The Secretary presenterl the ammal roport, details of which bave Iready been printed in our columns.
A balance sheet was also presentod, which showed that, with a sum of \(£ 55\) in hand, the receipts for the year had amounted to 8117 4s 6n.; aud the disburscouents hat left e66, 17s, 8d, to the credit of the Guild.

\section*{MASTER'S REVIEW}

The Chairman observed that, taking, the branch reports all round, and the general report as well, they might look unon the conilition of tho Guild as being very sutisfactory, The moncy was on the righe side, and in the adrance of membelship it was particularly pleasing to noto that this was cansed principally by younger members joining up (hear, hear). 'l'hai was what they wanted to see for that would place the Guild upon a sound footing for the future. He was more than pleased to know that tho Guild was doing its work grandly, was growing though slowly, and was going ou is well as they could loppe for, thongh perlaps not so well as they might wish. [t scemed to him that there was no reasou why every parish which had a peal of bells should not be represented on the Guild. Since he had bean master le had tried to influeuce every parish which had a peal of bells to join, and lie was glad to say that there had been a small advance in the number of tawers that laal jomed the Guild. But he still wanted to see more in the Guikl, because it was one of the greatest of works for beneficial infueace that could be brought about in parishes. A ringers' hranch was helpfnd all roumf; it kept men together on winaer nights, it drew out their interests, kept them earnestly together in the great worts of the Church, auti in time the belfry became an object of real affection (hear, hear). Looking back on the evenls of the pras year, the Master Ringer said il was will regre that they beard of the decision of Major D'Aeth to relire from the Mastership. Amongst the prominent subjects was the starting of tipe brancly in North Dorsel (applause). Although it was the youngest branch in the Guild, he might perlaps be permitled to say, as chairman of it, thal it had inherited the proper spirit, and that it was prepared to follow the excellent example set before it. Andi there wus another thing that he was glad to refer to, and that was that, althougl it was a new brunch whicls at one time they thouglt would hardly bo able to loddle alone, it whs now the second strongest member of the family (applause). Proceeding, the Clairman said lie was sorry to say they had lost two vicepresidents cluring the yenr. Lord Long, of Wraxall, and Sir Everard Hambro, of Milton Abbas. Je asked the members to show their respect for tha memory of the departed ones by standing in silence, which request was duly complied with.
When he became Master, the Chnirman continued, he found that Major D'Aeth had left thrice legacies. The first was organisation for the establishment of tie Peace Bell, the ringing of which le was to restore orn Friclays in each weok in memory of those who had passsd asfay. He knew there were difficulties to be encountered in the ringing af the Peace Bell every Friday at the noonday hour, but he thoughi they slould bo overcome in order that they might continue the lesson of remembrance of those who gave their lives in the wat that others might live. The seconril hegacy was the War Mernowial ihat had been crected in the form of as sereen in Salisbury Catiedral. He thought it was one of the best memorials of ringers in the rountry. It fad not heen iaken up in the way one might have wistued, and there was still a considetatile portion of the e200 that the memorial cost to be made up. He asked all those parishes who had not yet considered tho scheme to do so, and do what they could to help the fund. The thirdl legacy left him was the reformation of the clergy (Iaugliter). Fe had come to the conclussion that they were not past reformation, luut at the same time he thought their reformation did not rest maircly with the Master，bub witla cuery single individuat duey should boldy approach him．They ahould ask their parsons， panicuarly thoad who sere just appointed to parishes，what they wore going to do in ilte way of ringers，and that mighe wake them up to a full sense of what，litey ought to do for thens as ringers（applause）．
＂Hise Mnster，tho hon．secretary and treasurer，and hon，assistant gecrebary，were re－elected as well as the anditors，the Tev．A，D．H． Alan，Wimborne，and Mr．H．R．Hopkins，Kingtan Magna
Tho Flew，R．F．Gundry，in thanking the meeting for lis reveluecion， asked that all secretarics of hranches would send hinn notices of their muetings in order that if possible，he might attend them．
Tlic Earl of Shaflesbury was re－elected president，and vice－presidents were also re－appointed，with the addition of the name of Sir Robert Williams，Bath，who had been an honotary member．
Tlib Rev．G，Wood and Mr．J．R．Jerram were re－appointed on the rommithee，and the mane of the Rev．C．C．Cox was added．

PRESENTATION TO HATOR D＇AETH
Tlle nexb busimess was the presentation of a lestimonial to Major 15 Aefly in roeagnition of the serviees he had readeret to the Gindd fluring the past five years as Master：－The Seeretary stateri that when Major D＇Aeth was approached on the eabject lie staled that he divi not wish for any gift，bui that he wonld be very much gratified with Hee signatures of indivitual members of the Guild，or as many as cauld le calleeted．Well，they had taken Major D＇Aeth at his word，and thete land heen got together between 700 and 800 signatures（bear heary．Fe had also received an autograph letter from Loyd Shaftes－ thary，the president of the Guild，regretling his resignalion，and ex－ pressing appreciation of his services．
No doubt Major D＇Aeth would like to have the lether suitably fram－ al and lie（the sceretary）hoped he would have it done and lave the bill sont in to him（hear，hear）．
The Chairman then handed over to Major D＇Aeth a small volumie pontaining the signatures of memhers of the Guild，which was accom－ prinied by the presidenter letter．
Major \(D^{\prime}\) Aeth expressed lis thanks for all the most acceptable kind－ fresses that had，during the five years of his Mastership，been shown hirn．Ha thought it was no secret that his Mastership had been a disuppointment．The Ringing Master lad given them a hint of that． in the first place he had an idea to stop all the bickerings that oc－ कnsimnaly ocenred between belfries and tha elergy．He had endeato nutad to impress thic idea from a layman＇s point of view，of the im－ portnece of tho dutios devolving upon the deroy and ringers，for when rincers enfled parishioners to ehurela by the sound of ehurela bells it should be inspired by the prayers of some ordained ainister．Athongh it ubat hat not been attaimed le was glad to say that to a degree it had been realised，as there was now in beltrues an offer：which cotuld be read bofore any practice or serfiee，hud he was glad that even this mach had hoen tarongin about duang his Mastershap．His other ideal was the revival of the Pence Bull．This wats hot his sutgestion，be－ cause it was started before he came back Irom the war，thaugh il was during his Mastership that it was sanctioned by the Bishop．＇1＇re iftea， however，had not cone to maturity，though lie hoped stwcerely that it ．ught he developed．Tvery parish had a bell，and this ought to be sounded once a week in order that everyone within hearing of is might． be reminded of thase men who laid down their lives for others（hear． heary．He looked uporn the gift that the nombers lad just presontenl to \(\lim\) not in the light of a consolation prize，but as the finest its－ fication of estem that they could possibly give him．He thankenf them all very sincerely indeed for the kind co－operation he had receir－ ed on all oneasions，and for the sphendid way in which they hat con－ sistently backed lim up．

THE WAR MOMORIAL
in makjug a statement as to the War Memorial sereen in Salisbury Cathedral to ringers，Mr．Beams said that of the 107 towors affiliaters with the Guikd 40 lath contributed．Thera was 55975 ．1rd．in the bank，fl 5s．had sinte been received，Anrl that day＇s collection in 8. Peter＇s Charch had amounted to \(£ 25 \mathrm{~s}\) ．So that of the \(£ 200\) required they had only in hand 262 17s．Id．Further contributions would be thankfully receited．
The Secretary slated that during the past year death han removed Front their list of life members the honoured name of James W．Wasth－ hrook，a veritable prince of ringerg，whose fame woutd enture for evri in the annals of the Exercise－It was resolved to contribute 82 2s． towards a memorial to be orected to the deceased at Oxford．
The Secretary announced that be had zeceived a comnonication from Whitchuroli Canonicorum stating that it was proposed to restore the bells there，for which it was desired that a sum of \(£ 250\) might he raised－Mr．Beams obsorved that the frame wanter renewing，atud the bolls wanted retmoing，the object being to provide an admirable peal of eight bells．On the motion of Mr．Bearns，seconded by Mr．North－ over，it was resolved to contribute 22 Zs ．（owards the restoration fund
After a shor＇t discussion it was resolved that the rules he so amended as to provine that in fnture，when diffoulties arose hetween pingers and incumbents，the ringers should not withhold their services，but that appenl should be made to the Guild

Fotes of thanks were fassed to those who laan assisted in the ar． rangements for the day．

lt is proposed to ereet a curillon, ate a cost of about E15,000, at Wh Universily of Syelney, New South Wales, as it war uendrial. Tho whole of the money was raised in little more than six menthas.
Members of the Nortolk Guild will be nsked ou Manday to diseass Whe guestion of charging the datu of the anularl meeting from the Athimen to Easter Monday.
It is not uninteresting to note linat the Norfolk Guild, since its fommation in 1877, has ring no fower than 4,038 peals.
 deut life members, 238 ; Sulfolk non-resident jifo nemhers, 192 ; Norfolk members, homorary, 38; performing, 339; probrtioners, 3; it total of 816.
Congrabulations will he extencied to Mr. E. Alex. Young, the hon. geerotary of the Central Couneil, wot only upon reaclitug his both hirthday on Friday last, but upon celebrating it with a peal o! Grandsire Triples in whiel fow mag the treble-his first peal nway from the tenor.
The peal was rung by intimate friends at St. Hary's Churn, Souhampton, where Mr. Young was, baptixed, Southampton being Jis tuithplace. It was a mation of gratification that Mr. Young has made a complete recovery from his recent accident, and was able to stand the strain of three and in half hours' ringing. Tlue bund tesiro to thank Mr. Young for his generosity, both before and aller the peal.
Thirty years ago todny tho record of Grandsizo Cinques, at Hal diste, viz., 10,075, was ruig ait. Ashton-under-Lybe. This record has since been exceeded by the \(13,001 \mathrm{nt}\) Painswick.
Two interesting first performances took place on May 29th, 1901, when a peal of Stedman Caters was rung ou hathbells on the lrish Sea, and in the evening the lirst Surprise peal in Wales (New Cmonbridge at Bithgor) was rming.
The first peal of Now Cumhorland Surprise Major was rung exatlly 40 years ago an May 31sl, at Burlon-an-Trent, where at that inte was onn of the foremost bands in the country.

On May 31st, 1909, a peal of 11,040 Double Norwich Major was ung at Leiston, Suffolk, coutucted by C. F. Bailey.
A handbell peal of 14,031 Stedman Caters was rung at Gublhiord on June 1st, 1912 , in 7 lons 3 minutes.
The first twelve-bell peal in Birmingham was rung on June Jrol, 1773. This was a 5,324 Grandsire Cingues.

The anniversary of two interesting bell openings occur on June fth. On this date in 1762 the now peal of ten at Bow, Cheapside, was rung for the first lime, and in 1814 the bells at St. Nieholas', Luverpool, were opened.

The popular steeplekeeper at St, Leonardes. Bridgnordh, Mr. Triha Overton has just completed a laalf contury of service, and a peal in celehration of the event was rung on Sunday weet.

The correspondent who informed us of the Gollege Touths athempl for Dulfeld Maximus, at Sonlhwark' in honour of the opening of the Wembley Fxlibition, wis mistaken in the purpose of the peal. Thre atternpt for the peal was marle in an endegrour, in asmall woy, to popularise this musical hut much neglected method, whose ailhar was one of the greatost henefactors to the Excreise.
On Saburday week a new treble bell will be dedicated at Brifinwalton, near Fantage, Berks.

SUGGESTIUD RAILWAYMEN'S PEAL. To the Edifor.
Dear Siramb has been suggested to me that a railwaymen's peal might be rung in connection with the rnilway centenary celebrntions, Whed take place at Stockton on July 2nd. To carry out tho den properly, the pea! should be rung at Stocktom, or in that dishrict, on the above date, and 1 woutd like to suggest that some of our Nouthern friends should consider whetter or zot this is practicable.
It so happens tial I slall he awny on holidny at that time, and so slanll bo unable to do anything, but if a peal in London later an, til celebrate the contenary year, could he rang by railwapmon, I shall lom glat to help.

What do ringers who nre workers on the railway think of tho ither of a Railwaymen's Gruide? Yotsrs faithfully

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S ENJOYABLE MEETING.
dn enjoyable meting of the Northern District was held at Craminglon on May 16th, and was fairly well attended, some eighteen tombers and vistor* heing present from Newcastle, Gosforth and tramington. The fue-toned peal of six wern sel going soon after lime occleck, and as the meeting was primarily for the enoouragement and education of the less advanced members of the association, only the simpler methads were aitempted.
An asellent tea was very kindly served, under tho presidency of Mrs. Sinnan, in the Chureh Hall, at which wore present the Figar of Cramingtom, and Mr. Davison, one of the cluchwardens. The Vicar, in an address of welcome to the visilors, expressed lis extrome pleaaure fit meefing the association members from other districts, and stated that be would dways be pleased to welcome thens at any time. He took a great interest in the bells, and rery much appreciated the gwines of lis locai ringers, under the able and painstaking charge of Mr. Oswald Simm, and ho would always be pleased at any time to do what he could to further their important branch of church service.
A vole of thanks was proposed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. and Mre. Oswnld Simm for the preparations they made for the wisitors, by Mr, William Story, the vice-president of the Norlhem District; and Mr. Oswald Sinm responded.
The tor was precedend fiy a most interesting game of quoits, when meveral of the ringers showed that it is possible also for them to get 1meders on the guoit juiteh as well as theing ringers on the fower bells, whilsa aftur tea a Jazz band of the lonal ringers gave an enjoyable toneert.
Later, tho tower was again visited, and a 720 of Kent Treble Tobs Mimor, nom?ueted by Mr. Oswald Simm, eane ronnll in goorl time, and onmeladerl a moni delighiful day.

\section*{LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

The bi-monthly mecting of the Northern District was held it St. Matthew's, Bethmal Grecu, on Saturday, May 16th, This famons peal of bells, coupled with the beatiful weather, brouglat together a goodly company, bent on doing full justice to the excellent fone of the hells. Ringing commenced at 3.15 p.m., and some gaad touches in staudard mehoods, in which several rang their firs inside, were brought round. The company then adjourned to the hall, where an excellent tea was provided hy the local hand, aud ladies of the entertainments committee (not forgelting the "Pienan '), and was wuch appreciated. Afterwards were rung a fex touches on handbells.

At the fusiness meeting, one new meaber, MLr. L. G. Landymore, South Hackney was electer.

It is proposed to hold the next meeting at Baruet and Fadley an Saturday, July 18tu.
The Diskict Mastel referped to the anmual summea outing of the assomiation, to be held at Marlow on June 27 tl , and asked all members and friends to support it

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, the Rev. S. Is. Sarel, for the use of the bells; to Mr. Sterecs, steeplekeeper; to the ladies who waited at table; and to the local company for the heariy nammer in which they had welcomed us.

A more was again made to the tower, where a course of Cambriage Major and tonches in slandard methods, broughti a most snoeessful day's ringing io a close.

Turing the day ahouf forty nemhers and friends attended, all eapressing appreciation of this fine old peal. And the excellent "go"; many expressions of admiration were also made of the peal boards placed in the fawer to record the recent peal of Grandsire Triples, rung by the local company, the board being the workmanship of one of their nwn members.

INTERESTING FEATUIES OF ANCIENT CITY.
When the Cantanł Goumeil meut at Chaster at Whitsuntrie they will visit one of the most mheresting old cilics in the country.
Chester, says a recent writer in a weckdy periodical, is one of the strangest survivals of the Middle Ages to be found iu Jstitain. Nowhere else are the walls so complete-red sandsloue walls some six centaries old, partly following the line of tire ameinat homan fortilications, and making a circhit of nemly two miles.
A barrow paventes: alung the top acords a delightfal walk, and froma time to time we conat to sturdy towers, including the water tower, where ships used to be moored in the days when the tidal waters of the Dee came right bep to the eity. At one Iturning-point of the walls are the Wishing Steps, where, we are told, all our wishes atre granted if we can rush up ant diown eightemsteps resen times withuit taking breath.
No stone wears so hully as Chester sambsone, and the Cah hodral had besone the most Lilnpidated in Turope when Sir Gilburt Scoth gol to work to restore il.
One of the unigue fealuros of Chester is known as the Rows, whides enable slrops to double their attractions and shoppers to maltiply herix joys. Along the first fioor of the fonr principal streets, which meet at the Market Cross, are strange galleries or areades, Jorming a second sidewalk with a second sei of shop windows. They are approfnined hy Miglits of nine sleps and ram along over the ceilings of the ground lloors of the projecting houses.

Nothing meally like them is to then seen anywhere else in the world, though one or two Swiss and Halian towns pessess imitations. Thay Were prohably conceived in the times of marauders from Wales.

Chester is full of benutiful old houses, and hotses so elderaly restored that they keep the the ancient atmasphere. Cheshive possessed abundant forests, and the timber was used lavishly for outer weans gnd balconies and groins and colonnades.
Chester is thought to be honeycombed with subterrancan ways like Rome and taris, a regular rathbit warren, which may some day be brouglat to light.
We enter a teashop and find onrselves in a walted erypt of tho year 1230, which was diseoverod by accident in 1833, when the owner wanted more storage necommandition and get men to elear the ground, who soon found they had no necd to excavate. It was probalily the chapel of a small monastery.
The New Gatr, which is certainly 300 yeats old, wiss shut up for a long time because a young man ran away witit the mayor's daughter while she was playing in jepper Strect. Hence arose a lomal wntinaion of the proverb about the stable done: "Wlien the daughter is stolem, then shati the Pepper Gate, Sorme of the olkt inns have scarcely changed at all during the lapan of ceuturies. 'Fe Olde Blue Bell' was liceused in 1494. The Facht Tno is more matern. Desu Swifl was detained there hry a storm, and iuvited the ehurel dignitaries to sup with him. But none of them furned up, perhaps dreading the sharp tongue of the atihar of "Gollliver's Travels,' so he revengen himself by wriling a rude rhyme on the window with his damond ring :

Roiten withont and monldering within.
This place and its clergy are all near akin.
Chester is sperially fortunate in her recreation ground, known ns the Roodee or Root-eye, which means Island of the Crose. Once nmon a time this cross fell en the lady of the manor and kilied hem while whe was at her prayers. For this il was shlemnly tried, convicted of murder, and drowned in the River Dee. But it came up wilh the tifle. ant the sunersfitins say it has since worked miramen.
Chester does noi neglect modern aclivitins and conweniences. Sle ranks as an important railway ecntre, has lwelce samate milea of tand for patential factories, and ihrives ari such indinctries ng flonr milling wire and tôbacen manufacture, ancloor and chain making, and hoatbuilding.

\section*{PEAL POINTS.}

The question of peal points and their value as an incentive to ringing, or a comparison of merit, is a constantly recurring one, and the annual publication of the Peals Analysis is generally the occasion for reviving comment. Does the allocation of points for peals serve any real purpose? Opinions are divided on this matter, but, under the present method of dealing with the points, it certainly seems that they carry no great weight as an indication of the relative merits of the performances, either in regard to individual peals, or to the work of an association.

In compiling statistics of this kind there are, of course, many features which cannot be calculated in arriving at a value to be represented by points, but which, nevertheless, are of importance in appraising the true merits of a peat. The only thing that is now taken into account is the presumed intricacy of the method and the length of the peal, and even so, despite a long-continued attempt some years ago to fix relative values, there is still only a more or less rough-and-ready method of allocating the points, by placing methods in groups. This allocation does, perhaps, approximate to justice; but, leaving out of account those considerations which must vary with every peal, such as the first in the method, or by the band, there seems to be opportanity to overhaul the present assessment of points. By those who bave had the experience, it is unanimously held, we believe, that 'spliced' method peals are unquestionably of greater value than a peal entirely in one of the methods. Again, it is held by competent judges that 'double-handed' handbell peals should be given more points than tower bell peals in the same method. This latter point has been discussed before, and, if we remember aright, the Counci! decided against it, but it is worth reconsideration. There is mo argument in saying that each ringer gets double the number of points for his performance, when the peal is rung on handbells, because, under the present system, the individual is not taken into account. It may be equally advanced that no account is taken of anything but the complexity of a method, but there is no question that there is an added complexity to the performance when one man rings two bells.

Another question is that of the existing allocation of points, and there are those who consider that some revision is necessary. To take two of the most commonly rung methods, for example. On paper, Grandsire may be as simple a method as Plain Bob, but given a band equally capable in either method, it is, we think, not above argument that they would lose more peals of Grandsire Triples than of Bob Major in an equal number of attempts, which (Combinurad on page 554.)

would prove that the former is the more diflicult to ring in actual practice. Yet in the analysis Grandsire Triples does not get as many points as Bob Major. Again, is it not fairly generally recornised that a peal of Stedman Triples is at least as difficult to ring as a peal of Steclman Caters? There are other instances which one could quote, but these are sufficient, we think, to show that a reconsideration of the points in question was necessary. The Council had really come to a stage where they had to decide whether the points should be revised or cut out altogether. The decision to do away with the peal points, by an overwhelming majority, shows how strongly the view has grown in recent years that peal points are in reality valueless.

\section*{FIRST ANNUAL RINGING COMPMTIFION.}

On the eva of smpire Day, a ringing compelfion open to the members of the newly-formed Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild was held at Brecon. Thice aucient art of raising and falling church bella in peal and mathod ringing were encouraged by the offer of it challenge shield for the best lean to complete a tixed task. No less tian ten bands were drawn from all parts of tise Guild's district to the parislı of St. David's, Bvecon, to take part, and the Eew ring of six bells were well rung throughout the day. No company had the misfortune to break down, and the judge's report resultied in the competitors being awarded points us under, the maximum obtainable heing 240: Nealin, 222 points; Gorseinon, 220; Talgarth, 204; Jlanstephan, 201 ; Baglan, \(214 ;\) Llangatlook, 216; Cadoxton 'A.,' 214; LJunelly, 221; Cadoston 'B.,' 221 ; St. Mary's, Brecon, 231.

A cold luncheon was setved in the Parish Hall, the Fiear of Sl. David's the Rer. Joh Simon, R.D.), being in the chair, and supported ly the Rev. 'I. R. J. Jones, and other cler居y, Mr. S. T. Rackham (Master of the Guild), Mo. W. H. Fussell, Slough (mho judgen] the competition), Mr. J. Hammond (the gecretary for the Soutberta District), M1. Charles Powell (hon, treasurer), Mr. T. J. Richards churchwarden), and the hou. secretary ( \(\mathrm{M}+\). W. R. Howells), nearly 100 ringers and frieuls enjoying the repast.

A hearty welcome was extenderi to the visilors, with thte hope that they would enjoy their friendly rivalry and feel the benefit of their axperience when they returmed to their own towers.

The Guild is very mueh indehted to several gentlemen in Brecan whose generosity lias enatiled the Guild's hon. secretary to organise financially such undertaking-the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, the Rural Dean (the Rev. J. Simon, Dr. T. P. Thomas. Captain J. D. D. Etans, Dr. W. R. Jones, Mr. R. W. Philips, Dr. J. L. Phillips, and other friends.

The competition ended at. 4 p.m. when tea wes served, so that those comigg from distance could get home in good time. Mrs. Simon was plefent, and kindly distributed the nwards, consisting of a chatFenge shield and cerlificates for the first three places. The former only passed arer Llanfaes Bridge, and is now on view in the window of the conductor, Mr. Wr. Exans, saddler, ni Ship Street. Brecan. Second and third places were ohtained by Neath Mr. J. Hammond, conductor), and Cadoxton ' B ' (conducted by Mr. J. T. Bloxbam, who lied in the raising and falling.
The judge gave an address to the company, and explanned his diffinult position to do justice to oyers man in the competition with int partiality and farmess. To this end he was locked in a private room alone (near the church) and registered the faults made during the contest, and in doing so created an interesting set of diagrams, which were apen to the inspection of auyone who wished to gnestion the verdict. He congrafulated the teams on the average excellence of the ringing, that no damage lad heen done to the ropes and fitings during the day's proceedngs, and no band hat brokens down, all of which proved how valuable a little encouragement to the bell ringer was.

A vote of thanks to the donors, to the chairman and Xrs. Simon, and the judge, elosed the gathering.

The company coult not disperse before enjoying the privilege of a pull on the hells of St. Mar's's Cherch, hy kinkl consent of the Vicar (the Rev. Canon E. A. T. Roberts), who visited Et. David's earlier in the day.
If is due to the hearty co-operation of Dr. T. P. Thomas (who presented the slield for compeifion) that sueh a successful gathering was hrought about, and this competion is the foremmner of others to follow annually. Dr. 'T. P. Thomas was heartily thanked for his generosity, nud the hon. secretaly was requested to convey the company's message to him.

The Gujid is very much indelted to Mr. W. H. Fussell. of Slough, who at shord moticn hatertook to judge the nompetition, for the rery ahle and masterly way he adjudicated, and also for bis comments on the day's procecdings.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the young hand of local ringers for their valuable assistance in menaring the belfry. elc, ant it is very encouraging to note that they are mow geting quite recmstomed to their hells. It was interesting to note also that the Baglan band inclucled two lady ringers one of whom was a Bellringer by name.
During the lunehcon interval, a collection whe made towards the funds of the church, which is being robtilt and enlarged, and this realiseal 22.

NORTHERN BRANCE AND GATHEDRAL-BELL FUND
Tha annual meeting was held at Gainsborongh on Saturday, May 23 y , when, despite anfarmuable weather, tigod number of members and friands were present from the three dishicts. Among thase who ittemded ware the Rev. H. Law James (Guild Ringing Master), Mir. ( i . Ladd (hon, secretary, Elloe Deancrics Branchi), Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardsou (Surthed), M1. E. Walker (hon. secxetary, Doncaster and District Sieciety), and Mr. J. T. Reid (Redbourne, Jatc of Shotfield).
The bells of the parish chareh were availablo during the afternoon and evening, when tonches were bronght ronad in various mefihods. Rounds were also rung to give the less ntwanved members an opportunity of haviug a pull.
Choral evensong was afteaded by about 60. The Rev. S. Wation, one of the assistant clergy, intoged the service, and Mr. Alan Stephenson, MLus. Bac. Oxon, presided at the organ. The assistauce given by the choir-boys aiso added considerably to the brightness of the service.

A very homely address, inoluding a heathy welcome to the members of the branch to Gainshowough, was given by the Ficar (the Rev. Canon Morris). Subsequently, 73 ringers and friends sat down to alt excellent tea, provided at the Co-operntive Hall. The business meoting followed, at which Mr. T. F. Linloy (presideat of the Nortlern Bratuch book the chair, and was supparted by the Rev. Canon Mortis (president of the Gainsborongh Distuci), the Rev. G. Wralton, and members of the committee. Other elergy preseat ware the Revs. H. 'L. Pury (presiteut of the Grimsby Distriet), R. Bond, St. Peter-atArclas, Lincoln; and C. H. Frith, Elslam. Apologies for absence were anoonced from the Revs. E. W. Carpenter (Kingerby), R. G. Fookes (Lea), and J. Barber (Stow), also from Mr. E. Dawler, Gains= borough. The general sectetary's report for 1924 was adopted, and the balance sheet passed.

The Secrelary, in his report, stated that althongh steps were taken t.o form a new district at Sloaford, in accordance with a resolution passed. the seliemo lind nod succeedod as was at first anticipated, and lias. therefore, been abavdoned for the time being. Two new towers hecame affilialed during the year (Blyton and Broughton), and four hounary and 46 performing nembers iad been elected, bringing the total up to 247 , which was a slight increase on the previous jerr. Twendy-threg pends wero rumg br the brauch.
The Presinght congratolated the fiatrict secretaries upon the excelleni, work whinh itad bece done duang the past year, and the whole of the officers were re-elected on bloc.
The following new members were elected: Mr. G. H. Hill, Gainsborough, honorary member; Messm. G. Webb, Brigg and B. Bnlit win, Elsham, performing members; and Mr. F. Watker, Doncaster, non-resident life member.

\section*{CATHED胃AL BELLS MEMORLAL FUND}

Mt, W. H. Lloyd moved, and Mr. J. Canlam secoader, the follow int rosolution: 'That the sum of f 20 be taken from the funds of the Northern Brameh, and be paid into the Catheriral Bells Memorial Fund as the lirst result of the "final effort" being made bJ the Northern Branch to complete that fund. - As an amencment, 解r. H. Forr proposed, aud Mr. J. Dixon seconded, that the sum be flo. At his stage, the Rer. H. T. Parly stated that at a recent meetiog of the Grimsby Distriet the members cammented upon the dimiaising balance of the Northem Branch funds, and were in opposition to the resolution-As a second amentiment, Mr. C. Wh. P. Clifton proposed, and Mr. G. Chester seconded, that the sum of f5 be granted, reference being made to the forilicoming appeal from St, Peter-at-Arches, Lineotn, and very probably a further nppeal from Navenby in the gear future. On being put, the second amendment was carried inanimously Totes of thanks were passed as follows : To the Rev. Ganon Morris for the use of the bells and his instructive address: the Rev. R. G. Fookes (Lata) for the use of the balls; the Rew. S. Walton, Mr. A. Shephason (orgaaist), the choirboys, Mr. W. E. Mawditi (sextan). and to Mr. F. Linley for presiding at the meetiog.
These liaving been dity responad to by the Vicar of Gainsborouth and the Presitlent, the busincss concluded, after which some of the memhers reftrned to the parish church for furtler ringing, while ouncrs journeyed to tic nillage of Ler, two miles distant, for a pull on the ring of sis in that tower. The most praisemorthy ringing of the day consisted of a comrse of Lombon Surpuise Major in the afternoon, and m course of Camivirlge Surprise Major, also a short touch of Londan Surprise Major in Ibe evening.
Baring the dap, membets were present from the following towers Guinsby (St. Antrew's), Lincoln (Cathedral, SL. Peter-at-Arehes and St, Peter at Growtsi, Bigby, Brigg, Flsham, Stow, Scothorae, Welton, Surfleet, Pinmibeck, Branston, Blankney, Scotler ard Covinglam, in adrlition to tho focal company.

\section*{A DOUBLE DOUBLE=CENTURY.}

Fitucy, it was behween 19 and 20 yequs after the captain rang his firsb peal that the 'colt' sconed his first. Within the next 2 years Lie had added anotler 99 ; inside the succeding two years, the onelime pupil gad tutor stood in the circle together for Gambridgo Royal, having each to lis credit 199. The peal was going strong, but one hour and 10 minutes from 'go' being called, down it came, lorming neat circles on the foor, wibh a nice flufy and. Yau do not start again the same day at St. Martin's, so 'go' Cambridge was cathed on the Monday following. No mishap this time, rounds coming upaccording to plan in 3 hours and 29 minutes, and the critios, who, the writer thinks, were waiting to celebrate the double double century, suid it was the finest, last course in a peal they lad ever heard.
The 'jam' was measured outi according to their expectations of a possible and correct celebration, having in mind also that it was tho bob caller's 100 h peal in that role. The writer apologises, but tha jam merchants must blame the law or the gentleman who keeps open house for all, for turuing us all out in the damp. Ono thing is very certain, the culprits will not ring their 3001 peal together, so a golken opportunity was missed by aot applyiug for an extension.

\section*{HOW HONG KONG LOST A PEAL OF BELLS.} To the Edifur.
Sir,-Referring to the remarks of Mr. J. E, Sykes as to the dificulty of ringing a peal in Hong Koagr, this would be quite a simple task, were bells and ringers availalile. From the middia of October to the midale of March, the colony enjoys climutic contitions second to noze the world over. Throughout thesc five montha, the temperalure hardly evar exceeds that of an English summer average, the humidity is low, and picaics and tenuis parlies may be arranged months ahead, an it harrly ever rains. During the remainder of the year, the climate is very hot and damp.

While I was resident te the colony in 1920-1, I interested a leading business man, who was a keen supporter of the Cathedral, in the project of putting a peal of bells in the tower. There are four of Mears' bells, lung deaul, there at present, and I abtained an estimate from home for a peal hung for ringing. But for the \(2 \frac{1}{2}\) months which recessarily elapsed while the lettors were in the post, I fully believe Hong Kong would now be the proud possessor of the ouly ringing peal in the Far East. But in the interim, my friend, who had quite made up his mind to see the thing througlr, experienced lieavy financial losses, in common with many other business people, througls the slump which began throughout the Far East in 1920 . Yours truly,

HOWARD FREEBORN.

I venture to bring luefore tile Exercise thig composite method for Caters, bolioving that, if it is given a fair trial, the advenced ringer will profer it to Stedman. It is on similac limes to tho Triple Methods publisicd in diagrammatic form gome time ago, but. las the advantuge that penls may be obtained by ordinary Stedmas bobs and singles.
It retains the valuable features of Trin in Eceping the heavy bells well together, and at home every 54 changes. In the course, they fall maturally into three different orders, i.e., 978,897 and 789, giving raried music throughout, and insteal of tiag monotonous repetition of the same slow work, it has two slows and one quicle. An examination of the diagram will show that the front work, while presenting very littlo more diffenty, is much more interesting than Stedman, and it shonld appeal ta those who at presont have litto to chaose from on aine bells. It may he practised on seven hells, but will aot give 5,040 changos, and it will not run on 11 holls.

\section*{To the Editor.}

Sir,-I did arrive hame yestercen to ye conjugal hearth expectirg to be autaited by ye Beste of Spouses with slipperg a loast, and ye partriarchal throne drawn to ye cheering blaze, hut, alas! did discower ye goade Dime immersed in ye perusal of a recent publication on "Ye solution of ye science of dreams," and ye canses therenf. 1 did timorous\(I_{y}\) inquire ye reason for such patient study, and did but elicic ye information that ye good Dame lad, as is her wont, been reading ye recent copies of our own particular' 'Who's who' jouraal, and had becone so mystified by all ye mazes of figures and explanalory notes thereon, and that she had perforce came to the conclusion, after perusing ber 'Eaquire Within Upon Everything,' thet hel Book of Dreams could aford a solution to the problem. I did at once assure ye goode Dame that she was 'barking up the wrong tree, as all these screeds were facts, not fancies, and were choice morsels culled from the ablest brains of whet we did arroganty term our Noble Art, 'Buf,' quoth She, ' if they are all facts aud all able breins, how is it that the one doti bete swi der the others, to be in his turn decried? And how can it be thet all these brains are the most able of Your Art, if these vaunted brains canot understand one ant other's facts? I did, at once, explaiu that the breins did exist, as was it not a declareti and well-proven fact that Natare abhors a yacuum: and that all these argurnonative epistles were neessary to arrive ot ye truth, and mere all straightforward lines of argument. But ye goole Drme did remind me that dear old Euclid had yemarted somelhing about two staiglat lines continued to infnity could not expect to meet, but that I had ilve small consolation that even as when rogues fall out honest men gef their own, so might it apply thal when experts aisagree the seekers after tutly might gain something of a concrete nature to console them, an thay did not object to scramble amid the concrete matter with which the Experts rid bombard one another. But as ye date had arrived when pe Gathering of ye Wise Ones did occur perhaps they would came to a deriston, especially \(\mathrm{as}_{\mathrm{s}}\) it is to be lield in ye Antient and walled City of Chester, and slie did opine that, an they did not agree would the as well to-shut the gates, and the "camp " would be complete, an she helil Tyler's office. However. I did jemind her that mant would not be there to debate or wote, as the chse mote be, and that the good old sparring match could be contimued till ye Wise Ones did again have their weekeend out, and that if ye goode Dame cond offer no bettor solubion slae had better heape it "to Fe Council.

Counvil fousooth! ye Council and re Exercise wifl fall hack on pe old saw that ye proof of ye puthling will he in ye eating thereat, that je proof of whose writings arm trte, and theories sense would be in ye ringing and general aceeptance thereat. But to end it all 'tronld do great good, an ye experts did hold clastes like tre good Mr. Gave was holding to crlucate ye masces, so that their grey matfer woth the discriminabive enongh to pick out the whead from Fe tares, and then of a truth would posterity bencfit, even though pe present gemergtion did languislı a decade or so, aud suffer je brickhats thrawn from one to the other the while we noor rank and file disnaly pararle through the line of five everr Fednar.,

\section*{CHESTER REFLECTIONS.}

Another meeting of the Central Council has come and gone, and all who had the privilege of attending at Chester will look back on the proceedings with nothing but the happiest recollections. Apart from the very enjoyable social features which distinguished this year's gathering above many others, the business meeting itself was one of considerable interest. It was not without its humorous interludes, as will be seen by those who peruse the report of the proceedings as it appears in our columins, lut this spice of merriment helped to temper the business and relieve it of that dulness which not infrequently has marked the meetings in the past.

Except in the case of the Literature and Press Com* mittee, there was a definite report from each of the numerous committees set up by the Councit, and in the case of the Peal Collection Committee and the Methods Com. mittee there was a statement of actual work completed, alter a long absence of any apparent progress. We use the word "apparent" advisedly, because the work of these committees is really stupendous in its detail, and it is only the finished product which the Council and the Exercise see. The great work of the Analysis Committee is obvious to all every year, and we think a considerable number of riugers will frilly approve of the Council's action in relieving them of a large amount of work by abolishing peal points for the future. Another of the committees which put is substantial work during the year was that appointed to deal with method nomenclature and the Council, in this knotty problem, took the only reasonable course open to tiem by deferting disctssion until the report has been seen in print. In this connection it might be mentioned that it would be well if all the committees with reports of a controversial nature would publish them beforehand, as failure to do so can only result in postponement of a decision for at least a year.

Only one of the motions down for discussion brought any opposition, and that was with regard to the augmeatation of peals of eight to peals of ten. We doubt if Alderman Pritchett, who moved it, was really as serious as he would have us believe, and his proposal was actually laugled out of court. Many members must stilt be wondering whether he was not gently : pulling the leg ' of the Council. At any rate, the motion added to the mertiment of the proceedinys, which, throughout, were characterised with the best of good taste and feeling. One other word is necessary, and that is to compliment the Chester Diocesan Guild and its special committee upon the manner in which they made the arrangements, both for the success of the meeting and the enjoyment of their visitors.

The deferred meeling of tha Western District was held at Berk. hampsicd, in glorious weather, on Snturday last, when about twenty mentors were present from the lowers in the district, and lvar Heath. \(A\) meetimg in an atjoining district did not spoil the attend ance, although their mumbers would have increased by five or six had another date veen chosen.
The melhods rutg were Gimandive Doubles, Bob Minor, Grasuite and Stedman Triples, Jlajn Boly nud Treble Bob Major. Triples sounded the best-if best it can be called, with a GLh cracked from crown to lip. How the whatilants can put up with that 'row' is beyond the comprehension of the writer.
In the absonce of the Reclor, through illness, the short service wan taken by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhiti-Drake (wigginton), bevly appointed to that living (another district's loss, but onr gain), who gave a very finc, instructire, pleasing address, from a ringer to rugers.
Tea a
Tea and meeting followed the service. After the inner man had ben attendel to, the Rev. Tyrwhit-Drake was unamimously voted to the chair. One new honorary momber (Mr. W. L. M. Benson) wa elected? Tring was chosen for the anex! place of meeling, on Saturday July 25thi-A very liensty wote of thanks was accorded to the Rector and clurchwardetis for the use of the bells; the Rev. Tyrwhitt-Drake for his splendid address; the organist for his services; and Mic. F. Norris (whe lias climbed those helfry steps for 51 years) for the local arrangements.
As no further busiuess required attention, the members again adjourned to the tower, where thay were joined by Mr. A. F. Mac donala and Mr. 'Bot,' Langdon, the tatter of whom added to his experiences by ringing on seven hells and a 'wooden one.'
Will all ringers round this end of Ferts, and adjoining countios, please note the Triug date, so that there may be a good meeting?

There is a sehence afooi to recast the fumous peal af ten, which used to hang in the lower of St. Michael's, Coventry, but which were taken down some years ago, into a carillou of 14 hells, and to hang them as at fixed carillom.
We don't know whelner it is too kate, but we suggest the Central Comencil might do sonething leere to endeavour to get this schene reconsidered.
Coventry bells have the reputation of being one of the finest rings of ten in the country, and, we are informed, witla a little turiug could be made, to fil ints a carillon without going into the melting pot. Moreover, if ratoration scheme is to be carried out, enmot the Towers and Belfries Committee get to work aud show the Coventry folks how these ten bells might be lung for ringing with safoty to thic fabric?
On arrival at, Loughhorough Foumdry to attempl two peals last Snturday week, it was fount that one of the betls was minus a whay This put the 'wind up' some of the liand, but the inclomitable 8 . CANON NOLLOTH's LECTURE AT MAGDALEN COLLEET
At Maxdalen College, on Friday, June 5ut, Canon H. E. Nolloth D.D., gave a wery interesting lecture to the sociefy on ' Bells: uluit ancient history and twodern developments.
The lecturer gave a brief but lucid survey of the listory of bolls from the earliest limes, illustratiug his remarks with ghotalions from eatly and contemporary writers.
\(\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{c}}\) then proceeded to lay great enphasis on the remarkable improvement which had taken place in bell hanging and tuming in the last thirty years or so, und he gave an interesting account of the piotcer work of Canou Simpson nnd Messrs. Taylor, of Longhboraugh, in their endeavours to tune belts so that their harmonios slond he perfect. One of itheir airts was to improve the hum note and to eliminate flic fourth-thic enirse of lurge leells.

The tenor at Eeverley Minsiter was cited hy the fecturer as being a bell with gerfet harmonics.
Canon Noiloth mext spoke of the ifnparlant and respousible world th ringing ihe bells for service. He tueted the words of a lifeleng ant enthusiastic ringer, who said that he always considered that the sero wice had berum when the bells hegan lo ring, and that the ringing it wilfel lie took papt was always preceded by prayet.
In conclading his lecture Cabon Nollofis stated that a special ringers' seat, in some strilable wart of the church nway iram itrallitht: ought to be specially reserved in every church where there was: band of ringers.
At the canchusion of iha leoture, the \(l^{2}\) resident of the Sociely the Rigint Rey. Bishop Shaw, D.D.) gave Canon Nolfolh \(a\) very juarty vote of thanks for lis slimulating and instructive lectura, and ngsured him that all present were very grateful to hime for offacing lifs expert knowledige at the tisposal of the society.

The Dpan of Checter opered the meeting witla prayer, and in the Durse of his welcome to the members, he satd he hoped we should ccover presently the notion iu England that the Cathedrals did not helong io a group of old gentlamen, hut realiy were the Bfother Churely of each Diocese, the Eishop heing the heasl of it, the Dean anil chapter tustces, and the Cathriral holonging to everyhorls. That Cithedral was the one gieat huilding in the comty that really helongerl to everybody. We were at last beginning to feel that it ifid. Ify wata glad to spe that the great Catherral of Canterhury, thich ought lo lesd them all, had move ported on its doors a notice more naguificently printed than they in Chester put on their doors fre years ago (applange). He was told in Canterburs four years ago it whe anite impossihle to throw the Cathedral open : it was all right fir a litle cottage, lut a greaf place like Canterbury would never he alile to throw itself open to the puhlie. Fe was only hoping the grom Metropolitan Cathedral of the North woth mot stick. and he so standey that it wnuld mot come in at the fail end. After the Discoluthon, Chester Cathedral fell into ovil plighe as far as money wrs concerged. Tlue 7hean and Canons were only able to carry on by seljime their big hell. That hig hell now was hatging, lie thonglit, in thip lower of Constay Churcla. It was sold! from Chester Caihedral. Tt was on sign of bether dayg that two pears ago in Chester they minde flocir tower safe and sammd. and now they comla once morn Fing firdir hralls. Ther wolconen the Council very much, and hopert they tronld have a verv happy Coumeil meeting.

\section*{TFEF BTSHOP'S WELCOME.}

The loard Fishop. who arrised a few minntes later, said he was ontr disenarging what semed to him n very natural dobt to discharp when he came there, and that wrs to thank them for all then prive dning for the charch. Wherevar one went now, one was eonscious of the emomons immovament in that patt of elmed work. whinl they mpresemiod. The hells wern more timatifully ravg than ever, there was nome rewtence among the bell ringers, and all felt they were atinong the trive workers of the church. There used to be bell tingers who, some of them, kept out of the church. He felt now lhey were heart and soul working together for the glary of God and the welfare of the holy church. He bid them a most hearty wolcome to Chester, He thonght they could not have heen at the Cathedral on Monday withoit fecling pretty clearly what it was they were out for. They really were ant to try and make people feel the Cathedrnl was vealify and tuuly the central house of God in the Diocese, to which all were welcome, aud in which they hoper all would find themselves at home. For those present on Monday it must have heen a rather reassuritig experience. They had the place full from morning to evening, andith was a ifelightful crowd to be among. One semed to find them almost pathetically grateful for the sort of freedom which they enjoyed in Gool's honse. He was specislly glari. Genatise lat folt fhat in all this they liad the twe sympathy of those whom the Comoil representer? They heard small hells and great bells, but this att of change ringing was theirs alone. Fe thenght, it musi five them extra pleasure to cultivate what all along had been a trarlitional Triglish art.

The President (Canon G. F. Coleridge) said he needly hardly assure thom how deeply the members of the Council, with some of whom lie had heen associated 37 years, appreciated the kinduess of the Lord Bishop. in weleoming them, The Coumeil hat met 37 or 38 times, and this was only the second occasion on which they had been welcomed by the Bislop amil Deats of a Diocese. Up till two jeave ago no notice was taken of the Central Council meeting. except hy Sir Athnar Feywaon on the ocession of the trimuial fondon meating. At Salishury, bwo yeats ggo, when they mei in the Chapter House, the Binhop, Dean and Archdeacon welcomed them. That day in Cheater they lian the Bishop. Dean and Precentor (applanse).
The Bishop and Dean then Jeft the meeting

\section*{RFPRFEENTATYON ON ADVISORY COMMTTTEES.}

Canou Baker, referring to the minutes of the last meeting, askelf what happened with reference to the resolution urging the appontment on ench Diocesan Advisory Commitiee of a persom with a knowladge of hells and hell ringing. Was the resolition sent to the Semetories of ithe Biomesan Conferences?
The Hon. Sorretary (Mr. F. A. Young) said he thouglit the bost way of meeting the resolntion was to piat a letter in the "Ringing Worlrl," which he did early in the year, pointing nut the desirahility of ringers getitige representatives elected on flic Church Parochia! Coumeits, and thus eventually, through the various stages. get of re prosentative on the Alvisory Commitec. That wha all he felt he cotild do.

Camon H. J. Elsee seicl what was wanled was to reach the Dinerant дuthorities in eaclu case. The Parochial Councils lind very littlo to do with Advisory Committees, exeept when they applied for a facutty themeslyes. Hewas not quate sure a request from a Diocesan ar Connty Association would teceive the same consideration as one from that Comlaral borls. He thought some application of that sort wra in her marle in the name of flu Council to the Advisory Committee in each diocese
The Rev. C. D. P. Davies saif in the Winchester Guild the Rer. C F. Matinewe was on the Arlvisory Committee for the diocese.

Mr. C. 'I'. Coles saik lee believed no sweh Advisory Committee existed in the Lamelon dincese.
Br. F. Wilfori said in the Poterbotough Diocese they had mut known which was the right way to go to work. They had made seraral inquiries. hut they liarl mon known what procedure to adopt. They were anxigus it shonld he lone, and that they should have a representaitro.
Mr. F. W. Flwell sad fle Chester Guild had taken the mater \({ }^{1}\) wilh the rothorities, bis it was rather horging fire at present.
Caion Baker pointed out that the Advisory body consisted of experts apponited hy the Charcellor of the Diocese to adrise on applicstions for facultios, and what they (the Conncil) wanted was that they chould have a rembesentative who conld represent the point of riew of the ringers, ant who knew something alout bells. In the ease of his owt diocesc, Its- commitee had come fo some extranvelinary eniselusions. If a later whs sent to the Secrelary of the Dionesan Conforotice he wonlal pass it on to the Anvisory Committec
The Rev. H Drate shid flan in the diocese of St. Tdmundebury their difficuly was, that, although they harl mede appication and hate the sunior Avelelearon supporting then, they had not heen ablp in Egte a menther on the Advisory Cammiliec. He thought if they contid get he support of the Central Council it would help them groatly. Fe thought ilsere would be no difficulty in each asoociation secretary getting the information as to the Advisory Committee, abil gending on a leiter from the Commel to the right quarter.
The lon. secretary mertook to send out a letter of the earlinst opport untity.
The Finn. Secralary and Treasurer presenteri the balance sheet for the yeary he alreaty prinied. It was falonten, on the notion of the Rev. H. Law James, sconded hy Mr. J. Grifin, menhers of the Standimg Committen, who Thad carried out the audit.

Who Hon. Soctetary sand no nssociations had droppod ont, hut din was glad to say Bussex had rojoined them, nud they had nlso got am , ntw association, the Swansea and breen Guild thear, heary.

The semblary's repriv (the firsh under the auspices of the Pelerborongly Diocesan Guilal) stated thal 63 peals were rung anving the Fear in a variety of methods, which shows that a steady improvement is being made in regard to metlands thag, the most notalale achievoment hoing tho peal of Bristol Surprise Major at Irthanghorougl. 'Llurteen ringers rang thair first peal, 39 rang their first peai in o new method, ten their first on eight, atm Four on ten bells. Twentrome ringens conducted peals, flree of whom called their first peal. Messers. T. Tobhuit and M. Fobbe hoth ravg their 100th peal, as a result of hand and continuous work for soveral years, particular\(1 y\) armong the five and six-ijell vingers. That the incentive of peal ringing is an infucement for improved striking is a well-known fart, andi mombers should see that the standard in peal ringing is also maintained in the provision of goon and regular finging for Sunday Serwices. Thete are 81 towers in union with the Guild, with a tolal membership af 592 , being 65 lionorary and 527 Eitsing members. All the branches are in a satisfactory financial position, although some incurved a slight loss on the year's work owing to exlra expendifure whicla will not oceur again. Thhe tolal veceipts amounted to s34 19s. ghan.. and tha experditure to \(£ 595.6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{c}\). , hut that did mot imelude the cost of printing the ammal reports. A sum of \(£ 11 \mathrm{IS}\). 9 gid. was atded to tha Beliry Repairs Fumal. atter making a grant of thee guineas to Yelverton, the halance in hami heing ext 19s. ©id. In reviewing the work of the Guild during jts fist rear, the most remarkable fining is the manaer in which tha branclaes liave settled down ta 'logit govermant,' which is che to the very excellent and untiring offorts of all the hranch offeevs. FThe wortitr Master had heen on saurce of inspiration of the whole Guikd. Ho had attended more than thinty meetings durint the year, and dome much to help in making the Guild a real and living hoty of active church workerz. Tho officers were reblecten on har for the ensumer yent, as follows: Presifient. the Fery Res. the Dean of Pelerbotobigli: Master, Mr. F. Wilford Norlhampton; frensurer*, Mu. \section*{COVENTRY'S FAMOUS BELLS.}

Are the famous bells of St. Michael's, Coventry, now the Cathedral Church of the new diocese, to be lost for ever to ringing? The question is prompted by the announcement that it is proposed to recast them into a carillon of i4 bells, as we briefly intimated in our last issue, and unless something is done quickly one of the finest rings of ten bellis in the world will disappear, to give place to a lighter set of bells of extremely limited capacity for tune playing. It is a difficult matter for outsiders to intrude themselves into the domestic affairs of any church, but here, we think, the Central Council might with justification endeavour to induce the Coventry people to hold their hand until further investigation has been made.

The position at Coventry is a unique one. Towards the end of the eighteenth century apprehensions as to the stability of the beautiful steeple, led to the bells being taken down and rehung in a wooden frame rising from the ground and unconnected with the steeple walls. When the church was restored in 1885 the western arch was thrown open and the bell cage, being considered unsightly, was ordered to be removed, and with it the bells had also to go. They were last rung exactly forty years ago this month, and, after being stowed away for a time, were re-erected in the Octagon, where they have since lung dead for chiming. From time to time schemes for the building of a separate campanile have been mooted, but have never matured, presumably for want of funds.
In the forty years which have passed since the bells were rung, however, great advances have been made in the engineering side of bell hanging, and it seems to us that there is opportunity here for a reinvestigation of the ability of the tower to carry the bells at a low level; or, if this project should be impracticable, to raise once more the question of another campanile. To melt up this grand old peal of bells seems almost like sacrilege, when the only object is to get out of them four more. We believe that with a little tuning to bring the bells into line with present day scientific ideas, these ten bells would be as fine as any in the land, and if eventually they are to fulfil no greater purpose than to be played upon by mechanical means, it is still to be hoped they may be preserved, and any extension of their number provided by entirely new metal. While one admires the generosity which has prompted a parishioner to defray the cost of the present proposals, there is very little information available as to whether any consideration has been given to a scheme to restore the bells to their original purpose, or whether any independent advice was sought. \section*{NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.}

I'lue annual meeting of the North Bucks Branch took place at Newport Pagnell on Saturday. Jume 6th, when tho weather was gloriously fine. Tho attendance was not so gread as usual, but a represeuthtive gathering was present, the following towers being ropresented: Bletchley, Beachampton, Chieholoy, Emberton, Fenny Stratford, Simpson, Stony Stratford. Stoke Goldington, Olney, aud the local tower. The bells are a tine peal of eight, and various methods were rung. The members atteuded service, when the Guild'a form was used. the address being given by the Rev. J. L. Dove, of North Crawley (Rural Dean), which was very interesting, and called for a specisl wote of thanks from the meeting.

Tea was held in the Farish lioons, whete between 50 and 60 gat down, arrangements having bean made by the loenl ringers. After tea, the nsual business meeting was ledd, the Rev. L. Moron, of Nowport Pagnell, clairman of the branch, presiding. - The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) prescnted the balatec sheet, which was considered very satisfactory.
Subjects relating to the general working of the branch were digcussed, and the Master (the Rev. G. W. O. Jonkyn) spoke on rarious matters, including the Central Comeil meating at Chester. - Mr . Wright (treasurer) and the theneral Secretary (Mr. A. T. Bibbert) passed a few remarks on the general position of the Oxford Guld, and the secretary made mat earnest appeal to the represontatives of the towers in North Bucks for a sulacription ho the Waghbrook Me moria! Fund, -A grant was made from the North Bueks Branelı funds of \(£ 3\) 3s.

The tower was agairs visited for further ringing, the methods ranging fron Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

SONNTNG DEANFRY BRANCH.
A combined ringing practice was lield at Sandhurst on Saturday, June 13 th, but only ton members attended, from the following towers: Wokinginm, Twford, Waltlamo St. Lawrence, and Saudhurst. The following methads were praclisedi: Grandsire and Stedman, Doubles, Ilain Bols, Oxford and Kent Treble Bol and Cambridge Surprise,

DEATH OF AN EASTBOURNE RINGER.
It is witla regret lhat we have to annotince the deatil of Mr. Thomas Deadman, who succumbed on Saturday. May 29tin, at the Leaf Hospilal (following an operation). He had been in ill-health move or fesse during tha last 18 montlif, and this lad kept him from following lis favourite pastime.
Athough not a great methot ringer, Mr. Deadman had ruag ahotat 35 peals on the tenor, and was always regnried as a good striker. LE was a member of the Sussex Commy Association for a great numthe ol years, and leami first to handle a bell at St. Mary \({ }^{9}\) s Church, Fastiourne, but for the past twenty years or more he bad been a menther of the All Saints hand, and was, for some time, their leader.

He was busied on Friday, Jume 5 H , a service being held at All Saints. Before, and after the sarvice, mufled touches were rung on the bells by mempers of both All Snints' and St. Saviour's Churelees, and rharing the evening, nine courses of Stednan Triples were rung ly tho folmong: A. Gower 1, J. Sharp 2, F. G. Waymark 3, Fi Bray 4. B. Hoblo 5, G. W. Stokes 6. R. fiown (conductor) 7, J. H. Slarp 8.

\section*{MR. F. G. MAY IN DURBAN.}

Tha ringers of Durban, Natal, lave received a valuable addition jit Llo person of Mr. F. G. May, lale of Brisiot, who arrived aboul the ratidlle of last month. On completing the 50 -lotry railway jourHey trom Cape Town, Mr. May was met by Mr. F. Simpson, one of tha local ringers, and Mr. J. E. Prjekett, formerly of Chepstow. 'A hasty journey 5 rickslaws to Mr. May's quarters, os refreshing cup of ten, and then," says out correspondent, a sileasant hour whs spent on the sea front, discussing old times and ghanning for the future. On Sunday morning. Mr. May joined in the ringing af SE. Mary's dower, much to the idelight of the local band. Durban is indeed lucky Io have ohtained tite services of two such men fis Mr. Prickett and S1r. Whay, and the writer sincerely hopes that theil enthusiasm and thentangement will make the local ringers put their backs and minds inta it, A peal of Grandsire Triples should be ancomplished very soon now
" Unforimativ, we laris to recorit the lass of Mr. F. I. Cole, who rulipe to enjoy a well-enrned pension. The writer will always renember and he grateful to Mr. Cole for Five holu and patience wher wo lipa began teaching ringing at St. Mary's. Our loss wi引l fo some othor lower's gain, for'J feel suro that he will nol be in England many boure lofore lie finds a cormor in some townr. May ine loug be spared to enjoy lis well-earne \({ }^{3}\) rest."

\section*{NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.} ANNUAL MEETING AT EAST RETEORD.
A glorious sumaner day brought togelher a large gatherivg of ringels for 1 lue anmal meeting of the Norll: Nots Association al East Retifork. Members were pregent from Bralhocough, Worksop, Nortor Cuckney, Gamelon, Suton-on-Trent, North Cottinghem, Wheatley, Misterton, Gainshrougla, Ordsall, Easi and West Retford, Doncaster and Grantham. The methods rung during the afiemoon and evening were Plain Bob. Kent and Oxford Treble Boh Grantsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters, Sterman Caters and Kent Trehle Boh Major, the lowers of East Reford. Wesl Retford and Ordsall being at the disposal of the ringers.

Servine was held at the Parish Chareli in the afternoon, at which the Vical of Harworth (the Rov. F. d'Arblay Burney) gave a moat appropripte address on the subjeci of bells aud bell ringers. The work of a lell ringer, either lady or gentleman, was af the greategt importance to lbose who ministered in Coal's housc, lie said. In meny parishes there were men wha had to perform Sunday duty, and could not always attend the Sunday services, but the soum of the bellg remindedethen and all other classes of people that came within the soturl of the belly that there was a Cood to be worshipped and glori fed. Ho wished the association the greatest success, and hoped the bells of Norlh Notis would ever coninac to ring hoth for practice and ns a call to Sunday service, and to remind ithe people of their duties and responsibilities.

Toa was provider at Cooke's Cafe, when nowands of 50 ringers and friends sat down. The business metting was presiden? awer hy the Rev. F. d'Arbiay Burney, in thm mavoidable absence of the Vicar a East Refforl-Six new memhers were envolled, and the next maet ing will he held at Laxton an Saburday, July Ilth, when Elae Rev. S B. Bleau and lat vingers will he glad to sep a good attendance.

It was unanimously decided to convey a message of congratulation to the Soulb Anstor bell rmgers on their perilormance in minning the silver cup of the Sheffield and Districi Association for the wear 192d The compntition was held at Nartan Woodseals, Sheffield, on Jume 6th, and the Anston company were adjudged the lest ringers in the campetilinn, und consequently hold the cup for one year.

The Rev. B. Darley was enrolled an honorary life member.
Foles of LJanks were pasted to the Fitar of Fast Retford. the Rectors of West Relford and Ordsall. respectivelv, for lle lise of the bells, and to the Rev. F. d'Arblay Burney for his address and presirting over tea and meeting.-Tn replying. he observed that he was now the olriest vice-prestent in the asociation.

Mr. J. E. Sykes, whe is now in Mauchuria, has discovered what he thinks is probably the oldest landbell in existence. When visiting a Buddlisi, temple at Mukden he saw a statue representing the Buadiasi conception of "The Full." A linatbell is clasped in the hand of one of the ligures of this idal, which is held in great revorence, and is at least 1,500 years old.
George Large, wha [rang lis first peal of Stedman Cingtes lasi weck at St, Martin's. Birmingham, is thyouth of great promise. His first peal (which he conductect) was Ireble Bob Minor, with sevou different callings, and it was rung at the fira attempt. He slowed his capmeity by the way ia which lee rang in the peal of Cinques (also his dirsi attempt).
the following was founal amous the "papers" laft behind at the Connex meeting wi Chester.

POIN'LS FOR PEALS.
Points for Peals were always absurd,
Ahal the writer has ever averred
That it's casy to gee,
Most ringers agree,
There's a letter too much in the word.
Mu. H. A. Heywood, of Cbristleton, who presided over the Len, to which the Central Council and friends were entertained at Choster, is a son of the late Canon Heywood, of Swinton, Manchesler, and a cousin of the late Sir Arthur Heywood. Athough lae has never taken up ringing, Mr. Heywood las been a meabber of the Ghester Guilu since its formation in 1887, and for some sears acted as hon. sectelary.

TRHBLE 130 BEAL COLLECTION COMPLETED.
The President (Gnon Coleridge) announced that the homarary mernjelf retiring fhis yenl were the Rev. A. F. F. Boughoy (a past presidenth, Mr. J. W. Tarker, the Rev. FL. S. T, Richardson, also Mr. H. Chapman, who was an hohorary menber, but wha is now returned as a representative for Lancashire. That, lof then ono vacnucy on the honatary members' list. 'lhey hat always felt it desirable that liey shond lave one vacancy in liand in case of ati emergency arisigg in which they wanted to pat some notable man on some commillee, whe might he of inestimable use in the hour of necessity.

The thre firsh named were ra-elected,
Tlie following now members were inlrouluced to thr president: MrE. Guise (Gloncoster and Bristof), Mr. J. J. Jntson (Peterborough) and Mr'. A. J. Itueghes (North Wales).
The Council then burneg to the reneption of the reports of commitThe Rev. H. & T. Richardson, on hehalf of the Peal Collection committec, apolagised for flae delay that had taken place in conmection with the work, but said the best apology was to produce the goods.' Thits he was now able to do. It was an enormous pile of manuscript, and if the Council would decide what was to be done wilh it le woild secthat it was dono as soon the possible. What rothing that had been in his mind. The collection was begars ariginally \(\mathrm{bj}_{\mathrm{H}} \mathrm{H}^{\prime}\). Trollope a long time ago. A good deal more had been pralished since, and be thought the collectian should be bronght up to date. When the last instalment was produced, be noticed a criticism of tho collection on the ground that it was not especially a conduetor's collection, but the aim, it seemed to bim, whs to show the history of composition in the method, and that had been succensfully ancomplislied. Its uislity to converctors was not the ehief thing. The guestion was whether would be possible to print the whole toning. He thought that wes very doubtiful, bay if ever that were, to come to pass it would be a goorl thing if the collection were bought up to thlue Rev, H. Law James suggested it might be possible fo print a selection for the use of conductors.
The President said lhey wera greatly indebted to the committee far all thes had tlone, and lie was sure the Council mould wivh to carrs out the conmiftee's wishes as far as possible. Fis suggested chat the mambers of the commitice shoula have a further consulation aud report later.

Subseguently, the Rev. II. S. T. Richarelson said he had consulted the members of the cornmitiee. Miss Patker lad promised to trya the collection (hear, hear). The committee did not recommend making a selection tor printing, that was a matter for the Council to seltle. It was propozed \(t_{1}\), collect the peals that had heen published since the collection was made, to bring it up to date.
The President said the Conncil were deeply grateful to Miss Harker for her kindness in undertaking to type the collection. They kmew what she had done in the way of typing in the past (applause).

\section*{LFTERAITURE AND PRESS COMMTTHEE}

Burton, asked to regort on belanlf of the Literature and Press Committee, said lo really did not know anything about the busintes. In recent year, Mr. Willson had actod as convener, bnsides. In recent yeara, Mr. Willson had acted as convener, and thews, and a hundlo of hatiad had was a post eard from Mr. Matin Griffu said of propers from the secerary he woild not he ahle to attent the meeting. In this lefter lie said fit migh be asked why he hari not submitted a report for the coramifte. Tlie reason was he was not the convener. The Rev. C. E. Matthews was the convener, and he had suggested that in his (Mr. Wildson's) absence Mr. Paddan Smith sliouk take his place Mr Willan had added that he had taken the initiative for three sears. and, after all, someone else onght to do their bit. Mr. Paddon Smit. would he a gigod man (applause).
Nr. A. Pation Smitl caused murh anusement by relatint what le knew of the committer's aftairs. All he liad hatl, he shid, was a packoge of paters from the hon. secretary and a post card from the Rev. C. B. Mathlews thanking him for a letter whidh he had never written, and asking lim to leport in Mr. Willson's place. Although he lidd appronension. Mathews saying that theye must lave been some misWprehension, ds he had never written to hins, he had lind eo repls. Whal was there more to report? (laugliter).
'The Res. T". LI, Edvarsizgaid during theyear thinge which had heen arought up by corresper lence in local newspapers had been effectualls deats with, and another thing that had coma under the notice of the pommitteo was the admirable action of uenbers of the Devanshire faid in supplying regularly to local papers inst ouctive and iuafmirable movement to mong mitters. Fe thouglat this was a most almirable movement to have initiated, and thought ble example might be inllowed in other districts.

\section*{A COLLECRYON OF PLAIN MATOR METHODS}

The Rev. If. Iaw fanes veported for the Med hods Commiltee, He sain they were now in position to print a selection of the plain Major Methods. Mr: I'rollope and himself had lagd a great deal ol Lrouble, and had had practically to re-do the work, because they had not been able to get anyling from Hr. Lewis. Mar. Lewls was a very lusy man, but that morning Mr. Young bad handed him the papert Whicli he (the speater) sent to Mr. Tewis two yoarg ago. Mr. Trollope and he would look these papers through again, before going any further, and he hoped they would be in a position to puint a selection of 70 or 80 methods very shortly.
Mr. J. A. Trollape sad Mr. James and limself made uy their minds that they would not came to tho Coment this yoar unless they could hand in the complete mannacript ready for printing. The collention had been entirely rewrititen, but it was possible there were things in the original that that lad been overlooked in the new; therefore, Lley wanted time to look through the papers that, had now come hack from Mir. Lewis. Ther felt ashamed of the way they had had to come thare year after year and say they were go further forward. Critlemm, Mr. Trollope continued, was sometimes made of the proposal to publish these methods. It was said that lingers already hat more metloods to ring than they would ever ring. The committee dil not expect that linese Major Methods would be taken up witb the rapidity of the six-bell methads, but they must remember that before the sixbell collection was pulished six-bell ringers had about 20 or 30 mothods. Now they Liad scme hundreds of Minor methods, and every ane had been ming, which ghowed that the publication of the bonk hat doue an immense amount of good. Wien the six-bell hook wiss published it was zaid 'Pcople will not ring the methods,' but the, book had 'taken on," and lee hoped the same thing would result will the new collection. He strongly recommencied tands, when tlsey wauted lo break fresta gromd, and get of the beaten track, not necosgarily to aim at Surprize mefhods. There were methods which could be rung easily if they could ring Double Norwich, whereas ther mighi break their lecth on Bristol and London. Such methods were flose which werz rung at Willesden
Wr. G. P. Birton asked the committee to recollect if these melinods Were printed therre was another committee which might have sompthing to sar on the naming of them. Fe thought there was no analogg befween the six and the eight bell methods. They wank merer get mingers io ring all thesa landieds of methods on eight hells. In the methods that trere boing rung overy day, they had all the quality that jingets wanted ar ever would wont. He suggesterd that the Council should nof waste their money in printing these methats. 1. would the simply a scrap loook.

Mr. E. Barnett 1 lhought that was a verg narrow way of looking af thie matiter.

Mr. T. H. Beams supporfed wiat Mr. Burton had said with regatd to the naming of these meflouls. Once the names were printecd they would be pretty well sure fo stick to them.
The Rer. H. Jaw Jamea said the committee were ordered at the Lincoln meeting io print the methods and attach the names. They had attached the names, and weve going to print them.

The Rew. H. Drake saicl the Nomenclature Committee only askel te be consulted before the names were printed.

The Rev. F. Law . Tnmes: Tou were appointed to revise the tianes of the Minor medlods ("No
The report was adopten.

\section*{PAL POINTS ABOLISHED.}

The repar': of the Analysis Committee having been priated in "The Ringing World," its adoption was moved by the Rew. A. T. Theerton. He said they hal not had ome peal published twieg during the year, end he thanked ilo conductors for that altontion. They had hed a little trouble through the publication of peals laving been delayed for some montha after being rung. He ventured to say that such long delay in pubtieation should not take place agaia. Tlae Cunncil, he continued, would notice that the commiltee liad introduced a new columin into. We anatysis, indinating the number of conductars who had conducted peals for each association. There was in their repart cvers yoav a lang list given of conductors with the number of peala they had comolucted. This was a tahle that required a great deal of trauble, and the conmittee suggested that the Counci! should agrea Lo drop that part of the report, because the committee felt that it was somewhat of a personal thing: it indicated the performances of individual members of the Exoreise, and they felt that the analysis was for the Thareize as a whole, and not for any partioular indiiduals thereof.

\section*{Mr. J. W. Patker seconted.}

Mr. C. T. Coler sutgested some minor afierations in regard to the analysis, and went an to נ'nise the question of the aumber of poinis allokled to Jindegex and Leirester Surprise Royal respetively. Al(honarly he had not ruug Leimeter, he had rung Middlesex, but he did not think memberg of the conmitte bad rung either of these methods. After an examination of Leicester Surprise Royal, he had coma to the ecncluajon that it mught not to lave any more points than Middlosex. as thare was lifle Aifference in the fwo.
tum Rev. H. Lno James : 1 move that it be an instruction to the
The Rev. H. Lat , Fames: 1 move that it be an instruction to the antit they ran nlamblately valueless.

Mr, ©. 'T. Coles seconded, and said tlat would med his arilicism.
Ar. W. A. Cave supported the mation. Ju said some time ago they rang at Brislol a peal of Clifton Surprise Royat. He was not going to argue whether it was harder or easier than other Surprise Royal methods, but as one of that band he could say they would nol think of offering a suggestion as to the mamber of points to be allotwail. 'lisey rang the peal, aud thab was all ther wayted.
Mr. A. H. Pulling said he cane prepared to propose that the points be abolished. It gave the commituee a lot of unnecessary worl, for il was impossible to ccramare one per! with another.

Mr, I. W. Parker said points marked the progress of a Guild on hasociation, and the quality of the ringing. There was nothing elso which marked that, and for that reason he thought they shoukd retain them, and possibly try to improve the way in which they were awarded
The Rov. C. D. P. Davies said points hat lout a grood long innimge. und he thoughi they might by bowlerl out.
The Rex. A. T. Beesion said the Conneil Hati already decided that points shall be given, and he asked if the rule cond be rescinded withont due notice.
The Presiderst: Not if it is a rule.
The Rer. A. T. Beeston said with regand to the eriticism of Mr. Soles, the Council decided the points. A table of point values was theme up liy their old colleagues, was discussed by the Council, and pinssed. The table of walucs was published in the ringiag papers, and it was liate fable which guided then in allotting points to peals. With tcgard to Leicester and Middesex Surprise Royal, the lalter was a chouble method, and the former a conpound melhod, and the Council hat decided that a compeund Sumprise method was of more value in poinks lian a dorble method. That was the reason why Leicester had 63 poinls, attil Mifflesex only 60.
It was pointed out that the scale of points was not a 'rule,' but a "denision," amd as such, the President held, could the altered without mrevious stotice.
On being pat to the meeliog, the resolution to omit the points from be Analysis in futurr, was carried by a larere zuajority.
The President said lie remembered very well indeed the question of points lefing introduced by Mr. Athree, of the Suksex Association. He (the sponker) was deat agrinstif from the beginuing, and he was delirlited to see the resolution carried now. 1 E was perfectly true what was so often saitl that a peal of Grandsire Triples by a young band, or the first peal they rang in a new methor? they had mastered, was far better ist rafue than a peal of Tomion or Thristol Surprise rung by a land who were ringing such pais every week (applause).

The report was then adopted.

\section*{WELDING CRACKS IN BFLIS.}

The 'lowers and Belfries Committee's report mas contained in a letLer received from Mr. E. H. Lewis, who said the Society for the Protedion of Ancient Buildings had raised the question of weldiag cracks in hells. The committce were not able to be rury helpiul, alohough Mr. Faircloagh thought such a practice was passithe. Two cases were repored ia tlie teclnical press, and wore sais to linve been successful. As. however, it is doubtful whether these bells had to stand the same freatment as our zinging bells, he could not say what the eftect would bea an liells lung for ringing. He asked for information of any ceses of welding of khich the members of the Council lard knowledge, and in the meantime le was, in canjunction with the S.P.A.B., enryyng ate some experiments on the change in erystalline structures in bell inelal eansen by welding
Thu. Hort. Secretary sait the yuestion was being investigated by tho s.P.A.R. with a view to saving some of our ntedieral bells. He always anderstood that it presented many difleultier. but their hellFoundiar friends would know all about the difficulties. Fie knew if hat tieen said that eracks liad heen cured by this process. He was told many years ago of a tenor that was mended by a German. Thim [rocess was eaid to be a secret one, and the mat locked himself in the tower, and ro one saw or knew what le did. Whather this pra*ess liad beor developerl he could not say.
Mr. Faircleugla said there was a firm in Warrington who would weld cracks in bells, if they were sent to their foumdry, on the terans af "No cure, no pay.
Mr. C. F. Johoston said lie knew of toro hrhs that had heen sucrexsfully welded, so far as the structute was concerued, but not so far 25 tono was concerned. He also leard of a German who wellt athout Figiand before the waw offering to mend bells by a secret proeess. Tit it was really no great secre, it was simple acetylene welding. He rlid a very good structural mend, bui lie diti not give the liell back its frone.
The Ref. H. Drake sait he did not see why they, as ringers, should Hiscourage the process. It might belp to kemp nin old bell in exist anco. He did not say it was rlesirable that anything of the tiad shonal be done to bells that were to be fing:
The Rer. H Law James : If isn'i necessary fo mend it if you don't want to ring it. Keep it wilh the crack in it.
The Rev. H. Drake: The eritek mas gel worze.

