LEICESTER

A triumph of organisation was the Leicester Diocesan Guild festival. The event attracted a most representative gathering from all parts of the country and also from Ireland, and for entertainment, both as regards ringing and hospitality, nothing was left undone on the part of those who planned the occasion.

And for the secret. Leicester Guild owes its success to a perfect understanding with the clergy from the Bishop downwards. Immediately this confidence is achieved a Guild will make progress. Ringing as work of the Church was the theme of the address by the Bishop of Leicester; when this is recognised a hallowed responsibility will be behind the changes. On both sides—clergy and ringers—there are individuals who classify ringing as purely an exercise or art and nothing more. When the spiritual dedication of ringing is recognised then our Guilds will flourish.

Is this compatible with peal ringing? Perhaps the best answer to this came from the Bishop of Leicester. When does ringing cease to become a clash and a clang and become perfect harmony? Every change ringer knows that perfection will only be reached by the thoroughness acquired through peal ringing. The Bishop and other speakers expressed their congratulations to Mr. Ernest Morris on having rung one thousand peals. The recognition of the peal as a standard is pleasing, and while in the distant past such a performance had its roots in the secular side of ringing and still is largely associated with pleasure, yet the training has an ultimate spiritual objective in the service of the Church.

Now the message of Leicester is clear and emphatic. With the recognition of ringing in the service of God there is an accompanying corollary. That recognition must extend beyond the mere act of ringing: there must be that personal relationship between the ringer and his Maker. The familiar words of Psalm 150, 'Praise Him on the loud cymbals; Praise Him on the well-tuned cymbals,' so often sung or read at ringers' gatherings, are shallow and hypocritical if the recognition of His service is absent in the act of ringing.

The Leicester festival of ringers was a prelude to a big diocesan festival in commemoration of the 21st anniversary of the founding of the See of Leicester in its present form. The anniversary is not to pass by informally as the ticking off of another year on the calendar, but to be commemorated by an act of personal rededication by all churchworkers. And let it be known far and wide: Leicester ringers are counted among the churchworkers and individually will be associated with this great spiritual act.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

Congratulations to Mr.

T. Groombridge, sen., who rang his 800th peal on his 80th birthday. He rang three handbell peals in the past month to bring off this unique double.

Those attending the Aldershot meeting are asked to note the alteration in the time.

The peal at Dilhorne, Staffs, reported in our last issue, was conducted by Mr. J. G. Cartlidge, of Cheadle.

There has been a change in the Mastership of the Oxford University Guild. Mr. W. F. Moreton, who has gone down, has been succeeded by Mr. C. J. Dickinson (Magdalen).

We have had a cut in our paper allocation which will necessitate pegging our circulation. Any additional copies for the time being will be very limited.

The overwhelming success of the Leicester festival was marred by the failure to secure the peal of Yorkshire at Loughborough. After more than two hours' ringing, the conductor expressed his dissatisfaction by setting his bell. Expert ears outside regarded the striking as good.

'Birthday presents are difficult to buy these days, so here's a nice idea for country folk—a quarter-peal of country bells to bring pleasure and ring on in the mind for a twelve-month.'—'The Woman' gives this delightful thought in a special article. If this form of gift becomes the vogue, the Editor trusts that it will not be necessary to insert every quarter-peal.

Stafford ringers celebrated the 70th birthday of their head ringer, Mr. J. Warrilow, by a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples on Oct. 15th. The band was R. W. Lander 1, H. Bayley 2, J. Warrilow 3, R. J. Warrilow (cond.) 4, A. E. Garbett 5, J. J. Taylor 6, E. Vaughan 7, P. Eley 8.

After the Frederick peal comes the John peal from Penistone, Yorks. Just before the war an all Yorkshire John peal attempt conducted by the late John Flint, came to grief three courses from home. Enough Johns were not available in the Yorkshire area, so John Worth, from Macclesfield, and John Ambler, from Pudsey, participated.

Mr. John E. Bibby rang his 50th peal this year at Frodsham, Cheshire, on October 14th.

The quarter at Fulmer, Bucks, on Oct. 6th, was the first by Mr. E. J. Briden's youthful band with the exception of veteran E. Harding, 79, and was due to the patient coaching of Walter W. Wolstencroft.

