CHANGES THROUGH THE YEARS

JUST 100 years ago a clergyman, at a meeting of clergy, advised that on no excuse should permission be given for ringing on Sunday. 'Ringing,' he said, 'is an intellectual and scientific enjoyment, as much so as chess or violin playing . . . and we know what view we should take of Sunday chess players or Sunday concerts.' In a climate like this—and to combat such opinions within the Church—the modern territorial associations were formed, the movement growing during the last quarter of last century. The older ones among us are fond of telling the young that in our time we sat in the ringing chamber and waited to be asked to ring. Encouragement was the last thing we expected. The late J. Armiger Trollope has told how he and his school friends fared. With Troyte's book and permission to ring on an unused six at Norwich they taught themselves to handle the bells and then to ring changes. With handbells made from the old-fashioned bells that hung in the servants' quarters, they learned double-handed ringing. And still they were not readily accepted in the towers of Norwich.

By contrast let us consider the position of the new ringer today. He has a local Association to encourage him and to arrange practice meetings at which he can make progress; he is welcome in almost every tower, either as a beginner anxious to learn or as an addition to the local band; judging by the numbers rung, peal ringing facilities are as good as they ever have been, and of course travel is much easier; day or week-end courses of instruction are held, at which well-known ringers are found to impart their knowledge to anybody willing to listen. This is a big change from the days when a man kept his hard-won knowledge to himself. Central Council and other publications, though not numerous enough to satisfy some, are available for private study, written by ringers only too willing to share their expertise. To come nearer home, 'The Ringing World' exists to focus all these activities by publicity, by notices, peal reports and willingness to publish suitable articles, whether technical or historical, about our art.

Like organ playing or choral singing, our service to the Church has a secular aspect, and it would appear that this secular side is flourishing. In spite of many other attractions, more and more young people are seen at meetings and courses and in our towers. One wonders, however, whether the attention being given to this side of our art overshadows to some extent the fact that we are, or should be, primarily church workers and as such should be active members of our Church, in its worship and its other activities. From time to time one hears that an incumbent is in conflict with his ringers because of their non-attendance at church. Often there are explanations. Perhaps the ringers worship at another church, without bells; perhaps they go on to ring at another church with a later service; and so on. The recent ringers' festival at Kirby-le-Soken showed the bright side of the coin. The bells were rung before and after three services, most of the ringers joining at least one of the large congregations. A ringer travelled many miles to preach and others similar distances to read the lessons. Equally inspiring are the annual gatherings of some of the territorial Associations referred to. Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, for example, resounds annually with the hearty singing of the ringers of the Oxford Guild.

The writer's experience is limited to his own area, and it may be that in other parts of the country the position is more encouraging. But one has a feeling that often the ringers are not as closely-knit to the Church as both parties should desire. As ringers we must admit that we owe almost all our opportunities for indulging in our hobby to the Church, and also that basically the service of the Church is our raison d'être. What more can we do to bring ringers and other church workers into close contact where it does not now exist? Most Association meetings are held on Saturdays and they often include a short service. But those services are by their nature exclusive. Would it not be possible for Association or District officers and the more active members all to meet occasionally on a Sunday by arrangement to help ring at one of their less-flourishing towers, and then all to attend the service as an act of corporate worship? No doubt the incumbent would be happy to make reference to the event during the service. Our readers, with their extensive collective experience, will have their own views on what can and should be done to bring our work closer to the Church, and we shall welcome their ideas. No doubt the members of the Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee of the Central Council will also be glad to hear their views.

LOCKED IN ST. MARY-LE-TOWER

An awkward predicament confronted ringers at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, at the conclusion of their practice on August 31st. The belfry door was locked against them. It has been customary to open the belfry door with a key which is left in the lock.

The first to leave could not open the door. About a dozen ringers were like rats in a trap: one suggested the fire brigade (that useful institution when in trouble), another, endowed with a fair amount of initiative, recommended firing the back eight. This brought the caretaker to the churchyard, and he was asked to tie a screwdriver and hammer on a bell rope, let down from a window. The tools were hauled up; after a lot of hard work the screws were removed and the whole lock taken off, occupying about half an hour.

A late arrival at the practice noticed two or three lads loitering near the porch: it is supposed they climbed the 30 steps locked the door and decamped with the key. They probably thought it a huge joke, but the ringers did not!

Now the stable door is being locked after the horse is stolen. G.E.S.

FIRST LADY TAUGHT IN WALTHAMSTOW

Mr. W. Shepherd, of Addlestone, writes repeating Mr. I. D. Chapman's statement, that Miss Janet Gamble was the first lady taught in Walthamstow tower to ring a quarter there. In the spring of 1907, he states, Miss C. Beasley, a Walthamstow ringer, scored her first quarter there and this was recorded in 'The Bell News.'

