While on holiday the Editor visited St. Alphege's Church, Greenwich, to see the excellent restoration after bomb damage. He hopes the prominent notice 'Bell-ringers wanted' will receive an appropriate response and keen learners will be forthcoming. A church with such a history and good bells deserves to have a strong local band. Saturday is practice night.

The London County Association are planning big things for their dinner and social on October 22 nd, which it is hoped to make an annual function. The venue, Redcliffe Hotel, Fulham Road. is approached by bus from South Kensington Underground Station. Entertainment will be provided by a male voice choir and there will also be tune- and change-ringing on handbells.
After calling a quarter peal of Stedman Caters at St. Margaret's Church. Westminster, on August 21st, Mr. Lewis Head, of Maidstone, had the honour of being elected a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. He thanks all those who took part, especially Mr. W. H. Hewett for making the arrangements.

\section*{43 Towers Visited and 2,087 Steps Climbed}

JULY 31st to August 6th, 1955, will long be remembered by those who took part in Pipe's Pilgrims' tour of Lancashire as being one of the best, if not the best, of the several we have enjoyed.

The Grundisburgh contingent boarded the new coach (afterwards known as 'the jet ') at \(5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and made for Ipswich. Cambridge, Huntingdon and Stamford just flashed by. We hoped to reach Oakham at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). in time hoped to reach Oakham at 9.30 a.m. in time to ring for Eucharist, but the surprised looks of those members of the party who had stayed the previous night at the Crown Hotel when we looked into the breakfast room at 8.15 were well worth seeing!- 108 miles in \(3 \frac{1}{4}\) hours.

We were in the belfry by 9 a.m. and our first touch of the tour-Yorkshire Major-was well nigh perfect. My, oh my! What lovely bells ( 24 cwt. in E flat). After thanking Mr. Hoy we made for Nottingham, where William Stote and family and Harry Millatt and his pretty new wife joined us. Lunch, and up the steps to St. Mary's beautiful bells ( \(10,36 \mathrm{cwt}\). in D flat). Back in 'the jet' and on to Chesterfield to a good tea arranged by Sam Scattergood, then up under the famous crooked spire, where we were joined by Ron Bullen and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lock and family, on holiday at Ron's. Some more good ringing and away on the road to Bolton via the Snake Pass, with its breathtaking scenery of mountains, gulleys and reservoirs. We had a 'quick 'un' at the Snake Inn. although the R.S.M. had to be content with a Double Diamond instead of the customary Bass! The Swan Hotel, Bolton, our H.Q., was reached one minute earlier than the scheduled \(9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\)., and we were pleased to see Mr. Joseph Thornley, of Farnworth, who had 'pulled the local strings' and obtained permission for us to ring on all the bells requested.

\section*{TOUR OF LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL}

Monday morning saw us up bright and early for our first tower, St. Helens ( 10,22 cwt.), which we found quite pleasing. Off to Liverpool for a short tour of the Cathedral arranged by the Dean, which we would not have missed for anything. Then came the treat of the tour, the new twelve at St. Nicholas' ( 42 cwt . in C). We were met by Mr. P. Cave, Mr. L. Gray and the locals, and the bells were soon going to Cambridge Maximus, followed by Stedman Cinques, Caters and Bristol Major. This is certainly one of the premier rings in the country.
A grand four-course lunch was enjoyed with Mr. Cave as our guest. Back on the coach we found that two of the youngsters were lost or stolen. As we were due to enter the Mersey Tunnel, Ronald Edwards and Cecil Mayne volunteered to wait outside the cafe and the tunnel entrance. Away we went under the great river, led by Ralph Edwards in his car. Emerging at Birkenhead, we drove round and reentered the iunnel, truly a magnificent experience. The boys were found, Cecil and Ron picked up and we were soon off to Southport, where a pleasant hour was spent on the sands and by the sea. The newly marrieds and young couples roamed hand in hand, the kids went to the fun fair, Fleming went for a donkey ride and the others . . well? Ormskirk was our next tower ( \(8,21 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), followed by tea at peals, Leyland ( \(10,23 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) and Whittle-leWoods (8, 21 cwt.), where Spliced Surprise Major went like clockwork. Back to H.Q. for a late snack, the usual chinwag and handbells and a talk with Joe.

Tuesday dawned bright and clear (?) and everyone was ready for a busy day. Wigan was reached on time and we soon had this grand ten ( 29 cwt .) going to excellent Yorkshire Royal. An advance party moved off by bus to St. James' ( \(8,24 \mathrm{cwt}\).) and enjoyed good ringing on these fine bells before the others arrived. Newton-in-Makerfield or Newton-le-Willows (we never did seem to settle which) was next on the programme, where the bells ( \(8,24 \mathrm{cwt}\).) are rather better than the "go." Then came Lymm, over the border into Cheshire, the famous heavy eight (tenor 30 cwt . in D flat). We were very pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lewis, the Beamish family, Uncle Tom Cobley and all, here. After a good course of Superlative the "big feller" was still thirsty so off he went with the local ringer, Mr. Kirkpatrick. Others, to wit, Stilwell, Wiffen and Co. likewise found the local air infinitely preferable to the small belfry.

SPEEDING TO MACCLESFIELD
By the time the bells were lowered and all had boarded "the jet' it was discovered that we were some minutes late; we hoped to reach Macclesfield 29 miles ahead in 35 minutes. Arthur Beamish volunteered to show us the way, and with John Mayne in the back seat with Margaret for moral support, we were soon away. Gee whiz! Did we go! Meanwhile Mrs. Lewis offered to telephone the restaurant to say that we were on our way. Arthur did 70, and we, close on his tail all the time, swept what few vehicles there were off the highway. A.D.B. reckoned that we left the ground for some miles after crossing a bridge, but we arrived at Macclesfield before Mary Lewis had got the 'phone message through!

But, terrible news. We were told that a clapper at the twelve-bell tower had broken, so gloom covered the sky. One Blair, famed for his numerous theses, said that he knew of a five-bell tower close where he had not rung; we could go there and ring some Gog and Magog Doubles! C. W. P. roared 'No'? If John Worth was worth the name he reckoned he was worth, that clapper would be repaired by the time we got there. We would stick to the schedule and fiddlesticks (or something like that) to Magog! After a good lunch we boarded the space-ship and dismounted in front of St. Michael's. A great cheer went up as we heard the bells raised. John had done it; he had proved his worth! Cambridge Maximus went well on this mellow twelve ( 26 cwt . tenor), Jim Morley ringing his first half-course.

Another party went ahead to 'get on with it ' at John's local tower, Christ Church (10, 23 cwt .). These bells, in a very slender tower, have been lowered some 30 ft . We felt that our ringing did justice to this pleasant ring. Tea was at Stockport, then came a very bold and fine ring. St. George's ( \(10,29 \mathrm{cwt}\).), looked after by Mr. Peter Laflin. Ronald Edwards called a very musical touch of Little Bob Royal and more good ringing followed. A rope broke at St. Mary's ( \(10,23 \mathrm{cwt}\).), but this was soon replaced, and as it was so hot everyone had a short pull here, the gradual drift to the hostelry opposite becoming very evident!

\section*{HALIFAX A GREAT TWELVE}

Our first call on Wednesday, an even fuller day with nine towers, was Heywood ( \(8,21 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), followed by the bright and very noisy octave at Todmorden ( 23 cwt .). The climb to the tower of long-peal fame of Heptonstall (8, 18 cwt.) was, to say the least, breathtaking. Several of the party 'got the wind up' as we climbed higher and higher, so that we were able to look into the tops of the factory chimneys of Hebden Bridge. A magnificent eight are Heptonstall's and well worth the effort to reach them. After an ample lunch at Halifax, we were met at the Parish Church by the Rev. Mr. Tremayne. This lovely twelve (tenor 28 cwt .) is rarely rung due to the shortage of local ringers. All the bells are audible and they are a great pleasure to ring upon. Vernon Bottomley arranged the next tower, Haley Hill (8, 25 cwt .). Here a local reporter took photographs.

Birstall's (8. 22 cwt ) is another lovely ring in a cramped belfry though. G.R.E. really excelled himself here with a touch of Little Bob Major, containing Queen's. Whittington's, Tittums, Doh-soh-me-dohs, Buff Orpingtons, etc. After another excellent tea at Huddersfield we made for Ashton-under-Lyne (12, 26 cwt ), always remembered for the 15,312 Cambridge Maximus. Then came an awaited treat. Oldham (12, 25 cwt .). We had been warned that the front bells required more handling than the big 'uns, so we set our band accordingly and rang a reasonable half-course of Cambridge. Ted Jenkins joined us here and rang the tenor to Surprise Royal. On the whole, we made a good job of this beautiful twelve, spoiled only by the tiny, swaying tower.

\section*{BLACKPOOL'S OTHER ATTRACTIONS}

Preston bells ( \(10,24 \mathrm{cwt}\).) were going well before \(9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). on Thursday, prior to our visit to Blackpool. This proved our downfall! Half an hour was allowed at the fun fair. All returned but six, at 10.40 ; we guessed they had gone tower-grabbing. Then some wanted to go to the 'Tower,' so the coach left without them to look for the others. Fatal! Nearly everybody finally got astray. In the end, though, the coach returned to the fair and the whole party just 'turned up' from seemingly nowhere!

Off to Lancaster, to the R.C. Cathedral ( 10 , 25 cwt .), followed by lunch and a ring at the Priory (8, 31 cwt.), where W. Norman Park met us. A pleasant run followed to Clitheroe for tea and ringing on the delightful octave ( 18 cwt.). Here eight of the fair sex showed us how to do it ! Mesdames Barker, Pipe and Millatt and the Misses, Clarke, Matthews, Bourne, Fellows and Parkinson. Another firstclass eight ( 22 cwt .) was found at Whalley, an excellent, all-round ring. We were met at Blackburn Cathedral by many of the locals, including Arthur Tomlinson and Joe Thornley. Inside and out these bells (10, 25 cwt.) are magnificent. We had some good ringing, too.

Friday morning was local, ringing taking place at Bolton St. Peter's ( \(8,15 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), All Souls' (8. 23 cwt ), Deane, a lovely new octave ( 12 cwt.), The Saviour (8, 20 cwt. ) and Holy Trinity ( \(8,17 \mathrm{cwt}\) ). Even then another tower or two was grabbed by the enthusiasts, but we were all ready for the splendid lunch at the H.Q. In the afternoon visits were made to Walkden St. Paul ( \(8,18 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), a very fine eight, and Swinton ( \(8,22 \mathrm{cwt}\) ). spoilt by the swaying tower. A tea for gourmands followed at the original Eccles Cake Shop. with fresh salmon salad and as many iced cakes as we could eat. The last tower of the day was Worsley, where the ringing was a disgrace. A rope broke here and nothing seemed to go right; we blush to think what Mr. Percy Derbyshire thought of us. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pipe were presented with a coffee table in appreciation for all the hard work they had put into the tour. and Leslie Woods, the driver. with a thermos jug; altogether a convivial evening.

Up bright and early once again on Saturday morning for the long journey home. A long ride in beautiful countryside brought us to Burton-on-Trent, via Glossop, Bakewell, Buxton. Matlock and Belper. We enjoved some good ringing on the noble ten at St. Paul's (tenor 28 cwt.), met by Barney Key. who unfortunately joined us at lunch. Our last tower was Lichfield Cathedral ( \(10,31 \mathrm{cwt}\).). Words cannot express these wonderful bells, although all our ringing wasn't quite up to standard. We were pleased to see Henry Fearn and George Oliver here and many other friends.

Then came the customary farewells and handshakes to some of the party, the sad part. And so ended another Pilgrimage. We rang in 43 towers in seven counties and the majority of us climbed 2.087 steps! The scenery was good and the towers, hotel, people, food, etc. couldn't be bettered. Thank you. "Northerners, for making us so welcome! 'PILGRIM.'

\section*{CHELMSFORD CATHEDRAL FESTIVAL}

T
HE Chelmsford Cathedral Festival, once again arranged by the Friends of the Cathedral, was this year marked by the special interest shown in the bells, the Essex Association having been invited to arrange for the bells to be rung each evening during the Festival Week and also to provide items of interest for inclusion in the exhibition held in the Chapter House.

The exhibition handbook, 'The Singing Church in Essex,' produced by the Succentor, the Rev. J. Hughes, contained much of interest in regard to church music as it was in bygone days, and the following is an extract:-

To complete the picture, something must be said about that specialised form of church music, change ringing. Essex churches have some fine bells and a worthy history of ringing them. In this brief space, no more than an outline can be given, for indeed the history of England during the last few centuries might be told by the "bell" entries in Churchwardens" Accounts. Examples in the Chelmsford Accounts could be multiplied all over the diocese:

\section*{1561 Itte)m paid to the ryng-}

And entries concerning the purchase of new bell ropes and clappers, of cubbis and cach and trundle, of oiling and repairing, are too numerous to count.

The Thaxted Accounts for 1617 include numerous items which together give us an almost complete picture of the work of an itinerant bellfounder. There is the purchase of bricks for building the furnace, the clay for packing it. the metal for the bell, the food and clothing of the bellfounder and the labourers. Altogether an expenditure of something like £50, which was a considerable sum of money in those days.

Itinerant founders were quite common, but Essex had its own foundries at Colchester. There, the foundry is pre-eminently associated with the Graye family, though at an earlier date the founder there was Richard Bowler; 1587-1603 are the dates which cover his known workmanship. But it is Miles Graye operating during \(1600-1649\) who is known as "the prince of founders": his masterpiece, the tenor at Lavenham. weighed over a ton. Over 400 bells cast by Miles Graye remain to-day, 130 of them in Essex. Some of these were cast by Miles Graye junior and some by a third Miles Graye, probably grandson of the first. Again and again in Essex towers there can be found inscribed on bells in square well-formed letters ". MILES GRAYE MADE ME." The foundry of Miles Graye appears to be the only Essex foundry of any note, but over seventy bell-founders are represented in the County by its two thousand bells. Of these about nine per cent. are pre-Reformation, some of them dating back to the fourteenth century or earlier. The two long-waisted bells at Little Braxted are certainly among the earliest in the county, probably being 13th century in date.

Among the ancient bell customs must be related the practice at Great Bromley Church, of hanging up the hat of a ringer when he died. These hats are hung on the wall above the arch leading into the nave. The earliest is dated 1716 and the latest 1935.'
The Association produced many of its treasures to be shown in the exhibition and ringers throughout the county loaned their own treasures and items of interest. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank sent a number of exhibits, all of which helped to make a very comprehensive and valuable contribution.

In accordance with the wishes of the Provost, the Very Rev. G. E. Gordon, the Cathedral hells were rung every evening with one exception during the period of the Festival. The Cathedral band opened on Friday, June 3rd, with touches on twelve in various methods. On Saturday, the 4th, the following members from the North-Western District rang a quarter peal of Stedman Triples on the back eight in 55 minutes: Frederick C. Whitby, Robert C. Heazcl, Reginald H. D. Hayden, Henry A. Bird, Benjamin C. Burton, William H. Wheeler, Stanley F. Clark (conductor), Alfred J. Eley (tenor).

On Monday, June 6th, the Northern District members rang a quarter peal, 1,259 changes of Grandsire Caters, in 51 minutes: \({ }^{} \mathrm{H}\). G. Felton, Lewis W. Wiffen, \({ }^{}\) Frank Claydon, *Allan Syder, *Ronald Suckling, *John Warner Frank B. Lufkin (conductor), *Terry Earl, Miss Hilda G Snowden, Walter Arnold (tenor). First quarter peal of Grandsire Caters.

On Tucsday, June 7th a peal of Plain Bob Maximus (recorded in the peal columns) was rung by officers and members from all the Districts, Wednesday the bells were manned by ringers from the North-Eastern District, and on Friday by ringers from the South-Western District. To round off the week members of the South-Eastern District rang a quarter peal. 1,264 changes of Bob Major, in 59 minutes : Arthur H. Everett (conductor), Miss Mary Dowsett, L. P. Joslin, Edward W. Roast, Ivan Saunders, Peter Came, Joe E. Roast, Denis Symonds (tenor),

The Cathedral ringers, under their Master (Mr. Leslie J. Clark) supported the country members in every way, filling in the vacant places when required. The Provost visited the tower to thank all those who had assisted with the ringing and with the exhibition.

\section*{AN ESSEX MASTER'S WEDDING}

The bells of St. Peter's, Colchester, rang out merrily on July 23 rd for the wedding of Mr. Harry J. Millatt (Master of the N.E. Division of the Essex Association and captain of the St. Peter's ringers) and Miss Pauline Nice, a member of the St. Peter's ringers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. H. Hollingdale (Vicar of St. Peter's).

At the reception held in St. Peter's Hall the guests included many Essex ringers. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Mr. R. C. Heazel (Master of the Essex Association), while the toast to the bride's parents was proposed by Mr. E. P. Duffield (a former Master of the N.E. Division).

The first part of the happy couple's honeymoon was spent at Matlock. and for the second part they joined 'Pipe's Pilgrims'-a team of East Anglian ringers who toured Lancashire and rang on many famous bells in the northwest. The presents included an oak chiming clock from local ringers.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD \\ Dorchester Branch at Preston}

The ringers of Preston welcomed their colleagues of the Dorchester Branch to a quarterly meeting at the Church of St . Andrew (6).
The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. Isdell-Carpenter), the lesson being read by the branch chairman (the Rev. Canon A. Wilkinson Markby).

Tea was served in the Scutt Memorial Hall. and the business meeting which followed was conducted by the chairman. It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Wyke Regis on Nov. 5 th (subject to confirmation) to coincide with the 500th anniversary of All Saints' Church.
Branch practices were arranged for Cattistock, Sept. 10th; Puddletown, Sept. 24th ; Piddlehinton, Oct. 8th; St. Peter's, Dorchester, Oct. 22nd.
The chairman thanked all who had helped to make the meeting a success.

Towers represented were Abbotsbury, Charminster, Dorchester (St. Peter's). Fordington, Preston, Wool, Wyke Regis and Yetminster, with a visitor from Nottingham.

\section*{Bicester Deanery Branch}

Ringing at the quarterly meeting of the Bicester Deanery Branch at Brill on August 27th included Grandsire. Plain Bob and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor.

The branch service was conducted by the Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe), with the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Elkerton) as organist. The sermon was preached by the Vicar.

Tea was served on the Vicarage lawn and was kindly provided by Mrs. Elkerton and the wives of the ringers.

Mr. F. Sharpe presided at the business meeting and Souldern was selected for the October meeting. The branch outing was fixed for carly May, 1956.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Brill. Mrs. Elkerton and the ladies who provided the tea, Mr. F. Sharpe, Mr. C. H. Kinch (branch secretary) and Mr. A. Crozier.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION \\ Northern District}

Hertfordshire ringers have a new ringing friend in the Rev. A. Marshall Taylor, who welcomed the Northern District to their successful meeting at Graveley ( 6, tenor 9 cwt.) on August 27 th. He conducted the service, and Mrs. Taylor and helpers provided tea in the Village Hall, the profit going to the restoration fund.

Dr. D. Gullick presided at the business meeting, and the election of Mr. W. J. Ridgman, of Arrington. Cambs, was confirmed. It is hoped to hold the ncxt mecting at Ashwell on September 24th, with Aston as an alternative. Ringing continued until 8.30 with Weston also available for an hour. After ringing the Rector invited those that were left to coffee and bissuits, which was very much appreciated.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

HYMNS INSPIRED BY BELLS
Dear Sir,-Everybody knows that some hymn tunes may be chimed on bells, but in view of the fact that in music you may often recognise the instrument meant to be used in playing it, notably bagpipes, it appears to me that there must be some hymn tunes which were consciously or otherwise inspired by the bells, and the Exercise at large might like to find out a few.

For example, Salisbury Cathedral was anciently famous for bells, which might explain E.H. 624 (Sarum Processional).

The tune 'Charity,' A. and M. 210 , sounds as if \(\operatorname{Sir}\) J. Stainer was used to hearing a ring of 12. More obvious is the once well-known 'Kenilworth.' A. and M. 575, in which bells are mentioned in the text.

Bells might have also been at the "bottom" of Shakespeare's dialogue in 'A Midsummer Night's Dream :-
- We will have such a prologue, and it shall be written in eight and six."
"No. make it two more: let it be written in eight and eight.'
When you remember that Bottom was a weaver. and that psalms were the traditional music of weavers, and were all written metrically, at a time when bells were becoming popular. and that you may manufacture any number of psalm tunes out of six or eight bells, there would appear to have been some connection.

It was a mystery to me why a certain clocksmith should have taken 1-4-3-6 for the quarter chimes of the church at Frome, and there may be some other explanation for it, but the same notes occur in 'Jesus Lives,' A. and M. 140 , first tune, by H. J. Gauntlett.

Whatever useful purpose may be served by the above I do not know, but I seem to be a natural centre for the recondite, and perhaps others may be interested in following up. I claim no honours, except perhaps for coining the word "clocksmith.'-Yours faithfully,
F. A. CLUETT.

\section*{JOHANNES DE STAFHURU AND JOHN TAYLOR AND CO.}

Dear Sir-I was hoping that a correction may have come from Loughborough to the one historical inaccuracy that marred the useful article reproduced from the 'Jenolite News' on August 5th.

The Eyres started founding at Kettering about 1717, and although they may have claimed business descent from the Watts, of Leicester it has never been proved. Therefore neither Edward Amold's nor his successors' claims to trace their descent directly from a business established in Leicester as long ago as \(1360^{\circ}\) (as stated in the article) holds water. -Yours sincercly,

Dear Sir,-I should like to express appreciation to Mr. E. H. FIRST QUARTER AT ST. MATTHIAS', RICHMOND
Dear Sir,-I have read with much interest the little insertion in last week's 'Ringing World' (August 19th) re the 97th dedication festival of the Church of St. Matthias, Richmond, Surrey. While I must congratulate the band who rang a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major at Richmond Parish Church for the commemoration of this festival, I feel loath to disappoint them by mentioning that their claim for it being the first quarter on the bells for over 2.5 years is not correct. I myself took part in an excellent quarter peal of Stedman Triples rung tos sunday evening service during the winter of 1947; it was conducted by Mr. T. H. Taffender. I am afraid I cannot give you the exact date of the quarter peal, but the year is most certainly correct.
It is interesting to note that at least four members of the choir of St Mathias' Church are ringers. Are they doing anything about a ring of bells in their church sometime in the future? -Yours faithfully,

OLIVE L. ROGERS.

\section*{NOMENCLATURE DUPLICATED}

Dear Sir,-May I send to Mr. G. E. Feirn and his band my congratulations on ringing 106 Minor methods 'in hand.' I would like to point out to him, however, that extent number six in his peal was rung at Copt Oak in the \(126-\) method peal there, and that Gosberton and Sibsey were then rung as Copt Oak and Charnwood Alliance. I understood that Gosberton and Sibsey were only suggested names and that they need not be adhered to.-Yours, etc.,

\section*{A Letter From a Real Learner To An Imaginary Learner}

My dear Jim,-Thank you for thinking about the learners, and for your obviously sincere desire to help them. I particularly wish to commend your advice not to waste the time of instructors and their devoted bands should the learners feel uninspired after having given bell ringing a trial.

There is, however, another picture, as seen through the eyes of a real learner. Life is quicker in the jet-age than it was in the horsc-and-buggy age, and many young learners feel frustrated when their progress is to be slowed down to the pace of that of some of the older tower captains, such as Mr. F. in 'Bill's Progress' and 'Old Bob,' in the two articles by William Shepherd in 'The Ringing World 'for May 13 th and July 8th this year.

May I tell you of my experience? My interest in bells was first aroused one week-day when I heard the bells in the city church near the place where I worked. I climbed the tower to find out how the ringing was done and by whom. I came upon a band about to start a peal. They were courteous and friendly but obviously did not want me there and then, nor did they suggest I should come back on a practice night. Good bands tend to become self-satisfied, and it is an interesting coincidence that there is now a silent lower at that particular city church.

Some time later the Rector at the village church where I lived invited the choirmen to help the ringers, who were shorthanded. On arrival in the tower the captain eyed me, and beyond inviting me to sit down did not say much. I noticed the front six of the octave were being rung to call changes. Practices were irregular for lack of attendance. We often went home after having waited outside for half an hour to one hour, the captain not deeming it worth while going up until everybody had arrived. After four months I was promoted to Sunday ringing. By then I had discovered that the captain could not ring "inside,' but only drummed behind, and that the rest of the band only knew the work of their own particular bell in Grandsire Doubles Plain Course, no bobs or singles were called.

I realised I had to go outside my own tower in search of greater knowledge; I also bought text books, pencil and paper. One of the troubles which confronted me was the strange vocabulary. When you go in you dodge in 3-4 down' seemed confusing, and when once told to "run out to the back" I wondered whether it was to spend a penny. I thought I detected annoyance in the experienced ringers whenever I lost my place, because several of them shouted on top of one another, as it there were three or four conductors of the same touch.

On one occasion three ringers standing behind me told me what to do next, but I failed to carry out at one and the same time the three different directions given to me. I began to suspect that some of the experienced ringers in neighbouring towers were not quite so experienced as I had at first thought.
One day I attended a meeting as a place where I was not known. I boldly took hold in a Plain Course of Stedman Caters, which I had not rung before. I wasn't specially watched, nobody shouted at me, nobody stood behind me, and I did not lose my place! I know now that some experienced ringers are loath to admit their mistakes, and cover them up by admonishing the learners. I have seen an experienced ringer break a stay, and heard him remark 'I don't know what happened, the stay must have been cracked. Perhaps the learners bumped it last time they had hold.' I have a feeling that you may perhaps agree with me to some extent, because you advise us learners 'Don't be put off if curious little squabbles break out from time to time, and - If you notice some of your seniors intolerant of criticism, you needn't imitate them in their touchiness.

Perhaps one day I shall no longer smart under the indignity of being 'only a bobcaller,' but be a real ringer and conductor, and I have the ambition to learn and call a peal of Duffield Maximus as a compliment to my maternal grandmother, who by all accounts was a persistent and determined lady, because such qualities are needed by any learner who feels hirnself inspired.-Yours sincerely.

CHARLES

\section*{RANDOM THOUGHTS ON TREBLE BOB MINOR}

Notice how thoughtful it was of me so to arrange the rows that regular lead-ends turn up ! 36 And so observe that with 14 Frontworks and Bob Minor methods. whether regular, Irregular, Refragable or Irrefragable. But it can so be arranged that the Frontworks and Backworks are welded together in 36 methods so that in order to be able to ring any Treble Bob Minor method one has only to remember 36 methods-not an insuperable task if one groups them in their 'natural' grouping order. The difficulty that arises is the mental ability to change over from 'Frontworks ' to 'Backworks,' an accomplishment effected in the 2nd and 5 th sections. This may be assisted by the injunction sometimes given, 'Ring so-and-so above the treble and so-and-so below." This can be abbreviated. Say one has already learned Cambridge Surprise and London Surprise, a pithy description of York Surprise would be 'Cambridge and London.'

This knack is fairly easily acquired like drying the best china. driving a car, riding a bicycle or ringing Spliced Surprise Major. (In descending order of difficulty!)
Here is a list of the 36 methods from which all other Treble Bob methods may be formed:

In my own case, for instance, I think and speak of numbers 14 , 15, 16 and 17 above as New London lead-ends, Dunedin as Tulip lead-ends, Annable's Surprise and Warkworth Surprise as Woodbine leadends, and Hull Surprise as Duke of York Bob lead-ends, whilst Killamarsh is still in this locality, regarded as 'Kent and College Pleasure '!
But a list like the one above, culled as it is from the Central Council Collection, is more likely to be of service to a band of ringers who are starting to climb the hill, than one similar to my own notebooks, cluttered with odd bits of information collected from various sources, and consequently containing methods, with appelations thereof, that in many cases have passed out of current coinage.
Here, then, are the tables. Asterisks denote ' regular ' methods and may be found in the Central Council Collection. Alternative names in brackets.

Certain old favourites are conspicuous by their absence; this does not mean that they should be ignored. Kent, for instance, will be learned by most people immediately after (in some cases, before) Oxford. There is no tharm in thinking, or speaking, of Killamarsh

\section*{Memorial To Mr. Thomas Werrett}

A memorial plaque to Mr. Thomas Werrett, of Norton, Herts, was unveiled on July 17th by the Vicar. It reads: ' In affectionate memory of Thomas Werrett, captain of the ringers of this church, whose enthusiasm brought about a complete peal of eight bells. Erected by his friends. who also contributed towards a bell fund for a new church in the centre of the parish.' Mrs. Werrett sent this note, published in the parish magazine: "My family and I wish to express our thanks to all who have taken part in presenting the tablet which has been placed in the church in memory of Thomas Werrett as an appreciation of his untiring work in connection with the bells. Thank you all very much."

