GREETINGS

PROBABLY the uppermost thought in most adult minds as Christmas approaches is 'greetings,' good wishes for every happiness to friends far and near. And such greetings and remembrances are all the more treasured when times are troublous. The first Christmas came in troublous times; a whole country was in a turmoil over a census which a harsh invader had imposed on the Jewish people, for which each head of the family had to go to his native village. It was a time when conveyances were primitive. Imagine such circumstances to-day if each had to go to his birthplace, with a complete disregard for housing conditions. Amid such an upheaval came the infant Christ to this earth. Although the circumstances of His birth were of the lowliest, yet His reception was accompanied by heavenly grandeur as heavenly hosts sang their praises and greetings—'Peace on earth and goodwill towards men.'

It is this message of 'Peace on earth and goodwill towards men' that the bells will be saying to mankind as Christmas Day is ushered in. Try and visualise the picture in that New Zealand belfry where the first Christmas bells of 1950 will be rung. Probably it is a young New Zealander, who has been trained by those who have settled in the Dominion from this country, who, in the time-honoured phrase, will say, 'Look to, the treble's going, she's gone.' The global message has been started on the bells of Auckland, Christchurch, Hamilton, Papanui and Wellington, and with it go the greetings and best wishes of those New Zealand ringers.

Within three hours the refrain will be started again in Australia. Mr. W. H. Rowe has assembled with his band at St. Jude's, Randwick; there are also other companies in action, including those at Turrumurra and Parramatta, names now familiar to our readers through our peal and quarter peal columns. They had not finished their music before the twelve at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, with its tenor of 31½ cwt., take up the message, to be followed by the bells of St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, with its tenor of 41 cwt. There is new life at Adelaide; Mr. P. L. Cooper has created enthusiasm among undergraduates at the university and they have linked up with the Universities Association. Before leaving Australia we get the greetings from Mr. A. R. Wilson on behalf of the two rings at Hobart, Tasmania, separated from the mainland by a rough sea crossing.

We would like to think that the four rings of bells in India are rung to-day, but while we have readers there, letters indicate that they are ringers in exile as far as a practical contribution is made to the Exercise. The message, however, will be relayed from South Africa. It will be warm ringing in Durban now, where Mr. Chambers endeavours to keep the torch burning. There are also bells at Capetown Cathedral, Grahamstown and Woodstock.

The full majesty of the bells will be heard, however, in this country. How we would like to peep into the different belfries. As the white cliffs of Dover were reached we would see Mr. C. Turner, of Dover; upright and grey-haired, Mr. John Willis in a neighbouring sea-side port. The mind goes along the South Coast to Hastings, to Eastbourne with our many new friends made as the result of the Central Council meeting, to Brighton with its past traditions where 50 years ago some of the greatest ringers of the land added new chapters of fame to English ringing.

We would pause one minute in the Campanile of Chichester Cathedral before passing to that of Portsmouth and St. Mary's, Portsea, and hope to hear the bells of All Saints', Ryde, wafted across Spithead. On to the great port of Southampton as the glorious ten of St. Mary's ring out the message, and also picture the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead greeting his ringers at St. Michael's. At Christchurch Priory we hope to find that fine old veteran George Preston, ringing from the back of a chair and proceed on to Bournemouth with enthusiastic young ringers thronging the belfries of St. Peter's and St. John's, Surrey Road.

Greetings to that fine old College Youth, Mr. A. Macdonald, at Poole, before proceeding through the six-bell towers of Dorset, not forgetting, of course, the ten at Wimborne Minster and the eight at Lyme Regis with the Rev. C. Carew Cox and Mr. Stedman Morris (whose mind is doubtless with his Leicester friends). On into Devon with Mr. Aubrey Bennett at Buckfastleigh to Exeter with its famous towers apart from the Cathedral. We recognise Mr. C. G. Glass and Mr. E. W. Biffin before passing on to much-bombed Plymouth, the home of the Myers family, who have done so much for the maintenance of change ringing.

Cornwall, like Devon, gives much of the message of the bells in rounds and call changes, but change ringing is making progress. At Carbis Bay there will be the Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts and Mr. Harry Miles with other new friends ringing out across the wide Atlantic. Then come our Welsh friends—Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport, with his long association with the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, Mr. F. J. Hannington, of Cardiff, and then into the area of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild, with Mr. J. A. Hoare, of St. John's, Sketty. The message is taken up by the scattered towers of St. David's Guild before crossing the Channel into Ireland. Mr. F. E. Dukes will be waiting to greet us and at Holywood there will be Mr. John Dunwoody. We have other faithful ringers in old Ireland, and as we listen we can hear the bells of Limerick, whose team, conducted by Mr. B. A. Brislave, are the champions of all Ireland.

Across the Atlantic and into Canada. It is in distant Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia, that our art is chiefly practised, thanks to the enthusiasm of Mr. E. W. Izard and his band. To them falls the honour of giving the concluding notes of a great pæan of adoration and worship. And as the scene gradually fades out we picture sitting in his chair at Los Angeles, one far distant from his beloved bells, Ernest Weatherley. His contribution is now one of memories, and these fragrant memories of Christmasses past and present remain constant with those who realise that they are in a sense one with the angelic host, singing 'Glory to God in the highest; peace and goodwill to all men.'