Mr. H. Rumens writes that Miss Sonia Coles, daughter of Mr. C. T. W. Coles and granddaughter of the late Mr. C. T. Coles, learned to ring at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, in 1948 and rang in several quarter peals, including Grandsire Triples, Caters, Stedman Triples and Bob Minor. Going back before 1914, Miss Clara Beasley was taught at St. Mary's and was the young lady who rang the tenor to the first 'all ladies' peal at Cubitt Town.

80th BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS

The heartiest of congratulations go forth from the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild to a member who was the first Vice-President of the District when it was formed in 1946. She is Miss I. B. Thompson who celebrates her 80th birthday today—Sept. 11th. For 14 years Miss Thompson held the position of Vice-President in the District, but during the whole of her ringing career her support for the Ladies' Guild, her Church and all ringing has always been readily given.

After 52 years in the Guild it was our privilege to make Miss Thompson an Hon. Life Member and she continues to serve on the General Committee. Many of the older generation will remember Miss Thompson as Treasurer of the old 'M.C.A.' as affectionately known in the Midlands.

Ringers everywhere will join with us in offering our congratulations in her new-found retirement. S.E.C.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The St. Albans District held a full meeting at St. Mary's, Welwyn, for the first time on August 15th. We were met by the tower captain, Mr. Steer, who showed us his set of new ropes, bought not a moment too soon. Two were on by evening!

The new Rector, the Rev. Mr. Walsh, took the service and gave a most interesting address on the history of one of his bells, which bears the inscription, 'Down with enthusiasm.' Is it just hearsay that this bell cannot be rung to a peal? Tea was arranged by the local band at a cafe in the town.

A business meeting was held in the churchyard, Mr. Rex Agg, the Association secretary, presiding. The meeting was pleased to hear that it had been represented at the funeral of Mr. A. A. Hughes. Thelma West was elected a probationary member and Paula Healey and Peter Dale ringing members.

MADELEY RINGING JUBILEE

The diamond jubilee of ringing service in one tower, St. Michael's, Madeley, Salop, was in July reached by Mr. Thomas Pritchard, of Court Street, Madeley.

During the past 60 years Mr. Pritchard has been most dedicated to his church, not only as a bellringer, which included 28 years as tower captain, but as a sidesman, deputy warden and churchwarden. As a bellringer his only absences from Sunday service and practice ringing were during the two world wars and while the bells were being recast and augmented to eight; except the occasional day of ill-health.

In 1907, after only three years as a ringer, he taught the complete band change ringing as he was the only experienced change ringer there. Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at Whitsun, 1962, and to mark the occasion presented an electric clock for the ringing chamber.

During the past six months Mr. Pritchard unfortunately has been very poorly and in hospital, but he is now making progress.

To mark the diamond jubilee, the local company rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles, with 4, 6, 8 covering, on August 13th. Many of the band had long service in the tower, details being: J. Tranter (one year, first quarter) 1, T. S. Wilkes (38 years) 2, Miss P. Alford (2 years) 3, J. L. Stanier (56 years) 4, F. W. Jones (18 years) 5, A. J. Molinoli (one year) 6, H. Tranter (32 years, conductor) 7, H. Hyde (54 years) 8.

OBITUARY

MR. J. E. S. MORETON

The ringers of All Saints' Church, Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, have suffered a severe blow in the sudden passing to higher service of their oldest member, John Edward Spencer Moreton, at the age of 67, on August 24th.

He came of a ringing family and first learned to ring in 1910. From 1923-1952 he was captain of the band and also tower keeper for a great part of the time. He rang about 100 peals. In his capacity as a carpenter and joiner he, together with the late Ernest Stone, made and erected oak panelling in the ringing room to the memory of Mr. G. J. Lewis, father of Mrs. D. E. Beamish, a staunch worshipper at the church for many years.

The funeral service on August 27th was attended by the majority of the local ringers together with Mr. F. W. Perrens, Mr. A. J. Hinde and Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, representing the Coventry Diocesan Guild, of which Jack had been a member for 50 years.

The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the interment and a quarter peal was rung in the evening. Prior to a quarter peal on the Sunday morning following, a minute's silence was observed and the captain, Mr. A. H. Beamish, offered a short prayer and hoped that the band would gain inspiration from the life of Jack Moreton and render the same loyalty to the church that he did.

MATT. WOOD, OF BETHNAL GREEN

In their tributes to Mr. Albert A. Hughes, your recent contributors have referred to his learning to ring under Matthew A. Wood, of Bethnal Green. Mr. E. E. Holman, of Walthamstow, has recently presented to the London County Association Matt. Wood's peal books—five small notebooks in good condition and written in excellent copperplate. As a matter of interest and for the benefit of future historians of our art, I give brief particulars of these books and at the same time express thanks to Ernie Holman, for his kindness in presenting them, and for the care with which they have been preserved.

Book 1.—Contains 105 peals of Grandsire Triples, including his first peal in 1846, and his last, conducted by A. A. Hughes, in 1909. Forty-one of these peals were conducted by Matt. Wood and they include four on handbells.

