May I, please, make a nation-wide appeal through your columns to all ringers who have rung here, especially those who have rung peals, and those who have ambitions to do so in the future, to help the parish raise the money required?

When the work is completed we shall have one of the finest rings in East Anglia and visiting ringers will always be welcome.
We need donations immediately in order that the work on the bells may be commenced now, and I shall be grateful for any amount that can be afforded.

Cheques, etc., may be sent to the treasurer, Stonham Aspal Bells Fund, The Red House, Stonham Aspal, Stowmarket, Suffolk, or to me at The Rectory, Stonham Aspal.-Yours faithfully (Rev.) T. W. H. K. GREENWAY, Rector and Chairman, Stonham Aspal Bells Fund.

THE SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Meeting Decide to Abandon Dinner

THE sixth annual general meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild was held at Newark on April 19th. The bells of St . Mary Magdalene's. Newark, and All Saints', Winthorpe, were open for ringing during the afternoon and evening and were well patronised.
A service was held in the beautiful choir of
St. Mary Magdalene's, conducted by Canon R.
St. Mary Magdalene's, conducted by Canon R.
F. Wilkinson (chairman of the Guild) assisted by the Rev. G. H. L. Bowman.
Canon Wilkinson took the chair at the business meeting following tea and was supported by Mr. J. W. Raithby (hon. secretary) and Mr. Walter Nicholls (hon. treasurer).
A minute's silence was observed for three dcceased members, namely, Mr. H. Pailing. Mr. T. Groombridge and Mr. H. Rogers.

In his report, the hon. secretary stated that 1951 had been a comparatively satisfactory year despite the bugbear of lapsing members Peals rung compared favourably with previous years and the Festival of Britain had provided a welcome impetus to the restoration programme in the Diocese.
The bells of St. Giles', Balderton, had been rehung, retuned and put back in a new frame for eight, whilst a new ringing chamber had been constructed. Other schemes in hand would be completed during the coming year
For the third consecutive year the Warsop Company had won the Crawford Cup competition, once again illustrating the value of team spirit and good leadership.

The fifth annual dinner of the Guild had proved a pleasant social function, but a loss of $\mathrm{£1}$ was incurred by the organisers. As the dinner rotated round the districts the chief support must of necessity come from the district in which the dinner was held. Nevertheless, he urged members generally to attend whenever possible and make the event worth while
The year had been marred by the death of Mr. Harold Pailing in tragic circumstances. Vice-president of the Guild and chairman of the Nottingham District. Mr. Pailing was a staunch supporter and an able administrator who was not afraid to put his back to the wheel. His passing cast a gloom over the Guild and throughout the Exercise as a whole. Sincere sympathy was extended to Mrs. Pailing and her two sons.
Another link with the Guild had been severed by the death of Mr. Thomas Groombridge after a long and useful life. He was a magnificent ringer who came amongst them in the evening of his life and showed them something of his past skill by ringing his 800 th peal on his 80 th birthday at St. Peter's. Nottingham. One time Master of the College Youths, Mr. Groombridge was, indeed. a giant among ringers. He was an honorary member of the Guild for some years.
The secretary concluded his report by commending the two deceased members' example of loyalty and service to the Church.

CONCERN OVER FINANCES

The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts and balance sheet did not make good reading. After putting aside $£ 2$ as a rescrve towards the expenses of the Guild's Central Council delegates. the deficit on the year's working amounted to $£ 13 \mathrm{6s}$. This was reduced to a net deficit of $£ 10 \mathrm{16s}$. by the sale of badges of which there were 193 in stock. The working capital amounted to $£ 870 \mathrm{~s} .8 \mathrm{~d}$. against a figure of $£ 97 \mathrm{lbs}$. 8d. for the previous year, a state of affairs that had given great concern to the committee.
The chief reason for the continued deficit was the high cost of printing the annual report. The committee had been fortunate this year in obtaining an estimate for printing 350 copies of a 24 -page report for $£ 241 \mathrm{~s}$.. a saving on last year of $£ 152 \mathrm{~s}$. 7 d ., and this should result in a small surplus being shown for the ensuing year.

A grant of $£ 5$ had been made to St. Giles', Balderton. leaving a balance in the Bell Repair Fund of $£ 41$ 11s. 3 d .
The peal secretary (Mr. Clement Glenn) in his report stated that 60 peals had been rung during 1951, which, whilst not reaching the record number of the previous year, were well up to average in quality. Two peals calling for special mention were the Minor in 23 methods and the Spliced Plain and Little Bob Major Nine members had scored their first peal but there was only one first as conductor. He would like to see more members eager to take un that fascinating study. The 200th anniversary of the first performance of Holt's Original was commemorated by two peals-one each on tower bells and handbells.
Mr . Glenn requested conductors to forward figures of peals new to the Guild to him for proving and recording in the register of compositions being compiled by him. Triples peals to be found in the textbooks and well-known extents of Minor and Doubles need not be sent.
Mr. F. W. Midwinter was elected vice-chairman of the Guild and Mr. Brian Buswell was appointed an auditor in the place of Mr. J. D Niblett who had left the district. All the other officers were unanimously re-elected
When the arrangements for the next annual dinner came up for discussion strong opposition to the function being continued were voiced. It was argued that the Diocese did not lend itself to functions of that nature as the three Districts were to all intents and purposes separate entities. Three of the dinners that had been held had resulted in losses, one of which was substantial. Some members felt that the last Saturday in January was the wrong time of the year. Others maintained that the price of tickets coupled with the expense of travelling was too high for the average member, and an irrefutable argument was that the dinner had not been sufficiently well-supported in the past. After hearing arguments in favour of continuing the dinner, a motion was put to the meeting resulting in a substantial majority for those in favour of abandoning it.
A recommendation that the collection for the Bell Repair Fund be handed to 'The Ringing World' found little favour, besides being impliedly negatived by the Rules, and it was resolved that the motion lie on the table.
A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised £1 3s. 6 d
Ringing continued until 8.30. So ended another enjoyable meeting. J. W. R.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION Chew Deanery Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Barrow Gurney on April 19th. The church, which was rebuilt in 1895 , stands about $1 \frac{1}{2}$ miles from the village and possesses an octave of bells cast by J. Warner and Son, with a $14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ tenor.
Ringing preceded the Association Service which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rey. B. Warren Coleman) who gave a short address.

Tea then followed at Flax Bourton after which the business meeting was held. One non-resident life member from Bristol, a performing member from Yatton and one from Nailsea and two probationary members from Nailsea were elected. Subject to permission. it was decided to hold the July quarterly meeting at Wrington (on the first Saturday instead of the usual third) and that the monthly practice meetines for Mav and June should be held at Nemonett Thrubwell and Publow respectively The Vicar welcomed the visitors, and Mr. H. W. Knight, chairman and Ringing Master, in replv said that he helieved that it was the first time that a quarterly meeting had been held at Barrow

CUMBERLAND AND NORTH

 WESTMORLAND ASSOCIATION
Recruiting Drive During Coming Year

Various suggestions were made at the annual meeting of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association held at Keswick on Easter Monday for attracting more ringers.
Mr. S. Richardson. Hensingham, the ringing secretary, considered that the Association had done fairly well as far as young ringers were concerned and thought that if they secured a set of handbells and taught handbell ringing it would help to keep them interested.
The members adopted a suggestion by Mr. S. Grisedale, Keswick, that their aim for this vear should be to see how many young recruits each place could get and report at the next annual meeting.
The secretary, Mr. J. W. Brownrigg, reported that the Association had 40 members. Reference was made to the death of Mr. W. Norman, Egremont. and the enforced retirement through ill-health of Mr. Fred Grisedale, Keswick, after over 60 years as a bellringer at Crosthwaite. The credit balance had been reduced from £28 to $£ 18$, but nearly $£ 7$ of badges were in hand.
The ringing secretary. Mr. S. Richardson. Hensingham. reported that Sunday service ringing was taking place in 14 towers in their area and there was increased activity at another. Ringing had commenced again at Workington and he thought there would be ringing at Cockermouth but for the fact that their bells were not as good as they might be.
Officials elected were:-The Rev. I. M. German. Egremont. president; Mr. Brownrigg. secretary: Mr. S. Grisedale, treasurer; Mr. S. Richardson. ringing secretary ; Messrs. J. Butterfield and J. Ling (Carlisle), W. Douplas, A. Eilbeck and J. Tembey (Egremont), F. Richardson (Arlecdon), T. D. Young (Cockermouth). the Rev. C. E. Last (St. Bees) committee members together with the two branch secretaries, Mr. A. Forsyth (Carlisle) and Mr. J. Haile (St. Bees).

The above are members of the Metropolitan Police Force and it is believed to be the first peal ever rung by a band of policemen.
[Two very interesting performances. The policemen would at the present time find it easier than the clergymen to repeat them.]

GREAT TOM AND LITTLE TOM

0XFORD'S fame as the City of Bells is known the world over, but probably never before has such a comprehensive account of the city's bells and their history been written as that contained in Volume III. of the 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire,' by Frederick Sharpe. Although much has been written in the past on Oxford bells, particularly those of Christ Church, no one has yet related a full and complete history of the bells from the viewpoint of both the antiquary and the campanologist.

The ring at Christ Church had its origin in the Abbey of Oseney, which was situated some 350 yards south-west of the present Church of St. Thomas, Oxford. In 1129 the Abbey had a ring of three bells in addition to a sanctus bell and a litany bell. In the year 1539 Oseney Abbey surrendered to King Henry and three years later the Diocese of Oxford was founded with the Abbey Church as its Cathedral. This, in turn, surrendered in 1545 and the See was refounded as Christ Church at St. Frideswide's in the following year. Eight bells, including Great Tom and the Litany bell, were removed that year from Oseney Abbey to Christ Church.

The first alteration to Oseney bells was made in 1589 when the tenor, or Little Tom, was recast. Payment for this work was made to one Nicholas Reeve, about whom little is known. Reeve was not the owner of any of the principal bell foundries of his day; he may have been a descendant of Roger Reve, who was founding at Bury St. Edmunds 1527-1533, or a relative of Giles Reve, who was founding in Kent 1584-1592; or, what is far more probable, suggests Mr. Sharpe, he may have been a relative of Thomas and Michael Reve, who cast bells for Worksop, Notts, in 1567, as Christ Church tenor has characteristics peculiar to the Nottingham founders. There is also a possibility that the presence of his name in the disbursement book may indicate that he was an agent receiving payment on behalf of some other person.

The Christ Church tenor has always puzzled campanologists. It is a fine-toned bell, with a bold, rich clear strikenote now mellow with age. Undoubtedly it is the product of highly skilled craftsmen; but neither the plant used in the construction of its moulds nor the moulding stamps used to form its decoration and inscription belong to the stock in trade of any known founder. It may at first seem strange that the largest bell in the largest and most famous ring in the county should be of anonymous origin, but it should be remembered that the art of bellfounding declined considerably during the second half of the 16 th century, and that the casting of such a bell would be a formidable task for a local man : the most natural thing for him to do would be to call in the assistance of some of his contemporaries. In these circumstances they would not use their own individual founders' marks and moulding stamps. It is noticeable that the bell has none of the characteristics of the work of the Reading or London founders. Its lettering and mouldings resemble those on bells cast by Bartholomew Atton, of Buckingham, the type of decoration favours that used by the Leicester founders, and the inscription, 'Trinitate sacra fiat haec campana beata,' is peculiar to the Nottingham foundry at this period.

Famed the world over in song and verse is Great Tom of Christ Church, now used as a clock bell and tolled 101 strokes every evening at five minutes past nine. It is a descendant of one of the bells of Oseney Abbey. When rung from the ground floor of the Cathedral it needed the combined strength of 16 men to swing it. This bell seems to have been a source of profit to bell founders, for it was recast at least six times in the 17th century. The article of the agreement for recasting this bell by Michael Darby, of Whitechapel, in 1654 is still preserved in the Christ Church Treasury. The inscription on the bell read: 'Michael Darbye did run me Great Tom of Oxford for to be and here I hang until I crack for I am metal to the back.'

But Darby's bell had a short life. There were the three attempts to recast Great Tom by Richard Keene, of Woodstock, in 1678, and finally in the following year Christopher Hodson, of London, agreed to cast a bell 7 ft . in diameter for the sum of $£ 180$, although his fees were increased to $£ 190$. And this 7 ton $7 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt. bell is still in being, although repairs were carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank as recently as 1946 .

Living in Oxford when Hodson cast his bell was Richard Duckworth, who was Rector of St. Martin's, Carfax, and the author of the first book on change ringing. He is likely to have been the composer of Oxford Bob, Double Oxford and Oxford Treble Bob, the last-named method dating from the year 1677 .

The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild decided at their annual meeting at Clerkenwell to inaugurate a Bell Restoration Fund.

To help the Hertfordshire Association in their difficult financial position the Northern District at its meeting at King's Walden on April 26th decided to take a sixpenny fee from all ringers at each meeting to help the gencral funds of the Association.

Radley, Berks, bells are to be rehung.
Stalybridge is to have a local ringer as its next Mayor in the person of Mr. Percy Walton.

Breedon-on-the-Hill is the 129th tower in Leicestershire where Mr. Ernest Morris has rung a peal.

The series of articles that appeared in "The Ringing World,' 1933-34, on 'English Towers and their Bells.' by Mr. Ernest Morris, may shortly be published in book form.

Because the Parochial Church Council of Abbot's Ann, near Andover, have given the organist notice. the ringers in this five-bell tower have resign:d.

Very good instructional work is being done at Shirley Church, Birmingham, by Mr. Vincent A. Hemming, who during the past six months has taught ten young ladies much about the Exercise.

Mr. A. Nutt, of Greenfield, near Oldham. informs us that it was his silver and not golden wedding that was recently celebrated. We regret we were misinformed and extend to them our good wishes for another 25 years of happy married life.

Trowbridge ringers and friends had the unusual privilege of ringing a peal for the wedding of Miss B. Cleveland on Apri] 26th and a quarter peal on April 29th for the golden wedding of Mr. S. Francis. Both Miss Cleveland and Mr. Francis are regular ringers at Trowbridge Parish Church.

GOSSIP

Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, secretary of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild, in extending his congratulations to the Hereford band who rang five peals in a day, writes that the village of Llanfihangel Rhydithon is in the Diocese of Swansea and Brecon. 'I was really under the impression that a gentleman's agreement existed between Diocesan Guilds, that peals should be rung for the Diocese to which the church belongs. However, I seem to be wrong.'

The footnote to the peal of Single Oxford rung at Burton-on-Stather on April 17 th should have been 'First in the method in the county,' and not 'First for the Guild.' A peal had been rung in this method at East Markham. Notts, in 1936, for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

There are nearly 20 past members of Daventry Grammar School who are ringers. They have formed themselves into a section of the Old Daventrian Society. Their first peal was rung at Staverton where many of the members were taught the elements of change-ringing by the late Rev. E. S. and Mrs. Powell.

It was appropriate that for the Cumberlands' peal at Finchley on April 26th a composition of the late Mr. C. H. Martin, who had been associated with the tower for many years, should have been selected. There have been three previous peals on the eight bells at Finchley but this is the first of Mr. Martin's compositions to be rung on the bells.
The peal at Misterton on April 21 st was rung on the back five of the six there, the peal being originally arranged for the five at North Kilworth, but owing to Mr. Charles Bennett's death that day, last-minute arrangements had to be made for the peal to be rung elsewhere. The band wish to express their thanks to the Rector of St. Leonard's, Misterton, for the use of his bells at such short notice.

THE HERTFORDSHIRE COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Serious Financial Position

THE annual meeting of Hertford County Association was held at St. Albans on April 19h, members attending from all parts of the county with visitors from Willesden, Hornsey. Purton (Wilts), Brentford. Cambridge and Liverpool. Many took advantage of ringing at Hattield in the morning, including several promising youngsters from Norton and Baldock.

Ringing at the Cathedral, St. Peter's and St. Michael's Churches during the afternoon suffered somewhat by the absence of the committee, who had met to discuss the serious finan. cial position of the Association.

Evensong at the Cathedral was attended by the members who were addressed by the Bishop of Bedford (the Rt. Rev. C. T. T. Wood), who preached an inspiring Easter message to the assembled ringers. The Dean (the Very Rev. C. Thicknesse) read the second lesson and a collection was taken in aid of the funds.

After tea, which was held at the Abbey Institute, the president (Mr. T J. Southam) welcomed the Bishop of Bedford and other visitors. Apologies were received from the Lord Bishop of St. Albans, the Dean and Mr. E. G. Buck (Northern District secretary), who had left carlier. Greetings were received from $\mathbf{M r}$. A. Barnes, of Stockport, who rang his first peal at the Abbey on Easter Monday, 1887.

The minutes were then read and confirmed. followed by the election of Mrs. A. H. Martin as an honorary member. Messrs. E. Edmondson (Bootle) and V. Griffin (Purton) as non-resident life members. Messrs. A. Leighton. D. Biggs, A. Tompkins, B. Fensom (Flamstead) as probationers also Messrs. H. M. Stevens (Essendon), R. Wells (Cathedral), A. R. Sherlock and Miss A. P. Collins (North Mimms) as ringing members.

A LOAN OF $£ 150$

Mr. G. W. Debenham presented the statement of accounts which showed an excess of expenditure over income of $£ 100$ 19s. 8 d. . and proposed the acceptance of a loan of $£ 150$ from an anonymous friend of the Association to be repaid as soon as possible by special moneyraising efforts such as socials. etc., by the Districts. He also gave notice that he would propose that the subscriptions of ringing members (over the age of 16 ) be raised to 5 s. He would also like the Reserve Fund raised to a threefigure sum. The loan was agreed to and Mr. called in six months' time and the date of October 18th was agreed on. Applications were received for a grant from the Voluntary Bell Fund from Redbourn and St. Stephen's. St. Albans. The sum of five guineas was voted to each.

In his first annual report, the secretary (Mr. H. V. Frost) referred to the number of towers without any ringers and suggested that if the clergy would help by finding suitable young people of either sex, willing to form new bands, then the Association would do its best to provide instructors. He also referred to the small number of members attached and appealed for an increase in membership throughout the county.

With reference to the serious financial position incurred by the high cost of printing the 1948-50 report. Mr. Frost thought it was essential that they continued to publish a report in order to maintain interest, as without it they tended to lose touch with each other, especially those members who needed that little bit of encouragement to keep them in the fold. He suggested that every band attached to the Association should donate the proceeds of fees received for ringing for one wedding during the year in order to repay the loan.
He reported with regret the loss by death of Messrs. J. North (St. Ippolyt's), W. Bradford (Stevenage), G. Wolfe (Hitchin), W. Shepherd (Hemcl Hempstead), Alderman A. Parkiss Ginn (Hertford) and that outstanding ringer and conductor, Mr. Maurice F. R. Hibbert. of Bushey, and asked the members to stand as a mark of respect.

Bell restoration.-Bengeo bells had been recast. Hemel Hempstead bells had been rehung in a new frame and Aldenham and Langleybury towers had been re-opened for ringing again. Great Amwell bells were to be augmented from three to five as soon as sufficient money was raised. There was, as yet, no news of anything being done at All Saints', Hertford where the tower was unsafe, but at Knebworth an appeal had been assisted by the Northern District.

Peals.-The number was fifty, being six less than last year. but were well spread over the area and ranged from Doubles to Maximus. Fourteen members had rung their first peal and two their first as conductor. The peals were rung at 28 towers, including four outside the county. There were 17 conductors, Mr. F. W. Croft, having called eight peals, was the leading conductor. The most notable peal was undoubtedly the handbell peal in 12 Surprise Major methods by Mr. Cashmore's band. Four peals were rung in connection with the Festival of Britain. The reports of the District secretaries followed and, together with the general secretary's report. were adopted.
Election of officers.-President. Mr. A. E. Symonds (Hitchin); hon. treasurer. Mr. G

Frost ; assistant secretary, Mr. T. J. South.ım; hon. librarian, Mr. C. F. Sayer; hon auditor, Mr. H. H. Cook, C.A.
Proposed alterations to Rules.-The resolution affecting Rule 5 . ${ }^{\text {© }}$ That the annual nueting be held in St. Albans at intervals of not less than three years,' was discussed, and it was agreed to amend the Rule by the insertion of the words of the resolution.
Rule 10 , concerning peals and peal-oooking fees, was deleted and a new rule was adopted, raising the peal fee to sixpence but containing no reference to entries in the peal book
Mr. B. C. Johnson gave notice that he would raise the subject of the continuance of the peal book at the next general meeting

It was agreed to delete Rule 12 as it stood and adopt a new rule in its place that no alteration in, or addition to. the rules be made except at an annual general or special meeting of the Association, and notice of any proposed addition or alteration must be sent to the general secretary, in writing, at least 21 days before one of such meetings.
Mr. S. H. Hoare voiced the congratulations of the Association to Mr. G. W. Cartmel, who was at the meeting: Mr. Cartmel teing an original member of the Association and sccretary for over 50 years.
Mr. W. G. Hughes proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all who had helped in any way with the success of the meeting. and rit.ging at St. Peter's concluded the affairs of a remarkable day in the history of the Association.

CIVIC RECOGNTION FOR SELBY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Dinner and Meeting Combined

THE sixth annual meeting was held at Selby Abbey on April 19th Methods rung during the afternoon on the Abbey bells included Kent Treble Bob Royal. Grandsire Caters. Stedman Triples. Bob Minor and rounds. Friends and visitors inspected the Abbey and several were attracted to the organ, where the organist (Mr. W. Hartley) kindly gave a full description and demonstration. A short service was held in the chancel at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. J. A. P. Kent (Vicar of Selby), who gave a very instructive address.

The general meeting (postponed owing to the King's death) was held in the vestry when the following officers were elected:-President, the Rev. B. A. Ramsker (Vicar of Snaith); chairman. Mr. H. S. Morley: Ringing Master Mr. Fred Terry: committee-Messrs. J. J Taylor and J. Thorley; secretary and treasurer, Mr. L. M. Woodhead.

The secretary's report and balance sheet were accepted, a slight increase in funds being shown over the previous year. Mr. S. H. Steel (York) proposed and Mr. C. W. King (Goole) seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Selby for use of the bells and to the local company for arrangements.

Members and friends then adjourned to the Londesborough Arms Hotel, Sclby, where 63 persons participated in the annual dinner and social evening, Guests included Councillor Mooney (chairman of Selby U.D.C.) and Mrs. Mooney. Alderman R. Jolley (Mayor of Goole) and the Mayoress. Mrs. Jolley. The Rev. J. A P . Kent and Mrs. Kent, the Rev. and Mrs Pattinson and Mr. W. Hartley (organist, Selby Abbey).

After an excellent dinner, and the loyal toast honoured, the president (the Rev. B. A Ramsker) welcomed the civic heads of Selby and Goole. He said it was good that the various church bell ringers represented could meet together on this occasion and be happy, and compared the ringing of bells by ringers to amplified records which he had heard in some churches. the latter sounding far different from when the bells were properly rung.

Councillor Mooney thanked the president for his welcome and recalled that when living at Skipton he enjoyed hearing the sound of Gargrave bells.

The Mayor of Goole (Alderman R. Jolley) also expressed appreciation for the president's welcome and said that if the bells were not rung he felt there was something missing on Sundays. Ringers could be looked upon as 'Top Room Boys.' ringing out a message from Almighty God Sunday by Sunday. In conclusion. he said, 'I commend your work, keep on doing it. I appeal to the young people to take up the art of change-ringing.

Mr. H. S. Morley ably proposed the toast, 'The Church,' saying that during his long experience as a ringer. he had always received every assistance from the clergy of the various churches visited.

The Rev. J. A. P. Kent, responding, said there were definite signs of a return to the Church. not only in this country but throughout the world.
The toast, "The Society,' was proposed by Mr. T. H. Foster (Selby Abbey). He said that many years ago ringing was looked upon as an old man's job, but could assure the company that young people would be welcomed and encouraged. Mr. C. W. King (Goole) responded, paying tribute to the work of the secretary and to the advancement in the standard of ringing.

Mr. S. H. Steel (York) submitted the toast of "The Visitors." to which Mr. W. Hartley (organist, Selby Abbey) replied.

During the evening Mr. S. H. Steel (York) was the vocalist, accompanied by Mr. W. Hartley.
Dancing and games followed and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne " ended what was generally felt to be an excellent evening's entertainment

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting

THE annual general meeting was held in Norwich on Easter Monday. During the day good use was made of the bells of Mancroft, St. George Colegate, St. Giles', St. Miles' and St. John de Sepulchre, at the last named until the necessity for a neighbouring baby to sleep brought ringing to an end.

The annual service took place at Mancroft at 12 noon. At this, the new service book was used for the first time and members were delighted with it. The sermon was preached by the Rev. F. E. Vokes, Rector of Forncett, and chairman of the South Norfolk Branch.
A splendid lunch was served in Mancroft Youth Centre, and all who had previously bought a ticket got a seat with comfort and convenience. At this, members were present from, if possible, even further afield than usual, including Loughborough. Feltham and Sutton and Hessle (Yorkshire). Ringers were present from other places, including Leicester, during the day.

At the business meeting, arising out of the minutes, it was noted that the new service book was now out, and the 1951 annual report would be out soon. Apologies were received from Messrs. W. L. Duffield and W. C. Duffield, whose absence was much regretted.

New members elected included Horace Easey and Douglas Mitchell (Pakefield), Miss Muriel Nunn (Wroxham) and Horace Womack (Forncett).

The officers were re-elected as follows:President, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard; general secretary and treasurer. the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow: the vice-presidents, en bloc: Ringing Master, Mr. Nolan Golden; hon. auditor, Mr. George Fletcher.

The accounts were presented by Mr. Fletcher, who was warmly applauded for his lucid manner of explaining the Association's financial position.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Stockport Branch at Norbury
Sixty-six members and friends attended the Stockport Branch meeting at Norbury on April 26th. The Vicar (the Rev. E. Taylor). who conducted the service, referred to the sudden and unexpected death of Miss Ethel Fernley, whose family had been closely identified with the work of Norbury Church for many years. He also spoke of the profound impression which the fellowship among ringers had made upon him.

An excellent tea preceded the business meeting at which the Vicar presided, supported by the Branch chairman, Mr. Elkins. Through a slight indisposition, the secretary was unable to attend, and his wife kindly acted as his deputy.

It was announced that the next quarterly meeting, on June 28th, would be at Knutsford, instead of Mobberley, and as a compliment to Mr. Percy Walton, who had been elected Mayor, the November meeting would be at Stalybridge St. Paul's. The heartiest congratulations of the Branch were extended to Mr. J. W. Hartley, who had recently completed 50 years' ringing service in the belfry of Norbury Church.

Tributes were paid to the memory of Dr. J. C. E. Simpson and to Miss Ethel Fernley, who had passed to higher service that morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MEADOWSMANSHIP
Dear Sir,-Your correspondent, Raymond Philpott. appears to have taken Mr. Meadows' efforts far more seriously than ever was intended.

Of course there are doubtless, in ringing as in other pursuits, people whom this particular cap fits, but I venture the opinion that this was not the idea Mr. Meadows had in view. All the ringers I have spoken to about these articles, and I get around fairly extensively, are highly amused although a few are not quite certain of what is behind it, any more than people did not quite know what to make of the B.B.C.'s broadcast Lifemanship Lectures. I can assure your correspondent that of an unfortunate ringing life, and as to whether or not it was sired by the seven deadly sins, perhaps this brings us back to the beginning of my second paragraph.

In his last paragraph Mr. Philpott mentions chess. A well-known chess periodical has from time to time in the past year or two published items somewhat akin to the matter under review, but up to the time of writing no chess enthusiast appears to have been upset by them, although in the absence of any comment whatsoever I am unable to say if anyone was amused.

Meadowsmanship ' is amusing rather than salutary, as it is intended to be. Let us hate other views or ideas if we feel that way disposed but let us not deny their holders the right to express them.-Yours, etc.,

Worcester. BERNARD C. ASHFORD.

A YOUNG ESSEX BAND

Dear Sir-You will see in last week's issue of "The Ringing World' the report of the peal rung on the bells of All Saints' Church. Springfield. Essex, the average age of the band being $16 \frac{1}{2}$ years. This is believed to be unique is this division, but we should like to know if any other peal of its kind has been rung. The two girls are members of the All Saints' ringers and the four boys are members of the Danbury Church band, and apart from the one who rang the third bell, all have learnt to ring in the past two years, including the conductor, whose age is 16 years 4 months. Yours faithfully.

Danbury, Chelmsford. PETER J. CAME.

FREEDOM BELL

Dear Sir,-The German Government has produced a range of postage stamps commemorating the $9 \frac{1}{2}$-ton Freedom Bell installed in the Rathaus Tower, Schöneberg, West Berlin, in 1950. by my firm. It is beautifully engraved and I have pleasure in enclosing a copy.

It would be interesting to know whether an English-founded bell has ever before formed the basis of a stamp design. Perhaps one of your readers may be able to say.
Croydon. FRED C. W. STEVENSON.

THEY WERE ALL OVER EIGHTY

First Octogenarian Peal

A remarkable performance took place at St. John-the-Evangelist Church, Deptford, on Saturday. April 26 th, when a band of ringers all over 80 years of age rang a peal of 5,024 Plain Bob Major in three hours and two minutes.

On October 20th a previous attempt was unsuccessful. There were two changes in the personnel of the band: Mr. John Wheadon, making the journey from Cheshire, replaced Mr. A. E. Reeves on the treble, and Mr. Harry Stalham, of Brighton, took the place of Mr. Frank Blondell on the seventh.
The previous record was a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, on October 21st, 1933, conducted by C. F. Winney. Then the united ages, 612 years, a veraged $76 t$ years. In this peal the united ages were 651 years with an average of 81.375 .

Editorial comment on the St. Olave's peal :

- A hundred and forty years ago, when James Barham rang his 100th peal, the total age of the band was 582 . It has taken nearly a century and a half to stretch the average age by four years, but with the growing expectancy of life coupled with the increased efficiency of bell-hanging, it may not be anything like as long before another four years are added to the record. A peal by a band of the average age of 80 would be a wonderful achievement.'

SUSSEX RINGERS' WEDDING

Mr. Edgar R. Rapley - Miss Enid

E. Lonnen

A wedding of interest to ringers far beyond the towers of Sussex took place at Felpham (Sussex) Parish Church on April 26th between Mr. Edgar R. Rapley and Miss Enid E. Lonnen.

The bridegroom learnt to ring at West Grinstead and Shipley 20 years ago and, encouraged by that grand Sussex ringer, Walter Charman, who staged an excellent monthly practice at Horsham, progressed rapidly to the higher methods and soon became one of the leading Sussex peal ringers and conductors. He took part in the record length of Bob Royal at Prittlewell on August 7th, 1950, and in the ill-fated 'raisin' record of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Debenham on October 21st in the same year.
The bride's ringing interest centred round the activities of the Western Division of the County Association and her loyal support earned her the office of assistant hon. secretary. Her record of attendance-every monthly meeting since November, 1946- must be almost unsurpassed.
The marriage service was conducted by the Archdeacon of Chichester (the Ven. Lancelot Mason), himself a ringer and a vice president of the County Association. Mr. G. W. Cecil (Master) and many officers of the Association, including three Divisional secretaries, were among the large congregation. The service was choral, with Mr. G. R. H. Smith (a ringer from Chichester Theological College) at the organ. The two bridesmaids were the sisters of the bride, one also a ringer at the local tower.

A reception was held in Bognor Regis, where nearly 100 guests assembled. It can quite readily be assumed that the remark made by the best man (Mr. Frank Lufkin, of Prittlewell) concerning the welcome he had received from ringers in Sussex was founded on the hospitality he received from these now vacated homes, and there must be many among the ringing fraternity from far and near who will wish to join at this opportune moment in an expression of gratitude for the never-failing welcome, no matter how inconvenient the time, which always awaited one at Butcher's Row. West Grinstead, and Downview Road, Felpham.

VETERAN RINGER'S DEATH

We have to record the death of Mr. John Coales, who had been a member of the St. Andrew's Society, Rugby, since its formation in 1895 who passed away in his 82nd year. Mr . Coales had a remarkable career. As a young man [he] assisted his father in his business as a blacksmith. Village life did not appeal to him. however, for at the age of 21 he enlisted in the Metropolitan Police Force, being on duty at the opening of Crystal Palace. When the Crimean War broke out, he enlisted in the Commissariat Department, going over the town of Sevastopol after the famous siege, and being on the field of Balaclava and Inkerman. He was then for a number of years a sorter in the Post Office, travelling between Rugby and Carlisle, retiring on a pension in 1886, when he became curator of the Art Museum at Rugby School. In 1890 he was appointed verger at the Parish Church

He learned to handle a bell when quite a lad but it was not until 1895, when he was 65 , that he began to learn change-ringing .... He belonged to that grand old school of perfect strikers which the present generation would do well to follow.

Opportunities for pealringing were very few and he had rung only one 5,000 , but it is worthy of note that he learned to ring Bob Major and Stedman after his 75th year.

OBITUARY

MR. BERNARD J. SADDINGTON

The death occurred on April 15th. after an intermittent illness over the last two years, of Mr. Bernard Saddington, of Burton Latimer, near Kettering. aged 61. He had been a ringer from his youth, first at his native Cranford and later at Burton. He was a first-class striker and method ringer and had rung approximately 50 peals ranging from Doubles to Royal and including Surprise Major. One of his happiest ringing experiences was a quarter of Grandsire which he conducted in which both his father and his daughter, Joy. took part.

Mr. Saddington had acted as captalin at Burton for 14 years and during that period had devoted a considerable amount of time to the instruction of young ringers. For some years up to his death he held the office of auditor to the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and had also held various offices at the church, where he had been a regular worshipper

He was in carlier years well known as a sports man, particularly as a cricketer and billiards player and, in more recent years, as a bowls player.

The enthusiasm which Bernard had for ringing, his devotion and patience with learners and his kindly and cheerful presence will be greatly missed by his friends over a wide area.

On the day of the funcral the bells of St. Mary's Church were rung in the afternoon by friends from various towers and in the evening by the local band. An attempt for a peal was unsuccessful owing to a rope breaking after half an hour but a quarter peal was rung by a representative band which included the Master and the gencral secretary of the Guild.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The April meeting of the Society was held at Patrington with 30 members attending. Severe thunderstorms prevented additional members from joining in the evening but did not spoil the meeting in the lovely church, "The Cathedral of Holderness.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. E. Jones), who gave an excellent sermon telling of his experiences with ringers in five different dioceses.
Tea was taken in the Church Hall, followed by the business meeting. The Rector was thanked for the use of the bells and service.
The bells were rung again and some good ringing was enjoyed to standard methods, Erin and Little Bob.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS Mid-Devon Branch

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch was held at Dittisham, near Dartmouth, on April 19th when members and friends attended from Buckland Newton (Dorset), Honiton Clyst. Kenn, Teignmouth. Newton Abbot, Paienton. Dartmouth. Totnes. Dartington, Buckfastlcigh and Plymouth.

The handv ring of six was kept going throughout the afternoon to touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob. Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor. A short service in church was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. Claydon), who gave an excellent address.
After tea the business meeting followed with Mr . J. E. Lilley in the chair. the secretary reporting on matters arising from the minutes, It was announced that. subject to the necessary permission. a joint meeting with the SouthWest Branch would be held at Berry Pomeroy with Totnes on June 28th, and that the next quarterlv meeting would be held on July 26th at Dawlish.

The usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting and further ringing afterwards took place at Halwell Parish Church.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY  Annual General Meeting

The Society's 63rd annual meeting was held at Leeds Parish Church on April 26 th.

The bells were rung up in peal at 3 p.m. and rung until evensong, which put a temporary stop to the proceedings. The interval was used by many to refresh the inner man at the various cafes in town. Ringing was started again at 5 p.m. and enjoyed until the business meeting at 7 p.m.
A letter of apology for absence was received from the president. Mr. T. W. Strangeway (vice-president) was elected to the chair. Visitors included Messrs. Stote (Coventry) and Kennington (Grimsby), the latter now serving with H.M. Forces stationed in Leeds.
The business details were quickly dealt with and new members elected were Mr. G. Smith.
Misses $O$. Gale and $S$ Colley and Mr. F. Colley (Wetherby), Mr. G. Thackray the Misses J. Lawn, Margaret Barker, S. Dinsdale and E. Murray (Collingham) and Mr. P. Dawson (Calverley).
The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was proposed by Mr. H. Lofthouse, who said he wished to thank the local company for their prodigious efforts in getting the tower ready for the meeting. Owing to certain repairs and renovations, the tower was left on Thursday in a very sorry state- 48 hours before the meeting. An alternative tower was arranged as a stand-by but this was not required owing to the wonderful effort made by some of the local ringers. Thank you. Leeds,' for the arrangements and to the authorities for allowing the meeting. This was seconded by Mr. Alf Johnson and supported by the chairman.
Mr. Drake acknowledged the thanks and regretted the tenor clapper had broken and he hoped that on their next visit the full ring would be a vailable.
The next meeting will be at Guiseley on May 31st.
Election of officers.-Owing to the numerous nominations, ballot papers were distributed and when the scrutineers had finished their work. the chairman declared the following to be the Society's officers for 1952-53:-President. Mr. J. W. Benten ; vice-presidents. Messrs. T. W. Strangeway, S. H. Barron and L. Drake; hon. vice-president. Mr. F. Hutchinson; Ringing Mas${ }_{\mathrm{H}}^{\mathrm{ter}}, \mathrm{Mr}$. W. Dixon ; secretary and treasurer. Mr. H. Lofthouse.

The secretary's report gave the following de-tails.-Eleven meetings held during the year with an average good attendance, should and could be better if all members remembered the last Saturday in each month was the Society's day. Membership 217, 16 new members having been elected during the year. The financial side was sound. The number of peals rung could be improved and some non-members ringing peals in the District should be invited to join the cheapest Ringing Society-subscription sixpence der year, the original subscription fixed in 1889.

The alteration to Rule 12 was carried unanimously.
The secretary was authorised to purchase a new peal book.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Southern District at Charlwood on April 26 th. was attended by 28 ringers. Following an excellent tea at the Half Moon a short business meeting was held. Members were reminded that there would be a bi-monthly meeting at Godstone on May 24th. A collection for the Belfry Repair Fund realised 17s. 9d.
Further ringing was enioyed during the evening until 7.50. This early finish was in deference to the parents of two very young members of the local community, who had apparently been complaining vociferously all the afternoon. Methods rung ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor.

IN a number of ancient churches and in some museums, may be seen-preserved as curios - bellringers' jugs, gotchers and pitchers. These were used in the 'good old days' to contain refreshment after special ringing occasions at a time when all kinds of labour was paid for 'in kind.' For this reason our ancient bellringers must not be condemned lightly as it was the rule and custom of the period in which they lived. It is often pointed out by would-be critics of the old-time ringer that he was a drunkard, and that there are many entries in old churchwardens' accounts quoting payment for ringing as being in so much 'ale or beer,' yet these same critics do not tell you that the same drinks were the usual refreshment of all classes, and the same churchwardens' accounts will prove this. A delightfully candid instance is found at a church near Liverpool where the churchwarden enters: 'Spent on ourselves when we met at the Abbey Arms to decide how much to give the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.' At St. Mary-on-the-Hill, London, is this entry :-

Paid for wyne & peres at skrasis house at Aldgate for Mr. Jentyll, Mr. Russell, John Althorpe & the clerkes of Synt Antonys to go and see whether Smythes bell wer Teun abill or nat . . viijd.'
Beer and ale were the common drink; tea, coffee, cocoa were unheard of until quite modern times, and at first even then only obtainable by rich folk at very high prices. 'Church Ales' are still a comparatively recent memory, and in one Dorset parish at least it was the custom to keep a barrel of cider in the vestry. A still more august example might be cited. In Queen Victoria's reign a bottle of sherry used to be provided in the vestry of the Chapels Royal for the refreshment of any distinguished preacher to partake of after his oration. Numbers of churches owned publichouses, the income from which went towards the upkeep of the fabric and the stipend of the incumbent. At St. Peter's. Belgrave, Leicester, until a few years ago the Talbot Inn nearby thus provided income, and other examples might be quoted.

Ringers in early days did exactly as other people, and as a whole were not a bad sort. They composed 'Rules and Observanses' for good behaviour in the belfry, and on many an ancient church wall may be seen these rules, quaintly worded and in 'rhyme.' Thus at Drewsteignton, Dartmoor:-

A good ringer and a true heart,

Will not refuse to stand a quart.'
Or at Pitminster, Somerset:-
If aney do ware hise hat
When he is ringing here
He state way then shall sixpence pay, In sider or bere.
Or as at Newark, Notts:-
Who brawls or wrangles, whom ye major part Finds to be guilty, shall pay his quart.' At Crosthwaite is a long set of such 'rhymes continuing:-

And he in ringing who interrupts a peal for such offence shall pay a quart of ale;
In falling bells one penny must be paid by him who stops before the signals made. And he who takes God's Holy Name in vain shall pay one shilling, and this place refrain. You ringers all take care, you must not fail to have your forfeits all spent in ale.
With heart upright let each true subject ring for health and peace, to Country, Church and King.
In many cases ringers had their own 'jugs and a number remain to this day. At Ixworth, Suffolk, this is of brown glazed ware and was formerly carried from house to house to receive whatever beer the liberal parishioners might feel disposed to give. This pot, long since disused, had neither lip nor spout, but was provided with a tap at the base to draw off the two gallons that it held. It is inscribed in rude letters:-
'Here you may see what
I request of Hanst (honest) Gentlemen
My Baly (belly) filled of the best . . . I com but now and then . . . 1716.'
Another curious pitcher of this period is at Hadleigh, also in Suffolk. It holds 16 quarts and is inscribed in rudely indented letters without any regard to uniformity of size or straightness of lines:-

ME. Thomas Windle: Isaac Bynn: John
Mann: Adam Sage: George Bond: Thomas
Goldsbbrough: Robert Smith: Henry West.' There is no doubt these are the names of the ringers as Hadleigh had eight bells. Below are the lines:-
If yov love me doe not lend me
Evse me often and keep me clenely,
Fvll me fvll, or not at all.
If it be with strovng, and not with small.' HADLY:
Under one handle is the date 17 T.G. 15 while under the other is 17 R.O. 15. This jug was in the possession of Mr. Pettitt of the Eight Bells Inn, Angel Street, who held it for the ringers, he being their leader. Another similar pitcher was preserved in the tower of the church at Hinderclay inscribed:-

- By Samuel Moss, this pitcher was given to the Noble Society of Ringers at Hinderclay in Suffolk, viz.:-Tho. Stirgeon: Ed. Lock: John Haw : Ric. Ruddock: and Ralf. Chapman: to which Society he once belonged, and left in the year 1712.

> From London I was sent, As plainly doth appear; It was this intent, To be filled with strong beer. remember the Pitcher when

Pray remember the Pitcher when empty.'
The well-known Ringers' Pitcher of Beccles, still kept in the belfry, has three handles and bears the name of the potter, 'Samuel Strongfellow Potter 1827.' It holds six gallons less one pint, and bears the quaint rhyme:-

1827

When I am filled with liquor strong,
Each man drink once & then ding dong; Drink not to much to cloud your knobs, Lest you forget to make the bobbs.

A gift of John Pattman  Beccles'

Great Yarmouth ringers preserve a large jug of Staffordshire pottery. It has one handle and a steadying nib on front. It is hand-painted in colours, and pictured on either side. Capacity $23 \frac{1}{2}$ pints and is inscribed :-

Should you venture up the tower high To visit ringers, know that they are dry; And if you be generous, kind and free, Give a trifle and remember me.

Yarmouth, May 2: 1808.'

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION BY THE RIVER

$\mathbf{A}^{5}$S is customary, the Bedfordshire Association held its annual meeting in Bedford on Easter Monday. The two previous annual meetings have seen somewhat dampened ringers hurrying from tower to tower in a steady downpour of rain. but this Easter the warm weather brought out the summer clothes, and the travelling between churches was far more leisurely. Bedford was full of people, most of them enjoying themselves by the river, and the sound of church bells added a gay note to the general excitement of the crowds

The day's programme began at half past ten, when the belfries at Biddenham and St. Paul's, Bedford, were opened. Biddenham looked unpromising from a ringer's point of view as the tower was encased in scaffolding. but permission had been granted for Easter ringing and many varied touches were rung on the six bells. Meanwhile the ten-bell experts were making themselves at home on the glorious ring at St . Paul's. Here the sitters-out were able to enjoy the sunshine on the church roof and look down on the busy streets beneath. At mid-day a company assembled at St. Peter's, by the Green, for touches on the light ring of eight. and here most of the standard Major and Triples methods were rung. Lunch at St. John's Church Hall was signalled by several 'tower-collectors,' who climbed the adiacent church tower to ring the single bell! After lunch. which was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stephens, the visitors were told they were free to leave the hall and that St. Peter's bells were once again available.

The business meeting was opened by the president. Miss E. Steel. making a speech in which all the Association ringers with over 50 years' membership were remembered. The secretary and treasurer. Mr. F. J. Plummer, read the minutes of the previous annual meeting and these were confirmed by the meeting. Next on the agenda was the adoption of the annual report for 1951. which was described as the best ever produced because of its varied contents. In addition to the usual lists of members. practice nights and peals runc. there were reports of meetings, dedication services and obituary notices, and the secretary was congratulated on collecting such good material for his last report.
The balance sheet showed that the two shilling subscription, augmented by the peal tax and profit from the sale of badges, was sufficient to meet the general expenses. The committee's report stated that membership remained steady with 11 honorary, 241 performing and 9 probationary members. Thirty-three peals were rung during 1951, an analysis giving the following figures:-Doubles 2 . Minor 13 (one 'in hand '). Triples 2, Major 14 (one 'in hand') and Caters 2. Two specially mentioned by the committee were the handbell peal of Major, the first since before the war. and Stedman Caters, at Luton. by the local Sunday service band. The conducting of peals was shared by 16 ringers and eight members rang their first peal.

The election of officers was speedily carried out. Miss E. Steel was unanimously re-elected president, as were the vice-presidents, Messrs. A. King. E. Herbert, A. E. Sharman, H. D. Harris, G. W. Helcy, W. Stapleton, C. J. Ball, L. H. Bywaters and P. Inskip. It was with great regret that the meeting heard Mr. F. J. Plummer announce that he would be leaving Bedfordshire shortly and would, therefore, be resigning his post of secretary and treasurer. Mr. J. M. Stephens was elected in his place. The auditor and librarian, Messrs. G. H. Mason and S. Foskett, respectively, were both reelected and Mr. D. Thompson was voted to the new post of assistant librarian.

Bedford was chosen for the place of the 1953 annual meeting on April 6th. and the committee's suggestion of holding the 19.52 Summer Festival at Woburn, on June 28th, was agreed. Two non-resident life members, Messrs. N. Park (Darlington) and R. Manning (Otley). were elected. After a short discussion on the purchasing of suitable books for the Association library, the votes of thanks were put to the company and the business meeting terminated.

Ringing was then resumed at St. Paul's until the early evening when those still eager for more, journeyed over to Kempston for an hour's ringing.

REOPENING OF CASTLE ACRE BELLS

MEMORIES of the magnificence of Castle Acre Church, Norfolk, at the recent hallowing of the bells were revived on April 26th. when the new six, now completed, were re-opened. Ringers were present from Norwich, Gaywood, Wymondham, Herringlleet, Watton, Acle. Gressenhall, North Elmham. Stonham Aspal (Suffolk), Caston and Fakenham. Members from a long distance included $\mathbf{M r}$. S. Flint. of Liverpool, and Mr. and Mrs Paul Taylor, of Loughborough. whose firm has made such a magnificent job of the new ring, and the Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay.
The service was festal in character as befitted the occasion. The Vicar, the Rev. R. N. Evans, conducted the service, praying for those who had rung the old five in the past and those who will ring in the future and for all who will hear the bells, and the president of the Association, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard, read the lesson.
After Psalm 150, a procession consisting of the clergy, members of the Offord family-the work having been made possible by a bequest of the late Mrs. Offord-and Mr. Paul Taylor, went to the ringing chamber. which is on the ground floor. Here the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow dedicated the bells and the work which ringers will do here, and receiving one of the ropes from Mr. Taylor, handed it to the Vicar, representing the bells as a sacred trust committed to him.
The opening touch of 60 Grandsire Doubles was then rung by the following:-C. V. Ebberson (conductor) 1, S. Marshali 2, Nolan Golden 3. V. Ovens 4, G. A. Cooke 5, C. V. Tovell 6. Then was sung the ringers' hymn by the Rev. cession returned to the chancel. In his address. the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow said that the finest sermons are those we can look at, and Castle Acre as we see it to-day provides a tremendous challenge to the thoughtful. Here are three historic buildings; two, the Priory and the Castle, dead, because they no longer serve men's needs; the third, the Parish Church. still lives and now proclaims from its tower by a sound never heard before in this parish by the oldest here that it is alive. How long the Parish Church continues to live depends on the people and whether they continue to desire that for which it stands, just as the extent to which the bells ring depends on the extent to which Castle Acre reacts to the work which donors and founders have done here.

After the service the bells were rung in a variety of methods, and universal approval was expressed at their ' go.. which is very easy despite a longish draught of rope, thelr tone. which is Taylor at its best; and the volume outside. which is perfect. as the bells have been rehung several yards beneath the belfry windows.
Formerly the bells were a ring of five cast by Thomas Newman, 1710: they hurs in a frame which appears to be as old as the tower (15th century), and which has been preserved as an interesting historic relic in its old position. The old five are all recast this year, and the new tenor bears the inscription. The five bells recast by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. 1952. and this new bell added to make six. Richard Neville Evans, M.A., Vicar. William Richard Savage, Robert George Joplin, Church Wardens. Given, by bequest of Mary Maude Frederica Offord.
The new tenor weighs 10 cwt .3 qr .16 lb. . and the bells are hung in metal frames, with bail bearings

MR. PETER J. STANIFORTH'S 300 PEALS

Mr. Peter J. Staniforth, who recently rang his 300 th peal, has a particularly interesting list. These peals have been rung in 48 different towers for 14 societies. On tower bells Mr. Staniforth has scored 222 peals (conducted 57) and on handbells 78 (conducted 13).

BRENTFORD TOUR

Ringers of St. Lawrence's, Brentford, had a successful tour on Easter Monday. Towers visited were Little Missenden (famed for its mediæval bells and wall paintings), Ellesborough (with a cordial welcome from Harry Jones), Weston Turville (a fine-toned, recentlyrehung five), Aston Abbots, Wingrave (where the Vicar pointed out a cracked mediæval bell due for preservation), Cheddington (a church in an orchard). Edlesborough (an unringable six), Eaton Bray (the six would be easier to handle if the organ did not occupy half the tower) and Langleybury (a newly-re-opened six, lovely though noisy).

Home was reached in heavy rain, tired, but with memories of a happy day.

DOWN UNDER

By A. J. LANCEFIELD

TO the itinerant observer of the Antipodes it becomes increasingly apparent that the British mind, firmly rooted in a distant land, must be kept in close contact with the British mind still nurtured by its native soil if it is to retain, to a large degree, its essential characteristics and remain compatible with it in thought, word and deed.

Perhaps the reason lies not entirely in the properties of the soil as in a combination of many qualities peculiar to this hardy plant that thrives so unconcernedly close to danger, and whose very existence is an epic struggle only partially comprehensible to all not closely associated with its function.

Britain's emigrants of over a hundred years ago settled in Australia and New Zealand and built up, under great hardship, the two great Dominions that are now an integral part of the Realm. They built exceedingly well and, undoubtedly, in the future, as in the present, these still greatly unexplored lands will be of inestimable value to the mother nation. Immigrants poured in periodically over the years and succeeded in perpetuating, to a certain extent, the British way of life and thought, and a steady influx to-day is helping to maintain the status quo.

But the task is not an easy one and will continue to be less so unless measures are taken by national and local government bodies to supply the truth about Britain's activities in every field of thought and endeavour. It should be made available in book and pamphlet form to every town and city, in the schools, on the wireless and the films and in every conceivable modern manner so long as it records the truth. The veins of instructive and constructive British propaganda are perilously thin and it is little wonder that the average Australasian occasionally becomes frustrated and develops a 'don't care' attitude when he receives such little authentic evidence to prove to him that Britain has not 'had it ' and is not 'down and out.'

We should, of course, and probably do, accord the Australasian nation as a whole sense and reason enoughborn of a common pride and loyalty and only a very slight knowledge of the past-to know that Britain's position could never be low enough to class as 'finished.' But history proves that it is foolish to accord any nation such an all-round commonsense.

Are we doing all we can in our little sphere of ringing to ensure the survival and advancement of our art in the southern hemisphere, or is our propaganda just as conspicuous by its absence? Comparatively speaking, we are doing exceptionally well, or rather a number of individuals are, both at home and on the field of play, but there is plenty of room for others to come in and give a helping hand.
' The Ringing World ' is a vital and constant link and it has been my endeavour to bring this point to bear in the course of my peregrinations from tower to tower.

The few far-seeing gentlemen in Britain who have contributed and are contributing in various ways to ringing in Australia and New Zealand will be pleased to know that their instruction and help is falling upon young and very fruitful local groups and individuals, and it is possible to say that ringing in these two countries (as far as can be ascertained) is as high as it has ever been. Progress, in every way, is likely to continue at a good rate if these co-operative conditions prevail.

There are many ways in which help and instruction can be given, and the writer will gladly supply to anyone interested a list of towers, their positions, requirements, etc. Mr. W. M. Rowe, Editor of the 'Ringing Towers ' monthly, will also supply any information required, particularly concerning bands just springing up. Tower captains and secretaries will also be glad of contacts; the letters at 6 d . a time take only a week to reach Australia and nine days New Zealand.

A ringing tour of these two countries by a band of competent ringers would be the most effective measure of help and inspiration at this stage, for it would serve to supply the one remaining essential to the advancement of ringing 'down under'-the necessity of the 'team spirit' in all weathers.
Such a venture is a large one in these days, but it is a thought which possibly a number of members of the Exercise are, or will be, in a position to bear in mind. It has been done before.

And it is up to us to 'boar these things in mind ' and act upon them wherever and whenever possible if we are to ensure that our art-such a typical product of the British mind-is not discarded in favour of some more modern method of expression and praise to the Creator in the natural process of that mind's adaptation to the conditions of the New World.

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

While the peal of Superlative was being rang at Hawkhurst on April 26th the Pinewood Studios, London, were taking shots for the film. 'Something money can't bay,' in the nearby cricket field. The producer thanked the band for helping to create 'a rural atmosphere' to the sound track.

The 50th anniversary of the first performance of John Carter's odd bob onepart peal of Stedman Triples was deservedly commemorated by the ringing of this peal at Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham, on May 5th. It was first rung on May 5th, 1902, at Selly Oak, conducted by W. H. Barber and the figures were published in 'Beli News' of October 18th, 1902. The calling was afterwards modified and simplified by the composer and these figures are given in both Davies' and Trollope's 'Stedman.' Very few conductors have called either the original or simplified version.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Albert Walker is much better.
With a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on May 2nd, Mr. Leslie C. Wightman 'completed the circle' of Framsden, Suffolk, tower for the ninth time.

Owing to pressure on our space a number of articles and reports of annual meetings have been held over. With the majority of Guilds holding their annual meetings at this time of the year such a congestion is bound to occur.

The first peal for the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths overseas has been rung at Yass, New South Wales. Recently we reported the admission to the Society of a number of Australian ringers
Mr. Ivan Kay has rung 50 peals in the Church of St. Thomas, Moorside, Oldham. He believes this feat has only once before been accomplished by a regular Sunday service ringer in Lancashire.

Fourteen-year-old Sylvia Sherwood, of Ash, Surrey, volunteered to 'have a go ' when one of the local ringers was unable to take part in a peal at Ash on April 26th. This was Sylvia's first attempt at peal ringing and was the first peal on the bells since restoration.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A long silence in Sunday service ringing at Nelson, Lancs, has been broken by ringing for the Jubilee of the church in response to an appeal by the Vicar to the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association. Ringers from Colne, Burnley, Blackburn Cathedral, Church, Kirk, Clitheroe and Oswaldtwistle participated on three occasions. Small actions like this go a long way to maintaining good relations and stimulating interest in the art in dormant towers.
The first handbell peal for the University of London Society, though by no means the first attempted, was rung in Melbourne, Australia.

Ringing at Melbourne, Australia, has now progressed to the regular ringing of touches of Grandsire Caters.

A party of Sydney ringers are making a tour to Melbourne, Ballarat and Adelaide in August. They will probably travel 2,500 miles in the course of two weeks and ring in five, or possibly six. towers !

Mr. S. G. Riches, of Bristol, has now rung peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. He left the Doubles to last at Wookey, Somerset, on May 3rd.
We hope that one of the friends of the late Mr. John William Keeble, of Feering. Essex, who have noted the peals rung to his memory, will give the Exercise an appreciation of his services to ringing. He died on April 4th.
A correspondent has forwarded to us manuscript of carol tunes suitable for eight bells. We are prepared to loan this to any readers interested to enable them to take a copy upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

The railwaymen's peal of Plain Bob Major at Tunbridge Wells on May 3rd was successfully accomplished in three hours and two minutes. Mr. Frank Bennett called one of his own compositions.

Gifts Place Association in Healthy Position Revival of Annual Dinner - A Good Year for Peal Ringing

THE 74th annual meeting of the Lancashire Association was held on April 26th at Bacup, the attendance being not as great as usual owing to travel difficulties. Favoured with good weather, ringing commenced early in the day at Newchurch, Waterfoot, St. Savtour's and Christ Church, Bacup, and continued until evening.

The service in Christ Church, Bacup was conducted by the Rey. A. L. M. Davies (Vicar) assisted by the president. the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith. Mr. Davies preached the sermon which was appreciated by all present. Mr. Alan Thomas was the organist. After the service over 90 people sat down in the schoolroom of Christ Church to an excellent tea.
The president, who took the chair, opened the meeting by thanking the Vicar of Christ Church for the welcome they had received to Bacup. The Vicar, in reply, said that he, his parishioners and ringers were greatly honoured by the Association holding their annual meeting in their parish and extended a welcome to everyone with the hope that it would not be long before the Association decided to come to Bacup again.

Apologies for absence were read by the secretary from Mr. S. H. Dearden, Miss J. M. Preston. Mr. J. Ridyard, Mr. P. Crook and Mr. G. A. Bell

The meeting continued with the reading of the minutes of the last annual general meeting held at Blackpool and the minutes of the extraordinary general meeting held at Holy Trinity, Bolton, on October 6th.
The following officers were appointed:-Vice-president, Arthur Tomlinson; general secretary, Mr. Fred Dunkerley; auditor, Mr. George A. Bell.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

At the committee meeting held at Wigan in February, 1952, it was decided to make an attempt to issue the annual report in time for the annual meeting. It has been the practice previously to wait until the annual meeting has been held before printing the annual report which has meant that the report was not in the hands of members until August. (This had been achieved and the annual reports were distributed to the members after the meeting.)

During the year committee meetings were held at Manchester and Mossley. The half-yearly meeting took place at Bolton at which place an extraordinary general meeting requested by the Liverpool Branch was held on the question of alterations to Rule 3 and Rule 11. The result was that both proposed alterations were defeated. 50-7 and 50-12 respectively.

A great deal of dissatisfaction was caused by the arrangements made for the re-opening of Liverpool Cathedral bells. The Assodiation was not invited to take part and was not officially informed of the opening. The committee wishes it to be made quite clear that the Liverpool Branch was in no way responsible for the arrangements made and did. in fact. do their utmost to make it an Open Ringing Day.

The committee decided to revive the annual dinner and an attempt would be made to hold it at Liverpool in the autumn.

During the year losses by death were four life members, eight ringing members and five non-resident members. The Association's membership is as follows:-Honorary life members 69 (new 2), non-resident members 462 (new 19), ringing members 1.028 (new 144), making a total of 1,559 members.
The ringing members are divided among the Branches as follows:-Blackburn 106. Bolton 106. Furness 77, Fylde 57, Lancaster 53, Liverpool 124. Manchester 131. Preston 115, Rochdale 107, Rossendale 54, Wigan 98.

RINGING REPORT

Peals numbering 163 were recorded for the year thus beating the 1949 record by one peal: This was an achievement of which the Association could be proud, inasmuch as 42 of these peals were in Surprise methods.
"We now have pleasure in adding to our list of "first peals in the method" the follow-ing:-Eastcote Surprise Major, Rutland Surprise Royal, Double Oxford Bob Major, Beddington Surprise Major, Spliced Surprise (12 methods) Major, Lyme Surprise Major, London Surprise Royal. The highlight of the Association's performances was the record length of Cambridge Surprise Royal, 15.480 changes, this being the longest peal of Royal yet rung, and the longest length in the method on any number. To Mr. John Worth, the conductor, and his band we offer our heartiest congratulations.'

Fifty-five members rang their first peal, 223 their first in some particular method or on higher numbers, 8 their first pcal on an inside bell, 2 their first as conductor and 18 their first in the method as conductor.

Mr . Arthur Tomlinson, who joined the Ast sociation in 1908. rang his 500th peal for the Association. We believe that this is an all-time individual record for the Association and we offer our heartiest congratulations to Mr. Tomlinson on being the first member of the Association to reach the 500 mark.
Mr. P. Crook rang his 325th peal for the Association, Mr. L. J. Williams his 275th. Mr. J. Ridyard his $250 \mathrm{th}, \mathrm{Mr}$. J. W. Grounds his 200 th. Mr. E. R. Martin his 175 th, Mr. T. S. Horridge his 150 th. Mr. R. Leigh and Mr. E. C. Birkett their 100 th. Mr. T. Barket and Mr. S. H. Dearden their 75th and Mr. J. Ashcroft and Miss M. E. Ridyard their 50th.

SPECIAL PEALS

Peals were rung to celebrate the Festival of Britain and the birthdays of H.M. Queen Mary and Prince Charles and also on the occasion of the visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen to the County Palatine. Peals were also rung to celebrate the centenary of incorporation of the Borough of Blackburn and the 76th anniversary of the consecration of All Saints', Whitefield. A peal was rung to commemorate the seventh anniversary of the consecration of the Bishop of Penrith. Complimentary peals were rung for the golden weddings of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolstencroft. of Ashton-under-Lyne, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, of Mossley, and for the silver weddings of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson. of Blackburn. and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker, of Mossley. A birthday peal was rung for Mr. George Staff. of Milnrow. on his 81 st birthday. He still rings twice on Sundays and walks a distance of six miles each time in order to be present in the tower.
Mr. A. Tomlinson again headed the list of leading peal ringers with 33 peals. Mr. J. Ridyard with 32 peals. Mr. R. Kenrick with 27 peals and Mr. J. Ashcroft with 26 peals.
Fifty members shared the conducting with Mr. J. Ridyard having conducted 28 , two of which were - firsts for the Association.' Mr A. Tomlinson 14, Mr. P. Crook, sen., 10 and Mr. R. Leigh 8.

HEALTHY FINANCIAL POSITION

The treasurer in giving his report after reading the balance sheet, said that from the figures in front of them they would see that the Association was at last in a healthy position but that did not mean that members should be complacent about it. The healthy position had been created by gifts and donations and the waiving of expenses by the general secretary and the Branch secretaries and the Association's thanks were due to these gentlemen. He said that the proposed increase of subscriptions to 3 s . would just about cover the running expenses of the Association providing members kept straight with their subscriptions.

It was proposed and seconded by the Manchester and Wigan Branches that Rule 4 be altered. making the annual subscription for ringing menbers 3s. except in the case of juveniles under 18 years of age whose annual subscription shall be 2 s . This was adopted.

ANNUAL DINNER

Discussion took place regarding the revival of the Annual Dinner. It had been hoped that this could be held on the same day as the opening of St. Nicholas' bells, Liverpool, but the secretary pointed out that this would be impracticable as he understood the date would not be fixed for some time yet and there wculd be difficulty in securing accommodation at short notice. In view of this it was mused and seconded that the secretary be empow:red to fix the annual dinner in Liverpool on November 29th or December 6th at a cost of up to 12 s . 6d. per head.
It was announced that Preston was next on the list to ne invited to hold the annual meeting and the secretary was instructed :o write inviting the Branch there to organise the arrangements.
A member suggested that at the next ant ual meeting local bands should be asked to be in attendance at the towers selected so that ringers travelling long distances would be able to get a ring.
The secretary said that he wished to place on record the assistance he had received during the year in maintaining the Association's business from Mr. Stephen Ll. Parry and Mrs. Eileen Collier and expressed to them his personal thanks.
Several members expressed satisfaction at the annual report being placed before them at the annual meeting for the first time, they believed, in the history of the Association and expressed their congratulations to the officials.

VOTES OF THANKS

The president proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. A. L. M. Davies, Mr. Mills and the local ringers, ladies and others for all the hard work and care that had been taken in making the afternoon at Christ Church an enjoyable one. He coupled with it thanks and good wishes to Mr. Selwyn H. Dearden, who is leaving the district.
The president asked the company to stand in silence as a token of respect to Dr. J. C. E. Simpson, whom the Association had lost and whose absence would be greatly felt not only in Lancashire but in other counties who knew him as one of the leading lights of the Exercise.

LADIES' GULLD

Midland District at Kingswinford

A very successful meeting of the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Kingswinford on April 26th which was attended by 22 members.
The Leicester District members, actively supported by other members, left Leicester by bus about $1 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Monotony is never allowed to bear down on such journeys and on this occasion the party was kept fully awake with handbell ringing and singing Ringing was delayed at Kingswinford owing to a wedding. A delightful service conducted by the Vicar was followed by a tea prepared by the local ladies which was all that could be desired both in quality and quantity.
After thanks of those present had been duly expressed by the vice-president to all concerned. the parting of the ways came-the gentlemen returning to the tower and the ladies to conduct their meeting. Five new members were elected and the next meeting is to be held at Mansfield on May 24th.
Further ringing included Cambridge Surprise Major by a ladies' band.
Members were present from Anstey. Aylestone, Beoley, Birmingham, Castle Bromwich, Claverley. Ibstock. King's Norton. Leicester, Nottingham, Stourport, Syston and Thurcaston.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

$T$HE annual meeting held at Worcester on Easter Monday provided its usual good attendance, upwards of 100 members and friends being present at the service and business meeting. By permission of Bishop Lasbrey the service was held in All Saints' Church at 11 a.m. and was conducted by the chaplain. the Rev. H. Hartley, and the Rev. B. Lane-Smith, assistant priest at All Saints'. Owing to indisposition, the organist, the Rev. J. M. Wale, was prevented from playing, but a last-minute search among the ringers present found a substitute in Geoffrey Baughton, of Clent, who proved to be an accomplished organist.

The general business meeting was held in College Hall with the president, the Dean of Worcester. in the chair and he was supported by Mr. C. Skidmore (Master), the Rev. H. Hartley (chaplain). Mr. J. D. Johnson (general secretary) and Messrs. J. R. Newman, J. Bass and W. Ranford (Freemen of the Association).

The president, in welcoming the Association, personally thanked them for the donation of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. made to the Cathedral Tower Restoration Fund during the year. Letters of thanks were also received from Evesham and Hagley for grants of $£ 10$ each to their respective Bell Restoration Funds

Reporting on behalf of the Central Committee, the secretary said a grant of $£ 10$ had been made to the rehanging and augmentation of the bells at Earl's Croome. It had been decided to devote a single page of the report to the names of the 'Freemen,' with a brief record of their years of membership and offices held. Following a loss of $£ 4$ 10s. in the General Fund for 1951, a charge of sixpence per copy for the annual report would be instituted this year. The reports cost 1 s . 9 d . each to print-quite the heaviest item of expendi-ture-and the committec had decided on this course in preference to increasing the subscription from 2 s . 6 d ., and he trusted members would co-operate. The annual dinner had been provisionally arranged at the Guildhall for October 25 th, and this date had been confirmed.

HALF-YEARLY MEETING DEFEATED

A resolution from the Northern Branch to institute a half-yearly meeting to be held in the summer in each Branch in turn came in for considerable discussion. It was pointed out that each of the three Branches already held quarterly and often bi-quarterly practice meetings and that other Branches were welcomed to these ; that it would clash with bands' summer outings and come close to the annual dinner: and would probably develop into nothing better than an extra Branch meeting. The proposal was heavily defeated, only nine voting in favour.

The librarian (Mr. C. W. Cooper) reported that during the year 15 applications had been received for the loan of 20 books and that since the report was compiled E. Morris's • Bells of All Nations' had been added to the library. Mr . Cooper was thanked for his services,

All the existing officers were re-elected. Worcester was again chosen for the next annual meeting and arrangements for the annual peal were left to the Master.

An appeal from the Rev. L. J. Birch asking for assistance towards urgent restoration. work at Hanbury tower was read and as the constitution of the fund did not allow of a grant from the Belfry Repairs Fund for this work a donation of $£ 5$ from the General Fund was made.

The meeting closed with sincere votes of thanks to the president. Dean and Chapter. headmaster of King's School. Bishop Lasbrey and Incumbents whose bells were available for ringing. These were All Saints', Claines, St. John's and Kempsey, the Cathedral bells, unfortunately. not being available owing to work on the fabric of the tower.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSN.  & LONDON DIOCESAN GUILD

Bell Restoration Fund Inaugurated

THERE was a large attendance of ringers  at the annual meeting of the Middlesex

 County Association and London Diocesan Guild at St. James', Clerkenwell, on April 26 th. The bells at St. Mary's, Holloway, were rung from $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to $1 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and St. James's, Clerkenwell, during the afternoon before the service, under the supervision of Mr. T. Price, the Association's Ringing Master. The service was conducted by Canon A. Rogers, Vicar of St. Mary's, Twickenham.The Rev. P. Gough (president) was in the chair for the business meeting and was supported by Messrs. A. W. and W. H. Coles (vicepresidents).
The meeting stood in silence in memory of the following who had died since the previous annual meeting:-C. F. Bailey (Leiston), T. Butler (Ellesmere). W. Claydon (Reigate). M. F. R. Hibbert (Bushey), H. Kilby (Willesden). H. G. Miles (Hammersmith). T. H. Reeves (Birmingham) and W. H. Shuker (Manchester).

The general secretary (Mr. E. C. S. Turner) presented the annual report of the activities during 1951 . Altogether 17 District meetings were held, besides two joint meetings with neighbouring Associations and a special Festival meeting on August Bank Holiday. Fifty-seven peals were rung, two less than last year. These included the first peals ever rung of Brinklow. Hereford. Kensington and Wirral Surprise Major. Three other methods not rung previously to peals by the Association were Apsley. Cornwall and Lindum Surprise Major. The lisi of conductors was headed by R. F. B. Speed (10), C. W. Roberts (9) and E. C. S. Turner (6).

Reference was made to the considerable progress made by two young members of the Hampton band. T. H. Blunt and P. A. Lawrence, and $F$. T. Blagrove, of Stanwell. The latter had taken part in many quarter peals ringing two bells. some of which he conducted. He and F. C. Price, the younger son of the Ringing Master, took part in one quarter peal on the back six at Feltham with each of them ringing two bells. Tribute was paid to Mr. Reuben Sanders who, at the age of 77 . rang the 38 -cwt. tenor of Waltham Abbey to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major.

The Master (Mr. Tony Price) referring to this performance, said that while there were many young ringers all competing to be the youngest to ring one method or another, it was a pleasure to acknowledge the skill of one of their oldest members. Mr. Sanders was a pattern for every ringer; he had never sought the limelight and there were few ringers capable of ringing a heavy bell with more precision and style.

Quarter peals reported numbered 161 ; the St John's, Hillingdon, band heading the list with 19.
Restoration work during the year included the installation of the ring of ten in All Hallows'. Twickenham. This tower formerly stood in Lombard Street and was moved to Twickenham before the war. The ring of eight at St. Mary's, Hampton, had been retuned and rehung on ball bearings, the ring of six at St. Lawrence's. Brentford, re-hung, and restoration work had also been carried out at St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton.
Officers elected for the ensuing year were:President, the Rev. C. P. Gough; vice-presidents. A. W. Coles and W. H. Coles; general secretary, E. C. S. Turner: assistant secretary, W. N. Genna; Master, T. Price; treasurer, C. W. Roberts; auditor, M. Hodgson: trustees, T. J. Lock, C. W. Roberts and E. C. S. Turner. Mr. W. H Oram was thanked for his long and valuable services to the Association and as treasurer during the past 24 years, and was elected an honorary life member.

An amendment of Rule 7 was adopted to allow the Districts to hold their annual meetings before the end of February instead of by the second Saturday of that month.

A donation of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. was made to the fund for the restoration of the bells of St. Margaret's, Uxbridge. It was also agreed to make a donation to St. Magnus-the-Martyr's, Lower Thames Street, when the work of restoring the bells had been put in hand. To inaugurate a Bell Restoration Fund a collection was taken and this realised $£ 514 \mathrm{~s}$.

Among the visitors was Mr. G. Joyce, from Hornchurch, who referred to the progress made by the Essex Association and offered to send the general secretary a copy of that Association's annual report. He thought that some of their ideas might be adopted by the Middlesex Association. The general secretary thanked Mr. Joyce for his comments.

Votes of thanks to the incumbents and the tower keepers. the helpers at the tea, the organist, and Canon Rogers for coming at short notice to conduct the service, concluded the meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LIKE CASSAR'S WIFE

Dear Sir,-Thank you, Madeline M. Croft, for your warning, sympathy with and tribute to The Ringer's Wife which I would like to support.

I remember the time, and not so long ago, when to suggest taking the ladies with us on our ringers' outing was to expect the tower to oscillate almost to the point of disintegration ; yet after having, I believe, revived the pleasure without any adverse effects, and I think everybody managed to get as much refreshment (liquid) as is good for one, if not as much as one wanted.
After all, one day's outing is not a great price to pay for, as you say, "two nights a week and little of him at week-ends,' and I am sure the day is mutually more pleasant and profitable.

We owe our wives a great debt; for although they sometimes seem indifferent and ' create,' yet they are usually pleased when we return home late, and want to know how we have fared.
Some only a few- get an opportunity of paying tribute to our wives' patience when receiving a presentation for 21 to 25 years' 'absence from home.' 'The Ringer's Wife,' like Casar's, should be above reproach, and have the patience of Job.
I am really concerned with the common or garden variety. You say 'she will at other times have the pleasure of hearing him talk of his ringing experiences.' Mine, after seeing and reading your article, said she never thought she would be front page 'Ringing World' news. then continued (aside) 'but then I once despaired of ever becoming a "ringer's wife." But she is the best and truest critic I know.
If one gets a cold. it is usually through going off ringing, never from gardening or spring cleaning.-Yours, etc.,

THE SOCIAL DUTIES OF THE PRACTICE
Dear Sir.-As a ringer's wife and a non-ringer I was very interested to read Mrs. M. Croft's letter on 'Ringers' Wives.' She seems to have covered all the responsibilities of these patient, long-suffering humans. There is one point, however, Mrs. Croft didn't mention. A ringer's wife must be prepared to wait to all hours, early or late, for the return of the wanderer. and aways be ready with a cheerful smile and something for the inner man; not forgetting to be prepared for one or two extras who call for a rest and refreshment before continuing on their way home, even if it is one or two o'clock in the morning.

I do not agree with Mrs. Croft on the ideal ringer's wife. I think the wife should take it upon herself to perform the social duties of the practice. If she performs her job of entertaining the members and suffering in silence all the intricate talk of 'course ends ' and mistakes made by this one or that, she has done her duty. She will also find, I think, that she will be far more appreciated by her husband and his friends. than iourneying in the 'run in ' and 'run out' in the belfry

I have also found one does not need to understand about a bob missed or a dndge put in the wrong place, for as one suffers the pains of listening to ringing debates one soon gets to understand a little of what is meant by these cryptic references.

As for a wife ringing, I, personally, think a ringer is better equipped with a non-ringing partner, for then he is forced to complete the inquest on the peal with his friends and not with his patient spouse when they have departed. Hasn't she suffered enough without having it dished up again?

RINGERS WIDOWS

Dear Sir,-How very refreshing to read your leading article recently, 'The Ringer's Wife'; how very true is every word of it!

I must tell you of an amusing experience which befell me. We have a small car and, of course, before we take any runs on a Saturday afternoon, I have to inquire, 'Any ringers' meetings anywhere ?' This particular Saturday there was a meeting in Rishton, Lancs, and away we went. While the bellringing husband is busy ringing, I usually have a run in the car or sometimes I knit or read, calling later to pick up my husband.

After my usual run I was sitting in the car waiting and looking up to the tower. (The ringers can be seen through the windows at Rishton.) Walking up and down slowly in front of the church was another lady who from time to time glanced up at the tower. Then she came over to me and said rather quietly, 'Are you a widow, too?' Feeling very sorry for this lonely-looking soul, I said, 'No, I'm waiting for my husband.' Bursting out laughing she said, I thought so. Mine's up in the tower, too.' I opened the car door and said, 'Get in and sit down.' But that's not all. The said husband came down and when he saw his wife talking to me he actually turned back for another ring.

Joking apart, though, I enjoy going out to the meetings. I have seen many lovely churches I should never have seen, met many people who are extremely friendly and, incidentally. I have read many books and done miles of knitting and crochet during my waiting time.- Yours etc.,
M. WALMSLEY.

THE OLD THEME

Dear Sir,-May I say a word on behalf of those ringers who do attend the services for which they ring? Do they not suffer from an evasion of responsibility on the part of some of the clergy?

I know a tower whose ringers engage in competitive ringing and are members of a sister association and Sunday after Sunday these gentlemen may be seen conversing outside the church whilst the service for which they have just rung is in progress, thus helping to give a bad name to all ringers. This state of affairs has been going on for years, and these ringers never hear the abuse which is consistently hurled at their more conscientious brethren. Surely the remedy lies with their own incumbent, who is the custodian of the bells they use to practise on for competitive purposes.

As a member of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers I often attend our meetings and I find it a little offensive to be almost invariably reprimanded along with the guilty in the address at the services. This seems to me to reveal a remarkable lack of fluency by the clergy and also to be entirely the wrong approach to the problem and much more likely to discourage church attendance than otherwise.-Yours faithfully.

ALTAR SERVERS

Dear Sir-May I, through your columns, ask for any ringers who are also altar servers and live within easy reach of Chislehurst, Kent, to get in touch with me with a view to ringing for the Guild of the Servants of the Sanctuary Annual Festival at the Church of the Annunciation, Chislehurst, on Saturday. June 7th. Details will be sent regarding time of service, etc.Yours faithfully.

'THE PRICK OF CONSCIENCE,

Dear Sir,-May I say very briefly how much I, unlike Mr. Raymond Philpott, have enjoyed Rodney Meadows' extremely humorous and amusing articles on 'Belfrymanship'? Let us have more of these articles; it is good for us to laugh at ourselves occasionally especially as most of us have at some time practised one or other of Mr. Meadows' suggestions (I know I have !). Can it be, I wonder, that the ' anti-Meadows-ists practise. Belfrymanship to a greater degree than their fellow-ringers and, in consequence, feel the prick of conscience at some of Mr. Meadows ${ }^{\text {p }}$ telling remarks?

Be that as it may, let us have more of these amusing articles from the pen of a gifted writer of humorous satire.-Yours sincerely,

MORE OF THE VIRUS

Dear Sir,-It is with regret that I have to inform Mr. Philpott that the evil virus, the vile emetic of Meadowsmanship, or shall we be less personal and say Belfrymanship, is spreading. To my horror I have just seen that a man by the name of Stephen Potter has got hold of the idea and is giving a lecture on Businessmanship in the B.B.C. Third Programme.
I can only, echo Mr. Philpott's cry: 'Whatever happens leave our women alone.'-Yours faithfully,

A PEAL QUESTIONED

Dear Sir, With reference to the peal at Wollaston. Worcestershire, on April 19th, I would say that I have been mixed up in this fascinating art for the past 40 years and I think this is one of the worst efforts I have heard. I am very surprised that the Ringing Master of the Worcestershire Association has allowed his name to be submitted with this peal. Between 5.15 and 5.30 p.m. there was an appalling and incomprehensible mix-up. If this sort of thing is allowed to go on then I think the art of change ringing should be scrapped. The public should not have to listen to such a jumble.

I am sure that if the late Mr. R. Matthews or Mr. W. Short or any of the older ringers had heard this the heavens would have opened up in protest. In writing this letter I feel I am doing my duty as I have heard a number of other complaints confirming my opinion of the ringing.-Yours faithfully,
P. C. RICHARDS.

APPOINTED TO CONSIDER THE

DECISIONS OF THE COUNCLL The following Report was adopted on the proposal of Mr. J. F. Smallwood, seconded by Mr. F. W. Perrens.

Since making our last report on the various Decisions of the Council, we have received a very small number of communications from the Exercise generally.

These have been carefully considered and we have revised our first suggestions slightly so as to give effect to the useful points which have been raised by correspondents, and also bearing in mind the discussion of the matter by the Council last year

We have endeavoured to deal with the various controversial subjects, but, as you will no doubt agree. no rules or recommendations can be effective unless they are adhered to in their spirit and in their letter.

We hope the suggestions we have made will find general acceptance.

THE REVISION OF • RULES AND DECISIONS

A Progress Report

Rules and Decisions' first appeared in 1904, and in revised form in 1927, since when there has been no further issue, and copies are nowadays quite scarce. It is timely, therefore, to consider a third edition. more especially as the Rules were completely overhauled in 1950, and the Decisions are now enjoying like treatment.

The dlanning of such a booklet necessitates choosing its most appropriate form. If it is to be another 24 years before a fourth edition then the contents of the third edition should be such as not to "date" the text unduly. But if the whole policy behind production is towards a more frequent, and hence more up-to-date text, then a sustained demand by the Exercise must be stimulated. It is the latter policy which seems the more valuable and inviting, and the basis of the accompanying proposals is that small supolements should be issued at the beginning of a new Council (a three-year interval), and that the next edition should follow after six or nine years.
The demand for a Central Council HANDBOOK should not, of course, be limited to Council members. or to Guild libraries, but every band of ringers should be encouraged to have a cooy in their own tower. whilst there must be many individual ringers who would wish to have their own cody. One imbortant result of such a wide circulation would be to bring a more intimate knowledge of the work of the Council to the notice of many more ringers, and so to further the aims and purposes of the Council.

Regarding production of the handbook it is hooed that the Council will authorise its publication at the coming meeting at Chester. though it is realised that this will involve a laree initial outlav. The price of the 1927 edition was is. 3d., so allowing for a rather larger book a present-day price of 5 s . would not be excessive. In effect it will be necessary to compile the handbook to economic specification. but with a first printing of 750 or 1,000 an attractive production should be possible at this price, at the same time allowing an adequate working margin of profit.

The committee's detailed proposals regarding the handbook were published in "The Ringing World,' No. 2,097, June 8th, 1951, page 361.

SCHEDULE TO THE REPORT

The Schedule to the Report was considered in detail and on the President's motion it was agreed that the committee amend and publish as soon as convenient. Permission was also given to proceed with the handbook

OBITUARY

MR. CONOR O'BRIEN

Mr . Conor $\mathrm{O}^{\prime}$ Brien, the distinguisbed cruising yachtsman, who died recently in Ireland, was in his early days a ringer of some ability. He rang up to London Surprise in the first decade of the century and was probably the first Irishman to do so. A correspondent suggests that he probably learnt to ring at Oxford. Later he rang at St. Patrick's, Dublin.

After his famous trip round the world in Saoirse ' ( 20 tons) in which he logged 31,000 miles during 280 days at sea, the Dublin ringers sent him a congratulatory message, though he had given up ringing by then.

MR. A. KING

It is with regret that we learn that Mr. A. King died in Victoria, B.C., on April 15 th.

Mr. King was a well-known ringer in London before going out to Canada in 1913. He was also at that time in the Metropolitan Police Force. Shortly after his arrival in Canada he formed one of the band of ringers at the Holy Rosary Church in Vancouver.
He voluntered for overseas service in 1914 and near the end of the war received a serious leg wound and was returned to Vancouver and placed in Shaugnessy Veterans Hospital. After leaving the hospital he rang regularly for the Vancouver band and then went to Victoria in 1938 and was an active member of the Christ Church Cathedral Guild in that city. In the latter part of 1951 his old injury began to cause him considerable discomfort and he entered the D.V.A. Hospital in Victoria where be died on April 15th.

The Christ Church Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled on the day of his death and also at the morning service on Sunday, April 20th. He was buried in the Military Cemetery at Esquimalt. B.C., all the pall bearers being bell ringers and a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside after the 'Last Post.'

MR. A. MANN

The death occurred at his home on February 8th of Mr. Alfred Mann at the age of 83 years. He had been a regular ringer at Christ Church, Epsom, for nearly 60 years and rang his first peal in this tower in 1902. At one time his four sons and four of his daughters were all active ringers in this tower. He was a vicepresident of the Surrey Association, being one of its oldest members.

The funeral took place at the Epsom Cemetery on Thursday. February 14th, preceded by a service at Christ Church which was a rended by a large number of old friends and ringers.
A short touch of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled was rung before the service by Mrs. Lathbury and Messrs. W. Lathbury, W. Harman. F. Smith. A. Winch, J. Beams, W. Robinson, and $F$. Oakshott, and at the interment a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung over the grave.

MERTON COLLEGE BELLS

THERE are some towers in which the peal ringer and tower visitor take a special pride in writing in their records. Among these is Merton College, Oxford, not because of the special tonal qualities of the bells but because of the curious ringing gallery. This gallery extends round the four sides of the tower above the arches; and the ringers stand, two on each side, behind the balustrades of the gallery. There is an opening in the centre some 20 ft . square, and the ringer looks down from the gallery into the chapel some 60 ft . below. From time to time references have been made in 'The Ringing World' to the difficulties of peal ringing at Merton with its widely-spaced circle and open centre. The bells, with a 28 cwt. tenor, hang approximately 20 ft . above the gallery with only the carved oak ceiling between.

These bells have a long history, and Mr. Frederick Sharpe, in volume iii. of 'The Church Bells of Oxfordshire,' delves into their history very methodically. The present eight were cast by Christopher Hodson in 1680, and they have the unique distinction of being the oldest complete ring of eight in existence by one founder. Each bell retains its canons and has been quarter turned. The massive oak frame made by Messrs. White, of Appleton, is to the pattern of the former century frame.

According to G. C. Brodrick's 'Memorials of Merton College ' (1885), these bells were mentioned in the Burser's rolls as early as 1288 , and were later increased to five. Some of them were cast when the massive tower was rebuilt in the 15 th century. Anthony Wood, who often rang here in the 17th century, mentions that the tenor was reputed to be the finest bell in England. It was during his lifetime that these bells passed through the furnace at the hands of Michael Darbie, an itinerant bellfounder who received the sanction of the sub-warden to recast the five ancient bells into a ring of eight. Wood gives this account of the first occasion on which the bells were rung:-
'1657. May 14th. All the eight bells of Merton Coll(ege) did begin to ring. And he (Anthony Wood) heard them ring very well at his approach to Oxon in the evening, after he had taken his rambles all that day about the country to collect monuments. The bells did not at all please the curious and critical hearer. However, he plucked at them often with some of his fellow-colleagues for recreation sake. They were all afterwards recast, and the belfry wherein the ringers stood (which was a little below the arches of the tower, for while the five hanged the ringers stood on the ground), being built of bad timber, was plucked down also; and after the bells were put up againe, this belfry, that now is above the arches, was new made and a window was made to give light.'

In another reference Wood strongly condemns Darbie and Dr. Jones, the sub-warden, of stealing metal from the original bells. Writing in December, 1675, he records that his mother and two brothers gave towards the casting of the bells, and adds: 'They being so cast, severall were found to be ugly dead bells for the truth is (that) . . Darby who cast them stole a great deal of mettle from them (and Jones they say complice with him); and whereas the old tenor was the best bell in England, this is now the worst.'

When Christopher Hodson came to Oxford for the purpose of recasting Great Tom, the Merton authorities engaged him to recast thęir ring. This took place in 1680, and Hodson received about $£ 300$ for his work and some metal. Merton bells, however, are not considered to be of outstanding quality, but Mr. Sharpe suggests that they would not sound so harsh to the listener outside the tower if the belfry windows were properly treated for bell acoustics. Originally in Hodson's days the bells were rung from the ground floor.

Anthony Wood and his contemporary ringers must have had exceptional skill in controlling these bells with a 28 cwt . tenor and 20 cwt . seventh with such a long length of rope and the primitive methods of hanging then in vogue.
Merton was not the only college that Michael Darbie succeeded in persuading to convert their ancient five into eight. At New College, four of his bells remain, the present third, fourth, eighth and tenor. He tried to use his persuasive tongue with the authorities at Magdalen. The ten at Magdalen in Mr. Sharpe's opinion are among the best in the country, and comprise one of the best examples of 'old standard' tuning. The treble, second and fifth are by Abel Rudhall, and the third and fourth by Abraham Rudhall I. The oldest bell in the tower, the seventh, is by William Dawe, of London, circa 1410. The tenor, of approximately 19 cwt ., was cast with the sixth in 1623 by Ellis Knight, of Reading, and these are regarded as some of the finest products of this postReformation foundry.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Lewisham District

Youth predominated at the quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District, held at West Wickham on April 26th, when fifty ringers enjoyed delightful afternoon and evening ringing, directed by Mr. H. Hoverd, Ringing Master.

The service was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. Canon J. Hough (at whose invitation West Wickham was being visited), and his inspiring address on the joys of being a Christian was much appreciated.
The company were the guests of the local ringers for tea served in the Assembly Hall, the Rector being at the head of the table.
The Rector presided at the business meeting, where seven new ringers were elected.

Mr. J. Dafters read a report of proceedings at the committee meeting, K.C.A., at Ashford on Easter Monday, and, arising therefrom, the need for a supply of service books was again insisted on. A motion was carried urging the general committee to exert itself to the utmost to make sufficient copies available for use at all Association services.

Chelsfield was chosen as the place of the summer meeting, to be held on Saturday, July 26th.

Apologics for absence were read from Messrs. J. Hurrelf, P. J. Spice and I. Emery. Mr. Hurrell was that day celebrating his golden wedding anniversary; Mr. Emery was unavoidably detained elsewhere by the demands for his services by his fellow-octogenarians. The district secretary was instructed to write to Mr. Hurrell and send the meeting's congratulations and good wishes on the happy occasion.
Mr. J. Dafters and Mr. E. Barnett referred to the passing of two old and prominent members of the district-Mr. H. Warnett, sen., of Lewisham, and Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., who had created the Lewisham District as known to-day. Tribute was paid to the memory of the two members in the traditional manner.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

TIHE annual meeting and Ringing Festival was held at Truro on Saturday, May 10th, with the bells of the Cathedral (10), Kenwyn, Kea, Probus (8) and St. Erme (6). Over $150^{\circ}$ members were present.
The ringers attended the Cathedral evensong, which was sung by the choirboys and included an anthem. The sermon was preached by the Bishop of Truro and the lessons read by Canon Simcock, the Cathedral treasurer, and Canon Roxby, the Sub-Dean. After his sermon the Bishop presented certificates for long service to ringers who had served in towers of the Diocese for 40 years or more. Over 60 were eligible, and about three-quarters of these were present and went up to the Bishop's throne and received them. The Bishop also had tea with the ringers and signed all the long service certificates as patron of the Guild.

At the meeting all the officers were re-elected and a tribute was paid to Miss Symons, the president, for her splendid work for the Guild, and a vote of sympathy sent to Mr. Southeard, the Ringing Master, who was lying very seriously ill in Truro Infirmary, and expressing hope that he would soon be back.
The treasurer, Mr. S. Robinson, reported a balance of over $£ 51$, and the peal secretary, Mr. C. E. Lanxon, that 20 peals had been rung for the Guild in 1951.
Canon Gilbert stated that he had relinquished the secretaryship of the Mid-Cornwall Branch and that the Rev. J. R. Jose had been appointed to succeed him. Mr. Lanxon proposed, and Mr. Lander, of St. Stephen-in-Brannel, seconded. a vote of thanks to Canon Gilbert for all he had done in establishing the Mid-Cornwall Association,
It was agreed to revert to the old arrangement of holding the annual business meeting in February and the Diocesan Ringing Festival in July, the 1953 meeting to be held at Bodmin and the festival at Stratton.

The Editorial Committee desire to impress upon those who ring peals or quarter peals the importance of a voluntary contribution to help balance the accounts of 'The Ringing World.' These contributions are vital.

Mr. H. W. Badger, of Thame, a well-known member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, on May 8th was installed Worshipful Master of St. Mary's Lodge, Thame (No. 1763). He would be very pleased to attempt a peal with other members of the craft during his year of office. Will ringing members of the craft please communicate with Mr. Badger, North Street, Thame, giving Masonic details.

The quarter peal at Gorleston-on-Sea on April 22 nd was conducted by Mr. M. J. Ling and not as published.

Congratulations to the Rev. D. Ballard, Vicar of Stoke-under-Ham, on his first quarter. Since his bells were augmented and rehung he has taken a keen interest in ringing and created a very happy spirit in the belfry.

The peal of Bristol Surprise Major at Chester-le-Street on May 3rd is noteworthy, as it is about 25 years since a peal in this method was rung by a resident band of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association.

A correspondent asks us to correct two errors that appeared in the issue of April 11th, 1952, page 226. The peal of 5,056 Pudsey Surprise Major was composed by R. F. B. Speed and not C. H. Martin as submitted to us, and the peal of 5,088 Superlative Surprise Major by F. W. Grocott and not H. G. Cashmore.

The peal at Misterton, Leicestershire, carries with it a rather amusing incident in which the elderly local church cleaner played the 'leading lady.' During the first 720 the belfry door was opened, to the surprise of the band, to admit the aforesaid lady, who at once commenced her duties in the belfry, weaving her way between ringers, collecting buckets, brushes, soap and other various items and then entered the body of the church by the only other door to the much louder melody of buckets, pans, etc. All this and she never said, 'Good evening.' The band smiled in turn, but carried on.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 general secretary of the Sussex County Association, has been appointed Master in succession to Mr. G. W. Cecil, who is leaving the county. Mr. B. W. White is the new hon. secretary. A report of the annual meeting at Brighton will appear in our next issue.Mr. F. W. Grocott, of the North Staffordshire Association, has gone to Trieste.

The bells of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, are now in order. There will be service ringing on the second and fourth Sundays in each month at 5.15 p.m.

Lavenham bells are now in ringing order, having been rehung on self-aligning ball bearings and fitted with a new set of proportionately graded clappers. The work, which is most satisfactory, was carried out by Mears and Stainbank. At a special practice meeting recently everyone present complimented the hangers on the excellent 'go' of the bells.

Members of the North Staffordshire Association who participated in the Easter Monday peal at Silverdale have a vivid memory of the last half-hour. There was first an attempt to break down the door and, this having failed, attempts were made to stone the ringers through the open window. The conductor, writes our correspondent, who was himself well out of range of the stones, forced the band to continue the peal and would not allow the striking to suffer.

Because of damage to the pinnacles at each corner of the tower of Holy Trinity, Hull, the bells are not to be rung. This is the first time, except during war years, that the bells have been silent on Lord Mayor's Day. Doubt is expressed whether the repairs will be completed in time for the bells to be rung for the Coronation.

SOUTH OF ENGLAND RINGERS' RALLY

another popular bournemouth gathering

THE sixth annual rally and George Williams Commemoration Dinner at Bournemouth on May 3rd proved to be the most successful function of this series so far held. Proceedings started with a ringing tour in the morning and ringing at Christchurch Priory and St. Peter's, Bournemouth, in the afternoon.
Canon A. L. E. Williams, Vicar and Rural Dean of Bournemouth, presided at the dinner at the Devonshire Hotel, attended by a company of 81 . Supporting the chairman were the Rev. J. L. and Mrs. Featherstone and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, of London.
The loyal toast was honoured to a wellstruck course of Grandsire Caters.
In a welcome to the visitors the chairman spoke in appreciation of the ringers of St. Peter's, a most loyal band who were also active in the work of the church. He gave a special welcome to Captain E., Samson, a former ringer and server at St. Peter's, Canon R. P. Price, the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Featherstone and Mr. and Mrs. Hughes.
After referring to the muffled peals rung in memory of the late King, George VI., and to the ringing for the proclamation of the new Queen, Canon Williams said: 'I want to leave this thought with you. You have been ringing for great historic occasions. but may I remind you that you will never ring for a greater occasion than when you call people to worship
God on Sundays in God's house. May you all be blessed and inspired in all your work.'

THE MEMORY OF GEORGE WILLIAMS

The toast of the evening, 'The Memory of George Williams,' was submitted by Mr. A. A. Hughes, who said he felt it to be a great honour and privilege to be asked to propose this toast in memory of that great man and ringer who lived to the age of nearly $92-$ George Williams.
He had known George Williams by sight and by reputation for a great number of years, although his personal contacts with him were few. Unfortunately, he had only rung with him on two or three occasions, but he used to meet him once a year at Central Council meetings.
The last memory he had of Mr. Williams was when the College Youths held a monthly meeting a few months before his death. He remembered Mr. Williams at that great age ringing the third to a course of Cambridge Royal absolutely faultlessly with his bell always in the right place. It showed that even at that great age his mentality was unimpaired.
He did not intend to go through his life history as many of them knew it already. He took part in over 1,500 peals and conducted over 1,000 on tower bells, which even in these days was a great record. His greatest worth, however, was his character. He was a good Christian, a good churchman and a benefactor to the Church. 'I know that to him his Church came before his bellringing,' said Mr. Hughes. - He also had a very happy, lovable nature; he did his full share of public work, and his high integrity was very well known in his business contacts.'

SPEAK FOR ENGLAND

The toast of 'The Bells and Bell-ringers' was submitted by Canon Price, who said they heard very occasionally of certain kinds of friction-perhaps between the parson and the ringers, but that was not the case in their part of the world and they all felt that the ringers were a very real and living part of the family of the Church and as clergy they were very grateful for it.

The ringers do a great work for the Church and for the national life. They speak for England and I do feel that the church bells do that and the men and women who ring them.

We live in a difficult age. A young soldier was stationed at Salisbury and was asked what he thought of the city. He replied that he saw a "smashing movie" there. Fancy living in the city of Salisbury, beneath the shadow of that great spire, and the only thing you bring away is the remembrance of a "synthetic blonde"! The Church has to try to bring back a truer sense of proportion and we clergy feel that you play a great part in the life of the Church and in the life of England.

We are united in our admiration and gratitude for the devotion of those who ring the bells. It is good to see in these days in this room so many young people to carry on this great craft. Bell-ringing does help people to keep young, and in that respect I must mention George Preston, who is an inspiration at Christchurch Priory, leading the ringers up to the tower every Sunday and afterwards into the church.'

NON-RINGING WIVES

Mr. W. B. Cartwright thanked Canon Price for proposing the toast, but regretted that he had not read 'The Ringing World's' leading article aboutt ringers' wives. If he had he would certainly have mentioned the ladies who stayed at home when other people went ringing. They owed a lot to those non-ringing wives and they should be definitely included in the toast list.

The Visitors' was submitted in humorous vein by the Rev. J. L. Featherstone, who said he was deeply moved by Mr. Cartwright's reference to the ladies, which reminded him of the days when Sylvia Pankhurst was fighting for votes for women. She. was making an eloquent appeal at Hyde Park Corner and caused amusement by shouting, 'Where would you men be if it were not for us women?' A little Cockney's voice answered from the back, 'In the Garden of Eden, Ma, eating strawberries.' He thanked Mrs. Hughes for her handbell selections, which really brought out the magic of the bells.

Mr. W. G. West, general secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, replied, and he had a special word of thanks for Mr. Arthur Davis and the organising committee for the excellence of the arrangements. The previous day he was looking through the peal records of a Salisbury tower and noted that it was recorded that Mrs. Williams rang $1-2$ to a handbell peal Mr. Williams thought apparently that it was just as well to get the ladies interested.

The high standard of the musical entertainment was a feature of the evening. Songs and duets were sung by Miss Pamela Stone and Mr. Charles Beresford, with Mr. Johnston as accompanist. They are members of the staff of Canford School, Wimborne, where a serious attempt is being made to form a change ringing band from among students at the school. Mrs. A. A. Hughes' handbell selections were exquisite and she held her audience spellbound by her artistry. She played Grieg's 'Solveg Song,' Dvorak's ' Humoresque,' Haydn's 'Brown Birds Singing,' and Elgar's 'Land of Hope and Glory,' with Mr. Johnston proving an expert accompanist on the piano. Bournemouth ringers hope that Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will come again next year. Change ringing on handbells included 216 Spliced Major by W. E. Young, Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, W. T. Matkin and R. Hurst, and a course of Grandsire Caters by Mrs. Marshallsay, Messrs. Davis, Matkin, Price and Hurst.

A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, speakers and artistes was carried with acclamation

CROYDON BELL FOUNDER'S WEDDING

Mr. H. M. Howard - Miss R. C. Phillips

MARRIAGE of great interest to their many friends took place on Wednesday, May 14th, at the Church of St. Barnabas, Adaison Road, London, W.14, between Mr. Henry Michael Howard (a director of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston), son of the late Mr. Gilbert Howard and of Mrs. Howard, of Stafford Court, London, W.8, and Miss Rosamond C. Phillips, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Phillips, of Brook Green, London, W.6.

The bridegroom, who is responsible for the tuning of all bells cast at the Croydon Bell Foundry, is becoming increasingly well known to ringers all over the country. He has been exceptionally successful with the number of perfect splices which he has made since the war, and is also learning to ring at Fulham Parish Church under the instruction of Mr . Hugh M. Page.

The bride. who made a charming picture in a figured satin dress with flowered headdress. was attended by five bridesmaids in pale lemon spotted muslin. Dr. John Moor, son of Dr. F. Moor, of Norwich, who is a ringer, acted as best man. The service was fully choral and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends of both families, and by many members of the Croydon Foundry staff. Among those present were Brig. and Mrs. H . A. F. Crewdson, uncle of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Craig (managing director), Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Newson (general manager), Mr. and Mrs. F. C. W. Stevenson (bell sales manager), Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Cannon. Messrs. J. Knight, B. Shallcrass, J. Spraget (belltuner), E. Poole and F. Ridge.

Mrs. C. F. łohnston, widow of the late Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Dodds were also present.
As there is no ring of bells at St. Barnabas'. arrangements were made for handbells (specially cast for the occasion) to be rung outside the church by Messrs. H. M. Page, J. F. Smallwood. H. Betcher. F. W. Goodfellow and J. Chilcott. and a well-struck course of Grand-sire Caters was rung, to which the bride and bridegroom listened.

About 200 guests were present at the reception given at 96 . Cheyne Walk, Chelsea, once the home of Whistler, the artist, and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Howard left for the Lake District for the first part of their honeymoon, after which they are going on to Switzerland and Italy.
On May 10th Mr. Howard was presented with a solid silver coffee service as a token of esteem by the staff and employees of Messrs Gillett and Johnston.

THE LATE MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS

Dear Sir,-Through illness I was unable to attend the commemoration dinner held in Bournemouth on May 3rd. I have been a member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild for over 50 years and I should like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to pay a tribute of respect to that great gentleman and ringer, the late Mr. George Williams.
I enjoyed and valued his friendship for 45 years and our first peal together was rung 39 years ago. His life's work and devotion to our art is finished but the result of that work will live on for many years. His great heart of love and human sympathy, his charming personality and his never-failing courtesy were some of the beautiful characteristics which endeared him to all those with whom he came in contact. Little wonder was it said 'that to know him was to love him.'-Yours faithfully,

FRANCIS S. WILSON.

RUISLIP OUTING

Ringers of St. Martin's, Ruislip, visited the tulip fields of Lincolnshire for their outing on May 10th. Mr. W. Dawson, of Bicker, who met them near Spalding, acted as guide. Ringing took place at Sutterton, Swineshead and Bicker. The day's jqurney was nearly 250 miles.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

Presentation to Mr. E. Beadsmoore

The spring meeting of the Midland Counties Guild at Ticknall on April 26th was marked by a presentation to Mr. E. W. Beadsmoore, who was that day celebrating his 79 th birthday.
This ceremony took place after tea. The secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton) drew attention to the fact that the meeting coincided with Mr. Beadsmoore's birthday. He recalled that he joined the Midland Counties Association in 1890 and for 62 years had been a stalwart of campanology in the Burton area. During the last 40 years he had been captain of the ringers at Ashby Parish Church.
Mr. Cotton asked the Ringing Master (Mr. S. H. Jones) to present a gift to Mr. Beadsmoore on behalf of all the members of the Guild, and assured him that although the gift was small, it conveyed a host of good wishes.
As the gift was presented the members joined in according musical honours to Mr. Beadsmoore.
Other business at the meeting was mainly formal in character. Two new members from Repton were elected and it was announced that the next meeting would be held at Netherseal on May 24 th.

Miss J. Cochrane proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. G. Evans), who conducted the service, the organist (Mr. W. G. Soar, of Ticknall) and the ladies who prepared the tea.
Prior to the meeting a peal was rung at Breedon-on-the-Hill which the ringers wish to associate with the birthday celebrations. On May 3rd, at Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Mr. Beadsmoore's native place, a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung by J. W. Cotton 1. E. W. Beadsmoore 2. E. Morris 3, W. G. Soar 4. F. Lowe 5. F. Bailey (conductor) 6, H. Taylor 7, A. Mould 8.

Following a birthday tea, Mr. Ernest Morris, on behalf of the company, wished Mr. Beadsmoore 'all the best' and spoke of their association over the last 45 years in meetings, practices and peals. The most notable of the last-named was the 'Ernest peal,' when eight Ernests rang the composition of another Ernest while yet another Ernest witnessed it. Mr. Beadsmoore seemed to have the secret of perpetual youth as he (the speaker) never knew him to be any different throughout the ycars. Mr. J. W. Cotton supported this expression to which Mr. Beadsmoore suitably replied.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Salisbury Branch

Some 30 members from 16 towers in the Salisbury and North Dorset Branches on May 3rd enjoyed their first ring on the pleasan! light six at Donhead St. Mary since those bells were rehung by Taylors. They had been rededicated in January, and the local ringers had extended a warm welcome to the branch to hold a quarterly meeting there.
The Rector, the Rev. H. D. Peel, R.D., conducted the Guild service, at which the chairman played the organ and the secretary read the lesson. He spoke of the great pleasure which the bells gave to all who heard them, and as the church stands high on the downs the bells are heard over a wide area. After a very generous tea, provided by the local ladies, the short business meeting was held, two new members being elected from the Donhead St. Mary band.
The bells were again put to good use, and many of the ringers also visited Berwick St. John for a ring there before returning to Salisbury.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NEW ZEALAND'S APPRECIATION OF

 MR. A. J. LANCEFIELDDear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{By}$ this time Mr. Albert J. Lancefield will have arrived back at his home in Ashford, Kent, after his visit to New Zealand and Australia
The members of the Christchurch Cathedral Bellringers Society wish me to express their sincere thanks and appreciation for all he has done for them and in the interest of bell-ringing in New Zealand. Through his efforts and conducting, two peals were rung at Christchurch and also one at St. Peter's, Hamilton, for the opening celebrations, these being the first since 1903. In recognition of his valuable service to the Society, we were very pleased to elect him a life member.
It was with regret that we had to say farewell to him, but we know that back in England he will have greater opportunities for his talents and we wish him every success in the future.
Though we have lost the services of Mr Lancefield, we are very fortunate in welcoming Mr . Fred Savage, of Bristol. He is now settled in his own home and we wish Mr. and Mrs. Savage and their children every success and happiness in New Zealand. We feel sure that all Fred's help and assistance our Society will continue to advance.
I cannot close this letter without mentioning how pleased we are to receive visits from Ray Idle, late of Northants. His place of employment is over 150 miles from Christchurch, but his interest in change ringing is such that whenever anything important is on, he is always willing to travel to Christchurch to assist. We hope that the day is not far off when he will be able to settle nearer our tower.
In conclusion, we send our best wishes to all ringers in England.-Yours sincerely,

ANOTHER YOUNG BAND

Dear Sir ,-I should like to congratulate the young Essex band referred to by Mr. Peter Came in his letter published in 'The Ringing World ' of May 9th.
By coincidence, in May 2nd's issue, there appeared a report of a peal at Little Aston. Staffs, on April 19th, which was not only the first peal there to be rung by a local band, but all who had taken part had learned to ring during the previous 18 months. The average age was 16 years. Four ringers are members of Little Aston choir and three are also servers.Yours faithfully,
Little Aston, S. Staffs.

GREAT ST. MARY'S BELLS

Dear Sir,-The bells of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, are well known throughout the ringing world, and beyond that too, for they have on several occasions been broadcast. It was for these bells that the so-called Westminster Chimes were composed by Dr. Jowett, Regius Professor of Civil Law, in 1793; these chimes were afterwards copied at Westminster and then throughout the world. All the world listens to them every day before the nine o'clock news. Countless people would count it a tragedy if these chimes ceased to sound after 150 years on the bells for which they were composed, but we are advised that we must spend $£ 2,500$ on a new frame if the bells are to go on. This is more than it is possible for Cambridge to raise by itself, and with the kind publicity of your paper we would like to make a worldwide appeal for help to preserve the bells. Donations will be gratefully received and acknowledged if sent to me at Great St. Mary's Church, Cambridge.-Yours truly,
G. E. A. WHITWORTH, Vicar.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING
Dear Sir,-Many letters have been published in 'The Ringing World' re Sunday service ringing. This prompts me to write regarding the position of our ringing at Danbury, Essex. During Spring, 1950, Messrs. E. W. and E. G. Roast formed a band of young ringers, whose ages ranged from 12 to 17 years. By Sunday, May 2nd, 1950, we were experienced enough to ring rounds and call changes for Sunday services.
The bells have now been rung for every Sunday morning and evening service for two whole years without missing a service, and also for early Holy Communion at festivals. Can any other tower record this with so young a band?
The band now numbers 18 , and the bells are rung to many methods, namely, Double Court, Double Oxford, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Oxford Bob, St. Clement's and Cambridge.Yours faithfully, Danbury, Chelmsford.

