BELLS AT THE LIDO

THAT'S what comes of going abroad on one's own and insisting on a single room. You're sure to get one as far from the front of the hotel as can be.

It happened to me, and I found that my room looked on to the equivalent of a back yard. All the married couples had smashing rooms at the front with lovely views of Venice across the lagoon. The hotel was at the Lido—lagoon side.

We had arrived in Venice rather late, just in time to spruce up before dinner, and whilst I knew my room was at the back, it didn't seem worth while to make a full investigation. Perhaps as well, for I missed the night's anticipation of what happened in the morning.

'Came the dawn,' as the poets say, and then at ten past six I was suddenly brought to full life by the terrific clanging of a bell. First of all I thought it must belong to a town clock which somebody had thoughtfully disconnected for the night, but even town clocks don't chime a hundred and fifty. I jumped to the window—of course wide open for the heat—to find that I was within thirty yards of a belfry and on the same level.

As only one bell was dinning. I felt rather better, particularly as this one-legged chime ceased after about five minutes, so I turned in again with the idea of another hour or so.

Some hopes! The first ringer had. I was sure, been taking his turn as knocker-up, with the bell, for ten minutes later his pals arrived, and one after another got into their stride with four bells, big 'uns, too.

No Bob Majors, Grandsire Triples or things like that for these lads. They certainly hadn't read any good books on campanology, but gaily pulled the ropes as the spirit moved them, sometimes in procession but occasionally in unison. What a crash that was. Then suddenly they stopped and the world went quieter than I have ever known it.

This must be early Mass I felt sure, and should ease matters until after breakfast, so I settled down again. The ringers had no doubt gone to service in the church below, and all would be well.

As I said before: Some hopes!

At ten past seven we started again. I say we, because by now I felt that I had joined the team. Indeed I was near enough to give a helping hand should they want one, but I was never roped in. Perhaps they didn't know I was there and taking so much interest in their work.

By this time all thoughts of sleep had gone, so I crawled out of bed just in time for the end of the performance, and to prepare for the day ahead. I was half way through shaving when my four wide-awake Venetians set off again with one of their concerted pulls. Luckily it was a safety razor, or I should have cut my head off.

What I have told you happened on the Wednesday, so on Thursday morning I woke early waiting for the gang, or for a start, their number one. He came about two minutes late and I was thinking that I ought to nip round and give him a ring, when he forestalled me and rang up his pals. They must have lived near, by the short time it took them to get to their job, so it would have been easier for him to have knocked on their doors instead of ringing them up from the belfry.

We had a similar concert, with variations, as once I guessed that Giuseppe, or was it Antonio, caught his foot in the rope and spoilt the rhythm they had nearly got. That was a crash!

Every morning we went through the performance, and I really dreaded Sunday morning coming as I didn't know whether they would start earlier or make a sounder job of it. So when that morning arrived I was ready, bright and early, for Giuseppe, Antonio, Enrico and Pietro.

As the time came and passed with no bells, I began to get worried and hoped that my rope-tugging pals hadn't had one over the eight the night before, and were still sleeping. Six-thirty, seven, seven-thirty came, and believe it or not, not a cheep out of that belfry.

We left for Lugano early the following morning, so what happened to G, A, E and P I don't know.

H. FRANKLAND.

After a lapse of over a year the name of Mr. H. Langdon reappears in the peal columns. Twelve months ago Mr. Langdon, whilst hurrying to Westminster Abbey to ring for the Battle of Britain service, slipped and fell heavily on his shoulder. The accident prevented him from taking part in active ringing for several months. An 80th birthday peal had been arranged last October for his brother, but this had to be postponed, and so the peal at St. Lawrence Jewry had to serve as a belated but none-the-less sincere birthday peal for William S. Langdon, Although in his 81st year, he rang his bell faultlessly. BELFRY

Mr. Joseph E. Newman, of Hinton-on-the-Green, has just completed his first century of peals. Fifty of these have been rung at his

Mr. J. Lewis Cockey is leaving Winnipeg for Scotland. The state of his wife's health will not permit her to stand another winter in Canada. His new address is 6, Argyll Avenue, Stirling.

Mr. W. O. Haythorne, of Winchester, writes inquiring whether anyone has written a book on elementary change ringing, in Braille, which would assist a young and enthusiastic blind learner to study simple methods.

The Big Giant and Big Giantess-to-be have been visiting the land of the Piskies. After a been visiting the land of the Piskies. After a successful peal attempt on the wild moorlands of West Penwith, the magical influences must have been at work, for the Senior Pisky's chariot (normally a most reliable vehicle) broke down in an isolated spot at the dead of night. However, the Little Elf managed to produce some addesive plaster by which running reprise some adhesive plaster by which running repairs were effected, and the chief city of the land was reached in due course.

