authors used to call them. Anything beyond the 'standard methods ' (and in standard methods we, of course, include Double Norwich and the three old Surprise methods) the majority refuse to look at. Only here and there does one find a band venturing outside the welltrodden paths, so that anvthing that can be done by the publication of text books extending knowledge beyond the present limited sphere of practice, and encouraging enterprise among ringers, should be done. But to retu:n to the six-bell splicing, with the advent of the long evenings and the general resumption of practice nights, there ought to be a great advance made in ringing multi-method extents, and any average band, starting from the basis of Oxford Treble Bob, ought, before mext Easter, to be able to score a peal consisting entirely' on spliced 'seventwenties.' We wonder how many will do it?

\section*{DUDLEY PARISH CHURCH BELLS. BISHOP OF WORCESTER TO BECOMF PATRON OF DUDLEY GUILD.}

The restoration of the bells of St. Thomas's Church Dudley, has been completed by Messr3. Taylor and Co., of Joughborough, who tave retuned and quarter turned the bells and rehumg them on ball bearings in new fittings, The work las been carricd out in a lighly successful manner, and in conjunction with the strengthening of the tower lass cost about 5550 . The cost of four of the bells is being borme by mernbers of the families of the late Mr. W. J. Russon, Mr. R. I. Wilkes, Mr. Samuel Spillle, and Mr. James Thomas Bayliss, each of whom was closely identified with the Church's activilies, and to whom the improved bells wil] form a ftting memorial.

The dedication service was held an Saturday afternoon, Oct. 3rol. It was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. H. Pluelips), assisted by the Revs. E. R. Wallace and W. G. Wilson. The Bishop of Worcester was present to perform the dedicatary rites, and the churchwardens (Mr. Hugh Watson and Mr. J. W. Naylary were also in at tendance. A large congregation assembled. After a beautiful rendering of the anthem, 'Rejoice in the Lord alway,' by the chair (accompanied on the organ by Mr. A. H. L. Cutler), the Bishop performed the dedicatory dutjes, and at the close of bis utterances a short peal announced the completion of that pare of the fuaction. Afterwards, the Bishop preached an appropriate sermon, and subsequently the bells were again rung, and gave great dolight to the congregation and all who leard them.
In connection with the dedication, the Durtiey and District Guild held their postponed annual meeting, the members attending the service, and afterwards adjourning to the Schoolroom, where a bountiful tea was in readiness. The Bishop was present and before leaving, Mr, Churchwarden Naylor, on behalf of these present, extended to his lordship a most bearty welcome to Dudley, and sincercly thanked hima for his presence that afternoon. Mr. Clurchwarden watson econded the vote, and the Bishop briefly replied, promising to become patron of the Guild. Mrs. Phelips, Mrs. Nayior, Miss A. S. Payne, Miss Marks and Sister Francis presided at the tables.
At the business meeting which followed, the president (Canon Phelips) oceupied the chair, and was supported by the wardens andi Mr. Harry Mason. - The Vicar extended a cordial welcome to the Guile, on behali of himself, the churchwartiens and the Parochial Chureh Council.
The Secreiary read apologies from Mr. C. E. Lloyd, Mi.P., Mr. F. R McDowell, Mr. A. Spitile, and others, and then read his annual report and balance sheet, which were passed.

The Ficar of Dudley (the Rer. Canon Phelips) was re-elected president, on the proposition of Mr. H. Mason, seconded by Mr. James George, and the Vicar briefly thanked the members for the honour they had once again conferred on him. The following gentlemen were again elected as vice-presidents: Messis. C. E. Lioyd, M.P., J. W. Naylor, F. Watson, H. Mason, A. Spittle, F. R. MeDowell and J. Me D. Tait.

Mr. John Goodman was re-Ellected Ringing Master; Mr. Herbert Sheppard, hon. secretary, with hearty thanks of the membere for his services during the past year; Mr. S. J. Hughes, hon. treasurer ; and Messrs. F. Evans and P. Justice, hon, auditors, Sereral new members were added to the roll, and it was proposed to hold the nert quarlerls meeting at Nelfurton, the date to be left with the secrefary. It was also proposed io attempt the annual peal st Dudley, the arrangements to be laft mith the Ringing Master

At the close of the meeting, on the proposition of Mr. H. Mason, seconded hy Mr. James George, the best thanks of the Guild were given to the president for his past services to the Guild, and for the great service he had rendered them that das. for conducting the serwice in ehurch, for the use of the tower and bells, also for the Schoolroom in which to hold the lea and meeting. Thanks were also accorded to Mr. A. H. Cutler (organist) and the choir for their part of the service, to the donors of the fea, to the ladies who presided at the tables, and to those who helped in preparing and serring the tea, and looking after the wants and comfort of those present.

The President then closed the proceedings with prayer, ffter which members made for the belfry, where tley kept the bells merrily going until late in the ovening to the relight of srowts of listenors zound tse church.

On Sunday evening. Oct. 4 th, in connection with the dedication of the bells, and the larvest festival, a quarter-peal of Gratidsire Caters ( 1,260 elianges) whe rung in 48 mins., by B. Gough 1, S. J. Haghes 2, W. Goodrian 3, J. Goodman, junr. (conductor), 4. J. Goodman. senr. 5, W. Bayliss 6, G. Guest 7, H. Sleppard 8, A. Greenfield g, W. Mech 10.

The belfry is open for practice on Monlap niohte, from \(7.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\), and all ringers will be welcone.

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY.}

\section*{HEALING 'נHE BREACH AT NORWICH AND WHAT CAME OF IT. \\ By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.}

Will the publication of Melchior's last letter, the curlain falls on the drama, and, as is nsual in real iffe, on a drama witl the last act missing. We de not know who the jmpartial umpire was, where he came from, or what his verdict was. We do not even krow if that meetiog was hela. We can be sure that if it wore, there was mavit talk, that argument begat argument, and ai the end eacn side was the more convined that they were right, and the ofhers wrong. Whatever tho verdict was, ft was digregarded, for on the peal boards (which, of course, were not put up till a little time after the peals were rung), cach bank restates its clainn that they and they only list! composed and rang the first peal of Stedman Triples. But we to know ihat by some means or other, then or at a later time, the breach was lealed. Afley a few years the curtain rises on att epilogue where all is peace and larmony
In 1736, two trebles were added to the ring at St. Peter's, and this refinitely re-establishod it as the leading ringing tower in the city, a position it never after lost. At the same lime the bells were rehung or overhauled, and oller allerations made. Visitors to Mancrofe will remember that one of the shriking featuros of that noble church is the bower arch with ine great west window beyond, and the stone gailory which sarves as the present ringing floor, and from which also the early peals were rong. In the sevententh and eightecnth conturies men understood very little about Gothic architecture, and thingy were done which would have caused earlier and later generations to shurlder. At St. Peter's they built a wooden gallery at the west end of the clurch, and put the organ on the top, completely blocking the tower arcli and the west windom. In that case no further harm was flone when a new floor was put in the tower halfway between the stane fallery and the bells. This was donc entirels for the conveninnee of thie ringers, for, as an ald description of the clurch I lave by me states, the lower belfry was deemerl too far from the bells. And 1 liave no dosbt the shorter draughl of rope made ringing much easier.

In 1737, on this new floor wan rung very remarkable peal. This was one of Grandsire Caters, 12,600 changes, in 8 hours 15 minutes of the band, eight hed rung in one or other of the two peals of Stotman, and rour belonged to the Manctoff party, and four to the Coslany party. Notice the order in which they sfood: Melchior of Manrroft rings the treble. Pettingall of Coslany the 2nd, Gardiner of Marrrofl the Sud. Rohert Crme of Costany the 5th, Porter of Mancroft the 8th, Blofield of Mancroft the 7th, Faward Crane of Coslany the Bth, and Booty of Hancroft the 9th. It nuyy have benn a coincidence. but the fact that there were an equal number from each tower, and that they stood alternately one from each band, does look as though jt was interded to tell the whole worlrl that the bitter difyute of six years back was all made up and forgoten. The other working bell was rung hy Thomas Barrett, the lenor man in the first peal of Frandsire Triples ama a Mancroft ringer. It is interesting to notice also who did not ring. Thomas Cmane did not stand in. Perlaps he had nat forgotten or forgiven Melchior's gibes and declined to join his brother and father in the eenernt reconciliation. Porlaps, and likelv enough, he was nof considered a good enough ringer. Fis friend, Rice Greene, is also absent. Of the Mancroft party John Foster was gone to Corinegliam, and Johm Whebster, though he was good emough a ringer. and quite able to stand a long length, was not partimarly ambitious to ting peals, and ploferred to he one of the several ingexious ringers who were abroad the whole time with proper rules to prove tive rertainty of the performance.'
This peal is recorded by a very gine board which was hung in the belfry on lie level of the new floor, and is, now that that floor has heen removed, very high up, and except in a strono light hardly readable. It reads as follows :-

On Maych the 8th, 1737, usas rung a peal of Grandsive Cators. which for the excelency of its ringing. Harmonious Clanges and Ye number of them, was certainly superior to anylhing of its kind ever flona in tha World and to Remove all doulde of the trall of the performance several ingenious Ringers were abrod the whole time with proper rules to prove the certainty of ye same. Thus was this great peal perfectly compleated to the entire satisfastion surprite and amazement of thousands of hearets in the space of 8 hours 15 minutes. The mumbey of changes were 12,600 . rong by 9 men of the company, thon helonjing to the company. The tenor simgls by \(a\) young ringer 8,000 , then \(a\) secourl ringer rang bel to the and of the peal. The persons names and the bolls they rung 5 follows:-
Thas. Melehior 1, Wm. Pettingall 2. Jobn Gardiner 3, Tho. Barreft. 4. Roheri Crane 5. Wm. Porter 6. Tho. Blofeld 7, Edwd. Cranc 8. Cliristi Boety 9. James Jerom. Robt. Liddamon tenor." The rather curiously worded stalement that " the clathges were rung hy nine men of the company then belonging to the compans.' tells us and doublesss wins intended to tell us, that not only hat the ohl enemies become rrients, but the breach was so much healed that the two rival bands \({ }^{\text {s }}\) were joined into one company, with its headguarters at St. Peter's. The name of neither composer nou conductor is given, but we may be sure that Helchior called the bobs. He had fully rindioted his right to be considered by all as the leading ringer of the city.

The figtures of the composition ure losh. [ inugine from the Jengtit ( 12,600 , which is 700 leadsi, thal it was divicled inlo regular ant equat parts, and it is pretty cerluin that it was on the old plan with humtg, the big bells coming home alj regtular intervals.
It was about this time that Renjamin Amable discovered the super iority of the tittum posilion in Cuter ringing; but the Norwich foen hat their own deas about compesition, and are not likely to have copied Loution.

When you eonsider that this peal was rung only twenty-fwo years after the first it Huy mellod you will see that it wass at really fine performance. 11 whis the sixth lenglh of over ten thousand, the first being the 10,080 of Treble \(530 h\) at Coslany in 1727 , ten years previonsIy, and five men rook pari in bollh preals. It remained the longest lam bell peal for a humdred and fifty-one years till April 111.h, 1898, when the Oxford Diocesan Guilc rang 13,265 of Grendsire Caters at Applefon, I. W. Washbrook heing the consposea and conduetor, and the Rev. F. E, Rolbinsan ringing the fifth.
Curionsl: enough, though, it was only by the barest chance that Norwich kept the record so long. Only forls-oue days later than the Mancroft peal, that is an April 18:11, 1737. the Painswick men rang 12,006 changes in the same methoti. Of course, neithar band katur of the other's performance, of the Painswick company wothe surely lave added the extra six lundred changes to give them the record. Mr. Snowdon semed to think fhat this penl was rung by relays of ringers ju tha same way that Barham's peals at Leeds in 1751 and 1761 were. Twice laler the Norwieh record was nearly but not quite bealen, ance at Painswict in 1817, when 12,312 Gitandsire Caters were rang, and once at Fulham in 1837, with 12,096 of the same method. Bolh these latter, however, were single-handed peals
The forg peal forms a titting climax to the first stage of known listory of ligging at Norwich. The firs peal of Grandsire Bah Triples Was rung hy a hand who liad to struggle liard. In 1710 they accomplisherl liaff a peal, a very greet performance then. Twice they rang the whole peal, but for some reason or other neither could stand, and when at last they disd succeed they probably thought they had done enougli, and Garthon and his contemporaries stood aside for younger and more ambitious men. Only one man of thisg bayd rang in the first peal of Grandsire Triples in 1718, and Garthon gave way as conductor to Melchior, who, as wo fave seet, nobly clict his part in the development of the art of ringing. And now he and his men in their fum foll that they had rone enough peal ringing, and could afioud to resi on their laurels.
John Webster, who succeeded as leader, wss not the ambilious man his predecessors and successors were, and so nesily thirty years went by, and a new generalion of ringers grew up before the next peal was scored at Norpich. This was Imperial The Third Major, Bt St. Giles, in 1760 . It marks the beginning of the second periorl in the listory of Norwich ringing-a period ns\%aciated with the names of Lindsey, Chamberlin, Burton, Cheshuni, and others, who proved that they were fully the equals of the viligers who liad gone before them. Butt with these nien and thoir doings we are not at present concemed. Ji monld be a great mistake to jurlge these old singers by the numher of peals they rang. In the early part of the eighteenth contury peals were much more exceptional things than they afterwards became, and rery mueli more exceptional than they are at present. At Norwich, at any rate, the iclea seems to bave been that there was not mucli reason for going for a peal unless it was in mathod that had not previonsly been rung anywhere, or was a longer leagtly than hat previbusiy been accomplisherl. The only exception I know of was tho second peal of Grandsire Triples, the one in 1719, and it is noticeable that no loard was put up for that.
Something of the same irlea seems to have been held about composition. When the peal of Grandsire Bob Triples was "at last found out to the truth by JOHN GAR'THON,' after it had been ' studied by the most Acute Ringeve in England (but to no eftecl), that wat a thing worlti recording. So, too, when Garthon 'perfectly tiscowergd these Intricate methods [of Grandsire Triples? which were hidden from the gyes of all ringers of Tinganti.' So, too, when Stenman Triplea was "brouglit to lipht, and truth' by Tedward Cranc. But a "quartetpeal " of Treble Bob Major'。 thongh it were 10,080 ethanges, and a paat of Grandsire Caters, though it wore 22,600 changes, were muln leaser things in composition. Ringers elsewfore hat done as mucla, and the Norwich boards pass them by in silence. During the thirty-mine years that St. Peter's harl ten bells orily iwo penls are known to hapfa been mung on then, but hoth were of exceptional merit. One was the long pat of Grandsire, the alhar the first peal of Dotalle Norwich Canrl: Boh Roval.

1t is not surprising, thevefore, that although Stedman probably continued to be praclised at Norwich, that no other peal of Triples was jung thore till 1839, when Eamuel Thurston conducted a 5,040 of Lutes', at St, Giles. The first peal of Caters was in 1843, and the tirsl peal of Cinques in 1844. The firsl peal of Slednan Triples rung ottside Norwich was on May z2nd, 1799, ut St. Giles-in-the-Fields by Ilie Junior Gumberland Sociely, composed and conducted by John Noonan. Tho dirst peal of Caters was rung by the College Youths an May 28th, 1787, at Sil. John's, Horsleydown, London, composed and conducted by Jolin Reeves, and tho first peal of Cinques also by the College Youlhs on October 6ilu, 1788, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, womposed and conducted by Thomas Blakenore.

YOUNG BOURN RINGERS ELECTED MEMBERS.
A successtul district meeting was held af Bown on Saturday lest, 34 ringers being present from Cambridge, Trumpington. Longstanton, W:llingiam, Great Shetford, Somersham, SL. Neots, Barley, Royston, and Thotenham, A short service was held in the fine old cluarel, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. W. Joyce, and was followed by tea nod business meeting in the School, the Vicar presiding. Melbourn was belecter as the place for the next meeting.

The Vicar said to would like the young Bourn ringers to joic the association, and stated that if they would join he would gay their subseriptions for tha fist year out of a small fund which be and the ehurchwardens lind in hadd. - Advantege was taken of this ofier, and serth were elected.
'The Vicar' was elecked as an honorary member.
Mr. F. E. Haynes, a very promising young ringer at Trumpingbn, was also elected as a nember.
The Vicar said he wished to place on recold his gratitude to Mr. A. (f. Rivers, of Dry Drayton, for going to Boilin once every fortnighi or thee weeks to teach the young Bourn ringers.
fiond use wes made of the bells, ringing taking place until nearly aino o'clock, renging from Bob Minor to Cambringe Surprise Major.

Wi, E. Royston, of Durban, South Africa, is on a visit to thts conatry, and on a recent Sunday evening took part in a touch of 356 Craadsire Friples at Rhyl, where lie leauned to ring. Although a stranger to the whole of the present band, ha was, naturally, given a very hearty welcome, and expressed grest pleasure in being able to ring at hije ald town: E. Royston 1, B. Collis 2. \section*{HALIEAX ASSOCIATION'S CONTEST.}

\section*{WINNERS WHO COMPETED 33 YEARS AGO.}

The quarterly meeting and six-bell contest of the Halifax and District Association were held at Sandal, near Wakelieh, on Saturday, Oct. 3rd. Six bands had entered for the competition, in which they had to ring 600 clanges in any method. The jucges weve Mr. A. Goodhall (Rurlsheaton) and Mr. W. Idle (Batley), und the ringing went on merrily during the afternoon.

An excellent tea was provided by the Sandal ringers and friends in the Parochial Hall, to which over 80 ringers and friends sat dowa. The mbeeting was held later in the hall. The president (Mr. C. IS. Carcington), who occtupied the chair, proposed thanks to the Vicar of Sandal (the Rep. A. A. Parry), chuchwardens and helpers. - Mr. Barraclough seconded.
The Vicar, in renly, said be was sorry he could not sBy "fellow bell ringers, as he had never attained the lonour yet. but he was pery pleased io welcome the Association to Eendal, and hoped they would visif it again. He urged young men to take up ringing, and said that moti of his ringers were whole-herted workers. Some Ficars, he said, thought that their bells were the best, and their ringers the bett, but he vas proud of the Sandal ringers. One had rugg for 55 years, and two .thluers over 40 . Ee hoped that at some future sate they would hear of sanda! bells being broadcast, as tower bell ringing was richer in tone than a carillon.

A stggestion was brought forward that the next meeting and eight bell cantest, sfould \(\mathrm{b}_{\mathrm{z}}\) lufd at Lightcliffe, an! this was accepted.
The judges then announced their decision. The following are tha natmes of the comparies, the melhods rung and the zumber of faults:

Batley were declared winners, and the Viear presented the eup to Mr . Senior, the conductor.-Mr. Senior in reply, said he rang in his first contest at Sandal 33 years ago, and three of their present ringevs flso rang that day. He said the only way to achieve good striking was continual practice logether

A vote of thanks to judges and chairman closed a succesful meeting.

\section*{HINTS ON •SPLICING' AND RLNGING MINOR METHODS.} By JOHN P. FIDLER.-CONCLUDING ARTICLE.
Some day, perhaps, our mathematicians will lell us exactly how many difarent 5,040 s (ol seven methats each) it is possible to ring thom thirly-five methods. Cerlainly enough to keep a band on the go for a 5 cur or two. At the raquest of the Editor, and for the bempat of those companies who, though lack of facilitios, are unable ta get the practice necessary to ling a large number of metheds in a 0,040. 1 give below a few peals in less methods.
Iu the seconcl article of the series, dealing with 'splicing,' I gave a nuven method peal. There is no necessity to repeat il, but presuming it has been ruug, let us look at Rochealer, No. 5, paga 9 of the Ceniral Council's Coliection. If 'Burton' has heen mastered, this can be rung straight off, College Dxercise being substituted for Oxford, Rochester being produced by rirging College Exercise 'up, and Eurcon 'down.' Next, look at Killamarsh (No. 14, page 11). P'ais is kent 'up,' with a work 'down which can easily be leamed.

\section*{PEALS IN SEVEN METHODS.}

1. Digley. 2. Rochestor. 3. Morning Star. 4. Tromel. 5. Duke of Norfolt. 6. College Exercise. 7. Norbury.
In this peal each method has College Fxorcise work above the treble, Disley is No. 27, page 27 (Third's Place Deligltt section).
l'he following peal has tro now methads introduced, viz., Hul] (No 14 and Taxal (No. 15), both on page 17. The work' down is the same in each, Hull having Woodbine work 'up' and Trxal, Willesden in the corrosponding positions. 'T'o complete the peal add either the dvo methods of the Woodbine Group or those of the Willesdeu Group. If desired, two peals could be built up.
peal of the seven 'odrl' mothots would test the abilities of a liand, and an attempt for this would be very useful practice. Many nthers can be made up from the methods dealt with in the previous articies.

\section*{FOURTEEN MFTHOD PEALS.}

Further useful practice could bo obtainod by taking two methorls having met with sitcoess the from each of the seven groups, and, this having met with sitcoess, the following might be attempted

The figures of the seventit extent will ba found in "The Ringing Worid ' dated Auguet 14tli, 1925 , page 522, riz., 'Spliced 'Oxford and Kingston.

It will be geen that these methods only 'splice' course for course, so care must be exercised in their introduction.

TWENTY-ONE ANI TWENTY-EIGHT METHOD PEALS.
Working to these figures, we can produce a twentrone method peal. For guidance, I have commenced each 720 with the odd method of that particular group, so its inhroduction remains constant throughout. As oeven more methods are required, take one from each group, and introduce it in the second part of the 720 . 3or example, refer to the dirst 760, Ely and Bogedone, ring the first part as stated, but in the second part substitute Knutaford or other momber of the group, and in the last part switch back to Bogedane, thus givirg three methods per 720, or twonty-one methods in all.

Further use may be mado of these figures, and a bwenty-eight method peal rung. Ring the first two parts as jnistructed for the twenty-one method peal, but instead of returning to the origima "even' method after the first bob in the last part, make use of another member of the group.
Should this prove too diffeult, there is an easior peal of this number of methods. It is obtained by cutting out the 'odd' method of each group, and using only the four methods which 'splice ' lead for lead.
Those who have made themselves conversaut with the subject should now experience no difficulty in building up peals to suit the standari of the band dosirous of ringitg peals of Minor.
Before concluding, what about the test of enduranve coupled with the reteation of the work of many metbods? In the past we liave bad long lengtls of Major Metlods, Rojal Metlods, etc. Fere is an opportuaity for the strong six-bell men. How about thirty-five extents? Taking an average of twenty-five minutes per 720. it is only a ratier of about 14 hours 35 minutes, and when you have done it, no doubt the Central Council will open a subscription Iist and erect an extra special Peal Board
I close, hoping that this series of articges will creaie ay added in terest in six-bell ringing. If it does. I am rowarded

Dear Sir-May I tronble you for a little space, just to state that the members of the Midland District were not misinformed with regard to whal happered at Reading. To prove that, I will call a meeting, if Miss Parker will attend, asking all those who were present at the last mectiug to bo present, and will again repeat Miss Parker's remarks rerbatin. No reporb was subnilited to me before the meeting, or reat at the meeting. As Miss Parker lad either lost or forgotien it, she remarked to me before going to ring, that she had a grumble against the Midland District, it being the only district with a noa-ringer gecretary. I repied: "I was quite willing to resign, but no one would take on the work." Her reply was: "Perhaps they will now: anyhow \(t\) have mentioned it before the meetiog. At the meeting she said she farf two grumbles, one was that a district she would not name had st secretary who was a noz-ringer, and zhe thought it time a ringer came forward and took office, the present Eecretary was merely caryying on until a ringer took office." I still say that after the general secretary's remark, I could not carry on any longer. With apologies and thanks for space.-Yours faitifity,

P.S.-May I add that I shall not trouble you again; if Miss Parker will not accept ny offer it nuas be seltled privately.

\section*{NEW PEAL OF BELLS AT CLEVEDON. MAGNIFICENT GIFT TO SOMERSET CHURCH.}

For the first time for a hundred years, a peal of bells raug out fram Clevedon's ancient Parish Church on Wednesday, Sepl. 30ih, when, wilh quict, but impressive ceremoninl, the Archtioncon of Bath dedicated the new gal generously given by Miss Jeakims, of Clevedon.
The church originally possessed five belis. In 1825 two were sold for church repairs, and in 1827 a third passed from the church. Of the (wo remainieg, one (which was cast by John Cockey) now rests in tho lias been retuned, and forms the tenor in the uew poal of eigh1. It bears the inscription :-

> I to the Church the living call,

And to the grave do sumuon all.'
The even now bells have been cast by Messrs. John Taylor and Ca. of Louglatorough, and the whole bung in a new steel frame.
'Whe bells all bear appropriate inscriptions. One is inscribed in memury of the donor's sister; on another appears the name of the Vicar of the parish, the Rev. Preb. H. E. Badcock; and the names of the two clurchwardens, Mr. H. C. P. Dity and Mr. E. J. Hagley are inscribed upon a third one.

The spiendid work of providing the new bells and strengthening the tuwer has cost over 81,100 .
The dedication coremony was atteuded by a large number of clergy and a crowded congregation. The combined choirs of the Parish Charch and St. Peter's were in altendance. A shortened form of evensong was conducted by the Rev. W. E. Horsley (assistant ourste), the lessons leing read by the Rev. S. B. Berry (Yiear of St. Mary's, Bridgwatar, and formerly assistant ctrate at Cievedon Parish Church), and the Rev. Preb. H. E. Badcock, R.D. (Vicar of Clevedon). The processional lymn was ' We love the place, O God.' Psalms cxaii, anfi al. were chanted, and then, after another hymn, 'We give Thee but Thine own," the Vicar and churchwardens, with the Archdeacon, promeded to the entranceray to the tower, where the Viear, on belalf ait the donor, requestea the Archdeacon'to deticate to the glory of God, and for the use of this parisl, the peal of hells now huns in this claureli tower."
The Areldeacon, after offering prayer, shemnly dedicated the hells, and the lecal ringers (a band of beginuers: rang a tew rounds, led by Mr. T. Francis.
Tha singing of the hymn, "Now thank we all our God,' preceded the Arehdeacon's scrmon, which was based on the \(95 t^{2}\) Psaim, \(6 t 12\) verse, - O come, let us worship and bow dowri; let us kneel before the Lort mur Maker.'
During tho singing of the hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven, a collection was taken towards the cost of erecting an outside entrance to the belfry.
'The singing of ' 0 Godl, our belp in ages past,' closed an improspive aud extremely well-ordered service.
Preb. Badeock having wished Mr. W. Gillinglam to hring a bana of ringers from the Chew Deanery, a quarter-pesi of Grandsirm was then rung: E. Golktōe (Portishead) 1, T. Wratt (Clapion-in-Gerdano) 2 . R. G. Willinms (Partishear) 3, I. Rislop (Wraxall) 4. G. Yeo (Long Ashton) 5, I. Nishet (Portishoad) 6. W. Gillingham (Portishead), conrluctor, 7. T. Francis (Clevedon) 8, after which touches of Stedman Triples and Fols Major were rung, everyone הgreeing that the 'go' of the hells was everything to he desired.

Amongst those who took part in the ringing were Miss Fisher (Tarking), Misses Stokes and Rrond, Mrs. Edwards and Mr. Gr. Rowlintham (Portishead). Mesars. W. A. Cave and W. H. Thomas (Bristol). Mr. Datt (Lonilon). Mr, H. Knight (Clapton-in-Gordano). and nthers.
Latar in the evening. the churchmardens entertainent the local ont impited ringers at sweet's Restaurant, pall a very pleasany erosing was spent--In replying to the tonst of ' The Ringers.' \section*{THE CHEAPER FARES MOVEMENT.} NORTH WALES ASSOOLATION'G APPLICATION.
In support of the movement to securg cheaper railway fures for singers, the following letter, which incidentally jilusirates the handicap under which some socictios labour, has been sent to the Chief Superintentent of the L.M. and S. Railway at Derly, und the G.W.R. superintendent at Oswestry.
Dear Sir,-1 have been requested by members of the North Wales (Hange Ringers Association to make application to you for reduced fares for our members when attending meetings in connection with the association of bell ringers. 1 would like to point out to you our nxsociation includes Flintshire, Denbighshire, Carnarvonshire, Werionethshire and Montgomery, and meelfings are held in various lowns in these countics, hut, owing to lack of cheap fares, our memhers are unable to altend these meetings as regularly as they would like to do so. For instance, a mecting was held ia Barmonth a few dinys ago, and owing to the heavy railway fare from Rhyl to Barmouth not one member was abie to attend, but had a recluced fare been nvailnble, such ns fishormen and golf players participate in, I think I could safely say seven-eighth's of the members from Rhyl would have attended this mecting. And the same applites to members from Wrexham, Buckley, Rufhin bell ringers' societfes and other societ tea in the North Wales Association. Then, agnin, variaus members of this society womld often like to travel to visil beffrics to ring peals, but owing to the Iack of a reducerl fate for hell ringers this eannot be done.
Our associntion consists of about 200 members, and if reduced fares were granted to members of hell ringers' societies going on bell ringers' business, I am sure many more would use the train service, to Ihe mutual henefit of both parties.

I ame giver to understand various associalions in Greal Britain are applying for a special reduction in fares for use of behl ringers, and are forwarding their application to headquarlers in their district. I trust you will give this application your consideration and that we may have a favourable reply granting us conditions of retituced fares, eajoyed by other clabs and societies.

\section*{THE STEDMAN CINQUES AT SHREWSBURY}

The stopping of the peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Chad's calls to mind an incident of about 110 years ago, writes a correspondent.

About this time, the famous Sumuel Lawrence, of Shitnal, anxions Lo ring a pral of Stedman Cinģes, took a bad from warious parts of the country to make an attempt at Shrewsbury. After xiuging some considerable time, it was brought to an cad under peculiar circurstances.
It appears a sweep was engaged to swoep the veitry chinncy, the top of the vestry being on a level with the belfry window 'llye sweep bad-as they diff in those days-to climb up the inside of the climney, and just as lie popped his head out of the top le heard sorneone call Boh.' His name being Boh Roberts, he went to inquire what they wanled with hime; another boh was called, and ho jumped iuside!
Lawrence never rang his peal of Eteßman Cinques.

\section*{A PROUD RECORD.}

Sixy years as chorister, 50 years as ringer, nad 40 years as parish elerk, is the proud, antl we should imagine, unsurpassed record of Mr. J. Lovekins, of Sheriffiniles, Salop. A peal in his honour was rung on Saturday, and il was also a 'welcome llome' to the Vicar, the Rev. R. A. Giles; after a world tons. The Vicar, churcbmardens and ringers, after the peal, sat down to a meat tea, spleadidy \(\operatorname{served}\) by local ladies, is the Parish Hall, and the visitors would like to take this opportunity of thanking all who helped to make their wisit mosit anjoyable.

\section*{CLEVELAND ASSOCIATION'S MEETING AT MIDDLEHAM}

\section*{THAT UNLUCKY 13.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Dear. Sirt-I read Irenmus' pithy notes with pleasure on cyery occasion, but oust just make a small correction as to the youngest M.C.A. ringer to score a 5,000 . On Deeember 20th, 1919, I had the happiness to call a peal in which my brother, G. Stedman Morris, rang. This was on his 12th hirthiny, hut was on laandbells. On Tuly 6th, 1920, howryer, 1 cellecl a peal at Kirby Muxlor, in whirel \(F\). J. Bowley, junr., rang the (reble, lie being then only 11 years 4 montlis olf, and, therefore, elaims the record.
I had already written to Mr. Goboy pointing this out, and, like Ireusuls, want both he and 'Yourg Falstaf' to take this al writters, in a kindly spirit, and accepl our hearty congratulations. May the latter go on with the good work, ancl keep 'growing greater 'every day. The lecst of luck to him.-Yours faithfully.

\section*{STRIVING AND STRIFE.}

A most interesting light has been thrown upon an incident of early ringing history by Mr. J. A. Trollope in the articles which he has written around the first peals of Stedman Triples at Norwich in those far-off days, now nearly two hundred years ago. It is a story of striving: as well as strife, and while the dispute between Melchior and Crane las its humours as well as its petty passions, it must not be overlooked that it was these Norwich men and their rather older colleagues who laid the foundation of peal ringing as we know it to day. Mr. Trollope, as the result of his researches, has been able to paint in [or us many picturesque details of the squabble between the rival composers of the earliest peals of Stedman Triples (whether the compositions were false or true-a question which the writer of 'Notes by the Way' discusses analytically this week-is of no matter), but through it all we must acknowledge that Metchior and Crane were men of enterprise, whose characteristics have shown themselves in all the generations of composers - and ringers-which have followed. Through the two centuries which have since elapsed men of outstanding merit in their day have come, and gone, most of them have squabibled with their rivals, thougla probably not all have made it up again as did the Norwich men.

And to-day there is still the striving there is still the strife. We all applaud the former; some who are spectators are inclined to look askance at those who engage in the latter. But striving and strife have through all time marked the progress of mankind, and without them there would have been less progress in the world. Ringers to-day owe most of their knowledge to the men who, in the past, have striven to master the mysteries of the Art, and have not shirked the strife which competitive claims have precipitated. We are not alluding now to the petty jealousies which arise in snall-minded people, who can see nothing for praise except in their own doings, and have no honour for he who excels except it be himself; nor do we refer to those rather empty quarrels of which we hear from time to time arising out of personal feelings. Jealousy on the part of one or both of the Norwich antagonists doubtless led to their dispute, and similar feelings have constantly found vent in unseemly quarrels all through the history of ringing-for ringers, after all, are quite ordinary haman beings. But what we are tempted to suggest is that out of many of the rivalries and resultant 'strife' a great deal of the advance in ringing has come. It is this spirit of seeking to score over one's neigithours which has led to some of the best compositions being produced; which has resulted in many a record peal being rung, and if sometimes these things have caused outbursts from opposition camps, or have been the outcome of challenges thrown down, the Exercise in the end has profited. It is not everyone who can quarrel gracefully, and if the spectacle is not always what one could desire, the lookers-on can generally find in these wordy battles something to improve their knowledge; something to increase their interest in the Art, so that out of the strife, as well as out of the striving, good has sometimes come.

\section*{SOUTH OXON AND MID-BUCKS BRANCH.}

The annual meeting of the above branch was held on Saturday, October 3rd, at Greap Haseley, Oxon. At the sarvice an oxcellont address was giren by the Rer. C. W. O. Jenkyu (Master of Oxford Guild). Fiea was kindly prorided in the Village Institute by Lady Muirhead, of Little Haseley Court, and was heartily appreciated.

At the business meeting which followed, the Req. J. T. Fox was reelected chairman of the branch, and the Rey. - Bown, of Haseley, was appointed secretary, the late secretary, Mr. P. Wilsan, resignitg owing to the probability of his leaving the district, much to the regret of the members.
M. I. W. Woodwad was re-elected assistant sceretery and ropresentative on the General Guild Committee.

The spring meeting was roted to take place at Great Miltom on Suuday, May 16th, 2926 ; sexrice at 3 p.m. As most of the branclt meetings are not very wel atfended on Saturdays, especialld in the football season, Sunday was selected as an experiment

Tie tower was again risited in the evening, when round and Gratusire Doubles were rung for the beginners; and a well-struck 360 of Bab Minor was brouglit round by P. Wilson \(1_{3} \mathcal{H}\). Tucker 2, E. Naisil 3, F. W, Woodward 4, W. Huthon 5, Req. O. W. O. Jenkyn (conthetor) 6. This brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

\section*{BARNSLEY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.}

A well-attended meeting was beld at Wath on Saturday, October 101t, members bsing present from Anston, Barasley, Darfield, Cro&tou, Cawthorne, Harbury, Sandal, Rotherham, Shelley, Royston, Rawmarslı, and the locel company:
Ringing commenced early in the aftervoon. Serfice was held, at which the Vicar of Watl (the Rev. F. B. Gunding) was assisted by the Rev. C. A. L. Woolley, Wicar of Gawthorme, who gave an admirable address, commending the great mysteries of cinange ringing, and the wonderful infuence of ringers, througl the skilful handling of bells, on other peopie. He especiaty pleaded for ringers to maintain their sociefies and their art in greak repute.

Tea followed in a local cafe, and the Vicar and the Rev. C. A. L Woolleg werc specially thanked for their kind help. Correspondence Wes read from the Railway Clearing House, Londod, declining to give cheaper fares for individual ringers.

There was competition for the next Hace of meeting, viz., Sandal, Roystom and Croflon. Sandal received the majority of the votes, so the next meeting is to be held there on Saturday, November 14 th.
Further ringing followet the meeting, a closing feature being some splicing of Minor methods, well and truly done.

\section*{THE BELLG OF MAKPLE, CHESHIRE. THE FIRST PEAL ON \(A N\) ANCIENT RING.}

The fine toned, but heary going, ring of bells at Marple, for over a century, defied the efforts of peal ringers. The attemples have beem numerous, but the resulb was always the same, the ringerg had to give up. It was decided to have one more shot, and this was made on October 10th, lappily with success, but no one was sorry when the conductor ealled 'This is all.'

A bricf nccount of these interesting bells whith formerly hung in Stockport will not be out of place at this jumelare.
The first account of the bells of the Stockpori, Parish Church is supplied by the repori of the commissioners appotnted in the reign of Henry VIII, to inquire into the Chureh property of the Macclostela Hundred, Their return, dated 1548 , shows that, at that time, Stockport lad 'e ryuge of itij (4) bells,' a number not excected by any church in the Huadred, except Northenden, which had fwe.
An inventorg of the properly belonging to ithe Parish Church of Stockpori made in 1683, states there were then 'five bells in tha steeple, and one small bell at yo east end of ye church.' The lather was possibly the 'Sancte Bell, the swall bell that was rang in preReformation times on the elevation of the Fost during tho service of Eigh Mass (an example of a 'Sancte Bell,' and its position may still be seen at Prestbury).
In the year 1731, the five bells were exchanged for at ring of siz by Rudballs, of Gloucester (tenor lite ewt.), the Rev. Harry Style being Rector at that time. The following entries respecting them appere in the Churobwerdons' accounts for that year:-
Decr. Paid the Carters for carriage of ye bells to Salop & \(\underset{d}{ }\). and back
Pd. Francis Rigley, yo bell lianger his hill
Pd . Mr. Rudhall, ye founder for ye exchange of ye bells \begin{tabular}{lllll}
& 89 & 1 & 4 \\
\hline
\end{tabular}
Pd. for six new clappers
Pd. for six gew baldrings
About the commencement of the \(19 t \ldots\) century, al porlion of the tower gave way, and some rudo buttresses were erected to support it. Howerer, in 1805, the bells laving been rung for several days in suecession, in celebration of Neison's great victory of Trafalgar, the old tower was so shaken lhat it became dangerous, so, thereforo, tha bells were seldom rang afterwards, and the last time they pealed from that tower was on 13El, October, 1809, at the Juhilee 'wher George III. was King.'

The following year, the tower was taken down, and the belle stowed nway, some in an old mill in Portwood, and some in the Hears House, where they were allowed to remain for several years. The trustees for the building of the new tower being of the opinion that the ring of six was too small for the new tower, resolwed that a new ring of eight be erected. These new belts were supplied by John Rudhall at a cost of £1,087, and they were rung for the first time on August 24th, 1817. In lanour of this ereat, four prizes of fourteen, ctght, six and four guineas, respectively, were oftered 'for the bast peal of Holt's Grandsire Triples, consisting of 5,040 changes, and on September 11th and 12tli, 1817, the Ashton, Chester, Manchester, Mottram Segiors, Motram Juniors and Oldham ringers compoted. Mottram Seniors, who rang the pen in 2 hrs. 46 minutes, were award ed the first prize. Oldham cames second, Manchester third, and Mottram Juniors fourth.
The old six lying formant, called forth the following amusing rlyme

A Remonstiragee from the Bell \({ }_{5}\) of St. Mary's Chirch, Stoctport, addressed to the Clinchwardens and Trustees of that building.

Torn from the Tower where long we hung
And bome on sledge away,
Our tuncful voices all unstrung
We've linger'd many a day.
No more witl cheerful, solomn sound, The Sabbath we declare,
Nor cal] tho pions folk around To fill "the House of Prayer."
No more resounting through the vale, On summer's evening sweet,
Our wantering changes swell the gale Wibh harmony replete.
When Labin weds his Susan dear, And all around. is joy,
They long one merry peal to hear, Yet here, alas! we lie.
Ah, when shall our glad notes again Salate the bew-made Mayor,
As in procession with his train Ho walks at Stockport fair?

Full of whea Nelson on the main The Britislı Thunderer bore,
Our pleasing notes lave caught the strain, And echoed to the roar.
When Wellinglou, whose matelless famo, Hrings glary to our Isle, Eiow can onr notes his praise proclaim, Pent up in durance wile?
Oh, ye who look the work in haud, Church Wardens and Thustees,
Why do ye thus inactive stand And linger at your ease?
If beils, us ancient records say, Hive foll'd, nutouched, unring,
Beware, lest ab your long delay, We, too, shati find a tongtic.
And, therefore, we bescedt you all, Cansider well our case,
And let us in a steeple tall Most guicky fund a place
Then shall the joy inspiring peal, Or sweetly soolhing chimes, Monr spirits raise, your sorrows henl, In these disastrous times.