ENROL AS NEW SUBSCRIBER

We are now enrolling new postal subscribers for 1951. Send £1 to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk, and have your 'Ringing World' each Friday morning during 1951.

Mr. F. Cooke, of Uxbridge reminds us that the claim that the peal of Chiltern Surprise at Ewhurst on November 15th was the first for the Guildford Diocesan Guild cannot be substantiated. The first peal of Chiltern Surprise ever rung was by the Guildford Diocesan Guild on January 25th, 1934, at Egham, Surrey. It was conducted by Mr. Alan
R. Pink, and the late Mr. John S. Goldsmith rang the third.

The Editor and staff of 'The Ringing World'
send their Christmas greetings to all ringers, far and wide, and especially to correspondents who, week by week, provide the journal with such a varied assortment of news of interest to the Exercise.

One of the many encouraging letters this week is from 12-year-old Doris Walden of Piddlehinton, Dorset, who expresses her thanks to all those who have given her a chance to ring in over 150 towers and especially to Mr.
J. Lilley and Mr. W. Panter for arranging outings.

Mr. Claude Cousins was in an unaccustomed role when he rang the treble to a peal of Minor in five methods at Terrington St. John on December 2nd; in fact, it is 29 years since he rang that bell to a peal. In the same peal Mr.
E. Masters was ringing the tenor to a peal for the first time. Their purpose was to 'circle' the tower.

The Good family, who made three of the band for the peal at Apsley End on December 4th, would like to say how much they appreciated the spirit of the remainder of the band in turning up when travelling conditions were so bad. Besides being a birthday compliment to Mr. Walter Ayre, this peal enabled a father to call his son's first peal and his daughter's first 'inside.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

A non-ringing friend of
Mr. G. Kenward had expressed a wish to watch a peal being rung. Mr. Kenward invited him to watch the peal at Snodland, Kent, on December 2nd, and he sat it out with apparent interest.
On being asked at the conclusion of the peal
if he was 'bored stiff' he replied he was a little stiff but not bored! We hope on that score he will go a step further and become a ringer.

There will be no practice ringing at St. Matthew's, Clapton, until the first Wednesday in 1951.

On December 30th an attempt will be made at Frodsham by the Chester Diocesan Guild for a peal of 8,032 Spliced Surprise in eight methods
(A. J. Pitman). The attempt will start at 2 p.m.

The band which rang the peal of Treble Bob Minor at Hallaton, Leicestershire, on December 9th, wish to acknowledge the excellent hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Russell.

The bells of St. Giles', Willenhall, Staffs, will be broadcast on Christmas morning. Ringing starts at 9 a.m. and the service, at which the address will be given by the Bishop of Lichfield, at 9.30 a.m.

Will conductors of quarter peals desirous of publication please write same in the style appearing on page 807 of this journal. After the town and county give the date and method. Thank you.

Mr. E. Sutton, of St. Ambrose's Church, Bristol, celebrated his 21st birthday on December
9th. In honour of the occasion, a peal of Bob Major was rung at Bitton, six of the band scoring a 'first' of some sort. The band and friends and relations of Mr. Sutton were entertained after the peal, at Bristol. Handbell-ringing and party games finished a very happy day.

A CHRISTMAS QUIZ FOR RINGERS

By KEWSETT

Kewsett again presents his popular Christmas Quiz to the Exercise. Three book prizes are offered for answers nearest to the correct solution. Closing date, January 10th, 1951. Envelopes to be addressed, 'Christmas Quiz,' c/o The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Guildford.

1. Which church, with a ring of eight, has its tower directly over the principal altar?
2. Which church, with a ring of eight, has no aisle opposite the main altar?
3. Which church, with a ring of five, has a memorial window showing many different kind of birds, as a memorial to a famous naturalist, who was Vicar of the parish?
4. Where, in a church with a ring of eight, is there a stained-glass window with inscription concerning the 'fifth Sunday in February'?
5. Where, in a church with a ring of eight, is there a recently painted mural extending the whole width of the west wall?
6. Where, in a church with a ring of eight, was Dorothy Sayers' father once Rector?
7. Where is the tallest spire over a ring of ten bells?
8. Where, in a church with a ring of eight, is there a stone statue holding a dodecahedron?
9. Where are there Russian bells in England?
10. Which two churches have the same number of bells, the same weight of tenor, the same dedication and the same place name?
11. Which ring of bells is nearest the highest point in England?
12. Where can the old year be last rung out?
13. Which two rings of bells are nearest together of all hung anticlockwise? State distance apart.

14. Which two churches with rings of 12 are nearest together?
15. Which two churches with rings of 12 are farthest apart?
16. How many of the changes on six bells are divisible by 11 (treating each change as a number of six figures)?
17. How long is the longest touch of Grand-sire Triples obtained by using an ordinary bob or single at every lead?
18. Solve the following anagrams. All the solutions are phrases connected with Stedman's Principles:—

WINCH BOOT TUB
OOLUG-BEDDED
SHALLOW NUTTER
PLUG WREN HOLLOW
DAMN TRIPLES PINCES

19. Having rung the extent of Plain Bob on their ring of bells, the ringers of Ursa Major augmented their ring with two more trebles and then rang the extent on their new ring. The number of changes in the second peal exceeded twice the number of changes in the first peal by 15 times the number of blows in the first peal. How many bells have they now?
20. Six youngsters rang a plain course of Bob Minor on our ring of six, which is hung clockwise and in a good circle. Alec rang next to Jill. Tom and Alec did not dodge together. John was on Jean's left, and Tom was opposite Jean. Mary cannot ring the tenor, neither can the other girls? Which bells were they ringing?

