RINGERS AND RINGING IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

By CYRIL W. HANCOCK

HAVING noticed in 'The Ringing World' recently that the Annual Dinner of the Society of Rambling Ringers would take place on December 5th, it occurred to the writer that some inquiry into the activities of their predecessors of exactly 230 years ago might be interesting and rewarding. I refer, of course, to the Rambling Club of Ringers who flourished in London, 1733-35.

Some account of this club is given in the late Ernest Morris's 'History and Art of Change Ringing' but as this book has been out of print for some years, these notes may be of interest. There is still preserved a manuscript account of the activities of the club, compiled by William Laughton, one of the members, and, by courtesy of the City of London Guildhall Library, I have perused this. It is a slim volume about 9 inches by 6 and the handwriting somewhat crabbed, being probably done with a quill pen, and entitled 'Remarks on a Rambling Club of Ringers and their performances giving an account of all their meetings from first to last, wherein may be seen the famous exploits which have been done in the art of ringing by that worthy body of men.'

The flyleaf bears the inscription of James Wakefield, of Romford, Essex, having apparently come into his possession on October 28th, 1799. There is what Laughton describes as a 'Diddication' to Mr. George Carbery, another member of the Club, stating that a Company made an agreement to 'ring at all the peals of 3-4-5 and 6 in the City of London, likewise to ring upon eight bells and divert ourselves with a peal if our fancies should lean that way.' The Club was founded with seven members at the 'Bell' in Angel Alley, Little Moorfields, in 1733 and grew to 42 at the time of its dissolution on March 8th, 1735. All their names are given including three 'odd' members, one of whom is described as 'Gunsmith in Ordinary to the Company.' One wonders what his function could have been! It would have been interesting to have known the trade or profession of each member, but unfortunately this is not given.

There were fifty meetings in all, each of which is described by Laughton in what one can only call doggerel verse, a sample of which is as follows:

'St. Olave Hart Street next comes in
Two 700s we there did ring
One College Single, the other Plain
Bob, if so please, that is the name.'

In spite of his execrable versifying, William Laughton was obviously quite an intelligent man, as in some of the accounts he gives a description of the church they were visiting and its monuments. Not all the meetings were for ringing—some were merely social occasions and, as will be seen later, a good time was had by all. It is not possible in a short article to include all the meetings, so reference will only be made to those of more than usual interest.

At St. Peter le Poer, Broad Street (demolished 1896), the ringers were 'by a saucy sexton vex't'—a lady who is described in terms which I regretfully decided would not escape the Editor's blue pencil. However, they 'brought her haughty stomach down' by seeking the churchwarden and getting the keys from him. Actually, ringing was not confined to the City and excursions were made into what were then outlying villages.

On one visit to St. John at Hackney, they found that the bells went very badly and ropes continually slipped wheel but they did not reckon it a waste of time, as there was no church near town in such a delightful setting of gardens, orchards and corn-fields. This reads strangely today but it is a fact that many wealthy City merchants had houses in this district.

Very different was a journey to St. Mary, Rotherhithe (6), when the band took boat and returned in the same way. At this date there were hundreds of Thames watermen plying for hire with their wherries from the various stairs. Here 700 of Plain Bob were rung and eighteen score of Treble Bob, after which the company refreshed themselves at Milk Alley, Wapping, with bacon and beans and leg of mutton with 'colly flower.' Then, according to custom, they drank a dram and smoked a pipe and each man told a tale or sang a song. It must have been a convivial scene.

On another occasion they rambled to Walthamstow across Hackney Marshes by footpaths through fields of rye, wheat, peas, beans and oats, the rye in places growing higher than their heads. There must now be many hundreds of acres of wonderfully fertile soil lying under bricks and mortar. A few fields away from St. Mary's, Walthamstow, was a gentleman's country seat, about which Laughton waxed almost lyrical in describing the orchard of apples, cherries, pears and plums, with 'apricocks' growing against the wall. The ringing here consisted of two 700s of Plain Bob.

Another rural expedition was to Mitcham where their venue was the 'Stag's Head.' Dinner consisted of beef, bacon, cabbage, etc. and each man had a half quartern of brandy to his stout, after which 700 Cambridge was rung. They must have had strong heads in those days, as after ringing there was a return visit to the 'Stag's Head' before finally setting off for home. We are told that on reaching Streatham two members of the party were so fatigued that they lay all night at the 'Five Bells'—one suspects that they were the worse for wear after so much solid and liquid refreshment. The remainder trudged on through Brixton, though two were fortunate enough to get a lift in a gentleman's coach—an early form of hitch-hiking!

Christ Church, Spitalfields, a fine church by Nicholas Hawksmoor, was a favourite tower, as no less than six visits were paid. Here, says Laughton, we were among the Frenchmen, a reference to the Spitalfields weavers, many of whom were of Huguenot origin. On Christmas Eve, 1734, the band rang 700 Cambridge on the back six, the first they claimed since the bells were hung in the steeple.

They were again at Christ Church on December 27th, 1734, when 720 Morning Exercise was the method and the chronicler aptly remarks 'There's nothing like ringing of a peal, to prepare a stomach for a meal.'

On St. Dunstan, Stepney, his comment is: 'The bells were charming, smooth and nice, not "ruff" and hard like Spitalfields.' At Holy Trinity, Minories, which had three bells, they rang 'fourteen dozen of sixes and raised and lowered without a stand.' We are told that here the ropes were so small that they cut the ringers' hands, and as there were no sallies they had to be marked with chalk in order to know where to catch.

All Hallows, Tottenham, bells received favourable comment, the tenor being 'as good a bell as e'er was made' and cast by Philip Whiteman in 1696. Regrettably, we are told that whilst six went to ring, five others went to a 'boozing ken' where thirteen quarterns of gin were consumed. Here they met two charming girls 'but their mothers kept a watchful eye. That none should slip out bye and bye,' which was very wise of them, as in view of Laughton's further candid verse, the ringers' intentions were scarcely honourable. It would appear that hand-

Guildford Cathedral Bells a Facsimile of Washington's

The ten bells ordered for Guildford Cathedral are to be a facsimile of those installed at Washington Cathedral this year. This was announced at the annual dinner of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Newlands Corner Hotel on November 28th.