\section*{stockporl, March 17 h , 1814. \\ God save the King.}

Mr. Rudhall, who made the new ring of eight, offered 5400 for the alal sis, but there were many people who did not, wish then te leave the distriet on necount of their exceptionally fine tone. The trustreas al a latge meeting in March, 1816, unanimonty realved thal bhe Township of Marple should have the option to purchase at the price offered by Bry, Ruthall. The following appeal resulied:-
' Co the inhahiants of the Marple and its vicinity. The trustees afpointed by Act of Parlinment for the iaking elown and rebuilding of the Parisla Clurcli of Stookport havice made the Townsbip of Mrrele an offer of the peal of bells belonging to the former enfife, it is enrnestly hoped that a subseription may be raised equal to the purelnse of them. The sum requited is four hundred pounds, being lua priee al whien Mr. Rudlall, of Gloucester, a descendane of the afigina: foumfer, lias offercd to lake them from lhe tursees. Little, it is haped, need be urged upon the inhabitants of marple not to suffer these bells to be conveyed away from amongst them for ever. The real excellence of Ilseir tone unst be well remembered by them, and scarcely an individual is there that has now listened to them with feelings such as few but would wish to experience again.
The site of the ehapel is a consideration hat ought to lave its weight. On an emincace that commandis an extensive view of tho bold swelling bitis of Derbyshire, as of the more fertile plains of Cheshire, no situation could be belter adapted to give full effect to theiv uncommonly fine tone. Fram this hill the sound of them wild go forth far and wide; and it cannot be doubted but that the inhabitants of the other tawnships, when they hear them, will rejoice that their meiglabours did not suffer them to be removed for ever aut of the parish, and will applaud both the spirit and the Liberality of the Towsship of Marple.-March 28ils, 1816."

The appeal had suel an effect that Samuel Oldknow Esf. Nathamiel Wright, Esq., together with the Carate of Marple, the Rev. C. K. Prescott, concluded the bargain, and becamo personelly responsible for the amount. On April 29th, Mr. Oldknow seat his dray for the treble and tenor, and Mr. Wright sent two carts for the rewaining four. They were opened on June 30 th, which was celebrated as a gala day, and prizes given which were competed for by the ringers of the district.

The cost was as follows: The bells, 2407; hanging, etc, e324 13s. gaking a total of \(\mathbf{2 7 3 1} 13 \mathrm{~s}\). FIne first list of suluscriptions amounter to \(£ 528\) 17s. \(6 \mathbb{}\).
In 1886, the bells were relung, find were reopened an Easter Day of that year by the Hayfield ringers.
The inscriptions on the second and tenor lave been effaced, the former has anly a foral wreath, and the later merely A.R. I731, with the figure of a bell between the intilals.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

It was reported at a meding of the Barnsley and District Association that the Railway Clearing House had decined to grant cheap railway travalling facilities to individual ringers.

The composition of the peal of Stectran Caters rung at Leatherhead on Saturday was composed by Henry Haley, and first rung at St. James', Bermondscy, in January, 1858. It is beliaved to be ono of the first compositions ever obtrined on the half tittum and hali lasndstroke plan, and has the trebie in 2nd's place and Hes sixth in fifth's throughout.
Robert Catlin, the London bell founder, who in 1748 cast the fourth bell af Thakeham, Sussex, aud got his inscription badly mixed up, a a report in another column of the restoration of Thakelam bells shows, was a practical ringer, and was admitted a member of tho Collego Youths in 1722
Visitors to Southimpton shoukd note the change in the times of ring ing, announced in our notice colunns, at St. Mary's Church.
At last! After years and years of uphill work, a 'local peal has been accomplisherl at Bradpole, Dorset. Only Grandsire, some will say, but to achieve even this has required more effort than to ring Surpriso peals with bands meeting regularly, and where chango ring ing is the only ringing attempted. Congratulations to tho band, und especially to Mr. Tl. Hervey Beams, the conductor.
The bells at St. John's, Waterloo Road, Lemdon, where in past day peal ringing used to be done on an extensive seale are, we belicm hors de combat, if tho phrase can be applied to inanimate things. The first peal on the bells was rung 101 years ago to-morrow. It wh a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major by the College Youths.
The peal of Grandsire Caters rung ot Newport, yeported in aur fust issue, nai arranged for Mr E. Barnett, senr. was Mr. Barnett's second peal in the county of Monmoutlh, yearly 40 ycars having elapsed since he rang his first there, and that, incidentally, was his first peal as conductor. In June, 1886, he rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Monmoutls. This was the second peal to be rung in the county, the first having been rung at Chepstow many years before To acoomplish this required some courage, as he hal to teach every one of tha band right from the beginning-from handiting the bell to the peal-some job!
Tho hells of Croyland \(\Delta b b e y\), Lines, are to be broadenst on Sunday, It was here that a peal of bellis was first supposed to lave been hung in England. There is a ring of six, und some time ago we gave fotails of them in our columns.
Holt's Original was rung in St. Giles-in-the-Ficlds on Det. 23 rd , 1791, and untila few years ago this was believed to be the first oceasion that it had been called by a conductor taking part in the ring ing. It is only in comparaively recent times that jt has been fouml ilat the peal was similarly callod al an ebrlier date, among the places where this liad been done being Safron Walden in 1753. When the Original was first rurg John Holt called it from manuscript.
A peal of 15,120 Bob Major twas rung at St. Paul's, Oldham, on Oct. 24 thl, 1807, in 8 hrs. 46 mins.
The first peal of Stedman Triples-of which, with its sequel, Mr Trollope has neen giving such an interesting account in our colymus -was rung at St. Peler Mancroft, Norwich, on Oct. \(25 \mathrm{th}_{1} 1731\).
A peal of Stedman Caters was rung out of London for the first time on Oet. \(25 \mathrm{th}_{\text {, }} 1790\). 'this was \(5,292 \mathrm{nt}\) St. P'liilip' \(\mathrm{\varepsilon}_{\text {, }}\) Birminglam in which Samuel Lawrence rang the 9th.
The frest peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung on Oct, abth, 1822, at All Saints'. Wakefield, the band being composed of nine nembers of the local society, with Joseph Tebbs, of Leeds. It was composed and conducted by Willinm Woodhead, and the hourd erected in the belfry is one of the few records of fis find wherean the composition of the peal is preserved.

On Oct. \(26 \mathrm{ch}, 1837\), Thomans Tolladay conducted a peal of 7.325 Grandsire Ginques ait Ei. Martin's-in-the-Fields, rung by the st. James's Society

At Folheck. Leeds, a peal of 9,120 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 5 lirs. 15 mins., on Octotiel 8th, 1876.
Througl a printer's error, the time of the peal of Bob Royal, at Southover, Lewes, published last week, was given as 2 lirs. 26 mins. instead of 3 hrs. 26 mins. The tenorman on that oceasion ir. \section*{NOTES BY THE WAY.}

\section*{1 IE NORWICF PEALS OF STTEDMAN.-WERE THE COMPOSITONS TRUE? \\ Вy J. A. TROLLOPE.}

And now comes the interesting question: Was either or both the peals of Stedath I'riples true? Tlhe gencral opinion of the Excreise las loug been that hoth were false. Shipway sumacd ap the views of London ringers when he wrole in 1816 that the Norwich peals ate entirely discredited '; Mr, J. W. Snowdon says that the claim made liy tie second perforamace to ta the first true peal must be aceepter as a stodng reason for condomning the previous peal as fiage, but we have no means of deuting whether this Inter peal was itself correct'; Mr. Rees, an indelatigable colfector of records of the doings of old ringers, rounclly called the Mancroft peal false; and every other persou who lias reforred fo them has dous so in similur terns. The peals have been judged, and the vercliet is always either guilty" or " not proven, witls a strong presumption of guilt."
When we seek for the reasons on which these judgatents are bascu, we find that bapail from the fact that if the secont peal was the lirst the one, the first pet thast late been false) Whey amount to these: The peals are very early ones; the ligures of the compositions have perished; the dirst peal believol to be true was now rung until 1799; 1he first peal definitely known to be true was not rung until 1803, and the first peal on whati Shipway calls Else 'proper plan' was not ring until 1846. Men were enfirely igaorant of everything connacted with the Norwich peals, and took their ignarance as a proof that fley could not passibly be true. We know a godi deal more about them than did shipway or Enowdon ol Rees, ard eat, I think, arrive at a defunite conclusion on the matter.
For a peal to be true there must be two things: The composition must be true, and the actual ringing must be correct. The ringing of both peals was sharply challowgod at the time. Let us see what the charges amount to. The main objection to the Mancroft peal rested on Thomas Crane's sworn testimony that he had counted the changes, and they were 180 short of the fitl numher. I think we can dismiss that without any urouble, as being eltogether too fantasfic and untrustworilig. 'Lom was honest enough, atd believed what lie swore, but it is far likelier that his count was wrong than the peal was short. It was, of conse, quite easy for Melchior to make a mistake in calling, but if lie had it is hardly likely that the bells would have come round.
The oiber objection was made when Jolun Webster was under croseexamination hefore the justice. 'We asked him how magy times thenr five bells struck logether, and ho ovined four times. Then, how conlul the peal be tung willout bells ant of course? This is an ait mision that there was one bad place it the striking, but it is hardy more. It is always a gne poire how far a bad patel in a peal inmolitates it. In this case, it must be rememberct that the crities wore bitierly hostile, and I do not lhink that angthing they proved is sufincent to provent the peal standing. That is, of eourse, so far is the actual ringing goes. This answers Mr . Snowdon's objection. Incidentally, it means that we cannol allow the Coslamy party's chain that ihey lad rung the firsf frue peal.
The objections to the ringing in the St. Michnel's peal are still less serious. Melchior said it was rung no otluerwise than with changes alike, witness yout 4 lh Bell dodging Behind with the Znd insteact 'Eut Melchior was anything bedt a friendly critic; he was the tower, and had to dopend on his ears- He does not eny 4 shifted for any length of time. Perhaps, the two bells were guite sure which way each was dodging. Such things do lappen pe:als that fand their way into the columns of "The Ringing Wordd," and even on to pend boards. peal and frying to find ary and every fault there was, that yet Hant wonki linve settled the dispute withont further question. There woald have been mo heed for Tom Crane to take oadhes about the number of clanges rung. He only need to hace said. 'Here are your figures. At such and such a plnce is a change, and liere at quite atholher parf of the pent is the samp change. Nor would Mel. phol have noeded to make jokes about Cinanes "alteration, or argue ns to whal. was "proper" Stedman if he conitd have shown that the Each side land land a wager and He other thas monet to the made. fosilíon was false fud diam the money. That neither conld do this is, I think, goon proof that the penls were not obsiously incorrect. Shipwny amul the London ringers rejectied every one of the early Nowich beals. Ho savs (this was in 1813), 'It, js remarkahe that of Stereman peals, viz., llob Triples in 1715: Grandsire Triples in 1718: and Mammoft nol onn can he fonml to nscerlatin flas truth." Fut fhre vears Inter. when in 1816 lie wrote the general preface lo his complete hook, lie himself ninswered this objection. Fo is pointing out that if people kenen their meals in themselven the will be forgotlen and sumermodert, nud he gons on, "He who publishes lis protuctions will ohtain all the honour, while lie other wilt exther be discredited or consigned to oblivion. "the difference between Mr. Fralt's peals and those said to be attained al Norwich ate an illustration of this. Mr. Holt's peals are still admired by the best judges of the Art, wile the Norwich, not being demoustrable, are eatirely dibctedited.' That is just the point. The Norwich men did not print and publish, and lhuy have suftered accordingly. Moreover, whether true or false, these peals were all on a very early plath. They were rung before the corjeet hobs and singles of the rarious methotis had beon settled by a process of evolulion; ancl in any case they would not have survived except as euriosities. In this thing, Holt's pealg are altogether superior, Yet evan bere we may sec a similar law at work. Timu was when the Then-Part was the standard penl of Grandsire Tringles. Now it is more and more dropping out of use, and its place is heing taken by Mr. J. J. larker's eleter 12-part composition. And this not because the Iatier is, as a composition, in any way superior to the ailier (for it is not), but hecause the Exercise looks (and rightly looks) on Holt's singles as somelhing abnormal, not to be used muless ahsolutely aecessary.

And it is remarkable (to use Shipway's word) that such evidence as we hase is all in farour of the Norwich peals being true. Shipwry could just as easily have written, that of the peals said to have been rung at St. Peter Mancroft not one can to found to be delinitely false. The 1718 Grandsire Triples is irue. We have the figures, and can see why it las bect superseded, and has dropped out of use. If Henve Hubbards surmise as to the figures of the long peal of Treble Bob is correct (and I think if was correct), thea that peal was ture also. Circumstanial evidence tells us a great deal about the conposition of the Bob Triples of 1715 , and there is mo reason to suppose that il was false. Of the long peal of Grandsire Caters we Enow nathing, but it is a fair supposition that mea oho were clever enougi to ring the peal at that early time were alever enough to know if it mele true or tot. The next Norwich peal of which we have any figures, Lindsey's 6.048 of Imperial, is treve, but that belongs to a later generation, and is hardly good eridence

As for the Stedman peals, it is fair argument that since the Norwich men bad lod the Farecise in so many other thangs they may in this, too. have beed in adpance of ringers elsewherc. Bat Stedman composition is not quite the same thing as the consposition of Ploin Bob, or Grandsire, or even Treble Mob. It has diffeulties and pitfalle that required very mich koowledge and ability to orercome. The peals of Stedman Triples we ring totlay are dot one man's composition. It took many years and much liavd wotk by a succession a clever men bofore the way was made clear. Thurstans did but put the final touch to work that Shaway and Hudson and Lates hat done before him. It would heve been monderfil indeed if one man if two liad done it. But there is no queshon whatever that the Norwiel peals were hat what would now pass ag "proper' Stedman. Their only hope of boing trite lies in the fact that they were constructed br means whinh we should consider allegitimate.

That is the external eqidence as to the truth of the peals. It is rey strong hoth for and against. If it concernen any oflev method tut Stedman Thiples, I think we could conclude that the peals were true: heing Stedman Triples, we will suspend judgment come to the evidence contained in the newspaper letters.
Add first as to Melchior's qualjications as a composer. He was n dever man, witli a gond infelloct, and not without education. He knew Stalman's book thorouglily. and the theory of the compositint of the old Plain Chatses. Anel, since that theory liad derelopod clange ringing out of the 'sixes' juto full methorl ringing, the knowfedge was art important thing. He was also the pupil of John Garflon, who is cutitled to rank Ra one of the great composers of the Exoreise. Possibly, even probzloly, he knew something atont the internal falsoness of Treble Boh composition, though the London men were ignarant of it mutil nearly fort yeat's later. Altogether he was not ill equipped rs a composer. We know definitely that in comanosing his beal he modelled it very closely on Stedman Douthe:. Fre found the chidf elatacteristic in Dolmman's stalementi, that "in this peal every bell linth one and the same course there being no oroper Hunt (or Half Hunt) therem. Thas ruled anst the use of the fatan th which peals of Gramaisite and Pain Boh had been composed. Brite all furned on what 'one and the same course" exnclly mennt. Crann pointed out thal it is not strietly thue even of Stedran Donbles, for there the two belle which make the single do something whiels the olhers do mot, and, therefore, 'Stedmin was mistaknn." But Sfaiman was not mistaken ins what he roally rucant, \(n s\) Melchiov clearly Deubloc which argused something whe thar Ghe division or stanman the fist twelve changes. One of these ming five times gives fla mian nourse, in which every bell does the same wark the contradistinntion heing to such methods as Grandsire, where the treble dots something different to the ofler hells, Tuit \(\pi\) conrse consists of only sixi\% rowe, fore. we foill them tremther with a single

How did he join them together? He cortainly did not use the modern bob et the parting of the sizes. Be certainly kepl lis divisione of twelve rows invact, and almost certainly his comses of eighty-four rows. What alterations bo mado were at the course ends in the middle of a quick six. Crane tannted him with "taking to himedif a peal of five bells aud flying to Stedman for assisiance.' Exactly whai be meant is obscure, but 1 will hazard a conjecture which is worth what it is worth. Stecman, in his "Tintinnalogia, " cxplains how Grandsire Bod on six bells (i.e., the "old' 720 of Bob Minor) was got from Grandsire Doulles. And he points out that if you write out the lead ends (hand and back) only, you have a six score of Grantsire Doubles written out bnckwards. Now, Melchior had sixty courses to join togelher just as Richard Rock, Lhe composer of Gramisire Bob, had sixty plain leads. If he could make five of his bella work a sixscore of Doubles at tive course ends he would have done his jot, and fulfiled alf the conditions lse laid down. And in no otber way condr lie, 1 think, fulfil these conditions. If this conjecture is rigity of course, the peal was false. Unfortumaty for him Stedmin Triples will not divide into sixty tue courses. His siugles were made half-way and end as follows:-
\begin{aligned}
& 1325476 \\
& 1234576
\end{aligned}

This, I think, in itself is sufficient to east very grave doubts on the truth of the peal. I do not say that with no sort of bob, under no conditions, could such a peal ive true, but it is rery doubtful, esperially if, as is likely, both laskes were called alike.

\section*{KNARESBOROUGH BELLS.}

The first peal on the bells aL Knareshorongh, Yorks, siuce they have been luag in a new fron frome, quarter turned and the two trebles recast, willa ball bearings ditted to all the belts, was rung or Saturday. As a matter of fact no peal hat been rung on them for 22 years. The bells now go anmirably, and refleet great erodit on the excellent work of the Luell hangers, Messrs. J. Faylor and Son, of Louyliberough.

The band who rang the peal, take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar of Knaresborongll and his parishioners for the wery kind provision of tea priol to commencing the poal, and for supper at the termination.

\section*{SIXTY YEARS A RINGER.} PRESENTATION AT BOLSOVER.
Mr. Willian Lambert, of Bolsover, celebrated his 70ta birthatay ar October 15th. 'Old bitl," hs he is usmally called, was borm io Northamptonshire, and commenced to ring an 10 years of age. Coming to Detbyshire wren still quite young, he joined the l'arish Chareh ringers at Shirland, where heve was a peal of five bells, and later emigrated to Treeton, and afterwards to Wath-ou-Dearne, Sonth Yorkshire. Twenty-tllyeo yoars ago he was induced to come to Bols. over to join the progressive band there ab that time. He has been one of the pioneers in tho Chesterfeld and Bolsover district for the advancement of the higher methods, and assisted in ringiug the dirst peals of Double Norwith Major, Cators and Royah, Superlative, Cumbritge, New Cambridge, Poterborough, London, Brislal, Yorkshire, Ruthand and Padsey Surprise; also Donble Norwich, Superlative and Canbridge on haudhells. Always a keen striker, ley has a great knowledge of ringing penemally.
On Sunday last the Vicar, on behalf of the loeal band, presented him with a black ebony walking stick, us a birtinday gitt, and in coguition of his long service as a ringer. The gift canie as a surprise, aud Nr. Lambert suitably replied.

Mr. Lambert has rang over 100 peals on the Bolsover Parish Church bells.
loong may he be spared to assist in calling others to worship in the House of God.

\section*{ECOALBFOOKDALE'S PEAL OF TEN. WORK NLARING COMPLETION.}

Ringers and frients will be pleased to know that. Corlbrookinke bells are fast nearing completion ab the Whitcchapel Foundry, wiere the old oclave were cast in the year 1852. No effort on the firm's part is being spurcu to make the old eight into a fue peal of ten, by adcliny two new trebles. The new east-iran frame for ien, all on one level, has been crected at the Coundry, and stands on a specially constructed platform of steel girders. THo visitors 10 the foundry, one of them the heavy-bell man, from Bangor, North Wales, have reported that it is a very fine, strong and neat job. The ten bellg are to he erected and hung in their respective pits, befora leaving the foundry.
Of the eighi bolls, only the fifth was found to anve an old cract in the crown. This bell had for years been looked upon as the faulty one of the peal. On the advice of the bell founderg who agreed to bear half the cost of recasting this bell, rather than luave any defectis in the whole of the work when complete, the comniltee deciderl to lave same recast, and it now beara the names of the late patrou, Mr. Alfred E. W. Darly, J.l', D.L., the Eev. Preb. C B. Crowe, M.A. R.D., Yicar, and Werbert Hughes and Frederick Johnmon, churchwardens. The complete restoration of the old oigitt is being carried out to the memory of the late ML. Darbe, who died suddenly since the order for the restoration and augmentalion was piaced. One of his last letters to the Rev. C. B. Crowe was to sanction the two new trebles being given as a nemarial to his son, Lieut. Manrige A. A. Darby, Grenadier Cuards, who gare lsis life for King and country in the great war. Tha lwo new bells will liawe a suitable inscriptry in the great war. Tlue two new bells will have a suitable inscripL. J. Darby, and sister, Mrs. M. Cope-Darby, and will condude will the two following lines:-

\section*{\({ }^{5}\) Who stands if freedom fall,}

The girders and framework will leave London rery soon, and the bells, complete, will follow it an early date. They will be seat th Ironbriclge Station, to arrive there on a Saturday mofning. A p cession, etc., headed hy the Coalibrookdale and Ironbridge Sifwor Band, will be arranged to welcome the hells back to the pacish.
The whole cost of the scluene is being borne by public subscriplion, and a further \(£ 200\) is shill reguired to complote the work. The Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe, the committee, and the Coalbrookdile ringers, tho latter liaving made a tremendous effort and sacrifice, heve sparen no pains to secure one of the best jobs of morlern times, and to leave the Dale bells belter than they fanml ilien. They are all most anyious that about Christmas time, or early in the new year, the bells shald ring out, a grand peal of ten, free of deht.

\section*{LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT 1ENDOYLAN.}

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaft and Monmoutin Diocesan Associtition was Iteld ab Pendoylan on Saturday last, and profed a huge suecess, not only from the number who puti in an appearance, wall depresentative of bollin dioceses, but from the fact that the object for which assoctations are formed was well met, fitu local young band of ringers, who ring rounda extremely well, all joining the association will the object of advancing to change ringing. Thus another tower is lrouglit into the fold.
The bells were raised early in the afternoon, amongst the first to arrive being the champion of enthusiashand ever welcome ' J. H. S., of Swindon, who was quiokly able to tell those that did nol already know that tho bells are Garr's, with a lenor about 8 cwt. Serfice was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. M. C. Gower Williamss. A lady ringer, the wife of the Vicar of St. Athan, very ably presided at the organ, and amongst the congregation was Canon David, of LIant wit Major, who had specially come to attend the meeting to champion flo caure of toaching clange ringing at his tower. The Vicar's fine uddress described Wie hishory of the church from early times but at the outact he hearlify welcomed the associntion to his pariol. Fe pointed out that thronghout the length and breadth of the land there was no body of church workers more deserving of praise than tho ringers, Not on \({ }^{7}\) did they do their part for those actually attending church, but administared to all within the sound of the bells, and gave them room for thought. Following the service, tea, which lat been vcry generously provided, was served.
The busines meeting was presided over by the Ficar. Instructors' reports were prosetsicd, and excellent reports of recent and fortheoming restorations and augmentations were made.

\section*{DEATH OF A SHROPSHIRE RINGER.}

We regret to atnonnce the death of Mr. Frederick Darrall, of Litule Wentock: Sislop, who passed away, afier a long and paticntly borne illtess, on September 27th, at the age of 39 years. Fred, as be was best known to all his fricnels, maintained bis affectionate and lovable disposition right to tho end, Those who were able and privileged to visit hims at his parents' home, mili long remember the lender aud loving care and aursing that was bestowed upon him. Although he suffered greatly, lie wore his happy look right to tile last, with never a murmur or complaint.
Thlae funeral took place at Little Wenlock, on Oct, 1st. His grare is under the shadow of the tower, in which hangs a very pretty peal of twe hells, on which he learat to ring. The Rev. E. Howell (Rector) conducted the service, the Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe (Vicar of Conlbrockiales) read the lesson, and one of the deceased's favourite lyyons were sung in the church. Six of his old frieads, five of them being lis rillage ringing calleagues and two of them ex-churehwardens, tat rien lim from the church to the grape. The organist (Mr. Shepherd) phyed the Dend March, and four ofd ringing friends rang n course of Grandsire Triples at the graveside on Mr. Leslie Hayward's handlells. Many beautiful wreaths were sent, including one from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hewitt, and one from the Coalbrookdale ringers.
Immediately after the funeral, the tower bells rang out half-muffed their last token of respect. Several 24's were rung by the loeal men. after which the visitoris rang several 120 's of Stenman and Grandsire Doubles.
The deceased whs a ringing member of the Staffori and Salop fuilds. He rang several good peals on from eight to twelve bells. One of his favourite excursions was to wisit and take part in the ringing at Coalbrookdale, he having heen born and lived at a goot whe "The Dale " hells could be heard of their best. His aged father nral mother and sisters will miss him, as will ali his colleagues.

\section*{AFTER THIRTY YEARS.}

\section*{THAKEHAM BELLS RING AGAIN.}

For the first time for 30 years the bells at Thakeham, Sussex, were rugg on Sunday, Sepi. 27th. The accasion was also the parisl harvest festival, and the church was wery effectively decorated.
The five bells loave been reast atud relumg on ball bearings in a steel frame, and have been tuned on the 'five-tone Simpsou pruciple.' The frame provides for an additional bell which, it is hoped, may be added in the near future.
The Storrington band of ringers, under Mn. F. Blunden, were invited to ring the bells for the firsl time, and alter the service Grandsire Doubles were rund by visiting ringers, including Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitington (Cuanleigh), Messrs. 1?. H. Doick and C. Greeufield (Pulborough), and Mr. C. F. Jolnston, of the Groydon Foundiry, It was agreed unamimously that the tone of the bells was particularly sweet and mellow, and that the work had heen most expeditiously ent satisfactorily carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Jolnston, of Croytion, to whom it had been entrusted.

The tenor weighs \(9 \frac{1}{4}\) cwt., and the total weight of the peal is 28. cut. Tha first four bells were originally cest in the midde of the eighteanth century, and the tenor in the early ninetoenth century. The old inscriptious have been reproduced on the new bells. That on No. 4 beli is rather quaint, as the mediseval bell founder got the manes of the churchwardens curiously mived up with the inseription proper, with the following result:- iwill be gled and much reioyce on the Richard Soutter Richard Richardson Lond. Souttar .
0 God most hie and make my songs extol thy mame above the starry skie." 1748.
Mr. George Nicholls, the onl suryivor of the ald company of ringers, has undertaken the arduous task of teaching a new band. rite parifhioners are deliglited with the bells, which now constitute the best peal of tive in the district.

\section*{MIDDLEGEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A very successful meeting of the North and East Districh of the Middlesex County Association and Lotadon Diocesen Guild was held on Saturday last at Hornser, when some 40 members and friends altonded. Ringing commenced a fes minutes after 3 p.m., wibls a totech of Bob Minor, which was followed byt various methocts untit 5.30 , when the usual short service was held. The Rector (the Rer. B. Spink), having welcomed the association to Hornsey, proceeded to give a really interesting discourse on bells, wibly was much app'eciated.
An excellent tea was served at the Great Northern Hotel, after which the busines meting took place. Two new members were elected, and St. John of Jerusalem, 太onth Hackney, chosen as the renue for the next meeting on Decomber Sth.
Hearty rotes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for his addras at the service and for the use of the bells; to the Rev. G. G. Midwinter, Vicar of Wosd Greed. for memission to ring at that churcla; to the organist for providing some excdlent music; and to Messre. C. Ross G. W. and H. Blee for their successful endeavourg to make the meeting an enjoyable one. An expression of sympatly to Mr. G. W. Blee at his illiess wat added, coupled with a hope of his speed. recovery. Messrs. Ross and H. Bleo replied, stating their pleasure at the success of the meeting, and hoping that it would not be long before the society again Fisited Hortseg.
Wood Green was aftermards risited, and at that chareh and Hornsey several touches in various methods were rung, including Rab Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bab, Graudsire and Stedman Doubles, and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

\section*{YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION \\ SOUTHERN DIVISION MEETING.}

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Dirision was held Penistone on Saturday. The atteadance was very small, the towers reprosented being All Saints', Shefielit, Barnsley, Arksey, Doncaster, Ecclesfied. Wortloy gnd TForksop. A substantial tea was provided by the local company in the schools, and the business meeting was held in the same room, the Ficar (the Rev. E. B. Carletor) being roted to the chair.
Mr. G. Parkin. of Wortlef, was elected a ringing member, and the Vicar an hon. member of the association
No invitalion being forthcoming for the next meeting, this was left to the secretary and committee to arrange,
Replying to votes of thanke for the use of the bells, ete., the Ficar said haw very pleased he was to welcome the association to his church. Ho was sorry there were not more present, tut tre hoped they would come again before long.
A word of praise was due to Mr. G. Hill, of Hoylagdswaine, for the work he is doing in training a young banci at the church, and he has theatened to send the sectetary a list of ten new members for the associntion hefore long. "The best of hek' to him and his pupils is the sinaere wish of all mentiers of the Southern Division.

\section*{VIGILANCE AND ACTION NEEDED.}

Parliament, in the midst of its minor diversions, shortly, we learn, to he confronted with an issue of really vital importance to the nation, before which the industrial situation, the coal crisis and the agitations of the 'Reds,' to say nothing of Pacts and tariffs, will pale into insignificance. A Bill, entitled 'The Bell Ringring (Restriction) Bill,' is to be introduced, having for its object the suppression of church bell ringing, and it is to be promoted on belaalf of the 'Society for the Prevention of Public Nuisances.' At present the Society seems to be rather a vague altair, but we are promised in the near future 'a long list of influential and well-known people who are on the governing committee, or who have promised financial and moral support to the organisation.' At the moment all we know about it is that the secretary (pro tem.) is Mr. J. D. Lewis, of Penarth, and that the socjety will shortly secure a London office. Other ' nuisances ' (at present umamed), beside bell ringing, are to be tackled later, but the bells are to come first. It is something of a compliment to the acknowledged standing of bell ringing in its relation to the Church and its deeply established position in the national life, that a London office, a Press and public campaign and an Act of Parliament are deened necessary to combat it. M1. Lewis and his friends obviously do not imagine that they have a walk-over in front of them, and if their campaign really develops they will find that bell ringing will not be easily killed.

The 'anti-this ' and 'anti-that ' people, even though they be few in numbers, can very easily make a big noise, and presumably Mr. Lewis hopes to persuade Niembers of Parliament that, in the case of his society, the clamour of the few represents the views of the many. We may hear more of this society, but there is at present nothing to go into hysterics about. At the same time it is well that the Exercise should prepare for eventualities. There is always the risk that by backdoor methods, and without those chicfly concerned having any knowledge of what is. happening until it is too late, sone clause or Bill may be smugyled through Parliament which would jeopardise the right of the Church to the use of and control over its bells. Not only is it necessary, therefore, that the Central Council should, especially under the present threat, keep an extremely vigilant look out for any Parliamentary attempt to suppress the ringing of churchi bells, but should get into order and ready for immediate action an efficiently organised counter attack. The present Press Committee might be strengthened for the purpose, and we hope that, as the 'antis ' have definitely announced their (Continued on page 690.)

CRANE'S PEAL OF STEDHAN.-HOW THE OLD COMPOSERS WORKED.

\section*{By N \(A\) ARMIGER FROLLOPE}

Lidwatd Crane's peal is easier to maderstand. He was a lesser man than heldanor legser in knowledge; lesser in abilitits; lesser in imagination. He argued that what was right for Plain Bob and Graudsire must necessarily be right for Stedman. The traditional form of composition was by humts. Sy them the sixes were invented by them the plain clanges were rung; by them eross peals were developed; by them Garthon had composed his extonts of Bob thiples and Grandsire Triples. Then, 1 pray, let any than that is a judge in this art toll me, why Stedman on seven bells should not work as Grandsirg on sevea bells, and bring theit great bells home at their quarter, half, three-quatter and whale peals' end?' True, Steduan sait that every bell lins a coutse tilike'; and Doleman sajd that "there is no proper bunt or lialf-hunt therein'; but 'Stndman is mistaken, and so aro you, and "if 1 be right so it is.' Therefore, Crane composed his peal with bunts.
If you want to understand what lannts are, r good 5040 plan is 10 study \(A u\) arble's peal of Bol Triples. It \(23450 \mathrm{M} \quad \mathrm{W} \quad \mathrm{R}\) was composed somewhere about this time, and first rang in December, 1730, at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on the old ring of eiglit.

\section*{Observe the hehaviour of the diferent bells.}

Firsi the Treble campletes her whole work aud comes home once in every lead. She is the whole hunt.

Next the seventh compleles her whole work, and comes home once in every taurse of six leads. Slae is the half-lunat.
Then the sixtle completes hey whole work, aut conles hame once jn every fre courses. She is the quarter-lant

Listly, the fith completes her whole mork, and 23400 M \(凡=\)
\(42635-\)
\(64523-\)
\(56342-\)
\(23564-\)
\(45236-1\) comes hoal onse in erery ten courses. She is the Gingle fine-way half-quantey Inut. Tho other hells are extreme and end. bells.

Tr each lend the trable ocenpies each position once and once only at bandstroke, and once and once only int lunckstroke.
In encl course the treblite ahrl seventh oucupy everg possible combination of positions, onec and ance only at handstroke, and once and once ouly at hackstroke
In ench thinck of fye courses, flie treble, seventh and sixth occupy every posibile combination of positions, once and once only at handstrake, aml once and once onfy at hamstroke

In each part of the peal (consinting of ten courses), the treble, seventh, sixth and fifth occupy every possibile combination of positions once and once only, whether at lindstroke or at backstroke.
The extreme hells work their full combinations at the part ends.
You will easily sea what an excellent plan this is for producing extents. The whole peal falls into regular and equal parts; the part ends are easily recognised; the calling is easy, and there are observations for every bob thronghont; and the conductor can, without dificulty, know what each helt is doing all through the peal.
Tilis was the plan used nlmost universally in the sewenteenth centrury it is the plan of Ammable's peal of Brh Majow and Holt's peals of Bob Major and Triples. It is the plan of the thee-lead-coursa peals of Grandsire Triples. By its use. John Reeres obtained the fult cxtent of Plain Peti on eight hells, and Harrison the full extent of Double Norwich Major. Mr. Earle Buluet used it to get the extent of Duffied wiflout moving the sixth, and by its means I produced the extent of Foh Haximus 479 million odd changes, as you may sea in the Condral Conncil Collection.

This was the plan Ctane used, and le aimed to get in Stedman what Aunable lad so perfectly got in Bob Triples. It was rot Antuable's peal. lrowever, hat he Look for his model, but Jolin Garthon's pea? of firandsive. Garthon was the first man to compose a trive peal of Triples, and when we fro and anderstand his peals we must renlise the conditions under which he worked.
His fitsi peal wag the 1.715 Bob Thiples, the gigures of which are lost. When lag set to work to compose this, what he aimed at was not merely to get what woulci now pass as a peal of Plain Bob on sevan Gells. He luad to extend the method known as Grandsire Boh on six bells to seven bells. Now, Grandsire Bob is not just Bolj Minor. it is a partieular 720 of Bob Minor-the one see tisually call the cold" 720. It is constructed by a whole honit (the treble), a halflunt, (the sixth), and a guarter-lumt (the fifth). What Garthon barl to do was to extend the whole thing; calling and method alike. While in the ahsence of the fgures, we cannot he guite sume what the peal was. one or two things are quite dear. The hohs used were the present thohs. The trehle, of course, was the whole hunt; the seventio was the Jalf-hunt, and not affecied ly the bobs; the sizthe was the guarterhunt, and must have worked in a similn way to the sixtio in Annabie's peal. It is doubtind how lae manger the hfth. He may liave made

Ler a half-quarter humb, and so his peat would be practically tilse same thang its Annable's; or he maty lute composed the whole in four quarters, with or without special calls. In auy case, he followed tho 120 at ainor very closely, and there is no reason to appose that the peal was anyting but true.
When he got to Guandsine Triplus has had a auch harder tayk, but one similar in all essontials, It was to extend the 120 of Grantsine Doubles (method anti callingr) to seven bells. We know how ho did it, for we have the figures, and wo know that it is true. It is usual to say that Annatulds and Yienrs' and Taylor's peals are improvementa on Garthon's, aud Holf's very great improvements. But I lancy Gaytion himsalf would not have thought so. 'What!' lie would lave snid, "call ilhem improvements when they take forty-six Doubles to do what 1 did with only two! AE tor Holt's poals lhey are, no donbt, very clever, hut whey ato nob Grandsizo at all. Proper Grnndsire should lave bunts.'

In the same way, Melehior huld that Grane's peal could not be proper \({ }^{+}\)Stedman, because in Stedman ' every hell hath a courso alike, and thare is no proper hund or half-hunt kheven. We should not be so proticular. If Crane could lave got a trut peal with hunts it would pass muster with us, lndeed, in 'lhurstans' peal the seventh is \(\Omega\) whole bunt and the sixth a balf-liunl. But in the full sense that Grane understoon the term, Stedman does not lend itself to composition by hunas. He, just as Molehior oo doubt did, misseat the fact that you cannoli gol sixby true separato courses of Stedman Tpiples. And anart from that he was not happy in his arrangement of his hunts. What bobs be used we do not know. He may have used the modern bob, more kirely an adnptation of the Grandsire bob, Ho followed Garthon's Grandsire Triples closely by composing his peal in four quaters. Then came the job of puting these quarters iogether. Half-way and end he tad two Doubles, following the procedent set by Garthon, and followed by Melchior also, but unlike the latter, he makes his two Doubles with the sane lwo bells, dodging as Stedman does on five bells.' To get the bells into the positions he wanterit at the quarler-peal end. he bat to introduce his "alterations,' thope dismal changes." as Melchior called them. Metchior give us the figures of these alterations, and, thongh I ann not quite sure I hase given them correctly, we can tell protty well what they were. And it is almost certain that the peal that contained thern must tha fnlse. The work of tho lunts fs interfored with, and that is nearly sare to be fatal ; and there are parts of Quet which cannot well lowe been coraploted elsewliere in the peal.
I an ratlep sory that botio peals mast be put down an false. The Nowich men lad done so much that it is a pity they failed in this. After all, suceess would have been almost a miracle, and when we remember that thew lat rung Ehe first true peal in any method, the first true peal of Grandsire Triples, the first ten thousand and the first thirteen thousand. we can fully acknowledge that they made an honourable place for themselves in the history of ringing, even if they just missed ringing the fipst twie peal of Stedman Triples as well.
We were talking a week or two ago abont the possihility of writing a full bistory of change ringing. I wrote this skefch of the Norwich ringers as an experiment, in what coutd be done if one ind hut the material to work on. There is no fact that I have used which has not, I think, been published before. All T lave done is to hring it together supply the local colour, weigh the circumstantial evidence, anef make a rarrative of it. Tiere must be more materin? for a sketch of Annable and the early London ringerts or of the Birminglam men, hut where can one put one's hand on it?

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION}

SUGORGSTUK PROPAGANDA MJETING.
A meetiog of the Northorn District was held on Octaber 17th at Bheck Notley, ncar Butatree. This meeting was held in order to give eneouragement to batad of young riogers, who are struggliag 10 grasp the details of elango ringing, under the leadership of M. Patt, who had worked very hard to keep the bells going for the sundey acrvices for the past wo years without a break.
'The chureh, dedfated to SS. Peter and Paul, is isolated from the smal! village, standing away in the midst of the fielels. Parts of the chareh weru buit in the thist half of the \(12 t\) cheatury. Perhape the furish is heafíknowa as the biathplace of Joln Ray, M.A., F.R.S., the entry of whose baptism way slill be deciphered in the parish regrater, Jume \(291 \mathrm{~h}, 1628\). He wes the son of a poor blacksmith, but grew up to be the foremost naturalist of his age, and became mathearatical lecturer and Humanity reador to hae University of Cambridge. Raty whs a great friend of Sloane, the ronowned Loaton plysiciaw, to whom wo are indehted for bhe British Museum.
'Hile usual ringers' office was saitt by the Rector, and Mr. C. H. Howard (Masler) read the lesson.

Arter the service, the ringers and \(a\) few friends sal flown to tee, [ncesden over by tho Ituctor, in tha Parisin Room, 21 being present, representing Black Notley, Braintiec, Maldon, Rayne and Greal Rardfield. At the subisequent business mecting, with the Distriet Master (Mr. L. Wifen) in the chair, Four of the Notley bend were elucted as change ringing members and two as probationers. One member from Rajue was also electerl.-hIajor B. Allen, of Notley lonige, was elected ass hon memiser.

Votes of thenks were proposed by Mr. Howard, anci seconded by the clistriet, secretary, and unamimuusly neconden to the Rector for Lhe nes of the bells and holding has gervice; to the organist and dhoit, Major Allen, and. Mrs. Tolnson, a lady parishioner, who harl tule ell considerable interest in the meeting.

After some touchos on the landbells, the ringers adjourned to the tower for ringing, the methods being Bob Daubles, Grandsire, Stedminn and St. Sitmon's Doubles.
The meeling, arranged for propagandist purposes, created a great ancuat of interegt. Every effort was made to help the begivners in the art. Two little lads from Rayne, of 14 vears or minder, creled over three mites to the menting, and rang the freble, having fo stand on a hos to reach the rope at the back stroke.

\section*{FIRST QUARTER-PEAL OF TRIPLESIN NATAL DURBAN BAND'S PERFORMANGE.}

The band at Durban, Natal, which includes ladies, is already making good progress with the intraduction inta tife company of two or three ringers from England, and on Tuesday, Sopt, 22nd, thoy rang Live first quarter-peal of Triples in Natal. Phis was at St, Mary's Clurch, Greyvillo, and consistad of Coilinson's 1,260 Grandsire, rung in 50 minutes: Miss Olive Clements 1, Miss Daisy Clarkson e, Fred G. May 3, I'om Nash 4, Rev. Canon Ridout 5, Jolin Priciett (conducLor) 6, '1, Ewart Prickett 7, C. Clarkson 8.