THE BELFRIES OF ENGLAND

The Churches' call to prayer
Of God's great goodness tells,
As Gospel tidings
Fill the air
With music, from the bells.

List to their merry peal,
They lilting changes ring
As lovers wed
(For woe or weal)
Their festive offering.

Or doth one lonely bell
With quiv'ring sadness sound?
Then know a friend
Bids thee farewell,
For he our hope hath found.

Our bells strict vigil keep,
They mark each useful hour
That in God's time
Who works may reap
The blessings of His power.

Yet they in silence wait
Man's aid each voice to raise.
One, two, three, four,
Five, six, seven, eight
Then blend in songs of praise.

Long may our bells be heard.
Long may our ringers' skill.
In constant witness
Of God's word,
Each one his task fulfil.

G. CAMPBELL GRILLS.

Tavistock.

50 PEALS AT APSLEY END

The bells of St. Mary's were installed in 1871 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank but it was not until 1902 that the first peal was rung. This was in seven methods—two Treble Bob and five plain—being conducted by George Price, who rang quite a number of peals around this district about this time.

Another lapse, this time until 1923, when Walter Ayre called a peal of Plain Bob. Then on to 1926, when two peals were rung—Grand-sire Doubles and Plain Bob. Things started moving a little now, but owing to the bad 'go' of the bells not many peals were attempted.

Walter Ayre now became a regular visitor to Apsley and joined the local band. His influence made a vast difference to progress, until in 1936 a peal in 14 methods was successful. Peals were now rung in various numbers of methods and, in 1938, peals in 25 methods and 24 Surprise methods were brought round.

After the war a new start had to be made and what an uphill task it was! However, progress has been made, several peals of seven Surprise, one of 14 Surprise and one of 21 methods having been rung.

We come to the 50th: several attempts were made for 30 methods without success. The golden wedding anniversary of a one-time ringer approaches—a peal must be rung for this—so it was decided to ring seven Surprise—and a good peal it was. The conductor could be none other than Walter Ayre, who conducted 43 of the 50.

In these peals 43 different methods were rung. Twenty-four of the peals were in seven methods, one each in 10 and 11, four in 14, one each in 21, 24, and 25. May the next 50 be as varied!

YORK MINSTER

Ladies' Guild in Memorable Service

In a service of rare beauty, the women of Yorkshire on December 9th welcomed back to the north transept of York Minster the famous Five Sisters Windows, which were removed for safety when war broke out in 1939.

Many women's organisations were represented in a huge congregation of 2,500. At the invitation of the Dean and Chapter the service was sung by a special choir of 100 supported by 800 massed singers from the Women's Institutes of Yorkshire.

The lessons were read by a Girl Guide, members of the Girls' Friendly Society, the Mothers' Union and the Women's Institutes, and a Sister of the Order of the Holy Paraclete.

In his address the Dean described the architect or mason who conceived the windows as a genius who had created a masterpiece of architecture unparalleled in the world. Tracing the history of the windows from the 13th century, he said: 'There is nothing in architecture like this row of slender giantesses, each 53½ feet high and each five feet and one inch broad. Even without their stained glass they were bound to be five of the most renowned windows in Christendom simply from their enormous height unbroken by any stone mullions or tracery.'

BATTERY OF CAMERAS

Some months ago the Minster ringers had requested the Dean and Chapter to be allowed to invite the Ladies' Guild to ring the service touch on the middle eight, and for the Yorkshire Association (Eastern District) to hold a meeting. Permission was readily granted with the result that between 79 and 80 ringers crowded into the ringing chamber.

Advance publicity had attracted press photographers and before the bells could be raised, the ladies had to face a battery of cameras and flashlights. As a result, several well-known lady ringers found their pictures in the local and national press on Sunday and Monday mornings.

The Ladies' Guild members rang exceptionally well and found the long draught of rope (80 feet), plus the weight of metal (tenor 25 cwt., treble 9 cwt., approx.) no apparent handicap. The way they handled their ropes and struck their bells earned the praise and admiration of the men. Before the event, several 'Doubting Thomases' had thought it was too much for the ladies to attempt. The following took part in the service touch of Grand-sire Triples:—Mrs. D. E. Kelly 1, Miss I. B. Thompson 2, Miss G. Burchnell 3, Miss K. Burchnell 4, Miss F. Laffin 5, Mrs. K. Lewis 6, Miss J. Poole (conductor) 7, Mrs. H. Poole 8. This was the first time in history that a complete band of ladies had rung for a Minster service.

Before the start of the service the Minster Sacrist, Rev. A. J. McMullen, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Dean and Chapter.

BUSINESS MEETING

After tea, a short business meeting was held in the belfry at which Mr. Fox, vice-president, expressed thanks to the Dean and Chapter and the Minster ringers for being allowed to ring the bells and hold a meeting. Mrs. D. E. Kelly, Northern Branch secretary, Ladies' Guild, added her thanks on behalf of the ladies and said how much they had enjoyed the visit. Mr. H. Walker replied and said that as soon as the Minster knew about the service, they thought it a wonderful opportunity to invite the Ladies' Guild to ring the service touch, and for the Yorkshire Association to hold a meeting. He hoped they would all come again next year when, without doubt, the Yorkshire Association dinner would be held in York.