Book 2.—Eighty-five peals of Stedman Triples (conducted 16) from 1847 to 1907. It is noticeable that Matt. was at home anywhere 'round the circle,' though in not one of these peals did he ring the tenor behind. He rang 5-6 to the first peal of Stedman Triples 'in hand' in 1854 and, in the same year, 7-8 to the same method, now-conducted. In 1906 the name of 'A. A. Hughes, junr.' first appears in these books—he rang the tenor at Bethnal Green.

Book 3.—Records 68 peals of Major, between 1846 and 1908, the majority of them Kent Treble Bob, with 8,448 in 1870 at Spitalfields; 8,896 at Bethnal Green in 1890 and a record length, 15,840, in 1868. Peals of London, Cambridge and Superlative are included in this section.

Book 4.—Records 82 peals of Caters and Royal between 1848 and 1902, including four of Stedman Caters 'in hand,' that in 1851 being the first such performance.

Book 5.—Records 40 peals of Cinques and Maximus between 1848 and 1901, including the first of Stedman Cinques 'in hand' in 1854, rung for the St. James' Society. These peals also include the then record lengths of Stedman Cinques—7,524 at Cripplegate in 1851 and 8,580 at Cornhill in 1861.

At the end of this volume there are summaries of these 380 peals, a considerable total for those days; and a list of names of all the ringers who took part in them, which reads like a roll of honour of famous London ringers, with distinguished visitors, of the last century.

A note about Matt. Wood, with photograph, appeared in 'R.W.' for August 30th, 1940. He came of an old ringing family, his grandfather and great uncle being notable early members of the Cumberlands. He was born in 1826 and lived from 1829 until his death in 1912 in Church Row, by St. Matthew's Church where he succeeded his father as steeple-keeper.

OUTING

DEVIZES, WILTS

The ringers and friends of St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James', Southbroom, held their annual outing on August 29th. The coach left St. John's Church at 1 p.m., the first tower being Wilton, where we were met by the Rev. C. A. Witcomb and Mr. A. Trimby. At Fordingbridge Mr. Marlow met us and everyone rang on the eight bells.

Bournemouth was reached at 5 p.m., and after tea Mr. Colin Conway and Rev. David Haslam met us. We enjoyed our hour's ringing on these fine bells. The homeward journey was through the New Forest and Lyndhurst, to Salisbury, where there was a half hour halt. Devizes was reached about 10.45 p.m.

A. T. W.

DOUBLE-HANDED PEAL OF MAJOR

Having rung the triple-double-handed peal at Preston Candover in 1961, thoughts turned to a peal of Bob Major with four ringers. Tom Chapman was the obvious choice for the fourth ringer, and the only problem was a suitable tower.

Two attempts were made at Atherstone, Warwickshire, in 1963, but both were stopped about half-way due to bells crossing. This did, however, give us much valuable practice.

The third attempt, at Balcombe, was successful at the first try. The first half was good, although the time of 85 minutes was probably too fast, resulting in a few patches in the third part. A few words from the tenors to 'Slow it up' led to some good ringing in the last part; time for the second half being 94 minutes. In this attempt we rang Pritchard's Four Part instead of the handbell composition used in the other attempts. The greatest difficulty in all-double-handed ringing is the difference in weight of the two tenors. The success of the peal was undoubtedly due to the skill and ease with which Tony rang them.

After the peal, welcome refreshment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Laker, and we express our appreciation to Mr. Laker and the Balcombe ringers for the peal arrangements.

F.T.B.

BATTLE RINGERS IN HERTS

Regarded by some as a rash decision, Battle ringers held their annual outing on August Bank Holiday. It turned out, however, to be a glorious day and the arrangements went surprisingly smoothly. For the first time, the Dean accompanied the party.

It was a long ride into Hertfordshire for Cheshunt (an easy-going ring), our first tower. To start with we did not do justice to the bells, but later on some well-struck Grandsire and a half course of Cambridge were achieved. The unusual happened at Hertford (10). The stay of the third was bent, but a Heath-Robinson operation put things right with the 'supporting bar,' consisting of the original bent stay plus wedge and various lengths of rope. Funnily enough, nobody dared to set the bell.

After lunch ringing at Baldock was spoiled by trying to ring the bells too fast. At Hitchin, the heat of the day seemed to be telling itself and ringing was confined to standard methods. A most enjoyable salad tea at the Cavalier Hotel Sevenage, was followed by a narrow lane route to Wheathampstead, where 36 feet of unguided rope proved a problem to some who were not so agile with their footwork. At the last tower, Aldenham, Stedman and a half course of Yorkshire were rung.

I.V.J.S.

Some still awake attempted to ring hand bells on the journey home. However, this soon ceased and the coach drifted into moderate silence, with the back seat, of course, occupied by, '.... Oh do move over a bit, Colin.'

Letters to the Editor

Mr. John Betjeman and The Central Council

Dear Sir,—Readers of Mr. Peter Came's leading article on Mr. John Betjeman in your issue of August 7th may like to know that in reply to my letter inviting him to allow his name to go forward for election as an honorary member of the Council, Mr. Betjeman replied: 'I am honoured that my name should be considered as an honorary member of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. It is some years now since I handled a bell and when I did I never rose to method ringing, call changes were all I could manage, but the sound of bells and the joy of the exercise are things which are dear to me. I am thoroughly in agreement with the aims of your Council.'