\section*{NOMENCLATURE}

The most contentious business before the Central Council was the report of the committee appointed last year to deal with method nomenclature. The subject, which may to some people appear to be a minor one, is, in fact, of some importance, for the haphazard methods of the past have led to endless confusion as weli as to the use of terms which, to say the least, have been out of place. The terminology used in ringing has always been quaint, and, to the uninitiated, amusing, yet little or nothing had ever been done to improve it. A few years ago, however, the Analysis Committee of the Council were called on to give names to certain hitherto umamed metloods, and, with a great opportunity to improve nomenclature, adopted a group of titles which not only maintaned some very unsuitable names, but actually accentuated their absurdity. It was the feeling created by this action which led cventually to the setting up of a special committee to deal with the baming of methods, their terms of reference being not merely to revise names already allowted, but to suggest lines of guidance for the cuture.

This conmittee admittedy had a very difficult task, but those who read their report will agree with the view expressed at the Council meeting that they have tackled it in a reasonable and moderate manner. First they had to face the fact that, in the past, the author of a method or the band who have been first to ring it have claimed the right to name if. It has been this freedom which has allowed many of the absurdities to grow up, for those who have had the opportunity of applying names have been guided by no principle, and simply christened their methods as fancy dictated. Another thing with which the committee was faced was the fact that certain terms have been so established by long usage that no tampering with them-however ludicrous they may appear to out-siders-would be permitted. History and practice have given them a position unassailable in these days. To carry out their task the committee had to malse a break with tradition, and not the least difficult of their problems was to decide where the cut was to be made. That decision, we think, has not been finally arrived at. The report which the committee presented seems to be but a first instalment, for it opens up the question of a much more far-reaching revision of terms than the mere changing of names among the methods.

In principle we think the commitiee have struck right lines : in detail their report is liable to considerable amendment. The Council could not possibly have discussed it with intelligence and with the care which the subject requires without first seeing it in print, and they took the only reasonsble course of adjourning debate until this opportunity had been alforded to them. Probably before the Council meets next year, the committee themselves may have something more to say on the subject; certainly their crifics will have ample opportunity of framing amendments. We suggest that it might save time is those who have substantial objections to raise, put them forward in our columms, so that they, too, may be considered by members of the committee and Council before the meeting, and adequately dealt with when the matter comes up for discussion. On as stbject of this sort, it is almost as difficult to deal offhand with previously unpuhlished amendments as it is (o) deal with an unpublisheci report.

In the anmual report, wecently issued, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. Ji. Hajght snys: On mombers are increasing every year, and our list of towers afflinted also nereases, the number now being 20 ; the subscriptious of memhers are maid with better regularity. In respect to ringing some of the towers lave reached a good staudard of excollence, whilst in other towers there is plenty of room for improvement. There are lowers where a d'egular practice night is almost out of the question. Ringers must Jave praetice, first to keep up and improve their own standard of zinging: and, secondly, to teach young ringers how to handle a bell; otherwise jinging will in time cease at churches where no practice takes place.

In the matier of bell restorntion, the two principal events of the year bave bean: (1) The rehanging and retuning of the old peal of five bells of St. Peter's, Gamston, and the addition of a new treble bell to make a ring of sis. A new ringing chamber has been provided six feet below the old one, and camfortably fumished. Everythang in the tomer is new with the exception of the old frye bells; and the ringers, under the tuition of Mr. H. Revill, of Ordsall, are making good progress in the art of change ringing; (2) the bells of St. John-the-Baptist. East Markham, lave been increased frons six to eiglat by line addition of two mew trebles, the gif \(\mathrm{E}_{\mathrm{g}}\) of Mr. W. T. Hopps, of Leamington, as a memarial to Mr. and Mry. H. Gowlishaw. 'The late Mr. Cowlighaw was a vice-president of the associntion for many years. The full octave is a splendi] ring of bells, wh excellent splice hawing been ruade, aurl logether with a mew intermediate clumber to deaden tine sound in the ringing chamber, leapes nothing to be desived. A new clock has also been given by the donor of the bells. In the matter of meetings, a very successful year has beer accomplislied. Apart from the annat meeting, six fistrict meetings have lbeed held during the yed and a grod stamdard of ringing maintained; at same of the towers the methods rung were trom Plain Bab to Landon Surpaise.

Our liss of new members for the year is thwee vice-presidents and 16 ringing members, including Herbert Smith, Esq., as wiee-president and life menuber; \(H\). NUMBER OF MEMBERS AND TOWERS BELOW STANDARD.
The annual report of the Winchester Guidd lus just been pult lisued. Duriug the year, seven compounding members joined, and, in addition, the aumbers wha have mad contribntions, were: Fon. mombers 59. Tut members 553 , probationors 32 . The peals rung in 1924 showed a decrezse of five compared with 1923 . but there was a large increase in the number of Sumprise peals rung. The peals were rung in 35 different towerts.
'I'le Hou. Secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger), in his report, remarked that the Guild suffered a greai loss by the death of the Rev. W. E. Colchester. of former general secretary and treasurer, and for many years an enthusiastio member and friend. T'he loss will be keenly felt, more patimiaty as vinging dergy in the docese are so deplorably few.
Restoration work las been going an steadily, and in addition to the completion of the work at Brockenkurst and Leatherhead, it is hroped that the ring of tive at Sopley, with a pit for an additional bell, will be reopened shoris. A movement is also afoot to add a treble to the existing ring of five an. Woolton Hill, aud there are whispers of a ring of eight at Milfort-on-Sea. Owing to tower weakness, it is much to be regretted that the flne ring of eight at Sinnklin are unringable; also that the recast bells for St. Michael's, Soutlanptou. are still wailing the verdiet as to tower safety.

Although considerable progress has beca shown in some quarters, the apachy lowards clunge ringing and the Guild by many of the elergy and a goorl number of ringers is nutu to be deplored. In this conuection in slould he noted ihat the number of both members and towers in wion fall much below standard. fil mentbers should serive to remedy fhis, as only by making mew members can the work of the Guilid be successfully carried on. Mr. Tom Deadman, whose death was recorded in our last issic, was, in the days when the writer first met him, one of the best physically developed specimens of humanity that it would be possible to meet. Of more than average height, he was broad of shoulder, and had arms as big as many a man's thigh. Had he liad the opportunties, he would liave been an ideal type for some of the 'big 'jobs, but his ringing was done in towers where there are na bells over 25 cwt.

Dear Sir,- 'To an Amurath on Amurath succeeds,' and so with the isms.' A blight appeats to descend upon our beautiful bells, and now it is 'carillonism, aud another fine old peal is doomed. I wonder that our bell founders can really find the heart to accept sta rommissions. Are those which rennin to us abfe? We fortunately still have Lavenlam, Mancroft, Pershore, Fulliam, Pajnswick anil Southwark; one can lutaly now add St. Mary Radelifie. But in the Grent Jazz Age none is safe, and it remains for the ringing fraternity to bestir itself unless it would lose the littie of great value it has left-left as a priceless heritage from tho pasti-I ann yours faithfully,

TEMPLE BAR.
To the Editar.
Dear Sir \(-I\) quite agree with your articla alout Coventry bells. If the present members of the Exercise could only bear these fine bells, they would do anything to prevent their loss.

I am anongst the few left who remember their wonderfil tonc. I used to ring there nearly 40 yerrs ago, with nen who knew what a good "ring" was. I speak of J. Bannister, H. Johnson, T. Reynolds, H. Bastrble. J. Jomes, and others, who, with myself, were all agreed that, whethet in the tower or out, they were an extraordinary fine set of bells, being so well halanced logether in tome and tune.
I only hope your efforts to save these bells will he strocessful.-1 am, yours faitlifully

To the Editor.
Sir.-With regard to tho fate of this noted ring of bells, is it not possible even now to do something to save them, as you suggest no time must be lost? I know of a case whete a now pulpit was pined in a parish chtuch, the old pulpit was sent into amother prish; in another case, an organ had to be yemoved for a larger one, the ald one was meved into another parish. Cannot church bells be moved in the same way? In their ordinary course of busiaess some of our bell founders aye sure to have on liand vither now or shortly the recasting of an ohd peal of eight, and increasing the same to ten. Conlu not these old eight hells with the necessary new metal he cast into the carillon for St. Michael's, nud tho ten bells from St. Michanl's be placed in the tower where tho ten from the fountry would have been placen? To facilitate this a conference should he laedel betwen representatives of the two churches concenned, the Centrat Conncil of Ringers, and the hell founders, when, no foubt, with explanations aud reason, all olvstacles will be overcome.

JOHN 1BFAMS.

Hitherto wo lave not referred in our reports to performances in Withr methods. There are, however, three such performances during the perioul muler tiew, which pour committee considers worthy of natic: Thy two first are seven completa extents in 30 methods on Jannars list, 1925, the greatest at the time ever included in such a peil. It was exceedch, howewer, soon afley December 4th, 1923, by seven "omplete extmuls in 35 methorls. This renains the Fecord.
Moneover, we feel it is advizable to give a lisk of the first Minor peals rung in progressive methods of meihorls spliced, according to the preselut recognised plan. Tlle frst was rung by the Lincola Guila in eighumethons, November 9th, 1909; the same Guild rang we first

Mr. 5. S. Wilde pointed out that, striekly speahing, 号hipwny got the thrst spliced peai of Union and Grandsire Triples. In Grambsire' they would find the record of a five-part peal published by Shipwaw, hut there was one lead of Linon in each part; therefore it was a spliced peal of Uujon and Grandsire. In the Central Council's Collection of Peals, Section 1. there were two peals of Linion 'lriples hy. W. Th, Thompson. These were also spliced peals of Unian and Crundsite Triples, as they lad one lead of Grandsire Tripins in each of the five parts. Mr. Davies also hat a variation of a pat by Shipway, in which he hronglt home the five part-ends as the plain course learls of Granilsive Triples.

The Rer. H. Law James: The plain truth is, there is no such thing at Union Tripies at all. Ti is nothing but 5the's place bobs in Grandsire.
Mr. T. Wh. Parker : The first splicent peal of Triples was the first peal of Stedman Triples, hecanse Sledman is spliced Erin and QuickSix Triples (laughter).

\section*{SGIENCE MUSEUM EXHIBIT.}

The Hon. Becretary (3r. E. A. Young) reported for the committee enturster with ine orgauisation of the exhibit for the South Kensington science Muscum. He eaid he last yeav suggested that the committee was rather morihund, and be now feared be lad nothing much funtlier to report. The lhearl of the Section, where their small exhibit was, had told him he was still waiting for the rearganisation of the galleries, which would give hin the foor and walt space. Hut the biug meved slowly. With regard fo Mr. Carder's ringing zachine. he (Mr. Young) had it at his own house, and hasd written a descripion, unter Mr'. Carter's instruction, as to how it worked and wras controlked. He thought they might, therefore, now remove from blieve minds the feeling that the machine might eventually hecome somewhat useless because no one was familiat witls jis contrivances (hear, hear). Mr'. Young added that the commiltce laal not mel during the seat, ds lae lad felt if was noti necessary to couvene them.
The Res. © D. P. Davies, in supporing Mr. Young's report, said he did not quite agree that the commitite was moribund; it was nol ihe commitiee, it was more likely the Scieuce Museum. The authorities were ' langing frre': they could not yet give the committee the proper room. Whers they could rlo so, things woutd revive, and the commitice wauld only lee too glat to avail themselves of any opporfunity the Musenm authorities could give them. With regard es Mr. Carter"s manhine, they knew how deeply interesting it was, and le was rery thankful hat it was at present in Mr. Young's care, and that Mu. Toung lat liar opportunity to writh a description of it. As they all kuew, the machine was absolutely unigue, and, therefore, when Mr. Carter was taken from iliem, knowledge of the uachine and low ia wark it, might have died with him. It was of the greatest importance anl value ihat someone should know how to work the machine. He was thanhfal it was in the able hames of someone like Mr. Young (hear, heari).

The report was accepted.

\section*{METHOD NOMENCLATURE.}

The Somenclature Comuittce's report was read by Mr. G. P. BurLon as follows: lu course of time, and by a process of natural selecliou wad development, usage in most cases, sifts and settles by itself, any question of nomenclature. Although in certain departments of change ringiog nomenclature hat consummation lass happily been quite successituly altained, e.g., such terms as "Donbles," "Minor', 'Triples," Major,' oter, the same, safortunately, cminot be said of method names, Without any system to gude the selection of fresh manes, and with in multilude of new methods produced of late vears, a state of almost indescribable confusion lias arisen, especially as regarde Minor, and moje recentiy Major nomenclature. Every would-be method authou has heen a law to himself, there having been, no autharity to decide as: to the names to he adopted. Recently, it is true, the sencelule of mames pulalishen by the Analysis Commiltee in the columns of 'The Ringing Worlaz' of 30tls March, 1923, did something to sot Minor nomenclalare in order, find to remove some of the then existing macertaintics. However, minfortunately, that report assumed the necessity for the contimation of all existing anomalies, and, what was morse siercotyped those floral names to which exeeption las so widely heen inken.
In accordance with the levan of roference (I) 'to review existmg methol nomenchature, your bomaitee have, thrimg hite year past, cutalugued in tabuiar form, a collection of sout 250 methad names. the elass to which each name loolong being set down. and the authority wi therence, as far as is kyown, being quoted. It appeurs from this athalogue, that as maty ats eleren matmes are used iwice over, five three times over, ald so olt. 'i'he himes Hondon,' by juseli, is applied to four difterent methods. and in combination (f.c., doublehamelled mantes) is used for st least two more, or six times raltogethor. "Cambridge' is likewise employerl lour times; 'Oxford' and "Norwich" three Limes each, aut so oou. Furlhermore, at least 46 names consist of two worts (where one would suffice), 7 of three words, c.g., "St. James" Youtlas" Exereisa" (n plain Ninot metliod), 'Brinsli Scholars' Pleasure' (a Treble liob Minor method).
Much consideration bas been given to mames, which for one reason or anolher, appear unsuitable, and suggestions for alternatives have beco noted in the catalogue. Althougly finnlity luas not yet been reaclien in this firection, reconmendations are made bolow as to stiosfitutes for the flowers. ete.

Mr. Futem, in proposing the adoplion of the repart femarked the committee were at some disadrambge in mat having heen able to pha lish their report in advanee, both from the point of wicy of chits and fhe saving of lime. Confinuing, he said, with regard to confusion of hames, the committee admited that many finor name lad bern put right in the work of the Aualysis Commituec in 1925 but it had been bs no mentis denred tup. One Treble Bol, moediod had had. at varions times, eishlames, and all these eightiamos were somewhere or other current. \section*{To the Editor.}
sir,-1 am sorty 1 masquoted Mr, Cisten wild regard to Bristol the previons avticle, iu order to save space as much as passible, 1 only tonclad on the frimge of Royal and Maximus, giving a guide how to praceed by dealigg with Major fuils. As-some furuner cxplanation muy be necessary, will you allow me to trespase a littlo more on yaur valunble space?

Dre of the main points I tried to anke clear is, that every Trable Lofs Method which employs Stedman blowk aud Court slumes solely, is il 'Eristol Method.' 'I'lie function ol the Stedman block is to pretent repetition of rows, it lias no effect on the lialf lead end or lead beark, The Court shanis govern the lafi led end, thas the lead liead. 1 showed What it was necessury to use ul! He \(R\) shunts, so the half leacl and on all mumbers depends on the number of \(\mathbf{f}\) shunts used. If where are none it is \(426 \ldots .1\), if one it is \(234 \ldots \ldots 1\), if there are lwo it is \(352 \ldots 1\), and so an, irancposing as \(234 \ldots \ldots 1\) is to 352 .... 1 for enth added \(\mathrm{F}^{3}\) हluab, as was so ably sliown by Mr. Trullope in a recent article
"lycre aro several lines of extension of Mristol Surprise Major which cul claim to be convect; these depeud upon the number of \(P\) slamts Meet. I have shown two and a bubsidiary in Roygl, nud two in Macious. There are ab least foul lines and some subsidiarieg in Maximus. In Royal, since one E slant only would give atz unsymmotweal melhod, there are two cases: (i) with two \(P\) 'shunts, (ii) without \(P\) slanats. In Mavimus the fone are: (i) with three; (ii) with two: (iii) mith one; (ir) with none. Nos. (ii) and (iv) I have alreedy gren; No. (i) will be found under Mr. Crayon's name in the 'Ringumg Warld of January 19th, 1923; a subsidiary of No. (iii) under the Foy, J. Bankes Jimes' name in the 'Knging World' of Sept. 8nh, 1922. No. (iji) is a subsidiary hecause the fous bell Stedman hocks with Trable in 5-6 and 7-8 are extended by a dodge to seren rows: thit is possithe in some cases where the blocks overlap, as an slteruative.

Which of the fowr most nearly rescmbles Major?
i put this question because, whilst all the lines are correct, some ary hoter than others, fud the one which mast resembles Major is most ontitled to tho natme. It is difficult to answer definitely, and the question melmits of sonse controrersy. I will do my hest to put the points fairly for the Maximus.

Na. (iv) wan be at once ruled out as it contains no \(P\) shanifs.
No. (i) ligs too many \(P\) glauts in propartion to the uanber of Stodman blocks, namoly, 3 to 2 in Maximus where Major has only 1 to 2.
(iii) at frst sigit looks most promising; it has the half lead end \(23567890 \mathrm{c} \Gamma 1\) giving rise to lengthening leads; unfortunately the \(\boldsymbol{P}\) shane 19 mot true "ippe a," but axtenterl to 12 rows Any attempt to lien type \(\Omega\) ' anuses a bell to strige threa coasecutive blows on the lead and behimb; lasily, the ratio of 1 ' shments to Stedman hocks is too gintall, being 1 to 4 .
In No. (ii) this ratio is 1 to 2 , as in Major, and the \(P\) shunts are further ath cen be triplicated the work of Majar is exacily claplicated; further it can be triplicated on siztwen, and so on for e日ch four ndilnd holls. I will again writa a quarter lend of No. (ii) Maximus, and ank all to compare it row by row wilh Major. The quarter work Livision is not a straight line. Sixteen has if straight line quarter division, which, thongit nut a ringable mopnsitian, is given for further comparikou. In it, SD as to make the Stedman blocks ciear, I gira only Whe firse and Jast rowe.

It will be ovidoml in Maximas (ii) that

\(2,3,4.5\) mud 6 js exaclly as in Major ; 7 is motifited sliglaty whilst in the Stedman block it Having more elbow roons.

Note carefully : Whw Sterlman blocke on 8, 12, 16, etc., nlweys commonce witl a whole pull right above the 'I'reble, and with a whole pull wrong below the Treble, in the firgt liulf lead. A further point which applies to Nos. (ii) and (iii) is that \(8,12,16\), atc., can be rung as Lancushire, either wholly or in part. I am afraid this cannow be dane with Nos. (i) and (iy) without destroying the Lancashire claracteristic. This properly is more marked, perhaps, in No. (iii) than in No. (ii); inkeed, to decide between these two is very difficult, and almost impossible. My judgonent is that the halance is very slightly in farour of No. (ii). If we decide that Bristol Royal is correct, they it follows that caso (i) Maximus, as given by Mr, Graven, is without doubt corract, but in Maximus other considerations of far groater woight appear, which tend to how that the method ean only exist inaporfectly and incomplete in Rowal. It is better to reyard flue Royal as a steppiog-stone to Maximus, atad that it is not in the best line of extension.- Fours truly,

\section*{DELIGHTFEL MEETING AT STOURTON.}

For geograplical reasons the North Dorset Branch of the Salis bury fuld includes fwo torerts in Wilthire. To one of these, StourLon, a viail wis paid on Saturday, 6th Jume, when the quarterly brancli moeling was leed tliere, and the gathering proved one of the most cnjoysble that could ever be imagined. The ancient chureh of this village stands on a verdant slope. facing the marnificent grounds of stourton Housc, where the lake formed from lhe springs of the River Stour, gleamed clear and cool in tho sumsline of a perfect summer day, while on jti banks the fyesh green faliage of stately trees mingled with the gorgeous hues of azaleas and rlododendrons in their prime.

At this delectable spot, lingers and their fuliends gathered from far and near, and the beatiful old churcly was filted with a large congregation for the Guild service at 4.30 p.1n. The offee was said by the Masier of the Guild, the Rer, R. H. Gundry, and the Rector (the Rev. F. Poole King') save an admirable address on lue words of Psalm xcv., 0 come, let b e worship.' The singing was very heartily rectidered with a fine volunse of voices.

After chureln, the whole parts, abont ninety in mumber, sat down to an al fresco fea in deliglatfu! surroundings. Tlue busimess meeting was conducte? in the open air, the Master presiding, while the branch secretary (the Rec. T. E. P. Goringel was in eliarge of the minute book. Several new meanbers wore tected, and a hearly rote of thanks wan accordeat to the Roctor, the organist. and the local ringers for their respective contributions to the edification and enjormeut of thase attending.

By kind permission of Sir Henry Honre tho grounds of Stanton House were open to gingers in the evening, and a walk througla this wonderful estate, with its lich raijety of forestry, \(\mathfrak{j}\) 高 cool grotos, and quaint buildines neslling amid slaç groves and flowering shybs, was an experime that iloge prixileged to enjos it sill nerer forget.
One incident trill leare a lifelong impression on all those who experienced it. In the gronnds stands a suilding in the style of a Greek Temple. and the yoube lady conctuetivg a pacty of ringers round informed them thai singins there produced a wonderful cho. Accordingly tharee verses of the livnin. "We lore the place, O Rod." were sung within flue building, and the blend of wocal tone, caught up by the eclo of the structure protuced an effect of almost unearthly heauts.

A large number of towers in the Norib Dorset brancls were repre sented at the meeting, and risilats were present from Wedmore and Bridgwatey, besides a strong force irom Brislol, under the superirLendence of Messiss. Jennings and Caver. The six melodions hells of the parish charch were busily plicor thoughout the afternoon aud evening, in teaches of Grandsire, Stecman, Plain Boln and Kent Treble Bob.

\section*{FIFTY YEARS IN THE MINISTRY}

CANTERBURY CAJHEDRAL PRECENTOR'S IUBILEE
Trinity Sunday was a ramorable date in the calendar for Minor Canon F. J. O. Eolmore, Precentor of Canterbury Cuthedral, hs has on that day completed a minsstry of fifty years in the Churel of England. He was orduined in the Fiereford Cathedrul in 1875, and alter acting as Assistajt Vicar Choral at that Cathedral for a short time lie as for fifteen months curate and Irecentor ab Shakespeare's Clurch, Stradford-on-Aron
Mr. Helwore came to Canterbury Cathedral 47 ycars ago-in 1878 -nad the first service he attended in the Cathedral was the panAnglican Congress of that year. Two years later he was appointed Precentor, and for 45 years he has continuously laeld that ottice, dining which time he has Eaken part in Ife enthronement of three Armir bishops-Arelabishops Benson, Tempha and Davidson, and the installation of three Deans-Deans Firrar, Wace and Hell. He was also claplain to the Cauterbury Guardians' Institution from 1882 to 1916, and he las been Rector of Stodmarsh simce 1912.
In the sphere of change ringing, Mr. Helmore Jas achieved na(ional farme, and is among the aldest clerical ringers in the country. For 40 years le has beeu an ractiva and keen campanologist, and in Febunary, 1923, a tablet was unveiled in Canterbury Gathetral belfry to commemorate his 2001 h peal. Ho has been honorary secretary of the Kent County Assaciatian of Change Ringers since 1891, and his popularity is euch that, although he has frequently expressed his fesire to be relieved of his office, tho association has resolutely rafused io lear of his resignation. Turther, as a mark of their esteem, the cliange ringers of the county, in 1907 presented Mr. Helmare with a handsome roll-top desk, which the recenved at the hands of the Dean of Rochester.
Mr. Helmore retains his healtin and vigour to a remarkable degree, and lis host of friends, will not ouly congratulate him upen his ministerial jubilee, but express the hope that he may be sparea to serve the great Caihedral with which he has already beat so long associat-ad.- Kentislt Express.'

\section*{METHOD NAMES 8 CLASSIFICATIONS}

The report of the Nomenclature Committee of the Central Council, which was published in our last issue, will have been read with interest by our readers. The effort to bring order out of chaos was begun by the Analysis Committee a few years ago. The new Committee has carried this work a step further, and, in accordance with its terms of reference, is seeking to correct what the majority of ringers consider to bave been a blunder in the expansion of a class of names for methods which, whether looked upon as picturesque or otherwise, are totally unsuited to what is, after all, a serious science. The probability is that, if the Analysis Committee had been willing, at Lincoln, to take back their proposals for the reconsideration of the method names, instead of insisting upon the Council taking the report, and nothing but the report, there would have been no pressing demand for a revision of old names, such as is now demanded, in conjunction with the desire for suitable titles for new methods.

Many of the methods with quaint and undesirable names are dying a natural death, because the ringers of to-day have something better to ring, and because of the recognition given by the Central Councia only to methods of a particular standard of construction. This recognition, which finds its fullest expression in the 'Collection of Minor Methods,' has bad an increasing effect upon Minor ringing in the last fifteen years, which is not a little remarkable, and whatever those who desire to belittle the work of the Council may say, there is no doubt that in this direction the central authority bas done a great deal to uplift the standard of six-bell ringing. It was unfortunate, therefore, that anything should bave been done, even unwittingly, by one of its committees which should tend to lower the dignity of the Exercise in the eyes of the public -and it can scarcely be denied that an action which would enable Press or public to point the finger of ridicule at it would help to undermine the dignity of the art

The work of the Nomenclature Committee is, therefore, a very necessary one, and, since the revision of the new names is necessary, alteration of oid ones, even of those of 'dying ' methods, is not inappropriate at this time. But there is in the report an indication that the Committee desire to go further than dealing with simple names, and to revise the means by which the classification of methods has been distinguished in recent years. It is in this, we think, that the Committee is most tikely to come into conflict with the Methods Committee. The larter is bardly likely to agree with the Nomenclature Committee that the words 'Pleasure,' 'Court,' 'Delight' and 'Bob are non-essential words in the designation of a method, nor, we imagine, will they agree that 'Plain,' 'Treble

Bob ' and 'Surprise ' are sufficient classification for all the methods (apart from Principles) which are practised. The terms used in these classifications have a now clearly. defined meaning, and if, for example, one followed the Nomenclature Committee's argument to its logical conclusion, there is no use for the word 'Surprise,' for all 'Surprise' methods, like all 'Delight ' methods, are included in the category 'Treble Bob.' To eliminate the distinctive names used in classification is not quite a simple matter, and the Nomenclature Committee may, we think, find it necessary to revise their recommendations in this respect.

Pifty members were present at tea. The businoss meeting followed, the Rector presiding. Several new members were enrolled, and it was resolved that the next meeting be held at Hagloy on September 19th.
-On the proposition of the Ringing Master of the Association (Mr. R. Mathews), it was unanimously agreed that a congratulatory letter of the members best wishos be sent to the Ringing Master of the Southern Brancf (Mr. J. D. Johnson) upon his recent marriage, the parents of bolts bride and bridegroom being bighly respected members of the Worcestershire Association.-A hearty rote of thanks, proposed by Mr. W. 3. Cartwright, was accorded to the 耳ector for his address, the use of the bells, and for presiding at the meeting, and also accompanying the bymon on the organ. He coupled with this also all those who had helped to make the meeting such a success. This was seconded by Mr. A. E. Parsons.-In reply, the Rector thanked them very much for their vole of thanks, and said it was the first meeting of bell ringers he had ever attended, and he hoped it mould not be the Jast.
Affer the meeting, the members returned to the tower until about 8.30, iouches in all the standard methods were brought round, and this concluded a very enjoyable meeting.

\section*{DEATH OF MR. ROBERT MEDLAND AT NETLEY ABBEY}

Allhougl the above name is not generally known to the readers of the ' Ringing World," the news of his death will, I am sure, be read with regret by those ringers who have had the pleasure of spending several weok-ends at Netley Abbey for the purpose of peal ringing in the past. He was of the most cheery disposition and obliging in the way of making any arrangements.

Mr. Medland was a native of Devon. buth left lis rative county before change ringing had developed, and alhough not a change ringet he had been entristed with the leadership of the local band and care of the bells since their opening hy the Cumberlands on October 13th, 1886. Although the deceased used to tate a great interest in the visits paid by the Winchester Guild, he was never able to get his own band to take up change ring ing.

A meeting of the Guild was lield there only about a fortnight previous to our old friend's death, to endeavour to got the Netley tower affliated, when the present Tiear (the Rev. R. F. H. Summers), himseff an honorart member promised to wse his hest endeavoure. This was the last time the writer saw the deceased. who passed pescefully away on Saturday. June 20th, and was interved af Hound Churchyard on Tuesday: the 23rd. In addition to the family mourners, representalives of the bell ringers and Oddfellows were present, as well as former employes of the late Miss Raslileigh, with, whom he served for many years: also the Master of the Winclester Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers, who was a very intimate friend of Mr. Medland.

Tho foral iributes were bumerous, and ilue breastplate was inscrib1: "Robert. Medland, died June 20th. 1925, aged 83 years.

Dear Sir, Sieeng Lhere is a suggestion to recast the lamous Coventhy bells, I feel 1 must sny a few words.
On Whit wondar, 1864 . I had the pleasure af ringing at St. Micinaet's, in compaey wilh Henry Faley, Matl. Wood. W. Cooter, (i. Ferris, E. Lansdell, J. Dettit, J. R. Enworlh, G. A. Muskeit, on an uuling from Lotulon, and also Henry dohason, and others, from Biamivgham.

It was the scmeral opinion that the bells ranked amongel the very best we had ever heard. Ned Lansdell's words were, 'I'hey ure all hrothers and sisters, everg onc of them.
I hope the ruthorities will never agree to allow sudin fine bells to be destroyed tar the sake of a so-called carillon, hut that they will work in the opposite divection, and make provision for them to be properly rang, cinher in the slately steeple of Sil. Michael's, or in a separato campanile, as al Chichester.

As I ann most likely the only one living who rang on that day in 1864, I trust the opinion of the ald ones will bear some weigh in prevonting the destruction of one of the finest peals in the comntryFonts truly.
24, Combermere Roacl, Slockwell, S.w.9.
Dear sir, - for one condemi that: it is a thonsand pities to break up the famons ring of ten hells of St. Nichael's Calhedral, Coventry, laving liad the pleasure of hearing and also ringing an itis splendial peal on many occasiojs. I also took pari in the last peal rumg on them, wlich was on June 9th. 1883, being one of Sternatin Caters, in which the lale Hentr Jelnewn also took part, and I enn assure you that the harmony, and espocially the power of tone, is all ibnt can the desired, and most, enchanting. so that there is no nead for recasting them, as far as a peal of len are concemed. But they hnve got da make room for a carillon of 14 bells. Afore's the pity. At one time the citizens of Covendry would have made a strong protesi sgainst having their famous bells hroken up, but for many yerrs fite prople of Coventry have not heard their bells rang to advantage.
[n consequence of tower trouble, the bells lave cone to he forgotten. as it were. In coaclusion, 1 might. saj that it would be a good idea if they conla he transferred la the neighbouring Cathedral of St, Phillip"s, Birmingham, which, of course, is in thie same county, for ihn bells of the last-mentioned Cathedral are extremely baud and tho tower js just the place to take them on oue level. Fours fajlifullw,
T. MILLER.

"Tlue anniversary of the first performance of Holl's Original oceure next luesday, for it was on July 7th, 1751, that the famous coroposer, sittiag in the belfry with his manascript in hand, called the great onspart pal of Grandsire Triples at St. Margaret's, Westminster.
A year before, namely, an July 8th, 1750, John Holl iook parl in, and probably composed amd conducled, a peal of Double Bob Majos, on the same kolle.
Indeed there would seem to lanso been some event to celebrate edt Si. Margaret's round about this date, for on .Wuly 9th, 1749, Holt tomk part, there in a peal of 6,000 of Bob Major. Was it, we wonder, snume royal, mational, ar eampanologital anuwersary? Perhaps one of our historians cant tell us.

Jabics Barlinm, the renowned Kentinh ringer, rang his Inst peal on July 8th, 1817, when lot Look pari in a peal of Leeds Trehle Buh af his own tower of Leeds, the seene, nathy years before, of the peal of 40,300 Bob Major, Can those who are now couducting researohes into melhod names tell us what rariation of Treble Bob "Leeds was?

The new bell at St. Patrick's Cathendal, Dublin, was dedicated an Sunday last.
Referring to a nete in this calumn that recently at ringer ring th Inell withoul a slay to two peals in one dry, Mr. W. Pole Routh, ob Reading, writes that in his fist peal, rung at the Parish Chused of Eceles, near Mamelaster, on the ufternoon on Christmas Day, EBTO, none of the hells had stays. The bells were rung up in peal, the 5,000 wis bronght round, and the bells lowered in peal. He antls, We did not consiner then that we had done anything of special note.
'Little Tob' is informe I that. New Carmbridge will not run tust in Minor, as il pronluces refelitions in the plam conrse.
Mr. 'Conor O'Brien's retarm from lis long and adyonturous voymga round the wordi, reated great excitement in Ireland, and the gailnat skipper of the 'Saoirse' had an extraordinary receplion. Congtatit lations were heaped upon lim, and his old ringing frients of sil. Patrick's Society, Dublin, sent him a telegram congratulating lifm upon his successful and safe return.

\section*{THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.}

Mr. T. H. Beams, in seconding, drew attention to the desirability of reducing the number of elasses inta which methods were divided. For ringing purposes, it was only those who liked to strain at tho gnet und miss the camel, that were not satisted with three classificalions. With regard to the confusion of nanies, Mr. Bearns referred to the method rung varionsly under the names of Oxford Delight, Woorline and Merclants" Return.
Tev. F. Law Janes: They are not fit to bo rung, and are rapidly ring out.
Mr. Beans: But they are still rung.
Rev. H. Karw James: And "Clurchyard Hob' is slill rung (lauglier).
Mr. Reanis went ant to ask those who were not salisfied ujth three anssifications to tell them how many more were needed. He suthquitten that if they were to get rid of the ohjectionato names, there ronld we no hetler time than the present. He understood that the presont edition of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' was nearly exlatisted. The new etition should be published with the new names, and lue was guite sure tlat in wenty years lime they would be the anrmes under which all these methods would be rung. If they looknd at the Press, which knew little about ringing terms, they saw the way some of thes, names could be 'sercwed, aliti this made them a layghing-sobek. That was what they wanted to avoid, and if they enuld do that thoy would do sombling which would help forward the movemeat.
The Rev. F*. Ll. Pidwards pointed out that no place was allowed in the elassification for " Principles.

\section*{ANCIENT RIGHTS.}

Mr. F. W. Elwrll said he undersfood that, if they ndopted the report, the naraes would, ipso facta, change aver. He thought, therefore, it would he fnirer ta everyone if they could give it further consideration by having the report published and dealing with it next vear. Fie came there that day wilh. certain insetructions from his Guild. The Chester Guild knew that the conmiltee lad been formed, and liad lackled a wery difficult problem, but at the same time they lat reminded him of the old custom under whieh ringers named the methods which bbey had first rung. The Chester Guild had rung many methoris for the first time, and were not prepared to admit flat any body of gentemen had the right to alter and rovise the old names on behalf of the Freccise. Tliey felt thenselves as well able In choose the nanies as anyone elee. It was felt the commithe might confine itself to choosing one of the names in those cases where a method hat more than one name, so that it anight be known by that one mane in future, Another thing was, he was not sure that fowir mames were not as good as some others. For instance, he preforted "Daffadil ' to Dartmoor" (laughter, and a Member: Dartford, not Dartmoorl. He did not see that it much mattered if the Pregs did langh at, them. Outside individuals understood little aboul ringiag, and only fools langled. The idea in his Guild was that existing names of Minor methods slould be allowed to stand, find that where litere was more thas one name the committee shonld rhoose which mane the method should be ktrown by. He moved that comsidaration of the subject the adjourned until the regorl hed been publitucd.
Mr. J. A. Trollone seconded. He said if the report was to the faitin as an expression of pious opinion, they of the say, but if if was going to tie the Council and the Exercise iliey would have to go into it and move amendments to pratically nverything. Mr. Trollope added that with regard to the use of the wori Bab" in the mames of methorls, it was given because if dialinguishen the classifiention. It was not redundant at all. Alderman If. S. Pritelett, in supporting the amendment, said he rocogniked the rommittee had presented \(\pi\) report. of great gravity. whith, nerembeless, admited of being treated with a certain amount They rectognised the earnestness und pains that the conmittee fiad been put to produce this report (hear, heark, and he for ane, who wrainclined af, the last meeting to treat the subject as one fied his view. He nomit not help recognising it was full of debatable malter, an? biey ought not ta adopt the report in its entirety without nitule more monsideration. It was very easy to say what onght hathe dand il was another matfer to get things done. Ringers had hatit of calling mochods byot well alter hy logislation. Chas had a lint it diffinth to gel them to alter names when the Counctl saird they ware nindesirabla. H. would like to ree the report in print antrl teserve his tecision until that had been done.

\section*{RRINGING ORDER OUT OF CONFUSION}
the Rev. H. Drake said when he signed the report he was under the impression there ware three classes of methods and a class of priseptos. With ragal to the amendment, he certainly had no objention ta it. sud he rlit not think the other mombers of the commitice had. Thev had no wish to try to he aulocratict whad they wanted to do anil what they were asked to do nt. ihe last meeding was to iry to trang order out al confusion, and also ta avoid, if tiluy could, any names that secmed to bo causing ridicule. They had done that in this report, and they would he very glad indeed if jt could be published, and be considered next year; but one had to remearber that lhey were cold at the last meeting, and previously by correspondence, that it was a very urgent matfer, and that those nemes should be fixed as soon as possible, becanse people were waiting to ring the methorls, and did nol know under what names they should be rung. The ameadment to some extent took away from the value of the rider he suggested, viz. : That in the case of all new metheds, which lave been rung under names proposed to be altered, an opporbunity should be given to those who Arst rang them, to approve af the proposed new name.' He liad not been alde to get his fel-low-mersbers on the committee to go with him and support the rider, hecause they thought it would be impracticable. He would sugaent womething on these lines: that when the list of names, such as fhose Lle committee pul forward, were agreed to, they should be puthlished for a certain lengtls of time, so that the people who were interested, that was those whiv had rung the method, and the ringers in the place after which the method was called, could lave the oppor tunity of objecting to il; that these objections should be considered by the Cauncil or the commiltee; that if no objections were marle wilhim the period, the changes should be absolute. These ridera did not exactly conse within the terms of reference, but. they were things which might be adopted as resolutions, so that they might know what ther were to do in future. This mattor of terms was one that weat beyond that of names. The committees reference at present was only in regard to names of methods. Mr. Trollope hat spoken of manes like "Bob" and 'Treble Bob.' They could not call them names of method, they miglit call them descriptions or descriptive terms. What thes requires was an authorily to deal with terms as well as names. He did not think it was guite right that a man should be able to sar. because he had used a name, that that names must always be useci in fulure. They. as a Council, should exercise 4. heir authority as to what terms should be used, and as to the aciund meaning of the terme.

Mr'. Burton said with regard to Mr. Trollope's inguiry ns to whether the committee were penning a pious repart, that was nof the casethe committee were absolutely out for it,

The proposal to adjourn the disctussion until the report had been printed was then put to the meding and carried.

Alderman Pritchett said he would like to propose a fote of thanks to the committee for their lahours. Personally, he had been thither at wariance with them, but the subject, was one of great rontroversp. and the commithee were likely 10 get more kicks than halfpence, bul the Council would all agree flat the committee had endeavoured to do well by flye sulject, and dessrved a learty vote of ihanks (heer, hear').

The motion was put, and carried, and on the suggestion of the President, a vote of thanks was also accorded to the oflee committees for the work ther lad done during the jear.

\section*{INSTRLCTIONS OS PRESERVATION OF BELLS.}

The Hon. Secretery stated that the "Card of Instructions' as t. the carc of chureli bells had been printed, and the Rev. H. Drake hat given them 55 towards the expenses. There were three fhousand or four thousand fowers in England and Whates where these cards might: well be put on the wall, hut that would cost a great deal of money and involve a great deal of time. They could, bowever, make a sfart: as. he lind got 509 copies. It was the desire of the Standing Conmittee fhat members present should bake a card with them, and ik was suggested that it would be a very good start in the ristribution if they sent one of the cards to ench of the Archteacons in the warious dioceses, and also one to oacli of the secretaries of the Guild wad Associations aftisted to the Council.

Mr. T. F. Beams eaid if they asked each of the secrelaries to tatra enough for their own athilited towers they would get over the difir-

Mr, Jandes George raid it was a pity the iustruelions were not prinied on one side of the card only. Many people would not hother to look at the back.
Thm Hon. Sceretary said that would have nceessitated a very dimbersome eard.
The Hon. Librarinn said the Standing Committee recommended thal the carti should he sent to eacli Archedeacon, and that eacla secretary of association should have one or more sent to him. in order that hes might discover from this bramel or district secretaries low many rariz

\section*{THE AUGMFNTATION OF RLNGS OF EIGFTT}

Alerman J．S．Pritehett nexi proposer＂That this Council，ns a seneral mule，disapproves of the angmentation of peals of eight into perals of can．He sain the eight bells of his cwa parish eburch， King＇s Norton，were recently recast，and il was suggestod that they should bo antgmented to ton．He was happy to say that suggestion fell through，and insifad of baving what would probably have been an indifferent peal bf ten．they had a beatiful ring of eighta There was，lue continued，an idea among ringers generally that in wis a great thing to have ten bells instead of eiglit in a chanch tower．Fery often it was it great mistake．The only reason apparently was that ringers crot apportanities of ringing on an inger number of bells that they otherwise wanld，but there were many olloen considesitions io be takeli into account before it should be decided to augntant a ring of eighi into ten．The suggestion was ususlly made，when a peal of eight was Foing to be recasi．＂Whe not have a peal of ken while we are aboat ansier（laughter）．We can make round lovely peal of ten out，of the mota of your cight，and with a lille rontrivance we can get them into wour tower．It presented no trouble to him（laughter）．But thene were ather considerations， hells into an eight－hell tower，hand if so lared the ingemuity of the hell bangers tiat they often had to put two bella ahofe the others In that case they found iu the ringing chamher that the sounds of the iswo small bells were drowned by those inderneath．Th one tower，has remembered it was scarcely possible to heal the 1 wo trebles in tly ringing chanher．On the ground of expense there were often objec－ lions．The metal of the eighi betls was split among the ien，and thoy hed a light peal of ten，which，in his opinion，was almays unsatis． factory．It，was also very diffienlt to form a proper ringing circle，and a great many expedients were fesorted to．amd they bad to lave an ingenious arraggament of rails and guides．If was often a great make－ shift to get ten bells into an eight－bell lower．Morcoter．if thes were名oing to atugment the weigla of lire hells hy asing additional metal，the crassideration of the safity of the tower mersented itself．Bells lanve been placed in towers witlout due consideralion of the safe ty of the fabrio： conequently，in a short time，the tower hat bren dechated unsafe，and the ringin宫 of the brils had been stopprif．That was a thing they wanted to guard against．In his view the ident of change ringing was change jinging on eight bels－eight fairly heave helis，tenor from n ton to 25 ewt．，of even more．The musie of eiplat heavy bells what properly rung in mhanges was extremely dignified；it ereated a far gramler impreasion uprin the people oubiside flan did the masic on a lighter peal of teth．The thasic in all shatadata methods，lat thanghe hig was right in sayine，was origianly derised for eight bells；the nusie of an ontave was the nost satisfactory to the listentr．Thu man outside could count aiglu bolls as they were rung in changes；il was extrmely ditieult for him to count len，amd almost impossible ta count lweve if a clagge Mothads for eight bells were legion，in viting scope for ingonuity．Very few of the odd－bed melhods，haw－ ever，were capable of exteusion to nine bells，and there were few， any，tree extensions of the Surprise methods to ten bells，the so－called extensions being renlly specially consfructed methods．II was a lauti－ ahle jutan on the part of tiugurs to desite to be able to ring on ten bells，but it was also a liact that at some lowers，when the bolls hat been angmented to tea，they wore not regularly rung as len．It was only occasionally they were so rung ia changes，zuch as when visitors came for an apporituity of rimging a lem－hell peal．The words of his anotion did zot oxclute the making of ten－hell rings altogether，where a tower was suitable，and where hells were being put in for the firat lime；but where it whs a quastion of augnenting eight into ten metely for the sake of lutving more bells jt was a very unwise course to take．
Mr．E．A．Young the hon．secteinryg serondad．He sajut he lat only inlended to seconal the motion formally，but after the cogent rensous put forwnid thy the proposer he had hean＿converfed agotinst his own previous opinions．There was antuly to be batd in favour of eight liells，and there was anolher point which was in lis mind，and that was the question af the shengeli of the towers．This wasぁa plase of tha question in which las was particularly interested，and he remem－ bered a ease where，though exim bulls boing putinta a lower， building hud become nusafe．
Hr．A．Pacldon Simith said when low saw this motion on the：ageming los experienced a fooling of armsonomt；lao did not．thithk abyone coulr lave put it down serionsly．When life now saw who it was that had put down the motioth，that fedtug had changed to one of abonlute amazement．Mr．Pritineti whe his（Mr．Smith＇s Presiding Ringiry Mnster，and felt very heenly ahont this partictular rind of hells at King＇s Nortan．The（MIr．Sintith）rital not agree widh a single wort Ald．Pritchelt had said（langhimy），nam？the motion did not stand the slightest ghost of a elance of being passed（laughter and applausey If They nusi pass a resolution ont thase lines it should be simply＂＂that this Coumbil，is a gemeral Fulo，apparoves of the angmentation of peat－ of eighe inlo peals of ted（upplases．He coula not concelve that this motion was really intended to twe ser＊aus．Would Wre．Pritchett pro posa that peals of six should not bo augmented to peals of einht， pacals of ten to peals of twelve All their famous rings of twelve we parals that lide been amgmented at snme time or other．Wialh regat： Kimg＇s Norton，Aderman Pritehett admited thaf they laad beartiful peal of eight．He saja the tenor was onty 14 cwi ．That might he trife．hat it sounded a lot beavier，and in any case he（Mr Smith）boleved thet was some dmget of wo treblos heing added the not too distant fuftute（applatise）．If he coult do anything to Wrads hringigg rabout that derelopment he sloonki ceriaindy tho so although he would linye a very formidable opponent．How conzld the hells af King \({ }^{4}\) s Norton he spoiled lw puting in iwo equally good trebles？＂the King＇s Norton men were almeady well ahle to ring tan treds，and if they din not ring the ten，the treautiful eighit would stil

\section*{By GEORGE BAKER.}

Itiours is yery litile doubt that Fabian Stedman, whe was born ia Cambulge in 1631, was tho first individurl to produge a principle, sumb, what is mare, he produced it symmetricaliy.

Anyone would have hought that Stedman Doubleg being the froth principle discovered, would fou that reason, if for nome ather, hare hann "soget fros atack but, no, that l'inciple, like 'Dufield' and Lestk," was being described in 1913 and 1914 as "illegitimate"
Tha false definition that made the attack possible has mow been cxposed, but I venture to think that liad anyone told Fabian Stedmark, in his day, that his Principle was "illegitimate, there would have been somothing wote than a jovial dog fight,' sad the indivitun, whoever ho righl have been, would have been given the choich of swords or pistols, and a meeting-place near Cambridge in the early Horning to sotile flo difierence.

Wu are not now quite us savage as onr Forefathers.' I mentionud this fact in noy first contribution to the Inte controversy on \(13 t 12\) Itme lust, and at hat time I made up my mind I would endeavour to bring to an end the constently recurring disputes about the suhject of method construction.
There is no evidence that Stedman extemied lis Primple to seven thells and upwards, and the individual who did is not likely to hero known that such a thing as a 'givot bell' existed, but, whether or no. he produced the only correet extansion possible without making additional 'moves' and the round hlocks and transpositions that follow will prove beyond a shadow of a nonbt that the Principle is the same on all numbere, in spite of the fact that the division herds in Doubles harn conssivy order, and in tho higher numbers they have not.

It will not be oat of placa to mention liere that the late Rev. F. Parle Bulper was the first gentleman to give me encouragement in the subject of mathod construction, but, it is to tha Into Sir Arthur Heswood's writings that I am chiefly fundated for what I know at the proent line, and it seems to me that it was a cruel fate, fifter all Het he, gir Arthur, hed cione For the Art and for the Exercise, mad moman had ever dong mord, that the last few years of his life ghould inewo heen ciouled by a false definition, accoring to which, his intermesling and perfect method? (Pyinciglef or System?) was illegitimate

I was able in 1914 to prove that ' Dufficid 'was produced by tro Quick Dubble Bobs, and my one regets is that I had not then the faresight to sce what I have discovered since, i.e., that all methods, principles and systems consist of round blocks, produced by making single 'noves ' in tha Primary Principles ar the Treble Job Principle.

Could it lave been possible far Sir Arthur to have learned thie before he passed on, he would have had the satisfaction of knowing that all the care, fimo and money spent in preparing his book on ' Dutheld ' (a copy of which he presented to me) had not been thrown away.

THE CARE OF CHURCH BELLS.
The Central Council is undertaking a work of considerable value in their effort to place in the towers of this country a carefully drawn up card of instructions on the care of church bells. This is not the first time they have turned their attention to the subject, for there has been for years, among their publications, a brochure dealing with the preservation of bells. Useful as the latter is, however, it is probable that the card which has now been printed, may be of ever greater utility, for, whereas this should find a permanent place in the belfry, a leaflet is likely to be torn or lost. A matter of importance in putting these cards to the most effective use is that of distribution. They will be valuable in any belfy, but they will be of greatest value if they can be got into the neglected belfries and the authorities brought to realise the importance of the instructions being acted on. Here is where the diffculty arises, lecause where the bells are neglected there is seldom anyone to be found who would trouble to act upon the advice. The Council were well advised to take steps to bring the cards to the notice of the Rural Deans, as the most likely means of giving effect to their desires, but they will probably find it necessary to go a step further if they are to make the most of the opportunity they are creating.

The present position with regard to the oversight of bells, as with other church property, is that it is the duty of Rural Deans to inspect belfries periodically and report to the Bishop. This report, in some dioceses at any rate, is gone through by the Archdeacon, and recommendations with regrard to repairs, etc., are made to those responsible for the upkeep of the church. There is, however, no power to enforce these recommendations, and it lies with the Incumbent, Churchwardens and Parochial Church Council to accept or reject the advice as they think fit. We have no-doubt that when recommendations come from higher quarters to the church authorities, every effort is made, as far as funds permit, to carry them out; but the trouble in the case of bells and belfries is that very few Rural Deans bother about them-were it otherwise there would not be so many instances of dilapidated bells and dirty belfries. Indeed, so little do some Rural Deans know about bells that they could hardly be expected to be able to report upon their efficient maintenance, even if they climbed into the tower.

This particular matter is exercising certain members of the Chester Guild, and it is likely that the Central Council may be asked at their next meeting to discuss a suggestion that, through diocesan or other channels, Rural Deans be asked, where they have no personal technical knowledge of bells, to appoint as their deputy for the purposes of inspection, some person with the requisite qualifications. If this suggestion could be carried out, we believe it would prove a most useful one, and there should be no practical dilliculties if the Rural Deans would fall in with the scheme. Indeed, it would not be surprising if, in the long mun, many churches would find that it would mean an saving of money-on the proverbial "stitch in time" primeiple.

\section*{WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD．}

The annual meeting was held at Winchester on Saturday，July 4 h ，and was attended by some 90 members from many towers of the diecese．
The Rev．C．E．Matdyews was in the chair，and was supported by Mr．G．Williame，Mr．A．H．Palling，Mr．F．W．Rogers，Mr．G． Stane，Mr．F．Raddon，Mr．J．Hessey，Mr．W．Tweker，and other officers．Sll the retiring officerg were re－clected．

It was agreed ilhat a donation of 5555 ．be made to the Washbrook Memorial Fund，and Messrs．Williams and Pulling spoke of the great work of the late Mr．J．W．Washbrook．
It was decided to hold the anatid meeting at Portsmouth in 1926， and at Guildford in 1927，on the first Saturday jal July in each case．
The balance shet and report were adopted，and fle Chairman spoke of the apathy of many of the clergy tourares charge ringing and the Guild．Mention was also made of the great loss sustained by tho death of the Rer．W．E．Colchester．
It，wris decided to hold a mecting at Arreton．Isle of Wight，on July 25th，in connection \(x\) ith the restored tomb of William Rayner，the serwice to be helr？at 4.30 p．m．All ringers anf friends arc invited to attend．

The Secretary announced that the augocnted ring of six at Wool－ ton Hill would be dedicated on Saturday，July 18th，at 3 p．m．All ringers would be welcome，and tea provided for those who notified Mr．Balaam，Woolton Hill，Newbury，Berks，early．

After a long discussion the motion to provide free certificates was referren for further consideration．

A voto of sympatiy was passed to the Bishop of Soulhampton，who was lying seriously ill in a Landon hospital．

A vote of congratulation was passed to the hon．secretary on hig recent marriage．

The service was held in the Gathedral，and the Guild form of ser－ vice was used．The Dean of Winchester gave a very interesting and helpful adrress，and said that he understood that illis was the dirst time that a dean had taken a service of the Gujld．
Tea wan served to nearly 100 in St．Manrice Fall，where the Rer． C．E．Mathews presider，supported by the Rev．S．M．Watson．
Fotes of thanks mere passed to the Dean and Chapter，the Rector of St．Maturice，and the Ficar of Twiford for the use of their respec－ tive bells．－The Rer．S．M．Watson suitably replied．

During the afternoon and evening the hells at the Cathedral，St， Maurice（Winchester）and Twyrord were available for ringing，and varions methods practised，ranging from Stodman Cinques and Bristol Major to Grandsire Doubles．
It was with deep regrel that the menhers learned of the ili－health of the Fiditor of the＇Kinging World，＇and wishes for Itis speedy re－ covery were expressed．

\section*{MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION． \\ SODTH AND WTEST DISTRIUT．}

On Saturday，wuly 4 th，a meeting was lodd ad．Harlington，when over 40 members and friends attended．

Ringing lasted from 3 p．m．wntil 5 p．m．，when a short serwice was conducted by the Rector（the Rev．H．Wilson），accompanied by the organist and choir．
An excellent address was given by the Rector，who gave fhe associa－ tion a mast cordial welcome．－After the service，tea whs served to all present．
The business meeling followed，and vates of thanks to the Rector choir，and others who latd helpent to make it snch a success，was car ried．The fower was rgain visited，and some liandbell ringing was given by Mesurs，Herbert，Roherts，Kippin，Goodfelow，and others， nat much enjoyed by all．

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY}

The custom of the Central Comeil is never tu go a second time to any place where it las once wot. But 1 fancy the year is not far distant when this witl ltave to be altered. The numbex of towns really suitable for the meeting is not too large, airl is becoming used up. The place you want is a small town, with a Cathedral that can offer its Chapter House, or surch like, for the seturl mating. a good pend of bells or two, plenty of tistorical ancl arehitectural buildinga, the whole set in heautiful country, and last, but by mo means least, qood railway facilities. A big order, Jon say, but Salisbury supplisil it with gomething added; and Choster equalled, if it coukd not sulpass, Salisbury's record. What can lpswich do next jearp You can be pretty sure that so far as warmth of hospitality goes the Enst will nat lag behind the West or the South. The couniry vound Ipswich is fairly interesting but there is no New Forest and no Eaton Park. Atrd the town is well enough in its why, but there is no Cathedral, or even a parish church of first rank. The biggest church, St. Mary-le-Tower, is a modern affiry, and maner uninteresting at that. Gae thing Ipswiel has, and that is a most historieal ring of twelva bells. There is no olher twelve-belf towet that. has angthing like the record that Ipswiel lins. Peals of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxfort Treble Roh, Double Norwich, fud Camhridgn Surprise on ejght, ten and twelye. Peals of Grandsire and Stedman on seven, mine and eleven: besides Supperlalive and London Major. And the reputation for good striking las always been as high as amwobte in the courtry. They wsen! to say that all the peals at Jpswich hat to be good ooes, Thecruse if there was a muddle nobody could put the bells right it was a case of a good peal or none at all. Thero is something to be saind for thel.
It must be ten years or more ago when we firs began to think about going to Ipswieh. Anyway, we are mach overdno, and the pity is that Jimmy Motts, first-class ringer, and best of fellows, is no longer alive to meet us.
But for one thing, what a glotious place for a C.G. meoting Wells would lio? There is everything you want, \(A\) iocauliful CathentralChester is not to be mentioned along side itr-one of the heaviest and finest rings of bells in Eugland, a maniml old ciby, set in most beantiful country. Then there is sty. Cuthinert's Church, with, its noble tower mad henvy peal of bells-that by itself is wortli a visit. While for the fortunato ones who mamage to Ebgin on the Saturday and end on the thednesday or Thursday. there are Glastonbnry and Cheddar, and Bath and Bristol quite handy. Really we must think of going to Wolls one of tiose days. Only would that the railuay factities wero betier.
Big towns are not much goon. I suppose we must mot altagether Eeglect them. There is Notfingham aud Liverpool and Southanpton. Theiv turn will no doubt cone, but, the small towns are the thing. Tven the Lutadon meeting might sometimes lo held with adrantage in a small town. Whieh is how so Trish as it looks. Why not hold it ane Year at Si. Albans or Guildford?
Alderman Pritchard's motion to discourage making eight-bell rings inta ter was treated matrrally eyough as a luge joke, the crowning touch of comedy being supplied when the only one who woted for it was Mr. Pryee Taylor. Hut don't you think there is something to be suid in its favout from the point of view of change ringing? Just gee what happens often enongli. Tou have an cight-bell tower and a goad band. They ring Stedmen Triples, Kent and Double Norwicl. and perhaps two or three of tho Shrprige Methods. Plain Bob and Grandsire they could ring, luth probably don"t. Then, says one: Fow muclu better lo have ten bells! And thep gitate, and with a litfle luck the money comes, and they get their ten bells. And then? Well, instead of ringing five or six methods, henceforth and for overmore thacy ring Stedman Caters, and nothing else but Sterlman Gaters. Now, Stedman Caters may be a vely fine method, but I submit you can Jiave ton mituch of a good thing-even of Stedman Gaters. But, say 5ou, rou can ring Major methods in an eigbt-bell tower if pot want to, can't you? Yos, you can; but the point is that you don't. Af lenst not uniess you meet sliort.

Of eourse, tastes differ There ore men who are content to ring nofhing but Stedman Cinques from year's end io year's end.

Talting of Stedman Caters, whe does not some brave conductor cali a peal with the bie bells in the natural round at loack position? Il , is pretty aerrly as good as the littums position, and a lot better than the handstroke position. But, no. It's not done. Te are a lot of slicep. We all go tho same way as the others.
Mr. Young has given notice of a resolutions practienlly contiemning what is called simpson turing. Fou may be sure we shati] have a hasted debate. The partisans on one side and the other will raily to the call. The trouble with so many of us is that we really ron't fnow anything definite about the matter. We know what we like, and we mow what we rlislike. And we say what we think pretty of tem, and without sparing of words. But, the experts have us at their merey. Yon can't argae with an expert, for he knows and you do not. Fie may bo wrong in the lang conclusion: and you may be right. But what he knows lan does know; while wat don't know anything. Tn the intereats of spoctsmanslip aud tair play let us hope we may have experts on lepth sides. Then we can enjoy the battle. And perhaps (who knows?) learn somothing worlh knowing about the matiter.

And surely the Coventry peoplo ought to think twice and thrice be fore they pul their famons ring of ben into the melting-pot. When we were young-how mmuy years age, has !-tho old uns used to say that the three best peals of ten in England were Coventry, Rotherham and Stepney. I think they waro tho thrce. Anyway, Goventry was one. Rotherham hayu been recast; Stepney are somewhat fallew from their higl estate; and now Coventry are to go. I dare say a good doal of ibeir reputalion whs due to the tower thoy lung in. I dary say that winat made a good ringing peal will not aecessarily make good cnrillon bells. Hul, if they are anything like ns good sa people said, it would be a pity to recrast.

To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-As is solf-evident, a sliza has occurved in setting up the lype of sub-section III, of the proposed new hames, in the paragraph of 'Recommendations, as prinued in your issue of June 25un, page 410. The fourth and fiftla items in the "Old Names ' column- 'Duke of Norfolk' and 'Grandsire Treble lonl, ' which are ono and tho eane method, should have been bracketed, and the new narme proposed in, of convto, Grimsby for both of then

And, as farther result of thas slip, the whole of the column of - Proposed New Names' froni 'Grinaby ' downwards, is ono line too high, as far dewn as 'Vale Royal.' which shotal he in line with Shaftesbury, the new anme 'Woodbriche' appoaring twice in error.
This misprint is unfortumate, as there ts a passibility of these Rocoummandations of our Comnilter, heing in conseçuence, misunder-stood.-Yours very truly,

ST. JOHN-THE-BAPTIST (LEYTONSTONE) OUTING.
Jnne 20th and 21st wore the days chosen for the above, and on Saturday, June 20th, ten members joined the 5.30 a.ma, trair frour loudingtion to Ohippenham, to try some of the rings of bells in the Duvizes district of Wiltshire. Mr. I. H. Boams, of Bradpole, Dorset, anil one of the focal ringers, met the party at Chippenham. Aflev lyreakfast, a slat was made on tho ring of eighe at St. Andrew's, Chippenlaan, wisere Stedman and Canhoidge Surprise Major was rung. 'The next placu of call was St. Nicholas', Bromlam, a peal of six (tenor 19 cwt ) Here 720 BeverIey Surprise was ruag, the bells nob going too well, bs the beil hanger land nat finisherd with them.
 coln surprise was lost when two leada trom home, owing, no doubt, to the very long dranglat of rope. Limeli over, a drive througla lovely scenery broughl us lo St. Leanard's Chured, Kecvil, where 720 York Surprise was rugg ou the grand ling of six (tenor 21 cwt .) and the "go' wns excellent. Then on to the found old churel of St. Mary, Stecpie Ashton, where 720 London Surpijee was itugg, nan-conducted, on flis gaot peal of sis (tean 19 owt.). The next stop was at Trowtaridge to tiry a pull on lhe first peal of ten is Wills, where Stedman (haters and Treblo Boi) Royal were Jung in fino style. Hilperton was sonn renched, where, on the light pent of six (tonor 74 cwt.), 720 Souliwell and Norwich were soon Eapped off. Tha last place for Satartay was the Chureh of the Huly Cross, Seent, where on the smeettomod and well-going ring of six (tonor \(14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), in 720 each of Ipswirh and Liecoln Surprise was rung.

At the hotel, where the party stayed the righl, a pleasant hour was spont wifh touches on the linndbells, pte. Sumbly saw the party at St. Mary's Clurch, Devires, where a 720 I, ondon Sixprise was calied on the genurd peal of six (temor 19 cwi.). Also a 720 Norwich Surprise by Mr. 3'rior. St. Tames' Churol was nex risited, where Mr. S. Hillier conducted 720 Plain Bob, after which a 720 Cambuidre Surprise was rung, ronducted hy Mr. T. Faulkner, and then on to St. Jobn's Chureh, where, on the sjelendid peal of eight, Stedman Triples and a gond toweh of Kent Troble Rob Major were brought round.
Afor lunch, the organiser lad the party on the mowe agrin, this lime by charabanc to his netive village of Bishops Cannings. Permisaion was soon olbtained from the Rector to ring on this grama old मity of rigla. Stelman Triples and a Eood mouch of Cambridge Surprise Majar wole rung, comilueted by Mr. T. Taulkner.
A fler an early lea, al pull on St. Pinul's, Chapponhner. wis arrangen, whro the lneal ringers had everything in readiness, Stedman Trimies athl Fipat Trehlo Poh hajor beigg bronght roumd. Fariaus touches of Plain Bob, Graudsire and Treble Lob were surg ab all tho places visitcd. The members wish ta express sinceve thanks to the clecgy who so readily granted permission to ring; to ult tho local ringers who liad the bells ready; and to Mr. Hillier, of Devizes, who assisted in making the outiog a great success.

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION, FASTERN DIVISION.}

A guarterly meeting was held at Battle, of Saturday, Jume 27b1, menbers attending from the following towers: Easthourne, St. Seviour's; Christ Church, Si. Leonard's; Ohrist Churcls, Blackinnds; Rye, Southovor, Lewes, Salehurst, Shorehaga, Perensey, together with nicmbers of the local band. Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitcelsapel bell foundry, was also present.

Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m. The usunl service whe abtended by the members, and Hie Dean (the Rev. W. W. Yourd, M.A.) gave an excellent, address, which was thoroughly appreciated by everyone present.

Between 30 and 40 memberg sat down to a splendid toa, which had been provided in the Parish Room, througlt the kindness of the Dean, who presided.

At the business mecting, the Dean (the Rer. We W. Youard) occupied the chair prior lo reading the minules. The Hon. Secretery made a touching reference to the passing of Mr. S. Deadman, of All Saints', Easthourne, and an old association member, and on being put lo tho meeting by the chairman, the whole company stood in ailence for a moment.
The minutes of the previous mesting having been read and confirmed, the follosing new mambers were elected: Canon C. R. C. Frewer, of the Little Rectory, Brede, and the Rev. Roger de GoeijHampson, of Christ Church, Blacklands, as hon. life members.

Following a diseussion, it was decided to hold the next quarterty meeting ai Wuldron, in September:

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of lhanks to the Dean for the use of the bells, his address at the service, and also for his great kindness in cntertaining the members to tea.
The Dear, in zesponding, stated that it was a great pleasure to him to welcome the ringers. He was glad that there was an enthusiastic hand of ringers at Batlle, and he hoped that association would do all they could to micourage young ringerg. -This terminated the mebting.
The ringers then returred to the fower, and the bella were kept going until 8.30 p.m.

\(A\) garden party (by the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. F. Cawley Roberts) is to bo heli in the grounds of the Manor House, lorkington, on Saturday afternoon, in aid of the Norbury (Cheshire) Church Beils Restoration Fund.

The neal of Cambridge Surprise Major by Mr. J. S. Witde, of New Zealand, which we publislied on Friday, was rugg for the first time on tho preceding dry at Noth Stomeham, Hants.
What a link with the past is Mr. Ted Horrex, 'father' of the College Youtis! We knew he Loak part in the 15,840 of Kent Treble lobs Major al Bethanl Green in 1868 , and now we leari, from his pertin. ent letter last weok, that lie whs one of a band hat rang at Corentry in 1864-sirty-one years ago!
It was pleasant to meet in the belfry at Lichfield, on Snturday, Hr, W. W. Worthington, whose business ofaims havo prevonted hime from taking parl in may ringing for morm than two years past. dr. Worthington began ringing in his Undergraduate days at Oxford, but was some years before be came ecquainted with a change ringing hand. When he did so, his entlusiasm quickened apace, and his interest is still maniained, despite his restricted opportunitios of taking part in a favourive hobly,

Mr. Worthington's hone is the beatiful place, Majle Hayes, just outside Lichfield, and overlooks some of the most charming senery to be found in the county of Stafford.

The fitst peal of Wrin Caters was rung at Nortll Shields on aloly 12t \(\mathrm{t}, 1909\).

Ou July 15th, 1830, a penl of 5,000 new Treble l\}ob Royal was mus at Leeds. What in those days was known as "New, is now the Keni Yariation.

An interesting nolice concerning Yeavil bells, appeared in the "Westein Fiying Post' of July 14th, 1760: "There is tately Hang to Saliy aud sel going by Jolan Bush, Bell Hanger, of Chew Stoke, nenr Bristol, in the Conniy of Somersat, at large Peal of Six Bells in llu: Town of Yeovil, in the gaid Country.
'The Tennor consisling of near 50 cwt., they sre alllowed to bo tho largest Peal of Six that is in the Country, and required, before nesy Hung, 22 or 23 Men to ring the Six Belts; but since they are bang by the said Bush, the same hag been ruug for several Hours by 7 Meus only, and 503 or 4 different Peals of Changes, consisting of I2 Grandsite Changes in each Peal.
' N.B.-The said Busla has work'd in the luosiness for upwards of 50 years, and is thought, to be a very experienced Man, and will be ready to serve any Parish if required.'

There are aow ten bells at St. John-the-Baplist's Church, Yeorit, the lenar being 42 ewt . This bell and the present 9 th were recast ly Bilble in 7728.

\section*{ANOTHER BROADCAST OF BIRMINGHAM BELLS.}

The jubilee of the restoration of St. Marin's Clureh, Birminghan, is to be celebrated from July \(18 t \mathrm{~h}\) to 25 th. A special service is to he broadcast on Sunday, the -19h, and the bellg will be henrd over the wireless from the Birminghan station for a quarter of an hour beforehand, commencing approximately at \(7.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). Ringers who have receiving gets slowld Jear some good Stmonan Cinques, and the jublir. will hear the 'real thing,' as contrasted with what whe Rev. C. D. F. Davies recently described to the Central Council as the "foollity" imitation, which commonly precedes tho gervices braadcast elsewhern

It is interesting to note that at one of the special services at sil. Martin"s, the new Reator"s san is to bo baptized. He will be named Martin Hartley fuy-the first name being after the church of which his-father, Camon Guy Rogers, is the head.

\section*{YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DIVISION,}

The quarterly meeting whe Iold at Thornc, on Saturday, Italy Ath, and was attended by some 30 nemhers and visitors repuesenting many towers, antithe local compary. Ringing was enjoyed throughont the afternoon nul evening, the various standard methods being rumg on the recentiy recast peal of eight, the iono and "go' being perfect.
A short serfice whs held in the interesting old ehurel of St. Nicholas, where an instructive address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Littlewood.

Tea was provided by ilan lonal ringere and their wives.
The business neeting followed. six new neabers being electell S. Contes, of Hull ; Messry. W. N. Hains, J. Crossland. C. E. Long, J. R. Long, and A. H. Howervft, of Enstrington.

Aderman Pritelett said he put the motion on the agenda at the imvitation of the hon, seoretary, who sald le did ngt think there would lim enoug! to talk aboul (laughter), but somebody else came forward, and on that ground he elaimed the Council's sympalily (faughter). He did not expect that anyhody would agree wilh anything that he had said, tut lie did not expeet, lie must confess, that he would be made funt of (hughter). He apologiset to the Council, and thought he had betiler withdraw (laughter and ' No').
Araid further laugliter, the motion was then put, and declared lost by a large majority. Except for the maver and seconder, only two hands were belp up in favour, and these were two of the bell founders, with a keen serise of humour.

\section*{A CHANGE OF RUWE.}
int. W. A. Cave moved a resolution, of which the bad given notice: That on Page 13 of the Rules and Decisions in the paragraplis headed (a) "on nine nad eleven bells, (b) on eight, ten and twelve bells," the words, "in any ane method," be omithed." He pointed out that His alterdilion was necessary in view of the development of ringing, and the fact that peals on these higher mumbers would in the future be rung in more than one method, the rule as it stood limiting peals on numhers higher than six bells to one method only.
Mr. Beams suggested that seven bells' should also be included, but thig, it whe pointed out, would involve a separate resolution.
The motion was chrried without dischasion.

\section*{NAMES WANTED!}

The Ifev. E, $. Howelk proposed that it be an instruction to the honorary secretary to add tho names of the proposer and seconder of a motion, when the seme is printed in the ageada.' He sain they had had that day an illustration of one goad reason, although not his real reason, for recommending the course lie proposed. Had they had the name of tha proposer of a cerlain motion on the agenda it might have condueed to more peace in St. Martin's Guild, if the Guild could have known beforehand what their respected Master was going to do (laughter). A resolution ought to show whafi lay behind it, and it ouglit to lave the names of the proposer and seconder. If, for inthace, they saw the name of Mr. James to a motion they would exject, when they came to the meting to hear something about Boh mothods, and perhaps Canterbury leasurc. On the other hand, if a motion hore the names of members of the Chester Guild, they could, by way of preparation to deal with the matter faithfully, turn out their hooks ou botany and stury wiem (laughter). In fwo different persons' lands the same resolution meant two tokally diferent things. The real thing at"the hack of his mind, however, was, that there was getting to be a yteat congestion of businerg af the Central Council meeting To lave the names of the proposer and seconder would he a guide as to the probable importance of what was behind a reselution, and so help to strengthea the hands of the president in regard to the Mrife part of thee busimess.
Mr. di. F. Hurton seconded the motion, but Alderman Pritchett opposed it. He ilid so, first of all, on general grounds, as he did not posed it on the special ground, that if he had hart to put the names pasedit on the special ground, that if he had had to put the names ecomier. There would then have been no disctission, for the Council would nos have had the great amusement that liad theen afiorded it aughter)
The Rev. H. Law James supporterd the resolution.
The President pointed out tiat no subjeet could be proposed for alisenssion unless it was sent in one monlh before and signed by two monbers.
The molion was carried nem. con,

\section*{COLINCIL TO ₹゙ESTT IPSWICH.}

The President sairl the Standing Committeo had had under consiferaion ilie gtestion of the place of next meeting. Following the regular eycle which they had ndnpted for more than 30 years, their first meding of a session was always in London; the meeting this year was in the north-west of England, and consequently next yoar it slonuld be in the southi-enst. Two places were suggested to the commitheo, viz., Canterloury and Ipswieh. 'Chey had met at Canlerbury in the past, and allhough they were agreed it would he a good place to go to, they felt that they oughi io recommend Ipswich in prewas very get-atable, place. The Council had never been there; it for the Council to meet next year: On behalf of the Standing Committee he therefore proposed Ipswich, cil a hearty invitation to lpaswich. Ther buffolk tuild, gave the Counteresting a place as Chesicr, but they would do whot quite as ininteresting things they had, and they wauld giva the Council a hearty welcome.

Inge supported the invitation, and said the Suffolk Guiki Tostal iry to give the Council the time of thedr lives.

