THE 181 TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 72 Bells, at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A 'CENSUS' WANTED.

One of the things to which the Central Council might turn its attention is, we think, a 'census' of ringers. By this we do not mean merely a counting of heads. That is already done through official church channels and the result can be found each year in the Church Year Book. The figures which appear in these statistics, however, are misleading in the sense that the Exercise understands the term 'bellringers,' because they include everyone who pulls or chimes a church bell, whether the bells in a church number one or a dozen. What would be useful is an annual record of the number of actual bell ringers in this country-that is to say, men and women who can 'ring' a bell in the technical sense of the term. At present, no one can say how many there are, at any rate within a few thousands. Indeed, we do not believe it can be said with certainty, how many towers there are with bells actually hung for ringing, but this information could easily be gleaned in conjunction with the counting up of the ringers.

The information would be of use in a number of ways. It would strengthen the hands of the Council in any negotiations it undertook on behalf of the Exercise, as, for instance, in dealing with the railway companies in the endeavour to obtain cheaper travelling facilities. It would benefit the various associations throughout the country to know not only how many ringers they have within the fold, but, if only by the process of deduction, how many remain outside. One association has recently taken this action within its own area and the information thus obtained will prove invaluable in conducting its 'missionary' work. The task of collecting the details would not be a very formidable one if the associations and guilds would give their aid, and in compiling the statistics they would be serving themselves as well. The time has gone by when ringing organisations should be content with the knowledge of how many members they have got; it is equally important that they should be aware of how many potential members they have not got. To be of real use, however, the information must be complete and therefore the work would need doing with care,

We imagine that all the associations would be glad to co-operate with the Council in a scheme which would provide such useful and interesting information and give the Exercise at long last reliable statistics about its own strength-and weakness. It is sad to hear from some parts of the country serious laments of the lack of ringers, such as was spoken of at the dinner at Gloucester the other day. A 'census' will not fill the gaps, but, properly organised, would reveal at once the deficiencies and enable the associations to concentrate on the weakest spots. The initial information would be, perhaps, the most difficult to obtain, but afterwards an annual revision would be a simpler affair.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD,

MEMORABLE MEETING OF DORCHESTER BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Dorchoster Branch was held at Puddletown on April 16th, and was attended by members from all Puddictown on April 16th, and was attended by members from all over the county of Dorsel, from Bournemouth in the cast to Bridport in the west, and from Kinglon Mugna in the north to Wyke Regis in the south, the gathering representing 19 towers. The Vicar (Canon A. L. Helpst) a keen student of archæology, took the members over his grand old church, and related the history in a most interesting manner, and this was much appreciated. The Guild services was conducted by the Vicar, and the singing led by the organist and choir. Instead of the usual lesson he read an extract from Longfellow's 'Golden Legend,' and instead of the usual address on bells, etc., in a short homely talk he extended to the ringers a very warm welcome, and quoted Emerson's, 'Although you speak as thunder, I cannot hear what you say.' The Vicar was listened to with rare attention. Following the service, the members adjourned to the Village Hall, where a bountiful tea was awaiting them, and which some 76 members and friends enjoyed. They were waited on by a willing band of ladies under Mrs. Helps. willing band of ladies under Mrs. Holps.

willing band of ladies under Mrs. Holps.

A business meeting followed, presided over by the chairman (Rev. E. S. Tarrant). Among those present were the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Guild), Canon A. L. Helps, Ven. Archideacon W. S. Moule, Revs. A. Godley, A. S. Bryant, J. Wynn Wernerick and C. A. Phillips (hon. secretary, Wimborne Branch), Mrs. H. B. Middeton, Miss L. R. Clapcott, Messrs, J. Ralph (assistant secretary) and W. Shute (Ringing Master), North Dorset Branch, Mr. C. H. Lathey (hon. secretary), West Dorset Branch, Mr. A. E. Trotman, Oxford University Guild, Messrs, J. I. and P. Davis, A. G. Rose (Poole).

D. Bishop (Evershot), and W. Trevett (Hazelbury Bryant).

Apologies for absence were received from Mr. R. N. Dawes (vice-president), Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (general sec.), Messrs. E. Hutchings (Abbotsbury) and J. W. Smith (Dorchester). The hon, secretary read a letter from Mrs. N. L. Aclaud, thanking the members for the lovely flowers sent for the funeral of her husband (the late Capt. J. E. Acland, a former Master of the Guild).

Messrs, E. Gardiner and F. White (Abbotsbury) and F. Virgin (Upwey) were elected ringing members. The hon, secretary called attention to the coming jubilee festival of the Guild, and expressed the hope that the members would attend. He also stated the next quarterly meeting had been arranged to be held at Abbotsbury on Thursday, June 30th.

Thursday, done such.

The members were unanimously in favour of holding by-meetings during the summer, and it was left in the hands of the secretary to arrange. Mr. Jennings promised he would do his best to fix up-Maiden Newton and Cattistock, the latter with the carillon of 35 bells, including a ringing peal of eight. He gave an interesting report of the 'All-England' ringers' gathering at Croydon, for which he was thouled. he was thanked.