I have sent him a copy of the above issue.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT,
Hon. Secretary,
Central Council.

More Yorkshire Four-bell Towers

Dear Sir,—Recently fresh information has come my way on some Yorkshire four-bell towers:

Bossall (near York).—The ring here has now been declared unsafe owing to excessive movement in the frame and supporting floor. This is a pity as efforts had been made to restore the ring in the old and beautiful church.

Badsworth (near Pontefract).—Recently I had the pleasure of joining the Hemingbrough band in ringing for a service. Despite the necessity of respicing the tenor's rope the 'go' of the bells is quite good. The tone is decidedly odd and I can't understand why they occupy the four largest pits in the six bell frame, for they are certainly not tuned to be a back 4 of a 6.

Filey.—St. Oswald's Church has a chime of 4 bells hung 'dead.' Except for the treble, all are old bells with canons and Latin inscriptions. The tenor about 12 cwt., is dated 1689, the 3rd 1700 and the 2nd 1675. These 3 bells, originally hung for full-swing ringing and then later for swing-chiming, were hung 'dead' by Taylor's in 1928 and a new treble was added at the same time. Insufficient money meant that a ring of 6 or 8 wasn't forthcoming. Although there are 4 bells in the tower, the present treble, 3rd and tenor form a chime of 3 bells and the 2nd (a semitone between the treble and 3rd) is used as a service bell. The bells hang in a frame reputed to be of pre-Reformation ship's timbers and are well cared for. In the ex-ringing chamber is preserved the wheel of the tenor.—Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL KING.

Wentworth, Rotherham.

A Disappointment

Dear Sir,—A deal attempt of Bob Major was lost at Blethingley, Surrey, on August 29th after two hours and 50 minutes ringing. If successful, this would have been a 'first' as conductor for Richard Stevens and a welcome for Alison Streeter who contrived to be born a few hours before the attempt commenced. The happy father was ringing the treble. Richard's handling of the 'not so easy' tenor was worthy of note.—Yours faithfully,

K. TABER.

Stravinsky and Bells

Dear Sir,—I came across a mention in a newspaper, about two years ago, of the same Stravinsky incident as Dr. Price relates in your issue of August 14th. My own clue led to Eric Walter White's book 'Stravinsky: A Critical Survey,' where the telling is even more pointed:

'Despite its possibly apocryphal origin and faulty logic, the following anecdote is typical of the composer, both in its line of argument and the dogmatic nature of its utterance. It is said that one morning in London he was with a friend in a taxi when, just as they came to Ludgate Hill, the bells of St. Paul's began to ring. He leaned forward to listen and tapped on the window for the driver to stop. Then he turned to his friend and said: "That is really the ideal way to make music. A man pulls a rope; but what happens at the other end is of no importance to him. He cannot make the bells ring more softly or more loudly; he cannot alter their rhythm, nor increase or diminish their tone. He has nothing to do except pull the rope—the bells do all the rest. The music is not in him: it lives in the bells. The man at the rope is the prototype of the ideal conductor..."'

Granted that Stravinsky is, as Dr. Price says, one of the greatest musicians of the age, he does seem to have acquired his notions of College 'Youths' ringing from something like the Coronation Scene in the opera 'Boris Godunov,' or perhaps the bell-clanging antics in the film 'Femmes de Paris.' One hardly likes to spoil by further comment this delightful piece of utter bosh.—Yours faithfully,
R. B. MEADOWS.

High Hoyland Bells

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read the letter about High Hoyland bells in your issue of August 14th.

The P.C.C. have decided that the best thing to do is to remove the bells and we are in process of applying for a faculty to do this.

It may be that another church would be interested in buying them. It does seem to be a pity that they should be sold for scrap metal.

Five bells are dated 1745 and the treble is dated 1822 (by Thomas Mears). The tenor weighs 8 cwt.—Yours faithfully,

The Rectory, E. A. CROWE (Rev.).
Clayton West, Huddersfield.

Clarification wanted

Dear Sir,—Could I appeal for some clarification of the notations of the following methods published recently as the information seems inconsistent:

Rothley S.M.: The notation given does not produce 1352 . . . with 2nds, if the halflead were to be 18 then 2nds would give 13 . . . but there would have to be another 'extra 2nds' in the grid for this to obtain.

Hunslett B.M.: The notation given does not produce 164 . . . What are the missing places? It is interesting that Hunslett is Leeds's classic slum area; perhaps the method is a slum too?

Bombay S.M.: There is a transit missing (presumably when the treble is in 5-6 the places should be - 2 - and not as printed, with the 1458 at the cross section?).