Tho quarter-pesl was arranged for the Rev. Canon Ridout, of Jobannesburg, who was spending a holiday in Durtuan. It was also the 20th birthday of Miss Dasy Clarkson, and the 30th aunivereary of the wedding of the condactor. By this performance the ringers of treble, 2nd, 4 th 7 th and tenor, scored their Erst guarter-peal of Triples.

We look forward to an early peal success by the Durban ricgers.

\section*{A WELLEEARED PEAL.}

The peal at Wouldiem, Kent, recorded elsewhere, wais truly well earned, as before the attempt could be nade the band lad to spead nearly two hours among the bells to get thera riggable. It most have been monlhs since the bells were rajsed; birds' nests were well in evidence and had to Ђुe removerl; ropes spliced and generally repaired; bells oiled; and two of the bard, with the C.S.M. as foreman, turned themselves inta blacksmiths pro tom, to fix up defective hammers to allow the bells to swicg. Auymaj, "all's well that cnds well," es, after some lind ringiog, the first peaj was rung on the hells, four of which were cast by Hateh in 1624, and two were added by Mears in 1899. It is believed that many unsucressful attempts have been made to ring a peal on these bells, and it is pleasing to record the first, after such devotign before the attempt, aud such a glorious difplay of blisters-and dirt-afterwards; even the invelid of fhe bana was glad lie did not stay at lome.

\section*{WEDDING BELLS.}

There is every prospect of the aumual dinner of the College Youlhs on Saturiay week equalling the success of lormer years. Theme has been a big demand for tickets, mad those iatondiug to be presean art: reminded that the closing date for applicalions is "huradey next.

This is at festival week at Norbuy, Choshire, in cannection with the restoration of the belle and chureh. The dedication of the bells aud the consecration of the thew chancol hook place on Siaturday, and on ench day this week special sarvices hava been held, and special prenchers have taken part. The hathor have induded the Arel deacons of Macelesheld and Chester, the Desu of Chestor, end the Rev. A. Th. Beeston. To-morrow, which will the au open riaging day the preacher will be the Must of the Chester Guld, the Rev. C. A Clements.
The broadcast of the bells at. Croyland Abbey on Standay was made gutie \(n\) feature of the B.TB.C. progymme that evening. The belis were plainly heard in every part of the country, and we could have wishes! that for sueh hat occhaion the striking had been better. 'Han mann interest in the bells \(\mathrm{j}_{5}\) the fact that it was at Groyland that the fire ring was humg in England.
Cupt. F. S. Yorke, \(R\). \(\boldsymbol{S}_{\text {., }}\) through whose invegtigabions the origital engraving of the Cotlege Youths ecrificate was traced fo the grast Bartolozzi, has been promaten to Major, and is off to Bagdad. Hu trok farewell of his colleagues of the College Youths at their meeting frat week, and expects to be abseat from England for three years.
the first peal rung on hrwibells was scored on Oct. 30tis, 1811 , by a bund of Sheffield ringers. It was Oxford Treble Boh Major, and pxantly is huadred years Jater, the Jate Mr. C. B. Hattersley, whone grandfather took part in the early periarmance, organised a eommemoration peal in the same method, whill was timed by the same clock that ticked off the minutes a century before.
The two hondredth anniversary of a peat of Grandsite Triples the Church of St. Mary-he-Grent, Cambuidge, oceurs on Thursday mext. One may almosi assume, we think, that this was the first penl on the bells. At this period there was a clange ringing Gand maitstained at this ehurch for some yeare, for some of the ringers in the first peal took part in another in 1734 .
In riew of the biontenary, the record of this peat, from the risborne MSS., in the British Nuscum, is worth grating : ' St. Mary-then Grent, Cambridge, Nov. \(511 \mathrm{t}, 1725\), was rung by the Cambridge Youtha a complete peal of 5,040 Grandsira triples in three laours and a liall Henty Milliner 1. Thonas Seare 2, Hewes Carter 3, Jolir Tuck 4, Joln Míto 5, Wm. Anderson 6, Robert Barber 7, Thoniss Corbwell 8.
The first peal of Superlative Surprise Major qुas ruog ow Nov. 5th 1821, at St. Petey's, Huddersfield.
Curiously enough, it was on Nov. 5th niso liat what was clamed mthe tirst peal of Cambruge Surprise Major was rung. This was at St. Peter's, Shefteld (now the Cathetral), it 1787, when, according to the record, 'was rumg on eight bells at this chareh a peal of giod8 changes of that intricato method called Cambridge Surprise in 4 hours and 18 minutes . . . The above js the first peal of this methot evel rung in the country.' The composition is lost, but it mas be tabeli for sranted it was falso. But that dots not detract from the timo performance of the eight Sheffield men. The weight of the tenor is given as 33 cut.
The record of this peal does not give the name cither of the connposer or conductor, but the late Mr. ©, H. Hattersley once saw a manuscript relating to it, which strows the conductor to have becol George Wilde, who rang the scond. That in itself wns a remaskuhle performance for those tiays.
The bells upon which this peal was \(17 n+\) was a ring ly Daniel Herlderly, of Notringlam, casb in 1745. The augmentation to ten, and then to twelve ctme later.
The bells of SL. Paul's Cathedral weve operad on drov. 1 st, 1878.
- The first peal ever rung on any bells by any society, the mombers being all of one tame, whs performan at St. Martín's-in-the-Fimets on Norember 3rd, 1796, hy eleven niembers of the Royal Cumberlamil Youths, who rang a peal of Grandsire Caters. Tliey all bore thr Chrsstian name of Willitm and the peal was called by Willinm ship-
The unare of the ringer of the tenor bell in the peal of Erin Triples at Nuneaton should have reat "Jolur "Fhompana" not Johu Morton. Will the Warwickshire Guild seeretary please note?
In one of his conctuding articten on method splicing, Mr. J. P. Fidler suggested that one of our mnthematiciang could perlape tell ats in how many ways a peal may be made up from the 35 mothode, with which he had been denling.
Mr. E. H. Lewis supplies the information, ford the fariety olntainen will ponblless stager somo people, and, at anj rate. give the puthusiants komething to get on wilh.
Fyom 35 methods, sewen can be selected in \(8,811,440\) ways. If tho otder of ringing the extents he also taken fula acrount, this numher mast be malliplimd by 5.040 , and becomes 44.409 .657 .600 . Jo get now hat without, it, at right peals per day, it would keep a bund going for rather more than 15 million yans!

\section*{THE SUPPRESSION OF CHURCH BELL RINGING:}

\section*{A SUGGUSTED ACT OF IARLIAMENT.}

Fwom thme to time chureh bell ringing js threatened with extinction by suadry folk who have taken a dislike to the sound of bells, but atevolees of the art may uow consider that their 'Autmber' is up.' Mr. J. D. Lewis, of Fianwell Road, Penarth, Secrelary pro tenı of ' the newly-formed sociely for the sisppression of public muisances, is annombing to the waild at large that bell ringiag is the first subject to he tutkled by tis society, and prominent Members of Parliament are already being approached with a view to bringing iorward a measure anfitled "The Be!l Rinsing (Restriclion) Bill," which bas for its objeed the suppression of so-called change ringing excent on ational oecations, and then at reasonable hours. One bell only to be allowod for worsthip, and this to be tolled for five minutes only before a sorvice." Mr. Lewis atso lells us that funds are now being gathereti for a Press and puhlic camprign, but nothing should pel be sent until the society have secured a Loudon office, which will 'be very shortly.'
so now we know what to expect.
In puliow forwand his esase, Mr. Lewis, of course, indalgea in the kird of tirade which one expects from those who imagine they have a grievanco againsl a suction of their fellow-men, and in his ththasiation for en newtound outlet for his energy he assumes, what so many rngraged in similar hopeless canses have assumed, that he has only puth his riew lofore the public to carry everything belove him. Ha will probebly lian that lae tatd his sociely have a long way to go before they ean ronsinco the British mublic that their church bello (ame note partioularly it is ouly those upon whiel change ringing is tone that arte ilee zerl object of the nttack) should he suppressed.
Like ollee mus wills a bee in their bomet, itr. Lewis is not particular as to fis tacts. Hospeaks of the "banging and clanging of fondora bells, which disturh the sleep of hundreds of thotsands who go to bet on Saturday night hoping for a real rest whidi they are unable to oblain all the week,' and adds that 'a lopeless minority make a bideous tin of the Sathbath." These statoments he makes, apparent an the anthority of a Loodon daily paper, but, in the interests of ruth, Mr, L:wis might take the precaution, before going into print. confirming the facts "upon witich he would rely.
Thofe who know anything about ringing in London aro anare that cells rung in thr. eity on a Saturday mighit do not reath the ears of cre theusand roxideuls, meh less of hundreds of thousands. for they chanot be leard athove the din of the irafic mare than o hundred yards away from a tower, and in fle whole square mile of the city the city, inging does not lake place every Saturday night, and ringing. in the vast area which is generally included in Lanklon aud line guburbs, takes alace on Saturdays even less oceasionally, in proportion to thie size of the district. And again, ringing in London coasen al ten oclock or cartier, and whoever heard of Londoners making a practice of going to bet before 10 p.m.! Why, they are only just begianing to wake up! Prellaps in distant Penartit the inlabitants go to hed earlier, hua Mt. Lewis does not even allege that Penarth hells have disturhed his sleep on a Saturday night.
And then thr! 'hinconas din of the Sabbath." What does MEn. Lrwis know of his\% We woutlel suggest he should make a little personal intestigation, and that his inquiries should not, be limited to those who Euffer from "nerves.' Fixaggeration is easy in an aftempl to bolster un an ampty cause, and Mr. Lewis falls inlo this common error. We only refer to these two things hecause they are the only two definitr 'reasons' for the supplession of riuging which Mr. Lewis has apparentry yee bran nible to sitrance.
Wr notice that funds are being gatherent for the campaign, and we motice also that. Mr. Lewis does not sign as 'honozary' secretary. Maybe he is going to throw fimself into this campaign for purging the country of the firs 1 , and presumably, therefore, the greatest. of publin nusances, in a volmatary capacily. If he is, we hope he has pleaty of leisure, for he will need it by the time he has convinced tha dountry that its church bells are a publie nuisance. The are afrair, if \(\hat{F}\) e chatries this campaign to a successfil issue, be will liave to leave the ' other public nuisances which are to be tarkled in a that at the moment he does not entumerate them. At the same lime, We are glacl of the information that a busybody is goint to Irv io intertero with the existing state of lhings. To tue forewnrned is to he Forearmed.: tire thall await witio interest Mr. Lewis's promised ' tull reperi of the formation of this sonjety, together with the long list of infinentin) and well-known people whis are on the governing committee or whon have mamised financinl and moral support to the nrganisalion.'

\section*{SPLICED-METHUD RINGING}

MR. FIDLER'S ARTICILES TO BE PUBLISHED AS A BOOFLE'L', Ghe series of artieles by Mr. John P. Fidler, giving practical hints on rigging atal splicing vinos mothods, which has appeared in reaeni issueg of 'The Ringing World,' has been of great interest to SixBul! ringers, and form ihe first real explanation of this fascinatines subject which las been pur info print,
'lhe wanner in which the subject has been treated has thown ars entirely new light on the practical side of splicing, and originated witls ihe Rer. A. T. Beeston, who was first to develop the plan, Mr. Firlier's exposition of this scheme oi ringing mumerous methods in true extents las been ably written, and is a valuable contribution to the literalure of practical ringing.

Tlue splicing of methods will doublless become a popular way of ringing Minor in the future, the mare so as fts attractions hecomp known. It may not always be possible, however, for ringers to keep by them the sopies of 'The Ringing World,' containing the articlesthere is always the danger of their being lost or destroyed, or not loing at land when wanted.
It is, theref se, proposed, both with the idea of encouragisg splicedmethod mogimg and for the convenience of ringers, to reprint IJT. Fiditer's articlen in booklet form, with the addition of a general introdumion to the subject, by \(\mathrm{Mr}^{\text {r }}\). Joseph W. Parker, of Sunderland, nnil the figures of somo furthev extents-in which six and eight mothods aro emplovel-hy Mr. E. H. Lewis and Mr. Parker.
In this way the publication will form a complete hook of justruction upon Minor Methorl splicing, which will make it a standard work uparb the subject, and one which should find a place on every ringer's bookslielf:

A futher nnnouncement with regerd ta the publication will be made ill our dext issue.

\section*{SOMETHING TO GET ON WITH.}

The peal ring on the bells at Martiey (which are over 250 mears old) makes the 100 th pead which W. Ranford and C. Camm Fave rung together. It was also the sixth peal that R. G. Knowles has rung ori this ald ring, each time ringing a different bell, add having a difterent conductor.
Byringing in llae peal of Double Norwich ot Lye on Saturany last, Mr. Chas. R, Lilley, of Slirewsbury, has now joined the rather small hand of men who luave rugg a peal on the lighlest and the heariest ring in the country.
As will be seen from a notice elsewhere in this issue, a ringing meeling in connection with the roopening of Mamchester Cathedral hells is to be lacld on Novemijer 14tl.

\section*{WHY THE PEAL WAS LOST.}

A party of wiltshire tingers attempteri a peal at one of the ueighbouring villages ou Saturday, October 17th. The jovial f captain of ringers met them and took then to the tower, where, after he lita departed, the cloor was secured by means of a large wroden stake propped up from the foor. Two hours after, in the midst of sonje splendid ringing, the door rattled, and a hamd appeared throsting flap stake to one side. Tho door whs then thrust open, and a heamirg countenance. fringed with whiskers, looked in and remarked. "Fon'w 'ad a main peal, ain't yep' This was too much for the vingers, whom turst into uncontrollable laughter, and the peal lad to be stopped, with filty minutes to go.

\section*{WHAT IS IN A NAME?}

Dear Sict-I read will delight tite letter of Mr. Trollope, ta your issue ot July 31st, on Nomenchature, aud agtee with the whole of it. I think it is a greal pity that (to quote Mr. Trollope) such an able and well-writter doenment' should be wasted on such a pirling subject. Why such a combination of ability as that which is possessed by tho members of this commilee was not turned to work which js mole needed, and of greater use to the Exorcisc, I can't see. That Listory of the Exproise wants wriling up, and the register of all compositions is of wital import for insiance. 1 have no wonder that the Press laughs at our babbling, but perlaps my intellect is weaker than tiat of the committee, and my perception stultified that I should think their pet foibles ale really of value to no one except their personal ranities. Their report and findings will be wasted because ringers will still fing peals under the names they hayo always used, and associations wil put them in their reports, and the Editor will still publisil them-they dare no do otherwise, as we ring to please ourselves, and we please ourselwes in our own pet tay.

Wly can't the committee get to business and pablish a hook on how to splite, and ring all blese motlods, no matier what their names may be? That would be of real use to the Exarcise. But no. The next mave will be to appaint a subecommitfee to petition all borougt conacils to change the mames of all the Trinity Strcels and Trinity Squares, and even the samous Trinity House of lighthouse control forme might have to be scliristened; for if "Trinity' is not a suitable name for a church bell method, then it certainly is ubit the name to apply to a dirby slum street. Or we might appoint a uab-sub-committee to prepare a report on whether a name is common or abstract; and Thether methods are masculine, feminine or neuter; and whether masculise Deliglats could be spliced with ceutev Ireble Bobs, and whether ferninine florals possess red or white corpuscular shunts. All this would be quite as useful as the present subject the committee are 'spending' their time on,
Mr. Drake's Jetter in the issue of August 7th is a truly valiant effort to juskify liz slare in an invidious position. Mr. Thollope anay have a bad case; I shoult say from my knowledge of him that lie iz rather patting limself on the back that #e leas not been dragged into this 'hash up of names, and I am rahter pleased that fliat is so. Mr. Drake must allow me to point out to laim that, if the Council's doings in the past, were aapablo of being abused, it is no excuse for present and future committees to merit abuse; rather should they profit by the shortcomings of Mr. Firoliope-if he had anz. Mr. Drake seems to irfer so in his letter. However that may be, I shouid Say that if Mr. Drake is conrect in his surmise, Mr. Trollope is to be congrafulated on seeing the crror of his mays, and I lope the remainder of the erying onez will follow the rerw excellent example of Mr. Trollope, and aut themselwes adrift from these erring ways and nomenclatire debacles: and help \(\mathrm{MH}_{\mathrm{H}}\). Trollope to compile s Nofes by the Way,' such as be lias published in your recent issues. These are solid truth: bhey are what I have always thought and preached for Fears and years, but my spratax is so terrible that \(I\) was unable to puf it before the Exerciso in the form that we see it fo-day and my bat is off to 'J. A. T.' for his able exposition of mhat the Council's duties really are. If we mant to ring a peal of Grandsire Major, why do we do so? Q.E.D. because pleases the aight men who ring it, and the Council or Guild that says we must not do so is "barking up the wrong tree. And the paper that refused to pulish it: the Guital that barred it from thoir report, and the Council that dit not inclade it in the apalysis, sould be acting against their own interests. It miglaf be an "irregular" method, but if it was a well rung and true peal it would be at least a pleasure to those mho rang it, and j I was in the band \(I\) should recommend all dissenting comonitfees to ssit up and take nourishment from the wery escellent and rery instructive "Notes br the Way" of Mr. Twollope. The 'green fly "surn is in the flower garden this year. Is Mr. Trollope official spraper? I Mancluria.

\section*{RINGER'S SELVER WEDDING.}

To commemorate the silver wedding of Mr . and Mrs. Jack Avis, on Friday, Octoler 16th, an attempt for a peal of Minor at Milfon-uextGravesend, was abandoned, owing to the late arrival of two of the band, but 720 of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and a touch of Carmbridgg weze rung, the ringers taking patt boing J. Aris, G. Ambrose, G. Morrad, G.Jones, Fis. Beer, Q.-M.-S. J. Bennett, H. Holder, A. Hill, Tho ringers then proceded to the resideuce of Mr. and Mra. Avis, whose hospitality was much appreciated. Around the festipe boned the towers repregented were Grawesend, Mitton, Clathan and Erith, with frients from Faversham and Gravesend, also the hon. secretary of the Lewisham district, Mr. A. Fill. The toast of the evening was given, with sincere wishes that Mr. and Mrs. Aris would continue to have good health, and see mayy more years of wedded life. Handbells and songs ware afterwarts the arder. At midnighk, a very enjopable evening came to a close. The riagers take this oppormanigy of thanking Mr. and Mrs. Avis for their kiud hospitality; also the Rector of Milton (the Rev. G. Wr. Mennie) for the use of the bells.

CREWE BRANCH VISIT SANDBACH
The Crewe and District Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild held a most enjoyable ireeting at Sinduach oll Saturtiay, Oet. 17th. Despite the inclement weuther which prevailed there was an excellent muster of 33 members, representing Crewe, Nantwich, Ighfield, Wis taston, Lawton, Dhyonham, aud also the locai tower. During the afternoon and eveniag, the members rang touclies of Grandsire Triples, stedman Triples, Bob Major, Keat Treble Bob Major, Oxiord Treble Bol, Major, Cambridge Surprise Major, and Double Norwich Court thob Major.
A substantisl tea was propided, and at the meeting which followed. the Branch Secretary (Mr. R. D. Langfori) informed the members of the alteration in the date of the opening of the Norbury bells, which lad now been fixed for October 31st, instead of Nov. 21sí. The Acton mecting would be held on Nov. 14th.
Mr. W. Holding (Crewe) noved a hearty vote of thanks to the Whar (the Rev. J. H. Armitstead) for so kindly providing tea, and also for the use of the excellent bells. He spoke of the pleasure it gave to the memhers to wisit Sandbach, and said it was over twenty years since the annual meeling whe held there. He hoped it would not be long before Saudhech would ngain be selected (hear, hear).
Mr. R. T. Holding (Crewe) seconded, and said he was glad to find so many members pretsent despite the bat weather.
The motion was carried unanimously. and, the Vicar responding, said he was delighted to welcome them. Their thanks were due to the ladies, who had so kindly arranged the tea.

\section*{LONDON'S BELLS.}

Just two years ago a suggestion was made in this column that the ringing societies of London might get together with a view to endeavouring to bring about an improved condition of affairs in the belfres of the Metropolis, Up to the present nothing has been done. It is an acknowledged fact that same of the towers in London are anong the worst cared for in the country, and this is certainly not creditable to the authorities who are responsible for the upkeep of the fabric and the furnishings of the churches. Many peals of bells are in such a neglected state as to be almost unringable, and they are gradually falling into disuse. There is in this a cause for regret, particularly in view of the gradual closing, from various reasons, of other towers for peal ringing. For instance, among the eight twelve-bell towers there are only two which are freely available for peal ringing. There are, we believe, sixteer peals of ten within what may be termed London's inner radius, but how many of these are regularly rung and how many are available for regular peal ringing? How often now does one read of any noteworthy performance at towers like Christ Church, Spitalfields; St. James's, Clerkenwell ; St. Dunstan's, Fleet Street-to mention only three out of the many rings of eight?

What does it all point to? That the majority of towers in London are closed to ringers, unless under exceptional circumstances. Surely there are some among the 'derelicts ' that mikght be recovered for ringing if among the ringers of London some sort of united effort could be made. In might be an uphill task, and at the outset, perhaps, a discouragitg one, but a steady application to the object would nost assuredly result, in the long run, in improvements here and there. Joint action by the various London socicties would, we feel convinced, be the best method of tackling the problem. It may bristle with difficulties, but to adopt an attitude of indifference is only to set a bad example to those whose apathy is largely responsible for the condition of many of the rings of bells in the Metropolis. We are not quite sure, however, that it is entirely indifference that has resulted in nothing being done by the ringing societies. It may be they feel they cannot press bell restorations in churches where they could not offer to provide service ringers. That is one of the chief difficulties which wouid confront any committee formed to deal with the subject, but we venture to think it is not entirely insurmountable; indeed it opens an additional avenue for effort in the training of more ringers. There is, however, another obstacle, we thiak, to any combined action, and one that we should like to see removed. Under the surface in London there is a certain amount of jealousy between rival socicties, which erects a barrier against any kind of joint working. If only this spirit could be removed and a little more mutual good-will introduced, much, we are sure, might, with time, be accomplished. The peal ringing facilities in London are being gradually narrowed, athel if the societies which centre in and overlap the Metropolis are to "keep the lhag flying 'they will have to get fresh towers avalable in which to mantain the art.

\section*{SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.}

Favoured witly beaukiful weather, upwards of 40 members and friends attended a quarterly meeting at Kingswintord. The bells were set going soon after three o'clock, and amongst the methodg rung were London and Cambridge Surprise, Plain Bob and Eent Theble Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples. A short service was held in church, when a helpful address was delivered by the Rev. A. H. Messiter (Vicar). A capilal tea was provided in the Schoolroom
The Rev. C. F. Barker (clerical secretary and treasurer) reported having made applications to the respective bocal superintendents of the L.M.S. and G.W. Raitways re reduced fares for ringers, and the replies received from them, as well as ono from the Clearing House, were not of a hopeful nature.
A hearty yote of thanks was tendered the Ficar for his address, the use of the bells, ete., and to the ladies who arranged and served the tea.
The next meeting is fired to fake place on January 9th, at Wednesbury.

\section*{DEATH OF A COLLEGE YOUTH.}

MR. J. C. SMITH SUCCUMBS ro EFFLCTS OF WAR gERVICE. A lalented musician, bs well as a ringer and a member of the Anciont Socioty of College Youlls, Mr. Josepli Cubith Smilh died at Friston, Sussex, on Oetober 16th. Fad he lived until the 2last be would have been 42 years of age, Deceased was the sor of Mr. Wialiam D. Snitit, late superintonient of the E.C. District Ofice of the London Postal Service, now rosiding at 8, The Arenue, Eastborme, and a broilier of Mrs. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitcohapel Foundry. Mr. J. C. Smilh was well kuown to the older generation of Colloge Touths, aurl althaugli he never took part in a peal, he was always interested in ringing. On several oceasions he had takeu na orchestrn to the Colloge Youtha aunual dimner, and he was, like his sister, the expert hamboll ringer.

The late Mr. Smith served from the outhreak of the war in the postal section of the R.E., that as a result of his service with the colours le contracted pleurisy, which dereloped into pulmonary tuberculosis. He made a mosi grillant fight against this insidious disease, to mbich, uninappily, he linally succumbed.
Besides being a proficient performer on a nunber of instrumente he was a keen student of classieal musie, of which he had a valuable collection. After baving to retize from the postal sarvice through the breakdown of his health, he joined the orehestra at Devonshirs Park Theatro, Eastbourne, and took a keen interest in local musical affairs. He also helped materially to resuscilate the Theosophical Socieiy in Fastbourne, which owes its present sound position to bis efforts.

The funcral took place on October 20th, at Ocklynge Cemetery, Fastbourne, when He Rer. A. B. Evans, Yicar of Friston, officiatod, and many beautiful foral tributes weve received.
At the meetiog of the College Youths, on October 20th, a vote of condolence with the bereaved family was passed. Mr. Smilh Leaves a widow and a son (aged five years) to motrin their loss.

\section*{FIFTY YEARS OF CHURCH WORK.}

Mr. Algernon Newman, of St. Mary's, Rawtenstall, has now completed 50 years' service as a church worker. A mative of Wootton Waven, Warmick, he wis a chorister in the church there whem a boy. Moving to Chipping Campdien he again joinet the chair, and chimed the bells for service. Going North, be tras stationell for some time at Workington and Barrow-in-Furness, where he joined the Cumberland Assoeiadion of Change Ringers. Busimess again cauged him to move to Heywood, and finally to Ravienslall, where he has now resided 26 years, and has been aetively itentified with the churnla and ringers there evel' since \section*{BELFRY GUSSIP.} Lingham, where a peal of spliced Stedman and Grandsira Caters lias been rung. The ingenions composilion is the product of Ilie fertils brain of Mr. A. J. Pilman, of Porl Trabat, and we hope lo publjsh the figures hext weck. The peal consista of 2,556 changes of Stedratil nad 2,521 of Grandsire.

The 1,000th geal by the Society for the Archdeaconrs of Stinford was rang at Blakenlail, Wolverhampton, last week.
After several years in Moxico, Mry. James H. Bastow has relurned to Blackbuita, Lanes, and on Saturday rang the tenor to a 'welcome home peal of Stedman Triples.

Neweastle Cabhedral Guild has scored a Masonic peal with n fancl of Sunday Service ringers, except for one honorary member. When is 'the Ringers' Lodge to be formen?
"Six hats will bo given to the company who ring the best found peal for the space of 30 minutes. This novel olfer accompanied thit announcement of the opening of the bells at Glinton, near Peterborough, which took place an Norember 11th, 1799. It would be interesting ta know who was the donor of the hats, and who were the winners. The bells were a ring of six, cast and lung by Thoma= Osborn, of Downham, Norfolk.

On Oct. 8th, 1888, a peal of 6,720 London Surpriso Major was runt at Burton.
The jubilee of the first peal by the Yorkshire Association oceurs next weck. This was rung on November 9th, 1875, at Holy Trinity, Hull, and was Holt's six-part peal of Guadsire Triples, conducted by the late Mr. Clatles Jackson. This event should be fitingly celebrated in the consty of broad acres,
The first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major in Liverpool wes rung on November 9ih, 1800.
The Society of Cumberland Youths \(\operatorname{Hang}\) a peal of 5,136 Orford Troble Boh Maximus nt Southwark on Nor. 10th, 1766.

Mr. William C. Rumsey, of Deherham, has lad a unique, aud, ן世1haus, a lucky experience in his ringing at Framlingham. Framblinefam is eiglat miles from Defenham, and in eight euccessive attempes he has rung eight peals in Dic tower, and on each oecasion has rung a differenl bell, the number of methods being six. It has taken ATH: Rumsey over trenty years to do it, but the "cirele, or should it be the 'octagon'? was completed with the peal of Stedman Triples recorded in our issue of October 16th.

The policemen of Manchester have scored another petl. It is fortunate for them that the threatened Act of suppression is not yet passed, otherwise the dock justead of the witness-bor might haw been their future lot.
The retoration of the bells at Burbed, Sussex, is being earried ont by Messes. Menta and Stainbank.

\section*{1,111 720's.}

To ring one thousand one lundred and eleven 720's of Minol, and to keep count of them all, is the noteworthy achievement of Mr. K Clinkard, of the Oxford Socicty. He reached the 'four ones, when he took part in 720 Kent Treble Bob at St. Mary Magtalere's Church, Oxford, on Sunday evening, Oct. \(25 t h\), the band boing H, Tolleg 1, F. Clinkard 2, G. Stace 3, W. Collett 4, C. Coles 5, W. F B. Wilkins (concuctor) 6 .

WHERE THE SOCIETY WHLE MEET TO-MORROW.
St. Michnel's, Paternonter Royal, situnted on Colloge Hill, in the City of London, where the College Fouths will hold their service tomorrow, prior to heir nnmal dinner, was the birthplace of the Ancient Sociely. Sir Rieland Whitlington founded the College, together with some almghouses, mull the old chureh atilached to the College possessed a peal of six belis.

THE FIRS' " HOME OF THE COLTFGE YOLTHE,
Here the young gentlemen of the neighbourlood used to amuse thetaselves by chiming the bells in rounds. Some of them were members of the uristocracy, and in 1637, on the 5th of November, they founded the society.
They called themsolwes 'College Youths,' and thoir object was to practise and promote the art of riuging. Anmong those associaterd with the formation of the society were Lord Broreion, Sir Cliff Clif1011, the Marguis of Salisbury, Lord Dacre, some of the city aldernen, and many gentemen in the neighbonrinood of the College. Eor कume time only rounds aud cal! changes were rung, bul, in time, they sludied thange ringing, and eventually achieved 100 of Rob Doubles. This was, it is supposed, alrout 1642. Litile progress, however, wiz made, until about 1677. when Fabian Stedman, the Cambridge printel", published bis 'Campanologia,' and dediented it to the society, of which be was an honoured member.
But this later arlvance in change ringing was not made at the chureh on College Hill. St. Michael's, with ils tower and six bells, was swepl away in the greal fre of 1666 , and was rebuitt from Wren's designs. and finished is 1694. The lantern and turrel, bowever, were not whled until 1713, and alas, the tower has siner contained only onc bell. It was originelly cast by John Eodson in 1674, and was recas in 1892 at the Whitechapel Foundry.

\section*{OPENING UP A NEW FIELD. A STANDARD WORK ON 'sPLICING.'}

All ilial is best in six-bell melhods has, it is believed, been abInimed, and most of it tas been included in the Central Council'x Collection. A few years ago, however, seven true extents could nol be tung unless it was made up of seven melliods, or of less meilods with one or more of them repeated. Liut recent advances in ringing lanve shown that it is possible to put guite a number of mefhods into a true 720, so coupled togethor that clanges come in perfect seguenco anci rounds, or any other change, occurs only once in the 720 .

A Lew bands late pureud this branch of Minor ringing, and have proved it a fascinating stucy. Up to the present, 35 methods have been included in a peal of 5,040 changes, but even that large number is not the limit, and the future of Minor singing lies, we beliere, in the direction of spliciuy-it is at any rate the only direction at pruscth open for advance. Regular Minor ringeran-and others who only ring on six belfs occasionally-will find, therefore, that to keep paea with llie limes, they must understand method splicing.

Until the Thinging World' published the recent series of arlicles Ly Mr. J. P. Fidler, the subject was little inderstood, bui Mr. Fiuler lus thrown a flow of light upon this interesting form of ringing, ant mumerous bands are now laking their first steps in "splioing.' The linging World' articles stired interest in and a desire for closer atreunintance with the subject, but a fav more convenient means of study would be provided if all the information were collected under one cover.
This we propose to facilitate by reprinting Mr. Fidler² articles ju book form, and supplementing the work by an exposition on splicing gemerally (Mr. Fider lawing devoted timself primeipally to the practiwal application of the problem) written \(b_{j}\) that woll-known authority, Mr. Joseph W. Parker, of Sunderland. In addition the book will contajir on number of spliced extents, employing in their consfruction sis and eight methods, go that in its complele form it will be a standard wark upan the subject.
We anticipate a big demand for this publication, because interest in 'splicing ' does not rest merely with those who slesire to ring peals. Serrice and practice ringing will receive added interest if a band can ring a spliced 720 containing anything up to eight methods, insfead of being confined to one only.

\section*{CHEAP RAILWAY TRAVELLING FACILITIES}

\section*{To the Editar.}

Dear Sir, As your readers are aware, efforts lave been made to ohtain cheaper travelling facilities, and, as you poinfed out last week, 1 regret without success. I had, howerer, a final interriew with onc of the representatives at the Railway Clearitg Fouse on Thulsday, and he was good enougi to explain to me the gencral point of wicw of the of her side, and what their difinculties were. Donbtiess, if we could surmount these, and try again at some future date, we migha Iopu to have, in my opinion, a more favourable result.

The subject may well be one for discussion at the Council's meeting at Ipswich next yeat.- Youte faithfully:
1. ALEX. YOUNG,

Hon. Sec., Central Council.

\section*{155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.1.6.}

We are informed by Mr. H. Haigh, loon. secretary of the Norlh Notts Association, that in and around Doncaster District the London and North-Eastern Railway Co. are granting return tickets to rimgerc at single fare on Saturdays only. This is a considerable concession, and ought to open the way to further negotiation.

\section*{THE EIRST PEAL AT STOCKTON, SALOP.}

On Saturiay last the first peal was rung upon the lovely ring of sis at live Church of St. Chad, the conductor of St. Chad's, Slirewsbury, being invited to conduct this first peal on them. The Rector (the Rev. T. H. P, Hyett) met the ringers at the end of the performance, as did also some of the local men, who did not take part, and congratulated them on the excellent striking from stant to finish. Afterwards, by kind invitation of the Rector snd his wife, the local ringers were entertained to a meat fea at the Rectory, and a pleasant. Two liours were spent in the study. The Rector expressed his appieciation of the services of the ringers, and lie was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his kind hospitality.-The Rector thanked Mr. Liller for coming over to Stocktan for the occasion, he haring ridden 18 miles to get there, some part of the journey being over very hilly country. The Rector told the ringers he proposen to have a board erccted to record the first peal ever rung al Stockton, rad hoped they would soon score another.
These liells were rehung by Messys. Taylor and Co. about 1890, and the 'go' is perfect.

THE: EVOLUTION OF NAMES-HISTORY IN THTLES. By J. APMIGER TROLLOPE.
The Rev. Mr. Herbert brake is, 1 understand, wat at all pleaseri with me. 1 have, so if seems, abused the committee, of which he is so distinguished an ortament. I have not played the game, imasnuch as when criticising that commitled 1 said the same thing twice lout in different form. But the head and front of my offending is lhat my criticism has not been conetuctive eriticism; I lave not helper the commitlee. True, Mosl true. Hut then 1 did not infend to help the comastiee; rather, in fact, I wanted to hinder them, and so far as in me lay, to brag their scheme to nought. Let us grant to the full i'tis bui justice) their good inteations and their genera] ubilities; but I have yet to learn that good intentions give a man intunnity from error, or that general ability is any adequate substithte for tecluical knowledge.
The committec tells us that in the naming of methorls ' a state of alacost indescribable confusion has arison,' and gives that as the reason for proposing traslic changes afiocting the titles of methods past, present, and to come. I totally deny the truth of the statenient. When you look at the names used for methods, you will certainly find \(\pi\) lade of any casi-iron system io guile their selection, hut could you expect it? or should you wish it?
For more than three humdred years men have been inventing and urming, and ringing new methods, and these names are witnesses io the progress and hisfory of the art. The ancients' ideals in method maning may mat be lioc sanue as ours are todry, but they haci perlecily good reasons for whal they did, and often gou can leam a lot by studying the names they used. But of this our committee appears to take no heed.
For instauce, the method Mr. Drake uses as an illustration-Lon Hou Scholars' P'leasure. Apparently to him London is the name of the method, and Pieasute a classification subtitle, as Troble Bob is. Of 'Scholars' he can make neither head nor tail. It is rather brulal to tell नhim the truilh, but I think it ought to be done.
During the seveutcenth and early eighitentla centuries a good many ringing socinties were formed, and their custom was usually to call \({ }^{1}\) Jemselves Fouths or Schelars. Why, I do not know, but ihere is no reason why they should not have done so it they thought fit.
Anong these were the 'Schollers of Chepesyde ' (founded in 1603), the Norwich Scholars, the Eastern Scholars, the College Youths (not ihen ancient), the Union Scholars, the City Scholars, the Cambridge Youths, and flue London scliolare. Dolemin was a member of this lass, and their performarees included the first peal of Gramdsite Calms, rung at St. Bride's Fleet Street, on January 1 Th \(h_{1}\), 6.006 Grandsire Cinques on March 14th, 1727, at St. Martin's-in-the Fields (the first peal on the bells), and 6,204 in the same method at Se. Mifhael'z, Cormhill, in 1729. These were three very notable per formances, aud shor that the society included some very skillat ringers.

Fsactly what happener to it is not quite certain, but the Lratition is that it did nol dio ont, as did the Union Scholars, the Eastern sicholars, and most of the others, bat it changed its name, and contimues to this day. In \(1^{7} 45\) or 6 , the Duke of Cumberlmad returned to Lomion, after the batile of Culloden, which ended the last armed rising in favcur of the csiled Sthats. On his way to the City be possed St. Leonard's, Sloneditich, where the London Sctolars were ringing to weleome liin. He was pleased with the ringing. and sent and complimented the performers, who wore so gratified by the princely condescension that they changed their name, and thereafter berame filu Saciety of Royal Ctumberland Youtlas; and so continue to this day.
This was the societr, and lont bofore they aspited to Grandsiye Caters or Cinques they were, like alt the others, six-bell ringers. They lad their favourite methoris, and one espeeiaty, when, if I delightt in, that they celled it by their own name-London Scholars' pleasure.
That is the liskory of the methorls" name. It takes us back to the ently days of the lixercise, and comects us with the men whose leirs we are. But the committee cares for none of these things. They da noi understand the mame; they think it unsuitable, and wothld firaw a wet sponge across it and nll its associations.
Mr. Burton is no happier in his illustration. He is consumed by a zal for simplicity. When you are in the tower, he tells us, you do not say 'Go Double N̄orwjel Court Boh Major.' Yous say, "tio Double Norwicla.' And even then there is one word too many: Norwidh alone would suffice. Siet us Elien get rid of all these superfloous words, and especially the wort " Rob,' which is ridiculous.
Naw I suppose there is no name of a method or any other ringing term which is so eloqueut of the life and progress of clange ringing as the name of Double Norwich Count Bot Major. Tach of the five walds stands for an important fact in the history of the art. ft fook more than a lmadred yoars hefore the full (itle was evolved, and each word was adoptecl to marle the recognition of an importana trullo.

Tho first scientific ringing that was practised was the olkl plan changes, the priacipio of which is that inc bells nornally theep the snme position, and that individual bells called 'Hunts' were moved mmong them. I'lhis form of ringing, which superticially somewhat resembles mokern 'Stoney, was developed with great skill by Tabian Stedman and other seventeentls century ringeres. It was in construction quite as scientific as modern method ringing, but was hound to be monotonous to the ringers ather than the conductor, and in due oourse gave way Lo 'Cross Peals.' In \(n\) 'Cross Peal,' all tho bells nomanally plationimited, nut to get variety nad fresh clanges, dodging lad bo be introdnced. This codging was called a bob-why, is pretty obvicus. The distinetion between the dodging of the method and the called bob did not appear till hater. Thus, Stedman tells ug that in Crandsire Doubles thero are fwo sorts of bob, one simgle and the other douhle, which corrospond to whai we now cell a plain lead end and a bobbucl lead end. Nom, as the difference hetween melhod and methor cousisted solely in the wry and posilion these dodges or babs wore made, it was natural that mon should spenk of them and treat them as if they were the methar. Thus, the name Grandsire Roly really menns that arrangement of dodging, which we call Grandsire; is ollher words, it really means the Grandsire method.
As ringing developed, it was found necessary for the conductor to tell the ringers when to make sone of the dodges; and, to do so, ho naturally used the word "toob, which is shatp and to the pointi, and meanswhat it says; but other dodges were none the loss bobs, thongla they were not called. Nor was there any fixed tule as to which bolis shotild be called, and which understood by the ringers.
In Garthon's peal of Graudsire Triplea, the vastonn was, in some places at any rato, to call only the Fifta's place bobs, and leave the ordinary Guanclsire Third's place hob to the indivittaal ringer. Beforin the first quarter of the eighteenily contury had passed, the present fistinction between the dodges, which are the metion, and the hobs, which tre the composidiett, had been evolved.
A thited use of the word lrob survives. This is in the difle Treble Hob, which neans exactly what it says-at methorl in which the treble dodyes.
So we have threa dislinct uses of this word: all are ditectly due to the original and natural use of the terme "The word "bob," as the etaivalent of 'method,' has in quite recent times been resiricted to a parlfoular class of methad, but this is only carrying out a tendency which has for very long existed. And there is not and never has been any confusion or misuaderstancing from this triple use of the word, either in practice ar in theory.
Whon ringers began to practise diferent metlods fiey naturally begrn to give them names to rlistinguish one From another, und like any olher people they had virious reasons for those names. Some marth the comection of a method with a particular town. as Gamburidge Surprise or Oxford Bob. Some were called by the name of the society who first rang lisern, as College. Bob, Union Bob, or London Scholars' Fleasure. Some were merely fancy names, such hz 'Planix,' or "What You Please," or 'Paradox.' Some were descriplive names, sucli as Grandsire, or Crambo, or Old Donbles. And one of these tames was Court Bok, a very good mame which I suppose slowhl be included in the faneg names.