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{THE REV. E. A. RIGDEN}

It is with deep regret that we received the news of the death of the Rev. E. A. Rigden on August 18th. An ex-naval chaplain, he had been Vicar of North and South Muskbam, Notts, since 1946.

A kindly man of good checr, the late Vicar was a staunch friend of ringers, and the revival of ringing at the North Muskham lower was due largely to the enthusiastic support he gave to any plans that were made. He was a ringing member of the Southwell Diocesan Guild and set a rood example by attending practice nights whenever he could and often joincd in service ringing.

A half-muffled peal was rung to his memory by a local band at North Muskham in the evening following the funeral at Soutb Muskham.
F. W. M.

\section*{MR. T. A. ELLIOTT}

Through the death of Mr. T. A. Elliott, of Dunster. the Bath and Wells Association has lost one of its oldest members. He was elected a member of Dunster Branch in December, 1886. and continued as an active Sunday service ringer until four years ago, when an accident which entailed a broken hip prevented him ascending the belfry steps.

He rang his first peal in 1890 and rang over 40 during his lifetime, the last being in 1931. He was a member of the band which rang the first peal of Stedman for the Bath and Weils Association at Dunster in 1895.

A quarter peal to his memory was rung on August 24th, the day of his funeral.

\section*{MORE BELFRY GOSSIP}

The peal at North Muskham on August 22nd was rung at the request of the conductor, Mr . F. G. Hooper, as a tribute to the late Rev. E. A. Rigden, but the band also had in mind the conductor's father, who died suddenly three weeks ago.
Ingworth, eight miles from Cromer, has a thatched roof to the church but unfortunately there is no tower-only a west end gable with one bell. We should be pleased to hear of any other thatched roof churches, especially with tower and bells. Another sight in Norfolk, unusual in other parts of the country, writes our correspondent, is the many churches with short, small, round towers, resembling from a distance the stump of a chimney.

The tribute by the peal at Great Eastor, Essex on August 23 rd, to Canon P. E. T. Widdrington, D.D., who has been Rector of this parish for the past 37 years and is retiring this month to live at Lichfield, was one of the many high regards for his outstanding personality. Nineteen tributes appeared in the Dunmow Deanery Magazine in July, and there were others in 'The Church Times.' Of those taking part in the peal three were present officers of the Northern Division and two past officers.

\section*{Those who took part in the recent 'Sussex *} tour of Somerset will be interested to learn that a young Jady of South Wales has developed a keen interest in change ringing after having been content to ring rounds and call changes for many months. Within a weck of hunting the treble to an extent of Grandsire Doubles she persuaded her uncle to arrange a quarter peal attempt, in which she rang faultlessly. It is thought that her progress is a result of tuition received at The Ancient Gate House. Wells, together with further lessons received from a Hertfordshire member of that party who has twice travelled the considerable distance to South Wales in order to continue them.

\section*{SOMERSET INVASION OF CORNWALL}

THE five Somerset ringers who attended the Truro Guild practice at the two eights of Austell and St. Stephen-in-Brannell on August 6th formed the nucleus of a band which was to do considerable ringing in Cornwall during the following week.

On Sunday one of the five enjoyed service ringing at Redruth, whilst the others rang at St. Budock, St. Gluvius and St. Koverne, all eights.

On Monday all the towers visited were sixes, the first being Mabe, followed by Stithians, where a lady member of the local band joined in the ringing; then on to Perran-ar-Worthal and Gwennap, with its detached tower. After a short break for lunch, a move was made to Illogan (another detached tower), where a welcome and pleasant surprise was the provision of tea and cakes by Mrs. Morrish, wife of one of the locals, to whom the band expressed suitable gratitude. The next call was at St. Agnes, where is one of the few spires in the Duchy, and finally to Perranzabuloe, where after a few touches a quarter peal of Minor was rung (as has been reported elsewhere).

Tuesday was an 'off day' unti] the evening, when the five joined in the weekly practice at Truro Cathedral (10).

Wednesday morning the band arrived late at Veryan, the first of the sixes for the day, and after a short ring the convoy proceeded to St . Michael's, Cacrhays. The bells here go well. but the tenor has a most peculiar note as it sounds rather like plop ! A ring on the nice six at Gorran completed the morning's programme, and a welcome meal of hot pasties was partaken in the 'local.' Next place to be visited was St. Ewe with its spire and very light, well-going bells in an extremely cramped ringing chamber. St. Mewan provided the first setback of the weck, for a rope suddenly broke and had to be replaced. This was officially the last touring tower of the day, but after a conference and a telephone call, permission was obtained to ring on the nice six at St. Erme. Four of the party then went to the weekly practice at Crantock and the others to Redruth.

\section*{BELFRY DOOR COLLAPSES}

The first tower, St. Mawgan-in-Meneage (6), on Thursday, was not a happy start to the day; First it was found that one bell was over; and on attempting to get to the bell chamber to turn it the belfry door collapsed! Soon after starting to ring the visitors were informed that there was matins, and when the bells were halfway down the Rector requested the ringing to stop 'at once, Gladly the band proceeded to St. Hilary, with a spire, a nice six, but very dark ringing chamber. Ludgvan, the next six to be visited, completed the morning programme. After a good lunch at the Cape Cafe, St. Just-in-Penwith, a move was made to Sennen, with a very light six and the most westerly bells in the country. A drive along the coast road with its wonderful views led to Zennor (6) and Towednack (8). Finally, after a brief break, the band made for Kenwyn (8), where great hospitality was received from the locals despite practically monopolising their practice.

Friday was another rest day until the evening when some of the band visited the two eights of Phillack and Tuckingmill.

Saturday was the finale with a visit to the three sixes of Botus Fleming, Antony and Maker, the last tower being reached after a mystery tour-cum-trial provided by a signpost arm having been reversed! The band were very pleased at Antony and Maker in having with them Alan Carveth, president of the Truro Guild, and two of his Kenwyn lady ringers.

So ended a very happy tour, in which the five originals were joined at various towers by -ingers from their own county, Cornwall,

\section*{ROTHERHAM RINGER MARRIED}

The bells of Rotherham Parish Church pealed out merrily for the wedding of Mr. Fred Fisher to Miss Clara Ann Oliver on August 20th. Mr. Fisher is a ringer and sidesman at Rotherham Parish Church, and Miss Oliver comes from Brampton, near Barnsley.
The bride wore a gown of white French brocade with train and full-length veil, and headdress of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of yellow tea roses, white stephanotis, white heather and fern.
The bells were rung to Grandsire Caters, Bob Royal and Little Bob Major prior to the wedding, and for about 20 minutes afterwards, the local ringers being joined by friends from neighbouring towers. On the previous Tuesday Mr. Fisher was presented with a silver cruet set from his fellow ringers as a token of their good wishes.
The honeymoon was spent at Ilfracombe. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will reside at 4, St. George's Avenue, Ickles, Rotherham.

\section*{TWO VOICES}

THE history of change ringing is told to us in many voices and in many a mode. Since the year of the first Jacobite rebellion, when the bells of St. Peter Mancroft rang out the first true 5,040 , men have recorded in prose, verse, diary anid letter anecdotes of ringers and stories of notable feats. The critical writings of Hearne, the doggerel verse of Laughton, the intimate portraits of John Day, the homely peal notes of Washbrook, the vivid phrases of William Willson, these and a vast quantity of matter of all kinds and quality go to make up the yet unwritten history of change ringing. The bare record of performances forms but the framework of this remarkable story, and the dry bones of the peal book need the breath of warm humanity if they are to be clothed and live before us as real human achievements.

This infusing of life and movement and colour into statistical records is by no means a matter of fine words or noble prose: on the contrary it is often achieved by humble means, and this is illustrated clearly in the short and simple annals of John Martin and Giles Mansfield.

John Martin was composer to the Leicester Scholars towards the end of the 18th century, and his peal book, in addition to bearing witness to his skill as a composer, gives also an insight into his character and outlook. His style is unadorned and homely, but here and there he strikes a felicitous phrase, and then his expression becomes almost poetic. Of the pleasure of the Tittums he writes: - Once a person has got that Beat in is ear he Sails Before the wind with pleasure and his Ear will never be satisfyed with the Beat of Good Tittoms.' And again he says, writing of musical values: 'The Ear and Not the eye is to be considered, what think you Brother String of this method?' It would seem that old John Martin knew quite well that courses that look well on paper may not always be so satisfactory when rung.
In 1777 the Leicester Scholars rang 10,080 Grandsire Caters after several attempts. Success came at last, and of this John Martin says: ' . . . In ye afternoon of ye same Day they compleated the Great Peal of 10,080 Grandsire Cators in ye Tittoms, in Seven hours and Twelve Minuets, the Next Day the Society Met and Chear'd (Chaired) Three of the Oldest Members Through the principle streets of the Town, and the inhabitants of ye town Made a Subseription and it Ris to the Eight of Thirty Trree pounds and upwards, which names are wrote hereunder.' He then tells of the guinea from Mr. Watts for ale, the half-crown from the Combshop, and of the way the collectors went round the next day to see if anybody had been missed.
In this rather breathless account all the immediate excitement of the great occasion is reflected. It was, as the peal book shows, written soon after the event, and the wave of exultation following upon the success of the peal was still exhilarating the writer.

Giles Mansfield's account of the 12,312 Grandsire Caters at Painswick in 1817 is somewhat different. Mansfield wrote at the age of eighty, fifty-seven years after the great peal, and in the glow of the sunset of his years the old man looks back proudly upon a wonderful day and upon a feat that stamped its details on the tablets of his mind.

Whe Painswick ringers ad rung a peale of Grandsire Cators before of ten thousand and then the Bristol Ringers rang a peal of Grandsire Cators a few changes more than whe at Painswick and beat us then whe went to work again and beat them with the 12,312 .

Whe advertised in a great many news papers in the Kingdom as we was goying to attempt to do it and whe did it in a verey masterley style and it Drade a greate many Ringers from all parts and a great deal of money chainged hands and when whe ad finished thear was thousands of people thear one mite ave walked on thair Heds it tis thought thear nevver was so maney in the Churchyard before nor sence and there was a first rate band in Painswick at that time and thay plaid before us when whe left the Church.'
There is something astonishingly vital in this picturesque account. One pictures the opening of the door of the tower, the appearance of the first ringer, the surge of people and the roar of many voices punctuated, perhaps, with the booming of a drum. And yet Mansfield writes deliberately, bluntly and proudly. 'We was goying to attempt to do it, and whe did it,' he says roundly, and in his eighty-third year he speaks with an assurance built upon indelible memories. He lived for some thirteen years more, passing away at the age of ninety-five, and doubtless to the very end the sights and sounds of the churchyard at Painswick on May 7th, 1817, remained clearly before him.
In the extensive field of literary expression it is a far cry from the scholarly formality of Thomas Hearne to the crudities of Mansfield and Martin. And yet it is in the homely pictures of the latter two that we find the more vivid picture and, it might be said, the greater and truer reflection of the social side of bell ringing. E. C. S.

Gillett & Johnston craftsmanship is embodied in an all-embracing service - as much in the preservation and restoration of old rings of antiquarian interest as in the installation of new.

\section*{The 1954-1955 Session Reviewed}

Ringers who were interested to learn in March that the newly-formed Ringing Society. of Southampton University had rung its first quarter peal may like to know a little more about its progress and activity up to the end of its first session.

Apart from the two normal weekly meetings -one for handbells and one in the towerthere have been several organised excursions. On May 25th Reading and Southampton Universities Societies held a joint meeting at the towers of Sherborne St. John and St. Michael's, Basingstoke. The Society has had three ringing outings, one on Whit Monday-the first of what is hoped will be an annual event-visiting ninc towers in the Winchester area, another visiting seven towers in the Meon Valley, and the other, as guests of North Stoneham ringers on their annual outing, to Arundel. Brighton, Henfield and Haslemere. In addition, the policy has been established to ring from time to time for a Sunday service at one of the churches in the neighbourhood of Southampton. and for this purpose the Society has visited North Stoneham. St. Mary's, Southampton. Curdridge and Romsey Abbey.

The Society as a whole attended the annual general meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild at Basingstoke, and ringing meetings at Stockbridge, Titchfield and Upham, and has been represented at other mectings. Altogether 16 towers have been visited this session.

All members have made considerable advances in change ringing. Those who were beginners at the time when the Society was founded are now conversant with the two best known methods, Plain Bob and Grandsire, whilst those proficient continue to pursue the policy of delving into some of the lesser-practised methods. On the University's Commemoration day (May 18th) a quarter peal of 1,260 mixed Doubles was rung at North Stoneham in six methods. Other methods rung have included Stedman, St. Clement's, Double Court, Oxford Treble Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise, London Surprise, York Surprise. Beverley Surprise, Surfleet Surprise and Double Norwich.
The average age of members is 20 years five months and all have taken part in at least one of the three quarter peals that have been rung. The Society's first annual general meeting has been held, when a constitution was drawn up and passed, and officers were elected: President, Mr. D. C. Jackson; vice-president, Miss Margaret E. L. Beamish; secretary and treasurer. Mr. P. W. M. Jones; committee members, Miss Ann Sweeney and Mr. R. E. Finch. Provisional plans for next session include a ringing week in Somerset at Easter, a joint meeting with another University, and at least one peal attempt.

A hearty welcome is extended to all freshers entering the University in October, who are either ringers or interested in taking up ringing. Those who would like information of any kind are invited to contact the secretary, c/o the University.

The Society would like to record its grateful thanks to its ringing friends from Peter Symonds School, Winchester, to the Rector and captain of St. Nicholas', North Stoneham, for the use of the tower for practice and for their constant hospitality both inside and outside the belfry.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD}

\section*{Formation of Hereford District}

The quarterly meeting of the South Wales District was held on September 3rd at Eardisland, Herefordshire, and the new Hereford District of the Guild was formed.
A large number of ringers attended, including a coachload from South Wales, and everyone enjoyed ringing the fine bells.
The service was conducted by the Rev. P. Rock, who welcomed the Guild to Eardisland. The organist was Miss Dorothy Atwell. Tea was prepared in the nearby schoolroom, and afterwards the vice-president. Miss Lily Temlett, thanked the Vicar and the ladies.
At the business meeting many new members were elected, together with the officers and committee of the Hereford District. These were: Vice-president, Mrs. Chandler; secretary, Miss Rosemary Jarritt; committee, the Misses J. Green. M. Tilbury, R. Bray and M. Williams. The first meeting of the new district will be held jointly with the Hereford Guild.
The next meeting of the South Wales District will be held jointly with the Llandaff Branch, probably at Aberavon.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION}

The half-yearly corporate Communion of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Yatton on August 28th. Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung before the ringers attended the service at 8 o'clock, at which the celebrant was the Vicar (the Rev. G. A. Beechey).

Twenty-six ringers afterwards sat down to an excellent breakfast prepared by Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Knight. The Vicar said a few words of welcome and exhorted everyone to attend the quarterly meeting at Yatton on October 15 th. Those ringers who did not have to return to their own towers then joined the local band to ring for matins.

As far back as 1950 a peal attempt at Silk Willoughby, Lincs, was arranged for Mr .

\section*{BELAFRY} Kenneth Croft, now of Southampton. It was finalised on August 31st and was much enjoyed by all participating.
The price of tickets for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths dinner on October 1 st is 13 s ., and not 13 s . 6 d ., as inadvertently stated in our last issue.
A silver-plated lapel badge of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was found on Sunday, September 4 th , in the Hero of Inkerman, Bagshot, Surrey, car park. Will the owner please communicate with Mr. H. Hunt, St. Brelade's, London Road, Bagshot, Surrey.
Mr. Tony Setter, who is on holiday at Dorking, participated in a quarter peal at Shere on September 7th. The confident way Miss Marian Egerton, of the local band, rang her first quartes of Triples was a matter for congratulation.
The 'Model Engincer' exhibition at the New Horticultural Hall, Westminster, contains a model bell hung complete with ali fittings, oneeighth full size. The exhibit is the work of Mr. Cyril D. Nichols, of St. Leonard's, Streatham, band.
Eighty-three-year-old Mr. John Wheadon earned the congratulations of the band who rang in the peal at Mottram, Cheshire, on August 6th. His friends in Kent and elsewhere will doubtless be pleased to hear that he is still going strong.
The peal at Wimbledon recorded last week was the second on the bells, the previous one being in 1886. According to a correspondent, the peal aroused a crop of complaints, including one from the police! It scems unlikely that a peal attempt will be made again for some time.

GOSSIP
The peal at Northiam Sussex, on August 27th, nearly did not come to a happy end. ing. After two and a half hours' ringing, the proprietor of a hotel in the shadow of the church charged in and demanded that ringing should stop. The Vicar, however, happened to be in the church and he managed to lead the irate hotelier away. It appears that some of the hotel guests had come down from London for a 'quiet week-end.'

The peal of Minor rung at Henlow, published in our last issue, was rung on August 20th, and not as stated.
The B.B.C. are broadcasting the bells of South Molton Parish Church before evening service on Sunday. September 18th. They will be heard on the London, West. North and Midland Home Services.

Cambridge University Guild have a new method known as 'Boatrace Delight.' It consists of Cambridge in front and Oxford behind ! Perhaps next year the Dark Blues will be ringing * Reverse Boatrace Delight

We regret to hear that Mr. Wilfred Williams entered Westminster Hospital (St, Mark's Ward) last Tuesday for an operation which will probably keep him out of active ringing for about six months. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

Cranford, Northants, lost its band some ten years ago owing to a dispute with the Rector. About two years ago Mr. C. H. Newell, the tower captain, assisted by Mr. H. Willis, started teaching a young band from scratch and they have rung several quarters of Doubles. The first 720 of Plain Bob Minor was rung by the new band on August 21 st:-T. Sampson (11) 1, Molly Crosier (12) 2, C. H. Newell 3, H. Willis 4 D. W. James (conductor, 16) 5. F. E. Crosier (i) 6 . It was rung for evening service and also as a birthday compliment to Molly Crosier.

\section*{BISHOP DEFENDS CHURCH BELLS}

\section*{Reply to Letters of Protest}

Dedicating a new ring of bells at Ruishton Church (Som.), the Bishop of Bath and Wells (Dr. H. W. Bradfield) told the congregation, 'I often get pathetic letters from people who protest to me about the ringing of bells on Sunday morning an hour before they wish to get up. They say, "Why should our sleep be disturbed by this unseemly noise? '

They give themselves away completely in writing letters of this sort. They surely make the biggest mistake in the world if they think 1 am going to take any action whatever to prevent men from being called to worship in the presence of God and in fellowship one with another.
The Bishop said he often met those who asked whether in these days the Church ought to spend such large sums on its bells.

After all, we are confronted with problem after problem in restoring our ancient churches and handing on our heritage unimpaired,' he went on. We are called upon to make substantial sacrifices to retain the ministry in our countryside and to train new men for the ministry. There is also the responsibility for the Church overseas and for those new areas of population with no church at all.

So it is said that we ought to put first things first and to devote our resources to those purposes which are vital and essential to the Church. Indeed there is something most cogent in that argument and it would spell disaster for the Church if we did not pay proper attention and fulfil our responsibilities in those directions.

On the other hand. I am sure that something of real value would pass from the life of the Church if our bells remained silent. The ringing of the bells is something almost peculiar to the life of the English Church.

The bells are not in the church tower merely to provide amusement and healthy exercise for those drawn to the art of campanology: they are a reminder of those invisible things of God upon which the whole of our life must inevitably be based. They are there to remind us of man's highest duty-to offer himself in worship before God.'
Referring to the solemn responsibility resting upon ringers, the Bishop said, 'I am sometimes disturbed at the attitude of thase who are ready enough to come to the tower and call people to the worship of God, but who. once their ringing is finished, absent themselves from that same worship.

I hope that that may not be so here. For you who are called to ring these bells are messengers of God to His people and you have a responsibility to ring the bells to the best of your ability and power and to ring them in such a spirit as may carry conviction and appeal to those who hear.
The three existing bells have been retuned and three new ones added at a cost of \(£ 1,200\). All except \(£ 200\) had be raised when the bells were dedicated

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Lewisham District}

A practice meeting was held on August 27th at Cravford and Bexley, the bells of the former being put to good use before tea with ringing ranging from rounds to Cambridge Major. The service was held at Bexley, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. F. Hooper), and the lesson was read by Mr. E. Barnett.
A high tea, provided by Bexley ringers, was then enjoyed, and further ringing under the direction of Mr. J. Cannell in various standand methods up 10 London Major concluded the orogramme for the dav.

\section*{THE CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD}

Annual Tour, 1955

THIS year's tour was held in Cambridge in accordance with the tradition that it should be held there every fifth year. Our headquarters were at 19, West Road, at which place and at Saxon Barns-two hostels of Selwyn Collegethe members were very comfortably accommodated. Numbers were somewhat reduced by marriage, completed or pending, and by the counter-attractions of foreign parts, but we had enough to ring while peals were in progress.
The week officially opened on Sunday, Aug. 28th, at 5.30 p.m., soon after which time six members were pulling the bells at St. Andrew's for evening service. Here we were introduced to a method known as 'Boatrace Delight' Cambridge in front and Oxford behind. Thankful that we were not going to ring there again during the week, great singleness of purpose was shown by the members in waiting in the rain till a ' nearby hostelry' should open. We returned to the West House Hotel, where we dined excellently every cevening, and then some more time was spent in conviviality until throwing-out time.

Mondays ringing began on the pleasant six at Harston, where we were told that new stays had been fitted against our coming. Some good ringing was had here before we moved on to Meldreth, where a framed list of founders and weights assured us that the fourth weighs 6 cwt . 4 gr. Here Kentish Delight belied the second half of its name-at least, we couldn't get it round. Before returning to lunch in Cambridge we snatched the six bells of Melbourn.
After lunch, a band of the more seriousminded had the privilege of ringing a peal of Yorkshire at the Roman Catholic Church, while others, less ambitious, rang on the sixes at Swavesey and at Willingham. After tea there was ringing on the five bells at the thatched church of Rampton. The Cambridge Youths were joined at their practice in the evening at Great St. Mary's, which finished just before a power-cut plunged the town into darkness, thereby delaying many members in obtaining their refreshments.

\section*{A DIP IN THE UPPER CAM}

Sunshine greeted us on Tuesday, when a band went to Barkway to ring a peal of Rutland. While this was in progress the rest rang at Anstey, where the six bells, tuned in a scale unknown to most musicians, are heaved from the middle of the church. Wendens Ambo proved to be a pleasant contrast, and a further unofficial visit was paid to Newport. We lunched in Saffron Walden and, after losing precious time in key-hunting, we rang the bells there to Stedman Caters and Cinques and Cambridge Royal. Tea was taken at Thaxted, after which the bells, which are well in keeping with the glories of the church, were put to good use and greatly appreciated. After returning and dining in Cambridge, the handbells and the public houses were in great demand. At 11.30 p.m. three members could have been scen finding that the waters of the Upper Cam were decidedly cold!

Wednesday began with the corporate Communion at Selwyn College Chapel. The first tower of the day was Longstanton, where memories of past ringing were revived for several members. The next call was at Over, where the gargoyles were much admired: one member wanted to take literally a sign requesting ringers to remove the clock hammers before ringing, but in spite of this some good ringing was had here. A curious coincidence occurred before lunch: all the cars ran out of petrol just in front of various public houses! ' Wc lunched in Huntingdon before going to Godmanchester, where another key-hunt was just getting under way when a local ringer arrived with it, so that we were able to enjoy some good touches on these bells.
From here we went to St. Neots, where the heavy-bell ringers worked up a good appetite for tea, which was had in a nearby cafe. After the organiser had toured the town twice to make sure that everyone was safely back in their cars, we made our last call of the day at Bourn: here we rang Spliced Surprise and a number of other methods. Before getting back to dinner. several cars again ran out of petrol at a convenient place, thus enabling a representative team of the non-residents to be beaten by the residents at darts. After dinner some more Boatrace Delight was rung at St. Bene't's, while others soon found they couldn"t ring Stedman Triples 'in hand.'

\section*{FULBOURN TOWER IN DANGER}

A letter arrived on Thursday morning intimating that the tower at Fulbourn was in danger of collapsing, so we went to Duxford instead. Of the six bells here, the third is the lightest and the fifth the heaviest. After ringing a variety of methods, we went on to Ickleton, a splendid Norman church with a central tower containing eight good bells. The entire party had to refuel just opposite the church before lunch. In the afternoon came the highlight of the week-a peal of Stedman Cinques at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, for which we imported some other members to do some work for a change. The non-pealers took a hand in the organising for the afternoon, and instead of sticking meekly to the programme. rang at Stapleford and Cherryhinton. After the dinner we had the business meeting, at which it was decided to go to Worcestershire next year, and at which that hardy perennial. the Guild History, once more appeared on the agenda.
On Friday it was reported that a well-known comedian appearing at the Arts Theatre had expressed his gratitude for having the bells rung in his honour. We did not like to disillusion him, so we went to Littleport, where we lost a peal of Cambridge, and then joined the non-pealers at Ely, after they had rung at Wilburton and Stretham. After we had lunched in Ely, the wear and tear of the week began to show, and at Newmarket occurred the phenomenon of a party of ringers arriving late and leaving early. Tea was taken at Mildenhall, where we spent an hour or so ringing on the pleasant ten. Grandsire Caters being the most successful touch. Thanks to some fast driving, the writer was able to lose a game of darts before dinner, in one of Cambridge's 163 public houses. After dinner almost the entire party were with one accord in one place? testing the relative merits of Bass and Worthington, which may very well have accounted for the low standard of handbell ringing, and the desire of one member to sing, when we got back.

The more sensible members went home on Saturday morning, but a band of incorrigibles went out to Braughing, intending to go for a peal. Unfortunately, a reorganisation(?) of the Cambridge postal services meant that we met without having picked up the member who had left London soon after dawn. With the aid of a local ringer and of one who had come to listen to the peal, we had a short ring before we adjourned for refreshment. The missing member arrived shortly after we left, which was even more unfortunate. Thus ended another Guild Week, although several members were still to be found later in the day ringing in a peal at Mildenhall, which finished just too late for your correspondent to get his train home.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SUMMER TOUR

\title{
500 Miles Amid Suffolk Roads and Lanes
\(\int\) WHE University of London Society chose Suffolk for this year's summer manceuvres, which were to be held in the week July 23 rd to August 1st. The Victoria Hotel, Ipswich, was commandeered as headquarters and, as the twenty or so members who turned up for annual training completely filled the hotel, the embarrassment of having 'Gentiles midst was avoided.
The tour, which was to cover 40 towers and a large area of Suffolk, began late on Saturday afternoon at St. Matthew's, Ipswich (6). As this tower was a first tryst for many long parted friends, little of the available reminiscing time was set aside for ringing. On Sunday members joined with local bands for service ringing in nearby towers, and they also made themselves welcome at one or two churches where there was no regular band.
The week's work began in earnest on Monday with visits to seven towers during the day and finishing with a local practice after supper by way of a nightcap. This energetic pace was maintained steadily for the rest of the week. In spite of the heavy ringing programme, most members found time to indulge in morning coffee, afternoon tea and other such worldly pleasures. much to the concern of our organiser who had a carefully planned time-table to keep to.

OUTSTANDING TOWERS
I shall not attempt to catalogue all the towers visited-there were so many-but a few remain specially in my mind. On Wednesday morning we rang on the handy little eight at Cotton. Here the ground floor ringing chamber is open to the elements on its west side with iron palings as the sole protection from the weather. We found open-air ringing an exhilarating experience. however, as we had a fine day. The discomforts of winter ringing were fortunately left to the imagination. That evening we visited Grundisburgh, where we were made very welcome by Cecil Pipe and family, and some of the best struck ringing of the tour was to be heard here. As a result, no doubt, of expert instruction from the local band, we found that the bells knew Grandsire Caters by heart and that even Cambridge Royal did not seem to offer them much difficulty
No tour of Suffolk would have been complete without a pilgrimage to the magnificent Perpendicular church and tower at Lavenham, and accordingly we spent a very pleasant hour there on Tuesday morning. We had a very nasty moment when a slider 'jumped,' but luckily no damage was done save the loss in valuable ringing time and the shattered nerves of the ringer involved. Much has been written about the fine ring of bells at Lavenham, and I shall add no more save to say that it came up to our expectations.
On Sunday afternoon we went to East Bergholt to see the famous five, which are hung in a wooden cage at ground level. The bells have no wheels or ropes, but are rung by handling the bells and the headstocks themselves. Unfortunately it was not possible at the time to arrange a demonstration of this hazardous sport by the local exponents, and so we had to be content with peering through the bars of the cage with the rest of the tourists. From East Bergholt we descended in force upon Flatford Mill, immortalised by Constable in his famous painting. Not wishing, however, to shatter the peaceful seclusion of the mill for the several hundred people who were already enjoying it, we soon crept unobtrusively away to take our tea in quieter surroundings.