PEAL AT CRANBORNE

Dear Sir, Owing to a breach of Rule 5, regarding membership, the peal of Stedman Triples rung at Cranborne on Sunday, February 24th, 1952, cannot be accepted by the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and will not be included in the records for that Guild.
W. C. WEST, Hon. Sec.,

Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

HODSONS OF ST. MARY CRAY

Dear Sir,-lt is a coincidence that in the same issue of 'The Ringing World 'containing the report of the octogenarians' peal, in which it was mentioned that I was born at St. Mary Cray, that there should be a reference in the editorial article to the founders of Great Tom of Oxford, especially the founder of the bell as it is to-day, Christopher Hodson. He must have been a splendid workman. It states that he was of London, and although we know there was a Hodson foundry in London, there is proof that the Hodsons lived at St. Mary Cray and had a foundry there, but I was never able to locate its site
Stahltsmidt, in his 'Church Bells of Kent,' states that he saw in the baptismal register of St. Mary's Church, Cray, the registration of Christopher Hodson, son of John and Mary Hodson, bell founders of this parish. He goes on to say that after the failure of two other bell founders, the authorities at Oxford sent for Christopher Hodson, of St. Mary Cray, to recast Big Tom, and that he went there and cast it in Christ Church close. I hope to go there some day to see and hear it.-Yours faithfully,
I. EMERY

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD
Record Number of New Members
FAVOURED by beautiful weather the annual meeting of the Coventry Diocesan Guild was held in Coventry on April 26th. Members to the number of 132 were welcomed by the Provost, the Very Rev. A. T. Koward, in the nave of the ruined Cathedral.
A course of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells by Miss M. Beamish 1-2, T. W. Sheppard 3-4, F. W. Perrens 5-6, F. E. Pervin 7-8, A. H. Beamish $9-10$, following which the Provost conducted the party to various parts of the Cathedral giving a very interesting talk on the history and future plans of the building The party then descended to the Chapel of Unity where a short service was held.
Tea was taken in the Council House at the kind invitation of the Mayor (Councillor H Weston) but in his absence in Jugoslavia the Mayoress welcomed the visitors.
The business meeting followed in the Council Chamber where the Mayoress handed to the Master of the Guild (Mr. F. W. Perrens) a beautifully-bound book inscribed in gold lettering to be used to record peals rung by Guild members from the year 1950 onwards. The peal book is a gift from the Mayor of Coventry.
After the departure of the Mayoress and the Provost. the business proceeded. The president (the Rev. R. R. P. Rigby, Vicar of Chilvers Coton) was unanimously re-elected. as also were the Master (Mr. F. W. Perrens) and the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mrs. D. E. Beamish). The vice-presidents were elected with the addition of the Mayor of Coventry and Mr. A. Roberts, an 80 -year-old stalwart of the Guild since its inception. The hon. District secretaries were duly appointed-Messrs. A. J. Hinde for Nuneaton District, R. J. Edden for Stratford and Warwick District and J. L. Garner-Hayward for Coventry District. Mr. F. E. Pervin was re-elected as hon. auditor. There was a record number of new members elected-five from Coton, four from Keresley, one from Stoke, three from Kenilworth, three from Bilton. four from Clifton and eleven from Tysoe, making a total of 32 . Salford Priors was decided upon as the place of the next meeting in July.

The balance sheet showed a balance at the end of 1951 of $£ 3217 \mathrm{~s}$. 11d. including a $£ 20$ Defence Bond. The balance in the Bell Repair Fund was $£ 177$ s. and a collection at the close of the meeting added $£ 4$ to this fund. Nine honorary members. two non-resident members and 142 ringing members paid their subscriptions in 1951. Thirty six peals were rung during the year two 'firsts' for the Guild being Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Boh Maior on handbells and Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Royal on tower bells.

HANDBOOK PLANNED

According to a decision made by the members at the January meeting it was announced that a handbook was in course of preparation giving details of towers in the Diocese containing five bells and over for ringing, name and address of head ringer, times of Sunday service ringing and practice night. also names of Guild members and towers to which attached. The handbook and the peal book would, therefore, fill the gap made by the withdrawal of the report which was formerly presented every two years.
The members stood, just prior to the end of the meeting, to the respected memory of Mr. L. J. Hinde, of Bulkington, who had passed to higher service in January.
Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening on the bells of Allesley and Stoke churches.

Whittleele-woods, Lancs.-On May 5th. 1.284 Kent Treble Bob Major: T. Barker 1. J. Charnock 2. I. Jones 3, L. Walmsley 4. S. Tuson 5. J. Blackburn 6. C. Crosshwaite (cond.) 7. A. Hatch 8 . Rung with belis half-muffied in memoriam Edward Ramsbotham.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD ANNUAL MEETING

AN OUTSTANDING YEAR REVIEWED

TUHE annual general meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held at Leicester on May 3rd and was well attended. The afternoon was spent ringing at the Churches of St. Mary de Castro, St. John the Divine and St. Margaret's, ringers having the choice of 8,10 and 12 bells.
Following the Guild service, held at St. George's, where a large congregation was addressed by the Ven. C. L. Matthews, Archdeacon of Leicester, members and friends numbering 150 assembled in St. George's Hall for tea. On the platform were the Lord Bishop of Leicester, Assistant Bishop Hollis, Archdeacon Matthews, the Vicar of St. George's and his organist, together with the general officers of the Guild and members of the General Committee.
Opening the business meeting, the President (Mr. H. J. Poole) expressed his pleasure and that of the gathering at having the Lord Bishop and other high dignitaries of the Diocese with them. He regretted that the Archdeacon of Loughborough was not with them; it was the first annual meeting the Archdeacon had not been able to attend. Mr. Poole welcomed the visitors, among whom were Mr., Mrs. and Miss Beamish, of the Coventry Diocesan Guild. He then invited the Lord Bishop to take the chair for the meeting. On doing so, the Bishop said he looked forward each year to the annual meeting of the Guild. The Guild, he said, was a strong body of loyal church men and women and he rejoiced to hear the bells well rungas they usually were.

A GREAT YEAR FOR PEALS

The hon. peal secretary (Mr. S. Burton) then gave his report for 1951. Peal activity, said Mr. Burton, again achieved a high standard in both quantity and quality. A total of 251 peals were rung, 58 more than in the previous year. The popularity of multi-method peals was a notable feature. Doubles in 12, 15, 17 and 20 methods were each the most methods rung for the Guild; the three last named were rung by the Syston District.

The 80 method Minor peal of the previous year was surpassed in 1951 by peals of 94,105 and 126 methods rung by the Loughborough District. The last named was the greatest number of methods ever spliced into nine extents. A peal of 12 Spliced Major methods, rung at Bottesford, was the largest number of Major methods rung for the Guild. Peals of Spliced Surprise Royal in two methods were also the first for the Guild, and one peal of Spliced Surprise Maximus by the Cathedral band was the first ever rung in six methods.

New methods rung for the first time were Kent Treble Bob Fourteen on handbells, Wye Surprise Royal and Braunstone Surprise Major.
Methods rung first for the Guild were Premier and Watford Surprise Major, Double Norwich Caters and St. Simon's Doubles. Four peals of Cambridge were rung in one dayMinor, Major, Royal and Maximus. The six ringers of the Minor peal took part in each of the other peals.
Forty-one members rang their first peal and 370 their first in the method. There were 44 different conductors, of whom six called their first peal and 43 called their first peal in the method. Personal 'milestones' were: 550 th peal, A. Ballard; 400 th, S. Burton; 200th, H. Bowley; 100th, J. Fidler, B. G. Warwick; 50th,
C. W. Hall, E. F. Payne, R. Beniston, Jos. Taylor, H. Poyner, B. Austin and W. M. Burton.

Mr. H. G. Jenny, one of the Guild auditors, reported that the books and accounts were drawn up in a very satisfactory manner and that those concerned were to be congratulated on their work.

A DEFICIT OF $£ 47$

Mr A. E. Rowley, hon. treasurer, reported that the General Fund, which included the sum of $£ 88 \mathrm{6s}$. received from resident and nonresident members, did not meet expenditure by some $£ 47$. The expenditure in 1951 had been greatly increased by the high cost of printing the 1950 report and by the reprinting of the rules. It would thus be realised why a report was not being printed this year. The Bell Repair Fund had received, mainly from collections at services held at meetings during the year, the sum of $£ 283 \mathrm{~s}$. 1 d . The amount paid out in grants during 1951 amounted to $£ 31$ 10s., leaving a balance of $£ 1442 \mathrm{~s}$. A new item, the Catering Reserve Fund, appeared for the first time in the balance sheet. It amounted to nearly $£ 10$ and was the accumulation of small surpluses from various occasions. It was hoped to increase this fund as, some time, the Central Council might be entertained at Leicester. There was now an accumulated fund amounting to $£ 23117 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d. in hand, compared with $£ 273$ 4s. 10d. last year. The report was duly adopted.

The hon. general secretary (Mr. W. A. Wood), in his report for 1951, dealt with the wider activities of the Guild. Quarterly meetings had been held at Syston, Whitwick and St. John the Divine's, Leicester. At the Syston meeting it was decided to alter the date of the 1951 annual general meeting from May 5th to April 28 th in order to leave May 5 th clear for the Festival of Britain ringing. This was in accordance with the expressed wishes of the Central Council. Many peals, quarter peals and shorter lengths were rung. In many places the ringing was done at intervals during the day.
During the year, Mr. John Grant, of the Cathedral band, Mr. S. Coe, of Earl Shilton, and Mr. J. Needham, of Barwell, were made honorary life members in recognition of long and faithful service to Guild and Church. Oadby tower was, by local request, transferred to the Market Harborough District. Grants towards bell repairs were made from the Bell Repair Fund to St. Mary de Castro, Leicester, and to Swepstone. It was interesting to note that, to the end of 1951, grants totalling 125 guineas had been made from this fund. Already in 1952 a further 45 guineas had been granted, making a total to date of 170 guineas. These grants were additional to local efforts, and letters of appreciation had been received from the various parishes helped in this way.

ENCOURAGING YOUNG RINGERS

The total number of Guild certificates sold or ordered to date numbered 567 . All districts continued to make progress, the number of meetings had been maintained and in some districts average attendance had improved. This improvement was mainly due to special attention being given to young ringers and to learners and to arranging ringing to suit their varying capabilities. It had resulted in much lower losses of new young members. One district reported that no members were lost during the year. The regular district outings had been held and there were some additions during the year. Another district was adopting the Hinckley idea of an annual dinner and social. These affairs did much to foster the spirit of friendship among members and their families. Joint meetings were held with the Nottingham District of the Southwell Guild, the Midland Counties Guild and the Peterborough Guild. The Syston and Melton Districts also held a joint meeting.
A most successful Festival dinner-social was held at Market Harborough. It was well attended, especially by the local people, and a first-class dinner was followed by a social that was enjoyed by everyone. The president gave a talk on bells at Walton, a small villame in the Market Harborough district, possessing only four bells. The six local ringers had all joined the Guild. During August, the president organised a special gathering of the veteran ringers of the Diocese. Districts were consulted in order thiat no one was missed and transport was laid on. A very successful meeting resulted. Ringing took place at two towers; these towers were specially selected. The 26 veterans did justice to an ample tea arranged for them. One band of over 80's rang Grandsire Triples, their total age amounting to 659 years. The oldest ringer was 86 years of age and another had been ringing for 69 years.

The Guild membership was practically the same as last year, although during 195180 new ringing members and 23 non-resident members had been received into the Guild. The general secretary drew attention to the comparatively large number who were slack in paying their subscriptions. An increasing number of towers have now fully paid up members and it was to be hoped that the other towers would follow their example. There was no need to wait until asked before paying up; someone in each tower should be appointed to collect subscriptions and remit them to the local secretary. The thanks of the Guild were again due to the local officers and to all who had in any way helped to make the work of the Guild more efficient and who had helped to make the social side of the Guild such a success.
Mr. H. J. Poole was re-elected president, and the two vice-presidents, Mr. P. L. Taylor and Mr. E. C. Turner, were also re-elected, as were the remaining general officers, Mr. A. E. Rowley (hon. treasurer), Mr. S. Burton (hon. peal secretary) and Mr. W. A Wood (hon. general secretary).
Bottesford, on July 26th, was selected for the next quarterly general meeting.

PEAL BOOKING FEE

The proposition of Mr. A. Ballard, seconded by Mr. H. B. Bowley, that a booking fee of $6 d$. per person taking part in a Guild peal be charged was, after discussion, carried. It was pointed out that this fee, which would come into force next January, would be of great value in helping to meet the ever increasing cost of printing the report.
Mr. Ken Roe referred to the recent peal of Surprise Royal rung at Loughborough. This peal had been rung under the name of the Guild and had been published in "The Ringing World ' as London Surprise Royal. Mr. Roe objected strongly to the name 'London' in the title of the peal. He, therefore, proposed that the peal should be recorded in the Guild records as a peal of Surprise Royal and not as a peal of London Surprise Royal, as no such method existed. Mr. J. Carter supported the proposition and it was made clear that the objection was to the name 'London, and not to the peal as such or to the ringers taking part. Other members took part in the discussion and the proposition was carried.

The Lord Bishop of Leicester, before ending the meeting with a prayer and blessing, congratulated Mr . Poole on his re-election, to which the president suitably replied and said some of the most enjoyable meetings he had attended were the five-bell meetings. Mr. E. C. Turner, on behalf of himself and Mr. P. L. Taylor, spoke of their appreciation of the honour of being returned again as vicepresidents.
Most of those present then moved to a more suitable room, where a social evening was spent. Games, handbell ringing and dancing were kept going until a late hour and, in the usual words, a good time was had by all

THE DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Mr. W. Lancaster

部HE annual general meeting of the Derbyshire Association was held in Derby on April 19th. Between 60 and 70 ringers, including several visitors who had cycled long distances. took advantage of a very warm day and enjoyed ringing during the morning at St. Andrew's (10) and during the afternoon and evening at the Cathedral (10) and St. Peter's (8). Mr. Freebrey, Mr. Glew and Mr. Taylor shared the duties of Ringing Master and the requirements of all were well covered.
The annual service was held in the Cathedral and in an interesting address the Provost, the Right Rev. R. S. M. O'Ferrall, made reference to the Diocesan Jubilee celebrations and gave a short history of the Cathedral with particular reference to the tower and bells. Mr. Heath Gracie was at the organ and the service included 'A Hymn for Ringing Festivals' composed by G. Campbell Grills. The Association treasurer, Mir. E. Fletcher, had gone to considerable trouble to ensure that sufficient copies of the words of the new himn were available for the service.
A substantial tea was provided in the Diocesan House, adjacent to the Cathedral, by the wives and friends of the ringers of the Cathedral and St. Peter's companies and this was followed by the annual general meeting at which the chairman was the president, the Right Rev. R. S. M. O'Ferrall.

GIFT TO FIRST SECRETARY

After the chairman had given a hearty welcome to members and visitors. a presentation of an eight-day chiming clock was made to Mr . W. Lancaster, who was general secretary from the formation of the Association in 1946 until he resigned in 1951. Glowing tributes were paid to the work of Mr. Lancaster, especially during the early life of the Association. Mr Lancaster thanked members for their kindness and said how much he and his wife would appreciate the gift.
The annual report was presented by Mr. A. B. Cooper, the Association general secretary. This showed that the Association as a whele had not maintained the very successful activity of the previous year. A special effort was made to mark the opening of the Festival of Britain, but in some Districts there had been a marked decline in Association activities. The Derby District had made considerable progress in peal ringing, particularly in advanced methods. and the members expressed thuir gratitude to Mr. W. Whitehead, of Hinckley, and Mr. F. W. Grocott of Stoke, for opportunities offered in this direction.

A total of 49 peals was scored during 1951 as against 68 during 1950, the reduction being entirely due to a falling-off in peal ringing activities in the Chesterfield District.

The financial statement, presented by the treasurer. Mr. E. Fletcher, revealed a loss on the year's working of approximately $£ 10$. The largest item of expense was connected with the printing of the annual report and it was reported that the gentleman's agreement to introduce a peal booking fee of sixpence per ringer was likely to go a long way towards reducing the deficit. The treasurer appealed to District secretaries to ensure that all subscriptions were collected within the current year.

Election of officers.-Mr. J. Bailey had indicated that he wished to resign from the position of vice-chairman and Mr. W. Lancaster was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. The treasurer Mr. E. Fletcher. and one trustec. Mr. J. F. George. who retired according to Rules. were re-elected.

Alterations to Rules.-In order to ensure that the ringing arrangements at the annual and quarterly meetings should be fully covered it was decided to add the following clause to the Association Rules:- The District Ringing Master shall be responsible for the arrangement of the programme for ringing at all meetings held in the District in which he or she is appointed.
A proposition by Mr. George Freebrey in connection with the recording of peals aroused considerable discussion and after a vote had been taken it was decided to add the following to the Association Rules:- 'Conductors of any peal rung for the Association shall, within one month, send full details of the peal, including the composition, to the peal secretary. The Association shall not recognise any peal for which the conductor does not comply with this condition.'
It is hoped that visiting conductors will take note of this addition to Rules.
Insurance of ringers.-Reference was made to the recent tragic fatality at a church in Nottingham and it was decided that an approach should be made to incumbents of churches where members ring to verıfy the position regarding insurance.
Peal booking fee.-After some discussion it was decided not to amend the Association Rules to include a condition about peal booking fees but to continue the gentleman's agreement to pay sixpence per ringer for each peal rung for the Derbyshire Association.

Vote of thanks.-Mr. F. Adams, the Chesterfield District chairman, proposed a vote of thanks to all who had helped towards a very successful meeting and tea. This was supported by Mr. D. Carlisle and passed with acclamation.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of May 24th, 1912 THE LATE MR. J. PETTIT
The death of Mr. James Pettit has removed a well-known figure from the ranks of the Exercise, one whose gentleness of nature, quiet dignity and personal charm won the affection, as it commanded the respect, of all who knew him. It was with the College Youths that he rang most of his peals, and, as leader for many years of the St. Paul's Cathedral band, in its ranks he occupied a most prominent position. Born on April 25th, 1834, Mr. Pettit [rang his first peal] on December 3rd, 1857, and thereafter he took part in most of the notable performances by the Society, [including] 8,448 Kent Treble Bob Major at Bethnal Green on March 3rd, 1866 . . . . while two years later he was one of the band that rang the 15,840 of Kent Major at Bethnal Green, which H. W. Haley conducted.

No one has probably called Holt's Original so many times as Mr. Pettit. . On July 27th, 1872, he called the composition at Waterford Cathedral, the first peal ever rung in Ireland, and on October 23rd, 1884, took part in the Original non-conducted at St. Giles-in-the-Fields. On December 10th. 1881, [he called] the first peal on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, having previously been appointed conductor there .... while in 1883 he conducted the then record peal of Stedman Caters, 11,111, in 6 hours 25 minutes, at Fulham on December 8th. He was also the conductor of that memorable attempt for the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Cornhill, when, in a peal of 10,030 changes with only the last two bobs of the coming home course to be called, the tenor man collapsed, after 7 hours 35 minutes' ringing.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD AT BURNHAM

East Berks and South Bucks Branch

GOMETHING of a novelty was introduced at the annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch, held at Burnham on April 26th. When it was decided to recast the bells and provide a completely new frame, the whole village rallied round its ringers in an all-out effort to raise the large sum of money required in the shortest possible time. In 1950 and 1951 a procession of decorated vehicles of great length with people in fancy dress and old-time costumes, a veteran as well as a modern fire engine, and, of course, a band, toured the parish and left it the poorer, but the bell fund thereby the richer. All the colour and gaiety of these occasions were filmed, and the large concourse of ringers much enjoyed seeing in colour what a Buckinghamshire village could do in support of its bells and their ringers.

The attendance must have been a record. Following the afternoon ringing was the service, conducted by the branch chairman, the Rev. E. C. S. Lowman, Vicar of Bray. In his address the Vicar of Burnham, the Rev. J. Wildman, spoke of the ringer's duty to God.
At the conclusion of the service the Blessing was given by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg. A feature of the service was the number of robed choirmen, all ringers, who augmented the boys from Burnham choir in leading the singing, in which over a hundred ringers joined.
After the tea which followed came the film show and then the business meeting. Before the business began the whole company stood in silence as a mark of respect to His late Majesty King George VI. An apology was received from the Bishop of Buckingham, president of the branch, regretting his absence.

The hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker, then presented his reports. The balance of $£ 245 \mathrm{~s}$. 7 d . reported last year had fallen to £8 4s. 3d.., but this was accounted for by a grant of $£ 5$ to Fulmer, of $£ 10$ to the Canon tion of $£ 710$ s. to the General Guild. He reported a subscribing membership of over 300 , of whom less than 25 were members in 1919 ! He condemned those people who rang peals in methods not recognised by the Central Council and stressed the fact that the Guild's rules clearly stated that members would abide loyally by the decisions of the Council.
In answer to this, one member stated that unorthodox performances were rung for the members' enjoyment, and would continue to be rung, but that those ringers participating in such peals were perfectly prepared to abide by the Central Council's decisions regarding their publication or acceptance.

Mr. T. J. Fowler, Branch Ringing Master, in his report, said there was always room for improvement, and that there were still far too many slovenly ringers about. He made special mention of the good work done for the branch by Mr. W. Butler (Clewer), and said that the £50 voted by the Guild towards Hughenden's restoration fund was the largest grant yet made.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: Branch chairman, Rev. E. C. S. Lowman (Bray); Ringing Master, Mr. T. J. Fowler (Cookham); Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. R. Biggs (Hughenden) ; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker (Stoke Poges). Mrs. A. D. Barker and Messrs. W. Birmingham, W. Butler, F. Russell, W. Welling and D. Poole were elected to the committee.
The Master addressed the meeting and congratulated the branch on the large number of new members, especially ladies. He hoped as many members as possible would attend the Guild's annual festival at Oxford on July 12th.
The Guild general secretary, Mr. W. Hibbert, had some scathing remarks for those who rang advanced methods and finished there. 'We are always struggling,' he said, 'to get enough ringers to man the bells for our Sunday services. I think that those people who ring peals of Spliced Surprise, etc., should devote more of their time and skill to the teaching of new recruits.

OBITUARY

MR JOSEPH GODDARD

The Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild has suffered an irreparable loss by the sudden death on May 3rd of Mr. Joseph Goddard, its oldest life member. Whilst ringing a farewell peal to the Rev. W. J. Allen Price, Rector of Bromborough he collapsed and died on the way to hospital.

Mr . Goddard was 77 years of age and was born at Mottram-in-Longdendale, Cheshire, where he learnt to ring. There he was a faithful member of St. Michael's band until he left the district and came to Wirral in 1922 (circa). At Mottram he participated in a number of peals, all Kent Treble Bob Major, including several long lengths. Early in 1906 he rang 3rd through peals of 8,896 changes, 10,176 changes and 12,000 changes. These were evidently practice peals, for on June 8th, 1906, he rang 3rd in the then record length of 16,800 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Mottram in 9 hours 40 minutes. In all he rang 56 peals- 52 Kent Treble Bob Major and 4 Plain Bob Major. Since leaving Mottram he had been a most faithful ringer at St. Barnabas', Bromborough, and recently was acting as tower captain.
It was his proud boast that he started work as a boy of 13 years as a cotton operative, and throughout all his working life until he retired at the age of 72 years he was away from work only four days. This absence was caused by his removal from Mottram occasioned by his wife's desire to return to her native heath.

As he had never suffered a day's illness in his life his death was a great shock to all his ringing friends. The post-mortem examination revealed that his collapse was inevitable and that the exertion of ringing was in no way a contributory cause of his death. Nevertheless, the passing of 'Old Joe' will be mourned by Wirral ringers young and old, and it is hard to realise that never again will his broad Cheshire dialect and hearty laugh be heard at any of our gatherings.
The funeral was at Bromborough on May 7th. The service was choral, and the Rev. -. Boultbee, Vicar of St. Mark's. New Ferry, officiated. Following the committal handbells were rung at the graveside, and later a halfmuffled peal of Plain Bob Major was rung.
Ringers attending were: Messrs. J. Cooke (Wirral branch chairman), A. J. Martin (Wirral branch secretary), H. S. Bailey, F. T. Parry, R. S. F. P. Harris, G. Rixon, G. Pink, D. Melling, Miss P. Owen, Miss T. Owen. Miss D. Minnis and Miss T. Uytendal (Bromborough). Messrs. G. F. Pickthall, A. L. Shepherd. A. J. H. Scott, P. C. Holmes and T. W. Woods (Eastham), C. B. Pemberton, A. T. Sutton and S. D. Sutton (Bidston), Mr. and Mrs. J. Mann and Mr. E. Ash (Birkenhead St. Mary's). Mr. D. Parry (Port Sunlight) and Mr. C. Wiltshaw (Bebington). Messrs. A. L. Sheoherd, A. J. H. Scott, A. T. Sutton and S. D. Sutton acted as bearers.
Wreaths included tributes from Wirral Branch and Bromborough ringers.

MR. H. J. FITTER

Mr. Harold Jack Fitter died on May 1st in his 64th year, and by his passing Yardley Parish Church, Birmingham, has sustained the loss of a great stalwart.
He learnt to ring at Solihull Church quite early in life, although he did not progress very far in change ringing. He will be remembered for his work in Yardley tower, where he taught several to handle a bell. among whom was his son, Albert Harold. He was mainly instrumental for the scheme for the transformation of the poor old six bells into Yardley's beautiful modern octave.
'Jack' Fitter will be missed by his friends of the St. Martin's Guild, whose meetings he regularly attended. To the widow and only son the sympathy of his many ringing friends will be extended in their very sad loss.

LIVERPOOL TENOR RECAST

On Wednesday, April 30th, the recasting of the bells of Liverpool Parish Church (Our Lady and St. Nicholas) was completed, and there was a very happy expedition from Liverpool to Loughborough to witness this event. A coachload of members of the congregation and their wives reached Loughborough in good time for lunch, in spite of having to collect a wellknown Cheshire ringer on the way. We were very pleased to have with us the Rector of Liverpool, the Rev. R. Nelson, and at Loughborough we were joined by the Rector's warden, Dr. H. Jasperson, and his wife.

At the Bell Foundry we watched the casting of a dozen or so bells of various sizes, ending up with the 42 cwt . tenor for the new ring of twelve at Liverpool (half-a-crown's worth of which now belongs to the said well-known Cheshire ringer!). In another part of the foundry the front eleven were lined up and waiting for us, fresh from the tuning machine, and here we tried-without very much success -to tap some Grandsire Triples on the middle eight. After inspecting the rest of the foundry and sounding a bewildering variety of notes on the many bells which lay around in great profusion, we made our way to the campanile, well satisfied with our new twelve.
Our efforts on the famous light ten were not wholly successful, but we did bring round most of the touches we attempted. Finally, we said good-bye to the bell foundry with a course of Grandsire Caters out in the road, rung on the St. Nicholas' handbells, which have now been well and truly put in order by Taylor's. We were more at home with the grand ring of ten at the Parish Church than with the 'toys' at the foundry, and we enjoyed more than an hour's ringing here before adjourning for tea. The Rector expressed the thanks of the party to Mr. Taylor for the hospitality he had shown us, and for the excellent job that was being made of the bells.
It is hoped that the bells will be first rung at the consecration of the new church, which is to take place on October 18th. The following Saturday, October 25 th, is to be an open ringing day, and we hope soon to publish full particulars of the arrangements.

Bath and Wells Diocesan Association

The bi-annual Corporate Communion of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Easton-inGordano on April 27th, when the ringers joined the parishioners at the early celebration in St. George's Church.
Ringing commenced at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and continued until service time when the celebrant was the Rector, the Rev. W. J. James.
Ringers from Clapton-in-Gordano, Easton-inGordano. Long Ashton, Marksbury, Nailsea and Wrington afterwards sat down to an excellent breakfast in the Parish Hall, despite some little difficulty over boiling eggs!
A return was then made to the tower to ring for the morning service.
M. J. H.

MR. S. WARREN STURGIS

The death took place on April 24th at his home, 66, Marlborough Street, Back Bay, Massachusetts, U.S.A., of Mr. S. Warren Sturgis (84). a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths.
For 44 years he was a master at Groton School and a former teacher of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.
After the death of Dr. Arthur H. Nichols, Mr . Sturgis did his best to keep alive the interest in tower-bell ringing, and as recently as Christmas Eve arranged for a group to meet at the Advent Church in Boston. Readers will remember that there was a ring of bells at Groton School.

LINCOLN

AFTER an absence of 30 years, the Central Council are back again in Lincoln. Formed on April 29th, 1899, the Lincoln Diocesan Guild has made a big contribution to the advancement of the Exercise, and for years the voice of Lincoln has carried weight in ringing councils. We think of the Guild's three masters-the late Rev. H. Law James, a theorist and forthright speaker whose mathematical mind opened up new vistas in method construction; the late Mr. Rupert Richardson, whose sound commonsense, generous hospitality and knowledge of ringers made him one of the most influential men on the Council; and the present Master, Mr. John A. Freeman, whose long association with Lincoln Cathedral, his friendliness and his reputation as a 12 -bell ringer have gained him the esteem of the Exercise. The Council will be very welcome at Lincoln, and the programme of ringing facilities and hospitality and general interest arranged augurs well for a happy meeting.

Every American knows of the White House; English ringers have also their White House from where for many years official communications and guidance have emanated. The meeting next Tuesday ends an era of 21 years, during which Mr. G. W. Fletcher has served the Council faithfully and efficiently as its secretary and treasurer. His resignation, which came before the Chester meeting, was received with regret. Mr. Fletcher kindly consented to remain in office for another year to enable a special committee of the officers of the Council to make a mature recommendation. Their choice is the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Vicar of St. Michael's, Southampton, and chairman of the Methods Committee. His nomination has received the support of 24 members of the Standing Committee. There is a second recommendation before the Council, Mr. E. A. Barnett, of Crayford, Kent. One might say of Mr. Barnett that he was nurtured in the art of change ringing-his father and grandfather being famous ringers. Before he had turned 15 years he had rung 100 peals and he has an encyclopædic mind on ringing matters. To whoever is appointed we will pass on the comment given by an old journalist to your Editor when he accepted the editorial chair of a newspaper: 'You will make mistakes, but take comfort in the thought that anyone else in the chair will probably make * more mistakes than you.' To the Exercise we would say, Extend to your new secretary the greatest of all giftscharity. Following one with 21 years' experience will not be easy, but the load of office can be lightened by friendly helpfulness on the part of the many who hold key positions in the Guilds and Associations of the Exercise.

BELLS FOR THE MODERN CHURCH

(From 'The Irish Bell News')

'I'S the Tubular Type the Answer?' is the question asked under the above title in an article published in the 'Irish Builder and Engineer' recently. The author, who claims to be a 'campanologist,' alludes to the subject of Church bells and chimes of the future; 'bells that will in many church designs be amply accommodated in a slender ultra modern tower, turret or cot.' He speaks of the love for bells of many since early Christian times, and then deals with the high cost of construction and upkeep of ecclesiastical buildings and the need for the dimensions of belfries to be reduced to a minimum.

The writer says that 'the solo bell, peal of bells in the traditional form of bell-founding requires plenty of room, in the belfry, which means a tower of considerable size.' The answer he advocates is tubular bells, and states some advantages for these types of bell over the traditional form: 'The tubular bell is the decided answer to the ultra modern Church ring.'

This article should not pass without some comment. There is a number of sets of tubular bells-or, correctly speaking, 'tubes,' in churches throughout the country. They range from one tube up to ten in number; their lengths vary from four feet to nine feet, and a frame to accommodate an average set of eight tubes can be ten feet high by four feet wide by three feet deep-which requires considerable space-whereas a chime of eight real bells could be accommodated in a space not much larger.

Tubes sound only one note-it is a monotone and is therefore 'monotonous' to the listener, whereas bells, when properly tuned, will strike a harmonious chord, and even one bell is music in itself. Far better to have one good bell than a set of monotonous tubes. A large sweet bell, having a long range of sound, can be accommodated in an average tower or even an ultra modern one. Quite recently a bell, 3 ft . 3 in . diameter, was hoisted into a tower which is only 4 ft . 6 in . in diameter.

True campanologists everywhere will advocate a ring of bells rung by a team of bellringers. Due to local conditions, rings of bells are not always possible; in such cases we press for chimes of bells, or one good single bell. While we disagree with the author in his advocation of 'tubular bells,' we do, on the other hand, congratulate him on part of his final paragraph, which is reproduced here:-
'We find to-day a tendency to adopt recorded bellringing and chiming in plans for the future. This is only recorded as on a gramophone and has been properly referred to as "canned music." It is in truth sham. Keep the tradition of the actual living bell alive in our churches.'

With these remarks we are in full agreement, but let it be in no other form than the traditional bell. We hope that our readers will do all in their power to keep alive the living bell by pressing for rings of bells, chimes of bells, or even the humble single bell as the case may be, in preference to tubes or 'canned music.'

The Editorial Committee desire to impress upon those who ring peals or quarter peals the importance of a voluntary contribution to help balance the accounts of "The Ringing World." These contributions are vital.

Considerable self - control was shown by Miss M. E. Richards during the ringing of a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Stratton St. Margaret, Wiltshire. Just after the half-way mark had been passed a bee stung her arm. Apart from a slight flutter, the ringing proceeded smoothly, and at the end of the peal the sting was removed.

For visitors to Lincoln. The times for Whit Sunday ringing at Newark Parish Church are from 9-9.30 a.m. and from 5-6 p.m., and not as published in 'The Ringing World' last week.
Mr. Sydney Sage, who ' completed the circle' of Wilmslow tower on May 10th, is believed to be the first ringer to accomplish this in this Cheshire tower.

Three days after the F.A. Cup final at Wembley a peal of Wembley Surprise Major was rung at Conisborough, Yorks. Facetious members of the band suggested that the footnote should read, 'In memoriam, Arsenal.'

Mr. P. W. B. Semmens contributes an interesting article headed 'Campanology, or the art of bell-ringing, to the I.C.I. Magazine. The Exercise will feel flattered by the sub-title, ' Cambridge Surprise Royal,' says the bellringer, and everyone in the belfry knows what he means! Nevertheless, it is a first rate article and is one of the best introductions to change ringing.

Bristol University Society at a general meeting on May 20th elected the following officers for the 1952-53 session: President, Professor S. H. Piper, D.Sc.; Master, Miss B. Enid Lloyd Roberts; secretary, Miss Heather J. Tesson (address, McAdam, Stapehill, Wimborne, Dorset) ; treasurer, Miss Jeannette A. Rose; tower secretary, Mr. Alan P. Cave; committee member, Mr. Robert J. Stokes. devotes much of his leisure to teaching the young has been perturbed of late by the ease with which he loses his temper. To remedy the defect a large envelope hangs on the wall of the belfry, marked with a red cross for danger. Inside is a big black T. When irate, 'George; walks over to the envelope, pulls out the $T$ and puts it back again, thus relieving his feelings. The novitiates heave a big sigh of relief and 'the Mother Superior' smiles benignly.

Chester Diocesan Guild have the honour of ringing the first peal of Colville Bob Major.

Kingston Seymour, Somerset, bells are to be restored. A last quarter on the old bells was rung on May 12th.

Mr . Brian D. Threlfall is hoping to arrange a Brians peal. Will those interested please write to Thorncroft, Thornton Hough, Wirral, Cheshire?

The mid-Essex ringers and friends will be on tour in Somerset for a week commencing Aug. 16 th . There are several vacant seats. Anyone interested should get in touch with Mr. A. H. Everett, Boreham, Essex.

Mr. C. Chambers, of 147, Garmonth Avenue, King's View, Durban, S.A., is seeking information about Mr. Dick Sworder, who died three or four years ago. He particularly wants to know what part of England this' ringer came from.

Will the visitors who applied for the use of Cookham, Berks, bells please repeat their application, with an assurance that it will be granted. Inadvertently the Vicar returned the original letter without passing on details to the tower captain, Mr. T. J. Fowler, of Black Butts, Cookham, Maidenhead, who does not know when to receive the ringers.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

1952 Festival at Bridport

The annual festival of the Guild was held at Bridport on May 10th and attracted an attendance of about 200 ringers and friends.

The annual general meeting was held in the Church House, the Master of the Guild (Canon C. Carew Cox) presiding, supported by the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. W. C. West). A civic welcome was accorded the visitors by the Mayor of Bridport (Mr. H. R. C. Palmer). In reply, the Master said the aim of the Guild was the highest standard for Sunday service ringing. He commended ringers on their regular work and said from his contacts throughout the diocese there were few instances where there was not this regular Sunday ringing.

From time to time a great deal has been delivered from the pulpit and in the ringing Press about ringers and their connection with the Church,' he said. 'I don't believe a lot of it. I believe ringers have such interest in the Church that it enables them and impels them to give up their time on Sundays for ringing.'

Canon Cox told the Mayor that the Guild was formed in 1882 and that in the last 20 or 30 years in particular there had been 'tremendous progress' in ringing.

Messages were read from the Earl of Shaftesbury (president) and the Bishop of Salisbury, who expressed his 'appreciation of the work that ringers do for the Church, Sunday by Sunday, and to wish the Guild every success in the coming year.
In his annual report, Mr. W. C. West said that during the period of national mourning the number of peals, quarter peals and attempted peals was 'legion.' Ringers were certainly not found wanting at that time, he said. Membership remained steady, with 1,078 members. There were 30 peals rung, and he spoke of the fine achievements of the Lyme Regis band, who had rung the first peal of Lyme Surprise and Double Oxford and Little Bob Major, the first for the Guild. 'I don't think any other tower in the diocese could come up to such performances,' he added.
Officials were re-elected as follows: President, Lord Shaftesbury; Master, Canon Cox; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. C. West; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. F. Slatford ; committee, officers and Messrs. A. Macdonald, G. H. Harding, F. Precey and R. H. True; auditors, Mr. J. S. Weeks and Mr. C. F. Andrews.
The Guild service was held in Bridport Parish Church, the address being given by the Archdeacon of Sherborne, the Ven. J. C. Chute.
Towers open for ringing were Bridport, Bradpole, Beaminster, Lyme Regis, Burton Bradstock, Loders, Symondsbury and Netherbury.

CREATING INTEREST IN A HAMPSHIRE VILLAGE

On a recent Wednesday evening some ringers from neighbouring towers met at the Church of the Holy Cross, Binsted, to try the bells, which had not been rung for a number of years. With the aid of one or two borrowed ropes, some oil and the tightening up of the gudgeon bolts of the fourth bell, the six were raised and various touches rung, including a course of Cambridge.

The Vicar is anxious for a band to be trained for the bells to be regularly rung, but they will need the attention of a competent bellhanger and tuner before much can be done upon them. The tenor is a 14 cwt . bell and Irom limited knowledge the back five are by T. Mears and the treble added at a later date by Barwell, of Birmingham. The tower clock takes up a lot of valuable space and rather spoils the circle of ropes.
It is hoped to arrange another evening's ringing in the near future to try and rouse some local interest.
W. J. PAICE.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT ON METHOD EXTENSION

THE members of the Central Council have received the following as part of the Methods Committee's report this year. In the hope that the question of Extension can be finished with at the coming meeting of the Council, the members of the Committee are anxious that the Exercise as a whole should know what is proposed and they invite comment :-

Since presenting our last report to the Central Council at Whitsun, 1951, we have further considered the subject of Extension in the light of comments and suggestions made by various people prompted by our invitation published in
'The Ringing World.' In particular, we have directed our attention to the problem of the movement of the bells in the coursing order from lead to lead.

It will be appreciated that, if the structure of a lead of an extension be satisfactory, the "likeness ' of the blue-line of the extension to that of the parent will be governed by the order in which the leads are joined together. This order is determined by the sequence of pivot bells from parent to extension. Each pivot will move all the bells two distinct numbers of places through the coursing order, dependent upon whether the lead-end place is 2nds or ultimate; e.g. if in a Major method the pivot bell be the 3rd followed by an ultimate place, the lead head will be 3527486, each bell having moved one place back in the coursing order, but if followed by a $2 n d s$ place, the lead head will be 5738264 , each bell having moved two places back in the coursing order. Moreover, each movement may be regarded in two different ways, backward or forward. In the example given above, the first movement may be regarded as one place backward or six forward, and the second movement as two backward or five forward. Thus, if it is desired to extend an ultimate place Major method having the 3rd as pivot, and the movement be regarded as one place backward. the pivot sequence in Major, Royal and Maximus will be 3, 3, 3: but if the movement be regarded as six forward. the required sequence will be $3,5,7$. In the first case the lead heads will be 3527486 , 352749608 and 3527496e8t0; but in the second case 3527486. 795038264 and ET907856342 respectively. It will be readily seen that while in the first case the blue line of the extensions will closely follow that of the parent, in the second place it will be so badly cut up that it will bear very little resemblance to that of the parent.

Similarly, if the method be 2 nds place and the 3rd the pivot and the movement be regarded as two backward, the pivot sequence will again be $3,3,3$, and for five forward again, $3,5,7$, and once again the first will piece together satisfactorily and the second will not.
The following table shows the results for Major methods having the 5 th as pivot. In these the movement may be regarded as four forward (ult.) and three forward (2nds) or three backward (ult.) and four backward (2nds).

|  | Pivot | Lead-head |  | Pivot |  | Lead-head |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | Sequence | Ult. | 2nds | Sequence | Ult. | 2nds |
| Major | 5 | 7856342 | 8674523 | 5 | 7856342 | 8674523 |
| Royal | 7 | 089674523 | 860492735 | 5 | 795038264 | 907856342 |
| Maximus | 9 | 08T6E492735 | 8604T2E3957 | 5 | 795 E3T20486 | 9E7T5038264 |

None of these will piece the leads together satisfactorily.
Investigation has shown that very few sequences permit the leads of an extension to be joined together in an order that produces a blue line bearing a close resemblance to that of the parent, and so it is our desire to amend the table of pivot sequences recommended in our report to the Council in 1951 so that it reads as follows:-

| 2nds Place |  | All |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Methods | only | Methods |  |
| 4 | 6 | 3 | 5 |
| 4 | 8 | 3 | 7 |
| 4 | 0 | 3 | 9 |
| 4 | T | 3 | E |

or the same tenor throughout the series of extensions but that the third treble and the third tenor be the limits. In the case of extensions from Minor where the pivot may be regarded as either the third treble or the third tenor, second's place methods should be treated as the third treble and ultimate place methods as the third tenor

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH  GUILD

A Visit to Laverstoke

The quarterly meeting of the Andover District was held at Laverstoke on May 17th. About 25 members attended from surrounding towers. Ringing on the bells (6) ranged from rounds to Oxford Treble Bob Minor. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar of Overton, who, a ringer himself, gave an inspiring address on discipline in the tower, stating that although the parson has the last word in control. he should obey the captain on all matters when in the tower.

A splendid tea was afterwards served in the canteen of Messrs. Portals, of Laverstoke, the famous banknote paper manufacturers' factory.

A short meeting was held after tea, and the new Vicar of Andover (Rev. Dr. Machin) was welcomed and elected an honorary member of the Guild. Ringing then continued until a late hour, when those ringers left were entertained by the local band in the village club. This is the first meeting held in the tower by the Guild since pre-war days, and though the bells need the attention of the bell hanger, a lot of local interest has been aroused.
One feature of the meeting was the attendance of clergy, no less than five being presentRev. - Gidlow (Goodworth Clatford), Rev. Dr. Machin (Andover). Rev. F. Marle (Deane), Rev. - Saunders (Overton) and the priest-incharge, Laverstoke. The organ was played by Miss N. Smith, of Wonston, also a ringer, who is well known locally, being a teacher at Wolversdene School.

RINGERS HAVE THEIR BANNER

An Example From Marksbury

MARKSBURY, near Bath, is a very small village, and it can truly be said that the centre of its activities is its church. It is fortunate to possess that man of energy and vision, W. A. V. Prescott. He it was who raised the money for the repair of the bell fittings, and he it is who has now, after much research, had a ringers' banner designed. This was dedicated at a special ringers' service, the fourth of its kind in the parish, on Saturday, May 10th.
The service was conducted by Prebendary C. S. L. Alford, Rector of Rowberrow and Shipham, assisted by the Rev. H. Warren, curate of the Parish Church of Weston-superMare. The former deputised for the Rector of Marksbury, the Rev. E. Wells, who was ill.

The very hearty hymn singing, accompanied by the organ and the Hallatrow handbell trio, included the Ringers' Hymn, by the Rev. J. H. Matthews. The anthem, 'The radiant morn has passed away,' was also sung by the choir.

The dedication of the banner was carried out by Prebendary A. J. Hook, Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, who in the course of his address said: All things are sacramental, including the banner and the bells. The banner is to remind us of the sacramental nature of bells, that is that they are there for the glory of God. Ringers are tempted to look upon them as "things,' but they are not there because we enjoy ringing or for the number of peals that can be rung on them. They are in God's house, for His glory, and to call the faithful to worship. That should make us treat them with reverence, and should make us want to ring them as well as possible. So there is the necessity for peals and practices. And how lovely it is that we can do a thing which we enjoy for the glory of God! There are many kinds of voices in the world, and one of them is bells. We must remember that they are not without signification, namely, that they were made, and we were created, for the glory of God.
During the recessional hymn, the banner was taken from the altar by the Master, and handed to W. A. V. Prescott, who in turn handed it to Janet Smith to carry, assisted by Barbara Bradley and Betty White, who are all young bell ringers.

The usual bountiful tea was then taken, and Prebendary Alford welcomed the visitors, who included Mr. and Mrs. F. Skidmore, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hilliar and Mr. and Mrs, N. Coombs, of Bristol. He also thanked the choir and those who had helped in any way.

No one who knows Mr. Prescott can fail to be impressed with his singleness of purpose. A job done by him is a job well done. He inspired a lady in the village, Mrs. G. Smith, to undertake the embroidery of the banner, which was a colossal task. As an appreciation of her work, a cheque was presented to Mrs. Smith after evensong on May 18 th.

BOUGHTON ALUPH BELES SOLD

Protests have been made by the Canterbury Archeological Society at the granting of permission to sell the bells of All Saints'. Boughton Aluph, Kent, by the Canterbury Diocesan Board of Faculty. The five bells have been sold for scrap for about $£ 300$ to meet the cost of repairs to the church.
The bells have been in All Saints' belfry since 1540 , and one of them, 'The Great Bell. Gabriel,' was cast just after 1500. Archæologists place its value at over $£ 1,000$.

Endeavours are being made to recover the bells.

A letter on the subject from Mr. George H. Head appears in another column.

DEDICATION

STOKE GOLDINGTON

There was a large congregation on Thursday evening, May 8th, at Stoke Goldington Church, Bucks, when the Archdeacon of Nottingham, the Rev. J. H. L. Phillips, M.A., dedicated the new treble and recast tenor bells. All six bells, now retuned, have been rehung with new fittings in a metal frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank
The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. L. Woods, assisted by the Rural Dean, the Rev. C. J. Tovey. The Archdeacon, clergy and churchwardens climbed the spiral stone steps into the ringing chamber to perform the dedication ceremony.
As the inscription on each bell was read, the notes of that bell responded, and rounds were rung by the local ringers as the procession returned to the chancel. In an inspiring address the Archdeacon spoke of the efforts which had been made. That night was a joyful occasion and the bells would peal for generations to come, proclaiming glory to God in all things.

Following the service, short touches were rung on the bells.

Among those present were the Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, Mr. F. Sharpe, and the secretary of the North Bucks Branch, Mr. R. Howsan.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:-Treble.-Cast by Mears and Stainbank, London, 1952. 'Let Brotherly Love Continue.'

2nd.- Henry Penn Made Me, 1707. Thomas Hodgkins, William Waring, Churchwardens.'

3rd, 4th, 5th.-(Cast by Robert Atton, Buckingham.) 'God Save Kyng Charls, 1625.'
Tenor.-‘God Save Kyng Charles, 1625. Recast by Mears and Stainbank, London, 1952.

A section of the old oak frame bearing the date 1625 is being preserved in the ringing chamber.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY EASTER TOUR

A Week in Leicestershire

The Oxford University Easter tour was held in Leicestershire during Easter Week. Thirteen members were present, including the Misses Brown, Clayton, How, Higgins, the Rev. P. Robbins and Messrs. Border, Meadows, Turner, Homfray, Slaney, Thomas, McCrum and Edge.

Towers visited included Leicester (St. Mary de Castro's and St. Margaret's), the Loughborough Foundry Campanile, Anstey, Thurcaston, Swithland, Markfield, Birstal, Quorn. Rothley, Sileby, Old Woodhouse, Woodhouse Eaves, Copt Oak, Barwell, Thurlaston, Enderby, Kibworth, Wigston Magna and the notable rings at Earl Shilton, Hinckley, Leicester (St. John's) and Loughborough.

The ringing consisted chiefly of Surprise, there being only one member requiring Grandsire and Plain Bob. This was exceptional and meant that the Surprise, was leavened with the more homely fare instead of vice versa. There were two tower-bell peal attempts, Cambridge being rung at Sileby and Pudsey lost at Barwell with the treble in three four down in the final lead. There was a handbell peal of Spliced Major in seven methods.
A very pleasant afternoon was spent in the Taylor Foundry on April 16th. Thanks are due to Mr. Paul Taylor and Mr. Fidler, whose explanation of the various processes involved in the preparing of a ring was most interesting and instructive, and also for their patience and phlegm afterwards whilst members attempted to wreck the campanile.
On the evening of April 19th, a merry couple of hours were spent with a company of the Leicester ringers in the Earl Howe Hotel. In addition to the anticipated vigorous conversation, there were other entertainments, including three leads of Kent Treble Bob Fourteen, rising and falling on handbells, odd courses of Grandsire Triples and the Beer Runner's face, which bore a marked resemblance to that of an asylum attendant serving juvenile inmates with icecream.
Grateful thanks are due to the captains of the towers visited for their courtesy in making the arrangements, to Mr. H. J. Poole for his invaluable assistance, and to many other Leicestershire people for the pleasure that they gave by their hospitality and friendliness.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FOR VISITORS TO DEVON

Dear Sir ,-As the summer approaches, we of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers look forward to a very large number of touring and peal-ringing parties who plan to visit this part of England this year. They are welcome, as are all ringers, and we love to see them, yet we view their arrival with some apprehension.
Many of us in the G.D.R. are becoming very concerned at the increasing number of towers around us where change ringers are acquiring a bad reputation. This is not on account of our striking; that has been a standing grievance for years. It is on account of the very inconsiderate conduct of some visiting change ringers, and this, we are sorry to say, almost invariably means touring parties from 'up the line.

Apart from one or two occasions when peals have been rung without permission, the grievance is always the same-tampering with the ropes. The call-change ringers of the Devon Association usually ring with the rope's end spliced into a small loop, for as a rule they ring with a coil or two in hand; this makes peal ringing uncomfortable, and as a result visitors often untuck the splices and tuck the rope in the usual manner. This is yery annoying to the local ringers, particularly if the splice is not replaced, and for this reason many fine rings of bells are now not available for change ringing whether for a meeting or a peal attempt.
It is inconvenient, we know, but ropes in these towers are generally very long, and if parties carry a small ball of twine the loop at the rope's end can be stopped up to the rope firmly enough to last out a peal. But we do earnestly urge touring bands not to unsplice ropes in call-change towers. The relations between the Guild and the Devon Association at present are better perhaps than they have ever been, but on those relations depends much of our own ringing at meetings and peal attempts, and we do not relish the prospect, next autumn, of totting up the number of towers which, since the summer invasion, have been labelled 'No Scientific.'-Yours, etc.,

> (Rev.) JOHN G. M. SCOTT.

A KENT RING SOLD

Dear Sir;-The sale of All Saints', Boughton Aluph, bells is very sad reading. To think that the powers that be should allow such a transaction to take place seems almost unbelievable. It is to be hoped that the bells will be recovered intact. But will they be?

Boughton Aluph Church is on the Pilgrims' Way to Canterbury, not far from Wye. Both churches can be clearly seen from my old home, Kennington.

The dispersal of these bells follows closely on recent news of the proposed sale of the bells of Eastwell Church, the neighbouring parish of Boughton. The church is rapidly falling into decay; only the outer walls and the tower were standing when I was there last year. This church is in beautiful setting, being close to the lake in Eastwell Park and close to the Pilgrims' Way. We struggled with Grandsire Doubles on these bells 60 years ago, being just able to keep the tenor up for six-score. Since those days they have been rehung, and the Ashford lads have rung several peals there. I wonder if the ringers' organisations are ever consulted in such matters as mentioned above? -Yours faithfully,

BELFRYMANSHIP A TONIC

Dear Sir,-I should like to say that I found Mr. Meadows' contributions on 'Belfrymanship' to be quite a tonic.
The art of gentle and humorous satire is probably as old as bell ringing and just as essentially English. In any case, it is much to be preferred to personal invective, which seems to be Mr. Raymond Philpott's method of approach.
After all, no one need wear a cap which does not fit him !-Yours faithfully,

VICTOR NEIL.

YOUNG PEAL BANDS

Dear Sir,-In your issue of May 9th, Mr. Peter J. Came asks if a younger band than $16 \frac{1}{2}$ years has rung a peal.
On April 21st, 1934, eight members of the Kent County Association rang a peal of Plain Bob Major, 5,024 changes, at St. Paulinus' Church, Crayford, Kent, in two hours and fifty minutes, the average age of the band being 15 years and 2 weeks.-Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

THE SNOWDON SCHOLARS

Almost seven years ago two groups of young ringers from towers in the Leeds area attended a local ringing meeting. They were at the stage when they ate, drank and slept bells, particularly Bob Minor. That's where the story begins. Nobody else at that meeting seemed to be interested in Bob Minor. The young ringers were upset about this, for in their minds there was nothing sounded finer, nothing made more enjoyable ringing; in their minds there was, in fact, nothing save Bob Minor. So it was that during the lengthy periods when such weird and uninteresting names as Superlative and Double Norwich were being bellowed across the circle, these two groups of young aspirants gathered in a corner and nursed their common grievance and plea, 'We want more Bob Minor.' Were there, they wondered, any meetings where nothing was rung but this cream of all methods. If not why not arrange some? Absurd as it now sounds, that's precisely what they did and after several such meetings at a small six-bell tower near Leeds, more learners were recruited, and so the Snowdon Scholars Society of Young Change Ringers was born.

The aim of our first meeting has been our aim throughout, namely, to give beginners the opportunity for practice in the simpler methods, and as we look back over sixty such monthly meetings we feel proud of what we have achieved. Month by month young ringers from the area, all under twenty-five, have gathered in numbers of up to thirty, and the sixty or so members whose names appear on our books are mostly ready to agree that the second Saturday in each month has at some time or another been the day to which they most looked forward and fully enjoyed.
We have progressed since those early days. We have aimed higher than Bob Minor and have struggled to attain a good standard of striking. In early 1946 eight members, whose ages averaged 18, proudly recorded the first peal for the Society, one of Bob Major at Calverley. Several of our members are now officers of the Yorkshire Association and are ringing peals regularly. But as a society we are not ambitious in that direction. We like to feel that perhaps some learners who might never have stuck it have done so because of the encouragement and comradeship they have found with us. We are proud to feel that we have found favour in the sight of most of the experts in the district. So, after what must seem a rather long time, we humbly bring ourselves to the notice of the Exercise.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCLATION

Meeting at Ruislip

Bell ringing as a recreation to offset the restrictive effects of television was put forward by the Rev. L. Fawcett, the curate of St. Martin's, Ruislip, when he spoke at the ringers' service on the occasion of the visit of the South and West District on May 17th. The habit of passive entertainment might lead to a new generation unable to think or do things for itself.
The ancient craft of bell ringing, Mr. Fawcett said, besides its present-day connection with the Church and all that that implied, did offer men and women, and boys and girls, an opportunity to take a pride in using hand and brain, and to join together in mutual pleasure and satisfaction in the accomplishment of good change ringing.

The meeting was a most successful and happy occasion, about 50 persons attending from a wide area on the most lovely day in May for years. The old Priory Church was a source of interest in many ways, not least the cool and shady churchyard in which to gossip and listen to the bells.
The business was expeditiously conducted by the District Ringing Master, Mr. R. E. Price, in the mysterious absence of the vice-president. Mr. W. H. Coles. Mr. H. J. Hazell, of Enfield. was elected a ringing member. The new beli restoration fund of the Association was explained by the general secretary, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, and the subsequent collection brought in 26s. 9d. The new rota of meetings drawn up by the officers was approved, the next meeting taking place as usual in June at Egham and Staines on the 28 th.
The district secretary, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, told members that in conjunction with the North and East District he had arranged for the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office to forward details of their scheme for ringers' insurance to all the towers in the Association.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening was generally of good quality, ranging from rounds to the dizzy heights of Surprise Major.

College Youths at Rotherfield

The Ancient Society of College Youths had a most enjoyable meeting at Rotherfield, Sussex, on May 10th at the invitation of the local ringers, who provided an excellent tea. The tones of the mellow-sounding, 'old standard ' tuned bells provided an appropriate background to this quaint old Sussex village. A short service was conducted in the 13 th century church.
All the officers and five past masters attended the business meeting. Mr. A. A. Hughes, referring to the annual dinner, said it was desirable to find a venue giving more accommodation than that at Pim's even if it cost a little more. He was empowered to see what he could find in the way suggested.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Mr. S. E. Armstrong the New Master
7 UHE sixty-seventh annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held in Brighton on May 10th, when more than 100 members enjoyed ringing at St. Nicholas' and St. Peter's. The two rings of ten were kept fully occupied throughout the afternoon and evening.
The service took place at St. Nicholas', the old Parish Church of Brighton, where, as the Vicar recalled in his address, notable figures such as the Duke of Wellington and Dr. Johnson had attended regularly to worship. The church, although by no means the oldest in Sussex, has had a long and distinguished history, and is still full of life and vigour.

The business meeting took place after tea in Union Institute Hall, and was presided over by the Master, Mr. G. W. Cecil. After the reading of the minutes, Miss $\bar{F}$. Wyman presented to the Association a beautiful peal book in memory of Mr. Oliver Sippetts. The volume, leather bound and lettered in gold leaf, contains a memorial plate to Mr. Sippetts following the form of a peal board. The book was received by the Association with very great appreciation, and will serve for a large number of years as the manuscript peal record.

THE MASTER'S REPORT

The report for 1951, signed by the Master and general secretary, stated:

In the early part of the year the Association suffered a heavy loss by the death of Mr. O Sippetts, which occurred during his term of office as hon. treasurer. Although having been in poor health for some months, his death was nevertheless a severe shock for all members, and it removed one who had rendered priceless service to the Association both in his pioneer work with the ringing of Spliced Surprise methods and as an officer of long and outstanding service. The record Mr. Sippetts left behind would make an historic mark on the Exercise as a whole, as well as in the county of Sussex.

There had been some reduction in the number of peals rung during the year, but it was a matter of opinion as to whether this was an indication of decline. The main object of the Association was the maintenance of Sunday service ringing, the regularity of which did not command the publicity it deserved. Peal ringing, however valuable in itself, was mainly practised for pleasure, and did not require the attendance and duty demanded by service ringing throughout the year. 'We would not wish to discourage peal ringing in any way, but it is on those ringers who go to their towers Sunday after Sunday, and perhaps suffer discouragement through the unpunctuality or irregularity of others, that stability and progress depend.'

The hon. treasurer explained the policy of leaving as much of the Association's balance as possible with the divisions, removing by levy to the Central Fund only the minimum to cover working expenses. In consequence, all the divisional balance sheets showed a gratifying increase.
The peal secretary reported the ringing of 67 peals during the year, a decrease which was mentioned in the Master's report.
The hon. treasurer announced the levies on the divisions as follows: Northern, $£ 94 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d .; Southern, $£ 119 \mathrm{~s}$. 5d.: Eastern, $£ 157 \mathrm{~s}$. 5 d . Western, $£ 1517 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$. These were accepted as satisfactory.
Three new members were elected, being Miss Valerie Mepham, of Aldrington, and Messrs. S. Brook and A. Turner, of Barcombe. In addition, the ratification of the election of Messrs. R. Rich, E. R. Warner and D. Riley was carried out.
Mr. F. Cruttenden and Mr. E. Treagus were elected life members of the Association for their services as divisional officials. Mr. Crut tenden has served the Southern Division as a committee member for many years, and Mr. Treagus is the present secretary of the Western Division.
In the election of officers, the Bishop of Chichester was re-elected president and the vice-presidents re-elected en bloc.

A NEW MASTER

Mr. G. W. Cecil reminded the meeting that he had given notice that he would not be able to offer himself for the office of Master again owing to his departure from the county
The general secretary, Mr. S. E. Armstrong, was nominated for the vacant office and elected as the new Master. A number of members spoke in appreciation of his work during 16 years as general secretary, and, in reply, Mr. Armstrong thanked the members for the honour they had paid him, and assured them of his best efforts in the new office.

The hon. treasurer, Mr. R. G. Blackman, was re-elected and, by ballot, Mr. B. W. White, secretary of the Southern Division, was elected general secretary.

The peal secretary, Mr. J. Dearlove, was reelected, as were the auditors, Messrs. R. Overy and A. W. Bond, and the trustees of funds.
It was decided that the small balance remaining in hand from the Reith Hart Memorial Fund should be given to the bellrope fund at St. Peter's, Brighton, where Mr. Hart had been leader for close on forty years. Mr. W. C. Hart expressed, on behalf of the relatives, their appreciation of the memorial and the thoughts which had inspired it.

Suggestions for the 70th anniversary meeting were discussed, and it was decided to pass the matter over to the divisional meetings, who were to report back the opinion of the members. The treasurer warned the meeting of the financial implications if the anniversary were not self-supporting.
The final business was a discussion on the coincidence of a meeting of the College Youths held in the county on that day. Letters were read from the leader of the Rotherfield ringers and the secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths. The general secretary was instructed to write to the Society expressing their thanks for the efforts made to postpone the Rotherfield meeting, which, although unsuccessful, were nevertheless appreciated. ## ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Hunts District

In the pleasant market town of St. Neots, in the 15 th century Church of St. Mary the Virgin, the Hunts District held their meeting on May 17th. At 3 p.m. the ringers were welcomed to the church by the parish clerk, Mr. S. W. Hawksford, and soon very good use was made of the fine ring of bells.
The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. Galley, R.D.); Mr. M. Cousins was at the organ and the District Ringing Master (Mr. F. Warrington) read the lesson.
The Vicar presided at the business meeting. About 60 ringers were present during the day, including friends from Bedford, Chelmsford, Hitchin and Peterborough districts. Among the methods practised were Bristol, Cambridge, London. Superlative and Yorkshire Surprise Major, with Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

IRISH ASSOCIATION

Keen Competition for Murphy Cup
THE competition for the Murphy Cup was held at St. George's Church, Dublin, on May 10tn, when the finalists of the three district competitions held on St. Patrick's Day and Easter Monday met to decide the destination of the premier trophy.
Mt. St. Alphonsus', Limerick (Southern), who had beaten the holders. St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, into second place in the initial round, took the bells first. They settled down to a steady rhythm, but unfortunately had 'cartwheel ' leads. Otherwise, apart from occasional clashes in changing, their ringing was perfect. Such good ringing probably demoralised Drogheda (Eastern), who rang second. Their ringing was much too slow and leads too open. They really did not settle down to a steady, rhythm. Their changing was good. St. Thomas', Belfast (Northern) leads were perfect, but they spoilt the ringing by gaps and a sluggish tenor. The judges awarded the cup to the Limerick team with 27 faults; the Belfast team was second with 29 faults and Drogheda third with 43 faults. The judges, Mrs. S. E. Darmon. Messrs. J. T. Dunwoody and C. W. Galbraith, commented on the exceptionally high standard of ringing, which was an improvement on preyious years. Miss Jean Stewart acted as Ringing Master
The Executive Council met in St. George's Parochial Hall after the competition, and before transacting business stood as a mark of respect to those members who had departed this life, viz., Dr. J. C. E. Simpson, Messrs. A. J. Corrigan, James George and T. Laver

The election of officers resulted as follows President, Mr. William Pratt (Holywood) ; vicepresidents. Rev. J. Barry, Mr. Samuel J. Evans and Mr. J. Ernest Harris; Master, Mr. Robert S. F. Murphy (Dublin) ; general secretary, Mr. Fred E. Dukes, 26, William Street, Drogheda, librarian. Mr. R. S. F. Murphy; Council, Messrs. J. T. Dunwoody, F. G. Burrowes, C. W. Galbraith, J. Baldwin. B. Brislane, J. MacManus, J. Fennell, Mrs. S. E. Darmon and Miss E. Young; auditors, Messrs. W. Graham and W. Bovenizer; editor, 'Irish Bell News,' Mr. F. E. Dukes; Editorial Committee. Mrs. F. E. Dukes, Miss J. Stewart and Mr. G Bingham.
A letter of good wishes to the 'Irish Bell News " from the Maidstone District of the Kent C.A.C.R. was read, and the general secretary was instructed to reciprocate them.
The annual report gave the strength of the Association as: Resident 299, life 12, honorary 6, N.R.L.M. 97, total 414. The number of resident members was the highest yet reached in the history of the Association.
The Association's badge was designed during the year and had been well received by most members. Practically the entire stock was sold out. Mr. John T. Dunwoody kindly acted as badge secretary.
During the year the bells of St. Peter's, Drogheda, were overhauled by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who were congratulated on completing a fine job. Inspections of bells were carried out on 15 towers. In nine cases action was taken and in seven of these effect was given to the Association's recommendation.
Peal ringing maintained a high standard. In all 24 peals were rung- 16 on tower bells and eight 'in hand.' In all 32 ringers took part, 12 scoring their first peals.
Messrs. W. Young and W. Rogan were elected life members.
tea. He was supported by the Rev. A. St. J Heard (president), Mr. B. N. Goale (branch chairman), Mr. J. G. W. Harwood (branch secretary). Mr. N. Golden (Ringing Master), and Mr. H. W. Barrett (Branch Ringing Master) Votes of thanks included a special one to Mr $\mathbf{P}$. Kindred and the ladies who had arranged an excellent tea. If possible the next meeting will be held at Ditchingham on June 21st

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The recently-augmented ring of eight at Pakefield was visited by 40 members of the East Norfolk Branch on May 3rd, who were well pleased with the splice of Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and also the 'go' of the bells The Rector (the Rev. B. P. W. Strather Hunt) conducted the service and afterwards took the chair at the business meeting, which followed

METHOD 'DISTENSION'?

Dear Sir,-The writer of the recent two in stalments on 'Method Extension' has gone to some trouble, but the effort is rather abortive. It has offered, unfortunately, little that is nove either in substance or in form of presentation. Its author will not, I hope, be discouraged by this criticism. Intended as constructive and helpful, as follows:-
Of the several brancbes of ringing, that of Method Structure (of which Method Extension is, of course, only one aspect) is the one that most needs 'putting its house in order.' Studies of the subject in later years have achieved some results towards this end, but little or no official pronouncement thereon has hitherto been made.

Much of what Mr. Mottershead has reiterated (and, indeed, many other relevant mat ters) may be more adequately treated, in fact must be so treated for any comprehensive and logical deduction, under what are now recognised as fundamental heads, including:-
(a) Identification of the Constant and Ex-
(b) panding Sectors of the method's Grid
(b) Appreciation of the conjoint effects of Pivots-both position and bell-and at both Link and Junction of the Division unit of the method.
(c) Identification of the true Basic Stage of the method. (Specific test.)
Of the last-named it is surprising enough to find that only within the past two years even has its importance been fully realised. Much of the controversy (one might say method ' distension'!) over such subjects as stage-variation of the London method (in which the Royal is now recognisable as the basic stage) would probably never have arisen, had this truth been appreciated.
Some of the main underlying principles of this absorbingly interesting subject have been summarised in a 'Memorandum of Technology of Method Structure,' a copy of which has been lodged with the Librarian of the Central Council and could, no doubt. be borrowed on application. Inter alia, the investigations recognise therein three classes of extension:-
A. The 'NATURAL.' In this there is geometrical similarity of the basic gridpattern; maintenance of the method's Position Cyclic; basic coursing order; and-an obviously related blue line in a full-range plain course.
B. The 'PROXIMATE.' This is obtainable, where an extension of class ' $A$ ' form does not arise naturally, by the employment of an 'inherent' place or places in only the expanding sectors of the grid-pattern. The blue line is relatively maintained.
C. The 'MODIFIED; employing shifted pivot positions. or at least additional places, often in the constant sectors of the grid-pattern. The result is a displacement of section-sequence of the blue line, with lack of 'cyclics.' In fact the method to the ringer, seems unrelated to the basic form. The ringing of such forms under the parent name is to be depored.
The following, extracted from a supplement in preparation for the Memorandum. may be of some interest to those whose attention to method structure takes them as far as participating in ringing methods on the higher stages. Patient investigation has enabled the compilation of a table of stage variations of methods of all categories, including those listed in the Corrigan Publications ('C.P.' in the table). and those more recently evolved by the use of Grid Analysis ('G.A.' in the table), showing the class of the extension and which is the basic stage. The following selected extract from the table includes only Surprise methods and shows where published extensions are positively identifiable as of class ' C ' ; also; in some methods, where preferred forms (' A ; or ' B ') are obtainable:-

OUTINGS

ST. MARGARET'S, LEICESTER

Rochester and Canterbury were visited by St. Margaret's, Leicester, for their annual outing on May 10th, with a brief stop on the outward journey at Dunstable Priory. Through the rope of the treble having been threaded through outside the pulley wheel, one who thought he could ring anything with a wheel on it had a surprise.
The visit to Canterbury coincided with that of the King of Denmark to dedicate a war memorial, and the company felt greatly honoured to be permitted to ring. Methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Surprise Maximus, in which - Bill ' Bottrill jojned.

NORTON AND BALDOCK

The combined bands of Norton and Baldock, with friends from South Bedfordshire, held their annual outing on May 17th. Lincolnshire was the objective and ringing took place at Crowland Abbey, Spalding, Pinchbeck, Boston, Sutterton and Surfleet. At Boston the party listened to a Leeds band tapping off a touch of Royal, and afterwards five from each band rang three leads of Treble Ten.
A delay of 50 minutes arose from running out of petrol 10 miles from home.

BOLTON BRANCH

A company of over 100 ringers, wives and friends participated in the Bolton Branch of the Lancashire Association's outing to Loughborough on May 17th. The route was via Buxton, Matlock and Derby, 50 miles of the finest scenery in England at this time of the year.
The party was met by Mr. J. P. Fidler and escorted around the foundry by Messrs. P. L. Taylor, Colin Harrison and J. P. Fidler. Permission was given to use the foundry ring of ten.
Later the party was entertained with music from the 47 bell carillon in the War Memorial Campanile, and the ringers enjoyed the fine ring of ten in the Parish Church.
En route handbells, tune and change ringing, solo and community singing added to the pleasures of the day.

DEVON GUILD

A number of Devon Guild members and their friends held a very successful half-day outing on May 17th. when four moorland parishes were visited. Weather conditions were most ideal, and the arrangements were ably made by Mr. E. M. Atkins, of Teignmouth. Towers visited were Ilsington (6) ; the © Cathedral of the Moor,' Widecombe; Lustleigh (6), and Bovey Tracey (8).
The outing, including cream tea, was specially arranged for some visiting ringers, and the event proved most enjoyable.

OBITUARY

MR. CONOR O'BRIEN

Mr. A. H. Pulling writes recalling when Mr. Conor O'Brien was a member of the band of S. Nicolas', Guildford, and was then a very keen peal ringer. He rang with him a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Hersham on Sept. 26th, 1903; Stedman Caters at S. Nicolas', Guildford, on Jan. 28th, 1904 (Mr. Pulling is now the only survivor of this peal); Double Norwich at Shere on July 2nd, 1904; and Bob Major at Chobham on Feb. 4th, 1905.
Mr . Conor O'Brien, when living at Guildford, cycled to Brighton, spent the afternoon on the beach learning London Surprise Major, and rang his first peal and first blow in the method the same evening.

MAJOR LEWIS JOHN ROPER

The death occurred on May 15th of Major Lewis John Roper, R.A.O.C., retired, at the age of 70. He had not enjoyed good health for some time, but the end came as somewhat of a surprise as he had voted in the Town Council elections on the previous Thursday.

Before his illness Major Roper was a keen ringer at the Cheltenham Parish Church, and it was always a pleasure to ring with him as he had a most pleasing personality. He was a native of Bury St. Edmunds, where it is believed he learned, as a boy, how to handle a bell. He saw service in many parts of the world before ill-health forced his retirement in 1939 after 35 years' service. While serving in France in the 1914-18 war he was awarded the Military Medal. Major Roper was an enthusiastic gardener, as the beauty of his garden could testify; he was also a keen worker in the Conservative cause and was well known as a Civil Defence lecturer.

The interment service was held in the Parish Church on May 19th, and touches of Grandsire Caters were rung, the bells being half-muffied for the occasion.

MR. T. F. KING

Mr. Thomas F. King, a well-known Bath ringer, passed away suddenly on May 15 th at the age of 74 years. He had been in poor health for about a year, yet maintained an active interest in ringing until recent months. For 55 years he was a ringer at Twerton Parish Church, ringing his first peal there in 1898 , and eventually becoming tower master. He rang altogether just over 200 peals, his last peal being Grandsire Caters at Trowbridge in February of this year. Mr. King had been a member of the Abbey band for over 50 years, being the only member to take part in the two peals of Caters rung there.
The funeral service took place on May 19th at Twerton. Attending the service were many ringers, representing most of the Bath towers, and from other Somerset towers and the Salisbury Diocesan Guild towers of Trowbridge, Bradford-on-Avon and Holt. The floral tributes included wreaths from the Bath Abbey band, the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association and from the Trowbridge ringers. As the cortege left the church, half-muffled touches of Triples and Major and the 'whole pull and stand' were rung.

In the evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung half-muffled at the Abbey by

MR. WILLIAM KEEBLE AN APPRECIATION

Although rather late in the day, 1 wish to pay my small tribute to the memory of William Keeble. I had hoped that an abler pen than mine would have done justice to the memory of a great ringer.
I have no idea where his personal record of peals is, but if available it would speak for itself. He was undoubtedly a genius as a conductor and a very large number have to thank him for conducting their first peal, especially Surprise.
He was, of course, associated with the late brothers Pye, who after much practice succeeded in ringing the first peal of London Surprise double-handed on handbells. Another outstanding performance of Mr. Keeble's was the then record, 14,000 odd of London Surprise at King's Norton.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  North Berks Branch at Appleton

The annual meeting of the North Berks Branch took place at Appleton on May 17th. Ringing on the celebrated ten bells began about $2.30 \mathrm{p.m}$. and included touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters.
At the short service, conducted by the Rev. H. C. Joyce (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Master of the Guild), it was a great pleasure to have a full choir to lead the singing and to give an anthem.
The business meeting followed tea (which included some Appleton lardy cake), and the branch was very pleased to welcome the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. E. Wigg), the Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe), the librarian (Miss M. R. Cross), and the Revs. G. E. Bussell (Ardington), N. E. Hope (March Baldon) and J. V. Pixell and more than 100 members and visitors.
In the absence of the chairman owing to ill-health, the Rev. G. E. Bussell (vice-chairman) presided. The hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. A. E. Lock) in his report said that most towers in the district were progressing, especially in Drayton where there was a competent change ringing band for the first time in the memory of the bells. He presented the balance sheet, which showed a credit balance of $£ 46$. Seventeen ringing and one honorary member were nominated.
A grant of 10 guineas was made towards the cost of rehanging the Radley bells and one of 5 guineas towards the work being carried out on the bells at Chilton, where it was subsequently decided to hold the autumn meeting in September. The sum of $£ 10$ was voted from the funds for the Canon Coleridge Memorial, which is to take the form of a tablet in the cloisters at Christ Church, Oxford, and certain work on the existing bells.
The towers of Cumnor, Sunningwell, Marcham and Drayton were open for ringing in the evening.

MINOR AND THE YOUNG CONDUCTOR

CONDUCTORS of Minor seldom seem to reach the limelight to the extent of their foster-brothers on higher numbers. This is not surprising, seeing that they would probably be the first to admit that the mental effort involved in conducting a Minor peal is much simpler than that of conducting on higher numbers. Nevertheless, many conductors of note are themselves quite frequently 'mentioned in despatches' under the five and six-bell peal columns in 'The Ringing World,' showing at least that they consider Minor ringing and conducting a subject worthy of their attention. It is also well known that many excellent ringers and conductors first won their spurs in a six-bell tower.

To the young or inexperienced conductor who has not yet realised that conducting means more than calling bobs in the right place comes the revelation sooner or later that the job also includes the obligation to correct trips so far as is possible and to see that the ringing does not travel far with two bells occupying each other's positions.

To many conductors of modest Minor mental transposition of lead-ends and course-ends seems to involve the greatest difficulty, while ringing by following course bells is, possibly, neither as widely practised nor as widely understood as in ringing on higher numbers. Therefore the following suggestions on methods using the standard calling may prove useful, at least as a starting point, to the youthful Minor conductor.

Let us first consider the methods on the treble bob system using the standard calling. Once this has been thoroughly understood it is a comparatively simple matter to extend the principles to plain methods.

The 720's of Minor with regular lead-ends fall into two groups: those with 6ths place and those with 2nds place made when the treble is leading full. Use the tenor as observation, and in the former call ' In, Out, In,' and in the latter, 'Wrong, Right, Wrong.' Repeat twice. Notice that the 5th is brought 'home' at each part-end and so repeats the same work in each part. The work he does at each bob should be memorised.

Dealing first with the methods called 'In, Out, In,' we notice that the 5th is dodging 'down' at the first two bobs and subsequently makes the last one in each part. The bell working with him at the first two bobs is unaffected by the third, so that it will be then coming away from the front as the tenor goes in. This bell, which we will call the 'part-bell,' is of course different in each part and is the 3 rd, 2nd and 4th in the first, second and third parts respectively.

Consider next the remaining two bells. It will be seen that they are both affected by the third bob working behind together, and that they make the first and second bobs in turn. The one that is not making the bob is unaffected by it, and is moving either 'out' or 'in' as the tenor moves ' in ' or 'out.' A good way to memorise all this is to remember that, ignoring the 5th, which always makes the third bob in each part, the bells make the bobs in the following order: 2-4, 4-3 and 3-2. The bell which is not in these pairs must be the 'part-bell' working with the 5th.

With a little practice and this knowledge the conductor will be able to observe whether each bell is in the correct position at each bob throughout the 720 , and as things often go wrong at this juncture it is an asset to be able to correct a trip with confidence by asserting: 'So and so make the bob-so and so dodge behind with so and so, etc.'
The student can easily make out for himself a scheme whereby the bells can be pin-pointed at the bobs when the tenor is called 'Wrong, Right, Wrong' in the second class of methods when seconds are made with the treble leading full. Two hints: the 5th makes the first bob in each part and the 'paired' bells are 2-3, 3-4 and 4-2.
It is, of course, impossible to go further into the subject in an article of this length, but it is hoped that what few grains of wisdom have been scattered, although common knowledge to many, will be acceptable to a few.
H. C.

Gifts For Former Chairman

A fountain pen, a book token and an address containing the names of 87 subscribers were handed to Mr. W. L. Duffield, former chairman of the South Norfolk Branch, at a meeting of the branch at Redenhall on May 17th.
Over fifty ringers were present when the presentation was made by the president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard, after the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow had spoken of Mr. Duffield's qualities as a churchman, ringer and chairman. Tributes to Mr. Dufficld were also paid by Mr. Nolan Golden, the Association Ringing Master, and Mr. A. G. Phillippo. members of the committce.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The May meeting was held at Monk Bretton, when the following towers were represented: Barnsley, Badworth, Bolsterstone, Cawthorne, Crofton, Darfield, Felkirk, Horbury, Silkstone, Shelley and the local company.
The Vicar (the Rev. W. J. Jubb) presided at the business meeting, and three new ringing members were elected-L. Myers, I. Scargill and Miss J. Williams, all of Monk Bretton. The shield contest will be held at Penistone on June 14th, and the next monthly meeting will be at Royston on July 12th.
The best thanks to the Vicar and to the local company brought the meeting to a close and further ringing followed.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

The weather could not have been better for the Society's spring meeting at the pretty village of Hanbury, Stafts, on May 17th. Hanbury is situated on high ground, and from the top of the tower of St. Werburgh's extensive views are obtained away to the Cheshire Plain in the north-west, and the richly wooded Needwood Forest country and the distant spires of Lichfield Cathedral to the south.

An unusual feature of Hanbury Church is that a door leads direct from the ringing chamber on to the flat roof of the nave, and from which vantage point ringers were able to sit on the parapet and admire the views while awaiting thcir turn to ring. The bells, a handy ring of eight, were put to good use during the afternoon and evening under the direction of the Master, Mr. G. Oliver. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. R. Osborn, who also gave a most interesting address. Tea was served in the pleasant Memorial Hall, and the attendance of 51 was highly satisfactory, especially as Hanbury is not easy of access. Thanks were extended to the Rev. R. R. Osborn and his organist by the clerical secretary, the Rev. C. H. Barker.
The next meeting of the Socicty will be the ' annual ' at Lichfield on June 21st.

STOP PRESS

At the annual meeting of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers at Lincoln on Tuesday Mr. E. A. Barnett was elected secretary and treasurer of the Council by 76 votes to 52.

Trinity Sunday will be the 50 th anniversary of the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards' ordination by the late Bishop Chavasse at Liverpool. We feel certain that his friends on the Central Council and in the Salisbury Diocesan Guild will think of him on that day. He invites all friends within reach of Kington Magna to assist him in celebrating this personal jubilee by coming to the Choral Communion at 11.5 and giving him the support of their prayers.
The Universities Association are holding their week this year at Nottingham from August 15th to 23 rd .
In these days when recruiting for the Civil Defence Corps is slow in some areas, it is interesting to read of a peal by members of the Corps at Whaplode, Lincs.
We welcome back to the peal columns Mr. Stafford H. Green, of Sampford Peverell, Devon, who, having had a serious illness recently, had not anticipated any further peal ringing.

A badge of office of one horse brass with ribbons attached was provided for Mr. Barker, who acted as bus steward for the outing of the Wisbech Branch into Northamptonshire on May 21st.
The bells of Halifax Parish Church have been recast with a tenor 26 cwt . An imposing picture of hoisting the new tenor appeared in the 'Halifax Courier and Guardian.' The bells will be first rung again on the occasion of the church's patronal festival on June 26th.
On June 24th, 1952, a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major is to be attempted at St. John-theDivine's, Leicester, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the opening of the back eight. The celebrations will continue on Saturday, June 28th, in the form of an open day, when all ringers will be welcome.

BELFRY GOSSIP

pecial reason for ringing a peal for their new Mayor. He is Councillor Ivan Stanway, who was a regular service ringer at Christ Church, Macclesfield, from 1918 until the ban on ringing in 1939. When the ban was lifted he again joined the band until the remainder of the company returned from service with H.M. Forces. With a full company he reluctantly retired from the belfry because of the increased demand of public duties. For a time he was secretary of the Macclesfield Branch.
Congratulations to Mr. T. Wright, of Culham, near Abingdon, who at the age of 71 has rung his first quarter peal.

Mossley, Lancs, ringers were entertained by the new Mayor, Cclr. James Boardman, after ringing a quarter peal in his honour.
Will the ringer from Tunbridge Wells who was at Eling on May 17 th send his name and address to the local secretary, who has a communication for him.
For the 50th anniversary of the opening of the present octave at Henley, Suffolk, the Rector arranged for the metal frame to be repainted and a new set of ropes to be provided. The first peal on the bells was 5,280 Double Norwich Court Bob Major on May 17th, 1902, which was composed and conducted by the late Mr. James Motts. The anniversary peal was on May 23 rd.
Mr. Frank Blondell's 82nd birthday was honoured by 1,259 Grandsire Caters at All Saints' Church, Kingston-on-Thames, on May 24th. The band was T. H. Francis 1, Jean Freer 2, Mrs. C. J. Mathews 3, Mrs.'T. H. Francis 4, Miss M. Jackson 5, R. J. Sharpe 6, F. E. Hawthorne (cond.) 7, A. R. Ling 8, F. J. Mathews 9, A. House 10. This was the first quarter of Grandsire Caters by the ringers of 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9.

A BETTER PRESS FOR RINGERS

Literature, Press and Broadcasting

Committee's Review

TLHE following report of the Literature, Press and Broadcasting Committee was presented to the Central Council meeting at Lincoln last Tuesday :-

During the past twelve months two events have especially drawn the attention of the Press to the subject of church bells. One was the installation of the heaviest ring of bells in the kingdom at Liverpool Cathedral. The other was the lamented death of our beloved King. It was natural that in the reports of the national mourning and of His Majesty's burial frequent references were made to muffled bells paying solemn tribute to his memory. The continental Press likewise made mention of the 'mournful carillon' heard from the belfry of Westminster Abbey.
Many articles or paragraphs dealing with bells and the art of ringing have appeared in newspapers and magazines. Those published in the Midlands have included reports of lectures given by members of St. Martin's Guild and an interview with Mr. Ernest Morris, photographed above the tenor bell of St. Margaret's. Leicester, as well as instructive contributions from his fertile pen. Featured in a Southern journal is Mr. L. W. Andrews, 92 years of age and believed to be the oldest bell-ringer in Hampshire, Under the heading. These Happy Bell-ringers, the 'Aberdare Leader' gives a detailed description of Christmas ringing at Aberdare, with a picture of the band in the belfry. Readers of the 'Daily Mirror' were enabled last July to see the familiar personality of Ruggles conversing with Mr. R. White, of Appleton, who was represented as explaining, among other things, how a single is made in Stedman Caters ! The new 20 ton bell of Vienna has naturally figured in the daily Press.

The trade pamphlet, 'Kodak Bulletin;' published a most illuminating article on Ring the Changes ' by Mr. R. G. Bell. of Watford, with an illustration of the author teaching his son to ring. Under the title, 'New Year harmony across the Sea,' the 'Children's Newspaper' of Sth January gave an illustrated account of young handbell ringers in Boston, U.S.A. The admirably produced 'Shropshire Magazine ' continues to interest its readers in the bells of the county. Useful articles on the care and use of bells have appeared in diocesan publications. Mr. W. A. Osborn has contributed to the 'Bath and Wells Gazette' advice on the 'Care of Ancient Bells.' The Irish Press has continued to give prominence to news of bells and ringing.

LITERARY ENTERPRISE

The Exercise itself is showing marked enterprise in literary activity. In Kent, 'The Belfry ' maintains its high standard, and besides furnishing news and practical instruction for ringers it publishes mllustrated notes on churches and bells of the Maidstone District. Recent numbers have included verses written by the Rector of Snodland and dedicated to his ringers, and contributions from the president of the Central Council and Mr. A. York-Bramble. 'Ringing Towers,' of New South Wales, is now in its sixth year of publication and replete with interesting information. Its account of the competition and dinner at Sydney gives a delightful impression of cordial relations between the Anglican and Roman communities in the sphere of ringing. The death is recorded of Mr. R. H. McDonald, a former captain of the Sydney Cathedral ringers, at the age of 95 . Useful hints are given on handbell ringing, and the Universities Association is reported to have rung the first peal in Australia of Bob Major ' in hand.' A new publication in this class is the 'Irish Bell News,' ably edited by Mr. F. E. Dukes, which records the rededication of Drogheda bells by the Archbishop of Armagh, and gives a most interesting account of a lady ringer's visit to America, where she was asked at a moment's notice to address the congregation on a Sunday morning and rose to the occasion with a talk on Irish church bells.

BROADCASTING

With regard to broadcasting, the bells of many churches have been broadcast before Sunday services, with varying standards of ringing. The admirable series of broadcasts from towers in the West was continued last summer and included a visit to Poole, where the principal spcaker was Mr. A. Macdonald. The first broadcast from Liverpool Cathedral, on the occasion of a visit from our present Qucen, was of historic interest, but for obvious reasons did not do justice to the bells.

The full grandeur of their tone was heard on Christmas morning, when all the ringing broadcast, from Sicdman Cinques at Birminghadm to set changes at North Tawton, was of a commendably high quality. We are glad to be able to give a similar report, with one unfortunate exception, of the broadcast on Easter Day. Letters received from different parts of the country furnished evidence that the slower pace adopted at Birmingham for this purpose enabled listeners to hear all the twelve bells quite distinctly. Ringing at a number of Irish churches has been recorded and broadeasts of bells have figured prominently in the 'Ulster Mirror ' programme. Mr. J. T. Dunwoody has broadcast a talk on bell-ringing with handbell illustrations. In the Children's Hour of the B.B.C. school bands of handhell ringers have been introduced from time to time. The young band at Liverpool Cathedral have also broadcast a handbell performance.

Bell-ringing has again had a part in television. Notably successful transmissions of sight and sound came from Leeds Parish Church and Wickersley School, to the advantage of the Exercise.

The Biographies Committee

The report of this committee, signed by Messrs. A. C. Hazelden, W. H. Viggers and E. A. Barnett, stated:-

The work of this committee has gone steadily, forward: in fact, there is no 'close season.' To obtain even occasional details of Council members long since departed often requires searching many years of ringing papers, while current 'Ringing Worlds' have to be studied carefully for information regarding present members who have not co-operated by giving us the particulars asked for.

In accordance with the Council's decision at Chester, we have proceeded with the album for the safe keeping of records, and the completed cover containing a selection of biographies written up as specimens is on view. Our present hope is that a member of the Council who has the necessary time and skill will come forward and offer to continue with the writing up of the sheets. The task would not be onerous-perhaps 12 to 18 sheets annually once the accumulated arrears have been cleared. In 1950 eight and in 1951 nine deaths occurred of former members of the Council.

Once again we have to express our thanks to those ringers who have helped us. Although they are too numerous to mention individually we must refer to a generous offer by Mr. L. Stilwell to undertake research work. He has, in fact, completed for us the records of the late Messrs. W. T. Cockerill and C. F. Winney, and this alone involved a critical examination of ringing periodicals over a period of some sixty years. We offer our thanks for an exceptional cffort.

Analysis of our index of past and present members of the Council reveals that 518 were elected between 1891 and 1950. Of these, 155 are deceased, and their biographies record completed to the Council's requirements; a further 113 are known to be deceased, but their records often lack only one item, such as birthday, first peal date or, in 23 cases, a photograph. Many dates of birth, etc.. could be ascertained by research at Somerset House, if the Council is prepared to sanction the expenditure of 3 s . 6 d . in each instance. Of a further 104 men who, at various times, have been members we know nothing; they appear in our books as names only. Some of them will be reading this report, and we appeal to them again to give us the few particulars we need.
The names of the 23 deceased members for whose records we require a photograph oNLY are given below, in the hope that members will help us to complete them :-

CLERICAL RINGING WEEK

Experiences in Suffolk

FOR the third successive year the Guild of Clerical Ringers has visited a Cathedral City - 1950 Chester, 1951 Wells and now, 1952, Bury St. Edmunds. Headquarters were at the Angel Hotel, where the familiar features of Mr. Pickwick, a former distinguished guest, are on every plate. The ringing party consisted of Canon C. C. Cox (Lyme Regis). Prebendary E. V. Cox
(Ottery St. Mary). Canon B. F. Sheppard (Ottery St. Mary). Canon B. F. Sheppard
(Somersham, Hunts), Canon R. F. Wilkinson (W. Bridgford), and the Revs. J. H. P. Andrews (Chittlehampton), K. C. Davis (Hawley), F. Li. Edwards (Kington Magna), M. C. C. F. Ll Edwards (Kington Magna), M. C. C.
Melville (London), R. H. Palmer (Cogenhoe), I. J. Richards (Crumlin), A. S. Roberts (Carbis Bay). D. P. Roberts (Marston, Staffs), J. G. M. Scott (Exeter), R. D. St. John Smith (Crawshawbooth), W. H, R. Trewhella (St. Crantock), H. F. Warren (Weston-super-Mare) and E.S. Wood (Cheshunt). The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (Norwich) met the party for two days and the Rev. T. P. Hearn (Cirencester) for one day. Mrs. A. S. Roberts and Mrs. Andrews accompanied the party.

Seventeen assembled at St. Mary's, Bury on Monday evening, April 21 st. one havine driven 353 miles from Newquay that day. The fine eight were rung to Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge.

AN OPEN RINGING CHAMBER

Tuesday morning began with the Guild's corporate Communion in the Cathedral Canon Cox being the celebrant. and at 9.30 the party set off for Cotton, where they met with the first surprise of the tour. a ringing chamber open on its western side to the elements.
The visitors much admired the hardihood of The visitors much admired the hardihood of sort of thing would never do in Cornwall. It being a cold morning, your scribe kept his hat on. Here Yorkshire was attempted, and it was not the fault either of this new eight or of the airy ringing chamber that it did not succeed.
The next tower was Stowmarket. where Mr. Cecil Pipe met the band, and Master R. Pipe. aged just twelve called a touch of Stedman Triples. Here Yorkshire was achieved, and lunch followed in the Church Hall, the party being very kindly waited upon by local ringers. Two six-bell towers. Finborough Magna. a fine example of Victorian Gothic, and Monks Eleigh. one of the many churches faced with costly repairs, were visited in the afternoon, and the party proceeded to world-famous Lavenham, where tea was ready. The bells, unhappily, were not. and Preston bells were rung instead. Evensong was said after ringing.

After dinner the Norman tower of St. James' March. which in 1914 became the Cathedral Church of the new diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich, was open. and the visitors were warmly welcomed by members of the local band The splendid ten were rung to Stedman, Grandsire and Kent. Towards the end of the last touch a rope. which had been visibly fraying below the sally. eventually broke, leaving the bell to set itself eently at backstroke a tribute (it was felt) to the steady ringing of the band's senior member

Wednesday morning was taken up with visits to three glorious churches-Clare. with its lovely sanctuary and many obiects of interest. a canacious ringers' jug amongst them: Cavendish and Long Melford, the most glorious of all. At Clare one of the party met an inhabitant who reckoned that all ringers should have a rope round their necks, but soon had him tamed. The Vicar generously provided refreshment for the party. After rineing at Long Melford lunch was taken in the old almshouses next the church. The afternoon was snent in Sudbury, the town with three rings of eight each better than the last-St. Peter's. St. Gregory's and All Saints'. St. Gregory's had two surprises. an outstandingly beautiful font cover of the time of Henry VI. and the head of Archbishop Simon of Sudbury, barbarously beheaded in Wat Tyler's rebellion in 1381. For six days the head remained on London Bridge, and was sent back to the church which be loved when the Government regained control. Evensong was said at A'll Saints' at the conclusion of ringing, the organist kindly coming to provide music for canticles and hymn and to play a stirring voluntary at the close.

After dinner the Guild held its annual meeting. Canon C. C. Cox was re-elected president, and Prebendary E. V. Cox secretary, with very genuine expressions of appreciation for their devoted work. Thanks were expressed to Mr. Cecil Pipe and Mr. Stedman Symonds for their help, and to incumbents and local ringers for their unfailing kindness. West Cornwall was chosen as the place for next year's meeting. The secretary reported 53 members and healthy finances.

DIGNITY AND IMPUDENCE

On the Thursday, after ringing at Horringer, a beautifully-kent small church, where the Archdeacon of Sudbury met the members, the party moved on to Newmarket, the town inhabited by ten thousand persons and one thousand horses. ringing first at All Saints' and then on the beautiful six at St. Mary's. At both the clergy met the party and at the latter the Rector. the Rev. M. C. Russell, rang with them and afterwards provided coffee with lunch in the Church Hall. The dignitaries of the Guild -a prebendary of Exeter, honorary canons of Southwell. Salisbury and Ely, and the precentors of Norwich and All Saints', Margaret Street-rang a touch of Cambridge, the band being called by one of its members 'dignity and impudence'. and by another 'two minor canons and four big guns.' Thereafter the programme was advanced by half an hour to allow time for ringing at Lavenham in the evening.

The party would gladly have stayed longer on the ten at Mildenhall, and in the modern Peace Tower at Elvedon. where the Rector most kindly entertained them all to tea. To have rung muffled would have fitted the mood of the parish for Elvedon had but recently felt the impact of foot-and-mouth disease, one of the best Guernsey herds in the country. 163 in number. having been slaughtered ten days previously. At St. Peter's. Thetford, the hells were muffled. but oniy to prevent nuisance to neighbours. After ringing here the party returned to an early dinner to learn that further trouble had been encountered in the rehanging at Lavenham. and that there would be no chance after all of ringing in this noted tower.

A very depleted band, at first seven, and then only six, concluded the 'week, on the Friday morning, St. Mark's Day, visiting the six-bell towers of Fornham St. Martin. Great Barton and Ixworth, and the five-bell tower at Fakenham. To ring well-struck Doubles on the splendid five in the Norman tower of this church gave as much pleasure to some of the band as any other ringing of the week

This annual and unusual ringing meeting includes country and city, canons and curates. Age this year varied from 78 to 26. Ability also varies greatly. Some are in constant practice, others have little opportunity throughout the year and look forward to this week to give their annual course, say, of Cambridge Minor. or an attempt at Stedman Triples. From time to time attempts, notably of London or Superlative, faiied, but the four standard methods and Cambridge, Yorkshire Double Norwich and Oxford were rung, and often rung well. The standard of ringing of the Guild is much higher than in the years just before the war. No peals were attempted, because it seemed when the programme was drawn up that numbers would be insufficient. For some members it is the only holiday of the year and it is much to be hoped that rising costs of travel and accommodation will not further affect the attendance.

550 YEARS OF KNOWLE BELLS

In 1396 Canon Walter Cooke, an influential ecclesiastic with friends at Court and in Rome, founded the chapel at Knowle, where he was born. Six years later a Scottish bishop came to consecrate the building, and Sunday, Feb. 24th, 1952, marked the very day of the 550th anniversary of this event.

Walter Cooke was a great benefactor to Knowle, for in 1412 he founded the Guild which became famous throughout England, and in 1417 founded a college of ten priests. In 1423 the good canon died and was buried in the church which he had founded.

To-day the church is noted for its outstanding beauty. Its most precious possession is a delicately carved rood screen of the 15 th century-the finest in Warwickshire and thought by many to be the finest in the country. However, it has been badly mutilated by modern 'restorers.' There is much old woodwork in this Arden church, including an ancient hourglass, eleven misericordes, and two very old dug-out chests, to mention but a few.

In 1396 the Pope issued a Bull which contained the first reference to the new chapel. It also mentions-and this is of interest to ringers-that the chapel must sustain a 'Chirchyarde Belferey or bellehouse and belles:' At that time there were but two bells, for in Walter Cookes will he directed 'to two servants of the same church tolling the bells $6 d$. between them' at his funeral.
Mediæval records relating to the bells are lacking at Knowle, and it is not until the Chapel Wardens' Accounts begin in 1672 that the bells are again mentioned. The first entry with regard to the subject is found in this year when 2 s . 6 d . was given to the ringers (three at that time) on November 5th. After that, entries are numerous, mostly in the form of repairs to stays, gudgeons and wheels. There are the accounts for all the recastings of the bells, and in 1681 we see that 3 s . was paid for ale ' when the bells weare in mending.' The bells were being recast, so perhaps the ale helped to console them for the dreadful silence!
The present ring of eight is housed in the topmost storey of the well-proportioned tower 500 ft . above sea level. Inscriptions and weights are:-

The curfew is rung annually from November 5 th to December 24th on the tenor bell for five minutes, and the clock hours are also struck on this bell
It is perhaps an honour indeed for the Knowle ringers that the village has taken, from the earliest days, two bells as its coat of arms. (Azure, two church bells or in fesse.) No doubt ringing has played an important part in the history of Knowle, and the ringers are not going to forget that behind them they have 550 years of ringing to their credit.

LETTERS TO

CRANBORNE PEAL

Dear Sir,-As conductor of the peal of Stedman Triples rung at Cranborne, Dorset, on Sunday, February 24th. 1952, I think that, in fairness to the rest of the band and myself, Mr. West should state the exact reasons for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild not being willing to accept it as being rung by them.

The facts of the matter are these : Eight of us spent a week-end in the West Country, and 1 was asked to call a peal at Cranborne on Sunday on the way back, being assured that permiss:on had been obtained for the attempt to be made. This seemed to be confirmed when we were met at the church by one of the local band (we naturally assumed he was the captain!) who told us that everything was in order for us to go ahead. As it is our custom (as a matter of courtesy) to ring peals for the Association covering the area we are visiting when possible, those who were not members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild were duly proposed and seconded before the peal commenced, and when we arrived home the fees were sent on to the appropriate authority in the usual way, for the elections to be ratified at the next Guild meeting. After the peal was finished, we came down from the tower to find about half a dozen irate Cranborne ringers, who said they knew nothing of the proposed attempt. Since that time various garbled versions of the peal (jealousyinspired. I suspect!) have been in circulation until it has made me heartily fed-up with the whole business.
It seems to me, therefore, that Mr. West has, in attempting to appease the Cranborne ringers and any other interested parties, tried to find some reason for the peal not being accepted by the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and after nearly three months has come up with this trumpedup charge of a breach of the membership rule. Whether Mr. West's statement is the official ruling passed by a Guild annual meeting, or whether it is his own private opinion, so put as to appear to be official, I do not know, but it would be of interest to me to find out, as if it is the latter it is one of those dictatorial attitudes adopted by some guild officials which should be ruthlessly stamped out.

At any rate, sir, subject to the rest of the band agreeing, I intend to re-submit the peal to 'The Ringing World' as being rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.Yours faithfully, JOHN H. HUNT.

Fareham, Hants.

Dear Sir-With reference to the letter in this week's 'Ringing World 'from the secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, I, as one of the band who rang a peal of Stedman Triples at Cranborne, Dorset, would like to ask Mr. West for further details as to why this peal is not recognised by his Guild.
The current report of the Guild does not contain a copy of the rules, so 1 am unable to verify the working of the rule in question, but all non-members of the Guild (of whom, I believe, there were three or four) were provisionally elected members prior to the attempt in the usual way. I have always understood that it is considered courteous to record a peal for the Guild or Association in whose area the tower is situated, and that belfry elections prior to peal attempts are quite in order. Is this not the case with the Salisbury Guild?

I am afraid that I am led to the conclusion that this non-recognition is the climax of much entirely unnecessary and uncalled-for bad feeling which has arisen around this peal in some quarters, but perhaps Mr. West will give further details of his objections. Bickering and bad feeling of this kind over peal attempts, all too frequently caused by jealousy, is not conducive (Continued in next column)

HODSONS OF ST. MARY CRAY

Dear Sir,-Mr. I. Emery's letter in your issue of May 23rd interested me very much as a former churchwarden of St. Mary Cray. The Rev. R. F. Galer, M.A., a former Vicar, now in retirement, was a keen antiquarian and collector of old lore regarding the village, and I had it on his authority that Hodson's foundry stood on the site of the present Vicarage at the end of Blacksmith's Lane. This land formed part of the manor known as The Mount, which was owned by the Wotton family in the early part of the 17 th century.
John and Christopher Hodson had a bell foundry in Whitechapel and started the Cray foundry in the second half of the 17th century Many of their bells bear the name of their foreman, William Hull. The 4th, 5th and tenor bells of St. Mary Cray are dated A.D. 1655, having the inscription, 'John Hodson made me.'
It is recorded in the journal of John Masters, who resided at the nearby Kevington Manor: - April 8th, A.D. 1656, given towards the casting of ye new bells at St. Mary Cray, £1.' Yours faithfully, Tonbridge, Kent.

THE RINGER'S HUSBAND?

Dear Sir,-Funny how interested in "The Ringing World 'the wife has become since May 2nd, something 26 years and nearly 250 peals has failed to create! A few more Madeline Crofts and some of our old bachelor ringers might be talked into marriage and so share in this 'taxed entertainment'-grade 1.? Unmarried lady ringers may also 'take heart' and this is no 'gipsy's warning,' for :-

I know a ringer named Ted,
Who delights in making his bed.
At washin' and darnin' he's full of larnin'
And knows how a man should be fed.
To those who are easily led,
Try and alter his ways and so tread,
For at 'splicing', he's good, though unwed,
Cos he's never bin married-so it's said!
If ever he did see red, he too must have quickly fled,
For with no missus to pay he goes ringing all day,
And never seems to lose his head.
(Did Kate think he'd be far better dead?)
D. ' C. ${ }^{\prime}$ V. Also CHESHIRE.
P.S. - Should you fancy your chance as match-maker, beware of this small but great record breaker.

A PEAL QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,-Proud as we are in Worcestershire of the almost complete absence of this type of thing, I am sorry to note the letter from Mr. P. C. Richards on the peal at Wollaston. Without prejudice to the rights or wrongs of his assertions, may I remind him of Rule 12-a rule which I had hoped never to have to quote -and to assure him that his reflections can be dealt with at the proper time and place.-Yours faithfully,

J. D. JOHNSON, Gen. Sec.,  Worcestershire Association.

[Note.-Rule 12 reads: 'That no member shall forward any communication to the public Press reflecting upon any company in union with the Association or any member thereof without the sanction of the secretary.'-ED.]

to a fraternal spirit among ringers, and I do not write with any feelings of ill-will, but to protest against what I feel to be a quite unjustifiable action on the part of the secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.-Yours sincerely, Winchester, Hants. PETER N. BOND.

DEDICATIONS

ECCLESFIELD, YORKSHIRE

The 14th century church at Ecclesfield was filled to capacity on the evening of Ascension Day, when the bells of this ancient church were rededicated. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. R. J. Hayes), who was assisted by the Rev. R. Page and the Rev. C. Whitfield.
The dedication was performed by the Archdeacon of Sheffield, the Ven. D. E. W. Harrison. Rounds were rung by the local company during the service, and afterwards touches in a variety of methods by eight members of the Shefficld District Society.
Damaged by the death-watch beetle, the old wooden frame has been replaced by a new steel structure
The old bells, an anti-clockwise ring of eight. have been cleaned, retuned and hung in modern fittings, now running clockwise. The tenor, always reputed to be a bell of a little over 18 cwt ., is now a good bell of 14 cwt 3 qr . 16 lb .

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston can be complimented on a good job of work and especially the fall of the ropes, which is a perfect circle. The firm was represented by Mr. A. Patrick Cannon, who also assisted in the ringing. A.F

STRETHAM, Nr. ELY

The Parish Church of St. James, Stretham, was filled with parishioners, visitors and ringers on the evening of April 29th for the dedication of the new treble by the Lord Bishop of Ely (the Rt. Rev. H. E. Wynn).
The original five bells have been hung with the treble in an iron frame by Messrs. Taylors, of Loughborough. The fifth bell was recast
The Rev. J. E. Cowgill (Rector of Sttetham 1945-1951) conducted evensong. After the second lesson in evensong the Bishop moved in procession to the tower, where Mr. O. P Drever, who gave the new bell in memory of his father, presented the treble rope to the Bishop. After the dedication the Bishop passed the rope to the churchwardens, charging them to see that the bells were set apart from 'all profane and unhallowed uses.' As the procession returned to the chancel rounds were rung by Miss M. Grain 1, I. M. Waters 2, J. P. Fidler 3, J. W. Pickett 4, H. Gibbons 5, R. H. Brooker 6.

After the service a variety of methods were rung on what is now a very fine ring of six bells.

BELLS IN ENGLISH LIFE

By ERNEST MORRIS

In the belfry of Witchampton, Dorset, is preserved a large pitcher of yellow earthenware, roughly glazed inside and about six inches down the outside. It is inscribed: 'Witchampton Bellfrey.' It was bought by the ringers themselves and made of Verwood Pottery about the year 1800. At Christmas and on special occasions it was carried round to the farmers and others who might give, to be filled with beer or cider. Its capacity is six gallons and originally it had a pouring handle and two carrying handles, and when one of the latter was broken off, a piece of rope was ticd round the neck for carrying. T. F. Thistleton-Dyer in his 'Church Lore Gleanings ' (1891) says that Swansea ringers' jug had the following couplet:

Come fill me with liquor sweet,
For that is good when friends do meet;
When I am full then, drink about,
I ne'er will fail till all is out.'
Kendal, Westmorland, had a ringers' jug, but this is either lost or broken. A view of it is to be seen on the sign of the Ring 0 , Bells. It had an inscription similar to that quoted above at Hadleigh. The inn sign shows the tower with ten ringers in shirt sleeves ringing the bells, several of which can be seen in the open louvres above. The jug appears on the floor of the ringers' room, with a glass or tankard beside it. A-similar picture to this is that at Norwich where a quaint water-colour by Ninham shows the St. Peter Mancroft ringers in their chamber at their ropes, and the pitcher is placed on the floor in the midst of the circle. It is dated about 18 th century. This pitcher originally had three handles, but now has one only. Its capacity is 35 pints, and it was presented to the parish of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. in 1749 by John Dersley, a wealthy potter, who was Sheriff in 1759, Mayor in 1764 and who died the following year. It has been twice lost, but is now preserved in the church.

Stowmarket, Suffolk, ringers' pitcher is also preserved in the belfry. It has two handles and two lips, and is enclosed in wicker work. It holds $4 \frac{1}{2}$ gallons and is of stone pottery, and at the back where the wicker has broken away is the date 1780 and letters 'R.P.' In the Colchester and Essex Museum is a ringers' jug from Braintree. It bears the names of ringers and the date 1685. It has two handles and is ornamented with imprints of flowers. At Hornchurch, Essex. is preserved two pitchers and a note on their history says:-
'These pitchers were originally made for the use of the bellringers, and on certain occasions were filled with ale brewed at Hornchurch Hall for their refreshment. In the belfry was formerly a set of rules as follows: If you ring with spur or hat

Three pints of beer you pay for that;
If you Swear or give the Lye,
A pot you pay immediately;
If a bell you overthrow,
A pint you pay before you go. T.S. 1798.' The smaller of these pitchers is dated 1731 and bears the ringers' names, as does the larger one. This is dated 1815 and made of very dark burnt amber-coloured earthenware. At Witney. Oxon, is a ringers' jug of unknown date, capable of holding 16 quarts, of which the neck takes one! Having been broken it was repaired over a century ago by a tinker. who neatly placed three bands of iron round it and inserted eight brass rivets. A number of others might be auoted at Bungay. Tamworth and elsewhere. Perhaps the most unique one, however, is in possession of Cirencester ringers. It is described as a 'loving-cup' and was presented to the ringers in 1785. It is silvermounted on double rams' horns, with a silver plate inscribed with a bell and the couplet:-

- Untouched I am a silent thing,

But strike me and I sweetly ring.'
This was a favourite inscription often found on ancient bells. This loving-cup, together with a chair which has a bell carved on its back, was given to Cirencester ringers by Mr. Blackwell, of Ampney Park nearby. Dorchester, Dorset, ringers have a flagon in pewter which has been handsomely restored and is now preserved in the Museum there. Its capacity is $1+$ gallons ( 1 pint each for 10 ringers) and is thus inscribed:-

${ }^{\text {- Feby }} 1676$

The Guift of Edward Lefter
wch is to remain for ye ufe of ye ringers
(beneath the mantling) St. Peter.'
A similar pewter pot is preserved at Salisbury. Wilts, St. Paul's, previously called Fisherton Anger, and is inscribed:-

The Pot of Fisherton Anger church.
George Heeley and John Marchant. Churchwardens 1660 .'
It holds more than a gallon. Of leather jacks owned by ringers of old time, perhaps the best known is that at Lincoln and was presented to the ringers there in 1782 . Its capacity is 11 quarts and it is adorned with the city arms on one side and a bell on the other. A similar leather jack dated 1786 belongs to Crowle, Worcs.: and a very interesting one is at Stafford. This bears the names of the ringers and was made in 1750 . It holds 27 pints. Besides the pitchers already noticed in Suffolk there are others at Clare (with two handles and holding 17 quarts dated 1729) and one at Garboldisham. Norfolk, dated 1703 . This holds 16 quarts and is inscribed:-

Come jolly boys and drink your fills. Let me not empty long remain
But if all out fill me again.'
Then follow the names of ringers and 'Joseph Hammond made me.' More modern jugs and pitchers are at Macclesfield where there are no less than three jugs and two pots, the former recording peals rung on these famous bells, and Church Lawton where they have a jug and six cups. The jug bears the names of the ringers and holds 11 quarts, while each cup holds a pint. Other instances of similar jugs are at Hyde, Cheshire; Newcastle-under-Lyme, Staffs ; Barnsley, Yorks; and elsewhere.

A WARMLEY (BRISTOL)  WEDDING

MR. A. D. MARSH-MISS M. H. POWELL
The St. Barnabas' Guild of Ringers rang a wedding peal at Warmley Parish Church on May 17 th . when two of their members were married. They were Mr. Anthony David Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Marsh, of Brislington, Bristol, and Miss Moreen Hazell Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Powell. of Warmley. The Vicar (Preb. C. W. Francis) officiated, and Mr. H. James was at the organ.
The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beige costume with green accessories and carried an ivory prayer book. Matron of honour was Mrs. R. Powell, and the best man was Mr. Paul Marsh. Following a reception at the bride's home. the bridal pair left for Port Isaac for their honeymoon.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Marsh learned to ring at Warmley and are regular Sunday ringers. Mrs. Marsh gained her certificate at St. John's, Bristol. Mr. Marsh is chief server at Warmley and Mrs. Marsh is a Sunday School teacher.
The wedding presents included a chiming clock by the members of the church. C.J.T.