THE WASFBROOK MEMOHJAL.
The Rev. C. W. O. Jenhyu wial the Council at the last meeting entrusted lie Oxford Guild with the task of putting up a numorial La James Willien Washbrook, in Oxford, and it also chlled upon ald Associations and Gutilds to support the Oxford Guild in doing so, in order that it raight be a national pae. The treasurer had informed it might be, \(£ 130\), althouglı be thought \(£ 160\) might be sufficient. Out of that rell5, the Oxford Guild, by means of private subscriptions, and from towers and branches, luad combributed \(£ 9095\). so that he thought Lhey might say the Oxford Guild was doing its part (hear hear). Ho alse thought that those Guilds and Associatious throughout England, who hard sent anything at all, hat responted vary well indeed. He asked those associations who juad not yet subseribed kindly to let the treasurer know what support they could give, so that he would be able to announce, when the Oxford Gutd met in July, flat the money was in hand.
The promise of a nutnber of subscripitions from associations was made by various representatives.

\section*{CHALLENGE TO SIHPSON TUNING.}

The Hon. Searetary gave netive that at the mext mecting he would move: "That the time has now arrived when the Council should consider whether the so-called scientific or Simpson tuning is in the best interests of the Exereise " (hear', hear, and laughter).

Alderman Pritelsett moved a wole of thanks to the Bishop of Chester, the Dean and the Cabihedral authorities for the Einouess extended to the Council, and the facilities they had aforded for the holding of a successful meeting. This was umanimously carried, as Was also a vote of thanks to the President, proposed by lir. J. Griffin, and a voce of thanks to the committee and secretaity of the Chester Diocesan Guild, propesed loy Mr. W. H. Hillier.

This terminated the business, and the Council then rose.
Many of the members and their friends afterwaves went inta thu Cathedral for the evening service, tho singing being chiefly remarkable for the clear enturiation of the verds. Then, following is procession to the closisters, where they joined in a sbort service, at which [wo memorial lights were thedicated.

By this time the lower payt of the Refectory was transiformin into its original use, as a dining hall, and, as the guests of the Chmater Diocesan Guild, about 120 sal down to tea. This number was about 50 per cent. in excess of those who had accepied, but those in charge of the catering rose nobly to the occasion, so that nowe went emply away. Tle cluair mas taken iy Mr. H. A. Heywoor, who was for some vears hon. secretary of the Cliester Guild.
Burivg the meal the Dean gave a bricf, breezy, but neverthelesa informative, dadress on the history of the building, especially mentioning those things most wortly of a visit. He also placed the bells it the elispossel of the ringers till 7.30 p.m.
In the liandsome ball roon of the Grosvenor Hotel a party of about 150 afterwards foregathered under the capable chairmanship of the Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild (Rev. C. A. Clements). There another treat was in store, for the masical portion of the evening was renderell by the Calle of a most plensing mod well-halanced character.

Ganen Coleridge also delighted his listeners by one of his Devomshire Storien.
During an interval he presented Mr. H. W. Wwlde with a handsome pair of silver chnalesticks. as a slight recognition of all he liad done, especially in getting the honse and grounds of Eaton Hall open to the Council and their friends on the prorious day.-Mr. Wykir, taken by surprise. feelingly responded.
Thanks to the Diocesar Gutal for the arrangements madr was Followed by Auld Lang Syme and the National Andliem.

\section*{THIRTY YEARS A RTNGER.}

Thirly vears a ringor in the belfry of the Lang Kick of Cravea. Alr. Browt is leaving Kildwich for Blackpool. On Sunday evening last there was a farewell ring. in which members of the loeal beliry were formed by ringers itorr Skiplon Parish fhutels. The members of the lond were 7 . Pottomley 1, T. Rogers 2. C. Browra 3. J. Garlick 4, W. Hillary 5, H foe 6, W. Billows 7, C. Law 8. They rang 576 Tretile Bob Major, a tonch of Violet and a wouch of OxFord. \section*{STAFEORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY}

\section*{RESTRICTIONS AT LICHFITLD.}

Lichfield Cathedral is one of the mation's most beatiful possessions, an ornate aad siately pile, whose central spire rises uearly three hubdved foet, and is the dominating leature of the country for miles arouma. In oue of the smallur but fone the les imposing western towers hangs a fue peal of ten bells, now, alas! heard all too lithe, un account of the restrictions which are placerl on the ringing of them. The bells themselves are in excellemt order-they were tehung a iew years ago by 3r. J. E. Groves, of Birmingham-but the local thand, of which the veteran, Mr. Cupe, hats been an active member for nowe than half a century, receive scant eucouragencent, and there are fem, if any, opportunities for outsiders to ring. Even the Society of the Archdenconry of Statiord, which opertes in the area of which Liciniolid is the centre, alld which has shown its loyalty to the mother church of the diocese by returning to it practically every year for its annual festival, is finding that its visits to the Cathedral are not attogetiver weleome. This is really very deplorable, and un these days -when almost everywhere ringers are receiving acknowledgment as valued Lelpors in the Church's work-difficult to understaned. Fear after yeas in the past the society has turned to the Cathedral for its annual gathering, to be met hiss year with a consent to ring the bells for an hour and a half on condition that no application is made for the use of the bells next yenr.
When whe society met on Saturtay last this condilion was wuch commented on and regrefterl. Over eighty members attended. and made the best use of the bells during the limited time at their disposal. The ring of eight at St. Mary's wore also open, but here, unfortunately, illoess near the church put an early end to the ringing, leaviag ony the six-bell iower of sit. Michael's for use in the evening.
Thle tea and busiuess mecting were held at Lloyil's Restaurant, Mr. J. E. Groves presiding, and being supported by the Rev. C. F. Rarker (clerical secretary) and Mr. H. Knight (las secretary).
The business was fargely formal, aud ineluder the re-elecion, en blow, of the officers.
Tlle committee, in their report, stated: 'We are able to record another year of progress the number of peals rung during the year was 26, made up as follows: Graudsito Triples 4. Stedman Triples 13, Slechnan Caters 2, Sterimau Ciaques 1, Bob Major 2, Kent Tretule Bol Majoy' 1, Double Norwich Major 3. The members of the Central Council musi have been gratified at the warmth and siucerity of the weleone extended wo them at Chester. The Dean of Chester, in the rourse of his remarks, said be hoped "* we should recover preseutly the notion in England that the Cathedrals did not helong to a group of old gentlemen, but really were the mother church of each diocese. the Bishop being the lead of it, the Dean and Cltapter trustees, ant the Cathedrai belonging to everybody. That Cathedral was the one great building in the county that really belonged to everybory." "tve slould like," added the committee, "to he able to feel that ahout our orta beautiful Cathedral at Lichifid. Our larouners in the Diocese of Chester will synpathise with us when they know that we are allowed to ring the laells of our Cathedral for \(1 /\) hours this year ou conclition that we do not ask to do the same next year." ' The report conciuded with an expression of deep regret at the death of four memhers, Messts. Wm. Renton (Cannock), W. Rock Small (Tiptoni),
T. Mralney (Wolverlaapion) and A. Everitt (Tamsortil).

The balauce slieet showed that there was a balance in handi at the end of the year of \(£ 3015 \mathrm{~s}\). 9d., on decrease of ez 2 s . 2d., comparer] with the preeding year. Of the receipts, 222 18s, was from subscriptions, tucluding those of 221 ringing members, whose numbers show od an increase.
The report and balance sheet were adoptent.
Mr. H. Knight stated that confrihutions amounting 10 £2 7r. Had been recived towartis the Washbrook Memorial, aud he askerl thobe who had not already sent donations to do so as quickly as possible.
The three quarterly meetings, recommenteri by the commitiec, were confinmed, viz: Kingswinford, in July: Wedncsbury, in January; and Stafford, in April. The comanitlee suggested Wolverlampton or lishfield for the munual meeting.
The Rev. G. H. Barker saiti when they came Lo Liclafeld two years ago, and did not lave the Catherral bells, the attendance fell off to almost cxactly a lajf of what it had been the year before. This yenr they had got the bells on condilion that they thit not ask for them next year.
Mr. Brindley urged the members to stipk to Lichffeld. The experiment of moving away was once the downinall of their socioty. \(T^{7}+1\) haps if they triofl they might get the Calhedral bells next year.
The Rep. C. H. Barker said he did not see how they coulil ask or thena, in wiew of the condition made this year.
Eventually Liclineld was selected by a enasiderable majority, eizhtepr hands being tield up for Wolverhampton.
Mr. H. Knimht, for the committee, suggealed that ma effort sloulith bre made io rerive the cycle rans to onlying towers and it was hecifled to try them and see what stecess nittendet the effort-

It was resolverl to pritat the anmwal report this year, therg being suffivient funds in lanci for the purpose.
Five new membors wer a elected fram Etrington (2), Penkridge (8) ancl Nuneaton (l).
The busincss concluded will a vate of lhanks to the officere for their services, and to the clanimana Fot prosiding.

\section*{DOUBLE NORWICK COURT BOB EXTENSION} By GEORGE BAEER.
In the 'Ringing Worid ' of \(29 t\) II July, 1921, I gare the figures of whal. I had then for at least seven years believed to be the correct exIansious of Double Narwich Court Bob Major to Royal and Maximus, ! tetso poinled out that the Royal was only a three-part touch, and here I snight ndd that Royal of any description having either of the following lead-beads will never be nure than a threc-part toudh, a fuct witioly can be oasily proved by transposition, \(i_{\text {, }}\). : -

On Saturday, Jane 27th, the above ringers and friends, to the matuber of 32, held their annual outing. Travelling by bus via St. Neot \(\varepsilon_{3}\) Cambridge, to Safron Walden, the party arrived Ht 10 o'clock to the sonnd of ringing belfs, it being "Great Ringing Day.' \(A\) house of - Fight Bells' was first sought out, being welcomed by Messrs. Pit. stow, of the local band, nital other memberg of the Essex Association, Who kindly landed ovel the bells. A course of Doublo Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major nas bromght round on the back eight (and angood eight, too). The party moved on to Sawbritgewortl, being welcomed by the Rev, A. Rusd (assistant priest, aud sometime secretary of the Beds Association), and ofher members of the local band, who soon had the bells raised. The 'go' was not all that could h desired, but the party managed to get through courses of varions methods. After lowering the bells in peal a move was made fo lomil. quarters (Harlow Common), being met by Mr. G. Dont (eluuchwar dea), also a member of the local band, and some of his fellow-hitagera, Thanks to fleir great kindnoss, an excellent luncheon was in readiness. After lunch, the beantiful musical peal of eight in the lower close by were soon going to varipus nethods. Touches in moosl of the standard methods were 1 notg during the aflernoon, ineludirg a wellstruck course of Bristol Surprise Majar, this being the first course of Bristol on tho bells. The local ringers and their wives, not content With what had already been done for the party, prepared tea. Mr. Perkins then mado a pleasing announcement, siating that the pary Were the guesty of Mr. Dent and the local ringers, and proposed a most hoarty vate of thanks to Mr. Dent, the local ringers, and their wives-Mr. Barber, in seconding, said ho was sure he shats he ex pressing the piews of all when le said how deeply they rppteninied the great kindness and generosity of ML. Deat, his follow-ringers and their wives, and should they ever see fil to vistu Northamptoneshire they would be only too pleased to veturn the carnpliment.- Mr. Dent, in replying, sain that as soon as they knew of the visit to Harlaw they set to work with a will to make things as pleasant as they could, and it was planaly ovidcat. They land succeerled. Ho went on to say that he had very pleasant recolections of Irthlingherough, having lung peals there 28 or 29 years fgo, and hoped they woult hare a pleasanil time on the remainder of their jouraty. The journey was combimed lo Ware, and secking oul Mr. G. Rarker, of the local hand, were soon busy again witl this fine peal of eight, andi various methoda wpers Grought round. After lowering the bells in peal, which was occurrence, the party made thoir way to the lagt tower of who thy a Hitchin, being met by Mr. Foster, of the local band. where they wern soon, busy with annther fine peal of eight. Though time was shorl, various methods were brought round, ant a course of Londion was attempted, but after going well, came to grief in the last treble ledd or two. Tonches and selections on the handbells were given in the hostelry, RS a fitting finish to a splendid dag. Tharough the 'Ringing World, all the members of the party beg to tender their warmest thonks to all those who in any way helpod to make the outing such a great success.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY OUTING.
The first annual outing of the above society took place last Saturday, the veaue being Lougliborough, where the patty numbered 32. A start was made from Waterdale. Procceding van the Dukeries aud Nottinghani, Loughborough was reached at 12.30 .
The chief abtraction at Louthborough was tho world-famang bell foundry of Messtr. John Taylor and Co. Here the wisitors were conducted round the foundry and worksliops. After lunch, the bell foundry ompanile was visited, and Louches of Ilain Bob, Kont Treble Buth, Cirandsire aud Stedman Triples were rung. The tit-bit of the ringing was a perfectly struck course of Bob Miror, which was rung ou the six smatlest bolls, the beavicsi, of which is \(2 f\) cwt.
The bells of Loughborough Parish Clutch were placed at the serwiee of the visitors, by kind permission of the Rector, and further jinging was enjoyed.
The Louglaborongh War Memorial was alsa visited; this consists of a dignified campanile 152 feet in height, with a wonderful carillon of 47 hells. Messrs, Toha Taylor and Co. were responsible for this cariljon, which as a war memorial is unique in this country.
after tea, a start wre made for Donenster, which was reached at 10.45.

\section*{APATHY, AND A WAY OUT.}

The apathy of the clergy and many of the ringers towards change ringing and the Guild was a position which was emphasised at the annual meeting for the Winchester Diocese the other day. In a large area, such as that covered by the Winchester Guild, there is bound to be a number of parishes where interest in ringing aftairs lalls flat, but it would appear that the conditions are such that they call for special action. Where ' both members and towers in union fall much below standard,' as recorded in the annual report, it is well to face the position to see what can be done by way of reaching a more satisfactory level.

The Winchester Guild is not alone in its complaint of the apathy of the clergy. The recognition given to ringers by the Clurch in these days is far in advance of that which was experienced even twenty years ago, but ringers are entitled to expect even more encouragement in their work than many at present receive. The question is, do they go the right way to induce this treatment? The clergy, for the most part, are acknowiedged to be badly overworked; in many parishes they have scarcely time to keep in touch with all the multifarious branches of par-hial life, and, we imagine, as long as they hear the bells rung for the services, and see the ringers in their pew, they are content. Many of them, perhaps, cannot tell whether all or only part of their bells are being rung-some, probably, would be totally unconcerned if they did know, and, as long as the rubric is complied with, would not mind what happened to the bells. This latter, of course, is a deplorable state of affairs, where it occurs, yet it may easily develop, if the ringers do not themselves keep in close touch with their incumbent.

Where ringers are apathetic it is only to be expected that the clergy will also be without interest-the two generally go hand in hand-and it is, therefore, to the ringers that the 'ginger ' must be most applied. But all those who have had anything to do with efforts to "stir up ' ringers know what a heart-breaking job it is. They are the most difficult people in the world to move. A good deal of the ringers' interest, however, depends, we think, upon the stage of advancement which he has reached in the art. The further he gets on, the keener he is, and we believe that one of the greatest incentives to interest in an association is to be found in the progress he makes in peal ringing. A man who never gets, say, beyond Grandsire Triples, can hardly be expected to show the same enthusiasm as a man who has reached the Surprise ringing stage; therefore one direction in which an association can attempt to overcome the existing apathy is to extend the scope of the instruction which is given, and do more in the way of organising peal attempts. With few exceptions, peal ringing is left to the initiative of the individual, and it is not infrequently argued that if a man wants to get on he will seek his own opportunities for peals. That is true in a measure. The ringer whose entlusiasm is inborn will unquestionably bestir himself, and, as it were, carve ont his own carece. But there is another class which the associations annnot afford to ignore, and that is the ringers whose enthusiastn has to be created. They are usually those who are not quite so quick in grasping the intricacies of the art, or whose limited opportunities have prevented them from making headway. If associations, and we speak generally now, would lay themselves out a little more to give this direct encouragement, we believe they would be welt repaid by results. Occasionally the interest of the ringers is secured by first interesting the incumbent, but in the majority of cases the incuntbont has his interest aroused by the work done by his own ringers, and we feel sure that the best way to overcome the apathy of the clergy is to attack it through interest created in the local bands.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

A most suecessful meeting of the Fonbridge District was heln at Cranbrook on Saturday, july 11 th, which was atlended by upwands aif twonty mombers. The membens were metion arrival by the Vicar (time Rev. H. N. O. Swingler). The hearg going of the bells prowed rather too greal atask for ringing Suzprise methads, but some good practico was olytained it Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent and Oxford Trebla Pob and Double Norwich Major. A service was hadd at 4.30, conducted by the Ficar. Ta日 was partaken of, and was followed by the business meeting, the Yicar presiding,

The minates of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. Burl Haftenden, of Maytield, Sussca, was elemted a non-resident life member, and seven members of the Brenchley band were elected practising mombers, the District Secretary remarking that as the result of holling a mecting at that tower all the ringers there were now menhers of the association.
The Yicar of Crambook was elected ar Jon, member.-Wr. S. H. Green (T'unhidgo wells) urged the members la try and arrange combined practices at the warions towers.-The Fiear replied to a vote of thank for the use of the bells, ete., and for his clection as a member, -The District Secretary, in replying to a vole of thanks for his services, said that he hoped some of the meetings would be better attended than they have been during the past. The Ficar conducted the members round the ancient church.

\section*{BRISTOL BRANCE}

An interesting meeting of the Bristol brancla was held at Markhficid on Saturday, July 41h. At 4.30 at service was lueld in the chuch, the Viar (the Rev. L. O. Asplin), being away, the Rev. \({ }^{\prime}\) F. C. Fowler (vice-president) afliciating. Immediately after the service he proceded to the ringigg chamber, followed by the members, whore Mr. Lewis, the conductor of the local ringers, mas asked to unveil the board which recorded the first peal ever rung on the bellis aud by local men.
On unveiling the board, Mr. Lewis remarked that jt inat taken a long time to achieve, being 15 years since the treble were adied, sepernl peals laving been attempted by some of the best of ringers, but it was to them that the first peal helonged. The ringers were congrafulated on their success, and the bells were then rung by those who took part in the peal. da excellent tea was served by Mrs. and Miss Lewis. Mr. C. Harding, of Marshfield, was elected a momber. The usual vote of thanks was passed, and the tower ugain visited, geveral touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob being reng.

\section*{BELL RINGING A DYING ART.}

Addressing clarcin bell ringers at Falifar, recently, Bishop Frodsham said it was not generally recognised that bell ringing. in which the belis were luvg round in full swing, was an ari pectiliar to this conntry. It was n very different thing from chiming, in whoh the bell Was rwung just enough to make the clapper strike ihe side of the bell. The art of bell ringing was in danger of heing lost which would be a vast musical loss, for there was alj the difference in the world between chimes and a full peal of bells. Sil. Salmon, ehief bell ringer at Halifax Parish Church, said the ofier generation of zingers refused to teach the secrets of the art to young men.

\section*{DEATH OF GEORGE FENRY JOHNSON.}

We regret to report the deatly of one of the veterans in ringing ciscles in Nottingham, at the ripe nge of 73 . George Johnson came of an old ringiag family, which is still in active continuit. in the sixth generation. His grandfather rang with the famous Wm. Doubleday Crofts, and George limself was one of the two veterans who formed the "connocting file" between the old and newly revived Society of Sherwood Youths. Fe is also the one and only Notidagham man to call Holt's Original, which performance took place as far back as \(187 ?\) The listory of ringing in Nottinghnm has been carefully recorded hy him, and it is to lis efforts, and his only, that a compilete survoy of past penis in this district is nvailable. Several of the most important peal bards in the fowers of St. Mary's and St. Peter's are bis handiwork. His peals number 32. of which ho conducted 18 . the smethorls boing Stadman, Grandsire Tripies and Caters, Boh Major, Kent Major ani Rowal. Several of these peals were rung in Eccles, where he resided for efew years. Notingherm is the poorer for bis loss, and many Inve lose in him an old and valued friend.

\section*{By J. A. TROLLOPE.}

Alhouglt lie was not a clange ringer, wor I think any sort of ringer, the nante of Hunry Thomas Ellacombe will always be held in howour in the Exercise. Many of us, no coubt, knew him onis as the inventor of the farailiar chiming apparatus, but besides being a most learned boll antiquary, he was one of the first who mromoted what we ased to call 'belfry reform.' You don'b hoar very much about welfry reform nowedays, because, happily, the abuses that were to be removed are largely things of the past. Some tirne ago, i came across nin accounl of Ellatombe. which may be intercsting. It is in a book called 'Oriel College and the Oxford Movement," written by the Row. Tios. Mozley, who wrs a Fellow of Oriel, brother-id-law of Cardinal Newman. and brother of a man who liad a hig reputation as a theologian. The book is dated 1882. When the writer had retired, and an old man. This is the extract: "Very carly did I hoar of Heary Thomas Ellacombe. Hrppy were they bint knew him, or lad talkeri with, or even seen him. Yet I am asimmed to gay I did meet him once in Urial Common room, and failed to retain an jmago, which was not edipsed hy flue name. Ellacombe survives, and is ninety-three, ar thereabous. He is of that fortunate race- "sons of the gods" they may be truly called-that care for everybody and everything. There is mo weath like sympathy, for it is inexhaustible. I had heard of Ehacombe's addiefion to churel bells, to plants and flowers, to armorial bearings and genealogies, but when I went into Devoushire, I might sas that not half had been reported to me.

His magnifectit gharto on the bells of Devonshire gives the size, tone, quality, date, and tegend of every church bell in the county, with full particulars of their condition and surroundings. The first thing that strikes the reader is the evidenlly strong attachment of the people to their bells, and the learl bells havo taken in church restoration. Long before Simeon was sheleionising our sarmors, chtorchwardens were recasting our bells, aud datig it very well, too. They made mistakes sometimes, and they dealf rather recklessly with the church towers. When they liar not room for a Inrger peal, or even one more hell, Ithey thought nothing of scooping out a waggon load of solid masonry. What was worse, wheu the "cage" would oscillate so muds as fo disturb the ringing they drove in tug werlges betweeu it and the walls, thereby communicating the oscillation to tho walls, num in many cases cracking them from top to bottom.

Tllacombe went about suitably apparelled, and with proper tools and materials, runuing tup every lower in Devonshire. He did uot think it always necessary to ask the parson's lenve, but when the parson heard his bells tinkling, clanging and jangling, lie kow somebody must be at ther, and rushed out to see who or what it was. Ho found an extraorinary figure that raight have stepped out of a scene of German rliablocie, ascertainmg the keynote of the hells, or taking & tracing of the legend, or a cast of the devices. One clergyman exorcised Ellacombe hi oncr, and his church is conspicnous by its gbsance from the hook

Ellacombe is a very short mana. very much bowed with age, with n while beard reaching liali-wry to the ground, at beaming counterance, r pair of bright eyes, and a good clear ringing voice

One could not be in Ellacambe's campany five minutes withont learning something worth knowing, and in a distinct and positive form. What a loss it is that there are not the men to rescur these accmmulations of knowiedge before they sink into the ground, where all things are forgotten!
And we may add, too, what in ioss it is that when a man dies, full of knowledge and experience, there its not someone at hand to collect anत preserve the booke and MSs. thint he liad got together! Whare. for instance, are Ellacombe's books? I did hear somewhere and somehow that there was a goodly collection, macy of great juterest to ringers, but they have all, or almost all, disappeared, prohably lost for ever. And so, too, with many a lesser man. Mr. Jones is an enthusiastfe ringer, and hes gol and treasures a goon many books and leters about ringing. Mrs. Tnnes does not walue them a littie hit. Probably, good honest soul, slie detestg ringing and ringers, and everything connected with them. She would rather her good man stopped at home with her instead of going about peal ringing. And she can' Lufar these people comine to hel place and talking atoout bells and Wills, and nothing but bells: ant so when Jones dier after a decent interval, sho cleats out the whole of the rubbish. Small biame to her, but onee in a while a great loss to flie Excreise.
Ellacombe's 'Bells of Dexonshire' was the first of that series of books on church bells, which treludes L'Estratnge's ' Bells of Norfolk, Raven's 'Bells of Suffols," North's 'Jells of Northamptomshire, and others, whieh are monaments of learning and patience, and industry. It is a stupendous task to collect the details rand insrriptions of the clurch helJs of 7 whole caunty, not to be innlertaken, and still less to he accomplished, unless the mant has time and money and enthusiasm. And all these would not avafl without iearaing, and the true arrhasiogical spirit.

A paper on belis by Lilacombe was published by the Bristol Architectural Society in 1850. Whether any copy exists now I do nol know. 'dhis was reviowed in the 'Quarterly' of 1854. As was the custam, the reviewer used it as a peg on which to hang a lengtly discourse on bolls, beginuing with Tubal Gain, aud soon, to the time of the writer.

For all its parade of learning, there is notling much in it. He gives an account of change ringiag us far as three bells, which, however is given wrongly, and goes on: ' Oue umparalleled milhusiast, whose book was printed \(3 n 1618\), devoted 475 pages to prove that the priscipal cmplaymont of the blessed in heaven will be the continual ringing of bells. Southey pronounces that the art is at least enlitled to tho praise of being the most harmless of all the deviges for obtnining distinction fy makiug a noise in the wortd. The justice of the romark, howerer, is more than doubtifl. Belt ringers as a class bava always had the cecdit, or discredit rather, of being a disorderly sek. The fellowship commencod in the belfry condtucts to the public-liouse, all Eratuities are spent in tippling, and it is a common observation that the ringers, alter summoning the congregation to charch, are prane to slip uway themsolves.' So there you arc. And I coafess that I, loo, have formed followships that have led from the belfry to tho pablic-louse, and oftimes aftor a peal a bitter lare tasfed wonclrous good.

I am not acquainted with the reasons whek wert advanced for any ing that change ringing is tho principal employment in heaven; but assuraing the fact to be so, what a comphete answer it is to Mr. Gearge Burton's objection that there is na nead for Whe fortheomine Gentral Council collection of Major Methods. Or is he one of those who would like to ring Stedmen Caters to all eternily?
There is a good deal of internst, and fasciation in copying ingeriptions nut laking rubbings of belle. It is a far nobler hobby than, say, stamp collecting, which diguends to such a great extent on luck and a deep pocket. A goon many of us, when wre were foung, wero bitten with the lobby. Temnorarily, of course, for the genuine collector is a ravo animal. [ came across such a one in one of my holiday excursions. was looking at one of the old churchies in, T think, Narwich, when he turned up. He fad paper and heel-hall, mad all the rest of it, and his quarry wns monamental brasses, being very learned in the different kinds- the sixteenth century, and the fiffeenth century, the Flemish School, the French Sehool, and so forth. I called in my libtle-wery little-knowledge of the matter, and, spreading it out very thin to make it go as fial as possiblic, lalked with him, Had he been to Lumb? Of cotitse lae liadl been to Lamn. Buin (sadly) they wouki not allow hins to take a rutbbing But be had so and so, and so and so, and lie opined that ther were at least as good, if not so big, as those at Lynn. Holidays, however, were mare, and he had pretty fell worked out his local district. Why not try hells? I suggesid. He had never heard of such a thing. I explained the matter fully, urging him to eschew everything later than the sixteentily century. He was highly delighted with the idea, and went awry happy. I saw him no more.
In my childhoed, when I certainly was not more than six ar sewn Years old, I read an account, someliow and somewhere, of a visit ta a village charch. The writer took his readers all rounsl the building, showing and explaining os he went. At least I think sas for on this point my recollection is pery bazy. At last he came to the lower and the bells, and he tells you to tako a lubbing of ihe inscriptions. But, says lue, you must be wery anrefnl, ar (and this is the only part I do realty remember) 'ten lundredweight of motal will erush you against the framework.' It was that one sentence (lint stuck in my mind. I kmew nothing then, nor for long after, about hells, med I gat a curious impression of what. a bell must be dike. Something lifen a cat of uncertain temper, harmless solong as yout trented it rielit aud stroked' it the right uay. But if you slmuld happen to upset it, well, look ont for teeth and claws.

Bur why should that partimiar ecntence stack in my chaldish mrmory? And why should it contimatlv reoceur? And this question F have never been able to answelt. Was the man talking nbout what he did not understand? Dre did lie retually get down into the pit and dake his rubhings with the hell up? And if so low long was it beform the providence that lie so sorely temptent lost patienee wifh hime and put a períad at onee to his rubbings and his life.

I slal? never find a colution to this problem. No, never.

\section*{TRAVELLING FACILITIES TO RINGERS}

\section*{To the Eaitar.}

Dear Sir, May I, through your columns, appeal to all ringing sodietes to support an application which we are making for facilities in railway travelling?

On Saturday last, by appointment, a depalation of ringers, consisting of Mr. W. A. Cave (representing liristol members of other associalions), Mr. W. H. Thomas (watching the interest of the lady ringers), and myself trepresentiog tho Glowicester and Bristion Diocesan Association), met tho Divisional Superintendent of the G. W.R.
Out main ponts were lhai gunantee num̄bers demanded by railway sompanies were of no use to us; that a aoncession, reducing the guarantee number to less than twelve, would be boneficial, but more chan that was ceally necessary.
In short, we ained for the privilege of travelling as anglers, riz., single fare for the return journey on the same day.

The supenntendent received us very courteously, and we felt that our application had beer favourahly heard.

After having carefully stated a few facta, we were asked to make a formal application for consideratiou, and we were assured that the mater would be piaced before the Clearing Board with favourable recommendalion from the Bristol Superintendent's office.
In order to make a great effort, will all rssociatious and zociekies kindly make a local application so that the Clearing Board will under'stand bow large a mumer of ringers will be beneften?
1 mights adrl, that in the event of our application receiving the consent, of the Clearing Board, it will be neoessary to lave some mark of identification. To meet lhis, J would propose at the next Central Council meeting that all qualifen members of affiliated associations ard societies slould be registered members of the Centrat Council of Church Bell Ringers, and that the expenses thereof he met hy their respective societies.
Each member wontil then fave for prownction a regisfration eard which miglit be renewed every year.
Trusting we shall receive the support of every ringing organisation.Youre faithfully,

\section*{THE AUGMENTATION OF NORBURY BELLS GHESEHRE TOWER WHERE RINGING HISTORY HAS BELN MADE.}

Parb of tho great church eviargement and restoration scheme nat Norbury, Cheshire, is the augmentation of the ring of sis bells to a pal of cight. The entira projest, which is nearimg completion, is oosting someling like flye thousand pourds, and although the bells form the last, thoy are by no means the least portion of the under aking. It is not just a guestion of adding two trebles The ohd ring and a lenor of about 9 cwt., and included two bells (the 3rd and 411 enst by Oidfield in 1617. it is proposed to preserve these interesting shies, and they are now suspended from beams, for all to see, acrom the entrance porch. The new peal is to be increased in size to 14 wh. by the addition of two tenors, will two new belfs to replace the pair by Oldfield, and the recasting of the othar four. The wark is being dono by Messrs. "haylor and Co., of Loughborough, and wil? probably be completed in about three morthts' lime.
Worbury bells liave more than a pussing interest for ringers, for npon the ring which has been taken out, ringing bistory has been made. Twenty ord years ago, Mr. Jomes Fearnley getr round him a band which marde rapit progress in Minor riaging. They mastered a largo number of methodis, and, when they became re-established, aftor the war, got down to the difficult task of ringing 'spliced' methods, and eo accomplisined did they become that the number of methods in cluded in seren true 720 's was extended until, it December, 1923, they rang a poal of 5,040 in 35 metliods, one of the greatest performances ever achieved on tomer bells. In Jannary of that year they had ruag a thirty-method peal, which was scored at the fourth attempt, and aroused real entiusiesm among the parishioners, who had become intercated in their ringers' successes. Wisen the 35 -method peal was at temptad the parishioners were almost as keen upon it as the ringers, anf, when it anme safely nome at the first '务hot,' the Norburf people This interest proud of their ringers' triumpla.
This interest in the ringers is andy an example of the spiril which prevills in the parish in connection wilh the clsurch, a spirit which has been Fiudled and maintained by the example of the Vicar and thtre church offeere. Norbury is a 'live' parish, no far as its chureh alfairs aro conceraed, anil there can be no botter lestimony of this than the way in which it has set about footing the big bill which the project ahuve-anatianed has entailed. Even tho Nonconformists have helpent, and the expense of providing the new trelale is being borne by them. speaial collections Javing been made in their churches for the purpose The second bel! is to he given by the parish in memory of the men who fell in the wra. The thitd will be the gift of the ringers, and the only arme that will appear upon it will be that of Herbert wal liamson. one of the original band, who died after the Armistice as the result of was service. The Freemasans of Hazelgrove (of which Norbury forms a parti are giving the fourth, the 7 th will be the special the congregation. While the new tenor and the recasting of the \(51 h\) and \(6 t h\) wilh be paid for out of the geaeral funcl. The bells will he placed in the tower in n new two-tier frame, and the general equipmemt of the belfry is to he worthy of the chureh.

Finds are still nectied to cemplete the cost, and on Saturday a suhstantial sum was raised by a garden party, given in the beantiful grounds of Torkington Matior House, by tho kindness of Mr. and Mrs, F. Cewley Roberts. Some hundreds of partishionere of all ages and both sexes flacked to the Manor House, and spent a reost anjoyable oftornoon and evening. ansid charming surroundings, with the fowers ato tlleir best, anel will a variety of entertammenti to amnse them. talls for the shle of flowers, fruit, and other articles, wero in charge of ladies connected with the chureh, cokernut shies, clack golf and other less skilful, but more speculative, grmes, held out itheir allureseleelions on lanabells, played their part, and in which also a featere Was the exlibition dancing of a number of gipls. BELLS OF ST. MICHAEL'S, COVENTRY.
By E. A. YOUNG.
These bells were esst in 1774 by Pack and Chapman, at tho Whikhapel Foundy, and were made as a complete peal of ten. Tho weight of the emor was 31 ewt. I qr. 14 lb , and the tatal woight 1381 cwt. (including the erown staples which were ' cast in'). Ehe 6l! was recast in 1799 by Thomas Mears, and the tevor was recast in 1805 by .Joln Briant, of Hertford.
This peai of ten replaced a peal of eight (tenor 25 cwt.) cast in 1675
Hon'y Bagiey, of Chacombe, and this eight replaced a leavy penl of six (medjeval bells), tenor 304 cwt .
Before the new peal of ten was erected, fear lad heen expressed that the tower was in dauger from the heay peal of bells (meaning the old Gighti, and aiter the old ton were hung, this fear was increased. A commillee was formed to go into the question, and in 1794 the bellh were taken down and relung in a new frame, built up from the ground and anconnectod with the tower. They were hung in tuo tiors. In 1805, when the tenor was recast by Briant. they werc all agair mhung, and brought down to one level. In 1885, at the time of the restoration of the church, it was considered that the tower was nobstrong enough to carry the bells for 'ribging,' and aftel' severad schemes hart been put forward the bells were hung again for 'chiming ' only, in the octagon. The tenor bears this inscription, which appeared on Bagley's tenor:-

I am and have been call'd the common bell to cing, when five breaks out to tell.'
Bells lung as a carillon are not really in accordance witin the use for which they sere intended in a church towor. Bells ling in churches were aiways inteaded to he rung-at least such has been tho case for centuries past, and there is a very strong feeling against introducing a foregn idea of their use in an English ohurch. It hardly needs to be pointed ouf that there is far greater dignity and majesty. in a peal of bells properly rung, than in a set of bells (no matter what numbor) chimed in tunes from a keyboard. There is nothing to say against a carillan of bells in their correct setting, but a Parislt Church tower is NOT that setting. What is it that gives such an attesting effect at, say, St. Paul's on a Sunday morning and afternoon-the "ringing " of the twelve hells. This, of course, applies to all towers where good riaging is the custom, and what a thin sffect itw woult have af, say, St. Paul's, if the bells were merely hand-chimed. There is no comparisou.

If, however, the Coventry authorities have made up their miads to have a carillon of fourcen bells-there is no reasous why the four additional belis should not be made upon simular lines to the old-and the necessary adjustments in tune carried out to the old bells, but, on the other hand, if the authorities particularly wish to have an entirely new set of bells, there can only be one way of saving the exising bells, viz.. by parchase for installation elsewhere. This would prosent some rlificuliy. i.e.. in fonding a church to fake thero.
If the Coventry anthomties wish to lave an entirely new peaj, could lhey be nersuaderi to store their existing bells untill another liome is found for them? An aznomnement could then be made in the Churcl? papers, end even in promineot thaily papers, to bring the bells before the public.
In the opinion of the experts, both ancient and modern, these bells are amongst the finest in the countiry. William Shipway, tha great experi on ringing. writing over 100 years ago, pats them wiff St. Peter Mnncuft, Forwich; York Minster, Painswick, Gloucester mhd Westbury, Tilts.

\section*{THE CRITICISMS OF 'CRITICUS. \\ CENTRAL COUNCIL DELAYS-CARILLON 'MENACE'LICHFIELD RESTRICTIONS,}

We have now been able to read what our loarned lerislators had to say when the Ringers' Marliameni, met at Chwsen, hud I think most of us have found in tre repart something to interest us. 1 am nol one of thase who have never seen any good in hiae Central Council. Trus, 1 do not think they have always spent thair time profitably in the interests of ringing, alloough they may liave had quite a good time among themselves; but I must say this, I ant quile convinced that in the fast few years there lias heon a well-inientioned efort to do good by the Exercise. Folk may ask: ' What Luve thoy done that is thelter or worse (aceording to the point of riew) that anything they did before? Well, I atm not sure that 1 cond define exfectly wherein 1 see the improvement, yet ane feels that wlat lats been done in recent years has been of practical ase to the Lawercise.
"Lus moting at Clsester, however', has mplasised what, to my mind. is one groat drawhack under which ine Council suFiers, and thar is the slow pace at which it is compelled to move. In any mathor which is deferred, at least a year must elapse before any further step can the taken. For instance, the report of the Nomenclature Gomminte could not be debated because it had not been previonsly published. Result-discussion adjoumed for a year. Fhe Thules and Decisions require overlisuling so the Council of 1924 decidet. In 1925 the maHer is referred to the Literature and Press Commitee-Chougls how in the word this comes within theiv province one canoot imugine. In 1926 they will probatly report-if the Council is lucky. (Thore lave been tinies when the Council has had to wait for years for a report from this committee.) Next year the repart, if presented. will prohaty br deferred natik it has been published, if precedent be iollawed. In 1927 it will be discussed, and, perliaps, adjourned for anmendment; in 1928 it will be presented in final draft, and ordered to he printed; iu 1929 (perhaps) 'Rules and Decisions, Revised, will come from the Press. This may be an exaggerated view to tako, and I may be too pessinustic, but it is the style of thing to which we have heon aceustoned from the Council

Then there is the Methods Committee. Fon lang is it since they reported they wore almost ready to print their collection of plain Major Methods? The delay in this case tuas bemen different beenuse of the Literafure Canmittee's past procrastination, but these longdrawnont afiairs are the vory things which make ringers, who only look at the surface of things, exclaim: 'The Clowncil trevet roes anydoing. Perlaps y aught, in justice to them, to sar that they have heen ugi fud doing-cloing a second time what had already once been slonre, In the course of this year, therefore, we onght to hawe this new Collection of Major Methods, ann?, despite the wiem expressed by ane momber, I believe it will be welcome to the whole Fxercise. The sixhell Collection not only sold well, but the scores of mothods liere been mung. Why, then, should not the Major methods 'go' equathy as well: Even if thes are not all rumg, at leasi ringers will desire fo place the Collection in their "Library, hut given, say, twenty years, I how little doubt that someone will have rumg most, if not all of then. Methods aro much more likely to be rung when they are jn a puthisloct collection than when they appear ic isolaterl issues of a newspaper. For one thing. unless a ringer makes a point of collecting methois for himself, he loses sight of these new prorluctions, and when the time comes that he might perlanpa make use of tham, he cannot readily pat his hand mpon them, and so dions not hother. If. howerer. le lias these methods on his librart shelf. where they ate readry at a moment's nolice, he is muels move likely to fir interested in them, and they are bronght out for practical use nil the first opporIunita I certainly to not sgree that the selpelion of methods whicls

Ry ilse way, when is the Council going to set uti ils History Cammittee, or appoint an historian? Many men liave dipped into this branch of research, and there is in exisionce a considerablo quanlity of material which needs collecting. Even if nolling further could be done, a dironological record of all peals thal lave been remga so far as they ean be tracea, might well he compitex and placed in the Council's Libary. Then there is the collection of all exiuting methorls and peal compositions, so that they can he marle into a readr meams of felerence for those who rome after and who. having found what they think to he s new melhod or peal, can turn to this file to teal the originality of their werk. Mang writerv Tifve turper that fliss ahonlel be done. Fut up to now the Council has taken to action. In ihese cult fo find men with sufficient leisure to undertake tasks of this kind, tant I think the Council oughe to make an efforl to do something. The longer these inatiers are delaved, the more diffiruli will be the tast when il is puti in hand. In the case of peal records, old paners may be destrnyed or pass into the hands of those whin bave no interest in fluem, or, indeed, may not even understand then. Compositims, wr of peals published and having to be withdrawin becane of a prior right of atthotship. This position is likely to get worge rather than improve, because as composors pass awhy, there will be no one to uphola their claims. 1 ann quite sure there are already ctases of young composers claming eredit for figures which were produced years ago by some of the oider masters. They lase no piratical intentions, but, withonl any exhansitve monns of ascortaining whether their compasitions are new, they exanine the limited number that ate at their dis. posal, and, finding nathing like their freslı production, naturally eltitn their lundiwork as original.
Nany ringers must have been gratified at the timely uppeal made ty The Kinging World' to save Coventry bells, if possible. Whether the seheme suggested for breaking up this famous ting is to be persisted in or not I da not know-it will be mare than a pity if it isbut I look upon this proposal as constituting a serious preceden Fitherto nugmentations of bells in this country lawo been by wry of extending riags on lines which will enable a wader practice of our elal English art. If, in fubure, there is to be a tendency to expand tha mumbers of bells in ordor that they nay be chimed as carilons, it is going to be a serious menace to the Exercise. If the ten at Covadtry are to be converted into fourteen meroly for tunc playing, some day, when anothor of our lamons rings needs restoration, there will he pleaty af people ready to udvocuto the stabstilution of tho carillon for tho ringing peal, raj thas other bells may he last to us. Coventry, wiih all ils pectalinvities and special circumatanees, may be but the thin end of the welge. We cannot expect our bell founders to turn down good orders, whether they are for sings or carillons. At that eame bine, it is to be hoped they will not lose sight of the fact that the ' brend and cheese , of theit iadustry is the maintenance and extension of church belis used in tie English and not in the continemtal fashion. Rather than arsuing as to whether it is adrisable or atherwise to innrease peals of eight into peals of ten, the Central Council might well turn their attention to passing a motion deprecating the conversion of peals of any mumber into carillons. The Exoreise will, I am sure, await with spmething more than interest and information as io whether the Councit have done anyiling in regard to Cowentry. Their interforence, of course, miglu not be acceptable to the people of St. Michael's, but as representatives of threse of the bell foumding firms are, T believe, members of lowers and Belfries Commitee who, presumably, would have to deal with this mafter, there aught not to be serious diffentty in bringing the two parties into tonch, hecrase one mighl lay considerable orlds that ote of the three frms with bo entrusted with the Coventry joh.
Talking of bell founders, I read the other das for the first lime of - The Ancient ansi Honourable Company of Bell Founders.' curveri to me that those founders had been hiding their light undor a bushel, for though I thotreht, ] knew somofhing about the gentlemen who make and bang onf chatreh bells, this was the first time I liad evel heard of theil heing bound up in one of those old companies which are charactertistic of the ciric life of London. I lian only taken ur and opened ibe hook casmally, and my eyes alighted on this lime alowit the founders, but nalurally I was templed to read on, and I gasped when I saw that they liad 'invited deaigns for a chapel to he erected in memory of the founder of their arphan schools at Longfields.' Then I realised that I had gni hold of a wark of fiction, but, of course, I read on. What tickled me most was this littie spepeli: " Father is a once a penc, and is in a bad temper for a week aftervards, through over-eatinet and maling a long, dull speech." I wonder if out famous men of the foundry will confirm this? I believe, from all I krow: that leell founding. when you are in a hig way of basiness. involves something mole than a dinner and a kpecely once a year: I helinve they sometimes calat bolls; it may \(b_{0}\) only in their spare time, but they really do make bells ins well as speeches, and undertake higeotitracls as well as big diuners, Inn'i it funny lhat, whonever anything gets into print ahout bells, it is nearly always to give the piblic a topsy-tursy impression of the facts.
All clergy are not lovers of hella. That is a misforlume, hut it is doubly unfortunale whon their flislite prewents bells heing rang. Ringer's unast lanve read with somm surprise of the attitude of the

In may last arlicle (Febutary 20th, 1925), I described Gonstractional shants. Evory methor wibl treble and workng bells contains one of these shunts. Many methods contan Lwo or mare. They are the framework on which che method is buill. In arethods which have Bob Major Lead Buds, they alone produce the fead with irregulav not tronble ourselves at wis moment wods these shunts produce the whale work of the method; for insinnce, the fifteen Major Methods deserilued recently in the ' Ringing World,' Thit many methods, and particulatly those on the Treble Bob principle, contain other wark, and that work is called additiona! shunts. Ar anditional shunt is at cyelical movement oan number of the work ing bella less than the total number. Perbaps I can best explain their nature by eleseribing of familiar and simple example. We will tuke the places in \(3-4\) in Kent.
34 The places in Kent are are a complete launting course or two 34 bells, which is sulsititited for the regular dodging of the 43 melhod, for the purpose of preventing repetition of rows. Now 43 notice that we have liere a complete round block; and, secondly, that it is made quite independenily of the work of parts of the course.
If you plense you can omit it in one lend; excent for repelition of rows lla holls go on as before. Or you can transter it to 5-6 or 7-8; cxoept that you get different rows, the bells, go on as before. Bul if you alter or onit any of the places in the slow work, be it ever so litlie, the whole structure of the method collapses.
In this example, the affitional shunt is begun and completed sitnipht away. lhat it, need not be so. In Oyford the shunt is begun when the freble is dodging in \(1-2\) up; it is not completed till she is dodging in \(1-2\) dawn. Fet the two parts make one complete independent. Whole. Compare this with the Bobs in a Q-sel. 42356, 34256 and 23456 are 8 Q-set of Bob Major or Landon Surprise. They may oome as three successive Bots in three successive courses; but they may corre at witely parbed peals in the peal. Yet they make one compleie Q-set.
Here is one furlier example of and additional shment:-
\begin{tabular}{cc}

A is Double Oxfrar Boli. It is produced br the following constructional whunts:

1 Extreme Before.
1 Extreme Belind.
4 R. Court Shunts.
Thrse constructional shants cause continued dodeing from the time the irmbe leaves the front until she refurns. Trislead of the doriging on the front four hells, from the fiftl to the eleventh change. We subslitute a complete round hlock of lackwood hunting. thus:-

If nppoars to be different in the diocese of Ticlifield, when mot even a horls of charel workers can say. "Here, at nur Mother Church, we are nlways welnome.' What wonld he said if the boot were on the allar font; if the Dentr was proud of his bells and slesired them rung lor some great annal festival, and ringers bumet round and said, 'Tos, we will ring them for you this year on enndifion that fou don't akk us to do so next '? The ringer's would probably get "Ilws sack "norl would deserve if.

CRITTCDS.

Directly ithe additional simmt is completed the bells pich up the same rows as the original method. Al! I said about the anditional slunt of Kent upplies to this one.
These are simple examples, and I clo not propose now to po into more complex cases. Not all are completa hunting courses; but all are cyctical movements. Here is a useful one: When the constructional shuats give six changes of continued dodging, suhstitute for it three changes of forwatd hunting, followed by three chaurees of backwart junting. Thus:-
\begin{tabular}{lr}
5678 & 5678 \\
6587 & 6587 \\
6877 & instearl of \\ 8678 \\
8675 & 8587 \\
6857 & 5678 \\
6587 & 6587 \\
5678 & 5678
\end{tabular}

The uses of rdditional shunts are as follows:-
1. In melhots on the Treble 13obs Principle to prevent repetition of rows, as in the cases of Kent and Orford.
2. Te introduce a greater variety of work ilan is produced by constructional shunts alone: as in the case of Donble Orford and its variation given above.
3. Pa remove certain hlemishes which would otherwise prevent some of the constituctional slunt's beirg used in finished mothods.
For instanee:-
\begin{tabular}{ccc}

\hline 16482735 & 16482735 & 16482735
\end{tabular}

Q is producal by the following construetional slunta:Two R. Court Shunts
One 4-bell Slow Work Slumt.
This Intter causes gomo of the bells to lie still for fo considerahle time.

In \(D\), continuous dodeing on these hells is substituted, aud we have method fit to ring.
In \(E\), this is further altered by an arditional ahunt sjailar to that in example 13.

\section*{CHEAPER RAILWAY FACILITIES?}

The question of cheaper travelling facilities for ringers when going by train, which the atction of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has again brought to the fore, revives a subject which has more than once been under consideration. There was a time, now thirty or more years ago, when ringers of some few societies (the Sussex Association among then) were able to travel individually as wel! as in parties at reduced fares when groing on ringing expeditions. The Central Council then took the matter up with the Railway Clearing House, and, unfortunately, not only were they unsuccessful in their efforts to obtain cheap tickets for ringers in all parts of the country, but the facilities already granted were withdrawn. From time to time since then the subject has been revived, but the railway companies have been unrelenting, and all demands for special treatment lave been turned down.

The advances now made at Bristol have been apparently received in a more sympathetic spirit, locally at all events, but it would be well not to be too optimistic as to the outcome. That ringers can claim to be entitled to privileges equal to those granted to fishermen is hardly likely to be disputed (except perlaps by the railway companies), and it is well worth making a combined effort to achieve what the Gloucester and Bristol Association has in view. Ringers, as a whole, do much travelling in pursuit of their hobby, but for obvious reason they seldom travel in a body between any two points on the railway. As at Oxford on Saturday, they concentrate in one spot in considerable numbers for their meetings, and in this case both the London, Nidland and Scottish and the Great Western Railways granted cheap fares to members travelling to the festival from any station in the diocese. If these two companies can issue tickets at reduced prices ont such an occasion, there is an excellent precedent to work upon in the attempt to gef the facilities made general.

This, however, is a case in which the associations ought to act together, either collectively or simultaneously. To attempt to do the thing piecemeal may result in the first application being refused, with the result that those which come alter will be treated likewise. We would suggest that the Gloucester and Bristol Association should organise this approach to the companies, and not trust to chance action being taken on the strength of the letter which appeared in our last issue. The Oxford Guild happened to be meeting on Saturday, and promptly decided to take action, but some of the associations will not meet until the early months of next year, and unless something is done to induce their executives to move in the matter it may vither be too late or be entirely for－ sotton by the time these societies meet．Having got the ear of their Distriet Superintendent，the Bristof organisers should be in the best position to put other association officials into the mosk likely track for acheving the desired result，but there ought to be a common plan a action．The Central Council，through its Standiay Cum－ mittee，would doubtess lend its weight to any scheme for bringing the assoniations together，and if it comes on sending a deptutation to either the general managers or some other persons represtating the various companies， the Council，ats the lyat of the ringing organisations of the country，should be officially represented．But what is most urgently needed at the moment is that all assoriat tions should get into line and nake common cause with Gioucester and Bristot．

On Saturday, July 11bh, a rery pieasant mesting of the Midsomer Norton Deancry branch was lield at Chilcompton. Ringing before the servieg consisted of Grandsite Doubles anal 1lain Bol Priner. The service was taken by the Rer. L. G. Keldhley, of Farmborough, who ofliciated, iv the unavoidable absence, through illoess of the grosident, the lRev. A. N. Bax. of Radstock. Tea, for which the ringert were indebted to M1: Bailey, then took place. The business meeting followed, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Litton on October 10 th.

Furliet ringing then took place, the additional melhods being Single Courl, Kent Treble Bob and Siadnatn. A welcome visitor was Mr. Bailey, of Farcham, Hants, who happened to be in the district.

\section*{LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.}

A most successful quarterly meeting was beld at Llantwit-Major on Salurday, June 2"th, when a number of ringers from both diocescos attended. The bells, a ring of sis, recast some few years ado, were raised and sung in difterent methods until 4.50 , when a seryice was Following the selvice, tea, which liad boen most generously provided, was parlaken of. Then followed the business neeting, presided over by Mr. G. E. Kibblewhite (lay reader of Lantwit), in the absence of the Canon, who was condueling a party of stufents from Aberystwyth College through the chareh. The minuten of the previous meeting were read, and befere any lusiness was done the Honorny Semetary moved a vote of mondalenco willit the ralatives of two af the oldest associntion members, who had decently passed away, namely, Mr. Wilinm Biss and Mr. William Coombes, which was passed by all present sanding in silence for a fow moments.
Instructors' reports werc accepted. and also the reports of the representatives to the Central Council meeting at Chester. It was arranged to hold the next quarterly Glamorgnn meeting at Pendoglan. Two or three very intercsting items were reported on proposed restorations and augmentations.

With regard to the late Mr. W. Bliss, who has left a widow nud several children, the best ftinks were aceorded to Mr. S. Dawe for the Kinduess he has shown by appealing to all wowers affiliated to suhb scribe somelhing on their belalf, and it is most grarifying that a substantial sum has been sutasoribed, which will be handed over to Mrs. Bliss by Mr. Dawe. New members were elected, and-included a dozen young laands belonging to Lluntwit, who lave recently learned to hancle a bell, can just manage rounds and propose learning ringing, the association promising to give evory assistance. Votes of Lhanks were heartily aceorded all those nt Llantwit for their kindness and help. The Canon risiter the meeting just at the close, and was delighted to learn that his hells would soon be ppt into change ritging. The bells weve afterwards rung during the evening.

In connection will the Jubilee celebration of the restoration of St. Martin's. Rirmjogham, guch service rimging lag been done by the St. Martin's hand. The thanksgiving services began on Saturday evening, and the bells were zung for an hour and an half. In addition to the usual Sundsy morning service ringing, the bend rang for ovensong, and again for a special service afterwards, when the ringing was broadcast from the Birmingham station of the B.B.C.

It is gratilying to see that . The Morning loost, protests against the recasting of Covenaly bells; it wis hetter io notice the general tenor of its remarbs. Athouglı-so we may summarise them-althaugh we have several limes coptessem our aypioval of carillons, that docs nol acan we prefer thm to ringing peals. On the contrary, ns a gement cule we think the later ere the best. And that, I think is the general opinion. Fuglish people as at whate are by no means ansions or willing that onv ringing lwells slould he displaced by carilions.
Still we must realise that these is n mumber of genllemen-well informed, enthasiastic, painstaking-who are eloing their utmost by writing and speaking to prochim tho udwatuges of fartlons and to create in populan interest in thera, with considerable success. Further, although there is a professorship of campanotogy in one of the sunalles modern universilies, it is concerned solely with earillan musis, and takes not the elightest notice whatevel ot change ringing. The whole tendency of these people's efforts is to cucate a popalar impression that the carilon is a far nobler thing than the ringing peal, and carillan piaying an mfinitely superion art to ehange riuging. They do not indeed say nowlhing melually rgainsi. out Paglish rinying. Theiry nttitude is that if is well enongin in its way, but ilat the other is much the better. ] have heard D3r. Stancer, he most acoomplistad and learned of the urijllon atroctates, sty flat he loves to hear our English betls, hut hat, of conrse, ther are non nutsic; and he phanly infers that no one who knows anylling aliond the matten would or condr] possibly pull change ridging in tha asmo category as carillon musie. What we have io consider is this. Asaminng lhal these ideas are untcontradicted and becone popular, there is the possibility that anthorities will be persuadel? to rut up small marillons instead of ringing peals; and exch, as in a case like, say. Liverpool [athedral, instal a full carillon insteat of heary rimging penl. You will say that the cost is prohibitive. But not necessarily sa. Thaly, only once in a while cau such a get as that lately put up at longhborongh. or that recently sext to New Fork, be afforded. But our modern boll founders have learng the arto of casting good simall bells, and a carilion of \(a\) dozen or so smali bells: the largest, ahoui linlf a ton, woulth not cost more than a morlerately-sized peal of eight. Aymeen that ambitiong carillon masic coutd not he playen on such aset: but a larta namber of nils of the hymn tune raricty, mabitious enough for the class of carillonneur likely to be arailable could bu piayed.
There are qutte sufficient peonle anoug churel authorities to whom this would appeal if once it became tha fashion.

We, the Faxcise, onght to have ond answel ready. We must sny debidedfy, and with conviotion, that thonglt onvilhons are magnifeent things in their way, and under some circumstances, yet the ringing peal is far greater. Clange finging is the nobler arb. And that while carilion music is a very vestricted foten of music. linglish bell ringiug is, in its sphere, perfect.

These are boid statements, but they can he justified, and justifierl not merely from the standpart of a clange ringer, but from the standpoint of the outsider. The carillon chaims to be music, and must, thevefore, the judged by comparison witl other forms of music. Fers weli, compare it with other instramenis-lhe organ, the fiolin, the piand, the laman voien-in one respecbonly can it be farouralily compared. It can he heard at greater disthancos. In everything olso, in rariety of tone, in range, in exprossion, it is altogether inferiar, An avenge oreanist can give you vesults that the most expert carillanHewr cannol athempt. And when you consider ihe cost of the instrument, the comparison should be witl a full orehestra. How will il cauntenance that comparison?

As for the small cerillon with ifs single air without hamony or accompaniment, who was it tliai sad it reminded him of a 'daft' giant trying to pick out hyma thates with one finger an a Brobdingoagian pinmoforte?
The ringing peal does not clam to be music, antion ellenges no sumb comparisons- But it has a unique power of appealing most profoundly to the lisfoners' heing and menoty. Nat, of cotrise, in every lisfener, nor at all times in any listener. Nay, the listener js lardly divectly conscious of the effect, and vel jt is there. A thing thad can do this sure ly is entitled to belong to true art.
A rery striking illustration of this is related by A. W. Kinglake in a hook of travels in line East, which lie callerl "Eothen." It was pab lished in the middle of the laks centary, and is reckoned a claspie of its kird. Ho way travoling on a camel across the degert from Gama to Caito, end on the fifth day, having closed hig eqee agatust ithe glaru of the sun, he slowly fell asleep. For low many minutes or mo ments I cannaf tell-mbut affer a while was gentiy awakened peal of church bells-my zative bells the innocent bells of Marlen that oever before sent forth their music beyond the Blaygen hills! My first idea naturally was that I still remaiod fast under the power of a drearn. I roused myself and drew asjin the silk that covered row eyes and plunged my hare face into the light. Then at last \(\bar{f}\) was well awamen, but still these olfi Marlen bells rant of, not ringing for joy, but properly. prosily, steadily, merrily ringing "for chnging

Atter a while the somb died nway slowly; it happened that neither J now any of ciy party hasl a wateh by which to mensure the exaet time of ats insting, but it, semmed to me that about tom minates lad passed before the beds exased. i attridubed the effech to the great Jicat of the sun, the perlect atryess of the chear air through which I movet, nut the deep stilluess of all monnd me; it seemed to the that these causes, by occasioning at great femsion atud comsequend susegutibitity of the hearing orgatm, hut rendered then liable to tingle mader the passing menory that masi lapa swept notuss jny brain in of moa vertical sun in the minst of the wide ocean, lias listoned jutrembling nonder to the phine of his own village bells.

The explanation is a reysonable one, buf you mote that it is that bells, fhat strike the sublle chard, not the village chois', nor any of the many alher soumls lhat memory might hava associaled witjo tha listener's mative place.

Wht it miny be objected. ' He If so, that does not afloet the prosent argument. The illusion would have luem just the same whedher the bells were ringing penj or maillon.' I fon not tiank so. ] ithink this peculina power *in onr bolla is langely due tha lise facting there is no musical air in jinging. Where you have a definte then, the conschum torain lans something ha nppreciale and anderstanh. In thange rinto ing flate is nothing alubite to listen lo. Tllnere are bal, vague suggestions, gnd the listener is that inwards lo his own soml and being. The masthelic effect of ehange rimging is momes entirely subjective, and not objective. Thus, goopte falk mbout bells ringing anurily for th know luat nll ringing actually ig the anme. It is the listener who sup plim the dilferonce.

It is, of conrse, true tiat all plousing joarticulate sound las to some extent this character. For instanco, the broaking of werwes on ille sese share, ar the soughing of tho wind amotng lhe troes. They appeal to people just because the sonnd lizs no meaning of its own, axcil ean, therofore, suggest such a varieh of jedens to those that liear them. Jush so the genge of smatl, the vaguest and mosi indeffute of all tho senses is by tar the anosk patent in stimulating the memory.
And of nill jnarticulate solurls thaf of at hell lias this qualily the mosb. T remember sonte vears age talking wilh the date Mr. . I. Wr, Paylor, He had just been ta Paris, and om liss way back lie shoppend at Ronal to lear the great helt there. I asked him what he thougtif of it, and lis roply was: "It made me fonl religions," Much the same thing is expresed by Niltod, where lie says:-

Ous 4 plat of fisire Eroumal,
T hear the far-afi curiew solini,
Over some witle watered shore
What the sizgle bell crin do, the ringing peal can do fal hoider. Buł you nre to notice that the effect does mot rlepend to any extent nat the quality of the bells or the ringing. We mll lase fripmos who have told us of such and suefi bells. Haci we lieard them? They were simply the unique power of the ringing peal.
We ringers are almost the last people to whom hells will ampel in Lhis way We have too many active interests in them. We are khinking alout whe line of the luells, the quality of the ringing, the particular method. We are listening for course enels and hobs, amd get onr full enjoyment out of change ringing but we incwitally mied its most suthlle cliatrm.

\section*{"TO PAY OR NOT TO PAY.'}

Dear Sir-I read from time to time flie complaints of Guild officials and various comments on this momentous question, and am convinced thiat the only remedy is for the harassed officials to Lable a list of names ab the anmual mecting of all defaulters, and then to resign an bloc and touch no businoss mutil the arrears are paid up in full. It is cerlian binat the members who buve the welfare of the Gibid at hoart would soon bestir themselves to compel the defaultors to pay up and save their faces, which are butly in noed of a litte "saving grace.'. Howover a ringor can allow himself year by fear to romain on the roll and fing peals and make no effort to pas the paltry one or twa shillings per annum passes one's comprehension! Less than one halfacmy per weok, for which he receives bonefits in the shapo of (in many cases) a voluminous repart, a few free feeds and the honour of union with a decent Guid. Then he expecis all lis Gisild offeials to work many hours per year arranging mectings, teas. peals and what woi. for nothing; lie grumbles, to boot. if he, individually, is not suited by the fare put up for his delectavion; has the impudence ta promise to pay one halfpenay per week, and is too idle or thoughtless or void of honour to carry out his promise. An Finglishnan's word was the foumfation stone upon which our great. Empire was toilt. Where one's Guild is concemed it is monderful low things chiry on so well with such lists of dofaulters. So pay up and look big, my mervie men, and slow your compers that, you are worthy of your place among them, for, as things sland just now, your principles are too mieroscopic to cast a shadow. \section*{WORK TO BE PUT IN HAND.}

The Oxford Diocesat Guild laving been entrusted with the task of erecting a suitable memorial to the late Mr. James William Waslibrook, the special committee appointed to deal with the sułject presuntod a report at the Oxford Guild ramual mecting last Salurday, when it was resolved to place the ander for two bells to increase the ring of eix in the tower of 'St. Ebbe's Churela th a peal of eight, and erect a comanmocalive tablet.
Hho Master (tho LRev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) presented the repart, which wis as follows:-

At the last annal meoling held in Reading, it was decided to erect in Oxford some ftling memarial to tho late \(\}\) rmoes W. Waslutook, and to invite contributions towards ithis from all Guihds, Associations, and Ringing someties, and from personal friends, It was further resolred that, if possible, the memorial should iako the form of gugmenting the ring of siz bolls in the tower of cither Sit. Ebbe, St. Giles, or Carfax. A special comaittee was appointed to deal with the inatter, consigting of the Master, Hon. Treasurer, Hon. Secrelary, Crnon Coleridge, Mussrg. A. D. Cullum, H. Miles and W. F, B. Wilkins. 'lhis comintite was instructed to make the necessary inquiries, to decile upon a scherne, and to issue an appeal for funds wherewith to carry it out.
lu considering tho suggested lowers, the committee ruled out Carfux, chiofy but nol enlirely, because it is not a church tower; and work that would be necessary, and finally decided upon St. Ebbe, because the angmenting of this musical little ring appeared to be in all sespects a scheme whichi would give the best value for the maney which they expected would be at their disposal. Favourablo reports were received from Mr. Hughes, of the Whiteclapel Foundry, as to the casting of bells good enough to be trobles it such a light ring: from Mr. White, whose firm relang the six bells some years ago, as to the practicability of putting the bells in the lower; and from Hr. Ci. H. Philiott, M. A.A., as to the structure of the towot and the plans for lianging the bells.

The sum of EL70 was named as a rough estimate, and an appeal wes issued 1froughont the Exercise for the raising of this sum to augment the rimg at St. Ebbe's; it was added that should contributions be in the sum required a larger scheme might, be cousidered.
Hue result of this appeal we lave in hand \(£ 160\). In addition to this, the Laneashire Association, who approached us firsh of all on this matter, bave informed us we may count on then for feol and we hare a few olher promises of smaller amounts. Mr. White's revised estimate is 5155155 , and we catculate that the cost of a decent commemorntive tablet abd sundry fees and expenses wifl luring the total up to \(\leq 190\).
Ithe committeo feel that inancially and otherwiso the Washbrook Memorial Scheme, as described, is a saund one, and they recommend the Guild, if thustees for those who, throughout. the land, value the tucnury of thig areatest of ringers. to accept Mr. White's estimate, and 1o authorise the nork at St. Fbhe's to ho put in band
The Naster added that Mr. White had sain thant whem lie began to do the work he might find one or two things it was impossible to foresee prow, which would require to be done and he intended, if so, to tho them. The eommittee felt that Mf. White slould not be allowed to hee out of pocket to buch an extent, if such additional work should prowe necessary (hear, heari). They would not fave much more money thaglat thay would have enough to do the work well. He proposed Canontion of the report.
Canon G. F. Coleridge seconded The committee, be said, had gone into the matler with very great care, and came to the conclusion embonicd in the report. At ihe heginning he was, ha admitted, very pessimistic over the matter; he did not think they would raise anything like that amount of money. He knew Mr. Washbrook as a little hoy at St. Thomes's Schools, He rememhered that, with Tohn Jaggar, who lueame well known Jater at Burton-on-Trent. James Wakhbrook, as a lad, used to climb up hy the iry to get inte the tower and practise pulling a bel| witlo tied clapper: because they felt they mhonld emulate the deeds of the nuembers of the Oxford University He (Oanon Coleythe) seen shruggling to ring six-scores of Grandeire. he (Ganon Colefilgel recognised that there were Ln-dav a large number of ringers growing up. who knew nothing about Mr. Washbrook, and he thought that armong the few older anes who did know him, wnow limet, it was. He did not fhink they could wan delighted to put anonce the selame contained in the report.
Replying to Mr. C, Mapre. the Master said it, was frue there were away two trehles at St. Fhbe's Church, and that they were taken away hecause they wore unworthy of the proment six. They were given to other churches in the pariof.

\section*{ANNUAL MEETING VENEE DISCUSSYD AGAIN.}

The amnual festival of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was heid at Oxford on Saturday, and was favoured with brilliant summer weather. There are many atirachons for ringers at the University city, and the mecting was attended by over 150 members, well representalive of the thre counties, of which the diocese is enmprised. In view of tire feeling which las existed for some few years past on the subject of the place of mecting for this annual event, and the argument used that tho dombant power in voting is with the district in which the meeting is heli, it was extromely interesting to note that a slow of hands revealed that at the lunchicon, wheih followed the business meeting, there were 57 members present from tho Counfy of Berks, 75 from Bucke, and only 25 fram Oxfordshire.
Tlie procecdings hegan with a service in the Cathedral at 11.15, at which an outstanding feature was the hearty singing. "Plie preacher was 较 Fen. R. Wickham Legg (Arehdeacon of Berks), whose practirai address was much appreciated. A collection wits made for the Waslibrook Memorin Fund.

The Clapter Fouse was flled to its utmost capacity for the businespi meeting, which, fespito the expeditious mannet in which the agenda was dcalt with by the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), who presided, Insted close an two hours. The Master was supported by Archueacon Lemg. Canon G. F. Coleridge, Rev. W. J. Palmer, Rex. R. H. Hard-Davis, Mv. A. J. Wright (hon. treasiler), and Mr'. R. I'. Hibbert (secretazy)
The Masier Girst made reference to the great loss which the whale diocese, and, therefore, the bell ringers of the diocese, lad sustamerd by the death of Bishop Burge. He newer was able to prench fo the Guid, but that was not hecause be was not willing or was not anken to do 60 , but always, at that time of year, lis engagements preventod lim From ding so, for he was not only Bishop of the Diocese, but a man fremendously sought after in Fingland, end, inceed, all over the worlif. They were fortunate fo linve liad him as their Bizhop; he was heart and snul in sympathy with the Guild. ayd was sluays anxious to know how the work was going on. He \{the speaker) askeci those present ta stand in silence for a fow moments to mark their respect.
This laving heen llone, the Master said the new Bishop was formerly Dean of Christ Church, and as Dean be was very helpful and sympathetic when their meetings were held ithere, and the Guild would offor him a very hearty welcome whenover he came among fhem (applanse).
The Master then proposed a vole of thanks to the Dean of Clirish Chureh for his welcome, and for allowitg them to hold their servima in the Cathedral, jor the use of the Chapter Honse and the hall adjoining, nnt for gllowing them io ping at Christ Church. He also Thanforl the organizt, whose playing they much enjoyed, and thed thanked the preacher. \section*{RESTORATION WORK.}

The Master's repori was presented as foilows. and adopted, on the mnition of Mr A. D Cullnm. seonder by Mr. W. Sear:-
The Guild is an the whole going forward, though it may he bul slowly: If ground is gained in one quater, there is too often a lose to be reporfed in another, and atill there remain many pations of this great unwieldy diocese where if has no footing. But the branches are for the most part vigorotis, mand that is the great Irope. It is for them to make it known that the Guila is a pood thing. Thanks shiefiy to Mr. Barter, the Fast Berks and South Bucks Branch has made a splendid recovery. The peal list is nol a long one, but I do mot think jt is necessarily the worse for that. \section*{'THE NORTE OF ENGLAND TOUR.}

So long ago as Whitsum, 1924, it was my privilege to be introduced Lo a party of tingers from the North, and to lieal then ring London Surprise Major (double-handed) to the ancientr \({ }^{2}\) Coffee Pot, London. Another younger member of the Gofton famity was also net, later in the year, who added his weight to the general welcome to the Dutyam and Noweastle district, offered to our parts whenever it was bonmenient to amass the men, money and the minuter for this Lrip.

The opporemily to explore the tovers in the meighbornhood of Whitleg Bag came to hand most propitiously in June, owning to a proposal by Notfoik and Kend; men to spend a week in Ferlfordshire falling to the ground. Eventually six men front the London disbrict dentited to make the plunge and were joined at the " far end by Messes. Jenkins ani Shepherd.
On arrival ati the Central Station it was fonm that illness prevonted atlempt No. 1 at Gosforth (10). but that Whitley Bay woula be aquilable instent, and that two rings at Hartlepool ( 8 and 10 bells) were kindly allotited us in place of Gatesheat, ilus completing a lish of twolve towers for our use in the counlies of Durlam and Northataberland.

The Ringing Worta " las alreary given parlicuiave of the ten successes, the same number and of similar minture to those ruat daring the Norfolk tour last June. when 14 attempts were made,

On Monday afternoon a peal of Superlative Surprise Major was altempted, but two bells became transposed at haff-way, and Conftactor' Jenkins callod 'stand.' On Wednesday afternoon, ab Soutib Shields, there was 70 minules' minutes for a peal of Stedman Triples, which got ots of order, On Friday ous affort to ring Stedman Triples al Monkseaton lasted lmo hoursand ten minutes, with Mr. Parkes as conductor. On Sunday a visit was paid to the Gofton "Thantbell Belfry," a modern hat, and here London. Superlatipe and Double Nomvict Major, as well as Stedman Caters and Cinques, were happed with much precision.
CROXDCN, SURREY (ST. JOHN TEE BAPIIST'SI. OUTIXO.
On Saturday, July 11th, the ringors of the abore church, accompanied by their wives aud friends, hetd their anaual outring. Worthing was reached in time for breakfast, after which a wisit was piad to the old-world village of Tarring. The towerkecper was awaiting the party, lence the bells were soon going to the tane of Grandsire Doatbles, followe by Treble Boh Mimor. On deecending from the tower the company was met by the Vicar (the Rev. C. Lee), who was at Clarish, Clureli, Croydon, some jeare ago
Dinner was enjoyed in Worbhing, after whith a wisit was paid to St. Botolpli's Churehi, Heenc. Here several of the lacal bend were met also Mr. White, of Thnbridge Mrels, and Mr. Growes of Brightan. Touches of Stedman, Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich Major and a course of Cambridge weve mang. This concluded the day's ringing. ant the porby look tea in Worthing. Tarious amusements were afterwards enjoyed. Much regret was felt at the unatvoidable absence of the "skipper". Mr. A. W. Clark, and all erodit is clut to Mrs. Clark for the commendable way in which slie made the day such a success. Hearty thanks are due to the Ficars of both churches for permission to use their bells; to the towerkeepers and ringers who helped the proceedings.

A combinct outing of the Exeter Cathedral, Hearitree, and st. David's bands took place on Saturday. July Ilth, to fle distriet on the Somerset and Dorset border. Ilminster wit the first stop, and here the party found a line sing of eight. Some good ringing was done. South l'etherton, with its octagonal central tower, was reached. Bells and filtings all require athention, and it was ooly with difficully that three of four bouches could be brought round. Yeovil was next visited. where a Carnival Day, in aid of the local bospital. involred delay of nearly one hour.

