READING BETWEEN THE LINES

AGOOD many more ringers than those actually present are interested to a greater or less degree in the proceedings at the annual conference of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. Perhaps one of the greatest privileges open to a ringer is membership of this august assembly. Perhaps nothing is more disappointing to a member of the Council than enforced absence from one of its gatherings. In the nature of things, however, membership of the Council cannot be open to all ringers and there must be occasions when even those who have the privilege of membership are prevented from attending.

All such absentees must rely upon the official reports which are so well presented from year to year in the columns of 'The Ringing World' or upon the personal reactions and descriptions of their friends. It may be that to many people the latter can be even more interesting than the former. Whatever the source of the news, however, there is certain to be a good deal of pleasurable 'reading between the lines.'
' Reading between the lines ' must always have its handicaps, and it is a practice which, although so pleasurable, can sometimes, although by no means always, be misleading. It may, therefore, be an unwarrantable assumption, but the rumour persists that the proceedings at this year's meeting, although very pleasant as always, did not reach the height of reality and usefulness to which, at its best, the Central Council ought to aspire.

One ringer wrote to another, ' You did not miss much at Lincoln. The morning was taken up with stereotyped business and in the afternoon there was far too much technical discussion, boring beyond words. I was glad my train left early.' Shortly after the Council meeting a letter appeared in the columns of 'The Ringing World' from a member of the Council making the same complaint about the afternoon proceedings. From : The Ringing World, report of the annual general meeting of one of our larger guilds we learn that it is quite usual for the Central Council to make one decision in the morning and a contrary decision in the afternoon.

All these things are disquieting, although fortunately, as always, there is a lighter side. One member of the Council tells a delightful story against himself. It seems that he found the acoustics of Lincoln Chapter House a little difficult and, being quite unaware of the business before the meeting, he took a chance and decided to raise his hand with the majority only to be told hastily by one of his friends that he was voting against a resolution that he had himself seconded.

One point must, of course, be made quite clear. Whatever criticisms may be made of the business meeting, the Lincoln people themselves were, as one would certainly expect, second to none in their hospitality. No pains were, it seems, spared to make the guests welcome and happy, and every care and thought had been given for their comfort and enjoyment. It is the more disappointing, therefore, that the business, over which the hosts had not, nor would have desired, control, should have been so unimpressive to those of us who must, perforce, 'read between the lines.'

Criticism of the Council is not something new. The animated discussions that take place in remote country inns and quiet city taverns or even draughty belfries pending the arrival of the belated No. 8 are not always restricted to ball bearings or coursing orders or inferior quality bellropes. The Central Council sometimes looms large in such discussions, and it is a pity some of the comments are not the subject of a permanent written record.

Is the Council all it could be? Can it be improved and, if so, in what way? What a wonderful thing it would be if some of the more energetic critics would take up a pen and wield it in the good cause. It is probably too much to hope that more than one or two can be prompted from their silence. What about you, dear reader? Perhaps the Editor has never had a letter from you and yet you may be one of the most vocal critics of the Council. This article has given you a starting point, but it is deliberately negative in its criticism. The writer has all sorts of ideas on the subject, but would much prefer to see the opinions of other people. So what about it?

FOR BEGINNERS-AND A WORD TO THE OLDER HANDS

X. - PROVING BOB MINOR

There are many beginners, and many more advanced ringers, too, who like to dabble a little in composing, if only to while away odd moments. They love to try their hand, for instance, at putting together touches of Grandsire Triples, or even finding a new method. It may not always be a profitable occupation, but it is very fascinating.
And yet we think there is something to be gained from it, even if the material results are very small. By 'experimenting, with figures, the student may learn quite a lot.
Composing, without proving, is, of course, a waste of time. The ringer who 'composes ' touches or peals leaves his work incomplete if he does not 'prove' that what he has composed is true. A composition is worthless unless it is true.

A reader who has been working on Bob Minor asks us to deal with the proof of it in this column. He says, 'It does not always follow, I find, that even if the lead ends do not repeat, the touch need necessarily be true. In Bob Major, I believe I am right in saying, provided the tenors are kept together, then a touch or peal is true if the lead ends are true. Of course, I appreciate that in Minor the tenors cannot be kept together throughout the whole of a 720 .'

First with regard to Bob Major, it is the fact of keeping two bells (the tenors) constantly in the same relationship that ensures the truth of a composition, if the lead-ends are true. If the tenors are parted, then there is a risk of repetition unless certain safeguards are taken. Just as an example, taken at haphazard, the change 61725846 can occur, when the treble is coming down, before the lead-head 16725846 and after the lead-head 16278564 with the treble going up. Just take paper and pencil and work it out for yourselves.
In Bob Minor the same risk occurs when the 'tenors' are parted, and, as they must necessarily be parted to obtain the full extent of changes, the mere checking of the backstroke treble leads is not sufficient.

Our correspondent asks us to use the following example, which he specially compiled, to illustrate our explanation.

| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 23564 | S 54263 | -42563 |
| 36245 | 46532 | -42635 |
| 63452 | 63425 | 23456 |
| S 36524 | -63524 |  |
| S 63245 | -63542 |  |
| 34652 | 34625 |  |
| 45326 | 42356 |  |

In Bob Minor the two bells behind are not affected by a bob, and by the use of bobs and singles they can come together six times, but they may sometimes be coursing in a reverse order, and when you check your composition you must make sure that the reverse order does not give you the same change at handstroke that you have already had elsewhere at backstroke; if you do, you have repeated, in the reverse order, the preceding eleven changes.
Wherever, therefore, you find you have bells in 5-6 reversed, you must check the handstrokes as well as the backstrokes, and if you are using singles, you must check both hand- and backstrokes, whichever way the bells turn up behind. As the proof of Bob Minor, in any case, is not a very lengthy business, it may be quicker and safer in the long run for the beginner to write down every handstroke and backstroke of his composition. The handstrokes of the above touch are:-

|  |  |  |
| ---: | ---: | ---: |
| 32546 | S 54236 | 24536 |
| 32654 | 45623 | 24653 |
| S 6425 | 64352 | 24365 |
| S 36542 | -36245 |  |
| S 6354 | -36524 |  |
| 36425 | 36452 |  |
| 43562 | 43265 |  |

Now compare these rows against the previous set of backstrokes and you find repetition between Lead 2, Column 1, and Lead 4, Column 2; Lead 4, Column 1, and Lead 5, Column 2; Lead 3, Column 2, and Lead 3, Column 1
In this particular touch, there is one other thing which will be obvious to the student. You cannot have more than six rows with the same pair of bells in $2-3$, when the treble is leading. When a single is made that pair of bells is in $2-3$, both at handstroke and backstroke, and the single, therefore, accounts for two of the six changes. A glance at the figures of the above touch, therefore, reveals falseness at once, for $6-3$ are in front twice at singles (which accounts for four changes) and three times elsewhere, so that even if all six rows had been used (actually only five are) the touch must be false.
Perhaps our readers would like to try their hand at the following touch of 240 and see whether or not it is true:-

IRISH ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

A meeting of the Eastern District of the Irish Association was held in Blessington, Co. Wicklow, on August 23rd.
St. Mary's Church has the oldest ringing bells in Ireland. They were installed originally in 1682 by Bartlett and were overhauled in 1923; when the tenor ( 16 cwt .) had to be 'sprung; into the frame, with the result that very few ringers can ring it for more than five minutes. All ringing on Saturday had necessarily to be confined to short spells, during some of which the tenorman asked to be relieved. However, the members enjoyed very much the visit to Blessington.

Tea was kindly arranged by the local Rector (the Rev. E. H. Despard) and some ladies.

Some well-struck touches of Plain Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung on handbells while tea was finishing-some Irish (and English, too!) eat faster than others. This was followed by a short business meeting, during which the Rector welcomed the visitors to Blessington.

The district chairman, Mr. James MacManus, thanked the Rector and ladies for making the ringers so welcome and for use of bells.

The following matters were discussed and decided:- Assistant district secretary: Mrs. Rita Dukes unanimously elected. Mrs. Jean Darmon, Ringing Master, sought the feeling of those present about change ringing practices to be held monthly in Dublin during the winter. It was unanimously decided to hold them once a month on a Wednesday night and also once a month on Saturday afternoon from October.

There were 29 ringers present from Arklow, Blessington, Bray, Drogheda and Dublin (St. John's and St. Patrick's).

The members look forward to a future visit to Blessington, even although the tenor is a problem, but the surroundings tend to offset that. Blessington has a huge artificial lake, constructed a few years back to supply Dublin city with water as well as being used for generating electricity in connection with the national 'grid.' The lake became so populated with perch that an angling association attached tags to one hundred of them, and for every one caught a sum of $£ 10$ will be paid-of course, only for the 'tagged' ones. Very few have so far been caught.

RINGING IN HEREFORDSHIRE

A Year of Advancement

We have received the annual report for 1951 of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, which makes encouraging reading. The report, which was signed by the Master (Mr. Leslie Evans) and the hon. secretary and treasurer (the Rev. F. G. Benson) states:-
During 1951 it would appear that the Guild has at last recovered nost of the ground lost during the war. The number of ringing members (641) is an increase of 59 over the previous year and it has brought us back to the pre-war level.

The number of peals, too (57), is the second largest number ever rung in one year by the Guild and 25 more than last year. The record number for one year remains 67 (rung in 1938), but the standard of methods rung in 1951 shows a distinct advance over that of 1938.

This is all a cause for thankfulness and encouragement, but we can hardly yet be satisfied. There are still some 54 towers in the diocese with rings of five or more bells not in union with the Guild. At some of these towers no doubt there are local bands which ring the bells mostly in call-changes on Sundays, but no district should be satisfied until it has all its towers in the Guild, each with its own band of Sunday service change ringers ringing every Sunday 'with the attractiveness of perfection.'

The 1,500 th peal of the Guild was rung at Goodrich on May 12th, 1951. We congratulate the band and the Guild on this achievement. The official list of Guild peals has recently been carefully checked by the peal recorder, who found that there were five peals duplicated, so that he has had to revise the numbers. The total is now correct.

During 1951, the first peal of London Surprise Minor and the first two peals of Spliced Major were rung for the Guild. They were all three rung by resident members. The first peal by a local band was rung at Weobley and, in all, some 24 members rang their first peal during the year. There were few peals rung without at least one asterisk-noting the progress of one or more members of the band.
On July 28th, 1951, the Lord Bishop of Hereford dedicated the war memorial, erected by the Guild in the ringing chamber of All Saints', Hereford. It consists of an oak tablet fixed below the 1914-18 one, inscribed with the date 1939-1945, and three small bells as the heading, followed by the roll of honour:-

LOSSES BY DEATH
The Guild has lost by death during the year Miss Maud Ball, who had long taken an interest in its activities and, until age prevented her, regularly attended the festivals and meetings in Hereford. She became a life honorary member in 1934.

Mr. Walter S. Evans, a member of the Holmer band, was elected on the committee in 1921 and served on it until the war. He had rung 44 peals for the Guild

Mr. Charles L. Sadler joined the Guild at Leintwardine in 1906 and at once became the leader of a good band, and soon made his mark in the locality. He conducted his first peal of Minor in 1907 and was an elected member of the committee from 1908 until 1920. About 1910 he lived for a time at Newent, but after his return to Hereford he became Roman Catholic. However, he was allowed to retain his life membership of the Guild in recognition of the valuable work he had done for the Guild. He rang in 147 peals for the Guild, some of which he conducted himself.

 to hear that his sister, with whom he lived at Ealing, passed away on Tuesday, August 26th. She had been unwell for some time, but maintained her interest in the Exercise and read 'The Ringing World' until the last.Mr. John Knight has made for the belfry of Haslemere Church a bandbell rack. His workmanship is greatly admired.

It was Mr. George R. Wilkinson who rang the treble to a peal of Doubles at Whitstone, Leics, on July 29th, and not Mr. George H. Wilkins as printed in "The Ringing World.
The East Grinstead and District Guild would be grateful to any reader who could supply details of the late Mr. E. J. Oliver's ringing prior to 1921, when he was a member of the Midland Counties Association.

The Thorley family have rung three quarters and one peal at Thorne. The performance in this week s issue was rung by Charles, James and Ernest Thorley, who are brothers and the three sons of James-J. Martin, David and John.

The appeal for the restoration and rehanging of the bells of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, is meeting with a slow reception. Only $£ 900$ of the $£ 2,500$ required has been received. Donations should be sent to the Vicar, the Rev. G. E. A. Whitworth, Great St. Mary's Church, Cambridge.

The members of the Society of Roving Ringers who rang the peal at Guildford last Saturday as a wedding compliment to Mr. T. Mark White and Miss Audrey Morrison have one regret-that the bridegroom with his critical ear did not hear the peal. The ringing was of a high standard and met with the warm approval of Holy Trinity members who were listening.

GOSSIP

The 70th birthday of Mr. John Thomas was a happy occasion at Hinton-on-the-Green. Mr. Thomas called a peal of Stedman Triples in the Parish Church and there was also a handbell peal.

Kingston Seymour, Somerset, bells will be rededicated by the Bishop of Bath and Wells at harvest thanksgiving on September 7th at 6.30 p.m.

Memories of the late Mr. William Willson, of Leicester. were recalled by the peal at St. John-the-Divine's, Leicester, on August 23rd. It was the 50th anniversary of the first peal on these bells, which was called by the late Mr. Willson.

Another fine performance is announced from Leicester this'week with a peal of Spliced Surprise Maximus in eight methods. The peal was called by Mr. Peter J. Staniforth, and the methods were York, Pudsey, Leicestershire, Buckinghamshire, Buckingham, Wigston, Yorkshire and Belgrave.

Mr. William Barton, of Pudsey, informs us that the claim that the peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major rung at Wetherby, Yorks, on August 14th, 1952, is the first in the method on the bells is incorrect. The first peal of Double Norwich at Wetherby was rung on April 14th, 1920. It was the first peal on the bells and was conducted by Mr. P. J. Johnson.
There was a peal reunion at Saffron Walden on August 21 st. The band, who rang Mr. John A. Acre's first peal on January 2nd, 1939, attended and rang a peal in the same method (Plain Bob Major) on the same bells. During the intervening years the band had not been associated in a peal together. There was a difference of one minute in the time taken, and while Mr. Walter Ayre called the first peal, the conductor on this occasion was Mr. J. A. Acre.

FOUR GUILDS FESTIVAL AT ALDERSHOT

REV. A. S. ROBERTS AND GREATNESS IN THE BELFRY

A
LOVELY summer's day-the sun shining, the countryside looking fresh and green after the recent rains, and from the towers and steeples of many churches in the villages and towns of the south-west corner of Surrey the bells pealing out their message of 'one Church, one faith, one Lord.' This was a festival worthy of the name-a feast of good fellowship, real comradeship and the team spirit essential to the lifeblood of bell ringing associations up and down the country. The Four Guilds Festivalan annual gathering of members of the Ladies' Guild, the Basingstoke District of the Winchester Guild, the Oxford Guild, and the Guildford Diocesan Guild-was held this year in the Farnham District of the Guildford Guild. It brought together upwards of 150 bell ringers from places as far apart as Carbis Bay in Cornwall to Wolverhampton in Staffordshire and Crayford and Wrotham in Kent.

Eleven belfries in the Farnham District, Aldershot. Ash, Farnborough, Seale, Bentley, Frensham, Bagshot, Hawley, Worplesdon, Pirbright and Farnham, were open for ringing, several of the local ringers in each acting as hosts, so that when a small number of visitors arrived, there would be enough for a short 'touch' to be rung. At no period was adverse criticism heard about the bells or the ringing, and as far as possible undue annoyance to the general public was avoided.

At the close of the afternoon's ringing there was a service in St. Michael's Old Parish Church, Aldershot, conducted by the curate, the Rev. E. Phipps-Neep. Chorister-bellringers led the singing and Mr. G. Goodwin was at the organ. The lesson was read by the Rev. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay, Cornwall, who, with his wife and small daughter, are staying at the Vicarage at Hindhead whilst the Rev. W. F. R. Durrant is on holiday. All three are bell ringers. Mr. Roberts also gave the address, and for his text took Genesis 28 ; 16, 17: 'And Jacob said, "Surely the Lord is in this place this is none other than the House of God and this is the Gate of Heaven." It was appropriate that the meeting of the Four Guilds should be held on the eve of the Feast of St. Bartholomew, said the preacher, and he thought it might this year be the Five Guilds Festival, for he and his family represented another association, and they were happy and proud to be invited to join in the meeting. It was seldom that one was privileged to speak to so many ringers representing so many guilds. But they all had a common interest. and rendered a similar service cherishing the same love for their art of church bell ringing.

YESTERDAY AND TO-DAY

Among those present were probably some who could remember the days when there was beer in the belfry, or at least they all had heard stories of such happenings. The ringers of those days did not go inside the church, but most of that was gone now. If it had not all gone it must soon go. The Exercise-like Jacob -had awakened out of that kind of sleep and had said, 'Surely the Lord is in this place.'

paper and the ringer was lost for ever. Many great bands of ringers had risen and fallen in this manner through a mistaken idea of the purpose of their service.

- It is not common, of course, to the belfry. The clergy know only too well of the clubs, the choirs and the many that they prepare for Confirmation that it often is happening. We ringers must endeavour to build up our recruits and give them basic training for a ringing career. It is not the ringer who rings methods and peals that makes for greatness in the belfry, but rather the ringer who gives a lifetime of service up and down the ladder, remembering that "this is none other than the House of God and this is the Gate of Heaven."

HE WAS A GREAT RINGER

In a belfry in Cornwall-a rural belfry-was a tablet to a ringer who had rung in that church for over 50 years, and at the foot of the tablet, it read, ' He was a great ringer.' And yet that old man had probably never heard of a Central Council of Bell Ringers, nor of even the standard methods. He had rung call changes and rounds all his life, on a parochial level, but he was undoubtedly " a great ringer' and gave a lifetime of service. The four Guilds assembled that day were among the most progressive in the Exercise. They rang the bells regularly and well-the bells put in the churches by the parishioners of the towns and villages for the calling together of God's faithful people. There was still plenty of patient pioneering to do, and God called them all to service, and where they served let them always remember that it was 'none other than the House of God' and they would then strengthen one another in service to Him.

Following the service tea was served in the Parish Hall by members of the Ladies' Guild, under the direction of the secretary. Miss W. Oliver. It was an excellent meal and the ladies were applauded and thanked for their hard work. Thanks were also extended to all others who were responsible for the arrangements. A welcome to the other associations was given by Mr. C. W. Denyer on behalf of the Guildford Guild, and a special welcome to the Rev. and Mrs. Roberts. Mr. Denyer also stated that the address Mr. Roberts had given

There was a danger, however, that they learned too hurriedly. Many youngsters learned method ringing before they had complete management of the bellrope. They climbed too quickly to the top of the ladder of method ringing and were never willing to descend again. The angels of God in Jacob's dream were ascending and descending, and what they did ringers must learn to do. The older stalwarts of the local band of ringers often saw their young recruits climb fast and were overjoyed at the progress made. Then the first peal was rung, another and yet another. Many more followed in different methods-Surprise and Spliced Sur-prise-all the more complicated, and week after week those names appeared in 'The Ringing World.' And then suddenly the potential giant faded away, the name disappeared from the that afternoon was one of the finest he had heard at any ringers' services.-The company present concurred.

A suggestion by one of the members that a collection be made for the Lynmouth Relief Fund was agreed to, and the amount collected was $£ 7$. Later the ringers dispersed and continued their tour of the district, and the bells were rung in most of the towers until 9 p.m.

KENT RINGERS' TOUR IN WEST YORKSHIRE

A SPLENDID WEEK AMONGST GOOD BELLS AND MAGNIFICENT SCENERY

FOR the third year in succession. ten ringers from Kent, with eleven friends from other counties, decided to visit Yorkshire for their annual tour. Headquarters were fixed at the Marlborough House Hydro, Ilkley, and after spending a very comfortable week, we should like to recommend this hotel. under the proprietorship of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wood, as offering ideal accommodation for future ringing tours.

This year all ringing arrangements were planned by Mr. Ronald H. Dove, of Leeds, ably assisted by Miss M. Rhodes, and we can say, quite seriously, that his excellent organisation produced a most enjoyable, successful and happy week.

The Kent contingent left Paddock Wood at 8 a.m. on Saturday. August 9 th, in the usual 31seater coach provided by proprietor Ernest Lush, picking up the writer and two others at the Marble Arch, London, at $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. We followed the Great North Road to Stamford for lunch, and our first tower for ringing was Grantham (ten, 32 cwt .). Messrs. F. W. Pinchbeck and F. J. Parsons were waiting to greet us, and we soon had this fine peal going to Grandsire ing by lowering all ten in peal. Continuing northwards through Doncaster and Leeds, we reached Ilkley at 9 p.m. The rest of our party were waiting for us, and it was not long before several different handbell parties were getting some practice in Grandsire and Plain Bob.

On Sunday morning the two brothers Crawshaw were waiting to welcome us to Ilkley (eight, $18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and we admired the memorial window to Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, whose famous books have helped many hundreds to understand the intricacies of change ringing. Everyone attended service, and after lunch we went over to Haworth (six, 12 cwt.). Mr. A. Bairstow was expecting us to attempt a peal, but enabling all our party to have a ring would have allowed barely enough time before service. So we contented ourselves with touches, including Oswald Delight, and some of us inspected the old Vicarage, the home of the famous Bronte sisters.

After tea at the Bronte Cafe (most places are Bronté 'something' in Haworth). we continued our way to Bradford Cathedral (ten, 26 cwt .). This magnificent ring was enioyed to Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Ten and Superlative, and we would thank once again Messrs. E. H. Simpson and other local ringers for kindly giving up the bells to our use. The beauty of Bradfard bells is helped very much by the use of sound controlling louvres, and a specially constructed lantern allows the sound to pass upwards and outwards.

THREE PEALS ON THE MONDAY
We commenced peal ringing at Guiseley (8, $16 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt.) with a good peal of Double Norwich, and Colin Champion rang very well to score his first peal in the method. Mr. A. C. Walsh welcomed us and congratulated us afterwards. The belis are a good ring recast by Gillett and Johnston from a lighter ring with tenor $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. Here again a sound relaying lantern has been built with beneficial results. There are many towers all over the country where the sound in the ringing chamber would be much improved if these lanterns were added. Another band were ringing Yorkshire at Otley (eight, $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) on another good Gillett and Johnston ring. While these peals were in progress the remainder of our party, with Miss M. Rhodes (who joined us for most of the week). rang at Calverley (eight, 11 cwt .) and Idle (eight, 15 cwt .).
After lunch we indulged in a spot of tower After lunch we indulged in a spot of tower hunting, commencing at Bingley (eight, 16 cwt .)
and Keighley (eight, 17 cwt .), where a course of London was rung. Seven of our party went back to Ilkley and met Mr. Gordon Benfield, of Pudscy, and rang a well-struck peal of Plain Bob. The rest of us continued to Silsden (six, 12 cwt .) where the Vicar was delighted to hear the bells rung again, and then on to Addingham (six, 10 cwt .), where the church takes a little finding as it in the middle of a field.

At all three peal towers we had the experience of ringing with the Yorkshire 'sally' tail-end, and at Otley there are small balls between the tail-end and the sally. Opinions were divided as to the advantage of these tail-ends. For the light bells they are certainly comfortable, but for the back bells, especially the tenor, where there is considerable difference in the swing of the bell going up and down, they are not so nice, as one often finds oneself with one's hands above the tail-end when coming from behind to the front. However, they are something of a tradition in West Yorkshire, and visitors have to accept them.

A VISIT TO LANCASHIRE

The weather on Tuesday, which had been bad on Monday, brightened up a little and we journeyed for a peal at Kildwick (eight, 15 cwt.). A start was made for Kent Treble Bob, but unfortunately the tenor clapper broke after an hour. Our other peal attempt at Skipton (eight. 22 cwt .) was successful, and rung on a solendid ring, too. Those not peal ringing visited Gisburn (six, 9 cwt.) and Gargrave (eight, 16 cwt .).
After eating a packed lunch. and being joined by Roland Dove. we had the pleasure of a trip through the Ribble Valley and ringing in six Lancashire towers. The first was clitheroe (eight, 18 cwt.), then on to Whalley (eight. 22 cwt.), a similar ring to Skipton. Then came the industrial town of Burnley, and we visited Holy Trinity (eight, 12 cwt .) and St. Peter's (eight, 18 cwt .), an ideal octave for a long length, as the sound in the ringing chamber is just right. After a cup of tea, we rang at Nelson (eight. 14 cwt .), where the 7th stay was missing and the clappers had to be untied first, and lastly at Colne (eight, 16 cwt .). where the local band, who were just starting their practice, gave us a warm welcome.

RIPON CATHEDRAL

We much appreciated the opportunity of attempting a peal at Ripon Cathedral, and were looking forward with pleasure to the opportunity. Another band were going for a peal at Birstwith (eight, 11 cwt .), and our route to this church lay through some really lovely moorland scenery. Birstworth bells are a merry little ring, and a peal of Treble Bob (Yorkshire Glory) was soon knocked off on these handy bells. Afterwards this party rang at Patchley Bridge (six, 12 cwt.), very much in the wilds.
Meanwhile another band had gone to Ripon. and after admiring the ancient cathedral, and its connections with the early Kings of Mercia, ascended to the ringing chamber and rang a well-struck peal of Bob Royal, the first in the method on the bells. These bells are a fine ring and there is a very comfortable ringing chamber. Those not peal ringing at Sharow (eight, 12 cwt .) and Wath (six, 8 cwt .) returned to join the peal ringers for a press photograph outside the cathedral.
The afternoon programme was a visit to five interesting towers north of Ripon. The first was West Tanfield (six. 10 cwt .), where the Vicar came into the belfry to welcome us, and the next was Masham (eight, 14 cwt .). Two interesting peal boards in the octagonal tower with spire recorded that in 1827 and 1853 the local company rang peals of Minor in seven methods in which each 720 was conducted by each of the band. After a cup of tea we visited the best ring of six during the week, the lovely bells of Kirkby Malzeard (tenor 7 cwt .), and cast by Gillett and Johnston in 1909. Then on to Borough Bridge (six, 14 cwt .) and Aldborough (six, 11 cwt .), where the treble would not set at backstroke, and the local band of ringers included two young ladies from Africa.

YORK MINSTER

A glorious ride on Thursday brought us to Collingham (eight, $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and its ring of 'handbells,' on which a good peal of Superlative was rung. Another party went to Wetherby (eight, 12 cwt .) home of the Venerable $\mathbf{C}$. $\mathbf{O}$. Ellison, president of the Yorkshire Association. Mr. G. Smith met us, and our 'Spliced Maximus ' member was given his first peal of Double Norwich. Maybe we were ringing too fast, but the two back bells certainly required ringing for the last hour. Non-peal-ringers visited Bramham (six, 12 cwt .) and Thorner (six, 10 cwt .).

After lunch we rang at Kirk Deighton (six, 10 cwt .), with an invitation to ring the first peal on the good bells any time we liked. Then came one of the 'tit-bits' of the week, a visit to York Minster (twelve, 60 cwt .). Punctually at $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Mr. Harold Walker was waiting to welcome us, and after raising the light eight in peal, and the heavy ones singly, we rang Grandsire Cinques and Caters and half a course of Cambridge Royal. The bells 'go, extraordinarily well. but require firm handling owing to the long draught.

The fine eight at Tadcaster (tenor 21 cwt .) were much enjoyed, and several of the local company met us. Our last visit was to Leeds Parish Church (twelve, 42 cwt .) to join the local company in their practice, and we rang Grandsire and Stedman Cinques. Treble Twelve, Cambridge Royal and finished with Superlative on the back eight. Best thanks to the local company for allowing us the use of the bells.

THE DALES OF NORTH YORKSHIRE
We hoped for a really fine day on Friday and our wishes were granted, because our route lay through some of the most beautiful scenery in England. Our venue was Aysgarth (six, 12 cwt.). and we travelled past Bolton Abbey through Burnsall, stopping at Kilsa Crag, an overhanging cliff by the roadside and on through Kettlewell. climbing to over 1.500 ft , until we came to Aysgarth. Two local lady ringers were waiting for us and we enjoyed the tuneful six, with the longest and softest sallies we had ever seen! Past Bolton Castle, a real 'picture book' one, through Wensley to East Wotton (six, 7 cwt .), where Ronald Dove was awaiting us, and the Vicar insisted on the writer visiting several of the houses in this pretty village to meet local worthies, and then to Middleham (eight, 18 $\mathrm{cwt}$. .). These bells are a fine ring, and a very creditable three leads of Bristol was rung, nonconducted, though a full course defeated the same band on two other ocasions.
Getting near Richmond and Cattesick, the writer was reminded of his Army days in 1940, especially when, we passed the well-known Sandes Soldiers' Home in Catterick Camp! Miss D. M. Kittingley was waiting for us at Richmond (eight. 12 cwt .) and ioined us for Plain Bob. Then on to Catterick (eight, 10 cwt.), with pictures of ringing sergeant-majors in the ringing room! And lastly an enjoyable two hours spent at Bedale (eight, 21 cwt .). where we encountered a most severe downpour of rain, and the only member of our party with an umbrella was popular with the ladies. The bells, which include a pre-Reformation tenor, are a pleasant 'old style' ring, and a change to the continuous repetition of "moderns.

HALIFAX-A FINE TWELVE
Our last touring day arrived all too quickly and we had to record the only two failures of the week (apart from the broken clapper). A band started for Double Norwich at Oxenhope (eight, 12 cwt .), and another band tried Cambridge at Heptonstall (eight. 18 cwt.) famous for record peals. Both companies failed for different reasons, but the common one to both was tiredness at the end of a strenuous week. Other ringing took place at Denholme (eight, 15 cwt .), where the Vicar gave the ringers a hearty welcome, and after a really good Yorkshire dinner at Heptonstall, those who were fortunate enough to enjoy this felt quite fit again and ready tor Halifax. We stopped at Mytholmroyd (eight, 14 cwt .) and then continued to Halifax for the main 'tit-bit' of the week.

The Vicar of Halifax (Archdeacon E. Treacy) came into the ringing room to wish everyone a very hearty welcome, and with three Yorkshire ringers and ninc of our party, we started off at a good pace for Treble Twelve and were successful in 3 hours and 37 minutes in ringing the first twelve-bell peal on the new ring recently recast and rehung by Gillett and Johnston. Incidentally, this was the first 12 -bell peal in the tower for 20 years. Those not ringing enjoyed a visit to Northowram (eight, 16 cwt .), Queensbury (eight, 15 cwt .) and Haley Hill, Halifax (eight. 25 cwt .), where the local ringers were waiting to welcome them.
After the peal and a refreshing drink, we made tracks for Guiseley and 'Harry Ramsden's' famous fish and chip restaurant, and then home for a final settling up of accounts, etc.
On Sunday we departed early for home, and called in at Doncaster (eight, 30 cwt .) to join the local company for morning service ringing. We disgraced ourselves with Yorkshire, but made up for it with Stedman and Double Norwich. So ended a grand week, during which we rang in 56 towers and travelled over 1,200 miles. In addition to those who rang peals, we were very pleased to have with us the Rev. D. P. Roberts, who had to leave us on Friday morning for another engagement.
We should like to thank all incumbents who kindly gave permision for peals and touches, the local ringers who met us at each tower and gave us a genuine Yorkshire welcome, and lastly we thank, once more, Mr. Ronald Dove and Miss Rhodes for their splendid arrangements and organisation to ensure a really memorable week.
A. P.C.

LETTERS

THE WRITTEN WORD

Dear Sir,-The remark of a churchwarden quoted in a recent editorial, ' . . . one has in these days to be very careful; people are so easily offended,' goes to the very root of many of our troubles.
We are all so easily offended-and that must be one of the things that makes the running of a journal an everlasting source of worry to a conscientious editor. Because writing is a tricky business. Almost as bad as ringing. Make one little trip and you have everyone on top of you at once. And not only will you get the immediate critics, some shouting advice, some grunting abuse and some - almost the hardest to bear with, perhaps-grinning at each other in covert amusement at your errors, but you will get the more pertinacious ones who will not let your mistakes be buried in decency, but who will insist on holding an irate and prolonged inquest.
I do not suppose there has ever been anyone who has written anything, letter, article or book, who has not found after it is too late that something could have been put just that little bit differently. I remember an article by the Editor once in which he spoke of a particular class of the community as 'lesser brethren.' It was a good phrase, it had just that ring of the Church about it to suit its subject matter and, undoubtedly, was used not because the writer really thought of the set of people as inferior in any way, but because it was just good writing. At once readers jumped, held up horrified hands, let loose bitter tongues, wielded vituperative pens. And all because a writer used two particular words!

Another instance is a tour report published recently. Quite obviously the writer intended no offence or disrespect to a native ringer, but I have heard the phrasing condemned by several, some remarks satiric, some merely angry, all bearing evidence that we are a rather touchy community. A report of a Bank Holiday meeting pleased some, but irked others who considered they were something better than either of the types mentioned. I remember reading an obituary which roused a good deal of bitterness by the awkwardness of its faint praise.' I don't suppose the departed ringer worried much by that time, but his angry friends found it hard to realise that the paragraph was written by someone who could ring better than he could write.

Small wonder that not many ringers are willing to contribute to 'The Ringing World ' when the risk of giving offence is so great!

The remedy for all this is not apparent, but I heard it remarked once that 'antipathy is better than apathy, and perhaps that is true of 'The Ringing World.' All the time there is someone to take offence you may be quite certain that the journal's life blood is still circulating. Once the critic is dead so is the journal. But let us not be too venomous when we take offence. Let us fight openly and honestly and happily-and then forget it!

NONA.'

LET'S HAVE GOOD STRIKING

Dear Sir,-Your grand article last week, 'To the Glory of God,' brings to my mind a story told me by one of the old Redenhall band. Before starting for a peal on one occasion, the band included a certain reverend gentleman who, before starting, offered a prayer and the usual ringers' service, when one of the band, anxious for a start, concluded. 'Amen and let's have good striking.'-Yours faithfully, GEORGE W. HOWLETT.
Wortwell. Harlaston. Norfolk.

THE EDITOR

HUGHENDEN, BUCKS, INSTALLATION
Dear Sir,-The inscription on the new tenor bell at Hughenden is 'I was cast in the 1st year of the reign of Elizabeth II. My fellows were recast at the same time. The cost was borne by the generosity and labours of many.'
Messrs. John Taylor and Co. will start installing the new frame and the bells on Sept. 8th. Will those who have promised a donation to the bell fund, and have so far not sent it, please let me have it as soon as possible?
We have had to replace two wormeaten floors, and the cost of this (about $£ 50$ ) is not included in the $£ 2,000$.

> Bell-Haven, Hughenden, Bucks.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

Dear Sir,-I am afraid Mr. R. Beale did not read my letter on the above subject very carefully, as his reply is quite irrelevant. I did not criticise the members of the Oxford Guild, but just made a statement of fact, i.e., that such Guild had rejected a proposal to increase the amount of the annual subscription.
Secondly, I did not associate ringing guilds with sporting organisations. I merely pointed out that if you belong to, say, a literary society or a tennis club, then you have to be prepared to pay towards the welfare (not cash dividends) of suç organisations.

Thirdly, I never suggested that donations towards bell restoration funds gave ringing guilds any rights over the bells in the various parishes which they have assisted.

I would refer Mr. Beale to your excellent leading article in last week's issue. Anything which is done for the glory of God demands not only time and talent, but on occasions financial support as well.-Yours very truly,
F. C. A. BENNETT.

Wombourn, near Wolverhampton.

ONE HAND CLOCKS

Dear Sir,-The Rev. A. J. Nixseaman will find a splendid example near his old Norfolk parish at Saxlingham Nethergate. The dial has been carefully restored of recent years, but visitors are unable to calculate the actual time until, of course, they realise that the villagers prefer their timepiece to be $41 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes fast!Yours, etc.

48-MINUTE CLOCK

Dear Sir, - Apropos recent letters in 'The Ringing World,' I wonder if any reader knows of another clock like the one at the Parish Church, Whilton, Northants. This registers but 48 minutes to the hour-four minutes in the place of every five on normal clocks.-Yours truly,

2. - THE MEN OF 1820

$\mathbf{I}^{T}$T is rare for the constitution of a ringing band to change very suddenly. The slow and subtle process by which a fresh band comes into being resembles that of the evergreen tree, where the old leaves and the new live together, the old falling almost unnoticed and the new increasing in strength and vigour, while all the time the tree presents to the gaze an apparently unaltered appearance. In the Society of St. Martin's Youths changes such as this were taking place throughout the closing years of the 18 th. century. The new leaves were as yet hardly distinguishable among the old, and the old leaves were sufficiently flourishing still to adorn the tree in no unworthy manner; but forces were at work building up slowly and surely the band of 1820 , a company spoken of by John Day with great respect and admiration.

The period following the visit of the College Youths was one of considerable activity in Birmingham and the district round. The younger men were coming to the fore and among them was Charles Shuter, who, in the year 1789, called Oxford Treble Bob Major at St. Philip's, called Oxford Treble Bob Major at St. Philip's, 14,224 Bob Major at Aston, and 8,027 Grandsire Caters at the Bull Ring. The Bob Major was superseded four years later when the Aston men, under Joshua Short, rang 15,360 in the method, a splendid performance and one that remained the longest length in any method until 1868.

- Samuel Lawrence was absent from the Midlands for about three years, and on his return he took part with Shuter in the first peal of Stedman Caters to be rung outside London. Trollope states that Lawrence introduced the method to the Birmingham people on his return from London, but there is little reason to suppose that The St. Martin's Youths were entirely ignorant of Stedman before this time. The College Youths had been to visit them, and a number of Birmingham and district ringers had subscribed to 'The Clavis,' in which book Stedman Caters received some attention. The method was not difficult to assimilate, and it is probable that the Birmingham men were experimenting with it before Lawrence returned from the South. The peal of Stedman Caters was rung at St. Philip's on October 25th, 1790 , Shuter conducting, and the band included Phineas Smith and Daniel Veisey of the older men, and William Bennett and Alexander Saunders, who were, later on, in the 1820 peals. This peal of 1790 is interesting as marking the beginning of Birmingham's long and distinguished association with the Stedman method: for since this date the town has held a leading position, both practically and theoretically, in Stedman on all numbers.

REFRESHMENT AND LONG PEALS

In 1793, the year of the record Aston peal, The St. Martin's Youths rang their first peal of Treble Twelve, Oxford Treble Bob, at St. Martin's. It was 6,000 changes, conducted by Shuter from the tenor, and it was his last peal. Little seems to be known of this very able man. Day says that he never remembers anyone talking about Charles Shuter, with the exception of Thomas Day, who used to remark that when the 14,224 Bob Major was rung at Aston Shuter refused refreshment of any kind. This chance remark would seem to suggest that during long peals it was the custom for someone from outside to administer nourishment to the ringers at fixed intervals.

With the opening of the 19 th . century two new and important figures were appearing. One was Joseph Riley and the other Henry Cooper, both excellent ringers, composers of merit and able conductors, yet very different in character and education. Riley was a native of Cheltenham and a lawyer by profession, and for some years he was the leading spirit of St. Martin's Youths. He called Holt's Original at least three times, once from the 4th and twice from the treble, and he rang, of course, in the peals of 1820. Day tells how the first attempt for the Stedman Cinques failed, and how Riley promised a bowl of punch per man when the peal was rung. Success came at the second attempt, and the punch was attended to by the ringers and their friends without much trouble. Riley's wellknown 5.000 of Treble Ten, first rung at Wrexham in 1818 and conducted by the composer, will be found in Snowdon's 'Treble Bob.'

Henry Cooper was silver-plater, publican, railway guard, and stationmaster, and he was the first Birmingham composer to leave compositions behind him. Among them is an interesting 5,003 Grandsire Caters, which appears to be the first ever published with a block of courses in the Handstroke Home position. At Shifnal on June 5th.; 1819, he called the second peal of Stedman Triples to be rung. It was his own composition, and he sat in the tower and called it from manuscript.

STORY OF A SILVER CUP

Cooper,' says John Day, 'bore a middling name among the old ringers, and chiefly for two reasons-firstly, his plagiarism of T. Day's peal of Stedman Triples and, secondly, his dishonourable conduct in regard to the silver cup.' Round about the year 1828 Thomas Day produced his peal of Stedman Triples, a 5,040 that has always been regarded as a fine achievement and the best peal composed up to that time. Through John Hopkins, Cooper secured a copy of the figures of this peal, and when, in 1830, Joseph Powell conducted 5,040 Stedman Triples on the front eight at the Bull Ring, the composition was produced as the work of Heary Cooper. Examination showed, however, that it was Day's peal transposed. Thomas Day was so annoyed that he did not enter the belfry again for more than twenty years.

The affair of the cup was interesting and mysterious, and in the reading of it the student should bear in mind that the suspicions entertained of Cooper's conduct must, necessarily, have been influenced considerably by the incident of the peal of Stedman Tríples, and that John Day's unswerving loyalty to his uncle would naturally colour any account that appeared in the memoirs.
When the bells of St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, were opened in 1814 the authorities, in order to secure the best possible ringing, offered two prizes for the best performances by the twelve-bell ringers present. On the second day a band made up of Sheffield and Birmingham ringers rang 5,016 Grandsire Cinques, composed and conducted by Henry Cooper. After the peal both prizes, a silver cup and twenty guineas in money, were handed to the company. By the toss of a coin the Birmingham ringers had the choice of prize, and they chose the silver cup. Cooper took charge of the cup, and for some years it was in his possession. About 1830 he opened a beer shop, "The Bell,' in Ravenhurst Street, and shortly afterwards the cup vanished. A great deal of time and much money were spent in trying to trace it. Cooper was evasive and non-committal, and the Society, having in mind that Cooper was a silver-plater, had its own views on the fate of the trophy. Whatever the justice of their suspicions, however, the cup was never found.
Cooper was not a success as a publican, and when the Midland Railway was opened he obtained a position as guard in that company's service; and when he was considered too old for that work he became stationmaster at Saltey, and held the post until his death at the age of about seventy-two.

MARRIAGE

MR. T. MARK WHITE & MISS AUDREY MORRISON

Mr. T. Mark White, elder son of the Editor of 'The Ringing World ' and Mrs. T. W. White, of Guildford, and Miss Audrey Morrison, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison, of 18, Molyneux Road, Weybridge, were married at Holy Trinity Cathedral Church, Guildford, on Saturday. The bride and bridegroom are both members of the Guildford Cathedral band. Mr. Mark White was a founder secretary of the Society of Roving Ringers, retiring from that office this year. Many members of the Society attended the ceremony, and in the evening rang a peal of Stedman Triples in honour of the happy occasion. Ringing before and after the service was by members of the Holy Trinity Society and friends.

The ceremony was performed by the Provost of Guildford (the Very Rev. Walter Boulton) and was choral, with Mr. R. Dussek as organist. 'Lead us, Heavenly Father, was sung as a processional hymn as the bride entered the church escorted by her father, who gave her away. She was attended by three bridesmaidsher sister, Miss Jacqueline Morrison, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Alison K. White, and the bride's cousin, little Miss Penelope Jane Whittaker. Mr. K. G. White, Royal Signals, was best man to his brother, and the groomsmen were Messrs. W. H. Kingcott (Wrington), G. M. Nichols and G. M. C. Bowmer.

The bride wore a dress of French brocade satin and 18 th century French lace veil, lent by the bridegroom's mother, and carried red roses. The bridesmaids wore dresses of turquoise net over taffeta and circlets of gold leaves on their heads and gold sandals. Their flowers were tea roses.

A reception was held in Holy Trinity Hall attended by 70 guests, and as the newly-married couple left for their honeymoon in Devonshire a touch of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells, conducted by Mr. A. H. Pulling. The wedding presents included gifts from the Society of Roving Ringers, the Holy Trinity Society, Guildford, and many ringing friends. Telegrams of good wishes were numerous and included messages from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Poole, Jill and Peter and Mr. Peter Bond.

MR. JOHN HILL'S 100 PEALS

We append the first 100 peals rung by Mr. John Hill, of Ewell. They have been rung in 47 towers for 12 Associations, Guilds and Societies.

POINTS OF INTEREST ON OUTINGS

REDRUTH

The Redruth ringers held their annual outing on August 23rd. the first tower visited being Alternun, the Cathedral Church of the Moors, where the band were welcomed by the Vicar, who offered prayers, and the bells were soon set going to Grandsire and Stedman. The next stop was St. Stephen's by Launceston, where a welcome was extended by the Vicar and local captain, and on this fine eight Plain Bob was added to the repertoire.

Then on to Bude, where lunch was partaken, Stratton tower being visited immediately afterwards, where the Vicar and local captain greeted the band. The next stop was Holsworthy (of carillon fame), where the excellent going eight were soon raised. After a splendid tea at the Corner Cafe, a move was made to St. Mary's, Launceston, where ringing included Kent Treble Bob Major.

The final tower of the day was St. Columb Major, where the ancient stalwart of the county, Mr. Sam Quintrell, aged 97, stayed out of his bed to greet the band in the churchyard and to listen to his beloved bells, rung to Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Minor. After a short break in the Ring o' Bells, a move was made for home.
[On the following morning the captain was delighted to find that 16 ringers were present for service ringing, when full justice was done to Stedman on the bells in the ancient tower of the Parish Church of St. Euny, Redruth. The captain would like to express his appreciation of the loyal support of the ringers in their regularity for service and at practices on every Wednesday evening throughout the year, when all ringers are welcome.]

LYME REGIS

It was at 7.30 on a fine summer morning that members of the Lyme Regis company with their families and friends assembled on July 26 th for their annual outing, the objective being the fine country of South Devon. The full quota of 29 was reached after picking up more enthusiasts from Whitchurch, Beaminster and other villages and also from Ottery St. Mary and Exeter.
The 14th century red and grey tower at Chudleigh, with its good light ring of eight, provided the first ringing, which lasted an hour. Then came Ashburton with its 15th century 90ft. tower, from which, the story goes, a boy once fell, got up and walked to school unhurt. Here another hour's ringing was enjoyed.
A three-mile route through lovely Devon anes led to Buckland-in-the-Moor with its isth lanes led to Buckland-in-the-Moor, with its 15th century church set on a hill. Many touches were rung on this light eight with a 7 cwt . tenor A short drive brought the party to Buckfast Abbey, not to ring, but to have a picnic lunch and pleasant siesta in the Abbey grounds to fortify everyone for the next effort at Totnes. This 500 -year-old church has a 120 ft . pinnacled tower containing a fine eight with a tenor of 28 cwt . and provided good ringing.
Fine views of Torbay were provided by the journey to Paignton. Ringing here, however, was somewhat trying owing to the excessive heat in the belfry, and in these circumstances the excellent tea in a nearby cafe was very welcome. After tea an hour was spent on the lightish ring of eight at Kingsteignton. A lovely half-hour's drive along the coast road to Dawlish with its fine seascape gave great pleasure. In the town dancing was in full swing and this claimed some of the younger folk, while others spent an hour ringing on the light eight in the little church among the trees. It was now past 9 o'clock, and we made tracks for home, arriving at Lyme at 11 p.m. tired but undaunted, everyone agreeing that it had been another grand outing. The thanks of the company are due to the clergy and local ringers at the places we visited for making us welcome and giving us such a happy day.

A VISIT TO MID-CORNWALL

One Saturday recently an outing, arranged by Mr. P. Williams (Redruth), was much enjoyed by ringers from Redruth and Camborne (Cornwall) and Piddlehinton (Dorset). The opening touch on the fine eight (tenor $14 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.) at Cardynham coincided with the time of the opening ceremonies of a nearby fete and brought an urgent request for a temporary suspension of activities to allow the speeches to be heard.
Lanhydrock (8, $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) was next visited; here the setting of the church in Viscount Clifden's estate is infinitely superior to the 'go' or tone of the bells. After tea at a cafe in Lostwithiel (no names no pack drill), a sudden inspiration sent the band in search of the Vicar. Permission was readily given to use this handy six (tenor $9 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), and ringing included a 'Short Peal of Changes' under the guidance of Mr. Stevens, the captain.
After an indecisive argument on the comparative virtues of scientific and round ringing, a move was made to Lanlivery. Here there is a fine toned ring of eight (tenor $16 t^{\text {cwt.), but }}$ any mechanically minded person with a set of tools could find an opportunity for useful employment, especially on the headstock of the seventh.
Arriving late at the last tower, St. Austell, two local ringers were found patiently waiting to welcome the trippers, and half an hour's ringing on this lovely eight (tenor $18 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) brought to a close a happy afternoon and evening. Thanks are due to Mr. Williams for the organisation and to all incumbents and locals for their contributions to an enjoyable outing.

A DAY IN OXFORDSHIRE

August 23rd was the occasion of a visit to Oxfordshire by a party of ringers from Rothwell, Burton Latimer, Wellingborough, Raunds, Kettering, Northampton, Yardley Hastings and Southam (Warwicks.). The first tower was Croughton (just in Northants), with a very good ring of five. Deddington ( 8 bells) gave us much pleasure and a very good course of Cambridge was rung; in fact, there was some dispute as to whether it was better than the Superlative rung at Hook Norton, on the grand Taylor eight installed in 1949. Stedman was also rung in fine style on these bells, and we accepted the Vicar's invitation to visit them again.
Perhaps the most mirthful hour was that spent at the next tower(?)-the campanile at Home Farm, Balscote, the home of Mr. C. Jarvis, who built the frame, tower and fittings himself, and can, incidentally, ring two of the tiny bells at once. After many rounds' for the 'learners,' we managed to ring Plain Bob Minor, Cambridge and Kent Treble Bob. We look forward to seeing the photographs of several experienced ringers looking as if they had never pulled a bellrope before! Our last tower was Banbury, which must be one of the finest ten anywhere at 17 cwt . In spite of the early departure of two of our number, Treble Ten, Little Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Major were rung before the ten were lowered in peal and we adjourned to the nearest hostelry.

A Two Hours' Practice at Bolton

On August 25 th, four members of Bolton Branch and four members of Manchester Branch met at Holy Trinity Church, Bolton, to attempt a peal of Stedman Triples.
Unfortunately. after 35 minutes' ringing the attempt came to grief and it was too late to recommence.
The ringers present decided to take the opportunity of practice; two hours' ringing was enjoyed and touches in the following methods were successfully brought round: Stedman Triples, Erin Triples, Little Grandsire Triples, Double Court Triples, Oxford Bob Triples; Little Bob Major, Spliced Plain and Little Bob Major, Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, St. Clement's Major.

Hertford County Association

Ten towers were represented at the meeting of the Northern District at Barley on August 23 rd . Although it was a glorious day, the attendance was below average, mostly due to holidays and the harvest. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., followed by tea at the Waggon and Horses.
Mr. T. J. Southam was elected to the chair for the business meeting. A letter from the president, Mr. A. E. Symonds, was read, in which he assured the meeting that he still followed the activities of the district although unable to take an active part at the moment. Six new members were elected, viz., Canon L. P. Smith, Rector of Baldock, honorary member: R. Howard and W. Sermons (Barley), A. Holehouse, C. Harwood and Miss P. Hutton (Baldock). The next meeting will be at Hinxworth on October 4th.

Ringing was curtailed during the evening because of a broken rope. Methods ranged from rounds to Wells and London Surprise, also Single Court and Oswald Delight. Ten towers were represented.

St. Margaret's, Leiston

Many will be pleased to know that the bells of St . Margaret's, Leiston, are about to be rehung. These bells, with a tenor $20 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in E, were made into a ring of eight in 1884 and since then a large number of peals has been rung.
Many will have had several hours of enjoyment ringing on these fine bells, and it is to them that we earnestly appeal to support our efforts to raise approximately $£ 400$. If you have never had the fortune of ringing on the bells, we hope that you will also send us a contribution so that you may enjoy ringing with us after the work is completed.
Donations may be sent to Mr. C. K. Wilson, Bank House, Leiston.

OBITUARY

MR. E. J. OLIVER
With the death of Mr. E. J. Oliver, the East Grinstead and District Guild has lost an old and valued friend. Mr. Oliver, or ' $\mathrm{E}_{\text {. }} \mathrm{J}$. ,' as he was usually referred to, came into the area in 1921, when he became the sub-postmaster at Upper Hartfield. To this he added a general store and later he also carried on his trade as an upholsterer and furnisher.

It was a bitter blow to him when in 1950 the whole of his business premises was destroyed by fire. It is very regrettable that his peal book and all details of his association with the Midland Counties Association were lost in this fire, and all that is known of his early ringing is that he had rung peals of Royal, Cinques and Maximus and was for some time associated with St. Peter's, Nottingham.

In his early years in Upper Hartficld, E. J. tried unsuccessfully to form a band at Coleman's Hatch and did a lot of ringing at East Grinstead. He was a founder member of the East Grinstead Guild, becoming its first chairman in 1929, an office he held until 1936. In 1942 he was made treasurer and held this office with conspicuous success until he was forced to retire owing to ill-health at this year's annual meeting.
E. J. rang twelve peals in the East Grinstead area and was very pleased with himself when he called his first peal of Stedman at Withyham in 1932. His last peal was on February 3rd, 1951, when he rang the treble at Edenbridge to Yorkshire Major. The Guild's fine peal book was obtained through his initiative, as were the rope guides provided in Withyham and Hartfield towers while he was chairman of the Guild.

His blunt, outspoken comments will be greatly missed at future meetings and we all feel that we have lost a very good friend.

He was laid to rest in Yardley Cemetery, Birmingham, on August 16 th. and among the floral tributes was one from the East Grinstead Guild. A memorial peal was rung at Hartfield on August 23rd.
E. J. L. and C. A. B. Ashby for 75 years. attendance. A. Shaw 8 on August 24th.

MR. JOHN DUNMORE

The death occurred at his home on August 9th of Mr. John Dunmore at the age of 88 years. He had been a member of the Ashby Parish Church band of ringers for 60 years, joining the Midland Counties Association in 1887, and his first peal as conductor was Grandsire Triples at Ashby on May 9th, 1889. He was one of Ashby's most respected members; he lived the whole of his life in the town and was attached to the same solicitor's office in

Mr . Dunmore was a staunch member of the Parish Church-apart from ringing-being a chorister for 80 years, secretary to the Parochial Church Council and rendered assistance in the Sunday School on many occasions; in fact, he was always anxious to help his church in its various activities at all times.

The funeral service took place at the Parish Church and was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Canon H. D. Hanford, with the full choir in The same evening.a half-muffled quarter peal of Minor with 6 and 8 covering was rung at St. Helen's by A. Smalley 1, G. Hatton 2, P. Marriott 3, A. Beadsmoore 4, H. Beadsmoore 5, J. Bradford 6, E. W. Beadsmoore (cond.) 7.

MR. A. E. SYMONDS

It is with deep regret that we announce the death of $\mathrm{Mr}_{\mathrm{r}}$ A. E. Symonds, the beloved president of the Hertford County Association,

The funeral service was at St. Mary's Church. Hitchin, on August 27th, and was conducted by Canon J. H. Bailey, late Vicar of Norton, who spoke appreciatively of the work of ringers and of Mr. Symonds in particular.

The bells of St. Mary's were rung fully muffled (with the tenor open at backstroke) by local ringers before the service, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by a band representing the Hitchin band and the Association.
An appreciation of Mr. Symonds' life will appear in a later issue.

KENT AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB

 By MAURICE HODGSONNEITHER of the replies to Mr. Worrall's query so far published gives a clear and accurate explanation of the variations of combined Treble Bob Major.
The three chief variations are alike in that the method is changed to prevent the tenor from going into the slow, and is changed again the next lead to prevent the seventh from going into the slow; the changes of method also introduce a 56342 shunt into the course and reduce the length of the course by two leads. Generally, Kent is chosen as the main method so that the tenors course continuously (even in the lead of Oxford), though peals have been composed incorporating both possible arrangements of methods. The variations differ as follows in the other calls employed:-

Worcester variation. Bobs are not used, different lengths being obtained by ringing Oxford at Middle or Home, producing 64352 and 54326 shunts respectively; all courses, therefore, consist of five leads.

Ilkeston variation. All leads except the compulsory Oxford lead are rung Kent, and bobs are used to obtain different lengths.

Killamarsh variation. Oxford may be rung at the plain Middle and Home leads, and Kent or Oxford bobs may be made at Middle, Wrong or Home. One Oxford bob has the same effect as two Kent bobs.

Incidentally, peals of combined Kent and Oxford can be produced merely by writing down a selection of course heads and adding all possible bobs at Home, Wrong and Middle; on making the 56342 transposition, the courses automatically fall into round blocks. If one round block is formed, the composition is in the Ilkeston variation; if two or more blocks are produced, they can almost invariably be joined together by plain leads of Oxford at Middle or Home to give a peal in the Killamarsh variation.

For example, suppose it is required to compose a peal having the attainable extent of the 5th and 6th in fifths and the 4th, 5th and 6th in sixths, each at seven course heads, without the 2nd in 5-6 at a course head, together with all the combinations of the 4th, 5th and 6th in 5-6 at separate course heads, and all the $847 \mathrm{~s}, 857 \mathrm{~s}, 867 \mathrm{~s}, 84 \mathrm{~s}, 85 \mathrm{~s}$ and 86 s . There are only two selections of course heads capable of producing these qualities in 5,024 changes. One selection gives a single round block which constitutes a peal in the Ilkeston variation; the other selection produces three round blocks which can be joined together by plain leads of Oxford in various ways to produce a peal in the Killamarsh variation.

As another example, take the combination course heads, together with course heads 02030 and 03020 . These 24 courses fall into two 3-part round blocks, which can be joined together most simply by leads of Oxford at Home as follows:-

| 23456 | M | V | W | H | H |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| (63254) | $\mathbf{1}$ | x |  | x |  |
| 43526 |  | X |  |  | 2 |
| 26354 |  | X |  |  |  |
| 32654 | 2 | x | 2 |  |  |
| 52346 | 1 | x |  |  |  |
| 63425 |  | X |  |  | 2 |
| 25346 |  | X |  |  |  |
| 32546 | 2 | x | 2 |  |  |

Repeat the second part, then repeat the whole. Contains the 4th, 5th and 6th the extent in sixths, each at eight course heads; all the combinations of the 4th, 5th and 6th in 5-6 at separate course heads; and all the $847 \mathrm{~s}, 857 \mathrm{~s}$, $867 \mathrm{~s}, 84 \mathrm{~s}, 85 \mathrm{~s}$ and 86 s .

The following peal has the same qualities with more Oxford leads and some Oxford bobs.

| 23456 | M | M | V | W | H | H |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 52364 |  | 1 | x |  |  |  |
| 26354 | x |  | X | l |  |  |
| $(65324)$ |  | 2 | x |  |  | II |
| 32546 |  |  | x | 1 |  |  |
| $(62345)$ |  | 1 | x |  | x |  |
| 24365 | x |  | x | 1 |  | II |
| $(46325)$ |  | 2 | x |  |  | II |
| 32654 |  |  | x | 1 |  |  |

Repeat the second part, then repeat the whole.
The notation used above is more convenient than that hitherto employed for the Killamarsh variation. Usually the leads are numbered, with the awkward result that corresponding leads have different numbers according to how many bobs Middle there are in the course. In the above notation, the M and H columns are duplicated, the first of each being reserved for plain Oxford leads and the second for bobs; Kent bobs are indicated by ordinary numerals and Oxford bobs by Roman numerals. If Oxford is rung at the end of a course, an odd course head is produced; instead of recording such a course head, I prefer to quote the equivalent even course head, putting it in parentheses to show that it is a natural, not an actual, course head.

The extent with the tenors together in combined Treble Bob is 9,600 , and is necessarily in the Worcester variation, since the introduction of bobs would reduce the number of courses, thereby shortening the peal by more changes than are added by the bobs. The following is an example:

| 23456 | M | V | H |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| $(43652)$ |  | X | X |
| 54632 | x | X |  |
| 35642 | X | X |  |
| $(56342)$ | $(\mathrm{x})$ | X | X |
| $(36245)$ |  | X | X |
| $(62345)$ | X | X | X |
| 46325 | X | X | X |
| $(63425)$ | X | x | X |
| $(34625)$ | X | X | x |
| 23645 | X | X |  |

Repeat five times, omitting the bracketed changes of method at two places half a peal apart.

The World Freedom Bell

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest installations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

FOR BEGINNERS-AND A WORD TO THE OLDER HANDS

XI.-CALLING GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

A beginner has asked us for a little help in calling Grandsire Triples. Like many others, he can ring the method fairly well, but he cannot make much headway in calling touches.

The first thing to know is, when to call the bobs; by which we mean the place in the lead where the actual word of command has to be given. If you examine the figures of Grandsire Triples you will see that the effect of the bob takes place before the treble completes its whole pull at lead. If no bob is called, nothing interferes with the plain hunting of the bells until the treble has finished leading. In practically all even-bells methods, such as Bob Minor and Major, the bob is effected by varying the position of three (or more) of the bells at the backstroke lead of the treble. In Grandsire the effective movement has taken place before that.

| Plain Lead | Bob Lead  7561423 |
| :---: | ---: |
| 5716261423 | Call Bob 57124243 |
| 5172634 | 5172634 |
| 1527364 | 157243 |
| 1253746 | 1752634 |
| 2513746 | 7512634 |

The bob therefore must be 'called ' in good time, and the correct moment is at the beginning of the change in which the treble strikes in 3rds place on the way down. Now, while it may not be easy to see, while ringing another bell, exactly when the treble is in 3rds place, there happens to be a particularly good guide to the place where the bob should be called. It is at the moment that the bell which is going to make the ordinary 3rds place pulls off at lead. The bell to go into the hunt gets sufficient notice, and the dodging bells are in their dodging places. The bell that is coming to lead when the bob has to be called is the one hunting down immediately in front of the treble, so you ought not to mistake it.

Every place into which a bell can fall at a bob has a distinctive name:-

Middle, or M., 4-5 (up).
Before, or B., 3rds place.
In, or I., Into the hunt.
Out, or O., Out of the hunt.
Wrong, or W., 7-6 (down).
Home, or H., 6-7 (up).
One of the important things to remember in calling Grandsire is that, compared with a plain lead, a bob cuts out one dodging position, that is to say while the dodge in $6-7$ (up) follows that in $7-6$ (down) at a plain lead, a bob would cause the bell to double dodge in 4-5 up (or Middle). If you want to call a bell into the Home position, you must do it the lead after it has dodged in 5-4 (down). If you want to call it into the hunt, you do it the lead after it has dodged in 6-7 up. The only position that is not disturbed by a bob is the Before, which follows the dodge in $4-5 \mathrm{up}$. It is the cutting out of a dodging place that sometimes fogs those who are beginning to call touches. Here is a little table that shows the differences made between Plain and Bob leads:-

| After  3rds | Plain Lead  dodge 5-4 down | Bob |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 7-6 down |  |  |$|$

Just master this first, before you begin to call. It is also a great help to know you should call the bob when striking your first blow in your dodging place (whether $4-5$ or 6-7, up or down). When going into the hunt call the bob when you are in 2nds; going up, and the treble is striking over you. A bob when you are yourself coming Before is called when you begin to lead.
When you first begin calling, it may be just as well to ring the observation bell and learn your touch by the places into which it will be actually called, thus a 336 called from the 7th: Before, Wrong, In, Out at 11 (it is necessary to know how many leads the observation bell is to remain in the hunt). This calling twice repeated brings the bells back into the plain course.
If you get a touch which is all in one part, don't forget that you can treat any bell as the observation bell. For instance, this little touch of 266 has no special bell for observation. It is as easy to learn it from one bell as from another. Bobs are called at the following intervals, $1,1,2,3,4,2,1,3,1$, these figures representing the number of leads between the calls.
The conductor should know how to write out his own touches, and readers should figure out this one, as an example. The transpositions, if you do not happen to know, are 253746 for a plain lead and 752634 for a bob lead.
Thus a bob at 1 from rounds produces 752634, and a bob at the following lead (752634 transposed by 752634) 467352. Follow this with a plain lead, 467352 transposed by 253746 , which gives 436275 , and so on ; the treble, being recurrent in front of the whole of the rows of figures, is omitted.
We will return to the subject of calling Grandsire Triples next week.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting was held at Hunslet (St. Mary's) on August 30th. This change of venue was necessitated by the local conditions at the rostered tower.

Members were present early and the bells were soon raised in peal for ringing to continue until tea time. After tea the bells were fully employed until the Vicar's visit to apologise for his absence during the afternoon owing to other parochial duties. and to bring the Society an invitation for the September meeting to be held at Hunslet when he would provide tea. It is hoped he fully understood the secretary's refusal of the very kind offer when it was explained that visits to towers were arranged in advance on a two-yearly cycle.
The business meeting was held whilst evensong was held in the church. The president (Mr. J. W. Benten) was chairman and members were present from Armley, Batley, Bramley, Burley, Calverley, East Ardsley, Elland, Collingham, Guiseley, Headingley St. Michaels, Hunslet, Harrogate, Halifax (All Saints'). Idle, Leeds Parish Church, Northowram, Otley. Pudsey, Rothwell, Tadcaster, Thorner. Wetherby. Woodlesford, and visitors from York and Newcastle (Mr. H. Walker and Mr. McGuiness).
One new member, Mr. John Bryant, of Halifax, was elected. A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was proposed and seconded by Messrs. H. Parkinson and H. Jones and supported by the secretary, who personally thanked Mr. Hogg for arranging the meeting at short notice. Mr. Hogg replied for the local company.

Under any other business, the suggested trip was mentioned and the Snowdon Dinner fixed for the October meeting day; also an invitation to Marsden on November 15th, for an open day to include a whist drive and dance in aid of the additional bells fund Members were asked to discuss these three items in their own towers and come to the next meeting, at Calverley, on September 27th, with some fixed ideas.

RINGERS I REMEMBER  JAMES PETTIT

If ever anyone was a trusted leader and conductor of ringers, it was James Pettit. His gentle nature, quiet dignity and personal charm commanded the respect of all. Born at Hackney in 1834, his career started at St. John's, Hackney, and he rose to be the conductor at St. Paul's Cathedral for 30 years. Known throughout the Exercise as a striking personality, we could truly add the words gentle and just, kindly and considerate, in fact a typical fine old English gentleman. A very safe ringer and, as for conducting, he must have been born to be a worthy successor to Henry Haley.
In 1901 he found out that my 18th birthday would be on a Saturday, so he made it his pleasure to invite me for my first peal of Stedman, one of Caters at St. Margaret's, Westminster, which he conducted. Undoubtedly my two old friends, Herbert Langdon and Thomas H. Taffender, will remember it as a first quality ' peal, with W. T. Cockerill and Walter Prime at the 'back end. James Pettit was a man humble in life, always good and true, yet in ringing he was a peer, for with such a trusted leader who could fail to give of their best?
He died in 1912 at the age of 78, and though he sleeps among the poor, he was rich in talent, virtue and sincerity.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

Enville a Popular Meeting Place

For the summer meeting on August 30th the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford went to one of the more remote places in its territory, Enville, situated in richly wooded country in the south-west corner of Staffordshire. This pretty village, together with its well-known common and the Sheepwalks Hill (from which six or seven counties are visible), is one of the beauty spots of the West Midlands.
The lovely old Parish Church built of sandstone has a particularly fine tower, in which hang the pleasing ring of eight bells (tenor 17 cwt .). It was fortunate that the weather was fine, because the ringing chamber on ground level with the door opening on the churchyard only provided room for a few ringers at a time, and therefore those awaiting their turn to ring had to bask in the sunshine outside. This was the first meeting for Mr. Maurice Turner, newly appointed Ringing Master, and he saw to it that all tastes were suitably catered for
At the committee meeting to discuss finance it was decided to publish the annual report this year without the detailed list of peals, which would result in a saving to the Society of $£ 15$. If the members wanted the peals published another year, then the amount of the annual subscription would have to be increased to cover the cost.
In the absence of the Rector of Enville, the service was conducted by the Rev. W. S. Bethway, Vicar of Wombourn and Rural Dean of Trysull. Amongst the visitors was the Rev. J. Kingdon, secretary of the Cheshire Guild. and he very kindly played the piano (the organ not being available) for the service.

Tea took place at the Cat Inn and 70 members and friends sat down.
The next meeting of the Society will be at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, on October 18th. and the proposed dinner will be held in Wolverhampton on November 15 th.

HOLIDAY COPIES

Will postal subscribers going on holiday please mend their temporary address to the Editor of - The Ringting World, if they require their copies forwarded to them. They should be received on the Monday previous to the date of issue.

The peal attempt at Norbury on August 30th was arranged for one of the local ringers to attempt her first peal. During the week previous Norman Taylor and Sylvia Cain, two local ringers, announced their engagement, and the news also came through that at last May had hooked 'Charlie Dukes,' announcing their engagement on August 26th. The peal attempt thus developed into a very determined effort and of course nothing less than Spliced Surprise Major would do for two pairs of spliced to be. After the peal the band drank the health of Sylvia and Norman, had sandwiches on the 500 th peal, wished Molly many more peals and are looking forward, along with many more of Charlie's friends. to a ring on the famous Runcorn bells and to a "do ' in the Wellington, on Charlie.

A compliment: 'I have taken "The Ringing World " for 30 years and have never found it more interesting and varied than it is at present.' - A Northamptonshire reader.

Cambridge University Guild had a successful week in south-east England ringing peals at Buxted. Salehurst and Rotherfield on tower bells and three peals 'in hand.' Mr. E. J. Lindley conducted five of the six peals.

Miss W. Oliver wishes us to correct the statement contained in the report of the Four Guilds Festival that she is the secretary of the Ladies' Guild. Miss D. Colgate, of course, holds this office and Miss Oliver is omerely a District secretary.
The 'Metropolitan' version of London is creating interest. It was rung at Derby Cathedral by a Universities Association band and there is also a similar interest at Leicester, where the local band have the figures for Royal and Maximus.

Mr. Jack R. Worrall is moving into Surrey, having taken a teaching appointment at Bisley School, near Woking. We are certain that he will receive a warm welcome from members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.
London ringers who want pleasant suburban ringing should note the meeting of the Middlesex Association at Hampton on September 20th with a social evening and refreshments to follow at the Red Lion, Hampton.

The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of York (Ald. C. W. Wright) and the Dean of York (the Very Rev. Eric Milner-White, D.S.O.. C.B.E., D.D.) have accepted invitations to the Snowdon Dinner.
Ringers from Marden, Kent., while on a day's outing with the choir on August 23rd, took the opportunity of ringing in the Southend area. The bells were arranged by Mr. Frank B. Lufkin and a good ring was had on the eight at Thorpe Bay in the morning and on the famous ring of ten at Prittlewell in the afternoon.
Six members from the Saxmundham District whose ages totalled 399 years attended the Bury St. Edmunds District meeting at West Starr on August 23 rd. They were Messrs. L. Carter (66), H. Puttock (81), A. Smith (63), J. Spry (63), N. R. Bailey (62) and H. Hall (62). They rang a touch of Minor and the good striking reminded Mr. N. R. Bailey of years ago when he used to ring with his brothers at Leiston.

OXFORD DIOCESE VISITED BY SPLICED SURPRISE RINGERS

FIFTEEN PEALS RUNG DURING A WEEK'S TOUR

THE second week-end in August, 1952, will ong be remembered for its downpours of
On Friday, 8 th, there forgathered at the rain. On Friday, 8th, there forgathered at the Caversham Bridge Hotel, Reading, like animal species in the Ark, peal ringers from Cheshire, Yorkshire, Lancashire and Birmingham. Thus the survival of many curious breeds was assured. Would they better have perished in the deluge outside? The Exercise has its views on this.
This year we were guests of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. First place in our gratitude goes to Marie Cross and William Hibbert, whose ready help and wise counsel ensured the tour's success. Mr. Hibbert more than once undertook long journeys to see that all was going well and to add his genial and sagacious presence to social occasions. Fred Dunkerley was tour manager and the company numbered 15 altogether. Sadly missed this year was the doyen of these tours, Ted Cawser, but all hope to be seeing and ringing with him many times again. Talk, too, was often of the late Dr. James Simpson, as many an amusing anecdote recalled the gentle humour of the man.
A programme of peal attempts, less strenuous than usual, had been arranged, half of the party generally standing out each time. Looking out from a bedroom window on Saturday morning at the hotel garden, the Thames and the variegated river craft now drenched and tawdry, one felt disinclined to stir. However, a pioneer party set out to Denham and, after two unsuccessful attempts to get the band striking in a unanimous rhythm, settled down to a peal of London. The listeners explored this much-filmed village (its main street, bridge and gently-flowing stream serve many a village sequence in English films), or else they would peep now and then through the curtains separating ringing chamber from church at John Worth performing manfully on the tenor like a perspiring Atlas (except, of course, that the mythological Atlas was supposed to spend his time holding the universe up, whereas this one was obviously pulling it down): The peal was successfully finished and certain of the local ringers, who had listened to the last part, joined the band in lowering the bells and at lunch close by the railway arches. As the expresses sped past, their headboards, 'Paddington, Birmingham, Chester, Birkenhead.' augured weli for co-operation among the ringers in this week's efforts. After lunch a hurried dash brought the 'second eleven to Old Windsor. where a very good peal of Bristol was scored on the easy-going and bright-toned ring. Again we were pleased to meet some of the local ringers and particularly Mr. William Welling, whose long peal ringing record added all the greater lustre to the commendation he gave our performance. The peal was Denis Maddock's fiftieth.

ATTRACTION OF DORCHESTER

Sunday's weather was a mixture of poor and just tolerable. For service ringing some went to St. Mary's, some to St. Laurence's. At the latter the perverse truth was once more illustrated that Stedman Cinques can present difficulties unfamiliar to Maximus ringers. The destination of the afternoon peal band was Dorchester. Had the downoour been less insistent, several would have wished to accompany them and listen to the Abbey bells, while rambling over the Dyke Hills and up to the Sinodun Clumps. Some forty centuries of history and prehistory have left their relics at Dorchester. Neolithic. Bronze Age, Iron Age, Roman, Saxon, Medixval. all are represented at this meeting place of the rivers. The bells, too, are justly praised, notably the fine-toned 7th and tenor, both cast in the 14th century. The peal of four Spliced Surprise went well, Eric Critchley ably conducting Pitmans composition in which all bells do all the work of the four methods.

Ringing finished a few minutes before $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$ service time and the band, on their way back to a well-earned supper, were able to call at Wallingford and assist with the service ringing there. Those remaining in Reading for the afternoon joined St. Mary's band to ring for evensong and were treated to Grandsire, London, Bristol and a touch of five Spliced Surprise (conducted by Noel Diserens). One personality spent the day tower-grabbing and came home with three fresh twelves in the bag.
Monday's programme was rearranged to include an extra attempt, Albert and Noel Diserens joining one party at StratfieldMortimer in the afternoon for four Spliced. This was unfortunately lost after an hour and three quarters, one of the band being unwell. The two scheduled peals, Cambridge at Thatcham and Yorkshire at East Ilsley, were pleasantly rung. At Thatcham the well-kept bells went entirely in the band's favour. The only vicissitude was when a young visitor found his way into the ringing chamber. He was dismissed sharply by Fred's ' Go down, laddie, we're ringing a peal '; though at least one member of the band for an uneasy moment had the impression that he was being ordered to do his front work. East Isley nestles close to the Berkshire Downs, on which racehorses train. In these circumstances and with Wilf Moreton frisking along on an $8 \frac{\mathrm{c}}{\mathrm{z}} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor, one of the week's faster times was assured.
Tuesday began an improvement in the weather. At Cookham, favourite resort of Londoners on sunny afternoons, the listeners had a lazy morning by the river, while their colleagues buckled down to Spliced Surprise in 12 methods. In this the writer enjoyed ringing with the Cheshire men what was his first peal in 12 Spliced, and a memorable experience it was. Mr. T. J. Fowler joined the party at lunch and a souvenir of the visit was concocted for S.S.M. Philip Tocock, who at one time rang at this tower.

PITSTOW'S DOXOLOGY

The afternoon peal at Burnham was a similarly happy affair. Gallantly sacrificing a Taylor tenor, Ralph Edwards conducted from an 'inside '. bell the three-part composition for Superlative known in Birmingham as Pitstow's Doxology. Mr. George Gilbert, who met the party and showed them round, expressed regret during the peal at having left the louvres of the tower partly blocked. The delicate compliment is appreciated. His blocking device, which is set in place or removed in a few moments, merits the attention of all whose towers adjoin built-up areas. Afterwards the opportunity for a celebration was not missed. The conductor duly pushed the boat out and his band reciprocated by awarding their champion a presentation cup brimful of the best brew. Kindly thoughts turned to the lines in A. E. Housman's 'Shropshire Lad ${ }^{\prime}$ :

Ale, man, ale's the stuff to drink
For fellows whom it hurts to think
Look into the pewter pot
To see the world as the world's not.' Or, as the champion himself put it, before the peal, 'I don't like having to call the bobs if it means I cannot enjoy the ringing.' and after, -This conducting business is overrated.
Some of those not in this peal were invited by Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Wolstencroft to go over and have tea with the family at their attractive home among the cherry trees. Over tea memories went back to the years between the wars and carlicr. Remarkable tales were told of doings in the palmy days of Lancashire ringing, tales that one feels neither able nor brave enough to reproduce.
Wednesday was Reading day. A peal of Bristol was rung in the morning on the heavy octave at St. Mary's (tenor $25 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$., not 28 cwt . as in Dove's Guide), which may fairly claim to be the finest in the Thames Valley. An appreciative audience sat outside and heard most of the performance. At 10.30 they adjourned to drink coffee nearby, to the accompaniment of 'Music While You Work,' with heavy-bell Bristol superimposed. Mixture not recommended.
The afternoon was free. In fact, by tea time some had gone over 24 hours without touching a bell-rope and were beginning to think that there might be something to be said for ringing tours after all. Percy Dyke and the Diserens lunched at the hotel. Wilfrid Williams looked in afterwards and was promptly commandeered for handbells. Others went out on the river: Fred Dunkerley ready to try speed in any element; John Worth placidly secure in the knowledge that he who displaces most will float longest Walter Allman in imagination transported in a gondola, his fingers idly caressing the strings of a guitar. Or would the Manchester Ship Canal not perhaps be ideal for such doings? But we digress.
the climax of the week
The climax of the week was to come in the evening. Cambridge Maximus was rung at St. Laurence's Church, this week being the octave of the Festival of Laurentius, Saint and Martyr, who perished in the persecution by Valerian, A.D. 258. Peals of Maximus are often contentious affairs. The truth of the matter may be that too few are rung for a homogeneous style of ringing them to develop, or, if not a homogeneous style, at least an understanding and appreciation that there are differences of approach to Maximus ringing and what those differences are. In Major, too, there are similar though proportionately smaller differences, but skilled ringers have learned to adapt themselves to one another's styles and are in general prepared to take the beat from the tenorman, so that good rhythm results. In Maximus it is frequently otherwise. This is strikingly illustrated at functions like the Central Council meeting or the Henry Johnson dinner, when men from London, Birmingham, Leicester and Cheshire catch hold together. Most Maximus peals with mixed bands suffer in the same way.
It is, therefore, all the more agreeable to record that at Reading a good peal resulted. George Fearn rang the tenor beautifully and the Selection Committee had stationed alongside him ringers who, though not Birmingham men, had tasted some of the flavour of the place. The North Country men sportingly accepted the front and middle bells and cooperated in the design. Faults could without difficulty be picked in the ringing, but they were, one ventures to say, fautts of detail only. There were in the band men who do not spare criticism of others or of themselves where Maximus or any ringing is concerned. Yet after the peal there was a quiet and unusual satisfaction that everyone had put his best into the effort. With this we said a grateful farewell to Reading and, in the magical stillness of a summer evening, drove to Abingdon, crossing and recrossing the softly-rustling Thames and wakening the timbered villages with a startled glare of headlights. The Crown and Thistle Hotel received the wayfarers with cold chicken supper, after which one willingly spared a few minutes to admire the subdued lighting of the courtyard, reminiscent of hotels in Perugia or Siena, before retiring reluctantly to bed.

Thursday dawned fair and expectant. The sun shone and the air was fresh and almost springlike after recent rain. But, as the cars sped along the wooded lanes to Appleton, there was foreboding of the peal attempt. The back bells there notoriously 'want ringing.' and there seemed small prospect of a performance in the White-Holifield class. For Cambridge Royal the back-end ringers were carefully placed and, (Continued on page 586) being advised at all costs to keep the bells running, they set a pretty pace. All too rarely was Ted Jenkins seen on tenors during this week. His performance at Appleton was masterly. The tenor was driven hard, but its rhythm was rock-firm. A creditable peal resulted, being a first for Eric Critchley as conductor of Royal, in the fast time of 2 hours 46 minutes. This is believed to be a record speed for Royal on church bells.

NOT A BOGEY DAY

After lunch some left for a browse in Oxford, while nine drove over to Chipping Norton via Witney and Burford for the afternoon attempt. Perhaps there was balm in the air; perhaps the band found Cotswold villages and the fine rolling country inspiring; or perhaps, since this was Black Thursday, the bogey day of peal ringing tours, there was a feeling that the bogey should be laid.
An additional attempt was enthusiastically suggested. Now it so chanced that one of those involved has good friends at Kingham. So, while the courses of Rutland were rolling out across the valley from Chipping Norton's imposing and beautifully situated church, the Rector and tower captain of Kingham were visited and graciously gave their consent to an attempt that evening. Back in Chipping Norton the bells came round, after one of the best peals of the week, at 5.45. The White Hart provided a quick tea. At 6.35 Kingham bells were away to Cambridge. A short discussion outside the church between two of the party, as to which should stand out, had been abruptly terminated by the sound of the Taylor bells being raised: 'It's all right, Jack, I'll ring.' These admirable bells have that happy quality of running swiftly without effort. Even the fast time of 2 hours 30 minutes involved no rush and Middleton's peal cruised like a well-oiled machine. Satisfied men returned to Abingdon, though George would not have minded another one. Eric Critchley, George Fearn and Ken Lewis rang three peals in the day. Several were, moreover, well adjusted to Cambridge by now, having rung peals of Major, Royal and Maximus in the 28 hours just ended.
Friday was dull and damp again. The peal of London at Witney was similarly undistinguished and is regretfully awarded the wooden spoon for the week. Like cricketers out of form, the ringers took a long time to settle down; co-ordination of eye and muscle was somehow lacking. John Worth's conducting skill came much in demand, though he modestly described this afterwards as 'scratching about like an old hen.' In the last part perseverance brought an improvement, and people went into lunch with a rather better taste in the mouth.

The afternoon attempt was at Banbury, for the method known as the No. 3 Version of London Royal. This was abandoned after just over 2 hours, the only failure among the scheduled peals of the week. There had been a number of trips and, to those inside, the ringing in general gave a lumpy and dispiriting impression. Yet it is a marked feature of Banbury's fine ten that what inside sounds vaguely unsatisfactory may outside sound excellent. On this afternoon the listeners more than once remarked how musical a method the No. 3 Version was turning out to be. These are hardly the reactions of people listening to an elaborate method for the first time, should the ringing sound less than good. As it was, between trips, some excellent striking had been heard. Tea with Banbury cakes gave an added enjoyment to those not standing in. Just before departure a chance encounter with some of the Rambling Ringers prompted an enjoyable joint course of Grandsire Caters and lowering of the bells.

The evening closed in with more rain. So heavy was the forrent in Abingdon that some. who had gone a short distance up the road for a drink after dinner, telephoned hopefully for a car to bring them back. The rest, marooned in the lounge some 50 ft . across the hotel yard, sat it out drinkless for nearly an hour and ultimately postponed bed until 1 a.m. The Selection Committee wisely decided against its original plan of an attempt for 12 Spliced on the following morning.
The last day's ringing is briefly catalogued. Watlington bells are not as well known as they might be. Located a few miles off the main road, they are also at the extreme range of visitors from Oxford or Reading. The Oxford University Society a few months ago paid its first visit within memory and found the journey well worth while. On the present occasion this rather old-fashioned and heavy eight, rung from the ground floor, went satisfactorily to a peal of Pudsey. The final tower was Kidlington, among the most famous in the county for ringing feats. Here a peal of Lincolnshire was the 15 th success of the week. Back in Abingdon that evening, those still remaining sat down to a celebration dinner. Fred Dunkerley was thanked for the excellence of the week's arrangements. There was a strong feeling in the company that this had been the best tour yet.

RANDOM IMPRESSIONS

Random impressions of the week deserve a note. Ken Lewis on Aspects of the Go Slow in Education, or how to extort from pupils a confession that they can read when they pretend otherwise. Fred Dunkerley's reply that, choosing between Spliced Surprise and the King's Cup Air Race, he preferred the Spliced for excitement. Ralph Edwards' impression of a fast peal of Cambridge Major, that the Wrong followed the Middle like twin bobs in Stedman. New light, too, on going wrong in good company: he who trips is generally let off with a superior smile. But offenders, too, acquire the habit of smiling over their offences. How to tell innocent from guilty? It becomes all too like the picture query, "Which Twin has the Toni?' One must for a moment defy good English usage and suggest that the more superior smile wins. Keep persevering, chaps; it comes with practice.
The Oxford Diocesan Guild is not one to which new laurels are easily added. The Reading peal was, however, their first of Surprise Maximus with rearrangement of the back bells to give the shortened length of 5,040 . Everywhere a welcome was given. One would like to mention personally all the new acquaintances made, but the list would be long. Words of thanks should never be forgotten to those who give up their time to meet a visiting band. At several towers we met and talked with the clergy. This is an added inspiration and helps to mitigate the uneasy consciousness of descending like locusts on a defenceless community, stripping another layer of wear from ropes and bells and departing in a cloud of dust. Far happier is the feeling of a performance in a sacred place, especially if it can be made a worthy performance. $\quad$ R.B.M.

OUTINGS

OUTING IN SOMERSET

On Saturday, September 6th, six Dorset and Somerset ringers from Hazelbury Bryan, Litton Cheney, Piddlehinton, Taunton (St. James') and Wellington had an enjoyable outing visiting five-bell towers. At Ashill (tenor 14 cwt .) the band were met by the Rector and local captain and a pleasant half-hour was spent here. No reply had been received from the incumbent of Staple Fitzpaine (tenor $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) and it was found that he was away. However, a hasty call on the local captain received the necessary permission to ring, a lady member of the local band joining with the visitors in a six-score of Grandsire. West Hatch Church is in rather an obscure site and some time was wasted in finding it and ringing had to be limited to 15 minutes, which was disappointing as this is a lovely little ring (tenor 8 cwt .) with, however, very poor ropes. It had been hoped to ring at Stoke St. Gregory (tenor $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) but the bells are about to be dismantled for rehanging. At Lyng the party were again met by the Rector and local captain. The bells here (tenor 17 cwt.). in a minor key, are rather heavy 'going. with a long draught but some quite good ringing was enjoyed. After a most welcome tea at a. nearby cafe, the band proceeded to Moorlinch where they joined a local branch practice mecting and took part in an hour's ringing on this lovely six.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT OUTING

On Saturday. September 6th, members of the Winchester District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild set off on a day's outing-the first to be held.
The ringing commenced at Shedfield-a nice. easy-going eight (tenor $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Forty-five minutes of good ringing with rounds and standard methods was enjoyed here before going on to the next tower, Havant ( $8,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.). These belks are rather noisy in the ringing chamber and not too easy to handle.
The next tower on the list was that of Chichester Cathedral with its separate belltower. The ringers were welcomed here by one or two of the local band and the bells were soon raised and ringing in rounds and the standard methods-the fairly big circle and longish draught sceming to present no difficulties.
After dinner at Chichester, the party' proceeded to Easebourne ( $8,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.) where the captain, Mr. Etherington, met them. After ringing here for some time Mr. W. Linter was welcomed: he happened to be passing through the village.
Thence to Haslemere-a light ring of ten (tenor 13 cwt .). We rang the full ten to rounds but change ringing was confined to the back eight.
Tea was the next item on the agenda, which was enjoyed at Farnham. Here the organiser and the coach parted company when the former went to make inquiries and the latter was moved on hy a policeman! However. they eventually met together again and, after tea. went to the church to sample the grand eight (tenor $20 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). It was here. rather late in the day, that the last member of the party was picked up.
After Farnham. an hour's good ringing at Aldershot (eight. 8 cwt .) was had before carrying on to the light six (tenor Kf cwt .) at Farnborough. Here the bells were rung half-muffied in respect to the vietims killed in the tragic accident at the Farnborough Air Show a fow hours previously. This was the last tower of the day after which the coach sped homeward with a stop at Alton for refreshments.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CENTRAL COUNCIL-THE CO-ORIINATING STRUCTURE
Dear Sir.-Mr. Pink's article on the Central Council will, I hope, stimulate many readers to write to you

May I offer a few comments on his suggestion that Guilds should enjoy complete freedom of action with regard to the Council's decisions, accepting them or rejecting them as they wish.

The argument for this proposal is that the Guilds, and not the Council itself, have the power to enforce them. I would submit that in affiliating it is precisely this power which a Guild undertakes to use in the name of the Council, not as some extraneous, dictatorial body, but as from within a greater, all-embracing body speaking with united authority.

Furthermore, I would submit that it was precisely this intention which inspired the Court cil's foundation, the king-pin of all being the loyalty pledged to it by Guilds in their affiliation. Withhold this loyalty and inevitably the impressive edifice built up over the years will crumble away. and in doing so will put ringing back a hundred years.
Nevertheless. baving recognised that the Central Council is our co-ordinating structure. it is for all of us by individual thought and effort. in our own tower, through our own Guild and in the Council Chamber, to face up to the many problems and challenges which are the very life and substance of any organic entity.
Let there be no doubt about it, the Central Council, our Central Council, has grown up. is still growing up, in accordance with its objects, and with the principles which actuated those far-seeing ringers responsible for its creation.

But, as Mr. Pink said at the close of his article, 'it is the spirit in which ringing is carried out which really matters.' Certainly, and it is in this spirit that I pen these words of reply.Yours sincerely,
E. S. JOHN HATCHER.

Dition, Maidstone.
THE 'SACRED' PEAL ANALYSIS
Dear Sir,-May I congratulate Mr. Alan R Pink on a most thought-provoking article which puts in print the questions which many ringers have been discussing for some time.
One might take his argument on peal-ringing a little further and say that the Central Council has no power at all to say what methods shall or shall not be rung. Peals are rung (we hope) to the glory of God and (we know) for the enjoyment of ringers taking part, and a band may therefore (with the incumbent's permission) ring what they will.
The only action the Central Council can take is to refuse to include the peal in the 'sacred Peals Analysis, but in this case the band may. if satisfied in their own minds that the peal was a good one, and if finance and the incumbent permit. erect a peal tablet of wood. metal or stone, which will last long after the records of the Central Council have crumbled into dust and been forgotten.-Yours faithfully.
E. T. BEAUCHAMP

A CHARLES H. HATTERSLEY PEAL

Dear Sir.-The peal of Surprise published in the issue of 'The Ringing World' dated August 29th, 1952. by Mr. F. Warrington, belongs to the late Mr. Charles H. Hattersley. It was published in the old ' Bell News and Ringers' Record 'on July 13th, 1889, page 184.
-Yours sincerely,

Chelmsford, Essex.
PERCY GREEN.

MARIA MARTEN AND RINGING

Dear Sir,-We have to-day such a long list of ringers who bave reached fame in other walks of life that we sometimes are a little inclined to boast of them. But more often it is the unusual that is most interesting. I noticed in a recent issue that the writer of ' West Sussex Young Ringers' Tour, in calling attention to the village of Polstead as where the murder of Maria Marten took place, omitted to mention that the murderer, one William Corder, was a ringer.
It is now more than fifty years ago that the late Challis F. Winney, who came from the same village, told me about the Red Barn murder, but what I chiefly remember was that after Corder had bumped Maria off and planted her in the Red Barn, but before the body was found, Mr. Winney's grandfather was married and William Corder rang for the wedding and afterwards was present at the wedding breakfast. He was not quite sure, but he always understood that Corder was quite a good halfpull ringer. I do not know if there are any records of his ringing, but we may be quite sure that his last performance at the end of a rope will be the only one by which he will be re-membered.-Yours faithfully,

SAMUEL LAWRENCE, OF SHIFNAL

Dear Sir,-I was interested in your account of the St. Martin's Youths and also of Samuel Lawrence, of Shifnal
I should like to point out, as I do not expect many ringers know, that his book of all his records is in Shrewsbury Reference Library. My late father. C. R. Lilley, found it in a very bad condition there one day and got them to rebind it. It is a most interesting book to see and one account which my father copied from it runs:-

In the year 1785 was rung at Shifnal. Shropshire, by the following persons on handbells:1,008 Bob Major in the house of Sarah Nock. John Nock rang 1-2, standing in the parlour; John Debney rang $3-4$, standing in the brewhouse; Samuel Lawrence rang 5-6, upstairs: Thomas Clemson rang 7-8, in the cellar. Conducted by Thomas Clemson:'
I well remember when a boy I used to go to Shifnal ringing and was told of the history of Samuel Lawrence and of his great size. Perhaps if any of the Shrewsbury ringers will go and look up the book they could write a very, interesting account for 'The Ringing World.
I think that a book like this should be in the hands of the Central Council.
When reading accounts of old ringers and remembering the "go of the bells, etc., in those days. it makes one wonder if the art of ringing has really progressed as much as is thought.-Yours faithfully,
S. E. LILLEY, Chairman, Mid-Devon Branch, Devon Guild.
Newton Abbot.

IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,-May I, through the medium of the Exercise's valued journal, address to all tower-keepers a two-fold request which. I am convinced, would be appreciated by all ringers? In addition, the mild form of advertisement might attract many a likely learner and so hasten the time when every tower shall ring for every Sunday service.
(a) Please d'splay in the ringing chamber as much information about the bells as possible, including the dedication of the church:
(b) Place in a position where nobody can miss it a notice stating the dav and time of the weekly practice.-Yours faithfully. S. G. PONTING

THE OXFORD MOTION

Dear Sir--We are well and truly having it rubbed in about the Oxford motion. Let's just look at it from a member's side. After moving the motion at the Central Council meeting, Mr Lock spoke for nearly half an hour and 90 per cent. of the members did not hear half a dozen words, and this is the point: not having heard the argument the Council voted on the motion alone and decided to re-examine the whole question of irregular methods. This did not mean we reversed a morning decision when we decided not to include methods with irregular lead ends in the Council records because this would mean that in future we should have to include all and sundry.
It is stressed at most Council meetings that our decisions are not binding on church bell ringers, but the same must apply to them because if they want their efforts accepted by the Central Council they must abide by their decisions or take the consequences.
Mr. Pink asks, 'Has the Council the right to say, now can we decide yes or no?' If the answer is no, then the Council can get right down to business without any arguments about irregular lead ends, method extension or Council Rules and Decisions.

RUGBY BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-The bells that were broadcast from Rugby last Sunday morning were the old five in the west tower of the Parish Church. Not many people have rung on them but as the eight in the east tower are out of order they are rung regularly now. We rang 120 Grandsire as the service started, the ringers being: Mrs. W. J. Vann 1. W. J. Vann 2, A. W. Gibbons 3, A. E. Barlow 4, R. W. Gibbons (conductor) 5.-Yours faithfully,
R. W. GIBBONS.

ONE-HANDED CLOCKS

Dear Sir,-In reply to the Rev. A. J. Nixseaman's inquiry about one-handed clocks, there is a good example of one at Looe Parish Parish Church, Cornwall. The church has a squat tower and is situated about 50 yards from the sea.-Yours sincerely,

BRYAN PATTISON.
Bedford.
Dear Sir.-Some years ago I visited Foxton, Leicestershire, and in the church there was a one-hand clock lying on the floor: this had been replaced by a modern one. I am interested in this particular type of clock as I possess a one-hand grandfather clock, by John Nethercott. Standlake, Oxon
I was amused to read Mr. P. Amos ${ }^{\circ}$ letter re 48 minutes to the hour. My clock is marked in the same way. As almost all onehand clocks, the 12 hours are divided into 48 quarters on the inside circle; you then have to guess the minutes.-Yours, etc..
C. H. WEBB.

THE SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS

Sixth Annual Tour in West Country
$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$ Axminster, Sournemouth, Crewe, Ewell, Exmouth. Leatherhead. London, Long Ashton, Nailsea, Reading, St. Albans and Wolverhampton met outside Exeter Cathedral to take part in the sixth annual tour of the Society. This tour departed from the usual fortnight of youth hostelling, being one week only and accommodation mostly at Exeter.
After introductions, the party moved off in the direction of Exminster. Enthusiasm dominated care, however, and at Countess Weir two riders collided and severe damage to bicycles resulted. The many spokes which 'slipped wheel' had to be replaced in Exeter, and so it was a small party which reached Exminster, especially as the motorised London contingent had not yet arrived. The next tower was Alphington, where the annual dog show was in progress. Fortunately none of the band became involved. Supper was taken at our quarters in Exeter and was found to be 'good solid stuff' and brought forth many sharp comments. Sharp knives would have been more use. After a fruitless search for quiet headquarters we retired to bed fairly late, but still without the London members. At $1.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. they arrived and sat down to their supper which had been kept hot since $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. We were too tired to be wakened by the struggle which ensued.

On Sunday morning we rang for service at Heavitree on the grand Taylor eight of $25 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. which have become established as one of our favourite rings. The back-enders were able to 'exert their utmost powers.' In the afternoon we visited Woodbury, a really bad-going ring of eight. followed by ringing on the pretty eight of 15 cwt . at Withycombe Raleigh which was much enjoyed. An attempt for five Spliced Surprise unfortunately came to grief.

Monday's ringing began at Wolborough. and Highweek, the next tower, was on a neighbouring hill. The view from the churchyard rewarded us for our climb and we also relearnt the start of Erin Triples. No common solution was found to the problem of where and when to eat and which way to return to Exeter. and so the party remet for supper some time later, cach person confident he had found the best way over the hills.

THE BUSINESS MEETING

At a meeting held that day Gordon Peters was elected Master, as John Chilcott was unable to remain with us for the whole weck. It was also decided that the reunion should be held in Oxford on the first week-end in February. That evening we at last established our headquarters and after the initial shock the locals received when they saw us waving handbells, we were left alone-alone with one local who insisted that 'Jealous Hearts' was suitable for ringing on twelve bells. Still, it is quite probable he saw many more bells and after a large pinch of snuff he (and his two puppets who had appeared) staggered out.
On Tuesday we headed for Plymouth and our first stop was to ring on the delightful little six at Dean Prior. After a makeshift lunch we rang at Ugborough. The heavy eight are not easy to ring and the strange timing was subject to mixed comments. Revelstoke Parish Church. situated on a steep side of a river estuary, directly opposite Newton Ferrers Church on the other side of the valley, presents a most imposing scene. Revelstoke bells are even more difficult to handle than Ugborough and judging hy the rumbling from upstairs, 'timber' would have been a more suitable cris than hob or single. In spite of this. Spliced Plain and Little Bob was rung. A short but hilly ride took us to Plympton, and after sorting out St. Mary's Church we rang on this glorious eight by Gillett and Johnston.

Ringing on Wednesday commenced at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, and included Cambridge Royal, St. German's, our only Cornish tower, was reached rather late, but even later by the car which had to queue some time for the Torpoint ferry. St. German's has a most unusual arrangement of two towers. Both are at the west end but the bell tower is square and the other round. The bells are a handy little eight but have poor musical qualities. After spending far too much time, breath, patience and energy blowing on his tin whistle our musical expert announced that the bells were in a key between the F's.

Following hurried refreshment, we started on the most gruelling ride of the tour-across the hills and footpaths to Tavistock. We reached Tavistock about an hour late and it was very kind of the tower-keeper to wait so long for us. The bells are a magnificent ring of eight by Taylor's but our tired band could not do them full justice. However. we listened to some good ringing afterwards when another touring band took over. The dark brown patch which the map showed across our road to Exeter proved too much for most of the party and only four of the cyclists did not travel via British Railways. The late evening concerts by our two pianists, accompanied by our host (who used to be a ringer) on his violin, had by now become very popular, but Mac's rendering of 'Tell me, Mary, how to woo thee left us in doubt as to his capabilities in this gentle art.

AT EXETER CATHEDRAL

On Thursday, thirteen hard miles through wooded landscapes frought us to Moreton Hampstead, and after ringing we had our first set lunch for three days. The six-bell tower at Dunsford was visited in the afternoon before we returned to Exeter to ring at the Cathedral. The scouts and their plums had by then been cleared away. This year our twelve-bell repertoire was not so great and we were only able to ring Grandsire and Stedman Cinques. Cambridge Royal was rung on the back ten, and Kent Treble Bob on the minor ten. The result was must unusual and opinions differed as to whether the 'roll-ups ' or the in-between music sounded best. The handbells were again brought out in the evening and Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Plain Bob Royal were rung. Plain Spliced Major proved to be clusive.

AGAINST WIND AND RAIN

The last day of the tour came all too soon. On Friday we cycled through drizzling rain along the flattest road we had so far encountered to Thorverton (eight. 17 cwt .) Our next visit was at the neighbouring tower of Silverton, and on this dandy cight Rutland Surbrise was added to our methods list. The sun shone again but it was against a strong wind that we pedalled to Clyst Honiton for lunch and to ring on another fine eight. Spliced Plain Major in seven methods was achieved here. Then the rain came and it was a sodden party that arrived late at Ottery St. Mary. The new Taylor eight with a tenor of 18 f cwt. are a delight to ring. The many visitors to the beautiful old church were intrigued with our ringing. After ringing, the party divided. some members returning to Exeter and others moving on to Axminster, where five took part in a good quarter peal of Bristol Surprise.
On Saturday we departed in many directions having had another enjoyable tour, although it was more gruelling than any other. The car and motor cycle were very helpful to our several part-time invalids. Other methods rung included Cambridge. Yorkshire. Superlative, Bristol. London. Lyme and six Spliced Surprise, in addition 10 numerous methods on seven, six and five bells. G. E. E.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Dorchester Branch at Abbotsbury
The Dorchester Branch met at Abbotsbury on August 23 rd and about 26 ringers and friends attended.

The six bells of St. Nicholas' Church were rung from 2.30 until 4 p.m., when the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev Arthur Phillips, who also gave the address, taking his text from Psalm 81, verse 3: 'Blow up the trumpet in the new moon, even in the time appointed, and upon our solemn feast day.

Speaking of the early days, when the trumpet was replaced by the bell, the Vicar made the point that a bell stood for tone, tune and time Tone, he said, shows our attitude to the job in hand, and to God, our hearts must be at tuned to Him, and should beat in time with Him, so making a good and firm foundation for our work for the Church.
Tea was served at the Ilchester Arms Hotel and the short business meeting which followed was conducted by the Rev. - Phillips, in the unavoidable absence of the branch chairman, Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, of St. Peter's, Dorchester, whose apology was read, together with those from Miss Markby, Mr. J. T. God win, Mr. F. Precey (Ringing Master), Mr. E. T. P. Field (Deputy Ringing Master) and r. J. H. Hayne (hon. secretary)

It was agreed to hold the next branch practice at St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, on Sept. 6th at 6 p.m., and the next meeting at Preston on Thursday, October 2nd, subject to confirmation by the Vicar

Following this the Rev. A. F. Godley proposed a hearty vote of thanks to all who had made the meeting such a success, and the ringers then returned to the belfry, where ringing was carried on until 9 p.m. under the direction of Mr. F. Stedman (Wyke Regis), Deputy Ringing Master
Methods rung included Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

Ringers were present from St. Peter's, Dorchester, Preston, Upwey, Wyke Regis, Abbotsbury, with visitors from Yetminster, Lytchett Matravers, Isleworth (Middlesex) and Melksham.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The August meeting was held in the pleasant market town of Market Weighton. The bells, a light ring of six, were raised and rung during the afternoon and some good striking was enjoyed until service time.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon E. Marsh), who is also the Rector of the parish of Goodmanham, which has historical associations back as far as the year 627 A.D. The choir, augmented by ringer choristers, led the singing. Mr. C. Metcalfe was at the organ, and Mr. Moore, churchwarden, represented the parish congregation. Canon Marsh gave a short. inspiring sermon.
Tea was taken in the Londesborough Arms. which was up to the usual high standard of Londesborough teas. The business meeting followed, then handbells were rung by the younger members of the Society whilst the older members tried to explain how it was done to the interested church officials
The tower bells were rung again until 8.30 p.m. to standard methods, Cambridge and London.

Owing to the clash of engagements with a meeting at Send and the West Clandon outing, the attendance at the Guildford District meeting last Saturday, at Puttenham. did not come up to expectations. The presence of Mr. Tony Price with his smart automobile, which was greatly admired, was much appreciated. Two veterans at the meeting were Mr. S. Marshall and Mr. Bob Whittingion.

SWANSEA & BRECON GUILD

Meeting at Cadoxton

Walking up the Neath Vale on August 30th at $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the beautiful bells of Cadoxton could be heard heralding the start of the quarterly meeting of the Guild. About 40 members attended from Cefn, Gorseinon, Sketty, Morrison, Llandilo, Neath. Baglan, Aberavon, Porthcawl and also visitors from Ton Pentre and Llanbradoch.
At the service, although the new organ was not ready for playing, the piano helped us along to some good singing. The address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. E. Ishmael, who welcomed the ringers.
No one ever came away from Cadoxton without enjoying the tea supplied by the ladies from the church and this occasion was no exception. It was really good.

The business meeting was opened with prayer by the Vicar, who was in the chair. An invitation to Gorseinon for the December meeting was accepted. It was agreed to have an outing in 1953, and the same committee was elected to make arrangements.
A letter was read by the secretary from Mr. Ernie Stitch, expressing his delight with the illuminated address given him by the Guild, and also sending his sincere thanks to all members.
A proposal by Mr. W. Meredith that $£ 210$ s. be given towards the Welsh Appeal Fund was duly carried. It was also proposed to record in the minutes the performance of the peal rung at Devynock Church on August 4th. 1952, also the time and untiring efforts made by Mr. J. Williams in preparing the tower and bells for ringing, which enabled the peal to be rung. Nine new members were elected.

A vote of thanks by Mr. W. Meredith was accorded to the Vicar for presiding at the meeting and for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for supplying and waiting at tea.
During the evening the bells of both towers, Cadoxton and Neath, were kept ringing to methods suitable to everyone's liking until 8.30 p.m., when the ringers went their several ways home.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Frm 'The Ringing Worid.' Sept. 20th, 1912 ODD CHANGES

No fewer than twelve out of the 14 attempts made during the Somerset and Dorset trip were successful. . . . [These were] two peals of Stedman Caters, one of Stedman Triples, three of Superlative, one of Cambridge, three of Bristol and two of London Surprise Major. The best performance was on the Tuesday, when Stedman Triples was rung at Sherborne (tenor 46 cwt .) followed by a peal of Stedman Caters at Yeovil (tenor 42 cwt .). In the first of these two Mr. E. Pye rang the 7th and Mr. W. Pye the tenor, and in the second one they reversed their positions at the back end. This is what you might call a day's work.

Who among the veterans can beat Mr. Gosling. of Mansfield, who on Saturday, at the age of 85 years, rang a peal of Treble Bob? Mr. Gosling rang his first peal of Stedman after he was 83 !