The principal guest was the Dean of Guildford (Bishop George Clarkson) who was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Braithwaite. In order that the Dean might hear the bells of his Cathedral, the Master (Mr. D. A. R. May), who presided, presented him with a copy of Edgar C. Shepherd's book, 'The Sound of Bells.' The bells of Washington Cathedral are included on the record that goes with the book. The Master was accompanied by his wife and with them sat the Immediate Past Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer) and Mrs. Denyer, Mr. F. E. Collins, who acted at toastmaster, and Mrs. Collins, who acted Harold Pitstow, who was one of the ten ringers who crossed the Atlantic to ring at Washington Cathedral. A company of 120 was present.

The Dean proposed the toast of 'The Church and the Ringing Exercise,' and said that since their last dinner they had received an extremely nice gift so that they had been able to give the order for the bells. They had received a guarantee from Messrs. Mears and Stainbank that they would be able to ring the bells on May 17th, and he hoped Guild members would ring them, because it would be disastrous if they had the bells and no ringers.

Later he would discuss with their Master the arrangements for the bells to be rung on that occasion. The Dean said he understood that with their bells the people of Guildford would hear the same sounds as those made by bells rung in Washington Cathedral. 'I am not too pleased,' said the Dean, 'about marching side by side with America in all things. I have no doubt that Mr. Wilson will put things right when he goes over next week.'

RINGERS RAISE £1,500

'The final gift was one of great munificence for mercies given to Brig. Schriber and his family. It means that we can get the bells quicker. You have raised £1,500 towards the making of the peal, and for that we cannot express our gratitude too highly. But what is as important as the gift of money is the way the ringers of the diocese have been behind the idea of the ring of bells and been very active in working for them.'

'In the modern way people think about the Church, they say the bells are a luxury and why waste money on a thing like them? I am quite certain if it had not been for the enthusiasm of the ringers we should never have had a ring in the Cathedral. Support has come from all over the diocese, and I have never been in a position before to say to the ringers: "I am grateful to you for your enthusiasm and support behind this which has been so successful." So we shall ring with great joy, and we hope the Diocesan Guild will carry on until we can train a band of our own and that will take a long time.'

CATHEDRAL FINANCES

About the Cathedral itself, Dr. Clarkson said they would like to know the present position. Speaking in round figures they had spent £900,000 on the building, which was at one time guaranteed to cost not more than £250,000. They had done it in 30 years, but for a lot of that time, because of the war and the housing problem afterwards, they did nothing. Of that £900,000, they had borrowed, sometimes with interest, £26,000; some by mortgage with the Church Commissioners £30,000; and with a bank overdraft of £20,000. In May, 1963, they asked for £300,000 to be raised in five years; now 18 months after they were asking for £160,000. They had moved fairly quickly.

They were now slowing down because of the winter and also funds. They were hoping to find someone to build the great north garth. Next May they hoped to dedicate the Chapter House and the south-west porch. They would also dedicate the organ case which would make it look more handsome—it was given by the same person who gave the organ. The Chapter House had also been given by one person.

'We are on the move; we are optimistic and we are getting on quite nicely. We have some wills which have been made in our favour, but thank God we don't wish for deaths so soon as we did a few years ago.'

The Dean said his sister and himself remembered the village where they were born. They lived opposite the ancient church that had three crazy, cracked, toneless bells. Finally, they were replaced by eight splendid bells, some of the best that had ever come from Taylors of Loughborough. They all felt, with the new bells, that they were in a new church and many more people were gathered into the congregation and came to worship God.

PRESTIGE AND CONFIDENCE FROM BELLS

'I am sure our experience is the experience of others that where the equipment of the tower is good and the bells are manned by a proper team, it gives the church some sort of prestige and gives the people some sort of confidence. To all you ringers the Church is tremendously grateful that you are willing to submit yourselves to ringing regularly on Sundays and practices,' he said. Ringing was a physical exercise that made men look strong and girls look slimmer, but above all that it was a splendid service to God.

Mr. F. G. Sherwood, of Ash (Guild auditor), in reply, said it was a great pleasure for them to welcome the Dean and Mrs. Braithwaite to their dinner for the first time. He hoped they would meet them both much more frequently once the Cathedral bells were installed. Their title, 'Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers,' was a constant reminder that they were an integral part of the Church and were bound by its teachings. Without the Church their art would be completely non-existent.

Their Guild was formed about the same time as the diocese, and it would be fair comment to say that although it had had its ups and downs, it had never really looked back. This had been due to the skill and enthusiasm of the founder members and officers over the years. It was also due, in no small measure, to the encouragement and support the ringers received from the clergy, and this was reinforced by a Bishop who actively supported his ringers and enjoyed bells.

With regard to the Cathedral bells, he understood they were very similar to the ten that had recently been opened at Washington. 'The Ringing World' had been full of praise for them, so they were hoping that in addition to being the heaviest ring in the diocese they would be one of the finest tens in the country. As a general rule courses and touches on ten bells took rather longer than on six or eight. They, therefore, hoped that there would be sufficient time to ring for services.

A GOOD STANDARD

Mr. Sherwood suggested that they should ring for a Sunday afternoon service, since it might be some time before they had a resident band at the Cathedral, and this would enable ringers to get back to their own towers for Evensong. 'We will endeavour to set a good standard of ringing, but this can only be accomplished by regular practice preferably with some peals thrown in. At the same time we must not prevent the younger and less experienced ringers from having a pull since it is only by encouraging the young that the Guild can continue to progress.'

The Guild secretary, Mr. S. Russell, proposed the concluding toast, 'To the Memory of John S. Goldsmith and Other Officers and Members of the Guild.'

Besides the book presentation to the Dean a bouquet was presented to Mrs. Braithwaite by Mrs. Jill May.

Mr. F. E. Collins proposed a vote of thanks to the Master and his committee for arranging the dinner. A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Major E. Brage 1—2, K. Williamson 3—4, T. Page 5—6, W. H. Viggers 7—8. The evening concluded with dancing.

FIRST PEAL ON REHUNG BELLS AT MELBOURNE

After being away for more than a year, the returned and rehung bells at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, Victoria, were rededicated on October 4th. At the invitation of the captain of the St. Paul's Society, Graeme Hayes, two parties of ringers from inter-state converged on Melbourne on November 21st and together with some of the local band re-christened the bells with a peal of 5,201 Grandsire Caters.