After lunch, with a few of the local ritgers. the musical ring of ten was raised, and some woll-struck touches of Grandsire and Sbedman Cakers rung, and some Triples on the hack eight.

Arvived at Sherborne, the next balt, tho beatiful Abber Chureh was pisitma Here is a grand old ring of cight, but the langing is far from what it migh- be. Under adverse conditions, the ringing

\section*{OXFORD GUILD'S 'BONE OF CONTENTION.'}

The position of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, revealed at the annual meeting, must have been gratifying to the members, and reflected credit upon the officials of the society. Numerically and financially the Guild has gone ahead, and there are signs that the leeway which developed in one part of the diocesan area is being made up. For some few years the 'bone of contention' in the Guild has been the holding of the festival annually at Oxford instead of moving it into the three Archdeaconries in turn. It has been argued time and again that in such a big diocese it is unfair that the meeting should be held atways at the same place, and there has been much to be said for this view. The subject still agitates the minds of the members; it is the rock upon which the Guild has split, and it still keeps a certain number of ringers in the diocese outside the fold. The annual meeting this year has, however, put a different complexion on the matter. Leaving out of question the advisability of moving the festival from pface to place, it has been urged that Berks and Bucks are muduly handicapped, in endeavouring to bring about the change they are said to desire, when the meeting is always held at Oxford, where, presumably, Oxford members would predominate.
The Guild committee had given the whole question anxious thought, and the matter was discussed by the general meeting this year upon a recommendation that the festival should be held in future in each of the three Archdeaconries in tum. The committee's recommendation was defeated, and the general meeting decided to go to Oxford again next year. On the face of it it looked as if the Oxiord Archdeaconry members had once more swamped the members from the two other counties, but there was a significant revelation later, when, at the luncheon, a count of hands took place, and it was found that, of \({ }_{57} 5\) members present, only 25 were from Oxfordshire, and that Bucks, in which much of the dissent has arisen, was represented by 75 members, Berks sendiny the other 57 . It does not follow that the whole of these members had been present at the business meetiag, and it is certain that they did not all vote, but it is quite obvious that the decision in favour of meeting at Oxford was not decided by the Oxford members alone, and this should remove one of the grounds of discontent.

The last has not yet been heard of this question, but we hope the result of the debate and the figures which were revealed will lead those who are now standing aloof from the Guild to reconsider their position. After all, our guilds and associations ought to mean something to us ; and it is our duty to do what we can for them. They are established for our collective benefit, and if they are to be successful cach member should put his or her best into it; not throw it over when it does not provicle all that was desired or that was expected to be grot out of it, Annual meetings are important, but attendance at them is not the only thing that one joins an association for, and white it is natural that members should desire facilities for making their voices heard in the condust of the business, and share the pleasures which the lestival provides, yet a much more effectual influence is often exerted through other chamels. The fact that the decision at the Oxford Guild anceting was yoverned almost completely by the voting of members fron Berks and Bucks should convince those who have dissociated themselves from the Guild over this question, that Oxfordshite is exerting no undue inthence on accoun of its privileged position as the meeting-place, and, this being so, there is every reason why they should return to the ranks and throw their weight into the scale with those who are seeking to have the festivals held in the different Archdeaconvies in successive years.

\section*{By J. ARMIGER TROLLODL.}

Fifty years or so ago a big attempt was made to popularise the carilhon in England. The leading spirit was a London clergyman, the Rev. Mr. H. R. Haweis. He was a man intensely mterested in music of all types. Ho had wisited Bolgium, heard tho casillons of Antwerp, Bruges, and Malines, and like many another tomrist fell a rictim to their charm. With these he contirasted the 'din and disoord' of English belfries, and henceforth he devoted much time and mucla ability to the task of persuading people at home to adopt Belgian ideas of bells, Belgian mells and Belgian bell music. He achieved a considerable measure of success in creating a widespread, if vague, impression that Belgian hell riuging was samething very mudu superion to our English change ringing, azd in a few instances, owing to bis direct influence, Belgian bells and bariltons were hung in England. Gattistack was one, Boston enother, and Abevdeen a third. A set of Belgian bells was installed by the Duke of Westminster at Enton Hrull, and smallev rings at $1, Augustine's, Kilbun, and Lower Reediug in susser. Name of these was any great success. Whaterer may be the charm of classical carillon ofeAntwerp, Ghent and Malines, it was found that the modern Belgian bells were by no means superior to English bells, and at a time wheu English bell founders were tunting out ralher indifferent liells. Now, of course, Englisla modern bells are acknowledged ithrotighout the world as superior to all others, and one monst aole that many competent people are not disposed to sate even those as befter flian, or even oqual, to the wery best of the older rings.

The fact is that all these excelient people who advocate the superiority of carillon music are extreme partisnos who are quite uanble to judge fairly between English and Belgian bell music. Under holiday coaditions, when thay themselves are properly attuned. they hear Betgian hetls, and they fall under their spell; they think that if only similn carillons coatta be erected at home the same effect would be enjoped. When they come baek to Eugland they are fispleased with out ringing peals, just because they are not the same as the Belgian. Abroad they do nothing but admive and enjoy, hate at home their critical faculties are at once arake. This is strikingly slown hy Mr. Taweis laimself in his book. Dirt, and the presence of rats and mice in the tower of Louvain, strike him as romantic and poetioal. Something similar in England (I do not know about the rats) is clear evidence of sordid neglect.

To give an idea of the style of the book which went far townot formint popular opinions of bells and bell music I give an extuact:-

Willingly I do escape from the din and discord of English belfries Relgium, loring and beloved of bells.
The wind that sweeps orer her campaguas and fertile levels is full of broker hat meloritous whispers.

In Belgimm, day and night are sot to nusic, music on a sealo more colossal than that of the langest orchestra ever heard: musie more penelrating than the laudest frumpet or organ hast. In Belgiom, every seven minutes there is hell music, not only for the whole tomu, Int for the country miles arotnd. Those carilons platiog the same chectful ail every hour throughotit the year at last acquire a strange fascination over one who lives within sight, and learing of some such grey old church as St. Rombaud at Mechlin. The listener has heard them at moments when elated with lope; he was looking forward to the almost immerliate realisation of some long-desired jos, and the melady of the bellig las filled fim with exultation. FIe has leard the same strain rung out in seasons of depression, and his heart lons leapt up at the sound so filled wilh memaries, The bells may have again switien upon his car at the moment when some fragic news has reached him: or out in the felds steeped in yellow sunshine above tho lum of insect ifie, the same tune ling come to lim between the pauses of the summer wind; or deep in his dreams through sleep without nwakeuing him, the bells have somehow minglerl theit old rlythm with his domant faucies until at last their sound becomes so charoed with the incidents and emotions of his life that they atre almost as natuch a. part of him as his memary. When lee comes to leave a town where lie has dwell for some time, he feels as if he had lost a whole side of life; he misses the sound of the friendly bells which always had the power by force of association to call up some emotion concredinl to the moment-the sympathetio bells which semed always equally ready to weep and to rejoice with hinliar as never to be a disturbance-the gentle belts that could, is were, ring aside to themselves when not wanted, nnd yot never failer] to minister to the listering spirit mhonever it stood in need of ineir conplanionship or sympathy
That is fine writing, but can it possibly be tuthe of more than a wery small number of men? And if it is trac, will the effect be the same if pou transplant the bells in & foreign lanrl? The carillon is an institution centuries old in Belgium. It beloags to fle nationality and the life of the people. It will not Ge the same thing elsewhere. They have now got the largest, and, peribaps, the finest, of all carilions in

New Yoth. Will it be possible over lo write of trese bells such as has been quoted above? Can the fine enrillon of the Royal Exchange over aronse any sucle emotions in any of the thousands of people that continually heat it?

Aneriea has no past and no tradition in the matler. Ibut we have our ringing peals and our change ringing. rhoy ate as mach rootod in the mationat character and as much a pat' of the national bifo as the carillon is in Belgimm. The enotional and resthetic appeal that arade by thom. Whether the atillon or chadace ringing be in joself the finer thing is, atter all, not to the point. The fruth is that the carillon is Belgimu, but change ringing is Englisla.

But ol thes the advoctes of the carillon are atberly fghorant. They do zot madersmmal the dange ringing they aficet to despise. Still less do they underatand the change ringel. Listen once more to Wr, Haweis, the man who whas accepted as in lis timo one of the ereatest auhorjties ous everything connceted witl। bells.
' In comection with the swinging of a heary boll thene mush always be a considerable strain upon the lower. But the friotiont michlit be indefinitely diamished if the bell machinery worked smooblily, nod the iabour often at peesent lucrculenn of tho poor bell ringer might ba reciuced to almost zera, were that machinery of littie mone scientific. When it is understoorl that an improved sysien of ringing litue bella would sate Deans ant Gilnplers all over the country enormous suma of mouey by suspending lhe wery and tear which now goes on in so many of our Cathedral towers, we cannot help thinzing that littlo opposilion will be raised by libose wha hate to pry for the damages. Beil ringers are doublless a most ohstinate sel of men; but if thay were paid the same for working mitelintery whicli prodised twice es much offect, with less than half the halmon', they, 100 , wonlel soon give in to a better system. Whati angrateful and ballarous ropes and wheel, whose action upon the bell is now so uncortain, would probably disappear, and give place to somolling like a handte, it pishon, or even A keybonrd and a set of wheds and pulleys. There is no reason whatever why, with fatler ringing mechanism, one man might not ting half a gazen bells, instear of at present lanff a rlozen mea being ofien set to ring a single big bell. I make thege suggegtions With the vore confidence, hecabse they lute been fawourably entertained by the heads of ane of the most eminent firms of horalogy in Fingland. I am glad to say limat in accorclamec witlo my suggestions these gentlemen fiavo promisod to givo flacir attention to the clemelopment of a befter meclanaisn for the ringing of bells. They wrile tha follows: "Although bells have newer heer rung by machinery, we believe it would be possible to accouplish this, although it inight he expensive

\section*{Ts the Editor}

Dear Sir.-Tha reporl of the Nomenclature Committee is an able anal wad-written docment. That was only to ho expected by anyone who knows (as I do) somathing of Mr. Burton's aivilities. But 'reasomble 'and 'moderate' are the last words I should apply to it. Among other things il proposeg to alter tho names of sixty-eight methods (same of them old and histarica] onea); to throw the whole of the method classification iato the melling-pot; to alter technical terns which bave been in ase for enthries; to forbid any band and any izulividurl, whatever their nualifitations, puifing a name to any Hew mellod: to invest a commitiec (prebinably this commiteee) with autoernic fowers over the names of all methods past, present, snd to pontet atud ta prevent sueli names as the commitue dislikes being even so ranch as referred to in any Central Comeil publication. If this be moderation, 1 nm curious to know what Mr. Burton's root-and-branch refonm woald be like. Slay, fhongh. The committee does not propass to altor the name Grandsire. That is kind and moderate, ated amy thanks to them for it.
I uiterly deny that the anmes of methods are in a 'state of almost indeseriluble confusion." On the contuazy, they are ghato satisfaclory. Gare, of course, must be used in intwodicing fresh names, a good tastec in tho matter should be fostered; but amyone, whether this commithec or any other who tries to setule \{te matter ance for all, is sure to make a linsh of \(i t\).

If the conmitice wants to do a litlle mal good, lat them scrap this repart, which whether adopted ly the Council ot no is sure to be fuile; and let them get together sulfient evidenee to enable us to know whether the Exercise as a whole, and the six-bell ringers in particular, want the Fhoral' armes printed in the next edition or the honk of Minor Methorls. This was the real reason for the appointment of the commitlec.-Yours truly, J. ARMTGFR TROLLOPE.

Squints' and their origin.-In medieval churclaes the Snemtus Rel which was rung at the teremony of the tevation of the Host at the altar was gomelines hang over the chaneel areh. The attendant, Javi ing a view of the altar, was enabled to ring the bell at the correct momenl. In some instances, towever, when the bell was hung in a cot situated in the poreh, the ringer being outside the eharelt, was ont of sight of the altar. To overcome this difficulty openitg wer formed in the geveral walls hetween the ringer and the alhar, ass man as tlifee being found in some churches in a dipect line, through which a riew of the altar could be obtained from the porch. Tle mame givea to such openings was 'hagioscope,' though ihey st'e sometime called 'squints' becanse of the oblique pesition in which they picrer the walls.

Mr. Frask Hopgood proposed the adoption of the fallowing remarmendation of the General Committee: "That to Rute \(X\). be udden, atter July, " in the three Areladeaconries in rotation." This wuth make the Rule read as follows: "The annual festival and general meting shall be hedi in July in the three Arehdeaconries in rotation, at the place selcoted at the previous annual festival, ill the arrangements to the left in the hands of the committee. Mr. Hopgood mentioned that the question of mhere they should liold their anmual meeting had been agilating the minds of the members far a lang time, and lie thought if they would carry this resolution it would put az end to it. Tlie older member: wount know that forty years ago it was the custon to wo rotand the three Aychdeacomries in turn, and when they fallowed that policy lie nerer heard any complaint. It was truc they could not: all go to Lhe festival in tho yearg whon it wis lapld adia distance from dueir loomes, fat ance in three jeats they would be able to go. When. however, it was held continutly in one place, it certain number of membors were bamed eatirely from attending. He haped this rosolution would be carried, and put an end to the controversy.-Mr. .]. Epans seconded.

Mr. A. D. Cullum opposed tise motion on the ground that the penont male enabled the Guild to do all that the amendruent wond cuable Liom to rlo. He disliker clanging a good rale for a had onas. The rule. as in atood, was plain, simple and democratic, and they could gete all they wanter from it. It did not say they must meeh at Oxfard every tine. It was open to them at each annudi noeting to say where they wonld meet each year. Why, therefore, shanld they tie their hands? If it was intended to purli the resolation he would move, as an amentinent, that they come to Oxfort each year.

Mr. J. W. Wikins supported the recommendation. 胃 said it was absolutely necessary to after the rule, and place each part of the diocese on the fame basis.

Mr. H. Miles said while le was in favour of the Guikl Festival being no longer lold yoar by year at Oxford, because of the clissatisfaction it causerl in one hranch, he never anticipated they wouldi go to tho lenglis of leturning to the old state of afiairs and go to all sorta of not-of-the-wey places, thus adding to the diffeulties of ihe officials in makimy armagements for a large gathering. He was out fin compromise, but not for going to whe length proposed. He thought they should stick to the old rule.

A member mointed out fluere wis no suggestion in the proposal to Eo to oul-af-the-way places. Thoy could finn a lig centre in each of Thre three Arelrleaconries. A lot of hatal liad been dote br going to Oxford eacll verar.

Miss Robincon suggested that. the proposal shonat the made to rearl that the fuild meet in cacln of the thee Arctideaconries in rotation, and at Oxiord every fourth yotr. She moved this as an amendment. Mr. Fopgood pointed out that under the proposal of the committen they cotild cone to Oxfond every third year if ilsey liked.
After furt leer discussion, Miss Robinson's amendment was defeated ty a large majority, only 18 voting for it.

Mr. A, D. Barker urged the members not to consider their persomal feclings, hat 10 vote for whit was best in the interests of the Guikl. On locing put to the mecting. 48 voted for the recommendation ant 60 agninst, and it was nccordingly declated lost.
Mr. Hoprood said the result would not dehar him from brimging the madier forward again. and le हeave notice that he world propose it ah then first nvailable opportunty-Mr. Wilkins : I shall do my bent to supporl it. Il is not dealine frir with the other branches.

Mr. A. Barker then moved a recarmendation by the Generai Commiltee: "Thet the annual festival, 1926, be held in South Bucks, prefernhly in the reighobourhoorl of Slough.' He said he proposed that o zive a litile life to the hranch.
Amendments in favour of Oxford and Reading were moved, and the roting was: Reading 2: Oxford G5; fon the recommendation 53. Oxford was, therefore, declared selected.
On the motion of the Semotary, seconited by hir. A. D. Cullum, the mpet ing approved of the recommendation of the committee thar fos \(\overline{3} s\). be granied from the Guild funds for the angmentation of Brightwation belle, Berks.

\section*{A TYORTHY HONOUR.}

The Haster then proposed "That the Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis be macto a tice-president of the Guild, in recognition of many years of goon service:' He waid they had all had experience of Mr. Hart-J)aris's work, hoth as spemetary and treasorer, mad alterwards as treasurmy only. He was also instrumental in starting tle Sonming Deanery Brancli, atd mas one of the prino movers of the Gaild from the very theginning. Fie gave up the Fork when he was getting olf, and now the Guild woult like to honour him by electing hitm \(\Omega\) vice-presinemit (applause).

Canon Coleridge scoonded, renarking that they eould not do a more wortly bonour to a nore wortly man.

The motion was carried by acelanation.
The Her. R. H. Hart-Davis thanked the Gind for the lonour they uad done tini. He liad, it was true, worked for the finild on the administratipe side, and on the finanee side, bub he was afrad he had tome nothing for it on the rimging side. His election was rather a new departure, and he thoughe it wha an excellent thing that ifhey should have natong theid viederesidents not merely mamew of geulleuela who were not in their neighhourhood, but names of those wher last done some work for the Guid. He could not help very much lopint that the name of Br. J. J. Parker would reappenr mext year ts whe of their vice-presidents. Mr. Parker and himself were the anly two surwivig members of the orightal commiteo formed in 1881, and twe would feel very huppy if Mr. Parker's mame werc honouted like lis own. There was another name which wond have heen adder] had life contimued and that was the oanme of their ok frimul at Wins. Newell, who had gome to his rest. There were other narwe which might come later, men at preseni in full work, but who wotid fully degorve to be honoured when the time came, men like Gonon Coleridge and Mr. Tom Hibbert (applanse).

The confirantion of the election of 168 now rimbuers was agread to this being the largest ntmber made for many yeurs past, hir. Cullum referred to the steps taken in the Gloucester and Bristol Association with regard to getting clmap railwav facilities for ribgers (ns meported in the last jssue of 'Tluc Ringing World ') and asked if the Guidal could not join in fhe offort which was beine mate.

This was at ance agreed to, and concluted flae husinoss
The membars and many friends. mombering altoretlien over 200. thea adjourned to Clurisi Clumeh Hall, where lumeheon was sorved. Aftierwarls they dispersed for ringing at varous towers, and throughoul the remainder of the afternoon hells were pealing fron many Oxfard stecples. Tho twelve ou the Cathedral were a centre of attraction, as were also the rings at Magdalen, Mew and Merfon Colleges, while? semonal rings of six were later atilisen, Sl. Fohbes, where the wastihrook Menorial bells are to be placed, being chief among these.

\section*{THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.}

There is always a touch of sadness at parting with old and well tried servants, and there must have been such a feeling among the members of the Bath and Weils Diocesam Association, when, at their annual meeting, both the Master (the Rev. Prebendary C. C. Parker) and the Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. E. Burgess) resigned their respective offices. They have each served the association for nineteen years, having been appointed at the same meeting, and now they are gring out of office together. They have seen the association through some of its most difficult years-the years of the war-and they have the satisfaction of knowing that they are leaving it not only re-established on a solid foundation, but in as sound a position as it has ever been at any time. The Bath and Wells Association has 142 towers in union, and a total membership of over 1,600 , while its funds amount to more than \(f+40\). This is an eminently satisfactory condition, especially when it is remembered that Somerset, from the ringers' standpoint, labours under the same difficulty that handicaps other SouthWestern counties, namely, back of means of ready intercommunication. Thanks, however, to the system of well organised branches, the association has been able to reach the ringers of the diocese in a very effective manner, and the Master and Hon. Secretary go out of office knowing that they leave to their successors an association strongly welded by a spirit of loyalty, and one which is making headway in method ringing.

It is often difficult to find suitable men to fill with competence racancies such as those which have now arisen in the Bath and Wells Diocese, but the members can, we believe, look forward with confidence to the future under the guidance of the two men they have selected to follow the Rev. Preb. C. C. Parker and Mr. Burgess. In their new Master they have a practical ring-ing-parson, and in Mr. J. T. Dyke, as hon. secretary they have one of the most enthusiastic and capable ringers in the West. They are fortunate in having at their service a man so well fitted in every respect for the task, and are to be congratulated upon making such an excellent choice. [ \(f\), as the retiring Master said, he believed the introduction of new blood would be beneficial to the association, then, with the two men elected, the association ought to rise to a high pinnacle among the ringing organisations of the country. Beginning from an aiready satisfactory position, the new officers have an excellent foundation to build on, and we are certain that the new secretary, on whom the butk of the work must necessarily fall, will not fail to leave his mark on the fature of the association.

\section*{THE SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GULLD. YOUNG ASSOCIATION MAKES HEADWAY.}

The Guild's second annual roceting wes hek on Saturday, July 11th, in the parigh of Sketby, Glamorghn, when the tower of St. Paul's Chureh (cight bells) was opers for ringing from 10 a.m. 2he towers of SL. Mary's, Swansea, end St. Catherine's, Gorseinon, were also open for ringing, and full advantage wals laken of the opportunity, The towers reprosented at the meeling were Brecon, Carloxton, Llansteplutr, Abernvon, Mortiston, Neath, Llanelly, Gorseinon, Talgartla, and Swansca.
A shon service was laeld in St. Paul's Chumeh at 3.30 p.m., when the Lorl Bishop of the Diocese (Dr. E. L, Bevan) froacherf to the ringeris present. 'lhe local branch of the Motters' Union was also preseat at the service. The Arehdeacon of Gower read the lesson, and the Rey. Canen F. J. Stewnit intored the service, the surpliced choir being also in attendance. During tho course of lis address, the Bishop said the Guild of Ringers represented those who wero makieg f free contribution to the ehurch life of their diocese. The work was not by any ments new, and they had only to see some of the bells in their towers -for inslance, that bell which was no louger in use at Llanfllo, Breconshire-to realise the work to which they had contributod for a long period of time. Nothing was more encouraging to the devotional life of the church than die chearful sound of tho bells. In the exorcise of their lifg privilege, zingers were making a vital contribution towneds tho devotional life of the people of the land.
The company afterwards adjourned to fhe Clatrel Hall, where they were entertained to tee by Canon and Mrs. H. J. Stcwart, the mernbers of the Mothers' Union (local hrameh) being also entertained, The Inord Bishop proposed a very hearty vote of thanka to Camen and Mrs. Stewart for the sumptuous repast, and this was scoonded by the Fen. Archdeacon of liower, and the applause which followed showed the ringers' appreciation of the good things which had been provided for them-Mrs. Stewart suitaby responded.
Tho general mecting was afterwards held in a field adjoining the olurch, where the ringers sat down uthder sonde magnificent specimens of ank trees. The Lura Bishop presifed, and lis whs supported by the Ven. Archdeacon of Gouer, Canon H. J. Stewart, the Rev. W. J. Thomas, Gorseinon; the Rev. J. Rowland 'Horoas, Llansteplan; the Rev. 'T. R. J. Jones, Brecon, and other clorgy. The minutes of the lastionnal niceting were read, and after approval, were duly signed by the Bishop. The Lord Bishon was hoanimously re-clected president, and the vice-presidents the Rer. Canon F. A. T. Roherts, SubDean, Cnnen F. I. Stewart, the Arelideacon of Gower, the Archdeacon ol Brecon, and the Rev. R. M. Cole-Hamilton) were also re-elected. Mr. J. Aammoni (Neath) was elected Master of the Guild, and Messro. W. \(R\). Howells and Charles Powell were re-elected hon. secretary and hon. treasurer respectively. The committee elented consisted of Mesers. W. T. Hargest (Brecon), W. F. Bieknell (Builtin Wells), Ohar. \section*{LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. \\ EASTERN BRANCF.}

The quarterly meeting of the above was leeld on July \(25 t h\) at Tallershall. Hembers were present from Benington, Boston, Butterwick, Frampton, Skirbeck, Stickncy, Old Leake, Wighoft, and friends from Spalding, Surteet, Grinsby and Heckingtou, Ringing commenced about 3.30 p.mos and at 4.15 p.m. a short service was conduched by the President (Hov. , R. Trotter, Viear of Freiston-with-Eutterwick). The addrus al this service wis given by ihe Rev. H. Law James, Master of the Lincoln Guild. Tea was partaken of by 30 members and frients.
The business mecting was leld immedjately after tea, the President (Rev. J. R. Trotter) being in the cliail. Une new member was elected. Kirton was unanimously selected as the place for the next mecting, fo be held in October. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for thie use of the bells, to which ane of the churchwartens responded, owing to the Vicar's absence. The tower was again visited, but the ringing could not be made enjoyable on account of the bad "go' of thic bells. The Rector of Coningsby met the ringers fluring the afternoon, and inviled them fo visit Coningsby tower. At 6.30 p.mi. the bolls at Tatterslall wete lowered in peal, and all repaired to Conizgelsy. Herc lie bells were found in hetter "goime eonaition than at Tetterslall, with the exception of the treble. and touches of Cambridge. Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bö Minor were successfuliy brought round.

\section*{RINGING IN SOUTH AFRICA.}

On June 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doublea was rung al St. Mary's Church, Woodstook, hear Capetown, by the following: I I. Wright, 2 L. Green, 3 J. Wood, 4 N. Foster, 5 E. Gustafson (conduetor), 6 H . Wright. This, writes Mr. Ernest Gustafson, is the first time for many years that change ringing lias been aone at the above church, and it was arranged as a biftleday complingent to the Rector (the Rev. S. B. Hircliff) and on the occasion of the diamond jubilee of the church.
Tle wrifer las for many years fried to raise a band of ringers, but met with poor success, and great eredit is due to the young men, Who worked hard to master ringing, and who are alf local residents.
Thanks are due to Mr. F. Heywood Hay, who, on passing through Capotown on his way to Durban, very kimdly explained the ealling to the conductor' also Mr. Groen, who is an old ringer, and has given unsparingly of his time.
I should like very much to cay through you, that if aut ringers leaving England to sentle in or mear Capetown, would kindly call on tis and give us their assistance, it will be very highly appreciated.
We are very anxious to commence on Grandsire Triples. but are uneble to do so on account of lack of members; but, in the metntime, we are plodding aloug at Bob Minor, and tust, with a certain amount of luck, to ring fuld 720 s shortly
We are so proud of our performaze that the must let rou know what wo are doing and what we hope to do. Our ambition is to ring a full peal.

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY. \\ MANCROFT TENOR-THOMAS HURRY-NORWICH TOWERS. By J. ARMIGER TROILOIE.}

It was something of a shock to be told that Mancrof tenol is now only thirly-seven hudedweights and a bit. That is a big drop from the forty-hiree hundredweights wo thought she was, and even from the Lorty-one hundredweighis which \(i_{k}\) scems she actually was before the secent relarsgiug. And the recliue in her position amoug the big ringing bells is still more striking. Thirty jenss ago the Norwich ring ranked fifh among the twelve bell peals; only St. Paul's Cathedrul, St. Saviour's, Southwark; Bow, Cheapside; in London; and York and Worcester Cahedrals werc heavier. Exeter, and Wells Cathodrals and Mancheshar Town HaIi had weightier len bell poals, and Sherborme Abbey a weighticr eight bell peal. Now there are somowhere about a score riuging peals wills heavior tenors.
This difference has beon brought about partly by the casting of now bells, but almost as mucls by the reduction of the weight of the bell, through thning and haviug her canuons cut off. 1 believe she is the only bell in the tower that has been tuned; and it is worthy of remark that she is the only one that does not belong to the origiual ring of twelve. They were casi by l'ack and Chapman in 1775 , and were at once universally actrowleiged as the finest ringing peal in England. It is quite a matiter of opinion whelleer they lave been equalled by any of the modern and heavier peals.
On July 13h, 2814. the old tenor was broken during ringing, by the clapper coming out, and was recast by Thomans Mears. The new bell was always considered not quite as good as the others, buti I hear that retuning lias improved laer. That is all to the good, but it is a great relief to know that the other eleven lanve not been touched.
Everyone knows that the old Norwich Scholars were for more than a century almost, if not quite, the leading band in Eugland. But Heugh they hal plenty of good ringers aud plenty of heavy-bell ringers, only one single-handed peal was rung on the bells from 1775 to 1892. Heavy-bell ringing in the old days was a different thing from what it is now. Nowadays frames are put together in the foundry and properly levelled up, gudgeous are turned up true on the stock in a lathe, and ball or roller bearings are fitted. Then, everything was done by liand, and in the tower. Ofteu a bell would not go at all well until she had been rayg a lot, and had worn the bearinge, or until the brasses lad worked loose on the frame, and so formed a sort of selfaliguing bearings.' The actual physical strength required to ring a big bell was usually far greater than at present. With modern hanging the bell runs mucy freer, and is much more responsive to slight alterations in the amouni of pull. Far less strength is required, but probably more skill and brain work. You liave to Enow not only the exact amounl of pull to give her, but also the exact time when to chack her: This tast is, perhaps, the more important of the two.
It was not for want of tryiug that Norwich fenor was never rung single-handed. Several attempis were made, and eariy in the nineteenth century a certain John Trowse nearly rang her to a peal of Bob Major, buf became exhausted, and had to stop. Trowse wilh his brother's help, had already rung her to 6,240 of Oxferd Treble Bob Maxinus.
The first man who did ring her was Thomas Hurry, who turned leer in to a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal. This was considered a marvellous performance in heary bell ringing, as no doubl it was, and Hurry took steps to prevent its erer being heaten by forbifiling anyone even to make the attempl. Years afterwards, so the tale goes, a man of thie name of Smith wislued to try andl ring her single-tanded man of the name of Smith wislied to try and ring her single-banded to a peal. Hurry apparently could not be left out, and was induces to start be the pretence that they were going for a long touch. All went well for a time, nnil the end seemed in sight, till the old man woke up to what they were about. He set his bell, and, turning to the tenorman, said: "Never as long as I live l" Ancl it was never as long as he lived.
Smith wes one of a family of ringers, alf fige heavy-bell "men. His son Gearge. lind, I lunk, the besi and casiost style of any big bell ringer T lares evel known. He was the first man whe rang Mancrofi \(\frac{1}{2}\) enor to a 5,000 of Major, lut the peal was not completed, or was false for some reason or other-calling or shiff, of course-and could not stand.
Thomas Hurry was for years the leafing man in Mnherofl tower, and among Norwich ringers. He was no conductor, though lie called a peal or two, and no composer, thongh you will find a fow compositions of his in Ftiblord's hook but he seems to have heen ratiner hetter to fo than the rest, and to have been of a very masterfal disposifion-a man who intender and managed to get his own way. Mr. Henry Hame told mo that he remembered, when a youmg man. Mr. Henry wess of big, heave huilr, and then wery old and hroken, tinging the recond at Mancroft lalf sitiling on a high chair. whinh he usell to support himself when ringing.
He was bs trade a ueaver. Weaving was then the staple industry of Forwich, and the Norwich Weavers the hest in Fitgland. Rut, he had ather activities, inchuding bell hanging. Among obbers, ho hung tho two trehles at St. Andrew's, Norwfeh. Z'ho belf frame at liat chureh is about as weird a one as you will find anywhore. First there was a live-bell lyame, sel comer-wise it the tower. On that a frame was buif up to make the ting into eight. And on che top of this Hurry perched lis two trebles. Hhe ropes canc down just anylrow. The uibth was opposite the tunor; the treble opposito the gecond, and generally in rimging rounds you liad to follow someone on the allo site of the Lower. It was hore that the tirst peai of London Surprisn Major was rung. Of course, in ringing Londors yon would not notice the ropes being out of regular order so muel as you would ir you were ringing Bob Hajor or Treble Boh. Jfut it would make the conduetor's job a hard one if he were trying to to anything more than bab-calling.

Hurry had some trouble over the two trebles. Ha was steeplekeoper ab the lower, and whe juen of making the bells a ring of ten wus his own. It seems he appronched the chatreh authorities orn the mader, aud having got whal he fhaught was their consent ordered and then humg the bells, But when to sent in his lifithey repudialed tha whole aftair. They were guite rondy to thank him for his genar ous gift, but as to paying, nol a bit of it! Thhat is how I heard the tala, buk if you ask me how mueh of it is true, all If can say is that, in tuese robes, \(i\) am not on my ontl.
The bells arc still in St. Andow's tower, and the l'rame is still there, and the visitor to Norvieh who is andiciently eurions may see ili; but the bells Fiave long siaco been totally tunringable. I don't thiak they have been rung since, in my young days, 1 antal one or two more goi together a band to try them.

What struck me very forcibly when I was 子ast in Norwidh was tha disgraceful and filthy condition of so many of the towers. The condition of Mancroff, both bells and belfry, is all it Eloould be, and so is that of the eights at St. Joln's and Sit. Miles. But the otliers, whe cighint St. Giles' and the sixes and fives are in a shocking condition. Once was the time when on a sunday morning every hell in Norwich was chimed. There are mearly forty churches in the old city, a ocod\(y\) proportion of them with rings of three and upwreds, and the gencral effect was striking and pleasing. Now, unless I am migtaken, they do nob secm even to chime the threes and fives and siaes. Fet the churches thernselves seen better carod for flasn cyor they were.

The old Norwich Scholars were a curtous, zud, from our point of vicw, not very attraclive lot. They certainly drank too much, but we have no right to judge them hardly for that. Ezcessive drinking was the rice of all chasses in Fingland during the eightecuth and early nineteentls conturiss, and there is not the slightest renson, notwithstanding the many lard things that have been said of them, to think that the old ringers were any worse fhan ohbers. They certainly were very uncouth and rough to visitors. If you were a skilled ringer, and known to be such, well and good. Otherwise you did not get much chance of a pull. And young ringers did not get much chance. They could go to practico aftor praclice, and sit on the benclies and look on. It was only when there wis a short meeting that they had any opportunity.
Two old customes silow something of the state of affaiss. On old year*s mitht it was fhe cusiom for the parson, chutchwardens, and leading parishoners, to pay for the filling of a big earthenware jug with a potent and subtle compound called thot pot,' and to join the ringers in drinking it in the belfry.

Assize week was the great ringing lime. The bella ware rung on the arrigal of the judge, and of and on during the whole time the was in the cily. Ringens wotld cone up From ditferent parts of Norfolk, sud the time wonld be spent parily in the tower and the rest in the public-house. There where no elosing times then. Thp ringers would sleep and eat where thoy conda, some nol taking off their clothes the whale time.
The worst of the old irnditions died out with the ingt of the old school, nearly fiffy trears ago. The best of the old traditions, good ringing, and enpecially good striking, survived for many years.

\section*{NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.}

The ringers of North Natits held Llecir first mecting at Laxton on Safurday, July 11 th. Tha gathering was largely attonited, 16 towers being represented, there being 43 ringerg and friend present. The bells of St. Michael's were at the disposal of ringers from 2 p.m. to 8.30 p.m., and Grandsire ant Stedman Douthes, Plain Eoh Minor, Oxford and Kent and Cambridgo and London Surprise were rang. Tea, ptesided over by the Vicar of Jaztots, was served to 43. The business meeting followed, the Vicar in the chatic. The Rer. F. W. J. Daniels, Rector of North Whealley, was elected in vico-presideat and lionorary member. The next meeling will ho held at East Markham on Saturday, Septemher 19th, and will be advertised it this paper. A vote of thanks, to which the Ficar suitably replied, whs accorded io him for use of the bells and presiding over the was accoribd io toa end meeting.

Further ringing was enjoyed until the rope af the gecond lefif broke, cutting short a fouch of Cambridge Surprise.

Deat Sirs－Surely Mr．Trollope must lave felt that he lias a bad casc，beforc lo allowed his usual juclicial disoretion to leave him，as in his last letter．Most of the things lie abuses us for doing，are simi－ lar to what the Gouncil has been doing ever since it existed，and Mr． Trollope himseli has been formost in the practices he now abuses． the only eccusation pecaliar to us，is that we propose to invest a cotmotitee with autocratic powers over the names of all methods，past， present，and to come．

As for pasil and presont mathods，we are asking the Council，and not any committee，to decide．As for the future we have made a proposal which we ask the Council to discuss；and this is what we were asked to do Why abuse us for doing what is majority of the Council elected us to do？
He gaggests that we should get evidence as to whelher the Exercise as a whole want floral names，and lee denies that there is any con－ fusinn．Now，we cernet go beyond our terms of reference，nor is it neessary．Our existence as a committoe is ample evidence．I had let－ ters from strangers from all over the nountry－and chiefly from six－bell ringers－begging ma to briteg the matter before the Gouncil at its meveting last year，in order to end both the existing confusion and llie foral names．So that jt was quite clear the Exercise as a whole dic！nat agree with Mr．Trollope．If was not fhen certain whether those who wanted the confusion cleared up，were in the majarity or mont（atany rale，there were enough of them to make it ovident that the fioral names would not meel with the necessary unanimity to make ftuem of any use\}. But at the London meeting we were elected lya a cloar majority，so that until that majority lias disappeared we must the guided by it．
So far from desiring to have＇nutocraic powers，＂or wanting to settle any mattor＇once for all＇ourselwes，we did not publish our re－ porl heforehand，with necessarily only a week or so for it to the cors－ siderel in，but we agreed to its being lefb a whole year for full con－ sideralion．
Now，if Mr．Trollone wants to help the Fxereise，iet him give us some reasoned suggestions for improving on our proposals．As long as he merely abuses thim，ha is allowing thern to halit the field．

\section*{THE MASTRR'S REPOR'C.}

This ts the latt repori which I shall have the honour of writing an four behaff," was the opening seatence of the report for the year enting June lai last, presenied by the Master. He stasted that lie had han a long immings as Master of the Assaciation, and had it not been for the war he would have retired earlier, but he wishod to see the fore laying down lais office. This be conld tow say was fonesily the cally: Hlgo the number of penls last yetar showed that the asociation Fras going ghead in the art of change ringing. He lian intended, with their permission, lo continue for one more year for the following reasam: 'The lisishop. in offering me the honour of a prebeadal stall in W'elis Cathedyn, wrate ats follaws: "Quite apart lrom wour other gualifiaticns 1 wish to pay a compliment to the Rell Itinging Association of the Diocest, to which I attach so grent importance. view of these words, which he felt iner would appreciate ms much as he did, ghowing the fively interest their president, the I3shop; took in the affociation, he felt lise it miglit be more becaming to temporarily defer his resignation, hut when, owing to ill-lualth, fo fount that this could not be dore, lie explained the matter to the Rishop, who quite understoni the position. "In laying down lle offire of Master," lie added, "I should like to say that I live always consideve:施 arrent homonr and privilege to snrve the nesoriation in this ceaparity. anil I wisth to express my gratitude for the hearty suppori that I lieve received from every quatter and for the kindly welcome offered the in avery part of the diocese, making the rlaties of the Mastev a real plensurc." Mr. Burgess had also resolven to resign the necrefargship. They were elentert on the same day, and now ilsey wem out of affice together. During the nimeteen ycar's they lafd heen ia office they had worked logether withont hiteh of any kind. It wamid be impossible to have a more loyal and dependable co-operator than Mr. Burgess. The work of a Master was, nfter all, compatalively littie, bith tiat of Fhe gecretary was consiferable, and at certain limes ardnots. Mr. Burgess had deroted limself heart and soul to the welfare of the artomation, and its present prosperity was largely fluo to his self-sacritic ing lahaus He (the Master) helieved a clange of afficers would be benelicini to the associntion. bringing new irleas, frosil ways, and so on, hut while larving high liopes for those who sticceeded them he vemured to ehatan, on hrialf of Mr. Burgess and lingelf, that itheir sticcestors would mot have a more earmest desire than they had to semb the aswoelation faithfully, and to secure it that recogniiton and nonsideration to which it was tradoubtedly entifled by its useful and sucensiffll work throughout the diondse.

\section*{SOME STATISTICS.}

Mr. E. E. Burget (hon. secretary and treastrer) prescuted the balance sheet for the twelve months ending Dewember 31sti last. Hhis showed ilat die receipts were 2199 IIs. \(5 d\). , includiag balance at begizwing of year of 512419 s . 3d.: and local secretaries' balances, 848 I'Is. \(8 \mathrm{~d} . ;\) and the expenditure amounted to \({ }^{2} 56\) 12s. 4 d . There was a tolal credit balance of 214219 s . Id., made up of balance in bank, \(\mathrm{E}_{6} 6\) 18s. 1d.; or deposit, e35; and War Loan, 201 ls.
On the motion of Mr. J. Burge (Taunton), geconted by Mr. C. Evans (Bridgwater), the report and balance sheet were accepted.

It was further resolved, on the proposition of Mr. G. Taylor (Ihmisster), seconded by Mr. A. Prince (Bath), that an honovarium be granted to the hon, gecretary and treasurer

\section*{RESIGNATIONS ACCEITFD WITH REGRET.}

The next business on the agenda was to accent the resignalions of the Master and the lioni. secretary
The Clairman stated that the reasons for both of then resigning were simply this, that thay had boh liad a long enough innings, and they thought that fresil blood would do the association good. They fell also that they were learing at a goari moment, because the atesociation at the present time was in a particularly prosperous condition, so they could not say about them that they were leaving it in a bad conditian. 'I de not say it if flue to \(\mathrm{Hs}_{\mathrm{s}}\) ' added the Chairman, - it just laa?pens to be so.

Mr. J. Funt (Taunton), in proposing that the resigations be atccepted with regref, remarked that after the statements which had been made he thongha they could not do other thatn accel t bem.
Mr. W. J. Prescott (Twerton) said lie would second fle resolution with very much regret, and lie felt thest he spoke the feelings of all from the Bath distrist in saying this. He (the speaker) remembured at the election of Mr. Parker as Master nearly tweuty years ago. Mr. Parker came up to him afterwards and said, "I have you to hame for electing me to this post ' (laghter), but whethe: he (Mr. Prescotil was to blame or nat he did nof think they made a bad selection then. With regard to Mr. Burgess he could say what a pleasure it was to work under him, and le regretted very mich that both the Master and Sectetary land seen fit to resign, aspecially as it was owing to healh circumstances that the Master laad to take the step (applause)
The resduiton having theen carried, Mr. Hunt moved that both the reding Master and secrefary he elected life members of the association in recognition of the good work which they lad done in the lnst minetcen rears.-Mr. Taylor seconded, and the motion was carried with applause.
The Chairman, ins acknowledging the appreciation on behalf of Mr. Burgess and himself, said he thought he slould hy ve been a life nember in any case, as he would have continued bis inkerest in the associntion, and so would Mr. Burgess. ab the same time it was a handsome prescat to them because a life membership was suppoed to lee worth E10, and they botli appreciated the great honour whint they had done them (applanse).

Ii was agreed that the Master and hon. sceretary should carry nu in these eapacities for the meeting.

When the meeting proceeded to the election of afficers anolter compliment was pairl to the chairman by adding lim, an the motion of Mr. Burge. seconded hy Mr. Taplor, to the list of rice-presidente, the previous ife-presilents heing all re-elected.

The name of the Rev. E. C. S. Lock, of West Pennard, was proposed for the offee of Master in sllccespion to Mr. Parker, Mr. Taylor, who moved bis resalution, speakitg of Mr. Lock as a practical ringer who was willing to aci as Masier.-Wr. Rich seconded the motion, which wam un minonsly carried.

Mr. Hunt proposed as the new secretary Mr. T. T. Dyte, of 3 [idsomer Norton, who, he said, was 'the very man for the joh.'
Mr. Burge secanded, andi Mr. Proscolt supported the proposition, which was also carried without a dissentient
Mr: D. G. Tavlor was re-elecied hon. anditor, with a cordizl expression of thanlaf from the rlatiman for lis past services to the association.

\section*{THE INTFREST OF THE CLERGY}

The Claiman pronosed that a rote of lhanks lie accorded to Proh. Harman. Jlse Rev. T. S. Dawson, and Preb. Reeder for allowing the use of the bella to the visitore that day, which they all appresigted. It was a greal plonsure to visit ather lowers. In addition lo flem he lad to thank the Vicar of Minehead, who hal so kindly receivad then that day, in whose church they wotald shorlly have service. Ho ( l he clairmani dici not flaink thetr was a more heautifulv-placed catrel Ihan thai at Minehead, and they thanked tlie Fiear mast Leartily for teceiving them, and for ahowing them to the the bella and abso for conducting the sorviee which they wore to attend fapplause). It was aiways a great pleasure to thank the elorgy, added the speaker, but ho sometimes wished thas the clergy generally would take more jnterest in the association than they dith. If would be to Lieir own adrantage if they dia so, and also to the ndvantage of the association (hear, hear, and upplause). All those whom ho lad mentoned did lake a keen interest, in theit ringers, athd lie wished io Hatink them most heartily for their inlerest in the associntion.

Tlie motion hamg been reconded with applausc, Preh. Farmarn, in acknowlengment, said low pleaserl he was to put Old Cleeve tower at. their disposal. He was not a rimger himaelf, hat he was rory keenly intercsted in ringing, and only too glat to do anything he could to Inelp ot the good work they were doing so well. They at Old Cleeve were very proud to have cight Imells now. and it was a great privilege ant honour to have liad visits from some of the members. Preb. Harman concluded hy saying how pleased he was to see their good Master in to mucla bettet lieatia than when lae came io Old Clecve at the consecration of the two new belts (applause).
The Rev E. P. Lidrlon also acknowleriged the vote of thanks. They wre very pleased, he sad to lave the members at Minehead. He was also deljghterl to see that the associntion was in such n lieallhy nad lively nomdition. It was a treat to come to a meeling so fall of life (applause).

\section*{THE NEXT ANNUAL METPTRNG.}

Whe fixing of the rate of the next, anmual meeting was the subject of sime discussion initiated by Mr. T. Hunt, who snid he should like \({ }^{14}\) see a clefritie date fixed from annual meetiny to annual meaing. He ventured to say that if this was done fley wotin? linve donble the number of members ol nore at the meetings (bear, lieart, and he moved that the date of the mext namal meeting should lue the first Saturday in Julty

The Chairman stated that each hratich hatd been asked their opinion on a proposal that the andmal moeting sloond he altered to Whit Manday, and he had a resolution from the Dunster Deanery which was against that suggestion
Tn some further dizenssion, Mr. T. Mandock (Taunton) expressed fise opinion that the anual meetint mighi be more widely distributed - ver the county

The nation was eventially referren to the conmittee for consiclent tion.
A resolulion passed at a meelitg lefld at Wiveliscombe that the quarterly moetings should be tieleted from the association's activilies was diseussed, Mr. Hunt wIo brouglat I he matter forward stating that the grounds of the resolution were that mote good coutal be done by the deanery meetings it the way of education in change ringing a* a quarter of the cost of the guarterly meelings.
The Chairman said that the commifiee had considered the matler* Fnd they felt that the quarterly theetings did a great deal of good in keeping the association boing, and deciled that they ghould net be dropper. Dut that they should be hedi as far as possible in places where interest in ringing was very low.

At the instance of Mr. Tarlor, it was decidet that the association should support representations being mate to the G.W.R. company hy other associntions to obtain similar travelling facilities for ringrra as for anglers, who, travolling singly, couldi get a yeturn ticket for ihe single frre.
A motion by Mr. Hunt, seconded by Mr. G. Stacey, that a orant af £2 2. shoulr be made to ilie T. W. Warhbrook Memorial Fund was carried. Mr. Humt reminded the meeting that Mr. Washbrook wis a leader of change ringing for thirtw-five years, and what lie Mr. Hand had read about him was an inspiration to anyone engaged in change ringing.

\section*{'THE RINGERS' MOTIVE.}

After the meeting, most of flue mombers procecded to the parish churcin, where choral evensong was held, conducted by the Vicar, whose address was adapled to the occasion. Taking as his text the words, "Gorl hath set some in the church, first apostles, secombarily prophets, thindly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, he saict that in This text St. Paul gave a lisi af words-luelpes and govermments-(l)at ho wanted them lo think If thes got at their true meaning they would find that they mindided to them a beautiful idea of the work whinet the ringers should tury in rlo. The word 'governments' had heen defined as meaning those who diroetpl or led people, and what was the purpose which hrought the ringers Sunday after Sunday into the tower but, to dircet people, to ahow them that they should worship and serve God? Tlatat surely was the nacaning of all their ringing. That should be the Ereat motive nolerlying all they did in the fower, and all olher reasons that led them to ring should be subordinated to this one greal reason. But if they would Eruly summen people to the House of God to worship and to verve Him they neenca la do more than rime the bells. They needed themselvas individually to do their utmost to help people to enter into the worship and the service of Gou by their own fellowshtp in worship and by their help in trying to bead ai Christian life all through the week, Wy showing that what they professed on Sundays carried weight with, litem all firrough the weok. If they only did that the message which they gave on the luelds wand be tremendumily strenythened and baeked up.

\section*{SCOTLAND'S NEW PEAL OF EIGHT.}

TWO TRTBLES DEDICATED AT ALLOA.
A pead of bells is more of a rarity in Scotland than south of the border, and ringer's will be all the more filensed, therefore, to hear of an addition to their mumbers. Allon, in Clackmannanslime, the smallest comety in Seotame, is the Iatost to contribule to the list, with the lightest ring of cight north of the Tweed.
The peal of six bells in SB. Jolu's Episcopal Cinuch in that town, whielt was opened in 1871, was fanad to be out of tunc, and the wooten framework decayed. They hawe, been recest and two trehles thawe been rulded (the gift of Viscount Younger of Leekic), and the eighl hare been rehmer in a steel frame, willil ball bearings. The woight of the tenor is 13 ) ewt.
The now peal was dedicnted on July 25th, by the Bishop of Edinhurgh, the servise being condueted by tive Rector, the Rev. L. A. Wheatley, M. \(\mathbf{H}\).
The opentng touch, of 168 drandsine Triples, was ying by the following band of ringern from Edinburgh: W. C. S. Heatloote 1, Miss A. 1. Whisor, 2, J. Lothian 3. W. B. Snmpsnan 4, A. G. Collinson 5. W Jonkins 6. . . Masshall 7, C. Raine 8. Ringers of 4th, 5th, 7thant 8tlu are members of the st. Mary's Cathedral Society, Edinburgli, the remainder helonging to the carrespouding saciety of St. Cutheret's Larisla Chureln.

After an interval for lea. a quaticr-peal of Grandsire Triplos was ming, the ringers standing in the same order. This was rung in 52 minutes. The opening tuach was conducted by W. Sempsan, the quarler-peal by W. C. S. Heathoote.
The work of reconstruction lias heen carried our by wissars, Tobn "taylar and Co.. mind the peal is a great success, hoth as regaeds suretthes., of tonc and onse of linginy.

\section*{COVENTRY'S NEW BELLS.}

Dear Sir, Four leading article of the 19 th \(J\) une last bas struck a thote which las resotionded far und wide in defonce of your contention that the Central Council miglat with justification cudeavour to induce the Coventry people to loald their lumd until further investigation has been made.'

This boiling up of peals is becoming an insidious discase, sentiment is giving place, it is greatly feated, to conmercialism. Such procoedings cannot be too highly condemaed by those who, by clase conncetion with such peals, have any regard for ihe memory of those who have passed nray in the pious hopo that their lives' work would be regaved as a sacred trust by sueceeding generations. To the ordinary mind there does not appear to be any difficulty for the bells to be rehung for ringing on a specially designed frame to yait the tower.
This point, however, remains. Are these famous bells, ane of the linest peals in this counlry, to be amashed up just to please a passing craze for a carillon, a contimation of rattling wires and hileous orertones impolled by machincry, which lans neither soul nor sentiment \({ }^{2}\) The answer from thousunds of scientific clituch bell ringers would he an tophatic 'No!'
During the past fow fetts seyeral robowned peals of bells have been overinauled, retunted and relung, and thus nade as perfect as when first cast, and what is more io tue recognised, continuing ta carry on their tidings in the way originally intended by their pious founders, as, for instamee, the belle of Billingslutrst, Horsham, Leatherbed. Stafford. St. Clement Danes, etc., etc. The boiling down of such peals as these would have been sheer vandalism. No one can complain of carifiens beimg placed in public huildings or clockmakers' frontages, the battor being, it is thouglit, a more stitable place, Lut to have madhine conitolled bell tappitig in our chureh sheseples is, to sny the least, a scabdal. Why not iniroduce a gramoplione or loud spaker in the reating desk or pulpit? Coventry, stiok to your hells, keqp them in perpeluity, and thus revere the mamories of those who first placed then there to the glory of God and of His Clitued.
If the plea of those who have the interest of these famous bells at heart is suecessful in prevonting their destruction, they will join in the words of the poet, and saty to the bells of Covontry-

Now rise accordant. [Pul] the pendant ropers. Bid every bell strike true, the noble touch rotuses the lethargy that clogs my mind, atd prompls me on to action. Swell my lieart, and dance without control! For swoeter far these lofty sounds than those dend, languid airs, that tromble on an instrument of wire! As far superior as the expressive notes of Beard and Lowe ate to the Eunuch's trills. Britons! ariso-resume the reins of laste, ant let the natives of your Isle roceive your amplest tribuln of dencrent applatase for whilnt 'tis Yoars to hoast an Arne or Boyce, no sixill is wanted froma a foreign land. "-Yours truly. ANRLOPHIE.

13y way of combrast to the previous day, we lad luncheon al The Crown, a Trust house-and two clergymen toak lunch there at the satue 'lime, little knowing what kind of 'harnets' were browsing at He atinar end of the room.
Our next stage was far into the Durlabu hills, among the collieries, when wheels, shaft heads, framways and slack heaps motiled the whole countryside, and spread a veil of smoke und steam which driftrd across the fields for miles. Mt. H. Tyson met us at the church of tranfield, ercacted some 35 years since, and the bells have anly known nuc steeplokeeper. The population of the village is about 5,000 , and half are unemployed-mearly all ate mine hands in one way or another, if the industry was prosperons? Harry was as prond as the pracnok when he took us to tea, after our peal, nad we went home ing good style hy tho same route wo left, wia Gafosliead higln-level bridye spanning the Tyne, of grat moginecring strueture which has scparate tharonghtares for foot presengers, wehicles, cyeles, and railwuy trains.

Sunderiand is a city of about 170,000 population, and returas two Members of Parlinment, but of the winole of this wast number of residenls thore in only one math, so fal as permutation is concerned, the "Wizard of the North,' who ean give us the Aplia and Omega of nethod building and peal composition. Fes is one of the three men in Englated with the same surame who lave done so much for change ringing ever sibec I first began to read the ringing journals:-larker Major, Crawley, Sussex: Earker Royal, Warniam Royal; Parker Maximus, subderland. After lunch on Friday we bad the pleasure of rimgiug a peal at St. Igoatius' with the Inst-named gentleman. It was here he learnd 10 ring on the peal of five bells that were putin at the timo this modern charch was erected. A tablet below the belfry recotds: "In the year 1899 the originat peal of hells in this lower was increasel to six hy the addition of a trelle bell, the gift of the Rev. Frigar Boudingtou, first Ficar of this parish, and founder and first presidemb of the Bell Ringers' Guilu, as a thankaftering for Gori's mereies to lim during his Vicariate, 1889 to 1899.
It was due to the gentle persuasion of Cupt. Hudson (Bishopwearmouth) Liat Mr. Parket was encournged to look up 'nethod,' by buing asked to call sis-scores, the novice of that day being supulied with the necessary figures. During owr peal the Wicar and the curate cante round to welcome us, abd aflewards wo enjoyod a very homely len et 'Amherley,' with Mrs. and Miss Parker kindly attending to unr neods. Mr. Parker also showed us round tle beautiful Marthorough Park, and from an eminence pointed out the clice buildings and churchas in every divection, and the memorial to Jack Cotrwall, the boy hero of the battle of Jutland.
This public park has also an assembly room-fully licensed-a boon a mon who wand fresli air after a hard day's work, and here we, who had made hard work of pleasure, toasted Cuccess to the Diocesan tinild and the ringers of Siuaderland, before leaving by tho 8.57 train. There are three rings of eight in this city. Holy Trinity are managal by a team of ladies-who were inelited in onr toast-ibe remaining tower is St. Michael's, Bislopwearmonth, where we last a feal of Stedman in the morning through no fauli of Gonductor Parkes. Setverth of the local ringers on the Wear met us on coming down, itscludiag Messes. Hudson and Patterson, and we were able to thank the Suaderland men For tivir sporting weleome in reliring from Hexham on Wedneadas in our favour, afler previously booking the tower will Allemale for their annual outing.
One cannot leare out reference to a dear little cinurch with six bells - lanor \(5 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. - lyut not humg for ringing, full of antiguarian intevest, with ach ual porlions of the original holy structare still in evidencethe west wall tower. It is situaied a few hundred yards from the River Wear, throngli the nouth of which strcana Benedict Biscop saileni to land bere in the year 674, and found it monastery. Egfrith gave 70 hides of lant out of his own eshates, and ordered a manastery to be buith thereon, aud here came tho Venerabie Bede, then an orplian huy of seron years of age, to be educted, and to become one of the earliest authors with a knowledge of bells and founding. Bede was haried at Jarrow in the cleventh century, and his bones were removed fon Durham, where, in 1541 , they wele scattered; but the stone bearing his name, and which formerly covered them, is still to be seen.

\section*{A DOTTBLE EVENT.}

With a double event, our final day, Saturday, was spent at Hartlepool, famous for its timber youds. we saw the devastated area. hurnt out last spring, when sotme \(£ 100,000\) worth of timber was destroyed. At All Sainds', Stranton, the mother churdi of tie town, we rang through a wedding ceremong in the morning, and finisheal the peal in time to toll for a funcral - 'lifa ancl death, ever with us
 T. Gorten joined ns at Stranion, making up the Culer band for out last attempt. The Parishe Church of St. Oswald is situated on the west side of the Fool, a beatiful decovated Goldic struchure erected in 1907, with rint ly carred stonework, and, internally, oak fracery and fittings that slowed there was no lack of funds. It was the last work of thice craftsmen engaged upon the building, wha dien soon after its dedication-the archited, cherk of works, and the bell hanger. The bells and langing are in good example of the wort of Warner and Sons, Loudon. It is at very fino belfry, but, matred oy the clock pis in over the lieads of the venomen and furnished with wooden shaots for the two ropes, ensily touched by tall ringens such as our tenormen were. Our permission to ring was subject to a \({ }^{7}\) otelock restriction,' and Treble Ten was abandoned for Stedman, the 'finale ' coming wilh only five mintites to sparc.

Returning to Whitley Bay for the last time, our ranks were thinned by calls for the thome position from Metcalf and Jenkins-calle that we were to obey on the morrow. Our dast look af the Norlh Sea, from the rechy parade of the hay, was subject to the notse and hatide of carbival, the pawed walk being completely obscured with a lager of confeth and sundry ragege tawiries strewn by the revellers in a linal attermpt to outdo one anotlier. We left the 'madding crowd' in their jigh revelry at eleven o'clock to aeb the enjoyment of confented sleep.

Before we left. St. Paul's Church I was able to take a few notes which will adri to my 'story,' and, lite the 'luarber,' I will cut it as short as possible. The headsfones in the churchyard-and bells in the tower-all speak of the hong association this parish has enjoyed with the U. ana N. Association. The original peal of six laells was the gitt of Sir Clarles Hart Palmev in 1865, and the first 720 of Minor rung by an entirely lacal band on July 23 rej , 1890, conducted by J. T. Gofton, with the late R. S. Story, who had previously remowed into the parish from Newcastle, on the tenor. This was not accomplished without yeara of patience, during which the older bands dropped out, and whe boys \({ }^{3}\) progressed with their tutor, Mp. Story, who died in 1911, at the early age of 52 years, and is buried near the chancel east window.
The new rimg of eight bells, dedicated Janmary 25th, 1913, were made up by new bells given anr the old ones recast, the back six having the coat ef arma of them" iarmer conor cast upon them. "Ilue tenor is a Coronation bell, Fing George \(\mathrm{F}_{\text {. }}\), 22nt Jupe, 1911, diameter 3 ft. 10 in ., recast in 1912. 4th; 5th and 6the, given by the local ringesw. 3rd: ' In gratetul memory of Robert Spencer Story, 22 years President of the Durlean and Newcastle Association." 2nd: Given by Thomas T. Gofion, in menory of lis father, Richard A. Gofton, who died 25th December, 1891.

A strong friendship existed between Story and Gofton; both died at an early age, but the change ringing sceds sown had sprung up in their fater days, to be eromaed after they liad gone to rest by a peal London Surprise Majot on the new actave. Marcl 24tlk, 1913, conducted fyr Thomas Gofton. Whose father is buried on the spot he chose, as near the belfry door as possible. A grandfather (on the mother's side) is alsa slceping near, a memorial obelisk recording:-

To perpocuate the memory of Thomas Thompeon, Farmer, Whitley Bay, by his friends ana? admivets, universally Foved and affectionAtely known as Fallier of Whitley. He died October 5tly, 1911 in his 87th ycer.
Sould be go backwarts a century, when the farmhouses and cottagea com arn tapidly being replaced by rows of louses aver the fields of North Farm.
Sunday moming the return was safely effecten by the 10.10 a.m. express out of Newastle, which took an altervative route, occupying ond hour longer, but, givitg a glimpse of more cathedrals and abbers. Witlu a crrrirge (pard of ) to ourselyes the time passed pleasantly, although it turned out to be the finst day of another heat wave, and two dool's away the 'Little Willie' Concert Party gave us a number of nusical piecen by four performers who happened to be returning to town.
Mr. Thonas Gofton saw us off the promises at. Monkseatom, and our "Litde Willie" at Whilley Station. I could not help noticing the sacl look apon jis face rs our tram pulled out, his letter to me a week later confirming it: " I spent lwo miserable days at work after you all went away, couldn'f sctile Hown at ald, but I nol all right mow."
When reporing my notes of the tour to "The Ringing World' T was asked to be sure and thanh the friends up North for giving us such, \(a\) right good time. Whethe half-dozen survivors-parted in London some 50 teet moterground, whern the King's Crosn subways join, each to his own little helfyr, like rabits in at warren.

The 6th＇s place bell in Minor has returned to ils own position，so it can bo struck oal to 宫ive a batter comparison of the progreasion， but a clearer comprrison can be obtained if we add 678 to fhe Minot row as follows，and then strike out all tho hells that are lying still，

by striking out the fwe fixed beils we have left \(678 \times 786\) ，whiels is egni－ valent to a progression of 231 ．
If the rathod would extend wills courging order to the higher mom－ hers，the extra pairs of hells from Major upwards would have fo be added on the froat，and the progression would lien be：－

> 54132 Minor
> 57864132 Major
> 5907864132 Roynal
> 5 Se 907884132 Maximus

Now that wo know what the protressinn row on ton belle should be． we will compare it with the progression row of the ecven－part touch of Repal to try if we enn find any resemblance．

Soven－part tomels progrossion \(54 \times 79621830\)
Proper progrestion
\(59078641 \times 32\)
By striking out the five fixel belle we have arosidue of 90842 s 49280，thlich is equivalent to a progression of 41532 ．
We will now compare this wifls the Minor progreawion．Which is pot－ sible beanuse the 5 th is the pivod bell in Minor，and the Jra is the pivot bell in the geven－part toreh of Royal．

Lomdon Minor progression is 54132
London Royal 7 -pt. touch progression is 41532
By striking out tha two fixed bells wo have loft \(541 \times 415\), which is nulvalent to a progression of 231 between Minor and Royal, and as we luve previously geen this is also the progression between Mmor and Major.
lo will be ugeless trying to compare tho progression of the five-part touch of Maximus, hecause the 2nd is tide pivots bell throughout the touch.

There is nathing haplazard aboub piwat hells, nod where we lave a fregh pivot bell for cvery pair of bellis added, in regular methods, they will atwoys be in coursing order, either forward or backward, i.e., forward as in 3hain Bob 4; \(6 ; 8 ; 0\); 4 ; cte., or backward, as jn Bristol Snrpise 4: 2; \(3 ; 5 ; 7\); etc., and this vite also applies to any other forfuence of coursing bells that may lappen to be pivot belis.

I feel certain that I am rightin stating that no two separate methods can possibly lavo the same mathematical progression, so when anyone is clever enougls lo find a Royal and Maximus with the progression that lacndon Surprige Rayal and Maximus shotid have, flacy will not only have found the correct mxtensions, but they will mave funtil what f firmly believe to be impossible.

\section*{THE OXFORD GUILD.}

Denr Sir,-Fou appear, according to your heher last week, re the bxiond Guild ammakl meeting, to bo under some misapprehension. I shoult tike to inform you that mo one, as tar as I know, has evel damed that we wetce swamped by the Oxtordshise nemlers. What we clainn, and I think rightly, is that we ate swamped by the members living close around Oxford. Tho slan of lands proves that, if it proves anything, for of the 75 memInes from Bucks, 55 must have come from the North Bucks branchfoxford suits them-htherefore, they vole for it.
Whe other nembers are trying to make jt- fair for all the members, not only one brach, but all the branches. 1 also claim that if a vate was to be taken of all the members, there would be a large majority for a movable anmul mecting.
Once of the speakers at the meeting entaverad on denoctacy, yet he williag to 1 ge governed by a iew that cay uttenti at Oxford. I perwonally think that as logg as the meeting is lacd at Oxford the result will be tha same, and the famoil and bickeritys, which \(f\) very muels regret. will go on indelinitely. 1 also think thas when this question was firsl suggested a meeting whe arrangent, and was met witit mrong opposition for Oxfard by a nancurre. Sone of the members. Enlying on the fact lhat it was not in the rules, but only a custom to visil the thee countics in rotation, arranged the meeting at Oxiond, and then relictl on the members that could attend there with bittle rouble, contimally to vote the ofhers down.
This, to my mind, is very selfish, aud as far as I am able I statl Fy tu wir them ofu to ny way of thimking on the question. - Youra F. W, HOPrOOD.

Bear Sir,-There is anolher side to thia Oxford Guild froublye. How woll the late Mnster, the Rev. F. E. Rothoson, knew it! Nothing Would induce bim oven to discuss the quesfion, Fou nast lave the mfunal moeting in differcnt parts of the diocese to keep the Guikl ulive, and get all brnaches interested." I have never forgotten the rap, " le gate me for proposing that ithe ammal meeting should be mital at oxtord, Readiag and High Wycombe, in ratation.  present from Rucks and 57 from Berks, out of a total of 157 ; that laowed fit was nat iscided by the Oxford nuembers alone, and this hould remofe one of the grounds of discontent. To me it plainly slows how few mombers in Oxfordsfine lake no interest in the testival when helti in thmir wily, as they conlal only muster 25 ! Seeing What lie registered number of ringing members is 1,400, the tot al of 157 Who attemied the festival harily expresses the feeling of the Guild. \section*{CAEREEON HNGERS.}

On Satarday, July 20thr six of the Cacrleon rimgers accompanied the choir by boat from Newport to Weston-super-Mare. Leaving Newport at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}_{\mathrm{t}}\), and arriving at Weston at 10.50 a.ml., Mr, s Jomes and his colleagues visited Mr. F. G. Stuckey, who luat made arrangements for them to have a ring at Uphill tis the aflemoon. This was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The poal of six, \(1 n\) excellent condition, cara casily be reached. The bunt mude their way hack for tea, and afterwaris visited the park and gatelens, The mosi mporbant fateasute was the company of the churchwarden (Mr. 1 . Paryy, who is well over seventy years of age, whose atale astistance was greatly appeciated by ala. The day was most enjoyabre one, and the party's beste thanks go to the riear of Uphat for giving permission for the use of the bells, and Mossis. Stuckey, together wiflanother of the locals, for such an execllett reception.

SWINDON FARISH CHURCA.
On Satacday, Jupe \(276 h\), ringing menbers, wives and friende of the above gilid, including that riuging poneer, John Austin, of shice Downs. The start was mate at 8 a.m., Appleton belng reached Rt 9.30 , where everything was in readiness at, the helfry. This light, and zuelotions poal of len were sonn golng to the kune of Stednath nud liramsire Caters. Abingdon. which was reached about 11 a.tu, was the next place to the visiled. Abingdon lias a fine lower, containing a good ring of 10 bells. These were much apprecmaed. A wull-siruck touch of Stemman Caters was rubg by ibc rolowing, H. Bishop, 6 W . Lancaster, 7 C. Gordiner, 8 H. Fearl, 9 S. palmer, 10 L . Wilsan. The bells were then lowercd, and the party for thsey, yin Drapton, which recalls the name of the late Thev. F. E. Rohitson. Ilsey Church containe a most Lalkative peaf of cygh, in splendid tone, and of exceptionally good 'go. Touches Stwdnan Criples and Dothe Norwich wert suecesstully ruthg. Newher was he next call, where lumel was terved. After Pumencon and Double Norwichs, Mr. Benry Curtis, the locals captina, appreciating the visit. The rexi move whs Kintbury, where there hangs nice ring of six. with temor about 16 cwt. Sinuater close to Rriver Kemet, they charm the neighbourlood. I'lata Bob, Kent p.tan. ten being taken fere. No pinging took place afthats lithe atrket town, owiag to the hella being out of order. The party then proceeded fo Great Bedwot, and werc received by the Yicar. Without donbt these were the finest peal of bells they encountered during the day. A louch of Plain Boh aml frandsire Donhies were bought round hare. Tie journey was continued to Rumabury, where there is a splendid belfry, a nice riag of six bells, plenty of room and yoom for improvement. Hhe bell hanger being badly wanted fliere, A toucli of Grandsire Doubles was the only thing accomplished. Aldbomrte was the last tower fo visit, being reached about \(8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{n}\). The Althourme Claureh has a very fine toter and melodious peal of hells. Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were rung, the locals appreciating the art of change ringing. Swiudon was reached ahout 10 p.m., everyone expressing their elljoymont of the day's onting. Thanks are due to Mr. Ernest Bishop for lais excellont organisation, and to all stecplekeepers for their kindness in having ithings ready.

\section*{THE CASTLE CARY RINGEDS.}

The ringers of All Snints' Church, with their wives, hat their annual outing on July 18th. Leaving Cary by charabane nt 8 am. they visited South Petherton, where after a shott tour of the hureh. they bat a ring on the bells: gong on to seaviggton St. Bary, where a light ring of sit enabled them ho have some touches of Grandsire Doubles. llaninster was reached about 11 alock, where an very pleasant fixie was spent on the bells, sorie of ile lacal band being present. The visitors' alsa met a fomer curate and caplain of the Cary ringers, the Ref. Vauglan Jones. At Clard a couple of tonches were rung. The last stage of the journey hrought the company ta Seaton, which provided another light riag of six, which the partoy soou set gomg. When the bells were lowered a tour of the town was made and tea scrvert. Lerving Seaton at 6.30 , the return jonmey was made via Crewkeme and West Coker, home being reached at 10 g.mb., afier spending a mosk interesting

\section*{SPLICED METHOD RINGING.}

It has been somewhat surprising to find that ringers whose operations are largely confined to six-bell ringing are still content, in the vast majority of cases, to go on with the practice of ringing peals of Minor comprising, at best, seven methods only. When a band first learns to ring, a peal entirely of Plain Bob is not to be despised, but when the seven method stage is reached it seems too often to be a landing stage where ringers are content to rest. They may learn new methods for inclusion in their peals; they may go on to something as advanced as Surprise ringing; but there is no reason why they should stay their progress even at this degree of proficiency.

With the advance of the art, it is now possible to introduce a large number of methods into the seven six-bell extents that are necessary for a full peal, so that no one need be content with doing what the best of the practitioners had to be satisfied with in days gone by, and to say, when they have rung 720 of each of the seven most difficult methods, that they have done the utmost that can be accomplished. Thirty-five methods bave been introduced into a peal of seven true extents-even this is not finality-and this is something well worth aspiring to.

Since the system of splicing methods was introduced very few bands have serionsly taken up this form of ringing, and in searching for the cause we have come to the conclusion that one of the obstacles has been that six. bell ringers have either been in doubt as to bow best to set about mastering the ringing in this new style, or have felt it to be beyond their powers.

In the hope, therefore, of encouraging this most intriguing form of six-bell ringing we have been able to induce Mr. Johr P. Fidler, a member of the band who rang at Norbury, Cheshire, the peals in 30 and 35 methods, to write a series of articles, explaining the manner in which this accomplished band succeeded in their task. The first of these articles we publish this week, and we believe that the explicit manner in which Mr. Fidler has dealt with the subject will enable any ringer who understands the Treble Bob principle readily to grasp the system by which 'spliced' ringing is done. Even though bands may not desire to extend the practice to the large number of methods which the Norbury men have rung, or even to ring peals at all, there remains the fact that a seven-twenty rung say, as a Service touch, must be more interesting when it is in five methods than when it is in one method only; and if our our articles lead merely to this end something will have been gained. As instructions in method ringing alone the articles will be of great value, and we trust that Minor ringers will find them wortby of careful study and regular practice.

SUCCUSSIUL IOINT MEETING AT WALTHAM ABEEY.
Members of the above association fraternised at Waltham Abhey on Saburvay last, when a joint meeting of Lhe South-Western Division af the Eesex Association and tre North and Eist District of the Witiflesex Association was held, by Line kindness of the local ringers in giving up their practice night, nad the courtesy of the Vicar the [iev. J:, B. Johnston) in giving lis permission for the meeting lo take place. Visitors began to arrive from all partz soon afler 3 ordeck, and at ans early liour in the afternoon the belfs were set going to strdenan Caters, which was followed by Stedman Cinques and Grandsire Caters
'lea was served at the Cock Thotel at 5.15. The 'chair' was taken by the Master of the Fisex Associafion (Mr. C. H. Howard), who whs supported by Hessis. F. J. Pitstow (general secretary. Essex Ashomiation), E. J. Buller (district secretary, bisex), W. I're (Master, kindlexex Associntion), W. Pickworli (vice-president, Middesex), C. T. L'oles \{district secretary, Midellesex\}, and some 40 Jingers, amonget whom were to he observed sonte "young bloorls ' of the Exercise in Jon Royner, George F, Margetson and James George, whose ages, we holicye, are upwards of 90,80 , and 70 respectively.
Alter tea, the Clairman expressed his great pleasure at being pregent at so succesaful a meeting. Il was a great jder to hold joint mentings of neighbouring associations, whose objects were entirely the same, and who, if they chose not lo give and lake, might ensily ho very ulifriendly, instead of meeling, as they were doing that day, to fajoy themselves together, He hoped inat the meeting would lic an anmual one, or even mare frequent than that, and le also hopat that the tiea wotld be taken up by oflee associations. Ho was glad to see so many present, some from considerable distances away, and hopal that this annual gathering would always he well supportfod. Waltham Ahbey was an ideal place for holding such a mecting, ant they were lucky to have such a Lower, with guch a fine peal of hells, at their disposal. Their friends of the Middegex Assaciation were mways welcome in Essex towers, just fis le was sure that Essex ringers would always be made weleame in Midnlesex. He noticed only this week that the secretary of the Mididersex Association land conducter one peal, ard had rung in anotlier, in Essex, for the Essex Amorialion, and amongst Miflifesex and Essex men. This was just tha spirit, in which they should live logether, and be triated they wnuld alwnys do so.
Mr. C. 'I. Coles thanked Mr. Howard for his very kind referencas

To the Middesex Association, and stated how pleased he was at the success of this joint meeting. His only regret was that they of Middleeex lad no such jaeal spot to which they might invite their Essex friends. When discussing with Mr, Butier where they might ro for this ycar's meeting thic latter had suggesfed Waltham Abbey tgain, und he felt are that the ehoice would meet witl general approwal. He hoped that tho good feeling existing hetweer the two socicties would be all for the good of change ringing. Mr. Coles apologised for the absence of their president (Mr. F'. A. Milne), who was away on holiday.