The Chairman proposed the usual vote of thanks, which was seconded by the Master, who especially referred to Canon Helps hospitality in providing such a bountiful tea.—Responding, Canon Helps said it was a pleasure to have the ringers at Puddletowu again. A hearty welcome was given to all the visitors.

The meeting over, the large gathering were met by Mr. J. W. Brymer (High Sheriif of Dorseh), and were personally conducted around Hsington Park and gardens, a treat which was much appreciated. The ringers afterwards put in some good practice on the fine-toned peal, and some had their first touch of Minor and Doubles. The practice continued until 9 p.m., when a memorable meeting

WORCESTERSHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

It is with much regret that we have to record the death of Mr. William Niblett, of Malvern Link, Worcestershire, who died at Malvern Hospital on March 29th, after a brief illness. Mr. Niblett was 57 years of age, and a native of Hereford. After coming to Malvern he was employed first at Mr. W. Chare's coach building works and later at the Morgan Motor Works. He joined the Army Sorvice Corps during the war and served in France.

Of a genial and unassuming disposition, 'Johnny,' as he was popularly known, was a safe ringer, and he will be greatly missed in the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association, especially at Maivern Link. A complete list of his peals is not available, but they number about 140, ranging from Boubles to Royal, and include several Surprise Major methods. several Surprise Major methods.

several Surprise Major methods.

The funeral took place at St. Matthias' Church on Saturday. April 2nd. The Rev. A. Duy, Vicar of Malvern Link, officiated at the service both in the church and at the grave. Deceased was borne to his last resting place by six of his fellow-ringers. All the local band were present, and many other ringers came from Worcester, Upton-on-Severn, Crowle, Madrestield, Suckley, and Welland. A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung at the graveside. After the service was over, the tower bells were rung half-muffled to touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. A half-muffled peal of Minor was rung to Mr. Niblett's memory at St. Gabriel's, Hanley Castle, on Wednesday, April 6th.

RINGERS' DINNER AT GLOUCESTER.

AN APPEAL TO THE YOUTH OF THE COUNTRY.

A company of 75 was present at the fourth annual dinner of the Gloucester Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, held at Gloucester. Mr. W. R. Eggleton presided, and was supported by the Rural Dean (Canon H. M. Braithwaite), Rev. E. D. S. Camus (Rector of St. Mary de Crypt), Rev. E. Bankes James, Mrs. Eggleton, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Romans, Mr. W. H. Harris (hon. secretary) and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin, Mr. T. Baldwyn, etc.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, the Rev. E. D. S. Camus proposed 'The Church and State,' to which Canon Braithwaite replied. He first expressed the pleasure of those present at seeing with them again an old friend and ringer in the Rev. E. Bankes James, with whom he expressed sympathy in his recent becreavement. Continuing, he referred to the many notable occasions in English history on which the bells of St. Michael's had been rung. They could truly say, he thought, that at all times bellringers were loyal to the State. In these days it was immensely important for them, as churchpeople, to have two great causes to which to be loyal. One was the country and Empire, and it was his opinion that a man who said he was a great patriot, and neglected his home at the same time, was no patriot at all. Patriotism must begin at home, and it was that spirit he would like to see in Gloucester. At the present time churchpeople needed to be more than interested in the Church. It was passing through a very critical period, and it seemed to him to behove everyone who was really loyal to Christ, and who really desired the extension of His kingdom, to do whatever he or she could to increase the attendances at church and to support it in every way possible. The Church, in the education and instruction which it gave, laid the foundation of sacrifice which was absolutely essential for men who were to give their interest to the country, and without which the country would come to nothing (applause).

CHURCHES WITH BELLS BUT NO RINGERS

Mr. J. Austin, proposing the 'Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association,' said even in these days people could go into the country and not hear any bells at all. There were many churches with bells, and not hear any bells at all. There were many churches with bells, but no ringers to ring them, and their association had as its aim the task of making ringers for the diocese. Frequently ringers had to go to three different churches every Sunday or else the bells remained silent. That had to be stopped, and each church should have its own ringers. Therefore he sent out an urgent appeal to the youth of the country to make themselves interested in bellringing.

They were very badly needed because the older men had no one to take their places. There were many counter attractions, to which Sunday cinemas seemed likely to be added, and unless the Church brought itself to the front quickly it was going to be left far behind. The Glouester and Bristol Association was one of the leading associations of its kind in the country, and it was up to everybody to back it up (applause).

In response, Mr. E. Guise (hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association) said remarkable progress had been made in recent years, and they had a membership of about 120 in Gloucester. cent years, and they had a membership of about 120 in Gloucester. In Bristol, in order to encourage the young people, they were starting practice nights in the various churches at which all persons interested could attend. Their association was founded 54 years ago, and for its success they had to thank its founders, who had set such a wonderful example to the whole country. It was because of this that a national memorial to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, of Kemerton, was to be erected at Tewkesbury, and efforts were being made to raise the necessary £250. That was a lot of money to them, but it was a national memorial, and the people of the whole country would help. They wanted to put two extra bells in Tewkesbury Abbey as a part of the memorial (hear, hear).