\section*{SKILLED NAVIGATION}

This year the Society was fortunate in being fully equipped with mechanised transport. a necessity considering that the tour covered a good 500 miles of road. The narrow tortuous lanes of the Suffolk countryside frequently called for skilled navigation, especially in the case of one car whose owner economised in tyre wear by using only two wheels at a time round corners. On one occasion a carload of ringers took a wrong turn and shortly found themselves lost in the middle of an aerodrome, unable to find which way they had come in! Such mishaps, however, were few and the timetable was adhered to with fair punctuality.
Methods rung during the week ranged from Bob Minor to Cambridge Royal and Stedman Cinques, and they included the now traditional course of London Scholars Pleasure. Two peal attempts were made: Cambridge Major at Henley and Bob Major at Ufford. The Bob Major was abandoned at the half-way point because of a shift course, the Cambridge was lost on account of the intricacy of the method (I can find no better excuse).

The success of the tour was due chiefly to the masterly organisation of Ronald Clouston who, in addition to attending to all the previous arrangements and making tireless efforts to get the Society away from breakfast and to the right towers at the right times. also saw to it that members behaved themselves and that a satisfactorily high tone was maintained at all times. Our thanks are also due to all incumbents for the use of their bells. N. D. R.

After due consideration the method chosen was Grandsire, partly because it was the only one which could be safely rung, and partly because there was no one capable of conducting any other.
All went well until after twenty changes the ringer of the second decided that a triple dodge in 7-6 was expected of him. This he proceeded to do, to the consternation of the conductor, who was also worried because he had missed a bob!
Rounds were called in an expressive monotone by the conductor, whose attention was then diverted to the tenor ringer. This stout fellow's head had been permeated by the ridiculous idea that the method was Cambridge, due to the fact that he had been 'briefed' in a frivolous manner by an ill-intentioned member of the band. Having heard 'Go' called, it had taken him twenty changes to extract his 'Ringer's Diary,' and (ringing with one hand) determine the start. Upon finding it, he commenced places in 5-6 down, announcing imperiously, 'treble should be with me now.
The treble ringer, a droll, stumbling type, gave a dextercus heave and set his bell to wait for the tenor. The ringer of the second was under the fond impression that he was O.K. so far, but one could see he was worried, as he had never rung Cambridge in his life. He knew, however, that the sixth should take him off and (eager to impress the rest) barked the instruction. 'Lead and dodge now, six." This was received doubtfully by the honourable gentleman navigating the sixth, who disputed the command, and said that as far as he was concerned the second was too close at hand. The tenor ringer now made a further generous contribution to the melee by informing the conductor (still endeavouring to ring rounds) that he should 'still be at the back.
This rather ambiguous remark utterly cowed the poor fellow and, in a very thin treble voice, he squeaked 'Stand.' The tenor ringer (an aggressive type) immediately rounded on the seventh, who, he alleged, had made long eighths. What the devil we thought we were doing the tenor man didn't know. Upon hearing "long eighths' mentioned. the conductor (slightly dazed) presumed that the rest of the hand must have been ringing an illicit ex-

\section*{MORE BELFRY GOSSIP}

The half-muffled peal at Diss on September 3rd coincided with the birthday of Mr. Harry Moss. The usual good wishes of the company were extended to him.
When the local news reporter stuck his nose into Deeping St. James' belfry with a flashlight camera at the conclusion of the peal at Decping St. James', Horace was heard to exclaim. 'What's all the fuss about. I shan't ring another peal for my 74th birthday.' To make matters worse the photographer traced Horace to the George and Dragon at West Deeping and there caught him in the act of cutting a: birthday cake complete with a bell and frame for decorations. At Market Deeping Horace is the sole member of the band-although he always seems to get six for Sunday mornings. To show off on the morning of his 74th birthday he broke a rope!

Before World War II. Haslemere Parish Church had a fairly good band of ringers. On Sunday last, with only two of the original ringers in the company, the bells were rung for service to Grandsire Caters for the first time since the war by all local ringers. Many quarter peals of Triples have been scored but it has been a terrific task to get the ten going again. This beautiful ring will always be associated with the name of the late Major J. H. B. Hesse, who was actively connected with their provision tension of Union Triples. On hearing this, the studious ringer on the fourth timidly inquired whether this was a sevenths or eighths place method. This remark was treated in a disparaging fashion by the thitd ringer, who asked in a superior voice whether or not the miscreant had ever digested Standard Methods.

The aforesaid studious ringer made an astounding confession, in which he said he was not a postal subscriber to 'The Ringing World and did not know the address from which to obtain the book 'Standard Methods.' The idea of not being a palron of "The Ringing World ' caused unrestrained indignation among the more rabid peal exponents, who immediately threw down their ropes and refused to ring with him. The penniless student assumed a very penitent air and quietly remarked that he always paid his association's annual sub. and sixpence when he rang a peal. This innocent remark was laughed to scorn by the said peal maniacs, who brandished half-crowns before him and boasted of their large voluntary contributions to various ringing charities.

The discourse was interrupted by the ringer of the second. who, having been troubled with a short backrope, had utilised the time available during the rather turbulent interval to adjust it. When he tested the alternative in a very ham-fisted fashion, he broke the stay.
The writer's vocabulary is extensive enough adequately to describe only the emotions of ordinary people. He cannot, thercfore, put into words the sensation of deep personal affection shared for the ringer of the second when the conductor announced that due to this incident there would be no peal.-D. B. \section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{SWINESHEAD BELFRY}

Dear Sir,-As I have already pointed out to the editor of 'The Bedfordshire Times' in an open letter their investigation would have painted a different picture and carried more weight had their reporter been a person with bell knowledge and had also visited Swineshead steeple several weeks earlier, before I moved aside and threw out of the windows some of the decomposed birds, twigs and other rubbish so as to get up the steps to see the inscriptions on the bells. Anybody can be second on the scene!
Their remarks and those of Mr. K. G. Spavins- it did not quite resemble a pigsty 'may be because neither has yet seen a clean pigsty. Nevertheless, I know many a pig breeder who would be ashamed to have a quarter of the rubbish lying about or to see his sties in anything like the filthy condition in the above belfry.

In my letter to 'The Bedfordshire Times' 1 pointedly asked Canon Thornton Down if he would tolerate that rubbish behind the altar, under the pews, behind the organ or in his vestry? And if not, why in the belfry? Is this not as sacred as the rest of the building? So far there has been no reply.

The statement of the Bedfordshire reporter about one of the bells being late 17th century: shows either lack of knowledge or lack of a thorough investigation, for none are late 17th century-as my article correctly pointed out. One is by John Dier, cast between 1580 and 1597 , the other four are all dated 1629 .
The Rector and people of both Swineshead and Pertenall would have a case for their belfries had the conditions only recently arisen. But they have been known for the best part of a century, and ncither Canon Thornton Down nor Mr. Spavins will convince me that even 100 people could not have done something to their belfries in so long a time! Lillingstone Lovell (also of only 100 people) rose to the occasion to restore its bells, and now its tower, with but very little outside help. Marston Trussell, with less than 150 , did the same, and many more parishes of a similar size could be quoted.

Boys at Kislingbury have just wired up their tower and spire at a cost of under \(£ 5\). All this talk of 'impossible ' for 100 people is just a get-out.

Mr . Spavins, too, if he had the future of ringing at heart with any seriousness; would not defend. hamper and encourage complacency but would rather attack it.
From down the ages. the man who speaks his mind where malpractices and maladminis-trations are concerned is generally unpopular, trations are concerned is generally unpopular, called 'tactless' and so on. I was reminded of that only the other night seeing a film on the life of Martin Luther. Because he dared to take a stand against the malpractices of Popery and the brasshats of Rome he was called 'tactless ' and abused by fellow monks.

This is my reply to Mr. Spavins' statements that 'I should clear up the mess at Swineshead and dip my hand into my own pocket.' For his benefit I might tell him I already do-only yesterday 1 gave back 12 s . wedding fees to my own church's upkeep, and in fact give hack all wedding fees. This is in addition to collections every other week at ringing meetings. twice every Sunday in my own church, to missions of various kinds and other causes. I consider I already do my share towards helping others. If Mr. Spavins wants to stifle free speech he should clear off to Russia or join the Roman Church.-Yours sincerely.
P. AMOS.

Weston Favell, Northants.

Dear Sir,-I should like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World, to welcome any ringers of H.M. Forces who are about to serve in Korea to our church here at '55.' Our Church of St. Martha has a ring of five bells (tenor about 20 Ib .), and ringing commences on Sundays at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). sharp. Practices are held weekly by arrangement or per Regimental Part I. Orders. At the moment the band is up to strength, but visitors are, of course, always welcome.
The bells were dedicated on July 31st as a ring of four, but we are now fortunate in having another bell (a 'gift' from a neighbouring camp), so we may yet score our first 120 this year.
For the information of anyone interested the church and camp are situated about five miles from the 38 th Parallel, three miles from the Imjom River and 40 miles from Seoul, and the squadron forms part of the 1 st Commonwealth Division. At present the Lincolnshire, Bath and Wells and the Gloucester and Bristol Aso sociations appear to be well represented, the remaining two-fifths are probationers. For further information please write to me and I shall be only too pleased to be of some assistance. I believe this is the only ring in the north-east hemisphere and district.
Finally, we send grectings and best wishes to all ringers at home, and especially those serving in the Royal Engineers. - Yours sincerely.
(Hon. Sec., St. Martha's Church, Koreq).

\section*{VARIETY IN GRANDSIRE TRIPLES}

Dear Sir,-Mr. W. Shepherd's excellent leader in your last issue will be read and studied with great interest, not only by young conductors, but by leaders of those many companies who, though various circumstances, never are able to get beyond this stage.
I am personally interested in the multi-bob and single touches and quarter peals as I believe 1 am the only ringer who has conducted peals of Grandsire Triples with the least number of calls (Parker's one-part, with 90) and the greatest (one by A. J. Pitman, with 340). The latter I found most interesting and tricky, and it was not rung at the first attempt (at St. Saviour's, Leicester) but was successfully rung at the second (at Gilmorton). In this peal there were only 20 plain leads and, as Mr. Shepherd warns, great care has to be taken on account of the sudden absence of a call.--
Yours sincercly.
ERNEST MORRIS. Yours sincercly.
Leicester.

\section*{NOT ORIGINAL}

Dear Sir,-Surely Mr. Lakin does not make any claim to the originality of his compositions of Double Norwich? If so, he would do well to glance at the Central Council collection of peals in this method, published some 50 years ago.
Mr. Lakin obviously possesses some ability (the courses in which the second and third are in sixth place have been most cleverly concealed from the casual reader). Might I suggest that he, in company with others whose names have appeared recently above some rather unoriginal compositions. delays publishing his elementary exercises unti] something really original and worth while ringing has been obtained? The field of composition is still very wide open for those sufficiently interested. Yours faithfully.

East Ham. E

\section*{AN UNKNOWN BENEFACTOR}

Dear Sir,-I should like to thank, through ' The Ringing World,' the gentleman who kindty returned the 'Ringer's Diary' which I left in the ringing chamber at Wiveton, Norfolk. while on tour. Unfortunately he omitted to include his name and address in the parcel for me to write and thank him privatcly.-Yours, etc..
Arnold. Notts.
JAMES H. PAILING.

\section*{FIRST PEAL SINCE 1886}

Dear Sir,-Referring to the peal rung at Wimbledon on August 27th, this was claimed, quite rightly, to be the first on the bells since augmentation to eight in 1927.

I am advised by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead that it is in fact the first peal on the bells since the initial one in the year 1886.
As Mr. Felstead states, a little history has been made, for hardly any other tower has been sylent as long as this, a period of 69 years.-Yours truly,
J. TOMSETT

\section*{Southern District}

The weather perhaps was not quite what was required for ringing but it was a perfect day for a social gathering and the quarterly meeting held at Gorscinon on August 27th was all that. About 30 attended, and represented Carmarthen, Llanelly, Gorseinon. Sketty, Neath. Cadoxton, Aberavon and Porthcawl.
Under the direction of the Master, Mr. E Morris the bells were kept ringing to various methods until the service, at which the Vicar, the Rev. Sidney Morris, conducted a shortened Evensong and gave an interesting address.
Tea followed in the Church Hall, where evervone enioyed the good things provided by the ladies and Mr. Dobbins, of Gorseinon.
Before the opening of the meeting, at which the Vicar presided, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. T. M. Roderick. Chris Hawkins, J. A. Hoare and E. Morris. It was proposed to hold the joint meeting with the Llandaff Branch at Aberavon next December. subject to being accepted at the next Llandaff meeting.
Six new members from Gorseinon and five from Llanelly were elected. A suggestion of a joint meeting with St. David's Guild in the near future was referred to the December meeting.
Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and presiding at the mecting, and to the ladies and Mr. Dobbin for providing the tea.

\section*{LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Some sixty members and friends attended the Leeds and District Society's monthly meeting held at. Collingham on August 27th. Throughout the afternoon and evening various rouches in the standard methods were attempted on this light eight with varying degrees of success.
At five \(0^{\circ}\) clock an adjournment was made to the Memorial Hall, where an excellent tea had been prepared by the local company. Here the gathering was joined by the Vicar, who also stayed for the business mecting, at which Mr. T. W. Strangeway took the chair in the absence of the president, who was on holiday.
During the course of the meeting six new members were elected, from Wetherby, Thorner, Headingley St. Michael's and Collingham.
In proposing the vote of thanks on this occasion Mr. P. J. Johnson spoke of his past connection with Collingham, and noted with oleasure the number of young people attending the meeting. This was seconded by Mr. F. Gibbard and carried with applause.

The next meeting will be held at Rothwell on Sedtember 24th.

\section*{ST. CHRISTOPHER'S SOCIETY OF CHANGE RINGERS}

\section*{75 Towers in 1955 Tour}

EVERY year, during the first week of August, the St. Christopher's Society has a tour of some part of the country: this year the route was from Oxford, up to Northampton, then across to Saffion Walden, calling at many villages and towns on the way. The ringers were drawn from nine different towers, representing the Portsmouth area, Chichester and Itchingfield, Sussex, North-West Kent and Bedwellty, Mon.

The party met at Chilton, Berks, on the afternoon of Saturday, July 30 th, and, after ringing on this light six, proceeded to the excellent eight of Harwell, where a peal attempt of Yorkshire regrettably collapsed after very little ringing. On the way to Oxford, where we were to spend the night, we stopped at the famous tower of Drayton, where the Rev. F. E. Robinson called so many peals: we soon realised how they managed to ring such fast pcals, as the bells tapped round to Stedman and Bristol.
Sunday morning was spent ringing for service at Oxford. First a ring on the 12 or Christ Church College for the Cathedral 10 a.m. service. It had been hoped to ring on the light eight at St. Ebbe's, but as this was not possible, Mr. Walter Judge kindly let us ring at St. Martin's for the 11 a.m. service, which most of us attended. A notorious tower-grabber then said that there was only one tower he wanted to complete Oxford, St. Thomas's. On application to the churchwarden, we were given a very warm welcome to ring on this light six.

\section*{CONDITIONS AT DORCHESTER ABBEY}

In the afternoon a peal attempt of Stedman Triples at Dorchester Abbey had been arranged. When we climbed up to the belfry, deplorable conditions greeted us-filth everywhere and most of the ropes needing splicing. However, when all was in order, a start was made, but unfortunately the attempt did not meet with success; a quarter peal afterwards did come lound. After tea we returned to the tower and rang a well-struck, musical touch of Bob Triples for Evensong. During the afternoon the non-pealers rang at the village of Berrick Salome and on the recently augmented eight at Warborough. Back in Oxford, permission was granted for a ring at St. Cross after Fvensong.
We arose on Bank Holiday morning to find that one of the motor-cycles was out of action. Consequently the ringing on Yarnton's 25 cwt . six left something to be desired. Afterwards we rang on the light six at Bladon, Woodstock's eight, where a course of Woodstock Surprise came unstuck after five leads, then two similar sixes, Wootton and Enstone. We had some difficulty in finding any lunch in 'the prettiest village in Oxfordshire'-Great Tew-and had to be content with liquid refreshment and potato crisps. We were, however, keen to get on to ring on the church's bells, which proved to be one of the best eights of the whole week. Reluctantly we had to leave the church in its park surroundings to ring on the five at Swerford, which added a bit more noise to the local festivities then in progress. Another superb eight awaited us at Hook Norton. Then, after a short visit to the church at Bloxham. with its magnificent spire, where ringing is impossible at the moment, on to another heavy eight, Adderbury, and a pleasan: little five at Bodicote. After a long-awaited meal, we left our luggage at the hotel, and then went to Tadmarton, where Mr. Lines gave us permission to ring. Here the ascent to the ringing room is by a vertical ladder, which is enclosed in a tall wooden supboard.
balscott s Farm bells
The following day began with a visit to Balscott, to ring Mr. Jarvis's six bells (tenor Icwt. 22ib) at Home Farm. Despite the weight we soon discovered how musical his bells are, and, when we had got used to them, we rang creditable Plain Bob Doubles and Minor and a well-struck 120 of Grandsire, much to Mr. Jarvis's surprise and enjoyment.
Regretfully, we had to continue our journey to ring on Banbury's excellent ten and the heavy six at Middleton Cheney. After lunch we rang at Brackley, Whitfield-where the ropes fali right next to the wall, so that we had to stand tacing it-and Towcester. Then, a short break for tea, and on to Cold Higham and Pattishall (where the curate conducted a short but enjoyable service), Gayton and Rothersthorpe.
In the evening wa were very lucky in that Mr. Eric Nobles had arranged a visit to the old church of Harlestone, and here the Vicar gave us an extremcly interesting account of the church and invited us to tea and sandwiches after the ringing. We had to leave all too soon to spend the night in Northampton.
Wednesday gave us the only rain of the week. The morning's programme offered visits to all the rings in Northampton, eut we had to cancel St. Sepulchre's as the spire was being repaired. However, we rang at All Saints', St. Edmund's, St. Giles' and St. Peter's before lunch. By 1.30 p.m. we were on the road again, to Ecton's six, which we found to need a little attention, unlike the light eight in the fine Saxon tower of Earls Barton. Wilby has a very musical, backward six, and these were soon set going, before our last afternoon tower, the \(28 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). eight of Wellingborough. Another heavy eight at Finedon was available after tea and a good 45 minutes was spent on these fine bells. The two remaining towers for the day were Irthlinghorough's eight and Stanwick's pretty five, then back to Wellingborough to stay the night.
HIGHAM FERRERS' OSCILLATING SPIRE
Thursday morning provided us with three grand rings of eight-Higham Ferrers, Rushden and irchester. At the first tower we arrived to find ane of the spire's pinnacles missing and the spire in splints, but we were told that ringing could proceed. However, one of our party left a book there, and, on returning later, found that the Vicar had noticed the spire oscillating very badly during our visit, with the result that he has forbidden the bells to be rung for six months.
On arrival at Irchester. we discovered these bells were unusual, in that, whilc the tenor weighs about \(21 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\)., the seventh only weighs 12 cwt . Here we rang a fairly good course of Irchester Surprise, and afterwards Grandsirc Caters was rung on the tower's handbells. Easton Maudit provided a very pleasant spot to have a picnic lunch and, after a ring on this five, we had another pull on a slightly heavier five at Bozeat. On again to the 25 cwt . eight of Olney and the lighter eight at Turvey. A short run brought us to another church in a park, Bromham, where the stay of the 5th was missing: nevertheless we had some good ringing. At Biddenham we were fortunate enough to be met by Miss Evelyn Steel, who joined us in a course of London Minor. After an evening meal, we had an hour's ringing on one of the country's finest tens, St. Paul's, Bedford.

The next morning we rang at St. Peter's. Bedford, and Bedford Surprise went quite well on this \(12 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. eight, and proved to be a musical method. The ascent at Kempston gave several larger members of our party considerable trouble, but we all managed to reach the helfry for a good course of Painswick before leaving for the historic detached tower of El.
stow, where John Bunyan learnt to ring. The grand eight at Cardington made a good start after lunch, and Painswick Surprise was rung again here. There tollowed taree sixes-Cople, Willington-where we had some of our quickest ringing-and Northill, until recently Bedfordshire's heaviest six. Here, after our ring, we were invited to a most enjoyable tea by the Rector, the Rev. P. J. Nixseaman, who asked us to notify hini of any one-handed clocks we knew of, for his list.
During a course of Double Norwich on the pleasant eight at Biggleswade, the clapper of the seventh fell our, so that further ringing was not very musical. A warm welcome awaited us at Hinxworth, where the bells ran very nicely indeed, and the Vicar invited us all round to the 'local' afterwards. The last tower of the day was Norton, where methods rung included Lincolnshire, for which Mr. Philip Mehew stood ir. Then back to Biggleswade for the night
Saturday was our last full day, the start being on the 26 cwt . eight of Baldock. Then to Ashwell, where we rang for a music festival at 11 a.m., Litlington, and the five at Bassingbourn (an extra tower). After lunch in Royston, we rang at Barley, Whittlesford and Duxford, where the list of weights is of interest: the third is the lightest bell and the fifth is 4 lb . heavier than the tenor. We followed this ring with a pull on a very pleasant eight at Ickleton, where the ropes here fall in the middle of the church; a course of Ickleton Surprise only got as far as three leads. The bells of Littlebury provided a little amusement, as the treble of the six is rather flat : before supper we rang on one other six, Wendens Ambo. In the evening we visited the magnificent church of Saffiron Walden for an hour's ringing on this fine twelve.
The last day, Sunday, August 7th, was begun by ringing at the fine church of Thaxted for the service of High Mass, which the majority of our party attended. On the way home we were fortunate enough to ring on the grand cight at Great Dunmow, and again, after lunch, at Hatfield Broad Oak for a special afternoon service.
Thus ended a very enjoyable week's ringing, the success of which was largely due to the incumbents and tower captains who met us and helped in the arrangements: to them we extend a hearty vote of thanks. We are grateful to Winnie Keys, who managed to accommodate us all despite many difficulties, and Peter Bond, who arranged the superb programme of 75 towers. Part of our gratitude to him and Winnie Keys was shown by a small presentation. Now we look forward to next year's tour, when it is hoped to visit the Leicestershire area.

PEAL RINGING IN SHROPSHIRE

\author{
By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

LTHOUGH it cannot be said that there has been any great enthusiasm for peal ringing in Shropshire during the past 70 years (only nine towers have had more than 25 peals in that time), the county has a very ancient tradition for the art. Thus there is the record of a peal at Oswestry as early as 1731, and St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, and Shifnal were well known change ringing towers in the 18 th century. One of the most famous ringers of that time was Samuel Lawrence, of Shifnal, also reputed to be the second heaviest man in England, apparently weighing more than 32 stones! Mr. Ernest Morris gives more details in his 'History and Art of Change Ringing. So Shropshire has no mean history as far as the Exercise is concerned.
In the past 75 years, since 'Bell News' commenced publication, the number of peals rung in the county has not been large compared with most other counties, for only 843 have been recorded in that time. Only one tower has reached the century mark-Coalbrookdale with 102 . It is one of the two 10 -bell towers now, although it had eight bells until 30 years ago. 1 find that it is one of the very few towers which had a peal or peals each year of the first world war (I think it is the third I have come across), and peals are spread fairly regularly over the whole period, with a slightly better average since it had ten bells than betore. Thus 41 peals were rung from 1890 to 1924 (the 1890 peal says first since 1849), then, after augmentation, 31 from 1926 to 1940, with 30 since 1943. The other 10 -bell tower is St. Mary's, Shrewsbury. There have been only three peals there in the period-in 1913, 1952 and 1953, although I have 'collected 'ten peals prior to 1880, the earliest in 1776 .
St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, is the only 12 -bell tower. Its name appears every year or two in the peal columns. Thirty-four have been rung there since 1881-11 prior to 1914, ten from 1917 to 1926, then a silence to 1945, after which we find 13 peals, so it is doing better now

\section*{EIGHT-BELL TOWERS}

Having mentioned the towers with higher numbers of bells, we come now to those with eight bells. Market Drayton has had most peals in this category, its 77 peals being spread lairly evenly through the years from 1893. Then comes Shifnal, already mentioned above. There are 56 peals here. but only two (last year) since the war. There were 18 from 1897 to 1914 and 36 from 1916 to 1939 (this tower only missed one year in the 1914 war). Only three towers have had more than 50 peals. Fourth comes St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, with 40. Thirty-two of these came from 1887 to 1914 and the remaining eight from 1925 to 1938. so it will soon have been silent for 20 years. St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, is actually fifth on the list for peals, and is followed by a 6 -bell tower, Stokesay, with 32. The first was rung in 1908, then came 21 from 1920 to 1939. and there were ten from 1944 to 1952 (none since).

A crop of 8 -bell towers follows again. Hodnet has 28. As a 6 -bell tower, seven peals were rung in the 30 's and five immediately after the war. There have been 16 since augmentation in 1947 -except for Market Drayton, the highest number for the post-war period of iny 8 -bell tower. Oswestry has 27 , commencing in 1885 and appearing every two or three years in the peal lists. Five nave been rung since the war. the last in 1951. Church Stretton had six from 1891 to 1915 , 11 from 1928 to 1938 and eight since 1947-sotal 25. Ludlow's 24 include nine prior to 1914, one in 1917, 12 from 1920 to 1935 and two in 1947 and 1948. Condover, Wem and Whitchureh all have 21.

All started towards the end of the last century, but they had most peals rung at different times. At Condover, the beit time was just before 1915, when nine peals were rung fiom 1909. At Wem, the emphasis is on the present period, for 11 have come since 1946 . Whitchurch has not been heard since the war and appeared most often in the peal lists between the wars12 times from 1924 to 1939. The only 8 -bell tower in Dove's book which has not had a peal since 1881 is Shrewsbury, Holy Cross Abbey. I have come across old peals here, but I gather the bells are no longer hung for ringing, unfortunately. Several towers have not been heard since the last war, and twoHigh Ercall and Shrewsbury, St. Alkmundnot since the first war. The only peal at the former was in 1910 and the last at the latter in 1913.

TWELVE SIX-BELL TOWERS UNCONQUERED
As for 6 -bell towers, 12 of the 51 are still unconquered. Stokesay (above) has had twice as many peals as any other such tower, for Malins Lee, with 16 peals, comes next to it. Four of these were rung between 1908 and 1914, ten between the wars and two (in 1944 and 1953) since the last war. Cound has \(14-\) nine since the war and all since 1925: Shrewsbury, St. Michael 13-the first in 1913 and eight since 1947; Brompton and Stanton-onHine Heath 12 -in each case seven between the wars and the first just before 1914: Clive 11 -six since 1946 and the first in 1915; and Moreton Corbet and Stoke-on-Tern 10 eachmostly since 1946.
Only three of the 11 possible 5 -bell towers have had a peal so far. They are Leaton (one in 1922): Little Wenlock (two, in 1932 and 1949) and Willey (three, in 1931 and 1951 (2) ). Burford, in Dove's list, is now. apparently, a chime and is not included, and Stottesdon, amongst the sixes, is really a four.
So much, then, for Shropshire. Peal totals include all published to July 22 nd.

\section*{RYE RINGERS' CYCLING OUTING}

On July 9th the Rye ringers set out after lunch for an afternoon's ringing on the SussexKent borders. Seven of the ringers travelled on cvcles and two on motor-cycles. The first tower visited was Bodiam (5), a charming little church in one of the hop-growing villages. The idea was that those on motor-cycles should raise the bells for the others, but somehow thev missed the turning and the cyclists arrived first. At Bodiam we were joined by John Cooper. of Ashford, an addition to our motorcvelists.
At Hawkhurst (8), where we were met by Mr . Gcorge Billenness (who was formerly a Rye ringer) we were also ioined by Miss Ruth How. of Epsom (another ex-Rye ringer). Owing to bomb damage this church is just a shell and onlv the tower is intact; however. the bells go well and the ringing was quite reasonable.