Mr. W. Pye also voiced his approval of the meating, and his agreement witl the idea of holding it, as also did Mr. Butler.
Mr. James George, on being asked for a spech, gave one of his usual pithy talks on ringing, and alsa expressed his pleasure at moeting Mr. Joe Rayner, of St. Andrew's, Holborn. He added that lie broper he would be as fit as Mr. Rayner in another 20 years. Mr. George also congratulated Mr, R. Sanders on ringing his 500th peal, and elicited from the latter one of the shortess replies on record.
The Clairman proposed that a hearty vote of thanks be given to the Rev. F. B. Johnston for allowing them the use of his very tine peal of bells, and this was carried manimously.
The ringens afterwards paid another risit to lhe belfty, where several new-comers were found, bringing the total attendance up to 50. Some very good touches of Stedman Caterg and Cinques, and a course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, were rumg, untip the party finalls dispersed af about \(8.30 \mathrm{p} . \pi \mathrm{n}\). afiev a very pleasant afternoon.

\section*{MULTI-METHOD PEALS.}

\section*{EINTS ON 'SPLICING AND RLNGING MINOR METHODS. By JOHN P. FIDLER.}

As one peruses the peal columins of The Ranging World ' week by wrek, a very naticeable feabure is the constand lepetition of methods employed in buitding up peals of Minor, many of which are juregular. When one coosiders that 'the Collection of Minor Methods' contans somuthing like 178 thetlods, riz., 29 Plain, 30 Troble 33ob, 35 4th's Ilawe Felight, 42 3rd's Place Delight, and 42 Sturprise methods, the question, "What is wrong?" presends itself. Perlaps it is the absence of explanatory dehal, a circumstance which makes it diticura for musy who desire to ring new muthods. Wilh a wiew to assisting those members of the lxarcise who are thas handicapped, the following details of my experience gained at Norbury, under the tutorship of Mr. James Fermley, will, I feel sure, be of assistance. It sa, riy eflorls will be rewarded.

Before a builder commences crecting a louse, it is neeessary to get plans drawn up, aud alkerwards to secure a good foundation, and so it is in ringing multiple-method peals of Minor'; the band must tirst of u!l have it fourdution to work on, and gradually build up the nuciber of methods to be rung in the peal. The plans awe already drawn up, and will be found in 'The Collection of Methods, and the finished arlicle, a peal in thirty-five methods. To loe able to follow these 'Hints' the more rexdily, the reader shonld provide himself, if be has not already dote so, with a cops of the 'Goliectian of Methods,' publisherl by the Central Council, price 1/2, to be obtained from the Hon. Lithrarjen, the Rev. C. W. O. Jeakyn, Broadiands, Caversham, Reading.

A term new to many will he found used in these artieles, and one which has locer fonnd necessary in our experience at Norbury, ihis is "grouping," This means the "grouping" together of methods having ginilar eharacteristics and which will spliee, a feature that will save the student a good deal of time. (It is to be hoped the nexi edition of the Collection will have all its metlodn "grouped.')

GROUP NO. 1, OR 'THE OXPORD GROUP.'
[n this, it will he found that Oxford Treble Bob is the dominaning method, and wilf he foum on page 8, No. 1. The other mombers of the group being No. 2, No. 7, No, 18 and No, 26, making five in all. For the buncfit of those unacquainted witla the Treble Bob Principle, it will be necessary for them to analyse it and commit the work to memory by the ortler of passing treble, and by no other way.

Let us look at the lead of Oxford given, and take the path of the troble, which dodges in 1-2, 3-4 and 5-6, both up and down. (N.B. - For the dodge in 1-2, the term 'smap' is used.)

Our next bell is the \(2 n d\), it 'smaps' with the treble or passes it in 1-2 down, and takes up the "slow lunt " work. This comprises leading full, and making 2nd's place alternately until treble returns to lead and smaps again, this time being passed in \(2-2\) wh,
At the'lead cod, the 2nd will now be seen in 3rd's place. Therefore, it will be necessary to carry on the analysis by following the path of the 3re. The bell passing treble \(1-2 \mathrm{mp}\) makes 4 th's thace and returs to leat, passing treble 2-3 down, leads full and does Treble Bob wark, i.e., andges in 3-4 and 5-5 up. The dodge in 5-6 in this case is with the trelble, so another note must he made-pass treble in 5- 5 uf dodge 5-6 down, rake 3rd's piace, and roturr to dodga both wayg in 5-6. (The lead ond coming just previous to the 3rd commeacing the rodge, and that bell occupying 5th's place, return to learl head and follow the path of the 5th.) Our dodge in 5-6 down ended, treble is passed in 4-5 down, continue the Treble Bob work, bui without the 'snap,' a fult lead being substifuted, fud treble is now passed \(3-4\) up; continue ine Troble Bob wark.
On coming to the lead end, the 5 th occupies 6th's plate, and me see that the Treble Bob work is continued until treble is met in 3-4 down. The work is as in \(4-5\) down, but troble being next passed in \(4-5\) up, the work is now similar to that of the bell passing treble 5- 6 up, i.e., 3 rd's place being made after dodging bath ways in \(5-6\).
The 6th occupying 4th's at the lead end, follow the path of the 4th. and it is seen that after making the place, returns up behind and dodges; dodges with treble 5-6 down, and continues Trehie Bob work: affer leading, passes troble 2-3 up, makes 4th's place and returns Wheat, to satap treble and take up the 'Slow Hunt,' ar the work of the boll we commenced with, i.e., the 2nt, flus completing the course. OXFORD.
TE will be found necessary to have a notebook to write down the results of the analysis in the following mamer:-

Pass Theble
> -2 now
> -2 up.
> \(2-3\) nlown
\(5-6\) un.
> \(4-5\) down
\(3-4\) up.

Slow izell.
(out of alow') make 4eh's and return to lead. iead fall, Treble Bob work dodge 5- 6 down, make 3 rd's mace and out helind. doulge in 5-6.
Prhle Bob work, as in 2-3 nimwn
Treble Fob work.

3-4 down. Theble Bob work, as in 2-3 down,
4-5 ир.
5-6 down.
work as in \(5-6 \mathrm{up}\).
\(5-6\) down. work as in 4-5 down.
2-3 up. make 4th's place and into slow.
As the work at a Bob' is net shown with the lead given, it is shown herewitl, and an analysis on the lines given woald record it as follows:-
\[

124365 1-2 and 2-3 up, as at a platin lead.
\(413265 \quad 3-4\) and 4-5 up, ilie work behind becomes a \(143256 \quad\) triple dodge in \(5-6\).
\(\begin{array}{lll}4 & 1 & 2 \\ 4 & 6 & 5 \\ 4 & 2 & 1 \\ 6 & 3 & 5\end{array} \quad 5\) up, makes 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, and up belind.
It will not ixe necessary to worry about what has to be done next, i[ the pupil is convereant with the work by means of passing treble, because tho next position in which he meet that bell tells him immediately the work he has to do.

\section*{CONDUCTING}

For the produation of the exlent, 'Bobs' will, af course, be reguired. From study of the work given, il will be seen that two behs are unaffected by the call. When tha observation bell is in one of these two positiong, a call must be made, except when a pre-arranged bell is also in a position unaffected by the bob. For example, say the calling will be 'Tenor wiohout the 5th,' call a bob every time the tenor goes either in or out af slow, except when the 5 th js goirg into slow as tenor is coming out. In simple terms call tenor "In, Out In, twice repented,' the figures for this 720 are as shown:-

42563
\(\begin{array}{r}35642 \\ -63542 \\ \hline\end{array}\)

The truc extent can be produced by emplaying any two bells in these positions.

Twice repeated.
Hawing thoroughly committed Oxford to memory and practised it, attention must now be burned to Kingston (No. 18, page 121. Jet us analgse it in the manner described, and see what we find. The first item of nate is that all the work done after passing treble up is the same as Oxford. That being known, attenfion can be concentrated on the work after passing treble dowa.
Stayt with the 2nd, passing treble 1-2 down takes un tive slow, hut not a continuous one, as in Oxford. It gets broken up halfewhy through. which must be recarderl in the notehook.

The next position to note is 2-3 ciown, see 3 rot, which after passing treble in that place, leads fall and comnences the midde work, which is place making. i.e., 3 rd's, 4 th's, 3rd's, \(4 \mathrm{th}^{\text {r }} \mathrm{s}\), and passes treble 4.5 up.
The next bell to pass treble down is the 6th. which passes in 3-4, and this is the bell to break up the slow. Sliould the man already in slow forget what lie is doing, the \(3-4\) ane can soon pulthim right. His worte commences with a triple dodye on the lead, whilst the atlier, which ho has come to relieve, does a triple dodge off the lead. Fiawing completed this dodge. the bell relieved meets treble in \(3-4\) up; the other one romaining in slow until treble comes to \(j\) t.
The work of the 5th occupies the next position. which is 4-5 down. taking up the middle work in conjunction with the \(2-3\) hell, and opposite, i.e., 4 th's, 3 rd's. 4 fh's, 3 rd's. On completion, they go their respective ways, the 2-3 bell, up; and the 4-5 bell, down.
We have now soly ons position left. Tt requires no thinking about. and is more likely to upset the treble man than the other. The hroll passing Irehle \(5-6\) down, makes 5 th's. and passes it \(5-6\) up. The result of tha analysis will be as follows :

KINGSTON

\section*{Werk up, as in Oxford.}

\section*{Work down:-}

4-5 4th's, 3rd's, 4th's, 3rdi's. lend and out.
Yols work, nnd conducting as in oxford.

After study it will be ween that the bells work in pains, an udvantage which must not be lost sight of, nut a circumslance enablag a weak ringer to be pulled through. I cannot impress this point too strougly, and the reason will soon make itself manifost to those whan Lake nuvantage of these lints and practise the mothorls.
'l'le two melhods having beco thoronglhy thastered, attention musi bo turued to splicing blien, and a little varjety added by ringing an extent iu two metheds. A plain course of ench method prodnees pxaetly the same elagges, but in different leads; therciore thenethods will only aplice course for conrse, wheln means that a full course, unaftected by bobs, of one method must be rung. and the courses colttaining bobs are rung to the ofluer method.

Thu ouly hip I can give to the ringer is: Remember the method yon are ringing, it is so easy to forget. To the conductor, do not try and memorise the lends protuced hy Oxford, and those by Kingston. The caling is the same as before, and having been mastered requires no more explanation. Communce ringing the extent with Oxford, and ring this method untill the first bob is called, aud just as tive treble is loaving the show bely, change over fo Kingston, continue riggiog this until the third boh is called, it is ihe last one in the part, they change back to Oxford up to the first bob in the second part, when change again and carry on as in the first part.

Dear Sir,-Please accent my best thanks for your courtesy and kindness in publishimg the artieles that I have contributed to your columns.
In the eight columons of figures in last waek's article on London Sin' prose, E do not fad a single figute misplaced : great credit is due to Jour compositor for his cerefal setting up.
Probably I an mostly to blame for one error in regard ta the progreseions, hecause although my press copy shows the proper progresgion firgl, 1 write of comparing ju with the seren-pard tonch progression, whereas I intended to comparc the sevea-part totdeln with lhe proper progression, as follows

Proper progression \(5907864 * 32\)
7 part toucli progression 54779621830
N.B.-The asterisks are introduced to eatule the progression to bo slown by a singlo operation.
In this way only can the progression \(90812 \times 49280\), which is equivaient to 41532, be obtained.
I think that the readers of this jonraal, who are compelent to judge, will agree that I have proved what I net out to do, but as there daes not seem any widespread desire for this kind of know ladge. I have ame to the conclusion lhat it is not worth while fo go on with it.-Tours Faithfaty.

\section*{CORRECTIONS TO PEAL COLLECTIONS. To the Editor.}

Dant Sirs-May I. through your colurnts, druw the attention of yout readets to the uddinion which has resently been made to the Central Council putalications in your udpertisements?

1 reter to the Corriganta Leatlebs, the history of which, is as Tollows: A lew years ago if was represented at a Council mecting that fir tho three books known us "Collection of 1"eals, Scelions I., II. anm IIf. there were a great number of falise peals, as well as mistending figures, owiog to misprints. I whs instructed by the Couneil to get the books corvected and a list of corrections pablished. The work was molertaten by the Reve, F. L. James, IF. S. T. Richardson, F. S. Iowell, and Messrs. J. A. Trolnepe and H. W. withe, and a long and tedious work it was. Eath hook was carefully gone throrgla by these experts, furd every pual cxamined ng to its truth. An exception wns mare in the case of Ghandsje Triples, which peals were eonsidered to be sufficiently established.

Tho result of this work is now olteren la the Exetrise for two pence, ant is a most waluable rddition to the books in quention.xours truly,

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. \\ EASN BliRKS AND SOUTHI HETCKS BRANCH HOL[DAY MEETING.}

An August lank Holinay meeting of the above finild was held at Sloagh anki Stoke loges, and athough the weather seemed rathet doabiful, the visitars tuever were. ly ley were there in plenly, toon from 'nil ower. Age was very woll representod, in the pertoris ot Messuss Joe waglonm (Fikst Hari) and Tom Beadle, [sleworth, with some of his "boys." Ringers were also noticed from southaule, Eatield, Mancliester, LinildFord and London, fraternisting with a hosi of local brethren. It should be mentioned that it when si ome time flought the fuir sex would bo in the majortiy, hut althotigl thiz was not so, therr presence leat a delightiful atr to the proceentigs. The general branch secretary very early had the bells at. Slouglt going to various methods, and during the morning everythivg (almost) mas rit. tempted and mostly rang, several of tha people present scaning 'first tonches " in one or olher method. The chatelt ath tower, modern buildings of red brick, wilh sandstone and flint dressings, stand in a good open position, andi the ringing can be heard all round to a pleasing advantage. Tlae writer heard many comments fOl, yes? complimentary) on the heaty of the bells and ringing generally. 'Twelse-thirty whe the 'appointed time,' so the hells were very nively lowered in peal, and the company in, stall we sy, sections, groups or round biocks, by bue, fool, bite or car, hied them up to Floke Poges, many taking lunely ot Slougin, or on the way at blieir onf sweet will. Two o'clock san a goodly muster at this historie old churchry which, as most people fnow, has famous associations, the grontent being presumably in conncetion witl the poel Gray, and William Penv.
I tho not prapose, writes our corraspondent, to intict on you thm history of the whole thing thecanse I don't know il), so if you'll suppose we've seen alf the points of inlerest in church and churehyard, we will pass undel 'that yew tree's shade' to tha beliry, whele there are six musical bells, Simpson turned by the Croydon Fotandry, whin were soon raisod and giring forlh tarions 'tunes,' mosily having lopn-what-is-it rames. Landon, Cambridge, Kent and Oxford were some I heard. Several here had their first toueh of Spliced Minor, and Foted it "trictey" Onn thing noled in particular was that, whelher it is a boat race or some ringing, lile taclies seem to lave a greal partiality for 'Cambridge,' which speaks volumes for someone's Iur tion. Also, " tea will be serwed at "Cambridge," Wexlam." All Cambrifge todary, you sec, so a nice party found their way to a delightf al spot, where the scerotary and his good lady lagd been hasy with ollhers prepariag to saect the wants of the inner man. I spenth for myself. A splemad tea having boen partakem of on the lawn the evening whs fevoted to temis (what comery ont Arthur has to hy down a court amf garden, keep it going, put in a lot of ringing, and in his sparce time ga to 'lowis' every dayl, and ofber games, intere spersed witls haniluell ringing, in which some of the gentler sex made a heginning of history, I hope. Somo lames hy her. and Mis. Barker and Mr. Slownonelı were murh enjoyed by the multimate, the fun as well as the tomish being Enst and furious, except whon some playgr forgol, and lith a homindar\%. Or, passing an to another game, a playar got dif 8 in 2 or \(n 9\) in 3 al clark golf. Or course. Mr. Way sad "Call the bliud in the lume and limey'll come home af hazd.'

The thauks of the members and visitors are due fo the inemments of boib clurchos for the nse of the hells, and in largest measure to Mr. and Mrs. Barker, the liosh fund hostess, for their great efforls to make a righi pleasant day (in whinin they suceecden), flas to their laty and gentimmen Ielpers.

TH: 'LAWS' OF THE EXERCISE AND THE NOMENCLATURT: COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

\section*{By J. ARMIGER rROLLOTE.}

Puple lalk about the laws of chnnge ringing, nat say that you must not to this or you mast not do that. We all do it. Some time aro a very old and mach palued hread of mine told me that ho proposed to go tor a peal of St. Clement's Triples. What could I do bat says then there was a genting of four separate quarter-peals, one each of London, Bristol, consimbifige int Superiative. That came before the Ceatral Conmein, and the assmbled wisdem of the Exevcise unanimously forbade it. Yoll nusta'tis' the Courcil said, 'You are breaking the law which *ays hat you must not ring the same change twice in a peal.' I tremernher a case where a well-known man refused to start. for a peal of §omarar becanse the conductor directed two bolls to Jre still at the tart. "You musin'tit do it," lie said, 'it is against the rules."
Brbind all ulas there is a vague idea that chenge ringing has a defuitr code of strict zules whifl ringers are bound to abey, like the rilles of cricket and football, and such sports.
But it is not so. There is no analogy whatever between the uras of ringing and the rules of ordinary sport. The rules of cricked are dum to the fact that here you have competilion between two teams, atud you must have laws to hold the batance between the opposing partieg. Anyone who deliberalety breaks one of these \(1 \pi\) ms is guilty of wulairmess. And you have a central loody which had not only andoriby to make liws, but power to enforce them. Tluere is nothing un the eort in ringing. Thore is not, and never has been, any central body with power lo say to ringers, " You shall not do such and such in thing." And no ruite was ever andopted by the Exercise to promat men doing anything they thought fit. Competilion does not directly enter into change ringing, and, therefore, there is no neeti ta make haws to hotil the balance between contending persons. If, in rricket. a bowler throws, lie is guilty of unfairness, becauge he is putting the balsman at a disadrantage. But there ja no uniairness Them a tund rings a peal of Bob Trjples or starts a peal of Grandsire Gnker with 6-7 Jying still.
What has hippened is this: During three centuries, the Eacercise lins found out by expertence that if you mant to get the best out of ringing there are certain things which it is adrisable to do, and certrin llings which it is adrisable nol to do. Our rules are anly a set mond hions as to how you can get the best out of ringing. They are good sdrice, uot definitelaws. Every hand has ultmately the right to say whether they will take the advice or not. There is no rule which a band may not break freely if they have sufficient reason, end tivere is no muthority that can cali them in quasion if they do so.
"But, Jou will say, "how aboul the Law of Trults? Surely it is a mingent rule that jou may nof ring the same change twice? No, aid swell dunt You musi not, incieed, say rou have lung a irue poat mater of commor morality. Ererybody, in all flings, admits that 110 nite may claim to have done what he has nat fone. In sinort, you must not tell liea Amd when yon publinh a peal you do say you liare rung a true poal.
Hut where youl make no such cinim-in ordinary short touches, for instnace-there is no reason trly you shoutd not tiave repetition of pows. And I for one can see no reason why o hand should not ring four cuarter-penls, one in each of the four Surprise methorls, since by so loing they openly admit that rows which come in one come also in anolher; ant, perhaps, in all four.
Now, to not think I am advacating general iawlessuess in ringing Tiners. Noulhing of the sort. Just remember what our rules are. perime of theod anvice gatlered together during cenfuries by the exadvice, hat you wan depend farcise. Fou have the rimht to disregard the about the moater than yous do ; and yout can he sume that vou wifl do well, from the joint of view of your own interests, to keep to do generalls accepted rules.
People used to think and say hard things abont the Mretson? Committee, because they thought thal we were trying to impose on somens of thenary rules and restriclions of our own invention. And tance. It was not so. Whismul, we were trying to dowerge and experiand modify the mperience of the were trying to do was fo gather up molhod should have Boh Major Thend Finds, and he symmetrical, gond not have atyy one hell lying nore linat two consocutive hows in alav ' Fosition, and the other things, we were nof saying to ringors, tho must sot ring other methods; but thal these generally are what tho exporience of the Fxelcise las found to be necossary, we where right. This. then, is all that the Crentral Connd out that we were ran do-it can tive goon adwice; it can Council mat ils commiltees point out the more exallent way, It cannot definitely fortid ringers to do anything; mor, if it could, would it be advisablu (ringing beng what it is) for it to do 50.
I am moved to these ohscrvations by the report of the commatiee on momenclature. The good intention and the abilities of that committee are nol in question, but they takr up a joosition and ask for powers whict the Exercise al large will never concede to thera, and which the Central Council will, J [ully believe, never grant. What thoy ask for is nothing less than antocratic powers over the names of all methods, past, present, and to came. They ask for the right, to alter the names of any old method they think fit, and to suppress such us they deem unsuitable; and to decicle, apparently without appeal, what names should be used in fisture. It canat bo. The names of the past belong to hislory and to past. generalions. The names of the future belong to the future, and I ana quite sure that a band which rings a new method will object, and rightly object, to anyone forbidrling them io call it what they think fit.
Besides, the committee bave made an excarsion from their proper splere ialo the diffeult and much debated region of elassificalion. I am sure I do them no injustice in saying that their qualifications for that are of the slenderest. But whal can the committce do? They can give good advice. They can to something-they can do a hol to create in good style and good faste in this matear. Do not think the thing is easy. It is hard indeed to say exactly mbat does constitute in good name; far harder fian to propose the draslic changes of the present report.

\section*{A EENTISH TRIP.}

The ringers of Ospringe Church (Kenif) had thair annuri outing on Bank Holiday, and during fhe day they risited four towers, and spent some time at each of them in ringing. Leaving Ospringe at 8 a.m. they joumeyen through Chillam and Conterbury to Elham, where they made is stay of an hour, and lad their first ring. l'zom Elham they went on to lommage, wheve anolher lalt was made for an Jour, aud the church liells set gojeg. The aiternoon was spent at Folkestone, hat it was not confined to listening to the music of the waves, an hour or so being passed in a pull on the bells of the Harish Charch. Tha homeward journer in the evening was wia Ashfard, and there also the ringers found their way to the church tower, and had their last ringing for the day, after whoch the party had supper fogether, leaving Ashford for home shortly after ten. At both Folkestone and Acluford the party (who were accompanicd by the Ficar and churchwardens) were met by the local ringers, and the twe bands spent an enjoyable lonr together.

\section*{CHELTFNHAM RINGERS FISIT CIRENCESTER}

The members of Chelieulsam and St. Mary's Guidd, with a few friends, enjoyed an outing an Bank Roliday. although Ithe day weas not congenial for a motor irip, it in no wise damped the spirits of the company, who journeyed to Nurth Cerney, Perrott's Brook, Cirencester and Frirford. The start was from the house of the capacain (Mr. W. T. Pates), and soon things took a checrful aspect. Stopping at North Cermey, the members visited the small but very nice tower of the charch, and soon lad the bells going in melry changes. No worder the good folk of the vilage asked if a wedding had taken place. After the bells bad been lowered, and the Vicar thanked for the welcome, a move wss made to Perrott's Brook, where a very substantia! meal awailed the parly, who then moved on to Cirencester. The rain was stil] pouring down on arvival, but it dit not in \(n y^{*}\) way interfere wilh tho biying and selling in the market, in which mosi of the party became interested, but a fow strokes on one of the bells soon brought the band together in the lovely church, and soon the bells were ringing out their sweet music. What a lovely peal of bells they are! Lucky Cirencester to possess them ! After a short sojourn, a move was mate to Fairford, where the company were med by some of the locad rimgers. After a rapied survey of the interior of the church, further ringing took place, in company with the local men. Toucles of Stedman, Grandsire ant Pates' combination of methods were rung in alt the towers visited. Tea was provided at Fainford, after which the members rommed the village and surroundings before returaing to Civencoster and Perrolt's Brook for supper. By lhis time the rata had coased, athd the return journey was made under ideal conditions. Alfer supper, song, ete-, held sway for a couple of hours. The foilowing rendered songs and a touch on the handbells: Messrs. W, T. Pates, Yeend, senr., Foster, Parsons, Collier, Humphris, Clements and Sykes. Clieltenlım was reached about 9.30 p.rn., after a mosi enjoyable day.

\section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. \\ PRESTON BRANOH ANNUAL MEETING.}

The annual meeting of the Preston Branch, which was held at Highey Walton on Saturlay, AugusL 1st, was very sucenss[ul, methbers heing prosent From Brindle, Chorley, Eccleston, lagland, Press ton, Penwortham, and the local band, in addition to one member of the Wigan Brancls, and Mi. R. L. Ince, of Jinrodon, near Chester, ull old branch member, who was heartily welcomen by the members, ind who got good practice, of which he has lad very litule recently, in Yain Hob, Kent and Oxford 'treble Bob.

At the business meeling the chair was oncupied by Blr. Fi. R. Mat tin. (Ringing Master) and the zecretaly gave a report of the yerr working of the bratreh. He said there had becn eleven meetings ladit by the brancls, including a joind maeting with the Fumess Hranch, w Lancaster, with atm averago atlendance of 27 members. Tlue meating at Brownedge was the first to he hele thera by lhe association, an! they were hearify welcomed by the Rector and ringers, of whom lour have become members of the association. Mnny of the membern he cousidered were more adwanced than they were twelve months agu, as, altheugh the number of branch peals was less, the number of members ringing their first, peal, and fret in a method, was well up to the average, 29 members having rung in the different peale, anongst them being the first lady ringer to ting a peal for the buathe Miss May Clayton, of Hogliton. The peals rung were as fol lows: One Cambridge Minor at Brindle, the firsi by the haraneh, anil rung by the local band; two of Grandsire 'riples (one at Clorley, and one at Hoghton by the local band, this heing the first by louals since 1893); two of Kent Treble Bob Najor (one at Samleslany, rurg with the bells half-muffled as a last token of raspect to the late Ficar of Samlesbury, who was an honorary life member, and one at Hogbs ton) ; also a peal of Minor in three methods at Fecleston. Entrame fees, subscriptions and salo of diagrams had brought in e7 10s, laf 10 date. They had elected cleven new members, including one homrary. He was sorry to say lher lat lost two life members by dealh, onde the Rev. T. W. Broadiead, of Samleabury, who died whilst an a jouraey to Blackburn, and Alr. Henry Robinsor, of Walton-le-Dale, who died whilst atfonding to his diutios as sexton. Mr. Tobingon was their oldest member, and 孔ati been a wervice ringer 63 ycars. 'Wey had also lost two or three otlier members, who had gone to resile in other districts, one of whom, Mr. E. Robinson, was now an active member of the Yorkshire Associalian, as proved by lis peal ringing on lower and handbells. 'The fourth anmual social at Preston was quite up to the previous ones, as far as the social side was concemed, althougli it was not an entire success financially, and it gave tha Preston nembers pleasure to know that their efforts were nןpre ciated. At the Fehruary meeting a gift of great interest to ringers generally, and especially to the Preston ringers, was made on bohalf of Mr. T. Tussam, of Birmingham. The gift consisted of a print of the Preston Parish Church, as it was in 1821, and two pead recorils of peals that were rung there in 1831 nind 1837. The gift was greatly nppreciated not only by the ringers, but \(b_{y}\) the Vicar anf warilens.
The election of branch offieers then took place, the secrelart antil Finging Master beng re-eiccted, and Mr. W. Silarples was elected on the committee in place of Mi. J. T. Miller. The present acting members of the assomation were nominatell for the respective positions of vice-president, ringing secrelary and autitors.

The meeting closed with rotes of thanks to the Vienr for the ase of the bells, and to the local men for laving all in readiness, and arranging teas; also to the chairman for presiding.

The tower was ngain visited, when good practice was land in Cambridge Surprise, a method which shmuld be fung at most of the fullure meefings.

Fisilors to flua Isfand may inspect the very interesting peal and rectirl lhotks of William Rayner, which aro kep in Newzort belfry, on application heing narde to Mr, W. Upton, ine popular distriet smomary of the Isle of Wight distriet.
One can easily imagite Rayner, who was a tumer by trade, with lis mate, foo local artificer in iron, finkeriug thout with the helts llat coubl be desired. The parzon of those days was probably too busy with his fox fombang punsuits ever to want to lister to anythins monected with the hells, which were oul of sight, and ihe belfry atainpalse too fall of dirt and colmebs for hime ever to be induced the sispmil. And thus Rayner would have been left to his own devices to kep the bells going, while at the same time he visiled other rharches to spread the ant of change ringing. We of the present day aro manostionably intebted thangen of the Rayner type, who kepi things going in those datk ages, because theif influence lired for wars ins the respective neighbominools in which they operated, and is in fact fe!t at the preand lime.

MORE DJSTRICT MEETENGS WAN'TED.
A general meeting of the Norfolk Guitd was held at Diss on Baut Holiday. The ring of eight bells at Diss, and also the ring of eight at Ealgrave weve placed at the disposal of the members. The lumcheon took place at the King's Head Fotel, the Rector of Diss (the Rev. Ralph L. Whytehemd) presiding, supported by the following members of the commitfee: The Rev. W, O. Pearson (vice-president), dr. Arthur L. Coleman (sectatary), Mr. William Irelame (district secretary for Diss), and also Dr. Arthur L. Vaughan, and representatives from Diss, Henley, Norwich, Palgrave, Thornham Magna, etc.

The toast of 'The King ' was proposed by the chajrman, and duly honoured.
At the business meeting which followed, the secretary amounced that apologies for now-attendance liad been zeceived from the president (the Dean of Norwich), the Rev. R. M. Downton, Messis. G. P. Burton, C. E. Borrett, E. B. Wilson and F. R. Borrett.

Mr. J. A. Herbert was elected a life member (non-resident), and Messrs. E. J. Barlon and P. N. Barton, of Buxton, were elected performing members.
Mr. A. L. Coleman (secretary) brought tefore the meeting the secrelary of the Central Gouncil's letter to the 'Rivging World,' with reference to the Standing Commitlee's appeal to the Bishop of Coventry to stay the melting down of the Covenlry bells, and said he thouglat the action that tho Standing Committee had taken shouln have the support of the meeting, but before moving a motion he Would reat Mr. E. Alezander Foung's letter, whidt appeared in the ' Ringing World ' of July 3lst. In support of that letter \(l_{\mathrm{e}}\) movel! the following motion, "That this general meeting of the Norfolk Guild lield at Diss, Aufusb \(\mathrm{Zr}_{1} d, 1925\), endarsesthe action of the Standing Committee af the Central Coumeil ori Church Bell Ringers in approaching the Bishop of Coventry witla the view to staying the melling down of the ring of ten bells of the Church of St. Miehael's, Coventry, and that the motion be forwarded to the Rex. H. Hoiland, Mr.A. St. Meliael's, Coventry. \({ }^{2}\)-The Rev. W. ©. Pear son econded the motion, which, on being put before the meeting by the clairman, was carried nem, con,
Mr. Coleman (secratary) said that he had teceived a letter from Mr. F. R. Borvet with reference to the cost and gize of the annuat report, and suggestions for the consideration of the comanittee, and for discussion \(b y\) the members at the Diss meeting. The secretary stiggetter a small commit tee he appointed to deal with the matter. -The Rev. W. C. Pearson moved, and Mr. J. F. Dufteld seconded, 'That Mesers. C. E. Borrett, F. R. Borrett, G. P. Burton and the secretary, be appoinien the committee, and this was agreed to.

Mr. J. F. Duffield opened a discassion on the ncen for more district meetinge, and moved ihat the meeting instruct the general secretary to write to the district scereiaries with the viow of organising district meefings on Satirday afternoons.-MI". A. L. Colemnn said that he fully agreed with what ifr. Duffield had said on the need of holding more district meetings, and thought that if the members in their respective districts vallied rown their district secretaries, fhere should be no difficulty for eacli of the elewen districts to hold at least one meting during the smmmer months. He thonght there was no nead to pass a motion, but would write to the districti secretaries ou the subject of disturie meetings.

A rote of thanks was accorded to the Rew. R. L. Whrebencl for plesiding, and for the use of his hells, and also to the Thev. B. Mr. Downton for the use of the ring of eight bells at Palgrave.

The meeting then closed, and the members adjourned to the beltios of Diss and Palgrave for more ringing until the evening.

\section*{THE HISTORY OF RINGING.}

In his 'Notes by the Way' this week, Mr. J. A. Trollope discusses the question of compiling a history of tinging, and suggests the steps by which this might be accomplished. This is a matter which we have several times advocated in this column, for the Exercise at present has its records scattered here, there, and everywhere, and there is no sort of connected history of the art in existence. To the ringer of to-day and of the future, the story of the past should make a deep appeal; those who have taken the trouble to study the evolution of the art during the two and a half centuries which have passed since Fabian Stedman launched his 'Tintinalogia,' are already well aware of the vast interest which enwraps those early days, particularly the eighteenth century, when men strove with perseverance for yeats to accomplish those things which to-day are looked upon almostas elementary performances, although, let us not forget that they achieved some things which would have been acknowledged great even in these days. In ringing, as in all other things, present knowiedge is built up largely on the successes and failures of the past, but with the progtess of time we shall, unless steps are taken to prevent it, lose sight of muct which is of value from the historical standpoint

Bells and ringing form a vast strbject, or series of subjects. Their story covers not merely centuries of time, but a variety of material that would reguire many volumes to treat in even a general way, and no history, if it is to be within reach of ordinary readers, could touch upon any but the most important details. The selection of material, however, could not be satisfactorily accomplished without the his:orian having before him all available information, and Mr. Trollope suggests the steps by which, in course of time, the desired end might be reached. The task would, inevitably, be a long and laborious one, and the difficulty is to find the man, first of all with sufficient time and interest, and also with the pecessary literary ability, to write, in the end, that history of ringing which so many desire to see compiled. It is hardly a task for a committee, although the backing of the Central Council would be valuable. Indeed, the financial aspect of such an undertaking would make it essential that the person who shouldered the work should not have to risk a serious monetary loss, But this ultimate poblication is a matter which the future can settle. The immediate task is the collection of information, and in this, we believe, those who undertook the responsibility would receive ready help from ringers all over the country. We hope that Mr. Trollope's ideas will be matured: he occupies a position in connection with the Central Conncil which will enable him to put the subject forward in the right quarter, and to get the assistance of the people best able to help.

\section*{BRADPOLE RINGER DROWNED.}

Quite a gloom was cast oper the Dorset village of Bradpole, near Bridport, a fortnight porgo by the accidental drowning of one of its parishioners. A party of youths weab bathing at West Bay on Friday afternoon, August 7th. At a spot kevwn as ' Table Rook;' two of them got into difficulties. One- \(\Omega\) lad, aamed Kinght-was courageously rescued by a sea scout, but arother, Eric Foote, aged 18, was unforlunately carried away and drowned, and the body was not recovered till some liree hours later.

Eric Foote had always idenified bimself with Bradpole Chureh, first is \(n\) choristor, ant later as a bell ringer, being, in the latter cepacity, a most regular attendant.
The funeral took place on Monday weck, anid sigus of much sympathy with the relatives.
the body was borne to ilie grave by four local ringors, Mesars, Chester, Clarke, Elsworth sud Swaftield, while in the evening a quar-ter-peal of Gusndsire Triples were rung, with the bells half-maffled hy the Collowing band: C. Clarke 1. T. Hervey Besms (conductor) 2, A. A. Hughes \({ }^{3}\), J. Zealley 4. W. D. Smith 5, ए. Hayded Beams 6, F. Buglez 7, W. S. B. Northover 8.

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY. \\ THE HISTORY OF CHANGE RINGING.-WANTED, AN HISTORLAN. \\ By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.}

Onc of the best things about change tinging is iis manysidedress, and the number of differenl ways in which it can interest different sorts of people. Yorgciar be a peal ringer, and pile up your three or fons hundred peals in a dozen or so methods-you have only touched one part of the hrt. You can be an expert, composer, and understand all the tricks of tho trado-lhere are still turther things to do. You many know all about tite laws of method constraction (though nobody does: and even then there are further things to interest you. There are matters of archoology and history big enough to provide work for an industrious man's spare time for many years. Bell inscriptions and the listory of bells themselvee are not exactly a part of change ringing, and they require qualifications not to be foumb among ordinary ringers, sueh as knowledge of Latin, to say nothing of nuch spame time and money. But there is one thing that can be done, and that should be done; which is to collect a complete copy of the peal hoardis throughout the country. Complete, that is, within litrits. Nobody wants to read all the peal boards, al large proporlion is of no interest to anyone, and to copy them wouldi be a stupentious task without any fitting reward. We can reduce the number to managentle size by ruling out any of later dates ilan 1880. Perlapss it would be adwisable to fix the date still earlier. All those of the eighteenth century, of course, we must have, and, yerhaps, the first half of the ninctenth century. For the rest you can indude boards which record first performances, or peais of unusual interest, long peals, boards, which it lustrate the history of famous ringers or famous handis, and a certain number of the boards with quaint features. Of course, a lot of the oldest and most intercasting of the peal hoards have been copicd, and bave been printed in different books, and from them we get a larga proportion of what we know about the early history of ringing.
The Exercise owes more than it acknowledges to the labours of Mr. Jasper Snowdon in this matter. When we constier that his ringing wareer was little more than ten fears long, the gmount he got inta it is wonderful. Other people, too lave copied and printed peal hoards, here a litile and there a little, but the thing has never heen done as a whole. This is a matter which might engage the attention of the Central Council. Unless an entlusiastic and able man with plenly of opportunities for getting about, will como forward and undertake the task, the best way would be to work through the territorial associations. First, cacli association should make \(n\) survey of its own county or diocese, and send in a return showing what peal boards thef possessed, and a brief deseription of each. Later on, as desired, full particulars could be oblained. As each ycar passes, the old boardn get more unreadable, the wooden ones get more decaycd, and now and then one collapses through age, and, perhaps, is never repaired. These things do not happen in the bigger and well cared-for belfries, such ns Maderoft, or St. Martin's, Birmingbam, and such like. It is in out-of-ihe-way towers, where once there wis a hand that for a time made ringing hisfory, and which has sinee lapsed into obscurity or in city churches, where there is no regular band, and no one to care for such thinga; or in towers where the bells are unringatile, and where now no onc goes; or in places where yout ring an the ground floor, and some parson, with an ithl for puiting matters straighl, oh jects to having such things in churet, and so makes a clean sweep.
When the collection is complete-it would take many years-but when it is complete the Central Council should publish, not the lot, perhaps. but a big selection, and a very interesting book ik would be It would melude the record of the first peals in the standard methods, the long lengtbs, and the accounts of quite a number of peals rung in methods which seem to have been utterly forgoten. For instance there is a Doard at Maidstone recording a peal of Maidstone Bob Major Royals. Does anyone now know what Maidstone Bob Major Royals wrs?
Then you would thave a number of curions and quaint boards, of which the following, which langs in the helfry of St. Paul's, Hammersmith, is a good example.

GOD SAFE THE QUEEN

A gool many men at one time or another lave stood ininks round, and a food minny ringers have partaken thercof, but did anyone elsa ever record tho fact in golid and verniliou, and in a church of all places \({ }^{\text {? }}\)
This boayd lins in listonical interest, apard, from ringing. The ohief of the 'vindiclive and unzelonting enemies' of Queen Carolime was none other than lier hashand, Gearge IV., tha roigning King of England. After some miserabla and disgraceful years of inarried lif broughic an action for divoree agrinst har in the House of Lords. Apparently the lady was no better than she slould have been, and the gonllenatt a good deal worse than le need hape bean, and the conn found in her favout. The boatd gives a good idea of the popular opinion and the excilement the trial caused.
When we have gat the complete copies of the peal boards one step will have been marle lowhrd that definilive history of change ringing which one dar will have to be wriden. A big stel, hut only one of the things that will have to he thone. Another thing is to make a complefe search through the files of the old newspaperf, especially those of the cighteenth cantury.
This is a long and lerlious jols, hut not gutin so bail as it inoka. Muel has atready been tome. There is the nollection made by fhat onthusiast, the late MT". Samuel Sinier, of Glemsford. Mr. Jeream, of Salishury, inss much naterina, and quite recontly Mr. George Burlan Las discovered and published interesting items from the odd Norwich papers. It will he remenbered that he found the record of the first peai of Donble Norwich Royal ; a peal which was holieved to have been ruag, but of which all detniledi nceaunt had been lost. I noyself found by accideat at reference to a peal of Grandsire l'riples ruge at Nar. wish so long ngo as December 28th, 1719. It was in a letter written to the "Norwich Gazettee, hy Thomas Melchior, in reference to tha first peal of Stedmen Triples vugg at Mancroft. No other account of the peal exists, and the nemory of it has quite perished. When I read it at, firsi, [ thanght it referred to the well-known peal of Garthon's, rung in 1718. It was only in after years that a comparison of the dates and such particalars ns were nvnilable showed that it was n quite different peal.

Them there are the warious MSS. preserved in publis libraries, Mason's, at Downing College, Crmalridge; Aonable's and Oshorne's, at the British Museum. I have long promised myself to tako an opportunty of inspecting this lakter, and finding out what it contains. Mr. Snowidon printed several extacts, but whether there is anyiling fur* ther of inlerest, I know not.
When we have gat al] hise with the printed hooks that have ofme down to us, and such oral tradition ns skill suryives, we shall have the matorials rearly for our lististy. Not the history jtself, mark yoti. That hass got to be something rery much diferent from a mere colloction of lifeless facts. Twos and (wos have to be put together, and the old ringers made to live. For instance, there is the Norwich peal of Bob Triples of 1715 , the first peal over rugg. We have the board with the usual details, the date, time, names of ringers, conductor, and the rest. Berond this all accounts of the peal have pertshed. No fgurce have come down to us, and beculse they were lost, later tingers, such as Shipway, conclucled rather contemptuously that ihe peat was inled. We know better. By putiting two and two together we can find out what sort of peal was zung, and we can be reasonably sure that it was true.
So with the men themselves. Maliy of them-nay, the great majority of thom-are names, and nothing else. We know that James De Ville rang the fouth at Hammerswith in 1820 . Who he was, what else he did, we trither know nor care. But some of the ancients call be made to live. There are enough tovches here and there to build up a lising picture of Ben Annable not very far from the trubh. And what soric of man Fabian Stedman was is writ large in lis bonk for all who have eyes to see.
Oh yes! The history of clange ringing can be writen. But whew shall we fund the historian?

\section*{PRESTEIGN DISTRTCT}

Tho summer guarterly meeting was leld at Wigmore on Saturday, July 25ilh. Twentyotwo members attended from six towers, represeating five districts. The Guild form of service was conducted by the Ficar (tho Rev. J. Irving Watson), and tea was provided by members of the congregation.
The business meeting was held afterwards, presided over lyy the Vicar. The District Secretary reported combined practices well attended, and one peal of Doubles rung, the first peai for three of the ringers.
Comhined monthly practices were arranged, and the next quarleriy meeting is to be hella at Presteign in October.

The Vicar was elected as an honorary member, and the Wigmore band as probationers.-Votes of thanke wero passed to all whin lind lielped to make the meeling a success.

A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells coneluded the mesting. This was much appreciaterl by all. Fingitet was kept up till nearly nine a'clock in the following methorls: Grandsire, Stedman and Bib Doubleg, and tab Minor.

\section*{OXFORD GUILD ANNUAL FESTIVAL, To the Editor.}

Dear Sir,--In a recent issuc of the Pinging World, Mr, Hopgrank states luat yout appenr to be unter some misappuchension by suggesting that your lender clained that tha Oxfordstive men had the dominating power in voling. 1 difl not read it quite in the same light, anal anyone who attended the annual festival at Oxford could casti thein cyes zound and see that the loca! districh men were not there in any great strengli to turn the vote of the meeting. I did not intend to enter inlo any discussion on the 'anoual meeting venue, but when I reat that Mr. Hopgood suggests that our "North Bucks Branch ' was sfrongly represented, giving tho number approximately nt 55, I musf, as secretary, tell him that we dide not realise half that number, so he is considerably wide of the mark. We come, he slates, lecause it suifs us. Well, that I do nol deny. Why shouldn't we, so long as we are members of the Guild? North Bucks has the ame leatitmate right to come to Oxford and wote for the festival to be held there, equally as tutheh us the ollher side comes to vata to have it removed, We aro nol envious about it, ant should the time conte when South Bucks turns the vote so that the festival is moved from Oxford, thele will the no Lurmoil rrom North Bucks. As la voting for Oxforl we sio it hecalle we like it, and think il the proper place. Perhaps it may be thaught that we are selfish. Ifail to see it. We Nortla Bucks memhers hate to travel quite as far, and, mighu I suggest, furliner than a goorl many of our fellow-menbers. From the nearest pointi we do not get under 30 miles railway travel, and I sluutd any we cannot be ariled sedfesh on that ground; it woald suit us helter were it nearer
But why keep on siliring up the same old trouble? If there is a way to alter it, subject to the approvai of the members througliout The Ginild it should be done, but while the rule states, A place to the sdected,' and thal place is selected in a proper manner, and voted for on constitutional lizes, there is nothing wrong with whal is done, even Hough it may not suit all members. It is quite obvious, and I think my fellow-menthers of the Gtilid will agree, ihat neither North Bucks nor Oxfordshite can be directly accused of being strongly represented at the ammal meeding to turn the vote. It would be better to stiggest. I think, that the 'Oxford favouriles' are well sprinkled throughot the Guid, a few here and a few there, who come and put their hande up, and so sure as Mr. Hopgood trics to win those selfish ' ones over to his way of thinking, we in North Bucks shall try to hald Oxford.-Yours truly,

WALTER SEAR.
North Bucks Branch Secretary

\section*{DOUBLE NORFICH MAJOR.} To the Editor.
Dear Sir,--In reply to Mr. Howes' leiter in your last issue, in which he says that the ealling of lis peal, puhifined July \(24 / \mathrm{h}\), is distinel from peal No. 35 in the C.C. Collection, kiudly allow me to point out there is \(n o\) differebe whitever, excent lat he cemmences with the 4 tl course of Mr. Lindofl's peal, and also moves the single.
It does not contain the ful? conshinations of 4ilw, 5th, 6ilh, in 5-6, as two leads are wut out by the fob at 5 in each part (twelve leads allogethery), when two of these bells are in that position. Wours, etc.,

\section*{WHERE ARE THEY?}

Dear Sir,-With veterence to the namberesy on Mr. Howes' peal of Double Norwich, and the remarks made by Mr. G. F. Symonds, that all these peals were composed years ago, will le kindly say where they are to be Eanil? The Central Council Collectians of Dotible Norwicit are very antiquated; in facti in this distriet they are terned "codlcyed,' and contain the extent of nolling. Any peals tizat are publisiled ju the 'Ringing World ' now are an a whole yeally good peals, especially froms a onisical point of view. Conductors will sooner call these than those conlaining hat musie. Shonld a falac peal be putb lished it is soon discovered (as Mr. Symonds will roadily agrec), but the C.C. Collection went for years wiiltont these discoverjes being made. Some of ithe peals like those in that collection would never be puibished nowadays. Yours sincerely, CHAS. H. KIPPJN.

INVITATION RINGING AT AUDLEY, STAFES.
At Audley, Staffs, on Saturday, July 2thly (St. Jamos' Day), at tho Parish Church, au athempl for a peal of Stednan Doubles was unsuccessfiti, after ringing 2,270 changes: B. H. Pountney 1. W. T. Powelt 2, S. I. Coley 3 , ©. Wallater 4, F. Knight 5. J. T. Davis 6. This was rung on the Patronal Festival, hy the kint invitation of the Rev. W, Sykes (Vicar) and his sons, the Rev. David T. Sykes, M.A.. curate of Willenhall, curate-elect, Sheffich Cathedral: the Rev. William D. Sykes, M.A. Vice-Trincipal, Landon College of Divinity; and the Res. John N. \section*{HINTS ON 'SPLICING ' AND RINGING MINOR ME'JTODS.} By JOHN 1 . FIDLER. SECOND ARTICLE.
Hawing met wilh success in ringing two nethods to a 720 , attention wan ho directed to the remajning members of the group. Let us, therefore, sort out the work of London Sololars' Pleasure (No. 7 , page 9). Here we find at method, similar to Kingston, with the execpilion of the middle work helow treble, i.e., the work of the hells pasting ureble 2-3 and 4-5 clown. The 2-3 bell, after teading, urakos 4th's, dodges \(3-4\) down, sankes 3 rri's, and goes up; whilst the 4-5 bell does the opposite, viz, 3rd's, dodge \(3-4\) down, \(4 \mathrm{th}^{\prime}\) 's, aucl to leail. A point to remember is to make the for place first, and finish with the near place.
Onr next melfont is Sandal (No. 2, page 8). This will require a lithe thonghte epent on it lis work nay be said to be London Schotars' Pleasure transposed, the middle work being transferred to the front, and the front work going to the middle. Let me explain. In the provions molhod, we have, when thelle is phehind, one pair of bells triphe riodgitg on the front, and anather pair cloing the middle work. The correspondiag posilion in the method under loview gives us The opposite, the triplo alodge heing done in 3 4, and fhe other work lueing done in front. For the ime foing, examine the sow work, aud work of the \(3-4\) bell firsi. Aftor dodging with treble in 3-A down, it leads fall, snaps, and makes second's place, and is equal to fur place, dodgo, near place, afterwards remaining "in slow.' The 1-2 down bell, after sorpping witl treble, leads, makes second"s place, leads, tgan mukes scondt's place (this is the equivalent to in far place), snaps and leads full (the near place). then to treble in \(3-4\) up. Simaltanedusly; the bells passing trolle \(\dot{2}-3\) and 4 - 5 down, are luple clodging in \(3-4\).
in our notahook we slail record the mothods as fallows:-
LONDON SGHOLARS' PLEASURE. Work up, as in Oxford.
Piss Treble 1-2 down.
Pass Treble 2-3 down.
Pass Treble 3-4 down.
Prass Treble 4-5 down.
Past Treble \(5-6\) down.
SANDAL
Pass Treble \(1-2\) down. Work, ass in Kingston.
Lead, 4thes, Nodge 3-4, 3udis and out. Work, as in Kiugston. 3rd's, riodge 3-4, 4tin's, lead and out. 5 ting, as in Kingsion.

Work up, as in Oxford.
Lead, 2nd's, lead, 2nd's, suap, lead and out.
Phas Treble 23 down.
Pass Trehle 3-4 down.
Pass Treble \(4-5\) riown.
Prgs Treble 5-6 down.
Triple ciodge in 3-4, after leading. Leed, suap, 2nd's, remain in slow. Triple dodge in \(3-4\), lead and out. \(5 \mathrm{tl}^{\prime}\) 's and dodge treble \(5-5\) up. The last meihod in this group is Owerton, No. 26, the figu which ars reproduced herewith. It was discovered the figures for Liswis, after the present Collection had been piblished it. E. H. tit bil of the group, and contains very interesting work. Up is now, all the work dealt with las been straightfarward doiging and place making with the bells the riglat way, i.e., hand and back. In Overion, we have place making witll the bells wrong, i,e., back and band, conting of places is maintained, this diffors. If bowever, strict be overcome onllting of places is maintained, this differlty will be overcome.

After sturlying the lead given, it will be sean that the work up is 'Oxferd' work, as in the other three methods. Whe can, therefore, direct onr attention to the work below trehle, which is somewhat different, as already mentioned, alfhoturl the 5 th's place is msintainerl.
First of all, let us exnmitse the slow work. Like the two prerious nethois, it is brokea up balf-way through, bue by a class of work totally different from that so far prretised. Following the path of the 2nd we find that after suapping treble, it leads, muakes 2nd" and leads full ngain, toes a halftanll in 2nd's, has a whole pull wrong (back & hamd) al lead, a whole pull wrong in 2nd's place, a half-pull at lead, and goes away to treble in 3-4. Mennwhile, we hate a very obliging bell doing the opposite work, viz. the hell passing treble \(3-4\) down, in this carc, the 6th. There is a galden rule for this bell coming from 3-4, and that is: Den't be greedy on coming la lead. Lead maly a balf-pull. Very likely the other ringer wilt bave his head full of Kingston or Sandal; will, perhaps, be woof gathermg. Do not smile, il is easily done, but if you mike a strang point of the linlf-pull lead, you can readily correct your partuce during the course of the two whole pulls wrong (in this case, second's and luad); gee that the finishes off with only a halfpull at lead, whiles tho \(3-4\) bell is thoing a halfpull in second's place, and afterwards taling up

Having memoriged the slow work, you can tackle the widde wark, which is that of the bells passing freble \(2-3\) and \(4-5\) down. T'aking the 2-3 bell first (this remiods mo of army dajs I fell like saying lreween the forefinger and tlumb; however, to be serious, if ene will only Jearn by assy stages, or numbers if pou like, the work will be mote readily vemembered), in this case the 3rd, trace her path ta lead, up to third's (note it is neal place first this time), double dodge 3-4, fouth's (far place last), and pass the treble 4-5 up. Thicre is a bell doing the opposite work, and as in the case of the other Itree methods it is tine 4-5 hell. Bear in mind which place is made firat, wiz., fourth's, double dodge 3-4, third's and to lead. There is only one more position left, which is fifth's below treble, and this which meeds no explanation. The bobs work is the game as for the rest of the group.
The record in our notehook will be as follows :-

\section*{OVERTON}

Work up, as in Oxford.
Pass treble 1-2 down. Lead, 2nd's, lead, half-2nd's, lead, 2nd'E, half lead and out.
Piss treble \(3-4\) down
Falf lead, Rad's, lead, half-2nd's, stay in slow.
Pass treble 2-3 down.
Pass ireble 4-5 down. out. 4th's, double dodge 3-4, 3rd's, lead and out.
Pass tretie 5-6 down. 5th's.
Naturally, after mastering these methods, it will be desired to ring a 720 in five methods. In cach of the groups to be considercit, there is an ugly duckling. The odd' method in the group under review regates care in introduclion, otherwise a true extent cannot bo rurg, although the other four methods, which produce exactly the same changes, lead for lead, can he introduced at any treble lead. As already stated, Oxford is the 'odd' method of this group, and the rule holds for the 720 in five methods, as for the one in two methods, the odd methorl need not be infroduced more than ance. Affer much practice, wo lieve considered that the best place for it is between the last bob of the first part and the first boh of the second part, the remaining methods heing changed at will. In the fgures given for thie extent, ienor without the 5 th is the observation.

A SPLICED 720.

Although I lurve put the names of mothods against the leads, it does not follow that Overton, Sandal, London Scholars' and Kingsion must be changed exactly at that position, and they are only shown for gaidence. Oxford, however, must be the five leads of the course shown is brackets, or between the last bob of the 2nd part and the first of the 3rd part, ol the extent may be commenced mith Oxford up to the first hoh, and finished with \(j\), changing immediately ajter The last bolb. Further variety may be added by introducing Oxford nt all the positione mentioned, sud the ather methods every other lead end. This will he found good practice, but for peal ringieg it will he artvisable to use them at indicated in the figures given.

Hatring accomplished so zueh, ib anay be alesired to have a shot for a peal. To make a eoven tuchod peaj of it, I wouk suggest adding Burton (No. 4), which is OxCom tup, and work dowe that can soon be memorised, and Kent (No. 13). Althongh these two will not sylice and will not be used again, ho linror will come of their introduction, it being good practice for the learning and retentiou of the molhorls to come.
The following will be found a suitable orter for the seven extents : Burton, Overton, Sandal, London Scholnos' Pleazure, Kingston, Ox forit ant Kent-a good stepping-stone to ligher linnge.

In the next article, I shall deal wiih anolier group, in which on'
-at, but irvegular, friend Woodbine phats no small part:

\section*{RAILWAY TRAVELLING FACILITIES GLOUCESTER AND BRTSTOL ASSOCTATVON'S \\ APPLTCATION.}

The following letter from the hou. secretary of the thoucester and Bristol Diocesan Association hats been forwarled to the Divisional Superiniendent of the Great Western Railway, making formal application for cheap travelling facilities for rimpers:-

Dear Sir,_] now send you compilation of faels re luaveling of chureh locll ringers. In doing so 1 earnestly appeal to you lo reconmend our application when forwarding to Clearing House.

This aswocition has bect established neasly 50 years. Oir area extends from [3isiol to Swindon, Cirencestey to Cotswold Hills, Cheltexlinm; Towkesbury, Forest of Dean nnd Lydney.

We lave a momberslip of 850 .
At our meetings we Hisually gef about 12 per cant. 'This is cĩue to the fact that ouly parties of twolve are gratied pleasure party tickets. In most of our churches we have only peals of six bells, and even five in some. This means lhat thesc bands of ringers are not given the opportunity to attend our conferences unless they obtain the necessny extra persons (who are usually clisiuferested) to make up to trelve.

There are about 50 ringing societies in Fingland, and an approsimate number of jingers concerned would be 40,000 .
Jvery week theve is an opporibuity of ringers visiting neighbouring illages or towns to riag, but unfortumately cheap travelling facilities have not been instituted except to a tew of the places concerned, and so many oppostuities to ring have had to be turned down.
[ understiud that the Bath aud Wells Diocesan Association liave matle a similar: application ta you, and thal obler societies in England are also appiying to their district superintendent to place their ense before the Clenring Honse.

\section*{FACTS.}

We hold a large anmal mecting every veni', al dboul Eastertide, awarage 100. We hold a lavge dinmer in Bristol on the second Salardar in January, average \(130^{\circ}\)

These gatherings are of ringers from all over Gloucestorshine, Somersetshire and Wiltshire, whilst others travel from even longer distances.

This association lase ten hanches. and they bold an arerage of six meptings a year, naking the total sixly.

Fixperimeed members arrange party irips, add I give derewith the particulars of one individual arranged this yoar. Thera ate many floing this.

First trip: Minehead, party of 20; Chewton Weadip, 14; Milborme Port, 20 ; Dorchester, 10.

Second trip: Minehead, 5: Londou, 4; Biranghan, \({ }^{5}\). Corton, E;
By nnether : Wrington, \(10 ;\) Newport, 9 ; Corston, 8; Corstor Corsion, 6; Cliester, 3 ; Reading, 5
Numbers would be largely increaserl if consideration could he given to ringers in respeet to traveling.

\section*{FTROM AN ORGANISATION POLST.}

Owing to the fact that ringerg erodrawn from all willages, and the fact that there are usually less that iwelve atachert to local guilds, we have observed with grent regret that the tendency las been, and is persisting, to arrange charabanc conveyance, two willage guilas aris persisting, to arrange charabanc conveyanco, two janging to go together, and fll, perlaps,
Now, we regard this as boing against the interest of ringing associntions, from the standpoint that there is a restriction upon the number. In the case of trains there woulal be no restriecion, amd on the day in question, perhaps, an extra one or two could trevol to the meeting quite unexpectedly.
If you would kinclly place out application with your recommentation before the Clearing House we should he extremelj, grateful, and, succossful or otherwize, ringing organisations would be greatly indebted to you.
In the event of considerntion, arrangemmats woulrd be mate for re gistered members of organisations to pronince a resistration entroYours very leuly, Jlhis, unforlatately, woutd probably mean a finisti to all active ringing on his part. It was agreed ihay the seeretary should wrile to Mrs. Hewson express. ing the members' sympathy and hope low Mr. Hewson's specdy trcovery. - A vote of thanks was passed to the Ficar flae Rev. H. Relo (on) for the use of the leells, and also to Mr. T. Bealle for making all ihe necesssry arraugements.

This conduded tho husiness, una a liethe handbell ringing was then indulged in by some of the company: The lower was again wisited, and touches in standard methous were rung. Ringing was stopped at B p.m., owing to a service, and landbell ringing and a fow songs were anjoyed at the Northamherland Hotel.

\section*{DEATH OF MR, GEORGE HOLLIS.}

After having been unrong for two years, Cluesterfied hells, in the fanoms crooked spire, have been heard again-hat their roices were half-nuffled in memory of one of Chesterficli's ringers, Mr. George Hollis, who died on the Inst day of July, and was buried on the 4 th inst. The inte Mr. Hollis was 52 years of age, and laat been for 25 years a clerk in the Clicsterfield Rorough Acconntant's office. He had been seriously ill for six montlis, but lie bore lis sutitering with great patiecee.
Mrr. Hollis hegan his ringing carcer while in London, and rang his firsb peal af St. Mary's, Willesten, as a youth. As soon as lie went to Chesterfield he associated himself with the band at the Parisk Church, aud, in all, lie lad rung 178 peals, 15 of which be condincted. Three of these were of him own composition. Fe lat riven a good aleal of athention to this plase of the art, Inving as his mentor Mr. Arthur Knights, and he harl a cousiderahte colicetion of musical tanches in a variely of methoth,

The fumeral fook place on August 4th, the first part of the service being in the Parish Clurch, and the intermenl in Baythorpe Ceme. tery. His fellow-ringers acted as bervers, and at the conclusion of the Jast sad rites, a course of Grandsire CaLers was rung over lie prave. Ringers were prosent from seweral of the surrounding towers, ind uding Shrfield and Staveler, andi wreatlis wele sent by the Sluefficld ant District Sociely and the Chesterfeld Parish Church band. The many mournets inchuled representatives of the various Corporation departments.

In the evening the hells were wing to maffled Lourhes, as pral bing out of the question on account of the spire being mednc sepair. The bells lind not theen rung for two years, but the architect was alale to permit shout spells of ringing for this oceasion.

\section*{DEATH OF AN OLD BEESTON RINGER}

One of the 'old brigade' of Becton, Nats, Mr'. George Olianm, passed away on the gth inst., in his 70th year. A stalwalt of the past generation, he would not tho widely known among present ringers. Fe was not a frequent participalor in peal ringing, his peals being verg few, but he had an innate love of good striking, and never refrined from grumbling if he didn't get it
The interment was will full ringers' honours, four of his "brotion slrings ' acting as hearera, and \(n\) rourse on handbells wne ring over the open grave. Deceased was a hachelor, and eluming the fist tew years had resided near Newark, bul was broughl io Beeston for interment.

\section*{NOMENCLATURE. \\ To the Editor}

Sir,-Tlic Rev. H. Drake's letter in your columins on the sulbject of nomenclature ongenders cousiderable eurprise. Mr. Trollope has endeavoured to place batore your readera a glimpse of the other side of the question, bul Mr. Drake apparently thinks there can bo no ullernative solution. We all wayt to be helpinl, and none of us wish Linu so juportant a subject slould be considered too liastily, but we do ask Mr. Burton's committee to consider tie question in ald its aspects. Now that mention las been made of the 'terns of vefereuce' of the committer, it may he pointed otit that it is a grave yuestion whether they have not beer exceeded. The conmmitiee were appoimled to "review " and "tevise." Actually they want completely to clange. Their mandate lioes not allow of this, nor does it seem to have been the wish of their appointerss. However, upart fram leehnicalities like this, i cannot agree to the wholesale mussacro that is proposed. Such entire atteration serves no useful purpose, and, owing to its very eat tirety, will never find favour wilh the lizeveise. If the commiltee had confinen itself ta the removal of anomaly and the effacement of ambignity their report would hape been of math greater value. A gecmitific, not: : rough, atempt al elnssificmition would have been hetter still at present it reems to be clange for the sake of charge. No athenpt is inade to preserve old tames which, with the passage of lime, have hecome fixed by immemorial custom, and tave given atrongtly to the art of their traditions.
At the Council mecting at Weshminstar there weve 83 nembers present; the enpportere of the committee mumbered 35. so that it is evident that Mr. Dratse's clear majority 'was only oblained by ahstemtions fram voling. If, as is often the case, ilhoso who did not yote wete counted as voing against the motion, the committee would newer thave been appointed. This gees to shop that opinion was then divider nangla to make il doublful whether the hody of riggers wish for any marked clange other than that which is absolutely imperative.
It is to be hopers that Mr. Trellope will respond to Mr. Drake's msitation and put forwari propesals for modification by way of amendment at next year's Council meeting. Surely that. is the proper place for thim to do it. Meanwhile it would be advantagoous if the affliat ed fruilds woutd debate the report and iastruct their representadives how to yote, wo that their votes mar aex year represent the Execcise, satd not mercly their omn permal wiews.- Yours sincerely,
The Restory, Capenlurst.
EDWARD W. ELWELL.

\section*{plaftivg the gamb}

Thure are seweral reasons why one regrets that vingers are nol often keen on games. This has been brought lome to me this week twice. Firal. I received a letter from the Sub-Dean of Coventry Cathertal in which te thanked me very gratefally for my tetier, as he said, "all the other letters lad been aggressive, and in some instances, abusive. Hnd the writers bicen accustomed to play in ganes, they would have recognised ilsat abuse is not only useless, hut that it always hase the oppoite difect to that dezired. I hope lhat the Sub-Dean will get mant move letters from ringers, but that no mare of them will be either aggresiry or nlusive. What we want cannot be effected that way, hut I an sure jt will lee effected if we are courteous ane "play lar wame': in short, if we put ourselves in the other man's place. of the Exercise, and the somenclature's Committee's Report.' To say that thes is wrong frora beginning to cud is not very helpful, so I will try to explain why it is so.
All arts, nad ganas or sports (which are really different forms of arlab. nre fonnded on what are often called Laws of Nature, or Scientific Laws (The word law here is an entire misnomer, and vers
 these iaw are urclangeable, but for the purpose of the ari or gande, most of us know nolhing of them. Inslead we use them for our parposie. nnd turn them into certain practical 'rules.' If we look up the law of impact iu a book on physics, we slath find it concerned with angles. Buti the practical rule in ctickel simply says, ' keep your shoulder forward.' Similarly we have in ringing a practical rule about noticing when you prss the treblu. For these tules there is no need for nny formal cuactment; in fret. exponents often find tlant different practieal rules suit different persons. Ther carry their own penalty, g., if you to not kegp your shoulder forward you will be caught.
In addition, the libeety allowed by flo Laws of Nature is restricted for cortnin fired converlions, written and unwrititeu. Anong the latted ate that one must nol dispute the diecision of an umpirc, or that one mullst not set one's bell up in the middle of ringing.
Among the former, are such maters as the width of the bat, or the question of Boh Triplies. In ald these matters there is no such differ enre lontwean ringing and ericket, or any olther sport, as Mr. Trollope whuld have nas believe. In fact, when we fat Poinis for Peals, were mot only hound guite as stricily by the regulations under which the analysis wns publisled, as any other art or sport, hat these points gave a refincment. of regulation whicl does not exist in nny other mase

Mr. Trollope seems io think that there is more liberty in setting aside the laws of ringing than those of games and sports. As a matier of faet, I have played many a game of cricket (and I suppose most players liave) in which certain laws wure deliberstely disregarded, or evel set aside. I never remember to have done the same when ringing.
Agains he seems to think that ringing is differentiated by its lacking the spirit of competition, which all other games or sports have. It is true that ringing is armong those purstuts which are chiefly concerned in making records, ratler thau those which irnitate a fight or conflict. But so far from this helping his argument, it is much easicr to agree to alter rules in a minic conflict, than in making a recordwhether on a paced cycle, or in a long peal.
Even if these arguments were sound, they wouth not apply to the Nomendature Conmittee, who (to usc Mr. Trollope's own words of his own committee), have beent trying 'to gather up and codify tho experience of the Exercise.' He then goes on to repeat almost word for word a paragrapls he had printee a Fortnight ago. Again I must sny that this is not playing the game. Either let him fyglit loy article, or by leiter: or ly one following, and consequent upon the other. Not by sajing the same thipg ia both. This means he gete in two whacks to one of ours. Besides, in the meantine I lad pointed out that all that he says, in this repeated paragraph, is inaccurate.
Is not our report going to have any sounder critieism than this?

\section*{GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. REVIVAT, OF THE STOW BRANCH}

A very successful meeling of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Asrociation was held et Bourton-on-the-Water on Saturday, July 25 th, and attracted visitors from Swindon, Gloucester, Upton-on-Severn, Charbury, Dumbleton and Cheltenham, as well as a good muster from the noighbouring towers. The bells were set going at 3 g'clock by the local band, who were soon augmented by the wisitors, who arrived in motors, etc.
The service was conducted by the Recker (Canon W. J. White, R.D.), and atended by over 30 members. The Archdeacon of Cheltenham gave an inspiring address.
Tea was partaken of in the Clurch Rooms, and was kindly provided by the Redtor and friends.
at the neeting which followed, the Archdeacon was voted to the chair. Mr. Yeend then explained the object of the meeting, which? was to endeavour to revive the Stow Branch.-Thereupon a proposi(ion by Mr. Banming (Bourton), which whs seconded by Mr. F. Davis (Stow), that a bran ll he formed for the Stow Deanery, was carried unanimously.
Several letters ef apology were read, the cause of absence being chiefly the unavoidable short notice of the meeting.
The following &fficers were elected: Chairman, Canon W. E. White, R.D.: hon. seerel:ary, Mr. Bernard Phillips (Bourton); representative, Mr. F. Davis (Stow). Canon White then look the clair. T The date and place of next meeting were left to the chairman and secretary to arrange.
Some dozen new members were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for his support and interest in the association, and all wha had made the meeting such a success.
Canon White, in response, expressed pleasure in having such a good number present, and said he would do all in his power to further the interest of the luranch.
Stow, with its fine 30 cwt. tenor, was visited in the evening to the delight of all who were present. Their thanks are due to Mr. Bannug for his genial help in arranging the meeting.

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION,}

On Saturday, July 18th, through the kincmess of the Rector of Aldrington, an invitation was given to the members of the Exorcise to visit his lower. Owing to ilie rather short notice, and the fact that it was loliday time for some, ouly about 22 members atteaded, the Follawing towers being represented: St. Peter's, Brighton; Henfield, Shiploy, Sloreham, West Grinstead, and the local band. The bells were kept going in various methods, fronz Grandsire Doubles to Lomdon Surprise. during the afternoon and evening.
At 4.30 a short service was held, and conducted by the Rector. who glso gave an address on the uses of bells. Afterwards the members nejourned to the Parish Hall, where an excellent tea was providod by the Rector, and was rauch exjoged by all present.-Mr. Markwell (in the nhsence of the Master, Mr. I. T. Rickman) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his kind invilation, and for the excellent tea; also to the organist for his services.-The Reçor said it gave him great pleasure to entortain the members, and hoped ther would pay ancliter vistit in the near future.

A visit to the Rechory gardens was theu enjoyed.
Great regrel. was felt that the hon, secretary, Mi, A. D. Stone, was not present.

THE WESTMINSIER AHREE COMLANY WITH ST. STELHEN'S, ROCHESTEX ROW
The Westminster Ahbey futhe's annual week-end is alweys a great event, tath from 九 ringing and socin! aspect. This yeak Whest Dorsel was the attraction, and Bridpurt the headquarters. Bridport is a quaint old lown, and full of hislory. It sent five ships to the Spara isli Arnuda.
Ou nrrival, the party was mel by Mestrs. W. S. T3. Northover, amd the ubibuifolds Hervey Beans. The programme began on Satmody morning. A motor coach bat been reserved, but owing to the great Malk demanderl by the 'stores" department, Mr. Norifover wers Findly conveyeri several of the party in lis car. Bralpole fatharming old-porlti village, where Mr. Beams instructs the young in the wh: fhoy should gol was the tirs to be visited, and where Stedman firiuter and yarious surprise methode were rung. Then to Beaminster for leavier metal. but weyght worried not, for zho company jnelatad

The prily afterwards moved on to Lambert's Gastle (old Roman earthworks on the summit of a hill, where the riew obtanced on all sides is magrificeut. \(A\) sumptumith pienie was bere enjoynd. "the day, by clance, was the 40th anniversary of the advent into this mortal warld of a certain moker willols from Whitechapel, who, to his delight, was presented with a rountain pen, and, earlier, at brenkfast, with a handsome etuhing, with greatings atrd all good wishes to mark the occasion. Of the etching, we refrain from con ment excopt ta say that it was certainly irspiritg on such a warm day. It is said that the same is to be prosersed, and latur in He evening it was autographed by every member of the party. Ry the way, erery sigature whe written witin the pen, and each is perfectry legible. One inseribed it thas:-

The westminster ringers liad a day out,
At Bradpole sud Be"minster the bells rang out;
Lumch on tho site of an Roman camp,
It wasn't dry, and it wasn't damp:
AL Hawkehurch we tested the bellhangev's work,
And a 'prohibited one' near to the kirk;
To Axminster then, and te'Clapple" to tea,
Lymo Regis, too, bind a suiff of the sex;
Then as to tho 'Greyhound ' we motored our way
Each wished Bertie A Happy Birlhday.
After lunch, end down terible gradiente, Hawkchurch was reacloul, where the belthanger's recent work was lested, and passed as a flutough yool job. Thence to Axminster, Devon, where, atter good ring. ing on the heavy peal of eight, the party was invited by Mr. Pittidel Chappla fo take tea in his gracon. After some Stedman Cinguns und Duffichl in hand, end lanth to leave flieir kind host, and liostesses, the party proceded on lheir switchhack tour to Lyme Regis-what hills!one member will never again veature such drives as the day provirled without a special insurnace policy; his heart is flattering still. Lyrue is a glorions old-world spot, and the riews along the coast were truly wonderful. \section*{THAT NEEDED REGISTER.}

Recent correspondence once more cmphasises the need there is for the Central Council to set up a register of peal compositions and of methods. For a long time past we have pointed out how important it is that there should be reference files of these two things, and the Central Council's archives is the place where they should be found. Continually we are having disputes as to the authorship of peals, and this will go on to the end of time, unless there is in existence an official collection of compositions to which one can turn and say authoritatively whether a new claim to originality can stand. Indeed, the present unsatisfactory state of affairs will almost assuredly increase with the years if something be not done. A man may, perfectly genuinely, obtain what he believes, with the limited means of investigation at his disposal, to be a new composition; it may even be rong and accepted as his, and yet the same figures may have been put on paper years ago by one of the old masters, or by some lesser light of the Exercise. As Mr. Symonds points out this week, these supposedly new-found compositions, published as the product of a present-day tinger, may be robbing an earlier composer of the honour due to him, and yet the man who has now evolved what he considers something orisinal may feel justified in his claim, because, having searched all the available material, he can find nothing which can be called the same as his own figures. That is because of the lack of anything like an exhanstive collection of compositions.