Capt. C. Lodge proposed 'Our Visitors,' to which the Rev. E. Bankes James responded, and a vote of thanks to the chairman, hranch secretary and artistes (Messrs. Wolmer, Austin, Davis, Baldwyn, Williams and J. Clarke) was proposed by Mr. G. Jackson.

The towers represented at the dinner were Barnwood, Newent, Norton, Upton St. Leonards, Witcombe, St. Mary de Lode and St. Mary de Crypt (Gloucester). There were also visitors from Bristol, Ross and Newport.

A collection, made on behalf of the Rev. C. P. D. Davies Memorial

A collection, made on behalf of the Rev. C. P. D. Davies Memorial Fund, realised the sum of £1 12s, 6d.

A peal of Bob Major, specially arranged for the visitors by the branch secretary at Barnwood, was successfully brought round under the conductorship of Mr. J. Austin.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Sunday, April 24th, for the wedding of Miss Lilian May Walker (daughter of Mr. W. Walker, a member of the local hand) to Mr. Thomas Henry Jones, of Llandudno, the local company rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Cinques (1,287 changes) at Walsall Parish Church: J. C. Adams 1, J. S. The first peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods, rung by an entirely local company, has been accomplished at Crawley. The peal performances of this young band, under Mr. Oliver Sippetts, have proved a wonderful series of successes, particularly in the last two or three years, and remind one of that other 'peak' period at Crawley, when Mr. James Parker was in command something like forty years ago, when Surprise peal ringing was, in a sense, in its infancy.

Mr. Parker still takes an active part in ringing at Edmonton, but is happy to leave the mentle of his enthusiasm on the shoulders of his daughter—Mrs. E. K. Fletcher. A pipe and a game of bowls is now almost as satisfying to him as a peal, and acknowledged experts tell us that he is as much an artist with the 'woods' as he was in piloting a band of ringers through a peal of Superlative in the old days.

For the wedding of Lord Hyde, son and heir of Earl Clarendon, and the Hon. Marion Glynn, which took place in Westminster Abbey, in the presence of their Majesties, the King and Queen, on Monday week, a peal was rung at Watford. Watford Parish Church bells were rung on the occasion of Lord Hyde's christening, and by special request they were again rung on his wedding day.

An illustrated handbook, 'Plymouth,' of special interest to members of the Central Council who intend to be present at this year's meeting, can be obtained on application to Mr. E. W. Marsh, 13, Edith Avenue, Lipson, Plymouth.

Will correspondents who desire to send news for publication under a halfpenny stamp please note that such communications must be addressed to 'The Editor, "The Ringing World," Woking, Surrey," and contain nothing whatever in the nature of a letter. Unless these conditions are compiled with, the letters are liable to surcharge, and many such have reached us lately. The name of the sender should be enclosed in all cases.

A young band, five of whom had not before scored more than a quarter-peal, rang a peal of Minor at Bredenbury last Saturday. The treble ringer is 15, and two others are only 19.

Edwin Barnett III., of Crayford, has given further evidence of his ability, for while still only 14 he has added a peal of London Surprise Major to his achievements. Grandad was in the peal, but father, unfortunately, was unable to take part owing to an attack of lumbago.

There was an interesting touch of Grandsire rung the other day, when three generations of Barnetts and three generations of Groombridges took part—the first time that three generations of two families have rung together. We are looking forward to a peal soon.

The Herts County Association's meeting, arranged for Bushey on Saturday, is cancelled.

Four members of the Oxford City Council are enthusiastic ringers. They are the Mayor (Alderman Bennett), Alderman Brown, Councillor Skipper and Councillor Ludlow.

BY-PATHS OF RINGING HISTORY. To the Editor.

Sir,—Your earlier and excellent report of the Bow bells decision gives, I feel, but a bare outline, even with the later paragraphs, of a piece of 'ringing history' of more than passing interest, Especially is this so of the final happenings.

Ithere is the vexed question of bell tones. Many of your readers will find it of interest to know that the costlier proposal, the one backed by the donor, Mr. G. Selfridge, meant spending £890 for 'Simpsonising' the present ring of 12 bells, i.e., that in addition to the two cracked bells five additional bells were to be recast, 'and as many of the others as may be found necessary.' A few years ago (as at Coventry) this proposal would have swept the hoard. But in this case the Chancellor definitely ruled the implied suggestion out, and ordered that only the cracked two bells should be recast, and then only on the present 'old style' lines, that all cannons should be retained and no other bells recast without further reference to himself. himself.