Court Boh originally was a six-bell method. In fact, until nearly tho end of the seventeenth century all tinging of practicslly all singing. Has fye and Eix-bell ringing. Stedman bes no move than a fairly long paragraph on changes in eight bells, and even this is taken ap matinly by explaiuing how to ring six-bell methons on eight bells willt \(4-8\) behind, or five-hell meljods with \(7-4.8\) behind, 'whidt has of late been practised by the College Youths, and excellonliy well performed by them." But when we get to the dighteentl enmtury ringers are beginning to make use of all the eight bells for danges. What they airl was to try and extend the five and six-hell clanues. What they aid was to try and extend the five and six-hell to have some term to distinguislo the differentr numbers of bells. Doubles, of course, would tho for five bells, for you hard double changes, end Triples for seven. But the first plan of ealling six-hell ringing 'Trebles and Doubles' was cumbersome. And now you have a method rung on hoth six and eight bella. What hetter way could You have of deseribing thom than to call one ' Minor' and the othor
' Major'? A Roval ' for ton Jells was to come later and this was a mosil lappy thonght, whosenocver it was. Marimus for twelwe was fairly obvious.
Court Roh was one of the most popular of six. Well methods, as it deserved to be. Sn it was natural Ihat when men hat accomplishod Geandsire Triples, Rob Major amil Troble Bob Major, that Hiey sionald burn their attention to Courl Bob on eight bells. But Court Boh Minor, dhough il is very simple and regular in construction, has mo obviatusly correct extension like Plain Bob or Grandsim or Treble T3ob has. Why, wo need not now stop lo inquire. And so it was that almost every band that tried to produce Cowt Bob Major got different methorl. Theten at loasi were rang. When John Reeves (Continued at foot of nixi page, column 2.)

\section*{OPENING OF NORBURY BELLS}

UOMLLELLON OF GRFAT SCHEME IN GHESHIRE TOWER.
A fostival week in connection wilh the dedieation of the new ring 0f eighit betls at Normury, Chestire, began on Oet. 24th, whea the bells and the new chancel, frit of a greater church restoration schene, wero thediented and the chancel consecrated by Lhe Bishop of Choster (Dr. Paget.). There was a large atbendance of clergy and public. The service itseli was an impressive one, and the Bishop's homely address was based upan the words of Faggaj, 'Erom this day will I bless you." Il was an extraordinary happiness to he anontel them lhat afternoon, he said. St, Thomas' \(\mathrm{g}_{1}\) Norbury, wha one of tho patimas in which le was parbieularly interested, for when he firs, came there he had to appoint a new Vicar of the parish. It was noti in his gift, but foe was askerl to advise, and they would agree Hat lue made a happy choise. From that day forwards he had always been struck with two thinge: One was that they at Norbury west nu extraordinarily united set of people, amongst whom there had never bean a suggestion of division on disunfon. Anolher thise was that they were also and extraordinary latd-working and earmest lat of people, wha knew how to put their shoulders to the wheel and can"y a big business through. It was an extraordimary lappiness on woning to dedicate suctu desirable and beauliful additions to the cladeh as thase with wheh they were coneerned that day, to know and feel that they latd been given by a people who belicved in tefighon, in the celigion of Jesus Chrish, and who believerl in the Chareh of England as a true hranch of Christ's looly Catholte Clnarch. Fis looclship pointed out that there were cases where people had hom so trent on bailding Their owis houses that they had shown arten slacknose in providing for the laouse of Goal. They had their flubs, Lheir shops, their cimemas and generally two or three publiehouses, but sometines it was a litbe difthent to fiod adequate provision in the slape of a churgh. He sumposed it must have been like that in the days of Faggai, and then when the people dicl begin to huild in earnest for God, Haggai was able to say; "I beliere fron this day further God wilf bless you.' In Norbury there luad from this day further God will bless you.' In Norbury there had ilisplay of eoergs, aud th adrlitious to the fabric.

\section*{BELLS A GENUINFLY GHRTSTTAN THING.}

Heferring to the bells, the Bishop said they had a particular intercst for Christian people, because, first of ald, they were a genuincly Christian thing. The old licathen religions either had littio tinkling bells or elanging cynbals, and it was not unilil Christian times came that people began to make those bells, which were the genuine ancestors of beatitul bells like their own It could not bo said thint whilst completing the rew peal they lud failed to proserve the old teds. It was not abazs so, fol he latd only recently come across a down to provide new oves. At Norbury, on the contrary, they hat shown a worthy determination to preserve things which had a history and to which old associalions clung. His lordship sent on to real witls church bells from different standpoints, beginning with that of their Cturistian origin and their andiquity. Regauding their Fande in remincing hearers of the clams of Divine worship, he made reftence to Millet's famous picture of the peasants engaged at their Chele work stopping at the sound of the belis. Wedrling bells if they iempted some to thitu and speak of broken marriage, losi lave and rained homes, were also usefal in ealling upon them to pray that liod's blemsing would rest upan those who were entering upon one of the mosi sacred of undertakings.
In adrition to the local ringers, there were present at the sevvice the Rev. C. A. Clementa, Master of the Chester Guitd; Hi. E., W. Nwelt, general hon. secretary ; Mr. J. H. Jachuan, branch clair-

\section*{" A GREAT RESTORATION SCHEME}

There are few instances of charch restoration and improvement in which greater courage and enterprise lave been shown than ia the Norbury
The naterations lanve included lime extension of the chancels extension of the vestrjes; repair and the reslating of the roof: outside painting renewal of the windows; removal of the organ from the west gallery: re-seating of the galleries; the installation of electric lighting decorations througlout; outsite paitting, and the recasting of tour beffg and tha addition of four now ones, making a peal af aght instearl of six.
It is estiniated that the total cost will he over e5,000. The amount in hand is 64,700 , and it is lioped to raise the remainder by means the week's fertival.
The old bells manc originally from Disloy Clutch. Two, now hang in tho wast poreh, date from 1617, and rie inseribed: Jesus be our gpeed,' and 'God kave the King. The oller four date from 1682. 1748,1750 and 1837. The oldest of these wis rewast in 1873. The ald and the now inseriptions are as follows:

No. 1.-(Peter Lee, Esc(., 1750). Recast 1925, as the gift of the Nonconformists of Hazel Grove. "Behald, how geod and joytal a thing it is, brethren, to dwell together in unily.

No. 2.-(Peter Lee, Lord of Lime, 1748). Recast 1925. In memory of the men of this patish whe gave Wheir fives in the Greal War, 1914-1918. 'For God, King, and Country.

No. 3.-Ringers' Bell, 1925, In memory of Private Herbert wilLiemson, Loyal North Lanes Regiment, who died December 15th, 1918, aged 38, far many years a ringer at this church.

No. 4-Dedicated by the Freemasons of Hazel Grore and district 1925. (Squate and compasses). "Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth."

No. 5.-(God sare this church. Thomas Legh, Esq., Lyme Park, 1837). Recust 1925.

No. 6.-(All people may betole and see the works of good Sir Peter Legh, 1682, recast 1873). Recast 1925.

No. 7.-Te Deum Landamus. A thankofforig from the congregation, 1925.
No. 8. -Nisi Dominus Frustra, 1925.
Athur James Humplireys, B.A., B.D., vicar; Edward Donovan Recman, B.A., eurate: Jolin W. Fernley, John T. Coles, watedens. MESSRS. TAYLOR'S FINE JOB.
The ringers opeaing on Saturday brought together a large gathering of members and friends of the Chester Guild. The bells wero rung from 3 to 5 p.m., when Lea was served in the Schoolroom, to which ahout sixty safi down. Amongst those present were the Master of the Guild, the Rev. A. T. Beeston (Guild treasurer), Mr. Pryce Taylor, representing the fouders (Messrs, Taylor and Co., Lourltuorotali), the Vicar (the Rev. A. J. Fumphrey) atad curtite, aud the local compaty.
Mr. W. Bihby, Frodsham, proposed a vote of thanks to the Ficar for the use of the bells, and complinaented the founders ot an excelleat job.-Tle Vicar made suitable reply
The bells were again requisitioned until 7 p.m. when a short service was hele in the church, at which an excelfent address, in keeping with tho occasion, was delivered by the Rer. C. A. Clements.
Further ringing took place on its conclusion.
The whale of the work reprosents ane of Taylor's most up-latate jobs. The bells lagg in two tiers (foar and four) in a massive castiron frame, buitt up on rolled steel girders, wall grouted into the walls. The bearings are the latest of the hall type, nonsequently the "go' leaves nothing to be desired. Bells 7 and 8 base been fitted with Taylor's patent balanced clapper, which prevents the bell clappering wrongly, llats "rising' the belle is a simple matter. A nets fwo-inch floor has been put in. immediately under the franue, and whilst the ringing room is not too noisy, the loisted bells can be Histincily heard. All prase is due to the contuators and their fhanger, Mr. T. Dexter, who placed the bells in the tower.

aud his coadjutors were preparing the 'Clavis,' they found two versions extensively practised, and to distinguisis them they calleal
 Norwich version is very much the superior of the otber, and I think it likely that if it had been the other wry akout, fite 'Glawis' anthors would Lere given the London relsion as simply Court Bob, and rejected the other as ineorrect.
On ten bells, they say, there is but one correct extension, and they call that Coust Bob only. By what argumeat they persuaded themselres that this is in any way an extemsion of London Court Major I do not know. ?he truth seems to tae that London had no rival to the Norwich method, which was allowed to hold the field.
Otir method is now called Norwich Court Bob Major. One further step had to be made in the evolution of the nane. William Shipway is one of the great men of the Exercisc. In more than one thing fie left his mark in the development of our art. And one of the things he did was to classify methods, and give them in their proper single, reporso and double variations. He was, of contse, not the first who recogaised Ihese variations. Fabian Stedman liad dome so; so far as Plain Both on four bells is coneerned, a hundred and fifty years before Slipway's time. And several peals of Reverse aud Danble Bob and Grandsire thad been rung in the cighteenth centuty. 耳ut Shipway was the firsi to zecognise it as a geaeral law.

Norwicl Count Boh,' he says, "being considered an excellent system, and mucis colebrated in the Double method, the author felt himself under the necessity of reducing it. to a regular system conformably to his plam.' What lad been called Norwich Cont Roh, he now calls Donble Norwich, ata the single variation, which lse introduces for the first time, he calls Norwieh Court Bob.
Thus it was that our method got its full tille. The 6.720 rumg at sb. Michael Coslany in 1771 was called Caurt Bob; the 5.440 Iung at Bethnal Gueen in 1786 was called Norwich Court. So were all the peals rutg fown to 1817 . The 6,000 rung at Gravesend in 1818 was called Double Norwid Cobrt Boh, atad so have all the peats rung

Year by year the festival of the Collese Youths grows in importance, both in its representative character and in the style of its celebration. A socity with nearly three hundred years of history behind it, with the highest traditions of ringing as its heritage, and holding a position preeminent among the associations and guilds of this country, is worthy of a festival which ascends to a level above the ordinary feasting associated with 'anmual dinners.' The College Youths, with rools deep in the centuries of the past, ranks in some measure with the old City Guilds, and deserves to do so, for does it not seek to uphold the best traditions of an art which in its execution requires both skill and craftsmanship? It occupies at unique place in the Exercise, and one which gives it not only an exceptional standing, but also exceptional opportunties.

The annual grathering, with which the anniversary of its foundation is celebrated, hat long been a most enjoyable event, but more recently realures have been introduced which have raised considerably the spirit of the occat sion. That this action has been appreciated is manifest in all directions, not least by the fact that there were present last Saturday ringers from no lewer than twentytwo of the forty counties of England, and that the Church of St. Michael, Paternoster Royal, where first the College Youths came into being as a society, wats filled by menbers and visitors for the special service, which was introduced for the first time last vear, and serves to demonstrate that the society, doubtless originaily constituted and for many years continued as a secular body, is now in practice, if not in constitution, as much a part of church organisation as any association of ringers founded ander church patronage. The atready high prestige of the College Youths is being steadily enhanced by the policy now being pursued, and, as we have already said, is finding wider and wider appreciation throughout the Exercise.

It is impossible to refer to last Saturday's gathering without brief mention of the almost trastic coincidence which was provided by the death on that very day of the veteran, Mr. Edwin Horres. There is no space here to pay tribute to his worth, as a ringer and a man-that has been done elsewhere-but it is well that we should think for a moment what his death means by breaking the living link with some of those great exponents of ou: art of generations ago. Mr. Horrex, in his early days, certainly rang with men who were actively participating. in ringing in London at least one hundred years ago, and who, in turn, would have had the acquaintance of such ringers as Shipway, and the contemporaries of Reeves and Gross, so that a definite connection is now smapped with events and persons of importance in ringing amals of nearly a hundred and fity years ago. From this point of wiew alone, :part from his own share in the ringing performances of the past sixty-hree years, Edwin Horrex was an outstanding figure.

\section*{DEATH OF MR. EDWIN HORREX. \\ FATHER' OF COLLEGE YOUTHS DIES SUDDENLY. A LINE WITR THE PAST BROKEN.}

The elosest link whicin the Exerase lad with the ringers of two getorations ago has been severed by the death, which took place at his haone at Clapham, Landon, on Saturday, of Edwin Eiorrex, the [ather of the College Youllos, who passed nway quito suddenly in the course of the morning. Up to within few haurs of his death, M!. Horrex, despite his great age-he wasi 87-was enjoying his normal healili. On the preceding Surday he was in his usual place in St. Paul's Cathedral helíry, and, an the freble, actually took part in ringiug. He was out during the wock when the weather permitted, and on Friday morning was to have mot Mr. W. T. Cockerill at St. Michael' \(\mathrm{B}_{\text {, Cornhill, to assist in getting the bells ready for }}\) Saturday's ringing. As he did not put in an appearance, H5. Cockerilf visited him in the aftomoon, and foumd that he liad aetually started out for the dity, but had had to retarin bome, as his hroaching lied frowber him. Arr. Cockerill, however, Joft him appareotly much hetler and quite comfortable, and the old gentlemnn jemartex that ho wortal be much disappointed if he could not attend the dimer next day. On Salurday he got up us usual, hut after hreakfast was daken suddenly ill, nut expired ahout ten o'clock.

The news of his death wis brought to the cily by Mr. Cockerill, and the almost tregie colncidence of the diy east quite a gloom over the members, and especially thoso of Nr. Ftorrex's frientis who had had the privilege of his intimate nequaintance for 50 many years. Refercnces to his passing were made at the service it St. Mirhael's, Col'cge Hill, aut by several speakers it the evening at the dinuer, where .he mompany, at Elve request of hine Masler, stod in silence for a minute as a tolien of respect for an old comade, and of sympathy with the berenved relatives.
Edwin Horrex was " "atadmark ' in Lomion rigginge in whelh hia active connection wont hack for nemily 63 years, but the ligk which he formed carries us loak ot contury, for in his early wanhoad he knew and rang will man who were engaged in the art venty a humdred years ago. Much of his carly ringing in Lomion was with the ciauis of at past age. Baley,
Cox, Banister, Fanceson, Stuckham, Hawurlis, Ferris Wond, Jane17ell, Musketw, Dwiglit, Cooter, Pelfil, and others, and Ted Forres (as lie widl always be affectionates ly. remembered) was able to hold his own witl! the best of them in the att of ringing a hell. Fe was sehooled in a company flat put lost its keen judgmeal nor hiss liant its cumbing. In his prime, Tetl IForrex was one of the finest bighedl ringers in Lowhon, nar most of the heavy work was shared in Hase days betwem lijam and Jahn Murvay Hages. Indeed, there wras a frienaly rivalry between them, which was productive of many fine performances. His recollections of those distant days of ringiag werd almays a source of inierest, and often of amusenment to his many younger friends, for lue hat a store of reminiscences cowceming men who came, left their mard upon the Exernisg, ath departod bofore many ringers of the presert day wore born.

A native of Ipswich, where he was harn on Feh. 28th, 1838, Mr. Horres began his conaection with bells by chming at St. Mergaret's Clurch, where there was then a ring of six, for Sunday servicos. He learul change ringiog uncler dhe tuilion of Mr. William Garrard, and in three choulhs rang his first 720 of Minor. Shortly arler, he joinen the tea-bell land at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, where he practised Grantsire and Stedman.
In his youth, Mr. Forrex worked at Ransone's foundty in Ipswielt, with his father, who was aterem maker, and a local celebrity as a naturalist. Father and sou wouldi go out at nighis to ohtain specimens of mothis, ete, in woods near tho lown. Afterwirds, Mr. Horrex worked for some time at Chelmsford, keping up tinging there, and in the nalghbouring villages. Reng out of emplayment the migrated to London in 1855, and worked for severnd firms in his trade as earpenter, afterwar'ds going to Broarlwool's piano factory, where he remained for many years, until they remoted to Bow, F. He next went to Hulbert and Jones, pianomakery, in Stockwell Roart, and later for some lime torked witi Mr. E. J. O'Mears, in shop-fittims work

On migrating to London in 1863, he rang at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green. It was only in the natural order of things that be should join the Collego Youths, and this lie did in September of the same year. Ken rang lais first peal in Loudon soon after, a peal of Sledram Caters, ul St. Janes's, Bermondsey, and his last exactly 60 years afferwards, for on October 20th, 1923, he rang the 2utl bo a penl of Stednam Chutues at Southwark, at the age of 85 years. 'llis in it self must be almost, if noti quite, a recori, but in betwedn these two perfojmunces he took part in some memorable achievements.

On one oceasion he trag the eleventh at St. Michal's_Cornhill, for chose upon eiglit hous in an menstechsafnl attempt for "Fecord peal of Stedman Cinques, but in tho opinion of many, lis linett achiovement was when, approaching his 60th year, he mag the eleventh at 太t. Pral's Cathedial to a peal of Treble Bob Maximus, atask which he undertook in an emergeney, and performed wills satisfaction to himself and the remainder of the bant.
He harl rmar St. Peleu Mancroft, Norwich. and St. Michael's, Cornhíll, legors to penls of Treble Boh Maximus, and he rang peals in al\} the twelve-bell towers in London except Sharediten. Fi, hat taken part in many long lengths, among then two of 8.4t8 Treble Boin (one of ihem on the lieary eight at Spitalfiedds), and one of 8,896, whith on April 27th, 1868 , he risng the Gth at Bethual Green to vito famons 15,840 Kent Trehle Rob, which oteupied 9 hou's 12 wimutes. So regular was the striking in this peat that each of the throc payts was rutug in exatify 3 hours 4 minutes, and the striking was as mear perfection ox ringing ena bo. the sectel of this being that in those days each man always rang the same bell weok after week. Tha Bethaal Green peal stood as the record for some yents, and in addition being lhe longest lengll of Troble Bols was the lengest peal that had then hean rung by one set of men. The band which took part in this peal is worth recnlling: Henry Haley (conluctor) 1, William Coolev 2, James Pettit 3, Henry Ftoolh 4. R. Hopkins 5, Edwin Horrex 6, Mathew Wood 7, J. Murzay Hryes 8. Mr. Homex was the last survivor-of this company, intel, chriously enomgh, while an attempt for a peal was in progres; at Bellmal Green on Satutday, the thought oceurreat to more than one of the ringers, with the ponl band in frent of thern, that 'Olel Ten' was the lasi of the company, litule knowing that at thal monent lic, iao, had passed eway Another memorable peal in which Mr. Foveex Look patt whs at Fut ham on Novemher 18th, 1883, whem, with Murray Haver ons the gth and Walter Prime an the tenor, he rang the bth to the then record ongth of 11.111 Stedman Caters, in 7 lus, 12 mins.

M1: Forves was one of the: batid who opened St. Paul's Cafiedral bells mu All Sainis' Day, 1878, nut le was hle lasi survivor of that company also. Ever since that time he fos bees as momber of the Cathe dial hand. He has held תul honouted place in the College Youtho, of whicls tie was the oldest nember, and he wits wall Enown to ringers who liad wisited London from all parts of the country,

The mannel of his denth was onet which he wonld. no doubl, have wished for himself-he was taken while still in "hasnesg," and withonl: lingering on a bed of sickness. Eis familiar Ggure will long lye misad from London ringing circlea, but his rxample as a painstak ing and careful ringen, who made striking lis first thatight, and punctuality an unfailing principle, will long remain as a pattern to all who come after him

\section*{& RECOLLJCTION OF THE SEXTTES}

Mr. G. F. Margetsan writes: I regret to hear of the deatly of our old and respected combade, Teal Horrex. Perhaps there are now very few ringers who remember laim so [ar beck as 1 do. I was e hoy at sction, and remember secing lim on the tevor at St. Mergaret's, fpswich, in the early sixties. He would leuve tile carpenter's bench wilhout discarding his apron, to sonteln a pull during the day.
And now he is gone, as many another 1 vemember seeing on the occasion of the opening of tho St. Mary-le-Tower's twelve bels, namely. Haley, Dwight, Wood, etc. May they rest in pence?
Men may come and men may go, hat the old bells sill sead forth their tones of joy and sorraw, while younger men shall fill the gra in the pinging circle causer by tho decease of such sturdy and good men as Ted Horrex, father of the College ronths.

\section*{PEAL TABLEI'S UNVEILED.}

Tho ercetion of peal labiets in lite City of Loadon does not occul wery often, and it was, therefore, a rather strange coincidence bhat two should be unveilet recently on consecutive evenings. "he thest of these tablets was dedicated on tharsday, Nov. \(5 \mathrm{LI}_{1}\), at the Church u' BL. Hary-le-Bow, Gheapide, by tho Rectar' (H'eb, Si, Ciordon ponsuaby). This board commemorates the forst peal of Cambridge Maxiutas ring on these bulls by members of the Middlesex Connty Assuctation itul Imndors Diocesan Guild in April, 1922, and it is well vortlyy of sucla a fime performance.
The proceedings wore opened by the Vestry Clerk (My. I'rustansf, Who, on behalf of the churchwardens, welconed the ringers present, watl thanked them for the fine addition to the boatds iu the belfry. Mr. ©. I. Coles (hon. secretary of tho associntion) than asked the Ihector to accopt the boasd, and to dedicate it to the glory of God. - The Rev. S, Gorion Ponsonby ofered a short prayer, then dedfaled und unveiled the bablet. He afterwards thanked the association for their gifi, and added that ha was vory pleasod to see such a large number wf ringers present. He would also like, lie eatd, to thank Mf1. IF. E. Dawe, who wes with them that evening, as being mainly responsible for lws rocont additions to the many tablets in the belfry, recouding poals of Stodman and Grandsive Cinques rung by the Lors. dou Lounty Ascociation. The Rector also said bow much they all loved the frmous balls in that tower, adding that when anybody asked him where lie was Rcotor, lee told them that he was Rector of Jhw bells.

A very happy and ploasing ceremony was brought to a elose by Xis. \(\therefore\) 11. Coles, who thanked the Reetor for his tindaces in permitting them to erect the board, and for attending that evening to dedicate and unveil the same

A fow short touches were afterwards rung, but ringing had to be annajed owing to the choir practising in chureh.
The hoard, which, as already stated, rebords the first peal of Camhringe Surprise Maximus rung in the tower, has beco pert handsomeIy writuen by MLA. A. H. Coles, and contains the manes of those who look part in the peal, fas follows: Haroh W. Clark 1 , Gearger. 1?ye 2, Cunrles TV, Coles 3, Jolan K. Cluessuan 4, William F. Hewett 5. Alher W. Coles 6. Artur Mason 7, James E, Davig 8, William J. Nudis 9, Reubon Sanders 10. Thos. Groombridge. sen., 11. Withinm Pye 12 , all af whom, with the exception of \(\mathbf{M 1}\), J. F. Dapis, were present on the evening of the ceremony.

UNYEILING AT STE. MAGNLS-THE-MATETYR
On Frithy. Nov. Sth, the yecord of a perl in sewen Surprise Minmr muthodis, rung some 24 sears ago, was dedicated and unvelded at the Rev, H. J. Tywes Clia;on. The proceediags were opened with a short service in tae very bratiful church, after which a move was nade to the belfy, where Mr. G. I'. Coles, on belalf of the associalion, and especially of those members who took part in the peat, requegted the kedtor to accept and dedicate the tabict.

The latier ataterd that lie clid not intend lo make a long speech, but would like to welcome the members of the Middlesex Association, and of Lbu Ancieat dociety af College Youlhs, who were present, Hu especially thanked tho mernbers of the Leytonstone company for their beautiful gift. He stated tlat the tablet recorded the firsi peal of its kind rung in the Cuy of london, and that recently anolleve frst peal, Middlesex Sunprise Royal was rung in the tower. He remunded singers of the sacredness of their calling, and ventured to give them some advice, Tlaey should, when discussing ringing wilh Lte public, always ingist that they did not ring only for their own pleasure, but for the glory of God. They should, in short, be missionaries, entl in lhis way they would not only be doing good work for Cod, but alsm cauge greater love for the bells.

The Rector then dedicated the tablet, and after a prayer the Dorology wna sumg.
Mr. T. Hervey Beams, now of Bradpole, Dorset, who conducted the peal, thanked the Rev. II. J. Fynes Clinton for his presence there to condnct the service, alld for allowing the tablet to be placed in tha belfry

Afterwards, a touch of 240 Spliced Surprise Minor (Chester, Canterbury, Newcastle and Mundun) was rumg on the front six bells by ment bers of the Loytonstone company, followed by Stedman and Grandsire Caters by the rimgers generally.

Imongst the large company present wero as many of the Eeytonstone ringers as could find it possible to attend, also Messrs, A. A. Haghes, W. T. Cockerill. J. W. Rowbottom, and other memhers of tlie Ancient Society of College Toutlis, and the Rev. T. Li. Edwards (secrelary of the Salishury Diocesan Guild), and olher provincinl ringers who were in London in anticipation of the big dinner of the following evening.

The tablet, which was placed in the helfry, through the efforts af Mr. T. Hervey Beams, nad the Leylonstone ringers, is of rarblette, and recorls a peal in seven Surptise Minor methods rung on Nov. 18th, 1g01, by the following nembers of the Middleser Association, and all nemtuers of the Leytanstone company al that fate: Heary Bottoill 1, William Miller 2, John Mardell 3, William Keeble 4, Johu Moule 5. T. Hervey Beams (conductor) 6. A footnote stafes that this was the first peat of its kincl rung jn the City of London, and dhat it was rung on the frout six bells.

To ring peals in seventy towerg in ohe connty is mo mean fent, fath the enthusastic hou, secretary of the Mirland Counties Association, Mr. Lirmest Morris, has just suceeded in doing Lhis in Leieesterbhire. The peats have been rung on riugs of from five to twelve bells.

Another interesting rocord which hus just reached fruition is that a composilion by the Chesterfied Waster, Mr. Arthur Knights, Inas now been rung in everg counly in England. We fancy, too, that at least one of the batid in the peal at Fondal mast mow be rapidly appronehing the eompletion of a peal in overy connty. This comos of having \(n o\) hasiness to interfere with ringing.

LEPRESENTATIVE GATHERING IN LONDON BERVICE AND DINNER.
Une of the largest fat mosi representative gathering that lave ever athended the inmat dinuer of the Aneient Society of Calloge Youths was preseat in London on Saturday, when the 288 h hannersury of the foundalion of the society was celebrated. Nearly two Hunded ringors trom all over the country assembled, for, in additiou to the Ifondon and suburhan mombers, there were members and wisitors presemt from more than half the counties of England, from Devon to Yorkslite, from Lancashire to Sussex, from Worcestershite lo Efsesx. Unhappily, the procedings were clouded by the news that did 'father' of the Society, Mr. Edwin Horrex, who hat been looking forward to joibing in the festivities, in spile of his adranced age at 87 years, had passed away quile suddenly carlier in the ay, and the severance of this lasi link with a distant past in ringing, lefit a voik which was keenly felt by many of those present.
Farly in Lhe afternoon the bells at Sti. Michael's, Cornhill, were set ringiug, autilater these at Bl. Magaus, Loudon lutidge: Bt. \section*{SOCIETY OE FINE TRADITION}

Tho laclong to the College Youths was to belong to a society which. had a fine tradition, which had come down to them thraugh many: gencrations, and it was in their hands to pass an this turation th succeding generations. There were thimgs which had been dont: in the College Yontly-he was speaking now of hell ringing-which would sland as long as ringing stands, whicla would be laketa as an example fand a criterion of what oughat to he. That did not mena Hut everyone who bclonged to the College Youths was a fint-rlass ringer, and is did not mean that every bit of rimging wins good ringing, luat he ventured to suggest to them that it was just is foolisil and wrong 10 say aboul something which they kuew was not gemal erongh, hat it was goon, as to say of somelhing whetr ther know was good Llat it was not good. When they liad been enabied by the graed of Goif to fake part in something that was good, let thent mat he afrain to say that it was good, or pretend that as grame things mond not be hane to-day as had been done by those who liad gone he[ore them. He Luelieved a lot of young people weve disconvaged hotause it was always being drummed into them that what the fin was not a paleln an what their fathers and their forefaltere rlid before them. When they found that hangs were well done. and rineing was well done, let them say so, and when they liad taken part in somelling thad wat not as good as it ought to be, let them admit it. Good ringing look a tramendous amonnt of attention and thonght and cave, and they could not thwass expect to get flirough withouth having to be aslaymeri of some of it. Lef thon, as College Iouths.
 IL was perfeetly true that: when he was proparing what lie liad tond to say to them that evening that le had in his thoutats one cerbain College Youtti. who, he heart, only an hour or so atro. had passind away. \section*{TIBBY'S FANCY}

It nutst be wearly ffy years ngo, continued Cauon Coleridge, when 1 nsed to rimg in Devanstire-where they tanght me to strike, if they didn't tead me anything plse-and we used to ring the thary Doubles from cards on the floor (haghier), and also a certain melhot caled 'Tilthy's Fancy " (laughter). Tho the tuest of my recollection this consisted of erch bell limating un from the front to belindi, tuntil the original bull came to the frobl again. Those who could do that were considered 'somebody." When we finished ringing one night an olel follow rame over to me and affered me tile fail ead of the fifth bell rope, saying, "Sir, T am getting old; my time mon't be mach longer here. Befare I go i shoult like to Hant over this fifth bell to you as Fou ate the only man lixing besides myselt that enn rlo ber justice (latgalert). Lewis has to say on mathemation maltere, and MEr. Lerwis has shown us something of what this splieed methorl ringinf really means. Taking peats of seven 720 's you en make then ur with fho 35 melloods in wa less than \(8,800,000\) combinations, and mote Llan that, if you sharted to ring the whole of the extents, ne the rate of eiglat peals a day, ocenpying three hours enel, it would lake a band of College Youtlis, or any other ringere, sonselting likn 15 million vears to ting thers. Thint is a grent abwanco on Thboy Tancy " (laughter). I nith delightex fo know that \(\mathrm{M}^{\circ}\) " Figler's work 38 going to be printed in book forms it will bo ol vast interest and rast ilse to sje-bell ringers, and perhaps eiglt-bell ringers as well.

\section*{HINRY FUBBARD AND SOME NOTABLE NORWICH PEALS}

\section*{By J. ARMIGJ゙R TROLLOPE}

It is mueh to be legretted that none af the Norwich jingers of Ile eighteentlo century published a book. We should have, no doubt iearat a youd deal of a very interesting period of tho history of tine Exemise. Find shuth a hook was uearly written. The bate gocs thint whed Tones and his follows wore collecting material for theil book, Ihomes blackmore, tho junior partnes, wenti clown to Norwich to gather iutormation. ILe stayed with Chistopher Lindsay, and foumd that bis liost also bad got logether material for witing a book. He fuietly stole Itse papera, toons them back to London, and, in clue couse, they were used in 'The Clavis.' That is the Norwich version the story, which comes to us by way of Mr. Ellacombe.
The Loution recermt, if we fad it, would no doubt be vary differ nt. But there is evidenty same truth in the story. What more necural chan that the authons of 'The Clavis' should po for materant to Norwich, the only place where there were ringers the equals A Lhe London mea? And there are several thing in "The Clavis" which dith cono irom Norwiels by one way or another. Hrobably ja why cuse Lindsny's book would not have appeared. lt lakee more than intention and the collecting of material to make a book. More ham one ringer has had the intealion and collected material, and nothing came of it at the finish. The great Benjamin dranate was roing to publish a book, atul it is a loss to the Exereise that he did not. His manuseript whiels is in the British Musenn is epifently \(n\) isnfl of what lie intended to prinfi, so far as Minor methods are oucerned. 'Ilta rofermees to Major ind Trjple ringing ite more ingmentary and haphazard, ure far less catefully written out; and probably fe never got so fat as to begio to arcange thit part of his hook.
Anytuw, Lindsay's book came to natught, and Norwich haul to wail ol' two generations hefore she protueed her one and only ringing thor. This was Hency Hubbratl, a man who, thoufh not quite of oloo lirst rank, has yet entad an homomable position ju the hisary of ringing, and deserves to he rnmembered for in few minutes, Efory Hublurd was toun at Norwich on Tueslay, Angust \(25 t h\), 907, the son of William atacl Anu Hubhata. He begat 10 ring in his sixteenth year, serving his apprenticeship in the dive and six-bell towers of the cits. The hendquarters of ringing were, of course, at

Peter Mnncroft, but that was not the place to jearn Fb, ner would beginnet get a chance io ring there till he liad proved his eapacity sewhere. There was, however, a gaod denl of ringing in the other invers, especially, yourd about Christmas tirne, and the young man predily made bis way in two years be was good enough to be tileges (meluding the pay for ringing) and toak prenedence of at ller ringers in the city ["ol a young, capuble, nad nmbitious ringer, the time could hardy huwe been more favourable. One of the best band Norwich ever hat was then in its early prime, and in Samuel Tharston they had, as leadep, the man who is yfualy reckoned the formost ringer the Nemich Sidnols terer prodincet. Hubbard's first peal was on Oet. 2ath, 1827, it Afturgh, \(7^{2}\) small village neat Redeulall. Thes was 6,680 of Oxford Treble Boh, conducted by Thurston. In the sarme Finar he rang in 5,120 of the sime melhod on handbells. Douhilehambled ringigg was one of the flouges in whieh Thurston excelled. In those dess it was a very rare accomplishment, and when, in 1831. of the Sorwieh Scholar- rang J. F. Powell's tmif peal of Sterlhad rathe something very murli out of the ordinary. This liaff-pent ant a quarler-peal ner vecorded by shame tablets in Mancrolt belfry Flanry Hubbard rang 3-4. Oxford Treble Boh was then and for many years later khe slandard eight-bell medhod in Norwich. and al Fuhburd's early peals were rung in lhat melhod. In 1831 the Norwicla men rang 6, 160 of Donble Nowich Courl loh Major at Coany, "whieh,' to quote the peal board, "by reasen of the intricacy af the composition might be properly called a periommance of firs dass nminenes and with respeet to the superiority of the striking it was no less worthy of hotice. The ntmost regalerity being retuinent from beginning to ending, whin inelnded nn interval of 3 luours innal 45 minutes. II wns composed and expertly conducled by Mr. Sammel Thurston." Huhbari pang the fifth to this peal.
The next year af lion same ehureh lie firsi figures as a mondector ralling Tohn Reevos' 5,280 of Oxford Trohlo Boh, nut in the same year ha culled 6,720 of the same melhod at St. Giles'. This peal bad the anr hundred and twenty course ends, and was his own composition. Then followed thee vury remarkable peals: 6,000 Double Oxford Bnb Mnjor, 5,376 Superative Surprise Major and 5.280 London Surpeise Whjour The fars and third were the first peals ever rung in these Iwo methods: the Suncrlntive was the sceond ever rang, the first laving been arcomplished in Yorkshire. These penls are yecorded by Iwo lyoaris hoth in St. Giles' tower:

On Mareh 9th, 1832, was rung a conplete and true gheal in this steeple, comprising 6,720 changes of Oxford Treble Sob, in 3 hours and 53 minutes. The prodiction has the peculiarity of the one hundred and twenty course euds. It was composed and conducted respectively by Mc. Fenry Eubbard, and zung by the following persors:

 Robert Burvell ... ... Fourth Henry Hubbard ... Tenor Also on July 6th, 1832, was rung an excellent peal, consisting of 6,000 changes of that inhricate double method of Oxford Boh in the space of 3 lours and 57 minutes, conducted by Mc. Samuel Thurston, and rusg by us situated in the following onder:Peckover Hill ... ... Treble JRobert Eurrell ... ... Fifth Freteric Waicring ... Fourth Samuel Thurstion .... Tenor On Fchmary 6ils, 1835 , was rung in this steeple 5,376 changes of that intrieate melhod, Superlative Surprise; this great achievement whs perfectly completed (at the first altempl) his 3 hours and 16 mins., and was rung by the following persons:-
Joshna EIurry
Tyeble
Second
Thirvi
Roberi Burrell
James Truman
Fith Elijah Mrson … ... Second James Truman ... ... Sixth Fred Watering ... ... Thirt Chas. Payme ... ... Serenth Fenury Hubluard ... ... Fourth Saml. Thurstan ... ... wemor 5,280 elanges of London Surprise, we most diflicult system the the art of campanologia. This insurmountable task was accomplished in 3 lours and 24 minutes. The bold and regular striking of botis peats must over reffert great credil on the company; they were contuetenf by. Thmoton, and are the firsl peals ever ring in the above variations \(\begin{array}{llll}\text { Creo. Watering } & \ldots & & \text { Treble } \\ \text { Thijal Miason } & \ldots & \ldots & \text { Second }\end{array}\) Fredk, Watering ... ... Third Robert Burrell .... ... Seventla Eondy Hubbard ... Fourth Saml, Thurston ... ... Tenor St. Giles' Church stands in one of the most prominent parts of the pity, and its large and lofty tower on the ercto of a hill is a conspicuons object from all sides. The bells are a maxed lot, same arc Pre-Reformation, with very interesting black letier mscriphons. The present tenor (about 14 cwt ) is a Wroner boll, and replaced a recy old bell which was cracked in 1869.

At the time these peals were rong, the ropes, as at St. Andrews, lung ont of proper order. A good many yeats ago fle bells were rearranged in the old frame, and the circle is now back-fanded. The bells have boen in a bad condition for many yenrs, and are practicaty nmingahle. A fpw sears ago, when I tisiled t, ithe helfry was in a negleced and fillhy condition. The penl boards are high up on the whis in a bad light and excepi in tavourable conntions latdsy readable.

It is wery noticeatula how so many of the Norwch feal boards lay gteaf stress on the quality of the striking; and good siniking was one of the principal Lhinge on which the old Norwich Scholars prided themselves

Alt these peals ware rang ly practieally the same hand. It seems 4hal Thurgton bad got together jusk cighl or nine first-class men. hut no more. And this may be the reason why wilh the mannificent twelve at Mancroft at fis disposal no peal of Cinques of Maximue was rung St. Seter's, of course, had its full company, and the ringing there would be good; but probably some of the men were the survivors of Chestnatt's Finn that rane the 5.076 of Double Norwich Maximas in 1817. Thev would keen their places in the company. for that was mactically a life tenure. but they would feel they had done enougti meal ringilgg, and it would he difficult-in fact, imposible-io ritg peals without them.
In 1831 a peal of Stedman Cinquez was starled for. Whit Thursfon made some mistake in the calling atul thin bolls eame rotand in 4.885 changes. Probably he missed a hoh at 19, and so cut two conrses. It was not lill 1844, when the older men harl died off, than a geai was rung on the twelre.

\section*{PETERBOROUGF DIOCESAN GUILD.}

A quarterly meeting of the Darentry Branch was held at Darifort on Saturdat, atd, fis spite of the unfaromrable weather, a goodly gathering whs present. Mr. F. Wilford (Master of the Guild\} oreEided, supported by the Rev. J. W. Strong (Vicar of Dodfords. Mr. W. T. Wilson (Guild treasurer), and members from the following belfries: Drventry, Northampton. Istam, Flore, East Faddon, and the local ringers. During the afternoon and crening. several touches were rutig, including Grandsire, Stedman and Trehle Bob. Tha Guild form of service was taken by the Rev. J. W. Sirong, assisted by Mr. F. Wilford, and the Viear gave a very able address,

\section*{THE NEW BELLS OF MANCHESTER.}

\section*{© THEDRAL PEAL DEDICATED.}

The new ring of ten bells, which Messrs. Gillett and Johuston have made for Manchester Cathedral were dedicated on Thesday, at au impressive service, and to-morrow there is to be a large gathering of singers for the 'ringers' opening.'
Of the ton bells which die now peal replaces, cight of them were origiually cast by Abralam Rudlati in 1706, the sixth having becu recast by abel Rucllall in 1749. The trebles also came from Rurl= hall's foundry. laaving been cast in 1825 by Jobn Rudhall.
The history of the Cnthedral belts, however, goes back al long way before 1706 . The upper part of the tower was built in the fitteentil cartury, and a new sel of bells presented by Warden Langley, narl in addition to these five hells there was in the steeple in \(1552^{\prime}\) ont litill bell belonging to the said piche (parish) charche of Manchester.' Warden Langley (1465-1481) was also Rector of Prestwich, and in addition to giving a new ring of bells to Mancliester gave a similat benefaction to Oltham. In 1659 ihe clunchwardens and overseers asEessed a tax 'of the sum off threescoure and Ten pounds for the Repaire off the Parislı Church walls leades Roofe Casting ofit A Beld and other necessary Repaires.' With this exception Longley's peal apparenily survived until 1679, in which year the condition of the bells and the churel gencrally was so serious that the churchwordens, nueeting on the \(18 t h\) August "and consideringe the decayes of the Church & the Bells ane Beinge Burst & the rest not tumeable, And Agrecfnge to cast them being fre into six, the repaire oi the heades. the windowes, the floores and other its appurtenances Did conclude and Agree of fire Clurch layes lowards repaireing thereof and casteing the said Bells into Sis.'
The work of reasting the old peal of live and adding a new one *as entrustod to William Noone, a bell founder, of Notingham, who Had been foreman to the eelebrated firm of oldfield. He, howevor, did not make a very satisfactary job of the bells. The fifth 'burst ' about 1702 or 1703 . In 1705 the fourth gave out, and a litile later the telor "burst." The result was thaf it was decided to lave the peal recast, aut encouraged by an offer on the part of the town of Mancliester to adrance ovor and above theiv gtotas of Church-iny, £100 to provide two ndd itional hells,' the wardens ordered a peat of eight, and gave the contract to Abralam Ruthall, of Gloucesier. In conmecion with this transaclion, it is interesting to noto that an cxchange of bells was effected with Didsbury. This parish gave its broken hell metal and \(a\) substantial sum in cash, in exchange for some of the sound bells remaining from the old Mamehester jing. With the recast 6th of 1794 and the additions made in 1825 , Abraham Rudlall's bells did duty for orev fwo eenturies, and the spirit which was manifested in the gifi which enabled two trebles to be adred in 1706, can be seen in the munificent gifts of private donors for the sestoration of 1925.
The inscriptions on the belle are:-

\section*{NOTABLE BELL RESTORATIONS.}

Two notable bell restorations were completed last week. At Carlisle Cathedral the belis were heard again alter a silence of 180 years, and at Manchester Cathedra! a new ring of ten bells was opened, and it is doubtful whether ringing amals have any parallel of the dedication of ewo Cathedral peals within so short a space of time. The case of Carlisle has been unique. It is traditionally lyeld that the last time these bells were rung was when Bonnie Prince Charlie entered the city in 1745 , and we know of no other instance where, from neglect or any other cause, a ring of eight bells has lain idle and silent for so protracted a period. Whether or not there was any truth in the tradition that a 'ban' was placed upon then for the part they played in the welcome to the young Stuart, it is remarkable that indifterence to the condition of the bells should have so long existed that nearly two centuries should have been allowed to pass before their restoration was taken in hand. We hope, now that the bells are once again in order, that the Cathedral will become a centre of change ringing in a county where the art kas but a precarious foothold, and where the Cumberland Association is endeavouring under great difficulties, with few opportunities and little chance of outside assistance, to ' keep the flag flying.