The nautical instincts of a member of the St. Peter's, Bexhill, band saved the company from incarceration at Benenden tower during an outing on September 7th. When the party came to leave they discovered the tower door locked, but the key was in the lock. With the aid of a spare bell rope he lowered himself through a window to the floor of the church and then calmly turned the key, thus liberating and then calmly turned the key, thus liberating the party. Fearful visions of 'Nine Tailors' vanished in an instant.

At the age of 27 years and 5 months, Mr. Brian G. Warwick, hon. secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, has completed 500 peals. He believes he is the youngest person to achieve this distinction. Mr. E. A. Barnett was six months older when he rang his 500th peal.

We regret to hear of the death at the age of 80 of Mr. Alfred Pratt, of Clifton, Beds, who was taken ill while on holiday at High Wycombe. His funeral was at High Wycombe on Sept. 10th. Of a jovial and friendly nature, he will be greatly missed at Clifton, where he was a regular Sunday ringer for many years.

The first peal has been rung at Chipping Campden, Glos. Mr. Geoffrey J. Hemming, who called the peal, was in an attempt on these old bells in 1934. He has written to Mr. Patrick A. Cannon, who is taking a band there in October, informing him that a good peal was rung (and it was a good peal). Hard lines, Pat!

The band who rang the quarter peal at Beaconsfield on Sunday evening, September 1st, would like to apologise to the visiting ringer who came into the belfry while it was in progress. They did not stop to give him a pull as the quarter had been specially arranged to enable a young member of the band to score her 'first in the method inside.'

THOSE I REMEMBER

By ERNEST MORRIS

WITHIN two years of my joining the Midland Counties Association I was elected local secretary and, soon after, general hon. secretary, a position I held till the dissolution in 1945 into Diocesan Guilds. I followed Alfred Coningsby Wright, of Darley Dale—a good ringer and an excellent secretary. Later on Alf C. W. composed a long length of Bristol Surprise, in which the 2nd never went above 4ths place. With the collaboration of F. H. Dexter, he extended it into a peal of 5,024 with the 2nd only 737 changes above 4ths. When we attempted the peal, with Harold J. Poole conducting, after the first course Alf set his bell and said: 'This is not my composition.' Dexter, in his colourful language, said: 'It blank well is—I have upended it '(or words to that effect). 'We can't have the 2nd sailing out behind at the last course.' We rang an excellent peal after that! Alf Wright rang exactly 100 peals, then, for some reason unaccounted for, left the art and is completely lost sight of. in 1945 into Diocesan Guilds. I followed Alfred lost sight of.

FIRST PEAL ATTEMPT

As a youngster I wanted to call a peal and looked up Holt's 10-part. With a band of looked up Holt's 10-part. With a band of about my own age I tried this at Anstey. We got well beyond the halfway single, but in the reversed order of calling I got astray, so the peal was lost. However, the next week, at Melton Mowbray (that glorious Cathedral-like church), I tried again, and under the watchful eye of that fine old veteran, R. Henry Bartram, scored a very good peal.

The Bartram family is a well-known and respected one in the district, and at Buckminster I have seen memorials to them. In my genealogical researches I have found them my genealogical researches I have found them in the 16th century. Old Harry would go anywhere for a peal, on any number up to 10 (there were no 12-bell towers here then), and for many years he led the Melton band with great zeal and success. His son, Ernest, is a grand ringer, too, but illness and other matters have kept him away for some time. I was delighted to meet him recently, when he came specially to Asfordby to greet me on my 1,700th peal.

A MILLIONAIRE PEAL RINGER
As general hon, secretary of the Midland Counties Association, I met many well-known ingers over a wide area. I recall one occasion of a meeting at Burton-on-Trent when the late Albert Ward, of Derby, said to me:
'Mr. W. W. Worthington particularly wants to meet you.' After my secretarial work was over, he (W. W. W.) was introduced to me in St. Modwen's belfry. He—looking down on me—(he was well over six feet tall) said: 'I meant the Ernest Morris who rings these badgoing tenors in outlandish places.' On my going tenors in outlandish places. On my pleading guilty, he remarked: 'You have given me an awful shock. You are nothing like I imagined you. I expected a man about 60, broad of shoulder, with arms like the village blacksmith! Never mind, pick a good band and call me a touch of Stedman.'

Mr. Worthington rang 50 peals, but in later life was too busy making money (he was a millionaire) to ring peals, but he always had one day every year when he gathered together all his old Burton-on-Trent friends and had a lower of the surrounding district ringing at all his old Burton-on-Trent friends and had a tour of the surrounding district, ringing at churches he had either rung peals or given bells, and finishing up with a grand dinner at his lovely home—Maple Hayes, Lichfield. He died in November, 1949, and I attended his funeral service, afterwards conducting a muffled peal to his memory at Netherseal. He was president of the Midland Counties Guild and donor of over 20 bells to different churches.