There was, too, that interesting piece of history provided by the splendid 'gesture' by the firm who cast the bells and had worthily maintained them for two hundred years. This was the offer to do the whole of the work without cost to the committee, rather than that both they and the city should lose such a link with the pass. (Do not the old Bow bell strickles still hang on the Foundry walls? One can imagine their beckening fingers.)

I will say little of the fact that the city has echoed of late year-with the slogan, 'Save Bow bells.' A plaintive appeal, and sadly ineffective but for the Chancellor. I am reminded of a talk I had on 'Simpson' tuning with Lord Marshall, when he was Lord Mayor some twelve years ago. I well remember his concluding remarks, 'You may rest assured that the city will never countenance the loss or impairment of their Bow bells, and that in the hands of Canon Ponsonby we know them to be absolutely safe. (A minor, but, I trust, interesting piece of Bow bell history.)—Yours faithfully,

E ALEX YOUNG E. ALEX. YOUNG.

REPORT OF THE METHODS COMMITTEE.

THE EVOLUTION OF RINGING.

The following is the report of the Methods Committee to be presented to the meeting of the Central Council at Plymouth:—

We cannot enter upon our report without first expressing in some degree, however inadequate, the loss which we have sustained by the death of Henry Law James. He was not merely one of the original members of our committee; he was in a sense its originator, for it was due to a resolution moved by him more than thirty years ago that it was first appointed, and throughout its history he took a leading part in the many tasks which came before it. He was engaged on the new Collection of Triples Methods at the time of his death, and had he been spared there is no doubt that he would have done further useful service. But in a very real sense we can say the message he had to bring to the Exercise was delivered and the work he had to perform was done. He has left his mark definitely on the Exercise, and as long as our art continues ringers will benefit by his life and work

CENTRAL COUNCIL 'RULES AND DECISIONS.'

It is a common assumption in the Exercise that 'Rules and Decisions' of the Central Council consist of a number of rigid laws which have been imposed on ringing with restrictive effect on the advice of a committee regarded as expert in this particular branch of study. Thus there is an impression that the rules of ringing are analogous to those of ordinary sports, such as football and cricket and the like. They are regarded as laws hid down by competent authority for sufficient reasons, and therefore ringers are in honour bound to observe them in loyalty to the Central Council and to the Exercise. Inevitably there has grown uses a natural consequence. Exercise. Inevitably there has grown up as a natural consequence the idea in many people's minds that some, at least, of these so-called laws are arbitrary and artificial. A notable instance of this mistake is to be found in the furious warfare that raged a few years ago round the definition of a Plain Lead. The definition reads as follows: 'A Plain Lead is a succession of rows so arranged that when the hunt (or hunts) has completed its work from the lead-head to the leadend, it is in a different relative position among the working bells, but the working bells are in the same coursing order.' The controversy concerned itself solely with the last clause of this definition.

The real significance of a definition such as this and others like it.

and their place in the science of change ringing can only be learnt by and their place in the science of change ringing can only be learnt by an intelligent study of history. So far as can be ascertained from the earliest existing book on ringing, viz., Stedman's 'Tintinnalogia,' the Plain Course as we understand it (and therefore the Plain Lead) was auknown in his time. First, he tells us, there 'were invented (i.e., discovered) the sixes, being the very ground of a six-score. Upon these were built up the 24 changes on four bells by adding a treble and causing it to hunt up through the other bells before the first change of the six, and hunt down again after that change had been made. Thus: been made. Thus

The sixes being obviously true, the 24 changes on four bells must be equally true, and no proof of their 324 2134 truth is required. From this beginning progression on 342 2314 Soh on six bells (pp. 94 ff.) would, and apparently did, develop out of a six-score of what we now call Reverse Grandsire Doubles. And still no proof is needed. Also it will be seen that the other important laws of change ringing, viz., those of symmetry, Plain Bob lead-ends and free movement, are all automatically fulfilled, even if their existence—let alone their importance—was not as yet perceived.

At this point a radical change of outlook arose. The practical ringer in the tower would discover that most of the succeeding groups of 12 changes throughout the 720 were similar to one another, and it would occur to somebody to write down what we now call a Plain Course of Bob Minor. Further, he would notice that the other groups contained what Stedman called bobs and single-The sixes being obviously true, the 24 changes on that the other groups contained what Stedman called bobs and single changes, and by means of combining these together efforts would be made to produce further 720's, and the way would be open to the development of methods and compositions in the modern sense. Complications soon arose. Truth, for example, was no longer selfcomplications soon arose. Truth, for example, was no longer cert-evident. Further, as methods were being produced experimentally, there was a natural tendency to ignore the other laws of which we have spoken, and there grew up a common, indeed almost universal though superficial, idea that 'places are the method.' As a conse-quence many people argued that symmetry (to take a single inquence many people argued that symmetry (to take a single instance) had no necessary part in construction. But meanwhile the practical ringer found that those new methods which had been offered him with irregular lead-ends, lack of symmetry and so on, were not satisfactory. About that time the Central Council was founded and the Methods Committee appointed, whose first members drew up the Council's original 'rules and decisions.' The purpose of these was to standardise the general experience of the Exercise through three centuries, recognising the mathematical science on which change ringing is based and erecting signposts which should lead the ringer by a shorter road than the way of trial and error, which was the only road he could find for himself, from the lower to the higher. the higher.