The task of providing this register is obviously one for the Council. The difficulty with most of these things, as we pointed out in another connection last week, is to find the right man, with the right qualifications and with the necessary leisure. Hitherto the Council, when entering upon matters of this kind, has generally confined its search to its own members, but there is no reason why they should not go outside their own ranks and enlist, if possible, the serwices of one or two of the many enthtusiastic young men now gradually making their names in the Exercise. They would doubtless, in the interests of the art on which they are so keen, be ready to give their help. Among the rising generation there are rimgers as briliant as any who have gone before them, and if the work of the Council is not to be handicapped and circumscribed, it wil! be necessary to go outside the ranks of the members to find the necessary men to undertake the taslis which are calling, some of them almost ursently, for attention. And, after all, if it is essential that those who work in such capacity for the Council should be in touch with it as members, there is always the remedy of enlarging the number who find seats as honorary niembers.

THE OONMITTEE'S POSITION REVIEWED.

\section*{By the Rev. H. DIflKE.}

As those wha have crilicised tho Nowenelature Commititee's report hi your columus do not geen to have read it wery carefully, or, at any rate, have not understood ib, it may be woll to give a short account of the whole subject.
Until the Council met at Lincoln, the practice of maning methods was blat thosa wha firsh raog a method (or, at any rate, who first rang a peal in a new mellod) gave it u name. As methods were not discovered cvery day, this did not work badly, as time was given to digest on reviso one new same before another appeareri. But whet the Roport on Jinor Methods appeared, with a large number of new methods, the position was allered. It was at first suggested that these methods should bic rung as soon as possible, ant thati the band who tang rach should name it. in the aceustomed way. What might have heen foreseen liappened; some riethods were named satiefactorily, athers got several manes; ollers, again, got none. In short, the old method broke down. This is the arsil fact to recognise. The eystetn was ehoked by being given more than it could assimifate.

At the Lincaln meeting, the Methots Committee, dissatisfien with the phoor progress made, suggested that the Analysig Committee be entrusted withi the task of naming the methods which had not been चamed. Ali the time I was sorty this fuggestion was made. It seerred lo me that it would have been beter to have kept the old winy but to layu reorgavised it. However, the Analygis Committee bravely faced their lask, and produced a list of mames to which much objer. tion was raken, especially to their 'floral' class of names.
] have never joined in the objection to these names, but for some reanoll which I have never understood, I was appronclied by ringers whom I liad not met, from several parts of England, begging me to get illac Connetl to do something to solve the rifficulties caused by one mellod having suyeral names, or one thame xianding for geveral mothods, and by the douhts whicly had been oast on the flotal series of names.

Sieveral of ws then brouglt the matter before our associations, and Wh the encourged to pursue the matien, with the result that the Nommelalure Committee was appointod by a small majority at the Louron meeting, in order to make an attempt to refuce the existing enfinsion to order.
So far the lines on which we have worked lave been to provide eqery method willin name, and only one name, and where an objections was rajsed to a name, and that objection seemed worth conwidering, to provide an alternate name for that method.
Let it be noted that \(]\) have spoken of an objection worth considering. 1 do not mean that I personally, or the committec as a whole, seree that the objection shonld be, or will be, sustained; but in case it is susinined, ar allernative name bas been suggested.
So far from our elaming autocratie powers, if will be seen that in each mase there are two things for the Council to decide; frrst mhether the objection to the existing name cae be sustained; and then whether the proposed name shall be adopted.

But as time would make it impossible for the Council to go througly each name separately, it will be best for those wio object to any point, to do ko heforeliant in your columus. We shall not, however. do much good by accusing one another of 'clange for the sake of change, which, of course, we all want to avoid; or by one critic eomplaining that we have classified too much, and another that we have not classified enough. Our work was not to classify, but something of the sort must be dove.
Now lot us get down to actual examples. Take the oame 'Oxford, More than once I have been present when the call was made "Gio. Troble Bob,' and some proceeded to ring the Orford variation, and the allers the Kent. The last time this happened, I afterwards begati a louch of Oxforti Bah, and one of the ringers thought the call was for Oxford Treble Bob. This latter method, therefore, bas three words in its mame, and none of the three sufficiently distinctive. What we auggest is that Oxford, and that word alone, should be the tittle of that mothod, and that Oxford Bob should he known by anather name. Of course, we lose an historicai link by doing sa, and my entiquarian sympathies rehel against such a change; but in this life. there are many occasions when the antiquarian and the practical昭iril are in opposition: all we have done is to give the Exercise. threugh the Council next year, and through your columns in the theantime, the opportunity of saying which shall prevail.
Let us take another example from your columns last week. We #re there told how to splice " London Schalark' Pleasure with other methods; but Mr. Fitiler js wise enough not to sav what call is made on the oceasion. One ean hardly believe that all three words-none of thum ensif-ave onlled aut. But if they are not, why print them ne if thep were?
It will he noted that ihis name offonds in severel ways. Not only are there mare words than one in il, but othe of them ("Londen 'I, is tomonly user of another molhorl : another (' Pleasure') scems nore the thame of \(a\) class than of \(a\) single melliod, while the remaining word ("Scholar ") is not definite enough for a name by itself. Moreover, the whole term is rather a description than a name, so that we aray be saju to lape given a nome to a method which has never yot had one.
In this case, as in many olhers, tho old name cun be easily kept as a sub-litle; fand wo can thus satisfy the elaims both of the Antiquarian and the Practical man.
Do not let anyone say that we cannot see that there is anothor site to the guestion. In presenting fire Repori, it was painted auti that there would to sure to be some who would think that we lad not gone far enough. while others would say that we had gone too far: so we recognised at least two other point of view than our own. What I have asiked for, is that we should get some constructive proposals from these other points of view, and that time should not be wasted by mere aseless destruction.

HERBERT DRAKE

\section*{COVENTRY BELLS}

We uaderstand that the guestion of the Coventry (Sti. Michamesal Cathedral bells is not settled zet, and will not be taken up again till Soptember. It is now in the hands of the Chancellor of the Diacese -presumably on the question of his granting a faculty. Therefore, it woulci be well for the C.C. to see if it could be represented before the Cheacellor's Consistory Conrt.

\section*{BELLS BROADCAST.}

Bells have been prominently before the public through the ageucy of the lroadcasting programmes during the last week or so. On Wednosday week there was an hour of bells from 2 LO and various relay stations. The musical items includen socal and orchestral mumbers, in whinen bells play a part (either in the music or the title), and there was a ghort 'clat' upon 'The bell,' in which the speaker referyed to the charm of church bells and their inspiration, and concluded by touching upon the other uses of hells, whith were iltass-trated-the sheep bell, the fire hell, the dinner bell, and the like. It wat an entertaining talk, which douthess interested tens of thousamas of listeners, but it showed a lack of techaical knowledge by a roference to "Grandsire Triplets and Bob Majors.
On Sutiay, as a preliminary to a service broadeat from Abordeen, listeners hazrd tha bellg at Buekfast Abbey, Devon. Fight bells were rung in call changes and lowered in peal. There are fourteen bells at Buckfast, There heing fwo semitones in addition to the ring of twelte. The tenor is 403 cmt .

\section*{THE HIRS'T NEWSPAPER CONTROVGRSY ON RLNGIN:} EDWARD CRANE AND HIS l'LAL OF STEDMAN.

\section*{By J. ARMIUER TROLLOIPE.}

Sisty year's ago, Dr. Johin Browa, one or the most lamane of men srote that it was an naturu! and lealiby thing to enjoy wateliny dog figlit. We have grown softer since, and our moderu dogs bandy live up to the character grod old Dr. Whats gave dicm; mitsomelhing of the same spirit still livas in the delight we lake when two welt equipped opponents set alhout ench other in the con'respondence column of the 'Riuging World.' Tlise subject of dispate is no great natiter. lii may be a clatlenged peal, or concerning the athorship of some composition or melhod, anything in which persomal interesi or pigue enters, then let the oppotents metaphorically take off their jackets and set about tach other with rerbul undgels in right goodwill, and we, the outsiders, are ready to enjoy the fun.

Yet methinks that even in this there is a great amblamentable falling away It is a long time since we had a really exciting controversy in the ringing papers. We can only hope that they are not altogether things of the pasti. If all pesple thought alike the world would bo a $ull affair, and change ringing will le in a bad way whon ringers cease to Hold strong opinions, or to be reatiy lo back Llicm with stroug words. Whercfore don't be afraid to speak out, and so long as you keep to the rules of the game don't be afraid of personalities. You will not hutt your opponent by suggesting that he is an ignorame ass (probably it will be quite true), and you will le doing your little bit to add to the gaiety of the nations.

It is just on two hundred years ago since the first newspaper coniroversy on a rintug matter. The opponents were two Norwieli men, Thomas Melchior and Edwarl Crane, by name, and the subjeet in dispute was the first peal of Sieuman Triples. To understand it we must frst know something of the history of clange ringing up to the slate of their publication.
Clange ringing started abom the year 1600 , the closing years of the seiga of Queen Elizabetis. Bellis had been rung, of course, for many centuries before that time, and, no doubi, had been 'runte up for many fears. Buth then it was that the sixes ware invented: and tho iavention of the sixes made. as Eabing Stedman tells us, the whole of ciange ringing possible. It you will study the history of the art cluring the following three centuries you cannot help noticing, 1hal thougli therc lana been develogment and progress all along, yet there lave been definite times when things seem to move with great rapidity, and other times when, for years, little or no progress was made. Just af present we are in the midst of one of the times of progress: the eiglities of the last century saw another : aud probably tho most notahe of all was in the early years of the eighteenth century.
Change ringing liad beex practised for a hundred years. I clo not doubt that the arerage ability and intenligence of ringers was guite equal to that of to-day or any other lime. But no complete peal had yet been ring. In 1715. the Norwich men accomplished the first fise thomsand, a neal of Girandsire Bob Triples. We skip another twenty years, and we lave the following renarkable reore : - 1717.-The first peal of Grantisire Caters ai St. Bride's, Fleet Street, by the London Scholars.
1718.-The frat peal of Grandsive Triples, at Norwich

A peal of "Hick Triples,' by the Etnion Scholars
The first peal of Oxford Treble Bah Major, at St. Dunstan"-an-ilieEast, by the Union Scholars.

\section*{1719.-A peal of Grancisire Triples, at St. Peter's, Norwicin.}
1721.-A peal of Bob Major Triples, at Mortlake.
1722.-A peal of Grandsjre Triples, ai Strouk, Gloncestershire.
1724.-The College Youthe rang 5,058 Grandire Caters, at St. Magnus. A peal of Triples, at All Saints", Hertford.
1725.-The first peal of Grandsire Cinques, hy the College Youths, at St. Bride's

The first peal of Robly Major, by lue same society at the same lower.
A peal of Grandsite Triples, at Cambinge.
1725.- The first peal of Bob Maximus, by the College Youths, at gt. Bride's.
17E7.-10,080 Oxford Trable Bolu Major, at St. Miles', Norwich
A pead of Colloge Triplos, by the College Youlhs, at St. Oleve's, Southwark.
6,006 Grandsire Cincques, at St. Martin's-in-fle-Fields, by the Lonidon Scholars
6,314 in the same method, at the same churcin, by the College Youthes.
The first peal of Union Triples, by the College Youtiss, at St. Lawrence Jewry
1:28. 10,080 Bob Mnjor, at St. Mary's, Bermondsey, by the College Youths.
1729.-5.126 Grandsire Cinques, by tho College Youths, at St. Micheel's, Cornbill.
1731.-The first neal of Stednat 'L'riples, at St. Peter's, Norwich, Another peal of Stedraun 'lriples, at st. Miles', in the gianne city. 1732.-The first peal of Double Grandire Caters, by the Callege Youthe.
The firsh peal of SL. Simon's Triples, int St. Bride's, by the Coblege Youths.

A peal of widdesex Triples, the twickenham.
1735. -'lilie first peal of Court Hob Major, at Sit. Lawrence Jewry, by He College Youths.
This is anything but a complete list, hut, it is sufficient to show what great strides wore made at that thate in ringing. You will notice that while peals were heing lung in witely seatleved parts of the country, the most notable were in two cities, Norwich and London. That is almost what yous might expect. Yots would, of course, fook to Loadon to be iu the foretront of the advance. Aad Norwich whs then refatively a mueh more juporlant placa than it is now. Bristol was the second city of tide counlry, Norwich the thind, and the rest nowhere. The West of Englaged has never been a great place for chatge ringing (I am not refering to recent years), and so it was guite in the nature of things that the carly tead was taken by the tay great eities-Londou and Norwich.
And two men seem to havo sitood out as the leaders of lime Exer-cise-Benjemin Anuable, ol Lonklon, aud, John G'arthon at Norwich. Amathe left by far the holter recoud of the two, whether as compuser, canductor or graetion. ringer. Lut it is evident that it wns due ko the genius and abilities of John Garthou that ringing received its firaf greal impetus in Norwich. It was due to him that Norwich hat the lonow of ringing the tires peat in any method, and he laid the toundrans on which the fine performances of the Norwith Sollalars were built.
oi his history we know very hitte. He was the couposer of the 1715 peal of hol triples, which lie called, and whieln setms to the the only tive thousand in which he twok part He composed the eeal of Grandsire Triples rung in 1718, but did not ring in it. Possituly ly was becoming adranced in years; postilly his health wes failing. A how, hefore 1730 he whs dead, and was buried in SL. Gregory's Cllurclio yard is ibe city. If one lad the time, a seatela througly tho parish registers nigint reveal scme detuils of his age amm occupation that Lidne there were three rings of eight in Norwich. Mancrofe inat hati a complete octave since 1672. St. Andrew's were made cight in 1705. but for some reason ar othor do nol sem to have beeu used for peal ringing. I said samething al week ar so ayo about the kind of frame they ave lumg in, and prolmbly from the first they have never been very easy bells to ring. Sil Michacl's, Coslany (St. Miles'), were nado cight in 1726. The utler historical ring in Norwich, St. Gilos', were not made eigltt till 1726
I imagine (for several reasong! that the peal ringing was done ly a combined band from St. Peter's and SL. Miles, and that after Gar than's death, or retirement, the leadership fell at St. Peter's Thamas Mfechior, and at St Miles to Rohert Crage. Rather curiousIF, except in the case of 1 tie 1715 peal, and the \(t\) wo peals of Stcdana Triples, the old Norwicl peal boards do not mentiog nay condnctor. We can only gress at who called the peals by putting two and two together. Thomas Melchior rang the seventh at Mancroft to the 1718 peal of Grandsive Triples, the same bell to the 1719 peat, the treible to the Stedman Triples of 1731 and the Ireble to the 12,603 of Grandwire Caters in 1737 . These were all at $it. Petar's. \(I_{1}\) is prelty certriat he called them all. But in the 10,080 of Treble Bote at St. Miles in 1727 he rang the second. Robert Crane rang the tenor, andl either he or Edward Crate who tang tio seventh evidently called the hohs. There was a family of Cranes wha were rituers. Roliserı whas the aldest, and, I fancy, the father. Filwartl and Thamas were his mont Edwart teas the cleverev aud ambitious member of the family Thomas did tote, go fir as I know, ever ring a peal, but we slanl hear of hime presently.
You will notice that here are all the usual eauses for the ustual very (very much too usual) ringers' gurrrel. You heve Thomas Melलhoir farmly entroncied at sh. Peter's as Garthon's successor. leader, nonduetor, composer, and general authority on ringing mathers, yeti nots in a position to lre guite indepenclent of the Coslany men. And you have Eiwavd Crane, younger, amhitiaus, througl his fathet in control of the other aunilahe peal ringing lower; clever, too, and quile of the opinion that he lath as murlh right to be conductor and leader as anyhody else-Thomes Melelior or another. A split wns almost houmi to come over sometinimg or other. It actually came over Stedman Triples.
T believe it wrs Crane who started the hatl rolling. I ishink the young man thought to himself that it woukd be a fine thing to ring a peal of Stedman Triples, and that he was fhe man to compoes the poal. I think that Melchior, when he hoard of it, treated the matter with lofty contempt. HE was Johm Grithon's successor. FTE was the man to say what ghould be rung, and if any peal of Stedman was is be aftempled HE would kupply the composition. Young men should keep their proper places.
But Crame, you will renember, could control a tower, and at loast purl of a band. All llas was necded was to compose fle peal, cont plete llus band, and ring the first peal of Stedman Triples without blededior's aid, and in spite of anything lic could say or do.
"The lists were thus set ready for the batcle, and the formal challeage was thrown down by the publication of the following notice in the + Norwich Gazette" of Seplember 1111, 1731 :-

Wheres thre most Noled and hanmonious Pas of 7 Belds called Studman 'íriples, whili has so long lain hid in Darkness from the knowledge of the wo:ld, and althongly so many ingenious Rimgers havo pricked so many Thousand Sheets of paper and could never bring it to trutly, hat have thought it impossible ta bo thane. This is, twerefore, to acmaina all kingers and Jovers of that net that it is now brought to Light and truth with two Doubles, and is pricked at Lengih which conlains 5 , 040 Changes by that inconious and Compleal Ringrr, EDWARD CRANE.
"Note,-If any Ringers Douln the Trulh of the Peal let him come to the sigu of the 6 Ridgers in St. Mieltadia of Coslany, nad thuy may linve any wheges from 2 guimens to 10. .

THIRD ARTICLE.
Ilhose who are nol yet conversant with the methods already deta: ed in my previous articles should not make any uthempt to tackle tise methods of the eroup to be deall with below, but keep the copiess of the 'Ringing Wartu' by them for future refexence. I am the last perzon to expeet any band of ringers to ketp pace with these notes-it cannot be done-but if kept, they will be tound handy for Jeference. Furbler, if the thirly-five method peal is to be accomplistred, all the poles must be obtnined, and ith wotald be advisable if each member of the band had a copy so that he could study them at his leisurc. The more study at lome, flee better the practice in the tower.
ds I brjefly binted iu the last article, the ground work of the group now to ho dendt wild is 'Woodbine,' and we will, therefore, christen it with lhat name. No doubt I shall get drawn over the coals, bat that does not matier, as the subject is not past of that hardy annual, ' Mellod Nomenclabure.' Thoge who huve been used to ringing thite method ought to be able to tackle five new methods at one practice, sild ring utive methot extent at the first time of asking but we mast not forget our slower brethren, and fo then 1 must explain.
The unelhods comprisiag this group are 4ti's Place Delight Methode, vis., Grove, Braintree. Neasden, College Bob IV., and Wragby. The densen why 1 am tafing the 4 th's Place Delight Methads in preference to ollteres of Treble Rob, is on account of the rarious kinds of slow work, whicil are exactly the same as that in the Oxford group.
Brintree is the odi method, and is the on! y one requiring any araount of shudy.

Fingt of all, 1 will give the combinations of the group, with the reguliant method :-

WRAGBY

Let tis look at the lead of Wragby (No, 12, page 16), so that a note maty be mate of the work above treble, or our old friend of Snowdon's dess, riz., Woodbine. Incirlentally we may as well kill two bird. titit one stone, and learn also how to find out from the lead given the starting work of ench bell. The notes on this partienlar puint spply to any methont, and wil! assint the ringer in taking over any bell, without the necessity of laving his posilion explained to him, thus saving raluable timo. How often one comes across a ringer wha learas his methad by the course, is given an unaccustomed bell to start off with, has to run througls ihe whole course before he can pick up the path of his bell, when, inad he learned the method by the order of passing the treble, he need orly have found out whero the bell passed ber previous to coming into rcinds! I might add at this juncture, it is not necessaty to write out the full course to find out the work of each bell previous to reunds corning up, as we soon sliall see.
First of ill, cxamine the path of the hell in second"s place at the leal catl. It is the 6th; trite back, and we find a hat she paesed treble \(2-3\) up: then make a note of the work after passing in fhat position. The 4ti, being in Unird's place is next on the list, being the bell coming mat of salow ': there is not far to go nud our discovery is that it passed the trohn \(1-2\) np. We lane \(n\) litale farther to trace back will flic 4th"s place bell, fis., the 5th, she liaving pnssed treble 5-6 up. This is a position requiring special athention, as also does that of the next hell, the 2ntl, which passed treble \(3-4\) up, for in their work, plates affe cilher made before or after working with treble in 3-4. There is only one hell left and that is the 3rd, omopyiug 6tla's place. which had pasaed the irelsle in the 4-5 position.

The rule for 'splicing' this method with its four companions, is the same as flint for Oxford. A full course of it must be rung. If the practice is fellowed of ahways introducing these odd methods in the position given for the first granp. the conductor will have his troubles reduced. As the exient ran easily be pricked out, there is no negessity for it to appear here Having mastered these five methorls we are now in a position to athempi a ten method peal, and I would suggest it be arranged as follows:-

2nd extent (spliced).
3rd extent.
4 the extent (splicad).

\section*{A DELIGHTTUL WREK IN THE WEST COUNTRY.}
fha Saturday, August 8th, a parly of ringers, some wilh ilveir wives, ete, met at Yeoril with some very large ideas about ringing. A peal of Stedman Caters at the Parish Churds was the first course of it very attractive menn, but a great, disappointment was in elore, ior, after some fret-class ringigg, the 94 took 60 much ' humping' that it was found impossible to contimue. On inspecling the bell afterwards it was found that one of its bearings was bone dry, nend, in the opiniots of thase who know: Hercules himself could mot have stuek thicugh a peal.
"Lhe headquartors for the first part of the trip were at Queen Cantel, to which place the party now proceeden. Those with their own mears of locomotion found no kifficulty in getting there, but those who lind to vely on the railway soon discovered that "slow and easy" Hfrilies to another section of Englisl! mitways other than the Soubl Eastema. Fowever, an arrival at Sparkford Station, the fortamate ones were ihtere to convey luggage, and the weary ones to their destimalion, Mr. Palling's brather baving made all the arrangements for atemomodation and eatering for the intuer math.

On Sunday the fandiord's car was commandeered (no, denr reader, ib was not a . Tin Lizzie,' but a good solid old bush, and a move towards Teckington was made. A peal of London was successfuly brought tound leare, and on its conclusion the local bancl, who saici sone very nice things about the ringing, were in such a hury to ring for the evening service (there wore only five of them) that the peat hand had to detire to the churdyard to finish dressing and, as one of the party apty remarked, "if was a good job he liano't taken his shirl off.'

Sherborne was the seat of operations for Monday. The party, wha arrived early in the town, were shawn round the school (which is probably the oldesi in Figland, sud dates from A.D. 704) by Mnjor Hesse. who was educated there. The Ahber, which diates from tho same periorl, was found to be equslly intercesting. The peal of lyells, the heaviest ring of ejght in the kingdom, were then set goiug to stedman Triples. No one would have been surprised if the pent tide not materialise, hut mucti to the joy of cveryoue concerned, the bella were kept going until the conduclor shoutet, "This is all.' It may ho arden that no one was sarry, espenially the ringer of the tenor, who, helore the peal, was so ontimisitic llat he had visions of turaing if in to Mrjor: Arrangements hat been mathe for a peal nt Milborne
Port in the evening but this wes noi possible, owing to the late satid Sherbome. Thic tower was visited, lowever, and a course ar two of different methods were indulged in. just to keep the ringer. from getling mist
On Tuesday, Wells whs the lmoting ground. and it nay he sain a vor: happy one. It is trunt lhet an aitempl for Stedman Triples was pbathoned at St. Culbberl's, as it was thought that. if P.C. 137, who late the 711 in custody, lost 100 much weigtht. the ratepayers of surrey would he put to more expense to provide lim with a new uniftim on returning ta dity. In the afternoon. Mrs. Robinson. wife of the Ver Rev. the Dean of Wedls, vary kimily onlertained the whole company to tea, ant showed them raund the Dernery-a most futeresting hotise, which las been oocupien by the successive Deans of Wetts Calledral since it was built over 800 yeas ago. A eeriain amonat of disappointment was felt when \(i i\) was cliscosered that the band were one man shout for Stelman Caters af the Cathedral, bui nolliing deumed, the hest was made of a barl job by ringing a peal of Sterlman Triples. Those of the party had had been fortumate enough to hear these maguificent bells before. said this was th: best mosic, as Triples sommed infinitels better than Caters. On thanking the Dean for his hospitaligy and the use of this hells, he tald us how glat he wis that we liad scoved the peal, and how much he had appreriaterl the ringing-

All the really lieasy rings had now been disposed of. and the lighter peals at Drayton and Curry Rivel came fas somethine of a relief on Wednestay. It was unfortunate the wratlier decided ta be unkind, ospumilly for Mr. and Mre. Williame, whe lind la recle from Queen Camel. something like 20 miles, and also for Mr. Pallinger who evelent from Wells. The latter, who was droncoed to lhe skin. formehsed a new sef of underelothes al Fanmport. this commorlity. A peal of Cambringe was then athempted, but as this was lost after about an hour and three-quarters' ringing, the less sain about the performance tho better. No one sectaed very whmppy however, for, land the peal beas completed, it wath have meani waiting another hour for a train to 'raunlon, which was to be the thendquatiers for the remainder of the wede, to say nohbing of having to carry the hugage over a mile to another stablow, from whenee the Iator train departed.
At Tanntion the passengotr were net by Mr. dames Hunt, who liad organised the times for the variots perls with his customaty precixion, narl ohataned permission to use all the bells, witl the exeeption of Wells Calhedra'. He had also armaged for the accomanalalion of the party in this town, taking four of then hther his own roaf.

Two peals were fixed for Trunton on Thurstay. Cambridge wha rung nit St, James', lut at St. Mary's, where lite band were welcamed by the ourate-in-charge, Stedman Caters was lost, afler 45 ninutes ringing. The company, which now inchuled Mi. J. \section*{SHERBORNE ABBEY BELLS.}

INTHESSTING HISTORY OF THE HFAYIEST PEAL OF ELGHT. By J. R, JERRAM.
Sherhorne Abbey may now fairly claim to possess the henviest peal of eight thells in Englatad, with a tenor of a little over 46 cwt . Previans to 1891 that distinction belonged to Wells Cathedral; but in that year the peal was augmented to ten.
As regards the etely history of Sherhame belts, the following notes are Laken from the late Canon Raven's 'Church' Bells of Dorset ': :-

The first mention of the bells of All Hallows (i.e. the old parisil dhurel which was huilt on to the west ent of the Abbey, and conhaned to be used as the parish church until the town bought the Abley church at the dissolution of the Monaslery in 1539), is in the year \(1514-15\), when some repairs were tone, but fore account is much lorn: in 1515-16, the sum of 2s. 4t. was paid for the keepiag of the belis, and 13 s . 4 d . was spent on the clapper of the greal hell, and 7 d . bell the hawikericks, and 4d. on grease, and 3s. on two hell ropes, and 23. 2it. on trussing the great bell. The bell here mentioned is probably Wolsey's belt, which was given ta the town, not to the Mozastery. Similar entrics ocenr regularly. Ali Hullows had five bells, nt Leasi as ently as 1527-8. When the parisin bought tha Abbey Church. 153949. the bells were Iransferred to it, and ilsere were certainly six bells roof of the same along the eash, soult and west sides, and then to ascend a few more steps and a ladder at the eouth-west angle of the tower, The chamber as so fark that it is necessury to light the ens in the daytime.
- In 1858. two trebles were added, and the sixtly was recast by G. Mears, of the Whitechapel Fonmdry, Loudon: and from that date the peal became one of cight bells.

Unfortunately, at the end of that year, on the first Sunday in Advents as the bels were being ruag for evening service, the noble lenor suddenly cracked. Such a cisaster, after haying just spent so much on adding two new bells and recosting the sixth, seems to have exhasted the church funds for at lime, and it was not until 1865 Ihat she was recast by Waraer. Since Ihem, and since 1 visited Sluerborne und copied the inscriptions, the third and also the seventh hatve been recast.
"The clock is in the ringing chamber and strikes the Cambridge charters on 2ud, 3rd, 4th and 7th, and the hour on the tenor.'
Treble-' G. Mears, fommer, Lomblon-Lord let the folk helowResond in living song-Thy praise as I do now-With iron longte. August 10tl, 1858.'

In 1556-7. ile two largest bells were recast, and n great collection a made for the bells amounting to \(£ 61\) 19s. 9 d., Lesides gifts of cows, parelument, ekins bell wheels, etc. Then follow numerous items of expenses incurreil alout the work.

In 1553-4, we and an item "in futh payrocnt for a Belle solde XI. li." Why this bell was sold is doublful. It may have been one of the thbey bells (perhaps the only one in the Abliey tower before the others wire removel from All Hallows (lhurch), which had been solet कhmp. There are many other items connected with the bel's up to the year 1578.

In 1655, Robert Austen and his sons were paid £55 9s. 6d. for casting hells and for melat for the "Paune bell," i.e., the Fire-bell.

In 1670, the Lenor was recast by Thos. Purdue at Closworlh. The rroasting alone cost \(£ 21\). At flois time the bells were only rung at stack-lisel, from the ground foor. and these is a tradition than it reguired twerty-one men to ring the six bells. How thoy were strliened it is impossible to imngine, Al what dnle they were hung with stays ancl slites, to be rang in the ordinnry wny, ? liave not been able to ascertain. Bint in \(1762-3, \mathrm{Mr}\). Belty (i.o., Bilby) and Mr. Evans Wcre paid 850 for mew hanging the six bells, and very likely it was at that time that tha clange was carried oul.

Flie present ringing chnember is on \(a\) level with the vanling of the rhurell roof. To reacla it it is necessary to nseend a spival staimease at the angle of the soull lransept, and to fraverse the lends on the

\section*{AN EXPERT COMMHTTEE WANTED?}

The letter which we publish in this issue from the Rev. E. S. Powell, upon the subject of providing a register of compositions - with which matter we dealt on this page last week-raises a question of considerable importance, and one to which we think the Central Council would do well to devote their attention. In advocating this register of compositions we had not overlooked the difficulty which the Rev. E. S. Powell points out; indeed, there are several difficulties surrounding the problem whicb will bave to be surmounted if the register is to be of practical value. But the particular point which the Vicar of Holbeton raises need not, we think, interfere with putting the project in band. Whether a particular set of course ends is or is not a variation of some previously obsaine 8 peal is a question which can be settled after the collection bas been made, if it cannot be settled before.

The most important step seems to us to be getting together the peals which have already been composed, and before their identity with their original author has been lost. Whether any two of them are the same peal or variations of each other can be decided, and the claim to originality awarded to the first author afterwards. On the other hand, of course, the work of collecting the peals and deciding rival claims could go on concurrently, if a definition of what constitutes originality or variations can be decided upon, but to wait until a ruling on this latter point is satisfactorily settled might postpone indefinitely the big task of forming the register. What we bave been anxious to emphasise is that the longer the task is delayed the more difficult it will become.
There is, however, in Mr. Powell's letter a suggestion upon which the Council might well act. They ought to set up an expert committee to define what is an original composition, and what constitutes a variation. Such a committee could be formed, and the recommendation of that committee, or a majority thereof, showld be accepted by the Council, and they should recognise no other. There are other technical questions which have been and stili are matters of great divergence of opinion. Tbese, also, ought to be the subject of consideration by an expert committee of the Council, and if the committee was one to command the confidence of the Exercise, we believe their report would be loyally accepted by ringers at large, the najority of whom admit their ignorance on these subjects, bat would be prepared to accept the considered views of a competent committee. We should, doubtless, always have a ' minority movement ' among us, but a good deal might be done to influence the opinion of the 'rank and file' if the Muffers, Ringiog Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

Council would set up a kind of judicial body to whom these subjects could be referred. The Conmmittee must, of course, be men of knowledge, and it could be strengthened by going outside the Council for some of its nembers; one important point would be to have a committee in which the Exercise as well as the Council bad confidence.

\section*{THE SURFLEET 'ANNUAL.'}

A HOLIDAY AND SOME RECORDS.
Glorious weathor on Saturday, August 15tin. Lajled the arrival; at Surfleet, first of the "luggage fiend" and later of the "cockneys, accompanied by 'Old Bill' and his ' penny-in-4he-slof' trunk.
After ringing on Sunday morning, which included a course of Cambridge Royal, the resti of the day was, given over fo leisure, during which " mine losti gave 'Old Eill' his list of duties for the week.
Monday morning was spent by the visitors in 'digging themselves in, whilst Rupert attended to business, In the afternoon a peal of Bob Major was altempted in the meadow, with Rupert in command, but "too many cooks spoil the luroth." At 6 p.m, 'go' was oalled for Cambridge Royal on that scond-to-mone; peal of tea at the Chwretr of St. Lawrence, with 'Olk Bill' at the helm. Three hours and a half of geod ringing, and the bells ran home, mech to the delight of the Rev. and the rest of the band, more especially Fupart, as it was Mrs. Rupert's first. pesl of Cambridge Royai. also the firsit peal of Cambridge Royal in which two married couples had taken prot.
Tuesday, being market day at Spalding, ringing was Ieft alone until evening, when Cambridge Major whs attempfed at Fulney; but, for somn unaccountable reason, came to a sudden stop aftr2 hours and 40 minutes' ringing, the band being sadly disappointed, althouglt two of the vingers were afterwards closely inspecting their hands tor some reason or ollher. The ait of Surfleet, bewing taken a strong hold of one particular member of the party, weird noises werc heard issuing from his bedroom about midinight, but the ill-cftects had worked off by next morning.

After breakiast on Wednesday, a start whs made for Bob Rozal. and a good peal was brought round just in time for dinner, during which one ungrateful member passed mude remarks shout not being used to retiring to the mat. A cricket match was played in the afteraoon at the Reserroir. whieh resulted in the Ladies beating the Gentlemen and ane of the gentlemen haring to resort tro aquatic feats to recover ilic ball.
The weather still treating us with greal kindness. a pisit was paid to Skegnoss on Thursday, where a most enjoyable day was spent, the male portion having their "annual." Some amusement was caused at dinner time by "Old Bill' trying to digest a specially prepared Surficel sandwich! The exertions of the day again proved too mach for "this particular menber, and night time arrived with more moise aucl vigorous "Aag' waving in the corridor.
Friday was commenced with 'many happy returgs of the day' to Rupert, and to celebrate his birthday a peal of Boh Major was rung, conducted by the particular one in question. An jmprompta birthday party followed, during which Rapert receiced the good wighes of everyoue preseat.
The "luggage fiend, being one peal short of 150, it was deevir to ring a peal of Bob Major on Saturday. Mrs. 1-2, laving a desire to see obher people work, very kindly umpired, and carried out her duties equally as well as "Old Bill' on the prerious day.

Sunday, Angist \(23 r d\), must be put, down as a red letter diy in the history of the "Surfleet Anvuals, for on that day a peat of Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung, this heing the first peal of Treble Rolk Royal rung on one of thesc very enjopałle occasions.

All good things come to an end. and Monday morning arrived all too soon, and with it the hour of departure. The weather, having taken a turn for the worse, mino host bad a busy hour before breakfast, but as the rain continued to patter down, time was found to squeeze in another peal of Bob Royal. After dinuer the fafal hour was close at linnd, and tracks were made io Spalding Station, the 'luggage fiend' taxing Rupert's car to ifg utmost, which necessitated ' Old Bill' being left unlil last (a pasition lie usually chooses for himself). The 5.40 train from Spalding being rather late, however. he was able to join it, together witll his "peany-in-the-siot' trunk (which certainly looked better for its stay at GlynGartb). Tha departure of the train brought to an end one of the most eajozable annuals' the writer can remember. Although the ringing week officially ended on Monday, the lit-bit of 1925 arriver on Fridey, when the remnants of the parts Fian the pleasure of laking part in the hostess's first peal 'in liand," a good peal of Bolh Major being rung in 2 hr. 18 mins.
Flais little account cannot be brought to a elose without mentioning the causc of the success of these functions-the onlimited kindaess of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, for which the party all join in one big. hearty "thank you.'

\section*{WEDDING BELLS.}

On August 29th, at Alt Saints' Churel, Leighton Buzzard, 168 oach of Grondsire and Stedman Triples and 240 Kob Major, I. Arnold, W. Bodsworth. A. Butcher, A. Seabook. F. Dedman, F. Buttrum, W. Gates, W. Jeffs and F. Yickers faking part. Thesa touches were rung as a wedding compliment to Miss Connie Nieholls, daugliter of Mr. J. Nicholls, foreman of All Saints". It was also the annivarsary of the wedding of Mrs. Brownsworth, one of All Saints \({ }^{3}\) ringers. Later in the day the Beds Associntion rang a peal of Kent Trelble Bob Royal.

THE OLD NORWICH CONTROTERSY

\section*{By J. ARMIGER TROLLGE}
'homms Melchor whs in no wise backward in atecpling the challenge thrown down by Edward Cranc. No doubt thas was but the formal declaration of war. Hostilities had already bugua. Nelchior was not the matu to sit still and see another usurp bis position as the leading ringer of Norwicls. He, too, liad a tower at his command and a onmber of good ringers who supported him. dill he had to do was to compose a peal of' Steumon 'I'riples and ring it before the Coslany men gat theirs. The old peal ringing band had, rouglaly, split into two equal inalves, due very likely to the fact that it hati been made up our of the best men of bhe two towers. Thomas Bavott, who had tuthen part io both the 1718 and 1719 peals of Triples, and also the 10080 of Treble Bob, followed Melchior. So did John Webster, who rang in the 1 rich peal and the Treble Roib. So did William Padmer, who rang in the 3718 poal. Anothor was John Gardiner, the son mast likely of the Thomas Gavdiner who had taken part in the 1715 peal of Bub Triples and also the loug peal of Treble Bob-unless my copy has a anispant ami they are the same person.- On the other hand, Grane hata his fathar and a couple of the Treble Bob band, Richavd Burnham and John Harvey. so as far as experience went the opponents were protity equal. But the sixth at Manerpit was going bad, and it was doubtful if anyone could ring ther to a peal; while Coslany bells were in excellent eondition, as the ringing of the 10,080 proves.

To-day we eay see one pretty obvious reason why beilher could ring the first peal of Stedman Triples, and that is the difiealty amounting to almost an impossibility of getting a truc composition. But both composers, who knew a great deal that John Garthon had tatght them about Grandsire Triples, were blissfuly ignorant of the pitfalls of Stedman compositian. We need not wonder at that. It was not till 1768, nfter several falsa pals had been rung, that Christoplier Wells, of the Lendou Fouths, discovered that Freble Bob can run false internally without showing at the lead ends; and not till 1780 was the full extent of this falseness found out. Nay, the band who rang the tirst peal af waterloo Reverse Boh in 1912 had reason enouedr to know that a composer in quite modern limes car get tripped ap in much a similar fashion.
Whether wither Melchor or Crane had any experience of compositiou fo ayy other method than Grandsire Iriples and ino old Plain Changes as given by Stedman and \(J\). D. and \(C\). M. is very doubtful. No name is given in the record of the long peal of Treble Bob as to the composer, so presumably it was not a local man, though, as the conductor's name also is not given, we are not quite sure. Wreil, Melchior managed ta gel oves the difficuitict of composition as he say thiem, and the next thing was to ring it. Hero luck was with him. A bitkle more than a month after Crane's challenge, on Saturday, October 31st, 1731, the "Norwich Gazette bad the following:--

NOTWITHSTANDING the Pretensions of several Ingenjous Ringers in this City and elsewhere who would bear the world in Hand that they have composed that mosi intricate peal of STEDMAN'S TRIFLES; this is therefore to satisfie all Lover's of that ingeaious Art that Mhomas Metehor has composed it to Truth with Two Doubles, being the first that ever was composed all perfect Stedman consisting of 5040 changes; And was rung by him and 7 more on Monday, the 25th of October, 1731, at St. Peter's of Mancroft in Nomwich in 3 hewrs and 40 minutes; sud never a Bell out of Course, nor changes alike; by us whose wames are heve subseribed, tiz"- Thomas Melehior treble: Thomas Blafield 2nd; Wm. Palmer 3rd: Thomas Atber 4th; John Gardiner 5th: Jobn Forster 6th; Christopher Booty 7th; William Porter tenor.

NOTE.-If any of the Curious be detirous they may see the Penl at John Forster's at the siga of the Eight Bells in Sit. Peter's of Mancroft aforessid and salisfie themselves without laying any wager.
The first round of the fight was clearly Melchior's
In due course a hoard was pus up in Maneroft tower to record this peal. It reads as follows
' On the 25th of Octoher, 1731 , lere was rung that Misterious Peal called Stedran's Tripples; the discovery theroof has been the Study of several Ingenions Ringers thouth to no effect, until this intricate Peal, which differs from all other Methods of tripples, as being every bell a like course was perfectly discovered by Tho. Melchior, who first complealid the Peal of Perfect Stedman Tripples with only two Doubles and no alteration. The extent heing 5040 changer, was compleatty rung by us in 3 holirs and 40 minutes, on which occation Willm. Seple in has remarks upon the ringing this Peal did elegantly sing, viz.:-
As for the sweet and pleasant Trofle she
By Melchior well was rung that hell, and called the bobs so
Blofield the 2nd; Palmer the 3rd did ring:
Ather rung 4th, and was not lonth, but made her for to sing;

Gardener the 5th did sway: Foster the fith did play
The 7th round Chris. Booty hound end made her to obey;
The tenor fine and neat, brave ?onter so compluat
Did ring, hev out and turned ahout that C'ymbal lourl and great.
This was the third pogl bond put up in St, Peter's tower, and all three are sinilar ins size and sbyle of lettering. Thicy have hoon restored in recent yours, und are quite legible. As they record libu firs peal lung in miry method, the first ever rumg of Grandsire Triplem and ihe first of Stedman Thintes, il will be hard fo find another throe in any user approuching ibem in historical intertat.
Not every peal was recorded by a hoard. Indeed, for a hundrea and fifty years, every board put up in Norwich with, I think, orly two exceptions, recorded a penl which was believed to be either the fitst or the longest rung anywhero in the particular method. The two exceptions are the lirst feal al Mancroft on the present twelve and the peal of Oxioss Ireble Boh Ruyal to which relhome Hurcy rang the Lewar, and which 1 referred to some time ago in these noter.

Wu can never be quite sure how many peals wero yung th these ola days. Some probably are lost far ever, but there is just m ehana that notice of others may to found in the fileg of the old moms papers. It would be a good thing if some enthusiast would seareh through the 'Norwich Guzatte.' and sce if there are any referenced to tlae 1715 and 1718 peals; if ouv present incomplete account of the 1719 peal can be supplemented; if any record of a peal supposed to hava been rung ab \(A\) glsham about tho same time eatr be found: and if there are ary Farthor references to this Stmmath conthoversy beyon? what I shall repraduce. I commenil this task to our Norwich friends, nnd especially to Mr. George Burton.
The poefically inclined will enjoy the wny in which Mr. Willian Scott "did elegantly sing." Fhis efinsion is the first of quite t number of similar efforts, which from time to time lave been inHieted on the Exercise. The best we can say of it is thal it in no worse than the others, luat that is not saying much. I shoald Lhink that a peal of Stedman Triples or for that matter anything eonnected with change ringing, is about as unsuitable a subject far poctical treatrocnt ns you can find. One or two of the really great paets could make fine poetry by stringing together a list of sonorous narmes, but not John Miltan himself coutd make ayything of Atber and Foster amh Chris. Bootg. One other example of Hr . Seott's elegant muse has come down to us, but of that later.
The time the peal tank to ring was romarkable. Thate fourg and forty minutes for a peal of Tripies, with a 23 ewt. tenor (for that was the weight of the ald bell at dancroft), seems almost torn slow to he possible. We slould have thought there was a thistake is the printing. but lhat we hawe a rouble corroboratian, the peal beard and a further letber. The Cosimy men, indeed, ditl say that the time was only three hours and a half, hat they also saill that the peal was 180 changes short, both of which things Melchior indignantly tmied. So, allowing for any small error of calculation, we can take the time as pretty well correct. Tt shors that the hells were going nond tan woll, and that the sixth espacially was going very badly indeed.

It would be rather interesting to disonss why some bells go no mweh quicker than others. Ringers are used to saying that old fashioned, long-waisted holls, woll lang out with big whrels, always ge slowly, ank though ane would luave thought that these things would have hat just lhe opposite effect, there cloes seem some reason for this opinion. Certainly a hig belfry and wide circle of romes nearly always mean slow ringing, and so does a long dravght of cope. The enrly peals at Mancroft were rung on the present flomr. Which is a long way from the bells. At some tima or ather, eitler when the trorlve were put in or (which is more likely) when the olf eight were made ten, an additional floor was put in jurt belaw the spring of the fower arch. This was taken away when with othec improvements. the lower arch and belfre werc opened to the church in the eightieg of the last centirry. The times that the ofher peals on the olf hells took to riog are as follows:-1715, \({ }^{3}\) lirs. 18 minutes: 1718. 3 hrs. 30 minutes: 1719,3 brs. 6 minutes; the meal of Court Boh Roybl in 1769 took 3 hrs. 29 minules; and the 12.603 Grandsire Gaters in 17578 lits. 15 mimutes, whiph is 3 hre. תnd 18 minutes for a 5040 . Thesn timng vary very considerably. bu the Sfefman is much the slowest of the lot.

\section*{OXFORD GUILD ANNUAL FESTIVAL.} To the Editor.
Dear Sir, May I suggest through the medium of the 'Ringing World, that the beat way to setile the controversy re the venue of the festival is to change the date to August Bank Holiday, when I am sure, a much more representative attendance wrould be the result. A large majority of the members are not men of leisure. The holding of the meeling on a Saturday morning debars a large number from attending, consequact on ther having to remain at business or lose tine, which, added to their day's expenses, makes the cost of attendance probibitive.-Yours truly,
R. R. LEWIS.

\section*{SONNING DEANERY BRANOH.}

A combined ringing practice for the Souning Deanery Branch was held at Arborfold, on Saturday, August 8th. There were 16 members present, from 「'wford, Wokiogham, Binfield, Furst. Waftham St. Lawrenca, and Arborfeld. The Guild seeretary (Mr. T. Hibbert) and his son, Mr. W. Hibbert, looked in during the evening, their belp being very welcome. The fallowing methods were practised: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor. The foreman ringer. Mr. Emblen, said that one of the Aborfeln ringers had only missed Sunday Service ringing twice during a period of seven years, a record to be proud of.

\section*{RINGERE' SOCIAL AT BOLTON.}

On Saturday week ahout sixty members, wives and friends of the Bollon and neighbouring branches of the Lancushire Association, availed themselves of the invitation of the Bolton Borough Police. who had placed the whole of their athletic ground at their puests disposal.

During the afternoon and evening the mea sodulged in games of bowls, and the women folk in tennis antil darkness approached, when an adjournment was mande to the parilion. Here, a free and easy concert' was held, handbells, songs and dancing bringing the time for departure all too soon.

This invitation has now dereloped into an annual affair, and is lonked forward to by many members, it having ereated a friendy tivalry hetween lowers as to which possesses the best bowlers, and. for some weaks previous, one can hear challenges thrown out, and they are sellied in a right royal fashion.

A rote of thanks was passed to the Solton Forougl Police for their kind invitation.

There is afways a ectain amount of interest to the rimger concerned in sompleting the ' vilele of the cower.' Mr. Gabriel Lindon las now rumg every bell at Leiston, in Suffolk, his native town, to a peal. Whan oue remembers that Mr. Lindofl has been domiciled in Dublin for more than a quarter of a century, this achievement is somewhat remarkable.

Following in father's footsteps" may be said of Edwacd I?. Gobey, of likeston, who last week rarg his first perl. If is only 13 yeurs of age.

The actual works of the uncient Wells Cativedral clock, to which we referred last week, are, we learn, in South liensington Musenn.

Ou Sunday, Septcaber Ebh, 1807 , a peal of 6140 Bobl, Mujor Koyal was rung ut Coventry in 4 hrs. 23 mins. At St. George's Olurch, Southwark, on September 9th, 1750. John Holt rang in it peal of Bob Triples. This lie conducted and probably composed.
'Ye Crowfeld Socicty of Ringers' rang a 'complempeal of Five thousand and forts of Gathrine's Triples, being the cirst true peal that ever was pricked with two Doubles ouly, on September lula 1741.

Theodore Ecclestone, the \(E q u\) ine of Crowneld, gave the peal of eight bells to Codthenham, as well as the ten to Stonhay Aspall. He rang the treble in the penl above referred to.

\section*{'G思EAT IPUSH NOW WANTED.}

The application made to the Great Western Divisional Superintendent at Bristol by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Assaciafion for railway travelling facilities for ringers af reduced fares lins elicited a request for furiler information, and secretaries of absociations throughout the country are urged at onee to write to the hosorary sceretary of the Central Couscil (Mr. E. A. Young, 155, Jushey Green, Caiford, S.E.), giving the approximate number of lheir members.
Mr. Edgar Guise (hin. secretery of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association) writes:-

I have received a letter from the Divisional Superintendent of the Railway, in which he stales fint consideration has been given to my application, but he now desires to receive a similar application from the Central Council. I have communionted with Mr. Young, the hon. secretary, and I think it would be a good plan for all general secretaries of assaciations to forward him (Mr. Yaung) ab once the fpproximate membership number. This is asked for.
- To ensure success now it is up ta every ringer to interest himgelf in the matter. It now wants the "Great Puslin."

The work of the bells at a boob is exactly the same as that in a bah lead of Oxfori. The bell passing Trehle, 5 , 6 mp. after torlging 5-6 down, makers 3rifl's. 4th's, Jrit's, and up again. Those passang 2-3 and 1-2 up. respretiroly make 4 th's ani retmin in lead, and, as alreaty sinted, the \(3-4\) ant 4-5 bells, iriple dodgre in 5-6. The same rule for spliting the methods applics as that previously given.
Moruing Star may he found astumblinghiech. particularly when introduced into a pand and, as in Brantrec. the 3-4 down bell helps to keep 1hinges straigh in front, hut for all that, let it ho a case of "evef tuls on ifs own hotinm.". Do not rely on someane else keeping you straight, the ofher man lias enougl to do in carrying his own rope.

Practice nights will now be form to he fully ocenpied, the all-important hour passes very quickly, and it will be found necessary to turil service ringing inlo praclices. No opportumity must be lost of getting a putl. and every man in the band must put his shoulder to the wheel if a multi-methorl peal is in be accomplistied. The question of how tho accommodate prohationers may preseat itseli. I too nuch of the practice bight is taken up wilh the oew methods, tha learaet is at a disadvantage, atud may, if be has to sitia the ringins roon mosi of his time, lose interest. It will, thercfore. be advisabla to urrange extra practices for his welfare, and get him as soall हन possible on to tho Oxford group. When he has reached that stage it will be possible for him to join in with the rest wher the earlie methods ate being • brushed up.'
& 1 '匕AL IN SIXTEEN HLTHODS.
From experience it las beca found, that, aifer concentrating on a new group, no small amount of confusion cxists on ringing methards loaned a montli or sa beforeland. Ome man may be ringing Woodbine, and another wants to ring Oxford. Of courso it simply canmat be done. How, then, can we overcome this ditheulty? Presuming thon fifteer methods already described are thoroughly mastered, and thw details of the next group are to hand, on the practice night devote thi whole of the tirne to the new methods, and, on tine following Sunday, ring plaig courses, changing mehod frequently. This will bring ont the weak points, which should be noted and ultimately strengthened. Mcreover, lhe practice of Plain Conrses, enables the band to get smart in breaking of into another 720 . A sery strong point must be nade of always finisking an oxtent clean, aud picking up smartly the naxt ane. Yaur own experience will by this time bave ranght you that anless the ringing is good, success cannot he hoped for.
bfforts may now be directed to ringing a spliced peal. Formorly, to ring a peal of fingr in more fian saven methods, necessitated riaging over scven \(720^{\prime} s\), or introducing 360 s , and to ring fourtecn of tha: lalter was no mean performance, only possible by hard and constant practice. At that time, the sphers of Minor methods had not heen filly cxplored; fortunately we are much better placod. and are now in a position to ring fifteen methods in Beven true extents; in fnct, wt can go one better and have sixteen by introducing Kent Treble Boh.
For the first ' spliced peal, I suggest the following arraggement:
1. Trowed and Morning Stal.
2. Duke of Norfolk, College Exucise and Norbury.
3. Grove Delight and Bratatree.
4. Neasdea and Wragby.
5. Wiagloy and College Bob IV.
6. Overton and Sandal!.

Loction Scholar's' Heasure, Oxiord and Kingston.
There raty be some who object to Wragay being inchuded in two extents, if it were not, aeven spliged estents could not, as far ss we have gonc, be obtained. Already mention las been made of the inirounction of Kent, thus giving sixteen methods, wilh sulusequent aiterations io the suggested peal. Numbers 1 to 3 remsin as jjven, add to No. 4, College Bob IV., No. 6 becomes No. 5, London Scholars \({ }^{\circ}\) Pleasure and Fingston comprise the 6th, whilst 720 of Oxford and Keat complete it.

SPLICED' 720 OXFORD AND KFNT.

The splicing of Oxford and Kent is onls pgssible by paying attention to the leads. Bohs are not required to produce the exteat, but a little explanation is necessary. With the figures given, the name of mothod opposite each lead end denotes the method which produces that lead end.
Conmence by ringing Oxford, the first lead end beint produced hy Kinit. When trehle is dodging 3 - 4 down, clange over to Kent, thys allowing Kent placns to he made in lien of Oxtord Thero being only the one lead of Kent, clange back when treble ggain dodges \(3-4\) down. Oxford is rung far two leads, change ngain for flaree, then ggain for four (or until the wart eod comos up\}, and repert the whol twice. A little study and prachice will soon make this clear. Thr feads of each eng easily be memorisert- 1 of Keot, 2 of Oxford, 3 of Kent, 4 of Oxford.

Ascending the lofty tower and rasiug the bells in peal, which are a nice rivg of elgnt with a teror of 10 cwt in F , several touches of Grandsire and stedtuan Priphes werv rung; also some ruging with noembers of the loea! baud. A dolightful ride of live miles alang the coast brought tho party to llfracombe, where SS. \(l^{2}\) hilip and James' towcl was yisited, with its recenty angmented ring of eight, fenor \(12 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. Heve nowte touches of Girandsine and Stedmau, and some Kent Treble Bob were rung, an hour being pleasambly spent. As soon as the bells had been lowered, the bulky rame of the popular Rector and Presideat of the society (Rev. H. Layyou Owen) filled the doorway, he hawing come down by train. Then, after an hour's stroll found the Capstone and promenale among swarms of holiday fisitors, the party githered at LIolloway's Restaurant for tea, at whicl the Rector presided. He expressed tho pleasure lie felt in beine wilh thent, aud thanked the ringers for their services.-Mr. Riclardson, in replying, referred to ibe good spirit of unity that existed nanong the nutmbers. The journey home was made via Barmstaple, where a shor: slop was made, and the last lap (Mesers. Canter and Hartlet at the Fox and Hounds, Eggesford. Here the landbells were brought out, and a course of Grandsire ruag iu hand by Messtr. Fowe, Riehardson, Belts and Shepherd, and some "tapping by Mr. Beits; then the Rector obliged with some well rendered songs. Thws enlivened, all reached home in a pleasant mood. The members desire to thank the respective Vicars, Messre. Haywam and Dadds for facilities at Combe Martin and lifracombe, and Mr. E. \section*{A DEVON PEAL RESTORED. \\ Hawkchurce belds RUag again arter 25 years NEGLECT.}

The rural parish of Fawkehurch was en fete on Monday, August 24th, the occasion being the dedication of a new treble bell and the formal opening of the augmented and recently rehung bells. some 25 years since thite ofd five were lask rung, and 17 years sinec they were chimed. Tower and bells alike lad fallen into decay, and for years were in a dangerous condition.
Recently, through the generosity of a resident, the tower was restored, and a futther generous donor came forward and offered not only to resiore the old peal of îve, but to add an additional bell. The restoration of thic beils has been of a thorough character The old bells were sent to the Whiteclapel Foundry, where they were tuned, quarter tumed, and fitted in a new iron frame. The new freble is a bell of the same character, and ati make a melodious penl.

The bells, having been excelcd, the Bishop of Sherhorne (Suffengan Bishop of Salisbury) dedicated the new work on the date mentioned Although the parish is in Deron, it is in the Diocese of Salishury. so it was only fitting that the Diocesan Guild should be imvited Nolices to them
Natices to the neighbouring affiliated towers brought togethe a large number of members, while other associations represented Cumberlands. The following rang Sussex and Colloge Youths and dedication prayer, followed by 240 Grandsire Doubles at the conclusion of the service: T. Herrey Beams. Rev C. C. Cox, F Brooks, F. Dugler. Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and W. Woodward.
From thed, until late in the cvening, the bolls were kept merrity going by the many ringers present. in call clatnges. Grandisire ant Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Eol? Minor. So many were present that only one 720 was attempted, the following band ringing a well-struck extent Kent Treble Bols: W. D. Smill 1. TT. Herver Beams 2, the Rey. C.' C. Cos 3, A. G. Belts 4, W.

\section*{THAT NEEDED REGISTER.'}

Sir,-Erery member of the Exercise will sympathise with the purpose of your leading article on this sulject. But it needs to bo romembered that the question is not us simple as it looks. Where ide figures of two composilions are jilentical an untruc chim to origimality is nasily adjusted, but more often than not this is not what athanlly necurs. The real difficuty comes when a difference of opfoion arises as to whether the alteration is a mere variation or amounts to an independemi production. Mast of your readers will remeruher controversies in the past, when opposite conclusions were upheld with considerable warmh.
On otse noiable oceasion Mr. A. Linulaff enguged in a viyorouts campaign with four allacr leading composers, which was carried on far several monilis. When brought down to its exsential elcouente the prothem boiled down to the appurently simple question, whethit the indroduction of one hol entifled a new compesition to be \(r\) garderl as original. No conceivable collection of peals weutd assisl in the solution of "t difference of this kimb. And, as I have said. these ate the poinis, and otbers like them, in which a solution is most urgently nceded.
How are we to reach il Perhaps the first and most importani step is to recognise that the standard of originality is not a fixed quantity, but is alwats incritubly rixing. In making this statement. I have not in virw the obrious fact that every now discovery makes it more difficulif for others to obtain an original peal, but there is the equally cogent. point that our knowledge of the principlea of composition is constanily advancing, and we know far more aboul the nature of variations than our predecessors of only a short time ago. An example of this is the simple ' veversal, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) of which. I behewe. Jasper Snowion was the lirst to explain the essential charseteristics.

Woufil it he possible for same af aur leading composers to agree upon a few leading principles governing originality at the present stage of knowledge? No production falling siort of this standmed to be recognised. I confess, however. duat I am wy no means confident either of the agrement of the expert eomposers, of of the general neceptance of their conclusions, assuming they are forlunatr enough to reach any. But I arm firmly convincel? that somethirg of thits kind is a necessary preliminary to the production of such is register as you propose, if that register is to be of praefical value in avoiding disputes.
Lest 1 be accused of merely destructive exilicism, 1 will venlure on one positive suggestion. Let it be known to every young comnposer that to elains to lave abtained an origimal \(50 t 0\) in any plain pyen method in courses of normal lenglh is to-day practlintly equivalent to saying he could sweep the Atlantic dry wilh Mro. Paltington's hroum. If that be taken to heart an appreciable duefion will take plare in the number of unjowtifich claims.-Trast failhfully.

\section*{E. S. POWELL}
P.S.-What ought \(n\) conductor to do in the following circumstances? For a particular prupose he wants to call a composilinn with certain characteristics. He has not in bis possession a pral with these qualities, and strings togelher [rom old material a pral and calls it. As a quarantee of truth he is expected to state the composer's name when the peal is published. He knows perfectly well it is not strictly lis, and under pio circumstances does lie intent to publish the figurrs. Probally many of the instances you have in mind in your leading article come within this category. Woult it not he well to have a convention to cover them, kuch as 'Arranger by A. R. C.' instead of the usual 'composed '?

\section*{A CALL FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION.}

The immediate co-operation of Association Secretaries is sought in the endeavour to secure for ringers cheap travelling facilities on the railways. The initiative in the matter, as our readers are aware, bas been taken by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, who bave got the ear of the railway officials, but it is pecessary to make the application country-wide if it is to meet with success. In a matter of this kind the railway companies usually take a common line, through the Clearing House, and, as we pointed out in this column a few weeks ago, what is most urgently needed is that all Associations should join in a united effort to bring about the desiréd end. Each Association should put its own facts before the company serving its own district, and the information which will be of value is similar to that set out in Mr. Edgar Guise's letter to the Divisional Superintendent at Bristol, and which we published in our issue of August 2 ISt.

Ringers, in the aggregate, do a considerable amount of railway travelling; if they had the advantage of reduced fares for a ringing expedition, whether for peal or meeting, they would do a great deal more than is possible at present. Anglers and golfers, who do not travel in bodies of at least a dozen togetber, have these cheap facilities, and on any ground that can be advanced for the privilege extended to these two sections of the community, equal claim can be made for bellringers. An important point in the argument is that ringers, although numerous as a whole, are not to be found in big numbers at any one centre, and it is seldom that twelve (which is the present minimum number for which cheap tickets can be obtained) travel together. They constantly assemble in considerable strength, and even monthly district meetings may bring together anything from twenty to a hundred members, and these numbers would be considerably increased if there were a reduction in the fares. The railway companies would certainly not be the losers.

We hope that in this matter the Standing Committee of the Central Council will throw all its weight into the scale, and every Association, through its officials, should at once approach the company or companies which touch its area. There may not be time or material available to take our statistics as to the amount of travelling done by members in connection with peal ringing, but details as to numbers attending meetings would be a powerful argument in support of the application. Another point which should not be overlooked is that each application should bear a reminder that it is part of a national movement, otherwise some local railway official may take it into his own hands to turn down the request before it gets to the proper quarter. The essential factor now is time. It is uf no use for Association officials to wait for meetings of their own sosieties, they must act upon their own initialive, and act quickly. Their own members, and ringers in general, will not thank them if procrastiuation results in the endeavour of others being defeated because of the absence of sufficient support.

The first peal of Imperial Place Major was rung at St. Mary \({ }^{1} \mathrm{~s}_{3}\) lsington, by the Socioty of Cumberiand Youths, on Sept. 1314, 1802. I'le anethod and the peal were composed by William Shipway, who was also the coaductor.
l'ine method, alibougln alterwards included in Shipway's. Art if Raging ' was little practised, and soon foll into disuse-as well it might. In the method a place was always made imnochintely alove the treble, but tho graatest defect was the three blows behind by two of Lio bolls before and after the ireble's whole pull. The method contained no dodging.

It can only have been Shipway's yanity, as the author of the method, that ean havo induceri him to include it, with the reverse and donble variations, in his hook. He clamed it as superior to blajn Bob in one respect, in that 'it is as regular on an obll as on un evon number of wells."
The Eirsi peal of Douhle Norwich in Chositire was rung at Chrishaton on September 12th, 1844, and the first peal of Superlative in Wales, at L!augollea, ou Supt. \(13 \mathrm{th}, 1907\).

The Society of St. Martin's Youtlis, out of whieh has developed the present haring St. Martin's ciuild for the Diocese of llirminglam, rang if first, peal on Monciay, Sept, 16th, 1755. This was a peal of Isob Major at St. Philip's Chureh.
Charles Henry Hattersley, who died on October 21st, 1915, was born on Sept. \(12!\mathrm{h}, 1844\); and Clintles Middleton, of Norwich, whose peal of Cambridge Surpise Major is the only one obtainable, with the tenors together, died on Sept. 14th, 1886.

Next Thureday is the anniversary of the 11,328 London Surprise Major rumg tuy the Oxford Guild at. Drayton. This was on Stpt. 17th, 1896

The peal at Milverton, recorded elsewhere, was completed with ome strand of the tenoz rope gonc betow the satly daring the last threequarters of an hour. It unaravelled both up and down, but huckily line other two strands jueld.

No member of this group appears to be extensively prackised, which is a pily, ass they contais some interesting work, and all are wortly of atiention. Mothod experts, however, nay not agree, chiefly owing to the 7-pull dodge in 5-6.
It being nacossay to leara the work 'up' before lackling any of these, the notebook is necessary to record the mesult of our analysis. W〕LLESDEN Willesden is our first-method, and is No. 13. Pagds 17, of the C.C. Collection. Commencing at Lhe lead ent, examine the 41h, the slow" hall: After sunpping trebla? this hell makes End'g plate, wad smups again, as in College Exereise that presents no dificeulty. If eny tiflienliy is experienced it will bo in the next two positions, i.e., 2.3 and \(3-4\). Pay attention to hhese, and the rest will lonk after itself. The 6th passus treble \(2-3\) up in this case, makes \(41 h^{\prime}\) s place, dedees 3-4 down and makes Jrol's and 4th's. It will be seen 1hat treble comes to dodge 34 , as in the Woodbine Gronp. The 2nd is ibe object of our mext note. Passing trehle 3-4, it makes 4th's and Jrd's (ras in the Woodhime Group). dodges \(3-4\) up. makers th's, and goes to loarl. If the \(2-3\) bell makes a slaong point of the 4 th'z place fitst, il will help to kecp the niddle work straight, should abything urtoward happen. The befls pasing \(4-5\) and \(5-6\) up. work us at a bob lead in the Woodbine Grotsp, i, c., is a 7-pull dodge in 5-6. Our matelook, thon, yecoids the following:-
\(p^{3}\) ass treble 1-2 ty : Make 20al's and stap again.
Ta*s treble 2-5 up: Make 4th's, flarlge 34, 3rd's and 4th's.

Fass treble \(\ddagger-5\) up: 7 -pull dodge \(5-6\) up.
Pass treble 5-6 up: 7 -p dowl dorge \(5-6\) down.
Pocking, No. 21. Trage 19, our next method, requires little or no rectail. Frons situty af the lead, it will be seen that London Brhars hork taices the place of Kingston.

\section*{CORRECTING TRIPS.}

The peal in fifteen or sixteen methods having been successtully brought round, we cats now add five more methorls, glving us a twonty method peal in the space of beven extente, whicit will necussitate a rearrangement of the 720's.

By this time the tour dominating methods of Oxford Grout will havo thecome thoronghly engiaved on the mind, and the elief diftumbty experiencerl will be in remembering which tuethod you ato rimging. Shankl you forgel, clon't be aftaid to call out and ask-it wif save a deal of confusion, nat euch a request will not upset the others.
A fow remalks on the correction of trips caused through forgetfulness will not be out of phace it this point. As new methods ate added to the peals, the conductor's responsibilities are increased, and it is up to each member of the band to try lis best to ease his butden, which caut be done in many ways, fisat by paying ntrict attention to the work in hand. If a 1 rip oceurs and your partmetr is the culprit, it is no dificull matter to correel lime but shalald it be some other bell, keep yourself straight and kake no notice. let the one the is working with keep him light.

Always remenber that it takes two bells to break an attempt down; if only one goes wrong, with the bella working in paists sameone is hound to be in a position to correet him. Say. for example, A " wants to do London Scholars' work in the middle and ' \(B\) ' tries to do Sandal. If 'A is quick, ho can put ' \(B\) ' right without a misblow, or, on the other hand, ' \(B\) ' might come along without any idea of what he las to do. He only needs to ask, and 'A cau oblige and tell him every blow, thic work, of caurse, bejng in this case. the opposite to that which lie is doing himsel?. The fame culs also be done in fatut or belsind.
A treble ringer who is conversant with the methods is a decided advantage. In many towers the treble is considered the learmen's bell. I admit it is, but only up to a cordain phase of his training As soon as he has had a few practices of the theble hunt in trohle Boit he should be put on inside work until able to ring a number of methorls, remembering always a goort treble man cangot always ring juside, but an inside man can always ring the treble, and when le is conversant with bie methot rung can keep aud eye on the working bells.

\section*{A TWENTY METHOD PEAL.}

This conld be arranged to suit the band intenting to ring it, nad the best will only He found by experience. For guidance, the following may be found suifable:
1. Poynton and Marple.
2. Old Oxford, Boeking and Willesten.
3. Trowel and Moraing Siar.
4. Duke of Noriolk. College Exercise and Norbury.
5. Grore Delight and Braintrec.
6. Neasden. College Eoh IV. and Wragby.
7. Overton, Oxford, Sandal, Lonion Scholars" Plensure and Kingstan, making fwenty in all, and, when this has been acomplished, you will be in good trim to tackle the next grotip, and one that will require a good deal of attention.
Prerious articles lerve appeared in our issues of August 14ib, 21es, 28tin, and Seplember 4tll.

\section*{AN ECCLEGFIELD CELEBRATION}

MR. WLLETAM TURTON HONOURED.
On Saturtay, August 29t1, Mr. Willian Turton, of Ecclesfield, attained his 751 h birthdar, and also completed 52 years service as a clange vinger at Ecclesfield Parish Church.
To celebrate this dual event, members of the local company, together with ringing associates from Shefald, aftempted a peal of Oxiord Treble Bat Major at the lower of this well-known Tinster of the Woors, \({ }^{1}\) but after an hour"s excellent ringing, it unfortumately care to grieff.
Mr. Thrton was hy profession a Hand file cutter, a trade which owing to the constam! improvements in machinery, is tast passing atway, but to those who lieve seen sucla men use their chisel and hammer with such detterily, patience and accoracy, it is no monder that they are good strikers in change riaging. Their sense of tonch atad hearing habitually with them in daily tail, is also manifested when is the tower.
The esteon and regard by which 'Old Bill' (as he is known to both residents and outside friends) is held. was clearly demanaluated at a dinuer held at the Black Bull Hotel on Saturdar evening, at which his five sobs, members of the local compuny and frimas, and other ringing friends from the Shelteld rrea, wore present. The buacing air of Teclesfeld evident!y put creryone in good form, smave after squate of Yorkshire pudding heing served with speedy repeti13on: heast heart, vegelables athd onion satice, assisfed with the usual "mash-me-down,' made a very emjavable repast.
A joxial evening followed, the visiting ringers, nlong with Mr. G. Lewis, of Feclesfield, giving an excellemt cotirse of Grandsite Catere on Lhe landlumls, While during the evening, the Ecclesfeld Glee Party rentered in fine faslaion nuarteltes and songs of a popalar and appreciated malure. A very successfol maeeting of the Northern District af the Dssux Association was held at Wethersfield on Saturday, Scpt. 5 ih, when 30 ringers braved the inclement weatber to attend. The parighioners luve, during the pasi fow geats, had their massive fower thorouthy renovatod, a new bell firme put in, and the bells fetuned and ri lung, this latior part of lya work having been enturusted lo Jeasmb Nears and Stainbank, wha hate dane the work splendidly. 'lhe tome hat 'go' of the bells gives the greatest sithelation. 'Ihe whole restorntion was accomplisher at a cost of 81500 , whigh wat really a remarkablu undertaking for a country village.
The bells were set goine alout 3 p.an, and the usingl service wa held, the Vietr giving a very lidpfui address. Hu pointed ant that amongst all the changes of generations, the old towers with thit bells, were always the same, sending onl their message uld fown the E-ges. The preadier pointon? ant hat ringers were a toand of men pulling together, and from lhis he atret many lessons.

After the service the ringers liad wea in the Fillago Hall, the Vicar oveupying the chair, supported by Mr. C. If. Howitrd, Masler of the Asscciation; Mr. W. J. Nevard, Districl Master, North-Bastern Livision; Mr. L. W. Wifme Dintriet Master: and Mr, W. H. Wyson, dis triet secrelaty, when the following parishess were represonted, via. Farls Colne, Feering, Eycenstead Gieen, Snwbton, Fuhbome, Wethersfield, Springfield, Rayne, Great Bardifeld, Gireat Benlep, Maldon, Halstend, Sible Hedinghama.

Mr. 1. W. Wiffen fresided over the business meding, at whirt hearly vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for granting the hae of the bells, for taking the service, and for hig helpful und inspiring address.-This was moved hy Mr: C. H. Hownid, and Ecconded by the district secretary.
The Vicar, in replying, said if gave him the groatesi possible pleta sure to welcome the members at that, the first meeting of the aggociation, lueld at Wethersfield. Fic whs alsa very pleased to hear the farourable opitions explessed by practical ingers upou the arork they lad done in connection with the tower and the bolis, futd ha thoped they would hold mather meeting there before very long.
 hells, whilst others returnert to the tower to ring, mad also to give a help to the newy-formed young band of ringers.