The next tower was Benenden (8), where Mr. Brown met up and joined in the ringing.
Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor. Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman Trioles and rounds for the learbers, who acquitted themselves very well on the strange bells. \(\qquad\)
WHSTMINSTER, S.W.-At the Church of St. Margaret. on Aug. 21st. 1,263 Stedman Caters: W. T. Grice 1, H. Belcher 2, J. Chapman 3, W. R. Manser 4, W. H. Hewett 5. L. Head (cond.) \({ }^{6}\). R. Sanders 7, A. B. Peck 8. honour of Princess Margaret's 25th birthday.

\section*{OUTINGS}

\section*{MANCHESTER CATHEDRAL}

The Chester and North Wales district was planned by Manchester Cathedral ringers for their annual outing on August 13th. A 41 seater coach, regularly used by Manchester City F.C. for their away matches, provided excellent accommodation for the 38 ringers and friends.
Chester Cathedral was reached at 10.15 a .m., where Mr. Griffiths met the visitors. The Cathedral bells provided plenty of hard graft and even Mr. Percy Cave, of Liverpool, had a tough time when he turned the tenor in to a course of Cambridge Major. Cambridge Major and Kent Treble Bob Royal were the only methods to be brought round; Grandsire and Stedman Caters would not go.
The top road through Mold was taken to Rhyl, where an excellent lunch was had at the Queen's Hotel. Afterwards Mr. Jack Evans, the tower captain, made the party very much at home and the bells of the Parish Church were rung to standard methods, a touch of Stedman Triples being worthy of note. Holy Trinity, Llandudno, was the last tower. All the bells except the treble were up on arrival, and ringing lucluded Grandsire, Little Bob, Stedman and Oxford Treble Bob. After tea at the Crescent Hotel the homeward journey was started at 7 p.m.
Ringing was not of a very high standard due to a very mixed band, but the day was thoroughly enjoyed and thanks are accorded through ' The Ringing World' to the Dean of Chester and the two vicars and ringers who met the party for their hospitality.

\section*{WISTASTON, CHESHIRE}

Albert Crawley, although now living at Barrow-in-Furness, came over for Wistaston's outing, which included in the 30 , ten or a dozen B.Y.P.S and one or two 'N.S.B.s': they are a grand lot of up-and-coming ringers of both sexes that any guild would be proud of.
Pat Cmnon in his report of the Oxfordshire tour mentioned that there were as many again five and six-bell towers as those with higher numbers. We chose four out of five 6 -bell towers in Shropshire, and were thus able to get a ' more complete picture of ringing conditions.
Our first call was at lghtfield: some rounds for the less experienced N.S.B.s; P.B. Doubles. Grandsire, and P.B. Minor, and Cambridgefull justice being done.
Calverhall on the 'Lonsdale' estate was another squat tower with stair-turret at the top of the tower stairs. Six methods were rung. including Stedman. Our next tower was Stoke-on-Tern, yet another stair-turreted tower. Then. time pressing and stomachs calling, away we went to Newport for tea.
Refreshed and regaled ready for the second half. off we went to Chetwynd, a lovely modern church and a good six, but the 'circle' was more of a rhomboid: a parallelogram, the adjoining sides of which are not equal and which contains no right angle.' Here we had the first touch of P.B. Minor and April Day for Stedman. A three-quarters of an hour's run led to Broughton, over the Staffordshire border, and, like the parable of the wedding feast at Cana, we certainly left the best wine till the last. Broughton, the most squat tower ever seen, contained a magnificent cight, tricky on account of the very short draught. Full justice was not done to the bells until the last touch of P.B. Major, and a very good fall.
After a drop of liquid refreshment at Market Drayton, Wistaston and Crewe were reached well before midnight.
We were met at every tower, for which we gratefully thank the ringers, also the clergy for the use of their bells: our coach driver and his assistant pilot, who was having a real 'busman's holiday: and, last but not least, the organiser. Derrek.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. CLEMENT JOHN MORE}

With regret we report the death at Ipswich Hospital on August 28th of Mr. Clement John More, of Palgrave, Suffolk, aged 78 years.
- Clem ' was Ringing Master at Diss and Palgrave for many years and was well known in ringing circles throughout Norfolk and Suffolk. His peal total was 153, of which he conducted several. Of his peals, 151 were rung for the Norwich Association and two for the Suffolk Guild. He was also a well-known handbell ringer.

Clem' last rang at Diss on Easter Sunday morning this year, and a week later was taken ill with a stroke. For the last few weeks he had been living with his daughter at Ipswich.
The funeral service took place at Palgrave Church on September 1st. Handbells were rung over the grave by H. Moss 1-2, W. Elsey 3-4, Whiting 9-10. Miss Betty Syrett and Mr. Tom C. Ford were also present.

In the evening half-muffled touches were rung on the bells of Palgrave Parish Church by members of the Norwich Association and Sutfolk Guild.

A half-muffled peal was rung at Diss Parish Church on September 3rd. Among the many floral tributes was one from the Diss and Palgrave ringers. So passes the last of the old company of Diss ringers; he will be sadly missed by all who knew him.

\section*{St. Mary's, Portsea, Outing}

The annual outing of local ringers, accompanied by friends, was held on August 27th. Leaving H.Q. at 7 a.m. a very pleasant run was made through Romsey, Salisbury and Amesbury to Devizes, where two of the local ringers of St. John's met the visitors. Here Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise were rung on a fine ring of eight. After lunch at Cirencester a visit was paid to nearby Watermoor, where a melodious ring of eight was soon going to Stedman Triples. Bob Maior, London and Superlative.
At Faringdon (Berks) the Vicar and local captain welcomed the visitors, and this fine ring of eight was soon set going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Yorkshire and Bristol Surprise Major, much to the delight of the local ringers. After tea at a nearby hotel a move was made to the last tower of the day, Newbury, with its fine ring of ten. The party were met by Messrs. Curtis and Rex, and the ringing included Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Plain Bob Royal. The return journey was made via Whitchurch and Winchester, after all had agreed on having an enjoyable and successful day. Thanks are due to all the local ringers who met the visitors and helped to contribute to the day's enjoyment. F. W. R.

\section*{Wedding Bells at Knebworth}

Those who have visited the Parish Church at Old Knebworth, Herts, nestling picturesquely amonast the trees in the park of Knebworth House, will know what a charming spot this can be for a wedding on a summer's day. Such was the setting on August 27th when a member of the local band of ringers. Miss Elizabeth ('Georgie') Robinson was married to Mr. Alun Roberts. The bride, who learned to rine ar Knebworth received a bedside lamp as a wedding gift from her ringing friends.
The service was fully choral and the ceremony was performed by the bride's father. the Rev. I. H. Robinson. The local ringers rang the bride and bridegroom from the church. and after attending a reception, an invilation which was much appreciated and enjoyed, rang a quarter deal of Grandsire Doubles in honour of the occasion. the start of which Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were able to hear as they drove away on their honeymoon.

MICHAELMAS

THE festival of St. Michael and All Angels, or Michaelmas, falling as it does on September 29th, each year tends so often to become overshadowed by Harvest Festival, and as this can only be a matter of regret, it is well for us to pause and think just what it really means.

For many, this great church festival is merely a quarter day associated solely with financial joys and sorrows. To what then should our thoughts turn at this time?-Obviously to the angels.

A great many people have little real idea as to what the angels are. They think of them as seen portrayed in Nativity plays or in poor stained-glass windows or even poorer so-called religious art. All these may be said to be as near a guarantee of misrepresentation as possible. Both in Hebrew and in Greek the word translated ' angel ' means ' messenger.' It is not certain at what point in their long history the Jews first began to believe in the existence of angels, but. as time went on, they clarified their faith about them. The angels, they believed, were of two kinds, good and evil, the latter, led by Satan, being devils who had used their gift of free-will to oppose the commands of God. The former, led by St. Michael, were the messengers used by God to help fulfil His purposes for mankind. Angels then, we can say, are the highest beings in the scale of creation and the usual belief is that they are spirits without bodies of any kind. But this spiritual nature does not mean that they can be present everywhere or know everything. Frequent reference to the angels is made throughout the Old Testament and yet that is not the main reason for our belief in their existence.

Our principal reason for believing in the existence of the angels is the teaching of our Lord Jesus Christ, who frequently spoke of both good and evil angels and He deliberately and habitually talked of the angels and warned His disciples against the devil. We cannot reject belief in the angels and devils without rejecting our Lord's authority. At the time of the Incarnation, one of the great controversies which divided the Pharisees from the Sadducees was concerning the existence of angels. Our Lord put the seal of His approval on the teaching of the Pharisees who believed in them, and it is not possible to cut out the references to the angels in the New Testament without seriously damaging the record. An angel announced the coming Incarnation; angels proclaimed the Holy Nativity; angels ministered to our Lord after the temptations in the wilderness; an angel strengthened Him in the Garden of Gethsemane; others appeared at His empty tomb and after the Ascension. In His teaching our Lord said that the angels of little children have direct access to God the Father on behalf of their charges. In the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, He said: ' The beggar died and was carried away by the angels into Abraham's bosom.' He said that the angels rejoice over repentant sinners and that, when He comes to judge the world, He will be accompanied by angels who will execute His judgment.

The other books of the New Testament contain equally frequent references to the angels. In the book of the Revelation of St. John the Divine, an angel is described as adding incense to the prayers of the saints which go up before God. In the Acts of the Apostles it is recorded that St. Peter was delivered from prison through the instrumentality of an angel. The chief work of the angels is to be the messengers of God and to guard His children, and for this purpose guardian angels are assigned to individuals. Our Lord gives as the reason for not despising little children 'that in heaven their angels do always behold the face of My Father which is in heaven,' and the usual belief of the Church, at any rate in Western Christendom, has always been that a guardian angel is given to each human being and not only to the baptised.
Is all this too much for us to believe? Do we condemn it as too old-fashioned or childish? If so then we would do well to pause and think of some of the things which we accept without question: the discoveries of modern science, the splitting of the atom, the jet-propelled aeroplane, the supersonic bang and so forth, to say nothing of wireless and television, all things about which we read almost daily in our newspapers and which we accept as a matter of course. These should make it less rather than more difficult for us to believe in angels which, though we cannot see, we can be sure are ever near us.
Surely then, as we ring at Michaelmas, we can let our thoughts turn to St. Michael and his heavenly host and ring, in thanksgiving, not only for the harvest, if that festival is being kept at the time in our parish church, but let us ring also in thanksgiving to Almighty God for His messengers who are our guardians.

Finally, as a matter of interest, readers may care to know that there are at least some 687 churches in England dedicated to St. Michael or to St. Michael and All Angels and at least one dedicated to the Holy Angels. From the time of Charlemagne (about 800 A.D.) it was the custom to baptise church bells and to give them Christian names in the same manner as human beings; this is definitely stated on some ancient bells. There are some 110 English church bells dedicated to St. Michael, and we hope that they with many others will ring out their joyful message at Michaelmas.

FOUR GUILDS FESTIVAL

This year it was the Farnham District's turn to be hosts for the Four Guilds Festival (Southern area, Ladies' Guild, Basingstoke Branch, Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, Sonning Deanery Branch, Oxford Guild, and Farnham District, Guildford Guild), and 117 ringers representing 35 towers attended the service and tea at Farnham.
During the afternoon the towers of Crondall, Bentley, Aldershot, Farnborough, Frensham and Farnham were open to visitors, and in all these towers the bells were kept : well supplied ' with ringers so that not much time was wasted. By 4.30 p.m. all the ringers had converged on Farnham to take part in the ringers' service, which was conducted by the Rector of Farnham, the Rev. H. R. Wilds. Mr. F. Anthony was at the organ.
After the service an excellent buffet tea was served in the Church House. Mr. W. Shepherd, on behalf of all present, thanked the Farnham District for their hospitality and especially the Rector for conducting the service, Mr. G. S. Joyce, district secretary, for making all arrangements, and Mr. C. W. Denyer, captain of the Farnham tower, who organised the tea.
Tea over, the ringers made themselves into parties to visit the various towers that were open for the evening-Ash, Seale, Puttenham, Pirbright, Worplesdon and Stoke. During the evening the number of ringers greatly increased so that towers represented must have overtopped the fifty mark. The ringers included one lady from Melbourne, Australia. Perhaps some people were a little disappointed that Famham tower was not open during the evening, and others that they could not find Stoke. But on the whole the day was a great success, and we look forward to next year's Four Guilds Festival, when so many ringers are able to meet together to share their art.

GOSSIP

 During the visit of Mr. S. G. Osborne to Durban, S.A., a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on the bells of St. Mary's, Greyville (tenor 18 cwt .). The band consisted of two ringers from St. Paul's, Durban, and the others were from St. Mary's. Both bands are making good progress under the leadership of Mr. W. A. Gardner (St. Paul's) and Mr. Cyril Chambers (St. Mary's), and they send fraternal greetings to all ringers at home. This was the first quarter on the bells since 1929.Mr. H. George, secretary of the Dover ringers, informs us that the incumbent of South Cerney is not the only clergyman in the Church of England with an engineering degree (see University of Bristol Tour, September 2nd). The Rev. A. S. Cooper, Vicar of St. Mary's, Dover, a good friend to ringers, is B.Sc. (Engineering).

Seventeen-year-old Stephen Ivin, of Houghton Conquest, Beds, not content with turning in the 29 cwt . tenor of St. Paul's, Bedford, to a quarter of Bob Major-which he conducted, composing it on the spot-attempted to call a peal of Grandsire Caters from the tenor to his own intricate composition on September 12th, but after over two hours of excellent striking a most unfortunate swap caused a halt.
The father and godfathers of Christopher Hugh King met at Bramerton, Norwich, on September 4 th, the first time for some years. Recalling training college days at Chelsea, an attempt for Bob Minor in hand was made by E. T. Chapman $1-2, \mathbf{J}$. King $3-4, \mathbf{K}$. L. Brown (cond.) $5-6$, after the christening party. The attempt unfortunately came to grief. Later it was overheard that perhaps the bottle should not have been emptied before ringing.

North and Midland Tourists in Somerset and Wiltshire

TTHE annual ringing week of the contingent place this year in the South-West with Bath as headquarters.

Probably the first to 'pull off' was L. W. G., piloting the Prefect placed at our disposal by the firmamental explorer, at about 1 p.m. on Friday, August 26th. The night was spent at Cheltenham, where we were Fleeced (though not unduly, being joined by the contingent from Macclesfield, who had travelled through without stopping to 'open their leads,' or so they said.

With the exception of Wilfred, all were present at lunch at Bath, and the three cars took the road to Evercreech, where the first attempt was scheduled. Nothing needs to be said about these lovely bells: they have been heard by probably millions and they are just as lovely outside the church as over the air. Cambridge Royal was successfully brought round in 3 hours 7 minutes.

Sunday morning found the party discussing at breakfast the venue for Sunday morning ringing. Midsomer Norton was chosen as the venue, principally because Joe would be there, and he was there to welcome us and place the bells at our disposal. Bristol and Stedman were accomplished in stately style as befitted this lovely mellow ring, recently put in good order. A quick run brought us to Chilcompton, where the local band were ringing in good style; they immediately invited us to ring, and Oxford and London Minor were successfully brought round. A suggestion that we should journey to Downside Abbey to hear the bourdon was to Downside Abbey to hear the bourdon was agreed to and all enjoyed the tour of the grounds. The triple hammer blows failed to bring out the full glory of this bell at noon.

The afternoon found us at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, where the Croydon eight were set going to Bristol, which was brought round in 2 hours 45 minutes, Jack calling his favourite Hattersley's three-part. It has been said that if he were awakened early in the morning he could instantly repeat the calling of this composition, though the writer hastens to add that he has not tried this and cannot vouch for its accuracy.

FAILURE AT WELLS

Monday morning found us at Wells. The west front of the Cathedral was much admired, though argument ensued as to its excellence compared with Lichfield. At 11.30 the bells were sent into changes by Wilfred to the tune of Cambridge Royal, and all went well until some two hours and a quarter when by previous agreement one of the listeners entered the tower to see that all was well. This distracted the attention of one or two and a muddle ensued which put a blot on the attempt and 'Stand, was called. However, like Lord Howard, we "live to.... The afternoon found us at of Yorkshire, ringing the tenor in fine style.

On Tuesday we went to Wootton Bassett. where the writer was delighted to renew acquaintance with L. A. Wilson, who has laboured here for 50 years. The fine ringing room is a remarkable tribute to his pertinacity in having this built. Pudsey was the order of the day here and that giant of the Exercise. P. B., called his first on the tour, bringing us safely home in 2 hours and 53 minutes.

London was attempted at Holy Trinity, Bradford-on-Avon, in the afternoon, but the "go' of the bells was rather too heavy for a touring party, and after some 800 changes it was thought wiser to call the bells round. These bells are pealable for a Saturday afternoon band, but for a party already tired they are not the ideal job.

Wednesday morning found us on an casy run to Westbury to sample the very fine ring there. so aptly termed one of the gems of the West. Ralph had many months previously put his name on the tenor, and when he has a big bell to ring he likes it to go well and he will make a big job of it. To listen to the ringing was a joy. Jack was at the helm again and duly called the bobs for Bristol to be brought round in 3 hours and 41 minutes.

After lunch at the Roundstone Hotel in Trowbridge we found our way to St. James'; for one of the party at least this tower opens the floodgates of memory. There was no Sam Hector to greet us, of whom there are many pleasant memories. Mr. Gilbert Harding met us and he had everything in readiness for us to attempt Yorkshire Maximus, and after 3 hours and 34 minutes Leslie had the gratification of saying "That's all' to the first of Maximus in the method in the county and by the Guild. It was Roger Fry's first also, he having been brought in at the last moment owing to our 'Flying Star' having been called back to business very suddenly.
Thursday morning found us en route for Castle Cary. Mr. Creed met us and soon the bells were going to Cambridge, which was accomplished without any trouble. Sauntering away from the church we found ourselves 'held up 'by the Squire of Dimmer Farm, who demanded our attention. By some conjuring trick he produced two bottles containing a liquid which certainly gladdens the heart of man. (It is hoped that Dimmer will not be raided by a band of roaming ringers-they might be 'laid out ' by this very palatable liquid.)

TENOR CLAPPER BROKEN

Sherborne Minster was our next objective and we climbed the steps to the bells guided by Mr. W. P. Lambert to find there are ten bells in the tower, eight of which are hung for ringing. After raising the bells and adjusting the ropes, we rolled off into London with a very steady beat and excellent timing by all the band. After 3 hours and 10 minutes, with about five courses to go. a thump was heard and the tenor ceased to speak; a broken clapper had ended our efforts. This was a great disappointment to all the band, but the bells are still there and there are other days in store.

Melksham was our venue for Friday morning and Peter made a quiet job of calling Lincolnshire. Ralph turned in his third tenor of the week in the comfortable time of 3 hours and 7 minutes.
At Warminster we found Mr. Mallard waiting to take us to the tower. With the exception of the 6th, the bells were up and soon we were off to London, John Worth making his third attempt of the week, and this time a successful one, to call a peal in this method. It was noted that our tenorman would now and again glance at a peal board on the wall and then at the clock: evidently he had an idea, and when 'That's all' was called after 3 hours 13 minutes, it was revealed he had failed in his idea by one minute.

This proved to be our last peal of the week. our final attempt being at Cheltenham on Saturday at 1 p.m., but Cambridge Maximus would not go: perhaps we were satisfied, but Sidney Holt called for us a pleasant touch of Stedman Cinques just to show there was still a little ringing left in us.
Judging by the correspondence prior to the tour, it would appear that this corner of England is rather overdone with tours, and it is a pity it couldn't be given a rest, but who would want to stop away from such delightful country, such pleasant people and those amazing rings of bells?

It was pleasant to find that kinship of spirit so prevalent amongst ringers: even where a refusal was given it was always, But you can have our bells for an hour,' and it is this 'open hand principle which encourages the young and enervates the old, making ringing a life unto itself.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Wedding Presentation to Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow

Saturday, September 10th, was the day chosen for the Association's wedding presentation to the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. To mark the occasion a general ringing meeting was held in Norwich, which was attended by representatives of 27 towers and visitors from London, Surrey and elsewhere. The bells of Mancroft, St. Giles', St. Michael's-at-Coslany and St. George's were rung to a varicty of methods to suit all tastes.

At a committee meeting held during the afternoon grants were authorised from the Belfry Repair Fund to Thetford for repairs to the 6th, and Gressenhall, where the augmentation from six to eight is taking place.

The service was held in St. George's, Colegate, conducted by the president, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston.

After tea, the president, on behalf of the Association, asked Mr. Thurlow to accept a - Heatrae ' kitchen water heater as a wedding gift with the good wishes of the subscribers and hoped Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow would have many years of happiness at their new home at St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth.

Replying, Mr. Thurlow said both he and his wife accepted this wedding gift with the utmost pleasure and they sincerely thanked the Association for their generosity. They were both looking forward to the day in the not too distant future when the new ring of 13 would be installed at St. Nicholas' and they would be able to use this water heater for making tea for all who had subscribed towards it.
Mr. Nolan Golden also spoke of the debt the Association owed to Mr. Thurlow, who stepped forward in those dark days of 1941 and kept the Association alive and gave the lead when ringing was resumed in 1945 .

Votes of thanks were passed to the incumbents of the churches where ringing had taken place during the day, also to the Rev. L. W. Palmer, Rector of St. George's, Colegate, for his permission to hold the service there and for the use of his Parish Room for the meeting and tea, and to the ladies of St. Clement's Church for providing a lovely tea.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Eckington was the tower visited for the district meeting on September 3rd. Although only about 25 people were present, 12 towers were represented. One ringer, who was visiting Eckington, had come from as far afield as Sussex.

Cups of tea were served in the Church Hall by one of the local ladies, and each ringer provided his or her own food.
At the short business meeting three apologies for absence were received and two new members were elected. Methods rung ranged from London and Cambridge Surprise to rounds and call-changes.
The next meeting will be held jointly with the Derbyshire Association at Chesterfield on October 1st.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Ashton Keynes on September 10th with a rather poor attendance. Ringing on the five bells was followed by tea, after which the party moved to Cricklade, another five. Here they joined in evensong and the business meeting was held, at which three new members were elected. It was proposed that meetings be held at Purton, Wanborough and Swindon during the quarter ensuing. One visitor from Cheltenham attended and various Doubles methods were rung.

T
HE eleventh annual ringing week of the Universities Association was based this year on Rugby, with headquarters at William Temple College, in the shadow of Rugby Parish Church. Memory returns to the first U.A. tour at Worcester, with war-time rations, sleeping in dormitories of a boys' school and traveling by bicycle. Then ringing was rounds and Grandsire. At Rugby the chief teaching methods were Double Norwich and Plain Bob and only one touch of Grandsire Triples was rung. Surprise was the chief order of the day and various Triples methods were rung to provide variety.

The majority of the party arrived at Rugby on the Friday evening and were welcomed by Brian Threlfall, who with the help of Ron Pocklington had arranged the tour. The evening was spent ringing at Rugby Parish Church and in making and renewing friendships.

Saturday morning saw the beginning of the week with ringing at Claybrooke (8), Monks Kirby and Church Lawford, where later in the week Wilfrid Moreton conducted a peal of Minor in 41 methods. During the afternoon 18 members went off on peal attempts (Superlative was successful at Bulkington but a miscall lost Grandsire Caters at Chilvers Coton), while the other 14 visited Gilmorton and Welford and were able to give the beginners plenty of opportunity for advancement. After tea the 'non-pealers,' joined by local ringers, rang at Dunchurch, and later came handbell ringing at the Bull, the unofficial headquarters.

Various towers in and around Rugby were visited on Sunday morning, those visiting Allesley being welcomed by Mr. Frank Perrens and spending, after ringing, a pleasant hour at his home. In the afternoon the committee met and elected Mr. Wilfred Robinson as assistant secretary, Brian Threlfall having to return home to look after Frances and Mary Ruth. Unfortunately Brian was involved in a train crash that day but was unhurt. Ringing for evening service took place in various towers.

A SHIVERING CONDUCTOR?

Two peals were attempted on Monday-that at Heselbech being successful, but Stedman Triples at Welford was lost, a reason for the failing being that the conductor, wearing the traditional costume of the U.A. (shirt and shorts), was shivering so much with cold that he shook in an extra dodge and missed a call. For the others there was ringing at four towers -Guilsborough, Naseby, Market Harborough and Deshorough. It was during this morning that the only major breakdown among the cars occurred. the Baby Austin having trouble with an oil feed. At Desborough Michael Slaney and Gus Edge. travelling in the "Flying Saucer," joined the party. (It was said that at several points, notably bridges, they succeeded in flying!) 'Enigma' was rung for the first time at Rothwell, and as bellhangers were working on Kettering bells a visit was paid to Burton Latimer, where 'York's Victory' was achieved. After tea at Kettering the heavy six at Harlestone were difficult for some of the party. There was more ringing after supper with a handbell attempt, others visiting Bilton and Newbold-on-A von.
Tuesday was the most eventful day. The Saxon church at Tredington, built as a fortress against the Danes, has a pleasant six, and then came Stratford-on-Avon, where a very good course of Cambridge Royal was rung. The majority of the party had their lunch at Snitterfield but one carload went on to Warwick, where they placed their clerical passenger, armed with a pint of beer and a sandwich, at the hotel entrance, as being the most obvious person to attract the attention of other wayfarers.

At St. Mary's, Warwick, the musical possibilities of Spliced Grandsire and Little Grandsire were discovered and others ventured on Erin Caters and Little Bob Royal. Yorkshire and Cambridge Royal were also enjoyed and the heavy bell men found metal worthy of their skill. Ringing was confined to three-quarters of an hour at Leamington Parish Church and after tea the tall brick tower of St. Peter's (R.C.) was climbed. Here the majority were content to have one short ring and then go below to watch the tower sway. It was at the end of our time that one of the local ringers had the misfortune to damage a stay and break his wrist. Lillington was also visited. Rodney Meadows joined the party at supper and at the general meeting which followed, Southampton was selected for the next tour if pos-sible-if not, Suffolk. Members of the newlyformed Reading University Society were elected to membership along with other names put forward.

A SAXON TOWER

Wednesday commenced with Corporate Communion, celebrated in the College Chapel. After breakfast we said goodbye to Ruth How. Daventry, Weedon Bec and Earls Barton were visited. The Saxon tower at Earls Barton has no spiral staircase. At one time access was by means of an outside ladder. To-day one climbs a ladder of considerable height, the sides of which must have been cut from one tree, for there appears to be no join in them.
A variety of methods, both Caters and Royal, was rung at St. Giles', Northartipton, and later ringing took place at All Saints'. We were given a warm welcome at both churches. Our late return to supper did not deter four handbell enthusiasts from attempting a peal of St. Clement's Major. This unfortunately failed as had the two previous attempts. Meanwhile the majority rang at Long Buckby while three others went to see the derelict ring at Cottesbrook.

Thursday and Friday took us into the more industrial areas of Leicestershire and Warwickshire, although at no time did we ring within a city. On Thursday we rang at Stoney Stanton and at South Wigston, where the failure of a course of Yorkshire was attributed to the chief culprit being dazzled by a certain pair of braces. Mr. Carter welcomed us at South Wigston and Mr. E. W. Tipler at Lutterworth. After tea the band who were to attempt 41 Minor methods left us while the rest of the party went to St. Leonard's, Misterton, a church set attractively in a park. The weekly practice of the young and enthusiastic band at Clifton-on-Dunsmore was attended after supper, and later five-bell enthusiasts were able to satisfy their craving for Doubles methods at St. Andrew's, Rugby.
Two peal bands set out on Friday, one for Bristol at Monks Kirby and the other for New Cambridge at Claybrooke. The former was successful after three ropes had been spliced, but the latter came round too soon owing to a miscall. For non-pealers there were visits to Burbage (where that day's 'Ringing World' had been put out for us to read, a much appreciated gesture), Earl Shilton and Barwell. The peal bands rejoincd the party at Hinckley, one of the best rings of eight in Lcicestershire. At Chilvers Coton, Mr. Beamish not only told us about the bells but the restoration of the church by German prisoners of war
After supper the social evening was held, with York as M.C. The varied programme included courses of Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters and we also 'walked' a course of Stedman Cinques. Ranald Clouston gave some reminiscences of his visits to Holland and to towers in this country, and the president recalled stories of his early years. The evening ended with a quiz game, "Any Ringing Questions?' and the president's comprehensive vote of thanks to ringers and clergy of towers visited, the secretary and Ron Pocklington and the staff of William Temple College.