But change ringing is a dynamic and not a static art. It cannot stand still. Thus in the course of time even the most complicated methods, such as Bristol and London Surprise, became commonplace, and greater complexity was demanded. This requirement has been and greater complexity was demanded. This requirement has been net by the device of splicing, and up to the present the composer has been able to keep abreast of the ringer in the tower. But the thing to be noticed in this connection is that in the multiple Surprise thing to be noticed in this connection is that in the multiple Surprise methods that have been rung in peals of late years there has been an effective breakaway from the Plain Course as it was known 30 years ago. It may be, and indeed is, true that these compositions are made up of bits of courses of methods which are severally in conformity with the definitions, but it is really an abuse of language to speak of Plain Courses when dealing with 5,000's, of which there are never more than two leads alike in succession, and in which the tenor never gets below sixth's place at a lead-end.

It is not surprising that questioning and, perhaps, uncasiness has arisen. Have the Central Council Rules and Decisions no value? Has all the work of the Council and its committee in tabulating and systematising been on wrong lines? By no means. The method report set down the more important of the laws to which all change ringing is subject in simple terms, and summarised the experience of ringing is subject in simple terms, and summarised the experience of the ages.

No man can say what future development has in store. No man can say what future development has in store. One thing is certain. Genuine progress will be along lines of evolution, not revolution. New ideas will prevail and last only so far as they follow logically on past experience, unless the unbroken history of change ringing is to be completely belied. Between the conception of a hunt as imagined by Stedman and as it is described in a text book of (say) 1900, there appears to the superficial observer but little, if any, connection, but to those willing to seek below the surface from the first step in the 'invention of the sixes' to a peal in 12 Surprise methods there has been steady, logical and (we are tempted to add) inevitable advance. Further development is to be anticipated not in the scrapping of formula, but in their interpretation and enlargement in the light of fuller learning. And it cannot be too often emphasised that it is a misconception to regard the expert as one whose part it is to tell his fellow-ringers what they must and what (Continued on page 292.)

THE LATE MR. SAMUEL WOOD.

A CONDUCTOR OF RECORD PEALS.

With the passing of Mr. Samuel Wood, of Ashton-under-Lyne, whose death we briefly announced last week, one of the striking personalities of Lancashire ringing is removed from the Exercise. Fifty sonanties of Lancashire ringing is removed from the Exercise. Fifty years ago Sam Wood was recognised as one of the greatest conductors in the North of England, and for more than a generation he worthily upheld that position. He inherited his ringing instincts, for his father, who was clerk and sexton at St. Peter's, Ashtonunder-Lyne, was a composer and conductor of ability. The son thus had the advantage of early and constant tuition, and the father took the greatest delight in computing knowledge to his recognition. took the greatest delight in imparting knowledge to his promising boy. On his deathbed, old James Wood implored Sam not to let ringing at Ashton go down, and Sam never did.

Samuel Wood will be best remembered outside Lancashire for his great per-formances in long-peal ringing. In 1883 he conducted the famous record peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Mottram-in-Kent Treble Bob Major at Mottramin-Longdendale, Cheshire, where T. Day's 16,608 was rung in 9 hours 48 minutes by T. Moss, J. Adans, J. Wood, S. Wood, B. Broadbent, J. Mellor, G. Long-den and J. Thorp. That record stood until 1906, when it was exceeded at the same church. In 1911 Sam Wood was the composer and conductor of the re-cord peal of 12,240 Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Ashton-under-Long rung in Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne, rung in 8 hours 39 minutes, and three years later he composed and called the record length of Royal in the same method-the 14,000 which heat a record set up more than the LATEMR. S. WOOD. 130 years before in London. Mr. Wood, in his younger days, was also a great ringer on a heavy bell, as some of his performances at the back end of Manchester Town Hall bells prove. He was one of the finest strikers anywhere, and although he never aspired to the Surprise methods—much to his later regret—he was one of the safest conductors, in the methods which he did ring, that ever stepped into a belfry. He was a man also of great tenacity and determination. Once his mind was set upon an objective nothing would turn him from his goal. Before the Ashton hand rang a peal of Stedman Triples, a great many attempts were made, and but for Sam Wood's determination it is probable that efforts would long before have been abandoned.