As this was mainly a ladies' event, a fashion note would seem to be appropriate. The method diagram jumper worn by the wife of a well-known composer and conductor was much admired. Patterns are, however not available.

Now, ladies, what about a hand for twelve next time? H. W.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—3

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

Mr. Fussell's diary labelled 1881 is actually dated September, 1885, and has this note on the first page: 'Having resolved to make up my Diary Complete from the even year 1880, the following is the result of all notes and memorandums collected in my various notebooks connected with any ringing I have taken part in for the year 1881:—

'O all ye bells and ye ringers thereof,
Praise ye the Lord.
Ring unto Him, and sing unto Him,
For ever and ever.'

He begins on Saturday, January 1st: 'Measured myself. at the time with God's help being in good health: chest cir., 33in.; nape, 25½in.; thighs, 18½in.; calves, 12½in.; right arm, 9½in.; wrist, 6½in.; height, 5ft. 8½in.; weight, 9st. ½lb.

'Rang the old year out last night at 12. Got up this morning at 10 to 9, had no breakfast, got to Windsor at 10, heard the Curfew and Parish church bells ringing. [Next day] Sunday received for ringing during 1880 from W. Leader 30s.; chimed for morning service at Slough and staid to it. Rang at 6 o'clock service. A party in at my brother's.'

Then followed varied notices of ringing and chiming at Slough with handbell practices, etc.

On January 16th, Sunday, he went skating at Langley Park and 'spoke with Sir Robert Harvey,' and on the Tuesday, January 18th, 'a remarkable day! Heavy storms of snow, railway blocked and traffic all suspended. The worst day known for 30 years. 1½ hours riding by train as it had to be dug out. Wednesday I walked to Windsor. The Dutchman's Farm completely snowed up to the roof eaves, and the river nearly blocked.'

It must be appreciated that at this time there were no buses or suchlike conveyances for getting about as there are to-day. Most of the journeying was done by walking very long distances or cycling through hail, rain, snow, or sunshine, and the return journeys in the dark along the country lanes speak much for the great enthusiasm shown by such a pioneer of bellringing.

A typical Sunday's occupation noted many times at this period is 'went to service in the morning, chimed in afternoon and evening at Slough, and afterwards rang handbells at Alf's, "pricking out G minor—see Troyte, p. 46-51." On Saturday, February 5th, 1881, 'went to Slough church and rang with Baron and others from 7 till 8.30. Went to Gater's, "The Crown Tap," and rang the bells till 10. Rang 720 Grandsire Minor first time being the West Middlesex Association meeting there, conducted by the Instructor to the Association, W. Baron.' The next day for service he records 'three 120's of Grandsire Doubles called by me.' At this time Mr. Fussell was in the Volunteers, and he records many instances when he went to drill with them. On February 13th he records, 'Hutchinson preached a good sermon at Slough in morning. Had a walk after coming out of church. Went to Staines by train in evening.'

He states during next week 'my employer P. J. Byrne an Architect of Windsor laid up!', and on several occasions he reports 'went sketching.' On February 26th, 'rang at Slough with Wilder, Woodley, Pursey, Steel, Alf Leader and others till 8.30. Gater's room was full so went to Nallis's at the Royal Hotel ringing handbells till 10, came home with J. Perryman.

The next day he 'chimed and staid to the morning service at Slough with F. Simkins. walked to Chalfont St. Peter and back with C. Sargeant and rang for evening service. Rang with the Vicar's son, a very fat boy. Got home from Chalfont at 10 to 10, made rough sketch in my 1st pocket book. Was told the Vicar's son often walked about at night to try and reduce the enormous quantity of flesh he makes, causing him great inconvenience, which was the reason he took to ringing.'

THE 'BELL NEWS' PUBLISHED.

Mr. Fussell records February, 1881, 'The 1st no. of a journal called "The Bell News and Ringers' Record" came out this month, a paper devoted to ringing matters alone. Gave order for it at the booksellers (Herbert).'

On Sunday, March 6th, 'chimed and staid to service at Slough in morning. C. Sargeant and I walked to Beaconsfield in the afternoon at 3, staid to service. I made a sketch or two, saw some of the ringers, got home ¼ to 11, tired. Called in Chapman's at Farnham, went among the bells at Beaconsfield.'

On the Wednesday he 'walked 2 miles in 19½ minutes, heavy boots, leggings and usual clothes on for training. Strong wind. Making an etching of interior of Langley tower?' The next day, March 10th, was the Prince of Wales' marriage, and he rang at Slough, then walked to Beaconsfield and made sketches. The following Saturday he 'had bicycle ride in afternoon. Walked to Uxbridge and to St. Andrew's 7.15 by enquiring for Hillingdon church was led out of my way to old church there. After ringing at St. Andrew's with Rev. C. Mayo we went to the old church of St. Margaret and rang, then returned by train.'