Two ringers came down from Sydney—Enid Roberts and Tom Goodyer (who conducted the peal)—and four came across from Adelaide—Brian Cox, Ron Russ, David Bleby and Bill Pitcher. The other four in the band were Ken Minchinton, Robin Turner (an English ringer recently arrived in Australia), Harold McDonald and Hervey Bagot (who has moved to Melbourne from Canberra). The bells went very well indeed and sounded well with masses of good Caters music being introduced in each part. The following two points are of interest: it was Harold McDonald's first touch of Grandsire Caters and David Bleby had never seen more than eight ropes in a tower before he stood in the peal.

The following day the visitors and some of the Melbourne ringers, joined by Gordon Dickens, a visiting seafaring ringer off the M.V. 'Bendigo,' drove up to Ballarat (it was on the way home for the Adelaide party anyway). A peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at the City Hall, but fortune was not with us and it came to grief. This failure was partially redeemed by the success of a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Major (conducted by Tom Goodyer), rung after the breakdown of the Stedman.

The visitors would like to thank their hosts in Melbourne and Ballarat for a very enjoyable week-end, and in particular Graeme and Beverley Heyes and Warne and Wilma Wilson for the hospitality they extended us in their homes.

RINGERS AND RINGING IN THE 18th CENTURY

bell ringing was also indulged in, as they met at the 'George,' Houndsditch, were several courses of Caters and one of Triples were rung but the method is not stated.

A second visit was paid to St. John at Hackney, where the bells were found to be in much better order and 700 Cambridge was rung in memory of Queen Elizabeth's accession and Queen Mary's death. After dining at the 'Rising Sun,' the ringers set off at 10 at night, with two links before them to give them light. A halt was made at Spitafields for further refreshment but they got into an argument with the French landlord and his wife about the reckoning. Two shillings a pint for brandy and 3d. a pot for beer was considered excessive and after some squabbling they paid what they thought proper and continued on their way.

At St. Bartholomew the Less, another three-bell tower, they rang seventeen dozen and a half of sixes and adjourned to the 'Cock and Crown.' This was a famous house for birds (the feathered variety), the landlord being a noted breeder and cages hung everywhere over the heads of the customers. The cruel practice of keeping wild birds in cages was very prevalent at this time.

The bells of St. Lawrence by Guildhall earned high praise—'For no better bells can be found, were you to search all England round'—700 College Single were rung on the back six. Then to another merry evening at Angel Alley till 1 a.m. for 'to break up before that time is scorned.' Some of the Ramblers were certainly married and one wonders what their wives' reactions were to this behaviour.

Conditions in the belfry of St. Giles', Cripplegate, were evidently somewhat primitive, as the band had to ring by the light of candles stuck to the wall with daubs of clay. Laughton makes the very sensible suggestion that every steeple should have a branch of candles hung in the middle, to advance higher or lower with a counterweight.

On Shrove Tuesday, 1735, the Club rang their last 'peal' of 700 Union Bob at Christ Church, Spitafields. They had evidently incurred some criticism from other ringers during their existence, for frequent reference is made in Laughton's journal to 'snarling critics,' chiefly one gainer for introducing variety of methods and ringing at different towers each time.

Their fiftieth and final meeting took place at the 'Bell in Angel Alley,' where it all began. William Laughton was the host on this occasion and records that he gave for supper 'roasted shoulder of veal and two plum puddings.' The veal weighed 18½ pounds and was stuffed with the common sort of stuffing. We may safely assume that this nostalgic event followed the usual jovial pattern.

In addition to the methods already mentioned, the following were rung at various times: Grandsire, Old Doubles, New Doubles, 'Simonus Doubles, Cambridge Delight, Court Bob and Oxford Treble Bob. The only full peals rung were three of 5,040 Plain Bob Major at St. Mary Magdalen's, Bermondsey, St. Andrew's, Holborn, and St. Giles', Camberwell, respectively.

Among the City churches visited, several have ceased to exist, viz: St. Benet Fink (6) demolished for the building of the new Royal Exchange, St. Mary Axe (6) date of demolition unknown, All Hallows, Staining (6) demolished 1870 except the tower, and Holy Trinity, Minorities (3) closed 1899 and destroyed by enemy action in 1941.

No doubt the members of the Rambling Club are open to criticism by present day standards for their preoccupation with food and drink and their general behaviour, but I do not think we should judge them too harshly. They were enthusiasts and there was a spirit of comradeship amongst them, much as exists today.

A Glorious Christmas Gift

Here, without doubt, is the perfect present for every true bell enthusiast. E. C. Shepherd, a well-known contributor to these pages, has at last written a book ranging over the whole field of bell-ringing. Quite apart from his expert knowledge this is no ordinary book. It is, in fact, a book which has added a further dimension to reading — the dimension of sound. Each book contains a high fidelity recording of peals from both famous cathedrals and humbler towers, including the famous first peal of Stedman

Caters rung at Washington Cathedral. In 108 knowledgeably-written pages (including eight full-page illustrations) Mr. Shepherd covers the origins and evolution of bell-ringing, and also deals with hand-bell ringing and the art of the carillonneur. Here is a book no bell-lover can afford to miss. The cost is 25/- (plus 1/- postage and packing). Please send cheque or p.o. with your order to

Letters to the Editor

Challenge of Atheist

Dear Sir,—It was with regret that I received my copy of 'The Ringing World' of November 27th, and read the letter on page 800 headed 'Christianity and Bellringing,' and signed Sincerely, O. A. M., atheist.

I should like to ask this sincere atheist to be sincere and to have the courage to admit who he is, instead of signing the letter in this anonymous fashion.

For centuries bells have been part of the worship of the Catholic Church and have proclaimed to all who hear them that the sacred hour or moment has arrived and is calling them to the common worship of Almighty God. It is obvious therefore that those who ring them are performing to the best of their skill an act of worship acceptable to Almighty God, much the same as that given by choir and servers.

Sunday service ringing is a tradition, a Christian tradition, and an act of worship. I'm quite sure that those who ring the bells of my own parish church Sunday by Sunday are sincere Christians ringing the consecrated bells to the glory of Almighty God, the maker and creator of all men.

With regard to the second half of this letter. Has O. A. M. considered the possibility that these people whom he claims are for ever falling out might be fellow atheists? I'm surprised that he is even able to come to a conclusion about this, he appears to be travelling around such a lot.

No Christian claims to be perfect, but just human. Jesus Christ Himself was alone perfect. Perfect God and perfect man; every Christian strives to follow the example of his Saviour and to love his neighbour as himself. Christ came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance.