OXFOKD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTEVAL

\section*{To the Edilor.}

Dear Sir,-I think Mr. R. R. Lewis's suggestion a good one, and hat the real opinion of members of the Guild should be ascertained hy loolding the annual festival on August Jsank Holiday, when the workiag man ringer would, for once, beable to liave a-voice in the mather. Only a small minority of Guild morabers at present is able to uttend tho business meeting.
Personally I lave alway favoured the idea of having the meeting in the three Archleaconries in rotation, but last year at Reading I doulyted the wisclom of it, in so far that there were only really four towers available lor ringing, and many ringers could not get a pull unless wery persistent. In fact, when I took ofl my coat in one tower I was praptically fold by a member of the Guild Committee that I hat better pus it on again unless able to fing Superlative or Cam-bridge-Yours, etcr,

\section*{M.C.A.'s PROPOSED NEW RULES.}

The efforts which are being made by members of the Midland Counties Associntion to revise the rules, and in so doing to decentralise the management of the society, are likely to meet with considerable opposition in some quarters. Those who are pressing the change are desirous of giving the districts full control over a certain portion of their funds, instead of putting the whole into one pool out of which all expenses come. This plan is followed in a good many associations, which carry on the district system, and it has been lound by experience to be a practical method of administration.

The Midland Counties Association is blessed with the possession of substantial funds, and there are members who leel that, under the circumstances, they ought to receive benefit by the reduction of the amount of their subscriptions. As the annual contribution is but one shilling and sixpence, any reduction can benefit the individual only to an infintesimal extent. Would it not be wiser, therefore, if the surplus funds were cxpended in extending the art of ringing by enlarging the scope of the association's activities? There are various directions in which this might be done, but the reduction of members' subscriptions strikes us as being a principle having a directly opposite tendency. As we understand it, the object of those who seek to get the rules altered is that the various districts may have greater opportunity of initiative and development along their own lines, and those who oppose the change should weigh carefully the question whether the work of the association will be best served by greater decentralisation under the new proposals, or by a reduction of their own yearly contribution, which at best would put sixpence per annum into each member's pocket.
Nowhere are the times more difficult than in the in-present Midlands, and it would be better to heip in dividual members, even by so small a sum, would it inbe a still more valuable scheme if each district out of its own funds, paid the entire contribution of those members who, through the present trade depression, are really deserving of assistance? We put these broader views before the members of the М.С.A., because we believe that the true interests of the art are best served by seeing how much we can put into it, rather than by discussing how mean a sum an association can exist upon. Whether the placing of funds under control of the respective districts will serve the purpose better than keeping them in a common pocket is for the members to decide, but the M.C.A. las a fine opportunity, witis the funds

\section*{DEVON GUILD.}

Alhe North-East Branch of the Devon Guild had a very suceessful meeting at Oakford last Saturday. Tlie momberr greatly appreciatod the presence of two disifnguished grests, namely, the Kev. Mailland Kelly, who whs staying at the Rectory, Oakford, and Canon G. F. Coleridge, who cycled many miles in order to attend the meeting. Forty-two ringers were present, most towers in the branch being represented, aud in addition there wele visitors from Cbipstable, Milverten, Tallaton and Ryde.

The Rev. G. E. F. Molireur took the chair at the meeting, aud also performed the artuous duties of Ringing Master, in the upavoidable absence of the Rev. E. J. Barton (chairman) and Mr. J. Elswerthy (Branch Ringing Master).
Thiverton was chasen for the antual meeting, to be held on Saturday, Decamber 12tit.

A vote of lhanks was passed to the Fiear for the use of the bells and charchi to fhe organist; to the local ringers; and to the ladies who holped with the tea.
Later in the evening, the Rev. Maitland Kelly and other ringers paitl a visit to Sloodlaglı tower. Tllse bells were much praised, and touthes of Graudsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor were successfully bra ught round.
During the afternoon three members gutified for their certificates, and a new member was elected to the branch.

\section*{EXEIER DISTRJCT.}

A guarterly meeting of the Exeter Distried Branch was held at Credian on Saturday, September 5th. Ahout 50 members, representing 12 bands, and several visitors, including the Rev. M. Kelly (ex-president) and Camon Holes, were prescat. There was service in the parish cliurel of the Holy Cross, and an interestivg address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. H. C. Onslowh, who mentioned that a fery old custom was kepl up at Newark-on-T'tent, called ringing for' "Gopher, whiely originated through a \(k\) taveller having lost his wat in Sherwoat Forest unill, guided by the sound of Newgrk bells, he was able to tind lis way out. As a thankoffering, he left an endowment to the church to have the bells specially lung at stonset on six of the twelve Sundays before Chiristmas in case any otler wanderer might he in a similar predicament.
Tea was held in the Clnurch Institute, and at a business meeting Aflerwards three honorary mernbers-Archileacon Surtecs, the Revs. H. C. Onslow and K. A. Lakewere elected. St. Sidwell's (Exeter) Was chosen as the place for the amoual meeting on December 5 th.
Towehes of Granklsirc :ud Stedmara Triples and Bob Major were rung at Cration, and the Lowers of Newton St, Cyres, Shobrooke, and Sandford were visited. The bands represeated were St. Sidwell's, St. David's, Si. Thomas and Heavimce (Exeter'), Newton St. Cyres, Christow, Crediton. Thorverton. Sowton and Woodbury. Poles of thanks were passed to the Ficar and the organist of Crediton.

\section*{DURHAM \(\leftrightarrow\) NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.}

A very successful meeting of the Eastern District of this Association was held at Sunderland on Saturday, Sept. Sth. Members were present from Nowcastilo, Whitley Bay, South Shields, Houghton-leSpring, Durlam, Chester-le-Street, and the three lacal towers. Several touches of Superlative, Double Norwish, Kent Treble Major, Stedman ami Grandsire were braught round at Bishopwearmouth, Holy Trinity, and St. Ignatius Churches, and an excelleat tea whe prowided in tho Parish Hatl of the latter church.
Mr. R. L. Patterson presided at an shorb meeting afterwards, and welcomed two distinguisled visitors- the Rector of Bishopwearmouth (Prebendary A. B. Wyone-Willson), and Mr. C. T. P. Brice, of Pulham St , Mary, Norfolk, who is at present engaged in the restoration work at Durharn Castle.-The Rector, in respending. said he did so witl \(&\) feeling of shatte, as be hat learnt the art of ringing in his Moung days, and lad not kept it up as he would have likent to to. ar. W. Parker proposed a vate of thenks to the clergy for the ung of the bells, and Major Hudson expressed the thatss of the meetThe to the tadies who hati presided hit the tea.
The next meeting was arranded to be held at Jarrow on Dec. \(5 \mathrm{th}_{\mathrm{t}}\).

\section*{JAWTON RINGERS' OUTING}

On Faturday, Augusb 15 th, the ringers of Lawton, Cheshire, with their wives and friends, had their Lalfoday charabanc trip. The first stop was at Gawsworth, where touches of Griondsite Triples were rung by some, while the rest of fle party had a look round. The lovely old ofureh and surtoundings were much admired. After staying an hour, is move was made for New Mills, wiuch was reached about 4 p.m. Here the parfy wore met by Mr. liamsey, of New Mills, and Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Norbury, who gave the Latoton ringers a heurty welcome. With the help of Mr. Fider, the bells were raised, and totuches of Kent Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples were brought round. Tea was partaken of, and the party then wenl on to Marple, where they wore met by Mr. Fernley, of Norbury. Touches of Kent Minor Oxford and Kent spliced, Woodbines and Plain Boh were tung on this heary peal of six, witI the help of Mr. Fernleg and Mr. Fidler. After wiewing the fine scenery from this old chutch, is slatle was made for home, which was reached about 10.30 . The Lawton ringers would like to take this opportumily of thanking the elergy of tho respective churches, athd the local ringers, especially Mr. Fidler, Mr. I'rnley and M1. Ramsey, for making the outing such a success.

TEWKESBURY DEANERY EXCURSION.
An outing by charabane by ringers of the Tewfesbury Deanery took place on August 9th. Leaving Tewkesbury at 1.30 p.m., the first stop was made at Ledbury, where the fine peal of eight was soon going to Grandsiie Triples. diter several touches had been rung and the bells lowered, a move was made to Ross, whicl was reached ab 5.15 p.m. There again the tower was wisited, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Boh Major were rung. iffer tea the retum journey was made wig Gloucester, halting at tha latiter tower to allow Mr. J. Austin, who had acconpanied the party, to Elight. The ringers wish to express their thanks io the Fiears of bath towers for the use of the bells; also tho the towerkcepers for having everything in readiness, and to Mr. J. Clark for arranging tea.

\section*{BRTDGEND RINGERS' 240 MILES TRIP.}

On Tuesday, August 4th, the ringers of Bridgend journeyed by charabanc to Carmarthew and Aberystwyth. Leaving Britgend at 6.45 a.m., Carmarthen was leached just before mine. After ligh1 refreshments, the tower was visited. Everything was in readiness, but the bells were muffled, as the funeral of the wife of one of the churchwardens was to take place that day. Unfortunately these bella require the serviens of the bell hanger, so a very littie ringing was sufficient. The party then set out for Aherystwyth, this part of the journey was much enjoyed, many miles of it being along the coast of Cardigan Bay. Arrivigg nt the destinaion somewhat behind time. tracks were made for Fellow's Cafe, where dinner was partaken of The aftornoon was spent in sightsceing, and everyone wished they could have spent move time at this lovely seaside resort, which is well wortl a visit. After tea, Llanbadarn Fawr was on the programme. This tower is quite close to Aberystwyth, and contains a lovely peal of eight bells, which have pecently been relumg and 'go' well. Time went all too quicky in short touclies of Grandsire. The return journey was started about 7.30 , and home was reached in the small hours of the morning, everyone having spent a wery enjoyable day. The distance covered was about 240 miles, some ride.' The ringers' best thauks go to the Fiears of Carmartheu and Llabadarn for the use of the bells.

\section*{A HEREFORDSHIRE TRIP.}

The Eolmer (Hereford) ringers, accompanied by the Guild Kinging Master (Mr. C. Edwards) and Messis. A. W. Davis. H. Hurcombe and W. H. Symonds, of the Fereford Cathedral Band, bad a most enjoyable outing on Tuly I8th in ideal weather. Leaving Hereford at 8.15 a.m. by claprabanc, the route was throngli Ledbury to Eastnor, where the six bells were raised in peal, antil Grandsire, Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor rung. After an liour's ringing the drive continued through the Deer Park to British Camp. the Miaster having obtained special purmission from Lord Somers to go througl this delightful prisate drive. The subseguent route mas via Jubile Drive, Wych Cutting and Great Malvern to Madrestield. In the absence of Mr . R. Knowles, the Ficar kindly met the party at the church here, and, after ringing on the well-going six. the Vicar offered to take the party for a hurried walk througb part of the gardens of Madresfield Court, the resielence of Earl Beauchamp. The maize was the centre of aftraction. The idea of tralking through it wilhout getting lost was new to the party, but all answered the subsequent roll call.
Powick was the next call. Here the tenor is 23 cwt., and the "go" of the bells rery indifferent. A few 120 's and a course of Minor, with the Sampson of the parly on the tenor, were rung. it Worcester an oxcellent lumeh was partaken of at the 'Pig and Whistle Hotel, and then the tour was conlinucd to Tenbury Wells, where a short stay was rade for a pull on the light peal of six. Eudlow was the next slop for tea, and a look round, hut there was no ringing, owing to the Ludlow district laving a quavterly meeting at Rramfield. At Leaninster Mr. J. Worey. Secretary of the Leominster digtrict, met the party, whe, after geting the hark eight up in peal, rang fouches of Grandsire Triples and Caters, also a toucb of Bob Major. Leaving Leominster at 9.30 . Holmer was reached at 10.15 , everyone having thoroughly enjoyed the day's ouling.

THE OLD NORWICE CONTROVERSY. SOME OF THT: MEN By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.
Thomas Melchior and the Mancrof band had rung their peal of Stedman, but this was by no means the cud of the matter. For oue thing, the peal had not been fantless-no peal ever is. Once or twice there hant been rongl places, and we all know by experience that what, inside the tower, is bul a trip. to the hostile critic oulside is downright firing. Tleen the sixth had given tronble, as was expected. Fou may be certain that Melehior lind put his best man on thal bell, and, to make further sure. he had a nintili man in the tower who could acl as umpire, and, if necessary, lend a helping hand. It was *necessary ; the sixth man had to he relieved, to what extent does nat appear:
Now you will remember that Melchior in his advertisement of Oct. 31st, 1731, theclared rather ostentatiously that the peal was rung by himsclf ancl seven others; which was rather asking for trouble if the truih sliould leak ond, as it was preity sure to do.
The ringer of the sixtla was John Forster, or Foster, Melchior's right-hand man, host, of the 'Eight Bells,' the headguarlers of the Mancrofl party. The house has long sinee clisappeared or changed its name.
A few years Fater, Theodore Ecolestone, a Suffolk gentleman, tiving at Crowfied, gave a peal of eight to his neighbouring village of Coddenlam. Searching about for someone to teach a band of ringers he i:ame to Norwich, and engaged. the semvices of Jolm Forster, who was sa successful an instructor that a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Septernber 10th, 1741. Ecclestone rang the treble, and Forster the flird, and conducted the peal. Dne of the reasons, no doubt, wly Forster was indnced to leave Norwich was that he pas an innkeeper. An innkeeper's trade is much the sane thing all the world orer, but & craftsman weaver, or such like, who left the town for the country, would have to sacrifice hits livelibood.
Soon after, Theodore Eccleslone sold his eslate at Crowfield, and lis pingers were dispereeti. Forster went to Lincolu, where he called another peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Peter-at-Arches on June 20th, 1756. These two peals ate deseribed on their boards as GiarIhrine's Triples and Callaram's Triples, both being plonetic spellings of John Garthon's name.
The man who helped Forster in the Mancroft peal was a still more notable persor. This was John Webster. He lad sung the tenor to the 1718 peat, and the 4 th to the 10,080 of Treble Bab at St. Michnel's in 1727, and afterwards became the leading man anong Norwich ringers.

About 1753, John Holt, laving composed his well-known peals of Grandsire Unon and Plain Bob Triples, was desirous of publishing them; but being a poor man, and not able to do so at his own expense, started a subseription for the purpose. Now Holt belonged to the Union Scholars, a swall affair compared with the College Youths, who comprised the big men among the London ringers. The great Mr. Annathe was the autocratic leader of the College Youths, and he was not altogether pleased that an unlettered and obscure man should have succeeded where he had failed. So he cold-shouldered the proposal, and Holt had to turn from London to the provinces for sapport. He secured the help of the Rer. D. Mason, of Trinity College, Cambridge, who in furn wrote to John Webster asking for the subseriplions of the Norwich ringers. But the Norwich riagers were nucla of the same mind as Ben Annable. They had their own traditions and their own peals, which they considered were as good as anyone else's, and Webster's reply was a polite but decided refusal. Here it is:

\section*{Norwich, August 2713, 1753.}

Reveral Sir,-I desire you'll excuse my not Subscribing to a Work which I have some Reason to fear will not answer to Fspectation. must Confess Our Company Seem Intirely to slight it, though I musi Own it is 110 a Genercus Way of Treating Mr. Holt's performance, hut I believe they are Induc'ê to this by that Ingenious Ringer, Mr. Anable's, not Eneorarang of it; had he Approved of it, his influence on the Colledge Youlis, I presume, would have been sufficient to have sent it to the Press without any Further Subscriptions.
'Revd. Sir, Give me le ave to Observe to you that 'tis almost twenty years since I. sent to the Ref. Mr. Winchall a whiole peal of Ten witli Two Interior Changes only, Futly Explaining by an Infallible Tule how to make any proper peal on all numbers that go with a Quick Hunt,

\section*{For self and Co., I am, Sir. \\ Witls due respeet, your most \\ Humble servant}

JOHN WEBSTER.
The letter is a most interesting one in many ways, and gives a very favourable impression of the writer. The last paragrapla is obscure, hat taken in its conlext, secms to be a claim that Norwich hatil forestalled Holt's achievernent tyy some years. I know of no other evidence that Webster was a composer. Whatever he did has utterly perished, and youi noty take up tho altitude that shipway did towar all the Norwich peals. Everyone, he said, knows and rings Holt's peals, but who knaws anything ahout the peals supposed to have been composed and rung at Norwich? If they were twue and what they were clajuted to be, why did not men preserve the figures? Well, of course, the reason is that the Londan men had the advantage that they had men who wrote and printed books, and so presorved the Hgures of their peals. Unfortumately, ilse ols Norwich men printed nothing, and save for Garthon's Grantsite Thiples, the fgutes of all Useir early peals hava perished.
John Webster met lis death in a rather trugic way from bart failure, after ringing ot St. Giles. A stonc tiblet in the bower is inscribed as follows:

> Near to this place Jahn Webster fell,
> Beloved by all who knew him well.
> A mosi jngenions noted ringer,
> St. Giles' sixth bell around did bring her.
> Ho closed the peal, struck woll his bell,
> Ceasing the same, down thead he foll,

\section*{He dicd Novemper 27 h, 1760.}

I'te Narwich Scholars rang a peal of Imperial the Third Hob Major at St. Giles in 1760 , and, I believe, but am not guite sure, that this is the pual referred ta. L'o cease a bell is tle old Norwich term for dropping it, and was used till quite recenlly, and possibly still is.

One other name in the Mencroft peal of Stedman claims attention. This is the tenor man, Willim Porter. He was probably the father of the Thomas Porter, who composed Double Norwieh Court Bol Royal.
Meanwhile, the Coslany men had not been idle. They had two abjects in viek. One wis to ring their peal fist if possible; tho other to watch their opponents for anything that might discredit then. It was open war, and you ang be sure that neilher hand stariet for s peal without quite a numher of hostile critics listening to them. The art of taking down Course Finds ontside lad not get heen invented. Eren now it takes a very good man with an exceptionally good ear to take down from the outside the calling of a peal of Stedman Triples that he knows nothing of. The test the Coslany men employed was to depute one of their number to count the changes. They pooably did not realige that it is an infinitely easier thing to make a mistake in counting five thousand and forty chauge than to bring the balls ronnd a hundred or two ohanges slore of the full number.
Thomas Crane mas the unfortmate person told off for the job. He and two others shut themselves up in a room and aept on counting for aigh four solid hours. I wauld have far rather been Jolin Forster, sweating at the tail end of the sixtli up in the tower, than have that cleady mountonous job. As for Edward Crane you may be sure he was abroad cluring tho whole of the ringing. He would heawthe start and then, with anc or two of his supporters, Le wouln wait round and round, across the Market Place, up Padding Lane, through the tangle of honses that surronuded the church, by the new Bethel hospital into the Chapel feld, down Hay Hill, and so rcund agait. Going ateadily while the striking was regular: stopping with bated breath whenever there was a clip; hoping with all their might that each roistake might worsen and lye the end: disappointed when every time the bells righted fhemselves, and the ringing went on. You can't blame them; it was opon war, and they bady wanter the firgb peal for themselves. And becanse, as everyone knows, listening to a peal is a thirsty job, they would call at discreet intervals at the White Horse or the White Hart or fine Moon and Stars, or other houses of which there was and is no lack th the reighbourhood But not, I think. at the Eipht Bells. Host Foster was away up in the tower, but there woutd be plenty of the Mancroft party there, and, though Crane might occasionally send sone of his subordinates to spy out the land, his dignity as leader would not allow his going himself. And at last when, spite of all their wishes and fopet, the peal was finished, off they would go to the Six Thells at Coslang to hold a couneil of war and compare notes.

Faults would be remembered, trips would bo magnified, end when Brother Tom furned up and reported that he had counted only 4, 860 chenges, the nows, helped by some good sle, would put new heart into them. The firht was not yet lost. Let Thomas Melchior publigh his peal if ho dared. They would have something to say to thet.

A sutcerestul meching of the above association was beld at Barmoutli on Saturday, Sepl. Sth. Although the attendanee was disappointinfor members wero present from Rhyl, Bangor, Barmouth ant Portmadoc, and Mr. ML. J. Morris, of Birmingham, was alse prasent. A short service was held at St. Tohn's Church, conducted by the Rector, who, in the course of a brief address, welcomed the nssociation to Barmouth, Tho meeting was held in the Churel, Hali, when eleven Barmoutla ringers were admilted as members of the association.
The sectetary was appointed representative of the sesociation at the next Central Council meeting, and the meeting concluded with a rote of thanks to the Rector for his address, and far the wse of the Church Hall. Tla Rev. J. Humpluey Jones was also thanked for taking the hair at the mecting, and for the assistance rendered at the service.
Aftar the meeting, the members adjournerl to the belfry, where the bells were sot going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Eent Treble Bobly and Bob Major Owing to the poor train service bebweg Barmoutlo and some of the other places on the coast, several of the members were fored to leave at 5.30 p.m. (this being the last drain); but, alliough the morning had ben a very wet one, finite an cnjoybate day mas spent.

\section*{BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION}

A meeting of the Taunton Deanery Branel of the Bath ond Wella Diocesan Absociation was held on Augusi 29li at Cambe Florey, where Lhere is a nice peal of six bells, The visitors, who numbered over thinty, were welcomed by the Rector (the Rew. J. Black Hyland) and bis wife, and a short service was lead, at whieh the Rector ofleiated, and the singing was led by the organist artl choir. The Redtor also gave an oddress. Afterwards he entertained the ringers to tea, which was served in tho open air in the fectory grounds.

At the short business meeting which followed, four new nembers were elected, and Mr. J. Maddock proposed a wote of thanks to the Rector for lis kindress in providing iea and avranging such a delightful service.-The Rector, in reply, sad it gave Mrs. Blach Hylant and limself very great pleasure to have the ringers there, and if at any time they wished to come again he would be gleasen to lave them.
The ringing during the afterwoon and evening inciuded Grandisirs and Stedman Doubles Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Camlridge and London Surprise Minor.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

We would emplasise the suggestion mada by Mr. A, Paddon Smilh e a letter in another column, that ringers who hear the broadeasting of St. Phifip's bells, Birminglum, which is to be yclayed from ull B.B.C. stations on Sunday, Bept. 27 th, from 7.45 to 8 p.m., should send a posteard to the eddecss given, expressing appreciation of the change from the breadenst of chiming to the broadenge of typical English bel? ringing. Expressions of opinion of this kitud to the B.B.C. may induence the policy of die company in regard to what kind of bell ringing is broadcast in future.
The "Wiltshire week, just concluded, resulted in ten perls bumge zung.
A novel deparlure has been made in the way of meetings upon the iuitiative of Mr. A. D. Barkor, the hon. seerctary of the Fast Berks and South Bucks Hranch of tho Oxford Diocesan Guild. A meoting of the Guitd is to take place is Lonion 'to revive old frienslships, and doubtless the many members of the Guild in and around the Metropolis will be glad to nvail themselves of the opportunity.
Warrhan, in Sussex, as wo lave hefore pointed out in this colutur, has been one of the placos where the bells could be rung as aftell us the ringers liked-and the parishioaers were as interested in their success as the ham themselves.
This is recalled by meeting Harry Chandler on Saturday on the scene of some of his old achievements, when a mecting of tho Suasex Associntion was held there, and he was-n welcome wisilor. In the "eighties' of last cenlury he called a peal onl every bell in the lower in the space of a week! Staring witli two peals on cne Sunday, a peal was rung cyery succeeding night in the week, followeri by two peals the next Sundry, one an Monday and one on Thesday. The nest night the coaductor missed a boh-and put an end to the sequence.
Far from objecthag ta'ringing on this scale, the villagers would lave been content, we believe, if the peals lad been a daily occurrence up to now. It was no unusyal haing it that tidie for 'go to be called hetween 8 ancl 9 p.nn.!
Harry hasn't aftered much simee thase days, except round the equator, for all his exexcise on the Middlesex trands fails to keep down his, "avoirdupois."
Mr. John E. Wheeldon, whe seored his half-century last Firilay, lies fung all his peals in the Architeaconry of Stoke-on-Trent. They hayr been spread over fifteen lowers, and inchude the record lengths of Major (at Wolstanton) and of Minor (at Nerton) for the Sloke Association.

Slthough now in his 84th year, the Rew. Maitland Kelly, for many years president of the Devon Guilk, in which he ias latoured so long to raise the standard of ringing, took part in tauches at two chutches on Ssiurday. when he attencled a branch meeting of the Gtilil.

Mr. John Conley, whose \(89 t h\) birihiay wes celehrated at St. Alhanon Saturday by a peal at SL. Peter's Clurch, ham been a ringer al that tower fos 72 ycars. Almost, a record, we should think.

Exactly one hundred and fifty years ago to-morrow line first peat was rung on the then new ring of tom hells at. Grantlam. This wae 5.150 of Grandsire Caters, and it took thirteen men to perform the thak-not muci of a recsmmendation for the bell hanger. There were two men on the ninth and thren an the tenor, and the poal was calleal hy W. D. Croits. whose bani included ten men from Nottinglam and Hiree from Newatk.
The first neal of Double Norwiell Caters was mang at St. Stophen's Bristol, on September 28nd, 1894.
Who wife the first resident Dorbyshire lady to ring in a peal in llas county? The informalion is asked for by a Derhvehive cortespondent nad, perhaps. if the lady herself is tho shy to enlighten us, one of the gentiemen whe rook rart in 1 the neal will do so.
The Colinece Youtha nanual flimer liss been fixed this yeat for Saturday, November 7th.

\section*{HINLS ON 'SPLICING' AND RINGING MLNOR METHODS.} By JOLLN P. FIDLER. SIX'l'H ARTICLE.
Tlie 5th or Abbey' group will be tound very interesting. It is a group on which a good deal of practice will have to be spent. 'The reason it is given the mame 'Abbey' is on account of the names of lour mothods being 1 thuse of Abtooys, and they were first rung at Norbul'y early in 1914. 'The 'odd' motliod, howover, was not rung unil 1921. These who are able to rinc Loudon Surprise Minor wal experienco little ar no diffectly, but they will edmit on ringing a 'spliced ' extent of this group, that Lomton Surprise Minor is small fry-a big sentement, but try it and see. \section*{ST. WERETIRG.}

Taking the easiest, method first, St. Werburg, No. 4, page 14, let us analyge it. Comrencing with the path of the 2 nd, we find the slow work is as in Kingston, but afler passing treble 3-4, tue bell makes 4 th's goes ont to ethts place, and lies a whole pull, rans in to Zrd's, and passes 2-3 down; Lhan works as in Kingston uatil treble is again met, this time in 4-5 up (the following work must be Well memoriset, and strict counting maintatined when ringingl, dodge 5.6.5.6.5, town to Jrd's place, which is marle, up to 6th's, lie, dodge 6.5.6.5.6, lie and them treble comes. After making 5tli's, the path is reversed; therefore passing treble in \(5-5\) up, lie, tiodge 6.5.6.5.6, lie, down to 3 rd 's, make il , up and dodge 5.6 .5 .6 .5 , passieg treble \(4-5\) down. The worls is then again Kingston, until treble is met oned more, this lime in \(2-3\) up. Wake 3rd's, straight out, lie, and down to 41 h's and treble comes to dotige 3 4, after which, the second half of the slow is taken up and the plain conrse brought round. As ilse resulf of aur investigation we have the following record:-
Pass twelule 1 - 2 up. Make \(2 \mathrm{md}^{2} \mathrm{~s}\) and snap again.
Pass treble \(2-3\) up. 3 rd's, \(6 t_{1}{ }^{\prime} s, 4111\) 's and in.
Pass trehle \(3-4\) up.
Pass Lreble \(4-5\) up.
41 ln 's, 6 th, 3 rd's anal in.
Dodge 5.6.5.6.5, 3rd's, lie 6th's, dauge 6.5.6.5.6.6.

Pass treble 5-6 up. Lie, dodge, 6.5.6.5.6.6, 3rd's, dodge 5.6.5.6.5, pass freble 4-5 down. Work dewn as in Kingeton.
A first it appears very aifficult, but with careful study and praction il will be seen in a fresh light.

T'le bob work in this group is wastly different from that dealt with so far, and will requite recording in the notobook. The bob bell is the one which dodged with treble in 5-6, in this case the 4th, whicte, instead of going down to make 3rd's place, makes 4 th's and yepeats the work in 5-6. which is, lie, dodge 6.5.6.5.6th's; when treble comes. The bell which passed treble \(4 \quad 5\) up, after making 3rd's, goes down and snaps treble (sen 5 th). That which snapped treble, instead of lyibg in 2nd's, makes 3 rd's, and dodges 5.6.5.6.5, pacsiug treble 4-5 rown (see 6th). Those passing treble \(2-3\) and 3-4, work as ai a plain lean; therefore calls are made when the observation hell is in one of these positions. IMo tenor called Wrong, Home, Wrong, twice repeatad, produces the extent.
Should a conductor chance to forget whether a call has to he made ar omitted, le has another as in thase methods nol in so pointed a manmer ever, aftor practice il can easily he picker out. One good guide js to hear in mind the positions unaftected by a hoh, riz, \(2-3\) and 3-4. In the course of the tenor, the first call would he made after fodming with treble \(3-4\) up, and as she is striking her blow in 5 fhts: tions, whicl in thit chso would wn 3 , 4,2 , 3 , 3 the unaltered posi-position may noed gomo guide no to whethar wind lasen, to be marke or omilled. Rirst, if at a lead end, 5 th is the second's place helt. and \(5 t h\) in 3 rd's, omit the next call. Or, on passing trehle 2-3, and youl strike the first luow in 3rd's, if the Sth strikes orer it, omit the cail, but if mather bell is there a eall is made. Oibre gnides may make themselwes manifess after ringing the muthod, but that is how ut has appeared to me.

After thoronghy practising this mettor, no difliculty should tue expermenced in ringing its siscers, and the noxt to try jo Vale Royal, No. 9, page 16, which has the same wark up, and that of Londay Stholars' Pleasure down. Combermere, Na. T, page 15, has Satal work down; and Crowlagi, No. 6, page 15 is produced by Overtou down. These four methods will splice leat for lead. The odr method of group is Abizeyville, No. 3, patge 14, atad, as stated in the combinatiou lable, lias Lomdon Surprise work up and Braintree down. As with all odd methorls, this splices only course for course.

We have now reached a Eurther stage in the buthding up of it乱irty-five method peal; and, unless the band destrous of ringing iis thoroughly conversant with the methods already dealt with, it woulci be wasting time in attempting the two groups to follow. Dp to now, assistance has been given in mastering new methods by taking advantage of the four members of the Oxford group, but in the nexi group all the work is an cliffereat lines, and whilst efforts are heing concentrated cu it, that of the previous ones may be forgotfen.
For a twenty-five method peal, the following arrangement mag be found conventent : 1st anci 2nd 720's for 5th group; 3rd and 4th fer 4th group, with a group in each of the olher three; and this having been successfully brought round, efforts can be elirected la the next group.

Lerving the question of the multi-method peals atone for the time being, ard for the bencfit of those who are not in a position to pracise for such a peal miuch enjoyment can be had by ringing new methods as fancy directs, of as the opportunity occurs, and many a pleasant hour may be spent going througly 'the Collection of Methods ' and arranging the various combinations. It is possible for six ringers, tolal strangers to cach other, to ring a method without having seen a lead of it. Say, for example, six such do meet, each can ring Woodbine Treble Bob and London Surprise Minor; by way of a clange let 1 ben ting Woodbine work down auti London surprise 14p. Here they get another method whith to is possible for them to ring without laving to see a lead. It is Lancashire Surprise Ninor, No. 22, page 36. Others can be similarly obtained by careful genreh.

\section*{BIRMINGHAM BELLS BY WIRELESS. \\ STTDMAN CATERS TO BE BROADCAST FROM ALL STATIONH. To the Editor.}

Dear Sir,-1 expeet the majority of your readers will remember that the question of the broatcasting of church bells formed the subject of a resolution at the meeting of the Central Council, held at Chester last Whit Tuesdaj', hut in case the gist of this las been lost by some, it may be useful to refresll the mentories of those interested by reprinting the resolution. It was worded as follows

Filhat, considering the fulure possibilities of Radio the attention of the Press and Literature Committee of the Central Council be drawn to the performances of "bell chiming" occasionally broadcast, as such periormances are liable to create wron impression of the true mature of bell ringing, and, further, to request the commit tce 10 bring to the notice of the British Broadeasting Conpany all unsuitable imitations of bell ringing whicl may be broadcasted.
As you are aware, sir, the beils of St. Martin's and the Cathedral (St. L'hilip's), Birmingham, here been broadcast on several occasions. hut only, I believe, from the Birmingham station. We are now advised that 'owing to the great success of the last time of pealing from Whate, the company (B.B.C.) hape decided to relay the ringing of the Cathedral hells to all stations, immediately prior to the religious service on Surday, Sept. 27th next, from 7.45 to 8 o'clock p.m.
Now, sir, if lingers are really desirous of getting the B.B.C. to broadrast renl change ringing in place of what the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, ot the Central Council meeting, describen as the chiming and footling.' we lave had inflicted on as in the past, it is up to them to listen in on the &741 inst., and afterwards write to the B.B.C. (a postcard will do) expressing their appreciation of the change.
It sufficien interest is slown, I think it is likely that the compary may take care in the future to see lhat the right stuff is sent over whenever and wherever it is possible. And may I add, sir, to Those who write, please don't criticise the bells! They are not the finesi ring of ten in the country. And don't criticisa the ringing (although I hope this will he up to stamiard).
Any 'extraneous malter' may only confuse the issue. The thing is to express appreviation (if it is appreciated) of the broaderstine of proper English change ringing instead of the chiming or playing of Iumes, etc., of which, I believe, we aro all 'sick and tired.'
Communications slzould be addressed to the Director of Programmes. British Broadeasting Co., Ltd., 2, Saroy Hill, Strand, London, W.C.2. Yours faitlifolly.
A. PADOON SMITH.

\section*{THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION'S JUBILEE MEMORABLE GATHERING AT BIRS'PALL.}

The autumn meeting of the Yorkstire Association was held at Bitstalj on Saturday last. The fine peal of eight bells in tho Paristh church of St. Peter wore made full ust of, from woo'clock onward This being the fiftieth amnivorsary year af the fondation of the assoniation, a special thankgiving service was lield in the Parish Church. A most enjoyable nusfeal service was rendered by the cloolr, and the sermon was preabhed by the Rov. Gatwon H. J. Elsee, the president of the Laneashire Association. Taking as his text, 1 Peter' iv. 10, 'Good stownats of the manifold grace of God, the preaclier congratulated his lacarers on the attainment of the jubilee of the founding of the Yorkslire Association, and counted it as a privilege to be asked to preach on that oceasion. As they looked hack over the fifty yenrs of service, they thanked Gord for the great adrance in centres for bells and change ringing, and vededicated themselves and bells to the service of God. Fifty years ago this country was in the midat of a great movement, lating for its object the raising of the devotional spirit in movererverg of the Churels, and this in tarn ied to a great revival of structural renawals and decoration. Despife this movement, the towers were generallf neglected and bells left in had order. There Was a tradition at liat period. of bad hakils anel enstoms associated with belfries and ringers, and about ibat time, the adyent of I Tasper Whitheld Snowdon and the foundation of the Yorkshire Association. led the way to the foundation througrant the country of county and diocestan associations, these haring for their objeet, the raising of the status of the ringers as Churelmmen, and rewiving the inlerest of the Church generally is the bells and belfries. As the vesult of these activities, they now foum that bells were waly nepleaterl, greater core was taken of bells, and an inmense ardwance lind heen made in hells and elonge ringing, in conjunction with the great extemsion in the namber of methots rung. That slomid be a dry of thanksoining. and they should ask themselyes if all that was necessary had been Fone. Quoting the words of the late Rev. F. F. Pobinson, whe snid, I feel pal in trust by God with this wark, so that when \(]\) an called upon to gire it back, the work shall shom adwance as at trust, and to hare heen used to further the glory of God," the preaclaer veminded his hearers, that Sumday ringing was their primary ofject. and that Sunday was the time when the ringers should pive of their besk hr lient and hrain. Thes sloult keep this standayd hefore them, and think of the Sunday ringers and their motsage, which was to fominul gll that they were mot merely dwellors here, but sons of God, and eilimens of tho Kingdom of Heaven The pari of ringers was to lend athers to think of the higher side of life, and to remind others by their example of the spirit of our Lowl, and hy so living la conmend lle Christian faith to all their fellows.

\section*{FOUNDERS GREAT TASK}

Teat was served in the neighbouring church selools, and the quality, in the opinion of some 120 visitors, fully upheld the Birstall tradition. This was followed by fle business meeting. The president the Ref. C. C. Marslall was in the chair, and was supported by the Rer. C. C. Marslally was in the chair, and was supported by th
Mr. G. Homaing was elected an outcounty Iffe member of the association.
The Chaimar then moved the fallowing resolution: "That this meefing places on recortite appreciation of the work that the Yorkshive Association lias done for change ringing. and for the clutch, fluring the first fifty years of its life, and wishes to the nssociation rontinned prosperity in the years to come. -In moving the resolution, the Clarirman gave a most interesting acoount of the varionts gatherings of ringers in the county that were lield prior, and flast led up to the formation of the association at Birstall in 1875. THe eary founders had a great task before them, owing to the great area covereal by the county, but they were men of great determination. and laid the foundation of what ulimately hecarne the largest clange ringing association in the kingdorn. The Exercise in general was indehfed to that preatext of all writers and authorities on change ringing. Jasper Whitficld Snowdon, and also ta the lesser known Roliept Tuke, of Bradford, whose love of rescarch into old ringing literature in his liferime and subsequent publication thereof, adted greaty to the general knowledge of what hatl hoen up to that time a very obseare listorv. In Cliarles Fingry Hattersicy, Chartes Jachson, Wm. Whitaker, Sam Thomas, Gporge Bolland. Tames and Tom Lockwoorl (father and son), the Yorkshire Association had prorment masifi ringers, whose names would always be helf in remembrance wherever change tinging was known, while eanccial affertion wonlf alwitys be associated hy the Yorkslime Associntion with William Snowdon, the hrother of the first president. Who durine his fwenty-five yente presirlancy from 1885 onward bentowed g loving nare on the funtication of hise brolher's worts on change ringing, and the atministration af tion Vorkshire Asenciation in nartjealar. His life was nharaterisurl br scrubulnus attention to detail, and the association reporta publislind during his period of affice were monels of precisiot for his sucecsiars to cony. 'Tliw ascociation were fortunate in latring lagd only threa pesidents ith its lifty yents pexistence, ath the spenker trusted that prosperity would continte in the gears to come.
The tesolution laving been enried with acclamation, Mr. W. Regnor reented a poem ou "Jaspoe Whilfield Snowdan,' which was much nppreciated.
Mr. Gieorge Bolland, who hiss been theperesident since 1883, was necorclert a hen'ly welcome to the meeting after life long ilfess, and his interesling speech on the worthies of long ago was of great interest to the galhering.
A voto of thanks to the Yicnr and clatrehwardens of Birstail was moved hy 1 I . C. D. Potter, and eeconded by Mr. G. B. Holland.
Rev. Canon Robinson extended n, henrly welcome for Lie future, and said what pleasure it had givan bhem af Birstall to renew dhe old nequaintance that duy.

A rote of thanks to the preaclier, organist and choir was respondmal to by the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, who thanked the association for the opportunity to bo with them on that anspimots occasion.

A frither vote of thanks to the local compary was responded to by Mr. E. Crowtier.
It was deeidet, on the moition of \(\mathrm{Mr}^{3}\). G. B. Bolland, seconded by Mr. I. R. Lawsen, that the arrangements for the ansual weeting he left to the general committee. Mare minging, more handiall ringing, more frisendly gathering in another place, heought lo an end all too soon a mosf pleasant and memorable day.

\section*{THAT NEEDED REGISTER:}

Sir.-Mr. Poweli has dome well to raise, ins his letter in your issue of the 51 h inst., the jssme ns regards compositions; he has put the case exachly, atod convincingly. However, 1 would go even furbler thani he rloes in his plea for reform. Soomer or later it will have to the recognised that, just as in the field of mothod-building all the varjety required-and probably, ton, all that is worib hating-lats already been obbained, se also as regards composition there is for all practical purposes, but litlle, if any, scope for any fresh productions. Our existing selneme of thiggs, by which we describe a peal, ascriluing it fa an individual author, sloma, I submit, give way to asystem of numbering. Thus, inslead of sperking of any given pat, an "composed by \(7 \mathrm{p} / \mathrm{m}\) Smifh," the composition would be desjgnated simply an peal No. XXX, in the C.C. Register.
There aro already so many. petals; by the well-known composnrs, that it is really not rery liclpful to speak. for irstance, of a 5,000 by Dains, or Pitstow ; one wanfs to know which 5,000 , and enumeralion, qa suggested, would identify absolutely. But one might, perluaps, speak of 'Danis,' No. XXXX in the same way as start are catalogued in astromomy. We lave already standardised by name, althongly not yet by umber, peals of Stelman and Grandsire Triples e-g.: Thursans', Holl's, Taylor's, ete.
Tnder the suggested new order, associations woulti not ancept peals for their reports, unless verified with an jdentification mumber; and by the way, many an asocialion secretary would he freed from that bugbeas of getiang the compositions from the conduclors. Bands would soon rease to be content to allow a conductar, however, talented, to call anything lie fancied. or could string togetluer: they would reguire to know by number. what peal they were to give their time and labour to ring. The time-honoured legend apparing so frequently in peal reports-'Composed and conclucted by John Smith' would he obsolete.
Uitimately, we must have that needed register, but by all means let us have it soon, ant let it be hrranged on the new lines of classificatinn by number.- Votata werf truly. G. P. BURTON. "Reechwood," Old Cathon, Norwich.

\section*{THE PROPOSED ALIERATION OF RULES.}

Metrbers of the Midland Counties Association have had before them or some time past a proposal to aller the rules, which alteration would bring ahout a considerable chango in tho management of the organieation, inasmuch as part of the conduct of tho affairs wheh is now vested in the general commitee would bo decentralised, and hated over to the district committeos, who wotjed bo given control of a certain proportion of the funds.
What, exactly, is the alteration proposod is nol, howover, quite clear to all the members, and in order that they ruay have a fuller grasp of the proposed change, we give some delails of the suggested new rules. The finameial change which is suggested is covered in new Rules 6 and 11. Thu olf rules provide for the collection of subscriptions of nombers by the District Secretaries who pry them over to the Bon. Treasurer. The proposen Rule 5 provides for one-third only of ringtrg members' subscriptions being paid over to the Hon. Treasurer of Whe Ascociation, and Rule 11, which covers the election of district officars, provites for the new office of District Hon. Treasurer, gives each tietrict full power over its owu funds, subject to them being deyuled to the purposes of the Association
The lext of these important rules is as follows:-
Rale 6.-That the General Managenent of the Association be vested it \(n\) Presideni, Fon. Secretary, Hon. Trensurer, togetlier with a VicePresidenf, Local Hon. Scereaty, Loral Hon. Treasurer and two memhers of Comenitlea from cacil of the seven districls, seven of whom shall form a quorum competent to transact the business of the Assominan, providet all the mombers of this body have been duly sumnomes. TVley ghall hava full power and control over the General Funcls of the Association, and in the case of an interim vacancy they shall have power to appoint an mighle member to the office. They shall receive all entrance fees, and all Honorary Subseriptions in full, and one-thiat of all Riuging Members' Subseriptions from each disrict.
Rule 11.-That each distriet shall be tunder the local management of a Wiec-President, Local Hon. Secretary, Loval Fon. Treasurer, and tro members of Committee. Ther shall be alected snntually at the Tantarte District Meetiug, members of the district only being entitled lo vote, Thu Local Hon. Secretary elect shall communicate the result to the General Hon. Secretary before the 7th day of February, or the election shall he considered void, and the General Management Committec sliall proeed to appoint the necessary officers. Three of the abowe shall form a gnorim competent to transact the business af the district, provided all members lave been duls summoned. They shall have full power over the funds of their own disfrict, subject to Rules I and 6. They slaall carrs on the work of the Association generalls, and shall arrange for quarterly meetings of their own disfrict to he held during the montlis of Janusrs, June and September in each tear, and maty arwage other ringing or social meetings at Their diseretion.
Ruld 1 referred to provides that the Association shall comprise the Counties of Derlyy, Leicester. Nattingham and Siafford, and shall liane for its objects the cultivation of the Arf of Change Ringing and Pelier Reform, Blso that the funds of the Association shall be mplied solely in furtherance of these otbjeets.
A mass rule ( 7 ) prowides that the General Management Committee fald aeverecord of all peals of 5,040 changes and upwards, on five oht seven hells, and all peals of 5.000 clianges and upwards, on The n mare bells, when rung low members of the gasacintion. Rule 9. and minor alterations Restoration Fund is dealt with in new non llue minol alterations are made in other rules, consequent tominion arang of the whole. Quarterly general meetings of the min that the Genern Commistee may on their own aulhority, and mini, at the reguest of 15 memhers of the assoctation, enti a specin] gnerni theeting of the association.

CHEAP RAILWAY TICKETS FOK RINGERS To the Hditor.
Dear Sir, --It will interest your readers ho know that so far the following associations have made local application re rajlway facilities : Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan.
Bath and Wells Diocesan. Kent County. Ely Diocesan. Widdesex County
Some associations, 1 learn, are rather content with the conditions, and in some instances these are ratlier good, but there should bo mo hesitation.

We axa fighting for all, and therefore it naeds every association to join in. They liave nothing to lose this time, and they will be dong great work for the Exercise.-Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE.

\section*{CEN'TRAT COUNCIL SEGRETARY'S SUGGESTIONS.}

Dear Sir,-It is to be hoped that the secretaries of the associated Guilds will not feel that there is any orerlapping in ithe efiorts being made to socure the cheaper railway facilities for ringers. It is an imu portant matter, and requires a good slart to ensture the desired result.
The Central Council some twenty years ago endeavoured to secure privileges for ringers, but without success. Also two years ago, at the suggestion of Alderinan Pritchett, I wrote to the secretary of the Railway Glearing House, buk again without success, in connection with travelling to the Council's anmual meeting. The present question is one of to-day, and covers a wider field, and I need hardy state that I ant surc the Council will again do all that is in its power, and I trust with a better result this time.

The present movement was started as a local one, betore its greater possibililies were ralised, and it had made some headway before the case mas aent to me as secretary of the Central Coupcil. I noted that the secretaries had been asked to send me the gecessary partjculars, and this some few of them have dose, and I await the remainder.

There are four railway groups, and I suggest that the 'Gloucester and Bristol ' contiaue to approach the Great Western; that the 'Midland Counties ' get into touch with the "L.M.S.'; the Wincliester Guidd, with the Southern, and the Yorkshive Association with the 'L.N.J.Th.' I am prepared to give the outlines of a common letter, and will scek instruction from the Council to send a general Ietter to the Railway Clearing House.

In the meantime, will secretaries please continue to send me, if possible, the statestical particulars or ary ather useful information for my letler?-Yours faithfully, E. ALEX. YOUNG. 155, Rushey Green, S.E.6.

\section*{SECTIONAL AOTIOX A WEAK POLICY}

Sir,-I luse read with interest the suggetions made with reference to obtainiag travelling facilities for ringers, but will pou permit me to suggest that this matter is one which would best be dealt with by the Central Council empowered to negotiate an behalf of all the associations in the country.
Sectional action, as jou point out in your leadiug article, is a weak policy, inasmuch as tay local railwas official may furu the propasal dewn befcre it, reaches the right quarter, especially so as eampanology may be scmething strange to lim.
I, therenore, propose that a sharp and well defined policy should be pursued by empowering fhe Central Council, through its secretary, to approach the Clearing House, and speak on belalf of 'so many hundreds ' of associations having 'so many thousands' of members spread over the country.
Modern experience teaches us that central action is always more effective, and commands more atidention than sectional action.-Yours fnithfully, Ballana.

\section*{RINGERS' DEBT TO JASPER SNOWDON.}

\section*{More than a generation has passed since death removed} from the Exercise Jasper Whitfield Snowdon--the man who, allove all others, placed the art of change ringing within the reach of multitudes of men who, without the guidance of the text books which he wrote, would have found and left the intricacies of the science an unsolved mystery, It is just forty years since Jasper Snowdon went to his rest at the early age of 41 years, but in the thirteen of fourteen years during which he interested himself with unsurpassed enthusiasm in bellringing, he built up a monument which will remain as long as the art exists. A man of unbounded energy, of great intellect, of unconquerable determination, he brought into ringing the keenness and diligence which he put into all adfairs in which he took a hand. He introduced a new spirit into the art in the North; he imbued with his own great enthusiasm those with whom he came in contact, and the knowledge which he gathered with painstaking perseverance he passed on to others, through the books and articles which he wrote, so that it is impossible to gauge to-day all that the Exercise owes to him. His hooks have become standard works; they are the foundation upon which many modern reputations have been built up, and to his researches are due no small part of the historical knowledge of ringing which is ours to-day.

Jasper Snowdon did in the space of some fourteen years far more than many men, even if they had the inclination, could have done in a lifetime. Canon Wigram, an eminent authority, wrote of hin that he "held a position in the ringers' community absolutely unapproached. There are other ringers, other conductors, other composers, and also other authors of instruction for beginners, but there has never been any other true historian of the science. In this department he stands alone, and it is impossible to say which is the most remarkable, whether the amount of information which he collected, the patience with which he arranged it, or the critical skill with which he assigned to each composer the degree of merit which belonged to him.' Those words, written soon after Jasper Snowdon's death, remain true to-day, and it is good that the present generation of ringers should be reminded of a man to whom, without realising it, perhaps, they owe so much.

The Yorkshire Association, which was founded by Jasper Snowdon, and this year reaches its jubilee, has done well to establish the practice of an annual gathering in memory of its distinguished first president and of those other men, many of them, like Mr. William Snowdon and Mr. Charles Henry Hattersley, pillars of the Exercise in their day, who, in their respective ways did valualble work, not only for the Yorkshire Association, but lor the art of change ringing. The proceedings on Saturdin brought together a large and representative gathering or Yorkshire ringers in the city which was closely associated with Jasper Snowdon's crowded life. But it is not merely to those who are present that this annual liunction should appeal. Ringers throughout the country should realise that they, too, owe a debt to these Yorkshire worthies, and, while they catnot join in person in such a gathering, they may, perlaps, realise that they tan, in the spirit, honour the memory of these men whose labours have done so much to place the art on the high level which it has reached to-day.

\section*{SWANSEA G BRECON DIOCESAN GULLD. DEPARTURE OF THE HON. SECRETARY.}

A quarterly meefing of the Swausea and Brecon Diocesan Guild was holdi on Saturday, Bepu. Sll, at Llathsteplan, whev ten towers were represented. The fingers of Aberavon, Baglan, Neath, Cadoxton and Morrision, left Neall at 9 o'clock by charabanc, and after a lovely run through the heart of the country of West Wales, had chear first stop at Llandilo, where they were net by the local ringers, and a few touches of Doubles and Minor were tusp. Leaviag then for Carmarthen they were again met by the local dand. and after partakiug of Iunch, enjoyed touches of Grandsire Triples and Stedman Truples. Llansteplain was roncled at 2.30 , and the party received a harty wolcome from the Vicar and the local ringers. Ringers from Gorscinon and Haverfordwesi werealso present. On the fine peal of eight some good ringing was enjoyed until 4.30 , when service was conducted by the Viear. Tea, which had heen generously prorided by the Ficar and churchpeople of the parish, was next served, and the business meeting followed, presided over by the Vicar, who at Hive outset, weloomed the Guild to Llantotophan. He wished them every success in the good work that they were doing to foster the art of change ringing in the different parishes, ant said they would alsays he welcomed to LJanstephan.

It was decided to have the zoxt quarterly meeting at Morriston.
Mr. Lewis (Cadoxton) moved a learty vote of thank to fle Vicnl and enturclipeopie of Lianstephan for the magnificent way the ringers had been received that day, and for the tea that was provided for thens. He also referred to the impending departure of the secretary to Newport (Mon.), which the meeting lieard with regret. No oae bad worked more for the sucess of the Guild than the secretary, who wat most pepular among the members,

Among the welcone visitors at the mecting were Mr. J. H. Shepherd (of Swindon) and Mr. Davies (late of Caerleon, Mon.).

The bells were afterwards rung until lale in the evening, and the ringers then dispersed to their rospective districts, after a most enjoyable dny, which will he remembered for some time.

\section*{HINTS ON ' SPLIONG ' AND RINGING MINOR METHODS.} By JOFN P. FIDLER. SEVENTH AR'ICLE.
The sixth or bly group of methods will he foumb in He 3 ra's I'lace Dedight section of the Central Councibs Coliection, aud derives its anme from liat of the 'odd ' method, via, Liy, tho ohther four being Ihagedone, Knulsford, Wilmslow and Rostherus. 'Iluese four were firsh rugg during the years \(1913-14\), and were named fifter six-bell towers in lise Stockpont branek of the Chester Guild.
As I mentioned in ray hast article, the work of these is vastly differeat to the previous ones, and will regtare a good deal of atfention prid to them. Rostherne, No. 29 , page 28, seems to be the casiest, so we with lackle that first. Commencmg with the 2ad, we fart that the slow work occopies practically the whole of a lead. After soappian will trable, the slow work bell Icaris full, makes 2ad's, does a hnlf-pull at leat, followed by four full pults wrong, aud finishiny with a Stedman whole turn. Yassing to treble 2-3 up, it rins throturn to dodge in \(5-6\); lies is whole puld and meels the tueble in \(3-4\) down. After dodging, ti nakes 3rd's, and does it liple dodge in \(3-4\) up, passjug treble \(4-5\) y 1 , It then dodges \(5-6\) up, and, after lying 6th's, dees a dodgre \(3-4\) down, makos 3 rd's place, und dodges in 5-6 before lying. The tretule then eomes, and 5 h's place is made. The work is then reversod, viz. lie hatiore dodging, down to 3rd's place, which is rarle, dodue \(3-4\) i1p, one la 6 th's, tie bofore lodging 5-6 down, innd pass irehle \(4-5\) down; work in \(3-4\), in conjunction with the \(3-4\) bell, j.e. commence witli it triple dadge, make 3 rd's phace, and dadge with treble 3-4 up, 1 wh and lie before dolging 5-6 down; run througls 10 lend, passitg trable \(2-3\) and tommence slow wilh shedman whole turu; then, ifter foum full pulls wrong, tead a lialf-pull, make Zud's place, and lead ngain. when treble comes to snap; make zad's place, aut the caurse is fonished.
Eucord the following in the notehook:
Pas treble 1-2 duwi. Lead, 2nd's, lanlf-lead, 2nd's, lead, 2nd's lead, Jatif' 2nd's, lead nurd out, Lead, half 2 nd 's, lend, 2nd's, lead, 2nuls, lialf-lead, 2nd's, lead.

ALTERATION IN B.B.G. ARRANGEMENTS.

Derr Sir,-Doubtless many ringers, who ate readers of the Raliu Thmes 'as well as the . Ringing World, will have scen the paragrapla in the former journal announcing that thic bells of St. Martin's, Burmingham, wero to be simultaneously broadeast from all B.B.S. staLious an Suluday next, the 27th inste, whilst in the 'Ringing Worhd' nuy letier meationed the Cathedral (St. Philip's) bells.
I amp row advised that there has been some hitch in the B.B.C.'s arrangements, and that owing to the djficulty of syachocasing their Sunday evening progracnmes the bells will be relayed to Liverpool only.

At the tine the B.B.C. preliminary announcement in the "Ratio Times, weat to press they were endeavouring to arrange for Si. Martin's belis, but certain difficulties arose (oot wilfiregard to the bells), and it, was subsequently grranged that the Gathedral bells shonld be sintulanconsly hroadcast, as per my letter in last week's - Ringing World.'

Unformanaly, further difficulties have arisen (again vothing to do with the bells or ringers, but purely B.B.C. internal matters) and ag a result the bolls will be brondcast from Birminglam and Liverpool only.

It is very disappointing, but 1 would like to express the lope, sir, that all those who tho hear the ringing will send expyessions of apprecintion as suggented in my previous letter. - Yours failhiully,

Dear Sir,-It is to be hoped that all who hear birminglam ist. Plilip's) bells will do as Mr. Smilh suggosts and send a card to the B.B.C., \(x\) I think it may be the means of getting bellis broadcast from otlaer centres as well in the future. Why is it we have not been able to get some good ringing broadeast from London as yet? One woud think there were opportunities liere, and plerty of facilities. Why do not the Loadon Societies try to make arrangements with the B.B.C.? It would give enjoyment to thousauds of comblry ringers. I beg to inform Mr. Sanith rlat St. Plislin's were relayed on the last occasion of broadcasting, hs they were heard in Feering, Essex. from Daventry. quite distinctis, and I was able to hear the calls made and the dodging as well.- Yours faithfully,

\section*{SHE OLD NORWICH CONTROVERSY.-ATTACK AND} COUNTER-ATTACK

\section*{By J. ARMLGER '1ROLLOPE.}

Thomas Melchior did publish his peal, as we lave sten, and slraightwry the cosiany men set about preparing ilheir counterthast. First, they sent Thomas Crathe and a companion to get the figures of tho composition. You will remenber that Melelion, in the first Hush of success, offered to lel 'any of the curious' see the peal free, but he was probably suspicious (not withont reason) of these (wo gentlemen, ind refused to let them have it. They were not to be put off with a mere xefusal, and sat up all night with him, till from sheer weariness he sold it for half a crowa a zatu. But you may judge of their chagrin when they found that they hat been tricked after all. What they had bought was not the Mancroft peal, but an earlier attempt of Melchior's with' 14 Doubles and 21 altorations.
The ofd Euglish custom, when a man wanted to convince the public that he was really speaking the truth, was to offer to lack liis words with an wager or to take an oath on the matter.
Then, as now, men said the thing that was not, in warying degree from slight exaggeration to downright lying, and, provided that something was to be gained, it was no great matter. But when you laid a wager you slood to lose your money, and when you took an oath you were in effect staking your welfare in the next world. Originally to take no oatla was a religions excreise, but it was foum that there are plenty of meu who, like Nacbeth, for some adrautage. 'here, upon this bank and shoal of time,' are guite prepared ' to jump ilse life to come ' and iemporal penalties were added to the spiritual, so that to break an oath, formally taken, became a crime as well as a sin. And so, since there was no stronger way of saying that the Mancroft peal was not a true peal, Thomas Crane went before a justice and swore that fom inousand eight hundred and sixiy changes were rung, and not five thousand aud forty, and that the time was three loourg ancil a half, and nof three hours and furty mimutes. The dabchof men were quite equally prepared to swear the peal was truc, and John Webster, their referce, also went to take an oatil.
But the two cases were nof nuite alike. Houcst Tom could take his oath with a clear conscicnce, for he, good simple soul, had counted the strokes of the tevor, and did not see why he should bave made a mistake. Webster was quite prepared to swear that the peal was fairly and truly rung, but that did not satisfy the opposition. They wanted him to swear to the exact literal truti of the advertisemen of October S1st, that there was never a bell out of course, nor clanges alike.' Naturally he fositated. There lave been very few peats rung of which this is quite literally true. One litte taip in the slow ; one missed dodge; even one badly struck blow is enough to \(u\) pset it. Of which of the peals of Sterlman Triples you hase rung would yon care to say that it contained absolutely the 5,040 rows. neither move nor less? Xot the last one nor the one before that! The Cosiany men, in their eagerness to discredit the Mancroft peal, were asking too much. Ther forgot. that when hey rang their own peal it couitd be subjected to a similar test.
Then they asked Webster, 'How is it that you swear that the peal was rung by cight men, when you yourself had to help the sixth? This was ratleer a paser, and Wehster got out of it in a way which was more ingenious than convincing. 'Ols,' he said, 'we did not count the tenor man.'
Having made their oaths the Coslany men next inserted in thas Gazette' of November 6ih, 1731, a formal statement repenting the charge that the peal was not properly or completely rung. It was signeci hy Thomas Crane. I have no copy of this letter, but a fortnight later it hrought forth the following reply from Melehior
'WHEREAS Thomas Crane dide assert on Saturiay before last, Alnat that Master of art (is he pleased to call me) rung 4.860 clanges, and no more on Monlay, the 28 th of October last 1 will tectuaint the World with his accurate Proceedings.

\section*{NORBURY WELCOMES ITS NEW BELLS. A STIREET PROCESSION.}

An interesting und almost unique ceremony took place at Norbury, Hazel Grove, Gheshire, on Salurday, Sept. 12 th, when the new peal of eight hells was given a 'welcome home' by the parishioners. Monted on decorated lorries the bells were drawn in procession florough the afreets, and the collection teken on the route and by the sale of flags amounted to fogt. As already mentioned in our columus, tha hells roplace a peal of six, which formerly hung in Norbury lower, atiol their movision forms pant of a great resioralion scheme which is theing erried out. The two oldest bells in the lormer peal wave heen preserved in the porch as interesting relics, the four others lave bent recast, and there are four new bells, one given by the congregalion, one by the ringers, one hy lise Freemasons, and the oller proviled out of the bell fund. Jn aditition, the Nonconlormists of the parish lave defrayed ibe cost of recnsting the treble.
Tha hells were paraded through the strects on six lorifes, and the procossion inchuled, in addition to the merry, churdhwardens, choin and twill ringers, the Sunday School teachers ancl scholars, with a thblear, the Nonconformist ministers, reprosentalives of the Ex Sourice men and treemasons, Giul Guides and Brownies, Boy Soots and Clats, and privishoners, musje being supplied en route by the Hazed Girove Silver Band.
An impressive inedent in the proession was seen al the Norbury War Memarial. wheve a halt was made to enable fwo hoga, sons of mpen who foll in the wat, to deposit \(n\) floral bell in memory of fallen patisujoners.

\section*{A GREAT DAY.}

On the retarn of the procession to the ehurch a shott service was loeld in the epen air. It was opened by the band playing the tune, -Norhary Chatel, \({ }^{\text {, }}\) emposed by Mr. S. Pennoy, who conducterl. The proeedinge conchucded with a short extempore address by the Fiear (Use ther. A. H. Hamlireys), who sairl: This has been agrent day for uls, whicly ithink wibl stand out as a day unique in the annals of Has.l firove. It is ninety years since the old bells were puil in the chumb towes, and tit may he atofleco hundred rears before the lyalls 刀re mems ugain ou the ground. Only ouce churing the ninety mats have any of the bells been out of the tower, and that was wheu one crackert, and had ta ize reeast in 1877. We hope that the work pal itale the four old hells, and that the new bells which heme been made, will sland in the church tower for many years. Only our grandehildran av their grandehildren will sen a day like this agnin, atal we want atroryone to fake the apportunity afforied them to-rny nul to-mortow of examining the bells with their inseriptions. When we loear them ringing in the clureh tower Sunday by Sunday, and at fimes rluring the week, they will sound with far more moaning than if we lad tiever lad stoch a day as to-day. We are fhankful cuery and of us that God has given ms beautifal weather todap. It siande for us as a token of His blessing, for we helieve that the Lord is the Lord of all things in heaven and enr'th, and we want the same lorird to he the Lard of all our lives, fuad when we hear the chatroh hofls summozing us to worship or marking the fight of tige hour he lontr, we shall remember that the sound of every bell is at call to tus from on higls to give onr lives to the service of God day by day, woek by week, and yedu by year, until it shall please God to call us to Hi rest and our bodies to their rest within the somnd of the alr mbrch beils. It is A great day and a day fill of menning in every part of it, and I am so very thankfal for myself that everyone in the village has heen so trilling to co-operate in the setting up of these holls as tokens of our unit \(y\) logether, and of our common riscipleshin of the one Lord. I amm flankful that the ninisters in Hazel Grove anol the people have hoen wifl us in this act, and that one of the luelis is inseriberi as "A gift of the Nonconformists,' ansl with a rease which is in itself a prayer that Gorl will keep us all unitex.

\section*{CENTRAL COUNCIL AND ADVISORY COMMITTEES.}

An important letter has been addressed by the Central Council to the Diocesan Conlerences of England and Wales in the hope that the Advisory Committee, which exists in cach diocese to assist the Chancellor in dealing with faculties for alterations, restorations and improvements in churches, may be strengthened by the addition of a member with a practical knowledge of bells and ringing. In some few instances the committee already includes someone thus qualified, but in the majurity of cases the Advisory Committees are without anyone with knowledge of the subject from the ringers' point of view. The effort now being made to remedy this state of alfairs is very necessary, because bell restoration and auymentation form an important part of the matters with which the conmittees have to deal. Cases occur from time to time where alterations in a church vitally affect the minging arrangenents, even if they do not actually concern the bells thenselves, and unless the committee investigating the scheme has among its members a person with a practical knowledge of beils, there is a liability that this side of the question may be overlooked (als, indeed, it has been more than oncel, and serious and permanent prejudicial effects upon the future of ringing at that particular place may result. Again, the committers frequently include a member appointed for his spectal antiquarian knowledge and the zeal of gentlemen with this attainment has from time to time been an ohstacle to bell restoration on lines which would facilitate ringing. In these instances a modifying influence in a committee is therefore very necessary, and we hope the Central Council's letter, which was resolved upon at the Chester meeting, will have the requisite effect.
It will lee extremely interesting to see what the result is of this action by the Council. Doubtless in some cases, when the matter is brought to the notice of the Conferences, the necessary appointment will be made, but where the letter has no effect we hope the Council will not be concent to let the matter slide. It is a question of the first importance that someone with a knowledge of bells and ringing should be on every one of the Advisory Committees, because, in the future, ther will be, in effect, if not in fact, the deciding authority in all restorations of and additions to rings of bells. The Central Council must press their request wherever there is any doubt as to a suitable appointment being made, for too often matters of this kind are shelved by the gentle practice of ignoring them. Despite all that we are told of the recognition of ringers in these days, there still exists (Continnted or page 626 .

a considerable prejudice in some quarters, and ringers are thought to be of little account. This attitude, wherever it is to be found, is one which the Council should attack at every available opportunity, and we fancy they will find more than one such opportunity in their present endeavour. Having embarked on this very necessary campaign, they must follow it to a staccessful conslusion, and, through the various chamels open to them, they must make those responsible for appointing these committees understand that the chaim to the representation of practical knowledge of bells and ringing is important, and not to be ignored, or turned down without adequate reason.

\section*{NO SUCCESSOR FOUND.}

Members of the Midland District of the Ladics' Cuild mel at $i. John's, Deritend, Birmingham, on Saturday, Cor he sole purpose of slecting an honoracy secretary in place of Mrs. J. E. Groves, who has hold the office since 1921, and who, awing to the objection of Miss Parker, the generat secrelary, to a non-ringer being district secretary, felt she conld not carry' on ayy lowger.

There was a fairly good attendance, and thase who could not attend wrote asting Mrs. Groves to continue in ouce. The members prexent wore unanimous in desiriug her to continue, and Miss Pigot said it would be impossible to get anyone to do better or take more interest in the Guild. Sho could not understand the genefal secrelury's athitude, as each district was allowed to select its own secretary and committee, and no rales had been brokell. If the district was oot flourishing it was keeping together, thanks to the secretary.
This expression of opiaion reflected the wiews of all present, and similar seniments were expressed in letters received fron Xiss Thatcher. Clent; Miss Dodds, Miss Jolnson, and olbers.

Mts. Groves thanked tho memhers for their kind appreciation, but after Miss Parker's remariss at the Reading meeting, nothing, she said, would iuduce her to carry on any longer.
Eer resiguation was, therefore, accepted wilh wuch regret.
\(\Delta s\) no one else would accopt the office, the meeting cozcluded with a liearty vote of thanks to the Rev. J. Morgan, and to Mr. Neal and the other gentlemen, who had helped in ile arrangements.

\section*{WESTERN DISTRICT MEETING.}

The quarterly meeting of Lhe Ladics' Guild (Western Disinict) was held at Weston-super-Mare on Sept. 19ih, and was well atterded, in spite of heary rain in iko earlier part of the day. Menbers wero present from Bath, Brisfol, Clapton-in-Gordano, Corston. Evercreech, Portishcad and Tiverton. The bells, a light peal of eight, were going soon after 3 o'clock, touches of Grandsire and Stedman being rung. The Vicar (Preb. Porcher) conducted the Guild service, and gave on short address, after which members and friends adjourned to the Paragou Cafe, where an excellent tea was served.
A short business meeting Followed, Mrs. Edwards, of Portishead, presiding.-St. Philip's, Bristol, was chesen for the next meeting, to be held early in Decomber, and Miss A. Emm was elected a life member of the Guild.
The thanks of the meeting are due to Preb. Porcher tor the use of the belis, and to Mr . J. Blackmore for so kindly making all arrangemenis.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION. \\ \section*{NORTH-WESTERN DIVISION}}

A meeting of the North-Westeru Dirision was held on Saturday, Sept. 19tht, at ist. Dunstar's Churcei, Funsdou, Herts. Unfortunately it ranud practically the whole time, so the attendance was very small. However, ringing was induiged in during the aficroon, and a short scriee Fas held, conducted by the Rev. N. A. Errington. Fifteen members then sat down to ten, at which the cheir was taken by the Rey. N. A. Errington.
At ulie business meating. A. Wrenn was elected a member, proposed by the Hon. Barbare Gibbs, and sfeconded by Mr. Cook.
Very interesting discussions followed concerning the increase of lady ringers in tho county, and low to assist a fower and help it to advance in tive art of change ringing.

The Secretary read a lefter from the Master of the Association, Mr. c. H. Howard, regretting his inability to be present.

Mr. II. Dew. or hehali of the company, thacked the Rev. N. A. Firinglon fer the use of the bells, and for the many duties he had performed.-To this the Chairman suitably replied, saying he was always pleased to welcome members of the Esser Association. The activilies by the Rer. N. A. Frrington during the day were ringing with the company, conducting, liolding the service, playing the organ, giving an exenllent bell ringers' address, presiding at tea, and taking the clatir at the buziness meeting.

\section*{THE WAY}

TH: OLD N゙ORWICH CONTROFERSY. PUBLIC EXCITEMENT LEADS TO FREE FIGHT. By d. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.
This is Edward Crano's letier which appeared in the 'Gazctte, of December 4th, 1731 :-

WHCREAS Themas Metehior did assert in the 'News' on the 27th past that Thomas Crane did place himsolf in a Public House, whaze there were People coming in and going out, this is to tell lim that Mr. Will Aburn does here justifie that he was in a room of his, and that there was nohody with him all the Time of their riuging lut two of his company, till he had proved the Truth of their Peal. But this is just fitite offering to swear that their Advertisement was true; but when Thomas Crane went and made Affethavit before one of our Magistrateg ihat they rung but 4, , 60 changes, and that we put John Welster upon his Oath, he then cunniagly said it was not the peal they rung, but it was the Peal upon his Paper hie would swear was true. Then we asked him why litey advertised but 8 men when he was fain to relicese the Gth man? He said they did not count the tenor man. Then wily was he in the "News'? We ssked him how many times their 5 fore bells struck togethor in one part of their Peat? He owned 5 times. Then how could tixis Peal be rung withont Bells out of Course? Mr. Melchior was pleased likewise to say that the Peel we rung in St. Michael's of Cosinny is not Stedman. I am very sorry he should show his Ignorance to both City and Cambry. I will appeal to any Man of his Art, whether or no they ever knew the 6 ih and 7th Bells were turned half the one way and laalf the oticer way, as theirs do now. I must tell him that lne never pricked, Peal upon 7 bells with only Two Doulles, if he had he would have known hos the great Bells should lave come Home th their proper places; and nat have taken nimself to a Peal of 5 Bells and fled to STEDMAN for assistance; because the Peal of 5 bells winl work many ways, and so will Grandsire on 5 Rellis as well as Stedman. Then, It pray, let any men that is a judge in this Art tell me, mhy Stedman on 7 bells slould not work as CRANDSIRF on 7 beनs, and bring their Great, Bells, Home at their Quarter, Half, Three-quarter and Whole Pal's ent? Likewise STEDMAN'S on 6 bells. Why they work proper and bring their Great Bells Home at their proper time? And so do other penls 5 and time? And so do other peals on 5, 6, 7 aud 8. But, alns! Mr. Mo Gelifor, if, you desiise to heep to your credit you must go into Fork for you. Pray be not affrouted hecause \(J\) tell to do the Truth.

\section*{EDTARD CRANE AND FIS COMPANY.}

If Thomas Melchtor reall? meant what he said when he declaredi was not worth his white to answer his opponents for the future, be spedily found that circumstances were too strang for him. The contraversy tilazed up fiercer than ever. The genersl public began to dobnted in all the inns in Cosiany dobated in all the inns in Coslany, round Mancrofi, and elsewhere in Whe citg. His followers expected that Mrelchior should reply to Fidward Crane's last letter. But, indieed, he was not the man to neer

Likewise whis Honest Man told John Webster thai lie never spoke that Word in his Life, but he would swear to the Truth of it. Let this be allowed firm. But alas! I am sorry for poor Ned Crane, finding him void of all knowledge of Stedman's Triples. If the peal we prick ed and rung be not proper Stedman's Triples, why does he aot accept the Wager Two to On proffered in our last? I tell you Ned. I am of Opibion that you would rather have made your Peal without Alteration than with had you known how. You have owned that I was the firsi Man that ever turned the Sixth awd Sevently; but let me lell yan they are All turned ns well as those Else they would not he cvery Bell a Course alike. which taked cway ail Pretension of keeping your hells as in firandsirc. I tell that Wise Gentleman, who was your prompler before gou found that nice way of nailing your Paper agajnst the wall lo call cour hols ly (thonigl to no effect), that if John Garthon had been alive he would have laughed at your Ignorance for assigning Hunts to Sledman's Triples, wleereas Stedman snys every bell has a Course alike.

THOMAS MELCHIOR, by Consent of his Company.
The centre of interest now shifts to the other tower. The Mancroft peal had been rung; everything had been said about the that could bo said, whether for or against: and all the while the Coslany men were trying to ring their peal. Theven times they statied for it, and eleven times, from one cause or another, it carme to grief. Edward Crane was not allogether happy in his calling. Metchior chargedi him with baving a prompter to help him, but we need not pay very muct attenfion to that. Both bands ind an extra man is the tower furing their peal attemple, to act as referee, to theck the bobs and rauch for the peal when rung. And both these men were sifong partisant. Each was as anxious that the perel should be rung as any of the actued ringers, and no doubt would have been quite milling to have lent a lielping hand, cither to a had-going hell, as Johin Welster did, or to supply a hob that the conductor miscei. It did not seems to have supply a hot that the conductor missci. It did nat seem to have orrurreat to either Melchior or Crame that this was not quite the beat sort of referee. They ought to have invited a man from the opposite hand to be prerent, or got an enlively impartial umpire. Bnt, doubtless, party feeling ran ton high for the first, and the second was nat availntite.