Mr. Edgar Humfrey celebrated the 60th anniversary of his first peal by calling a peal of Stedman Caters at St. Laurence's, Reading. Now over 77, he has been a service ringer for nearly 60 years. In his first peal at Drayton, Berks, he rang with the Rev. F. E. Robinson and J. W. Washbrook.

From Lichfield comes news of the Beresford family. Joan and the two 13-year-old twins have rung their first peal in hand as a birth-day compliment to their mother. 'The striking was regular and good throughout,' comments the umpire. Last Sunday the twins rang a course of Stedman Caters with two noted hand-bell ringers—Mr. H. J. Poole and Mr. A. H. Pulling.

The peal of Grandsire Triples at St. John's. Leicester, on October 11th, is a new irregular 12-part by Brian D. Price. It was rung at the second attempt, the first failing at Systom through a clapper breaking after 2 hours 50 minutes. It was the 100th peal of Grandsire Triples by Ernest Morris, who has called peals in this method containing the least number of calls—90 J. J. Parker's One-part; and 340 hy A. J. Pitman.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD'S FESTIVAL

RECORD GATHERING OF REPRESENTATIVE RINGERS BISHOP'S TRIBUTE TO HIS RINGERS..... COMPANY OF 1,200 AT FESTIVAL DANCE

Probably the largest gathering of ringers since the end of the war was the Leicester Diocesan Festival, held at Leicester last Saturday. The representative character of the gathering was a tribute to the popularity of the Guild's president (Mr. Harold J. Poole) and his officers.

A programme to delight a ringer's heart had been arranged. In the morning a number of peals were planned, the afternoon was devoted peals were planned the afternoon was devoted to ringing in Leicester's well-known towers and a service in the Cathedral, at which the Bishop gave an inspiring address. The festival dinner was followed by a dance in the city's largest hall. For non-dancing handbell ringers a room was set apart for their enjoyment.

THE SERVICE.

A congregation approaching 400 attended the service in the Cathedral Church. The Provost (the Very Rev. H. A. Jones) conducted the service, and the address was given by the Bishop of Leicester (the Right Rev. G. Vernon South) South).

'The bells are like the heralds; they pro-claim great events,' said the Bishop. That week they would be rung to proclaim the 21st anniversary of the restoration of the ancient diocese of Leicester. Bells were so fully Christian; they had never been commercialised. The great crash and clash of the bells was by the still small voice which called the changes. They had a simile in the confusion in the world to-day. If only the nations would say, 'Christ is King,' and bring Him into everyday affairs, life would be so different from the discontent prevailing to-day.

THE DINNER.

There was a company of 270 at the dinner held at the Bell Inn. The Bishop presided, supported by the president (Mr. Harold J. Poole), the Provost (the Verv Rev. H. A. Jones), the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress and Mr. Ernest Morris. Representative guests present included Mr. A. B. Peck (Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. J. T. After the toast of 'The King,' the Provost submitted the health of the City of Leicester. recalling that for 700 years the church which was now the Cathedral had been closely associated with the city. He always thought of the city as combining the attractions of a very long tradition with the efficiency of a modern outlook.

The Lord Mayor (Ald. W. H. Smith), in his reply recalled his first association with ringing when as a boy he rang the bell at a mission when as a boy he rang the bell at a mission-church at Narborough.

The toast of 'The Diocese' was submitted by the Chief Constable of Leicester (Mr. Oswald J. B. Cole), who traced the develop-ment of the diocese from 713 A.D., and when it once extended from the Trent to the Thames. To-day, he said, there was a tendency towards materialism instead of looking towards the things spiritual. There was a great need for the rededication which was being associated with the 21st anniversary celebration, and he believed that bellringers were looked on as some of the most earnest churchworkers to be found in the diorest found in the diocese.

'A LONDON SURPRISE.'

In his reply, the Bishop of Leicester said he In his reply, the Bishop of Leicester said he was a suffragan bishop of London before he came to Leicester, and his arrival at Leicester was 'a London Surprise' (laughter). Calling attention to the forthcoming visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury for the start of the anniversary celebrations, the Bishop mentioned that the Primate was born in a Leicestershire parsonage and received his early education in a Leicestershire school.