WORKING IN LONDON

Mr. Fussell then went to work in London, and he records 'packing things to go to Town March 16th; St. Patrick's Day, 17th, this being the first time I ever went to London to work. Got to 303 Strand at 10.13 a.m., called on W. Baron in evening and saw St. Martin's church—walked about generally. On Saturday went from Waterloo to Staines, got to Egham 5.40 and rang the 6 bells there. Baron present and nearly tight! Left Egham 10.18. At Staines while waiting for train played some tunes on handbells in waiting room. I left my carpet bag and stick there. Walked from Datchet to Slough, got to bed 11.30 p.m.'

He records that he recovered his lost bag, and rang for the first time at St. John's, Waterloo, the 3rd to 1,000 Grandsire Triples. The weather was wet and miserable and he 'walked all the way home to Finsbury Park and got to bed 12.20 with my old chum Jim'!

On Sunday, March 27th, he rang for first time at St. Andrew's, Holborn Viaduct. 'Went to Hopkins' house in Plough Court and rang handbells. Hopkins showed his peal book with about 60 peals entered. Rang trebles to Grandsire Royal and saw their old black dog. Next day to St. Clement Danes, where ringing stopped owing to broken rope, but saw their peal hook at the meeting room.'

On April 1st 'went to Cumberland Headquarters, met J. Cox, Stack, Baron and others and saw them ring a touch of Stedman Cinques with J. Hayes, a College Youth. Got home 12.30 p.m. April 2nd my sister Flo's birthday. Went home to Slough and got book left by Mr. H. Appleton called "Hubbard's Campanologia."

The following Saturday he went by train to Isleworth—took notes, etc., and rang in touches of Grandsire Triples. Afterwards

'went to the pub by the Windmill Bridge for awhile and got home midnight.' Next day 'went to the "Olympic"—my first visit to a Theatre.'

During the Easter week-end he rang for all services at Slough and on the Friday following while at work at 303, Strand, 'I could hear St. Clement's bells ringing during the afternoon as my office window looked out into Holywell St. Went up the tower at 7 and let two of the bells down—walked home.'

On Sunday, April 24th, 1881, he went to St. Andrew's, Holborn, and rang both morning and evening, 500 and 700 Grandsire Triples, and the next week rang at St. Clement Danes the 4th to Grandsire Caters. 'H. Hopkins stood behind me.' Mr. Fussell went to St. Martin's-in-the-Fields and rang on eight, then heard some Stedman Cinques, there being 33 members present. Mr. Appleton, a ringer at the Curfew tower at Windsor, 'gave me a copy of Hubbard's Work (1868 edition), which he had come across at a furniture sale!'

WITH LONDON RINGERS

During the next few weeks Mr. Fussell mentions many walks and cycle rides to practices, services, etc., including visits to churches in the city of which we hear little these days. Thus on May 4th, 1881, he rang at St. Dunstan's, Fleet Street, a touch of Triples, 'went up on hearing the ring while passing.' Next day he rang 'call changes' at St. James', Clerkenwell, and later at St. Anne's, Highgate. Other places visited were St. Andrew's, Uxbridge; St. Stephen's, Hampstead Heath; Kensington, where he rang Grandsire on the back eight of the ten, with Baron, Barrett, Newton, Hopkins, Dains, Cox, Nelms, etc., names well known in ringing history. He also rang at the Chapel of Ease, Holloway, when he 'received of Dains 4s.,' and a similar sum on a later occasion here. On one occasion he heard St. Clement's ringing while at work, and met Hopkins, Dains and others coming down, 'and we all went to St. Bride's and rang back ten—received 1s. of Dains.'

In June he records 'some Minor at Slough. Farnham men over. W. Leader in a wax about it. Walked into Windsor and saw Steel and Woodley in Eton. Rang at the Curfew tower, and then saw the firework display from Eton Bocus fields.' On the 29th he had a cycle ride of nine miles and, nearing home, fell over the handles and broke his lower jaw bone. He says, 'I had little sleep or rest for many nights afterwards: my jaws were bandaged, my teeth wired, and everything to swallow was in liquid form, being unable to masticate anything for some weeks.' One day a short time after the accident he 'said goodbye to my kind old landlady and returned to Slough, greatly surprising my parents when I walked indoors, they having known nothing of what had happened. Thank God the fall was not worse.' When out once, he continues, 'I was nearly taken up for a notorious murderer named Lefroy, my features being disguised by the bandages. The said Lefroy having coldly murdered an old gentleman in a Brighton train, and had made his escape from detention for some time.'

We have recently seen correspondence on 'wedding fees,' and an interesting instance is quoted by Mr. Fussell in September, 1881. He says, 'Went up and oiled the bells and rang at 12 and 3 o'clock. Met again at 6 and rang till 8. Received 5s. for ringing' [for Miss Charsley's wedding].

About this period Mr. Fussell seems to have been out ringing nearly every evening, and his diary is abundant with walks and cycle rides to neighbouring towers. A typical example is quoted on September 3rd, 1881:—

'Rode to Twyford and walked to Hurst from there in company with some Farnham and Boyne Hill ringers. Arrived at church 11 a.m. and rang Grandsire Minor. From

BELLS IN EGYPT AND PALESTINE

A destroyer on which my brother was serving had put into Alexandria just before V.E. Day. He rang me at Kasfariet, we met in Cairo and, to our joyful surprise, Grandsire Doubles broke through the noise of traffic. On a previous Sunday evening I'd heard a 12-bell record, and it sounded very good to me, from All Saints' Cathedral tower, but this five-bell music was certainly no recording.

