, except that the 2nd and 3rd calls are reversed in the version published last week.—Yours, etc.,

Leicester.

THE CRITICISMS OF 'CRITICUS.'

PAID RINGERS—THE GLOSSARY.

We sometimes discuss among ourselves the propriety or otherwise of the payment of ringers in these days. I am with those who say that we ought to be a purely voluntary body; giving our services (except in special cases) for the pleasure which we get out of our art. I have usually found on my travels that the bellries where the visitor is least welcomed are those where the ringers receive some miserable pittance for ringing the bells on Sundays; and it is certainly the general rule that paid ringers are less concerned about their change ringing than their 'remuneration.' I can never quite follow the anxiety of some men that I know, who hang on to the 'loaves and fishes,' and set themselves against the introduction of young blood, because they are afraid it may affect their pocket to the extent of a few shillings a year. There are very few, if any, cases where the ringers are paid a sum at all commensurate with the time they give, and if the practice of paying ringers is to be continued ought there not to be a trade union to secure a proper recognition of the services rendered?

The extracts from ancient accounts which were given in 'Belfry Gossip' last week induced me to return to a perusal of some old records, reproduced in Mr. Cheetham's 'Church Bells of Lancashire.' They used to pay the ringers pretty well for their job at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, a hundred and more years ago. Eighteen shillings seems to have been the price of the services of six men for special occasions, with a lump sum of £16 17s. 6d. for their Sunday ringing for one year. In the year 1799 they paid six men for ringing on the King's birthday, on June 4th, 18s.; and a similar amount on each of the following occasions in the same year; July 12th for the news of General Suwarrow's victory; August 12th, for the Prince of Wales' birthday; August 19th, for the news of the taking of the Dutch fleet; September 5th, for news of taking of Alexandria and Mantua; September 22nd, for the King's Coronation; October 25th, for the King's Ascension to the throne; November 5th, for Gunpowder Plot; December 25th, for ringing on Christmas Day and New Year's Day. In addition, they had £3 3s. for 'ringing 3½ days for Bishop.' They do not pay for as many 'extra' days in these times, even in the best remunerated bellries.

These ancient records from parish documents make interesting reading. At Liverpool the men were encouraged to attend church, for in 1746 it was 'Ordered that a peal shall be rung at the old church every Sunday, both morning and afternoon, at the time of going into church, and that the ringers shall have liberty to sit in the seat next to the bell house door, and that the Sexton take care to secure the same for them.' Apparently about this time they used to inflict the 'passing bell' upon the parishioners for so long at a stretch that a special order had to be issued to limit it. Probably the sexton was paid by the hour; anyhow, to curb his enthusiasm in this department, on Sept. 21st, 1752, 'it is ordered that no passing bell be tolled at any Parish Church in this town longer than an hour upon no consideration; and if the sexton suffer it, that he pay for the use of the Parish five shillings for every offence, to be received by the Church Wardens for the time being.'

Paid ringing has been with us as long as ringing in the form we know it has existed. The Church book of Childwall records that in 1635 a meeting of parishioners ordered that 'he that keepeth the clock and ringeth curfews shall have xiid. per annum for his paynes; and also the ringers vis. viiid. per annum to ring every Sunday in this manner following, to witt, the sexton one peale att seven of the clock, the clark and sexton another peale at eight of the clock, and the clark, sexton and the other ringers another peale att nyne of the clock.' There are many other quotations which I should like to give, which I am sure would interest my readers, but I have quoted sufficient history to show that the paid ringer is a relic of the 'good old days,' and any attempt to rob him of his traditional emolument is bound to be resisted. Personally, as I have said, I look forward to the day when all ringing for services will be entirely voluntary; but if that is not possible, why should there not be an agitation to make the punishment fit the crime—or the payment fit the job?