As a diocese they were proud to have Mr.

As a diocese they were proud to have Mr. Harold Poole, their president, as a lay canon and to congratulate Mr. Ernest Morris upon ringing his 1,000th peal.

What really was the diocese? He would describe it as a household of faith—a collection of men and women who had faith in God and faith in Christ the eternal Son of God. Secondly, the diocese was the Christian home of all sorts and conditions of men. When they drank the health of the diocese he asked them to say, 'Hold on to the faith and be strong, and may its love, heauty and strength put heart into people who are losing heart, and put courage into a world that is in need of hope.'

The health of 'The Leicester Diocesan Guild' was submitted by Mr. G. W. Hunt, who said that in Mr. Harold Poole they had a Christian gentleman, and they were all delighted when it pleased the Bishop of Leicester to confer on him the rank of lay canon not only for his services to the Church, but to his profession. Never was a better officer in the courts or one who would try to help mankind than the president. The Guild also had that wonderful ringer in Mr. Ernest Morris, who along with 15 others had completed 1,000 peals and had written a classic on bellringing.

Mr. Hunt also mentioned three of the young Mr. Hunt also mentioned three of the young ringers of the Guild who had rung a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus—Mavis White-head, aged 13, Alan Cattell (16) and Kathleen Tilley (18). Last and not least he would mention Jill Poole, who had been secretary for their ringing festival and whose ringing performance were thrown not only in the discovery formances were known not only in the diocese, but wherever ringing took place in the British

THE HUMBLE MESSAGE.

'You can't all be Surprise ringers, and those who rang in country towers with five or six bells ringing standard methods should not be discouraged; their message was just as sincere as the great peal from a cathedral tower.' He hoped the bells they rang with such enthusiasm would bring the message of God to men and that they would try to build a new foundation of peace for all times.

Mr. Harold J. Poole, who was coupled with the toast, in reply said they had been told the Diocese of Leicester was celebrating in the very near future its coming-of-age, and those very near future its coming-of-age, and those responsible for the activities of the diocese and its spiritual welfare were looking back on the first 21 years with a certain amount of gratification and satisfaction. While they could not put the clock back, it was just as well to reflect from a ringing standpoint where they were. from a ringing standpoint where they were. Twenty-one years ago there was no Leicester Diocesan Guild; they were then part and parcel of the Midland Counties Association. Twenty-one years ago Fred Dexter was in full blast in Leicester and those who knew Fred Dexter would appreciate that remark, and appreciate what he did for ringing.

The success of any ringing guild or association depended on co-operation with the Church authorities, and they in the Leicester Diocesan Guild were very fortunate in that matter. Without the co-operation of the incumbents they would be helpless. They provided them with the bells and they were very happy and getting a great encouragement from those re-getting a great encouragement from those re-sponsible for the government of the diocese.

Mr. Poole also spoke of the pleasure it gave him to see so many of his friends from other associations as guests that day. It did show what appeal the Leicester Diocesan Guild made what appear the Lectused to the Exercise.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS GREETED.

The Bishop of Leicester gave the toast of 'The Visitors' and had a special word of welcome to Mr. George Williams, of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, who was no less than 90 years of age.

Mr. C. Harrison, in presenting the toast of 'The Ringing World,' expressed appreciation of the work of the Editorial Committee in placing the journal in a sound financial position.

The Editor, Mr. T. W. White, in reply called attention to the fact that the circulation had attention to the fact that in any period of attention to the fact that the circulation had reached a higher figure than in any period of the paper's history and that circulation had to be pegged. With a waiting list of subscribers it would mean those who did not pay their subscriptions promptly on the appointed day would find that their copy had been allocated to a new reader. Malmesbury Abbey Bells

Malmesbury Borough Council at their October meeting passed the following resolu-tion: 'That the Council considers the unnecessary and prolonged ringing of the Abbey Church campanile to be a public nuisance to the inhabitants of the built-up area surround-ing, and recommends to the Parochial Church Council that in future these bells be rung for not more than 20 minutes on any day for any not more than 20 minutes on any day for any purpose, except on Sundays, and then for recognised periods only.'