I had the great pleasure of attending one of the above-mentioned ringing re-unions (thanks to Mr. John Oldham, of Loughborough Bell Foundry, taking me) and met a distinguished company. Among them were the Swinfields (father and son) and at the dinner Maurice Swinfield 'rang' a grand touch of Stedman Triples on the piano, called by that wonderful 'young-old' man, James George.

THE WEDNESDAY BAND

At that time the Derby and Burton ringers had a Wednesday band and rang a series of peals over a wide area, nearly always Stedman Triples, and Maurice Swinfield specialised in calling a different composition every time-he called over 100. I had the happiness to join in occasionally and called one or two with them, James George always on 7th if Triples, and the tenor if Major!!

Looking Back 50 Years

In his recollections of the Central Council in the last 50 years contributed to 'The Belfry,' Mr. E. H. Lewis writes:

'In the early days there were long discussions on theoretical aspects of ringing. One I very well remember. The Rev. H. Law James propounded the theory that Stedman really meant his method to be called what we call Erin, and that the quick sixes were hobs. He had modelled his 120 of Doubles on the old six-score of Grandsire, with every other six bobbed—just as every other lead in Roan's six--just as every other lead in Roan's six-score of Grandsire Doubles is bobbed. The discussion was long and to most members very boring. Finally, Sam Wood, of Ashton-under-Lyne, proposed an amendment that 'Stedman be left as it was in father's time.' Sir Arthur Hey-wood, who was obviously anxious to close the subject, accepted the amend-ment and put it to the meeting, who passed it at once with a large majority and feeling of relief.... and feeling of relief . . .

'The best strikers among the clergy whom I remember were those who learnt to ring before they were ordained. One can imagine the reason.

This 'Wednesday' band had among its regulars Charles Draper, of Derby, with his rosy cheeks, shaggy beard, flat hat, umbrella and all! He was a most lovable character and rang over 400 peals. He was for many years connected with St. Andrew's and St. Alkmund's Churches in Derby, but finished his career at Duffield, where he passed away in March. 1938, aged 73.

March, 1938, aged 73.

Another 'good lad' of this company was James Pagett, whose antics both within and without the belfry often dismayed the company. He was one of the few men who could ring two tower bells with ease and precision and, although he rang several quarters, never rang although he rang several quarters, never rang a full 5,000 this way. He once sent me what he called a new 'method' of producing a six-score of Doubles, which for a long time puzzled me, but like, all his 'leg-pulls,' turned out to be a disguised extent of Grandsire.

Joseph Bailey, of Long Eaton, was another of this company, and he could be found (when on duty) on the platform of Trent Station. James S. Hutchley was often roped in. He was of Loughborough and a good ringer of standard methods. He took part in the 13,400 Bob Major which I called there. He rang 220 peals, and passed away in March, 1937, aged 75.

TENOR SPECIALISTS
Often in these Stedman Triples peals the tenor was rung by John Curtis, of Ashby-de-la-Zouch—he could ring 'inside' if needed—and this recalls the fact that his father and he recreate its large of the teneral statement. respectively rang the tenor at Staunton Harold private church to the last two peals rung on them (50 years apart), the last of which I had the honour to conduct.

the honour to conduct.

One who we still have with us, but whose name we miss greatly, is Richard C. Belton, of Barwell. He took part in scores of these unusual compositions of Stedman—'What do you do now on Wednesdays, Dick?' Occasionally they got that enthusiastic Joseph W. Cotton to take part, and he (Joe) can tell the tale better than I about some of the peals with this delightful cosmopolitan band. They are all sadly missed sadly missed.

ARTHUR CRAVEN

Although I never rang a peal with him, I met Arthur Craven many times at meetings in met Arthur Craven many times at meetings in and around the Chesterfield area. He was an outstanding member of the Exercise—not so much as a peal ringer, but as a composer of great ability in both method construction and details are accompanions. He died in 1900 at great ability in both method construction and ordinary compositions. He died in 1930 at Sheffield. He and Arthur Knights were prolific in producing compositions, the latter keeping Chesterfield bells going week after week to different peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain and Treble Bob Royal.

I recall on one occasion the late Joseph E. Syker Market Lee's to everywhere bed are Sykes—'Uncle Joe' to everyone— had arranged to call one of Arthur Knights' special peals of Bob Royal. He invited me to be in it and, at a late moment asked me to call it, it and, at a late moment asked me to call it, stressing the fact that it must be that particular composition (a multi-bob and single peal). When we were ready to start, Joe Sykes told Arthur Knights I was calling it, and he (A. K.) was so concerned that it must be this composition, made a mistake in the first course, the started carrier and range a most sevellent. so we started again and rang a most excellent peal. Mr. Knights rang well over 600 peals and had over 1,200 of his compositions rung. He died in 1939, aged 79 years.