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

On August 9th, the East Grinstead Guild held its annual outing, starting from Tunbridge Wells in pouring rain, but by the time we had got beyond Horsham the clouds broke and out came the sun.
Owing to a traffic diversion and a very stubborn driver, we went miles out of our way and arrived at Chiddingfold if hours late. In the second touch a rope broke, so, to get the tower, the rest rang Stedman Doubles on the front six with tenor covering.
A phone call to Haslemere had made things right, and we arrived at that tower 55 minutes late. Everyone enjoyed this nice light ten, which proved to be the best bells of the day. Midhurst was reached on time and, accompanied

WEDDING

MR. W. R. BARKER - MISS J. G. FLEETWOOD

The marriage of Miss Joyce Gladys Fleetwood, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fleetwood, of 74, Dagenham Avenue, Dagenham, and Mr. William Robert Barker, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barker, of 14, Priory Road, Peterborough, was solemnised by the Rev. A. E. Charman at the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Dagenham, on August 16th.

The bride, who was given away by her father. wore a white rose figured satin gown in classic style. Her veil carried a bell pattern designed by her brother and embroidered by herself. Her bouquet was of cream tea roses and white heather. Miss Dorothy Fleetwood, sister of the bride, was chief bridesmaid and wore a green taffeta dress with a net fichu and matching headdress and short veil. Miss Ruby Fleetwood, sister of the bride, and Miss Ethel Fleetwood, cousin of the bride, wore gold dresses with matching fichu, headdress and short veil. All carried bouquets of pale mauve carnations. Miss Susan Avery, bride's goddaughter, wore white crepe trimmed with gold taffeta and carried a basket of coloured zinnias, and Master Freddie Mayhew, bride's cousin and godson, wore brown velvet trousers and a white silk blouse, with gold bowtie. Mr. George Bush was best man.
The bride, chief bridesmaid and bride's two brothers, who acted as ushers, are all ringers at Dagenham, and the bridegroom and best man, Mr. George Bush, are ringers at St. John's, Peterborough. The bride, a local school teacher, met the bridegroom at St. John's, Peterborough, while at Peterborough Training College.
The reception, at the Co-operative Hall, Dagenham, was attended by some fifty guests. after which the cquple left for a honeymoon on the Isle of Wight.
On the day of the wedding a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. John's, Peterborough. but a peal attempt at Dagenham on August 23rd, by the Freewheelers Ringing Society, of which the bride was a member, unfortunately came to grief after $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours.

A peal of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major was, however.
by loud rumblings, we rang several Doubles and Minor methods. Quite a few had a pull and went over the road before they closed.

The coach arrived at Chichester at 3.45, giving the party time to look round the Cathedral before ringing for evensong. The large belfry and wide circle tended to make the ringing very slow, but most of the standard methods were brought round before the bells were lowered in peal at 5.15 .

After tea we had an enjoyable ride along the coast to Brighton. where we turned inland to the last tower, Keymer, with its small belfry and light six.

Although we had one tower less, there was the usual rush for home, and things had to be timed just right to catch all the buses en route and arrive in Tunbridge Wells for a certain last bus at 10.30 . At 10.25 . within a mile of the stop. the two ringers concerned calmly said, 'Our bus doesn't go till 10.40.' Many thanks to the locals who met us at each tower and to the incumbents for the use of the bells.
C. A. B.
rung at Woodford on August 30 th by members of the Essex Association, six of whom are also members of the Freewheelers Ringing Society.

NORWICH ASSOCIATION

Bishop of Thetford Addresses Sculthorpe Meeting

A well-attended meeting of the Western Branch was held at Sculthorpe on August 30th. Divine service was conducted by the Rector (branch chairman), at which a thoughtprovoking address was given by the Rt. Rev. J. W. Woodhouse, Bishop of Thetford.

Tea was served by lady church workers in the pavilion attached to the bowling green

It was decided that if possible the annual meeting should take place at Swaffham on November 29th.

Assisted by neighbours and friends of the Ely Association, the bells, a well cared for light six, were rung to a variety of methods to suit the differing capabilities of those present.

OBITUARY

MR. ALBERT E. SYMONDS

The death of Mr. Symonds, aged 58 , after a period of failing health, on August 24th, at his home at Hitchin. Herts. came as sad news to his many ringing friends in Hertfordshire. where he had recently been elected president of the County Association of Change Ringers
He learned to ring in Suffolk whilst still a lad in the early part of the century, first of all on the village bells of Brome and Oakley, and later at Diss and Eyc
Ater periods in Kent, Lincolnshire and at Hatficld. Herts, and service in the R.A.M.C. during the first World War, he settled in Hitchin in 1926 to continue his work as a horticulturalist. and had been a thoroughly reliable member of the local band ever since, being tower vice-captain for much of the time,
Though not a prolific peal ringer, he took part in both the local peals rung over many years: In 1933, and in September, 1951, his last peal; also in the 30 's, in the unique Symonds name peal at Stowmarket, thus renewing his early link with Suffolk. He rang many quarter peals, however, for Sunday services, from which he was never absent. Until the outbreak of war, in 1939, he tolled the Curfew nightly, an old custom now, unfortunately, lapsed, and instructed many learners, including his own sons.
Early in the last war he became secretary of the Northern District of the Hertfordshire Association, and did much to revive interest in the outlying towers. During his tour of office meetings became more frequent and better attended.
The culminating honour in his ringing career came in April of this year when he became president of the Hertfordshire Association, still holding the chain of office at the time of his home call, ringing and attending meetings as long as he could.
He leaves a widow and two sons, of whom William is an active ringer. His friends in the tower will remember 'Arthur' for his loyalty and his sprightly, cheerful demeanour; he will be greatly missed.
Hitchin bells were rung fully muffled for the funeral, at which ringers from Hitchin, Wymondley, Baldock, Narton, Royston, St. Albans and Apsley End were present, and wreaths were sent from the Association and several local towers. A course on handbells was rung over the grave by representatives of the local company and the Association

An Appreciation

Mr. Edwin G. Buck. secretary, Northern District. Hertfordshire County Association, writes : May I in my humble way write a short appreciation of our friend and president, Albert E. Symonds, known to most of us as Arthur. Since I took over the job of District secretary from him at the beginning of this year I have had the opportunity to read up the old minute books. One can tell from these the vast amount of time and work he had put in for this District.
During the last war everything came to a standstill, but in 1942 Arthur took over and with the few who were left hehind began to build up the District again. He has left us all a grand example from which we can all benefit and his memory will be with us all for many years to come.

MR. ARTHLR WIGGINS

Reading ringers deeply regret the death of Mr. Arthur Wiggins at the age of 65 . He was a member of the St. Peter's, Caversham, band and late chairman of the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.
Mr. Wiggins, who passed away at the Royal Berkshire Hospital on August 26th, learned to ring at All Saints', Boyn Hill. Maidenhead, and rang his first peal there in 1901 under the conductorship of Mr. George Martin. As a young man he joined the Berkshire Constabulary and rose to the rank of superintendent and deputy chief constable of that Force. After periods of duty in various parts of the county, where he always took a vigorous part in local ringing activities, he finally settled in Reading and retired from the Police on health grounds just before the last war.
There is no record of his peals but he must have taken part in a fair number. He was a fine striker and very dependable in the standard methods up to London Surprise. Apart from being a very regular supporter of his own tower, he made a point of attending many other practices, especially where a struggling band wished to make progress. Many young (and not so young) ringers in the Reading District are indebted to his kindly help, always given with a quiet word accompanied with a most pleasant smile.
The funeral was held at St. Peter's, Caversham, on September 1st, conducted by the Rector. The Rev. C. P. Sherwood, chairman of the Reading Branch. read the lesson and the whole pull and stand was rung half-muffled as the cortege left the church. Among the ringers present were Mr. George Martin. Mr. A. D. Cullum. Mr. and Mrs. and C. Lewington. Mr. W. R. Vaughan, Mrs. Catherall. Messis. Foster, Burton, Haines. Baughan. C. Hunt, W. Hunt. V. Cherrill. H. Tucker. Mrs. Dyke (representing Mr. P. J. Dyke) and Mr. A. Diserens.

CONCERNING THE EDITORIAL CHAIR

(But not from it)

WHAT reader knows the drudgery and anxieties of the Editorial Chair? Can it lay any claim to comfort and happiness for its occupant? Can an Editor be allowed to express any opinions of his own? Is he to be regarded as something of a machine, or as a human being? Is he to accept as 'news' anything that comes to his hand, or can he have any ideas of his own about that?

Such questions may provoke a variety of answers; but one does not like to think of him as only the tool of those whom he is appointed to serve; rather that he can be some sort of guide to their policies. Nor would one wish him to be a mere reporter, but as able to impart some sort of personality into the contents of his columns.

It must be one thing to be outside the Editorial Office; quite another to be within it and responsible for a weekly production like 'The Ringing World.' The one outside is free to use his imagination; the one at the Editorial desk is wallowing (we hope) in contributed matter and is compelled to use his discretion, while relying upon some knowledge of his public.

In the main his public has little or no sympathy with him. His readers expect him to turn out a journal which shall contain the acme of interest for them on every page. They will write letters to him, both intelligible and unintelligible, and expect every word to be printed. They will send in their reports and look for post-haste publication.

Yes. It is the Editor of 'The Ringing World ' we have in mind. He knows as we, too, know that 'The Ringing World ' is not simply a newspaper. It has to deal with the highly technical side of campanology as well as with the doings of ringers generally, their opinions, ideas and their needs. It must admit from time to time articles and notes couched, perhaps, in a language for which only the experts presumably possess the dictionary. It must provide a variety of information, as well as comments upon events and achievements, also occasional biographies. Every ringer cannot set the same value upon all the contents of his paper, but every ringer will expect to find something which has a personal interest for him or her, and which makes his or her subscription worth while.

And if a column or two has a dry text-book flavour only to be appreciated, say, by composers and method builders, such have as much right to be considered as others who only look for something more popular, or the record of their performances, or items of an instructive nature.

An Editor does not grow on every tree. He must have peculiar qualifications for the post, especially in controlling a paper for such a community as ringers. More than ever in that case he must have a hide like a leviathan; a gentle yet decisive pen; a blue pencil to wield without fear or favour; a just appreciation of the space or prominence which should be allotted to this or that item, and a full sense of his responsibility so to cater for every type of reader in the Exercise that the circulation may keep up to a high point with good prospects. For, surely, any Editor is to be pitied who is always entirely satisfied with the lay-out of his production, who is not open to suggestions for improvement, or who frets himself to a shadow in the face of criticism.

We may not penetrate into the mysteries which lie behind the door of the Editorial Committee Room. But we may believe that our Editor's hurden is to some extent lightened by the opportunities afforded for consultation with the eminent persons who form that committee and whose knowledge of ringing matters cannot be gainsaid. At the same time, we have no shadow of doubt that our Editor is left the freedom to function as Editor and is in no sense the puppet of the committee.

And who is infallible? 'The man who never made a mistake never made anything' is an old and true saying, and our Editor can be trusted to offer an apology where the facts prove him to be wrong. How often may not the apology be due from those who call him to account?
Perhaps if any random dissatisfied reader were to undertake the job of editing 'The Ringing World ' for a month the Editorial Committee might have real cause for anxiety about the future of the journal! But at the present time we are in good hands, so let us be thankful and helpful, even though occasionally critical, supporters.

GILLETT  AND JOHNSTON  LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian intercst as in the installation of new.

XIL-MORE ABOUT CALLING GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

In addition to calling Grandsire Triples by the position of the 'observation' bell; that is, the bell that returns to the same position at each part end, it is often possible and even more convenient to call touches and peals by the bells 'Before.' This means that you have to memorise the bells that will make the ordinary 3 rds place at the bobs.

An easy example of this kind of thing is the touch of 360 which can be got by calling any of the bells (except the 2 nd's) five times Before. The place to make the actual call, as we pointed out last week, is when the bell hunting down in front of the treble begins its whole pull at lead. What the bob caller has to watch for, therefore, is the lead in which the bell he has selected to call Before is hunting in front of the treble, and call the bob when that bell reaches the front.

This, in turn, implies that he must be able to watch the coursing order of the bells. At first perhaps he will be able to do this only as he passes them with his own bell, but he will see a lot more than that as he progresses. He must learn to make a mental note of the order in which he meets the bells. In this way he will soon have such a command of the ringing that if two bells try to do the same work he will be able unerringly to put them into their right coursing order.
Only practice will make a conductor efficient in this, but there are certain things which he can learn that facilitate his mental transpositions. The first and simplest is that when he meets the treble, the next bell must be the bell in the hunt. Another is that the bell that is hunting in front of the treble in one lead will be after the bell in the hunt in the next. And that leads to the 'cycle', which all the bells follow. This is how the bells come to lead in the plain course after the hunt bell (the 2nd) has led the first time:-

$\begin{array}{llll}3467512 & 5346712 & 7534612 & 6753412\end{array}$

Notice how the order remains unchanged except that the bell in front of the treble takes its place next time immediately after the 2nd. It is hardly necessary, perhaps, to explain that the last 2 in the series is really outside this plain course.
When a bob is called the transpositions affect three bells instead of one. The bell is the hunt is changed and a new cycle is set up. Suppose we call a bob at the first lead, then the order becomes:-
$3462517 \quad 5234617 \quad 6523417 \quad 4652317$, etc. The last two bells in front of the treble take their places immediately AFTER THE TREBLE and in front of the bell leaving the hunt. Then the cycle plan proceeds as for a plain lead with the changed hunt bell.
When the touch is being called by the bells ' Before,' the conductor must follow this cycle of hunting and, if he is observant, he will notice how in each lead the bell he is waiting to call Before will gradually close up to the treble. After he has called it Before once, he will find that the next time he meets it he will have four bells between it and the treble; the next lead three bells; the next lead two and the next one bell. In the following lead it will be immediately in front of the treble and then the next bob has to be called.
Sometimes it is useful to be able to base your observations upon the bells going into the hunt as well as those Before. In that case you call the bob in the lead when you have one bell between the bell going In and the treble. If you watch the coursing order carefully to note the wanted bell closing up to the treble, you should not have much trouble in observing it, but remember the actual 'call' has still to be made when the 3 rds place bell leads.

When you have a series of calls in one position, it is as well to make some other observation' so that you will know when the last of these calls has been made.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-The 5,056 Superlative without bells reversed in 5-6, which appears on page 560 of 'The Ringing World 'of August 29th, can, of course, only be regarded as an inferior variation of the well-known peal by C. H. Hattersley and not as an original composition.
The composition as it now appears could be improved by starting at the 11 th course when the 6th would be 11 of the possible 12 times in 5-6 instead of eight, as at present. To regain the original form of Hattersley's peal from the variation the three homes on ' 34 and the three homes on ' 24 would be omitted and instead of the last four courses the following eight would be substituted-Before, Three Homes, Wrong, Two Homes, Wrong and Three Homes. The peal in this form, giving the 5 th and 6th the extent in $5-6$ is to be found on page 24 of the Central Council Collection (No. 4).

The peal is often rung in either of the following forms-the first giving the 5th and 6th the extent in 5-6 and the second the 4 th and 6th the extent:-

Some of your readers may wonder what the composition would look like reversed. For their benefit the following is the reverse of No. 1:-

In this form the 5th and 6th are still the extent in 5-6 although the 5 th is 12 times home and never in 6ths place and the 6th is nine times in 5th and -hree times in 6th. There are a few ringers (I am not among their number) who prefer to have the 5th and 6th in 5ths place rather than 6ths place.

However, for those who prefer the more conventional form we can start at the eighth course of No. 3 and we have the following :-

| 23456 | B | $\mathbf{M}$ | $\mathbf{W}$ | $\mathbf{H}$ |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 45236 |  |  | - | - |
| 32654 |  | - | - |  |
| 53624 |  |  | - | 3 |
| 63425 |  | - |  | 3 |
| 43526 |  | - |  | 3 |
| 25634 |  | - | - | 3 |
| 65432 |  | - |  | 3 |
| 52436 |  | - |  | 2 |
| 42635 |  | - |  | 3 |
| 23456 | $\mathbf{x}$ |  |  |  |

To make this more respectable and generally acceptable we can transfer the three homes on ' 25 to ' 54 and the three homes on ' 32 to ' 56 and we have the following:-

| 23456 | $\mathrm{B} \stackrel{(5)}{\mathrm{M}}$ | W |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 45236 |  | - |  |
| 32654 | - | - |  |
| 53624 |  | - |  |
| 63425 | - |  |  |
| 43526 | - |  |  |
| 25634 | - | - |  |
| 65432 | - |  |  |
| 52436 | 二 |  |  |
| 23456 | $\mathrm{x}^{-}$ |  |  |

The three homes on '25 and '32 respectively could be retained in addition to those on ' 54 and '56, adding four courses to the length of the peal and giving us 5,952 changes.
There are, of course, many other variations besides those I have mentioned-some of practical value, others not. Many of your younger readers could spend an instructive half-hour in testing the various alternatives of this or any other composition. A word of warning, how-ever-don't waste your time trying to reverse Middleton's (it is the custom of the Exercise to describe Middleton's reversed as 'Johnson's Variation).-Yours faithfully.
P. A. CORBY.
P.S.-Mr. Brian Price reminded us the other week of the word to describe a composition which is the same in its forward form as in reverse. I doubt whether my spelling is equal to the occasion, but it is something like palindromic.

LATE NEWS

We regret to announce the death on Sept. 12 th of Mr. E. J. Avery, secretary of the Axbridge Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. He was 48 years of age.

Mr. Chas. Rowse writes: The work the Prestbury, Glos, ringers have put in to raise enough money for the rehanging of their bells is worthy of the utmost praise. The latest effort was a gymkhana run jointly with the local scouts on a fifty-fifty basis and attended by over 3,000 people. Nearly $£ 240$ is to be divided between the two organisations.
The Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford propose to hold an annual dinner at Wolverhampton on November 15 th.
The bells of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Boughton-in-Furness, Lancs, are now in excellent condition after being hung on ball bearings. Visitors to the Lake District may care to seek out this delightful corner of the Wordsworth country. They will be well rewarded, as the 'go ' of the bells is excellent.
Mr. E. Barnett, Crayford, writes: 'Your correspondent who suggests that Sherborne is the heaviest tenor yet rung to a peal of Superlative has overlooked one at Southwark in the early years of the present century, in which the tenor was rung by the late Henry R. Newton. He also rang Bow tenor to a peal of London much about the same time.' A. H. P.. Guildford, also writes us with similar information, giving the year the Southwark -peal was rung as 1904.

A happy incident occurred at All Saints', Hoole, on Saturday, September 6th, when one of the local ringers, Miss Olive Lewis, was married to Mr. James Ross. As the bride and bridegroom left the church the bells were fired and rung in rounds and call changes. This was a surprise, even to the bride, as the bells are not usually available for weddings. The bride did her share towards these ringing celebrations by ringing her first quarter Deal ( 1,260 Grandsire Doubles) on the previous Sunday.

GOSSIP

Instr. Comdr. Gordon Cross returned to England on September 9th from the Far East, where since July, 1949, he has served at Fleet Meteorological Officer and Fleet Instructor Officer on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, Far East Station. Mrs. Cross, Paul and Jane, who went to Hong Kong in May, 1950, returned with Comdr. Cross.
Comdr. Cross, who is hoping that home appointments will prove more restful than the Far East, expects to join R.N.A.S., St. Merryn, Cornwall, on September 23rd for four weeks and to take up a permanent appointment in the Plymouth area in December.

Mr. E. Barnett suggests that the late Mr. James Pettit, about whom W. S. wrote last week in the 'Ringers I Remember' series, was a silk hat maker. Probably one of our readers may be able to confirm this.
To complete the band for the successful attempt for the 'Frederick' peal at Dodderhill, Mr. F. W. Rishworth, at the age of 78 , stood in at short notice. The other members much appreciate his action and would like to know how many 'Frederick' peals have been rung.
The band that rang the peal of Stedman Caters at Hillingdon on September 6th offer their best wishes to Miss Bannister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Bannister. of Hayes, on the occasion of her 21st birthday.
As is well known, foot and mouth disease is prevalent, and an outbreak has occurred at Sarre, in Thanet. Quex Park being situated in the middle of the park, it has been decided to suspend ringing there temporarily to help in stopping the spread of the disease. as there is a pedigree herd on the estate there. Any ringers contemplating going to Quex should get in touch with Mr. J. A. Russell, 40a, Station Road, Birchington.

MID-ESSEX RINGERS' BUSY WEEK

A SOMERSET TOUR

ZERO hour was $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Saturday, August 16 th, at Ashdown's Garage, Danringers. All those due to be aboard were duly in their place, waiting the off. A short run over the common and we found the Sandon party waiting, then over the river to take on board the Boreham contingent. Here we also had the pleasure of meeting Mr. E. Mastin, of Downham Market. Next stop Springfield, where our Mary found her way into a reserved seat in the back row. Next to join the party were Miss Monk and Bob Dannatt, both from Great Waltham.
In Brentwood High Street our old friend Ernie Furbank soon made himself comfortable, then to complete our party we stopped at Cambridge roundabout to introduce Mr. W. Hazell to all.
Soon we crossed Father Thames for the last time. and the flat countryside gave way to the much more irregular ground of Wiltshire. Of course the White Horse proved as popular as ever. It was most refreshing to see green grass again, but at the same time we prayed that the rain so necessary for the verdure would be delayed.
After a very pleasant run our coach parked amongst the many other coaches in Marlborough High Street, and with 35 minutes to spare our lady members were soon busy window gazing, whilst some others preferred other types of recreation.
Lunch over, we made our way to the Church of St. Mary. where we found the bells up in readiness. Soon this nice six were heard in various methods, the sound attracting the attention of other ringers passing by, who soon found their way to the belfry to join in the ringing. Having caioyed our ring, we took leave of Mr. J. H. Buckley, once again climbed aboard, making our way via Bath and Bristol to arrive at Worle. Weston-super-Mare (where we had headquarters for the week), with 15 minutes to spare. Soon all had found their respective rooms and were very quickly settled

Whilst some preferred to spend the evening relaxed in an armchair, many found their way to Weston for the evening. Later some had the pleasure of meeting Mr. George Prescott. who came to give us final details for Sunday service ringing.

AT CHEDDAR GORGE

On Sunday our farty split up to man the bells of Worle, Kewstoke, Locking and Weston for morning matins. At 2 p.m. the party were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Prescott and soon the coach was on the road to Cheddar. Under the guidance of George, we were soon winding our way to the top of the Mendips. The view of the countryside rolling away in the distance is something that will be remembered by all. After a short run along the top of the hills we found ourselves dropping again, this time through the gorge itself. Long may the memory of this grand spectacle remain. Whilst many took the opportunity to visit the caves, others wandered up amongst the rocks to gain points of vantage from which to use their cameras. Then on to the Church of St. Andrew, Cheddar, where we had the pleasure of ringing on this rather difficult octave for evening service Promptly at 9 a.m. on Monday we commenced our journey to Burnham-on-Sea. The sky was overcast and we feared the worst. Before our destination was reached the rain came, and those who looked forward to a run along the sea front had to be content to sit in the coach and listen to this very nice eight in various methods. It was with great pleasure we welcomed Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shadrack, who joined us for the rest of the day. After a lapse of some 15 months it was a joy to see Harry with a rope in his hand. The sound of the bells brought about another meeting of old friends. Major Freeborn was delighted to find Mr. H. Mansficld a member of the party.
Through heavy rain we made our way to Mark. By mistake an architect looking for leaks in the roof (a most suitable morning for the job) was mistaken for the local ringer. Soon the right man appcared. The bells raised, we set about the task, but the weather seemed to have had its effect, for try as we might they just would not come round, and as a last resource we put on Grandsire to break the spell. Originally a six, the two trebles were added as a war memorial to make a very good octave. So to the Pack Horse, where the landlord had ready a very good meal, and as we ate our spirits rose, for outside the light grew in intensity until at last the rain gave way to sunshine.

LADY VERGER TO THE RESCUE

Next stop was Wedmore, where we were escorted to the belfry by the local postmaster Some hasty repairs were carried out to the chiming wire of the seventh before the bell could be raised. During ringing a young lady from Germany paid a visit to the belfry and was interested to see how bells were rung.
Soon the Tor of Glastonbury was in sight and after a short run we, were outside St. Benedict's. All the possible places were searched, but no key could be found, and after some unsuccessful calls we were at last rewarded by obtaining means of access from the lady verger. The bells (6) were soon raised and set going to various Minor methods. The sound of their voices brought memories to a certain gentleman, who hastened to the belfry with apologies. During our short stay full advantage was taken of the easily handled bells. Then we took the Taunton road to Highbridge, where we said goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Shadrack. In good time we reached Worle for dinner. Soon appeared the 'face at the gate,' denoting it was time for those who wished to join the local band for practice, whilst others set out towards the sea shore.

Tuesday morning found us on the road to Yatton, where we were welcomed by the Price brothers. You could never overlook this tower, for on top is what is called locally the "pepper pot.' There are still better reasons why it should be remembered, for within the tower aie eight bells which are second to none at the weight. The sound of this glorious ring is something which will long be remembered

Reluctantly we left Yatton behind and set course for the coast to find the old Parish Church of Cleveland. But search as we might we could not find a certain genteman.. Providence eventually came to our rescue in the person of Mr. Prescott. Our coach was turned around and the all important man traced, and we were all able to ring a plain course of Triples on this light eight.

Having satisfied the 'inner man.' we made our way to Wraxall, where one of the lady ringers waited to meet us. Soon this nice octave was being put to good use, touches of Stedman being first class. Then over the valley to Backwell, wherc we received a welcome from the Rector. Having shown those bent on ringing to the tower, the Rector kindly showed the rest of the party around his beautiful church. Here we found another good eight, and after ringing in various methods the best drop of the tour took place.
Next stop was at Nailsea. Here again we found a lady ringer awaiting us, to whom many of the party are indebted for a lovely cup of tea. The bells were up and waiting and soon were going merrily, we having been warned that the parishioners were accustomed only to good striking, so we did our best to maintain the standard. After the usual thanks we set course for headquarters. Dinner over, we took our seats once more, but for only a few minutes, for soon we were climbing the steep path to the old church of Uphill, where many people visiting this partly demolished building took the opportunity to see - just how it is done

AT WOOKEY AND WELLS

Punctually at 9 a.m. on Wednesday we set forth for a day of ringing mixed with sightseeing. First stop was the six at Wookey, where we found the fifth rather tucked away behind the clock case. Next to Wookey Hole. where many visited the famous caves. How we wished for those handbells when we found ourselves in the large chamber!
We proceeded to Wells, where we climbed the 73 steps to the belfry of St. Cuthbert's. After a welcome from the Rector, we had a go' on this very large circle, where one's elbows in no way annoy one's neighbour. In fact, for a time, one experiences a feeling of loneliness, which, of course. has some effect on the standard of ringing. After lunch everyone spent the next hour within the walls of the beautiful Cathedral.
The road out of Wells took us high up in the hills. At the end of a very pleasamt run we found ourselves at Chewton Mendip. where $\mathrm{M}_{\mathrm{r}}$. Baber left the harvest field to hid us welcome. The fame of this ring is well known and we were not in any way disappointed. A truly glorious ring. Next to Blagdon, where the church stands high above the great rescrvoir. Here the Rector and one of the local ringers were waiting to welcome us. Those not actively employed in the ringing chamber climbed to the top of the tower to look at the scenery. After thanking the Rector we set off to Weston-super-Mare. Locking was the tower for evening ringing: on this light six touches in various methods were rung, whilst some attempted spliced
Thursday brought us the pleasure of the company of Miss Legg. Our itinerary took us over the border into Gloucestershire-to the octave at Bitton. It was only after many attempts that we at last got the bells round in recognised manner, the reason for the difficulty not being apparent.
With our instructions in hand we made our way into Bristol to the Church of St. Ambrose. Mrs. Skidmore was here to bid us welcome and good use was made of this very pleasant eight; even our Tom was able to ring this treble without effort. Another set of instructions and soon we were at Parkside, with a few minutes to spare before lunch. We took advantage of this to view the city of Bristol. Mr. Skidmore kindly met us to give us directions for the afternoon. Big George struck 3 p.m. just as we moved off after lunch to find Eminanuel, where, after freeing the chiming hammer of the third, the bells were raised. Mr. and Mrs. Mayle, from South Weald, joined us at this tower, and we were quickly at home on this very long draught and enioying some good ringing. Clifton suspension bridge was a great attraction. and the photographers amongst our party were able to show their skill.

BACK IN SOMERSET

So over the river and we were back in Somerset, and a short run brought us to Long Ashton, where the octogenarian. Mr. Yeo, was waiting to greet us. Very proudly he demonstrated the electrical device used successfully during the ban on ringing. Here we brought home touthes in various methods. including Double Norwich, which gave full effect to the tenors.

Weston-super-Mare was the place of call for evening ringing. Here we were joined by several ringers who were on holiday. Too soon the appointed hour of departure arrived, and we said goodbye to the Rev. -. Warren.

Friday morning at the usual hour we were on the road again, with Congresbury scheduled for first stop. With only the 3 rd to raise, we wasted no time, but it is with regret 1 record that only six could make it. Two gentlemen responsible for the 5 th and tenor were thought to be performing the Indian rope trick. Sympathetic bystanders rushed to offer assistance and the music improved. This heavy eight with long draught were not sought after by the fairer sex, one short touch sufficing.

Another pleasant ride through the combes and we were at Chew Magna, where one of the local band welcomed us. The beautiful eight were set going to various methods, and were a source of great satisfaction.

With time in hand we set forth for Burrington Combe, where many hoped to spend a leisurely hour wandering in this beauty spot. But, alas, it was not to be, transport on the road impeding us and we found ourselves 30 minutes late for lunch. Hastily we lined up by the coach to allow our photographer to make a suitable record of the party then indimake a suitable record of the party, then individuals hastened to sit upon the Rock of Ages, cameras being again much in evidence.
Wrington next, where we found Mr. Herbert Knight waiting to greet us. It was a privilege to ring upon this grand ten. Though not many of the band were accustomed to this number, with careful placing the result was quite good' Around the walls are names of great men of the past and present who no doubt enjoyed, as we did, these beautiful bells.
With Mr. Knight as guide, we found ourselves outside the church at Churchill, where waited the Rector and one of the local band. The former kindly showed the party around the church. The usual standard methods were rung on this good six. Due to tower oscillation. a seventh bell was occasionally to be heard.

PRESENTATIONS

Back at headquarters we had an cvening meal. after which Mr. H. Mansfield took upon himself to insert an addition to the programme. On behalf of the company he thanked those who organised the tour, which all had thoroughly enjoyed. In appreciation of services rendered he then presented Mr. A. H. Everett with a pair of book ends and Arthur Smee's 'Somerset," autographed by all those who had taken part in the tour. To Mr. A. H. Edwards for his part in the arrangements a book of road maps was presented. Thanks to our driver for his co-operation were also expressed.

Our last evening was spent at the most pleasantly situated church of Kewstoke, where good use was made of the light six. Then we took our leave of Miss Legg with thanks for her assistance so readily given.

The company assembled in the lounge of Ivy Lodge for the last ceremony. Mr. A. H. Everett told all of the great part Mr. George Prescott had played in the organisation of the tour. His knowledge of the, local towers and geography had been an immeasurable asset. The time given to act as guide was greatly appreciated, and his company was enjoyed by all who had the good fortune to travel with him. It seemed appropriate that after so much talk of bells we should finish on the same note. and on behalf of the band Mr. Everett asked Mr. Prescott to accept as an appreciation of his services 'Bells of all Nations.' suitably inscribed and autographed by all.

Mr . Prescott returned thanks for the gift, saying it gave him pleasure to assist ringers. Though time had been too short to get to know everyone well, he hoped through the signatures, and the medium of 'The Ringing World' to get to know many much better.

THE LAST DAY

Saturday morning was rather different. There seemed to be a feeling of regret abroad. Quietly the cases were packed aboard the coach, and we took leave of Mr. and Mrs. Stannard, then Mrs. Prescott, but we were pleased to have as company Mr . Prescott, under whose guidance we travelled via Blagdon to Corston, where we found a youthful member of the band waiting to greet us to act as guide to Bath. After a while we grew accustomed to the light octave with short draught and settled down to some reasonably good touches. Here the Rector came to bid us goodbye, wishing us a pleasant journey.
So to Twerton, where we were warned that a broken stay was 12s. 6d.! There was no need for the injunction, as no one was lacking in experience by this time. We were pleased to meet one of the local veterans, who kindly showed us around, relating the story of the raids on Bath and the damage done by bombing to this church. And so after eight days of ringing the final 'Stand' came.

In Bath we said goodbye to George, who was soon due at a meeting of his own division, and our guide took us on through the city centre to tind parking room near the Abbey, which was the attraction of all for the few minutes to spare before lunch.
After the repast we moved homeward. Gradually the scenery changed as we moved over the border and, having left Wiltshire behind, the surroundings looked more familiar. At Maidenhead we took tea, then at about 8 p.m. we dropped our first member in Holloway. Then for the rest of the evening it seemed to bc all goodbyes, until at $9.50 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the coach drew into its garage and the few left dispersed.
Finally may we take this opportunity to thank all those who have in any way assisted our tour, the incumbents for so kindly allowing us the use of their bells, to all local ringers for their co-operation, especially those who came along to meet us, to those who gave us advice, so greatly valued. Mr. G. Prescott, Mr. Roger O. Fry, Mr. F. Skidmore and Mr. H. Knight, and any others I may have inadvertently overlooked.

MARRIAGE OF MISS O. J. OSLER

Ringers who know Miss Olive Osler will wish to offer her their congratulations on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. Dennis Upton.
The wedding took place on Saturday, Sept. 6ith, and was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Greenstreet. Vicar of Bramley. Hants. assisted by Rev. J. R. Brookes-Davies. Rector of Tadley. Fellow-ringers rang the bells to welcome the bride to the church, and after the signing of the register the bride, her father, her mother and her bridesmaid all took part in the ringing. As the happy couple left for their honeymoon, Grandsire Triples were rung on handbells to speed them on their way.
During the evening the following band of Bramley and Basingstoke ringers rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Bramley: C. peal of Grandsire Triples at Bramley: C.
Herridge 1, Miss J. Baby 2 , C. Osler $3, S$. Webb (cond.) 4, R. Story 5, W. Perry 6, W. Clift 7, H. Bartlett 8 .

BELLS IN A FILM

Attention has previously been called to the possibility of Superlative Surprise Major being heard in the film 'Something Monev Can't Buy., which contains a couple of shots of cricket on the village green taken while a peal was being rung in the nearby church. Mr. A. H. Kemp, of Hawkhurst, writes that the background music of the bells can be heard very faintly in the film.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Eastern Branch at Awliscombe
The quarterly meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Awliscombe on September 6th. The Guild service was held in the Parish Church at 4.15 p.m., conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. Harvey), the address being given by the Rev. G. L. Edwards (Vicar of Combe Raleigh). About 30 ringers sat down to tea, provided by the ladies and local ringers. The election of three life members was confirmed. The sympathy of the branch was extended to the president (Prebendary E. V. Cox) who has recently gone through a major operation; the hon. secretary reported he had visited Prebendary Cox that morning in hospital, and was glad to say he had made such rapid progress he was going home that afternoon.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicars of Awliscombe and Combe Raleigh, the visitors, and the ladies and local ringers for the tea. Mr. Summers kindly gave 10s:, the profit from tea, to the Guild Bell Restoration Fund.
The January meeting was arranged for Honiton on January 24th, 1953.

HUDDERSFIELD DISTRICT

A good meeting was held at Northowram on Saturday, September 6th. Despite a late start, a few short touches were rung before the brief service, which was conducted by the curate of this fine church, our president on this occasion being away on holiday. Following tea and sandwiches, the business meeting was soon well under way, Mr. J. Pearson taking the chair. The usual formalities of reading the minutes and apologies, etc., were followed by a vote of thanks to local ringers, which was heartily endorsed by all.

An invitation to hold our next meeting at Kirkburton was readily assented to by all and the date fixed was November 8th. One new member was elected. While a few members stayed behind for a little handbell ringing the tower bells were soon ringing again. Methods rung included Plain, Little and Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Minor. The striking was well above the average for a meeting, while one or two touches were excellent. An encouraging feature was the good proportion of youth among the 30 members present. A good lower in peal at 9 p.m. brought another successful meeting to a close.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MINUTES

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the official minutes' of the Central Council meeting held on May 28th last, and, on the strength of their appearance, we venture to put forward a few ideas which occur as to the futility of their publication. These minutes reached our office exactly fifteen weeks after the meeting was held, and they are merely a brief summary of all that has previously been reported in EXTENSO. They contain no information of value which was not far more elaborately dealt with at the time, and there is no need to hide the fact that.... the publication of these minutes is a waste of labour and a waste of space.
[' The Bell News, did not provide its own record of Council proceedings, hence an ' agreed' version-agreed between the secretary and president from a rough summary made at the meeting-used to appear. These official minutes ' were sent to 'The Ringing World' also, because the Council had that year granted it official recognition. Mr. Goldsmith had, however. previously published his own account, some 22,000 words, in the issues of his paper immediately following the meeting.]

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

VISITING RINGERS

Dear Sir,-Some time ago we ringers in the Medway towns, particularly St. Mary's, Chatham. were fortunate in having ringers from H.M. Forces (Royal Navy and Royal Engineers) to swell our numbers and assist in service ringing and practices and occasionally a peal or two. They were not stationed in Chatham for long, but it seemed that as one was posted away so another came along to replace him.
For the past two years or so, however, we have not had a continuance of such visitors. We at Chatham are beginning to wonder whether the Royal Navy or Royal Engineers are not now enlisting bellringers or if it is that all the young bellringers are volunteering for the RAF

However, we are always pleased to meet and welcome any ringers of H.M. Forces who may be stationed in Chatham and anyone in the Royal Engineers coming to Chathan for a period can contact me at the Central Documents Office, 10 Trade Training Regiment, R.E., when I should only be too pleased to put them in touch with the ringing in this area.Yours faithfully, VICTOR A. JARRETT.

ADVERTISING THE BELFRY

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. S. G. Ponting, his idea is extremely good, but unfortunately where the ringing chamber is up aloft very few of the gencral public bother to come in. I suggest the porch would be the better place, with a special notice board for the ringers' activities.

We cannot afford to be indifferent towards would-be recruits; they should be encouraged. In my experience one can usually interest boys from the choir at "voice-breaking ' age. for in many cases this is the time when the youth are left to drift away from the Church and are lost.-Yours sincerely, H. A. PRICE.

Eagle House, Yatton.

ARTHUR WIGGINS

Dear Sir.-It is sad to read of the passing of an old friend and ringer, Arthur Wiggins. one of nature's gentlemen. Some of us knew him 40 odd years ago at Wokingham when, as a young police constable, he was always willing to make up the band for a peal attempt whenever his duties permitted. He came from the tower of Boyne Hill. Maidenhead. when that band was in its prime and, as one would expect. his ringing was of the highest order. But it was his wonderful personality that won the hearts of all that met him. His simple goodness and his joy of living make us miss him the more and his place will be hard to fill. May he rest in peace.-Yours, etc..

Binsted. Hants.
W. J. PAICE.

RUGBY BROADCAST

Dear Sir--Being a Rugby old boy, I was interested to listen to the old five bells in the old tower. I read in "The Ringing World ' the band rang 120 Grandsire Doubles. I regret to say how disappointed I was with the broadcast as we did not hear enough changes to be able to tell what the method was. I often wonder if it is worth the trouble we go to. I never rang on these old bells until after they were rehung on ball bearings some 20 years ago, but as a schoolboy I used to listen to them before the new eight were installed or before the new tower and spire were built. It is hard to believe they are out of order so soon. The wood frame looks as good to-day as the day it was put in. C. H. WEBB.

LONDON SURPRISE ROYAL

Dear Sir,-May I, as the culprit who at the annual meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild raised the subject of London Surprise Royal, try to clarify the position in all goodwill and friendliness.

The president of the Leicester Guild had no part in this, in fact he was informed only half an hour before the meeting that the matter would be raised. The Lord Bishop of Leicester was in the chair and accepted the proposal and the reason for it (maybe somewhat bewildered) and put it to the meeting. The proposal called for the acceptance of the peal in the Guild records as a peal of Surprise Royal omitting the word 'London' from the title, pending a decision by the Central Council as to a correct name.

After the meeting a discussion regarding London and other methods took place and Mr. H. J. Poole gave the assurance that any extensions he had rung which also did not comply with the 1950 report he would, where the responsibility was his, withdraw the name and substitute another. He has since confirmed his intention of doing so.

Since the Leicester Guild mecting the Methods Committee have published a report giving a list of extensions which they consider do not comply with the 1950 report-although some of these may be debatable, as was evident at the Central Council meeting at Lincoln. The list Mr . Worth gives, however, is somewhat different from the Methods Committee's.

Mr. Worth raises a most interesting point affecting the 1950 report. Is the effective operation of the 1950 report (having been approved and adopted) dependent upon the adoption of a fifth rule? It is well known that the opposition to a fifth rule has largely been from the Leicester Guild, i.e., to the introduction of tables of pivot bells. It will be as well, therefore, to state again (see my letter in "The Ringing World.' September 21st, 1951, and as yet unanswered by the Methods Committee) 'that an extension of a method is true or not before the pivot place is made.'
It is to be hoped that after two unsuccessful efforts to persuade the Central Council to accept the very dubious means of determining what is or is not a true extension by use of pivot bell tables the Methods Committee will now forget them.

In conclusion may I assure Mr. Worth and our Cheshire friends that my proposition at the Leicester Guild meeting did not in any way reflect upon their performance or upon, them as individuals, the only question being the use of the name "London.'

I have yet to meet a ringer who will claim there is a true extension of London Major.Yours sincerely,
K. A. ROE.

OWNER WANTED FOR CAMERA

Dear Sir,-Last year a band of ringers toured this part of Wales, coming, I believe, from Chichester, the majority being cyclists. One of the party left a camera in the tower of St . Thomas' Church, Neath. If the owner would get in touch with me at the address given below, the article in question will be restored.-Yours sincerely,
E. J. MORRIS.

APPRECIATION OF SERVICE

Dear Sir, -The peal of Bob Minor at the Church of St. Cyr, Stonehouse, Glos, on Saturday, September 6th, was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr . Tom Price, secretary of the Stroud Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association since 1937 and captain of the tower for over 30 years.
Few people, except other branch secretaries, realise the work entailed in arranging meetings. The Stroud Branch hold their meetings monthly besides the expected annual outing. The letters and visits to the clergy to make these occasions a success are no light matter. Then there are the minutes to be written up and the subscriptions collected. These are a few of the secretary's duties. The members of the branch are most appreciative of the way Mr. Price has carried on as their secretary year after year. But probably even more, many of the members have appreciated his help and tuition and encouragement in the actual art of ringing; he has probably taught more pupils the rudiments of our art than he would care to count, and some, of course, have wasted his efforts by giving up before they had Jearnt to ring a method. But he is still as enthusiastic as ever and is always ready to help in a tower where members are struggling to improve.

We hope the birthday peal will express some of our appreciation and gratitude.
Thank you, Mr. Price.
D. S. and L. B.

ONE-HAND CLOCKS

Dear Sir,-There is one such clock with a very attractive dial at Edenbridge, Kent.
Regarding the 48 -minute clock, this is, no doubt, the relic of the days when this clock had only one hand, and marks the quarter hours. Obviously the minute scale was unnecessary in these clocks. In the first half of the 18th century, even after two hands had been introduced, the quarter-hour circle continued to be engraved or drawn inside the hour circle, while the minute circle, of ten with very prominent numerals, was drawn outside. This is often seen in the earlier domestic clocks, and is some indication of their age.-Yours faithfully,

F. S. POOLE (Dr.).

Abbots Langley, Herts.

Dear Sir,-Another one-handed clock is at Caddington, near Luton. Made in 1695 by a local blacksmith, the dial is diamond shaped, with a very rusty hour hand, and the clock is still in quite good order. In the churchwarden's accounts. 1720-1763, between 15 s . and $£ 1$ per annum was paid for winding, but since then it has been included in the general church duties and no separate payments are made.

I am certain the clock would be going now but for the very badly worn stairs and the necessity of daily winding, as a loose screw on the escapement is all that is wrong.-Yours truly,

GEOFFREY DODDS.

THE SOCIETY OF RAMBLING RINGERS

Fifteen Day Tour from Stratford and Through the West Country

N oddments and by various routes the Socicty met under the shadow of the tower of Stratford-upon-Avon Church on Saturday, August 2nd. The Mushes were the first to arrive and gloatingly addressed the party with the comment that they had already had a ring. After the usual handshakes all round, the bells (10, tenor 19 cwt .) were set going and good striking resulted on these fine-toned bells.

The second and last tower of the day was Bidford ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where moderate striking was had on these lumpy yet mellow bells. Then, after 'tanking up " by a number of the party, way was made to the Youth Hostel for the night.
The next day (Sunday, 3rd) was of the same indeterminate weather as the nrevious day when the narty assembled for service ringing at the Evesham Bell Tower (12, 36 cwt ). The ringing here was not up to standard as the ringers were only just fecling their feet. The majority of the party attended matins.

After a substantial meal Broadway ( 6,18 cwt.) was visited and justice was done to this fine. long-draughted ring of six. What a pity it is that the 19th century monstrosity in the village is used more often than this fine old church. Thence on over beautiful hills (although certain members of the party called them otherwise) to St. Mark's, Cheltenham ( 5.17 cwl ). These rough-going bells were rung for Sunday service with much hitting of the floor.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

On Monday at $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. the party were ringing on the fine light eight (tenor 14 cwt.) at St. Mary-de-Crypt, Gloucester. Here they were joined for this tower only by a lady ringer from London. who afterwards showed the only two mechanised members of the Society round the Cathedral.

Berkeley ( $10,24 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was reached at 1 p.m. and ringing on these rough-going bells had to be curtailed owing to a fete being in progress. We were joined at this tower by Mr. and Mrs. Beamish and Margaret who stood in a course of Cambridge Royal.

Thence on to Bristol where we rang at Christ Church ( $10,23 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and were met by Roger O. Fry: SS. Philip and Jacob's (8. 20 cwt.) where the woodwork inside the ringin? room. carved entirely by the local steeplekeeper. was most impressive; finally St. James ${ }^{\prime}(10,28$ cwt.) where we met a grand old man of the Exercise who told us of the past glorics of his tower and the ringing enthusiasm of those davs. A night's drink of our first 'rough " cider concluded a happy day

CIDER AND RINGING

It was 'once more into the breach. dear friends " when we sallied forth on Tuesday into a weighty day. We arrived on time at Long Aston, but unfortunately no one arrived with the key so we went away disappointed.
The eight at the next tower. Congresbury, was much admired although it was agreed that the tenor went its full 35 cwt . After light refreshment in the local at Wrington, the $37-\mathrm{cwt}$. ten was much enjoyed despite the cider-bemused state of several, including the Ringing Master Thence to Chew Magna. a fine-toned eight of 28 cwt. . where the double-handed expert found that cider and double-handed ringine did not mix (please note. my dear friend). Banwell ( 8. 23 cwt .), a glorious ring, completed our heavy yet enjoyable day.

GOOD BELLS AND A WATERLOO
On Wednesday, 6th, the first tower to be visited was Axhridge ( $6,19 \mathrm{cwt}$.)-another gond-roned ring. Then on to the two good eights at Cheddar ( 23 cwt .) and Wedmore ( 30 cwt .) : the ringing on these was of a good standard. At St. Cuthbert's, Wells, we met our Waterloo; whether it was the vastness of the ringing chamber, the long draught or the apparent remoteness of the bells we shall never know.

Four cyclists and the two on the motor-cycle were the only people with sufficient energy left to ring at Pilton ( $6,18 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Here, on these fine bells, the ringing was, to use the name of a method, superlative.

The Cathedral was visited in the evening by those whose accommodation was sufficiently near Wells. Thanks to the locals for letting us 'barge in' on their practice night.
The ringing at Street (8. 23 cwt .) on Thursday was without its Ringing Master, who arrived too late to take part in the proceedings. Thence on to Butleigh ( 6,19 cwt.). The low tenor sally here caused much rubbing of the hands after ringing. Some of the cider experts tried some of the verger's local brew, with warming effects !

After a dinner of sandwiches and cider a rattling good course of Rutland was had on the fine-toned eight (tenor 24 cwt .) at Ditcheat. Of this course the Ringing Master remembers nothing, although he rang the tenor.

We regret there was a poor raise in peal on the finc-toned ten (tenor 21 cwt .) at Evercreech. This tower was classed by some as being the finest ten of their weight in the world

LADIES IN THE NEWS

What a glorious ring of hells we found at the next tower. Bruton ( 6.25 cwt .), and our touch of Cambridge did full iustice to them. Miss Jean Brooks then showed the party that it is possible for a voung lady to lower a 25 -cwt. tenor in peal. Miss Eileen Burton, not to be outdone, rang it for a touch. (Watch out, men. we're being got at!)
At night, owing to youth hostel accommodation, the party had to solit into two sections. Ringing was had with the locals at their practice night on the fine-going six (tenor 17 cwt .) at Stoke-under-Ham. The other tower was Walton (five bells).
Ringing began on Friday 8 th at Brifowater ( $8,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.): excellent-sounding bells. The town was the next obiective, that is. Taunton, the home of cider. Here on this 19-cwt. cight the ringing was good, perhaps the bracing air had some effect !

A WET JOURNEY

Milverton (8. 18 cwt .) with its fine sallies. was next visited. After this came Ash Priors (6. 12 cwt.), a little oasis in the midst of so much weight. Here a very kind gentleman provided the soaked (with rain) ringers with cups of tea. A very fine gesture which was nuich apmreciated. Midst pouring rain the hordiest among the party journeved to ring at Bishod's Iydard 18. 23 cwt .) in the evening. Here a erim battle of the ringers versus the tower was fought. The ringers came out triumphant. until Original was tried.
Next morning, Saturdav. 9th. found uc at the anti-clockwise (cack-handed) six (tenor 16 cwt .) at Crowcombe. Here the ringino was rood despite this handicad. Geoffrey R. Parker said goodbye to us here, and turned to make his lone. solitary ride back to L incoln
The Ringing Master missed the first part of the ringing at Minehead (10. 20 cwt.) due to the facts that he had to go to the dentist's to have two teeth taken out. This ten was much enjoved and the best ringing of the tour was a course of Grandsire Trinles with practically the considered weakest band in.
At Dunster (8. 22 cwt .) our ringing must have been up to scrateh as one of the locals said it would do the anti-turn in ringers good to have heard us. After a long. hillv ride and adverse weather. the last tower of the dav Bampton (6. 15 cwt .) was rune after tra. These were rough-going yet the ringing went well.

OUTINGS

ST. MARY'S, CHATHAM

On Saturday, August 30th. the ringers of St Mary's, Chatham, augmented by ringers from Bobbing. Frindsbury. Rainham, Sittingbourne and Upchurch and accompanied by their wives, families and friends-a party of 37-set off for a tour of Sussex. Towers visited were Heathfield (8), Southover (10). Brighton (St. Peter's) (10). Ardingly (6) and Tunbridge Wells (8). The day's tour was pronounced as near perfection as could be.

Every piace was reached on time with someone there to greet us: all the bells were in splendid going order, meals prompt and excellent fare, some grand scenery on route and weather beyond reproach. What more could one wish for a ringers' outing?
The ringing ranged from Stedman Doubles to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Minor to Cambridge Major and Treble Ten. The ringing during the day was generally quite good, only two touches (one of Boh Minor and one of Double Norwich) failing to materialise, through the respective conductors missing a bob.
The thanks of the party are accorded to the incumbents and ringers of the churches visited for their assistance and co-operation in making the day so enjoyable.

PRESTBLRY, GLOS.

Following last year's experiment. we have again had two half-day outings- on June 14th, when we visited Bushley, Upton-on-Severn, Earl's Croome, Ripple and Twyning: it was a very good day, greatly enjoyed by all and a hetter selection of bells it would be hard to find. Then, on September 6th, we went to Westhury-on-Severn. Newnham-on-Severn. Blaisdon. Huntley and Churcham. The bells at Westbury proved to be almost ton heavy for us, and at the next tower the 'go' left much to be desired, but the others made up for that. so again we were all happy at the end of the day.
We hode to be able to ring in our own tower again before Christmas as we have now raised nearly enough to cover the cost of rehanging. the order for which has been placed with Messrs Mears and Stainbank by the Church Council.
C. R. Council.

DEDICATION

KINGSTON SEYMOUR, SOMERSET

At evensong on Sunday, September 7th (harvest festival day), the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells preached the sermon and also rededicated the six bells which have been tuned and rehung on ball bearings by Mears and Stainbank of the Whitechapel Foundry. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. W. R. Rowlands).

After the service the local ringers rang some well-struck rounds which gave the visitors a chance to hear the beauty of this grand ring. Touches were rung which included Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor. All ringers present agreed that the founders had made a first-class job of tuning, and Mr. Douglas Smith is to be congratulated for his part in hanging them.
Details of the bells. which are now a fine ring of six. are as follows: Tenor, 17 cwt. 7 lb. E: Sth, 10 cwt .1 qr. $12 \mathrm{lb}, \mathrm{F}$ sharp; $4 \mathrm{th}, 8 \mathrm{cwt} .4 \mathrm{ll} . \mathrm{G}$ sharp; $3 \mathrm{rd}, 6 \mathrm{cwt}$.2 qr , A: 2nd, 6 cwt .3 lb ., B ; treble, 5 cwt .20 lb harp.
The cost of restoration was about $£ 300$.

THE ST. MARTIN'S YOUTHS

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

The first of the two notable peals of 1820 was 7,200 of Kent Treble Bob Maximus, rung at St. Martin's on April 17th by the following band: William Bennett 1, James Jarvis 2, William Hassall 3, Thomas Worrall 4, Alexander Saunders 5, Henry Cooper (conductor) 6 Samuel Lawrence 7, Joseph Grayson 8, Joseph Riley 9, Thomas Chapman 10, William Marsh 11, Thomas Thurstans 12 . It was the longest length on twelve bells up to that time, was rung at the first attempt, and altogether constituted a very fine performance. St. Martin's Guild has in its possession a printed sheet which refers to the peal as follows:-

'A SUPERLATIVE ACHIEVEMENT IN

 THE ART OF RINGING.Birmingham, April 17th, 1820.
'The Society of St. Martin's Youths having for some time contemplated a Peal of Changes on 12 Bells, which should exceed in number any Peal ever rung in the United Kingdom, appointed Monday the 17 th inst. for the attempt; and although there were high odds (say 100 to 1) against any Band ringing a Plain Peal at the first onset, yet by an anxious attention to, arid a superior possession of, this great science, they succeeded in completing the Herculean task in 5 hours and 8 minutes. The Peal comprised 7,200 Changes of New Treble Bob Maximus; and what eminently combines to enrich this performance is. that it was rung at the first attempt, was the first Peal of New Treble Bob Maximus ever performed, and the greatest number of changes ever rung on 12 bells

Another generation may rise up to eclipse this, but the present will in all probability suffer it to remain a STANDING DISH UNTOUCHED.
It will be noted that the method is referred to as New Treble Bob Maximus. In the Peal Book of the Guild the record calls it 'Oxford Treble Bob with the Kent Variation,' and it is indeed the first recorded peal of Kent Trcble Bob Maximus.

6.600 STEDMAN CINQUES

In the December of the same year the Society recorded another fine performance, 6,600 Stedman Cinques, conducted by Thomas Thurstans from the 11 th. Saunders and Grayson were not in this peal, their places being taken by Joseph Powell and Charles Thurstans.

They were a distinguished company, these men who made Birmingham famous in $1820-$ William Bennett, a brass caster with a business Bordesley Street; tall square-shouldered Thomas Worrall, the upholsterer; Alexander Saunders, the sexton at St. Martin's, who made an illicit income by letting pews in the church; Thomas Chapman, the rather austere-looking jeweller who held an important position with a firm in St. Paul's Square ; and that fine ringer Joseph Powell, whose son, Thomas Powell, became an excellent handbell ringer and rang, among other notable performances, in the first peal of Stedman Triples ever rung on handbells.
Jarvis was a stout-built man, a brass caster with a good position in the firm of Pemberton and Sons, Livery Street. He was a good allround ringer, and probably took part in more peals than any other member of the old St. Martin's Youths. William Hassall, cashier for many years to the old Birmingham Gas Company. rang in the long peal of 1793. He was superannuated by the Gas Company when he was 78 years of age and greatly resented being put on the retired list. Charles Thurstans, brother to the more famous Thomas, was employed by a firm of silversmiths. He was a skilled musician and a member of the orchestra in the town. He is said to have been the first man in Birmingham to play the ophicleide. William Marsh was a short, thick-set man, a very good ringer at the heavy end. He was great-grandfather to Alderman A. Paddon Smith, who was secretary to St. Martin's Guild a hundred years later and who followed Marsh's example as a fine heavy-bell ringer

Of Thomas Thurstans more must be said when the story of Stedman Triples is told
Among the ringers of this early part of the 19th century there are two notable figures, Benjamin Pugh and Elijah Roberts, the former conductor to the Society before Cooper, and the latter hovering on the fringe of the great events of 1820.
Ben Pugh, known as 'Old Ben,' was a maker of steel pipes for watch keys, and a very great number of ringers received instruction from him, chiefly at St. John's. There can be little doubt that the well-known peal of Grandsire Triples attributed to Taylor was the composition of Ben Pugh. The peal was published in Shipway's book as Taylor's in 1816, but when it was rung at King's Norton in 1811 it was entered in the Society's records as Pugh's peal. The composition has always been known in Birmingham as "Old Ben's peal.'

ELIJAH ROBERTS

That extraordinary genius, Elijah Roberts, was born in Birmingham in 1807. He rang in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Aston in 1821 with Thomas Day, and in 1830 he stood in Day's 5,040 Stedman Triples. He was a brass founder by trade, but he was also a clever craftsman, and fond of constructing chiming clocks. For some years round about the ' 30 's he kept The Union Tavern in Jamaica Row, and most of the ringers in the town resorted to this house. He was an excellent ringer and composer, and Thomas Day describes him as a nice lad with bright and keen blue eyes' and of a very determined nature.'
This last phrase would seem to accord with Roberts' extraordinary feats of endurance and concentration, for in the tapping of peals on handbells he recorded performances the achievement of which we might well doubt but for the testimony of those who witnessed them. The first of these amazing peals was tapped in 1824, when Roberts was sixteen years old. It was made up of a plain course of each of the following: Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, and Treble Bob Triples; Grandsire, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major: 'Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, and Treble Bob Caters; Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Treble Bob Royal; Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, and Treble Bob Cinques; Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Treble Bob Maximus; the peal concluding with a course of Treble Bob Sixteen In. In 1827 he tapped 5,040 Treble Bob Maximus, and three years later 7,536 in the same method. On June 30th, 1833, he tapped 5,016 Stedman Cinques, composed by himself and conducted by Henry Cooper. Henry Johnson heard every blow of this peal, which was rung at The Union Tavern.

About the year 1834 Roberts left Birmingham, first to become guard on a stage coach, and later to drive a coach of his own. Subsequently he took The Derby Arms, a public house in Liverpool, and here he rang his last and longest peal. It was 19,440 Kent Treble Bob Maximus, Reeves' Five-Part, and Roberts tapped it on his handbells in thirteen hours and forty-three minutes. There were no witnesses, but there can be little doubt that the stupendous performance took place. It has been written about on many occasions, and in 1911 the discovery of a letter written by Roberts led William Snowdon to produce a critical survey of the peal. Mr. Snowdon dealt skilfully with the pros and cons of Roberts' claim, and left very little doubt that the peal was rung. And there it stands as perhaps the most remarkable feat of concentration in the history of ringing.

Elijah Roberts met his death by his own hand on January 26th, 1865.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD'S WEEK

A Tour in Kent and Sussex

THE Cambridge University Guild held a very successful week this year based at Tunbridge Wells. It will be remembered as the first ringing week to be arranged by a lady member of the Guitd (ladies were only in recent years admitted to membership of the University), and Gillian Anderson Smith proved herself more than competent to take charge of the arrangements-so much so that members who sidetracked the programme to the smallest degree had a strong feeling of guilt! Members met on Monday, August 25th, at the ring of eight in Buxted Park, where a creditable peal of Double Norwich was scored. The tourists assembled at the Alexandra Hotel in Tunbridge Wells, and an unofficial expedition left to snatch Frant tower, while others appropriated a bedroom and rang a handbell peal of Bob Major.

Tuesday started with Corporate Communion celebrated by the president (the Rev. A. C. Blyth) at St. Peter's Church. The Guild then toured to the north-west, visiting Penshurst, Edenbridge and Westerham. After lunch the ring of six at Brasted was sampled. Here we found a Guild peal board, celcbrating the wedding of Wilfred Hooton. Ringing and tea in Sevenoaks were followed by ringing on the fine eight at Wrotham. After dinner, the usual bedroom was borrowed under duress, and a peal of Bob Royal 'in hand' scored.

The next morning eight set off for Salehurst in a hurry, to the tune of a kipper on an exhaust manifold, and a peal of Yorkshire Surprise was brought round. For the rest, the malingering at breakfast (usual at this period of the ringing weeks) was sternly dealt with by the organiser, and ringing followed at Wadhurst, Ticehurst and Sedlescombe. The peal band was joined in Battle, followed by ringing on the fine eight. Then on to Christ Church, Hastings, and tea. A splinter group developed in strict secrecy (led, be it known, by the president), and visited Bodiam Castle, to turn up at Hawkhurst rather late. Here the church was hit by a flying bomb during the war, and the nave roof is being rebuilt, but the tower and bells were practically undamaged.

GUILD ANNUAL MEETING

On Wednesday evening, the Guild annual meeting was held, and it was decided to ask

Mr. E. M. Atkins, of Teignmouth, to arrange next year's tour in South Devon.

Horsmonden tenor tried the skill of the Guild on Thursday. Here in the belfry is a fine open fireplace, so that the trebles can keep warm during a peal, but we did not see a refrigerator for the tenor ringer. One can stand in the fireplace and look up the chimney to the sky. Ringing followed at Goudhurst and Benenden. At the latter place the ringers' cars filled up the private car park of an inn. This gave a castiron excuse for waiving the programme, as the car park was for customers only. Then, after weaving in and out of the ungated level crossings of the Kent and East Sussex Railway, the fine eight at Tenterden were sampled. Here the view from the noble tower is magnificent.

Headcorn was next visited, where one rings to the accompaniment of the Continental boat expresses. Cricket enthusiasts got really fine fielding practice at Leeds on the ninth bell. Here the extent of Bob Major was rung in the 18 th century, and the walls of the ringing chamber do justice for a visitors' book. After supper the practice night personnel at All Saints', Maidstone, welcomed the Guild, and a course of Cambridge Royal came round un-usually-at the end of the course!

Friday morning gave us some really fine rings-Withyham, the peal ringer's rendezvous -and later Rotherfield. On the way to Mayfield several cars got lost, due to conflicting ideas between map-readers and the driver of one car refusing to go down a very rough track. At Rotherfield after lunch a good peal of Bob Major was rung, the remainder ringing at Uckfield and Warbleton. Excessive zeal on the part of the organiser prevented the peal band having tea, and a very hungry team rang at Heathfield before returning to Tunbridge Wells. After dinner the long-suffering bedroom was treated to a peal of Bob Major, while others snatched Speldhurst tower

On Saturday, the first failure occurred, when a peal of Superlative Surprise went west at Burwash. We were left with memories of a very successful programme, having rung at the pick of the towers around in delightful weather In thanking the organiser and all the Kent and Sussex ringers who helped us enjoy the week, we look forward to next year's week by the red cliffs of Devon.

ARE RINGING EXCURSIONS JUSTIFIED?

APARTY of ringers recently made a journey of some fifty or sixty miles from the London area to ring a peal at a remote country church. The first arrival was met at the church by a local ringer with the key to the belfry. By the time the other ringers arrived the local ringer had gone and their own colleague was up amongst the bells, having found that one rope was hanging on the belfry wall. In addition to replacing this rope it was necessary to splice another before ringing could commence. The bells in this tower were thoroughly restored, no doubt at considerable expense, about twenty years ago. The state of the ropes gives an indication to the extent to which they are used.

The peal was duly rung and two of the ringers crossed the road to the vicarage to return the belfry key. The vicar was delighted to have had the bells rung, but his chief astonishment lay in the fact that a full band of ringers should think it worth coming fifty miles or so just to ring a peal on his bells, when his own ringers could not be persuaded to cross the road to ring them.

At another tower on another occasion, also this year, a peal ringing party were met afterwards by a local ringer who-offered his congratulations and said how much he wished he could ring like that.

Experiences of this kind are by no means new to ringers who have taken the opportunity to ring in strange towers, and surely the fact emerges that in church after church up and down the country, sometimes in a remote hamlet but not seldom in a crowded city, the bells hang still and lifeless month after month and year after year. As the old bell inscription has it, 'Touch me and I sweetly ring, untouched I am a useless thing.' In other places it is the exception rather than the rule for the full number of bells to be rung-in many instances this is a good rather than a bad thing, but at the same time the bells were put there to be rung.

Surely from all this there emerges a good case for the properly conducted peal ringing tour, for the annual ringers' outing, for the 'tower-grabbing' (abominable word) expedition, or any other goodwill mission. As we read in 'The Ringing World ' week by week the accounts of these excursions it should be obvious to all but the curmudgeons that the visitors are usually welcome and that in many instances the visited share their pleasure.

Needless to say, there are on occasions some appalling exhibitions of bad taste and the grossest manners on the part of the visitors, but it would be difficult to find any department of life but where some ill-mannered buffoon will spoil things for the majority by his own sheer selfishness. There was the unfortunate incident of a particular peal earlier this year, ventilated ad nauseum in the columns of 'The Ringing World '; there was the indiscretion of the party touring the West Country a few years ago who completed their Sunday afternoon peal some 20 minutes after the commencement of evensong; there was the thoughtlessness of the visitors to Devon who were responsible for closing a call-change tower to change ringers through interfering with ropes when they had been asked not to do so. All these things loom large when a heresyhunt is in progress, but they fall into their insignificant place when considered with a due sense of proportion againist the larger picture.

All of us commit indiscretions at times. We are carried away by our own enthusiasm. We are apt to forget that others are not as keen on ringing as we are, nor have had the pleasure from ringing that we enjoy. Perhaps, therefore, we may remind ourselves of the courtesies that we ought to observe when seeking the privilege of ringing in another tower. Briefly these can be summarised.

Never approach the incumbent direct for permission to ring. If you do not know the name of the correspondent of the local ringers, write to "The captain of the ringers, c/o the Vicar.' If you are going for a peal always make sure it is thoroughly understood what a peal is and how long it takes. Always say what guild or association the peal will be rung for. If there is an established local band. always say what method you are going for and ask if there is any objection - sometimes the answer is too obvious for the question to be necessary. Never make peal arrangements by telephone with the vicar unless you are certain there are no local ringers. Always send a stamped addressed envelope for a reply to your letter. If you have been given permission to ring either on an outing or a 'tower-grabbing ' expedition, always stay sufficiently long to ring the bells properly-do not insult your hosts by scrambling the bells up several at a time, ringing any sort of a badly-struck touch, and scrambling them down again. Behave decorously in the church. If you have to miss a tower from your itinerary through shortage of time, send a telegram and afterwards write and apologise. If you have enjoyed your visit it should not be too much trouble to write afterwards and offer your thanks. If you haven't enjoyed your visit you should write just the same. And when you have had the use of the bells, helping to wear the ropes and to inflate the electricity bill, you will, if you remember to look, probably have little difficulty in finding an offertory box. If you want to arrange a ringing tour you would be well advised to seek first the co-operation of the general secretary of the local guild or other wellknown local ringer. Perhaps this is a good opportunity to record the ungrudging assistance and goodwill that has been experienced in the past from such people.

Last of all the clergy. Often, although you write to the chief ringer, you will receive your reply direct from the Vicar. And what wonderful letters one does receive from the clergy. In several years' experience the writer has only ever received one unpleasant letter from a parson. The gentleman in question thought all ringers were drunken louts, loose livers, often atheists and usually non-churchmen. Well, as most readers of this journal are ringers, they will know how far right or how far wrong the reverend gentleman was in his assertions.

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest installations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

LATE NEWS

We regret to announce the death on Sept. 17th of Mr. Richard Hasted, Ringing Master of the Farnham District for 20 years and a vice-president of the Guildford Diocesan Guild since 1947. Mr. Hasted was 81.

The late Mr. Arthur Martin, of Maidenhead, who died on May 15th, aged 68 years, bequeathed a legacy of $£ 50$ to Mr. Thomas John Fowler, of Cookham, Berks, - my old friend of long standing in remembrance of his many acts of kindness to me, such " bequest to be published by my executor in "The Ringing World." The late Mr. Martin was connected with All Saints', Maidenhead, for over 50 years.

With the peal of Bristol rung at Thorne, Yorks, on September 6th, J. Martin Thorley has now 'completed the circle ' for the second time.

The band who rang the peal at Ickleton on September 13 th would like to express their appreciation of the arrangements made by Mr. P. Webb, who is the oldest member of the Ely Diocesan Association. They would like to join his many friends in felicitations on his birthday, which occurred on September 20th.

With reference to the peal of Superlative at Sherborne a correspondent writes: The following 'Terse Verse ' (ex ' Readers' Digest ') could, I think, be quite ' raisinably' dedicated to one of our better-known heavy-bell bumpers, viz.:-

They told him it couldn't be done,
With a smile he went right to it.
He tackled the thing that couldn't be done.
And couldn't do it!'
The August issue of 'The Ringing Towers' contains correspondence over the peal rung for the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths at Parramatla, which was criticised by Mr. Duncan, chairman of the N.S.W. Association. Mr. Robert Ferris, the conductor of the peal, writes: ' It was a very well struck peal and I even say it was the best rung peal of Plain Bob Minor in Australia.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

The 70th anniversary of the foundation of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on September 14th was commemorated by extensive ringing throughout the diocese.
With the peal at Whetstone, Mr. Frederick Watson has now 'completed the circle' at this tower.

Clitheroe, Lancs, bells will be silent until October 18th. The bells are being repaired and overhauled by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Lid., who recast them 24 years ago.

We have received a letter from the secretary of the Piddlehinton, Dorset, band thanking Mr. E: T. P. Field for his friendship and devotion to their belfry.

The ringers who took part in the peal at Upper Arley, Staffs, later listened to a broadcast recording of part of it, made as the background to the B.B.C. report on the National Fishing Contest, on the River Severn just below the church.

An attempt was made for a quarter peal on Saturday, Sept. 6th, at St. John's, Deptford, to mark the wedding of a local ringer, Mr. J. Warner, to Miss D. Bartle. Owing to a shift course this came to grief. All credit to Mr. George Dains for his cheerful acceptance of this, which we are sure will not detract from the good wishes we send to the couple.

Many of our readers know by name Mrs. R. A. Howard, who for the past $2 \frac{1}{2}$ years has been assistant to the Editor. This is the last issue in which Mrs. Howard has assisted in the production of 'The Ringing World!' The Editor and the Editorial Committee wish her every happiness in her new home at Bulford Camp, Wilts, where she is joining her husband, A. Denis Howard, who is a regular in the R.A.P.C.

NINE PEALS RUNG DURING SOMERSET TOUR  JOYS OF CAMPANOLOGY EXPRESSED IN VERSE

NINE peals rung. You will see the details in the peal columns, but these successes were not the only successes during a week's ringing tour of Somerset. Nine other attempts for peals were made and these failures did not prevent a happy and very enjoyable time being spent in what was for most of the party a fresh hunting ground. In addition, twelve other towers were visited for ringing touches.

Mr. Joe Dyke, now enjoying the first few weeks in retirement from professional duties and having completed 33 years of successful married life, kindly supplied the necessary information and gave advice as to the arrangements for the tour

A coach, owned and driven by Mr. Albert Lawrence, captain of the Hatfield band of ringers, set out on its journey at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Saturday, August 30th, and picked up some of the party in London en route. Others of the party were met in the Bristol area, where one band rang at Corston and another band rang at St. Stephen's. Unfortunately, at the latter tower Cambridge Surprise Royal was lost after an effort lasting one hour and a quarter. Permission was then obtained to ring at St. Thomas', Bristol, following which the first day's journey ended by arrival at the Crown Hotel, Glastonbury, headquarters for the week. This township has much of historical interest, but it proved to be that there was not even a spare hour to have a look around, nor to have a ring on either of the local rings of bells

On Sunday morning arrangements included a visit to Wells Cathedral, where Caters and Royal were rung on the heavy ten. It was then learned that the attempt for a peal here on Wednesday evening would have to be brought forward to commence soon after midday, as evensong in the Cathedral now begins at 5.15 p.m. Much discussion took place over this new situation and it was reluctantly decided, for more than one reason, not to make the proposed attempt for the peal. Sunday afternoon was spent by the sea at Weston-super-Mare, where at the Church of St. John the Baptist the party joined with the local band in ringing for evensong. Opportunity is taken here to quote what appears in the ringing chamber:-

CAMPANOLOGY

The unknown art despised by the Ignorant. How oft mankind exert their utmost powers To find amusement for their leisure hours; While some in Bowls or Cricket will unite, And in such healthful exercise delight, Others on Chess or Music fix their mind, Requiring practice of no trifling kind;
Those who are gifted with a tuneful voice In singing glees or suchlike strains rejoice,
While some to far less noble arts descend,
Their time thus wasted oft in ruin end.
Then why should Ringing be set down as nought
By some who never give the Science thought?
Its exercise amusement doth impart
To those who are proficient in the art;
In it our energies are all required.
Mental and physical and zeal untired
Its compositions intricate are found,
While in its changes harmony abound
Then let those critics who our choice condemn
Leave us to follow it-we grant the same to them.
Three peals were rung on Monday, at Wraxall and Clevedon in the morning and at Barrow Gurney in the afternoon. At the former tower the band had the pleasure of meeting a one-time vicar of the parish, the Rev. H. S. Briggs, time vicar of the parish, the Rev. H. S. Briggs, now of Portishead, and by whom the ringers were complimented on their performance. Mrs. Briggs (née Jukes) was one of the band who took part in the first Ladies Guild peal at Christ Church. Cubitt Town, in 1912, and many will be pleased to know that she is still enjoying good health. At the latter tower a peal of Somerset Surprise Major, the first in the county, was rung and all the band, except one, earned an appropriate star. During this time those not otherwise engaged were afforded a ring at Long Ashton, where it was a great pleasure to meet Mr . George Yeo, who within a couple of days would be celebrating his 83rd birthday. During the day Richard Price succeeded in ringing his 100th peal, this coming after a few attempts which involved several hours' ringing.

THE TENOR RINGER

Chewton Mendip was invaded on Tuesday morning, and whilst a peal was being rung in nice steady time the rest of the party journeyed for a pleasant ring at Litton. In the afternoon two failures occurred, the heavy eight at Congresbury defying an attempt for Cambridge after half an hour, and a shift course-the first of the week but not the last-upsetting an attempt for Stedman Caters at Wrington, where, eventually, the bells were brought into rounds in good style after 3 hours 7 minutes' ringing; This latter is an example of a 'performance, as suggested at the last Central Council meeting. The tenorman, a ringer whose name, it is said, the printers of 'The Ringing World 'do not have to set up in type each week because it is kept permanently blocked eleven times repeated, assumed moral command of the ringing by standing stately, on the extra high tenor box, with his left leg slightly bent and forward of the right leg in military fashion and allowed not one second to be wasted, at the same time keeping the lighter bells moving and dodging behind in sprightly accord.
Wednesday was a 'damp' day. It rained most of the morning; the peal attempt at Nailsea was cancelled owing to a funeral, and a late start was made at Backwell, which meant, through the peal here taking well over three hours, fast driving of the coach and half of the party consuming a well-prepared meal at a 'local ' in an exceedingly short time - too short to be enjoyed. The bells at Banwell had been obtained for use in the afternoon, and although success resulted the ringing was not without its moments. The tower moves quite considerably when the bells are in motion, and at one time a member of the band, seeing a falling object pass one of the windows, was heard to say, "My word, that was a stone falling from the top of the tower.' Although softly rebuked, he was still confident that something had fallen and repeated his accusation, but the final words in the incident was the reply, 'So what! A conclusion was drawn that some of the band would make better sailors than the others, as no damage was reported. The 'dampness' continued into the evening when, after ordering dinner to be half an hour earlier, the party returned well behind time and prevented an evening's practice ring at St. John-the-Baptist's, Glastonbury, where the local captain waited, but in vain.

The next day an attempt for a peal of London was made at Chew Magna, but two bells shifted quite cleanly, and without trouble, after two hours and forty minutes. During this attempt the rest of the party travelled to ring at Winford and at Dundry, where visitors on payment of a fee may climb the tower to see Bristol and many acres of the surrounding beautiful countryside. One failure, Cambridge at Blagdon, and one success at Winscombe were recorded in the afternoon, but Friday was a blank day. Two peal attempts were madeSuperlative at Charlton Horethorne (intending visitors never be late here or else the Rev visitors never be late here or else the Rev. $-\overline{\text {. }}$ Buchan will recall the punctuality of the 1952 touring party) and Bristol at Wincanton-each coming to grief after approximately an hour's ringing. A pleasant surprise item for the nonpealers was the granting of permission to ring on the heavy six at Queen Camel.

RUSHED ATTEMPTS

Saturday came all too quickly, and to local circumstances can be attributed two morning failures. It was a matter at Mark of getting on with the job in order to finish before a funeral, and at Burnham of getting on with the job more quickly to finish before a funeral after having to wait a seemingly long time for a wedding. Neither attempt, for Somerset and Yorkshire respectively, lasted very long, and it enabled the Mark band to visit Wedmore for a short ring. A 'Superlative' effort was made at Ditcheat in the evening and this last peal of the tour proved to be one of the best, and it gave as much pleasure to those listening as it did to those performing. Castle Cary was visited during the evening by those not otherwise engaged.
Good-bye to Somerset was said after service ringing at Shepton Mallet on Sunday morning, and this terminated a memorable week. It is well known that the ringers within the Bath and Wells Diocese have had parties of ringers visiting them before, but again a warm welcome was extended, new friendships were made and It is sincerely hoped that this year's tourists have made a favourable impression by their conduct and ability. The taste of ringing in their midst has been sweet indeed, and it would be very nice to mention personalities, a host of incumbents and local ringers. who contributed in no small measure to the success of the tour, but some may be inadvertently omitted, and so it is hoped that this conclusion may be a message of thanks to all from some appreciative friends and brother ringers.

Two Stansted Veterans Honoured

On Thursday, September 11th, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at St. Mary's, Stansted, in honour of the brothers Messis. Walter and William T. Prior, whose birthdays fell a few days before. Mr. Walter Prior is now 83 and Mr. William T. Prior 81.
They have been associated with ringing at St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, and St. Mary's, Stansted, for over 65 years. They rang their first peal (Bob Major) together on December 31st, 1888, at Bishop's Storffurd. and since then have taken part in many peals in various methods, including London Surprise Major.
The pleasure of the occasion was greatly enhanced by the fact that Mr. William T. Prior was able to take part in the quarter-peal himself. At the conclusion of the ringing the company wished him and his brother many happy returns and expressed the hope that they would ring many more quarters in the future.
The ringers were: W. T. Prior 1, F. Spring-ham 2, H. Watts 3. F. Bird 4. H. Bird 5. F. W. ham 2, H. Watts 3. F. Bird 4. H. Bird 5. F. W.

Gloucester and Bristol Association

The quarterly meeting of the Swindon branch was held at Stratton St. Margaret on September 13th and visitors were welcomed from Burford, Cromhall. Charlbury. Fairford and Prestbury. The bells are a light, easy-going eight, and it is regrettable that they are seldom rung. A well-prepared service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. G. Wolsey) and the choir was in attendance.
At the business meeting it was pronosed that meetings he held at Wanhorough. Rodhourne Cheney and Christ Church, Swindon. during the next three months. The ringing covered a fairly wide field. including standard methods, Little Boh, Forward, Oxford, Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge Major

OUTINGS IN PROSE AND VERSE

FROM LLANBADARN FAWR TO

 HEREFORDSaturday, Sept. 6th, saw 16 pseudo-scientific sightseers start something. Seven, and even seven-thirty, was too early for one young lady of 18. who swings a tenor better than any other bell. so the party left Llanbadarn Fawr, Cardiganshire, for their second annual tour, somewhat behind the clock while the seventeenth member blissfully slept on.
In the hoar frost of the morning, the first stop was at Nantmel - romantically ' Honeybrook in English-where the Vicar and Mr. Mills, the captain, were greeting the visitors cordially. A smallish tower and longish ropes provided good exercise for a young band.
Next came Llanbadarn Fawr, three miles away to ring a generally undisturbed goodgoing five. Romance was in the air. for the visiting Vicar, the Rev. O. G. Rees, with Mrs. Rees. was meeting his former companion of college days and best man too, the Rev. W. Bevan Griffiths. Snapshots outside the church by photographer-ringer Miss Ann Morgan completed a pleasant picture.
At New Radnor, foreman Mr. W. Evans had very kindly prepared for the West Walians' arrival, and the Vicar came along to greet the party after their morning coffee. Further on the route the larger tower of Kington had all the signs of the Herefordshire Diocesan Guild once more reporting mounting membership.
Thanks to Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton, the cider city of Hereford provided a delightful lunch for the young people before the journey to quict Burghill. where, through the good offices of the Rev. E. G. Benson, the belfry, with its nicely toned ring, provided the only eight of the day. This was a journey pasto the asylum, fortunately! Thence to the Rev. C. T. Cottrell's St. Nicholas'. Once again the boys and girls were denied the pleasure of meeting the captain. There was. however, the novelty of an anti-clockwise six and the amusement of noting the sudden sharpening of the wits of the erstwhile clockwisers! Thereafter the leader relaxed. having seen his young band handle long draught ropes, introduced them to some stranger features, and virtually assured himself that the rest of the tour would bring further joys of enthusiasm

To all the reverend gentlemen and other kind friends very many thanks. The teenagers brought Messrs. Grandsire and Stedman with them, a little disguised here and there perhaps. and took back with them greater hopes and much gratitude to their own Llanbadarn Fawr by Cardigan Bay an hour before midnight.

IN THE COTSWOLD COUNTRY

The Tewkesbury Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association held its annual outing on September 13th and the event was most successful, being voted as 'the best ever.' The Cotswold country was visited, Broadway St. Eadburgh's being the first call, where Mr. Lovell, churchwarden and ringer. met us. An hour's ringing on the six was thoroughly enjoyed.
Then followed a call at Moreton-in-theMarsh. which was the most disappointing of the day. The eight here did not go too well and trouble was experienced with ropes jumping wheels, etc. However, Mr. Bryan, the captain, was there to welcome us and to put matters right. Chipping Norton came next and ringing was enjoyed until lunch.
Half an hour's run took us to Charlbury's six, where the Vicar (the Rev. T. J. Wood), the tower captain and branch secretary welcomed us. An hour's ringing and then on to Burford and a glorious eight. Here the time went too quickly and all left with the hope that we may have the opportunity to return one day. Saying goodbye to Mr. Dixon. the worthy tower captain, who had welcomed us. we departed for tea, which was thoroughly enjoyed at the Highway Hotel. Burford.

Northleach was the final call, where Mr. Acock met us. Ringing was enjoyed until 8 p.m. When adjournment was made for refreshment interspersed with touches of various methods on the handbells, which had been thoughtfully supplied by the members of Leigh tower.
The branch expresses its appreciation to all who contributed to the success of the outing, particularly to Group Capt. T. V. Lister, who organised it, not forgetting the various incumbents who kindly allowed the branch the use of their bells.

THE ANNUAL OUTING

Inspired by Newcastle Ringers' Visit to Cumberland
(Sung to the tune of the Tyneside Anthem, Blaydon Races ).
The day we went the Ringers' Trip, 'twas August Bank Holiday Mon.
Nineteen hundred and fifty two, beneath a watery sun,
We tyuk the bus from Bewick Street, an' ivery seat was full.
Away we went alang Scotswood Road, as off we went to pull.

Chorus.

Oh me lads, ye shud a hord w' ringin'
Pullin' the bells wi'aall wor might, a-dongin' an' a-dingin'.
There were rings of six an' rings of eight, conductors yellin' an' shoutin'.
The day we went to Cumberland, for the Ringers’ Annual Outin

We flew past Armstrang's Factory, an' reet through Blaydon Toon.
By noo the sun had gone away, the rain was pourin' doon,
The rain it poured doon cats an' dogs, the sky it was quite grey,
Ye cudn't expect ne better on, August 'Bank Holiday.

Chorus.

But when we got to Brampton the sun was oot once more
So oot the bus, alang the street, an' through the belfry door,
The thord it was an aaful brute, a deadly type of bell.
An' anybody ringin' it, he had to pull like *@&!?

Chorus.

We stopped at Carlisle for wor lunch, an' oh we wor se holla,
But when we'd eaten aal we cud, mair ringin' was to folla.
St. Andrew Penrith after tea-a smashin' ring were they,
Indeed it was the best $o^{\prime}$ rings. "we ${ }^{\prime} d$ visised that day.

Chorus.

We stopped at Alston for a pint, then aff we went agyen,
An' then we had a paper fight, which lasted halfway hyem,
We stopped the bus at Hexham, but didn't stay for lang.
The beer we think had bordseed in, for we aal borst into sang.

Chorus.

We sung from Hexham to Newcastle, by noo 'twas gettin' dark.
We cudn't see St. Stephen's as we past the Cruddas Park,
But when we got to Bewick Street, an' saa the - Premier Tower ${ }^{\text {'* }}$

We knew the Annual Outing, once agyen was ower.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Western District

The quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Oxenhope on September 6th and attended by about twenty members, representing nine towers. Early arrivals soon had the bells going, and the vice-president, arriving with the second contingent, was just in time to give younger members a lesson in rope-splicing.
Ringing then continued until 5 p.m., when the two members who had sent in their names for tea went into the village for meat salad, trifle and cakes, leaving the main body to eat their sandwiches in the schoolroom,
At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. P. J. Johnson, the usual votes of thanks were passed, and Rothwell was selected as the place of the next meeting on December 20th if available. It was generally agreed that the small attendance was largely due to the remoteness of Oxenhope from the main ringing centres and to the rather prohibitive price of the tea.

The election of a member to the vacant seat on the committee was postponed until the next meeting, as it was considered that there were insufficient members present to hold an election. Any nominations should be sent to the district secretary.

Further ringing followed the business meeting and at $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the bells were lowered in peal, bringing to a close a most enjoyable meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

IRREGULAR LEAD END METHODS

Dear Sir,-In past months there has been much discussion in 'The Ringing World ' about methods with irregular lead ends. I should like to add a few comments to that discussion.

Putting on one side for a moment the admirable editorial by Mr. Pink. there are still many questions to be answered by those who wish to ban methods without Plain Bob lead ends. Firstly, what is the attitude of such men to odd bell methods having two hunt bells? Secondly, what is their attitude to the introduction of new principles on the lines of Stedman and Duffield?

From the way in which efforts are being made to stamp out the use of relatively simple methods like Canterbury Pleasure in peal ringing. one is led to believe that it is very lucky that methods like Stedman and Grandsire have already been generally accepted. It is easy to imagine that if seven-bell ringing had developed with all 'inside" bell's doing the same work (as in, say, Penning's Bob) and Grandsire were a new idea, it would be received with horror. Think how terribly irregular a method with two hunts would appear if the idea were new, and how much more so would Stedman appear.

In other words, the Exercise has in the past got used to much more revolutionary ideas than that of an irregular lead end and has turned them to very good use. As I think has been recently shown in "The Ringing World," there are many more sets of lead ends than the Plain Bob group, and it is more than likely that there are a great number of admirable methods in those groups.

Finally, even if such methods are second rate, which I do not myself believe, is it good to ban them? Is it fair? Npbody makes any attempt to ban dance bands because there is music by Beethoven to listen to. In other words, tastes differ. If a man wants to ring an irregular method, or even a second rate one and can find others of like mind, let him. I can think of no other field in which minority ideas can be so easily catered for. Just give the party a tower and nobody outside is compelled to listen to an odd method! Let the peal only be true and the striking good.

Which brings us back to Mr . Pink's suggestion. Has the Central Council the right to tell us what we may or may not ring to the glory of God? I am in complete agrcement with him in thinking it has not. However, I am of the opinion that it would be much better for the Exercise if the Central Council tactfully allowed those who have strong views on the subject to abide by them, and not to attempt to dictate one way or the other.
In considering the editorial by Mr. Pink, 1 should like to add that no peal of his that I have seen has been without some connection with the Church, and few better people are available to express the ideas he has.-Yours sincerely,

MALCOLM S. CLOKE.

Hawkhurst, Kent.
[Note.-The Central Council has made it clear on more than one occasion that it has no desire to dictate to ringers what they should ring. The Council, however, stipulates what it recognises as a peal to be recorded in its records.-Ed.]

ONE-HANDED CLOCKS

Dear $\operatorname{Sir}$,-Perhaps some of your correspondents on the above subject would be interested to know that there is a one-handed clock in Birmingham. It is situated in the back smoke room of the Trocadero in Temple Street. It is at present not in working order, probably due to one missing hand.-Yours faithfully, Birmingham. BRYAN WOOLLEY.

MR. C. H. HATTERSLEY'S PEAL
Dear Sir,-Re Mr. P. Green's letter, my parents were not even courting in 1889 , but married in the 90 's. My ringing commenced in 1921. I have not seen a "Bell News" or 'Ringers' Record,' and, as far as Mr. Hattersley is concerned, I have none of his compositions, nor have I seen any. When I got my figures together it was for Yorkshire Surprise Major, and as Yorkshire was not even thought about in 1889, I shall still claim my figures for that method. Now I find many more Surprise Major methods will go to this composition.

Perhaps Mr. Green will publish or at least send the figures on to you, as Editor of "The Ringing World,' for I am informed from another source they are based on a Mr. Reeves' peal. As in law, a patent is void after 50 years, so, I presume, are figures except if they are in the Central Council Collection.-Yours faithfully, FRANK WARRINGTON.

VISITING AUSTRALIA

Dear Sir,-In the Belfry Gossip column of 'The Ringing World' dated July 18 th there was a paragraph about Mr. Stafford H. Green, of Devon, sailing to Australia on October 29th, but it does not say to what part of Australia he is coming to.

If we could have information when ringers such as Mr. Green are leaving and to what part of Australia they are coming to, we could make contact with them before they leave or when they arrive here.

Last year you mentioned in your columns about another ringer from Chester immigrating to this country, but did not say to what part, but fortunately he contacted us and we now have his services. I have also met two other ringers, but they seldom bother to ring.

I appeal to all who intend to visit or jmmigrate to Australia to let us know of their place of destination and we will be only too happy to greet them. - Yours faithfully,
'R. FERRIS.

THE WRITTEN WORD

Sir,-I found the letter under the heading, "The Written Word,' on page 571, very interesting, and it contains a great number of truths, but the last sentence rather amused me. 'He" writes, 'Let us fight openly and honestly and happily and then forget it,' and then promptly signs himself, 'Nona.' He wasn't given this name at his baptism.-Yours faithfully,

DENNIS H. B. MILLWARD.

Buckley, Chester.

KENT AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB
Dear Sir,-Mr. Maurice Hodgson's admirable exposition of the various mixtures of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob omitted to say one thing. These two methods can be spliced in complete leads in the normal way, and there is not the slightest need for these mongrel concoctions to be used at all. All methods we ring are symmetrical about the half-lead-a decision of the Central Council many years ago, and one which does not, so far, appear to have come under fire! Why these versions of Treble Bob, involving as they do the use of an assymetrical method which is neither Kent nor Oxford, are still tolerated, goodness knows.- Yours faithfully,

48-MINUTE CLOCK

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. P. Amos, I find 48-minute clocks in abundance whilst travelling around Rutland at the summer festival meeting. I noted the first at Edith Weston and the second at Greetham, the latter being a one-hand clock. -Yours sincerely.
Duston, Northants.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Silver Cup Contest

A record crowd saw Handsworth win the cup after a thrilling contest at Treeton; their nearest rivals were Sheffield Cathedral, who just failed by a narrow margin. A high standard of ringing was maintained by the other three teams taking part, although Rotherham Parish Church and Whiston rang out and Bolsover, the holders, were off form. The contest was very ably judged by Mr. H. T. Rooke and Mr. F. Flint, of Warsop, and afterwards a tea was served in the Church Schools.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rector of Treeton, the Rev. T. P. Hounsfield, acted as chairman, and, after hearing the judges decision, he called upon the winning captain to step forward and receive the cup. A very sporting gesture by the Handsworth leader (Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert) was much appreciated when he suggested that Mrs. J. E. Turley, being the only lady member of the team, should have the honour in his stead; this she did amid applause.

Further ringing took place in the town and a few ringers adjourned to the local hostelry, where the cup was passed round to winners and losers alike.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD  Half-Yearly Meeting at Heydour

This meeting was held at Heydour, a village off the beaten track with its bells made famous by the record length of London which was rung here on October 4th, 1947. An attendance of about 80 members and friends enjoyed ringing on this very nice eight. The service was conducted by Canon C. H. Leeke, president of the Guild's Southern Branch.

After a picnic tea the business meeting was held in the schoolroom, presided over by the Guild Master, Mr. J. A. Freeman.

The question of a Guild badge has been under consideration for some time; a type was decided upon and it is hoped that a supply will soon be available.
To avoid confusion in the future it was decided that the Guild half-yearly meetings be held each year on the second Saturday in September. The hon. secretary thanked the members for their co-operation in connection with the Central Council's visit to Lincoln.

A warm welcome was extended to the visitors by the Master. Mr. K. S. B. Croft (Southampton) Mr. C. McGuiness (Newcastle) and Mr. A. W. Coles (North Mimms) responded.
The members were later joined in the tower by friends from Leicester, Loughborough, etc.

PLAIN BOB WITH FOUR BLOWS BEHIND

Dear Sir,-Re the argument about the Central Council rulings regarding methods with irregular lead ends. I should like to see the Council state that Plain Bob be ruled out the same as Grandsire on even bells, with bells lying four blows behind.

Each association sends members or representatives to the Council, whom we members of the ringing associatons consider the Central Council for legal government of ringing, and their decisions are ringing laws; the same as other matters in connection with rules, or else the Council is useless-Yours faithfully,

TWO TOWER BELLS TO A PEAL
Dear Sir,-I was talkirtg to a bell-ringer some time ago and he told me he has rung two bells at once. Is this possible and has anybody else ever tried or do any of your readers know of such cases?-Yours faithfully,

MARION STUBBINGS.

Sandon, Chelmsford.

[NOTE. -There are many occasions on which a ringer has rung two tower bells to a peal, the most frequent exponent being Mr. Tony Price.-Ed.]

XIII．－CALLING STEDMAN TRIPLES

There are many ringers who are fond of ring－ ing Stedman Triples，but never trouble them－ selves about the calling of it，yet Stedman Triples is a very interesting method to conduct． It is a method that keeps the conductor speci－ ally alert by reason of the constantly changing coursing order of the bells．

In this method，as in any other，the young conductor should aim at a certain amount of proficiency in keeping the bells right，and he can obtain it by study and practice．There are some ringers who can follow the working of the bells＇in the slow，wherever they may be themselves，and while that is the ideal standard to which every Stedman conductor should try to attain，there is no reason for a ringer to be discouraged if he finds his abilities do not reach as far as that．He can content himself with much less and still have a good working knowledge of his job，if he will really study the subject on paper as well as in the tower．
It is hardly necessary，perhaps，to tell the budding Stedman conductor that a bob in the method can be made at any＇six．＇The bob change is the first change of the＇six＇and， therefore，has actually to be called before the end of the previous＇six＇－usually at the hand－ stroke change before the＇six－end．＇

Usually touches and peals are composed with the 7th as the＇observation＇bell and，except sometimes at singles，it is not usually disturbed． Accordingly，bobs have to be made when the 7th is below 5ths place，which means that they must come when the 7 th is in $5-4$ down，in the slow，or when it is a quick bell．

There are six times when a bob may be called while the 7th is a＇slow＇bell and two in which a call may be made while it is＂quick，＂without disturbing its courso．The bob places are known by the number of the＇six＇in the course．

A bob at 3 is called when the 7 th is com－ pleting its，dodging in 5－4（down）before going in＇slow．＇

A bob at 4 at the first handstroke of the first whole－turn．

A bob at 5 at the handstroke of the 3rds place before the first half－turn．

A bob at 6 at the handstroke before the last half－turn．

A bob at 7 at the first handstroke of the last whole－turn．
A bob at 8 at the handstroke in 3rds place before going out of the slow．

A bob at 12 is called when the 7th is com－ pleting its dodging in 5－4（down）before going in＇Quick．＇

A bob at 13 at the handstroke in 2 nds on the way out．
Usually bobs come in pairs in Stedman；that is，a bob at 3 is followed by one at 4；a bob at 5 by one at 6 ；a bob at 7 by one at 8 ；and a bob at 12 by one at 13 ．
A pair of bobs at $3-4$ is sometimes indicated by the letter S （meaning＇Slow＇）；at 5－6 by H （meaning half－turn）；at $7-8$ by $L$（meaning Last whole－turn）；and at $12-13$ by Q（meaning －Quick＇）．The calling of your touch or peal may be written either way．For instance，here is a touch of 252 $23145675-612-132314567 \mathrm{H} Q$ 3452617 — $\quad 3452617$ — 一 4263157 二 二 $\quad 4263157$ 二二
At any time you want two courses，or 168 ， you can get it by calling any one of the pairs of bobs in each course；thus 3－4 twice or 5－6 twice，etc．Three courses are produced by calling any one pair twice followed by another later pair twice as $3-4,3-4,12-13,12-13$ ； but remember the two middle pairs are in the same course．

This is how you can work out touches for yourself；

For 2 ＇courses，call either S．L．，S．Q．，or L．Q．， and repeat．
For 3 courses，in addition to those mentioned above，you can call either S．H．L．or H．Q．three times．

For 5 courses either S．H．，S．H．Q．，H．L．or H．L．Q．five times．
You can join some of the touches together to lengthen them，as long as in doing so you do not ring more tharr a plain course without a bob．You may run the risk，in some in－ stances，of ringing a false touch（by a repeti－ tion of changes），but that is not a serious matter when you are practising calling．For instance，if you have rung two courses pro－ duced by calling S．L．twice，you cannot get a true touch by tacking on Q．twice，because S．L．Q．is a touch which produces rounds and would，therefore，bring you back to changes which you have already rung．

OLDHAM CHANGE RINGERS

Provide Popular Stall at Hobbies Exhibition

For the second time，Oldham has been enter－ tained by an Exhibition of Leisure Time Acti－ vities．Last year it was organised by the town＇s education authorities，but this time it was the Oldham and District Association of Societies which was responsible．This association was formed，after the last exhibition，by societies who took part in it．Almost every type of hobby was represented：among them were aquarists，model engineers，philatelists，spelio－ logists，sports－fans，youth organisations and－ campanologists！The bellringers＇stand this time was by the Oldham and District Society of Changeringers，which was re－formed（after lapsing into obscurity during the war years） following last ycar＇s exhibition．

The exhibits were somewhat similar to the previous show：handbells，bellropes，models， diagrams，charts，books，photographs，etc，and a small bell of about $2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ．which was cast in 1756．The show was open during the evenings from．Monday to Friday and afternoon and evening of Saturday．For a short while the stand was treated with similar respect to an unexploded bomb－with curiosity from a dis－ tance！However，the tinkling of a model bell during a demonstration to a more adventurous type soon brought the people along，ans from then on it was almost a continuous stream．

The questions asked and the explanations re－ quested soon gave us proof of real interest． As was expected，very few people knew any－ thing whatever about the subiect，and naturally were astounded at the knowledge imparted to them．All．that is．excent the schnolboy who said that the steward＇s information did not cor－ respond with the details given in his weekly comic．and so we were wrong！A Latvian lady， beautiful and resplendent in her national cos－ tume，proved a very interested listener，as also was the steward when the lady snoke of the bells in Latvia．Considerable difficulty was experienced in trying to explain to two Ukrain－ ian gentlemen，who just could not visualise the business whatsoever．We compromised by in－ viting them specially to the tower to watch pro－ ceedings！A young lady－also in national cos－ tume－from the Ukraine was also baffled by the full swinging bell，AND the language diff－ culty．She laughingly gave up the struggle！
Two or three times each evening．when cir－ cumstances allowed，a plain course of Grandsire Doubles or Triples was rung by members stand－ ing in front of the stand，the visitors simply flocking round each time．One gentleman in－ sisted that we ring Doubles three times in order that he could watch each ringer to see who was giving signals or instructions．

On the Thursday evening a tune－ringing con－ cert was given by the Oldham Handhell Rincers in the exhibition concert room and proved to be a tremendous success．Numerous visitors approached the writer after the concert and commended in no uncertain manner the beauty of the bells and the ringing．Just how many visitors passed through the exhibition we can－ not yet say，but the local Press has given the association a remarkable＇write－un，and ask that next time the exhibition be held at the Town Hall：suggesting also that it is most cer－ tainly worthy of more support and interest from the＇city fathers．＇－E．C．

Members of the East Devon Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers met at Sidmouth Parish Church at $9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$ ．on September 14th， and rang for the Communion service，after which all took part in the service．The Vicar， Preb．Ball．visited the belfry and expressed his pleasure at seeing the ringers take part in the service．

GUNDAY morning found us ringing at Tiverton ( 8.25 cwt .). The bells are a beautiful ring, full of tone and really splendid 'go.' We had a company of the locals watching us, and 1 do not think that we discredited ourselves.
After attending evensong at the Cathedral at Exeter, we ascended the belfry with some trepidation. But once the bells were raised (six men to the tenor) and set going to Grandsire Caters, our doubts quickly vanished. and a good course was had. The $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours spent here were unexpected but thoroughly enjoyed. A section of the party reluctantly left the Cathedral early for evening service, ringing at Heavitree (8, for evening service, ringing at Heavitree (8, 25 cw .). Their self-sacrifice was rewarded with a really fine ring of bells, Despite the fact that the ringers were devoid of many of the 'cracks.' they executed the ringing well, and left a good impression, or so we believe. In the evening we rang at Alphington (8, 16 cwt ), a call-change tower, obvious by the length of ropes and numerous certificates. What a pity it was that with some of the call-change ringers listening we could not have emulated some of our previous performances.
After the usual nightcap we made our way back to Exeter. On the return journey Denis Mottershead took it upon himself to give his first practical demonstration of the law of conservation of linear momentum. The leading cyclist decided to try his brakes, hence the demonstration, plus an attempt to fly without wings. Ottery St. Mary ( $8,18 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was the next port of call, with a reasonable eight accom${ }_{25}{ }^{\text {panied }} \mathrm{cw}$ by ) reasonable ringing. At Axminster ( 8 , paralleled by the ringing, due in no small way to the arrival in oddments of the experts.
At Chard (8, 23 cwt., quite a good ring) there was a vast improvement in the ringing. South Petherton ( $8,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.), with its fine octagonal tower and hopclessly flat tenor, was next visited. Thank goodness the ringing here was not as flat as the tenor! The first seven bells were of glorious tone, followed by the horrible discordant clank of the tenor. At Martock, ringing on the grand eight tenor Martock, ringing on the grand eight (tenor completed another enjoyable day.

ANOTHER WEIGHTY DAY

Tuesday, 12th, began another day of weight. the first tower on the list being the magnificent ring of ten (tenor 40 cwt .) at Yeovil. Here a local ringer complimented us on a fast course of Cambridge Royal. Then to Sherborne ( 8 , $46 \mathrm{cwt)}$. . where the best course of Yorkshire of the tour was rung. This grand ring of bells is best summed up in the words of one of the ringers when we first pulted off in rounds
'This is $i$ !! Miss Jean Brooks a azain showed 'This is it!' Miss Jean Brooks again showed her prowess by ringing the tenor. The heaviest ${ }_{36}$ ringing six in the world, Queen Camel (tenor 36 cwi .), were then visited. These are really a grand ring, but the slow pace of ringing almost beat us. The relatively light but noisy six (tenor 17 ewt.) at Crowcombe came as a welcome rest after all the weight.
Shepton Mallet ( $8,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was the first tower visited on Wednesday. Here the tenor and seventh box join and are of the same height. Then came another octagonal tower and another out of tune tenor (Doulting, 6 , and another out of tune tenor (Doulting, ${ }^{6,}$, 24 cwt .). Mr. Denis Mottershead. not to be suppressed decided to give another practical demonstration, this time impulsive tensions in chains (cycle). The net result of all the complex stresses set up-one irreparable cycle and one deposited Dennis. Thereafter, by the aid of his thumb and the ferry service of the motor-cycle, the honourable gentleman managed to remain with us for almost the rest of the tour. The next tower. Bradford (8, 30 cwt.) was obtained thanks to the efforts of Roger O. Fry, to whom we were very grateful, as the bells are a fine we were very grateful, as the bells are a fine ring. The wildly gyrating tower of Batheaston was the last call of the day. The bells ( 6 , $18 \mathrm{cwt}$. .) went their full weight, due solely to the intricate patterns woven by the tower. In the ' local' afterwards, a sing-song was held. led by a member of the Roving Ringers! A disappointment awaited us at our first tower on thursday, Corsham. The bells were unringable due to the condition of the ropes, the relative letter from the Rector not reaching the hon. secretary. Due to the kindness of the Rector of Lacock ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.), we were able to tower-grab here instead. Thence on to Chippenham, where the eights (tenors 20 and 16 cwis.) were much enjoyed, especially the tone of St. Andrew's. The eight (tenor 24 cwt.) were then sampled at Calne. In the evening, after a long wait whilst the Ringing Master found the belfry key from a huge bunch of keys, the five (tenor 12 cwt .) at Aston Keynes were rung.

MORE • THUMBING

On Friday the two similar eights as regards weight of Fairford and Burford (both 17 cwt .) were rung. But Burford had by far the better ring. Owing to the condition of the two pillion riders, the motor-cyclist thought it advisable to leave them in Burford. Nevertheless, the power of the thumb prevailed and the aforementioned gentlemen arrived not too late at the next tower, Hook Norton ( $8,20 \mathrm{cwt}$.). This was a grand ring of bells and much enjoyed. Here also we had a ring with the parson, a quite unusual event. The two 'high' members, just to show their independence, said they would make the youth hostel under their own steam. Their efforts were rewarded, for they managed to obtain a ring at Banbury ( $10,17 \mathrm{cwt}$.) after ${ }^{2}$ - peal of London Royal had come to grief. Harpeal of London Royal had come to grief. Harwell ( $5,9 \mathrm{cwt}$. ) was the last tower of the day.
On Saturday we saw no more of the cycleless one-what had happened to him we did not know. Byfield ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was visited and the 'go' of the belis found a bit sluggish. Thence to Daventry and a ring on the anticlockwise eight (tenor 18 cwt.). The ringing at Market Harborough was the poorest of the tour, due to the fact that all were tired after a hard two weeks. The six ( 11 cwt .) at Hallerton, after trouble with clock hammers, finished up the day.
Service ringing next morning was carried out at Wissendine ( 6.17 cwt .). As the bells of this church were fallen in peal and as the dying hum of the bells blended with the opening notes of the first hymn, we then knew that the tour was at last over.
The methods rung during the week were: Cinques: Grandsire. Royal Cambridge, St. Lawrence Little Bob, Kent, Plain, Little Bob. Caters: Grandsire, Stedman. Major: London, Bristol, Cambridge, Superlative, Rutland, Yorkshire, Braunstone. New Cambridge Surprise, Double Stedman, Double Norwich. Kent, Plain, Little, Gainsborough, Original, Spliced 2 and 3 Surprise, Spliced 2 and 3 Plain. Triples: Grandsire, Stedman. Minor: London, Wells, York, Durham, Ipswich, Norwich, Primrose, Cambridge, Double and Single Court. Double and Single Oxford St. Clement's. Thelwall, Childwall, College Single, Plain Original, Kent, Oxford. Doubles: St. Simon's, New, Stedman, Grandsire, Orpheus, Plain.

THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING
This was held in Batheaston belfry under the chairmanship of the Master.
Officers elected: Ringing Master, John E . Cook; Assistant Ringing Masters. John B. Bennett and Dennis John E. Cook.
The accounts were then read and accepted, together with the minutes of the last meeting.
The tour for next year will be in the area of Norfolk and Suffolk, the date to be the same as this year (first two whole weeks in August). A vote of thanks was proposed to Margaret A. Swan and David S. Harris for organising the tour, and also the incumbents and local ringers at the various towers for all the help

MR. E. J. AVERY

Eddie Avery, as he was affectionately called, died of cancer on September 19th last, at the age of 48. He was a brave man, for in spite of pain, and his own certainty of approaching carly death, he kept his cheerfulness to the last, and concealed from others the gravity of his illness. No one ever saw him angry. Even when things went wrong, and other men would probably have lost their tempers, he remained serene. His loss means a great deal to the community in that corner of Somerset in which he lived. He was the moving spirit of village organisations and never spared himself on behalf of others. He was the secretary of the largest branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers, and his place will be indeed hard to fill.
Evidence of the high esteem in which he was held was shown by the large number of mourners. The church at Sandford where he was buried was full, and scores of people were unable to get in. Ringers were present from the Axbridge, Bath, Cary, Chew, Bridgwater and Frome branches; ringers carried the corpse to the grave, and ringers from the Cary, Chew and Frome branches rang Grandsire Triples over it. Long after the burial was over ringers hung about in groups as though loath to tear themselves away, and there was scarcely a dry cye.

an appreciation

It was with deepest regret that I read of the passing of Mr. Avery and with feelings of personal loss 1 should like to pay my humble tribute to a true gentleman. I have been a fairly frequent visitor to the Axbridge Branch meetings, both before and since the war, and have always greatly appreciated Eddie's warm welcome and cheerful smile and his keenness to 'have a go' at any method suggested, and these will be greatly missed in the future. To those who were near and dear to him and to the Axbridge Branch I extend my most sincere sympathy. May he rest in peace.-E. T.P.F.

THE REV. R. HORNE

A good friend of ringers. the Rev. R. Horne, Vicar of St. Andrew's. West Hillingdon. for nearly 23 years, has dicd. He was an honorary member of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild for some 20 ycars.
On September 8 th a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, half-muffled, was rung by the following members of the Hillingdon band: P. E. Jones 1, T. G. Bannister 2, Mrs. A. R. Turley 3, W. H. Coles 4, A. R. Turley S, F. Corke (cond.) 6, H. Impey 7, S. Humphreys 8 . (cond.) 6, H. Impey 7, S. Humphreys 8.

MR. GEORGE BASFORD

Mr. George Basford, who was 74 years of age, collapsed in Finedon Parish Church during evensong on September 14th and died immediately. The funeral took place in Finedon Cemetery on September 18th. Chief mourners were Mrs. Basford (widow) and two daughters, Miss W. Basford (Finedon) and Mrs. I. Corney (Bristol). Also present were Messrs. J. Main, E. Chapman, C. Richardson, H. Tompkins and P. Manning (former colleagues in the belfry), T. Garley (Isliam) and A. Bigley (Wellingborough branch secretary of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild)
Half-muffled ringing took place during the evening, those participating being Messrs. E. W. Whitmore (Raunds), J. Watson (Burton Latimer), H. Pettit (Burton Latimer), A. Bigley. J. Skerritt and W. Perkins (Irthlingborough) and J. King (Wellingborough), together with the local ringers.
Ill-health prevented Mr. Basford from. getting about in recent years, but dúring his 40 years ringing career he was towerkeeper at Finedon and a member of the Guild Committee for over 20 years prior to 1943. Amongst the 130 (approx.) peals which he had rung were peals of Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and peals of Superlative, Ca
London Surprise Major.

IRISH ASSOCIATION

Cork Cathedral Has a Local Company
A ringers' service was held in St. Finbarre's Cathedral, Cork, on Sunday, September 7th, to mark the reorganisation of the local bellringers' company. Fifty visiting ringers attended from St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, Waterford Cathedral, Doneraile, Ballymodan and Kilkenny, as well as representatives from the Northern and Eastern Districts.

The bells of the Cathedral ( 8 , tenor 27 cwt .) were cast by Rudhall in 1751 and rehung for ringing in 1903 by Taylor's. They were rung up to 1914, when the local band became depleted, and were again rung from 1934 to 1939 , when the frame girders became corroded. Local repairs were carried out last year, and with the transfer of a keen Limerick ringer to Cork a new team was formed and the bells are again rung regularly for the Cathedral services.

During the service handbells were rung by the St. Finbarre's ringers to changes as a background for the hymns. The lessons were read by Mr. Cyril W. Galbraith, district secretary, and Mr. Fred E. Dukes, general secretary. The Dean of Cork preached an appropriate sermon on the relationship of bells and bell-ringers with the Church.

After the service the ringers had tea in the Cathedral Schools, where the Dean welcomed them. Mr. J. E. Harris (vice-president) thanked the Dean and congratulated him and the local ringers on their great effort in ringing the beautiful Cathedral bells again. The visiting ringers made good use of the bells from early afternoon and again after tea, when touches of Plain Bob were rung.

Essex Association

Whether it was the attraction of the Southend illuminations, the hospitality of the local band or the typical Taylor eight is not known, but the summer quarterly meeting of the SouthWestern Division held on Sept. 6th at Thorpe Bay was exceptionally well attended.
Since the last meeting the sound difficulty in the ringing chamber has received attention and each bell is now heard perfectly, the lay-out is also excellent and the 'go' of the bells very good. Great credit is due to the keen local band, who have more ambitious improvements in mind.
The meeting made good use of the bells, and the ringing ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise.

IN DEFENCE OF THE LEARNERS

IQUOTE from the 71st annual report of the Association of which I am now a resident member. It is typical of the many of various County and Diocesan Guilds I have collected over the past 50 years:-

The objects of this Association are:-
(1) To cultivate and encourage the good old English art of change ringing and to create a more general interest in it.
(2) To secure the due recognition of ringers as church officials and the proper care and use of bells and belfries.
This is a large Association; it has over 1,000 members and embraces over 250 towers. It figures very prominently in the peal lists, so must have capable ringers. Unlike most other Associations, the 'Rules' do not set any standard of proficiency as a requisite of membership; the veriest tyro may join and many come and go. There is no dearth of recruits, at least in my immediate neighbourhood.

To-day, even if I wished to enjoy even moderately good change ringing in humble methods for service or practice it would be necessary to travel at least 40 miles. Many bells are not rung at all for service and many rings are left to decay. I am aware we are not alone in this; the same could be said of many other parts.

Our primary object is to ensure the ringing of all our bells for service to the glory of God and in such a manner that it will create a more general interest in it. General interest means not only those who attend the church but the listening public. 'Pshaw! The public,' I can hear my local towerkeeper say, 'What do I care about the public?' Yet we never fail to invite them to pay for our bells, which they do most generously.

Why, then, after over 70 years is our ringing so deplorable? It can be summarised in three words-incompetent initial instruction.

Despite the provision made in the 'Rules,' this Association does nothing to foster proper instruction. The most important factor in ringing is bell control; for if one has this all things are possible, without it nothing can be done. Unlike some, I do not aver that bell control is merely a natural asset which few possess. It is a matter of correct personal instruction by one who can himself handle a bell properly and he need not be a prolific peal ringer. Bell control cannot be learned from books; but consists mainly of the meticulous correction of faults as they arise. Therein lies the snag.
' Most church work is voluntary and one has in these days to be very careful; people are so easily offended.'

Recently at a practice a visiting captain burst into the ringing room with these words: 'I met the great X last week! What I think of him is that he will not have any ringers at all in 12 months.' So much for our much vaunted Christian conduct. 'We don't want him. He will drive them all away.' Yet the great X was truly great. He had then led his band for 50 continuous years and it is a band to be proud of; whereas his mentor has never yet taught anyone proper bell control, although he has plenty of learners and wields much authority in his own tower.

All our great peal bands for generations have looked for their material ready-made. If peals of merit in intricate methods are to be rung it must be so and one cannot blame the convener; he has the rest of the band to consider. However, if the standard of bell control continues to decline at its present rate our art will recede more and more into the pursuit of the fortunate few, maintained by the shillings of the faithful, but not so proficient, and of the many learners who come and go because they have not had a square deal. It is not a square deal if a learner finds after some years he has been taught by one who himself lacked bell control and he has absorbed his faults. There is the exception who insists on teaching and can't: but by and large those who teach bell control do so because they must and the proficient are content to let them, picking the. wheat from the chaff for peals.

Personally I rang two peals before being allowed by my instructor to join the Association. Entry into an Association is too easy and savours too much of a scramble for members and money. Entry should at least entail proper bell control in rounds and should be strictly vouched for by both proposer and seconder. Certificates should be given to all after reaching a certain standard and the presentation should be made personally at a district meeting so that the recipient will value it as I do my first. Without Associations there would be no Central Council, therefore no 'Ringing World ' and no publicity for peal ringers. I wonder if the tally of peals would decline? I think it would, but it would make little difference to the over-all standard of ringing. This is a matter to which all Associations should give serious thought.

GILLETT AND JOHNSTON

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

This is the first issue of the last quarter. If you are a quarterly subscriber, please post forthwith 6 s . to Mr. J. E. Jeater, 11, Frankswood Avenue, Petts Wood, Kent. Delay will result in the non-delivery of subsequent issues.

Mr. Frank B. Yates, a highly respected member of the St. Martin's Guild, has very generously offered to defray the cost of twelve new ropes for the bells of Birmingham Cathedral. Although ill-health prevents Mr . Yates from taking an active part in ringing for the time being, his interest is as keen as ever and he derives great pleasure from listening to the Cathedral bells.

Mrs. Melville, who has turned 80 years of age, attended the ringing meeting at Wonston, Hants, recently and rang in four touches. Are any other octogenarian ladies still ringing?

Who was the conductor, trying to call Holt's Original at Sittingbourne last week, who nearly hanged himself in the last 700? In doing so he missed the last bob before the first single. Perhaps it was physical strain, not mental. Would some kind lady ringer please answer?
His many friends at Stansted and Bishop's Stortford will regret to hear that Mr. Walter Prior was taken ill while on holiday at Birmingham and has undergone a serious operation. We trust that his progress will be maintained.
The eight at Christ Church, Radyr, South Wales, after a lapse of 23 years are now being rung for service, by a company of 11 men and four youths. All visitors are welcome to the practices on Mondays from 7-8.30. Mr. William Dare, of Whitchurch, near Cardiff, is captain and trainer.
Visiting ringers from Cardiff, Whitchurch and Llanbradach attended at Radyr on September 17th as a silver wedding tribute to Mr . and Mrs. E. Goodacre. Mr. Goodacre being vicecaptain of the local tower. The company included that grand old veteran, Mr. Seymour Barker. The Rector and Mrs. W. S. Pontin provided tea for ringers and guests in the Church Hall, and gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Goodacre to mark the occasion.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Hales, Shropshire, during the incumbency of his father that the Rev. David Roberts, now Vicar of Marston, near Shropshire, learned to ring as a boy of 11. His wedding on September 20th at St. Catherine's, Edge Hill, Liverpool, to Miss Georgina Massey, of Liverpool, was an occasion for a number of touches on the bells. The Ringing Master ( Mr . Archie Harrison) and members of the band wish the Rev. and Mrs. David Roberts every happiness in their future life.
The peal of Treble Bob at North Stoneham was memorable for more than one purpose. It welcomed a new rector and marked the first visit of the Mayor of Eastleigh to St. Nicholas' Church. To four of the band it was a happy occasion as since April they had lost 15 or 16 successive attempts, and one member had made no fewer than 20 abortive attempts!

Mr. W. Rogers had a big disappointment on his silver wedding day. A year previously he had promised Mr. Harry Short, of Whitby, Yorks, that he would arrange a peal attempt of London Surprise to commemorate their respective silver weddings. Owing to a business engagement he could not stand in the peal himself, so Cambridge Surprise was rung instead. The band send their special greetings to Mr. and Mrs. H. Short.

Owing to a rope breaking, the peal attempt at Market Deeping, Lincs, on September 3rd, for the birthdays of Messrs. N. M. Day, F. W' French and W. A. Holmes, was unsuccessful. The peal was scored on September 17th. Market Deeping tower was selected in order that Mr. French could score his first peal at the tower where he learned to ring 50 years ago. Mr. Day, who was 71 this month, also learned to ring at this tower, and both rang the particular bells they first learned to handle.

BEDFORDSHIRE YOUNG RINGERS IN DEVON

520 MILES DURING A WET FORTNIGHT

EARLY on Saturday, August 2nd, the railway staff at St. John's Station, Bedford. may have noticed that the seven young people getting on the train with cycles were wearing bell badges. If so, they may have guessed rightly that they were bellringers off for a ringing tour. Devon was the county we were making for, and the fortnight's tour included ringing at several places in Wiltshire and Somerset on the way

Leaving the train at Oxford, we were at Wantage by midday, joining two others who had cycled all the way from Bcdfordshire. From then on it was against a stiff wind and in persistent rain that we dragged our cycles over the hills of the White Horse to Aldbourne and Marlborough. We were, denied rest at Aldbourne, for the hard-going bells are difficult to ring, with 80 feet of stretchy ropes. However, we had more success at St. Mary's, Marlborough, undeterred by the absence of the stay on the third.
Marlborough Youth Hostel is on the main Bath road, and it was this road we took next morning after ringing on the really rough and odd-struck ring of eight at St. Peter's for morning service. More wind, rain and adverse slopes delayed our arrival at Batheaston Youth Hostel and Bath Abbey

A visit to the Abbey next morning preceded the many miles of cycling over the Mendips. Ringing was at St. Cuthbert's, Wells, Glastonbury and Street. The last named Wells, Glastonbury and Street. The last named bells are not easy to strike well, being rather heavy-going, but not as bad as we had been led to believe.

TAUNTON IMPRESSES VISITORS

Any dampness that remained from overnight was soon blown out of us as we swept down the slopes from Street Youth Hostel next morning, to the plains surrounding Bridgwater. We passed several magnificent Somerset towers, but none were as fine as the tower of pink stone at St. James', Taunton. Even through difficult to hear, the eight are as fine as the tower that contains them. Our lunch at Taunton will be remembered as being in a skittle alley at an inn.

Although forewarned by our maps, we did not perhaps appreciate the full significance of the closeness of the contours until we started to cross them. The hills became more enormous. Milverton, another church built in the local pink stone, was a welcome stopping place. The ring of eight here is easy to manage and really delightful to listen to. Yet another hill confronted us. the biggest of the lot, and after we had surmounted it, in a minor thunderstorm. it was almost all downhill to Bampton. Devon at last! The tenor at Bampton defied all attempts to turn it in to Minor, but Doubles went much better
A late night, an early rise next morning, and we were on our way along the Exe Valley to Tiverton. We had been told several times of the excellence of this eight. Nor were we disappointed: both with the tenor drumming and turned in (to a touch of Tiverton Little Bob), they sounded grand. The eight at Crediton followed. which are certainly tough round the back end. Very wet and bedraggled, we eventually arrived at Hole Farm, Highampton, our headouarters for several days, the home of Pat Gilbert, a Bedfordshire ringer in exile, and two of her friends. An enormous meal was awaiting us and we soon dried off in front of a log fire

QUARTERED IN HAY LOFT
Some of us were quartered in the hay loft, and our first night's sleep was somewhat disturbed by the nocturnal activities of Chieftain, the farm dog. an affectionate seven-stone monster, and of a ginger kitten. We were reminded of the old litany, 'From Ghoulies and Ghosties and Long Legged Beasties, and

Things that go Bump in the Night, Good Lord deliver us.'
On Thursday the nine of us arrived at Bradford almost shaken to pieces by the rough roads. The light ring of six is similar in many ways to Shebbear, the next port of call. Both sixes are tuneful and easy running.
More skilled map reading got us to Petrockstowe, an even lighter six that the previous two, where we were welcomed by the Rector, the Rev. W. H. Smale, and several local ringers. Here some of us were initiated into the art of call-change ringing. In vain we waited after the ring down for the clouds to stop raining. Our shoes were thoroughly soaked by the time we reached Hatherleigh, the last call of the day

DAPHNE'S BIRTHDAY

Next day our number was increased to ten; that is, after the tenth cycle had been assembled. Even then, we didn't all get to Bridgerule until a puncture had been mended en route. After a ring on the light eight, and an incident on Rolypoly Hill (the name explains the incident!), we went on to the fairylike six at Pyworthy. Torrents of rain fell on us on our way to Holsworthy, but all thoughts of rain were dispelled for an hour or so while we enjoyed ourselves at a cafe in Holsworthy, it being Daphne Hare's birthday party. After that we adjourned to the church for some good ringing on another pleasant eight, attracting the attentions of the local noliceman. At 6 chimes strike the tune. Holsworthy Church Bells.' composed by S. S. Wesley when he was organist at Exeter Cathedral. A convivial evening was spent in honour of Daphne's birthday.
Saturday was spent in quite a different direction. First place was Okchampton, where Mr. Fred Smale met us. A form of sound control is installed to enable the bells to be heard distinctly in the ringing chamber; it seems to be quite effective.
Next we went on to North Tawton, of Christmas broadcast fame. Our ringing here was not up to the usual standard. The ease with which the 18 cwt . tenor was turned in seemed to impress the local ringers, however. We were rather disappointed in North Tawton bells on the whole: at neighbouring Sampford Courtenay the tone is far superior.
The wind had considerably increased in force and was blowing half a gale as we found our way to Exbourne, a place worth visiting even if only to see the rare standard of craftsmanship displayed in the wood carving of the screen and pew-ends. The bells are light. similar to the many other rings of six round there of the same weight. In the evening. at the Golden Inn. Highampton, the local vocalists gave us a recital of once-popular tunes. and we entertained them with handbell ringing.
To our surprise, Sunday morning was flooded with brilliant sunshine, Dresenting an opportunity for several spools of camera film to be used. We rang both 'scientific' and call-changes for Matins at Black Torrington. until the third developed a mechanical hitch preventing further ringing. In the evenine. after an afternoon of relaxation, we went to St. Lawrence's, Shecpwash. and rang for the patronal festival (including a touch of St. Lawrence Little Bob). We were invited to supper at the Rectory, where we stayed until dusk fell.

AT CLOVELLY

Monday was intended to be almost free from ringing so that we could make the most of our day in Clovellv. We had an hour's ring on the six at the church (light bells in a small tower). and then went down the well-known and well-worn steps to the village.

The rest of the day might easily have become a washout. The rain started at midday and did not stop until nightfall. At Hartland the Vicar offered us the shelter of his greenhouse and entertained us with reminiscences of his forty-four years in the parish, whilst we attempted to fill the void that the cight hours since breakfast had caused. At the Vicar's suggestion, six of us cycled to Hartland Parish Church, where the recently recast bells are probably among the finest six anywhere. The twenty miles ride in the wet back to the hayloft had to be faced and so, after a short ring, we met the others and headed for home.
A stiff breeze accompanied the sunshine next morning and blew us like leaves at varying speeds towards Merton. The special method here was Merton Delight. After this it was only a short ride to Little Torrington (6) and to Great Torrington (8). After ringing on Great Torrington bells we went with the Rev. W. H. Smale to Castle Hill, overlooking the River Torridge, 300 feet below
On the way back to Highampton we called at Petersmarland and rang there. We stopped also in Sheepwash, where we heard some astonishing yarns from the ringing cantain, and at the Union, Black Torrington. We made the most of that night. our last at the farm, talking and ringing handbells until well past midnight.

FAREWELL TO THE FARM
We were sorry to have to say goodbye to the little Devonshire farm with its long white thatched house overlooking the farmyard For the last time the ten pairs of cycle tyres left their imprints in the muddy farm track and for the last time the people of Highampton waved to the ten cyclists passing through on their way to fresh territory. When we did get to Tavistock (forty minutes late) we were joined by Mr. Elliot, a Hertfordshire ringer on holiday in Plymouth, and found that there had been a mistake as to the date of our visit When we eventually obtained the keys and started to ring, the organ tuner in the church had to stop work for a while-the one-sided competition was too much for him.
Buckland Monachorum is well off the main Tavistock-Plymouth road, which meant many miles of rough cycling on the moorland roads in the hot sunshine. No wonder, then, that our ringing was not up to standard. However. refreshed by the final run-down into Plymouth, our ringing at Emmanuel and St Andrew's was improved. particularly as Mr. Tom Myers and other resident ringers were there to help us out. After supper we found our way to the Youth Hostel. a building that looks something like a Greek temple.
Thursday morning we had frec to do what we liked. Most of us went swimming. Soon after noon we collected at St. Maurice's, Plymoton. first class both to ring and to listen to. Then, after lunch, we rang at St. Mary's, another ring of eight. It was another sunny day, and on the A38 road we quickly reached South Brent, the Church of St. Petroc. with its ring of six, poised on the bank of the River Avon. After ringing, conscious of the hills to climb up into the fastnesses of Dartmoor to the Youth Hostel, without delay we attacked the one in five slopes and eventually reached the hostel.
Everyone got more or less soaked in the rain the next morning on the way to Buckfastleigh, where we rang, and at Buckfast Abbey (where we didn't but some went up the tower to see the ring of fourteen and bourdons). At Ashburton we had our lunch and, wonders! the rain stonped. Still on the A38, we pushed on to Chudleigh to ring on the eight (and a very nice eight they are, too). The next place was Topsham. near Exeter. and the night was spent in Exeter Youth Hostel.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS

Northern Branch at Netherton

The Northern Branch annual meeting at Netherton on September 20th drew a large attendance, 27 of the 35 towers in the branch being represented, together with many visitors.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. R. C. Stevens, who welcomed the branch to Netherton, afterwards joining in at tea and presiding over the business meeting, at which Mr. Stanley Prestidge, of Netherton, was elected Branch Ringing Master for the ensuing twelve months in place of Mr. Derek Watson, who asked to be allowed to relinquish the office owing to his increasing commitments. Mr. B. C. Ashford and Mr. T. Greenhall were reelected secretary and Central Committee representative respectively.
The secretary thanked the members for their continued support and referred to the flourishing condition of the branch, there being 222 fully paid-up performing members, the highest total yet recorded, a circumstance which reflected great credit upon the tower secretaries for their efforts in maintaining a steady flow of recruits. He gave a brief resume of the Central Council's proceedings at Lincoln and invited questions from the members then or at any subsequent time concerning the various matters under consideration.

New members were then proposed, the Rector being made an hon. vice-president, while seven performing members were elected

Mr. Clifford Skidmore, the Association Master, reminded the members of the annual dinner at the Guildhall, Worcester, on October 25th. and asked for fullest support

A hearty vote of thanks was then passed to all who had worked to make the meeting a success, and the Rector, after suitably replying, declared the proceedings closed. The members then returned to the tower to keep the bells husy, from rounds to Surprise.

IN EXETER

The next day, Saturday, we rang on three eights in the Exeter area, besides at the Cathedral itself. First was Alphington, then St. Thomas', and finally St. David's.

At 6 p.m. we went with the Cathedral ringers up to the belfry. The powerful diapason notes of Grandison tend to swamp the voices of all its lesser brethren: the music of the Stafford ten (leaving Grandison out and including the flat sixth) is less confused and infinitely more beautiful. When finally the bells were rung down, most of us went to see Great Peter, in the other tower. and as a result nearly got locked up there for the night. It is not known what use the Cathedral ringers made of the plums that were inadvertently left hehind in a paper bag on the ringing chamber table.

Our last ringing of the tour took place at Heavitree. where we rang for morning service. This fine-toned ring of eight is thought by some to be the best in Devon, though others say this of the eight at Taunton: there is really not much to choose between them.
And so the time came to take our leave of Exeter and the fair county of Devon. We had our lunch beside the brown waters of the river and made a presentation to Mr. Michael Stephens, to whose thorough planning and organisation the success of the whole tour was mainly due. After weighing ourselves on the railway station platform to find out what 520 miles. 46 towers and 1.400 (approx.) steps had done to our weight. the Cornish Riviera Express and the preceding relief train came in and bore us all swiftly homewards.

We should like to thank not only the incumbents who gave such ready permission for us to ring at the various places, and who were often there in person to welcome us, but also all those ringers who met us: we were often very glad of their help.

TOUR OF SOUTH

Six Peals and Some Failures

LED by two adventurous Welshmen, a party, including eight other ringers, mainly from the Home Counties, visited South and West Wales for a week's ringing tour.

The party met at Abergavenny on the afternoon of Saturday, September 6th, and with the help of Jack Worrall and Wilfrid Moreton and Miss Jacqueline Evans, rang the first peal of Stedman Caters on the bells. The next day the party proceeded to Brecon, where an attempt for Pudsey failed, due to the indisposition of one of the band. A visit was then paid to the fine Taylor six at St. David's, Brecon, and then away we sped to Carmarthen, which was to be our headquarters until the following Thursday.
On Monday a peal attempt at Llanstephan was brought to an abrupt close by a rope breaking, but our sorrows were soon brightened by the fine example of Welsh hospitality of the Vicar, the Rev. G. T. Morris, who entertained us to lunch and then invited us to try again that evening. So after returning to Carmarthen to ring there, Llanstephan was again visited and a peal of Pudscy safely brought round.
Tuesday again saw us on the road. this time to Haverfordwest for a short ring and then on to St. David's Cathedral to score a peal of Yorkshire on that grand ring of bells. Back again in the 'digs' at Carmarthen, we were entertained with bedtime stories by our bellhanging member who related to us the one about 'The Chest' previously told on another tour recently in the West of England.

SKELETONS IN THE LOWER
On Wednesday we journeyed across Cardiganshire to Aberystwyth, where an atteinpt for Superlative was lost at Llanbadarn Fawr. Whilst passing through Tregaron on the way to Aberystwyth three members of the party paid a visit to the tower, a fairly large onte, in the hope of 'snatching' another ring. Upon reaching the church they were invited to climb up to the belfry to see the solitary bell. In what

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of Oct. 4th, 1912 ODD CHANGES
Mr. George Dawson, of Duffield, has achieved a remarkable record. Although he rang his first peal as long ago as 1884-the 'first peal on the bells, and the first by all the band' at Duffield, conducted by Sir Arthur Heywood - he waited until last week before ringing his first peal away from his own tower. In the meantime he had scored 94 peals.

The band at St. Matthew's Church, Auckland, New Zealand, are making progress and have scored a 672 of Grandsire Triples and a quarter peal. The former was rung on Sunday, August 4th, and the latter on August 11th, the band on each occasion being J. F. Colegrove 1. N. Smallwood 2, J. Heather 3. O. Throssell 4. S. C. Hamblin 5, E. J. Hamblin 6, A. J. White (conductor) 7, P. W. Barringer 8.

WEDDING OF MISS NORMA HOWES

The bells of St. Hèlen's, Darley Dale, Derbyshire, pealed out on Scptember 20th, when Miss Norma Howes, one of the local ringers, was married to Mr. S. Quigley. Miss Howes is a good ringer and has taken part in a number of peals ranging from Doubles to Major.
The service was conducted by the Rector of Darley Dale (the Rev. R. J. Stanford) in the presence of many friends. The bells were fired as the wedding party left the church. Later in the day an attempt for a peal of Plain Bob Triples was made, but was lost after $1 \frac{3}{\frac{3}{3}}$ hours' excellent ringing. The ringers presented their good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Quigley with a case of cutlery.

AND WEST WALES

would have been the ringing room several skeletons had just been removed from about 4 ft . of earth covering the floor. The skeletons were presumed to have been the remains of persons hanged in the tower for sheep stealing.
Pembroke was visited on Thursday morning, and after some adjustments had been made to the fittings, a short touch was rung on the bells, whereupon we were invited by the Vicar to attempt a peal on them. A hurried visit was made to Tenby for a peal of Lincolnshire, and we sped back again to Pembroke to ring a peal of Stedman Triples. On the return journey to Carmarthen our Welsh conductor, who was dirıving, allowed some of his English friends to show him the way, and in consequence we revisited Tenby at 11 o'clock at night via one of the most tortuous lanes in Wales. The driver's comments during the journey are not for publication.
Friday was celebrated in the traditional way; peals were lost at Sketty and Cowbridge. The party was getting travel-worn, having nearly completed the 826 miles of the tour. Saturday morning was spent at Penarth, where a wellstruck attempt for Cambridge was lost three leads from the end. In the afternoon we were welcomed to St. John's, Cardiff, by the genial captain, Mr. Seymour Barker, and a peal of Cambridge Royal on these fine bells brought the tour to a happy close. Whilst the peal was in progress one member of the party, who did not stand in, heard what was apparently a broadcast in Welsh by the B.B.C., of the tour. It sounded most peculiar, with expressions such as 'Yorkshire Surprise Major' and 'Stedman Caters ' interspersed between the otherwise unintelligible lilting intonation of the Welsh language.
We would like to express our thanks to the incumbents and local ringers of the towers yi, ited for their help and particularly to Mr . Win F. Thompsett for standing in the Cambricige Royal at Cardiff at almost a moment's notice.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION AT NAZEING

The most well-attended meeting to be held by the North-Western District of the Essex Association in post-war years was at the sixbell tower of Nazeing recently. A total of 61 ringers were present and represented many towers from Essex, Middlesex and Hertfordshire. Among those present were the secretary of the Association. Mr. R. Heazel, and the Master and Past Master of the South-Western District, Mr. J. Crampion and Mr. J. Chalk Ringing started at $30^{\circ}$ clock and was followed by a service conducted by the Rev. H. Hawkins, Vicar of Nazeing. The organist was Miss D. Mansfield, one of the most enthusiastic members of the local company.

An excellent tea followed in the Church Hall kindly provided by Mr. C. Mansfield and other members of the Nazeing band. After a short business meeting, ringing continued, when touches of Stedman Doubles, Grandsire, Bob Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Minor. Little Bob and Cambridge were rung.

LADIES' GUILD

A quarterly mecting of the Western District was held at Wrington (10) on September 13th Ladies and friends were present from Devon. Somerset, Gloucester and Wiltshire, some members travelling 70 miles to be present.

Ringing was of a high standard, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Royal. After the service an excellent tea was provided by Mrs. Knight and her helpers.

At the business meeting it was decided to hold the December meeting in Bristol, the March meeting in Wiltshire and the June meeting in Dorset.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MEMORIES OF JAMES PETTIT
Dear Sir, - With regard to Mr. Barnett's inquiry re the late Mr. James Pettit, I was told many years ago that he was one of the fast dying out skilled silk hat makers, and that was why he always wore a 'topper' himself. I believe my informant was Mr. G. N. Price, who was well acquainted with the St. Paul's band of those days
Apropos of the late Mr. Pettit, those who possess a copy of Mr. Morris' book, 'The History and Art of Change Ringing, will find a picture (rear view) of him in the illustration facing page 79. This was taken by flashlight about 48 years ago, and subsequently published in 'The Sphere,' a leading illustrated periodical of those days.
Mr. Pettit is shown just above the word 'Youths' on the treble, which bell, 1 understand, he always rang.
Others whom I can identify are Mr. G. N. Price on the 7 th (partly obscured by the ringer of the 3 rd ), the late Mr. Challis F. Winney on the box of the 8th, and on the tenor box the late Mr. William T. Cockerill, who was for so many years the hon. secretary of the College Youths.
In the small group at the back. the one on the right. with his feet crossed, is (I believe) Mr . Alfred B. Peck, who succeeded Mr. Cockerill as secretary, and still holds that post. The youthful figure with his hands in his jacket pockets is myself.-Yours faithfully,
F. WHITE.

HITCHIN BELL FOUNDRY

Dear Sir,-It appears from Northill's churchwarden's accounts that its old 3 rd bell had a recasting at Hitchin in 1580 and that the Hitchin bell founder worked again on the bells in 1594-7 and 1599. This is not mentioned in North's book, nor does he seem to mention a Hitchin bell foundry. Can any of your readers supply information about this foundry?-Yours sincerely.

METROPOLITAN ROYAL

Dear Sir,-Below are shown the first eight change-rows (the rest are irrclevant to my point) of "Metropolitan Royal:-

2135476980
1253749608
2157394068
2517930486
5217930486 2571390846

On examination of these, it will be found that вотн the change-rows with the treble in fourths place are in-course. In any Treble Bob method, I believe, one of such a pair of change-rows must be in-course and the other out-of-course. Hence it appears that 'Metropolitan ' Royal is unacceptable as a method.Yours faithfully,
D. MOTTERSHEAD.

CLOCK WITH NO HANDS

Dear Sir.-We have heard recently about a number of one-hand tower clocks, but so far no mention has been made of a clock with no hands. There is one at Chipping Ongar, Essex, Parish Church. It strikes the hours only. This clock is very old. but no one appears to know its age. It keeps perfect time.

C.C. MEMBERSHIP

Dear Sir,-Re the articles by A. R. Pink and P. J. Corby respectively, do we all take this matter of the choice of Central Council representation sufficiently seriously? It so often seems to happen that, once elected to the Council, a man is re-elected many times, often to the exclusion of other and sometimes better or more suitable men. Do we consider all the facts carefully enough when election time comes round? Mr. Pink suggests that some representatives, though ' without doubt well loved and trusted by their members,' are not always the best qualified for the task for which they are chosen.

I feel that we should give this matter our fullest attention every time that we are called upon to choose our delegates. Stop re-electing out of habit, or out of regard for the feelings of the retiring member. This matter is too important for sentiment. Make quite sure that the representation that we send is the best we have. The Central Council should be made up of the finest brains in the country. No doubt many of the personnel of the Council are unequalled in their abilities in the Councit chamber, but until we all send of our best, without fear or favour, there will still be room for improvement.

Mr. Corby rightly states that membership of the Council is a privilege. It is not one, however, that should be regarded as a reward of virtue.-Yours faithfully,

JESSIE M. KIPPIN.

WYMONDHAM SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-May I point out that this method has not yet been rung?
In the late A. J. Corrigan's 'Surprise Methods,' part E, page 50, it is recorded as having been rung at Walesby on June 6th, 1938. The error doubtless arose through confusing with it the performance of the plain major method of that name on June 6th, 1937, and. in turn, may have led to the omission of the latter from the 'first performances' table in the new edition of the Council's Collection of Plain Major Methods.-Yours, etc.,

NOLAN GOLDEN.

THE FREDERICK PEAL

Dear Sir--First, I would like to offer my congratulations to the band that rang the - Frederick' peal at Dodderhill on September 6th. With regard to the inquiry in Belfry Gossip, may I say that a 'Frederick' peal of Grandsire Triples, also Parker's. Twelve-part, was rung at Rolvenden, Kent, on June 20th, 1926.

Should your correspondent wish to have the particulars as given in your paper, I shall be pleased to supply them if he will favour me with his name and address.
This peal bore the footnote, Believed to be the first Frederick peal rung,' and this has not been contested.-Yours sincerely,
F. WHITE.

BRANCH PEAL QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,-I would like to inquire as to the meaning of 'Furness and Lake District Branch ' which appears with the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Boughton-in-Furness, Lancashire, on September 6th, appearing in The Ringing World ' of September 19th.
1 always understood this to mean that all members taking part in the peal are members of that particular branch or district, but this peal has a footnote to the effect it was arranged for a visitor, so perhaps the conductor could explain his meaning of this or correct a misunderstanding of mine.-Yours sincerely, Duston. Northants.

OUTING

BURES AND DISTRICT

Six towers in Bucks, Herts and Beds were visited by Bures and District ringers on the occasion of their annual outing on Sept. 13th.
The heavy octave at Olney came fully up to the party's expectations, and they were met by the Vicar and Mr. F. Boswell. At Newport Pagnell, Messrs. Hall and Howson greeted the visitors and ringing commenced on this excellent eight with good touches of Plain Bob and mixed Kent and Oxford Treble Bob.
Mr. H. D. Harris was patiently awaiting the Bures ringers at Woburn, and while the first touches of Plain Bob and Superlative hardly did the bells justice, the band settled down and Cambridge and Stedman went well. With Mr. Harris as guide the party proceeded to Dunstable, where Mr. R. Matthews had everything ready. Ringing here included excellent touches of Double Norwich and Superlative.
After tea Mr. H. J. Millatt expressed the thanks of the party to Mr. Leslie Mills. the Bures captain, for making the excellent arrangements. Still guided by Mr. Harris, a move was made to Luton, where Mr. A. Rushton and other ringers met the party. On this lovely Taylor ten ( 25 cwt .) some good touches of Treble Ten, Stedman Caters and Little Bob Royal, in which the locals joined, were enjoyed, the final being Double Norwich on the back eight. After bidding farewell to Mr. Harris and the Luton ringers we went on to the last tower at Hitchin to be welcomed by Messrs. Todd and Winters. After a minute's silence in memory of the late Mr. A. E. Symonds, president of the Herts Association and himself a native of Suffolk, the bells were rung to Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge.
A pleasant run homeward ensucd in the gathering dusk, and after a short call at Dunmow for refreshments and the inevitable fish and spuds, home was reached by midnight.

ONE-HANDED CLOCKS

Sir,-Re one-handed clocks. I have a onehanded silver watch, oval in shape with a brass and lacquered face. It fits into a leather case, now damaged. Inside the watch is inscribed, 'John Hooke fecit.' The watch does not work as the axle of the balance wheel is broken, and it has no hair spring (did it ever have one?), also the fusee chain has snapped. Could anyone tell me about the age of the watch, also of anyone to whom I could send it who would put it to work.-Yours faithfully,

GETTING THE TRUE ECHO-EFFECT?

Dear Sir, - I have often wondered, when listening to bells rung half-muffled to changes, whether it would not be possible to ring so that each change is once repeated. I imagine the 'true-echo' effect so produced would sound very effective.
Have 'whole pull' changes in this respect ever been attempted?-Yours truly. A. J. G.
[NOTE.-Such ringing would violate, in our opinion, the principles of change ringing.-Ed.I

THE ST. MARTIN'S YOUTHS

3. - WILLIAM CHATTELL

The great days of 1820 passed and ringing in Birmingham suffered a decline. The bells at St. Martin's were rehung in 1825 , but a very poor job was made of them. Samuel Lawrence died in this year, Alexander Saunders and William Bennett in 1831. and Riley in 1833. Cooper had opened 'The Bell' public house, and shortly afterwards the silver cup vanished. Elijah Roberts, whose tapped peals were causing so much excitement, was soon to leave the town, and Thomas Day, incensed at Cooper's action over the peal of Stedman Triples, would not enter the belfry. Between 1820 and 1830 less than twenty peals were rung, and between 1832 and 1842 there was no real society in the town. During this latter period the centre of activity moved to Aston, where John Hopkins and the young Henry Johnson, in company with a notable newcomer, William Chatell, conducted peals of Triples. Caters, and Royal.
Ringing, therefore, was not dead in Birmingham. Together with Hopkins, who never lost hope, and Johnson, who was growing in physical and mental' stature, there were many promising young men. Moreover, Thomas Thurstans and Isaac Lates were both' busy with the problems of Stedman Triples, and this period saw the beginning of the long struggle against the obduracy of the method, and the rivalry of the two men which culminated in the victory of 1846. None the less, but for the intervention of William Chattell it might have gone hard with ringing in the town.
William Chattell was a native of Irthlingborough, Northants. where his father was a farm labourer. William dabbled in a number of trades, finally becoming a baker. As a young man he lived for some time at Leicester where he learned to ring, teaching himself the elements of pricking changes and conducting by the aid of an old copy of 'The Clavis,' He seems to have left Leicester on foot early in 1833, and before arriving in Birmingham had visited London, Exeter, Salisbury, and Bristol. On May 29th., 1833, he came plodding through Bromsgrove, very dusty, very ragged, and with his shoes tied to his feet with string. He came into Birmingham the same day and soon obtained employment with Mr. Perks, a flour dealer and baker in Charlotte Street. Shortly afterwards, probably through visiting Elijah Roberts at the bcerhouse in Jamaica Row, he fell in with the Birmingham ringers, and soon made his name as a very good ringer.

CONTROL OF ST. PHILIP'S

Hopkins and Roberts both recognised that here was a most promising recruit, and the latter in particular gave the baker a great deal of encouragement. By the year 1840 Chattell had achieved two things. He had made his name as a conductor, and he had secured control of the belfry at St. Philip's. Hines, the new Beadle at this church, knew nothing about bells or ringing, and Chattell took advantage bells or ringing, and Chattell took advantage of this fact to come to an agreement whereby the Sunday Service chiming should be done and men found for the paid ringing occasions. But seeing that under this arrangement Hines was to have five per cent. of the moneys, the old hands at St. Philip's took offence and resigned in a body. This suited Chattell very well, and in a short time he had a band of youngsters, attracted by his offer of free tuition and membership of the new St. Philip's Society.
Among these men were Thomas Srawley, Joseph Spencer, and the rather shifty Thomas Bingham. The latter gentleman is described by John Day as a rather short, stout-built man. of fresh complexion, with light brown curly hair, generally well dressed and rather striking in appearance, He was an excellent ringer, but had the name for being associated with many queer tricks and doubtful exploits. He it was, round about the year 1832 , who made his home in the tower of St. Martin's Church while the Sherifi's Officer was seeking him in the town. He and his brother Charles were also said to have been responsible for the flying of a black flag from the tower of St. Philip's when the Reform Bill of 1831 was thrown out by the Lords. A serious view of this matter was taken by the authorities, and Charles Bingham had to leave the town.
Round about the year 1842 Chattell left Mr. Perks and set up a bakery of his own in Pope Street. It happened that at this time the parents of John Day were living in this street, and the family bread was taken to Chatell's to be baked. Through this circumstance the baker discovered that young John Day was the nephew of Thomas Day, the composer, and he invited the youth to St. Philip's to see the ringing. The result was that John Day joined the St. Philip's band. assisted with the chiming, and was taught to ring in return.
Chattell now had all the material for a firstrate band. The youngsters were well in hand; John Cay was a very useful recruit; and there was little to fear from St. Martin's. But his manner was overbearing and rough, and most of the young men took it amiss. One by one they broke away and went to The Bull Ring where the geniality and kindness of Johnson and Hopkins were found to be a pleasant change from the uncouthness of Chattell. The bells of St. Martin's were going so badly that little could be done at first, but encouraged by the árrival of new blood Hopkins began to raise money to carry out repairs. About $£ 40$ were raised and the bells were put into some sort of ringing order. The work, carried out by C. Oliver, was not very satisfactory, but it enabled the twelve to be rung, and if the eleventh had been satisfactory much more ringing would have been possible.

\text { ould have been possible. } \text { AN UNEASY PARTNERSHIP }

There was now a kind of truce or agreement between the old and the young ringers, and a combined band met at St. Martin's on alternate Sundays. But the partnership was an uneasy Mre. Chattell could bear with no rival real or imaginary, and Johnson and Hopkins both found the baker's manner offensive and intolerable. Within two years there were serious quarrels. First Johnson broke off acquaintanceship, and then. at the ringing for the Birmingham Musical Festival, Chattell picked a quarrel with Hopkins, accusing him of enticing his men away from him, and ending by grossly insulting him. The rest of the band greatly resenting this. Chattell resigned from the paid band at St. Philip's, although he held on to his work in the tower.
In the next year, when the ring of ten at West Bromwich was opened, there was some sort of reconciliation between Johnson and Chattell, and a year later the quarrel with Hopkins was patched up. A new band was formed at St. Philip's, with John Perks, the son of Chattell's old master, appearing as the most promising of the recruits. John Day was able to return to the band. and together with a mixed company from round about, helped by an occasional visit from Lates, Grandsire Triples and Caters were rung regularly. A tremendous lot of handbell practice was put in, mostly at the bakehouse. where it was no uncommon thing for the handbells to be going until well after midnight.
A period of prosperity followed and some exceilent peals were rung. culminating in 10,047 Stedman Caters at Aston. conducted by the brilliant young Perks. But the prosperity was a failing one. Chattell offended Day, and then grew jealous of his clever pupil. Perks; and all the time he was giving way more and more to drink. By the year 1866 he was beginning to break up. He found it difficult to walk about, and his breath was bad. Still he continued to teach beginners and to abuse his old friends. He rang one more peal, calling Lates's 5,024 Treble Bob at Bishop Ryder's, but thereafter he deteriorated rapidly. His manner destroyed his business, and with his business went his means; and at last he was moved into a home where he died within three weeks. He was buried in Harborne Churchyard.

JOHN DAY'S TRIBUTE
well to dwell on the career of this It is well to dwell on the career of this emarkable man. for his sojourn in Birmingham had a profound influence on ringing in the town. John Day knew him perhaps as well as anyone of his day, and the following passages give a considered opinion of Chattell and all his works.
' I think I have made it clear that ringing was at a very low ebb when Chattell came to Birmingham, and there can be little doubt that his influence had much to do with its revival.
"He taught more young ringers than anyone else I have ever known or heard of in Birmingham, as the old ringers generally took the contrary course, and usually tried to make everything mysterious. His pupils could generally hold their own both in tower and on handbells.

Than Chattell I should think a better ringer could scarcely be. He was equally at home from treble to tenor, a fine striker all round and a terror to bad ones. He had a good theoretical as well as practical knowledge of the Standard Methods, justly prided himself on his ability as a Stedman ringer, and at the tenor in Treble Bob had few equals. When at his best his great strength and powers of endurance enabled him to ring with comparative ease a bell that another man dare not tackle. He was a safe conductor, in fact I never heard of his losing a peal through missing calls or anything of that kind. but I have known him patch one up.

As a tower keeper Chattell was untiring. If a bell did not go well. he never rested until he found out the cause. He rehung the seventh and eighth, and afterwards the fourth, having the bells out, the gudgeons cased and turned, new brasses fitted, and made them go well. The tenor was his master, for although he had it out time after time, he could do little with it.' (To be continued.)

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Summer Festival in Rutland

A new venture of the Guild in the form of a summer festival took place on September 13th. Headquarters were at the village of Market Overton in the heart of Rutland. Many towers in the county were open during the day and this opportunity was put to good use by the tower-snatchers.' A good number of Guild members from most of the branches were joined by visitors from neighbouring associations at the service at $4.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$,, which was conducted by the Rector of Cottesmore in the absence of the Rector of Market Overton

A sumptuous tea was provided in the Village Hall and was followed by a short special meeting, the Master, Mr. E. Whitmore, presiding. The one item of business was to appoint a general secretary, pro tem, following the resignation of Mr. R. C. Noon, who has left the diocese. Mr. G. W. Jeffs was appointed to the office.

The occasion was also used to make a presentation to Mr. Noon on his forthcoming marriage to Miss Joy Rawding. The Master, in asking the acceptance of the gifts, which took the form of a Westminster chime clock and hanging mirror. spoke of this tangible recognition by the Guild of the services rendered by Mr. Noon as general secretary. Mr. Noon replied and thanked everyone for the presents.
Surrounding towers were open after tea, and later many returned to the Village Hall for a social evening, which went on until 10 o'clock,

OBITUARY

MR. R. HASTED

Ringing Master of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers for 20 years and a vice-president of the Guild since 1947, Mr. Richard Hasted, of 33, St. George's Road. Farnham, died at his home on September 17th. Aged 81, he had been in failing health for some months, but remained captain of the Farnham Parish Church tower.
A native of Privett, he joined the Hampshire County Constabulary as a young man and rose to the rank of inspector before his retirement in 1921. Mr. Hasted spent his years of retirement in Farnham, devoting much enthusiasm and energy to his lifelong hobby of bellringing. His election as Ringing Master dated from 1928; he composed, rang and conducted many peals. A copper beech walking stick presented to him on his retirement as Ringing Master in 1947 bore an inscribed silver band and a testimonial which stated that the gift was made 'in gratitude and affection' by ringing members of the Branch. Mr. Hasted's wife and family are left in bereavement.
The funeral service at Farnham Parish Church on September 20th preceded interment in Ash Cemetery. In addition to family mourners present the following ringers at-tended:-Mr. A. Harman (Master, Guildford Guild), Mr. G. L. Grover (general secketary), Mr. C. W. Denyer (Farnham District Ringing Master). Messrs. J. Read. C. Wells, J. Wells. C. J. Beadle, A. C. Beadle, Mrs. C. Read (Farnham tower), E. Gardner and Miss M. Cass (Seale). As the cortege left the church the bells rang out half-muffled, and at Ash the bells were also rung half-mufffed during the committal at the graveside. Ringers who attended here were Messrs. E. and P. Sherwood, E. Pepler. Miss S. Sherwood, C. D. Manfield, A. H. Pulling (vice-president), G. S. Joyce (District secretary), R. Mills (assistant secretary) and Major E. J. Bragg (assistant Ringing Master). Two courses of Grandsire Doubles on handbells were rung over the open grave by Messrs. A. H. Pulling, C. Denyer and E. J. Bragg, and in the evening 1,260 Doubles ( 540 Stedman, 360 each of Grandsire and Plain Bob) was rung by C. W. Denyer (conductor) 1, Miss M. Cass 2, P. Sherwood 3, E. Pepler 4, E. Sherwood 5, R. H. Mills 6 .

MR. J. T. GODWIN

The Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild has lost one of its staunchest members by the death on September 19th of Mr. John Thomas Godwin, of 30. South Court Avenue, Dorchester.

Mr. Godwin had rung at St. Peter's. Dorchester, for 45 years and last rang a fortnight before his death. He had been Rector's warden for nearly 20 years. He was the nrincipal of Messrs. J. T. Godwin, who have china and glassware businesses at Dorchester and Weymouth.
Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, chairman of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, officiated at the funeral service in St. Peter's Church on September 23rd. He was assisted by Canon Clare Morrow. Rural Dean of Dorchester, and the Rev. A. F. Godley, former Rector of Stratton and a fellowringer.
The large congregation included the Mayor and Mayoress of Dorchester. Ringers were present from St. Peter's. Fordington, Abbotsbury, Wyke Regis. Upwey. Yetminster, Preston, Frampton and Wool, with Mr. R. H. Steed, captain of St. Peter's, in charge. Also present was Mr. W. J. Simons, oldest member of St. Peter's tower; who had been ringing with Mr . Godwin for 45 years.
At Mr. Godwin's wish the bells were rung half-muffied before the service and an open touch as his coffin was carried from the church he had served for almost a lifetime. Cremation was at Weymouth.

XIV.-AIDS TO CALLING STEDMAN TRIPLES

If the young conductor of Stedman will carefully study the method, he will find many things that will assist him in 'keeping the bells together.' He must not expect to see everything at once only practice will enable him to become a master of his job-but there is no need to wait for things to become apparent by constant occurrence. Study of the figures will enable the 'bob caller.' to pick up many useful hints to make himself a conductor.'
For example, you probably know that the bell immediately in front of you and the one immediately behind you in the dodging are going into the work in front, in the opposite way to you. If you are a 'slow', bell, they are 'quick'; if you are 'quick,' they are 'slow.' The mere knowledge of the fact will often enable you to prevent a trip when you see a hesitating blow on the part of either of these ringers.
Again, when you are dodging up, the bell you are dodging with will go IN, the same way that you have come OUT. This applies on all numbers, but we are more particularly concerned here with Triples.

Another very useful thing to bear in mind is the relationship between two bells, not actually coursing in the dodging, but separated by a six. When you have trained yourself to know, subconsciously, as it were, what the bells thus separated are doing, you have a very helpful knowledge of what the majority of the bells are doing.

You already know that the bell in front of you and the one behind go out into the "slow" (for that is a general way of describing the work of the front three, bells, even if the six happens to be a 'quick' six) the opposite way to yourself. If you are 'slow' they are quick and they are soon out of the way; if you are quick you leave them both in the slow, and as they are separated in their work by a six, if you know what one is doing you automatically know what the other should be doing. That, with your own bell, gives you a grasp of five of the seven bells.
The relationship between these 'separated' bells is not difficult to follow. In between the quick sixes-when one has finished and before the other begins the quick work-they dodge together in 4-5, and while one is in 'quick' the other is in 6-7. This dodge in 4-5 is the only time they dodge together while in this relationship. At other times when they are dodging one is in $4-5$ (up) when the other is in 7-6 (down); when the latter is in 5-4 (down) the former is in $6-7$ (up).

When they get into the 'slow' together the first one in does its last half-turn when the second one does its first whole turn; and when the first one does its last whole turn the last one does its first half-turn.

Now, when your own bell is in the 'slow' you can, with the above in mind, keep your

MR. T. PARTRIDGE

The death of Mr. Tom Partridge, of Sefton, has been a severe blow to the ringers of the Liverpool District. He was an hon. member of the Lancs Association and took a great interest in its work. Although not a ringer, he was never happier than when ringers visited Sefton.

He was laid to rest on September 17th near to the bells he loved. He was the instigator of increasing the old ring of six to eight, giving the second bell in memory of his wife. The ringers of Sefton rang before and after the service and on Sunday, the 21st, a half-muffled peal of Bob Major was rung on the bells with some of the Liveroool and Sefton ringers. Mr. Tom Partridge will be a much-missed man.
eye on both the slow bell ahead of you and the slow bell behind you. And in the spaces between you have a pair of 'quick' bells, in similar relation to each other.
Suppose you are ringing the 7th in the plain course, when you go into the slow you find the 4th there; as the 4th leaves the treble comes to its slow work. Here you will see it in figures:-

| 3467251 |  |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 4376521 |  | 4175236 |
| 347 |  | 147 |
| 374 | 174 |  |
| 734 | 7142563 |  |
|  |  | 1724653 |
| 4735612 |  | 127 |
| 7453162 |  | 217 |
| 754 |  | 721 |
| 574 | 7126435 |  |
| 547 |  | 1762345 |
| 457 | 716 |  |
| 4751326 |  | 761 |
| 7415236 |  | 617 |
| 471 |  | 1673254 |

Examine the relationship between the 4 and 7 and then between 7 and 1. You cannot expect to get all the detail into your head in one 'go,' but study and practice will teach you quite a lot which, presently, will become as much a part of your ringing as is the actual method itself.

The real difficulty in following Stedman, of course, is the rapid changes caused by the bobs: but here again you can go picking up 'tips' if you use pencil and paper at home and use your eyes in the belfry.

The orthodox touches and ncals of Stedman Triples have bobs only in pairs, and, although odd bobs can be used, we are nat troubling about that now.

You will remember what we said last week about the calling places for pairs of bobs being designated $\mathrm{S}, \mathrm{H}$ and L for the three pairs $3-4$ 5-6 and $7-8$ respectively, and $Q$ for the 12-13. One useful thing to rememher is that the bell dodging 7-6 (down) at either S, H or L is always a QUICK bell afterwards; and consequently the bell dodging 6-7 (up) is always a SLOW bell afterwards.

The bell that 'makes' the first boh of cither of these pairs-that is the bell that makes 5 ths and turns round in $4-5$-is always a QUICK bell, and, if four bobs are called, makes the last as well as the first bob. but being then (as the SECOND of a pair) always slow.

Pairs of bobs called at Q have precisely the opposite effect both on the bells in 6-7 and the bells making the bohs
These are some of the simpler things which we advise young conductors to assimilate and then to make a further study of touches for themselves to see how the calling of bobs transposes the relationship of the bells.

Here is the calling of a famous quarter peal which you may like to try your hand on :2314567

Repeat that calling four times. Your other part ends will be:-

> 4531267 5142367 1253467 2314567

We' would ask those who are interested in calling Stedman to make a careful study of this quarter peal, because we shall return to it later on.

OUTINGS

HARLOW COMMON, ESSEX
For the first time for 13 years a full day's outing was recently enjoyed by members of the Harlow Common band. Starting at 8.15 a.m., the first halt was at Woolwich, followed by a call at Bromley Common. The stay at this tower was unfortunately very short as extensive road repairs encountered after leaving Woolwich had put the party behind schedule.

After a very pleasant run through the Kent countryside, the party rang at Edenbridge prior to partaking an excellent lunch at the town's 13th century restaurant.
The first afternoon call was at Tonbridge, where the stay was all too short, but Chatham had to be reached for tea. A peal of Stedman in progress at the Chatham Parish Church provided a fitting accompaniment to the meal. Visits to towers at Frindsbury and Dartford completed the day, in which the standard methods were rung up to Cambridge and Superlative. A most enjoyable outing, which had been ably organised by Mr. W. Aley, was concluded with the traditional light refreshment.

Thanks are due to all tower secretaries and members of towers visited for their co-operation.

HETHERSETT, NORFOLK

On September 6th, the ringers of St. Remigius' Church, Hethersett, augmented with ringers from St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, and Wymondham Abbey and accompanied by their wives and friends, made a tour of churches in the Ely Diocese. Towers visited were Littleport, Ely (St. Mary's), Long Stanton, Over, St. Ives and Huntingdon (All Saints' and St. Mary's). Lunch was taken at Ely and tea at Huntingdon.

Ringing ranged from rounds for learners to Double Norwich and Cambridge Major.

The thanks of the party are accorded to the clergy for the use of the bells, Wally Cousins, general secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association, Marion Grain of Ely, Harold Peacock and Jack Spicer of Huntingdon.

LITTLE ASTON, SOUTH STAFFS

A visit to North Staffordshire was paid by the ringers of St. Peter's, Little Aston. who were accompanied by friends from Coseley. Wolverhampton, Rugeley and the R.C. Abbey of Erdington, Birmingham.
After ringing on the anti-clockwise five at Abbots Bromley, with a tenor of $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$., the party were not so fortunate on the five at Alton, North Staffs, where the attention of a bell founder, the retuning of the treble and the addition of rope guides are necessary. Mayfield has a pleasant six (tenor 12 cwt .) and a course of Cambridge was achieved.
Following lunch various Doubles methods were rung at Ellastone, where there was a delay owing to the fourth rope breaking. Kingsley provided a surprise with having one of the best kept six-bell ringing chambers and an excellent ring. It was felt that the invitation to come again and ring a peal here will not be unanswered.

Mr. William Potts, the Ringing Master, accorded the visitors a welcome at Cheadle, a very pleasant six, and although the party were an hour late, Mr. H. Hodson was awaiting their arrival at Stone, another anti-clockwise ring with a treble that caused anxiety. The last tower was on a private estate at Ingestre, near Stafford, where documents had to be produced to gain admittance. Ringing was strictly limited to half an hour as one or two inhabitants had not quite recovered from the first peal on the bells the previous week.

Special thanks are not only due to incumbents and those who met the party, but to Mr. Dennis Holden, of Coseley, who helped so much with the arrangements.

COMPLACENCY

Whilst the mind is occupied with the intricacy of the method, the hands are actively employed in the proper command of the bell, the dextrous management of which forms a very essential part in the art treated on. However acute the ear and unclouded the practitioner's intellect may be, yet if he is deficient in this point he can never attain the degree of excellence requisite to become a fine striker. It is almost incredible what extremely small portions of time are forced upon the observation in change ringing ; . . a sixteenth part of a second becomes an appreciable quantity. (H. Hubbard, "Elements of Campanologia; 1876, Preface.)

READ this through again and, on pondering the words, many thoughts arise. One is constantly told of the continued progress and improvement of ringing. The organisation and fellowship, through Guilds and Associations, has made enormous strides; facilities for learning and ringing are likewise easier than ever before; the fields of composition and method construction have been explored and widened and the mathematical side has become an exact study, thus catering for all tasies without losing the earnest desire for truth or sacrificing the high principles connected with our art.

All this is very good, but has created a sense of complacency in certain respects, and to the discerning ringer the future picture is far from bright. The words of Henry Hubbard quoted above are as true to-day as eighty years ago, but an appreciation of their true significance is being missed more and more. It must be conceded by anyone who has known a high standard of ringing that the proportion of poor handlers and strikers is becoming higher.
The real art in ringing, as distinct from its scientific side, lies in handling and striking, and as striking is the final result by which the listener may judge the ringing, then it must be given priority, though the two things are inseparable.
Why should this most difficult and important part of our art be neglected? Surely it is because the accent is being laid on the academic, and not the practical aspect. A generation is arising that can ring an enormous variety of complicated methods on any number of bells, and yet cannot chime perfect rounds on six bells, because they have never heard or attempted perfect striking. It is not realised that perfect striking is a definite possibility, but is only obtainable by constant striving, study and application, and the determination always to strike better than ever before, even if one has been ringing many years. By such self-dedication and humility, we may truly deserve the honour of ringing 'to the glory of God.'

Thinking, then, on these things, and exploring the avenues of thought leading to this conclusion, one is confronted with the amazing paradox that the blame must be laid originally on the progress in bell-hanging and tuning. The superiority and excellence of modern bells cannot be denied, but they are so easy to ' ring' that young ringers do learn to 'handle' them in no time. There is no need to 'drive the bells,' they 'go on their own' and so on. At least, that is what many ringers think. The position of the hands and grip on the rope, the stance and length of pull do not have the same importance for full control, and the sally is allowed to slide through the fingers until a gentle clench stops the bell in the balance, while the hands never rise much higher than the ringer's chin.
These same ringers are, of course, found out as soon as they get away from their 'drawing room' peals and then one hears wails of ' unringable, ' impossible to keep up,' etc., or, as one of our poets put it recently, 'the culprits are the bells.'

This lackadaisical handling leads to anything but good striking, but there again, when the bells are perfect in note and tone, their resonance covers up the bad striking, and in many towers the bells can scarcely be heard, particularly certain peals of twelve. They just blend together, and as long as the unskilled pull after each other in the correct order, everyone is satisfied. They forget that the bells are usually loud and distinct outside the tower. In reports of dedications of bells one reads that 'the tone and go leave nothing to be desired,' but nevet 'the front four and the eleventh are inaudible in the tower, while the noise outside is simply deafening.' It may be maintained that these two faults are none of the founders' business-that their job is to cast perfect bells and hang them well, and they are not to be blamed for faults arising only when the bells are rung, but therein lies more food for thought.
Falseness of bells is not eliminated until the centre of balance of the bell coincides with the mathematical centre, but so many ringers are oblivious to the fact that if, say, a bell is quick at hand at the beginning of a peal, it will remain so all the way through, and for ever until the bell is recast or turned.
There is only one quality of striking that may be called perfect, and wherever one goes in the country the general standard is poor compared with 'perfect.' Ringers who deny this are guilty of a low standard themselves; possibly they have never heard ringing which has been nearly perfect, and the chances are they never will, though there is one area in the country where the bells are old and go badly, yet the ringers trained on them delight in putting their backs into the job, and to ring with them is an enjoyable experience.

With the decline in the art of ringing the focus has moved to peal ringing; from quality to quantity, and as all peals look the same in print, imposing lists of achievements are receiving undue admiration. No one will deny the enthusiasm, the efforts, the time and expense involved, and the personal satisfaction in ringing so many peals per year, but many of the individuals concerned will admit that they have had to put up with some 'rough stuff' to achieve this object.

Let ringers who read this article examine their own ringing analytically and critically, be honest and recognise where second best is being accepted, and since the standard of any community depends on the standard of the individual, the result must lead to better striking and a better enjoyment of ringing by all.

The World Freedom Bell

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest installations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

This is the second issue of the last quarter. If you are a quarterly subscriber, please post forthwith 6s. to Mr. J. E. Jeater, 11, Frankswood Avenue, Petts Wood, Kent. Delay will result in the non-delivery of subsequent issues.

A sixty years after peal is indeed an achievement. Mr. Isaac Emery rang his seventh peal at Dartford on September 17th, 1892. His peal at Dartford on September 27th was a noteworthy anniversary.
Ringing at the Biggleswade District meeting at Northill, Beds, to-morrow will start at 3 p.m. and not 6 pm . as stated in the previous issue.
By taking part in the peal of Stedman Cinques at Leicester on September 25th, Mr. W. J. Ridgman, of Cambridge, has rung in peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.
By the peal at Croft on September 22nd, Fred Watson (verger) completed 50 peals at this church. After the peal the ringers were kindly entertained by the Rector.

As St. Margaret's, Rainham, is under repair and no ringing is possible, the wedding peal for Mr. Basil Edwards and Miss Joy Woolley was rung at Tunstall Church. St. Margaret's ringers wish Basil and Joy every happiness in their future life together.

Darley Dale ringers were able to provide Mr. Bob Edden, of Southam, Warwicks, with plenty of ringing during his visit. There was ringing at Darley Dale, Winster (5), Elton (5) and Edensor (6). Unfortunately an attempt for a peal of Stedman Doubles at Edensor came to grief.

Extract from a Shropshire weekly describing a meeting at Clive Church: "A feature of the meeting was a heavy ring of six (tenor 25 cwt .) by Mr. John Taylor (Scarborough). Other items included Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Cambridge Reds.' Comments our correspondent: Any information relating to this probably little-known bell founder or the even less known last mentioned method will be welcome! Some years ago appeared a report of a peal of 'Double Knowledge' C.B. Major rung at Wem.

Last Saturday eleven members of the Devon Guild of Ringers, all resident in the county, attempted a peal of Grandsire Caters at Exeter Cathedral to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first peal on the bells. The attempt was organised by Mr. J. E. Lilley, whose father, the late C. R Lilley, took part in the first peal. After two hours of excellent ringing the attempt came to grief. The same band hope to make another attempt in the New Year.
The band consisted of W. E.. Ashdown (Broadclyst) 1, J. E. Lilley (Newton Abbot) 2, E. W. Biffin (Exeter) 3, A. M. Atkins (Teignmouth) 4, W. H. Howe (Exeter) 5, A. Truman (Kenn) 6 F. Wreford (Exeter) 7, Rev. J. Scott (Exeter) 8 T. G. Myers (Plymouth) 9, W. Harvey and C. A. Uglow (Totnes) tenor. The way the two Mid-Devon members handled the tenor was favourably commented upon.

Those wishing to attend the College Youths ${ }^{\circ}$ Dinner are advised to make an early application for tickets in view of the disappointments that attended the first London dinner of the season-the Cumberlands'.

Mr. T. Elcox has completed 75 years as a ringer at Areley Kings, Worcs. To commemorate his 88 th birthday he rang the second to 1,260 Plain Bob Minor. Others in this quarter were J. Hicks 1, W. H. Turner 3, C. E. Lucas 4, G. R. Bowen (conductor) 5, A. W. Glazzard 6.
The peal at North Bradley, Wilts, was rung to mark two events, one being the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. the other for the wedding of Mr . R. Munt to Miss M. Norrish, and was an expression of thanks from the Parish Church to Robin for the many hours of voluntary work in the churchyard, which bears fine testimony to his hard work.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

LONDON'S DERELICT BELLS - SUGGESTIONS MADE FOR JOINT ACTION AT THE ANNUAL DINNER - AUSTRALIAN PEAL RECOGNISED - MR. GEOFFREY CARTER'S EXPERIENCE WHEN EAVESDROPPING AT COLLEGE YOUTHS’ PEAL

A VARIETY of topics was introduced in the speeches delivered at the annual dinner of the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths held at the Old Bell Restaurant, Holborn, on October 4th, and ranged from Coronation ringing to the restoration of derelict bells in the City, while Mr. Geoffrey Carter gave sparkling reminiscences to the delight of the company.

The Master, Mr. G. H. Cross, presided, and Mr. C. C. Matthews acted as toastmaster. Arrangements for the dinner were admirably made by Mr. F. J. Matthews (junior steward). After the loyal toast Mr. W. R. Winterton, in submitting "The Church,' said he had done it so often that he felt he had become a pillar of the Church-a Corinthian. They were exceedingly lucky in their two vicars. Mr. CharlesEdwardes had kept the bells of St. Martin's to a proper pitch and Mr. Meredith Davies had had Shoreditch bells restored into first-class ringing order. They were grateful to him as they 'go' extremely well, but there could be some improvement in the control of noise. A few weeks ago he was detained by the police when going to Shoreditch and listened to the bells outside and they were somewhat noisy. He hoped they could help Mr. Davies to get them quietened.

DERELICT RINGS

Before they met again there would be the Coronation which would be a great festival for ringing. During the last week there had been an appeal for $£ 4,000.000$ to restore some of the ancient churches of the country. He hoped that part of the $£ 4,000.000$ would go towards getting some of the derelict bells in working order for the Coronation

The Rev. L. M. Charles-Edwardes, in reply, said in the City of London there were a number of churches with derelict bells and he suggested that the Masters of the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths and the Ancient Society of College Youths should get in touch with Col. Searle, the secretary of the fund launching the appeal, and persuade him to spend some of the money on bells. It was said that there was nothing that an Englishman liked better on a Sunday morning than the sound of bells in his ears and then he walked in the opposite direction.

He felt that the ringers should do something to capture the imagination of youth in ringing. Every church had its youth guild or young people's fellowship and they ought to approach them and get them interested in the art. He would like to see the bells of St. Martin's and Shoreditch rung each Sunday morning and evening and not alternately as at present.

As the result of broadcasting from St. Martin's, they received many letters appreciating their bells. One wrote: 'After listening to the lovely bells we hoped to have a beautiful service. We left it on the air and tuned in to Radio Luxembourg.' Another wrote: "Thank you so much for your lovely bells last Sunday; Our baby had hiccoughs. but they drowned it.;

The Rev. Meredith Davies also responded and said he hoped they would not regard their ringing on Sundays as a duty but rather as a service to the Church. He would like to pay a tribute to their Master and members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Mr. Cross met him and talked over the restoring of Shoreditch bells to their former glory and the Society had helped very considerably in that work. When they could get men to climb into a dirty belfry. scrape the walls and make it clean, it was real service to the Church. He was proud to be associated with the Roval Cum-their services to other churches and bring about that inspiration that would draw pcople back to the Church

A HISTORY WANTED

The toast of : The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths' was proposed by Mr. J. W. Raithby, who said the Society went back to 1747 and he believed that prior to that the Society was known as the London Scholars, which started in 1702 or before that date. Throughout the ages the Society had had its ups and downs, but he thought 1952 saw it in a very eminent position. In an age of changing values and changing morals the Society continued from strength to strength. He hoped somebody would write a history of the Cumberland Youths. Their Society meant something in the annals of change ringing and it was time a history was written.

They must not forget that the Cumberlands were a national Society. Although his views might not be acceptable to all, he thought the two national Societies-the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Cumberlands-had more influence than the Central Council. A pronouncement by either Master was received with more interest than a report of the Central Council.

One of the earliest articles of the Cumberlands recommended civility, peace and punctuality. That was wise counsel in 1747 and it was wise counsel to-day. One of the things that marred ringing was the constant bickering; it existed at parochial level and also at diocesan level. They had examples in the little acts of jealousy and illfeeling. Could they not follow the exhortation of St. Paul and put away childish things. He implored the Cumberlands not to have anything to do with ungentlemanly conduct.

The Master, who replied, extended a special welcome to Mr. J. G. A. Prior, Master of the Ancient Society. He apologised for the absence of Jack Millhouse, Dick Newman and Dr. Taylor, who completed 50 years as a member of their Society that month.

THE AUSTRALIAN PEAL

During the year three peals had been rung for the Society. There was a peal of Bob Major at Finchley conducted by Arthur Butler and a peal of Bob Minor in Australia. He expected they had read about the Australian peal and they had decided to book that peal. Mrs. Matthews had received letters from the conductor. Mr. Botting and the umpire, and they all said it was a good peal. The other peal was at Swanscombe.

Next year they would be ringing for the Coronation. He hoped that members would take part in those peals and that some of them would be rung for the Cumberlands.

There were two members they would like especially to congratulate that evening. They were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuiness who had been married 25 years and celebrated the occasion by both ringing in a silver wedding peal. On the call of the Master the company stood and drank their health.
The Master also made an appeal on behalf of the restoration of the bells at Clifton. Bedfordshire. A collection was taken, that raised $£ 3$.
Mr. G. F. Carter, in a happy strain. proposed the health of "The Visitors and Kindred Societies.' He thanked the Master of the College Youths for his good services to him in teaching him to ring Surprise. Among the company present he saw two Fifth Columnists, Dick Hawkins and Dick Deal. They were very quiet and he wondered what report they would present to their members in secret conclave.

TOLD TO " MOVE ON

Some years ago he was passing St. Paul's when they were ringing a peal. He dismounted from the bus and stood in the little doorway known $t 0$ all ringers A policeman spotted him and walked over to him and said, 'Are you one of the ringers?' He had to admit that he could not aspire to be one, so was curtly told to ' move on.' He did as requested and pondered on the exclusiveness of a Society that would not let other ringers listen to their peals.

Mr. Carter had a special word of welcome to Miss Stcele recailing her and other Bedfordshire ringers' friendliness to him after the war. He also mentioned that that was the last time Mr. Denis Layton would be with them as Master of the London University Society and it pleased him very much to have him with them

Mr. J. G. A. Prior in acknowledging the toast. brought the good wishes of the Ancient Society. They had been referred to as 'the opposition.' He wished that the Cumberlands would go from strength to strength as his Society was going. 'I hope we will remain exclusive and I hope that you will continue to take the ladies, as we won't.'

Recalling Mr. Carter's attempts-at Surprise, he said be promised to put half-a-crown in the box when he rang a course without a mistake. He succeeded and they got the half-crown.

The concluding toast. 'The Press;' was proposed by Mr. F. E. Hawthorne (senior steward) and replied to by Mr. White

Before the party broke up, Mrs. Deal thanked Mr. Frank Matthews for making the arrangements for the dinner.

During the evening Mr. Jimmy Potterill entertained and mystificd and the special choir of St. Martin's-in-the-Ficlds sang motets.

THE COMPANY
Supporting the Master and Mrs. G. H. Cross were the Rev. L. M. and Mrs. Charles-Edwardes, the Rev. Mercdith Davies and Mrs. Davies, Miss Evelyn Stecle, Mr. J. G. A. Prior (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) and Mr. W. R. Winterton.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society's September meeting was held at Calverley on the 27th ult. The bells were raised within a few minutes of the official time for starting and were kept going until 5 p.m., when all present adjourned to a nearby cafe for a satisfying tea.

After tea further ringing was attempted until 7 p.m., when the business meeting was held in the tower. The president was chairman, and members were present from Armlev, Bramley. Burley. Calverley, Drighlington. Idle, Ilarropate. Leeds Parish Church. Pudscy, Collingham. Wetherby, with a visitor from Darlington.

The Misses B. Fietcher, C. Steel, J. Ball. M. Howarth and J. Rogerson, all of the Collingham tower. were elected members of the Society. The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company. especially Mr. S. Keighley, was proposed by Mr. I. Slack and seconded by Mr. S. H. Barron.

The secretary siated the next mecting. due to be held on October 25 th at Liverscdge. coincided with the Snowden Memorial Dinner and the open day at Leiverpool Cathedral. After much discussion it was carried that the meeting be held on the usual day, the last Saturday in the month, subject to the Liversedge ringers being agrecable.

The Society's proposed trip which had been discussed at tower level, was considered. As no great enthusiasm was reported, a proposal that no trip be held next year was carried.
Further ringing took place until 8.30 p.m.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

The quarterly meeting of the Society was held on September 20th at Chislehurst and Eltham.
Ringing took place at Chislchurst during the afternoon and a service was held at Eltham. The Vicar. the Rev. D. A. Hodges, said, in his address. that while the present building was comparatively modern, a church had stood on the site since the 12 th century. He was very proud of his hells and gave the Society a, very hearty welcome.
Nine new members were elected at the business meeting, viz.. Tom Chapman (Eastleigh). Norman Hayes (Eastleigh). Brian Luff (Washington). Derek Stone (Old Windsor), John Dennis (Hampstead). Miss Kathleen Read. Miss Mary Prosser and Miss Emily Smith (Erith) and Tom Brett-Smith (Bromley).
The belfry elections of Miss Audrey Smallbone. Miss Diana Spice and Miss Doreen Hayne, of Bray, were ratificd.
Regarding the peal of Boh Minor rung for the Society at Parramatta, N.S.W., last April. Mr. G. H. Cross, the Master, was of the opinion that there was no reason to doubt the integrity of the conductor or the band.
A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the incumbents for the use of the bells and to Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hurrell and Mr. P. Spice for the excellent tea arrangements.

ARCHITECTS' INTEREST IN BELLS AND RINGING

Attending a course on 'The Prescrvation and Repair of Ancient Buildings' recently held in York, were practising architects and surveyors from all parts of England and Wales. Included in the syllabus was a series of lectures on bells and bell hanging given by Mr. Frederick Sharpe. the convener of the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.
Mr. Sharpe dealt with the history of bells from the twelfth century to the present day, and the development in their shape and design during these eight centuries: the partialtones of bells and methods of tuning from mediaval to modern times; bell-frame construction during the past seven centuries: methods of repair of bell-frames and gear: modern bell-frames and gear and the installation of new rings of bells: the horizontal and vertical forces set up by swinging bells and their effects on the masonry of towers : the causes of oscillation of bell towers and methods of preventing it ; the acoustics of hell towers and methods of sound control: and the arrangement and furniture of ringing chambers.

The lectures were illustrated by over 200 photographs of bells and their gear, by plans of bell-frames and scale drawings of inscriptions, by scale models of bells hung for ringing, by casts and drawings of founders marks and by handbells. Mr. Sharpe also used his own collection of actual bells dating from the 17 th century to the present day.
Although not in the syllabus the architects proved to be interested in the art of change ringing, and members taking the course, which was residential. asked to be instructed in the elementary principles of the art during the evenings. Before the course terminated 12 of them managed to ring a plain-hunting course on 12 handbells.
The course was under the direction of Dr W. A. Singleton, of Manchester.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

After a lapse of 17 years the Northern Division held a successful meeting at Greenstead Green on September 20ih. which was attended by 46 ringers from 14 different towers.
At the service the Vicar (the Rev. C. H. M. Fasson) gave a warm welcome to the ringers and also an inspiring address. Tea was served in the Village Hall by ladies from the church.
Miss H. G. Snowden, the District Master, presided at the business meeting, supported by the Vicar. Two new members from Stisted were elected and Dunmow was chosen for the next meeting in November. Handbells were next rung and during the afternoon and evening the six bells in the church were kept going to a large variety of methods.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

The summer tour of the University of London Society was held at the end of July and beginning of August in Dorset. The first tour, seven years ago, was in the West Country, and those members who were on it were pleased to revisit an area of fine towers and fine scenery.
The party stayed in Dorchester and the assorted transport, typical of such a tour. was used to carry the 16 members and guests over most of Dorset and into Somerset.
On Saturday the party met at Dorchester and rang locally and at Weymouth. Sunday service ringing began at 7.30 a.m. at Dorchester and ended at 6 p.m. at Lyme Regis, after which members had the rest of the day free for bathing or (a more popular choice) eating. It was noticeable that the enthusiasm with which the provision of spare time for swimming had been urged was replaced, when the shore was reached. by a conviction that another part of the coast, on a later occasion, would be more suitable.
On Monday Bere Regis, associated with Hardy's
'Tess.' Corfe-Mullen and Sturminster Marshall were visited in the morning. The first tower in the afternoon, Canford Magna, is connected with Canford 'School and has no ascertainable dedication: 'St. Arnold of Rugby' was suggested as the most likely. St. John-the-Evangelist's. Bournemouth, and the ten at Poole closed the day

THE THREE MINSTERS

Wool, Warcham and the magnificent modern church at Kingston led to Swanage and another opportunity for bathing. The following day the programme included Whitchurch Canonicorum and on Thursday and Friday Milton Abbey and Sherborne, the three great Minsters of Dorset. The classical style of Blandford Forum, unusual outside the big towns was admired by some. On Friday Somerset was visited, at Crewkerne and Yeovil: the ten at the latter town were the second of the tour. Frampton and the new eight at Cattistock were the only towers visited on Saturday morning, and in the evening Abbotsbury and Preston closed the week.
The following Sunday and Monday gave time for service ringing and exploring the country around Dorchester, and a return by car, molorcycle or train.
The great innovation of the tour was the entertainment on the last Saturday night, the organisation of which occupied some considerable time and much secrecy. The results in refreshments and games were well worth the effort, however, and the sight of well-known ringers frantically drinking from a baby's bottle or seeking thimbles, razor blades, pins, and other elusive articles concealed in a remarkably crowded room. was most unusual. Great thanks are due to those responsible.

Thanks are also due to Mr. David Gay, who organised the tour.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The North-Western District meeting at Mortlake, where the bells have been silent for several years, attracted over 50 ringers. A תew band has been recruited by Mr. Hill, which, with the help of the district secretary, has had instruction. Good progress has been made, some of the learners ringing in rounds at their first meeting.
The service was taken by Dr. Tenten, who expressed his pleasure at holding his first ringers' service and to hear the joyous sound of the bells again. St. Mary's. Putney, bells were open for the evening ringing.
Mr . D. Cooper presided over the meeting held in the tower. The secretary confirmed October 1lth as the date for the combined meeting with the Kent Association, Lewisham District. The next district meeting will be held at Benhilton on December 6th.

Mr. Cooper closed the meeting with a vote of thanks io Dr. Tenten and the organist of St. Mary's, also to Mr. Elson for having Putney bells ready for the evening.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LONDON ROYAL (No. 3 Version)
Dear Sir,-The Leicester Diocesan Guild have probably more 'versions' to their credit than any other Association, yet they, above all others, are rightcously indignant when London Royal (No. 3) is added to their list. How ludicrous

Mr. Roe hastens to absolve Mr. Harold Poole from any responsibility in regard to his Guild's resolution. When one recollects that through Mr. Poole's eloquence upon a subject he admitted he knew nothing about, the Council members shelved the Methods Committee's report, he could no doubt have restrained his wild henchmen against the desirability of precipitous action, had he been really minded to do so.

The prominence which has been given recently to the Leicester Guild's resolution and to the skeletons which still repose in their own cupboard has shown they have made one particular method a scapegoat. Despite Mr. Roe's assurances, their action was, putting it mildly, illogical and not a little unfair

A new name was selected for London Royal (No. 3) some years ago but it will not be disclosed until the position in regard 10 other versions is clarified. Even then there is no intention of making the date of the change retrospective, to save the faces of our discomforted Leicester friends. The name of the method on the date it was rung at Loughborough was London Surprise Royal (No. 3 version) and if they do not wish to recognise its correct name, they know what to do with it.Yours faithfully,

> CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

A NOTE TO DOUBLES CONDUCTORS

Dear Sir,-Peals of Doubles have been rung recently at Kings Bromley, Staffs, and Quedgeley, Glos, which included extents of St. Dunstan's. It therefore seems necessary to point out, to the conductors of those peals in particular and to five-bell ringers in general, that by the latest ruling of the Central Council, neither St. Dunstan's Doubles nor Reading Doubles (numbers 12 and 13 respectively in the Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods) can now be accepted in peals. At least three leads are now required to the plain course of any acceptable five-bell method, and both the above-mentioned have only two.-Yours sincerely, ALAN R. PINK.

KENT AND OXFORD TRFBLE BOB

Dear Sir,-Some time ago it was my pleasure to ring a peal of Spliced Oxford and Kent Minor in blocks of 1.440 with one 720 of Kent. I. myself, have yet to get a true 720 of Kent and Oxford "Spliced.' The "mixture' is sim-ple.-Yours faithfully.
F. WARRINGTON.

EXPANDING TENORS

Dear Sir,-While not wishing in any way to belittle the fine performances of the ringers on the 'Somerset Tour' recorded in your peal columns on September 26th. I should like to point out the following discrepancies in the tenor weights quoted.

Wraxall tenor weighs 22 cwt .3 qr .1 lb . and not $23 \frac{\mathrm{cw}}{\mathrm{c}}$. The fine tenor at Backwell weighs 17 cwt. 3 qr. 91 b . and not $19 \frac{3}{\mathrm{cwt} \text {. as is }}$ generally believed. It is interesting to note that while Backwell fifth is 9 cwt .2 gr .19 lb ., the sixth weighs only 7 cwt .2 qr .25 lb . : this being the difference between the old and new methods of casting.

There is also an error of a few pounds in the weight of Clevedon tenor which is, in fact. 14 cwit. 2 qr. 23 lb .-Yours faithfully.

PLAIN BOB WITH FOUR BLOWS BEHIND
Dear Sir,-I was sorry to see the letter written by Mr. W. A. J. Knight, of Gillingham. Kent, in which he says he would like to see the Central Council ban. Plain Bob with four blows behind. What benefit will the Exercise gain if this useless wish is allowed to materialise?

At a later date someone else would want the same treatment meted out to Bob Doubles, Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob.

More valuable time could be used by one and all discussing new ways and means of finding and teaching recruits and getting more of our poor old rings of bells ringable.-Yours faithfully, Grundisburgh, Suffolk.

Dear Sir,-A ringable ring of bells has existed in our tower since 1826. Past incumbents have appealed time and time again for someone to learn to ring them on Sundays. On my arrival in the parish I carefully studied the possibilities of starting a company and found ringers had a very bad name due to peal attempts on Saturdays by visitors.

In spite of the dismal prophets I started with some youngsters, finally lashing three bells and making them cut and hold, raise and fall (no one should be allowed to ring rounds until they can raise and fall; evidence of this I saw recently when a learner in a nearby tower nearly lowered her bell with the rope flying all over the place).

We started on Grandsire Doubles but I found we made no progress, odd dodging being the cause. We went to Plain Bob Doubles with the tenor to lead from and no back dodges to worry them. I found we could use calls, so to get them used to the work I used singlẹs as well.

Next came Minor, which was easily mastered after the experience with Doubles. We followed this with Bob Triples and eight-bell timing was the only thing to learn. We practised hard at this and eventually we rang the first quarter peal by a local company here. What a fine quarter it was, with no mistakes; 18 4-6's, six 7-4's, six 6-7's rolling up!

During this time we had had one experienced ringer come amongst us and we went to Bob Major (again without trouble); thence, being so used to even dodging and calls, we tried Little Bob, then Kent Treble Bob and soon we hope to start Cambridge Major; four of us can ring it.

We have rung the first local peal and, apart from one slight hesitation to lead after laying with the treble, the whole peal was perfect. This has all been accomplished whilst those who started with Grandsire are still struggling along. all our success being due to four blows behind.

We have a waiting list of experienced ringers wanting a peal of Bob Triples here and when we start we hope really to enjoy it.

After all, a Grandsire Single has four blows. a Kent Bob four blows. Double Oxford halfcourse of call changes front and back. Superlative Bob bell 34 changes rung while it is doing 3 rds and 4 ths.

A peal of Triples being an extent, what does it matter whether you have the regular lead ends in a particular place, because these change rows must come somewhere? Well, I ask you. Mr. Knight!-Yours, etc.,

CENTRAL COUNCIL RULINGS

Dear Sir.-In reply to the editorial comment following my letter published in "The Ringing World' of September 26th, page 619, 1 quite admit that the Central Council does not attempt to dictate what a man may ring. On the other hand, most Associations that I know of have some rule on the lines of 'that this Association shall abide by the decisions of the Central Council.' Theoretically it is, therefore, possible for a man who rings an unrecognised method in a peal to be expelled from his home Association for not obeying this rule. This is most unlikely to happen, since refusing to recognise the peal would be thought sufficient. However, it could happen.

There seems to be no objection to irregular methods in service ringing. Is the attitude to be that what is good enough for a service touch is not good enough for a Council-recognised peal?

In general. I think that the Central Council is still regarded with a great deal of respect and that when a decision is finally made it will be obeyed. I think also, that the outcry over what is regarded as a possible bad decision is some measure of the respect still held for the Council. Were there no such respect, then the ruling would just be disobeyed. It is because of this respect and not because of dictation that the final ruling will be followed.-Yours sincerely, MALCOLM S. CLOKE.
Hawkhurst, Kent.

HEIGHT OF SALLIES

Dear Sir,-In the course of visits to other towers over a wide area, I have noticed a lack of uniformity in the heights of the sallies, both from belfry to belfry and from bell to bell. Obviously various steeplekecpers have their own ideas on this subject, but I put forward the following suggestion.

If we assume the average sally to be thre feet in length and that the person of average height will catch it in the middle. then a distance of five feet six inches from floor or box to the bottom of the tufting would cater for almost every ringer and allow adjustment of, say, three inches up or down when the rope is moved in the garter hole

The height given is for ropes which have heen stretched and are not greatly affected by atmospheric conditions. I might add that this is a personal matter as I stand six feet four inches and have often taken punishment from a bell with a low sally. What about it, steeple-keepers?-Yours truly,
J. H. GILBERT.

COLLECTION OF PLAIN MAJOR METHODS

Dear Sir.-I regret that I have to mention another slight error in the new Collection of Plain Major methods. This is on page 33 in the example showing how formula method 319 is worked out. The figures of the lead on the right actually reveal the misprint which is in the half-lead place, i.e., the example should read 'Half lead. From Table Two. 5-8' (not 1-8).

We trust that nobody has been unduly puzzled, and are grateful to Mr. Baldry, of Warrington. for pointing it out.-Yours sincerely, K. W. H. FEISTEAD.

A WEEK IN DEVONSHIRE

'Pipe's Pilgrims' Picked the Best Towers

GRUNDISBURGH was again the scene for the start of the now popular annual tour of 'Pipe's Pilgrims.' and at the hour of 6 a.m. on August 3 rd the familiar red coach left on the long trip to Exeter, which was to be headquarters for the week. At St. Paul's Cathedral more members were taken aboard while the junior members made a hasty visit to the Cathedral belfry to see the middle six raised in peal.
Lunch was enjoyed at Sherborne St. John, near Basingstoke, after which another Sherborme, in Dorset, made us welcome for ringing and tea. The Bystock Hotel. Exeter, was reached at $8.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Monday, at 8.30 a.m., found us on our way to our first tower at Cullompton, where a grand ring of ten gave us an hour's enjoyment. One lady tourist seemed happy to inform Biil Simmonds that his obituary notice appeared on the war memorial, the result of which was he received the nickname of 'The Corpse' for the rest of the week. A few miles through the lanes and we were at Uffculme, where in a ground floor ringing chamber we set a good full-throated ring of eight into methods from Stedman to Spliced Surprise.

At St. Peter's, Tiverton, one of Devon's finest rings. we were met by Mr. A J. Taylor and Mr. Stafford H. Green, and after ringing methods from London downwards we felt that we had given of our best on those beautiful bells.

A short journey brought us to the Church of the Holy Cross, Crediton, a magnificent building, and it was a little disappointing to find that its bells have not yet been brought un to the usual standard one meets with in Devon.

30-YEAR-OLD AMBITION

Our last engagement for the day was in Exeter, where we had received permission for two hours ringing at the Cathedral. In spite of the Cathedral authorities ${ }^{\circ}$ letter of permit we had to put back our ringing to 6.30 p.m. owing to an overlooked service. We opencd our efforts on this melodious and grand ring of twelve ( 72 cwt . in B flat) with rounds twice for the beginners. We then rang a full course of Cambridge Royal with Jim Pipe on the box. followed by a course of Grandsire Cinques. A further three leads of Trehle Ten enabled 'The Corpse ' 10 realise a 30 -year-old ambition to ring Exeter tenor, while even the doubtful honour of being strapper to the tenor ringers did not fail to find ample and willing hands to perform this task. The welcome and painstaking efforts of Messrs. Howe and Wreford. the Cathedral steeplekeepers, will be remembered.
On Tuesday we set off at our usual hour of 8.30 for St. Mary's. Wolborough, overlooking Newton Abbot. This lively and musical ring of eight ( $15 \frac{3}{*}$ cwt. in F) afforded us a delightful hour's rineing. An old bell, cast hy Ralf Bird in the fifteenth century, complete with stock and original ironwork. gives the visitor a perfect example of the bellfounders' and bellhangers' work of four centuries ago. At Kingsteignton we were welcomed by the Vicar and were delighted with the fine ring of eight ( $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in F) which we rang in methods up to London Surorise. The next part of our journey, to the Teign Estuary and along the coast road to Torquay, hrought many expressions of pleasure. It would help many who rely on 'Church Bells of Britain' to note that Paignton's bells are at St. John-the-Baptist Church and not Christ Church, as printed. We rang through the Major methods up to Bristol on this musical ring of eight (tenor 21 cwt .). An enjoyable lour was spent on the grand old ring of eight ( 28 cwt . in D) at Totnes. After ringing on so many modern rings of bells it comes almost like a change of air to hear a ring like that at Totnes.

We now made our way to Ashburton and the music of this fine ring ( $8,22 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was some compensation for the fact that we had not been able, owing to holiday crowds, to obtain permission to ring at Buckfast Abbey. The last tower for the day was St. Pancras', Widdi-combe-in-the-Moor, where we rang a host of Minor methods before adjourning to the local, where we could easily have stayed all night with such friendly people as we found there.

AT PLYMOUTH
Wednesday morning found the mists still thick on the Exeter side of the moors as we made our way to the Plymouth district. About halfway we had a most uncomfortable experience as the coach became filled with a stench that defied description. For some three miles we were forced to follow in the wake of a lorry filled with pig swill, and only on managing to pass the vehicle were we able to clear the tainted air. We arrived at Plympton St. Mary's (8), 25 cwt. in D) at 10 am . and had an hour's excellent ringing. Bells and the 'go' are first class and our ringing here did not disgrace them. On again to St. Andrew's. Plymouth, where Mr. Tom Myers introduced us to his noble ring of ten ( 35 cwt . in D flat). Wide open spaces surrounding the church give mute evidence of Plymouth's suffering during the war but the bells still ring out over a partlyrestored church and a town slowly arising from the ruins of the past. Emmanuel Church. Plymouth, next claimed our attention, where ringing was again up to a good standard.
To travel from Plymouth to Tavistock for the ride alone is worth making the journey. St. Eustachius ${ }^{\text { }}$ Church. Tavistock, has a ring of eight ( 24 cwt ., Bilbies') recast by Taylors in 1925. Our ' Mayne ' guide on this part of the journey certainly knows his way round Dartmoor and we found Moretonhampstead bells a bright little ring of eight with a tenor of 15 cwt . A local Tinger who met us discoursed freely about scientific ringers. We hope we did not disappoint him: we rang meihods up to Bristol, which is scientific cnough for anyone. The fearful disease of tower-snatching now attacked the party and Jim Pipe's persuasive voice had. via the telephone. procured us the privilege of an hour's ringing at Chagford. If this eight ( 18 cwt . in F) are the remedy for tower-snatching then that disease is well worth catching.

RAIN IN NORTH DEVON

Okehampton was the first call on Thursday and the churchyard showed ample signs of a cloudburst the previous day: we had to pick our way through the mud hefore we could enjoy the music of the pretty ring of eight. We had a long run throuch some of Drvon's finest scenery to reach Bideford and a Taylor ring of eight (tenor $17+\mathrm{cwt}$.). Major methods again seemed to find favour and a full course of Bristol preceded the falling of the back six at the end of an hour's ringing. It was through a veritable downpour that we made our way, via Barnstaple. to reach a tower of which it would be hard to find an equal. St. Hieritha's Church. Chittlehamnton, can certainly take pride in the local rhyme ahout its tower, for there is truth in the saying. Bishopsnympton for length, South Molton for strength and Chittlehampton for beauty. The ring of eight bells (tenor 13 cwt .) is a joy and it was a pleasure for the visitors when the Vicar. the Rev. W. H. B. Andrews, took a rope with them for a touch of Stedman. The downpour had now turned into a deluge as we took the road again to South Molton to eniov the melody of another Taylor ring of eight ( 24 t cwt ). Mention must be made of the touch of Soliced Surprise in four methods. in which Roddy Pipe, age 12 . rang, it being his first attempt at solicir? Our last tower was Broad Clyst. where Mr. Siafford Green again joined us and helped us to ring methods up to Spliced Surprise.

PILTON'S SEXTON'S EAR FOR RHYTHM

Friday morning's ride was across Devon to the North Coast, where we commenced our ringing on the heavy eight ( 25 cwt .) at St. Mary-the-Virgin, Pilton. The local sexton certainly had an ear for striking and gave the writer a glowing account of the rhythm of round ringing. He also agreed that the first course of Cambridge was well struck, but his expression of disgust when the tenor missed a dodge in Superlative perhaps explains why scientific does not find favour in this part of Devon.
The shortest way to Braunton proved impassable to the coach and we had to return almost to Barnstaple before finding another road to the church of St. Brannock, where on an old Taylor eight (tenor 16 cwt .) we rang Kent, Bristol and Stedman. Then to Ilfracombe, and on the lively eight at Holy Trinity Church we rang methods from Grandsire to Rutland Sur prise. The weather again decided to do its worst and as we climbed up through Combe Martin to make our crossing over Exmoor. heavy rain blotted out the scenery. The descent of Lynton Hill to Lynmouth and the climb up Countisbury Hill were a delightful experience and finally down Porlock to reach Minehead, where we thoroughly enjoyed the last ringing of our tour.
Before we retired for the night. Bill Simmonds thanked Jim Pipe for his efforts in organising yet another excellent tour and asked his acceptance of a travelling alarm clock as a measure of our appreciation. To our driver. Leslie Woods. Jim expressed our very grateful thanks. His cheerful demeanour and courtesy thoroughly earned him his memento of a Ronson petrol lighter.
Our special thanks are due to Aubrey Bennett for his organisation: to Mary Hynard, who at every stop managed to find the inevitable picture postcard of the tower; to Harry Millatt. our regular map-reader: to all local ringers who made us welcome ; and lastly to the clergy of the various churches for permission to ring.

TOURIST.

A Knowledgeable Address

On September 13th the Society held a.meeting at Patrington for the second time this year as the original tower was not available and the second tower had all the officials away on holiday. The Patrington ringers ably stepped in to arrange the meeting at 24 hours' notice.
The Rev. G. E. Chandler, R.D.. deputising for the Rector. conducted the service and gave the address. He spoke with authority on ringing and bells and wove them skilfully into his address. The knowledge of ringing matters was understood when it was known that he had spent his early life in Fressingfield. Suffolk. the parish of the Rev. J. J. Raven. author of the hook on the bells of that county. His greatgrandfather. Edward Chandler, was a ringer in the same parish for over 70 years: Queen Victoria had autographed a photograph for the grand old ringer. who had rung for all royal occasions during her reign up to the Jubilee, and for threc of her royal predecessors.

Mr. Chandler had also served as a curate under the late Canon Nolloth. at Beverley Minster, who was instrumental in the recasting of three of Yorkshire's finest rings. Remembering his great-grandfather, the talks with Canon Nolloth and knowing Beverley's oldest ringer, whose ringing career overlaps that of his grandfather and combines over a century of continuous ringing, there was little wonder that the Rev Mr. Chandler spoke with such ease and authority
The bells, a handy ring of eight. were rung during the afternoon and evening in rounds and standard methods and were going best when time brought the meeting to a close.

FOR BEGINNERS AND OTHERS

XV -STEDMAN CATERS

It was not our intention in these articles to go beyond the scope of eight-bell ringing, because we felt that when a beginner had mastered ringing up to eight bells he could go on to the higher numbers by other means than help from this column. However, as we have had in past months several requests for an article on Stedman Caters to assist young conductors, this may be a fitting point, following on the last two articles on Stedman Triples, to devote a little attention to Caters.

We must suppose, however, that our readers know the method and also know that the only differences between Triples and Caters are the two additional dodging places in 8-9 (sandwiched between the dodging in 6-7 up and 7-6 down), and the moving of the bob place from 5ths to 7ths.
In Stedman, therefore, whether in Triples or Caters, only the last three bells are affected by a bob or single. In some respects Stedman Caters is easicr to conduct than Stedman Triples, because, apart from a 'going off' and 'turning ' or 'homing ' course, the bobs do not cut up the coursing order of the bells to anything like the same extent; and the bells are coursing two sixes longer in the dodging places. Moreover, in the body of a long touch or peal only one or two bobs in a course are necessary and this, again, simplifies the conductor's task.

As in Triples the calling is done by the sixes, which are numbered from 1 to 18 . Composition in Caters is facilitated by keeping 7, 8 and 9 undisturbed in certain relative positions and retaining the same bell in 2nds and also in Sths place. Thus five of the nine bells are 'fixed' which is another great help, for in Triples you have only one.

The result of fixing all these bells is that once you get these 'fixed' bells into position, you are limited, if you do not want to disturb them, to bobs made in the 5th and 16 th sixes and called, of course, a whole pull before those sixes begin. These, as will be inferred, are known as bobs at 5 and 16. If the 5 th place bell is changed it is done by a bob at 4 . The 2 nds place bell, if it is changed other than in the turning course, is moved by a bob at 15 .
The 'tittums' position, in which at the course end the bells behind strike $9-7-8$, and come away in the coursing order $7,8,9$ is generally preferred in peals and long touches, with, often, a change of music by turning over to what is known as the 'handstroke,' that is bringing the back bells into the 'rounds' position at handstroke when they are behind together, so that, if the 6th is the 5ths place bell, the handstrokes, in the 'six' after the course-end, come up 6-7-8-9 and the bells are in the coursing order 7, 9, 8, 6 .
We would suggest that those who wish to go further into this should write out full courses of Caters beginning both from 213465978 and 214365879 , drawing a line between each six and numbering the sixes, 1 being the first change of the first six. Study the courses well and examine the order in which the bells come up behind.
Next week we hope to say something further about this subject.

TWO TOWER BELLS TO A PEAL

Dear Sir,-The first ringer to ring two tower bells to a peal was the late J. W. Washbrook, of Arklow, Ireland, on September 19th, 1901. He rang 3-4 and called Holt's Original. On October 19th, 1901, he rang 3-4 again and called Holt's Ten-Part in the same tower.
The footnote to the first peal says it was the first time two tower bells had been rung by one person, and was rung half-muffled as a mark of respect to President McKinley.
I have both records by me, taken from 'The Bell News.- Yours faithfully,
Eastleigh, Hants.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-Mr. Corby is rather hard on Mr. Warrington. He states that the peal on page 560 of 'The Ringing World ' is a variation of the well-known peal by Hattersley. He produces little to substantiate this statement.
If Hattersley's peal is examined it is found to break down into a number of Q -sets plus the block:-

| 43526 | B | M | W |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 53624 |  | - |  |
| 32546 | X |  |  |
| 43526 |  |  | - |

If, however, Mr. Warrington's peal is dissected, the following block remains:-

| 23456 | B | $\mathbf{M}$ | $\mathbf{W}$ | $\mathbf{H}$ |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 52436 |  |  | - |  |
| 4326 |  |  | - | - |
| 53624 |  | - |  |  |
| 2534 | X |  |  | 2 |
| 23456 |  |  | - | 2 |

This appears to be designed to exclude quite a number of musical courses. So far, Mr. Warrington seems fairly safe; Hattersley would never have owned this round block.

Now, however, suppose the lessons of the little book 'Variation and Transposition' are applied to Hattersley's peal. One of the considerable variety of peals which comes out of the bag is this:-

| 23456 | B M | W | H |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 52436 |  | - | 3 |
| 34625 | - | - | 3 |
| 23645 |  | - | 3 |
| 42635 |  | - | 3 |
| 62534 | - |  |  |
| 35426 | - | - |  |
| 42356 |  | - | - |
| 54326 |  | - |  |
| 32546 |  | - | - |
| 43526 |  | - |  |
| 53624 | - |  |  |
| 25346 | X |  | 2 |
| 23456 |  | - |  |

(Incidentally, I find this, starting from 32546, credited to J. S. Wilde.)
Now if in this peal a bob is called at the 14th course end and the 18th is brought up, having lost four courses, it is necessary to bob the 24 's and the 34 's. Behold, we have a peal by J. S. Warrington (née Hattersley).
Some years ago there was a dispute over the authorship of a peal of Surprise Royal. It seemed that if a Bob was called at a certain point in a peal of Superlative composed by one gentleman, the other gentleman's peal of Surprise Royal was produced. Whose peal, then, was it? Now, as then, no final answer seems possible.
However, from Mr. Warrington's letter, he appears to be remarkably ill-informed on the subject. Surely he knows that the majority of one's compositions have been produced before (I believe a certain Benjamin Annable has given Mr . Warrington a lot of trouble in the past).

The answer seems to be to retire discreetly and try again after baving discovered in rather more detail what has been produced.
In closing, one may say that just because Hattersley had not heard of Yorkshire there was no reason why he should not compose a peal true for any method with the appropriate lead ends and falseness. After all, Middleton's peal of Cambridge has been rung to Eastcote (Heaven knows why), a method with a different lead end and rather less falseness, but Middleton still got the credit.

Mr . Warrington's ideas on patent law are both erroncous and irrelevant.-Yours sincerely,
R. F. B. SPEED.
P.S.-I am relieved that Mr. Corby did not give any more of his transpositions of Hattersley's peal. He might have managed to get the extent of the 82 's.-R. F. B. S.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The Hunts District held their September meeting at St. Mary's Church, Eynesbury. Standard Minor methods were well practised, including rounds for the younger ones, whom it was pleasing to note were eager to learn.

Ringers and friends were present from Biddenham, Blunham, Brampton, Cardington, Weston Hail, Houghton-Conquest, Huntingdon, Leighton-Bromswold, St. Ives, St. Neots and Wilden. The ringers' service was incorporated in Evensong conducted by the Rector of Eynesbury.
At the business meeting presided over by the Rector, Mr. F. Warrington (ought to have been at home) stated a case for the consideration of the mecting for a grant from the Belfry Fund to St. Mary Magdalene's, Warboys, should the scheme for a Coronation bell be procecded with. It was decided to make a grant of $£ 10$, viz., $£ 5$ in 1952 and $£ 5$ in 1953. Mr. F. W Lack read a letter of thanks from the Vicar of Godmanchester for a $£ 10$ grant made to St. Mary's, Godmanchester. Mr. Peck, of Eynesbury, very kindly made all arrangements.

TOWER PERMISSIONS

Dear Sir--Your leader of September 26th regarding ringing excursions is quite a good article in parts, but the section summarising the courtesies to be observed contains some advice which is not necessarily good.

The approach for permission to ring should in all instances be addressed to the incumbent, not the captain of ringers. After all, the incumbent is the lawful authority, together with the churchwardens, who may or may not permit the ringing of the bells in a Church of England tower. The last paragraph of the leading article is confirmation of my point : to receive a reply from the incumbent, when the application was addressed to the captain of ringers, is sufficient in itself.
I feel it is gross discourtesy to do as P. A. C. suggests, in making an approach through anyone other that the incumbent of the parish.
W. R. JACKSON.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Only a small sum is now needed to complete the cost of the restored ring of eight at Stradbroke, Suffolk, in which Mr. David Vincent, of Hale. Cheshire. has taken such a deep interest. The dedication is on Saturday, October 18th. Donations should be sent 10 Canon K. E. Shaw, Stradbroke, ncar Diss, Norfolk.

Arrangements for the Ladies' Guild 40th Anniversary Dinner to be held in Leicester on October 25th are near completion. The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress and the Bishop of Leicester have accepted invitations to be present. A few tickets are still available for which early application should be made before October 18th to Mr. P. J. Staniforth, 150, Narborough Road South, Leicester.

Two Peals of York Surprise Major
Dear Sir,-I enclose two peals of York Surprise Major. I do not claim any originality for them, but I should like to know to whom they belong.-Yours sincerely,

The peal at Whetstone on September 13th to the memory of Mr. John Grundy, verger of All Saints', Loughborough, was a tribute by four fellow vergers from Elmsthorpe, Croft, Leicester (St. Margaret's) and Whetstone. It was hoped to have six vergers in this peal, which was a tribute to a very fine ringer and verger who will be greatly missed.