You may not need to be a Christian to ring bells, but you do need to believe in God to worship Him in ringing bells consecrated to His glory.—Yours in the faith of Jesus Christ,

MALCOLM FERRIER.

Lewisham, S.E.

Christianity and Ringing

Dear Sir,—O. A. M. answered his own question: 'Does one have to be a Christian to be a campanologist,' for he says he is a keen ringer and signs himself 'Atheist.' But he is in error in thinking that because people fall out with each other—to use his own words—they cannot then be involved in a Christian movement. Alas, the history of Christianity itself disproves it, from St. Paul right through the centuries to our present unhappy divisions.

It is no wonder, therefore, that activities connected with the Church should be prone to similar strife, bickering and disagreement amongst their members. The work of Christ is carried forward by imperfect instruments, but we are all He has.

Regarding ringing and worship, if I may quote from a letter I wrote to you on this subject more than 25 years ago: 'True worship has God as the central figure, and organ, choir and ringing are meant but to prepare our minds thither. However sincerely we, as ringers, strive to live up to the pattern of Christ, our thoughts while we are ringing are centred on the method and the striking, the co-ordination of mind and muscle in an agreeable pursuit.'

In this sense, ringing is not worship in itself, but those of us who profess and call ourselves Christians ought to strive to be better people, and therefore to be better bricklayers, chemists, labourers—and ringers.

Finally, and with all charity, I hope O. A. M. knows plenty of rich atheists willing to 'build separate places for bells to be hung,' so that he will not have to rely on bells which have been dedicated to the glory of God.—Yours faithfully,

Porthkerry, Glam.

Read with Horror

Dear Sir,—I read Atheist's letter in your issue of November 27th with horror, and if I thought that his statement that 'ringing is not in any way connected with the Church and the worship of God' to be true I would give up church bell ringing tomorrow.

I may not have his talent or experience, but have no hesitation in saying that 99 per cent of my ringing colleagues are good, practising Christians, who are proud of their calling.

We have recently had a ring of six bells installed and dedicated in our church here, and a young band of ringers have been recruited from members of the church; heaven forbid that they should be indoctrinated with Atheist's view—if he wants to ring for the local bingo session let him do so.

Church bells and church bell ringing is a particularly British tradition—is there any other country in the world like it? No, sir, we are proud of our country, its churches and its bells, and I hope that churches to be built in the future will be in traditional style and materials, with provision made for bell towers.

In conclusion, I am proud to be a member of that large and happy fraternity who ring for the Church and to the glory of God. Further, I am not ashamed to sign my name.—Yours faithfully,

DONALD A. FRANKS.

Radlett, Herts.

Would prefer 'Rabbits'

Dear Sir,—Your 'Sincere Atheist' seems to jump to the conclusion that most ringers are like himself, out for amusement only. Figures would be more convincing and might surprise him.

Of course church bell ringers regard their art as a hobby (dictionary gives 'a favourite pursuit or subject'), otherwise they would not devote sufficient time to it to become proficient. This does not preclude their regarding it as a form of worship.

I believe there are only very few ringers who do not belong to one of the affiliated Guilds, none of these can honestly deny the purpose of his membership.

Bells did not get into church towers by 'tradition,' but by the generosity and devotion of our forebears, who felt it their duty to dip into their pockets to ensure that worthy praise was given to God, for a long time ahead.

O. A. M. suggests building secular towers for 'campanologists.' Very well, where are the funds? True, there are a few secular rings (10 in Dove against 5,438 church rings), but there doesn't seem to be any glut of new building of more.

As to the criticising those who through human weakness fall out (devout and thinking people are the most likely to disagree), your correspondent is careful to cite only instances where the miscreants eventually returned. Perhaps O. A. M. would read the parable of the 'Prodigal Son,' and draw an appropriate conclusion. I know something of the heartsearchings brought about by clashes of personalities, having, for some years, been the secretary of the band of one of our great cathedrals. (This letter is not to be construed as having any connection with that office, which I relinquished more than a year ago.) All I am trying to emphasise is that it takes conviction to retrace once's steps away from any community.

There is quite a plain answer to your correspondent's last paragraph. Simply 'No,' but of what use are campanologists who are without purpose? I would rather work with a bunch of inept but faithful 'rabbits' than with the most skilled of campanologists who care nothing for the God whose cymbals they presume to clash.—Yours faithfully,

W. O. HAYTHORNE.

Thornhill, Southampton.

P.S.—There was once a tower called Babel, was there ever a peal rung there?—W. O. H.

Bells for a Wedding

Dear Sir,—In respect of the article on page 802, if people want bells for their wedding, let them get married where there are bells and pay the ringers.

If they merely want a wedding on the cheap, why not have a standard gramophone record of the whole outfit and save the fees of the parson, clerk, organist, choir, heating and lighting and flowers, and bells!

Why pick on synthetic bells only?—Yours etc., 'PURIST.'

Peal at Geddington

Dear Sir,—With reference to B. F. Morris' letter (page 776) it has occurred to me that either a printing error has resulted in the reporting of the peal, or that the above mentioned has no right to question the word of such a worthy conductor. I have had the good fortune to ring with the conductor and I am sure his high standard has not deteriorated in such a short time, and that any ring of five would not prove too much for Maurice W. Harrison and his worthy band.—Yours faithfully,

Sturry, Kent.

P. A. HARRISON.

Corrections to Touches

Dear Sir,—I would like to make a few corrections to the touches submitted by Mr. G. E. Symonds on page 781:

- (a) The second quarter peal of Bob Major has 1,280 changes.
- (b) The first touch of Stedman Caters has 87 changes.
- (c) The second touch of Stedman Caters has 213 changes.
- (d) The second course of the 287 Grandsire Caters should read 42563879 — 2S, 3.
- (e) The first course of the 377 Grandsire Caters should read 63254 — 1, 4S; and the third course (24563) — 9 in 3.

In making these corrections may I appeal to all those who send copy to 'The Ringing World' to read through and check everything before posting. One is becoming tired of reading almost every week that 'Mr. X. rang the third in such and such a peal and not Mr. Y., as published.' Just as irritating are the minor errors, such as a wrong tenor weight. Most of these errors are of no great importance, but they are unnecessary, are very annoying to those concerned, and make for inaccurate records.—Yours faithfully,

Isleworth, Middlesex, C. H. ROGERS.