SIX FOOT AND WHISKERS

'Uncle' Joe Sykes, mentioned above, was also called 'Six Foot and Whiskers,' owing to his long, scraggy figure and his little ginger 'nanny-goat' beard. He was a notable character who could—and did—talk and argue on any mortal subject. He was a good linguist and on this account was sent abroad to many different countries by his firm (gas plant indifferent countries by his firm (gas plant installation). I first got in touch with him when he was in Belgium and he asked for 'pen friends' to write him. From that time onwards I had cards from him from all over the world as far removed as Canada and Manchuria, South Africa and the Continent. When here in England he invariably hunted out the ringers and arranged peals, his favourite method being 'Yorkshire Glory' (Kent Treble Bob) and he had an ambition to call every possible number between 5,000 and 6,000, and all must be by Arthur Knights. I rang in several of these. For his first peal of Doubles he travelled over 80 miles to get me to call it at Escrick, near York, while I was in the Army, in 1918. I have in my possession the very last message he wrote before his death, in Copenhagen in 1929.

Next week's issue of 'The Ringing World' will be a special Irish Number with photographs of towers of Southern Ireland and a Descriptive and Entertaining Account of the recent tour

ON HOLIDAY IN SCOTLAND

DOVE tells us of only 14 rings in Scotland and five of these are in two cities. It was not primarily a ringing tour, but bells could not be passed by.

The detached tower of All Saints', Inveraray. which owes its existence to the late Duke of Argyll, is visible for some distance although the church is hidden. The ten bells, cast by Taylors in 1920, are beautifully decorated with designs of vine and oak and a few changes on the Ellacombe chimes soon proved the beauty of tone

The original intention was to join the tower to the church, presumably also enlarging the church, but of this there now seems little hope as the episcopalian congregation is very small and cannot support a full-time priest, and the tower itself is in need of repair. Instead of louvres the large windows of the bell chamber louvres the large windows of the bell chamber are filled with stone tracery so are much more open to the weather, and the floor below the bells has suffered in consequence: several of the rope bosses have fallen out of the rotten wood. Below, for one floor only, the walls are about five feet thick, and here in the narrow window apertures we found stalactite-like formations, some with corresponding stalagmites. mites.

Inquiring for ringers, we were told that the last ringer died 'a year or two ago' but that the bells are chimed regularly. We were directed to Mr. Robert Morrison, who very kindly gave us permission to ring and chime as we liked to greet the pleasure steamer which was almost due to dock. There were no ropes; a peal band some time ago had brought their own, but a few spare chiming ropes solved the problem. With yards of stretch and a knot where the salley should have been, it was possible to raise three bells, including the tenor, which went up right side without checking.

FIVE AT OBAN

In search of something for Sunday morning we were directed to the newly-built R.C. Cathedral at Oban. Dove does not mention these five bells, which came from Italy some five years ago. They were presented by the late Marquis of Bute, but it was only 18 months to two years ago that funds were available to two years ago that funds were available to two years ago that fulling were available to hang them. They are hung dead in a frame about 12 feet above the floor of the bell chamber, which is almost dark. As far as could be seen and felt there are no inscriptions. The tenor looks to be about nine cwt. Two very small boys went up and chimed them for about ten minutes.

As we arrived at Inverness hymn tunes were being played most expertly on the Ellacombe chimes for evening service. We met Mr. Davidson at the foot of the tower and he obtained permission for us to return later to ring. Very heavy ropes were too low and several stays were missing: in attempting to set a bell, mistakenly said to have a stay, the inevitable happened. The sound of the bells brought two more visitors to the tower. A few call changes were fairly well struck, but the bells did not go well.

Mr. Davidson, who has himself begun to learn to handle a bell, would be glad of help to get a band going.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Western District at Dersingham

The quarterly meeting of the Western Branch, held at Dersingham on August 31st, was supported by 40 members and visitors from London, Bedford, Cambridge, Essex, Leicester, Lincoln and Suffolk.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. P. Tippin) and Mr. E. Greenacre read the lesson. Tea was prepared and served in the Church Rooms by the wives and friends of the local band.

At the business meeting the Vicar presided in the absence of the Rev. R. G. Dodson, Branch chairman, away on holiday. A letter from the local press relating to the nuisance of the bells at one of the Norfolk towers was read. This caused quite a long discussion, but it was agreed that no more action be taken and it was better for the subject to 'die a natural death.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the organist, and the ladies for arranging tea. The Vicar suitably replied.

The ringers then enjoyed more ringing on the tower bells, under the watchful eye of Mr. C. V. Ebberson, who did much in arranging methods to suit all tastes and capabilities. arranging

The next interim meeting is to be held at Gressenhall on October 5th, and the quarterly meeting at North Creake on November 30th.

A CHESTER GUILD TOUR

THE Stockport Branch of the Chester Guild and the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association are both fortunate in having a goodly number of young ringers showing great promise, who for some time now have been attending the 'Surprise' practice at Hazel Grove. A week of peal ringing was arranged to enable them to ring peals in some of the methods they have been practising.