HOW GOOD A RINGER ARE YOU?

LAST week's editorial, ' Complacency,' had as its objective better bell control in the widest possible sense. But the fact remains that many of our ringers to-day have no idea of how low their standard is. With the object of testing your ringing truthfully answer the following quiz. If you score 100 points you can hold your head up, but even then don't forget there is always room for improvement. It may be an advantage to cut this out and post it up in the belfry. Off we go, and answer 'yes' or 'no,' and be honest!
Section A. To be answered for you, preferably by someone of experience.
(1) Are your hands always within an inch of each other, whether on the sally or not?
(2) If you are not left-handed, do you ring with the right hand above the left?
(3) Does the sally slide through your fingers?
(4) Does any kink appear in the rope as your hands go up at backstroke?
(5) At handstroke, do you hold the tail-end in the crook of your thumb, with all four fingers round the sally?
(6) Also at handstroke, does the rope hang over the back of your hand?
(7) Do you stand rigidly upright all the time you are ringing?
(8) When ringing, do you ever lean against the tower wall if it is close enough?
(9) Do your hands rise above eye-level, both ways?
(10) Do your hands rise to the same height exactly, both ways?
(11) Can you successfully ring the treble to a rise or fall?
(12) Can you tap out with your fingers a good rhythm for $6,8,10$ or 12 bells?
(13) Can you ring changes on handbells, preferably double-handed?
(14) Is either hand ever visibly clear of the rope?

Section B. To be answered by yourself.
(15) Do you know the musical changes in the standard methods?
(16) Do you listen only to the interval between yourself and the bell you are following?
(17) Do you listen to all the bells all the time?
(18) Can you tell when you are guilty of a bad blow?
(19) When ringing the tenor behind, do you keep it at exactly the same speed?
(20) Within a few changes, can you tell which bells are false, which way, and how much?
(21) Does a bad blow by yourself or anyone else make you wince?
(22) Do you consider that you can handle and strike perfectly?
(23) Judging by your own standards, do you generally associate with ringers the same or better than yourself?

Scores.

If you have less than 50 , it would be best to start learning all over again, under different circumstances, should you aspire to become a useful ringer.

LATE NEWS

We regret to record the deaths of Mr. George Henry Bridge (83), of Rettendon, Essex, and Mr. William F. Stevens (45), of Arundel, Sussex.
'A Dorset Rabbit' inquires where members of the University of London

BELFRY

Society on their tour rang at Weymouth as many Dorset ringers would be glad to add a tower in Weymouth to their list. The nearest ringable bells, according to 'Dorset Rabbit,' are at Preston.
The quarter peal at Chelsfield, Kent, on September 28 th, was the first ever attempted by the local band
A correspondent inquires for a list of gramophone records of English bells. Can any reader oblige?
Mr. F. W. Brinklow, of Oxhey, rang in two Frederick peals-at All Saints', Poplar, in 1903, and at Beddington in 1947.
Correspondents have informed us that the figures given on page 656 of York Surprise Major are false. The peals are true for Belgrave Surprise Major.
By chance, when ringers assembled at Okeford Fitzpaine Church, Dorset, to ring after the harvest thanksgiving service, it was found that there were six Ridouts at the bells. They were Mr. Frank Ridout, his two sons, Bert and Leonard, and his three nephews, Tom, Ben (the captain) and Robert. It was Mr. Frank Ridout's 74 th birthday and he has been a ringer in the tower almost since childhood.

Ashtead, Surrey, ringers formed the St. Giles' Society of Change Ringers on October 1st. The officers elected were:-President, the Rector (the Rev. C. J. Halsey); vice-president, Mr. George Cook; Ringing Master, Mr. Coward; secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. T. Symonds. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. A. Harman (Leatherhead) and Mr. Oakshot (Chpist Church. Epsom) for their unfailing loyalty and assistance. The weekly practice is at 7.45 p.m. on Thursdays.

Hearty congratulations to that grand Kent stalwart and worker, Mr. George Wood, of Queenborough, who rang the tenor on his 82 nd birthday in the unfortunate lost peal at Sitting-bourne-a shining example for the seventh ringer.
Mr. James Bennett rang a peal at Ashbocking, Suffolk, on October 6th, where he learnt to ring in 1904. He returned to the village last August.

Pinhoe, Devon, bells have been removed to the foundry for their restoration. The village has raised over $£ 800$ towards the cost.

Mr. Robert Congreve-Pridgeon, of Steyning, Sussex, in his will, stated: 'Should my brother ringers wish to ring a peal, let the Steyning bells be rung open at a good, fast stroke. . . No mourning or hideous Victorian paraphernalia at my funeral.' He left $£ 8,138$ gross.

Mr. F. H. Parr, of Bucknall, near Honiton, informs us that the clock in his tower was originally one-handed, but was changed into a double-handed clock over 100 years ago. Those interested in old clocks would find this one of great interest.

The peal at Edenham was the 260th tower for a peal by Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester. It is 44 years since he rang his last peal in Lincolnshire (June 8th, 1908) which, by coincidence, was his first peal in the same methodKent Treble Bob Major.

Essex readers will rub their eyes over the peal of Plain Bob Minor at Belchamp St. Paul on October 4th. which was Mr. Walter Arnold's first of Bob Minor. Walter is well known for his prowess in conducting, being one of the late William Keeble's pupils. He has conducted many Surprise peals, including London. from a non-observation bell. The peal was also the first of 13 -years-old Hilda M. Snowden, who started ringing last January. Her striking throughout was excellent.

REPEATING CHANGES IN HALF-MUFFLED RINGING

The suggestion of once repeating the change in half-muffled ringing to produce the true echo effect has brought forth a number of advocates of this procedure. Here are some of the letters.

GETTING THE TRUE ECHO EFFECT?
Dear Sir ,-The development of change ringing from set changes through whole pull ringing to half-pull ringing, a process which was to some extent bound up with the improvement in the form of wheel used and the position of the rope on it, is adequately described in Morris' 'History and Art of Change Ringing.'
Mr . Morris also mentions in a note the quite common practice to-day of ringing changes in whole pulls with the bells half-muffled, and in my experience this is one of the most effective methods.
1 remember well a 720 of Plain Bob rung in whole pulls in exactly one hour in memory of the late John W. Taylor.-Yours sincerely, Tring.
W. H. J. HOOTON.

A SUPERB EFFECT

Dear Sir,-Permit me through the medium of 'The Ringing World' to reply to the query posed by 'A. J. G.' on the matter of ringing changes on half-muffled bells in whole pulls.

At Adlington Parish Church it is a rule of the tower that on Good Fridays the bells shall always be rung muffled. In recent years the bells have been rung half-muffled in whole pulls to either Grandsire or Plain Bob, and I can assure 'A. J. G.' that although this manner of change ringing may be regarded by some as a deviation from the 'straight and narrow,' the effect is superb.-Yours faithfully.

Anderton, near Chorley. J. BLACKBURN.

- VIOLATION IS JUSTIFIABLE

Dear Sir,-'A. J. G.' asks if it is possible to ring half-muffled changes so that each change is repeated. to give a true echo effect, and whether such ringing has ever been attempted.
The answer to both questions is 'Yes.' I remember ringing Minor in this manner at Long Stanton in the 1920 's. I cannot say from where the idea came, nor whether it has been practised elsewhere: but in my opinion it is by far the best kind of muffled ringing 1 have heard for effect, and I think it a pity to condemn it out of hand because it violates the principles of change ringing.' This, sir, seems one of those cases which the rules have not taken into account. and where a little violation is justifiable.

I can only hope that ' A. J. G.' will not be deterred, but will get his band to try it if

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

Although the weather was very dismal it did not prevent ringers attending from Carmarthen, Tenby, Llanelly, Llandilo, Haverfordwest and also the local tower at St. Mary's. Pembroke, on September 20th for the quarterly mecting.
Great credit is due to the Pembroke ringers for the way they have come on to handle the bells, especially the lady ringers, namely, Miss Hazlet, Miss Thomson and Miss Rogers. and credit is also due to Mr . Humphries in leading the band. It is hoped that in the near future they will make a fine band of ringers.
The bells were available at 2 p.m. and the Vicar the Rev. D. Reece, and Mrs. Reece Were at the church to greet the ringers as they arrived. At $4 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the service was held at which the Vicar officiated, and after the service the 30 ringers sat down to a very nice tea at the Church Hall.
The Vicar presided at the business mecting and some lively discussion took place regarding the practising of advanced methods. A very hearty vote of thanks was cxtended to the Vicar, the organist and to the ladies who provided the occasion arises. He will find it needs patience, and is somewhat more difficult than half-puli ringing.
Finally, to forestall purists and strict enforcers of the law, I would add that no peals or competitive lengths were ever rung in this manner.-Yours faithfully,
Bushey Heath.
C. W. WOOLLEY.

RECOMMENDED BY TROYTE

Dear Sir,-The answer to 'A. J. G.'s' query whether whole pull half-muffled changes have ever been rung is to be found in a letter to 'Church Bells' of November 18th, 1871, by Col. C. A. W. Troyte, author of 'Change Ringing,' and the first president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.

The letter states that this idea had for some time previously been carried out at Huntsham. Snowdon, who quotes the letter in full on page 124 of 'Ropesight,' 7 th edition, is of the opinion that 'This plan should certainly be generally adopted, not only because it is the best way of ringing muffled changes, but also because the effect so obtained is much more beautiful than anything that can in any other way be produced on bells.'
May I say that having more than once taken part in half-muffled changes in this manner, I am in hearty agreement with such eminent authorities. Needless to say, it is worse than useless attempting such ringing unless all the band are competent strikers.- Yours faithfully,

WHOLE PULL CHANGES

Dear Sir.-I was very interested in the question asked in 'The Ringing World ' by A. J. G.' on whole pull changes.

Before our old band of ringers became a half-pull band the usual practice was to ring every sally from cards. These cards are still in the tower now and are 120 changes Grandsire Doubles, BBSBBS, if you were calling them in change ringing: every line was preceded by a letter of the alphabet.
I know this style of ringing has been carried on in another tower quite close to us for years since we stopped. I remember our old ringers ringing a quarter peal off these cards, and that started them change ringing.-Yours faithfully, Bucknell, near Honiton. F. H. PARR.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

The Truro Branch held its autumn meeting at Mabe on September 20th, when a hearty welcome was extended to Mr. W. H. Southeard (Ringing Master of the Guild) after his illness. The service was conducted by the Vicar.

Mr. J. Reed presided at the business meeting when the secretary reported that the ringing of the branch was of the usual standard, but regretted that change ringing had not progressed. At Redruth on three successive weeks there were six guilds represented, and methods ranged from Grandsire to Double Norwich. Redruth had a band that could master Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob, both in Minor and Major. All the officers were re-elected.

A Thursday Meeting on a New Six

The Dorchester Branch met at the Church of St. Andrew, Preston, on Thursday, October 2nd, the first meeting since the bells were augmented to six.

Touches were rung before the service at 4 p.m., which was conducted by the Vicar, the R.m., Ph. Isdell-Carpenter, who spoke on the words which are cast on the new bells, 'God calls.' 'God calls us,' said the Vicar. ' to come to Him with our craft, and then to take our place in the church for His worship.'
Mr. Carpenter said that the addition of two bellis to the old four had made a vast difference, and he was frankly rather frightened at the possibilities which presented themselves, but he was certain that the bells were now a great incentive to all ringers to visit Preston, and he assured them that they would always be sure of a great welcome. Canon Markby read the lesson and Mr. E. Cornick was the organist.

Tea was served at the Scutt Memorial Hall, and the business meeting which followed was conducted by the branch chairman. Canon A. W. Markby.

Before asking the secretary to read the minutes, Canon Markby paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Mr. J. T. Godwin, of Dorchester, who died recently. Mr. Godwin was a keen member of the branch and was always ready to help the work forward, and only a few days before his death had offered to drive the chairman and other Dorchester ringers to the meeting at Preston.
It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Wyke, Regis in November, subject to the Rector's consent, and the date for the annual meeting was fixed provisionally for January 17tb or 24 th.
A vote of thanks to the Vicar and all who had contributed to the success of the gathering was proposed by the chairman, and Mr. IsdellCarpenter, in reply, said he hoped that this meeting was the first of many.
Ringers then returned to the tower, and the bells were kept going to various methods. Towers represented were Preston, Abbotsbury, Dorchester (St. Peter's), Wyke Regis, Upwey. Wool, East Lulworth and Yetminster

4.-THE FIGHT FOR STEDMAN TRIPLES

While the baker, William Chattell, was pursuing his erratic, stormy, but eventful career through the ' 30 's and ' 40 's, and when ringing at St. Martin's was so severely limited, a great attack was being made on the tantalising problems of Stedman Triples. In this onset Birmingham was very much to the fore, having a band of composers second to none in the country Cooper, Day, Johnson, Lates, Thurstans-all were in the struggle. All contributed something to the research, and the final honour, as is well known, went to Thomas Thurstans.

The early peals were, of course, on the old multi-bob plan, and in them the solid blocks of bobs were united in strange and clumsy ways by singles and special calls. The peals of Edwards and Cooper could never be really satisfactory for practical purposes, and experiments were constantly going on to find some way to reduce the number of bobs and to unite the blocks in a reasopable manner. There was a glimmer of light when William Shipway took a 5,040 of J. P. Powell's and reduced the calls by employing extras and omits. By this means he got rid of 120 common singles and 20 Holt's Singles, and his device gave a hint of the means by which success finally came to Thurstans.
Cooper's peal of 1819 reduced the calls to 350 bobs, 230 common singles, and 2 Doubles, while in 1827 Thomas Day was able to produce a composition in which there were never more than two calls at successive sixes. This was a remarkable achievement, and this peal must remain as the best of the old-type compositions.
In 1832 William Hudson of Sheffield produced his notable twin-bob peal, based on the famous Hudson's Course Ends, the set of courses so peculiarly adapted for composition in Stedman Triples. Upon this twin-bob plan Isaac Lates and Thomas Thurstans set to work with great vigour.
Thomas Thurstans was born round about 1800, and he must have begun to study composition at quite an early age. He was about twenty-four years old when he called ${ }^{-}$his 6,600 Stedman Cinques. and peals of Caters and Royal composed by him had been rung previously. He was a brass finisher by trade, and round about 1825 he was involved in a trade dispute of some kind and was sent to prison for a month for leaving his work in an unfinished state. In 1830 he was frequenting The Bell public house in Smallbrook Street, then kept by John Day's father, and Day remembers him as somewhat of a nuisance, often noisy and intoxicated.
In 1842 Thurstans was living in Church Street, and he and Lates were hard at work on Stedman Triples and Treble Bob. Thurstans' great fault as a composer was his lack of patience in proving his work, and most of his productions were handed to Henry Johnson for looking over.

LATES' REMARKABLE EAR

Isaac John Benjamin Lates was a native of Walsall, and an upholsterer by trade. He is described by Day as rather spare, a bit of a dandy, and very gentlemanly in his dress. He had a queer impediment in his speech and a very ungainly way of ringing a bell, but his remarkable ear could follow the calling of touch or peal from outside the tower, and his memory enabled him to go home and commit to paper anything he had heard and wished to record There are many instances of Lates' cleverness in detecting what was going on in the belfry, and the following concerns a peal of Stedman Caters conducted by Chattell at St. Pbilip's. It is related by John Day.
' I was walking about the churchyard when I met Johnson, and presently Lates came up to us. After a chat Lates began to figure with his finger on his hand, when suddenly turning to Johnson he said, "Harry, what the devil is he up to? The sixth has gone away." I forget Johnson's reply, but by and by the bells were right again, while Lates rubbed his hands and chuckled over the fun to come later on. When the peal was finished and the men came out of the tower, Lates accosted Chattell somewhat as follows: "I say, Billie. What were you up to so and so, when the sixth was behind the ninth?" "Oh," said Chattell, "Old Dick and the sixth changed course." "Well, how did you manage?" "Why, the worst of it was I called a bob before I noticed it, but I planted old Dick at once. I knowed what the next courseend should be, and before it came up I managed to get them all in their places."

Lates enjoyed this immensely, and said that he would go to somewhere "if' Billie was not a devilish clever fellow."
Towards the year 1840 every composer in Birmingham was struggling with Stedman Triples. Writing to Jasper Snowdon in 1882 John Day said: "It seems to me only yesterday when I could look on Thurstans, Cooper, Lates Day, and Johnson, all together, and hear them talk of the possible and 'onpossible,' as Thurstans used to call it, when the fight for the peal of Stedman Triples was on, for fight it was.'
Cooper and Johnson seem to have experimented with the old type of peal, while Lates and Thurstans turned their attention more and more to the possibilities of the twin-bob plan. But the aim of both schools was the same, namely, the production of a peal with common bobs and singles only and the reduction and spacing of the calls generally.

Saxlingham Imperial Bob Major

Dear Sir,-I see from 'The Ringing World that a method has been rung to a peal for the first time and named Saxlingham Imperial Bob Major. Very good, but what is Saxlingham Imperial? Is it in the Council's Collection of Plain Major Methods? If so, what number? If not, what is its composition?
I think that when a method is rung and named, its number, if in the collection, or its composition should be noted with the report.
Mr. A. G. Driver's formule table could be used, as then only three numbers, half lead and lead head need be printed. The group letter could also be added, i.e., $1-5-10$ H/L $1-8$ $\mathrm{L} / \mathrm{H} 1-8$ Group K . This is all that would be needed for everyone interested to know all about it.
I should like to thank Mr. Nolan Golden for pointing out the fact that method 51 (Wymondham Bob) was rung on June 6th, 1937. I take it he was the conductor
For the benefit of those ringers who have not yet got the new Collection of Plain Major Methods, the above example is Double Norwich.-Yours sincerely
Faversham, Kent. WILFRID S. PALIN.
[Note,-Saxlingham Imperial Bob Major is Method No. 202 in C.C. Collection of Plain Major Methods (Second Edition). It was sent to us with the peal and we hope to publish it at an early date.-Ed.]

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Meeting at Beverley

The September general meeting of the Association was held at Beverley on September 20th, and was well attended by members representative of all the Districts. The fine ring of ten at the Minster was going early and made good use of until service time, when those present were treated to an excellent ringers service conducted by the Rev. Collwyn Hargreaves, who gave a warm welcome to the Association, as well as a most excellent address. As is customary at ringers' services in the East Riding, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells during an accommodating pause in the psalm "O praise God in His Holiness which sounded most beautiful in the spacious and lofty choir of the Minster.

The general meeting followed tea at Rutherford's Restaurant, and in the unavoidable absence of the president, the chair was taken by Mr. H. S. Morley, of Selby. Apologies for absence were received from the president, the Ven. C. O. Ellison, Messrs. P. J. Johnson. W Barton, A. E. Sellers, A. Bairstow, D. Smith. R. B. Smith and F. A. Staveley.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Incumbents and authorities at both the Minster and St. Mary's was moved by Mr. E. Hudson, seconded by Mr. W. Critchley. and carried unanimously, and a similar vote of thanks to the local companies of both towers was moved by the general secretary, seconded by Mr. F. W. Dale, and carried with equal acclamation.
The general secretary said he had received no invitations for the next meeting and reported that the committee were in favour of recommending Halifax on January 17 th if suitable arrangements could be made. It was felt that members would welcome an early opportunity of ringing on the new ring of twelve. Mr. H. Lofthouse moved, and Mr. E. Hudson seconded, that the committee's recommendation be accepted, and this was carried, it further being decided to try Wakefield, failing Halifax.

The chairman reported that the committee had dealt with applications for grants from the Bell Repair Fund from Seamer and Hemsworth, and had voted a $£ 5$ grant in each case.

The secretary reminded the meeting that arrangements for the Snowdon Dinner were now almost complete, and that tickets were available from Mr. S. H. Steel, of 7, Ings Way, Rawcliffe Lane. York, at 10s. each. The Minster bells would be available from $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$ to 12.30 p.m., 2.30 p.m. to 3.55 p.m. and 4.45 to $5.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on the Dinner day. October 25 th. The Dinner would take place at 6 p.m. prompt, at the Windmill Hotel, Blossom Street, York. and would be attended by the Lord Mayor of York, also the Very Rev. the Dean of York. The following new members were elected:Mary Addy, of Marsden, Ralph Beaumont and J. H. Fielden. of All Souls', Halev Hill, Halifax. Valerie Hall, of Horbury, and J. F. BryHalifax. Valerie Hall, of Horbury, and J. F. Brycounty members were elected: M. I. Thurmott (Ely). T. J. Southam (St. Albans), W. J.
Southam (St. Alhans). C. A. Barron (ShrewsSoutham (St. Alhans). C. A. Barron (Shrewshury). J. L. Stallard (Bristol). C. J. Champion (Buckland. Surrey), G. Kenward (Sittingbourne), Miss Betty Vidler (Marden), F. Lambert (Burwash). R. Lambert (Horsmonden). Miss Sheila Dobbic (Tonbridge). S. Geoffrey Waters (Marden). B. Baker (Maidstone) and Thomas E. Sone (Paddock Wood). Mr. E. Hudson proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman for the very able way he had deputised in the unavoidable absence of the president. The general secretary seconded, thanking Mr. Morley for his kindness in stepping into the breach at so short notice.

An adjournment was then made to St. Mary's where further ringing took place on this noble ring of ten. bringing to a close a most enioy able meeting

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

INCUMBENT SHOULD BE WRITTEN TO

Dear Sir,- All of us commit indiscretions at times,' says your correspondent in his excellent article on 'Ringing Excursion's.' May I be allowed to draw attention to his own indiscretion?

The tower of a church. like the rest of the building is in the care of the Incumbent; so are the bells in his tower. The Ringing Master is the servant of the Incumbent, albeit in so many cases faithful and voluntary and of long standing. It is, therefore, a breach of etiquette to write and ask the Ringing Master for permission to ring the bells in the Incumbent's tower.

Ringers who wish to ring in a strange church should write to the Incumbent-even though he never goes inside the tower and has never handled a bell. In my own case, when permission is sought it is always granted most gladly and in my reply I give the name of my Ringing Master and his address-in order that the details of the ring may be arranged with him.

We welcome visiting ringers here: they will find that the bells are in very good ordes and that all six are rung Sunday by Sunday by a keen band of ringers which includes the Vicar. Perhaps your readers will be kind enough to take this as an invitation-but not to write in the first instance to my wonderful Ringing Master.

I have the honour to remain, Sir, Your obedient servant,

JOHN TRANTER

Vicar of Denby, Derby.

BROUGHTON-IN-FURNESS PEAL

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Noble, the peal at Broughton-in-Furness, which, by the way, was a 'perfect gem,' was rung by members of the Lancashire Association, either practising or non-resident.

Actually only four of us reside in the branch, two coming from Cumberland (non-resident), one from a neighbour branch, Lancaster, and the visitor, also non-resident, but who 20 years ago was an active member of our branch. The peal really was our way of showing hospitality

Quite candidly I cannot see how else I could describe it unless I left out the branch altogether. Everyone knows what a big association ours is with its 11 branches, so a mention of the branch does help to pin-point it.

It have considered well Mr. Noble's letter, but, since it is up to me, I do not think I would alter it.-Yours faithfully.

JAMES E. BURLES.

THE FREDERICK PEAL

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. F. White's letter in "The Ringing World" of October 3rd, as conductor of the Frederick peal rung at Rolvenden on June 20th, 1926. I should like to state that the footnote. "Believed to be the first Frederick peal rung. was contested by the late Mr. Frederick W. Thornton, of Greenwich, who wrote to me after publication of the above peal as follows :-

Congratulations on the "Freds" peal, which, however, is the second. I had the honour to conduct the first, on October 17th. 1903, for the Middlesex Association, at All Saints' Church, Poplar, London. E. I called Thurstans' Four-part peal of Stedman Triples.'

Necdless to say, the claim. "Believed to be the first Frederick peal rung, was withdrawn and a note to that effect published in a later issue of 'The Ringing World.'-Yours sincerely, FREDERICK S. MACEY.

BROADCAST RINGING

Dear Sir,-Congratulations to Bovey Tracey Church ringers on giving us almost four minutes' ringing on Sunday, October 5th. It was a real thrill to hear their bells on the air for ordinary broadcast services. What a pity the powers-that-be' cannot induce other regions to give us such value. Ormskirk Church bells on the Northern Region were brought to an abrupt close-or should I say a "faded" close?-after about one minute or less.

We in Ireland appreciate broadcasts from the B.B.C. where bells are rung beforehand, and when I get my "Radio Times" I usually go through the services to see if any bells are likely. Sometimes I get bitter disappointments; other times real joy when two or three churches come up on various regions with bells, in particular on Midland and West Regions.

Let's have more broadcast bells. It's up to the ringers at churches where services are broadcast to see that they are included.

FRED E. DUKES.

Eire

THE C.C. AND AFFILIATED BODIES
Dear Sir,-I should like to see an official reply to this thought-provoking article. There is a danger that it may cause some ringers to think in the wrong direction. Let us take some of the points made. The 'weighty powers' cannot and never have existed, simply because the C.C. has no right of entry to any belfry only by permission.

As pointed out by Dr. Hatcher, the C.C. carries on through loyalty and goodwill, which is far better than enforcement. It is only in the analysis (which is compiled by the C.C.) that you must keep to the rules laid down by the C.C. Surely this is fair and reasonable, and if you deliberately fiout those rules, well, the consequence is your own fault.

We can agree on the question of qualification, but it is no fault of the Council, but rather of the people who elect them. I fail to see where anything has gone wrong, or that the C.C. has taken up the role of dictator.

Nobody has yet questioned the wisdom of the rule of Plain Bob lead heads as applied to 8,10 and 12 bells, so why all the fuss because it is made to apply to six bells? Instead of being a dissatisfied minority, why not have it placed on the agenda for the next Central Council meeting and loyally abide by the decision reached?

This criticism of the C.C. is nothing new. Many years ago a famous peal ringer used to ask a question, 'What has the C.C. done?' The answer was also supplied as "Nothing., Well, it would be a funny 'Ringing World, without the Central Council, and just for a change let us give them a pat on the back for the work they do, especially those committees whose work goes on throughout the year. The art of ringing has progressed enormously during the last 50 years, and the C.C. is entitled to its fair share of the credit for this progress _Yours faithfully,
M. R. P.

BRIGHTER BELFRIES

Dear Sir,-Now that the holiday period is over and the darker evenings are upon us I think we could consider, to advantage, what improvements we could make to the general condition of our belfries up and down the country. Preparations are already in hand in many towns and villages for brightening up the streets and surroundings in readiness for the Coronation next year and I am sure that if we looked around our ringing chambers critically we could find many a little job to be done that would assist in making our towers more attractive to ringers and visitors alike.
Perhaps some of our readers would like to give a few hints and tips in this matter. Yours faithfully, RONALD I. SHEPHERD.

METROPOLITAN ROYAL

Dear Sir,-Mr. Mottershead is mistaken; the rule he states is only applicable to Treble Bob Minor methods where the extent of the rows must be obtained. In Major, Royal and Maximus this limitation is not present and therefore the rows may be of the same nature.
An examination of the Corrigan Collection of Surprise Royal Methods discloses 28 methods with change-rows of the same nature with the treble in a given place, including such popular ones as Cambridge, Yorkshire, Belgrave, Pudsey, Leicester, London No. 3, etc.

Finally, I reside five miles from Mr. Mottershead, and had he contacted me before he wrote, this waste of valuable space could have been avoided.-Yours faithfully,
C. KENNETH LEWIS.

Altrincham, Cheshire.

Dear Sir,-Mr. Mottershead's theory would rule out Cambridge Surprise Royal as an uracceptable method!
The mathematical progression between the Round Blocks of London Surprise Minor plus 7.8 and the Round Blocks of London Surprise Major is 312 and 231 throughout.
Any true extension of London Surprise Major to Royal should also have 312 and 231 progression in its Round Blocks.

The first seven Round Blocks of Metropolitan Royal have that progression, the eighth Round Block compared with London Surprise Major plus 9-0 is 43152, not 231, so Metropolitan Royal is NOT 'LoNDON per B.B.C.' Yours faithfully, GEORGE BAKER.

Brighton.

FESTINA LENTE:

Dear Sir,-From Mr. Mottershead's note on Metropolitan Royal it is not clear whether he intends to promulgate a dictum or merely ask a question. If the former, there is no point in his suggestion; but if the latter, a closer study of the science of method structure is advised.

To prevent incidence of false impression it may be noted that in method structure the nature of the sequence of row-phase is a free characteristic of each individual method; and that it is governed by potential limitation of row-production, either from falsity or from exclusion.

A more obvious example of this limitation occurs in design type, as for instance in the Little Bob type, where all rows with the treble in the higher positions are, of course, unobtainable. But as to limitation due to particular sequence of row-phase. which is Mr. Mottershead's headache (i.e., phase differential), in cases where some or all of the rows of one nature are missing from a division of the method, and where-as for extents in the lower stages-it becomes essential to obtain these rows, there is still the time-honoured implement of the phase-reverser, i.e., the Single; which, despite some few views to the contrary, remains technically applicable to all methods.
A concluding thought for Mr. Mottershead: It is worth while starting right! His row-parting line UNDER 'rounds' is meaningless, for Metropolitan is obviously not a twin-hunt method. Yours very truly,
A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

CLOCK WITH NO HANDS

Dear Sir,-Referring to Mr. King's letter in your issue of October 3rd regarding the clock with no hands at Chipping Ongar, there is a similar clock at Sydling, Dorset. This clock, which strikes the hours, dates, if I remember rightly, from the middle of the 16 th century, and after being out of order for some time was restored in the 1930 's.- Yours sincerely,
E. T. P. FIELD.

Buckland Newton, Dorset.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD TOUR

A JULY VISIT TO SIX COUNTIES

THE Manchester University Guild Tour took place this year in the counties of Worcester, Gloucester and Somerset principally and to a very small extent (one tower each) in Wiltshire, Dorset and Hereford.

In spite of mechanical failure and muscular inadequacy everyone had arrived and signed on before the warden of Chaddesley Corbett Hostel 'sported his oak' on July 7th, except two who had been whisked away in a 1,500 c.c. Riley to demonstrate the Exercise before an interested-and grateful- audience in Bromsgrove.

The following day we were joined by our Bromsgrove representative and the tour opened at Hartlebury, followed by Worcester, where lunch and ringing at St. John's and on the ten bells of All Saints' were thoroughly enjoyed. Further ringing involved a division of the party. the "junior" members relished the octave of Bishop's Cleeve, whilst the 'seniors' struggled on to Winchcombe, where they met a 'retired' member of the Guild and the local company. The long draught and the awkwardness of the circle cansed even the stalwarts some trouble and the local band some amusement.

A CROP OF PUNCTURES

The night was soent at Hillside Hostel, Cleeve. and on Wednesday ringing began at Painswick. The really solendid ring of bells here was not heard in full until our allotted time was almost gone because, for the first of many times, the tandem had a puncture !

Then to Stroud. where we featured in the local weekly and it was here that the crop of punctures began to be gathered in the 'fullness of the harvest.' A trather leg-weary band moved off to Marshfield. Two of the stragglers were. however, much surprised, whilst taking a rest, to see a slender figure in full song sitting with our tame but hirsute giant on the back of a Land Rover. complete with tandem, and proceeding in the Bristol direction at a very high velocity.
Despite some flagging, however, the Guild did manage to assemble at Batheaston Hostel for the first of three nights. in time for the excellent red soup course of dinner. for which the warden is justly famous. Colerne, visited by two members for the weekly practice, has a one-handed clock and it was difficult to make precise temporal observations on such a timepiece.
On Thursday Keynsham was the first tower to be visited. the pleasure in no small measure being due to the qualities of the bells. At lunch time the party divided, the non-pealers tinging at Newton St. Loe, and although the Rector at Kelston had had an unfortunate lapse of memory, a pleasant time was had in the churchyard!

PEAL FAILURE

The peal attempt was at Bitton, famous as the home parish of A. J. Corrigan. and a peal of Stedman was lost after a nromising start. A further attempt for Bob Major was also abandoned.

Back at Batheaston Villa the Guild settled down to business of the A.G.M. whilst our two guests-Roger Morris, of Chester. and that well-known itinerant ringer, Eric Edmondson. of Liverpool University-made themselves comfortable in the neighbourhood. After Brian Harris. the Chester stalwart had been elected Ringing Master, and other officers and the committee duly anpointed, the meeting deferred consideration of the constitution to a future date and got down to a spot of handbell ringing.

On Friday another unsuccessful peal attempt took place at Bathford, where Bob Minor was lost, due again to a curious lack of acquaintance with the single, and in the afternoon, despite the awe and majesty lent by his incipient and fiery beard, well supported by a powerful figure and voice, our future Ringing Master was unable, after two hours of excellent Grandsire Doubles at Bathampton, to prevent yet another upset and collapse.
The non-pealers enjoyed to the full the fine five at Freshford and also the ample and tasty tea in the delightful setting of the doctor's house in the village.

WITH AMERICAN TOURISTS

On Friday evening the presence of a large party of American tourists produced a startling display of our plumage and a great deal of interest was shown by the visitors in handbell ringing. However, they were startled even more at breakfast on Saturday morning when our Leicestershire Amazon appeared in the doorway with a frightened warden in her arms; not to mention the prodigiously long Latin grace intoned solely for their benefit by that broadlyeducated fire-place expert, Mr. Mason.

On Saturday, ringing started at Camerton, where we were entertained by the Rector. At Radstock shiftwork was necessary owing to a delay in the schedule.
In the early afternoon the Guild arrived at Chewton Mendip and all agreed that this ring of bells must be one of the finest, if not the finest, which Taylors' have ever produced Stedman and Double Norwich were achieved on this ring, and close on the heels of our Guild followed a coachload of South Wales ringers.

A ring was much enjoyed at the Parish Church of St. Cuthbert. Wells. In Croscombe Hostel, later on Saturday evening, the warden appeared to be familiar with change ringers, for special precautions were taken by him to ensure a full employment and a thorough mixing of parties !
On Sunday morning the Guild attended the Early Celebration, and the only successful peal of the tour was rung 'in hand ' in Croscombe belfry.

A HEAVY DAY

Monday proved to be a 'working day,' however, with a vengeance. for in addition to some 50 miles of beautiful, but well-contoured country, the ringing included both Queen Camel and Sherborne Abbey. The day's ringing began at Evercreech, where the beautiful Taylor ten were very much appreciated. Dinner-time (in Manchester, of course. we dine in the middle of the day) saw us eating cream at Castle Cary, where a few minutes later the intricate system of rope-guides and pulleys was to cause a little trouble. At Queen Camel the light and airy belfry, the long catalogue of famous names in the visitors' hook, the sight of the actual bells in the belfry itself being rung to Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles, and, of course, the majestic tone of the heaviest six in the world were sufficient to inspire mere secretaries and secretaries-elect with awe, but 'the Beard' proved irrepressible and was in great form both off, on and in the tenor box.

The furthest point of the day was Sherborne. where the intricacies of the staircase appeared to baffle certain people. However, although some disappointment was expressed about the tone of the ring as a whole by some people, the stalwart 'tower visitors' among us were proud to add another 'heaviest ring' to their records.
Guided by the warden's excellent instructions, the Guild rapidly reached West Pennard. A misunderstanding over the date was soon cleared up and then the Guild set out for Glastonbury, where ringing was arranged at St. John's. The bells of this fine church were not only heard in Glastonbury but also, by courtesy of the G.P.O. (Trunks) in Hereford, at the Deanery. After lunch the Guild were able to enjoy the first-class light Taylor six at Ashcott.

PURELY PERS̉ONAL AT COSSINGTON

At Cossington the Guild was again divided into shifts; the very strong local interest, due to Cossington being the 'summer residence' of the better half of the secretariat, was, we hope, as pleased with the fare with which we provided them as we were with Mrs. Sampson's seed-cake. It ought to be pointed out that the phrase 'betcer half of the Secretariat' must be interpreted strictly as 'the retiring secretary and any connections with the secretary-elect are 'purely coincidental.' A word of praise to Messrs, Mears and Stainbank for Cossington's very tuneful and well-hung six will not be out of place, the more especially as half-an-hour later, on one of the 'reputed heaviest fives' at Walton, we were again to enioy the quality of their work. At Ashcott we had added a new Doubles method, 'All Saints' and at Walton this was once again performed before a 'packed ' audience in the belfry. From Walton it was not far to the 'Chalet' at Street, where the warden made us very welcome.

The A.G.M. was again resumed and on the committee's drafts for the constitution approved, the any other business was postponed to Thursday evening and we lost our promising young Bromsgrovian, who 'softly and silently pedalled away,
Wednesday was principally notable for the ringing at Wells Cathedral and the record number of punctures sustained. Ringing hegan at Street in the morning, where the heavy eight were found to be a little troublesome. After watching the Cathedral clock strike midday, the heaviest of all rings of ten was set going to call changes and standard methods.

Those who were still fit and who still had cveles in working order then had lunch and set off for Wookey Hole and Cheddar, where the tone of the bells is quite good. The night was spent at Burrington Hostel.

On Thursday morning two of Somerset's finest rings of bells were visited, namely the ring of ten at Wrington, where Messrs. Mears and Stainbank once again deserve much praise Later, at Congresbury, we said goodbye to $G$. Corby. who had piven us such able and welcome assistance since Monday. From Coneresbury, by divers routes, the Guild arrived in Henbury. and the secretary left his log there

TANDEM ABANDONED

The tandem had, however, long been abandoned and Harris. complete with nartner and beard (which by this time resembled the brush of the same name! ), rode on his thumb to join the rest of the Guild at Aust Ferry. Despite a brush with a Bentlev on the Ferry, the sea breezes of the Severn freshened every one sufficiently to ensure that no one (always excepting the tandem nartv) was late for supper. The hostel of St. Briavel's Castle is of considerable interest and both the castle and the warden respond to interest and study. Here at last, however. the A.G.M. was wound up and the votes of thanks to the retiring officers and to Mr Ogden for the organisation of the tour were both unanimous and heartfelt.
On Friday farewells became the order of the day. The heavy ten at Hereford Cathedral were visited and these bells proved almost a match for the Guild by reason of their 'go " and the awkwardness of the beams supporting the frame.
It remains only for the secretary to repeat his thanks on bchalf of the Guild to all those incumbents who allowed us to ring their bells. and to all those local ringers who gave so willingly of their time for our enjoyment and pleasure.

XVL-USEFUL HINTS IN CALLING STEDMAN CATERS

Last week we showed that the calling of the ordinary' courses of Stedman Caters is a fairly simple matter, because the bobs usually occur at 5 and 16, with occasional bobs at 4 (to move the 5 ths place bell) and, very rarely, at 15 (when it is desired to change the 2nds place bell). This last is seldom done, because it complicates the composer's task by adding to the risk of falseness.
The bob at 5 changes the 'treble's place' bell, that is, the bell which at the course end itself strikes first. Actually this bell is then doing its last whole turn. When the bob at 5 is called this bell is dodging in 8-9 (up) and consequently remains there for another 'six, and the bell it dodges with (i.e;, the bell in $9-8$ down) becomes the treble's place bell instead.
The importance of this bell to the conductor is this: If he is a wise man he will memorise the order in which the working bells (usually there are only four) become treble's place bell throughout the touch or peal-just as in calling a peal of Major he will, or should, know the 5 ths and 6ths place bells. The bobs at 16 are like calling so many "Homes" in Major, and it is necessary to know when the last of a set of two or three has been called, for memory is not always reliable.

The treble's place bell is the key to the position. After the last 16 there must be either a bob at 4 or 5 . Let us deal with the bob at 5 first, as that is the one that most frequently occurs. You should know beforehand, as we have said, which is to be your next treble's place bell. When you call the last bob at 16, this bell will make the bob and will then be the 'quick' bell at the course end; that is the quick bell in the last six of the course, and will hunt up through the dodging places immediately in front of the existing treble's place bell until it reaches 9-8 (down), when the bob is called to change over the treble's place bell. Thus the conductor has plenty of opportunity to make sure of his position.
If the bob happens to be at 4 , the same bell becomes treble's place bell, but dodges up at the bob (which is one 'six' earl:er) instead of down. The bell that is leaving treble's place makes the bob.
These are just a few points to help you check up on your calling of 'ordinary' courses, which form the main body of most peals and touches.
The calling of starting' or 'turning' or 'homing', courses is not quite so simple. A 'starting' course is the one which brings the fixed ' bells, referred to last week, into their proper positions. A 'turning' course is one which transposes these bells into alternative fixed positions, and a 'homing ' course is one employed to bring the bells round. Usually it is unnecessary to employ both a 'turning' and a 'homing' course, because the former is so arranged that the bells will run round automatically after a given number of courses.
There is no really royal road to calling these starting and turning courses. It is safest to learn them thoroughly, and in doing this to know which bells are going to 'make the bobs and which pairs will be dodging behind at the bobs. With practice you will get to know quite a lot about the construction of these courses, but to go into elaborate details is not necessary in this article.
Conductors should prick out these courses for themselves. They will get all the information they want from the six-ends, but there are certain things to remember. First, the usual 'start' is from 231456789 , which is the actual six-end, rounds being really the fourth change of the six. Next, there are two different transpositions of rows which have to be used altemately, one for the "slow' six and the other for the 'quick' six. The transpositions go thus in

346829175
If there are bobs the transpositions are:231456789

Bob at 1342617589 followed by Bob at 2346725189
One other thing to remember is that if you want to call a bob at 1 , you must do so immediately the bells go off into changes, because it is made in the change after 231456789.

As an experiment write out a starting course by the sixends, with bobs at $2,4,6,7,10,12$ 13, 16. If you do it correctly your course-end should be 412365978 . From this go on and write out a homing course with bobs at 2,6 , $7,8,9,12,13$. Your course-end will not be 231456789 ; but see what you can make of it for yourself and then go into the tower and call the touch if you have the opportunity.

DEDICATION

WINCHESTER COLLEGE
The Bishop of Winchester dedicated on Oct. 3rd the ring of six bells at Winchester College, which had been overhauled and a new bell cast for the old third, which was cracked. The new third is a perfect splice with the old five, and the six bells are rehung on ball bearings in the original wooden frame. The 'go' of the bells is excellent, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are to be congratulated on an excellent job.

There were other dedications on the same day, the 555th anniversary of the first feast of dedication of the college. Improvements to the college chapel during the recess included the cleaning and repainting of the vault of the chapel, the glass from the founder's east window had been restored, the altar rail returned from Hursley Park Manor and the organ enlarged.

The headmaster of the college had invited Mr. W. C. Lampard, captain of the Cathedral band of ringers, to find a team for the occasion. So, with a picked band from the Cathedral and also Mr. C. Keen, captain of the college band of ringers, the bells were rung for half an hour before the service and then for a short while after the service, Grandsire and Plain Bob being attempted.

After the ringing the team adjourned to the college museum, where the headmaster was waiting to receive them, along with the skilled craftsmen who had worked on the other parts of the chapel, for lunch and liquid refreshments.

The Lost Camera

Dear Sir.-Re the letter concerning a lost camera, published on page 603. I should like through the columns of 'The Ringing World to thank Mr. Morris for the trouble he took and for the prompt return of the camera, which was none the worse for its adventure.-Yours sincerely,

REX J. CORKE.

OUTINGS

A HALF-DAY IN WORCESTERSHIRE

Organised by Mr. Dennis Holden, ringers

 from Coseley, Wolverhampton, Brierley Hill, Kingswinford,' Wednesbury and Little Aston recently had a pleasant half-day in Worcestershire.Ringing took place at Pershore Abbey (famed for its 'bird cage' ringing room, where Mr. Eric Speake proved the note of the tenor on his variable pitch finder), Upton-on-Severn and Powick, near Worcester.

EAST DEVON RINGERS IN SOMERSET

On September 18th, a party of ringers from East Devon, with friends from Exeter and Teignmouth, had a half-day trip into Somerset. Ringing commenced at Shepton Mallet ( $8,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where an enjoyable hour was spent Across country we came to Chewton Mendip, with its magnificent tower and grand eight ( 24 cwt .). Another hour of good ringing was enjoyed. The lower in peal and excellent ' hum of the bells as we left the belfry will long be remembered Wells Cathedral was our next call, and Grandsire and Stedman Caters went very well on this heavy ten (tenor 56 cwt .). We wended our way to St. Cuthbert's, Wells ( $8,27 \mathrm{cwt}$.), with a certain amount of diffidence in view of a report from one of our party who had recently rung at this tower. However, we suffered no qualms in this spacious belfry (shades of Exeter Cathcdral), with the long draught, and we had some good ringing.
Thanks are due to the incumbents who kindly gave permission and the ringers who met us at the various towers. Methods rung during the tour were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob
E. W.R.

READING'S DAY IN THE NEW FOREST
Ringers mainly from Reading and Bucklebury visited the New Forest area on September 27th. Ringing was enjoyed at Lyndhurst, Lymington, Milford-on-Sea, Downton and St. Thomas', Salisbury.

A pienic lunch was partaken at Milford-on-Sea despite a keen sou'-wester blowing in from the sea, and tea, arranged by Mr. Ron Marlow, at Fordingbridge. Incumbents and local ringers of the towers visited are thanked for their help in making the trip so enjoyable.

LAVENHAM HAVE A HALF-DAY

The Lavenham ringers held their annual halfday outing on September 27th. Debenham was the first call and an hour's ringing on this tuneful octave was much enjoyed. Then followed a call at Grundisburgh, where Messrs. C. W., G. and R. Pipe greeted the party. The light ten (tenor $6 f \mathrm{cwt}$.) here proved rather tricky ; nevertheless; a splendid course of Superlative 'Major was 'tapped off,' with Stedman and his son on the tenors! A course of Plain on the 'ragged six' for the learner ended the ringing at this tower. The last call was Rushmere, where various Minor methods were rung.

PRESTON ST. MARY'S, SUFFOLK

On October 4th, Preston St. Mary's ringers with their wives and friends held their harvesttide half-day outing in Essex. The first halt was at Pebmarsh (6), where the party's M.C soon gave the order 'Catch hold,' and saw that each ringer had a pull. A pleasant run was made to Sible Hedingham (8), where Messrs. B. Pettit and A. Catterwell greeted the visitors. Various methods were 'tapped off" in good style. including, with the help of the three locals, Stedman and Duffield.
The next 'touch' was at the Oakdene Cafe, Sible Hedingham, where everyone did justice to an excellent tea. The final tower was Colne Engaine (6), where more excellent striking ensued, including a course of Bourne Surprise. The last stop was at Halstead for refreshments and a short entertainment by 'The Bell-chords Trio.

OBITUARY

MR. HERBERT ARBIN
The Monken Hadley Guild of Ringers suffered a sad loss through the death on September 30th of one of its members, Mr. Herbert Arbin. He was 62 years of age and had been a member of the Guild for more than 25 years.
He was a regular Sunday service ringer, sidesman and church councillor, and is sadly missed, both for his ringing and his cheerful disposition. The Guild wishes to extend its deepest sympathy with Mrs. Arbin and family in their grievous loss.

On the day of the funeral (October 4th) 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled on the bells of St. Mary-the-Virgin's by J. Pearl 1 , M. J. Soper 2, Miss S. Lloyd Evans 3, Miss M. Richards 4, R. Frazer 5, C. Ward (cond.) 6, T. Pink 7, W. Langley 8.

MR. F. W. BOWTELL

Ickleton has lost one of its oldest ringers by the death of Mr. Francis W. Bowtell at the age of 79. He had been a ringer for over 50 years and took part in the first peal on the bells in 1900.

A staunch churchman, Mr. Bowtell always attended the services and in his ringing days walked miles to ring in all churches in the district.
His funeral took place at Hinxton on Sept. 30th. The many wreaths included one from the Ickleton ringers.

MR. T. GUMBRELL

Mr. T. Gumbrell, of Wisborough Green, died on September 24th at the age of 74 years. The funeral took place on September 27th.
Although no big method ringer, he was always there to ring if wanted, and was, I think, the oldest member of the Wisborough Green band, having been a regular ringer for the past 20 years. He was a member of the choir and the P.C.C., a good church worker and one of the best of friends.
A short touch of Grandsire Doubles was rung on half-muffled bells at the service, and on Sunday the bells were rung half-muffled at both services.
On behalf of the local band and myself we express our sympathy with Mrs. Gumbrell.
W. H. EDWARDS.

MR. T. HOLLOCKS

By the death of Mr. Thomas Hollocks, aged 69 years, on Sunday, Sept. 29th, Preston St . Mary's, Suffolk, loses its last member of the band which during the early years of this century were ringing extents of Minor in all the methods contained in the 'Standard Methods' of that time.

Mr. Hollocks had been an active and regular Sunday service ringer for 53 years; he was a dependable ringer and a superb striker. Although never keen on peals, he had quite a few to his credit.

Some years ago, when Mr. Hollocks was the only ringer in the parish and longing to hear St. Mary's bells ring again, he offered himself as instructor and taught a young band which now rings regularly each Sunday in methods including Cambridge, Bourne and Netherseale. His last ringing, about a month ago, was an unsuccessful attempt for 720 Cambridge Minor with his young band. His ever cheerful smile will be sadly missed in the tower.

He was laid to rest in St. Mary's Churchyard. Among the many beautiful floral tributes was one from the ringers of Preston. The same evening a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise was rung half-muffled by H. Whymark 1, S. H. Symonds (cond.) 2, F. Hunt 3, R. Chambers 4, F. Day 5, H. Hollocks 6.

His widow shares her bereavement with a son (a ringer) and daughter.

MR. A. G. JANES

With regret we report the passing of Mr . Arthur G. Janes, the oldest member of Hughenden belfry. Mr. Janes will always be remembered when one looks at the peal books which he took so much pride in writing. He was not a great peal ringer, but he rang about 60 peals, all but two being at Hughenden. His favourite method was Stedman, of which he conducted one when ringing the tenor.

It is much regretted that he did not live to hear the bells which he was instrumental in having restored. He was laid to rest in Hughenden Churchyard on October 3rd, the funeral being attended by several ringers. A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by four members of the tower.
P. H.

MR. EDWIN L. MILES

We regret to record the death of Mr. Edwin L. Miles, a member of a well-known ringing family, of 78, Livingstone Road, Thornton Heath, Surrey. Mr. Miles, who was 68, had not enjoyed good health for the past two or three years and died from pneumonia.
Born at Much Hadham, Herts, Mr. Miles learnt to ring there with his four brothers. The eldest, Mr. Henry G. Miles, was the St. Paul's Cathedral ringer and composer of the 21,000 odd peal of Stcdman Caters rung at Appleton and died recently. A saddler, Mr. E. L. Miles was employed for many years by the Metropolitan Police. At the beginning of the century he was a member of St. Peter's, Croydon, ringers and rang a number of peals there on the old eight. In recent times he had been a member of the St. Lconard's, Streatham, band, where he will be greatly missed, as he was not only a ringer of high merit, but of congenial company. He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Surrey Association and the London Counties Association.
Mr. Miles leaves in bereavement a widow and three grown-up children. The death of his daughter a year ago was a great blow to the family.

The funeral took place on October 7th at Croydon Cemetery and was conducted by the Rector of Streatham, Canon D. L. Salmon. Ringers present were Messrs. P. Miles and T. Miles (brothers), J. Chapman, S. Howard, J. Euston. There were also two representatives of the Metropolitan Police present.

The bells of St. Leonard's were rung halfmuffled in the evening to touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Ringers taking part, in addition to the local band, were Messrs. T. A. Blow and P. Davis (St. Peter's, Croydon) and H. Cox (St. Mary's, Wimbledon).

THE LADIES' GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the Central District, held at Ealing on September 27 th, proved to be a very pleasant and enjoyable gathering. Ringing commenced on the eight at Christ the Saviour at 3 o'clock, with a good attendance. Perhaps the most encouraging feature of the afternoon was the large number of young lady learners present attached to Ealing towers. Beginners were, therefore, well catered for with rounds and Grandsire.
At the business meeting following tea, Guild numbers were increased with the election of eight new members. It was proposed that in future, in order to lessen the possibility of a clash of dates with other associations, Ladies' Guild meetings should be held on the fifth Saturday of a month. The next date appeared to be November 29th, and Leyton and Leytonstone towers were proposed.
Further ringing continued during the evening at St. Stephen's, with methods ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise.

THE RINGING MASTER

By a Ringing Master of Long Experience

THE question has been asked, 'Why a Ringing Master for our branch meetings, why not let the leader of the particular tower take charge of the ringing as he does on Sundays and practice nights?' To answer this one might ask another question, 'What single factor makes the most impression at a meeting?' The answer to this must surely be, 'The atmosphere in the belfry and standard of performance.'

Gatherings of ringers at meetings, be they large or small, invariably comprise good and not so good in their makeup, also single method and multi-method ringers-in fact, ringers of all types. To obtain the best results the person in charge must have experience of handling such groups, in such a manner as to make the best use of the time available and create a happy atmosphere. It would be quite impossible to expect this of every tower leader, however good he might be in his own tower.

Here, then, is the answer to our first question : a Ringing Master is essential to the well-being of a branch, so that he may be able to acquire a good knowledge of all that goes on in his district and be thoroughly acquainted with the many types who attend the meetings. He will then be in a position to put all at their ease and cater for their needs, whilst at the same time be sure that no members of the branch are being made to feel unwanted and of no importance, but rather be improved by the making of new friends.

One of the many things he will deal with is the attempting of new methods, and here the writer would express a deep-rooted conviction: meetings should never be used as a venue for the type of ringer whose sole object is that of experimenting with methods of which he has little or no knowledge. To give a ringer who has thoroughly acquainted himself with a new method on paper the chance to put it into practice with a good band is one thing, but experiments by a number of ringers should be discouraged at all times. Rather should meetings be used to demonstrate how much a ringer has improved his general performance and as an example to others, to say nothing of the effect on the general public.

Another point of great importance is the service touch. That this should be of the best goes without saying, but the selection of the band is often of serious concern to the Ringing Master. It is here that his knowledge of his fellows can be most valuable and permit the selection of a first-class band, without any doubts as to the results. Happy is the man who can do this without fail. Apart from the fact that nothing but the best is good enough for service ringing, this touch should be listened to by all present, and set as a target of quality for their future endeavours. It little matters whether it be Grandsire or Spliced Surprise; the ultimate judgment will be on the striking.

Time can simply fly when chatter is allowed to take the place of ringing, and here the Ringing Master can do much to make the most of the time available. Particularly when the company is large he should be planning his touches in advance, so that all are catered for and no time lost.

The question of combined practices should also be his concern, and he should encourage their discussion and arrangement at the meetings. Practice meetings can be of tremendous value to an association if run on proper lines, under the guidance of a competent conductor. It was the writer's privilege to be secretary of one such during the '30's for a period of nearly nine years. The amount of progress achieved during this period was immense, and many are the ringers in all parts of the country, who rang with us at one time or another, who still speak of the high standard of performance put up by this particular band.

To sum up, a Ringing Master is absolutely essential to the good conduct of a meeting. But he must be as good a ringer as any other member of the branch, so that the ringing can be handled to the best advantage; he must be tactful yet firm and completely unbiased in his association with the members. If he can fulfil these qualifications he will enjoy the esteem of all, and have played his part in creating a really happy branch and a successful association.

XVII.-CALLING STEDMAN CATERS

 FROM A WORKING BELLIf you want to call Stedman Caters from a ' working ' bell there are plenty of good guides to help you. There are, of course, the regular positions into which the 'fixed' bells fall, but even without observing these too closely you can have numerous checks upon your calling.

Once you have got over your starting course, in touch or peal of ordinary type there are only four bells which are affected by the bobs at 5 and 16. They are the bells which fall into treble's place, 3rds, 4ths and 6ths at the course ends, and three of them are concerned at the bobs.
If the bob is at 5 , the bells affected are the 3rd, treble's place and 6ths place bells. If the bob is at 16 , the 3 rds, 4ths and 6ths place bells are concerned.
Many of our readers will remember what has been said in this column about the positions of the bob-making bells in methods like Plain Bob. Three successive bobs, with an interval of a course hetween, cause the bells concerned to work in a cycle of In, Out, 4ths when the calls are made.
So in Stedman Caters there is a cycle which follows the order of 9-8 down, 8-9 up and 7 ths (which, of course, is making the bob). Thus you know, if you are called into any one of these places, what your next calling position must be if you have to run a full course.
We explained last week how the bob at 5 changes the treble's place bell, by substituting the quick bell (3rds place) at the course end. The bell that makes the bob is the 6th. You can watch these bells coming into position from the course end, and, even if you have no other check, you can always see which is the 6th place bell, because when your prospective treble's place bell gets into $4-5$ on his way up, the bell he dodges with is the bell that is going to make the bob.
Further, the bells concerned in the bob are the three which course up after the 5ths place bell, which is one of those that are 'fixed.' The first dodges down at the bob, the second dodges up and the third, having dodged with 5 th itself in 6-7, makes the bob.
Similarly with a bob at 16, the place to make the call is easy to observe. The three bells concerned course up from the front behind the treble itself (that is if the treble, as is usually the case, is the 2 nds place bell). The bob comes when the treble is in 7-6 down, and if you are the first of the three bells after the treble you call the bob when you are dodging down. If you are the second bell you call the bob when you are dodging up, and if you are the last of the three you find yourself dodging in 6-7 up with the treble and the bob is called at that six-end.
There are only two other calling positions with which you need concern yourself, if you are ringing one of the working bells. If you are 4ths place bell at a course end and have to call a bob at 5 , remember the call is made as you approach the last half-turn. If you are treblè's place bell and have to call a bob at 16 , make the call as you begin your first whole turn.
Now the best thing the ringer can do who wants to call Stedman Caters is to write out one or two courses by the six-ends, in the way we explained last week, insert bobs at 5 and/or 16, and examine the way in which the working bells arrange themselves at these bobs.

If you want to construct a few touches for yourself you can do so with the help of the starting course we gave you last week- $2,4,6$, $7,10,12,13,16$. It produces the course-end 412365978. To find the effect of a bob at 5 transpose by 326451 ; for bobs at 5 and 16 , transpose by 321654 ; for a bob at 16 transpose by 126354 .

You can turn the bells into the handstroke position by a bob at 2 , followed by a single at 9 , which produce the previous course-end with $8-9$ reversed. The bells will come round in the change following the course end 214365879 , but do not overlook the fact that you cannot get this with that turning course unless somewhere you have used another single. A single at 5 reverses 3 and 1, a single at 16 reverses 3 and 4 , when compared with the transpositions for a bob.
Those of our readers who are interested may like to construct some touches on paper. It will help them, when they have had some experience in the tower, to build up touches as they go. Here is the sort of thing we mean.
The starting course given produces:-

The peal in honour of St. Faith was intended to be rung at Newton Longueville, the only church in the Oxford Diocese dedicated to this saint. Unfortunately, at the last moment the bells were not available owing to fears for the safety of the fabric. The peal of Painswick Surprise, was accordingly rung in the neighbouring parish of Stewkley.

St. George's Church, Doncaster, has lost a valued member by the departure of Mr. P. J. Dawe to Ilford, Essex. He joined St. George's in 1936 and he had been their "drummer ever since. Earlier this year to celebrate his 70th birthday he 'drummed, a peal of Stedman. He held the record for regular attendance. St. George's band gave him a send-off on October 13 th, at which handbells were rung.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead has contributed an article on bell-ringing to the Musical Supplement of "The Church Times.

In the peals at Halse and Fitzhead the ringer of the treble was Mr. Harry Comins and not Cousens as stated in the issue of October 10 th.

The editorial quiz, "How good a ringer are you?' which appeared in the last issue, was contributed by S. O'C. H.

Barwell, Leics, band now consists of two choirmen, three servers, two sidesmen, one verger, one sexton, one Sunday School teacher and two members of the congregation.

To-day is the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Poole, of Leicester. The presence of the Ladies' Guild at Leicester the following day will add to the festivities of the occasion.

It must be a rare experience for a daughter to conduct her mother's 300th peal. This happened at Loughborough in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal on October 8th, conducted by Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. Father 'H. J., took part, whilst young Peter turned in the tenor.

As a tribute to the Rev. R. M. Davies, for 22 years Rector of Great Horwood, Bucks, who died on September 26th, the bells were rung half-muffled to a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on September 29th, the day of his funeral. This is believed to be the first halfmuffled quarter peal rung at Great Horwood.

Thase interested in London Surprise extension will be pleased to hear the first peal of Metropolitan Surprise Royal has been rung The honour goes to Mr. Harold J. Poole's band at Loughborough.
The ringer of the 4 th in the peal of Plain Bob Major, rung at Rock, Worcs, on September 27 th , was Alfred C. Boxley, and not as printed in last week's issue (Alfred C. Bowen).

Mr. Victor Wood, of Clitheroe, Lancs, is shortly emigrating to New Zealand with his wife and two sons. 'Vic's. many ringing friends in the Blackburn and Preston areas will all wish him success in his new venture.

The peal at Bourn, Cambs, on October 2nd has enabled Mr. John G. Gipson to complete peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. Although he rang Doubles. Caters and Cinques each at his first attempt, he had to make 24 attempts to get his first of Triples in the method.

Congratulations to Mr . and Mrs. Sidney Hough, of Knutsford, on their golden wedding anniversary last Wednesday. Mr. Hough has been a ringer at St. John's, Knutsford, for 57 years. His three sons have been ringers for over 20 years and two of his daughters-in-law are also ringers. A quarter peal in honour of the occasion was planned for last Wednesday.
L.A.C. Brian Weare, R.A.F., who is stationed at Bulawayo, S. Rhodesia, has been spending some leave in Durban. While there he managed to get a ring at St. Paul's, Durban, where they have a fine eight (tenor 14 cwt. in $F$ sharp). The ringing chamber is approached by a verticle ladder through a trap door and is somewhat cramped, After not having touched a bell for 12 months, Brian enjoyed his ring, although it was only call changes. When I come home to the bells of Somerset I will always keep a warm olace in my heart for the delightful eight at Durban,' he concludes his letter.

GOLDSMITH COMMEMORATION DINNER

LARGELY ATTENDED FUNCTION OF GUILDFORD GUILD - MR. GEORGE PULLINGER AND START OF 'THE RINGING WORLD'THE GOLDEN AGE OF BELL FOUNDING

A
CAPACITY attendance at the Lion Hotel, Guildford, was the gratifying support accorded the Guildford Diocesan Guild's annual dinner last Salurday, which also commemorated the name of John S. Goldsmith, the founder of 'The Ringing World' and the first secretary of the Guildford Guild.

Previous to the dinner there was ringing at the three Guildford churches and a service of remembrance to Mr . Goldsmith in the crypt chapel of the new Cathedral, conducted by the Rev. W. F. Doe, priest-in-charge. During the service a touch of Grandsire was rung on handbells by C. A. Hopper 1-2, T. Page 3-4, F. A Munday 5-6 and T. M. White 7-8.

The Bishop of Guildford (the Right Rev. H. C. Montgomery-Campbell), who is president of the Guild, presided at the dinner. He was accompanied by his daughter and supported by the Master (Mr: A. E. Harman).

The toast of : The memory of John S. Goldsmith and the continued prosperity of the Guildford Guild ' was submitted by Mr. G. Pullinger, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. He said it was a great privilege for the Association he represented to be called upon to submit the toast because the Guildford Guild was the daughter of their Guild and John Goldsmith, its first secretary, was the friend of all ringers.

His (the speaker's) first contact with 'The Ringing World ' was in 1911, when the captain of a six-bell tower in which he was ringing that Sunday morning produced a circular issued by Mr. Goldsmith stating that he proposed to bring out "The Ringing World' and asking for support. With the exception of the war years when he was overseas he had taken 'The Ringing World 'from its first issue. As a youngster he would eagerly scan the columns to see week by week what George Williams was doing in Hampshire and Alfred Pulling in Surrey, because at that time they were the two leading exponents of ringing in the Guild. exponents of ringing in the Guild.

UNITED THE EXERCISE

The progress made in the art of change ringing. Mr. Pullinger maintained, was due to Mr. Goldsmith, who remained editor and sole proprietor until his death in 1942. He was not only a trained journalist, but a first-class ringer with a knowledge of composition and a fluent speaker. Above all, he had a wonderful spirit of friendship which made an enormous contribution towards uniting the Exercise.
As secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild at the time of the foundation of the Guildford Guild, Mr. Pullinger was able to tell of the early meetings. 'We in Hampshire,' he said, 'did nothing to disrupt the desire of ringers in Surrey and in the area of the new Guildford diocese to form their own Guild : in fact, when it was settled we shared our funds with them.
He was at the meeting when Mr. Goldsmith was proposed as the first secretary of the Guild. He thought the proposition was by Mr. R. Whittington. and it came rather as a bombshell to Mr. Goldsmith. After consideration he took on the office and from that time the Guild had not looked back. The Guild was still progressing and only that day a band at Aldershot with an average age of $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years had rung a peal of Plain Bob Major (applause).

The aim of their Guilds should be not only to make first-class ringers, but first-class Christians. Young people were more intelligent today and there was a danger that if they kept them ringing rounds until they rang automatically they became restive and were apt to lose interest. It was of the utmost importance to maintain that interest.

Mr. George L. Grover, the hon. secretary of the Guildford Guild, who responded, was in complete agreement with Mr. Pullinger on this point. 'We have a great number of learnersyouth and beauty-and we are doing our best to keep them interested. You must not discourage them by too many rounds and you must keep their interest in method ringing.
Mr. Grover read two messages that appeared in the Guild reports of the deep appreciation and affection with which Mr. Goldsmith was held.

The toast of 'The Church and the Ringing Exercise was proposed by Mr. T. Mark White, who said the ringing Exercise was to-day an integral part of the Church-it had one function in life, namely, the glorification of God and this was done by service ringing and peal ringing.

> inging. It was said that one of the functions of church bells was to call people to church. That might have been a century ago, but he would suggest that to-day bells had a more important function-evangelisation. Had not the bourdon bell at St. Paul's Cathedral cast round its waist the message, "Woe unto me if I preach not the Gospel '?

BELLS LIKE DUSTBINS

Did the bells and ringers receive sufficient support from the Church authorities? If the organ became out of tune or required an extra stop or two to enhance its beauty, the instrument was tuned, rebuilt or modernised without a great deal of question or delay, but there were many parishes which permitted their bells to sound like dustbins!' We are living in the golden age of bell founding. Never before has the art of tuning bells reached such perfection. and yet we do not take sufficient advantage of the fact. Most of our tuning and repairs are done when the bells have fallen into disuse or are cracked and something has to be done.

We of the Guildford Guild are looking forward to the day when bells ring out from our new Cathedral, and let us hope that these bells will be as magnificent and as beautiful as the tower that is to contain them. That ring of bells is for a great Cathedral, and should be of cathedral standard in number and weight. namely, a ring of twelve with a tenor of not less than 35 cwt .'
MESSAGE TO A FORGETFUL WORLD
The Bishop, in his reply, assured the company that the Church did appreciate enormously what the ringers were doing up and down the country. The bells called the people to worship and also told a forgetful world that the Church was there and that the House of God was calling them to come within its doors. No one else could do the work of ringers, and they were grateful for the enormous amount of time, effort and skill they put into their exercise. It was not only in the matter of ringing that their influence was most powerful, but to see them when the clock strikes eleven file into their places in church was an impressive thing. 'I do not suppose such a thing has been done by anyone in this room ' (laughter). For people to hear the bells and come to church and for the bell-ringers to walk away must do an incalculable amount of harm.

For my part I rejoice to hear the sound of bells. I am not often in Farnham, but I rejoice to hear fluting up towards me the sound of Farnham bells. but 1 must confess that I have a little sympathy with some who live very close there. I spent my holiday in Cornwall in a charming parish with an ancient church that had a recently-restored ring of elght. Every Thursday ringers came to practise on these bells. I must own that my grandchildren, just having been put to bed, did not like it, but they and others who object can jolly well Jump it. That is the answer I give when I receive complaints about bells. My answer is "The bells were there a great deal of time before you were. Why go there to live?"

I long to see the day when the tower is erected at our Cathedral Church, when its 12 bells are installed and that some of you will be there to do the first ringing. It will be a glorious day. I wish you every prosperity in all the work and devotion you give to the Church and the Diocese.

The toast of 'Our Visitors and the Ladies was submitted by Mr. W. Simmonds. He spoke of the debt the present lady ringers owed to the pioneer lady ringers. In his younger days he had the privilege of ringing with Miss Chillingworth, Miss Edith K. Parker: Miss Mills and others. He would give this advice to those towers where they were short of ringers recruit some young ladies and they would find other ringers would follow.
Miss A. Butler replied on behalf of the ladies, and Mr. J. Frank Smallwood for the other visitors. In a tribute to Mr. Goldsmith, Mr. Smallwood said Goldsmith was a great man and Guildford should be proud of him One of the most wonderful things about him was the patience, solicitude and tenderness he displayed towards his ailing wife. Guildford had almost another famous ringer who was still 'pulling' bells, and from the Guild there were three others who were doing notable work for the Central Council-Will Viggers, Charles Hazelden and George Grovet.
Mr. C. W. Denyer proposed 'The Press,' to which Mr. T. W. White responded, and in doing so thanked the organisers of such a happy evening-Messrs. C. W. Denyer, E. J. Bragg, R. Miles and W. Viggers.

The speeches were interspersed with songs and an entertainment. One happy feature was the topical verse by the Farnham and District Glee Singers (Messrs. Denyer. Viggers and Bragg). Mr. Harold Cole, accompanied by Miss Beth Ealand, entertained, and handbell tunes were rung by John Wells and Clifford Beadle. Mr. Harry Rundle, of Aldershot, with his freak collection of musical instruments, was another very popular turn.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH Winchester District

October 4th was a welcome day of sunshine and ringers gathered together at Twyford (Hants) for the third busincss meeting of the Winchester District.
Twyford possesses a good ring of eight, tenor $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. A characteristic is the clock case, which occupics one corner of the ringing chamber and causes the ringers of the treble and tenor to look at each other either through or round the corner of the case
Standard methods were practised until the time of the short service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. R. Beynon. The district secretary played the organ for the service. A substantial tea followed, during which $£ 16 \mathrm{~s}$. 3d. was raised by a competition for the Gcorge Williams memorial.

At a short business meeting there were fortyodd members and friends in attendance. Eight new ringing members were elected as follows: Mr. S. Zvegintzov (Winchester College), Messrs M. Lakin and P. Nash (Winchester Cathedral), Mr. T. Phillips (St. Maurice's. Winchester) Messis. E. T. Sambles and C. T. Dando and the Misses K. Pring and M. Keep (New Alresford). One honorary and two compounding members were also elected.
The secretary announced that Wonston, King's Somborne and Barton Stacey had not been visited for more than a year, so it was decided to visit the last two towers in November and December respectively. Arrangements for the district's dinner on November 29th were also announced. The bells of New Alresford, Twyford and St. Maurice's. Winchester. are already available, and it is also hoped to have permission to ring at Winchester Cathedral and College and also Hursley.

HALLOWING OF RADLEY BELLS

An Ancient Ceremony Observed
The six bells at Radley, Berks, have been rehung in a new wooden frame by $R$. White and Sons, of Appleton, the treble having been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The original six comprised a five by Abraham Rudhall, of Gloucester (1754) and a treble (Mears and Stainbank) was added in 1897 to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria. Unfortunately this later bell was a complete misfit with the Rudhall five.

On September 20th, whilst the recast treble was still in the nave of the church waiting to join its fellows, the six bells and the sanctus bell were hallowed in a most inspiring service.
Those ringers who were privileged to be preThose ringers who were privileged to be preservice with a far deeper significance than the opening services which one normally associates with the rehanging or recasting of bells.
The ceremony of hallowing the bells for their sacred use is an ancient one, but, it is to be regretted, seldom observed to-day. This service is quite distinct from that observed for the reopening of bells for ringing. (The opening service was held on Tuesday, October 21st.)
It was a happy thought which decided the hallowing should take place just before the end of the normal Sunday evensong. In consequence the service was essentially a parochial one-the Vicar (the Rev. J. V. Pixell, M.A.) in his address having explained to the congregation the procedure and significance of what they were about to see and hear. On conclusion of the address the male choir, the churchwardens (A. Cross and H. Greening), the bellhanger (R. White) and the Vicar passed in procession to the west end of the church, where the tower leader (Miss M. R. Cross) was waiting near the recast treble. Miss Cross asked the Vicar to hallow the bells to their sacred use and to bless the water and oil with which they were to be hallowed.
After the blessing of the water and oil, the Vicar sprinkled the new bell with water (symbolising the need of cleansing for every object used in divine worship before it can be fit for the service of God). He then anointed the bell with oil (as kings and queens are anointed at their coronation, as setting them aside for their special work), and as he did so he said: 'This treble bell was originally placed in this tower in memory of the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria, but being hopelessly out of tune with the other five bells, has been recast as a new treble in honour of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II., and for this use I hallow it in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen. Following the ancient custom by which one of the bells is named the Angelus, after the message brought by the Angel Gabriel from Heaven, we name this bell Gabriel and hallow it to the perpetual praise of God in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.
The Vicar then struck the bell three times. after the ancient usage.
Having thus hallowed the new bell and named it, the Vicar, accompanied by Mr. R. White. next ascended through the belfry into the bell chamber, there to sprinkle and hallow the sanctus bell and the other five bells of the ring. During this time the ladies' choir, in their customary place in the open gallery-cumbelfry, sang as an anthem, 'Ding Dong Merrily,' the congregation following with Psalm 148.

On the return of the Vicar to the gallery the hallowing of the other bells was completed as follows : The Sanctus bell. which has been in the tower since 1617. bearing the inscription. "Henry Knight made me 1617." to be used at the Holy Communion: for this use I hallow it in the Name .... Amen." "The second bell bearing the inscription,
"Hark to our Melody. A.R., 1754 ." we once again hallow to God's' service and rename it "Mary" after the Blessed Virgin to whom the Angel Gabriel brought his message, in the Name . . . Amen.'

The third bell bearing the inscription, "When you us ring we'll sweetly sing, A.R., 1754," we once again hallow to God's service and rename it "James "after the Patron Saint of this Church, in the Name . . . Amen.'

The fourth bell bearing the inscription, "Peace and Good Neighbourhood, A.R., 1754," we once again,"... and rename it, "Edmund of Abingdon," in the Name . . . Amen.' [Note: Edmund was the most famous Abbot of Abingdon. The monks of Abingdon built the church and served it until the Reformation. They probably gave the iii bells shown in the 1552 inventory.]

The fifth bell, bearing the inscription, "Prosperity to the Parish, A.R., 1754 ," we once again . . . and rename it "Charles" after our most famous Vicar of this parish, Bishop Gore, in the Name ...Amen.' [Note: Charles Gore, later Bishop of Oxford, a great theologian and one of the founders of the Community of the Resurrection.]

The tenor bell, bearing the inscription, "Abel Rudhall of Gloucester cast us 1754,"," we once again . . . . and rename it "George" after Sir George Bowyer, the late lay Rector of this Parish and restorer, if not the builder, of this Church as we have it to-day, in the Name. . . Amen." [Note: "The Bowyer family restored the church twice and probably gave the 1754 bells. The family also provided a famous Admiral at the Battle of the NileAdmiral Sir George Bowyer.]
After its hallowing each bell was 'sounded three times by the Vicar. Psalm 150 was then sung whilst the choir returned to their stalls, followed by appropriate prayers, the ringing hymn, 'Unchanging God,' and the final blessing.

INSCRIPTION

The inscription on the recast treble is: Mears and Stainbank, London, cast and recast me. 1952. On one side: 'Let us sing unto the Lord a New Song. Queen Elizabeth II. 1952. J. V. Pixell, Vicar. A. Cross and H. Greening, Churchwardens.' 'On the other side is the original Latin inscription and the words: 'Queen Victoria, 1898.'
This bell has been tuned according to an old formula prepared by Mr. F. Sharpe, Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

Presentation to Mr. F. Hodgson

A quarterly meeting and six-bell contest were held at Batley on October 4th. Six teams entered for the latter and the result was:-
No. 1, Silkstone, 69 faults, 5 penalty, total 74.
No. 2. Meltham, 155 faults, total 155.
No. 3, Lindley, 60 faults. total 60.
No. 4, Friezland, 38 faults, 38.
No. 5, Shelley, 42 faults, total 42.
No. 6, Liversedge, 30 faults, total 30
No. 6 Company, Liversedge, were declared winners by the judge. Mr. H. Roberts.
A six-score practice was allowed, and the test piece was 600 changes, any method, any calling.
During the course of the meeting the president, Mr. E. Earnshaw, presented Mr. F. Hodgson, on behalf of all the members of the Association, with a cigarette lighter and a pewter tankard inscribed with the words: "Presented to Fred Hodgson, for services rendered to the Halifax Association of Change Ringers, by the members of the Association. October, 1952.

Mr. Hodgson had been in office in different capacities from 1935 to 1952, and has removed to Battersby Junction to follow his employment, much to the regret of all the members.

A NEW RINGING EIGHT AT DUNBLANE

Mishap at First Quarter Peal Attempt

On September 20th, a company of about 30 visiting ringers assembled at Dunblane on the invitation of the Kirk Session of the preReformation Cathedral, now the High Church, to ring for the first time the bells which had been a gift of Robert Younger, as the tenor bell states: 'This chime of eight bells with tvrret clock and with one ringing bell was gifted by Robert Yovnger, a Scotsman by birth, King's Covnsel, London, 1908.' This Robert Younger was later to become Baron Blanesburgh of Alloa and had a brilliant career at the English Bar. The bells had just been hung for ringing by the Loughborough Foundry, the cost being borne by Lord Blanesburgh's estate. The 'go ' of the bells left nothing to be desired.
Ringers present came from St. James' Parish Church, Paisley, St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, Edinburgh. St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral, Dundee, and St. John's Episcopal Church, Alloa, and from the other side of the border, N. J. Rawlings, of Beckenham. F. F. Bloxham, of Linslade, and Ranald W. M. Clouston, Eye.

In addition, ringers of the Episcopal Cathedrals in Edinburgh and Glasgow, chosen by the Ringing Master, Mr. C. R. Raine, attempted a quarter peal on the bells to mark the occasion, and this would have been brought round without mishap had not one of the chiming hammers got entangled in one of the wheels about ten minutes before the end. The bells were then lowered so that the damage could be inspected, and, notwithstanding that the chiming apparatus was pulled fully off, the bells still sounded out the quarters. More than half of one of the wheels had been ripped off and ringing was thus forcibly curtailed to Minor before tea.
While the company were doing justice to the meal kindly provided by the Session, Ranald Clouston was able to render sufficient first aid to the injured wheel to enable the eight bells to be rung in the evening. Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds for the local band, who have just started to learn under the guidance of Mr. Alex. Henderson, of St. John's, Alloa, to Cambridge, through Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and Kent.

The ringers were welcomed on behalf of the Kirk Session by Mr. John Bremner, and the president of the Association. Mr. W. H. Pickett, thanked the Session for inviting the Association to come, and told them that the Association, as all ringers, would be glad to do all they could to help and instruct them in the art of change ringing. The Minister of the Cathedral, the Rev. J. Chalmers Grant, was unable to be present as he had been called away to Glasgow, where his mother was lying dangerously ill.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  Memorial to Mr. Harry Curtis

A brass tablet in memory of Mr. Harry Curtis, late branch secretary and foreman of Newbury, was dedicated at the annual meeting of the Newbury Branch on October 11 th, held at St. Nicholas' Church, Newbury
The Rector (the Rev. Bertram Russell) officiated at the service and dedicated the tablet after giving the address. It will be fixed on the belfry wall in due course.

The business meeting followed tea in the Church Room, and ringers were present from Beenham. Bucklebury, Chieveley, East Garston, East Ilsley, Hampstead Norreys, Newbury, Peasemore. Shaw and Thatcham, with visitors from Barrow-on-Soar (Leics), North Stoneham. Highclere and also the Deputy Master of the Guild, Mr. F. Sharpe, of Launton.
With great regret the branch had to accept the resignation of their chairman, the Rev. W. Kingsley-Kefford, who has held that office for 22 years. As his post was difficult to fill, the election of a new chairman and a vice-chairman has been postponed to the next meeting in December. Ringing continued until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

LETTERS TO  THE EDITOR

SLX O'CLOCK PRACTICE MEETINGS IN

 THE CITYDear Sir, I read with interest the report of the speech which the Rev. L. M. CharlesEdwards made at the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths' dinner, in which he suggested that efforts should be madc to revive activity and interest in ringing in the City and West End of London.
Now there must be many ringers like myself, whose place of business lies in the City or West End and who would welcome opportunities of ringing at those towers which are still available and where, indeed. regular practices are held on certain evenings, but to whom the prospect of a long journey home to the suburbs after work and then back again to the tower, or alternatively 'hanging about ' for two hours or more, is extremely unattractive.
Could not a practice be arranged as an experiment by a London society with a start of, say, 6 o'clock (City offices are all closed by then) and a correspondingly early finish? I feel that such a meeting would have considerable support. Perhaps other ringers who work in the City or West End would care to comment upon this idea?-Yours faithfully, Isleworth.
F. D. BISHOP

A FALSE COMPOSITION TO YORK SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-I should like to point out that the figures given on page 656 of "The Ringing World ' are false to York Surprise Major. This method has five false course-ends: 32546,24365 , 46253,65432 and 53624 , and only 30 courses are available for composition, if full courses are used and the tenors are not parted.

As regards the figures themselves, they merely consist of an eleven course block, to which other courses have been added, and both J. J. Parker and York Green have made use of this plan for Superlative Surprise Major, but, as it is quite easy to obtain a 5,152 on these lines, which contains the 4th and 6th their extent in 5-6, composers have never given much attention to this type of peal. These two peals could be used for Belgrave Surprise Major, as they are true for this method. but the absence of extent qualities will. I am afraid, detract from their popularity.-Yours sincerely,

CHARLES W. ROBERTS.

Waltham Abbey, Essex.
[Note, - Other correspondents are also thanked for pointing out the error.-Ed.]

TWO ST. DUNSTAN'S

Dear Sir,-Re peals of Doubles which include St. Dunstan's. A number of peals recorded as having included this method have, in fact, been wrongly described, as in many towers if Grandsire is rung with extremes it is known locally as St. Dunstan's, and a very large number of ringers do not know that there is, in fact, a method of that name.
Five peals in which I have rung have been published as so many extents of St. Dunstan's When they should more properly have been given as Grandsire.
The use of extremes is referred to in Snowdon's 'Grandsire,' 1905 edition, and in Morris' History and Art,' but not as far as I know in any publication of the Central Council. It may well be that the peals questioned by Mr . Pink did not, in fact, include the St. Dunstan's method, as in my experience it is very rarely rung. The last time I recollect having rung it or heard of it was about 1944 at St. Mark's, Cheltenham.-Yours faithfully.

Cheltenham  CHARLES ROUSE

P.S.-Another two lead Doubles method is 'Antelope, and of this there are two very different variations depending on which part of the country one is in.-C. $R$.

WYMONDHAM SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-Perhaps 1 can explain, in reply to Mr. N. Golden, how this method, not yet rung, came to be printed in Corrigan's Surprise Methods, Part E. Mr. Corrigan and the writer had corresponded for some time in an effort to get a correct list of dates of first peals in Surprise methods, not so easy a task as we had supposed when we found methods with two names, and names with two methods attached, and so on.
Late in 1949 Mr . Corrigan sent me a list of Surprise Major to revise, and I made a marginal note that Wymondham Surprise had not been rung at Walesby, but that a peal of Wymondham Bob Major had been rung exactly a year previous to the date given in the list, which seemed to account, as Mr. Golden suggests, for the error.

I also sent five new extensions of methods rung in November-December, 1949, to complete the year. Unfortunately, Mr. Corrigan was taken ill at this time, unknown to me, and there was much delay before he replied. When he did reply it was to send me a print of the list, which he said was now on sale as Part E. I saw with regret that the Walesby revision had not been made use of, nor the five peals added. Mr. Corrigan said of this that during his absence from work the letter must have been mislaid.
However, he subsequently printed a few copies with the Walesby peal omitted, and the five peals of November-December added, of which I have a copy. Declining health prevented Mr. Corrigan from going ahead with another project he had in mind, namely, to print a list of first peals in all Plain, Treble Bob, Principles, and various freak methods which have been rung in the past, and his unfortunate passing put a stop to the work. For those who possess Part E without the revision, the peals missing for November-December, 1949, are briefly:-

Aldenham Surprise Royal, at Bell Foundry, Dec. 9th, 1949.
Leicestershire Surprise Royal, at Bell Foundry, Dec. 19th, 1949.
Aldenham Surprise Maximus, at Leicester, Dec. 31st, 1949
Leicestershire Surprise Maximus, at Leicester, Dec. 5th, 1949. (Here note corrected date and place.)

HEIGHT OF SALLIES

Dear Sir,-In reply to J. H. Gilbert's letter (October 10 th) regarding the height of sallies. I feel I must disagree with him. If he rings a light bell a low sally should not inconvenience him unduly; if a heavy bell, remove the box which the majority of heavy bells have; if there is no box, ring another bell.
In mast towers local ringers have their own favourite bell, consequently the height of the sally is a matter of personal taste. Anyway, J. H. Gilbert is lucky. After all, he is only a 'little 'un.' He states he is 6 ft . 4 in .; well, I am 6 ft . 7 in . and have rung in several towers in East Anglia and North Cornwall and haven't yet been unduly troubled.

I should like to add that if Mr. Gilbert would care to come to Kelvedon he ran ring the tenor. The majority of our visitors find the sally a citrle high.-Yours truly.

REPRESENTATION ON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Dear Sir,-Following on two recent leading articles on the subject of Central Council activities, a correspondent, in the issue dated October 3rd, asked a pertinent question: 'Do we consider sufficiently seriously the choice of our Central Council representatives?'
Is one to assume from this that ringers generally are completely satisfied with their elected representatives? Or is it that they 'just couldn't care less '?

It seems to me that it is this apathy on the part of the 'ordinary' ringer which is the indirect cause of such letters.
Firstly, with regard to London Royal No. 3. The Central Council seems to spend a terrific amount of time discussing such 'problems' over the heads of the average ringer who would surely be quite willing and happy to accept 'London Royal (No. 3 Version)' as the correct title: after all, the band which first rang the method gave it that name, and to my mind that should stand.

Secondly, Doubles methods. Surely ringers on five and six bells are restricted sufficiently already, without a few members of the Central Council persuading the rest that the numerous five-bell ringers ought to be even further restricted?

This ties up with Mr. Knight's ridiculous suggestion regarding methods with four blows behind. How on earth would the Exercise benefit from this additional restraint? However. Mr. Pipe has. I hope, successfully 'scotched ' this idea, and our Central Council representatives would do well to remember his letter, and that of ' L. M.

Lastly, does Mr. Cloke really admit that the Central Council does not dictate what we may ring? Surely it is apparent to anyone that we are being dictated to even if only the Doubles question be taken as an example.

I do think that matters which are likely to arise at Central Council meetings, and which affect the Sunday service ringer, should be fully discussed at guild or association meetings-the annual general meetings will be on us in a few weeks-so that the representatives, even if not specifically briefed, would go to the Council with a clear idea of how the rank and filewhom they represent!-feel on the subjects. And those representatives should be men or women who are prepared to stand up and put forward the views of their constituents, the 'ordinary' ringers.-Yours faithfully,
Eastleigh, Hants.
R. A. REED.

LOWERING BELLS BETWEEN SERVICE

Dear Sir,-May a non-ringer enquire whether the task of ringing up bells in preparation for change ringing is very arduous? Is it indeed arduous enough to justify leaving the bells up from Sunday morning until after Sunday evening service. thus robbing the town of the clock chimes and the chimed tunes during most of Sunday's waking hours? I have in mind Derby Cathedral, where I understand this is the practice. Certainly we get no clock chimes from $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. onwards and we only hear Sunday's tune at $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. If you listen to the bells being rung up it really doesn't seem to take long; presumably it would only take the same time again before evening service?

Is the practice widespread and normal? If it is only a matter of muscle and there are not extraneous or esoteric matters involved, is it ethically sound? I just wonder.-Yours faithfully,
'ENQUIRER.'
[NOTE.-It is customary at Guildford Cathedral to keep the bells up between the services on a Sunday. -Ed.]

As the ringing was not up to standard, a halt was called after half an hour in a peal attempt for Kent Treble Bob Royal at St. Stephen-theMartyr's, Bristol, on October 11th. A fresh start was made and a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung.

LETTERS-Continued

A PEAL OF SUPERLATIVE

Dear Sir,-In answer to Mr. F. Warrington's letter re that peal of Surprise, I am sending to you the figures of the peal of Superlative Surprise composed by C. H. Hatterslcy. A conductor should know that any true peal of Superlative with no bells reversed in 5-6 will also run true to both Yorkshire Surprise and New Cambridge Surprise Major. Although Mr. Warrington has composed it to Yorkshire, he cannot claim it as an original composition, simply, because his figures coincide with Mr . C. H. Hattersley's Superlative .composed some years ago.

After reading Mr . Warrington's letter, "I feel reasonably sure that he composed this peal in good faith, believing it to be original without having the chance of seeing Mr. Hattersley's peal. Without a doubt, when Mr. Warrington compares his own figures with those of Mr. Hattersley's, he will find, as Mr. Corby so ably puts it, that it is only a slight variation.
I may say, sir, he is not the first one to compose a peal and find out it really belongs to someone else, I have done the same thing myself. Anyway, I must admire Mr. Warrington's honesty in publishing his figures as there have been several instances in recent years of compositions being rung for the first time and never being published.-Yours sincerely.

PLAIN BOB WITH FOUR BLOWS BEHIND
Dear. Sir,-I write to say how heartily I am in agreement with Mr. Cecil Pipe and the anonymous L. M., both of whose letters on the above subject appear in "The Ringing World ' of October 10th. I started my ringing career some years before the war at Brasted Kent, when Mr. E. H. Lewis, our Central Council president, was captain of the local band, and to the best of my memory the system of training beginners was as follows: Begin with plain hunting on three bells, then four and on to Bob Minimus, then Bob Doubles (despite the four blows behind which appear to displease Mr. Knight so much), and straight on to Bob Minor, Treble Bob and Surprise. The Plain Bob system leads direct to the higher methods; dodging is (in most cases) in the even places and at backstroke practically throughout, and is far less confusing to the average learner than the handstroke dodging in, say, Grandsire.

The mention of Grandsire brings me to a further point which I have already touched on. It has always been my firm opinion that Grandsire is a 'dead end ' method; it leads to Stedman, Erin and perhaps one or two other Triples methods, but apart from these-nowhere! May I suggest to those ringers who are willing to give much of their time to the training of be-ginners-and these men and women are the salt of the Exercise-that they try the system which I have mentioned, and which L. M. mentions in the course of his letter? I think they will find that learners will progress much quicker if they practise methods which have backstroke dodging only: Grandsire and Stedman and the other methods with handstroke dodging can come later when the learners have completely mastered one system. I can well believe what our anonymous friend has to say about his band being able to ring Little Bob and Kent while those who started with Grandsire are stil struggling with it! Think again, Mr. Knight before condemning Plain Bob Doubles and Triples-Yours sincerely

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD AT ASHCOTT

Dear Sir,-In last week's issue of 'The Ringing World , the secretary of the above Guild mentioned 'All Saints' Doubles,', a new method which they rang when they visited our village church in July. I would like to take this opportunity of thanking the Guild for ringing my method at Ashcott and Walton. This method has never been published, but copies can now be obtained. Particulars will be found under the notices column--Yours faithfully.

Peterborough Diocesan Guild

When the Wellingborough Branch held their quarterly meeting at Earls Barton on October 4th tea was served by members of the Mothers' Union and local ringers' wives.
The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. A. Ewart), who also gave an address. Mr. P. Field was the organist. A collection for the Guild bell restoration fund amounted to $£ 2$.

At the business meeting members stood in silent tribute to the memory of the Rev. H. S. Hoar (Higham Ferrers) and Mr. G. Basford (Finedon), who had been members for many years. It was decided to hold the branch annual meeting at Finedon in January.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. C. H. Hattersley's peal and my own. As your correspondent does not appear to know the difference between a variation. a transposition or a reverse calling, it would be useless to enter into any controversy. A word of warning, don't reverse Middleton's. It would tell anyone with common knowledge he does not know what Johnson's is: F. W.

BELLS SILENT FOR INSTITUTION OF REV. A. G. G. THURLOW

£1,500 Required to Restore Famous Norwich Ring

The Rev. Gilbert Thurlow was instituted as Vicar of St. Andrew's, Norwich, on September 30th. The large congregation included members of a great variety of activities with which the new Vicar is connected. Nearly everything which one would expect in a great church was in evidence. The Bishop. churchwardens and Vicar went solemnly round the church, and the Vicar promised to baptise, preach, pray, read, marry and celebrate Holy Communion diligently and faithfully.
The Bishop spoke encouraging words, the very large choir sang magnificently, the splendid organ played, there was a general air of life and activity-but-but-the splendid and historic ring of ten bells was silent. Was this the ringers' fault? Had the Vicar and the locals fallen out? A thousand times no! The president and the Ringing Master and other members of the Association were there. But what could they do?
They knew only too well, having read the new Vicar's book on the subject. that the ancient bell frame, dating from 1633, with absurd additions in 1705 and 1825 , was hopeless and the fittings even more so. They would find no ropes in the tower. They often gaze on the peal board in St. Giles' tower which says that the first peal of London Surprise was rung in St. Andrew's tower-m 'this insurmountable task was accomplished. . :-and being less almighty than Sam Thurston and his band, they did not this time accomplish the insurmountable task of ringing London
Now St. Andrew's. Norwich, has the insurmountable task of raising $£ 1,500$ in a war-torn and overtaxed city : insurmountable indeed, you may think, when you recollect that the heroes who were in charge of St. Andrew's could not in the palmy days of 1931 raise $£ 300$ or so to supplement a generous offer of $£ 200$ to do the ob. But the old peal board is a challenge, isn't it? If we all went dry and attended no ringing meetings and rang no peals for a week, we should easily rehang St. Andrew's bells on the proceeds: nobody would be a penny the worse, and the Exercise would be one fine ring of ten better off. Anyhow, I want $£ 1,500$, and within reason I don't care how I get it, as long as it comes along soon. Why shouldn't those who love East Anglia demonstrate their love by thus making it more lovable?

GILBERT THURLOW.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From ' The Ringing World' of Oct. 25th, 1912 THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH Guild of Change Ringers Formed for Newcastle Cathedral
On September 25th, the old professional band of stoney ringers rettred from active service, and at the request of the authorities Mr C. L. Routledge (president of the Durham and Newcastle Association) took the necessary steps to form a voluntary guild.

During the days prior to the induction of the new band, the members of the new guild ascended the tower each evening . . . to perform the most interesting and intellectual feat of clearing out an accumulation and rubbish and filth which has been so carefully nurtured for years among the bells. - A horse and accumulated dirt of the befry chamber has had floors, walls and ceiling thoroughly scrubbed and a few inches of foul matter removed from the windows. It is now quite possible to see to ring, even when the sun is not shining, without the aid of gas.
[A reform which seems to have been somewhat overdue!]

AUTUMN OUTINGS

EWELL, SURREY

Ewell ringers had a jolly fine outing on September 20th, leaving at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. in two coaches, the first mostly ringers and their wives; the second one contained choristers. two organists and parishioners.

The first stop was Bocking, Essex, 56 miles from home. The sun was shining, but the wind was keen and the enjoyable ringing here warmed us up nicely. At Wethersfield the Vicar was waiting to receive us and we had some fun with the new ropes. The bells are a pleasant six (tenor $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), but difficulty is experienced in keeping them going.

Tearing ourselves away from this lovely little village, so peaceful and quiet before our invasion, half the party then went to Long Melford for lunch while the others had theirs at Lavenham. Which party had roast duck we have not been able to discover, but apparently both groups did very well.

Lavenham Church is a glorious structure, and the deep-toned bells justified all we had ever read or heard about them. We are greatly indebted to Mr. Stedman H. Symonds for helping to make our visit so memorable.

The next towers in our itinerary were Monks Eleigh and Hadleigh, but owing to a funeral at the former and a wedding at the latter some quick thinking had to be done, with the result that we sent some of our best ringers to help Mr. Betts at Hadleigh. They arrived just in time to ring the bridal couple out of church. Some of the ringers remained a short time longer at Lavenham and then made-for Monks Eleigh, which was worth a visit if only to see the peculiar narrow wooden ringing gallery, with central well, from which the six bells (tenor 18 cwt .) are rung.

We all met later at East Bergholt Church, near which John Constable was born. lived and painted many of his pictures. Mr. Hynard, the verger, showed us and demonstrated the 25 cwt . tenor of the five bells hung in the wooden latticed cage built in the churchyard nearly 400 years ago. A ringers' tea was consumed at Flatford in the garden by the River Stour with a view of the famous mill. Witham was the last ring of the day, where Mr. Bright had made arrangements for our pleasure. With us during the day were ringers from Epsom, Banstead. Leatherhead. Merton, Egham. Basingstoke. Rainham (Kent), Lichfield and Shirley (Warwickshire).
J. E.B.

SCARBOROUGH ST. MARY'S

For the first time for at least 20 years a full day's outing was recently enjoyed by members of the Scarborough band and friends, augmented by two of the ringers from Bridlington and one from Hemingbrough.

With our own bells at Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's foundry, a Sunday had been decided upon for the big day, and after almost a week of rain, October 5 th dawned as fine a day as might have been ordered. In bright sunshine a start was made at 8 a.m. for the pleasant run to Helmsley, where we met Messrs, Ricketts and Leete and had the pleasure of ringing for morning service. Meanwhile the ladies enjoyed coffee served by Mrs. Ricketts, who is also one of the ringers.
At 10.30 a.m. we were on the road again, via Sutton Bank and Thirsk to Thornton-leStreet, to pick up district secretary Mr. E. Hudson, who now acted as guide as we made for Middleham. Here we were met by Mr. H. Parrish and were invited to ring before lunch as an additional item. After an enjoyable lunch at the White Swan, photographs by the Market Cross, a stroll round the 'town' and further ringing on the fine-toned octave, we left for Ripon-a delightful run in glorious sunshine.
A hearty tea was enjoyed at the Old Deanery Cafe, in the shadow of the Cathedral, to which we adjourned, complete with guide. who ably drew attention to the most outstanding features of this beautiful building. The arrival of Mr. F. Tingle was 'open sesame' to the belfry, and ringing on the fine ten literally completed the day for us.
A grand day was the unanimous verdict, and our thanks are extended to the three tower secretaries for their part in contributing towards it, to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to our old friend Ted Hudson for doing so much talking.

A HALF-DAY IN CORNWALL

Good weather, good fellowship, good ringing and grand scenery. This sums up a half-day's outing which was much enjoyed by ringers from Redruth (Cornwall), Pinhoe (Devon) and Piddlehinton (Dorset), together with Lieut. Commander and Mrs. G. Cross and Lieut. D. Rowe.

The recently-instituted incumbent and his wife welcomed the party at the first tower, Bradoc ( 5 bells, tenor 5 cwt .), and they both said how pleased they were to hear the bells rung for the first time since their arrival in the parish, there being no local band.

A move was made through grand scenery to Lanreath ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where half an hour's ringing was enjoyed. Pelynt ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.) was soon reached and the bells were found to be finely toned, especially in view of their weight. After negotiating some very steep hills, Talland ( 6,7 cwt.) with its detached campanile was safely reached, although one car arrived from the direction opposite to which it was expected! Here the party were welcomed by two members of the local band, one of whom, a lady 'scientific' exile from Leicestershire who had walked from Polperro on purpose, ably rang the treble to a six-score of Doubles.

A hasty but good tea in East Looc was followed by a visit to St . Martin-by-Looc, where a very handy ring of six, tenor $9 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$., was much enjoyed. This incidentally was the writer's 100th tower in Cornwall. Much consultation of large scale maps was required before reaching Morval. A member of the local band met the party, who were delighted with a lovely ring of six ( $9 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$ ) and the beautiful church, which was most tastefully decorated for harvest festival.

Further map reading and the party arrived in instalments at the last tower of the day, St. Keyne ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). The bells, an anti-clockwise ring, are poor toned and do not go too well.

Methods rung during the outing were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Doubles, and Plain Bob, Double Court. Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Thanks are due to all incumbents for permission readily given and to those locals who welcomed the party.
E.T.P.F.

CROWAN RINGERS' OUTING

Some of the Crowan, Cornwall, ringers experienced their first touch on ten bells during their outing on October 1st, when they visited Truro Cathedral and were welcomed by Mr. Minors and later by Mr. Southeard.
Ringing also took place at Probus, St. Dennis, Egloshayle and St. Columb Major. The evening was spent at Newquay. Thanks are due to Mr. James and his helpers for arranging such an enjoyable trip.

NAZEING AND ROYDON

A most enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent on October 4th when the combined Nazeing and Roydon ringers went on an outing to six-bell sowers in Hertfordshire. The towers visited were Standon, Walkern, Ardeley, Great and Little Munden. At Great Munden the party were met by several of the local ringes who joined in the ringing here and at Little Munden. Tea was taken at Buntingford. The outing was organised by Mr. B. Burton, captain of the Roydon band

No. 13 - TREBLE BOB

From plain-hunt forms to principles we turned, Exemplified in Stedman. Now that's learned To other hunt-controlled form we revert, Called 'Treble Bob.' Here one must be alert To dodge, on Treble, each alternate blow At backstroke. Other bells-above; below A varied path pursue. And thus in full, A plain course twice as long you have to pull !

Two methods of this system, mostly met,
Are Kent and Oxford; and in both you get
The 'Slow, by turning treble from the front Alternate 'lead' and 'seconds' you must hunt Till Treble comes again and turns you in. But thence, these methods' differences begin?
In Kent, when Treble's down below third's place,
Make 3 rds and 4 ths, or 4 ths and 3 rds (with grace!);
According whether out or in you go,
In two successive 'leads.' (Blue line will show.)
In Oxford, 3rds from back, then up you 'soar.' Then down and fourths from front, and lead once more.
This, as in Kent, reverses, in its turn.
With slow work in between, as you will learn.
In both these T-B methods, leading's plain.
Except when ent'ring Slow, and out again.
For calls: in Oxford, when the Bob doth sound, Bell making thirds makes fourths and then turns round, Makes thirds again, and then works up behind. In Kent, bell making thirds and fourths, you'li find.
Adds fourths and thirds, as back to lead it goes. Meanwhile, bells higher, dodge, four extra rows

OBITUARY

MR. G. H. BRIDGE
A lifelong member of the Rettendon band of bell ringers, Mr. George Henry Bridge died on September 30th, aged 83. He was the last remaining member of the old band of ringers, and had assisted the present band since the end of the first world war.

Mr . Bridge was a model for other members to follow as he was so perfect in the methods which he rang and also a very good striker. He was also very punctual in attendance. He was a member of the church choir from his youth. He had been a widower for six years. His wife was formerly Miss Alice Tillett from the well-known family of Ipswich ringers. He leaves a son, daughter-in-law and one grandchild.
The funeral took place on October 7th at All Saints', Rettendon, near the bells he loved so well. The local ringers were represented by Mr. S. F. Jay
In the evening following the interment the bells were rung half-muffled, as a tribute of respect, to Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Bob Minor by F. C. May (cond.) 1, H. Jay 2, W. S. May 3, C. Jay 4, G. Frost 5, S. F. Jay 6.

MR. WILLIAM F. STEVENS

Mr. William F. Stevens, of Arundel, Sussex, passed away on October 8th, aged 45.

He learned to ring at Arundel in 1933 and joined the Sussex County Association the following year. He gave of his best to both societies and no finer tribute could be paid him than by the words spoken by the Vicar of Arundel, the Rev. H. A. King, at the funeral service in the Parish Church on October 11th: - People often say what a gloomy service the funeral service is. But is it? It is solemn, of course, as such an occasion must be. Through it all there shines like a beacon what St. Paul calls, "the sure and certain hope of the Resurrection to eternal life," the constant reminder that death is only an episode in life!'

- It was in that faith that William Frederick Stevens-Bill to his friends-lived and died. His faith was simple and profound. There was nothing of the showman about him. His work for the Church, which was much, was always quiet and unoberusive and utterly reliable. On the Church Council he did not say a lot, but when he spoke he was always worth listening to. He was one of those people who loved doing valuable things behind the scenes and always doing them well. When he undertook something we always knew we need worry no more and it would be done. His chief interest lay-and again typical of him, behind the scenes -up in the bell tower. He loved bells and he will be sorely missed by our band of ringers who were inspired by his infectious enthusiasm.
"The finest epitaph that any man can have is that which was said of our late K ing, " He was a good man." It is very true of him. And when I say good I mean really good-not just someone who never did any harm to anyone and was kind to animals-l mean the sort of goodness which comes from God. Like all good Christians he did not parade his goodness, but I knew him well enough to know that God meant a lot in his life and was the inspiration of his kindness and reliability. Our parish is the better for his good example, and goodness lasts.'

There were many ringers present, including the Divisional Ringing Master (Mr. R. P. Wood), hon. treasurer (Mr. R. G. Blackman), divisional secretary (Mr. E. Treagus), former assistant divisional secretary (Mr. E. R. Rapley). who rang handbells at the graveside: all the members of the Arundel band, and many from neighbouring towers, where Mr. Stevens had rendered so much assistance in helping beginners along. Half-muffled ringing took place as the cortege left for the commital at Tortingion Churchyard.

MR. HUBERT SHEPHERD
Solihull has suffered a severe loss in the death at the age of 62 of Mr. Hubert Shepherd, a member of the church choir, of the St. Alphege Guild of Ringers, and of St. Martin's Guild. Employed for 30 years by the firm of G. and J. Zair, whip manufacturers, Birmingham, Mr. Shepherd had a number of outside interests. As a young man he had more than a local name as a good runner; he captained Solihull Football Club in the years before 1914, and led Solihull Cricket Club for some years between 1920 and 1930.
He volunteered for service in the first Great War, and after enduring the cruel rigours of the Somme and the Ypres Salient was badly wounded at one of the Passchendaele battles and discharged from the forces.
His service in the choir at Solihull Parish Church was unique. For more than 50 years he gave continuous aid in the music of the church, being notable in the Midlands as a boy soloist under that sensitive musician, Courtenay Woods, and later rendering many tenor solo parts in the sacred music he understood and loved so well.
Hubert Shepherd was a life member of the Solihull branch of the British Legion, an honour accorded to him for his unceasing work on the Relief Committee and in branch work generally. He held very clear and decided views on the sacredness of remembrance, and was the earnest champion of all distressed ex-Service men.
He learned to ring round about the year 1907 and had been a member of the Solihull company ever since. He rang in one or two peals in the standard methods, and this small list of performances includes the first handbell peal of Triples rung in the town. He was an excellent striker and taught the technique of bell handling with great care and accuracy.

His nature was gentle, yet he spoke in debate with a quiet potency that carried conviction, and in matters in which he had convinced himself he was right he was very difficult to move. His kindliness, cheerfulness and, above all, his sincerity will be greatly missed.

The funeral took place at Solihull Church on October 13 th. Before the coffin left the church a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by V. W. Rigg 1-2, H. Bragg 3-4, A. Walker 5-6, C. W. Bragg 7-8. In the evening of the same day the bells of the Parish Church were rung half-muffled to Grandsire Caters as a mark of respect and as a farewell from all the ringers.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

Visit to Kingston Seymour

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Kingston Seymour, where the six bells have been recently restored, on October 11th.