Mr. Harry Chapman, who now lives at Keystone, Huntingdonshire, but was formerly one of the pillars in the Manchester district, recalls the fact that Mr. Sam Wood was the first man to ring the 9th at Manchester Town Hall to a peal, when two men rang the tenor. This was a peal of Grandsire Caters, which Mr. Wood called, and some of the Manchester ringers of the time would not believe the peal was ever rung. This annoyed Sam, but after some years he got another chance, and, with one of the doubting Thomases in the peal, convinced them that the first peal had also been truly rung. This second peal was the first time the 52 cwt. tenor had been rung single handed to a five thousand, and it was Mr. Chapman who accomplished the feat, while a month later he rang it single handed to a peal of Royal, which Mr. Wood called from the 9th. Thus Mr. Wood had the privilege of calling the first three peals at Manchester Town Hall, all of them from the same bell. Mr. Harry Chapman, who now lives at Keystone, Huntingdonshire, all, all of them from the same bell.

Mr. Wood's first peal of Stedman Cinques was that rung muffled Mr. Wood's first peal of Stedman Cinques was that rung muffled at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on the death of Henry Johnson, and about that time he made many friends among the Sheffield ringers, among them Charles Henry and Thomas Hattersley. Mr. Wood, with John Thorp and George Longden, used to go frequently to Sheffield for Stedman Cinques, but peals did not eventuate, and the Ashton men did not always get back the same day! Some of their experiences, as related by Mr. Wood, would 'make you laugh for a week,' says Mr. Chapman.

After the long neal at Matters the contract.

says Mr. Chapman.

After the long peal at Mottram they wanted a long peal of Royal, but had not got ten bells for the job. Eventually they got permission to ring it at Manchester Cathedral, but it was to be rung at night. The band was got together, and the date arranged, and nine of the band turned up. The other man did not put in an appearance, and afterwards, when called upon for an explanation, said, 'Paney asking for any bells for a night's ring! You would get locked up locked up!"

In addition to his many peals in Lancashire and Cheshire, Mr. Wood had rung peals in North Wales and Yorkshire. He had rung peals with Jasper Snowdon, and nearly 150 peals for the Lancashire Association, which he joined in 1884. His last peal was at Ashton-under-Lyne on May 18th, 1931, to celebrate the 48th anniversary of the 16,608 at Mottram. There was a wonderful spirit of good-fellowship among the ringers in the towers around Ashton, and Samuel Wood was one who was foremost in creating and cementing friendship. The brothers Wild and James Shaw (who has recently passed away) were among his special friends, and when the Ashton men (Continued in next column.)

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. EAST BERKS and SOUTH BUCKS BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch, held at Beaconsfield on Saturday last, was quite a record gathering, even the weather being on its best behaviour. Among those present were the chairman (Mr. Justice Bennett), the general officers of the Guild: Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (secretary), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer), Messrs. J. J. Parker, W. H. Fussell, J. C. Truss, F. Borcham, J. Evans, J. S. Hawkins, F. W. Goodfellow and 'the Merry Monarch.' The last-named was not quite his usual self, presumably having been attacked by one of his falcous when indulging in his 'sport of kings.'

The bells were raised, and at least two Surprise methods rung before the advertised time to start; in fact, practically everything that it was possible to rung was rung during the day. Of course, the peal ringers shone in the Surprise methods, but even amongst the regular monthly 'meeters' were some who aspired to 'Bachelor's Joy.' Joy. The boy who can't run did not put in an appearance, although he used to have a certain foundness for this part of the globe. Perhaps he thought Old Kate would be there.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar of Burnham (Rev. P. Nott), who gave an interesting address, his text being, 'And the city rang again.' The choir was augmented by members from Cookham and Stoke Poges, over 90 voices being raised in harmony and praise.

The whole party then enjoyed the hospitality of the chairman, the numbers having increased to 101. Tea was followed by the business meeting. Sir Charles Bennett first addressed a few words of velocity the members, saying how much he felt it his privilege to entertain them, that it appeared to be the second day of spring, and how he appreciated the presence of the Master, whom it would be investigated and the presence of the Master, whom it would be investigated to the presence of the Master, whom it would be investigated to the presence of the Master, whom it would be investigated to the presence of the Master, whom it would be investigated to the presence of the Master, who is the presence of the Master, who is the presence of the Master who was the presence of the Master wh be impossible to replace, particularly for his devotion to duty in attending branch meetings.

Various items of business were dealt with, the officers for the ensuing year being: Chairman, the Hon. Sir Charles A. Bennett; sceretary and treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker, Branch Ringing Master, Mr. T. J. Fowler; representatives on general committee, Mrs. A. D. Barker, Messrs. T. J. Fowler, J. L. Kirk, W. E. Taylor and J. C. Truss. Dr. Bachelor having left the district, the Rev. P. ANOTHER DONATION TO STEDMAN FUND.

The Master thanked the chairman for his kind remarks and the members for receiving them. Then he urged those present to give greater support to 'The Ringing World,' to increase the circulation and reduce the price. At the same time, he put six copies of the current issue at the disposal of the secretary. The Master also had a number of Central Council publications for inspection and sale.

The Stedman Tercentenary Fund, the Master added, was still in need of assistance, and he would be grateful for a small contribution from the branch.