SUFFOLK GUILD

A most enjoyable meeting of the South-East District was held at Ashbocking on November 28th. The delightful ring of six was rung to a wide range of methods during the afternoon. Probably the most encouraging aspect to the 45 present was the large proportion of youngsters of school age ringing methods up to Cambridge Surprise. Evensong was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. W. Johnson), and the singing was accompanied on the organ by Miss Anne Beecroft. A bountiful tea prepared by the local ladies followed.

At the business meeting nine new ringing members were elected: five Ashbocking, four Bramford, and three being reinstated after a lapse of several years. Five new ringers from Holbrook were elected as probationers. It was agreed that the meetings for 1965 should be held as follows: March 13th, Henley (A.G.M.); June 12th, Blaxhall and Tunstall; September 11th, Coddham; December 11th, Holbrook and Stutton.

The District Ringing Master (Mr. Howard Egglestone), replying to a remark that there had not been many practice meetings recently, said he felt that the learners in the District were now being well catered for in their own towers and that methods were being rung which were the extent of their capabilities.

The Guild Ringing Master (Mr. George W. Pipe) mentioned the importance of ringing on Christmas morning and said he hoped that members would make a supreme effort to man as many towers as possible at this time.

After votes of thanks, ringing was enjoyed at Otley until 9 p.m.

RINGERS' SUNDAY IN SUSSEX

Nov. 15th was a red letter day for members of the Northern Division of the Sussex Association, with special ringers' services.

At Withyham there was an hour's ringing before Matins, and this was shortened by the Rector (the Rev. P. L. Scott) to allow Mr. E. A. Barnett to give an interesting and instructive address on the origin of bells and the birth of progress of change ringing. During the talk demonstrations were given on handbells, and afterwards the congregation were invited to visit the belfry and see ringing in progress.

Danehill held its annual ringers' service (the fourth) in the evening. The bells were rung from 5.30 to 6.30 p.m., and the service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. I. Paton Hunter). Mr. E. A. Barnett and Mr. R. Johnson read the lessons. During the service a course of Stedman Caters was rung by Mrs. F. I. Hairs, E. A. Barnett, F. I. Hairs, W. Dobbie, Mrs. W. Dobbie, followed by the singing of the ringers' hymn. In his address, the Vicar welcomed the ringers, and then came a course of Grandsire Caters rung by a resident band of Sussex (Mrs. F. I. Hairs, E. Rapley, L. Weller, G. Francis, F. I. Hairs).

An enjoyable hour followed in the Village Hall. Refreshments were served and Mr. A. Butcher, the local captain, was congratulated on another successful occasion. Fifteen Sussex towers were represented; also present were ringers from Kent, Yorkshire, Surrey and the East Grinstead Guild.

MR. FRANK ATKINSON RETIRES

Mr. F. Atkinson, who was 82 last August, has been a ringer for 60 years—36 of them at York Minster. However, he has decided to retire from ringing and also to give up his duties as a Minster steward.

To mark his retirement it was decided to make him a small presentation and during a short ceremony on Advent Sunday morning he was presented with a purse of money as a token of the esteem in which he was held by his fellow ringers and the Dean and Chapter.

The presentation was made by Canon R. Cant, Canon-in-Residence, who said how much the Dean and Chapter appreciated Mr. Atkinson's services to the Minster. Tributes were also paid to him by the Rev. J. A. McMullen, chaplain of the Minster Society, and by Mr. H. Walker.

Frank started his ringing at Wragby (a six bell tower), and became a member of the Yorkshire Association in 1906. He has not been a great peal ringer but he has recorded all his 720's and quarter peals in beautiful copper plate handwriting.

On the afternoon after the presentation he rang his first quarter peal of Grandsire Caters.

Wratten's Wingers' Wreunion Weekend

IT HARDLY seemed five months ago that, following a successful peal week around Cheltenham, Wratten Wingers had arranged to meet in Bristol on the last week-end in November for a reunion.

A full programme was prepared, and straight to business on Friday evening with a peal of Derby S.M. at the Cathedral, enabling Mick Hobbs to realise his ambition (by 19 days), in completing the Surprise Major alphabet before his 21st birthday. Also pleasing was the fact that Pete Bridle's name is back in the peal columns for the first time since his accident.

The party had arranged to meet in the 'Mauretania', and the organiser was a little concerned to learn that four members of the party did not have their cars with them, leaving a rather desperate transport situation—fears which later proved to be unfounded.

A hectic day was promised for Saturday with four peals arranged. Another first for the Association was scored by ringing Southgate on the good-toned but rather noisy eight at Almondsbury, whilst at the same time the other eight people rang Lincolnshire at Olveston. Into Bristol for a hasty Chinese meal before the party split again. Ten went to St. Stephen's where a fast peal of Yorkshire Royal was rung, at great expense to the energy of the tenor ringer, who needed several cups of tea to revive him. Eight more were fortunate enough to be standing in a peal at St. Philip's—a rare Bristol eight—where a first class peal of Rutland was scored, with 'Drugged Dick' dreaming his way through, following a bout of tonsillitis.

W.W.s (and I don't mean Wilfred!!) success continued in the evening when they soundly beat the Bristol City skittles team by 30 pins. The City say it was because they had too many members of the Ladies' Guild in their team (at least that's their excuse!)

Sunday morning the party dispersed to four Bristol towers for service ringing. One band went to Bedminster where they found that a previous visiting party had broken the rope of the treble, so just to prove they were not to be outdone they broke the rope of the 3rd during a touch of Doubles.

The highlight of the week-end was a peal attempt on the 35 cwt. ring of eight at Congresbury. The Leicester train was due to arrive in Bristol at 1.12; however, at 1.45 there was still no sign of Mr. Kingsley Norton—could it be that he had developed an attack of 'cold feet', following the news that the so-called 'Squire' of Long Ashton had announced that he would be waiting at Congresbury ready to carry him from the tower. Anyway he eventually arrived and after a quick dash the peal was started late and finished just 7 minutes before Evensong. As promised, Ralph was outside the tower, waiting to compliment Kingsley on a 'creditable performance.' Several members of the party expressed regrets at not having taken advantage of Chris Kippin's offer to run a book on the outcome of the peal. Also listening to the last hour were the rest of the party who had scored a somewhat quicker (though apparently no less energetic) peal of Rutland at Barrow-Gurney. The remark was passed 'You lot will get the credit, but we had the "benders".'