The church stands only a few feet above high tide level, and a tablet in the porch records the fact that in 1606 , due to excessively high tides and a breach in the sea wall, it was inundated to a depth of 5 ft .

Ringing preceded the Association form of service, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. P. W. S. Rowlands, who gave a short address. Mr. D. G. Yeo was at the organ.

Tea was taken in the schoolroom and the Rector took the chair at the business meeting. It was decided, subject to permission, that the annual meeting should be held at Portishead on December 6 th with a practice meeting at Dundry in November.

After the usual votes of thanks ringing in a wide variety of methods was resumed under wide varitety of methods was resumed under the direction of the Master, Mr. H. W. Knight.

ATHOS, THE HOLY MOUNT

THOSE who find the modern world intolerable, who long for peace and quiet, would do well to follow in the footsteps of many who have through a thousand years felt the same, and go to Athos the Holy Mount. A thousand years ago, when a Byzantine emperor founded a monastery on the Holy Mount, which forms the easternmost peninsula of Chalcidice, many men flocked there to find peace: Indeed, other monasteries were founded in quick succession, so that now there are twenty-one such, together with a large number of lesser monasteries or 'skites' and hermitages as well. To the wondrous air of peace and beauty of the Greek isles and mountains in general is added at Athos the particular charm that nobody is permitted there unless he has with difficulty and enterprise obtained permits from both the ecclesiastical authorities of the Holy Orthodox Church and from the almost equally holy civil authorities. Nobody at all can enter, unless he be a Greek monk or a worker needed by the monks, or a bona fide traveller with a good reason for going. No woman whatever has landed here for a thousand years. Truly a place of peace and quiet.

Hardly anything has changed here for a thousand years. Nearly every monastery keeps the time as it was kept in Byzantium in the Eastern Roman Empire, i.e., sunset is 12 zero, and breakfast if one had any would be at about 11 and lunch about 4. But breakfast and lunch are unheard of. Warned by others, I took six weeks' rations of plain chocolate, and this, together with cold water and bread from last night, constituted my sole breakfast when I travelled round the monasteries in August, 1952. Lunch was equally rare, but having to trudge from one monastery to another over miles of steep mountain paths, the Germans, etc., having borrowed the essential mules during the war, and rides therefore being rare, one hardly felt like taking anything but the cold water, raki (a very strong spirit offered in glass thimbles) and Turkish delight, which each monastery kindly offers visitors. The day's one meal-if you get it-is taken after sunset, and consists of hard bread, soup perhaps, possibly vegetables, and very large tomatoes.

But all this tribulation is as nothing compared with what you can see. The gorgeous beauty of the churches and the priestly robes, which might have been in use in Byzantium yesterday, the amazing wealth of manuscripts and the glory of their illuminations, the chanting of Holy Orthodox music, the general feeling that you are living in the atmosphere of worship described in the Book of Revelation-and, of course, the bells.

It is impossible for me to describe the bells in detail save for those at Pantaleimon. In most monasteries you note a number of small bells used for such purposes as announcing when the monks eat or perhaps times of service. In most monasteries, also, you frequently hear the Symandron, the wooden equivalent of a bell. It consists of a beam of timber, usually about five to seven feet long, shaped so that it can be held at the centre. It is hit with a small mallet by the monk who holds it, and gives out the sort of noise you would expect it to give, a hollow wooden sound, which adds to the general air of mystery of the place.

Each monastery is peopled mainly by monks from one country or area, such as Bulgaria, Roumania, the Peloponnese, Crete, etc. Each has some of the characteristics of its special country. With what expectation, therefore, do we drag our weary limbs over the last hill separating us from Pantaleimon! For when the great steeples of this monastery gleam in the sun before us, we are gazing at one of the greatest efforts by the Czars of Holy RussiaRussia, land of the greatest bells in the world! Panteleimon, frighteningly like the Kremlin, bristling with the 'onion steeples ' which the Russians love, founded in 1814 to house 1.200 monks and, incidentally, to help Russian expansion in the Mediterranean. And when we enter we are not disappointed. For it is the Eve of the Assumption (twelve days late, for they have never lost the eleven days we lost in the 17th century to get right with the sun again, and they have now gained one more on us).

Soon after sundown the great bells begin, announcing the all-night services which precede the Eucharist of tomorrow. The effect of the Great Russian bells in this vast, ghostly, lonely place-for there have been no new monks from Russia since 1917-is overwhelming. Two monks are engaged in the work. One swings the clapper in the great Bourdon, 9 ft . 2 in . across, with its weight engraved on it as $1818 \pi 10 \phi$, whatever that is, whilst the other monk operates with the most primitive set of levers, pedals, ropes and chains I have ever seen, the other great bells (diameters $6 \mathrm{ft} .9 \mathrm{in} ., 6 \mathrm{ft}$., and 5 ft .10 in .) and a host of smaller ones, about 22 in all. of the oddest variety of discordant notes. The weights of the three other great bells above are $256 \pi, 32 \phi, 200 \pi 2 \phi$, and $195 \pi 29 \phi$. There are several other contraptions for making sound also, including a bell-metal ring, 6 ft . 4 in . diameter, about 9 in . in cylindrical length, and lin. thick. To hear all this whilst stumbling along fearfully long and nearly pitch dark corridors, passing monks who would appear to have hibernated for centuries, on one's way to hear glorious Plainsong sung at midnight by voices which 40 years ago were amongst the finest in the world, surrounded by golden ikons, incense, many tiny oil lamps, and darkness, is an experience as shattering as almost any which one can have in this world. In fact, this article seems far too mundane to record it, and I would almost prefer the Editor to describe it in the fearfully mysterious wording which covers the great bells of Pantaleimon, and makes their appearance almost as mystical as their sound.

A. F. B. writes:-Two bands have just rung peals in what the designer considers to be the first Royal form homogeneous with the London method-plan, i.e., 'Metropolitan Royal,' the Leicester Cathedral band at the Loughborough Foundry on October 15th, and a Cheshire band under C. K. Lewis on October 18th at MacclesMaximus.

The eleventh bell of Cirencester Parish Church is to be recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. Mr, C. R. Mullings ral 7s. 6 d . to meet the cost from local tradesmen. The bell dates back to 1734. According to the - Wiltshire and Gloucester Standard ' Cirencester bells have been selected for a broadcast in connection with the Coronation. The first peal on Cirencester bells was rung by the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1767. We should be pleased to hear of any other towers that have been approached by the B.B.C. in regard to the Royal ceremony next year.

Bon voyage and a safe return is the wish of the Bournemouth and other ringers to Mr. Michael Best, who is going to the Far East to complete his National Service.

The new Sunday service band at North Stoneham are making progress. Five of the band participated in the peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on October 18th. There were to be six but Miss Betty Faithfull was indisposed.

Sylvia Streater, of Walberton, is the first Girl Guide in West Sussex to obtain a ringers' badge. The specimen of rope splicing submitted for her test leaves no doubt about the maintenance of the ropes at Walberton in future.

Eaton Bray, Bedfordshire, where a peal was rung on October 8th had its last peal on July 1st, 1922. The band then was Frederick Vickers. Henry E. Good, Augustin V. Good, Joseph B. Marks. George W. Heley and Arthur E. Sharman (conductor).

Langar (Nottingham) bells are believed to figure in our peal columns for the first time this week. The bells 'go' well but have roughly 35 feet of unguided rope. After the peal Mr. W. Neville Brown, who thus completed peals in the Grandsire family from Doubles to Cinques, ran the best part of a mile to catch the bus connection to Newark.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 rung by Manchester Unive bell peal, is C.C.C. 222 . It takes its name from the fact that Owen's College was the forerunner of Manchester University.In connection with the memorial peal rung at Cranborne, Dorset, on October 11 th, to Mr. A. G. Janes, the band were hospitably entertained to tea by Mr. William Day, the local tower captain.
Egham (Surrey) ringers gained notoriety by their contributions to the harvest supper which included a talk on bells and demonstrations by ringers. As a result they have received a number of invitations to ring handbells during Christmas week and on other occasions.

Congratulations to the youth of the Farnham District who rang a peal of Plain Bob Major at St. Michael's, Aldershot, on October 18th. The average age of the band was 16 years, 3 months, and they were the youngest band to ring a peal of Major for the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

Mr. G. J. Abbott. in a reply to "Dorset Rabbit' states All Saints' (8), Wyke Regis, is the Mother Church of Weymouth, Holy Trinity, Weymouth, and St. Paul's. Westham, are her daughter churches. St. Mary's is the Parish Church of Melcombe Regis, the two towns being united in the 17th century. Preston (6) and Upwey (6) are also in the Borough of Weymouth and Melcombe Regis.

Mr. G. Marriner, who as an apprentice took part in building the Chapel at the Royal School for the Blind, Leatherhead, was a member of the band which rang a service touch on handbells for the School's harvest festival on October 12 th. Other ringers were A. Smith. A. Winch and A. Harman. The Bishop of St. Asaph, the preacher, spoke to the team afterwards. The School is anxious to start handbell ringing.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

75th ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT NEWCASTLE

THE annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held in Newcastle on September 27th. Ringing was available at intervals throughout the day from 10.30 am .. until $9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. at various churches in the city.
A prior booking of many months standing prevented very much ringing at the Cathedral and the service, committee and tea had to be held elsewhere. The sense of disappointment at the non-availability of the Cathedral was greatly offset by the welcome that was received from the Vicar of St. John's, the Rev. C. I. Pettitt. He conducted the service and gave an address on the text address on the text . There are diversities of gifts but the same Spirit'- a text which he alwas composed of people who had a common interest which had brought them together. A retiring collection raised $£ 24 \mathrm{~s}$. for the War Memorial Fund.
Tea at a nearby restaurant was attended by 58 ringers and friends. Twenty towers were represented and, in addition, life-members were present from Ripon, Richmond and Middlesbrough.
The president Canon H. S. Stephenson, expressed pleasure at seeing such a good attendance but was sorry that there was still a large number of towers in the Association's area that were silent Sunday by Sunday.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

Mr. D. A. Bayles presented his first report as general secretary and stated that the year had not been one of soectacular activities but some useful things had been achieved. A review of finances had led to the adoption of a scheme for a smaller and cheaper annual report and it was hoped that the proposed cut in expenditure on this item would help to balance the budget and stop the drain on their meagre reserves. The order for the tablet to be added to the existing War Memorial for $1914-18$ had been placed and it was hoped that the dedication would take place in mid-November. The requisite amount of money had not yet been raised but the bold step of placing the order had been taken in order to stabilise the target at which we were aiming. In reviewing the Association mectings held during the year he felt that the attendances were for the most part disappointing. Two restorations had been made. The bells of All Saints', West Hartlepool. had been rehung, as also had those of Sunderland Parish Church. where the trebles had been recast. At Sunderland the whole church had been restored after war damage, and the Rector and his parishioners were to be congratulated on the splendid job that had been done. The year that was past had contained a notable occasion of national mourning in the death of H.M. King Gcorge VI. and among the widespread ringing on this occasion four muffled peals were recorded by the Association The year ahead held out the promise of national reioicing in the Coronation of H.M. Queen Elizabeth II., and he hoped that ringing would be much in evidence among the celebrations

The treasurer. Mr. F. Ainsley, presented his audited cash statement for the year ended August 31st. This showed that the balance in hand had declined from $£ 952 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d . to $£ 894 \mathrm{~s}$. hd.. hut the most serious aspect was the decline in the general fund from $£ 41165$. 11 d . to 53217 s . 10d. It was disappointing to have to record quite large arrears in the payment of subscriptions and it would be necessary to remove some more names from the books under the operation of Rule 7.
In the absence of the editorial secretary, his report was read by the secretary. The report showed that 35 peals had been rung during the ycar, two of them on handbells. Fiftyseven members had taken part and there had been nine conductors. Five members had rung their first peal and three new conductors had appeared. E. N. Harrison headed the list with 19 peals followed by R. Park with 17 and J. A. Ainsworth, D. A. Bayles and T. W. Crowe with 16. Belgrave Surprise Major and Darlington Surprise Major had been rung for the first time for this Association but the most notable addition was the 16 Surprise Minor method peal rung by the band at Holy Trinity, Darlington. This is now the greatest number of methods rung in one peal by the Association and was a farewell to Michael P. Moreton. THE OFFICERS
The officers were re-elected en bloc with the exception of the editorial secretary. Mr. W. J. Davidson did not seek re-election and Mr. J. Brewster was elected in his stead. The officers for $1952-53$ are, therefore:-President, Canon H. S. Stephenson; secretary, D. A. Bayles; treasurer, $F$. Ainsley; editorial secretary, J. Brewster: auditor, J. F. Bird; peal referees, W. J. Davidson, J. E. R. Kcen, W. N. Park and R. Park.
The Districts made no alteration in their officers and the appointments were confirmed viz.:-Northern District: Vice-President, K. Arthur; secretary, S. Hewitt. Western DisArtict: S. Thompson and C. J. Lamb. Easter:1 District : A. Brunton and W. F. Sheraton. Southern District: T. Cooke and D. R. Airey.

A vote of thanks to the retiring officers was proposed by Mr. W. Tyson and one to the various incumbents for the use of their bells by Mr. A. Brunton.

Mr. W. N. Park had given notice of a motion to amend Rule 10 so that the first part would read: The annual general meeting shall be held on the last Saturday in September in each year, alternately in the Dioceses of Durham and Newcastle.' He recalled how changes had been made from time to time in the date and venue of the annual meetings and how the Association's year had been varied as well. They were moves to suit the convenience of members and now, when members had shown themselves reluctant to visit Durham City, he felt that the committee should have the greater choice that the substitution of 'Dioceses' for 'Cities' would allow. At present Durham had very poor ringing facilities, no special service seemed to be possible at the Cathedral and catering was very difficult. Albeit Durham was not banned by the amendment but the matter could be reviewed in alternate years. Other members spoke in support of the motion and no one spoke in opposition, although there had been a tie in the voting at the committee when seeking to make a recommendation. At the general meeting the motion was carried by a very large majority.
The committee had arranged the J. W. Parker Commemoration mecting for March 21 st and the half-yearly meeting at North Shields for May 9th. The annual meeting depended upon the outcome of the motion on Rute 10 and following the success of the motion a proposal to visit Darlington in 1953 was carried. The secretary reported on the provisional arrangements that he had made with the Provost of Newcastle Cathedral for the dedication of the War Memorial. The service had been fixed for Saturday, November 15th. at 3.30 p.m. and it was hoped to publicise the arrangements and issue invitations to various groups of people especially the relatives of the Fallen, if the information could be obtained through tower secretaries.
Nine new members were elected.
In conclusion. Mr. F. Ainsley said that the current issue of 'The Ringing World' contained one item of a very happy nature and that was the mention of the forthcoming silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. McGuiness. He was sure that all members would wish to ioin him in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. McGuiness on this happy occasion and he hoped that they had found hospitality since they had become residents in Newcastle. This was carried with acclamation and Mr. McGuiness responded by thanking Mr . Ainsley and the members for their kind wishes. He wished, too, to record their gratitude for the very warm-hearted welcome that they had received.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Extract from 'The Ringing World,  November 1st, 1912  THE LADIES' GUILD FORMED

The Ladies' Guild was successfully in augurated on Saturday at a meeting held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London. One of the great difficulties in the way of the organisation of the society is the distance which separates those who are eligible for membership, but the interest and enthusiasm of the ladies resulted in a really well-attended meeting to give the Guild a send-off. Many of the best-known lady ringers were present so that the gathering was fully representative.
The following ladies were present:-Miss E N. Belcher (Fleet). Miss G. Adams (Clapton), Miss M. Chillingworth (Bradfield). Miss S Johnson (Edmonion), Miss M. Nightingale (London), Miss E. K.' Parker (Edmonton), Miss S. and Miss M. Pigot (Smethwick), Miss K. Smith (Maidenhead). Miss M. Sampson (Tamworth), Miss A. White (Basingstoke), Miss L. Willson (Leicester), Miss E. L. Bennett (New Cross) Mrs. Whittington (Cranleigh) and Miss Hazell (Edmonton).

A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by the ladies, [and] afterwards seven of them took part in a touch of Stedman Triples, and three of them rang Double Norwich.
IOne of those present proposed that the title of the society should be the "Women's Guild. Ladies," she thought, was merely an ornamental term '!]

SILVER WEDDING OF MR. & MRS. C. McGUINESS

It is most convenient to have important occasions such as silver weddings falling on Saturdays or public holidays but. even if those responsible have not had the foresight to arrange things as well as that, it is still not permissible to let such occasions go unnoticed.
On Wednesday, October 1st. 1952, various ringers hastened from their places of work, not homewards but to the Church of St. George, at Jesmond. Newcastle-upon-Tyne. There they were able to offer congratulations to Mr . and Mrs. McGuiness on the very happy occasion of their silver wedding, and shortly afterwards the bells were marking this notable event in the only possible way for two ringers, with a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major, the details of which will be found in the peal columns. The peal was an uneventful one, free from all but minor trips. and beyond that it need only be noted that this was one of Mrs. McGuiness's very rare appearances in a peal. Her total is now double figures.

After the peal the ringers were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McGuiness at their home in Kenton. The majority of us have known them only since they came to reside in Newcastle, but we have known their hospitality for almost as long as they have been with us, and a special spread awaited us on this occasion. Time hardly permitted us to do justice to it but we were able to drink a toast. proposed by Norman Park, to our host and hostess hefore we made our ways home D. A. B.

STEDMAN CATERS AT EDINBURGH

Not many ringers ever get the opportunity to ring a peal at St. Mary's Cathedral. Edinburgh but when an invitation from the local company reached us on Merseyside 'we immediately accepted it with much pleasure. Quite a number of ringers were interested in this venture but as the invitation was for four ringers only, several very sportingly gave way to the more enthusiastic.
Our conductor. Mr. P. W. Cave, was already as far north as Newcastle on business and he travelled to Edinburgh by rail whilst the remainder set of from Liverpool early on Friday. Oct. 3rd, by road. The wild weather of the previous few days fortunately had given way to some really beautiful autumn sunshine and this made the 220 mile iourney enioyable. We were met at the Cathedral on Friday evening by threc of the local company headed by Mr W. H. Pickett, who is, of course, well known to most Liverpool ringers, he having resided for some time in that area whilst engaged in assembling the great organ at Liverpool Cathedral more than 25 years ago.
After a good meal at a local restaurant we were invited by Dr. Branson to her home for handbell ringing and before we finally broke up, the first courses to be rung in Scotland of Reverse Bob and Double Bob Major were brought round.

Saturday morning we sment sight-seeing and our visits to Edinburgh Castle and the Forth Bridge were very much enjoyed. We met in the Cathedral belfry at $1.30 \mathrm{D} . \mathrm{m}$. and awaited anxiously the Glasgow contingent, whose bus, unfortunately, had been delayed. However this extra half-hour gave us time to look around the belfry walls and study the many interesting drawings of churches and bell frames, ete. It also gave Dr. Branson time to digest her two meat pies which was all she had had time to eat since leaving the operating theatre to join us in ringing. On inspection we found the bells to be a Taylor ten cast in 1878, having been designed by the late Lord Grimthorpe. The tenor ( 42 cwt .) is said to have been cast in the same mould as the eleventh at St . Paul's, and the whole ring had been retuned and rehung in 1935, and the seventh recast.
We set off into changes at 2.5 p.m. and soon settled down to a fairly fast beat. At first the rope rattle caused by the wooden sally guides made hearing a little difficult but as the peal went on conditions appeared to improve. At the end of the first quarter peal came our only scrious trip but fortunately our conductor knew all the answers and very soon had us right. Owing to a late start we rang through evensong but as the bells are scaccely audible in the church there were no complaints.
After the peal we were entertained to dinner by the Cathedral Society. Mr. Charles Raine spoke a few words thanking us for making this peal attempt possible. and after ringing at St. Mary's for nearly 30 years this was his first attempt for a peal on these belis. Mr. P. W. Cave replied. warmly thanking our hosts for their many kindnesses shown to us during our short stay in Edinburgh. The remainder of the evening was spent in an exceptionally comfortable hotel a little out of town, where our thoughts were soon led away from the subject of change ringing
We met again for service ringing on Sunday morning and enjoyed a touch of Grandsire Caters with the local band before bidding farewell to our friends who had provided us with such a happy wcek-end.
Thank you, Edinburgh !

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

An enterprising effort on the part of the Daventry and Guilsborough Branches was a dinner and social held at the Saracen's Head Daventry, on October 1lth.
Mr. G. Hancock (Daventry Branch president) presided over a company of 64 which included welcome visitors from leicester. Rughy and Southam. Mr. E. G. Orland weleomed the visitors. and Mr. H. J. Poole, in his reoly, complimented the hranches on holding their first gathering of this nature and honed there would be many more in the vears to come
The social evening followed in the traditional manner with songs games and handhell ringing. which included the 'rise and fall.' a course of Cambridge Surnsise Maior and a touch of Stedman Caters, also tune ringing by the visitors and the 'locals.

NEW ZEALAND NEWS

Mr. A. J. White, of 36. Wallace Street. Herne Bay. Auckland. New Zcaland. who participated in the first 720 rung in the Dominion recorded in our 'Forty Years Ago,' on page 49?, writes that he was captain of St. Matthew's hand Auckland, from 1908 until 1917. These bells are now heing clocked by choirboys, despite Mr. White's protests. The Vicar is trying 10 get the hells going but since thev have been silent a block of flats has been built ahnut 200 feet away and the owners threaten to take proceedings to stop any ringing
Mr White states that he is the only active ringer in Auckland and he now travels everv four weeks to Hamilton a distance of 90 miles. for a ring. Previous to going to New Zealand he was a member of the Surrey Association. belonging to the Mitcham Parish Church band. with whom he rang five peals of Stedman-the last. his farewell peal, was on August 26th. 1908.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD  Penzance Branch

The autumn meeting was recently held at Madron when some 55 attended, including the Guild president (Miss Eileen Symons) and Diocesan Ringing Master (Mr. W. H. Southeard), to whom a special welcome was given after his recent operation and serious illness. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. M. W. Hocking). Tea followed in the Landithy Hall.
At the business meeting the audited accounts were presented, and Wendron chosen for the spring meeting. Elections were as follows:Branch chairman. Miss E. Symons: secretary, the Rev. A. S. Roberts: auditor, Mr. W. Wood. Thanks were accorded to Mr, and Mrs. Arnold White and Mr. J. W. Reed (churchwarden) for the work they had done to make the gathering so successful.
The bells which are the most westerly ring of eight in the country, were kept going during the afternoon and evening.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

South Oxon Branch at Dorchester

A quarterly meeting of the South Oxon Branch was held at the historic abbey of Dorchester on October 11th.
The service in the Abbey was conducted by the Vicar of Warborough. who also gave an interesting and helpful address, and the Branch secretary. Mr. H. Badger, acted as organist.
After the service a good tea was enjoyed at the White Hart Hotel by a company of 31 .
At the meeting, with the Vicar of Warborough in the chair seven new members were elected.
Ringing followed on the Abbey bells: this reached a much higher standard than usual. Double Norwich and Cambridge being at-

JOINT MEETING AT HILLINGDON

Followed by Social

The annual gathering of the members of the Middlesex Association and the Oxford Guild brought over 70 ringers and friends to Hillingdon on October 11 th. A welcome was extended to the new band at All Hallows', Twickenham (late Lombard Street, in the City of London), who were on an outing. The bells of St. Andrew's Uxbridge, were also available to the visitors, the latter coming from a wide area (a record in tea notifications was set up by one conscientious ringer who sent in his name from Aberdeen!) Many methods up to Surprise Royal were rung.
The ringers' service was conducted by the Rev. J. S. Waller, who, in his address, said: Ringing for the glory of God should be the best we can give." The writer was reminded when listening to these words, of the recent cditorial in 'The Ringing World,' wherein it was said that there is only one quality of striking that may be called perfect, and that is only obtainable by constant striving, study and application, however long one has been ringing. By such self-dedication and humility, we may truly deserve the honour of ringing 'to the glory of God.
The choir of St. John's under the direction of the organist and choirmaster sang the famous 'bell' anthem-' Rejoice in the Lord alway.
After tea Mr. Waller, on behalf of the Vicar, he Rev. F. C. Tyler, who was on holiday, and the Middlesex ringers, welcomed the visitprs. Mr. A. D. Barker of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, suitably replied, and also thanked all those kind people who had contributed in any way towards making this happy occasion, especially Mrs. F.W. Goodfellow and her band of helpers who provided the excellent tea (and supper later!
Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, speaking as the local tower secretary, said that the parish felt honoured at the visit of the two Guilds to Hillingdon. Not only had the clergy and choir led them in the inspiring service just held but later that night other parochial groups would entertain them.
The evening concluded with a social in St. John's Hall. Apart from handbells games and a modicum of dancing. the Young Wives' Group performed an amusing sketch fittingly entitled
The Expectant Father.' the Men's Group had the audience laughing unroariously at that graphic, heart-stirring melodrama ' The Dilemma of Ella.' and Mr. Harris. a member of the choir. sang a couple of songs. the accompanist being Mr. Ferguson.
The celebrated handball match (played with a balloon but with ruthless vigour and determination! for the battered old china cup was won for the second time by the Oxford Guild
The programme was compered by Mr. F. W. Goodfellow.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A Tonbridge District mecting was held at Tonbridge on October 4th, the first meeting there since the repair of the bells and the recasting of two of them. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Russell B. White, and was followed by tea and the business meeting with the Vicar in the chair. Officers elected for the coming year were:-Secretary. Mr. R. A. Whitehead: District representatives. Miss D Colgate. Mr. P. Carter: Ringing Master, Mr R. Collins. Mr. Bernard Lucas. of Leigh. was elected a member of the Association.

It was decided, after discussion. with no formal resolution. that every means should he used to encourage the recruitment of young ringers and to increase the co-operation between ringers and recrgy in the service of the Chureh and the District is to make a determined effort to act along these lines in the year now heginning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE ART OF GOOD STRIKING

Dear Sir,-The comments and criticisms that appear from time to time in 'The Ringing World on the striking of bells must, I feel, be read with interest by many ringers whose aim in all their ringing is to maintain a high standard of this art
It is true that complacency exists among bands of ringers and their conductors, leading to lackadaisical handling of bells with its consequent bad striking and performances not worthy of their place as contributions to the maintenance of a tradition built up through hard work and patience by ringers in the past and striven for so hard by many ringers of the present day.

There is only one quality of striking that may be called perfect, and although there are a great many ringers who are not satisfied until they have mastered this art there are unfortunately so many who for one reason or another never do so. This may be due to impatience on the part of the captain of a band to try 10 get his ringers to attempt to ring far beyond their capabilities as regards methods or number of bells being rung or by individual ringers crowding as much variation in as short a time as possible before learning the fundamentals of the production of good striking.
What can be one of the greatest joys and interests in change-ringing-and one that is impossible to experience without excellent striking -is the production of a rhythm on a ring of bells.

Many ringers will think that they have experienced this shythm during their ringing, when, in fact, they may never have taken part in the standard of striking necessary to produce it.

This rhythm can be produced only by what I consider to be the greatest mental and physical harmony that it is possible to obtain between members of a band during ringing. When this harmony and rhythm is once produced in a touch or peal it can. and so often does, continue with less effect on the part of the band than if the striking is imperfect.
Such ringing as this can be obtained only when those taking part are not attempting something which they know full well is really beyond their powers at the present stage of practice and experience
I am fully aware that without poor ringing and striking at times there would be little progress. but this should be confined to practice meetings so as to avoid bad ringing at other times.
I do feel that the general standard of ringing would improve if more time and patience were given to the art of good handling and striking. This can be accomplished only when the ringing presents no greater difficulty to the band than will allow each one of them to concentrate on listening to the sounds produced in addition to seeing the ropes falling.

The ringers of to-day are not faced with the problems which existed some years ago. With the modern methods of bell-hanging the "go" of so many rings is now so much better, but the problem of good striking still varies somewhat according to the rings of bells. It is true that there are many bells that are false striking and many that have other handling peculiarities, but any ringer who has once mastered the art of good handling and striking can overcome these problems quickly. and in fact in doing so it can add to his general interest and gain for him the appreciation of the rest of the band.

We must always remember that the art of change-ringing is the art of producing changes and unless good striking prevails the truth between one change and another is indistinguish-ahle.-Yours sincerely,

THE QUIZ

Dear Sir,-Your 'quiz' is interesting. but surely it fails in its objective when it shows on being put to the test, that I am as good a ringer as one of our leading conductors, and that a lad of 16 , who has been ringing for three years or so, is even better than the conductor in question!
Yesterday evening, after a peal. six of us held a 'trial by jury,' with the quiz playing the role of public inquisitor. Several problems of interpretation of questions arose, which the compiler might care to solve.
Question 8.-Has the compiler ever tried to ring at, for example. Twyford, Hants, without leaning against the wall?
Question 10.-How to interpret 'exactly '? Only two of our six wcre awarded ten for this.
Question 11.-Half our number had never attempted to raise or lower the treble in peal and not through any fault of theirs, either. This is probably a representative figure.
Question 15.-Does this mean to ask whether one knows the names of the musical changes, or whether one can recognise the musical positions, say in Caters?
Question 19.-Most controveersial. Surely a good tenor ringer with a good band does keep it behind at the same speed! It's the bad ringer who holds up for slowness, or pulls in to close up a gap. I admit that I recently rang the tenor to a peal of Grandsire Caters in which I had to change the compass every lead, according to whether the trebles or the big bells were behind together. To my mind that was wrong. However, we did not answer the question on account of its ambiguity.
Question 21.-A bad question. The logical result of earning five marks here is that before long we'll have our belfries full of "wincing Willies 'trying to show what good ringers they re!
Question 23.-This is grossly unfair on those scores of good ringers who generally devote their time and energy to helping those less advanced than themselves.
Finally there is no mention of either attainment in method-ringing or peal-ringing, which is, of course, vitally important to "better bellcontrol in the widest possible sense '-far more important than ringing changes on handbells.
Perhaps the compiler would care to explain these points?-Yours faithfully.
R. A. REED.

HANDLING AND RINGING

Dear Sir-Having retired from any chance of ringing honours, I feel I must 'have a go' at the author of your editorial 'Complaisancy.' Without running the risk of not being asked to stand in a peal. I would inquire does the author desire to go back to the pre-atomic age? Those were the days when a ringer sat on a bench in the belfry for 40 years. Well, today's methods turn out a greater percentage of ringers than the old procedure ever did.

As to handling, what does it matter if a ringer has the knack of pulling his bell where it should be. He is not on T.V. or having his photograph taken for posterity to admire. I can name three of the best ringers I ever met who were all bad handlers.
In the old days many were called but few chosen because they did not comply with the laws of the Medes and Persians. As to any decline in our art. all I can say is that they ' can suck eggs a good deal quicker than our grannies.'-Yours truly,
A. FLAT.

FORTY YEARS A RINGER BLTT ANXIOUS TO IMPROVE HIS STRIKING

Dear Sir--I am greatly interested in the leading article 'Complacency.' Thanks are due to the correspondent for the pluck to 'pen it '; it is time such an article appeared.
Although the writer of these few lines admits striking is not a strong point with him, he always appreciates advice offered by more competent strikers to improve in this direction. in spite of the fact of some forty ycars' experience of ringing.
To-day far too much cramming of higher methods is indulged in to get into Surprise ring. ing as quickly as possible. But what about striking 'humble' Grandsire properly? Oh dear, no! There is never a thought of returning to call changes. What an indignity! After all cannot call changes be compared to the scales as practised by any expert pianist or violinist, or any other experienced player of a musical instrument? They frequently return to scales to improve their fingering. Then why should not ringers, to improve their striking, practise call changes?

I agree with S. O'C. H. that poor striking and handling does appear to be on the increase. One is almost inclined to think that our bellfounders make too perfect a job of hanging the bells. causing them to swing too easily, thus making for the lazy and careless ringer.
There are many folks who are not ringers who like to hear bells, especially on Sundays, They do not know the difference between callchanges and Cambridge Surorise Major, but what they do notice is the difference between good and bad striking.
That brings up another point. Sunday service ringing should not be turned into a practice of some methods not well known by all the band. Always ring what is known best to give of our best for the Master.-Yours faithfully,
Holloway, N. 7.

GETTING THE TRUE ECHO-EFFECT

Dear Sir.-Yours truly, A. J. G., October 3rd asks if ringing whole-pull changes, halfmuffled, is ever practised. Yes, we have practised it at Southover, Lewes, for some time now and its effect is pleasing. We like it and so do some of our friends and critics. As to whether such ringing violates the principles of changeringing, I think we can give that the go-by sometimes. Try a course of Grandsire Triples when your bells are half-muffled and see if you can do it. I think you will like it.
R. C. H.

TOWER PERMISSIONS

Dear Wilfred.-You and I have been scrapping for years with telling body-blows on each side. This time I get one in. I quite agree that permission to ring should be asked of the incumbent, who, if he has any sense will ask his captain or ringers about it. and ask the secretary of the tower to reply for him, then everyone is happy. But the churchwardens have no control over the bells, and do not constitute the lawful authority jointly with the incumbent
If a bequest was left to the incumbent and the churchwardens it would in effect be left to the Parochial Church Council as the constitution is to-day, but in bell matters the control of the bells and the bellringers belongs to the incumbent alone, and the exact legal rights of the parishioners and the churchwardens in this matter are very obscure.
Undoubtedly when the question of repairs arises the decision of what should be done rests with the Church Council of which the incumbent is chairman and the wardens ex-officio members. but permission to ring rests with the parson, and the wardens have no say. I know of no other instance in Church of England matters to-day, except the ordering of music. where the situation is so Papal. How are you?-Yours sincerely.

LONDON ROYAL No. 3

Dear Sir, -Mr. Kippin's letter may well be taken as the 'Action Stations' warning and I feel I must reply to it.
In the first place, the Leicester Diocesan Guild, or indeed any other Guild. is perfectly entitled to make its own decisions concerning its own affairs without any outside influence or advice. and from my knowledge of the officials and members of the Guild I can assure Mr. Kippin that he would have been called to book long ago if, his anti-Central Council Decision - Stunts, had been anything directly concerned with this Guild.
The Leicester Guild is fortunate to possess amongst its members persons who have made a deep study of method construction and extension and I am quite happy to accept and act upon their advice, being satisfied as I am that they are actuated by the highest possible principles and a sincere wish to do what is right. They are entitled to be represented at the Central Council meeting and I make no apologies for the time taken at Lincoln in doing what I regarded clearly as my duty as a delegate.
That a new name for London Royal No. 3 was selected some years ago surely indicates that those responsible were satisfied that London Royal No. 3 was not the correct name for it. Was it left just to create still one further opportunity for addition to the 'Stunts' or deliberately to add to the many complicated questions for the Council or to bring doubtful notoriety to Mr. Kippin?

Once again is instanced his apparent conviction that a change of name is necessary when he states that there is no intention to make the date of change retrospective. Surely this is a matter for a Council decision. Is this an indication of his assumed authority from his recent appointment to the Methods Committee? It may well be thought that this clearly demonstrates his unsuitability to serve on the Methods Committee and exposes what may well be the failing judgment of the Rev. K. Felstead, with whom he is so closely associated, and at whose suggestion he was co-opted.

RUTLAND SURPRISE MAXIMUS RENAMED

It is my personal desire and that of the Leicester Diocesan Guild to accept and conform to the letter with any Central Council decision and in this regard, as conductor of the first peal of Rutland Surprise Maximus to be rung I have renamed this Belvoir Surprise Maximus, after having given due notice to the Methods Committec.-Yours faithfully,

HAROLD J. POOLE.

OXFORD'S CLOCKS

Dear Sir,-Those who search for clocks with one hand or none will find Oxford a happy hunting ground for the latter type, for the city contains no fewer than four clocks with no external facc-Magdalen College. New College, Merton College and Christ Church (the belfry, not Tom Tower). All these clocks chime the hours and quarters, and the first three have chimes of great interest and considerable age. The chime of Merton College, for instance, is based on a mediæval psalm-tone.
By the way, the home of Mr. F. H. Parr; referred to in ' Belfry Gossip' as 'Bucknall' and beneath his lerter as 'Bucknell.' is, in fact Buckerell. I mention this, not by way of reflection on your accuracy or his handwriting, but because I hate to think of up-country clock-fanciers wandering endlessly, like Vanderdeken, round the Otter Valley looking for a one-handed clock in a non-existent village!Yours, etc.,
(REV.) JOHN G. M. SCOTT.
Exeter.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUHD

Humour at the Annual Dinner

THE Chester Guild's annual dinner on October 11th at Bollands' Restaurant, Chester, was attended by a company of 60 which included the Bishop of the Diocese and the Archdeacon of Chester. Among the veteran ringers present were Sam Jones, sen., of Eccleston, and Robert Sperring, of old St. Mary's, Chester. Mr. F. Dunkerley, of the Lancashire Association, and Mrs. Dunkerley were also among the welcomed guests.
The Master (Mr. J. W. Clarke) proposed the loyal toast. In submitting the toast of "The Guild,' the Bishop referred to the early history of the College Youths and their link with the Diocese. The Master, in his reply, supplemented the Bishop's remarks with further interesting details.

Mr. Dunkerley dealt with the clergy and spoke appreciatively of their service to the nation in general, and in the case of several of them, to the Exercise in particular, recalling the names of some who had been closely connected with the ringers of the Diocese. To this the Archbishop responded suitably-and humourously.
The toast of 'The Ladies ' was undertaken by Mr . William Allman. He carried the company back in thought to a period centuries before the College Youths were thought of, to a period B.C., when Antony took Cleopatra to Cairo to listen to his ringing in a peal of Sphinx Surprise, after which she gave him a piece of her mind regarding his bad striking. Antony thereupon suggested that she needed a new pair of ears, and she appealed to her 'Friends, Romans, Countrymen' for the loan of theirs. Mrs. C. K. Lewis responded with the eloguence and felicity we have learned to expect of her.
The Guild was fortunate in baving two excellent entertainers-Mr. E. Jones. of Chester College, and of the Magic Circle, and Mr. Harry Thomas, of Ecclesion. Mr. Jones entranced with his feats of magic, and with uncanny insight selected Walter Allman as a parttime coadjutor, which needless to say, led to increased hilarity as the fun proceeded. Mr . Thomas was as amusing as last year with his vocal contributions. one of which was a revised version of 'The Village Pump,' modernised by the inclusion of some topical verses singularly appropriate for the occasion and the company present One of these derived its inspiration from an event to which frequent reference was made during the evening an impending marriage. Those in the know were aware that 'Walter Allman ' was no more than a campanological nom-de-plume for Sir Charles Jukes and to our great delight he brought the future Lady Jukes with him to the dinner.
Proceedings broke up shortly after 10 p.m. and everyone agreed that it was far and away the best annual dinner the Guild had so far had.

BARWELL NEWS

A recent addition to the belfry at Barwell is a mahogany peal board recording the peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major by an entire Barwell band-the first tower in the district to do so. The work is that of craftsman Alan Hough, vice-captain of the band. Mr. W. P. Whitehead gave the wood. This is the third tablet to be placed in the belfry since the war.

Congratulations from his home tower to Roy Coleman who, since moving to Weston-superMare. has been appointed captain of the ringers.
David Wilebore, one of the youngest members of the band, had the misfortune to crush one of his fingers at school and has since had to have it amputated. The band are certain that this handicap will not deter his keenness when he returns to the belfry.

FOR BEGINNERS

And a Word to the Older Hands

XVIII-OXFORD BOB MINOR
We need not here go into the arguments which have often been put forward showing the advantages of practising a variety of methods. particularly on the lower number of bells, but we would like to point out to those who at present ring only Bob Minor that it is not at all difficult to get on to new methods, and that it makes ringing vastly more interesting.
For instance, there is the method Oxford Bob. Put simply, it is Bob Singles (the Plain Bob method on four bells), with the other two bells continuously dodging behind from the time the treble leaves the back until it gets up there again when the bells behind hunt straight down to lead and two others (who led in turn after the treble) hunt straight up and take their places.
Many ringers will probably be able to step straight into the belfry and ring the method with that explanation, but for the sake of others let us go into a little more detail.

This is a table of rules by which you learn Bob Singles:-
Pass treble in 3-4, lie a whole pull in 4ths, dodge 4-3, and hunt down to lead.
Pass treble in 2-3, dodge 3-4 up. lie a whole pull in 4ths. and hunt down.
Pass treble in 1-2, make 2nds and lead again.
In Oxford Bob you do exactly the same thing, except that there is sandwiched on each side of the 2nds place the dodging in 5-6 referred to. This dodging is actually a three-pull dodge. That is to say. in whichever direction you are going, you have to step back threc times. You cannot very well make a mistake in it. however for the two bells dodge until the treble separates them.
Now let us amplify our Boh Singles' table and make it fit our Oxford Bob Minor.
Pass treble in 3-4. lie a whole pull in 4ths, dodge 4-3. and hunt down to lead.
Pass treble in 4-5, a three-pull dodge in 5-6 up, lie a whole pull behind and hunt down to lead.
Pass treble in 1-2. make 2 nds and lead again.
Pass treble in 5-6. lie a whole pull behind, a three-pull dodge in 6-5 down. and hunt down to lead.

Pass treble in 2-3. dodge 3-4 up, lie a whole pull in 4 ths, and hunt down.
Here are the figures of the first part of the course showing the full dodging behind. Write out a complete course. draw a continuous line over one of the working bells and you have a diagram of the method. From it you can visualise the whole of the work:-

DEDICATIONS IN THREE COUNTIES

STRADBROKE, SUFFOLK
Saturday, October 18 th, was a great day for Suffolk ringers and indeed, for the parishioners of Stradbroke, when the two new treble bells and chiming apparatus were dedicated and the old eight bells rededicated by the Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich, Dr. Richard Brook.

Stradbroke tower was well known for its sway, causing extreme difficulty in ringing the bells, and many ringers came from long distances, not only to witness the grand and lovely dedication service, or hear and ring on the new ten, but to test the actual 'go' of the bells and to check up on the 'behaviour' of the tower. Suffice to say that the 'go' of all the bells is perfect and there is now little more than a slight vibration of the tower.
Well before the service the church was full and judging by the number of cars that had parked in the vicinity, the number of clergy attending, the large robed choir, the lovely voluntaries from the organ and the general air of excitement and expectancy, one gathered this was going to be no ordinary event.
The service was conducted by the Rector (Canon K. E. Shaw) who was assisted by the Archdcacon of Ipswich (the Ven. C. O. George) and the minister of the Free Church. Among the visiting clergy was the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. After the processional hymn, the Lord's Prayer, canticles and lessons, the Bishop and clergy, choir, representatives, including Mr. David Vincent, the donor of the two new trebles, Mr. Michacl Howard representing Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the architect, Mr B. A. Hatcher, Professor Ryle, the Master and secretary of the Suffolk Guild, and churchwardens moved to the tower, where the dedication took place, after which the local ringers rang rounds on the bells.
In his address. the Bishop congratulated the parish of Stradbroke on the work it had done. He said he really loved church bells and rejoiced that so many young folk in the county were taking up the art. He hoped the chiming apparatus would be used only for the early service and definitely not for matins and evensong!
The lovely service over. came the eagerlyawaited opportunity to ring on Suffolk's latest and sixth ring of ten and the 150 or so ringers who had congregated from several counties found difficulty in getting a pull. Nevertheless the bells were kept going until a late hour when everyone should have had their requirements satisfied.
The fine oak frame has been retained and strengthened and the two tenor bells which cracked the tower have now been hung to swing east to west in a massive iron and steel frame underneath and the two new trebles have been placed in their pits. All the bells have been hung on ball bearings and reclappered and now form an exceptionally good ring.
Inside the tower the front eight bells are overpowered by the booming tenors-this is to be rectified by the bellfounders who will fix sound boxes. With the exception of the south louvre, which is to be boarded to quieten the eighth bell, the outside effect is delightful as the Whole front eight bells sound clear and distinct and the tenors quiet and mellow. This is a pleasing contrast to the usual bold tenors drowning the trebles in rings of ten and twelve
The whole of the work on the bells and tower has successfully been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who received many congratulations on the completion of an unusual and difficult job. So another milestone has been passed on the long journey towards the restoration of Suffolk's fine but rough-going rings.
On behalf of Suffolk ringers, a warm and beartfelt 'Thank you' to Mr. David Vincent, Canon Shaw and the hard-working Stradbroke people for their generous and splendid work.

EAST DRAYTON, NOTTS

The Bishop of Southweli (the Right Rev. Russell Barry) dedicated, on October 4th, the two new trebles added to the existing four bells at St. Peter's, East Drayton. The tenor has also been recast. A new ringing gallery was been erected in the tower. The contract was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who are congratulated on first-class workmanship. Mr. John P. Fidler represented the foundry.
After the dedication the bells were rung by the Misses G. and K. Burchnall, Messrs. H. Denman, Oswy Street, J. T. Bartram and Arthur Crawford.
The inscriptions on the bells are:-
Treble.-A. M.D. G. Given by the people of East Drayton in memory of George William Davison and Francis Cyril Pinder. A.D. 1951.
Second.-In memory of Charles, Mabel and Edmund Wilkinson and their parents. The gifts of their family, A. W., C. S. W., R. F. W. A.D. 1951

Third- 'Jesus be my Speed.' D. H. 1744.
Fourth.-John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. 1873.
Fifth.-'I sweetly toling, men do call. To taste on meat that feeds the soule.' H. O. 1606
Tenor- Recast 1951. The gift of M., R. C L. and A. F. L. Burges, in memory of Rev. A. F. L. and F. M. Wilkinson. (Weight 13 cwt. in $F$ sharp.)
The second bell was given by Canon R.F. Wilkinson, of West Bridgford and formerly Rector of Ordsall, and his two sisters, and the tenor bell by Mrs. Burges and her two sons.
Ringers were present from Nettleham, Bawtry, Shireoaks, North Muskham and Willingham. After tea ringing continued until 9 p.m. in various methods including London Surprise.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS

On the following Sunday evening Canon $R$. F. Wilkinson preached at the harvest festival. In his address he recalled memories of his childhood days at the Vicarage, and told something of th story of church bells and their message through the centuries. His family had a great affection for their old home, and he commended all the workers who had devoted themselves to such a great task. He hoped they would encourage the ringers in their duty and happy service.
In days gone by there were some interesting wedding customs. On the walls of the tower can be seen a number of rings painted in red ochre. They refer to a curious custom which existed until the latter part of the last century. After the banns were published for the first time, the ringers used to ring a special peal on the four old bells. On the weding day the bells were rung immediately the registers were signed, and at intervals for the rest of the day The wedding party brought up to the belfry a large plum loaf of six or eight pounds weight, and a cheese. These were carried by the 'best man.' All the school children paraded to the tower at the same time and the oldest ringer distributed a large piece of the loaf and cheese to each child. The ringers also received $£ 1$, which was spent in equal shares at the two village inns. A final peal was rung at six o'clock the next morning. Then the initials of the bride and bridegroom and the date were painted on the belfry walls, in a ring. There are nearly 100 rings, in the first being: 'E.
W.D., 1777 : and the last:'B., R.M., 1865 .' The top letter stands for the bride's name The same custom was observed at Treswell, Laneham and Egmanton.

RADLEY BELLS RE-OPENED

Following the service of hallowing the bells, already reported in our columns, Radley Church was again filled on Tuesday October 21st, when parishioners and ringers from surrounding churches in Berks, Bucks and Oxon attended the service of re-opening of the ring of six bells.
The ceremony of handing the bells to the Vicar (the Rev. J. V. Pixell) was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), who also preached an inspiring sermon. The lesson was read by the Warden of Radley College (the Rev. J. Vaughan Wilkes) Other clergy present included the Reverends C. V. Cross (Aston Tirrold, chairman of the North Berks Branch), N. Hope (March Baldon) and E. S. Tarrant (Launton). The genera arrangements were in the charge of Miss M R. Cross (tower leader) and Mr. A. Cross (churchwarden).
An outstanding feature of the inspiring service was the fine corporate singing. This was ably led by the Radley Church choir which included 17 boys (all local, regular members of the choir). The ladies' section of the choir lent character to the service by singing from the gallery belfry the carol, 'Ding Dong Merrily on High.' Special prayers included one for those village ringers who, having learned to ring at Radley, are now away from the village at work, at college or at school. A further prayer was for the many ringers who have been taught as members of the Radley College Campanological Society, many of whom are now in distant lands. (The writer's thought went particularly to Philip M. Gray who whilst a schoolboy at Eastbourne College (evacuated to Radley) had been taught by Miss Cross, along with Richard Speed, and also to the young subaltern, name forgotten, whom he had met on a mountain top in Hong Kong in 1949) During the service a collection was taken to help reduce the sum of money still owing for the rehanging and recasting of the bells.
A touch of 60 Grandsire Doubles was rung as part of the handing-over ceremony by $\mathbf{R}$. White, F. White (bellhangers, Appleton), A A. Hughes (Messrs. Mears and Stainbank). F. Sharpe (Deputy Master of Oxford Diocesan Guild), the Rev. C. E. Wigg and the Rev. J V . Pixell. At the conclusion of the service 120 Grandsire Doubles was rung by W. F. Judge (Master. Oxford Society), W. H. B. Wilkins (committee Oxford Guild). C. Kinch (secretary Bicester Branch, Oxford Guild), A. E. Locke (secretary, North Berks Branch), P. Walker (secretary, Oxford Society) A. R. Pink (secretary, Oxford Diocesan Board of Finance). This was immediately followed by touches by the younger Radley ringers and included members of the Radley College Campanological Society.

Later, whilst the other visiting ringers were trying their hands on this lovely ring, which many considered to be among the prettiest and handiest in the district, refreshments were served to the visitors in the adjacent school by the ladies' choir.

HUGHENDEN BELLS AND WINDOWS

The Bishop of Oxford dedicated, on October 12 th the recast ring of eight bells in a new iron frame at Hughenden. The four windows replacing those destroyed by enemy action were also dedicated.
The bells are now all on one level and are a real pleasure to ring and listen to. The old tenor, CIRA 1410, has been preserved and hung above the ring for use as a service bell only. The crown, complete with cannons and inscription band of the seventh. CIRA 1490, also the inscription band of No. 6, 1633, have been kept.
The work was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who are to be congratulated on an excellent job.

The local ringers, with help from a few friends, took on the task of preparing the tower to take the new frame and bells, replacing two worm-eaten floors, raising the ringing room ociling. redecorating the belfry and staircase and all the necessary work to ensure a perfect job. This entailed 833 hours of voluntary labour.

At the dedication the church was filled to overflowing and chairs had to be used. After the Blessing the recessional hymn "Now thank we all our God ' was sung.

HITCHIN BELL FOUNDRY

Mr. Derek P. Jones of Hitchin, writes:
The bells at Shillington, Beds, also had work done upon them by a founder at Hitchin at the end of the 16 ith century, according to the churchwarden's accounts. The incumbent, the Rev. Mr. Farmiloc, who is doing some research into this. referred me to the Victoria County History Herts, Vol IV. from which it appears that the founder was John Dier. An itinerant founder, he was working in the Hitchin neighbourhood from about 1580; a few of his bells still exist in this district. it is stated, and I hope to investigate this further

OBITUARY  MR. W. J. SIMONS

Mr. Walter John Simons, of Dorchester, who died on October 15th, aged 79, was associated with St. Peter's, Dorchester, tower, for nearly 37 years and was a well-known member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. During the whole of that time he had been associated with the late Mr. J. T. Godwin, whose death was recorded in our columns recently. He was a competent ringer and instructor.

There was a very large attendance at the funeral service which was conducted by the Rector. Canon A. Wilkinson Markby chairman of the Dorchester Branch, assisted by the Rev. A. J. G. Chard. Apart from the officers of the Dorchester Branch the following towers were represented: St. Peter's, Fordington St. George's, Abbotsbury and Wyke Regis. The bells were rung half-muffied to Grandsire Triples before the service and as the cortege left the church. Cremation was at Weymouth.

GULLD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS Branch Meeting at Dean Prior

The Mid-Devon Branch held a quarterly meeting at Dean Pripr, Buckfastleigh, on October 11th, when members and friends attended from Manchester, Teignmoulh, Newton Abbot, Ashburton, Buckfastleigh, Totnes and Plympton. The service was conducted by the Rev. C. B. Underwood, Vicar, who gave a short address. Mr. A. H. Birley acted as organist.

After tea the usual business meeting followed with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair.
The programme for 1953 was adopted as follows:-January 31st Wolborough; April 25 th, Cockington and Upton; June 27th, Joint Meeting with the South West Branch at South Brent ; July 18 th. Widecombe-in-the-Moor and Buckland; August 22nd, Branch Outing; October 24th, Stoke Gabriel and Paignton ; November 28th, Extra Meeting at Babbacombe; all subject to the usual permission being obtained.

The election of Mr. B. Bladon, of Swindon, as a non-resident life-member prior to starting for a peal was confirmed, and in response to a question it was left to the Branch officials to look into the question of ringing arrangements for the Coronation.

The usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting and ringing took place at Ashburton in the evening.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSN.  Northern District

A meeting was held at Hinxworth, the most northerly church in the county, on Saturday, October 4th. The treble of the ring of six was added in 1908 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and the other five are by either Miles George or John Briant. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. G. C. F. Edwards, with Mr. H. C. Scarbrough at the organ.
A nice little tea was provided in the cosy Village Hall by the local ladies. The Rector was elected to the chair for the business meeting, his first duty being to ask the company present to stand in silence in memory of their president and former Northern District sectetary. Mr. A. E. Symonds, who had passed to higher service since the last meeting.

Two new honorary members were electedthe chairman and Mr. E. R. B. Harriss (Bal-dock)-and the membership of Winifred $M$. Elliott was confirmed.
A letter was read from Mrs. Symonds thanking the District for their sympathy during her great loss.
Ringing then continued until 8.45: methods ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise.

ST. AMBROSE GUILD, BRISTOL

The Guild held its second annual Ringers' Sunday on October 19th and despite the inclement weather a very successful gathering took place. Ringing started at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for 8 a.m. communion service and ten members took communion.
At evensong, some 36 ringers and friends attended. Among those present were the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association (Mr. J. G. Jefferies), several members from Mangotsfield. Mr. C. R. Harding (chairman of the Bristol Rural Branch), Mr. A. T. Maggs, Coalpit Heath (at one time captain of the Guild for 17 years), Mr. and Mrs. W. Cook, Almondsbury. A very bright service was held, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. S. Lee and an excellent address given by Mr. H. A. Curtis, Diocesan lay reader.
After the service the Guild entertained the visitors and friends to refreshments. Thanks were expressed on behalf of the visitors by Mr. J. G. Jefferies. Mr. A. C. Baker (captain) thanked the visitors for their support and also the choirmaster for his willing help and cooperation.
It was suggested that the service be held next year on Sunday, July 19th, that being the silver jubilee of the derication of the bells.

JEALOUSY

IN his address of welcome to the Central Council at Chester in 1951, the Dean, Bishop Norman Tubbs, said he had been, in his own words, mightily impressed by the numbers present at the corporate Communion earlier that morning. Inspired by the writings of Lawrence of Arabia, the thought had irresistibly crossed the Dean's mind that these ringers were blood brothers.

The same thought, although not always conveyed with the Dean's natural eloquence, recurs from time to time in the addresses to which ringers listen at their special services. The speakers are impressed by what they are sometimes pleased to call 'the freemasonry of the belfry.' And the wish has often been expressed that the spirit of brotherhood and friendliness which animates the large company. of ringers could be induced more readily in other branches of church work.

Perhaps, by and large, these tributes to our unity, our community of purpose, our bond of affection, are well deserved. Certainly, it is a fine thing that with certain exceptions, too miserably few to be worthy of notice, a ringer may, wherever he finds himself on a Sunday morning, go to a belfry where he is a complete stranger and be assured of a friendly greeting and usually, if circumstances permit, an opportunity to join the local ringers in the performance of their Sunday morning duty. Of course, little incidents do occur sometimes when perhaps the visitor forgets his manners and feels that the ringing should be rearranged just to suit his convenience, or the hosts greet the stranger with an unfriendly stare. Generally, however, the inevitable 'Are you a ringer?' paves the way to yet another pleasant interlude in a ringer's career. Indeed, it would be idle to speculate upon how many life-long friendships have begun with that same question.

In spite, however, of all this undoubted goodwill there must be occasions when ringers, listening to tributes to their friendliness, feel a certain uneasiness in the remembrance of shortcomings which, although not evident to those who see us at our best, are nevertheless still alive in our midst and are a slur on our good name. Like all good families we have our skeletons in the cupboard, and it is as well that they should be brought out from time to time for an airing.

Is it too much to say that the chief of these skeletons is jcalousy? To the student of ringing history it is evident that in ringing, as in all things transitory, crowns and thrones do perish and kingdoms rise and wane, but these inevitable shifts of emphasis are not always accepted with good grace?

The complete cessation of ringing for three years during the war and the disruption of our normal activities for considerably longer than that are now passing into perspective. When ringing got off once more to a somewhat unsteady start little bursts of activity became evident in unsuspected places. It was difficult to be certain at first where the post-war emphasis on ringing would be. New names, many already forgotten, began to appear. Other names, well known before the war, failed to come back. But inevitably the more recent years are teaching us that we can look for leadership in the Exercise in other places than those with which we were more familiar in pre-war days.

There are certain quarters where this changed order is not well accepted. Ridiculous remarks may be heard about the quality of ringing in other centres from people who, quite often, have never heard the ringing about which they express themselves so strongly. Sometimes the critics are not quite all they might be themselves. Others, undoubtedly very fine exponents of the art in their own day and generation, too readily assume that those who follow them, particularly those who are separated from them geographically, are unworthy bearers of the torch. It is difficult to assume that this attitude is prompted by any other feeling than jealousy. Of course, the criticisms are sometimes accurate enough, although, need it be said, not necessarily the more charitable for that. Nevertheless, accurate or not, the remarks in question are usually best unsaid. Their only effect is to engender bad feeling and certainly the critic's own ringing skill is not improved by his attitude of superiority and his inability to admit that another may be a better man than he.

If you think you have done better in the past than others are doing now you must be content to leave the verdict to history. If you think you are doing better at present you are well advised to keep your own counsel in the matter. If you think you can do better in the future you can only hope for an opportunity to prove it. In the last resort that which will satisfy you most is the knowledge that you are giving to ringing as much as you hope to receive from it, and if it pleases you to think you are doing a little better than someone else that thought, as long as it remains a secret within your own mind, will warm your heart and illumine your hearth, but let it out and it may burn the house down.

Gillett & Johnston can rightly claim to be the only firm fully equipped to take care of the complete installation in the Church Tower. As founders of bells and makers of tower clocks and of all electrical and mechanical bell operating mechanism, we accept undivided responsibility for the satisfactory completion of each project. Some of the most famous and largest installations in the world have been carried out entirely within our organisation. We specialise, too, in the preservation and restoration of old clocks and rings of antiquarian interest.

XIX. - METHOD GROUPS

There are many methods which run in groups. They are internally of similar construction, but the various portions are linked together in different ways; it may be by 2 nds or 6 ths place when the treble leads, or (in Minor) 5ths place when the treble lies its whole pull behind (7ths in Major when the treble is behind), or it may be by both 5ths and 2nds or 6ths. In such groups the changes in a course are the same, but the blocks into which they are formed come in a different order, so that in actual ringing the various pieces of work are in a different sequence and a different 'method' is often a great help in ringing another.
The insertion of a place in the type of methods we are now dealing with causes other bells to dodge; for the same reason the omission of a place eliminates a dodge and the bells, instead, hunt straight off to another position.

In Oxford Bob, which was the subject of an article last week, 4ths place is made twice in each lead and each place compels the bells behind to make a dodge. Between the 4ths places, while the tréble leads. 2nds place is made, which imposes a dodge in 3-4 and 5-6 as well. It is because of these three successive 'places,' 4ths. 2nds and 4ths, that the two bells behind have a three-pull dodge.
The 4ths places are part of the integral construction of the method, but the 2nds place is only a link between the leads. In. combination with the 4ths places it makes "Oxford Bob,' but this Inds place is not necessary to the construction of a symmetrical method, and when it is omitted it is given the name of Court Bob. But, as was pointed out above, the elimination of a place cuts out a dodge (in this case both in $3-4$ and $5-6$ ) and consequently the work occurs in a different order and is linked together in leads, not by a place (2nds) and two dodges ( $3-4$ and 5-6), but by plain hunting.

Here is a table by which you can ring Court Bob, if you prefer to ring it by that means:Pass the treble in $5-6$, dodge 6-5 down.
Pass the treble in 4-5, dodge 5-6 up. lie a whole pull behind and dodge $6-5$ down (this is sometimes called dodging each way behind)
Pass the treble in 2-3, dodge in 5-6 up.
After the dodging, hunt straight down to lead each sime, then:-

Pass the treble in 1-2, make 4ths and lead.
Pass the treble in 3-4, make 4ths and lead. Observe there is no dodging anywhere but in 5-6.

The natural result of omitting the 2 nds place when the treble leads is to make a 6ths place essential, and in Minor methods, which have 6ths place at the lead end, the bob is made by the bells behind. Whether you have a method with 2nds place at the lead end or 6ths place, the bob must be made hy a bell 'lying still,' that is, making a place, in 4ths. Here are the two forms of bob:-
2nds Place at Plain Lead

If you want to ring a 720 of Court Bob your observation bell is called In, Out and In. instead of, as in Oxford Bob, Wrong, Right and Wrong; 'In' being, of course, when it runs in to take the treble off the lead, and the 'Out" when the treble takes the observation bell from lead.

Now if you wrote out the full course of Oxford Bob last week, as we suggested, and drew a diagram over it, try an experiment. Cut your strip into five pieces between the changes when the treble is leading; where, in fact, the line appears in the figures above. Then see if you can join these pieces together as Court Bob. Or, if you haven't got your Oxford Bob diagram, write out a course of Court Bob, cut it up in the same way, and transpose the five leads into Oxford Bob. The figures of a lead of Court Bob are the same as those given above the line in the article on page 700 last week. To continue the course, make 6ths place instead of 2 nds in the first row below the line.

BIRKENHEAD PEAL

Dear Sir, Congratulations to the Birkenhead Surprise peal band in their seven 6ths place methods. I would beg to point out that all these methods lose their 6th place at every call, therefore not conforming to an all 6 th place treble lead.-Yours truly,

STILL'LEARNING.

DOUBLE-HANDED SURPRISE

Dear Sir, -In the columns of 'The Ringing World, recently there have been points raised from various readers concerning double-handed tower-bell ringing

On October 19th, Mr. Tony Price rang two bells to a 720 of London Surprise Minor, which he also conducted. He has also rung a course and several touches of London Surprise Major, ringing 3-4. Has this ever been done before by any other double-handed ringer? - Yours truly,
JANET S. BAILEY. truly,

Sunbury-on-Thames.

CLOCKS AND BELLS

Dear Sir,-There is a clock with only one hand at Kedington, Suffolk, and clocks with no hands at Wymondham, Norfolk, and Lavenham, Suffolk.

Many Suffolk churches possess another peculiar feature-good rings of bells with. apparently, no clappers Do your ringers know of any other silent rings?

SILLY SUFFOLK.

CLOCK WITHOUT HANDS OR FACE

Dear Sir,-I have been interested in the items concerning curious clocks, one-handed or otherwise, I think that I can go one better. The Church of St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, has a clock with no hands or even an exterior face but which strikes the hours on a 32 -cwt. tenor. -Yours sincerely, Fulham.

WILLIAM J. ELSON.

THE QUIZ

Dear Sir-May I suggest a further important question to the recent editorial quiz?

Do you contribute regularly to Sunday service ringing, however humble the methods rung locally?

| Score: Yes-100. No-0.-Yours faithfully. |

'I have never attended a similar ringers' function when the speeches delivered were so consistently excellent right through the list and most charmingly given. . . . . Needless to say, the whole function was up to the Leicester "Superlative " standard.'-A male reader's comments on the 40th anniversary dinner of the Ladies' Guild, which will be our main feature in next week's issue.

Eighteen ringers from Birmingham made the journey to St. Nicholas', Liverpool, on October 26 th and were well rewarded, Mr . Albert Walker regarding the ring as one of the best at its weight he had heard.
It is interesting to recall that St. Martin's Guild also took part in the opening of the old twelve on June 4th, 1814. On that occasion they were presented with a silver cup, valued 20 guineas, by the town of Liverpool for the best ringing performance. This was 3,000 Grandsire Cinques. On June 7th, 1814, they rang a peal of Grandsire Cinques on the bells.
We all wish 'bon voyage' to Mr. Stafford Green, who is on his way to Australia. Mr. Green has not been well for some time.
Four of the six ringers in the peal of Minor at Stisted, Essex, have been taught to ring in the past ycar by Mr . Albert Saunders.

Will any reader who has received the manuscript of 'Carol Tunes' please send a copy to the Editor for circulation to other readers? The manuscript has been lost in the post.
$\mathbf{M r}$. W. Rogers, of Rotherfield, is in the Kent and Sussex Hospital, Tunbridge Wells suffering from a slipped disc and spinal injuries. At the present time he cannot say when he will be ringing again.
Four ringers from Nailsea and one each from Backwell, Bristol, Clevedon, Long Ashton, Melksham, Wraxall and Wrington enjoyed their half-day's outing in South Somerset on October 25th. Ringing took place at North Curry, Chard and Shepton Beauchamp.
We reintroduce to our peal columns this week Mrs. Dorothy T. Gardiner daughter of the late Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, who at Burton-on-Trent on October 23 rd rang her first peal since her marriage. The peal was rung at the second attempt; the first on September 15th failed after three hours' ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The six bells of St. Mary's Church, Hambleden, Bucks, are to be augmented to eight should the parish appeal prove successful. This is in memory of the last English pre-Reformation saint, Thomas de Cantelupe, a native of this village. The new ring will have a tenor of 19 cwt in E. The present ring (tenor, Woking ham, $\dot{C}$. $1420,12 t$ cwt. in $F$ sharp) was aug mented to six bells in 1724 by the winning (at cards) of the bells of Fingest by the Rector of the day.
In view of the arguments about leaving bells ' up,' readers should note the fire at Beckford, Worcs, in this issue. Bells that were up swung down to give the fire alarm.
Mr. W. Thornley, sen.. 'completed the circle' of Stapleford tower, Nottingham, on October 25th, the 20th anniversary of the first peal on the bells which he conducted.

We are asked through this column to thank the band which rang at Tenterden, 'for the nice peal of Stedman. It was good of them.' Such appreciation, we are sure, makes pleasant reading.

A wedding peal was rung at Markfield, Leics, on October 25th with the good wishes of the band to Mr. Kenneth Burdett, a Markfield ringer for 10 years. who was married that day to Miss F. E. Hazleden, of Beckenham, Kent. Their future home is to be at Beckenham.
The first peal has been rung at St. Ewe, near Mevagissey, Cornwall, which is reputed to be the smallest tower known to contain an effective ring. There were previously threc bells but the completely restored ring of six was installed in 1926. A picture of this three-tier frame appears in Morris' The History and Art of Change Ringing.' The bells are a delight to ring and can all be heard equally well both inside and outside the tower, which is surmounted by one of the few Cornish spires.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS

315th ANNIVERSARY DINNER AT NEW VENUE - MASTER CRITICISES ' GO' OF ST. PAUL'S BELLSRINGING MADE TOO EASY, STATES PRESIDENT OF CENTRAL COUNCIL - OXFORD RINGERS & COLLEGE YOUTHS

WOR their 315 th anniversary dinner last Saturday, the Ancient Society of College Youths had a new venue in the Mecca Restaurant, Mincing Lane, E.C. The spacious accommodation made a splendid setting and added dignity to the entry of the Master (Mr. J. G. A. Prior), accompanied by Mr. F. E. Collins (senior steward) and Mr. J. E. Chilcott (junior steward). A company of about 160 attended, and other officers present were Mr. A. A. Hughes (treasurer, who acted as toastmaster), Mr. A. B. Peck (secretary), Mr. W. H. Pasmore and Mr. E. G. Fenn (trustees).

After the loyal toasts, the Master, as is customary, submitted the toast of 'The Church.' 'I often think,' he said, "that this toast instead of being "The Church" should be "The Clergy," because we as ringers are servants as well as members of the Church and we owe so much to the clergy for all the privileges we receive. Our Sunday service ringing is our work for the Church, and our practices help us to attain such a standard so that we can provide the best possible ringing for the services of the Church; and nothing else is good enough. There are many other occasions when we ring bells purely and solely for our own pleasure, and for that our thanks are due to the clergy. Without the co-operation of the clergy our prodigious peal ringers would not be able to amass their totals and our "tower grabbers" would be unsuccessful.

SAD STATE OF CITY RINGS

As well as doing work for the Church, ringing is a delightful and fascinating hobby, and it is natural when ringers think of the Church they also think of bells and ringing, and we London ringers have a particular interest in the City of London, as so much of the history of the Socicty is associated with the rings of bells that used to hang in the City. I say used to hang because in the whole of the City of London to-day there are but threc usable rings of bells, as we lost some of our finest during the war.

First of all we have St. Paul's Cathedral. Ycar by year twice every Sunday those bells ring out under our inspired leader Bert Langdon. The "go" of those bells is far from satisfactory and they need rehanging. Then we have Cornhill. which also need the bellhanger's attention. and there is also St. Botolph's, of which it is said the bells are all right, but the tower wants rehanging. We all hope that some of the missing towers in the City will be replaced: if that takes place it will be a great challenge to the London ringers to provide the ringers. But the picture is not all dark. Some of you had the privilege to-day of ringing at Stepney. I have a passing interest in Stepney. as I was born in the parish, although I was never a member of the Stepney band, but it can be said that Stepney bells are better than ever before.
He accorded a special welcome to Canon Jocelyn Perkins. of Westminster Abbey, the Rev. E. G. Turner, of St. Giles', Cripplegate, and the Rev. H. J. Fynes-Clinton, of St. Magnus'.

HOPES FOR ST. GILES'

The Rev, E. G. Turner, who responded, said it was a well-known fact that at St. Giles' they had a ring of bells which was a bad ring and the enemy might have done them a good turn when it was destroyed. If the money could be found to complete the church it would be far finer than it was in 1545 Mr . Godfrey Allen, their architect, was doing a magnificent job of work there. He was surprised how many people had expressed to him the hope that they would soon be hearing their bells. The architect had told him that they would have to make an appeal for $£ 50,000$ to provide a church adequately and completely furnished for divine worship, including the bells. An item in that cost was $£ 4,000$ for the bells, of which they had already $£ 1,000$ in hand. He assured them that one of the first things he must do was to get the bells in despite the fact that the church stood in what is now a desert. People reminded him of the old chimes that had a different tune for each day of the week. On Monday it was 'God save the King,' and on Saturday 'Home, sweet home' to remind office workers of the end of the week. To-day, however, they did not come on a Saturday. If any of them had $£ 3,000$ he would gladly give them a receipt for the bells.
Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council and a past Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, submitted the toast of the evening. The Ancient Society of College Youths.' He said he never enjoyed a week-end more in his life than when members of their Society came to visit them in Scotland in July, 1939. There were three main reasons. One was that it was the highest form of enjoyment to see others enjoy themselves, which he felt sure their visitors did. Another was he had always found members of the Society were very good ringers and very good company, and, thirdly. they had some very good ringing with a peal of Stedman Caters at Inveraray. Inveraray was his nearest tower some 45 miles away. To-day here were no ropes to those bells and no ringers there. Inveraray was an Episcopal Church and the number of Episcopalians in the parish was very small. Scottish people did not take to bells. At the time of the Reformation many of them regarded bells as ornaments of the church and they were destroyed. The number of rings of bells in Scotland could be counted on the fingers of both hands.
It was said years ago that their Society was looked upon as a body of haughty poople. He did not think it was haughty, but it had reason to be proud. Did they not invent change ringing? If they looked up the history of the Society they would find that Robert Roan presented 120 changes of Doubles to the Society. He was Master in 1662 and they should be proud of having invented the wonderful art of change ringing. Then they looked back with pride on other men who carried on the tradi-tion-Fabian Stedman, Benjamin Annable and John Holt.

RINGING TOO EASY

He thought the bell founders had made ringing rather too casy. They found bands of young ringers within a few months ringing Surprise. They knew the method. He thought it would have been better for them if they were brought up in the old school where the bells were a bit rough and false struck. These modern rings did not make ringers suitable to become members of their Ancient Society.
Some pcople had asked him what were the qualifications for a ringer. He thought a ringer must have a little knowledge of music so far as rhythm was concerned; then he must have a knowledge of mathematics if he was going in for composition, and he used to say they required a little muscle, but he did not think with these modern rings of bells that that was necessarily a quality he much regretted.

He was sorry there was no service hefore the dinner. He was wondering if on future occasions the officers of the Society would arrange for a service to be held at Cornhill or one of the City churches. In coupling Mr. Peck's name with the toast, Mr. Lewis said he did not think that it was possible to find a better man to succeed the late Mr. Cockerill.

Mr. A. B. Peck, who responded, assured Mr. Lewis that the holding of a service previous to the dinner received their deep consideration. They did consider going to Southwark, where there was an evensong at 5 p.m. but on the last occasion they were placed in the choir and the Provost was so delighted to see them that they did not get away until after 6 o'clock
During the year they had held 12 business meetings and 47 practices. Besides the usual towers they had visited Liverpool, Waltham Abbey, South Croydon, where they made 14 new members, Rotherfield, Holloway, Fulham, Clapham Park and St. George's. Southwark.

NEW MEMBERS

During 1952 they made 55 new members, viz.: David North and C. J. Stevens (Wellington), W. Stevens (Tiverton). F. Varty (Wallasey), ton), W. Stevens (Tiverton). F. Varty (Wallasey), F. R. H. Scott (Slough), R. F. G. Holmes, F. A. White. H. C. White and F. White (Appleton), P. Walker (Radley), G. J. Hearns (Checkendon), C. E. Lewington and J. Rampton (Reading), P. S. Davis, J. Relf, J. Hayward (Croydon), H. C. Weaver (Goring-by-Sea). M. Jackson (Kingswood), A. Hatch (Cholscy), G. W. Massey (Frome), J. Thompson (Nuneaton), S. N. Bristow, F. W. Slocombe and G. J. Gammon (Wellington). H. Purchase (Wiveliscombe), R. W. Skinner (Chatham).
P. J. Woodgyer (Cranford). M. S. Cloke (Hawkhurst), A. W. T. Cleaver (Solihull), J. Martin Thorley (Doncaster), R. C. Ingram (Erdington), S. H. Dearden (Oldham). A. J. Phillips (St. Kea). H. J. The company then honoured those present who had been members of the Society for 50 or more years. These were: Messrs. R. Stannard ( 62 years). E. A. Young and I. Emery ( 61 ), W. T. Elson (60), W. H. Pasmore (57). C. Fenn (56), G. N. Price and A. D. Cullum (55), E. G. Fenn (54). J. S. Hawkins. H. Hodgetts and A. B. Peck (51), A. A. Hughes (50).
Apologies for absence were received from Mr. C. Roberts, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Messrs. G. R. Newton (who wrote that he attended his first dinner in 1901) Albert Walker, Roland Fenn. W. Shepherd. W. H. J. Hooton, R. T. Newman (who is in hospital at Hitchin for a gastric ulcer) and A. J. sympathy and wishes for a speedv recovery are to be sent to the last two named Finally, Mr. Peck expressed the Society's indebtedness to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes for permitting their meetings to be held at their home. -They took us in and fed us during the war.' said Mr. Peck, 'and we still go there, and it is largely due to that that we are going from strength to swength.

> LOSSES BY BY DEATH

The company stood as Mr. Peck read out the list of members who had died during the year: George Flintham. Lincoln: Henry G. Miles, Kensington: G. H. Huxley. Bromley: A. W. Brighton, Forest Gate: Dr. J. C. E. Simpson, Chester:' S. J. Hector, Trowbridge: T. Miller, Mitcham: A J. Corrigan. Bristol: Conor O'Brien. Dublin: Thomas $F$. College Youths' Dinner-Cont.
Beckwith, Coggeshall ; Fred and George Howchin, Norwich; Arthur Wiggins, Caversham.
A number of other ringers were also remembered, among whom were William Keeble, Leytonstone; Chatles F. Bailey, Leiston; A. King, Victoria, B.C.; E. Curry. New Zealand; and R. H. McDonald, Sydney.

Mr. A. A. Hughes submitted the toast of The Visitors and Kindred Societies, and said they had always had at their dinners a very good assembly from all parts of the country. They were practically all College Youths and they were delighted to see them and hoped they would continue to grace their annual feasts for many years to come.
Mr. G. H. Cross, the Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, who was the first to respond, was introduced by the Master as one of his oldest ringing friends. Referring to the Howchin brothers, of Norwich, Mr. Cross said they had much to do with his early ringing. George was quiet and said very little; ing. George was quiet and said very little;
Fred was just the opposite. and if they went out with a band of ringers and anybody did not strike to Fred's standard they soon heard about it. He was not diplomatic either

Although I am not a College Youth, continued Mr. Cross, 'I feel in spirit I am one of them because they are some of my best friends, including your Master. 1 had something to do with his ringing in the early days and I think you have in him an ideal man for the job.'
He congratulated Mr. Alexander Young on his hooklet on James R. Haworth and in including in it the Song of the College Youths of James Dwight. He remembered reading those words when a boy about 1894 and was particularly struck with the verse concerning Matthew Wood, who rang the ninth. The lines went:-
Then who was that, that rang the ninth With so much skill and grace:
From the treble to the tenor,
You can't put him out of place:
Young ringers all take my advice,
Copy him you should;
Study well his attitude,
It's the famous Matthew Wood
He would commend that advice to all young ringers. If they saw a man who handled well try and copy him: they would then go in the right direction.

A CORONATION PEAL

Next year was Coronation year and he proposed that they get together and ring a peal with a band composed of six Cumberlands and six College Youths (applause).
Mr. Frederick Sharpe. Deputy Master of the Oxford University Guild also replied. It was a great joy, he said, not only to enjoy the excellent repast, but to meet their old friends of kindred ringing societies from all over the country.
He reminded the assembly that although the College Youths had a long history, the Oxford Society of Change Ringers was contemporary with them, but unfortunately in 1820 they lost their records. They knew that Richard Duckwood was contemporary with Fabian Stedman. Duckwood was the man who wrote the first book on change ringing and Stedman was the publisher. They would notice that on the title page the book was dedicated to the Noble Society of College Youths. There must have been. therefore, at that time in Oxford and Cambridge ringers who were practising the art of change ringing, and the book was a gift of those ringers to the College Youths.
The Rev. H. J. Fynes-Clinton, of St. Magnus' in his reply. said it must be the 18 th dinner of the Society that he had attended. As regards the bells of St. Magnus', they still lacked the money to recast four of the bells that were cracked. but Mr. Hughes son was placing a little hell so that it could serve as a clock bell and he rung for services.
Some years ago an American gentleman was crossing the Atlantic with his young boy from

CENTRAL COUNCLL MEETING  AT BOURNEMOUTH, 1953

Preliminary Notice

Headquarters for the Council's meeting at Whitsun, 1953 will be the Devonshire Hotel, Bournemouth. The whole of the accommodation (for 60 ) has been reserved for Council members and their wives
Members wishing to stay at headquarters are advised to book as soon as possible, stating what Association they represent (where appropriate). The charge is 25 s . per day inclusive (plus 10 per cent. service charge).
A further list of hotels will be published shortly. E. A. BARNETT, Hon. Sce. school. The ship encountered a great storm and a huge wave washed the boy over the side into the ocean. The next wave, however, hurled him back on to the ship and he was saved. In thankfulness for that the father built a tower and gave a carillon. The bells were made at the Whitechapel Foundry, and he (the speaker) went down to bless them. They were in communication with this gentleman in connection with restoration of the bells of St. Magnus', and he was interested in what they were trying to do.
Mr. Kenneth S. B. Croft submitted the toast of 'The Press.' He reminded the company that at one time there was a very grave danger of the Exercise not having a 'Ringing World.' He knew of the great part the late Mr. Rupert Richardson and other gentlemen played in securing the continuity of the publication.
The success of the contents of The Ringing World ' depended on their contributions. He had benefited from them and had two excellent meals of salmon as the result of an article written by his wife on the trials of a ringer's wife. It was evident that somebody enjoyed the articles.
Mr. T. W. White acknowledged the toast and on behalf of the Editorial Committee thanked those who sent donations with their peals and quarter peals. From this source they met the Editor's salary last month, which was a great help in balancing their accounts.

THE FRAGRANT MEMORY

The concluding toast, 'The fragrant memory of the Masters of 300,200 and 100 years ago, was submitted by Mr. E. A. Young. The Master of 300 years ago was Robert Roan. who was one of their most distinguished Masters and was a great composer. He was what they would call to-day an accountant and he worked in the King's household. They owed to him some of the rules that governed composition.
In 1782 they had Christopher Pinchbeck There were two Pinchbecks, father and son, and they were clock makers. They were concerned with the son, who invented a metal named 'Pinchbeck,' an imitation gold. He had a business in Cockspur Street and King George III. patronised him. He made a clock which was in Buckingham Palace, and he had received permission to take a photograph of it which he would present to the Society. He joined the College Youths in 1733 and was steward in 1742: He did not appear to have rung any peals.
One hundred years ago they had James Dwight. who describes himself in his song of the College Youths:-

Now I think I have spun out pretty well And have but little to relate.
Excepting that the tenor
It was two tons one hundredweight
A wheelwright rang it without help,
You can let the whole world know it,
Tis he who chimes these dogrell rhymes, Jimmy Dwight, the Poet.
The Master thanked Mr. Young for his research and also for his gift of the pamphlet of James Robert Haworth, a copy of which was presented to each member of the company.
Tunes on handbells were given by the Thain brothers. members of the Society.

BELLS GIVE WARNING OF TOWER ABLAZE

A warning which could be heard all over the district was given by the bells of Beckford Church, Worcs, ringing as the roof of the central tower of this Norman church caught fire on October 28th.

Burning timbers from the roof fell into the bell chamber and destroyed the stays of some of the bells, causing them to swing down and ring.

Attempts by the Vicar (the Rev. W. G. B.

 Snell) and helpers to fight the fire with an extinguisher before the arrival of the fire brigade were of no avail. They reached the ringing chamber, but could get no further. Blazing debris were falling from the belfry to the floorAll they could do was to spray the floor and ceiling.Firemen from Evesham and Pershore fought the flames from below before mounting the roof. Water cascaded through three floors of the tower and on to the floor of the church and damaged the organ.

Serious damage was confined to the tower roof, which was burnt away, and the floor of the belfry was also slightly damaged. The tower structure has not been affected. Beckford has six bells, dating from 1669, and these did not fall
The day previous to the fire plumbers with blow lamps had been repairing cracks in the lead covering the tiled roof. Firemen are under the impression that the roof had been smouldering all night.

MAJOR HESSE WEEK-END

The annual gathering at Wrington in memory of Major J. H. B. Hesse was held on October 18th. Proceedings opened with an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples at Long Ashton on the Friday evening. which was lost after an hour's good ringing.
The usual peal was rung at Wrington on Saturday afternoon, this being a 5,021 of Grandsire Caters, composed by Mr. J. Topp, brought round in three hours and 18 minutes. Mrs. Hesse then entertained the ringers to a fine tea, and Mr. Knight announced that he had received letters of apology for absence from Messrs. Stafford Green, C. H. Dobbie. E. J. Taylor and A. A. Hughes.
Mr. H. J. Sanger, in a short speech, said that it was good to remember such people as John Hesse, who was not only a good ringer but also a good striker. He felt that Major Hesse would have shown up well in regard to the 'quiz' which had appeared on the front of the current issue of 'The Ringing World.' Mr. Sanger thanked Mrs. Hesse for her hospitality, and she suitably replied, saying how quickly these annual gatherings seemed to come round.
The company included the Vicar of Wrington (the Rev. A. C. A. C. Talbot), Mesdames Knight. Massey and Thomas and Messrs. T. Brice, E. Chivers, L. Derrick. J. Dyke. T. Kimber, W. Kingcott, H. Knight, Massey ${ }^{\text {A. }}$ A. Reeves. H. Sanger and J. Thomas. M. J. H.

SPECIAL METHODS FOR MEETINGS

Dear Sir,-In keeping with the editorial of October 24th, may I commend the Bedfordshire Association in announcing a special method to their members? If secretaries of associations were to announce what methods were to be attempted at the following meeting worthy members would come prepared, and more satisfaction would be derived from the practioe. By such means a systematic procedure would be established, infinitely preferable to the haphazard and uncertain operations which at present frequently occupy the time allowed for practice.
This, I think, would greatly improve the atmosphere in the belfry and standard of performance. It would also cope with, to quote from the article concerned. 'the type of ringer whose sole object is that of experimenting with methods of which he has little or no knowledge. -Yours faithfully.
F. R. H.-S.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE SALLY AND A 6ft. 11in. RINGER
Dear Sir,-In these days of record peals, fantastic Surprise methods and big tenors, fame is, indeed, hard to achieve We see claims for first peals, longest peals, fastest peals, heaviest peals. hundreds of peals, thousands of peals; we even have claims for youngest ringers, oldest ringers-and now, tallest ringers. At last, thank goodness, Heston (Middlesex) is in the running for fame; one of our band, Mr. John Moore. standing 6 ft . 11 in high

As regards moving boxes to make ringing more comfortable, I am afraid that none of our bells are heavy enough to warrant the use of a box, so we are forced to have our sallies fairly high. The only satisfactory long-term policy appears, however. for all potential young ringers to take up smoking whilst still of tender years !-Yours faithfully
J. B. SANSOM

Southall.

SIX O'CLOCK PRACTICE MEETINGS IN THE CITY

Dear Sir,-l fully endorse Mr. Bishop's suggestion for regular practices in the City and West End, as I have felt for some time that ringers working in these areas should have an opportunity of attending meetings in the many churches where ringing is now possible.

In fact, I have been on the point of enquiring whether such practices could be arranged, as I think that, with proper organisation, it would even be possible to arrange a series of lunch-time practices, as this would give City workers an opportunity of hearing change ringing, and would, I think, attract the attention of the general public; after all, many attend lunchtime concerts.
Further, Coronation year is almost upon us, and it would, I feel, be a great thing if the Exercise could bring these time-honoured rings into the fullest possible use during this period.

May I suggest that you publish a short list of the rings available, and if, as Mr. Bishop suggests, there are sufficient ringers working in these areas to take an active interest in this admirable project, approaches could be made to the incumbents concerned.-Yours faithfully,
R. E. SWANN.

Royston, Herts.
Dear Sir,-I heartily endorse the suggestion made by Mr. F. D. Bishop in his letter published in 'The Ringing World' of Octaber 24th, and I am convinced that for every learner who has read the letter and expressed his approval to you, there must be many who may not go to the trouble of doing so. but would be amongst the first to avail themselves of the facility.
And what of all those who are not numbered amongst your readers who work in the City or West End? Unfortunately, there are a number of captains in the London environs who take 'The Ringing World,' but tell their ringers who are not subscribers little or nothing of the various meetings and other items of general interest unless specially requested to do so-and then not always.
The degree of support which may be expected from any such learners is, therefore, largely dependent on the co-operation of their local captain, but regardless of this aspect I do feel that if only one church were made available in the City or West End for 6 p.m. ringing it would be so overcrowded on the first night that additional towers would soon have to be opened up to cope with the overflow.

LEARNER.
[NOTE.-We should be pleased to hear of any tower available at 6 p.m.-Ed.]

BRIGHTER BELFRIES

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. R. I. Shepherd's letter, 1 feel that some, on reading his remarks, will caustically ask, 'Why not look to the bells?' They are the main consideration, and this attitude is, of course, right ; but if the bells are in the best possible order I quite agree with Mr. Shepherd's views.
Eighteen monthts ago at St. George's. Camberwell, we had a spring clean, the ceiling and the top of the walls were whitened, the lower walls and woodwork were painted. the peal boards were cleaned, varnished and, in two cases, rewritten. The effect is remarkable. We now know and can read casily that the first peal on the bells in 1823 was rung before the church was completed, that in 1833 one of the Shipway's peals (mentioned by Trollope in his 'Stedman ' (page 108) was rung in our tower, in 1876 8,864 Kent Treble Bob Major, largest extent with tenors together to be rung in London upto that time, was performed on our bells

Our belfry is swept. dusted, washed out, etc., regularly and one is proud to welcome visitors as one would be to one's home, I, personally, feel that learners appreciate the clean surroundings and, possibly, they are held longer than would be the case in a dingy atmosphere.
My best wishes to you. Mr. Shepherd. I hope that you succeed in your redecoration. and that others follow your example.-Yours faithfully,

Camberley, S.E. 5

SUNDAY OUTINGS

Dear Sir,-I think that many ringers will not favour the idea that the ringers at St. Mary's, Scarborough, adopted. that is, of holding a ringers' outing on a Sunday. Surely the day that is set aside for praise to God is hardly suitable for chasing around the country 'towergrabbing.' There is no mention, either, that the party went to church. although they rang for morning service at Helmsley. This is the kind of thing that increases the talk about ringers calling other people to worship and not going themselves. Also, as they have no bells of their own at the moment, surely that is the time to show their incumbent and the other parishioners that they don't merely ring the bells on Sunday for their own enjoyment, this being best done by being in their places (dare I say as usual?) for divine worship.
All Sunday service ringing should be performed to the glory of God, whether it be rounds, call changes or change ringing.-Yours truly,

South Brent. Devon.

TETBURY'S FOUR ROUNDS BROADCAST

Dear Sir.-I should like to enter an emphatic protest against the disgraceful recording of the Tetbury bells on the Home Service on October 26th. The B.B.C. actually announced them in the 'Radio Times.' which is rather unusual now, but on tuning in. one heard exactly four rounds, before being cut off. This is, in the writer's opinion, a deliberate insult both to these fine bells and to the pcople who rang them. who had probably been to considerable trouble in arranging to broadcast-and is, in the writer's opinion, typical of the supercilious and lofty indifference and of the bad manners which the B.B.C. display towards the ringing art. One has understood that a period of two to three minutes has been generally agreed upon-in this case it was literally about three seconds. Yours. etc.,
J. LEWIS COCKEY

London W. 13.

THE APPLICATION TO RING

Dear Sir,-I am sorry if, inadvertently. my article of September 26th may have given the impression that permission for ringing should be given by the chief ringer without reference to the incumbent.
Certainly the incumbent's permission must be obtained, but I intended to convey, and about this I am quite unrepentant, that the proper person to seek the incumbent's permission is the representative of the local ringers, and for this reason the initial approach by a would-be visiting party should be to the local ringers rather than direct to the incumbent.
It is all very well for the vicar of a parish to say he gives permission to visitors and informs his chief ringer afterwards, but if I were the chief ringer I would be tempted to make the following comments to the vicar:-
(1) I suppose you will meet the visitors on their arrival and hand them the key to the belfry.
(2) I suppose you will go up and pull the clock chimes off and make sure none of the bells are lashed or that there are any obstructions.
(3) I suppose you will look over the ropes and do any necessary splicing and oil the bearings of the bells so that the visitors will be able to enjoy their visit without incident or mishap.
(4) I suppose you will go along after the visitors have left and make sure the clock chimes have been put on again, all lights put out, and the belfry door locked

Again, it is all very well for a country vicar to issue an open invitation to all and sundry to come along and ring his bells, but he must realise that in very many towers ringing must be severely curtailed. There may be a hospital nearby, or the district may be thickly populated, or the church may stand in a shopping or business area of a town. In all such places careful consideration has to be given to any request for the use of the bells.

Can you imagine the feelings of a ringer at such a tower going along to the vicar to say, - May I arrange a peal to mark the fiftieth anniversary of my confirmation?' only to be told, 'I am very sorry, but I have already told a party from so-and-so that they can come for a peal on the Saturday before your date so $I$ am afraid I shall have to say no to you.'
There is nothing fanciful about all this. The incident at Cranborne earlier this year, as far as can be judged from the correspondence in 'The Ringing World,' occurred because, much against his better judgment. the incumbent gave permission for the ringing which caused the offence without reference to his own ringers. Again, where the various university societies began to find a new and larger existence in the years following the ban their enthusiasm ran away with them (excusably, no doubt), and they found it a useful thing from their point of view to write to the incumbent on college notepaper. This resulted in some instances in permission being given because the incumbent was at the same college, although he normally refused other ringers. (One gladly acknowledges that such incidents appear to have ceased now that the university people are adding such strength and lustre to the ordinary associations.)
It is all very well to be righteously indignant about alleged discourtesy to an incumbent. but the ringers who ring Sunday by Sunday are entitled to their courtesies as well. Fortunately, however, a very good understanding usually exists between the ringers and their incumbents. I was talking to a ringing captain only the other day whose rector had told him not to bother about getting permission for visitors provided there would be nothing on in the church. I may add that it is not to be concluded that the rector is careless or negligent of his responsi-bilities--he merely knows that he can rely on the good judgment of his own ringing captain -Yours faithfully.

SNOWDON COMMEMORATION DINNER

YORKSHIRE'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE EXERCISE

THE irresistible charm of the city of York, opportunities to ring on the Minster bells, good fare (both solid and liquid) and a pervading air of genuine friendliness all combined to make the Snowdon Dinner, on October 26th, a most pleasant function.

The chair was taken by the president of the Yorkshire Association (the Ven. C. O. Ellison) who was supported by the Lord Mayor of York (Alderman C. W. Wright), the Dean of York (the Very Rev. Eric Milner-White), Mr. P. J. Johnson (vice-president) and Mr. L. W. Morris (secretary). The chairman announced that apologies had been received from Mr. E. H. Lewis, the Archdeacon of York, the president of the Lancashire Association. Mr. Earnshaw. Mr. G. Horner, Miss Margaret E. Snowdon and Mr. W. Barton.

The toast of 'Church and State' was proposed by Mr. P. J. Johnson who referred to the happy relations now existing between the civic and the Minster authorities at York It had not always been so, for on one occasion a dispute between the Dean and the Mayor had necessitated a special visit by King Richard II. to settle the matter. On that occasion the King presented the city with a sword which was to be borne before the Mayor on ceremonial occasions.

THE OLD FOUNDRIES

Whenever he (Mr. Johnson) came to York he always made a point of going to see the bellfounders' window in the Minster. There were at one time two old bell foundries in the city, one belonging to Richard Tunnoch (whom the window commemorates) and Smith's bell foundry. He had often tried to find the exact location of these foundries but without success
He thought it should ever be borne in mind that one of the main tasks of the Church in the past had been the provision of Education, and he hoped the Church would continue to stress that the formation of character was more important than the making of money. Mr. Johnson paid a tribute to the Dean of York. who was so energetically tackling the ..work of restoration at the Minster. He reminded the audience that it was their duty to sumport the Church in the work it had to do in these diffcult times.
The Dean, in reply, said he was thankful that he had not on that occasion received such a ' warm ' welcome as that given to his predecessor, Dr. Foxley Norris, in that room many years ago. when a waiter inadvertently tipped four plates of hot tomato soup down his back!
He thought they would be interested to hear that be had once designed a bell. This was in connection with a stained glass window where they desired to represent the New Jerusalem descending on the City of Southampton. The bell was named 'Felicity
The Dean spoke of the function of bells and said next year they would play a big part in connection with the Coronation and would express the nation's joy.
The toast 'The late Jasper W. Snowdon and Past Officers of the Yorkshire Association ' was proposed by Mr. J. F. Smallwood. He said that ringers had once been described as being 'consistent in their inconsistency.' For instance, in Yorkshire they preferred to ring Treble Bob in the Kent variation-and in Kent they preferred to ring Treble Bob in the Oxford variation. In some parts of the country they preferred ropes with one sally-in another (he would not say which) they preferred ropes with two! All. however were unanimous in agreeing they owed a great debt to the work of the late Jasper Snowdon, first president of the Yorkshire As sociation.

SNOWDON'S GREAT CONTRIBUTION

Jasper Snowdon was born in 1844 and was a keen athlete-once having walked from Leeds to London in five days. He (the speaker) preferred to think that it was after this walk he joined the Ancient Society of College Youthsthat was in 1872. The books which Jasper Snowdon wrote have been mainly responsible for the standard of ringing as known to-day and they were still authoritative.
During his short lifetime (he died at the age of 41) he rang no less than 129 peals. He saw the need for practical as well as theoretical instruction and he filled that need. The College Youths thought very highly of him and on his death the Master of that day, Mr. J. Martin Routh, wrote:-

What though the deeds in which he played his part
Are not inscribed on England's Roll of Fame As long as future ages prize our Art,
So long, shall reverence be for Snowdon's name.'
The work which Jasper had commenced was continued by his brother William, who became president and was in turn carried on by his daughter, Margaret E. Snowdon, who was still with them and working on their behalf. It was gratifying that the Central Council at Lincoln this year bestowed on her its highest honour, viz., life membership of the Council in recognition of her services to the Exercise
Another great figure in the Yorkshire Association was William Horncr Howard. who took an active part in its formation and was made a vice-president. He was for 68 years a ringer at York Minster and took part in the last peal on the old bells when he and two others rang the tenor
Other great names that came to mind were those of Charles Jackson, of Hull, one of the finest conductors of Grandsire the Exercise has ever known; Charles Henry Hattersley. of Sheffield, who gave them the simple turning course for Stedman Cinques; James Cotterill, for many years treasurer: Canon Marshall, president for 35 years: Gcorge Bolland. a famous six-bell ringer, who was ringing multimethod peals of Minor before splicing was heard of; Harry Williams of Leeds, a fine man and a splendid ringer. All thesc men had served the Association and the Exercise well and they were proud to honour their memory.
The toast of "Visitors and Kindred Societies ' was submitted by Mr. H. Walker (president of the York Minster Society), who said in spite of the counter-attractions of the opening of a new ring of twelve bells at Liverpool Parish Church and the 40th anniversary of the Ladies Guild at Leicester, they had with them a number of distinguished visitors and representatives of kindred societies.
After welcoming the Lord Mayor, the Dean and the Rev. J. McMullen. Sacrist at the Minster, Mr. Walker referred to the presence of Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, who represented the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Editorial Committee of 'The Ringing World.' Making an appeal for greater support of 'The Ringing World,' he said more postal subscribers were required and bulk orders were cheaper than individual ones. At York they got eight copies delivered to one address and the cost (Yorkshire ringers please note) was no more than purchasing through a newsagent. but the committee benefited considerably as distributors and newsagents' profits were saved. Among the other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Park. M. Rowland Park and Miss Margaret Fidell (Durham and Newcastle Association) Mr. and Mrs. Lathbury and Miss Shorter (Surrey Association), Mr. Rishworth (St. Martin's Guild) and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Raddon (Lancashire Association).

CLATTERBANGERS

Although the Ladies' Guild had a counterattraction at Leicester, he was glad to see so many 'Clatterbangers,' as they were called in Leicestershire, with them. Incidentally for the first time in history they had ladies as bellringers in York Minster. Miss Reeves joined the Society twelve months ago and Miss Kingdom had recently come to live in York from Chester. The Chester Diocesan Guild could be said to be represented by Miss Kingdom as she had not yet had time to join the Yorkshire Association. The Lord Mayor, in thanking Mr. Walker for his kind welcome, said from what he had seen of bellringing be thought it should be registered as a 'dangerous occupation.' He thought bellringers were born - not paid ! He had tried to qualify as a ringer by ringing the fire bell that day, but was proud to think that he had been successful in ringing one of York City's bell(e)s!
Mr. Lathbury, of Walton-on-Thames, re sponded for the kindred societies.
The toast of 'Continued Prosperity of the Yorkshire Association' was proposed by Mr . W. Norman Park, of Darlington. He said that the Association had been well served by its officers, and the formation and maintenance of such a great organisation with its vast territory and variety of industries reflected to the credit of the officers
Mr. L. G. Morris (secretary) responded and said that the Association now had 1.592 members. It had only had four presidents since 1875. The officers were greatly helped by the intense loyalty of the members.
Although Yorkshire possessed five rings of twelve bells, it had only been possible to ring peals on four of them-the notable exception being that of York Minster. He hoped that in connection with the Coronation celebrations this omission might be put right.
Mr. G. Benfield, of Pudsey. submitted the toast of ' The Chairman,' and the president, in replying paid a tribute to Mr. H. Walker who had so ably organised that gathering. He had worked very hard for a long time to ensure its suceess.
Musical items were given by Mrs. D. Bowles and Messrs. S. H. Steel, F. Horner, L. Wright J. Worfolk and K. Ward.

A course of Grandsire Caters was rung by John Ambler, E. W. Critchley, P. J. Johnson, L. W. G. Morris and S. Palmer

The company included Mr. and Mrs. Braithwaite, Mr. and Mrs. A. Chapman. Mr. and Mrs. H. Forden. Mr. and Mrs. G. Jones. Mr and Mrs. P. J. Johnson. Mr and Mrs. R. Lath hury, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs, H. Morley. Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Park. Mr. and Mrs. C. Raddon, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ricketts, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sellars. Mr. and Mrs. H. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Williams.
Messrs. J. Ambler. G. Benfield. F. Bishop, J. E. Cawser, D. Chapman. A. Cole, W. E. Critchley. F. Darbourne. J. W. Gihson, J. L.
Gilbert. E. Hudson. G. Jackson. R. W. G. Morris, R. and K. Park. S. F. Palmer F. W. Rishworth. E. Short, P. Speck. T. Southwick, B. Sutton. W. H. Taylor, J. Turley. A. H. Walker and E. Wilson.
Mesdames Reeves and S. H. Steel The Misses A. Abbey, N. Bickerdike, M. Fidell. S. M. Kingdom, W. E. Shorter, P. Reeves and M. Shearsmith

HESTON RINGERS

Heston ringers. their friends and wives had half-days outing through Berkshire and Oxfordshire on October 4th. Ringing took place at Henley, East Ilsley (where there was also tea at the Crown and Horns Hotel. and Mr. W. Hibbert met the party), and St. Helen's. Abingdon. Thanks are expressed to Mr. John Sansom for arranging such an enioyable outing and to the incunbents and steeplekeepers for the use of the bells.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD'S JUBILEE DINNER  Happy Relationship With Three County Associations

On June 27th last, the East Grinstead and District Guild attained its silver jubilee and to celebrate the occasion a dinner was held at East Grinstead on October 11th. The bells were available from 4 o'clock and ringing up to Cambridge Major was enjoyed. An excellent meal was served at the Glanfield Hotel. Everyone was pleased that the Guild's president (the Rev. Dr. G. Golding-Bird) was able to preside over the proceedings in his own inimitable way and act as toastmaster.
After the president had proposed the loyal toast Mr. B. W. White (general secretary, Sussex County Association) submitted "The East Grinstead and District Guild.' He spoke of the good work that had been and was still being performed by the Guild; also of the excellent relations between Guild and county, hoping this state of affairs would continue for many years.
In reply, Mr. E. J. Ladd (chairman of the Guild) thanked Mr. White for his kind remarks and said how pleased he was that the dinner had been such a success, as it had been his idea
Mr. C. A. Bassett (Guild secretary) proposed the health of 'The Visitors.' He said that being a visitor was one of the nicest things about ringing. They all knew the feeling about entering a strange tower and not knowing a soul, but as soon as the person was known to be a ringer he was made to feel at home. He endorsed Mr. White's remarks about the friendly relations between the Guild and the three county associations over whose territory the Guild operated, and was pleased to see as guests Mr. B. W. White of the Southern Division and Mr G. Jennings of the Northern Division, Sussex Association, Mr. J. W. Knight, Surrey Association, and Mr. B. Pankhurst, of the Tonbridge District, Kent Association. He regretted that Mr. P. Rollison of the Eastern Division, Sussex County Association, was prevented from coming owing to his wife's indisposition.
Mr. G. Jennings replied, thanking the Guild for their hospitality.

The chairman then read a greetings telegram from the Tonbridge District. Kent Association, wishing the Guild continued success
Mr. A. F. Wellington (Guild treasurer) proposed 'The President and Organisers.' He spoke of the hard work of the dinner subcommittee, especially Miss K. Shepherd, and went on to say how fortunate the Guild were in having such a man as Dr. Golding-Bird as president. It was a coincidence that this year Dr. Golding-Bird had celebrated his silver jubilee as Vicar of East Grinstead.
Mr . Wellington mentioned how easy it was for one to take up ringing in these days compared with 50 years ago, when one could sit in the belfry all the evening and never be asked to have a ring. He thought that the youngsters of to-day had every opportunity to learn especially with a Guild like theirs.

The president replied with a few well-chosen words thanking ringers for their unstinted labours for the Church, saying that he would always be pleased to do anything that he could for therm.
The rest of the time was spent as a social evening, the company being entertained by Mr. Ernest Simms, who sang and accompanied himself on the accordion. and later introduced the high spot of the evening, Mr. George Creasey, as East Grinstead's new district nurse.

In addition to the president and guests, those present were. E. J. Ladd, A. F. Lewry, A. F. Wellington. A. Relfe. A. Laker, C. A. Bassert,
Mr. and Mrs. A. Turley, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mr . and Mrs. A. Turley, Mr. and Mrs. R.
Wood. H. and M. Oakshett. D. Divall, E. Jenner, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hancock. Mr. and Mrs. R. Collins, Mrs. and Miss Colgate, Miss Golding. A. L. Ryman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Manser, L. Honess. Mr. and Mrs. S. Ponting, W. Morland and Miss Shepherd.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of Nov. 8th, 1912 WORSLEY, LANCASHIRE The Lancashire Association
On Thursday, October 31st, 1912, in 3 hours and 13 minutes
At the Church of St. Mark
A PEAL OF STEDMAN TRIPLES, 5,040 CHANGES
Carter's No. 10.
Tenor 21 cwt .1 qr .14 lb .

* First peal in any method. The company think it reflects great credit on the bell founders when a youth of 16 years can ring a peal on a tenor of over a ton weight without being unduly exhausted.
[And, equally, great credit on the ringer. Since this auspicious beginning, Mr. Ridyard has become one of the leading conductors in the North of England.]

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, was the venue for the autumn meeting of the Society on October 18th. Ringing during the afternoon and evening on the fine ring of ten bells (tenor 28 cwt .) was under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. Maurice Turner). The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. Price) and St. Paul's organist (Mr. Cox) was at the organ. In his address Mr. Price stressed the point that if ringers were really doing their ringing for the glory of God, then there would be very few unoccupied ropes for service ringing each Sunday.

An excellent tea was served in St. Paul's Institute to which 45 sat down. Mr. B. G. Key and his helpers are to be congratulated on providing such a good meal.
In his remarks after tea, Mr. Fred Bennett pointed out that if other bands who had meetings coming off at their towers would only try and emulate the Burton ringers in providing tea, the cost would be considerably less than that charged by outside caterers. He mentioned about the forthcoming dinner at Wednesbury on November 15 th and said he hoped all members of the Society would give their support.