At Manchester the circumstances are vastly different. Here, in the centre of great ringing activity, a new peal of ten has replaced one which served its day and generation, and has had now to give place to something more worthy of the mother church of an importane diocese. It is somewhat singular that Lancashire, considering its populous nature, is so poorly off for rings of ten bells. Sixes and eights it has in plenty, and it has its share of twelves-for three in one county is a fair average for this larger number. But with peals of ten the County Palatine is ill provided. There are, we believe, only three. Blackburn has a light peal, with tenor about is cwt., Manchester Town Hali has a heavy peal with a tenor of 52 cwt., and the only ofher ten is Manchester Cathedral, where, for the old 25 cwt ring, there has been substituted one with a tenor of \(25 \frac{7}{2}\) cwt., of more than average excollence of tone, and so well hung that only the slightest plysical effort is necessary to fing them. These bells should prove of great advantage to LLancashire, both from the fact that they are of medium weight and are situated in a city so easy of access. The interest which the ringers of the county are already taking in them was manifested by the large number who, last Saturday; awaled themselves of the opportunity to "try" the bells. In recent years the beils in the cathedrats of the Province of lork have received ' con(Consinued on page 738.)

siderable attention. Apars from the augmentation to twelve at Newcastle just before the war, Sheflich and Durham have been restored, the restoration of Carlisic and Manchester is now complete, and the great renewal at York, where the new peal of twelve is to have a temon of 60 cwt., is well in hand. This is indeed a record ol progress which ringers throughat the country can poreder on with gratification.

A REPLY TO MR. TROLLOPE.
If is clear that Mr. Trollope is fery angry with me for saying that it was not fair for him to say twice (in the same form) what he thad been shown was incor rect. Like an organism which siall be nameless, he covers his retreat with a plentiful supply of iuk, invended. of course, to hide his own movements from his parsucrs, but which, uafortunately, for him, also prevents him seeing his own way ubout clearly. Or to change the auctaphor, he canaot see the wool for trees, and often is fonm wandering in the oppesite direction to Hat which he intends to follow. Still, as he truly says, ho has ' yet to learr that good intentions give at man imannity from error, of that general abiilty \(\mathrm{i}_{s}\) any adequate substitute for technical knowledge.

The rechuical knowledge which hir. Trollope on this ocension is displaying, is that of listory, and of the history of ringing terms. As this appears, to use his own expression, ta ba inadequate. I propose to supplement it with some items of my own.
In order to show us how unprecendented a thing it would be to change the name of the 'London Scholars,' he tells us the history (of which he rasinly assumes that I am ignorant), of the change of name of the societry. Apparently he thinks it a good thing to clange the name of the sociely, but a crime lo suggest the change of name of the mettod.

Now it would be loo crucl to quote the well-known lines:-
Teach nol a parcnt's parent ta extract
The embrro juices of an egg by suction
The good old lady cau the feat evact, Quite irrespective of your kinal instruction.
But I mill now give an item, which Mr. Trollope nay, perinaps, add to the history of the society, of which he is so distinguished a nember.
A quarter of a coufury aga, or more, as a result of some articles 1 wrote for 'Bell News,' oll this yery subject of Nomenclature, I received the umprecedented honour of being elected a member of the Eoyal Cumberlands, ame of the College Youlhs, on the game night. I lad to cloose which loonour I would accept, and it was because ni this change of name as an act of sycophnatic adulation to the 'Bhoody Butclier ' (whose character I hate more than any other in history) that I decided to decline the kindness of the Cumberlands, much as I should have otherwise preferred it.
If Mr. Trollope's argument has any value, we ouglt to call the method. The Cumberlands' Plensure, or "The Butcher of Culloden's Pleasure, or even : Bloody Butcher's Pleasure." This latter has a fire full-mouthed fair about-it, that woulrt have conmended it to conductars in the noisy belfries of olden tirac.
But the real lesson which Listory bere teaches, is that some people, when they have found a good name, are foolish enough to change it for a bad one. Apparently IIr. Trollope approves of this, but he does not want any unsuitable names changed for the better.
Incidentally, Mc. Trollopo slows quite cleariy that \(\Psi\) was zight in speaking of 'London Soholars' Pleasure,' not as any of the things hae says I wrote, but as a descripition, nitd not a name.
Mr. Trollope is so fond of labouring the obvious that he sometimes missef eren obrious things altogel her: Thus he says he does not know why certain societies called ibemselves ' Youths' or 'Scholars.' I woull suggest that they so called themselves because they were Youths or schalars. And, further, their choice of ibase modest names indicates that even in those eatly days there were older men, who, as to-iay, insinuated thet they only knew everything, and that it was no uee such beginners attompting to assume That gemeral sbility is any substitute for technical knowielge.
Another omission to elaborate the obvious is when he declines to toll us why Nodging was caled a 'bob.' May I Lere supplement his 'technical knowledige '? Ringers oflen sec the bobla a charel clock pentulum swinging, anti whell it appears and disappears from behind some obstruction, ils motiou is very similar to that of a bell dodging.
But there is a mom serious instance of 'inadequate techaical knowledge "in Mr, Trollope's account of what was \(a\) ' Boh." He gives a correct account of 'Plain Changes,' and of 'Cross Peals,' sxcept that he says that Stedman developed the former. A statecont so urlikely to be true, that one can safeiy say that it is impossible. Eut, besides Plain Changes and Cross Peals, there was before Stedman's time also Bob methous. Now, these sere not, as Mr. Trollope seems to imagine, at firs methats wilt one cionge in them, but methots that were all tiodges, or at least ns nearly so as possible. Ilain (or Grandsire) Bob was not the ariginal, but the last development, of Pob method huilding, and it was leere that Stetman's work was so valuable. \(\Lambda\) method was not considered a true Bob method unless one bell at jeast dodged all the time, after the Munt left it, until it retarned to it agnia. But a Court (Curf) Bob methofl, was one in wlich the long hodge whe sliorlenet. This resulted in places being made at lourth's and third's: theso latter ar now called Court Places, mut the manning of the designation, Cour Bow (i.e., 'shortened dodging '), has been overtookect.

It will be sen that there have been considembly more than th three ases of the word Bols which Mr, Trollope emmerates, aud ubat there has, in fact, beon muef confusion in thir nse. I would go further and say there is likoly to be more in future, especially in the ringing of spliced peals, and that the use of the word, except as the time-honoured call, should be restricted.
I amaglad to note that Mry. Trollope has solved the puzzle of the meaning of the word Grandsite or Grandsir : he says it is a descriptive name; but unforturately le does not sny of what it is descrip. tive; until he does this the distovery is mot of mucla value.
In conclusion. I must point out thal, like all who have attacked out mport, Mr. Trollope has not tronblecl to find out what we actually do recommend. Noi one of his strjetures on me persanally, or on the committee generally, are founded on fact. We have nover proposen that the throe words of Lomilon Soholars' ['leasure, or the five words of the title of Normich should be dropped, much less lost. What wir propose is that the former method elhould lave what it never yel has had, a name of its own; and that of the tive words of the latter title, oue only, and that the only dastinetive one, should be its name. and the name of that methof only. If you call 'Go Norwich, you do not mean nor imply that the method you want rung is not Double that it has not Court Bob Places (or shorteneri dodgiag), and that it is not Major. In short, neither ' Double,' nor 'Court Bob,' nor 'Major,' aro namos of methods, none of them lisve af present anything lo do with the Nomenclaturo Committee, and all that Mr . Trollope fas written, so lenghily, ant with so mueh repetition abouf them, is boside the point.

Wial no one really read our report, amol fital sump true objection to it?

\section*{CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. \\ \\ THE CONDITION OF THE ACTON BELLS} \\ \\ THE CONDITION OF THE ACTON BELLS}

In spite of the hard-going bells, aud cold and foggy weather, titu Crewe and District Brameh of the Chester Diocesmn Guild helal a thoroughly enjoyable areeting at Acton, near Nautwich, on Salueday, when there was a satisfactory muster of members from the local tower, Creve, Nantwich, Norton-in-Eales, Wistaston, Church Lawton, and Ightifild, numbering 24 in all. It is a pity that this peal of sis at Acton have not received the necessary attention by the clurch authorities. Praclically rothing las been done since Óctober, 1893. when the new wooden frame was ergeted, the fiflis bell recast, and the remainder quarter-turned. The hells were all relung on this oceasion, and & yew foor was laid. Since then the only expenditure which has been made has been on the six new clappers, and it is koped that the authorities wilf give some liflle encouragement to the enthusiastic youag ringers by putting the frame into proper order, for this where the trouble lies.
In the afternoon the company mage lowhes of Craudsire Boubles and Bob Kajor, and afterwards adjoinned to the ancient village hostelry, the Star Inn, where a suhstantial repast, provided by thr Parochin! Council, through the churchwariens. was thoroughly eujoyed.
Thete was little business al the meeting which followed.
Mr. W. Holding (Crewe) ssid he looked upon Acton as bis 'socond birthplace,' and expressed his plensure at the wisit he hail paid. Ho moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Pargelial Church Council for profiding such an excellent tea, and also to the Vicar for the use of the belle.
Mr. R. T. Folding (Crewe) secontited, and said he would like to include the landford of the Star (Mr. Trinder) in the vote of thanks. Mr. Holding expressed the lope that the bell frame would be nttonded to ty the church authoritics, H. was surpuised thal the Acton ringers should he allowed to " maul " Homselves Grery Sinday, and they were very hrave men to tackle it. \(\mathrm{He}_{0}\) was sorty none of the clured offcials were there to hen their conments. Even if he resided in the prish he wouki not ring at Acton, and he thought it was a shame the bells should be in the condition they were. There was certainly something mrong with the frame, and it needed proper attention as soon as possible. Mr. Halding extendeni a hearty welcoma to the Rer. M. Stevens, curate of Christ Clurch, Crewe, and said he hoped would not be the last time lin would be among hem.
Tlse Rer. M. Stevens saich he had thoroughly enjoyed his visit. Tt was quite a change to leave belind sucla a large industrial centre like Crewe, and risit such a preity spot, and the beastiful olfl clanela at Acton.
 marks with, regard to the condilion of the tholls. He rappoand the church offeisls would say lley could only spend so much, bui lie sineerely hoped that things would gel pui right.

The company then wisilcd the fower again, and rang tonches of Grambire Dotibles, Fituor and Stedman Poubles.

liallowing the eustom of previous years, when the above society has Ind its November meeting, a very represcntative gathering assembled at Sheftield Cathedral and St. Marie's on Saturday last. Members, to thas number of 60, same from the Derbyshire and Nottingham arens, the cowers in and around Sheffeld being also well represented.
At the busivess meeting, held in the St. Marie's Presbytery, a very hearis vole of thanks was accorded Mr: A. Knights, of Chesterfiels, for his untiriug and laborous efforts in compiling the necessary data for inzertion in the society's penl book.
The secretary whs also requested to write to all members who have not paid their subseription for the past and present financial years, urging them zo do so at their. very eariest convenience, so that the unhual expenditure shall not exceeut the ammal inoome, and it is hoped that if any of them road this request they will comply without delay.
It was noticed that many of the younger aspirents to the art are making excellent progress, and cominuod assistauce from the more adancerl menbers will give them addilional enoouragemont.
Ringing thoughout the day was of a good order, Grandsire Triples and Culers, Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, Treble Bob Major :url Royal. Bob Major. Little Rob Mramus, Double Norwich and Lonfon Surprise Major being the mathods performed.

\section*{RINGERS' GOLDEN WEDDINGS.}

Mr. and Mrs. A. Burgess, of Pontypridd, celehrated their golden woolding on November gth. Mr. Burgess is 'father' of the local ringers, and in honour of the interesting anniversary, a presentation, a* a token of respect, was made to Mr. aun Mrs. Burgess at the Vicarnge. The gitz was subscribed to by the Ficar, churchwardens nud ringers, and atterwarde àpeal of Grandsire Triples was rung al tha Purish Clurch.
On Sunday afternoon, Noymber lst, an actempt for a peal of Siperlative Surptise at Worlingworth, Suffolk, came to grief, after ringing 2 hours and 20 minutes, owing to the breaking of the clapper of the tenor bell. This was somerhat disappointing to the inhabilante of the rillage, hs well as to the ringers themselres, as the peal was heing attempted in honour of the galden wetding of the local moteran. \section*{SUGCESSEUL DEMONSTRATIOX AT FAMOUS LONDON GFURCH.}

Thonsands of listeners- pathups hundreds of thousands-heard bell ringing in pertection on sumblay night, when the famous Bow bells were broaderat from London. The ringing-a course of Stedman Cinques-was carried out by the St. Paul's Cathedral Sumday band, and this noble peal of hells was never heard to beller advantage. As ringers, we atl appreciate such broadensting as this, but it is as well to know what other people thank of it. Here is what the 'Daily Chronicie aid on Monlay: "To home-sick Londoners the full-tonem, melodions message of the bells must have come as a breath of frey air. "There nee few sounds more beautiful than good bells, we! rung," said Mr. W. Ronghion, of the St. Paul's Cathedral band of the Ancient Society of College Youllas, members of which rang ihse hells in the beffry of the \{amous old Chureh of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside. The broakeast came tirrough vigorously and purely, and those who obeyed the injunction, "Please shut your eyes and lieten to the message of Bow bells," were warmly tewarded. So perfect was the reception that each of the twelve great bells of Bow could he idendified scrapately.

\section*{To the Editior.}

Dear Sir, On Sunday noxi, Nov. 22nd, the bells of St. Mary's Cathedral Trura, will he broadeast, from 5 to \(6.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). As yous leading article of Aug. 29th, 1924, truly stated, the Truro Diocesan Guild is one about whiclz the Exercige heara very little. Perhaps this occasion will be appreciated by some of the 'experts,' although the time is somewhat in:onvenient to those who ring regularly for Annday Services. It is lapert to broadeast a conrse of Grandsire Triples on the peal of len (lenor 34 cwi.), with \(9,8,10\), covering.
I shall be glad to receive a criticism from any ringer who mar larar this ringing. Scientitic clange ringing is onty practised in about sis towers in the whole diocese of Thiro. the majority of these beiur only able to ripg Grandsire Doubles. I am glad to see other towers are leginning to look for help, but a lack of conductors does not allow ati the assistance to be given that we would like to give. - Toumfnithrully,

One of the most interesting aumiversaries of the week falls on simlay, and, curionsly enough, is of a very early peal which was rung of at Studay. 'lhis was on Novenber 22nd, 1721, at Mortlake, Surter. and is recurded as follows: ' On Sundaf, Novenber xxit Mbocxxi. was rang in this stecple by the Mortlake Society a lime and comnpleat peal of 5,040 Bob Major Tribbles in 3 hours and 4 nimulen Will Patteuden, Firsi; Wilh, Smith, Second; Jno Thominson, Thiml John Brown, Fourth; Henry Lyiork, Fifth; Wilm. Walker, Sixth; Uriah Jelgy, Serenth: Hemy Cook, Eighth. N.B.-This is the thint time this peal was ever rung, and the first by the method desigued and called by W. Walker.
Cau out historitas tell us whether this was Major or Triples? We are inclined to hink it may have been a peal of Major, and that the designer" in this case is what we now know as the composer,
In this conuection it is interesting to recall llat william Walker, as a member of the Richmond Society, rang in a peal of Richnomi? Triples (whatever that may have been) in 1741 or 1742, at Richnobst. anti a peal of 'Grametsire Trobles Double' in 1767. He (or, move probably, a son of the same name-and it thay have beer a sou who rang in the 1767 peal) took part in a peal of 10,640 'Bob Majors " ut Mortlake in 1776.
We understand the illaminated albun, weently presented to (lar Rev. Maitrand Kelly by the Devon Guild, contaning wiews of rwery subseribing tower, handsomely bound, was greatly admired througliont flye county. It was the work of Sonthwood and Co., of Pxeter.
This firm has had cousiderable experienre in illumiusted peal honk eniries, also framed atkiresses, and as a good number of their sindif are ringers, they huow how to exeente sueb work sympathetically a mit give complete satisfaction.
We regret that owing to pressure on our epace the reports of scyerul peals, ant othor itens, includiug 'Notes by the Way. are unavoilatay held over.

\section*{A MAGNIFIOFNE RING OF TEN.}

Manemester Citheralal is now in possession of one of the finest penls of ten bells, al thear weight, in the rountry, and not only are the Gathedral athorities to be congrabulated upon lawint in their massivo tower a ring of belts of which to be pround, but the Lancashire Associalion is fortanate to lave sel up in this injoriani centre a peal af medium weight which shoun greatly facilitate len-bell practice in rlat part of the county
Some delailts ol the lutlls thomselves were given in our last issue. They have all been vecrst at the result of gomerons girts of individuals atad firms in Manclester, it havine been due latedy to the enthasiasm of the late Dean, IJr, MrCommack, who, unlappily, did not live to see the scheme brought fo fruition, liat live project was taken in hand. Dean Meformack made the resioralion possible ly his personal appag to various instilations and atsoniations of the city, so thati the bells havo been almost nulirely recast, at the expense of different sections of the commmity, as reverlerl in the inscriptions which we quaterl lasi weok. If is, however, a louching fact that oue of the bolls should he given in memory of the man who, in his life, had secured the stuecerss of the projuct:

MANLTESTE:R CATHFDRAL.
 Cirogdon, amb ahlough they have had to place the mew bells in the odd oak fram, they have conpleten an andertaking which will acservedly anhance their already hightepulation. The ago of the bellis cond not be theter if they had been instadled in a modern metal frame, but this result has only been raede possible by the strengthening that las heon rarried out. Heary angle plates have bolted the limbers into at rigid whole, and the fonadation bentus have heen supported by a massive steel gitder crossing the tower mater their contres, and carried on stael corbels anchored into the walls. The befls nue bung on ball hearings and "go 'like the proverbial 'fiddes.' Musically the folls ate a grand peal. They are tumed on the fivetona principle, and the wast experience in this method of tuning which the Groydon firm have gained. from the fact that they have not only tuned out numberless peals for langine in English charehes, but have also been the fonuders of many carillons, inchating such grear sets of belly as those recently sent to New York (in which there were 53 heils, with ilse heaviesi weighing nine fons and the lightest 15 lbs .), and to Hertogenbosels, Follitud (in which a carsllon of 43 bells wits huilt it topon one of Jemony's masterpieces), has resulted in Manohester having a peal in which this phase of the foutcler's art has reached a high pitel of perfection. In the ringing ehanher the belly are a little noisy, and from the dugers' point of wiew, another floorsay, immediaidy umber the main sllppording arter-wotal probably be a considicialife adrantage. Outsikie the Cathedral there are places where the bells, swinging if ithe level of the great. louvies, crash down the advisability of blocking up the lourres, if not allogether-there is ample opporthaily for the soum to escape higher up the fower-at any ratie, to a point above the level of the bells when they are ringiug.

'flae bells have been humg with entirely new fitfings, andian ingenions, patenterl device has been attached to the two trebles and the tenor. This is a 'gadget, which automatically liftg-the clapper away from the lucl] the moment the blow has been struck, thus enabling llee full effect, of the uote, or, perliaps more correctly, the chord to he: heard. The device is actuated merely by the netural force of gavily. An arm sfanding up a foot or more on each side of the chapper, ratries a loggle. As the bell travels upward in its revolulitot, this togylo lays back, as an extension of the arm, and clear of the clapper shaft, hut slighty lyctore the bell reaches the zenith of its turn, and aftell the clapper lias strtuck the bell, the loggle drops inwatd-merely by gravifational faree-and lifts the clapper from the bell. is soon, of course, as the hell reverses its motion the toggle drops back 10 , lin opposite position. The invention is simplicity itself, and it has \(1 l_{\text {a }}\) advantage fhat it ean never gel weak and 'tired' like a spring stlachment. All the attention that it apparently needs is occasional lubrication. The effect of the device was strikingly manifest on thie Cathedral tamor. for, when the bells were set up, the hmm continurd for a measurable period after all sonnd of the other bells had stopped.
As we briefly recorded last week, the bells were dedicaten on the 10th inst., Tut Saturday was the ringers' day. The Cathedral authorilies piaced the bells at the disposal of mexbers of the Lancashive tysociation, and olher visitors, and there was a great gathering of 'fle Auns, althongl?, perhaps, that is not quite the right term to apply to the men of Lancashime. Firsl of all they met for 'tea' al wina's Cate, Corporation Streel, but if the repast put before ftee I20 ment wha were present at that stage is merely "tea,' a mere Southerner is Iuft ghessing mhat a real Lanenshire dimner would be like. Succulent steak and kidner puding, which ouly a Dickens could adequately ato cribe, "hor jot, that was equallo delicions-of such thinge was ihis tea composen, and there is no wonder that many who afterwacds isimi Whese light runniog bells were far too strong. It was a piece of wublla anticipalion that induced the loeal ringers to lay in a stock of spars siays, blikough, be fosald, the oricinals were of sum stout stuft that they defied all efforts to break tivem-bul more tham one ringer will lave to aclmit that he lead a good try.

Thie tea was presided over hy Mr. Manligy fabson (senior chnralywarden), who offered the visitors a hearty welcame, and apologised fer the abserte of the Dean. Who was unable to lee present in tive iace of leavy dulies on the morrow. Mr. Gibson was supported by one of the sidesmen, and Mr. C. F. Jolunston.

Mr. W: C. Bridgford, leader of the Cathedral band, and Ms. & Ridyard afterwards took the ammangments in frand, and bands of turn, cach limited to not more than ten minutes, were sent off up into thbelfry to b , the bells. This for nearly four hours the new jing was kept going for brief spells. In that tine nearly 200 ringers took part in flo ringing, and if the striking was not always good there was no division of opinion as to the quality of the bells. or the satisfactory manner in which Miessers. Gillett and Johnston liad huvg them. On Holl counis there was unanimons praise. Ringers from ouride the county incluad Messris. J. Cotterill, W. Salmon and F. Maud (Forkshire), F. W. WTidde (Chester'), W. Bibby (Frodslam), W. Walmsle, (Macclesfield), J, P. Fidler and J. Fermley, jun. (Hazel Grove), E. Garshle (Glossop), ete. Lancashire ringers were present from, among ofther places, Astiton-under-Eyne, Botton, Blackburn, Chuth, Didsbury, Denton, Fliston, Liferpool, Heywood, Miles Plating, Oldhan, Pendleton. Reddilch, Rishton, Rocladrle, Salford, Southport, Todmonden, Ty-deslev, Walkdew, Worsler, etc., as well, of course, as the members of the Cathedral haud, and representafives of that stalwart enmpary of palice who are privileged to ring the Town Hall bells.

Before the compans separated from the belfry, a rote of thanks to the Calhedral authorities for their welcome and hospitality, nun? to the local ringers fow their armagerments, was paseed with acelamation, on the molion of Mr. Walmsley, seconded ly Mr. Garsite.
The ctedication on the preceding Tnesclay was a sinple ceremony. In the midst of the special service, attended by the Lowd Mayou of Manchester. the Rishop, with the Deani and charchwardens, ascended in the ringing marmber, where the ringers and Mr. CTril Johnsfon, the foumter, were awaiting thom. Tla ropes bad heen drann on gether in the contre of the belfry, and the Bishop released them by fulling a coth. After the dedicatory prayer, a few rounds were tumg. and other appronriate prayers were said, and the lifth procession then wound its way domit the spirn siair to the Catherlal where the sen* vice was compleled. The ringing afterwats was only of short dumtion.
Later, the pingets and Mr. Tolnston wele enteriained to suppet liy Mis. Tirdgforis.

\section*{To the Editor}

Beat six，－－While wot hating had time vet to go elosely into Mr．A． J．］ritman peal of spliced stcdman und（ivandsire Caters，I Lave no doubt，knowing this gentleman＂，work in past，dif correchers．It is at nost ingetiont bleacing of the two mothori－，and I congratutate

Howerer，is will not delact in my way trom the merit of Mr，Pit－ man＇s work，if 1 paint out，for the benefit of those who do not al－ ready know，the simplicity of spling regada Cater methods inte peals or touclies．Thi is due to the fact that＂Cater changes pro－ duce rows of like nature only，wither all eptu or all odd．It follow： then if one nwothod is mug will all even chatges，and the gecont with oded changes ontr，there can bo no repetition of rows between the iwo． The onfy tifieults that presents italit is in cases where the Singles of the methods differ．This is casily gol over ly clanging to the secoud mellod before calling the thest single when both singles will be alike， However，cate muth be takien that he even rows rum after the change over，ant lofore flie single unkes eftect，do not repeat with what lias gone before．

As an example，take the two methots spliced ly 31＂．Pitman．A true ladf length of Stedman mas be rung with hobs only，finishing with a quick six and the freble quick bell，the position of the remain－ ing bella beity innaterial，at the tweble goes in quick，clamge over to Grambine，at the sanu lime calting aum making a common Gratud－ sire single．Note that alohongh Gmandsime bis being rung from the point at whieh the treble contes into third＇s，the two following rows are ine same as if Stedman laad been contimued：therefore，the eren rows will be true．From the odd row produced be the single，continue in the crandsire method，so arranging the calls（bobs only till the fuishl）．that the belle will be bronght home true br a single at the end of the peal．
This onglat ta enable composers to armuge their own peals or tonches，the anly care meded is to be sure that ench fanti－peal is true within itzelt，
Where the singles of the two mellods coincide，as in stectnam and Erin，it is ouly necessary to compose a the half－peal of cech br hobs only，and single one latif－peal into the other．This nay be dome bs ringing to about the midale of the half－peal of Stedman or Erin．At one of the calline positions：（preferably \({ }^{\text {4 }}\) ，to kecp the lyig bollz to－ getherf，introduce a single，followed by the ladf－pert of the whond method，when awother single will bring the bells in the point left its the first methox，which is rumg to tho ond of the real．
It should be noted that if the single is in plact of a bob，the semond It should be nated that if the single is in plact－of a bob，the sema thefind must he commenced ai a bobbed six．

It acouts to the rhat by these means．in combintion will Mir．Pit－ man＇s plan，it may be possible to ring Stedman and Frandsibe in the cven nows，aurl Erin in the ott rows．giving threc Cater methods in one peal．If this is so，no touht Mr，Pitnan will he able anti willing to qive us one－Tours faithfulty

\section*{RINGERS' MASONIC LODGE.}

Sir,-spropes of the Aasonic peal at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, I notice \({ }^{\text {that }}\) yots imgnire nbout the suggested ringers lodge. to ahbandon the idea as inpracticable. I find that it would be impessitble to obtain a warrant permitaing the meetings to be leld otherwise than in sone tixed place. This means that the lodge weuld always have to meet in london, and so would be useless to the country ringers.
What I had in mind was a movable lolge meeting in connectiou with the Central Council, and other large satheringe of singers. 1t mey be that the London ringers would like a lodge of their own will a fixed place of meeting, but thati is a different proposition which I must leave to others to consider.
I thiuk I replien to all those ringers who were kind enough to wrile to me personaly'; if I overlooked anyone I am sorry.-Yours faithfully,

A quarierly meeting of the districe whe held at Malley on Sov. 7th, when nearly 50 members, represencing 13 towers, were presenc, A service was conducted by the Rer. (i. W. Turner, and the ringers were aiterwards entertained to tea by the Vicar, the arrangements being in the hands of Miss Turner.
The buainess meeting was presided uver by the Vicat. The Cahedral was chosen for the Decenber combited praetice, and Holner for Tanuars. One hon member, two ringing members, and aine probation members were elected.
Mr. Edwards (Master of the Guild) proposed a rote of thanks to the chairman for presiding at ine meeting, for his excellent address, and for providing tea for such a large gatherng. The Vicar was, as they were all aware, hon secretayy and treasurer for the Guild, and a beiter man could not be found.
In thanking the Kaster for fis remarks, the Chairman said that ihe ctuild was a movement he had at heari, and he was always pleased to do anything in his power for the good of the Gutid. Ee thanked Mr. S. T. Ractham for presiding as the organ, and congratulated him on his iwelve montlis' office as Ringing Master tor the Swansea and brecon Guild, he beng the first to hold the position in that newly-formed Association.

\section*{ROPOEED JOINT NEETTNG WITH YORESEIRE AssOCTATIOY}

A meeting was held at Saurlal, near Wakefteld, on Saturday Inst, when 16 towers were represented by forty members, viz. Badsworth, Rarnsley, Cawthome, Darfield. Crofton, Rotherlam, Felkirk, Horhury, Roy=ton, Rothwell, Wath, Shelley, Wortler, Fouth Kirby, ant the local empany. The bells were hept poing in good style during the Parochial in the chair.
The chief iten of interesi was a proposal 10 holdi an joint meeting wiil the Southern Division of the Yorksfite Association, aum the secperary was akked to make inquiries af the Rector of st. Mary's, Rarnsies, with a view to holding the December meeting there ol the 12th,
Of the meeting on Saturday suffere it to say, that Samdal iz ait jacent to ' Merrie Wakefield, "me Sanlal is merry, wise and gool.' The generous hospitality, under diffouities, was goodness jitself, and a heasty yote of thanks was passed to the ringers" frient (he Yiear), the churchwarions, the ladies, and ihe lopal ringer:, who contribufed so much to the success of the oceasion.

G迷 ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM. A MRST VISIT TO NORTEFIELD.
For the firsb time in ils history, the St. Martis's Guild for the Diocese of Birminghan heki an official meeting at the aucient Parist Chirch of Northfield on Snlurday last, wheu members made good use of a now, well-balanced and wery musieal riag of eight, with a 14 cw , tenor, recently put in ly Messis. Taylor and Co. It was somewhit surprising to find that among those who are now rapidly becoming old liands ' there were several who had never been ta Northfield before, probably bceanse the tower previously contained omly six-umt those ' nothing to write home about.' It says muels for those who saw the job through, induling the complele restoration of the towt: recasting and sugnentation of the bells, that the worls was carriend out at a time when a considerable section of the clarets people wat in favour of rephacing the organ by a larger and mote powerfin int strament, and considered this should be done before the bells wert tonched. But on this oceasion (miortunately, a rare case) the bells won.
The old Church of St. Laurence belonged, in 1373, to the priory ui Dulley, and there are traces in a doorway on the north side of its Norman origin of a church having been in existence here at the tifn of the Domesday Survey.
The present church is eliefy in Elo Eanly English and Early Demer ated styles, and consists of chancel, have aisles and an emballed tower. The lafter is rather squat in appearance, being only about 55 foet high, and as the belfry is about 15 feet up, there is not mukth rope befween man and bell. Careful attention lias been paid to thin regulation of the sound, however, and in the ringing chamber the luelts are nol a bit too noisy. A place where good peals should-and cloubd less will-be rung. (Mr. Lewis, please note.)
By the courtesy of the Rector, tea was arranged in the Schoolroom adjacent to the church, which was followed by the bunsiness mectint, with the Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. Albert Walker, in the clair, in the absenco of ilhe Presiding Ringing Master, Mr. Alderman Pritelict.
Tho latter gentleman had sent an apology, which tho secretary real to the meeting. in which he explained he was unable to be prescut owing to the lact that he lisd promised to perform the initiation cere mony in commection with the admission to Fremasonry of a wellknown ringer.
The Chairmatu mado feeling reforence to the loss the Exoreisa in general, and the College Youths in particular, hed suffered by tho passing over of thay veteran, Mr. Edwin Eorrex. Fe had canvered the condolences of members of the Guild to Mr. Cockerill, and all present stood for a for moments in silence as a last mark of respect to the memory of 'Dear old Tel. '
Among new members elected was Mr. Harry Saunders, of the facal tower, who is to be congratulated on the swift progress he has made in the art, and whoowes much to the tutorshin of Mri. Jack Withars, the Nortlifield Master.
Thanks are due to the Rector, the Rey, R. A. Hapsom, MIA. for the use of his bells and the schoolroom, and to Mr. Jack Wethers. who laad ewerything in readiness.
After lhe meeting the tower was revisilent, and ringing in many methode, induding Cambridge and hondon Suprise, was indulged in as well as " simpler stuff for the begirners.
Later on, as a biterly cold north-east wind was blowing, soveral men sought shelter belind *The Great Stone,' a relic of the glacial period, and were, perlaps, not too disappointed to find thal at the back of the said stone some thonglitiut soul had provided accommodntion for cold and weary iravellers, and warmth and sustenance wro available, Unfortunalely bad news percolates everywhere, ant the maws that Whe 'father' of the Guith, Mr. John Buffery, hiad joiner the great majority on the presions day, at the age of 73, cast a gloom over those present at the end of the rlay. A reference to his carcer will he made in our next issue.

\section*{NOISY BELLS AND FAST RINGING.}

Two points in connection with bell ringing have recently been brought prominently to notice, and both have a bearing with regard to the public. The first and most important is that relating to the noise of the bells in the immediate vicinity of some towers. This is an old sub)ject, but it is one to which more attention should be given than is at present the case, especially in populous areas. All ringers of experience know of numerous instances where, admittedly, the public living near the church are treated to far more noise than they need be, merely from: the fact that the bells swing on the level of the lotivres, which throw the sound down on to the innocent heads of those just round about the tower, and it is from this, almost entirely, that the complaints about bell ringing arise, resulting in outbursts in the press and other forms of condemnation. To be fraak, we, as ringers, cannot afford to ignore the just complaints of the public. We must move with the times, and in nine cases out of ten there is a simple remedy at hand. The blocking up of the louvres entirely (allowing the sound to escape throush the spire) or to a height above the level of the bells when ringing, is an effective means of reducing or removing annoyance to those outside. It is a remedy known th everybody comnected with bells, and yet it is constantly neglected. It is not necessarily a costly matter, and yet there are churches we know of where ringing is almost barred on account of the noise, but where the church authorities will not go to the expense of a lew pounds which would put an end to all reasonable catuse of complaint. Ringers should bring the strongest pressure to bear on church authorities, wherever it is necessary, to secure the provision of such slight structural work as would ensure this end.

The second point is in regard to the speed at which bells are rung. With many ringers one of the chief anxieties seems to be to get the bells along as quichly ats possible. Some of the finest peais rung in the past have been distinguished for their 'bold and regular striking," and it is to be regretted that some ringers of to-day do not emulate that style of ringing. As we have previously had occasion to remark, it is not ' the quickest peal on the bells 'that merits most praise, but the 'best peal.' And what applies to peals, applies also to everyday ringing. Bells rung too fast give out a torrent of sound which is too confusing to the ear to be pleasant, and this is especially so in the case of bells with modern harmonic tuning. The public do not appreciate fast ring. ing as they do the 'bold and regular striking,' and ringers would do well to bear this in mind, for, after all, the public are their audience, and they should seek to give them all the pleastre they can. Modern bell hame ing, with bells hung on ball bearings, increases the tendency to fast ringing, but this speedy running of the bells is, we feel sure, a mistake which needs to be seriously considered.

\section*{THE DEATH OF THE QUEEN MOTHER.}

\section*{MLUFFLED BELLS THROUGHOUT THE LAND.}

The church bells of Enyland, above the noise of cities, or the quict of villages, spoke as no other voices could of the joys, sorrows, tumults, troubles and thanksyivings of our common lives.
In these words the Archbishop of York, at the dedication at Carlisle Cathedral, described the manner in which the bells of this country interpret the feelings of the community on all national occasions, and the mufled bells which poured their mourntal sounds from the steeples of England on Saturday and Sunday surely struck a chord in harmony with the spirit of the nation at the passing ol the Queen-Mother, whose death has touched the nation as that of few others has done. Wherever ringing was done on Saturday, whether at meetings or for peals, the clappers were muffled, and on Sunday service ringing was universaliy carried out in the same sad but impressive manner.

Queen Alexandra, it is said, was a lover of bells. Rung in the English fashion, they were strange to her when she landed on these shores in 1863 . but their welcome was one of the things which struck her when first she came to the country which was so long to be her home, and she is credited with describing the sounds of the bells as angel music.,
Following the usual custon, the great bell at St. Paul's Cathedral was tolled for an hour on Friday evening. This bell is only used in this way on the death of a member of the royal family, or of a Bishop of Loncoon, a Dean of St. Patul's or a Lord Mayor who dies during his year of office. The last occasion on which its tolling was heard over the city was on the occasion of the death of King Edward VII., and now it has sounded for the passing of his gracious consort.

Inmediately the news of Queen Alexandra's death became known the Rector of St. Clement Danes \{Rev. W. Pennington Bickford) got together members of his ringing society, and the bells of the famous Strand church were rung mulled for her, who, seven years before, had opened the bells after their restoration.
Many mufled peals were runt on Saturday-not alli of them specially arranged, of course - but wherever ringers met to pursue their art, muftes were put on lise bells not only as a tribute of the ringers to the departed royal lady, but also as a mark of the public mourning.

It is a sad coincidence that two old ringing socioties-the Lollemb
 - fablers ' by the hand of dembly within at few days of each other. Tho bells of St. Hartin's were rung mithed on t'uesday, the 17th instr, as a token of respect to then memories.
One bundred and nimely years ago lo-morrow-an Nov, 2811, 1755a peal of 6,012 Cirandire caters was rung at $onthwark, a finilat longat to the pat ang three years carlet at Cripplegate by the London Seholars.
In those distant days the Lomadian selolars were active in pingrag long lenglls, for an Nov. 27 th, 1729, they brought ofi a 6,204 Grant sire Cingues at Cormhibl.
They lad seored 6,006 in this meihot as the first peal on the bells of St. Martian's-in-the-Fiekis-which was beaten on the same hells the aext day by the College Youlls. The 6,204 at Cornhill followed upon an attempt carlier in the month, what they breke slawe after ringing 4,200 changes in 3 hours 20 minutes.
William Doubleday Crofts dled ou Nov. 29th, 1809, and was huried at SL. Mary's, Notingham, on December 2nd, an which ocension a - mourming peal of 1,494 Grablsive Caters' was runge ln wiew of the first peal on the restored Manctoft bels, which we recorded last week, it is interesting to recall that a peal of Gramelire Cingues, the sirst on the present twetwe, was rung un Nov. \(23 \mathrm{rd}, 1775\) - exactly 150 years ago last Monday

A peal of 10,080 Bob Major was rung hy the Cumberland Youthe at Edmonton 130 years uyo last. Monlay. It was composed and calleal lis George Gross, sen., and shipway was one of the band. Longer thieths of Bol Major hat however, bepu rung years betore. On Nov. 251 , 1737, for instance, the Easteril Weholats had scored a peal of 15.120 in 8 hours 40 milates in West 1 ana.
Friday was the auniversaty of the first silent peal oi Stedman Triples It was rung on Nov. 20th, 1886, at Burton-om-Trent, by bacn whene hanes were loonsehold werds in ringing in the closing years of last

As alleady briefly announced in our columbs, the restoration of the hells ol Carliste Cathedral has bean completed, and Messry. Mears and stafinanas, who eardicd out tha work, are to be congratulated umon their sumeessfin bata's. The old six fone of them au carly 15 th ecalury belly trave teen mate ught by the addition of two trebles, and a great improvernent has been effected by tuning the ancient bells.
The dedication was performed, at a simple but impressive service, by bue Awhistiop of York. Yhore wote a large number of elergy fu'csent, hearduct by bhe Bishop of Carlisle, the Dean of Carlisle aut the Bishoy of lan'ow-in-Furness. The cougregation filled the Cathedral, and inedmbed the Warl of Lonsdalo (Loxd Lieutenanl of Cumber band), the High Sheriff, Lhe Mayor of Carlisle, and the charman of inmberlan! County Council.
After the apening hyma and pala, tho Arohbishop, the Bishops, He Dean, find members of the Chapler, together with Mrs. Fastings Fashath, to whase yenerosity the restoration is due, and Mr. Percy Mathesp, a personal friend of the late Dean, preceeded to the nortis shoiv aisle, wheye Mrs. Rashadall set in motion the electrical claming appartatias for the bells.