A more serious charge that Melchiar made against Crame was that he calted his bobs from a pager mailed up in the tower. That is the sert of thing some second-rate conductors hape all along tueen tempted to do. Indeed, some years ago there were rumours of jts being done in certain places, and the Central Councit passed a resolution condemning the practice. It is eertainly nob a sprortsmanlike thing to do, but I think tho main thing against it is that it is not very effective. A man wha has nol got his peal in his head is not likely to be kept from making mistakes by a piece of paper which as likely as not he can but imperfectiv see.
Thic itme when the Coslany men intendecl to start for their peal wa extensjuely advertisen, and beforehand some of the liselier membars of the Mancroft party paid the town criot to go round the city reciling s satirieal verse which they had got, the jugonious Mr. William Scott to compose tor the occation. The bellman used to be one of the publie institutions of Norwich. At a time when prining was rarer, and reading nol a universal accomplishment, the town erier was the usual means of making things generally known. I do not know if he atill exists. He dicl when 1 was a bey, thongla ruuch fallen from his formor higlu estate.
When the peal was nelunlly begun, several hundred people gathered round the church to listen. Some world be mero cilizens, bul the ex-ciled partisens of both bands mustered in force. Debato and feeling were junning liglı, and it would not have been an English crowd in the eighteenth century if there had not boan plenty of betting on the result of the ringing. When the peal had gone on for upwards of a couple of hours, aud it begen to look as if the attempt was going to be suceessful, the excibement ineressed tenfold. The rowdier elements of the Mancroft party starded to make a noise, to throw stomes at the citurch door, and on to the lead roaf, and one man, more daring than the alisers, aclually tried to force his way ivside lhrough one of the windows. SE. Michacl's tower stands but a few feet away from the street, und the chureliyard was surroumded by a brick wall, easily dimbed ify anyone with a litilo agility. Of course, this led to counter action by Lhe Coslany party. A free fight eastied, and blood was shed, thongh by no more serious means that through punched noses. Tlie Coslany party being on theil own ground, were aumerically tho stronger, and the resill of the fight was that they drove the Wancroft parfy oft tho field.

Whas ever peal rang in such like ciromastanees? Thave known cases Where the outside people wantied to do murder, lut the people to be murdared were the poor ringers inside. I never heard of another peal whelh so excited a city thet people fell to fistiouff over its merits whilc it was a-ringing.

Crane ami his band were higlily indignant over the afinix. They lairl it all to time Mancroft baed, and eharged Melchior with heing the canse and instigator. Meichior hotiy denied the charge; the Manerofit band scorned to do such things. I think je spoke tise trath. Men of his sort who cen speak and write as he could do not need to descond to physical riolence. The riot was umpremeditated, causall ly, ilve rougher elements which are to be found in every crowd. I no mot suppose their interest in Stedman Triples went further than Lhat liteg had some bets on the ringing, or even that this was more linn one of the maty oceasions that occureel for making a row.
The affair of the bellman was another matter. The Wancroft ringers lhmalves may nol nelually lave employed him, but they knew very wall who did. anci Molehior thought the joke quite a good one, and thoroughly enjoyed the fun.

\section*{UNEXPECTED INTERRUPTION AT SHREWSBURY.}

On Saturday week a peal of Stedman Cinques was atbempted at Si. Chad's, Shrewshury, but was brought to a abrupt termination about halfway througl, from a most unexpected cause. While the ringins was in progress the Ficar, the Rev. Ti. E. Overton received a note from a nursing institution in Quarry Place explaining tlat two insportani operations were to be performen, and asking that tho bolls misht be stopped owing to the patients veeding quiefiness,

The Vicar, from whom formal authority bad previouly been received for the ringing of the peal, immediately went across to the church, hut found the gate of the iron railings surrounding the church locked. The verger climbed the railings by means of a ladder, and then found that the belfry deor was also locked and bolted on the inside. Br the Vicar's instructions, therefore, the door was forced open, causing it to split horizontally across the midile, and damaging tho panels.
Naturally the ringers were keenly disappointed at the result of the sudden inlerruption, expecially in fiew of the fact thet some of them had come from Stafferdshire, Warwickshire and Warcestershire for the occasion. At the tirge of closure, splendid progress was being made, exactly half the changes having been rung in an hour and 49 minutes. The ringers fere: ©. R. Lilley (Sb. Chad's, conductor), l, F. Knight (Walverhampton) 2, W. Short (Clent, Worcestershire) 3, J. Perry (Brewood, Staffordshire), 4, C. Wallater (Willenhali) 5. J. Lilley (St. Ched'e) 6, R. Piekering (Teflenhall) 7, W. R. Kynaston (St. Chad's) 8, L. F. Mitchell (Wolverlampton) 9, W. Fislier (Coseley, Staffordslite) 10, J. T. Eltan (Walsall) 11, J. George (Birmiggham) 12.
It is about thirty years since a peal of Sterman Cinques was rung af St. Chad's, and two of the ringers who rook part on thet occasion, Mr. Short ann Mr. George, were in the ahortive altempt on Saturday week.

\section*{AN ENFORTUNATE PEAT. ATTEMPT}

On Saturday Inst, at St. Michael's, Wood Green, an attempt was made for a peal of Sinor in three raethods. Two \(720^{\prime}\) s each of Oxford and Kent Treble Bols and Bols Minor hai been rung, whee the peal camb to grief 120 changes from the end of the last 720 of Plain Bob, after 2 hours and 38 minutes' ringing: Miss M. \section*{TEE SUGGESTED NFW IRULES}

Melton Mowbray, the place noted for ' pork-pies' and the frequers visits of the frince of Wales for hunting and racing, was the scene of the M.C.A.'s sccomd guarterly meeting Insi, Suturday.

The Clureh of Sl. Mary is a magnificent crucform building of the Early Englisła and Perpendicular styles, contajing mumerous fine stainad glass wiodows, and many ancienf interesting monuments. The stately contral town is emballled, with octagomal furret, pinuacles and dwarf spire, and contains a fine peal of ten bells. Ringing commenced al. 2.30, and was continued during the aifernoon and eveuing. the bells being manipuialed by a large number of visitors from Burtou, Colgrave, Derby, Leicester, Nottingham, leberborough, Syston, Wigston, and atier places. Wlile the ringing was not of the best, the striking being mostly in jazz style, or, as 'A flat would term it, 'Symcopated '; it wes nevertheless enjoyed by all, even thougls some atfempts did not come ' home.'
The committee meeting took place al 4 p.m., alld after the usual routine business, an appeal from Relper (where six sfeel bells are heing scrapped, and a new peal of eight loy Taylor being erected was discussed, and a grant made from the Bell Repair Fund.
The Hon. Seeretary informed the memberg that the was in communicalion witls the Central Council and Railway Companies with reference to the suggesled cheaper vates for ringers. He also announced that he hat received a quantity of back issues of the M.C.A. reports, and was given permission to dispose of these to any members desiring hem, on payment of cost of postage.
The suggested new rutes were discussed at some lengtls, but no satisfactory solution being arrived at it was left over for the time being.

The committea then edjourned for fen, but a hitcis had occurred owing to a large aumber of members being present who had failerl to give rotice. Howevor, after \({ }^{2}\) rearrangement all got served. During tea, the Vicar (the Rev. J. LA. Davies) arrived, but owing to anot liel engagement could not stay. In a fow remarks lie welcomed the Fisitors to Melton, and before learing was electerl an hon. meaber.
Al the subsequellt mectiog, the president (Alu. R. B. Chambert, R.A. J.P.) was supported by Mrs. Chamhers, the hon. fressurer (Mr. W. Wilson), and hon. scereigry (Mr. E. Motris). -The President gave a brief oulline of the committee meeting, after whith the secretary read out the list of now members made since the last meeting, viz. 6 honorary, 6 life, 9 ringing and 2 refoined. One olfl and valued memher (Mr. H. Briggs, of Stoney Stanton) was transferred to the life members \({ }^{-1}\) list.
Hearty votcs of thanks to the Ficar and local committere were passed umanimously, und in seconding the latter, Mr. W. White asked that it misht be noted that any inconvenience calsed over tea arrangements was entirely the fault of menbers attending. who liad failed to nolify the local management, and urged all in future to avoid this tupleasanthess, by giving the necessary notice.
Further ringing took place until 8 p.m., wisen a social hour was speat in larmony, handiell ringing, etc. The best 'ringing' of the afternoon was that done by Jaurice Swinfield, of Burton, when he tapped on the piano a perfect course of Duffield Major followed by three courses of Stedman Triples, the 'bobs' being called by Mr. W. Willson. Owing to 'domestic' ties, the writer had to dash away very unceremouiously during a song by the local hero, so what result this had upon the hearers lie cannot say! Taken altogether this meatiag was most sucecssful, and theroughly enjoyed by all present. F. M.

Dear &ir,-The beading of yanr 'leader " in the " Finging World for sept. 181 J is incorreet and misleading. The words, M.C.A.'s proposed new rules, infer that the suggested alterations which rou mention are proposod by the Midhand Counties Association, and this is quite wrong. These proposed new rules hase not been put forward by the General Committee nor by any District Conmittec, but represent the cfforts of one ordinary ringing member who does not hold any official position whatever in the M.C.A. Yours faithfully, \section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.} THE ANNUAL MEETENG.

After ant absence of 16 yearg, the assaciation agrin wisited Thawtenstall for the anuual meeling on Saturday bul the as chosen proved whe of the worst in Sepfember, which told against the numbers preedint although a goodly company got logether. The nine towers m the brenth were thrown open to visitors, and some of the ringers hroke their jommey at towers on their way domm, but all wade their way to headquarters in time for the service at. St. Mary's, which was intoned ly the Rural Dean, the Rev. G. E. Knapp Fisher, of Newmrarch. The lesson was rearl by the Rev. Canon Wisee President of 1.te Association, while the Vicar (the Fev. T. Hunter) gave forcefal address. Retween 50 and 60 attended the service. Tea followed in 1.he Schoals near by, when the company was increased by a parly which arrived late, by charahano. Those of the committee who were present met in a classroom to diseuss the reparit while the later ones fintshed tea.
The business meeting was held aftorwarts, with Canon Elsee in the clusir, supported by the Rev. T. Hunter, the Rev. C. E. Ennpp Fisher, the hon. treasurer, secretaries (Messrs. A. Temlinson and W. H. Bluker), the fice-president, and eight of the committee. The alergy present addressed a few worts to the members, and Conon Fisce afterwards thanked fhem for what thes lad done to make the mepting a success.

The committee reported 1,502 members on the hooks 102 of wheh hat been elected during the rear. The financial position was satisfactory, with a gain of es gs. lod., against a loes last year. The peal litat is 124-a record for the assaciation. They lot lost, by death, 12 mombers. The report ended with best thanks to the local secretaries who worked to get the result achioved.

Afterwaris, the balance sheet whs read, and passed. and the clection of officers took place, there being four nominations for rice-presjdeat. Voting papers mere issued, and while these were marked, colfoeled and counted, the election of the other oficers was confirmed, as no more titan were required were nominated. Serents-five papers wete returned, and showed a majority in favour of Mr. T. Rollerson, who was ancordingly elected for the next two yotrs. Three places were foted on for next jear's mecting, and Boltog, with its cightrings of cight and one of six, was chosen. The best thanks of the maeting was given to the organist, choir for their services, and the local ringers for making everyding as comiortable as possible.

CliNTRAL COUNCIL'S LETTER TO DIOCESAN CONFERENCES.
The following letter has been sent by the Hon. Secretary of tha Central Council (MIM. E. Alex. Young) to the Secretaries of the 4 Diocesin Confergaces :-

As Secretary to the Cenlyal Council of Churela Bell Ringers, [ have heen instwucted by my Council to approseh tho Diocesnn Conferences with reference to the appointment of members to act upon Ad visory Committees for additious to claurches and Lleir ornaments. Where such commatbees exist it freguently happens that questions refaling to the welmuging or improvement of church bells are submitted for their judgment, and it is, therefore, important flat eacls comnittee stratif if possibic lave anong ils members one at least who lins some pragtical knowledge of the sutnject from the ringers' point of view.

In several diceeseg care has heen taken to appoint on the Advisory Committee someone who is thus qualified. And in view of the jmportance of the bells in mong ehurches, my Council respectfully urges that this slould always bo done.

Ali the great Diocesan and County Associations of Ringers were represented at the meeting of the Council at Chester last June, aut on their behalf I beg respectindly to ask that if tho Advisory Core miliee for yonr diocese does not already include a member with practical knowledge of bells and ringing, steps may if possible bo taken to adid such a ane lo the committec, or at lenst to ensure that before any decision affeeting the tower or bells is taken, expert opinion should be sought:.

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. \\ EASTTER DIVISTON AT WALDRON.}

Service over, a move was made to the Foxhont Memorial Hall, where, by the generosily of several ladies in the parish, about 30 mumbers sat down to a splendid len, presided over by the Rector
Al. the brief business neeting whinh followed, the Rector was voled to the chair and the following new members were clected: Messre. A. J. Ancack, E. Burgess, W. Burgess, A. Filton, A. Fumphrer, F Marchant, J. Marchant, W. J. B. Parker, F. C. Pettitt, S. Pettit, R. Woot, C. Fr. Woolen, all of cht. Andrew's, Alfisislon: F. Kent, Christ Church, St, Leonard's. Mr. W. Pickworth, of Soutlagate, was elected as a non-resident life memher, and the election of Mr. J. F. Small wooc, of Derby, was contirmed.

Following a diseussion it was decided to hold the next meeting at Rotherfield.

Mr. G. W. Stokes (hic lion, secretnry) proposeti a benty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the belts, and his address at tha service. He also thanked the ladies who had so kindly provided the tea, and had atended to the ringers' wants at the fable.

The Rev, R. W. D. Stephenson, in responding for himself, and on behalf of the lndies, sad what 7 pleasure it lad been to have the memtiers of the association atnongab, them that day. Fo thanked them for their Eind romarks, and wished the association every success.
The meeting then terminatet, the members returaing to the tower, where the bells were kept poing intil 8 p.m. For the success of the meeting groat thamks ato due to Mr. O. F. Humphrey, who kiadly made all the arrangements.

\section*{REGISTER OF COMPOSITIONS}

\section*{To the Editor.}

Sir, Mr. G. P. Burton will have to tyy agaia. Fancy leving to label a compraition No, 274,000. No, never let us do away with ihe composer's name. Why should we do so? It is a custom handed down, I helieve, ever since the carly drys of ringing. When, if ever, a register \(\mathrm{i}_{\mathrm{F}}\) compiled whose peals would he included; all or only the best ones? I ask lhis question, as recenty a well-known composer statim ed he har compositions of one melliod alone ranning into six fgures. Woulti all these be included? It would tenent some register. Neither do I think many, if any, hands would trouble to nsk the number. There are to-day not mlone handreds, hart thousands of ringers who could not tell the course ends of a peal and compere it wilh a numhor in a register. J quite agree with Mr. Trollope in lis 'Notes by the Way " of Sopt. 18th. Tven now he says it takes a very keen ear to t,ake down from outside a peal of Stedman Triples the composiLion. of which the listener does not know. Mr. Trollope might frave ndeded, "and other mebheds as well."-Tours truly,

Dear sir, -Kindly allow me, through the medinm of your columas, to inform your readers that a movement is being made to erect a memorial in memory of the late William Eock Small, who recently passed away, at the advanced agg of 85 Jcars.
It las bean suggested that a slamed glass window or brass tablet should be placed in the Tipton Parisk Chumel, and no doubt, anny friends would like to suluscribe to this effort. Aecordingly in fund has been opened, and atl donations will bo thankfully reocived, and should be addressed to the undersigned, at 52 , Dark Lane Fast, Tlipton, Stafis.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN B. EVANS.

\section*{Ninety Years' belfry link broken DORKING VETERAN'S DEATH.}

The death occurred on Sept. 24th, 㫙 thta ago of 71 years, of Mr. Harry Bosall, of Dorking, Surrey. He had been a ringer at St. Martin's Clurch for 53 years, and, with his passing, the name ot Bosall disappears from Dorking belfry, after at continuous association with the tower for 90 years. Decensed's father aud uacle wero ringers before him, and both rang in two churches before the present imposing building was erected. Ml. Boxall was a man who thonght more of a well-struck 500 than many a fuulty peal,
On the aceasion of the funeral of the decensed, whieh toak plave at Dorking Cemetery ou Monday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, with the bells muffled, was rung in 47 mins., by William Messum 1, Alfred Dobinson 2, Joln Wyatt 3, Edward Hitl 4, George Cook 5, Arthur Dean E, John H. White (conductor) 7, Willam Lynot 8.

\section*{WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.}

A very pleasant mecting of the Yorktown district was held at Egham on Saturday, Sept. 12th. Visitors and members attended from Ghertsey, Bagshat, Blackwater, Finchampstead, Islcworth, Staines, Sunbury, Yorktown, Ola Windsor, and the iecal bant. The Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. C. Tranter), whe also enteriained the visitors to an excellent tea. Unfortuately he could not stay to the busincss meeting, owing to an important eagagement, and the best thanks of the members was given him for his warious kindnesses. In his fbsence, Mr. Nye was voted to the chair for the husiness meeting, at which it was resolved that an application be made to the railway company-Tor cheaper fares to members attending ringing meetings. The members then made their way to the belfry, where ringing, which lad been enjoyed during the afternoon, was again indulged in until \(8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\)

\section*{GUILDFORD DISTRICT.}

A meeting of the Guitdiord District was heift at Gobham on Saturday, Sept. 12th, when there was a good attendance. Ringers were present from Claudon. Godaiming, Holy Trinity and S. Nicolas, Guildford, Hasiemere, Hersham, Leatherhed, Shere and Worplesdon, as well as the members of the local company. The belts were available during the aiternoon, nad a short service was heitit in the church, conducted by the Vicar (ihe Rev. J. Du V. Bruaton), who also gave an address. Tes was served in the Churchroom, oyer 30 sitting down, presided over by the Vicar. A short business meeting followed, at which an apology was rearl fiom thi Ringtag Master (Mr. A, C. Hozclden), who was absent, through illness in lis family. The usual vate of thanks was passed to the Vicar for conducting the service, and for the use of the bells, alsa to Mr. W. James and the local company for making thic arrargements.
After some touches on handbells, the tower was gyain visited, and several touches of Surprise and Plain Minor methods were lung, under the conductorship of Mr. A. H. Pulling.

\section*{THE 'FRIENDLY' PEAL AT PUTNEY.}

\section*{To the Editar.}

Dear Sir,-With reference to the peal rung at Putney on the 10 th inei, it would appear from the way it was publiched, that all the Fingers were members of the Aucient Society of College Youths and the St. Mary's Socicty, Pufney. As a matler of faet, one of the band was not a wember of either society, and ouly four were members of the local society.
A similay diserepancy oceurred two years ago, when a peal was rumg in loonour' of Mr. 'T. Bolton's hirlhilay, and then, as in the present instance, it was understood previously, that it was to be a yonsociefy peal.
Mention might have heen made of the inability of Mr. Bolton's taking part in the geal, to the great disappointment of all concernect.
With all deforence to the lonal secretary. I think it is very important to puhlish peals as correctly as possible.-Yeurs truly.
H. LANGDON.

\section*{TAUNTON RINGERS' TRIP.}

St. Mary's Guild, Thuuton, togecher with a few friends, visitod Bournemouth for their anaual ouling on August I5th. The parly, numberiag nineteen, including the Rev. - Allen (curate), left Taunlon by charabanc at 7 a.m. The Grst halt was mado at Dorchester, where the party was met by Mr. J. Godwin (Rector's warden). Thed bells of the Parish Church were soon raised in peal, and tonches of Stedman and Graudsiro Triples were rung, and tho jourmoy was then resumed, Wareham being the next ston. Here tisey were nat by the stepplekeeper. The bells were found up, aud Stodnath and Grandsire Triples were rung. The next stepping place was Pone, where Mr. Townsend welcomed the visitors, and Grandsire and Stedman Thiples and Bob Mrjor were rung. On reaching Bouracnouth luncl was partaken of at the Tregouwell drms Privato Honcl The pariy broke up to spend the afternoun in various ways. They reassembled for toa at 4.45 p.mh, after which the homeward jonsmey was commenced, the route being via Blundford to Sherbome. Hew they were met by Mr. King, cuphain of the local ringers. The liseyy ring of eight (tenor 46 cwt .) wore anised in peal, and some Steduma and Grandsife Triples were rung. Tuunton was eventually reacheil at 10.45 p.m., the party linving thoroughly, enjoyed their trip. The ringers wish, through the 'Ringing Worlh,' to flamk the incum. bents for the use of hise bells; also the towerkecpers for lating everything in readiness.

\section*{LUTON RINGERS' EXCURSION}

On Saturday, August 15th, in ideal weather, Luton Parish Clumeh ringers had their unntul outing by motor. A slart was made at 9 anm. for Woburn, the party being welcomed by Mcssrs. C. and E. Herbert, and a good lour's ringing was indulged in on these delightful bells. The next place of call was Newport tagnell ; but, owing to sudden illness near tho tower, no ringing would be kone which was a great disappointracat, shared by both the visitors and the gurate (the Rev. L. S. Parkelson), who gave a hearty welcome on belade of the Vicar. After a look round the church and town, ithe party headed for Northampton, where lunch was served at the Angel Hotel. Afterwards it was proposed to visit Buckingham, hut the Vicar could not allow the use of the bells, owing to the recent death of the verger, and a new one had not yet been appointed, so at short notice a call was made at Wieken, whern the visitors wore met by Mr. Giren. Not truch ringing conld he done here, however, as the village was en fete, and a hospital demonstration was in progress in the park close to the chinrch. Tring was the next place of call, and wits reacled via Buekinthan and Ayleshury. After tea the tower was visited, where Mr. Breckley received the party, in the nbsence of Mr. F. Recve, who was nil holides. Farious methods werc rung on this grand peal of holls, and tracks were then mado homewards, Luton being reached at 10.5 p.m. The methods rung during the day were Lonton, 13ristind Cambridge and Superlative Surpriso and Kent Treble Bols Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, The visitors wish to thanik, (hranglh the medium of the 'Ringing Worlk,' the varous incumbints for the use of the bells, and Fricads for making lie outing a sucess.

\section*{ALDERURGK RINGERS' OUTING.}

The ringers of SS. Feler and Paul's Church, Addehargh, had most enjoyable ouling on Saturlay, Aygust 22nd. The trip this year was on rather a emalter seale than usual, although the ringing was of a high standard. Theree iowers were visited, viz.. Halesworlh, Chediston and Wisset. Two or three of the loeal ringers, incluiliug Mr. F. G. Lambert, met the company at Haleawortle, whero some good totches, ineluding Cambridge Surprise. Stedman ant Ciranlsite Triples were brought round. Chediston bells wore found to be \(\mathbb{1}\) yery landy six. and a good 720 of Cambridge Surprise was rung, their first 720 in the method. Other touches, including Jondion Sur prise, Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman and Grandsirc Doubles, were brouglit round. At Wisset a splendinl 720 of Norwicl Surprise scored, as well ns several oliher gaod touclses. Returning to Hatish wortb, a rery bearty meal was much enjoyed, after which the hells again pealeal forth. This fime Stednan Triples and Kent Troble Boh Major were the mellooks rung. Touches, incluting Bnlas Rayal, Grandsire Triples and Caters, were also rung on the old peal of handbelts. Several old ringing friends were mot during har aiternoon, nind a very pleasant fime spent. Although diralt all were happy nn arriving home ahout iI p.m. Thanks of The hand are due in the Rectors of the elhurehes wisited for permissinn to tse thic bells, also to Mr. F. C. Lamhert for so kindly mating the necessary arrangements.

\section*{WORK FOR THE ASSOCIATIONS.}

Are the great ringing associations, as a whole, doing all that they might do to help young ringers, and particularly young bands? In one or two instances valuable work is done by association instructors, and the voluntary efforts of individual ringers in assisting in towers in their own neighbourhood must not be overlooked; but in how many areas can we find any officially organised effort to give young companies a start up the campanological ladder, or to enable struggling bands to ascend to higher things? There are some associations who, in their rules, profess to provide instruction, but year after year one may peruse their balance sheets and find no reference whatever to expenditure under this head. The fact is the young ringer is left largely to his own devices. If he is fortunate enouglo to join a competent band he may yet all the help he needs, and his progress may be rapid. But there are large numbers who have no such advantage. Their ringing connection in their local tower is with men whose knowledge is as limited as their own; there is nothing to put an edge to their enthusiasm, and what small encouragement and holp they may get by attending a district meeting carries them very little on the road to greater things. Sometimes, perhaps, a fortuitous circumstance brings into their midst an accomplished ringer, who can impart his own knowledge and keenness, and then we get the sequel like that which is to be found at Kempston, Beds, where a band unacquainted with change ringing three years ago, can now ring a number of Minor methods, through the energy of one individual who proved himself a leader.

But what are the Associations doing towards this same end? At most, they occasionally provide an instructor who gives a dozen or twenty lessons, which may or may not get the band to the stage of Grandsire Doubles, before they are left to shift for themselves. At least, they do nothing, but rely upon the false idea that if ringers want to get on they will make their own opportunities. In the area of nearly all the territorial associations there is scope for the well organised tuition of bands, which should not cease, but only be beginning, when the pupils have grasped the merest elementary idea of change ringing. The instruction should go on until the band can grapple with the highest methods, and it would be found that the longer they were assisted the quicker, in proportion, would they progress. It should be the aim of the assoctations, who claim to put the fostering of change ringing into the forefront of their objects, to formulate schemes for extending practical help to the members who would profit by instruction. It would probably cost moncy, but it would be money well invested. Particularly would this be so if at the same tame endeavours were made to enlarge the size of ringing companies. At present, even in towers where there is no payment for services rendered, and there is consequently no incentive to limit the numbers, it is seldom one finds the band attached to the church very much greater than the number of bells. We can see no real objection to a company of, say, twenty ringers at an eight-bell tower, but there are many arguments in favour of a big reserve, while to the associations it would mean a vastly increased membership. There may be, and, indeed, are, difficulties in the way, for there are some towers which cannot muster up as many ringers as bells, and there are others which have their special drawbacks on account of inaccessibility; hut these matters are just the things which the associations, as central organisint bodies, ought to undertatie, and which they could tackle to their own ultimate advantage.

At Bucknall, Stake-an-Trent, on Sept. 24th, by the kind iavilation of Mr. W. Wheeldon, senre, leader of St. Mary's band, and Mrs. Wheclion, the ringers were entertained to supper, the occasion being an "At Home" to Mr. and MIrs. W. Wheeldon, jumr., also the birthday of the leuder of the band.
After supper, with Mr. Chas. Preston in the chair, iwo interesting events took place, The first was the preseutation of an eiglt-day clock to Mг. W. Whection, junr., on the occasion of his recent marriage; the presentation was made by Mr. W. Fradley. The second was a presentation to Mr. W. Whechion, sear., leader of the band, and this also consisted of a elock; the gift being landed to Mr. Whecldon by Miss Alice Preston. Both gifts were suitably acknowledged, ancl it rote of thanks to the host and bostess for their hospitality brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

The board recording the Coslany geal, reads as follows:-
In this stecple on tho sixth of December, 1731, Was Racg that most, Incomparable, as well as Intricate, peal of Stedman Triples, which that tong been ye Study of many well stilled in the Art of Ringing, bul without success, till Ecward Crane, one of the company, with much pans and application brought it to perfection with two Doubles. 'lhe peal contajus 5,040 'rripla Changes, two Doubles only excepted, and is aliowed by all Judges of the Art to be the most Ingentous Peal that till now has been composed. The Bobs were called by Edward Crane before mentioned, and was rusg and compleated in 3 hours 18 minutes by us whose names are underwritten: Richard Barmamm 1, Edward Crane 2, Jno. Harvey 3, Roht. Nockall 4, Wh. Pettingill 5, Thos. Grane 6, Rice Greenc 7, R. Grage tenor.
The iollowing letter from Etward Grane appeared in the "Gazette of December 24th, 1731

WHEREAS Mr. Melchior did advertise on the 111, instant by the consent of lis company, a Kiud of Banter upon St. Michael's Compary; but not one Word of Trath unless it was that honest Tom has ears as long as an Ass. Truth indeed, but that is such asses ass themselves; but that is not all. Whereas on Monday, the 6th of this instant December was rung at St. Michael's that ingenious Peal - lled Stedman's Triples, which contains 5,040 Ohnnges (being the first time 'that ever it was rung), notwithstanding some of St. Peter's Company did employ a Bell Man lo cry about the streets the following seandalous Verses, just before we began to ring, wiz. :-

This is to give Notice ta all Sorts of People
That the Ringers that practice at St. Michacl's Steeple,
Have craz'd their Brains, by setting forth false Preteaces,
That it is to be fcar dhey tuve quite last their senses.
Therefore, let 'em repair to JOHN TOSTER'S, and 'tis piain
There's those that can help them to their genses agaio.
And a little before the peal was ented, they had the impudence to swear we should not ring it out; and so did ling stones up the Church Leads and against The Doors, and did cause the Boys to the Streep lo cry Huzzas; hay one of them was so impertinent as to open the Window of the Clitrel to get in; but was preveated by the People that stood to hear ile Peal come out, and were sent home to their Shame with Bleody Noses; all this some lundrets of People saw that stood to hear the Peal; this is good Credit for St. Peter's Ringers. Mr. Melchior was ploased to say that the Peal we rang was not Stedman Triples. I will meet him before any gentieman who is a proper judge of the Arit, and belongs to neither company, and I will lay down my Peal at Length, and jne shall do the same and let is dispute it out which is the properest Peal, according to Stedman's own Rule or Five Bolls. Mr. Melchior rou ate pleasedi to say thai in Stedman every Rell has its Conrec alike; bit Stedman is mistaken, aud so ere you. These are the Names of the Men that rang the Peal on Nonday, the 6tll iastant, aforesaid, viz.: Richard Barnlaam treble, Edward Crane zad, Jolun Harvey 3rd, Rohert Nockod 4th, William Petliugall 5, Thomas Cratue 6ih, Rice Green 7ilr, Robert Cratue Lenor.

Melehior's reply was is follows:-
WHEREAS Mr. Edward Crave (not Sir Thomas) did in the public News on the 24th of December, 1731 , Charge St. Petert Ringers wilh many base find teandalous Achons, whid they are ashamed to hear of murh more to act; for I must tell you that St. Peter's Ringers Scorn ta act ar encourage any such thing; neither can you bring any one any one of those things you charge them withal; if you could fou Fould have set down the Name. Perlaps you thought that Fyery Body had long Ears and a foul Tongue that would swear to that they knew nofling of; buth you are mistaken as well as others of your company, who, pretenting io juslifie it, heard it all tenied to their faces hy iheir awn Neighthours. As for the Bell Man's being employed, you may lay that to whom you will: but the Intents of it (as I am informed) was to aumate your fearful Hearta at the dreadful appronch of pour altarations. For who could have thonght that the Sight of those dismal changes could hafe defeated such old Yeteran ringers, and put them out 11 Times together, as you have lately been at St. Micharel's; where you likewise say, you have rung 5,040 Stedman's Triples. But it was rang no ablerwise than with clamges alike; Witness your 4lh Bell dodging Belinti with the 3rit, 2nd and 7th Back Stroke, instmat of 2, 4. Tliese things are not to be found in your Peal as you prick't it, yet you all jnserten your Names that you rung it: much abin to your former asertions. Likewise you say Stedman and \(]\) are mistaken by saying every Bell lias a Course alje. As Foil accused ius in Publick, \(i\) is is reason you shouki dispute us in Publick; end in your next let me know your Opinion if these Figures in the Margin be the proper Form and Grounds of STEDMAN'S DOUBLES? And whether they, by being brought 5 limes over in an expremsible denomina-

Live Course do nol produce 60, every Bell a Course alikef And whether your whole peal bogins from every 12th 45312 Change througliont your 5,040 as mithe, and this 1"cal in 54321 the Margin sucessively do through the 180 ?

THOMAS MELCHIOR.
The controrarsy is now about the composition of the two peatis, and before we diseuss fuat, wa liad botter dave the two remnining letters. They are as follows :-

WHEREAS Mr. Melehior refuseth to mete me before any Man unat belongs to neither Company, and that is a judgo io the Arl of Ringing, but closires that 1 should disputo with him in Publick; as long as lee ean deny the Truth in the publiek Prints le will go ou with his base and Scandalous Actions; for he would make the World believe that ho is a very greai Man, and Exceeds all in that Art. But, Mr. Melchior, you call me to Account for spying STEDMAN is mistaken and so are you; but if I be right it is so. STEDM&N in page 129 says: That all the bells have a like Course: but if it be so, then tell me why there is Two Alterations in STEDMAN on FIVE BELJSP For the 2nd and 3rd Change 1Places, therefore, every Bell hath nol a course alike; if they had, every Bell would have changed as wel! as they. But STEDMAN in page 130 says: Whatsoever lwo Zeils be dodging Belaind, at the First Extream, the same Two Bells coming togetien again Behind is Centaine Warning for the Second Extream to be made; but I must tell you in my Peal of 5,040 when the Doubles are made the same Rellis dodge Rehind at the first and sceond Extrenmo or Alterations, as you are pleased to call them. But to the End the Publick may not be imposed on, 1 larre prick't the first Twelve Changes as STEDMAN did himself, and the rest by Quick Hunt; and I would lave the Would take Notice that the first Time Mr. Melobior makes his Two Doubles with the same Two Bells dodging as STEDMAN does on Five IBells, I will give him a Bowl of Punch of 10 s, to chear up his drooping Heart. For I design to answer no more of his base and Scandalons Advertisements, but rather adwise him to keep his Money: ang to give overy Man his Half-Crown again that he had for his Peal of STEDMAN TRLPLES with fourteen Doubles and 21 Alteraliams.

EDPTARD CRANE:'
(To understand Crane' s point you must remember that Stedman made his Single on the front bells in the middle of a Quick Six, and not on the lyack belts as luas been weual for mang years.)

MR. CRANE, I expected that such an ingenious and compleat. Ringer as you have sited yourgelf could have found an Answer to Two such ensic Questions as I pro-

32415
23451
43215. 34251 4352 45312 54321 53412 posed in my last; and not have shifted thern off with a frase Notion that I refuse to cispute you before any Man that belongs to neilher Company; these are scancialous Actions indeed in such a Man as you, who know nothing bul how to earp and cavil at another Man's Works, is at the Extream of Stedman; where pou sas What the 2nd and 3rd Change Places; therefore, every Ball hath not fourse alike. But you are mishaken and not Sledinar; for if the first 60 Changes be every Bell a like Course so linve the last 60; for they do not Change Courses but only Plaess; for the Courses are entire Whale throughout the Peal, heginning 21354 from cvery 12th clange, whelı 12 Clanges are the roal true Course and Grounds of the Whole Work. And Doleman, in page 46, 5ays: "In this Penl every Bell hath one ant ilin same Courso, there being no proper Hunt or Half Hunt therein.' Now if Stedman be mistaken (who was Master of a Colicge in the University and a learned Mathematician\}, with Doleman and others, why need I take amiss Mr. Crane's saying I am mistaken, too For lie is a Learned Man and knous Omnia Reme in his own Conceit. However, he may look into Stedman, page 90, and he may see why there are two Allerations on five belis.

And in pages 129 ancl 130, it is said: " Every Bell thas Comes Behind dodge 6 Changes with one Beli, and 6 wilh another, and then in Course the parting Change brings it town and cuts nompass; the nexu doth not, and so by Turns fuccessively," for which you nanot show throughout your 5,040: for ai your Quarter's Peals' Tan your Bells come thus. he in the margin, it being your Alterntian: where there aro 3 Parting Changes out of 7 . insted of 1 in 6 . Likewise, the Treble is turne? out of a quaick Course into a slow one, which should lave led a Whole Palt. Ry this may he seen. who ts willing to impose on the Publick; not I nor yon neither; for if Sir Thomas and anotlier Gendomnn had not kepi up all might, you hat never seen the peal with 14 Donbles, but trises persuaded me to sell it; nad if fhey had not bought it you hat never known tho proportionable Parts of it; for fou Cannof divide the Number of your Fingers by the Rule of Aritlimetick. Yon know you had your Bargain, but yan shamefuliy fanmar yourself to ery for your money again.

Hownver, I will lake your advice, and in a short, time will senf you word who shall be your jurge, and where I will dispute with you II private, as you desire.
'THOMAS MELCHIOR.'

Tlue reference to Sledman is interesting. The facts, of course, are all wrong, but notice lrow very near it comes to werbal acenracy. Statman was a Cambrikge man, but he belonged to the town, srad not to the University. We lave no grounds for calling him a " learned Mathematicisn \({ }^{4}\) but his book is there to show that lie was of the alnf that learned mathematicians are made of. And in 1682 he was elected Naster, but it was Master of the College Youths, and not of \(\pi\). College in the University.'

Daleman was a prominent Lonton ninger who lived during the latter priv of the seventeenth century and the enclier part of the eighteenth, n laler men Than Stedman and older than Annable. He was a member of the Socioty of London Scholars, and joint author of a book on ringing. cnlled "Campanalogia, or the Art of Ringing," by J. D. noml C. M.. which was publighed in 1702. One or two editions of this book were printed, and a fair number of copies are still in existence. It is really little morc than a revision of Sledman's Campanalogia. In bis notebook Annable gives several six-bell methods as the camposilion of Doleman.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION.}

A by-meeting for the Soutlo-Eastern Division was held at Rayleigh on Salurday, Oct. 3rd. The weathor being ideal, many members were present, and represented 13 towers, including the jocal company. The bells were kept going from 3 o'dock, and service was held, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Fryer). Tea was kindly prowided by the Reptor in the Parish Room, about 30 members sitting down.-The Rector welcomed the association to Rayleigh, and hoped they woulri accept him as a member. He said he was pleased to see so many towers represented, and loped there would always be as much enthusiasm in ringing as there was at the present day.
The Rector was elected an bon. member, and nine mernbers wero also elected from Rayleigh.
Fotes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the service, and for the ercellent tea he had plovided.

Touches werc afterwards rung on the hendbells, add other members agair visited the tower. when the methods rung included Cambrige Surprise.

The bells have been recently recast (with the exception of the fifth, wifich is a Pre-Reformation beft), by Messrs, Gillett and Jobnston. This was the first peal in the district to be put into theis hands, and everyone present was pleased with the tone and 'go' of the bells.

The bells of Carlisle Cathedral are to be dedicated by the Atelabishop of York on Novomber 12th. Theso belle have receatly been restored by Messrs. Mears and SLainbank, of London, afler a sitenee of 180 years. Tlais old peal of eight are not very musieal, but have been especially proserved is an historical connecting liok with the finmous Duke of Cumberiand, whose activities in the North of England led to the Otd - Loudon scholays \({ }^{4}\) adopting a new Litle.

A peal of Camhridge Surpries Major on the new bells at King's Norton, on Saturday, should have been called by Mr. Percy 0. Lalin, but on that diy, unhappily, ho had to attend his mother's funeral ai Bury Si. Edmunts, The sympathy of his many friends will be extended to him, and the other members of his Iamily, includiag Mo. Peter Lalin, now in Toronto, in thoir bereavement,

The band of ringers at Sandal, Yorks, are ald servants of the church. Bit. H. Robinson has beon a ringer there for 55 years; Mr. W. Rayner, 50 years; J. Brewin (who recently retired) 47 years; 3ir. 4. Kilbury, 40 years; Mr. W. Moxon, 30 yeara; Mr. W. Robinson, 20 years; Mr. EL. Spencer, 12 years. Suela a record will be hard to buat. In addition io his 50 yerrs' servico as a ringer, Mr. W. Rayner has also been a chorister for orer 50 years. He is a life member of the Yorkshire Association, nind vice-prosident of the Barnsley and Distriot Association.
- It is reported thet the bells of All Sainte, Poplaz, are to be restorel. They have been in need of attention for nany ycars.

At We barwest thanksgiving in Kirgton Magna Churels, the 150h Psalm was bung to the recompanimeni of the organ, tenor hom violins, violoncello and Inandells. The handbell part was very credilably played by four liftle boys-one aged eleven, the other threc nine years old. It may be of interest to add that the parson (who is secretary of the Salisbury Guild, played the organ, and the clerk the tenor horn, probably a rate combination.

Joha Povey, who was an active member of the College Youths a century and a lialf ago, called ' a compleat peal of 5,040 Bot Major ut St. George's, Southwark, on Del. IOth, 1799.
A band of parsons rang a peal for the first fime, when ten derienl ringers scored a peal of Stedman Caters at St. Mary's Warwick, on October 11th, 1910.
Holt's ten-part, one of the clatsides of composition, was rung for the first time on October 12th, 1754, at Shorediteh.
Un Oetoher 1中th, 1872 , a peal of Reversed Graudsire Triples was rung at Chist Chureh, West Bromwich. The bobs were suade whet the areble was in 2nt's place, wilt the bell in the hunt going up before the treble in every lead. This was the first complete penl with the bells in this position ' ever rung in this part of the country. Biddlestome, wioc composed and conducted the peal, will bo best re. memberad for lis twelve-part bob and single peal of Grandsire.
The bells at Far Headingley, Leeds, were aledicated on Sept. 171lı, 1872, and a fortnight later wotce ntilised for a ripging contest in which fourteen sets of rimgers compeled for prizes. Lasi week we mentioned a contesh at Glossop, which lasted from 9 anm, to midnight, but what must the public near Fin Hendingley Church have thought of the compelition at their parish church?

Pimging began about noonday, continuing throughout the niglat, aml lasting until the following afternoon! Esch pariy rang Violel, Oxford and Kent rreble Bob, and the contost lasted 30 hours in all. - The ecuduct of the ringers throughout is highly spoken of in all. mented the Editor of "Church Bells,' hut be that as it may, we should not be true to our principles if wo dit? not repeat ous disapprobation of such a use of the bells of the church. Prizes are not vecessary to matce proficients in the artu.

Messers. Taylar and Co, beve just completed the relanging of the six bells at Offenlam, Worcesterthire, and they were rexicdicated on Saturday by the Rev. J. A. F. Peile (Archdencon of Worcesier). Inio mediately afterwards a peal in seven Minor methods was rung. The land wore subsequendly kindly entertaited to toa by the Rev. G. H. B. and Mrs. Greening.

A visit to Wembley las been arranged by the Ladies' Guidd, lo take place on Saturday, Ocl. 24th. Lientlamen are invited, and doulttless a goodly party will be made up.
The peal of Kent Treble Lhob Royal at Trowbridge alung the Willbhire tour was the first peal of Royal in the county. as stated in llu; report. A peal of Bob Royal was rung in October, 1923. As a mater of necuracy, a correspondent informs us that Buraford (Holy Trimily) tenor is 30 cwt. 3 grs. 14 lbs . (not 32 cwt ) תud Chippetilani (St. An(lrew's) 20 nwt. in E firt (not 30 cwt. in B flat.).
A peal of 7,020 Stedman Calers, composed and condueled by Henry Jolinson, was rung at Asiton on Ochatuc 14th, 1850.

Lt will be necessary to record the wark 'up, so I will extract it from Chepsiow Castle, No. 28, page 27, of the Collmation. It closely resembles that of the previous group, so he careful not to confuse the two. The first item of note is, there is no gecond's place above ireble, and the bell which snapped, works as at a bob" lead of the Lily group. The \(2-3\) bell runs through both ways. Instead of dodging after 1 ying 6tln'e, the 3-4 bell returns to 3ral's; then, after maiking the place, runs up to doige before lying. The \(4-5\) beli works in conjunction with the 1-2, i.e., as at a bob lead of fly, and the -6 bell works opposite to 3, 4 .
The following detaile of the work 'up' must be recorded:Fss trefle \(1-2\) up. Rur out, lie and dodge. ]pass trehie \(2-3\) up. Rud out, lie, run in.
\(1^{3}\) arss treble \(3-4\) up. Run out, lie, make 3 ra's, dodge \(5-8\) and be. pass tretile 4-5 up. Dorge and lie, wun in (gnap treble). Dorge and lie, sun in (snap treble).
Lie and dodge, make Jrd's, run out, lie, run in (dodge treble \(3-4\) dewn).

\section*{BOB WORK}

This elowld present no differtity, as all the bells work as at, a bob lead of the Ely group, althongh in this ense it is those bells passing 1-2 anci 4- 5 which remain unaltered. To produce the extent, call tenor, 'In, Out, In," twice repeatexi (or \(1-2,4-5,1-2\) ). The omif ooming in the first lead of each part shonald cause no worry.

From the foregoing, it will be realised that each ringer must have his mind on the method being rung, ollerwiso the similarity of these two last groups will cause endloss canfusion.
lt is now only necessary for me to state that Quen Victoria, No. 36. page 29. is produced by Wilmblow work in; Skipton Catle, Na, 30, page 28, by Knutsford work in ; and Fotberingay Castle by Bogedone work in. This litter method doek not appear in the Collecion, and is accardingly prproduced herewith.

The four methods, Chepstow Castle, Queen Viotoria, scipion Gast.Je and Fotheringay Caslle, will splice lead tor lead, and the otd method, which splices only course for coutse, is Dover Castle. This is another nethod discovered after the present Collection was publisheti: therefore a lead of it is given ghove.

Whilst the work 'up' reraains the bame, do not confuse the work down with Ely. Thrce bells are oceupied with the 'slow.' 'linat Which snapped treble remaias in the whole of the lesd, and its work is in two parts: (a) Placemaking and double dodging on; (b) double dodging of and place-making. The heil which passed tretula 2-3 down, leada full, does a double dodge off, and goes to places 1 ? \(3-4\), whitist the \(3-4\) bell, makes places in \(3-4\), does a double soilge on the lead. Ieads full and paskes treble 2-3 up. Those passing 4-5 and 5-6, make 3rd's and up, as in Morning Star.

Make a record of the work, and get it mastered.
DOVER CASTLE.
Work ' up,' as in Chepsiow Castlo.
Fass treble 1-2 down. Lead, 2nd's, floubla dodgo on (lead), double dodge off, 2nd'r and lead.
Pass treble 2-3 down. Lead, double dotge off, 4 th's and 3 r'd's. Pass kelble 3-4 down. Jrd's ant 4 th's, double dotge on, Iead. Pass Ireble 4-5 and 5-6 down. 3rd's and out.

The "hoh' work, of conrse, remains tho same.
This is all.' The whole of the thirty-five methods liave been deall with, and the peal can be arng with a group of five raethods to eacia extent, To these of you who attempt it, \(I\), along with moy ' brother striugs, wish you every success. As with us, many met-backg will be tret: do not despair, but stick to your guna. If. for instance, llas attempt ai a fiffeen method peal fails, the next time you meet, tack on more methods, ae a sort of punishment for failing. You will he surprised af the result. And remember, whilst nothing succeeds likr succese, success often follows a failure.

In concluning this part of the 'Hints' to those who desire to lake un 'Spliced' pinging, let me state, thirty-fire is not the total number of meflods it is parsihle to ring in seven true extents, buti forty-two. There is an extra odd metind to esch grolip: and only three leade of it are rung, oge in each part. Not laving gone into this atrangement \(I\) am not in a position to describe it in detail, although I have rung one or two six method 720 's. If I remiemher rimftly. Mr. Lewis published some fgures berring on this subject, and I will therefore, leave this mater for olher hands.

\section*{BELL RESTORATION AT SHIPLAKE, OXON.}

The peal of eight bels at Shiplake, Oson, have recently been rehung and the two tenors recast, and the whole peal tuned. The rededication by the Yjear took place at morning prayer on Sunday, Oct. 4th, a toth of 97 Grandisire Triples being rung by the local ringers. The Vicar, some two Fears ago, undertook the responsibility of cotlecting the sum required, nearly \(£ 300\), so carry out the work, and it is gratifying to lim, who is learing the parish, to see his efforts rtwarded. From all sides have conve praise for the restored bells.
The oak bell cage is good, but the beams that supported them were in a dilapidated state. Iron girders now carry the weight, and the betls aze liung on ball bearings, the 'go' heing perfect.

The peal was out of tune, the 7th cracked in die crown, and, mafortunately, on exmmation at the foundry the tenor also waz fonnd to be cracked in the crown. It was a heauliful bell by Robert Patrick. To line local riagers there used to lo but one bell to be pronad of, the tenor, and while today their sentiment goes back to "the dear old tener, they are juslty proud of a well-balanced peal, worthy of the House of God. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank aie to be congratulated on their good work in the restoration of the bells.

\section*{MR. F. R. HACON'S SUDDEN DEATH.}

The passing away of Mr. F. R. Bacon, of Fitelin, with somewhat tragic sudpenness on Friday, Sepl. 25th, has cast a gloom of sadnesy amongst the ringers of the counly of Hertford. He jomed tho association in the carly days of its formantion, and in 1913 beame disLriet secretary for the Northern Dirision of the County. Be Eook greal interest in this duty, and the arragements for the quartarly sneelings were managed with a master land, every detail reveiving though and atcation. Fspecially tid he value the opportunity of enlisting the sympathy of the incumbent in permitting a slort servipe on hhese oceasions, and in most cases le was successful. It was at his suggestion these quarterly services were held, for he realised

It is the loouse of prayer wherein Thy servants meet,
And Thou, 0 Lord, art there
Thy chosen fock to greet.
Irl recognition of his services he was unanimously elected president at the Easter mecting of 1925, an honour which be greatly appreciated, not for Inimself alone, but the district he represented.
\(\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{t}}\) was issiduous in his tuties at St. Mary's Church. both as sidesman, and os a member of the Parachial Church Council, serving also as mernber of the Finance Committee on that body.
He had been associated wilh Hilebin for over thirty years, being ceshier and estimating clerk for a local firm of builders, who held him in the highest esteen. For about 22 years he had been a ringer at St. Mary's Cluurch, and was very capable in ringing the standard metheris. His recent ambition was the ringing of an officers' peal fluring lis prestdency
The funcral took phace al St. Mary's Church on Wednesdar, Sope. \(30 t h\), the service being conducted by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwiththrake, Rector of Wiggiuston (an ex-president), and the Rev. L. B. Ashby, Vicar, During the service, the goth Palm was recited. aud the hymu, Nearer, my God, to Thee,' was sung, the oromist phaying the 'Dead Mareli' at the cloge.
In addition to the family mourners, a great number of poople were present, ineluding the bell ringers of St. Mary"s Church. The treasurer and secretary of the county association, and other olleers, were mnable to be present, and at the sccretary's request were represented by Mr. E. W. Day, the secretary of the Hitelin band. A heautiful wrealt was sent, hearing the inscription: ' A token of esteem,' from the officers and members of the Hertford County Association of Charge Ringers.

A half-muffled peal was rung on the bells of St. Marg's Clurchi on Sunday evening, as a tribute of affection for a sincere colleaguc. The association, and the church he so fathfully served, have lost a man of high priaciple, and of lim it could be said. 'I have set the Lart always before me,' in all his chureh activities.
To Mrs. Bacon the ringers extend heartfelt sympathy in her deep arraw, and pray that God will comfort and console her in her trial.

Dear Sir-Whith reference to the account in your last issue, of the meeting of the Ladies' Guild, Midland District, at which the scerein1" resigaod, I sloould like to correet the impression given thercin, that I liave raised an objection to an hon. member being secrehary of distriet.
I lind always yeen given to understand that the Midland dishict seeretary was only carring on until a ringing member could be found who would do the work. Moreover, at the last annual meeting of the district, the secrebary expressed a wish to retire, and bas since Written me to this eflect.
Shortly before the annual mectigg af Reading, I received repores from the secretaries of districts on the work of the year, abd llat received from the Midland tistrict was to the cffect that the meetings Were not being supparted as they should be, I drew up my report entirely egreed with all my remarks, which were nat to ihe effect I liat I ohjected to an lyon. member being secretary, but that it was a pily there was not a ringing member suffiently onthusiastic to fake over the secretaryship fram whieh Mrs. Groves wished to retire.
Had I any objection to an honorary member being sectetary \(I\) slond lave brought the matter forward when the election took place in 1921. In riew of the repart in *The Ringing World, there is not the sliglitest doulbt that the case lans been misrepresented to the members, and they were not informed by the secretary that she liad seen the report before the meeting.
I much regret that it has been necessary for me to take up your valuable space in this way, but I fecl some explanation slould be made to correct the false impression conveyed in the report.- Yours

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. GREWE BRANCH VISIT TO 'CATHEDRAL OF SOUTH CHESHIRE.
The ancient and historic lown of Nantwieh was the venue of the Guldi last saturday, whon ovor 30 members altonded, duspite the unfavourable elements. Nantwieh, where the last anmal mueting of the Docesan Guidd was theld, is always a popular venuc, Cumpanologists, whenever they can, make a point of visiling the "Callwatral of South Cheshire," a name which the ald chorels has for so long onjoyed. It is said to be 14th centui'y work, futi, apart from any boll ringing attractions, an inspeetion of this decorated Gothit archilechure is well warth while. It is interesting to note that a pecultarity of the tower, which is octagonal, and rises from the centre of the church, is that it is square in the lower portion, and eighthsided above the roof level.

However, turning to the meetingr, all agreed that it most cnjoyndete day was spent. The afternoon 'session ' commenced with some excellen touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Tripley and Bob Major. Towers represented were Crewe, Nantwith, Clasch Laston, Sandhach, Acton, Proporley, Davenham, Iglatficla, wistaston and Forton-imHales, while Hr. E. W. Elwell, the general secretary of the Guild, came from Capenlurst

\section*{YOUNG RINGERS' INTEREST.}

It was pleasing to sec the good muster of youngsters, who took a keen interest in the ringing and all the procedings. Visiliag mentbers uxpressed theit seen satfifuction with the progross the youngel members are making at Nantwith, under the able tulorship oi Mr. W. Sution, who has been willingly fissisted by the enthusiastic fumbers from Crewe. Great sulisiaction was also expressod at the lone and "go" of the eiglt bells, which were voted ass one at the tinust puals is the comtz of Chester. Nantwich membere miglat well the proud of the ecmpiliments paid to their sweet-tonet bells.
Following the afternoon ringinge, the company adjourned to the Parish Hall, where a substantial ten was generously provided. Sutton, Mrs. Marmard, Mrs. Lardiford and Miss Libl Davies very kindly undertook the duties of waitresses, and right well did they carty out their work. The Rector (the Rev. C. M. Montgonery Bromley) was present, and occupied the chair fay the business racting which followed the anjo yable repash.
The popular branch secretary, M1. R. D, Langford (Orewe) gave a brief report on eurrent happenings. He remarked liat the hells at Norhury would he dedioaled on Navemher 2hat, which elashed witla the date of the monthly meeting nt Acton. it was suggested, He snid the date of the montluly meeting it Acton. It was suggested, the said, that the Acton meating should be held on November 14th, so that members would be able to attend the dedication at Norbury, the Acton members being quite agreeable to sucha a change.-In thas proposal the mecling concurrea.
A REPRESENTATTVE ON DIOCESAN ADYISORY COMMITTEE.
Mr. Elwell also addressed the meeting, and expressed his pleatsure at being present. He gave a brief account of the meeting of the Central Council at Chester some four months age. He mentioned that the question of cheap railway fares for ringers was receiving his at tiontion. Mr. Elwelf said the Master af the Guild (the Eev. C. A Clements, of Grappenhall) had been appointed by the Bishop of Chester to serve on the Diocosan Advisary Commitlee. Ho thought this was a step in the right direction, as it was most adrisntible that on suth bodies there should be representatives witl a practicel knowledge of bell ringing, in orkier to safegund gucli lhings as the mutila tion or destruction of old bells with great, listoric value.
Mr. R. T. Hakding (Crewo) echoed the sentiments explressed hr Mr. Elwell witl regard to ringers' representatives on the Diocesan AlNant commathen- people for ho exang moved a hearly tote of thanks to the ladieg for their valued assistance, and to the Rector for the use of the bells. He said it slowed low popular Nanlwich wrs when they had suth a good attendance. They certainly had in Nantwich it wery fine peal of bells. Norbury were very fortunate if they liad a better peal than Nantwich.
Mr. W. Holding secon dedi, and said Nantwifh possessent the finest peal of hells on which le hat ever rutge.
The motion was carcied with applasse, and the Rector, responaing *aid he was exlremely pleased to liear that their hells were such a fine peal. He referred to fle great amomb of fime and tronble the Nantwich manbers stevoted to the hells, and in keeping werything in orfler, and in conclusion expressed his pleasure at the wist the branch had made.

The Rector conducter service in rlutrin and afterwards another pisit tras pain to the tower, where the memhers indulged in fouches of Grandsire Triplos, Kent Trehle Roh Major, and Oxford Trehle Bab Major, concluding a most enjoyable day.

\section*{GENTRAL COUNCIL'S CARD OF INSTRUCTIONS TO BE CIRCULATED.}

The half-yearly meeting of the Northern Branch of the Liacoln Diocusan Guild was ledd at Stow, on Sattrelay, Sepl. 26ih, and proved to be a huge success. Amouyst the towerg represented were the following: Bigby, Branston, lincoln (Cathedral, St. I'eter-al-A rehes, and st. Peler-at-Gowis), Hexey, Willinglam, Gainsborougl, Welloo (including the Rev. A. Hunt), and the local company. The ringers at Surfleet, who were laving their annual outing, also honoured the branch with their presence. The bells were well utilised during the uffernoon and evening in various methods, ranging from Gramisire Doubles to Cambridge Surpise Minor, while rounds were also rang lor the beneft of the fesser advanced membars. On oud of these occasions the ropes were liandled by six lady members of the Guild. 'llese members of the fair sex were, however, not by any meaus all beginners, as one of them is much further advanced in the art of clange ringing than the witer of this report.
At the service, the Rev. J. Barber (Rector of Stow officiated, and Mr. F. F. Lisley (prosident of the Northern Branchit read the lessons. The pulpit was occupied by the Ror. H. Law James (Guild Ringing Waster), who preached a most appropriade and instructive sermon, Laking for his text, 1 Coriathians r. 31, *Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glary of God.
Subsequertly an oxcellent tea was provided and partaken of by 59 mumbers and friends. The business meeting followed. Owing to the Hev. H. Law James having to leave early, a bearly vote of inanks was accorded him for his excellent sermon.-In response, he exprossed a hope that what lie had said would be carried out by the members. Mr. F. F. Linley presided over the meeting, supported by the Rer. H. 7. Parry, Bigby (president of the Grimsby district), and members of the committee. Apologies for absence and besti, wishes for a good meeting were read from the Rev. G. S. Lyack, Caistor; Rev. T. Russell Warrilow. St. Andrew's, Grimsby; Rev, R. Jomd, St. Peter-atArehes, Lincolo; and the Rev. R. G. Fookes, Lea.
Bigby was selected as the place for the next half-yearly metiog, the arrangement of the date being left in the liantis of the Rev. H. T. Parry and the han. secretary

Mr. F. F. Linley proposed, and Mr. C. H. Baker seconded, that the sum of sl ls. bogeranted towards the relianging of the bolls of St. Peter's Church, Ǩavenhy, likewise, that the sum of 52 es . be granted towards the reluanging of the bells at St. Peter-at-Arches Church, lincoln.-On being put to the meeting, this was duly carried.
The next item on the ggenda was a resolution in connection with ringing tintters in the Sleaford district, whicli had been passed at a previous meeting of the Lincoln district, but, as Mr, W. H. LJoyd expressed a wish to withdraw it, stating he had been informed thet there was a possibility of ringing Being revived in that neighbourhood, the members acceded to lis request.
The Secrelary informed thoge present that he liad recently received a cops of the card issued by the Central Coursil respecling the care and u5e of church bells. It was ragreed that application be made, through the Guila secretary, for a suffeient number to enable a copy lo be seat to each tower in the branch cantaining fhree bells and upwards. Should it not be possible to obtain the nomber required, it was suggested to make the best use of those availatile.
and to wharty welcome was aceorded to tho wigitors from Surfleet, and to Mrs. F. F. Linley.
The President gave an preciated by the members.
Fotes of ihanks were passed to the Reclor for the use of the betls; the Slow members an friends for the excellent tea provided; and all athers who lad helped towards making the meeting such a success.These were daly responded to by the Rev. J. Burber,
After the elose of tlie meeting. further ringing took place undil alonat \(7.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\)., and brought to an end 'another perfecl day.

\section*{THE BROADCAST OF BIRMINGHAM BELES} REV. MAJ'LLAND KELLY URGES EXTENSION OF WIRELESS + RINGING.
Tho bells of St, Philip's, Birmingham, whea broadeast on Fuaday weck, wera beard in many parts of the country. Writing io the Fon. Secrefary of St. Martin's Guild (Mr. A. Paddon Smith), the Rev. Maitland Kelly, the veteran ex-Presidenti of the Devon Guild, said: 'In this tiny parish, so many miles distant from Birminghem, we lad indeed a treat last night, as we listened with pleasure to your ringing. We could Jear it quite distinctiy, and the only regret was that it was too short. 1 wish with you that the Broadcasting Company would try and develop this part of their splendid work. \({ }^{4}\) have written them a letter this morning suggesting that they should do so, and thus bring the country folk into touch with some of the famous pests in London and elsewhere, by giving them an exhibition of really good change rimging. I can understand that it will not be ansy (1) fo find men to undertake the ringing; (2) to obtain consent of the church anthorities; (3) to select a time suitable to the public to Iisten. The latter point seems to me the most difficult, but on the whole Sunday seems the best day; time either 6 p .an. to 6.30 or 7.45 . It most conntry parishes evening service is at 6.30 p.m. or 7 p.m. If the company began with the London towers and got in touch with the difierent ringing socielies, they would surely be able to get a really good band lo give illustrations.

May we nol also liope that one day we may liave parts of peals bradeast? We cannot expect to be in touch will a whole peal, but arrangements might be made for a latiflour of it. If a breakdown occurred the band wodd be willing to ring a touch during the specified time.'

\section*{AN ENTHUSIASTIC BAND.}

Few bands of ringers have advanced more quickly in campanology Ihan that at Kempsion, Beds. Until about three years ago they knew nothing of the art of method ringing. Then Mr. P. Inskip joined the batad, and introduced scientife clange ringing into the belfry, and, with the assistance of Mr. C. W. Clarke, the company has made good progress. Tine following touches lave been rung recently, viz. : Sunday, Sept. 27th, for morning Eervice, 720 Cambridge Surprise: A. Waller 1, A. Jolin 2, G. Hutchings 3, C. WF. Clarke 4, L. \section*{NO "MEN'S" CLATTER.}

Dear Sir,-In you isalue of July 24th, you publish a letter an the subject of "Nomenclature' by Mr. Fernly, which I think is the soundest piece of common sense lhat has been pesned on this very fatnous subject. The Council and its committee have no right in equity to change any name, once hestowed, and their hepless faunderings in the slough of "cuplony,' 'redundanty,' otc., only make one amile at their wanf af logic. A name is, when spoken, werely a collection of articulated sounds: and when written a collection of hieroglyphies, \(w h i c h\) distinguish one article from anotler. The test of etupliony is useless, for the verf simple reason that what sounds euphonious to one aar would only grate on the ear of another. Beauty always is in the eye (or ear) of the beholder, and, when Press ridicule is called into question, well, any collection of letters can be ridiculed, or otherwise al mill.
But the lhing which seethe to have escaped the hon. committee's wotice is the fact that they are creating a precedent. If it is in order for this Council to change the existing names to suit the tastes of this committee, then it is possible for a futare generation to appoint another eommittee to do likewise, so what tenure is any name going to Itave? Ridicule ' Bluebel]' and 'Tulip' if you like; they certainly remind one of horichiture, bul they are, as A Flat pointed out, some of out Creator's figest work. I warrant the committee wan't do any better work. The whole thing reminds me of the lady who had a small con, whom she called John when a good boy, and Tack when nathgy: Gut 'Lwas the same boy. If ' names for nothars' is more important than the history of the Exercise and a ratard of composi-tions.-Hen I think it is tme we slat up shop on Whitsun Tuestiay. Should the rommitite succeeri in their nofarious designs on onr right to bestow what name we like on 'our own as first to ring it,' Thave no doubt they would have the smug complacency to accept a vote of thanks for their arduous "Iabours'!-Fours sincerely, Manchuria.

TOWFRS JOIN FORCES.
On Saturday, Sept. 5th, a party of ringers from Ckeadle, Kingsley and Norton, joined forces, and paid a visit to Edgmond in Shropshire. 'Go' was callerl al Cheadle at 12.15 p.m., the Kingsley and Norton friends being pioked up on the way. Forton was reached about 2.15, and here a well-struck 720 of Oxford Treble Bob whs brouglt round. This was followed by 720 Cambridge Surprise, in which \(\mathbf{F}\). Edwards rang the treble, this being his first of Trehle nob. The Her. E. S. Lewis eame to the bolfry and gave the visitors a hearty welcome, aftor which a move was made for Eigmond, which was reached at' 5 o'clock. Here the ringers sat down to a bountiful tea, provided by Mrs. T. Mansell, sister of Mr. Carnwell, of Kingsley. Afterwards, at the cluych, tomeach of Duke of York and Kent Treble Bob were brought round. The Fiear (the Rev. Provost Talhot) being away, the curate welcomed the ringers. The bells were then lowered in peal, and the retum jowney commenced, Cheadle being remelhed ati 11.15 p.m. The ringers taking part were J. E. Whecldon, J. Walley, S. Ryles, H. and W. Carawell, J. and H. Beresford, A., E. anel F. Edwards, and A. W. Hall.

\section*{CARDIFF RINGERS' LONG TOUR.}

On Saturday, August 29th, the ringers of St. Jolm's Church, Cardiff, held their annual outing for which ringing lad been arranged at the Abbey Clurch, Tewkesbury, St. Mary's, Cheltemham, and Painswick. At 7.15 a.m. the party, accompanied by ringing friende from Llandaff, Whitchurch and Pentre, and Mr. Johm Clatterbuck, one of the original members of the association, and the wives and lady friends of several of the members, to the number of 25 , set out by clurabanc for Newport, where they were joined by Mr. J. W. Jones. Proceeding then via Caerleon, Uisk, Raglan and Monmouth, a falt was called at Ross for light refreslimente, and the party then proceeded wia Gloucester to Tewkebbury, which was reached shortly after mid-day. Lunch was the first consideration, and all did full justice to a splendid spread at the Italian Restaurant, which adjoins the Abbey grounds. The ringers, under the guilance of Mr. Strith, next fond their way to the belfry, and the bells were seon going to Grandsire Calers, a couple of touches being brought round. A short inspection of tho famous old Abbey followed, and the pariy then mofed on to Chelienham, where Mr. Pates met them. The twelve bells were soon swinging, several of the party hawing their first pull on twelve bells in rounds. Afterwards, touches of Grandsire anti Stedman Caters were brought round, with Mr. Pates taking a rope in the Stedman. Next, the visitors made for Painswick, where Mr albert Wright was awaiting them. The bells wero soon going to Grandsire Caters, and afterwards, with Mr. Wright and one of his band standing in, two courses of Cinques (conducted by Mrr, Wright) were brought romb. This was the first touch of Cinques for several of tho party. Gloucester was the next objective, nud after tea and a brief look round the city, the last stage of the journey home was commenced. To the strains of 'For he's a jolly good fellow, J. w was left at Newport, and Cardiff was reached at 12.15 a.mn. This ended a splendid day's outing, in which fne weather, grand scenery, and beautiful bells each contributed to the enjoyment of all mensers of the party, who take this opportunity to express fheir best thanks to Mr, Smith. of Temkesbury; Mr. Pates, of Cheltenham; and Mr. Wright, of Painswick, for their hearty welcome, and the arrangewents made for ringing.

\section*{Walsall ringers vistt interesting chorches.}

On Saturday, August zand, the nivgers of St. Matthew's Clureh Waisall, with thair wives and friende, bringing tho number up to 20, had an enjoyable outing. Slarting ahout 2 ongloek in a luxuriant motor coach, a 20 miles' run brought in siglit ' The Ladies of the Tale, as a celebratod novelist has desmrined the spires of Lielafield Cathedral. Passing by the Close. Etho villiges of Kinges Bromley amid Yosalt, each wilh its church and ring of six bolls wera amon passed, the first stop being at Hoar Cross. Athoughl the berls were in the hands of the bell hangers, and no ringing was possible the party were all bent on seeing this wondertul churent. Buill by the her husband, Mcynell-Ingram, of the adjoining Liall, in memory her husband, the huilding is of a cruciforna design, with a fine central tower. The writer cannot attempt to deseribo the wealth of next stop was Hanbury paintiugs which this church contains. The hurgh was buried in 699 A.D., was here that the body of St. Wer874) to save it from the Danns, the taken aflerwards to Chester (in 874) to save it from the Danes, and also to do more honour to lier memory. The church, like Chester Cathedral, is dedicated to St Werburgh. It is sitrated on a hill, anal is wrill worth a visit. There is a mast beautiful font, and somo very old monumonts, and the cime from the top of the lower woll repaid those who made the climb, Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Both Major were rung Fere. Some of the bells are very False struck, and were rather a trial to sonte of the younger members of the band were Thather a thial to previously named chureh are rather inaccessible, it was found that eext call was Burton-on-Trent isia, liad heen to both of them. The next call was Burton-on-Trent, where a splendid tra was awaiting the party at Bailcy's Cafe. The next move was to the well appainted ringiag elamber of St. Paul's, where Mr. J. Swinfield and ringers from Tamworth and Ashby-lc-la-Zoueh were wailing for the Walsall men, and the splendid peal of ten were soon get going to Stedman Caters, Kent Treble Bob Royal and Doublo Norwict Majar. The visitors were loath to leave suab am easy-going ring anil the lasl touch was a well-struck one of Stedman Caters, cou ructed by M. Swinfied. Home was reached at 10.30, after a most fielightful time. The band wish to thank the Vicarg of Handure and St. Paul's, Burton, for the use of the bells, and Mr. Desvillio of Haubury, and Mr. J. Swinfield, of Burton, for having everything in readiness, and so kindly meeting them.

\section*{THAT UNLUCKY 13.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir,-Il's strange, passing strange, (hat I (that's Irenwers) shoulc be the one destined to wrest supposed laurels from the brow of Ediwarif F. Gotioy, aged 13. Reaily it gocs againgt the grain, allat don't at atl fancy the job of depriving. 'Young Fulstafl' of the honour of being the youngest ringer to sing a peal on tower hells for the M.O.A. Bui, sir, Honestum Versstar in Tribuendo Suum Cuique,' which, translated into the 'Ilsoniun' dialect, reads as follows: ' Honesty consists in giving eacl his own.' Kow sir, that's done at, and knowing what little I do know, I ama duty bound to give honour where honour is due! If the person who sent in that report had put in a foofnote stating that Young fal staft' was believen to have the largest corporation for a youngster of that unlucky age Tortius Decimus in tho M.C.A., and was a budding and a most formidable rival of \(\mathbf{H}\). C . of 'Womanclitestur,' might have ' believed ' it
Now, Iot's see what the daughter of William 'The Conqueror' rlil on Saturday, Oetober 12tL, I912, at Quorndon. Miss Hitda will. son rang lier first peal (Grandsire Triples) in 3 hours, and she wes aged 13 , and was presumed to be the youmgent 'Girl' winger-mark yon, die feminine qualification is here-on record to accomplisln a peal upon clurch bells. This peal was rung for the M.C.A. Eard lines, Falsinft! Keep 'following in your father's footstens,' but for goodness' sake, lad, be careful, and cautious! When you approach Thacker Barn Poon, you'll lose all trace of 'em there. I con gratulato the youngest Ilsonian who has rang e pea!! These dippant conments are written in kindly lumour, ant are nol malicions! But compare the dates 1912 and 1925. There again you'll find that un lucky and dominating factor, to wit, 13. Personally, r'm nol super stilious, but it's there nevertheless, 13 !

\section*{'SPLICED RINGING.'}

With the article which appears in this issue, Mr. J. P. Fidler concludes the series of hints on the 'splicing' and ringing of Minor methods. Those who have studied them will, we think, agree that Mr. Fidler has handled the subject with great lucidity, and has shown the best and simplest manner of learning and retaining a great number of methods. Before he began there nust have been many who felt that to memorise thirty-five methods, such as were rung in the Norbury peal, was a task which only super-ringers could tackle. Mr. Fidler has explained the plan adopted by himself and his Norbury colleagues in such a way that no band capable of ringing a Treble Bob nethod should now eschow 'spliced ' ringing merely because of its complexity. Compared with the ordinary seven-method peal a ' spliced ' peal will still be a difficult proposition, but the practical hints by a writer experienced in this phase of ringing have done much to indicate the surest path through the intricacies of the task, and must have disposed of much of the 'fearsomeness of the undertaking.
The manner in which Mr. Fider has simplified the work for the uninitiated should induce a large number of sixbell ringers to turn their attention to spliced ringing, which, at the moment, at any rate, is the highest form in which six-bell extents can be accomplished. It does not follow, of course, that all will be able, or even desire, to go on to the limit of thirty-five methods reached by the Norbury band, but even if only for a service touch, a 720 in five methods will sureiy be more interesting to the ringers than an extent in one method only. The whole idea of splicing gives so much greater scope to a ringer's ability and variety to his practice that no six-bell band should be satisfed until they are able to ring Minor in this way, albeit, as we have said, they have no ambition or opportunity to go to the length of thirty-five methods.
When the Central Council publish their new book of Major methods it may be that there will be among then?, as there has proved to be in the Minor Collection, methods which can be spliced, if not in leads, perhaps in courses, and it is a suggestion wortly considering that the methods (if any) which will so splice should be brought together in groups, and an indication given as to the extent to which they can be so dealt with. There is not, of course, the same demand for splicing on eight bells as upor six, but there is no reason why that form of ringing should not be encouraged as adding interest and a certain amount of difficulty to the ringing. Eight-bell singers (to say nothing of those who operate on ten and twelve) are a most conservative lot of 'practicioners,' as the old (Continued on page 65s.)