On Saturday morning one peal attempt was cancelled as there were not sufficient ringers to make two bands.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Although not reported by the B.B.C. or ingood wishes for the success of the meeting.
the national Press, it can now be announced that there was a flare up of the Scottish border invasions on August 20th, when a lightning 'raid, was made by a small party of Scots (no Picts!) on the village of Bamburgh on the coast of North Northumberland. After several centuries of Border peace, most of the defending Pele towers of this area have fallen into ruin and disuse, but it can be reported that a successful onslaught was made here on the local Peal tower. The occasion was the district meeting of the Northern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association, which was being held in this its most northerly tower for the first time in 20 years, and it was the happy duty of our members to welcome this 'ravaging and pillaging' of Mr. R.St. C. Wilson and his marauding party of ladies from Edinburgh.
After the rendezvous of the Newcastle coach and the Scottish chariot, good use was made of the bells of St. Aidan's Church from 3.30 p.m. An alfresco tea was taken on the sand dunes and later in church we attended evensong, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. Dennett, who welcomed the visit of the Association.

At the business meeting which followed. we were pleased to welcome Mr. Appleby, of nearby Belford, an honorary life member of the Association, and have him at our business meeting for the first time. Miss Jennie Armstrong, of Morpeth, sent apologies for absence and

Mr. K. Arthur and Mr. G. S. Deas were reelected as vice-president and hon. secretary respectively for $1955 / 56$, and a vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells was proposed by Mr. R. E. Hall, of Gosforth. Mrs. Ross and Misses Taylor and Capey, of Edinburgh, were elected life members of the Association-just to show these raiders that Border warfare is an expensive business! It was resolved to hold the next meeting at St. Paul's, Whitley Bay, on October 29th.

With a final 'flourish,' the skirmish ended at 8 p.m. and the captains and their hosts departed homeward north and south of the border. Although they more than held their own in this section, it might be mentioned that a retaliatory "raid" by the English is planned for next April, when a merciless onslaught will be made on the bells of Auld Reekie. K. A.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COMPLETING THE ALPHABET TO SURPRISE

Dear Sir,-Congratulations to the Birmingham band who recently rang Xanthus Surprise.
I also have followed these alphabetical aspirations through the shady regions of Jersey and Zetland, but our conductor and most of the band (with one notable exception) went on strike when it came to $X$-the name suggested being Xenia, that of an obscure American mining town.

Apparently Xanthus was a classical town in Apparently Xanthus was a classical town in Asia Minor, alternatively, a river near Troy. My Liddell and Scott tells me that the Greek form, Xanthos, is a proper name derived from an adjective meaning Golden (a strong ringing connection here!). It also has associations with the Homeric heroes and with fried fish!

Now that the Birmingham men have broken the X-barrier, we shall all be able to complete our alphabets without any feeling of responsibility for foisting such a horror on the Exercise; so may we, in future. be content with the J's, Q's, Z's, and now the X, that we have, and choose reasonable and, above all, British names for our new methods?-Yours faithfully,

Bushey Heath, Herts.

GOSBERTON & SIBSEY ALLIANCE

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Roland Beniston's letter, I am sure that he has made a mistake about the methods Gosberton and Sibsey Alliance. They are different methods to the two that his band rang as Copt Oak and Charnwood.

We did not name Gosberton and Sibsey. They were first rung at Algarkirk, Lincs, on December 4th, 1937, by Vernon Taylor and his band and they named these methods. The peal was in 80 methods and was the record at that time.

Copt Oak and Charnwood had not been rung until Mr. Beniston and his band rang them and they were quite right in naming them.-Yours sincerely,

GEORGE E. FEIRN.

Kirton Lindsey, Gainsborough.

SUSSEX RINGER THANKS BIRMINGHAM
Dear Sir,-I should like to use 'The Ringing World ' to express my thanks to the Birmingham ringers and especially to George Fearn for making the arrangements, which enabled me to ring my first peal of Maximus. My native county of Sussex does not possess a ring of twelve, so it meant a long journey to realise my ambition. This was well worth the effort, for with such illustrious company and a grand ring of bells, a really magnificent peal was scored-one I shall always be proud of.
I trust Mr. Shepherd and Mr. Cawser did not suffer any ill-effects from the drenching they received from the rainstorm, which blew in through the open window. Once again, Birmingham, many thanks, and I hope to make the journey again some day if you will let me.-Yours sincerely, Crowborough.

'AN EIGHT SYLLABLE ATROCITY,

Dear Sir,-If Dr. Johnson had been head of the B.B.C. Light Programme, Nomenclature Duplicated ' might well have figured in his Monday evening entertainment; but, with all respect, was this eight-syllable atrocity the only possible heading for a letter about methods with two names?-Yours faithfully,

MARGARET D. WOOLLEY.
Bushey Heath, Herts.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES
Dear Sir,-It was very interesting to read Mr. William Shepherd's commendation of Grandsire Triples as a vehicle for the conveyance of musical pleasure to the listener and as a vast field of entertainment for the conductor. The flexibility of the method is indeed remarkable, and its great range of touches, all capable of easy extension, together with its comparative ease of calling round, make it the ideal form of ringing for short Sunday service offerings.
For the dabbler in figures the musical positions 67, 74 and 46 will ofter fascinating practice 23567 in turning from one position to 234567 another, and to these may be added S $\overline{572634}$ This position is reached quite easily 567423 from rounds by a single at 1 and 546372 a call at 4. From the position -235746007654 the bells can be brought to 273654000567 using the opening calling. Much useful experimental work can also be had by securing 246 and 674 and the inverted forms 64,47 and 76 for muffled ringing. The ability to call the bells round at will provides a pleasure that amply repays the study involved. - Yours etc.,

Solihull.

P.S.-I fear that the 5 -part quarter peal given by Mr. William Shepherd is false, for P.B.B.S. will inevitably produce a repetition at the handstrokes in Grandsire Triples. This slip need not, of course, detract from the general value and soundness of the article.-E. C.S.

TREBLE BOB MINOR

Dear Sir,-Mr. H. Chant's article on the structure of Treble Bob Minor, amplifying as it does the Four-Way table, is a most interesting contribution, not least because of its revelation of the nature of large numbers of "irregular" methods, whose names are unfamiliar to younger ringers like myself.
The article unconsciously makes a point in favour of ringing regular methods, for it appears that the work of all the other methods listed can be rung above or below the treble, giving the necessary variety without the disadvantages to the conductor and sometimes, I should imagine, to the music, of the irregular lead-ends.
Two other points occur to me:-
(a) Is the method which is Merton below and Munden above the treble not called 'Tintern' in the Minor collection and not 'Marsden ' as given?
(b) Was the peal of 'Immanuel' rung at Wendens Ambo, Essex, really a peal of Rossendale Surprise? - Yours faithfully, Hitchin, Herts.

ST. MARY'S, WOOLWICH

Dear Sir,-There has been no ringing at St. Mary's, Woolwich. since the first Sunday after Trinity due to a broken ball-race on the tenor bell. Since then, all the bells have been overhauled and refitted and grease in the bearings renewed.

Ringing was resumed on September 11 th and the full tones of the bells were heard for the first time for many years.
Future ringing will be: Sundays, $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $5.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. : Mondays at $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. until 9 p.m.-Yours faithfully,
A. GROVE.

Abbey Wood, S.E. 2.
P.S. - National Service men are especially weicome.

OLDHAM CHURCH

Dear Sir,-I was pleased to see in the report of the progress of Pipe's Pilgrims that they had enjoyed their sojourn in the County Palatine. We hope it will not be long before we see some at least amongst us again. Nevertheless, I cannot allow 'Pilgrim's' remarks about Oldham Church to go unnoticed, for they have amazed, nay dismayed, us beyond measure.

In this respect, Pilgrim may not have known that it has been the aim of those whose experience of 'this beautiful twelve' is rather more intimate than our visitors to have what must be the worst twelve in Lancashire and probably in England reduced both in weight and number to proportions more commensurate with the somewhat inadequate tower. That these efforts have failed to convince the powers-that-be of the desirability of this move would appear from Pilgrim's report to have been met with mized feelings.

The church, Victorian Revivalist Gothic at its lowest ebb, has a tall slender tower in which twelve bells of indifferent tone are hung in three tiers; the tenor and two others at the bottom, five in the middle and four trebles at the top. The ropes thus differ vastly in length and fall into a small rectangular chamber in which the tenorman and the seventh ringer glower at one another from opposite ends, whilst the remainder stand in two almost straight lines facing one another between them, with the trebles especially shoulder to shoulder. In vain have 'ear trumpets' been added in an attempt to make the trebles audible. Pilgrim admits that the trebles go badly, but so also do the back bells, due, no doubt, to the twisting of the unusually tall frame. In short, the tower is too small for a ring of twelve, but even if that were not conceded the weight of tenor seems quite excessive when these facts are considered, and assume greater importance still when one takes into account the tower movement and the not too happy angle to the vertical at which this tower lies, as seen with some clarity from Greaves Street opposite the church.

For all these reasons we can but assume that Pilgrim is a master if irony so subtle that we were almost led to believe that he regarded this appalling ring with rapture. -Yours sincerely,
P. J. H. HUDSON.

Rochdale.

PEAL RINGING IN NORFOLK

Dear Sir,-I am grateful to Mr. Glenn for pointing out my error about Thrumpton. Yes, the tower should have been Ruddington, as he says. I congratulate him on being so quick in ringing the first peal there after the appearance of my article-but perhaps that was a coincidence!
I must also apologise for an omission in my article about peals in Norfolk. Mr. Charles Sedgley has kindly pointed it out to me. It is that there is no mention of the bells of Great Yarmouth (I trust my friend, the new Vicar, will forgive me!). The reason for this lapse is that the bells were 'blitzed,' and when I wrote out the list of towers in preparing the article, I forgot to add it to the existing rings. I am so sorry. Here are the details about the peals rung there. It was a 12 -bell tower, of course, being one of the two in the county. I have recorded 88 peals there since 1881 , so the total is respectable even though several towers in Norfolk have had more. There were 30 from 1888 to 1914 and the remaining 58 from 1919 to $1939-$ 39 of them in the 1930's when peal ringing seems to have been at its highest peak there.

I hope it won't be too long before we have the pleasure of reading that the first peal on the new bells has been rung.-Yours faithfully,
K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

RINGING IN AUSTRALIA

By P. M. J. GRAY

QINCE 1951 my wife and I have been fortunate enough to live in Australia and get to know something of that country and its people. We have been especially fortunate in being able to take part in quite a lot of ringing there and I believe that English ringers might like to know something further about how the Exercise is faring 12,000 miles away. Pechaps first a few general remarks about the country would help to set the background.

Australia is a very large country. Its northern shores are well inside the tropics while in the south the climate is not dissimilar to our own. From east to west it as far as from here to the North American coast. Distances between the main centres, too, are great. From Melbourne (where we lived) to Hobart is 330 miles; Adclaide 450 miles; Sydney 560 miles; Brisbane 1,100 miles; and Perth about 2,500 miles. Recent improvements in transport, particularly air travel, have done much to cancel out these distances, but the time and cost involved still put a considerable handicap on contacts between the centres. Most of the country is dry, bare and very sparsely populated and nearly everybody lives around the southern and eastern seaboard, where all the large cities, except Perth, are situated. These cities are all large and Sydney and Melbourne are as big as Birmingham and Manchester, and life in them is not greatly different from cities anywhere.

Since the war Australia has experienced an uninterrupted boom and the country has exnanded and altered greatly. Migration has added about a million to the population in this time but the country is still underpopulated. Many of these migrants have come from Continental countries and a very wide variety of languages can be heard all over Australia now. Hitherto the people have been almost exclusively of British stock, but as the European migrants are assimilated considerable changes in the Australian way of life are taking place The standard of living in Australia is at present high and everyone is earning good money. By law no adult male employee may earn less than about $£ 1110$ s. a week and most unskilled and semi-skilled workers receive about $£ 15$ a week. Skilled workers are at a great premium and may carn $£ 25$ to $£ 30$ a week. Conditions are also favourable for the small business man and they rarely fail to prosper

As the climate is generally warmer and drier than that in Britain, Australians can spend more of their time out of doors and are, as is well known. great lovers of sports. The main distractions, if one can call them that, then are of this nature. Television, by contrast, has not yet arrived there.

PROGRESS IN LAST TEN YEARS

How then does ringing prosper against this backdrop of great distances, warm climate, outdoor life and generally high material prosperity? The short answer is, pretty well. Ringing is one of the most English of all activities and it is not surprising that it has taken a long time to take root in a foreign soil and become something that is just as much Australian as English. This has only really happened in the last ten years or so and the process is yet incomplete. Until recently many of the ringers in Australia were expatriate Englishmen and the impetus came largely from them. English ringers are now in a big minority and the leaders are almost all Australians. I personally consider this to be the best possible augury for the future.

Australian ringers differ little from their counterdarts in this country: some are terrific ally enthusiastic. others less so, but they are for the most part the people upon whom every Sunday service band depends. Due to the comparatively recent renaissance of ringing there the average of the ringers is low. It is, however, much more difficult for them to become proficient in the art principally because of the great distances which separate the towers. There are very few Saturday afternoon meetings, ringing tours or peal attempts which can helo them to improve their skill. For the most part they ring Sunday after Sunday and practice night after practice night with the same band on the same bells. Each band is thus thrown back very much on its own resources, but this has the advantage of making everyone's loyalties to his own tower very strong. Nevertheless the standard of Sunday servicc ringing is quite good and at times very good. Furthermore. scarcely any of the towers with ringable bells have not got their own Sunday service bands. and of this example, I think, we in this country might well take especial note.

TRAINING PROBLEMS

The relatively small number of towers in the country and the great distances between them does undoubtedly have drawbacks which have vet to be overcome. It does make the teaching of all ringers a hand and laborious process and most especially of those more gifted ringers who become the leaders of their bands. Opportunities for ringing methods other than Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob are few, and opportunities for ringing peals in even these methods are still rarer. My own exDerience in Australia convinced me that for all but a very few people the more advanced methods and a few peals are essential to make a really steady and safe Sunday service ringer. For the conductor it gives him that little bit of extra ropesight and confidence which is so essential in training and leading a band. should imagine that fewer than a hundred peals (tower and hand) have been rung in Australta since the first in 1891, and I believe that ringing would benefit if more could be rung at the present time. However, it should be remembered that most of these peals have been rung bv Sundav service bands in their own towers, and if only peals of this sort had been rung in this country during the past 64 ycars the Dages of 'The Ringing World' would have been pretty thin. Quite a few quarter peals are rung but I do not think so much experience can be gained from these as can be got from the more sustained ringing of a full peal.

The problems of distance crop up, of course. in all Australian affairs, and they themselves, who are not in the habit of making comparisons with other countries in the matter, are used to solving these problems. Visits by rineers from one state to another are now much more common than they used to be, due to the improved travelling and wages. These visits have helped things enormously.

ENGLISH RINGING STANDARDS

The doings of English ringers are well known to their Australian counterparts through 'The Ringing World.' I found that the impression was often created that the general standard of ringing in Britain is higher than actually, unfortunately, it is. I have often had to point out that there are too many towers with no ringers at all, or too few, and that changes off the card. or bad Grandsire Doubles is the usual fare in many more. The many ringers who do not regularly ring peals of Surprise or Cinques get too little publicity. They also serve.
Of the bells in Australia I have said very little. There are in all about 24 rings of bells in the country of which about 18 are ringable. Half of these 18 are in the State of New South Wales and seven in the Sydney metropolitan area, so the sense of isolation is not so great there. In this 18 are one of the best and one of the worst eights I have ever heard. The best are the recently installed ring at St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide (tenor 41 cwt .), and I think Australian ringers will know to which I refer when I sav the worst. There is quite a bit of work for a bellhanger here and there

In conclusion I would like to thank all Australian ringers for four and a half years' very happy ringing and invite anybody in this country who is thinking of going to Australia either on a visit or to live to contact me through 'The Ringing World' and I will gladly give them any information they require.

OBITUARY

MR. FRANK BOSWELL

Through the death of Mr. Frank Boswell, of Olney, Buckinghamshire, the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild has lost one of its oldest founder members. Mr. Boswell passed away on September 3rd following a long illness. He was 75 .

Of a very reserved nature, Frank. to his many ringing friends, was a very sound Sunday service ringer, and in his younger days rang quite a number of peals.

A quarter peal to his memory was rung in the evening following his funeral.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Thanks to a fine day, a good attendance was made at the quarterly meeting of the Llandaff Branch, held on Scptember 10th at St. Augustine's Church, Penarth.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Mervyn Davies, who also took the chair at the business meeting. Prior to this, visitors were invited to tea at the Church Institute. For such excellent refreshment, a hearty vote of thanks was given to the ladies concerned by Mr. Les Maling, of Porthkerry

Twelve new members were elected, including eight from Penarth, and one life member, Mr. $\mathbf{K}$. Dunston, of King's Langley. The next place of meeting, which will be held jointly with the Southern District of the Swansea and Brecon Guild, will be held at Cadoxton. Neath.

Further ringing in the evening, on this very pleasant ring of cight, was enjoyed by all.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Aylesbeare Deanery Branch

The quarterly branch meeting at Aylesbeare on September 3rd was the first for many years to be held there and also the first held at a non-Guild tower.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. V. E. G. Kenna, who also gave the address. Members of the branch much appreciated the fact that the local choir attended to lead the singing

The meeting followed a very good tea provided by the local ladies. The Rev. H. V. Christie was in the chair, supported by the president of the Guild (Preb. E. V. Cox) and the general secretary (Mr. E. J. Taylor). Members were pleased to learn from the president that the new service forms would soon be available. The many ringers from other counties present added to the enjoyment of the meeting.
Ringing continued after the meeting until 8 p.m., in charge of Mr. J. L. S. Glanvill.

We thank the readers who have called attention to the falseness of the quarter peal of Grandsire, given by Mr. W. Shepherd in the issue of September 9 th, which has 85 calls and only five plain leads. The handstrokes of the 141 h and 17th leads in each part are the same writes Mr. W. H. Male.

THE OUTINGS PAGE

ALVERSTOKE AND FAREHAM

The outing of the ringers of St. Mary's, Alverstoke, and SS. Peter and Paul's, Fareham, on July 23 rd, was a fight against the clock. The first delay was due to sightseeing propensities of some of the band at Salisbury and later came traffic jams.
Mr. John Romain welcomed the party at St. John's, Devizes, where some of the younger members did not take too kindly to the bells, which were heavier than they had been accustomed to. At SS. Michael and Paul's, Bath, Mr. George Hawkins met the party. The iron grid in the belfry floor caused certain members to have doubts as to their safety, but by covering it over with ringing mats their fears were helied.

Bristol was the main objective of the day and here we were met by Mr. A. Bennett. St. John-on-the-Wall, with its belfry built on the city wall, was the first Bristol church visited. Excellent use was made of this light ring of six, although Cynthia and the second did not hit it off. However, she and the third became fast friends. Next came St. Philip's, a delightful ring of eight and a cordial welcome from Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and Mr. Roger Fry and friend.

The last tower of the day was Frome, where Miss Bernice Overend was waiting to greet the party. This heavy ring proved the undoing of some of the company, but the older hands gave a good performance. Sincere thanks are offered through 'The Ringing World ' to all who contributed towards the day's enjoyment. W.

ST. PETER'S, ST. ALBANS

The tenth post-war outing arranged for the St. Peter's, St. Albans, ringers and their friends took place on September 10th. All the towers were in Hampshire and the highlight of the day was the first visited. Winchester Cathedral. Stedman Cinques, Treble Bob Maximus and Little Bob Maximus, with rounds for the less experienced. were rung on this noble ring in the $\frac{?}{3}$ hour available, and a quite good standard of ringing was maintained.

After lunch in Eastleigh, an hour was spent at North Stoneham, where, besides the usual methods, an unrehearsed course of Winton Court Bob Royal was (much to the surprise of the participants) rung on the light ten. A $20-$ mile run through the New Forest was broken by a halt at Lyndhurst, where a pleasant ring in an imposing modern church was found a little tricky due to tower movement.

Fordingbridge, on the far side of the Forest, was the scene of a fair which stretched along the streets, and soon the sound of the bells was adding to the general commotion. Here the various methods rung included Bristol.

After a very welcome interlude for tea, the long homeward journey began. This was broken by a halt at Andover, where the precarious looking open wooden spiral staircase to the lofty ringing chamber frightened off at least one lady ringer-and made several of the males wonder just what was holding it up! This. together with the very evident tower sway, made it a place to remember, but the bells were a pleasure to ring and methods included Double Norwich and London.

The thanks of all taking part are due to the Dean of Winchester, and to the incumbents of the various churches for permission to ring. and also to the local ringers who helped in their various ways to make the outing a success.

HERTFORD COLLEGE YOUTHS

On July 30th the Hertford College Youths and friends had a pleasant day's ringing in Berkshire and Wiltshire.

Kent Treble Bob was the first touch of the day, at Wargrave. Wantage was the next stop but here the ringing was not up to the usual standard. After a good lunch at the King's Arms Hotel. Swindon, an hour's ringing was enjoyed on the ten at Christ Church. In the afternoon the eight at Wootton Bassett were rung for an hour. It was a very pleasant drive over the Downs to Marlborough, where a stop was made for tea. The last call of the day was at Boyne Hill, where some good ringing was had before leaving for home, which was reached at 10.30 p.m.

Our thanks are due to the incumbents and tower captains who met us and made our outing so enjoyable.
J. W. T.

SILSOE, BEDS.

The district lying between Stratford-on-Avon and Northampton was visited on August 27th by a party of 43 ringers and friends from eight towers scattered between Biggleswade, Bedford and Woburn. So outing-minded had been the neighbourhood that one member brought his car to enable all who wished to go.

Starting at 6.45, the first tower was Newnham, where an enjoyable half-hour was spent. Here the ringing chamber in days gone by had been on the ground floor and open to the winds on three sides.

Daventry has a very tuneful eight with a short draught which went very well indeed. Staverton, a very old church, has an excellent ring of six hung during the ministry of the Rev. E. S. Powell, and apparently he saw to it that a good job was done.

After lunch in Leamington Spa, the party journeyed south to Whitnash. where we were met by the Vicar to spend three-quarters of an hour in a very friendly atmosphere. It was a pleasant drive through Stratford-on-Avon, where many were dropped for sight-seeing purposes, to Clifford Chambers, where we were met by the Rector. This church has Shakespearian connections as yet uncommercialised. The light bells, long draught, and the fact that the tail-ends were not doubled back, made it difficult for some of the party to ring well.

And so to Stratford-on-Avon, where the fine ring was much appreciated and a touch of Grandsire Caters well rung, but Royal just would not go. This was the 500 th tower to be visited by Mr. A. C. Sinfield, of Maulden. Surely a fine tower with which to reach this total.
An excellent tea preceded the visit to Kineton. An interesting feature of the ring there is that the fourth is the lightest bell. with the weights increasing towards the treble and tenor. A unique touch of Cambridge was rung, the tenorman removing a fly from his ear while ringing. Neither operation was performed with complete success.
The last tower of the day. Byfield, was reached after a drive through the cool of the evening, which was welcome after the heat of the day. An enjoyable three-quarters of an hour was spent on these bells, the tenor of which had an extremely resonant tone. After a stop at Badby for liquid and solid refreshment, home was reached even for the latest by midnight. During the day the ringing ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise in the eight towers visited.
Thanks are due to the incumbents who so readily granted permission to ring, and to the local ringers, whose friendliness and welcome will not be forgotten. Also to Mr. Foskett, whose knowledge of the district enabled him to make the arrangements with the local towers.

PUCKLECHURCH, GLOS.

On September 10th the choir and bell-ringers of St. Thomas', Pucklechurch, held their combined outing to Minehead, Somerset.
Leaving Pucklechurch at 8 a.m., the journey as far as Bridgwater was riotous to say the least. This was the result of insulting remarks cast in the ringers' direction (regarding the standard of our striking) by young lady members of the choir. The said young ladies criticisms were speedily changed to shrieks as the young males of the ringing contingent playfully molested them one by one in the back seat.

Bridgwater was reached at $9.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the ringers trooped off to St. Mary's Parish Church to prove their worth on the heavy eight there (tenor 28 cwt.). The youngsters talked glibly of Cambridge Major and Double Norwich on the way to the church and hesitantly of Grandsire Doubles when they reached it.
The exceptionally low average agc of the twelve visiting ringers ( 15 years) caused comment from onlookers, who rushed off to inform the local Press. Grandsire Doubles was rung majestically on the back six, but a course of Triples did not go so well. The inevitable rounds and Queen's came next and then the Press made its appearance. The usually boisterous rabble became seemingly tongue-tied and it was left to the 'captain' to deal with the interview. A 'better than expected fall' was followed by a rush to the coach, where the 'heavy bell men, drank orange squash by the gallon. Just before we left, the Press again assailed us-this time for a photograph. Permission was signified in condescending fashion by the two twelve-year-olds, who had to be asked to say the usual "cheese"!

The performance at Bridgwater had not enhanced the prestige in the eyes of the choir, and the ringers, chagrined by their scathing remarks, once more filled in time by removing the footwear of the young females, who this time retaliated vigorously by scratching.

Minehead was reached at 12 noon, and two keen types tramped off immediately to see the steward of the tower. Mr. Thorne, who allowed us the use of the bells at 3.40 p.m. A visiting party from the Exeter district joined us at 4 p.m., enabling our rounds specialists to perform on ten.
The Exeter party rang Triples and Caters. two of our party standing in the concluding touch of Grandsire Caters, which was well struck.
The ringers would like to thank Mr. Thorne for his trouble in our directions. D. B. P.

BALDOCK AND NORTON

The Baldock and Norton bands, with friends from Scotford, Hitchin, Stevenage and Knebworth, had a half day's outing on the borders of Hertfordshire and Middlesex on September 3 rd. Towers visited were North Mymms, Monken Hadley, Barnet and Christ Church, Southgate.
Tea was kindly provided at Church House. Barnet, by Miss E. Poolman and friends of the local band, and the ice-cream provided was most refreshing. Special thanks are accorded to Miss Poolman, those who met the visitors at the different towers and the incumbents.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Devizes Branch

The September meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Rowde on September 10th. Some 30 members and friends attended, including visitors from Chippenham and Bach. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar. and tea was served at the Cross-Keys Hotel.
Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to the lady organist. Ringing continued till later in the evening, methods ranging from rounds to London.

CUMBERLAND AND NORTH WESTMORLAND ASSOCIATION

The half-yearly meeting of the Western Branch was held on Sept. 3rd at Egremont. The meeting was better attended than has been usual, and some valuable practice was obtained for the band from Aspatria, which is being built up.

At the business meeting a survey of ringing towers in the area was taken, with the following result: (1) Towers with Sunday service bands: Aspatria, Bridekirk, St. Bees, Workington. (2) Towers with bands in training: Egremont and Hensingham. A band is soon to be started at Cleator Moor. (3) A struggling band at Arlecdon. (4) Towers at present unringable: Cockermouth and Irton.

The meeting stood in silence to the memory of David Wilkinson, a founder member from Aspatria, whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the only person known to have rung on the bells at Silloth, which have been silent for many years.

EAST GRINSTEAD & DISTRICT GUILD

This year's outing was a trip into North Kent, the first tower being the very good octave at the Annunciation Church, Chislehurst. At Eltham it was found that speed produced the best music. After a sandwich lunch, Gravesend provided an interesting interlude for those who jike ships. The bells of St. George's Church gave us the touch of the day, Double Norwich at speed.

Heavy traffic on A2 made us late into Rochester, but everyone had a pull and enjoyed both the ten bells and the Cathedral choir. A nice welcome at Newington, where a broken rope delayed ringing and, lastly, wagon ropes at Hartlip.
Thank you, incumbents and steeplekeepers, for a happy day.
C. A. B.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

About 30 ringers and friends attended the East Devon Branch quarterly meeting at Shute on September 17th.

Touches were rung on the bells before and after the service, which was conducted by the Rev. A. Joslin, who gave a very inspiring address. The tea was kindly provided by Shute singers and ladies.
Prebendary Cox took the chair at the meeting in the absence of Mr. G. C. Woodley through indisposition.

BELLS OR NO BELLS?

ALITTLE village in Somerset has come into the news! Ruishton's three bells have now been augmented to six. Nothing very remarkable about that-albeit a commendable effort-but the occasion of their dedication by the Bishop of Bath and Wells gave him the opportunity to declare his policy in dealing with complaints about bellringing; also with suggestions that the Church has more important channels for her money-raising energies than the provision or upkeep of bells!