The week turned out to be quite successful, as all the peal attempted were 'scored.' One member of the party remarked at the conclusion that the report would look like the Milky Way. and that in some measure shows the progress that has been made in recent months.

Towers visited and methods rung can be seen in our peal columns, and the bells, in most cases, were not new to us. However, we seen in our peal columns, and the bells, in most cases, were not new to us. However, we were set about by all the usual snags of peal tours, and perhaps a few unusual ones. On Monday, for example, seven of us waited patiently for the eighth, who at that time was crossing the Channel, and it is doubtful if his theatthe received. thoughts reached Kent, never mind Yorkshire, so we were pleased to ring Bob Major, giving Jim Blowers, of the local band, a chance for his first peal.

A knocking on the door at Eccles made us think that not everyone in the town appreciated our efforts, so for their benefit we made the time as short as we could—at least that's one of the tenor-man's tales. Bredbury treated us to our one and only broken rope: however, a replacement was available, for which we were thankful, though it wasn't 'noted for easy handling and non-stretching.'

The highlight of the week was Cambridge Royal at Stockport St. Mary's, where peal attempts are few and far between. We were pleased to have Jack Bibby with us, and he has now rung peals on all the tens in the county. The week was rounded off with Double Norwich, and for the peal we welcomed Michael Crowder, of Barton-on-Humber, to the folds of the Chester Guild.

Despite the 'Milky Way,' some people managed to get away without a star, though one of these admitted he ought to have onewell, at least a dagger! It's the first time Ted Jenkins has rung Plain Bob and Oxford on a peal tour!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A BOB AT HALF LEAD

Dear Sir,—After seeing the 5,152 Cambridge Surprise Major by Harry Poyner on page 584 of 'The Ringing World,' I was tempted to see what effect this type of bob has on Plain Bob Major. This is not original, no doubt, but it may interest someone.

The bob at the middle of the first lead (bob at ½) has the following effect:—

| 12345678 | |
|--|--|
| 21436587 | |
| 21436587 24163857 42618375 | |
| 42618375 | |
| 46281735 | |
| 46281735 64827153 68472513 86745231 68475321 86743512 87634152 78361425 | |
| 68472513 | |
| 86745231 | |
| 68475321 | |
| 86743512 | |
| 87634152 | |
| 87634152 78361425 73816245 37182654 31728564 | |
| 73816245 37182654 | |
| 37182654 | |
| 31728564 | |
| 13275846 | |
| 13728564 | |

The bob has the same result as a bob at the end of the first lead (Wrong) but one complete lead is cut out, the tenors being in the position they occupy at the end of the second lead.

Hence a bob at ½ has the same effect as a bob at Wrong and cuts out one lead.

A bob at 14 has the same effect as a bob at V. and cuts out one lead, etc.

A bob at 3½ has the same effect as a bob BEFORE but does not change the length of the course.

By using this type of bob, then, many touches may be shortened considerably.

IV. IV. H may be called:which consists of 48 changes instead of 80.

Here are some short touches reduced by this method. Original calling

No 'Impots' When Teachers Ring a Peal

Included in the school teachers' peal of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild on September 7th were Miss Kathleen Fletcher, who in recent times has made a name for herself at Bournemouth, and Mr. Sydney Bailey, who came from South Wales to teach at High Wycombe.

The conductor informs us that he didn't have to set anyone the imposition of writing out 100 times the plain course of Grandsire Triples!

The peal was duly rung without a hitch—except when the treble once tried to make thirds!

MR. T. CULLINGWORTH'S PEAL TOUR

Dear Sir,-I should like to congratulate Mr. Tom Cullingworth and his party, with special reference to Mark Lancefield, for the very high standard of striking they maintained during their tour of Surrey and Sussex. As they recorded much of their ringing on a tape-recorder, was able to hear the ringing as chearly as if I was able to hear the ringing as clearly as if I had been outside the tower. Their striking was absolutely first-class, and an example to all It can be equalled, but certainly not excelled They also set a standard of method ringing which will take a lot of beating. ESSEX ASSOCIATION

On August 31st the Northern District arranged a meeting at Kelvedon. In this 14th century tower hangs the heaviest ring of six bells in Essex, with the Festival of Britain bell as the tenor. These bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening. The Rev. T. Everett conducted the service in the absence of the Vicar, who was on holiday.

Tea was served in St. Mary's Hall by Mrs. Eady and the Mothers' Union. Afterwards the business meeting was presided over by the Rev. T. Everett, supported by Miss H. G. Snowden (District Master) and Mr. R. C. Heazel (Master of the Association). It was reported that the five bells from All Saints', Colchester, were to be rehung at Little Horkesley and further money was still required. and further money was still required. Funds are also needed to rehang Kelvedon bells. Great Bardfield was chosen for the next meeting in November.

·Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. T Everett, Mr. J. Elliott and Mrs. Eady.