OUTINGS

ROMFORD, ESSEX

Augmented by friends, the ringers of St. Edward's, Romford, held their first outing for many years on May 17th, which was a tour of Essex and Suffolk.
Ringing took place at Potter Street, Harlow, Bishop's Stortford, Great Bardfield, Clare, Lavenham, Sudbury (All Saints' and St. Gregory's) and Halstead. The warm welcome at each tower and good companionship combined to make the four a great success.

OUT IN LEICESTERSHIRE

On May 17 th, twenty-two members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild travelled by various means to King's Norton in the afternoon. After greasing and oiling the bells, these rough going eight were raised and several Triples and Major methods attempted. After tea on the village green, Thurnby and Humberstone were visited. After making one more call! the party travelled homewards, everyone agreeing that it had been a grand day.

WISBECH BRANCH

Fifty-six members and friends of the Wisbech Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association held an enjoyable day's ringing in Northampton and district on May 21st.
Ringing took place at Thrapston, Kettering, Northampton (St. Sepulchre's. St. Giles', All Saints' and St. Peter's). Wellingborough' and Higham Ferrers. The more musical members of the party formed themselves into a choir under Mr. Barker for the homeward journey. Spliced Plain and Little Bob Royal were rung at Kettering.

THE RINGERS' PARADISE

An Easter Tour in Devon: Churches Worth Seeing

MONG tours linked with the annual rally of the Devonshire Guild at Combe Martin on Easter Monday was one arranged with his usual efficiency by Mr. Wilf Panter-young and enthusiastic-for Sowton, Pinhoe, Exeter, Topsham and a few outlying ringers. It began at Kingsnympton ( 6 bells, tenor 15 cwt .), where the church has a copper covered spire, a porch with 41 bosses, and at the entrance part of a Celtic cross. The north wall is, probably, part of a former Saxon church dating back one thousand years. The chancel ceiling has a large golden cross in a sky of clouds and stars. A 15 th century screen has no loft, but the tracery, fan vaulting and cornice carving (four rows) are exceedingly good. A tablet records a succession of John Furses, covering two centuries, belong ing to the parish. The 'father' of the company, a ripe octogenarian, Mr. A. W. Searle, who has nearly 400 Devon towers to his credit, noted in the visitors book that he rang at Kingsnympton 50 years ago
North Molton ( $6,22 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was the next stop. The place had in the past profitable minesmostly silver, but with some gold and copperbut little or nothing is now done with them. The spacious church has screens with much fine carving and a font that is probably unique in Devon. The stem of this font has eight panels, on which are figures of a bishop with staff, St. Anthony with pig, St. Mark with lion, St. Sidwell with scythe and book, and St. Urith of Chittlehampton, who is shown carrying her decapitated head and as having another head in the normal position.

SOME ROMANCE

The road to Combe Martin brought acquaintance with Devon's truly rural roads, along which the coach just managed to scrape its way. Combe Martin ( $8,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was at one time better known than North Molton for silver mining, but is now notable for horticultural productions and a street about two miles long. Service, lunch and meeting being over, the tour was continued to Berrynarbor ( $6,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.). The travelling historian explained that the curious name was a compound of Berry and Narbor, by which families the manor was formerly held. John Jewel, who became Bishop of Salisbury and was the author of 'An apology for the English Church,' was born here in 1522.
A little romance associated with the place was recalled. It related to Sir Reginald Wolseley, the tenth baronet of his line. He was working in the United States when he succeeded to the baronetcy. His father, an Irish doctor, was cousin to the 9th baronet. Sir Reginald had been in the States and Canada a long time and, as all his friends were there, he gave little heed to the baronetcy. But a Devon lady who had nursed his mother promised the latter, when dying, that she would seek Sir Reginald. She found him and he came back with the lady as his wife. They lived at Berrynarbor. About three years later Sir Reginald died, and a year or so afterwards his wife was buried beside him.

A RARE EFFIGY

The next move was to West Down ( 6, 10 cwt .), where the Norman font was found during restoration work in 1874, and where there is also a rare specimen of a wooden effigy, dating from the 14th century, and still retaining a good deal of original colouring The effigy is supposed to be that of Sir John Wyatt, Justice of the Common Pleas

Mortehoe ( $6,9 \mathrm{cwt}$.) for tea 'was the next objective, and on the way there were fine views of marine and cliff scenery. The church was originally cruciform, but has been much altered. The Tracey family was long associated with the parish, and the member of it who had a share in the murder of Thomas a Becket in Canterbury Cathedral is supposed to have later settled here as a recluse. A tomb in the south transept is that of Sir William Tracey, a 14th century priest.

CHURCHYARD GARDEN

The final call was at Georgeham ( $8,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.), which has a beautiful churchyard, full of daffodils, narcissi, primroses and polyantha, with rose bushes on the graves to provide a wealth of blooms later in the year. It astonished visitors who saw the place for the first time. The church itself was to a large extent rebuilt during the 19th century. Then was found a stone carving of the Crucifixion. It may have been part of a reredos and has been placed in the north wall of the chancel. The eastern wall has fine paintings of St. Francis, St George, the Virgin Mary and the Archangel Gabriel. At a distance the figures seem to be in relief, but they are flush with the wall surface. The artist was Margaret Kemp Welch, who attained considerable eminence and was sometime resident in the parish.

RINGING AWARDS

At all churches the bells were in good order, but the rings most appreciated were at North Molton, Combe Martin and Georgeham. The method's used were mainly Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples, which enabled the tenors to be kept behind as big drums, a procedure that appeals very strongly to Devon country dwellers. There were also some Bob Doubles. At several churches there were displays of certificates awarded to local teams for skill in raising and lowering bells and excellence of striking in call changes. One church had a shield, obtained for special success, being on a wall. Everywhere there were welcomes and good wishes. The visitors were grateful for them and expressed admiration for the Easter decorations, in which many thousands of spring flowers were used with charming effect, especially at Combe Martin. If only the weather had been fine instead of wet until the afternoon was well advanced, the day would have been one to be remembered.
P. S.

RINGING RHYMES

No. 11 - GRANDSIRE
Like Plain Bob, Grandsire's hunt-controlled, But 'twin-hunt.' So it must be told These methods both are built the same, With 'Place and dodgings aft.' Each name Shows whether ODD or EVEN bells The method fits; and also tells Where the place is made. On even rings, Dodging in pairs to 'seconds ' brings Us back. On odds (Grandsire)-we find The dodging pairs (count from behind!) Bring us to 'thirds,' the place to make. But now, especial notice take Between this 'thirds ' and 'lead' is found A second hunt-bell, working round With Treble, 'till a call makes clear-

The 'work-cycle,' as in Plain Bob, Becomes an equally clear-cut job. But the dodging pairs are upwards moved One place. Plain Bob's three/four is proved As Grandsire's four / five. And so on 'Till ten/eleven, in Cinques, is won.

The Grandsire 'cyclics' now please learn. BELL and POSITION you'll discern Same as in Plain Bob, less the bell That's in the hunt. Note it as well!

The Calls in Grandsire take effect At Treble's first lead-blow. Correct Will be the Bob, if 3 rds is made, With dodging aft. This 3 rds is stayed For two more blows at Single calls, While 2nds over Treble falls. A. Y-B.

SOME LITTLE KNOWN CORNISH

 TOWERS
A Happy Easter Monday

On Easter Monday, six of the young Kenwyn (Truro) ringers met three from West Cornwall, including Miss E. Symons (president of the Truro Guild), at St. Samson (or Golant) on the west bank of the River Fowey to begin a day searching out new towers and bells in that area. The Kenwyn contingent had already got the bells going and this brought Mr. Thomas, of Emmanuel, Plymouth, to the tower to ring his first changes on the bells, although he had often rung there, for St. Samson is his birthplace. This little tower has five bells, tenor $4 \frac{3}{8} \mathrm{cwt}$., in excellent going order, as Taylors rehung them in 1938.
The next tower, St. Veep, could be seen across the river on the east bank, but it was a journey of twelve miles to get to it. St. Veep bells are famous, being a complete ring of six cast in 1770 by John Pennington and Co., but of recent years completely rehung in a new frame by Taylors. When this was done the Advisory Committee would not allow any retuning, and the bells are said to be a maiden peal. They are pleasing to ring, and sound well both inside and outside the tower.

This must be an area in which the Penningtons had little or no competition in the 1770 's, for we went on to Lanteglos-by-Fowey, knowing there was a ringing match in progress, for we chose a spot looking across a field to the church to settle to our pienic lunch, and to have a lesson in rising and falling if nothing more. It was well done and we heard several bands perform. Lanteglos bells were a complete Pennington ring of 1774 until 1909, when Taylors restored them and recast the treble. This is one of the Barron Bell Trust's most generous gifts. Until 1937 there were three old bells in this tower. One of these is preserved in the church. The Trust gave the back six and paid for almost everything except the two trebles, which were provided by the parish. They are a delightful modern eight, tenor $12 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., and we could not resist knocking off a quarter of Grandsire Triples here amongst other things.

Next came Pelynt, until 1913 a ring of four, again some Penningtons of 1773, but Taylors added a treble and tenor ( $13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in F), and these bells are one of Cornwall's heavier and mixed sixes. At this tower we received a surprise visit from Canon G. W. S. Harmer and one of his ringers from Bodmin.
Lanreath six are a complete ring of Pennington, 1773, and were rehung by Mears in 1913. They were much lighter, tenor about $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. The Rector welcomed us and said he had just returned from the ringing match and that his ringers were still there.

As darkness drew near we arrived at Lanlivery, where much restoration is necessary Scaffolding was keeping the roof up, much of which was gone, but we received a welcome from several local ringers, who had even lighted hurricane lanterns and placed them on the floor so we could evade the pond in the church. The bells, like the church, need repair, and must be the toughest proposition in Cornwall. The writer recalled he had rung a peal here 24 years previously with Mr. Alan Pink. We tackled the bells and rang a surprisingly good touch of Grandsire Triples, which gave joy to those who welcomed us. The fifth and tenor were cast in 1639 by Roger Purdue, and are from the original five. Three trebles were added in 1890 by Mears and Stainbank. We could not stay to do all we were expected to do here, especially when the locals produced a very fine set of twelve handbells. so we had to lower the bells and say good-bye to them and to each other. Maybe that when a new Vicar is appointed to Lanlivery and the church has a new roof, the bells will receive the attention they need. Our thanks are due to Mr. Alan: Carveth for arranging this day out. A.S.R.

OBITUARY

MR. ARTHUR ROBERTS
The death occurred on May 14th, following a long and painful illness, patiently borne, of Mr. Arthur Roberts, of Llandegai, Caerns. Mr. Roberts had been ringing at Llandegai from boyhood. He was a keen and regular service ringer and was very interested in the art of change ringing, but there was little scope for this locally and advancement was slow. Whatever ringing was done on this old Rudhall six was well done and always good to listen to, although the present condition of the bells is far from good. Mr. Roberts was a great friend of Mr. W. Wolstencroft, who used to visit this neighbourhood annually for many years. He leaves a widow and daughter to mourn his loss. The church has lost a good friend and worker. The interment was at Llandegai. Floral tributes were beautiful and numerous, including one from Lady Janet Douglas Pennent. Mr. Roberts was foreman in charge of Port Penrhyn on the Menai Straits.

A. J. H.

In an appreciation W. D. M. writes:Grounded in the faith of the Church, Mr. per, communicant and church worker as long as health permitted, very often an initiator of sacrificial church work, a great believer in direct giving. He took great delight in the art of campanology, was a faithful bell-ringer, believed it to be a most healthful and devout exercise for a church boy and did his best to influence in this direction. He was also a great believer in inter-parochial fellowship of bell-ringers. As long as health permitted he was also a faithful member of the Parochial Church Council always ready to help. He was a very good friend to all, especially where there was need The sympathies of the whole parish go out to Mrs. Roberts and the whole family.

> Whene'er the sweet church bell
> Peals over hill and dell,
> May Jesus Christ be praised.
> O hark to what it sings,
> As joyously it rings,
> May Jesus Christ be praised.'

MR. ARTHUR MARTIN

Mr. Arthur Martin passed peacefully away at St. Mark's Hospital, Maidenhead, after a long illness, aged 68 years.

Mr. Martin (a younger brother of George) was a ringer at All Saints', Boyne Hill, Maidenhead. for 40 years. He reluctantly had to give up the ringing he loved in 1937 owing to illhealth. He rang 75 peals, his first being in 1901 and his last in 1937. These included a nonconducted peal of Stedman and many Surprise methods. His proudest achievement was in taking part in a peal of London, at Boyne Hill in 1930 , rung by a local band, conducted by his brother George.
Mr. Martin was a postman in the Maidenhead district for 46 years, and on retirement in 1943 on account of ill-health he was awarded the Imperial Service Medal in recognition of his loyal service. He was an accomplished musician and an enthusiastic handbell ringer. In the 1914-1918 war he served in the Royal Warwickshire Regiment.

Mr. Martin was buried on May 19th after a service in All Saints', conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Eric Perkins) and attended by relatives, friends and ringers at All Saints'. The bells were rung half-muffied before the service, and in the evening a half-muffied quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by Mrs. D. Poole 1. J. Fowler 2. T. Goodchild 3. E. E. Gosling 4. W. Judd 5. D. Poole 6, J. Young (cond.) 7, H. Baldwin 8.

MR. WILLIAM KEEBLE

Mr. G. Dawson writes :- I first remember the late Mr. William Keeble when I joined the Leytonstone Society in 1899. He was employed in Stratford works, G.E.R., and after ringing a good many Surprise Minor methods he became acquainted with the brothers Pye, with whom he did great things. I think I am right in saying he and the three Pyes were the first to ring Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise double-handed on handbells. He was in the then record peal of London, 14,114, at King's Norton, and many other notable peals about that period.

He afterwards went to Bacup, where he was a valuable asset to the Surprise band there. After a few years there he returned to his native place, Feering, Essex, where he rang many peals for the Essex Association and other societies. For many years he had been an inmate of Severals Hospital, Colchester, where he passed away after years of suffering. I cannot tell you how many peals he had rung, but it must be many hundreds. He was a very clever conductor, and I have heard the late W. Pye say he would give him best at conducting on eight bells.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

END OF A CHAPTER

THE grandeur of the Cathedral high on the great hill, the narrow cobbled ways leading down to the busy streets below, the trains clattering over crossings right in the city's shopping thoroughfare, these were the distinctive impressions of Lincoln itself.

Quite naturally too, it seemed, the focal point for the Central Council was the Cathedral: the bells being rung on four successive days; its superb beauty being vividly illuminated by the words of the Dean as guide; its Choir where we joined in Corporate Communion; and its historic Chapter House where, like Kings and Parliaments of old, we deliberated.

Early in proceedings came the election of a successor to Mr. G. W. Fletcher, who, as secretary, has for 21 years governed the affairs of the Council. The two contestants needed no introduction and the ballot papers were quickly marked and collected. Soon we knew that Mr. E. A. Barnett had been chosen, and so had ended another chapter in the Council's annals.

Impressions of the Lincoln meeting are thus merged with recollections of the Council's work since the end of the war. We recall the courageous acquisition of 'The Ringing World' as its official journal, and the task of placing it on a sound financial footing, aggravated latterly by the inflationary tendencies in our national economy. We observe with some satisfaction that the Council has been putting its own house in order. There were the rules which had to be overhauled, a task completed in 1950. Then came the revision of its Decisions, to which all affiliated guilds and associations are pledged to abide, and the revised form was approved in 1951 at Chester.

But new Decisions have also to be made, and in recent years attention has centred on the works of the Methods

Committee. Among its assignments have been the determination of the special requirements of Doubles methods (its recommendations have just been accepted) and the analysis of the underlying principles of method extension. That the Council has been reluctant to make definite decisions about extension perhaps points to the need for a full presentation of the problem by the committee which would enable many more members of the Council to form their own judgment. It also shows that the Council is alive to the basic importance of method construction, and that it is prepared to make new Decisions about it however difficult it may be.

The Council has now come to a review of its own budget and must face up to the task of ensuring an income commensurate with its work. The only source of income is from the affiliated guilds and associations, who pay five shillings for each representative, a figure which has remained static from the early days. In 1951 this brought in £37, hardly sufficient to prepare for the annual meeting, and the loss on the year of $£ 46$ is not a true measure of deficit, for members engaged in the work of the Council often charge no expenses. The obvious course is to increase the affiliation fee, and in giving notice of this at Lincoln the Standing Committee will enable the Council to enter the new chapter of its career free of financial embarrassment.

And so thoughts revert once more to the very happy days at Lincoln, and to the warmth of the hospitality received from the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, from the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral, from the Bishop of the Diocese, and from the Mayor and Corporation of the city. There was a sense of natural dignity about it all, and a feeling that we as a Council were being accepted for what we aspire to be.

The Editorial Committee are sincerely grateful to those who send a donation towards production costs with their peals and quarter peals.

We regret to hear of the passing of Mr. Fred Stokes, the well-known member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He had attended on Whit Tuesday the tea given to members of the Central Council by the Mayor and Corporation of Lincoln and then appeared in good health. His death took place suddenly the following morning. A memoir will appear in our next issue.

A meral from Lincoln to big tenor ringers: Besides raisins, never eat pork before a peal.
The peal at Cossington, Leics, on May 31st, is the first on the bells for 24 years. The previous one was rung by the five brothers Payne, of Syston, in 1928.

In the silent peal of Stedman rung at Gainsborough were Messrs. C. Glenn and A. H. Pulling. It was 40 years within five days that they rang their last peal together.

Mr. H. M. Day, who called the peal of 17 Surprise methods at Rippingale, is 70 years of age. He asks if he is the oldest ringer to call 17 Surprise methods to a peal.

The handbell peal rung on Derby Day at Woodditton. Cambs, was hoped to have marked the occasion of the namesake of the method chosen, 'Bob Major,' winning the blue riband of the turf as this horse was trained at Newmarket. The actual winner, 'Tulyar,' was, however, a Newmarket horse.

Hopes of a 10,080 Minor peal in 14 different 720 's at Holbrook, Suffolk, on May 31st, were dashed owing to a late start through a wedding and a breakdown at the end of the third 720 . A peal in nine plain methods was rung instead. The first attempt for this 10.080 Minor peal was planned for March 29th but had to be cancelled owing to heavy gales and snowstorms.

GOSSIP
Congratulations to Mrs. Sid' Jones, of Repton, on her two peals in a day on May 31st. After the second peal, Stedman Triples, at the 600 -years-old church of St. Wystan Repton, Mrs. Jones acted as the ringer's perfect wife to the band. She would not take her own tea until everyone was served. The band wish to add their thanks to their congratulations to their charming hostess.

Forty-six compositions are given in the 1951 report of the Yorkshire Association.

The band who rang the peal at Crediton, Devon, on Whit Monday, inquire wien the last peal of Major was rung on these bells.
The ringer of the fourth bell in the peal of Plain Bob Minor at Carlton-juxta-Snaith on May 10th was Mr. Henry R. Parkinson and not as published. The error is regretted.
Halifax Parish Church bells will be dedicated on Saturday, June 28th, at $7 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The official weight of the tenor is 28 cwt . and not 26 cwt . as previously stated, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., inform us.
Any National Service man stationed at Woolwich will be most welcome at St. Mary Magdalene's, Woolwich. on Sundays at $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The church is situated behind the Odeon Cinema.
Louth tenor proved a handful to a muchpublicised tenor ringer during the Central Council meeting at Lincoln. The peal was lost within a few leads from home after ringing for over three hours.

The great interest taken by the ringers at Heanor, and their warm welcome to the visiting peal band on Whit Monday was much appreciated. The band attempted a second peal at Alfreton which was lost. Afterwards they were kindly entertained by Mr. Hopson.

CENTRAL COUNCIL VISIT LINCOLN AFTER 30 YEARS

SPECIAL COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATION ON SECRETARYSHIP NOT ACCEPTED - COUNCIL'S  FINANCES UNSATISFACTORY: PROBLEM OF ADDITIONAL REVENUE - ROLL OF HONOUR COMPLETED : MR. F. CULLUM'S GENEROUS GIFT - 26 PEALS DELETED FROM ANALYSIS REPORT

If
FTER an absence of 30 years, the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers held their annual meeting at Lincoln on Whit Tuesday. It was one of the happiest of Council meetings. The Lincoln Diocesan Guild as hosts were unsparing in their efforts to make the assembly a big success, and they received full co-operation from the Bishop and Dean and also the civic authorities, the Council being the guests at tea on Tuesday of the Mayor and Corporation. Proceedings on the Tuesday started with a celebration of the Holy Communion in the Cathedral at 8 a.m., and the Council meeting was held in the historic Chapter House.
Of the business before the Council. the most important was appointment of a new secretary in place of Mr. G. W. Fletcher, who has held the office with distinction for 21 years. Mr. E. A Barnett, of Crayford, was elected his successor. The President (Mr. E. A. Lewis) voiced the appreciation of the Council of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher's long and faithful service.
The Methods Committee had a disappointing day. Their report on Method Extension was referred back. Mr. H. Miles was able to report the completion of the Ringers" Roll of Honour, and appreciation was expressed of the honorary work of Mr. F. Cullum in writing the roll.

Concern was expressed by Mr G. W. Fletcher at the finances of the Council. The inadequacy of affiliation fees to meet the ordinary expenses of the Council was com mented on, and this is to form the subject matter of a notice of motion to be presented at the next con ference at Bournemouth

BISHOP'S WELCOME
After prayers by the Dean, the Lord Bishop of Lincoln, in welcom ing the Council, said he believed he was right in saying that it was in 1922 when the Council were last at Lincoln. He accepted that they were all born then. but a considerable amount of water had flowed since.

He hoped they were enjoying their stay there. Among the delegates he noticed his old friend Dan Cooper and representatives from the old Parish Church of Croy-don-one of the famous towers of the country He met some of them a few years back at a service at St. Margaret's, Westminster, and he remembered the good dinner afterwards.

He expected by now they had rung in every tower in Lincolnshire. A bell ringer's idea of fun was to cover as vast amount of territory as he could and to ring in as many towers as possible for about 10 minutes.

- You are doing a wonderful job of work and in it you are carrying on one of the ancient crafts and at the same time proclaiming to the world the Christian call to worship.

He hoped they would obtain a thrill in holding their meeting at the Chapter House, one of the most historic buildings in the country In that very hall the Parliaments of England used to be held in the days of Edward I. If they turned back the carpet they would find a wooden plug and from that hole the Royal Standard of England was flown. The King occupied his seat and the ornamental lions that formed the arms of the chair had been thumped by Plantagenet monarchs.

The impressive majesty of Lincoln Cathedral. A consciousness of its grandeur and great spiritual witness brought the thoughts of those attending the Central Council above mundane things. The Dean personally conducted the visitors around the Cathedral on Whit Monday, regret that he must sever his connection with the Methods Committee, with whom he had had the pleasure of working for the last four or five years. The success of the committee was in no small way due to the excellent way Mr. Felstead ran the committee.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING
Mr. F. W. Perrens moved and Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded that the minutes of the last meeting as circulated be approved.-Agreed.

Arising from the minutes. the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow said it scemed to him that the Festival of Britain Sub-Committee had not really shown sufficient imagination, drive and diplomacy in the way they had dealt with the Festival project. He wished to refer to three items. There was no ringing at the Festival Church; no printed blurb to bring the idea of ringing before the man in the street, and no film or film strip had been proceeded with. He had two reasons for bringing these matters forward. One was that one of the advantages of living in a democracy was that they had the fun of being critical without being constructive, and the other was that he had the privilege of speaking in a Chapter House because theirs at Norwich fell down in 1708.
The Secretary said the Festival of Britain Committee was a sub-committee of the Standing Committee and an opportunity would be given later. He would like to remind Mr. Thurlow when a proposal was made involving work the job was generally given: to the proposer (laughter).

REPORT OF HON. LIBRARIAN

New publications appearing on the list include the Card of Instructions. Model Rules, a second edition of the Handbell book and ' Village Bells.' The two latter books are much in demand, and it would be advisable to reprint - Village Bells' in the course of the next twelve months. The stock of Stedman and Grandsire sheets will soon be exhausted and might be reprinted. The opinion of the Council on renewal of the stock of Double Norwich and Cambridge Court sheets, and on the addition of a sheet of some other popular method, would be valuable. The Collection of Major Methods is in the press.
The accounts show a complete year under the increased postal rates and expenses are heavy. Thanks are due to those who have been thoughtful enough to include a contribution towards postage, especially when ordering single copies of publications.
Several books have been lent during the year, including the whole issue of 'Bell News ' and 'Ringing World' to 1939 . Mr. Dove very kindly made himself responsible for the conveyance of these books by road.
The thanks of the Council are due for the following presentations: 'Rings of Bells in Plymouth,' Fr. Stuart Worth, by the author; - Memorandum of Technology of Method Structure,' MS. typed, A. York-Bramble, by the author; 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire,' Vol. 1II., F. Sharpe, by the author.

A copy of 'Among the Bells' and one of Walters Church Bells of England 'have been sent on permanent loan to the Irish Association of Change Ringers
Mr. Hooton said the following books had been received since the report had been prepared: Two parts of 'Church Bells of Worcestershire,' by A. A. Hughes ; 'Beginner's Grandsire,' by Mr. F. Warrington; Cheshire Bells (two parts), J. W. Clarke. During the year two parts of 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire' had been published and one part of 'The Bells of Buckinghamshire.
The accounts showed that 1,522 copies of various publications were sold during the year. the total receipts being $£ 8117 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d.
Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Hooton said he wanted to make one plea There were scattered about the country books which were the property of the Central Council. Some years ago when the librarianship changed he found there was no record of copies sent out on sale or return. He had put two letters in 'The Ringing World' on the subject. No books had been sent out on sale or return for 20 years. He asked secretaries to return the copies.

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded the adoption of the report.

Mr. F. W. Rogers said he had several books mentioned by Mr. Hooton in his possession and during the year he had been trying to get the copies outstanding from different towers.
Mr. Hooton announced that the new collection of Plain Major Methods was published that week and was now on sale at 3 s .
Mr. P. J. Johnson said some years ago the librarian used to send out books in bulk to the associations. He thought it would be a good thing if they could sell books in this way.
Mr. E. C. S. Turner supported Mr. Johnson Commending the new book of Plain Major Methods, he said many of the methods were far more difficult to ring than Surprise methods.

The report was adopt 1 ?

THE RINGING WORLD

The accounts for The Ringing World showed a loss of $£ 1519 \mathrm{~s}$. 8d. On the expenditure side: Printing and blocks $£ 2,902$ 13s. editorial office rent $£ 6$ 10s., editor's fees and expenses $£ 258$, clerical assistance $£ 11812 \mathrm{~s}$. 4d. postage $£ 10$ 16s. 11d., stationery and sundry £1 5s. 7d., despatch of copies $£ 112$ 1s., postage and wrappers $£ 408$ 14s. 9 d . The publications account showed sales $£ 81$ 17s. 7d.. stock December 31st, 1951. £223 2s. 4d., excess of expenditure over income $£ 12$ 1s. 5 d.
Mr. G. W. Fletcher, in presenting the accounts, said they were somewhat a dismal story. Regarding the publications account they were selling their books too cheaply, and as they printed new books they must considerably increase the price. For 25 years they had been selling a book which cost 2 s . $4 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. for 2 s . 6 d ., and an envelope to-day cost id. In regard to 'The Ringing World, they had 1,500 potsal subscribers and some of the subscriptions were accompanied with donations. He would like them seriously to consider whether the time had not been reached when they should increase the selling cost of The Ringing Woridd: Uncertain income by the way of donations would not get them anywhere.
On the general fund of the Council. Mr. Fletcher questioned the adequacy of the affiliation fee of 5 s. per association. The time had come when it should be increased to a reasonable figure. It was not right that members of 'The Ringing World ' Commitee should travel to Ringing World' Committee should travel to Birmingham and London for meetings at their own expense. He had been asked by the Standing Committee to give notice of an increase in the affiliation fees. He moved the adoption of the accounts, 'The Ringing World' accounts being subject to audit.
Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded and the accounts were adopted.

CARTER RINGING MACHINE

The report of the trustees (Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. A. Walker) stated that repairs had now been completed. The machine had been demonstrated on tower bells and on its own set of handbells and was in excellent running order. It could now be returned to the Science and Art Muscum.
Mr. Hughes moved the adoption of the report.
The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow asked where the machine would go.
Mr . Hughes: As the judge, said. "it will go to the place whence it came, (laughter).
Mr. F. W. Rogers: May we ask what arrangements are made for ringers and others to view the marchine when it goes to the place whence it came?

Mr. Hughes: No arrangements have yet been made
The report was adopted.

STANDING COMMITTEE

The Hon. Secretary: The formal report of the Standing Commitue is that they have considered the agenda and have made recommendations that will be placed before the Council. tions that will be placed before the Council.
He moved the adaption.-A
He moved the adoption.-Agreed.

HANDBOOK

The Hon. Secretary said the preparation of a handbook was left at Chester to a small committee with Dr. Hatcher to complete. They hoped the handbook would be available this | time next year. | the handbook would provide a source was that formation on all matters appertaining to the Council. He understood that all conveners of committees were putting their expert advice at his disposal and as a result several sections his disposal and as a result several sections were already completed.
| :--- |

It was decided to leave the handbook in the hands of Dr. Hatcher and Mr. Fletcher to act as a small committee.

ROLL OF HONOUR

The report of Mr. H. Miles stated:-
At the Central Council meeting at Chester in 1951 two estimates for writing and binding the Roll were submitted. As both estimates were high, Mr. J. W. Clarke was appointed to act with' me in an endeavour to get much lower estimates from other sources.
After some time had elapsed, Mr. Clarke submitted a scheme under which the Roll would be written and bound by students at Chester College at a much lower figure than those of the original estimates.
In the meantime. however. I had interviewed personally a London ringer who is in the trade and who generously offered to write the names without payment, so that the total cost would be that of the materials and binding only.
These two proposals were submitted to the Standing Committee for their opinion, with the result that the work was entrusted to the London ringer, and it is now progressing so satisfactorily that there is every prospect of the completion of the Roll by the time the Council meets at Whitsuntide. If this turns out to be the casc, it is hoped to have the Roll on view at Lincoln.
Perhaps I may be allowed to add that in my opinion the London ringer deserves the Council's warmest thanks for his unselfish work on the Roll of Honour.
Mr. H. Miles said the writing of the Roll had been done voluntarily by a ringer, Mr. F. Cullum, which was a very generous piece of work. On behalf of the Council he extended to Mr. Cullum their warmest thanks for an excellent job. The second Roll had been made in the same way as the first, but the style of writing was different.
The suggestion was that the Roll, instead of being deposited in the library of St. Paul's where applications had to be made to inspect it, should be placed in a glass case in the long gallery. The Roll would be open, and the proposal was that the College Youths who rang there Sunday by Sunday should be asked to turn over the pages. The case would cost money. If there was any member present who would make a voluntary gift of that case it would be very welcome.
Mr. R. S. Anderson seconded and said it added a great deal to the sentimental value of the Roll that a ringer had undertaken the job and had done so voluntarily.

Mr. E. Alex Young said it was an excellent piece of writing and the Roll was something they would always be prout of in years to come.
Mr. J. W. Clarke also congratulated Mr. Cullum on his lettering.
The Hon. Secretary proposed that the very grateful thanks of the Council be extended to
Mr. Cullum and Mr. Miles for their excellent Mr. Cullum and Mr. Miles for their excellent work. The actual cost of the Roll was $£ 26$ and they had received an anonymous donation of £6. He proposed a vote of thanks to Mr.

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded.
The report was adopted.

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN REPORT

The report of the sub-committee, signed by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher and Mr. G. H. Spice, stated: Since the adoption of its main report at the 1951 Council meeting at Chester, the at the 1951 Council meeting at Chester, the Festival Sub-Committee has been active in only two respects:-
(1) Following the apparent misunderstandings in connection with ringing at the Festival Church of St. John. Waterloo Road, more negotiations took place which led to the arrangements published in 'The Ringing World' of July 20th, 1951.
(2) Further enquiries were made into the possibilities of making a film about ringing, but unfortunately no means of direct sponsorship was found.
In asking that the Festival Sub-Committee should now, like the South Bank itself, be broken up, its members wish to place on record their appreciation and thanks for the encouragement received from ringers all over the country, who by their response helped to make the Festival of Britain the success it undoubtedly was.

Dr. Hatcher, in presenting the report, said in regard to films their proposal was to explore all possibilities of making a film, which was very different from a film strip. There was no comparison in cost between the two.
The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said no reference was made in the report to handbell ringing.
Mr. Harold W. Rogers said the Rural Dean of Battersea approached the local association of ringers to arrange for handbell ringing, and the London Counties Association was then approached and made the necessary arrangements.

The report was adopted.

PEALS COLLECTION CUMMITTEE

The report of the committee stated: We have given further consideration to the projected collection of Royal and Maximus compositions mentioned in our 1951 report and have come to the conclusion that, owing to the simplicity of composition in Royal and Maximus (14 and 10 courses respectively being required out of a possible 60 ), a collection of these compositions is not needed. We therefore propose to abandon the project.
We suggest that the committee be now disbanded since its continuance serves no useful purpose, and that it be re-formed if and when circumstances call for such a committee.
Mr. E. A. Barnett moved the adoption of the report and said the committee proposed their own liquidation.

Mr. Walter Ayre seconded.
The Hon. Secretary: At the Standing Committec it was proposed that the report be adopted with the deletion of the last paragraph.
It was agreed that the report be adopted with the exception of the last paragraph.

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE

The report of the committee stated: The year 1951 was a prolific peal ringing year, producing a grand total of 2.957 peals- 2.661 on tower bells and 296 on handbells-beating the high total achieved in 1949.
A large number of peals was rung to mark the Festival of Britain, and very successful ringing tours added to the normal peal ringing. The Leicester Diocesan Guild headed the list with 189 peals on tower bells and 62 on handbells, followed by the Kent County Association with 180 on tower bells and three on handbells.
Outstanding performances deserving the congratulations of the Exercise are as follows: 15,480 Cambridge Surprise Royal, Lancashire Association: 25 Spliced Surprise Major methods, Oxford Diocesan Guild: 10,368 London Surprise Major, Midland Counties Guild: Spliced Surprise Maximus ( 6 methods), Leicester Diocesan Guild: 126 Minor methods in nine $720^{\circ}$ s, Leicester Diocesan Guild: 105 Minor methods in seven $720^{\circ}$ s, Leicester Diocesan Guild. On handbells: 12 Spliced Surprise Major methods. Hertford County Association : Kent Treble Bob Fourteen, Leicester Diocesan Guild: 42, 46 and 50 Spliced Plain Major methods, Lincoln Diocesan Guild.
The above totals include peals which do not comply with the Decisions of the Council, and we ask for a ruling as to their inclusion. These are:-
Coventry Diocesan Guild: 2 peals of Doubles "in hand," 5,200 and 5,660 changes.
Essex Association: 1 Minor in 6 methods containing Woodbine Treble Bob.
Hereford Guild : 1 Minor in 5 methods, containing Reverse Canterbury.
Kent County: 1 Spliced Major containing Canterbury Pleasure; 2 Minor in 5 methods, containing Reverse Canterbury; 3 Minor in 4 methods containing Reverse Canterbury.
Lancashire Association: 1 Minor 7 methods, containing Woodbine; 1 Minor in 5 methods, containing Woodbine.
Leicester Diocesan Guild: 1 Minor in 3 methods, containing Reverse Canterbury. Midland Counties Guild: 1 Minor in 4 methods, containing Reverse Canterbury.
Oxford Diocesan Guild: 1 Minor in 18 methods. Containing Reverse Canterbury; 2 Minor in 17 methods, ditto: 1 Minor in 16 methods. ditto: 1 Minor in 14 methods, ditto;

Mi Minor in 9 methods, ditto; 3 Minor in 8 methods, ditto; 3 Minor in 7 methods, ditto 1 Minor in 5 methods, ditto; 1 Minor in 3 methods, ditto.
St. Martin's Guild: 1 Doubles in 4 methods, 5,089 changes.
Sussex County Association: 1 Minor in 4 methods, containing Reverse Canterbury
Truro Diocesan Guild : 1 Minor in 4 methods, containing Reverse Canterbury.
In all reports of peats where more than ONE method is rung we ask correspondents to state how many methods were actually rung, and to check their reports before posting, as that would save time and trouble when records are being compiled.
Presenting the report, Mr. Walter Ayre said there was another peal for non-inclusion, one containing Canterbury Pleasure from the Kent County Association.
Mr. H. Miles seconded.
Mr. Harold Poole: Can we have this clear? Do the proposer and seconder want these peals excluded?
Mr. Ayre: We want a ruling whether we abide by the Decisions of the Council.
Mr. Miles suggested that discussion should be left until after the Oxford Diocesan Guild's resolution had been carried.
Mr. Anderson expressed the view that the Peals Analysis Committee should abide by the Decisions of the Council.
Mr. E. A. Barnett: There is the fact that the method, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, although it does not comply with the Council's Decisions, is contained in the Council's Minor and Doubles Collection. It is rather hard to delete these peals when the figures are given in a publication.

Mr. N. Golden said there was confusion as to what was meant by Canterbury Pleasure and Reverse Canterbury Pleasure. Some people know the method under one title and some under the other.
The Hon. Secretary said the Standing Committee recommended that the Peals Analysis Committee be instructed to delete these 26 peals and make a note that the figures are not included as they did not comply with the Decisions of the Council.
The report of the committee was then adopted.

Mr. H. Miles said there was a peal of Kent Treble 14. He did not like the name. He suggested the title Maximissimus or Excellior.

Mr. C. Roberts said some years ago he took part in a peal of 14. Mr. J. A. Trollope suggested the title of the peal as Plain Bob 14 . gested the title of the peal as Plain Bob 14.
Mr. C. K. Lewis supported Mr. Roberts.

Mr. John Worth: Was the peal a true extension?
The report was adopted.

LETTERS  PEAL AT CRANBORNE

Dear Sir.-In answer to Mr. Hunt's request for the exact reason why the Salisbury. Diocesan Guild will not accept the peal of Triples rang at Cranborne on Sunday, February 24th, 1952, I reply with that part of Rule 5, which reads: - A life member elected in the tower before starting for a peal must have paid his subscription, and his election be confirmed at the next Branch , meeting, before the peal can be recorded.'

There is no question about the proposition or the seconding, but Mr. Hunt tries to imply that the subscriptions were dispatched at once when, in fact. seven weeks had elapsed when they were reccived by the hon. secretary of the Salisbury Branch. Cranborne is well in the Wimborne Branch, and they should be sent to the hon. secretary of that Branch. When this matter was brought forward for confirmation at the Guild annual meeting at Bridport it was decided that this lapse of time was unreasonable; it was, however, carried that the memberships be endorsed from the date the subscriptions were received.
The statements by Mr. Hunt that I wish to appease the Cranborne ringers and other interested parties is farcical, and that any member of the Guild is jealous of a peal of Stedman is more than childish, and the abusive insinuation that I am sheltering behind my official position for dictatorial purposes I heartily resent and consider it insulting. I have done no more than that which I have been instructed to do by the Salisbury Guild.

Mr. Peter Bond also asks for more details but, like Mr. Hunt, he blames the hon. secretary of the Guild, and I have already answered those queries. Both gentlemen try to make me look a rascal but they will have to get very busy if they want to keep the band of ringers who rang the peal of Stedman, upon the pedestal, when they read the letter I have received from the Vicar of Cranborne, and whose permission I have to publish.
In the last paragraph Mr. Hunt states he will submit the peal to "The Ringing World, as being rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. I might suggest that after he has read the Vicar's letter he will ring it for the 'Modern Society of Pirate Ringers.'-Yours truly,

Melksham, Wilts.

W. C. WEST.

The letter of the Rev. W. F. Bond. Vicar of Cranborne, dated April 2nd 1952, to Mr. West, states:-
I am very glad to have an opportunity of expressing my indignation at the way the ringers from Chichester and Portsmouth secured the use of our tower on February 24th last. What haopened was this:
I was rung up on the Tuesday previously by a man (of whose name I cannot now be sure) who asked permission for a party of ringers from Chichester and Portsmouth Cathedrals to try our bells on the following Sunday afternoon. Chichester happens to be the Cathedral at which I was ordained, and after some little chat, in which I pointed out that they could not start until 3.15, owing to my Sunday School, I gave permission. There was no suggestion of a peal ; seeing it was Sunday afternoon and that they would certainly have cut into our ringers' time, it is unthinkable that I should have given permission for this. When they turned up on Sunday afternoon I said I hoped they would be finished by four or soon after. whereupon I was told they wanted to ring a peal and had come for that purpose.
1 protested strongly, but they said they had seen our captain (this wasn't true, hut can be explained) who was quite prepared for a peal to be rung. I had to rush away to another service in my other church, so I reluctantly gave way. They occupied the tower till 6.15 or later.

THE EDITOR

Had I known that such teams of "pirate" ringers roamed about I should, of course, never have given permission in the first place, but I have never experienced such before, and I feol I ought to make as public as possible to Diocesan Guilds. and other incumbents, the fact that this kind of thing can happen.

CLERGY AND RINGERS

Dear Sir,--In a recent letter I had occasion to refer to the lack of interest by clergy in bells and their ringers.
On Whit Monday I had the privilege of joining the Chester ringers on their annual trip. We visited four towers, viz., Machynlleth, Llanbadarn Fawr (Aberystwyth), Llanidloes and Newport.

At each tower we were met by the Vicar and his ringers, given a very warm welcome and they stayed throughout the ringing and then bid us farewell. At Llanidloes the Vicar put on his cassock and surplice and asked us to kneel for prayers before commencing to ring, and at Newport the Vicar very ably rang the fourth to 240 Grandsire Doubles.

We were all very impressed by the very warm and sincere welcome which we received at all towers.- Yours fraternally,

DENNIS W. B. MILLWARD.
Buckley, near Chester.

A DISAPPOINTED REPRESENTATIVE

Dear Sir-I have rung some peals which I remember with pleasure, others, like the meeting at Lincoln, are best forgotten, and the fact that so little business was done must make some members wonder if their journey was in vain.

As the number of ringers affected by method extension are such a small minority I say let them ring what they like and call it what they like and let the Central Council concern itself with the object of promotion of change ringing and win the support of thousands of ringers to whom Central Council might well be the name of another method as far as they are concerned.

After listening to the arguments on method extension I didn't know whether I was coming or going and contend that this is no subject for a full Council.
E. H. MASTIN.

OBITUARY

MAJOR L. J. ROPER

It is with regret the ringers in Northern Ireland, and in particular the band at Carrickfergus, learn or the death of Major L. J. Roper, brother of the late Sid Roper, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.
Prior to the last war Major Roper was for some time stationed at Carrickfergus. It was due to his influence that the band made great progress in change ringing. His personality made him a very popular ringer in the Northern District, and he was a great leader for his band, kindly and strict at practice and for service ringing.
Another who has helped by his energy and skill to 'establish change ringing in Ireland is now laid to rest.

MR. WILLIAM KEEBLE

As both Mr. Wiffen and Mr. Dawson have said. Mr. William Keeble was master of any Surprise method, but in London he was supreme. It may not be generally known, but he could repeat every change in London and during our Suffolk tour offered to call a peal and afterwards he would repeat every change of the peal. My impression is that the Royal Cumberlands had his peal book presented to them by the late Mr. Fussell, or it may have been lent for one meeting, but it certainly was on view at St. Martin's. I believe his total was over 800.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Mr. S. F. Palmer Resigns Hon. Treasurership

THE annual general meeting of the Association was held at Bradford on May 3rd, attended by a large gathering representative of all the districts. The fine ring of 10 bells at the Cathedral was going early and made very good use of during the afternoon and evening.

The Provost of Bradford, the Very Rev. J. G. Tiarks, welcomed the Association at a brief service in the Cathedral, but unfortunately he was unable to remain to the excellent tea afterwards served at the Talbot Hotel.

At the business meeting in the Parish Hall the chair was taken by the president, the Ven. C. O. Ellison, Archdeacon of Leeds, supported by the general secretary (Mr, L. W. G. Morris), the retiring hon. treasurer (Mr. S. F. Palmer) and the hon. peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley).
Apologies for absence were read from Messrs. P. Birkett, F. Dale, E. Short, H. Chant and W. Ambler.

A unanimous vote of thanks to the Provost of Bradford and Cathedral wardens was accorded on the motion of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. H. Lofthouse, and a similar vote of thanks to the local company was accorded on the motion of Mr. W. Barton, seconded by Mr. S. H. Steel.

Both Mr. A. Ashton and the general secretary acknowledged the vote of thanks, saying that the usual co-operation that existed among the local company made it a simple matter to complete arrangements.

THE REPORT

The president presented the report of the committee, which stated that fewer peals had been rung than in the previous year, but they could take a certain amount of pride that the variety of methods rung had been well maintained. For the first time in the history of the Association a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods had been rung by a county resident band at Drighlington. Even more noteworthy, a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods had been rung at Heptonstall, in which all the bells did all the work in all the methods. This had only been accomplished twice before in the history of the Exercise, and was conducted by the late Dr. J. C. E. Simpson. His death on February 7th, 1952, was a great loss to the Association and the Exercise at large. They also mourned the death at the age of 91 of a former general secretary in the person of Mr. J. W. T. Holgate, of Bramley.

The year began with a membership of 1.575 and concluded with 1,592. The Snowdon Dinner had been revived and they were most grateful to Mr. H. Walker and other members of the Minster band for the time and trouble they devoted towards making the evening the success it was.

Mr. W. Ambler had been obliged to retire owing to ill-health from his office as hon. secretary of the Western District, and Mr. Alexander Marsh had been elected in his place. The report congratulated Mr. H. S. Morley, hon. secretary, Eastern District, on his recovery from a recent operation.

The peal secretary's report stated that 110 tower and 5 ' in hand peals had been rung and 25 members had rung their first peal. Three members had called a peal for the first time and the 115 peals had been shared by 41 conductors. The pendulum had swung back to the simpler methods as far as peal numbers were concerned. Thirteen tower-bell peals of Treble Bob Major had been rung, compared with five in 1950. The number of peals of Grandsire Triples was almost double last year's total, in which 19 members scored their first peal in the method, which was an average of almost two in each peal.

The higher methods had not been neglected. however; there had been seven peals of Spliced Surprise Major and peals in 14 different Surprise methods. These included the following new to the Association: Yorkshire Surprise Maximus and Brereton, Berkshire, Cornwall, Derby, New Gloucester and Rotherham Surprise Major, the last named being rung for the first time. The complete range of peals on all numbers from Doubles to Maximus had again been rung, for the third year in succession.
The top peal scorer in 1951 was Mr. Norman Chaddock with 28, Mr. John F. Turley and Mr . W. Eric Critchley tied for second place with 25. Mr. Sam Longbottom had now rung 100 peals for the Association and Mr. Daniel Smith had passed his first century of peals as conductor. At Carlton a peal of Minor was rung by six. members of the Chorley family of Thorne.
The balance sheet showed that a loss of $£ 49$ 5 s . 9 d . incurred during 1950 had been converted to a gain in 1951 of $£ 85 \mathrm{~s}$. 2 d . This had been entirely due to the increase in the annual and other subscriptions.

NEW HON. TREASURER

The next business was the election of a new hon. treasurer. The retiring hon. treasurer, Mr. S. F. Palmer, had tendered his resignation to the committee as he felt that although still physically fit, with advancing years he could not foresee what might happen during a further three-year term of office, and he would much prefer to hand over now while he could still be available with advice or help to his successor.
The President paid tribute to the long years of service Mr. Palmer had so unstintingly rendered to the Association, and hoped that he would be spared many more years to come among them. Similar tributes were paid by Messrs. P. J. Johnson, E. Hudson and W. Barton.
In acknowledgment, Mr. Palmer thanked the speakers for their kind references, and said that although it was a wrench, he was sure he was right in the decision he had taken. He wished to thank the president, principal officers and the district secretaries, whose ever-ready co-operation had been a tremendous help. He still had the interests of the Association very much at heart, and looked forward to coming among the members as often as possible.
The President said that only one nomination for the post had been received, and that the committee were unanimous in recommending that Mr. Gordon Benfield, of Pudsey, be elected to the office. Mr. P. J. Johnson moved and Mr. S. Steel seconded that the committee's nominee be elected, and Mr. Benfield was unanimously elected the new hon. treasurer
In acknowledging his election, Mr. Benfield thanked the members for their confidence unanimously shown in him, and in a humorous speech said that he was glad to have Mr. Palmer to consult. In point of fact Mr. Palmer would probably still be treasurer for the first twelve months, and possibly the larger part of the next twelve months. He had, however, Mr. Palmer's splendid records and example before him and would endeavour to carry on the duties of the office in the same meticulous manner as Mr. Palmer had done for so many years past.
Mr. W. E. Critchley was unanimously reelected hon. peal secretary on the motion of Mr. L. W. G. Morris, seconded by Mr. T. W. Strangeway.
It was unanimously decided to hold the next general meeting at Beverley on September 20th if the necessary arrangements could be made. The president reminded the meeting that the Snowdon Dinner was being arranged at York on October 25th, and the committee hoped that members would reserve the date in order to ensure its success.

ST. MARY'S, STAFFORD

Completion of $\mathbf{£ 2 5 , 0 0 0}$ Project

The bells of St. Mary's, Stafford, have frequently been heard these past two weeks as a preliminary to ringing for both Church or State. 1.260 Grandsire Triples was rung on May 14th, giving Mrs. E. Malin, a visiting ringer from Penkridge, an opportunity to ring her first quarter peal. The ringers were Mrs. E. Malin 1, R. J. Warrilow (cond.) 2, J. Warrilow 3, E. Malin 4, C. Hone 5, A. E. Garbett 6, Rev. D. P. Roberts 7, K. Mowforth 8.
During the past five years extensive work of restoration has been in progress on St. Mary's Church, some $£ 25,000$ having been raised and expended. Apart from minor details, the work is completed, and on Saturday, May 17th, a service of rededication was held, conducted by the Lord Bishop of Lichfield, at which the Mayor attended in state. Preceding the service a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung.

The morning and evening services on May 18th were held as services of thanksgiving, the Bishop of Shrewsbury preaching for morning and the Bishop of Stafford for evening. For each of these services 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung. The ringers for morning were A. B. Garbett 1, F. R. Wiggin 2, J. Warrilow 3, F. Eley 4, R. J. Warrilow (cond.) 5, A. E. Garbett 6, C. Hone 7, H. Bayley 8.
Had we held the belief of our forebears of the Middle Ages that the ringing of church bells dispersed thunderstorms, this would have been shattered, for the quarter peal rung for evening service was to the accompaniment of a violent storm. This gave C. Hone, a young and promising ringer from Thakeham, Sussex, now domiciled in Stafford and who was calling his first quarter of Triples, a fine opportunity to use his stentorian voice. His calls were heard above the crash of thunder and were made with the confidence and precision of a veteran. The ringers taking part were A. B. Garbett 1 , J. Warrilow 2, P. Fisher 3, F. Eley 4, R. J' Warrilow 5, A. E. Garbett 6, C. Hone (cond.) 7, H. Bayley 8.
Ringing for State took place on Tuesday. May 20th, when shortly after noon, to quote from a local paper, as the bells of the nearby Parish Church of St. Mary pealed out, Ald. C. E. Fowke was elected Mayor of Stafford for the second year. On the evening of Ascension Day a combined service is held by the Anglican Churches in St. Mary's, the preacher this year being the Dean of York. For this service a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was attempted, and after good ringing was lost in the closing stage.

SOUTH CADBURY, DEVON

South Cadbury ringers and friends had their annual outing on May 28 th. Touches of Grandsire and Bob Minor were rung at Winterbourne (Gloucester), Much Marcle (Hereford) and St. Werburgh's Bristol. Mr. W. Tiley had much pleasure in meeting, after 32 years, the Rev. C. L. Money-Kyrle, a former Vicar and his employer at that time, at Much Marcle, now in his 84 th year. The ringers desire to express their thanks to the incumbents for the use of their bells.

The following new members were elected on the motion of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. J. Ambler: G. $\dot{\mathbf{F}}$. Bryant and R. Moulds, of All Souls', Haley Hill, Halifax; J. R. Jenkinson, of Bradford; G. Hawkes, of Leeds: A. E. Hartley, of Thorner; G. Appleyard. of Otley; P. Dawson, of Calverley: and A. Ainsworth, of Newcastle, as out-county.
This concluded the business meeting, and further ringing followed at the Cathedral until 9 p.m.. bringing to a close a successful and enjoyable meeting.

FORTY YEARS AGO
From ' The Ringing World ' of June 14th, 1912 PEALS OF MINOR
All ringers among whom there is a desire to raise still further the standard of change ringing from the scientific standpoint must appreciate the efforts of the Rev. H. Law James to secure that in future peals of Minor should consist only of true $720^{\prime}$ 's. The Central Council have, for the time being at any rate, declined to insist upon this provision, but we believe the time will come when the Council will lay down a rule on the lines of the resolution and refuse to recognise peals on six bells unless they are rung with the least repetition possible.
One of the difficulties, however, with which the general body of Minor ringers is confronted is that at present they have no means of knowing which methods can be spliced together, or how the splicing may be effected. It is true Mr. James has published one 5,040 in 14 methods got by seven true 720 's, hut before the practice of ringing in this way can become general, the Exercise must have a wider knowledge of the means by which it is accomplished. If we may throw out a hint to Mr. James, therefore, it is this, that $\ldots$. he should publish the list of methods which can be spliced, showing how and where they can be pieced together.

Mr. James told the Council that it is possible to include no less than 31 methods in seven true 720 's, and he rightly remarked that whoever rings a peal of Minor thus composed would have something to talk about.
[Splicing was indeed in its infancy, and a number of yeats were to elapse before much advance was made on the 31 methods. The labours of Mr. A. G. Driver, and later of Mr. C. K. Lewis, raised the number to more than a hundred.]

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Winchester District

In spite of late alterations in the meeting place, between 40 and 50 members and visitors attended the Winchester District meeting at Tichborne on May 31st.

The church at Tichborne contains six bells (tenor 10 cwt .) and is ideally situated on high ground with very few houses near. The bells were soon heard tapping out a variety of methods up to Cambridge.

A five-minute service of prayers was held in the church, led by the district chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth, after which members adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Butcher, who only half an hour earlier had given permission for the business meeting to be conducted there.

The chairman gave a special welcome to the visitors. who included Mr. F. W. Rogers (general secretary of the Guild) and ringers from Windsor, Reading, Bournemouth, Southampton and Dorset.

The secretary explained the reason for the sudden change in plans for the meeting. The previous Thursday he had received a note from the Rev. A. P. Skene, Rector of Cheriton. who regretted that the bells of Cheriton would not be available owing to a funeral on that day.
Mrs. K. Phillips, of St. Maurice's. Winchester, and Masters P. Long and D. Humber, of Ropley. were elected ringing members.
It was decided that the practice meetings for August and September should be held at Cheriton and Longstock respectively. After tea ringers had the choice of two towers-Tichborne and New Alresford.

DEDICATION

CALSTOCK, CORNWALL

Some ten miles north of Plymouth, on the banks of the River Tamar, lies the pretty village of Calstock. It is typically Cornish, being built on the side of a hill, with a steep main street. The church is situated right on top of this hill, in an isolated position, at the end of a country lane.
However, in spite of a stormy afternoon, on Saturday, May 31st, most of the inhabitants of the village and some 50 ringers attended the dedication of the bells, which have just been restored by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd
The dedication ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. John Wellington, Assistant Bishop of Truro, assisted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. de Labat, and in the course of his address the Bishop remarked that he found in most parts of Cornwall all the bells in a tower were rung for service.
After the service everyone adjourned to the Village Memorial Hall, where a very nice tea had been prepared by the ladies of the parish.
The bells are a complete ring of six by John Pennington, of Lezant and Stoke Climsland, Cornwall, and the tenor weighs $9 \frac{1}{8}$ cwt. They have been tuned and rehung with ball bearings in a new iron frame, together with new fittings.
The bellfounders were represented by Mr. A. Patrick Cannon and he was congratulated, on behalf of his firm, for a really excellent job. Among those ringers present were the Rev. Dr. H. Brown, Vicar of St. Paul's. Truro, the Rev. E. M. Thomas, Vicar of Menheniot, and bands from Callington, Botus Fleming, Lamerton, Linkenhorn, Menheniot and Northill, who rang rounds and call changes.
Also present was a grand old gentleman from St. Dominic's, aged 87, and who actually attended and rang at the previous rehanging of the bells 66 years ago, in 1886 !
It was at this church on September 7th, 1864, that the first change-ringing was ever performed in Cornwall, being three six-scores of Grandsire Doubles, and on Midsummer Day, 1866, 720 Grandsire Minor was conducted by William Banister, rung under the auspices of the Society of Calstock Changeringers, which was founded by Mr. H. R. Trelawney. This is recorded in the ringing chamber, and, in addition, there is an old painting of the ringers in 1773.

The Rev. H. Spencer (Rector) officiated, assisted by the Rev. F. A. J. Matthews (Vicar of Pinhoe). Mr. John Woolcott (cousin of the bridegroom) was the organist

ANOTHER IMPRESSION OF LINCOLN

'AND all the bells of merry Lincolne without men's hands were rung,' as 'tis said happened at the burial of St. Hugh of Lincoln, whose shrine is still one of the greatest glories of the Minster. Fortunately this anticipation of modern mechanical methods was not in evidence there at Whitsun, when all or most of the bells of merry Lincoln and Lincolnshire were rung, but were rung by the hands of young and old, men and women, boys and girls, hands large and sinewy, hands horny or charming, gathered from the length and breadth of England, and Ireland too, for the Central Council. Lincolnshire stone provides perfect material for towers and spires of many types. The majesty of the Minster towers, the incredibly soaring grace of Boston stump, broach spires like Ewerby, pinnacled spires like Heckington (one of the most glorious early 14th century churches in the world), Grantham, Louth, Newark (Notts), Tattershall and many others, each a palace in which God might reign as King in the hearts of His people, each a place in which the humblest can find nobility.

With hearts lifted up by a week-end in such territory, members were ready for the great day-Whit Tuesday. It began with Holy Communion as is now the custom of the Council-and in what surroundings! The Angel Choir of Lincoln Minster, perhaps the most lovely specimen of the most lovely period of Gothic in the Christian world (don't start a correspondence about this!), the eastern transepts with their divine 'Early English' windows, the noble black oak choir stalls, the shrine of St. Hugh just behind the high altar, all forming a composition as near to the eternal city of God as men can make.

And then to the Chapter House. How one's surroundings affect one's thoughts! And how could anyone make a speech with any motive but sincerity, dignity and peace in such a place? Would that Parliament might have its manners always lifted up the height to which this House must have lifted them in the days of Edward I. The great stone central pillar with its marble pilasters and the vault above like a vast tree-trunk branching out. All the history of England in the storied windows around. The charming speech of welcome by the Bishop of Lincoln, who at once lifted our minds up to the dignity of our surroundings, and who reminded us of how the lions on which his hands rested were once thumped by wrathful Plantagenet kings presiding over Parliament.

We found no time to read the history of England in the windows, for the agenda (the report of which it is no part of the purpose of a leading article to anticipate) proved of interest worthily befitting the surroundings. By far the most moving and indeed historic portion of (the word 'item 'seems too diminutive) the agenda was the retirement of George and Kathleen Fletcher from the position which they have held so long and so magnificently on the Council. What a joy it is to know that this retirement has absolutely nothing to do with events usually associated with retirement, age, health and so forth, but is simply because George finds the demands which his service to his fellow-men make on his time are such that he must take this step. Each of us will have personal and delightful memories of the words and deeds of George and Kathleen -mine include George's power to make financial affairs appear crystal clear and Kathleen's joy in punctuality. How good to know that the secretaryship now passes to hands so well loved throughout the Exercise, so competent and so keen. Men come and go, Chapter Houses like Lincoln and the Minster to which it is joined tell of the power which even mortal men have to grasp immortality.

There are many other matters of interest on the agenda. What is and what is not recognisable in Minor ringing, what is and what is not London; these and related subjects provide magnificent opportunity, magnificently grasped, for various charming personalities to charm their audience with more or less effect. Shut your eyes and Lincoln Chapter House gives place in rapid succession to Leicester Magistrates' Court, Leeds Council Chamber, some Oxfordshire debating society - the unmathematically minded, if any such were there, might almost feel with eyes shut that they were in Milton's Hell (' Paradise Lost '). where for 'Others more mild, retreated in a silent valley,' eternal discussion on perplexing subjects was the order of proceedings.

But no! We open our eyes (please, I wasn't asleep) and we are still in Lincoln Chapter House. One could have wished that we had been arranged sitting all around the walls each speaking towards the pillar, the arrangement intended by the builders, and which should make each speaker equally audible to all. However, the arrangement adopted made all England seem close-knit together-not close enough, alas, for us to accept the most kind and generous invitation of Newcastle for next year-but if they are rather too distant in situation, they are indeed close in our hearts, and we look forward to visiting them another year. The joys of Bournemouth will be happily anticipated, as will the ringing for the Coronation-by the way, what are we doing to instruct the general public in connection with this, the greatest event in England's national and Christian life?

And so our stay draws to a close, and we leave Lincoln full of gratitude to so many people - the Mayor and Mayoress for their hospitality, John Freeman and others for their great kindness in arranging the ringing, the Bishop, the Dean, the President, George and Kathleen and, most of all, the God and Father of us all Who leads us to be friends, Who lifts up our hearts in buildings and in harmony, and Who challenges us to help build His Kingdom on earth.

GILBERT THURLOW.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

With the new half-year commencing with the issue of July 4th, the first of a series of about 36 articles specially designed for beginners will appear. New postal subscriptions (and renewals), 11 s . 8 d . for six months and $6 \mathbf{6}$. for three months, should be sent forthwith to Mr. J. E. Jeater, 11, Frankswood Avenue, Petts Wood, Kent.

The writer of the Ringers' Roll of Honour, which was so much admired at the Central Council mecting, was Mr . C. Cullen, of Chelsficld Park, Farnborough, Kent, and not Mr. F. Cullen, as erroneously reported in our last issue. We apologise to Mr . C. Cullen. In our next issue we hope to publish an illustration and description of the roll.

Christ Church, Wanstead, has 20 honorary members. Has any tower a better record?

All editorial communications, peals and quarter peals should be sent to the Editor and not to the hon. secretary of the Council.

Mr. J. Frank Smallwood gave a rèsume of Central Council proceedings to members of the College Youths at their meeting on June 7th.
'The Parson's Bell' at Bethersden Parish Church, Kent, which dates back to 1661 and has not been used for many years, is to be rung again.

Four Oxford University students rang a handbell peal as a compliment to the chairman of the examiners. And this was before the results were known!
Meeting short for a tower-bell peal attempt at Bradford-on-Avon, five members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild rang a handbell peal in the baptistry of the church.
The Rev. Douglas Hopkins, Weston Favell Rectory, Northampton, asks for a loan of the picture of Henry Penn, the Peterborough bell founder, or any prints of the Bagley family, in connection with an exhibition of Weston Favell relics to be hold on June 29th. Henry Penn died while mounting his horse after attending Huntingdon Assizes in 1729. The tenor bell at Weston Favell bears the inscription, "Henry Penn made me 1707.' The remaining four of this minor five are all by Henry and Matthew Bagley, 1683.

On Whit Monday, 1951, Mr. Barry Corbishley was involved in a serious accident whilst motor-cycling to Chapel-en-le-Frith, Derbyshire, to participate in a peal of Minor. He is still in the process of recovering, having sustained a broken leg. It gave his friends much pleasure to see him stand up so well to his first peal since the accident, one of Plain Bob Royal at Worsley. With this peal Barry has rung peals of Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus.

Mr. P. A. Corby, one of our foremost conductors, has lost six out of his last seven peal attempts.

Two members of a Sussex touring band (cycling and youth hostelling) this Whitsun had to clean out a chicken run before leaving their hostel. Was it a penance for the handbell ringing the previous night?

By covering to his first of Stedman at Bolsover on June 7th, Cyril Wright, of the local company, completed the 'circle' ' of the tower. William J. Thyng, the veteran of 79, also rang in the first peal of Stedman on the bells 48 years ago.

The peal at Doncaster on June 5th, in addition to being rung for the Queen's birthday, was also a farewell to the verger of St . George's, who has been there for 25 years and retires at the end of June, and also to mark the 70th birthday of the tenor ringer, Mr. Percy J. Dawe.

By ringing the tenor on May 31st. Mr. F. Pearson has completed the circle of Bunwell, Norfolk, Parish Church. Mr. Frank C. W. Phillippo has called a peal from each bell in the tower. The peal was in honour of the engagement of Mr. F. C. J. Arnold, a popular Bunwell ringer, and Miss M. Howlett. a local Sunday School teacher.

EXTENSION OF METHODS STILL ELUSIVE - PRACTICAL RINGERS DEFEAT COMMITTEE - MR C. W. ROBERTS' ADMIRABLE SUMMING UP

METHODS COMMITTEE REPORT

Apart from the normal way of transacting our business (by post), the Methods Committee was able to meet in London on two occasions during the year. Our work has procceded on the same subjects as last year. The Plain Major Methods book was finished, the proofs have been corrected and it will be available to the Exercise very shortly. We hope it will be found useful to all ringers. We have investigated Doubles Methods further, and have come to the conclusion that the following departures from the rules laid down for methods on higher numbers of bells are required:-
(a) The working bells need not be in the same coursing order at each lead head and end in the Plain Course.
(b) No bell shall strike more than four consecutive blows in any one place, such four consecutive blows only to occur when the treble is at the front or at the back.
(c) As far as possible there shall be as many leads in the Plain Course as there are working bells, but this requirement to be relaxed to include single hunt methods which have three leads in the Plain Course.
The first two of these have already been accepted by the Council, and we hope that our recommendation to accept the third will also have its support. We believe these are absolutely necessary if we are to provide sufficient material for 5 -bell ringers to ring 42 different 6 -scores.

The main part of our work on Extension of Methods has already been circulated to the members of the Council in order that it could be published in 'The Kinging World, and comments invited from the Exercise as a whole. We expect there will be discussion on some points. If our findings are accepted, they will have the following results on methods which have been rung:-

Methods accêpted : Albanian (Royal and Maximus). Bedford (Major to Maximus), Belgrave (Major to Maximus), Buckingham (Major and Maximus). Cambridge (Minor to Maximus), New Cambridge (Major 10 Maximus), Leicestershire (Major to Maximus), Lincolnshire (Major to Maximus), Lindsey (Royal and Maximus). Prittlewell (Royal and Maximus), Pudsey (Major to Maximus), Rochester (Major to Maximus), Solihull (Royal and Maximus), Wigston (Major and Maximus). Wye (Major and Royal), York (Minor to Maximus), Yorkshire (Major to Maximus).

Methods rejected: Aldenham (Royal and Maximus), Bristol (Royal and Maximus), London Royal, Painswick Royal, Rutland (Royal and Maximus), Superlative (Royal and Maximus), Warwickshire Royal. Wembley Royal.
(There may be others we have missed, bul in any case we intend to examine all the 'extensions from the Major which appear in the late Mr. Corrigan's book and to report on them later.)

RENAMING ADVOCATED

We believe that the above results confirm the essential soundness of our investigation. We recommend that methods which do not conform with our findings should be renamed, if possible by the band that first rang them, if not. by the Council in open session. We would, however, exclude Double Norwich from this recommendation, for although the Royal is not the truc extension of the Major, we believe the Exercise would wish to retain their names because firstly, the Royal was rung before the Major and secondly, the latter has been and is rung so frequently that it would hardly be possible to change its name now.

Our opinion has been asked about certain methods which do not conform with the Central Council rules, and we have emphasised that, under the present decisions, they must be regarded as irregular, which presumably means that peals rung in those methods cannot be recognised. We have also had a query on the use of 3-lead course Royal methods used in spliced Royal ringing (i.e., those having second lead-heads of 1795038264 and 1860492735), and our opinion is divided on whether they should be allowed. We feel that this matter should be immediately clarified and ask the Council to come to a decision as soon as possible.

THE DEBATE

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said it was proposed that the report be presented in various stages because at various points there were decisions to be made by the Council on the recommendations. First of all there was the non-controversial subject - the publication of the book on Plain Major Methods, and they hoped it would prove useful to the Exercise. They had included in it the whole of the possible Plain and Little Major Methods which had a Plain Bob coursing order in 7-8 and two not in that category which had been rung.

In Doubles Methods they had produced all the methods possible, and they found it necessary to ask the Council to adopt the third recommendation if they were going to get a sufficient number of different methods to allow a peal to be rung in 42 completely different methods. In the past so many methods had been rung which were really the same method and being different only because they had a different Bob and Single. They had produced 42 entirely different methods. They recommended the usual fourth place bob and not a variety, and the three rules they asked the Council to adopt. The first two had been accepted by the Council at Chester, and they asked the Council that day to accept (c)" as far as possible there should be as many leads in the Plain Course as there are working bells, but requirement to be relaxed to include Single hunt methods which have three leads in the Plain Course.'

If the Council allowed these three rules and allowed methods like Stedman Doubles there would be roughly between 50 and 60 clearly different methods they could put in a little book. He moved the adoption of Rule 3.

Mr. F. W. Rogers seconded and the rule was accepted

A 25-YEAR-OLD CONTROVERSY

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said they now came to a more controversial question, that of extension, which the Methods Committee had thrust upon it a few years ago. They had done their best to tackle a subject which. 25 years ago or a little more when it came before the Council, the latter had shelved the whole issue by passing a resolution that it was not competent to judge.

Members of the Council had some weeks ago a supplementary report on extension. It was hoped that report would be published in "The Ringing World," and, owing to a misunderstanding, it was only put in that week.
In the matter of extension they had considered the pivot bells. Onc thing had been pointed out to him that their report didn't say that they were only considering mathematical extensions and that it was possible to interpret it as applying to 'fiddled' methods as well. He would point out that they only had mathematical extensions in mind and that they had ruled out any that wer' not.

After last year's meeting they considered the question more particularly of the practical ringer-the man who, when he rang a method, did not know how it was put together but whether it resembled its parent method. They said that unless that mathematical extension resembled its parent it could not be accepted. In considering the question they took up again the question of pivot bells upon which the sequence of a method depended, and they came to the conclusions they had already received.
In the ease of methods rejected he was thinking in particular of Bristol, which was ruled out by pivots. In the case of Bristol Royal they had come to the conclusion that because the pivot sequence was not in accordance with that prescribed, that would give the extension in the same order as the original, it should be rejected. He had there the reasons why other methods were rejected. They might have worked on the wrong principle, but they had to draw the line somewhere, else they would get methods with no resemblance from the practical point of view with the parent method. He moved the adoption of the supplementary report. It meant that if the supplementary report was accepted, then automatically the list in the report would go with it.
Mr. E. K. Lewis, scconding, said, in arriving at these conclusions, the Committee had tried to consider all the people who had written to them, and they had read some lengthy treatises and tried to digest them. Some people had written rather more briefly, but they had also been considered. They had tried to reach their basis not from the point of view of the man with a piece of squared paper, but from that of the man at the end of the rope, who rang the Major and then wanted to ring the Royal of the method.

PRACTICAL RINGERS AND MATHEMATICIANS

Mr. H. I. Poole said he hoped that anything he said would not be taken to reflect discredit on the committce or their efforts to solve method extension. First of all, it seemed to him to be a battle between the practical ringer and the mathematician, and the mathematician had been referred to as the man with a bit of squared paper. They would be in a bad way if they relied on the blue line merchants. He represented the practical ingers, and he wanted to say they did not want the Methods Committee to study them to the exclusion of the mathematician.

The next thing he wanted to point out was what was said in the past-and he referred to the 1950 report. There was much argumentwith little attention to views of the ordinary ringer to prove that someone's extension was correct. Was it any use referring this to the ordinary ringer? He suggested that that was not the right and proper approach. They (the committee) said in 1950 they had been unable to reconcile theory and practice. He suggested that it was impossible. In 1950 the Council accepted four rules, deferred No. 5. This was considered in 1951 and is amended to-day.

He felt that the Methods Committer's approach was wrong. They should consider what was possible and not what was desirable. So far as the challenge from the practical ringers to the mathematicians was concerned. if a musical composer wanted to extend a quartet piece of music to a full orchestra he did not consider the opinion or ability of the ordinary violin player or the five finger exercise man at the piano. It was equivalent to putting a left hand (Continued on next page) glove on a right hand, and the way the Methods Committee suggested was to chop off the thumb of the right hand to make it fit.

LINDOFF AND DEXTER QUOTED
In 1937 there was a series of articles published in "The Ringing World ' called 'A New Series for Advanced Ringers,' and this was what was said

In placing the methods before the Exercise. Mr. Lindoff has sclected only those that conform to the COMMON SENSE rule that places the method.'
In the issue of April 2nd, 1937, when printing Lindoff's No. 61, the following was stated: - Below we print another Surprise method which is EQUALLY PERFECT on ten bells and twelve bells as it is on eight. The present rulc, as suggested of limited pivot bells, sent rulc, as suggested of limited pivot excludes the extensions of that method.
In 1946, I sent to Frederick H. Dexter an extension of a method, received from a ringer and asked for his comments. He wrote: - Years back... and others worried me stiff with their ideas. They will not realise that the truc extension of any method is got by correct construction, which, if carried out properly, and the result gives the proper cycle of lead ends, i.e., what we are pleased to call Bob Major lead ends, irrespective of the order in which the lead ends occur, then that will be a proper extension. Bristol will do for an argument. The trouble with everyone who tries to extend Bristol, first try to get a diagram, next extending lead ends, which, to say the least, is all tripe. Some extensions a nitwit can casily produce the answer, i.e., Cambridge, York, Yorkshire, Pudsey and a host of others. All the extensions admitted are of the type the nitwit can produce. Is this progress?
Could the Council afford to ignore the advice of these people who had years of experience? In Gabriel Lindoff and Fred Dexter they had practical ringers.

The next point is the desirable against the possible. If you consider what is desirable and not what is possible, do you think there will be any progress? In many cases it means that you are taking the easiest line of resistance. It means in this case you come along with every good intention, but you have limited the scope to what is of the nitwit type, which means no progress either for construction or ringing. If the Fathers of the Council in olden days had ended on this line it would have prevented any Spliced ringing.'
The gateway to Maximus ringing was by Major and Royal. One did not start working from Maximus, but from eight to ten and then to 12 . What the committee were doing with this rule was to limit the extension to the easy blue line method and cut out the difficult one like Bristol. The effect of this rule was that the future of the 12 bell methods was going to be confined to the easy blue line methods.

The the case of Bristol. Nobody on this Council can suggest that there is not some relationship in the Major, Royal and Maximus. They may not agree that it is perfect, but they cannot deny that it is related. If this rule goes through you will have three different names, and I think it would be utter chaos to give them different names. If you are going to suggest that Double Norwich is not altered we are entitled to say we have rung Bristol Maximus and that should not be altered. There is no consistency in making a rule and at the same time making an exception to it.

PLEA FOR 12 BELL BANDS

- This Council is entitled to the loyal support of all the representatives of the Guilds, if we want that support we must be consistent in our judgment. It is easy to make rules. but a lot of people in front of me will say how easy it is to break them. Don't let us stifle the enthusiasm of the 12 bell bands; it will be wrong to confine their activities to the easy blue line methods. We want simple rules which the average man can understand. If you have read "The Ringing World" this week there are two articles, and if you understand both of them you are a better man than I am, (laughter).
Mr. Poole then moved the following amendment: ' That method extension be controlled by rules accepted by this Council in 1950, and that two or more extensions of the same parent, fully complying with those rules, shall bear the name of the parent and be distinguished by the word "version" prefixed by some further identifying name.'
Mr. A. E. Rowley seconded.
Mr. John Worth: I understand listening to that that we should accept London Royal No. 3 version as well as Bristol Maximus?
Mr. Poole: I am glad of the opportunity of that. You will remember that it was mentioned that they were only dealing with mathematical extension and not methods that had been 'fiddled.' Now you people who know anything about 'fiddles,' know that London is fiddled.' The rule has already been accepted, in 1950, which excludes London Surprise Royal. No one has suggested there is a proper extension of London Surprise Royal. What they are doing is to get the nearest. There can be no suggestion that if London goes out, Bristol goes out. Bristol Maximus is the most intricate and the most musical method yet rung on 12 bells and it is the only method affected by this Rule No. 5.
Mr. Leslie Morris: Some years ago they refused to acknowledge London Surprise Major.
Mr. C. J. Sedgley: I see they have Superlative Maximus in this excluded list. An extension was given by Gabriel Lindoff and John Carter. I challenge anyone to produce an alternative. All other methods have alternatives, but there is no alternative to Superlative.

NO EXTENSION OF LONDON TO

ROYAL

Mr. E. A. Barnett said it had always been accepted that there was no extension of London to Royal. Mr. Poole quoted from a scries of articles by Mr. Gabriel Lindoff in 'The Ringing World,' and he urged them to accept Mr. Lindoff's representations. He would remind the Council that in 1908 a method was rung at Stepney which was called London Surprise Royal, and that method was subsequently renamed Stepney because it was far from a proper extension of London.
Mr. Eric Critchley: I am a tyro in methods. I presume the Methods Committee should be able to produce an extension. For instance, Aldenham Royal has been rejected. Can they produce Aldenham Royal?
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead replied that there were methods which would not extend and give a legitimate lead end, and that was the case with London. Everybody admitted it was a 'fiddle.' There was a theoretical extension, but it only gave a seven lead course. They had ruled Aldenham out because it would not give a true mathematical extension.
Mr. Critchley: Am I right in assuming that there are no mathematical extensions of the methods named?
Mr. Felstead: We have investigated them and have decided that they are not mathematical extensions.
Mr. Critchley: I would like to press my point and say the Methods Committee should try to produce them.
Mr. Felstead said what Mr. Poole had said had not convinced him in the slightest that the committee had erred in any way in the position they had taken up. It seemed to him that Mr. Poole was concerned over names. It must bs Bristol Royal. He could not see why they should not ring those methods under different names. As to the point of Double Norwich they were quite willing to give way. They thought that with such a long history the Council would not stand for it.
Mr. P. J. Johnson said the debate was very involved, and while it might be easy to the figure merchant to the ordinary ringer it was almost Double Dutch. He suggested that they did not take a decision on this matter, because evidently there was a wide divergence of opinion. He suggested that they deferred consideration and it should come up at the next Council. This was seconded.

THE THREE HEADINGS

Mr. C. W. Roberts: The main point seems to be that there are a certain number of methods that will extend very easily by merely a continuation of the blue line. Those we all accept. But there is furthermore another group whose extensions are mathematical but do not follow the blue line contour. You will find in the plain course of these methods that the salient features are preserved. There is furthermore another type of extension which Mr. Harold Poole has called rather humorously fiddles.' These are extensions devised where no methodical extension is possible to give the Exercise something by keeping the work of the Major as far as possible, and where it is not possible other extension work has been introduced and every endeavour is to keep it to the original. One of these is London No. 3, but it is not a mathematical extension.

A young friend would like the Methods Committee to get out extensions which are not possible. If it has proved impossible to the genius of the Exercise you cannot expect the poor committce to do it.

I would like to suggest method extension under threc headings, i.e., simple extensions that conform to the blue line and those which are passed and accepted. Then there are the mathematical extensions, and one of them is Bristol and another Superlative. They are quite good working extensions, and I think they can be incorporated in some form or another with the parent name and some dis tinction to show which particular version is rung. In regard to the 'fiddles.' I would say, before we can scrap them-although they appeal to the people who ring them-we should try and get some formule which should connect them with the method, although no mathematical extension was possible. In the interest of progress we do not want to throw anything out. What we want to do is to endeavour to get the best out of our ringing.

The amendment was then put and carried by a two to one majority.

Mr. Perrens suggested that Mr. Harold J. Poole be co-opted a member of the Methods Committee, but it was pointed out that the committee had power to co-opt him.

Mr. Felstead said in regard to the query on the use of 3-lead course Royal methods used in spliced ringing that only came before the committee two or three weeks ago, and he was afraid they had not had the time to thrash it out. He had put it in the report in the hope hat they might be given a lead.
Mr. Harold Poole moved that it be referred back, and this was agreed to

Later in the meeting the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead pointed out that Mr. E. A. Barnett, by his appointment as hon. secretary, would not be eligible to scrve on the Methods Committee. He asked the Council to appoint Mr. C. H. Kippin as the fifth member and to give the committee power to co-opt others. This was agreed to.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S, HOLLOWAY
An enjoyable day in the Garden of England and among some of Kent's best known rings of bells was spent by members of the St. Mary Magdalene's Society, Holloway, and their friends on June 7th
At Si. George's. Wrotham, Mr. R. Sills was patiently waiting for the party, then came St. Mary's, Ashford, where Mr. C. W. Everett welcomed them. Afterwards came the rather heavy eight of Tenterden, where Mrs. V. Relf met the visitors. The ride after tea through beautiful lanes bordered by hop gardens and orchards to St. Nicholas', Sevenoaks, will long be remembered.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION OF CHANGE RINGERS

N Whit Monday, the 73rd annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford. The service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Precentor. the Rev. J. M. James, B.D., the Master of the Association, Dr. P. T. Spencer Phillips, J.P., read the lesson and the address was given by the Provost of Chelmsford, the Very Rev. G. E. Gordon, M.A.

The new form of service prepared for the Association was used for the first time at the service. Judging by the hearty way in which the congregation joined in the singing of the hymns set to old and well-tried tunes, it can be said that the sub-committee have made an excellent job of preparing the form of service. During the service the names of members who had passed on to higher service during 1951 were read, namely: G. A. Black. James George, Tom Groombridge. Maurice F. R. Hibbert, George Ives, W. G. Lewis, Thomas Lincoln, H. G. Miles, Oliver Sippetts, Esmond Smith, Canon J. T. Steele, T. Wilfred Taffender, the Very Rev. C. K. Waller and H. A. Wright. Their loss leaves the Association much poorer and we remember them with affection.

The Provost, who gave an inspiring and heartening address, said: We come to church to worship in order that we may go out and serve God in our daily life. Service without worship is a difficult and useless thing. Worship without service is equally fruitless. You need both in the good life. Your bells call yourselves and others to worship here. You come right into God's presence and you are uplifted. You see the meaning of your own life more clearly and you go out to carry that into daily life
There must always be that coming and going, out of the world into the house of God, and out of the house of God into the world. The call, came to Isaiah and he answered, 'Send me,' not send someone else like his neighbour. All he thought was that this is a rall to serve God and live for God. The word apostle means someone who is sent. In our Creeds we say the Church is an Apostolic Church. One of the meanings of that is that we are all in a sense apostles. God wants each one of us to play our part in carrying the Gospel of Christ into the world, the very place where we live.
Every time we come to worship there is a challenge at the end contained in the service, 'Do not keep this Peace in the Church, take it out and carry it with you into your daily life wherever you go. As you set out on another year of work for the Church of Christ as changc ringers, will you remember this great thing about worship, that we come to be in Gods presence to see the vision of God and to say we realise our sinfulness. When we realise our sinfulness we are cleansed, and when you have the vision of God and hear the cry, Who will go for us?' will you answer and help others to answer, "Here am I, send me '?

The collection taken at the service for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 3$ 18s. 7d.

THE BUSINESS MEETING

The Master (Dr. P. T. Spencer Phillips) presided at the annual general meeting, held in the Cathedral Chapter House, supported by the Deputy Master and the officers of the Association. The Master in the name of the Association welcomed the Provost and also extended a hearty welcome to all visitors.

Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. H. J. Mansfield (vice-president). H. Turner (auditor). B. Burton (Master of the North-Western Division), F. Lufkin, J. Gould and G. Dawson.
The annual report, prepared by Mr. F. V. Gant (hon. secretary of the South-Western Division) with the co-operation of the other district secretaries, showed that interest in the Association had not flagged during 1951. Ringing membership had increased from 832 to 865 and honorary members from 120 to 163.

The more outstanding mectings of the year had been held at Bures, Harlow Town, Thaxted, Borcham, Galleywood. Dagenham, Epping, Fyfield and Bocking. The report showed that the Association was taking rather more interest than of late in the district mectings. The attendances, especially in the southern districts. showed a marked increase, but there was still room for improvement.
The effects of National Service are still being felt in some towers. Old hands and the fairer sex are keeping the 'ship' going until the young riñgers return Ringing for divine service had been the aim throughout the year, but it is regretted that some towers still stand silent Sunday by Sunday.

MEMORIAL TO LATE PROVOST

With regret the report recorded the sudden death of the Very Rev. C. K. Waller, M.A., Provost of the Cathedral. His death came as a great shock to the Association. He took a great interest in ringers and was never happier than when in their company, and the many friends he had in the Hornchurch and Wanstead areas will remember him with undying affection in their hearts. On coming to Chelmsford he threw himself wholeheartedly into the onerous duties of Provost of a busy Cathedral. His fondest wish was to see the restoration and improvement of the interior of the Cathedral Church he loved so much. A memorial fund to his memory has been opened. This fund would be used for the beautification of the South Chapel, and the Association was proud of being permitted to associate itself with the fund.
During the year 74 peals were rung, as against 73 in 1950, an increase of one. This is nearer to the pre-war total. If Surprise method peals are any indication of the Association's strength, then this year has been most successful. Peals of special interest were Stedman Cinques at Chelmsford and Saffron Walden; Pudsey Surprise at Harlow Common: Yorkshire Surprise at Hornchurch: and Rutland Surprise at Leytonstone. Mr. F. Lufkin again headed the list of conductors with 16 peals, with Mr. H. Turner next with 11, and Mr. R. Suckling 8.
Four original compositions have been rungPudsey Surprise at Harlow Common composed by R.F.B. Speed; Stedman Cinques at Saffron Walden by H. N. Pitstow: and two peals of Bob Major by D. W. Beard.

22 FIRST PEALS

For the recorders, 112 rang their 'first' in the method, an increase of $62 ; 22$ members scored their first peal, an increase of 6: there being four 'firsts' as conductors. An innovation in the report this year has been the inclusion of quarter peals. These were included to give something of the trend of service ringing within the Association. Some 134 quarters have been re-corded-there may have been more as the list was prepared from 'The Ringing World.'

The band at Hornchurch has done especially well, with 14 'quarters' in 12 methods and each quarter containing a 'frst.' For those bands not quite up to Surprise standards, it does indicate what can be done in the realms of Plain methods.
A noteworthy change in the district officers took place in the South-Western District. Mr. J. Chalk (Wanstead) resigned the Mastership and was succeeded by Mr. J. Crampion.

Mr. G. L. Joyce (Hornchurch) spoke on the report generally. He was pleased to hear that ${ }^{\text {report }} \mathrm{Mr}$. Shadrack had recovered from his illness and hoped that he would be able to persuade people to do a little more in the way of the library. He mentioned there were several very valuable books in the library and some manuscripts were well worth reading. He proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Gant for all the time and trouble he took in preparing the report. This was carricd with acclamation.

Mr. Gant, in reply, said members should inform him of any mistakes or alterations as early as possible, as the draft was more important than the proof. If this was done, the job of preparing the annual report would be made much easier and a far higher degree of accuracy could be ensured.
The hon. treasurer, in presenting the accounts, drew attention to the record sum of $£ 110$ paid out of the Bell Restoration Fund to the following towers: St. Peter's, Goldhanger; St. Mary's, West Ham: All Saints', Nazeing; St. Margaret's, Stanford-le-Hope ; St. Giles' and All Saints', Orsett ; and St. Mary-the-Virgin's, Kelvedon.

The gross income from the districts totalled $£ 1067 \mathrm{~s} .7 \mathrm{~d}$. and the sum of $£ 41 \mathrm{9s}$. 9 d . had been contributed to the Bell Restoration Fund. Peal fees added a further $£ 126 \mathrm{~s}$. 2d net. The balance on the general account at the end of the year stood at $£ 22018 \mathrm{~s}$. 8 d .. whilst that of the Bell Restoration Fund was $£ 153$ 19s, 11d.

TARGET OF 1,000 MEMBERS

Mr. J. Crampion, in moving the adoption of the statement of accounts, said that they must not be too complacent about the situation. No Association ever had too much money; more members, were required. The target of 1.000 ringing members was not too high for an Association of the size of the Essex Association.

Mr. Chalk (Wanstead), in seconding, mentioned that the honorary members had contributed $£ 22$ towards the fund last year. He was not satisfied that they were getting as many honorary members as we might and quoted figures to the meeting to show how the honorary members could be increased and asked that the strongest endeavours should be made in this direction.
The report was adopted. The Provost expressed appreciation of the Association's gift of E5 to the C. K. Waller Memorial Fund and said that the fund now totalled approximately £500.
It was proposed by Mr. F. V. Gant that Mr. J. Chalk, the retiring Master of the SouthWestern District, should be elected a life vicepresident of the Association. Mr. Gant mentioned the yeoman service that Mr. Chalk had given over many years and that he had always been a pillar of strength in the Exercise. This was seconded by Mr. G. Elliott. The motion, on being put to the meeting, was carried with acclamation. Mr. Chalk, in reply, thanked the Association for the great honour accorded to him, and said that it was an honour to the name of Chalk rather than a personal honour.
The election of officers followed: Master, Dr. P. T. Spencer Phillips, J.P.: Deputy Master, the Rev. C. Scott Little, M.A.; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. R. C. Heazel ; auditors, Messrs. H. Turner and D. Mayle trustees, Messrs. G. Green, E. J. Runter and H. W. Shadrack

MASTER'S PENDING RETIREMENT

The Master, in thanking the members for their confidence and trust in him, said that this would be the last year in which he would accept nomination as Master and that he intended retiring at the next annual general meeting. The meeting received this news with much regret. It is interesting to note that in the last 52 years the Association has had only four Masters.

The Deputy Master spoke of the work which had been undertaken during the year and thanked all who had helped him. He said that he and his typewriter together would endeavour to carry on as before.

The hon. secretary and treasurer thanked the members for their continued trust in him and the help given by so many, particularly Mr Gant in preparing the annual report. He voiced his appreciation of the work the Master and Deputy Master had done. The Deputy Master prepared all the agenda and precis of the meetings and this was of considerable assistance Mr. Gant and Mr. Joyce were always ready to help him, and the committee-every one of them-were always ready to rally round him.

Mr. F. V. Gant reported that the late Mr Alfred Brighton's peal book had come into his possession through the offices of Mr. E. D. Smith. He proposed that this should be placed in the Association's library so that it might be available to members. This was accepted with applause, and the secretary was instructed to write letters of thanks to Mr. Brighton's wife and Mr. E. D. Smith

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Provost for the use of the bells and giving the address, and also to the Precentor for taking the service. Thanks were also expressed to the organist, Mr. W. Stanley Vann for his assistance. The members then adjourned to the Cathedral Hall. where an excellent lunch was well served, the Provost being the chief guest.

During the day the following towers were open for ringing: Chelmsford, Great Baddow. Boreham. Galleywood, Widford. Writtle, Broomfield. Danbury, Springfield, Little Waltham. Sandon and Little Baddow

Thus the Essex Association goes forward into the dawn of the Elizabethan cra, financially sound, strong in membership and steadfastly looking towards their goal when every peal of bells in the county will be rung regularly for divine service at least once every Sunday K.C.S.W.

THE CRANBORNE PEAL

Dear Sir,-As one of the Cranborne ringers and also churchwarden, I feel I must reply to the letters from Mr. Hunt and Mr. Bond and assure them that we are not jealous of them or doubt their powers as ringers. Mr. Hunt says he feels fed up. with the whole business. So did the irritated Cranborne ringers who met them as they trooped out through the church a few minutes before evensong was due to commence ; they had been locked out of their own tower. We have to live here and listen to the complaints of the people who live near the church and wish to pass Sunday afternoon in peace. We are trying to raise funds to pay for the new bells from these very people whom the Sunday peal grabbers annoy.

You, Mr. Editor, have no doubt received a letter from our Vicar saying that this team had permission to ring for one hour and no mention was made about a peal attempt to him until a few minutes before they started. It is the way the thing was got about that seems to us to be doing no good to the Exercise. We put our Sunday service ringing before anything, repeat before anything. We like other ringers to share our tower and bells.
We are grateful to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild for all the help they have given us in the past, especially the Wimborne Branch, and we endorse the action taken by the Salisbury Guild in not accepting the peal. We doubt if the Winchester Guild will want it when they understand the way it was obtained.
Our Vicar has been very good and given careful consideration to all requests for peal attempts and ringers on tours to ring here. Now he feels he has had one put over on him and will limit peals to two per year, and can you blame him?
No, I'm , ure no one was jealous; we were more hurt than anything, and I as churchwarden felt quite within my rights to tell these people that the bells were not there for their amusement, especially on a Sunday, when I consider all ringers as far as possible should be calling the people to worship in their own towers. For no other purpose than the glory of God are the bells in our towers. - Yours res pectfully.
Cranborne.
W. DAY.

LADIES' GUILD

Central District's Concern at Clash of Dates

Milton-next-Gravesend was the tower chosen by the Central District for the annual meeting on June 7th, where a very happy, enjoyable afternoon was spent. About forty members and friends were present, and the pleasant light ring of eight was put to good use with methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise. Members of the Guild itself may be said to have covered themselves with glory when the best ringing of the afternoon was voted to be the course of Cambridge rung by an all-ladies band. The service was conducted by the curate, the Rev. K. Stuart, himself a member of the Milton band, whose excellent address was all the more appreciated by the congregation as coming from 'one of themselves, and from one who understands all the difficulties of ringers.

Tea was undoubtedly one of the highlights of the meeting, when one of those repasts for which Milton must assuredly be famous was provided by Mrs. F. M. Mitchell.

A short business meeting followed, the Rev. K. Stuart rising nobly to the occasion and taking the chair. The secretary's report revealed a disappointing year with poor attendances at meetings. This was found to be due to the number of other Association meetings, which must of necessity clash with the Ladies' Guild dates, and which resulted in so many members having divided loyalties. It was resolved that secretaries in the London area be approached with a view to co-operation in this matter, as only four meetings of the year are held and they could result once again in revival of some of the old enthusiasm of the Guild.

Mrs. Rawlings was unanimously re-elected president of the district. Owing to pressure of work Miss M. Jackson resigned the office of secretary and her resignation was accepted with great reluctance. Miss A. Bailey was proposed to undertake this office.

The date of the next quarterly meeting was fixed as September 27 th, when it was hoped to open towers in the Ealing area.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Mr. Stuart and all whose hard work had combined to make the afternoon such a successin particular to Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, one of the founders of the Guild, at whose invitation Milton had been visited, and whose unfailing energy and enthusiasm was of such value to the Guild.

CHELTENHAM BELLRINGER ORDAINED

On June 8th, Trinity Sunday. Mr. George Robert Henry Smith was ordained a deacon by the Bishop of Gloucester in his Cathedral Church to serve in the parish of St. Stephen's, Gloucester.

Mr. Smith, whose home is at Charlton Kings, near Cheltenhan, was an enthusiastic bellringer at the Cheltenham Parish Church until he joined up during the last war. It was during his period of active service in France that he finally decided to seek Holy Orders. After demobilisation he worked for a year in the parish of St. John. Cinderford, as a full-time reader under Canon T. T. Haines, and from there he went to the Theological College, Chichester, to train for the priesthood.

An accomplished organist, he studied under Dr. Melville Cook and Mr. H. Marshall Sowry. As a boy he played at St. Peter's, Cleeve Hill, and later was organist at Great Rissington. During his time in Germany he gave broadcast organ recitals on the British Forces Network from Hamburg. Whilst at Chichester he was organist at the Theological College and often assisted as such in Chichester Cathedral.

The Cheltenham Parish Church bellringers honoured the occasion by ringing the Cathedral bells before the ordination service, by kind permission of the Dean, the Very Rev. H. CostleyWhite.

SIDELIGHTS ON OUTINGS

ANDOVER, HANTS

St. Mary's, Andover, ringers for their annual outing on Whit Monday were joined by a contingent from Winchester.

Ringing took place at Bishopstoke (a poor choice to start the day), Fareham (some fair ringing with Mr. Linter); Havant (joined by a young lady recently from Bristol, who was an excellent product of St. John's ringing school); Feltham (the long draught caused some acrobatics): Westbourne (best ringing of the day); Catherington (arrived late due to faulty map reading); Wickham.

Andover was reached at 12.30 a.m. The arrangements were in the hands of the tower secretary (Mr. J. A. Hill).

DORSET OUTING TO WILTSHIRE

Eight Dorset ringers from Litton Cheney, Piddlehinton and Sturminster Marshall spent a pleasant although at times wet Whit Monday in Wiltshire.

Ringing took place at Fovant (five, tenor 9 cwt .), long draught and not much room for fat people on the fourth and fifth; Chilmark (six, 14 cwt .), another long draught and ringing from the middle of the church; Wylye (five, $12 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), rather noisy despite ground floor ringing; Steeple Langford (five, $9 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), bells sadly in need of attention. long draught, no guides, elastic ropes and a general rumble upstairs ; Codford St. Peter's (six, $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), the hour here was far too short; Boyton (five, 6 cwt .), ringing from the porch and with driving rain the ringer of the treble is apt to get wet; Tisbury (six, tenor 16 cwt .), where an extension of the ringing time was possible. Thanks are due to all incumbents and local ringers for providing a happy day.
E.T.P.F.

HANBURY, WORCESTER

A very enjoyable day was spent by the Hanbury bell ringers and friends from the towers of Beoley, Dodderhill and Wychbold on June 7th, when they visited the Bristol area. Touches of Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire Triples, Bob Minor and Stedman were rung at Dursley and Almondsbury before lunch, and after spending an hour in Bristol the party went on to Bitton and Mangotsfield for more ringing, coming back to Bristol for tca, and finishing at Wotton-under-Edge on the return journey. After calling for refreshment the party arrived home somewhat tired, but all agreed that it had been a very pleasant day.

It was generally considered that all the bells went well, and thanks are due to the respective towerkeepers for the warm welcome extended.

ST. LAURENCE'S, READING

St. Martin's - in - the - Fields, St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, Southwark Cathedral, Shoreditch, St. Margaret's, Westminster, Putney and Fulham were towers visited on Whit Monday, the occasion of the annual outing of St. Laurence's, Reading, ringers. Their best thanks are due to several well-known friends of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths, without whose cooperation and assistance it would have been a very flat day.
Grandsire, Stedman, London and Cambridge were rung on the various numbers, and ringing all day was of a good standard for an outing.

The writer met many old friends, and members of St. Laurence's were very proud that Mr. and Mrs. H. Langdon spent the "best part of the day with them.

We only hope our London friends will be able to be with us when we decide one year to include Liverpool in our towers for the day
W. H.

CHELTENHAM

The Cheltenham Parish Church bell ringers were fortunate enough to select one of the best days for their outing. This was June 7th, the day being clear and bright, and Welsh mountains and valleys were seen at their very best.

Leaving Cheltenham in cars, the first stop was Abergavenny, which was reached at 10 a.m. From there the party proceeded to Blaenavon, where they were welcomed by the genial Rev. R. A. Sluman. who joined in a touch of Stedman Triples. The next stop was Ebbw Vale for lunch and a ring on this exceptionally fine eight in a spotlessly clean ringing chamber. The party then proceeded to Cardiff for tea and a pull on the ten. Fortune favoured the party here as the tenor clapper snapped a day or two previously, but the damage had been made good and the clapper refixed just in time.

The last stop was Marshfield, where the Llandaff and Monmouthshire ringers were holding one of their meetings, and thanks are accorded to them for allowing the party to butt in. It is not absolutely true to say that Marshfield was the last stop because this took place at a very convenient pull-in near Lydney, and this and not the ringing of bells-wives, please note-was the sole reason for some of the party reaching home at midnight and some just after.

WANSTEAD AND WOODFORD

Perfect weather favoured the Wanstead and Woodford ringers and friends on May 24 th, when they made a second visit to some of the picturesque parts of Buckinghamshire.
Farnham Royal was the first stopping place, where touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Kent Major and call changes were rung on a good going eight. A short run brought the party to Burnham. All in turn had a go, on this ' musical box.' Congratulations to George Gilbert and his keen colleagues for the great work recently accomplished in this tower!

Penn was reached in good time, the sixty odd ' doing justice to a grand tea arranged and served by the Misses $\mathbf{B}$, and M. Mathieson (Old Woodfordians) and friends, the Vicar and his wife being present. At the conclusion of the much appreciated meal Mr. J. Chalk thanked the hostesses for all that they had done, Mr. B. Petty (Wanstead) for arranging the outing, and Mr. C. Morss (Woodford) for his untiring efforts with the keen young recruits. Mr. G. Browning (deputy churchwarden, Wanstead) and the Rev. -. Rowlands (curate, Woodford) added their thanks. The Vicar of Penn graciously replied.
Touches of Bob Minor, Grandsire and Bob Doubles and Kent Minor were rung on the interesting six which grace the ancient church An interesting talk on the outstanding features of the church was given by Mr. J. Mathieson.

The final halt was made at Holy Trinity, Great Marlow, picturesquely situated beside the Thames, near the suspension bridge. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major were rung on a well-going and tuneful eight.

A CHANCE OF A PEAL IN HAMPSHIRE

Dear Sir, -I am arranging a few peals in Hampshire during the week August 9 th-16th.
If there are any ringers who will be visiting these parts at that time (or, as far as that goes, any time during August) and would like to stand in a peal or two whilst here I shall be only too glad to fit them in if they will write saying when available and giving an indication of their capabilities.- Yours faithfully,

REGINALD A. REED.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society's May meeting was held at Guiseley on May 31st. Most ringers will know from the national Press that the cricket 'War of the Roses, was started on Wet Saturday, but this did not affect the attendance, as ringers were present from 14 towers.

The usual business meeting was held under the guidance of the president (Mr. J. W. Benten), and the normal items specdily dealt with. Three new members were elected: Messrs. N. Scrimshaw, of Calverley, G. F. Bryant and J. H. Fielden, of Halifax (All Souls').

A vote of thanks to the Rector. churchwardens and local company was ably dealt with by Mr. J. Gibson and seconded by Mr. L. Drake. Mr. W. Dixon acknowledged the thanks and voluntecred to convey them to all concerned. Mr. C. Walsh, supporting, said that he thought the members should know of the efficient team and staff work put into the Guiseley tower in order that the meeting could be held. Within a week the 2nd bell gudgeon had been removed, repaired and refitted by the firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The Society's thanks were accorded them and the item noted in the minutes of the meeting.

The next meeting is due to be held at Idle on June 28th.

MEMORIAL TO MR. C. T. BENTON

A memorial tablet to the late Christian Thomas Benton, the gift of Mr. Fred Linford, was dedicated by the Rev. F. A. R. Chapman, Vicar, in the belfry of St. Luke's Church, Cannock, Staffs, on June 7th.
In a few well-chosen words the Vicar spoke of Mr. Benton's long service at St. Luke's, having been a ringer there for 68 years, many as head ringer. He was a devoted worshipper and worked hard for the church right up to his death on September 11th, 1950, when he was aged 86 years. As a campanologist his main interest was in good ringing for Sunday service. To visiting ringers his welcorne was a welcome indeed, and one never parted without a request to call again. Among his own band he was greatly respected. He joined the Stafford Society in 1891 and was made an honorary life member some few years ago.
After the service an attempt was made for a peal of Superlative, which, unfortunately. failed after two and a half hours' excellent ringing. It was arranged in memoriam Tom Benton and as a farewell to the Vicar, who is leaving for St. Chad's, Shrewsbury.

OBITUARY

MR. S. WARREN STURGIS
He Kept Change Ringing Alive in the States
We are able this week to supplement our brief report of the death of Mr. S. Warren Sturgis, of Boston, U.S.A., which appeared in our issue of May 23 rd, by the following details which indicate his enthusiasm for change ringing.
Mr. Sturgis died just two days short of his 84th birthday at his home, 66, Marlborough Street, Boston, on April 22nd, and memorial services were held at St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, and were conducted by Bishop Nash, Dean van Etten, and the Rev. John Crocker, of Groton School.
For 44 years Mr. Sturgis taught Latin at Groton School, where he was head of the department. He retired in 1935 to live in Boston, where he was a director of the United Nations Association and the Henry George School of Social Science. He is survived by a sister, a brother and four children.

He kept careful records of all his special activities, and from his bell-ringing notebook the following facts are culled: His interest in the Exercise started in 1901, when a ring of eight bells was given to Groton School, and he volunteered to learn how to handle them and to instruct the students. He studied under the best known of all American ringers, Dr. Arthur Nichols, of Boston, whose daughter, Mrs. Arthur Shurcliff, is herself both a handbell and tower-bell ringer.

Up to his retirement he taught bell-ringing to succeeding generations of boys at Groton School. He organised groups of them each year to visit the other towers in the region where there were rings of bells, namely, at the Old North Church and the Church of the Advent, Boston, at the Perkins Institute in Watertown and the tower in Hingham. When the ring was installed at Kent School, Connecticut. he interested himself in seeing that the students received good instruction and made frequent trips to ring there.

He was a Charter Member of the Boston Guild of Bell-ringers, formed in 1913, and knew intimately the men, many of them from England, who made up this group. Since his retirement he still kept up his great interest in ringing and organised a band to ring on Christmas Eve every year at the Church of the Advent. His personal set of handbells was never idle for any length of time, as it was his great joy to entertain ringers in his home.
He rang his first peal on handbells at the Hoop and Grapes Hotel, London, January 3rd, 1923. other members of the band being Herbert and Thomas Langdon and Challis F. Winney. He rang several peals since that time in England and it was always a regret that he was never able to carry through a successful peal in the United States of America, although many attempts were made. The longest ring was at Groton School, where once over 3,000 changes of Grandsire Triples were accomplished before breaking down.
Besides passing on his knowledge to many of his students, he instructed both his sons, Dr. Somers H. Sturgis and Warren Sturgis. on handbells and in the tower. His daughter, Mrs. George H. Humphreys, also became proficient on handbells, and her two children now ring. He and his sons became members of the Ancient Society of College Youths. and through the medium of 'The Ringing World' he kept up with activities of his English ringing friends.
One of the greatest pleasures in his life was to travel in England, and he asked to stand in. on a Sunday, with a band in any neighbourhood where he happened to be. Certainly he loved England, and all his experiences there with the great and good company of ringers.

MR. A. JAMES HARRIS

A former chairman of the Leicester District of the old Midland Counties Association, Mr. A. James Harris, of Leicester, died on May 31st, aged 65.
Mr. Harris learnt to ring early in the century and for many years rang with the late William Willson at the Church of St. John the Divine. Shortly before the war he joined the band at the Cathedral, where he was a regular Sunday service ringer. After the war pressure of business combined with illness at home kept him away from the belfry except for occasional visits. Finally he became ill himself and was for a time a patient at the Leicester Royal Infirmary.
While not a prolific peal ringer, he took a great interest in the work of the Leicester District and in 1936 was elected to represent the Association on the Central Council.
For his war services with the rescue service Mr. Harris was awarded the British Empire Medal. During the blitz in the Highfields district Mr. Harris' squad rescued 20 people, most of whom were casualties. He was chairman for many years of the advisory committee of the painting and decorating trade at the Leicester Technical Collcge. At one time he was the local president of the Master Painters' and Decorators' Association.

MISS NORA JOHNSTON

Miss Nora Johnston, Britain's first and only woman carillon player, died on May 2nd at her home at Edgware after a short illness. She was 65. She was the only Englishwoman ever to have gained the diploma of the Belgian National Carillon College, at Malines, completing the three-year course in a year.

She played at the Jubilee of George V. and the coronation of George VI., using a speciallyerected carillon in Hyde Park. She also played celebration music for the wedding of the Queen when she was Princess Elizabeth, the silver wedding of George VI, and Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, and the christening of Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Miss Johnston, who was a sister of the late Mr . Cyril Johnston, invented and built a portable carillon, weighing 10 cwt .

FORTY YEARS AGO

From ' The Ringing World' of June 21st, 1912 THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING
Continuing the discussion on the hon. secretary's motion :.. Mr. W. Snowdon said he fully agreed with what the Rev. H. Law James had said on the question of Bob Major leadends. . . It would indeed be a retrograde step if they carried out what Mr. Davies proposed. Stedman gave them College Bob V., but it had irregular lead-ends. In the 1702 'Campanologia 'the lead-ends were put right and it was-called Westminster. He had never heard of College V. again, but Westminster was one of the standard methods. . . . That went to show that when a method .... took up legitimate lead-ends, it would stand, and would pass muster for all time. 1. He felt that (Mr. Davies) was wrong in this, and he should vote against the motion.

Mr. Dains pointed out that for over 300 years nothing but methods with Bob Major lead-ends had stood, all the rest had been naturally cast aside.
[The Rev. C. D. P. Davies had moved, 'That it is desirable to reconsider some of the conditions laid down for the legitimacy of methods as stated on page 18 of "Rules and Decisions." 1904:. He wished to cancel altogether the rule requiring all methods to have Plain Bob leadends, but this was strongly opposed by the Rev. H. Law James, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, J. W. Parker and the above speakers. No vote was taken.-A similar motion was discussed by the Council at Lincoln this year.]

A FULL SIZE JOB

MR. E. A. BARNETT, the new secretary of the Central Council, very rightly said after his election that the position is no sinecure. To follow on after that wonderful team, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, who have served the Exercise for 21 years with such extraordinary efficiency, will indeed be no light task, and the goodwill and best wishes of the whole ringing fraternity will be extended to the newcomer in carrying out his very onerous duties.

Fortunately, Mr. Barnett is equipped with a ringing background, knowledge and experience which will fit him for his work, and the Exercise would probably like to have some particulars of his achievements to date.

Born on October 15th, 1918, at Bexley Heath, Kent, into a famous ringing family, he learned to ring at Crayford in 1927 and rang his first peal at the same place in 1929. By 1934 he had rung 100 peals, and was and still is the youngest ringer to accomplish this. Before reaching the age of 21 he had rung no less than 355 peals. His present total is 566 peals in 80 methods, combinations of methods or extensions, of which he has conducted 117. He has taken part in 173 peals at Crayford and has rung 145 on handbells.

Before reaching 14 years of age he called a peal of Cambridge, and before he was 15 he called London, both from the third. He was the youngest to ring Spliced Surprise, and in 1947 called Carter's Odd Bob one-part as his 100th as conductor. He also took part in the record length of Double Norwich Major $(13,664)$ on handbells in 1948.
In the field of composition he has also been very active and has produced a number of peals with high qualities: Superlative, with the maximum number of pairs reversed in 5-6 at course ends, a three-part peal of Pudsey having 15 of the 18 4-5-6 course end combinations, and also several compositions of Spliced Surprise.

In the literary field he contributed the history of the Kent County Association to 'The Ringing World ' in 1948 and many articles, letters and obituaries. He also collaborated with the late A. J. Corrigan.

On the Central Council he has done useful work, too. First elected as a representative of the Kent County Association in 1945-47, he was afterwards made an honorary member, and served on the Peal Collection, Methods and Biographies Committees.
He is a veritable mine of information and has even supplied information to the New South Wales Association on early ringing in Australia. He traced and wrote up a complete list of peals at Crayford from 1877 onwardsthis must have been a colossal task, seeing that over 500 peals have been rung there. Then he analysed the first 6,000 peals by the Kent County Association for tabulation in their reports.
Mr. Barnett is a member of Crayford Parochial Church Council and secretary and treasurer of the Parish Magazine, and is very interested in the sports of cricket and Rugby football. With such a background, it seems certain that, given good health, he will succeed in his new task, for he is a hard worker and will take infinite trouble to perfect anything to which he sets his hand.