Now that all the Doubles variations have been exposed, could I appeal for a complete list of the 'irregular' Minor methods, as well as a list of all those with built-in singles, not all of those rung have been given I think. Perhaps one of our Barnsley and District friends would oblige?—Yours sincerely,

GILES B. THOMPSON.

Chorlton cum Hardy.

Naming Doubles Methods

Dear Sir,—Would you please insert this in the 'R.W.' to try to find the names of the following Doubles variations (if they have been named):

(a) Plain Bob, Reverse Canterbury, St. Simon, St. Martin, St. Nicholas, Winchendon, St. Osmund and St. Remigius, all of which have a London Single as the Bob.

N.B.—Not an extreme.

(b) Grandsire P.C. with a Grandsire Bob and an Antelope Single as the single.

Grandsire P.C. with a Grandsire Bob and a P.L. of All Saints as the single

(c) Methods which have New Bob (or Grandsire Extremes each lead end) at the back and front work, which is the front work of St. Simon, Winchendon, St. Remigius and St. Osmund, e.g., New Bob which has St. Simon's front work. The call being a P.L. of Plain Bob or Rev. Canterbury.

(d) P.C. is St. Remigius with an Old Doubles Single as the single and half lead of Original as the bob.

(e) St. Osmund with a P.L. of All Saints as the single.

St. Remigius with a P.L. of All Saints as the single.—Yours faithfully, Birstall, Leicester. DAVID F. MOORE.

Reply to Mr. Moore's letter:

(a) To the best of my knowledge a London Single is a St. Blaise Single and therefore a London Extreme, i.e., all three are the same.

THE BELL STOKER

Now is the time for the steeple-keepers to sit up and take notice, for the man who knows it all goes on: 'But the bells should have their official, like the clock. He should be called the Bell-stoker. He should rub his bells at least once a week; then they would never rust, the inscriptions would be preserved, and the surface of the bells protected from disintegration, the sound would be improved, and the bells would be less liable to crack.' (I am sure that if the steeple-keepers cannot find time to rub the bells as suggested they have only to contact the Mothers' Union who, I am sure, will be only too delighted to do the work for him.)

'The stoker should keep every rivet in its place; the wheels and beams should all be varnished or painted regularly. I have visited many belfries at home and abroad, but never have I seen a bit of paint or varnish on one yet.' (Bellhangers always make a special point of placing the bells in such a manner that it is impossible to carry out most of the suggestions. He may argue that he is limited for space, don't believe him, he can always make more room by pushing the tower walls out.)

'The shutters should be kept from swinging, with their flanges sloping downward, so as to keep the wet from driving in, whilst allowing the sound to float freely out and down upon the town. But a far more radical change is required in the machinery of bells. In these days of advanced mechanical appliances, it is disgraceful to reflect that exactly the same machinery is now used to swing bells as was used in China a thousand years ago.' (I always thought that it was the Russians who discovered the art of ringing.)

'A wheel with a rope around it—that and nothing more.' (What! no headstock.) 'The bell-works might occupy much less room, and the friction, by some of the simplest mechanical appliances might be reduced to almost nothing.' (The bellhangers would not like this, they would not be able to make things awkward for those who have to look after them or for the clockmakers who have fix clock hammers.)

'The belfry should be cultivated. The belfry should look like a fine engine room in a first class factory. It should be a pleasure, as well as an instructive lesson, to go into. When all was in motion, everything should be so neatly fitted and thoroughly oiled that we should hear no sound save the melodious booming of the bells themselves. At present, when the bells are rung the belfry appears to go into several violent convulsions, corresponding to the herculean efforts of the poor ringers below. At last the wheel is induced to move enough for the clapper to hit the bell an indefinite kind of bang—an arduous operation, which may or may not be repeated in some kind of rhythm, according as the ringer may or may not succeed in hitting it off with the eccentric machinery up aloft. We shall have to return to this subject at the close of our article.' (I have heard various explanations as to what happens when a bell is rung, but this one should take first prize.)

Our critic devotes himself to quite a number of pages on the out of tune-ness of English bells, but I do not propose to bore the reader with this and will proceed to the subject at the close of his article.

'Meanwhile we cannot help repeating in more detail a suggestion made at the commencement of this article, and which occurs to us whenever we enter a dilapidated belfry full of creaking wheels and rotten timbers. Before we think of keyboards and barrels, let us supply some simple machinery for the common ringing of the bells. We hear about towers being run down by the vibrations of the bells; but it would be truer to say that they are rocked down by the friction of coarse machinery. If all the bellowing of the Prussian guns failed to make any material impression upon the fragile stone filigree work of the Strasbourg tower, it is not likely that the sound of bells has much to do with the ruin of brickwork and masonry.'

LONDON'S BELLS

In that part of the article on the out of tune-ness of bells, which I have not repeated, Mr. Haweis says, 'Great bells in London are generally considered an insufferable nuisance. One church with a daily service materially injures house property in the adjoining streets.' (Now this does want sorting out: in one breath the sound of the bells damages neighbouring property and in the next breath he states that the sound of bells is not likely to ruin brickwork and masonry. Prussian guns may not have made much impression on Strasbourg tower, but he should have seen what bombs did.)