BOUGHTON ALUPH

Dear Sir,—I must take the opportunity to thank Mr. P. N. Bond for his correction to my note on Boughton Aluph bells. They were five in number, not four, as I thought when writing, and I had also forgotten about the final disposal of the bells as scrap. Were they scrapped? Another interesting detail connected with this church is that it was one of the stopping places for pilgrims on the pilgrims' way to and from Canterbury. This track passed through Eastwell Park, not far from Eastwell Church. Charing was the next stopping place on towards Winchester.—Yours truly,

GEORGE H. HEAD.

AMONG THE FOURS IN NORTH BEDFORDSHIRE

Spurred on by a sense of adventure and by recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World,' an intrepid party of four of St. Paul's, Bedford, young ringers 'sallied' forth into the wilds of North Bedfordshire on August 20th. A trusting father lent the band his car, and hence a prompt start at 9 a.m. was made for the first tower, St. Mary's, Oulton, which recently appeared in these columns with the first quarter on the bells. As the tour was strictly impromptu we were not surprised to be unable to get the tower until the Vicar returned to give permission.

We then pushed on to our next tower-to-be, St. Mary's, Poddington, right up in the topmost corner of the county, where the Vicar gave us a hearty welcome. The bells (tenor about 9 cwt., 37in. diam.) were all on one level in what appeared to be a pretty stout frame only just under the spire. After a great deal of adjustment and replacement of the ropes the bells were rung up very gingerly. All the clappers turned out to be very loose and much in need of rebushing. When J. B. L. rang the tenor up—after superhuman efforts to reach the balance—he was rewarded by the bell setting deeper and deeper and deeper. Later investigations revealed the absence of a slider. However, the bells were eventually 'beefed' into action for a few (few!) rounds and call-changes. With some oil and a little attention to the bearings, these tuneful and mellow bells could become quite a ringable set. A list of jobs considered necessary to be done to the bells was presented to the Vicar, who promised to have something done. He then gave us a very interesting history of the church.

At the Church of St. Lawrence, Wynnington, the bells were found to be totally derelict except for possibly the third and tenor. The bells, mostly more or less without wheels, are hung high under the spire in three tiers, although the treble is unhung and stands on the floor at the bottom of the tower in the ringing chamber-cum-brush cupboard. The treble, cast by W. Blews, of Birmingham, in 1873, appears never to have been hung. The second and third are of note as they are both pre-appeared, by the sound of things, that the live bells were definitely not in a scale!!

Lunch was next on the list—being taken at Newton Bromswold. Unfortunately the church was locked so no 'grab' was made. St. Mary's, Yeldon, were known to be ringable and so the Vicar was tackled, who was no doubt a little perturbed to have a motley collection of ringers asking him for his bells when he had only been three days in the parish! However, the local tower captain saved the day, and the bells, rung from the ground floor, were raised in peal. The bells are a musical four although with rather a shallow tone. They are all pretty old, treble 1717, second 1660, third 1617, the tenor, a very fine William Watts alphabet bell of 1610, weighing 7½–8 cwt., being hung in a frame installed around 1880. On the first really ringable bells of the day, Plain, Reverse and Double Bob Minimus was brought round in fine style. The long pull and unguided ropes provided a few anxious moments but all was under control soon.

Our final visit was to Carlton, where we hoped that by now we could get permission. After a tour of the village and being directed to the Old Vicarage we finally located the Vicar and were given a warm welcome. We found the bells very musical and tuneful, although a little strident in tone. As they are rung in a steel frame put in by Gillett and Johnston about 1929 the 'go' is all that can be desired. At the same time the bells were retuned. They are a very old ring—treble 1602, second 1868, third pre-1520 and cast by Thomas Newcombe of Leicester, and the tenor, cast by J. Saunders of Reading about 1540 (weight 9 cwt. 2 qr. 7 lb. in A flat, diam, 38in.). Altogether a really pleasing handy ring which would make a grand five or six. Again our usual Plain, Reverse and Double Bob was skilfully accomplished, and the bells lowered in peal. With many thanks to the Vicar we turned the car for Bedford to deliver everyone (surprisingly) safe and sound at the end of a highly entertaining and successful 'grab.'

SWANSEA & BRECON GUILD Southern District

The small attendance at the quarterly meeting held at Gorseinon on August 31st was compensated by the pleasant and satisfactory ringing throughout the afternoon. The two ringers from St. Albans, we are sure, enjoyed their ringing before continuing their journey to Cardigan.

The service at 4 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Sydney Morris) and afterwards about 25 sat down to an excellent tea in the Church Hall.

At the business meeting, which was presided over by the Vicar, it was agreed to hold the annual meeting of the District in December, and the other two meetings alternately at the same place as the Llandaff and St. David's Guild meetings. One new member was elected. Sketty was proposed for the December meeting.