An exhausted but smugly satisfied party of Wingers grabbed some quick liquid refreshment before departing to their various destinations with remarks of 'See you at Cheltenham next year, if not before.' The week-end was particularly pleasing to the organiser, in that it was 100 per cent. successful, bearing in mind the 100 per cent failure week-end last Whitsun.

Sincere thanks are accorded to the five Bristol ringing families who so kindly contributed to the enjoyment of the week-end by accommodating the party at their homes.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Western Branch

A goodly company presented themselves at Gaywood on November 21st for the last meeting of the year. The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. G. R. Phizackerley, and the lesson was read by Mr. J. Coston (a Gaywood ringer), with the chairman, Rev. G. Galley, at the organ. An exceptionally good (and free) tea was served at the Church Rooms.

At the meeting a welcome was extended to two new members from 'foreign' parts—Rev. M. C. C. Melville and David Cawley. Two interim evening practice meetings were arranged, details of which will be published later.

Among those present was Mr. E. Barker, of Shouldham, who was also present at the dedication of these bells, well over fifty years ago, and Mr. W. B. Duncan, of Yarmouth, who rang in the tower in the early days.

The lovely sounding and good going six were fully employed during the afternoon and evening. All present enjoyed the day and were impressed by the welcome extended by the Rector and his ringers. We felt inspired by the general 'aliveness' of the church in Gaywood.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Two of the Branches of the Guild have amalgamated—the N.W. and N. Devon Branches. This took place at Clawton on November 14th, when the annual meeting of the N.W. Branch was held, with the Vicar and Branch chairman (the Rev. J. G. M. Scott) in the chair. The new title is the N. and N.W. Branch.

All the present officers were re-elected, but from the N. Devon Branch Miss B. M. Boyle, of Combe Martin, becomes assistant secretary, and the Vicar of Westleigh joint chairman. Six new members of the Guild were elected—five from Shebbear College and one from Westleigh.

The secretary read a satisfactory report, which included 26 quarters and three peals (two Double Norwich C.B. Major) rung for the Guild. The treasurer's report was also satisfactory. A tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. E. M. Atkins, former general secretary of the Guild.

Next year's meetings: Holsworthy, July 24th; annual, Westleigh, November 13th.

The service was conducted by the chairman, and the ladies who supplied the tea were thanked by him.

MR. S. GEOFFREY WATERS' 100 PEALS

OBITUARY

MR. L. J. WILLIAMS

The funeral service for Mr. Laurence J. Williams, head ringer for over 50 years at Church Kirk, Lancashire, took place in the church he served so faithfully on Saturday, November 21st. His death on the previous Wednesday came suddenly although he had not been well for the past two years. Many ringing friends of the Lancashire Association were present. Half-muffled touches of Stedman and Double Norwich and the 'whole pull and stand' were rung in a dignified manner which was fitting for the occasion.

It was just before the first world war that Laurence came to live in Church Kirk, having learned to ring at Willephall. Almost at once he had to join the Army, so his ringing career began in earnest after the war. In March, 1919, he rang his first peal, the second peal on the old six bells at Church Kirk. The next peal on the bells was his first as conductor, and he conducted all of the subsequent eight peals on the bells before they became unringable in 1923. Whilst the bells were out of action, 'Laurie' was busy training a band at Rishton, at the same time pressing for the restoration of Church Kirk bells. In November, 1926, the new ring of eight was dedicated, and Laurie made sure that they were used well. His enthusiasm for peal ringing did not exceed that for Sunday service ringing, and it was his efforts which inspired the local band until they were ringing Cambridge Surprise Major for service in 1931.

Laurence was the first to acknowledge that his progressive enthusiasm gave rise to many a lively argument. He had little sympathy with those whose outlook was 'dormant,' and on several occasions he noted in the record books that the Church Kirk Society was 'evidently not loved by the (Blackburn) Branch.' However, with such a character in its midst, the Branch could not remain dormant for long, and Laurence not only became president and bell adviser of the Blackburn Branch, but also a committee member, vice-president, and Central Council representative of the Lancashire Association. He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and helped to initiate the 'Gratefully Acknowledged' column in 'The Ringing World.'

Even in later years, he was still keen, and only ten years ago he started afresh to train a young band at Church Kirk. With only one other experienced local ringer, and a little help from neighbouring towers, he successfully achieved his objective.

He was the most punctual and regular attender in the band, even though for two years he had to walk two miles every Sunday to get to the church—a fine record for anyone at the age of 70. Unfortunately, his health failed about two years ago, and his greatest pleasure then was to be visited by his ringing friends, and to recall the amusing incidents in his life. The death of Laurence J. Williams, at the age of 73, is a great loss to the Exercise, but he will be remembered for many years to come. J. P.

SS. PHILIP &amp; JACOB'S, BRISTOL

After nearly two years of silence ringing restarted in this tower in October. Origin of the trouble was the snapping of the wires holding the clock weights, which crashed through the ringing chamber floor. This in itself could have been put right in a short time, but an examination of the tower revealed that the stairs were unsafe and whole sections had to be replaced. The work was completed in time for the bells to be rung for harvest festival.

Mr. Edwin J. Brown has retired as Ringing Master and steeplekeeper, a post he has held with much devotion for 38 years. Only two of the original St. Philip's band are still active, and the bells are kept going from the Bristol Cathedral Sunday afternoon band. Grateful thanks are due to St. Ambrose's for the loan of ropes.

BELFRY GOSSIP

BIG DEMAND FOR RECORD BOOK

Record Books Ltd., the publishers of Edgar C. Shepherd's book 'The Sound of Bells,' are extremely pleased at the demand for the book from 'Ringing World' readers. Orders are being dealt with in strict rotation and as expeditiously as possible. Those who have had to wait for their copy are assured of delivery in due course.

A new clapper has been fitted to the tenor at Painswick.

Ali points out that the peal rung at Seal (pages 565 and 800) was in actual fact rung at Seal Chart.

So successful was the East Berks and South Bucks dinner at Windsor on November 28th that the date of next year's function is already in members' diaries. All being well it will be held on Saturday, November 27th.

With much pleasure we welcome David Clark of Wharfedale, Notts, back to the quarter peal columns after his recent illness and we look forward to his early return to the peal columns.