ISLE OF WIGHT RINGERS TOUR

Isle of Wight ringers went 'foreign' on September 27 th and visited the mainland. Ringing took place at Lyminster, near Littlehampton, Bolney in Mid-Sussex, Buckland, Wisborough Green (where the visit coincided with the church fete and the visitors entered a tug-of-war team, but the horizontal pull was not their idea of a 'piece of cake ') and Petersfield with its light staircase. The last boat was caught back to Ryde, after a day of full enjoyment. Ringing throughout the day was not brilliant and ranged from rounds to an unsuccessful attempt at Cambridge Minor.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GULD

The six-bell tower of Souldern was selected for the quarterly meeting of the Bicester Branch on October 25 th. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. Hugh Benson (vice-president) and the lesson read by Mr. F. Sharpe. The Rev. C. Cowland Cooper (branch president) preached.

Members of the Mothers' Union provided an excellent tea. Business transacted included the election of Miss Elizabeth Sharpe, daughter of Mr. F. Sharpe, as a member, selecting Caversfield with Bicester for the next meeting on January 31st and thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Canterbury District

The annual meeting of the Canterbury District was held in Canterbury on October 18th. Ninety members and friends were present, coming from 24 of the 34 affiliated towers in the district. Ringing during the afternoon was held at St. Stephen's, St. Dunstan's and St. Alphege's prior to the service, which was held in the latter church, being conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. Magraw)
Tea being disposed of, members settled down to the business meeting. The secretary's report showed that there had been a drop of 11 in total membership (this loss is now six). The large number of honorary members had been retained, 47. Six meetings had all been well attended, an average of 52 being present. Tower representation had been 16 . These figures prove the interest taken in the district and easily prove the great harmony that exists between the members. While not aspiring to the heights of Spliced Surprise, methods up to Cambridgo Major had been practised.
Mr J.. A. Russell, Birchington (chairman), Mr. B. J. Luck (secretary) and Messrs. H. R French and S. Walter (representatives) were ali re-elected on nomination. The Ringing Master was elected by ballot, Mr. W. S. Palin, Faversham, being chosen for this office. The officers were all thanked for their services during the past year, and Mr. R. G. French was thanked for his two years as Ringing Master.
Wingham outvoted Ospringe as the venue for the quarterly meeting. Mention was made of the social to be held in November, and a re commendation that the annual general meeting of the Association be held in Canterbury next year was passed.
Thanks were expressed to all the clergy in the city, these including the Dean and Chapter, by whose permission the Cathedral bells were available during the evening.

TOWER GRABBING IN SOMERSET

On a recent autumn Saturday afternoon the peaceful brown and gold tinted country lanes of Somerset were disturbed by an unusual amount of traffic. The mechanised squad was, in fact, a party of Bath and district ringers intent on a tower grabbing expedition. And let it not be thought this was merely a party of youths haring around the countryside bent on enlarging their lists of towers. Youth was certainly represented, and not least by 13 -year-old Ellis Lipyeat, but the presence of nigh on 80 -year-old Albert Baverstock ensured that age more than held its own.

Towers visited were Queen Charlton (5), Publow (6), Hinton Blewett (5), Litton (6), Paulton (6) and Priston (6). Three towers were grabbed before all ranks fell in for tea at the Ring of Bells, Hinton Blewett. A cordial welcome from mine hostess was followed by liberal offerings of country victuals which, needless to say, were appreciated to the 'full.'

The sixth and final tower of the day, Priston, was reached soon after $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and a good hour's ringing completed operations.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District at Royston

A most enjoyable and well-attended meeting was hetd at Royston by the Northern District on October 25th. A short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. E. D. Devonshire, whose sermon was most encouraging to all present. his theme being- We hath not chosen God, but God Almighty hath chosen us.' Tea was provided by the Vicar at the Corner Cafe.
At the business meeting the Vicar presided and three new members were elected, viz., R. Swann (Royston), G. Johnson (Stevenage), W. Bysouth (Barkway). It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Baldock on Saturday. November 29th, the special method being Duffield Major
E. G. B.

HERTFORD COUNTY  ASSOCIATION

Difficulties Over Finances
An extra-ordinary general meeting of the Hertford County Association was held in the ringing chamber of St. Peter's Church, St. Albans, on October 18th.
The hon. general secretary (Mr. H. V. Frost) opened the proceedings by referring to the death of the president (Mr. A. E. Symonds), and the members stood in silent tribute to the memory of an old friend. The meeting then approved the action of the committee in asking the immediate past president (Mr. T. Y. Southam) to act as president for the remainder of the term of office.

The hon. treasurer (Mr. G. W. Debenham) was then called upon for a financial statement. This showed that apart from the expenses incurred in the running of the Association and the amounts received from various sources so far this year, there were several large donations received already. Mr. Debenham enlarged on the bank statement and gave a rough idea of what it cost to run the Association per member. The committee had recommended that the annual subscription of ringing members be left at 2 s . 6d. for 1953, but that the position be reviewed during that year in view of the possible need for an increase. This met with the approval of the meeting.
It was proposed that the subscription for new non-resident life members be raised from five to ten shillings as from January 1st, 1953. This met with much opposition from Messrs. W. H. J. Hooton and C. W. Woolley on the grounds of little gain. After some discussion it was finally agreed that the matter be left over.
Mr. Cashmore requested more detailed information on the financial position and of the efforts being made to repay the loan of $£ 50$ which the Association had accepted at the annual meeting.
Reports from district secretaries present showed that at least $£ 50$ had already been raised by means of collections at district meetings, socials and donations from various towers.
Mr. C. W. Woolley asked if competitive estimates had been obtained for the printing of the annual report. The secretary replied that following resolutions from two of the districts he had obtained such estimates and had been instructed by the committee to accept the lowest.
A general discussion then followed on whether the next report be printed or 'duplicated.' The hon. secretary said he hoped to have the report printed in time for the annual meeting if he could get the co-operation of all concerned. Mr. Woolley proposed that the printing or otherwise of the report be left for the time being and that the matter be reviewed at the annual meeting. The motion was lost. Mr. Woolley then proposed that the report be in 'duplicated' form, but his proposal failed to find a seconder.
Mr. W. H. J. Hooton put forward several suggestions for cutting costs, such as fewer notices in "The Ringing World,' increasing the membership of ringing and honorary members, etc. Mr. H. G. Cashmore, who had given previous notice of alteration to Rule 2 , then proposed that the latter part of the rule be reworded so as to exclude resident ringing members from becoming life members. This alteration was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.
A proposal that the peal book be written at the expense of the Association was agreed to by a majority vote after some discussion. This closed the business and members adjourned for tea and ringing at the Cathedral and St . Michael's.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

Peals On Meeting Days

The October quarterly meeting was held at Monk's Kirby, near Rugby, on the 18th ult., over 40 members attending. One of Warwickshire's best octaves (tenor $24 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in D), housed in a magnificent tower attached to a large church, the building and the bells are out of all proportion to the size of the village. The ringing ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise in the tower and Grandsire and Stedman Caters on handbells. Tea was taken at the Denbigh Arms.
The business meeting followed presided over by the Master, Mr. F. W. Perrens. Apologies were received from the president (the Rev. R. R. P. Rigby), Messrs. J. White, F. H. Ashley and H. E. Ashley and Mrs. Hinde (hon. member). The place of the next meeting caused a vote to be taken as both Chilvers Coton and Warwick were proposed and seconded. Upon a show of hands Warwick was selected.
The matter of peals being arranged on meeting days was aired, the principal speakers being Messrs. J. L. Garner-Hayward. A. J. Hinde. L. Trevor, H. Webb, R. J. Edden, with the Master summing up voicing the general opinion that, unless local conditions decree otherwise, peals on meeting days must be discouraged.
Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. A. R. Jones) for the use of the bells, and to Mr. T. Pittham, the local captain for arranging the tea and having everything in readiness in the tower.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society held its October meeting at Pocklington in the old church of All Saints, which has a ring of six (tenor 16 cwt .). Although the tower was surrounded with scaffolding and repairs to the stonework were being carried out. ringing was able to take place without damage to the structure.
Standard methods were rung during the afternoon until service time. The Vicar of Pocklington, Canon Richardson, was away in York with a Missionary gathering. His place was taken by the Rev. G. Storer. R.D., who conducted the service in his stead.
Tea was taken in the Church Hall, a feast of home cooking, ably scrved by the ringers' wives. In replying to a vote of thanks at the end of the meeting, Mr. C. Bairstow spoke of the church restoration in progress, which. with the tower, included a new east window and two new bells to complete the octave. Unfortunately there are not sufficient funds to pay for the recasting of the existing six.
Further ringing took place until 8 p.m

CHESHIRE AND THE COLLEGE YOUTHS

LOOKED at through modern eyes, it is difficult to appreciate the attraction which ringing held for the men who formed the earliest societies, since it consisted for the most part in raising the bells with all speed, swinging them in rounds and lowering. Not until the invention of the sixes was the slightest intellectual element introduced. Yet these early ringers were men of high social standing and were in the real sense 'scholars,' having had the advantage of the best education of the day. Ringing attracted simply because it was considered a sport, a trial of strength, a new game for the young bloods of the 17th century.

The late Armiger Trollope added much to our knowledge of these pioneers when he compiled 'The History of the College Youths,' a fine piece of research which he carried out with characteristic skill. In it he emphasised the high social standing of the early members of the Society and showed how its first Master was in close contact with the Royal Court itself. This fact alone might have made young Lord Brereton an obvious choice for the Mastership whatever his capabilities as a ringer. Quite reasonably his interest in ringing has always been taken for granted, but some definite evidence of this interest can now be added.

A short distance from his home in the county of Cheshire there was a bell foundry. It was opened at Congleton in the early years of the 17th century by Henry Oldfield, of Nottingham, as a branch foundry and was the only foundry which has ever operated in the county. It was situated in a disused church built in the half-timber style at the end of the wooden bridge over the Dane. To this foundry the bells of Brereton were sent to be recast in 1634, and it seems clear that his lordship was instrumental in having this work done, for he was present to witness the recasting and was entertained by the town.

Payd to Peter Hodgkinson for one pottle of Sacke and one pottle of Claret wyne that was bestowed upon the Lord Brereton at the castinge of Brereton Bells...0. 4. 0.
A ' pottle ' represented two quarts, so that Lord Brereton's capabilities evidently extended to fields other than ringing! He was then 23 years of age and there can be little doubt that he was an experienced ringer when he became the first Master of the Youths in 1637.

Cheshire has a further link with the Society. At the beginning of the next century there was a flourishing company of ringers in the county who styled themselves 'The Chester Scholars.' They rang at St. John's Church in Chester and rented a room from the Weavers' Company as a meeting place. Known locally as the 'Gentlemen Bellringers,' they were much in the limelight in 1733 when they added two trebles to St. John's six and gave the city its first ring of eight. Several of their names were recorded on the new bells (which still exist in a modern turret), and it is more than likely that they were all members of the College Youths. One of them certainly took a prominent part in the Society's affairs. Watkin Williams joined in 1717 and, as Trollope records, was almost the last in the long line of country gentlemen who were associated with the Youths. He later became possessed of large estates in North Wales and added the name Wynn to his own. He was M.P. for Denbighshire and on various occasions Mayor of Chester and Oswestry, being created a baronet in 1740.

At the present time, when the thoughts of so many ringers are turned to the College Youths, Cheshire is proud to remember its past and present associations with so famous a society. J. W. C.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From 'The Ringing World' of November 15th, 1912

ODD CHANGES

The youthful members of Mr. Johnson's family at Hinton, Evesham, seem to take to ringing like ducks to water. Here we have three of them, whose ages, we believe, are 11. 13 and 10 , ringing a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on handbells. This was done on Monday week in 35 minutes: Ellen M. Johnson 1-2, Joseph D. Johnson (conductor) 3-4, Ruth Johnson (longest length) 5-6.

The name of Pye in the peal ringing world is not likely yet to be lost sight of. Indeed, we should be sorry to think that those famous brothers, William, Ernest and George R., were going to disappear for many long years yet. But now we have their nephews [sons of another brother, Alfred] reaching the greater heights of peal ringing. We record this week the first peal by L. A. Pye (aged 13) and W. A. Pye (age 17). It was Grandsire Triples at Romford, and their father and two uncles took part.

Mr. F. J. Lewis, hon. secretary of the Cirencester Bellringers' Association. writes that the B.B.C. have not approached them in regard to a broadcast of the bells of Cirencester for the Coronation. "Whatever you may have heard to the contrary is the result of "wishful thinking" at the moment. I am afraid, he adds, The statement we published appeared in a local newspaper which was forwarded to us by a correspondent.

Mr. T. F. Earnshaw, of Acocks Green, Birmingham, is the only survivor of the last peal rung on the bells of York Minster, 5,129 Grandsire Caters, on November 9th, 1892, in 3 hours and 35 minutes. On that occasion there were three men on the tenor. We hope to publish Mr. Earnshaw's notes on this peal later.

A correspondent reminds us that it was the Rev. Richard Duckworth, and not Duckwood. who was the contemporary of Fabian Stedman. See page 714.

The Chew Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Association held their bi-annual Corporate Communion followed by breakfast at Wrington on Sunday, October 26 th.

With the peal at Packwood. Warwickshire, on October 29th, Mr. Michael D. Staniforth has rung peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

Mr. J. M. Thorley, of Thorne, Yorkshire. and Mr. B. G. Warwick, of Leicester, have now both rung their 50th peal this year-the former at Birmingham Cathedral on October 30th, the latter at Gilmorton on October 31st. By a coincidence both were peals of Yorkshire Major.

On November 1st eight members of the Bath Abbey band rang a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Twerton-on-Avon, Bath. as a 90 th birthday compliment to Mr. Harry Brown, the composer of the peal rung. Although now retired from active service. Mr. Brown still takes a very keen interest in ringing. A founder member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, he was for many years conductor at the Abbey, and conducted the first peal ever rung on the ten. The band wish him many happy returns and continued good health and look forward to ringing the next birthday peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 Wilts, that rang for the broadcast on October 26th had an average age of 14 . They had had only eleven months' training by the tower captain, Mr. William Locke. This band was collected in an unusual manner. Mr. Locke was giving a lesson in bell control to Fred Mitchell when he heard a noise in the tower. He found nine boys who had been playing in the street had come to investigate. The boys became interested and seven of the nine joined the band. Mrs. Locke is training another six boys at Shipton Moyne Church.The loan advanced to the Hertford County Association was $£ 150$ and not $£ 50$ as mentioned on page 718 . The error is regretted.

Egham Parish Church Society of Bellringers have a target that every member should be a regular subscriber and reader of "The Ringing World.'
To those who have been anticipating the account of the Universities' Week at Nottingham, we have an assurance that the copy will reach 'The Ringing World' office in the course of the next few days.
The peal of Grandsire Triples at Harrietsham, Kent, was another stepping stone in the progress of the local band. Mr. A. Waddington, their instructor, had the satisfaction of seeing two of the band score their first peal on eight bells.
The many ringing friends of Mr. George Martin will regret to learn that he has been admitted to Maidenhead Hospital. He has been indisposed for several weeks and has been unable to take part in any ringing. We are sure that everyone will join us in wishing him a speedy recovery to good health. The peal rung at Boyne Hill on Saturday was the first one for many years in which George has not taken part.

LADIES' GUILD CELEBRATE 40th BIRTHDAY

LEICESTER PROVIDES 'BEST EVER DINNER ' - PIONEERS OF THE GUILD HONOURED - LADIES' SERVICES TO CENTRAL COUNCIL - MR. E. H. LEWIS DEFINES POLICY AS TO METHOD RINGING

6 HHE best dinner ever held ' was the verdict after the Ladies' Guild celebrated their 40th anniversary in Leicester on October 25th, and the Midland District are to be heartily congratulated on their efforts in arranging such a successful event.

The president of the Guild (Mrs. G. Fletcher) presided at the dinner and 130 members and friends thoroughly enjoyed a very happy evening.

Miss $S$, Thursfield, O.B.E.. submitted the toast of "The Church.' She stated that as the daughter of a clergyman she had plenty of opportunity of seeing the Church in action, and she stressed the point that the Church did not consist of clergy only; they were all part of the family. She suggested that other people in the parish would be interested in ringing if they knew more about it. Why not ask the incumbent to include an announcement about any ringing meeting with his notices of other parish events, and extend a welcome to all who cared to attend the Guild service?

The Lord Bishop of Leicester, the Right Rev. Guy Vernon.Smith, M.C., D.D., recalled occasions in his life when he had met various ringers who were present at the dinner, and went on to say how much he agreed with the idea of the family, which had been put forward by Miss Thursfield. Of course there would always be criticisms of the Church but they should never feel they had to apologise for it. They should be proud to belong to it and to play their part.

BY-PASSED LEICESTER

When Mrs. C. C. Marshall rose to propose the toast "The City of Leicester" she startled her audience by saying that until a few weeks ago she knew little of Leicester, and what she did know she did not like. She thought of it as a great industrial city, a vast expanse of buildings, traffic and policemen through which she tried to pass as quickly as possible and Was very relieved if she could by-pass it altogether. Since then she had found that Leicestogether. Since then she had found that Leicester was a very wonderful city, which had something of everything and, of coursc, all ringers knew that their policemen were wonderful!

In his reply, the Lord Mayor of Leisester (Alderman G. Barnelt) stated that during his term of office he had heard many toasts proposed to the City of Leicester, but never in such a charming fashion, nor had any previous proposer first revealed his inner thoughts as Mrs. Marshall had done. He understood, however, that she came from Lecds, and he would like to point out that Leicester was a city when one could still go across the meadows where Leeds now stood. He, went on to say that Leicester had many things of which to be proud, but he was not going to say anything about the Police Force because, as a lawyer, he had spent his life trying to get a living out of them and would have to return to that task when his term of office was over. His office was close to the Cathedral, and though he had a great respect for those who rang there, there were times when he found the bells trying, especially if he was working on a complicated legal document.

The toast 'The Ladies' Guild ' was proposed by Mr. H. J. Poole, who said it was a great honour and a great responsibility to have been given the privilege of proposing the toast which, on reflection, one would have expected to have been proposed by a lady. He was not sure where he came into it, but hoped he had not been asked because they thought him an "old woman. In a brief résumé of the early years of the Guild he mentioned such pioneers as Mrs. Fletcher (president), Miss

Steel (past president) and Mrs. White, all of whom were present at the dinner. Although ladies were not welcomed in the belfry in the early days, they had proved they could be as good ringers as the men, except perhaps on the heavy bells, and in some cases they had surpassed the men. He wished the Guild the very best of success and prosperity in the future.

Mrs. Fletcher responded and told how the Guild had been founded at a meeting, at St . Giles-in-the-Fields on October 26th, 1912, when 15 lady ringers were present. Since then they had had to work hard to get the Guild up to the present standard. Sir Arthur Heywood, whose two daughters had rung in peals before the Guild was founded, had been a great help and had given them a donation of $£ 10$ so that they should not start without funds. The first president was Miss Alice White, who held office for about four years. Then for a period there was a fresh president each year until in 1926 Miss E. Steel was elected and she remained president for 21 years and journeyed all over the country attending the majority of the meetings. Years ago the centre of ringing for the Ladies' Guild was London but now it had moved to Leicester, and she thanked Mrs. Staniforth for all the work she had put into organising the dinner.
LONG SERVICE TO CENTRAL COUNCIL
The toast "The Central Council' was proposed by Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, who explained how the Council was constituted and said that the Ladies' Guild was affiliated to it in 1915. the first representative being Miss E. Parker (now Mrs. Fletcher), who had served on the Council ever since. At this year's Council meeting she had been elected a life member as a token of appreciation for her long and faithful service. One of the most important things the Council had done in recent years was to take over the publication of .The Ringing World and it was up to every member to support this to the utmost. Mr. E. H. Lewis had been president of the Council for 22 years and Mr . Fletcher hon. secretary and treasurer for 21 years. The Ladies' Guild were honoured to have Mr. Lewis with them that evening.

Replying to the toast, Mr. Lewis said that since the last meeting of the Council there had been quite a bit of criticism and it was said that very little had been accomplished at Lincoln. They must not forget, however, the work throughout the whole year of the Council's committees. Judging by the sales of their publications, they must be doing a great deal of good all over the country. To those who complaincd of the quality of the Council he would point out that it was made up of individual members, and it was up to the affiliated Associations and Guilds to elect representatives who could express their ideas at the meeting. If the various Associations would get their members to put in resolutions to be discussed, it would be of great assistance to the Council. Mr. Lewis stressed the fact that young ringers should be taught to handle a bell properly before they were pushed into change ringing. He pointed out that the Council had no power to lay down the law as to what should or should not be rung, but they could recommend what they thought would provide the best music for the public, and in publishing their own analysis they had the power to exclude from that they had the power to exclude from that analysis the peals they thought should not be recorded there. but that did not exclude the fact that a peal had been rung.

Miss I. B. Thompson (vice-president of the Midland District) proposed the toast "The Visitors , and welcomed them to the dinner.

At their meetings it was usually her duty to ask the men to retire, but that night she was delighted to be able to say to them, 'Stay as long as you can.' There were too many visitors to mention individually, but she would like to give a special word of greeting to Mr. H. J. Poole, who, with Mrs. Poole, was celebrating his silver wedding anniversary. She also extended a special welcome to the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, who, in the midst of a very busy life, had managed to fit in the Ladies ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild dinner

BELLS AND ENGLISH LIFE

In her reply the Lady Mayoress said that prior to the dinner her only acquaintance with ringing and ringers had been through Miss Dorothy Sayers' book. She had thoroughly enjoyed Mrs. Hughes' delightful handbell solos but was afraid she would never be able to learn how to do it because she could never put anything back in its right place! She thought that one of the things most reminiscent of English life was the sound of the church bells and ringers were very lucky because their ' music-making' gave pleasure to so many.

The speeches were interspersed with handbell solos by Mrs. A. A. Hughes, for whom Mrs T. Lock acted as accompanist, and these were much appreciated.

A social evening then followed in the typical Leicester manner. The Guild would like to record its very grateful thanks to all who helped to make the evening such a success, including Mr. P. Staniforth who was a most efficient toastmaster, and, of course, the "President of the Supporters' Club,' who saw that everyone had an enjoyable evening and even organised a shuttle service afterwards so that all arrived home safely

PEAL SAVED IN DRAMATIC  FASHION

The occasion of the peal of Bob Major rung on the very hard-going bells of Alfreton, Derbyshire, Parish Cburch. on Saturday November 1st, was a memorable one for the ringers involved. The peal was well under way when the good lady who had been decorating the altar. having finished this duty, switched off all the lights in the church including the belfry light above, and then, despite the stamping of feet by two of the band. took her departure. At this moment the band were informed by the local member in the peal that the lady was very deaf. However, the band carried gamely on in the failing daylight. knowing full well that they would not be able to finish the peal unless someone happened to visit the church and realised their plight-a forlorn hope.
That 'someone 'came in the nick of time to save the peal. after an hour's ringing in semidarkness, in the persons of Mr. P. Whitaker. of Yorkshire, and Miss Kathleen Tivey, who had journeyed 14 miles from Derby, unknown to the band, to listen to the bells. On the discovery, by the ringers. of movement in the church below the attention of the two visitors was eventually attracted to the situation and they hurriedly found the switchbox. hidden away in a cupboard. By this time the belfry was nearly pitch black and in about five minutes the conductor would have had no alternative but to stand the bells.
Congratulations must be extended to the only local ringer in this peal. Mr. T. W. Hopson captain of this tower, who has been a ringer at the church for 50 y years but had never rung a peal on these bells, on which attempts have been few.

RECONSECRATION FESTIVAL AT LIVERPOOL

Favourable Comments on New Twelve at Parish Church

TIHE bells of the ancient Parish Church of Liverpool (Our Lady and St. Nicholas') are ringing once again-in fact they have heen rung on nearly every day of the fortnight-long reconsecration festival of the rebuilt church. which has just ended.
On Saturday, October 18th, at 3 p.In.. the Lord Bishop of Liverpool reconsecrated the church. After a penitential preparation, during which the Bishop and his procession encircled the church, the Bishop demanded entry, and the door was ceremonially opened by the Princess Royal.

First came the Blessing of the Processional Cross, then the three Assistant Bishops moved to their places for the dedication of the font (the Bishop of Warrington), the organ (the Assistant Bishop of Birmingham). and the bells (the Bishop of Plymouth).

After this the Bishop of Liverpool performed the solemn act of consecration from the sanctuary. and this was followed by a fanfare of trumpets, one minute of rounds on the bells. and the 150 th Psalm. The consecration and vesting of the altars followed and the service closed with the necessary legal business and a short scrmon from the Bishop.

Afterwards the bells were fired and kept going in a variety of methods for a couple of hours. The band were very pleased to welcome the Bishop into the tower and are proud that his is the first signature in the new visitors' book.

A FORTNIGHT OF SPECIAL RINGING

The next morning came the first celebration of Holy Communion in the new church when there were 320 communicants. The Bishop of Warrington concelebrated with the Rector and two curates. the Bishop facing westward. At the elevation of Host and Chalice, hesides the usual bells the Cunard Company has presented the church with a very fine ship's hell. which is being ased in the sanctuary) there werc fanfares of trumpets.
Throughout the fortnight of the Consecration Festival there have heen special services for various interests in the city and diocese and it has been possible to ring either hefore or after nearly every one of these services. The band wish to thank all those visitors who have come along and helped on these occasions. The ringing of the bells has created much public interest and attention in Liverpool and there have been many people who have been attracted by the bells and then have stayed to services.

For ringers. however. the highlight of the whole fortnight was on October 25th, when visitors from as far aficld as Dublin and Beckenham, Barrow and Birmingham. Glasgow and Derby. Coventry and Leeds. as well as many from nearhy districts, gathered in Liverpool. There were complete twelve-bell bands from Birmingham. from Lecds and from Cheshire (John Worth's band). There was ringing from 10.30 in the morning until 9 at night and on the whole it was of a high standard. standard

A FIRST-CLASS JOB

The general opinion of all who have heard the bells is that Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have done an absolutely first-class joh: in fact some ringers went so far as to say that the bells are second to none for their weight. The - go is perfect. of course, and the circle wellnigh perfect. The tone is magnificent--both inside and outside-and a particularly pleasing feature is the absence of undue hum. All the bells can be heard equally distinctly and the back bells do not overpower the smaller ones. The only small criticism is that the bells might with advantage be a trifle louder in the ringing chamber ; this, however, is a matter which can soon be put right.

The service, at 3.30 p.m.. was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Robert Nelson) who, in welcoming the ringers, said that he was sure they would be interested to know that most of the wood in the rood which now hangs above the sanctuary came from the old oak bellframe. The sermon was preached by the Rev. David Railton, a former Rector of Liverpool, who recalled the days of the blitz and the destruction of the old church. A single oak door saved the tower and hellis and he thought it was symbolic that English oak should have done that. He was sure that ringers would never forget the nature of their vocation and he pointed out what a wonderful start had been made to the ringing in the new St. Nicholas', when practically every member of the band had made his Communion at the first celebration. on October 191h. A collection was taken for the Bell Restoration Fund.

About 130 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent tea in Recee's Restaurant. Besides the Rector and churchwardens there were present Miss Obegi, the donor of the new ireble, and also the Rev. D. Railton and the Right Rev. J. C. H. How, another former Rector. After tea the Rector aqain welcomed all the visiting ringers-especially the gentleman who had come from Barrow, where he had come from, and the Dublin contingent. who had travelled overnight to be present and would do the same to get back again. He expressed the thanks of the Church to Taylor's for the wonderful work they had donc and for the generous terms on which payment is to be made. After the bells were installed the tower had been cleaned out and decorated by the local band, who wished to thank other ringers who had helped, and especially Mr. Tom Hesketh. Fr. Nelson also welcomed Miss Ohegi and pointed out the uniqueness of an occasion on which a Rector of Liverpool was drinking tea from the same pot as two of his predecessors !
Mr. J. Fidler replied on behalf of the bellfounders. He said every tower in which they installed a ring of bells presented its own problems, but they always did their hest and it was very gratifying when their efforts met with such approval.

Bishop How said how glad he and his wife were to be present, especially as one of thnse who had been ringing during the day was his own daughter.
Mr. Fred Dunkerley spoke on behalf of the Lancashire Association. He and the Association were very glad that there was now such a finc ring of bells at old St. Nicholas'.

Mr. Albert Walker also spoke: he recalled the opening of the old ring of hells 138 ycars ago, when the Birmingham men won the cup presented to the best band present. Unfortunately. the cup had long been lost.

DEDICATIONS

ST. PAUL'S, BATH

On Sunday, October 26th, the recast sixth bell of St. Michacl's with St. Paul's Church, Bath, was dedicated by the Rector, the Rev. Norman H. Parcell.

During evensong the choir and churchwardens proceeded to the base of the tower where the Blessing was given. The recently-formed local band then rang a few rounds after which the choir returned to their seats singing a wellknown ringers' hymn. After the service more ringing took place for the visitors.
The new bell, recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. helps to make St. Michael's bells a mixed ring. The reproduced inscription on the sixth states: "We were all cast by Abel Rudhall $1757^{\circ}$ yet the tenor bears the date 1759 . The second and seventh were recast by Warners in 1912 when the eight were rehung in a steel frame.

The records show that there were six bells at St. Michael's as early as 1408, one was recast at Bristol in 1484. The old six were cast into eight in 1757 when 'The Wardens and other friends gave several gallons of rum and brandy to make as much punch as would fill the treble bell.'
The eight were rehung in the present church which was consecrated on January 4th, 1837.

KIRBY HILL, YORKSHIRE

At a special service recently held at the Parish Church of All Saints; Kirby Hill, near Boroughbridge, North Yorkshire, the restored ring of six bells was rededicated by the Archdeacon of Leeds (the Ven. C. O. Ellison). The Vicar (the Rev. T. H. Jones) conducted the service.

Restored in honour of all from the parish who served in the war of 1939-1945, and in proud and grateful memory of the nine men who gave their lives, the bells have been retuned and provided with new fittings, including new headstocks, new clappers and ball bearings, and rehung on a new iron frame. The cost of the restoration has been met by public subscription and the work carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who have made a firstclass job. The inscriptions on the bells are:-
Treble.-Benedicite omnia opera Dei Deo. J. Warner and Son, 1869.

2nd -Te Deum laudamus. J. Warner and Son. 1869.
3rd.- Te martorum candidatus exercitus laudat. J. Warner and Son. 1868.
4th.-Gloria altisimus Deo. Samuel Smith, York. 1718.
5th.-Venite Domino exultemus. Samuel Smith, York, 1713.
Tenor.-Black letter inscription, 'Sct Trinitis unicus Deus.' Maker's mark, a shield charged with a cinquefoil on a saltire. Weight 8 cwt . 141h. Note A sharp.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MR. KIPPIN AND THE METHODS COMMITTEE
Dear Sir,-I didn't intend to interfere in any Poole-Kippin controversy, but since Mr. Poole sees fit to mention my name I feel 1 must rise to the defence of both the Methods Committec and myself.
Firstly, it must surely be recognised that the members of the committee are perfectly free to write letters giving their own opinion on any matter. I trust such personal ideas are not regarded as the views of the Methods Committee as a whole. I think it has always been definitely stated that such and such a letter is 'on behalf of the Methods Committec,' or words to that effect, and under normal circumstances my name would be attached, as convener. As a matter of fact, in this particular instance, Mr. Kippin knows that I regretted his letter and I have actually told Mr. Poole as much in a recent letter about other things. Secondly, I regret Mr. Poole's insinuations in his penultimate paragraph which are simply not true (I don't mean my 'failing judgment.' which is for others to decide-I cannot do so). Until he became a member, Mr. Kippin knew no more about the workings of the Committee than anyone else. When the Excrcise at large was invited to contribute opinions on the Extension question, Mr. Kippin was I think, the only member of the Council who did so (Mr. York Bramble and Mr. Rowe were not members). He went to a tremendous amount of trouble and even extended every method in Mr. Corrigan's Surprise Major collection to test various theories, etc. (An interesting result of this, by the way, has been his arrival at the same conclusions as the committee working in a different way.) Consequently, when it became clear that one of the members of the committee would become the new Central Council secretary. Mr. Kippin was the obvious choice to fill the gap (for it was desirous to keep the 'balance' of the committee), but this choice was not my own, but the unanimous choice of the members of the committee, and I asked the Council to elect him on their behalf as well as my own (in the excitement and rush of the proceedings. I nearly forgot this and it was only an urgent message from $\mathbf{M r}$. C. K. Lewis which reminded me to do so, thus providing a real anti-climax to the meeting!).

I feel that it was unnecessary and rather unfair to bring me into the matter at all, but if, by giving the above facts, the air is cleared somewhat and misconceptions removed. I shall not regret the fact that Mr. Poole caused me to defend myself.-Yours sincerely.-
K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

RINGING THE TENOR

Dear Sir.-With regard to Mr. R. A. Reed's remarks concerning ringing the tenor behindsurely the ringer of that bell must vary the speed in accordance with the other bells. as there is always a change in speed however good the ringing may be.
In peal ringing the pace is quite often slow at the start and quickens up as time goes on. and a good tenor ringer must let his hell run with the others; if he tries to hang on to the initial speed something is going to come unstuck!
Also, he must keep her in over the little bells when they come up behind and keep her off the bigger ones when they come up to him.

In any case it would take a very good man indeed to ring the tenor at exactly the same speed-there is always a variation though at times this may be very slight.

May I add that I know a very good tenor man who shares these views with mc? - Sincerely yours.

Bethersden. Kent. WILFRED W. RING.

POOLE-WORTH CONTROVERSY
Dear Sir,-I would like to assure Mr. Poole that we did not ring London Surprise Royal No. 3 Version at Loughborough either at Mr. Kippin's instigation or for the purpose of creating a stunt. As so far as I know the method conforms with every rule on method construction as laid down by the Central Council, and my only reason for writing to 'The Ringing World ' drawing attention to the number of versions of various methods by resident members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was the unfortunate treatment to a band of visitors who happened to ring a new method for the Guild.
If, as Mr . Poole states in his letter to 'The Ringing World, of October 31st, the Leicester Diocesan Guild desires to accept and conform with any Central Council decision, surcly the right and proper way is to wait for the decision of the Council and not to try to either draw red herrings across the recommendations of the committee appointed or to force their hand by trying to forestall them on any particular method.

With regard to Rutland Surprise Maximus, London Surprise Royal No. 3 Version or any other method rung, surely the decision to alter the name now rests entirely with the Central Council and not with any individual or Association, otherwise I can sec the whole situation becoming chaotic.
Congratulations to the Leicester Guild band on ringing the first peal of Metropolitan Surprise Royal. I would now like them to ring a peal of London Surprise Royal No. 3 Version and then I think they would agree with me that, as a method. London Surprisc Royal No. 3 Version is far better than Metropolitan Surprise Royal.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN WORTH.

CENTRAL COUNCIL PUBLICATIONS

Dear Sir,-As a result of suggestions made at Lincoln this year I have asked those ordering Central Council publications to enclose 3d. with each order to help with the cost of postage and stationery. The response to this request has been very good and I should like to express my thanks for this assistance. The reason for the charge was the very low published price of many of the older publications. and in consultation with the hon. secretary I have now revised these prices to bring them into line with those of the more recently-published books. This makes possible a return to the practice of supplying all publications post frec.
Members of the Exercise are asked to watch the Council's' advertisement for the forthcoming changes.-Yours sincerely.

CLOCKS WITH NO HANDS

Dear Sir,-Of the two clocks in Norwich Cathedral, that in the south transept has hands but no strike. whilst that in the tower has no hands but strikes on the five bells. These bells. in the minor key. blend remarkably well with the Responses as sung here at daily services. and form an amusing guide as to whether the Precentor is on the note or 'off colour.' The book on the subject, pages $39-41$, gives further details. I gather that the pendulum of one clock is of metal, the other of timber, so that changes in weather conditions often lead to one clock being in advance of the other. This gives both the quick and the slow in our Cathedral community excuse for their actions.-Yours faithfully.

RECOGNITION OF METHODS

Dear Sir,-The letter from Mr. A. R. Pink in issue No. 2,167 re the non-acceptance of peals which include the method St. Dunstan's is rather disquieting. In his excellent leader in issue No. 2,161 he quoted the objects for which the Central Council was formed in 1890 and the inference is that those objects have not been amended or extended. Nevertheless it would seem that since then, and without any mandate from even the few ringers who know of and recognise the Central Council, that that august body has assumed the power to make decisions,' a very considerable extension from the original objects which were clearly advisory only.
This tendency to dictate is an all too common phenomenon in the present age, but I feel that it is high time that a stop were put to it so far as ringing is concerned.
There is ample scope within the framework of its present mandate for the Central Council to do good and useful work to further the art of ringing but arbitrarily to rule that certain methods shall or shall not be recognised, especially when, as in the case of St. Dunstan's, it is a method that has been recognised in the past, is going altogether too far. The fact is that any five-bell method which produces a true six-score is correct whatever the Central Council may say to the contrary. St. Dunstan's is a favourite method in some parts of Gloucestershire and if ringers want to include it in peals, I, for one, hope that they will continue to do so.

Mr. Pink refers in the opening paragraph of his leader in issue No. 2,161 to an allegiance which Associations owe to the Central Council but I hold that far transcending any such allegiance is the support due from the officials of an Association to their otwn members, One very good reason is that without members, a Guild or Association ceases to exist. He sums the position up admirably in the final paragraph of his leader and I hope that the Gloucester and Bristol Association will write to the secretary of the Central Council and take a very firm stand. I hope that they will point out that St. Dunstan's is a favourite method in these parts, that it has been accepted in the past and will continue to be accepted by the Gloucester and Bristol Association in the future ; and call upon the Central Council to cancel these 'decisions." If the Central Council refuse to cancel their quite unauthorised 'decisions' then in my view the Gloucester and Bristol Association should withdraw from the number of Associations who recognise the Central Council. It only requires one or two Associations to take such action to very quickly bring these 'decision' makers to their senses. - Yours faithfully,
T. V. LISTER

WEYMOUTH TOWERS

Dear Sir,-Like the 'Dorset Rabbit,' we were unable to find a tower in Weymouth. The place we actually visited on the Saturday evening was Wyke Regis, which is not far away. Whether one considers Preston to be nearer to Weymouth than Wyke Regis presumably dopends on what part of Weymouth one starts burrowing from.-Yours faithfully,

Dear Sir,-Mr. Green's answer, page 684. Please note, my figures are one round block with no chance of increasing or decreasing the 5,056 , nor is there any variation. Mr. Hattersley's figures give at least 21 variations and goodness knows how many transpositions. Yours truly,

Record Number at Fifteenth Annual Dinner

$\mathbf{I}^{\mathrm{N}}$N the report of last year's annual dinner of the Worcestershire and Districts Association it was stated that the attendance number showed a steady increase each year. This trend was continued this year when on October 25th a record company of 176 assembled in the Guildhall, Worcester, under the chairmanship of the president, the Very Rev. W. E. Beck (Dean of Worcester). Supporting him were the Rev. H. Hartley (chaplain), the Rev. J. O. C.
Champion, Mr. C. Skidmorc (Master) and Mrs. Champion, Mr. C. Skidmorc (Master) and Mrs. tary) and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. J. R. Newman (vice-president) and Mrs. Newman, Mr. W. B. Cartwright (vice-president) and Mrs. Cartwright and Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Holt. Also present were Messrs. J. Bass and W. Ranford (Freemen).

Among the visitors present were Messis. $F$. G. Leaker and F. C. Mogford (Bristol). Messrs. F. C. Lyne and R. C. Chapman (Stratford-onAvon), Mr. H. Huxley (Leamington), Mr. F Bennett and a complete band from Claverley (Salop).

Apologies were received from the Rev, L J. and Mrs. Birch (Hanbury), the Rev. R Craze (Worcester). Major O. Dudley-Smith (Earl's Croome), Mr. W. C. Dowding (King's Heath), Miss F. Rabould. Messrs. J. Pinfold and W. G. Critchley (Birmingham)

Following an excellent dinner, the loyal toast was honoured on the call of the chairman, who expressed his pleasure at being able to attend that record meeting and also gave his good wishes to the Association

The toast of 'Church and State' was proposed by Mr. W. Holm, who, in a brief history of the relationship between Church and State, showed that the primary purpose of the country's heritage of church bells was to summon people to church. Bands of ringers must be held together to fulfil this purpose by a leader and they should all be prepared to lead when called upon to do so. He said that during the past year they had mourned the death of the late King, head of the Church and State who, when called upon to lead, did not falter.
The Rev. J. O. C. Champion, in his reply, said that the relationship between Church and State was settled compared with years gone by Bells and bellringers formed a very important link between Church and State, as was shown most markedly at times such as the threat of invasion, at the victory rejoicings and as no doubt would be shown next year at the Coronation. However, the primary use of church bells was to call people to church. Mr. Champion continued by giving his ideas of ringers' annual outings, which appeared to him to be the complete 'busman's holiday,' this producing much laughter from the assembled company. Referring to some people's idea of the Church being a hanger-on' of the State, he said that this was far from the case, and that the Church was in fact a worthy partner of the State.

GOOD SOCIAL ATMOSPHERE

In proposing the toast of 'The Worcestershire Association.' Mr. F. G. Leaker, of Bristol. said he brought wishes of every success for the dinner from the Bristol ringers and from the Gloucester and Bristol Association. Mr. Leaker said he felt he must return thanks, especially to Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, for the kind hospitality which he had received in Worcestershire during the past few weeks. During that time be had visited many Worcestershire towers, and was very impressed with the good social atmosphere which he found in all of them. Furthermare, he was pleased to see the number of young people taking an active interest in ringing, which he felt assured the success of the Association in the future

Mr. G. J. Hemming, replying, referred to the great importance of teaching beginners. For the success of the Association there must be efficient officers who were well supported by the members, subscriptions should be regularly paid, and, what was very important-co-operation from the clergy. The efficiency of the officers of the Worcestershire Association was shown by the length of time they remained in office. Meetings were always well attended, as was this very successful annual dinner. Cooperation of the clergy was shown by the number of peals rung by the Association, and he was sure that no peals were rung by members of the Association without the consent of the clergy concerned. The standard of ringing compared favourably with that of other Associations which proved that it did pay to take pains with beginners. Concluding, Mr. Hemming said that ringers from any other part of the country were always assured of a warm welcome in Worcestershire.

Mr. John Hall proposed the toast of ' Kindred Associations' with a very witty speech. He said that the present standard of ringing which was enjoyed throughout the country was due to the various Associations. Interest could easily be lost in ringing where no advancement was made. This led eventually to no service ringing, which was the primary purpose of the bells. Speaking of the social side of ringing, Mr. Hall said that no matter wherever a ringer went in the country he was always assured of a warm welcome and of finding friends.

SUPPORT OF YOUTH

Mr. Fred Bennett, hon. secretary of the Stafford Archdeaconry Association, in his reply. said he thought that 'good fellowship' was the aspect of ringing which stood out above all others. He expressed his pleasure at secing so many young people at the dinner, and said he must congratulate the Association on its record attendance. After giving an example of the good fellowship which existed between the Worcesters and the Staffords (which produced much laughter from the assembled company) Mr. Bennett said he sincerely hoped that this good fellowship between the two Associations would continue.

This concluded the formal toasts but the chairman said he would like to propose one more toast. this being 'The Hon. Secretary,' at which the entire company rose to sing 'For he's a jolly good fellow,' and followed this up by three rousing cheers.
Mr. Johnson, replying, expressed his thanks for such appreciation for his efforts, and hoped that the attendance at the dinner next year would be 200 .
Finally the chąirman expressed his thanks to all members of the Association for their good services during the past year.
As has been the practice in recent years. a musical programme then followed, with Mr. D. H. Watson as M.C. and Mr. L. Bedenham as accompanist. The programme consisted of songs rendered by Miss W. M. Harris and Mr G. J. Hemming, a sketch by 'The Four Nondescripts ' from All Saints'. Worcester, and a selection of Stanley Holloway poems ably renselection of Stanley Holloway poems ably rendered by Mr. Fred Thomas. The handbells were also in evidence with a course of Little Bob Maximus 'lapped' by Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. P. Harris and Messrs. J: D. Johnson and R. R. Savory. The Brierley Hill band gave an excellent selection of tunes on handbells and a performance of their spectacular 'rise and fall.'

Auld Lang Syne ' concluded a very successful and enjoyable evening, everyone leaving with the comforting thought that the Guildhall is already booked for next October 24th for the 1953 annual dinner. $\quad$ R. R. S.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The Bishop Pays a Surprise Visit
The Bishop of Salisbury (the Right Rev. w. L. Anderson) surprised and delighted the members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild by looking in at their tea at Codford Village Hall on November 1st. Rumour had reached him that the Salisbury and Devizes branches were holding a joint meeting at Codford and the Bishop, passing through the village on his way home from another service in the diocese, took the opportunity of stopping to have a cup of tea and a few words with the ringers. He was accompanied by the Rev. A. D. F. McKenzie. Rector of Sarum St. Martin's. whose bells are at present being overhauled.
The Bishop commented on the 'masonry which exists among ringers and the fact that a ringer moving to another town has only to walk into a belfry to be greeted and made to feel as though he had never rung anywhere else. ‘I wish you could pass on to other workers in the Church the secrel of this brotherhood,' he said, 'and, looking round this room I would add sisterhood.' He appreciated the service given Sunday by Sunday by the bellringers of the church. often hidden away out of sight.
This was the first meeting of the Guild at which Dr. Anderson had been able to be pre sent and the members very much appreciated the honour of his unexpected and informal visit.

The whole mecting was a happy and successful one, 52 members and visitors being present The Rev. H. W. Hutchings conducted the Guild service at Codford St: Peter and gave a short address welcoming the ringers. Mr. Hutchings also presided at the tea prepared by the local ringers' wives. It was just after the company had sat down to tea that the Bishop and Fr McKenzie came in. At the Salisbury Branch quarterly meeting which followed. Edward Haines (aged 13), of Witton, was clected a ringing member.
During the afternoon and evening the bells at Codford St. Pcter ( 6 , rehung and one recas as the village war memorial). Wyke (5) and Heytesbury (a very fine 6) were rung.

FIRST PEAL ON TEN AT STRADBROKE

The peal attempt for the festival of All Saints had been well advertised and the inhabitants of the Suffolk village of Stradbroke, who listened keenly to it, were not the least disturbed by the possibility of their bells being rung for three hours and more. "The ten aren't so noisy as the old eight used to be, confided the wife of the landlord whose public house is immediately opposite the church. A telegram of good wishes and useful advice arrived for the 'owd bellringers from the - Boy Dearvud

Mr. David Vincent, who, with his sister, natives of Stradbroke, gave the two trebles in memory of their brothers, Charles and Frank. killed in the first world war, listened to some of the ringing at his home at Hale. in Cheshire. through the agency of an old school pal. Mr. J. C. Foulsham, who had fixed a megaphone to his telephone! The operators at the Ipswich and Manchester exchanges assisted in judging the best position of the Stradbroke instrument. Mr. C. W. Pipe also heard the bells through the medium of the Rector's telephone.
It was somewhat of a relief to the ringers to learn that the striking was very good, for all one hears in the ringing chamber is a disconcerting bim! bom!! with the first six hardly audible, and in the circumstances. Stedman was not the ideal method to ring. After the peal Mr. L. Edward Etheridge, among other acts of kindness associated with the arrangements for the peal. entertained the ringers to tea, with the Rector, Canon K. E. Shaw, the guest of honour.

XX. - DOUBLE METHODS

When the work of a method with the treble in front (that is, in Minor when it is BELOW 4ths, and in Major BELOW 5ths) is reproduced, relatively, with the treble behind (ABOVE 3 rds in Minor and ABOVE 4ths in Major), that method is a 'double' method. A simple example is Double Bob.

In Plain Bob the 2nds place made when the treble is leading causes the bells ABOVE to dodge in pairs. If a place is made immediately below the treble when that bell lies its whole pull behind (5ths place in Minor, 7ths in Major), the bells BELOW dodge in pairs. ' Double ' Bob is the method in which both 2nds and 5ths are made and-dodging takes place on each occasion.
It is interesting to notice the effect of this on the 'lead head ' (that is the position of the bells at the backstroke lead of the treble). Rounds is the first lead head. The second lead head in Bob Minor is 135264; the third lead head is 156342. You get this by transposing 135264 by 135264 . Now if you introduce 5ths when the treble is behind as well as 2 nds when the treble is in front, then your second lead head is 135264 transposed by 135264, giving you 156342 , and your third lead head is 156342 transposed by 156342, viz., 142635.

Without going into a detailed explanation of the reason, it may be stated that all 'regular' Minor methods produce the same lead heads, although, as we have seen above, they may come in a different order. There are five lead heads in a course, and beginning, as we always must, with rounds, they can come up in four different orders:-
First lead head: $123456 \quad 123456 \quad 123456123456$ Second lead head: 135264156342164523142635

If you work out the courses under each of these heads, by using the transpositions shown in each case, you will find that, as we said above, they produce exactly the same lead heads, but in a different order.

All this may seem to have little to do with ' double' methods, but it is one of the established facts about 'regular methods which beginners should know and remember, because it will help in an understanding of certain groupings of methods which we hope to deal with later.

But, now, about these double methods. In examining their construction and, at the moment, we will deal only with Minor, you want to write out a course, draw your diagram over it, and then divide it from top to bottom with a line drawn between the 3rd and 4th figures. When you have done this you will sce that the 'work' on each side of the line is exactly balanoed, that you can, in fact, turn it upside down. read your method from bottom to top, and find it is the same either way.

When we explained Oxford Bob we said it consisted of 4 ths place made twice inside each lead, and 2 nds place when the treble leads. Now Double Oxford Bob contains all these places, made when the treble is below 4 ths, and corresponding places, two of them in 3 rds and Sths place when the treble is above 3rds. Here is a lead, but we recommend you to write out the full course and study it. Compare its construction with Oxford Bob-

| Oxford Bob | Double Oxford |
| :---: | :---: |
| 123456 |  |
| 214365 | 123456 |
| 241356 | 214365 |
| 423165 | 423166 |
| 432615 | 243615 |
| 346251 | 426351 |
| 3645211 | 243651 |
| 635412 | 246315 |
| 653142 | 246135 |
| 561324 | 412653 |
| 516342 | 146253 |
| 156342 | 142635 |

The two methods are totally different to ring; and in some ways Double Oxford should prove easier than the single variety. There is really very little to remember. There is a three-pull dodge each way (that is, down and up, with 2nds place between) on the front; and a threepull dodge each way (that is, up and down, with Sths place between) bchind. In between, whether going up or down, there is a dodge in 3-4 places 'across the treble' (that is 4 ths and 3 rds when going up or 3 rds and 4 ths when going down), and another dodge in 3-4.
If you look at the figures above you will see the lead head of the double method. 142635, is a double transposition of the 156342 of the single method.
If you want a 720 you can call Double Oxford as you call the single method (because in both methods. 2nds is made when the treble leads) Wrong, Right and Wrong, with an additional single called at the otherwise plain Right, at half-way and end. Remember, however, that while in Oxford Bob the Wrong is the third lead of the course, in Double Oxford the Wrong is the fourth lead.
There is the same alternative extent, with the fifth called Right, Wrong and Right, as there is in Plain Bob

A WICKHAMBREAUX RECORD

On Saturday. November 15th, four members of the band of ringers at the Church of St. Andrew, Wickhambreaux, near Canterbury, will celebrate 50 years as members of the Kent County Association. They are Messrs. Harrison Smith, Sidney Walter, Jabez (Jack) Walter and ' Billy; Maytum. They were elected at a committee meeting of the Association at Tonbridge. During all these years they bave given regular service to the church where they learned their ringing.

Mr. Smith was clected a representative of the Canterbury District in 1926, an office he held for ten years. Mr. S. Walter is now a representative. Of the four the two Walter brothers are still ringing regularly and are both members of the Cathedral band in addition to being members of their own parish church. Mr. Maytum is still pretty active. Mr. Smith is not able to get about as much as he would wish, but welcomes a visitor and a good chat about old times and old friends. In years their ages amount to 299 . All friends wish them many happy years yet.

MEMORIES OF 40 YEARS AGO

In July, 1912, Mr. Francis S. Wilson (now retired and living in Lilliput, Dorset) was invited to Guildford by Mr. Alfred H. Pulling for a week's handbell ringing, during which time he rang his first four peals 'in hand ' (three Stedman Triples and one Grandsire Triples). In the last of the four peals the following ringers took part: William Shepherd, A. H. Pulling, John Thomas and F. S. Wilson. The last three named ringers did not ring together again for thirty-six years, when they met on November 25th, 1948, joined by Mrs. Jack Thomas (Amy Johnson), and rang a peal of Stedman Triples 'in hand" to celebrate Mr. Wilson's 100th peal. The peal was rung in Martin Stewart's private house in Ferndown.

During the passing years it is interesting to note that Mr. Wilson had rung handbell peals with five members of the Johnson family Frederick J. Johnson, Ellen M. Johnson, Amy R. Johnson, Kathleen M. Johnson and Joseph D. Johnson. All these events bring back many

OVERSEALE'S 21st BIRTHDAY PEAL

The strong bond of family life is undoubtedly the secret of Britain's survival through the centuries. Such a secret and pleasure seven pealringers found at 3, Coronation Street, Overseale, Burton-on-Trent, on October 25th. The occasion was the coming of age of Miss Joan Cotton, eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph William Cotton, the genial and indefatigable hon secretary of the Midland Counties Guild, and Mrs. Cotton.

Joan, herself a member of the local band, through business calls was, unfortunately, unable to ring in the peal. She is a Sunday school teacher and a Guider, in connection with St. Matthew's Church, ana was christened by the then Rector, Archdeacon H. E. FitzHerbert (president of the Midland Counties Guild).

It is hoped that sister Eileen and brother

 Norman will follow in their sister's and father's ringing footsteps. Bonny 'Joc' must be getting on towards his century of peals on the merry octave at St. Matthew's; it is something over three decades since he rang his first there.
TRIBUTE TO A LEICESTERSHIRE VERGER

The peal at Earl Shilton to mark the 25 years' service as verger of Mr. Clifford Clow was originally intended to be a vergers' peal, but there are not sufficient members to form a team. It was fitting, therefore, that the band included Mr. Ernest Morris, the secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Vergers' Guild and a member of the Central Council of Church of England Vergers' Guild. The band were entertained by Mr. Clow at the conclusion of the peal.

OBITUARY

MR. TOM ELCOX

By the death of Mr. Tom Elcox, of Areley Kings, the Worcestershire and Districts Association has lost its oldest member. First elected a member in 1891, he could claim 61 years' unbroken membership-a record for the Association. Although not a great peal ringerhe had rung 16 for the Worcestershire Associa-tion-he was a regular ringer at Areley Kings, and last year rang a quarter peal of Doubles for his 87 th birthday. To his memory a peal and quarter peal have been rung.

MR. D. K. C. BIRT
It is with deep regret we record the death at his home on November 2 nd of Mr. Daniel Kenneth Capper Birt, aged 74 years. Mr. Birt had been Master of the Surrey Association from 1928 to 1946 and general secretary from 1946 to 1951. At the time of his death he was a vicepresident. His great interest in. and work for, the Association will long be remembered

At the funeral of November 5th, at Merstham, a crowded congregation heard the Vicar pay tribute to Mr. Birt's sterling qualities and gentle speech. Ringers present were Mr. and Mrs. D. Cooper. Messrs. A. Cheasely, C. Parkes, H. A. Hoad and A. Gear. Miss M. Munt. Mesdames Morris and W. F. Oatway.

Merstham bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service.

MR. S. T. GOODCHILD

By the death of Mr. Sidney T. Goodchild at High Wycombe on October 26th at the age of 83. the last of the pioneers who laid the foundation of change ringing in this part of the diocese has passed on

Born within sound of the bells of St. Michael and All Angels'. Hughenden, he was an active ringer there from the ' 80 's until the turn of the century. For about ten years he worked in London but returned to reside in Wycombe in 1910, where he proved a valuable asset to the All Saints' band. who were then making strides with Stedman Cinques on the augmented ring. He remained a most valued member here for some 30 odd years, when his career as a ringer came to an abrupt termination by the ban on ringing early in the war

Althouoh slight of stature he always handled a big bell for preference in a most efficient manner. Mr. Goodchild's record of peals is unknown but he rang quite a good number at Hughenden in the early days and seven Stedman on All Saints' latest bells

The funeral took place from the Parish Church on October 31st. In the evening halfmuffied touches were rung as a last token of respect by a company which included hoth local ringers and representatives from Hughenden tower.

ASFORDBY'S BELLS

Upon the recommendation of Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. Asfordby (Leicestershire) bells are to be silent until a complete restoration is carried out. as the third and fifth are in a very bad state. If sufficient funds can be raised it is proposed to provide an eight-bell frame and two additional trebles. The old five bells at Asfordby (Hugh Watts, 1630) were rehung on the old frame by Messrs. J. Taylor and Sons in 1878 in commemoration of Qucen Victoria's jubilee. The old frame is thought to be older than the bells.

SUNNINGWELL, BENKS.-On Nov. 2nd. 1.260 Doubles (36n each of Reverse Canterbury Pleasure and Plain Bob, 240 April Day. 300 Grandsire): F. Honey 1. Miss $K$. Andrews (firsi quarter in 4 methods) 2 . Jamea

BECKENHAM, KENT

Making Good a War Casualty

Beckenham Parish Church of St. George, a fine, spacious building erected about the turn of the century on the site of an older church. stands in a commanding position at the centre of the largest borough in Kent.. Like so many churches in this part of the world St. George's suffered badly in the war but it has been restored with loving care.

The bells, a ring of ten with a tenor weighing 14 cwt .2 qr. 18 lb . escaped actual damage in the war but the tower, like the rest of the church, was badly blasted, and felt packing to the louvres was blown away. Accordingly, the large louvres exposed the bells to the ravages of the weather and they were also very noisy outside

The back six bells were recast in 1903 by John Warner and Sons from an old ring which had hung in the original tower. The new six. with two additional trebles were installed in a metal ' $A$ ' frame with a wooden sole plate, when the church was rebuilt. Two further trebles, to complete the ten, were added by Messrs, Gil lett and Johnston in 1934. The eight had heen on one level but there was insufficient room for ten and the treble and the fourth were hoisted in a new frame above the other eight.
A careful inspection carlier this year revealed that the back eight, which had not been touched by a bellhanger since they were installed fifty years ago, were in need of attention. The work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston who have quarter-turned the bells, refaced the clappers. reconditioned the wheels and headstocks as necessary and rehung the bells on ball bearings. All wooden fittings have been treated with preservative and all metalwork repainted.

In addition. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have closed up the louvre windows with a layer of bituminous felt sandwiched between one set of boards fixed vertically and another set fixed horizontally. Four windows have been completely closed and the remaining four to the springing of the arch. This woodwork has also been treated with preservative. This part of the work has afforded weather protection to the inside of the tower and at the same time has been very effective in modulating the sound of the bells outside. All ten bells can be heard at uniform volume at any point.

The bells were tried out on October 7th Not only was it found that the 'go' was perfect and none of the bells oddstruck, but they had been restored to their former beauty of tone as a result of the quarter-turning of the bells and the refacing of the clappers.

Just at the time that the order for the work to the bells was heing contemplated another misfortune overtonk Beckenham belfry. The wire bond of a clock weight in a well broke and caused the weight to burst through the wooden casing of the well and through part of the belfry floor with considerable damage and mess. When the repairs to this work were undertaken by a local builder it was found that woodworm had attacked the whole of the belfry floor, the panelling to the walls and the casings to the two clock-weight wells. In renewing all this work the wooden panelling has been replaced by hardhoard and the orportunity has been taken to provide open panels in the clockweight wells at ceiling level to admit to the ringing room more sound from the two hoisted bells. Although it is still not easy to nick out the individual top notes of the ten in the ringing room there is considerable improvement in this respect.

Al responsible contractors are to be congratulated upon their speed as no orders were placed until carly June and everything had been comnleted hy early Octoher. The local practice night is Tuesday from 8 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. Before the work to the bells was undertaken Monday was tried for practice night but this interfered with Council meetings in the nearby town hall. Unfortunately, any other night than Monday inevitably clashes with other practices in the district

There are several promising young ringers at Beckenham and it is to be hoped that they will give every support to the Rector, Canon F. W. Boyd who has spared nothing to put the hells and helfry into very good order. Canon Boyd, who has been in the ministry over 50 years, and at Beckenham over 21. has certainly given the example-it is up to the ringers to follow it

The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

CHRISTOPHER PINCHBECK

TWO hundred years ago, in 1752, Christopher Pinchbeck was Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and he was honoured in the toast of "Fragrant Memory,' submitted at the Society's last dinner. In giving the details of Pinchbeck to the assembly, Mr. E. Alex. Young made acknowledgment of the help he received from Mr. Ernest C. S. Turner in searching the manuscripts of the late Mr. J. Armiger Trollope.

There were two Pinchbecks, states Mr. Young. They were father and son, and both were associated with musical instruments, clocks and watches, and various ingenious contrivances of a mechanical nature. The family lived at Clerkenwell, but in 1721 removed to Fleet Street. The father was also famous for certain astronomical clocks, and particularly for making an alloy of zinc and copper to imitate gold, and named after him 'Pinchbeck.' He died in 1732, and the business was carried on by his two sons, but it was his second son upon whom it devolvedChristopher Pinchbeck, born in 1710, and who died in 1783 - and it was he who made it so widely known and himself a man of some renown., He not only made many friends, but amongst them King George III.
Pinchbeck's mechanical ingenuity won him many prizes, and twice he was awarded medals by the Royal Societyfor a certain brake for cranes, and again for an improved form of plough. This all apart from his steady output of clocks and watches. He had now moved westward and had a shop in Cockspur Street, but his workshops were probably still in the City. Like his father, he made astronomical clocks, and in 1765 there is a reference to his having made one for the Queen. It has four dials, and is still one of the treasures of Buckingham Palace. On his death he was buried at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

His ringing career was not so famous. He joined the College Youths in 1733, during the mastership of Samuel Fielding, was steward in 1742, and reached the chair ten years later. He was a contemporary of and watched all the great happenings of the famous 'Annable period.' But there does not appear to be any record of his having rung a peal himself. But the Masters were not necessarily peal ringers in those years, such efforts being mostly confined to picked men attached to regular bands of skilled ringers. As Trollope remarks, a 5,000 then was much as much as is a 15,000 to-day. It was during Pinchbeck's mastership that John Holt joined the Society, and he was one of the subscribers to the latter's Broadsheet, and when, in 1758, a certain number of the old Society joined the 'Juniors,' he was not one of them.

CALL CHANGE RINGING

0CCASIONALLY reference is made to the call change ringing and ringers in Devon and other parts of the country. But beyond the fact that these ringers are usually severely critical about the striking of the bells by visiting ringers of 'scientific,' or giving their advice on the way the bells should be raised or lowered in peal, very little interest seems to be taken in their doings outside their immediate circles. These ringers take their work very seriously, and their goal is perfection in striking, and their competitions are held with this object in view. As practised in some of the towers, it reaches the acme of perfection.

Having had the privilege of listening to a fine ring of bells, over a period of several weeks on practice nights and for service ringing, I must say that the striking was excellent, right through from rise to fall; indeed, the music was beautiful. The method of calling is to change one pair of bells at each call, made at frequent intervals. The ringing from cards placed on the floor in front of each ringer seems to have been discarded. The ringers are fond of a 'peal ' with the bells in the Queens position.

At a six-bell tower, where the ringing is from the ground floor, with a long rope draught, the bells are rung very close, with no open hand stroke lead, which produced the effect of being almost mechanical, but again nearly perfect striking.

So far as I am aware, the ringing associations seem practically to ignore the efforts and work of these ringers, and I suggest that steps be taken to bring their interests more in line with those who practise the higher forms of the art of change ringing. After all is said and done, the primary object of having church bells is to call the people to worship, and this work is being faithfully performed by these ringers, whose interests I would like to see more fully recognised in ' The Ringing World,' the official organ of church bell ringers.

GEORGE H. HEAD.

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come across Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservatiun and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

Owing to the illness of one of the ringers, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples at Aberavon to mark the retirement of Railway Inspector A. J. Pitman had to be abandoned. A quarter peal of Grandsire-a good first for Miss G. Hopkins-and other touches were substituted. A peal was, however, successfully rung for the occasion at Aberavon on November 15 th.

Another interesting Lancashire restoration is at Christ Church, Southport. The steeple here is being demolished and this work is expected to be finished by the end of the year. The bells are to be recast with a tenor of 12 cwt . and re-erected in a new frame to be placed in the old clock room. The contract has been entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and it is hoped that the bells will be ringing for the Coronation celcbration. The work is the gift of three sisters in memory of their parents.

With the peal at St. John's, Leicester, the genial towerkecper, Mr. Sidncy Harrison, has now rung peals on each of the ten bells here.

A treble was added to Asfordby's bells in 1888 in commemoration of Queen Victoria; Jubilee, and not the bells rehung as was erroneously stated in our last issue (page 734).

It is claimed that Yatton bells have been rung on November 5th each year (except during the war ban period and while the bells were being restored) since that day in 1605 when Guy Fawkes was caught in Westminster. As far as is known this year's quarter peal is the first on a November 5th. Yatton has it seems, always been patriotic to the throne.

Miss Valcrie Willard and Miss Barbara Beeson are enjoying a holiday at Sydney. On October 26 th they were the guests of the ringers of St. James', Turramurra, and took part in 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor. The ringers were John Rainsford (Turramurra) 1, J. Clark (Turramurra) 2, Valerie Willard (Luton) 3, Barbara Beeson (Cornwall) 4, A. R. Botting (formerly Betchworth) 5, W. Smith (Long Clawson, Leicester) 6. Another visitor to Sydney is Miss Joan Hills, of Grays, Essex. Mr. Botting writes that the 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was the best ringing he had taken part in since the visit of the English ringers in 1934.

Appropriately, Oxford University Society rang a peal MONN $\quad \begin{aligned} & \text { versity Society rang a peal } \\ & \text { of Westminster Surprise }\end{aligned}$
Minor on Guy Fawkes Day. The peal was rung to mark the opening of Parliament. It is evident that one member of the band is reading history.

The peal of Plain Bob Minor at Tilney, reported on page 725 , was rung on September 29th and not as submitted. It was the 400th peal of Mr. Cecil Ebberson.

Eight members of the Worcestershire Association spent an enjoyable week-end in Bournemouth when they rang a peal of Bristol Surprise Major. Among the questions asked were: Who was it that drove his car from Selly Oak to Bromsgrove with the brake on? Fell off a ladder on Friday and couldn't go? Missed the bus on Saturday and started to walk to Bournemouth?

Mr. William Barton, of Pudsey, Leeds, writes : The peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major, which appears on page 730 under the name of $\mathbf{M r}$. James Topp was composed by me, along with some other one-part compositions in the same method, nearly 20 years ago. Most, if not all of them, have been called by Mr. J. E. Cawser The peal that prompts this letter was called by him at South Anston, Yorks, on December 2nd, 1944, in exactly the same form as it now appears in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. D. Mottershead, of Wilmslow, writes: - I was wrong in my supposition concerning Metropolitan Surprise Royal. I have examined the facts stated in reply to my letter, but why were corrections not forthcoming after a previous similar statement concerning Double London Surprise in my article last April? The remainder of $\mathbf{M r}$. Mottershead's two-column letter is pigeon-holed until space conditions are more favourable.

UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATION'S NOTTINGHAM WEEK

AUGUST 15th-23rd

WORTLEY HALL'S GREAT WELCOME - GREAT DAYS AT LEICESTER, IN DERBYSHIRE, SOUTHWELL, LOUGHBOROUGH AND DERBY

THERE can be no doubt that the 1952 ringing week achieved a place of distinction in the annals of the Universities Association and its memories will long assail those fortunate ones who took part. Somehow everything was just right; the fair city of Nottingham proved an excellent ringing headquarters; a glow of welcome pervaded us everywhere; we benefited from expert local help in the planning and arranging; ourselves a very representative bunch from a dozen universities and two colleges mixed well in happy fellowship; and behind all was the gracious hospitality received at Wortley Hall from Professor Radford and Mrs. Radford. the joint wardens.
Appropriately, the secretary arrived first on that Friday afternoon, just before the rain. The hall. situated in University Park, consists of the original house and single-storey blocks of study bedrooms erected in 1944 as a temporary expedient. Two of these were assigned to the men, a third to the fair sex, and Mrs. Radford confessed her feelings at the prospect of facing Richard and Anne Speed, who so recently had plighted their troth. However, she was well fortified by meeting first the McGuinesses, who were in their silver wedding year.
By the official tea hour only a handful of members had arrived and for over an hour cups of tea were being continually poured as numbers increased and by dinner these had reached 25 . The opening ringing was at the church of St. Leodegarius. Basford (pronounced Base-ford), and on the lighter octave at St. Paul's. Daybrook. At Basford we were greeted by Mr. Clement Glenn, peal sccretary of the Southwell Diocesan Guild - who had done a fine job of work in co-ordinating the whole week's programme, which. incidentally, was dispersed through the territories of the separate Guilds. How very glad we were that Mr. Glenn was able to ioin with us on several occasions and so sce the results of his handiwork. Back at Wortlcy Hall we found tea and biscuits being served, a thoughtful gesture which was to prove a wetcome round-off to our long and busy days. For the making, there was early morning tea as well and it is understood that the ladies soon had their supplies properly organised on a rota basis; the men were much more casual.

COMPLETELY MOTORISED

For Saturday morning an excursion castwards over the Trent had been arranged, so for the first timie we had to sort out our transport. The collection of nine cars (of considerable variety) and five motor-hikes meant that we were comfortahly mechanised for the very first time orr one of our weeks, even to the ex tent of leaving an odd car or motor-hike behind on occasion. This was a great contrast from the early tours at Worcester and Norwich, when the pedal cycle reigned stpreme and of which the only visible heritage was a lone pair of shorts.
At Radcliffe-on-Trent we found a well-gojng eight (tenor 15 cwt .) and were met hy threc of the local ringers. Here a peal board commemorates the extent on four bells in 1883. The Church of St. John of Beverley. Whatton-in-the-Vale. has an attractive exterior with a squat central tower and the six bellis are richly toned. The third tower was at Bincham, after which. despite a dash back to Nottingham. which. despite a dash back we arrived late for sunch!
For one of the afternoon peal attempts we were privileged to go for Cambridge Royal at St. Mary's, Nottingham, hut, unfortunately, the fourth rope broke after 75 minutes. It was some consolation to hear Mr. Joc Dyke's remark that he thought it was 'in the bag., and Mr.
the ringing later in the week. Our guardian angels must have been of duty for Double Norwich was lost in like fashion at St. Mary's, Greaseley, after over two hours' ringing, and non-pealers brought back news of two more broken ropes at Colston Bassett and Langar Earlier, they had rung on the six at Barton-inFabis and the ring of eight at Ruddington before going on to sample the fine-toned bells of St . John-the-Divine's, Colston Bassett, While at Langar it was a real experience handling the five bells with their very long draught with ropes having no quides. Here it is possible to see the bells swinging from a floor 20 feet underneath.
Sunday's service ringing arrangements went to schedule, the party dividing into groups by committee direction with adjustments to meet as many personal requests as possible. At St. Peter's., the lighter Nottingham ten, the fourth justified its reputation by slipping wheel, and while this was being attended to we ventured on to the roof of the nave and surveyed the city centre : the nearby bells of St. Mary's sounded mellow and lovely. At Lenton church with its very light octave (tenor $8 \frac{1}{\mathrm{cw} . \text {.), }}$ we were given an extremely warm welcome, with mention in notices, prayers and sermon Incidentally, the sermon preached at St. Peter's on 'Prayer' was a joy to hear. One group returned to Basford but in the morning only, for two more towers were on our evening list, Daybrook and St. John-the-Baptist. Beeston. At the latter tower the bells need rehanging, and the ringing time. usually only 20 minutes. was extended in our honour. It was at Bceston that later in the week we were to sing Comoline.
THE UNIVERSITY OF THE FUTURE
Our guests at Sunday lunch reduced themselves to Mr. Glenn. who had a real field day with us. Unfortunately, both the Vice-Chancellor of Nottingham University and the University chaplain, Canon Inglis. Rector of St. Peter's. were away on holiday. In the afternoon there was a real treat in storc, for after being dealt with by the photographer. Professor Radford led a walk through University Park. This was an inspiration for through his eyes we saw clearly a vision of the University as it will be many years hence. We did not ascend to the top of the University tower but propounded theories to account for a successful scaling exercise to the very wcathercock, which was still shrouded in some degree of mystery. Another thing that took our eye was a vacant section of a large composite Society notice board which we thought ought to be appropriated to U.N.S.C.R.
Not many local ringers ventured to ioin us at Wortley Hall in the evening but we were glad to have with us Canon R F. Wilkinson. chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild. who found much in common with his fellow antiquarian. Ranald Clouston. The singing buzz of conversation nrovided amnle evidence, if any were reauired. of a completely hadoy company So we departed to bed with a glowing feeling inside, some of us aware that the-steady tempo of the weck-end would on the morrow have given place to a more hurried pait and that henceforth our week would rush wildy towards its end.
Monday was Leicester Day and driving southwards we felt on our mettle in visiting one of the great ringing centres of England. Perhaps one of the secrets of the leadershio being exercised there is an unconscious inspiration of the best with first-class ringing a natural by-product.
In the northern outskirls of the city we came to St. Peter's. Belgrave, where Mr. Ernest Morris awaited us. whom many of ins were honoured to meet for the first time. The next tower was that of St. Mary-de-Castro's. which boasts a glorious eight only recently restored, and here we were met by Peter Staniforth Packed lunch in a nearby hostelry was the next order of the day and then we congregated outside the Cathedral Church of St. Martin. Precisely at 2 p.m. Mr. Harold J. Poole appcared beaming his welcome. and the great moment had arrived. For nearly one and a half hours we made the most of this famous Leicester twelve on which ringing history is continually being made.
Outside. the rain came down, it seemed in torrents. and we went to shelter at our tea rendezvous at Gallowtree Gate. With us again was Mr. Morris, who afterwards escorted us to his own church. St. Margaret's, where we sensed the spirit of history which be himself has so carefully and wonderfully engendered. The ring of twelve (thirteen to be exact, as at the Cathedral) is somewhat heavier than its neighbour, with an added stateliness pcrhaps in keeping with the more spacious ringing chamber, and we made good use of the penerous allocation of ringing time. Meanwhile Mr. Morris had disappeared to add one more to his enormous bag of peals.
Through the rain again to the day's last tower, that of St. John-the-Divine with its fine ring of ten : but we had not yet done with Leicester for we were to partake its own special hrand of friendliness and fellowshin at The Globe just by the Cathedral. There in an upper room we lingered. some very long indeed. and all we will do is to give it our warmest recommendation. Our president, Mr. Edwin Lewis, voiced our combined thanks to which Mr. Poole briefly but effectively replied. So back the twenty-five miles to Wortley Hall to find a wonderful buffet sunoer awaiting us: and we were very late to bed.
TROWELL'S PLACE IN RINGING HISTORY
Nevertheless in the morning we were about hetimes for our Corborate Communion service te St. Peter's, and then it was westwards into Derbyshire. except for the two peal bands who recorded successes at Daybrook (Double Norwich) and at Trowell (seven Minor methods), the chosen Festival of Britain village
The Trowell peal was a very special one for Mr. Lewis. for he is a native of Nottingham and it was here, in 1900. that he was taueht to handle a bell and ring call-changes. mostly on the fifth bell (from which he conducted the peal). by John Walker, the sexton. a few months after his father's aopointment as Vicar. The next year Mr. Lewis became a member of the Cambridge University Guild and very soon tarted nroper change ringing at Trowell. Mr. F. C. Gobey, whom we were to meet later that dav at Ilkeston, going there for instruction.
Fastwood. the first tower for the non-pealers, is. in fact. in Nottinghamshire. and Heanor was the first actually in Derbvshire. Here, besides well-going. well-sounding hells we found some new mural decorations of which the Vicar is extremely proud. The third-ring of eight was at All Saints'. Rinley. and after eninying thoroughly these excellent bells, we set off for a real beautv spot and a very famous tower. Having lunched. we ascended to the rinping chamber where Sir Arthur Heywond. founder and first nresident of the Central Council. used to ring. There was the peal book. there endies of his hook on the Diffield princinle. For. indeed, we were at the Church of St. Alkmund. peal bands the party was once more complete and busied themselves on the very light octave before proceeding to Ilkeston for tca. The Parish Church of St. Mary, Ilkeston, is an imposing edifice and its tower has been rebuilt three times in the last two centuries or so. The eight bells are quite fine and ringing opened with a slow and dignified well-struck touch of Spliced Oxford and Kent conducted by Mr Gobey himself. Homewards, and then later that evening a goodly number demonstrated their persistent willingness to go on ringing bells by joining in the weekly practice at Basford.

AT SOUTHWELL

Next morning, Wedncsday, deserting cars and motor-bikes. we occupied a coach. First call was at Southwell. where an hour was spent in a guided tour of the superb Minster Church. with its great Norman nave. Early English choir and exquisite chapter house. The eight bells are housed in the central tower, the ringers surveying themselves through protective wirc across space with the floor visible a long way below. It was at Southwell Cathedral that Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were married in 1909, and Mr. Lewis took part in four of the first five peals rung here as well as in the first peal ever rung by undergraduates only-Boh Major on handbells. How we should have liked to have stayed longer there at Southwell. but, perforce, had an itinerary to be observed. worked out by Mr. J. W. Raithby, general secretary of the Southwell Diocesan Guild. who awaited us at Newark. a busv market town The bells of the Parish Church were the heaviest of three rings of ten being visited that day (tenor $33 \mathrm{cwt}$. .) and were much enjoyed Lunch preceded ringing at Sutton-on-Trent and we happened on a potential recruit to the Exercise in one of the village inns-we certainly did our best to encourage her
In addition to the enjovment of the ten bells at St. Swithin's. East Retford. we were thrilled to meet a famous figure from the nages of Mr . Morris's 'History of the Art of Change Ringing: none other than Mr. John Seazer. whe obligingly gave us a short demonstration of 'tapping' out touches on the handhells. He is also a student of method extension and so was introduced to Mr. York-Bramble. What Geoffrey Carter will remember at East Relford will be his tea in the cafe kitchen
Then came the gem of the dav. nossiblv of the whole tour, the ten bells of Chesterfield Parish Church. famed for its crooked spire They are a completcly new ring (tenor 25 cwt . approx.). and were music to the ear. In a letter to Mr. Glenn. Mr. Sam Scattergood remarked 'So we are to be honoured by a visit of the Universities Association' $;$ it was U.A. which was honoured
Later that evening we settled down in the lecture room at Wortley Hall to the summer general meeting. and on returning to the lounge found the Rev. Malcolm Melville installed, a staunch U.A. member of the carlier years.

FORTY YEARS AGO  Extracts from 'The Ringing World' November 22nd, 1912

Miss Edith Parker celebrated her coming-of-age in a very befitting manner last week when, with the Edmonton band, she took part in a remarkably successful week of Surprise peal ringing. Out of seven attempts, six peals in different methods were scored, Miss Parker conducting four of them-Superlative, London, New Cambridge and Gloucester. The other two peals were Bristol and Norfolk.

The premier lady handbell ringer, Miss Elsie Bennett. has added another to her laurels by being the first lady to ring a working pair of bells to a peal of Stedman and the first to ring a peal of Stedman Caters on handbells. This she accomplished on Wednesday week, and during the week-end added four more handbell peals to her total during a visit to Guildford

TWO CORNISH DEDICATIONS

Two dedications took place in Cornwall on October 25th. At St. Endellion the Assistant Bishop (the Right Rev. J. Wellington) rededicated the completcly recast ring of six which has been hung in a new frame and fittings. This tower is in the part of Cornwall where prize-ringing is popular, and there were some 20 sets of ringers present. Ringing went on to a late hour. At the dedication service the bells were pulled up in peal and lowered again faultlessly. This restoration makes a complete transformation for the bells were previously seriously out of tune, although they featured last year in the series 'The Faith in the West.' and were broadcast. The tenor weighs 8 cwt .3 qr .12 lb . in A , and the bells now form an ideal ring.
At Padstow. only six miles away across the River Camel, but some ten miles by road, the Archdeacon of Cornwall (the Ven. F. Boreham) was rededicating at the same time the restored six bells there. Padstow bells had become well known as perhaps the worst for 'go' in Cornwall but they have been retuned and rehung in a restrengthened frame and with new fittings. The tenor weighs 10 cwt .1 qr .26 lb . in G . There were a dozen or so sets of ringers at this dedication and others went there in the evening from St. Endellion. There were well over 200 ringers at the two dedications. Both rings have been in the hands of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. and the results are according to their usual good standards.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Ringers from Norton. Bucknall. Newcastle. Tunstall. Wolstanton. Brown Edge. Hanley, Swynnerton, Biddulph. Crewe, Cheadle, Stoke and Kingsley attended the North Staffordshire Association of Change Ringers' meeting at Bucknall on November 1st.
Ringing commenced at about 2.30 p.m. and continued until 9 D.m. A service was held in the church and the Rector (the Rev. E. T. Pearce) gave an inspiring address: the service was fully choral. An excellent meal was provided by the ringers and their wives, and approximately 62 ringers and their friends participated.
The Rector. who presided. reminded the ringers of tieir obligation to their church by attending service regularly and especially during 1953, which would be a year of lay-witness. The chairman, Mr. R. S. Anderson, proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and to the conductor of the choir, Mr. Cartwright. Mr. A. W Hall responded. Mr. D. R. Whalley proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies.
A committee meeting was held during the afternoon, presided over by the chairman, Mr. R. S. Anderson, as a pre-view to the work of the Association in 1953. of which a full report will appear in December after the annual meeting at Stoke.

SWAFFHAM PRIOR AND ITS TWO CHURCHES

Ringing in the eastern part of Cambridgeshire is in a poor way. This is hardly to be wondered at as several of the five-bell towers can only be rung with difficulty and sadly need the attention of a bellhanger. The following rings also are unringable: Soham (10), Isleham (5), Burwell (5). Quy (5), Brinkley (6) and Swaffham Bulbeck (6).
Swaftham Prior is a small village of a few hundred people some eight miles from Cambridge, situated on the edge of the Fens, and here are to be found two churches of considerable dimensions, standing side by side within a few yards of each other. One is dedicated to St Mary and the other to SS. Cyriac and St. Mary and the other to SS. Cyriac and
St. Mary's at one time had a finc tower and lofty spire. Only a part of the tower remains and the main building had become derelict but has recently been restored at a cost of several thousand pounds and the services are now held there.
The main building of SS. Cyriac and Juliet's is in poor condition and is not now used, but the tower is a fine one and contains a nice-toned ring of six bells. Thus is presented the unusual feature of the bells being rung in one church and the services held in the other.
The six bells were cast by Briant. of Hertford, and were placed in the tower in 1791. The 'Cambridge Chronicle' of that date records that: 'At the opening of the new peal of six bells at Swaffham Prior in this County on Monday, very great praise is due to the Soham Youths who raised the Bells and in a very superior style of ringing and rang the following peals. viz.. Plain Boh. Treble Bob. Court Bob and Double Boh and falled them again without stopping, or even a clash
The bells still hang in the original frame and go' well in spite of the fact that inquiries have revealed that no one knows or have beard of any overhauls taking place. A young band of some 12 or more is heing taught and most of them sat in the ringing room the whole time of a recent peal. We hope they learned something and that Swaftham Prior mav become a bright spot in a somewhat barren district. We think they did, as a remark heard after the peal was 'That wasn't village bell ringing, that was the classic stuff.

ST. MARGARET'S, DUNHAM MASSEY, ALTRINCHAM

The bells of St. Margaret's. Dunham Massey. ring of ten (tenor 27 cWt . in C). were cast by Messrs. Taylor in 1854 for the church which was opened about that time. There were also a further 16 bells used for carillon purposes but sold before the 1914-18 war. The tower once sported a fine spire but this was removed in the 1920's as being dangerous. The hells were stopped before the opening of the century as they imperilled the safety of the spire.
In Adril. 1944, they were rung at a meeting of the Chester Guild but only the front six were employed. Later the whole ring was used and in 1946 the writer took part in the first touch of Bob Major on the bells. The bells were used for service ringing until about 18 months a,go when an examination disclosed the loose stonework. When the present repairs are completed it is expected the bells will ring again.
Few ringers have rung at this fower but there may be some who would like to help.
The Vicar and wardens have, during the summer months, spent Saturday afternoons in collecting from passing motorists on the busy Chester-Manchester main road which passes the church
Though this is not a beh restoration it is a case of where the ringing depends on the repairs, writes Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis. Donations can be sent to the Vicar (the Rev. T. E. Roberts). The Vicarage, Dunham Road. Altrincham.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TETBURY'S BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-With reference to the protest by Mr. J. Lewis Cockey, I feel that too much blame should not be attached to the B.B.C.

I should like to make it known that an unfortunate error was made in the timing. We set out to ring two whole pulls, a course of Grandsire Triples, two whole pulls and stand This was timed to take just over three minutes. By mistake we started off at 09.27-30 instead of $09.28-30$, thus depriving listeners of one minute's ringing. However, as the bells were stood, the B.B.C. had no alternative but to switch over to the organ.
The band is composed of boys with an average age of under 14 years, and it was of some consolation to be on the air again on Friday evening, the 7 th inst., in the West Home Service at 6.30 p.m. and again at 7.30 p.m. the same evening in the Midland Home Service, when the bells came over beautifully.

If in the future this band should again have the privilege of broadcasting, I am quite sure he will not be disappointed.-Yours truly,

Tetbury, Glos.

LIMITED RINGING AT BROADCASTS

Dear Sir,-I, too, was annoyed with the B.B.C. for the four rounds broadcast of the Tetbury bells. The same thing happens on other Sunday mornings and very little longer was allowed for Stepney bells, and Headcorn, on November 9th.
1 wrote to the B.B.C. about this and received a reply to the effect that my letter had been passed on to those responsible for religious broadcasts for their consideration. If more ringers, thousands if necessary, would write protesting to the B.B.C. they would surely take notice and allow more time for the bells. This could easily be done as these morning services are preceded by one hour of Morning Melody. -Yours sincerely.

> DENNIS H. B. MILLWARD.

GIFTS OF BELLS BY LIVERY COMPANIES

Dear Sir,-In February of this year there was dedicated at the Parish Church of Nazcing a treble bell given by the Worshipful Company of Mercers in memory of Captain Archdalc Palmer, sometime Master of that Company. and the local ringers would be very interested to learn whether any other church has a bell or bells given by a London Livery Company in memory of one of their members.

I have made a certain amount of research into the matter but have been unable to locate any such gift.

I would be much obliged if any reader of 'The Ringing World' could give me any information on the above subject.-Yours faithfully.
K. C. S. WOOD.

Nazeing, Essex.

RECORD LENGTH NOTICE

Dear Sir,-I wish to give notice that all being well, five members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild will attempt a peal of 13,139 Grandsire Caters. on handbells, on Saturday, November 29th. 1952 . The attempt will be at 26. Wellington Road. Bournemouth, commencingly approximately 2.30 p.m.-Yours faithfully,

DANIEL T. MATKIN.

COMBINED TREBLE BOB

Dear Sir,-Mr. E. C. Gobey has pointed out an error in the 9.600 Worcester variation given in the issue of September 12th, on page 578 . There should be no mark in the H column opposite 46325.-Yours sincerely.
M. HODGSON.

AN EXAMPLE OF ENTHUSIASM FROM

 WIVELSFIELDDear Sir,-We sometimes read of towers where the ringers are not very enthusiastic, there is no real progress, learners are not encouraged, the ropes and bells are not given any attention and very soon the band falls apart through lack of interest. This state of affairs must surely have a disheartening effect on the ringers who read about it.
I would like to tell of an enthusiastic band which will, I hope, give encouragement to other ringers in five-bell towers.
The five bells at Wivelsfield, Sussex, are badly in need of rehanging. There are ten young ladies in the band who not only ring for Sunday services and practices but also splice their own ropes, grease the bells and do all the jobs of steeplekeeper. They have recently taught two young men to handle a bell and have set themselves the task of raising $£ 1,000$ for the bells to be rehung and for a sixth bell to be added.
In order that they may become proficient as six-bell ringers, the members of this band travel to several six-bell towers for practice each week. The travelling time taken on the bus for each visit is three hours and this is at their own expense.

Apart from actual ringing, there is the $£ 1,000$ to be raised. The Church Council and ringers have circulated the village by letter asking for regular donations towards thte Bell Fund.
A fortnightly square dance is organised by the ringers and also a monthly dance in the nearest town. Havwards Heath. where there is a ballroom. Village whist drives and a film show have been held, and a series of concerts are the next items to be tackled.
Surely this is an example of real enthusiasm and if any reader wishes to make a contribution towards the Bell Fund 1 know that it will give encouragement and will be greatly appreciated. The treasurer's address is: Miss A. Millam. The Forge, Wivelsfield Green, near Haywards Heath. Sussex.
Good luck. Wivelsfield, and may it not be long before you are ringing Minor methods in your own tower.-Yours faithfully.

HARRY W. BROWN.

Aldrington, Sussex.

SIX O'CLOCK PRACTICE MEETINGS IN CITY

Dear Sir,-I am as yet not in a position to name a tower in the City or West End of London where a regular weekly evening practice could commence at $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. The idea put forward by Mr. Bishop is a good one and is worthy of consideration. I have, in an official capacity, spent much time and effort to encourage ringing within thte area in question, but there has been precious little reward. Even during recent months has a well-known ringer, with some influence, made application to ring during the week-days at a church in Central London, but we have had to take 'no' for an answer.

From the Incumbent's point of view. I know that permission would more readily be given for week-day ringing if the bells at his church were rung regularly Sunday by Sunday-it is of no interest to the Incumbent to be told that ringers who would ring at his tower on weekdays ring sometimes at their home towers on Sundays.
Should this proposal come into effect the participants should arrange to provide assistance for Sunday service ringing at least as often as their mid-week ringing, and as I have yet to learn of a tower in the City or West End where voluntary ringing takes place for each Sunday service, I know my suggestion will be unpopular.-Yours faithfully.
T. J. LOCKE.

JOSEPH H. RIDYARD, JUNIOR
Dear Sir,-With regard to your heading of - Forty Years Ago ' in your issue of November 7th, I should like to point out I was not a member of the band that rang in the peal. It was my cousin. Joseph Henry, who, unfortunately, was killed in a motor accident in the year 1941. The ringer of the seventh was my uncle. At the tlme I was in different-parts of the country and did not start peal ringing until 1920. Of that band there is only one man living, my old friend Percy H. Derbyshire, who is still the towerkeeper at Worsley-Yours sincercly.

Southport.
Dear $\mathrm{Sir}_{\text {, -I }}$ wish to correct your article of 'Forty Years Ago' in last week's issuc of 'The Ringing World,' The tenor ringer, J. H. Ridyard, was killed in a road accident in 1942, and is not the Joseph Ridyard of Southport, who is my younger brother and one of the leading conductors in Lancashire.
Joseph Henry Ridyard was the son of Joseph Ridyard, the ringer of the seventh and conductor. Joseph Ridyard, of Southport, and myself are sons of Richard Ridyard, of Worsley.Yours sincerely, ARTHUR RIDYARD.

Prestwick, Manchester.

REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY RINGING

Dear Sir,-What is the correct procedure for Remembrance Sunday ringing: should the bells be rung muffled or open? I ask this question as our Vicar is against muffled ringing, his argument being that it is a day of thanksgiving as well as of remembrance.
Maidstone is the mother church of the district and as such should give a lead to other towers. Perhaps someone in authority will give an opinion.-Yours faithfully.

Maidstonc.

Note.-A glance at our quarter peal page will indicate the prevailing practice. At Guildford we ring with the bells open.-Ed.

DIAL-LESS CLOCKS

Dear Sir .-I was always under the impression that the dial-less elock at Christ Church, Oxford, was in the Cathedral tower. not the belfry tower, as stated by the Rev. J. G. M. Scott in a recent letter. If I am wrong on this point I offer my apology forthwith.
Clocks of this type. which chime and strike, are to be found in most of our ancient cathedrals and at some other churches. a few of which are Doncaster. Tickhill (Yorkshire), Grantham. Louth. Boston and Gainshorough.Yours faithfully,
S. L. MARSHALL.

Sheffield.

Dear Sir.-With regard to Mr. Harry King's inquiry re clocks with no hands, we have a clock with no hands at Crowcombe Parish Church (Somerset). This clock is very old, we do not know how old, but in 1735 this tower was struck by lightning. the clock face destroyed and never replaced. It strikes the hours only. The bells (six) are hung anti-clockwise.-Yours sincerely,

Taunton.

Dear Sir--For those readers interested in peculiar clocks the following may he of interest. The clock at Tickhill Parish Church, near Doncaster, has no exterior face or hands. hut chimes the quarters and strikes the hours. It also plays a tune at four-hourly intervals, the tune being a different one for each day of the week.

The Parish Church of St. George, Doncaster, also has a clock with no exterior face or hands hut which chimes the quarters and strikes the hours.-Yours sincerely.

Doncaster, Yorks.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Lewisham District

The annual District meeting was held at St. John-the-Baptist, Erith, when 60 ringers and friends took part in a successful afternoon and evening's activities.
The recently-overhauled bells were made good use of under the direction of Messrs. F. J Cullum and H. Audsley, before the service in church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. Lea). An excellent address by the Vicar included a warm welcome to the Association to the beautifully-restored church.
Tea was taken in St. John's Hall, where the business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. Five ringers were elected members of the Association, four from Beckenham and one from St. Mary's, Lewisham, and the election of two non-resident members from Leicester was ratified.

> A report of the year's work in the District, submitted by the District secretary, was adopted Mr. A. G. Hill was re-elected hon. District secretary, and Messrs. A. S. Richards and J. Dafters were reappointed District representatives. Mr. E. Jones, St. Mary's, Lewisham, was elected Ringing Master for the next year in succession to Mr. H. Hoverd (Dartford)
Mr. J. Hurrell informed the meeting that Mr. F. W. Richardson, the popular captan of St John's, Deptford, ringers, was that day celebrating his golden wedding. The District secretary was instructed to convey the meeting's congratulations and good wishes to Mr. Richardson.
Mr. E. Bennett undertook the sad task of acquainting the members of the grievous loss sustained by that grand old veteran. Mr. G. H. Daynes, by the passing of Mrs. Daynes at the age of 88. A message of sympathy was ordered to be sent to Mr. Dayncs.
After some consideration it was decided to discontinue the sociat mieetings that had been held (with varying success) in the District since 1947.

A cordial vote of thanks to the Vicar, curate, organist, choir, Mr. F. J. Cullum and the local ringers was carried enthusiastically. The Vicar replied and the meeting closed. Further ringing concluded the day's happenings

SOMERSET ARCH/EOLOGICAL SOCIETY

The Weston-super-Mare Branch of this Society met on November 6th and members heard. a lecture on 'Bells and their founders.' illustrated by lantern slides kindly lent by the three firms of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel. The ancient craft of casting was shown still being carried out in these foundries
Examples of the great bells of our cathedrals and churches, and of pre-Reformation bells with their beautiful decoration and lettering, were given, together with much interesting matter including old inscriptions, dealing especially with the founders of Somerset and the West Country and the bells of churches in this neighbourhood.
At the close the lecturer, the Rev. A. D. H Allan, M.A., was thanked by the vice-president, who said that the slides and descriptive matter had been greatly appreciated.

BEGINNERS' PLAIN BOB

The Printers' Guild of Ashford North Modern Boys' School have, under the direction of Mr A. Waddington, produced very creditably ' Beginners' Plain Bob.' which follows their previous booklet on Grandsirc. The author, Mr A. Waddington, of Malthouse Farm, Egerton, Kent, writes while primarily intended for local and Kent County use, there should be a dozen or two available for any tower where a handy booklet might be appreciated. The price is 1 s per copy, postage extra, and on receipt of a postcard copies would be reserved

COURT AND DOUBLE COURT BOB

In these notes a fortnight ago we had something to say about double methods and the grouping of methods. Let us look now at another well-known method which produces a perfect double. It is Court Bob, and it belongs to the group of which Oxford Bob is a member
If you studied Oxford Bob you will remember that the main feature of its construction was the 4 ths place made at each end of the lead as the treble passed up through 2-3 and down through 3-2

\begin{array}{ll}
123456 & 653142 \\
214365 & 561324 \\
241356 & 516342 \\
423165 & 153624
\end{array}

The leads themselves are joined by 2 nds place made when the treble leads its whole pull, causing the two pairs in 3-4 and 5-6 to dodge.
Now Court Bob is exactly like Oxford Bob. without the 2nds place when the treble leads. Row for row the leads of a plain course are alike in the two methods, except that they are joined by 2nds in Oxford Bob and 6ths in Court Bob. Those who wish to study the method should be able to write out the course without further instruction and make their own diagram.

When they come to ring it, they will find that the change in the 'link' between the leads cuts out certain dodges and connects up the other work into a different sequence-but the construction of the method is the same.
The double method has the same relationship to the single version as Double Oxford has to Oxford Bob.
Places are made in corresponding places with the treble ABOVE 3rds as when it is BELOW 4ths. Thus the 4 ths when the treble passes through 2-3 and 3-2 is duplicated in 3rds when the treble passes through 4-5 and 5-4.
But while in Double Oxford there were places in 5ths and 2nds with the treble behind and leading, respectively, in Double Court (following the example of the single method) there is neither 5ths nor 2nds. Here again you should, with this information before you, be able to construct your own course and make your diagram. Just try it; the effort to do these things for yourself will enable you to learn much more than having the figures given to you.
This is how the places are made 'across the treble ' in Double Court:-

| 214365 | 645213 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 241356 | 465123 |
| 423165 | 641532 |
| 243615 | 614523 |

The second lead head of Court Bob (rounds being the first) is 135264 . The second lead head of Double Court is, therefore, 135264 transposed by 135264 , which produces 156342.

Because of the absence of Inds place when the treble leads, the calling of these two methods is not the same as Oxford Bob, viz., Wrong, Right and Wrong. As we pointed out recently, methods with fiths made when the treble leads have as their "standard' calling In, Out and In'-that is, bobs called when the observation bell runs IN to take the treble off, and when it runs OUT from the treble. In the case of Court Bob. if the tenor is the ohservation bell. the plain 'Out.' that is the Out ' where there is no hoh. comes first (at the 2nd lead) and the first bob "In the following lead. In the douhle method the plain Out' comes at the first lead and the first bob In' at the fourth lead.

THE MIRFIELD TAN

Dear Sir,-Recently in 'The Ringing World ' various notes have appeared about Kent Treble Bob. A ringer who admired Kent Treble Bob informed us that he would much prefer it if the heavy bells were not so much at the front. The Mirfield Company have accordingly brought out a new call for Kent Treble Bob, which we call 'Tan.' It is called in the same positions as a Bob.

When a 'Tan' is called, the bell dodging 6-5 down goes down quick to make two blows in thirds, then quick out to $5-6$; then ordinary Kent Treble Bob work.

The bell that should have gone into the hunt makes 4ths and 3 rds and another extra 3 rd , then two blows in 4ths place and quick down to lead.

The bell in the hunt snaps with treble, then lays a whole pull to the treble, then snaps with the treble and into the hunt again.

All bells dodging in 5-6, 7-8 9-10, 11-12 do ordinary Kent Treble bob work; there are no three-pull dodging behind when a 'Tan' is called.

We find by Mirfield calls we get better rhythm and more musical changes. Here is a short rouch of Minor:-

WESTON, BATH, BELLS GO TO FOUNDRY

For the first time in 213 years there are no bells to be heard in the 13th century tower of All Saints' Church, Weston, Bath. The old Thomas Bilbie ring of six has been taken to Loughborough for retuning and the addition of two treble bells and a complete restoration costing over $£ 1,000$ is now in progress. The founders have been given a free hand and the work includes provision of a new frame, new iron headstocks, wheels and the rehanging of the bells on ball bearings.
To mark the last Sunday service ringing on the old six, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung after evensong on October 5th by six of the oldest stalwarts of the band. Those taking part were: Harry R. Stagg 1, George H. Cross 2, David J. Targett 3, George H. Brewer 4. Sealy S. Woodburn (conductor and tower master) 5 , Hubert J. Ellis 6.
It is hoped to have the restored ring ready by Easter of next year and preparations are already being made for a big rededication service.

A correspondent comments on 'Tan' as

From the description given, it seems as if our friends at Mirfield have added an additional seconds and thirds place at the treble lead to what would otherwise be a nqrmal splice of Kent and Oxford at the lead-end.

| Kent places | 213456 123465 214356 124365 | in a 'Tan' 2-4 also lie still here giving:-$\mathbf{1 2 4 3 6 5}$ |
|  | 142635 |  |
| Oxford places | 416253 |  |
| Oxford places | 1462653 | 124635 |

I suspect this would greatly add to proof difficulties, but in any case it contravenes the Council's decisions regarding calls, so that while it may well be very useful and an ingenious method of keeping the back bells off the slow, it wouldn't be recognised officially.

There are, however, one or two variations of Kent Treble Bob introduced by the Rev. E. B. James about 30 years ago, which are permissible, have the same effect, and are I think, simpler; The two usually rung are 'Cam' and 'Granta.; In these, what really happens is that the treble does a 'slow' (or hunt) work instead of 7-8 in Major, 7-8-9-10 in Royal and 7-8-9-0-E-T in Maximus. The other bells are virtually unaffected.

CHERTSEY'S FAMOUS ABBEY BELL

By WILLIAM SHEPHERD

Fhato 666 St . Erconwald journeyed over the rough lands 1 side the Thames in a two-wheeled, horse-drawn cart a Chertsey little more than a low-lying, desolate marshy waste, closed in by a wide sweep of the river. Soon wâs erected the monastery founded by Frithward, and St. Erconwald became the first abbot. In 871 the Danes in their Viking ships came up the Thames, landed at Weybridge and proceeded to Chertsey Abbey, which they plundered and destroyed. A second pillaging took place in 1010, and when it was rebuilt early in the 12th century the schemi probably included a bell tower and a bell. During the abbacy of John de Usk (1370-1400) it is recorded that the bell tower fell in ruins, a loss regarded as irreparable. That a new bell tower was built circa $1370-1380$ is borne out by the 'Abbey' bell, which is still in use at the Parish Church, a bell bearing the marks of the early Wokingham foundry about the year 1375.

This bell was known as the 'Pardon ' bell, and was tolled to call worshippers to a prayer to the Virgin Mary, which preceded the regular service. Its inscription is in crowned Lombardic capitals, 'ORA MENTE PIA PRO NOBIS VIRGO MARIA ' (Pray with pious mind for us O Virgin Mary). Bells with all crowned capitals are few and far between, but there is also one at Dorchester Abbey, although the inscription is different. At the Dissolution in 1537 the bell survived destruction, and for the past 415 years has been in the tower of the Parish Church and is the 5th of a good octave.

The Abbey bell of Chertsey became famous on account of the story first told by Albert Smith in his 'Blanche Heriot' and afterwards related in ballad form by Clifford Harrison in his 'Legend of Chertsey.' It became very popular especially the oft-repeated words, 'Curfew shall not ring to-night.' The story tells of Cromwell's time when a young soldier was condemned to die, and the time of his death was fixed 'at the tolling of the curfew.' The soldier (Basil Underwood) was soon to have married a beautiful lady (Blanche Heriot), whom he had loved for some time. Loving him ardently, she had used her utmost efforts to avert his fate, pleading with the Judges and even Cromwell himself, but all in vain. In her despair she tried to bribe the old sexton not to ring the bell, but she found this impossible. The hour drew near for the execution, and the preparations were complete. The officers of the law brought forth their prisoner and waited while the sun was setting for the signal from the distant bell tower. To the wonder of everybody it did not ring, but only one person at that moment knew why. The poor girl herself, half wild with the thoughts of her lover's peril, had rushed unseen up the winding stairs and climbed the ladder into the belfry loft to seize the tongue of the bell.

The old sexton was in his place promptly. He threw his weight upon the rope, and the bell, obedient to his practised hands, swung to and fro in the tower. But the brave girl kept her hold and no sound came from the bell. Again and again the sexton drew the rope, but with desperate strength the young heroine still held on, every movement making her position more fearful, for every swing of the bell threatened to sway her through the high tower windows. But she did not let go.

At last the sexton went away. Being old and deaf he had not noticed that the bell gave forth no sound. The brave girl descended from the tower, wounded and trembling. She hurried from the Curfew to the place of execution. Cromwell was there, and was just sending to demand why the bell was silent :

She saw him, and her brow, Lately white with sickening horror,
Glows with hope and courage now.
At his feet she told her story,
And her sweet young face still haggard,
With the anguish it had worn,
Touched his heart with sudden pity,
Lit his eye with misty light.
'Go, your lover lives,' cried Cromwell.
' Curfew shall not ring to-night.'
This legend is based on a similar incident reputed to have taken place in the War of the Roses. The name of the young man in the poem, Basil Underwood, was actually, Neville, the nephew of Earl Warwick, 'the King Maker.' Even Chertsey Church could hardly have been the scene, for in 1471 the bell was still at the Abbey. The real name of the lady seems to be unknown, so we must still call her Blanche Heriot in a reconstructed version of the events, a version which we as ringers would prefer to accept more readily.

When Neville saw the Battle of Barnet was going against him, and his uncle had been killed, he fled, realising that the Lancastrians were soundly defeated. Neville hoped to escape to France, but he very much wanted to see his lady love, Blanche Heriot, before doing so. He went out of his way for this purpose, but some of King Edward's partisans recognised him. He secured his interview with Blanche, and the leave-taking, though it seemed short, must have taken a considerable time. Tracked by his enemies, breathless and spent, he managed to reach the Abbey Sanctuary, yet refuge was denied him. After forcing an entrance, the Abbot could not withstand the fierce determination of the bloodthirsty mob, and Neville was sentenced to be executed within 24 hours.

His Chertsey friends took immediate counsel how to save him. and the only hope Neville had was that he had previously shared with his uncle the enjoyment of Royal favour. He was the possessor of a talisman ring, and if it could reach the King, he stood a good chance of escaping the sentence. His friend, a young doctor, willingly undertook the mission and went to Windsor early in the morning.

The hours wore on and day began to fade. Soon it wanted but a few minutes to the fatal hour, and Blanche Heriot anxiously watched for the return of the mission. Hoping against hope, she was gladdened when she heard the news that the riders were crossing Laleham ferry. Knowing that they had still to traverse the Abbey meadows, there arose the feeling that the journey might have been in vain, also that the pardon might arrive too late. Blanche had a sudden inspiration, and made her way to the Abbey tower just before the ringer of the Curfew was expected to arrive. Her scheme was to delay the ringing as long as possible, so, after mounting the first ladder, she threw it down and continued this process till she reached the bell. She caught hold of the clapper and clung to it firmly when it began to sway with the pull of the rope below. When the ringer went to investigate what was wrong with the bell he found the ladders out of position, and it took him some time to get things right. This delayed him sufficiently to enable Neville's rescuer to produce the King's pardon, and cancel the preparations made for the execution at 8 p.m., when the Curfew was due to be rung.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. John W. Jones, of Newport, Mon., has been in bed for more than eight weeks following a slight stroke. His condition is not too encouraging, but he has amazing vitality. Mr. Jones will be 87 on December 5th.

Despite the fact that the bells of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, have been at the foundry for many months, the year of office of 70 -year-old Mr. Reginald Dennis, as Master of the Society of Cambridge Youths (founded 1724) is a memorable one. This week Mr. Dennis has completed peals of Grandsire from Doubles to Cinques, which is one week after completing his Kent 'family.' Mr. Dennis has rung more peals this year than in any previous year, and included in these are complete sets of Stedman and Grandsire on odd numbers.