He is fortunate in having a most charming wife, Olive, and daughter, Jean. Most of the members and friends of the Central Council will no doubt have seen them and (dare we say) admired them at Lincoln. To Olive will fall a similar task to that of Mrs. Fletcher, who so ably assisted the previous secretary. Like Edith, Olive comes of good ringing stock, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs and granddaughter of that grand old veteran of the Exercise, Frank Bennett.

She is an accomplished ringer, both on tower and handbells, and will prove, we have no doubt, an able assistant to her husband. Unfortunately, she has no seat on the Council at present, but probably this difficulty will be overcome next year by electing her an honorary member.

They commence their duties in difficult times, but they may be assured that they have the backing and support of the whole Exercise, and we wish them Godspeed with their work.
J. F. S.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of June 28th, 1912
TROWBRIDGE BELLS

The renovation of Trowbridge Parish Church bells has just been carried out, the contract having been very satis factorily carried out by Messrs. Llewellin and James, of Bristol. The bells, originally a heavy ring of six, were recast into a peal of eight and rehung by Wells, of Aldbourne, and in 1800, and for over a century, they had pealed out. until at last their condition required attention. . . . The ringing which took place during the [dedication] service was done by W. McCaffrey (captain) 1, H. Butcher 2, C. Raisen 3, A. K. Harrison 4, J. Francis 5, S. Aldom 6, G. Harding (conductor) 7, S. J. Hector 8.
[Trowbridge now possesses Wiltshire's only ring of twelve bells. Mr. G. H. Harding is the present captain of ringers.]

IMPORTANT NOTICE

With the new half-year commencing with the issue of July 4th, the first of a series of about 36 articles specially designed for beginners will appear. New postal subscriptions (and renewals), 11s. 8d. for six months and 6s. for three months, should be sent forthwith to Mr. J. E. Jeater, 11, Frankswood Avenue, Petts Wood, Kent.

The ring of five at Baughurst. Basingstoke, is to be augmented to six and the dedication ceremony, by the Bishop of Winchester, will take place on July 26th. The five, which were recast in 1775, have also been recast. Metal for the new treble was taken from the Diamond Jubilee school bell of 1897 and increased to two cwt. in weight. This bell is to be named 'The Queen's Bell' and is to mark the accession of Queen Elizabeth II. The contract has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.
The ringer of the tenor in the peal at Great Yeldham on May 31st (see page 373) was Mr. Stanley Bones

Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have dismantled the bells of St. Mary the Great, Cambridge, for rehanging in a cast-iron frame. The bells will be away for probably six months.

We regret to learn that the eleventh bell at Cirencester Parish Church has been cracked and the back bells are, in consequence, out of action until further notice.

Scholars at Groton School, Massachusetts. U.S.A., have in this week's issue a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. Congratulations! They would be pleased to welcome any visitor to the Boston area while the school is in session.
'Beginners' Grandsire,' a copy of which has been accepted for the library of the Central Council, was written by Mr. A. Waddington, of the St. James Society, Egerton, and not as reported on page 378 in the report of the hon. librarian.
Leeds Parish Church ringers have been invited by the Vicar of Halifax to undertake the ringing of the recast ring of twelve bells during and after the dedication service on June 28th. The Lord Bishop of Wakefield is to dedicate the bells. It is hoped to hold an open ' Ringers' Day ' later.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Intended primarily to mark the ordination of Mr. Christopher Woodhead, a Bedford ringer, the peal at Biddenham on June 9 th was also a birthday compliment to Miss E. Stecl and Mr. J. M. Stephens. Half a century all but one day separated the ages of the two ringers so complimented and both participated in the peal.
From Australia we get an inquiry as to what is the longest length of Doubles yet rung. Are our Australian friends contemplating some ringing ashes?

The late Mr. F. A. Stokes rang in the only peals of Shipway's Superlative Royal at Ewerby. There is on record a peal of Superlative Royal rung about 100 years before at Wakefield.

At the age of 87 years Mr. H. Mead has come out of his shell and rung in his own tower, Turner's Hill, Sussex, his first quarter since 1898. The quarter was called by Mr. I. Butcher who last rang a quarter in 1936.

Mr. William Denyer, of Aldershot, was recently knocked from his cycle by an Army lorry and sustained a broken ankle and cuts and abrasions to his head. He was detained at Aldershot Hospital.

Mr. Dennis Beresford writes correcting the peal of Doubles at Longdon, Staffs, on May 16th (see page 356) stating that there were seven extents rung in the six methods that comprised the peal.

Mr. F. J. Cullum's 200th peal on the bells at St. John-the-Baptist's, Erith, on June 13th, was also his 100th peal of Stedman Triples. His first peal of Stedman Triples was also rung there on July 31st, 1919 and was conducted by the late Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have instructions to proceed with repairs on this famous old ring, to be completed in time for the restoration thanksgiving service by the Bishop of Rochester.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES

Mr. F. J. Sharpe said they had dealt with 43 cases in the course of the year. Of these, Mr. Osborn had dealt with 15 for the Diocese of Bath and Wells, and he reported great activity in bell restoration in the whole of the West Country. In addition, Mr. Osborn had written articles on bell restoration and preservation for the Bath and Wells Diocesan publication. Mr. Lewis had dealt with one case. He (Mr. Sharpe) had dealt with 27 cases, all of them involving rehanging or recasting of the bells. He had visited 21 towers, and the remaining six were sent to him by various diocesan faculty committees for vetting. In one case he was able to persuade the Vicar and Parochial Church Council in a Welsh parish not to install amplifiers, but to restore and rehang a ring of bells, and in another case they were fortunate enough to persuade the authorities to install a ring instead of a chime. The 27 cases he had dealt with were in 13 counties. He drew no fees and in only one case in seven years had a Parochial Council offered to pay his expenses. They needed some additional members on the Towers and Belfries Committee. Mr. Osborn did the Bath and Wells Diocese, and Mr. Clarke the North of England. He would like to propose that Mr. F. E. Collins be appointed a member of the committee to undertake S.E. England.
The President seconded, and the report was adopted, and Mr. Collins was elected to the committee.

LITERATURE, PRESS AND BROADCASTING

The report of this committee appeared on page 361 .
The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, in moving the adoption of the report, referred to Mr. Sharpe's excellent work on Oxford bells. Articles on ringing and bells had appeared in all parts of the world. He congratulated the editors of local publications such as The Belfry' from the Maidstone District, "The Irish Bells News' and 'Ringing Towers' (Australia).
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead seconded.
The report was adopted and, in submitting it to the meeting, the President congratulated the convener on the 50 th anniversary of his ordination, which would take place the following Sunday.

PEAL BOARDS

Mr. J. W. Clarke submitted a verbal report, and said that during the coming year they proposed to make a final drive so that the whole business could be wound up and completed. They hoped to make an appeal through 'The Ringing World' for records of those old peal boards sent in.
Mr. W. Ayre seconded; and the report was adopted.

BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

The report of the Biographies Committee appeared on page 361.
Mr. A. C. Hazelden, in moving its adoption, suggested that the name of Mr. L. Stillwell be added to the committee. Their serious headache was the 100 odd names of persons of whom they knew nothing. They were equally divided between the living and those who were dead.
Mr. W. Viggers seconded, and the report was adopted, with the addition of Mr. Stillwell's name being added to the committee.

'THE RINGING WORLD'

The report of 'The Ringing World' Committee stated:-

When this committee was appointed last year, with powers to act as it thought desirable, particularly regarding the price of the paper, it was generally the impression of the Exercise that the obvious course to be taken would be to increase the price.

After due consideration, your committee decided that this step could not be taken until every possible economy had been made, and all reasonable means exploited to increase the revenue. It was felt that an increase in the price would result in the loss of possibly some hundreds of lukewarm readers, so that the advantage of price increase would be partly cancelled out by a reduction of subscribers, and the Exercise would be worse off by their loss.
We decided to increase the charges for advertising space, which was fixed at a considerably higher level, and at the same time we equalised the charges to all the larger advertisers.

Negotiations on this matter were successful in eyery case, and the result will be a substantially larger income from this source, the full effect of which has not yet appeared, as the charges could not come into effect until Oct. $1 \mathrm{st}, 1951$.
We found, however, that this was insufficient to cover the weekly loss which was due to the rocketing prices of paper and labour. We felt that if the cost of the preparation of the paper could be spread over a larger number of readers we could close the gap. An appeal was therefore launched for 1,000 more postal subscribers, but the result up to date has been somewhat disappointing, only about 300 being obtained. In this we feel that with a little more support from the Exercise generally the result would have been more satisfactory and the continuance of the price of 4 d . per copy assured. We are still reluctant to increase the price until the Exercise has had an opportunity of making the necessary effort to bring in the remaining 700 new postal subscribers.
We have to record our appreciation and thanks to many generous wellwishers who have sent donations to help in the financial difficulty, and also to those who have imposed a levy upon themselves when sending up reports of peals and quarter-peals.

We, as a committee, do not feel it to be within our terms of reference to make such levies compulsory, although it has been forcefully suggested by many that this should be done. Such a step is for the consideration of the Council. We would point out, however, that the imposition of a levy on peals published might discourage some peal ringers from sending in reports, and the Peal Analysis might not, therefore, give a true reflection of the year's achievements.
Providing there are no further increases in labour costs, we are of opinion that the peak of rising costs has now been reached, and there are already indications that paper will tend to become cheaper and more plentiful.

NEED FOR LARGER CIRCULATION

We would again stress the need for a larger circulation, and earnestly appeal to all readers to make an effort to help the committee to obtain more postal subscribers.
Our thanks are tendered to Mr. T. W. White for his helpful gesture in suggesting a lower salary for his services, to Mr. Jeater for his efficient and conscientious service in looking after the accounts; and to those who have sent in literary contributions (some in lighter vein) which have been appreciated by all but a few.
We regret it has not been ppssible to provide more illustrations owing to the very high cost of printing blocks. We suggest that those who are anxious to have pictures published should help us in these difficult times by defraying the cost of blocks themselves.

Unless the Council instructs us otherwise, we recommend that our decision to keep the price at 4 d . for the present should be confirmed, and we trust that the flow of voluntary donations will continue so that we may be able to hold our own.
As it is necessary for your committee to have quick access to information regarding income and expenditure, we recommend that the Council should authorise the election of a 'Ringing World' treasurer. Should this be (Continued on next page) approved, Mr. A. A. Hughes is willing to act in that capacity. To him the committee tender their thanks for all helpfulness and willingness whenever he has been approached for necessary information.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood moved and Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded the adoption of the report.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said he mentioned earlier on that a certain article was not published when they thought it should and that it was suitable for publication. The thought occurred to him: had the committee any proper terms of reference and what was the relationship between them and the editor? He would suggest that the committee be responsible for the business side and the editor responsible for all that was to be published.

The report was then adopted.

OXFORD GULLD'S MOTION

Mr. A. E. Lock, on behalf of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, submitted the following resolu-tion:-

- The Oxford Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers, as represented by its General Committee, views with apprehension the possibility of the enforcement of the Central Council rule, requiring all methods rung in peals to have Plain Bob lead ends, and requests the Council to preserve the status quo and to reexamine the whole question of irregular methods in the light of present day knowledge and practice.'

He said that those who were not mathematical gymnasts knew very little of splicing except the popular mainbrace variety. In support of the resolution he submitted the following arguments:-
(1) 'Rules and Decisions * were first published in 1904, and they appeared in revised form in 1927. The 1927 edition says on page 27: "The bells to be in the same coursing order at each lead head and end. This means that all methods must have what are known as Bob Major lead ends.' This rule has never been enforced, and therefore due notice of enforcement should be given, particularly as it would otherwise cause a number of affiliated associations, by their constitutions, to disown a number of peals rung in good faith and for worthy objects.
(2) The Central Council's publication, 'Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods,' contains two such irregular methods, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure and Reverse College (Plain methods 30 and 31 respectively). How can the Council refuse to accept peals containing these methods when ringers are encouraged to ring them!
(3) The standard of Plain Bob lead ends is purely arbitrary and it excludes many methods well worth ringing. It was set up in 1904 , when, for example, nothing was known of method splicing. Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Minor will splice with at least six other plain Minor methods. This is merely one example, but it is sufficient surely to justify the retention of the method and to a reconsideration of the principles involved.
(4) In Doubles Minor and Triples all the changes have to be rung. Why then should it be insisted that only Plain Bob lead ends should appear?
(5) It is believed to be a fact that a large number of peal ringers and Association ofticials are not fully conversant with the Council's rules and decisions. It is admitted that copies of the 1927 edition are quite scarce. Is it fair then for the Council to assume that all ringers have had reasonable access to these rules and decisions? An attempt to enforce them in these conditions of scarcity would be unfair, unpopular and would create a great deal of bad feeling.
(6) Far too little notice is taken of the spiritual side of ringing. All ringing (including peals) should be an act of praise to Almighty God, where the standards demanded

RINGERS' ROLL OF HONOUR - A photograph of the Roll of Honour which was on view at the Central Council meeting at Lincoln. The binding of the Roll, like the earlier one, is carried out in royal blue crushed morocco leather, and the title in block Roman capitals in gilt is: 'Church Bell Ringers' Memorial Book, 1939-45.' The size of each page is 14 inches by $10 \frac{1}{2}$ inches. The folios are of hand-made paper, and the names are written on one side only-fourteen names to a page. There are 290 names in the Memorial Book and they appear in alphabetical order, together with the tower and association.

The Rolls for the two wars are now contained in a box covered outside with blue binding cloth and inside with a soft white material. The box is hinged so that it opens out flat and it has the title on the spine. The title page of the last Roll has a coloured decorative laurel border, through which runs a gold pattern surrounding the inscription in burnished gold and black. The second Roll was written without accepting any payment by Mr. C. Cullen, of Chelsfield Park, Farnborough, Kent, and the completion of the names was undertaken at the request of the Council by Mr. H. Miles. of us are (a) truth, (b) perfection in striking, (c) mental skill and application. Would the Central Council be bold enough to say that a peal which included Woodbine Treble Bob, satisfying the conditions (a), (b) and (c) above, was unacceptable to God because one of the methods did not have Plain Bob lead ends?

Concluding, he said he thought the Council should take a fair and generous view, give reasonable notice of enforcement, and at least the rule should not be retrospective.

Mr. A. D. Barker seconded.
Mr. C. H. Kippin suggested that the motion be referred to the Methods Committee.

Mr. C. K. Lewis said he would not prevent anybody ringing anything in a peal. He felt what they were concerned about was whether the peal should appear in the "The Ringing World ' and not what appeared in the Analysis, The argument of splicing had been introduced. He had done as much splicing as anyone. As to the rules not being well known, he thought that Mr. Pink knew them quite well.

Mr. F. E. Sharpe said the thing that hurt the General Committee of the Oxford Guild, and there were 99 per cent. in favour of the motion, was that it was made retrospective. They felt it would be better from today these peals should not be recognised.

Mr. Locke: If they are retrospective they will go back to 1927.

Mr. C. W. Roberts said this matter of irregular lead ends had been a thing worked for in the past, and was generally accepted by all bands and composers.

Miss M. Cross: We are not asking for the future, but about the past.

Mr. Felstead : I would like to see that these peals be not recognised as from last year.
The motion was carried.

NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL

The Secretary reported that the Council had received an invitation to visit Newcastle next year, and the Standing Committee, by a small majority, decided to recommend Bournemouth.

Mr. W. N. Park proposed that the next Council meeting be held at Newcastle. It would be an interval of 40 years since the Council were last there

Mr. F. W. Perrens proposed and Mr. R. B. Blackman seconded that the next meeting be held at Bournemouth.

By a large majority the Council decided to accept Bournemouth.
Mr. G. Pullinger, on behalf of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, said they would be glad to welcome the Council to Bournemouth, and he was sure the members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild would co-operate with them and give the Council as good a time as possible.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Festival at Bromborough

THE annual festival of the Chester Guild was held at Bromborough on the Wirral peninsula on June 7th and there was a good attendance of members from all parts of the diocese. At 3.30 a service was held in the Parish Church of St. Barnabas conducted by the Rev. W. A. Griffith, who has recently taken over the living. He delivered a thought ful and thought-provoking sermon, preaching from the text 'Sir, we would see Jesus.' and said that the Greeks who said that were seeking for something which all their civilisation and attainments had failed to give them In our day the people were seeking for something which they found lacking in the world and were turning to the Church for an answer. We ringers, as members of the Church, should be able to influence them by the effect of our lives and we should see to it that the quality of our witness was of the highest.

After the service an excellent tea was served in the nearby Church Institute and, following tea. the annual general meeting was held at which Mr. J. W. Clarke, Master of the Guild presided. Reference was made to the sudden deaths of Mr. Joseph Goddard and Dr. James C. E. Simpson and the meeting stood for a few moments in silent tribute to their memory

The accounts of the Guild, as printed in the report, showed that expenditure had exceeded income by $£ 144 \mathrm{~s}$. 5d. but the treasurer reported that due to the economical price at which the present report had been printed he thought that next year the Guild would be able to balance its books. The membership of the Guild stood at 34 honorary members and 726 ringing members who had paid their subscription, representing 83 towers.
The annual report showed that in 1951 the Guild rang 172 peals in which 27 members rang their first peal and five conducted their first peal. Twenty-seven per cent. of the ringing members of the Guild had taken part in one or more peals and the number of conductors was 41 . The Guild rang the first peal ever rung of St. Lawrence Bob Major and records for the first time peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Caters. Marlborough and Winchester Bob Major and Claybrooke, Ealing and Hanbury Surprise Minor as well as peals in 12 and 16 Spliced Surprise Major methods and Spliced Surprise Minor in 12 methods. A peal was rung by a band with an average age of 15 years and 5 months whilst at the other end of the scale peals were rung to commemorate $60,50,49$ and 25 years' service as ringers of older members of the Guild.

During the year the ringers at the Cathedral were presented to H.M. the Queen (then the Princess Elizabeth) on the occasion of her visit to the Cathedral. Ringers' meetings, outings, socials, etc., were all well patronised and in every branch one felt the impact of youth. The report drew attention to the need for the bell hanger in some towers if a band was to be kept there. A feature of the report was the list of towers in the diocese which were not in union with the Guild and which served to remind those who might be inclined to sit back and take their ease that there were still fields to conquer.

A report on the proceedings at the Central Council meeting at Lincoln was presented by Mr . John Worth and arising from his report it was decided to send a donation of four guineas to 'The Ringing World, but it was pointed out very forcibly that this was merely a palliative ; the cure was to campaign for a greater circulation of the paper among the members of the Guild. All branch officials were asked to do what they could to increase circulation by every means in their power.
OBSERVERS AT CENTRAL COUNCIL
A suggestion comes from the Macclesfield branch that the Central Council's representatives. two of whom are elected by the branches in turn. be elected a year before the beginning of the triennial period so that they can, if they so desire, attend the last meeting of the period as 'observers.' This suggestion is designed to overcome the difficulty in following the procedure. etc., which new members of the Council find at their first meeting.
The officers of the Guild were all re-elected and thanked for their services, and Mr. Clarke suitably responded.
The Wirral branch of the Guild received the grateful thanks of the meeting for the excellence of their arrangements and the Rector was thanked for his address and permission to hold the meeting. Appreciation was also expressed of the organist and choir's assistance with the singing in church.
By kind permission of the incumbents and local ringers the bells of Bromborough. Bebington, Port Sunlight (recently rehung) and Eastham churches were available during the afternoon and evening and good use was made of them. For those ringers who had to pass through Chester, Mr. P. Swindley had kindly arranged for them to ring on the Cathedral bells.

It is hoped to hold the 1953 festival at the Cathiedral. Chester, and that the Guild will then be able to look back with pride on its achievements in the first year of a new Elizabethan agc

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Membership Badge Under Consideration

Between 50 and 60 members spent an enjoyable afternoon at Marshfield on June 7th. Early arrivals were met by the Vicar (the Rev. R. C. L. Jones) who is himself a ringer and who extended a hearty welcome to the visitors to the village.

A feature of the meeting was the large number of young ringers present and among them was eight-years-old Teddy Jones, of Chepstow, who is already acquitting himself very well.The Vicar in his address appealed to ringers to take a greater part in other branches of Church work where help was sorely needed. A boll.

The business meeting was presided over by the Vicar. The secretary read a letter of apology for absence from Mr. J. W. Jones. who had not been in very good health recently but was now on the road to recovery. It pras decided to send him a letter wishing him a speedy restoration to complete health. The secretary also apologised for the unavoidable absence of Mr. T. Roderick and it was therefore decided to leave the Central Council report to the next meeting which will be at Penyfai on July 19th.
Mr. L. W. Jones reported that a public appeal was being launched to get Monmouth bells rehung. Congratulations were extended to the band who had recently rung the first handbell peal by a band resident in the area. A motion was passed that inquiries be made regarding design and cost of a membership badge. the matter to be brought before the next annual meeting. An invitation to visit Monmouth for the next quarterly meeting was accepted.
After the meeting some of the visitors made their way to Peterstone. Wentloog, where the bells were also available. Ringing during the day included a course of London Surprise

THE SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting at Edinburgh
The 20th annual meeting of the Scottish Association of Change Ringers was held in Edinburgh on May 10th. During the afternoon the bells of St. Cuthbert's Parish Church were available, and in the evening those of St . Mary's Cathedral. Ringing included rounds. the four standard methods and a course of Cambridge.
A short but impressive service was conducted by the Rev. D. Adam W. Burnet, one of the collegiate ministers of St. Cuthbert's, in the St. Cuthbert's Memorial Chapel, and tea followed.
The president (Professor R. O. Street) took the chair at the business meeting which followed, and apologies were intimated from the Ringing Master. Mr. Charles R. Raine, and Mr. John Marshall. a past Master, who had just been admitted to the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary. The Master's report stated that five quarter peals and two peals had been rung in Scotland during 1951 -one by a visiting band at Inveraray and the other by residents at St. Mary's. Cathedral, Glasgow, under the conductorship of the president.
The secretary reported that both the Right Rev. W. White Anderson, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. 1951-52, and the Most Rev. J. C. H. How, lately Bishop of Glasgow and Primus of the Episcopal Church in Scotlaid, had been pleased to become patrons of the Association. The secretary was instructed to write to the conductor of the octogenarian peal congratulating these ringers on their fine performance, and to Mr. Marshall expressing the hope of all the ringers present that he would soon be better and back among them once again. Fifteen new members were elected to membership of whom ten were non-resident life members. The existing office bearers were reappointed for a further year.
It was agreed to hold the next meetings of the Association at Alloa in October, and at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, in April, 1953. and a special meeting, possibly in November. was to be arranged in Dundee to encourage both the ringers at St. Paul's Cathedral there and the ringers in the newly-formed St. Andrew's University Society.
Ringers present, numbering over 40, were drawn from all but one of the affiliated towers and included visitors from Cumberland. Co. Durham and Wiltshire.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

For the first time for several years a meeting was held at Quex Park. Birchington, by the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association. The injunction that 'no names, no tea' would be strictly adhered to evidently took effect, as the exact number of people as names were present, sixty-six.
The weather proved fine and the walk from the bus stop was enjoyed by many, though the car owners seemed to have some difficulty in finding the route via the farm road and were. in consequence, a little late for the conducted tour of the natural history muscum. which is attached to the mansion. For this the members had the honour and pleasure of being taken round by Mrs. Powell-Cotton, who accompanied her late husband on many of his hunting trips to Africa, and was thus able to give her listeners a first-hand account of some of the many incidents which occurred.
Tea was taken in pleasant surroundings on the verandah of the museum. Following tea the only business transacted was the election of one new member. The members then moved to the tower and ringing took place until nine o'clock. various methods being practised. The view from the platform of the tower of Thanet and the sea was enjoyed by many. Sixteen towers were represented and the company had the pleasure of welcoming two ringers from Oxhey.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL BELLS
Sir,-I recently applied to the Dean of Liverpool for the use of the Cathedral bells on October 25th, the Open Ringing Day at Liverpool Parish Church. Since so much mystery has surrounded the subject of Liverpool Cathedral bells, it struck me that ringers generally would be interested to know why there will be no ready access to these bells, for some time at any rate. I therefore publish below the reply I received from the Chapter Clerk, and I do this with the full permission of the Dean and Chapter--Yours sincerely, J. E. SPICE.
30, Glenmore Avenue, Liverpool, 18.

LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL

I am asked to say that the Dean and Chapter have carefully considered your request to ring the Cathedral bells.

This is a matter which the Dean and Chapter were bound to examine at the time when the bells were hung. They do not wish to give cause of offence in the neighbourhood by ringing at unusual and unknown hours. Further, work in the tower has not yet been completed, and the Dean and Chapter have not yet been given sole and full control of it and responsibility for it. You will also, I am sure, appreciate that the Dean and Chapter cannot discriminate between one request and another, except on some general and impersonal principle. They therefore decided that, for the present, the bells should be rung only on the great Christian festivals or on some occasion touching the life and work of the Cathedral in a special way, with a minimum of practice for their own ringers.

For these reasons I am sorry to say that the Dean and Chapter feel unable to vary this rule in response to your request. Later on, when they assume full responsibility for the tower, their rule will be reviewed.

A HAWKLEY PEAL

Dear Sir,-Having read Mr. W. C. West's letter in reply to Mr. J. Hunt's letter in 'The Ringing World, also the Rev. W. F. Bond's letter to Mr . West concerning the peal at Cranborne, I feel it my duty to say I heartily agree with the Vicar's closing remarks describing the band as 'pirate' ringers.

A few weeks ago the same band obtained permission to ring a peal here at Hawkley under almost identical circumstances. Someone rang our Vicar up in the middle of the week (who he was I never found out) asking for permission to come and ring here on the following Sunday afternoon. No mention was made of a peal. The Vicar gave them permission and then came to ask me, the captain of the tower, if it was all right to come here.
I told him they were obviously coming to attempt a peal, and reminded him of a solemn promise he had made to our district secretary and myself that no one else should come here to attempt a peal until the local band had scored the first peal on the newly augmented eight. The result was this. our Vicar went back on his word to us rather than put this band off, having told them to come at such short notice.
I do not altogether blame our Vicar for this, but it might interest the certain gentleman who gained permission to get the use of the bells that as a result of his conduct all my work in raising a band of ringers for service ringing over a period of five years has come to naught and consequently the bells here are now silent
I had at first not intended mentioning what happened here, but on seeing that this was not an isolated case, I feel that the Cranborne episode was worthy of support. and would strongly suggest that this sort of conduct be discouraged at all costs in future, as to my mind this in no way complies with the Guild rules, parts 1, 2 and 3 of Rule 1. - Yours sincerely. CHARLES A. POUND.
Hawkley, near Liss.

THE CRANBORNE PEAL

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. West's letter and enclosure from the Rev. W. F. Bond, I am sorry Mr. Bond has such a bad memory that he cannot remember who telephoned him before the Cranborne peal. His memory appears to have also let him down in other directions, for not only is his letter most misleading, but he has made statements which are quite unfounded He most certainly made no protest before the peal was rung, neither did he appear to be reluctant to give his consent. The other ringers present will confirm this. If he had done so we would have definitely not attempted to ring. I remember him saying, with evident satisfaction, to one of his local band, whom we assumed to be the captain, 'Well, our chaps won't need to come up to-night; they will be glad of the rest.'-Yours sincerely,

MR. PETER BOND EXPLAINS

Dear Sir,-I must thank Mr. West for replying to my enquiry as to why the Salisbury Guild declines to accept our peal at Cranborne, and accept his explanation. If such a long interval did, in fact, elapse, and the annual meeting decided that this interval was unreasonable, there is an end to the matter and I hope that our conductor will, as he suggests, record the peal for a neighbouring guild.

But I do wish to protest strongly against Mr. West's assertions that Mr. Hunt and myself have been trying to blacken his character. As I said in my previous letter, I asked only for an explanation of what seemed to me to be dictatorial conduct on his part-on this point I admit my error and offer my apologies. As regards my mention of jealousy, I merely stated that bickerings of this kind, all too frequently caused by jealousy, are not conducive to fraternal feeling, and I had no intention of ascribing feelings of jealousy to either Mr. West or the Salisbury Guild.
With regard to the extraordinary letter which Mr. West received from my namesake, the Vicar of Cranborne, the laws of propriety and of this land prevent me from stating my opinion of it. I will content myself with stating that either the Vicar has an extremely short memory of what actually took place, or is writing with the intention of settling a dispute between one of his ringers and the remainder. The greater part of his statements are completely false, and I, for one, resent most strongly Mr. Bond's statements about ' pirate' ringers.
In common with all ringers of goodwill, I have always tried, as far as lies within my power, to further the conception of our art as a branch of service to the Church and to put Sunday service ringing before everything. I have rung numerous Sunday peals with the support of the various incumbents and local ringers, and without their willing consent I would not dream of starting for a peal.

In conclusion, may I state, as I did in my previous letter, that I am not writing in any spirit of ill-will, but to protest, not now against Mr. West's actions (which I accept as a majority decision of his Guild), but against the false accusations made against the band and the organiser of the peal. I have some sense of honour and of my duty to the Church and the Exercise, and to accuse our band and myself of such behaviour is unjust and most insulting.

In writing this letter, I have no desire to cause any ill-will between the Salisbury Guild and myself, and trust that none will result. I have the honour to count several members of the Guild among my friends and have every respect for the good work which they and the Guild are carrying out.-Yours sincerely,
King Alfred's College, PETER N

CRANBORNE AND HAWKLEY PEALS
Dear Sir,-By the time this letter is printed I shall be on my way overseas to take up an appointment, with treasured memories of ring ing friends and pleasant Saturday afternoon meetings and, above all, Sunday service ringing Having just read in ' The Ringing World ' of a little argument going on over the peal at Cranborne, Dorset, I don't wonder at the Salisbury Diocesan Guild failing to recognise it or the local ringers being irate if they had to endure such a fiasco of ringing as we had to at Hawkley on Sunday, April 27th, by members of the same band.
understand that an apparatus had been fitted to the clappers to deaden the noise, which may be all very well on a heavy ring in a crowded area, but on a light ring such as ours it was a terrible discord. Throughout the entire 2 hours 43 minutes all one could hear was a humdrum 7.8.8.7 with a faint tinkle from 3456 while the two new trebles were quite inaudible

I think in fairness to the good name of the Guild concerned and ringers in general this peal shouk be withdrawn from the records, as Bob Major does not consist of two sounding four faint and two silent bells. No one could check the course-ends or tell if it was a true peal or not

A recent half-muffled quarter of Grandsire Doubles by local ringers with 7.6 .8 covering in memory of our late King was much more pleasing music to the ear than this. We in Hawkley never mind our Sunday afternoon nap being disturbed by a well-struck peal as the bells can broadcast the glorious message of the gospel far better than the incumbent, who can only be heard by those who care to enter the door of the church. I hope the next band to attempt a peal here will ring them open to let people hear their full beauty.

I might added that in consequence of this peal the bells are now silent every Sunday. as I am told the Vicar had promised the secretary of the Alton and Petersfield District that they should have the privilege of scoring the first peal on the rehung and augmented ring. This turn of events has got under the skin of the local band, which is such a pity after all the hard work put in by the captain, Mr. C. Pound in forming and training a new band and also after the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Davies in meeting the cost of the restoration and giving the village a ring to be proud of.

To the local band I would say sink your differences and disappointments in a true Christianlike way and let us hear the bells Sunday by Sunday. You will never have a greater privilege than handling God's sacred property, and remember that your humble call changes are better music than that deaf and dumb - Bob Major.

In ending, there is no shred of jealousy behind this letter; experts are always welcome but do give us real harmony and beware lest your tower-grabbing upsets the local Sunday service bands who are the backbone of the Exercise and seek no other highlight than to do their duty faithfully every Sunday morning and evening.-Yours, etc., T. C. E. SWINTON.

RINGING AT GLASGOW

Dear Sir,-At the annual meeting of the Scottish Association mention was made of the publication during the past year of 'Bells Of All Nations, 'in which one and a half pages are devoted to bells in Scotland. At this meeting I was instructed to write to 'The Ringing World ' pointing out that local circumstances are not quite in keeping with those set out by the learned author.
One specific thing I should mention is that there has been a ringing society in Glasgow for at least the last 20 years, viz., the St. Mary's Cathedral Society. Mr. Morris states that they ring call changes at Glasgow; I cannot tell whether they are proficient at this side of the Exercise or not, but 1 do know that they are capable of ringing more than the standard methods, and the fact that they do, in fact, sometimes ring scientific is shown by the mention of their prowess in the quarter peal columns of 'The Ringing World.' I am, columns of 'Th

CHELMORTON BELLS

Dear Sir,-The Church of St. John the Baptist, Chelmorton, stands high in the fold of the Peakland hills and is claimed to have the greatest altitude of any parish church in the country; and a ring of bells in its venerable tower would sound God's praises and call to worship people over a wide and thinly populated area.
But Chelmorton bells cannot be rung, for the oldest one, dated 1601 , is cracked and the others need retuning, while the timbers of the frame are decaying and unsound.
A number of parishioners, having already raised $£ 500$ in the past two years for necessary repairs to the church fabric, are now appealing for your help in restoring the original ring of four bells and adding two new ones to make a peal of six.
For all this work, however, the large sum of $€ 1,100$ is needed. Towards raising this a good start has already been made and the population of 350 are prepared to give time, money and hard work to the project.
Will you help us?

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

T
HE annual festival and meeting of the Hereford Diocesan Guild was held this year at Coalbrookdale on Whit Monday. The ten bells were going soon after eleven o'clock and during the day more and more ringers assembled from all over the diocese, which covers Herefordshire and half of Shropshire. Visitors, too, from Liverpool. Loughborough, Birming: ham, Worcestershire and South Wales swelled the numbers. The neighbouring eights at Broseley and Much Wenlock were also available and parties coming to the festival from a distance (such as the buses from the Ross and Kington districts) stopped at these towers on the way, to ring.

At 3 o clock the Guild Office was sung at Coalbrookdale at which the Vicar. the Rev. F. W. Hickling, had been invited to preach. The service was followed by tea in the Parish Hall at which there were 112 ringers and friends present and this was followed by the annual general meeting presided over at first by Mr. Leslie Evans, the retiring Master On his election as the new Master of the Guild, Mr. W. H. Lloyd of Berrington, Shropshire, took the chair. The other officers were elected with some additions to the committee, and the accounts adopted, showing a balance of $£ 76$ in the General Fund and $£ 44$ in the Bell Restoration Fund.
The report for the year shows that the Guild is progressing satisfactorily. The number of ringing members is now 641, an increase of no less than 59 over the previous year, and during 195157 peals were rung as against 32 in 1950.
The committee was able to report that now vadges had been ordered and would shortly be available at 2 s 6 d . each.
The Central Council's ruling on the irregularity of Reversc Canterbury Pleasure was then discussed and the meeting strongly supported its representative, Mr. W. F. Morton, in urging that, in accepting this ruling for the future, it disagreed with the non-acceptance of Minor peals rung in it before the decision was made.

The secretary reported that grants of five guineas each from the Bell Restoration Fund were passed to the following towers: Eardisland, Eardisley. Pembridge and Stanton Lacy.
Mr. A. W. Davis reported that an appeai was being made for $£ 1.00$ for the restoration of the Cathedral bells and he hoped that the Guild would do what it could to assist in this appeal. Congratulations were also expressed to the ringers of the 'five peals in one day" and the honour this had brought to the Hereford Diocesan Guild in the Exercise. It was unanimously decided that Ledbury should be the place of the next festival.
The meeting closed with votes of thanks and ringing continued until late in the evening, It was an enjoyable and encouraging festival and the Shropshire members are to be congratulated.

Northern District at Foxearth

A very successful meeting of the Northern District was held at Foxearth on June 7th. Although this parish is isolated from the rest of the diocese, 64 members and friends were present. At the service the Rector (the Rev. Malcom Pearce) gave an interesting address. An excellent tea was served in the Village Hall, provided by the Rector and his parishinners.
Miss H. G. Snowden, District Master, presided at the business meeting and all stood in silence to the memory of William Keeble. of Feering, a life member of the Association who died on April 4th. Eleven new members were elected.
Miss Snowden gave a report on the proceedings of the Central Council held the previous Tuesday at Lincoln, which she attended.
Further ringing on the church bells was then indulged in as, prior to the service, ringing was suspended owing to a mishap among the bells. Two members kindly carried out the repairs.

NEWS FROM AUSTRALIA

The sixth annual competition ring, first quarterly meeting and dinner of the New South Wales Association were held at St. Clement's, Yass, a country town 200 miles from Sydncy, on May 24th.

Ringing commenced at 9 a.m., and at 10 a.m. the Rector, the Rev. H. P. Reynolds, conducted a Communion service, which was attended by all ringers.

The competition took place in the afternoon and was won by St. Mary's Basilica, from St. James', Turramurra. St. Clement's, Yass, put up an excellent performance. The Duncan Shield was awarded to St. James', Turramurra. At the quarterly meeting Mr. T. W. Goodyer tendered his resignation as treasurer of the Association, sub-editor of 'The Ringing Towers ' and member of the Selection Committee of the Association. Mr. E. J. Fowell was elected treasurer of the Association and sub-editor of 'The Ringing Towers,' and Mr. J. Clark to the Selection Committee.

Guest chairman at the dinner was the Rev. H. P. Reynolds, and the guest of honour the Rev. Father Parker-Maloney, who was the representative of Bishop Young, Roman Catholic Bishop of Goulburn.

Those leaving by train were then packed into cars and taken to the station to catch the 11.45 p.m. train back to Sydney. Thirty-two ringers were on the station to bid them farewell, and it will be safe to say that it would be a very rare occasion on which the train leaves Yass Junction with such a crowd of enthusiastic wellwishers.

On June 9th the ringers of Sydney, with representatives from Maitland and Yass, met together at St. Mary Basilica, to honour the first official birthday of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth. Through the courtesy of the captain of the tower. Mr. L. R. A. Curran, an excellent programme of ringing was accomplished: Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, with St. Simon's and Grandsire Doubles, $4,6,8$ covering for the less advanced. It was a grand night and the time expired all too quickly.

Bolton Ringers Visit Municipal Buildings

Members of the Bolton Branch of the Lancashire Association paid a visit to the Municipal Buildings of Bolton on Friday, June 6th.
Within comparatively recent years the Town Hall has been largely extended and the party had the opportunity of comparing the beautiful ornamental work their forefathers put into building with the modern work. Of special interest was the clock tower. Here are the usual four bells for the chimes and the hour bell, which is a little over 4 tons. They are all excellent tone. The more energetic climbed up to the clock faces. The Town Hall keeper was guide and he was assisted by the secretary, Mr. Peter Crook, who is very conversant with the buildings.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK W. STOKES
Former Secretary of Lincoln Guild
An outstanding personality in Lincolnshire ringing, and for more than 20 years hon. secretary of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, Mr. Frederick W. Stokes died at his home at Nettleham, near Lincoln, on June 4th, aged 68.
The news of his passing came as a great shock to the members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guifd and particularly to members of the Lincoln district as on Whit Monday Mr. Stokes had taken part in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Surfleet and on Tuesday had joined the Central Council delegates at tea, when he appeared to be in his usual good health. He was, however, unwell during the night and died suddenly on the Wednesday morning before medical aid arrived.

The funeral took place at Nettleham on June 7th and the service, conducted by the Rev. G. Herrington (Mr. Stokes' son-in-law), was attended by ringers from Lincoln Cathedral, Nettleham, and other towers near Lincoln.

The local band rang with the bells open for a short time before the service and at the conclusion a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by J. Walden 1-2, G. E. Feirn 3-4, J. A. Freeman 5-6. J. Freeman 7-8. Later in the day Lincoln Cathedral bells and also the local bells were rung half-muffled as a tribute of affection and respect.

Frederick William Stokes came to Caythorpe at an early age and learned to ring there. His first peal, one of Grandsire Triples, conducted by the Rev. H. Law James, was rung in 1903. From Caythorpe he went to live at Selby, Yorkshire, but after a short time returned to Blankney, near Lincoln.
Having few equals as method ringer and striker on any number of bells, he was frequently called upon by Mr. Law James to stand in peal attempts, and often cycled many miles to do so.
For many years he was closely associated with the Lincoln Cathedral company of which he was an honorary member. He took part in the first peals of Spliced Surprise Major in 17 and 22 methods ever to be rung and the onl peal of Shipway's Superlative Royal yet rung. In addition he rang in many of the first peals for the Guild. the most notable being Cambridge and Yorkshire Maximus, Stedman and Grandsire Cinques. Yorkshire Royal, London Surprise Major and Spliced Surprise Major in 2, 4, 5, 6,10 methods.
He was an exceptional teacher of ringing, and was able to pass on to any youngster whom he taught, not only his ability as a bell handler, but his own capable way of striking a bell.

For more than 20 years he was honorary secretary to the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and while holding this office he stood in the secretaries' peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark, rung as a token of respect on the death of the late W. T. Cockerill. He was president of the Lincoln District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and held this office at the time of his death.

The Lincoln Guild is poorer for his passing but far richer for his example. J. A. F.

MR. CHARLES FRAY

Mr. Charles Fray, of Eastleigh, Hants, passed away on June 6th at the age of 77.
He was taught to ring at North Stonehaam in 1898, and with the exception of three years, when he lived at Curdridge, was associated with that tower until his death, although in recent years, owing to failing health, he was unable to atiend for Sunday service ringing as regularly as he formerly did. Mr. Fray was one of the Surprise Sunday service band that the late Mr. G. Williams built up at North Stoneham between the wars.
A member of the Winchester Guild, latterly the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, since 1899, Mr. Fray served for several years on the Executive Committee and for 17 years was auditor of the Southampton District. He had taken part in 103 peals from Minor to Royal, the majority being rung at North Stoneham.
Mr. Fray was a quiet, unassuming man, who was well liked by all who knew him. He was a faithful member of the Church and put Sunday service ringing first. He set a good example and will be sadly missed.
The funeral service was held at Eastleigh Parish Church. Messrs. R. Brown, W. Tucker, W. G. Rowe and W. Rowe represented the North Stoneham band, and among the many floral tributes was a wreath from North Stoneham and Bishopstoke ringers

THE REV. A. E. DAVIES

The death took place on June 10th at Malmesbury Hospital of the Rev. A. E. Davies, Vicar of Wanborough, near Swindon. Mr. Davies was keenly interested in bells and he successfully carried out the restoration and augmentation of Wanborough bells, and the writer understands he was instrumental in restoring the bells of Ash, Somerset, where he was Vicar before coming to Wanborough.
Cremation took place at Bristol and a memorial service was held at Wanborough on June 14th conducted by the Bishop of Malmesbury. The bells were rung half-muffled by the local ringers, and the Swindon branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association were represented by Messrs. W. H. Trueman (chairman), W. B. Kynaston (secretary) and W. W. T. Daniell (representative).

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Bicester Deanery Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Bicester Deanery Branch at All Saints', Brill, on June 14th, was blessed with a fine afternoon after the very heavy storms the previous day.

The six bells were rung to rounds for the beginners, Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles and Plain Bob Minor. The service was conducted by the Vicar of Brill (the Rev. J. H. D. Elkerton) who preached an excellent sermon; the lesson was read by the Deputy Master. (Mr. F. Sharpe), and Miss P. Gray (a local ringer) was the organist.

After an excellent tea provided by ladies of the church, the business meeting was held with the branch president (the Rev. C. Cowland Cooper) in the chair, supported by the Deputy Master and the hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Kinch). A hearty welcome was extended to the Rev. J. H. K. Elkerton who had been in Brill for only three weeks. The next meeting was arranged for Souldern on September 27th The members were reminded that the annual festival will be held at Oxford on Saturday, July 12th.

The bells of St. Edburgh, Bicester, are to be restored, the work consisting of rehanging the front seven in ball bearings and a complete overhaul of the fittings at an estimated cost of £140. It was decided to make a grant of $£ 5 \mathrm{~s}$ s. from the branch funds.
The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to all who had made the meeting a success.

ITCHINGFIELD AND THAKEHAM

Ringers of Itchingfield and Thakeham joined forces on Whit Monday for an outing into Kent, with friends from Washington and Amberley.

At Hammerwood, with a delightful five, a recording was made of 120 Grandsire. Cowden's swaying wooden tower was too unsteady for some members, but good use was made of the bells despite difficulty in keeping the tenor up.
After a sandwich lunch. the steep ladder to the ringing room at Leigh was successfully negotiated and a pleasant 45 minutes passed all too quickly. Then came Chiddingstone's finetoned eight and Hever's ' not very musical ' six.

Tea was served at Edenbridge before visiting this casy-going eight, which proved to be the highlight of the day. Entertainment from 'Uncle Ted and his songsters' enlivened the homeward journey.

STOKE MANDEVILLE, BUCKS.-On June 8th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: A. White (first quarter) 1 , W. Lee 2. Gwen Morris 3. H. Jones 4. B. Collis (Girst as cond.) 5. B. Sandford (first quarter) 6.

THE NEW PLAIN MAJOR METHODS COLLECTION

SINCE the ringing of new Surprise methods became popular among expert ringers the Plain and Treble Bob methods have been somewhat neglected. Most ringers, and especially those younger ones who were unable to obtain a copy of the earlier work, will, therefore, welcome the second edition of the Collection of Plain Major Methods. The book contains in its 60 pages a wealth of useful information, including compositions suitable for nearly 400 methods.

Two hundred of these methods are ingeniously compressed into a table of formulæ, the work of the late A. G. Driver, which looks very complicated at first, but is accompanied by so clear and lucid an explanation that most ringers will find it easy to use the table after a few minutes' study. Another very useful feature of the book is the table of first performances, which is complete up to the beginning of the year.

Few will disagree with the decision to omit the Caters methods, although the reason given for doing this, that none of the methods given in the first edition except Double Norwich has been rung since 1926, recalls a peal of St. Clement's Caters a few years ago which the band said was a very musical, interesting and enjoyable method to ring. The selection of peal compositions for the Major methods, containing as it does at least one musical composition which is easy to call for every method in the book, should prove very valuable to would-be conductors who do not wish to embark on composition themselves.

Although it is easy to criticise other people's work, it does seem a pity that the list of first performances does not give separate details of the first handbell and tower-bell peals in the various methods and that the table on pages 34-39 does not include all the methods with the bells behind in their natural coursing order instead of only those not given elsewhere. Space, however, while paper remains so expensive, is an urgent consideration and the book in its present form is so very useful and such excellent value for three shillings that any criticism seems out of place.
The committee has done a most excellent job and it is to be hoped that they will be rewarded by a revival of interest in some of the less usual plain Major methods which are interesting to ring and should not be beyond the capabilities of many local bands in different parts of

THE RINGERS' OUTING

EVEN to the uninitiated it is obvious that some of the bus loads which disembark in the market square are the local Conservatives on their summer outing, others the regulars of the 'Pig and Whistle ' on the spree, whilst a few present no difficulty and proclaim by their uniform that the passengers have come to challenge our protagonists on the bowling green. Such parties, and many which the amateur could not diagnose, do, one feels sure, present no difficulty to those connoisseurs, those almost professional judges of outings, who sit somnolently on the benches which surround our market places and city squares. But surely a ringers' outing must puzzle even these knowing onessuch a mixture of types-the young, the old, the decorous, the indecorous, those who visit the 'Brown Cow,' those who look in at the museum, those who concentrate on the ice-cream, and those who just sit in the bus studying little books-all bound together by some common bond in a gay camaraderie.

Surely it is this mixture of characters that gives a very special flavour to a ringers' outing. There are many other ingredients, perhaps not peculiar to a ringers' outing, but at least indispensable to it. The half-past six start, which finally becomes seven o'clock, because Bill, who was late last year, and the year before, so those of long memory aver, and about whom a firm line, it is said, must be taken next year, is late again. There is always one section which is never late, the young bloods, who have banked on the back seat and who are hoping that it runs the width of the bus and will hold five or, with a squeeze, six. This all day is the storm centre, the scene of practical jokes where new recruits to the belfry are put through their paces to discover whether they are good 'back-of-the-bus' types. The handbell enthusiasts are anxious that there should be side seats over the wheels so that they can ring facing each other, with greater ease. The elder statesmen and their wives occupy the seats towards the front and right at the fore is the secretary who, like an anxious navigator, consults with the driver in an attempt to recapture that lost half-hour.

Then there is the ringing on strange bells and the anxiety not to let the home tower down through too much clipping, or the failure to handle a long draught well. By tea time everyone has really captured the spirit of the day's outing and is ready for the evening ring at an isolated village, where some will also snatch a drink whilst others wait anxiously in a queue for fish and chips. Finally comes the long ride home, the sing-song, the good nights, as one by one the passengers are dropped off near their homes.

The World Freedom Bell

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest installations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

IHE ancient method of summoning the local parliaments of the land, whether ward meetings, guild meetings, municipal or Vestry Councils, was by the sound of a bell; and for the obvious reason that the parish church alone usually possessed bells large and loud enough to be heard at any distance, one of them was generally used. A bell was ordered by Edward the Confessor to be sounded in cases of danger to convene the people. Even Bucer, who strongly objected to much ringing, was willing to allow, as a common and necessary thing, the ringing of a bell to call the people 'to come to public meeting for the affairs of the Commonwealth ' (Cosin's Works, v. p. 417). In some instances a handbell was used for the purpose; sometimes a common bell ' hanging sometimes a bell suspended over the Guild Hall.
A handbell appears to have been used at Spalding, Lincs, Leicester, Lynn, Norwich and other places, where the 'common bellman,' a Corporation official, went through the town to call not only the corporation magistrates, but the guild brethren together ('Antiquary,' i. p. 252). Ruffhead, in his preface to 'The Statutes at Large, speaking of the Fole-Mote Comitatus or Shire-Mote, and the Fola-Mote Civitatis Vel Burgi, or Burg-Mote, says, 'Besides these annual meetings, if any sudden contingency happened, it was the duty of the Aldermen of cities and boroughs to ring the bell called in English Mot-bell, in order to bring together the people to the Burg-Mote, etc. (see Blount's 'Law Dictionary,' V., Motbell). The bells in the clochard of old St. Paul's were used to summon the people to folk-motes in the churchyard. A large bell hanging in the chamber of St. Nicholas' Church and known as the 'Common bell ' was so used at an early date at Newcastle-on-Tyne. Nottingham had its 'common bell ${ }^{\text {c }}$. in 1315; and at St. Chad's. to call parishioners together to all things pertaining to the towne of Stafford.' At Worcester the 'grete belle of the parisshe of Seint Androwe' was used to summon the 24 and the 48 to the 'Counselle house of the seid cite.' The Inventory of Church Goods belonging to the parish of Moulton, Northants, in 1552, shows that even small villages had, occasionally, their common-bell. It says:-
'Itm. One other great bell hangyng in one frame by it selfe bought by Thomas Colls and Thomas Lucke and by ye consent of ye hooll pyshe for theyse causes folowyng (yt is to say) to be ye clock bell and to have it ronge when any casualtyes shall chaunce. And for ye gatheryng togyther ye Inhabitants of ye sayd towne for ye courte and other theyr necessaryes. And not gyven to ye sayd churche.
The people of Thetford, Norfolk, claimed in the same year a bell then hanging in their steeple for the same uses. The seventh bell at St. Mary's, Stamford, is the 'Common Bell' ' of that municipality. Many entries referring to it are found in the town records; it was used to call the townspeople together, and until recently it was tolled to summon the members of the Corporation to attend the chief magistrate to church. Until 1840, when the 'sport, was discontinued, the Common-bell was tolled at 'a quarter before eleven o'clock in the forenoon of the 13th of November in each year' to give warning that the Annual Bull Running. which had from time immemorial taken place at Stamford that day, was about to begin. The thoroughfares were then cleared of children and infirm people. At 11 o'clock a bull was turned into a strect and then the sport began, by main force to tumble him over the bridge which spans the Welland into the river beneath. When the bell was recast in 1626 , care was taken to insure its ownership being lodged in the town and not the parish. It is inscribed:

STANFORDIENSIBVS INSERVIENS IPSA CONTEROR  TOBIE MORRIS CAST ME 1626 (Royal arms)

This bell is now tolled for a quarter of an hour at Quarter Sessions to summons the jury and others. The inscription, referring to its ancient use, appears to mean:' I am myself worn out (or bruised) while serving for the men of Stamford.
Newcastle had its Common Bell for over three centuries. It 'was casten' according to the Carr MSS. in 1593-4, but it is not unlikely that it was the old bell recast that year. In 1594 the churchwardens of St. Nicholas; in whose belfry the bell hung, received five shillings for 'knellinge on Guild day'-that refers to the ancient custom of tolling on the day of the election of Mayor from 9 o'clock in the morning, with little intermission, until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at which hour the election took place. The long tolling appears to have been a summons to the various guilds to assemble at their different halls, but the popular impression was that it was the retiring Mayor's passing bell! Instead of the Common Bell, a large bell known as the Major, given to the town under the will of Major George Anderson (proved in 1831), now sounds from 8 to 9 o'clock in the morning, the summons for Christmas, Easter and Michaelmas Guilds of the Freemen. The Common Bell of Newcastle was also called the Great or Thief and Reiver Bell. 'The last name was applied to it,' writes Mr. Ventress, in consequence of its taking the place of (or accompanying) the Curfew or eight o'clock bell on the occasion of each of the fairs of the town-at which, by a custom widely dispersed, none but the greatest malefactors were liable to arrest.' It was also rung on Shrove Tuesdays at $11.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. as the Pancake Bell. The bell 'casten' in 1593-4 weighed about 17 cwt . and was recast in 1615 when it weighed 33 cwt., and again in 1622 when it was found about the same weight, and yet again in 1754 when it was sent to Whitechapel foundry in September of that year. The new bell, which weighed 36 cwt ., arrived from London on December 20th, 1754, and first rung on January Ist, 1755. It was still called the 'Common Bell' and was inscribed:-

CUTHBERT SMITHESON ESQR. MAYOR

 WILLIAM ROWELL, ESQR. SHERIFF 1754. THOS. LESTER \& THOS. PACK FECIT. However, in 1892 the whole ring was restored and recast by J. Taylor and Co., and the above bell (the tenor) is now 37 cwt . 2 qr . 17 lb . and inscribed, "This peal of ten bells is the joint gift of the Corporation of Newcastle-uponTyne and John Hall, Esq., J.P., of the same city,' and bears the names of officials and> SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER Half-yearly and quarterly subscribers who have not yet sent their renewal subseriptions to Mr. J. clergy. Later (1914) two additional bells were installed and later still a semitone added. At Oakham, Rutland, the 7th bell is called the meeting bell, and is rung to call town meetings. In the Market Tower of Lewes hangs a bell, now called from its inscription, 'Old Gabriel,' which is thus referred to in the town book under the date 1555: "The Common bell was cast this year.' Although the erection of clock towers to town halls and the hanging therein of a bell or bells is now quite an ordinary occurrence, it is believed that ancient Mote-bells remaining in their original position over guild halls in England are very rare. An interesting example is preserved at Lincoln, where it hangs in a wooden frame, protected from the weather, on the top of the roof of the Guild Hall. It is $20 \frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter, has a rope and wheel and has an inscription which not only tells its use but also gives the date thus:-

- CVM QVIS CAMPANAM RESERET SACCVM BONUS AVDIT ET CVRIAM PLANAM FORE CVM SCITOTE REMAIORIS LINCOLNIE CIVITATIS.'

This inscription shows that the bell was cast in the Mayoralty of William Beale (1371), was rung at the opening and again at the closing of the Court. Freely translated it runs :-

- When first a good man hears this bell, Let him with speed his bag untie;
When next it rings, he'll know full well;
The hall is cleared, and homeward hie.'
The Court being a Law Court, the reference is to the bag in which those interested in the case about to be tried carried their papers, in the same way as is still common with lawyers. This curious bell is now only rung to give warning of a meeting of the Council. At Kidderminster a singular custom used to prevail. - On the election of a bailiff the inhabitants assemble in the principal streets and throw cabbage-stalks at each other. The town-house bell gives the signal for the affray. This is called the lawless hour' ('Gent,' May, 1791). There is a town hall bell at Colchester dating from about 1400 .
In many parishes notice of vestry meetings were given by ringing one or more of the church bells. At Rothwell, Northants, two bells are chimed; at Epworth, Lincs, two and sometimes three are chimed; at Louth the third bell is tolled thirty strokes-thrice, a quarter of an hour before meeting time. At St. Martin's, Leicester-now the Cathedral-all the bells are rung in peal on Easter Tuesday for this purpose. The custom, however, like many other usages, is dying out, and probably the new system of parochial councils, by rendering all vestry meetings, except that of Easter, unnecessary, will lead still further to its decline. At Doncaster the sixth bell was used of old to summon a meeting of the Corporation, the fifth the Highway Board, and the treble for the Vestry.

The peal of Grandsire Doubles at Harrietsham was a stepping-stone in the progress of the local band

BELFRY GOSSIP

 Mr. Alexander Waddington, their instructor. had the satisfaction of seeing five of the band score their first peal. Among them was Mr. James R. Crump, aged 66. Harrietsham ringers, through our columns, desire to thank Mr. Waddington for his patience and the time he has devoted to their instruction.Mr. Trevor A. Cross, who rang the second in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Upchurch, Kent, on June 21st, had not previously made a bob in the method.

The band which rang the peal at Rugeley, Staffordshire, on June 21st, would like to express their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Joyner for their hospitality after the peal.
The peal at Milland on Trinity Sunday marks the closing of a very pleasant association between ringers in West Sussex and Mr. G. R. H. Smith, who has been a student at Chichester Theological College. His help and inspiration have been much appreciated by the many ringers with whom he has come in contact. Mr. Smith was ordained deacon to serve in the Parish of St. Stephen, Gloucester.
We are asked to state that the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major reported on page 371 was rung at Gilmorton and not Claybrooke. The correction reminds us of the well-known College Youth who arrived home in the early hours. - Where have you been? was the question that greeted him from the anxious spouse. 'Peal ringing,' was the reply. 'I said 'where?' 'I don't know,' he somewhat embarrassingly replied. : I was met at the railway station, motored five miles, rang a peal of Stedman Triples and then motored back to the railway station.' A fortnight later with the publication of the peal he was able to satisfy his own curiosity and provide his wife with the answer.

Very favourable comment was passed at the annual meeting of the St. David's Diocesan Guild at some members wearing blazers with the Guild badge attached. The secretary expressed the hope that the fashion would extend to all members attending Guild meetings.

Mr. J. F. Milner informs us that the first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Southwell Minster was rung by an eminent band on December 26th, 1950, and not as published in our peal column last week.
Further Cornish rings in the hands of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. for varying schemes of recasting and rehanging are the sixes at North Petherwyn, Padstow and St. Endellion and the eight at Stokeclimsland.

Congratulations to Mr. Philip M. J. Gray on calling the first peal on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, since 1934 . The last peal was scored by the Australian tourists. There was a local peal on the bells in 1925.

Mr. W. H. Pickett is the president of the Scottish Association of Change Ringers and he presided at the annual meeting of the Association reported in our last issue. Professor Street retired from the presidency the previous year.

Mr. Aubrey L. Bennett informs us that the last peal of Major on Crediton bells was rung on August 12th. 1939. The method was Bob Major and it was conducted by the late Mr . C. R. Lilley. The tenor was turned in by Mr. A. Patrick Cannon.

A handbell peal of Major was rung at Bath Abbey on Friday. June 13th, as a farewell to Mr. Jack $\mathbf{R}$. Worrall, who is leaving the area shortly. A thunderstorm and organ recital provided a background to the peal, during which the band were treated to three verses of a hymn tune by the Abbey carillon.

 Earlier start at future meetings - appreciation of MR. & MRS. G. W. FLETCHER'S SERVICES - MAYOR AND CORPORATION'S HOSPITALITY

TIME OF MEETINGS

The Secretary reported that the Standing Committee had considered the matter of the time of meetings, and recommended that in future the Council meet at 10 a.m. instead of 11 a.m.

VOTES OF THANKS

The President, from the chair, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Bishop of Lincoln, the Dean and Chapter for all they had done for the Council, and particularly to the Dean for conducting them round the Cathedral the previous day and celebrating Holy Communion that morning. They would also like to thank the members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and particularly the Master, Mr. J. W. Freeman, and the secretary, Mr. Bray. He would also like to thank all incumbents where they had access to bells and to the tower keepers for getting those bells ready. Finally, he would like to thank the Mayor and Corporation of Lincoln for their hospitality.
RETIREMENT OF MR. G. W. FLETCHER The President: This is the end of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher's combined service as hon. secretary and treasurer, and we cannot possibly let them go without expressing our very sincere thanks to them for all they have done for us over these rather more than 20 years. They have brought the status of the Council and its business to a very high standard, very much different from what it was in the very old days, I feel it is impossible sufficiently to express in words what we owe to them. I should like to say more, but we are very pressed for time. I hope that the arrangements which have been started to express our gratitude in a more tangible form will be accomplished.
Mr. A. A. Hughes, in seconding, said he had worked with Mr. Fletcher for many years, and it was only by working with him that one realised all the work he had put in. He knew in business he was a very busy man, and rarely got through his ordinary work before 9 p.m.

Th.
tion.
Mr. Fletcher, in reply, said it was somewhat difficult to realise that it was probably the last time he would occupy that place. He thanked the President and the Council for their co-operation over a very long period, and he hoped they would extend to his successor the same support as they had given him. He was sure the secretaryship would be in safe hands, but it would not be in safe hands unless the members of the Council played their part. If they had any new ideas he was sure he would consider them. He hoped to be present at Council meetings for many years to come.
Mr. R. S. Anderson proposed a vote of thanks to the President for presiding.

CORPORATION'S GENEROSITY
The Council meeting was followed by a tea, given by the Mayor and Corporation, held in the Co-operative Hall, and attended by 214 members and their wives.

The Mayor of Lincoln (Cclr. J. W. Giles) presided, supported by the Lord Bishop, the Dean and the Archdeacon of Lindsey.
The Mayor, in his welcome, said he understood that it was 30 years since the Council last visited Lincoln. He knew they were a national body, and as such were expected to hold their meetings at different centres. He He should imagine that the Diocese of Lincoln was where the art of change ringing was practised as widely as anywhere, as they in Lincolnshire thought very highly of their churches and their bells.
Although he knew nothing about change ringing, many years ago his father was a bellringer at St. Botolph's in Lincoln. He had in his possession a letter written by the Town Clerk of Lincoln in 1887 which read: 'I herewith send you a cheque for $£ 410 \mathrm{~s}$. in discharge of your account for bell ringing for Queen Victoria's Jubilee.' He trusted they had had a profitable meeting.
Mr. E. H. Lewis, in reply, said: I am sure all the guests to-night wish to thank the Mayor and Corporation for their very generous hospitality. Ringers, as you know, ring for State occasions as well as ecclesiastical occasions, and we always like to know we are in touch with Mayors and Corporations as well as the ecclesiastical authorities. We passed formally in the Chapter House a vote of thanks to the Bishop and the Dean for what they had done for us, and I would like to express our thanks personally to the Bishop for coming to welcome us. We would like to thank the Dean for a most interesting trip around the Cathedral and for his explanation of that wonderful building, for allowing us to ring the Cathedral bells, and for taking the celebration this morning, which was well attended. We also want to thank the Lincoln Diocesan Guild for all they have done. When I last visited Lincoln for your Jubilee I tried to think of my connection with Lincolnshire. The only one I could think of was that my dining room chairs were made from the wood taken from a Grantham bell frame. Since I have been here I have thought of a much better connection, because, having been born in Nottingham, I was born in the Diocese of Lincoln, as that was before the Diocese of Southwell was created. Mr. Mayor, I thank you for your hospitality and the Lincoln Diocesan Guild for making this week-end so enjoyable.
The Dean, who is president of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, disclaimed any hard work in connection with the visit, and said the hard work had been done by Mr. J. Bray and Mr. J. A. Freeman.

A social evening was afterwards held at the Saracen's Head.

THYSELF

Dear Sir,-The greatest enemies of change ringing are change ringers.- Yours sincerely, F.W. RICHARDSON.

FOR BEGINNERS-AND A WORD TO THE OLDER HANDS
1-Giving the 'Youngsters' a Start
[Note: This is the first of a series of articles which will, we believe, be of assistance to young ringers, providing they are prepared to take note of what is said. The substance of these articles appeared in "The Ringing World ' during 1937-38.]
Firstly, a word to instructors: What about giving those youngsters who as yet know nothing about change ringing a little more encouragement and help? They, or others like them, have got to take your place one day, so they ought to be helped along. Besides, the quicker they move forward the sooner you will get their assistance in things which you would like to do, but cannot for want of others to help you. If you find teaching difficult, encourage these youngsters to follow up the articles in this column. The learners can, we think, help themselves a great deal from what appears, and, with your assistance, the stumblingblocks to change ringing ought to be overcome fairly easily.
With a complete novice, we always think it is essential that he should first understand something of what change ringing is, before he is made to do something in the tower which he doesn't really grasp. We have heard ringers say to the veriest tyro, 'Now, come on, see if you can hunt the treble.'
Except that he knows he has got to do something different from striking over the same bell all the time-which is probably all he has done up to this stage--he has only the foggiest notion of what is required of him. So the instructor stands behind him and every pull tells him to follow this, that, or the other bell, or to lead, and at the end the beginner is often more bewildered than when he started.
A little preliminary explanation with pencil and paper, or by some other means of illustration, is well worth while. It is not a bad idea to start with a few playing cards. The 'object' of changes can be explained with three; the movement ' of the bells in changes can quite well be illustrated with the ace, two, three, four and five. The ace, as the treble, can indicate how the bells hunt up and down, and with careful manipulation the work of the other bells can be made plain.
It will give your beginner an interesting exercise to manipulate the cards accurately enough to produce rounds at the end of a given number of changes. Make it plain to him that two pairs of cards must be changed each time, and that each pair that is changed must be two adjoining cards. Start him first of all changing the two front and the two back pairs, alternately and let him see how the "bells" come round after ten changes.
Next show him that he can extend this ten to thirty, if after number one has appeared twice at the beginning of the line. he changes the front and the back pairs instead of the two front pairs. Don't forget to remind him he must do this immediately he starts, for number one has already been in the appropriate position.
An exercise like this on the table will go a long way towards showing the beginner what he has to do in the tower, and it is helpful if, when he can manipulate the cards successfully, he will copy down in a column on paper the rows as he produces them.
The manipulation of the cards will show him the 'movement' of the bells in changes, the record on paper will enable him to examine the detailed effect of that movement. A process that will give the beginner something that he can see and understand from the first will give him an interest in applying it in the belfry and enable him all the quicker to grasp what he is required to do when he is at the rope end.

EXETER CATHEDRAL BELLS

Golden Jubilee of Restoration and Re-dedication

REPRESENTATIVE and goodly number attended the special evensong at Exeter Cathedral on June 14th in connection with the golden jubilee of the restoration and re-dedication of the Cathedral bells. Among the robed clergy was the Bishop of Crediton. vice-president of the Devon Guild, who read the lesson.
The Dean (the Very Rev. A. R. Wallace) in an excellent address based on Psalm 29, ' $O$, worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness. said: "When we have a church, we like to beautify it to the glory of God by having the best masons. artists, etc.. and when we have the building ready. we have to summon the people to come, and so we have hells and ringers. It is possible to imagine other ways of announcing that the services are about to begin. We might have someone to fire a cannon at the west end five minutes before the service. We might have a man with a megaphone as they do at country fairs. We might have a siren which would sound far and wide. But there is, we all think, something so beautifully appropriate in the sound of our church bells ringing out over the city roofs and over the hills and dales of the countryside sounding to the faithful the summons to come and do their duty of worship.
'During the year we celebrate various festivals and to-day it is ringing and the 50th anniversary of the beautiful bells of this, our mother church, and so the church calendar goes round marking the seasons and collecting the contributions to the great work and worship in fellowship and co-operation, and that is why to-day. on behalf of the Chapter and the whole Cathedral stall, I offer you ringers a very warm welcome to this, our mother church. We thank you for your services and remind you that there are two amounts of contributions you can make.

FELLOW CHRISTIANS

- One is purely a business. a cash transaction for services rendered, and the other is in addition. on a Christian basis, to come to summon the congregation on this and other high occasions and festivals, as fellow Christians. not forgetting. I hope, as ringers are apt to forget that they are fellow Christians first and ringers second. Some fail to respond to the summons of worshio which they themselves send out from their church belfries. and are depriving their fellow members of the church of something which is of very great value. The clergy and congregation downstairs in the church are poorer for their absence and it is not only we the clergy, who rejoice when they come down from the belfry to join us, but there is. we may be sure. gladness in the heart of God.'
At the tea and meeting following the service the hon. secretary introducad the main object for the gathering-the golden iubilee of the restoration of the bells, which are the pride and joy of the Diocese, and the whole ringing fraternity, and of which the late Rev. H. T. Ellacombe said were 'unsurpassed in the kingdom for weight of metal and sweetness of tone.' The former honour has now eluded us but we feel sure that the nohle bells of Exeter are second to none for their sweetness and mellowness.

THE GREATEST FEAT

Mr. Oldham. of Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. thanked the meeting for the kind invitation to say a few words. He spoke of the bellhanging feat accomplished in those days. 50 years ago, and suggested it certainly surpassed anvthing that was being done to-day
To have spanned 32 feet of tower space with the nine steel girders which supported the cage was a masteroiece in itself. It is the frame that makes the bells go well. and with all modesty we claim that this was the greatest feat of all in hanging the bells of Exeter Cathedral.
It is common knowledge that the tenor, Grandison, is $72 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt-the old bell was 62 cwt. Mr. J. W. Taylor came to inspect the bells in 1885 but it was not until 1902 that the work was completed. On the old ring it took 16 men to ring a course of Caters and they were much distressed even after this short touch. After restoration the great William Pye rang Grandison for four hours singlehanded. Such was the perfection in bellhanging.

SUCCESSFUL PRESS APPEALS

Mr. A. W. Searle, the last surviving member of the bells restoration committee and G.O.M. of the Devon Guild-self-styled 'ripe old octogenarian '-gave some reminiscences of those days of 1902 and after. Mr. Searle said: - At the time I was a journalist and my editor spoke to me about the commencement of a subscribers' list, and with the support of the Press the appeal was soon successful.
'It was also through the support of the Press that the bells were augmented to twelve in 1923. I personally appealed, on behalf of the Church of England, in the light of Buckfast Abbey having twelve and the Cathedral only ten bells. It was not long before a citizen, Mr. A. C. Thomas. of Exeter, gave the trebles as a personal thankoffering.' Mr. Searle also referred to the first peal on the bells and later the peal of Grandsire Cinques by resident members of the Guild. Until this year (1952) Mr. Searle was the only man who conducted a peal of Triples on the bells; anyway the only peal ever by Exeter men!

Mr. C. G. Glass, a former Ringing Master of the Cathedral band, spoke a few words and recalled the late Mr. J. W. Taylor's comments on the 11 th (Stafford) when it was suggested to him that this was the finest bell in the country - 'Maybe the finest old bell.'

Apologies for absence were received from the president of the Devon Guild. Preb. E. V. Cox. and from Mr. William Shepherd, a native of Exeter, who was president at the dedication service in 1902.

The Cathedral bells were kept going with some very good ringing until 8 p.m. During this period a grand touch of Caters was brought round by some members of the Society of Roving Ringers and 'under 30's.' Permission was also taken advantage of at Heavitree and St. David's. Exeter.
All concerned were more than pleased with the arrangements and all contributed to what was indeed a truly memorable day. F. W.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

Jubilee Meeting To Be Held At Wrexham

The 49 th annual general meeting of the North Wales Association was held at St. David's, Bangor, on June 8th. Towers represented were Portmadoc. Llandudno, Rhyl, Buckley, Wrexham and Gresford, and members were welcomed by the president (the Rev. E G. Wright). who is also the Vicar of St David's. After an hour's ringing on this fine ring of eight, a short service was held and conducted by the Vicar who said it was very appropriate for the meeting to be in Bangor at the same time as celebrations were being held to commemorate the 1,400 th anniversary of the founding by St. Deiniol of the first church in the diocese.
After an excellent tea provided by the local ladies, who were thanked by Mr. G. H. Randles, the business meeting was held, at which the president took the chair. supported by the secretary and treasurer (Mr. W. Cathrall).
The statement of accounts, which was adopted. showed a balance of $£ 184 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$., an increase of $£ 3$ over last year

In the election of officers Mr. L. S. Griffiths was elected instructor for the Bangor and Rhyl districts. with Mr. John Roberts (Llandudno) and Miss Wallace (Rhyl) as secretaries.

It was decided to hold the next half-yearly meeting at Bodelwyddan on September 6th and Wrexham was chosen for the annual meeting next year, on which day the Association will also celebrate its Jubilee. In place of the quarterly meetings, which were cartcelled owing to the long distance members would have to travel to attend, it was thought that district meetings would suffice.
A committee was elected to make the necessary arrangements for the Jubilee celebrations comprising:-Messrs. D. Millward, A. Lea. F. R. Evans, G. H. Randles, Miss N. Bibby and the secretary
Mr. A. J. Hughes, of Bangor, tendered his resignation, owing to ill health as the Central Council representative and district instructor. This was accepted with very much regret, and the secretary was requested to send him their best wishes for a speedy return to better health. Mr. W. Cathrall was elected to attend as representative the next Central Council meeting.
New members elected were Miss G. Davies (Llandudno). Miss D. Window and Messrs. G. Davies, D. Window and M. Chadwick (Bangor).
The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the chairman. proposed by Mr. D. Millward and seconded bv Mr. F. R. Evans, to which the chairman suitably responded.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT BRIDLINGTON

The annual meeting of the Eastern District was held at Bridlington on June 7th at the special invitation of the Rector (Canon Lamb) to celebrate the golden jubilee of the dedication of the fine ring of eight bells (tenor $26 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt.) which took place on June 7th. 1902.
A special service was conducted by the Rector, assisted by the Rev. G. Steer, Vicar of Hutton Cranswick, a good friend of the ringers. A large congregation of parishioners and ringers was present. the address being given by the Archdeacon of Leeds, the Venerable C.C. Ellison. M.A.. president of the Yorkshire Association. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells during the service by L. Rodmell 1-2, P. Speck 3-4, H. S. Morley 5-6. H. Walker 7-8.

Tea was served in Priory Institute, after which the Rector gave an interesting account of the history of Bridlington Priory Church and the bells. and welcomed the Archdeacon and the ringers to Bridlington

The Archdeacon, in reply, thanked the Rector for his remarks and for his kindly inviting the Association and himself to Bridlington to celebrate the occasion of the golden jubilee of the bells.
The business meeting was presided over by Mr. A. E. Sellers, and Miss Susan Harrop Hutton Cranswick was elected a member.
Mr. S. Steel. Ringing Master, and Messrs. A. B. Cook, R. B. Smith and J. J. Taylor. committee, were re-elected for a further period of three years. Howden was selected as the next place of meeting with Patrington as an alternative.

The usual votes of thanks were passed with acclamation, and Mr. Parker, of Bridlington. in reply, gave all present a very hearty welcome and expressed the hope that they would come again soon.

Over 60 ringers and friends were present. representing 18 towers.
The bells were kept ringing till nine o'clock, everyone having a most enjoyable time on a lovely day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE FIRST PEAL OF STEDMAN

Dear Sir,-In his history of 'Stedman,' Jasper Snowdon said, that 'the earliest known peal of Stedman, was that composed by Thomas Edwards in 1792 and rung by the College Youths in 1803 at St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington.

Trollope, with more enthusiasm, in the more recent edition refers to this as 'the first peal composed which we know to be true.! This enthusiasm is, however, completely misplaced as the peal on even a cursory examination is seen to be riddled with falseness and must now have its distinction altered to 'the peal whose falseness remained undetected for the longest-time.' -Yours sincerely,

Waltham Abbey, Essex.

RINGING AT BECKENHAM

Dear Sir,-As late towerkeeper and secretary of the band at this tower, I feel that some explanation of my recent withdrawal from the tower is necessary to the many friends who have visited Beckenham.

Some monthts ago the Rector took exception to visitors who came along on Thursday for practice but could not attend the Sunday service ringing, the latter difficulty being caused by indifferent attendance by the local ringers and consequently only chiming was possible. Despite my overtures to get the position cleared up, the Rector maintained his attitude and I therefore considered it desirable to sever my service for the church after 27 years,
I am, therefore, surprised to see the announcement that visitors are now welcome. It is also a matter of interest that the new towerkeeper or leader, although previously a member of the band, found it necessary to withdraw from the band on his removal to Forest Hill.

The world is full of surprises, even for an Association officer.-Yours truly,
W. J. RAWLINGS.

MR. W. KEEBLE'S PEAL BOOK
Dear Sir,-Regarding Mr. A. H. Pulling's letter in 'The Ringing World ' of June 13 th. Mr. Keeble's peal book was handed to the Socicty of Royal Cumberland Youths by Mr. W. H. Fussell at a meeting at Shoreditch in May, 1944. At the time Mr. Pulling expressed regret that the peal book did not include Mr. Keeble's compositions. Yours sincerely.

ARTIFICIAL MUSIC-MAKERS

Dear Sir-Last Sunday I visited one of Devon's notable towers, whose lovely bells will shortly be competing with two artificial musicmakers for the ears of the townspeople. At the morning service the Archbishop's Pastoral Letter was read, dealing with the need for a higher entry into the Ministry.

Some clergy seem ready enough, though one appreciates their difficulties, to replace absent ringers by a machine. I hope ringers. in turn, will never suggest that in the church below, where there is also a certain amount of repetition, records could also do duty for the missing parson.

If the acceptance of sham were thus logically extended we might find ourselves trying to deceive the Almighty Himself with records made in King's College Chapel and played twice a Sunday in England's every empty Bristol.

THINGS THAT MATTER

Sir,-What a contrast between the splendid leading article by the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow and the report of the proceedings of the Central Council meeting's debate on Method Extension in a recent 'Ringing World.' In the entire report on pages 393 and 394 there is not one single mention of Sunday service ringing.

What does it matter which methods are rung or what their titles are so long as striking as near perfect as possible is obtained when church bells are rung for services? Who can deny that Plain Bob or a good 'rise.' wellstruck call changes followed by a good "fall" in peal, are more pleasant sounds to the man-in-the-street than a conglomeration of sound produced by a supposed extension of some complicated method.

It would be difficult to a non-ringer chancing to read the Council report to see how method extension affects the ringing of bells which the average citizen loves to hear.

The meeting of the Council could much more profitably be spent in discussing at greater length means of obtaining and retaining redruits, publicity, ringers' , relations with the clergy, means of safeguarding the future of the 'Ringing World,' to mention only a few subjects, instead of the few individuals bickering about a matter which concerns but a few of the great fraternity of Church bellringers.Yours faithfully, ARTHUR HIBBERT.

TO JACK WORRALL

Dear Sir.-The handbell peal on Sunday, June 15th, by members of the St. Ambrose Guild. Bristol, was rung as a farewell to one of the Guild's honorary members in the person of Jack Worrall, who is leaving Bristol after completing his studies at Bristol University

The handbell team will miss both the genial company and the expert help which Jack has been pleased to extend to them, enabling two peals of Royal to be scored.

ABC OF CONDUCTING

Dear Sir.-In the literature of ringing there seems to be lacking a thesis on the art of conducting and composition that the would-be conductor can understand. There is "Ropesight,' of course, which gives easily assimilable information up to Plain Bob Major, and at the other end of the scale there is "Variation and Transposition, which contains, I feel sure, a great deal of sound logic, but which is considerably above my head and, I venture to say, above the heads of the vast majority of Sunday service conductors.

I suggest that perhaps one of the hierarchy, whose names are familiar to all readers of your peal columns, might be invited to contribute a series of articles either in your columns or for publication by the Central Council, setting forth the ABC of conducting, composition and proof in such a manner as to be intelligible to the rank and file.-Yours faithfully.

CRANBORNE PEAL

Dear Sir,-I cannot let the Rev. W. F. Bond's letter go unchallenged. It is a distortion of the fact to appease a few local ringers, and there is no question of piracy, as he claims. He said nothing about finishing at 4 p.m., otherwise we should not have started as we could not ring a quarter peal in the time. Not one of our party knew a single ringer at Cranborne and did not even know if they had a local band and nobody told the Vicar that they had seen the captain who gave permission which he accuses us of.

We were met at the church by a ringer with the keys of the tower, and after the children's service was over, we all had a chat with the Vicar about the peal attempt and he raised no objection whatever; in fact he was rather pleased.

The local ringer then took us to the tower and said as we were ringing for at least three hours and would not finish much before evensong, the local team would not bother to turn up.

We rang a good peal and finished at 6.25 p.m. and were met outside by a hostile party of ringers.

I apologised for any inconvenience we may have caused but they said they did not mind the peal being rung if they had known beforehand, but objected to it being arranged over their heads, and the Vicar is entirely to blame for this, not us.

There are two sides to everything and Mr. West would do much better if he listened to both versions before jumping to conclusions. He could have contacted one of our party before it came up at the Bridport meeting and heard their version.

WINCHESTER GUILD MOTION

Dcar Sir,-We are once again witnessing one of those unfortunate happenings that set the Exercise back in its relations with Church and Man. For many years there has existed a little discord in the area of this Guild and the Salisbury Guild on the Hants-Dorset borders. Strenuous efforts by Messrs. Davis, Mitchell and Pullinger of this Guild patched things up a few years ago by effecting an alteration to this Guild's rules and harmony had been reached; now the fat is in the fire again in the same area.

I am suggesting to the conductor of this peal that he publishes it as a non-Association peal and not for the Winchester Guild as I for one (and I am not the only one) do not wish the Guild to be credited with it, in fact if it is. I shall, at the next Executive Committee meeting. put forward a resolution deprecating such action. I don't think we can refuse to take it as a Winchester Guild peal, but it carries too much with it to make it a desirable credit.-Yours faithfully,

> JOHN A. HILL,
> Hon. Sec. Andover District, winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

COMMON COURTESY DEMANDS A LETTER

Dear Sir.-Recent correspondence regarding the peal at Cranborne and the peal at Hawkley this week make very sorry reading and one is inevitably led to conclude that the general decline in good manners among the rising generation has reached the belfry.
Surely, when asking permission to ring, whether it be for a peal or short touches, common courtesy demands a letter (and in these days of dear postage, a stamped envelope for a reply) not simply a ring on the telephone.Yours,
E. BARNETT.

OUTINGS IN BRIEF

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S, WILMSLOW
The outing of St. Bartholomew's, Wilmslow, Cheshire, on May 31st, was into 'them thar ills, or, in other words, glorious Derbyshire.
Bakewell was reached shortly before 10 o'clock and an hour's ringing enjoyed to the full on this magnificent eight. Then on to Edensor, in Chatsworth Park, where the merry six were soon in use, the non-ringers being 'conducted' by the Vicar (round the church, of course) to see the fine works in Derbyshire marble which evidenced the interior.
After a very welcome lunch at Matlock, the octave in the loftily situated Church of St. Giles was visited and ringing enjoyed throughout the afternoon. The route taken was via Gellia, with its exceptionally beautiful scenery, to the final tower, Youlgreave. Before ringing, justice was done to an excellent salad tea, in which the tourists were joined by the branch chairman, who had made the journey independently by car. With reluctance the party bade farewell to a very pleasant district.
During a halt at Buxton, thanks were expressed to the 'shepherd' of the party, who in turn would like to thank all who helped, especially the district secretary of the Derbyshire Association.

BARROW-UPON-SOAR, LEICS

On June 7th the ringers of Holy Trinity Church held their first annual outing, when about 30 ringers and friends travelled by coach to North Wales. The first 'ringing stop, was made at Shrewsbury, where rounds were soon rung on the twelve bells of St. Chad's. Various methods were then attempted on eight and ten bells. The next stop was Llangollen, where the visitors toured the town before raising and ringing the recently rehung eight of St. Collen's Church.
Methods rung during the day were Bob Royal and Major, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Little Bob and and Oxford Treb
On the long homeward journey handbells were rung in between items by 'the back-seat choir.'

HUNTS DISTRICT

A delightful day was spent in West Suffolk by members of the Hunts District on June 14th.
Ringing took place during the morning at Cavendish and Sudbury All Saints', followed by lunch at the Four Swans Hotel, Sudbury.
Everyone looked forward to the next tower, Lavenham, and the beautiful ring here and the majesty of the church left a deep impression on the party. Monks Eleigh, Stowmarket and the Norman tower at Bury St. Edmunds completed the ringing programme. Home was reached shortly after 10 p.m.

CIRENCESTER

On Whit Monday, Cirencester ringers with their wives and ringing friends had their annual outing by motor-coach to Swanage. Ringing took place at Melksham and Wincanton on the way down-two good rings of eight. On reaching Swanage the party split up to enjoy themselves in various ways. Tea was had at 5 o'clock and afterwards ringing took place on the fine ring at the Parish Church. Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob were rung during the day, not forgetting rounds for the learners.
Best thanks are due to Messrs. W. C. West, J. H. Chilcott, A. J. Clarke and J. T. Dyke for the arrangements they made, which enabled us to have a very enjoyable day. F. J. L.

CHEWTON MENDIP, SOMERSET

Chewton Mendip ringers and friends had their annual outing on May 24th. Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung at Salisbury, Southampton, Andover and Devizes. A stop was made at Winchester to inspect the beautiful Cathedral. The homeward journey was much enjoyed coming over Salisbury Plain. H. B.

PRESTON, SUFFOLK

Preston St. Mary's ringers with their wives and friends had their annual outing on June 14th. Touring Norfolk, the following towers were visited: Attleborough, Hethersett, St. George's, Norwich, Winterton and Somerleyton. The methods rung were Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedmar, Kent, Oxford, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Bourne. At Norwich the party were met by the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, who joined them at lunch. Tea was partaken of at Winterton, where the party were welcomed by the jovial, Vicar of that place, who escorted some of the youngsters (and elders) to the tower summit to enjoy the very pretty surroundings.
The ringers wish to express their thanks to the incumbents for use of the bells, also the kind friends who met them.

FARNHAM, SURREY

A programme embracing ringing in eleven towers was planned by the ringers of St . Andrew's Church, Farnham, for their outing on June 14th. There was, however, one disappointment, West Wycombe, where a locked church greeted the visitors, although prior permission had been obtained for the ringing.
The first tower was Slough, where some of the ringers had their first experience of ten bells. Other towers visited were Farnham Royal, Beaconsfield, High Wycombe (with a welcome from Mr. Fred Hayes), Lane End, Watlington, Nettlebed, Henley-on-Thames, Shiplake and St. Mary's, Reading (where the best ringing of the day was heard). Finally refreshments were taken at Eversley, and Farnham was reached at 9.40 p.m.

STONY STRATFORD

Stony Stratford ringers, joined by friends from Newport Pagneli and Cosgrove, had a very enjoyable outing to Lincolnshire on June 146.

An hour was spent on the musical eight at Edenham, where the party was met by Mr. Arthur Holmes. Lunch at Lincoln had been arranged by Mr. J. A. Freeman, who met the visitors on arrival, and then came the great privilege of ringing on the Cathedral bells.

After tea at Grantham, where a welcome was extended by Mr. S. Proctor, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung on the grand bells at the Parish Church. The party was accompanied by the Rev. C. L. G. Hutchings, Vicar of St. Giles', Stony Stratford, who was formerly a curate at Grantham.

THE PROFESSOR'S STORY

Of Rain, Youth Hostels and Elusive Stedman
Over Whitsun, for the third year running, a small party of ringers from Sussex spent a week-end youth hostelling and ringing in Surrey. There were ten of us representing Chichester, Cowfold, Buxted, Twineham, Aldrington and S.S. Cos. and Dam., Keymer!

On the Saturday morning we all met at Warnham, our first tower. The next stop was. at Capel, where we enjoyed ringing the light ring of six. Here we encountered the first of many heavy showers when, on leaving the church, we got soaked in riding a few hundred yards down the road for dinner. The next tower was Ockley, where the six bells have a tenor of 15 cwt .
We arrived at Ewhurst in drizzling rain and had a picnic tea before ringing at the church. We stayed at the local youth hostel for the evening and considerable interest was shown in our attempts at handbell ringing-which, incidentally, were carried round during the weekend wrapped in pyjamas and suchlike! Two people were duly instructed in the principles of change ringing. These two also came into the tower the following morning and chose to go and watch the bells ringing, just as we were ringing down! Everyone enjoyed his stay at the hostel except perhaps the two who had to clean out the chicken run in the morning!
We joined the local band at Cranleigh in ringing for morning service on Whit Sunday and we thank them for their tolerance. In the afternoon we snatched two towers that were not on the list, and they certainly would have been missed! These were Bramley and Wonersh. We have our suspicions that someone on the way to Bramley mistook the cemetery for the church-we disown them! For evening service we rang at Albury. The evening was spent at Tillingbourne Youth Hostel, but the less said about that the better.
We were all up early in the morning-we had to be to stand any chance of getting a wash (oh yes, we were a very hygienic lot)-and left, after breakfast, for Dorking. After half an hour of ringing we left for Betchworth to sample the ring of eight there. In the afternoon we visited Leigh (where a touch of 20 changes was quite enough), Newdigate and Charlwood. After tea came our last tower-Rusper.

A vague system of electing Ringing Masters (and Mistresses) was employed for the first time this year, and that, together with attempts for Stedman Triples, was not particularly successful. At Dorking the Ringing Master called for Stedman, and about half-way through his rope slipped the wheel and that course was finished. At another tower there was a further mix-up and all the bells stood except one-the conductor found herself trying to ring Stedman with herself! Another of our Ringing Masters found that his attempt to get Stedman was to be thwarted. He shouted, 'Hang on for Stedman," and the local ringer who had met us said,' 'Yes, al! right, thank you very much, I don't mind ringing a bit of Grandsire with you '!
Our thanks for the success of the tour are due to the incumbents of the towers visited and to the ringers who came and met us; lastly, but by no means least, to Miss Durrant (I call her by that name because I will not be able to do so for much longer), who arranged everything.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Festival

MEMBERS of the St. David's Guild held their seventh annual festival at St . David's Cathedral on June 14th. The bells were available at 2
St. David's (the Very Rev. C. Witton Davies) was there to greet the ringers as they arrived, and being a campanologist himself, assisted in raising the bells in peal ready for ringing. Although the Cathedral is situated in the most westerly point of the Diocese, members from all over the Diocese gradually congregated together at the bell tower, and there were 70 present.
The Archdeacon of St. David's (the Ven. C. Gwynne Lewis) also visited the bell tower and his presence was greatly appreciated by all members.

The service was held in the choir stalls of the Cathedral. at which the Dean officiated, assisted by the Archdeacon of Carmarthen (the Ven. J. R. Pugh) and by the Archdeacon of St. David's. Minor Canon V. Jones was the organist.
Members were afterwards entertained to a very nice tea which was very welcome after the long journeys undertaken by some of them, and which was given free of charge by the bellringers of St. David's Cathedral.

Before the business meeting started the secretary. Mr. C. H. Hawkins, extended a very hearty welcome to all the members, and the customary touch on the handbells which opens the proceedings was rung by Mr. A. Hoare, Mr. E. Morris, Mr. D. Brian Price and Mr. R. Scudamore.
The Dean presided and apologised for the absence of the president, the Lord Bishop of St. David's, who was attending the 14 th centenary celebrations at Bangor.
In a hearty welcome to the members the Dean expressed the wish that the time would not be far distant when the Guild would come to St. David's again. The secretary then read the minutes of the last annual mecting, which were adopted as a true and correct record. and the treasurer, Mr. E. P. Sage, of Burry Port, gave a very satisfactory statement of accounts for the year ending 1951. Mr. A. Hoare, of Swansea. who represented the Guild at the Central Council meeting at Lincoln, gave a very satisfactory report of the meeting.
The secretary in his report stated that the membership was 126 compared with 116 for 1950, but some of the members had not paid their subscriptions for 1951. The financial side of the Guild was good and they were paying their way and the Bell Restoration Fund was accumulating.
There were one neal of Bob Minor, one peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, two peals of Grandsire Doubles and four quarter peals, and one handbell peal of Bob Minor. rung at Lampeter College.
Appealing for hetter attendance at quarterly and monthly meetings, Mr. Hawkins said: "I realise that our churches that contair bells are very scattered in the Diocese and that travelling to these places incurs a lot of expense, but when we think of the expenses paid for other pleasures of life to-day, I think we ought to do a little more for our churches by keeping the bells ringing and for the furtherance of change-ringing by attending our quarterly and monthly meetings to practise the art. I believe that much more can be done by the cantains of various towers if they would only take bellringing more seriously. I should like to see the ringers of Tenby. St David's. Pembroke and Haverfordwest getting together at various dates to practise the art so that we might have a better standard of riging in the Diocese.?

The election of officers for the next 12 months was as follows:-Ringing Master. Mr Harry Jenkins (Tenby); secretary, Mr. C. H.

Hawkins (Llanelly); treasurer, Mr. E. Sage (Burry Port); Ringing Master, Mr. R. Scudamore (Llandilo); auditor, Mr. B. Rees (Burry Port).

The place of competition for 1953 is at Llandovery and a collection for the Bell $\mathrm{Re}-$ storation Fund realised the sum of $£ 112 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d . The secretary then stated that his Vicar (Canon Dr. Isiwyn Davies) had invited the Guild to hold its next annual festival in 1953 at Llanelly. He felt that they should share the burden with Carmarthen and it was unanimously agreed that the Festival for 1953 be held at Llanelly.

A very pleasing feature of the meeting was to see some of the members wearing blazers with their badge attached, the secretary stating that he hoped every member would be able to have one and that they would be worn at all the meetings.

Before closing the meeting the secretary extended a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean for having the Guild at St. David's, for officiating at the service and presiding at the meeting. The -secretary also thanked the ringers of St. David's for providing such a nice tea, Minor Canon V. Jones for playing the organ, and the ladies who waited at the tea.
The Dean responded to the vote of thanks and closed the meeting with a prayer. The ringers then returned to the bell tower to finish off a very successful meeting.

LELANT, CORNWALL

The bells of Lelant Parish Church, Cornwall, among the sand dunes of the Hayle Estuary, rang out again on May 31st, after they had been re-dedicated by the Bishop of Truro. They are a light ring of six bells cast by Taylor's in 1836. The same firm has now recast the treble and the fourth bell and has rehung all the bells with new fittings at a cost of E610, this amount having been met by public subscription during the past two years.
The large congregation at the dedication service included the Mayor and Mayoress of St. Ives, accompanied by the Town Clerk, the Mayor and Mayoress of Penzance and Mrs. Greville Howard, wife of the M.P. for the division.

The service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. T. Davies-Freme, included prayers, psalms and hymns stirringly appropriate to the occasion, and the augmented junior choir sang the carol 'Ding-dong. Merrily on High.'
The lesson was read by the Rural Dean (Canon C. H. J. Buckley) and a number of other robed clergy from West Cornwall took part in the service
After the Bishop had dedicated the bells, a selected band of ringers from the Mid-Cornwall Branch, the Truro Branch and the Penzance Branch rang rounds for a few moments.

Immediately after the service the bells were made available to visiting ringers, and those who took advantage of this opportunity came from Kenwyn, Camborne, Ludgvan, Penzance, Gulval, Sennen, Paul St. Mawgan, Madron, St. Gluvias, Redruth, Stithians and Mabe.

THURNBY, LEICS

On June 16th a new treble bell was dedicated at St. Luke's Parish Church, Thurnby, by the Provost of Leicester Cathedral, the Very Rev. H. A. Jones, B.Sc. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. J. Cooper.
The bell is to commemorate the victory in the last war, and the eighth centenary of the church, in 1950. The work was carried out by Messrs. John Tavlor and Co. and is a perfect splice. The Loughborough Foundry was represented at the service by Mr. J. P. Fidler.

Thurnby has now a good-going ring of six with tenor of 124 cwt . Which will bear com-

Disappointment at Non-Acceptance of Newcastle For C.C. Meeting

In its programme for 1951-52 the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association had planned to hold its half-yearly meeting at Gateshead on June 14th, but this did not fit in with the local arrangements and the meeting was switched to Chester-le-Street at short notice. The attendance of some 37 members and visitors at tea was disappointing for a general meeting held in a central and readilyaccessible tower. Nevertheless, those present made good use of the bells and seemed to enjoy themselves.
A service was conducted by the senior curate (the Rev. N. W. A. Marley), in the absence of the Rector on holiday. A collection at this service raised 24s. for the War Memorial Fund. Tea was provided in the Church Institute and was followed by the business meeting.
Mr. W. N. Park presided in the absence of Canon Stephenson. He welcomed back Mr. G. A. Pickering after his long absence through illness but was sorry to have to report that Mr. J. T. Titt was in poor health. The secretary was asked to write to Mr . Titt expressing hopes for his speedy recovery. The usual votes of thanks were accorded for the use of the bells. the service, to the organist, and the ladies for providing the tea. Mr. Park said that the last of these had seemed to him a very important task and he felt that it should be undertaken by the member with the largest appetite. He had quickly compiled a short list and then after, much deliberation. Mr. E. N. Harrison, of Fenham, was finally chosen. In spite of his youth he seemed to "know the calling, and just lacked practice. This deficiency will no doubt be remedied at future District meetings !
The decision of the committee to proceed with the War Memorial on the lines of the modified design was explained. This new design was on view and an appeal was made to members to support the fund and raise the money necessary for completion of the scheme. The committee had also decided to modify the annual report for 1951-52 in order to reduce expenditure.

The secretary reported the discussion of the committee on the policy for the annual meeting. It was felt that an alternative to Durham City was required for the years when the annual meeting was not held in Newcastle and notice of motion would be submitted for the revision of Rule 10.

Mr. Park gave a report on the Central Council meeting at Lincoln. He had gone to Lincoln with full authority to repeat his invitation to the Central Council to visit Newcastle in 1953 and it was a great disappointment that this was heavily defeated on a vote in favour of Bournemouth. Mr. J. Anderson pointed out that it was 40 years since the Council had visited Newcastle and in Newcastle and its surroundings there were all the facilities that were required for such a meeting and plenty of excellent rings of bells. He hoped that the report of the meeting would emphasise the feeling of disappointment, and this was endorsed by the meeting.

The efforts of the ladies at the tea resulted in the handing over of 22 s . to the War Memorial Fund.

MR. JOHN MARSHALL
One of the best-known ringers in Scotland, Mr . John Marshall, a past Master of the Scottish Association, died suddenly on June 20th. He was a ringer at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, for over 40 years and was for some years conductor of the Cathedral band. Mr. Marshall always took a great interest in the ringing at St. Cuthbert's Parish Church and became conductor at that tower about two years ago. Between the wars business took him to England for lengthy periods and on these visits south of the border he made many friends and rang many peals.

MR. EDWIN CURRY

Mr. Edwin Curry, who died at Bayswater. Auckland, New Zealand, a month after passing his 100th birthday, was a Somerset man who went to New Zealand in 1880 as a soldier and was afterwards a farmer. A keen bellringer, he was one of the first team to ring the bells at St. Matthew's Church, Auckland.

WEOBLEY, HEREFORDSHIRE

An enjoyable tour of Gloucestershire was spent by Weobley, Herefordshire, ringers and their wives and friends on Whit Monday.

Whitminster, whose bells had not been rung for some time, was first visited, and although they were in need of repair, this did not mar some good ringing.
After lunch at Bristol, the Lord Mayor's Chapel was visited and here the best bells of the day were met. The congratulations of a Bristol ringer on the 'sink' was a feather in the cap of all concerned. Ringing followed at St. Werburgh's which has a perfect 'go.' On the homeward journey an hour was spent at Hardwicke, bells which every ringer longed for.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

Whitsun Tour, 1952

THE Society this year spent Whitsun in the Bedford area and visited many of the towers it had originally planned to ring at on the summer tour two years ago. The party stayed in Bedford, just south of the river, and transported itself between towers by means of one car, four motor cycles and five pedal cycles. In spite of this diversity of mechanical aid, a considerable degree of coherence was maintained. Most people arrived in time to ring at Elstow on Friday evening. This church is particularly famous because John Bunyan once rang there, though there is much else of interest about it. The bells are in a tower separate from the austerely dignified church whish is nearly all that is left of the former Benedictine Abbey. Everyone was in time to ring on the six bells at Wootton afterwards. All five towers on Saturday had eight bells. Newport Pagnell and Olney-where the church stands on the very banks of the Ouse and posseses a fine stone-pinnacled broach spirewere visited in the morning. After lunch at the Three Cranes, Turvey, the party rang at All Saints' Church, and then at Bromham. The evening was spent ringing at Kempston, and later in other pursuits on other premises further up the road.
On Sunday morning five brave people were up early to complete the band for a quarter peal at Kempston before the seven o'clock service. Later the party split for ringing at St. Peter's, Bedford, and Biddenham-most people managed to ring at both places. In the afternoon an enjoyable hour was spent on the very pleasant bells at Cardington. By then the weather had cleared and everyone repaired to the river. Evening service ringing was at St. Paul's, Bedford.
On Monday morning the party set off for Tempsford complete with all baggage. During the course of this journey one of the motorcycles lost its gear lever but the owner managed to ride in third for the rest of the day-a triumph of modern engineering. Tempsford was followed by Blunham, where the five bells fully compensated for any deficiency of physical exercise from which those with motor transport might have been suffering. At Northill, the Rector showed us some of the interesting features of the church, including the painted glass, formerly in the east window, which is probably the finest example of its sort extant. Thomas Tompion, the "father' of English clock-making, was born in this parish, and the museum over the porch of the church is well worth a visit. Ringing at Old Warden, where the church is filled with a collection of carving from various European countries, and at Southill, occupied the afternoon. An excellent tea at the White Horse, Southill, had a mellowing effect on everyone and this process was subsequently assisted still further by some good draught cider. After tea some of the cyclists set off for London by road leaving the motorised party and those who preferred to travel home by train to ring at Biggleswade.

Although the weather might have been warmer and drier, the rain was not continuous and no one got really wet apart from one intentional swimmer on Sunday afternoon. The Society thanks everyone whose co-operation made the tour so enjoyable, and especially Richard Stephens for his competent but unobtrusive organisation.

SURREY CHURCH'S ANNIVERSARY

The evening congregation of St. Mary's, Send, Surrey, enjoyed a real feast of ringing at the ringers' special service arranged for the fourth anniversary of the dedication of their bells on Sunday. June 22 nd.

A number of visiting ringers from the Guildford, Chertsey and Leatherhead districts of the Diocese rang for two hours before the service and for a short period after. During the service handbells were rung by the ringers of Holy Trinity Cathedral Church, Guildford, after ringing for evensong in their own church.
The Vicar (the Rev. C. E. Sylvester) thanked the ringers and spoke of the real Christian service bellringers were doing in proclaiming the Gospel, by sending out the invitation to 'Come and worship,' through the medium of the bells. The Vicar and Mrs. Sylvester afterwards entertained the company at the Vicarage, and prior to the service a number of ladies of the church provided tea and use of their cars.

These kindnesses were greatly appreciated and the event has certainly put greater enthusiasm into a struggling young band.

RAMBLINGS

PROBABLY the wisest thing the Central Council decided at Lincoln was to depart from the 11 o'clock starting of the annual meeting in favour of 10 a.m. The welter of technical discussion gave a wrong balance to the proceedings. There were a number of subjects which could with profit have been debated had time permitted and among them was the report on 'The Ringing World.' Living with 'The Ringing World' seven days a week an editor naturally likes to hear the viewpoint of the representatives.

Perhaps the most common observation he receives is, I should not have published this or that article or letter.' Some of our readers would like us to ignore anything that savours of a controversy or a criticism; others beseech us not to fill our pages with technical theories; another school of thought openly declares 'who wants to read about ringers' outings or peal tours?' One irate correspondent writes this week: 'It would be the best service you could render the ringing exercise to resign "The Ringing World " editorship altogether, and I am by no means the only person who thinks so, though many probably are too modest and lack the necessary courage to tell you it.' We have given the phraseology unabridged. It is obvious from these comments that an editor cannot please everybody. His function is week by week to make the best of the material at his disposal. If it so happens that his learned body of front page specialists let him down it is his duty to fill the gap. An editor is really happy when he has a quiverful of manuscripts, articles, reports, outings, tours, etc. Then a selective choice can be made with a little of something to please everybody.

We do not intend this editorial to be a grouse; there are things that come to our notice that give us pleasure. Writing of the arrival of visitors on their outing, one correspondent gives this happy picture. "They arrived within a minute of the time fixed. First up the belfry stairs (in full control of the tidal wave from two coaches) was Mr. ' X,' who shook hands as though he really meant it, and not absentmindedly as though entirely wrapped up in bells! When the belfry looked like bursting, the belfry prayer started things off, somehow completely on the right foot; hard to describe, but like a moment out of our service last year in ——cathedral (and not like a mere interruption of the real proceedings). Everything left in order before they went; and heaps of people have been asking since who was ringing, saying how nice it sounded-this is quite unheard of, as long as I can remember! (Something more than just good striking.) Anyway, they will be remembered for a long time as the perfect visitors.'

Purposely we have placed a cloak of anonymity over this delightful picture of a ringers' outing. The story is factual and the outing took place last month, although when it appears in "The Ringing World' it will be so shorn of humanities as not to be recognised. But some of our readers will be able to see through the picture, and if the cap fits well, wear it; you have something to be proud of.

Our next ramble is far distant New Zealand with a chatty letter from Mr. George H. Claydon, of Christchurch. In expressing his deep regret at the sad accident last year, he states that they had a simple safety catch on their bells. ' In Christchurch,' he writes, ' we always keep the bells up as the Cathedral is right in the square with hotels all round it, so ringing up and down is out of the question. These bells have been up for 70 years. The front six have never been touched and go quite well, but the four heavy bells were rehung in Hoffman bearings and they go really well. The catch is really an angle iron clip secured on the spoke of the tipping side of the wheel. This is hinged to the frame with a 3 in . butt hinge, turned up under clip to fix the bell and turned down on the frame for ringing. It is absolutely safe; one could break the rope before the bell came off. Mr. J. Baker, one of our members, thought of this. In New Zealand it is also useful when there is an earthquake shock, as some of the bells always used to come off.'
On the subject of bell mechanism Mr. E. C. Gobey informs us of an ingenious little contrivance at Ilkeston Parish Church for turning the clapper over when it has gone up on the wrong side. By pulling a wire in the ringing chamber a small chain attached to a gadget, normally at rest on the $H$ frame, travels along two guide wires and catches under the flight of the clapper, which can be easily pulled over. When the operation is completed the wire is allowed to run back clear of the bell on its own by having a weight at the other end. Perhaps when our finances permit we shall be able to publish a photograph of this simple and useful device.

II-THE IMPORTANCE OF BELL CONTROL

We hope the 'five-card trick' which we endeavoured to explain to beginners last week may have interested those who are just starting change ringing. It was designed to show how changes are formed and the 'movement' of the bells among each other-that is the varying positions they take in relation to each other in the succession of 'changes.'

To do this in the tower with real bells, the ringer has to learn to 'place' his bell in the required position, by pulling his rope at the exact moment which, allowing for the longer or shorter period of the revolution of the bell, according to its size, will result in its striking at the proper interval after the one immediately in front of it. The beginner, therefore, will realise that to pull just "somewhere after the other man is not sufficient, if there is to be good ringing -and good ringing by which we mean keeping time and rhythm, is the first essential.

The larger the bell, the longer it takes to revolve and consequently the longer it takes for the clapper to strike. If two bells of approximately the same size are pulled off together they will, assuming they are properly hung and in good order, strike simultancously. You can hear the effect of this if you will pull oft together the treble and second in your tower. Having done so-and set them again as quickly as possible, for the sake of the public, if nothing else-pull off the treble and tenor together. Unless the bells belong to a very small ring, you will find there is a very perceptible interval between the striking of the two bells.

In actual ringing this difference in the period of revolution must be allowed for and it is necessary to allow more space in striking over a big bell than over a little bell. Two things are essential to perfecting your striking. First you must have complete control over your bell, and secondly, you must "use your cars."

Ta begin with, you cannot control your bell unless you hold your rope properly and pull correctly. Keep your hands close together. whether at rope end or on the sally, and grasp both with all four fingers of both hands. Let your hands go well above your head eyery time, and don't snatch. A steady pull and a long one is the effective way of ringing a bell. Ring with your arms and not with your waist, and if you want a little extra weight occasionally, get it by bending the knees.

Before you begin change ringing, which, to be well struck, needs perfect bell control, get some practice with call changes so that you will learn how much "space to give each bell as you pull over it. Use your ears. Listen for the sound of your own bell among the rest. It may not be easy to pick it out at first, but if you will count the bells round as they strike. beginning when they are in "rounds,' you will soon know which is yours; then make sure that it is striking at the right interval-that is, with the same interval as between the other bells. Nothing is more irritating than to have the bells going round with a "jazz" effect; some 'close, others 'wide.

The only point at which there should be a break in the "periods" between the blows is at the "hand-stroke" lead. Then there should be the space of an extra bell between the last bell at backstroke and the first at the next handstroke. On six bells you should have twelve even blows, and then a one-bell interval. On eight there should be 16 even blows and a one-bell interval, and so on.

I do not recommend any beginner to attempt change ringing, much as he may be anxious to do so, until he has obtained complete mastery of his bell in rounds and call changes. It is useless to think he can concentrate on changes until he can, practically without conscious effort, "put ' his bell where he wants to without 'dropping' or 'over-pulling' it. Apart from creating bad ringing, the beginner who cannot "place, his bell where it ought to go has little chance of finding his way among the others in changes. Better take a little longer in mastering the fundamentals than pushing on eventually to become a "poor striker.' There is no greater compliment that can be paid to a ringer than to have it said of him that he is a "perfect striker.'

Do not be anxious, then. to run before you can walk. If you first learn to strike your bell properly that essential part of your ringing equipment is never likely to desert you, but you will find it difficult to become a good, ringer if you attempt change ringing before you can completely control your bell. Many bad ringers have been made in that way.

STEDMAN CATERS

Dear Sir,-It is usually considered that the extent of any one bell behind the ninth in the tittums is forty courses in Stedman Caters and it does not appear to have been noticed that this can be increased by seven sixes if the position is entered and left at suitable points. I enclose a peal of Caters to illustrate this point, and also a peal of Cinques to show that in this case the 'extent' can be increased by nine sixes; the illustrative peal in this case gives the extent of the out of course position only because of the limitation imposed by limiting the number to approximately 5,000 .

In both these peals the block used is not a round block and it is interesting to note that this allows the calling positions which must be employed to be reduced from four to three.Yours sincerely,

Waltham Abbey.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
This issue contains the second of a series of about 36 articles designed to help beginners and those who find difficulties in mastering elementary ringing and conducting. We ask conductors to bring this series to the notice of young members in the towers. New subscribers can be enrolled to-day. For subscription rates see above.

Congratulations to Mr . E. W. Beadsmore, the grand old man of the Midland Counties Guild, who recently celebrated his 79th birthday, upon ringing his first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Overseale without having previously rung a course in the method. Suffering from lumbago pains, he completed the band at the last moment and rang his bell extremely well throughout the peal. Thanks are extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Woodward for refreshments after the peal.

Until repairs are carried out there will be no ringing at Wivelsfield, Sussex.

Mr. Jack Phillips completed the circle of Southwark Cathedral with a peal on June 28th.
Mr. Joshua J. Partridge has called a peal from each bell at Bozeat, Northants.
St. Andrew's, Cobham, Surrey, has an honorary membership of ${ }^{\prime} 32$, thus eclipsing Christ Church, Wanstead's, record of 20.