We were pleased to see Mr. Chris Hawkins, the St. David's general secretary, at the meeting. He has made a rapid recovery since his illness, and we hope he will continue to improve in health. Mr. John T. Williams proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist. Ringing continued until 7.45 p.m.

CYCLING IN ESSEX

As a variation to the usual coach and car outings, the Walthamstow ringers, augmented by friends from Woodford, Bedford and Waltham Abbey, enjoyed (endured?) a cycling tour round a number of village towers in deepest Essex, sampling rings from five to twelve.

Getting off to a cheating start by putting the cycles on a train to Bishops Stortford, the first tower, Great Hallingbury, was reached in comfort and provided a difficult and unrewarding five, in which the treble ringer stands enmeshed, spider-like, amid a tangle of chiming ropes. Hatfield Broad Oak brought us the only octave of the day, a most pleasant one, where Bill Dowler joined us, having valiantly cycled from Hitchin after missing his connection from Bedford, via Cambridge, to Stortford. The last tower of the morning was Matching (5), whence we repaired to a picnic lunch on the spacious and charming green.

The afternoon's first call was at Moreton, a pleasing six, where the writer had a time-wasting contretemps when attempting to utilise an unstable five-barred gate as a mounting stone, and we were joined by the ebullient Ln*1 Ws, who provided a diagram of a method to be learned, the name to be announced after it was rung. The day, incidentally, provided those more used to ten bells with opportunities to try out for the first time St. Martin's, St. Simon's and other Doubles methods, which provided much enjoyment and interest.

Bobbingworth (6) bells are rung from the open porch. Another fine Essex red-brick tower at North Weald yielded a further six, then on to Epping for tea, amid a wealth of the lowest beetle-ridden beams seen on any outing.

Cutting across Epping Forest we reached Epping Upland (6) and attempted L. W.'s unnamed method. The first unsuccessful attempt contained so many gaps that the more facetious members of the party might have suggested a name and would, in fact, have been right for, following a completed course, Lionel announced the name—Cumberland Bob!

announced the name—Cumberland Bob!

A final half-hour's ring at Waltham Abbey's

12 concluded a very pleasant day, following which the party enjoyed until too late an hour the hospitality of Michael Austin's house. Our thanks are due to Robert Chapman for the success of the first outing he has organised, and to incumbents and others for the use of their bells.

IN THE CHEDDAR VALLEY

A party of ringers from Nailsea, Backwell. Long Ashton, Bristol, Uphill and the R.A.F. at Locking enjoyed a half-day outing in the Cheddar Valley on August 31st. The fine eight at Wedmore were first visited.

followed by the six at Wookey, where the fifth ringer hides behind the clock and where a good course of London Minor was brought round. Next came the eight at St. Cuthbert's, Wells, where both tower and bells were greatly admired, although perhaps we did not do' justice to the latter.

Following tea at The Olde Gate-house Hotel, overlooking the Cathedral Green (which can be recommended), the party then moved on to Dinder, also with a large clock in the ringing chamber. Two separate courses of Norwich Dinder, also with a large clock in the Imponentamber. Two separate courses of Norwich Surprise Minor were rung here.

The final call was at Rodney Stoke, where due to the enthusiasm of the local ringers, assisted by Mr. Wickham, of Cheddar, three of the four bells have recently been rehung on new headstocks and ball-bearings supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. We rang Plain. Double, and Erin Minimus, Grandsire Doubles without a treble, and most difficult of all, is seemed, some call-changes conducted by one of the local band.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

The summer meeting of the Society took place at Elford on August 31st. Those who have the idea that Staffordshire is a county made up of industrial areas would do well to visit this delightful village and the beautiful countryside surrounding it. The tree-lined approach to the fine parish church is most imposing.

Having in mind the somewhat remote situation of this village near Tamworth, the attendance at the meeting—68—was most gratifying. The Vicar (Rev. W. J. Bower) and his churchwardens gave the visitors a warm welcome. Unlimited ringing to suit all tastes during the afternoon and evening, a well-attended service with some hearty singing, followed by a bountiful tea served in the Village Hall, and a typical country hostelry in the village in which to partake of further refreshment before leaving for home, helped to make the meeting most enjoyable and one to remember.

Following tea, thanks were expressed to Rev. W. J. Bower and his wardens, organist, lady helbers and members of the local band for their efforts towards the success of the meeting. The bells, a ring of six with a 7 cwt, tenor, were easy to handle but not too musical outside the tower.

The next meeting of the Society will be a joint one with the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association at Kinver on October 19th.

WEDDINGS

At Trowbridge

Mr. F. Slatford, assistant secretary, Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and Miss Doreen Turnbull, of Diocesan Guild, and Miss Doreen Turnbull, of Trowbridge, were married at Holy Trinity Church, Trowbridge, on September 7th in the presence of a large congregation, including many ringers. The choral service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. K. R. S. Rintoul) and Mr. J. Flay was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. John Sitch, her brother-in-law, and was attended by Miss Shirley Stevens and Miss Elizabeth Sitch, her niece. The best man was Mr. Lawrence Hitchens.