Fifteen-year-old M. Orme, who had his first lesson last June, rang his first quarter at Great Wymondley, Herts, on November 16th.

Leicester Cathedral ringers and friends recently presented Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Poole with a silver tea set to mark their silver wedding anniversary.

The peal of Stedman Triples at Crayford on November 17th was arranged and rung on the 75th anniversary of the first peal on the bells. On that occasion the band were afterwards entertained and the conductor presented with a gold watch!
Mr. D. P. Jones, of 81, Grove Road. Hitchin, who is compiling a list of John Dyer's extant bells, asks any readers who have access to the Victoria County Histories of Essex and Cambridgeshire to forward him any details about Dyer's bells (c. 1590) in those counties
A beH without a stay at Rochester Cathedral made a peal attempt on November 15 th somewhat doubtful. Several of the band volunteered to ring the bell, stay or no stay, and the privilege (?) fell to Mr. Herbert Audsley, who proved that there should have been no fear for the success of the peal on that score. The remainder of the band are most grateful to him bells are indebted to bells are indebted to Miss Jennie Armstrong, of Morpeth, who has forwarded some nine tunes which she plays in the famous Morpeth Watch Tower. We have this week cleared of the majority on our waiting list. and those who have not received copies are asked to apply enclosing a stamped addressed envelope.

Miss Nancy Butier, of Shalford. Surrey, is leaving England shortly for Southern Rhodesia.
The Ex-Service Men's Remembrance peal at Blewbury was intended to be an effort by the regular service ringers at the Parish Church. Unfortunately, owing to ill-health. outside help had to be obtained at short notice and Sapper J. Berry, of Wallingford, stepped into the breach

The peal of Yorkshire at Framsden on November 15th was of unusual interest; not only was it rung as a silver wedding peal for Mr. Walter Ruffles. of Debenham. but it enabled, after some 29 years, the 'Framsden Leslies' to ring 300 peals together.
The peal at Egloshayle (Wadebridge), Cornwall, was the first on the eight bells for 45 years. A peal of Doubles was rung on the back six four years ago. but the previous two peals were rung in one day by a touring band in 1907, of which Mr. A. H. Pulling seems to be the only survivor. The bells are a pleasing ring and still go well.

Mr. A. Robinson, of Ravensthorpe, Dewsbury, who introduced readers last week to the 'Mirfield Tan,' comes from a family that can trace ringing ancestry back to the 17th century. His colleague, Mr. W. Smith is the son of Mr. D. R. Smith, of Halifax. who was a Kent Treble Bob composer and a personal friend of Mr. William Sottanstall, of Sowerby, Yorks. Mr. Smith's family has also a long ringing record.

UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATIONS NOTTINGHAM WEEK

Peal bands were abroad early on Thursday morning for it was Loughborough Day and the occasion of our visit to the famous bell foundry of John Taylor and Co. as guests of fellowmember Paul Taylor. One attempt was on the midget foundry ring where, after some false starts. Yorkshire Surprise Major was brought round. being Wilfred Robinson's first peal of Surprise as conductor. The attempt for London at Stanford-on-Soar was unsuccessful and the band dashed to Kegworth just as the bells were being lowered-so up they had to go again. Before that the non-pealers had sampled a light eight at Sawley Church. which, founded by the monks of Repton in the ninth century, still has a finely-preserved and unusually wide Saxon chancel arch.

For an hour before lunch we spent in various parts of the bell foundry seeing every aspect of the founder's art, including actual casting. Then we were translated from the province of Paul to that of his charming wife, and in a marquee set up on the lawn of Foundry House we feasted. Back in the foundry we had much fun in the campanile. saw more casting, chimed the bells of Great St. Mary's. Cambridge, there in the tuning shop, and altogether indulged in the reception being accorded us.

Then came another ringing treat at the Parish Church of All Saints, Loughborough, where for well over an hour we had at our disposal ten very fine bells of select local product. After tea there was time for one more tower before turning homeward and our choice was St. Mary's, Silehy. That evening the weekly pracrice was at St. Peter's and from there to Beeston Church to sing Compline, as is our tradition.

METROPOLITAN ROYAL

The last excursion was to the city of Derby. En routc we called at St. Lawrence's Church. Long Eaton, ' in the centre of the rather dull, modern town ' which became a parish in 1864 . Previously it was served by priests from Sawley and the tiny church of a tiny hamlet is now the south aisle and Lady Chapel, with the semicircular chancel arch of probable Saxon origin like its larger counterpart in the mother church. The bells are a pleasant ring of eight (tenor $10 f$ cwt.). In Derby we went straight to the Cathedral and we wish to put on record our appreciation of the understanding and courtesy of the Bishop and Provost of Derby in allowing us to ring the bells on this busy Friday morn ing. Here it was that several leads of Metropolitan Royal were rung.

A few miles to the south-east of Derby is Melbourne, a lovely village with a glorious Norman Parish Church. 'If the exterior, with its two stumpy, western towers and massive central tower suggests a miniature cathedral, much more so does the interior, with its magnificent arcades of "stilted " Norman arches, its triforium, and the vaulting of the central tower.' The bells, a ring of eight (tenor $15 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), are a good ring. Rung literally from the choir stalls, partly removed on such occasions as our visit. there is a draught of over seventy feet, but. despite this, they were not difficult to manage. Our thoughts turned naturally to Philip and Joan Gray in Melbourne, Australia, and cable as well as autographed picture card was despatched across the seas. From a long letter received in return I quote: 'Onc name we see omitted-Gilbert's. Wasn't he there, or wouldn't he sign?' He would have signed all rieht had he been there, but preparations for the Archbishop of Canterbury's visit to Norwich could not be neglected.
Returning to Derby there were three more towers to visit : St. Peter's, a light octave which goes well and sounds well. St. Luke's, a much weightier eight (tenor $307 \mathrm{cwt}$. ), and St . Anrrew's. a first-class ten for its weight (tenor amidst a vast sea of terraced houses and here a very pleasant surprise awaited us in the person of Dodds-or perhaps we should say Mrs. Dorothy Gardiner, nee Richardson, and young family-over from Burton-on-Trent. Here we may express regrets at being unable to accept an invitation from Mr . B. G. Kcy to attempt a peal at St. Paul's Church, Burton-on-Trent, a gesture none the less appreciated ; and a third point about Burton. Mr. Joe Dyke used to be there and, like Mr. Lewis, in coming to Nottingham was reviving many memories.

Then, after tea, to St. Andrew's for the concluding ring of U.A. week, where a great temptation to prolong our ringing on these lovely bells until the evening service was sturdily resisted. We could not be late back at Wortley Hall.

FAREWELLS

So, for the last time, we sat at dinner with Professor and Mrs. Radford who, throughout the week, had done so much for us in every way, and had taken so much interest in all we did. They are well used to conferences. summer schools and the like but so often these consist of earnest people busy putting the world right, that to have us 'making sweet music and nothing else' was a delightful change. So that as Mr. Lewis presented them with a copy of Mr. Ernest Morris's latest book. 'Bells of All Nations,' beautifully inscribed by the author, we felt that no better memento could have been thought of.

Here with us for our social farewell evening was Clem Glenn, and before he was whisked away by Joe Dyke and one or two other "kindred spirits;' words of deep appreciation were sooken by $\mathbf{M r}$. Lewis for everything he had done to assure the success of our tour. As a reminder of our invasion of Nottingham Mr. Glenn was presented with a copy of the group photograph, and in reply Clem spoke of his pleasure in giving his help and recalled his association with U.B.S.C.R. at Bristol.

This last evening passed all too quickly. In the morning came the exodus, with the transport setting off in all directionst including peal bands to Bottesford and Bolsover neither of which was to record success. Last to leave were the president and the secretary on their journey down to Kent.

Now for a few comments. As the names of those taking part show (see below) we were a most representative party and everyone had some experience in change ringing. So the general standard of our ringing was good, and with a generous sprinkling of the experts the methods rung covered a wide range up to Spliced Surprise. Once again we have to thank Miss Marie Cross for undertaking the arduous job of 'Master,' ably supported by Wilf Moreton and Dick Speed. Our policy of allowing adequate time at each tower meant that there was every chance of careful, unhurried ringing. and many made wonderful progress.

Since we were so near to Lincoln (Southwell Diocese was carved from the Lincoln Diocese) we were able to send our best wishes to old friends there by Charles McGuiness. He brought back an invitation for a few of us to participate in a peal of Stedman Cinques at the Cathedral on the Saturday, and this we did

Finally, our thanks again to incumbents and ringers everywhere we visited in the three counties of Nottinghamshire, Leicestershire and Derbyshire, and to those who had joined with Mr. Glenn in the planning, Mr. D. R. Carlisle of the Derbyshire Association, Mr. Harold J Poole. of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, and Mr. J. W. Raithby, of the Southwell Diocesan Guild And 1953? To mark the first decade it is altogether appropriate that U.A. should go to Oxford, where in 1943 the foundation meeting took place. The dates are August 14th-22nd, and accommodation has been booked.

JOINT AUTHORS

In 1842 there appeared a peal that was a grear advance upon anything that had preceded it. It contained 240 bobs the minimum number for a twin-bob peal) and two Holt's Singles. The peal was rung at Aston and was given as the composition of Thomas Thurstans. In the foilowing year it was rung again, and this time it was credited to Lates. Thereupon ensued a lively controversy which ended in the peal being recorded in the joint names of the two composers. In the course of this controversy John Hopkins was constrained to describe Lates as the robber author', but subsequent evidence would seem to establish the peal as the work of Lates.
In the same year, 1842, Johnson received from Thurstans a peal on a new plan. It contained the four quarter peals of the famous Four-Part; indeed it was the identical peal. except that the four quarters were joined together by special calls. This composition was never rung. but eventually, by some inspiration, Thurstans hit upon the idea of joining the parts by extras and omits, and so the Four-Part was born

THURSTANS FOUR-PART PEAL

Bcfore this happened Thurstans had, unknown to Johnson or to anyone else in the town (as far as we know), composed a five-part peal on the twin-bob plan. containing bobs and common singles only. This peal, the date of which is unknown. undoubtedly was the first legitimate peal of Stedman Triples to be produced. It was sent by Henry Hubbard to a ringer at East Dercham in October. 1845, but how it came into Hubbard's possession is not known, nor can we say why Thurstans said nothing of this notable achievement to Johnson, his prover. The only possible explanation would seem to be that the idea in those days was to get a peal with two singles only, and that Thurstans therefore thought little of this production. What is perhaps more interesting and astonishing is that Henry Hubbard makes no comment on the fact that ordinary singles are used, merely remarking that they would probably be found more convenient than Mr. Hudson's doubles.
On May 18th." 1846, the famous Four-Part was rung on the front eight at St. Martin's. Johnson had received the figures from Thurstans some months previously, and had. it secms. been waiting for an opportunity to call it. Meeting short for a ten-bell practice. the company decided to go for a peal, and it was rung in two hours and fifty-three minutes. The band in this historic performance stood as follows: James Jarvis 1, Emmanuel Stokes 2. William Andrew 3. Joseph Spencer 4, John James 5, Nathan Blunt 6. Henry Johnson 7. Henry Whitworth 8. It was. of course, the first peal of Stedman Triptes to be rung with common bobs and singles only, and it marked the end of the long and arduous struggle by the Birmingham composers. To Lates it came as a complete surprise. He was outside the tower when the band came down after the peal, and he aocosted Johnson with the amazed query. Why, Harry what peal have you been ringing? The bells came round with a common single.' 'I know they did.' said Johnson. 'It was one of Tom's with two common singles. and now you can have it.'
And John Day remarks, 'Those who knew Lates could form a pretty shrewd idea of what he would say after that!

Thus was born and baptised one of the most important compositions the ringing Exercise possesses, a peal that stands with Middleton's Cambridge and Parker's 12 -part peal of Grandsire Triples to make a trio of compositions indispensable to the conductor. There have come to us through the years since 1846 a multitude of peals of Stedman Triples on this amazingly adaptable plan, and the Exercise now has at its disposal a wealth of variety in the method. But Thurstans' peals were the first. and the Four-Part is in many ways the best.
Lates and Thurstans both died in 1858. In his last illness Lates sent for Chattell and handed to him all his papers and books. They passed later on to Perks, Bastable, and then to John Day; but subsequently they vanished. suffering thus the fate of so many manuscripts and papers belonging to ringers.

BURIED BY THE PARISH

Thurstans died in poverty and obscurity. Periods of heavy drinking and wild behaviour alternated with attacks of illness and wretchedness, and so crratic did his behaviour become that ringers avoided him, so that when he died there were few who knew the details of his end. John Day writes:-

The last time 1 remember secing him he was respectably dressed in black. I think in mourning for his sister. with whom he had lived for many years. He was carrying a basket of soil which he had been getting for his window planis. He told me he was unwell and could not work. That was in the Spring of 1858, and in the Autumn of that year Mr. T. Cole, a former member of St. Martin's Youths, went to Johnson and told him that "Poor Tom " was dead. From what Mr. Cole said we were led to suppose that he had had a break out, and was taken ill in the street, it was said with English cholera. He was taken to The General Hospital and there died. No one knew who he was, and no one inquired about him, so it came to pass that the parisho authorities, buried him-no friend or relative being near.'
With the publication of the Four-Part all the old peals of Stedman Triples fell into disuse. The excitement that had agitated and sustained composers of the period died away and interest in the method flagged. So it was that towards the end of the century Arthur Heywood wrote:

- Near upon half a century of apathy has cast around Stedman Triples a shroud of impenetrable mystery almost romantic in its completeness.
There remained, indeed, no clue to the means by which the early composers secured their results or the principles on which they worked. From hints given here and there by John Day and others it would seem that much of the pricking was experimental and on the lines of trial and error; but even if this was so it is also certain that these men brought to the task special knowledge and great natural aptitude, for they were without doubt clever men, and their patience and perseverance against the almost insuperable difficulties of this unique method must command our utmost respect. Henry Cooper, Thomas Day, Henry Johnson, Isaac Lates, and Thomas Thurstans - these were the men whose labours ended in the victory of 1846. and it was to Thurstans that the final honour came.
We cannot but reflect on the wonder and the sadness of it. Lates remained among his friends to the last; Thurstans drifted away, disliked, avoided. outcast. Lates lies buried close to the tower of St. Philips; where Thurstans lies no one knows. Lates's passing received the tribute of a muffled peal; to Thurstans no such honour was accorded. There stands the Masterpiece, four-square to the tempests of time; and behind it is the vision of the lonely, pathetic figure in decent black. with the basket of soil for his plants. And he passes on to the obscurity of a pauper's grave.

CONCLUSION

Here our brief survey may fitly be brought to a close, for the forty years that follow tell of many things outside the theme of Day's memoirs. They are the years of Perks, Bastable, and Buffery, of the maturing of Henry Johnson and the honouring of that grand old man by the ringers of Britain. They tell, too, of the Holt Society of Aston and the forty-ono peals rung by this society, before the amalgamation with The St. Martin's Youths.

The end of the century saw the rise of the Birmingham handbell ringers, the excellent peals recorded by a succession of fine exponents of this art, and the beginning of a reputation that found its consummation in the brilliant Stedman Cinques bands of the period 1920 to 1940.
The strength of the present is a heritage from the past, and so it is that in the continued prosperity of St. Martin's Guild we enjoy the fruits of the labours of the men of old. Let us see to it that their names are never forgotten.

A NOTE ON JOHN DAY

John Day was born in Birmingham in 1825. Round about 1830 his father, who had been a ringer, kept a small public house. 'The Bell ${ }^{\text {' }}$ in Smallbrook Street, and this was the resort of many of the ringers of the town. The boy, however, spent much of his childhood with his paternal grandparents. and there he used to watch his Uncle Thomas, the celebrated Treble Bob composer, tapping tunes and changes on a set of handbells and figuring away for hours on countless scraps of paper
In 1837 John Day was at school at Solihull, and he records a visit he paid to the belfry of the parish church on May 29th. to see the ringing for the birthday of Princess Victoria. Despite these early associations he seems to have had no direct interest in ringing until five years later when William Chattell persuaded him to join the St. Philip's band. In 1842 the baker taught him to ring, and thus began an intimacy that lasted for many years and had no small influence on Birmingham ringing. It was not an unbroken friendship. nor was it always an easy one, for Chattell's manner and the habits of his later life caused many minor rifts and at least one major break. But Day was profoundly affected by the character of this fine ringer, complex and baffing though it was, and while in his memoir he does not hide Chattell's weaknesses and coarsenesses, he writes of him with something of affection and an uncompromising admiration of his skill in the tower

The reorganisation of The St. Martin's Youths in 1860 and the successful restoration of the Bull Ring bells in 1875 were both the result of the efforts of Day and Johnson, but in 1877 the former severed his connection with the society and joined the Holt Society when that company was formed in 1879. Some twelve years later he was largely instrumental in bringing about the merging of the Holt Society and the old St. Martin's Youths to form the modern St. Martin's Guild.

He was not a great peal ringer, but he took part in sowe sixty performances in the standard methods on all numbers. In his views on peal ringing he was fond of quoting his uncle, Thomas Day, who used to say: "Just a peal or two of a sort, and those good ones.
Towards the end of the century John Day succeeded Henry Johnson as Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, and it was during this period that he was persuaded to publish his reminiscences. He died in June, 1902, and was buried at Harborne Church, not far from the spot where Chattell had been laid to rest. Muffled peals were rung for him at Harborne, at Aston, and at St. Martin's.

HALF-MUFFLED RINGING

Dear Sir, - For about sixty years it has been the practice at Oswestry for half-muffled ringing to consist of Grandsire Doubles rung in whole pulls. I was taught to ring at Oswestry and well remember the half-muffled ringing on Good Friday. New Year's Eve, etc. It was rung very slowly and an extent took about a quarter of an hour. Good bell control is essential as the bells must be held both hand and back strokes.-Yours faithfully

Swindon. Wilts. W. B. KYNASTON.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FINEST HANDBELL FEAT

Dear Sir,-The band who rang the recent peal in 16 Surprise Major methods on handbells would not wish anyone to sing their praises, but such a performance should not pass without comment. The magnitude of it will perhaps be more fully realised by those who have achieved a moderate degree of competence in the simpler methods than by those who are without experience of handbell ringing.
It was not until March. 1947, that a peal in 16 Surprise Major methods was rung on tower bells, so that it has taken only five and a half years for that excellent performance to be equalled numerically on handbells. All four members of the band deserve the congratulations of the whole Exercise. Perhaps one may, without wishing to imply that his part was in any way greater than that of the others, pay tribute to the ringer of $7-8, \mathrm{Mr}$. F. W. Brinklow, for retaining sufficient mental agility, after 50 odd years of peal ringing, to participate in a peal of this kind.-Yours faithfully.

THOSE SILENT BELLS

Sir.-May I encroach on your valuable space and mention how sorry I was to read in your leader of Scptember 26th of bells hanging lifeless for perhaps years on end. Those of us living abroad who bave tasted the art of bellringing in the old country hear such news with regret.
We are living in a mechanical age, a period of unrest, and nations are scheming to outwit each other financially, in speed records and the production of methods of destruction.
Those of us who have chosen to live in foreign parts always look to Eneland to keep alive her stately homes and traditions. There is very little left to-day of peaceful and happier times we knew as children and most of the ancient arts and crafts have died. It is pleasing to know campanology, one of the few arts left and 100 per cent. British, is still alive. although it would appear mechanical ringing has. to my regret, crept in. I would call on all those connected with ringing to boycott such mechanism and make every effort to attract recruits to those silent ringing chambers.
When all the bells are speaking you carr all say with pride, "This is truly old England we love so well.'-Yours, etc.,

TO TETBURY RINGERS

Dear Sir, -I hope the Tetbury ringers do not feel unduly disappointed about their recent Sunday morning broadcast, referred to by mother correspondent: its shortness was obviously due to some mistake, not to discourtesy. The impression left by the bells was how pleasant they sounded and what a pleasure those few rounds were to listen to: and one hoped that the ringers would in no way feel upset When they learned how little had been broadcast, for it was still a perfect introduction to Worship. Yours faithfully,

Petersfield.

THE ROAD TO CANTERBURY

Dear Sir,-Having recently seen the film 'The Road to Canterbury:' I can recommend this as of interest to any ringer. Featured in The film are the towers of Canterbury and St. Paul's Cathedral, with Cinques from the former and half-muffled Cinques from the latter tower. Also filmed are other churches en route from Canterbury to London.-Yours faithfully,

THE INCUMBENT IS LEGAL CUSTODIAN

Dear Sir,-I feel that P. A. C. ought to be repentant for he is clearly wrong, neither do his suggested comments to the Vicar hold water -to me they seem ridiculous and perhaps impertinent. As the legal custodian of the bells, the Incumbent is the person to be approached. The first thing he should then do is to consult the tower captain to sec whether there is any objection to the request for the bellsthat is where the local ringer comes in, and this method would rule out any possibility of preventing the local band ringing on one of their own special occasions. I quite agree, of course, that it would be, at least. discourteous of the incumbent not to consult his ringers.
Another point that should be mentioned. regrettable though it may be, is the possibility of the Incumbent never knowing of the request for the bells if the approach be made through the local ringers. It is not unknown for a band of ringers to resent anybody at all ringing on 'their' bells. This was more or less the case in my present parish when I arrived- 1 was even told that the bells were no concern of mine! I fcel fairly certain I should never have heard of any requests for the bells if they had come through the then ringers.
A further practical point: outside one's own area how many visiting tcams would know the name and address of the captain of the band of the tower which they desired to visit (except in the case of famous towers or ringers)? One could hardly write to the Captain of the Ringers, c/o The Vicarage, could one? As an Incumbent I wouldn't be very pleased ar flattered if that happened if it had to come back to me for permission.
Finally, the comments to the Vicar. If P. A. C. is right in what he says, then when a couple approach the Vicar about getting married, the latter should get the church ready. sweep up the confetti afterwards, etc., because the verger hadn't been approached first. Similar incidents can easily be envisaged which go to show how ridiculous the argument is.
I quite agree that if there is the proper relationship between Incumbent and ringers there will be no need to worry-cach will consult the other in any eventuality, and it is good to know that this is usually the case. But the fact cannot be altered that the Incumbent is the legal custodian and has the say, whether he use that power properly or not.-Yours truly,
K. W. H. FELSTEAD (REV.).

CITY TOWERS AVAILABLE

Dear Sir,-Apropos the letter of R. E. Swann, Learner, and your own request for information on City towers available at 6 p.m., the following is a list of ringing facilities in the City:-
Two rings of 12 , neither of which is available;
Two rings of 10 , one not yet rehung after removal for safety during the war, the other unringable for many years.

Three rings of eight: one has never been rung in living memory, one has not been rung since 1937, the third. St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, is the only possibility, and these are not the best of bells for learners.

Two rings of six, both unringable.
One ring of five, not yet rehung after removal for safety.

Such is the sorry. woeful tale of the rings of bells in the City to-day.-Sincerely yours.

ERNEST J. ROWE.

LINCOLNSHIRE SURPRISE COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,-The composition of Lincolnshire Surprise published by Mr. James Topp in your issue of November 14th was originally obtained by Mr. William Barton. It was rung-probably not for the first time-at Harrietsham, Kent, on July 17th, 1948
Composition in this method is extremely intcresting, but scope is of necessity limited if one is restricted to the usual type of peal. generally a 5,056 , of which I have some 15 examples by various different composers. Perhaps those interested in the method might like to consider breaking fresh ground, as has Mr. R. F. B. Speed, who, by producing a 5,024 , has made the only real advance since the Rev. H. Law James published the first peals in the method 25 years ago.-Yours faithfully, Crayford.

E. A. BARNETT

Dear Sir,-If the well-known 5.056 of Lincolnshire Surprise Major by H. Law James is transposed to obtain the qualities claimed for the peal in your issue of November 14th, the following peal is obtained:-

Now six variations are obtainable by calling bobs on different $\mathbf{Q}$ sets at Wrong and Home with the 6 th at bome. Also all of these variations can be started in three differcnt places and still avoid 82 's. Thus, altogether. 18 peals are obtained. Surely this set of compositions belongs to H. Law James; he solved this particular problem first and these variations are hardly original work
The peal given is one of the 18 peals mentioned above.
Peals of Lincolnshire with the 6th the extent home seem to have been worked out, at least those in full courses or with only one short course.
It would be interesting to sec a 5.024 in the method containing the fih extent home, no 82's and no tenors parted. It can be done with the 6th eleven courses home. What about it, Mr. Topp?--Yours sincerely,

Harrow
R. F. B. SPEED.

Dear Sir,-Such compositions in the method using blocks either three middles and one home or one middle, three wrongs, one home are based on the well-known and original peal by the Rev. H. Law James. Having regard to the impossibility of producing original peals because of the nature of the false courses, such compositions should be known as arrangements only.

The composition on page 730 of your issue of November 14th is the peal I called at Hethersett on January 7th this year as an arrangement of mine.-Yours faithfully, Norwich.

NOLAN GOLDEN.

CONGRATULATIONS ON NEWMARKET

 PEALDear Sir,-I offer my congratulations to the band who rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise on the bells of All Saints' Church, Newmarket, on October 21 st. I took part in a peal of Stedman Triples there on July 13th. 1906, conducted by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Successful Meeting at Wyke Regis
Upwards of 40 ringers from Dorset, Somerset and Cornwall attended the meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers held at All Saints' Church, Wyke Regis, on November 15th.

The grand ring of eight bells was available from $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and was kept going until 4 o'clock, when the Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. F. E. Pratt, who gave an inspiring address based on a text taken from St. John xii., v. 5. ' Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence and given to the poor? ${ }^{\prime}$
This text, said the Rector. did not at first sight have much in common with ringing, but it was obviously the opinion of a worldly-minded individual, who was more concerned with value than he was with the motive. If we cared to apply this text to our work for the Church, we should see that only the very best was good enough to render to God's service.
Tea was served in the Hall by the lady members of the church, and the business meeting followed, conducted by the Rev. F. E. Pratt, in the unavoidable absence of both the chairman, Canon A. W. Markby, and the vice-chairman. Archdeacon J. C. Chute, who had sent messages of apology. An apology was also read from Mr. F. Precey. Branch Ringing Master.

A Cornish visitor. Mr. Alan Carveth, of Truro, was elected a non-resident life-member. proposed by Mr. E. T. P. Field and seconded by Mr. F. Stedman.

Arrangements for the annual meeting at St . Peter's Church, Dorchester. were left to the chairman and hon. secretary, the suggested date being January 17th.
It was stated that the six bells at Charminster had been dedicated and were now rehung ready for ringing and the Vicar, Canon D. B. Eperson, had expressed a wish that Guild members thould attend on the next Sunday cvening to ring following the evening service

Mr. E. H. Amey, of Charminster, invited members to the tower for their next Branch practice, on November 29th, from 6 p.m. till 9 p.m., an offer which was gratefully accerted.

Mr. J. H. Hayne, hon. secretary, told the mecting that he had received a letter from the Guild secretary, Mr. W. C. West. reminding members that the Central Council would be mecting at Bournemouth during next summer. and he hoped that members of the Council would be made welcome throughout the Salisbury Guild area and given every opportunity to ring.

In a tribute to the memory of Mr . W. J. Sirions, of St. Peter's. who had died since the last meeting Mr. R. H. Duke said he was a consistent and regular ringer and had taught many to ring. He had only recently given up and then only when forced by ill-health to do so. The members stood in silent tribute to an old friend.
At the close of the meeting the Rev. A. F. Godley proposed a vote of thanks to everyone who had contributed to the success of the mecting and especially to the Rector for his Find welcome. and to the organist and choir.

Mr. Pratt, in reply, said he hoped to see more meetings of this kind, the ringers were always welcome, and he also called for a "big thank you' for the ladies who had looked after their visitors so well.
Ringing was resumed until 9 p.m. under the direction of Messrs. Field and Stedman. Deputy Ringing Masters of the Branch, methods rung including Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples. Plain Bob Minor and Major. Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Maior Ringers were present from Wyke Regis. Abbotshury. Charminster. Dorchester (St. Peter's), Piddlehinton and Preston with visitors from Stalbridge. Templecombe. Truro, Yetminster and Yeovil.

THE SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION

The peace of the lieges of Alloa was shattered once morc when there was an invasion of ringers for the half-yearly meeting of the Scottish Association on October 18th at St. John's, Alloa. Before the ringing had properly begun one of the stays was broken, but this in no way hampered the ringing and there was always someone willing to hold the bell during the short pauses between touches. Ring ranged from rounds to Cambridge.

At this, like many other ringing meetings. more ringers turned up than were expected: they were very welcome but even the extra numbers did not appear to embarrass the Social Guild of St. John's, who most kindly provided tea, as the ringers were not able to clear the tables of the food provided.

A number of the ringers from Dunblane were at the meeting and were duly elected members, All the other towers. except St. James', Leith, were represented. The visitors from outside Scotland included C. E. G. Banham (Norfolk), M. Schofield and R. C. Bell (Watford), F. G. Wilton and A. J. Tickner (Swindon). Allen Batten (Tamworth) and Donald Marshall (Bradford), who are at present temporary residents.

The secretary has in his possession a grey biro pen which was left behind at the end of the meeting and he will be glad to send it on to the owner.

OBITUARY

MR ALBERT LAMBKIN

Mr. Albert Lambkin, who died in hospital at Scunthorpe, Lincs, on November 16th had many friends in two Guilds-the Guildford Diocesan and Lincoln Diocesan Guilds.

Shalford (Surrey) bells were silent when he first lived in the village and for special ringing a band was imported from Guildford. In 1926 he and Mr. Leslie Hunter decided to form a local company and from that time his interest in ringing never waned. When his railway duties permitted he was always to he found either at service or practice ringing. His friendliness made him popular at all ringers' gatherings.

About five years ago he was bereaved by the death of his wife and, haying retired from railway service, he made his home with his married daughter at Scunthorpe. He immediately contacted the local ringers, helping local bands with their practices and participating in service ringing. On the Tuesday before his death he was ringing. Mr. Lambkin had rung about ten peals.

The funeral service was at Shalford Church on November 19th, the Vicar (the Rev. W. R Horth) officiating. The bells were rung halfmuffled for the scrvice, and to his memory a quarter peal was rung in the evening.

MR. A. E. WILLIAMS

For 32 years churchwarden at Knowle, Warwickshire, and the donor of the second bell in the tower in 1931, Mr. A. E. Williams died on November 9 th, aged 78 years.

Many people attended the memorial service for him, which was choral. The choir included four ringers-Miss E. Wootton, Mesdames $\mathbf{A}$. Nix, P. Nix and A. A. Upton. The bells were rung half-muffled in the evening.

Wreaths included one from the choir and bellringers of Knowle Parish Church and another from Packwood Church bellringers.

Bristol City Branch's Outing

The fifth annual outing of the branch took place on October 4 th, the party being conveyed in a coach and a black Humber which conveyed two octogenarians and two others who nearly qualify for the same title.
At Hinton-on-the-Green the Vicar. Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas and Mr. J. Hemmings welcomed the party and the bells were kept going for nearly an hour.

An excellent lunch was enjoyed at Evesham followed with ringing at St. Andrew's. Hampton, and the Bell Tower. Evesham, finishing there with a touch of Stedman Cinques.

The tea interval was taken at Cheltenham and the party took the opportunity to express a very sincerc vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas for completing many of the arrangements for the day, and to our colleagues at Cheltenham.

Ringing for the day finished on the twelve at St. Mary's and while some of the party quenched their thirst the handbell enthusiasts enjoyed a little Stedman. Kent and Double Norwich.
P. P. A. B.

Norwich Diocesan Association

Twenty members attended the meeting of the South Norfolk Branch at North Lopham on November 8th. The Branch chairman (the Rev. F. E. Vokes) conducted the scrvice, the lesson being read by the president (the Rev. A. St. J. Heard).

Business transacted at the business meeting presided over by the Branch chairman included the election of Mr. Lewis Batley (Wingfield) as a ringing member, and Miss D. M. Reeve (Hockwold) and Mr. James Paul (Elveden) as life members. The annual meeting was fixed for February 7th at Diss.

FOR BEGINNERS-AND A WORD TO THE OLDER HANDS

XXII.-HEREWARD AND LONDON BOB

In preceding articles we dealt with double methods and method grouping-the real object of which has been to show that ringers, with the exercise of average intelligence, will find it perfectly easy to extend their practice from one to a number of methods-let us look at some other methods which come into the group of which Double Oxford and Double Court form part.

It has previously been pointed out that certain blocks of changes, forming plain courses, may have their constituent 'leads united either by 2 nds place or 6 ths, when the treble leads, thus forming two different methods. In addition, the same changes can be used to make other methods by the use or omission of 5ths place when the treble lies its whole pull behind. Thus the changes of a plain course can be knit together in one or other of the following ways:

By 2nds only, when treble leads.
By 6ths only, when treble leads.
By 5ths, when treble is behind, and 2nds.
By 5ths, when treble is behind, and 6 ths.
Strictly speaking, 6ths, in Minor, is not a place ' within the meaning of the Act,' or, shall we say, "within the meaning of the application of the word "place." It is only a necessary whole pull in one position to enable a bell, which has been hunting up, to reverse its course and hunt down. But as 4 ths place at the lead head of a regular method is a bob, it follows that if 2 nds place is not made when the treble leads, the bell behind must of necessity lay a whole pull, and so we have our methods divided into 2 nds place and 6ths place methods.

Double Oxford, as we have explained, is, constructionally, Double Court, with the addition of Sths place when the treble is behind and 2nds place when the treble leads.

There are two other methods in this group which are obtained by the employment, in one case, of 2 nds only, and, in the other, by the use of 5ths only. The former is Hereward Bob and the latter London Bob.

When you come to write out the methods you will find that London Bob is the same as Double Oxford, row for row, until the treble leads, and then 2 nds is omitted, and 6ths place is necessarily made by the bell behind.

Hereward Bob follows Double Court, row for row, until the treble leads, when 2nds has to be inserted. In each half-lead of all these four methods places are made across the treble, 4 ths and 3 rds as it passes up through $3-4$; and 3 rds and 4 ihs as it comes down through 4-3. The difference in them all is the link that joins the half-leads.

Here is an interesting thing to do. Write out a full course of one of the methods, cut it into ten pieces by dividing it between the rows when the treble is behind and when it is leading. With these ten pieces you can reconstruct any one of the four methods.

The " standard ' callings as applied to Double Oxford and Double Court apply to these two other methods. Hereward, having 2nds place, is called Wrong, Right. Wrong; and London Bob, having 6ths when the treble leads, In, Out, In.

This is when the 6th is observation bell and the tenors are brought up always the right way behind. If the 5th is to be used as the observation bell and you "keep the tenors the right way - as you should-the calling to be used is 'Right. Wrong, Right' in the 2nds place methods: and Out, In. Out in the methods without 2 nds place. This applies to all regular Minor methods.

In plain methods two singles are necessary to complete the extent, and they are called at what would otherwise be a 'plain' Right or a plain 'Out,' according to whether it is a 2nds or 6ths place method, if the 6th is the observation bell; and at a plain Wrong or plain In if the 5 th is the observation bell. The first single may be called in either the first, second or third part of the first half, as long as the second single is called in the corresponding part of the second half.

Mr. A. J. PITMAN'S RETIREMENT

The peal of Stedman Triples at Aberavon on November 15 th was arranged as a compliment to Mr. A. J. Pitman on his retirement, at the age of 65 years.

In the past Mr. Pitman has been fully occupied. Besides his employment as inspector in charge of the large railway yards at Port Talbot (known for its Great Abbey Steelworks), his spare time has been taken up in devoted attention to the care of his wife, who is bedridden and unable to move her limbs.

The writer knows that much of Mr. Pitman's compositions and proofs of other composers' peals have been done on his bedside table when it was thought that he was resting after work. The ringers expressed the hope that $\mathbf{M r}$. Pitman will have more time now to devote to composition and also that he will ring peals more frequently.

HUDDERSFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fine weather favoured the Huddersfield District Society for their meeting at Kirkburton on November 8 th. A few touches were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Maddocks in the absence of the president.

An excellent tea was arranged by Mr. Roberts and enjoyed by a company of 24 . The meeting was arranged to coincide with the 50th year of service as a ringer by Mr. Roberts and he received many congratulations.

The next meeting (the annual) is to be held at Halifax Parish Church, the probable date of which will be January 10th.

As many of the younger members were absent, ringing did not go above Stedman and Double Norwich Court Bob Major. It started well and finished well, but, like the proverbial sandwich, that between was of doubtful quality. Probably the considerable sway of the tower made striking more difficult for mixed teams.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

The Chew Deanery Branch held their monthly meeting in dense fog at Dundry on November 15th.

The fine tower was built at the end of the 15th century by the Merchant Venturers of Bristol to assist shipping navigating the Bristol Channel and River Avon to the Port of Bristol. The church stands 790 feet above sea level and a fine view of the city and the surrounding countryside can be had from the tower on a clear day.

The six bells do not 'go' too well but were put to good use by between 20 and 30 ringers, methods plactised ranging from rounds to London and Cambridge Surprise Minor. -

A $\mathbf{2 , 5 0 0}$ MILES' RINGING TOUR

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

THE VALUE OF OLD ACCOUNTS TO CAMPANOLOGY

THE Parish Church at Knowle, Warwickshire, has had bells for 550 years, and the story of their maintenance for the last 300 years can be followed in the Chapel Wardens' Accounts*, which begin in 1672. There can be comparatively few ringers who realise the fascinating interest and quaint descriptions of incidents in the Churchwardens' Accounts preserved in the older parish churches. Although there is nothing outstanding about the Knowle Accounts, the quotations below are solely from them, the writer being fully conversant with them.

In 1672 the first entry in the Accounts referring to ringers reads: 'Nouember 51672 gaue the Ringers 2/6.' The money was paid for ale, so it probably reached no further than the innkeeper's till. In those far-off days, with the bell founder's work of a lower standard than to-day, ringing was thirsty work !

Ropes were not so soundly constructed then as they are now, or else they were used so often as to necessitate their annual renewal. Prices also fluctuated-whether because of the degree of urgency for replacement one cannot tell-but they cost 8 s .4 d . in 1674, while in the ensuing ten years the cost varied between 7s. 4d. and 10s. 6 d .

Minor repairs to the bells were numerous yet not without interest, for the Accounts often mention names of local tradesmen. Sundry entries in the Knowle Accounts, taken at random, have their parallels in almost any in the country.
1672. pd William Needles for putting in the Bauldrick making it new and mending the staple of the Bell 2/8.
1676. pd Archelaus Busbe for work about ye Bells $1 /$-.
1690. pd Andrew Needle for mending the bell wheel $1 / 6$.
1700. pd for mending a Bell Clapper & Brass 10d.
1702. pd to Tho Barlow for cotters & ferrils for ye Bells 10d.
1704. pd for Nails for the Bell Frame and Floor Is.
1736. For taking up the Bells and Staying 'em 1s.

The bauldrick (bawdrick, baudrick, baldribb, etc.) was a leather thong by which the clapper was suspended from a staple in the crown of the bell.

Besides the local flavour of the Accounts there are events of national importance for which the ringers were called out to herald in the usual way, for agreed sums of money.
1684. pd to ye Ringers on ye Kings Coronation Day 2/6.
1688. June 28. Gave the Ringers & pd for gunpowder when the Bishoppes were sett free $2 / 6$.
1689. Gave the Ringers on Coronacon day 3s.
1691. Given to the Ringers at the seige of Lymerick 1s.
1694. pd Andrew Neeler for tolling the Bell for the Buriall of the Queen 1s.
1713. Gave to the Ringers on ye Acct of ye news of ye peace $2 / 6$.
1714. Gave to the Ringers at ye landing of ye King $2 / 6$.

When recasting became necessary in 1681 and again in 1687, the Chapel Wardens' Accounts recorded the payments in detail, so that little is left to the imagination. The first sign of anxiety for the bells was apparent when 3s. 9d. was spent ' at a meeting about the bells ' at the beginning of 1687 . As a result 'a man ' was paid 3s. for going to the bell founders, and subsequently the bells were removed and carted off to the bell foundry. The expenses were enormous, even to the extent that when Mathew Bagly, the bell founder, came to Knowle, the sum of 3 s. 11d. (about $£ 2$ of modern money) was spent on him. Some of the work involved makes interesting readinghow, at each end, the bells were loaded after being weighed, the carriage expenses and, of course, the various accoutrements on the bells' return to Knowle.

On peal boards in any tower can be seen names of ringers in peals, but where, as at Knowle, there were but three bells in olden times and peals non-existent, the Accounts are invaluable. The first named ringer at Knowle was one Andrew Neeler, in 1694, who was paid 1s. for tolling the bell at the time of the Queen's burial.

Customs in the belfry are observed in most old churches, some going right back to very ancient times. At Knowle the observance of some of them can be seen on referring to the Chapel Wardens' Accounts. On November 5th the bells still peal out, as they did 300 years ago, for 'Gunpowder, treason and plot.' The difference is that it was in those days a paid job-now it is voluntary. At 8 p.m. from November 5th until Christmas Eve the curfew is rung-a job which was worth 10s. in days gone by, but now an unpaid privilege.

Were space not limited this article could be extended. but what appears above is merely the bone-plenty of good meat can be found in the Churchwardens' Accounts to fill a small book about any belfry. It is sincerely hoped that some ringers will be desirous of looking up the ancient records of their tower and bells and, in some way, collect them all into one book of records. How about it, campanologists?

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Christmas greetings from readers to their friends in the Exercise will appear in the issues of December 19th and December 26th. Price 3 - for up to 30 words.

The bells of. St. Nicholas', Newport, Salop, have been installed by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and it was hoped to have them ringing again on Dec. 6th, the day of the church's patron saint, St. Nicholas. The second and sixth bells of the octave have been recast and all the bells fitted with ball bearings. The old oak frame has been strengthened. Messrs. J. B. Joyce and Co., Ltd., of Whitchurch are to put in new and better hammerwork for the chimes.

The time for the peal rung at Acle on November 10th was 2 hours and 44 minutes and not as published.
We regret to record the death of Mr . S . Laxton, a ringer at Rippingale, Lincolnshire, for 50 years and one-time secretary of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The band who rang the peal of eight Spliced Surprise methods at Conisborough, Yorks, would like to associate with it Mr. M. C. Fowler, who was prevented from taking part on account of illness.
For several years the late Mr. Albert Lambkin travelled each week from Scunthorpe to Messingham to attend the practice night and give the benefit of his unstinted help and advice. To his memory a quarter peal was rung on November 20th, ringing being preceded by prayers offered by the Vicar.

A tower of which we hope to hear more about in the future is Hovingham, Yorkshire. About a year ago Mr. Fred Bishop went to live there and his enthusiasm has created greater interest among the younger men in the village. On Remembrance Day the bells were rung half-muffled to touches of Stedman, Grandsire and St. Simon. Although the bells were installed in 1887 they had not previous to this year been heard halt-mufficd.

BELFRY GOSSIP

So bitter was the cold when Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were installing the rehung bells at Newport, Shropshire, that the bellhangers had to leave the bell chamber every half-hour for a hot drink.
Regarding the peal at Egloshayle in 1907 referred to in this column last week. Mr. A. H. Pulling informs us that Mr. G. N. Price is another survivor of the band.
We have received the following corrections to the peal at Haddenham on October 25th:Second should read Frederick Vickers; seventh George W. Holland
Miss Betty Taylor made a praiseworthy start to her peal ringing at Sempringham Abbey, Lincolnshire, on November 22nd, when she rang the second to seven Surprise methods. Aged 16, this was her first attempt at a peal. Buckerell ringers are quite proud of their first peal, which was called for them by Mr. Brian Pidgeon, of East Budleigh. It was for the golden wedding of Mr. John Wheaton, who for 58 years has been a ringer and is now in his 79th year. Both he and his wife were born in the village and married in the Parish Church. For many years he was captain of the local ringers, being succeeded in 1945 by Mr. F. H. Parr.

We regret to learn that 87 -year-old Mr . Frank V. H. Sinkins, of Slough. Buckinghamshire, has had the misfortune to fall downstairs and fracture his collarbone. Right up to the Sunday before his accident Mr, Sinkins was ringing regularly and our correspondent informs us that he is very cheerful and eager for the day when he can return to his favourite pastime. When asked what he'd been up to, Mr. Sinkins replied that he was going upstairs but when he got to $4-5$ up he made a trip and became 4-5 down! Mr. Sinkins is at present confined to his room at 33, College Avenue. Slough.

A 2,500 MILES' RINGING TOUR  SYDNEY RINGERS VISIT MELBOURNE, BALLARAT AND ADELAIDE

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N Friday, August 22nd, 1952, a party of seven ringers, all members of the N.S.W Association, left Sydney on the 7.30 p.m. Melbourne express on the first stage of a two weeks' ringing tour of Melbourne, Bendigo (Sandhurst), Ballarat and Adelaide. The trip to Albury ( 400 miles) on the border of N.S.W. and Victoria, went very smoothly, though it Was a little tiring. The fashion parade of the other occupant of the compartment as when bellringers travel in this part of the world they have some weird and wonderful costumes to keep out the cold. We arrived at Albury at $8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and transferred to Victoria's streamlined, air-conditioned train, 'The Spirit of Progress.' Breakfast was served in the dining car and was thoroughly enjoyed by all, even the ladies forgetting their waistlines to partake of the excellent meal provided.

We arrived at Melbourne at 12.30 p.m. feeling quite fresh considering we had just leff the train after 600 miles with only half an hour break at Albury. The St. Paul's Society ringers were at Spencer Street station in force to greet us.
AN INTRODUCTION TO 12-BELL RINGING That evening we gathered at St. Paul's for a ring and to meet the rest of the band. The members of the party who had not rung these bells before were very excited at the prospect as they had heard many tales of their beautiful tone and 'go.' All were satisfied that the bells were all that had been said about them. The party was welcomed by the Dean of the Cathedral, the Very Rev. Roscoe Wilson. After tea, which had been provided on a lavish scale by the St. Paul's Society, the Dean informed us of the many historic and interesting fcatures of the Cathedral and expressed the hope that we would take the opnortunity of seeing them before we left. The Press were on hand and after the usual delays were satisfied with photographs. The bells were then rung in rounds using the full ring of 12 . It was the first time that six of the visitors had heard 12 bells ringing to rounds. Courses of Maximus and Cinques were attempted and touches of Caters and Royal rung to the great satisfaction of all. Supper followed during which Messrs, Curran and Rowe delighted all present with tunes on the handbells.
On Sunday morning we rang at St. Paul's for a special service in connection with the Australasian Medical Congress being held in Melbourne. Four of our ringers attended the service and were seated in the second' pew in specially reserved seats. It was a most beautiful and impressive service. The Cathedral itself is full of colour and this was further enhanced by the robes worn by many of the doctors.
In the afternoon, with the assistance of Mrs. In the afternoon, with the assistance of Mrs.
oan Gray, an attempt was made to ring a peal of Plain Bob Major. Unfortunately this failed after one and a half hours. In the evening a very good quarter of Plain Bob Royal was scored.
On Monday August 25 th. we went to St . Kilda, Melbournc's renowned beach. In the evening the party split up and visited friends in the city.

AT BENDIGO

On Tuesday arrangements were made to hire a car in which to make a trip to Bendigo. some 96 miles from Melhourne. a journey of three and a half hours. We arrived in Bendigo at 12 noon and made straight for St. Paul's Church, where we were greeted by Mr. Travis Wilson and Mr. Alex. Herman. After lunch we came back to ring the bells. which had not been rung for 60 years. The tone is very fine and they are really beautiful bells. It appears ing rung was because the tower was thought to be unsafe. However, the enthusiastic band there are doing their best to convince the authorities that the tower is quite safe for ringing, and we hope their efforts are fruitful.
After a delicious afternoon tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, we returned to the tower and rang until 6.30 p.m. We were then tawer and rang until 6.30 p.m. We were then handbells belonging to St. Paul's. Messrs. Rowe and Curran delighted the ringers with tunes on the handbells. At 7.30 p.m. we said goodbye to all our new-made friends and set off for Melbourne, arriving back at our hotel at 12 midnight after a most enjoyable and historic day.
On Thursday, 28th, we said goodhye to Melbourne and set off for Ballarat, three hours' journey in the train from Melbourne. At St. Peter's we found the bells to be in very good ringing order. Reporters from the 'Courier' arrived and interviewed and photographed the band. A well-struck quarter of Doubles in four methods was rung. We then had tea and returned in the evening to the tower to meet the ringers and ring another quarter of Doubles, this time with three members of the Ballarat team included. Touches were rung with the other ringers and a supper in , the Church Hall followed, at which we met the Rector.
The next morning, August 29th, was free and in the afternoon another quarter was scored at St. Peter's with the local ringers taking part.

A QUARTER AT THE CITY HALL

In the evening we rang at the City Hall where there is hung a fine octave cast by Mears and Stainbank. This is the only active ringing tower in the Southern Hemisphere which ringing tower in the Southern Hemisphere which other ring is the Albert bells and tower of the Town Hall. Adelaide, which are, unfortunately, inactive. We enjoyed our ring on these bells immensely and good touches were rung with the Ballarat ringers.

On Saturday morning vet another quarter was scored at St. Peter's Church. Afterwards, Graeme Waldron, who is a volunteer fireman with the Ballarat Brigade, conducted us on a very interesting tour of the Fire Station. After lunch we visited the City Hall. where we inspected the Mayor's Room and the Committee Room, and then adjourned to the belfry where, after ringing touches with the local ringers, the Sydney band, with the help of Graeme Waldron on the tenor, scored a very good quarter of Grandsire Triples, the striking being particularly good throughout. It was rung as a birthday compliment to the conductor, Laurie Curran. After tea we returned to the tower for our farewell ring in Ballarat. We left with the knowledge that the Ballarat ringers had gained materially from our visit. A long night's journey was ahead of us and Mr. Gullock. secretary of the City Hall ringers. knowing this, very thoughtfully provided a most delicious supper in the form of pies and pasties made by a friend of his for the occasion. We made our way to the railway station where we were to catch the $9.40 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. 'Overlander ' to Adelaide. All the ringers came to the station to see us off and we thanked them for the very see us off and we thanked ther

ADELAIDE'S WELCOME

Our entrance into Adelaide ( 500 miles) the next morning was enhanced by the promise of a beautiful day. We were met at Adelaide Station by the ringers of St. Peter's Cathedral Society. who conveyed us to the Cathedral by cars. There, with the assistance of Harry Cox on the tenor, we rang a beautifully-struck quarter of Grandsire Triples. conducted by Bill Rowe.

In the afternoon the Cathedral ringers called to take us for a drive through the Mt. Lofty Ranges, which are at Adelaide's back door and are the scenic view place of the city. Returaing to Adelaide, the team broke up, some going to St. Peter's Cathedral and a few to St. Andrew's, Walkerville. Miss Joan Hills was at St. Andrew's, having just arrived from England that afternoon. A 720 Minor was scored. Miss Hills' first touch in Australia. All ringers gathered at St. Andrew's Church at 9 p.m. and were conveyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staudie, captain of St. Andrew's, where we enjoyed a most delightful supper
An attempt for a quarter of Plain Bob Major at the Cathedral on Monday, September 1st, unfortunately failed.
On Wednesday, September 3rd, we visited the Town Hall, and Mr. Anthony Taylor, one of the clerks, kindly conducted us on a tour of the building. We saw the bells and the projection box which makes it impossible for them to be rung. We also saw the revolving drum by means of which the bells are 'rung,' and were very sorry to see such shameful waste. We spent an hour that afternoon ringing at St. Andrew's and then returned for an interview with the Town Clerk of Adelaide. We hope our talk with him about the bells may lead to them being rung once more.
On Thursday, September 4th, we visited the Barossa Valley, the centre of the wine-growing industry of South Australia, calling in at the Church of England, Gawler, to inspect their hemispherical bells. The next day, our last in Adelaide, we visited the Adelaide Show and then hurried back to prepare for our departure.

Our trip home (over 1.000 miles) brought us through Broken Hill, a very important city. and the centre of some of Australia's richest silver and lead deposits, which, unfortunately. we had little time to inspect. So we continued on our way, arriving back in Sydney at 7.30 a.m. on Sunday, September 7th.

Our trip had been unique in the annals of bellringing history-we had covered 2.500 miles, the longest land journey ever attempted by bellringers. However, to us it was more than that-it was a holiday we shall never forget, and a time of fellowship with our brother ringers in Victoria and S. Australia. R.E.D.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION

Meeting at Heston

The November meeting was held at Heston, where, apart from the usual warm welcome from the locals, tea was taken in the Vicarage under the genial eye of the Vicar, Preb. F. W Ferraro. He also gave a homely talk to the ringers at the service, and it is not surprising to learn that Heston is one of the few churches in Middlesex that is really filled each Sunday.
At the quarterly business meeting six new members were elected. including four of the local band. Regret was voiced at the illness of Mr . Jack Cobb of Heston. The congratula tions of the meeting were sant to Mr. E. C. S Turner, the general secretary of the Association, and his friends at Bushey on their ringing a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 16 methods on handbells. It was a magnificent performance of perseverance and concentration, and the impressive record of similar performances by this band may never be equalled. The skill and patience of the umpire. Bill Wenban, was also commented upon and commended
There was general disappointment when access to the ringing chamber of St. Paul's, Hounslow. was denied the visitors in the absence of the key. How many times have ringers' hopes been dashed by this little impediment However, the motorist-ringers stepped into the breach and most of the party were wafted off to Heston, out of the rain and cold. The afternoon's and evening's ringing covered a wide range. from rounds for some promising young recruits from Hampton. Heston and Hillingdon to various Surprise methods.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

Splendid Support for Initial Annual Dinner

A the annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford in June last, it was decided to hold a dinner before the end of the year and this function duly took place at Wadsworth's Cafe on November 15th. The attendance of 111 was highly satisfactory and most encouraging to the committee responsible for the arrangements.
In the chair was the Archdeacon of Stafford (the Ven. W. A. Parker), supported by Mrs. Parker. Other visitors included Canon A. S. Jenkins (Vicar of Walsall). Dr. A. B. Lavelle (Vicar and Rural Dean of Wedncsbury), Mr. Albert Walker (Birmingham). Mr. Frank Perrens (Coventry). Mr. C. Skidmore (Master of the Woroestershire Association) and ringers and their wives from Worcestershire and Shropshire.
After an excellent meal the chairman proposed the loyal toast. Mr. Fred Bennett, lay secretary, then announced apologies from the Rev. C. H. Barker (elerical secretary), Mr. the Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary), Mr.
W. F. Stenson (Crewe) and Mr. and M's. Colclough (Bilston). In his remarks, which followed the Archdeacon said what pleasure it gave him to be present at the dinner and to see such a good attendance at this initial venture.

Proposing the toast of 'Church and State,' Mr. Gordon Goodson laid emphasis on the important parts these two institutions had in his life. He went on to say that he always felt guilty if he did not attend service after ringing, especially if leaving the tower to engage in worldly pleasures. As a Shropshire farmer speaking in Wedncsbury. Mr. Goodson could not resist a reference to "feather beds.

Replying to the toast. Dr. A. B. Lavelle caused considerable amusement when recounting how the originator of 'feather bed farming inadvertently read Chapter 56 of the Prophet Isaiah instead of Chapter 55 (readers please refer) at the civic service at Wednesbury. Parish Church.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

An enjoyable joint meeting of the North and North-Easi Devon Branches was held at South Molton on November 22nd. A grand welcome was prepared by the local band of call change ringers, who joined in the raising of the bells. altered the length of rope where required and later joined with some of our own ringers in a short touch of call changes. The local tower secretary had made all arrangements for the grand tea provided in the Church Hall.
The Vicar conducted the service and gave a most inspiring address. There was no business except fixing the date and place of the annual meeting of the North Devon Branch (December, 9th, 7.30, at Combe Martin).
The success of the meeting was largely the result of the good offices of the efficient Ringing Master, the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, who kept the bells going to rounds, Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Boh. Visitors included Mr. Smale, from Okchampton. Mr. Ficld, from Dorchester, and others from towers between.

ROTHWELL'S CALENDAR

The bells of Holy Trinity. Rothwell. Northants, are being dismantled prior to being rehung on ball bearings by John Taylor and Co Loughborough. They will be ready in time for the Coronation. An appeal fund to raise $£ 1.500$ for the bells and restoration of the south aisle roof has been opened. To help raise this sum the parish is selling a calendar with a beautiful sketch of the tower, price 2 s . 6 d . Applications. with remittances, should be sent to Mr. Brian Austin. 41. Harrington Road. Rothwell.

Proposing the toast of 'The Society,' Canon A. S. Jenkins said he observed that on the toast list this was put down as THE Socicty. Reference to Societies conjured up visions of all kinds of organisations from an Astronomical Society to the Mau Mau. No wonder ringers aroused suspicions about their "Societies * when they locked themselves in a lower for hours at a time. Canon Jenkins said that he had always been curious as to what happened to those ringers who did not attend service after ringing. That evening Mr. Goodson had given him the answer-they went in search of worldly pleasure.
Replying. Mr. Herbert Knight traced the progress the Society had made during his own long association with it, a period of nearly 60 years.
Mr. Frank Perrens. proposing the toast of ' The Ladies.' said that as recently as 25 years ago the presence of ladies in the belfry was frowned upon. How different it was to-day when in many towers the ladies just could not be done without.
In reply. Mrs. Joan Bennett mentioned that she was only speaking that evening under pressure from her husband. because he could not persuade any other lady to undertake the task.
Proposing the final toast. 'The Visitors,' Mr. B. G. Key stated that one could hardly regard Messrs. Perrens. Walker and Skidmore and the Worcestershire Association members as "Visitors' and he preferred to ask the assembled company to rise and drink to 'Kindred Associations.
Replying to the toast, Mr. Bernard Ashford expressed his pleasure at being present and remarked on the happy relationship which existed between the 'Worcesters' and the 'Staffords.'
Entertainment was provided by Mr. James Owens (tenor), Mr. A. V. Pearson (baritone). Mr. R. G. Wagstaff (accompanist) and the Brierley Hill and Tamworth bands of handbell ringers. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung by four stalwarts of the 'Staffords.' Messrs. H. Knight, E. Speake. H. Howell and F. Brotherton.

OBITUARY

MR. T. C. DAVIES
Although not a ringer, Mr. Theophilus Clive Davies. of the Old Vicarage. Hawkley, Hants, who died in King's College Hospital, London. was a great lover of bells. He financed, in 1949, the restoration and addition of two bells to complete the octave at Hawkley Parish Church. This he did in memory of his eldest son, who was killed in World War Two.

Mr. Davies, aged 81 , was patron of the living of Hawkley, a lay canon of Portsmouth Cathedral and chairman of the Diocesan Board of Finance. He took a great interest in the young band of ringers in the Parish Church
At the funcral service on November 19th Hawkley bells were rung half-muffled by C.
Pound, R. Pound, A. Pound, D. Pound, Miss Pound, R. Pound, A. Pound, D. Pound, Miss A. Stoddart. C. Stoddart. A. Stoakes and P. Coles.

MR. R, A. WARD

Vcry keen on anything connected with his church and a member of Daybrook. Notts, Parochial Church Council. Mr. Robert Arthur Ward, a regular Sunday service ringer, died on November 17th. He had nine peals to his credit.
To his memory 1,260 Oxford Bob Triples was rung half-muffled on the bells of St. Peter's. Daybrook, on November 23rd. by H. Cawthorne 1, B. M. Buswell (conductor) 2, Joan Hoodless 3, P. E. Ball 4. J. Troughton 5, J. A Barratt 6, A. Simpson 7. W. Perkins 8. First quarter in the method by 3 and 7 .

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS

The annual meeting of the Society was held at the Bell Foundry, Whitechapel, on November 22 nd. At the conclusion of routine business the Master vacated the chair, and Mr. E. Alex Young was unanimously voted to the chair to conduct the election of officers for the ensuing year. Elected were Mr. F. E. Collins, Master; Mr. J. E. Chilcott, senior steward ; Mr. C. J. Watts, junior steward: Mr. A. B. Peck, secretary; Mr. A. A. Hughes, treasurer; and Messrs. E. G. Fenn and W. H. Pasmore trustees.
Mr. E. A. Young conducted the new Master to the chair and invested him with the badge of his office, placing in his hand the gavel with the traditional but simple dignity which has come down over many such ceremonies, and wished him a successful year of office.
The new Master paid a high tribute to the outgoing Master, Mr. J. G. A. Prior, and thanks were expressed to Mr. A. A. Hughes for his kindness and hospitality, and to Mr. Young for his services. Suitable replies having been given the members then proceeded to St. Dunstan's, Stepney, and some good ringing was enjoyed on this fine ring. which has recently been restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Suffolk Guild

On November 15 th St . Mary's Company, Preston, held their annual ringing meeting at which the following methods were rung: Stedman, Plain and Little Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Reverse Bob, Double Court. Double Oxford, St. Clement's, Cambridge, Bourne and Netherseale Surprise.
In the evening the party enjoyed an excellent supper at the Six Bells Inn, followed by community singing, vocal and pianoforte solos and a varied selection of airs on the handbells by 'The Bell-chords Trio.'
Votes of thanks were accorded Mr. F. Dı3, organiser, and all who contributed to this enjoyable gathering, which ended with 'Tne Queen.'

Two New Trebles for Marsden

Following suggestions from visitors that the addition of two trebles would result in a fine ring of ten the Marsden ringers have opened an. Additional Bells Fund. An estimate received from the bellfounders, Messrs. Taylors. gives the cost of thesc two bells as $£ 500$.
Many schemes to raise the moncy have bcen decided upon. These include concerts, plays. jumble sales etc
The framework for the two bells is already in place in the tower
If any ringer would care to make a gift, no matter how small, it, will be greatly appreciated.
Donations can be sent to cither of the treasurers, who are:-Donald B. Cater, 43. Woods Avenue, Marsden, Huddersfield: Frank D. Livescy, 16, Wood Top, Marsden. Huddersfield.

North Mymms, Herts

The ringers of St. Mary's. Nortb Mymms, were joined by friends from Hatficld and St. Albans for their annual outing on November 1st.
The first stop was St. Mary's, Reading, where touches were rung on the fine eight. The ringers continued to St. Mary's, Thatcham, where the light eight were, after an indifferent rising, rung to methods ranging from rounds to Double Norwich. The party then reached Swindon, where lunch was tollowed by ringing at St. Mark's.
After ringing at St. John-the-Baptist's, Burford, justice was done to an excellent tea. The party then set out for the last ring at St. Giles, Stony Stratford. On the return journey handbells were rung to end a very enjoyable day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WEST REGION B.B.C.

Dear Sir, -Now that the brevity of the Tetbury broadcast has been satisfactorily explained may I say a word in defence of the B.B.C.?

Here in the West Region we are particularly fortunate in that the Religious Director, the Rev. Martin Willson, is keenly interested in bells and ringing. Two years ago half hour programmes entitled 'From Tower and Steeple were given and last winter, in his weekly programme, 'The Faith in the West,' the bells and ringers from a selected tower in each county in the Region were featured.
Furthermore, whenever bells precede a broadcast Sunday service from the West Region the fact, together with the name of the captain of the ringers, is published in the 'Radio Times.' One clear minute's ringing, free from any announcement, is the rule in the Region, and although Mr. Willson has been repeatedly asked to extend this he has said it is all he can manage to give.

It may be news to many of your readers to know that at 7.57 a.m. on Sundays in the Light Programme a bell record can be heard. At present the bells are those of St. Giles-in-theWood ringing good, but by no means perfect, call- changes. A series of recordings has, I understand, been made at Evercreech and will shortly supersede the St. Giles' record

The reason for the happy relations existing between the B.B.C. and ringers in the West Region is that the initial approach was made by Mr. J. T. Dyke, whose tactful persuasion and persistence were as successful in this sphere as in so many others.- Yours faithfully,
E. J. TAYLOR

FOOTNOTES TO PEALS

Dear Sir,-I should like to raise the question of footnotes to peals. It is a common complaint that too many ascriptions and commemorations are often attached to peal reports, but surely the limit has been exceeded by a recent report, a footnote of which imparted the information of the extent to which the band appreciated the merits of the composition. If this kind of appendage to peal reports is permitted we shali soon be having all sorts of candid comments, such as. "The striking was appalling and only the ringer of the 6th, who is rather deaf, enjoyed a minute of it.' or: - We were longing to break down and only the persistence of the conductor (who has now circled " the tower) kept us going." Peal reports are records of ringing facts and achievements, not of opinion and æsthetic judgments, however illuminating such may be, and footnotes ought to be strictly in accordance with that principle.-Yours faithfully,

SHILLINGTON, BEDS, BELLS

Dear Sir,-May I ask Mr. Derek P. Jones while he is investigating, if the following is true concerning the Shillington bells:-Pulloxhill people sold their bells to Shillington to enable them to buy a new steeple, as, I understand, the church and tower were damaged during a very heavy thunderstorm.

I spent most of my schooldays at Pulloxhill in the early ' 80 's and this story was common talk; I should like very much to know if it is true. The tower has only one bell. I used to watch my oldest brother ring it as it was always rung up and it amused me to see the sally go through the roof and back again. I did not know Treble Bob then !- Yours truly,

Dale Abbey.

VARIATIONS, TRANSPOSITIONS AND REVERSE CALLINGS

Dear Sir,-I know Mr. Warrington would not approve of anything written before his parents were courting but I feel I must draw attention to 'A Treatise on Treble Bob. Part I.' by the late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon. The introduction to the first edition was dated April 11th, 1878. The whole of this book would be of great value to many of our would-be composers but Chapter V., in particular, headed The Transposition of 'Pcals ' is of interest in view of Mr. Warrington's learned words as to the difference between a variation, a transposition or a reverse calling. I would like to see the chapter reprinted in . The Ringing World 'in full but that would be too tedious for your non-technical readers. However, I hope I may be forgiven if I quote one or two apposite phrases. Snowdon writes:-

- I will first explain several ways in which peals can be altered in the arrangement of the calling so that, unless carefully examined, they may be easily mistaken for different compositions.

The principles upon which these variations are produced should be thoroughly understood by all composers
(a composer) may put himself to much trouble and make himself the laughing stock of the Exercise by reproducing a variation of some well-known peal and putting it forth as an original composition.

If anyone, however, takes upon himself to attach his name to a peal, it is his duty to use every endeavour to assure himself that he has not produced an old one. Although, if for this reason only, every composer should be acquainted with these principles, he will also find them of much use in varying any original composition he obtains, so that it can be sent out in the best possible form into which it can be transposed.'

These are striking instances of the importance of every composer assuring himself, by comparison, that he is not reproducing old compositions, as here we have 13 peals, all of which turn out to be mere variations of well-known originals.

There is another way of varying certain peals which actually changes the number of bobs in the peal, without making any difference. except, that by the admission or omission of certain bobs in certain places, the peal branches off into a different part of the original

As all compositions entirely depend upon the number of leads apart at which the bobs occur, on consideration, it will easily be understood that if a peal is reversed, that is, if the order in which the bob leads are apart is inverted the result will be a true peal.
A little experience will. however, soon show a composer how to arrange any original composition in the most advantageous manner.'
The author then shows Middleton's Cambridge Surprise Major in two different formsone starting with one home and the other with two homes. To my great relief, however, Snowdon does not attach the label 'Johnson's variation' to the second of these variations. For my own part I can see no reason why this custom should persist in the Exercise.
It occurs to me that other readers may have, as Mr. Warrington so obviously has, missed the point about reversing Middleton's. This is, of course, that the basic calling is two Middles and two Wrongs which even when reversed must still give two Middles and two Wrongs. What we know as Johnson's variation is the exact reverse of the other usually adopted calling. . . . .-Yours faithfully.

PRESERYATION OF BELL FRAMES

Dear Sir,-In spite of all the attention given to the bells, ropes, etc., the bell frame is apt to be neglected. I have never heard of a diocesan surveyor climbing up to a lofty bell chamber in his ordinary routine of visitation to inspect the frame.

There are two enemies in the belfry which require the keen eye of an expert in every out-of-the-way corner viz.: (1) The Beetle; (2) Rust. One attacks the wooden frame, the other the steel frame.
(1) I have seen a good wooden frame honeycombed with the attacks of the beetle going on for years. Outwardly the frame may appear good, but underneath and in out-of-the-way corners the beetle has been secretly at work. A bell hanger in taking it down would not have it at any price.
There are remedies for this pest if taken in time.
(2) I have seen a steel frame, after a few years of neglect, go rusty, perhaps in parts not likely to meet the eye. There is a remedy for this. My son-in-law has just sent me his book, 'The fight against rust,' written under the auspices of the Corrosion Committee of the British Iron and Steel Research Committee, of which he (Dr. J. C. Hudson) is chairman. In this case a good protecting paint coating is tho remedy. The correct type of paint is essential, not forgetting a good priming coat preceded by the correct surface preparation.
Ringers, see to your bell frames ! - Yours truly,

Moulton. Northants.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD TOWER

Dear Sir,-There will doubtless be many ringing friends of our Parish Church of St. Michael, at Bishop's Stortford, who will be sorry to learn that the internal structure of the tower has become 'alive' and is in need of extensive repairs. Ringing has not been possible since August. a disappointment not only to our own band but to those touring bands who had .permission to use the bells in the late summer.

We are faced with the problem of raising $£ 500$ or more to make the tower safe; so far a little over $£ 100$ has been collected. Parochial appeals are being launched but it will be a long and difficult time before sufficient funds can be found.

It cannot be denied that ringing has contributed in some measure to the 'loosening ' of the tower structure. Accordingly the local ringers feel it incumbent upon them to contribute to the tower fund as generously as possible. Many touring bands and individual visitors visit our tower each year and enjoy a ring, and I am encouraged to write appealing to those who have had pleasure in such visits to join with us in making a contribution that will materially assist in getting our bells going again.
Out of consideration for the residents in the immediate neighbourhood of the church, peal ringing cannot be allowed. but the Vicar is always happy to accede to requests by visiting bands to ring for an hour or so, providing there is no clashing with existing church arrangements.

Those who are kind enough to help with a contribution, however small, should send it to me at the undermentioned address, and it will be gratefully acknowledged.-I am, Sir, Yours faithfully,

THE MIRFIELD TAN

Dear Sir,--You recently introduced the ', Mirfield Tan' and followed with the 'Cam' and 'Granta' variations. I submit the following idea which I have had in mind a number of years and does not upset the internal structure of the Kent and Oxford methods.

The advantages are that every lead is produced allowing any touch to be rung and only the leads which are musical to the ear of the conductor need be rung in full. A 'peal' or 'quarter' could be rung during any practice, Kent and Oxford could be spliced if required, or any of the variations of combined methods adopted with no new calls

All that need be done is to ring both hand and back stroke only of the treble lead instead of the full lead. This means that the bell which would have gone in slow makes 2nds place and goes up again, while all the other bells omit one dodge. If a bob is called the usual 4ths place is made which holds the other bells in their dodging positions. Here are figures for keeping 7-8 from slow in the plain course :-

16847253
18674523
Omit lead
18765432
17856342
Omit lead
17583624
15738264
51732846
15378264
etc.
When two homes are called:-
21345678

- 12346587

21435678
12436587
14235678
Onnit bob lead
14326587
13425678
31426587
$1324567 \%$
3124658 '
etc.
Why have I not voiced this idea before?
A band capable of ringing this can find music and variety in an abundance of other methods. -Yours faithfully, Hillingdon, Middlesex.

THE DAYS OF EYE

THE old-established firm of bellhangers, George Day and Son, of Eye, Suffolk, passed out of existence by the sudden passing at Eye on August 9th last of Mr. Hubert Joseph Day, at the age of 63 , while he was making slow but apparently good recovery from an illness which had lasted some time.
He was a ringer well known by some of the older ringers in Suffolk and Norfolk but he had not rung for some years. He served in both world wars-in the Royal Flying Corps in France in the first and in the R.A.F: in the second, on both occasions on the technical side in the workshops. Since his death the firm's tools and trade implements at Eye have been sold, and thus ends a chapter in bellhanging history. Very little in the way of bellhanging had been done by Days of Eye in recent years, but it was a firm with a long history behind it Hubert was a son of Frederick (died 1922), who was a son of George; Gcorge's father being Joseph. It seems that Joscph was at first a carpenter and wheelwright and this business devoloped into that of bellhanging, making frames of wood or metal, repairing towers by linked anchors, and so on. It is said that bellhanging was taken up by the firm in 1779, but a 61 -page booklet of testimonials published by the firm shows George Day and Son as being established in 1802. Their trademark was an eye.
The booklet contains testimonials up to 1908. the preface stating that the firm were prepared ' to give Estimates for Hanging in Oak or Iron Frames, Re-hanging. Re-casting and supplying Church Bells.' and guaranteed 'to carry out their work upon the most approved scientific principles, under their own superintendence, in a satisfactory and substantial manner at reasonable charges.' They 'confidently assure the Nobility. Clergy and Gentry that work will have care and prompt attention.
There is some evidence that this was perfectly true as recently as to-day (November 24th. 1952), when the writer was told by the Rector of Worlingworth. Suffolk, that he had called in a buildings surveyor to inspect the battlements of the church there as repairs are needed, and the surveyor passing a critical eye over everything in the bell chamber and pointing to the eight bells there, said, 'Whoever hung those bells and made the frame knew his job. Day and Son did the work in August, 1908. And in passing, not longer than a month before Hubert Day died, he told the writer that - Worlingworth is one of the sweetest little rings of eight to be found round here '-i.e., the centre of Suffolk. Also, in passing, Worlingworth bells have been very silent for a long time but things are getting moving there now.

The booklet of testimonials referred to above shows that Day and Son did work in over 70 towers in Suffolk, about 70 in Norfolk and at least 40 further afield, including Guildenmorden, Royston, Herts, 1878; Ross, Herefordshire, 1882 ; St. Mary's, Monmouth. 1883; Dixton, Monmouth, 1883: Foy, Herefordshire, 1886; St. Martin's, Birmingham, 1886; Holme Lacey, Herefordshire. 1887; Woolhope. Herefordshire, 1889; Prestbury, Gloucestershire, 1889: Newport Pagnell, Buckinghamshire, 1892; Meriden, near Coventry, 1897; Bacton, near Pontrilas. Herefordshire, 1907; and Hough, Grantham. Lincolnshire, 1908.

The well-known 12 at St. Peter Mancroft. Norwich, were rehung by Day and Son in 1883, the tenor being shown then as 41 cwt., but in 1885 Mr. F. Knights. Master of St Peter Mancroft Society of Change Ringers and Norwich Scholars, wrote to Messrs. Day saying that the "go' was as good as at the opening in 1883 when upwards of 200 ringers took part. and, he added. "considering the long draught of rope and weight of metal, great credit will for ever be reflected upon the firm of Messrs. G. Day and Son. Church Bell-hangers. Eye. Weight of tenor being $43 t$ cwt.'

All things must come to an end but it is sad to see the end of a firm of such long-standing and reputation as Day and Son.
Eye. CLAUDE RUSH.

LONDON SURPRISE  by GEORGE BAKER

As the composer of Nos. 2 and 3 Versions of London Surprise Royal, I should like to learn what is wrong with these definitions.

No. 2 Brighton Version of London Surprise Royal is a pivot bell extension, and never pretended to be anything different. It has been written out by myself up to and including 24 bells, the pivot place being 5ths place from the front on all numbers from and including eight bells upwards. The Royal of this method was rung at St. Peter's. Brighton, in February, 1926, and until some band rings the Maximus of the method that feat will never be outclassed.
It has been understood for over forty years that there is no perfect London Royal or Maximus, but there are numbers of extensions where there is no alteration from the Major until the treble enters 9-0 positions, and Nos. 3 and 4 are two good examples.
Both Nos. 3 and 4 are Round Block extensions and have a perfect mathematical progression of 312-231 from Minor upwards and I give them below. To find the progressions add 7.8 to Minor Round Blocks and comvare with the Major Round Blocks, add 9-0 to the Major Round Blocks and compare with the Royal, place Major Round Blocks below Minor, strike out all the bells lying still and compare the residue as below (heavy type indicates bells struck out) :-

| 14263578 | 578 |
| :---: | :---: |
| 14263857 | 857 |
| 52136478 | 67 |
| 52137486 | 786 |

The same procedure for Major and Royal.
Next follow half-leads only of Round Blocks of Minor, Major and Royal: only half-leads are needed, because the last half of a method is the reverse of the first half. Here is the complete set of Round Blocks from Minor to Royal inclusive. Nos. 3 and 4 Royal have exactly the same Round Blocks except that No. 4 has one extra in each half-lead. No. 3 has 32 Round Blocks; No. 4 has 34 Round Blocks related to London Surprise, leaving only six changes foreign.

XXIII.-HOW TO SET ABOUT CALLING

 GRANDSIRE TRIPLESMany beginners in conducting make a start with Grandsire Triples and we have been asked to devote one of these articles to telling the novice how to set about it.

Let us say, first of all, that the man who aims at being a 'conductor' must endeavour to make himself something more than a mere 'bob-caller.' The peal conductor shoulders more than the responsibility of putting in the bobs and singles at the right place. He must know whether the bells are right or wrong, so that he does not have necessarily to go to the end of the touch or peal before he knows if the bells will come round.
At first perhaps he will only be dead sure of his ground at certain intervals, when some definite change, which he has previously memorised, turns up. To do this he must be able to read the ropes, but it is better to be able to watch the bells working up to the required positions than to rely upon the eye at some particular fall of the ropes. One can be so easily deceived.

In cultivating the ability to watch the gradual development of the various positions of the bells, the conductor also acquires the knowledge and ability to correct mistakes if they should occur. It is easy, of course, to tell a man to dodge with him if the other ringer has shown that he is going to miss the dodge, but without an extensive knowledge of the relative positions of all the bells it is not so easy to give prompt and definite instructions when, say, the conductor is on the front and the two bells behind are clashing in obvious uncertainty as to which should bc the first to hunt down.

From this it will be seen that the young conductor must extend his studies beyond mere bob-calling. In plain methods, for instance, he should be able to observe the coursing order of the bells, that is the order in which the bells follow one another through the sequence of the work of the method and come to lead.
For example, in Grandsire Triples, with two bells plain hunting-the treble and anotherthere are five bells 'working.' The conductor should first know the order in which they are coursing. next he should be able to anticipate any change in this order which a bob or single will cause, so that when the call has been made he is certain that the bells have come correctly into their new positions, or, if not. is able to direct them into their right place without hesitation.
A ringer with good 'rope-sight' can easily 'pick-up' the coursing order of the bells, but the anticipation. which is so necessary to real conducting, is more difficult. because it involves an additional mental process. It means that the conductor must hunt his own bell correctly, at the same time remember the existing coursing order of the bells, and also be able to transpose them into the next sequence in anticipation of the call he is going to make.
The novice must not expect that he can do all this at once; the ability comes only by study and practice. Some of it can be acquired when Ther people are calling by a close observation what is going on.
First of all, note the bell in the hunt, then look for the order of the bells following the treble and the bell in the hunt. In the plain rourse they are $3,4,6,7,5$, and this cycle will be maintained until a call is made, the only variation being that the last bell in one lead becomes first in the next. Thus the first lead of 3 . 4. $6,7,5$ becomes $5,3,4,6,7$ in the econd the $7,5,3,4,6$ in the third and so on.
This is brought about by the fast bell in the series (having come to lead immediately in front of the treble) makings 3rds place and coming back in front of the rest.

When a bob is called, the transposition is different. The bell that has been in the hunt has then to be taken into consideration.

The bells as they course after the treble in the first lead are $2,3,4,6,7,5$. If a bob is called the transposition moves the two last bells into position in front of the bell that has been in the hunt, and the first of these two becomes the new hunt bell. and can then be left out of consideration in the mental operations until.the next call come along. Thus a bob at the first lead changes the $2,3,4,6,7,5$ order into $7,5,2,3,4,6 ;$ another bob at the following lead would make the coursing order 4,6,7,5,2,3; but a plain lead would make it $6,5,2,3,4$ (that is, always remembering that the 7 th continues to course after the treble).

As a first step to conducting, then, we recommend the beginner to study the coursing order of the bells in touches which other people are calling, afterwards he can go on to the bob calling himself. We know that very often the process is reversed; that all the beginner troubles about is to call the bobs in the right place and leave the rest to luck, or somebody else. We, however, think that the most efficient way is to begin by understanding what the bells themselves are doing.

Northern Division's Record Attendance

What is believed to be a record attendance of 83 members from 34 parishes attended the Northern Division's meeting at Great Dunmow on November 8th. It was most encouraging to see the many young members present. Ringing on the beautiful octave enhanced a big variety of methods.

At the service the Vicar (the Rev. D. Callum) welcomed the members to Dunmow, and Dr. L. Castleden read the lesson. A splendid tea was prepared in St. Mary's Church Hall by the wives of the local ringers.
Miss H. G. Snowden, District Master, presided at the meeting and welcomed all the visitors and thanked the Dunmow ringers and their wives for giving the tea. A small committee was formed to give advice and look after any bell restoration work in the Division. A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar. choir and organist for making the meeting a success and their services in church.
Handbell and tower bell ringing then concluded a very happy afternoon and evening

REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY RINGING

Dear Sir.-Mr. Wm. T. Grice asks, 'Should bells on Remembrance Sunday be rung muffled or open this day ?' his Vicar's opinion being one of thanksgiving as well as of remembrance Whilst not commenting as one in authority, I should like to voice my humble opinion. Surely the Vicar answers the question. Ring half-muffled. Open strokes to peal out in thanksgiving and muffled strokes in quiet re-membrance.-Yours faithfully,

Byfield, Rugby. F. W. HUTT.

ENTHUSIASM

They Rang in a Flooded Belfry
Few stranger experiences could befall any band of ringers than those which overtook a party of enthusiasts who travelled into the night from a recent meeting in South Molton, ir North Devon, to visit two remote village towers some ten miles distant.
On arrival at one of the towers the party was met at the entrance by a very agitated Vicar, who, after welcoming them by the light of a lantern, said he would like to apologise for the dampness of the reception which awaited the ringers. Leading the way into the belfry, the Vicar pointed out a steady stream of water which was penetrating from the roof of the tower down to the floor of the ringing chamber, which was about an inch under water. This was due, the Vicar explained, to the guttering of the roof becoming choked. Nothing daunted, the ringers set to work to sweep and bale out the water, but as fast as they did so the water found its way back again. With not a dry spot anywhere to be found, the bells, not without difficulty, were raised in peal, the ringers standing with water gently lapping their feet, and the ropes, as they swished through the water, sprinkling moisture in all directions.
After the first touch the ringers began to feel somewhat chilled about the lower extremities and proceeded to utilise coffin trestles, stools and odd pieces of masonry as duckboards. If a bell suddenly dropped or a blow happened to be misplaced, it was usually attributed to the fact that an extra large drop of moisture had found its way down a ringer's neck from an overhead beam or a ringer's hands becoming so wet that a satisfactory grip on the sally was not possible

Notwithstanding all the difficulties some very enjoyable touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Bob Minor and other methods were rung before the bells were lowered.

Remembrance Day Ringing

Dear Sir,-I note with interest the letter in your issue of November 21st from Mr. Grice. of Maidstone. We always, at Aylesford, ring the bells half-muffled for the special afternoon Remembrance service, not because they sound mournful but because they sound different in a rather beautiful way. Of course, in one sense the Christian docs not recognise any mournful occasion and, if perfectly logical, would never muffle the bells.-Yours sincerely,

> E. S. JOHN HATCHER.

PEAL RINGING IN 1951

VARIOUS circumstances conspired against an earlier publication of the analysis of peals rung in 1951 which was presented and adopted by the Central Council at Lincoln last Whitsuntide. There were exclusions, numbering 32, for not complying with the decisions of the Council and there is likely to be another crop this year, as any student of methods published in our columns will expect. The year 1951 surpassed all previous years with a total of 2,925 recognised peals, the next best being 2,906 in 1949. Of the 2.925 peals on tower bells the following comparison is of interest :-

|  |  |  | 1951 | 1950 | 1949 | 1948 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | ---: | ---: | ---: | ---: |
| Maximus |  | $\ldots$ | 39 | 31 | 47 | 17 |
| Cinques | $\ldots$ | $\ldots$ | 48 | 50 | 43 | 43 |
| Royal | $\ldots$ | $\ldots$ | 121 | 86 | 109 | 92 |
| Caters | $\ldots$ | $\ldots$ | 104 | 89 | 99 | 82 |
| Major | $\ldots$ | $\ldots$ | 997 | 938 | 1,052 | 957 |
| Triples | $\ldots$ | $\ldots$ | 315 | 297 | 335 | 346 |
| Minor & Doubles | 1,008 | 870 | 839 | 821 |  |  |

The popularity of five and six bell ringing continues, the two main centres being Lincoln with 107 peals and Leicester with 78. No fewer than 434 of the total of 1,008 were single-method peals. The love of Minor ringing has continued during the current year.
Twelve bell ringing with 87 peals certainly held its own. No fewer than 20 Guilds or Associations scored a peal on 12 bells. In Maximus ringing the Leicester Guild were preeminent with some 14 methods, including Albanian, Bristol and Pudsey Surprise. St. Martin's Guild maintained their reputation with 16 peals of Stedman Cinques.

For ten bell ringing 1951 set a new standard with 225 peals. Thirty-five associations rang peals. There were 67 peals of Surprise Royal, with Cambridge (24) and Yorkshire (22) as the most popular methods.
Surprise ringing again predominated in the Major ringing. there being 533 Surprise peals in 54 different methods compared with 52 in the previous year. For years Cambridge has been the most favoured method, but it now takes second place to Yorkshire with 122 peals against 82 last year. Peals of Cambridge numbered 103 (against 101), Superlative 54 (47), London 51 (54), Bristol 44 (53), Rutland 19. While Oxford Diocesan Guild gained notoriety by their peal of 25 Spliced Surprise methods, the Chester Diocesan Guild had a peal in 16 methods and four in 12 methods.

Plain Bob Major with 201 peals might not only be regarded as an indication of favour but of more ringers advancing from Triples to Major ringing. The comparative figure last year was 185. Double Norwich Court Bob Major lost ground with 100 peals against 116; Kent Treble Bob had 89 against 83. The introduction of 'other' Plain Major methods, for many years advocated by Mr. E. H. Lewis and other speakers, has borne fruit. These methods are as hard to master as Surprise. The Chester Guild have given a lead in this direction, and we hope their example will be followed by other bands in search of something worth accomplishing.

In the realm of Triples ringing, Grandsire with 201 peals advanced from 157 and Stedman with 100 peals receded from 120. Handbell ringing showed a decrease for the second year with 293 peals against 362 in 1950 and 382 in 1949. Leicester and Bournemouth are the main centres, but handbell peals were rung for 38 Guilds and Associations.

For the third year in succession Leicester Diocesan Guild had most peals, with 250 against 194. The order of the other leading Associations is as follows: 2 Kent 176 (165), 3 Chester 172 (141), 4 Lincoln 172 (138), 5 Lancashire 163 (129), 6 Oxford Diocesan 131 (112), 7 Yorkshire 114 (142), 8 Bath and Wells 96 (87), 9 St. Martin's 92 (82), 10 Gloucester and Bristol 90 (73), 11 Norwich 90 (79), 12 Winchester and Portsmouth 83 (121), 13 Worcestershire 83 (67).

The Peals Analysis Committee (Messrs. Walter Ayre, G. L. Grover and H. Miles) have no light task in compiling and checking these records and in interpreting the wishes of the Council in peals to be recorded. Those who appreciate these tables owe them a debt of gratitude.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH GUILD

First Dinner of the Winchester District

$\mathrm{R}^{1}$INGERS from a wide area assembled at Winchester on November 29th for the first dinner of the Winchester District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

The bells of the Cathedral and St. Maurice's together with a few nearby churches were available in the afternoon and the opportunity was taken to cater for as many different tastes as possiblc. The ringing was followed by an evening service in St. Lawrence's Church, the oldest church in Winchester. The five bells at St. Lawrence's, unfortunately, are unringable. An Ellacombe apparatus exists and this was chimed for a quarter of an hour previous to the service.
The service was conducted by the Rector, Bishop B. C. Corfield, and Mr. J. A. C. King, Winchester District secretary, read the lesson. The Bishop, in his address, likened a street urchin who rang a doorbell and then ran away, to bellringers who rang the bells for service on a Sunday and then left as quickly as possible before the congregation turned up. Ringers disciplined themselves to attend service ringing and practice ring ing in all weathers. Could they not. he asked. add this little extra discipline to themselves and carry out the logical sequence of their ringing by attending scrvice at least once on a Sunday?

The bells of St. Maurice's were again available after the service until the time came for the dinner. which was held in the Westgate L.odge Hotel. Bishop B. C. Corfield said Grace for an excellent meal

The chairman and toastmaster, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth, in submitting the toast of "The Qucen,' said in six months' time the hells would be proclaiming the Coronation. They all hoped and prayed that with the supnort. encouragement and understanding of her Consort and family, she might, as the rayer says, attain everlasting joy and felicity.

The secretary read apologies for ahsence from Mr. F. W. Rogers (general secretary of the Guild) Mr. W. C. Lamnard (captain of the Cathedral hand). Mr. P. N. Bond and Mr. L. A. Tremeer.

Mr. C. Haines, in proposing 'The Church, thanked the Dean of Winchester (the Very Rev. F. G. Selwyn) and the Rector of St. Maurice's for allowing ringers the use of their resnective hells. He also mentioned the splendid co-operation of the stcenlekeepers who always ensured that the bells were properly looked after.

AN EXAMPLE OF UNITY

The Very Rev. E. G. Selwyn, in replying to the toast, said unfortunately he was not a bellringer. His first narish in Hampshire. Rowland's Castle, had only one hell in a small turret. He could ring that all right just by sitting on a chair and pulling a rope. Campanology, however, was a highly developed art using the skill of men and women. hoys and girls. Commenting on the title of the Guild, - The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers and not Guilds, the Dean said churches in Hampshire were split into two dioceses. It would not be the first time that belliringers had given an example to the Church and he hoped that the breach between the two dioceses would soon be healed. As chairman of the Advisory Committee he had to deal with requests for bell restorations and additions. He was very pleased to hear of such cases but was definitely against having recorded bells in a tower.
Mr. H. D. Buckingham, District treasurer, proposed the toast of "The Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.' Reminding the company that the Guild was affiliated to the Church. he urged that the policy should be 'Live and let live.' Those ringers who wished to ring Spliced Surprise-by all means let them do so, but do not decry the lesser-known ringer who was content to ring Grandsire Doubles, hunt the treble or just "bang the drum ' behind. These ringers, after all, were the backbone of the Guild for if the tenor got out everybody else was put out.

THE GUILD'S ADVANCEMENT

Mr. G. Pullinger, Master of the Guild. who replied, said that the Guild was formed in 1879 and adopted two main objeots: (1) To recognise ringers as Church workers; (2) To cultivate the art of campanology. He considered that they had achieved the first object and as for the second a great advance had heen made. When the Guild was formed there were only three or four centres where change ringing was piactised. The first peal for the Guild was rung in 1884 and was Grandsirc Triples. The late Gcorgc Williams had to scour the Winchester Diocese (as it was then) to find the ringers, and if he (Mr. Pullinger) rememhered correctly, four of these ringers came from what is now the Guildford Guild and four from Hampshire. To-day many bands could ring Triples and Surprise Royal. The Guild could, in fact, produce a hand for Surprise Maximus and. for the benefit of the Dean, he would exnlain that Surprise Maximus required 12 bells.
Mr. Pullinger said he had lived in an interesting time for he was old enough to have known the foundation members and young enough to ring with the younger people. He extended his congratulations to the Winchester District in general and its District secretary in narticular for oreanising the dinner. The Winchester District had always taken a great part in Guild affairs. It was largely due to Canon Madge and the Rev. du Bnulav Hill, hoth of Winchester, that the Guild was formed. The late Mr. Wilfred Andrews was also a great worker. The ringers annreciated roming to the Cathedral to ring the hells and whilst he realised that the Dean and Chapter had several other commitments, he would wish that thev would allow a longer time for the Cathedral hells as he was sure the privilege would not be abused.
Mr. W. Harrison prnoosed the toast of 'The Visitors and The Jadies.' They owed. he said. a special debt to the wives of rinwers. Whenever a hellringer's wife wanted to go out for an evening the hushand always had a good excuse-"T've got to go belliringing.' 'It was all very well for Mr. King and Mr. Buckingham.' he said. 'thev're not married!'

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Christmas greetings from readers to their friends in the Exercise will appear in the issues of December 19th and December 26th. Price 3/- for up to 30 words.

When the Chester Guild held their meeting at Stalybridge on November 29th the chair was taken by the Mayor (Cclr. Percy Walton). For over 25 years the Mayor has been a regular service ringer at St . Paul's, Stalybridge, and he rang his first peal at St. Paul's in 1929.
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker celebrate their 54th wedding anniversary to-day (Friday).

Carols on handbells will be popular this Christmas. During the past week we have sent out 20 requests for carol tunes on eight bells. This is in addition to the large number of early applications.

The Society of Roving Ringers rang a pcal of Stedman Cinques on the bells of Exeter Cathedral last Saturday. Those who have watched the progress of this Society will congratulate them on ringing a very fine peal.
The peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at Hillingdon on November 22nd was intended to be in honour of the birth of a son and heir to Mr, and Mrs. A. R. G. Turner, of the local band. The happy event did not occur until after the peal.

Errata.-The seven methods in the peal at Tibshelf (see page 758) should read, College Exercise, Capel, Sandal, Kingston, London Scholars, Oxford Treble Bob and Kent Treble Bob. This was the first peal in seven methods by all the band except the conductor.
Mr. G. W. Taysom has 'circled ' Carbis Bay tower, and is the second to do so. This is the oniy Cornish tower to hold this distinction. Also in the peal was Lieut. Dennis Roe, R.N., of Keighley, Yorks, who is again stationed in Cornwall after a period overseas. It was his first peal since 1948.

GOSSIP peal in Ireland is Miss Jean only 18 . She 49 at the new tower of St Donard's and rang her first peal there i: March, 1951. She has 18 peals to her cradit and her ringing capabilities extend to Double Norwich Court Bob Major and London Surprise Major. Her peal was called at the third attempt, the two failures were at Carrickfergus and arose from the hard going of the bells.

Another young lady to make her bow as conductor is Miss Patricia Clarke, of Ipswich. who called a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major from the treble at Debenham, Suffolk. Pat. who is only 15 , started ringing two years ago at Rushmere. She has rung about 20 peals. Her rapid progress is partly due to the Grundisburgh influence and she cycles to this tower for their practices and also to Framsden.
Mr. Harold Walker has now rung peals of Plain Bob on 6, 8, 10 and 12 bells, after doing the same with Cambridge 23 years ago.
Will 'Outing Organiser' kindly forward his name to the Editor. We cannot publish letters under a nom-de-plume without knowing the name and address of the sender.
The peal of Cambridge Maximus at St. Margaret's. Leicester, enabled the Leicester youth, J. B. Bennett. to complete peals of Minor to Maximus in the method. It also demonstrates the progress of Leicester's young ringers. The band was completely local and with the exception of father and mother all are in their twenties.

We are sorry to learn that the attempt for a peal of 13,139 Grandsire Caters 'in hand' at Bournemouth on November 29th came adrift after $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours through an early call. Although Mr . D. T. Matkin, the conductor, immediately put it right it upset the others. Another attempt on the record is planned for Jan. 31st.

RELATIONS WITH CALL CHANGE RINGERS

An Example From Devonshire

Dear Sir,-I would like to make one or two comments on Mr. Head's article on Call Change Ringing because I fear some readers unfamiliar with the situation in Devonshire may have gained from it a false impression of the relations between the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and the call change ringers here.

It is not true that we ignore or practically ignore, the efforts and work of these ringers; we are very much aware of them, and we admire their striking and their keenness. But in this county, at least. they have their own Association. The Devon Association of Church Bell Ringers, which is very active and very strong: indeed, its membership is far greater than our own and quite oossibly doubles it. Nor may it be supposed that there exists any strife or rivalry between us: although the Association was originally founded in opposition to change ringing (as its old title, 'The Devon Association for the Encouragement of CallChange Ringing, implies), things have changed very much in the past 30 years or so, and attempts have been made to effect an amalgamation of the two Societies. though so far this has not come to pass.

However, a very great step on our part has been the abolition of the rule which forbade our members to take part in competitions, and another good sign was the joint Rally last year for the Festival of Britain, which was organised by members of both Societies, and attended by a great number of members of each. Many members of the Guild. whose home tower is a call-change one, ring there regularly, and only take the opportunity of meetings and practices elsewhere to practise their method ringing. I am happy to say that the number of those who refuse to ring callchanges in their own tower, and. therefore. rarely ring on Sundays, seems to be dwindling.

Such is the situation at present: we still hope that, at some time in the future, the union of the two societies will be possible, and that there will follow from it a union of the best points of each-scientific ringing, regularly practised by keen ringers, and perfectly struck.-Yours,

Exeter

JOHN G. M. SCOTT (Rev.)

Dear Sir-With reference to your leading article on the subject of Call Change Ringing in your issue of November 14th. those of your readers who file their copies will find all the points raised by Mr. Head very fully dealt with in a long letter over my signature which appeared in your issue of October 17th, 1947.

The call change ringers' organisation is the Devon Association of Ringers and I am happy to state that the very friendliest relations exist between that body and the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. A few years ago an approach was made by the Guild with a view to amalgamating the two bodies, but after several meetings between representatives of both sides the conclusion was reluctantly reached that the difficulties were too great. However. last year the were organised by a joint committee of the were organis $\rightarrow$ d by a joint committec of the Association and the Guild. I do not. therefore. consider that the Guild can he said practically to ignore the efforts and work of these ringers.

The decisinn as to whether "The Ringing World' should publish reports of call change competitions rests, of course. with the Editorial Committee. I have often thought that a list of the more important of these events might well be published in your columns hefore the holiday season to enable visitors to come and form their own opinions on first-class cali changes Incidentally, I know of at least three call change towers in North Devon where "The Ringing World' is read every week.-Yours faithfully,

E. J. TAYLOR

THE APPLICATION TO RING

Dear Sir,-Reading the most recent contribution to this correspondence in your issue of November 28 th I felt that a deadlock had been reached between two extreme points of view.

But surely it is as dangerous to assert that applications should be addressed always to the Incumbent as it is to assert that the Incumbent should never be approached directly. Dangerous in this sense, that it implies that rights have to be preserved, whether of the Incumbent, who is, of course, the legal custodian of the bells, or the ringers, who are, of course, essential to their proper function and maintenance.

* Fortunately a very good understanding usually exists between the ringers and their Incumbents ' for
- If there is the proper relationship between Incumbent and ringers there will he no need to worry each will consult the other in any eventuality.'

These quotations from the two sides of the correspondence surely give the key to the problem, if indeed problem there is. Misunderstandings do crop up from time to time, but how relatively infrequent they are: and how fatal it would be to try and legislate against them.

In the annual report of my own Association, the Kent County, lists of towers are given, with times of Sunday and practice ringing and the name and address of the tower secretary. He is the "man on the spot," who will be as helpful as ne can to all enquirers, whether they reach him direct or through the Incumbent or through the tower captain. For in practice each and all receive letters from ringers, and each and all contribute to the courtesies, which none of us should expect as a right, but which all of us should be anxious to confer, not only to preserve the wonderful fellowship of the belfry, but as followers of Him to whose praise and worship our bells are dedicated.-Yours sincerely,
E. S. JOHN HATCHER.

Ditton. Maidstone.

C/O THE VICARAGE

Dear Sir,-In his letter to "The Ringing World, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead states : - One could hardly write to the Captain of the Bellringers, c/o The Vicarage, could one?' Well, one can, and one does. One such letter arrived in Godshill identically addressed. Some have reached me even having the vague address: 'Chief Bellringer, Godshill.'

Correspondence so addressed certainly savours of super-optimism but usually achieves the desired result, i.e., permission to visit the tower and ring.

Even so, if the name and address of the tower correspondent is unknown to the writer, it is surely more correct (since any mail addressed c/o The Vicarage must go there) to address any such correspondence to the incumbent. In my experience there has never been a deliberate attempt to by-pass or dispute the legal authority of an incumbent.-Yours very humbly

Godshill. I.W.
Wimborne Minster is a rare tower for peals. Previous to the peal on November 29th the last was in 1938

WINCHESTER DISTRICT DINNER

Mrs. C. H. Kippin, in a gracious reply, thanked the proposer for his kind welcome to the ladies. To-day the welcome to the ladies in the belfry was universal but such was not the case 30 to 40 years ago. She was not sure whether she was qualified to speak as a visitor. She had often come to see her parents in Winchester and always rang at local towers and meetings. It was only a few years ago that she had moved to the neighbouring town of Southampton but had always kept in close contact with Winchester.

A speaker not on the agenda was the Rev. H. Williams, of Hyde, who said this was a surprise to him to be called to reply for the visitors. He was, however, very pleased to be with them that night although he had no bells in his own church. He said he wished he had been a member of the Advisory Committec at the time when a predecessor of his had sold the bells of Hyde Church to be melted down to provide railings for the church. He further added that if he had the money he would have the railings melted down again to make some bells.

On the call of the chairman the company showed its appreciation of the services of Mr. J. A. C. King in organising the dinner by a round of applause.

The party then adjourned to an upstairs lounge for an informal concert given by Mr. H. Street (comedian), Mr. John Wills (conjurer). Mrs. M. Hatwell (mime and imitation) and Mr. S. B. Carey (vocalist)

A company of 78 attended the dinner. These were:-The Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. the Rt. Rev. B. C. Corfield, the Rev. Canon C. P. Cowley, the Rev. W. O. Maundrell, the Very Rev. and Mrs. E. G. Selwyn, the Rev. H. Williams.

IRREGULAR METHOISS

Dear Sir,-The Methods Committee has carefully gone into the question of irregular methods, as asked by the last Central Council meeting. The following statement is unani-mous:-The committee cannot recommend any alteration or relaxation of the Decision of the Council that regular methods must have the bells in the same coursing order at each lead head and end.

Also following on from the last Central Coun cil meeting, the committee invites anyone interested to a meeting on Saturday, January 3 rd, 1953 at 2.30 p.m... at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, to discuss that part of its 1952 report which was left over for further consideration. viz.. that portion relating to the sequence of lead ends.-Yours sincerely.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Dedication of War Memorial

The memorial to the ten members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association who lost their lives in the 1939-45 war was dedicated in Newcastle Cathedral on November 15 th.

Previous to the service the bells of the Cathedral were rung half-muffled. These bells have a great tradition with Stedman through the tower's association with the late Mr. W. H. Barber one of the greatest exponents of the method. One felt, with the 540 Stedman Caters in short courses, that his old pupil and friend, Mr. W. J. Davidson. conducted, there was ringing of the high standard of yore.

By the time the service commenced the central seats of the nave were completely filled with a large congregation. The service was conducted by the Provost of Newcastle, the Very Rev. N. M. Kennaby, M.A., with Mr. J. L. Keen at the organ. During the singing of the hymn 'Let saints on carth. . . .' the congregation followed the clergy to the south-west corner of the Cathedral. There the Provost dedicated the memorial and a wreath was laid by the immediate past president. Mr. W. N. Park. A course of Grandsire Triples with the 'Whole Pull and Stand 'ten times was rung on ${ }^{\text {W Whole Pull and Stand ' ten times was rung on }}$ son. D. A. Bayles and K. Arthur.
As the hymn ' O God, our help in ages past ' was sung the congregation returned to the pews and the president of the Association. Canon H. S. Stephenson, M.A., Rector of Gateshead, took his place in the pulpit. His address was one full of the certainty of the Christian belief in the life hereafter and must have given great comfort to the relatives and friends of the Fallen. The hymn 'Peace, perfect peace' was sung as the offertory for the War Memorial was taken by four officers of the Association-Messrs. F. Ainsley, D. A. Bayles, C. T. Lamb and W. F. Sheraton. The service concluded with the Blessing.

A short touch and the lowering of the bells concluded the ceremony, and ringers. relatives of the Fallen and friends took tea in the Cathedral library. This was an informal arrangement and enabled those who had attended to meet one another. The secretary made acknowledgment of the help and co-operation which he had received on all sides and announced that the collection had amounted to $£ 85 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d . to which donations that day totalling $£ 1 \mathrm{l} 5 \mathrm{~s}$. had to be added-a most heartening and generous response which gives good promise that the total required should be raised before the end of the financial year.

The War Memorial for 1939-45 is an additional brass tablet, designed by Mr. G. E. Charlewood, T.D. R.R.I.B A.. and executed by Messrs. C. S. Ormerod. Ltd.. of Gosforth. The Memorial for 1914-18 has been raised 10 enable the additional tablet to be placed below it and above a tablet of the Coldstream Guards The names engraved on the tablet are:-
ARTHUR ATKINSON. St. Andrew. Hexham. THOMAS B. BURNS. Christ Church, North Shields.
GEORGE R. S. HALLIDAY. Newcastle Cathedral.
JOHN LEIGHTON, St. Cuthbert, Stella, Blaydon.
DOUGLAS OLIVER. St. Cuthbert. Benfieldside
CECIL QUIGLEY. SS. Mary and Cuthbert. Chester-le-Street

BULWELL'S OPEN RINGING DAY

Bulwell Parish Church, dedicated to St. Mary-the-Virgin and All Souls, possesses a ring of eight (tenor 15 cwt .3 qr .16 lb . in E). The bells have been recently rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. John Taylor and Co, the rope circle improved and the sound in the ringing chamber modified by a deadening floor. The ringing chamber has been renovated and now has a most pleasing appearance

An Open Ringing Day having been announced for November 29th, a goodly number of ringers assembled from North Notts. Derby, Melton Mowbray, Loughborough, Coventry, South Yorkshire, etc. Other strong motoring parties to their great regret had to cancel their visit owing to dense fog. The bells were kept going continuously during the afternoon until 4.30 , when a short service was conducted by the curate, the Rev. P. G. Walker, After voicing the apologies of the Rector (Canon George Sprittles) for his unavoidable absence. Mr. Walker welcomed the visitors and said that he was himself learning to ring, thus being numbered amongst those who should always be mindful of the purpose of bells, to sound for God's glory.

Teas to suit all tastes and appetites were then enjoyed at a nearby cafe, and in the evening the bells were again fully occupied, methods up to London Surprise being rung. Every touch came round save one, owing to a false start, and the striking was good, even near excellent at times. There was no 'clattering and banging, (to quote the expression of a ringer who shall be nameless) that is, unfortunately, heard at many meetings.
Numerous were the expressions of appreciation of the 'go' of the bells and their tone outside. The hearing in the ringing chamber was pronounced just right: in fact. as one ringer said, 'If you can't strike properly here you can't anywhere.'
The total cost of rehanging, new floor and other work in the bell and ringing chambers was over $£ 450$, and thanks to the energy of the Rector and his co-workers. has been fully raised. This after collecting $£ 3,000$ for repairs to the church!
In view of the success of Bulwell Open Ringing Day, it is hoped to make this an annual event.