The mover of the resolution, Ald. Hodge, said: 'Last Saturday we had a gang from Bristol and Gloucester, who exercised their peculiar hobby for five and a quarter hours and made the town a perfect bed!am with their cacophony. Why should private individuals have to interfere with law-abiding citizens? Why they cannot stick to something like darts and dominoes goodness knows.

Cclr. F. Taylor, one of the Abbey bellringers, claimed that the bells were 'part and parcel of the church service.' 'The new bells,' he said, 'if and when they are put in—' 'God help us if they ever are,' interjected Ald. Hodge.

Celr. Taylor continued: 'When the belfry is bricked up in a proper manner the bells will not be heard by those living nearby.'

Celr. Taylor explained that the bells now were not properly tuned and said he appreciated the nuisance they caused.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM

A very enjoyable meeting was held on Oct. 4th at the ancient Parish Church of the Royal Borough of Sutton Coldfield. The bells were raised at 3 p.m. and were kept going in various methods until 4.30, when the Guild's form of service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. H. Boggon), who, in his address, first gave the members a hearty welcome to Sutton Coldfield.

The Master, Councillor Paddon Smith presided at the business meeting, when the following new members were elected: E. J. Lindley (Epsom), G. Dodds (Isleworth), George W. Fletcher (Caister-on-Sea), A. Timmins (Quinton), T. J. Lock (North Minms), all as life members; and D. Nock (Erdington) as an ordinary member. It was decided to hold the next bi-quarterly meeting at the Parish Church, Knowle, and the next quarterly meeting being also the annual meeting at head-quarters, the Tamworth Arms, Moor Street, on January 3rd.

After some discussion as to the possibility of holding the Henry Johnson Dinner next March as usual, it was unanimously agreed on the proposition of the treasurer, seconded by Mr. Albert Walker, that the secretary be instructed to make the best arrangements possible to hold the commemoration dinner on

The concluding event was the dance at the De Montfort Hall, the largest hall in the city. Here the Ambassadors Band played for a company of 1,200 people. Tune handbell ringing by the Beltonians, conducted by Mr. S. Harrison, was a popular interlude. The Bishop of Leicester attended the function and chatted freely with the guests.

On Saturday morning an outing to the Loughborough foundry was arranged. Three peals were rung during the morning, viz., Grandsire Triples at Anstey: Kent Treble Bob Major at South Wigston: and Stedman Triples at Wigston Magna. Peal arrangements were made by Mr. Ernest Morris.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL DINNER.

The tenth annual dinner on October 4th broke all attendance records, when for the first time the gathering was held in the Guildhall, Worcester. The Dean of Worcester (the Very Rev. Arthur Davies, D.Litt.) presided, supported by the Mayor of Worcester (Mr. W. R. Amphlett), the Rev. J. T. Davies (Rector of Halesowen), the Rev. J. G. Jefferies (Badsey), the Rev. A. M. Moreton Jackson (Leigh), Mr. J. R. Newman (vice-president) and Mrs. New-The tenth annual dinner on October 4th J. R. Newman (vice-president) and Mrs. Newman, Mr. S. T. Holt (Master) and Mrs. Holt, Mr. J. D. Johnson (general secretary) and Mrs. Johnson.

All parts of the diocese were well represented and visitors were present from Bilston (Staffs), Terrington St. John (Cambs.), Newport (Mon.), Newbury, Bromyard and Nottingham. Just before ginner a message of apology was received from the clerical secretary, the Rev. H. Hartley, who with Mrs. Hartley was prevented from attending through indisposi-

Following the honouring the loyal toast, Mr. J. R. Newman proposed 'Church and State.' Ringers, he said, were churchmen. Through the bells they prompted others to remember and tried to attract them to the Church. They were also citizens of the State, and both Church and State needed help, for both had big duties. With each individual doing a little to help, the difficulties would lessen, and, he concluded, might they soon be solved.

The Rev. J. T. Davies, who first replied, referred with pride to his own noble church, the belts and his local band at Halesowen. Ringing was essentially an English craft, for these was a web in this to develop in the there was nothing like it elsewhere in the world. Religion and ringing had much in common, for both had a lumble origin. He expressed the hope that the voice of the bells would again mean something in the life of the country and then there would be a return to religion and to God.

The Mayor, who replied for the State, mentioned that he was a member of the Cathedral voluntary choir and had also a connection with ringing through his mother's family—the Hintons, of Bristol and Worcester.