During the service also, Mur. Mrulheson unveiled and the Archbishop derlicatud, at mural iablet placed in the south choir alsle in memory of tile lave Deat Rashdalf
The Arehbishop gave an appropriate address, in the course of which lie said the churel hells of England, above the noise of citics or the quiet of villages, spoke ns no ather voiees could, of the joys, sormowe, runults, troulses and thanksgivings of our common life.
Crowds of aitizens watted in the streets to hear the bells ring out, and were delighted with their pleasant chimes.
Aftor tha dodieation, the bells were raised and rumg by members f the Cuminerland Association. Although nothing very great was aceomylishere the way of ringing, as there was ony the space of an hour before evensong, everybody was pleased with the "go' of the hells. It 15 to be hoped that in the near future the Cathedral will lave a bath of ringers of its own to rimg regularly for service.

A moning of the assoriation was held in the Refectory of the Catherlal, and the tower was affilialed to the association. The election of fleven life members, proposed in Kemal helfy previous to starting for a peal, was confirned. The Dean was clected a vee-president of he association.
Votes of thanks to the Deat, and everybody connceted with the opeusisg, conchuled the mecting.

The fill was originally cast by the Langehaws, and became cracked whist being chimed for the Peace celebrations after Waterloo. It more the following inseription:

THIK RINGE WAS MADE SIX TUNEABLE BELLE AT TFP CHARGE OF THE LORD HOWARD AND OTHER GTATREE OF THE COUNTV ASD CTTIF AND OFFTCERS OF THE GARJSEON, BY THE ADTRE OF MAGER JERTMIAH TOLHUR:'t GOVERNOR OF THE GARTSSON, 1658.
This is particulady interusting as being a unique instance of reatoraition work in the clumelh carried out under instructions from one f Cronwell's officers \{Major Jcreminh Tollursth. The three bells refored were the old treble, 4 th and tonor, which were recast by the Tarrgslaw, who were belf founders in Garlisle.

\section*{CAST TN 1402}

The 'phritrels' af the tower is the 'the, which was cast abouk the yexar 1402 by orker of William Strickland, Bishop of Garlisle from 1400 to 1418. Bells, however, lumg in the tower long before this, for if is an record that. in the lyginumg of the 14th century (A.D. 1307) the l'ope's logate, Comdinal Potrus Hispanis. preached in the CaltoAral, ath later revested hitmelf, and with aller Bishops which wew present-' with tanalels light and causing the bels to be roong, the accursed in temible wise Roberli Bruce, the usurper of the crowne is Scotland with all his partakers aiders and mainteiners." Althoult Hruce badly ravaged the rest of Cumberland, he never succected irn taking Carliste. If was, however, taken and hurnt in 1345 liy sil W. Douglas, and was again burnt (by accident) in 1392, when 1,50 ) houses and a great part of the Cathedral were destroyed: In mund then have beon in repacation of the damage donc in 1392 fuaq Hisinu Strickland reised the tower ant installed the four large bells, Lat second of which was the existing 7th. The tenor of that ring of lour must, therefore, have been a bell of considerable weight. The prosent \(71_{1}\) is the only one of Bishop Strickland's Flug now left, allul frem a castigg point of ricw, is a beatatiful piece of work.
Until the presenb occasion, tilie last time the bells are supposedilu have been cung was on November 18th, 1745, when Prince Chavics Edward (Bonnie Pribee Charles) mude this entry into Carlisle, nusl for this offence the Cathedral bells ware 'sentenced' to silence fou " period of onc hundred years. For many years past, howewer, it hus not been possible to ring the bells on accotint of the luad contution of their lianging.

Thig present destoration consists of the addition of two trebles tu complete the actave, cleaning the old bells by sand-blast, tueirg them and hanginy the peal with eutirely new fittings in a very heavy tent trame.
With the exception of the tenor and 6th, the old bells were wroy poor in tone, but the Gadhural authorities were parteularly ansmans flat wo recasting should take place on eccount of the historical haterest. The old bells cannot, of course, bo expecied to come up to the modern gladard for 'tone' but a vast improvement has been nffected by the tuming, and by the addilion of the two trebles.
The ftamework is of very massive propartions, and ine bells swing in the latest type ball bearinge, the 'go' being perfect. Over 11 tans of timber where used in the construction of the framework and fac beams.

A carillon machine has also heen installed by Mossrs. J. Smith and Sons, of Derby, to elnme sets of elanges for the week-day serviegs.
The whole of the restoration scheme, ineluding the fitting up of tinc ringing chamber and repairs to the tower, has been carried nut though the generosity of Mrs, Rashanh, in memory of ber hubbund. the late Donn of Carlinle.

Dene Sir，－The lixercise will regrel to len＇n that the efforts to prevent the desiruction of these bells lave nat med with that success which was first hoped．Il will be rectiled that the proposal was to mett．down tho bells to me the melal towateds that required for a carillon，and that earnest representations were made to those re－ sponsilate to prevent such an ach of vandalism．

We liave been iortumate in securing support and sympal fy from Hose representing imporlanf lionles ontside and own Lxercise，and the views of ald interested cau be summarised in the reference thede in the Borning Post＇of the 8lat July fist，whtch spenking of lhus Coventry bells，said：－

Whinst on the subject of bells，it is interesting in note that a proposal is atoot to melt down the ntucient peal of ten bella，saju to bo fle linest of lyeir kincl，whiela used to titg forth from the fromous fower of St．Michael＇s，Coventry．The desise is to prowide bols metal for a mew carillon，the tower being maid to be too woak for the bells． Allhongla we have hed occasion of late to comment favorabaly on carillons，this proposal rather sarours of exehanging＂t new lamen for okl．＂Garillons are good，indecd very good．But it would be it geri－ ous thing to clestroy a colebrated pert for this olject．Ringors 1 frotghout the country are much concerned，and，urged on by theit organ，the＇Ringing Work，＇Lhe Centwal Council of Churels Thell Ringers will make representations to the Bishop of Cowentry will the view of saving this fine peal．Thus the citizens of Coventry，who have enjoyod the poseession oi these belds［or neaty 200 years， hope to continue so to do［or stil］further centuries to conme．
I learn，therefore，with regret that the proposal is agan revjogi， and that thongla slighty modified，it stild involres the sacrifice of the bells．And I teel that the Central Coumeil will desire that every effort must be used to defeat．this project，eren it it enlls for a ambilious scheme，such as builung a holl tower！I believe that sum a proposal initialed and supported by the Fxerclse，would that backing from the puhaic，which would ensure jis success

It is melancholy to recall that the laie Mr．Horrex who died so tragically en the morning of the College＇iontlas＇Festimal，devoind his last speech to this subliect，In the course of his lemarks，which for lim werc of unasual length，he expressed the firm hope that thesp famous bells shembla be preserved．The nlso gave an interestiog ac－ count of how ho formed one of a band of Colloen Youlits who wisted Goventry to ring them，nad Tow George Miskelif，flie then Masmo preferred to stand oulside and listen，vathou than nsecud and ring Muskett＇s verdict on this ocension was siguificent，siz，＇\(n\) wondefful peal，these bells wee alf brothers and sisters．＂－Yours frithithr．

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY. \\ THE LAST OF THE NORWICH SCEOLARS. \\ By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.}

Hanual Thurston's sudien deallo on Jabuary 9 [ 1,1841 , was a serere how ta Norwich ringing, although the full effect was not seen hut later. Tha work such a man as lie does lives aiter his death; and, bosides, there was the great ringing tradition of the Norwich Scholars that Jolun Garthon had sinated, and that Thomas Melelion and athers had handed on. For one hundred and thiby yeare there had conLimuously been a frrbl-class band conmected with Mancrofy, and this fradition was not th lee lost all at once. In 1842 the Norwich band was equal, and, perhaps, the superior to any other in the country. Other rood performances lat yet to be accomplithed, but the topmost point was passerl. 'l'here were no more peals of the same merit dis the Double Norwich Maximus, on the Londou and Superlative Surprise Major. The yan 1835 marks the zenitl: of Norwich ringing; after that thero was dpeline, slow at first, but certain, and after a fow yents, rapid.
When Fhuraton died he lefu quile a number of good rivgers, but mone of outshanding ability as leader. At St. Audrew's, Thomas Hury was supremo; he had riven the two trebles in 1825. and was gencrally in elarge of the tower. Hurry was an ambitions, forcible man, but his abilities were not equal to his ambition. A gaod ringer, 110 doubt, but not of the rert first class. Ho was not included in the hand which rang the Double Oxford and the Superlative and Londinu. The reason is pretty obvions-he was not good enougli; othelwise he was not the man to be left oui. And his many attempts 10 call a peal were all unsuccessful. 'I have known him, said Holshart, "many times call four parls of a peal correct]5, and then rons wide in the fflin. In the Fetas 1825 we rang, at St. Andrew's, about 40.000 eltanges in trying for a 5.120 of Recres' in fivo grarts wilhout rloing it.
At St. Peter"s the mastershis fell to James Truman. arn excellent ringob, one of the Lozdon and Superlative liand. He afterwards proved himself a competent conductor, but he was bardity of the eame class as Thurston. He lielt. I think, some officin! poss connected with St. Peter's Clarels, eithey sexton or parish clerk. or somelhing of the solt.

The one man who semmed marked ouf as Thurstion's successor was Henry Hubbard. He had a much greater experience of peal contucting than any of the others, and he knew far more about contposition and mothods and the theorg of ringing. But I think he lacked just that amount of push tliat a good leader must lave. Fublond lad lead some of Hurry's masterfumess or Hurry had had MubFart's skill and knowletge, the third quarler of the nineieentls century would no doubt hate been as briliant a perion in the latifory of Norwielt ringing as the Ficond.
As it was the next two geals were called by Hubbard. The firs wns 5,040 Fent Troble Boh Royal at St. Andrew's. If was the thrat peal on the ten bells, and the frst peal of Kens wurne in Norwich. The compnsil \(\begin{gathered}\text { Ton was Reeves* one-part peal in ten courses, with double }\end{gathered}\) thohs ai. Home, and the sisth the extent each way. It is giveu on prge 105 of Snomdon's collection, and is pretty well as good a peal, Treble 'len as there is. Kent Royal on an ordinary sing of bellas \(\mathrm{j}=\), to a good band, one of itbe easicst things fo ring, but it is a differeni. thing allogother when the ropes fall in this order-1, 3. 2, 7. 10, 5 . 4, 6. 9, 8, as they did at St. Andrew's

The tradition about this peal, when I started ringug, was that it was very finely rung indeed. and the claim as to good striking was well founded. Two of the band wre alive in my time; Robert Palgara was still a member of the company, but was an inwalid, and tad nat rung for many years. Willam Frecman was still active, and stild jinging. He had had \(n\) dispute witl some of the later Mancroft men, and had left the company aud formed a rival tazd which practised ats St. Andrew's, and some of the six-bell towers. I do not think their purformances weut heyond Plain Boh Minor. I got to know the old man very well, and found bin anite gice ard agreeable, when you had made allowames for his age arrif meal or imaginary griowaces. Ho was steeplekeeper at st, Androw's, and lad rang the tenor there to the 1842 peal.
George Smith. Who katg the tenor will dhe belp of, Roberi Pat grave, was obe of a family of ringers, all good men at the haury end. The first was Matthew Smith, who lielperl Thurston to ring Mancroft tenor to the Double Norwieh Maximus in 1817. His son was the George Smith of the 1,844 peal, and his grandson, George Smith. the second, was the first man who dimad Mracroft tellor in in 5,000 of Major, thongli for some reason or other the peal was false. and conld nof sland. THE PASSING OF JOHN BUFFER,
'father ' of st. martins guild.
There's nae sorrow there, John,
'There's neither could nor care, John,
The day is wyo fair.
Ias the land o' hie leal, -Lady Name.
As bristly announced in our laski issue, My. John Buttery passed out of human kew on the 12th inst, at his residence, at smethwick, user Birmingham, after a long junes, at the age of 73 years.
He was the 'father' of Si. Martin's Guild, in terms of years of membersitip (though not in age), haring joined the St. isatin's Youths in 1868 , and by his death another link with Birmingham ringers of nearly a century ago is severed.
John Buttery was born at Perry Barr, in 1852, and became interested in bella and ringing when the ring of eight was put in the tower of St. John's Church in 1868, the tenor being the late Lord Calthorpe. He rug his first peal, Grandsire Triples, there in 1870, ant conducted his first peal there iv 1879, the method also being Grandsire.
He soon became attracted to St. Martin's, and as he was a good striker, and could handle the heavy end when necessary, he made quite a name for himself at one time as a tenor man.
\(H_{B}\) rang the tenor to his first peal of Steduan Cinques at St. Martin's in 1878, and took part in the first two ten-hell peals rung jun Ireland, these being Siedman Caters at Christ Church Cathedral onus Gay 20th, 1899 , and Bob Royal at ill R.C. Church of St. Angussine and St. John on the following day.
John Butery had what he nlways called the great pleasure of witnosing the only peal ever rung on the high eas-a peal of Stedman Caters in hand by members of St. Martin's Guild, rung aboard the 3.s. Cazubria when crossing the Irish Sea on May zach, 1901. photo of this's band, and the witnesses, kindly presented by Mr. J. 今. Goldsmith, is carefully preserved in St. Martin's belfry.

Otter notable peals in which he took part were the 9,238 Stedman Cinques in 6 hours ant 48 minutes at SE. 3Iartin's on Feb. 28th, 1881 (then record), in which Henry Johnson (whose Tana birthday it was) rang the 6thit and the 9,020 of Grandsire Cinques rung in 6 hours and 17 minutes et St. Martin's on March 23rd, 1887, which he conducted. He had a powerful voice, and the late Thomas Reynolds (who rance the 11 th th (his peal) used to declare that he called the lase bob in fuels on loud voice that it could be heard io the Bull Ring, and was, in fact, heart by several outside!
In the early eighties John Buffery was also a prominent member of the Foils Society of Aston, later amalgamated with the St. Martin's Guild. for which society he called a number of peals. He i called ye bobbed ' in an attempt for a long peal of Grandsire Caters at Aston in 1883 , when the peal was lost, after over 12,000 changes had been rung, and which he said was 'the longest breakdown he had ever Eau.
Mr. Alderman Pritchett tells a story of how he invited Puffery, with others, to visit him at Oxford, when he was at college as a Young man, and how John mistook the extra strong ale he had got in for the occasion for soda water, with the result,-so says the alderman, flat they could not get on with the Grandsire Caters at Magdale in the afternoon.
John Buffery-bow the name seemed to suit the man! To many of the elder brethren it witt recall him as he was in his prime -sturdily built, with fresh complexion, plump cheeks and genial dispositiona typical John Dull.
Unfortunately he bad not enjoyed good health for the last few years, and had been mable to take an active part in ringing. Towards the end be suffered with bronchitis, and had been confined to the louse for some time.
It is interesting to reflect on the fact that it is now nearly 45 years since the 9,238 of Stedman Cinques was rung, io which John Buffer rang the Eth, and Henry Johnson, sen., tang the fth. The latter was 72 years old thai day ( 28 ch a February, 1881), and lad been ringing then for over 50 years, so these twa men in the space of their ringing lives, span practically a century of Birmingham ringing.
Tho funeral took place at the Uplands Cemetery, Snuethwick, on the lGth inst., And among the floral tributes was a wreath from menberg of St. Martin's Guild, who were represented by one of Mr. Butfury's oldest and most intimate friends, Mr. Thomas Miller.

No further seek his merits to disclose,
Or draw his frailties from their dread abode
(There they alike in trembling hope repose),
The bosom of his Father and his God.-Gray.
A. P. S.

HALFTONE BELL TO BE PROVIDED.
So well has the appeal for funcls for the restoration of lark Minster bells been responded to that, an effort is to be made to reeast 'Great lester,' and to provide a halftone bell with the ring of twelve ta give a light eight. Canon H. E. Nolloh Las given paricutintars of the additional proposals, in a latter which appeared in the Yorkshire Herald.' Ho says: Since the report of tho progress of the work recently appeared in your colum s, more donations have been received, Hut, as often happens in these undertakings, wdititional expenditure has to be incurred. Only some f180 are now required to complete the task of furnishing flue Minster with the deepest and fivest-toned ring of twelve bells in the country, and whemssive fran as work of iron and steel in which they ne to be lung. Hut the ringers (who have shown their interest in tho work by undertaking thenselves the cost of recasting one of the bells) are very anxious that, as is ushant io the case of so heavy a ring, an extra. "lanffome" hell. should he provided, in order that they way have a more manageably octave for practice than tho lower or "back "eight; bath this is, tinduaberly, most important for the cultivation of good ringing. The cost of this bell, if hung at the same time as tho others, will be £179, in addition to the above-mentioned \(£ 180\).

Now, whit regard to the great bell "Peter," in size fully worlds of our great Cathedral. lvi so discordant, musically, that there is at reason to regret its present useless condition, impossible to be rung, and unconnected with the clock, to which it should serve as the hour bell. As stated in the report already referred to, we propose to recast and retune it to a rich and musical E flat, in exact tuna with the peal, lang in ball herrings, so as easily to be rung by two men without the slightest is strain upon the tower. More than one-t trite of the cost of this work lias already been given or promised, viz., \(£ 550\) it it can be undertaken soon. If tho balance of 2975 can be prosided, our desire to give the Minster we venerate a "Bourdon ""nldirely worthy of it, can speedily be attained.'
Donations will he gratefully received by me, as hon, secretary, at \(^{2}\) they may be paid to the account of the York Minster Bells Jim ul at the Millard Bank, Lath, Parliament. Street, York.

\section*{ASHTON=UNDER-LYNE RINGERS DEATH.}

The death occurred, on November 8th, of Mr. Samuel Booth. pro dent of the Ashton-under-Lyme Society, who passed away at the inge of 52 years. He was buried at Hurst Cemetery on Nov. 12ll2, when the following members rang a course of Grandsire Caters over lis grave: Joseph Mellow 1--2, Harry Heap 3-4, Samuel Wood 5-6, Jack Thomas 7-8, Harry Chapman (Menchester)'s- 10.
The late yr. Booth had rung in upwards of 200 peals, including the famous record lengils of Kent Treble Bob Maximus ( 12,240 changes) in 8 hr. 39 min, on Easter Monday, April 17 th, 1911, at Ashton Parish Clutch. He also took part in that other celebrated performance r on the same fells, the record peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal 14,000 changes), in 9 hours 24 minutes, on Easter Monday, April Isth. 1914. He was a safe ringer, and highly esteemed ty hits colleagues. Fir will be sadly missed by the members of the society.

\section*{LESSONS OF THE BISHOPWEARMOUTH FATALITY.}

The accident in the belfry at Bishopwearmonth, by which Major Robert C. Hudson lost his life, is one of those distressing fatalities which, though rare, are a tragic reminder of the fact that work among bells which are 'up' is always a risky undertaking. Scores of men every week go up among the bells without giving a thought to danger; they move about over the narrow frames and between the beils, which can come 'off, many of them, quite easily; they turn clappers or make other adjustments involving, perhaps, leaning over the bell itself, and never once do they take count of the risk that is being run. Major Hudson was familiar with the belfry at Bishopwearmouth; for years he had been accustomed to going up among the bells, and the tragedy which has overtaken him probably came when he was thinking least of danger. He will be deeply regretted throughout the Exercise. In his own diocese he was known as a competent and accomplished ringer. He was one who made a name for himself when quite young, and he always maintained a keen interest in the art. But not only will his death be mourned by the members of the Durham and Newcastle Association ; his loss to the church and town of Bishopwearmouth is equally lamented. Churchwarden and Sunday School worker, he was also a valued officer of the local Territoriais, one section of which he commanded during the war.

This fatality is the second within less than a year caused by a bell going over, for only last December au eiderly clockmaker was killed while mending the hammer contections at Thetford Church, Norfoik. Can theseaccidents be averted? Obviously it cannot be said at any time that it is really ' safe ' to \({ }^{-g o}\) among bells that are up. There is never room to spare, and in these days of iron frames the available space is even less than in the old days, when the bell cages were made of stout wooden beams. The foothoid is often precarious, and the slightest slip may end in tragedy, as it did in the case of Major Hudson, for it is believed he slipped off the frame, probably on account of some snow caked on his boot. Despite the risks, however, it is often necessary for someone to go among the bells while they are in the 'danger ' position, and the most that can be done is to exercise the greatest care.

At present no 'locking ' device of an effective nature seems to be on the market, otherwise, we imagine, the bell founders would have adopted it. They have introduced many "gadgets,' but this is one which does not vet seem to have been sufficiently explored. Something simple and efficient is undoubtedly wanted. Failing this, in the case of heavy bells which have a knack of going up with the clapper on the wrong side, there ought to be provided a device for turning the clapper over. There is such a one in existence, and Counders might well be: asked to instal it where a belt habitually goes up the wrong way. Another partial safeguard would be to run a handrail above the frames about the height of the average man's head, so that it might easily be grasped by one hand when a person is making his way anong the bells. And then there is the question of lighting the bell loft. Often, even in daylight, this is a dark apartment, and in many cases there is no artificial illumination, except perhaps a candle. It is almost inviting accident for a man to go amone bells thus equipped, and wherever possible church authorities slond be made to see the importance of proper lighting in this part of the tower.

Anoug the nwarial poals rung oue of the nust noteworliy wns that at Liverpool, where at brndi of Liverpand ringers seoreal at peat of Stedman Cinques, the first in the methoti by a resident band int liverpool since Mareli 25th, 1863-the your in whels Queen Ahsandratanm to lingtand. Sucts a suceess as that seored the oiber day, seerned far distant a weel proviously, bat a quarterpeal rung during the wook uncouraged the band to nuke the attempt, and a sploudid peal at the first attenpt was the yewrard of their efterts.
ln reference to the peal, at St. Clement Danes, in which Mr. Tom Benuey, one of the ofiest and mosis respected members of the Ancient Society of College Youlhs, Look pari, it is interasting to recall, that previous to this poal, Mr. Bentey's late peal of Stedman Caters was rung at St. Duastan's, Stepney, in tho ycar 1878, conducted by the lete Mr. Heury W. Haley.
It will interest members af the lixerciee who are Freemasons 10 know that Mr. John D. Mathews, Master of the Royal Cumberlands, who conducied the haff-mufled peal of Stednan Cinques nt Shoreditch on Saturday, is a nember of the 'Roso of Denmarlk' Lorige, and that this lodge, astablished in 1863, was named after the Pribeess Alosmadra of Denmark.
Anolher illusiration of at way theg lanvo in the Army ' was fortiscoming on Saturday. G.Q.M.S. Gilhert, R.E., rang in a mulled penl in the giternoon aif Guldufoxd, and the bells came round at 5.35 p.m. At 6 o'clock he whs iu Aldershot, tent miles away, ready to stert tor nuthert pata, with his nwu bund, and this also was successful. Some going this! We haven't heard how fast he travelled over the Thog's Back on his motor-cycle.
Master John Rosenmp, som of the enterprising Vicar of St. Nicholas" Wallasey, receutly gate a lectare on chavite ringing to his zchoolfellow's ai Birtenhenal School, in the presence of their Form Masler. The lectare was illustrated by pictures and diagrams, nud was followed with close interest. Thic youthful leaturer is 16 years of age. Ho rings the rreble to Minor methods, and hopes shortly to liegin the inside work.
On Docember ath, 1746, 10,080 Boh Major was rung at Hayrietsiam. Kent, and on the same dey ine 1883, the then record of T1,111 Steminan Caterf at Fulham. Half of tho band that rang in this latter peal are still alive.

For the first time the anniversary of the first peal at St. Paules Caibedrns, rung on Dec. 10th, 1881, will find no survivor of ibat interesting performance, Mr. Ted Howex lawing been the lnst of that company.
A peal of 'Real Douhle Caters wes rung at St. Magnus', Lomdion Bridge, on Dec. 10th, 1770. connposed and conducted be George Gross. At the age of 17 yeass, Rolvert Porter called " 5.040 Holt's Grandsire Trebles' at Kingstow-on-Thumes on December 10th. 1780. This was probably a record in youthful accomplishmeat at that time, for in those days roung men weye not encouraged to rapin progress, and the ari of 'conducting' was made something of a mastery by the man who wres the bob callers, and their knowledge was only grudginglr immarten to athers.
Members of the Surrer Associntion nre ndvised that the meeling arranged for to-morrow at Easi Molesey lias been postposed to Der. 12th.

MAJOR R. C. HUDSON KILLED AT BHSHOPWFARMOUSH.
A terrible fatality oecurred in the belfry of Itishopwearmonth parisht ©harch, Durlium, on Iftursday of last week. Major Rohert Chatljs Hutson, churelwarden, and onc of the ringers, weni to the church to matile tho bells in readiness for the moworial servie for Queen Alexanda, which wats ta be held the next day, and while engaged in the task, apparcatly slipped on the frame, and pulfed the serenth bell over with him, jomming him betwes the bell and the ironwork, and killing him. The tragic discovoly was made by his brothes, Mr. rhamas Fudson, who went, to the tower when Major Hudson failed to reiura. Il was necessary to obtain the sid of police and firemen with block and tackle to release the body. Needless 10 say, the lalality caused deep regret in the town, where Major Hudson was well known and lighly ruspected, and widespread sympatly lass been expressed with the relatives.

The distressing cincumstances were inquired into by the Deputy Coronor on Fridiy. Mr. Thonas Hudson said his brother was a member of his firm, wheh enrried on business ats ironmongers at 314, Figh Street West, Sunderland. Ahout 12.15 a.mo on Thursday be went 10 the belfry to rouffe the bells in preparation for the memorial serrice He went alone, rad was familiar with the work, having done it ous previous occasions. It was his eastom to do it alone. Witness heard the noise of the bells being raised while his brother was up, indiceting that lue was elgaged on the work of mufting. As he seemed a long time in returning witness went ap among the bells, and shw three of them turned up in position ready to be muffied. He foumd his brother lying over the framework between the two heaviest holls, Nos. 7 and 8 . His leed Fas hanging down into the pit, and Whis horty was jammed between No. 7 bell and some of the jronwowk between the hells. He was then quite dead.
The Caroner: What do you think was the cause?
Wifness: I flinis the most likely thing is that he had some show on his boot, which caused him to slip on the framework. I think he would fall against the wheel, aud bring the bell over on to him.
l"urther questioned, the witness said the boll weighed about Il cwl. His brother hat been connected with the belfry ahout 35 teats. Ho saw it was impossiblo to get the body out, and after vinging the bells down for safety he sent to the Ambulance Station for assistanec. block and tacklf had to bo ohtained to get the body released, and it Was taken to his residence close by. Witness did nol fhomk there would have been any advantege if another pesson had heen there; it might have meant double risk. Pliere was no one clse in the church at the time. Drs. P. Fickey and G. Robinson saw the body grove its rentoval from the belfry.
P.C. J. R. Bailes said that at \(1.3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). a telephone message was received from headquarters, and he took the ambulance to the clamel tloor. He went up to the belfry with Sergt. Harrison and other officers, and found the deceased man fastened between the wheels of the bells. They endeavoured to relense him, hut withond success. A rlain block and tackle was sent for, and by this means the hell was moved, and the body released. The injuries were about the whest and baek, and there was bleeding from the nose and mouth, indicatind internal injuries
This concluded the cvidence, and the Coroner, in recording las verflict of 'Accidental death, took the opportuaity of expressing lis deep sympathy with the family in their hereavenert. 3y the death of Mr. Hudson thev had lost a fathful brother, The Perish Church end Sunday School a mealous worker, and fhe community a loyal citizen and a patriot. It seemed to htwe been very unfortunatm lifat he should have met his death while performing a volunfary ant to assist in the service of his Church and State, to both of welicin be bat given so much time during his life. It would be some cousolalion to the fanaly to know that they did not grieve alone, but than there were others that mournod his loss, especially on sueli the ocme \(\qquad\) The Rector thhe Rev. Preb. A. B. Wynue Willoon\}, who wa present said he woulr like to be associatied with those expressions of sympathy. There would be further opportunity to deal with it and hor only desired to artrl that the family, the offirials and congregatinn of fhe Cloneb greatly apprectated the admiratule way the police worket In extricate the body

\section*{COVENTRY BELLS' FATE.}

The fate of Coventry bells will be decided early in the new year. The hearing of the petition for the factulty to recast the existing bells and to add four others to make a carillon of fourteen is fixed for January fth, and the scheme is likely to meet with strenuous opposition. It is the unanimous opinion of those who heard the old bells rung-it is forty years since that was done-that this peal was one of the finest rings of ten in the country, and it is for that reason that no effort has been spared to save them from the melting pot. On the other hand, those who are anxious to see the carillon erected are arguing that the bells are overrated, and we have heard the view expressed that they could not even be tuned up to form the nucleus of a respectable carillon. These are vastly divergent opinions, and the case, when it comes to be heard, is likely to be the most interesting of its kind that has ever had to be settled. While ringers are often only too glad to use all their influence to get bells recast, this is, so far we know, the first instance where they have taken steps to save a peal of bells in the face of an official desire for a wholesale melting up.

When we commented previously upon this matter we made a protest against the scheme to recast the ten bells into fourteen smaller ones, and we are glad to learn that the intention now appears to be that the other four bells shall be cast of additional metal, for, apart from the preservation of the existing ring, it would have set an extremely unpleasant precedent to have heavy ringing bells melted down for a more numerous but lighter carillon. That point, at any rate, seems to have been gained at Coventry, and it now remains to see if the existing bells can be saved. The Central Council's action in the matter has been officially recognised, for the secretary has received formal notice of the hearing of the petition, and Mr. J. S. Pritchett (Recorder of Lincoln and a member of the Central Council) will appear as counsel in the case. This is the first occasion upon which any such intervention has taken place, and from that point of view alone the inquiry will be of importance to the Exercise. Whatever happens to the old bells, and all who heard them in the past hope they will be saved, we trust the spirit of the people of Coventry will lead them to erect the campanile, for which plans have long been in existence, so that the bellis may not only be mechanically chimed, but also properly rung-it is rather ominous that the petition refers to the provision of 'a chime' and not a 'ring ' or 'peal' of twelve bells. The bolder and finer scheme ought not to be beyond the finarcial power of a city like Coventry, and courage and enterprise would, we feel sure, see such a project carried to a successful conclusion.

\section*{MIDDLESEX COUNTY ABSOCIATION． MEETING AT HACKNEY．}

The Jasb mecting of the yetr in the Norll and Easi District of the Midellesex County Asseciation and London Diocesan Guild was teld un Saturday last at the Church of St．John of Jesusalem，South Hack－ ney，ind，being attended lyy nearly 40 members，was votcd a success． Wivine service wis conducted by the Rector（the Rev．G．T．McLean）， and the address was given by the Rev．d．O．Vince，Viens of St． alark＇s，Dalstoti．Subsequently the party sat down to tea ir the Rectory es the guests of Mrs．MeLean，who was，bowever，unfortun－ ately prewented from being pieseni，to welcome the members．The hector presided，aud was supported by the Rev．J．O．Vince，Mr．F． A．Hilue（president），Mr．W．Pickworfh（vice－president．），Mr．N．A． Tumlinson（District Haster），Mr．C．T．Coles（hon．secretary），Mr．W． l＇ye（Master），and many others．

At the usual businens meeting，five new rambers were olected，and Si．Gilos＇－in－tine－Fifelds anoounced us the place of the next meeting on January \(23 \mathrm{c}_{\mathrm{e}}\) ，this being the emnual meetiag of the district．

The Hon．Seoretary proposed a vote of thanss to the Restor and Mrs．MeLean for their hospitality，and to all others concerned in mak－ ing tle meeting it success，jacluding Mr．Riley（towerkeeper），Mr． Ahway，etc．Whis was seconded by Mr．I＇．A．Minne，and carried unamously．－The Rev．G．T．MeLean，in ackoowledging the thanks ai the members，welcomed them to South Hackaey，ani proeeded to anmuse the company with quite a number of humorous anecdotes， lout to relate them all would occupy too much space．Here is one， howerel ：－
Jahnay had swallowed a penny，and Tomny was sent by his mother for the doctor．As the loca！parson was also known by that title， Thomy went to the Rectory and knackod，asking for the dactor．The Lhertor＇said，＇Well，Tommy，and what do yot require？＇＇Oh，sir， Jolnty has swallowed a penvy，and mother wats you to come and get it out＂of his inside．＂＇Ohl＇said the clergyman，＂you have made a misabie．It is the medical doctor you want，＇＇No，＂said Tommy，＇it must be you，as I heard father say the other day that you were the brest vian he kyew for getting raoney out of people＂＇
Some Sledratr Caters having been rung on the handbells，the tower Was again visited，quite a large number of methods being praclised， imulading Grandsire and Stedman Triples，Bob Major，and London， litistol．Superlative，Cambridge and Norfolk Surprise．

\section*{PRESTON BRANCH，}

A well－attended meeting of the above branch was held at Hoghton on S九turday，Novembar 14 h ，whan owar thirty whgers were present， amongst whom were visitorg from the Blackbyrn and Wigan branches， as well as representalives from eloven of the Preston branch towers． During tho day，toucheg lin the standard metuods，as well as Double Norwiclı and Gambridge Surprise，were rung．

Tea was partaken of in the Parish School，where the members＇ wants were well attegded to by the local ringers＇wives and friends， to whom a liearty vote of thanks was given for theil gervices．One of the ladies responded．

The business mecting was hela in the ringing chamber，at which Mr．J．R．Taylor presided，and welcomed the members from the neighbouring branches，－Mr．Wilson，of Btackburn，repliod，on behalf of the visitors，saying that he lagd pleasant recollections of eoming to Hoghtow，as it was there that he rang his first touch．

The Charman then said he hari，with regret，to move a vote af sympathy with the relatives of the late Mr．Wm．Nelson，of Leriand， who wis interred that afternoon．A 720 of Kent Treble Bob Mand had been rung，as a last token of respect to one who had been con－ nected with St．James＇，Leyland，as a ringer，chorister，sidesman and warden，for nearly fifty years．
Mr．E．R．Martin，in seconding，sait he would like to extend the wote also to the relatives of the late Mr．Edwin Horrex，of London， who died on the previous Saturday＊He added，that althongh most of the members would not know Mr，Horrcx personally，his doinge as ＇the grand ald man＇of the Exercise mere well known to most of them．－The vote was then passed，with the members standing ju silence．

Among ather items of business was the confirmalian by the meetug of the election of four new members，these being Mr．FIF．Foster，of Chorley；Mr．W．H．Fussell，of Slougls：Mr．W．J．Nevard，and Mr Cecil Mayre，of Bucks，the lasti three having been proposed as life members previous to ringing a peal at Samlesbury．
The meeting elso congralulatert three branch members on ringing their first peal of Cambrige Surprise，but the writer is sorry to sed that congratulations to Mr ．B．A．Kaights，on his having ruog peals of Eent Treble Bob on \(6,8,10\) and 12 bells，were omitted，and wouki like to offer them to him，on behalf of the branch，through the meatium of this report．

The peal of Gimbridge Surprise Minor on the light six itb lourhborougli Bell Foundry, the tenor being only \(2 \mathrm{cwt}_{\text {, }} 1 \mathrm{qr} .5 \mathrm{lbs}\)., intl 22 inches in diameter, constitutes a record for light weight, It wus also the quickest tower bell peal yet rung. By thes peal, G. Stertman Morris, who is not yet 18, has now rung in peals of Cambridge Minor, Major, Royal nod Maximus, and is the youngest to do so. The lightest tenor previously rung to a peal was Lye, Worcestershive, where the weight is juat over 3 owt. It would be interesting to know how the weights of the two trebies nompare.
It is good news to leasm that the people of Camberweld are inquiring what has become of the bells ab St, Giles' Church, which have not fuecta heard in peal for a considerable time. The cause of their silenee is the want of overhaul, and now that the public are becoming interestol the churel anthotities may think it an opportume moment to raise a ro. storatiou fund.

The Taunton baud, who rang last Saburday the first seven-methond Surpuise Minor peal in Somerset, are to be congralulated upon their suecess, which is the reward of their continued perseverance.

The bells of Blackawton, Devon, have been silent for len years, anal the parishioners are now anxions to hear them again. Their silenci is atated to be due to the fact that the ringers wonld not regularly attend chureh, and therefore the Vicnr fiebarred them from ringing. Another attempt is now to be made to organise a band of ringers in tho parish,
One of the esiliest : als rung at St. Mary-lc-Tower, Ipswich, was it peal of Guadsive Triples on December 12th, 1735, so that to-morrow is The 190tla anaversary. It was recorded in the 'Ipswich Gazette,' ant it is curious to note that the names of the ringers are given in reverse order, that is, beginning witlithe tenorman. He was fatmes Kirridge, and his age was 61.
A peaf of 6,400 Oxford Treble Bou Major wat rung at foworts, Middlesex, on December 11ih, 1770.
On December 12fls, 1848, 7,392 Stedman (inques was rung at lifo minglam. Henry Johmson composed aud conducted the peal, which was the longert in the method at that date.
In the jear 1806. The week from Dec. 13th to Dec. 20th was produc tivo of a great deal of ringing at Chrisu Church, Spitalfielde, whire it that time there was n ving of tweivo bells. On Dec. \(33 t h\), the Senior Cumberland Fouthe rang over 5,500 clanges in a fruitless attempl for a peal of Stedman Cingues, but were successful on the following shturday, Dec. 20th, when they brought round a 6,334 in 4 hus. 55 whins.
Between these two bouts of ringing. viz., on Dee. 15th, thr Jtanior Cumberlands rang a peal of 5.886 in the same method. Whal wntid the inlabitants say to-day to such a 'feast' of ringing?
- Uncle Foe Sykes lias landed safely in England, after his adventures in the wilas of Manchuria. He had mot been long on his natiwn soil before he was busy with 'Yorkshite Glory,' and would probahly have scored a peal before this han not a forgetfill verger turmeal nĭ the eleetrie light at the main switcli, in the fwelfth course. In another attempt, however he landed his peal of "welcorne," and is now gething down to ringing business.

\section*{THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL}

congregation of about two hundred people, mostly ringers, assembled at St. Ebbe's Church, Oxford, on $aturday afternoon, for the dedication of the Washbrook Memorial. Among tlose present were: Eanon Stansfeld (Rectar of Sl, Ebhe's), the Master of the Oxford Guild (tho Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), Uanon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), the Rev. F. LI. Edwards (Master of the Salisbury Guild), (he Rev. R. L. C. Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs, A. D. Barker, Mr, and Mrs. A. E. Lock, Misses S. Duvis and M. M. Webb, Messrs. A. A. Hugles (College Youths), G. H. Phillott (Chelteuharn), H. Chapuan, Conmeillor Frtppier, J. W. Washbrook (Manclester), G. A. Smilh, R. T'. Tiblert (general secretary, Oxford Guild), A. J. Wriglit (Heasurer, Oxford Guild), R. While, G. Holjfield, J. F. Barlow, W. 1. Nevard, D. Napper, and representatives from eleven of the branches, including the following Lowers; Chipping Mortom, Shiplon, Chalgrove, Winey, Benson, Avdington, Eynsham, Goring, Stanton Harcourt, Chillon, Abingdon, Nowbury, Appleton, Tackley, Yarnton, and St. Giles', St. Wbbe's, and All Seinls' Oxford.

The memorial, as is well known, takes the form of the addition of two trobles to tite six bells of St. Ebbe's, the existing six having been cleaned, tuned and relang. In adidition a bronze tablet has been phaced near the entrance to the ringing chamber, bearing the following inserjption :-

\section*{A.D. 1925}

The bells in this tower were repaired and rehnug, and the two trebles added by the Oxford Diocesan Guild and ringers of the British Empire, in memory of James Wiliam Washbrook, a highly skilled ringer and talented composer, ablo conductor, and for many years instructor in the Guild.
\[
\text { Born 27th April 1864. Died Christmes Day, } 1923 .

The ceramoly, which took tho form of tho dedication service from 'he Oxford Diocesan Service Rook, was conducted by the Master of the Oxford Guild, and the address was given by the Rev. Ganon G. F. Coleridge. Led by the St. Whise's choir, the singing of swoh a large body of men was very hearty and inspiring.