Looking through these old records, I came across several ancient, and, to me, strange, expressions in regard to bells. In seeking information, I naturally went to the 'Glossary,' published by the Central Council, and, in turning over the pages I could not help feeling that it is nearly time this very useful little book was brought up-to-date. It was published in 1901, and there are terms which we now use which ought to find a place there, and some, which are already there, that require amending. When the 'Glossary' was published it supplied all that was required by way of definitions, but we have progressed since then, and there is substantial revision necessary. For instance, the classification of methods wants dealing with. The various grades such as 'Pleasures,' 'Delights,' etc., up to that jaw-breaking word 'Passalatesera' (or whatever it is) are not included, and even 'Surprise' is given the entirely obsolete definition of 'a name attached to certain Treble Bob methods, in which the work of the course is highly elaborated and more or less difficult of execution.' That, of course, satisfactorily filled the bill a quarter of a century ago, but it is quite out of the running in these more scientific days.

But the part which to my mind requires most overhauling is the appendix, in which a large number of methods are 'described.' The description may be accurate, so far as it goes, but I defy anyone who does not know any of these methods to ring them from a mere study of the explanation given. Something much more readily understandable by the ordinary intelligence is necessary, and the Council might well set to work to revise this part of the book, if—and I say 'if' advisedly—it is really worth while to include this appendix. Most of the methods given are already included in other text books, and more explicitly dealt with. But if they must be given, let them be so set out that they can be understood by anyone approaching them from the standpoint of a learner. The 'Glossary' is a little volume that ought to be in every ringer's possession; it is one of the most valuable of the Council's publications, and I hope it will not be long before they set about its revision. These jobs take time. It would probably be two years from now before any revised copy would be ready for printers, and it would be unwise to wait until the present edition is exhausted before taking the matter in hand.

CRITICUS.

STEPS OR SHUNTS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is unfortunate that Mr. Baker and Mr. Williams should have taken my little joke so seriously. I thought I had exaggerated so obviously that no one could be hurt. I can only say, I am very sorry.

I am, however, glad to avail myself of this opportunity of saying that I have all along felt sure that Mr. George Baker has the truth of the matter in him, but that he does not seem, so far, to have made it clear to the Exercise in general. If I could help him to do so, I should be only too glad. I have in the past adopted Mr. George Williams' suggestion, and asked him for information (if not in your columns at any rate in 'Bell News' in the past), but I regret to say it was not forthcoming.

Those from whom I have learnt to preach or speak or write, have impressed on me the importance of always directing my arguments to the person with the least intelligence among those whom I am addressing. In what I have written lately, I have adopted this role, that of the least intelligent of those whom Mr. Baker, for instance, is addressing. So when he says (so kindly) that he cannot give me brains to understand, or when Mr. Williams says I show a want of knowledge of the subject, it proves that I have succeeded in what I set out to do; but I am sadly afraid that it also proves that they have not succeeded. For if I do not understand, or do not know, and yet am sufficiently interested to discuss these matters, surely I am quite the sort of person for whom they are writing. Mr. Baker cannot really mean that he gets you to print his articles just for the 'three persons in the United Kingdom, and one in far New Zealand,' of whom he speaks.

Your article in defence of these technical discussions is very much to the point, and I am sure you will agree that if such discussions are to be profitable to as large a number as they should be, everyone must always be careful to 'define their terms'; and especially to avoid misleading new readers by using confusing names, of which the word 'Shunt' is a glaring example.

In conclusion, may I give an instance of the needless difficulties which Mr. Baker supplies, by asking him when he has adopted the term 'Shunt' (or Step), why he goes on to speak of Double, Two-Bell and Four-Bell 'Shunts' (or Steps), without explaining the exact difference these epithets imply?

And why, when he has been told repeatedly, that the words 'proof of construction,' convey no meaning to us, does he go on using them? Ringing may be in some ways an abstruse art; but the English language is easy enough if we only use it properly.

HERBERT DRAKE.

A NUNEATON RINGER'S DEATH.

On Saturday, March 21st, the mortal remains of Mr. John Bollard were laid to rest in Nuneaton Cemetery. The deceased, who passed away, after a long and painful illness, had been a member of the Nuneaton Parish Church Ringers for upwards of 30 years. He was an excellent tenor man, and had rung the treble to a number of peals of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. Although he never aspired to great things in ringing, he was most regular in attendance for service ringing, and had a very genial disposition. He was always ready to take a rope or to stand down if the ringing was above his standard.