It is stimulating to find a Diocesan Bishop so outspoken in the defence of church bells and the ringing of them for services. Here is an extract from his address as reported in 'Pulman's Weekly News': 'I often get pathetic letters from people who protest to me about the ringing of bells on Sunday mornings an hour before they wish to get up. They say, "Why should our sleep be disturbed by this unseemly noise?" They give themselves away completely in writing letters of this sort. They surely make the biggest mistake in the world if they think I am going to take any action whatever to prevent men being called to worship in the presence of God and in fellowship with one another
' I often meet those who ask whether in these days the Church ought to spend large sums on its bells. After all, we are confronted with problem after problem in restoring our ancient churches and handing on our heritage unimpaired. We are called to make substantial sacrifices to retain the Ministry in our countryside and to train new men for the Ministry. There is also the responsibility for the Church overseas and for those new areas of population with no church at all.
' So it is said we ought to put first things first and devote our resources to those purposes which are vital and essential to the Church. Indeed, there is something most cogent in that argument and it would spell disaster for the Church if we did not pay proper attention and fulfil our responsibilities in those directions.

- On the other hand, I am sure something of real value would pass from the life of the Church if our bells remained silent. The ringing of bells is something almost peculiar to the life of the English Church. The bells are not in the church tower merely to provide amusement and healthy exercise for those drawn to the art of campanology: they are a reminder of those invisible things of God upon which the whole of our life must ultimately be based. They are to remind us of man's highest duty-to offer himself in worship before God.'

The first complaint the Bishop refers to hardly calls for serious notice. For except perhaps on festivals such as Christmas and Easter the bells are rarely rung before 9 o'clock on a Sunday morning. The majority of reasonable people in good health would have had their night's rest by that time and all habitual churchgoers would expect to hear the bells. It is probably safe to say that the complaint originates from those who care little or nothing for worshipping, but who, if a day's trip were on their programme, would be up and about early enough. The sound of the bells could be a prick to conscience. And the Church must give her call " whether they will hear or whether they will forbear.' That is not to say that the local church authorities as well as the ringers will not meet cases of desperate illness near at hand with kindly consideration at all _times.
Secondly, it has yet to be proved that money subscribed and spent upon the provision or restoration of bells has been diverted from the other needs of the Church at home and abroad. The argument in that vein would apply equally to the provision of organs and the upkeep of choirs and church fabric. If the adjuncts to worship are to be thought of as unessential in one place they must, pari passu, be considered unessential everywhere. But that they have a very vital part to play in educating people in worship and elevating the emotions above worldly things no reasonable mind can deny. That the provision of bells has a peculiar appeal is evidenced in countless parishes where the cost has been forthcoming without diminishing in any way the generosity of the people in support of the many other calls of the Church in and beyond the local environment.

Finally, underlying the Bishop's remarks is the assumption that where there are bells there must be the ringers to ring them. But, sad to say, that is not always so. It is a timely reminder that, however strong and enthusiastic a band may be at any time, the need for interesting others in the art remains vital. So many factors do contribute to weaken or split up the number. And the main objective always must be to raise and sustain a resident Sunday service band independent of casual visitors, or of ringers who live at a distance and come when they are free. Experience has only too often shown that bands which have rejoiced in a high state of development for a period have faded away sooner or later through lack of insistence upon recruiting. Surely it is not an impossible suggestion that every member of a band should make it his or her patient and untiring mission to seek for and encourage at least one other into the service of the belfry.

OUTINGS

ST. MARY'S, BATHWICK, BATH
On Saturday, September 17th, 27 ringers and friends of varying age and experience left St. Mary's Chureh, Bathwick, at 1.15 p.m. by coach to visit four Gloucestershire towers on the southern tip of the Cotswolds.

At Wickwar Parish Church we were pleased to find the bells up, and ringing from rounds to Cambridge Minor proceeded on this pleasant six (tenor 12 cwt ).

Our next stop was at St. Mary the Virgin, Wotton-under-Edge, where, after a poor rise. touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung on the fine octave (tenor 18 cwt.).
After driving over the 'Edge,' on to the Cotswolds, and through really lovely scenery, we arrived at Stroud. After tea we went to the Parish Church to ring on the lovely light 10 (tenor approx. 20 cwt .). Shortly after start. ing a touch of Grandsire Caters the 4th rope broke, Unfortunately the bells had to be lowered in order that the rope might be spliced. One of our Admiralty contingent and the local tower master climbed through the bells and carried out repairs, after which the bells were again raised. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and some rounds were rung before the bells were finally lowered.

A short journey brought us to Holy Trinity, Minchinhampton ( 6 , tenor 13 cwt .). Here several local ringers were awaiting us and they accompanied us to the spotless ringing chamber and eventually joined in a touch of Stedman Doubles and a course of London Minor. Grandsire, Plain Bob and Cambridge were also rung.

We arrived home at 11 p.m., tired, but pleased with our first outing, which we hope will become an annual event. Thanks are due to ringers and incumbents of the towers visited and to Mr. W. Cope and Mr. E. White for organising the outing.

EBBW VALE, MONMOUTHSHIRE

The bellringers of Christ Church, Ebbw Vale, held their annual outing on September 17th to the Golden Valley, Herefordshire. With other friends from the church, the afternoon was spent happily in glorious country and lovely weather. Arrangements were made by Miss D. Evins, the secretary, who unfortunately could not accompany us.

Thanks to the kindness and courtesy of the incumbents of the parishes, ringing took place at each tower visited. The first was Abbey Dore. Visitors marvelled at the interior beauty of the Abbey and surrounding country, whilst bells were rung to Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles. Some of the party have now realised that there are such things as bats in the belfry. Then on to Hay, where a break was made for tea.

Clifford was the next tower. Owing to the narrownrss of the country road, we walked about a mile to the church, where we were welcomed by the Vicar. This is a delightful church set on a hill overlooking most wonderful country. A lovely eight delighted the ringers, and Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Major were rung, not forgetting rounds for the learners. Proceedings were livened for the nonringers by the village fete, and here several members availed themselves of much of the garden produce stall.

Returning via Hay, we next visited Bronllys. The church here is very lovely and, while ringers enjoyed Kent, Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles in the detached tower, the Vicar, who met us, showed the rest of the party the most interesting features of the church.

Finally, the last lap home and Talgarth, where ringers from the tower met us and where we all enjoyed a ring of Kent, Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles and 'light rofreshments - before the homeward journey.

ROUND TOWERS

Dear Sir,-With reference to the note in Belfry Gossip (September 9th, page 573) re round towers, there are a great many of these in Norfolk and Suffolk and a few elsewhere. In my last book. 'Towers and Bells of Britain.; I devote a chapter to this type of tower (and their bells). Regarding the query about thatched roofs to churches. there are quite a number in Norfolk and in surrounding counties.-Yours sincerely, Leicester.

THATCHED ROOF CHLRCHES

Dear Sir.-Belfry Gossip of September 9th asks for information of churches thatched roofed. I did have a list of several, but unfortunately the notebook containing these was destroyed when my house in Norwich was bombed in 1942. and I cannot rely on my memory to quote any of them with certainty.

There is at All Saints' and St. Margaret's, Pakefield. Lowestoft, a very beautiful example of the Norfolk reed-thatcher's art, with a scal loped pattern. I have been told by experts that this type of roof is good for 80 to 100 years with little or no attention.

This church was completely gutted by firebombs during the war, but the tower and ring of five were only slightly damaged.

The church has been completely restored and a splendid job has been made of it. The restoration included augmentation of the bells to a very pleasing light ring of eight, and there is a good company of service ringers, ringing standard methods, and they have recently tackled Double Norwich.

It must be added that the original roof was of the same type as the present one.

The round towers mentioned are without doubt of Saxon origin, at least so I have been told by knowledgeable people.- Yours faithfully,

Lowestoft.
BEN S. THOMPSON.

LETTERS

PRAISE FOR SOUTH MOLTON

Dear Sir,-As one who had the pleasure of ringing on the fine old eight at South Molton, Devon, during Mr. Wilfred Williams' tour this summer, may I commend the locals there on the excellent call changes they rang for the recent broadcast? It was a shame that the allotted time for so good an advertisement for the Exercise was once again so inadequate. Yours sincerely,

DEREK P. JONES.

Derby.

P.S.-I am glad to see that the Cambridge University Guild have been taking their "Morning Exercise, as well as keeping wild, late nights. By the way, the time when you have "Oxford' in front and 'Cambridge' behind soon comes round!-D. P. J.

INSTRUCTION IN CHANGE RINGING

Dear Sir, Can any of your readers inform me if application has ever been made to a County or Borough Further Education Committee for a grant to hold a course of instruction in campanology? If so, I shall be pleased to hear details. Was instruction given in a classroom, solely, or was a certain tower the meeting place? How long was the course and what was the response?

A suggestion has been made in this area that we consider this, but before making definite application we should like to know how to put it into operation and what pitfalls await us.
Trusting that I may receive some information on this matter, I am, Yours sincerely, DOROTHY E. BEAMISH (Mrs.).

21. Gipsy Lane, Nuneaton.

BOATRACE DELIGHT

Dear Sir,-So Cambridge University ringers have invented a new method-Boatrace Delight -have they? Of course, as can easily be seen from an examination of the lead ends, the method is illegal. But then, sir, Cambridge never has preceded Oxford except by illegal methods (such as sinking the Oxford boat and so on).-Yours sincerely, Manchester.

D. F. MANNING.

Dear Sir, In these days when bell-ringing is becoming even more of a science, and the ordinary ringer blinded by the brilliance of the theorists in method construction and peal composition, it is lamentable that rudeness has to be employed by some correspondents in correcting the mistaken ideas of others.

However, may I politely point out that the Cambridge University Guild's 'new method ' of Cambridge below the treble and Oxford above is of quite old vintage. It was frequently practised at Kempston until 1947 under the nickname of Boatrace, and (this will shake the C.U.G.) I was always informed that the correct name was Oxford Delight.-Yours faithfully.
J. MICHAEL STEPHENS.

Deal.

From Mr. Ernest Weatherby, of Los Angeles, we hear that the second annual festival of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers was most successful. On the opening day Mrs. A. A. Hughes gave a concert on her handbells accompanied by Professor Wendell Wescott. Mr. Albert Hughes gave a talk on The beginning of handbells in England and America.'

A choir practice completely drowned the sound of the bells in a peal attempt on the ground floor rung at King's Bromley, Staffs. A scond attempt without the choir succeeded.

Dr. Jenny Pym, late of the Women's Hospital, Birmingham, has returned to India. Her new address is: The Christian Medical College. Ludhiana, Punjab, India.

A Ladies' Guild badge was picked up outside St. Mary's Church, Guildford. recently. Will the owner please apply to Miss W. A. Oliver, 34, North Place, Guildford.

The peal of Grandsire Royal at Geddington on September 17 th replaces an attempt in the same tower last April, when it was miscalled half-way through.

The Diserens family paired in one of those domestic celebrations at Twyford on September 10 th , when it was the 25 th peal together of three separate pairs of the family.

After Mr. J. Chettleburgh was compelled to withdraw from the peal attempt at Handsworth, Yorks, on September 17th, Miss M. Archer kindly stood in at literally a minute's notice and rang the treble well to score her first peal.

Witney, Oxfordshire, ringers feel very happy about accomplishing a 'hat-trick' in quarter peals in connection with their patronal festival. Congratulations to the band and also to the tower secretary, Miss Angela Kitto, on ringing her first quarter of Triples.

BELFRY GOSSIP

- The Leicester Mercury, Objections are taken to service ringing and also to the weekly practice meeting. So far no Leicester ringer has replied in defence of our craft. This week's editorial provides useful material.

The bells of Beverley Minster will be broadcast on the North Home Service on Sunday, October 2nd, ringing for evening service.

A West Country ringer now domiciled in Surrey had a run of successful quarter peals when holidaying around his old haunts recently. One wonders if the charm he wore around his neck, a tie, once the property of a famous raisin chewing tenor ringer, in any way accounted for this.

Preliminary reports to hand indicate that the first veterans' reunion at St. Olave's, Hart Street, E.C., last Saturday was highly successful. Between 50 and 60 were present, veterans coming from as far afield as Evesham, Birmingham and Ipswich. At one table four were between the ages of 80 and 90 .

In view of the interest taken in clergymen with engineering qualifications, readers may like to know that the official reference in the Diocesan Calendar to the Archdeacon of Northampton, the Ven. C. J. Grimes. D.D., includes the letters A.M.I.E.E. Dr. Grimes is president of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

Mr. E. H. Oxenham, writing from Bampton, Devon, recalls that on September 29th, exactly 50 years ago, he rang the tenor to a peal of Stedman Caters at St. Margaret's, Westminster. The peal was conducted by Harry Barton, and the band included William H. Fussell. William Weatherstone and Cornelius Charge. Mr. Oxenham believes he is the only living member of the band.

A PEAL TOUR OF DEVON AND CORNWALL

DEPARTING from the custom of the past three years, the 'disciples' of Saint David this year paid a visit to their near cousins in Cornwall, ringing eight peals out of thirteen attempts and scoring four peals in each county. The advance guard set out from Newport on August 19th and at Rockwell Green, with the help of Arthur Reed and friends from Taunton and Wellington, scored a peal in seven methods.

In contrast to the opening of previous tours, the following day was brilliant. At Taunton we re-welcomed Roger Fry and admitted to our circle one-half of the "Barron Combination.' Our navigator of previous years, George Massey, complete with maps and car, had already arrived, and it only needed our pilot to put us on the road for Honiton, our rendezvous with the other half coming via London, which included new members in Allan Thirst and Ron Marlow.

Traffic congestion was so serious that it became obvious that the London contingent would be extremely late, therefore, following a hurried lunch, four members, with Wilf II. in charge, set out to join George Morris, Peter Staniforth, Walter Poole and Henry Keeley for the first attempt at Ottery St. Mary, while the remainder sat down to scan the traffic and await our colleagues who had left London at 8 a.m. They eventually arrived one a half hours late in a stream of traffic that stretched bonnet to tail as far as the eye could see. We eventually arrived at Tiverton for the second of the two attempts arranged, to be welcomed by the local steeple keeper and Dick Bowden.

Following a request to rise the bells in peal, which was performed in good style, this fine ring was soon rolling out Bristol, an excellent peal being rung. Three hours' ringing in a temperature around the mineties saw a concerted rush to the nearest 'local,' following which we faced a thirty mile run to Barnstaple, which was to be our headquarters until Tuesday. Here we learned that New Cambridge had been lost at Ottery after an hour's excellent ringing due to the treble rope breaking.

Another disappointing message, particularly to John Phillips, who had travelled specially from London for the opportunity for a peal in his native tower, was that, owing to a serious illness near the church, we should be unable to attempt a peal at Pilton. Perhaps it was a blessing in disguise, as, during service ringing on Sunday morning, the fourth clapper broke. Sunday saw Wilf II. leave early to spend the day at Combe Martin with Miss B. M. Boyle, who had kindly obtained permission for a peal attempt on this handy ring and so make up for the loss of Pilton.

The remainder rang for service at Georgeham and for Evensong at Braunton, another fine eight. Here an excellent touch of Five Spliced was brought round, but the call changers did not like the tenor turned in, and promptly told us so.

Monday dawned hot and bright and we were away early for the first attempt of the day on the fine Taylor Eight at South Molton. A really first-class peal of Yorkshire was rung in three hours and ten minutes, much to the disgust of Roger, who promptly retired to lick his wounds and moan about a similar experience at Melkshan with the same tenor man. Following this peal, it was extremely pleasant to meet some of the local call change band and receive their congratulations on our striking.

The afternoon saw us at Combe Martin, where we had the pleasure of renewing acquaintance with Albert and Mrs. Diserens, also Mr. C. A. Bassett, who were holidaying in the district. A good peal of London was here rung, the first of Surprise on the bells. During the closing stages of this peal 'a large official of the Cumberlands" arrived on the scene, but beat a hasty retreat when informed by Jack Phillips that 'his friend ' was in the tower.

We had now rung thee peals out of four attempts, including London and Bristol, and, in the intense heat, it was a case of stripping to the waist; with Wilf II. a large bottle of 'meth' was very much in demand. This being our last evening in Devon until the weekend, it was duly celebraced.

INTO CORNWALL

Tuesday morning saw Jack Phillips joining us once again to attempt a peal on the fine eight at Tawstock. Pudsey was the method selected, with "The Barron" as conductor. Those standing out heard an hour's good ringing, then set ouc on the long run for Truro, but back at Tawstock disaster soon followed, the tenor slapper breaking after two hours' excellent ringing, so, taking leave of Jack and commiserating with him in his disappointment, the remainder were soon Truro bound.

Here the Dean and Chapter had kindly given permission for a peal attempt on the Cathedral bells, the attempt being made possible by the kindness of the Cathedral ringers in giving up their practice night. We assembled in this beautiful building, to be met by the Rev. Arthur Roberts, who had come over from Carbis Bay specially to welcome us. Necessary adjustments to ropes, etc., being completed, a start was made for Yorkshire Royal, which soon settled down to an excellent beat in spite of the difficulty in hearing around the front end. It was a great disappointment to all when, after two and a half hours of excellent ringing, the conductor called 'Stand,' due to an error in calling. However, we were pleased to meet both Douglas Burnett and Allan Carveth, with whom we were able to spend a pleasant evening.

Wednesday morning's attempt was at Saint Budock, a light Taylor eight with 10 cwt. tenor. Here another attempt was made for Pudsey, but this method was fast proving our bogey, as, after ten courses of excellent ringing, down came the third rope. Our afternoon attempt was one the fine eight at Probus, where we had previously been warned regarding the condition of the ropes. It was indeed a shame to find such fine bells in a magnificent tower so sadly naglested. One section of the party were of the opinion that the time necessary to put ropes in a pealable condition was not worth doing. Wilf II., however, had other ideas, and, due to his enthusiasm and ability, coupled with the help of Roger and Derek, a start was possible on time. We shall sadly miss the gentleman from Yorkshire should he ever carry out the rumoured intention of changing 'from Bells to Belles.'

The tenor man commenced with the avowed intention of taking three hours and thirty minutes over the job, but there were other ideas in the camp. Following preliminary threats and exhortations to move it along, a good beat was obtained and a good peal of Lincolnshire was brought home in three hours nine minutes. For one member a peal on these bells largely compensated for the failure at Truro, a peal at Probus being a long standing ambition.

THE BOGEY WAS LAID

Thursday morning saw us on the road to Carbis Bay, where we received a warm welcome from Arthur Roberts. Soon these fine light eight were going to Pudsey, the bogey being laid at the third attempt, though not without incident. While the deal was in progress some took advantage of the fine bathing facilities nearby, while others visited St. Ives to renew acquaintance with The Sloop. Following the peal, we had the pleasure of being entertained to lunch by Arthur Roberts, his hospitality being much appreciated.

Taking leave of our host after an extremely pleasant hour, we soon reached Gulval, where we were welcomed by that youthful veteran, Mr. John Wood, who soon put us at ease by his greeting and reference to 'the Mr. Williams.' Here we found an extremely pleasant eight with a delightful ringing chamber, the fine oak panelling having recently been installed by Mr. Wood. A first-class peal of London was rung here, which was considerably brightened by several examples of belfrymanship carried out as it should be.

At Penzance we encountered, in the opinion of many, the best bells of the week. most certainly the nicest belle. The former a splendid Taylor eight with 24 cwt . tenor, and we would have given much for a peal here; as to the latter it was extremely pleasant to be able to entertain a most charming young ringer from Haslemere holidaying in Penzance and enable her to snatch her first tower, in Cornwall. The writer understands there is every likelihood of there being an early pilgrimage from Bath to Haslemere
Friday, our last day in Cornwall, saw us early at St. Enoder, a pleasant eight hung in two tiers by John Taylor and Co., and, after much work by our bell-hanging friend and Wilf II., splicing ropes, etc., a start was made for Cambridge, which immediately settled down into a good fast beat. Those resting paid a pleasant visit to Newquay, arriving back in time to hear the finishing courses of a good peal, while others left to arrange lunch at Indian Queen.
In the afternoon we travelled to St. Columb Major, another extremely pleasant eight. Here we received a warm welcome from the Rector and Mr. A. H. Eplett. Following a rise, in which the writer blotted his copy book by trying to pitch em, we started for four spliced. and had two hours of top-class ringing, but, unless you are the complete belfryman, you can't call bobs in spliced when the treble is in three-four and get away with it. On descending the tower we learned that Mr. Eplett had recorded some of our ringing and invited us along to his office to hear it. In spite of many background noises, we were well satisfied that we had done justice to these fine bells.

Saturday's programme consisted of an hour's ringing on the fine eight at Tavistock and peal attempts at Heavitree and Broadclyst. The former are rung from a well-appointed ringing chamber, the certificates adorning the walls giving proof of the prow iss of the call change band here. Inside the bells are an ideal ring, but are a disappointment outside, the tenar being spoiled by excessive clapper noise.

From Tavistock our route took us across Dartmouth, past the grim-looking prison of Princetown. Here we got our first clue as to the originality of the fabulous-looking tie which a certain member had beell showing off all the week. Across the moor we caught up with an ever-increasing flow of traffic, and, as on the previous Saturday, it became increasingly obvious that we should be unable to adhere to our timetable.

The four designated to ring at Broadclyst arrived there to join George Morris and company much too late to start for a peal. A good quarter of Stedman was rung by the following: D. G. Clift 1, P. Staniforth 2, H. G. Keeley 3, W. A. Theobald 4. W. Poole 5, W. F. Moreton (conductor) 6. G. S. Morris 7, R. M. Marlow 8.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS' 9th ANNUAL TOUR

DESPITE the suggestion by colleagues (the kind who spend their holidays in deck chairs on the beach!) that there is an incorrect vowel in the name of the Society, some 19 members from as far afield as Cornwall and Crewe came on the ninth annual tour, from July 23 rd to August 1st. which started at Cambridge, finished at Cheltenham and embraced lowers in the counties of Cambridge, Huntingdon, Bedford, Bucks, Northants. Oxon, Wilts and Gloucester. The Ringing Master was Jinmy Diserens and the tour was again ably organised by our joint secretaries.
Saturday. - Most of the party travelled to Cambridge by train, although some enthusiasts cycled all the way. By 3.30 p.m., however, the majority had assembled at Chesterton, where there are several peal boards recording peals in all sorts of little-known Doubles methods by the old Chesterton Youths. The noble Taylor eight at the Cambridge Roman Catholic Church was visited and the night was spent at the Cambridge Youth Hostel, where we enjoyed the only hot water of the tour.
Sunday. - Stedman and Grandsire Cinques were rung at the University Church of Gt. St. Mary for Matins, some members also visited Gt. St. Andrew's and services at both churches were attended. After lunch, while some rang handbells in the belfry of Gt. St. Andrew's, others rang for the children's service on the delightful little five at Cherry Hinton. We then took to the open road and went first to the eight at Longstanton and then to St. Ives to ring for evening service. A pretty ride along a bridle path brought us to Houghton Mill, our hostel for that night.
Monday. - To gain access to the tower at Godmanchester we followed the Vicar's (written) instructions- 'Open the door and climb the stairs. The bells proved to be good-going, and London and Cambridge Major were among the methods rung. The fine tower at St. Neots (eight, 29 cwt . 2 qr .14 lb ), which we visited next, reminded some of Wrexham. The bells of Eaton Socon were pulled up in peal after lunch, and a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples was rung before it was discovered that the third had no stay. An casy ten-mile run brought us to Bedford, whate a well-struck course of London Major was much admired by two of the local ringers. As there was no hostel in, or near. Bedford, bed and breakfast was the order of the day and in the evening we visited St. Pauls. by kind invitation of their ringers, who put our ringing master in charge of their practice. Stedman and Grandsire Caters and various Surprise Major methods were rung, and the local rule of id. a whole pull for not setting the tenor caused a certain amount of financial embarrassment in some quarters!

Back at Heavitree, a start had been made for Bristol Norman Mallett, who had been of much help in obraining permission for our ringing in North Devon towers, standing in and ringing his first peal in the method. Those who had been to Broadclyst arrived back in time to hear the last courses of a good peal on these fine bells. So ended another enjoyable week. marred only by our disappointment at Truro and the awful traffic chaos encountered on both Saturdays.
While the majority stayed on to spend a pleasant evening in the company of Exeter ringing friends, three of us set out for Bath, where Wilf II. was to join another ringing tour. In conclusion, we should like to thank all those ringers in Devon and Cornwall, particularly the Rev. Arthur Roberts. who met and welcomed us at various towers and whose thoughtfulness centributed in no small way to a successful and enjoyable week.

Tuesday. - The first call was at Bromham, an excellent eight, where the church is situated in a park. Two of the party, having the cheapest bed and breakfast, also had the longest sleep, and only just arrived in time to have a pull before we left for Olncy, a heavy eight, and afterwards Newport Pagnell, which, despite the long draught, are a credit to the founders. We then journeyed by narrow lanes to Hanslope, remarkable for its 'flying buttresses, on a tall tower and slender spire and also noted for its tower sway. Two of the bells bear the inscription, 'God save King Charles.' At Green's Norton converted army huts served as youth hostel, and some of our more disreputable brethren obtained permission to ring the bells here after supper.

Wednesday.-We started off by various routes, each purporting to follow the valley and therefore be flat, on the 16 -mile run to Banbury, where the ringing was up to Cambridge Royal. It was a short ride after lunch to Adderbury, where the ringing was not up to the usual standard and after which we rang on the octave at Deddington, where it was necessary to dodge with the clock pendulum, which swings across the middle of the tower. The church of St. Michael, Great Tew, is on an estate, and we noted that the Vicar's stall also scrves as a pulpit. Ringing here included a course of Bristol. The six at Charlbury, in the evening, proved a little heavy-going and made the pewter pots at the adjoining hostelry even more welcome.
Thursday. - On the hilly journey to Hook Norton we were surprised to sce our ringing master dismount on a hill, having damaged several spokes, and we subsequently lost him for the rest of the day while he travelled around Oxfordshire and Berkshire in an attempt to obtain replacements. Hook Norton bells, and those at Chipping Norton, where we rang after lunch, were excellent eights. A welcome downhill run brought us to Kingham and, after ringing, group photographs were taken. lgnoring the Youth Hostel rule, which says all beds shall be made on arrival, we dumped our bags at Stow-on-the-Wold and adjourned to St. Edward's Church. A certain member impressed the company with his fine mastery of the tenor ( 30 cwt .) to Cambridge Major, which was the only good touch on the bells.
Friday. - Having climbed one of those long irritating semi-steep hills out of Stow, we enjoyed an almost continual downhill run into Burford. where the light eight in the central tower delighted everyone. There was good striking in methods up to Bristol. A somewhat prolonged, though excellent. lunch (piping hot buttered rolls!), and Mr. Bartholomew's hot buttered rolls!), and Mr. Bartholomew's omission to put an airfield on his map made us late at Bampton, where a haversack mysteriously found its way to the top of a large flower-potlike tomb in the churchyard! The flat run from Bampton to Fairford was done in record time allowing a certain gentleman time to employ his natural charm on the waitress of a local cafe before ringing. Due (it seemed) to advance propaganda, two coachloads of people arrived and watched us ring from the choir stalls. (These people had, of course, come to view the fine stained glass windows for which Fairford Church is justly famous.) Spliced Plain and Little Bob Major was rung here (after one or two people found out what Little Bab was!) and some other good touches too. After supper at the Youth Hostel, almost adjoining Ashton Keynes Church, some sampled the five bells there, which are apparently much in demand by Youth Hostelling ringers like ourselves.

Saturday. - The Victorian church at Watermoor, Cirencester. was the first visited and was followed by an alpine-like journey to Bisley, After a snack lunch in the local we were taken down to the underground skittle alley, where everybody tried their skill. By the time we got to Painswick our ranks had been augmented by most of the 'weekenders,' and good Stedman Cinques and a half-course of Cambridge Maximus were rung. Dinner was at the Fleece Hotel (more commonly known as the Monk's Retreat, because of an underground room reputed to have been connected by a tunnel to Gloucester Cathedral). The evening was spent in the usual way, discussing towers past and present, handbell , ringing and the inevitable Beau Gendarmes,' 'Widdecombe Fair' and Green Grow the Rushes 0 .
Sunday. - Sunday service ringing was at St. Mary de Crypt, where some good touches were brought round, and in the afternoon all but the very keen cyclists scrounged a lift to Upton St. Leonards, where a peal board of 1803 denoted the presence not of a conductor but a timekeeper.' Another board of 1879 records the fact that the peal contained 158 bobs and 82 singles. Ringing was enjoyed at Longney for Evensong and included a touch of five spliced Surprise Major. After dinner the room at the 'Fleece' was again available and we were joined by some friends from Worcester who brought handbells. Four charming ladies and four gallant gentlemen performed a course of Grandsire Triples by standing in a row (one handbell each) and changing places. Cambridge Major was tackled ambitiously in like manner, but unfortunately never got beyond the second lead, though Fred's efforts in the role of treble bob treble were a great credit to his dancing teacher!