'In connection with the swing of a heavy bell there must always be considerable strain upon the tower. But the friction might be indefinitely diminished if the bell machinery worked smoothly, and the labour, at present herculean, of the poor bellringer might be reduced to almost zero were that machinery a little more scientific.' (I think the Editor and others that we know will agree, but read on.)

'When it is once understood that an improved system of tolling the bells would save Deans and Chapters all over the country enormous sums of money, by suspending the wear and tear which now goes on in all our cathedral towers, we cannot help thinking that little opposition will be raised by those who have to pay the damages. Bell-ringers are doubtless the most obstinate of men' (hear, hear); 'but if they were paid the same for working machinery which produced twice as much effect with less than half the labour, they too would soon give in to a better system. That ungrateful and barbarous rope and wheel, whose action upon the bell is now as uncertain, would probably disappear' (and so would the ringers, methinks) 'and give place to something like a handle, a piston, or even a keyboard and a set of wheels and pulleys. There is no reason whatever why, with a better tolling mechanism, one man might not ring half a dozen bells, instead of as at present, half a dozen men being often set to ring a single big bell. We make these suggestions with the more confidence because they have been favourably entertained by the heads of one of the most eminent firms of horology in England. We are glad to say that in accordance with our suggestions these gentlemen have promised to give their attention to the development of 'better mechanism for the tolling of bells.' (Oh, dear, this chap does not seem to know the difference between ringing and tolling; anyhow, from the above it would appear that it is only the ringers at cathedrals whose heads are to be chopped off, you who ring at parish churches are to carry on sweating in the traditional manner.)

'In conclusion, let the reader try and remember the mechanical improvements which have been already realised, and let him by a stretch of imagination realise those which have in the foregoing pages been suggested. We shall then, indeed, pity him if he is able to read the following narration without emotion.

THE DOOMED BELL

'When BIG TOM at York has to perform the arduous operation of striking the hour, a truly heart-rending spectacle is said to occur. A strong man, who has, doubtless, long since grown insensible to the sufferings of his victim, ascends the tower and, advancing towards a mighty hammer, raises it often to a most cruel height above the bell, and bangs out the hour with a ferocity more than enough to shatter the constitution of even Tom.

'We are credibly informed that bronze fragments of this doomed bell lie thickly scattered beneath him. An old bell which has gone cracked or out of tune has no real objection to be melted or recast—nay, it often bears the fact proudly inscribed upon its regenerated front, but to be deliberately pulverised by the brutal and irregular assaults of a remorseless destroyer, that is indeed too much for any bell to bear. We say it with shame and sorrow, Poor Tom of York, formerly called Great Peter, and weighing ten tons 15 cwt., is being literally beaten to death.'

According to the wife of one of the York ringers, who has ceased to beat his wife, first practised on Peter.

(I like that bit about the 'ungrateful and barbarous rope and wheel' and it gives one an idea: why not tie the obstreperous ringers to the wheel by the ungrateful and barbarous rope—how Dorothy Sayers could have made a story out of that.)

Well 'The Ringing World' has published some bilge in its time and I have read some articles in various books and magazines, but never have come across such utter tosh as this one on 'Bells and Belfries' by the Rev. H. R. Haweis, M.A. It is more likely than not that because of this particular article, the reverend gentleman would be considered an authority on bells.

This is meant to be a museum piece and not an historical record.—J.P.F.

THE BELLS OF OLD BAILEY

By CHARLES BROWN (Churchwarden of St. Sepulchre's)

Next, in 1698, comes another momentous event, for it would seem to have been in that year that the ring was made up to ten. Two new bells were cast by William Eldridge of Chertsey, a well-known bellfounder this time. Of these two bells, the smaller one remains in the tower to-day as a sacring bell. It hangs in a little frame of its own above the main frame and is regularly rung during the consecration at Holy Communion.

In 1699 the Vestry Minutes contain a puzzling entry:

'Mr. Richard Castleman, Mr. Peter Bradshaw and Mr. Elisha Mason appeared in Vestry and made a proposal to take down ye 9th Bell and new cast it and to bring it home and sett it upp again at their own charges in six weeks tyme and yt the same should be made useable and tunable. The Vestry accepted their propositions and referred it to the Ch. Wardens to see the said Bell taken downe and delivered to ye persons . . . weighing the same out and in: they the Church Wardens then taking Surety from the persons for ye performance of the matter proposed and that they be obliged to return the bell of the same weight and goodness of metall as it now is or better. And if any of its weight should be wanting that they do pay to the Ch.W. the value thereof. And that they doe not chip or cause any damage to the other bells.'

The Minute illustrates the considerable amount of detailed care which was lavished on the bells (though they were not quite so favoured as the organ, which boasted 'a committee for ye affairs of ye organ'). But who were the 'three persons' and what was wrong with the ninth bell? Elisha Mason later became a Churchwarden, and presumably the other two were parishioners. The ninth bell would have been one of the Hodson bells of 1667: possibly it had become cracked.