Help from ringers of the Bridgwater Parish Church made it possible for ringing to take place at Durlough, Somerset, on Nov. 22nd when the Bishop of Taunton conducted a service of thanksgiving and rededication following extensive restoration of the church.

The ringers of the peal at Raunds, Northamptonshire, on November 28th, would like to associate the name of John R. Mayne with this peal. He is not the first, and will probably not be the last, to arrange for more ringers for a peal attempt than there are bells.

From Southend we hear that a dog will probably be in the peal totals for 1964, for she has already heard 24 peals complete this year. We look forward to hearing more about her if she hears another!

Liverpool Cathedral Peal Attempt

The peal attempt for Grandsire Cinques at Liverpool Cathedral on Saturday, November 29th, failed after four hours' ringing due to one of the ringers having to give up. The ages of the band in this attempt extended from 17 to 70. This, our correspondent states, was the third attempt. The two previous attempts at the Cathedral came to grief, he believes, through a miscall and broken clapper respectively.

Conducted First Peal

The paragraph in Belfry Gossip concerning Mr. D. Fenton conducting his first peal at Bramley, Leeds, has brought forth an interesting coincidence. Mr. J. S. Eastwood of Walsall, Staffs, learned to ring at this tower under the late Mr. G. W. T. Holgate, and writes: 'I also rang and called my first peal (Kent) at this tower in February, 1927, this being the first peal on the eight bells installed in 1924 and am now the sole survivor of the band at the time of the installation.'

Another Youngster Launched

Shortly before her 12th birthday, Frances Dodds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Dodds, of St. Albans, rang her first quarter to Grandsire Caters, at St. Clement Danes', London, on November 29th. Comments father: 'Young Frances is now launched on the "slippery slope".' Few young ladies have started their quarters in such a distinguished company. Happy birthday, Frances!

Aubrey's Birthday

The band who met at Buckfast Abbey on November 28th to attempt a peal of Grandsire Doubles in order to complete the circuit in the method on the bells were doomed to disappointment as the bells had to be called around at half way owing to indisposition of one of the band. Those who rang, however, were entertained to a birthday tea by Mr. A. L. Bennett afterwards, a very pleasant evening being spent.

Oddfellows' Peal

That great and enthusiastic Oddfellow, Mr. Frank Stenson, of Crewe, will read with interest the honour conferred on Bro. Eric Roughley of Davenport, Stockport, during his year as Provincial Grand Master of the St. Helens District. Fellow Oddfellows rang a peal to mark the occasion at Chelford, Cheshire. Participating were two Past Provincial Grand Masters and also a Past Grand.

Relief

Fear, the scare of the bare passage.
The tall hard walls and the empty
Echoingly hollow stair
Leading down from the boom
Of the bells above.
The shadowless passage harsh
In the glare of the staring light,
And the swinging weights
Here, there; there, here.
The fear throbbing from the walls
And swelling out the narrow passage.
Then the opening door,
The warm brightness, the joy of it.
Recognition.

'WIMBLEDON.'

Churchill Surprise

The ringing room at Westerham is on the ground floor open to the church. Members of the Kent County Association were therefore somewhat overwhelmed on arriving to ring in a new Surprise method for Sir Winston Churchill's birthday to see powerful television lights set up. The peal was started in the full glare of the lights and some five courses had been rung before the lights and other equipment were finally removed and the ringers were allowed to complete the peal under more normal conditions. An excellent peal was rung and we understand some readers may have seen shots of the ringing on ITV before the peal was completed.

Sir Winston's country home is at Chartwell in the parish of Westerham and the ringers of Kent were anxious to pay a worthy tribute by ringing a new method. Mr. John Mayne had kindly looked out a suitable method and had confirmed that the name Churchill had not been previously used. Thanks are due to the new Vicar, Canon A. Chapman, and the local ringers for their enthusiastic co-operation.

Ringers' Wedding at Bridport

Unfortunately, and contrary to several reports in the local press, a quarter peal of Stedman Triples, attempted at St. Mary's, Bridport, on October 31st, was not successful. The occasion was the wedding of Miss Valerie Hallett to Mr. Michael Stone, of Bridgwater, and the attempt was made by ringing friends from Bridgwater and Ebbw Vale. Bridport ringers rang immediately before and after the wedding service. After a honeymoon in Scotland, the couple were welcomed to their new home near Bridgwater by a quarter peal of St. Clement's Minor on the bell of their 'home' tower at Wembdon.

Will Ring at Christmas

We have received a cheery card from Mr. W. B. Kynaston of Rodbourne Cheney, Swindon, stating that he is now out of hospital and going on very well. While it is a case of no tower bell ringing yet, he hopes to do a bit before Christmas.

For Records Committee

Another fine achievement has come from Yorkshire. Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton conducted at Holy Trinity Church, Kingston-upon-Hull, a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal in thirty-six methods, the most methods to be rung to a peal of Royal. Congratulations.

From Rounds to Stedman

Meeting short for their peal attempt of Stedman Triples at Dorchester Abbey, on Nov. 28th, Douglas Exon was summoned from his baker's rounds to ring the Tenor. He had only time, so he puts it, 'for half a fruit loaf,' before starting the peal. While all precede their peals by rounds, Doug Exon's experience might be without precedent. At any rate the peal was a success and Doug was duly thanked.

Earliest Hastings Stay

Mr. Michael King, of Wentworth, writes concerning the peal of Minimus on the four bells at Stockton-on-the-Forest that the bells were equipped with the Hastings stay in 1896 by Taylor's. Are there any other rings with such a fitting fitted earlier than 1896?

The Alexandra Ring

The peal of Stedman Caters rung at the former Imperial Institute on November 14th was only the fifth peal on the Alexandra ring of bells which were installed in 1895 to be rung on Royal and State occasions. The last peal, also Stedman Caters, was rung by members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths on April 23rd, 1924, to mark the opening of the British Empire Exhibition.

The bells are now rung on eight dates each year and, for several years past, bands for these occasions have been arranged by Mr. William J. Rawlings. It was appropriate, therefore, that the recent peal enabled Bill to complete his first century and congratulations were extended accordingly.