'THE ASSOCIATION.'

The toast of honour was entrusted to the Master Mr. S. T. Holt, who said that in peal ringing the Association had, during the past two years, almost reached its pre-war efficiency. That was a cause for some satisfaction, but, generally speaking, no great strides were being made in the local bands. Worcestershire always had been self-supporting, and they had even provided several for export, as quite a number of well-known ringers had learnt their ringing in the county. He appealed to each tower to maintain its band at full strength.

In reply, Mr. J. D. Johnson said he could never understand why it should be looked upon as the perquisite of the general secretary, but as the perquisite of the general secretary, but his first duty was the very pleasant one of asking the Mayor to accept their sincere thanks for the use of the Guildhall that evening. It was a worthy setting for their record gathering, and they felt they had the privilege of meeting in the most beautiful hall in the most beautiful county in England.

The Worcestershire Association had much of which to be proud. They were one of the very few associations annually to print their reports during the war: they were the first of reports during the war; they were the first of the territorial associations to revive their dinner since the war, and they had not yet had to consider raising their subscriptions. It was still eighteenpence, and to-day they were stronger financially than ever before. They had their problems, but these had always been with them, and they were no more acute now than in the past

In proposing the toast, 'Kindred Associations,' Mr. B. C. Ashford referred to the fraternal side of ringing and quoted instances in the past where old bands did not even in the past where old bands did not even know the ringers in adjoining towers. To-day they not only welcomed visitors at such functions as this, but on all occasions.

Mr. F. Colclough (Dudley and District) replied, and said it was the second big surprise in his ringing career, as he had only been asked to speak that evening. He warmly thanked the Worcestershire Association on behalf of all the visitors.

The toasts were interspersed with a first-

The toasts were interspersed with a first-class musical programme and all items met with warm appreciation. The artistes were: Miss Molly Tromans (Halesowen band, violin selections with her sister at the piano); Mrs. H. Tamlyn (contralto) and Mr. G. J. Henming (tenor), of Evesham, sang a duet and several solos; Eddy James, of the Cathedral choir (song): with funes on handbells by Messrs. G. J. Henming, J. Thomas and J. D. Johnson. These later peals were all rung as birthday compliments to the late William H. Hollier.-Thanking vou, yours faithfully, W. BOTTRILL.

On the day the Bury St. Edmunds District met at Horringer (October 18th), the local captain (Mr. J. A. Ford), his wife and family had sailed for Australia to start a new life. Mention of his departure was made by the secretary, who moved that in recognition of his services to the Suffolk Guild, Mr. Ford be made a non-resident life member. This was carried with acclamation.

WAKEFIELD CATHEDRAL BELLS DEDICATED

The great scheme of recasting and rehanging the bells of Wakefield Cathedral was carried the bells of Wakefield Cathedral was carried out through the generosity of the Mayor of Wakefield's 'Cathedral Bells' Fund and the Cathedral congregation. The dedication ceremony was performed on October 18th by the Bishop, of Wakefield (the Right Rev. Henry McGowan, D.D.).

It was early in 1936 that the bells were con-demned as being unsafe, owing to the serious oscillation of the massive wooden frame. At that time the Cathedral authorities were faced with tremendous financial commitments. The ravages of the death-watch beetle threatened the fabric and the necessary restoration work cost some £6,000. In addition the cost some £6,000. In addition the old Chantry Chapel on Wakefield Bridge was being restored, and it was, therefore, decided to defer the restoration of the bells. Nevertheless, a sum of £800 was collected; last year the Provost (the Very Rev. Noel T. Hopkins) decided that the time had come to launch the restoration appeal.

The then Mayor of Wakefield (Cclr. Mrs. Crow) readily consented to issue such an appeal for £4,000. Deep satisfaction was at once felt when the Provost made an offer of £1,000 as the Cathedral congregation's contribution. The appeal met with an overwhelming re-aponse and in the matter of weeks the fund had been oversubscribed.

The work of recasting and re-The work of recasting and rehanging was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and they have given the Cathedral a truly magnificent ring worthy of the grand old building, which for many years has been the centre of religious life in the city.

THE SERVICE.