Mr. W. H. Fusseli also spoke in advocacy of support for 'The Ringing World.' It was kept going during the war, he said, at great expense to Mr. Goldsmith, and it was now the ringing paper of the world and deserved everyone's support. Stedman, he continued, had been dead for nearly 300 years, and a large sum had been spent in restoring a ring of bells to perpetuate his memory, but there was still a debt. He suggested a collection from those present, saying that ringing was an economical pursuit, and, as a good many bobs were made by all ringers, he hoped that they would collect as many specified to well the defeit. The collection resulted in 24 for the as possible toward the deficit.—The collection resulted in £4 for the Stedman Fund.

A vote of thanks to the chairman for his kind hospitality was proposed by Mr. J. J. Parker, and carried unanimously.—This was acknowledged by Sir Charles, who said that the thing that struck him

A proposed joint meeting with the Middlesex County Association in the summer met with the approval of all.

The General Treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright) congratulated the branch on their snecess, and he also announced that the price of the annual report would be 4d. a copy. Incidentally it is not printed yet.

The General Secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) said it gave him great pleasure to follow such famous men as the Master and Mr. Fussell. Speaking in support of 'The Ringing World,' he urged the members at least to get one copy for the tower until they could afford one each. Some of the peal ringers who did not buy it reminded him of a man who put money on a horse in the Derby and then would not

RESTORATION OF STANDLAKE BELLS.

SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF A DIFFICULT TASK.

To everything there must be a beginning, even in matters of hell hanging. Mr. Richard White, of Appleton, has long been known for the excellence of his oak frames, but hitherto he has failed to secure an opportunity of showing what he can do in the way of a metal frame. Strange to say, this has been given him under conditions more suitable for a crowning achievement than an initial endeavour.

An octagonal tower, in diameter eight feet six inches, hacked about in order to accommodate a ricketty timber structure in which aring of six bells, with a tenor of eleven hundredweight, might swing in two tiers, the two heaviest bells being up in the steeple, the task of the ringer a perilous toil. Such were the main conditions.

To-day one finds the bells neatly hung in three frames of cast-iron sections on girders, one above the other, and each self contained, the ropes skilfully guided down into a perfect circle, the tower steady and the 'go' of the bells all that could be desired.

Mr. White would be the first to acknowledge the help he received from Mr. E. Ravenscroft, architect, of Reading, in advising as to the repairs to the masonry and the position of the required girders, but as one looks upon the finished work one rejoices to think that the talent responsible for hanging ten bells in the little tower of Appleton still survives in the White family.

The work was dedicated last Saturday by Bishop Shaw.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MEMORIAL TO CANON BAKER.

The jubilee of the Bedfordshire Association was celebrated on Easter Monday, when a large number of members attended the annual meeting at Bedford. Ringing took place during the day at St. Paul's Church (10) and St. Peter's (6), and luncheon was served at the Silver Grill.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. A. Rust (president) occupied the chair, and a letter was read from Mrs. Baker, widow of Canon W. W. C. Baker, conveying her deep gratitude to the members of the association for their kind expressions of sympathy in her hereavement.

A letter of congratulation was received from Mr. J. N. Frossell, of Kingston, Surrey, who took part in the first 720 of Bob Minor rung for the association at Biddenham.

The report of the committee stated that the past year had been remarkable for a striking advance in the peal list, 37 peals being rung against 27 for the previous year. Noteworthy performances were the peal of London Surprise Major rung at Luton by the local band and a peal of Little Bob Royal rung on handbells at Woburn. A pleasing feature, also, was the number of members ringing their A pleasing leature, also, was the number of members ringing their first peal, and the number of new conductors indicated sure progress in the art. Two important additions to peals of bells had been made, two trobles at Husborne Crawley, and a complete new peal of eight at Eaton Socon. Many district meetings had been held during the year and were well attended. Altogether a valuable year's work had been completed.—The report was adopted.

On the proposition of Mr. E. Hobbs all the officers were re-elected to serve during the coming year.

Bedford was again chosen for the place of meeting next Easter Monday, and it was hoped to hold the summer festival at Eaton Socon in July.

Socon in July.

Touching on the Canon Baker memorial, the Rector of Dunstable, the Rev. G. C. Rolfe, said he was grateful for the offer of the association to place two new trebles in Dunstable Priory Church in memory of Canon Baker, and, although he had done everything in his power, the architect and builder responsible for restoring the tower said 'No.' It would found that the tower would not carry these extra bells, so he had reluctantly to refuse the offer.

After lengthy discussion it was decided to replace the dangerous wooden ladder approach to the Priory belfry with a modern structure as a memorial to Canon Baker. Messrs. A. King (Luton), G. 'W. Heley (Dunstable), F. C. Tysoc (Bromham), and H. Skerman (Southill) were appointed as a committee to take charge of the project.

FIRST 'LOCAL' 720.