My brother had been out over five years; myself much less. We just looked at each other, said 'Grandsire Doubles,' and accelerated with all speed in the direction. We arrived, somewhat breathless, at St. Joseph's Cathedral. Our hopes should never have been allowed to get so high; we were disappointed to find but one brown-robed English Franciscan chiming, and quite by ear, what he'd heard years before.

When passing through Ismailia some months later, my train stopped long enough for me to hear this very English memory again. I wonder if our Cairo friend had moved, or taught the distinctive air to another Friar of the Order.

Visiting the Copt Church of Abu Sarga, built over the cellar in which the Holy Family lived in Cairo, apparently a very poor church without even one bell, we found a priest walking up and down outside, clashing cymbals together to announce divine service.

When in Palestine I climbed some 150 feet up the Jerusalem Y.M.C.A. Byzantine tower and walked round the 35-bell carillon from Croydon. On Easter Saturday evening I heard, across the city, this fine carillon play through just once, 'Jesus Christ is risen to-day.' Immediate enquiry revealed that this was for a recorded broadcast to America on Easter Sunday morning. I was sorry not to hear more of these bells and thought the operators' technique perfect.

The place of Crucifixion is not definitely known. The Church of the Holy Sepulchre stands on the site believed by Constantine in A.D.300, to be Calvary. In the Greek tower are ten bells brought from Russia 75 years ago; they were not hung for ringing and I did not even hear them chime. Six different services are regularly held at the same time in this one church, one in Aramaic, the common tongue of 2,000 years ago.

Four bells, rung electrically, in the nearby St. Saviour's Convent, are frequently heard. On the other side of the city, beyond the Damascus Gate and past the Tomb of the Virgin Mary and Joseph, the Church of all Nations, built over the betrayal rock in the Garden of Gethsemane, has three bells which came from Italy 27 years ago. They are bolted by their canons to wooden headstocks, to which are fitted iron wheels. The bells are rung half circle only, to and fro.

In the garden, tended by a small Arab boy, were flowering, when I saw them in April, marguerites, lupins, snapdragons, carnations, sweet peas, tulips, violets, pansies, wallflowers, iris, geraniums, lavender, cyclamen, with rosemary hedging. Olive trees in the garden are reputed to be 2,000 years old.

The road to Bethlehem from Jerusalem leads past the field of the Shepherds. The Y.M.C.A. carol service is held here on Christmas Eve. The Christmas Eve service in the Church of the Nativity lasts up to five hours, with only a very few chairs provided for the very old and infirm. The church has three towers, the Greek tower, with ten bells; the Armenian tower, five bells bolted to girders, and ropes tied on the clapper flight: the Franciscan tower with five bells (these I was told are the Christmas bells bolted by their canons to wooden headstocks and swung by means of rope and lever). Their wheels had been removed some time previous to 1945. The church is built over the stable of the inn, the stable being a rock cavern with numerous passages. This very unusual stable is regarded as being one of the few authentic sites of Christian reverence in Palestine.

Quarrying underground and leaving caverns is not confined to Bethlehem. Stone for the Pyramids left tremendous caverns across the Nile, and Solomon would appear to have obtained stone for the first temple from under Jerusalem itself. I saw stones being shaped in this cavern just as they were 3,000 years ago. King Solomon's temple was built on a hill over and around the stone on which Abraham, some 800 years before, had offered Isaac as a sacrifice. The stone is now the centre of the Mosque of Omar. The high, empty, untidy temple area, but for this mosque, is large enough to allow every cathedral and abbey in this country to stand side by side. So much for Solomon's architecture. There are no bells there, I'm sorry to report.

THE SABBATH BELLS

Across the scented air came stealing
The sound of church bells gently pealing.
Sounding the message far and near,
Come, worship, and lend thine ear.

This lovely, peaceful way of life
Seemed to me so far from strife,
Just as if Thy presence there,
Was in that garden fresh and fair.

Those bells for centuries have been rung.
Like to the hymns we all have sung;
May it be Thy almighty will
For evermore to sound them still;
So all concerned, whate'er position,
Shall carry on this great tradition.

OBITUARY

MR. G. RADLEY

The ringers of Broxbourne, Herts, have suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. George Radley at the age of 74.

He joined the band at Broxbourne in 1905, and two years later was elected Master of the band, a post he held continuously till his death. He was well known in ringing circles in Hertfordshire, being a past president of the County Association. He was also a veteran of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and he will be missed at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, as much as at the Hertfordshire towers.

The funeral service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Lane, took place on December 4th at St. Augustine's Church, Broxbourne, and the interment took place in the churchyard.

The bells were rung open by the local band before the service and were conducted by Mr. C. Gouldsmith, 65 years a ringer in the tower, a lifelong friend of Mr. Radley.

Visiting ringers present included Messrs. Newman and Scott (Chesham), Mumford (Hoddesden), A. S. Carter (Hertford County Association, Eastern District) and Messrs. Edmondson and Page (Cumberland).

DEDICATION

HELLINGLY, SUSSEX

Sunday, November 26th, was a memorable day for the village of Hellingly, Sussex. After two years and three months the bells were heard once more.