Monday.-A very enjoyable tour was brought to a close when we rang at Prestbury, where there are some excellent caricatures around the walls done by a local ringer, and finally on the light twelve at Cheltenham.

We should like to express our thanks to the various incumbents for the use of their bells and also to all the people who met and welcomed us at the towers or got them ready for our use.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

On September 10th, a quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at Llanbadarn Fawr. The bells were available at 2 p.m.. and although the weather was not quite as good as that we had in the last few weeks, it did not prevent members coming from Tenby, Llandilo, Carmarthen. Llanelly and Burry Port and also a number of visitors.

At 3.30 p.m. a service was held in the Church of St. Padarn, at which the Vicar, the Rev. O. J. Rees, officiated. The members were entertained to a very nice tea, which was given by the ringers of Llanbadarn Fawr,

After tea, at the business meeting the Vicar presided, and apologies for absence were se-ceived from Mr. W. J. Harries and Mr. W. P. ceived from Mr. W. J. Harries and Mr. W. P.
E. Sage, both of whom were away on holiday. The usual touch on the handbells was given by members of the Llanelly band, and after reading the minutes of the last meeting it was agreed that the invitation to hold the next quarterly meeting on December 10th at Pembroke be accepted. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised $£ 113 \mathrm{~s}$. $1 \frac{1}{1} \mathrm{~d}$. Two honorary members and four ringing members were initiated into the Guild.

After a very successful appeal by Mr. Chris Hawkins, a grant of $£ 10$ was made to Llanelly towards the cost of their bell-ropes.

The Master (Mr. E. J. Thomas) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for having the Guild at Llanbadarn Fawr and also to the ringers for providing the tea.

Members then returned to the tower to finish off the evening, and it was quite a thrill to the Guild to see the Vicar. who is a ringer. taking part in the ringing with other members of the Guild.

THE BELL FOUNDERS OF LEICESTER

Dear Sir, -The note in your issue of Sept. 9 h (page 571) on the Leicester bell founders makes one wonder if Mr. G. P. Elphick knows of the researches that have been made since the late Thomas North published his 'Church Bells of Leicestershire, in 1876. The art and craft was carried on-and can be traced-successively in Leicester from 1306 (not 1360) by various founders, many of whom intermarried. The sites of the foundries were not always on the same spot as was the Whitechapel Foundry from its earliest time, but nevertheless the line (like Whitechapel) is direct and likewise, although the names alter as the generations passed in each case, the craft continued to be handed on by apprentices who became Freemen of the City and, in several cases, Mayors, who in their turn became proprietors of the foundry.

In the latest volume of the Victoria History (Leicester. Vol. III.), issued by the University of London Institute of Historical Research. I have written a thesis in three sections, on 'Bell Founding,' 'Leicester Bell Founders' and 'Leicestershire Bells.' With the Editor's permission I will reiterate the second part briefly, showing the connections and continuance of the craft in this centre, from whence through other channels it connects up directly to the present Loughborough foundry. The Leicester historian, J. Thompson, mentions the bells of St. Nicholas Church in 1306, and the earliest Leicester founder I can trace by name is 'Rog-le-Belleyeterc, whose name appears on deeds dated 1307, 1311 and 1318.
In 1308-9 he appears in the list of 'Freemen of Leicester.' Then follows 'Stephen-leBellyeter,' who became a member of the Merchants' Guild in 1328-9. In 1337 he 'pays 1s. rent for a chamber near the North Gate, and there are several references to him in records of Grants of Land; he also was a Freeman of Leicester. Then follows John Hose, whose cottage near All Saints' Church is mentioned in 1352, and in Merchant Guild entries he is described as 'belleyeter.' Thomas Hose appears in a Grant of Land in 1406 as a elyeter. Even more famous was Johannes-de-Stafford, who is mentioned in the Freemen's List in 1338. In the Tallage Rolls of 1354 he is shown as 'Joh-de-Stafford belleyeter,' and he was Mayor of Leicester 1367, 1370, 1371 and 1381. He was one of the Burgesses of Parliament; in Mayor's accounts for 1373 we read, ' $£ 34$ s. to John Stafford and John Peterborough for 16 days at Parliament of London. viz.. 4s. a day. The tenor bell at All Saints', Leicester, is inscribed:-

Thohannes: DC : Stafford : Fecit : Me

In : Honore : Be : Marie. St. Hibbald. Scawby, Lincs. A number of his castings still exist in this county and neighbouring places. He used very fine Gothic capitals and elaborate lettering, and a good example of work of this period may be seen at Aylestone, where a bell was given by William Resevour about 1412. From an old chronology I find the following interesting statement 1491 Roger-de-Stafford the last of that family of bell founders in the town, died well stricken in years, and was buried in Saint Peters church. and was Succeeded in the "Arte and Craft of Belle foundynge" by one Willian Millers his son-in-law.

Thomas-de-Melton is mentioned as a belmaker' under the date 1368 and in the Freeman's List and Merchants Guild Roll in 1392 and then we find 'Will Nobull bellezettre' in documents of 1417 and 1423, and he is followed by Thomas Innocent 1458-1495. The chamberlain's accounts of St. Mary-de-Castro. Leicester. for 1490 has the entry: 'Itm. Payd to thos Innocent belyet for castynge ye moor cachecope bell ... xjs.' About this time William Millers above mentioned was admitted a member of the Merchants' Guild and described as 'Bell Heytan.' He was several times Chamberlain of the Borough and died 1508. His will is quoted in Thos. North's book. His widow married for her second husband Thomas Newcombe, who was a Freeman and member of the Merchants' Guild, and in 1518 Coroner. In his will he describes himself as 'fusor campanarius.' He carried on the business till his death in 1520 and was buried in All Saints', Leicester, where his tombstone, stripped of all its brasses and of the emblems (three bells) of his calling, is still to be seen on the north wall inside the tower.
He left two sons and three daughters, and his widow, Margery, now twice a widow, married yet again, this time Thomas Bett. He held several civic offices-auditor, steward, coroner and finally was Mayor 1529-30. In the latter capacity he is styled 'Bellfounder in All Saints' and 'ancestor of the Newcombs.' Several of his bells are still in existence in various parts of the country and he used a curious shield with a cross and a swastika, etc., upon it. He left nearly all his property to his son-in-law, Robert Newcombe, and so in this way became ' ancestor of the Newcombs.' Robert became a prosperous man and a founder of note. He purchased the great bell of Leicester Abbey (and probably others also) at the Dissolution, and exchanged it in 1542 for the cracked one of St. John's, Peterborough. In 1547 he received from the churchwardens of St. Martin's (now the Cathedral) "iiij hundredth and 2 qr of bras at xixs the hundreth,' this probably being, in part, effigies torn from the recumbent gravestones on the floor of the church. After serving the offices of steward of the Fair, coroner, auditor, bailiff, he was chosen Mayor in 1550 . He was also 'Churchwarden of All Hallows.'
At his death he left three sons-Thomas, Edward, Robert-all of whom were connected with the foundry. Thomas Newcombe II. is shown as 'primus filius Robti Newcombe,' and he, like his father, served many civic offices. In 1562 the townsmen of Melton Mowbray employed 'Mayster Newkom' to recast 'O' Ladye Bell' there. That bell, the 7th of the present ring, shows his mark bearing his initial, and this mark can be seen on many bells in this and neighbouring counties. He purchased the bells of the ancient St. Peter's Church, Leicester, when that church was pulled down in 1563-4. Robert Newcombe II. also did much good work which still exists, amongst others being the first bell at Gloucester Cathedral (1598).

Edward Newcombe, his brother, served several offices and in 1599 was Mayor, thus becoming yet another bell founder to fill that office. He had five sons and two daughters, of whom at least three sons were associated with him in the foundry. One of his most famous castings is at St. Mary's, Oxford, where he placed two lines of music. At this time there appears another foundry in Leicester-that of the Wattswhom we know sometimes worked in conjunction with the Newcombes. The first of this foundry, Francis Watts, served as steward, coroner and alderman (1599). His daughter Helen married Robert Newcombe II. and this established the partnership of the two foundries. Together they cast the bell of the Guild Chapel, Stratford-on-A von, and others.

Bells from the Watts foundry are all very fine castings and may be found in many parts of the country. Later came Hugh Watts, who after serving other offices was chosen Mayor in 1633, in which year King Charles paid a visit to Leicester. In the same year Watts cast the glorious ring of six at St. Margaret's, Leicester. After the passing of the Watts family, Edward Arnold, who had worked with and succeeded Joseph Eayre, of Kettering and St. Neots, came to Leicester and cast many bells here. Notable ones are the ring of five at Rothley (since increased to six), and a bell at Croyland Abbey bears his name. During the time Edward Arnold had his foundry here he also had one at St. Neots, into which he received as apprentice Robert Taylor, who, about 1780, succeeded to the business there. From thence he cast bells for many churches over a wide area. including three at Saxby in 1801 and three at Braunstone in 1812. After a time the business was transferred to Oxford and carried on by his two sons, John and William Taylor. In 1839 the business was moved to Loughborough, where it has remained ever since.
I could enlarge very much on the above, but I think it shows clearly that the art and craft of bell founding can be traced back through the several generations and different names and connecting families in an unbroken line to at least 1306.-Yours sincerely

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The 'Hoylandswaine' Cup contest and September meeting of the Barnsley District Society were held at Thrybergh, near Rotherham. The contest was rather disappointing as only two teams entered-Cawthorne and a mixed band. The better team lost as they rang out only a few minutes from the end. The mixed band were, therefore, the winners with a good score of faults.

Although the contest was small, the other part of the programme was a happy event as a splendid tea was arranged in the Church Hall by the local company, and a very hearty welcome was given by the Rector, who was thanked for the use of the bells and for presiding at the meeting. The best thanks were also given to the local company for what had been arranged.

Further ringing followed and some good practice was put in and, on the whole, it was a very enjoyable afternoon and evening.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD West Dorset Branch

On September 17th the West Dorset Branch held their quarterly meeting at Bradpole, which place some forty odd years ago was the birthplace of change ringing in West Dorset.
After Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Minor, all agreed that the 'go' of these bells was now anything but easy. Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung before the Guild service, which was conducted by the Rev. J. T. Davies, Vicar of Bradpole.
Tea was provided in the Forster Institute. Some excellent cheese was much appreciated!
As neither the chairman nor his deputy was present, the Vicar of Bradpole kindly accepted the invitation to take the chair for the business meeting. Apologies. were read from Canon C.
Cox, the Rev. O. L. Willmott (who missed a train on returning from holiday, otherwise ho would have been there), and from the Netherbury band one of whose members was being married that afternoon.
The annual meeting was fixed for December 3rd at Lyme Regis. The secretary gave notice that he would not be standing for re-election at the next annual meeting. The meeting expressed regret.
Mr. H. Keeley, on behalf of the branch, thanked Mr. Davies for all he had done to make the meeting a success, the ladies for the tea, the organist, and the lady " blower.

PEAL RINGING IN SOMERSET

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

INN one way, Somerset provides me with the most difficult task of all the counties, and that is in the number of towers where peals have been rung. It hasn't the most rings of bells amongst the counties, being second to Devonshire in this ( 329 compared with 371), but it is an easy first in the number of 'conquered' towers. No less than 262 rings have had peals on them (in the case of Devonshire it was 158), and the county which approaches nearest to this figure is Yorkshire, where just over 200 towers have had peals. Kent comes third with 195. Thus, in this article, I have the most churches to talk about of all the counties. The task is lightened by the fact that the number of peals concerned is not large. On the other hand, a large number of towers have had the same number of peals at them approximately, so if one is mentioned all would have to be. Thus 241 towers have had less than 20 peals, and, of these, 185 have less than 10. Thirty-three towers have only had two peals and another 39 only one peal.

No tower has yet reached a century of peals, the nearest to this mark being St. James', Taunton (8) and Twerton-on-Avon (8), both with 89. Prior to the last war, both these towers had a consistent average of about two peals a year from their first peals. Thus at Taunton, 37 peals came from 1895 to 1913 and 47 from 1919 to 1938, whilst at Twerton 47 were rung from 1888 to 1914 and 35 from 1920 to 1939. Similarly, both have not appeared so often in the peal lists since the last war (five and seven respectively).

Although not heard very often since 1913, Minehead (10) comes next on the list. Sixtyfive peals have been rung here, 53 of them from 1891 to 1913 (the first on the 10 was in 1907). Only 10 came between the wars and two since. Milverton (8), on the other hand, seems to be enjoying slightly better popularity after the last war. Fifteen of its 54 peals have come since then, whereas there were 20 from 1891 to 1914 and 19 from 1919 to 1939. The only other tower which has passed the 50 mark is Wraxhall (8), where the 51 peals are spread evenly over the period from 1888 . The last of the eight since the war was in 1952.

A SLACKENING

Several towers indicate that there has been a slackening off of peal ringing during the past year or two (that is also shown in the fewer peals registered by the Peals Analysis Committee of the Central Council, so Somerset echoes a general trend). This year, for instance, only 10 of the eight and upwards towers have had a peal rung at them so far (July 29th). No doubt this will increase rapidly when the usual West Country tours begin in the autumn.
To return to peal records, Dunster (8) comes next on the list with 46 . No less than 42 of these were rung from 1883 to 1911, so there haven't been many since! The only peal between the wars was in 1931 and the remaining three came from 1945 to 1950. Wrington ( 10 ) follows with 35 , eight from 1907 to 1914, 14 from 1919 to 1939 and 13 since 1945 (a slightly higher average at the moment than previously). Corston (8) went great guns at first. Twentyfour of the 31 peals were rung from the first in 1918 to 1928 (six in 1924) then came a big drop, for only four more were rung prior to 1939 and only three since the war (1948 to 1952).

Chewton Mendip (8) is enjoying its greatest popularity now. The first peal was in 1914, then 16 were rung from 1919 to 1938, and there have been 12 since 1946 -total 29 . Dit-cheat (8) has also 29.
Its history is almost exactly the same as Chewton Mendip-a single first peal before World War I. in 1913, 14 peals between the wars and 14 since (last in 1952). Then comes Evercreech (10) with 27. Twenty of these were rung when it was an 8 -bell tower-five from 1907 to 1914, 12 from 1919 to 1937 and three from 1945 to 1948. Since augmentation there have been seven.
We are beginning, now, to come to the bulk of the towers. There are 14 which have totals between 25 and 20 . These can be mentioned, but, after that, I fear it will become impossible to give more (it was stated above, in effect, that there are 60 towers between 10 and 20 peais). Of these 14 , Curry Rivel, Chilcompton and Portishead (all' 8 's) have 25 peals. The first and last of these have similar historieseight each before 1914, six and eight respectively between the wars and 11 and nine respectively since Chilcompton is rather like Ditcheat and Chewton Mendip-an odd one in 1911, 16 from 1923 to 1936 and eight since 1944. Wilton (8) has 24 . This was a 6 -bell tower at first, and 10 peals were rung between 1900 and 1927. After the trebles were added, 11 peals were rung from 1932 to 1938 . There have only been three since.

Yeovil (10) has also 24. Four were rung early on between 1893 and 1912, nine from 1925 to 1939 and 11 since 1946 , so this tower is doing better nowadays. Beckington and Drayton (both 8 's) each have 23 peals. At the former, seven from 1907 to 1914,13 from 1919 to 1938 and three from 1948, and at the latter three from 1893 to 1912, nine from 1924 to 1939 and 11 since 1945.

The heaviest ring of 10 in the country, Wells Cathedral has 22 peals. Four were rung from 1891 to 1905, 10 from 1918 to 1931 and eight from 1947 to 1954. At the 21 mark are Marston Bigott (8) and Wiveliscombe (8). At Marston, 18 were rung in a burst of enthusiasm from the time of its first peal in 1926 to 1936 . then there has been a single peal in each of the last three years. At Wiveliscombe, 10 were rung from 1897 to 1913, eight from 1919 to 1932 and three from 1949 to 1952 . Finally, at 20 peals sta ids the only 12 -bell tower in the county at Taunton and Carhampton (8). The popularity of the first was definitely in the past, for 15 peals were rung from 1885 to 1912. The remaining five were in 1923, 1930, 1931, 1936 and 1947. At Carhampton, nine were rung from 1903 to 1912 , seven from 1930 to 1935 (a short burst of activity) and four from 1945 to 1950. The one 10 -bell tower not mentioned above is Bath Abbey. Only four peals have been rung here-in 1906, 1919, 1947 and 1953. All the county's 8 -bell towers have had peals. Of the surviving 8 -bell towers, Christ Church, Walcot (Bath), has been silent the longest, its seven peals were all rung from 1889 to 1904 (the blitzed church of St. James', Bath, had its last peal in 1894). Many have not been heard for 20 years or more.

THE SIX-BELL TOWERS

So far, I have confined my observations to the 8 and upwards towers. Actually, there are two f-bell towers which are high up on the list of numbers of peals. They are Norton Fitzwarren with 38 peals and Radstock with 30. At the former no less than 30 were rung from 1899 to 1903 ! That was certainly good going! Seven more came from 1904 to 1913. But there has only been one peal since thenin 1953. I suppose it has been a case of a keen band being dispersed and never replaced. At Radstock, 22 peals were rung from 1920 to 1936 and eight from 1947 to 1951. One other tower has passed 20-Priston, with 21. The (Continued foot next column)

WEDDINGS

Mr. H. G. Hart-Miss Elsie K. Fulton
Two highly esteemed members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, Miss Elsie K. Fulton (Assistant Ringing Master of the North and East District) and Mr. H. George Hart (vice-president), were married in the presence of a large congregation on September 17th at All Saints', Harrow Weald, where both have been ringers for several years. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. M. Deasy, assisted by the Rev. W. N. Kingston and the Rev. N. A. Tuddenham.
Among those present were several ringers, including P. D. Beedie, H. D. Butler, Miss F. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mayne and J. R. Mayne (Harrow Weald), G. R. Goodship (Great Missenden and formerly of Harrow Weald), J. E. Rootes (Bushey), Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Goodfellow (Hillingdon), A. W. Coles (North Mimms), Miss S. Clayton, W. N. Genna and E. Thurlow (Pinner), Mrs. E. Savory (Ruislip), D. Hopgood E. J. Leversuch, Miss M. Mesley, E. C. S. Turner, W. Wenban and Miss J. Wilcockson (Stanmore).
Among the telegrams received was one from S. Warwick, a member of the local band, from Kuala Lumpar, where he is at present doing his National Service.
A peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was successfully rung after the wedding. We all wish the couple cvery happiness in the future.

Mr. P. N. White-Miss R. M. Brown

Members of the Newark District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild rang the bells of Southwell Minster for the wedding of one of their fellow members and former District Secretary. Mr. Peter N. White, who married Miss Ruth M. Brown on September 17 th.
The bridesmaids were Miss M. Fowkes, Miss J. Dolby and Miss B. N. White (bridegroom's sister). Miss B. N. White is a ringer at St. Giles', Balderton, where her brother is the Ringing Master.
best time here was in the 20 's, when 11 peals were rung. There was one in 1910 and three in the $30^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$, with six since 1946 . Towers with double figures are Ash Priors and Ashbrittle (19); Timsbury (15); Bishop's Hull, Trull and Wootton Courtenay (14); Camerton (13); Publow (12); Bathford, Rockwell Green and Ubley (11); and Bathampton, Shipham and Uphill (10). The country's heaviest 6-Queen Camel -has registered but six peals. The way the peals have been 'spread out' in this county is shown by the fact that only 16 of the 1826 -bell towers have not had a peal. They are Brislington, Butleigh, Combe St. Nicholas, Exford, Hawkridge, Kingston, Limington. Lymosham, Puriton, Road, Staple Fitzpaine, Over Stowey, Sutton Montis, Tickenham, Withypool and Merriott. This is a really remarkable record.
Of course, there are plenty of 5 -bell towers left to be conquered. But even here, the record is good, for 28 of the 76 have had one or more peals. The most have been rung at Monksilver-eight-all between 1907 and 1914 (another keen band which was dispersed, I expect). Sampford Brett's seven were all rung in that same period, also Heathfield's six peals have been spread out more-1902, 1938. 1939, and three in 1947 and 1948. Barton St. David, Charlton Queen and Kingweston each have three, then there are six towers with two peals and 16 with one peal.
So much for the county with some of the country's loveliest. and certainly the heaviest, bells Peals include all published up to July 29th, 1955.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

GIRL RINGERS' GRATITUDE TO INSTRUCTOR

Summer Festival at Culworth

Another outpost of the Diocesan Guild was visited on the occasion of the Guild's-Summer Festival on September 17th. The Culworth Branch gave a great welcome to all who made the long journey, which in some cases meant travelling through the territory of three other branches. For many this was the first opportunity to become acquainted with the branch, which consists mainly of village bands. Its beautiful churches, set in lovely surroundings, were seen at their best on such a wonderful day; this, with the music of some very interesting bells, provided us with much to remember with pleasure.

As always, the devotional side of the proceedings was observed, with the Guild Office in Culworth Church, which was almost filled to capacity. The Rector, the Rev. F. L. Murdin (Chairman of the local Branch), officiated, and the Guild Master, Mr. B. P. Morris, read the lesson. Mr. A. E. R. Walker, who, as well as being a keen ringer, is also the untiring secretary of the Culworth Branch, is in addition an accomplished organist, and he played for the service.

The village hall was full to overflowing when about 160 sat down for tea, very kindly provided by a band of local ladics. Before dispersing, a vote of thanks was proposed to the many whose efforts went to the making of such a happy and successful gathering. Mr. Walker in particular was a mine of information and a source of strength in the arrangements.

Culworth has a very nice ring of five bells rung from the ground floor in an attractive chamber open on three sides, the result of the north and south aisles continuing to the west end. Its near neighbour, Middleton Cheney, with six bells of great beauty, was envied by many. Another village to interest the ringers was Chacombe, a ring of six, once the home of Henry Bagley, the bell-founder, who lies on the south side of the church. A memorial stone marks the spot. but the inscription is fast becoming unreadable. It was erected about the year 1700 and on the reverse side is recorded a restoration at the end of the last century. If this link with the past is not to be lost a further restoration seems to be necessary.

Soon after leaving this peaceful scene the shades of night came down, but bells were still waiting to be rung, and it was at least 9 p.m. before the last were rung down at the end of a most enjoyable afternoon. G. W. J.

AMERICAN HAND BELL FESTIVAL

On August 26th, 27th and 28th the American Guild of English Hand Bell Ringers held their second Annual Festival at Ipswich, near Boston. Ringers, with their bells of three octaves chromatic scale, attended from 18 states. One team came from Texas, a distance of over 2,000 miles, and Mr. E. Weatherby came from Los Angeles, some 3,000 miles. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, on London, also attended the Festival before going to Canada.

The skilful way Mrs. Hughes handled her bells was much admired and also the doublehandled tunes rung by Mr. and Mrs. Hughes. Mrs. Arthur A. Shurcliff, the president, also took part in ringing Grandsire Triples and Stedman and a double-handed course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Mr. Somers Sturges -ringing 3-4 and 5-6. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves and it was decided to again hold next year's Festival at Castle Hill. Ipswich.

©URROUNDED by his charming band of young ringers is Mr. W. A. Goldstone, of Addlestone, Surrey, who on the occasion of his 70th birthday was presented by them with an eight-day striking clock. The presentation was made on their behalf by the Vicar (the Rev. C. E. Sylvester) after morning service recently. Mr. Goldstone also received a box of chocolates from the youngest member of the band.

For several years Mr. Goldstone has been instructor to the band, cycling nine miles to church on a Sunday and again for the weekly practice.

His enthusiasm is exemplified by the following activities on the ringers' behalf in one week: Sunday for service ringing; Monday to give two girls their first lesson: Wednesday for weckly practice; Saturday to attend to ropes that were wearing.

The idea of the gift came entirely from the girls.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Secretary's Notice of Resignation

At the general meeting of the Suffolk Guild, held at Beccles on September 24th, the fine ring of ten was ringing from 3 p.m., and at 4.30 an adjournment was made for the service, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Mr. Hares. The two hymns, 'Rock of Ages, and 'Thy Kingdom Come, O God,' were heartily sung, and the lesson, which was taken from Philippians iv., 'Rejoice in the Lord alway,' was read by the hon. general secretary (Mr. C. W. Pipe). The theme of the sermon was 'Remember what you are ringing for.' An altogether pleasant short service.

At the business meeting Mr. Edwin Goate took the chair and was supported by Mr. Claude Rush, vice-president, Mr. Hares and the general secretary and minutes secretary.

The chairman welcomed the visitors, who included Messrs. J. Harwood, G. Howlett, Ben Thompson, H. Took and many other Norfolk ringers.

Mr. Ben Thompson and Mr. John Barnes were elected life members, Mrs. K. Bickers and Mr. Hares honorary members and Mr. Paul Mace ringing member.

The general secretary said he was elected to that office in April, 1945, and, having served 10 years, he felt he needed a rest. He felt very sure a change of secretary would be beneficial to Church, Guild and ringers, and he hoped someone would come forward to take over. He, therefore, formally gave three months' notice of his resignation. which would take effect as from December 31st next.

Mr. Claude Rush thanked Mr. Pipe for his work. It was decided to hold the next general meeting at Woodbridge on December 17th.

THE LADIES' GUILD

A joint meeting of the West Midland District and the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Tamworth, Staffs, on Sept. 17 th .
A party travelling by special bus from Leicester and district, kindly arranged by Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Warwick, called to ring at Ashby-dc-la-Zouch on the outward journey.

The fine ring of eight bells of St. Editha's, Tamworth, was set going during the afternoon and evening to a variety of methods.
A short service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Birch. who welcomed the Ladies' Guild to the ancient church and stated how pleased he was to see so many young people present.

A large gathering sat down to a really excellent tea, provided by the ringers and their wives, and served in the nearby Church Hall. Amongst the many good things to eat was a lovely iced cake, and on it was depicted 'George' pulling a bell rope. Miss Thompson, vice-president of the Midland District, after showing the cake to the company present, promptly asked George to cut it: this task he executed in a most efficient manner!
Miss Thompson thanked everyone concerned, and a party flavour was added to the meeting when Mr. Birch, himself extremely interested in campanology, told several stories of when he learnt to ring a bell 40 years ago.

Then came the parting of the ways, the gentlemen going to the tower to continue their ringing, whilst the two districts of the Ladies' Guild held their respective business meetings.

The Leicester party rang at Overseal, Netherseal and Measham on their homeward journey, thus completing an enjoyable half-day.

Everyone agreed that this first joint meeting between the two districts had been most successful.

OBITUARY

MR. T. W. HAMMOND

Mr. Thomas William Hammond, of St. Nicholas', Pierhead, Liverpool, died on Sept. 14th after a long and painful illness at the age of 74 years. So passed one of Liverpool's oldest ringers, both in age and length of service. His ringing career lasted close on 60 years and his membership of the Lancashire Association dated from 1897.

Tom was very well known in Lancashire and Cheshire ringing circles, in which counties he did practically all his ringing. In his early days he rang regularly with his father at the proCathedral Church of St. Peter, Church Street, Liverpool. This church has long since disappeared and Woolworth's Store stands on the site which it occupied. When all ringing ceased at St. Peter's, Tom Hammond transferred to St. Nicholas' at the Pierhead, and remained a faithful member of the band there right up to the time of his death

Tom was what is popularly called a colourful personality. He loved ringing and he loved to argue about ringing. He expressed his views in a very forthright manner which some found a trifle disconcerting. But when he was in a good mood then the sun really shone and he was a delightful companion. Everybody liked him. As a ringer when in his prime he was one of the best in the district-a good method ringer mainly at the light end and an excellent striker.

He had a serious illness in July, 1954, while he was working in the South of England and was rushed off to Tonbridge Hospital for an emergency operation. His life at the time was despaired of, but he recovered and returned to Liverpool in the following month. In the September of that year he resumed attendance at St. Nicholas' and actually took part in a touch of four courses of Stedman Cinques for evensong on September 19th.