Amid the heat on June 28th a peal was rung at Stockbury, Kent. The kind thought of Mrs. A. J. Dunk in entertaining the ringers to tea was much appreciated.
Two new Surprise peals are recorded this week - Buckingham Surprise Maximus by Leicester Cathedral band and Plymouth Surprise Major by the Middlesex County Association at Willesden.

At a recent practice in St. Crantock tower, Cornwall, the ringers consisted of the secretary, peal secretary and treasurer of the Truro Diocesan Guild, three churchwardens, the secretary of a parochial church council. a treasurer of a parochial church council, a sidesman, two choirmen, two organists, a vicar and one schoolboy. How many ringers were present? Answer, nine. The methods rung were Bob Minor, Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles, Plain Hunting, Rounds, Rising and Falling.

GOSSIP
Mrs. G. W. Fletcher was re-elected president and Miss D. Colgate hon. secretary at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields last Saturday. The next annual meeting will be at Whitby, Yorks, on the first Saturday in July. The meeting was well attended.
The ringer of the 5 th in the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Bispham on June 21st and published in your edition of July 4th was R. F. Eccles and not R. F. Eales as published.

In connection with the joint meeting of the London and Middlesex County Associations tomorrow (Saturday), the bells of St. Mary's, Twickenham, will also be available. For nonringers there is the church fete at Isleworth Vicarage.

The many ringing friends of Mr. Trevor Newbury, a popular member of the Cheltenham, Glos., Parish Church band, will be very pleased to learn that he has almost fully recovered from his recent operation for appendicitis and quite expects to be able to resume his ringing activities at an early date.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Harry Brooks (69), of 211 , Worton Road, Isleworth, on June 24 th. He had recently fractured his leg during a fall when attempting to board a trolley-bus. He made good progress and death was sudden and unexpected. We hope to publish a memoir in our next issue.

The thirteenth peal has been rung on the post-war bells at Carbis Bay. The Vicar, who has rung in twelve, has circled the tower, and it is the first time this has been done in Cornwall. Mrs. Roberts has rung in all the peals, but has to ring the third and tenor. The seventh only remains for Mr. Geoffrey Taysom. It looks as if 'circling' may become fashionable at this tower.

REDEDICATION OF HALIFAX BELLS

An Asset to Yorkshire

THE recast ring of 13 bells at Halifax Parish Church were re-dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Roger P. Wilson. D.D., Lord Bishop of Wakefield, on June 28th, the contract including entirely new fittings and framework. The service was conducted by the Rev. Eric Treacy, M.B.E., R.D., Vicar and Archdeacon of Halifax, the lessons being read by the Rev. C. Tremayne. Mr. Shackicton Pollard, Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O., was at the organ.

The procession of choir and clergy entered the church by the south door to the singing of the hymn 'Praise my soul the King of Heaven.'
The Vicar, from the chancel step, then called upon the congregation to offer in concert praise and thanksgiving and to thank God for the ready response of the citizens of the town whose gifts had made possible the recasting and rehanging of the bells, and who have given of their substance that this ancient church might be strengthened for the years to come.

Considerable repairs have been carried out on the fabric of church and tower and this dedication rounds off work amounting to $£ 8,000$ or $£ 9,000$ in the last four years.
The simple and impressive service proceeded. the anthem being an arrangement by Purcell of 'Rejoice in the Lord.' the glorious organ introduction to which contained an impression of an octave in 'rounds.'

To the singing of the hymn 'When morning gilds the skies. the second verse of which is particularly apt among the hills and dells of Halifax district, the choir, clergy and Bishop moved to the tower. There, in front of the west door, the Bishop re-dedicated the bells and struck the flat sixth nine times, once for each century of the 900 years which have recorded the offering of Christian worship in this ancient church.

The procession then returned to the chancel to the music of rounds rung by the ringers of Leeds Parish Church, captained by Mr. R. H Dove. As soon as choir and clergy were back in their stalls the rounds ceased-a bit of beautiful timing.

GOD IN THE MIDST OF INDUSTRY

In his sermon the Lord Bishop said at the outset how appropriate it was that the bells themselves should ring out the 'amen' to the dedication. He asked the congregation to pause to think of what had gone into the building of the ancient churches. Each church told the history of the town or village in which it was situated in addition to recording the progress of architecture. It linked the present with the past
Halifax Parish Church was somewhat of a surprise in the middle of a modern town. It was something of God in the midst of all the wealth and industry. How well, went on the Bishop, did this Parish Church set forth the glory of God in this place. Its presence would now also be made known by the sound of the bells which had proclaimed to the people all great occasions. national and local, in addition to the week by week call to prayer. Long may they ring for that purpose, concluded the Bishop. The service concluded with the singing of the hymn 'Ye watchers and ye holy ones ' and the congregation left the church to the accompaniment of Grandsire Cinques.
The bellfounders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, were represented at the service by Mr. Michael Howard. who, with Mrs. Howard, walked in procession with choir and clergy. Mr. P. A. Cannon also attended
The assembly in the belfry after the service numbered 40 and a course of Cambridge Royal by Messrs. J. Worth, E. Jenkins, L. W. G. Morris and other members of the famous Cheshire band. This was followed by a long touch of Stedman Caters and then the back eight were lowered in peal.

The unanimous opinion is that the bells are not only an asset to Halifax, but indeed, to the whole of Yorkshire. The writer's opinion of them can be expressed in one word- beautiful.

THE INSCRIPTIONS

The following wording appears on each of the bells:-Recast 1951 by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. Eric Treacy, M.B.E., Vicar and Archdeacon of Halifax, A. E. Gladhill, vicar's warden, C. H. Thomas, people's warden. Also the reproductions of the original individual inscriptions as below:-

PRESERVATION OF OLD BELLS

Central Council for the Care of Churches' Guidance
We are asked by the Central Council for the Care of Churches to bring to the notice of our readers the following resolutions of the committee of that body dealing with the preservation of old bells. The matter has recently been brought to a head by the melting down of the bells of Boughton Aluph, Kent.
The resolutions are appended:-
(1). Bells earlier than 1600 should not be recast but preserved in the church, and no bells older than 1750 should be recast unless cracked. If bells of 1750 and onwards are permitted to be recast, the old inscription should be reproduced in facsimile on the new bell, with the date of recasting added.
(2). When estimating for major work on bells, the firms tendering should give the date and founder of each bell in the ring, and any points of special interest, including inscriptions, and the approximate age of the frame.
(3). No bells should be rehung, or frame altered, in ancient towers, save under an architect skilled in handling such buildings.
(4). The Council adheres to the advice they have already given on many occasions in former reports, especially as regards the retention of canons.

MR. JOSIAH MORRIS IS 85

To mark the 85th birthday of the Leicester veteran, Mr. Josiah Morris, a handbell peal was arranged and rung (see peal columns) in which he rang the tenor perfectly. A peal was also attempted at Seaton. Devon, composed by Ernest and conducted by George Stedman. his two sons, but unfortunately this was lost through a change course. Time not allowing another attempt, a quarter peal $(1,280)$ Double Norwich was rung by: J. L. S. Glanville 1, B Pidgeon 2, G. S. Morris 3, J. T. Barratt 4, H. Keeley 5, N. Mallett 6. Ernest Morris (conductor) 7. R. Keeley tenor.
'Old Joe ' the 'Rhythm King.' as he is affectionately called, is one of the old school of William Willson regime, and took part in many notable peals, including 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major called by W. Willson, and 10,912 of the same, conducted by his son Ernest.

Mr. T. Taffender, of London, and he are the only iwo survivors of the record peals of 11,008 and 17,104 Double Norwich, rung at South Wigston in 1904. His total peals are nearly 400 . which he hopes to complete 'ere long.
Sunday by Sunday he takes his place at St. Margaret's, Leicester, where he served 30 years as verger, and where his son Ernest now officiates in the same capacity.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

A Record Year for Peals

THE annual meeting of the Society was held at Lichtield on June 21st and attracted an attendance of 90 ringers and friends. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening at the Cathedral. St. Mary's and St. Michael's and those present made full use of the facilities provided.
The service at St. Mary's was conducted, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar on a choir trip, by the Rev. G. H. Maydew, Vicar of Christ Church, Lichfield. Mr. C. Mitchell, a student at the Theological Coliege, very kindly officiated at the organ. An observation from Mr. Maydew's address, which should give encouragement to all ringers, was that however few there might be in the congregahowever few there might be in the congregation or if there were not always enough ringers present on a Sunday to make up the band, the individual ringer's service to the Church and all it stood for was always well worth while.'
After a good tea in St. Mary's Schools, the busincess mecting, with the Archdeacon of Staflord in the chair, took place. The accounts were presented and showed a loss on the year of 6 s .10 d . The Committee's renort was given by the Lay Secretary, Mr. Fred Bennelt. This report recorded that the number of peals rung during the year. i.e.. 80 , was an all time record in the history of the Society and an increase of 19 compared with the previous year. The attendance at meetings during the year had been highly satisfactory, especially as some of these meeting had been held at places not easy of access. With five peals and numerous quarter peals, all rung half-muflled. the Society had paid its tribute to the memory of his late beloved majesty King George VI.

A NEW RINGING MASTER

The elcection of officers saw two changes. Mr. Maurice Turner, of West Bromwich, was appointed Ringing Master in place of Mr. George Oliver, and Mr. F. Brotherton took over the duties of hon. treasurer from the Rev. C. H. Barker, the latter, however, retaining his position as clerical secretary. Mr. Fred Bennett was re-elected as lay secretary. Messrs. H. Knight and C. Walleter as Central Council representatives and Mr. E. Speake as hon. auditor. All the officers were thanked for their services during the past year.

Meetings for the next twelve months were provisionally arranged as follows:-August. Enville: Octoher, St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent: January, Wednesbury: March. St, Luke's, Wolverhampton: May, Mavesyn Ridgware: June, annual, Lichfield.

The Society's finances were then discussed at some length, Mr. Fred Bennett stating that if losses continued to be shown year after year there would soon be no funds left and that immediate steps must be taken to rectify the position. It was finally decided that the question of finance should be thoroughly gone into by the Committee at its next meeting.

An innovation was the decision by the Society to hold a dinner in Wolverhampton on November 15th next.

An apology had been received from the clerical secretary, the Rev. C. H. Barker, who is convalescing following a recent operation. The members of the Society asked Mr. Bennett to convey to Mr. Barker their best wishes for his speedy and complete recovery.

The meeting closed with Mr. Bennett proposing a vote of thanks to the Archdeacon of Stafford for taking the chair, the Rev. G. H. Maydew for conducting the service and the Rev. Prebendary H. Cresswell, of St. Mary's, for the use of the church and schools.
Subject to confirmation the next meeting of the Society will be at Enville on August 30th.

East Devon Ringers On Dartmoor

On Thursday, June 26th, a party of ringers from East Devon had a half-day trip on Dartmoor. The first tower visited was St. Michael's, Teignmouth. where they were joined by Mr. E. M. Atkins and Captain Poyntz. After a few touches of Grandsire and Stedman on the eight bells on this 'tower by the sea. the route was along the River Teign to Kingsteignton where another hour was spent on this splendid ring of eight.
Bovey Tracey was the next stop and more ringing was enjoyed. A run over the moor brought the party to the 'Cathedral of the Moor.' Widecombe, with its very pleasant six. A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung at the monument to Uncle Tom Cobley and all. The last call was to the musical eight at Buckland-in-the-Moor (tenor 71 cwt ). On the homeward journcy Miss Jean Frcer. of Kingston. who joined the trip, had engine trouble with her car. and arrived at her Devon holiday camp in the early hours of the morning. the other cars arriving home about midnight. All agreed it was a lovely trip and thanks are due to those who kindly gave permission and who met us at the various towers. E. W. R.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society's June meeting was not an idle visit although it was, in fact, a visit to Idle. The bells were rung up in peal and various methods attempted before the tea interval, which was taken in the nearby school where the local company provided the liquid refreshment so eagerly sought on such a warm afternoon.

The business meeting was opened by the president (Mr. J. W. Benten) who gave a wel come to the Vicar of Idle and to Mr. M. J. Thurmott, of Ely (St. Mary's). Congratulations were offered to Mr. D. Marshall, of the Bradford Cathedral company, who recently completed the B.Sc. examinations at Glasgow University.
Three new members elected were :Messrs. S Spencely, of Idle, and Leslie Cooper and Audrey Brough, of Otley

The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was proposed by Mr. J. Gibson and seconded by Mr. F. Ray ment, who referred to the genuine welcome offered by the local company, making the visit to Idle remembered. In Mr. Rayment's own case it was some 26 years since his first visit to Idle, and friendships were formed which had lasted to the present time

The Vicar replied in a happy speech and he was supported by Mr. T. Hill, who said he was pleased to welcome the Society once again as it was thought that following his accident his ringing days were over, but by sticking to the tower his recovery had been aided considerably.
The next meeting will be at Drighlington on July 26th. All ringers are asked to book the date and send in their names to Mr. Barron, Further details in 'The Ringing World.' July 18th issue.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSN.

The Northern District held their monthly meeting at St. Ippolyts on June 28th. It was a glorious day, bringing ringers from far and wide, with a very good sprinkling of young people.
The Vicar (the Rev. A. A. Symington) conducted a short service, which was followed by a proper ringers' tea provided by Mr . and Mrs. Alf Harris and their local band. At the business meeting, with the Vicar in the chair, Peter Jackson, of St. Ippolyts, was elected a ringing member.
After tea Great Wymondley bells were available and both towers were kept going from rounds to London. York and Wells Surprise.

Awheel Around Winchester

Ringers from Chichester, Winchester and Itchingfield met at Tichborne (6) for the beginning of a cycling ringing week-end around Winchester on June 14th.
After ringing methods ranging to Kent, they went to Bishop's Sutton ( 5 ), where a ringer from Reading ioined the party. Two quaint towers followed-Martyr Worthy (3) and Easton (3).
Supper at Winchester was followed by ringing on the fine six at St. Maurice's in methods up to Cambridge and an enjoyable ring at Kingsworthy (4). where we were welcomed by Mr. Street, concluded the day.
The party went their respective ways in Winchester, the youth hostellers poing to bed at 12.30 on the common room tables, after taking part in the hostel's 21st birthday celebrations.
On Sunday morning the party went to King Alfred's College for matins, and in the afternoon rang the Cathedral bells with the regulars. Grandsire Caters, rounds and call changes being rung on this fine twelve.

The party would like to thank Messrs. $P$. N. Bond and Jack King for arranging everything, and Mr. Street for his kind co-operation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

the cranborne peal

Dear Sir,-1 am not a regular reader of your paper, but the correspondence in connection with the above peal has been brought to my notice, and reluctant though I am to be drawn in. I feel that the letters of Messrs. Smith and Bond, in your issue of June 27th, demand some reply. But I shall try to be brief and to confine myself to, matters outside the "one word against another', atmosphere, and independent of 'memories' long or short.
There never was, of course, any question of the fact that these visitors had my consent to use our tower; and. indeed, in the end (I refrain from explaining why, in a rush moment between two services, I gave it) to ring a peal. If my reluctance to give this latter consent was not obvious, I can only believe it was because the visitors did not wish to see it. But, technically, consent was given.
Now it seems 10 me that the best service that this letter can do is to provide a warning to all Incumbents who may be asked over the telephone. for the use of their towers. The request, which originated all this correspondence, was so made just five days before the proposed date of the visit. I have never given such consent in any of my churches without consulting my ringers : indeed, for a peal, such consultation has been very careful indeed.
These ringers purported to come (at least in part) from Chichester Cathedral. This was the Cathedral in which I was ordained. Chichester was my Diocese for many years. Consequently. over-ruled by sentiment perhaps. I agreed to the visit. No sugestion was made as to a peal. After what seemed to me (I am hound to say, the 'thrustful' attitude of the visitors when it was pointed out that a peal had never been contemplated, I wrote to a friend in the Chichester Cathedral Chapter with a view to finding out something more of the status of these ringers. And I must confess to no little indignation when I was told that the Chichester steeple' disclaimed all knowledge of them. If (in a letter which when written was not designed for publication) I described the visitors as 'pirates' it was because it seemed to me that they had been sailing in these waters under false colours. There may be some explanation for this. and I should be quite prepared to withdraw the implication: though I hardly think this can be of great importance.

I will only add in conclusion that in all my many requests from other towers I have never before had an experience like this. This seems to make quite clear what one's future attitude must be.-Yours. etc.,
W. F: BOND (REV).

REMEMBER THE LITANY

Dear Sir.-In recent issues of this journal so much has been written about a peal at Cranborne that the small scratch has become a poisoned wound and now. in this current issue, other people. I see, are becoming infected with What seems to be a desire to stir up trouble with hin the Exercise.
I cannot see how this rather vulgar display of back-biting fits in with the teaching of Christ or His Church, or with our knowledge of God, to Whose glory Church hells are dedicated. Let us remember the duty laid upon us as Christians, to show mercy and forgiveness.
It would be well if, all concerned when next, they make response © Good Lord deliver us, to the Litany's petition, 'From envy, hatred and malice and all uncharitableness.' to try much harder than they evidently do now, to show forth this spirit in their dealings with mankind in general and their fellow-bellringers in particular.-Yours faithfully.

RINGING APPEALS TO YOUTH

An Example from Danbury

Dear Sir,-I was very interested to read in the summer edition of 'The Countryman," which is edited by John Cripps at Burford in Oxfordshire, a paragraph entitled 'Young Campanologists ' which reads as under :-

When I first came to live in the Essex village of Danbury. well over thirty years ago, writes Dr. Armstrong Gibbs, 'two brothers, Dick and Ernest, sons of a local baker, were trebles in the church choir. Both were keen musicians and a few years later joined my village choral society.
They also learned bellringing and handbell ringing from our old scxton, but as he advanced in years both these arts fell into abeyance. Meanwhile the brothers grew to manhood and the elder became the father of two sons. Three years ago I found that Dick and Ernest had collected a team of youngstersboys and girls-and were busy initiating them into the mysteries of campanology. Dick's elder boy was a member from the start, while the younger one, aged nine, attended all practices and was promoted to a bell as soon as he was tall enough to pull a rope when mounted on an orange box. Not only did our own stecple hum, but these youngsters were soon scouring the county, ringing peals in every belfry within reach of their bicycles. Scarcely a week passed without my hearing of some new feat of skill and cendurance. In fact, only a few days ago. Dick announced to me with rueful pride that his team were advancing altogether beyond him. They have learned too, to ring the handbells; how well. may be gauged from the fact that they have collected close on $£ 100$ for church objects. When they visited us last December I noticed a remarkable advance in technical proficiency. At a guess I should put the average age of the team at about 15 years. It is clear from their behaviour that there is something in bellringing which appcals strongly to youth. They have also found a hobby which will probably last them all their lives, and are doing a grand bit of service for their church. To Dick and his brother Ernest I can only respectfully take off my hat.'-Yours sincerely.

PEALS AT ALFORD, LINCS

Dear Sir,-May I. through your columns. congratulate Mr. G. Musson on his recent peal at Alford, Lincs, rung in 2 hours and 34 minutes. I only hope, due to the time taken, he does not fall victim to the jealousy of some Eastern Branch members. After ringing a peal here in May 1950 in 2 hours and 33 minutes. it was openly declared to be false due to the speed at which it had been rung. I feel that the recent peal, again including the tower captain, gives me the opportunity to declare the rumours unfounded, unwarranted and disproved by events. Although such conduct does not really merit or justify a letter it may help finally to silence some who would rather seek to criticise than further the cause of ringing and the friendship which exists within it.-Yours. etc..

CORONATION, 1953

The Exercise will undoubtedly play a big part in the Coronation celebrations next year and I would like to suggest at this stage that the Central Council puts on its thinking cap and gets down to publishing in good time its recommendations as to procedure for this event. With the recent death of King George VI. the lead came too late due to the suddenness and many ringers were left wondering exactly what should be done. That they rose to the occasion is undoubted, but an official lead does help.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. HILL.

LETTERS-Continued

the late a. J. CORrigan's PUBLICATIONS
Having in mind the popularity and great usefulness of the late Mr. Corrigan's publications. I wonder whether the ringers of his district, or any other reader of The Ringing World,' can give any information as to the disposal of any unsold copies that may have been left.
It may well be that at some later date there would be a ready market for reprints of some of these books.-Yours faithfully,
Forest Hill, S.E. 23 .

DONCASTER'S S.S. BAND

Dear Sir,-May I congratulate the Doncaster Sunday Service Band and their conductor on ringing Carter's odd bob peal of Stedman Triples. This is a very creditable and worthwhile performance for an entirely local band. It would be a good sign to see more peals with the footnote 'Rung by the local company.'-Yours, etc.

Rotherham, Yorks.

BIBLICAL SILVER TRUMPETS

Dear Sir,-Whenever I attend a ringers' service and hear the lesson read from Numbers, Chapter 10, I am intrigued by the direction in verse 2 , about the making of the silver trumpets, 'Of a whole piece shalt thou make them.' What exactly does that mean? Were the craftsmen of that day able to make such an instrument from one piece? I suppose it can hardly mean that they were cast?
I have just turned up 'Josephus, to see if any light is thrown on it there, but 'Josephus' simply says that the trumpet invented by Moses was a little less than a cubit in length, with a suitable mouthpiece and the usual trumpet mouth. There is nothing about how it was made.
Perhaps some of our clerical ringers (or readers) have studied the musical instruments of the Bible and are able to tell us.-Yours fafthfully,
' GWENT SASSENACH:'
South Wales.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Western District at Mirfield

The summer meeting of the Western District was held on June 21st at St. Mary's Church, Mirfield, with an attendance of about 50 mem bers. Ringing during the afternoon ranged from Minor to Royal, and was followed by an excellent tea served in the Church Hall.
At the business meeting the resignation from the committee of Mr. F. Hodgson, due to his leaving the district, was accepted with regret. Mr . Hodgson was one of the mainstays of the District and his presence will be greatly missed by his many friends. Any nominations for the vacant seat should be sent to the District secretary.

Occasion was taken at this meeting to make a presentation to Mr. W. Ambler in appreciation of his past services as District secretary. Mr. Ambler was obliged to retire from office at the end of last year due to continuing illhealth. He had held this office for a period in all of some eleven years, during which time he spared no pains in making the Western District one of the most flourishing in the Yorkshire Association, whilst his reports and books left nothing to be desired. The presentation was made by the vice-president (Mr. P. J. Johnson) and rook the form of an inscribed gold pocket watch.It is hoped to hold the next meeting in September, at Oxenhope.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

 Young Ringers' Cycling TourYoung ringers of Newport, Bedwellty, Rumney, and Cardiff set out from Newport for a day's ringing and cycling tour of towers between Newport and Chepstow on June 21st.
With a strong wind in their favour, they made speedy progress for their first destination, Mathern, where they were joined by ringers from Chepstow and Tiddenham. Here the bells were rung half-muffled for a funeral, the tenor being tolled shortly before the funeral service.

After lunch the ringers made for Caldicot, this time cycling into a strong head wind which considerably slowed down the pace. Caldicot reached, this fine octave was soon ringing, although the younger members of the party found difficulty in pulling off due to the deep setting of the bells.

Again into the wind, the next stop being at Penhow and here the light six were set going to call changes and change ringing. A pleasant ring and unusual in the fact that they are rung just inside the entrance to the church.

The next call was at Magor, where another unusual ring was met. Here the bells are rung from the chancel and to make room for the ringers the choir stalls have to be moved back which, as one can imagine, is not very convenient for service ringing. The bells do not go very well but, nevertheless, sound good.

The final ring was at Nash, which meant a hard ride over the moors into the wind. Dark clouds were gathering and the sky looked very ominous. Ringing on this pleasant light six had to be curtailed as a steady downpour ot rain had set in and so the ringers made their way home-wet, tired but full of enthusiasm about the next tour.
Excluding the three 'old men,' the ages of the band ranged from 11 to 17 years, and methods rung during the day were Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and April Day, with plenty of rounds and call changes.
Thanks are extended to the incumbents for the use of their bells and to the local ringers who met and welcomed the band.

Gloucester and Bristol Association

The balf-yearly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Bishopstone on June 14th and visitors were welcomed from Bray, Charlbury, Dorchester, Fairford and Shrivenham. The bells are a good eight by Mears (1891) and they were rung in various methods up to London Surprise Major.
At the business meeting the Branch secretary (Mr. W. B. Knyaston) gave a report on the Central Council meeting at Lincoln and warned those present to be careful with London Royal and Bristol Maximus! It was proposed to hold meetings at Lydiard Millicent, Latton and Cricklade and Stratton-St. Margaret during the next three months.

WHITSUN IN THE 'GARDEN OF ENGLAND,

Following the success of a tour of ten towers in the Romney Marsh area on Whit Monday, 1951, a Whitsun week-end was planned by an augmented party in the 'Garden of England with headquarters at Hawkhurst.
The programme started with a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Rolvenden on Saturday morning, accomplished with not a few blisters for the back-enders.

After lunch ringers from Marden. Sedlescombe, Hawkhurst and Folkestone joined the party and a tour of six Sussex towers followed (6) Bodiam (5), Northiam (6), Beckley (6) Breden (6), Sedlescombe (6) and Salehurst (8). Methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Double Oxford, Stedman and Cambridge.

On Whit Sunday the party and two visitors from Hawkhurst rang and attended matins at St. Michael's and All Angels, Marden. The afternoon was spent in a farm walk conducted by Mr. Frank Day at Blue House Farm, Marden. Evening ringing for some of the party was at the bomb-stricken Church of St. Lawrence. Hawkhurst, where Mr. William Gorringe and his band keep the bells going.

A colossal programme of 16 towers was arranged for Whit Monday, the first being Ringwould at $7.55 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. where two ringers from Tunstall, Sittingbourne, who left home at 4.30 a.m., awaited the party. The list of towers visited was Walmer (8), Deal (6), Northbourne (6), Eastry (5), Ash (8), Wingham (8), Littlebourne (6), Wickhambreux ( $)$ ), Sturry (6), Hackington (8) and Canterbury Cathedral (12, where rounds and original Royal were attempted with very good results, Grandsire and Double Norwich on the back eight and Cambridge Minor on the back six), Beckesbourne (6), Goodnestone (6), Barham ( 5 , where the stay of the third had been previously broken, and Eythorne (5). Everybody, was in bed by 2 a.m. after a good 20 -hours' ringing day
The party included the Misses A. M. Bailey, M. A. Carter, M. A. Wood, B. M. Vidler and J. Haffenden, Messrs. K. A. Holtom, J. Chillendon. C. Wralten. T. Barton, D. Bryder, J. Betts, R. Collins, K. Collins, G. B. Harris, M. S. Cloke and S. G. Waters.

There was not more than a five-minute hitch on the whole programme, which was no mean achievement, when 150 miles were travelled, 16 towers rung in by 16 people, whose average age was 22 years. S. G. W. thanks the tower representatives and the incumbents for their co-operation and welcome.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Joint Meeting in the Totnes Area

A successful joint meeting of the Mid-Devon and South-West Branches was held in the Totnes area on June 28th, when members and friends attended from Okehampton, Kenn. Newton Abbot, Buckfastleigh. Totnes, Paignton. Dartmouth. Plympton and Plymouth, as well as visitors from Erith (Kent) and Birmingham.
The bells of Berry Pomeroy Parish Church were made good use of throughout the afternoon and later a visit was made to the Central Hotel, Totnes, for tea, where Mr. J. E. Lilley, of Newton Abbot, welcomed the visitors and expressed thanks to the Vicars of Berry Pomeroy and Totnes for the use of their bells.
Ringing afterwards took place at Totnes Parish Church. the methods rung during the afternoon and evening being Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major. The latter method was particularly well struck in both towers, even bell ringing being very pleasing to the ear on Totnes bells.

OUTINGS IN BRIEF

STREATHAM AND MITCHAM

The bellringers of St. Leonard's Church, Streatham. and Christ Church, Mitcham, together with their wives and a few old friends have spent two very enjoyable days in Sussex during the past two months. On Easter Monday ringing was enjoyed at Capel (Surrey), Warnham, Henfield and Billingshurst, lunch being taken at Horsham and tea at Henfield. On June 14th a full day's programme was arranged. The route chosen took us through Streatham, Croydon, Sanderstead, Limpsfield, Edenbridge, Hartfield, Uckfield, Eastbourne, Pevensey, Battle. Burwash, Fairwarp, East Grinstead. Godstone, Purley and Christ Church, Mitcham. Ringing was enjoyed at Hartfield, Uckfield, Christ Church, Eastbourne, Burwash and Fairwarp.

Lunch was taken in Eastbourne and we had as our guests the Rev. D. G. Matthews (Vicar of Southover) and his wife. The Rev. D. G. Matthews was Vicar of Christ Church, Mitcham, before moving to Southover some years ago. Tea was enjoyed at Burwash and here we had as our guest Mr. F. J. Lambert (captain of the Burwash ringers and a nephew of the late J. A. Lambert, of Mitcham Parish Church).
It was 39 years to the day since the Christ Church ringers made their first pilgrimaqe and with the company was Mr. G. Pidwell, who took part in that pilgrimage in $1913 . \mathrm{Mr}$.
W . H. Joiner also took part in it and it was with regret that the company learnt that he was not feeling well enough to join the party. He did, however, send a programme of the 1913 tour (which he had carefully preserved) to the secretary (Mr. S. Howard). This was passed round en route and aroused much interest. At tea the programme for June 14 th was autographed by all present. This has been sent to Mr. Joiner with hest wishes from all.

HAMER, ROCHDALE

An enjoyable day in the Lake District was spent by ringers and friends of All Saints' Church. Hamer. Rochdale, on June 14th.
A start was made at 7.30 a.m. and Kirby Lonsdale was reached at 9.30 . Here the bells of St. Mary's were much to the liking of the company.
After lunch at Bowness on Windermere, a brief visit was made to the Lake previous to ringing at St. Martin's, Bowness (8). Later came an hour's ringing at S. Michael's, Hawkshead (6). Grange-over-Sands was reached at 5 p.m. for an enjoyable tea, and a stop on the return journey was made at Morecambe, Rochdale being reached at 11.20 p.m.
Methods rung during the day were Oxford, Oxford Bob, Plain Bob, Grandsire, St. Clement's and Stedman. Thanks were accorded vicars and ringers who met the party and arranged for the use of the bells.

HULTON, ESSEX

Tintinabulation in Excelsis was how the Hulton correspondent described their outing on Whit Monday, which was spent mainly in South Suffolk.

Visited by the party were the five big bells in the churchvard of East Bergholt: the massive tower at Kersey, a village which is a piece of Tudor England: the grand old tower of Monks Eleigh. with a welcome from Harry Whymark: Preston, the climb to the ton of the lower is quite a gymnastic feat and Fred Day gave the friendliest of greetines: Lavenham where the three lads eagerly took turns on the $23-\mathrm{cw}$. tenor that wonderful bell cast in 1625: Long Melford, where onlv a few minutes were available to see the incide of its elegant and spectacular church with its 97 windows. Thank vou South Suffolk. for your warm welcome: like Renatus, we will return.

LEYTONSTONE

Despite very dull weather the ringers of St. John's, Leytonstone, and a few friends enjoyed a successful tour of Suffolk on June 14th.

The party met at Mildenhall and before ringing admired the interior of the church with its wonderful roof and a modern stained glass memorial to a local ringer. The ten bells in the high 15 th century tower were set going to 'Stedman Caters. A course of Cambridge Royal and a touch of Grandsire Caters completed the ringing on these lovely bells.

After expressing thanks they then went on to Elvedon, where the bell tower is attached to the Church of SS. Peter and Andrew by a cloistered walk. The visitors found the octave went very well. although not too easy to hear inside the tower. The ringing here included a touch of Spliced Surprise Major as well as Superlative, Bristol and Kent. Before leaving for Bury St. Edmunds most of the ringers were shown around the church by the incumbent.

The first ringing at Bury St. Edmunds was on the ten in the Norman tower. Stedman and Grandsire and a half course of Cambridge went very well on these grand bells. After tea the weighty octave of SS. Mary and Peter was rung to London, Stedman and Cambridge.

Lavenham was the last tower of the day and good use was made of its famous bells. Superlative, Rutland and Bristol were included in the methods rung.

It was a very enjoyable trip, ringing on very good bells and meeting friends, old and new. Thanks are due to the incumbents and ringers at the various churches and also to Mr. F.W. Housden, the organiser.
T. G. F.

STONHAM ASPAL, SUFFOLK

A start was made at $5.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on June 14 th by Stonham Aspal ringers for the first full outing of the new company, which was spent in Kent and Surrey.

Mr. Isaac Emery met the party on the new eight at Bromley and found the company so desirable that he remained with them the rest of the day. Mr. A. P. Cannon, who helped to arrange the towers. also joined the party. Ringing afterwards took place at Beddington, Westerham. Edenbridge and Wrotham. Home was reached at 1 a.m. Thanks are due to Mr. William Button for his hard work which contributed so much to the success of the outing.

RUSHMERE ST. ANDREW, IPSWICH

A tour of the Suffolk and Cambridgeshire borderland was enioved by Rushmere St. Andrew, Ipswich, band on June 14th, who were accompanied by friends from St. Clement's and St. Margaret's.

A start was made at 8 a.m. and ringing took place before lunch at Haverhill (6), Sawston (8), Stapleford (6) and Trumpington (6). At the last-named tower the ringers were met by a well-known lady ringer. who stood in for a well-struck touch of Ipswich Surprise.

Lunch was served at Cambridge, and while non-ringers visited the town the ringers proceeded to Old Chesterton (6), a church standing in ideal surroundings.

The journey home started after tea at Cambridge, the route being via Swaffham Prior, with its two churches in one churchyard, to Exning (5), where the party were welcomed by the Vicar, who while at Ipswich was a district secretary of the Suffolk Guild. The last tower was the heavy six at St. Mary's, Newmarket. Ipswich was reached at 11.30 D.m. Ringing included Ipswich and Cambridge Surprise, Single Court, Double Court and Bob Major.

WITHAM, ESSEX

Interesting parts of Cambridgeshire, Huntingdon and Herts were toured by Witham (Essex) ringers and friends from Kelvedon, Black Notley and Maldon on June 21st.

Ickleton was reached in good time and wellstruck touches of Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Grandsire Triples were rung on a well-going and tuneful eight.

At Huntingdon touches of Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob were rung at St. Mary's, a good eight in need of overhauling. Appetites were well satisfied at the Nickel Coin Restaurant, followed by a visit to the Parish Church, Godmanchester, where a considerable sum is being raised to put a fine-sounding octave into good running order. After enjoyable touches of Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob the party returned to Huntingdon, where touches of Bob Minor. Cambridge Surprise and Kent Treble Bob were rung on a well-going six at All Saints'

Tea was taken at Royston at the Corner Cafe. At the conclusion Mr. J. Chalk thanked Miss W. Mellin Mrs. B. Godfrey and Mr. H. Evers for making the necessary arrangements for such an enjoyable outing with a special word of thanks to Mr. E. Bright (Witham) for his great work with his learners, two of whom had become 'first pealers,' and congratulations to the Kelvedon ringers on getting their bells in good-going order again, with the 'Festival Bell' as their grand new tenor.

The final tower was Barley, where touches of Bob Minor, Double Court, Grandsire Doubles and Cambridge Surprise were rung on a very tuneful and easy-going six. Sincere thanks were extended to the local ringers who met the visitors, and particularly to the three clergy who looked in at their respective towers to wish all a "happy day.

FRIEZLAND VISTT LOUGHBOROUGH

On June 7th an enjoyable and interesting outing was shared by the ringers of Christ Church, Friezland. Oldham, their wives and children and friends.

Travelling by way of Buxton to Matlock, the bells of the Parish Church were soon up and going well to two or three short touches of Oxford. whilst the non-ringing members rang the changes on tea and cakes. Journeying through the lovely Derwent Valley. Loughborough was reached at approximately 12.30 p.m.

After a good dinner a visit was paid to the Bell Foundry of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. and a most instructional afternoon was spent under the guidance of Mr. J. P. Fidler, who went to very great pains to try to show everyone everything, which is some job with a party of 34. His good humour and understanding ruled the day and none of the party went astray.

On being challenged to ring rounds within two whole pulls on the light six in the campanile without first trying for length, the contest team had a go with both hilarious and disastrous results, as the stay of the sixth 'went for a Burton.' However. Mr. Fidler retrieved the rope, the bell was raised, and some good short touches of Minor were rung on the heavy six by mixed teams.

The Parish Church was next visited and some good ringing was enjoyed by the nine ringing members of the party, on the front six until the rope of the second parted at the garter hole.

The 30 -cwt. tenor was then raised and two or three touches were rung on the back six without further mishap.

After an excellent tea the return journey was via Leicester. Nottingham and Sheffield. Dassing on the wav the noted Crooked Spire at Chesterfield. which was viewed with some awe by various members of the oarty who had not previously seen the spectacle.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN MOTH

Captain of the Sandhurst, Berks, tower and a branch representative on the Oxford Guild Committee for many years, Mr. John Moth died at his home at Little Sandhurst on July 3 rd after a long illness. He was 85 and had been unable to ring since the war.
He rang his first peal in 1900, but although his total was about 25 he made up for that by the 720's he rang, for in 1908 and 1909 at Sandhurst $297720^{\circ}$ s in ten methods were rung, of which he took part in 293 and conducted 228.

MR. JOSEPH SLADE
With deep regret the death is announced of Mr. Joseph Slade at his home, 162, Oxford Road. Calne, on June 30th, aged 78 years

He will be remembered by a number of the members of the Ringers' Guild, as for some years he was a member of St. Paul's Church, Burton-on-Trent, ringing team, and in later years took an active part in ringing at Bremhill, Calne and District Churches. He leaves a wife and three daughters.

OUTING

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT

The Portsmouth District had an extremely enjoyable outing on June 21st into Somerset and Wiltshire. The coach left Portsmouth a little behind time bearing the contingents of ringers and friends from the towers in the Portsmouth and Fareham area and collected the remainder of the party at Southampton.

The first stop for refreshments, Wimborne, was reached on time, but owing to the precarious state of the tower pinnacles, no ringing was possible.
Despite a slight hold-up at Blandford owing to a traffic jam, we were only slightly late at Yeovil. where one of the local ringers was waiting to welcome us. Ringing on the fine ring of ten (tenor $40 \ddagger \mathrm{cwt}$.) was much enjoyed before the party departed in search of lunch.

The highlight of the day was the grand six at Queen Camel (tenor $36 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Ringing here began after a welcome from Mr. Reeves, with a fair raise in peal, and the subsequent proceedings required careful organisation to enable all the keen "heavy-enders" who so wished to "turn in' the tenor. However, all were duly satisfied and ringing ended with a good 'settle,' many long-standing ambitions having been gratified by a visit to this justly famous tower
The equally fine six at Bruton (tenor 26 cwt .) came next and again several local ringers met us at this magnificent tower, one of the finest of its type in a county famed for its towers. With invitations of 'come again' from the local ringers, the coach went on to Frome. Ringing on the heavy octave (tenor 31 cwt .) at the famous church, where the Rev. W. J. E. Bennett, one of the pioneers of the Oxford Movement. was once Vicar, included a good course of London. Next came a truly wonderful tea at a local cafe.
The party went on to Westbury, the last tower of the day, arriving a little late due to a slight loss of sense of direction! The grand eight here are probably the finest for their weight (tenor 35 cwt .) anywhere-no correspondence, please !-and good use was made of them. Ringing ended with a course of a favourite Portsmouth method. Double Norwich, and the stragglers having been collected from a local hostelry, the journey to Salisbury was enlivened by strains of (?) melodious voices !

A break for further refreshment was allowed at Salisbury, and amid further vocal efforts from the choir (!) the coach set out for Southampton, which was reached at 9.45 .

Thanks are due to Mr. John Hunt for all his careful and excellent arrangements.
P. N. B.

OUTINGS

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Taking advantage of the long evenings the Society travelled to the boundary of the Riding to hold the June meeting at Malton and Norton. Poor weather marred the day for the wives and friends, who went to explore the town and old Malton Priory Church, but did not deter the ringers from trying out two good rings of eight
The bells of St. Leonard's, Malton, were rung during the afternoon to standard methods. The bells, recently restored, are now a good ring of eight with a $13 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor. St. Leonard's Church is now closed for public worship so the ringers had their service in the Church of St. Michael, a well-kept church with beautiful Norman architecture, but without a historical background
The Rev. J. Fisher, Vicar of St. Peter's, Church, Norton, conducted the service. He deputised for the Vicar of St. Michael's, who was away on a pilgrimage with Sunday School scholars, and for his own ringers, who were on an annual outing. Mr. Fisher gave an excellent sermon, joined the ringers at tea and was the genial host in his own belfry.

A company of 58 sat down to tea and joined in the meeting before going to the lovely ring at Norton. Standard methods were brought round, and others attempted, when time brought to an end a good day's outing among good bells.

BRAINTREE, ESSEX

Five towers in Surrey were visited by Braintree ringers and their friends on June 21 st. The morning was spent at Beddington and Ewell and after a substantial lunch at Leatherhead, ringing took place at Dorking.

A valuable 30 minutes was lost at Dorking through some of the party having difficulty in finding the coach. In consequence, ringing at Holy Trinity, Guildford, the best tower of the day, had to be curtailed. Ringing concluded on the light eight at Esher with Bob Major, Double Norwich, London and Bristol Surprise.
Everyone agreed that it had been a pleasant day and the Surrey scenery was enjoyed by all.

HELMINGHAM

In glorious weather on June 28 th Helmingham ringers spent a pleasant day in Northants. An early start was made and ringing took place at St. Neots ( 8 , tenor 30 cwt .), Raunds (8), Kettering (10), Burton Latimer (8), Finedon (8) and Higham Ferrers (8).

Lunch was taken at Kettering and tea at Finedon, where a discussion ensued as to the relative merits of Finedon and Higham Ferrers bells.
At the tea table Mr. A. E. Whiting presented Mr. Les Brett with a leather writing case in recognition of his services in organising these social outings.
Rumours went round the coach of a long week-end next time as plenty of stationery would now be availoble

HURST, BERKSHIRE

A visit to Sussex was paid by ringers of Hurst, Berkshire, for their annual outing . At Henfield ringing ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge Major. Lunch was enjoyed at Lewis and then followed ringing at St. John's, Southover (with memories of the late J. S. Goldsmith), Rotherfield and East Grinstead. After tea. ringing took place at Crawley and the wooden tower of Horley, whose bells were a handful to strike and whose tower swayed gracefully as its bells were rung. Many thanks to the Sussex ringers who met the party and helped to make the day so enjoyable.

GORING-BY-THE-SEA

From the Sussex coast to Gloucester was the ambitious programme of Goring-by-the-Sea ringers and friends from Heene and West Tarring for their outing on June 21 st.
Punctually at 7 a.m. the party left Durrington for Hindhead as the first stop. when coffee and biscuits were in readiness. (We arrived here a quarter of an hour in front of schedule!) The first tower to be visited was Kintbury where good use was made of the bells, much to the delight of the locals, who agreed it was nice to hear their bells again.
Lunch was taken at Cirencester and the party afterwards left for Gloucester. where a tour of the Cathedral was enjoyed, the bells not being available that day. Newbury was the next call for tea. After Newbury the homeward journey was begun, with Goring-on-Thames as the next stop. Here a delighiful stay of three quarters of an hour's ringing was thoroughly enjoyed.
A short break in the journey was made at Worplesdon for refreshment and Goring-bySea was reached at 11.40 , everybody expressing their thanks to Mr. S. F. Haftenden for a very enjoyable and pleasant day's outing of nearly 300 miles.

AN EXCURSION IN SCOTLAND

WE were amused the other day to read of some of our young enthusiasts who have visited four-bell towers to indulge in Bob Minimus or, we suppose, to augment their list of towers with unusual names not known to the average ringer. We do not decry it; chacun à son goût. Ringers are a peculiar people and each is entitled to his own pleasure. On the other hand, there are relatively few ringers who would make a survey of all bells in their area purely from an antiquarian interest. But this has its fascination as Bob Minimus to the young, and when the research is accompanied by knowledge of founders from mediæval times and their peculiarities, a new field of interest is created.

From time to time we have referred to the activities in this direction of two prominent ringing antiquarians-Mr. Frederick Sharpe, Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and Mr. J. W. Clarke, Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild. Mention has also been made of Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston's research into the bells of Renfrewshire and Dumbartonshire. Mr. Clouston has now published another volume, 'The Church and Other Bells of Stirlingshire,' which has been reprinted from the proceedings of the Society of Antiquarians of Scotland.

For peal ringers Stirlingshire is a barren county. While Mr. Clouston enjoys a peal or a good touch with the next man, his approach to the subject in this volume is purely antiquarian and his survey only includes such bells, except in the case where a church has a number of bells or one of interest.

Stirlingshire possesses only two bells that can be said to have been cast before the Reformation. One is the second bell of the ring of four in the Church of the Holy Rood, Stirling, and the other is the handbell which was formerly kept in the church hall attached to Falkirk Old Church. The Stirling bell Mr. Clouston regards as of the 15 th century. It presents an orthodox design from the outside, but inside the soundbow is not curved round from the lip and instead has a flat surface for about two inches in from the lip. This then becomes curved. He points out that this particular feature is usually a sign of a very early bell; in England it was disused before 1300, but it is by no means impossible for it to have been used very much later in areas remote from the centres of bell-founding. One of the canons has been broken off and a new crown staple fitted parallel to the old one. The bell has never been tuned by chipping the interior surface, and the sound produced dies away quickly after the clapper strikes, and as a result the bell sounds weak outside. Mr. Clouston regards it as possibly the product of some monastic foundation.

In Stirlingshire there are eight 17th century bells-three Dutch and five Scottish. Of the Dutch bells Cornelis Jansen Onderogge, of Rotterdam, cast the Council Bell of Stirling in 1656, and the third bell of the ring in the Church of the Holy Rood, Stirling, in 1657. In the latter bell the crown staple is original, but a new clapper has been fitted. When the bell was cast the founder had no idea what note was required, only that the bell was to weigh about 5 cwt., and as a result the bell has had to be considerably chipped at the lip to raise the note. This was done to make the four bells form a musical scale.

Two of the bells of a chime of 16 in the Broad Street Steeple, Stirling, dated 1729, the author regards as the work of the itinerant founder, John Waylett. Two years were spent by Waylett in Sussex, and E. V. Lucas in his 'Highways and Byways of Sussex' gives this description of Waylett: 'His method was to call on the vicar and ask if anything were wanted; and if a bell was cracked, or if a new one was desired, he would dig a mould in a neighbouring field, build a fire, collect his metal, and perform the task on the spot. Waylett's business might be called the higher tinkering.' Due to the kindness of Mr. George Elphick, of Lewes, Mr. Clouston obtained a rubbing and some plaster casts of the smallest set of lettering used by John Waylett on a bell at East Hoathly, Sussex. Comparing the lettering, the author is of opinion that these two bells are the work of Waylett.

Both at Edinburgh and Glasgow the early bell founders were members of the Incorporation of Hammermen. John Meikle, for example, who cast the Falkirk Steeple bell and two other bells in 1697, was admitted in 1671 after having passed his test. His most notable work was the casting of a carillon of 23 bells for St. Giles', Edinburgh, in 1698 and 1699, and it is thought that he visited the Continent to study methods of founding and tuning employed there.

While the new chime for the Stirling Municipal Buildings is to be the work of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, the best representation of English founders among the Stirlingshire bells is that of the Whitechapel

Foundry．It is not out of place to note that the White－ chapel Foundry cast a bell for Holyrood Abbey in Edin－ burgh in 1633，and the bell now hangs in St．Paul＇s Epis－ copal Church，Edinburgh．In 1788 they cast the first octave of bells for Scotland hung for change ringing at St． Andrew＇s Church，Edinburgh，but they can no longer be rung owing to the instability of the fabric．Mr．Clouston＇s work，we feel sure，will appeal to any of our readers in－ terested in the antiquarian side of the Exercise．

III.-Plain Hunting

If the beginner has learned thoroughly to control his bell, the sooner he can get on to change ringing the better. He may not find it very easy at first, and we want to warn him not to be dispirited if he does not grasp it as quickly as he thinks he ought to do.

Change ringing is a curious thing to learn. Some people can see it almost straight away; others seem to grope about in darkness for understanding breaks upon them -and they think how stupid they must have been not to have 'seen' it before.

The point we want to make is, if you do not grasp the idea of ringing changes straight away, don't give up. Stick to it and eventually you will master it and find what a fascinating thing it is
If you studied the little practice 'game' we gave you a fortnight ago, you will have observed from the manipulation of the cards how changes are made. When you come to apply this to your actual ringing you have got to acquire the facility of 'seeing' where your bell is among the rest as the changes are produced at every pull on the ropes. This facility is called 'rope sight.' that is you have got to be able to distinguish, as you ring, which rope you are pulling after, and which rope is being pulled after yours. All your observations in the ringing chamber have to be made by the ropes as they rise and fall-if the ropes follow each other in the right order, of course the bells are in the right order in the changes.
Changes are produced by what are known as ' methods,' that is by systems which automatically carry on the sequence of changes from the 'rounds' from which you start, until 'rounds'. again comes up, and your 'touch' or 'peal is completed.
To ring changes successfully you must memorise your method and know exactly what to do at every change from beginning to end. That does not mean that you have to learn beforehand the order in which you will strike over the bells; but you must know the 'path, or track which you have to follow-it may be a straight path up and down, like the treble in Grandsire, or it may be an intricate one, such as is followed by a working bell in the more complicated methods.

PLAIN HUNTING

A straight path is called 'plain hunting, and the beginner will do well to content himself for his first lesson in doing this plain hunting. If the band to which he belongs are change ringers they will probably put him to ring the treble to Grandsire as a matter of course. If all the band are beginning change ringing together, their first step should be to learn to hunt their bells, and they can do this by a method called 'Original,' which in its plain course produces twice as many changes as there are bells engaged.
It will help things also if at the start changes are rung with the tenor 'covering,' so that you not only have a bell to keep the 'beat,' but you know exactly which to lead from, which is a great help in keeping good striking.
A little thought will show you that in hunting up, after you have led, your pace will be just a little slower than when you strike continually in the same place in rounds, because one more bell has to strike before you than in the last change. If you are ringing on six bells and are leading, between your two blows at handstroke and backstroke five other bells have struck, but when you move into 2nds place six bells strike between your own two blows, and so on all the while you are moving up.
Whenever you remain a whole pull in one place, as you do at lead, or in lying behind, there are only five bells between your pulls, as in rounds, and when you hunt down, from back to front, there are only four bells before you pull again. This means that in coming down towards the lead, you pull in more quickly. Indeed, it is essential that in this hunting down you should do it smartly, not only to secure good striking, but to keep your place. You get lost more quickly by being slow in hunting down than in any other way.

Remember this, once you have pulled your bell off, nothing you can do can alter the place where it will strike at that change-it may be a good blow, it may be a bad one, but you can't alter it. Therefore, once you have pulled off, you can concentrate your attention entirely upon the next bell you have got to follow.

ICOUNT PLACES

If you are hunting ap it is fairly simple. It will be the bell that is following you this time. Look for him immediately you pull off. With only four other bells to trouble about, you will soon learn to spot him quickly. And, as you go, remember to count your places; that is the position in which your bell is striking, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th.
Here is another point to remember. As you hunt up (or down, for that matter), once you have struck over a bell, you can dismiss it from your attention until you turn round and hunt it in the opposite direction. Thus, as you hunt, you gradually reduce the number of bells from which to pick out the next you require, so that if you have already passed in turn over 2 and 4 you know the next must be either 3 or 5 , and, if it is 5 , then next time there is only the 3 rd left. This knowledge simplifies your task very much, especially when hunting down, which is, perhaps, just a little more difficult in its rope-sight than is hunting up.

It is for that reason that it is important to know the place in which your bell strikes. If you are ringing changes on five bells with the tenor covering, after you have led, and, in hunting up, have struck in turn over the other four, you are in fifths place. Before you actually start hunting down you have to have one more blow (making a whole pull in 5ths). This gives you time to observe the four bells in front of you.
You have, at the next pull, to quicken your pace, so as to strike fourth instead of fifth. You must look for three ropes to go and pull smartly over the third one. Next time there will be only two to go before it is your turn and then only one. After this it will be your turn to lead. Do this steadily, leaving space for one bell between the backstroke of the tenor and your own handstroke. Don't forget, in hunting down, as you pull over each bell, you can ignore it until you have led.
It is a help also if you can remember the order in which you strike over the bells as you hunt up (with the treble in Grandsire). You will take the bells in the same order on your way down.
If you are all beginners, try a plain hunting course of Original. The odd bells ( 1 and 3) start by hunting up, and the even bells ( 2 and 4) start by hunting down. No. 5 will hunt down after lying one blow behind. This can be your first step, and if you are in an eight-bell tower you can try it on seven bells with the tenor covering.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT

The annual meeting of the Association was held at Saddleworth, near Oldham, on July 5th. Five teams entered for the annual prize contest, and the judge, Mr. Harry Roberts, of Kirkburton, gave his decision as follows:

Faults Penalties Total

The teams which tied rang off another 240 changes test piece, which resulted as follows: Meltham 38 faults, Liversedge 44 faults. Meltham were declared the winners of the silver cup and each member of the team received a brass tea caddy. Each member of the Liversedge team, the runners-up, received a chrome sauce stand.

The prizes were presented to the winners by the chairman of the Urban District Council of Saddleworth, Councillor I. Charlesworth, who, in his speech in reply to a vote of thanks from the president, Mr. E. Earnshaw, said it was disturbing to see a decline in the number of people who were willing to devote their time to the art of change ringing. In the old days it was far more actively engaged in than it is to-day. The year 1953 would be Coronation year, and many places all over the country would be spending large sums to engage brass bands, but in his opinion it would not be a day of true rejoicing unless the church bells rang out over hill and dale, and he would do his best to see that the ringers of Saddleworth district obtained some pecuniary reward.

The balance sheet for the year ending June 30 th was audited and read by Mr . Joseph Burgess to the satisfaction of the meeting, as it showed an increase in the bank balance of $£ 3$ Later in the meeting the Rev. F. W. Coop, of Dewsbury, presented a suitably inscribed eightday striking clock to the president, Mr. Edward Earnshaw, on behalf of all the members of the Association, in appreciation of his 25 years' service in that capacity.
In his speech of thanks, Mr. Earnshaw said it reminded him of once visiting a very sick friend, who greeted him with the words, 'Ee. Edward, ah doan't know what ah've done to deserve this,' and he could say the same to-day. Others had worked as hard as he for the Association.

Thirty years ago the Association was ruled by one or two, but the members stuck to their guns and got rules and other things altered. Prize contests were started, not without opposition, as one or two said that gambling would ensue, but he could honestly say that he'd never encountered a single instance of it.

Our aim is to improve striking, not to create a big bank balance,' said Mr. Earnshaw. 'I remember when I was young my mother said to me, "A secret can only be known by one," but it had been different to-day, as everyone in the Association had known of it but me,' and he thanked one and all from his heart.
The president was re-elected. Mr. A. Farrand was re-elected secretary, and Mr. Ernest Betts was elected treasurer and trustee in place of Mr. F. Hodgson, who had unfortunately to leave the district to follow his employment.

DEDICATION OF NEW TREBLE AT KETTERINGHAM

St. Peter's Church, Ketteringham, near Norwich, was filled on St. Peter's Day, Sunday, June 29th, when the Bishop of Norwich dedicated a new bell, the treble, given by the late Mrs. Des Barres in memory of her husband, the Rev. T. C. Des Barres, who was Vicar of Ketteringham, 1899 to 1905 . The Bishop also blessed the other five bells which have been rehung.
After the dedicatory prayer, the new bell was rung six times, and after the blessing of those rung six had been rehung, rounds were rung by the ringers of the parish: A. Browne 1, P. Platford 2, R. Griffin 3, S. Semmence 4, G. Evans 5, H. Sparkes 6.
The rehanging has been ably carried out by Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough, and Ketteringham now has a delightful six, with tenor weighing $9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.

If your friend should complain of the nonarrival of his 'Ringing World,' tell him it is waiting for him when his subscription has been received by Mr. J. E. Jeater, 11, Frankswood Avenue, Petts Wood, Kent. Subscription rates: Six months, 11s. 8d.; three months 6 s .

The Oxford Diocesan Guild extended its warmest congratulations on Saturday to the Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) on the birth of a son to Mrs. Elliot Wigg that very morning. Mr. Elliot Wigg announced that his three sons had all been born on the day of and Oxford Guild festival. The coincidence is simply amazing.
The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, hon. secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, is to be Vicar of St. Andrew's, Norwich, with St. Michael-at-Plea.

The resolutions of the Central Council for the Care of Churches regarding the preservation of old bells have been circulated by Mr. F. Sharpe to members of the Towers and Belfries Committee for their observation.

The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association are to call an extraordinary general meeting at Evercreech on October 4th to discuss matters arising from the impending retirement of Mr . J. T. Dyke as hon. general secretary of the Association.

The Master and ringers of St. Matthew's Church, Buckley, Flintshire, would like to get in touch immediately with Mr. Harry Dew, formerly of Chester and Malvern Link. Would Mr. Dew or anyone knowing his present address please send it to Mr. D. H. B. Millward, 1, Melbourne Road, Western Park, Buckley, Chester.

Lincolnshire ringers who went to Greetham, Rutlandshire, on July 5th, for a peal attempt had two surprises. As they were about to raise the bells a photographer walked into the belfry and the company obliged with their best smiles. After the peal the Rector called and thanked the band for ringing and said he would like to pray with the ringers in the belfry where they did their work. With such an inspiration all left the church feeling extremely happy.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Buckley, Flintshire, ringers are celebrating the jubilee of the dedication of the bells on August 2nd. Mr. Harry Dew was the instructor of the original band on its formation in 1902.
The rededication of Hughenden bells will take place on October 12th.

The peal at Drinkstone, Suffolk, on July 4th, was the first peal on the bells for over 20 years.

Mr. Ernest J. Ladd has now twice completed the circle of St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells.
The meeting of the N.W. Division of the Essex Association on July 26th will be held at Matching and not Hatching, as stated in our last issue.

The peal at Heydour, Lincs, on June 21st, was arranged so that Mr. W. H. Dale could ring in the church where he was baptised, sang in the choir and first learnt to handle a bell.
The name of Mr. Malcolm S. Cloke will be missing from our peal columns for some weeks. He sailed on July 10 th for Sweden and hopes to be back in this country by mid-September.
Mr. Stafford H. Green, of Sampford Peverell, Devon, is sailing for Australia on October 24th per S.S. Otranto. He would be glad to hear from any other change ringers who are prospective passengers on the same ship.

While on a visit to Queen Camel with St. Mary's, Reading, ringers, the Diserens-father, mother and children-rang a touch on this heavy six. Family touches have been rung at Queen Camel before, but they are very infrequent. When last?

The ringer of the 7th at Willenhall on July 3 3rd to the peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major was Harry Griffiths and not Harry Grif as submitted and printed in last week's 'Ringing World.' It was the first in the method on the bells.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

CANON COLERIDGE MEMORIAL APPROVED - NO INCREASE OF SUBSCRIPTION SANCTIONED GUILD'S MOTION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL - MR. ALAN PINK'S OBSERVATIONS - THE MASTER AND A VICAR'S RIGHTS

THERE was more than ordinary interest in the annual meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild last Saturday in view of the success that attended the Guild's notice of motion at Lincoln. Mr. Alan Pink had some interesting observations on the position.

Proceedings started with a service in the Cathedral. Ringers of the Diocese provided a choir. The Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) conducted the service and the Deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe) read the lessons. The Ven. H. Thorndike Shaw preached and the Blessing was pronounced by the Bishop of Dorchester.

The Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) presided at the business meeting which was held in the Chapter House. He was supported by the Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe), the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker), the general secretary (Mr. W. Hibbert) and the librarian (Miss M. Cross).

In welcoming the members, the Master expressed regret that it was necessary to change the date of the festival and that had kept some of the members away The 12 th was the only day they could have the Dining Hall at Christ Church. It was an advantage to him because their three sons had all been born on Guild Festival days. His wife had been waiting a fortnight and his son was born shortly after midnight. They had now enough in the family for a peal of Minor.

As regards the working of the Guild, while he had not attended all branch meetings. he had been to as many as possible. He found that they were all working well. There were some towers where things were not as they would desire as far as regular practices and service ringing. but these towers were not so many as previously. At one branch meeting he attended there were nearly 30 new members.

The Deputy Master reported that he had attended 24 branch meetings, mostly in the Oxfordshire and Berkshire areas, where it was hardest for the Master to get. He congratulated the branch secretaries for very hard work, for wherever he went there was keenness and enthusiasm and very nicely-arranged services. He had given advice on bell restorations in seven towers in the Diocese.

The hon. treasurer reported that the general funds of the Guild amounted to $£ 55715 \mathrm{~s} .10 \mathrm{~d}$., of which the BeII Restoration Fund stood at $£ 465$ 11s. 2d., and the Coleridge Memorial Fund at $£ 41 \mathrm{1s}$. 6 d .

The librarian stated that there had been a steady demand for books and they had received several gifts including "The Bells of Oxfordshire, by the Deputy Master, a very interesting book in which she found several things she did not know about Oxford bells.

The general secretary called attention to the fact that their membership was now over 2,000 and they were one of the largest Guilds in the country and they were in the forefront of ringing with the Spliced Surprise peals of Mr. Judge, but when it came to their annual meeting they could only muster 130 or 140 . He hoped they would have a better attendance next year

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The following officers were re-elected:-
Master, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg; Deputy
Master, Mr. Frederick Sharpe: hon treasurer,
M. A. D. Barker; general secretary. Mr. W.
Hibbert; librarian, Miss Marie Cross. A vote of thanks to the general secretary and treasurer was, proposed by Mr. J. T. Fowler.
Elected to the committee were Miss D.
Fletcher, Messrs, G. Cauldwell. H. Sear, J. T.
Fowler, R. White, W. F. Judge, G. Holefield,
W. Dixon, C. J. Hibbert, A. R. Pink, B. S. Nicholls and F. D. Boreham.

Mr. A. E. Lock suggested that as vacancies occurred on the committee they should not be filled, as the committee with the branch representatives was too large. The matter was referred to the General Committee.

Recommendations from the General Committee were then received. These included holding the 1953 Festival at Oxford, which was agreed to.

GUILD SUBSCRIPTION

There was, however, strong opposition to increasing the annual subscription to 3 s ., which was proposed by Mr. W. J. Parker, who pointed out that it was essential for the Guild to be in a strong financial position.

Mr. A. Diserens mentioned that the additional 6 d. would bring in $£ 40$ a year.

Mr. Lock said he was secretary of one of the largest districts and they were very much against raising the subscription. They thought it was the wrong way of increasing the revenue. The proper way was to get more members. If they lost one member at 2 s . 6d., they would want half a dozen members at 3 s . to make up that loss. By not printing the annual report they were saving nearly $£ 100$.

Mr. A. D. Barker said he came there determined to oppose the increase. Mr. Discrens said the increase of sixpence would bring in $£ 40$ but he doubted if it would bring in another 40 s. to the general secretary. Last year they appointed a sub-committee with power to act and the findings of that committee were that they could not afford to have a report this year. They decided to leave the question to the end of the year and then see what the position was. At the present time they had $£ 62$ 12 s .6 d . in the bank and last year they had $£ 60$.
Mr. Fowler moved that the suggestion of an increase in the subscription be left in abeyance till the end of the year. This was agreed to by the meeting, only three members voting against.

GRANTS FROM RESTORATION FUND

The General Committee recommended a grant of $£ 10$ to March Baldon. The Vicar, speaking in support, said that March Baldon had four bells and they wanted two more. They had $£ 120$ towards the cost of $£ 210$ to meet work to the frame and two new bells. They had a small band of ringers who were very keen.
The meeting decided to increase the grant to £20.

A recommendation of a grant of $£ 20$ to Wavendon was supported by the Master, who said they had five bells which had not been rung for nearly 50 years. He had never seen bells in such a bad state; the frame was bad and one of the bells was cracked. They had asked Mr. Hughes to break up the bells and recast them into a ring of six using the same metal and Mr. White was going to rehang them. The cost would be nearly $£ 1,000$. They had not a separate bell fund but they had promises towards meeting the cost of recasting amounting to about $£ 350$.

A similar grant of $£ 20$ was recommended for Radley, which Mr. Sharpe recommended. He said a good deal of spade work had been done at Radley by the librarian and it was one of the high spots of the Guild. They are rehanging the bells and possibly having the treble recast. The cost of the work was $£ 350$.

Miss Cross said the parish had to raise $£ 1.000$ for heating, and the ringers were raising the money for the bells.

The meeting decided to increase each recommendation by $£ 10$.

CANON COLERIDGE MEMORIAL
The recommendation of the General Committee that the bell restoration and tablets in cloister and tower be carried out in connection with the Canon Coleridge Memorial was submitted to the meeting by Mr. F. Sharpe. He said this was the third annual meeting this matter had come up and the committee would be very grateful to get it settled and, if possible, in favour of the recommendation. The cost of restoring the bells was $£ 140$ and the cost of doing other work to the tower, which was outside the scope of the Memorial, amounted to £100. Since the last annual meeting he had had several meetings with the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church and they had accepted responsibility for the $£ 100$ for the restoration of the bells leaving the Guild to find $£ 140$ for recasting the treble bells as a memorial to Canon Coleridge. As to the tablet, the cost of taking out the Jenkyn memorial tablet and replacing it, and the provision of a new tablet to Canon Coleridge's memory, identical in design and type, would be $£ 45$, so they had to find $£ 185$. The Dean and Chapter were going ahead with their section and they had placed the order.

Mr. A. D. Barker said there was a matter of $£ 47$ in the Canon Coleridge Memorial Fund and another $£ 100$ earmarked from the Restoration Fund. In addition, they had been promised $£ 50$ from the Central Council. He moved that the Guild proceed with the memorial.

Mr. Fowler seconded.
Mr. Lock: Does this include what has been promised by the branches?

Mr. Barker: It is what I have, and not what is promised.

There was a unanimous vote in favour of adopting the scheme.
The chairman expressed the Guild's gratitude to the Deputy Master in successfully carrying through the negotiations for the memorial.

The sub-committee appointed to consider the printing of an annual report gave as their opinion that the Guild could not afford an annual report for 1951. This was accepted by the meeting without comment.
The secretary asked the Guild to ratify the election of 125 new members. He had received notification of the deaths of six members.

The Master asked to be notified of the deaths of members so that they could be remembered by name at the Guild's annual service.

IRREGULAR METHODS

Mr. Lock said he expected members had seen in 'The Ringing World ' the Oxford Guild's motion at Lincoln about the ringing of irregular methods. Mr. Sharpe said that the motion, when it went before the Standing Committee, was fatly turned down. He talked to a lot of ordinary members and they managed to get it accepted, but the general feeling was that the conductors of the peals were to blame. They were not concerned about the conductors but the other ringers, many of whom might be ringing their first peal. At Lincoln they just managed to carry the motion. 'I may say;' concluded Mr. Locke, that any member of this Guild should be very careful about ringing these methods because the committee said they would not print them.'
Mr. A. D. Barker emphasised that those who attended at Lincoln on behalf of the Guild were not delegates but representatives. There was a discussion before lunch at Lincoln on the peals that had been rung and the effect was that they be not accepted. There was a remark made by the president (Mr. Lewis) which he had not heard properly, but it was (Continued on next page) something referring to the motion being discussed later in the day, which was the resolution from their Guild. Although the Council washed out the peals before lunch, in the afternoon they voted to go into the position again. For the benefit of those who did not go to Central Council meetings, it was their usual procedure to do one thing in the morning and do something different in the afternoon. The position was that the peals were not counted but they, were going into the position again and they hoped to hear something worth listening to next year

For the benefit of anybody who did not under. stand it, this business had been going on ever since he had been ringing. Any conductor worthy of the name of a conductor should not put these methods into a peal to cause discussion. For years certain members of the Council had been trying to put it over to get it regularised. Somebody was always trying to get the better of the decisions and, to his mind, it was a cheap form of publicity which was given not only to ringers but to newspapers to steal the headlines.

Mrs. Barker said one of the experts suggested that there were plenty of methods that conformed. If anybody liked to ring these methods they would put them in "The Ringing World' but they would not be counted in the analysis.

NOT OUT FOR CHEAP PUBLICITY ${ }^{\text {. }}$
Mr. Alan Pink said, as they would gather, he had had a great deal to do with it behind the scenes. He thought it was rather deplorable to talk about blaming the conductors. 'I have been the person to blame as I have rung more and conducted more of these peals than anybody. I am not out for cheap publicity; I hope my standard as a ringer in this Guild is too well known for that. I am out for the spiritual values behind ringing. Of the fourteen peals rung, four were for the Festival of Britain and three for patronal festivals. I ask you to think it was not in any sense cheap publicity, but it was the desire to carry out the value behind ringing that we have heard from our preacher this morning. 1 think I ought to make that protest.

What I want to say is that the Central Council contributes a lead to its own downfall. If you publish a booklet under the name of the Central Council and give certain methods to be rung, it is no good turning round and saying "You should not ring these as they have irregular lead ends." That is true of Reverse Canterbury Pleasurc and three more Doubles methods.

The Central Council in the morning accepted a report of the Peal Analysis Committea which debarred peals which included Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, therefore over fourteen peals disappeared because Rule 1 states we should accept the rules and decisions of the Central Council. The whole point of our resolution was that we had foreseen this matter and we wanted it to be put on the agenda before the report was received. As the Oxford Guild motion was discussed in the afternoon, the Central Council made a spectacle of itself because it accepted something which it refused to accept in the morning. The position was the same as at the beginning of 1951. I am not going to say I am going to ring these methods to a peal-as it would be foolish. But the position is that the rule has been in existence since 1904. but it has not been enforced on any band of ringers.

The Master: It does seem that our representatives have done their best to present their resolutions fearlessly and forcibly to the Central Council. and the Central Council have accepted the resolution, and if I might say a final word, it would be wise for the Guild to lie low, like Breer Rabbit. and not acerbate the Council.

Mr. Keyte appealed to everyone ringing peals to support 'The Ringing World ' by sending a voluntary contribution to the paper.

THE LUNCHEON
The luncheon was held at Christ Church Hall, the Master being supported by the Bishop of Dorchester and Bishop Buxton.
The toast of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was proposed by Bishop Buxton. "With great sincerity,' he said, "I am happy to say how all of us who are not ringers appreciate the work and fine service of the Guild. I know something of the discipline and need for regular practice that goes into ringing.'
The Master, in reply, thanked Bishop Buxton for his remarks on the value of the work of bellringers. 'Sometimes we have unfortunate differences between clergy and ringers and these generally occur through thoughtlessness on the part of the ringers,' he said. 'In regard to these two peals. that is what we try to avoid in this Guild. We try to realise that we are servants of His Holy Church, and if we remember that, we cannot go wrong in our service. But we must remember that the incumbent has the last word in what ringers might do, and the churchwarden has also some power. I have often wondered what would happen if the churchwarden locked the door of the belfry. I believe the churchwarden has the right to exclude ringers from the tower legally.

Bishop Allen proposed the toast of "The Visitors,' and said they had with them representatives from London, the Ancient Society of College Youths, the oldest ringing Guild (which, he was told, was to ringing as the M.C.C. is to cricket). the Dioceses of Winchester, Guildford, Gloucester and Peterborough. They also welcomed the choir boys, who came from four parishes.

Mr Duncan Frame also replied and said it was 35 years ago that he attended an annual meeting at Oxford and he still saw a number of old friends there in Mr. Cullum and Mr. Hibbert.

Mr. Tom Fowler proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Cbapter of Christ Church, the preacher at the service, and Dr. Armstrong, who accompanied the singing. They all realised what a wonderful privilege it was to hold their service in the Cathedral, to have the Chapter House for their meeting and the luncheon in what had been described as the finest dining hall in England. To Dr. Allen, he wished the best of health in his retirement.

Dr. Allen thanked Mr. Fowler for his remarks and said they always looked forward to the Guild's annual visit to Oxford.

For their annual outing on Whit Monday, ringers and friends travelled to the West Country.

Towers visited were Newbury (10), Marlborough (6, with a tenor without a stay), Devizes, the Blessed Virgin Mary and St. John's (where the Rev. F. E. Robinson rang his last peal of Stedman), and St. Paul's, Salisbury. Lunch was partaken of at Devizes, and en route to Salisbury a visit was paid to Stonehenge. Home was reached at 10 pm . after a very Home was happy day.

MR. JAMES BENNETT TO LIVE

 IN SUFFOLKOne of the best known ringers in the London area, Mr. James Bennett, has now left Becken ham, Kent, to live in retirement in his native Suffolk.

Mr. Bennett is a member of the still select company of those who have rung over 1,000 peals. He took part in many outstanding per formances with the late William Pye and the late Charles T. Coles, including the famous record length of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne. He has also rung very many peals in the county of Kent, both in the Chatham area during his service in the Royal Marines and of later years in the Lewisham district, including nearly a hundred at Crayford and over fifty at St. John's, Erith.

To his friends at St. Mary's, Lewisham, Mr Bennett will, however, be missed most as a loyal and conscientious member of the local band. In some 24 years' membership Mr. Bennett has put up an example of regularity and punctuality in attendance that stands as a shining example to younger ringers. Some years ago he moved to Beckenham, but remained faithful to St. Mary's, and in spite of the greater distance he had to travel he was usually the first to arrive.
On Sunday morning, July 6th, a small gift was presented to Mr. Bennett by Canon P. D Robb, the Vicar of Lewisham, on behalf of the local band, as a mark of their appreciation of his past services and with their good wishes for a long and happy retirement and plenty of ringing amongst his many friends in Suffolk.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Ribchester a Popular Meeting

A successful meeting of the Blackburn Branch was held at Ribchester on July 5th. The church is very old, picturesque and full of historical interest. It is situated at one of the beauty spots of Lancashire, on the banks of the River Ribble. Ringing is from the ground floor and open to the body of the church, and the many visitors to the church found it fascinating to watch.

The ring of six bells, cast in 1721 , were kept going during the afternoon and evening with rounds and many methods up to Cambridge Surprise. Most of the towers in the branch were represented and there were also visitors from Rossendale, Manchester and Bolton, the latter being in strength.

A break was made for tea and the meeting The secretary (Mr. Charles Blakey) sent an apology for his absence in London. The local ringers made a request for an instructor, as they were very anxious to learn change ringing In reply to this, Mr. Arthur Tomlinson, vice president of the Association, said they would go into the matter. He was confident that their request would be carried out. There was a suggestion that was very favourably received that the branch should hold a meeting annually at this time of the year at this beauty spot.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, the local ringers and ladies for providing the tea and a hearty welcome.
'VIZITTORR.'

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD

The Dudley and District Guild held their quarterly meeting on June 28th at Penn, when about 30 members and friends took advantage of a beautiful summer's day to visit the fine old church situated on the edge of the Common The local ringers met the visitors on arrival.

The Vicar conducted the Guild service and gave an interesting address on the history of the church. The tea and meeting followed in the Church Room. The Central Council repre sentative gave his report of the meeting at Lincoln and two new members were elected.

The next quarterly meeting is to be held at Oldbury on October 4th, when it is hoped that the new secretary will be appointed. The members returned to the belfry for further ringing

baCK IT GOES AGAIN!

Dear Sir,-An advantage in not being a member of the Central Council is expressed in the old adage that "The looker-on sees most of the game.' There is an accompanying disadvantage, however, in being unable to express that wider view in the Council at the time; though this can be mitigated to some extent by such as this letter.
This year in Council it was said that little or no progress, officially, had been made in laying down the principles of method extension over the years since the negative Council resolution of a quarter of a century ago. That, of course, is true ; but the more important, and regrettable, thing to realise is that to-day there is still no real progress in official quarters: matters being referred year after year. All the time, in fact, resolved material is actually at band for:-
(1) Reaching conclusions from which clearcut proposals could be formulated for consideration and resolution in Council, without any further delay.
(2) Simplifying these technical matters and making them sufficiently clear to the average Council member, so that he could intelliger.tly consider and vote on them.

That the present stale-mate position might arise. however, was foreseen a year ago, after the 1951 'refer-back.' So steps were then taken to place on record evidence, not only in support of claims 1 and 2 above, showing that they are no idle boast, but also to indicate that the results of many years of investigation into these matters were already available for official use.
This evidence is to be found, in part, in the - Memorandum of Technology of Method Structure' lodged in the Council's Library, and duly acknowledged in this year's report. Mr. Poole will find there sympathetic support for some of his views and the answers to some of his queries. (He would also find that while the theory of method structure appears difficult when examined at random, it becomes simpler when studied in logical sequence.) That information was, of course. offered to the Methods Committee ; and while some little of it has found a place in their Supplementary Report, the main features are still neglected.

And so the Council's time was once again taken up by abortive discussion-abortive because not only is the line of argument in their Supplementary Report, in my view, fallacious, but also the crux of the matter of extension has not even been mentioned, either in the report or in the discussion in Council. It is this-the whole question turns on the prior establishment of the basic stage in any given method family under consideration. The Methods Committee will not deny that the basic stage is not the same for all methods. For example, in Plain Bob it is Minimus; in Cambridge it is Major (no, not Minor!); in Kent $\mathrm{T}-\mathrm{B}$ it is Minor; in London it is Royal (the new Royal-basic, of which the Major and Minor are true mathematical contractions, and to which there is a true mathematical Maximus, as shown in the Memorandum); and as a last example, in Oakham the basic is Maximus. A 'formula' has been worked out for determining which stage of a method family is the basic, or, as it is sometimes called, the 'parent,' and this is essentially the first consideration when examining a method. The reasons for this are well founded though too lengthy for inclusion here. But the report doesn't even mention it!
The second consideration, in due order, is that of the method's 'position cyclic.' Here again no mention was made of it in the report. But it is significant that Mr. Poole apparently quoted F. H. Dexter as having referred to it years ago (though not by this name) where he years ago (though not by this name) where he says, . . true extension is got by correct construction . .... the result gives the proper cycle of leads ends . . . that will be a proper extension . . $\therefore$ etc. (The italics are mine, but obviously already the mathematical structure was properly envisaged.)
The question of pivots arises directly from this second consideration, and not, as the Supplementary Report suggests, the other way round. Indeed, in my view, the Supplementary Report may be viewed as of the nature of 'cart before horse.' One has been at some pains to extract a long list of examples of 'standard' methods showing not only that they are grouped according to these 'cyclics,' but also that various pivot-combinations will produce the same cyclic.
But there is one pressing point of correction in general discussion of these matters. It is this-several references have been made in the past, and were made again at the recent Council meeting, to the 'mathematician,' rather as opposed to the 'practical ringer.' It is high time this ill-conceived idea of disconnection was exploded. To my knowledge there have been only two 'mathematicians' interested in exposition of ringing theory who were not practical ringers-Thompson and Rankin. The rest of those who have employed deductive reasoning of a truly mathematical nature, to enlarge the field of ringing knowledge, have all been practical ringers of greater or lesser degree. (One can be a practical ringer, surely, without having one's name in the peal columns every week?) So let this 'setting in opposition' be dropped, before the rank and file become sick of, and embittered against, anything of a theoretical nature.

For it must be remembered, without the theory there can be no standardised practice.Yours very truly,

A LESSON IN GEOGRAPHY

Dear Sir,-Re Belfry Gossip of July 4th, I must, as a Devonian, correct you in laying claim for Cornwall to the tower of North Petherwyn. The county border follows the Tamer except for a loop which includes the towers of Werrington and North Petherwyn.
These villages, incidentally, have, as far as I can check, never been in Cornwall.
At the other end of the county there are two towers, Churchstanton and Chardstock, shown in Mr. Dove's book as Devon and Dorset, but in a county redistribution at the end of the last century, Churchstanton is in Somerset, Chardstock in Devon and Wambrook, shown as in Dorset, is in Somerset for geographical purposes. So each county gained one village and loses one.-Yours faithfully,
W. C. PANTER.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE AS FILM BACKGROUND?

Dear Sir, - On July 10th, at the Odeon Cinema, Marble Arch, is the opening of the film, 'Something Money Can't Buy,' a comedy starring Anthony Steel and Patricia Roc.

Part of this film, and in particular some scenes involving Mr. Steel and a cricket match, were filmed at Hawkhurst, Kent, early this summer. During this filming and clearly audible the whole time were Hawkhurst bells. Whether or not they are heard in the film I cannot as yet say, but for the benefit of any ringer who may see the film and hear ringing, the ringing was a peal of Superlative Surprise Major at Hawkhurst, conducted by Mr. Thomas E. Sone.
The film staff were only too pleased to have bells in the background, and 1 am told that some at least of the band are anxious to learn whether or not they have got on to the soundtrack in their first 'film performance.'-Yours sincerely,

THE LADIES' GUULD

Annual Meeting in London

The 33rd annual meeting was held in London on July 5th, when the bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields and St. Giles-in-the-Fields were available during the afternoon, and further ringing was enjoyed during the evening at St. Margaret's, Westminster.
A delightful tea was followed by evensong at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields at 6 p.m. There were 49 members present at the business meeting, when Mrs. E. K. Fletcher and Miss D. Colgate were re-elected president and hon. secretary respectively.
All the members of the Guild united in congratulating Mrs. Fletcher on the honour conferred upon her at the last Central Council meeting, and they felt honoured that the first lady ringer to receive life membership on the Council should be their own president. This being so, a vacancy existed for a Central Council representative, and it was agreed that Miss Colgate should be elected to hold this position.
Five new members were elected. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Whitby, Yorkshire, on July 4th, 1953.
It was agreed that a revision of existing rules should take place and that a sub-committee be formed, made up of all district secretaries and the general secretary, to deal with this matter and to report to the annual meeting in 1953.
With regard to the 40th anniversary dinner to be held in Leicester on October 25th, tickets (price 12 s . 6d.) are now available. Early application, together with remittance, should be made to Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, 150, Narborough Road South, Leicester, as numbers are limited.
Votes of thanks were expressed to the incumbents of the three churches where the bells had been at the meeting's disposal; to Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Davies for making the local arrangements, and to all other people who had assisted in any way to make the meeting a success.

Western District at Honiton Clyst

The Western District of the Ladies' Guild held their quarterly meeting on June 28th at Honiton Clyst, Devon. Ladies and friends from the Bath-Bristol district took this opportunity to make this into what it is hoped will become an annual meeting. Ringing was arranged at Cullompton, St. Mark's, Exeter (not Heavitree as advertised), and at 11 minster. The service, tea and meeting was at Honiton Clyst, where further ringing was enjoyed. All four rings of bells were fully appreciated by all who took part.
It was proposed that the next meeting should be held in North Somerset, when it is hoped that a large number of ladies will be present in order to discuss the place of the next June meeting.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Chertsey District

A very pleasant meeting of the Chertsey District was held at Horsell on July 5th, when some 25 ringers were present. The bells were put to good use during the afternoon, and while the standard of ringing could not be described as good, several young ringers from the district towers received instruction in various methods. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. A. Woodard) and was followed by a pleasant tea or the vicarage lawn.
At the short business meeting the following ringers were elected members of the Guild: The Misses Jane and Ann Murrell (Send) and Anthony Sibbick (Horsell).
Before returning to the tower thanks were extended to the Vicar for permission to come to Horsell and for taking the service, and to Mrs. Woodard for arranging such an excellent tea.

CENTENARY OF AN EALING CHURCH

Christ Church-Christ the Saviour, 1852-1952

In connection with the peal of Grandsire Triples, rung exactly 100 years after the consecration of the church and bells, the following notes, taken from a Centenary Brochure compiled by Sir Cyril Flower, C.B., may be of interest:-

Christ Church (now the Church of Christ the Saviour) is, like other Ealing churches, in the gift of the Bishop of the Diocese. This has historical significance. The earliest mention of Ealing is a grant of land in "Gillings" by Ethelred to Waldhere, Bishop of London, made some time between 693 and 704 A.D. The place is not named in the Domesday Survey, but it is highly probable that it was included in the return for the Bishop's land of Fulham, which may then have been a large riparian parish extending westwards to the boundary of Isleworth. Ealing and Acton would have been clearings in the forest of Middlesex, which formed the northern hinterland of Fulham.

The earliest reference to the parish of Ealing records the presentation of Robert de Dumon on May 24th, 1243, but it may have been a separate parish long before that date. During the Middle Ages it remained an agricultural community centred round St. Mary's Church. In the 17 th century it tended to become residential. Its population grew rapidly during the following century, but the Parish Church of St. Mary remained its focus and the roads round the church served all the needs of the villagers.

The coming of the Great Western Railway in 1838 altered all this. The pleasant slopes to the north of the Uxbridge Road gave a peaceful haven for retirement, and their proximity to London made them preferable to Bedford or Cheltenham for those who wished to keep in touch with the capital. The popularity of Ealing as a dormitory for city workers came a little later by the opening of the Metropolitan Railway.

By the middle of the century the need for a church in the north of the parish was acute. A site was found where the roads from London to Oxford and from Brentford to Ruislip crossed. A field known as Hutfield lay to the north-west, and an acte of land was sold by the trustees for $£ 200$ as a site for a church. This sum now seems absurdly low, and probably the trustees did not ask the full market value, as they were anxious to make the Wood estate as attractive as possible. A picture of the church in 1852 has a rural setting.

The church itself was the generous gift of Miss Rose Frances Lewis, the daughter of William Thomas Lewis, of Liverpool. She was resident in the parish at Castle Hill House as tenant of Sir George Wetherall at the time of her death in September, 1862.

The contract figure for the erection of the church was $£ 6,520$, but the total expense was nearly $£ 9,000$, and, in addition, Miss Lewis gave $£ 500$ at a later date for the provision of a parsonage house and also paid for the peal of eight bells.

The building, which was consecrated on June 30th, 1852, by Bishop Bloomfield, is in the Decorated Style throughout. At the time this was almost inevitable. The Cambridge Camden Society had an overwhelming influence on the structural side of the Anglican revival and they laid it down as a dogma that Gothic was the only possible church architecture and that the Decorated Style was immeasurably superior to Early English, which was immature, and to Perpendicular, which was decadent.

The architect was Sir Gilbert Scott, and G. F. Bodley, who many years later had much to do with Christ Church was a young man in his office. Fortunately the church was one of Scott's earlier achievements, when he was content to follow medizval models and showed no inclination to introduce the aberrations of Victorian Gothic. The limestone ridge between Oxfordshire and South-West Lincolnshire has many beautiful churches of the Decorated period with lofty western towers, and it was from this area that Scott derived his inspiration. It has been said that Adderbury Church in Oxfordshire was in many respects his model, but the resemblance of the two churches is at most in the general lay-out and does not extend to details.

During the greater part of this century the services have been in the Anglo-Catholic tradition, under a number of noted priests, including Templeton King de Vere and Bell, and now under the present Vicar, the Rev. Prebendary W. H. Aglionby, M.A., M.C., the ornate and beautiful services attract large congregations from the joint parishes of Christ Church and St. Saviour's. As before mentioned, the Church of St. Saviour was utterly destroyed by enemy action and Christ Church badly damaged, resulting in the amalgamation of the two parishes under Father Aglionby, and under the new title of Christ the Saviour. The church is now approaching its pre-war beauty, and recently five very beautiful stained glass windows have been installed, to replace some of those destroyed. All are by Mr. Hugh Easton, who designed the Battle of Britain window in Westminster Abbey. The bells have recently been restored by the Whitechapel Foundry, and are now a beautiful ring of eight.
In the words of Father Aglionby, the bells had been rung for the jubilees of Queen Victoria, for the accessions of five Sovereigns, and now for the centenary, and he felt sure that this generation would hand to the next an even greater reputation than the church had previously known. 'The Church of God abides as the centuries go by. May the spire of Christ the Saviour long continue to point the people of Ealing to the things which are above, and its bells call them day by day to worship the Lord their God.'

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION Chew Deanery Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Wrington on July 5th. Ringing on the famous ten bells (ienor 37 cwt .) preceded the Association form of service, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. C. A. Chetwynd-Talbot, who gave an address.
Ringers from Backwell, Clevedon, Easton-inGordano, Hayes (Kent), Kewstoke, Locking, Long Ashton, Melksham. Nailsea, Publow, Wembdon. Weston-super-Mare, Wrington and Yatton then sat down to an excellent tea, provided by Mrs. Knight and her helpers. The business meeting followed and the first item was a report by Mr. G. Yeo, representative on the Diocesan Committee, of the meeting held in Bridgwater recently, at which it was resolved to call an extraordinary general meeting at Evercreech on October 4th to discuss matters arising from the impending retirement of the hon. general secretary. Other items to be discussed are the raising of subscriptions to 2 s . and the introduction of a peal booking fee.

One new member from Wrington was elected. It was decided that, subject to permission being granted, the October quarterly meeting should be held at Kingston Seymour with Chew Magna as an alternative if Kingston bells are not rehung by then. Practice meetings for August and September will be held at Weston-inGordano and Nailsea respectively, and the biannual corporate Communion will be held at Wrington on October 26th.

There being no other business, the usual votes of thanks were made to the tower, where ringing was under the direction of the Master, Mr ing Was under the direction of the Master, M.
M. J.H.

A FOUR GUILDS FESTIVAL

The annual festival meeting of the Guildford and Oxford Guilds and Middlesex Association on June 28th was this year strengthened by the Surrey Association's participation, thereby making this popular meeting into a foursome. It is hoped that this foursome will be an annual affair, and the title of 'The Thames Valley Festival ' was suggested.

A Thames Valley Festival it surely was, for with the four towers of Staines, Egham and Old Windsor situated at the extreme corners of ancient Runnemede and with a glorious summer day in our favour the meeting was a real success.

Ringing was continuous up to service time at 5.45. Whether the distance from Staines to Egham was a little too far, or whether the heat had overcome many of the ringers, only some 30 managed to find their way into the church for the service.
Some 49 ringers and friends, of whom 25 had sent in notice of attending, sat down to a sumptuous tea in the Church Hall, and full marks are due to our Egham friends for providing a tea which was suitable to the prevailing weather.

Tea over, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow moved the thanks of the meeting to the Vicar for taking the service and for permission to come to Egham again. The Vicar, in reply, said he was pleased to have the opportunity of welcoming the full party to Egham, though he was denied that pleasure earlier in the afternoon.
Handbell ringing by an associated company of brasshats provided a pleasant interlude, while others made their way back to the towers for further mental effort in the intricities of Surprise and other method ringing. W.S.

Mr. A. Patrick Cannon's 300 Peals

Triples.-Stedman 4, Grandsire 19 (10), Plain
Bob 1 . bridge S. 2 .

Doubles.-One to five methods 9 (7).

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of July 19th, 1912

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE ROBINSON
It is with extreme regret that we record the death on July 1st of this well-known ringer who for 28 years had been a member of the St. Paul's Society, Burton-on-Trent. . . . He came to Burton in 1875, and soon after joined the band of ringers at the Parish Church. Peal ringing at this time was very rare, and it was not until December 9th, 1882, that he rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, with the bells muffied in memory of the last Archbishop Tait.
[In his 186 peals, Mr. Robinson included 73 of Stedman Triples, 15 Double Norwich. 21 Superiative and 24 of London. The famous band at Burton-on-Trent were the first to ring Surprise methods in more than the odd one or two peals; they rang the second, third and fourth true peals of Cambridge, the first seven peals of New Cambridge-then known as the Burton Variation '-and seven of the first ten peals of London.]

OUTINGS IN BRIEF

EVERCREECH

An early start was made on June 21st by Evercreech ringers, with the churchwardens as guests, for a trip up the Wye Valley
The first call was at Chepstow, where, after little much-needed refreshment. we were met by the captain of the local band and enjoyed touches on the bells. The belfry here is in the form of a gallery set high up in the tower and with Norman pillars supporting the ceiling. The west front and much of the interior of the nave is of Norman origin and well worth a visit.
Travelling up the Wye Valley through beautiful scenery we came suddenly upon Tintern Abbey with its magnificent arches and gable ends, standing as straight and true as they were built centuries ago.
Monmouth was reached in time for lunch, which was partaken of at the King's Head, and much appreciated by all. Ringing followed at the Parish Church on the rather rough-going, but musical, ring of eight bells.
Moving away from the river, the route was through the Forest of Dean. to Ruardean, one of the villages typical of this semi-derelict mining area, where a sense of hopelessness seems to hang over everything, which the rambling churchyard and gloomy north porch did little to dispel. Nevertheless, the church inside was well appointed and the tower contained a delightful ring of eight bells which were rung to various methods.
At Gloucester Mr. Barry met the visitors and after tea at the Three Cuns, the bells at St. Mary de Crypt were rung for an hour.
At Stroud several of the local band and the Vicar welcomed the party. Touches of Grandsire Caters and a course of Bob Royal were thoroughly enjoyed on this grand ring of ten.

A social half hour followed at the Britannia, where the handbells were made good use of, and when our tune-ringing maestro suggested the need for some lower notes. the wag of the party suggested they might be got if he sat down.
Evercreech was reached about 11.30 pm ., after a day which had given us lovely weather. good company. excellent food and bells which we all enjoyed. H. J. S.

OTTERY ST. MARY. DEVON

Augmented by friends, the ringers of St. Mary's and St. Edward's held their outing on June 14th starting at $7.55 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The first stop was at Ilminster where the ring of eight were soon going to Stedman and Grandsire.
At the next tower. St. Cuthbert's, Wells (8), the 'go' was difficult owing to a solice in the rope catching in a groove in the ceiling rose. Jack Worrall joined the party in the belfry and had a pull with them.

The real excitement of the day arrived when departure time from Wells arrived at 12.30 . Three of the party were missing and there were serious faces on the young ladies in the back seat. About 12.55 a boy came cycling along saying that someone was shouting from the tower saying they were locked in. There were visions of a long wait as the verger, who had the key, had gone to the Cathedral. Fortunately the Deaconess produced a kev and the three young men, who had been to inspect the bells, were released.
After some leg-pulling, the coach went on its way to Weston-super-Mare, with a stop at Cheddar for a visit to the caves, or strawberries. Weston was reached in time for tea, the host for the meal heing Prehendary E. V. Cox. president of the Devon Grild. who looked up the party. From Weston the route was via Bridgwater. where rineing on the lovely eight was enjoyed, to Taunton. Ottery St. Mary was reached at 9.40 .

BRIDGENORTH, SALOP

A tour into North Wales was planned by the ringers of St. Leonard's, Bridgenorth, on June 28th, the band being, joined by individual friends from St. Mary's, Bridgenorth, Coalbrookdale. Wellington, St. Luke's, Wolverhampton and Little Aston (South Staffs).
Bridgenorth was left at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the first ringing was at St. Collen's, Llangallon, where the eight, with a tenor of $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., were rehung by John Taylor and Co., last year. Here touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were brought round.

The main road to Bangor was taken, a halt being made at Swallow Falls to admire the scenery. After an excellent lunch at the Waverley Hotel, Bangor, the coast road was taken through Conway and then inland to Bodelwyddan. This church, on account of its tall white spire, is known as the Marble Church. The bells are a ring of eight (tenor 14 cwt .) by Mears and Stainbank in 1872. Ringing included Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.
By 5 p.m. the party were enjoying tea at the Seven Stars Hotel. Wrexham. Then came a visit to St. Giles' Church, whose tower has been described as one of the Seven Wonders of Wales. The front six of this ten, with a tenor of 25 cwt . was raised in peal, and after rounds, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and finally a plain course of Bob Royal were accomplished. The ten were dropped in peal. Bridgenorth was reached at 9.30 . and thanks are expressed to those who organised the excursion.

HOLY TRINITY, GUILDFORD

One of the hottest days of this summer was selected by Holy Trinity Cathedral Society, Guildford, for their annual outing on June 28th. The choice of the Isle of Wight proved a happy one. The journey to Portsmouth was made by road and the morning was spent in Ryde with ringing at All Saints' Church and lunch.
Another coach was engaged for the afternoon, and the route and towers selected took the visitors away from the holiday crowds. Ringing took place at Arreton with its ground floor ringing-a tower which will be remembered for its massive buttresses ; Godshill, which so charmed the peal ringers of the party that they longed to have the privilege of a peal attempt: Carisbrooke, with historic and royal associations: Newport, with its creaking timbers, difficult to hear trebles and tricky seventh demanding experienced ringers accustomed to slow measured beat to prevent unpleasantness to the townsfolk Ringing during the day was varied. Being Holy Trinity, Guildford, Stedman was not neglected, but there was also the four usual Surprise methods and the standard methods.
Looking back on the outing, it was an example of perfect organisation, with no regimentation, everybody on time and good meals, for which the company and their friends thank Mr. F. A. Munday.

COLESHILL, WARWICKSHIRE

Favoured by the weather on July 5th, Coleshill ringers and friends enjoyed a day's tour in the beautiful Warwickshire and Oxfordshire countryside. Passing through Kenilworth and Warwick, the first stop was at Kineton to try the six bells there. Over Edge Hill calling at Banbury brought the company to Deddington, where bells and church were much admired.
Following lunch in Oxford and ringing at St. Giles', the Cotswold village of Whichford was reached, with its grand six to claim attention. After tea and a final touch at Tysoe the journey home was via Sratford-on-Avon.
Thanks are given to incumbents for permission to ring, and to local ringers for their welcome and help which contributed to a successful outing.

NORTH BRADLEY, WILTSHIRE

The North Bradley ringers, together with wives and friends from neighbouring towers, held their annual outing on June 28th.

Following an early start in perfect weather, the first tower, Malmesbury, was reached a little behind schedule. The Abbey campanile, which is all that remains of the original Parish Church of St. Paul, stands at the end of the Abbey churchyard and contains a fine octave with an 11 cwt .8 lb . tenor. These bells have come from five different foundries and were increased to eight and rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1951. The fragment of the Abbey which remains is in the Transitional or postNorman style, and the remains of the central tower show a tower arch which must have been higher than the present campanile.

The next stop was Stroud, a ring of ten rung from the ground floor. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were successfully brought round here, although the bells are a little difficult to hear in the ringing chamber.
Following lunch in Stroud came the run to Gloucester, when most of the ladies promptly disappeared, to return later heavily laden with parcels! Ringing was enjoyed at St. Mary de Crypt Church, and it is in Bell Lane in this parish that the famous Rudhall foundry was situated. It is fitting that the eight bells in the tower should all have originated from this foundry.

Berkley, with its famous Hunt. was reached in time for tea, and afterwards the detached tower was visited. This tower is a large one with dirt in proportion! A slight delay was incurred while a little light engineering work was carried out on a misplaced chiming hammer, and it is a matter for speculation as to what happens to Mr. Harding when his wife comes to wash his shirt! The 'go' of the ten bells here left a lot to be desired.

A short journey brought the party to Thornbury, with a lofty church and a splendid 16th century tower. The bells proved to be a mellow octave which needed some little effort to bring out the best in them.
The final tower was Almondsbury with a central tower and a curious lead spire, and the eight bell's were put to good use until 9 o'clock.
A stop for liquid refreshment in Keynsham concluded a very pleasant day's trip. Ringing was generally of a good standard and the conducting was shared.

Sincere thanks are due to all the incumbents (especially the Vicar of Malmesbury for allowing the use of the bells at short notice), to the people who met and welcomed the party and last, but by no means least, to Mr. P. Harding for making the arrangements. M. J. H.

ST. MARY'S, READING

On July 5th, the St. Mary's, Reading, band and a number of ringing friends paid a visit to Somerset for their annual outing. Chewton Mendip was first visited, followed by Wells Cathedral. Lunch was taken at Wells and the party proceeded to Ditcheat, where they were met by Mr. J. Lintern.
Ditcheat ringing room is a model of what a ringing chamber should be and. as one of the party remarked, 'looks cared for.' The party are still left wondering which is the finer peal, Ditcheat or Chewton Mendip.
A visit was then paid to Queen Camel, where Mr. Reeves was waiting. Everyone was delighted with the 'go' and tone of this magnificent ring of six. A good tea, kindly arranged by Mr. Reeves, was taken at the Sparkford Hotel and the party moved on to Westbury, Wilts, where the ringing for the day was closed with a course of Bristol. The arrangements then passed info the 'back seaters,' who entertained the party during the return journey to Reading.
The party's thanks are expressed to the incumbents and members of the towers visited who so kindly helped to make the outing a success.

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY BROOKS

The All Saints', Isleworth, company of ringers have lost one of their oldest members by the death in the West Middlesex Hospital on June 24th of Mr. Harry Brooks, of 211, Worton Road, Isleworth.
Mr. Brooks recently fractured his leg as the result of a fall while attempting to board a trolley bus. The fracture healed rapidly and Mr. Brooks made good progress generally until he was about to attempt to use his leg, when he suddenly died.
Next December 6th Mr. Brooks would have reached his 70 th birthday, and he had been a member of the Isleworth company for 47 years, having for many years occupied the post of steeplekeeper. It was planned to attempt a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal next December as a 70th birthday compliment.
A staunch supporter of the London County Association of Change Ringers and also a member of the Middlesex County Association, he will be missed by all who knew him and particularly by the many friends who loved him for his kind, quiet and unassuming character As a member of the All Saints' Parochial Church Council and its finance committee, he was a man who was ever willing and always anxious to help his church in its various activities and also its members of all ages. The sympathy of many friends is extended to his widow and family. His only daughter, Mrs. K. F. J. Parr, is also a member of the Isleworth company and has rung peals in methods up to Spliced Surprise Royal.
As the funeral procession approached All Saints' Church on July 1st, the $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor bell, on which Mr. Brooks had rung the majority of his peals, was slowly tolled by A. Tomblin. At the interment in Isleworth Cemetery Mr. Brooks' own handbells were rung over the open grave by D. J. Charnley $1-2$, Miss June Creak 3-4, S. Croft 5-6, and A. L. Pearson 7-8. The same evening half-muffled ringing was carried out on the ten bells of the Parish Church under the supervision of Mrs. O. L. Rogers. It was on these bells that, in his capacity as steeplekeeper, Mr. Brooks had lavished his care and attention for so many years.
During his lifetime Mr. Brooks had participated in many ringers' outings, and it will always be a proud thought for the present local company of ringers that following his last outing with them he said it was the best ever. This occasion was precisely one month before his death (May 24th), when the places visited were Banbury, Stratford-on-Avon, Norton and Evesham, Worcestershire.

MR. NEIL SHARPE

We regret to record the death of Mr. Neil Sharpe, of St. James' Change Ringers Association, Paisley. He died very suddenly on July 5th while playing bowls.
Mr. Sharpe, who was 50 , had been a member of St. James' band for 32 years. He retired from conducting the band at the beginning of this year, but was still a regular ringer. Visitors to Scotland will remember him as a very constant friend.

AN APPRECIATION

The news of the sudden death of Mr. Neil Sharpe, of St. James' Church, Paisley, came as a great shock as he appeared to be enjoying the best of health.
Neil was a fine example of a 'couthy' Scot. with his pleasant West Country 'burr,' genial though unassuming manner, and a fine sense of humour. He took a great interest in ringing and was a frequent visitor at St. Mary's, Glasgow.

A keen Churchman, he was a member of the Kirk Session at St. James', and was also wellknown in Masonic circles. We will miss him. Our sympathy goes out to his widow, son and daughter.
E. A. S.

FREDERICK GEORGE HOWCHIN

Died June 16th, 1952, aged 85.
GEORGE HOWCHIN
Died July 4th, 1952, aged 91.
The brothers Howchin, whose deaths took place within three weeks of each other, were active in ringing circles in Norwich for fifty years and were well known throughout Norfolk and Suffolk, having taken part in peals at most of the churches in those counties with eight or more bells.

George and Fred were born at Hingham and early in life came to Norwich to follow their trade as tailors. Fred was elected a probationer in 1885 and, moving to Norwich in 1889, took part in his first peal, one of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Marsham on March 13th that year. Six months later he rang in the first peal on the back eight at Mancroft (Grandsire Triples), and on November 20th, 1890, was a member of the band to ring the first of Treble Bob Major on the bells. George rang the treble to this, his second, peal, having rung one of Grandsire Caters at Mancroft the previous month.
The brothers continued regularly to take part in peals, and their records contain many fine performances. Their striking was well nigh faultless and they would never attempt a method or associate with any band unless this condition could be fulfilled. They were both outspoken and never left their hearers in doubt as to their meaning

Fred, in particular, was a 'character,' and many rich stories are told of him. Their longest peal was one of 11,264 Double Norwich Major, rung on December 12th, 1931, with Fred ringing Saxlingham tenor. Their last was rung at St. Miles', Norwich, on June 4th, 1938, the tower at which George was Master for several years. During the war the brothers retired from ringing. Altogether Fred took part in 367 peals, of which three were on handbells and a few of them he conducted. George's tatal for the Norwich Association was 272. May they rest in peace.

MR. J. T. TITT

We regret to record the passing of Mr. James Thomas Titt, of Darlington, which took place on July 2nd, in his 77th year.
Mr. Titt was born at Bishop Auckland, where his family had a life-long connection with St. Andrew's Church. He himself in his young days was a chorister there and also a member of the belfry. As a young man he sought fields and pastures new for a career and joined the North Riding Constabulary. His hours of duty and a distance from any rings of bells, however, compelled him to give up ringing for a time. He served in a number of stations in the North Riding of Yorkshire from Malton to Loftus, and when he retired in 1925 with the rank of sergeant he made his home in Darlington and joined the Holy Trinity band there. He took up the threads again with enthusiasm and became a regular ringer and churchgoer. For many years he was secretary of the Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association and retired only last year when his colleagues made a presentation to him in appreciation of his service. He had taken part in about 70 peals.
The funeral service was on July 5th in Holy Trinity Church, Darlington, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. J. Simpson), and was followed by cremation. A slow course of London Surprise was rung as the cortege left the church. Mr. Titt is survived by a widow, son and two daughters.

RINGING RHYMES

No. 12 - STEDMAN
This odd-bell method joins 'plain hunt For three bells working in the front, With dodging on all bells behind, In pairs, for rows of six, you'll find.
Six rows for three bells are th'extent. So then a bell from front is sent To join the dodging; whence will come A bell exchanged to front-work. Some Device must now be used to stretch The change-production-not to fetch Up rounds too soon. The simple plan Is this one : Direct hunting can With Retrograde be sandwiched. So One six is Quick '; the next one 'Slow

Since Stedman is not hunt-controlled

No 'leads' by treble bell are told. Divisions, of twelye rows, per bell, Compose each plain course. Mark this well For Doubles-five twelves, 'sixty' score. For Triples-seven twelves, 'eighty-four. For Caters-nine twelves, 'one-O-eight.' For Cinques-eleven twelves (calculate!!!)

But since Divisions must 'reflect '
From mid-way onwards, to correct
The symmetry, the Stedman 'div.'
Of twelve rows will be found to give, From rounds, half one quick six, and then One slow, and one-half quick, again.

The 'Junction' thus comes midway 'slow.
The 'Link' (div-end) mid 'quick' will go

MR. HARRY GIBBARD

It is with great regret that we report the death of Mr. Harry Gibbard, of Maxey, Northants, on June 22nd at the age of 57.

Born at Somerton, in Oxfordshire, he later moved to Lincolnshire, where he learned to ring and was a great enthusiast, especially in teaching youngsters. He lived at Rippingale for some years and was instrumental in having the five bells augmented to six by the addition of a 'Jubilee bell' in 1935.
An accomplished Surprise Minor ringer, he took part in one of the 32 Surprise method peals conducted by his friend, Horace Day.
At Maxey, where he died, he was training a young band to ring and they, with ringers from the surrounding districts, rang the bells halfmuffled for his funeral on Wednesday, June 25 th. Floral tributes included a wreath from the Vicar and ringers of Maxey and one from the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. J. W. H.

MOTIVES

PRIDE of achievement is, perhaps, one of the most impelling factors in a ringer's personal progress. It shows up in various ways, as, for instance, when a ringer endeavours to build up a huge peal total, or in an endeavour to ring as many different methods as he can, or when he makes an effort to 'circle' a tower. He may have an ambition to ring a notoriously bad going bell to a peal, or to ring the heaviest tenor, and so on. Another form his ambition may take is to ring in as many towers as possible. Yet another is to pilot as many as possible through their first peal, or to act as instructor to beginners and set their feet on the right ringing path. All these are laudable ambitions provided the person concerned fully realises and recognises the purposes and reasons for church bells. They are placed where they are for the praise and glory of Almighty God, and all ringers' ambitions and ideas must be subordinated to this overruling fact.

A ringer can legitimately take part in a well-struck touch or peal, doing his very best and feeling in his heart that in his humble way he is helping to ring to God's glory, just as the chorister in his stall contributes his part in the hymns and anthems to the same high purpose. To take part in such ringing or singing undoubtedly gives pleasure to those whose motives in so doing are the correct ones, and they are fully entitled to the enjoyment they derive from such efforts. We as ringers need constantly to remind ourselves of this higher conception of our art, so that we may make our personal ambitions a secondary consideration.
With such thoughts in mind, what are we to think of a peal recently rung and about which there has been some correspondence in this paper which makes anything but pleasant reading? Maybe those who took part in the peal were inspired by higher or not so high motives-but it cannot be denied that such exploits render a definite disservice to the cause of change ringing. Enough has already been written on the matter to enable anyone with an open mind to form an opinion for or against; but this is not the first time such an occurrence has taken place. Bands of (we will be charitable and say) enthusiasts have obtained permission to ring, locked themselves in the tower and rung a peal, with the result that peal ringing in that place has been forbidden in future. We hope this will not be the result in the unhappy instance we have recently witnessed.

If it occurred many times, the Exercise would certainly be confronted with the necessity of protecting itself against such abuses. We can only hope that those concerned will have learned their lesson and will take the trouble in future to explain to those from whom permission is sought to ring what is meant by the term 'a peal.' It seems fairly obvious that this misunderstanding might have been caused by the failure of the person who gave permission to ring to understand thoroughly that a peal lasts three hours or thereabouts.

We are now approaching the time of year when peal ringing tours will be in full swing. Many of those who take part will be firmly of the opinion that by the tours they are advancing the cause of change ringing. They will ring their fourteen to twenty peals in a week, possibly with a feeling that the Exercise should be grateful to them for spending so much time and trouble, not to say money, on their efforts. It must be admitted that many who take part in such tours are good churchmen imbued with high motives -but it also has to be admitted that many take part for purely personal aggrandisement. Whatever the motives, these tours provide a definite headache for many hardworked association secretaries, who in these difficult times have trouble in making financial ends meet.

Take an instance-a band of $15-20$ ringers decide to tour a certain district (generally one with plenty of goodgoing bells). Those who are not already members of the Association for whom the peals will be rung will take up a life membership costing 5 s . This might mean an addition to that Association's funds of $£ 4$ or $£ 5$. All this money, and more, is swallowed up in the expense of printing the peals in the Report, so that apart from the pleasure given to a comparatively few people who hear the ringing, the Society is worse off as a result of the visit. Probably many County Associations and Guilds have already considered whether or not their subscriptions for life membership are too low.

Then it has to be considered whether it is fair to the resident bands that first peals in the higher methods should be grabbed by visitors, so removing for ever the possibility of local bands achieving the first peal of so and so on their own bells. Touring bands should make sure that the Associations whose territories are visited are not the losers by the visit and they should include amongst their expenses an amount which will reimburse the Societies concerned against any possible loss.

If these tours are to do any good other than to those who take part in them, it should be stressed that the ringing should be of the highest order, especially in peals, and nothing should be tolerated which might evoke unfavourable criticism in the district. It is far more important to leave good impressions behind than to have a very impressive looking report in the peal columns.