At Overton, Hants, on Saturday, April 16th, 720 Bob Minor was rung for the first time at St. Mary's Church by an all local band; M. Lawes 1, J. Winterbourne 2, W. Lance 3, A. Taylor 4, H. Garrett (conductor) 5, B. Garrett 6. The ringer of the treble is to be congratulated on this performance, being only 13 years of age. This was repeated for evening service on April 24th.

they must not do. His real function is the more difficult because less obvious task of examining the natural trend of development of the art of ringing, and seeking to explain the inner meaning of what it is that the practical ringer is doing, and thus it may be sometimes his privilege to point the way for the future as a logical outcome of the past.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ABERDARE BELLS.
The quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at Aberdare on April 9th. The bells, a ring of secution was field at Aberdare on April 5th. The beits, it ring of eight by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, put in about fifty years ago, were raised early in the afternoon, and touches in various methods rung. Service, a very shortened evensong, with an inspiring and interesting address given by the Vicar (Rev. R. Ward), was followed by tea, which had been very generously provided by the Vicar and

Prior to the business meeting, over which the Vicar presided, all present stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of respect to

St. John's, Cardiff, who have recently died.

In the course of reports on suggested restorations, mention was made that Aberdare bells badly needed rehanging. The Vicar's reply made that Aberdare bells badly needed renanging. The victors reply was that he was in full sympathy with the ringers and the requirements, but owing to an overdraft of over two thousand pounds at the bank in connection with church schools, etc., he regretted that nothing could be done to the bells until that had been wiped out or substantially reduced.

The agenda for the forthcoming Council meeting at Plymouth was read by the hon, scoretary, and the representatives were asked to support whatever they thought best.

New members were elected, including a few of the old stalwarts of Aberdare tower, where call changes have been practised. Nevertheless, the heartiest welcome was accorded to them, and it was pleasing to learn that through Mr. Emm, who has been a faithful member of the account of the processing to the stalkarts of the stalkar the association for many years, several young ringers were practising half-pull ringing.

Mr. Cole, of Merthyr, promised to give what help he could as an Mr. Cole, of Merthyr, promised to give what help he could at Air. Cole, of Merthyr, profiled to give what help he could as an instructor, and it is hoped that when the next meeting is held at Aberdare it will be a half-pull tower. Caerphilly was chosen as the place of the next Glamorgan quarterly meeting, and the next Monmouth meeting to be held at Dingestow.

Various matters of interest to ringers were mentioned, including the colossal gathering at Croydon, the proposed rehanging of Bow bells, and the peal recently rung by the association on the bells of St. David's Cathedral, Pembrokeshire.

The bon, secretary afterwards read the appeal which is being made by the Gloucester and Bristol Association to perpetuate the memory of the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and it was unanimously decided that the hon, secretary make an appeal by sending out a circular letter to each tower affiliated to the association, to be returned to him within six weeks with whatever subscriptions are collected.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar, who suitably replied, remarking that he hoped it would not be as long before the next meeting was held at Aberdare as it had been since the last was held there, viz., seventeen years.

The ringing during the evening was curtailed owing to illness near the church, but the meeting proved a huge success.

DEATH OF CARDIFF RINGER.

The ringers of St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Cardiff, suffered a great loss through the death of Mr. William Henry Packer Evans, which took place on March 28th, at the comparatively early age of 55 years. Some months ago Mr. Evans' health suddenly broke down, but after being ill for a considerable time, his health improved, and there were hopes of a full recovery. This, however, was not to be, and a relapse occurred from which he never recovered, and to the regret of everyone who knew him he passed away on the above date.

and to the regret of everyone who knew him he passed away on the above date.

'Bill' Evans, as he was familiarly known to all his friends, had been a member of St. John's band for about twelve years, and for several years was tower secretary. In regular attendance on practice nights, and ever present at Sunday service ringing, he was an ideal example to all. The Liandaff and Monmouth Association meetings have also lost one of the most regular supporters. Mr. Evans had rung severar pears of Triples and Caters, and was ever willing tofill a gap at the shortest notice.

His activities were not confined to the belfry. For many years he had performed the duties of sidesman, and was always ready to do anything for the church he loved so well.

The funeral service, which took place at St. John's Church on

The funeral service, which took place at St. John's Church on April 1st, was conducted by the Vicar, Canon Lewis, assisted by the Rev. Bowen, curate, and was attended by a large gathering of sympathotic friends. At the conclusion of the service, the 'Dead March' was rendered on the organ by Mr. Cole, organist. The bells of St. John's Church were rung muffled before and after the service by a hand composed of Llandaff Cathedral and St. John's Church rinners.

The interment took place at Cardiff New Cemetery, the graveside service being conducted by the Rev. Bowen. There was a profusion of floral tributes, amongst which were wreaths from the two Cardiff bands of ringers, both being also represented at the graveside service. Bill Evans was known among his comrades and fellow-ringers as one of the best, ready to do a good turn to anyone, and never heard to speak an unkind word. He was of a most cheerful disposition, and always looked on the bright side of life. Such men can ill be spared ill be spared.