Hitchens.

As there are no bells at the church, North Bradley ringers, under Mr. P. Harding, rang handbells as the happy couple left the church. The reception was held at Wingfield House, after which Mr. and Mrs. Slatford left for their honeymoon.

The many presents included a cheque from the general committee of the S.D.G.R. (the Guild general secretary, Mr. W. C. West, was present to represent the Guild) and a barometer from the bridegroom's fellow ringers at North Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Slatford will reside at The Haven, 35, Westbury Road, Yarnbrook, near

At Willingham

The wedding took place on August 24th at Willingham Parish Church of Mr. Geoffrey A. Lucas, District Ringing Master of the Ely District, and Miss Margaret R. Jeeps. an honorary member of the Ely Association. The ceremony was conducted by the rector (Canon F. Bywaters), and the bridesmaids were the two young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Ginn. Mr. Peter Lucas, the bridegroom's brother, carried out the duties of best man and the ushers were Messrs. R. E. G. Jeeps (England international scrum-half), the bride's cousin, and D. E. R. Knights (Ely District secretary). As the bridal couple left the church the bells were rung by members of the local band and The wedding took place on August 24th at were rung by members of the local band and friends, and immediately after their departure for a honeymoon at Bournemouth a peal of Surprise Minor was rung by members of the Association, its success being reported to the bridegroom by telephone. D. K.

> THE LADIES' GUILD Central District

A meeting of the Central District was held at A meeting of the Central District was field at the Church of Immanual and St. Leonard's, Streatham, on August 31st. Ringing comcommenced at Immanual at 3.45 and various methods were rung including some Surprise. We should like to express our thanks to the Rev. Mr. Rowdon, who kindly conducted the service in the absence of the Vicar. Tea was held in the Church Hall and was followed by a business meeting. Our thanks go to by a business meeting. Our thanks go to Mrs. Collins, who provided an excellent tea.

Nine members were present and were more than grateful to the 15 or so visitors who came along to support them. After tea, ringing continued at St. Leonard's.

The next meeting will be on November 30th at Twickenham.

OUTINGS

SOMERTON, SOMERSET

This year's outing will be remembered especially for the beautiful drive in bright sunshine along the coast road between Weymouth and Lyme Regis.

On September 7th, ringers from Somerton and round about, joined by two friends from Bedfordshire, rang between them a total of 40 Bedfordshire, rang between them a total of 40 bells, which they found nicely hung in six solid little square grey towers in Dorset—no, one was pebble-dash, not grey. The morning started 'lightly' with ringing from the ground floor at Evershot (6, 9½ cwt.) and Preston (6, 12½ cwt.), the small church serving the large holiday caravan site.

After lunch at Weymouth the coach proceeded to Wyke Regis (8, nearly 17 cwt.), where some 6-bell ringers enjoyed one of their rare chances to ring Triples and Major. Down in

House Rating Reduced Because Of Bells

Mr. W. R. Honey and Mrs. E. P. Honey, of 1, Church Road, Gosport, had their rating assessment reduced from £70 gross value to £65 gross value by Gosport Valuation Court because of the Mr. Honey told the court that the house faced the church. He said:—
"We hear the chimes night and day.

The bells are rung at 8 every morning and for one-and-a-half hours' practising every Friday evening.
Friends who have stayed with us all complain that they cannot sleep in the front rooms because of the bells. The appellants also complained that the road was used as a car park by churchgoers.

In suggesting a reduced assessment, the Deputy Valuation Officer (Mr. N. Jones) said: 'I don't like church bells myself, but they-have been there some years—and so has Mr. Honey.'

the churchyard cameras were produced, and some group photos taken round the lychgate. At Abbotsbury (6, 12½ cwt.) ringers can look down from the gallery into the whitewashed nave: the only regret here was that time did not allow a visit to the swannery.

Then tea at Bridport, and on to the best tower of the day, Lyme Regis (8, 10½ cwt.), where the bells run round so smoothly that one is tempted to think that no effort is needed on the part of the ringers. The day's ringing ended at Broadwindsor (6, about 14 cwt.), where a short touch of Cambridge was successfully brought round.

The party would like to thank the incumbents and captains of towers.

BALDOCK AND NORTON

Totternhoe's light eight were the first bells for the Baldock and Norton bands' half-day cuting on August 31st. Those who were not ringing could either watch the soaring gliders or examine some maps and archives of the parish and St. Giles'.

We went to Leighton Buzzard, with its heavy ten, then on to the outskirts of Woburn, where the Birchmoor Arms provided a very satisfying meal. The 24 cwt. octave at St. Mary's was much enjoyed: Double Norwich went particularly well. Bristol was attempted at the last tower for the day. Maulden, but unfortunately was not successful. Everyone agreed that even the dull weather had not spoilt a pleasant