GILLETT

AND

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

IV.-Simple Method Construction

Last week we endeavoured to explain what is meant by ' hunting,' which enables a beginner to grasp the first principles of change ringing Hunting will help him to acquire rope-sight, but it is not advisable to continue a plain hunting course for too long a time, because after a while, one gets to know it by heart and its usefulness, at any rate for the purpose of teaching rope-sight, is lost.

As soon as the beginner can pick out the bell he has next to follow, by using his eyes, he should go on to learn a 'method.' If he is in a five- or six-bell tower, Grandsire Doubles is the method he will probably turn to first.

There are a number of methods of "Doubles" but only a few of them are 'pure Doubles,' that is to say, changes produced entirely by moving two pairs of bells every time. There are some methods which are constructed by the use, once or oftener in a lead-a lead for this purpose meaning the changes from one lead of the treble to the next lead of that bell-of a change made by moving only one pair of bells.

If, for instance, you have one row of figures 13254, you can produce either 31524 , or 31245 , or 12345 by means of "Doubles ?-that is by changing two pairs of bells. But in some methods, in order to produce the extent of the changes on five bells, such as, after 13254, having 13524 . This change is really a single change, and in some of the very old ringing books, methods in which a number of such changes occurred were known as 'Singles and Doubles.

If you are going to produce a method which does not consist solely of a plain hunting course, there must be, within each lead, one or more 'places' made.

A 'place' is made by a bell remaining two blows (a whole pull, either at handstroke and backstroke, or backstroke and handstroke) in the same position in the interior of the change.

Thus on five bells a 'place' can be made in 2 nds , 3 rds or 4 ths, but only 3 rds place enables the succession of pure Doubles to be maintained. If you write out a few changes and introduce 2 nds or 4 ths, you will soon discover why.

In the construction of Doubles the number of available 3rds places is very limited, hence the limited number of possible methods. If we confine ourselves for the moment to methods in which the treble keeps to plain hunting, then there are only four possible 3 rds places in any one lead. The different methods depend upon the different position in which these 3 rds places occur.

The formation of the Grandsire method is caused by making 3rds place at the first available opportunity, that is at the very first change.
Now, no method of pure Doubles based upon a treble with a plain hunt will produce the extent of the changes in a plain course.

The use of 'bobs ' and 'singles' is necessary. A bob is the introduction of an additional 3rds place, and has to be signified by the conductor, who at the stated intervals calls out Bob.'
For a reason which we need not go into now plain leads and Bobs alone in a pure Doubles method will produce only half the possible changes; it needs a 'single' to produce the other half and a second "single" before the bells can be brought round.

We have already indicated what a single isit is, in Doubles, the movement of only one pair of bells in the change.

Before we go on to the actual explanation of how to ring Grandsire, we would like our beginners to try and work out for themselves some of the methods which can be produced. Remember there are four places in which 3rds can be used, let us call them $a, b, c$ and $d$.

These can be used singly, as 'a ' in Grandsire, or in any combination as ' $a$ ' and ' $c$ ' in what is known as Double Grandsire. In "skeleton this is where the places can occur, the letters representing the places, 1 the treble and the dots the other bells:-

While on this question we would like to answer an inquiry which we received the other day, "What is a "bob" and "single"?"
A bob causes certain bells to alter the path of their regular work-that is, it transposes their coursing order. Usually only three bells are affected, but the work of any odd number of bells may be affected. The bob is "called" by the conductor.

A "single" effects the transposition of the work of two bells (instead of three) or some even number of bells. It, too, is called by the conductor.

The actual work of the bells at a bob varies with the method. In Grandsire it is effected by an additional 3 rds place made at the handstroke lead of the treble, and causes all the bells above that place to alter the order of their work, athough the actual transposition of coursing order only affects three bells

East Norfolk Branch

A meeting of East Norfolk Branch at Ditchingham on June 21 st attracted 37 members. The service was held in Ditchingham Church, conducted by the Rev. K. O. Morris (Vicar of Norton Subcourse) the Rector being unable to attend.
The tea was held in the Parish Hall at Bungay and was followed by a business meeting at which Mr. E. R. Goate (Branch chairman) invited the Rev. M. Lummis, Vicar of Bungay. to preside. The next meeting was proposed to be held at Somerleyton, if possible, on September 13 th. Silent tribute was paid to the late Fred Howchin, of Norwich, who passed away on June 16 th at the age of 85 .
Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. M. McDonald. of Ditchingham, for the use of the bells, also to the organist, to the Rev. K. O. Morris for conducting the service and to the Vicar of Bungay for presiding and for the use of the bells at Bungay, also to $\mathbf{M r}$. H. W. Barrett who at great trouble ably managed the tea at Bungay.

Ringing continued at Bungay until well into the evening and methods were rung at each church to suit all companies.

DORSET RINGERS' FESTIVAL

Bellringers from all parts of Dorset took part in the annual ringing festival at Blandford on July 5 th, held under the terms of a bequest by the late Mr. S. F. Pond, a Blandfordian, who died in Australia.

A service at the Parish Church was conducted by the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, of Kington Magna. who also played the organ. About 40 took tea in the Corn Exchange, when the guests were welcomed by the Mayor and Mayoress of Blandford (Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Faulkner). The Deputy Mayor (Mrs. E. M. Biddulph) and Mr. Robin Bíddulph were also present.
The bells were kept in frequent use during the afternoon and evening and methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

THE PEAL ATTEMPT
(With apologies to Lord Tennyson)
Half a course, half a course,
Half a course onward,
All in a frenzy of sweat To ring the five thousand.
' Lead now, the treble bell, Dodge three-four up!' he said, Into a thunder of row To ring the five thousand.
'Single,' the leader bade. Was there a man dismayed?
Not though the ringers knew Someone had blundered.
Theirs not to make reply, Theirs not to reason why,
Theirs but to pull and sigh; Into a horrible mess
They rang the five thousand.
Sallies to right of them,
Sallies to left of them,
Sallies in front of them Leaped up and down again
Screamed at with shout and yell, Heedless each pulled his bell
Into the second half,
Into a noisy hell,
In the five thousand.
Clanged all the trebles here, Dropping the tenors there,
Waving their arms in air Ringing a method, while
All the town wondered. Locked in the hideous den
Each bell the lead end sought To keep to blue line they fought; Vicar and layman.
Reeled from the noisy port, Shattered and deafened.
Then it came round, but notNot one five thousand.
Sallies behind them,
Now still and silent.
Cursed at and stoned as well. While each rang his own belli,
They that had fought so well, Came from the belfry then.
Nothing was left of itLeft of five thousand.
When can their story fade 0 the wild blows they made ! All the town wondered.
Think of th'attempt they made, Think of the blisters sore, Ghastly five thousand !

HOLIDAY COPIES

Will postal subscribers going on holiday please send their temporarzy address to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' if they require their copies forwarded to them. They should be received on the Monday previous to the date of issue.

Two well-known ringers were travelling together on the London Underground when a well-dressed lady got in, and it was noticed that in place of the usual ear-rings her ears carried two small bells complete with clappers. Neither ringer had the courage to ask her whether she was a ringer, but she was the object of much conjecture during the rest of the journey!
Articles of general interest appertaining to ringers, ringing and bells wiuld be much appreciated by the Editor.
Will the reader who received the manuscript of Carol Tunes for Eight Bells please return the same as we have still a long waiting list.

We are pleased to note that Mr . Albert Walker has recovered from his indisposition and his name is again in our peal columns, he having conducted a peal of Stedman Cinques.
Miss Hilda M. Snowden, 13 -year-old niece of Miss Hilda G. Snowden, who first handled a bell in January, rang her first quarter on July 9th. Donald Mills, who called the quarter, is only 12 years of age.
In honour of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Guildford Diocese, an attempt was made last Friday for a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on the bells of Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford. After two hours' ringing the peal was lost.
The Editor thanks those correspondetts who dissociate themselves with the irate gentlemen's remarks about the conduct of 'The Ringing World.' One adds: 'I have taken "The Ringing World" since 1920 without a break and during that time the Editor has been shot at scores of times, but still carried on and probably succeeded in pleasing the majority of his readers. You can't please everybody all the time.'

GOSSIP

To-morrow (Saturday) the Bishop of Winchester is rededicating the bells of Baughurst near Basingstoke. The school bell, cast in 1897 for the Diamond Jubilee, has been melted down, new metal added and is to be the treble to the new ring.

The Oueen has taken a personal interest in the work and the Church authorities have received the following letter: 'Her Majesty is interested to learn that the bell associated with the memory of Queen Victoria has been recast and will be used in the church at Baughurst.'
Congratulations to Mr. David J. Charnley and Miss Sheila E. Harris, who were married at All Saints', Isleworth, last Saturday.
The hot spell of weather during the past month has resulted in a big reduction in the number of peals rung. From what we can gather there is no shortage of attempts. The number of failures has been abnormal.
A recent announcement in the Press suggests that a ring of bells might be installed at the top of the Eiffel Tower, Paris. A correspondent asks for any information on the proposal and if the bells would be bung for ringing.
We are sorry to learn that Mr. A. E. Symonds. president of the Hertford County Association, is indisposed. At a meeting of the Northern District of the Association at Sandon, a message was sent wishing him a speedy recovery.
In connection with the peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 21 methods rung at Bourne, Lincs, on July 12 th, Mr. John Underwood. who rang the second, cycled 56 miles from Whitwick, Leics. in order to participate. He was rewarded for his long ride by the excellent striking throughout the peal.

JOINT MEETING AT TWICKENHAM

Middlesex and London County Associations

The two Associations joined forces and held a meeting at Twickenham and Isleworth on July 12 th. Twickenham river front, on this bright summer's day, made a pleasant scene with craft of all shapes and sizes, while children splashed and swam at the water edges. The ringers, however, were busy at St. Mary's Church, close by, and Mr. R. E. Price, the District Ringing Master, was fully occupied in arranging touches in a variety of methods including Surprise, as well as rounds for the learners.
Shortly after 3 p.m. activity was transferred to the Church of All Hallows. and Surprise Royal was soon pealing forth. (One wag was heard to say you wanted an ear trumpet to tick off the lead-ends!) The tower once stood in Lombard Street in the City of London and was removed to Twickenham before the W'ar. The bells, however, bave not long been installed, and as the church was erected in an area already highly residential. sound control was applied rather drastically to overcome local opposition to the bells.
The church is a modern building, lofty and spacious, and a fine polished, wooden-block floor sets off some of the old wood fittings with their beautiful carvings which were removed from the old church. Among the latter might be mentioned the pulpit and organ, both fine examples of their kind.

The fine tones of the organ enriched the service, at which the Vicar (the Rev.J. H. A. Charles), himself a ringer, gave a short address. During the service thanks were offered for the life and example of Harry Brooks, who died on June 24th, and was for many years a ringer at Isleworth.

Tea-time was a very happy occasion. The meal was served al fresco on the lawn outside the church vestry.
In the absence of the vice-president of the Middlesex Association, Mr. W. H. Coles, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, hon. secretary of the South and West District. extended a welcome to members of the London County Association and expressed pleasure in meeting many old ringing friends. He thought it a good thing for Associations occasionally to meet together and hoped it would continue. Mr. Goodfellow also thanked all who had helped in any way with the arrangements for the meeting. He expressed the regret of Mr. H. W. Rogers, hon. secretary of the London County Association, at being absent from tea. Mr. Rogers was busily engaged at his church fete at Isleworth.
The rest of the evening was spent at Isleworth. There one could join 'the sneed merchants ' in the tower in a course of Yorkshire Royal, etc., or lean on the wall overlooking the river (as generations of ringers have done) making critical comments on the ringing, the ringers and the odd "creations ' one encounters on the riverside. Some even found pleasure in a leisurely drink (also as qenerations of ringers have done) at that fine old 'pub,' the London Aporentice.
Finally came the goodnights and then home by all sorts of transport.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

Encouraging Visit to Knowle

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild was held at Knowle on July 5th. Knowle ringers have made much progress recently and it was very pleasing to the officers of the Guild to meet the local ringers in full strength.
Permission had been obtained for the use of the historic Guildhall for the tea and mecting, a privilege which was greatly appreciated. At the meeting the chair was taken by Mr. Albert Walker, vice-president, who received the congratulations of the members upon his complete recovery from his illness.
The chairman regretted his painful duty to refer to the loss of two members since the last meeting. They all knew the late Harold ' Jack' Fitter, and of the vast amount of work he had accomplished in Yardley tower, where he would be sadly missed. John Marshall, of Edinburgh, was a stonemason by trade and came to work on the building of Birmingham's new fire station, where his carving remains for all to see. During his stay in the Diocese he rang several peals for the Guild and was admired and respected by all who were privileged to meet him. The members stood in silence for a moment as a token of respect for their departed colleagues.
New members elected were Michaed G. Morton and Peter J. Morton (Erdington). Eric O. Davies (Kings Heath), Alfred Nix, Albert Nix, Eric Wimlett and Anthony A. Upton (Knowle) and Richard G. Morris (Dorridge). The tower elections of the following life members were duly ratified: Messrs. Clement Glemn (Bulwell), Alfred W. Glazzard (Stourport) and Frank C. Price (Feltham).

Subject to permission being obtained the next meeting will be held at Erdington Parish Church on October 5th.
In proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Knowle and the local ringers for their help towards a successful meeting, Mr. Walker reminded the members that he rang at Knowle when the bells were made six in 1897! They were made an octave in 1931.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Presentations to Mr. and Mrs. J. Chalk

Glorious weather, a good attendance, a pleasant ring of six, and an inspiring service conducted by Canon E. H. Gallop, who also acted as organist, were the features of the quarterly meeting of the South Western Division held at Bobbingworth on July 5th.
The Master, Mr. J. Crampion, reported that he had gone into the records and it was 48 years since the Division had met at Bobbingworth.
The local band have made great progress under the leadership of Mr. F. Pavitt and the thanks of the Division are due to him for the excellent tea arrangements.
At the end of the routine business meeting the Division expressed its thanks to the late Master, Mr. J. Chalk, and his wife, when Canon Galiop presented Mr. Chalk with a leather attache case, and Mrs. Chalk an electric toaster.
In asking the Canon to make the presentation, Mr. J. Crampion drew attention to the faithful and devoted service of Mr. Chalk who had piloted the Division through the difficult war years, and had held the office of Master for 13 years. The Division also tendered its thanks to Mrs. Chalk for all her tolerance and the various times when she had graced meetings with her attendance.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Chalk replied; the former, in reminiscent vein, paying tribute to his predecessors and some of the prominent people of the Division. Concluding, he said that although the years were passing by and 'there was so much to do and little time to do it, he hoped that he would be spared to give the Division continued service.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

The Guild's First Meeting at Knighton
On the most northern tip of the Diocese, tucked away amongst beautiful scenery, is the town of Knighton, in Radnorshire, which was visited by over 96 members and friends for the annual festival of the Guild on July 12 th. They came from Builth, Talgarth Brecon, Aberavon, Porthcawl, Baglan, Neath, Cadoxton, Swansea and Sketty, Llanelly, Llandilo, Cowbridge, Shrewsbury and the local band. Some of these members had never attended a meeting of the Guild before.

The party from the south, through unforeseen circumstances, delayed the commencement of the service at St. Edward's. The Lord Bishop was present, and the Vicar, the Rev. K. V. Evans, gave the address, in which he welcomed the members of the Guild to his church. especially as it was the first meeting of its kind ever held there. Afterwards everyone adjourned to the Church Hall to enjoy the good things laid out there for the afternoon meal. The Vicar was cordially thanked for the perfect arrangements made.

At the business mecting the Lord Bishop presided and his first duty was to move the election of a new general secretary, as he had received a written resignation from Mr. D. G. Williams. A proposal by the Ringing Master that Mir. J. Arthur Hoare be elected was carried.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and duly signed by the chairman as a true record. Arising out of the minutes, the proposal to open a Restoration Fund was favourably received by the committee members and was carried. It was decided to start collecting at this meeting.

The statement of accounts was read and adopted. The Lord Bishop then moved that Mr . D. G. Williams be cordially thanked for his long years of faithful service for the Guild, and also that sincere appreciation be expressed of the gift of the peal record book. Mr. D. G. Williams was then made a life member.

A very satisfactory report was given by the Ringing Master.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Ringing Master, Mr. John T. Williams, was again asked to continue in this office, and this proposal was accepted. Mr. D. Stokes was elected as treasurer.

A report of the Central Council meeting was given by Mr. Gwyn I. Lewis. All members were again reminded to order. The Ringing World.' It was also decided to leave the competition for another year.

The 1953 Festival is to be held at Sketty, Swansea, in June. It was agreed to give a donation of $£ 5$ from the Guild's fund to the Welsh Church Appeal.

The Lord Bishop was thanked by the general secretary for presiding at the meeting and for his loyalty to the Guild. In his reply, the Lord Bishop thanked all those ringers who often sacrifice so many things to fulfil the duties of Sunday ringing.

It was a great day for the members and friends of the Southern Section who left at 7.30 in the morning to attend this festival, via Leominster, and they will not forget the Milk Cart * in the town, or the tapestry at Presteigne, The Golden Valley, and also ' that man again, W. M.'

The ten bells of Leominster and the two eights at Knighton and Presteigne were all visited and ringing on them was greatly enjoyed. On the way home-with the Beacons behind us-it was only too apparent that it had been a long day, for looking towards the back of a long day, for looking towards the back of the bus the youngsters were observed fast asleep on each other's shoulders.

FORTY YEARS AGO Extract from 'The Ringing World, July 26th, 1912  THE LADIES' PEAL

The Exercise generally will extend hearty congratulations to the eight members of the fair sex who last Saturday succeeded in ringing the first ladies' peal. It is a performance of which they may be distinctly proud, and which is a gratifying reward for their pluck and perseverance. A few years ago most men would have scoffed at the idea of a band of ladies ringing a peal, and it was not until last year, when the first serious attempt was made, that the incredulity of the majority was really shaken.
There is only one matter for regret in connection with last Saturday's peal, and that is that Miss Alice White, the first lady to ring a tower-bell peal, was not able to he one of the company. . .. Miss Nightingale, who was in the attempt last year, was also unable to be in the successful performance, but there was little trouble in finding substitutes ready to fill the vacancies.
The peal was Grandsire Triples, rung at Christ Church. Cubitt Town, Londoo. in three hours and four minutes by the Misses Sarah Pigott, treble; Eva N. Belcher 2: Lilian A. Wilson 3 ; Mary N. Jukes 4; Evelyn Steel 5 ; Nellie Gillingham 6; Edith K. Parker (conductor) 7; Clara Beasley, tenor. It was the conductor's 50th peal.

OBITUARY

J. William Edge

There was laid to rest at Crewe on July 18th one of the stalwarts of the Crewe Branch of the Chester Guild, Mr. J. William Edge (Ole Bill'). He was 63. You could not call him anything else it was 'Bill, will you do this, that or the other?

Bill had been towerkeeper for over 20 years and the bells had become part of his life; in fact it was the bells that caused his death. On the previous Tuesday I helped him to clean the bell-frame and the pit which had not been cleaned out for a good number of years. We had a very full day till after 5 o'clock when Bill left for home, but had a call to make on the way.
It was a terrible shock to me when a policeman came to see me the following morning to take a statement as to what we had been doing the day before, as Bill had collapsed on the way home and died. He asked if Bill had complained at all; he had not; his only remark in that respect was, 'We are not as good men as we used to be.
Bill was not very keen on peal ringing-he rang 36 for the Chester Guild. He was far more concerned about Sunday service ringing at Christ Church, where he was also on the Church Council. He was far more pleased when I rang my first. to celebrate our 60th birthdays ${ }_{2}$ in 1948, which was eventually to get me into trouble after some correspondence in 'The Ringing World about peal-grabbing in 1946.

He was a keen trade unionist of the A.E.U., and branch official: many of the members were present at the service, as well as local ringers and church officials.
A real unpolished diamond, Bill. He will be greatly missed at Christ Church, but he has left a fine record of service.
The full ten bells were rung, semi-muffled, those taking part being Messrs. Albert Crawley, Richard T. Holding. William Holding, Harry Holding, Wilf Kerr, George Packer (conductor), Herbert Sutton, Stephen Leyland. J. Holloway, J. Hough, Cliff Thomas and Frank W. Stenson. Mr. Richard D. Langford, leader, was away on holiday.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCLATION

Stow-on-the-Wold Branch Re-formed
At the Association's annual meeting held at Berkeley last Easter, some concern was felt that the Stow-on-the-Wold Branch had ceased to function, and a special sub-committee was formed to arrange a meeting in the area with a view to ascertaining whether the branch could be restarted and interest aroused locally to give it the support necessary.

This meeting was held at Stow-on-the-Wold on July 5th which from an attendance point of view was a success, 47 signing the attendance book. Stow bells, a very good ring of eight, were available from 3 p.m. and various methods were rung until 4.30 p.m., when the Association service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. C. Potts) who gave a splendid address, the lesson being read by Mr. C. R. Harding (vice-president and charman of the Bristol Rural Branch).

Tea was partaken of at a nearby cafe, after which the meeting took place in the Church Hall, presided over by the Master, Mr. J. G. Jefferies, supported by Mr. S. G. Riches, hon. treasurer. Mr. C. R. Harding and Mr. F. Skidmore, hon. secretary. The Vicar of Stow opened the meeting with prayer.

The Master said how pleased he was to see such a representative meeting, nine branches being represented out of twelve active branches, and two of these had their own meeting that day. He hoped that sufficient interest and enthusiasm could be aroused to enable the Branch to function once more, to be a benefit to ringing in the area, and to the Association.

AN OFFER

Mr. Raymond Hicks, who was the local secretary for the branch, said that little or no interest was evident locally, and he could not see how the branch could continue without that interest. He intimated that he could go round and collect subscriptions for the Association, but that did not mean that the branch was in a flourishing state, only on paper; what was required was to have a John Thomas dropped amongst them.

Mr. Jack Kyte, of Chipping Norton, said that he was certain that sufficient interest could be aroused and maintained, and offered assistance to the local ringers for regular practice, and he was certain that others would also be willing to assist. Several speakers spoke in a like strain, and help was forthcoming from the neighbouring branches of Cheltenham, Gloucester and Tewkesbury, which was very encouraging.

The Vicar of Stow (the Rev. H. C. Potts) was elected chairman, and Mr. Raymond Hicks consented to continue as hon. secretary, and a meeting is to be arranged in the autumn to see what can be done. It was decided that the meeting should be advertised in "Tha Ringing World.' which would have the effect of attracting visitors, and would help considerably in tuition.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar. and to Mr. Hicks, who had been responsible for the local arrangements. This concluded the business, and ringing took place at Moreton-inMarsh and Bourton-on-the-Water during the evening.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-This may have been said before, but I would like to express my own admiration for the composition by Mr. Pitman, containing all the work of the four methods for every bell. I have rung it about eight times and have called it three times, but would never tire of it.Yours faithfully,
W. ERIC CRITCHLEY

Scawthorpe, Doncaster.

LETTERS TO

FRIDAY MORNING EXPECTATIONS
Dear Sir,-That a reader should demand your resignation seems, in all conscience, reasonable enough, but may another reader relate how one who cycles to work will go a whole seven days without a nod or glance at the postman should that worthy man be late on a Friday morning. On the other hand, should he be early, irate motorists at a busy roundabout will lower their windows and say abominable things when this reader finds it necessary to turn over a page; and your responsibility is waved in the face of such temper.

Another reader who regularly jumps off his down-town bus every morning but Friday, when his postman is early, and then it's a matter of 15 minutes late and off an up-town bus. Week by week we read the theories, the tours and the letters, some screamingly funny. Couldn't a competition be held for the writers? And those well-reasoned articles by Libra, just when I thought one more and I'll know who he is. Then there was Belfrymanship to the fourth dimension.
No, Mr. Editor, your correspondent is quite wrong. A reader since about 1922 , when Mr. Newton was the local agent and got copies for quite a few of us each week, I assure you your paper is as cagerly waited for and devoured, as ever.-Yours very faithfully,

ERNEST L. HUMPHRISS.
Woolton, Liverpool.

ADVERTISING PEAL ATTEMPTS

Dear Sir,-Having just read this week's 'Ringing World,' I feel obliged to reply to the letter by Mr. Poyntz who advocates the advertisement of all peal attempts. But at the same time I do not wish to enter into any specific argument on the Cranborne peal.

To insist on such a rule would, in my opinion, be a great set-back to the Exercise as a whole, because it would be reducing all ringers to a level of mistrust. A great deal of Valuable space would be wasted in this paper. If. as Mr. Poyntz considers. a reduction in the number of peals rung ensued, then we should be greatly reducing our standards. It is our peal ringers who are the people to whom we look for progress in the more advanced methods and where that practice is obtained which gives us experience and confidence to strike a service touch well.
Do not, however, think that I am opposed to the non-peal ringer-far from it-but I do consider that the idea of such restrictions are not at all in keeping with our ideals.
Finally I would like to offer one suggestion to ringers anticipating peal attempts in other districts. Approach through the local ringing officials first, and many of these disputes will never arise.-Yours faithfully,

Southwold, Suffolk.

THE LATE MR A. J CORRIGAN'S PUBLICATIONS

Dear Sir,-In reply to your correspondent's letter in 'The Ringing World ' of July 11th, I hasten to assure him that every precaution has been taken to see that these valuable publications and other valuable data in method construction have been taken care of.

After a talk with Mr. Corrigan's widow, it was decided to hand over these papers, etc., to the Central Council, and accordingly a letter was sent to the hon. secretary notifying the Council of Mrs. Corrigan's wish. The publications that were left on hand (which were not a great number). together with the other material are being collected and sent to the Central Council for their use. No doubt they will reprint and issue with their publications.Yours faithfully,

RINGERS AND THE CHURCH

Dear Sir-In reference to your leading article of January 18th, I think F. E. H. would have made his case more convincing if he had signed his full name.

By simulating a guise of mock piety, with his day of rest,' he then proceeds to exhort us never to let divine worship interfere with our "fascinating hobby." The "tenor of his remarks is misleading in the extreme, and it is rather surprising that such an article orcupies the front page of such a journal as "The Ringing World.'

If, as we are led to believe, F. E. H. regards the 'sporting and recreational aspect of ringing as being greater than the religious side, then why doesn't he, as the Rev. E. Sholl points out, build his own tower and bells, and carry out his hobby to his heart's content. Ringers who look upon their art primarily as a fascinating hobby' have lost their sense of vocation and have become irresponsibles who use the Church's property and expect the Church authorities to replace equipment worn out by them for their personal gratification. The Church must have prior claim to her bells.

Church bellringing has two, and only two, purposes. They are (a) The glorifying and worship of God by using our skill in handling bells to the best of our ability, and (b) The calling of others to Church-personal hobbies just don't enter into it. Each of these reasons is sufficient in itself to demand our plesence in church, and both together, there is no Christian ringer who can deny the obligation to remain for divine service. How can we call others to worship while we,

As some ungracious pastors do,
Show them the steep and thorny path to Heaven;
Whilst like a puff'd and reckless libertine, Himself the primrose path of dalliance treads
And recks not his own read'?
I'll let the matter stand there. It remains for the conscience of the ringer himself to decide whether he will join in the worship of Our Lord or not, but it strikes me we are forced to the conclusion that the majority of ringers use the tower for their private pleasure and seem to forget, conveniently perhaps, their Christian obligations to their Church.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN BIGGS.

St. David's Cathedral,

Hobart, Tasmania.

P.S.-My apologies for the late arrival of this letter, but I received your journal only a few days ago.

Nate.-The point F. E. H. endeavoured to make was the two-fold side of ringing-recreational and service to the Church-the same as applies to choristers where music is also a hobby and a part of the Church's service. -ED.

WYMONDHAM BOB MAJOR

Dear Sir,-I have read with interest the leading article on the Central Council's new book on Plain Major methods. It is a very useful collection and should lead to more of these methods being rung. The paragraph about the table of first performances being complete is not quite correct

There is no mention in the book of the first peal of Wymondham Bob No. 51. A peal in this method was rung at Walesby, Lincolnshire, on June 6th 1937, conducted by myself. No claim was made as to this being the first peal in the method, but I presume now that this was so.-Yours sincerely.

GEORGE E. FEIRN.
Cleatham, Kirton-Lindsey.

STEDMAN DOUBLES

Dear Sir,-As there are at least six different ways of starting Stedman, it is possible to ring 60 different 120 's of Stedman Doubles.

No. 1.-Start with 21435 , the 4th going in slow bell.
No. 2.-Start with 21435 , the 4 th going in quick bell.

No. 3.-Start with 21354, the 4th going in slow bell, ordinary way.

No. 4.-Start with 13254, the 4th going in quick bell.
No. 5.-Start with 21354 the 4th going in slow bell, 4-5 double dodge.
No. 6.-Start with 13254 , the 4 th going in quick bell. $4-5$ double dodge.
Each of the above can be called ten different ways, making 60 six-scores in all, which would be 7,200. These will give the five-bell ringers considerable pastime
It is well known that Fabian Stedman commenced this method so that the first three changes corresponded with Grandsire when they 'discoursed sweet music nightly ${ }^{2}$ at practice, whereas the correct starting should be at the division of the sixes.-Yours truly,
G. E. SYMONDS.

IRREGULAR LEAD ENDS IN MINOR

Dear Sir, -I fail completely to understand the reason for the exclusion of Minor methods with irregular lead ends.

In Minor, of necessity, you must ring the full extent, hence including all the possible permutations. What difference does it make, therefore, if the given extent is produced by irregular lead ends? If the tenors are not brought up in the $6 / 5$ position at "backstroke" the same musical changes must be produced. Therefore, the argument cannot be based on this the most important property! Strength to this proposition is lent by the fact that all Plain Bob lead end methods with London above the treble and 5ths place under it cannot have their extents produced without $6 / 5$ 's at backstroke (i.e., Crowland).

Many will argue that we have a plentiful supply of Minor methods with the orthodox lead ends. Most propositions of this nature are made relative to some fixed standard. If we take Major the 'plentiful' contention is most certainly untrue. If during the next fifty years only three firsts in the method every year are rung, the supply of new methods will have been exhausted. The only step then will be the reintroduction of irregular lead ends, so why exclude now that which may have to be reintroduced at the turn of the century?

Ringing to-day is expanding. Must we cramp this expansion by applying seemingly senseless rules and regulations?

Already in Surprise Minor we have reached an impassé, it is impossible to obtain more than round about 35 methods in seven extents. How many more would be possible with irregular lead ends?

For the sake of simplicity of conducting composition and uniformity we can keep to Plain bob lead ends in Major and above, for as has been said, here we have a multiplicity of methods.
These are my arguments, and although these may be torn to shreds by those better informed than myself. I feel that I must state my case as a Minor ringer.

I would very much like to hear the views of other Minor ringers on this point. Not those of the 'higher ups ' who occasionally ring on six, but from those whose ringing is mainly centred on six bells.

Let truth be the victor and prejudice the vanquished.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN E. COOK.
Branston, Lincs.

BELLS IN ENGLISH LIFE

Another secular use to which church bells were put was at Carlton-le-Moorland, Lincs, where a bell was rung annually to summon the people to the church gates to bid for the yearly occupation of a meadow left by a benefactor to the poor of the parish, to be let at the ringing of this bell. It was called 'Dole-Meadow bell '-the bidding now takes place in the school.
A somewhat similar occurrence formerly took place at Winterton in the same county, where the bells were jangled by ringers or anyone who liked to, on May Day, as a summons to the people to assemble in the church porch for the letting of lanes, but since the ropes of the bells have been brought down to ground level, and the tower arch opened, this practice has ceased. At Horncastle the second bell was tolled immediately after morning service on Easter Monday and on Easter Tuesday to give notice of the collection of Easter dues. A similar custom also prevailed at Doncaster.

FOR REPAIR OF ROADS

In the accounts of Louth, Lincs, for 1589, a payment is shown for 'ringing at ye boundays,' which refers to the 'booning' or mending of the roads, towards which the occupiers of the land were formerly bound to contribute by lending horses and carts for the conveyance of the needful material. Notice of the days when this service was to be rendered was given in several places by the ringing of a church bell. The derivation and original meaning of the word 'boon' used in this sense in many parts of Lincs has given rise to much discussion.
On certain days bells were rung in connection with Manorial Courts, and days when various parochial rites were attested. At Wellingborough and Duddington, Northants, and at Bisbrooke, Rutland, this was done when Manorial Courts were held. At Warwick, St. Nicholas', a bell was rung for the meeting of the Chamberlains of St. Nicholas' Meadow. At Hinxworth, Herts, formerly on Whitsun eve, for the 'cow common rights.' In Lincolnshire a bell was rung in November at Claypole and the last Monday in October at Epworth for the meeting of the 'Dykes and Drains Jury.' A similar custom prevailed at Puxton, Somerset.

THE MARKET BELL

A usage of more common character was the ringing of a bell to notify the opening of a market or fair. The 'market bell' is very ancient. The Rev. J. T. Fowler in Bells and Ringing' says, 'Strabo has a story of a street musician suddenly deserted by all his hearers save one at the sound of the Fish Market Bell. The musician, beginning to thank the one who remained for paying him such a compliment, found that he was deaf, and as soon as the deaf man knew the fish market was open he followed the rest, and left no one to pay the piper.' Sometimes the market bell was a handell, sometimes a bell hung over the market house or town hall, and in other instances it was the church bell.
At Barton-on-Humber there was a law prohibiting any person purchasing, for resale or profit, goods brought into the haven, until after the expiration of three days from the bell-man's announcing the arrival of the cargo. During these days the townsmen had the opportunity of buying the goods at wholesale prices. At Stamford the signal for the commencement of the Corn Market was, in the reign of Edward IV., the ringing of the 'Undernone' or 'Undern Bell.' The Town book, belonging to the Corporation, has this order passed in 1478-9:sack or set ther corn to sale afore the hour of ten of the bell. or els the undernone bell be rongyn.

This bell, or a successor, became subsequently known as the market bell, for in 1777 the Corporation resolved to give the market bell as an additional bell to the quarters in the church.' The market bell at Watford, Herts, hung in the church steeple as is shown in the inventory of church goods there, taken in 1552, ' Imprimis $V$ Belles in the steple and one m'ket bell.' At St. Peter's, Sandwich, Kent, the market bell was known as the 'Brandgoose bell.' Shrewsbury had their own bell for the market, and at Oundle, Northants, one is rung on market days.

THE BUTTER BELL

At Sleaford, Lincs, a small bell (about 13t inches in diameter without inscription or date) hanging in the south light of the lowest west spire light of the church is known as the " Butter bell.' There is a tradition that this bell was rung a century ago to announce to Sleaford folk the sale of butter was about to commence. The inhabitants then had the privilege of securing all they required before purchasers from $a^{\prime}$ distance were allowed to buy. At Rotherham and elsewhere in Yorkshire the custom prevailed of ringing a bell at a stated hour on Saturday nights as a signal to close the market, and obedience to this summons was strictly enforced.
In many towns bells were rung on the eves of old established fairs, such as at Epworth, Lincs, where a peal was rung for an hour on the first Wednesday after May Day, introducing Epworth fair on the following day. At Louth it used to be the custom to ring on the evening before November fair-day.

BELLS A GUIDE TO FARMERS
Lincolnshire also furnishes an example of ringing peals to guide farmers and others home from the markets across flat and formerly unenclosed country. Thus at Scotton the bells were rung on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock 'to guide the people coming from Gainsborough Market across Scotton Common.' At Kirton-in-Lindsey a bell, sometimes called the market bell, but more commonly the 'winter ringing,' was, for many years previous to the Inclosure in 1801, rung at $70^{\circ}$ clock in the evening during November, December and January, on Tuesdays to guide travellers from Gainsborough Market; on Thursdays from Brigg Market, and Saturdays from Kirton Market. This continued till 1858 when, on the appointment of a new vicar, the night ringing was changed to Monday, Wednesday and Friday, which, of course, meant nothing. With some difficulty the vicar was brought to see why the nights had originally been chosen and the old custom was restored.
In provincial boroughs it is still customary to ring at the election of a new Mayor, and at Warwick the bells are rung when the judges come to the Assizes, and this is the case at St. Martin's-now the Cathedral, Leicesterwhen the judge attends service prior to the Assizes. This was carried out only a week ago and the writer acted as 'Virger' on this and on previous occasions.

BOLSOVER RINGERS VISIT LEICESTER

The annual outing of the Bolsover Parish Church ringers and friends from the neighbouring towers of Chesterfield, Warsop, Shireoaks, Heath and Staveley, was held on June 21st.
The luxury coach left the Parish Church at approximately 8 a.m. and the first halt was made at Kegworth, between Derby and Loughborough. Some difficulty was experienced owing to the bells being only slightly audible in the tower but good touches of Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major kwere brought round.
Time went all too quickly at the next tower, Shepshed, where the bells and ringing chamber were in beautiful condition. It was obvious that there is an active band at this church and the visitors were sorry when it became necessary to leave. A substantial lunch was enjoyed at a restaurant in Shepshed and some of the younger members of the party cast longing eyes at the local carnival activities.
A short journey through country not unlike Derbyshire in appearance, brought the coach to Whitwick, where the handy ring of eight was rung to various methods for approximately one hour. The local band had left for their annual outing in the Retford district but detailed instructions had been left in the tower and here again it was obvious that the bells are in good hands.

Several of the local band were waiting to meet the visitors at Wigston Magna. The unusual spiral staircase was carefully negotiated by some of the older members of the party and all were rewarded by some excellent ringing on the fine ring of eight. An almost perfect course of Superlative Surprise Major was one of the highlights of the day and the striking earned commendation from Mr. B. Knights.

Mrs. H. J. Poole and her daughter, Mrs. Stanforth, had very kindly undertaken to provide tea for the party in the schoolroom of the Church of St. Mary-de-Castro, Leicester. The arrangements were typical of the way in which the members of the Poole family go out of their way to welcome visiting ringers to the Leicester towers. Father Collins. of the Church of St. Mary-de-Castro, joined the party at tea and he also paid tribute to Inspector Poole and his family for the interest they take in all matters concerning the welfare of ringers.
Mr. A. S. Cooper thanked Mr. Poole and his wife for all the help they had given in organising such a successful day's ringing and very satisfactory tea.
The fine octave at the Church of St. Mary-de-Castro was rung after tea until approximately 7.30 p.m. and here again it was only after stressing the long distance from home that the organiser was able to bring a closure to the ringing. With the help of Mr. Poole and Mr. Staniforth a very excellent course of Yorkshire Surprise Major was enjoyed by all and Mrs. Poole and her daughter joined in the last touch of the day.
The ringing during the whole of the day was well above average for strange towers and all agreed that from every point of view this had been one of the most enjoyable outings from Bolsover

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION OF CHANGE RINGERS

Tonbridge District

A very successful meeting was held at Marden on July 5th, about 20 ringers attending. Ringing ranged over the standard methods and after tea Superlative Surprise was reached
The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. J. Eagling, who has recently returned to this country after 16 years in Siam, to which he referred in his address with particular reference to Siamese temple bells and to the contrast between the fundamental differences in the attitude of the Buddhist and the Christian to voluntary service
After tea, to which the ringers were entertained by the members of the church, the Vicar took the chair at the business meeting at which Mr. B. Kemp and Mr. B. Harris, both of Hawkhurst, were elected members.

OUTINGS IN BRIEF

ST. MARY'S, BOCKING
A beautiful day added greatly to the enenjoyment of a tour of North-east Essex, including five hours by the sea, by St. Mary's, Bocking, company.

The party was disappointed on arrival at St. Leonard's, Colchester, by the news that a sudden death in the vicinity of the church prevented ringing. Previously two shoppingminded ladies had dismounted from the coach. Fortunately they arrived 20 minutes ahead of schedule, so the journey seawards was continued.
The next stop was at Great Bentley where an enjoyable $1+$ hours was spent. The churchwarden, Mr. Clarke, welcomed us and gave us an interesting account of the history of the church. The objective of the outing, Clacton, was reached in good time, and here the party roamed at will until after tea.
Great Holland was the first tower on the homeward journey-a grand Taylor ring. The party was joined here by Mr. and Mrs. Pell and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mills and Donald, from Bures. The added ringing strength enabled an excellent course of Superlative Surprise Major to be rung. Mr. Rouse, who met us, was warmly thanked.
Then came Kirby-le-Soken with a welcome by Mr. Southgate. Excellent use was made of this nice little eight including two courses of Cambridge Surprise. Homeward-bound, the 'Bocking choir,' under the conductorship of the steeplekeeper, sang lustily, much to the amusement of the organist and her deputy, who, sitting side by side, noticed that two young choristers produced a considerable amount more volume than is usual in the stalls on Sundays. This must be attributed to the fact that the Red Lion lemonade was somewhat stranger than the Black Boy ginger beer! As this was the first attempt at a real ringing outing for St. Mary's, it was unanimously agrced that it must be repeated annually. H. G. S.

LIVERPOOL RINGERS IN NORTH WALES

Organised by Mr. Henshaw, of Emmanuel, Liverpool ringers had an outing to North Wales on July 5 th. The party comprised juniors, junior either in years or having learnt their ringing post-war, from the Cathedral Cross Guild, Childwall, Woolton and Emmanuel.

At Buckley the party was welcomed by the Vicar and his captain, who helped the visitors on this very pleasant eight. Leaving Buckley for Mold, with happy thoughts. the 30 -odd ringers and friends passed the field of the "Alleluia Victory.' so called because of the victory of the army of the Britons against a horde of pagan Picts and Saxons. The Britons were led by St. German of Auxerre, and it is recorded that with the cry of 'Alleluia' the victors charged. There are several churches in Wales and Cornwall dedicated to the gallant saint; there is but one Maes Garmon or field of the battle of St. German.
A visitor to Mold in 1706 spoke thus:-- Pretty Mold, proud people; Handsome church without a steeple.' The tower, added a few years later, and the church, restored by Sir G. Scott. was much admired. Mr. Evans, the towerkeeper, and Mr. Budd, better known in Lancashire ringing circles, not only welcomed and rang, but came on to the next call at Hope, travelling via Pentrehobyn, where one Robert Bryne, mayor of Chester, was hanged to a staple in the great hall during the Wars of the Roses. 'Better,' says Ivanhoe's Wamba. who rang more bells at every turn of his head than most of us ring in a month; 'a fool at a feast than a wise man at a fray.:
A great welcome by the Rector and local ringers greeted the party at Hope and a short and delightful service was held in the village church. There was much interest in the 12th century history, and ringing, tea and more ringing was followed by a pleasant drive home

EMMANUEL, PLYMOUTH

The Ringers' Outing ' portrayed by M. M. C. in the issue of July 4 th was certainly true to life and might well have fitted in with the Emmanuel, Plymouth, ringers' outing on July 12th. Punctually at 7.30 a.m. the party set off for Axminster, the first tower, some 70 milcs distant. A break for coffee preceded ringing on this grand octave and the bells proved such an attraction that 20 minutes were lost.
The next call was over the border into Somerset, at Chard. Here a halt for lunch resulted in more time being lost. Ringing at the following towers, Ilminster, Taunton (St. James') and Bishops Lydeard, had to be curtailed and the party were only ten minutes late for tea.
Somerset were playing Derbyshire at Taunton and the church visited was in the direction of the cricket ground. Walking back from the church the party was waylaid by an excited cyclist who asked the latest score. 'I have not the foggiest, responded the spokesman from Plymouth. (It is evident that Devon has not a first-class county eleven.). He gazed at the party with a certain amount of pity and rode off. We could, however, have told him that there were eight bells in the church we had just visited, and in the tower, under the shadow of which we almost stood, was a ring of 12 , but he probably would not have been interested.
Contacts are usually made en route and it was a pleasure for some of the party to meet friends and relatives at Ilminster, Chard and Taunton.

After tea one more tower remained to be visited-Mulverton-and the ringing on this excellent eight was worthy of the fact that it was the 100th tower the Emmanuel band of ringers had rung at since 1943.

These 100 towers have been visited by a series of outings. evenings, Saturday afternoons and one whole day each year. From the foundations laid when ringing commenced towards the end of the war, a strong band has been built up under the energetic captaincy of Mr . Jack Sims. About eight remain of the original band and only one, however, of the pre-war band. The company have also visited Exeter Cathedral.

Emmanuel Ringers' visitors' book contains the names of some 200 ringing friends, not only from all over the country, but from British Columbia and Australia. We extend to them best wishes and assure them and any other ringer visiting Plymouth that the same cordial welcome awaits them at Emmanuel. We ring for both services each Sunday, Thursday being our practice night.

ST, AMBROSE GUILD VISIT BIRMINGHAM

On Saturday, June 21st, a small company of ringers, nine in number, from St. Ambrose Ringers' Guild, Bristol. paid a visit to the Midland Metropolis. The number being small, the journey was made by rail.
The company arrived at Birmingham just before $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and proceeded to King's Norton. where Mr. Blake, the tower master, extended a hearty welcome. After ringing on the very nice ten, we proceeded back to the city, and after lunch were welcomed by Mr. George Fearn who had so kindly made all the arrangements for us to ring at the city churches-St. Chad's. Bishop Ryder's, the Carhedral and St. Martin's. All this was fitted in during the afternonn, and thanks to the willing help of the Birmingham ringers who turned uo to help, a very enjoyable time was spent. We were especially pleased to see Mr. Albert Walker at St. Martin's and to note that he has recovered from his recent indisposition. We say thank you very much. Birmingham, for so warm a welcome, and especially to Mr. George Fearn, who spared no

ST. NICHOLAS', BRIGHTON

Ringers and friends of St. Nicholas' Church, Brighton, enjoyed, on July 5th, an outing which was so perfectly organised by Mr. G. Ades, that we were everywhere on time-even on arrival at home in the evening.

Many of the ringers at our tower are humble learners, attempting to the best of their ability to profit by the expert advice of their instructors, and they looked forward to the experience which new towers would give them.

We set off to a sunny start and made our first stop at Wickham in order that lady members of the party might powder their noses and gentlemen of the party sip their lemonade ! Our first official tower was, however, at North Stoneham, where we certainly found the varied experience to which we had looked forwarda light ring of ten, with a long draught and, just for full measure, new ropes; it was rather like ringing with elastic. Our members met the challenge, dug their heels in, and the young lady ringers, many of them elevated and thankful at having left School Certificate examinations behind them during the previous week soon mastered the difficult conditions and all ten were, before long, speaking in their correct places.

From North Stoncham we cruised along, in our almost new coach, to the an excellent lunch at the Open Hearth restaurant, a meal punctuated now and again by the voice of handbells. Our organiser had not forgotten to allow a break after lunch before we climbed the 80 odd steps to the belfry of Romsey's lovely old Norman Abbey; a belfry so large that the circle of eight ropes appeared insignificant in its centre. What a delightful ring of full, deep-toned bells they proved to be. Here, as was a characteristic of the whole day, everybody had a chance of ringing some-thing-rounds, Grandsire. Stedman, Kent and so on-in the one hour allotted to us. Very long touches were avoided for this reason. All the ringers were loath to leave this tower but all good things have to end and the coach was waiting to take us on to Southampton for a tea at the Baronia restaurant, by which time many tongues were performing doggy tricks as the day had grown steadily warmer.

Our last ringing call was at St. Michacl's

 Church, Southampton. where we found a lovely and melodious ring of ten which 'went' extremely well. Here again all had a pull and there was the usual helpful encouragement for those beginners who were, perhaps, just a little nervous at the thought of going wrong in a strange tower. Grandsire Caters and Triples and Bob Royal were rung and the ringing ended with a beautifully-struck touch of Stedman Triples by the experts of the band as a fitting conclusion to the day's efforts.It was a perfect summer's evening and we enjoyed the trip home through the Hampshire and Sussex countryside, making one stop only, at a wayside hostelry for a 'tonic' and a course or so on the handbells at the request of the landlady

Back in Brighton once again, all agreed that it had been an excellent day and that only one thing had been missing-grumbles !

BAN SUNDAY PEALS

Dear Sir,-The Cranborne peal seems to have raised a great deal of comment and I suggest that Sunday peals be banned by the Central Council and by all Guilds and County Associations. The practice seems to be wrong in any case and should be outlawed. although 1 myself took part in one at 7 o'clock on a Sunday morning in Cornwall many years ago and cannot claim to be innocent of the offence.-Yours faithfully,

STAFFORD H. GREEN.
Sampford Peverell, Devon.

A RINGING HOLIDAY IN DORSET

A memorable holiday has been spent rccently, at Lyme Regis by Messrs. William Yates (Buckingham), Ernest Morris (Leicester) and C. R. (Bob) Greenwood and Mr, and Mrs. Tom Francis (London). Thanks to the arrangements made by Mr. G. Stedman Morris and friends in the district, a most enjoyable time was spent.

On Friday evening on the grand ring at Axminster a quarter peal of Bristol Surprise Major ( 1.280 changes), was rung by A. J. Scott 1, R. Keeley 2, N. Mallett 3, W. Yates 4, H. G. Keeley 5, G. S. Morris (conductor) 6, C. W. Powell 7, E. Morris 8. This was the first in the method on the bells and by all the band except the brothers Morris.

The highlight of the week was the next day, when by cars and motor cycles the party set off early through some of the finest scenery of the country, to Kingston to ring this Taylor masterpiece; a glorious octave in a splendid tower of a grand church high up in the hills and overlooking the valley across to the ancient historic Corfe Castle. Thanks to the Rev. Canon Cox (who, unfortunately, could not attend owing to a church service) we were enabled to ring the first peal of Superlative on the bells. Dr. E. L. Taylor, who acted as 'transport officer' umpired the peal from the distant castle and congratulated the band on a very fine performance; then with other friends who had come to join the party he took part in a touch of Stedman.
After lunch in a beautiful garden we set off to Swanage where the fine octave was rung to Yorkshire, Superlative, Cambridge, etc. Thence to Wareham where the quaint old ring gave some trouble, but a good course of London was accomplished. At tea we were unexpectedly joined by the Rev. R. P. Farrow, of Lulworth, who was equally surprised to see us, especially 'Ernest, who recalled many peals together in Leicestershire. Then away to Wool, where the six bells were rung to various methods before journeying to Wyke Regis, where again many methods were successfully brought round. A brief ascent to the tower to see the splendid view of Portland and the Chesil Beach, and Weymouth, where ' Old Joe, the Rhythm King,' father of the brothers Morris, was born 85 years ago. Back along the coast road ended a grand day and one to be remembered.

Next day found us at Lyme for Sunday service ringing, and on Monday we visited the ancient shrine of St. Wyta in the old church at Whitchurch Canonicorum. Here we rang the first peal of Yorkshire on the bells and Ernest's 450th peal of Major. On Tuesday, at Beaminster, noted for its beautiful tower, Stedman just would not go but we enjoyed the trip, nevertheless.
On Wednesday through the narrow country lanes of Devon to Membury, where we met the Rev. Prebendary Cox and a party from Exeter. After they had rung a short touch we tried for London Surprise but after the second 720 the conductor called 'Stand ' in sympathy for Ernest, who was ' all in 'through the heavy 'go' of his bell. This 1.440 was rung by W. Yates 1, R. Keeley 2, N. Mallett 3, E. Morris 4, H. Keeley 5, G. S. Morris (conductor) 6 , and was the longest yet rung on the bells.

Thursday is Lyme practice night and London, Cambridge Lincolnshire, Yorkshire and Grandsire were rung. Friday, again to Axminster, where the first quarter peal of Double Norwich on the bells was rung by:-E. Morris 1, A. J. Scott 2, H. G. Keeley 3, C. R. Grimwood 4, F. Wreford 5, N. Mallett 6, W. Yates 7, G..S. Morris (conductor) 8.
On Saturday, at Seaton. we were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Francis and tried for a peal of London Surprise Major but, unfortunately, about half-way, after excellent ringing, it was lost. This was a great disappointment for it would have been the first in the method by five in the band. The same thing repeated itself on Monday, when again at Whitchurch we failed in about the same way and place. Thus, all too soon, a grand week came to an end, but we look forward to another year when (D.V.) we might complete the "unfinished peals.'

SUFFOLK GUILD

Sudbury-Clare District

July 12 th proved the right date for the quarterly meeting at Hedington, 32 members finding transport to travel to this very rural part of Suffolk. The cost of petrol and the pushing of bicycle pedals proved worthwhile to visit this ancient church with its crudely-carved oak box-pews and one wonders (or does one?) why the death watch beetle has never found all this tasty ancient oak.

The ringing captain, Mr. Bowyer, was waiting to extend his welcome and was proud to inform us that in spite of the call to the Forces and the number of youngsters who travel to fresh occupations they were still able to ring the six bells regularly, calling an average of 90 people (which would appear to be more than the total population) to the service. The tower contains a very mellow ring with the treble being of Tudor age, the absence of harshness being proved as the ringing failed to disturb the sleeping owl, much to the interest of the youngsters.

An excellent tea was provided on the lawn, followed by handbells., which were most effective in this lovely setting.

The meeting decided to hold the next meeting at Haverhill.
The ringing ceased at 8.45 p.m. and ranged from Spliced Plain methods to London Surprise with rounds and call changes for the young buds.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT

Almost as many counties as towers were visited by members of the Biggleswade District together with wives and friends on their annual outing on July 5th.
Although a little late leaving one of the - picking-up points.' we were soon heading out of Bedfordshire into Northamptonshire and the first tower, Yorks Kirby, Warwickshire (8). was reached only a few minutes behind schedule. Claybrooke (Leics) (8) was the second tower and we were joined here by Mr. A. Ballard. The next stop was at Hinckley where short (or should I say quick?) work was made of lunch at Liggins Cafe.

Our third tower was East Shilton (8), then on to the main destination-Loughborough Foundry-where we were met by Mr. J. P. Fider, and spent an interesting $1+$ hours under his guidance. The new ring for Liverpool was duly (and enviously) admired. Naturally we could not leave without paying a short visit to the Campanile-starting with rounds on all for all.' The more ambitious then tried Yorkshire and Cambridge on the back eight and Cambridge on the first six. After tea at the Empire Cinema no time was lost in getting to Melton Mowbray (10) and our last tower was Oakham, Rutland (8).
Ringing enjoyed during the day, all on very good bells. included Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples. Plain Bob Major and Royal. Double Norwich. Cambridge, Yorkshire and Bristol Surprise Major
The party wish to extend sincere thanks to incumbents and local ringers of towers visited and Mr. L. Bywaters for organising yet another successful tour.

A GUIDE TO PEAL RINGERS

Conductors and others sending in peals should note the following details as to footnotes, a style which was introduced by the late Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, and has been in operation ever since :-

Mark the first note with *
Mark the second with $\dagger$
Mark the third with $\ddagger$
Mark the fourth with §
These incidentals should precede the name of the ringer. Confusion is likely to arise when they appear after the name.

Quick work in one six is complete. In Slow, five sixes you will meet.
This slow work in four parts is classed: Whole Turns and Half Turns-first and last.

PRESERVATION OF BELLS

0NE of the glories of England is the beauty and splendour of the great majority of our ancient parish churches, being outstanding memorials to the mediæval master masons and designers. They were built by team work, and a lesser member of the team was the bell founder, who enabled the outside world to be reminded by sound that the Church existed.

Up till the end of the 13 th century the bell founder's standard was lower than his counterpart, the master mason, and the bells were still of the flower pot shape with a poor tone. However, it was not long before he was producing bells which were objects of great beauty, both in appearance and in the ornamental detail of the Latin inscription. One particular example of very fine lettering is to be found at South Somercotes, Lincolnshire, on a bell dated 1423; the letter D has inside it the figure of St. George in full armour of the time killing the dragon. This lettering has been used by several recent founders for very special work, one being the bell for the Festival of Britain, now the tenor at Kelvedon, Essex.

By the time of the Reformation, about 1540 , most of the larger parish churches had five large bells with perhaps a sanctus bell. The large bells were approximately in tune with one another as near as could be judged by the ear without the aid of tuning forks; but this was not so important in those days, as the bells were often rung singly.

With the advent of change ringing the rings of five were augmented to six or more, and in some cases the notes of certain bells required to be altered, so it was not long before recasting and smashing up old bells was well under way. The wear and tear caused by swinging a bell in a full circle, greater use, unauthorised clocking, defective clock hammers and other causes all took their toll of the old bells so that to-day it is the exception rather than the rule to find any bells cast before 1600 in a ring. This is fortunately not nearly so true of churches with only a few bells and a number of these are still using their original bells cast before 1300 , others have been placed in retirement in the church after serving a useful life of sometimes as much as 700 years.

The most general cause of a bell becoming useless is due to cracking, and it is unfortunate that the study of welding used so extensively in the engineering industry has not yet provided a very satisfactory answer to a cracked bell forming part of a ring. Chiming bells have been repaired with better results, but with these the blow of the clapper is not so severe.

Up to the turn of the present century the tuning of most bells was based on the Old Standard principle, which gave deep melodious notes but little brilliance to the tone of the lighter bells. Canon Simpson produced his principle of tuning some 50 years ago and this has now been accepted as the basis for most modern tuning. This change in the technique of tuning has probably caused more recasting of bells than any other reason, though most of the rings so treated were not of any great age.

Recasting an old bell causes the old design and shape to be lost and often the inscription with it, even though the old metal is used again. In recent years it has become more common for the old inscription to be reproduced on the new bell exactly as it was on the old with a note about the recasting added. This is greatly to be encouraged, as it does give some idea of the continuity of service to the church and details of the bell's earlier origin.

If an old bell does not fit in satisfactorily with a projected ring, but is otherwise usable, the bell should be retained as a service bell and hung to one side of the ring. Old bells were cast with canons or loops on the head of the crown to facilitate hanging. This use has now largely disappeared, but their removal detracts considerably from the appearance of the bell and is in effect a mutilation. Bells can be hung perfectly satisfactorily with the canons retained, but it does require some extra work on the part of the bell-hanger.

The recently published resolutions of the Central Council for the Care of Churches are designed to preserve as many as possible of the now rather small number of ancient bells left in our church towers and indirectly to suggest to the parish authorities that greater care should be taken to prevent bells from becoming cracked and useless in the first place. In general the diocesan authorities also do not know enough about bells and it is sometimes through ignorance that bells are destroyed when they should have been preserved, and the writer feels that all ringers should be alive to what is happening in their particular area and should try to prevent such a sad occurrence as happened in Kent recently when a complete ring of five, including two pre-Reformation bells, was sold as scrap.

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest installations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

V.-From Paper to Bells

The 'pencil and paper' work, which we suggested last week beginners should do, will, we hope, have shown something of the construction of methods of pure Doubles in which the treble retains a plain hunting course. Those who worked out these courses will have found that wherever a thirds place is made, two bells (on the opposite side of the "place", to the position of the treble) had to make a 'dodge': that is, each had to retrace its steps one place before going on again.

In Grandsire, which, as we explained, is the method with one 3 rds place in each 'lead,' made immediately the treble has led. the dodge takes place between the bells in $4-5$. The bell that makes the 3 rds place has its course reyersed and, instead of continuing hunting up, it has to turn round and hunt down to lead again. The bell that does this is often said to 'make 3rds, and lead,' and you should remember this in case, at some time, you go astray and are suddenly given this injunction. Remember, too, that the 3rds place is always made at backstroke and handstroke, which is, sometimes called 'the wrong way,' or 'wrong,' as opposed to places made 'right,' which is at handstroke and backstroke.

The 'dodge' occurs immediately after one bell has laid its whole pull behind. This bell is said to dodge 'down,' because actually it is in its hunting course on its way down. The other bell is said to dodge ' up,' because it is in its upward hunting course, and does not lay its whole pull behind until after the dodge is completed. It is useful to know that the whole pulls behind in Grandsire are always at backstroke and handstroke.

The bells that have been dodging behind come down to lead in the same order that they hunted up, but the bell that made 3rds place hunts down in front of them, instead of being behind them. It is by this transposition of work that the three leads forming the plain course are produced.

The 3rds place puts the last one first. Suppose they are running in the order $\mathrm{a}, \mathrm{b}, \mathrm{c}$; c makes 3rds place; then the order is $c, a, b$. Next $b$ makes 3 rds , and the order becomes $b$, c, a. In turn, a makes 3rds and the order is once more $\mathrm{a}, \mathrm{b}, \mathrm{c}$.

Of the other two bells the treble, as you already know, is plain hunting. The other bell also keeps to plain hunting until a bob or single is called, and in simple Grandsire this bell continues to 'course' the treble; that is, it takes off at lead and turns it from behind, and there is never more than one other bell (a bell going in the opposite direction) between them at any time.
The three dodging and place-making bells follow a regular cycle of work-indeed, in all methods the 'working bells,' as they are called, follow a regular cycle, until a bob (or single) shunts them off into another part of the same cycle.

The cycle of work in Grandsire Doubles is:-

 Make 3 rds and lead.Dodge $5-4$ down.
Dodge $4-5$ up.
In the plain course the bell in the hunt with the treble is the 2 nd . In previous articles we have attempted to explain how to hunt, so all that it should be necessary now to elaborate is the differences in the work.
You will know when it is your turn to make 3rds place by the fact that immediately before it the treble will have taken you off the lead; in other words, you will have 'passed the treble ' in 1-2. At your backstroke lead the treble strikes over you, at your first blow in 2nds you strike over the treble. That is "passing the treble " in 1-2. Your next blow will be over the bell in the hunt, and that is your first blow in 3rds. In these two blows you are hunting up-they require a little 'holding up, on your part, to keep the rhythm. Your next blow in 3rds requires an interval in your pull equivalent to the space in rounds, and then you hunt down to lead by 'pulling in ' just a little each time. The two bells you strike over in turn are the treble and the bell in the huntthe same two in the same order that you met after leading.

Whichever way you are dodging you must 'pull in a little to strike into 4ths and 'hold up ' a little to go back into 5ths.
After making 3 rds and leading, you 'pass the treble' in $3-4$ before dodging in 5-4 down, and in $2-3$ before dodging in $4-5$ up. This passing of the treble should be one of your main guides to your next work, and if you are to rely upon it you must count your places as you pass through them.

Here is a simple table which gives you the complete work in a plain course of Grandsire Doubles. Learn it:-

\begin{array}{lllll}
\text { Lead. } & \begin{array}{l}
\text { Pass treble } \\
\text { Lead. }
\end{array} & \text { 3rds. } & \\
\text { Lead. Pass treble 3-4. } & \text { Lie. Dodge } & 5-4 \\
\text { down. } \\
\text { Lead. Pass treble 2-3. } & \text { Dodge } 4 / 5 & \text { up. } \\
\text { Lead. } & \text { Lie. }
\end{array}

Write out your course of Grandsire Doubles, check over with the figures the work of the different bells as explained here and then enendeavour to put it into practice in your tower, or, if your tower bells are not available, then on handbells, ringing the bells upward for the handstrokes and downward for the backstrokes.

First Visit to Sandon

On July 19th the Northern District held their monthly meeting at Sandon, Rushden and Wallington.

Ringing commenced at Rushden at 2.30 where the special method, St. Nicholas, was tried on this rather rough-going five. Sandon bells were a vailable from 3.45 and many enjoyed this five. The church is situated by the village green and pond. This is believed to be the first time the Association has visited these two towers and it is hoped it will not be the last. A free tea was provided by the churchwardens in the Vil. lage Hall which was appreciated by the 30 ringers present.

Mr. G. W. Debenham, the Association treasurer, was elected chairman for the business meeting at which Mr. E. Bradfield, of Sandon, was re-elected a ringing member after many years of inactivity, and Mr. L. Croft, of Beverley, a non-resident member.
The next meeting will be at Barley on August 23 rd and the special method will be Single Court.
Owing to lack of support it was proposed not to run a coach for this as was suggested at the last meeting
It was agreed that the secretary write to the Association president, Mr. A. E. Symonds, and wish him a speedy recovery from his illness.
As the tea was free it was proposed that the visitors pay one shilling per head which would go to the general fund.

After the meeting the company made their way to Wallington, where further ringing continued until a late hour.

This meeting was attended far better than was expected, ringers coming from as far afield as Leatherhead and Bromham (Beds). E. G. B.

WOBURN, 1952

B EDFORDSHIRE may almost be said to be a forgotten county, wedged between two trunk roads and famed only for its Zoo at Whipsnade and its expanse of cabbage fields. Seldom is it that photographs of its varied countryside find their way into the pages of a guide book, and thus it is left for the visitor himself to search out the beautiful village scenes. May I be permitted, however, to introduce you to one of the most interesting of Bedfordshire towns, that of Woburn, seat of the Duke of Bedford?

Pcrhaps the most impressive approach to the town is from the north-west where suddenly the pinewoods open to give a magnificent view of the small community with its church tower dominating the scene. A walk up the cobbled paths of the High Street will reveal the great influence of Georgian design in this township and a small detour will show you how skilfully the modern architect can translate the materials and craftsmanship of this age into the medium of the past. But we must hurry on for, after all, we are ringers, and the church remains to be explored. To many the interior of the church may seen cold and forbidding in spite of its green surroundings. situated, as it is, on the edge of Woburn Park, but once inside the south porch all must be amazed at the beautiful lines and decorativeness of this cathedrallike edifice.
I have not yet explained my reason for guiding you to Woburn. It is because I want you to share the enjoyment I experienced on June 28th when the Bedfordshire Association held their summer festival meeting there. Here was a meeting blessed with the best of everythingglorious weather, magnificent bells, good ringing and the opportunity of meeting old friends.
For many years now, ringers have coupled the name of Douglas Harris with Woburn bells, and it was good to have Douglas as Ringing Master ; he saw to it that no ringer remained long in the tower without a rope in hand, and the equilibrium of Surprise and Plain methods was admirably kept.
And what could be more inviting to the thirsty ringer than the delightful, cool atmosphere of the teashop, where the small tables were attractively laid out with bread and butter, lettuce and cakes that were at the same time both fancy and substantial. When appetites and thirsts had been sated the president, Miss Evelyn Steele, voiced the thanks of the Association to the immediate past secretary, Mr. Frederick Plummer, for his work enthusiasm and energy of the past 13 years. during which time the Association has thriyed both numerically and financially. As a constant reminder of bis days with us Fred has now a fountain pen and pencil, a copy of 'Bells of All Nations' and a book token

Meanwhile service time was approaching and the company sauntered back to the church with the music of Stedman as a background to their conversation. The service was, indeed, memorable, fully befitting the august surroundings; bere was a festival meeting following its praise in the belfry with thanksgiving in the nave. Back in the ringing chamber ringers were inspired to better things, zulminating in a course of Cambridge Surprise Major rung by past and present members of the Association, a mingling of age and youth. After the preliminary 'settling down' period the bells went into the rhythmical beat that provides the greatest joy to the expert change-ringer-the beat that makes it immaterial as to whether the method is Plain Bob or Bristol, and causes all hystanders to listen with mind as well as ear.
It only remains for me now to invite ypu to join me when the Association next holds its summer festival at Woburn, but forgive me when I add that if the notice of meeting states ' name for tea.' the tea organiser would like a postcard fiom you. M. S

HOLIDAY COPIES

Will postal subscribers going on holiday please send their temporary address to the Editor of - The Ringing Worid, if they require their copies forwarded to them. They should be received on the Monday previous to the date of issue.

We have received news from the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards of the passing at the age of 83 years of Mr. Walter Hughes D'Acth. He was a former representative of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on the Central Council, and nearly 60 years ago gave Mr. LI. Edwards his first lesson in change ringing.

Walton-on-Thames have an arrangement for turning over the clapper of the tenor. Anyone interested can inspect this,' writes Mr. R. Lathbury. 'No patents or claims for this idea.'
Accompanying the Nailsea (Somerset) ringers on their outing on July 19th was 'Clifford's ' cider jar! The report was quite refreshing to read on a hot, sultry July afternoon.
The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild decided at their annual mecting not to accept the Cranborne peal as a performance for the Guild. A report of the annual meeting will appear in our next issue.

Mr. W. H. Raxter writes in regard to the peal he called at Grimley on July 6th that he had been reminded that he conducted a peal on February 12th, 1949. He offers his sincere apologies for the mistake.

Mr. W. S. Lethbridge, of Exeter, was recently admitted to the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital to have an operation for acute apendicitis. His many friends in Exeter and Devon will be glad to know that 'Bill' is making a satisfactory recovery.

For 40 years Mr. H. M. White has been hon. secretary of the Bishop's Stortford band. His retirement, on July 22nd, was marked by the presentation of a wrist watch from his ringing friends. Mr. White joined the local band in 1900 and has rendered long and faithful service. His successor as secretary is Mr. N. RoundTurner. A complimentary quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung to mark the occasion.

BELFRY GOSSIP

We commend to other towers and Parochial Church Councils the example of Kingston-on-Thames. On four Saturday afternoons visitors to the belfry totalled 730 . There is no lack of evidence that the public are interested in bells.

Owing to repairs to Rainham tower, Kent, there will be no ringing for several weeks.
Mrs. W. B. Kynaston has undergone an operation in the Victoria Hospital, Swindon. She is making satisfactory progress. We wish her a speedy recovery.
Congratulations to Mr. R. F. B. Speed on completing 250 peals. Of these he has conducted 82 . They have been rung in 114 towers for 20 Associations.

Mr. George Henry Daynes called Holt's original on the day after his 82 nd birthday. Is this a record? inquires one of his admirers. His friends. we feel sure. will join us in congratulating him on a wonderful feat of memory. Is it a case of "once mastered never forgotten "?
A non-ringer described his feclings in a belfry with these words:- I felt I was in some fantastic world, in which everything was Turning ! Turning ! I was reminded of the more obscure visions of the prophets: Ezekiel i., 13 for example - As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, like the appearance of torches: it went up and down among the living creatures and the living creatures ran and reiurned as the appearance of a flash of lightning .... their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel within a wheel . As for the rings they were high and dreadful.' And when the living creatures went the wheels went beside them: and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up, etc.- The Belfry.

RINGING ON NATIONAL OCCASIONS

ISLEWORTH RINGERS WEDDING

Dear Sir,-I certainly hope Mr. John Hill's letter will prompt serious consideration with regard to special ringing for the Coronation. It is often pointed out, with considerable justification, that ringers are not as mindful as they should be of the proper uses for church bells. In this connection perhaps it would not be out of place to offer congratulations to Mr. Alan Pink, who for the last year or two seems to have connected most of his peals with some occasion or another in the Church calendar

As Mr. Hill points out, rings did, on the whole, rise to the occasion fairly well on the death of the late King, but there were a number of indiscretions at the time, some of which have already found mention in the columns of 'The Ringing World.' One such incident was the ringing of open bells at a very famous church on the evening of the King's death. It seems that a practice had been arranged and presumably because no one told the ringers they must not ring, they carried on as usual, with the bells open.
The chief criticism against ringers on all such occasions seems to be that they always regard the ringing as just another practice or opportunity for a peal without realising that they have a primary duty to Church and State
I wonder if it would be a good thing for the Central Council to adopt a code for the guidance of ringers on all such occasions. Obviously there could be no compulsion to apply the code hut like Mr. Hill. I feel that many ringers will appreciate a lead in these matters. Somewhat diffidently, therefore, I suggest the following in the hope that other readers will offer criticisms or Dossibly approval. On the death of a sovereign
(1). On the day of the announcement the bells should not be rung in peal at all. The age of the deceased should be tolled out on the tenor or other customary bell at one minute intervals, together with normal local variations to indicate the passing of a man, woman or child. If this cannot he carried out on the day it should be done the next day or as soon after as possible.
(2). The bells should be rung in peal halfmuffled before any memorial service that may be held in the parish, and after the service for 1 short period if desired.
(3). All ringing meetings and peals should be cancelled until after the funeral.
(4). On any intervening Sundays the bells should be rung for the normal services. They should be muffled or open at the discretion of the incumbent. (Some incumbents may prefer the bells open as on Sundays the bells should primarily be associated with the worship of God.)
(5). On the day of the funeral the whole pull and stand should. if possible, be rung as soon as convenient after the time of the funeral. A half-mufficd peal should be rung if desired. If a half-muffied peal cannot be attempted on the day of the funeral it should be deferred until the next Saturday or any intervening day, but not later than that.
(6). In places when the proclamation of the new sovereign is made, the bells may, as part of the proceedings, be rung open for a period strictly limited to 20 minutes. (This is not the occasion for an open deal.)
On the death of the Archbishod of Canterhury in office.-Rules 1 to 5 should he observed throughout the Anglican Communion.
On the death of the Archbishop of York or other Metropolitan Bishop in office.-Rules 1 to 5 should be observed throughout his province
On the death of the Bishop of the Diocese in office.-Rules 1 to 5 should be observed throughout the Diocese.
On the death of a Suffragan Bishon, Archdeacon or Rural Dean.-Rules 1 to 5 should be observed throughout the area of his jurisdiction.
On the death of an Incumbent, Assistant Curate, Churchwarden or other prominent churchman or civic official.-Rules 1 to 5 should be observed in the parish.
Perhaps some other reader would like to make suggestions with regard to the Coronation.Yours faithfully
Forest Hill. S.E. 23.

ANOTHER RECORD? ?

He's done it again! What? He's done it again!! Whatever are you talking about?
Well, superstition has it that 13 is an unlucky number. But not always, you know, there are always exceptions that prove the rule, and this was an exception, for on the 13th day after his 82nd birthday. that grand old veteran, George Henry Daynes. conducted Holt's Original on the bells at Eltham Parish Church. a.truly wonderful achievement.

It was a really auspicious occasion, the peal being rung as an 82 nd birthday compliment to George, a wedding peal for his granddaughter and a golden wedding anniversary peal for another veteran. Mr. James Hurrell, the steeplekeeper of Eltham Parish Church.

At the conclusion of the peal, the company expressed their best wishes to the two veterans with a lot more happy ringing

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Many members and friends were present including those from as far distant at Luton The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. G. H. Sangster. Miss Joan Harding was at the organ and the District Ringing Master. Mr.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Salisbury Branch at Amesbury

Amestury was the gathering point for the summer meeting of the Salisbury Branch on July 19 h when over 40 members and friends were present, some from as far afield as Calne and Chippenham. Templecombe and Yeovil, North Bradicy and even one from Clare, Suffolk. The fine ring of eight was soon put to good use.
The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. R. P. Beckingham, and Canon W. T Clayton, the Vicar of Bulford and O.C.F. to Bulford Camp near hy. gave an address on the call of the bells. After tea the visiting ringers returned to the belfry while the Branch members held their meeting at which certificates of proficiency were given to Raymond Haines, of Wilton (who had gained it before his eighth birthday) and Raymond Sheppard (Damerham). Michael Love (Ameshury) and William Meades (Sarum St. Thomas) were elected members
The nexi quarterly meeting was arranged for Nov. 1st at Codford St. Peter, and a suggestior from the Devizes Branch that it should be a joint meeting with them was welcomed

Later in the evening some of the ringers made their way to Woodford in the lovely Avon val-ley-including an energetic party of cyclists from the neighbourhood of Calne-where some of the local ringers have recently recommenced practices and have put the bells in order after some ycars' silence. They are a tuncful light six and the villagers have been delighted to hear them again. We hope the local ringers will be encouraged and belped to huild up a hand for regular Sunday service ringing.

Mr. D. J. Charnley-Miss S. E. Harris
On Saturday. July 19th, the Parish Church of All Saints, Isleworth, was packed, when in brilliant sunshine the marriage took place between Miss Sheila E. Harris and Mr. David J. Charnley. The bride and bridegroom have been members of the local company of ringers since 1944 and 1946 respectively. As would be expected, therefore, they were welcomed to the church by the full ring of ten hells manned by members of the local company. Among the very many useful presents received was a set of 'Cries of London' table mats and a matching box from the All Saints' bellringers
Mr. and Mrs. Charnley are now the second married couple in this company who met for the first time in Isleworth lower. Following a delightful reception the bride and bridegroom set off by road for Oban, Scotland.
Among the ten or more peals which they have both taken part are Cambridge Surprise Major and Royal, Yorkshire Surprise Major and Royal, Spliced Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Royal, also Spliced Yorkshire, Cambridge and Pudsey Surprise Royal. To this list should also have been added Solihull Surprise and Pudsey Surprise Royal but the bride alone rang in these, the hridegroom having had to drop out at the last moment as a result of unforeseen circumstances.
Another notable nerformance in which both took part was the first peal for over 35 years on the comparatively heavy and difficult bells of St. Stephen's, Westminster.
The bride's first peal was Grandsire Caters at Isleworth on June 1st. 1946. conducted by Captain H. W. Rogers, and rung to celebrate our victory in the second World War. First peal for the bridegroom was Stedman Caters, also at Isleworth. on December 14th. 1946, conducted by the present secretary of the Central Council. Mr. Edwin A. Barnett. and rung in honour of the King's birthday. All the foregoing peals were rung under the auspices of the London County Association.
Both bride and hridegroom are regular attenders for Sunday service ringing and consequently have rung many quarter peals. among these being Stedman Cinques. Cambridge Surprise Maximus and Kent Treble Boh Maximus.

On behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Charnley's various friends in the ringing fraternity we wish them many years of happiness and many more peals together.

MEMORIAL TO MR. JAMES MOTTS

An impressive service was held in the ringing chamber of St. Mary-le-Tower Church. Ipswich, on July 22nd, when the Vicar (Canon Babington) dedicated a new bookcase to the memory of Mr. James Mots. the gift of his niece. Mrs. Hilda Godden, of Worthing.

In his opening remarks. Mr. Charles J. Sedgley, who is Ringing Master of the Suffolk Guild. give a few details of Mr. Motts prowess in ringing and conducting for 40 years. which included the then record 16.608 of Ox ford Treble Boh Major at Debenham in 1892 ; 15,000 odd of London Surprise Major at King's Norton, after which he cycled back to Ipswich; and many other performances in conjunction with William L. Catchpole and others.
At the conclusion of the service Mr. G. E. Symonds thanked the Canon for honouring the ringers with his presence, saving that most of the volumes in the case belonged to James Motts, with records of ringing from 1877. Already other books have been presented making a very interesting collection.
The inscription on a brass plate on the hookcase is: "To the memory of James Motts. who started this collection.'

SUSSEX TOURISTS TRAVEL 1,068 MILES AND RING 17,788 CHANGES

In Gloucester, Hereford and District

$\mathbf{A}^{\mathrm{N}}$
NOTHER Sussex ringers tour is over.
Thanks to the splendid organisation by Miss F. Wyman, of Crawley, a very happy week was spent by all who went this year, and the ringing throughout was of a very high standard.

The party left Crawley by coach on Sunday, July 6th, and was joined by more ringers at Horsham and Guildford. The first ring of the tour was at St. Edward's. Stow-on-the-Wold. where the children listened to some good ringing on the heavy bells before starting their service. After tea the ringing was for evensong at St. Lawrence's. Barnwood. This delightful old church has an excellent light ring on which Mr. Case. the local captain is training a young band of 16 youth club members. From Barnwood the route lay through the pleasant West Countryside to Ross-on-Wye, the week's headquarters, where Mr. and Mrs. T. Roderick, of Porthcawl. joined the party.

After Sunday's two good rings, Monday's ringing, in the Forest of Dean, was a greater test of skill. The first bells were at St. John-theBaptist's, Ruardcan. where one of the local ringers was Mr. D. Smith, secretary of the Barnsley and District Association and a native of Ruardean. The church, built in 1111 , and the clock, made by the present Vicar, were much admired. The tower of the lovely old Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, St. Briavels, which was moved in 1830. had been struck by lightning the previous night but the damage was not serious and the ringing was enjoyed. The next church. St. Mary's, Lydney, had a Commonwealth atmosphere because two young New Zealanders had made a special journey to watch the ringing. They had been the guests of Viscount Bledisloe, an ex-Governor of New Zealand, who presented the strikingly lovely stained glass windows depicting the Franz Josef Glacier at Waiho, New Zealand. The bells have a good tone but will be easier to ring when they are rehung in the near future. The bells of St. Peter's. Newnham-on-Severn, were almost too much for the ladies but the stronger ringers managed them better. After tea, as Ross hells were not available the ringing was at St. Bridget's. Bridstow. This light octave, with its mediaval tenor, was a delight to ring.

LEDBURY'S CAMPANILE

Tuesday started with an excellent ring of eight at St. Michael and All Angels', Ledbury. The bells, recently overhauled, are bung in a campanile separated from the fine church of Cathedral proportions. The speed of the ring ing caused debate but the approbation was unanimous. After a brief visit to Tewkesbury Abbey the tourists were met at St. Peter's. Hinton-on-the-Green. by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas. Here the ringing was much enjoyed and was made easy by the use of a balcony built by the local ringers to shorten the draught. The first ten-bell ringing of the tour took place after lunch at Holy Trinity. Stratford-on-Avon, where the bells were well rung. The last bells of the day. at St. Lawrence's, Mickleton, were much more difficult to strike well but the ringing was fairly good.

A pleasant surprise was in store for Wednesday when. at the Church of St. Cuthbert. Holme-Lacy, in the depths of the country, the eight well-tuned bells were found to be a joy to ring and good use was made of them. As the bells of All Saints', Hereford, could not be rung. the next tower was St. Peter's, Lugwardine where Mr. Walter Taylor joined the tourists in ringing the delightful octave. After lunch the coach journeyed uphill to the charming old Church of St. Mary, Clifford. Here the bells were much enjoyed and the party was fascinated by the stories and legends concerning this ancient and historically-important parish. told by the Rev. H. C. Martin. The bells of St. Mary's, Brecon, are heavier, but their lovely, mellow tone is superb and the ringers were most reluctant to leave.

On Thursday the Vicar of St. James', Quedgeley, met the tourists, who rang on the light octave which have a good tone and go well. A little more space and air would have been appreciated. The next ring, at St. Lawrence's, Longney, is almost as light but was found much more tricky to ring due to a long draught. Lunch at the Falcon Hotel. Wotton-under-Edge, with its highly-recommended liquid accompaniment, was followed by some good ringing on the fine octave at St. Mary-the-Virgin's, although slightly marred by the rattling framework. The last ring of the day, at St. James', Dursley, was very brief owing to mistaken mapreading and difficulty with clock hammers. The bells have a good tone but the long draught makes them difficult to ring and the Vicar is supported in his efforts to get the ringing chamber raised to a higher level.
Friday was the customary sightseeing day and the views of the Elan Lakes and the Black Mountains on the road to Aberystwyth gave very great pleasure. The only ringing of the day was at St. Padarn's, Llanbadarn-Fawr. In the huge candle-lit ringing chamber there was some good ringing on the well-tuned bells. On returning to Ross, Mr. E. Rapley presented, on behalf of the company, a gift of a travelling rug to Miss F. Wyman, an appropriate token of appreciation

A NEW ZEALAND AUDIENCE

The ringers were grateful for the privilege of ringing the bells of Gloucester Cathedral on Saturday morning, where they had another New Zealand audience, and were delighted to meet again Mr. H. Newman and also the Rev. George Smith, recently ordained deacon in the Cathedral, and previously a member of the Sussex Association. Mr. Smith joined in ringing the fine bells and also in lunching at Newent. At St. Mary-the-Virgin's, Monmouth, much time was spent in removing chiming apparatus and the heavy end was difficult to manage, but there was some reasonably good ringing. The evening ringing was at St. Peter's, Blaenavon, a small but charming church over 1.000 feet above sea level. The Rev. R. A. Sluman joined in some first-class ringing on the excellent octave which is only four years old. After climbing to 1,500 feet the downhill road with its wonderful scenery led to Abergavenny, where the night was spent. St. Mary's Church has perhaps the best ring of ten of the tour. It was certainly much appreciated by the ringers on Saturday evening.

The first stop on Sunday was at St. Mary's, Usk, where there was some excellent ringing for morning service on the eight delightfut bells, after which a very sad 'Goodbye' was said to Mr, and Mrs. Roderick and the homeward journey continued. A brief visit was made to Fairford Church to view the famous stained glass windows before having tea at Abingdon. Mr. Albert Lock, who joined the tourists for tea, extended an invitation to ring the six bells of St. Nicholas' for a short time before ringing the ten bells of St. Helen's. Most of the ringing here was very good and made a satisfactory ending to the tour
As usual, the duty of Ringing Master was divided among the company and ten ringers held office. A surprising feature of the tour was the unpopularity of handbell ringing; indeed, many attempts were sabotaged
For the statistically-minded there were 17,788 changes rupg in 23 different methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Royal and including six Surprise methods. These were rung in 27 towers in eight counties, and to ring them 860 steps were climbed and 1,068 miles covered.
The incumbents and local ringers of these towers have earned the gratitude of the tourists for their contribution to a memorable week.

RINGING MEETING CAUSES PROTESTS

Bells versus 'Potted Music Distributor'

The Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild held an enjoyable meeting on the outskirts of Guildford on July 19th in spite of difficulties.

These were encountered at the outset when members of a neighbouring tower started to make arrangements for the meeting to be held at Merrow and continued until the ringers had shaken the dust of Merrow from their feet and the melody of Merrow's fete from their cars.

The organisers found no local ringers available or willing to help with the arrangements and owing to the absence of the Rector on holiday were uncertain until a few days before whether or not the meeting could be held at ah.
Eventually the Rector's permission was obtained, tea which had to be transported complete with servers from a few miles away was laid out in the adjoining Church Hall, and some 20 odd members of both Guilds, and visitors, arrived for a ring.
They found the tower locked and the key, usually kept on the oremises, missing from its accustomed niche. However, a Guild official with some local knowledge succeeded in tracking down a duplicate key, and entry to the ringing room was effected.
Up went the hells and up almost immediately, too. came a deputation from the Cricket Club

Fete in progress in the grounds of a nearby house demanding the immediate cessation of Minor and Doubles in order that the weird and wonderful melodies emanating from a potted music distributor might have an unobstructed chance of inflicting torture on the public. The scene was set for strife but, fortunately, compromise maintained pcace (except for the loudspeaker, of course).

A get-together conference between representatives of the ringers, the Rector and organisers of the fete resulted in ringing being limited to one half hour.

A telephone call secured permission to ring on the eight at West Clandon after tea, and so after the fete tea had been served to the accompaniment of Minor and Doubles and the overworked and distorted melody-distributor had had a brief rest, the ringers disposed of their tea and transported themselves by various means to West Clandon. In addition to rounds the cight here were rung in various methods from Grandsire Triples to Yorkshire Surorise Major without hostile interruption until 8 p.m
Outside the tower, however, an irate parishioner living in close proximity to the church did not hesitate to tell the local captain just once more exactly what was her opinion of the bells and him.

We are happy to record though, that against all these troubles the weather was perfect, the tea plentiful, the ringers satisfied and the local captain unperturbed by hostile comment. In fact the whole affair can be summed up with the time honoured colloquialism ' A good time was had by all.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A LESSON IN GEOGRAPHY

Dear Sir, -No doubt Mr. W. C. Panter is correct as far as he goes, but why did he not complete the 'lesson in geography
If a stranger suddenly found himself at North Petherwin and asked 'Where am I?' a native could well answer him: 'You are in the village and parish of North Petherwin, in the county of Devon, in the Tavistock division of the county, in the hundred of Black Torrington, in the Lifton petty sessional division, in the rural district of Broadwood Widger, in the Launceston union and county court district. in the rural deanery of Trigg-Major, in the archdeaconry of Bodmin and the diocese of Truro.' As this is so. the stranger would then know exactly where he was-or would he?

I humbly suggest that all Church bellringing should. be nominated to the diocese of the church and not to the county. I also think that peals on secular bells, and this includes "peals in-hand that are rung away from the ringing chamber of a church, should be classified separately as 'Secular Peals' and not credited to any church Guild.-Yours faithfully.

GEORGE C. GRILLO.

WEST COUNTRY GEOGRAPHY

Dear Sir.-Four parishes-North Petherwin with six bells, Werrington with eight bells. St. Giles-in-the-Heath with five bells and Virginstow with one bell-are in the Diocese of Truro but the County of Devon. The first two are in the Truro Diocesan Guild (Launceston Branch) and I have been present at branch festivals in both since the war. St. Giles is not in the Truro Diocesan Guild, though some of us received a very warm welcome on going to ring there last year. It belongs, I think, to the Tamar Valley Guild of Ringers (a very charming name) which could be affiliated to the Truro Diocesan Guild but for the fact that some of its towers are in Exeter Diocese and some in Truro

These parishes have no desire to be absorbed into the county of Cornwall, in fact I was once informed by a North Pctherwin man how much better I should find the air in that parish than the neighbouring parishes of Cornwall.-Yours,

SILVER TRUMPETS

Dear Sir,-Your correspondent who inquired about the construction of the silver trumpets mentioned in the book of Numbers may be interested to know that trumpets belonging to exactly the same century-1400 B.C. exist to-day. They are the silver trumpets of the Pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amun. and form part of the display of that king's treasures in the Cairo Museum.
So far as I recollect. they are somewhat longer than our modern heralds' trumpets and. consisting as they do of a simple tube with a flared mouth, should present no constructional difficulty to any craftsman, ancient or modern.
Following the discovery of the Pharoah's tomb in 1922, these trumpets were fitted with modern mouthpieces and sound for the first time in almost 3,500 years but. this impressive fact apart. they produced sounds no different from that of a present-day (valveless) trumpet.
Doubtless the instruments referred to in the Old Testament were very similar-and may even have been copied from the Egyptian models in the period following the Exodus. Yours truly,

South Woodford. Essex

REV. F. E. ROBINSON'S LAST PEAL OF STEDMAN
Dear Sir,-The statement in the account of the Walton-on-Thames outing, that the Rev. F. E. Robinson rang his last peal of Stedman Triples at Devizes is not correct. I was one of the band who on January 15th, 1910, at St Andrew's, Hillingdon West, rang a peal of Stedman Triples conducted by him. It was his 1,250 th peal and proved to be his last.

Twelve months later, on January 21 st. 1911. the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who succeeded as Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, unveiled a board recording this peal and proceeded, successfully, to call a peal of Stedman Triples in memoriam, the band, with one exception, being as in the previous peal

ONE-HAND CLOCKS

Dear Sir--There is a close connection hetween bells and clocks as the word clock signifies. I am, therefore, presuming on this, and the remarkable friendliness which your publication promates among all who love the Church bells and their towers, to ask if any of your readers would furnish me with the name of any church they know, whose turret clock has only one hand. Especially am I interested in Bedfordshire and Buckinghamshire.-Yours sincerely,

5,152 LINCOLNSHIRE SURPRISE MAJOR A Correction

Dear Sir,-In the peal of Lincolnshire on page 479 the bracketed courses ' $A$ ' should read:-

| 45236 | $x$ |

Also there should be a bob home in the final course.-Yours sincerely.

FIRST PEAL OF STEDMAN

Dear Sir.-I confess to some surprise that there has so far been no comment on the very interesting letter from Dr. G. W. Slack in your issue of July 4th. That Thomas Edwards' peal of Stedman Triples should have remained all this long time patently as a true 5.040 is astonishing, and it is indeed amazing that it could have passed the scrutiny of such careful investigators as Bulwer and Heywood.

If Edwards' peal is indeed false then it would appear that Henry Cooper's peal, rung at Shifnal. in 1819, is the first composed that we know to be true.

I should be greatly obliged if Dr. Slack would indicate to us where Edwards' peal is false. and also. if he can find time, reassure us on the truth of the early pcals by Cooper and Thomas Day.-Yours faithfully

CORONATION RINGING

Dear Sir.-I agree with the letter from Mr . Hill in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World.' May I suggest that all the towers in England should start to ring at the same time and that the time should be fixed by the Central Council? This time should be announced in the B.B.C. programme. An official lead would certainly be appreciated.-Yours faithfully.

LEICESTER GUILD TAKEN TO TASK
Dear Sir-At the annual meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild the members present refused to accept the name of London Surprise Royal, No. 3 Version, to the method rung by a band of visitors at All Saints', Loughborough, in March, 1952
The president of the Leicester Guild confirmed at the Central Council meeting at Lincoln that London Surprise Royal. No. 3 Version, was rejected by the Guild because it did not conform to four rules put forward by the Methods Committee at the 1950 meeting of the Central Council. (Many members present consider that these four rules cannot be applied until rule five has been decided.)
I hope that the members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild are now going to be consistent and treat the following peals: St. Martin's, Leicester, on July 3rd. 1950. Rutland Surprise Maximus, conducted by H. J. Poole: The Bell Foundry, July 61h. 1950, Rutland Surprise Royal, conducted by H. J. Poole: St. Martin's, Leicester. November 16th, 1950, conducted by H. J. Poole: St. Martin's, Leicester, March 27th, 1951. Albanian Surprise Maximus: The Bell Foundry. March 13th. 1951, Albanian Surprise Royal: St. Martin's, Leicester, September 27th, 1951. Spliced Surprise Maximus. conducted by P. J. Staniforth: St. Martin's, Leicestef, Spliced Surprise Maximus. December 20th, 1951, conducted by H. J. Poole: St. Martin's, Leicester. ## MADELEY BELLS TO RING AGAIN

After being silent for over 12 years Madeley (Shropshire) Parish Church bells are now being reliung. The work is being carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. which constitutes the recasting of the old six, the addition of a new tenor and treble. the whole being hung in a new steel frame on ball bearings.
The rehanging has been made possible by the volunteer work of sidesmen and bellringers, who have removed the old wooden frame and floor, reinforced the tower walls, made padstones for the girders and all other necessary preparations. They have also presented the church with a new St. George's flag. Although the bells are paid for, there is still a balance outstanding on the wrong side and any donations would be gratefully received and acknowledged by the undersigned.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Cross the County Boundary to Hawley
The North Western District of the Surrey Association held a meeting at Hawlev on July 19th and a fairly representative gathering of ringers was soon ringing to various methods. A service was conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Davis at 4.30 . The tea and meeting were held at the Old Manor House.
In opening the meeting the District Master, Mr. F. E. Collins. said through a geographical error by the District secretary. the Association had overstepped the county houndary

The Rev. K. Davis. in welcoming the Association replied that he was not sure as the postal address was Hawley, Camberley, Surrey. Three new members were elected

Notices of the combined meetings with the Kent Association to be held on October 4th at Eynsford: Leatherhead District on August Bank Holiday: and the Four Guilds Festival on August 23 rd were announced. A vote of thanks to the Rev. K. Davis for use of hells and service, to Mr. Denyer for his welcome, and also to Mr. Joyce, District secretary for his arrangements, closed the meeting. Further rineing at Hawley and Farnboroagh was held, R. I.

EDGBASTON RINGERS IN SHROPSHIRE

On July 19th the ringers of Edgbaston Old Church, Birmingham, accompanied by visitors and friends assembled at Selly Oak from where an carly start was made from Stourbridge and Bridgnorth to Broseley. Here the party was met by one of the local lads, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung followed by a course each of Double Norwich and Plain Bob Major.

The next stop was Coalbrookdale where the party were welcomed by Mr. Alf Bayley, and Grandsire Caters and Triples was much enjoyed. This was followed by a touch of Stedman Caters in which Mr. Baylcy and one of his colleagues joined and Miss Evelyn Fletcher called her first touch of Stedman Caters. Another item of interest here is the beautiful memorial headstone to the grave of the late William Saunders, former Ringing Master at this church, and a man with a most charming personality who was much beloved by all who knew him.
At the next tower, St. Chad's. Shrewsbury, where Mr. W. A. Farmer welcomed the party, this magnificent ring of 12 was soon going to rounds as we were unable to muster anything further on the full ring. Grandsire and Stidman Caters. however. were very much enjoyed by all, heing joined by Mr. Farmer and iwo of his local hand in the Stedman. Lunch was then partaken of at Ward's Restaurant, and great credit is due to these proud Salopians for the splendid way they know how to deal with hungry ringers, as everyone was well satisfied.
The departure from here was somewhat delayed as for some unaccountable reason two ringing members of the party decided to get temporarily 'lost.' This rather restricted the time at the next tower. Clun, where there is a nice roomy tower with quite a pleasant ring of eight. After ringing, the party was met by the priest-in-charge who said how delighted he was to welcome the visitors to this interesting church.

Travelfing through some further glarious scenery near the Welsh border the next stop was Ludlow. where a bountiful tea was much enjoyed. After a look round this delightful old town we made our way across the Hercfordshire boundary to Leominster, where we were met by one of the local ringers. Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung on this nice ten. also rounds for those who could not aspire to the former.
In the north aisie of this heautiful church there is a ducking stool in a fine state of preservation. These were used, it is said, in olden days to duck scolding women in the local pools or rivers, and a remark was heard that they could be put to good use even in the present day!

The return journey was by Tenbury Wells, Bewdley, and Kidderminster, and all agreed that having been favoured with glorious weather this was a day long to be remembered. An American visitor who accompanied the party was undecided as to what pleased him most -the lovely scenery or the very nice rough cider enjoyed by some at Tedbury.
The thanks of the party are due to Messrs. J. Atkins and T. Russell. who made the arrangements W. C. D.

KINGSTON-ON-THAMES' EXHIBITION

The Parish Church of All Saints, Kingston-on-Thames was the subject and scene of an exhibition held during June. This aimed at showing the public at large the work of the church, and the ringers were asked to take part. The tower was opened to the public on the four June Saturdays between $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and 5 p.m.
A talk on change ringing, the bells and their history was given to each successive group with demonstrations on a silenced bell and on handbells. People arrived in swarms and, to the ringers' surprise made no bones about swarming up a vertical ladder into the belfry. The ages of the visitors ranged from three (carried in his father's arms) to a lady of 73 ! Each party was shown the bells and the interest displayed was evidenced by the numerous questions asked. Some of the visitors were greatly impressed by secing (and hearing) the tenor being raised and small boys continually indulged in acrobatics in odd corners of the frame.
By the last day 730 visitors had been coped with and the ringers heaved a sigh of relief at having conducted so many visitors through the narrow and dangerous spaces in the bellchamber without serious mishap. The ringers ended their share in the exhibition by ringing a course of Grandsire Caters before a large crowd of visitors and found ringing in the public eye a nerve-racking experience! It can be claimed, however, that many people in Kingston and district bave at least a hazy impression of how. and why, the bellringers exercise their art. It may be hoped that the exhibition has done a little to foster a better appreciation of ringers' efforts.
The band are indebted to theis captain. Mr. G. C. Goodman, and to Mr. F. Blondell, who bore the brunt of the work entailed. All are proudly gratified at the appreciation shown by the visitors of Kingston's 'noisy bells '-it is perhaps significant that during the whole month no complaint was received from the visitors about the ringing of the bells: on the contrary all said how they liked to hear them.

REDEDICATION

Wrockwardine, Salop

Friday. Tuly 4 th , was a proud day for Wrockwardine when the Ven. H. J. Carpenter, Archdeacon of Salop, rededicated the restored ring of six bells.
The original second dated 1650, now hangs as a sanctus bell beside the main frame. It has been replaced by a new bell which biends nicely with the retuned five. The present third and tenor are thought to be 600 years old, while the fourth and fifth were cast in 1678 and 1615 resoectively-all by the Clibury family at the nearby town of Wellington. The treble is by Mears, 1828. From the carved inscription on the frame it appears that this has been in use since 1656.
The Archdeacon spoke of the history of these bells, the oldest ring in Shropshire, and mentioned the progress made by the keen young band who are heing taught by Mr. G. L. Hewitt.

The Shropshire Association lost no time in holding a meeting at Wrockwardine, this being arranged for July 12 th . About 40 ringers from the county together with visitors from Birmingham, Chester and Stafford jorned the local ringers in making good use of the bells which. after rehanging by Messrs. Taylor and Co., leave little to be desired. Methods to satisfy all were rung.
The sound of the bells has been much modified by the construction of a ringing chamber within the massive central tower.
An excellent tea was kindly provided by the parish which, obviously, is pleased to have its bells in order once more. F. H. B.

FORTY YEARS AGO
Extract from 'The Ringing World of August 2nd, 1912
RINGING IN NEW ZEALAND
The First 720's in the Dominion
Nothing, perhaps, is of more interest to members of the Exercise than ringing news from overseas. We have in the past been able to publish information from Canada and Australia, and this week we have received news from New Zealand, where, in the city of Auckland, an effort is being made to give changeringing a footing. The band at St . Matthew's Church has recently been augmented by the brothers S. C. and E. J. Hamblin, who learned their ringing at Hersham, Surrey, and who migrated to Auckland a few months ago. Most of the company is made up of ringers from England with one or two from Australia and one New Zealander. On June 3rd 720 of Bob Minor was rung: J. Heather 1, O. Throssell 2 , P. Guppy 3, E. J. Hamblin 4. A. J. White $\overrightarrow{5}$, S. C. Hamblin (conductor) 6. Another 720 had previously been rung on May 24 th , with a covering bell by P. Barringer 1, A. J. White 2, O. Throssell 3, P. Guppy 4, E. J. Hamblin 5, S. C. Hamblin (conductor) 6. These are the first 720's on the bells and probably the first in the Dominion
[Unfortunately, these bells are no longer rung, mainly on account of complaints from residents of nearby flats.]

DARTFORD AND DISTRICT INVADE HERTFORDSHIRE

Some 22 ringers (six ladies) from Dartford, Crayford. Erith. Bexley and Northfleet and holiday visitors from Walmer and Derby, together with their wives and friends set off on a tour of Hertfordshire on July 15th.
Arriving at Barnet, good use was made of this very fine ring and the time to leave for Hatfield came all too soon. Here, unfortunately a wedding at noon curtailed the ringing but sufficient time was allowed for those who had not experienced ten-bell ringing to 'have a go.' To cheer the bride a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters was brought round.
After the arrival of the bride. on to Hertford for an excellent lunch at the Mayflower Hotel, the result of which was that the party arrived 15 minutes late at Bengeo. However, the ladies here proved their worth and weight on this light eight (tenor 7 cwt .) so much so that the Yorkshire lass was seen suspended in mid-air having overthrown the second bell. This unfortunate incident did nothing to dampen the spirits and the Ringing Mistress kept the bells going very efficiently.
From here to Hoddesdon and to the only tower where extra effort was needed to ring the bells. In spite of this. very good use was made of them and those who were lucky enough to hear them in the town were suitably rewarded for the 'sweat' lost in the tower. Tea was then taken at Roberts Cafe and here again a hearty meal was enioyed.
In the cool of the evening Broxbourne was reached and this fine eight was kept going to everyone's satisfaction. On arrival at Cheshunt a few minutes rest was taken until the close of evensong and then an excellent hour's ringing concluded the ringing arrangements for the day. During the day these hells of Hertfordshire were rung in the four standard methods, and rounds for the juniors in the party, the tit-bit being Kent Treble Boh at Bengeo and Plain Bob at Cheshunt, as well as the Caters mentioned earlier.
The organiser would like to record the appreciation of all who enjoyed this outing of the excellent reception which awaited the party at all towers and to those who recommended the caterers to him. not forgetting, of course, a hearty vote of thanks to all clergy for allowing the use of their bells.

OUTINGS IN BRIEF

PUTNEY

Not believing in "crack-of-dawn starts, a coach load of Putney ringers and friends left Hanmersmith at the sensible hour of $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 12th for their annual tour

The first call was the lovely village of War grave, by the Thames. The old church was burned down by suffragettes but a fine new church has been built having a good ring of eight bells in the 17 th century brick tower. Up to Cambridge Major was rung here.

Then, though Henley, to the ancient 'Cathedral City of Wessex, now a delightful old village with a wonderful abbey-Dorchester. It leaves one breathless with wonder that so many priceless treasures have been preserved in one building. A Jesse window carved in stone, the tomb of a crusader, some 13 th century stained glass, ancient wall painting, a Norman lead font and the three back bells of the eight (tenor $15 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) dating from the 14 th century! What a joy to ring and to listen to is this lovely octave! Despite an excellent lunch. very good Double Norwich was rung before having to leave.

On to Abingdon, an ancient market town with narrow, twisting, one-way streets. The old Parish Church of St. Helen is remarkable in being broader than it is long, having a nave and four aisles, and for its fine spire being at the north-east corner! Mr. A. E. Lock met the party, and three leads of Kent Royal were brought home successfully. A young beginner, Miss Milly Denrache, will long remember the course of Grandsire Caters she trebled so well. never even having heard ten bells before Next stop was Watlington, with its fine ring of eight. Superlative was achieved here. After tea in the local hostelry the party moved on in a decidedly jovial mood to the fine ten at Upton-cum-Chalvey (better known as Slough), passing through some very beautiful Chiltern scenery Here Cambridge Royal was rung. The day's ringing concluded with a lovely touch of Grandsire Caters by Mr. Elson, being one of scveral musical touches called by him during the day and thanks were accorded him for the splendid organisation.

ST. MARY'S, EASTBOURNE

In lovely summer weather on July 19th the St. Mary's. Eastbourne, ringers with ringers and friends from Hailsham and Hellingly, partook once again of that eagerly-awaited event, the annual outing. The senior curate at St. Mary's, the Rev. R. Hare, was also present

The first official stop was Edenbridge, where the fine ring of eight on plain bearings was rung for an hour. Like the conductor of a touch of Grandsire Triples just previously in the tower, the engine of the coach decided to 'miss a bob" as the party were about to leave for Guildford, and the time-table was put out for half an hour while the driver frantically struggled with the bits and pieces! However, at Guildford a good lunch was consumed after which the ring of ten at St. Nicolas was put to good use for an hour

At 3 p.m. the party set off through the lovely countryside of Surrey and West Sussex to Petworth, where the fine eight bells are a pleasure to ring. With an element of reluctance the tower was vacated at 4.45 in favour of tea at the Angel Hotel.

To the disappointment of some of the thirsty ones, a course was set at 6 p.m. for the final lower of the day's tour Steyning, where in the cooler atmosphere of the evening, the ringing was much enjoyed.

At 8.30 the party set off in the general direction of home but a halt was called on the way for refreshment. Some first-class handbell ringing, both changes and funes, was a source of obvious enjoyment to the "locals," and at 11.15 the tired but happy party arrived back in Eastbourne.

The Rev. $R$. Hare, on behalf of the whole party, thanked the organisers for a most enjoyable day.

HORNCHLRCH, ESSEX

The articles on outings which appeared some weeks ago adequately summarises that of the St. Andrew's Guild, Hornchurch.

Traditionally the outing now takes on a fixed pattern-a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the jych gate prior to starting. ringing, eating and a final social hour.

This year it was Kent, and an ambitious programme included the cathedrals at Rochester and Canterbury and the cights at Ospringe, Wye and Chilham.

Ringing varied from fair to excellent with everybody conscious of the privilege accorded them of ringing at the cathedrals. The highlight of the day was Wye. What a grand cight!

Big eats' was the order of the day and so to the last call, where mine host, Joe Clinch, of B.B.C. fame, had made more than adequate provision.

The success of an outing largely depends on the co-operation of the local bands and no outing received a more sincere welcome. Messrs. Beaumont, Curtis. Farnworth and Luck 'did us proud.'

F, J. G.

RAINHAM, KENT

Ringers of St. Margaret's. Rainham, chose Essex for their annual outing on July 19th. The first stop for ringing was at All Saints', Writtle, thence on to Colchester arriving just in time to hear the end of a peal attempt at St. Peter's. Owing to lunch being half an hour late, ringing upon the fine bells at St. Peter's was curtailed.

Following a short ring at St. Michael's, Braintree, the party made for Great Dunmow. Here a disappointment awaited the Rainham visitors concerning tea, as the landlord at one of the local inns, where entertainment was expected, had moved a few days earlier. Two members, however, succeeded in arranging at the Tudor Cafe for a meal after the ringing. At St. Mary's tower Mr. G. Nayler ensured that every member had a tea.

About 7.20 p.m. the party were again on the open road. It was thought advisable to miss ringing at High Ongar and after two short stops for light refreshments Rainham was reached about $10.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Thanks are expressed to incumbents for use of the bells, and the ringers at the various towers, who made the company so welcome.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Soutbern District of the London County Association had an outing into Kent and Sussex on June 28th. Nineteen members took part from Acton, Battersea. Chelsea. Clapham Common, Ealing, Isleworth. Kensington, Lambeth, Merton, Melbourn (Cambs), St. Paul's and Westminster.

The first call was at Maidstone, a fine old ring in the surprisingly low key of $\mathbf{B}$ natural, which is only a semitone higher than that of St. Paul's Cathedral. Next came Leeds, famous for the peal of $40,320 \mathrm{Bob}$ Major and the tombstone of its conductor. James Barham

After lunch came the long run to Lewes where. at Southover Church, a course of Cambridge Royal was brought round. Then on to Brighton for a fish tea and ringing at St. Peter's with a long touch of Grandsire Caters for the less experienced members

The last call of the day was at Bolney, one of the loveliest of Sussex villages, whose narrow street was never meant to accommodate coaches. Here the ringing included courses of Superlative and Cambridge Major and was followed by some slaking of thirsts.

The success of the day was due in no small measure to the efforts of Mr. A. F. Udall. who made all the arrangements, Mr. C. W. Ottley, in control of the ringing, and to Mr. James Bullock, comedian. Thanks are expressed to the local towerkeepers and incumbents concerned for their courtesy in allowing ringing.

NAILSEA, SOMERSET

The Nailsea ringers, together with wives and friends, held their annual outing on July 19 th, the weather being perfect.

The first stop was Norton St. Philip, a village famous for its George Inn dating back to 1397. The bells were raised in peal and despite a frayed tenor rope several good touches were brought round. Your seribe has been instructed to state that it was he who finally disintegrated the aforementioned rope. Having tied a knot in same, ringing was resumed! The church is 15 th century and the tower is of unusual design, being heavily buttressed. Samuel Pepys noted in bis Diary that the bells were " mighty tunable.

The next tower was Corsley, just over the Wiltshire border, the journey from Norton St. Philip being punctuated by sundry rumblings from bencath the coach. The fine six here were put to good use and ringing included a good touch of Plain Bob Minor. The church was rebuilt in 1833 but contains a Jacobean oak pulpit.

A sandwich lunch at a convenient inn followed and afterwards came the run to Codford St. Peter, a good little six recently restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. While ringing was in progress the transmission fault in the coach was rectified and consequently Shrewton was reached half an hour late. This light ring was soon raised and ringing continued until tea time. The party are greatly indebted to the Vicar, the Rev. G. F. Barnard, for arranging tea at the annual church fete and afterwards, while non-ringing members were endeavouring to win a pig. ringing was continued!
West Lavington was the next stop and some of the best ringing of the day was heard from this fine ring which refused to be hurried along.

The final tower was Market Lavington with a mellow-sounding six, again rung from the ground floor. The church dates from the 14 th century and the spiral rood loft steps are still intact.

A stop was made at Melksham on the return journey and the choral interludes and Clifford's cider jar, which are now essentials of the Nailsea outing, enlivened the trip.

Sincere thanks are due to all the incumbents and to all the people who met and welcomed the party at the towers.

KINGSTON-ON-THAMES

Kingston ringers made an early start for their outing on July 12 th and by 11 a.m. had rung on the excellent bells at Great Baddow, had had coffee and arrived in Suffolk. Next came ringing at Sudbury, and lunch-the whole party being seated down a single long table in truly Victorian family style. The captain, at the head, failed, however, to clicit the appropriate Victorian respect from his flock
After Sudbury came Long Melford, Lavenham and Bures, where all had their fill of ringing on these fine bells and of wandering through the beautiful churches and churchyards. In keeping were an old-fashioned tea at Lavenham and handbell ringing in the churchyard before rustic onlookers. At this point the visitors were joined by their former captain, Mr. H. W. Barratt, and Mrs. Barratt, now, alas, removed from Kingston to Loddon.
The ladies in the band saw with delight the well-kept and beautifully-furnished belfry at Bures, bright with new paint and flowers, and were not slow to urge on the captain that the example was worth imitation at Kingston.

The day ended with a ring on the bells of Chelmsford Cathedral: ringers were more than compensated for a slight delay whilst a choir festival ended by the beautiful singing of the assembled choirs. The last touch-three leads of Kent on the magnificent back ten-will long live in the memories of the band. Altogether a most successful day and the band are indebted to the incumbents for permission to ring and to all those who, as usual on these occasions, willingly turned up to open towers, raise bells and generally contribute to the success of the outing.