They were dedicated by the Right Rev. E. G. Reid, the Archdeacon of Hastings, during the morning service. After the second lesson and during the singing of the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' the Archdeacon and the Vicar, the Rev. R. W. Shaw, M.A., accompanied by the choir, led by the cross bearer, proceeded to the west end of the church.

The choir then remained below while the Archdeacon, the Vicar and the cross bearer ascended the stairs into the tower, where the Vicar, addressing the Archdeacon, said that it was through the generous gifts of the congregation and parishioners that had made this scheme possible, and asked him to bless the bells in the name of Almighty God.

The Archdeacon then gave charge of the ropes to the captain, Mr. Ben Stepney, telling him that by his example he would keep the ringers ever mindful of the service which they render to God and His Church.

Immediately the bells were rung to 36 changes of Bob Minor by the following local ringers: C. Booth 1, G. Beency 2, B. Stepney 3, E. G. D. Tonkin 4, G. J. Piper 5, F. H. Hicks (cond.) 6.

After the service, the bells were rung for an hour by the local ringers, and with the assistance of Mr. W. A. Kitchenside, of Mayfield, they rang a variety of methods up to and including Ken Treble Bob Minor.

The founders, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., are to be congratulated on the excellent job they have made in recasting the 3rd and 4th and rehanging the bells on an entirely new iron frame. The weights of the bells are as follows:—

BELLS AND RINGERS OF ST. OSWALD'S, OSWESTRY

By W. A. FARMER

THE ancient towns and villages of England are renowned the world over for their parish churches, the architecture of which reflects the spiritual and material well-being, or otherwise, of the district through the ages.

One aspect of our churches is the ring of bells contained in many, and certainly Shropshire is not lacking in such churches or bells.

The characteristic sound of bells, rung as they should be rung—one man to each bell and each bell swinging a complete circle each time it sounds, is peculiarly English.

It can only be found in isolated examples outside the British Isles, notably in Australia and New Zealand.

Many of these bells have been sounding the grave and the gay for upwards of two centuries. Their secular use has declined with the separation of the corporate life of the community from its original centre, the church; but these same bells still call, Sunday by Sunday, from our ancient churches, and more rarely on civic and national occasions.

CAST IN 1717

Oswestry, as befits a town of great antiquity, boasts an imposing church dedicated to St. Oswald, a King of Northumberland. The massive tower has housed a ring of eight bells since 1717. In that year these bells were brought from the famous foundry at Gloucester. The inscriptions cast in each bell are given below. It will be noticed that three have since been recast.

Treble: John Rudhall, Gloucester. Fecit 1809: John Taylor, Loughborough, Refecit 1880.

Second: A.R. 1717.

Third: A.R. 1717.

Fourth: Prosperity to all our Benefactors, A.R. 1717.

Fifth: C. and G. Mears, Founders, London, 1846.

Sixth: Abra Rudhall, of Gloucester, Bell-founder, 1717.

Seventh: Jno. Jones, Jno. Dawson, Richard Troy, Jno. Rogers, Ch-wardens, A.R. 1747. Tenor, marked 16 cwt.: God save the church, Edwrd. Parry, Vicar, Richd. Lloyd, Esq., Richd. Owen Gnt., Hump Kynaston Gnt., Nath Price Gnt., Church-wardens Anno Dom 1717.

The newer bells match their companions in tone, an octave of mellow notes quite different from the more strident notes of modern tuning.

The ring was rehung in 1880 by Taylors of Loughborough, and was in continuous use until 1933, when the bearing of the fourth bell broke, effectively stopping ringing for a short time.

This also stopped the clock chiming, as the same bells are used. Immediate and widespread interest was shown throughout the town, and it is refreshing to read in a newspaper report of the time: 'Several Oswestry workshops state, on their returns to the Board of Trade, that they time their working hours by the Oswestry Church Clock.'

A subscription list was opened by the Mayor, Councillor J. H. Profit, with Mr. W. B. Broughall as treasurer. Amounts large and small poured in from parishioners, business firms, townspeople and Oswestrians everywhere, and in the same year Messrs. Taylor installed a new frame and new bearings, which are expected to last another century or so.

What of the men who rang Oswestry bells through this period?

Enough is known to show that the assiduous practice which is necessary to produce English change ringing, when each sequence occurs only once, giving immediate place to another, has seldom or never been lacking in Oswestry.

In 1731 the full peal of 5 040 changes, still recognised as the standard performance, was rung in three hours sixteen minutes. The names of the ringers have come down to us:—Thomas Edwards, Robert Kitchiner, John Lloyd, Charles Jones, Matthew Burton (the conductor), John Avance, John Price, Richard Tomley.

The method of producing these changes, Grandsire Triples, is still used almost exclusively at Oswestry, and in many towns to-day. These ringers were necessarily local, and the performance ranks as a notable one from a national standpoint.

HOLT'S GRANDSIRE

In 1785 members of an 'Anacreontic Society' rang 'Holt's Grandsire' in three hours fifteen minutes. This society was named after a Greek poet, and met at the George Inn to discuss the topics of the day.

We may imagine that convivial evenings followed, and it seems clear that the members were of some social standing, as names from London, Wrexham, Shrewsbury, Shifnal, Anglesey, are given in records.