Before long there were yet more recastings. In 1701 the second bell (one of the two new Eldridge ones of 1698) was recast and yet another of the ring in 1712, when the Treasurer Churchwarden reported that 'a new bell was cast and hung up for approbation.' At the same time we hear the last of the 'great bell,' which had been taken down and laid up in the church. Its days were now numbered, for on December 17th, 1713, we read in the Minutes:

'Ordered that the great Bell that hangs in a Loft of the Steeple by itself and hath for some time been taken downe be sold by the Churchwardens to the best Chapman and applied to the use of the Church and the Bells.'

It was perhaps a rather sad end for such an old friend, despite the gruesome associations it had with those fearful executions.

For a few years all seems to have gone well and the ten bells rang merrily. They must have been well cared for and the Churchwardens' accounts show numerous small amounts spent on them including such items as 'sand and sweet herbs for the belfry.'

THE RECASTING

But now was to follow the greatest event in the bells' history. The Churchwardens had at this time considerable amounts of money at their disposal for the upkeep of the church fabric and it was a period of continued repairs and alterations. In 1738 came the momentous decision to recast the whole ring of bells. The Vestry Minute runs:

'Ordered that all the bells except the old Treble, being nine bells in number, be taken down out of the steeple and new cast. And also that a new bell be cast to make up the said nine bells to Ten Bells to go together in Peal.'

The work was done by the great founder Samuel Knight, whose foundry was in the neighbouring parish of St. Andrew Holborn (probably in Shoe Lane). Six of these bells survive to-day, among them the ninth, which fortunately bears the inscription recording the work:

'Samuel Knight cast us and William Catlin made the frame and hung us all 1739.'

William Catlin's massive oak frame remains to this day, as solid and sound as the day it was made. William Catlin must have been closely connected with Samuel Knight, for we know that Robert Catlin succeeded Knight as a founder, so perhaps William was Robert's father.

The parishioners were rightly proud of their new ring of ten. Indeed it was not long before the bells achieved fame. On April 7th, 1741, members of the Society of Eastern Scholars, a ringing Society founded in 1733, rang the first known peal of Treble Bob Royal on the bells. But this peal was afterwards found to be false and on May 30th in the same year the College Youths came to the tower and, as recorded in the ringing chamber, rang a true peal of Treble Bob Royal.

The Knight bells gave excellent service and little was done to them until 1804, when No. 7 was recast by the elder Thomas Mears at the famous Whitechapel bell foundry. Three years later he also recast the treble.

It is interesting to note from the accounts the occasions on which the bells were rung at this period. Taking the year 1818 as an example, we find that they were rung on the following days: New Year's Day, the Queen's Birthday, Easter Day, St. George's Day, on the Churchwardens, etc, being sworn in, on the occasion of a Charity Sermon, King Charles' Restoration, the King's Coronation anniversary, the King's Accession anniversary, Gunpowder Plot and Christmas Day—an odd mixture of sacred and secular. On each occasion the sum of £1 11s. 6d. was paid out to the ringers.

In 1829 there was another disaster. On Lord Mayor's Day the bells were gaily ringing the Lord Mayor past the church when suddenly the tenor fell down with a terrific crash. As far as we know, nobody was hurt. The parish records draw a discreet veil of silence over the whole affair. Things were soon put right and the following year the damaged tenor was recast by the younger Thomas Mears at Whitechapel. At the same time No. 6 was also recast. The weight of the new tenor, 31 cwt., was slightly more than the old one.

Since that time there have been no recastings. In 1886 John Warner and Sons re-hung one of the bells and Nos. 3, 4 and 5 (all Knight 1739 bells) were 'quartered' or turned on their headstocks so as to bring a fresh part of the sound bow under the blow of the clapper.

Finally, in 1905, the whole ring was rehung and new fittings were provided by Mears and Stainbank, who also put No. 8 on ball bearings at a later date. Otherwise the bells have not been altered since. They have not been rung since 1940. Before they can be rung again the tower will have to be strengthened considerably and the bells themselves restored and rehung. This would, of course, involve a very large expenditure and the money would have to be raised if the work were to be considered. But perhaps one day, after all these years of silence, the famous bells of the Old Bailey will ring out once again over the roofs of the City—the City which brought them into being and which I.O. doubt will help them to ring again.

LEAPING AND SKIPPING

Dear Sir,—For about 300 years change ringing has remained basically unchanged. Techniques and theoretical knowledge have been developed to near perfection, but the basic idea of bells weaving their patterns by the interchange of adjacent bells remains unaltered.

Possibly this system originated because in the early days of ringing it was very difficult to move, with accuracy, more than one place at a time. Now, however, with modern bell-hanging and bell-control technique, such a system seems needlessly restrictive.

I should like, therefore, to put forward two new basic systems both of which are related to simple plain hunting.