OUTINGS

BRENTWOOD, ESSEX
With a tradition of 21 previous qutings behind them, St. Thomas's, Brentwood, have a reputation to maintain, and the two coachloads of ringers and friends who embarked on the 22nd outing on June 28th agreed that the reputation for a happy day was maintained.

Starting at 7 a.m. for Kent, 'the Garden of England, the route was via the Blackwall Tunnel. Aylesford was the first tower visited and the opening touch of Stedman Triples was followed by Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Grandsire and a course of Cambridge Major. St. Nicholas', Leeds, was reached a little bebind time. Nevertheless all the party walked round the churchyard to the grave of the famous James Barham, to remember for a few moments one of the outstanding figures of the Exercise who lived two centuries ago. At the tower Bob Royal, call changes and Stedman Caters were rung.

Mr. Everett was awaiting the party at Ashford. After a quick look round the church, a course of Yorkshire Surprise was safely brought round. Then came an excellent lunch
The run through the pleasant Kentish countryside to Headcorn was memorable. At the church the beautiful, sonorous tone of the three back bells was admired. A short ring at Staplehurst preceded tea at Maidstone

Several members of the local company welcomed the visitors at All Saints'. Maidstone, and the bells were rung to Stedman Caters and Bob Royal followed by Cambridge on the back eight and a touch of Grandsire Caters to close the day's ringing.
Brentwood was reached about 11 p.m. Thanks are due to the Master (Mr. J. Sitch), the scretary (Mr. A. Pryke) and to the incumbents and local ringers for helping to provide another successful outing.

WOTTON-UNDER-EDGE BRANCH

The great day of the year for the Wotton-under-Edge Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was July 19 th. At $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the coach left Wotton and ten of the Branch's thirteen towers had to be visited to pick up the ringers. By 9 a.m, the last tower had been visited and the next stop was Long Ashton. Ringing took place there and then on to the other towers, Nailsea, Clevedon, Yatton, Churchill, Burrington and Chew Stoke.

All were good rings and an excellent lunch at Clevedon, a good tea at Burrington, lovely weather, pleasant company and the presence with us at each tower of a former Branch chairman. the Rev. - Allan. all contributed to making the day such a success.

We noticed with admiration the lovely churchyards, so tidy and neat, a fine carved figure of a bird in wood, a tablecloth with little bells worked on the border, clean ringing rooms and the view of Yatton bells from above. We rang Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Boh. St. Clement's, Kent and Oxford Treble Boh and Cambridge: in fact with two Cambridge bands it had to be two courses. Then home, but first a drink, goodbye to Mr. Allan, then fish and chips, a few songs, tired but very happy. May the next outing come soon.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The July meeting was held at Drighlington on July 26th. The holiday weather brought out the members early and the bells were raised in peal before 3 p.m. Ringing continued until 5 p.m. when all present were invited to tea provided by the Vicar.

The business meeting was held in the Church Schools, the president (Mr. J. W. Benten) being in the chair, and members were present from Armley, Batley, Bradford, Bramley, Calverley, Drighlington, East Ardsley, Ely (St. Mary's), Headingley St. Michael's, Idle, Leeds Parish Church, Otley, Pudsey, Rothwell, Wetherby and Woodlesford.
The usual formalities were despatched. Seven new members were elected en bloc-Mr. M. J. Thurmott, Miss Betty Pickles, Miss Shirley Roden, Mr. J. Hargreaves, David Fenton, David Cox and Michael Cox
The vote of thanks to the Vicar for inviting the Society to tea, the churchwardens for the use of the bells, the local company, especially Mr. S. Barron, for the general arrangementts, and the ladies for service at the tea tables was proposed by $\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{H}$. Lofthouse, seconded by Mr. J. W. Gibson; the president and Mr. I. Slack supported the vote.

Mrs. Hargrave, the Vicar's wife, apologised for the Vicar (who was away with the choir outing) and promised to convey to him the thanks and the fact that everyone enjoyed themselves. Mr. Barron said that the Society, was al ways welcome at Drighlington and he would make every endeavour to assure the success of future meetings.

The next meeting is due to be held at Calverley on August 30th.

Discussion took place re a Society trip next summer and the matter was deferred for a month to allow individual tower consideration.

OBITUARY

MR. W. H. D'AETH

We have received news from the Rev. $F_{\text {. }}$ L1. Edwards of the passing at the age of 83 years, of Mr. Walter Hughes D'Aeth.

Mr. D'Aeth was born on August 1st, 1868. son of the Rev. W. Hughes D'Aeth, Rector of Buckhorn Weston, Dorset. He was a member of the Central Council from 1915 to 1923 , representing Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and was Master of Salisbury Diocesan Guild from 1919 to 1923.
He took part in four peals, the first being rung at Buckhorn Weston on February 26th, 1911, to celebrate the jubilee of his father's ordination.
'The Ringing World ' of July 12th, 1912, had the following editorial note:- Some 20 years ago the brothers D'Aeth taught a local band to ring Bob Doubles. That was, we believe, the first effort at change ringing in the county of Dorset. When the band lost one or two members change ringing disappeared for many years until the brothers began teaching their own men Grandsire a year or two ago. Meanwhile a few other Dorset towers have taken up change ringing.

His brother, Lt.-Col. C. C. Hughes D'Aeth, was a representative of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on the Central Council from 1914 to 19 ㅍ․ He lost his life in a motor accident at Bournemouth in 1949.

MR. HERBERT FIELDS

In the passing of Mr. Herbert Fields the Hunts District of the Ely Diocesan Association have lost a kind and faithful friend. He had been ill for eleven months and on July 22nd passed peacefully away, aged 79 years.
The funeral took place at St. Mary's, St Neots, Hunts, on Friday. the Vicar, the Rev. L. Galley, R.D., conducting the service at the church and the interment at the cemetery. Besides the family immediate mourners was a representative band of ringers to associate their svmpathy. These included Mr. F. Warrington (District Ringing Master), Mr. T. R. Dennis (representing St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge), Mr. J. R. G. Spicer (All Saints', Huntingdon, also representing Mr. H. S. Peacock. District Secretary, Hunts). Mr. H. W. Pratt (All Saints', St. Ives), Mr. T. H. Townsend (St. Andrew's. Great Staughton, also representing Mr. F. W. Lack, Deputy Ringing Master), Miss Joan Harding and Mr. G. Henry Harding (Blumham, Beds). Mr. A. L. Mardlin (Eaton Socon, Beds). Mr. S. J. Peck and Mr. G. Coleman (St. Mary's, Eynesbury).

There were many wreaths and floral tributes including one from the Huntingdon Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association. During the evening the bells were rung with half-muffled clappers by past and present members of the St. Ncots Guild. On Saturday a full peal of Cambridge Major was rung by a representative band.
Mr. Fields had rung over 100 peals, 91 for the Ely Diocesan Association, usually on the heavy end. and very seldom made a misblow: in fact, ringing St. Neots 30-cwt. tenor was quite easy to him.

RINGING RHYMES

No. 12B. Stedman (concluded)-Tips
At calls, pláce-maker thirds from back
Omits two sixes from its track
At Bob, the last two bells will each An extra six in their paths reach.
While, at a Single, penult : bell
Works two more sixes there, as well.
To enter front work-quick or slow?
Are numerous tips that you may know.
Two new and preferable we'll quote
(As not depending on one bell)
The others-ascertain and note!
In $4 / 5$ down, if you have doubt,
The front-work watch, as one comes out. And if thirds place it makes, you'll know
To enter Quick, for that was Slow.
But if from lead it runs out slick.
Then enter Slow. for that was Quick
The second tip can help you much :
It checks each six right through the touch. It even warns you when to call. (Perhaps most useful tip of all!) Since Stedman 'divs ' contain twelve rows, They have but six of handstrake blows. Of these 3 must be quick, 3 slow. So each by letter-name you'll know As:-' Q - - $\mathrm{I}^{\prime}$ '-' K ' and ' S '-' L '-' O Said to yourself, as round they go. (' $K$ ' follows rounds, as you may know.) A final tip: When dodging, should You lose direction. (as one could!) Remember-every dodging blow Can only on the handstroke go.

THE PROBLEMS OF AN EDITOR

THE very plain and very straight leading article of July 11 th inevitably makes thinking ringers consider the difficulties which arise in the production and layout of a technical-social newspaper such as this. The Editor's aim is to make the paper so interesting that there can never be a drop in circulation and to reach towards saturation point, i.e., when every ringer is a subscriber. The first of these aims is undoubtedly achieved, and progress towards the second can be made if ringers will take a wide view.

Readers of ' The Ringing World ' are a strange medley. There are mathematicians and non-mathematicians; method experts and mere ringers of methods; good practising churchfolk and some who are merely C. of E., some not even that; peal ringers and non-peal ringers; people with a sense of humour and people utterly devoid of that commodity; people who count notoriety greater than fame; people who strive after the first peal on the bells or the first in the method on the bells and those whose sole desire is to ring the best peal on the bells, and that field is still wide open; people who in spite of difficulty ring their bells for all Sunday services and those who are continually searching for some attractive ringing on weekdays; those who painstakingly teach the elements of the art and those who like to skim the cream of the results of such teaching, thus achieving good ringing the easy way, and making sure of always ringing in good company. There are many more such contrasts, and it is clearly impossible that all ringers will be interested in the whole of the contents. Yet there are many readers who devour every word.

The Editor is not helped by people who write thus:When the paper was only 1d. it was much more interesting than it is at 4 d . The answer to that is when the paper cost only ld., a young man starting his career and earning £90 a year could buy a tailored suit for less than his weekly salary. That same young man, growing old and earning eight times as much money, finds that a fortnight's pay won't procure for him a suit of comparable quality.

The Editor does not appreciate letters from people who say that there is not enough in the paper to interest the service ringer pure and simple. The Editor is a service ringer, pure and simple, himself, did his correspondents but know it.

The correspondence must be a great source of worry. While all views must be expressed, it is fully time that men of stature in ringing had more to write in the correspondence columns. Do they disdain to paddle in the muddy waters of the petty bickerings, which are of intense interest to their protagonists, but which seem a waste of space, and an exhibition of bad taste, to most ringers? Never does the Editor get a letter from one in particular whose eloquence at the Central Council meeting at Eastbourne and whose clarity of thought and speech at Lincoln made a great impression. Never does he write unless it be to call attention to the falsity of a composition by some poor wight. He and his like, and they are many, could do so much to raise the tone of the paper altogether, and it is their plain duty to do it.

At the Central Council meeting at Lincoln it was made quite clear that the Council would have been insolvent had it not been for the fact that its officers never charged their rail and hotel expenses when they had to meet. Much the same is true of 'The Ringing World.' Its readers are getting much service which is paid at less than the rate for the job, and others connected with it are considerably out of pocket because of that association. Even more valuable is the time which is devoted to the affairs of 'The Ringing World.' To men who are under the necessity of earning their living, and at the same time have other commitments, the sacrifice of time is no small thing. Is their altruism appreciated by any but a few?

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

VI.-HOW TO RING 120 GRANDSIRE DOUBLES

Last week we endeavoured to explain how the Grandsire method on five bells is rung. We showed that the "work" of the method produced three ledds, which is thirty changes, but that, of course, does not exhaust all the possible changes on five bells. As readers well know, the extent of changes on five bells is 120 , or a 'six-score,' as old ringers were wont to call it.

To produce a 120 in any method of pure Doubles, as we explained a week or two ago, requires certain departures from the "method," and these departures are known as 'bobs' and 'singles.' The proper insertion of these 'calls ' -because they are called by the conductormakes it possible to extend our 30 changes to the full 120 .

The 'bob' in Grandsire consists of the introduction of another 3rds place. In the construction of the method itself, as we have seen, 3rds place is made on every occasion immediately after the treble has led. The 3rds place, to make a bob, is made when the treble leads its first blow-that is the two 3rds places, when a bob is called, are consecutive, and they are made by the two bells hunting immediately in front of the treble.

The effect of the actual work of the bells is this: The bob (that is the 3rds place before the treble completes its lead) is made by the bell that passed the treble in 2-3. Having made 3rds, it strikes over the treble and then leads. It is then 'in the hunt,' where the 2nd is in the plain course, and all it has to do is to continue plain hunting until the next call is made.

The bell that makes the ordinary 3rds place does not have its cycle of work disturbed, but the two other bells are detained in the $4-5$ dodging place. One of them is the bell which has been "in the hunt.' The call comes when he is completing his whole pull behind and he makes a double dodge in 5-4 (down).

A single dodge, which occurs in the plain lead, is just one step back in the hunting-into 5 ths (from 4ths) if you dodge down ; into 4ths (from 5ths) if you dodge up. When you ' double dodge' you step up, or down, twice. so that when you have to 'double dodge down' in Grandsire Doubles you first lay your whole pull behind, step down into 4ths, up into Sths, down into 4ths, back into 5ths, and then go on down to lead.

Double dodging up is the reverse of this and occurs before lying the whole pull behind. This is done at a bob by the bell that passed the treble in 3-4; and the bell he follows to lead is the bell that dodges with him.

The dodging behind is the same at a single as at a bob, but the other two bells are reversed in their coursing order. Both 3rds places are made by one and the same bell, the bell that passed the treble in $2-3$. The other bell-that passed the treble in $1-2$-lies a whole pull in 2nds place over the treble, then leads again. and is "in the hunt.' Now examine the difference in the working of the bells under these three sets of conditions. These figures show the essential work at the treble lead:-

| Plain Lead | Bob Lead | Single Lead |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 45312 | 45312 | 45312 |
| 54132 | 54132 | 54132 |
| 51423 | 51423 | 51423 |
| 15243 | 15432 | 15432 |
| 12534 | 14523 | 15423 |
| 21543 | 41532 | 51432 |
| 25134 | 45123 | 54123 |
| 52314 | 54213 | 45213 |

The proper place for the conductor to call the bob or single is when the treble strikes in 3 rds place on its way down. The dodging bells are then in the place where they have to dodge, the bell in front. has sufficient notice to change its course. When you begin calling, however, you may not be able to 'see' the treble, although you want to cultivate the facility to do so as much as possible. It may, therefore, be necessary just at the start to "call' your 120's by a fixed rule. If you ring the 3rd or 5th you make a call when your bell will have to stop and double dodge in 4-5 up.

In doing this, your only other work will be making 3rds place at alternate leads. As you hunt up and pass the treble in 3-4, make your call as you strike over the treble. Thus you have alternately one plain lead and one lead at which a call is made-that gives you in the 12 leads six calls in all. Two of these calls MUST be singles. You can put your first single at any one of the first three calling places, but the second single MUST come at the corresponding place in the next three.

If you call the first half P.B.P.B.P.S. (P standing for plain lead, $B$ for bob lead and $S$ for single lead), then the second half must be called in exactly the same way.

The "calls, come at the 2 nd, 4th and 6th leads if you use the 5 th as the 'observation' bell. and at the 1st, 3rd and 5th leads if you use the 3rd as the 'observation' bell, and with these two forms of calling you can obtain six different 120's-different, that is, in the sequence of the changes.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual outing of the Barnsley District Society took place on July 19th when two bus loads of ringers and friends visited East Yorks.

The first call was at Selby for breakfast at the Corunna House at 9 a.m., after which the Abbey bells were rung for about one hour. The ten bells were rung in rounds, then came a touch of Bob Major and touches of Treble Bob Minor on the top six. An hour's ringing followed on the beautiful six at Market Weighton where a good variety of methods was enjoyed.
The next item on the programme was hot lunch at the Market Cross Hotel, Beverley, Here some delay curtailed the time for ringing and to the disappointment of all ringers the risit to St. Mary's Church had to be cancelled. Apologies and thanks were given to $\mathbf{M r}$. Braithwell who had waited patiently. A yisit to the Minster was an enjoyable experience. Ringing on the ten bells was confined to rounds but on the top six a good variety of methods was completed.

The final objective was Hornsea with a sumptuous tea at the. Clifton Cafe and about one hour was spent by the seaside with no ringing. It was a pleasant journey home with everyone happy and satisfied

The organiser would like to thank all the local ringers for the arrangements they had made and the help given, without which the trip would not have been so successful.

The first quarter peal to be rung on the five bells in the 12 th century tower of Roade Parish Church took place on July 31st and marked the completion of the installation of the new treble bell which had been previously consecrated and anointed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Gerald Vernon, acting for the Bishop of Peterborough, on July 26th. The tower consists of three pre-Reformation bells of c. 1450 A.D. and a mediæval bell which was recast in 1727 A.D. and the new treble of 5 $\mathrm{cwt}, 21 \mathrm{lb}$.

An enquiry from Devon: What famous heavy-bell ringer is now called 'The Chest '?
Coinoidence.-Mr. John Blythe conducted a peal at Blythburgh, Suffolk!

Mr . Leslie Evans, by ringing at Michaelchurch Eskley, has rung on all the ringable rings of bells in Herefordshire.
The first peal on the recast bells of Halifax Parish Church took place on July $2 f$ fih. It was a peal of Plain Bob Royal. And now for the first peal of Maximus

The first full meeting within living memory was held by the North Western District of the Essex Association at the old church of Matching, near Harlow, recently. Ringers from various parts of Essex enjoyed a good afternoon and evening's ringing.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe asks us to state that the leading article in last week's issue on 'The Preservation of Bells' is not an official statement from the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council. Mr. Sharpe is in correspondence with members of the Towers and Belfries Committee, and also with Dr. Eeles, the secretary of the Central Council for the Care of Churches, concerning the matter. and witl report later on the result of their deliberations.

of eight Spliced Surprise Maximus. The Leicester Cathedral band have added another laurel to their crown with a peal methods were York, Pudsey, Leicestershire, Buckinghamshire, Buckingham, Wigston, Yorkshire and Belgrave. This is, of course, a first occasion

We have many examples of brothers in peals together. Mr. Max P. Page, of Ipswich, has rung in each of his brother's 25 peals and conducted 17 of them.

Miss Dorothy Stratford who was taught to handle a bell at Sapcote, Leics, on January 2nd. has now rung her first peal. Few beginners accomplish this in seven months.
At the first meeting of the Swansea and Brecon Guild at Knighton, Dyffryn tower was also represented. This was inadvertently omitted from the report of the meeting on page 474.

From distant Jamaica comes the news of the wedding on July 12th of Miss Gladys K. Jarrett. A peal in honour of the occasion was rung in her home tower, St. Mary-the-Virgin. Chatham.

Visitors to Narth Cornwall are reminded that they will be welcome at St. Andrew's, Stration, where there is ringing from 5 to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

A vice-president of the South and West District of the Middlesex Association asks us to point out that far from being absent (as suggested in a report of the recent joint meeting at Twickenham and Isleworth). he was very much in evidence at the Isleworth end of activities, and. with his wife, enjoyed meeting the Vicar and ringers at the Vicarage garden fete, in addition to enjoying all of the other pleasant occupations described in the report as being available by the river in the evening!

GEORGE WILLIAMS MEMORIAL BOOKCASE: QUOTATION ACCEPTED - HIGH TRAVEL COST ATTRIBUTED TO FEWER PEALS - GUILD WAR MEMORIAL - CRANBORNE PEAL DISOWNED - CENTRAL COUNCIL AT BOURNEMOUTH

HE 72nd annual meeting of the Guild was held at Basingstoke on July 5th and the glorious weather attracted over 80 ringers from all Districts of the Guild. Before the afternoon meeting many availed themselves of the opportunity to ring at the various towers in the vicinity which had been kindly made available to the Guild
At the business meeting, which was presided over by the Master (Mr. George Pullinger), a warm welcome was extended to many visiting ringers present. The Master was supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Linter), hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Rogers) and hon. auditor and librarian (Mr. A. York-Bramble).
The members stood in silence as a token of respect to the passing of Messrs. C. J. Fray Millard (Swanmore) (North Stoneham), Mr. A. Millard (Swanmore) and the Rev.-. Wells (Basingstoke).
The general secretary apologised to the meeting in respect of the delay in distributing the annual reports, over which he had no control, and asked members to examine copies of the balance sheet which were passed round for inspection. Apologies for absence were read from several members expressing regret at not being able to attend.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP

The meeting was particularly pleased to have amongst them one of the oldest members of the Guild, Mr. W. Read (late of Blackmoor), who had travelled from Winchfield. Recently he had had an unfortunate accident in which he had suffered the loss of a leg. It was unanimously agreed that in recognition of his long and loyal service to the Guild he be elected a life member.
The balance sheets, as presented to the meeting, were explained by the hon. treasurer. It was a matter of regret that there was a small deficit on the year's working but it was only fair to accept that sums had been granted for bell restorations and the added cost of printing a full annual report. This last item was causing the Executive Committee some concern and it was felt that if printing costs continued to rise. the production of an annual report in alternate years would have to be considered. The auditor added his observations and thanked the treasurer for the manner in which he handled the finances of the Guild. He pointed out that although the Central Fund showed a small deficit the Districts showed a credit balance. The accounts as presented were unanimously adopted.

REPORT OF THE HON. LIBRARIAN

During the year 1951 the books and handbells. the property of the Guild. have remained at St. Michacl's Vicarage, Southampton, by kind courtesy of the Vicar (the Rev. K. W. H . Felstead). Their ultimate resting place is a matter which may be decided when full consideration has been given by the Guild to the form of execution of the George Williams Memorial Scheme.

One or two requests for loans have been received and met during the year. A case in which the handbells may be safely transported seems advisable to be got Regulations for the conduct of the Memorial Library and the loan of books and handbells have heen drafted and ratified by the Guild Executive Committee

A welcome addition is a series of Guild reports for the years 1927 to 1945, kindly presented by Mr. J. A. Hill, to fill the gap formerly existing in the collection of Guild annual reports

Information has been received that several ringing books, formerly the property of the late Mr. J. Andrews, of Winchester, are to be presented to the library and these will form further welcome addition to the bookshelves, The Master, on bchalf of the members, expressed their thanks to Mr. A. York-Bramble, the hon. librarian, for his work during the year.

THE GUILD'S REPORT

The joint report of the Master, hon. general secretary and hon. treasurer stated that as far as reports from the Districts showed, the year had been one of continual progress and an effort further to consolidate the Guild's position. Membership had maintained a steady level and although honorary membership remained at 84 , full members had decreased from 677 in 1950 to 627 . This might be partly offset by an increase in unattached membership from 7 to 38 . Compounding membership had increased by 23 as against 12 in 1950.
Reports of bell restorations were very encouraging and include Bramley (from 6 to 8), Baughurst (5), Sherfield-on-Loddon (6). Bishop's Sutton (5), Sparsholt (5), where the tenor had been recast, and Arreton, I.O.W. (from 5 to 6). It was understood that restorations were contemplated in the near future at Brading, I.O.W. (8), St. Lawrence's (5) and St. Michael's. Winchester (5). It was also hoped that Winchester College authorities would be able to put the restoration of the College bells in hand when the opportunity arose Financially the Guild was still able to show a stable balance. After consideration, the Executive Committee agreed to the printing of a generous annual report for 1951, although rising costs of printing might curtail it in the near future unless members were prepared to pay towards it. (The present report cost over one shilling per copy to print.)
The Dean and Chapter of Winchester Cathedral had given their permission for the names of members who were killed in the 1939-45 war to be added to the existing panel in the Cathedral belfry, and, if required, an additional panel to be fitted. As soon as a complete list of names was obtained inquiries would be made as to the executing of the memorial.

FEWER PEALS

Although there was a decline in the number of peals rung, this was not due to lack of interest but probably for the reason that peal ringing was becoming more expensive with increased travelling costs. Tower-bell peals numbered 37 and handbells 46 . a total decrease of 38. Altogether 21 members rang their first peal, three conducted their first peal and 71 rang their 'first peal in the method?' Eighteen members shared the conducting of the towerbell peals. Mr. J. Hunt leading with eight. The handbell ringing at Bournemouth continued to progress with the splicing of plain methods and they recorded a peal of Spliced Maximus in three methods as well as a peal of Plain Bob Maximus. Mr. D. T. Matkin conducted 43 of the handbell peals rung for the Guild

Mr. C. H. Kippin, one of the Central Council representatives, presented a detailed account of the Lincoln meeting of the Council. He was congratulated on being elected to fill the vacancy on the Methods Committee.

THE OFFICERS

The election of officers resulted as follows:Master. Mr. G. Pullinger: hon. secretary. Mr F. W. Rogers : hon. treasurer, Mr. W. Linter ; hon auditor and ljbrarian, Mr. A. YorkBramble: recorder of peals. Mr. N. Hayes.
It was proposed by Mr . Clift, seconded by Mr. R. Reed, that a letter of appreciation be sent to Mr. A. V. Davis expressing their thanks for the vast amount of work he had done during his term of office as recorder of peals.

GEORGE WILLIAMS MEMORIAL

The general secretary reported that the Executive Committee had examined designs of the proposed bookcase to be erected to the memory of the late Master, and proposed the adoption of the design which was on view at the meeting. An estimate for executing the work had been receiyed from Moorman and Son of Newport (I.O.W.), who were willing to carry out the job for a sum of $£ 73 \mathrm{3s}$. 6 d ., and it was recommended that this firm be entrusted with the memorial. The hon. treasurer reported that the Appeal Fund now stood at £48 and it was proposed to issue a further appeal to the Districts to subscribe the remaining £25.
It was proposed by Mrs. C. H. Kippin that this estimate be accepted. Mr. Bailey (Godshill, I.O.W.) assured the meeting that the firm could be relied unon to do a first-class job. It was unanimously agreed that the work be executed by this firm and they be instructed to proceed with the construction of the memorial. When the work was completed it was agreed, subject to permission being given, to erect it in the belfry at St. Mary's, Southampton.

GUILD WAR MEMORIAL

The hon. secretary reported that the Dean and Chapter of Winchester Cathedral had given their permission for additional names of Guild members who lost their lives in the 1939-45 Great War, to be inscribed on the existing panel in the Cathedral belfry or to erect an additional panel if found to be neeessary. As far as can be ascertained 17 members had lost their lives, but to ensure accuracy it was left open to September 1st to receive names of any who had been omitted. It was unanimously agreed that the work be proceeded with after that date and to meet the cost out of Guild funds.

GUILD BADGE

It had been felt for a long time that the Guild should adopt a ringer's badge bearing the Guild's title and date of founding, and the secretary had been instructed to obtain samples to enable a choice to be made. Several designs were on view at the meeting and it was eventually decided to accept the one submitted by Messrs. Fattorini, of Birmingham, and the secretary was instructed to place an order for 200 stud type and 100 brooch type for initial distribution.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING AT

 BOURNEMOUTH, 1953The Master pointed out that the Council had accepted his invitation to hold their 1953 meeting at Bournemouth and he proposed a select committee be appointed and the Salisbury Guild be invited to co-operate in order to ensure the success of the gathering It was decided, up to a limit to be agreed. if possible, between the two Guilds. to support financially the arrangements to be made.

THE CRANBORNE PEAL

Several members asked what was the reaction of the Guild to the recent incident of the peal rung at Cranborne which the Salisbury Guild. owing to breach of rules. would not accept and the conductor's wish for it to be accepted by the Winchester Guild.

After a varied discussion it was eventually proposed by Mr. J. A. Hill (Andover) and carried unanimously: 'That after due consideration the meeting feels that the implied intention of this band was to ring the peal for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and, in the circumstances, cannot accept the performance for this Guild, and that this statement appear in "The Ringing World " in the name of this Guild.
It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Petersfield in July, 1953.
Mr. C. H. Kippin proposed, and Mr. Bailey seconded, that the District secretaries be urged to invest the accounts in preference to having money in hand.'
Votes of thanks were accorded Mr. J. Chesterman for making all arrangements for the success of the meeting and to all the incumbents who had placed their bells at the disposal of the Guild that day.
The service was held in St. Michael's Church at which the Archdeacon of Basingstoke officiated and preached, after which tea was partaken of in Church Cottage. Ringing continued at the various towers in the evening. which included All Saints' (9). St. Michael's (8), Bramley (8), Oakley (6) and Deane (6).

NORWICH ASSOCIATION

South Norfolk Branch Entertained at Long Stratton

Eighteen parishes were represented at a meeting of the South Norfolk Branch at Long Stratton on July 19th. The service at 4.15 was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. St. LegerChambers) in St. Mary's Church.

At tea in the Village Hall the ringers were the guests of Mr. William L. Duffield, vice-president of the Association.

The Rev. E. Vokes was in the chair for the meeting, supported by the Rev. A. St. J. Heard (president), Mr. W. L. Duffield, the Rev. A. St. Leger-Chambers, Mr. E. Whiting (Branch Ringing Master), Mr. A. G. Harrison (Branch secretary) and Messrs. W. A. Lock, F. C. W. Phillippo, H. Moss and W. G. Saunders, members of the committee.
It was decided to visit North Lepham for the September meeting. The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Rector. Mr. Duffield, for the excellent tea, the organist and the ladies who served the tea. During the evening the bells of the adjoining parish of Forncett were also rung.

JOINT MEETING AT COLEORTON

Cole-Orton was the venue of a ioint meeting of the Midland Counties Guild and the Loughborough District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild and some 50 members and friends were present from Cole-Orton. Copt Oak. Oaks-in-Charnwood. Ibstock. Hugglescote, Whitwick. Overseal, Lullington. Ashby. Measham. Loughborough. Repton. Netherseal. Barton (St. Modwen's), Breedon and Enfield (Middlesex).
The spacious grounds of the hall adjoining the church were thrown open (by kind permission of the National Coal Board who now occupy the hall for offices) and were a great attraction for those who were making this first visit. As there is no incumbent or priest-incharge at this church, a short service was conducted by the churchwarden. Mr. J. Capner, and was followed by tea in the hall.
Mr. A. E. Rowlev, in proposing a vote of thanks to the local ringers for the arrangements made, said it was good to hold these joint meetings. Mr. W. H. Curzon. supporting, said that although this was a joint meeting it was not long since they were all members of one family la reference to the days of the Midland Counties Association).
Further ringing concluded a very enjoyable meeting and as the later members were wending their way home they could still hear the local ringers holding the fort

PRESTON, DORSET, HAS NOW SIX BELLS

Two New Trebles Added to Ancient Four
Following the usual campers' service on Sunday morning, July 27th, the Church of St. Andrew, Preston, near Weymouth. was again filled to capacity when the Bishop of Salisbury, the Rt. Rev. W. L. Anderson, dedicated the new vestry and two new bells.

Preston has had only four bells until now and the new treble and second. cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, have been given by parishioners in memory of their loved ones.

The treble is inscribed:- In memory of my Wife and Son, Charlotte and Stanley Slade. God calls.' The second bears the inscription :'In memory of our, Parents, Hugh and Emily Diment. God calls.'

These two additions make a lovely ring of six and help to send the Christian message out to the world in company with the four ancient bells which have sounded so proudly from the tower for centuries.

The third (or the old treble) was cast in 1671 by Thomas Purdue, of Closworth, Somerset, and bears no inscription, and the remaining three were cast in 1629 by an unknown founder and bear respectively the following inscriptions:-

Fourth.-' Repent, I say, be not too late, Thyself att al times redy make.

Fifth. - To see in what estate they live, Nothing to the poor they give.'
Tenor.- At thy departure I shall sound, And ring to bring thee to ground.
The two new bells and the old treble are now in a steel frame and the back three are in a wooden frame which has been secured to the tower walls.
After dedicating the new vestry and the bells the Bishop gave the address, speaking on a text from the Book of Isaiah, chapter 54, verse 2: 'Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: spare not, lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes.?

It was a different Preston now, said the Bishop, than the one which he knew when he lived there 30 years ago. Instead of a village with green fields stretching to the sea, it now helped to contain a large overspill of the evergrowing town of Weymouth

The new bells and the vestry could both play their part in reaching out to this larger and still spreading population to remind them of their duty to God.
The Church, the Bishop went on, could not be static but some congregations were so snug in their comfortable churches that they forgo those outside, therefore we must not be content with churches to hold 400 or 600 people, but should be always prepared to extend our buildings to hold still more worshippers.

Dr. Anderson said that he would like to congratulate Preston on raising over $£ 2,500$. for this very necessary work

The vestry is built of Portland stone, and sliding panels have been utilised to make a very efficient and roomy place.

Visiting clergy included the Rural Dean of Weymouth, the Rev. T. C. C. Brockner, the Bishop's Chaplain, the Rev. E. V. Tanner, the Rev. E. Jones and Mr. W. Ager. secretary to the Diocesan Branch of the C.E.M.S.

Preston ringers, under their captain, Mr. H. Corbin, rang the first touch of rounds after the dedication. and also the first touch of changes, Grandsire Doubles, after the service.
Mr. H. Diment and Mr. John Slade, who rings at Preston, took part in the dedication ceremony.

Ringers were present from St. Peter's, Dorchester. Abbotsbury. Upwey, Yetminster, Wyke Regis and Gloucester, and they all took part in ringing after service, when the methods rung included Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Preston, the Rev. P. W. H. Isdell-Carpenter, M.A. who expressed his pleasure in welcoming the Bishop on this memorable occasion.

A REUNION AT AN AUSTRALIAN DEDICATION

On July 19th, 12 Sydney ringers travelled the 125 miles to West Maitland to be present at the dedication of the rehanging of the bells at West Maitland on roller bearings. Only those ringers who had the rather doubtful pleasure of ringing these bells before they were rehung can appreciate the great job done by Mr. J. E. Arkell vice-president of the tower, and his enthusiastic band of helpers. The only fault that could be found with the bells was that they were a little odd struck, and this failing is now being rectified by Mr. Arkell.

Canon Stretch, Rector of St. Paul's, rededicated the bells to the service of the Church with a simple but no less impressive service. The St. Paul's band then rang the bells in rounds. following with an extent of Old Doubles, conducted by J. E. Arkell. The members of the band of St. Jude's, Randwick, then took over and rang 1,440 changes of Plain Bob Minor. The band stood in as follows: John Sloan 1, Ruth E. Donnelly 2, Ross L. Altass 3, Ronald S. Rove 4, John Duncan 5, William M. Rowe (cond.) 6. After this quarter in honour of the event all ringers present joined in general ringing until $6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
The members of St. Paul's made this occasion one for a reunion of their former ringers. and it was grand to see these old time ringers stand in to call changes and strike and handle their bells as well if not better than the-present day vintage. A number of these gentlemen came from Sydney for the event, and others from even further afield. Some had not touched a bell for over 40 years, but to see them at work seemed to belie the fact. Who ever was responsible for the suggestion showed rare understanding, and is to be heartily congratulated.

Dinner was taken at 6.30 p.m., and was prepared and served by the Ladies' Guild of the parish. Canon Stretch was in his usual good form in charge of the proceedings, and toasts were proposed and honoured in the traditional manner. Mr. Ron Rowe had, it would seem the most popular toast of the evening, and it was honoured with great enthusiasm, that of -The Ladies' Guild. It only goes to show that the speaker who stated that, bellringers do not seem to be human beings' could have been wrong.
After dinner all adjourned to the belfry once more and ringing continued until 9.30 p.m., when the Sydney people prepared to depart. Good-byes were said by 10 p.m. and the travellers left on their journey, arriving home agaio at 4 p.m.. after a most memorable and enjoyable day in the bellinging history of NSW.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LONG CRENDON RINGERS AND CORONATION FILM

Dear Sir,-As already stated in the daily Press, the village of Long Crendon, in Buckinghamshire, has been chosen by the B.B.C. for the Coronation film next year. This beautiful village, set upon a hill two miles from Thame, Oxon, has a lot of beautiful cottages. In the High Street these cottages are all dif-ferent-thatch, tiles, slates, etc., and painted in nice mellow colours, down at the end of this charming street, lies the Church and old Court House, open to the public.
House, open a beautiful stone church in a beautiful setting, and one can visualise a packed congregation in the old days filing out of church and walking up the street, in their Sunday best, with plenty of time, in the sunshine, for a chat to hear the village news.
The B.B.C. have been busy filming the village, and requested the local bellringers, of whom I am a member, to be at the belfry at 4 o'clock last Saturday, July 26th. We have a ring of eight bells, tenor $19 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt. The B.B.C. arrived with their television units and prepared to get their cameras and lights into the belfry, a spacious one. Of course, this took some time; also they had to arrange their sound units in the village best suitable for the sound of the bells. Eventually we were all set to go, and our conductor, Mr. H. Buckle, gave the word, and we rang a few changes with the cameras working, and all went well. I was on the tenor and had the powerful lamp just by my face, and, with the weather being warm also, I perspired freely. They also took shots of us singly.
We understand this film is going all over America and then round the world. We hope we shall not be criticised too much by our British listeners afer having seen and heard us on television.
v. HOLLOWAY.

A LESSON IN GEOGRAPHY

Dear Sir,-The claim that North Petherwyn is in Devon is correct. The Devon border follows the Tamar, but it leaves to follow the River Ottery, and so bulges into Cornwall. But the Diocese of Truro covers the whole county of Cornwall, crosses the Ottery, climbs the bulge, and also goes a little way over the Tamar. In this area are the parishes of Werrington, North Petherwyn, and St. Giles-in-theHeath with Virginstow (a united benefice). It is easy to see how such a simple error can occur as the faculty for the restoration would be recommended from Truro and not Exeter, Peal ringers will, no doubt, take note, and credit any peals rung at these towers on the eight. six and five bells respectively to the Truro Guild and not the Devon Guild ! !-Yours faithfully,

Carbis Bay.

ONE-HAND CLOCKS

Sir,-The best-known one-hand clock is at Westminster Abbey, with three dials. There is, or used to be, one at Wood Eaton Church near Oxford and at Groombridge, in Kent. In Cornwall there is one at Antony Church, Torpoint, one at the Nunnery R.C. at Mawgan, one at Calenick House, near Truro. A gan, one at Calenick House, near Truro. A destroyed about 1934. It was in working order: an outside dial showed the hours and inside a brass dial showed the minutes. It is about 250 years old and made in Truro. It is curious that while grandfather clocks are so much prized, these interesting old tower clocks are beld of no account.-Yours truly.
W. H. R. TREWHELLA.

Secretary of Truro Diocesan Guild of Ringers.

COLLECTION OF PLAIN MAJOR METHODS

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{On}$ behalf of the Methods Committee, I would like to express regret at the omission of the date of the first performance of Wymondham Bob (No. 51), and to apologise to Mr. Feirn for that error which will be corrected in future editions. One of the committee, Mr. C. K. Lewis, has spotted another mistake which I hasten to point out (the original manuscript is correct and we must have missed it in the proof). This is in the composition section on page 44 -the 5,040 by Cornelius Charge should read in the last line $3645,2 \mathrm{~W}$, 1 H and not $2 \mathrm{M}, 1 \mathrm{H}$, i.e., the 2 should be in the first column and not the second.-Yours faithfully,

Southampton.

PLAIN COURSE LEAD ENDS OF MINOR

Dear Sir,--As far as I can see, in Minor there are only 25 plain course lead ends (including rounds) available if the following two rules are observed:-
(1). That these lead ends must be in-course.
(2). That treble being the only hunt bell, each bell must find its way into the five lead end places during a plain course.

The 25 in six groups are:-

\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|}
\hline A

23456 & $$
23456
$$ & \[

\underset{23456}{C_{2}}
\]

\hline 35264 & 34625 & 36245
\hline 42635
56342 & ${ }_{5}^{46352}$ & ${ }_{54632}$
\hline 64523 & 65243 & 65324
\hline ${ }_{2}{ }^{\text {D }}$ \& E \& F
\hline 23456 & 23456 & 23456
\hline & &
\hline 46325 & 45623 & 64235
\hline 54263 & 56234 & 45362
\hline 62534 & 62345 & 52643
\hline
\end{tabular}

A plain course in any method must produce lead ends in any one of these groups in any four different orders.
If that is so, and the methods having 4ths place bobs comply to certain rules and will produce true $720^{\prime}$ 's, I cannot see why we must only ring those with lead ends of the first (A) group simply because that is the only set that produces Plain Bob lead ends.
No doubt this has been thoroughly explored before but perhaps someone will explain it fully to us average ringers.-Yours faithfully.
W. PARKER

REMINDER TO STEEPLEKEEPERS

Dear Sir,-May I remind all steeplekeepers and others who are entrusted with the wellbeing of the bells that now is the ideal time to tighten all bolts of wooden frames and headstocks.
The spell of warm, dry atmosohere has produced much slackness through shrinkage. To those who are not sure how to proceed, get a copy of the handbook on 'The Preservation and Repair of Bells,' it gives full particulars on this. besides other valuable information.-Yours faithfully,

RECORDINGS OF LAVENHAM BELLS

Dear Sirs,-The B.B.C. engineers have just made five additional recordings of Lavenham bells:-A course of Bob Major: a course of Grandsire Triples; a course of Stedman Triples: 'Firing': and Lavenham tenor.
If any of your hearers should hear any of the above 'on the air' in the near future I would be pleased to know of it through the medium of "The Ringing World.'

SUNDAY PEALS

Dear Sir,-With regard to the recent controversy over Sunday peal-ringing, it would appear to be rather useless to try to make rules to overcome human feelings. Mr. Stafford Green suggests no Sunday peals; some clergy even would not agree with him.
The late Maurice Child, beloved Rector of Cranford, was one who thought that there was no finer gesture than for ringers to put in the effort required to ring a peal for Sunday service. Of course it is really the thought behind the performance that counts-as Mr. C. W Roberts remarked at the Eastbourne Central Council meeting when discussing freak peals: - In ringing, as in other arts, there are certain things which are just not done.'
The answer to the problem is simple-' Do unto others,' etc. If ringers always remembered that wherever they go, they should bring credit upon the Exercise, and particularly to the Associations to which they belong, we should not hear of certain unfortunate misunderstandings. Perhaps it is sometimes a case, as Somerset folk would say, 'Thee casen't put old heads on young shoulders.' Let us hope it is not often the case, as the same folk would say. 'Thee casen't make a silk purse out of sow's ear.'-Yours truly,

> w. H. COLES.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

Dear Sir.-I observe that the members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild have rejected a proposal to increase the annual subscription from 2 s . 6 d . to 3 s . (total cost less than one packet of 20 cigarettes). Other Associations also have met with opposition when an increased subscription has been suggested.
I am at a loss to understand the attitude of those ringers who are not prepared to increase the amount of their subscription by a paltry sixpence. Is there any other organisation in the country to-day, sporting or otherwise. which offers more to its members at such little cost as a ringing Association? Ringers have the use of instruments worth thousands of pounds, plus that social side of the Exercise which is the envy of many outside ringing circles.
Surely such things are well worth paying for.

An annual subscription of 5 s . (less than 2 d . per week) would hurt no one and what a difference this odditional revenue would make to the funds of the various Associations up and down the country. In addition to paying their way such Associations would be in a position to make really worth-while contributions (instead of the usual $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$.- $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$.) when appeals were received for bell restorations. Yours very truly.
F. C. A. BENNETT.

BIBLICAL SILVER TRUMPETS

Dear Sir.-The letter from Gwent Sassanach in 'The Ringing World ' of July 11 th reminds us how liable we all are to overlook the interest lying in some of the familiar phrases of the Bible.

In reference to the trumpets I find that Moffat in his modern translation sheds very little light, but the Revised Version says distinctly: Of beaten work shalt thou make them,' and this is possibly compatible with the process of working in one piece. Authorities would seem to agree that the, instruments were actually wind instruments, complete with mouthpiece. but in view of the racial interdict of molten images, is is unlikely that the trumpets were cast.-Yours faithfully, Solihull.

THE HAPPY DISCOVERY; or, THE CULPRITS FOUND OUT

On Tuesday night not long ago,
My mind to disencumber,
I took a solitary walk,
Upon the banks of Humber.
While musing there of by-gone days,
With thoughts delight to cherish.
Of early friends, whose once lov'd forms From memory ne'er can perish.

At once 1 paused, dismiss'd my thoughts, And put them to the wing, As well I might, when suddenly The bells began to ring.

The sound was sweet, the music full,
The notes distinct and clear,
A gentle breeze conveyed the tone,
And brought them to my ear.
I lingered on the water's brink,
And heard the careful rise,
That's good, thought I, it merits praise, And censure it defies.

The bells they paused a little while, And then they made a start
With beat so true, as proved them rung By men who knew the art.

The dulcet changes soon struck off, In regular succession,
Like soldiers trained or lodges taught,
To move in due procession.
The peal was 'Grandsire Tripples' called, So termed by all our ringers,
For they have names for every peal,
As tunes have names for singers.
It sounded well and promised fair
To reach its destined round,
Twas like a vessel gliding soft,
And to haven bound.
When lo! a misadventure came,
I cried. What's now the matter?
For all at once the music ceased,
And all was jar and clatter.
The bells were jumbled in the peal,
And no one knew its place,
The dogs came falling on the fox,
And finished up the chase.
And nuw a silence interven'd,
And all was still and quiet,
Dear me, thought I, how sweet the calm
That supersedes a riot.
But since I know those worthy,
Who labour in the steeple,
Ill e'en go in and ask them,
Why thus annoy the people?
The resolution form'd-I went,
A private key befriending,
And as I mounted up the steps,
Kept bending-bending-bending.
At length I reach'd the door I sought, And lifting up the latch.
I found the youths assembled there-
A neat and goodly batch.
How's this, my lads? I soon exclaimed, Why, don't you know the peal? Ben T..k. .h taught you how to ring, And that you know and feel.

The first that spoke I long had known,
His name was William P....
His words were few, he merely said,
I'm sure it is not me.
Nor me said Joseph H...., I'm sure
My bell ne er left its place.
When I was clearly in the hunt,
How could it be the case?
Said Thomas S...., I made my thirds, And down again to lead,
In one I met the treble bell-
So I'm from censure freed.
The next to speak was Thomas N.....,
And he expressed no doubt,
That some near neighbour, not himself,
Had put the 'Grandsire' out.
It was not me, said Edward A....,
I met the bell in two,
So I was dodging four and five,
What ought I else to do?
Come, come. said Charley P...., be still, We some of us were wrong,
The fault, however, let me say,
Does not to me belong.
James A.... was equally convinced
That he was in the right,
He always counted up and down,
And kept the ropes in sight.
The last to speak was Joseph B....,
Upon the platform mounted,
The Tenor Bell of all the peal,
Most worthy being accounted.
To clear himself he neatly said,
Of order I'm a lover,
I never wander up and down,
But always wait to cover.
Well, this is passing thought,
A singular affair,
The men were all so confident,
It made me stand and stare.
At length a lucky thought occurred,
Which show'd the matter clear.
And proved a fact which should be known,
By ringers far and near.
Now, gentle reader, don't be stunn'd,
While I this fact unfold,
Altho' it be the strangest thing
That poet ever told.
As sure as mourner ever wept
Or singer ever sang a song,
Altho' the ringers all were right,
The bells themselves went wrong.
There! every voice at once exclaimed,
When once they saw the matter,
'Tis plain enough where lies the blame, Of all this noise and clatter.
'Twas not with us who pulled the ropes,
And pulled them so true,
The culprits are above our heads,
As sure as blue is blue.
The rascals are on mischief bent,
They ve joined in firm alliance,
To play the master when they please,
And set us at defiance.
And now from henceforth be it known, Whene er a peal turns lame,
The RINGERS never are in fault,
THE BELLS are all to BLAME.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Unique Six at Penyfai

The Vicar and newly-formed band of ringers of Penyfai entertained the meeting of the Association right royally on July 19th when the first meeting ever to be held there took place.
The bells are probably unique, being a ring of five bells consisting-1,2,3,5,6 of a ring of six; they sound a bit odd in rounds but when they go into changes the other bell is not so greatly missed. The story goes that the donor wanted the beils for the clock to chime the Cambridge quarters but would not stand the expense for the extra bell to complete the six.
Rounds and various Doubles methods were rung during the afternoon. The service was conducted by the Vicar, who, during his address, gave an outline of the history and points of interest in the church. which is quite modern and very beautiful.
A bountiful tea was provided by the ladies of the parish and was much appreciated.
The Vicar took the chair for the business mecting. Mr. J. W. Jones apologised for not being able to attend the Central Council meeting at Lincoln. Mr. T. Roderick gave his report, for which he was duly thanked. It was reported that the Llandaff bells would be ready early in the New Year and that the contract for rehanging Coity bells had been placed.

New members elected included the whole of the Llangynwyd band where a revival of ringing has taken place, also three from Caerleon. where Mr. S. Jones has got a promising band coming along.
Bridgend was selected as the place of the next Glamorgan quarterly meeting. with Merthyr as an alternative. Mr. J. Worrall moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kindness.
The next meeting will be held at Monmouth on September 27th.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Forty-five members and friends attended the annual meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society held at Hutton Cranswick at the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. G. Storer, to coincide with the anniversary of the rehanging of the bells.

The bells, a fine ring of six, were raised and rung to standard methods during the afternoon till service time.
The service was held in the Parish Church conducted by the Vicar, who gave a short ser-mon-a five-minute gem. Transport was provided to convey the ringers to the Church Hall, a mile away, for the tea.
At the meeting the annual report and accounts were discussed and accepted. The officers and committee were elected for the forthcoming year; the only changes from the previous year were: Mr. P. H. Speck became the Assistant Ringing Master, and Mr. R. Ducker joined the committee.
Further ringing took place until 9 p.m.

SCRAP-METAL THIEVES STOLE LEEDS TREBLE

Scrap-metal thieves are believed to have stolen a 2 -cwt. treble bell from the ring of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis of Assisi, Holbeck, Leeds.
The bells had been taken out of the tower preparatory to being removed to Loughborough for recasting and were stored nearby. The missing bell, marked 'St. Michael,' was cast by a Dublin foundry nearly 60 years ago. It is $20 \frac{1}{2}$ in high and 20 in . in diameter.
Since the theft parishioners and police have been watcting the remaining bells. The cost of recasting the ring is about $£ 1,400$.

OUTINGS IN BRIEF

STRATTON, CORNWALL

An enjoyable day was spent in Exeter by the ringers and friends of St. Andrew's, Stratton, on July 19th on the occasion of their annual outing. En route the party, numbering 33. stopped at Crediton to test the fine eight, to sample coffec and also for some to bump their heads in climbing to the ringing chamber.

The Vicar (the Rev. T. Gilbert) left the party near Exeter Prison. a departure which caused the tower's wit to extemporise. A touch of Stedman was rung at Heavitree before lunch at the Queen's Hotel. In the afternoon. at Alvington, an old friend, Mr. Brewer, greeted the visitors with many inquiries for the Strattonians. There was more ringing at St . Mark's, where everything was in good order. and after tea came the visit to the Cathedral and the privilege of ringing on the 12 . One member stood in for a touch of Grandsire Cinques and another rang the tenor with the help of a strapper.

On the homeward journey a 'night-cap ' was taken at Okehampton, and Stratton reached at 11 p.m. after a very enjoyable trip

GRAPPENHALL BRANCH

The Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, July 19th, when the ringers. wives and families toured Shropshire by coach.
As is customary on these occasions, the outing was a well-arranged tour of various churches where provision had been made to ring the bells. The first stop was at the village of Cheswardine, arriving there at $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. (the villagers wondered why their bells were active so early), then on to Chetwynd to ring at another tower of six bells

Lunch time was approaching, so at Newport a stop was made. At Broscley the ringers again took over the ropes at the Parish Church belfry. A beautiful drive followed in Church Stretton, which was reached in time to ring the bells warning the caterers the ringers had arrived for tea.
Refreshed once again, the homeward journey began with a call at the Parish Church. Condover, where the ringers again made their presence known to the inhabitants. A visit to a home for defective children was very much appreciated, the visitors being interested by the patience and teaching of the staff. The little church of Berrington was the last tower to be visited, then homeward bound to their own parishes, after a wonderful tour enioved by all, and well organised by Mr. Cecil Raddon, of Stockton Heath, near Grappenhall.

GREAT TEY

With wives and friends a party numbering 70 left at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 19th for the annual outing of the ringers of St . Barnabas*, Great Tey.
The first halt was at Mildenhall (St. Andrew's), where the local band made them welcome and a good pull was enjoyed. A wedding prevented the bells of St. Mary's. Baldock, being available, but the very light eight at Norton (tenor 9 cwt .) was an alternative and here they were met by Mr. Buck, who had made the arrangements.

Lunch was in readiness at Heath Hall. Baldock. when the party arrived. The afternoon was spent at St. Albans with enioyable touches on the ten bells at St . Peter's. After tea another ten-bell tower, St. Etheldreda"s. Hatfield, was visited, and local ringers met.

Owing th the lateness of the hour ringing was cancelled at Dunmow and home was reached at 11.15 p.m.. To all secretaries and stecolekecners who had everything in readiness Great Tcy expresses its sincere thanks.

LAVENHAM

Ringers of SS. Peter and Paul's Society, Lavenham, with their wives and friends, held their 26th annual outing on July 19th.

Starting at 7.30 a.m. the first halt was made at Brentwood to pick up 'John, Mum and Dad ' ; thence on to Immanuel Church. Streatham, where Mr. J. Chapman and J. Euston welcomed the partv. After enjoying some well-struck touches a move was made for Bromley Parish Church, where our old friend 'Ike Emery joined us for the day. After some excellent ringing, the party did justice to a well-provided lunch.

The next halt was at St. Mary's. Lewisham, where Mr. J. Dafters extended a hearty welcome, followed by some well-struck courses in various methods. Tea was served on Camberwell Green and then came a visit to the Botolph's, Bishopsgate, where $\mathbf{M r}$. Davis welcomed the ringers. Here Mr. J. Euston, after an exciting, chase from Lewisham, again 'popped up, to augment the party and join with them in some real Lavenham 'striking '!

After saying goodbye to Mrs. Davis, friends Ike and J. Euston, tracks were made for home with a wayside halt for refreshments, plus handbell swinging, including a selection of traditional airs by the 'Bell-chords Trio.' Methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob. Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative.
The party herewith express their thanks to incumbents and members of the towers visited for their kindly help in this most successful tour. S. H. S.

First Peal at Enstone

Dear Sir,-Would you please make it known in 'The Ringing World that with reference to the peal of Minor rung at Enstone (Oxon) by Mr. Pink and his band the claim that it is the first peal of Minor on the bells is wrong. The first peal of Minor was a peal of Grandsire Minor on February Ist, 1906. by the local ringers, three of whom are still living. including the conductor.-Yours truly,
R. TAPLIN.

Enstone, Oxon.

First Peal of Wymondham Bob Major

Dear Sir.-Mr. G. E. Feirn is quite correct in assuming that the peal of Wymondham Bob which he called in 1937 was the first in that method.

In preparing the Table of First Performances from details I had recorded in the first edition of the Plain Major book. I accidentally omitted this peal, and would like so apologise both to Mr. Feirn and the members of the Methods Committee for my carelessness.-Yours faithfully,
E. A. BARNETT.

DEBENHAM TOWER

BY A ONE TIME RESIDENT

MANY ringers have praised the tone and 'go' of the ring of eight bells at Debenham, Suffolk, famous for long peals and gallant attempts. Few, however, know anything of the history of the ancient tower in which the bells are housed. Claude Morley, in his pamphlet, ' Debenham: it halls and antiquities,' bids his readers to take more than a glance at the church tower, which is the oldest thing standing above ground for miles around. According to archæologists, three churches once stood in Debenham; now St. Mary's alone remains, standing on a small eminence set in the middle of a large depression in the surrounding countryside, so that all roads out of the village run uphill for a mile or two. Thus, according to Morley, the name Debenham is derived from an old Saxon word meaning 'in the deep hollow.'

The tower is built of local flint stones with no buttresses, but with long and short quoins at the corners, and it will be observed that those at the bottom are much longer, and older, than those farther up the corners; these older stones extend to about 30 ft . from the ground. A small round-headed Saxon window in the south wall expands to a much larger opening inside the ringing room, which is on the ground floor. A similar window is directly above the first in the clock room stage of the tower, and a third in the east wall looking into the nave from the clock room. Between the ringing room and the nave is a large Saxon arch about 18 ft . high, filled in with a wooden screen and doors giving access to the church. This screen is of special interest to ringers, being covered with peal boards. Morley states that this arch, the windows and the long and short stones before referred to can be dated not earlier than 860 A.D. and certainly not later than 980.

What happened to church and tower some seven centuries ago is not certain, but considerable rebuilding took place, as the chancel has 13 th century work mixed with modern restoration. The nave is largely of the 14th century, and the Galilee porch and priest chamber above are different again and appear to be later still.

The upper part of the tower has also been rebuilt with the nave, for the belfry louvred windows are similar to the clerestory. In the 17th century lightning cracked two walls from the top and long iron rods were run through the walls across the interior to hold them together. Visitors to Debenham soon notice the large iron S-shaped plates that disfigure the south and west walls near the top.

To ringers the bells and frame are of special interest. This frame was originally for five bells and was supported on long legs of oak that started from a heavy sill at ground level. In 1761 an eight-bell frame was substituted for the first one, but still resting upon the old 'stool' that had supported the old frame. The 'stool' was a very ancient structure and its timbers of large section had evidently come from some other large building, or, as the present writer conjectures, were remains from the original church roof, left over when the nave was rebuilt. Confirming this view.are the various timbers pierced here and there with mortices and pin holes that had nothing to do with the purpose of serving as a bell frame support. Much of this is visible in the ringing room portion, which supports the clock chamber floor, as of yore.

In 1761 eight bells were installed, the metal for the extra three being obtained, it is said, from a church in Ashfield, a nearby village. Dr. Dove, a one time resident, conjectured in his history of Debenham, a manuscript still in the village, that these bells may have come from the old ruined tower that is still standing in the grounds of Thorpe Hall, a hamlet of Ashfield in bygone days. These eight bells did yeoman service, the 5th being recast in 1794 and, if legend has it right, was filled with ale before being hoisted into the tower, and presumably emptied too! The treble was recast in 1891.

The frame stood up to its task through many peals, including the 16,608 and at least two $10,000^{\prime}$ 's, with countdess touches. The old tenor, a beautiful bell, had a canon wrenched off by an unskilful hanger in the 1860 's which caused the late Fred Day or his father, George Day, to rehang her with bolts through the crown, retaining the remaining canons. This probably saved the bell until the restoration of 1932, when cracks in the crown of the tenor and three other bells caused them to be recast, and with a general retuning produced the present glorious ring, surely one of the best blending of old and new that has ever been accomplished.

There is a legend that the old tenor was once rung to a peal by a murderer, but that is another story. In any case, some might say, in another sense, that many tenors have been rung by 'murderers.'

In the 1932 restoration, it was soon discovered that the old 'stool' was feeling the weight of its years, being badly decayed in its upper members, so a clean sweep was made, the 'stool ' being dismantled to the clock chamber floor, leaving the lower and now unimportant part, from the bell hanger's point of view, to remain for all to see what it had been above. A concrete roof had been put on the tower reinforced with rods to hold the top together, and it seems a pity that the ugly iron rods and plates were not removed from the walls at this time; instead another was added. The new steel frame was placed 14 ft . lower than the old timber frame and made a great improvement, both to stability and sound.

A tale of woe had yet to come to the old tower. During the last war a land mine which fell in the vicinity shook everything in the district, and among the buildings which felt the shock was the church standing on its little hill ' in the deep hollow.' The fact that the peal boards fell off the tower screen shows the force of the concussion. For a time, however, nothing visible showed itself until a few years ago, when a distinct bulge appeared in the tower wall above the old Saxon arch, which also developed a crack in the drum of the arch. This was visible inside the church.
Early in the present year it was decided to investigate, largely at the instigation of the writer. Working on the bulge, builders soon found a mass of loose flints had fallen from the wall and the only remedy was to take down and rebuild the upper part of the ancient arch. The arch rings were found to be, not solid stone bonded through the wall, but separated by the wall thickness, about 4 ft . This is probably due to the fact that no building stone exists in Suffolk, and in ancient times builders were obliged to use it sparingly. The majority of old Suffolk churches are thus built with local flint rubble, with the barest amount of block stone for angles, pillars, window and door jambs. Beautiful as the flint towers are, there is no doubt that the unbonded rubble necessitated very thick walls, and, even so, they are easily cracked, as can be seen in many of these towers.

Quite recently the writer had the pleasure of viewing the completed repairs, which entailed the use of much new stone in the ancient arch and girders in the wall above it to carry more effectively the great weight above. Fortunately the damage did not reach up to the bell frame height. Except for one or two occasions, Debenham's bells have been silent all this summer, but it should soon be possible, without damage to the new work, to ring them as before. The cost of these renovations is $£ 1,000$, and the writer hopes that any ringer having had the pleasure of ringing at Debenham will not leave without making a small contribution towards the fabric fund, and remember that the Vicar, the Rev. T. Musgrave Brown, never refuses the use of his bells, housed in a tower that had really done its duty centuries before they were cast.

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest instal. lations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

GILLETT & JOHNSTON LTD

VII.-TRY TREBLE BOB

There are always a number of six-bell ringers who, either by lack of opportunity or want of initiative, seem to stick at Bob Minor. They seldom go to other towers, and if they do are not prepared to try anything beyond what they already know; indeed, it is often because their knowledge is so restricted that they will not go to other towers for fear of showing up their imitations.
Well, this inferiority complex is all wrong. It discourages effort to make progress. There are lots of things that Bob Minor ringers could ring, with very little difficulty, if they would put their minds to it, but steps in ringing seem to be standardised to some extent, and the next step to Bob Minor, in six-bell ringing, is usually Treble Bob.
The man who can ring an inside bell to Plain Minor should be able with very little study to ring Treble Bob. When ringing the plain method he knows how to dodge in 3-4 or 5-6 when he comes to the proper positions; he knows, also, how to lead and make 2nds place.
If he wants to ring Treble Bob-and no one should stagnate on Bob Minor-this knowledge can be usefully applied, and can form the basis of the new work.
In Plain Bob the dodging comes once in every lead; in Treble Bob there is a continuous succession of dodges. In a sense, therefore, the dodging is easier, because instead of having to find the right position once every lead. in Treble Bob you just dodge in every dodging place, as you come to it-what you really have to learn is when NOT to dodge.

A dodge in Treble Bob is exactly the same as a dodge in Plain Bob, that is you go back one step. when you reach 4ths or 6ths going up, and 5ths and 3rds coming down. In certain circumstances also, you dodge in 1-2, or 'on the front' as it is sometimes called.

If you are practising Treble Bob as a band of beginners it is not a bad thing to grasp the general idea by ringing a 'dodging lead.' You may, perhaps, have got your first ideas of Plain Bob by ringing a 'plain hunting course': apply this to the Treble Bob principle. All the bells (treble included) dodge in every dodging place as they come to it. The treble, for example, begins by dodging in 1-2 up, then in 3-4 up then in 5 - 6 up. before lying a whole pull behind: then in 6-5 down, 4-3 down and 2-1 down before leading a whole pull. The other bells do the same from their resoective positions, the 'odd 'bells ( 3 and 5) going up and 'even' bells ( 2,4 and 6) down. This 'dodging' lead will give a repetition of changes. but for the purpose of practice it will not matter: it will teach you how to find your way from one dodge to the rext.

The easiest of the Treble Bob methods to ring is Kent. It is produced by two deviations from the continuous dodging which you had in the 'dodging lead': one is that a bell stays 'on the front,' alternately leading a whole pull and lying a whole pull in 2nd's place, from the time the treble goes away from its dodge in 1-2 until it returns to dodge in 2-1. The other deviation is that, while the treble is 'on the front' (dodging down in 2-1 and then, after leading. up in 1-2), the two pairs of bells which come together in 3-4 make places instead of dodging; the bells going up making 3 rds and 4ths, and the bells going down making corresponding places in 4 ths and 3rds.
To begin with it may be as well to remember that the places down are made after dodging 5-6 up with the treble, or passing the treble in $4-5$. The places up are made after passing the treble in 2-3 or dodging with the treble in 1-2 up-this latter you do after you come out of the 'slow work.' as the alternate leading and 2nd's place-making is called.

And one other thing. The slow work prevents any dodging on the front except with the treble, so that after dodging in 4-3 each bell goes straight to lead and straight out to 3-4.
All this may seem rather a lot to remember, but we have gone into some detail with the explanation because we want you to understand how the method is made up. Try and write out a lead or two to see how it goes. Here is half a lead to give you a start:-

& 24.6153 \\
& 264513 \\
& 625431 \\
& 624513 \\
& 265431
\end{aligned}

Briefly put, the rules for ringing the method are: When you dodge in $2-1$ with the treble, stay in the slow, until the treble returns to you. Then having dodged with the treble in $1-2$, make 3 rds and 4 ths going out.

In the next lead, pass the treble in 2-3, and again make 3 rds and 4 ths. Except for this always dodge in $3-4$ and 5-6 both up and down until you pass the treble in 4-5, then make 4ths and 3rds coming in : and again in the next lead, having dodged in 5-6 up with the treble. make 4ths and 3rds, which brings you to dodge on the front with the treble and so into the 'slow.'

There is NO dodging in 1-2 except with the treble. The places in 3-4 are made the 'wrong way,' that is backstroke and handstroke.

PRESTBURY BELLS SILENT

There will be no more ringing at Prestbury, Glos.. until the bells have been rehung. It is hoped that the work will be ordered to be done by the Church Council soon. The ringers have already raised nearly $£ 130$ towards the cost by their own efforts.

BELL FEVER

(A Beginner's Soliloquy)

I must go down to the lead again,
When I've had my two blows behind, And all I ask is that when I hunt up, I shan't lose my presence of mind, And a slower beat, and a firmer pull, While I pass the treble two-three, And a four-five dodge up with the third at the back,
And then only plain hunting for me.
I must go down to the lead again,
(Or at least. have a jolly good try !)
But 'Bob, comes the crv of the captain, I tremble, and heave a sigh,
I sweat and make thirds and lead again,
And hurrah-I've done the deed!
Then a slow hunt up to the back again,
When the treble turns me from lead.
1 must go down to the lead again,
(But by this time I cannot tell why)
Four Bobs and a Single !-I'm hopelessly lost,
And it's practically useless to try.
I've lead and made thirds, hunted up, hunted down.
Passed the treble four-five and two-three.
And I've tried to dodge, Lord knows how many times
Only nobody dodges with me.
No more will I go down to the lead again, (Blow, that blister has burst on my hand!) Just a dodge with the fifth when the Single's called,
And then comes that blessed word 'Stand! Then all I ask is some peace and quiet, And a prayer that I may recover,
And dreams unhaunted by dodges and bobs,
When this course of Grandsire's over.

HOLIDAY COPIES
Will postal subscribers going on holiday please send their temporary address to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' if they require their copies forwarded to them. They should be received on the Monday previous to the date of issue.

It was a great day for ringing at Marshfield on August 2nd when Miss Mary Richards, a ringer and deputy organist, was married to Mr. Jack Hann, a fellow-member of the choir. Practically all who took part in the service were ringers, including the Vicar (the Rev. R. E. L. Jones), the organist, the bride's brother, who gave her away, and the bride's sister, who was one of the bridesmaids.

Ringing took place before and after the service and the band was invited to the reception. Before leaving the convivial gathering with reluctance, to attempt a peal, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells, which was greatly appreciated by the guests.

Despite the conductor (Mr. Jack R. Worrall) having snatched but three hours' sleep between returning from a 24 -hour shift at a local steel works where he is temporarily employed and going to the church, a very good peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung. After the peal the band were kindly entertained to tea by the bride's parents.
Will the reader who has the manuscript of 'Carol Tunes on Eight Handbells' please return the same to the Editor without delay? We have still a long list of readers anxious to copy the same.

Northfleet, Kent, has now a ringing Vicar. He is the Rev. D. C. Glanfield, who was curate at Northfleet prior to the war and there learnt to handle a bell. During the war years he saw service ts a war chaplain. Mr. Glanfield is now picking up the threads of ringing.
One never knows who may be listening. At St. Ives, Hunts, within three minutes of finishing a quarter peal of Cambridge on July 28th, Mr. E. C. Jeffries, of Bedford, walked into the church and handed the conductor the correct lead-ends of the ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP

By kind permission of the Dean and Chapter and through the courtesy of the local ringers, twelve visitors were privileged to ring a peal of Yorkshire Maximus at Canterbury Cathedral on August 2nd. The peal is the first on the bells since they were rehung and the tenor recast by Messis. Mears and Stainbank. None of the band had previously rung a peal in the tower. The ringers were hospitably received by Mr. J. W. Unwin, who escorted them to the tower, locked them in and kept watch and ward against would-be intruders throughout the peal. It was the first peal of Yorkshire Maximus in the county and for the Kent County Association.

Miss Patricia M. Clarke, of the Suffolk Guild, has rung peals of Minor in one to seven methods.

Mr. W. H. Male, of Warwick, has again tapped 'Holt's Original ' on his chime of bells. This was on July 28th, in 3 hours. On October 13th he tapped 'Holt's Ten Part " in 2 hours and 59 minutes. These peals were accomplished without manuscript or figures as a guide, and witnessed by T. Male.

Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, hon. Jibrarian to the Central Council, writes asking to be spared, during his holidays, from orders for Central Council publications between August 10th and September 10th. He will, however, have with him a supply of the Major methods (Plain) and will be pleased to execute orders for these

The peal at Trull, Somerset, on August 2nd. was arranged and rung as a silver wedding compliment to Mr. and Mrs. H. Churchill. Mr. Churchill serves the church in a dual capacity at Trull as churchwarden and captain of the ringers. After the peal the ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. Churchill, a gesture which was much appreciated after a very warm afternoon's ringing.

AN EAST ANGLIAN TOUR

Memories of Tall Towers and KindHearted Ringers

THE morning of Saturday, July 19th, saw three Furd cars and one motor-cycle heading towards Norwich carrying seven members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and three members of the Coventry Diocesan Guild to begin a week's tour of East Anglia.

The first tower was Swaffham ( $8,15 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.) where, despite the go of the tenor we rang Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major From Swaftham to East Dereham ( $8,23 \pm$ cwt.) with the detached bell tower and a good octave hung anti-clockwise. Here the Daventry people felt quite at home and some good striking in the standard methods resulted.

Having ' broken ourselves in, we went on to Norwich, arriving at the week's 'headquarters,' St. Lucia Hotel, at Thorpe, at 5 . p.m. The evening was spent in discovering the "inns and outs' of the neighbourhood

On Sunday morning Mr. Goodman was waiting to receive some of us at St . John-de-Sepulchre ( $8,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) whilst others joined the band at St. Giles-on-the-Hill. Afterwards we all attended the Cathedral for the privilege of hearing the Precentor and the choir sing the Eucharist.

By kind invitation of the Vicar, we rang at St. George's Colegate for evensong. It was here that we first met David Heighton, who, being on holiday, was promptly enrolled as the eleventh member of the party. Ringing at St. George's consisted of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise.

IN BROADLAND

The first tower on Monday was Blofield (6. 177. cwt.) where the fifth requires a 'bit of ringing.' Then to Ranworth ( $6,12 \frac{1}{c}$ cwt.) with the Church of St. Helen standing on a small hill overlooking the neighbouring broad. From the top of the tall tower a fine view was obtained of yachts and cruisers along several miles of the rivers Bure and Aat. The church itself contains a well-preserved chancel screen, reputed to be one of the best examples in the country; also, in the priest's room, can be seen a priceless antiphonal-a book written and illuminated in colours which are as brilliant today as when painted centuries ago by the monks of nearby St. Benet's Abbey. We were met by the Vicar and Mr. Ford, and our only regret was that our stay in this charming village was so short, but ringing made time-tables decree that we must be on time and a move was made to Wroxham ( $6,9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). The Capital of Broadland.' Here we rang Double Oxford, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob. A break was made for lunch at the King's Head.

TWO DISAPPOINTMENTS

The first tower after lunch should have been Coltishall. but owing to the state of the tower the bells were not available. After an unsuccessful attempt to obtain Ludham bells, we journeyed to Scottow ( $6,10 t \mathrm{cwt}$.). On this fine six we rang, amongst other methods, Double Court and St. Clement's. After ringing at Buxton ( $6,12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where the tenor needed 'ringing.' and Stratton Strawless ( $6,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.), we were kindly entertained to tea by Col. Shaw at Scottow Hall.
Having had a day of 'sixes' on Monday, three eights were scheduled for Tuesday, and at the first, Hethersett, we made the biggest mistake of the tour by arriving late, and thus curtailing the ringing on what surely is one of the finest of the light eights anywhere. We arrived at Wymondham (8, 257 cwt.) on time, arrived at Wymondham (8, $25 \frac{\mathrm{cWt}}{\mathrm{c}}$.) on time, chamber to find an octave which refused to be hurried. Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung and duly entered in the

THE 'FALL' AT ATTLEBOROUGH
The last tower of the morning was Attleborough ( $6,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.). The tower here is at the east end of the church and access to the ringing chamber is by a steep and narrow stairway. After some good ringing, Eric Nobles led the ' fall '-further than intended, ending on the floor with the treble rope on top of him. This was very amusing for those watching but very painful for the victim. After lunch a trip was made to Caston ( $6,8 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{Cwt}$.) where, through the good offices of David Heighton, we obtained permission to ring. These handy little bells were rung to Plain Bob, Little Bob and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob. A hurried call was made at Hingham, but the Vicar, who was out visiting. could not be found, so we drew a blank. A journey across country brought us to Bunwell ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), the special methods here being Childwall, which was accomplished, and Reverse Stedman Doubles, which was not. On the way back to headquarters a visit was paid to the famous eight at St. Michael-at-Coslany, Norwich ( 14 cwt .), with its many peal boards recording great deeds of former days, and if our efforts did not deserve such commemoration, they were quite up to standard. On our ringing tours, we arrange that Wednesday is the day 'off, only one tower being arranged, in this case Acle ( $6,9 \mathrm{f}$ cwt.). This church possesses a round tower obviously not strong enough to support a ring of bells, so the bell frame is built up from the ground inside the tower. All this, however, does not effect the "go ' which is very good indeed. Here the 'new methods' man (V. Perry) excelled himself and the band obliged by ringing Double Bob, College Single Reverse and Crayford Little Court, but 'fell down' on Brentford Bob.

The 'Call of the Sea' grew stronger, and a course was set for the coast and we soon found ourselves at Winterton, where the sight of the fine tower. 134 feet high, was too much for some members of the party and after consulting Mr. Dove's book, a visit was made to the Vicarage, with the result that the ring of six ( $7 \frac{1}{t}$ cwt.) was soon going to Plain Bob and Kent. and to end a short ring, a touch of Double Grandsire Doubles. The remainder of the day was spent on the beach, and in the evening a trip was made to Yarmouth.

RAVENINGHAM SLOW COURSE

Making a fresh start on Thursday we travelled south to Loddon ( $8,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.) a ring which really needs striking: here the four standard methods were rung with varying success. The next tower was Norton Subcourse ( 6,10 cwt.) where Cambridge just would not go, which was qur fault and not the bells. The last tower of the morning was the only five in the programme, Raveningham ( 8 cwt ), another round tower, which is a little out of the vertical. What method could we ring here but Nolan Golden's - Raveningham Slow Course ' 120 being brought round in good style.
Lunch was taken in Beccles. and afterwards the ring of ten at the Parish Church ( $25 \frac{1}{}$ cwt.) in their detached bell tower were. rung to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and three leads of Treble Bob Major. We were not however, allowed to leave before giving all the facts to the local newspaper reporter. Imagine the writer's surprise when arriving home on Saturday to find his conversation with this gentleman faithfully reported in a Northampton paper: such is the power of the Press !
The next tower on the list was Bungay (8, 164 cwt.). Here we were greeted by the Vicar with the news that his first grandchild had been born that day; we celebrated the occasion with the appropriate touch of Grandsire Trioles. This ringing chamber has a good selection of peal boards recording the great deeds of Samuel Thurston in no uncertain terms, the boards themselves being presented by-Samuel Thurston.

ST. PETER MANCROFT

A call was made at the pleasant village of Ditchingham ( $6,12 \frac{1}{\mathrm{cwt}}$.) and on this fine six methods rung for the first time were Wavertree College Bob and Double Stedman Minor. Ringing in the evening was at the Church of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich ( $37 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), our only regret being that owing to insufficient ringers we were unable to hear the twelve, but rounds on ten, Bob Major on the back eight and Grandsire on the 'Gabricl eight' sufficed to show us what a magnificent twelve they are, set in a tower with long associations with the art, containing, as it does, the peal board recording the first peal ever rung
On Friday morning we set out for Pulham, and at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene 2 good eight ( $13 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) was soon going to Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major, and afterwards a course each of Oxford Bob and St. Clement's Triples.

At Pulham St. Mary-the-Virgin (8, 14 cwt.) there is a ringiing chamber approached by a long wooden staircase inside the church; Bob Major, Stedman and Duffield went well here. After lunch we rang an two magnificent eightsRedenhall ( 24 cwt .) and Diss ( $23 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) ; at both we rang the four standard methods. The last tower was Mulbarton ( $6,8 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), where we were met by the Vicar. The Rev. A. St. J Heard, who is the president of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Here a touch of Oxford Bob brought our total of Minor methods rung to 15 .

Dinner that evening was graced by the presence of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow and David Heighton. The worthy cleric arrived with a good supply of literature, several copies of which changed hands during the evening, and it is reported that the reverend gentleman travelled to London the following day on the proceeds

Our way back on Saturday morning was via Newmarket where the six at St. Mary's (21 cwt .) provided good ringing for an hour.

Our memories of Norfolk are of tall towers and kind-hearted ringers who everywhere gave us a warm welcome to their towers, and, above all, the excellent arrangements made for us by Mr. Nolan Golden, for which we are very grateful.
E. G. ORLAND.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The August meeting at Sandal near Wakefield. was well attended, ringers coming from towers covering a large area. The following towers was represented: Brighouse, Cawthorne. Crofton, Darfield. Earlsheaton, Elland, Falkirk, Handsworth, Liversedge, Pudsey, Rothwell Shelley, Thorner. Leeds Parish, St. Michael's. Headingley, Leeds. Sherburn-in-Elmet and the local company. There were also welcome visitors from North Notts, Leicestershire and Devon.

Ringing commenced about $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and tea was served at a nearby cafe at 5 p.m. The business meeting was held in the Parochial Hall the Vicar, the Rev. F. H. Outram, presiding. supported by the president. Two new members were elected-Mr. H. Denman, of North Notts, as a life member, and Mr. P. Fawcett of Darfield, as a ringing member.
Arrangements were made for the cup contest to be held at Barnsley on September 13th and the annual dinner also to be held at Barnsley on October 11th. Both these functions will take the place of the usual monthly meetings. The usual votes of thanks to all concerned brought the meeting to a close.
Further ringing followed until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. good use being made of the bells during the afternoon and evening. A good varietv of methods was rung ranging from Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. Time to depart came too soon, thus bringing to a close a very happy and successful meeting.

BELLS IN ENGLISH LIFE

NOTHER secular use for church bells must be mentioned-and that is their employment to rouse the citizens in case of danger, especially to give warning of fire. The accepted way of ringing at such times was to ring backwards. Thus were they rung at Bar-row-on-Soar, Leics., and at Peterborough.

When backwards rung we tell of fire,
Think how the world shall thus expire.'
This is inscribed on the seventh bell at St. Ives, Hunts. In pre-telephone days this was undoubtedly an excellent method of notifying the inhabitants of the impending danger to life and property.

Ordinarily, ' when bells ring round, and in their order be ' (as an old rhyme has it), they strike in strict rotation from the smallest (highest note) to the largest (lowest note), and we can well imagine the bustle and stir created when the villagers heard the bells ring out in the reversed order. Allusion to this custom is made in an old play, 'The City March ':-

Then, sir, in time you may be remembered at the quenching of fir'd houses, when the bells ring backwards, by your name upon the buckets.
It may not be amiss to give an explanation from Sir Walter Scott describing in Chapter XVIII. of 'The Fair Maid of Perth,' the excitement due to the supposed misadventure of Hal of the Wynd. He thus writes:- One or two neighbouring steeples of which the enraged citizens possessed themselves, either by consent of the priests or in spite of their opposition, hegan to ring out ominous alarm notes, in which, as the ordinary succession of chimes were reversed, the bells were said to be rung backwards." Sir W. Scott has other references -thus

Dundee he is mounted, he rides up the street,
The bells are rung backwards; the drums they are beat.
But the Provost. douce man, said "Just e'en let him be,
The gude town is weal quit of that Deil of Dundee.
('The Doom of Devorgoil.' Act II., Sc. 2).

The Castle Bell, with backward clang,

Let forth the "larum peal."
(' Lay of the Last Minstrel,' Canto 3, xxx).
On Luke 21-26, John Trapp has this comment :-

What marvel though wicked men be dispirited and even ring their bells backward when they shall see all on a light fire.'

NOT A MUFFLED PEAL

Brewster's 'Dictionary of Phrase and Fable' points out that 'bells were rung back-wards-a muffled peal-to indicate sorrowthe opposite of joy, or in olden times as a notice of danger, as in the mention in Scott's novel, "The Betrothed " (chap. III.).', This is surely a mistake to call it a 'muffled ' peal, for whatever meaning may attach to the phrase in a modern belfry, does it seem probable that originally it implied ringing the bells in reverse order to the usual one, i.e., from tenor up to the treble. Such a peal would have a singular startling effect, which is just what a fire alarm aims at.

In Thomas Fuller's ' Profane State' which follows his 'Holy State ' is the following:-

Thus the Barretour posts to the houses of his neighbours lest the sparks of their small discords should go out before he hrings them fuell, and so he be broken by their making up. Surely he loves not to have the bells rung in a peal. but likes it rather when they are jangled backwards. himself having knowled the fire of dissension amongst his neighbours.'
In some cases a single bell was rung as an alarm in case of fire. At Barkston. Hale Magna and Thornton-le-Moor, Lincs, they rang the treble; at Walton, Northants, it was the 3rd bell: at Finedon the Sth; at Culworth the tenor. Sometimes two bells were rung as at Caythorpe, Lincs (1st and 2nd), at Caistor, Market Rasen. Swineshead and Louxh they rang the treble and tenor. At the Guild Chapel, Stratford-on-Avon, the Great and Small bells, and at Sutterton, Lincs, the Priest's bell and the tenor.
One of the original ten at Coventry bore the inscription :-

I am, and have been called the common beli
To ring when fire breaks out to tell.'
Other instances occur, the most notable at Sherborne Abbey, Dorsel:-
' Lord, quench this furious flame,
Arise, run, help, put out the same. J. W. I.C. 1652.'

ROLAND OF GHENT

The famous alarm bell in the belfry tower of the once powerful city of Ghent has this:-
' My name is Roland: When I toll there is fire.
And when I ring there is victory in the land.'
At St. Peter at Arches, Lincoln, the priest's bell is called the fire bell: so, too, is the now disused priest's bell at Higham Ferrers. Northants. At Horncastle and St. John-the Baptist's, Peterborough, a similar bell was rung in case of fire. At Sleaford they rang a small bell which now hangs in a canopied niche on the west front of the south aisle, and which may possibly have belonged to a chapel of a local Guild.

'JANGLED THE BELLS

At Swaton, Lincs, and formerly at Stamford, they jangled the bells in case of fire. Bishop Hall. 'Occasional Meditations,' LXXX. refers to this custom when he says: 'So when we would signify that the town is on fire we ring confusedly.' As St. Mary's. Warwick, there is a small disused bell dated 1670 which is called the Fire Bell: at St. Albans and at Hoddesdon, Herts, the town clock bell was used in case of fire: while at Great Missenden. Bucks, the fire bell did not hang in the church tower but on the wall of the Red Lion Inn. where its clanging noise used to summon forth the local brigade to their fire-fighting duties.

LOYAL PEALS

We shall soon be thinking of the Coronation peals, and in this connection it is interesting to note that these are twice noted by Shakespeare, thus:-

And bid the meary bells to ring in thine ear That thou art crowned.'
(Henry IV., Part II., Act IY., Sc. 4.)
Bull-calf . . A cough Sir, what I caught with ringing in the King's affairs upon his Coronation day, Sir.'
(Ibid, Act III., Sc. 2.)
Such peals are often referred to in churchwardens accounts. At St. Mary-at-Hill, London, was:-

- 1509 Paid to sevyn men that rong the bellis when the Kingis grace went to Westmyster to be crownyd, 1s.'
The accounts of Wakefield allude to the Coronation of King Charles I. :-
1624 Item at the first ringinge for the Kinge. and other things at that tyme $-0.2,2$.'

It is not a little remarkable that the bells of Newbury, Berks (as proved by the parish accounts). rang for the anniversary of that illfated King's accession throughout the time of the Civil War, the last entry being only the year before his death, and despite the fact that Cromwellian forces occupied the town, and Presbyterian ministers the pulpit of the church The execution of the King was also commemorated in the loyal town of Newcastle-onTyne, and at Colne, in 1710, they expended 1s. for ringing on ye martyrdom of King Charles.' At St. Giles', Northampton, we find in the 1630 accounts:-

Spent of ye ringers when ye prince was borne. 2s. 6 d .'
(Prince Charles, afterwards Charles II., born May 29th. 1630.)

1634 Given to the ringers on the 27th of March being the day of his majesties initiation to ye crowne , 2 s . 6 d .'
(Anniversary of Accession.)

LOYAL INSCRIPTIONS

Many bell inscriptions are of a loyal character, as at East Farndon, Northants :-
'God hless our Queene Elizabeth 1587.'
At Bugbrook, Northants :-
God save our Queen and her preasarve 1599.'

The 4 th bell at Banbury (now recast) used to bear:-

Diu et feliciter vivat Carolus Secondus Rex sie precor et opto 1664.' (Long and happily live King Charles II., so I pray and hope.)
Queen Anne is mentioned by name at Bottesford, Leics. Bromham, Melksham, Wilts, and other places, and referred to by titye only at Magdalen College, Oxford. Others throughout succeeding reigns might be mentioned right down to our own times. Queen Victoria's sexagency is shown at Upottery. Devon, in these lines:-

To-day for sixty years we've been
The subjects of our gracious Queen:
So as those days are ended now
With thanks to God this bell we vow.
June 22nd, 1897.'
One of the very few (if not the only) hell bearing the name of King Edward VIII. is at Anstey. Leics, the tenor quoting:-

Recast in the vear of the accession of King Edward VIII.'
Leicester Cathedral formerly bore Edward VIII.'s name but this was carefully filed off, and it is now inscribed:-

LETTERS TO  THE EDITOR

THE NEW TWELVE AT LIVERPOOL
Dear Sir,-The rehanging of the bells in the Parish Church of Our Lady and St. Nicholas. Liverpool, is now in progress, and will be completed in plenty of time for the Consecration day. Preliminary notice has already been given of the open ringing day on October 25th, and a detailed announcement will be made in September. Meanwhile, it may be of interest to indicate the scope of the arrangements.
The new church is to be consecrated on Saturday, October 18th, and this will be the beginning of the Consecration Festival, which will last for a fortnight. During the first part of the Consecration service, the font, organ, bells etc., will be dedicated, but neither bells nor organ will sound until the Bishop of Liverpool pronounces the main formula of Consecration of the whole church from the steps of the High Altar. This will be greeted with a fanfare of trumpets, with the full organ, and with a few rounds on the new bells. The bells will also be rung for some time after the service, but there will be no general ringing on this day.
On most weekdays during the Consecration Festival there will be special services at 7.30 p.m., before which there will be ringing. We hope that individual ringers, and, if possible, complete bands, will come from the surrounding districts of Lancashire and Cheshire and help us on these occasions

Saturday. October 25 th, has been set apart as 'Ringers' Day,' when we hope to welcome a record number of ringers from all parts of the country. The bells will be available for most of the day, and during the afternoon there will be a service, followed by a high tea. Arrangements are also being made for luncheon. At the service the preacher will be the Rov. David Railton, a former Rector of Liverpool, during whose incumbency the bells were removed to Loughborough.

We are issuing no specific invitations, but we hope that several complete twelve-bell bands will be present. Given due notice, we shall allot definite periods to such bands.

"PEGGY' OF FRIEZLAND

Dear Sir,-For many years I have had a small hlack dog named 'Peggy' and whenever I went ringing I took her with me. She was part and parcel of the Halifax Association and Barnsley Association and had been to numerous meetings in both Lancashire and Cheshire and climbed dozens of towers.

She was given affection by every one of my fellow ringers, for which I thank them, and never did I get a letter from any of our fraternity but mention was made of "Peggy."
It is with regret that I announce the death of 'Peggy' on August 4 th, a faithful friend of all ringers who met her.-Yours sincerely,

JOSEPH BURGESS

LONGEST PEAL BY A LADY

Dear Sir, -On Saturday, May 9th, 1925, at the Church of All Saints, Longstanton, Cambs, a peal of Bob Major, 8,112 changes, was rung in 4 hours and 35 minutes. The second bell was rung by Miss C. Fields (now Mrs. Ibbett). This is the longest peal rung by a lady.-Yours sincerely,

Cambridge

SUNDAY PEALS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Cole's letter in last week's edition is a welcome one, albeit one which deals favourably with Sunday peal ringing from an uncommon viewpoint, but it seems to me that there is the increasing necessity to consider also the views of potential trouble fomentors, who also must be considered and are perhaps definitely hostile, but have rights.
To an increasing extent. unfortunately, there are those in most towns and villages to whom Sunday is a day for the exercise of strenuous and masterly inertia up to opening time ' and following what is technically described as a good 'lay in.' In many cases this is well and truly earned by a week of hard work well and faithfully done and very often a prelude to attendance at an evening, religious service-to many others merely an interregnum. between five day periods of 'boss-watching' and gamewatching, etc. All these types have their points of view, and, whether one agrees or not with their outlook. are entitled to consideration.

There are also invalids and hospital patients to be thought of.

Three to four hours of continuous bellringing, even if good, react differently upon unwilling and uninterested hearers, even on what may be termed legitimate occasions, and, unfortunately, few towers now are to be found away from the most populous parts of our towns and villages.

It seems to the writer, therefore, that at least the one day in the week should be carefully respected by those of us who do not indulge in peals as a prelude to church attendance but from less worthy motives.-Yours faithfully,

PROBLEMS OF AN EDITOR

Dear Sir,-May I, through your columns, thank the writer, J. T. D.. of the leading article in last week's 'Ringing World'?

It is, in my opinion, one of the best on the subject ever written and should be read by every ringer who has the true interest of our only weekly journal, 'The Ringing World,' at heart.

Each sentence is worded correctly and to the point and it is to be hoped that every effort will he made, by those capable, to send to the Editor artices of interest and so provide a constant supply of good copy and, furthermore, to encourage more ringers to take a greater interest in the paper by purchasing a weekly copy,-Yours faithfully.

TENOR BELLS

Dear Sir,-It is both amusing and confusing the way tenor bells increase in weight and deepness of tone. for according to the notes of the London County outing, Maidstone tenor is now in the key of B natural.

At Lincoln during Whitsun a well-known ringer was quite sure that Southwark Cathedral tenor is in the key of $\mathbf{B}$ flat while Cornhill was B, and in order to settle the argument, a bellfounder was asked, who agreed that such was definitely the case. I am, however, still of the opinion that Southwark tenor is $\mathbf{B}$, and Cornhill $C$
There are, of course, many exceptional bells with a deed note for a light weight such as Ewerby ( 15 cwt ), Leatherhead ( $19 \mathrm{cwt)}$. ) and Coalbrookdale ( $19 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ) all in D. Purton ( 20 cwt.) and Lavenham ( 23 cwt ) in D flat and even bells such as Shrewsbury and Sheffield tenors in B and Sherborne in B flat are more the exception than the rule.

I am sure there are many ringers who would like to hear more of these unusual bells.Yours faithfully,

ONE-HAND CLOCKS

Dear, Sir,-In reply to the Rev. Ao. J. Nixseaman's inquiry about one-handed clocks, there is a good example of one some ten miles from Northill at Guilden Morden. Cambs.

Whilst cycling through Witney three weeks ago I noticed such a clock in the pediment of a secular building, but I cannot state for what purpose the building is used.

I seem to remember reading an interesting article on one-handed clocks in "Country Life ${ }^{\text {F }}$ about two years ago in which numerous examples were quoted and several photographs were reproduced. Without doubt the inquirer is aware of this article. about which I am afraid I am rather vague.-Yours sincerely.

ERIC EDMONDSON.

Bootle, Liverpool 20.

Dear Sir,-There is a one-handed clock in the bell tower of St. Michael and All Angels', Coningsby, the village next to where I live. This clock is a blacksmith-made clock. Recently it was overhauled and an expert from London came to do the work. I gather from the history of this clock that it is the most famous one-handed clock in the country

KENT AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB

Dear Sir.-I have several compositions of combined Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major. Some of these have bobs and others are composed without bobs. I understand that various names are given to the variations of Treble Bob so rung and I should be grateful if one of your readers could give me some help in this matter.

I also believe that Kent and Oxford so rung is not a "splice" since the change of method takes place when the treble is dodging 3-4 down. I have heard the words "combined, and 'allied' used in this respect. Which, if either, of these is correct?-Yours faithfully,

'METROPOLITAN'-ROYAL & MAXIMUS

(' THIS IS LONDON ${ }^{\prime}$ - B.B.C.)

Dear Sir-All fair-minded ringers, (and there must be very few that are not.) will surely sympathise with one aspect of Mr. Worth's plaint as to the recent non-recognition for record of a peal rung as 'London Royal No. 3 version,' namely the regrettable lack of consistency of attitude. This is, of course, quite apart from the point as to whether 'No. $3^{\prime}$ is or is not a version of the London method on 10 bells, which point is slowly but surely settling itself !

The occasion, however, seems to call for the closing of a chapter, as it were, in the threedecade controversy about extension of this method. Ernest Morris, in his classic work; - The History and Art of Change Ringing, refers on page 415 to the controversy initiated in 1921 (in the pages of 'The Ringing World ') by Geo. Baker, Wm. Taylor, Rev. E. B. James and the writer, with examples of extensions. There have been published, in fact, some 15 versions (perhaps more) of the method on 10 bells: the latest, called 'U.A.,' being claimed as the 'proximate' or nearest to given requirements, and of which a 'peal '-unfortunately false in execution-was rung at Rickmansworth in 1949.

The residual fact, however, is that none of these versions can be claimed as the true and correct form of the London method on 10 bells. Continued work on method structure has enabled us, within the past year or so, to see why: we have, in fact, been looking at the method "through the wrong end of the tele-scope.'-And other methods, too!

Briefly, it is now established that many (not all) methods run in 'families' of stages. For example, the Plain Bob family, in its natural form, runs on five stages-from Minimum to Maximus. (The odd-bell stages may be considered as "adapted ' or even "distorted.') What the Methods Committee calls the 'parent form' of a method, that is to say, the stage in which it is first published, is now seen to be not necessarily that method's basic stage. In other words the parent form might be the basic, or it might be either an extension or a contraction of it.

The vital importance of the distinction cannot be under-estimated. Its non-discernment is responsible for much wasted argument and misunderstanding. In short, the basic stage is the lowest exhibiting all the characteristic attributes or features of the method-pattern. If the method is stage-variable, (i.e. if it can be extended and/or contracted, or in otteer words if it 'runs in a family ') then its stages above the basic will exhibit the same basic pattern with expansion to accommodate the additional rows and columns: while its stages below the basic may exhibit contraction of the pattern, i.e. some feature may be omitted. In such case the contraction may be considered as theoretic rather than practical. But the point that emerges is that two basic methods may thus, have a common contraction. Whereas two different extensions, correctly developed, cannot arise from a common basic. Put another way, there is one form and one only, of any given stage in a method family.

Once this fact of method structure (scientifically considered) had been realised, investigation showed that in several methods, stages hitherto considered as basic are, in fact, not so, being either extensions or contractions: and in some cases only ' versions' (i.e. not to be included in the family) at that! Mr. Worth's list. indeed, includes such.
Such investigation became practicable through a process of test which applies the commonly accepted principles of method structure, in conjunction with factors inseparable from the placing of a method in its appropriate 'Development Group.

In the case of the London method, the " parent form -the Minor, first published in 1734 -emerges from the test as a contraction. So also does the Major, published in 1788. The basic stage now appears as the Royal, with a natural extension to Maximus. These two forms are given in the Memorandum on Method Structure-lodged in the Central Council's Library. The four stages are seen to be in 'family ' relationship. A ringer who knows and rings London Major, for example, will find himself traversing the same path, or blue line, in the Royal (with extra dodges and with the two extra 'leads'). And a ringer who knows and rings the Royal will find himself traversing the same path in the Maximus (with extra dodges and with the two extra' leads'). Conductors, likewise, will find familiar signposts.

These facts are self-evident. These methodforms cannot be ostracised by arguments as to family name and the like, because, for the time being, these stages of Royal and Maximus are being known as 'Metropolitan.' (No doubt posterity will recognise their claim to another title!) In being rung they will be found both delightfully difficult and difficultly delightful.

And good luck to Mr. Worth and to others who may first attempt to ring either or both of Metropolitan Royal and Maximus.-Yours faithfully,

JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS AT BUCKLEY

On July 23rd, 1902, the Bishop of St. Asaph dedicated the new ring of bells at St. Matthew's Church. Buckley, Flintshire. The bells were the gift of Mary Drew, wife of the Vicar, Canon H. Drew, and were cast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co . of Loughborough.

On July 23rd, 1952, a Sunday service band met to ring a peal of Stedman Triples but had to give up after six parts because the tenor began to go so badly that good ringing was impossible. A second attempt, a week later. also failed for the same reason.

On Sunday, July 27 th. all available ringers attended a corporate Communion at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. When special prayers were said and those present rededicated themselves to the work of the Church, particularly to ringing.

A more comprehensive celebration was held on August 2nd. It was decided that it would be most fitting if all the old ringers and their wives, or widows in some cases, were invited to a service which followed ringing from 2 to 4 p.m. Tea was provided by a local caterer and a social gathering followed. Although it was regretted that all the old ringers were unable to be present. the gathering was pleased to have with them Mr. W. Lloyd, of Doncaster.

About 60 sat down to tea and in that number were five of the original band which was formed in 1903, with Mr. Henry Dew as instructor. Unfortunately, to the regret of everyone, Mr. Dew was unable to be present. After tea, speeches recalled much of local interest and particularly stressed the goodwill and real Christian fellowship that existed between ringers throughout the land.

The social evening was a great success and was brought to a close by all gathering round the piano to sing 'Goodnight. Ladies and the National Anthem. D. H. B. M.

The Bellringers, by an Observant Layman

The following pen picture of 'The Bellringers ' appeared in 'The Times ' of July 30th from Mr. Kirkland Bridge in a series of articles entitled 'Pillars of the Parish Church
The rugged tower, bleached and scoured by the sun, wind and rain of centuries, keeps watch over the sleepers in the churchyard below: a haunt of ancient peace gently drowsing time away as the old clock chimes the passing hours.

And in the belfry, mute, motionless, waiting, hang the bells.

Old Granfer Higgs, eighty last birthday. trudges up the churchyard path with the great iron key of the tower door; and in ones and twos the bellringers gather in the cool, dim tower, and after 'ringing up' stand by their ropes for the words, 'Treble's going Gone, when one by one the great bells 'speak."

Their tumultuous, tumbling, overture echoes across our fair and green England, making Sunday into Sabbath: inviting the faithful to worship: entering homes, hospitals and even prisons, and perchance, rebuking some who no longer pray.

There is something in bellringing that gets a man or woman; a quiet enthusiasm they catch for life, and the Master of the towel will tell you there is more to it than just pulling a rope; all the 24 changes on four bells can be rung in just one minute, yet the 40,320 changes on eight bells take 28 hours: and, believe it or not, if all the $479,001,600$ possible changes on twelve bells could be rung it would take 37 years and 355 days-without a 'tea interval at that.

Bellringers have a language, a literature, and a newspaper - The Ringing World '-of their own. Such terms as "hunting," "dodging," 'make a clean dodge,' 'go out at the back. - keep over me,' are only a little less confusing to the layman than, say, peals of Grandsire Triples, or Stedman, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge Surprise, London Surprise. And, if you want start an argument in the tower, just talk about 'plain bearings' versus 'ball' bearings' and then listen.

Twice on Sundays; at weekly practice: at weddings: when a king dies, a queen is crowned, or a prince is born; the bellringers stand at their ropes, and 60 feet up in the tower the bells ring loud and clear.

Through the long history of Church and State, in our literature, poetry and drama, the Church Bells of England have played their part; calling the good wife to put out her fires at curfew: waiting to warn of invasion: summoning the soldiery; greeting a Royal progress; welcoming home the fighting men; ringing out the old year, ringing in the new

And in the minor and major towers of our cities, towns and countryside, the bellringers have heen faithful-from "Ringing UD" to 'Stand "- Stand" is, I suppose, the bellringers" word for 'Amen.'

RINGERS CLASSIFIED

High Ringers.-These hold that ringing is worship. It is to be observed that one may speak also of High Cricketers or High Fruit Pickers or High Tea.

Low Ringers.-These ring with much more heart than head.

Modernist Ringers.-These ring with much more head than heart.

Liberal Ringers.-These hold that all ways of ringing are much the same, and refuse to be tied to dogma in the matter.

Free Ringers.-. These hold that ringing secretly, in spirit, is just as acceptable to God and far less prejudicial to the muscles.

THE BANK HOLIDAY AT LEATHERHEAD

With Varying Degrees of Syncopation

Grave old plodders and gay young friskers from a dozen fair counties were attracted to Leatherhead on August Bank Holiday by the joint meeting of the North Western District of the Surrey Association and the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

This joint meeting has now become an annual event and annually Mr. George Marriner, of the Leatherhead band and organiser-in-chief of the event, spends an anxious week wondering if the weather is going to be fine because, of course, on that glorious uncertainty depends whether or not the bellringing part of the suburban population of South London will decide at the last moment to descend on Leatherhead bells without having previously notified for tea.
On this occasion 38 sent in their names and, the weather being good, more than double that number turned up. at the church during the afternoon and evening. Most of the company were supplied at the Leatherhead Institute with a bountiful tea but some, who had not given warning of their intentions, found sustenance at other places.

The Rev. F. A. Page, Vicar of Leatherhead, conducted a short service at which the Guildford Guild's new form was followed, and in his address the Vicar took for his theme the manner in which Sunday by Sunday the bells of this land bear witness to the faith.

The spacious ringing room was crowded before and after the service by ringers of both sexes, all ages and in all stages of adyancement Under the direction of Mr. A. Harman, Master of the Guildford Guild, the ring of ten was kept busy sounding out, in the words of the Charge to Ringers contained in the Guild's new service form, their 'Rounds and changes unto the Glory of the Lord.' until the shadows lenghthened and the evening fell.

In addition to rounds for ten-bell tyros various methods were rung or attempted with more or less success and with varying degrees of syncopation including Yorkshire Surprise Royal-a method which is, or should be. wellknown to the bells, the local band ringing it with that seemingly casual indifference that many of us lesser fry are scarcely able to apply to the production of Grandsire Doubles.

Reluctantly at last the assembled host (for that is what they looked like packed two-deed around the walls of the ringing room) took leave of each other and the hells. and wended away each to his or her home. At least those words round off the stilted style of the para graph, but it is rumoured that a Guild official, searching for matches, discovered some mem bers of the local band and (print it very small. Mr. Editor) visitors, too, who had not wended with expedition but were tarrying on the way or rather out of their way.

Bells Silent for 30 Years

The beautifully-toned six bells at Devynock, Breconshire, have been silent since 1922 and few in the village remember them being rung Many expressed delight after the peal on August 4th. Before the peal could be started Mr. J. T. Williams spent some hours cleaning the ringing chamber and overhauling the bells. There were muffies on the clappers for halfmuffled ringing, the tenor was minus a stay and there were no ropes, which were supplied by the band. Nevertheless, the bells, wheels and frame were in excellent condition. Mr. D. J. Lewis, who rang the treble in the peal, rang on the bells over 50 years ago. They were recast in 1897. After the peal the band were entertained to lunch by the Vicar.

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY DOICK
Another link with the past has gone with the passing of Mr. Harry Doick, of Pulborough, Sussex, who died on July 30th, aged 71 years.
His father, uncle and brothers had been ringers here for nearly a century and the bells had been in charge of Percy and Harry for 50 years with such care that they have had no outside attention since they were rehung in 1897 and still go like tops.
Harry was an excellent tenor man and rang a number of peals, and the sound of the bells gave him much pleasure during his last long illness.

MR. JOSCELIN M. TURNER

The Christchurch Priory ringers have lost a much respected member of their band by the death on July 4th at his residence, 55 . Harland Road, Bournemouth, of Mr. Joscelin Maitland Turner.
Mr. Turner commenced his ringing career at Ashleworth, Gloucestershire, in 1902, and later rang many peals in various towers of England. He was elected a College Youth in 1936. Although his love of the art remained steadfast throughout his life, the opportunity for practice was interrupted first by a sojourn in South Africa, and later when he was attached to H.M. Legations in Stockholm and Copenhagen for almost 25 years.

Ill-health compelled Mr. Turner to retire prematurely when he returned to England and ioined the Christchurch Priory ringers in 1939 For a time he acted as their chairman and later was made secretary to the Christchurch Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.
Mr. Turner's funeral service took place at the Priory on July 8th and among the floral tributes was one from the Christchurch Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. The bells were rung half-muffled before the service and as the cortege left for Bournemouth Crematorium.
A kindly, generous, unassuming gentleman, a devout churchman, a friend of all ringers, we who were privileged to know him deeply mourn his loss.

MR. EDWARD VICTOR HINTON

The band of Christchurch Priory, Hants, has recently lost by death two of its membersEdward Victor Hinton and Joscelin Maitland Turner.

Mr. Hinton had been a regular service ringer at the Priory for over 60 years, and was taught by the present captain of the band, George Preston.
Mr. Turner, on retiring from diplomatic service in many parts of the world, attached himself to the Christchurch band.

Both had been ill for some time and will be missed by many friends.

A Loss to Aldrington, Sussex

Owing to the Turnbull family moving to Devonshire the Aldrington band in Sussex lose three good ringers and a learner. Bryan and Wendy have made great progress and having rung a quarter of Cambridge Minor are now ringing plain courses of London. Their enthusiasm has brought Father to ring and also 'Little John. who although only 11 years old. handles his bell in manly style. Aldrington appreciates their loyalty and wishes them good ringing in their new surroundings. A quarter of Plain Bob Minor was rung as a farewell on July 29th by the local band.

THE HOW AND WHY OF FLIGHT

Mr. York-Bramble's Contribution to Modern Aviation

READERS of "The Ringing World' are familiar with Mr. A. York-Bramble, of Netley Abbey, as the inventor of a new system of method extension, but he is equally well known in the R.A.F and his publication of 'Airplane Flight' (Pitmans 35s.) has gained for him widespread recognition. His book has been described as an encyclopadia of tlight.

Member of a well-known Cotswold family, Mr. York-Bramble was at Bristol University when the first world war broke out and was soon commissioned in the R.F.C. His inventive genius contributed much to the perfection of observation balloons and the designing of packing parachutes for use in aircraft.

Invalided from the R.A.F., he took up schoolmastering and found time to be an active pioneer in the inter-war gliding movement, becoming a member of the Council of the British Gliding Association. Mr. York-Bramble was a flying member of the Civil Air Guard in 1939, and did much lecturing to pilots in training in the R.A.F.V.R. at that time.

Early in the second world war he became a staft officer (Technical Branch)) in the R.A.F., and was the Officer Commanding the original Research and Technical Publications Unit of the R.A.F. His war-time inventions included the non-toppling gyroscope and the volarium (a flying training machine. in which the pupil could even perform an inverred spin).

Since the war, Mr. York-Bramble has devoted much of his time to technical research and authorship but, as our readers know, he still finds opportunity to take a keen interest not only in aviation, but also in change ringing.

LORD BRABAZON'S PRAISE

In a foreword to 'Airplane Flight,' Lord Brabazon of Tara writes: Mr. York-Bramble is very much to be congratulated on doing for aviation what Dr. Johnson, in his dictionary, did for our language. He has also-at any rate relative to aerodynamic flight-fulfilled the promise that one day all things should be made clear.

Apart from its purely technical value, the book represents a considerable literary achievement, writes another authority on the subject. Author and reader find themselves hand-inhand, as it were, and the confidence which comes from that relationship is not the least notable result of the new methods which Mr. York-Bramble has brought to his task. Here is a remarkable lesson in visual interpretation. The letter-press is clear enough, for the author is a most precise writer, but where the book gains immeasurably is in the simplicity and clarity of the explanatory sketches and diagrams which appear on every page. Here are new ideas which bring the practice of visual teaching on to an entirely new plane. In this respect, the book is surely one of the most remarkable technical productions published since the war.

This is not only the work of an expert. It is that of an author who has a special genius for so symbolising difficult problems that they become reasonably easy to understand. The book was obviously written not only with purpose but also with determination and it is clear that there must have been the most rigorous revision on the part of the author to achieve the perfect consistency of pattern which persists from first page to last.

This is probably the first time that the full technique of the subject has been compressed into one book, which has been designed to be equally helpful to the aviation cadet and to the pilot in training. It should be welcomed by both these types of pupils, as well as by all classes of air training organisations. both service and civil. In fact, this looks like the text book for which they have been waiting.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

St. Martin-of-Tours' (Chelsfield) Church, prettily embowered in its little copse of trees on the exact fringe of Suburbia, was visited by 60 members and friends of the Lewisham District, together with very welcome visitors from Twyford for the purpose of the quarterly meeting on July 26th.

The handy ring of six was kept busy throughout the afternoon under the direction of Mr. H. E. Audsley, deputising for Mr. L. Hoverd (Ringing Master) who, unhappily, was unavoidably absent.

The service was held in the church, conducted by the curate who, during his address, which gave cogent reasons for attending Divine Service, extended a warm welcome to the congregation. Mr. J. Wade, a member of the local band, led the singing at the organ.

Tea followed, generously provided by the Chelsfield ringers and tastefully served on the Rectory lawn by kind permission of the Rector, the Rev. N. J. Woodhall, and Mrs. Woodhall, who were present to welcome individually their many visitors.

The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding. A warm welcome by the chairman, endorsed by Mr. P. M. Sharp (churchwarden) prefaced the meeting proper.

Cordial congratulations accorded to Mr. and Mrs. Hurrell, of Eltham, on the recent celebration of their golden wedding, were charmingly acknowledged by the recipients.

Fourteen ringers were elected members of the Association and the elections of two others were ratified.

St. John's, Erith, was chosen as the place of the annual District meeting to be held on Saturday, October 25 th.

Mr. E. A. Barnett was congratulated on his recent election to the office of secretary of the Central Council, and gave much pleasure with his witty response.

Mr. E. Barnett informed the meeting that an obituary notice had recently appeared in 'The Church Times, referring to the late Rev. Canon Teignmouth-Shaw, who was the first secretary of the Lewisham District and invited the members to pay tribute to his mentory. This was unanimously agreed to.

The District secretary was instructed to write to Mr. H. Hoverd, conveying the members' sympathy to him and Mrs. Hoverd in their great trial and anxiety; also to Mr. J. Bennett, late of Beckenham and Lewisham. wishing him a long and prosperous retirement.

Mr. I. Emery was commended, as the representative of the band of octogenarians, on their splendid performance at St. John's, Deptford, on April 26th.

Votes of thanks to the Rector, curate, organist the local ringers and their captain were carried enthusiastically, with added reference to the successful efforts by the local band to attain, almost unaided, proficiency in change ringing.

A reminder that the joint meeting with the Surrey Association (N.W. District) was to be held at Eynesford on Saturday, October 11th, concluded the business.

Further use of the bells followed before the representatives of 14 towers dispersed, qualified to report to their fellows a very happy, successful meeting and to recall agreeable memories of a Kentish scene and the kindliness of its people.