Bellringing was a pastime of 'gentlemen' at that time, and it is not surprising to find the famous Shifnal ringer Samuel Lawrence conducting a peal of Bob Major here in 1800.

Probably the ringers were collected from various centres as far afield as Birmingham and Wrexham, as it seems unlikely that Oswestry ringers knew this method.

Mr. Griffiths Whitfield, a solicitor and churchwarden, appears to have revived the change-ringing band in 1887, as detailed records have been kept of the formal business meetings with the incumbents, and also of members joining, their progress week by week, and the performances of the band as a whole.

Two evenings a week were required for practice either on the tower bells or on handbells, but we also find outings to Shrewsbury Floral Fete, to London, to Welsh beauty spots as well as other churches with rings of bells.

The bells were heard three or four times on Sundays for many years, and 6 a.m. on Christmas Day. Mayor's Day, birthdays of the Royal Family, etc., are recorded in great detail.

HANDBELLS

As might be expected, the full peal of 5,040 changes was the object of much effort, and various Oswestry ringers rang such peals at Llangollen and Whitechurch; and finally Holt's Ten-part peal of Grandsire, conducted by Mr. David Davies, was rung by a local band in 1894. The ringers were Messrs. W. Morris 1, David Davies 2, R. Martin 3, Ed. Jones 4, W. H. Jones 5, Richard Edwards 6, Robert Evans 7, J. R. Wellings (tenor).

Tune ringing on handbells was also much practised, and very much appreciated too, if we may again refer to newspaper cuttings of the time, Park Hall, then the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wynne Corrie, was frequently visited, but at Christmas time their carols were in great demand everywhere.

During the next few years many of the band rang in peals of the usual length at Oswestry and elsewhere, and other methods of more intricacy were practised and rung, particularly Stedman's Triples, a more difficult method than Grandsire and generally considered more musical, although similar in many respects.

Coming to more modern times, we cannot help noticing among the names of present-day ringers that of Mr. David Davies, who rang his first three-hour peal in 1893, 'five months after he first pulled a bell.' His record since then as ringer and conductor is one of which he may well be proud.

In the same year Mr. Morris J. Morris rang his first peal, at Llangollen. He rang and conducted peals at Oswestry for many years, afterwards removing to Birmingham, where he now lives, aged 83. He does little ringing now, but has amassed the huge total of 426 peals, many on twelve bells and of twice the usual length.

The name of Kynaston is associated with north-west Shropshire from the earliest times, and among the ringers were the brothers H. and R. Kynaston.

Another brother, Mr. W. B. Kynaston, was at Oswestry and then Shrewsbury, and is now at Swindon, Wilts, and Master of the Bristol and Gloucester Association of Change Ringers. He has conducted and rung peals in many methods, as well as spending a great deal of time instructing learners in the district.

A sister used also to belong to the band at Oswestry, but to-day the only representative of the fairer sex is Mrs. James.

60 YEARS RINGING

Finally, we must mention Mr. John Hughes, Master of Oswestry Bellringers since 1929. To-day, after 60 years as a ringer, and at 80 years of age, he no longer rings long peals, but takes a rope when required. He is also a sidesman, churchwarden, vergier and deputy clerk to St. Oswald's, so that we may well endorse his wish 'to stand behind a learner to see that he doesn't go wrong.'

His son, Mr. Harold Hughes, is at hand to deputise when necessary, and with the added experience of Mr. David Davies, the bells of Oswestry will continue to sound as they have done since 1717.

The ringers to-day are Messrs. J. Hughes, H. Hughes, R. Kynaston, H. Kynaston, F. Dickinson, E. Griffiths, J. Warton, D. Mann, G. Beaton, E. Jones, A. Casewell, and David Davies (conductor).

KNOW THE FIVE-MINUTE BELL

Dear Sir—Some years ago I had a Yorkshire terrier who would stay in her basket while all the bells were ringing, but as soon as the five-minute bell was rung, she would always make straight for the front door and sit until I came home. While on tour in Somerset, she would pull the wife to the tower where we were ringing.

BELLRINGERS' SUNDAY

The third annual Bellringers' Sunday was held at Barwell on November 26th and, throughout the day the Barwell ringers' own hymns were sung and special prayers offered.

The Rector, preaching at the morning service, reminded the congregation of the message of the bells in their tower, and that they were fortunate in having one of the most enthusiastic and regular bands of ringers in the country.

Mr. Ernest Morris gave the address at Evensong and his most interesting discourse was all too short. Collections for the day were devoted to the Belfry Repair Fund.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

As the Tonbridge District of the Kent Association did not hold a meeting in December, the East Grinstead Guild thought it an opportune time to visit that area and the meeting at Sevenoaks on December 9th proved a great success.

Owing to a wedding, the bells were not available until 4 p.m., but good use was made of them in the hour before tea with rounds, Grandsire and Plain Bob for the beginners, while the more expert knocked off Stedman, Double Norwich and Superlative.

Mr. E. J. Ladd presided over the meeting in the belfry, when three new members were elected, and the next meeting announced as Speldhurst, in January, with Maresfield proposed for February.

After the usual votes of thanks, the company of over 30, from 14 different towers, manned the ropes once more. Cambridge Major went like clockwork and with the help of two locals, who had returned from an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Yorkshire, a well-struck course of that method was brought round.