100 Peals on Crawley Bells

On November 14th, Mr. Alf Bull of Horley, Surrey, rang his 100th peal on Crawley bells and Mr. W. Beeson, of Cranleigh, his 50th. (See page 807.) The first of the 100 was Worcester T.B. on Oct. 3rd, 1920, and Messrs. Bull and Beeson are the sole survivors. The time taken for both peals was the same — 3 hrs. 5 mins. After the peal a splendid tea was provided by Mrs. Jennings. Photographs were produced by George and there were many reminiscences. To the peal not a few footnotes could have been added as 'In memoriam Oliver Sippetts and other members of the 1920 band.' Also for 'E. G. Talbot, the friend we miss so much,' writes John Euston. Over half of Mr. Bull's 100 peals were in Surprise methods and were mainly under the conductorship of Mr. Sippetts.

A Prittlewell 21st

A popular member of the Prittlewell tower is Miss Janet Rowe and her 21st birthday on November 23rd was marked by a peal on the 22nd. On her birthday at the Prittlewell tower practice she was presented with a present on behalf of the band by the Master, Mr. Bernard Sadler. Afterwards everybody went round to her home where plenty of good eats and drinks were available—a truly happy birthday. Janet is now going to live in London. Prittlewell ringers wish her well and hope she will find a happy tower to receive her.

The Arcscott Family Does It Again

Congratulations to the Arcscott family, who are scattered about the Bath and Wells area. There was another family reunion on Nov. 14th at All Saints' Church, Merriott, Somerset, when a peal of Minor was rung. This is the second peal in recent years.

Christmas Issue

Our Christmas issue with a special message from Canon C. Carew Cox, former Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild will appear next week. Our popular feature, Christmas Greetings, will also be included and we have already received messages from overseas. We are hoping that the following issue will be on sale before Christmas Day. This will be printed on the Monday. Because of the time lag over Christmas mails, will secretaries wanting Notices inserted in the issue of December 25th please forward as soon as possible. If uncertain of arrangements use the word 'provisional.' It is not too early to send these Notices for New Year's meetings in at once. Finally, Notices may be phoned Guildford 5311.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The Guildford District's nomination meeting on December 5th at Womersley and Bramley attracted representatives from nine towers. A nomination was received for each office. Mr. W. Savill, of Stoke, was proposed as Ringing Master, but made the request that Mr. L. Hunter, who was absent owing to illness, should be urged to reconsider his decision not to stand again for this office. The new hon. secretary and treasurer is Mr. J. H. Payton, who is now tower captain at Chidfold.

OBITUARY

MR. GORDON LEE

On October 18th, the Billesdon ringers received the tragic news of the death of Mr. Gordon Lee at the comparatively early age of 38. Although he had not been well for a few weeks, his death came as a great shock.

Gordon was a very reliable, regular service ringer and his presence will be greatly missed.

The bells were rung half-muffled in his memory on the following Thursday evening after the funeral. J.J.P.

MIDLAND COUNTIES FIRST DINNER IN LIVING MEMORY

THE first dinner of the Midland Counties Guild in the memory of any living member was held at the Midland Hotel, Burton-upon-Trent, on November 18th, and over 70 members and friends from the counties of Stafford, Derby, Leicester, Warwick and Salop attended. It is hoped to make the event an annual fixture.

Unfortunately neither the president, Mr. Ben Worthington, of Pontiland, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, nor the Vice-President, Rev. W. V. G. Griffiths, Vicar of Burton, could attend and Mrs. Griffiths, the wife of the latter, presided.

The toast of 'The Church and State' was proposed by Mr. D. J. Leach, of St. Paul's, Burton-upon-Trent, who said there was a close and deep association between the Church and the State—a closeness which was apparent in everyday life. The campanologist derived great satisfaction from bell ringing and because of its close association with the Church, the spiritual aspect gave full meaning to any labour demanded of bell ringers.

In what is termed a material world we have knowledge of what is meant by the welfare state and the practical facilities obtained. Old Age Pensions, medical attention and other government legislation in which care was given to the children were examples but the full effects of these benefits could not be measured in their entirety unless people had the moral support of the Church.

Nothing was perfect, he said, and in these days where one reads of violence and other matters which contravened man-made laws, there could only be expected improvement in both worldly affairs and the domestic issue providing advantage was taken of the spiritual and moral uplift which could be gained from the Christian Church.

The Rev. T. Villiers replied and said that the Church was not dead despite what people said but there was a restlessness which was a healthy sign of an active Church. He emphasised that this restlessness must be directed into the right channels so that people could be brought to realise fully the importance of God.

He instructed the bell ringers to carry on ringing, for as people heard the bells ring out they knew there stood a house of God as a continual reminder that God was among his people. He said if they worked together—and he was sure they would—they would provide a country where both body and soul were cared for.

The toast of 'The Midland Counties Guild' was proposed by Mrs. T. Pryce, the wife of the auditor to the Guild and long standing member of St. Modwen's, Burton. Mrs. Pryce pointed out that this was the first time members and friends of the Guild had gathered together for a dinner and she hoped it would not be the last. She pointed out that the Guild needed the full support of all its members and also welcomed new ones. It was most important for the bell ringers to show their loyalty and let people know there was a Church there, and it was alive.

Replying to the toast Mr. G. Roobotham, a member of both Sudbury Parish Church and St. Paul's, Burton, said the old Midland Counties Association was formed about 1875 by the present president's grandfather, Mr. W. H. Worthington. After quite a long life, that association was dissolved and the present one formed and from what information he could obtain this was indeed the very first annual dinner of either Guild or Association. He was very pleased to see so many people present and thanked the bell ringers, widows and/or widowers (Saturday afternoon and evening or perhaps two evenings per week) for faithfully supporting their partners. He also thanked the honorary members and many other friends of the Guild for attending on this occasion.

After dinner entertainment was provided and included some excellent handbell ringing by Kingsbury ringers, led by Mr. G. H. Lane. R.A.B.

Watford District Awakes

A very well attended meeting was held at Rickmansworth on November 28th. This was very heartening as it followed a general meeting the previous month to discuss the future of the District. It appears, however, that the District is far from dead but has just been asleep.

The awakening was enjoyed by all who attended. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal and Spiced Surprise Major. At the meeting it was decided to hold a practice meeting at Bushey on January 9th and a full meeting at Elstree and Aldenham on May 1st. Evensong was attended after the meeting and ringing followed up to 8 p.m.

During the evening we had an influx of members from the Western and St. Albans Districts who were feeling the effects of a football match in the afternoon. This influx led to an impromptu darts tournament in the nearby hostelry, but the writer is unable to report the result as he left after the defeat of the home District. G. W. S.