TO THE GLORY OF GOD

'EVEN a small boy carrying a lighted candle in church is doing so to the glory of God,' said a Rector. Yes, that is so, even if he insists on carrying his candle upside down, I thought. 'Rung to the glory of God' is the footnote to a recent peal. This is unique and seems to imply that other peals are not rung to the glory of God. This theme is one much used by clergy when addressing ringers' services and at least avoids their floundering in the intricacies of ringing of which many know but little. Do we really ring our bells to the glory of God? I often wonder, or is it just a pose because we are dependent on the church for our bells? Of late years I have given this matter much thought.

For the first six years of my ringing life our Rector never failed to come to the tower and offer a short prayer at every service, even early celebration, for which we always rang, and although we all invariably attended the service. This is now seldom done. Most associations have a belfry prayer to be used prior to ringing, but it is many years since I have heard one used either by the Rector or other appointed ringer. Yet its use would undoubtedly impress all that we were ringing to the glory of God.
Most of my ringing life was spent in London, where a ringer does not often come into close contact with either clergy or the rest of the laity. I do not know why, but it is probably as much the fault of the clergy as the ringers. It is so in many large towns. I once met a Rector who had been for 15 years a curate at St. Peter's, Brighton, at the ringers' zenith. He did not know it had a ring of bells. I look back to the early years of this century and recall the strict but self-imposed discipline then obtaining in most London towers, the atmosphere of quiet reverence and regard for the art and the obvious pride in good ringing. There were no long breaks for local gossip or talking in corners, everyone's attention was on the ringing. At that time it was unusual to ring either a peal or quarter without several critical and capable ears outside. Many of these listeners could take down lead and course ends and calls from outside the tower and would detect a repetition immediately. It would have been very unwise to 'cook' a peal. There are but few such now, but it would then have been very unusual not to find several outside during a peal.

My later years have been spent in, various country places with an occasional visit to London, and I cannot help feeling that we have lost something of great value. Values everywhere have steadily declined, in our work, our pleasures, our moral outlook and our conduct to each other. This has permeated the belfry. The urge is now to climb quickly, to learn new methods, to achieve some feat before our fellow, often regardless of quality. But few have any thought of God, either at service, practice or in a peal. Most peals to-day are rung without any capable and critical ear outside, therefore the unscrupulous can take a chance. We do not to-day advertise our intention to attempt a peal, and none but the actual ringers know whether a peal has been rung or not. I have heard some very doubtful ones recently which have been acclaimed as meritorious by those who did not hear them. We are all carrying our candle to the glory of God, but some are carrying it upside down.

What of our conduct each to the other? A churchwarden recently said, ' Most church work is voluntary and one has in these days to be very careful; people are so easily offended.' That is very true and is the bane of the clergy. It is authoritatively stated that in this Christian country 85 per cent. are pagan, and no wonder. Some professing Christians would question the fitness of Bunyan's Shining Angels at the Gates of Heaven. How often do we hear a threat to leave by one of our number if the inclusion of someone else is suggested? (I recall the words to me at our foremost cathedral, ' Don't come next week. We may refuse you permission to ring.') Or the tower secretary who wrote a promising young ringer, ' Do not come any more; we do not like you'? Or the towerkeeper in sole charge whom no one dare offend, appointed by the Rector not for his ringing ability, but because he puts the flag up and the Rector likes him, who refuses permission for anyone in his bad books to ring his bells to the glory of God?
I listened during Lent to the radio play, ' The Man Born To Be King,' by Dorothy L. Sayers, who is an honorary member of the College Youths. It was most inspiring. Each time I now hear the cock crow I can see our Lord carrying His cross to the execution. I can hear the High Priests and the mob shouting, 'Crucify Him! Crucify Him!' Yet these were his own folk. How many Christians to-day do the same? That is why our churches are empty. Indeed and indeed, I say unto you, 'Love the Lord thy God with all thy strength and thy neighbour as thyself.' Who is my neighbour? Surely my fellow-ringer is.

We are but a fraction of the community. We are often dubbed 'funny folk.' If we ring thousands of peals or turn in Liverpool tenor every week we shall not arouse half the public interest as a woman in a bikini in Piccadilly. The Press will give us no headlines. We have no commercial value. No one will bet on our prowess. Our performances are of interest only to ourselves. Many who ring hundreds of peals are not so good as they think, whilst many who ring none are better than they know. Let us not be dazzled by diagrams in the interests of quality, to ring which is largely a matter of opportunity.

Let us then be tolerant one to the other, remembering that our bells are dedicated to God and that our churches are not of our building, but the heritage of a more Christian and leisurely age, and that both saints and sinners may enter. Let us carry our candle the right way up so that its light may shine before us to the glory of God. Do not throw it down if asked not to spill the wax on the floor.

The Universities Association are now in the midst of their annual week with headquarters at Wortley Hall, Nottingham. The list of peal attempts includes: St. Mary's, Nottingham (10), Greasley (8), Daybrook (8). Trowell (6), Stanford-on-Soar (8), Loughborough Bell Foundry campanile (10).
There are 54 towers in the Diocese of Hereford with rings of five or more bells, not in union ${ }^{\text {- }}$ with the Hereford Diocesan Guild.

The Yorkshire Association is proposing to hold the Snowdon dinner at the Windmill Hotel, Blossom Street, York, on Saturday, October 25 th, at $5.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

With the peal of Lyme Surprise Major on August 11 th at Whitechurch Canonicorum, Dorset, Mr. G. Stedman Morris, of Lyme Regis, has now ' circled ' this tower.

Rev. A. S. Roberts, Carbis Bay, is spending three weeks at Hindhead, Surrey, as a locum. On Saturday be and Mrs. Roberts stood in a peal attempt at Chiddingfold, which came to grief.
Youth is in evidence in our peal columns this week. At Roade, Northamptonshire, a peal of Doubles was rung by a band with the average age of $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years, this being the youngest band to ring a peal for the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Ernest Weatherby writes a cheery letter from Los Angeles, California,. He sends us a revised extension of Bristol Surprise Maximus which differs from the contributions on this subject by the late Rev. E. Bankes James and Mr. A. York-Bramble. Instead of the bells crossing over in the middle of the set of eight changes Mr. Weatherby keeps them all together as a complete block and only changes over at the end of eight rows.

BELFRY GOSSIP

for the National Guild Police Ringers' annual meeting brought with it many complications. Members and friends are asked to note that it is now fixed for Saturday. December 6th, and will be held at Liverpool. Full details will subsequently appear in the notice columns.
Members of the Bedfordshire Association had a tour in Wiltshire. Somerset and Devonshire from August 2 nd to 17 th, some 45 towers being visited.

On ' $\mathbf{Z}$ ' Reserve training with the Military Police at Aldershot are Mr. David Sellers, of Godalming, and Mr. Alan Butler, of Bournemouth, a well-known Roving Ringer, who is now a novice at Kelham Theological College. Our collection of holiday postcards includes one from the Scilly Isles showing the bell over the Guard gate at St. Mary's, Scilly. There is no clapper in this bell. Two Gloucestershire ringers climbed above the archway and made the bell speak with a stone while a Central Council member watched from below.

Mr. F. Bowden, captain of the Haslemere band, is on holiday in Guernsey. There is only one ring of bells on the island, at Yale, where call changes are rung. The ascent to this belfry is by means of an iron ladder on the outside of the tower, then along a wooden platform with entry through a door into the belfry. The tower overlooks Grande Harve Bay. There is no record of a peal having been rung in this tower.
At one time there was a ring of bells at Alderney. These bells were removed during the German occupation by the invaders with the intention of sending them to France. Funds were not available to rehang the bells and they now hang on frames in the churchyard. The bells are still struck every Sunday to call people to worship.

A WEEK'S PEAL TOUR IN SOUTH DEVON

Amusing Sidelights on a Happy Seven Days

$0^{1}$UR tour this year in South Devon was the third of a series which have been arranged over the past few years, and in many respects it was the most successful.

The party-as on former occasions-was a comparatively small one, consisting of Messrs. H. Abrahams, B. Bladon, A. P. Cannon, F. L.
Harris, R. N. Marlow, J. Murrell, D. R. Reed, Harris, R. N. Marlow, J. Murrell, D. R. Reed,
R. W. Rex, W. A. Theobald and Mrs. F. L. Harris.
Naturally ringing occupied most of our time, our thoughts and our conversation during the week, but there was no intention or wish to ring innumerable peals or frantically visit an unbroken succession of towers. I hope, in fact, that our enthusiasm will be regarded as being tempered with commonsense.

We all met at Exeter Cathedral on Sunday afternoon, July 27 th , with the intention of ringing a quarter peal of Stedman Caters. Too much emphasis on the attempt would be cruel to an otherwise able ringer, who had an unfortunate mental lapse, but at least I might mention that we had only a course or two to ring.

THE HEADQUARTERS

That evening we descended upon the unsuspecting Golden Lion Hotel at Ashburton. I am sorry to have to record in the otherwise sedate pages of this journal that shortly after arrival most of the party could be seen in the bar. This room was much favoured during the week. 'It's surprising, what queer people we often get staying here, remarked the barmaid (an attractive one) when she overheard our unintelligible conversation.

The Golden Lion has, I believe, been used by touring ringers before, and I am sure they will agree when I say what an excellent hostelry it is. It provided us with all the necessities-. even the luxuries of life, and viewed our antics with tolerance. Two of our hardier members sampled an early morning dip in the excellent swimming pool-what odd ideas of enjoyment some people have!

Our first peal attempt was at Chagford on the Monday morning. There had been varying reports as to the quality, 'go' and awkward rope arrangement of these bells. We found a rope arrangement of these bells. We found a very fine toned eight on which it was a joy to ring a peal of Double Norwich. One rings at the west end of the church here, so that the two not in the peal spent their time in explaining our strange activities to a stream of visitors, checking the course ends and, last but not least, arranging a bumper lunch for the ringers. The food at Chagford can be as heartily recommended as the bells.
At Moretonhampstead in the afternoon we rounded off a somewhat energetic day by ringing well and truly that oft repeated composition of Cambridge by Middleton. We were pleased to include Fred Wreford, of Exeter, in this peal, it being his first of Surprise on an "inside " bell.

THE CARNIVAL

Our week's stay in Ashburton coincided with the town's carnival week. The festivities included crowning a carnival queen, ale tasting. dancing a procession, a swimming gala and similar Bacchanalian orgies. I hesitate to sayin fact. perhaps, I do not know-how deeply some of the more enterprising of us engaged in these activities; let us draw a dark veil over them. But after all-strange as it may seemthere are other pleasures apart from ringing.

Ugborough does not perhaps possess the finest ring of eight in Devon, but they are certainly the most unusual, and some of us certainly the most unusual, and some of us found them strangely attractive. They are housed in a fine tower and church, and on the Tuesday morning we spent a pleasant hour there, although it involved some hard work.

Then onwards-by British Railways-to Plymouth, where we had the privilege and pleasure of ringing a good peal of Bob Royal on the magnificent ten at St. Andrew's. Mr. T. G. Myers warmly welcomed us here and we were sorry that we had to leave so hurriedly at the end of our peal in order to catch our bus. These bells are too well known to need any more praise from me and I hope our ringing did them justice.
On the Wednesday we had rather a black day from a mere performance point of view, for both our peal attempts came to grief. The morning one was at Buckland-in-the-Moor, a delightful spot with an equally delightful ring delightful spot with an equally delightful ring of cight bells. The lightness of them-the tenor of eight bells. The lightness of them-the tenor is only $7 \pm$ cwt. - perhaps evoked a certain lack of seriousness in the band, for Yorkshire was lost after only five courses.
Chudleigh with its excellent eight was the tower for the afternoon and London the method. All went quite well for over an hour when it collapsed with appalling suddenness. So that was that!

'SCIENTIFICS' HELD THEIR OWN

With still a number of daylight hours to fill, in we decided that some 'off the programme, tower grabbing might assuage our disappointments, and what could be better for that than the superb Gillett and Johnston eight at Kingsteignton. That evening happened to be the local ringers' practice night, and they were good enough to allow us the opportunity of raising the bells and ringing a short touch before they began their own practice. Even the most hardened band of change ringers might have trembled before the ordeal of raising bells in peal whilst outside a dozen Devon call change ringers stood with their ears attentively cocked. But all went well and I'm glad to say that for once 'scientific' held its own.
Another practice was being held at Highweek a few miles on. Led in Olympic style by a notorious tower grabber, who had the smell of a new tower in his nostrils, we mounted the steep hill to the church. Our climb was rewarded by meeting a goodly company of Devon ringers. and in company with them the usual selection of methods was rung.

Devon, due to its beauty and possession of a great number of fine bells, has suffered perhaps what I might term the penalty of a great number of touring ringers. But the welcome one receives is as warm as anyone could wish and such a reception does much to make a visiting band's week a happy and memorable one.
Thursday morning found us at Ipplepen. We had heard good things about this eight and our hopes were more than realised. Due to a service in the church, our start had to be delayed, but at $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the bells struck out into one of the best of Surprise methods-Yorkshire. A really first rate peal was rung, it being the first of Major on the bells.
After fortifying ourselves with a good meal, we moved on for an hour's ringing at Totnes, where Mr. S. H. Green met us. Those who have rung on the heaviest eight in Devon will understand our admiration for these noble bells.

PRIORITY FOR FETE

As arrangers of outings and ringing tours will know, even the best laid plans sometimes go awry. We were late arriving at Totnes, and by the time we had reached Wolborough-our last tower of the day-we were 2 hours behind schedule. The Vicar gave us permission to carry on, but the bells had hardly sounded before protests arrived from the organisers of a local fete. We were kindly offered the use of the bells for the following Saturday, but unfortunately it could not be fitted into our programme.
The writer could not be present for most of the activities on the Friday. He can, however, record dismally that a peal was lost at Paignton during the morning. The ringing at Torquay (Upton) was enjoyed, and at the final tower of the day-Bickington-Mr. A. Bennett met the party. He had by his advice and assistance contributed towards the success of the tour, and we were very pleased to see him.
Our last day - Saturday - began with an hour's ringing on the eight in Ashburton's lovely tower. Following our usual policy, we began with a touch of Triples and then turned to Major.

On outings and tours I have always feltrightly or wrongly-that ringers should stick to the things they know and ring properly. Nothing is more appalling than for a visiting team to enter a strange tower and crash the bells about in so-called 'classy' methods.
But at Ashburton we departed from this policy and branched into the realm of Spliced Surprise. Luckily it came off very well. Many of us who had regarded spliced with some awe found it absorbing to ring and quite simple.

Unfortunately, permission could not be given for a ring at Buckfast Abbey, but we took the opportunity of visiting the building, which was naturally an hour well spent.

BUCKFASTLEIGH'S ROPES

The last peal of the week was at Buckfastleigh, and Cambridge was scored here with ease. We arrived at the church to find a wedding about to commence and only six serviceable ropes. Two sorts of ' splices' were carried out simultaneously, and the bride was given a good send-off. The peal rung here was the first of Cambridge on the bells. And so at the conclusion of our week we finished-as all ringers' tours finish-with a convivial and merry evening.

A bare recital such as the above, giving a list of towers visited, methods rung and peals scored, can give very little of the real essence of a ringing tour, perhaps because it gives no indication of the intense pleasure that goes with it all.

Opinions may vary as to whether peal tours do any actual good, but I think they justify themselves if only by the pleasure and added enthusiasm they give to the participants. Also in this particular case it was a reunion of ringing friends who nowadays do not have much opportunity of ringing together. To a ringer, a week such as this is the only possible way of spending a holiday.
So finally our thanks to all the ringers who met and welcomed us, to the incumbents of the various churches for allowing us to ring on their bells and. last but not least, to the inhabitants of South Devon, who endured with so little complaint the disturbers of their peace. I hope we weren't too much of a nuisance!

BELLS IN ENGLISH LIFE

The restoration of Charles the Second is still commemorated in many places by the ringing of merry peals. In Northants especially this day was held as a festive one. Much oak was shown over doors and balconies-which indeed was almost universally the case-and the statue of the King in front of All Saints' Church, Northampton, was enveloped in green boughs. The bells rang out and they still do so in many Midland counties. Boys carry scraps of oak in one hand and a bunch of nettles in the other with which they punish such of their companions as cannot "show your oak.' I myself have done this many times as a boy here in Leicester! At Finedon the bells were rung half-muffled. In Lincolnshire also 'Oak Apple Day,' as it is called, was not entirely forgotten, peals being rung at Benington, Swineshead and sometimes at Louth. In Shropshire they rang among other places at Middle, Berrington and Wroxeter; in Yorkshire at Fishlake, etc. Churchwardens' accounts abound with entries relating to payments for this ringing.
At Bishop's Stortford:-
1703. Pd Ringers 29 May................6.6.8 St. Mary's, Stamford:-
1709. Pd Richard Hambleton for ale for the ringers on ye 29 May

All Saints', Stamford:-
1712. May 29. Paid to the ringers on King

Charles' Restoration

GUNPOWDER PLOT

The discovery of the Gunpowder Plot in 1605 was ordered by Parliament (in the following year) to be commemorated. We find immediate mention of this event in the churchwardens' accounts of St, Margaret's, Westminster :-
1605. Paid the ringers for ringing at the time when the Parliament House should have been blown up, 10s.
And early references abound elsewhere :-
At St. John the Baptist's, Stamford:-
$1608-9$. Itm paid for Ryngyng the V of 1608-9. Itm paid for Ryngyng the V of November, vid.
At Leverton, Lincs:- 1610. Itm paid for November, ijs. ijd.
St. Mary's, Leicester :- 1653. Paid to the Ringgers upon Gunpowder traison day, 0. 2 s . $6 d$.

Islip, Northants:-1700. For ringing on Gunpowder treason, 2s. 6d.
Clun, Salop; 1687. Paid for ale for the Tylers and Ringers November ye 5 and gave ye ringers, 4 s . 10 d .
At Worfield the item is given fully thus:1607/8. Itm paid to the Ringers $V$ day of November being the day of the Kingis Maties p'servation, vs.
At Bridgnorth, St. Mary Magdalene's, they pay :- $1642 / 3$. For candles spent by ringers the 5 of November 1643 ringing all night in commemoration of the great deliverance from the Gunpowder Treason, Sd. To Hugh Farr for ringing at the Castle church that day and night. 5 s . To William Pulley for ringers at the high church in the town the same time, 20 s .

At Chetton they disburse :- 1648. For ringing the 5 of November by the consent of divers parishioners of good credit, 9 s.
In the North of England this song was used on this occasion:-

> Hollo boys, Hollo boys,
> Let the bells ring.
> Hollo boys, Hollo boys,
> God save the King.

The ringing of bells on this day was sought to be perpetuated at Harlington, Middlesex, by the gift of half an acre of land to provide the ringers with a leg of pork on the 5th of November-it is called 'Pork Acre.'
At Lincoln they not only rang. bells, but had the favourite sport of bull-baiting, which commenced on the Castle hill, where was the bull ring, at 11 o'clock. Although, as Fuller said of it, even in his day ' it looks out with a paler colour in the almanack than it used to do. In Herefordshire peals are rung at Cradley and elsewhere. In Salop it was very general as the commencement of winter practising, and the custom is noted in many other counties. At Caythorpe, Walcote and other Lincolnshire towers the bells were 'fired ' or, as they call it, 'shooting the bells,' also at Great Ponton and Rippingale where the people call it 'shooting old Guy.' The anniversary is referred to on two bells in Lincolnshire in very different terms. Thus the 2nd at Owmby, dated 1687, sings :-
'Let us remember the 5th of November.' Whilst the 1st at Witham-on-the-Hill is very strong in the reverse direction:-
'Twas not to prosper pride or hate
William Augustus Johnson gave me:
But peace and joy to celebrate,
And call to prayer to heaven to save ye.
Then keep the terms and e'er remember
May 29th ye must not ring:
Nor yet the 5th of each November,
Nor on the crowning of a king.
At an archidiaconal visitation held at Doncaster on May 13th, 1691, it was ordered 'that the ringers shall have but 13 s . 4 d . for ringing upon ye 29th May and ye 5th of November.'
The churchwardens' accounts of the 17th century, as, for instance, those of Bishop's Stortford, Hertfordshire, and Kirton-in-Lindsey, Lincs, often show charges for ringing on August 5th. That day was formerly kept in England as a holiday to commemorate the escape of James I. when ruling over Scotland alone, from the Gowrie Conspiracy.

VICTORY PEALS

Great victories by land and sea have frequently been celebrated by the pealing of church bells. Admiral Vernon, having captured Portobello from the Spaniards in 1739, was for a time a popular hero in the country. This accounts for an entry dated 1740 in the accounts of Haslingden, Lancs:-

Nov. 22. Pd the ringers at Admiral Vernon's Birthday, 3s.
It was in 1692 that wild rejoicings took place over the victory of La Hogue on May 24th, and at Aylestone we note: "To ye Ringers for ye newes of the Victory at Sea, 1s.'

Macaulay explains the importance of this event in a long account wherein he says, ' Whigs and Tories alike joined in thanking God for this great deliverance. ... The public joy was, therefore, all but universal. During several days the bells of London pealed without ceasing. Flags were flying on all steeples. Rows of candles were in all windows. Bonfires were at all corners of the streets.' At Ayleston, too, on November 2nd, 1693 , the village had another excuse for 'concourse of sweet sound.' To the Ringers vpon King Willms Arrivall out of Holland 1s.' On October 22nd, 1902, the news of Admiral Sir George Rooke's capture of Vigo when he attacked the Spanish treasure ships was proclaimed at Aylestone, and the Constable's accounts have 'Given to ye Ringrs Upon ye newes of Vigo being taken & Good success at Sea ${ }^{1} 702$, Is.'

At Colne, Lancs, is the entry: ' 1706. It Rings upon Duke, Marlborough good success in Spaine, 2 s . 6 d .' The year previous to this Aylestone records another of Marlborough's victories: 1704-5. Given to ye Ringers ye 19th of July Upon the newes of the Duke of Marlborough's Good success in Flanders, 1s.'
Colne also has this entry in 1746: 'Ringing ye Duke"s Birthday, 3s."
This was the Duke of Cumberland, the victor at Culloden in the previous year, and all good Cumberland Youths' know the history of this.
The ringers of Newport Pagnell, Bucks, evidently took pride in being a band of publicspirited citizens. "The Buckinghamshire Herald ' for August 2nd, 1797, having stated that a Mr. Botham had sent a handsome present to the ringers that they might duly celebrate the fall of Valenciennes, these gentlemen of the belfry sent a spirited denial of the statement to the next issue of the paper. They declared, moreover, that ' on every occasion that does honour to King and country we come forward as Britons without any solicitations whatever, and the gentlemen of our own parish give us every gratification we wish for.'
Speaking of these loyal and patriotic peals, Southey says in his 'Doctor': -

- Doctor Daniel Dove had heard the bells of St. George's (Doncaster) ring for the Battles of Dettingen and Culloden; for Commodore Anson's return and Admiral Hawke's victory; for the conquest of Quebec; for other victories (important in their day, though in the retrospect they seem to have produced little effect); for more than one peace; for the going out of the Old Style and the coming in of the New; for accessions; marriages; and Coronation of George III., for the birth of George IV., and that of all his royal brethren and sisters.
On the conclusion of peace in June, 1814, Doncaster bells rang merrily and were 'fired 'at intervals, with three times three, and six times six. Again in 1819 they welcomed the 42 nd Highlanders, who marched through the town on their homeward way from the Hundred Days' War and the occupation of Paris. Trafalgar Day (October 21st) was likewise celebrated annually at many places.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS  Annual Branch Outing

The Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild of Ringers held its annual branch outing on Saturday, August 16 th, and the event was highly successful. The members were joined by members of other branches as well as visitors from Cornwall, Somerset, Dorset and Herts.
The first call of the afternoon was at Yealmton where the bells were found to be in good order and where numerous methods were rung. The next two calling places were Brixton and Plymstock respectively, where more ringing took place to suit all tastes, a very good touch of Plain Bob Minor being rung at the latter tower.

The next calling place was Plymouth, where everyone did full justice to a splendid tea at the Magnet Cafe. after which a move was made to Emmanuel Church, Compton, where the ringing included three well-struck courses of Plain Bob Major on the grand ring of eight bells and where the visitors appreciated the welcome given to them by Mr. J. P. Sims, the local captain, on behalf of the church authorities.
The final calling place was St. Andrew's, Plymouth, where the visitors were met by that wellknown ringer, Mr. T. G. Myers. After the bells were raised and a few rounds rung for the less exporienced ringers, a touch of Plain Bob Royal was rung in fine style, conducted by Mr. Tom Myers, this being the tit-bit of the afternoon.
The branch expresses its appreciation to all those who contributed to the success of the outing, not forgetting the various incumbents who kindly allowed the branch the use of their bells.

LETTERS

CANTERBURY PLEASURE

Dear Sir,-The report of the Peal Analysis Committee presented at Lincoln at Whitsun, 1952, sought guidance as to peals of Canterbury Pleasure rung in 1951 after the Chester Council meeting and tentatively excluded tbree peals containing this method rung by my Association later in the year. Peals rung before the Chester Council meeting were retained.

The report was adopted by the Council but there appears to have been no discussion regarding this particular point, and as far as one can gather, the proceedings later in the day seemed to suggest that the Council adopted the viewpoint that this method would be permissible.
As far as this Association is concerned there is no doubt that the three peals in question were rung in good faith by the bands concerned in ignorance of any decision that may have been made at Chester. In any case it would be palpably unfarr that peals in 1951 prior to Whitsun should be admitted and those after Whitsun excluded. After all there is no question of the truth of the changes.
Subject therefore, to no ultimate objection from my committee I am including the three peals in question in our records but I would be grateful for this opportunity to ask the forbearance of our members not to include this method in their future peals until the Central Council ruling in the matter is quite clear.
In the meantime perhaps the responsible officers of the Central Council will be good enough to publish an authoritative statement regarding this method in "The Ringing World for the guidance of myself and of the peal recorders of other Associations.- Yours faithfully, > Peal Secretary. Kent County Association.

KENT AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB

Dear Sir,-I am wondering if Mr. J. Worrall's inquiry re Kent and Oxford Comnositions was superimposed over E. C. Gobey's letter on purpose on page 523.
Because the variation which has Kent bobs and keeps the tenors off. the slow with one lead of Oxford is named Ilkeston, the one with the 50 Oxford bobs is the Liversedge and the one without bobs is the Worcester.
The Sussex Guild attempted all three: the Worcester being rung at Ipswich. conducted by E. C. Barnard; the Ilkeston at Long Melford, conducted by Stedman Symonds: the Liversedge being rung at Sudbury. when after two hours' perfect ringing Stedman called 'Stand.' and as he allows no inquest we knew that a shift had occurred.
Mr. Viggers' diary. in 1950, called it soliced. hut in 1952 it is called combined, but in this area we say mixed.
Correspondence appeared on this subject in 1948 but I have never seen it clearly stated by the experts. To my ear the llkeston is the most musical of the three
The variations were composed in recent vears and are not old enough to grow whiskers long enough to make a heard.-Yours sincerely,

LESLIE D. MILLS.
Bures, Suffolk.

LONGEST PEAL BY LADY

Dear Sir,-Mr. Hibbins' claim in 'The Ringing World.' August 15 th, is, I am afraid, incorrect.
The longest length rung by a lady ringer was at West Deeping. Lincs, on August 13th, 1927. when Kathleen A. Jutson rang the second to 10.080 changes of Minor in 14 methods.

The peal was rung in 6 hours and 20 minutes and conducted by Horace M. Day.
There is a peal board in the belfry to this effect.-Yours faithfully,

HOLTS ORIGINAL AND

 PENNINGS ONE-PARTA year or two ago, Dr. G. W. Slack called attention to the similarity between J. F. Penning's One-Part peal of Grandsire Triples and Holt's Original, suggesting that anyone ringing the former composition should describe it as 'Penning's Variation' of the other.
It is interesting to note that Dr. A. B. Carpenter had also observed the relationship between the two peals some 60 years previously Introducing his own variation of Holt's Original in 'The Bell News' of March 9th, 1889, he added:-
' While working at this it was suggested to me that I should endeavour to discover the exact relation (if any) subsisting between Holt's Original and Mr. Penning's one-part peal. At first sight there did not appear to be much similarity, as changes occur at bobs in Mr Penning's which turn up at plain leads in Holt's, as. e.g., tittums (in the peal on page 101 of 'Grandsire'). However, it will be found, by anyone who takes the trouble to try it, that this peal way be obtained from Holt's Original by a three-fold variation, in the following manner.
(1) Plain these two Q-sets following: -

| 234756 | 246375 |
| :--- | :--- |
| 345762 | 467352 |
| 456723 | 675324 |
| 562734 | 752346 |
| 623745 | 524367 |

That is, let each of these treble leads be followed by a plain lead instead of a bob (as in the original). This cuts up the peal into ten pieces, which come together in a new order, and further note that rounds now turns up at a plain lead instead of a bob.
(2) Shift the singles to a new place. The B block tacked on to the peal by the singles consists of the following in-course treble leads:-

\begin{array}{r}
235476 \\
1642735 \\
576342
\end{array}

and it is obvious that there might be three places in the peal where they could be introduced, viz., by calling a single where a bob would produce 234567 , as in the original, or where a bob would produce 647253, or again 573624. Now the last of these changes does occur at a bob in the original, and this is the place to which they must be shifted. The effect, then, is this, which shows that the same changes are introduced in this way, as by calling the singles at the end.

\begin{aligned}
& \text { Backstroke } \\
& \mathrm{S} 753624 \\
& -467253 \\
& -324567
\end{aligned}

Handstroke
756342
235476
(3) Now transpose the whole peal by commencing the calling after the singles, which throws them back into the original form at the end of the peal, and Mr. Penning's peal on page 101 of 'Grandsire ' is obtained. By operating on this last peal in a somewhat similar manner we may obtain the next peal, that on page 103.
(1) Plain these two Q -sets :-

| 235476 | 246375 |
| :--- | :--- |
| 357462 | 467352 |
| 576423 | 67324 |
| $762435^{\circ}$ | 752346 |
| 623457 | 524367 |

It will be noticed that the effect of plaining the second set is to bring up rounds at a plain lead, and that the first one causes the incorporation of the B-block into the bulk of the peal; and, at the same time, causes the omission from it of the P-block, beginning with 345276.
(2) Introduce this P. block into the peal by a plain-lead single at 3 , after the bob 375642 , followed by another plain-lead single at 5 , which brings up 342567 .
(3) Commence the calling from this last change.
The peal on page 104, containing 160 calls, may also be obtained from Holt's Original by REVERSING the calling, bobbing two Q-sets and transposing as before.-Arthur B. Carpenter.'

GUILD FINANCE

Dear Sir,-The published stafement of accounts of the Oxford Diocesan Guild is, in my view, a complete answer to Mr. Bennett's criticism of its members. Its comparatively sound financial position did not warrant an increase in membership fees, and its members were right in opposing it.
I think it is very wrong also that Mr. Bennett should associate a ringers' guild with a sporting organisation. These are two different things altogether (or should be). I suspect that the majority of the so-called sporting organisations are run exclusively for dividends-cash dividends. We all know why ringers' guilds were promoted. True, its members expect a dividend, but not a cash dividend. I therefore fail to understand why ringers' guilds need large bank balances and have to have so much invested stock.
I would like to remind Mr. Bennett that it does not necessarily follow that a ringer has to be a member of a guild to have the use of the instruments. Does it occur to him that the parishioners supply the means which enable us to have our little 'sporting recreations'? A few guineas every 20 years or so does not give a guild the right or the authority of only its members to ring the church bells.-Sincerely yours,
R. BEALE.

Shepton Beauchamp.

ONE HAND CLOCKS

Sir,--Further to Mr. Trewhella's examples of these, others are to be found at the churches of Coningsby, Lincs, and Crosthwaite, Cumberland.
The former is reputed to be the largest of this type, the dial being $16 \frac{\mathrm{ft}}{\mathrm{ft}}$.-Yours truly,

Sheffield

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{Mr}$. Trewhella in his letter in August 8 th issue is, I presume, referring to St. Ives, Cornwall. St. Ives, Hunts, clock is a Gillett and Bland put in about 1890 and rebuilt 1931. There is a one hand clock at Ellington, Hunts. Incidentally, there is a ring of four bells here, tenor 10 cwt . 1 qr.-Yours truly,
St. Ives, Hunts.

FIRST PEAL AT DEVYNOCK

Dear Sir.-With reference to the peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Devynock, Breconshire, as recorded in last week's ' Ringing World,' which is 'believed to be the first peal on the bells.: I wish to state that the first was rung on February 2nd, 1909, being Grandsire Doubles, conducted by the late William Short. Another peal in the same method was rung on July 26th, 1913, conducted by the late J. P. Hyett. Both' peals were recorded for the Hereford Diocesan Guild.-Yours faithfully,

LESLIE EVANS.

Peal Recorder, Hereford Diocesan Guild.

FOR BEGINNERS-AND A WORD TO THE OLDER HANDS

VIIL-BOBS IN KENT TREBLE BOB
Having had explained to him how Kent Treble Bob is rung, the next thing the beginner will want to know is, how to make a bob.

In Minor, when a bob is called, only three bells are affected. The bell that comes out of the 'slow,' and makes places in 3rds and 4ths, and the bell that makes 4ths and 3 rds and goes into the 'slow' (that is, the bell that dodged in 5-6 up with the treble) are not concerned in the bob making. They pursue their work as if no call had been made.
The bell that passes the treble in 2-3 and then makes 3 rds and 4 ths, when a bob is called, makes an additional 4ths and 3 rds and goes down to lead. Actually he lies two consecutive whole pulls in 4ths place, each made at backstroke and handstroke. (For those who know how to ring Grandsire Doubles it is like the - long 3rds' made at a single in that method.) The bell that 'makes the bob' at one lead in Kent Treble Bob will go into the 'slow' at the following treble lead.

The bells 'behind,' that is the pair that are dodging together in 5/6, ha an additional DOUBLE dodge: that is, having stepped back in their path once, they have to step back twice more before they finally continue their course.

If the bob is called at the right moment they will find they have already begun dodging together, and they must be careful that they complete three dodges in all before the bell going down passes on to dodge in 4-3 with the treble and the bell dodging up lies its whole pull behind.

You can make a check on the number of dodges. Each bell in the course of its operations strikes four times in 5ths. Suppose the other bells were known by letters instead of numbers, the bells behind strike over them like this: $\mathrm{a}, \mathrm{b}, \mathrm{b}, \mathrm{c}$, so that as. soon as they have struck over the third bell (there having been two blows, with a backward step between over the second of the bells) they know that the dodge is completed. The bell dodging up has then to lie its whole pull behind, and the one dodging down to pass on immediately to the $4-3$ dodge.
It is sufficient, of course, to count the dodges, if they are counted correctly, but everyone is liable to make a slip, and these additional aids to memory always come in useful-as the young ringer will find if he goes on to more complicated methods.
In case there are any bands of ringers who are trying Treble Bob without outside help, perhaps a word or two about the bob calling may be useful. The actual CALL should be made in the change when the treble has its 'snapping ' blow at lead-that is its blow at lead in its dodge in $2-1$ down. Some conductors leave it just a fraction later-to the beginning of the following change-but it makes very little difference.
The effect of a bob is that the bells above 4ths place are thrown back a lead in the course and after their dodging do exactly the same work as in the previous lead-they meet the treble in the same places. The bobs are thus said to cause 'repeating leads,' and the effect is that only the three front bells-whichever are in 2nds, 3rds and 4ths at the lead endare really affected in coursing order, and bobs at three consecutive leads bring the bells back to where they were before the first bob was called.
Beginners can, therefore, if they wish, begin their bob practice with a short touch of 72 changes produced by bobs at each of the three leads.
When they go on to ring extents of the method they will probably want at first to use one of the 'standard' callings. The best known of these is that which corresponds to the 'Wrong,' ' Right ' and 'Wrong' in Bob Minor. But as, in Treble Bob, the bob is made on the three back bells instead of the three front ones, the calling is 'In,' Out' and 'In:' The 'In' is when the observation bell is going into the 'slow' and the bob is thus called when it strikes its second blow in 4ths on the way down (after dodging in 5-6 with the treble).

Out' comes at the following lead and, as is fairly obvious, is when the observation bell is coming out of the slow.' The call is made when it begins its dodge with the treble after completing the slow work.

A touch of two courses, or 240 changes, can be rung by calling any bell 'In' and 'Out' in each course. except that if the 'observation' is the 2 nd bell. it must be 'Out' and 'In.' because the 2nd is already in the slow at the beginning.

The full 720 is obtained by calling the first course 'In' and 'Out' and the second course ' In,' and then repeating this calling twice.

Beginners should examine closely the work at a plain lead and a bob lead shown in the accompanying figures. They each relate to the first'lead end :

| Plain Lead |  | Bob Lead |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 231546 |  | 231546 |
| 213456 |  | 213456 |
| 123465 | Call ' Bob ' Here | 123465 |
| 214356 |  | 214356 |
| 124365 |  | 124365 |
| 142635 |  | 142356 |
| 412653 |  | 412365 |
| 146235 |  | 143256 |

A BANK HOLIDAY IN DEVON AND CORNWALL

On Bank Holiday, about a dozen ringers representing the counties of Devon, Cornwall, Dorset, Somerset, Bucks and Cheshire enjoyed an outing organised by Mr. Wilf Panter, of Exeter.

Ringing commenced at 10 a.m. at Peter Tavy ( 6 bells, tenor 10 cwt.) in Devon. Next was Lamerton ( 6,11 cwt.), where after ringing the band were entertained and refreshed by the Rector and his sister. Then over the border to Calstock ( $6,11 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), followed by St. Dominic ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where the single ropes, long draught and poor 'go caused some anxiety.

After a short break for lunch a move was made to Callington ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.), which possesses a lovely ring. The next tower was Linkinhorne ( 6,91 cwt.). where the ringing was much enjoyed despite the 90 odd feet of rope. Here the Cornish hills proved too much for the clutch of the organiser's car, which had to be towed by the Austin 10 to North Hill ( 6 , 9 cwt .). None of the party complained of the short period of ringing here, as the bells are not too good and the ropes poor.
The party were the guests of Mr. Panter's uncle and aunt to a sumptuous tea and, fully refreshed, a move was made to Alternum (8, $11 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.), South Petherwyn bells ( $6,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.) are much in need of the bellhanger's attention. The last tower was St. Mary's, Launceston ( 8 , 16 cwt .), and the bells there were the tit-bit of the day. At 8.30 p.m. after farewells the party dispersed for their various ways home.
Thanks are due to all incumbents and locals, to Mr. Panter for his excellent organisation and to those kind persons who so generously entertained and refreshed the party

NEWCASTLE RINGERS VISIT

 CUMBERLANDOn Bank Holiday Monday a busload of Newcastle and District ringers and friends journeyed to Carlisle and Penrith. A stop was made at Brampton to ring the six at St. Martin's and on the way up to the belfy Vicar warned us that the third went badly. This proved to be the case and good striking was out of the question, so after various strong men had wrestled with the wilful third the bells were lowered and the party went on to Carlisle.

A delay over lunch made us half-an-hour late in getting to Carlisle Cathedral: however. we were warmly welcomed and the long climb up the stairs, along the Clerestory, and up yet more stairs was rewarded by a very enjoyable ring of eight. While some of the party were ringing others enjoyed the view of the ancient city of Carlisle from the roof of the tower.
St. Stephen's was visited next and the belfry on the ground floor opening straight on to the street was a welcome change from the usual climb upstairs. A musical member of the party tried the organ in the church and it was discovered that the back of the organ formed discovered that the back of the organ formed one wall of the belfry. This proved disconcerting to the ringers who, in spite of disconcerting to the ringers who, in spite of everything, managed short touches of Grandeverything, managed short Douches Norwich left much to be desired.

Tea time heing near we left Carlisle later than intended and partook of a light tea in Penrith before going on to St. Andrew's, and unwittingly (like the small boy with his cake) found we had left the best tower until last. Here we raised the eight in peal and opened the proceedings with Stedman and concluded with a well-struck course of London Surprise. After lowering the bells the party settled down in the bus for the longest pull of the day-that to the top of Hartside. A short stop was made at top of Hartside. A short stop was made at Alston (the highest markct town in England) and we arrived back in Newcastle a happy. albeit noisy, party, having had a most enjoyable day.

RUGBY BEAT LUTTERWORTH

Messrs. Fenton and George opened the [Rugby] innings, but, alas, friend James did not stay long, being splendidly bowled by Tipler who took four of the wickets at very small cost. . . . The Lutterworth innings opened disastrously, the first six wickets falling for three runs. ... The full scores were as follows:-

[Both sides appeared to be short of batsmenMr. James George would probably have been happier on a heavy tenor! Perhaps the answer was that the game was played ' on a field, kindly lent by.. one of the local ringers,' though this might be unfair to Messrs. E. W. Tipler and Heywood, who appear to have bowled very skilfully.]

PEAL BOARDS AND POSTERITY

Cumberlands' Peal in Australia Questioned

Mr. J. Duncan, chairman of the New South Wales Association of Change Ringers, contributes, the following article, headed "Peal Boards,' to the July issue of 'The Ringing Towers, the monthly publication of the N.S.W. Association. We give the article in extenso because of the questions raised:-

As chairman of the N.S.W. Association and on behalf of my members, I feel it my duty to explain the functions of a peal board, as it appears to me that its uses seem to have been lost sight of or not realised. The service of a peal board is to record for posterity the achievements and successes of the ringers of the various church towers by placing on the walls of their belfries the information and accounts of their triumphs. Now it is most necessary that these accounts be true and exact in every detail, and also that the standard of these successes should necessarily be high. As you know, I am most emphatic about keeping the standards of change ringing in Australia on a high level and will resist to the utmost of my ability any infringement of those standards. This resistance I would emphasise is not made as a personal attack on any of our members or other persons so concerned, but directed at the long range effect that the reduction of these standards will have on future generations of change ringers.
I believe that a request has been made for the erection of a peal board in one of our ringing towers for a peal of Minor rung there for the Royal Cumberland Youths. The Royal Cumberland Youths are an old and ancient association and their standards must also be on a high plane. When this peal was rung reports fron some of the members of the band were of sici: a nature as to lead me to believe that the peal would not come up to the standards set by the Royal Cumberland Youths. At the time of the recording of this peal I did not protest because I regarded the matter purely as between the ringers and the Royal Cumberland Youths themselves. It is in my opinion the prerogative of the officers of the Royal Cumberland Youths to see that their peal was of the requisite standard. In 'The Ringing World' which arrived this month a letter from Mr. P. C. Richards on 'Peal Questioned' draws a note from the Editor which reads: "The first condition required for peals is that any shift or error in ringing be corrected immediately. (See page 682, October 26th, 1951.-Ed.)

Now. however, with the request that a peal board be erected in the tower concerned I do most strongly and emphatically protest to a dubious, I will not say false, peal being so commemorated. It is not right that a peal which has proved worthy of the exacting standards of peal board recognition should be compared with one which has not fulfilled these requirements. If this board is placed in the tower future generations of ringers will have handed down to them history, some of which will be accurate and some exaggerated, as to the correctness of the ringing, which will not enhance either the reputation of the ringers themselves or the standard and quality of other peals recorded in the tower. It should be the sacred duty of every ringer to see that the integrity of a peal in which he rings is unquestioned and more especially if that peal is going to be commemorated by a peal board on the walls of a church.
I have had experience of something similar to this at St. Jude's, Randwick, when the Parish Council refused to allow the ringers to erect a board for the first peal of Minor rung there because it was stated a peal had already been rung on the bells. It was eventually discovered that the so-called peal was only an extent, and had been recorded in years gone by by a small plaque which incorrectly stated that it was a

Should this peal board be placed on the wall it will be there when the writer and members of this Association have all passed on. With this fact in mind I would ask the members of the band and authorities of the Church Council to think most seriously before they commit themselves to an undertaking which will certainly not reflect credit on their integrity in the years to come. I publicly make this statement because it is my sincere wish that Australian ringing will embody only that which is good, and I am confident that the gentlemen concerned will, with thought to the future of ringing in Australia and the high standards to which we aspire, do the right thing, which will, as things have progressed so far, be hard, but will prove them to be the ringers I think they are.

I am certain that all members of my Association will fully endorse my remarks, as they too are as anxious as I am that our ideals and traditions will remain inviolate.

OUTINGS  SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL

A motor coach load of ringers and friends departed from the Cathedral at 8.45 a.m. on August 5 th and after a pleasant run arrived at St. Mary's. Beverley, by 11.30 . The bells were raised and rung to Kent Treble Bob, Little Bob Royal and Stedman Caters, also rounds for the juniors. The tone and 'go' of the bells were admired. The ringing was followed by an excellent lunch at the Beverley Arms.

A delightful run through the broad acres, in full harvest, brought us to the ancient city of York. The Minster bells were at our service for a short time prior to evensong and the time went all too quickly in raising some rounds on twelve, three separate wellstruck courses of Little Bob Royal, and lowering in peal. There was no shortage of talent for the heavy end although the long draught and absence of guides are a handicap to the less experienced ringers. The non-ringers had plenty to interest them in the Minster and city; some of the youngsters who indulged in boating on the river returned with blisters.

After tea the journey home began, a break being made to ring on the fine light octave at Thorne. Touches of Bob Major, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise with a final wellstruck touch of Stedman Triples and a good cease concluded ringing for the day. Sheffield was reached by $10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$

The weather, coach, food etc., were all that could be desired and the bells fine examples of their class, making the day very interestirg and enjoyable. Our thanks are extended to brother ringers at each tower for their hospitality

HASLEMERE, SURREY

A sixteen hours' outing was enjoyed by the ringers of Haslemere Parish Church and their friends on August Bank Holiday, during which ringing took place in six towers in Hampshire. The towers visited were Eling (6). Barton Stacey (6). Fawley (6), Lyndhurst (8). Sparsholt (5) and Hursley (8).

A special welcome was accorded the visitors at two of the towers where the incumbents are former Haslemere curates. These were Barton Stacey (Canon G. R. D.Arcy) and Sparsholt (the Rev. W. D. Maundrell). At the latter village Mr. Maundrell kindly entertained the visitors to tea at the Vicarage, and here they were joined by the Rev. Gordon Shelford (Rector of Haslemere).

Lunch was served at Fawley, where the visitors showed their appreciation by a touch on handbells at the hotel. The ringing was supervised by Mr. F. Bowden, captain of the Haslemere ringers, and the arrangements for the outing were made by Mr. and Mrs. $\mathbf{D}$.

BANK HOLIDAY IN RUTLAND
August Monday was the occasion of a 'towergrab in the small but beautiful county of Rutland by eleven members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. Nine of the 21 five and sixbell towers were visited. Three others-Great Casterton, North Luffenham and Ryhall-were applied for, but proved to be unringable.
Towers in which ringing was accomplished were Barrowden (5); Edith Weston, an excellent brand new six by Taylor; Hambleton (5), which needed very strong men round the back end: Empingham, surely one of the finest rings of six in the Diocese: Exton, another good six, seldom rung: Cottesmore, yet another fine ring; Ashwell, supposedly unringable, but which yielded Plain Bob: Market Overton (5), where we were very kindly entertained to tea by Mr Scott, president of Rutland Branch. The last tower of the day was Greetham (6), a pleasant ring, but not quite in tune with one another. Whissendine and Langham eluded the tower grabbers, but perhaps they will be added to the lists at the summer festival at Market Overton on September 16th.
Methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor to Spliced Doubles and Cambridge Minor.

DORCHESTER, DORSET

Dorchester (St. Peter's) ringers, their Rector wives and friends to the number of 38 , visited Torquay for their annual outing on August Bank holiday.

Leaving at 8 a.m. they travelled via Lyme Regis to Kingsteignton, where they were to have rung on the noted eight at St . Michael's. Owing to a misunderstanding, however, and to everyone's regret ringing had to be abandoned.

After an afternoon of leisure at Torquay, unfortunately somewhat marred by inclement weather, everyone assembled and enjoyed an excellent tea at the Shiphay Manor Hotel situate in ideal surroundings just outside the town. Afterwards their host and hostess kindly showed them over the grounds and the vistitors were greatly interested in the 12th century chapel and a Spanish chestnut tree which is just on 1,000 years old.
Reluctantly leaving this delightful spot the party procceded via Teignmouth and Dawlish to Exeter, where they received a very cordial welcome at St. Thomas's from the Vicar and a member of the local band. Following an enjoyable hour's ringing on this good cight the return journcy was made via Honiton. A further short break at Axminster, and fome was reached by a tired but happy party shortly before midnight

MR ERNEST J. OLIVER

Ringers in Sussex and West Kent and older members of the old Midland Counties Association will hear with regret of the passing of Mr . E. J. Oliver. Mr. Oliver was for many years a popular officer of the East Grinstead and District Guild and had just recovered from a serious illness and started ringing again.

He was taken ill early on August 13th and passed away six hours later. An appreciation and details of his ringing career will appear in a later issue

TANWORTH-IN-ARDEN, WARWICKS. Orr Aug. 10th. 1,260 Grandsire Doubles, with 7. 6, 8 covering: Miss J. Brettell (first quarter) 1 , J. H. Jones 2, Miss A. Digbey (first quarter as cond.) 3, J. W. ## THE MIDLAND COUNTIES TOUR

Absence of Former Giants Deplored ATURDAY, August 2nd, found seven of us eagerly awaiting the first 'Go' at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough. Due to the holiday rush, our conductor had to travel in the guard's van, and after the usual chaffing and introductions we started for Cambridge Surprise and rang a good peal in 2 hours 39 minutes. Perhaps the peal was a trifle slower time than is usual on these bells, but, nevertheless, a steady pace was maintained throughout which enabled young Rodney Harrison, of Derby, to score his first Surprise peal.
After a walk down the road and a brief interval for the usual 'cupper,' we reassembled with two welcome motor-cycling visitors from Buckinghamshire, plus the one and only, ever young. composer, conductor, ringer, author, etc., Ernest Morris.
Bristol was the method chosen, and after a few minutes of warming up by the ringers and settling down of the bells a brisk beat was established, which tempo increased as time wore on. Indeed, Mr. P. H. Whittaker, of Derby Cathedral band, who listened outside, said they sounded quite good when ringing at their quickest pace, though too wide a handstroke lead was obvious at times. Guilty one, please take note for future occasions! The peal was successfully brought round in 2 hours 26 mins.

Adieux and goodbyes over, we dispersed for a day of rest on Sunday and normal service ringing, plus at Repton a little handbell practice to prevent getting rusty. The ringers, not the bells!

OVER ZEAL AT OVERSEAL

On Monday, due to sub-normal bus service and a hasty dash to pick up two stranded ringers, Mr. J. Cotton eventualiy assembled a Yorkshire band at St. Matthew's, Overseal, three-quarters of an hour behind schedule time. In an endeavour to 'push them along, to reduce the lost time-we certainly were speeding when complaint was made, 'You're ringing too fast.' 'Stand, was called, and after a touch of Stedman 'in hand' we journeyed on to the pretty little Staffordshire village of Rolleston-on-Dove.
Yorkshire again was the chosen method, and with veterans E. C. Gobey, of Ilkeston fame, and Austin-engined Sam Pinder, a nice steady 3 hours 4 minutes was recorded for the third peal.
Tuesday morning found us all assembled at St. Lawrence's Church, Measham, at the appointed time and soon New Cambridge was tapping out on the bells. The tenors here seem to have a heavier tone than is usual for the weight.

Several mugs of tea and sandwiches were consumed at a nearby cafe before our next attempt at Netherseale. After half an hour's handbell ringing it was decided to include a local tenor ringer, as we found out later our eighth man had a bit of trouble with a broken cycle chain. Stedman Triples 'Go.' 'Go'they certainly did! One or two of the band must have decided to catch an early bus, as our fastest tower-bell peal was rung in only a slight difference than a handbell attempt. The 7th kept pushing along and soon all followed suit with never even the semblance of a trip. It would have been fatal at that speed.
So ended our 1952 ventrere, as with work for some and preparation for holidays for others we could not continue our 'week.' However the talented Beresford trio kindly visited the 'infected' area for a six-method Minor attempt the following day.
Suffice to say, after nearly an hour's ringing, Plain Method after Surprise came unstuck and we adjourned for the inevitable 'cupper.' A visit to Overseal tower and Bob Major on handbells in 2 hours 15 minutes was the result, well and truly called by Denis Beresford.
'Several features are apparent "after this event.' A full week with fewer ringers would be nearer the ideal.

LOSS OF FORMER GIANTS

The loss of three former 'giants' is too great in a small band. Messrs. J. W. F. Trotman, A. Cattell and the one and only F. W Grocott would have most assuredly lent tone and prestige to any, either tower or handbell, ringing.

Full marks, however, to Mr. J. W. Cotton for his organising ability and the endeavours he made to run to the 'clock.' Despite lastminute changes due to ringers or bells, he had always something 'up his sleeve.' His unfailing offer of hospitality and transport kept us going.
To wind up the week's ringing we were privileged to ring at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, with Mr. B. G. Key's first peal of Bristol, in 3 hours 20 minutes.
We most sincerely thank all who took part in the ringing, and especially the steepekeepers, whose behind the scenes activities ensured no 'seizing up 'or broken ropes, and to all incumbents for their kind co-operation. To Messrs Taylor for use of the car park and bells, and not forgetting our conductor, Mr. W. P. Whitehead, a very sincere 'Thank you.' Mr. F. W. Grocott was remembered, as on former occasions he has taken part in Midlands tours, and no fewer than four of his compositions were called. He is now at Trieste on Army service.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL AND AFFILIATED BODIES

By ALAN R. PINK

THE writer of the leading article entitled 'End of a Chapter,' published in 'The Ringing World ' on June 13th, 1952, stated that all affiliated guilds and associations are pledged to abide by the decisions of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. This being so, and remembering that most guilds and associations are now affiliated to the Central Council, it behoves us to pause awhile and consider the general position of the Council in ringing circles to-day and how it has made use of these weighty powers.

In an organised society possession of such absolute powers would imply certain duties, namely, that all decisions should be clear and understandable to those ringers upon whom they are binding, and that they should be free from equivocation and capable of enforcement. It is essential for the well-being of the Central Council that its affiliated members should have confidence in it and its ability to legislate. The recent meeting at Lincoln may have shaken some of this confidence, particularly when one remembers the confusion arising from the way two particular items on the agenda were dealt with, namely, the report of the Peals Analysis Committee and the Oxford Guild motion, whereby a decision to delete certain peals from the committee's report was later reversed by the acceptance of the Oxford Guild motion. Had the two items been reversed on the agenda there would have been no need for the Peals Analysis Committee to have sought the direction of the Council in regard to the deleted peals; acceptance of the Oxford Guild motion would have supplied the answer.

What of the question of enforcement? Let us consider the ringing structure at greater length. Each guild or association in membership with the Central Council is entitled to send one representative per 150 members, and although these representatives are without doubt well loved and trusted by their members it cannot be contended that they are always the most suitable people for voting upon the technical matters which appear before the Council in this age. Moreover, by reason of time lag between the printing of the Council's agenda and the annual meetings of associations, it is often impossible for the representatives to go armed with the opinion of those members they represent. The result must be that the representative votes according to his own judgment, whether he understands his subject or not. This in the mass can have serious results. More and more the tendency is to pass the technical questions to a committee of such experts as are available to the Council, but the whole Council has eventually to vote upon the committee's subsequent recommendation. One suspects that many decisions are, therefore, really made by small committees. It should be remembered that the Central Council can never at any time have all the expert opinion at its disposal, and, therefore, it is unlikely that decisions made on technical subjects will meet with unqualified approval everywhere.

Let us next consider how the information is disseminated by the Central Council. There are three methods open to it (a) by publication in 'The Ringing World,' (b) by publication in book form, and (c) by relying upon the affiliated associations as a propaganda machine. Each has serious faults. 'The Ringing World' is an excellent medium for those ringers who think fit to purchase it, but there are many ringers who do not see the publication and, therefore, cannot be said to have received due notice of the Council's intentions. The publication of rules and decisions in book form is likely to be an expensive matter, and the Council is not in a position to force ringers to buy such a publication. Moreover, such a publication is not at the moment available, being in the course of revision and reprinting. One wonders whether it would ever be possible to make these rules and decisions available in sufficient numbers so that every ringer supposed to be bound by them could have a copy free. Only by such means could the Council claim that every ringer should be cognisant of its decisions. It sounds like a task for the affiliated associations to tackle. The third method, that of relying on the affiliated associations as a propaganda machine, is defective in that no association could expect to hold a meeting where every member could be present.

The weight of evidence so far tends to show that the Central Council is in some ways an imperfect machine and is not, in fact, in a position to impose its will upon thousands of ringers who have never heard of it, or are only dimly aware of it despite the fact that they owe allegiance to an affiliated association. Yet the Council has done a vast amount of good work and will do much more if that work is kept in its proper perspective. It is worth while quoting the objects of the Council as they were accepted at the very first meeting held at the Inns of Court Hotel, Holborn, on Tuesday, April 8th, 1890:-

To provide a body representative of the united interests of the various societies of church bell ringers that shall:-
(1) Use its best endeavours to guard the rights and generally promote the welfare of the Exercise.
(2) Maintain the position of ringing as a branch of church work.
(3) Encourage and assist the development of the art in its scientific, practical and historical branches.
(4) Arbitrate-so far as may be deemed advisablein such matters of dispute or perplexity as shall be submitted to its judgment.
It was evidently not then the intention of the Central Council that its rules and decisions should be binding on all associations in membership, and there was no suggestion of this in the 14 rules of the Council which followed hard on the objects.

What, then, has gone wrong-if anything? There seems to be a fundamental question which every ringer belonging to an affiliated association is called upon to answer. Do I owe allegiance through my ringing to God or to an association which can bind me with rules spiritually unsound? It cannot be too strongly emphasised that all ringers are baptised Christians and servants of the Church of Christ. We are given the privileged duty of using hallowed instruments which sound forth the Christian message on all occasions, not merely on Sundays. Our duty as change ringers is to try to give of our best at all times by applying our skill in perfection of striking, by accepting nothing but truth, by striving always to further our calling by diligent practice and faithful attendance in our towers for service ringing. Our guilds and associations do their utmost to foster these ideals, and the ringers in membership generally take a pride in their associations.

Peals are rung under the auspices of one association or another and those peals conform to standards laid down by the Central Council. Therein lies the danger. Most of the rules governing peals are readily acceptable, but some have no spiritual significance, e.g., the acceptance of methods on six bells and above having only Plain Bob lead ends. Should not the Council in making decisions of this nature consider very carefully whether it has the right to tell any ringer what he shall or shall not ring in a peal? If a band of ringers wished to ring a peal of Canterbury Pleasure Major for a patronal festival, has any association or the Central Council the right to say that it would not accept the peal? To do so would be to deny the Christian principles underlying all ringing, principles which both Council (vide object 2) and association are pledged to uphold.
If this article has shown that the Central Council has not altogether grown up in accordance with its objects, wherein lies the remedy? It might be suggested that the Council should exist more in the nature of an advisory body, as its constitution provides, and that affiliated societies should be free to adopt such of the Council's decisions as were thought fit. In this way the power of government would pass to bodies able to enforce it, and in direct touch with the ringers concerned. This would result in a lack of uniformity in regard to methods rung as between one association and another, but this does not matter; it is the spirit in which the ringing is carried out which really matters.
[Editorial Note.-The views and conclusions expressed in this thought-provoking article must not be accepted as those of the Standing Committee of the Central Council or as being subscribed to by the majority of the Council.]

The peal at Llanfrechfa, Monmouthshire. on Aug. 16th. successfully completes a trio of wedding peals on consecutive Saturdays, in the Newport area. This last peal enabled Mr. Eric Sutton, of Bristol, who was a guest at the wedding, to ring a peal at the church where he learned to ring. Unfortunately his tutor, Mr. Robert Smith, who is convalescing from an attack of malaria, was unable to ring.
Mr. E. Stitch and Mr. H. Howell rang their 400th peal together at Penn, Staffordshire, on August 18 th.
The half-yearly meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild will be held at Heydour on September 6th and not at Grantham as previously stated.
Would the very young lady from Chester who found her way up into the tower of St. Mary's, Ilkeston, accept our apology for not being able to give her a longer ring, as it was service time? The conductor hopes she will inform the band when she is paying another visit, as she handled her bell very competently.

Susan Jackson, of Worcester, has rung her first peal at the age of 15 by ringing the treble to Plain Bob Major at Claines. She is a pupil at the Worcester Girls' Grammar School, and was taught to handle a bell by Mrs. Darmon (nee Jean Southerst) while she was teaching at the same school. Susan has the makings of a good ringer
We regret to learn that Preb. E. V. Cox, president of the Devon Guild, underwent a major operation at Exeter Hospital on August 18th. The latest bulletin is that he is going on satisfactorily, but it must be some time before he can be fit for normal work again. His many friends, we are sure, will sympathise with him and send their good wishes for a speedy recovery.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, on August 20 th, by five members of 'St. Bartholomew's Hospital and the conductor. This is believed to be unique in hospital records. The ringers were Dr. D. Cave 1, S/Nurse Judy Midgley 2, S/Nurse Elizabeth Layton 3, Miss R. L. Hopkins 4, J. Armstrong (cond.) 5, D. Burton (student) 6. It was the first quarter in the method for all except the 2 nd ringer.Mr. Albert Walker has accepted the invitation of Mr. J. E. Spice to take a Birmingham twelve-bell band to the opening of the new twelve at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, on October 25th.

Will the tourist who rang in the peal at Burnham on Tuesday, August 12th, please send his address to Mr. George Gilbert, who will post on his golden arm circlets that he left on the hat peg. Also any members who require postcards of Burnham tower.
Peals of Painswick College Bob Major are relatively few. The Chester Diocesan Guild have added this method to their ever-growing list by the peal at Bulford, conducted by Mr. Brian Harris on July 28th.
It is with pleasure that we publish this week the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Eltham, Kent, on July 19th, and called by Mr. George H. Daynes shortly after his 82 nd birthday. The peal was 'the Original,' evidence of Mr. Daynes' excellent memory

The grand old man of Minehead, Somerset, Mr. Jack Pugsley, the local captain, had his 80th birthday celebrated by a peal of Grandsire Caters on the bells of St. Michael and All Angels'. It was a compliment to the popularity of Mr. Pugsley and the excellent "go' of the bells that many of the band who honoured the occasion travelled a considerable distance.

WEST SUSSEX YOUNG RINGERS' TOUR

'Societas Nobilis Campanariorum'

THIS high sounding title appeared at the head of the beautifully laid out programme of the tour organised by Norman J. Smith, of Chichester, and held from August 4th to 9 th last. Cambridgeshire, Essex, Suffolk and Hertfordshire were visited by a party of 20 odd youthful (and not so youthful) ringers from Chichester, Bosham. Itchingfield, Thakeham, Storrington, all in Sussex, Malvern (Worcs), Leicester, Catherington (Hants) and various towers in the neighbourhood of Newport, Mon. The majority travelled by cycle, with one car party and two motor-cyclists, and all assembled at Cambridge on the evening of Sunday, August 3rd.

Ringing on Monday began very appropriately at St. Benet's ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.), the church at which Stedman is believed to have first taught his principle to the ringers. Ringing was preceded by the Sussex Association Office, which was kindly said for us by one of the Franciscan Fathers attached to the church. Some good ringing took place here before moving on to Great St. Andrew's, where the rather poor 'go' of the octave ( $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) was not conducive to good striking !

However, after lunch we were privileged to ring on the truly grand eight at the Roman Catholic Church (tenor 32 cwt .) which are the heaviest octave in the county. Despite a long draught of rope, some good striking was heard in the standard methods, and our 'tenor man,' Winnie Keys, was able to ring her heaviest tenor to date! Next came the pleasant six at Trumpington (tenor 10 cwt.), where Miss Willers kindly met the party, and the equally good six ( 7 cwt .) at Stapleford with a welcome from Mr. Finch. There being a little spare time in the programme, a telephone call to the Vicar secured the use of the five at Little Shelford ( 10 cwt .) where the music of the bells acted as background to a tennis party at the Vicarage. Evening ringing was on the very fine heavy six ( 21 cwt .) at Chesterton.

MISSIONARY WORK

Tuesday saw us first at Bottisham, with its grand church and good ring of five ( 11 cwt .) on which various familiar and not so familiar Doubles methods were rung. It is hoped that the missionary work carried out here in conversation with the Vicar and a local lady will result in the vacant treble pit being filled! Next came the well-known town of Newmarket. where a visit was paid first to the tower of All Saints' little ringing on the eight ( $10+\mathrm{cwt}$.) was quite sufficient, and it is hoped that recasting and rehanging of these bells will not be long delayed. However, the grand six ( 21 cwt .) at St. Mary's, where we were cordially welcomed by the Vicar, amply compensated us, and after ringing, most of the party made use of the facilities of the Church Hall, kindly put at our disposal by the Vicar, for a pienic lunch.

During the short run to the next tower, Exning. the mother church of Newmarket, the expected rain arrived. and the period of ringing here was slightly extended in consequence. The hells are a fine five ( 14 cwt .) with a very long draught, but go well: ringing included a touch of New Doubles. At Fordham, the next tower, the Vicar said prayers in church before ringing on the six ( 17 cwt .) : the tower became quite a familiar sight to the party, as it was passed on three occasions altogether

Ringing followed at the grand recently-augmented six at St. James'. Stretham ( 10 cwt .) before the short trip into Ely for an hour's ringing on the fine eight at St. Mary's ( 18 cwt .), where we were met by two local ringers, one of them. Marion Grain, late of Bosham. Methods rung here included Double Norwich and Cambridge, before the departure of the cyclists to the Youth Hostel at Witchford. During the evening a visit was paid to Sutton-in-the-Isle, where the Vicar had kindly given permission at short notice. The six here ( 16 cwt .) hang in a magnificent tower, and ringing was preceded by an informal organ recital (during a search for the tower key) by our unofficial Chaplain, the Rev. George Smith, which was much enjoyed.

RANG ON HIS KNEES

The first tower on Wednesday was St. George's. Littleport, with its octave ( 18 cwt .) which are rung from a west gallery. The sallies were extremely low here, and this resulted in the writer being able to turn in the tenor to a course of Double Norwich literally on his knees'! Then came a long run across the Fens to Mildenhall, in Suffolk, where the ring of ten ( $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) in the fine, lofty tower was rung to various methods.
Following a quick lunch, a tactful talk with the churchwarden gained the use of the tuneful five at Freckenham for a short period. before a visit to the town of Isleham, which contains the heaviest ringable (?) five in the world ( 25 cwt.). The 'go' of these bells, which are tuned to the minor key, was such that ringing consisted of rounds and Plain Bob Minimus with tenor covering, and it is to be hoped that a full restoration may take place before any accident happens. Unfortunately the bells are clocked in the ordinary way by a paid chimer, and again we hope that this system of chiming will be discontinued before any of these fine bells are cracked.
On again past Fordham (!), the motor-cyclists and car found the cycles parked outside the church at Wicken, the tower of which proved to contain a ring of five ( 8 cwt .) reputed unringable. However, the Vicar. who was in church, readily gave permission for a ring, telling us that it was the first time the bells had been 'up' for nearly 30 years. and a good raise in peal followed. The bells went quite well, and ringing was enjoyed, to the surprise of the villagers, most of whom had never heard their bell's rung. During the 'fall' the treble rope parted at the pulley to the discomfort of the ringer. However. a bit of 'splicing' was successfully accomplished before going on to Wilburton, where we arrived rather late, and we must thank the Vicar and local captain for waiting for us, and apologise for our lateness. The last tower was Haddenham, nearby, where the fine six ( 16 cwt .) were rung to various Minor methods, and where we again received a welcome from the Vicar and local captain. Here the short organ recital followed the ringing! The evening was snent in handbell ringing at the hostel, to the evident pleasure of the other visitors.

AMERICAN SPECTATOR

On Thursday we again passed Fordham Church for the third and last time en route for Chippenham, where Marion had kindly arranged for us to ring. The six ( 14 cwt .) here, rung from the ground floor, were put to good use before a long run across rather dull countryside to the old town of Bury St. Edmunds. After lunch, the party first visited the grand Church of St. Mary with its heavy octave ( 28 cwt.) which, however, went well. and then the Norman tower of the Cathedral. only 150 yards down the road. where several local ringers met us. Quite a crowd of non-ringing visitors, including an American Serviceman, watched the ringing on the ten ( 30 cwt .) which included a course of Bob Royal Next came the cream of the whole week, a visit to the famous tower of Lavenham, where Mr. Stedman Symonds and his son met us with the kindly welcome accorded to all the many ringers who visit their tower. The heauty of these bells with their 'matchless tenor' ( 23 cwt.) is too well known to need further praise, and it need only be said that the ringing included a good touch of Double Norwich. during which the conductor became so engrossed in listening to the beautiful music that he almost missed a bob! Later. the mechanised party paid a visit to the nearby church of Long Melford. almost as fine as that at Lavenham, and then joined the cyclists, who had meanwhile gone on to Naughton Mill Hostel, in ringing on the fine six ( 18 cwt .) at Monks Eleigh. There is no local band here at present, and we were welcomed by the Vicar, together with ringers from the nearby church of Preston; it is hoped that this fine ring may once again be heard every Sunday. Mr. Symonds joined the mechanised party at their hotel in Lavenham for a social hour with some good handbell ringing (including 720 Bob Minor).

MEMORY OF MARIA MARTEN

Friday's ringing began at Hadleigh, where we found that the heavy octave ( 28 cwt .) took quite a bit of ringing! Then on via Polstead (where the ill-fated Maria Marten met a sad end in the Red Barn!) to the magnificent church and tower of Stoke-by-Nayland, where a call on the Vicar gained permission for a ring on the heavy six ( 26 cwt ). After a few preliminary trials, during which we heard $3-2-1-6-5-4$ instead of rounds, we discovered that the ropes fall in the order 1-2-3-6-4-5! Despite this, some good ringing, which included a course of Cambridge, took place before the run into Sudbury, with its three rings of eight.
The grand ring at All Saints' ( 26 cwt .) was visited after lunch and ringing was preceded by a pleasant ceremony at which the Ringing Master for the week presented a writing case to Norman, with thanks from all the party for his hard work in organising such a grand trip: the recipient suitably replied. St. Gregory's and St. Peter's ( 16 and 23 cwt . respectively) were also visited in the company of the local ringer who so kindly met us.

After tea we unfortunately had to say au revoir to Sam Harding and his passengers the Rev. George Smith and Anne Home, who were unable to stay longer with us. We thoroughly enjoyed having them on the tour and hope they will be able to come again next time. En route to Castle Hedingham Hostel, permission was obtained for a ring on the five at Wickham St. Paul, where again the Vicar welcomed us, and evening ringing was in the fine 16th century brick tower of St. Nicholas, Castle Hedingham, only a few yards from the hostel. Ringing on this grand six, with a very long draught of rope. was much enjoyed and methods up to Cambridge were rung. A social hour at the local hostelry and half an hour at the hostel with handbell ringing and refreshments followed, before the motor-cyclists left for their - digs at Halstead.

A WET FINISH

On the following morning, the writer, also, had to leave the party, to continue his holiday on the Norfolk broads. But he understands that everything went quite well on this last full day of the tour, apart from appalling weather, the worst of the whole week. Towers visited were Sible Hedingham (8), the light eight ( 11 cwt .) at Braintree, with an unusual belfry staircase, the equally light six ( 6 cwt .) at Rayne-very appropriate considering the weather-Much Hadham ( 13 cwt .) and Braughing ( 19 cwt .) in the evening. Some of the party snatched a ring at Standon after the failure of a peal attempt during the afternoon.
Before setting out for home on the Sunday, most of the party rang at Little Munden and Standon for service. As only a few minutes were available at Little Munden, an elaborate system of changing over ropes was quickly devised to enable all to 'snatch ' the tower
Everyone agreed that the week had been extremely enjoyable, thanks to the hard work of Norman Smith in making all the arrangements, and the party would like to thank most sincerely all the various incumbents for giving permission for the use of their bells (sometimes at only a few minutes' notice) and to the many local ringers who had everything in readiness and who met us at their various towers. A special word of thanks is due to Marion Grain for her advice re towers, etc.. and to Mr. Symonds, at Lavenham

THE ST. MARTIN'S YOUTHS

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

FOREWORD

In the following brief account of the activities of The Society of St. Martin's Youths from 1755 to 1846 frequent reference, is made to 'The Recollections of John Day,' a series of sketches published in 'The Bell News' in 1895 . In all the written history of change ringing there is nothing quite so fascinating as the 'Recollections.' It is true that they have not the chronological exactitude of Jasper Snowdon, the intriguing deductiveness and speculation of Trollope, or the mathematical limpidity of Arthur Heywood. But they have in perfection what all these other excellent writings lack to a degree, and that is a warmth and intimacy that brings the subjects of the sketches very close to us, and a simplicity of truth in the telling that presents the human virtues and failings of the characters in a sober and kindly light.

To attempt to provide a shortened version of John Day, therefore, would be an impertinence; to compete with him would be an essay doomed to failure. May these present papers serve to provide the broad outline of Birmingham ringing during the latter part of the 18th century and the first half of the 19th century, and so perhaps lead the reader to seek out John Day himself. The seeker will be greatly rewarded.

1.-THE ST. MARTIN'S YOUTHS IN THE 18th CENTURY

THE earliest record of The St. Martin's Youths is that of a peal of Bob Major rung in the year 1755. There can be little doubt, however, that the Society was in existence at an earlier date. Old Joseph Neale rang on the bells at the Buil Ring before they were made into 10 , and no doubt the St. Martin's men of those days were change ringers. But it does not seem likely that any peal was rung in the town before 1755 . There is no trace of any such performance, and Neale himself was significantly silent on the subject.
In the 18th century Birmingham possessed three churches with rings of bells, St. Martin's, St. Philip's and St. John's. St. Martin's Church had been rebuilt and altered several times. As early as 1552 it had iij bells wt a clock and a chyme.' In 1682 the bells were made into six with a tenor 18 cwt ., and later on two trebles were added. In the year 1758 Lester and Pack, of Whitechapel, supplied a ring of ten with a tenor of 36 cwt ., and in 1772 Pack and Chapman added two trebles to make the twelve.

St. John's Church down by the River Rea was in existence in 1382. It was rebuilt in 1735 and a tower was added in 1762. Fourteen years later Robert Wells, of Aldbourne, supplied a ring of eight bells.
St. Philip's Church was erected between 1711 and 1715, and Joseph Smith of Edgbaston supplied one or two bells, and then, in 1727, a full octave. In 1750 these bells were replaced by a ring of ten, tenor 29 cwt., supplied by Thomas Lester.

Close to the town, but not at that time within its boundaries, was the fine Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul at Aston. The five bells SS. Peter and Paul at Aston. The five bells mentioned in the inventory of 1552 were not augmented until the year 1775, when Pack and Chapman provided an octave. In 1814 the bells were made into ten.

THE FIRST PEAL

The first peal by The St. Martin's Youths, the Bob Major of 1775, was rung at St. Philip's Church. It was a 5,040 and it was rung by: Thompson 3. John Archer 4, Abraham Fletcher 5, Samuel Brooke 6, Humphrey Peck 7, Andrew Peake and William Smith 8. No conductor is mentioned, but it is probable that Peake called the bobs.

Three years later the earliest known peal at St. Martin's was conducted by Andrew Peake. The method was Grandsire Caters, and the performance marked the beginning of a period of activity that brought The St. Martin's Youths the reputation of being one of the leading companies of ringers.
Shortly after this Andrew Peake left Birmingham for Shifnal, where he assisted in the formation of a good change ringing band, and where his name appears with that of Samuel Lawrence in a number of peals rung by the Albion Society of Shifnal. Peake was succeeded in Birmingham by John Archer, who called 6,210 Grandsire Caters in 1768. It was composed by Archer, but the figures, like so many of the early compositions, have been lost. Trollope expresses a doubt of the truth of the peal on the grounds that little was known of composition in the method at that date. But it is difficult to agree with this reasoning. Annable and Holt had already produced tittum peals of Grandsire Caters, and John Martin of Leicester and Doubleday Crofts of Nottingham were both composing with confidence in the method near this time. There can therefore be small justification for casting doubt on Archer's figures.

Little is known of most of these early ringers, but among the band of 1768 there are one or two to whom attention may be drawn.

Thomas Hadley, who had taken part in the previous peal of Caters, is described as 'Esq.,' and this, together with the fact that he subscribed to 'The Clavis,' would seem to single him out as being of a somewhat superior social position. It is more than possible that he was the son of Humphrey Hadley, the clock and watch maker of Camp Hill, who made a parish clock for Solihull Church in 1724 . If this is so, then Thomas was a clock maker in active business between 1780 and 1790.

Of the two new names in the peal of 1768 , Phineas Smith later became conductor to the Society, while Daniel Veisey, a ringer with a good record, was a printer and copper engraver with a business in Moor Street. His firm made the elaborately engraved plate from which the Society printed its dinner invitations. This plate was subsequently lost, and John Hopkins spent much time in trying to recover it,

BLISTER ON THE TENOR

Joseph Neale, born in 1719, was the last Survivor of the old band that rang at the Bull Ring when the octave was in the tower, and he, of course. was present when the bells were made into ten. In all probability it was from him that the story of the tenor came. It is said that when the bells were being hoisted into the tower someone noticed a large blister on the tenor, just above the soundbow. When this was broken a cavity, or hollow, about three inches by two, became apparent. There was, of course, great argument on the matter. Some wanted to send the bell back to the founders, but others argued that it would be better to hear its tone first. It was finally agreed to raise the bell to the tower, and, says Day, 'a fortunate thing it was, for I imagine there are few better bells of its weight.'

Joseph Neale died in 1812 in his ninety-third year.In 1772 the bells at St. Martin's were made into twelve, and in the following year the Society scored 5,324 Grantsire Cinques, the third peal in the method to be rung outside London. Maximus did not follow very quickly on the Cinques, but the next few years were far from inactive ones in Birmingham and the district. Bob Royal was rung at the Bull Ring. and the opening of the new rings at Aston and St. John's, in 1775 and 1776 respectively, brought fresh life to the Exercise. A band was formed at Aston, and at Deritend there was an increasing number of younger men, able to train and gain experience on this handy ring without the embarrassment of the weighty bells at St . Martin's and unhampered by the prejudices of some of the older hands

On October 25th, 1779, The St. Martin's Youths rang their first peal of Maximus. The method was Plain Bob, and it was the first peal of Bob Maximus to be rung outside London. Phineas Smith was the composer and conductor. and the band included Thomas Hadley, Daniel Veisey, James Dovey and John Bristow, together with some of the younger men from St. John's. James Dovey was well known in the Stourbridge district, and John Bristow is notable as having rung in the 7,326 Grandsire Caters at All Saints', Worcester, that remarkable peal where the clapper fell out of the tenor just as the bells came into rounds.
The years following 1779 saw the performance of a number of peals, Bob Royal at Coventry, Oxford Treble Bob Royal at the Bull Ring, and Bob Major at Bewdley. Throughout this period the younger men were gradually replacing the old hands, and Charles Shuter was taking the place of Phineas Smith as conductor.
The year 1786 was notable in more ways than one. It was the year in which Samuel Lawrence came to Birmingham, and it also saw the visit of The College Youths to the Midland town. Both events were of importance, Lawrence's advent in its immediate effect on Birmingham ringing, and the visit of The College Youths in its influence on the destiny of that distinguished society.

WEIGHED 32 STONE

Samuel Lawrence was a native of Shifnal, where he did his early ringing with The Albion Society in company with Andrew Peake, who had left Birmingham some years before. Lawrence was a farrier and must have been well-to-do, for he travelled the country a good deal. At St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London, in 1788 he took part in the first peal of Stedman Cinques ever rung, and he was in the two Birmingham peals of 1820 . He was said to be the second heaviest man in England, weighing some 32 stone, and old Elvins, the carpenter, who assisted at the hanging of Dudley bells in 1819, used to say that when he saw the great man strip for ringing he was amazed at the sight. He never saw such arms, 'they were as thick as a child's body.'
The staircase at Dudley is rather narrow, and Lawrence had great difficulty in squeezing himself through. 'But,' said Elvins, 'it took three men to get him down, one to push, one to pull and Lawrence in the middle.' In after years the old carpenter used to say to John Day, "Ah. John! It is a pity that such men as Sam Lawrence should ever die.' Lawrence's death in 1825 was the result of his falling as he was climbing into his chaise. The chair he was using as a step broke under him, and he fell, breaking his thigh. Owing to his great weight the bone could not be set. Mortification set in and he died. He was buried in Shifnal churchyard, where his grave may be seen near the belfry door.

The year that Lawrence came to Birmingham was made notable by the visit of "The College Youths.' The following account of this disastrous trip was written by J. A. Trollope in 'The Ringing World' of June 28th, 1940.

- The party was made up from both companies into which for 30 years the Society had been split, and this visit was an attempt to reunite the two sections into one.

THE ST. MARTIN'S YOUTHS

'The London men arrived in Birmingham towards the end of October, 1786, and on the 24th twelve of them started at St. Martin's for a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus. It was a first-class band, made up of some of the best ringers who have ever belonged to the Society of College Youths, including John Povey, who probably was conductor, John Reeves, Robert Patrick the bell founder, William Lyford, Joseph Holdsworth and Samuel Muggeridge. They rang for two hours, when the tenor clapper broke, and so the peal was lost.
' Next day the damage at St. Martin's was put right, and the College Youths made another attempt for the peal. Outside, listening, was a young member of the Aston band, William Hassall by name, and in after years he used to talk about the ringing and say how excellent it was. All went well for nearly three hours and a half, and a peal seemed certain, when Muggeridge set the tenor and went and sat down, saying he was tired and would ring no more. He had been opposed to the fraternisation with the ancient society, and did not like ringing with some of its members, and some of the others in the band thought he had spoilt the peal purposely. A heated altercation ensued, during which William Jones, who had been outside listening, came into the belfry. He had been a prime mover in the scheme of joining the two companies into one, and when he heard what had happened, in his anger and excitement he pulled the treble rope so hard that the bell was thrown over, smashing the stay and ceasing itself, no one paying any attention to the flying rope.

- Thus the Birmingham visit, instead of being the means of healing the thirty-sear-old schism in the Society of College Youths, proved a decisive factor in the break-up of the ancient branch.'

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District at Selby

The quarterly meeting of the Yorkshire Association. Eastern District, was held in conjunction with the Selby and District Society at Selby on August 16th, when ringers were present from Beverley, Cottingham, Doncaster, Goole, Hemingbrough, Hessle, Howden, Liverpool, Pontefract, Pudsey, Ripon, Selby, Sutton-on-Hull and York. The ten bells were kept ringing till about 7.15, when ringing had to cease because of an open-air play being performed in a garden close to the Abbey.
The service in the Abbey was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. A. P. Kent, M.A.), who gave the address and was assisted by the Rev. T. H. Pattinson, curate.

Tea was served in the Corunna Cafe, followed by the business meeting, presided over by the vice-president. Mr. A. E. Sellers. Two new members were elected, Mr. C. Caborn, of Selby, and Mr. E. Edmondson, of Liverpool, the latter a life member. Howden was selected as the place of the next meeting, if possible on Nov. 29th. The usual votes of thanks were passed, and Mr. T. H. Foster, of Selby, welcomed the company to Selby.

LETTERS TO

AD GLORIAM DEO

Dear Sir,-It was very gratifying to see that a peal was recorded in your issue of August 15 th at the nearby parish to mine of Stoulton, which was rung ‘Ad Gloriam Deo.' Surely all peals should be rung to the glory of God, whether in honour of granfer's 90 th birthday or the tenor ringer's first son and heir. I was pleased to see this simple reason for ringing a peal on Stoulton's lovely ring of six.

I'm surprised, Mr. Editor, that you and 'The Ringing World ' come in for some criticism over the contents of this weekly journal. My own impression is that it is a newsy little paper for those interested in campanology, and I must record my admiration of your leading article each week. Some of these from time to time have been extremely well written and worthy of wider circulation among church people generally, for they have emphasised so clearly that the bell ringer is a church worker in every sense of the word, and that whether it is Sunday service ringing or the peal of Stedman or Norwich, it is, all of it, Ad Gloriam Deo.Yours truly,
F. C. CHAMPION (Rev.).

Hinton-on-the-Green Rectory, Evesham.

PROGRESS AT TIBSHELF

Dear Sir,-Miss D. Armstrong, of Tibshelf, Derbys, who did not start ringing until Jan, 7th, 1952, rang her first 720 Plain Hunting on March 4th and her first quarter 'inside' Plain Bob on May 13th. On August 9th at Tibshelf, in 2 hours 50 minutes, she rang her first peal at the first attempt 'inside' to Kent, Oxford and Plain Bob. A week later, on August 16th at Clay Cross. Derbys, she again rang the 2nd to 5,040 Oxford and Kent in 2 hours 44 minutes. In both peals stood Miss M. Bradley, of Blackwell tower, who had previously only rung the treble to one peal.
These two young ladies are also learning handbells and both have rung plain course Plain Bob Minor-Marion 1-2, Doreen 5-6, with yours truly in the middle. This handbell ringing started from scratch on July 2nd.
How's that for progress!
Yours faithfully,
F. BRADLEY.

Sutton-in-Ashfield, Notts.
THANK YOU, DEVON AND CORNWALL
Dear Sir, - Having just returned from my holidays in Cornwall. may I, through your columns, thank all those ringers in Cornwall and over the border in Devon, 'scientific' and otherwise, who have made me so welcome and have contributed so much to my happiness? To mention all individually would be almost impossible, but to Mr. P. Williams (captain of the Redruth band) and his wife go my very special thanks. For the fourth successive summer, thank you, Devon and Cornwall.-Yours sincerely,
E. T. P. FIELD.

Buckland Newton, Dorset.

STEDMAN DOUBLES

Dear Sir, - In the letter from Mr. G. E. Symonds which was published in 'The Ringing World' on July 25th, it is stated that each six-score of Stedman Doubles (with the starts as indicated) can be called ten different ways. Are there not fifteen different ways of calling six-scores of Stedman Doubles?-Yours faithfully,
H. MILES.

Carbis Bay. Cornwall.

THE EDITOR

KENT AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB
Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Worrall, the Oxford and Kent compositions of Treble Bob with Bobs and Oxford at other leads besides the third is called Worcester variation. The composition with bobs and Oxford only at thirds is termed the Ilkeston variation of Spliced. Mixed or Combined Treble Bob, whichever you may think fit. To my idea it is the same whether they are mixed or joined together.
As for changing to Oxford when the treble is in 3-4 it is a change of method and I consider it is far more interesting than changing at the lead ends. For the benefit derived from changing there you may as well not change at all because you get the same score.
By changing in 3-4 you keep the tenors out of the slow, and also returning up behind. You get the tenors dodging at the Wrong and Home and also the Middle much the same. What can you wish for better than that? Do we not like to hear the tenors dodging at the back? What is nicer than having $6,7,8,9,0$ come rolling up at the course end and having a three pull dodge and also having a couple of bobs at Wrong previously? The idea is to keep the tenors out of the slow and to get them up behind again and by doing so we use the Oxford at third lead.

My advice is if you are going in for composition do your best to get 4 and 6 extents in 5-6 and plenty of dodging with the tenors with the bell at the Wrong keeping of the tenors. Then listen. With best of luck
E. C. GOBEY

Ilkeston.
[Editorial note-There was a misprint in the letter on this subject on page 539. It was the Suffolk Guild and not the Sussex Guild which attempted the three variations. The error is regretted.-Editor.]

STAMINA

Dear Sir,-While in a pub at Chesterfield listening to that grand ten, I am reminded that Mr. Ben Knights worked from 6 a.m. on Friday, January 19 th, 1906, continuously till Saturday noon of January 20 th with breaks only for meals. Without sleep or rest and after a considerable walk, he rang North Wingfield tenor to 7,328 Oxford Treble Bob Major in 4 hours 26 minutes. The performance might be of interest to Mr. Jack R. Worrall. (See Belfry Gossip, August 15th.)

ONE-HAND CLOCKS

Dear Sir,-With reference to the recent correspondence on 'one-handed clocks,' there is one at Long Stratton, Norfolk, which has not yet been mentioned. According to 'The Norfolk Magazine,' Vol. 5 , No. 3, page 6, this clock was installed in 1722 and was put in working order in 1950, after being idle for some years. -Yours faithfully,

St. Mary's, Scarborough

For three months the bells of St. Mary's, Scarborough, will be silent. They are to be provided with new clappers and new fittings. These bells were hung in 1851 after two of them had been on view at the Great Exhibition. The dedication was in December, 1852. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have promised to have the bells rehung by December, and it is hoped to rededicate them exactly 100 years after they were first dedicated. In the meantime St. Mary's will not be altogether silent. The firm is to lend the church a 7 cwt . bell which will be tolled for Communion and other services.

FOR BEGINNERS-AND A WORD TO THE OLDER HANDS

IX. - FROM KENT TO OXFORD TREBLE вов
One of the first Treble Bob methods was Oxford. It came into being long before Kent, which, when it was first introduced, was known as 'New' Treble Bob.

Oxford, especially on the higher numbers, is not, in these days, rung anything like as frequently as is Kent, but in six-bell ringing it forms a very useful contribution to the sevenmethod peal, which is the least that six-bell ringers should aim at.

To those who can ring Kent Treble Bob, the Oxford method is comparatively easy to learn. Actually it is merely a reversal of the bells in $3-4$. Here are figures (at the first lead of the treble) which will show this:-

| Kent |
| :--- |
| 231546 |
| 213456 |
| 123465 |
| 214356 |
| 124365 |
| 142635 |
| 412653 |
| 146235 |
| 416253 |
| 461523 |

| Oxford |
| :--- |
| 241536 |
| 214356 |
| 123465 |
| 213456 |
| 124365 |
| 142635 |
| 416253 |
| 146235 |
| 421563 |

The reversal of the bells in 3-4, however, leads to some essential differences in the work, but first of all let us look at the similarity of the two methods. All the dodging is precisely the same (though not always in corresponding places, with the same bells). There is also a "slow" work common to both methods-the whole pull at lead and 2nds place alternately from the time the treble leaves the front until it returns-and this slow work is done by the bells in the same order.
Another important point in the relationship of the two methods from the conductor's point of view is that the compositions of one method run true to the other.
And now the differences in the work of the method.
In KENT we had this:-
Pass the treble in 2-3, make 3 rds and 4 ths and go up.
Dodge with the treble in 1-2, coming out of 'slow,' make 3rds and 4ths and go up.
In OXFORD each of these bells makes 4ths only and goes back to lead.
Pass the treble in ${ }^{2-3}$, make 4ths and go down into the ${ }^{2}$ slow.?
Dodge with the treble in 1-2, make 4ths and go down to lead.
In KENT, after passing the treble in 4-5 or dodging in 5-6 up with the treble, make 4ths and 3 rds on the way down.
In OXFORD both these bells make 3rds only and go back up to dodge in 5-6.
Briefly, the two bells going up make 4ths and go back; the two bells going down after the treble make 3 rds and go up.
A bob in Oxford Treble Bob causes both the 3rds places to be made by the same bell, but with a 4ths place (the actual bob) between. Thus the bell that has to make the bob dodges in 5-6 up with treble, follows it down, makes 3 rds, 4 ths and 3 rds (a whole pull in each place) and goes up in front of the treble. It comes into the 'slow' work the next lead.
The conductor should note that, while in Kent the bell that is going into the 'slow' comes down behind the treble, in Oxford the next bell to go into the 'slow' is the bell that comes down IN FRONT of the treble. That is important to remember when he is calling from a non-observation bell.

Touches of Oxford can be called like touches of Kent, and here is another 720 which will go, to either method, without bringing the 'tenors, (5 and 6) up the wrong way at a lead end; in other words, whenever they are together when the treble leads they strike in their natural order, 5-6, at backstroke.

Last week's 720 was: Call the 6th IN, Out and In three times. The other 720 is: Call the 5th Out, In and Out three times. If, for this latter, you want to make the 6th the observation bell, you can do so by calling it to make the bob in the first course, and then call it twice Wrong (successive leads) in the 2nd course : and repeat twice.

The bell that makes the bob in Oxford is the one that dodged in 5-6 up with the treble and the call can be made as it strikes its first blow in 3rds place. Contrary to Kent, in which the places are made the 'wrong' way (backstroke and handstroke), the places in Oxford are made the 'right' way (handstroke and backstroke).
To call a bell 'Wrong' in Oxford or Kent Treble Bob causes it to have an extra double dodge in 5-6 up. and the call comes in the lead when the bell has dodged in 3-4 up with the treble.

OUTINGS

CLEWER

A good day's tour around Cambridge was enjoyed by ringers from Clewer, Farnham Royal, Windsor, Old Windsor, Slough, Hampton, Stanwell and Sunbury, those from the last three towers arriving in Windsor on bicycles before $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.

After a short break for refreshment the first tower, Hitchin, was reached on time. This fine ring was soon set going in rounds, Grandsire, Stedman, Kent and Spliced Plain and Little Bob.
The next stop was Godmanchester and the hard-going bells there were soon ringing in rounds, Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich. Then came St. Maty's, Huntingdon, where ringing ranged from rounds to Double Norwich. including a musical touch of Oxford Bob Triples.
A good lunch was had by all in a convenient field just off the main road to St. Ives, where was the next tower. The long draught here did not appeal to some of the less experienced, nevertheless a variety of methods, including Duffield, was rung.

En route to St. Benet's, Cambridge, the majority in the coach were gently lulled to sleep on the way by sweet music from two mouthorgans, an accordion and a banjo. At Benet's. the usual methods were rung and the only touch of Surprise during the day, Spliced London and Cambridge. The bells were then rung down and everyone moved off to tea.
After a good tea, Royston was reached a few minutes late. Due to an error in the time-table the ringing here had to be cut down and the visitors left for the last tower, Baldock. Methods rung here included St. Clement's Major.

The run home was broken at a convenient hostelry where tune ringing was enjoyed by all present. Midnight saw the coach in Windsor from where a few had a long ride home.
Methods rung on handbells during the day included: Plain Bob. Oxford Bob Spliced Plain. Little and St. Clement's Minor, Plain Bob, Duffield, Spliced Plain. Little and St. Clement's, and Spliced Grandsire and Original Major. Grandsire Caters and various irregular Minor methods.
Many thanks are extended to all those who made such an enjoyable day possible.

HOVINGHAM, YORKS

A townsman will often say to a countryman, 'What do you find to do in the country?' To anyone asking me this I should reply, 'Well, just come to Hovingham and try fixing a date for our bellringers' outing.' Yes, it is quite a problem. Eventually it was decided that July 19th should be the day.
Accompanied by good friends and good weather, we were off to an early start and arrived at West Tanfield by $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Here we had an enjoyable sojourn, but whether it was due to the early time of day or to other causes it certainly was not our best ring of the tour. Mid-morning refreshments followed and we were delightfully entertained by four of our team going through a plain course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells.

From Tanfield we proceeded through the hay country by way of Middleham and Leyburn and on to Aysgarth. For most of us this was our first visit to Aysgarth, and allowed plenty of time in our programme to see the falls, a most beautiful sight, before visiting the church. Here we were joined by members of the local team, who spent most of their lunch hour ringing with us, and it turned out to be a very sociable meeting.

In the Church of St. Andrew there is a grand set of six, the tenor being 11 cwt 3 qr. 10 lb . in F sharp. With two local members standing in, we rang touches of Bob Minor and then we went on to Stedman, Grandsire and St. Simon. Our ringing session went in quick time and with reluctance we rang the bells down. However, we were made very welcome at the Palmer Flatt Hotel, where our nonringing friends had already had a good start in the bar.
After lunch we went far and wide. Our destination was Leeds, but by no means was it an easy task fos our coach driver. Going over the hills by way of Hawes, Horton-in-Ribblesdale down to Settle, we encountered steep and narrow roads, the latter being to our disadvantage when we met another bus coming in the opposite direction. One of us had to give way and, I suppose, being the trespassers into their country, we were the ones to do the reversing.

We were behind schedule at Leeds, but having booked tea there was no delay and we were soon in the Empire enjoying a tip-top show. On the homeward run we stopped in York for drinks and supper. The Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Kearsley, who was a member of the party, thanked the organisers for a very good outing.
Speaking of next year, it has already been suggested that a trip to London would be favoured. If this is to be the case. I had better start now trying to fix the two days required for such an outing.

KING'S NORTON BELLS

Apropos the ring at King's Norton, a correspondent writes that one bell in this tower is dated 1641 and the others were cast by the Eayres of St. Neots and are dated between 1760 and 1761. According to North in his 'Church Bells of Leicestershire,' King's Norton once had a ring of ten given by William Fortrey, but was reduced to eight owing to the strain on the tower. Only two peals of Major have been rung on these bells, which have a tenor weighing 21 cwt .

WEST SUSSEX TOUR

Methods rung during the week included Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Caters. Erin Doubles and Triples, April Day, St. Simon's and New Doubles, Bob Minor, Little Bob Minor, Stedman Doubles and Triples, St. Clement's Minor. Kent and Oxford Minor, Bob Major and Royal, Double Norwich Major and Cambridge Minor and Major. Some 40 tewers were visited and 845 steps climbed during the week. Roll on next time! $\quad$ P. N. B.

BELLS IN ENGLISH LIFE

FROM time immemorial it has been the custom to ring the church bells when any royal personage or nobleman passed through or visited the place. A manuscript quoted by Brand (Smith's Berkeley MSS.) declares that:Antient ceremonies used throughout the kingdome, continued from antiquity till the days of our last fathers, that whenever a nobleman or peer of the realme passed through any parish, all the bells were accustomed to be runge in honor of his person, and to give notice of the passage of such eminency.
Churchwardens' accounts bear testimony of this custom, as, for instance, at Waltham Abbey:1542. Item pd. for the ringing at the prince his coming, jd
Likewise at Marlow we read:-
1592. Paid to John Black for mending the bells when the queen came to Bisham, js. vjd.'
St. John's, Stamford, records :-
1635/6. It. for ringing wn ye King (Charles 1.) came throu ye town, 2 s . 0 d .'

And at Aylestone, Leicester, 1695/6, the Constable's accounts have :-
'To the Ringrs when his Majti Pass'd by Aileston upon his Progress, 1s. 0d.'
Thus we read of many such payments, but rarely do we read of ringers being paid for NOT ringing. The accounts of Lambeth, London, record such a payment when King Henry VIII, visited Lambeth in 1517/18, thus:-

> 'Item paid to the yema amyner ffor defawt of the ryngynge off the bells at the Kyngs comynge, ijs. iiijd.'

HOLIDAY RINGING

Holidays were always the time for ringing, even as to-day. While our forefathers were content to just ring , their own bells, the 'ramblers ' and 'rovers ' of to-day are not content unless they pull in 20 or 30 towers on a week's holiday tour!
Plough Monday (January 10th) was until recent times looked upon in rural districts as a holiday-the 'Plough Monday boys.' bedecked with scraps of ribbons and other finery, and one of them dressed as a 'moll,' danced in the streets and asked for money. The bells were rung in many parishes to mark this occasion.
In a somewhat similar way May Day was welcomed with many peals. The maypole, decked with flowers, round which the young people danced, stood on the village green. Charles Knight in 'Once Upon a Time,' page 152, Knight in 'Once Upon a Time,' page 152, writes:-
-The Puritans waged war with the maypoles, and indeed with all those indications of a full-hearted simplicity which were the echo full-hearted simplicity which were the echo maypoles never held up their heads after the Civil War.'
Indeed, so early as the year 1644 a Parliamentary Ordinance directed all maypoles to be removed by the constables of the parishes. A curious confirmation of this is furnished by the second ladder leading to the belfry at Castle
Bytham, Lincs, upon which is cut these words:

This ware the may povl $1660{ }^{\circ}$
The day was not forgotten as is evidenced by many churchwardens' accounts. A typical example of this is at All Saints', Stamford :-
1707. Expended on the Ringers on May day, 0.5.0.'
The treble bell at Balsham, Cambs, is said to have been broken in 1774 by people striking the bells on May morning (Dr. Raven's 'Church Bells of Cambridgeshire,' page 119).

At Rushden, Northants, it was formerly the custom to ring a bell at daybreak during 'seed time ' to call the labourers to' their work; so, too, the harvest bell was formerly-and still occasionally-rung early in the morning during harvest season to summon the reapers. At Moreton, also in Northants, the early morning bell. which was usually rung at 5 o'clock, rang an hour earlier, i.e., at $40^{\circ}$ clock, at which hour also a bell was rung at Walgrave. It is also remembered at other places in the same county, as at Spratton, Wellingborough, etc. At Barrow-on-Humber, Lincs, the harvest bell was rung at daybreak, and again in the evening, as is learned from a copy, of the 'Office and Duty of the Parish Clerk, preserved in the parish chest, dated 1713 :-
' Item. He is to ring a Bell Every working day morning at Break of the day and Continue the ringing thereof until All Saints and also to ring a Bell Every Evening about the sunseting until harvest be fully ended-which Bell are to begin to ring from the beginning of harvest.'
In an old survey in the same parish, preserved among church papers, we read :-

The Clarke Receiveth from Every Cottager at Easter for Ringing the Day Bell and Night
Bell in Harvest two pecks of wheat.
In several counties it was the custom to bring the last or 'harvest load' home decked with boughs of oak and ash. The farmer would then send some of his men to ring the bells, whilst others, riding on top of the load, would sing: -

'Harvest home! Harvest home!

The boughs they do shake, the bells they do ring,
So merrily we bring the harvest in, the harvest in!
So merrily we bring the harvest in.'
The custom of ringing the harvest bell at Driffield, Yorks, was from time immemorial. The old octogenarian parish clerk, Mr. Johnson, faithfully carried out this duty every year with marked punctuality. The bell was rung mornings at 5 a.m. and evenings at $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for one month. The bell was given 150 bats and, after a pause, one more in addition corresponding with the day of the month. In many 18 th century Inclosure Acts for the East Riding of Yorkshire there is a clause which secures the sexton certain rights for ringing the 'harvest' or 'barley bell.
In many Midland parishes as at Waltham-on-the-Wolds and Wymondham, Leics: Gretton, Slipton, Sta verton, Northants: Ashwell, Impingham and Market Overton, Rutland, a bell, called the gleaning bell, was rung during harvest in the morning. and sometimes also in the evening giving warning that gleaning might commence and when it must close for the day. This was also observed at Gillingham, Aldeby, Norfolk; Tadmarton and Swalcliffe near Banbury, and Midsomer Norton and other places too numerous to mention. This was done that all the old and feeble, as well as the young and active-might have a fair start.

THE CHILDREN'S BREAKFASTS

In South Warwickshire this bell was rung at 8 o'clock in the morning as a signal for the commencement of gleaning in order 'that the children's breakfasts be not neglected.' This custom was also observed in some parishes in Lincolnshire, where. however, it is remembered as a thing of the past in many other places. At Whittering, Northants, this notice was given by a woman ringing a handbell through the village : at Lyddington. Rutland, the clerk claimed a fee of a penny a week from women and big children: and at West Deeping, Lincs. the clerk made a similar claim of twopence from each gleaner-when they declined, the ringing ceased!

In connection with the harvest and gleaning bells it may be mentioned that there was formerly a bell rung at Louth when harvest on the 'Gatherums' was ripe. A piece of land so called was in former times cultivated for the benefit of the poor: when the 'pescods' were ripe a church bell was rung. which gave warning to the poor that the time had arrived when they might gather there - hence (it is said) gather'em or gatherum. The church books had the following and similar entries relating to this custom :-
1536. Item for Knyllyng the bell in harvest for gatheringe of the pescods, iiijd.
Among the appurtenances of the manor in past times were the Manor Mill or Manor Oven, to which the tenants were expected, if not obliged, to resort to grind their corn and to bake their bread. Early in the 14 th century such an oven existed at Melton Mowbray, Leics: and so late as the middle of the 19th century Sir Matthew Lamb, the then Lord of the Manor, endeavoured to compel the inhabitants to bake their bread in that oven on the plea of feudal rights. Nichols describes it as being, in 1790, fourteen feet in diameter, and adds that Sir Matthew Lamb, having desisted from his claim, a rival baker had set up a new oven of even larger size. To give notice when the manor oven was heated and so ready for use, a man paraded the streets of Melton blowing a horn. The same custom was followed at Cranwell, Lincs, but in some parishes-as at Warkton, Northants. and at Welton, Lincsone of the church bells was rung, called the 'oven bell.' This was also observed at Keyston, Hunts.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of Aug. 30th, 1912 DEATH OF MR. MATT. WOOD

A Famous London Ringer
How fast the veterans of the Exercise are disappearing. To-day it is our melancholy duty to record the death of Mr. Matthew A. Wood which took place on Tuesday at his residence, Church Row, Bethnal Green.
Had he lived to September. 22nd he would have been 86 years of age. Mr. Wood had had a remarkable career as a ringer, having rung 380 peals in England, Ireland and Scotland. His first peal was one of Grandsire Triples at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, on February 18th, 1846.
[Mr. Wood, who had lived in the same house since 1829, was, said 'The Ringing World.' unquestionably one of the finest ringers who ever entered a belfry. With a reach that gave him splendid command of a bell, a strength that he knew how to use to the best advantage, an ear that enabled him to make every blow a good one, and an intellect that endowed him with power to ring without making mistakes, he possessed, in his prime, a combination of qualities seldom found to so marked a degree in any ringer.' Between his first peal in 1846 and his last in 1909, there was no year in which he failed to ring a peal. Among those in which he took part were the third peal of Superlative, in 1850: 7.524 of Stedman Cinques in 1851 and 8.580 in the same method in 1861, and 15,840 Treble Bob, the then record, at Bethnal Green in 1868. In 1872 he rang in the first peal in Ireland, at Waterford, and in the following year called the first peal in Scotland, Grandsire Triples at Dundee. He took part in the first handbell peals of Stedman, Caters and Cinques ever rung, and in the first peal at St. Paul's Cathedral.
His grandfather, Francois Du -Bois, a silk manufacturer in Lyons, was a Huguenot refugee who settled in Spitalfields and took up ringing, taking part in over 70 peals under his Anglicised name of Francis Wood. among them 10,200 Oxford Treble Bob Royal at Shoreditch in 1777.
Mr. Wood's peal book came in possession of the then Bishop of London. Dr. WinningtonIngram. who made reference to this at the College Youths centenary dinner.]

AS I REMEMBER THEM

We begin this series in the hope that older members of the Exercise will be encouraged to give their memories of men now passed on who left their mark on the Exercise, so that the younger members may get some idea of what manner of men they were.

W. H. BARBER

The first time I ever saw Bill Barber was in the famous Bull Ring Tower, where he was conducting Stedman Cinques in a masterly manner. He was about 28, and was the possessor of a rather fierce looking moustache, which struck awe into me as it bristled when Barber shouted his commands. He had by this time proved himself to be one of the leading conductors in the Exercise. He was the very first to conduct Carter's Odd Bob one-part, both on tower bells and handbells, and was very progressive in outlook. He was a bricklayer by trade and in due course migrated to Newcastle, where very soon he was extremely active.
Possibly some of our North Couniry ringers might like to give us a picture of his activities, which were over a period of 40 years in their territory. When I was in York at the outbreak of the first world war I again met Bill. He had gone, as I had, to renew acquaintance with the famous George Breed, one of London's finest heavy bell ringers, who had become a publican in York. We met in the smoke-room of his inn on the riverside and enjoyed some handbell ringing. Bill by this time was much more tolerant in his outlook, and had begun to develop that gentle manner which was to become so much more pronounced as the years went by. He was no longer a young man in a hurry, but patient to a degree with those who were not so quick in assimilating ringing knowledge. How much the Newcastle men owe to that patience and gentleness! He was always eager to encourage the enquiring youngster, and would be at great pains to make a point absolutely clear and understood. Bill was regular in his attendance at the Central Council's gatherings, and was always very popular.

About 30 years ago Albert Walker arranged a peal of Stedman Caters at Beverley Minster with Barber in the band. He at once volunteered to ring the 9th, and although by no means robust in physique, he rang it to perfection, placing it with such accuracy as to leave an undying impression on the minds of those taking part. Unfortunately, after over three hours' ringing the tenorman gave up, but Bill was eager for inclusion in the next attempt, eight years later when he again rang the 9th, but, alas, the tenorman on that occasion gave up in just over an hour. Bill Barber was frequently to be seen at the Johnson Dinner at Birmingham and was never very far away from Harry Withers-another genius, but of a different type from Bill.

After retirement from work he returned to his native Clent in Worcestershire, and was often to be seen in Birmingham at the Bull Ring, ringing Stedman Cinques in the same masterly style that I as a raw youngster had admired so much. In 1947 I had the great joy of ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques with him at Buckfast Abbey. He was now approaching 80 years of age, but rang the treble with the same sure touch.

Barber was one of the finest characters who has graced the Exercise and was truly loved by all who knew him. Whilst on a visit to some relatives at Sutton Coldfield he was suddenly called to higher service, and it was not until he had been buried in that town that the Exercise learned of its great loss. No ringers' tribute at the graveside could be paid, but this was remedied on the anniversary of his death, when some of his oldest friends travelled from London and the Midlands and paid their last respects to a dear departed brother. Amongst the travellers was E. Alex. Young, then in his 87th year, who brought with him a bunch of flowers picked that morning from his own garden, and laid them reverently on the grave. A simple act, but how much was conveyed by it! J. F.S.

NEWS FROM MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

A Year of Encouraging Progress

The annual general meeting of the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, Melbourne, was held on July 30 th in the tower. The Very Rev. Roscoe Wilson. Dean of Melbourne, presided, 16 members being present. Apologies for absence were received from the vice-captain. Mr. J. Spencer, and from Messrs. A. Bennett, W. Ford and G. Weston.
The treasurer's report and balance sheet were accepted, a slight decrease in funds being shown over the previous year.
In his first annual report, the captain (Mr. P. Gray) stated that the past year had been one of steady progress and hoped the progress would continue. Membership had increased to a substantial figure, partly due to three arrivals from England during the past six months in the persons of the Misses $B$. Beeson and $V$. Willard and Mr. D. Cornish.
He then went on to point out what a privilege the office of a ringer was, and how ringing added to the glory of our worship. Melbourne was very fortunate in having such a fine ring of twelve bells, and it was his aim to make full use of them by ringing Caters and Cinques as soon as the tenor, which at the present moment was undergoing repairs, bad been restored.

At this juncture he paid tribute to the long years of valuable service Mr. J. Spencer had rendered to the Society, and expressed the Society's sincere regret that ill-health prevented Mr. Spencer from making regular attendance to ringing.

The captain concluded his report by saying that on practice nights ringing now finished a half-hour earlier, so that all members could have supper together and get to know each other better. This new venture had proved to be a great social success.
The Dean thanked Mr. Gray for his report and said how pleased he was with the progress of the Society and congratulated Mr. Gray on his fine leadership.
The election of officers for 1952-3 resulted as follows: Captain, Mr. P. Gray; vice-captain, Mr. J. Roper; hon. secretary, Miss B. Sheppard; hon. treasurer, Mrs. J. Gray; steeplekeeper. Mr. C. Billington; hon. librarian, Mr J. Willis; auditor, Mr. F. Boughton.

Mr. J. Willis accorded a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean. The meeting was followed by supper.

The handbell peal of Little Bob Major at Derby on August 9th, reported on page 534 , was the first handbell peal in the method by the Association, and not the first handbell peal for the Association.
The first recruits of the newly-formed company at Stisted, Essex, to score their first quarters are A. Syder and T. Earl. They are both 15 years of age and the test took place at Rayne. Congratulations to Mr. Albert Saunders, who can now begin to see some result from his hard work.