The impressive service attracted much attention. The Mayor and Corporation, the M.P. for the City and many civic leaders were present. About 140 ringers from as far afield present. About 140 ringers from as far afield as London were admitted into the Cathedral, which was packed to capacity by Priends of the Cathedral. Outside some thousands of people were gathered in the streets waiting to hear the bells. Traffie had to be diverted from the centre of the city.

The service opened with the singing of Psalm 150, and the lesson was read by the Bishop of Pontefract. This was followed by the hymn, 'Praise to the Lord, the Almighty. After prayers the familiar ringers' anthem. 'When morning gilds the skies.' was sung as a procession, which included the Bishop and the Mayor (Cclr. Harry Watson), went to the

After tea ringing confinued until 9 p.m. Methods rung ranged from Bob Minor to Stedman Cinques. Everyone present was delighted with the go and tone of the bells. Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. were represented by Messrs. Paul Taylor and J. P. Fidler, and Messrs. William Potts, who were responsible for the clock and chimes, by Mr. R. H. Dove.

A set of new chimes had been composed for the Cathedral by Sir Walter Alcock lately organist of Salisbury Cathedral. They are unusual in that the quarters strike upon 12 bells, including the flattened sixth, and the fourth quarter's chimes lead to the striking of the tenor bell.

PAST HISTORY.

The first reference to Wakefield Cathodral bells was made in 1552, when, according to a survey, there were five great bells. In 1639 the bells were rehung. In 1704 three new bells were obtained, and in 1739 all the bells were hung in a new frame by James Harrison, of Barrow-in-Lincolnshire.

A new ring of eight was decided upon in 1778, and these were supplied by Messrs. Pack and Chanman, of Whitechapel, at a cost of (Continued foot of next column)

OBITUARY

MR. T. W. GILMOUR.
The Lancashire Association, particularly the Liverpool Branch, has sustained a great loss by the death of one of its oldest members, Mr. Thomas W. Gilmour. Mr. Gilmour died on October 11th and was buried at Sefton on Wednesday, October 15th. The bells of Sefton were rung by some of his old ringing friends. An impressive service was held at St. Peter's, Aintree which was the parish in which Mr. Aintree, which was the parish in which Mr. Gilmour and his family resided. The Vicar (the Rev. W. K. R. Strickland) gave an appropriate address.

Tommy Gilmour, as he was affectionately known became a member of the Lancashire Association upwards of 50 years ago, and in his early days was taught by the late Mr. Charles E. Wilson at the Church of St. Mary. Walton-on-the-Hill, where one of the finest six-bell companies in the country was then to be found. Mr. Golmour was one of this hand until 1919, when he became a member of the St. Nicholas' company and rendered valued service there for many years. He was an excellent ringer and striker on all numbers of Another sorrow was the loss through fire of the peal boards and records that were in the tower of St. Mary, Walton-on-the-Hill. Among these records were the ringing of 720's in the 41 Surprise Minor methods and the silent peal in seven Surprise Minor methods. Mr. Gilmour had rung many peals, but latterly he was more fond of short touches and an occasional quarter-peal.

A ringer from the age of 10, he had been district secretary of the Halesworth Branch since the Guild's formation, and his work as instructor and conductor and local ringing organiser will be sadly missed.

Mr. Lambert was an authority on records of smuggling on the East Coast, and on the River Blyth and the Suffolk dialect. He was regarded as Halesworth's historian.

The Rector (the Rev. C. D. Hulbert) officiated at the funeral service on October 23rd and mentioned Mr. Lambert's service to the church as clerk and verger for 35 years as well as a bellringer. There was a large congregation and fellow ringers rang handbells at the graveside and the Parish Church bells halfmuffled in the evening.

MEMORIAL TO MR. W. J. NEVARD. In the presence of a large gathering of ringers, a memorial tablet to Mr. W. J. Nevard was dedicated in Great Bentley Church

Nevard was dedicated in Great Bentley Church on October 11th. The tablet was erected by the Essex Association; it is of bronze and black engraved letters, and has been placed inside the nave near the entrance.

Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, Master of the Association, performed the dedication, and afterwards spoke of the sterling qualities of character of the late Mr. Nevard. The Vicar (the Rev. G. Colley) added his tribute in the course of his address. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £2 5s.