In the middle of the service, the clergy, the choir. and a bant of ringers chosen for the purpose, went in procession to the ringing chamber, whero tlo new bells were conscerated and dedeated by Canon Coleridge, after which a few rounte were rung by the following : Canon Coleridge, Fev. C. W, O, Jenkyn, Messrs. R. I'. Hibbert, H. Chapman, R. White, W. H. B. Wilkins, J. Monk, and H. Miles.
In tho course of his aifdress, Crnon Coleridge said that the ringers there assembled had just joined logether in dedicaling a memorial lo Tames William Washbrook, one of the mast noted riagers, if not the most noted, of all time. They had given these bells into the care of tho parishioners of St. Ebbe's to be used in bilis memory, and for the honour and glory of the dhrch. Canon Coleridge said that there were three reasons why he liad been specially asked to underdake the dedication ceremony, and to address the ringers: (1) Because the Brshop of the Diocese was mahle to come, as he had two Confirmation services that afiernoon; (2) Hecause as President of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers he represented in a sense ali the associndions and indiveluals who had conlubuted to the erection of fhe mamorial; sud (3) becanse he was the only living ringing cleric who knew James W. Waslibrook from his youth upwards, and the ouly one nanang the linging clergy who had rung 87 peals with him, inchurling at Maber of long peals, one of which was the 15.000 of Stedman Caters is Appleton. The preacher said he had visited many counties in many opporfunities of noting and adninging the clauracter of this perit many opporfunities of noting and admiring the clanacter of this veritWashbrock, Canon Coleridge said that he liad first come into contact wndergraduate mnmber of the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers. Every Wedmesdny afternoon in terna af 4.30 , the society used tn meet at St. ThomassaChtarch to rigg on open bells. Young Washallie to be in the ringing chamber when this ringing took place, ereepHng up to watch the undergraduates painfully endeavouring to ring sia-scores, ond as he whtelied he wondered when he, too, wonld be able was aille ta ring a bell and aboid eight or nine venrs old, Washlorook and whanever possible lie would carry ont the duts of tallime the death-bell for a death in the parish. Washbrook ant his greal friend, Jalth Jagegi", would often climb the ivy on the tower walls ai nighi, fitent an mitrance, tie same bella, and practice on them untt the cmall hoars of the morning. Whes Washlurook was mboni. 16 rears of age, one of the clepgy of st. Thomas's Chureh erae him Troyte's book, and and in Minor (probably frandairs in Grandsire and Stedman Doitbing Fane lis firsh peal of Grandsire, and soon aftorwarals fook part ine sitiman Triples from a non-ohservation hell. and from that time his minging records grew apace. 'I'las year 1888 stands out ne a most conspicuous example of hisgreat ferits in ringing a uumber of long peals, including 10,080 Double Narwich, 13,265 Grandsire Caters, and 12,041 and 15,041 of Stedman Catery. Later on lie had to give up lis work as instructor to the Oxford Diocesan Guild owing to the pressing clains of an noreasing family, and he went to Hereford, whore be diri a great deal to promote the art of change ringing.
From Hereford he went to take up a post at Arklow Churcla in Ircland, where, ont of very unpromising material, he formed a good yant of ringers, and after a time astonished the ringing world by the wonderful feat of ringing two tower bells in a perd.
After some pears in Irehnd, domestic reasons caused tis refura to England, first to Stafforlshire, ancl afterwards to Lancashirc, where he rang many peals, and whero ho spent the last part of his life Canon Calerifge suggested that it would be of great bencôt to the Exercise at Jarge if someone who hed the necessary leisure and ability would stady the available documents (such as the ' Bell News ' ont 'Ringing Worle'), and compile a complete record of Washbrook's peals.
The preacher emphasised the fact that Mr. Washbrook was an all round man being distinguished not only for his wonderful knowledge of the science and art of change ringing, but by his general ability and krowledge. To this knowledge he was always addigg, so that he be came a many-sided man. He was, too, a man who was appreciative of his religion. Ho was londest of all of going to the Cowley Fathers' Church, 'for there, \({ }^{\text {' }}\) he used to say, ' you can always liear' the best sermons by the best men in the cliurch." In conclusion, Canon Coleridge said, Two years ago this great ringer passed away. May that life go on in the Paradise of God, and may this peal keep ajive his memory
Immediately after the service, the first touch on ilıe bells (Stedmar Triples) was rang by the same eight ringers who rang duriag the service. Miny other visiting ringers then took the opportunity of ringing in tetaches of Grandsire Tyiples, Double Norwich, and Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, while lhose who were not aclually ringing strolled about for a while to hear the bells from different part: of the parish. All agreed that the bell founders (Messrs. Mears and Staimbank) liad effected an excellent blead, and that the bells wenl remarkablt well.
By the Findness of Canon Stansfeld, tea was served at 4.30 in St Ebhe's Parish Hall, and mote than oue hundred siogers participated. After tea, ilie Master of the Oxford Guitd said how tremendously he had been looking forward to that day, and how much he hoped that the bells had proved to all present that the Washbrook Bemorial Committee had not befrayed their trust. The commitiee had to consider the work that could be done with the money likely to be placer at their disposal. They then took steps to get the opinions of experts who advised the committee that the work of augmenting the sis bellis of Sli, Ebbe's could be undertaken with coufidence. He and the Oxford Diocesan Guild were very glad to welcome the ringers from other associations who wero present that day, aud to be the hosts at the tentable of those who had conse from far-off districts. He was especially giad to welcome there young James W. Waslahrok. Fic was wery pleased to hand over the bells to Canon Stansfeld, because the people who lived in this rather drab parish enjoyed the sound of the bells, and he sincerely hoped that the present ring of bells would bring to these parishioners the message of neate and joy, The speaker they suggested that the hells shonld be rung slowly in order that their beanty wight be brought out, and ha coucluded by remarking what a splandid opporbunity the roung Oxford ruggers now had of a sicep betwean six and ten bells

Canon Stansield, in a Pew heartfolt words, voiced his own pleasure and that of his parishioners in welcoming them all that day, and satd how very grateful they were for the generous and unexpected gift of the beautiful ring of bells.
Mr. A. J. Wriglat gave a bricf account of the financial side of the undertaking. during which he stated that \(£ 232\) 9s. 4d. had been subscriberd it all, of which \(\mathbf{E 9 2} 12 \mathrm{~s}\). 9d. came from ontside the Orforv Diocesan Guilki, Lancashire heving sent a Ronation of \(£ 20\). He flimated that there were some 600 subscribers to the memorial, and he wishen to take the opportunity of thanking the ringers throughout the country for their generosity.
Mr. A. A. Hughes (Mears and Stainhank) sain? that he consjemod t a great hononr and privilege to have heen asked to make the new bells. The old six, afthough very lightu bells, were unusually deep it pitan for ther weight, and it was, therefore, recided that two brebbes conk be added to them succersfnlly if the old six went to the faum dry and were aljusted in tume, Upon weighing the tenor bell, it was found to bo but a fow pounds ower \(4 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}^{2}\).
Mr. T. White, who underthot the work of hanging the bells. expressed his thanks for having had the honour of hanging this lighi ring, and his plensure thal everything proved so satisffetory.
Mr. FI. Chapman (Manchester) said that he was delighted with the two trebles, and that lie would he able to tate back to the norlt a very satisfaclory account of the Washbrook Yemarial.
Mr. G. F. Phillott (Chelfenlanm) expressed il as his opinion that lhe result of the work was most satisfactory.
\(\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{R}\). T. Hibhert sail blat he spoke with a full heart, and linat he was very proul that thare were now aight bells in St. Ebbe's, put there to the memors of will Washtrook, who was one of the linest of неи.

The IRev. C. W. O. denkyu thankeri Cnnon Caleridge for dedicating the bells, and for aderussing the congregation, and also expressed the thanks of atl to Camon Sthusfeld, the organist, and the choir for their Help that day.
[a responding, Cation Coleridge indulged in a mumber of remiaisenees of his association with J. W. Washbrook some af which had a afistiucty humorons side.
Mr. fi. Holifieht, senr., mande afur remarks athout the loug peal of Stednam Caters ab Appleton in 1888, ailler which Mr. J. Wr. Washbrook said how proud he was to know how much his father's memory was esteemed ly so maty ringers, and he exprosed his mosi siucere and graberul thanks for what land been said and doke.
After a Few words atoub the wisdon of the choime of the memorina from Mr. H. Miles, the proceedings terminated, and the nembers of the assembly made their wny to St. Ebbo's and other city lowers for ituther ringing.
The following members of the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers were present: Mr. G. H. "Phillots (onc of the original members of the society when it was founded in 1872), Canon G. F. Coloritge (Mastev iu 1881-2), the Res. 1R. J. C. Newhonse (sometime hon. secretary), Mr. ET. Miles (Master, 1921-2), Mr. W. M. Coller (presend Master), Miss C. W. M. Suall (late han. secretaryt, and Mr. T. E. Green (present hon. sectetary).

Four ringers who took part in the Rev. F. E. Robinson"s 1,000th poal twenty years ngo (1905) wore presenb, wamely, Canon Colertagu nud Messrs. J. W. Wnsthorook, Gr. A. Smiln and H. Miles.

The lasi, meeting of the yemr of the Stockport Brathely was held at Hyde on Saturday, Novenber \(28 t h\), and those whe braved the wintry elements were aniply rewarded for their trondle, As a mark of respect for the late &ucen-hother, the bells were fully mulled, and binging commenced on this tine-toned rimg soon after 3 p.m. 'lluy usual Guild lorm ol sorvice was taken by the Vicar of Hyde, who also gave the address. Those present uiterwards male kheir way to the casy parisl? room, which was well warmed, and supplied with one of the chec fendures of a rimpers" gathering, viz., "algradely ten, to which about 25 sal down. 'Chis clisposeri of, the business of the day was frunsacted under the chairmansinp of Mr. A. H. Jackson, and afibis request all sfood for a moment to honour the memory of the late Quects.

At. George Gorriuge was olecter a ringing memher, aun Stoctroat (St, Mary) was selected as the place of the anmual moting, to be hold out tive last Saturday of January, 1926.
M 4 . "I". Wikle then commented upon the leading article of tho 'Ring ing Woriti, pablished Ho previous day, on "Noiby Bells and Fant Ringing. la the apiaion of the speaker, it was a nity such mone had not heen written much sooner, fad he hoped that it would havo good effect. Fie said it hohoved all to tiy and get tho best out of the bells.-Sevoral other members voiced their opinion and rapraval.
Eventunlly the topic turned into a most interesting and entertninin dobate; first on the correct way of teaching a lerraer, in order that he thay ring his bell to the bestadvantage, the ptinatry object; of course, being slriking, and it whe umammonsly agreed ho should frat the put on a light bell, and only be permitted to go iuto diarges when he could ring rounds correctiy, Afterwards, the discourse moved on to the ringrag of the mere eliffacult methods. Mr. AF. P. Fidher suggested thai a hand who could ring Kent Treble Bob Major well, and who desirad to make good progross, should commence to proctjat the Minor methocis which hari been detailed by hira in the *Ringing Worlh." and which would slartly appear jn book form. In them they wauh fand a good steppiagestone to higlier things, aud wentually lia Surpuise methorls would nppeaf less formidable.
Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft supported this view. Jo his own personal expericnce lic had comed that the knowledge of Miner methorls of tained at Nothurg hadi ibrown a new light on the bigher methods and le hani formd them much easier to ring, through possessing goorl knowidgo of six-bell work.
Mr. A. Barnes togk ap the opposite wiew, staling thal a six-helf band wonkt find the two extra ropes an ohstacle to good Major ringity withont a vast amount of practige, and that lac chiof thing was ample study nt home, not learing it until atrival in the ringing-room. and relying on someone else to pull thens through. This wis sgreed upon, hut the arguments had been on a band conversant wilf cight-buld ringing, and who desired to mashey the more intricate work. There fore, being usecl to eight bells, ouce they had acquired a good knowlenge of Minor methods, the two extre ropes woulrl cause no trouble.

Evedtually the Rev. A. T. Beeston was prevalech unou to express his opinion, and stated that if a band desired to make progress they must stoop to concuer. Mang eight-bell ringers thought they ware lowering their fignity if they cathe down to six-bell ringing, liut if only they would lose that mistaken iden, then they land a mach hetter chane of ablatning the desired olyject, and he loped that those who wrere so grejuchiced mould remove the bias, get down to work, and prantise Minar melhods. The work would be band and slow, wel nevertheless sure, with rauch hetter results when it came to ringing Surprise Major, ete.
The Fon. Secretary gave notice flat at the annual mreting lae proposed to britg forward a resolation, which he liopod woalal be passet on to the Central Council for , hein consjeleration and action. Knowing full well thai many bells are almost inaccessmble to Rural Deans, aud even when they can get at them their lack of experimen nakes ik a difficult task to repolta on the condition of the bells, ete. and, as it is the duty of Ruma Denas to inspect belfyies periodimily as with ofleer church property, it is unfortunate that the bells natu toa often overlookech. He suggestad, therefore, knowing the contibnan of many hells and belfries, that, the Central Conncil, though Diwresan or other chanmels. draw attention to the adrisability of Rum Dearas, when they have no perwonal icelnical knowledge of bells, to apponint as tanid deputy for the purpose of inspection, some perfon With the pequisite quatifentions. A lending artiele kearing upon the subject appearer in the Ringing World of July 10th, and the sub ject was one which ought not ta be pushed in the background.-The Vicar of Hyde said lafe thorgit Lhat Runal Deans would wolcome flat inleat nad this was also the opinion of seweral clergy with whom tha malter las been discussen.

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY. \\ HISTORY-AS WRITTEN BY MR. DRAEE. I$y J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.}

Really, 1 cannot cougratulate the Rey. H. Drake on his fistory He Lells us that besides Plain changes and Cross Peals, there were, before Stedman's tirte, also Bob methods. Now, these were not ab litst melhods with one dodge in them, but methorls which were all dodgtag, or at least as thearly so as possitale. A method was not considemed it true Bob mehod unless one bell at loast dodged abl the time afler the Hunt leit it until it returned to it again.'
I'here is not the slightest fonadation for this statement.
Alt we know of the begimaing rad early development of riuging anters from Stenman's hook, tho 'Tintimnalogia,' published in 1668. thedman was au accuratu, thorougls and accomplighed writer, and can suffy Im liusted. He viescribes ringing under lwo distincl heads. Tlue tirst is lann Changes, which occupies roughly the first half of his lanok: the second is Cross Peals, whinh oceupies fite other and rather hinger hali. As these terms, no doubt, saean nolhing to a good many reddess of The Ringing World,' tei me explain that the distinctive fenture of piain Clanges was that only one pair of bels changed at a time, IMais Changes were likt modern stonoy; wilh the following ianotiant exceptions. They were composed on a highly sciealific plan and wilit ns much skill as any modern peal. the trutil of the changes whis bernputously adhered to. The helis changed at every blow; the conductor was dispenseri with, every man bimself kowing when to make a change. It will easily be seen that to ring a 720 under these conditious would requive a skilled band, and we must nob suppose that (hese conditions obtaned evertwhere. In some places the ringiog was these conditions obtained everywhere. \(I_{12}\) some places the ringing was whole pills, and in other's the changes were 'walked.' 'By walking thear is mant that. the bells go round four, six. eighl or more it une change, which is commonly used by youtg praclisers. And when the bells were * walked,' we may assume thai linere was a conductor. It was not till a good many yenrs after the birll of ringing thal Ploin Changes reached this stage. We may gafely couchude that thoy wero fully developed sanawhere about 1680 . Mr. Drake tells us hisi il is so molikely that Stedman developed Plain Changes that one can saicly say that it is impossible. I can only ask in astonisfumeut, foon le know who Fabian Stedman was, when he lived, and what he wrole? Perbaps the explination is that he thinks \(I\) meaut that Scedman invented Plain Changes. I said nothing of the sort. I said thai The nad other seventeenth contury ringers developed them with great Eut Flain Clanges lad scarcely been brought to perfection before they were superseded by Cross Peals. Tho feature of Cross Peals was that instead of only oue pair of holls changing at, a time, generad novenoent of ail the luells was introduced. Our modern Change Ringing would lave ranked as Cross Peals, hut it was some time before mothods in the present meaning of the term appeared. The first Cross Peals prelty obriously were variations of Plain Clanges, but with the invention of "Toukles and Simgles on four Bells, and 'Grandsire on Five Bells, an entirely new thing was introdnced into ringing composilion, which made modern method ringing possille. By 1700 The distifacion belween the method and tonches aud peals produced by Thus Stedman gives as Cipandsire Bob on Six Bells a parlicular 720 ; hook calied "The schoool of Recreation" in 170 t gives as Grandsire Rob what we now call Boh Minor, with Jlain Course and louches produced by hebs. This writer says, ' There are two kinds of changes, Plain Clanges and Cross Peais.
Tt is thus clear, hoth from direct testimong and from lhe nature of he ease, that there was no room for a thith kind of changes (the Soh methods), which Mr. Drake so coafidently tells us existed hefore Stuman's lime. Stecinann only once used the word Boty as the equivalent fractiad. or in cannection with methods, and that is in the ease of Grandsire Bob, which is the axact opposite of what Mr. Drake says llitase Bob mielhods wele. T suppose Mr. Deake will say lhat he nrrivad ni it by a process of logical derlurion. A rude person would eall it reekless guessing.

their change of name was an "act of gycoplantic adulation "is utterty unfair and utterly absurd. We may now think ition a good change buy that is anolier matter. To understand the situation you must realise that, in the early years of the cighteenth century Engiand was divided into two great parties, olle of which, the Jacobiles, favoured the restoration of the exiled Stuarts, the other who stood by the Hanovertan kings. Beside the question of the personality of the rival clamants to the Eaglisli throne, there were some very big principles involved. The retmm of Whe Stuarts would have meant (or was believed to have meant) the establishmont of personal autocratic government by the Sovereign, the favouriag of Roman Catholicisas, ind the lapse of England to a position of dependence on France. The other side stood for Parliamentary Government, the Protestani reIigion (which meant the religion of the Charch of England) and personal liberty. No doubl in practice it clid not work out quite like a hat, but that was how it appealed to the majarity of Englishmen at liat Lime. In 1745 Charles Fdward Stuart landed in Scotland, raised an army of Highlanders, defeated an English army at Prestanpans. and imvaded England. He reached Deily, but receiving no support from any English rising, relreated to Scotland, where his hopes aud those of his cause were finally crushed at the battle of Cullonden Moor by an army cammanded by the Duke of Cumberland, second son of George II. All this tine England was at war with Trance and as London was solid for the Hanoverians and the Protestant Succession, fon can understand the panic when the Highlanders were jn fall march on the city, and the relief and joy when they were finalty defeated. When the Duke returacd to Loudon be was received ly everyone as the deliverer from a national catastrophe, and why should the London Scholars beblamed because they shared the general feeling? In ater years the Duke became very unpopular, mainly for political reasons, and hard things were said about the cruelty and bratality wht which the Northern rising was suppressed. There was eruclty, anl there was bratality, but of that no one, least of all the London Scholars, knew at the time. There was no more sycaplmatic adulabion' in the London Scholars welcoming the patroage of thetr king'g son than there would be if a modern society welcomed the patronage the present Duke of York
If one had time and space there are quite a number of questions that one would like to ask Mr. Drake, and among them would he: Does he seriously say that Double Norwich has shartened " dodgina? When have I made any 'striclures' on bim, and where? What gronnds are there for saying that belfries in olden times were noister than they are now? Or that coarse and offensive names wauld lave appealed to the ofd conductors? Or that I and others have not vend the repolt of his committee?

It was agreed that the secretary be instructed to write to Mr. Taylor, expressing tho sympithy of the members.
Dhe first item on the agenda was as follows: "That a district of the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guid of Chand Bell Ringers he formed, witli Sleaford as headquarters, and that the meighbouring wowers of the Northern Branch be invited to join the district., This was proposed by Mr. G. Cliester, and seconded by Mr. C. W. P. Clii-ton.-In response to an intitation, from the presirlent, for discussion on the matter, Mr. F. W. Stokes (Guila secretary) inquired where the monndary lime would be drawa between the Lincoln aud nemly proposed distriet.-After some comment, as to whotlier the members at Tinnberand would care to remaln in the Lincoln district or become aldached to the Sleaford district, it was finally agreed to leave the arrangements in the hands of those two districts.
Mr. F. Linley proposed, and Flight-Sergt. F. A. Holden secomden, 1 lat Wr. N. E. Show be inviled to becomo president of the new district. -rilis was carricd, and Mr. Snow kindly accepted the offer.-Mr. Lintey then vacaled the chair, and the presidend, of the new district presited over the remander of the business.
The meeting then proceeded to elect (pro tem.) a secretart, a Ringiug Mister, and a representatice to serve on the Nartlsem Tramch Committee, und the following were appointed: Hon. secretary aud Finging Master, Flight-Sergt. F. A. Folden; representative to serve on the Sorthern Branch Committee, STr. W. F. Woods. Saturdas, January Iftha, was fixed as the tate for the first annual meetiag of the aew Histrict, the place closen for the purpose being $leaford.
It was suggestod that the under-mentioned towars be invited to herome affiliated with this district: Sleaford, Ewerby, Heckington, Great Hale, Rusikington, Ashby-de-la-Lounde, Ancaster and Helpringham.Filse Presidenl. expressed a hope that these towers, and ofliers if possible, would be well represenfed at the ammal meeting.
It was reported lbat, from a ringers' point of viex, Heckington hells are at the present, moment in it very unsatistactory condition. Mr. Soow madie reference to the recent death of Canon Langford Vicar of Sleafordh, and, as a token of respent, the members present hacd in silence.
One honorary momber and teri performine monbers were elceted. Voles of thatikg were passed to the church anthorities for the use the hells: the Rev. - Clambers for conducting the service and for his exceldent address: Mr. N. E. Snow for presiding at the organ: and he caterers for the capital tea provided.-These were duly responderl pathl concluded the business.
Pho best thanks of the members are also due to Flight-Sergi. Holden for the achminale way in which he made the necessary arrangements.
The bells of St. Denys' mere avallable airing the afternoon and evenme, and kept going in wrious methods, inelurline London and Gamharinge shmpise Major. As a token of respect to the late Canon Langford and Queen Alexandra. ithe touthes during the afternoon were fong wift the bells half-multled.

\section*{BRIGHTER DISTRICT MEETINGS!}
'Do we make our district meetings interesting enough?' That is a question which most associations might well ask themselves. Often the district meetings are really dull affairs, out of which members get but a small proportion of their time occupied with anything of a really educational nature. This may seem a sweeping statement, but if it be analysed it will be found to contain much truth. A man may put in six hours at a ringing meeting, and, on an average, is likely to get less than an hour's actual ringing; the remainder of the time will be spent in listening while others ring; attending service and tea and sitting through a meeting at which the business is largely a formality. It may be pleasant, but it cannot be said that it is always profitable.

The limited period of actual ringing practice cannot be avoided, because for every one who exceeds his fair share of actual bellry work, someone else has to go short. Agrain, the service is a very appropriate recognition of the ringer's intimate association with the work of the Church, but the average address given on such occasions is on lines which tend to become monotonous in their reiteration. Unless there are special circumstances, we see no real reason why, ringers having joined in an act of corporate worship, the sermon on these occasions could not be cut out without any loss to the dignity of the service or detriment to the future of the congregation.

But a great deal more might be done with these gatherings to make them interesting and educative, if discussions on subjects relating to ringing and ringing affairs could be introduced at the meetings. Many matters about which ringers, both young and old, could enlarge their ideas by hearing the views of others, could be discussed, and those of our readers who perused the report, in our last issue, of the meeting of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild must have been struck with the fact that several subjects of real importance and general interest were forthcoming for debate. The work of the associations themseives could be made more efficient, if 'domestic ' aftairs were more generally discussed at district meetings. Valuable suggestions, which would merit the attention of the Central Council, might spring from informal debates at these local gatherings, and the idea might even be extended to the reading of short papers on suitable subjects relating to ringing. This is a field in which there is much room for progress, and it might be utilised with excellent results. Advancement in the art does not depend entirely on practice in the belfry. A ringer's education can be promoted outside as well as inside the ringing chamber, and we should like to see a

\section*{NEW RING OF SIX IN CHESHIRE}

On Sunday afternoon, December 6th, \(n\) new risg of six bells was dedicated at Astbury Partsh Church, Cheshire, the Rector performing No cercmony. Dle new bells, installed in new frames, wore made from the oldi lour by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The total weight of Uhese was about 39 ewt, the teror being about \(14 \mathrm{cw}^{\mathrm{c}}\). The weight of the new tenor is abont 134 cwl . The tour old bells were recast by Pand Eutton, of Congleton, tho trehle in 1629. 2nd and 3rd 1638, and tenor 1647. The date of their origimat castug is not known by dstbury people.
As it took two men to ring one or two of the old bells, it was decided to ask Mr. Rirby, of Lawton, to take a band of ringers for the opening service, a ref̧uest which was glady accepted. During the Earviec, 120 Bob Doubles was rung; after service, 720 Bob Miñor, in 23 min.: J. Whablood 1, J. Boolla 2, E. Harper 3, w. Longman 4, G. Bidlulph 5, W. Righy (conduetori 6. Tonclies of Crthudsire and Stedman Doubles and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor were aloso rugg.
A splendid ten was provided for tio ringers Ly the Astbury Paroclual Clurcla Council.
The tone and 'go' of the bells, which are lung on the latest principles, were all that could be desiyed, and several ringers expressed the opinion that thes are the finest riag of six in Claeshire.
On Frillay, December 1141, 720 of Kent Treble Bob was riang on Lhe new hells, in 25 mins.: W. Longman 1, E. Harper 2. 't. Arrowsmith 3. J. Booth 4, G. Biddulpli 5, W, Righy (conductor) 6, being tho first 720 of Kent on the bells,

\section*{THE LIIERATURE OF RING(NG.}

\section*{By J. ARMLGER TROLLOHE.}

Heury Hubbard was a mest-class dinger, a good conductor, and at ailicd composer, bui it is not for these that lee chiefly deserves to be remembered. He was the anthor of a book on ringing j and while good ringers, conductors and conposers have lueen muny, authors of inging books ate of neessity lew.
The earliest of all was Fabian stedman, who gublished his Tintinnalogis as long ago as 1668 . Siedman hati, porlups, tho finest intellect of any man who has witter on ringing, and his book is in some respects the best wa have; not from the present day practical porat of view, of course, for it deale largely with I'lain Changes, which hawe long since been supersedod and survive only in a debased form "Shoney '; and where it does deal wilh. Croses peals goes no further Lhan a 720 of Bob Mnor. It is the way in which those things are deseribed and explained that is the excellence of the book, and it is here that the most modern writers can learn of Stedmau and look up to hims as a master. He professes to give *a full Discovery of the Ot this book ane copy only survered to recent times. It was in the possession of the Rev. C. W. Lukis, of Wath, in torkslire. I fin Dot equifo sure what las become of il, but 1 think it is in the British Museum. In 1895 a reprint of it was issued by "The Hell News," and it has thus been made aceessible to a good many ragers. The Exorcise owes a debt of gatitude to the late Mr. Farver Reeres for this.
Ringing was developing rapially in Steriman's time, and after a few years he found it necussary to publish it sacond brok, which lie calleal the 'Camparalogia.' In this was printed for the first time the methorl with which Stedman's name is so viclely assoriaterl. He gives it on no ligher number floas five bells, and he rlesigned it as a system which slould be an entire change from, the tratitional composition by means of Humis. 'The 'Campanalogia' hecame the standatd book on minging und is prestige is acknowledged lyy the fact that for mearly two lutwled years eypry hook on ringing bove the same name.

A few copies of this hook are still in existerue. Incritably thane is 1he risiz that, as years go on, the number shoukl get smalleci. Ringers rio not seom to appreciate the value of il, and to ollier jerpe nalurally it has no walue at all. It would he a geod thing if steps were taken to find out how many copies still remain, and where they are. so that incase of the death of an old ringer his copy should not he destroyed. Efforts should be made by assonations to actuire alis copy of 1.1 is or other old book. Fspecially it sould be a gracious acel for anyon, who has a copy to five or hequeath it to his association it might be available for future generations of ringers. frithin the Jast few years the Hertiord County Associalion was given a cons hy an olf ringer, and it now forms the mast valuable item ju the valuThie library in St. Heter's beifry ai St. Albens.
The next book yublisied was the Campaoalogia, on the Art of Ringing, by J. D. und C. M., issued in 1702, and dedicated to our honoured and estem'd friends the Sociely of Lazdon Schalars." teenth aud early part of the eighteenth centuries. He was the man, you will temenher, who was bracketed wilh Stedman hy Thos. Melchiar as ath aulhority or Stedman Doubles. The hook follows stedments work dosels' "Two other editions of it were issued, and it remained the only text hook on ringing for righly years. Long befare that lime, however, it, was hopelessly ont of date. The first quarter of the righteenth century sam ringing developed to jts present form, and 10 men like tnomable or Holt or Melchior, and their bands, the J. D. and C. M. book was as litte good as if would be la us. Anrable intended to wrile a book, but unfortumfely it came to mothjng. and 就 was not tit] 1788, one humdred and twenty senrs after Stedman's 'Timtimalogia' that with thr Clavis "Camparialogia wa have the earliest look that deals with ringing sa we now practice it
This justly famous book was the work of dhee Loudon ritugersToner, Recves and Blakemore sutit is interesting to speculate on ringer and compoter, and to bim has alwins heen piven the credit of sll the compasitions in the hook. All, that is, witf sueh ofurions oxcaptions as Foli"s peals. Yet it shmuld he remmbered that no chelh elaim is made in the book itsmif. The authors do say wilt no lithir pride that Superative Surprise is own own. but thay are silent abond tha other imethods and peals. It would be stratige if un use at all wrte marfn of the work of othry men, and there is obse instancer Reeres', that in the Cumberlatif's neal book is said to he the composition of George Gross. Anvwry. Reetes whs a verg clever composer. nad the ermat majority of 'The Ciavis, peals are moluinly his.
Thomas Bhalemore wis also a pood ringre. He calleti the fircf peal of sienlman Cinches ever rung. He was lhaman who visited Nor-notes. Perlans his share was the entlecisng of methous and peats from differeni, parts of the semintre.

I do mot remember Jones as a composer or condmelor. Bub his arame stands first of the three on the title page, and he undaubterly Was the man who made the book out of the materlai the others supplicd. He wrote the letterpress and descriptions whicla show very considerable literary ability.
Shipway's ' tampannlogia' appeared in 1816. This book is inferiot Io "The Glavis' in some respects, but much superior in geceral ill" rangenent and usefulness. I lape to say something abaul it at u future time.
Then in 1845 came Hıbbard's 'Campanalogia,' of whicin more presenty.
'I'fe next two looks were writted in Yorkshire. The first of then with by Beajamin Thackeray, and copies of it are Fery scarce. It is not a gaod hook, though it condans several interesting thinge. I'hackeray points out how, by making what he calls a Simgte in Cambridge Surprise, a good deal of its falseness may' be done eway with. 'I'his Fact was rediscovered in later times, and the method so alterod is rung as New Cambridge. What is called a peal of Superkalive Surprise appears in the hook. The calling is \(1 \mathrm{M}, 1 \mathrm{~W}, 3 \mathrm{R}, 1 \mathrm{~W}, 3 \mathrm{R}\), J W, twice repeated. This, of course, is only twenty-ane courses, but if you add 3 in any one part you have a 5152 , and if you add them in erety part you have a 6048. Tlais is the peal that is usually printed over John Cox's name. Now, Cox had a copy of 'Thackeray's book, and made a percil mote that the peal was incomplete. Cox mas a perfecly loonesb and honourable man, aud the fucident ouly illustrates the fact fat at that time the ideas of what constitutes au original composilion were very diferent to what they are now. Aad likely enough in the future men will wander how the composers at 1oday could consider many of the moderm peals original compositions. We ouglı to remember this when we feel tempted to condema mun like Shipway and Hubhard and Harrison for varying other peophes peals, and blaming them as their own. Ant the man most nefding charity in lhis respect is William Sottangall, the author of the second hook publisled in the north. This appeared in 1867 . Properly speaking, it is hardly a book ai all. It is a big heap of material fron which a good hook conde have been made. There wobld Inave hat to be carefal selection and ruthless rejection. Reduced to rbout half it size and properly arrangerl, it mighi lave been a good work. Sotinnstall was a painstaking, industrious man, and it composer of more than average zbility, but it 1 akes gomelhing more than that to write a book.

After Soltanstall eppeared Banister's book, which is very much like Hubbari's work, and that was the last of a series. The suthora of all these hooks had tle same object in wiew, atad that was to deal conprehensively with the whole of ringing. They tried to give a text book which sloond assist ringers from changes on three bells up in 1.ondon Surprise, or whatever was the most difficult method at the time, ant they fuclutled composition and conducting as well as actual ringing. lt is safe 10 say that no other similar book will again he published. Ringing has gol too complex, and las expanded too mirh to be dealt with in a book that one can slip into ome's pocket. All later books rieal with only a small part of the subject. Tropte's mat Cianon Wiglam"s hooks are purely elementaty. Jasper Srouclen sct Whe fashon of iaking a single method and dealing thoroughy with that. And this is the plan adogied by Sive Arthur Herwood in his Duffieh." and Mr. Davies' in Jis "Stedman, while the Ceutral Consocil books ate for the most part frankly colledions of conpositions or methodis.

Resides the hooks I have mentionerl there have from time to fimo appeared lurondsheets snal pamphets. Holl published one coniaining his peals. J. P. Powrll publishad one containing Stedman Triples; so -lif shipwav. Then ihere are Nr. Thompson's two parphlets, one an the composition of firsndsire Trinles, num the other on the romposition of Linion l'riples: Carter's hrondsheet of peals, and a tew aflera. If a man possessed the whole of the books publislied on ringing, inalding n nooy of each of different ditions, they would ocoupy hut \(n\) modest shelf. Such a collection would be a treasure indeed, hat to make it it would zoed a man with plenty of pationee, plenty of "rd thusiasm, and. I thind 1 may add, plenty of moneg.

Sir,-The tragic death of Mnjor th. C: Fudson, of Bishonweamonht, is so clistressing that it \(i_{s}\) impossible to express one's feelings of sympadiy mid regret at the loss of a life like his.
Everyote who lias the caro of bells in a tower must face tho stand dangers, and laving spent a period of fiften yenrs as towntwepr, it may mot be out of place if 1 mention somo of the guides 1 lasw usen during that time. I first had the carce of six in atimber fanm. ant alterwards of eiglat in a motern iron and stem frame. Soon after commenced these duties, had boen anjusting a ropo on one oll th, tholls at rest, being on the lop of the frame. The hell in the mext pit was set-vory lightily set, too, which ! did not realise at the time-ant I look hold of the whel to pass to the gext one, when I Felt at chlight movement, and the hel almost overlananced. Thas startled me for a moment, und wiblout finishiug my task, I eame down. If a piece of rope of a suifahle length he kept in a conventent place, on entering the coge it can be got ab pasily, and nsed when required. I still thinf this is the best remedy for a bell that is eel while one is workint amang them. It is simple, always at land and is efficient. Try il and do nof enter among the bells in a luare. \section*{SHORTENED DODGING.}

AN APOLOGY, by tile REV, H, DRATEE
T's legit with I musb apologise fulsy lo Mix. Trollope nud youta readers for the biander in the sentenca firs quoted by him. How the sentonce gol into tny letier, dr whut it meant, \(I\) cannot inagime. It may be that the righl words in a sentence were crossed out in error, and only the wrong ones copicd ; at nay rate the phaso "hafore Stedman's lime ' has nothing to do with ile argument. These wouds onfirely misled Mr. Trollope, und he is quite juatified in the capital Le makes ont of them.

For the rest, I am quite untepentant. To take this argument first. auch to pui it in alotier way : Is one look at page 2 of Standard Mothots-Diagrams, one seos ithe Plain Bulb diauram, and ou tlye next page the two methodis, Double Court Boh and Double Oxford Bob If the order in which they are there grinted, it would appaar that the methods progross in complication of thodging; and in ander to ming them nowadays, this is the anly ordel to place thems. My'lacory (this is theary, aud not listory) is (hat as fat as the names go, the more complicated carne first. Al any rate, we liave the fact meationed by Mr. Trollope himself, that' 'bolo originally meant "dodge'; alzo the fact thaj ia Double Oxford Lhere is plenby of dodging, so that it could Ђe called a fuhl Bob Method. We also koow that the wort 'Courl,' as a rleseription, meat Curb or Slrortened; and we see that in Double Court, the amount of clodging is consicierably shortenci; while in "Plain. Bob, the dodging is reduced to its plainest or simplest form. The shate thing will be found on pages 26 and 27, with regard to Donble Now wich aud Double Oxford. It certaindy weems a more sensible lliug to condect the terras, Bob, Court Boh alld Plain Bob, with dudging than wilh places.
I did nok expect that will Mr. Trollope I should need to write "This js a joke' after most of my sentences, but af any rate tho sequipedalian ature of the pluaso "Act of sycophantic eduization. might lave warned him nob to take it seriously.
When I said that it was "unlikely' that Stedman developed Plaint Cfanges, I was obviously not stating histary", kue my opinion, to which I am as much entitled ass he is ta his. Fow much the latter is worth may be dedued [rom the fact that lue makes these statements: (a) That oun earliest knowledge on these ant tors is dated 1658 , anci gives us boin Plajn Clanges and Cross Peals; (b) that wa may 'safely conclude ' that Plain Changes were fully developed sonewhere about 16月0: and (c) Lhat Plain Changes liad scarcelt been brought to parfection before they wera superseded by Cross Peals. Of these tliree conlradictory alatements only one can be true. Of course, it is the last, and that if the very reason why it is so unlikely that Stedman had any thing to do with developicg Plain Changes.
There lave beea found, \(\mathrm{R}_{\mathrm{S}} \mathrm{I}\) have alreedy mentioned in your pages, inscribed on the tower of Buxlall Cluurch in this county of Suffolk, a set of Plain Chacges signed by one John Gooch, who. according ta the antiquars who disconered them, died before Stedman was born, as far as cau be ascertained. Ti this is so, Mr. Trollope is about 100 years out jn his history, and his "safe" conclusion.
Mr. Trollope seems to give the impuession that Touches with Singles and Bols were not rung madh before 1700; \({ }^{\text {a }}\) so, he is wrong; as Stedman tells us how to do this in 1667; only lee calls Bebs :Double Bobs," aud Singles 'Siogle Changes.' A Single Bob' is his name for a Plain Lead (i.e. of Grandisire) on five bells; and with Grandsire Bob (oun Plaia Bob), on six bells. that we may (not 'safely conclude, ns M[1. 'Thollope wontal say, but say that it is the most likely conclusion, Hat he simply recorded Plain info Grandsive Daubles; and also a number of suggestions about Plam Boly Minor.
The "strictures which Mr. Trollope queries are coatained in the lines following my use of that word.
I did not say finat the had not read onr report, but he certainty foes not zive much evidence of having done so, in either of these long articles on iL .

\section*{GUILDFORD DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.}

Probably on acconat of the last minute change of day (caused by the deatio of Quece Alexandra) the attendance at the annual meeting of the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Cuild was not so largely attended as usual, but about 60 members and visitors werc present, the affiliated towers represented being: Ash, Cranleigh, Clandon, Farnlam, Guildford (Holy Trinity and S. Nicolns'), Godalming, Hasiemere, Seate, Woking and Worpleston. During the eiternoon, ringing took place at. botli Holy Trinity aud \($\). Nicolas' Churohes, and the service, in which the Guild's form and special hymns were used, was held at the latter church, the Rev. J. Paliser David (Rector of Mervew) officiating, and giving an address.
The inusincss meeting followed tea in S. Nicolas' Parish Hall, Aclmiral T. P. Walker, of Woking, wio is learning to ring, taking the clair. He was supported by the Rev. J. Palliser David, Canon Kirwan, and the oficials of the district.
The Chairman first expressed his pleasure at the opportunity of meeting so many ringers, and welcomed the visitors. He had only got as far as ringing call changes, he said, but he had already found out that ringers were a first-class set of men, very sympathetic, very kind, and very helpfui. There was among them an excellent spirit of camaraderie, and a great sense of humour.
As the preacher liad to leave early, Admiral Walker took the opportunity of thanking him for lais excellent address.

PROPOSED RECASTING OF A GUILDFORD PEAL.
Mr. R. Whittington said that a proposal was on foot to recast and rellang the ten bells at S. Nicolas' Church. He was told that the ringers there had made themselves responsible for secasting the treblo beil, which would cost something like \(£ 25\). He thought it would be a brotherly sort of thing to 'go round with the hat and hand it over to the S . Nicolas' ringers towards the cost of their bell.
A collection was accordingly made, and realiset \(£ 1 \mathrm{I} 4 \mathrm{~s}\). 4 d .
Apologies for absence were received from Canon Colcridge, Mr. (i. Pullinger (Guild secrelary), and Mr. Vincent.
The Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. Racldon) reported that five meetings had been herled during the year, and the balanee sheet showed a sum of \(£ 7\) 5 s . 8 d . in hand. There were 143 full members, seven probationers, one unatiached and four compounding members, the increase on the year bejng 18.-- The report, was adopted.
The Ringing ifaster reported that 22 tawer bell peals had been rung during the year. Death, had removed Mr. Lucas, of Shalford; Mr. Poyntz, of Godalming; and Mr. Foxall, of Dorting the last named having been one of the pioneers of the Guild. He suggested that leaders of companies might advisc the secretary of the death of any ruember so that it miglt. be possible to send a wreath and representatives to the funeral, and even on occasion to provide a handbell party. The report continued that, while there was much for satisfaction in the present progress that was being made, there was also something to lament in the decay that was sometimes to he observed -decay by which bells were allowed to fall into neglect and ruin. Hr thought this was due to a wrong mental attitudo towards rjuging by ringers in the past, and, to some extent, to-day, He urged ringers to make ringing what it was already supposed to he-e definitely sacref? art. This eowld not be done by merely printing the name of the Bishop and Dean on the front of their report. What they wanted wns to change the atnosphere in which the art was often pursued. The report added thal the commitlee had considered the possibility of arranging a serics of combined practices for the benefit of cullying towers, which in the ordinary way could not be visited very often. They hoperi, perhaps, to have a whole day tour on Whil Monday. Thoir experience tin the pasti in this direction lad not been very entconvering, but they hoped ilse members would rally to the support of tho scliente when it was inaugurated.

The report, was accepted, fard thanks temulered to the Master.

A number of new mombers and probntioners were elected, and Mr, E. Kaddon was re-elected hon. secretary, and Mr. C. Hazelden Ringing Master. Messus. Wlittington nnd Jones were reappointed to re present the district on the Guild Committee.
The District Cormittee recommended that aneetings he held during the coming year at Farmham, Dunsiold, Witley, Woking and Ewharst, -It was suggested that a meeting should be held at Seale, where a new bend is making progress, but it was pointed out that, under tho rules, that meeting liat no power to interfern with tho decision of the Distriet Commitiee, the only over-riding anthority being tho Guild Conmiltee.
A resolution was passed, recommending the Guild Committee to lake steps so to amend the rule that members in annual disirict meting assembled could decide the places of mecting for themselves.
The business concluded with a vole of thanks to tho clinimman, preacher, organist and cloir, and a smoking concert wis then hefri.