14th CENTURY BELL IN DANGER

A Case For Immediate Action

Dr. Derek P. Jones, of Hitchin, who is making investigations into bells cast by John Dyer, of Hitchin, calls our attention to a 14th century bell at Hexton, near Hitchin, which is in danger of falling and being damaged:

This interesting Lombardic bell (about 6 cwt ., 2nd out of a ring of three), he writes is in a very precarious position in a mouldering wooden frame in a tower which all but collapsed in 1947. Only two walls are left standing and they look as though they may follow, being chalk rubble.
This bell should be removed immediately as it must date from before 1350 . It may crack if it falls as it is nearly 50 feet from the ground According to North this is the third oldest beli in Hertfordshire.
I remember hearing the three chimed for service at Hexton some years ago. They are hung for full compass ringing, with a very trivial metal slider device fixed to the frame side and a correspondingly short stay, both nearly eaten away with rust and woodworm.
All three bells retain their canons by which they are strung right out from the headstocks by numerous bands. There are (or were before 1947) pits for five bells. and evidence there is, too, of a fourth bell in the shape of a headstock hung in an otherwise vacant pit.

Chances of restoration seem slight; the nave is also disused and the village population cannot exceed 200.

HEADS OF WYE

For nearly 150 years a Head has bcen ringing bells at Wye, Kent, but that is ended. After 50 years of ringing Mr. Charles Head, captain of the tower and former secretary, has retired. His great-grandfather, grandfather and father were all ringers at Wye.
A plaque in the tower commemorates a peal rung on Christmas Day, 1865, when Mr. Head's great-grandfather. Thomas Head, with his four sons. John, James, George and Henry, participated.
The vestry book of the neighbouring parish of Kennington records that on Sunday, May 27th. 1882, the sixth bell was dedicated. The ringers were Robert Head 1. Harry Head 2, John Head 3, W. G. Peters, jun.. 4, William Payne 5, Herbert Tourney 6. The first person to chime the new bell was Mr. George H. Head, now of Hanworth. Middlesex, who was then a boy at school, aged nine.

BUXHALL, SUFFOLK

T
HE Parish Church of St. Mary, Buxhall, Suffolk, is quite spacious for a parish with a population of only about 400 , but on December 2nd every seat was occupied when the restored and augmented ring of bells in its sturdy tower was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Dunwich.
Buxhall, only two miles from Stowmarket, is a pretty parish on the West Suffolk border. Its houses are generally scattered and, from the church, which stands on the higher ground, the undulating fields and meadows roll away in all directions-ideal country for the best effect of 'bells across the meadow' at whichever point of the compass one happens to be from the church.
It seems but a few months ago when I saw in a local paper that the Rector, the Rev. C. N. Kendall, M.A., was announcing the proposed restoration and appealing for donations to the fund. The work which has been put into the effort and the generosity of those who contributed deserve all praise. The work in the tower was done by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd.
A 'Coronation Treble' ( 6 cwt .) has been added to the old ring of five, four of which are 17th century bells of Draper and of Newman. The tenor ( 15 cẃt. 7 lb ., F sharp) was by Gardiner, of Sudbury, dated 1739 . It was cracked but has been recast and now bears both its old and its new inscriptions:-

Gregory Copinger, Tho. Fuller C.W. Tho. Gardiner, Sudbury, Fecit 1739 Recast 1952 in memory of Capt. Arthur Charles Copinger Hill. 1st. Btn. Suffolk Regt. Missing near Caen, July, 1944. Gillett and Johnston, Founders, Croydon."
Copinger is an old name in Buxhall. Sir William Copinger, Lord Mayor of London in 1512, was born at Buxhall and he left half of his property to charitable uses, the other half to his relations, who lived on in Buxhall and district and were so famous for hosplality that 'to live like the Copingers, became an expression in the neighbourhood.
The four middle bells of the ring have been turned and all six rehung with new fittings and framework.
The service was in the evening and the soft, golden light of the oil lamps which light the church showed through the windows and served as a guide up the long, straight path from the road. Snow lay here and there and the N.W. wind blew keen on the face. Inside, one found the western end of the nave packed with ringers from all around.
The service was fully choral. the clear tone of the Rector's voice now providing the lead and now the backbone to that country parish church choir. whose singing was more of the nature of Cathedral rather than country parish church. For an anthem they sang 'Worship Him and Sing of Him' (Caleb Simper) and at the end of the service a solemn Te Deum was sungunaccompanied.
Mr. Cecil W. Pipe, secretary of the Suffolk Guild of Ringers, and Mr. Michael Howard, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, read the lessons.
The Bishop, in his sermon, said that he would like to see more young men take up ringing. He referred to instances where he had visited churches and seen and heard of the difficulties under which some of the older ringers were struggling. In one case he found six bells but only four ringers: another where all the bells were rung but all the ringers did not come from that parish; and another where the Vicar asked him to have a word with 'the ringer' before he left. The Bishop agreed but asked the Vicar if it meant that there was only one bell. 'Oh, no!', said the Vicar, 'we have three bells and he rings them all. He is also the verger, my churchwarden, sings in the choir and is the sexton!’

TONG, SHROPSHIRE

The Bishop of Shrewsbury (the Rt. Rev. R. L. Hodson) rededicated the bells of Tong Parish Church, Shropshire, on November 17 th . The bells have been rehung in a steel frame to replace the former wooden frame and are now on ball bearings. The work cost $£ 1,080$, of which about $£ 965$ has been raised, including £ 320 received in gifts in memory of the late Sir Charles Mander. A new chiming manual, the gift of the Dowager Lady Mander, was also dedicated.

In his address the Bishop said the bells at Tong, like all church bells, were a stimulant to the people of the parish to rejoice together in God, for they summoned them to worship.
It was not a very good thing for people to sit in their houses listening to the church bells and saying, 'Don't they sound nice!' and then never go inside the church.
'I always think it is rather numbing,' he added, 'when some ringers ring the bells to call people to the service of God, and then never go inside the church themselves. Remember that, you ringers.
In old days the church was practically the hub of the parish, and to-day there are things in Tong Church which were actually made by people living in the Middle Ages, who were only too proud to do something to enhance its beauty.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSN.

The Northern District held its November meeting at Baldock on November 29th. The weather was the worst of any day of the year but the attendance was far above that expected. Tha bells were set going at 3.15 followed by a short service conducted by the Rector (Canon L. P. Smith) with Miss D. Bate at the organ.
Tea was provided by Mrs. G. Howard at Ye Olde Bull's Head, 28 members being present. Mr. R. T. Newman made a welcome reappearance after being recently discharged from hospital, but did not take part in any ringing.
The Rector was elected to the chair for the business meeting. The next meeting will be the annual at Hitchin on Saturday, January 17th, followed by a meeting at Norton in February. Most of the standard methods were rung and Duffield went better than was expected.
Towers represented were Biggleswade, Clifton, C.U.G.C.R., Great Wymondley, Histon, Hitchin, Knebworth, Norton, Royston, Stevenage, Stotfold, Totternhoe and the local tower.

RINGERS' DAY AT MARSDEN

The third annual ringers' day organised by the bellringers of Marsden, Yorkshire, proved to be a huge success. The local company raised the bells in peal shortly after 1.45 p.m. after which the visitors began to arrive.

Those present included ringers from Huddersfield, Longwood, Lindley, Elland, Meltham, Friezland, Ripponden, Kirkburton, Almondbury, Stockport, Halifax and Chapel-en-le-Frith. Methods rung included Kent, Oxford, Double Norwich, Plain Bob, Grandsire and Cambridge Surprise.

A meat tea was served in the Parochial Hall after which the bells were soon in use again.

In the evening the ringers split up, some to go to a whist drive and others to a dance. After the whist drive a supper of pie and peas was served. The Lindley Parish Church handbell ringers and the Marsden Church handbell ringers contributed several items during the dancing, which were loudly applauded.

The procceds of the day, amounting to $£ 13$ 10 s., have been sent to the Additional Bells Fund.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Upwards of 60 ringers and friends attended the successful meeting of the Chester Branch at St. Paul's. Stalybridge, on November 28th. The Vicar (the Rev. Basil Hamer) conducted the service and in his address stressed the importance of ringing the bells for Divine service.

The tea in the School had been prepared by the wives of ringers, and the business which followed was presided over by the Mayor of Stalybridge (Cclr. Percy Walton), who is a member of St. Paul's band

Mr. A. R. Elkins thanked the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells and those who had prepared the tea. Acknowledging the vote of thanks the Vicar said visits from the Guild were always welcome.
During the meeting an appeal was made to increase the sale of 'The Ringing World.'

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Branch Meeting at Buckfast Abbey

The Mid-Devon Branch held a by-meeting at Buckfast Abbey, Buckfastleigh, on November 29th when, despite the very inclement weather, members and friends attended from the Exeter, Mid-Devon and Plymouth areas. One enthusiastic visitor motor-cycled all the way down from Guildford, Surrey.

Ringing throughout the afternoon consisted of Grandsire Triples and Caters. Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major, whilst rounds were rung on the various combinations to suit the less experienced ringers.

After an excellent tea at a local cafe the usual votes of thanks were passed to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast and the Vicar of Buckfastleigh for the use of their bells. after which ringing took place at Buckfastleigh Parish Church.

FOR BEGINNERS-

And a Word to the Older Hands  XXIV.-TOUCHES OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

Having got an insight into the working of the bells in their coursing, the beginner can go on to the bob calling. He will probably have observed that a bob cuts out one plain dodging place so that, for example, instead of dodging in 5-4 (down) in the lead after making 3rds place, a bob causes him to stop in 7-6 (down) and have a double instead of a single dodge.

If he is calling the bobs by the fixed positions of Wrong (7-6 down), Home ( $6-7$ up). Middle (4-5 up), In (into the hunt). Out (out of the hunt) or Before (3rds place), he must be prepared for this omission. Wrong will come in the lead after 3 rds; Home in the lead after $5-4$ (down): Middle in the lead after 7-6 down: In, the lead after 6-7 up: but Bcfore comes in the lead after 4-5 up, because it is the one position that a bob does not affect. The 'Out' comes at any given number of leads from the time the bell is called In: and obviously no other bell can be insericd between an In and an Out.
The time to call the bob is when the treble is in 3rds place on the way down. That may not be easy to observe, but, if you have mastered the rope-sight of coursing, you will readily see the bell hunting down immediately in front of the treble. The call is made when that bell begins to lead. As a help you can remember, also, that the call comes as you arrive in your dodging place, or if you are going into the hunt yourself immediately you have the lead.
As a simple beginning you can try any of the following touches:-
3, 5, 6 or 4 called Middle three times.
3. 5, 7 or 6 called Wrong three times.

3, 5, 7 or 4 called Home three times
7, 6 or 4 called In and Out (next lead) thrce times.
2 called Out and In three times.
Here are 16 different ways of calling a touch of 168 .
You can extend these by calling a single for the last bob, and then repeating the whole, except in the case of the second Out and In. when the Single should be called at the last Out. This use of singles doubles the length of the touch.
Other touches of 336 can be got by using the calling of the 7th In and Out and the 6ith In and Out in any combination of three courses repeated. Thus:-
7th In and Out twice, 6th In and Out once. repeated.

6th In and Out twice, 7th In and Out once, repeated.
For brevity these might be indicated by the figures 7.7.6 repeated and 6.6 .7 repeated. Other combinations which beginners can work out for themselves are $7.6 .7 ; 6.7 .7 ; 6.7 .6$; and 6.6 .7 .
Many longer touches can be made by the same process. but ringers who work out their own must not overlook the risk of repetition. It would be good practice to write out the lead-ends of the touches, and these can be produced by the following transpositions: 253746 for a plain lead; 752634 for a bob lead. If no singles are used, the touch is truc if none of the lead-ends repeat.

A loss to hastings

Hastings ringers have lost a friend by the death of their Rector (the Rev. John R. Sankey). To his memory it is proposed to erect a memorial plaque and finish the restoration of the organ. When Mr. Sankey became Rector his first job was to re-roof the tower, where ringing was impossible except in very dry weather. In gratitude Mr. C. Alfred Levett, 42, Magdalen Road, Si. Leonards-onSea, asks ringing friends for contributions Sea, asks ringing friends towards the memorial fund.

THE MESSAGE

APHRASE frequently heard is to claim that Charles Dickens immortalised Christmas in the homes of our country. But its roots are far deeper. The 'Mass of Christ' is first mentioned in the Philocalian calendar, drawn up at Rome A.D. 336, while the Christmas carols date back to the 15 th century. The first printed collection of carols came from the press of Wynkyn de Worde in 1521, and contained the famous 'Boar's Head Carol,' which is still sung at Queen's College, Oxford, on Christmas Day. Charles Dickens, however, made a notable contribution by bringing to the ordinary people the spirit of goodwill. The secular side of Christmas is firmly enshrined to-day and is to a large degree commercialised. Such comments as 'a good Christmas,' referring to the amount of the business turnover, are frequently heard, or the term 'good' is measured by the degree of festivity-that little extra to eat and drink and the other things that gladden the heart of man. These aspects of Christmas are inescapable; they surround us on every side. We do not condemn them. The essence is the true perspective and remembering that these are all subsidiary to the main reason for the Feast of Christmas taking such a prominent part in our lives.

As these lines are being written the hoar frost has covered the countryside with its magical whiteness. There is a stillness over the land. Such a silence is good. It is an escape from the artificiality of modern life, provided almost mysteriously by Nature's unseen hand. The mind goes back to that same silence in the hills above Bethlehem nearly 2,000 years ago, broken in such a miraculous manner by the heavenly hosts proclaiming the birth of the Saviour with the message, 'Peace on earth; goodwill towards men.'

Such will be our responsibility to proclaim to our day and generation as we ring on Christmas morning. There is a purity in the sound of the bells when heard over a frosty countryside. The trebles become prominent, soaring their music above the hum of the tenors. In the stillness everything is accentuated; the least imperfection is at once detected. Let there be nothing false in our ringing this Christmas; may the message of goodwill be rung with that true sincerity.

We hope that a correspondent will not write to the Editor and say: 'My village was denied the heavenly message of "goodwill to all men" because the ringers were absent.' If ringing means anything more to us than a pastime or a game of football, we should be in our places in the belfry. The whole world will be waiting for the Christmas message to lift its thoughts from the paganism that in places surrounds its life, and where the bells are silent there is a spiritual tragedy. Ringing on such occasions in life is the fundamental purpose of the Exercise. This is the purpose of all our ringing: the masses of technicalities that at times seem to loom so large are mere trivialities compared with the Message. First and foremost we ringers are His servants and members of His Church.

For the bells to give their spiritual message of goodwill something more than the individual skill of the ringer is required. One essential demand is sincerity and belief in the purpose for which we are ringing. Goodwill in our own hearts is required. A preliminary is the casting out of that spirit of nastiness, distrust, petty fault-finding and self-glorification. The goodwill must start in our own tower and extend to the district and Guild or Association. Christmas is the time when we must throw off all that is worst in our characters and conduct and put on all that is lovely and of good report.

With such a spirit in our hearts we shall descend from the belfry and join with other members of Christ's family in the worship and adoration of His Son, Who was made carnate that through Him we may have life. Then the immortal gift of the love of God will transcend into our hearts and we can take courage with the thought:

Earthly kings their tributes brought Him, Gifts of gold and spices sweet,
But as precious were the offerings Humble men laid at His feet,
Simple shepherds' adoration,
Little children's wondrous love,
These were counted costly treasures
By the Lord of Heaven above.

OBITUARY

MR. FRED HINDLE

The Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association has lost one of its oldest members in the death of Mr. Fred Hindle, of 58, Anvil Street. Blackburn. He was a ringer at Blackburn Cathedral and joined the Association in 1907.

Mr. Hindle was also secretary of the Branch for many years, carrying out his duties in a most efficient and cheerful manner. One of the most even-tempered of men, he was always a great help to beginners. Of late years, owing to his illness and his inability to climb the belfry steps, he has done very little ringing. In all he rang about 120 peals.

He was laid to rest in Plessington Cemetery on December 1st.

MR. CHARLES WILLIAMS
One of the oldest ringers of St. Martin's Guild. Mr. Charles Williams, died on November 30 th in his 82 nd year. The funeral service was at Harborne Parish Church on December 4th and cremation took place at Perry Barr.

WEATHER HAZARDS IN LONDON

Joint Meeting of Middlesex Association

 and Cumberland YouthsThe South and West District of the Middlesex Association was to have joined forces with the Cumberland Youths on December 6th for a meeting in London. Steeplekeepers kindly co-operated but the weather was forgotten. Keen frost and thick fog were a splendid combination to upset anyone's plans and the only ringers who ventured in from the south and west suburbs (and beyond) were the Ringing Master (Mr. R. D. Price), the secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow) and Mr. Sansom, of Heston !

That is not to say the meeting was a fiasco Far from it. There was a good sprinkling of Youths and many provincial visitors, bringing the total attendance to 40 or so. In the absence of Mr. George Cross through illness, ringing was in charge of Mr. T. H. Francis for the Youths, and Mr. Price for the County Association, and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise on eight, ten and twelve bells.
Thanks were accorded to the steeplekeepers for meeting the visitors, and it was a great honour to shake hands with England's newest film star, the Wizard of Westminster-William H. Hewett. Due notice of the premierre of his film will appear later.

Ringing took place at St. Giles' and St. Mar-tin's-both 'in-the-Fields,' and it was almost belicvable in that fog-and at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

The Christchurch Cathedral Bellringers' Society, Christchurch, New Zealand, have forwarded to the Editor a Christmas card with their good wishes to all ringers in this country.

The clock at Chester Cathedral has neither hands nor face-' only bowels.'-Clockwise.

Oxford University Socicty's annual lunch will be held on February 7th, 1953.

Heard in a Gloucestershire tower:-The new recruit having broken the treble stay moves on to the secontd. looks round and says Look. three seconds going-gone.'

Mr. W. Kingscott, of Wrington, has had the unusual distinction of ringing the tenor of Exeter Cathedral from both positions-as a 'strapper' and now as the tenor man.

Owing to masonry work in the bell chamber at St. Margaret's, Leicester, there will be no further practice or Sunday service ringing until early New Year.

Mr. William Rose has had to wait 30 years to get his first peal at Walpole St. Andrew, Norfolk. His previous attempt to the success: ful one on December 1st was in 1920. This peal was lost in the last 720.
The peal at Lamberhurst. Kent, on November 29 th, was arranged as a triple birthday compliment to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bassett and Mr. Albert Relfe. The bereavement of the Vicar by the death of his brother necessitated the ringing being half-muffled

A small number of Mid-Devon members spent a very pleasant evening on a recent Wednesday when they visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lilley, which is at Perry Farm, Highweek. Newton Abbot, Grandsire Doubles and Triples and Plain Bob Minor were creditably rung on handbells after which Mr . and Mrs. Lilley kindly provided light refreshments

'Tis said that Mr. Harold J. Poole had to dial 999 to invoke the ard of the police in ringing his 999th peal. The 1,000 th has duly followed. Congratulations on a unique record.

Mr. Geoffrey Hemming, Master of the Evesham Guild of Ringers, is in Evesham Hospital undergoing an operation. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. J. E. Jeater is spending Christmas in France from December 22nd to December 30th. Remittances arriving at his address between these dates will not be acknowledged until his return.

Mr. C. Woodcock, of Ipswich, informs us that the clock in the church tower at Stoke-byClare was, according to tradition, built by the village blacksmith about 1490 . It keeps good time and has an hour hand only.

Mr. John Checksfield, of The Firs Farm, Tenterden, who has been sidesman and churchworker for several ycars, wishes to thank the Ashford band of ringers who so kindly rang for his 101st birthday on December 6th.

The band that rang the peal at Heanor on December 8th are indebted to the local ringers, who although not yet peal ringers themselves. gave the visitors a warm welcome and provided cups of tea and cakes after the peal. It was a grand gesture and very acceptable on a cold December night.

TWO RINGS RESTORED IN LONDON

St. Mary's, Bow-St. Dunstan's, Stepney

L
ONDON, as is well known, suffered more in proportion to any other large citv in loss of bells as a result of enemy action. This has considerably retarded progress in the art and has severely crippled the activities of the College Youths. Facilities for practice and peals have been very limited-only three practices per month being possible and opportunities for peals very few

There are indications that a more hopeful state of things is coming about and on Sunday, November 30th. the Bishop of London rededicated a very nice ring of eight at St Mary's. Bow Road, E. The church was crowded to capacity and there are signs that the sound of the new bells has reawakened interest in church life

The tower of this church received a direct hit in 1940 and the bells, which came from the Whitechapel foundry in 1760 , were irreparably damaged. Recently the top position of the tower has been rebuilt and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have installed a delightful new ring of eight (tenor 14 cwt .), hung with modern fittings in a teak frame. The rincing room is now on the ground floor and the bells are easily handled from that position.

Arrangements are being made to control the volume of sound heard in the vicinity so that the bells will not cause any inconvenience to people living nearby. During the ringing for the dedication, people living in large blocks of fiats near the church threw open their windows so as to appreciate the full beauty of the tone of the new bells.

Another restoration, which has been much appreciated by London ringers in general and the residents in Darticular, is that of the famous ring of ten at St. Dunstan's. Stepney

The church was founded 1.000 vears ago by St. Dunstan and the parish extended from the eastern boundary of the city to Barking It included the parishes of Shoreditch. Bethnal Grcen. Whitechapel. Bow and what is now Limehouse and Poplar. Incidentally, the parish of St. Mary Bow. East. was one of the first to be carved out of the old parish of Stepney. The present church is a fine example of 15 th century architecture and in the chancel is preserved a stone carving of the Crucifixion dating from the latter part of the 12th century

The tower contains a ring of ten hells cast at the Whitechanel foundry in 1806 to renlare a heavy ring of eight. The tennr was originally given to the Priory of Holv Trinity, Aldeate. in the 14 th century and was sold with three others to St. Dunstan's Stebnev, about 1540.
The church was badly damaped hy bomh blast on more than one occasion and the upner part of the tower was found to be unsafe. The treble. 4 th and 8th hells were found to be cracked. These have been recast. The others have been sandhlast and retuned and the whole ring rehung with comnletely new fittinos in cast iron framework. The upner nart of the tower has been romoletely rehuilt. The wcight of the tenor is 29 cwt .

At a recent meeting of the College Youths great satisfaction was expressed by all at the improvement in the tone and 'en 'of the hells. The work was done hv the Whitechapel foundry.

Opportunities for the College Youths to mractise on these two restored rings will provide greater scope for advancement in the art.

TRIPLES AT NEWPORT (SALOP)
After a Lapse of 22 Years
The rededication of the eight bells of St. Nicholas', Newport, took place at a special choral evensong conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. H. L. Bradley).

The second and sixth bells of the octave have been recast by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. All the bells have been rehiung on ball bearings, the old oak frame has been strengthened and J. B. Joyce and Co., Ltd., of Whitchurch, have installed new hammerwork for the clock chimes, the whole work costing about $£ 550$.

During the service the Rector gave a brief address in which he said that it was a happy coincidence for the bells to have been prepared in time for the celebration of the patronal festival that same evening. St. Nicholas was not only the patron saint of children, but also of those engaged in fishing and sailing the seas, and seeing that Newport. many centuries ago, was a small fishing port situated by a great inland lakc, long since dried up, it was only natural that St. Nicholas should have been chosen as datron saint of the Parish Church. He concluded by thanking the bellringers for their loyal services over the years and all those who had subscribed towards the cost of the bells. 'People will bless this work for years to come

During the hymn 'For all the Saints' the choir proceeded to the west end of the church under the tower for the blessing of the bells by the Rector, who, immediately this had been done, chimed the second bell for a few moments. As an act of thanksgiving the choir ranged in front of the altar steps, sang the 'Te Deum.'

The bells were soon pealing out their merry sounds throughout the small market town situated in the Shropshire plain. Visiting ringers were welcomed from Market Drayton, Gnosall, Lilleshall, Hadley and Chetwynd. including Mr. G. L. Hewitt, of the Shropshire Association, and all paid complimentary remarks on the 'go' of the bells-a fine tribute to Horace Myatt and Roy Marsden, of Messrs. Taylor and Co. Methods rung were Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Bob Maior and Cambridge Surprise Minor. Mr. Tom Talbot, the tower captain, and his brother. Mr. Sam Talbot, will long remember this occasion as it presented them with the opportunity of ringing Grandsire Triples after a lapse of 22 years.
The inscriptions on the two recast bells are: Second.-Commemorating Golden Wedding George and Mary Jones. P. H. L. Bradlev. Rector. A. O. Talbott, I. Armstrong. Churchwardens. D. Keddie, Hon. Scc. P.C.C. Recast 1952.-Taylor, Loughboro

Ring out the darkness of the land
Ring in the Christ that is to be
Ring on in happy memory of Charles Hughes Lomax
And Ann his wife who died February A.D 1949.

BELLS OF MAGDALEN, OXFORD
John Betjeman has written a poem on 'The Bells of Magdalen' which has been nublished in the winter number of the Cornhill Magazine. It was inspired by hearing the bells from the Botanic Garden. Oxford, on St. Mary Maqdalen's day (July 22nd). Two of the eight stanzas are:-

A grassy kinedom sweet to view
With tiger lilies still in flower And beds of umbelliferae
Ranged in Linnaean symmetry
All in the sound of Magdalen tower
Before the spell began to fail.
Before the bells have lost their power,
Before the grassy kingdom fade
And Oxford traffic roar invade. I thank the bells of Magdalen cower.

YOUNG RINGERS JOINING THE

 NORTH STAFFS
Association's Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Stoke-on-Trent on December 6th and was attended by representatives from the following towers:-Astbury, Bucknall, Cannock, Newcastle, Stafford, Wolstanton. Norton, Broughton. Hanley, Brown Edge, Leek, Biddulph, Kinsley, Stoke, Longton, University College. Keele.
Tea was provided in the Church Hall at the invitation of the president, the Ven. P. Harthill, Rector of Stoke. He was supported by Mr. R. S. Anderson (chairman) and Mr. W. Carnell (secretary).
The annual business was conducted after tea and the secretary reported that twelve ringing meetings had been held during the year with an average attendance of 35 . Thirly-nine peals had been rung, 19 on tower bells and 20 on handbells. The conducting had been shared by the following ringers.-F. W. Grocott 19, M. O. Slaney 5, F. W. Wilshaw 3: W. P. Deane, W. Hazeldene, G. H. Hall. Miss J. M. Henshaw, D. Knox, C. H. Page and P. Border one each.
Congratulations were offered to the band who took part in a peal of Royal in eleven methods on handbells.
The following officers were elected:-President. Archdeacon P. Harthill: chairman. Mr. R. S. Anderson: vice-chairman. Mr. A. Hall: secretary. Mr. W. Carnell: Ringing Master (6 bells). Mr. W. Hazcldene; Ringing Master (8 bells), Mr. A. Moore. A tribute of respect was paid to the memory of the late Alfred Ryder. who had been a regular member of St . Edward's, Leek, for 47 years.
The following towers are to be visited during 1953 :-January, Longton: Fehruary, Burslem : March. Wolstanton: April. Cheddleton; May, Leek; June, Swynnerton; July, Broughton; September, Uttoxeter: October. Hanley: November. Bucknall: December, Stoke (annual meeting).
The president in welcoming the ringers, said that this year he noticed an appreciable increase in the membership of the association and was pleased to note that this was mostly among the younger generation. This was the largest attendance that had been at Stoke during the period of his presidency which had now lasted 18 years.
The chairman moved a vote of thanks to the Archdeacon for his very kind welcome, which was seconded by Mr. D. R. Whalley.
The company was entertained after tea by the following junior handbell ringers.-A. Pessall. A. Lambert. J. Wootton and J. Ratcliffe, who reminded us of Christmastide by the tunes of the usual carols. Much credit is due to Mr. F. Wilshaw for their training.
Ringing continued on the tower bells under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. Arnold Moore, until 9.15 p.m. D. R. W.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD

The quarterly meeting was held at Sedgley on November 29th in very wintry weather hut in spite of this 25 members attended. The curate (the Rev. D. Skelding) conducted the service in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar.
After tea Mr. Fred Bennett presided at the meeting. The appointment of a new secretary was again postponed until the annual meeting in April. Mr. Colclough, the present secretary, would be pleased to receive nominations for same.

Members then returned to the belfry for further ringing. The thanks of the Guild are due to Mr. Ben Fullwood for making all the arrangements.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

Southern District Annual Meeting

Over 30 members and visitors attended the Southern District annual meeting at St. Catherine's Church, Gorseinon. on December 6 th. The members represented Aberavon, Porthcawl, Cadoxton, Neath, Sketty, Llandilo, Cefn-Coed. Gorseinon, Duffryn, and the visitors were from Winchester and Stoke-on-Trent. Mr. Slaney, who is now teaching at Llandovery College, was accorded a special welcome.
The service was fully choral with some of the young ringers in the choir. The Rev. J. E. Lewis conducted the service and gave a very suitable address.
Tea was served in the Church Hall and as usual all were pleased with the good things provided. A vote of thanks was accorded to provided. A for preparing the food and service.
The chair was taken at the meeting by the Rev. J. E. Lewis, who welcomed the ringers to St. Catherine's. Mr. Arthur Hoare. hon. District secretary, and Mr. Trevor M. Roderick, hon. District auditor, were again elected for the ensuing year.

After much discussion it was decided to accept an invitation to Aberavon for an open practice to commence at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on March 1st. This is to take the place of the usual Guild meeting.

It was unanimously agreed to go on with the outing for 1953 and a proposal by Mr . Roderick to hold it on June 20th was carried. The route and chartering of bus were left to the committee.
With the object of encouraging young ringers Mr. Roderick proposed that after they had passed certain elementary preliminaries they should be introduced to the Master of the Guild at a quarterly meeting and that their names should be entered in a minute book A rider that a suitable ringing book should be given to members was also carried.
Four life members and one ordinary member were elected. A vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. J. E. Lewis for presiding and for conducting the service, and to the organist and choir for assisting at the service.
It was regretted that Canon W. J. Thomas was unable, through illness, to be present. This was supported by Mr. J. T. Williams.
The Rev. J. E. Lewis. in his reply, said he would convey their sincere wishes to Canon Thomas.

A return to the tower by all kept the bells ringing to rounds. Grandsire, Stedman. Double Norwich and Cambridge until 8 p.m. J. A. H.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Mr. Lathey Retires After 21 Years as Secretary
The annual meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held on December 6th at Lyme Regis, it having been proved not practicable to hold it this year at Bridport; and though Lyme is at the western extremity of the District, over 30 attended and there was no fog in this county to impede transport or dull the proceedings.

An hour's ringing on St. Michael's eight (destined for the foundry early in the New Year) preceded the service. The lesson was read by the Rev. A. Whecler, Vicar of Beaminster. and an address was given by the Vicar of Lyme Regis, Canon C. C. Cox, based on the words from Psalm 122, v. 8 :. For my brethren and companions' sakes I will wish thee prosperity, referring also to words from the lesson, I. Peter, 2 : "Honour all men. love the Brotherhood, fear God, honour the King.' He mentioned a talk given recently to ringers at a village meeting by the Bishop of Salisbury, when he spoke enthusiastically of the freemasonry and good fellowship among ringers and wished that the secret of its attainment could be passed on to other branches of Church work.
Tea followed at the Church Hall, arranged and served by Mrs. Cox and the wives of local ringers, and who succeeded in providing a very good meal at very nominal cost. Their efforts were very much appreciated by everyone.

A business meeting followed. On the proposition of the Rev. O. L. Willmott, Vicar of Loders, Canon Cox was unanimously re-elected chairman. The Rev. O. L. Willmott was reclected as vice-chairman.
After 21 years' service to the Branch as secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. H. Lathey's resignation was very regretfully received. The chairman paid tribute to the efficient manner in which he had piloted the affairs of the Branch, expressing the thanks and good wishes of all members to him. In his place Mr. J. Barrett of Beaminster, was unanimously elected.
Mr. H. D. W. Bishop was re-elected Ringing Master, and Messrs. G. S. Morris and A. Scott were elected Deputy Ringing Masters. New members elected were Mr. F. Good (Loders) and Mr. J. Rattenbury (Lyme Regis).
Quarterly meetings were arranged for Netherbury, Hawkchurch, Evershot and Litton Cheney. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Beaminster. Thanks were accorded Mr. H. Sanders, organist, of Lyme Regis, for his accompaniment at the service.
Following the meeting a selection of carols was played on handbells by the Lyme Regis ringers. Further ringing then followed on the tower bells, and later, at Axminster, call changes and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Plain Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise were rung.

JOINT MEETING AT BECCLES

About 40 members attended the joint meeting of the Norwich Diocesan Association (East Norfolk Branch) and the Suffolk Guild at Beecles on November 15th. Ringing on the lovely ten bells consisted of Plain Bob, Kent and Cambridge Royal. Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, and rounds for beginners.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. P. F. Hares), with the Rev. A. S. St. J. Heard (president of the Norwich Diocesan Association) reading the lessons.

After tea at the Co-operative Socicty's Assembly Rooms the president proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and to Mr. E. R. Goate for arranging the tea. The next meeting (annual) of the East Norfolk Branch will be at Gorleston-on-Sea on February 28 th.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

South-West Branch

Thirty-two members and friends attended the annual meeting of the South-West Branch held at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, on December 6th. Full use was made of the glorious ring of ten hells and touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman were brought round. In addition, numerous plain courses of Grandsire Caters and lots of rounds were rung for the less experienced.
The Vicar, the Rev. W. H. A. Cooper, conducted a service in St. Andrew's Chapel at 4.30 p.m. and gave a short and inspiring address based on the apostle Andrew. Tea was served at 5.15 p.m. in the lower Abbey Hall by Mrs. Chaff and her helpers.

The business meeting which followed was presided over by Mr. H. H. Thomas. Branch chairman. The hon. secretary's report and the balance sheet for 1952 , showing a balance of $£ 140$ s. 2d. in the General Account and $£ 36 \mathrm{~s}$. in the Instruction Fund, were unanimously adopted. The election of officers resulted in the unanimous re-elections of Mr. H. H. Thomas, chairman: Mr. T. G. Myers, hon. secretary and treasurer: Ringing Master. Mr. T. G. Myers : hon. auditor. Mr. H. O. Thomas. Representatives to serve on the general committee, W. G Lavers, J P. Sims and S. O'Shaughnessy. The Rev. J. D. Wakeling (Vicar of Emmanuel, Plymouth) was clected as a performing member.
The programme agreed upon for 1953-54 was : April 11th. Tavistock: Whit Monday. Annual Meeting of the Guild. in Exeter: June 27th, Joint meeting with Mid-Devon Branch, at South Brent; September 26th, Kingsbridge; January 16th. 1954 (annual meeting of the Branch), Plympton St. Maurice ; all subject to permission being obtained.
Mr. T. G. Myers raised a discussion about a booklet by F. S. Worth on "The Rings of Church Bells in the City of Plymouth,' and considered the Branch should assist the sales. The result was a decision to purchase 24 copies at 2 s . each to resell to members and friends at the same price.
The Ringing Master urged members to consider doing extra for Coronation Year and suggested a peal attempt in each of the towers in union with the Branch to include as many locals as were prepared to make the effort. A lengthy cross-talk, rather than discussion. ensued, and it was finally agreed the secretary make the necessary inquiries and arrangements.
The chairman moved a sincere and grateful vote of thanks to the Rev W. H. A. Coopes for allowing the Branch to hold its meeting at St. Andrew's.

RINGERS' SERVICE AT MTTCHAM

Twenty-one ringers from eight towers attended the annual ringers' service at Christ Church. Mitcham. on November 16 th. The bells were rung from 5.30 to $6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and for a short time after the service.

Owing to the illness of the Vicar (the Rev. G. S. Johnston) the service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Rush, of Tulse Hill, who also preached. The lessons were read by Mr. E. Jones and Mr. G. Pidwell. who were for many years members of Christ Church hand, An appropriate carol, 'Ding, Dong, Dell,' was sung by the choir, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by members of the St. Leonard's band. Streatham.

In his address on bells Mr. Rush said the ringing of bells was a ministry. If St. Paul had been alive to-day he would have said: 'Some are called to be administrators, some are called to be bellringers and members of the choir and teachers, all for the work of the ministry and for the perfecting of the Saints.' Bell-ringing was a vocation done not only for one's pleasure and satisfaction, but for the glory of God and for the benefit of His Church and for the benefit of mankind

After the service the ringers were kindly entertained to light refreshments at the Vicarage.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHAT CONSTITUTES AN ORIGINAL COMPOSITION ?

Dear Sir ,-There is no need for Mr. Topp to apologise for having published a peal which someone else had produced; that has been done many times before and will, I suppose, be done again. An apology is really due from me for not having made my figures more public than just publishing them in a Yorkshire Association report. Incidentally, I make no claim to the composition which appears on page 780 of 'The Ringing World but 1 shall be surprised if it is passed unchallenged-the scope of Lincolnshire Surprise is so small that I rather think all the possible peals on that plan will have been worked out.
Mr. Topp is to be commended for so graciously withdrawing his claim. Composers of bygone days were not always so ready to do that; they preferred to wrangle over the ownership of the peals they produced and their letters to 'The Bell News' and 'The Ringing World,' bitter and acrimonious though they sometimes were, provided interesting and amusing matter for the readers of the ringing press.
In at least one instance the rival claims to a peal of Superlative Surprise Major broke a long friendship between two eminent composers and the estrangement lasted a lifetime. Mr. Charles Henry Hattersley claimed that a 5,056 23 -course block of Superlative produced by Mr . Arthur Craven was a variation of one of his peals. Mr. Craven objected on the grounds that his peal could not be extended whereas Mr. Hattersley's peal could be lengthened by the insertion of either one or two sets of three bobs at Home, and the same musical qualities maintained, as Mr. Hattersley's 'packing courses ' were not of the same nature. The argument was carried on by a series of letters through the post, not in the columns of the ringing press, and some years afterwards I was privilcged to read the letters which Mr. Craven had received-there were seven or eight of them. An indication of how the friendship between these two very likeable men deteriorated is provided by the type of address which Mr . Hattersley used: the first letter opened Mr . Hattersley used. the first letter opened
'My dear Arthur,' the last one just ' Sir. I think it was the reading of those letters. which made me realise how right two men with opposite views can be and how difficult to say whether a composition is original or not.

One of the most difficult tasks I had to undertake in my long period as peal secretary of the Yorkshire Association was to decide whether certain compositions should be credited to the composers named or whether they should be classed as variations of some other men's work. I have always maintained that there can be no hard and fast rule on what constitutes an original composition and what is a variation.

Mr. Speed and Mr. Golden seem to suggest that all peals of a certain nature should be credited to the composer who produced the first one. If that is done the whole system of peal classification will break down: most twin-bob peals of Stedman Triples will have to be credited to Thomas Thurstans-or should it be William Hudson? Benjamin Annable's name will claim all the 82 variations his three-part peal of Bob Major is capable of producing: the Bob and Single peals of Grandsire Triples will belong to Vicars, perhaps John Garthon: and John Carter will no longer be entitled to the peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques which appear in his broadshect. Who will be named as the owner of all the many 5,05623 -course peals of Surprise Major (Superlative. Yorkshire. Pudsey, etc.) that have the basic calling W.M.B. wrapped up in Q sets I do not know. and when we come to Treble Bob Major it seems to me that someone is going to be credited with a terrific amount of compositions he never saw and never even thought of.

If such a scheme is allowed to become operative all that a composer will need to do, provided he has the ability, is to produce one peal in one of the few channels still left unexplored and then sit back and let other people produce the variations of that peal, then he claims the lot. What the late Mr. Arthur Knights, that delightful personality whom I always regarded as one of the most able, certainly the most prolific, of composers the Exercise has ever known, would have said to such a suggestion I hesitate to think; by it, most of his life's work in peal composition would be taken from him.
It has been suggested that compositions should be numbered and not named ; that would be one way out of the difficulty of course, but what a loss of tradition and personality there will be if ever that course is adopted - Yours sincerely,
Pudsey

TANS, SINES AND COSINES

Dear Sir,--Reading of the Mirfield Tan being used as a call. I would like to point out that the call of 'Tan' has been in use in our Society for a number of years. though it is usually preceded by the call 'Black and.
You may be interested to learn that we also find it useful to employ 'Sines' in appropriate situations in the belfry, with the usual response of 'Cosine,' but we have never yet been driven so deep into the trigonometry textbooks as to have to use 'Cosecants'; it is probably felt that this would be unfair on the members who read subjects other than mathematics.- Yours faithfully.
R. J. COOK

Oxford.

AN EXTREME

Dear Sir, - Regarding the 'Mirfield Tan. Another call sometimes inserted in these parts is an 'Extreme.' With treble at lead the bell in 5-6 up makes a Double Norwich Bob and the two back bells, normally the tenors, make three dodges.
Also there is the 'Treble Extreme' where the Treble turns back at 5-6. No doubt these variations may be useful when no other method but Kent is rung. Far better, however. to learn the elementary principles of Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Norwich. Grandsire or Stedman and then follow and fit in for service or practice ringing. We must appreciate the fact that all parties of ringers are made really welcome at Mirfield and it is. only fair to let the older generation carry on in the old sweet way. In fairness to the younger generation, the better plan would be to teach them in a manner to stand their ground with other ringers instead of staying at home with an inferiority com-plex.-Yours faithfully. A. W. BOND.
Lindley, Yorks.

ROTHERWICK CHURCH AND CHERTSEY ABBEY

Mr . J. Morley, of Reading, calls our attention to a possible association between Chertsey. Abbey and Rotherwick Church, Hampshire.

The third of the six bells at Rotherwick is of the 14th century and is believed to be the second oldest bell in Hampshire.

The lettering resembles that seen on bells cast at the famous Wokingham Foundry, of which the Chertsey Abbey Foundry was the parent. John de Rutherwyk was Abbot of Chertsey from 1307 to 1346, and possibly he sent this bell as a present to his native village.
When Burghfield ringers had their annual outing this year they rang at Rotherwick. Our correspondent writes: 'We didn't stop very long as the bells went badly, the ropes cracked like whips and bits of dust and twigs dropped down our necks. presumably from jackdaws' nests.

BREDON WITH BREDONS NORTON
Dear Sir,-Much as I used to love to hear the bells of Bredons Norton when I was a curate-in-charge (1919-1923), I must correct the dedication given in your report of a peal there on November 28 th which was conducted by my good friend and parishioner, Mr. J. Thomas. I do so not that I want to quibble, but because the mistake opens up a matter of interest. The dedication of the chapel of Bredons Norton is unknown; it is one of those rare instances, and I believe the only one in Worcestershire.

It is the Parish Church of Bredon which is dedicated to St. Giles, where as far back as 1624 there was a ring of five.
The treble was by Abraham Rudhall, so was the 4 th. but the 2 nd, 3 rd and 5 th are interesting inasmuch as they were cast by William Whitmore in 1624. William Whitmore also in 1639, cast bells for Frocester, Gios, but whether he was an itinerant founder or had a foundry I have not succeeded in tracing. (Can anyone enlighten me, please?) In my Bredon days these bells were rung but it always sounded as if the tenor was too heavy for the ring and was out of tune.

During my time there, however, there arose a new Rector, who did away with a rood screen in the making. which led to the approach to the belfry, and put a monkey ladder up the tower wall to a trap door on the belfry floor, making it, therefore, impossible for any ringer save the most virile to ascend to the ringing chamber. I believe the bells are merely chimed now, so no more do Bredon bells ring out across the nearby Avon and its lovely meadows. We used to hear the sweet-toned bells of Strensham across the river in my day but these are, alas, now silent.-Yours truly,

Hinton-on-the-Green, Evesham.

THE DAYS OF EYE

Dear Sir,-Mr. Claud Rush's account of the Days of Eye is very interesting to me as it was through George Day rehanging the five bells at Brome, Suffolk in 1886, that I started to ring. There the ringing chamber is so near the bells that the sallies go on the wheels at backstroke.

George was a very enthusiastic ringer in those far-off days. On most. Sundays he would travel by train from Eye to Ipswich to ring for matins at St. Mary-le-Tower's, afterwards going to St. Paul's Cathedral. London, for Stedman Cinques in the afternoon.

It is noteworthy that he used expressions many times in conversation. When a lad was rescued from a pond he repeated 'Is he wet?' over and over again.

He also did repairs to pumps but did not like doing so and would say 'I would rather get killed up a steeple than die down a well.'

The writer contacted him in his later days. On matters of business he would always remark 'I now leave everything to the boy Fred.' Fred was then about 60 years of age. Yours, etc.

CLACTON SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-The peal of Clacton Surprise Major rung at Helmingham on February 16th, 1938 (method and composition by the late G. Lindoff), is false. This has been proved by Mr. C. J. Sedgley. Consequently the peal has been withdrawn. Yours faithfullv.

RINGERS' NOTEBOOK AND DIARY

The fifth issue of this popular publication is now in circulation. From a typographical point of view this year's issue is an improvement on previous annuals. The concise manner in which essential information is provided makes this little notebook and diary the constant companion of all ringers who have aspirations in widening their knowledge of change ringing. It is an ideal Christmas gift

FOR BEGINNERS

And a Word to the Older Hands XXV.

GRANDSIRE IN THREE-LEAD COURSES
Some of the earliest peals of Grandsire Triples were composed on what is known as the three-lead course plan, that is a plan by which the observation beli comes back to its plain course position every third lead. Such peals are not now much in favour, principally on the ground, we believe, that the observation bell never does the whole of the work included in a plain course.

There are only three positions in which it can fall, and these are Wrong (7-6 down), Middle (4-5 up) and Before (3rds place). The observation bell never goes into the hunt or dodges in 5-4 down or 6-7 up, and many people, therefore, look upon such peals as lacking in interest.

Nevertheless, this short-course plan provides excellent music for touches, for it is possible, for instance, by this means to get the full extent of 6-7 together at course-ends in a touch of only 1,008 changes.

Peals on these lines have usually the 6th as the observation bell, but the 5th or 3 rd is sometimes used. If you want to keep the 6-7 together throughout your touch you must keep both these bells fixed and you do it by calling a Single at the first lead (bringing the 6th into 45 up, and the 7 th to make the long 3rds). A three-lead course also necessitates a call to bring 6-7 together behind-it is that, indeed, which makes the three-lead course.
It is easy to call from any bell. Note the course-end, call a Single the next lead; have a plain lead when the 6th comes. Before (unless your composition, as it may, provides for a Bob). and call a Bob or Single next lead as required.

When written out the calls may be noted as M.. B., W., or 1. 2, 3, the figures denoting the lead of the course. Thus a touch of 168 can be written in either of the following ways:-

| 234567 | M | B | W |  | 234567 | 1 | 2 |

This touch can be doubled in length by calling a Single for either of the Bobs, and lengthened again by calling a Single for one of the other Bobs in alternate parts.

You can make up a great variety of touches for yourself, and you can get the 1,008 to which we have referred by using the follow-ing:-

| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 435267 | S | S |
| 352467 | S | - |
| 524367 | S | - |
| 423567 | S | S |

Repeat this five times with a Bob for Single at the end of the third and sixth parts.

If you want a 504 with twelve $6-7 \mathrm{~s}$, call the four course three times exactly as set out.

A very symmetrical five-part peal on this plan was composed by Thomas Thurstans, of Birmingham. for ever famous for his Four-Part peal of Stedman Triples. It is based on these four-course blocks.
In the first block a Bob at 2 (the 6th Before) is called. The rest is like the touch of 1.008 . It brings up the part-end 723465 , and that is one-fifth of the peal.

RUNITNGDON.-At All Saints Church on Dec. 7th, 1.360 Bob Minor: H. B. Bull 1, M. J. Dyer 2, J. R. G. Spicer 3. J. Witney 4. H. S. Peacock 5, S. Gilbert (cond.) 6 .
WOBURN, BEDS.-On Dec. 6th, 1,260 Double Nornich C.B. Major: W. Todd 1, P. Croft 2, E. Winters 3, H. D. Harris 4, D. Gullick 5, P. Mehew 6. D. Jones 7 , $\mathbf{F}$. Croft (cond.) 8 .

SURREY ASSOCIATION

North-West District
Despite the clerk of the weather's efforts to black out the south-west of London with fog on December 6 th, 19 members of the Surrey Association, representing ten towers, found their way to Benhilton (Sutton) tower and by three o'clock the bells were in changes.

At a service in the church, conducted by the Vicar, a very warm welcome was offered. Tea provided by wives of the local band was heartily enjoyed and exceeded the demands of the company as double the number had intimated their intention of being present. The business meeting followed and had to take place without the minutes as the secretary was fog-bound at Walton.

The following nominations for the District officers for 1953 were received: Master, F. E. Collins; secretary. R. Lathbury; treasurer $\mathbf{H}$. N. Pitstow; auditor, G. Peters and R. F. Layton: committee, E. J. Lindley, A. J. Adams, R. Davies, E. Gosden and Miss J. Smith.

Members are reminded that further nominations, in writing, may be sent to the District secretary up to January 3 rd , in accordance with Rule 16.
Two new members were elected and the election of four others prior to peals was notified.
A proposal was put forward for practice meetings to be held in the months when no business meeting is being held and it was left to the committee to give this further detailed consideration at their next meeting.
The Vicar, replying to the vote of thanks for use of the bells and conducting the service, said he remembered very clearly a previous meeting he attended at Benhilton when tongue was served at tea. The next day he had to read the first lesson, which began, And he was given tongue. He always associated the two and was happy to be with the company. He thought they should most heartily thank the local ladies, who had again provided such a sumptuous repast.

Further ringing took place after the meeting when the company was joined by that jovial character, W. J. Rawlings, who was not with them at tea because he could not find the place in the fog. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major.

THE RINGER'S HYMN

By J. Campbell, Captain of St. Columb's.

Cathedral Ringers, Londonderry.
O Thou, who from the call "Look-To
And 'Treble's Going-Gone,
Grant us no false course to pursue
But a true peal to win.
Help us to learn the rules aright.
See that the Treble man
Be one whose power is infinite.
Then lean on him we can.
Lord, hunting up help us to see
Who follows at each pull.
And when we dodge let all be free
From doubt, and strike not ill.
Then when we've run out to the back
And laid the blows behind.
Be Thou our course bell, mark the track
To lead our way we'll find.
Our God the Great Conductor shall Make all the calls full dear,
We pray Thy help, we may not fall
Nor falter even here.
Then when the great 'That's All' shall sound And we are all brought 'Home,'
Let each in his own place be found Lest one of us shall roam.
With Thee as guide and stay through all,
Upholding to the end,
When at the last we're called to "Fall,"
Then hail us each as Friend.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District at Howden

About 25 members from 14 towers attended the winter quarterly meeting of the Eastern District at Howden on November 29th in cold. foggy weather. The service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. G. Richards).

An excellent tea was followed by the business meeting presided over by Mr. A. E. Sellers. meeting presigdom (York) and Mr. Cromack (Carlton) were elected new members. Goole was selected for the next meeting, in March.

Mr. C. Barker asked those present to keep open January 31st, the date of the Beverley and District Society's annual dinner. A collection for the Association's Bell Repair Fund realised 14s. 6 d

The fine ring of eight was kept going during the afternoon and evening.

Change Ringing

On Sunday evening last, eight members of the Society of Change Ringers of this town ascended the tower of the Parish Church. King's Norton, and succeeded in ringing in three hours and nine minutes a complete peal of Triple Bob Major, in the Kent variations, comprising 5.088 changes, being the first peal in that method rung on those bells. After the falling of the bells the performers were met by Mr. G. E. Clulee, who presented them with a sovereign and complimented them for their talent in striking and their exactness in the compass of the bells. John Perks was treble: John Bannister 2nd: Joseph Spencer 3rd: Robert Yates 4th; Rohert Wright Sth; John Robinson 6th; John Day 7th; and William Chattell tenor. The peal was composed by Mr. Thomas Day and conducted by Mr. John nay.

'FLINTSHIRE AND ITS BELLS'

THE low, sandy coast, with the estuarine flats along the Dee, and the appeal of Rhyl, with its fine beaches, as a holiday resort, have made parts of Flintshire familiar to the large populations of Lancashire. But there is another side of the county, the western half, where the steep limestone escarpment rises to 1,800 feet behind Prestatyn, which escapes the ordinary holiday-maker. 'The Ringing World' has frequent reference to the county, either on account of peals or outings, as Flintshire has five rings of eight bells and nine of six.

For the antiquarian interested in bells, this, the smallest of Welsh counties, is a happy hunting ground, and Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston has provided the Cambrian Archeological Association with a readable volume. There is still much virgin country in Wales in the matter of bell surveys. This is only the third county to have its bells recorded, previous works being 'The Church Bells of Monmouth' by Mr. A. Wright and in 1947 ' The Church Bells of Radnorshire' by Mr. Frederick Sharpe.

Flintshire can trace its Christianity back to the days of the Celtic Christians, as is instanced by the monastery at Bangor Iscoed. A MS. book written by the Rev. D. Maurice tells of the finding on the hill, near the church at Cwm, of three four-cornered bells, and called respectively ' The yellow bell of Cwm.' 'The white bell of Abergele,' and 'The blue bell of Llandulas.' These old bells were handbells, which were taken round with the priest and used to call people to worship, the services generally being in the open air. The bells were probably made of riveted iron plates which, when exposed to the atmosphere, disintegrated, no trace of them now exists. There is, however, a late 14th century priest's bell at Caerwys. From the small Lombardic letters, Mr. Clouston suggests a date of about 1380, but the shape is of a later period, and he gives a word of caution, suggesting that the Lombardic lettering had been handed down.

The idea of the 'bells going to the people' seems to have been carried on in Holywell as recently as 1857. St. Winefride's well is at Holywell, and the town gained the reputation of being the Lourdes of Wales. The original bell of nearly $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{ins}$. diameter is preserved in the church, although there is a crack right through the waist. Thomas Pennant wrote in 1795: 'The church has only one bell, and that not to be heard at any distance, so that the congregation is assembled by a walking steeple, a man with a small bell, who sounds the notice through every street." Mr. Clouston explains that the bell was suspended by a strap from the neck of the bell-man, who wore a leather pad on one knee, and who caused the bell to ring on every step. The earliest record of the bell is in 1714. A salary of two guineas a year was in 1758 paid to the bell-man. The churchwarden's accounts also recorded an allowance of clothing to "the boy who is to carry the bell.'

The second bell in Flintshire, which is of pre-Reformation date, is in the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Ysceifiog. It was cast at the old Nottingham foundry, the shield also appearing on bells at Stoneleigh (Warwickshire) and Muston and Kegworth (Leicestershire), in conjunction with the initials R. K. The Clibury foundry of Wellington (Salop), with a branch establishment at Holt (Denbighshire), some nine miles south of Chester, is responsible for eight bells. As might be expected, the Rudhalls, of Gloucester, are well represented. Abraham Rudhall I. (1679-1735) and Abraham Rudhall II. (17181735) have two rings of six at Bangor-on-Dee and at Mold, and Abel Rudhall (1736-60) a ring of six at Hawarden and four at Worthenbury. Thomas Rudhill (1760-83) had a ring of six at Hammer, now recast, and two other bells, and John Rudhall (1785-1830) a ring of six at Overton, except the tenor and the second bell at Bangor-on-Dee.

Coming to more modern times, both Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and the Whitechapel Foundry have made notable contributions to the county's bells. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have the ring of eight at Rhyl (1876) to their credit, a six at Hammer (1890), a six at Hope (1920), a chime of five at Prestatyn (1949) and a chime of eight at the Roman Catholic Abbey, Talacre (1937).

From Whitechapel came the largest church bell in the county, the 25 cwt. tenor at St. Asaph's Cathedral (Messrs. Taylor and Co. recast the treble here in 1947), and 42 other bells dating from the treble and second at Caerwys in 1787. The octave at Northop and five bells to complete the octave at Bodelwyddan and five bells to make a ring of six at Flint (and later the tenor) were among the bells from this foundry.

Closely related to bells is perhaps the shapeless mass of metal preserved in the Cathedral Church of St. Asaph. This is said to be from the bells destroyed by Owen Glendower in 1402, when he burnt the church.

Mr. Clouston undertook his survey in March and April, 1948. The record is made more interesting by the many illustrations and drawing of founders' marks, and forms a valuable addition to antiquarian bell records.

LIMITED

No matter in which corner of the country you happen to be, as likely as not you will come acrose Gillett and Johnston bells or tower clocks.

Gillett and Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service-as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

RINGERS I REMEMBER

JOHN BUTTERY (Leicester).

IN my early days young aspirants to the art did not get the encouragement or opportunities that are possible to-day. My father introduced me into St. Mark's belfry along with my schoolmate, Fred Staniforth (now of Kibworth), just over fifty years ago. When we could handle a bell, if we got a 'rise' or a 'fall' we were lucky, especially if a full team turned up. Our job was to stay at the tower bottom and see that only ringers came in. St. Mark's at that time was in a slum area and 'drunks and disorderlies; were frequent and often caused trouble. Among the 'élite' of those days were the brothers Stephen and William Cooper. John Buttery, William Willson, Charles H. Fowler and others now gone to their rest
One of the most outstanding and interesting personalities was John Buttery. He had 'inherited' the leadership of the old Leicester ringers from Edward Biggs, and for many years -long before my time was the recognised conductor. He was an educated man and (I believe) in his younger days was a tea taster. which was a position of high repute. Alas, he fell on evil times and his taste developed for stronger beverages than tea!

His first peal was rung in 1869 at All Saints' Loughborough, on the old eight, and from that time he took part in many praiseworthy performances. His first peal as conductor was at St. Mary-de-Castro, Leicester. and in 1874 he took part in a peal of Caters at St. Mary's, Nottingham. In 1877 he composed and called the centenary peal of Caters at St. Margaret's commemorating the 10.080 rung there 100 years before. In 1880 he called the first peal of Stedman Triples ever rung in Leicester, and in 1885 he called the first of Grandsirc Caters for the old Midland Counties Association and also their first of Stedman Caters. In 1891 he turned St. Margaret's tenor in to the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal in Leicester. In 1894 he called Thurstans' Stedman Triples on handhells and later the first of Stedman Caters to be rung on handbells in the county. He took part in the 'silent' peals of Triples. Caters and Cinques, and most of his peals were of special merit.

Buttery was gifted with a ready speech and many are the tales told of his doings. He married a cousin. Fanny, and she, after the death of their first born, turned somewehat mental and led old Jack an awful life. He came down greatly in the social standard, yet still. in spite of it all, maintained a quiet dignity and dressed as well as he could

A PERSUASIVE CHARACTER

I never remember him without his walking stick! He developed a suasive tongue and could wheedle money out of anybody. He often used to go round for Christmas boxes two or three times a year, calling at factories and warehouses and shops all over the town! When he called the first peal of Stedman Caters in Leicester he went round and not only collected enough to erect a most elaborate board (now in St . Margaret's), but also to give a tripe and onion supper to all Leicester ringers. Once after ringing for Christmas at St. George's then possessing six bells-he espied a wedding carriage stop nearby. He coaxed Mr. Willson to go with him and went and called on the bridegroom. After the usual congratulations he said, "We have been ringing the bells for you.' The bridegroom replied. 'How could that be? I've just got married at Charles Street Chapel and there's no bells there.' Old Jack was not stumped -he said, 'Ah, yes! we knew that, so we rang at the nearest church!' They were taken in, given a glass of wine and 2 s . dd . each.

Another time after ringing muffled for a funeral there happened to be a wedding following. Old Jack went and told the wedding party they had been ringing. The bridegroom said, 'But you rang muffled!' Jack replied, ‘ Yes, but only one side-the open side was for you. He collected the fee!

CORONATION RINGING

Never shall I forget the Coronation of King George V. in 1911. All the city bells rang at given times during the day so that there was continuous ringing all the time. We at $\mathrm{St}^{\text {. }}$ Margaret's started first, and after our spell old Jack went across the way to the 'Queen Victoria' Inn to wait the next turn. After this had been done St. Martin's rang a peal, and Jack-instead of going home for a meal-went and listened to this peal in the 'King and Crown' opposite. At the end of the day he was properly 'soaked.' He came down Church Gate on his sea-legs-all over the place-and how he got up St. Margaret's tower I do not know. While we rang a touch he sat in the corner and promptly went to sleep! Rousing him up to take part in the last touch of the day, he made vain efforts to pick up the end of the rope. It was therefore placed in his hand. Evidently he could see several sallies and could not grasp any, so this was also placed in his hand. Then 'Go' was called, and heon the 2nd-rang a perfect touch with not the slightest sign of a bad blow-to my youthful amazement.

When he called my first touch of Caters I asked him how many changes that was: he replied, 'I can't tell you, my lad; I make it up as I go along.' However, the next week he brought the toucb written out in pencil on a blue sugar bag! That night he called another 500 odd and the next week brought the figures written on the back of an old election paper! Once after ringing, the company adiourned to the 'Queen Victoria' opposite and after a time Jack was missed. A search failed to find him. so one went across to the belfry, but no sign of him there. Eventually they found him-fast asleep on the bottom steps of the turret behind the door leading to the church.

Once when coming out from ringing, the leading ringers saw Fanny, dead drunk, being wheeled off to the police station on a handcart. They promptly blocked the door so that Jack should not see the sight. Fanny would. on occasion and for no apparent reason, when in company in the ringing hostel, suddenly go mad and scratch poor old Jack's face till the blood poured from it. In spite of all this he was a most lovable character and always did his best to keep respectable.
As has been shown, Buttery's performances were all of special merit, yet he was ever ready to stand down in favour of others and always willing to help a learner by imparting some good advice. He died on December 19th, 1913. aged 62, and six of his brother ringers bore him to his rest. I was one and took part in the handbell tribute over his grave.

motto; W. H. Barber conducted it. I rang in the peal but was not one of the selected band. I was there helping to pull up the bells and look at the ropes. Mr. Ernest Holloway, now a trustee, failed to turn up, so I was roped in in his place and so rang my first touch of Maximus in 3 hours and 42 minutes, a feat of which I was very proud. There are only four of that band now living-Ald. A. P. Smith, Albert Walker, Joseph Piggott and your truly,

FIFTY YEARS AGO AT BIRMINGHAM

Mr. A. J. Hughes' Reminiscences

Just over 50 years ago service ringing at $S$. Martin's was only done every third Sunday morning in each month when besides the local band notable ringers would attend from such distant places as Derby, Swindon, Cheltenham and Worcestershire and often stay until the Tuesday practice. There was no dearth of local ringers and four capable conductors wero available in the persons of Bill Short (the regular conductor) W. H. Barber, J. E. Groves and Albert Walker.
The then Rector of St. Martin's informed the Guild that he saw no reason why the bell should not be rung regularly every Sundas morning, it being so well done once a month. A voluntary regular band was then formed and the bells have been rung regularly (except war period) every Sunday since. There are very few of this first regular band now with us.
Among them are Alderman A. P. Smith, Albert Walker, J. Reggatt and myself (perhaps there are others). The towerkeeper then was Jobey Joines, followed by Frank Banks and John Neal. The methods were the four standard ones but chiefly Stedman, which was always rung faultlessly, Bill Short being a very capable and expert conductor.

Mr. Godden, of Barwell's bell foundry, was the secretary and held the post for 20 years, to be succeeded by A. P. Smith and Tom Reeves, each for another 20 years and now succeeded by the very capable ringer and conductor of the Cathedral band, Mr. Georgo Fearn. In those days the bells of St. Philip's were in bad-going order and there were no regular practices, but the bells were always available for visitors on Henry Johnson Dinner days, and very occasional peals were attempted there. There was not the co-operation between the two bands then as there is at the present time.

There were many excellent ringers in the surrounding districts and there was always a good attendance on practice nights; if not in the belfry there would be familiar faces in the meeting house. Members of the band in those days included such ringers as Tom Russam, Tom Reynolds. A. E. Pegler, E. Holloway, W H. Barber, T. Piggott, Tom Pigott, J. E. Groves. Dek.-Sgt. Painter (tenor man), Syd Jessop, Bernard Witchell (Erdington) and his band of young ringers which included Georgo Swan, Frank Fay: also Charles Dickens and John Dickin from Sutton and others I can't recall. The King's Norton men included the Master (Ald. J. S. Pritchett) and Percy Taplin, the Smethwick youths. Joe, Tom and George Piggott and the writer Samuel Reeves, from West Bromwich, and later his son Tom. W. Rock Small (Tipton) and J. Jagger (Oldbury), previously from Burton-on-Trent, Walter Bryant and John Buffery, also of Smethwick, and many others. Frank Smallwood. I think, started at Bishop Ryder's. There was a practice night for the youngsters if they wanted it on every night of the week. Friday nights being at St. John's (Deritend), now demolished.

We must not leave out John Carter, the celebrated composer and inventor and maker of the first ringing machinc, and Mr. Tom Miller, the bell tuner, who was a very capable tower and handbell ringer; also Harry Withers and John, from Selly Oak. The capabilities of each are too well known to need description.
I left the district in 1903 as also did W. H. Barber. I went to London, Bangor, Rhyll and Bradford and am now back in Bangor. W. H. Barber went to Bangor. Dublin. Edinburgh and Newcastle, in that order.

It will be 50 years on January 13 th next that the first peal of Forward Maximus was rung at the Bull Ring. This peal was the creation of John Carter and named after the Birminghams

We start 1953 with a number of new postal subscribers, but we want many more. The cooperation of meeting organisers and tower captains towards achieving this aim would be much appreciated.

Mr. Geo. Stacey, the grand old man of Minehead, has just retired after 50 years as secretary of the Dunster branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. Has such a record of being a ringing secretary ever been surpassed?
There was an assembly of veterans at Gor-leston-on-Sea on Dec. 9th, when 1,344 Plain Bob Major was rung. The quarter was in honour of C. Parnell ( 54 years a ringer), A. Crowe, J. Denton and J. Harwood (each 50 years).

A strong contingent of Chester Guild ringers visited London on Dec. 13th and rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus on the bells of Southwark Cathedral in four hours and five minutes.
To the list of octogenarian peal ringers must be added the name of Mr. Samuel Jones, of the Chester Diocesan Guild. He rang the treble to a peal of Grandsire Triples at Eccleston for his 84th birthday on Dec. 13th.
From Shirley, Birmingham, we have received this week a progress report of the girl trainees in the tower. They now number eleven between the ages of 12 and 18 and are making progress, Three can ring 'inside' for Grandsire Triples and the remainder are able to plain hunt in the same method. Three can ring the tenor bchind for touches.
At Eardisland, where a ring of eight has been provided, local opinion is divided as to whether the bell-hanger and his assistant worked all night or slept in the tower. Hot drinks were delivered in an effort to keep them warm; there was no time to shave so the beards they grew kept out the cold. Their persistent "toil was rewarded; the last details were completed with two hours to spare before the dedication service.

GOSSIP

Chester - le - Street has a novel memorial to King George VI. in the form of a rose bed shaped like a St. Cuthbert's Cross, containing 56 rose bushes-one for each year of the late King's life. The dedication of the memorial was followed by a peal on Dec. 6th. Two of the ringers were Durham University students-Enid Preston, of Luton, and William Smith, of Buxton. Their help to the local band while 'in residence' is much appreciated.
We hear frequently of 50 years a ringer, but it is a rare distinction for one closely connected with ringing to complete over 50 years as churchwarden. The bells of Maulden, Bedfordshire, were rung to a peal in honour of this fine record of Mr. C. W. Sinfield.
It was a disappointment that Mr. Peter Jarvis was unable to stand in the peal at Bethersden, Kent, on Dec. 13th owing to illness. At short notice Mr. Percy Reeves deputised for him, and his action was much appreciated by the band.
'The Bristol Evening Post ' featured recently an article dealing with the bells and ringing personalities in the five churches in the Gordano valley in North Somerset. The Ladies' Guild should remember the Gordano valley, as two ringers from Portishead rang in the first allladies' peal at Cubitt Town in 1912.
Who was the West Country ringer who on the previous occasion he left his native county forgot the name of the village in which be was staying? It is said that he went to a bus depot to see if he could spot the name on the front of the bus. Knowing this propensity for forgetfulness, he was well looked after when he recently spent a few days in the Home Counties, and to the gratification of all concerned has arrived home safely.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

SCARBOROUGH RINGERS PROUD OF THEIR BELLS

THE restored ring of eight at St. 'Mary's Parish Church, Scarborough, Yorks, was rededicated at morning service on Sunday, Dec. 7 th, by the Archdeacon of York, the Venerable G. F. Townley, a former Vicar of Scarborough. The tower had been silent since the middle of August, when Messis. Gillett and Johnston removed the bells for retuning. Returned towards the end of last month, they now hang in new fittings throughout, on one level.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Frank E. Ford (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. Sydney J. Smith (Curate). Matins over, there came an inspired rendering of Purcell's bell anthem, "Rejoice in the Lord alway.'

The act of rededication took place immediately after the anthem. Eight of the twelve ringers left their pews and made their way up to the tower, while the Captain, Bert Sutton, and a representative of the Yorkshire Association (Mr. Edward Hudson, Northern District Secretary) moved forward to the chancel. followed by the churchwardens and the Vicar. Handing the verger's Communion rope to the Archdeacon as a token of those in the tower above, the Vicar said: "Venerable Sir, we request you to rededicate the bells, which have been tuned and restored and now hang in this tower to the glory of God and the use of this Church.' The Archdeacon then rededicated the bells and one minute of rounds was rung, the ringers standing in the following order: $H$. Robson, W. B. Kirby, J. A. Robertshaw, G. Sutton, W. H. Barker, H. Spencer, G. W. Frayne and G. Beach. All then returned to their seats during the singing of the hymn - Lifted high within the tower, all our bells are set on high.'

ARCHDEACON'S ADDRESS

The Archdeacon based his address on the text. "In that day shall there be upon the bells of the horses holiness unto the Lord, (Zechariah xiv. 20).

He began by thanking the Vicar for the honour bestowed upon him in being asked to rededicate the bells of his old parish, and congratulated the people of St. Mary's on their bold efforts to preserve their 900 year old church, the restoration of the ring of bells being part of a much larger scheme.

Having always been a lover of bells, he regretted that until he became Vicar of Scarborough he had never had a ring of bells at any of the churches of which he had been incumbent. When at St. Barnabas', Linthorpe, Middlesbrough, he had secured a ring of eight for that church. including three pre-Reformation bells, but the war had intervened and the church was still without a tower and the bells were in storage.

The Archdeacon then told the congregation something of the history of British campanology. In tracing the growth and development of ringing and, in speaking of the part which bells played in the life of the English people, be displayed a knowledge of the Exercise which could only come from one who dearly loved bells and ringers. He spoke of the thrill he experienced when the war-time ban was lifted and he had had to find ringers at short notice. Only Mr. Barker of the present band had been available then, but Mr. George Halksworth, although almost eighty years of age, had come forward and, with members of H.M. Forces who were stationed there, they had raised a team. The bells had rung again as they had been ringing since 1852 and as they would again be ringing now. St. Mary's bells were part of Scarborough known and loved by residents and visitors alike, and they would go on calling people to worship. "The bells call people to church,' he said. "Another Christmas is approaching, and St. Mary's bells will ring out a message of peace and goodwill to all men. It is goodwill we want in the world to-day, and it can only be given by men and women who live together in happiness and holiness with God.'

The text, which has been used a good many times in services at which ringers have been present, was given an interesting interpretation by the preacher. He pointed out that the mitre of the high priest bore an inscription similar to that which the prophet Zechariah hoped see upon the bells of the horses. Behind this rather odd vision lay the hope that the day would come in which every work of artist and craftsman would speak of the holiness (wholeness) of God, and all departments of life would acknowledge Christ as King. It was significant that the rededication of Scarborough bells was taking place on the Second Sunday in Advent, Bible Sunday, for the central message of the Bible was that of the bells' witness to a God who lives and reigns supreme.

After the service members of the congregation packed the newly-decorated bell chamber to watch the bells being rung. and in 20 years the writer has never seen so many people there at one time. The Archdeacon mounted the stairs to shake hands with all the ringers, and was the first to sign a handsome new visitors' book given for the occasion by Mrs. Davison, in memory of her husband, Frank, who was a ringer there from 1898 to 1938.

Numerous expressions of appreciation on the improved tone have since been made, which can be summed up in the Vicar's comment, 'They certainly sound better outside.' That the restoration has made an immense improvement in both their tone and 'go' is the considered verdict of the local ringers.

A GENEROUS GIFT TO POCKLINGTON

A New Yorkshire Eight

IN 1914 five old bells in the Parish Church of All Saints, Pocklington, Yorks, were recast and a new treble was presented by Mr. Francis Scaife and his wife to commemorate their silver wedding. At the same time a frame for eight was installed. Now, after many years, the octave is complete.

Mr. Francis Scaife, a member of an old Pocklington family, for 16 years filled the office of churchwarden. He died on October 29th. 1937. but his devotion to his Parish Church was not limited by his death.

In accordance with his will, fine, lucent glass now gleams in the great west window of the tower, and two new bells, the one commemorating the testator, and the other Mary Jane, his wife, at length complete the ring. But even these notable gifts do not complete his generosity. $£ 400$ is bequeathed for the payment of ringers; $£ 100$ for their instruction, and $£ 100$ for the improvement of the choir.

Mrs. Mary Jane Scaife, who was born in the year of the battle of Inkerman, died on January 9 th, 1952, at the age of almost 98 years.

The gifts were dedicated on December 6th by the Rev. I. McNaughton Smith, Rector of Rounton (formerly Vicar of Pocklington) who also preached the sermon. Taking as his text - The latter glory of this House shall be greater than the former, saith the Lord of Hosts, and in this House will I give peace,' the preacher recalled the devotion of Francis Scaife and his family to the church and his great work for the restoration and preservation of the fabric. He said he was glad to see so many young people present at that service and commended to them the dignity and joy of bellringing which was not simply a matter of tugging at ropes but was a matter of great skill and service to the church.

After the dedicatory prayers rounds were rung by the local ringers under the leadership of Mr. C. Bairstow. At the conclusion of the service Mr. Bairstow was joined by ringers from Beverley, Hull and York, and a touch of 504 Stedman Triples was rung. Mr. J. P. Fidler (representing the founders of the new trebles, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughtrebles, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough) also took part. Further ringing took place under the direction of Mr. S. H. Steel, District Ringing Master. Yorkshire Assaciation.

At tea Canon F. Richardson, Vicar of Pocklington, welcomed the visitors and said it was a proud day for his own ringers who were fortunate in having, as leader, Mr. Bairstow. who had arranged for the bells to be rung for all the Sunday services.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. A. E. Sellars, (vice-president, Yorkshire Association and president, Beverley and District Society), who said Pocklington now had a very nice ring of eight and he was pleased to hear the bells were to be rung every Sunday, which was the most important thing.

Mr. H. Walker seconded and said there was a connection between Pocklington and York because five of the old bells were originally cast in the York foundry. Again, in 1914, when the bells were recast by Warners, the same firm were busy 'cobbling, the Minster bells. The work at York only lasted a few years but that at Pocklington much longer. He congratulated the local ringers on having acquired two very beautiful treble bells which rather improved the sound of the old six; the tenor was rather poor and should be recast as soon as possible.

Mr. J. P. Fidler said that, as was usual, his firm had made the best possible job of the work they had undertaken. He was not satisfied with the old bells but that could not be helped.

Mr. C. Bairstow replied on behalf of the local ringers and said they were not experienced campanologists but that was of secondary consideration to the bells being rung for Sunday services. He had made arrangements that would result in all eight bells being rung every Sunday for the next six months at least.

OBITUARY

MR. W. H. SEERS

The news of the death of Mr. W. H. Seers was received by his many ringing friends with regret. This grand old man of West Country ringing passed away at Southmead Hospital, Bristol, on December 5th, only a few days short of his 93rd birthday. He had recently undergone a major operation, which had been preceded by several months of illness.

General Smuts,' as he was known to the members of both the Bath and Wells and the Gloucester and Bristol Associations, learnt to ring in the city of Bath in 1875, and at that time had many connections with the Abbey. He later took up residence in the parish of Widcombe, where he joined the band of ringers at St. Matthew's. It was at this tower that he held for a great number of years the post of Master and steeplekeeper.

In 1930 he came to live in Bristol and soon attached himself to the towers of Warmley and Mangotsfield, where his enthusiasm and genial disposition made him a welcome personality.

He was never a great peal ringer, having only rung seven, but this did not stop his enthusiasm. for at the grand age of 90 he rang his last quarter peal.

He was a regular attender at the branoh meetings, when he was so often heard to tell tales of his weird activities as an undertaker, and of how he survived the tragic Wellow railway disaster whilst attending the St. Matthew's ringers' outing in 1876.

The funeral service was held at the Chapel of the Abbey Cemetery, Bath, on Dec. 11 th, conducted by the Rector of Mangotsfield, the Rev. W. P. Beard. There were many ringing friends present from both Mangotsfield and Bath. Handbells were rung at the graveside by W. F. Scudamore (secretary of the Bristol Rural Branch) 1-2, J. G. Jefferies (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association) 3-4, W. Baverstock (Bath) 5-6, W. Prescott (Master of Bath Abbey) 7-8.

During the evening half-muffied quarter peals were rung as a token of respect to a loyal churchman at St. Matthew's, Bath, and St.
James'. Mangotsfield.

MR. ISAAC SIDEBOTTOM

Friday, November 28th. saw the passing, at 80 years, of a great Cheshire ringer, Mr. Isaac Sidebottom, of Mottram. He began his eventful peal ringing career in 1890 with a peal of Grandsire Triples at Mottram, but soon followed the Mottram tradition of Kent Treble Bob, and almost all the rest of his fifty or so peals were in this" method.

He soon became a conductor, usually calling from the treble, and took the Mottram band through many 'long lengths' of Kent, leading up to the then longest in the method. This was 16,680 changes composed by E. Timbrell, and rung at Mottram in 9 hours and 40 minutes on June 8th. 1906. He was the last surviving member of this band.

Mr. Sidebottom had not rung for some time. being bedridden for the last five years.
On Saturday, December 6th, a fully-muffiled peal in his favourite method was rung on Mottram kells.

MR. FRED BLOOD

The death occurred last week of Mr. Fred Blood at the age of 75 . He was an old member of the Midland Counties Association, and at one time secretary of the Nottingham district.

For 16 years he was a regular service ringer at the church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Nottingham, until ill health and increasing deafness compelled him to retire. His association with the tower and his interest in ringing were maintained to the last.
The funeral took place on Saturday. Dec. 13th, preceded by a service at St. Mary's Church. conducted by the Vicar (Canon R. H. Hawkins), and attended by fellow ringers.

YORK MINSTER

At the Snowdon Dinner the Dean of York announced that during the forthcoming restoration of the south-west tower the opportunity would be taken to block up the louvres and alter the roof by inserting louvres behind the parapets. This, he said, would have the effect of softening the sound of the bells near the tower, but would enable them to be heard at greater distance. A similar alteration had been carried out at Lincoln, and he saw no reason why it should not be done at York.

The work of restoring the west front is now well in hand: scaffolding has been taken up to the parapet of the nave gable and much stonework has already been renewed. A start has been made with the scaffolding of the south-west tower, and this will reach to the pinnacles before work on the fabric commences. Several years will elapse before the work of restoration is completed, and it may be necessary to stop all ringing for a period, but in the end this magnificent ring of twelve will be heard to far greater advantage than ever before.

All the above company have scored over 50 peals during 1912.
[Probably a unique performance, though it could doubtless have been equalled in Birmingham or Leicester during recent years. The above band averaged just over 76 peals each when the final totals for 1912 were known.]

PRESTBURY BELLS AND THE DAYS OF EYE

In the year 1889 the existing Rudhall six at Prestbury, Gloucestershire, were rehung in a new frame by the Days, and two new trebles added to complete the octave. There can be no doubt about this as there is the name carved in the frame for all who choose to go up the ladder and see. And what a frame it is! Those bells have never been silent for any long period in these 63 years and many a peal has been rung on them. The bearings just wore out and now they have been replaced by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank by ball bearings.

On December 3rd the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Hill), the curate, Jack Thomas, who did the job, and the local band met in the tower for a short service after which the bells were rung again. Their silence lasted four months. It is a lovely job and with a frame as good as any for miles around the ringers look forward to another long unbroken period of ringing.

A cheque for $£ 281$, which more than covers the cost. was handed to the church treasurer by the ringers.

Those whose bells need attention can take inspiration from Prestbury, It can be done. A welcome awaits any who may visit Prestbury for service ringing on Sundays at 5.30 or at practice on Tuesdays.

HIS 84th BIRTHDAY

Mr. Samuel Jones, of Eccleston

Saturday, Dec. 13th, was a great occasion in the village of Eccleston, Cheshire, for on this day Mr. Samuel Jones, that veteran of the Chester Diocesan Guild, celebrated his 84th birthday. Such an event naturally called for ringing and, with Sam himself on the treble, an excellent peal of Grandsire Triples was brought round in 3 hours 17 minutes, his son calling from the sixth.

Prolonged 'firing' afterwards proclaimed the success to the village. Sam rang faultlessly throughout, expressed himself entirely satisfied with the performance and, after a young lady representing the Press had covered several pages with mysterious hieroglyphics, led the way to his house.

Here the band was met by members of his family, the Rector and other friends who had gathered for the party. A table loaded with good things for the "inner man" carried as its centre-picce a handsome cake topped with four candles-the odd eighty being omitted for the sake of convenience, since it might have taken longer to light and extinguish them with befitting dignity than to ring the peal!

Following a sumptuous repast, glasses were charged and Mr. Sam Jones, jun., gave the toast of the day, expressing the congratulations and good wishes of all who were privileged to be present. Then followed the talk of bells and peals which by tradition must always take place when ringers gather together until, with further expressions of goodwill, affectionate farewells were taken and Sam was left to enjoy a well-carned smoke by the fireside.
Mr. Jones is well known to ringers all over the country, for the glorious eight at Eccleston have at some time or other attracted most of the famous men of the day and a great many more of the not so famous. A glance at the visitors' book in the tower will clearly indicate how true this is. Sam has received most of them, led the way in the long climb to the ringing chamber and even to-day is usually the least affected by the exertion. He, has a wonderful memory for names and faces and, as might be expected, a great store of anecdotes, some amusing, many very interesting and some illuminating!
He has been a towerkeeper at Eccleston since ringing commenced 45 years ago, and during the whole of that time the bells have been his untiring interest. The fact that they go as well as ever is a tribute to the care and attention which he has given them. He possesses that rare human quality, reliability.

Illness? No. What, never? Well, hardly ever. The writer can only once in 30 years remember his being ordered to bed, a procedure which caused him to take an extremely poor view of the medical profession in general. It is perhaps hardly necessary to add that his stay in bed was of the shortest possible duration.

Many ringers from many towers will wish to associate themselves with the congratulations and good wishes expressed by those who rang in the birthday peal of Cheshire's. 'evergreen' Sam Jones.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ARRANGING OUTINGS

Dear Sir,-Following the publication of the letters by two clergy on the legal custodianship of church bells, several of my fellow ringers in this district have requested me to reply giving the facts as to how I proceed in arranging all the very happy and successful outings which we have completed.

Firstly, write to the district secretary, who will gladly forward all details, such as tower captains' addresses, possibilities of permission, state of bells, places available for meals and, yes! even parking facilities for coaches. Then write to the addresses supplied, not forgetting replies paid, and afterwards a letter of thanks to the local ringers and all the church authorities.

We must remember that very large efforts have been made in the past to unite all ringers into a Christian fellowship by belonging to our local associations which are affiliated to the Central Council, thereby making us into a large army of comrades.

The attitude of ' I'm Boss' is greatly to be deplored. All ringers know who are, but it's very unchristianlike to keep rubbing it in; after all, they are paid servants of the Church, whilst we are voluntary workers, and usually do the work in raising funds for repairs, etc.?

In the few instances that I have been advised to write to the incumbent very few have been satisfactory, and one replied that he supposed he'd better give consent, but could not see anything in it, as his choir never wanted to tour round singing in different churches, so I replied, saying, ' If that's the idea you have of fostering Christian fellowship we shall not be coming.
Our own Vicar leaves the choir to our organist and the bells to us, and our whole church runs very smoothly. On his arrival here he informed me that he would not interfere only in case of trouble, and his services have never been required.
My own home church, which used to be thriving like my present one, had a new dictatorial incumbent in 1939, and there are now no ringers, and a very small choir, with an even smaller congregation.
Less than 20 miles from here a good octave was installed free of all cost to the church. and has been practically silent for years, until a new incumbent was installed a few months ago.
Some ringers are difficult to handle, some suffer with an overdose of 'I'm It,' some are not such good ringers as others, but all large organisations must contain these pcople, but if we ignore these little faults of one another and get on with doing our very best, we shall become the envy of every other organisation. This year I have received five letters unopened from our Vicar addressed to the Ringers' Captain, c/o The Vicarage.-Yours sincerely,

OUTING ORGANISER.

P.S.- Our own Vicar commands the respect of us all by his lovable and understanding attitude.

VAR. TRANS. REVERSE CALLINGS
Dear Sir,-I do not wish to distress Mr Corby, but

Act I.: At the Chapel in the valley the sexton is chiming the one bell for Matins.

Act II.: Enters the Vicar, who asks. 'What are you ringing this morning?' The Sexton: 'Johnson's, but not the variation. nor the transposition, nor the reverse, but just a version for you to see whether this old bell hits the clapper on either side. It sounds just the same to me.'

Best Christmas wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Corby. -Yours truly.
F. WARRINGTON.

THE ROCHDALE MEETING

Dear Sir,-The annual meeting of the Rochdale Branch, Lancashire Association, on Dec. 13th last, was advertised in 'The Ringing World' notices to take place at Rochdale Parish Church. On arriving there at 3 p.m. we found the bells, as a ring, to be out of order; a clapper was missing from one of the middle bells. None of the local ringers was there to meet us, which is not unusual for the Parish Church, and the first notice we received of the missing clapper was a chalked notice on a box in the ringing chamber.

All Saints', Rochdale, ringers immediately came to the rescue and took us over to their church, where we held the meeting. A notice was left on the Parish Church door to this effect.

May I apologise to any ringers who may have been inconvenienced by travelling to Rochdale and finding the Parish Church deserted.

Our thanks are due to All Saints' ringers and their Vicar for allowing the meeting to take place there without any notice whatsoever.Yours faithfully, F. PRITCHARD, Rochdale Branch Secretary.

HEXTON'S DANGEROUS BELLS

Dear Sir,-With reference to your report on the condition of the tower and bells at Hexton, Hertfordshire, on behalf of the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council I liave taken up the matter with the Central Council for the Care of Churches who have approached the Diocesan Authorities regarding the necessary immediate action which should be taken to preserve the bells.-Yours sincerely, FREDERICK SHARPE.
Launton, Bicester, Oxon.

FIRST LADY TO CONDUCT PEAL IN

 IRELANDDear Sir,-Surely the footnote to the peal at Hillsborough should read 'The first lady resident in Ireland to conduct a peal in the country.'
One has recollections of a peal of Stedman Caters rung at Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, on July 30th, 1927, conducted by (as she then was) Miss E. K. Fletcher. This performance was rung for the Irish Association and should be in the report for that year.

A CORRESPONDENT.
Oldham, Lancashire.

NORFOLK IMPERIAL

Dear $\operatorname{Sir}$,-Could any reader tell me what method was rung to the name 'Norfolk Imperial,' as it is not given in the Table of Performances in the new Plain Major book. I believe the peal was rung some time towards the end of 1946, presumably in Norfolk. Yours sincerely, Grantham.

[^42]BATH AND WELLS ASSOCLATION
The annual meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Portishead on December 6th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued until the service, which was conducted by the Rev. C. G. Shipley, who gave a few words of welcome.
Tea was taken at a nearby cafe and the Rector of Portishead (the Rev. W. L. M. Coombes) presided at the business meeting which followed.

Officers were elected as follows:-Chairman and Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Knight; vicechairmen. Messrs. L. Derrick and L. Pullin; secretary and treasurer and representative on the Diocesan General Committee, Mr. P. G. Yeo.
Mr. George Yeo. who has been a ringer at Long Ashton for 65 years and the. Diocesan Committec Representative for over 40 years, announced his resignation from the office. Tributes were paid and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Yeo for his long and faithful service.
Three new members were elected from Clap-ton-in-Gordano, four from Wraxall and three from Kingston-Seymour

It was decided that. subject to permission being granted, the next quarterly meeting should be held at Chew Magna in April, with practices at Winford, Nailsea and Chew Stoke for January, February and March respectively. The bi-annual Corporate Communion will be held at Wraxall on April 26th.

After the usual votes of thanks a return was made to the tower.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The minutes of the November meeting record another successful gathering at Liversedge on November 29th.

The bells were raised in peal at 3 p.m., and ringing enjoyed until tea time at 5 p.m. The Liversedge company are to be congratulated on arranging tea when most of the visiting members did not send in any notification of their intention to be present.

The business meeting was held in the same room. The President was chairman, and members were present from Armley, Collingham, Drighlington, Elland, Guiseley, Halifax, Headingley St. Chad's, Leeds Parish Church, Liversedge. Pudsey. Rothwell and Thorner.

Three new members were elected, viz.: Miss Dorothy Hogg (Leeds Parish Church), Miss E. M . Bryce (Headingley St. Chad's), and Brian C. Capewell (Liversedge).

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by Mr . Irvin Slack, and seconded by Mr. T. W. Strangeway, and duly carried. The Vicar. acknowledging the thanks, referred to Fred Hodgson and the many years' service he had given to the Liversedge tower; he is missed greatly. Mr. Ernest Betts supported the Vicar. and said they were always pleased to see the Society, and hoped everyone had enjoyed themselves.
As this was the last meeting the Society would hold this year, the President wished everyone a happy Christmas and looked forward to sceing all members at the next meeting in January, 1953.

HUDDERSFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY

Nine members of the Huddersfield District Society visited Ashton-under-Lyne on December 6 th. An excellent quarter peal of Treble Bob Major and a touch of 576 were rung at St. Peter's in the afternoon.
Following a good tea, ringing took place at the Parish Church. Treble Bob Major and Royal were rung, although striking was uneven for a time. Striking improved, and various touches were introduced before a good lower in peal took place at 8.45 p.m. Thanks are due to Mr. Gee, a former member, and now residing near Ashton, for the excellent arrangements.

BELLS IN ENGLISH LIFE

By ERNEST MORRIS

SOME of the earliest bells on record were unquestionably very small and probably of the kind one still sees on the baby's rattle, viz., a hollow metal sphere with a loose pellet inside it. Such bells in all likelihood formed the fringe of the robe of the High Priest (Exodus 28 ch ., 31-34 v.; also 39 ch., 25-26 v., and Ecclesiastes $45 \mathrm{ch} ., 9 \mathrm{v}$.), in which they were placed alternately with pomegranates, all being made of gold. This addition of bells on robes or vestments was intended to help the worshippers to follow mentally the steps of their hierarch as he passed into those sacred portions of the Tabernacle which were concealed from all eyes but his own.

In mediaval times a similar method arose of adorning the vestments of Christian priesthood. We have notices of several magnificent robes which were thus decorated. Conrad, Abbot of Canterbury, had a cope fringed with 140 little silver bells and 51 of silver gilt tinkled round 2 cope of Lanfranc.

Ricalfus, Bishop of Soissons, in his will dated 915, speaks of stoles adorned in a similar manner, and Peterborough Abbey had maniples of a like kind.

BELLS ON CLOTHING

Ladies also wore little bells jingling at their girdles; knights attached them to their armour; and the high curled shoes of the time frequently ended with a bell on the pointed toe. In this connection we are reminded of our nursery shyme:-

Ride a cock-horse, to Banbury Cross,
To see a fine lady on a white horse;
Rings on her fingers, and bells on her toes,
She shall have music wherever she goes.'
The usage was of Eastern origin and is very ancient. In the Bible there is reference to the Jewish imitation of the custom where Isaiah ( $3 \mathrm{ch} ., 16 \mathrm{v}$.) describes the 'daughters of Zion" as : walking and mincing, as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet,' and further denounces judgment on them and the destruction of all their finery and 'their tinkling ornaments.' Persian monarchs bedecked themselves with bells, and the women of Arabia and Persia wore them on their anklets. Wearing of bells became a special badge of the fool and jester, and they attached them to their caps, their shoes, their elbows, the heads of their carved staves and indeed all over their persons and their insignia. Longfellow in "King Robert of Sicily" refers to them thus:-

Nay, not the King, but the King's jester. thou
Henceforth shall wear the bells and scalloped cape.'
Again, in Thornbury's 'Songs of the Cavaliers,' we read about the jester when about to deliver his 'sermon,' who:- shook his, head and bells, and leaped upon a chair.
The last official jester at the English court appears to have flourished as late as the reign of Charles II., and under the date February 13 th. 1667-8 in 'Pepys' Diary' we read:-

- Mr. Brisband tells me, in discourse, that Tom Killigrew hath a fee out of the Wardrobe for cap and bells, under the title of the King's Foole or Jester, and may revile or jeere anybody, the greatest person. witkout offence, by the privilege of his place.'
Morris dancers in olden times were commonly bodecked on May-day with jingling bells. especially upon the knees, so their sound might feep harmony with the darcing. 'Cobbe's Prophecies, his Signes and Token, his Madrigells, Questions and Answers ' (1614) thus alludes to this custom:-

It was my hap of late, by chance
To meet a country Morris-dance.
When, cheefest of them all, the Foole, Plaied with a ladle and a toole:
When every younker shak't his bels.'
In the churchwarden's accounts of St. Helen's, Abingdon, under the date of 1560 , there is the entry for 'two dossin of Morres bells'; and in a similar record belonging to Kingston-uponThames we find, among other expenses connected with the 'Mores dawnsars ' in the reigns of Henry VIII. and his successor, '12d. for bellys.'
BELL AROUND MALEFACTOR'S NECK
Small bells were used in the camps and garrisons of the Greeks, were hung in triumphal cars and sometimes used in the temples. They were also hung on the necks of malefactors on their way to exccution, and from this Greek custom-it is said-was derived the Roman one of hanging a bell and a scourge to the Emperor's chariot that, in the height of his prosperity, he might be admonished against pride and be mindful of human misery. Small bells also in many ways formed part of the equipment of war. The early Britons had bells fastened or suspended at the butt ends of their spears that they might make a rattling or jingling noise when the weapons were brandished. Thus Lingard, describing the accoutrement of the British warriors, says:-

They possessed no other defensive armour than a narrow target; their weapons were a dirk, an unwieldy sword hanging from the waist by an iron chain. and a short lance from one , extremity of which was suspended a bell.'
The Goths also were accustomed to incite their forces to military ardour by clanging cymbals and bells in honour of their gods. In a similar way the Greeks waved their shields as they entered into battle, producing thereby a martial clangour from the sounding of innumerable little bells which were hung within the hollow of each shield.
A curious use of bells in warfare is recorded by Plutarch in his 'Life of Brutus.' He tells us that Brutus and Cassius drove the Lycians into Xanthus and there besieged them, and con-tinues:-

- As a river ran close to the town several attempted to escape by swimming and diving. but they were prevented by nets let down for that purpose, which had little bells at the top to give notice when anyone was taken.'

AS HORSE TRAPPINGS

The use of bells in the trappings of horses, and especially those trained for war, is very ancient. The prophet Zechariah (xiv. ch., 20 v.) mentions the 'bells of the horses.' and several of the sculptures discovered at Nineveh represent horses with bells hanging from their bridles or (as is sometimes seen even to-day on the modern cart-horse) fixed on top of their heads. This form of decoration for harness became very general and is even now not entirely obsolete. Russian horses frequently carry bells within an arch which surmounts the native horse collar, and in England the horses of the old tram cars sometimes wore a single bell suspended from their collars. One of the tokens or signs used by pilgrims who visited the shrine of St. Thomas of Canterbury was a number of bells inscribed 'Campana Thoma.' which were attached to their horses' bridles. No doubt the little bell-shaped flower 'Canterbury bells' obtained its name from the ancient symbol of an accomplished pilgrimage. Edgar Allen Poe's references to the use of bells on the harness of sleigh horses is well known :-
'Hear the sleigh with the bells-silver bells. What a world of merriment their melody foretells!
How they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle,
In the icy air of night !
In 1916 the writer had some correspondence on the matter of horse bells discovered in the Isle of Wight by Miss Hearn, a local antiquarian (see 'Isle of Wight County Press,' February-March, 1916). She found one set belonging to a team of five horses and stated: - We have a few sets left on the Island-can you tell me who cast the bells in those quaint days of narrow roads when motor cars were not dreamt of? ' I was able to inform her that at Aldbourne, Wilts, an important bell foundry flourished from 1694 to 1825 . The first owners were the family of Cor, and subsequently it passed to Robert Wells, who held it from 1764 to 1799 and was joined by his son James in 1781. James carried on alone from 1799 to 1825 . Wells' bells are very common in the neighbourhood and are remarkable in that their inscriptions are often placed on the sound-bow. and in one or two instances inside the bells.

FIRST MAKER OF HANDBELLS

The first maker of handbells-in tune-I can trace is Robert Wells, and a Marlborough paper dated June 6th, 1772, bears an advertisement in which 'horse bells' are named among other things for which the Aldbourne foundry was famous at that time. I, myself, possess a set of 'latten bells' besides several pack-horse bells stamped 'R. W..' and at this moment in the 15 th century parvis of St. Margaret's Church, Leicester, I have quite 50 such "latten bells," most of which are stamped inside with the same initials.

The usage of such horse bells was not a matter of fancy but doubtless arose from the idea that the joyful tinkling of the bells would stir the animals to greater exertion and higher courage. Andrew Marvell declared that 'the pack-horse tires without his bells,' and for this reason the camels of an Eastern caravan carry their bells, as did the long lines of burdened horses which with us preceded the introduction of the stage coach. The sound of the bell, too, is useful in helping the owner to trace the animal that wears it; thus it became common on the necks of cattle and with flocks of sheep and goats. To this present day it is usual in many districts abroad to hear the sound of sheep and cattle bells on the mountain sides, or on the broad plains, which form their pasturage.

IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE

So in all walks of life throughout the ages and in almost every country the bell is used in hundreds of ways. It used to announce to passengers waiting the approach of the railway train. In America it also served the purposo fulfilied in England by the shrill engine whistle. It tells when the steam boat is about to start on its journey and the sharp tinkle still announces the approach of the bicycle. It summons scholare to school and often is used as a signal for silence and attention when they are there: it is the president's call for order in assemblies; and often is used to mark the limit of time permitted by the various speakers. It announces the moment when the curtain is about to rise for the commencement of the opera or play; it calls the labourer in the, factory or mill: and in many other ways serves a useful purpose in everyday life.
In spite of the introduction of other means of communication, such as gongs (which are really a form of bell) buzzers. etc., the bell still holds its own. When a visitor arrived in Spartan days he announced his coming by a shout: the Athenian or Roman rapped with his knuckles, and the old-fashioned door-knocker was but an improvement on this. The door bell. was a still further advance on these methods. House bells are said to date from the days of Queen Anne, and the electric variety is only of recent introduction. Shakespeare, however, knew of the bell as a domestic signal, for we find Macbeth (Act ii., Sc. i.) saying to his servant:-

Go, bid thy mistress, when my drink is ready,
She strike upon the bell.'
Within the monasteries the inmates assembled, not only for worship but for every other requisite purpose, by the sound of the bell. It provided what Byron called 'the tocsin of the soul-the dinner bell!' It summoned the servants when needed and often used to arouse the household to the duties of the day

NEW ZEALAND PROGRESS

Enclosing his annual subscription to 'The Ringing World,' Mr. A. G. A. Caldwell, ringing master of St. Peter's Cathedral, Hamilton, writes:-
We are progressing steadily, if slowly, with our ringing, and are now ringing Bob Doubles and Bob Minor for services and practising Grandsire Doubles. Our highest flight to date has been to ring a plain course of Bob Triples.
Our biggest difficulty has been with conducting, but we have been greatly helped in this by Colin Ward, who has recently come to us from Christchurch, where he has been ringing for several years.
We also welcome Mr. A. J. White, a veteran ringer from Auckland, who comes 80 miles each month to ring with us on our Wednesday practices and the following Sunday service rings. He was delighted to see in your 'Forty Years Ago' feature mention of his name in a record of ringing at St. Matthew's, Auckland. He is now 76 years old, and does get immense pleasure out of ringing with us.

AMONG THE VILLAGE BELLS IN DEVON

Forty-One Towers Visited This Year
VILLAGE churches in Devon are dotted about in quaint places, sometimes on hills where towers stand out as landmarks, sometimes in pleasant valleys and combes. The churches are of unique interest, and the bells are the pride of villagers. Few village rings are silent on a Sunday. It is the joy of our party of change-ringers to motor through these villages in the summer time rousing the interest of many a rustic in what they call scientific ringing. The local ringers check our faults and often praise when they are pleased. 'Weight of tenor?' you may ask, and the reply may be: - We always called it 20 cwt ., but it is 17 cwt . 1 qr. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{lb}$.' This sort of thing occurs frequenily, and an explanation has been given that old founders called 100 lb .1 cwt ., and that anything approximating to say $1,800 \mathrm{lbs}$. would be 18 cwt .
We met for our first trip on May 28 th at Shobrooke (tenor 12 cwt . 2 qr . $16 \mathrm{lb} .$, 'old ' weight 15 cwt.), where Messrs. Myers, Mr. Atkins, with Messrs. A. W. Searle and G. Burrows, Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, Rev. W. H. Smale, with Mr. W. H. R. Smale, Miss Pat Gilbert and Mr. F. C. Smale rang touches on the handy six. We were met by the Rector, the Rev. C. C. Kelway. Through pleasant lanes we moved on to Stockleigh Pomeroy, where even Mr. Searle discovered a fresh tower. We enjoyed a 'go' on the light ring of three tuneful bells. The church has many points of interest, perhaps the most unique being the altar, with the five crosses carved on the marble.

Narrow lanes led us to Cheriton Fitzpaine ( 15 cwt.), where the 'go' was heavy. At Cadbury ( 12 cwt.), Canon Coleridge's old home, Mr. Bill Myers joined our party, and the Vicar (Rev. D. W. D. Phillips) welcomed us. Touches being rung, we proceeded to Cadeleigh ( 7 cwt .), where we found a handy six. Our next call was Halberton ( 16 cwt .), which has a fine church and a lovely six. We enjoyed our ringing, and Mr. Stafford Green joined our pary. Then followed Hemyock ( 21 cwt.), Burlescombe ( 17 cwt .) and Holcombe Rogus ( 17 cwt .), which, though a mixed six in which a medieval founder, Kingston, Bilbie, Pennington and Wroth had a hand, Mr. G. H. Myers thought the best of the trip.

A WHIT MONDAY TOUR

On Whit Monday we assembled at Buckerell ( 8 cwt .), where Miss B. M. Boyle and her party, as well as Messrs. A. and R. Truman, joined our company. Touches being rung, we ran on to St. Paul's, Honiton ( 13 cwt .), a very good eight, on which we rang Triples and rounds. On our way to Axminster ( 24 cwt .) we called at Shute, where the Vicar (the Rev. A. Joslin) gave a hearty welcome and watched our ringing with interest. At Axminster Mr. N. Mallett joined us and good touches of Triples came round. Kilmington ( 11 cwt .) and Musbury ( 14 cwt .) were our next towers, and though we could not ring at Colyton, the church and the Old Church House Cafe were most interesting to all our company.

We appreciated the eight at Seaton ( 14 cwt .) and again touches of Triples were well struck. By way of the main road and a 'stickle hill to the village, we found the Branscombe Church nestling in a deep combe. The local ringers gave us a welcome, and good touches of Doubles and Minor were rung. Our conductor, Mr. Tom Myers, thought this trip was one of our best.

TALATON TENOR

On July 9th our company included Preb. E. V. Cox and Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, Messrs. Myers and Smale, with Mr. R. Truman and Missrs. Searle and Burrows. Talaton was the starting point, and the Rector (Rev. F. H. Simpson) gave us a welcome. Ellacombe thought Talaton tenor ( 12 cwt .2 qr .22 lb ., called 15 cwt .) the finest bell in the county. The founder is supposed to have been Roger Semson in Queen Mary's reign. Talaton has a good six, and our striking of Doubles and Minor was good.
Payhembury ( 15 cwt .2 qr. 22 lb. ) followed, and at Feniton ( 9 cwt .) we were met by the Rev. A. G. Chappell, the Rector, who joined us in a touch of Grandsire Doubles. The six are very tuneful. Our next stop was Luppitt ( 12 cwt .). The Vicar (Rev. B. A. Finn) gave us a welcome, and all our touches of Doubles and Minor were beautifully struck. Luppitt commands very fine views. We paused at Upottery for tea, but could not ring because of illness near the church. At Membury there was delay and our ringing limited, due to a faulty headstock of the fourth bell. On this occasion Mr. E. Morris and party assembled for a peal, but had to be content with a 'quarter.' At Colyton ( $24 \mathrm{cwt}, 2 \mathrm{qr} .16 \mathrm{lb}$.) we rang Doubles on the noble six. It was a long run to Ottery St. Mary ( $18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), and a puncture caused our late arrival, so it was we had to be content with a touch of Stedman Triples.

CHURCHES WITHOUT PINNACLES

The South Hams was the district selected for our succeeding trips. The itinerary on Aug. 20th started at Kingsbridge ( 13 cwt .), a handy octave, and took us to Charleton ( 12 cwt .), Chivelstone ( 12 cwt ), E. Portlemouth ( 14 cwt.), South Poole ( 12 cwt .), Sherford ( 12 cwt .), Stokenham ( 15 cwt ) and Stoke Fleming ( 17 cwt .). On this occasion our company were sorry to hear of the illness of Preb. Cox, who had arranged to be with us, and the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews brought along Messrs. Burrows and Searle. Miss Pat Gilbert was also with us.
The towers we visited are unique. They have no pinnacles and are finely built of very hard slaty material. The churches are impressive, and contain rood screens of the Portlemouth type. The homely stairway to the belfry at Kingsbridge was unusual, and the ringing chamber at Stoke Fleming reminded us of a parlour with certificates replacing pictures, electric clock and polished lino on the floor. At East Portlemouth we were met by the captain of the tower, who reads. The Ringing World' regularly. On the belfry walls were many certificates of merit, and all was in good order.

On September 4th Miss B. M. Boyle brought along Messrs. Searle and E. J. Ryall in place of the Rev. J. H. Bandrews. The start was Ugborough ( 23 cwt .), an impressive octave, which we thought needed tuning. A local ringer helped with Grandsire Triples. The church is a gem. Our next call was Modbury ( 17 cwt .1 gr .), a fine six. The broach spire is rather unusual in Devon. Then followed Loddiswell ( 9 cwt .), a musical ring amid historic surroundings, and Churchstow ( 13 cwt .), a somewhat neglected six. As we approached West Alvington we were impressed by the fine pinnacles on the tall tower. We found an excellent six (tenor 16 cwt.) in good order. Many merit certificates adorn the walls of the belfry. The wife of the captain praised our ringing. Thurleston ( 12 cwt . 2 qr .), our next call, has a fine six. Our tea in the hotel was an event. Then we visited Galmpton ( 6 cwt .) and were pleased with the merry little six. There is romantic country here. We finished at East Allington ( 13 cwt .).
Thus it is our party visited 41 of the village towers in Devon this summer and enjoyed every minute of the time spent. The ladies of our party also have had a happy time, the change of scenes appealing to them, and we are sure that Mrs. Myers and her sister and Mrs. Smale and her sisters. Misses A. and E. M. Risdon, owe much to Mr. Searle's note book and his wealth of knowledge of the churches visited. He is 83 and rings little in these days, but he enjoys our tours, and we are sure he values the appreciation of our lady friends.

FREDK. C. SMALE.