After the funeral, the Nuneaton company rang several touches, with the bells muffled, as a last mark of respect.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN DISTRICT MEETING.

A most successful meeting of the Northern District was held at the Church of St. John of Jerusalem, South Hackney, on Saturday, about 30 members attending, including a few visitors from the Southern District, whose presence was greatly appreciated. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and several good touches in standard methods were rung during the afternoon.

The company afterwards attended service, conducted by the Rector, who extended a hearty welcome to the association, and delivered a most interesting address.

A very substantial tea was provided at St. Andrew's Hall, Wells Street, by the kindness of Mr. Alleyway (District Master), Mr. Riley and Mr. Attwater, after which the business meeting was held.

St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, was chosen for the next meeting, to be held on May 16th.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells; to Mr. Riley (steepkeeper) for having the bells ready; and to Mrs. Alleyway and friends, who waited at table.

After listening to a short touch on handbells a move was again made to the tower, where several good touches, including Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major, brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

BARNESLEY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Darfield on Saturday, March 14th. Ringers were present from Anston, Badsworth, Barnsley, Hoylandswaine, Ecclesfield, Ranmoor, Rotherham, Wath, and members of the local company. The bells (six) are all ancient, and for years past have been the despair of change ringers. Happily they are now safely housed in a strong steel and metal frame, fitted with modern fittings. The tenor bell was believed to weigh 20 cwt. It has now turned the scale at 14 cwt. A table is now hung in the church giving measurements, weights, notes, age, inscriptions, etc., of the bells.

Ringings commenced at 3 p.m., and service was held at 4.30. The Rector (Canon Sorby) was absent, through illness, and the curate (the Rev. — Wilson) read the prayers. The Rev. J. R. L. Nicholls (Vicar of Ranmoor, Sheffield), who preached a short sermon, is an able ringer in standard methods, and needless to say, his presence and sermon were highly appreciated.

Tea followed in the Church Schoolroom. The above-named clergy were present, and warmly thanked for their great kindness.

Ringings followed after tea and business meeting in many pleasing variations of Treble Bob. One touch of Darfield seemed to be pathetic. It is the last method composed by the late Mr. W. Woodcock, and one which he did not live to ring himself.

CHRISTCHURCH CATHEDRAL, NEW ZEALAND.BELLS OVERHAULED AND RINGERS ENTHUSIASTIC.

Quite recently the fittings of the fine ring of ten bells (tenor 28 cwt.), at Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand, have been overhauled, with the result that the whole peal is now in good going order.

The furnishings in the belfry leave very little to be desired, everything being well ordered and clean. An oak cupboard of handsome design is the receptacle of a handy set of musical handbells. It also contains the complete series of Snowdon's works, tastefully bound, in addition to other literary matter on change ringing. Tablets on the walls record the performances of two peals of Grandsire Triples, and one of Bob Triples. Not the least pleasing feature to a ringer from the homeland are portraits of change ringing celebrities of the last generation.

The local ringers—an enthusiastic body of young men—ring rounds and call changes quite creditably. They are anxious to learn change ringing, and would welcome the advent of an instructor, who would have sufficient leisure to drill them to efficiency. The following took part in the ringing on New Year's Eve: G. H. Claydon, J. S. Wilde, F. H. Perkin, A. D. Dunkerley, W. D. Sloan, A. G. Cusdin, H. T. Lang, and G. N. Sloan (hon. secretary).

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

A combined ringing practice was held at St. Paul's Church, Wokingham, on March 21st, when the bells were utilised for three hours by the twenty members who attended from St. Laurence's, Reading; Binfield, Sandhurst, Hurst, Wargrave, Twyford, Waltham St. Lawrence, and Wokingham. The Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyu) and the general sec. (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) attended, and their help was very welcome. The following methods were practised: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob.