\section*{PORTSMOUTH DISIRICT'S PROGRESSIVE YEAR.}

The ammal meeling was hedrat atwertake on Sahurday week, when the nusical ring of cight at St. Mary's were available during the aftertoon and evening. Owing to the death oi Queen Alexandra the Gells were rung with lanf-rautled ciappers hroughout the day. Meubers and wisitors, numbering 40, were presenv frans Alverstake, Hislinp's Writham, Curdridge, Fareham; Gosport, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thamas'), Ryte (I.O.W.), Srammore and Wichnam. The visilors ineluded Mr. G. Williams (Master) and R. J. Hasted (Farnham).

At enjoyable service was hell in the church, at which the Rector (Chanan G Landon, R.D.), officiated, assisted by Mr. ES. Douglas, F.R.C.O., at the organ. In the course of a rew remarks, the Rector said how pleased they always were to welcome the Guild to Alyersloke, and how appropriate it was for them to be there that day in \(n^{3}\) period of national monirning to take part in half-mufted ringing. In conclusion, he thouglat that one of the chief aims of memberslip of tirc. Diocesan Guild should he to ensure a good standard of change ringing. and also of members atiached to the various towers.
Tho members adjourned to the Broderick Hall, where tea awaited them, after whicla the business meeting was leld, the Recfor laking tine chair. The balance sheet, which was presented by the distictict auditor, showed receipts anounting to \(£ 13\) Ss., and expenditure to \begin{tabular}{l} \end{tabular} 195. 5dd. leaving a balamee to the general treasurer of \(£ 7\). \(3 \mathrm{~s}, 6 \mathrm{~h}\) d.Seven full members and ten probationers were elected, nine of the latter lueing from Gosport.

My. H. J. Smith (Wickham) asked that he should be excusell reelection as a Central Committee representative, as he found, owing in ill-health, it was incrensingly difficult to gel about. Mr. F. A. Burnett (Portsmouth) was duly elected io serve on that body. All the other officers were re-eleted, viz: Chairman, Mr. R. J. Stone; secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; Central Committee, Masers. C. J. Fray and F. A. Burnett; auditor, Mr. H. G. Reynolds.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Wicklinnu wh Saturday, February 1311, 1926, and that ppplication should be made for use of the peals of six at Shedfield nud Swanmore.
On the proposition of the district claniman, votes of thanks werc accorderl the Rectar of Alverstoke for tho use of the bells and the hall, and also the organist, to wheh Canon Landon sujembly replied.
This conclucled the business, after which the mambers returned ta tho lower, the ringing during the day ranging from 'rounds' to Superlative Surprise Major.
\(A\) resume of the past year show that meetinge lave been lyold at Portsmouth, Fetersfield, Netley and Farclum, the average attendance being 26. The ringing, which hat been quile up to siandard, harl incluted the standard methods, also Camhridge, Superlative, Iomiou and Brisiol Surpriso Major. There was an increaso in full, prohalion? nry, compounding and honorary members, and also one affilialetl tower, Hambledon being rejoined the Guild. It is hoped that that coming year will be an equally, if not, more progresuive one than tho pant.

\section*{JHGH'L LOUGHBOROUGH BELLS REPLACE SIX STEEL ONES.}

Bulper is one of the most historical towns in Derbyshire, with upwurds of 12,000 inhabilants. At ono tiwe its staple brade was nailarbking. It ulso possessed a colton spinning raill early the the eighteenth century, which stood on St. Jelin's Road, owned by a Mr. Robjuson. 16 musi Lave been very ancieat, as it was worked by horses. If 1745 the Strutis duilt anolher mill on the banks of the River Derwent (the yemains of which still stand). At thab time the inhabitants numbered 541; ten years, alter the population had prown 5,000, This mill has been enlarged several limes, and now employs ower 1,300 luuds. It is amalgamated with the Inglish Cotton Co. In 1832, the Jhuliess of Kent aud Priucess Victoria stayed at Belper with the Strutt finnly. The land for miles round belonged to the de Fervers during tho two centuries sumceding the Conquest. Robert de Fexrers, wiso died in 1139 , granted land at Heage for service in driving wolves ont of the Lordslip of Belper. They were a powerful and restless family, who hold a Costle at Duficte and the Manor at Belper, but in the yeat 1266 the screnth liard Robert rebelled egainst the king, Henry HL. ann? at tho hat tle of Fivesham fonne himself on the losing sirle. He ffod to Ghesterfield, ancil hid himself among the bags of wool stored iII liu wave of the church for the Whitsuntide Fair. Being discovered, lie was conveyed to windsor in dmins, and bis land confiscated by the Crown. Dulfield Casile was destroyed, and the estates of the de Ferrers were given to the King's second son, Edmund Crouchback, Farl of Janctaster.
About this date a clanel was built in the forest as a wayside place of worship for the keepers of the Duffidd Forest, wayfarers, and ite small isolated populalion, whose parisin clurci lay several miles awny moross wild country at Dilfichd. In the official records of the Honour ni Tutbury, which was the headquarters of the Ducliy of Lancaster in Hese parts, in the sear 1314, there is a charge of sixtecu shillings for glazing the windows, and in 1398 we read that the honey and wax Frona wild bees in Duffeld Wrad were appropriated to the ohapel. It was licensed for marringex, for in the year 1420 Sir Sampson Neverill, Tideswell, was mintiofi in Isathella, ciaurhter of Sir Roger Leche, fort High Treasurer of Englamd, who had a lionse at Belper. The chapel whs disendowed. nall had to rlepend upou an uncertain service trom Duffield. and willain a century of its disendownment jt fell into alapidation. In 1634 there are meorms of repairs, amd so it went on "utif ahoui 1870, when the Rer, F. A. Friend started an uricerfaing for the restoration which was carried out, and the churels is now thornughly restored and uned for service. The present Church of St. Peler was built in 1822-24, and arty had one bell, which was given hy Mr. Struit, but in 1861 a peal of six steel bellg were installed, raade by a Sheffied firm, and lung by a local carpenter. After sixty climed.
Many meetings of the Chutel Council riscussed the question of a new penl, and at lencth decided to have the bells restored and rehung in a factory. After the wardens and several members of the committae luan heard a peal tapped ari the foundry, the Council met to further Gelus the matter, when a letter was received from Mr . G . H. Stunt offring to provide the largest bell. Mr. T. Funter and hers Hunter also promised two bells, and the Comeil, therefore, decided to go for watel will the big scheme of eight new hells.

subscription list was opened, and other bells promised by Mr Barlers, Mr. Jackson, the Her and Haynes families, leaving only fwo lie provitfed. The subseriptions rolled in so fast that in less thath flom months the amount regnired was raisell. The eight new bells plated. The inserinions are as follows:-Treble.-Yeutite. The gift of A. M. and F. Sanders, Thnor-Latis Deo. Presented by George Herberi Strath, 1925.

The dedication service was held on Saturday, Nowember 281 h , ann? Hiera was a repreacntatiwe attendanee, the church beiag erowrled. Aler tho lymar. 'O Crod, our lielp.' and the anthem, 'Send out Thy' light,' the Bishop of Derby, accompanied by the warden, claplain and \(V\) icar, passed down the church to the lower, where the vicar recounted the gifts offered, and asked the Bishop to dedicate them. The Bishop blessed the bells, with special prayers, and as the procession relurned, the \($\) to Andrew's (Derby) ragers fany the bells halfmuffled, after which the Bislop gave a slort address. The closing hymo was 'We love the place, \(O\) God, and as the congregation left tho chureh the bells rang out, open, to a touch of Stedman, followed by nnother of Dutfield Major.

Tlice bells are hung in a steol frame on ball bearings, and go like tho proverbial 'fiddles.' Ercrybody was pleased with the work, and spoke of the excellent tone and easy "go' of the bells.
A ten was provided for tho St , Andrew's and local ringers, with the Ficar (the Rev. J. A. Cooper, M.D.), Mr. H. Mellor, Mr. L. Gee (eluarchwardens), Mr. J. Hunter, and others.
The Vicar said how pleazed ho was with the bells, and the way the work had been carricd out by Messrs. Taylor and Co. and thanket the St. Andrew's ringers for their service during the afternoon. Other speakers also supported his remarks, and Messrs. C. E. Hartt (churchwarden and captain of St. Andrew's) and C. Draper respondert. The ringers then returaed to the belfury, and, with a fow visitors, kept the lrelis going until eight o'clock.

\section*{LAMBERHUKST BELLS RESTORED.}

There was a crowded conglegation at the Parish Church, Lamberliurst, Kent, on Wednesday, December 2nd, when the bells, which had been silent for over four years, were dedicated, after restoration, by the Arclsdeacon of Tonbridge. Other clergy present were Canon Champneys, the Rev. E. Owen (Pembury), and the Vicar (the Rer. E. 5. Jose).

The Archateacon, in the conrse of his address, said le supposed it Was not kuown exactiy when the bells were first given, but they bad been associated with their beautiful clurch for many years. He quoted instances to show how the bells entered into the lives, both religious and secular, of the people, and added that it was difficnlt to say when they were first intronuced into the Christian Church. Might they who lived there this Christmas, and, indeed, through the successive seasons of the Chisistian year, never fail to listen to the message tanglit them by the bells. Afler the service, the bells were rung by the lacal ragers. The third bell has been recast, and the peal relang with all new fttings in a new steel-frame by Messrs. Gillett and Jolanston.

The tower was open on Saturday. December Sth, when riggers carne from Tumbridge Fells, Kilndown and Forsmonden to try the bells. At five o'clock the ringers were met by the Ticar and clurchwardens, and all were findly entertained to tea by Mr. Beach.
After tea the ringers went back to the tower and rang further fonches, the methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise. All present were agreed that Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have splendidly carried out the work, the 'go of the bells being perfect.

\section*{NORTE BUCKS BRANCH, SUGGESTED INTER-TOWER MEETINGS.}

A successful quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Braneh was Inela at Buckingham on Saturday, December 5 th, when nbout 35 attended. representing the following towers in the branclı: Btetchley. Beachampton. Fenny Stratford, Maids Moreton, Newport Pagnell, Padburyr Stony Strafford. Twyford, and Buckinglant. The bells were ringing From 2.30 until 3.30 p.rn., when service was conducted by the Rev. C. C. T. Naters, this being the first time be hati been able to offieste at a Guild meeting. His address. llough briof, was rery juteresting, and appreciated by the members. After service tea was serred at the 'Bakery,' where a room liad heen set apart for the occasion. The Speretary (Mr: W. Soar) amounced to the neetiog that no special business liad to be transacted, but he was rery pleased to see such a nice gathering, which certainly showed that there was real life in the branch. He said that be had hoen asked to accept shalstone tower in Ho branch for nest year (1926), and he was sure they would all be pleased to welcome the band. The Twyford lower was once more in nulon, having rejoined thas rear. The secretary also said that it would he serviceable if several towers could meet and assist each other. The Buokinglam lower was practically at a siand, and it seemed, with the grand peal of eight which it possessed, that it was a pity move admantage could uat be taken of them.

Thanks were expressed to tho Res. C. C. T. Naters, Vicar of Buckingham. for entertaining the tranch, for making the necessary arrangemenfs for tea, and for conducting the service. Thic was sutitably responded to, and reference was made to the death of Hr . Robinson, of Ruckinglinm, who for many years was the leader of the tower, and whu was mised that day.

The menthers then adjourned to the lower for further ringing, the mothoils during the afiernoon ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Strprise Major.

\section*{DEVELOPING A NEW INTEREST}

Anything which will encourage progress in the art of ringing deserves the warmest support, and we anticipate that the Exercise will welcome the new text-book on spliced-method ringing which will be published from ' The Ringing World ' Office next week. It covers the subject most exhaustively, and deals with an entirely nem phase of ringing. 'Splicing ' is a modern development which was never anticipated by past authors, but it is unquestionably the direction in which six-bell ringing will now expand. The full scope of legitimate Minor methods has been explored, and there is, probably, nothing worth having in this category which is not already known. Ringers whose practice is limited to six bells would, therefore, be at the end of their resources if it were not for the introduction of the splicing system. Obviously, however, this new plan of ringing extends the field of practice to a remarkable degree, and opens up an entirely new interest.

Although the forthcoming publication is based upon the recent scries of articles which Mr. J. P. Fidler wrote in these columns, it must not be thought that the book is confined merely to a reproduction of these hints on how to achieve a thirty-five method peal. The book goes far beyond this. The whole subject of 'splicing ' Minor methods is dealt with by Mr. J. W. Parker, whose knowledge of this, as of many other phases of the art, is unexcelled. He discusses and illustrates the various ways in which Minor methods may be joined together in true extents, and gives the student ample information to enable him to pursue a further investigation of the various methods which may be coupled up. Mr. Parker's analysis of the subject is easily the best as well as the most exhaustive treatise that has yet been written on the theory of splicing, and, coupled with Mr. Fidler's practical hints, wifl enable any ringer, who cares to study the subject, to get a complete grasp of the whole matter.

The value of the book does not lie entirely in the fact that from it a band can learn to put into seven true Minor extents something like fifty different methods. Such a peal would, of course, be something to be proud of, but the publication will open up a new interest for thousands of ringers, even though they never ring a peat. The book will show ringers of plain methods how they can, if they choose, put two methods instead of one into their Sunday service touch; the more ambitious can learn how to include no fewer than ten methods in one true seven-twenty, or, if they prefer, any lesser number of methods. The important point is that it reveals a new field of operations, a new scope for the enterprising, and should imbue a really genuine new interest in the att of ringing. The time will come when the 'method' ringer who knows nothing about splicing will be as out-ol-date as the 'stoney ' ringer of to-day-the publication, which will be on sale on New Year's Day, will be the 'tutor' which will put every ringer in the path of acquiring that lnowledge which will cnable him to achieve success in this new phase of our aut. It is a book which will not only appeal to six-bell ringers, but will be found equally interesting to those whose practical ringing is confined to higher numbers. We imagine that within a few weeks it will be on every leen ringer's booksbelf, to be taken down constantly for study and reference.

\section*{A LECTUHE ON BELLS.}

On the afterinoon of Sunuay, November Rgth, members of St . James's Church, Birch-iu-Rusholme, Nanchester, had a new world of experience end interest opened up for them by the Rev. F.P. Cheethera, Principal of Egerion Hall, Manchester, and a member of the Cambridge Universify Gull of Clagage Ringers, who zave a lecture on 'Bells and Bell Ringing.' There is at Biroh a five ring of eight bells, but few except the ringers had any couception of the scientific skill and knowledge necessary belore the bells could be rightly used.
The lecturer began liy giving a slant history of the origin and develogment of bells aud their uses, showing how intimately connected they have aways been with relighous worship. \(H_{e}\) then explained the theory of change ringing, aided by plofograpbs and a maodel swinging bell, kindly lent by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The value of this able lecture was considerably enlanced by ithustrations of change ringing. rung by a band of haudbell ringers, under the leaderslip of Mr. E. Chapman (Mosers. D. Brown, H. Jackson. A. Barnes, A. Bailey, and F. Page). They gave leads of Bob Minor, Bob Major, and Bob Royal, following up with a plain course of Graddsire Caters, and a plain course of Stedman Caters. These who faced inclement weather to aitend the leclure were more than repaid for their trouble, and it is hoped that the present band of change ringers at Birch (most of whom have served for many years in the belfry). will be reinforced by younger men, who, having caught something of the fascination of change Finging from this leeture, are willing to give time to the mastery of this difficulit art.
No nccount of ringing activities at Birch at this date can be allowed to close without mention of the dealh of Mr. William Ryder on Saturday, December 5 hh, at the age af 79 years, and to which reference was made last week. He liad been a ringer at Firch for over 61 years, holding the position of conduclor for many years past. The writer was privileged to see him a few hours before he lost consciousnese, and his last desire was to hear some accosnt of the Rev. \(F\). \(P\). Cheetham's lectare. He will always be remembered ior his faithfuf service in the belfry, a service no less valunble because rendered week ly week, unseen by the majority of worshippers.

SALOP RINGER'S LONG SERVICE.
sEERIFNHALLS PARTSHIONDRS' GIPTS
We recenily recomed a peal rang at Sheviftiales, Salop, in honva of Me. Jolar Lovekin, for 60 yeurs athorister, 50 years a bell ringur, and 40 years parish clerk. On November 2lit the parishioners made an acknowhedyment of his long and devoted service to the churth, tho proceediags being in the mature of a perochial festival. Tley began with a service in the atiernon. The Vicar (the Rer. R. A. Giles) officiand, assisted by the Rev. T, H. Rabone (Rector of Wes-ton-nnder-Lizarth. The fret part of the service was a slort but impressive commemoration of her late Majesty, Queen Alexandra. Then the Viens dedicated a handsome bronze lable, recording the peal, which was carried in procession to the belfry, it veing formally placed in the tower by Mr. Eovelín hinself. It is lator to be placen in an oak frame and fixed in-the tower.
At the conclusion of the service, the "Te Deum" wns sung as ant ant of praise and thanksgiving jor the life and work of Mr. Lovekin.
The bells were then rung while the parishioners proceeded to the Church Hall, where tea was provided. The Vicar, who presided. ufterwards read letters of congratulation and good wislies to Mr. Inorekin from the Bisliop of Lichfield, the Archadeacon of Salop, and others, and proceeded to pay a wrom fribute to the simple gooduess, honesty, infegrity and courtesy of Mr. Lovekin, who, he snid, hat lived to serve God and the distici in which he lived.
The Ficar thea presented to Mr. Lovekin a beautifully illuminated adtress, handsomely framed. H. was warded: 'Parisla of St. Mary. Sheriftaleswan-St. Peter, Wooteote. Mr. John Lowekin, of Sheriffdales. We, the Ficar and charchwardens, and past and present parishioners of Sherithales wish to engress to you our sense of the great services you have rendered to the church in this parish. You lane been a chorister for 60 years, a bell ringer for 50 years, and parish clerk for 40 rears. In these offices you liave served with unfailing fidelity anti cheerfulness. We ask your acceptance of the clock which accompanies this address, and in thanking you for all you lave done for the church in this parish, we iope that the Eternal Father will give you strenglt of mind and body for your remaining days an earth." The arduress was signed by the Bislop of Lichaield, and was to be figned also by the Vicas and churdiwardens, being dated Nor. 21st. 1925.
The Vicar next proceeded to present to Mr. Lovekin a verg landsomolarge eighit-day clock, equipped with beautiful chimes, g gift of the parishioners past and presend. phis was also suitably inscribed.
In making the presentalion to Mr. Lovekin, the Vicar remarket that they onty offered him what they thought was his duc. They offered it, not because it expressed what thes thought of him from the standpoint of value in pounds, shillings and pence-thaf could not be done-but because it did express their very best wishes for bimself, his wife, and the whole of lifs family (applause)
The Rector of Weston-under-Lizard, and other speakers, including Mr. W. Sanders, of Coalbrookdale, added their tribute to fine lifelong services of Mr. Lovekin, who was enthusiustically received when be rose to respord. He said he felt al a loss for words in which to express himseff, and to return thanks for the why in which they had received him and trested him that evening. During his time there had been eleveu orranists, five vicars, and cleven curates. He thought that during his time he had been present at wearty 400 funerals, and nver 500 baptisms, and 121 weddings. Ho liad been trying the previous niglit to count up the ringers whom he had hown and rumg with. Ho thonght there were orer 50, many of whom he had broken in Ee could onls say that he was rery grateful for the way in wriicly the parishomers and friends had treated him, and for the beaulful gifts towards which they had subscribed (applause)
The remainder of the erening was deroted to a social, the proeedings being of a most happy and enjornblo claracter througliout. Tlze bells of the ohurch were again ring, and performances giveu on the landhells.
All the arrangements had hen made by the parishioners, lieaded by the Ficar.

\section*{BELLS FROM BRASS CANNON}

It to an old expedient in time of war to use church bells for annitinas, but it is raver for bells thus utilised to be replaced by others cast in their turn from guns. Suclu a curions sequence of events luas occurred (accordiar to the Danisl: Foreign Office 'Journal, quoted by tho "Birmineliam Daily Pose" at Smilh's Iron Foundries and Machine Works, Ltd, of Aathorg, North Jutland. The firm reccived an order for forty-four bells to be insfalled in chturches in Soutls Jutiand. During the war a large number of bells were remowed from these churches lay the German authorilijes, and melted down for the making of manitions. The new bells have been east from the melal of siaty old hrass camon supplied to the Aabborg foundry by the Copenkagen Arsenal. Eiglit of these bells have been hung in different churches in various pants of the town of Hatiersley, nut have heen so admirably cast that allhourln they are distributed over \(n\) wide nrea they ting in perfect limmony will one another.

To all our readers wortend the ald, old wish of a A Happy Cinistmas.
On Christmas morning Bow Bells will be broadeast to the world at 10.15. Calt changes will be ruag by spocial request of the H.B.G., is order to illustrate the popular changes.

A sum of ever exan is to the spent on the restothlion of the halla of Hatfeld Chureh, zear Doncaster. The ring of eight (tenor 18 cw. ) is to be recast and relung witlo entirely new fittings. nad in atw iron frame.

Those ringers whe seek information of the happenings in the Fixer cise for the past forty years will be interested to know ihat Mr. Harry Mason, who hats now setted juto a permanent home, "The Goodrest, Hagleg, Worcesterstine, has kindly volunteered to look up anvinug in reason which appeared in "The Bell News ' Iroms the first mumber' in 1881, onwards.

Great Gearge, the 92 lon hell in the new buildings of the Bristol University will be on riew, and maju he rung by holders of tickete fow the Bristal United Ringing Guitd's fitth annual dinner. Here is a chence for the allher great. George.

There will be many congratulations to the baud of St. Mary"s Clurch, Lutom, upon vinging the first peal of Bristo] Surplise in Beifordshire, the peal being the fiest in the method hy wh the hanit. Even in these days of adwaneed ringing there are comparatively few local' companies who can put upa Bristol Surprise peal band.
- The greatest scientilic feriormance ever achieved in change linaring 'was the tiescription applied to the peal of 6.048 Lonnon Sulprise Major rung on Decenber 26tl3, 1871, by Squire Proctor and al hand of village residenis al Hemmington.

Boxing Day can claint quile a umber of notewortbw achievemonts in the past. In 1760. at. Hackuey, the first peal of College Joxergin: Major was rung; in 1782, 5,040 London Union Trebbles by the Society of Lonion Youths, 'being the fist of that method,' was rung at \(\mathbf{3 i}\). Giles'-in-the-Ficlds.
In more recent dimes, amang the long penls rang on this holidrw Were: 1885, 8,004 Double Norwich, at Leiston, by the College Youlfs: 1894, 9,312 Sinperlative Surprise, at Crawley, Sussex: 1895, 10,080 Bob Major, at Folminglam: 1901. 11,111 Stedman Cinçues at Biranimgani: and 10,176 Kent. Treble Boh Major, at. Mestov, Nots; 1910, 9.728 Superlative Surprixe al Glenl. Warestershire: 1923, 10,440 Camhrifge Surprise Rowal. at Wallhatnslow. It was on Damemher 26th also that the 15,168 Kent Treble Kob Majar was rung in 1831. al Ellanis. Yovks.
It was on December 2711, 1904, that the 17.104 Douhle Norwish Major was rung at Soutl: Wigsion. Lecicestorshire, and on the same rav in 1909, the 10,176 Double Oxford Bob Major, at Brierday Hill, Siafts.
The carliest peal of Trehle Ruh wra rumg on December 2741,7718, a 5.040 Unian Boh by the Union Scholars, nt St. Dunsinn's-in-tlie-Eatat. Lomdon. This method we now know rs Oxford Treble Hoh, and, in virw of the degire which is heing evinced in some guarters to witain oht names, may we not ask who it was that changed 高he game, for it was this peal as math as any that estahlisher the right of ringers of the first peai to give the method the name they chooze. In this case tha ringers called it aiter their own society.
In 1738 (December 271h), 'the Friendly Socicty of Ringers, the form rumners, as it were. of the sto Tames' Society, rang a neal of 6.16 . Hob Major, at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

\section*{THE OREGJNS OF CHANGT RINGING.}

\section*{By J. A. ATMIGER TROLLOPE.}

It is a faswinating anusement to speculate how such a thing as chatge ringing was ever anventerl. Brells lave heen in use for a thotusand yerrs and mort, and by all civilised pcople. You will find then all over the worte, in the uld countrics of the East, as well as in Christiun Churches. Bub thange ringing is lifte more than throe handred years old, und is practised only in England and by a few Eng. dishmen who havo gone out to the Colonies. The whole thing is illogiA bell is a musical inetrument, but masie is one of tase last fhings with which change ziuging (as change rugiug) concons itself. 'fles bells are hung in utately towers, and are dedieated by speriat services; but elantre ringing in itg beginning and throughout the preater purl of its distory was parely secular. You will find many recolds of money puid tor ringing in the past for many reasons, wa lional, soctal, politich, but suluon or newer exedesinstieal.

They tell ws that bells were put in churel towers for the ehurefos servjes, and is is largely' true, but not allogether true. 'I'rue lor the Hulls of the Midale Ages; trus for the prescht lime. But not true to any great degree for the seventeath and eightecntly and parts of tho sixteculh aud nimeteentla centuries. You have but to study the inecriptions on the bells to see how secular the associations with theirn were al one time. The Are Maria Giatia Dhena Domjus Tecim,' ai bonala Fides Orat Pro Nobis \({ }^{\text {he }}\) of the fifteenth conlury, gives way in tho seventeenth and cighteenth to such things as 'Let us tume and sound together Eagand's swete Peace for ever,' or " At proper timns iry voice l'li raise to sounl to our benefactor's praise,' or epen 'Hark do y yu hear, our clappers want beer.' And only in motern times has the oll style' hoen revired, as in the noble inseription on Great Paub, Fac milhi si non Fwazgelisavers.' It is not the racstion of laste that fo most renarkable; it is the purely seeular idea that is associated will beils anit beh ringins. IL is not as anything connected with Napeh sorvices or ritaul that we must look for the berimming of dange ringing hot purely is a secular sporti.
Lhat ir the sauseat flat firsp pratued change ringing are obscure, the inte mben it begen and the class of men among whom it begat are melty certainly known. Cllange ringing began in the first few years of the seventeenth contury, and among ordinary ceversday kind of people. It was not the cletiberate incention of some great brain. It arose תalurally and spontancously, and in country villages at the same time as in the larger towns. Il is not really difiticuli io understand how it bagan, and, onc: the first beginnings were made, its rise aurl levelopment ram lje elcarly traced.
Pabian Stemman \(i_{3}\) our antlority for the clabe of the beginning of ehange tiagiag, but now Mr. Drake praduces evidence to show that Is sharl was much carlier. "There have been found, inseribed on the lower of Buxlall Caurch, in the county of Suffolk, a sel of Matin chnnges, signed hy one, John Gooch, who, necording to ilue antiguary late of those faguros very vague, but Mi. Drake assimes then to be about one huntred years' before 1668.
In any case the discorery is a most interesting one, but, before we accepl il as any proof that Stecman was wrong, we most know oul what ground the antiquary based his conclusion hat John Goonl died before Stodnan whe born, and what his qualifications are for arriving at such a conclusion. We must also lave the figures, Sterdinan wis born in 1631 , aud plain changes were certainly rung befond then. And so, if these are of an carly type, the antiquary may bo iglat, although Mr. Drake's conjecture is almost cerfainly wrong. Bui i the fitures reprosent the fully developed plain changes that sterdman inseribes, then we can safely say that they are not carlier than tho middle at the seventeenth century, and must probaljly belong to ha last part of that cenzury, or the early part of the eightemen.
This is what Stedman has to say about the beginnings of our art -
- It is ans Anetent Proverb with us in Fagtand (Lhat Rome was not huilt in atay by which expression is aledared that diffewt thage the arl of ringing il is admirable to concene in how sloot a time it lath immensef. that the very fepth of its intrichcy is found aut: for within these fifty or sixty poars last past elanges were nol known nor thought possthle to be fung. Then were invented the gixas, heinge the very ground of a Six-seore. Then the Twenty and Twenty-four, Wihin sovernl oller changes. But Cambridge Forty-uigh for anfuy years was the greatest Peat that was Rang or invonded fut now aty number van confine lis for we can ving changes ad infuitum Hhab is infitita in respent of our apprehension.
It is fuite clear that Sterman is not wriling laphazardly, but de-jush hefore the publication of his book a rapic development. Where was ringing before 1610, atal long hofore 1610 there were even ringing societies, for the 'Scholars of Cheapside " was founded as far back as 1603. But Siedman was absolutely riglat when be places the Imbginning of blange ringing at the 'invention of the Sixes.' For un invention of the hixes was the first recognition that the produrtiun of changes is subject to strict law. He tells us thow the Sixes wert rung, and there you have the germ trom which the whole of change ringing las developed, by a process or ordery evolutions.

During the reign of Queen Elizabeth belt ringing liad coma iv bu one of the Taglish sporis. The litnging of the hells was rery rough and cude: Lhere were no slays amil slides: no sallies, and the singring a siugle bell whe a greal test of physical strenglh. Slakespeare givenis a sketch of a wountry hell ringer drawn, no doubl, from his porsamal experience in the favs when, a hoy, he roamed nmong the vilInges of Warwickshire, The name he gase him-Peter Bullenlf-is cnough to descrithe him, a lusty young fellow. strong of nuscle, ant not too intedlectual, an ordinary luealtisy yokel;

The carly vinging was necessarily round ringiag. "llae boll= wert raised, rung and loweren, as was and is the cusion in some H'pst Country towers, and then maturally enough there canac the fime when ane man suid to enother, 'Lel's have some variety; lal's luave a frosh tune. Chanyre places witl me.' And when that was said and done, chauge ringing becane possible.?

A Change.' Eays Stedtuan, "is made belween two Bells that strikr. next to each ohber, hy remoring into each others places.' At Hist. these changes were made at ratulom, but Whe invention of the Sixow eskablished ringing fot all time as a sefence as well as an ari. Tluw Sixes are, of course. the dhanges on thee hells. \section*{MORTLAKE-1721?}

JNTERESTING LIGHT ON EARLY PEALS.
With reference to the interesting note recently in 'Belfry Gessip, relabing to a peal of two centaries ago at Mortake, therv appears to be an arror of date.
The first pent of Plain Boh Tripples (see Snowelen's ' Rope Sigh1,' p. 85) is recorded in the pea! book of the Ancient Society of Collego Youtins, No. 19, vomposed anal conducted by Benjamin Aunable, at Sb. Saviour's Churdh, Jouthwark, on Dec. 191h, 1730, wherem the footnote to the entry states: "First that was ruug."

This composition was agaiu ruag by the same socicty at St . Stepher's, Coloman Strect, Cily, on August 21si, 1731, conducted by William Laughion. The Morthake peal took place the following Nowember, so that the yeur 1731 would appear to be more correct. All three were rund wilhin a twelvemonth, and sinnilar peals wers rug later as follows: At Camborwell, by the Easteru Scholers, I735; at Harticisham, Kent, 1744, by the Leeds Youibs; at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, by the Union Scholars, 1749; ant at St. George's, Middlesex, 1753, by the London Youths.
The London societies wert mono corced it deseribiug their performances in lhose carly dajs of peal ringing, und this wns mostly due to the professional peal writus employed. There aro givernd insfances of catitusion in the use of the words "Thipples ' aud "Trebbles,' which was increased wheu the Preble Bub mettond (Oxford) same into popular vogue.
The oulstanding feature of his first' seven-bol ' peal in the methoul is fire fate that the lime of the performance was mimutely reeorded in the peal book, although hoth Snowdon and Banister, in their workon whage ringing, have not mentioned it. Amable had eonducted 18 of the 18 peals previously rung for the College Youlhs without giving the time, so that the was the firgt to include it in fis records, vir,
' 3 hours and \(25 \frac{1}{2}\) minates.' Previous to 1730 the ald peal hourds ghy the duration of a pethl-one of which affords evidence of an isolaterl but early achicvement Grandsire Thiples at Ellesmere, Salop, oat Fekls, 4 th, 1730 , is 3 hres. 5 mins.
The misuse of words in deseribing methods was contimed by our forfathers on the higher vumbers of bells onplozed, and the following combinalion appears in lie peal book of the Leeds (kent) Society, 1751, descrihing Hob Caters:-

Compleate peral of Caters in the Method of Boh Majar Tripples in the Tittums.
Br. Walker's meaning in the 'N.B.' to his peal rung at Tichmond is probably the "frsi in the wethon composed and conducted by him. 11 was not ouly the thitd tize it luad been prag; but lue was the third man ever to litwo conducteal such a performatice. Hedry Ityforl, who rane the Stli hell at Morilake, was a well known riverseen College Youth, usually found at tho back end of the octave.
The netliat bnown as Fielimand Triples was much the same as Fullam Triples, the latter being praclised by the Leeds and Lenham Foulhs, and a peal of it rang at Leeda in 1749 , conducted by Barham. A couple of years ago Mr. Ton Hensher very windy sent the MSS. pocket book. dater Lavenham, Buels, 1734 , in which ate the figures of a numbet of fitmoll mothorls employing aus 'exitrome, which conld very woll extend to Triples, and when a \(50: 0\) was attempted succesfully the anme of the fown or parish would be added to the title, especially so if it was the first pertormance in the district.
Mr. Trollope, in his valuatile "Notes by the Wray." refers to Bohs Triples by the Norwich amen in 1715 as the firsl peal ever rung. At the same time one must consider the opinion of Slipway. a famous composer and conductot of the Royal Cunborland Youths Socinty; whoge version af the Norwish peal coincides with the College Youlhat clnim of first in this melhorl.
There was much business intercourse betwen London and Norwich all the year round about this perion of historv, Via the Tlames, Enst Const and the Rivel Yurw to Norwinh. when the poads wert impassable dering winter monlos. \section*{NOISY BELFRIES.}

SIMPLE DEYICE FOR MODFRATlNG SOUND.
The question of reducing the amotirt of noise of bells in the streets surrounding the church is one of the matlers which should receive more attention from aulhorities than ib does Below we ithustrate a simple device, designed by Major I. H. B. Hesse, by which the sound outside the tower can be regulated.

The statch shows a lower wall, wills the winclow opening in it. The Y slaped piece marked 'wood' is marely a side piece filling up the tap belween ilxe woad boarding, which is shown on the slant, mamely, B \(\mathrm{B}^{\prime}\), and the top of the window. It would be briefly deseritued as fo screen blocking the whole of the window oponing, leauing invards towards the bells, so that all whtor will drain outwards again through the window. The sound waves have to go down through the opening \(O_{\text {, }}\), and the screcn can, if necessary, lave the flap 'E ' fitted, so that sound is again restricted. If bells are on a level with the eindows the wood porlion ' \(\mathrm{A} \mathbf{B}\); and \(V\) shaped piece can be raised to suffieiont heigh to be well above the bells when set on ent.

Mernbers turned up in lavige numbers at a districh meeting of this association, at Jarrow on Saturday, December \(12 l_{1}\), and the belis of Christ Church and St. Pelet's were kept going all the afternoon and evening. An excellent tea was provided at the Co-operative Cafe, and a short meeting was held afterwards, presided over by MIr. R. L. Paterson, of Sunderland, supported by the President of the Association, the Rev. A. W. Lister, of South Shields.

At the antiet, Mr. Willian story moved, in very fealing terms, a vote of condolence with the relatives of the late Major Hudson, whose tregie death has so shocked tho Exercise. Mr. Stors had known Major Hudson frow boyhood, harl rung many peals with him, and had always had a very high regard for him. The vote was passed jusilence, the members standing for a few moments.
Tho Rev. A. W. Lister proposed a wote of thanks to the local clergy for the use of the bells.-The Rev. T. H. Lilbura, of St. Peter's, in responding, said it was a very interestinc occasion to him. as there were present friends from hīs old parigh (St. Igoatius', Sunderland), friends from his prosent parislı, and also frieuds from his mew marish of St. Oswald's, West Hertlepool.

The next meeting was arrangod to be ledif at Gateghead on Tanuary 30th, and the meeting concluden with the season's greetings from the chairman, with best wiskes for many more successful meetings such as this in the New Fear.

One of the mos, outstanding features in connection with the art of campanology, is the absence of a definte course of instruction, a circumstance which bewidiers the learner. In his own tower be is laught ane way, whilst at another, whith be may visit, a lotally different system is in vague, until 'he don't know where he are.' Some instructors bring lheir pupils up en a foundation which wilt afterwards carry then formard, without much trouble, to the most intricate systems of clunge ringiug, but, unlapmly, they are very Low. More often than not, the student is tanglas byord of month only, and in a maner which makes it appear a most faborious undertaking. He is told to do thes, that, or the other, but why he has to wo it is very rarely uneniloned. How often do we fud a learner, who as soon as he can hazdle a bell, is put on the tenor to "drun,' in orter that the other seven may ring sous grood Triples, until the time arrives when he finds if a diffeult task to manage a much lighter bell in the ring! Further, there is the great mistake of leaching a learber to hadele a heavy bell before a light one. No doubt there is less risk of over-pulling the heavier meial, and consequently less risk of breaking a stay, but there is more to be sain for the lighter bell; the kuack of banding is more casily and quiekly acqused, which is the fundarnental. should there be any risk of a stay troing, take it off, then if the helf is over-pulled, there is nothing to break, and does not cutail avy expense to put hings right. Moreover, \({ }^{4}\) light belf can readily be lowered of raised when ilve student has finished. Thus we cowe to the first stage of a student's tuition, which is the best way for him to landede a hell? Opiuions will difter, and no doubt will be aired, to the ulimate benefin of the Exercise.
The next step should be striking in rounds and call changes, with pleaty of stress on the striking. Too often is the loginner put into ringing changen before he sat strike correctly, with the result that Lhe is always a bad slriker. Ou the advertisement pages of the ' Ringing World ' are advertised two hooks, 'Rope Sight.' by Snowdon, and -Clange Ringing,' \(3 y\) TYoyte, so whilst the studeut is berouniag master of his bell, he ouglif to be in possession of one of these pooks, studying the opening chaplers and so preparing limself for lis first lesson in change ringing. The uext point to decide is, which is the lirst lesson?
In may opnion, it is Boh Minor and on the Treble until erpable at ringing the extent withous prompting, after whtch, an inside bell could be takno. The man object will be frustrated if force is used, no matter the number of bells in the tower. Teach your man by easy stages, and he will be all the beter for it, and certainly will be a more capahle riuger. If vours is an eirht hell tower, I think you will find much better Job Major will eventually be rung if a thorough knowlerlge of Bch Minor has been obtancd, and the sume can to said with ten and twelve. No toubt sonde will say, what about the odd metloods? Gzandsire should present no diticaltics, but if you want Stedman, the pace is being foreed, which a proper course of instruation will not phermit.
After Plain Pol lias been mastered, go back again to Minor to master the Treble Bch privelple, or if it is desired to ring a number of Plain Major methods, much good will come of a thorough study and practise of the Pia in Minor methods which appear in the Central Council's 'Collection of Methods.' Thr different kinds of work prill bo more readly leamed, and more easily scen on six than on eight or more. The samaz also applies to the more difficult Treble Etob and Surprise methods.
When a persan ammenes to learn an instrument, he knows full well that succens cannot be secomplished wilhout hard practice, and gaing slow but surc. Does he attempt to exceute the work of masters before be lias done his finger exercises? Certainly not. yet ringers wart to do so. Are not exercises the mainstay of our present musicians? And so it nughtit to be with our craft. How often to we find ringers on the ligher mumbers scoffing at six-bell ringing! It is, however. done without thought or of the knowledge of the tienctits offered by the Mitor meiloods. In this lunach of the art there is an open neld for derelopmeal aud a host of diffecult ' passages,' which if thorougloly mastered would aid the aspirant to the more difficult methools on the higher numbers.
At the Callege Youlth' (hinner. Canon G. F. Coleridge paid me a rery great complimenl, for which I thank him, hat I wonder what was at the back of his mind when he said 'it will he of wast interest and vast use to six-bell ringers, athd perhaps eighthell ringers as well.' Thase eight-hell ringers who have attained the Treble Boll standayd and aspire to ring the higher methoils, will find the menc book, 'Methool Splicing.' a good stepping-stone. Why? In the methouts detaileal Lherein, there is a large variety of work and hints on mastering new methods. which, on being thoroughly learned, will be found heneficin] wiren it comes to tackling Major methons.

Campanjogy is an interesting eraft, but keope ita nthractiveness very much in the background. For many, much tedious work has to he undertaken hefore the enjovment comes. How manv learnerg lave given up when on the moint of deriving some benefit from thsir labour! Chiefly, no doubi, because they thought there was nothing moro in th than humbing and dodging. Or again, fhere are towers whero tho variety is introduced, he shome method being rung yoar in and rear out, with the result thele the young omes get 'fed up 'anil leave. Con anyone wonder? The beads of an calling and thore responsinle for traning joung ringers must make it altractive, and losi the sthuert ser that change ringing is much more absorbing than ial firsi mppears. The present-rlay ringer calls tov something belter than that whiel suited his grantfather, but, the tuouble is to get loon? of that something. I commend this problom to the members of the Cemtial Council for thear carcful considerabion, will a riew to ultimately drafting \(a\). Coarge of Training, whinh will hring out the best with the minimum of eftort, insteati of the prosent liappy-ga-lucky methorls Which presajl, and the attendant wasle of time as a result.