The first is as follows:

12345678 This system contains exactly the same changes as a block of plain hunting. Each bell leads and lies behind a whole pull, but in proceeding from lead successive steps are made to 3rds, 2nds, 5ths, 4ths, 7ths, 6ths and 8ths place; the reverse order being used on leaving behind.

42618375 I propose that this system should be termed a 'leaping' as opposed to a 'plain' hunt.

21436587 It should be noted that the work of Plain Bob can be applied at the treble lead, the net effect then being to short-circuit a section of the hunt instead of to dodge. I would name such a method Leaping Bob.

My second system is formed simply by omitting alternate rows in the plain hunt system, viz:

12345678 It contains, therefore, just half the changes in a block of plain hunting. There is no leading or lying and the blows are made successively in 1st, 3rds, 5ths, 7ths, 8ths, 6ths, 4ths and 2nds place. In this case of Plain Bob, lead ends are substituted, places are made instead of dodges. (Such sudden near cessation of movement amid a whirl of activity should be attractive to the ear and call for finesse in bell control.)

This system I would propose to call a 'skipping' hunt and its method counterpart Skipping Bob.

Dare I hope that some brave hearts will try these systems out on the bells? After all, what better time to start than Leap Year?—Yours sincerely,

PHILIP H. WHITAKER.

Coleraine, County Derry, N. Ireland.

On Sunday, August 30th, at Rotherham Parish Church prior to Evensong, a farewell presentation was made to Ian Tilling, who, having recently obtained a B.Sc. degree, is sailing to Africa to take up work in Uganda. His fellow ringers presented him with a leather writing case, in appreciation of his loyal service as a ringer over a period of 8 years. A farewell quarter peal of Grandsire Caters followed.

The first peal on the new eight at Thorncombe was marked by three first peal, a first 'inside' and a first as conductor.

Mr. John W. McClenahan, of St. Albans, has left for Philadelphia, U.S.A., to study for the degree of M.Sc., during the next two years.

At the eighth attempt and after twelve years Mr. Alan Carveth, the president of the Truro Diocesan Guild, has succeeded in ringing a peal at Helston.

In the peal of Stedman Cinques at Lincoln Cathedral by Cambridge University Guild on June 13th (page 582) the seventh was rung by L. R. H. Smith and the eighth by M. Press, and not as printed.

We are happy to announce a belfry engagement of two ringers from St. Anne's Parish Church, St. Annes-on-Sea, Lancs—Miss Carol Pickup, daughter of the Vicar's warden, and Mr. Alex Maitland.

Mr. George E. Symonds, of Ipswich, now in his 90th year, stood in a peal of Grandsire Caters at Stradbroke, and rang the third in his usual masterly style, for the birth of his fourth great grandchild.

Ten-year-old David A. Lawrence was taken to Grafton Underwood to ring his first quarter on August 30th. His own bells at Great Addington were thought to be a little too heavy for him. The visit was successful.

Four Cowbridge Grammar School ringers at this year's school camp at Llangorse, Brecknock, rang a quarter on the four (tenor 10 cwt. approx.) at Llangasty, on the edge of Llangorse Lake. This was the first quarter of Minimus by all, and the first quarter rung by a band consisting entirely of boys from the school.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Encouraging additional orders have been received by Mr. W. H. Viggers, of 37, Highfield Gardens, Aldershot, for his ringers' ash or pin trays which were introduced to the Exercise three weeks ago. Specimens are available. See advertisement in this week's issue.

Omitted from Mr. A. P. Cannon's vital statistics is the note that his 1,000 peals have been rung in 67 counties.

Mr. A. Patrick Cannon beat Mr. J. W. Cotton, of Overseal, by a short head for his 1,000 peals. When Pat rang his, Joe was six behind! Another happy event is pending!

It is regretted that the place names for the London County Association meeting on September 11th were transposed in the notice. Afternoon ringing is at Bethnal Green and evening ringing at Stepney—see revised notice.

Will any 'old soldier' who wishes to stand in a peal attempt on November 11th contact Mr. T. E. Sone, Castle Hill, Brenchley, Kent, or Mr. L. Stilwell, 34, Bramber Road, Worthing.

Mr. Colin H. Cook suggests that the last quarter peal at Chartham, Kent, was at least 16 years ago. Mr. F. C. W. Knight tells us of 1,800 of Minor on August 9th, 1963, and Mr. W. Ring of a quarter of St. Clement's College Bob on August 8th, 1962.

The energy of Douglas Snoswell in improving the 'go' of Ditchling, Sussex, bells during the past year is commended by a correspondent. For his 19th birthday a complimentary quarter was rung on the bells on September 2nd.

The quarter peal at Camborne on September 2nd was not only a welcome to Mr. E. H. Langley to Cornwall for which he expresses his thanks. It celebrated also the birth in Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, of a son to his daughter Sylvia.

On August 29th Mr. H. Milborne climbed the stairs to the tower at All Saints' Church, Castle Cary. Although this was his 92nd birthday and his sight is failing, he joined in ringing rounds with the other ringers present. He has been a ringer for over 50 years and this was his first ring for ten years.