This, within three months of a major operation and at the age of 73 , is indicative of the tough indomitable spirit of the man.

Not a prolific peal ringer by modern standards, he rang altogether 307 peals, mostly for the Lancashire Association, and his peal book consists mainly of cuttings from 'The Ringing World.' These are annotated in his own handwriting. giving, in characteristic fashion, his verdict on the peal. Many are labelled, 'A good peal ' or 'A very fair peal,' but there is at least one which has written against it, 'A very bad peal,' and looking at the record now, even after his death, we can almost feel the disgust which he must have felt at the time.

He leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter. The cremation took place at Anfield Crematorium on September 17 th, and by a most unfortunate coincidence this was a date of the St. Nicholas' ringers' annual outing. So only one or two of his colleagues at St. Nicholas were able to be present. The remainder on their outing took part in a special service of remembrance, conducted by the Rector of Liverpool, the Rev. Canon R. Nelson, at the first church visited, which was at Witton, near Northwich. P. W. C.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Christ Church, Poplar. Cubitt Town, was visited by the Northern District for their quarterly meeting on September 17th. Ringing under the direction of the District Ringing Master, Mr. C. A, Hughes, commenced at 4 p.m. Evensong was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. D. H. P. Priest, who gave a very cordial welcome to the Association. Tea followed in the Church Hall, where members were joined by the Vicar and his assistant.
Some very good touches ranging from Grandsire Triples to Yorkshire Surprise Major were rung during the afternoon and evening.

DABBLING

LOVERS of that delicate classic, 'The Wind in the Willows,' will recollect that we have it on the authority of Kenneth Grahame, speaking by the mouth of Water Rat, that there is exquisite pleasure in messing about in boats. Boating enthusiasts are sure to agree. For them the enjoyment of the river, with its eternal forward urge, its arcades of Gothic greenery and its smooth water meadows, is dependent on the boat; and all the affairs of the boat, the cleaning of it, the painting of it, the stocking of it for a trip-these and kindred activities connected with the craft provide joys anticipatory or pleasures reflective.

In the world of change ringing J. A. Trollope was fond of drawing our attention to the pleasures of messing about with figures. For him, as doubtless for not a few, the full enjoyment of the wonders of change ringing, with its neverending avenues of exploration, the beauty of its patterns, and the wonder of its natural laws, depended upon something more than the actual ringing in the tower. It was due to this conviction that he wrote so much on the theory of ringing and instructed so earnestly in dabbling with pencil and paper. He was to the end of his life active in urging the pleasure, fascination, and ultimate practical value, of exercising oneself in the pricking of changes and the construction of touches and peals.
Many have benefited by his instruction and have been led into intricate explorations or wide fields of investigation undreamt-of before. These men have achieved marvels of mathematical construction, and the results of their labours are with us in the form of methods and compositions available for our diversion. But for the humbler curiosity also there is a simple activity, a relaxation from actual ringing, a recreation perhaps, and a pastime of considerable incidental value. It may be pursued without any exalted aim and without any great mathematical ability, and the results of it may add very little to the great book of change ringing knowledge. It will, nevertheless, give to a ringer a much clearer insight into what he is ringing, and for the conductor of moderate aspirations it may shed a new and delightful ray of light to illuminate what has possibly become rather dull routine.

But, just as to mess about in a boat one must know something of the construction of the boat. and to dabble safely in the river one must have some knowledge of the nature of rivers, so, in order to experiment in change ringing, one must be clear in the mind over the simple principles of the science. These are no great trouble to the patient inquirer. He should know, to begin with, how rows are pricked from one to the next, and how the making of a place affects the run of the rows. He must be able to write out blocks of changes by the lead heads and to write out courses by course ends. Simple proof of Grandsire and Plain Bob by lead heads is not difficult and is sufficient for the making up of short touches.

Armed with this (or with very little more) knowledge, let the student now experiment with Grandsire Doubles. He will discover, it is to be feared, no new extents, but he may gain much from bobbing here and there and trying to bring the bells round by putting the 4th into the hunt and calling her out at the appropriate moment. He may dabble, too, in the effects of singles and in how to bring the bells round at handstroke. These matters, though simple, are far from childish and are by no means without value. The man who can go into the tower and call Grandsire Doubles, mixing up the rows, splicing one extent into another, and calling the bells round in unexpected ways, may have considerable fun with this elementary activity, and will provide more interest for his fellow-ringers than may be found in the conventional six-scores.
Let the dabbler now proceed to Plain Bob Minor and, having satisfied himself of the effects of bobs and singles at Home and the impact of bobs Before, let him part 5 and 6 . Then let him experiment with bringing the tenors together again either by calling the 6 th to run in until 5 makes the bob, or by calling the 5th to run out until 6 dodges in 5-6 up. Then let him decide the interesting question as to which of these two means it is best to use if the bells are to be brought round in the quickest possible time. After this, the fact that two singles running bring the same lead end as two bobs running may give opportunity for further enterprise.

Grandsire Triples provide the ideal playground for entertainment. Here there is great scope for the construction of touches, exploiting transpositions of 567, bringing the bells round at handstroke or backstroke from any position and, above all, working out the means and methods of getting and using to the full such musical terminations as $46,74,67,246$ and 654 . There is, the student may be assured, a minor thrill in the finding of a touch running a whole plain course and coming round at hand, or in the delicious discovery that from 753246 a single the next lead puts the touch into the plain course. Many and varied are the possibilities of this method.

Here indeed is a pastime away from the tower, suitable for the railway journey, the waiting room, the showery day at the cricket ground. Here we may mess about with impunity, dabble without harm to anyone, and may, if we wish, turn our play activity to good practical use. E. C. S.

Ringers wild be pleased to have in their ranks the junior girl discus champion of England in Miss Josephine Clark, of Chalfont St. Peter. Josie started to learn ringing last January, and on September 24th for Harvest Festival rang her first 720 of Bob Minor. Congratulations, Josie !

The Ashford District of the Kent County Association have gained 20 adult and 14 junior members during the past year.
The ringer of the fourth bell in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Douglas-inParbold (page 596) should be Gordon L. E. Craine and not as submitted.

A much appreciated gift to St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, was a new set of ropes by Mr. Leonard H. Baber while home on leave from India.

It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Mrs. Roberts, the wife of the Rev. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay. The sympathy and prayers of many friends will be extended to him and Evangeline.
The quarter peal at Cirencester on September 21 st was the first for 12 -years-old Peter J. Lewis, the grandson of the conductor, Mr. F. J. Lewis. Three generations took part in the performance.
Congratulations to Robert C. Kippin, who rang his first 10 -bell peal, the second to Cambridge Surprise Royal, at Southampton last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Kippin also participated. Robert is certainly 'a chip of the old block.
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead writes that the recent peal at Holy Trinity, Guildford, was the $300 t h$ on the bells. Since 1899 there have appeared 299 peals in the ringing press, of which one was false. Two peals were rung which one was previous to 1899.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Ringing is progressing at Cape Town with two quarters of Grandsire Triples in this issue. The quarter on September 5th followed a failure in a peal attempt. The composition selected was one by the Rev. Canon G. H. Ridout, who spent some years in Johannesburg. There were three ringers who had settled in the country since the war, and another who came after the 1914-18 War in the Settlers' Day quarter.

Mr. Jack L. Millhouse had a successful week in the Midlands with Birmingham friends and came away with five Surprise peals 'in the bag.'

Hopes are entertained that the tower of Liverpool Cathedral will be handed over by the builders very shortly. Dean Dwelly recently retired.
Mr. F. B. H. Sinkins, of Slough, now 90 years of age, rang in a quarter peal at Slough on September 25th, commemorating the only quarter peal rung on the original six bells for harvest festival on September 24th, 1871. He rang in this quarter 74 years ago.
Leicester’s veteran, Mr. John O. Lancashire, now aged 90 , played his first game of bowls while on holiday at Cromer. He still goes to work every day, coming into Leicester by bus. Readers will recall that he rang a peal of Stedman Triples 'in hand ' on January 16th this year to mark his 90 th birthday.
When the Northern District of the Surrey Association held their meeting at St. Mary's, Ewell, on September 24th, 26 members and four visitors were present. Owing to the absence on holiday of the Ringing Master (Mr. F. E. Collins), Mr. Royal Davies (the Master of the Association) took the chair. Tea was provided by local ladies, and the Rev. V. P. Davis conducted the service.

SPIRITUAL BLESSING OF CHURCH BELLS

A Bishop's Message To His Diocese

The Bishop of Peterborough (the Right Rev Spencer Leeson) devotes his letter in the September issue of the Peterborough Diocesan Leaflet to the use of bells in the service of the Church. He writes:-
On Whit Monday I attended the annual meeting of the Diacesan Guild of Bellringers; and, before then and since then, I have refiected much upon the real spiritual blessings that church bells and those who ring them are bringing to our people, including many who never attend a service. I believe England leads the world in the use that she makes of her church bells for religious purposes. They do not, as far as my experience goes, have much in the way of peals in French or Italian churches, and in Belgium, which is perhaps the cradle of this great art, the bells are used for many secular purposes. In this country ringing is, and has for a long time been, recognised as an authentic voice of the Church, and it would be difficult to set any limit to the influence of the bells on the thousands who hear them, though perhaps they may be hardly aware that they are hearing them.
There was immense rejoicing in my old parish at Southampton when the bells pealed for the first time after the blitz; and here are two conversations, each of a different kind, reported to me by a parish priest in this diocese who makes a point of ringing a single bell each time he goes to church to say his office heard the bell this morning, Vicar, and 1 knew what you were at.' This was from one farm labourer on his way to work. A few days afterwards another said . . . 'I heard you ringing the bell this morning, and it isn't Sun-day-what was that for?' . . . 'I was in the church to say my prayers' . . 'Prayers?who for?' 'Well, for you among others' . . 'Well, i had no idea parsons ever prayed for the likes of me.' That was just the voice of a single bell; what must be the effect of a great peal of six or eight, or even ten, such as we can often hear in these counties? Somebody once said-and I know what he meant although he put it rather crudely-that when church bells and Christmas cards were invented, the devil was asleep.
I often wish the practice of ringing the Angelus could be revived, especially in the villages. All of you will remember the famous picture-the man and the woman pausing in their work in the field and bowing their heads -far in the distance a little church, and though the picture cannot speak, we know that the Angelus is ringing in the noon-day heat, and the workers are pausing in prayer to remember the promise that the Divine Child would be born. The Holy Spirit bids us use every means available to our hands-and to leave the results to His working. No one could ever measure what the bells do for those who are sick and cannot leave their rooms-or indeed what they do for many fit and hale folk who otherwise would never think of God.

Far, far away, like bells at evening pealing '-
Sometimes on my journeys, especially when travelling over high ground on a Sunday evening in summer time, I can hear half-a-dozen towers ringing out their message; and I thank God for them and for those who ring in them, and I most earnestly hope that a due succession of young people is being trained in the great, notle and deeply religious art of change-ringing for the glory of God and the comfort of His people.

NEW PRESIDENT OF POLICE GUILD
Mr. Richard Benson, of 43. High Bank Drive, East Didsbury, Manchester, was elected president of the National Guild of Police Ringers at the annual meeting of the Guild at Northampton on September 17th. He succeeds the late Mr. Harold Poole.

Dick. Benson, as he is affectionately known to all his comrades, is a constable in the Manchester City Police Force. He is the genial and popular leader of the police band of ringers who practise on the heavy ring (13) at the Manchester Town Hall. Because of the nature of his calling, his peal ringing activities are somewhat restricted and most of his peals have been rung in the neighbourhood of Manchester. He has been a very loyal member of the Police Guild since its inception and also of the Lancashire Association, being secretary of the Manchester Branch.

Maidstone Grammar Schools* Change Ringing Society

The first annual meeting of the Society was held at East Malling on September 17th. The bells were raised and ringing commenced soon after 3 o'clock. This was the first occasion on which the bells had been rung since the restoration of the tower. The Rev. B. J. Wigan conducted a very enjoyable service and invited the Society to have their tea in the Vicarage.
At the business meeting the following officers and committee were elected: President, Mr. G. I. F. Thomson; Ringing Master, Miss F. A. Chantler; secretary, Miss P. J. Butcher; treasurer, J. Hooker; committee, Miss B. Brooks, Miss E. King, C. Dring and S. Scott. On returning to the belfry, they were joined by members of the K.C.A., who helped the Society with change ringing.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Successful Meeting at Guiseley

A very successful meeting of the Western District was held at St. Oswald's, Guiseley, on September 17 th, attended by over 50 members representing 20 towers. The tuneful Gillett and Johnston octave was raised early in the afternoon and kept going until tea time and again during the evening until 9 o'clock. A much wider variety of methods than usual was rung, ranging from call changes and Plair Bob to Cambridge, Yorkshire, London and Bristol Surprise. The importance of good striking was not overlooked and here too there appeared to have been a good measure of improvement.

An excellent tea was served in the Parish Hall, and this was followed by the business meeting, Mr. T. W. Strangeway being elected to the chair in the absence in the vice-president. Votes of thanks were accorded to the church authorities and local company, particularly Mr. A. C. Walsh, who was mainly responsible for making the most efficient arrangements

Three new members were elected, viz., Messrs. P. Whitehead, A. P. Schofield and R. Shaw, all of Marsden.

The secretary reminded members that this year's Snowdon Commemoration Dinner was to be held at the Guildford Hotel. Leeds, on Oct. 15th. It was hoped that this important social function would receive the full support of the district.

Mr. Frederick G. H. May, who was a member of the Central Council from 1900 to 1909, and now lives at Cape Town, is the uncle of the England cricket captain, Mr. Peter May. Mr. May, who was born in January, 1864, is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and was Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association from 1901 to 1905. He has rung 666 peals.

THE VETERANS CAME TO LONDON FOR REUNION

A most successful reunion in London of 'Old Timers' rewarded the efforts of Mr. A. W. Coles, who had organised it. Even the weather was on its best behaviour, and it was a very large party that met on a glorious September afternoon at St. Olave's, Hart Street, City. Here they were able to enjoy ringing on the new musical ring of eight, recently restored. They were also able to inspect the church and admire the beautiful oak pews and carved oak screens that have been installed. It was good to see this historic church, now fully restored in all its glory. The Rector (the Rev. A. Powell-Miller) is to be congratulated on his hard work in bringing this about. As he welcomed the visitors as they arrived, it was easy to see his great love for the place, and his pride fully justified-in the work that had been done.
St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, was next visited. and further ringing in various methods was enjoyed. Memories of that late giant of ringing, Matt. Wood, and the past exploits of the Ancient Society of College Youths were recalled by the numerous peal boards which adorn the ringing room.

The party then returned to the City to take tea in the Hall at the rear of St. Botolph's Church, Bishopsgate. This Hall has been beautified by the Fan Makers' Company, who hold their meetings there, and prominently displayed over the chairman's seat is a most beautiful example of their work.

The Rector of St. Botolph's (Preb. H. H. Treacher) gave a warm welcome to the visitors, and said how much the church valued the work of the ringers, and particularly that of the older members, who saw to it that the art continued to flourish, and that the newcomers were instructed so that they could carry on when the older ones had completed their work. He was very pleased to welcome them and hoped they would come again.

Mr. A. W. Coles then took the chair, supported by Messrs. F. V. Sinkins (90), W. T. Elson (88) and I. Emery (84). A sumptuous tea was served by Mrs. N. Davis and her lady assistants, and was much enjoyed by all. Mr. Coles then read apologies for absence from Mr. E. A. Young (91) and many others who were unable to attend. There were about 60 present and the average age was 69 . The. combined ages of the company was no less than 3,852 years.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. A. W. Coles for his cfforts in bringing old friends together; to the Rev. H. H. Treacher for the use of that beautiful Hall; to the Rectors of St. Olave's and St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, for the use of their bells; to Mrs. Davis and the ladies who served tea; and to those who had kindly supplied transport. He said that the happy thought by Mr. Coles in arranging the gathering had been crowned by success, and all were deeply grateful for this opportunity of meeting old friends, and of seeing men who had left their mark on the Exercise. He trusted it was the first of many such gatherings.

Mr. Coles briefly acknowledged and said his pleasure and reward came from the happiness he saw in all the faces around him.

Photographs were taken, and handbells were brought out, and touches of Stedman Triples and Caters, Double Norwich and Grandsire Cinques were rung.

Reminiscences took up the remainder of the evening, and the whole affair was voted unanimously a great success.

We hope to publish a picture at a later date.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OLDHAM BELLS

Dear Sir,-I have heard Oldham bells both from inside and outside and have rung upon them, and in my opinion Pilgrim's description of them as a beautiful twelve spoiled only by the swaying tower' is quite correct.

Mr. Hudson's, description of them as an 'appalling ring' and as having 'indifferent tone ' is simply untrue.

When I rang here five years ago they certainly did not 'go' remarkably badly, nothing like, for example, Cornhill twelve-they required 'handling,' of course, as do any bells in a rocking tower, such as Beverley Minster or my town tower, Leeds Parish Church, where the tower sways even when the trebles are turned over singly.

As to Oldham bells being the worst twelve in Lancashire, Mr. Hudson is, of course, entitled to his opinion, but personally I would place them third, with St. Nicholas', Liverpool, beyond all shadow of doubt first (and one twelvebell ringer of wide experience rates St. Nicholas first in the whole country), and Manchester Town Hall a good second.

I do not dispute that a lighter ten would be more suitable than a heavy twelve at Oldhamand Oldham is not alone in this respect-but the fact remains that Oldham has had a ring of 12 with a tenor of at least 33 cwt . since 1830 , and if the ringers have failed to convince the powers-that-be they have themselves largely to blame.

Surely it was inconsistent to confine ringing to the front eight on the grounds that the back bells were pulling the tower down and then to recruit a first-class peal band to ring a twelvebell peal, thereby demonstrating that not only could the bells be rung non-stop for about four hours, but that they could be rung well into the bargain?

Oldham bells would give a very different account of themselves if they were hung in a tower of the size of Tewkesbury Abbey or Worcester Cathedral-it is simply a case of a good ring of twelve wasted in an eight-bell tower.-Yours, etc.,

Leeds.

IMMANUEL OR ROSSENDALE  \section*{SURPRISE?}

Dear Sir,-Regarding Mr. D. P. Jones' query in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World, perhaps I can explain how the two names for the same method came about as I was the one who put the method together in about 1903. It consists of London below the treble and Woodbine above.

When we rang the first 720 at Immanuel Church. Oswaldtwistle. I sent the method to - The Bell News." A little white after a clergyman ringer, since deceased. objected to the name Immanuel as being too sacred for use in ringing vocabulary, so the name was changed to Rossendale.

Rossendale Valley is about five miles from Immanuel Church, Oswaldtwistle.-Yours sincerely.

VARIETY IN GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

Dear Sir,-I regret that the quarter peal given in my article which contains 85 calls out of 90 leads is false, and my thanks are due to Mr. E. C. Shepherd (no relation) and others who pointed this out to readers. I trust the following quarter, also with 85 calls, will take its place :- S.B.B.S.S.S.S.B.B.S.B.S.S.B.B.S. plain lead. S. Four times repeated.

Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.
Addlestone, Surrey.

IRREGULAR MINOR METHODS

Dear Sir,-Mr. D. P. Jones is, of course, quite correct when he points out (' The Ringing World,' page 603) that Munden and Merton is - Tintern and not 'Marsden,' as given in my tables.

I don't, however, quite follow his argument in the second paragraph of his letter where he states that: "All the other (irregular) methods listed can be rung above or below the treble giving the necessary variety, etc.'
If this argument was carried to its logical conclusion, there would be little point in ringing any but the 36 basic methods I gave in my article, as all others could be regarded as variations of them.
To regard irregular Minor methods as less musical is fallacious, but I agree with Mr. Jones that they may give more trouble to the conductor. Most conductors worthy of the name would welcome this as a means of securing additional interest, but, as I have pointed out before, the 5th can still be made sub-observation if required and a little work with pencil and paper would soon familiarise the conductor with the suitable calling and the position of all the bells at, and between, the calls.
One point I neglected to mention in my article (which at the time of writing this letter has not been published in toto) was the use of the Skipton group of 'backworks'-numbers 14, 15, 16 and 17-in forming Surprise methods. It seems odd that these four will not couple with any lead-end to make a regular Surprise method, but by allowing irregular lead-ends, four new groups of Surprise are formed with Westminster, Cambridge, London and Munden lead-ends.

All of them, with perhaps the exception of Fotheringay, are more interesting to ring than, say, Hull or Bourne Surprise.

With regard to the peal mentioned by Mr. Jones, I am afraid I cannot help him, but I should imagine that if it was rung any length of time ago (no date was given) it would have been Rossendale Surprise.-Yours sincerely,

Wakeficld.  H. CHANT.

OUR FRIENDS IN NEW ZEALAND

Dear Sir, - A great welcome awaits any ringer who is likely to visit New Zealand.

This wekome and indeed warm friendship of the New Zealand befi-ringers has been experienced by one of my young ringers at St. Margaret's, King's Lynn.
In August of last year Miss Betty Dyer informed me that she was going to New Zealand with her mother and sister for one year.
I immediately wrote a letter to Mr. Nelson Sloan, secretary of the Christchurch Cathedral ringers, telling him of Betty's intended visit. On receipt of, my letter Mr. Sloan visited Betty's address and found that her party had arrived two days previously. He invited Betty to the Cathedral tower and on the following practice night she received a great welcome from all the members present. This was the beginning of her regular attendances, and it was not long before she was made an honorary overseas member of the Cathedral Society. At the end of ten months it was time for Betty to bid farewell to her friends 'down under,' and at her last practice with them they presented her with a black leather writing case suitably inscribed in gold lettering.

During her visit Betty made two broadcasts and on each occasion was asked to give an account of her bell-ringing activities.
As captain and secretary of St. Margaret's Society, King s Lynn, I would like through 'The Ringing World, to tender my sincere thanks to Mr. Sloan and all members of Christchurch Cathedral. New Zealand, for the friendship and many kindnesses which they have lavished on Betty during her visit to their country.-Yours sincerely, King's Lynn. NORMAN V. HARDING.

THE BEAUTY OF THE BELLS,

Dear Sir,-Following on the recent Central Council resolution regarding synthetic bells. passed at the 1954 meeting in Newcastle, a cutting from the 'Church of England Newspaper would seem to indicate that we have a new commercial development to deal with. In this atomic age we have been 'graced' with the electronic organ, and now we are to have its progeny, the electronic bell.

The wording of the advertisement is very subtle, I think. It implies a certain appreciation of the ringer's skill and a sympathy with the hard-pressed church treasurer of to-day, while deprecating the idea of mechanical systems of recorded bells. And apart from the relative low cost of and the economy of space necessary for installation, appeal will be made to many by the requirement of the humanfactor in operation. The suggestion of fraud or contravention of performing rights is dispensed with and the 'ringer' can feel with untroubled conscience that he is truly giving a service to the Church. No doubt we ringers are to regard these benefits as our share of the new gospel of automation!
I wonder how Diocesan Chancellors are going to regard this innovation when applications for such faculties are made to them? I should be glad to know if any of your readers have come across these electronic installations in churches and what impressions were gained. - Yours sincerely,

K. ARTHUR.

Newcastle-upon-Tyne.
[Note-The advertisement is headed, 'Do not forgo the beauty of the bells,' and describes electronic bells in which any peal or tune can be played on a keyboard by one person. An eight-bell system with normal sound equipment costs $£ 370$ plus the cost of installing.]

THEBERTON'S BELLS

Dear Sir , - An inquiry in "The Ringing World of September 9th asks for news of churches with thatched roofs. Suffolk had many of these, but I can only think of two at the moment. (I have been in bed for two weeks with grumbling appendix.) First, my own church, Theberton, and one $2 \frac{1}{2}$ miles miles away at Westleton. Taking the latter first, Westleton has no tower, but it has one small bell used for tolling.
Theberton has a tower of Saxon origin. a round tower with an octagonal shape from the bell chamber. The bells of Theberton number five with a tenor of 7 cwt . (now at the Loughborough Bell Foundry). They were recast in 1875 from four old bells dated $1553,1595,1614$. 1663. the latter by John Darbie. A book of poems was published in 1874. I presume in aid of the bell fund (see 'The Ringing World. August 26th, 1955), with the inscription taken from the old bell dated 1595 and used as the last line in each verse, 'Facti sumus in honorem Domini," translated as "We were made to honour the Lord.

Now with the bells down our job is raising enough money to rehang them, and they require a new frame, headstocks, wheels, ropes and all other fittings with the addition of a new treble bell to make six at the cost of almost $£ 1.000$. A big sum for a small village to find, but I am happy to say that through a recent effort $£ 121$ has been paid into the bell fund.

An appeal was made in 'The Ringing World last year in aid of our bell fund. Since then I have been thinking about all the odd bells there are in various places all over the country. Many have not been heard for years, many have not been seen for years, some forgotten. I appeal to all ringers who may know of such a bell to bring this letter before their P.C.C. and suggest a gift to Theberton, a gift that would be very much appreciated by all Theberton, and the bell put to its intended use (' Facti sumus in honorem Domini ') in the near future. -Yours faithfully,
A. R. BRIDGES.

THE INSTRUCTOR TELLS HIS STORY

Dear Sir,-With the advent of the dark evenings no doubt many bands will be starting their winter practices again, and some keen young ringers with more experience than the rest will sally forth full of hope to give help at some outlying tower where they think their heip will be appreciated, and with the arrival of spring we shall read glowing accounts of the progress the band has made during the winter monthsperhaps!

For my part I seldom go out to winter practices these days, for 1 have met with so much apathy, lack of interest and poor attendance that I have decided it is a waste of time in many cases.

The following pen-picture is intended to portray the kind of thing I have been up against.

The captain of a tower, probably some six miles distant, informs mc they would like to take up change ringing, but it is rather difficult as none of the band knows anything about it and, the village being more or less off the beaten track, they do not get many visitors. In a moment of weakness 1 offer to go over and give them what help I can, and the captain promises to let me know when the practices start.

In the meantime I write out a plain course of Grandsire Doubles, marking the path of the treble in pencil and that of a working bell in ink. I append in the simplest terms full instructions for ringing this intricate method. This I send to the conductor asking him to get his ringers to study it so that they will have some idea what to do when I arrive.

Eventually I get a postcard saying a practice is being arranged for such and such an evening at 7.30. Having had tea and feeling fresher, I prepare to set off on my pedal-cycle. It has been rather a foggy day and I feel sure my wife thinks I am a little mad to go out again. Perhaps she is right. The first couple of miles or so of my journey is via a good secondclass road. then I turn down a narrow bylane. The trees are dripping with moisture from the mist, and from time to time I receive a shower down the back of my neck. There is not a soul about. Silence and Cimmerian darkness reign supreme. What a topping place for a murder!
Sudderly the scream of a vixen echoes from the wood on the right (truly an eerie sound). The dog fox answers from the fields away to the left. a large white owl disturbed by the beam of my acetylene lamp flies noiselessly from the oak tree just ahead. The vixen calls again.

I press on, my thoughts intent on the task ahead. I hope they will all turn up and try their best. Perhaps a course of Original might be better to start with just plain hunting for everybody. Surely we can manage those ten changes to-night. "Hello, what's that looking over the hedge in front?: "Oh, it's only that big old Friesian bull I noticed in the field one day last week.' He rubs his horns in the hedge as 1 pass and utters a low bellow. My speed increases perceptibly.

Arriving at the village. I find the church in darkness, but as the 'ting-tang ' quarters have just intimated the time is 7.30 , perhaps they won't be long. I put my bicycle in the porch and sit down on the stone seat; it's a little warmer in there-but not much.

A quarter to eight, still no sign. The minutes drag by. Surely I haven't made a mistake in the day-it must be nearly 8 o clock by now. At last I hear footsteps approaching and, looking out, perceive a man carrying a lantern coming up the path. "Hope at last!"

It turns out to be the captain, who greets me with words of cheer. "Not a very nice night." 'I don't expect much of a turn-up to-night. Bob's gone to a football committee meeting to pick a team to play on Saturday, and Bert's gone to a whist drive in the next village. You won't get Bert to come ringing if there's whist drive anywhere about.'

It is well after eight when two young men come hurrying up. 'We've just been to Bill's house, they announce. "His wife says he's gone to bed as he has a cold.

Well we've had it for to-night, says the captain. 'No use going up there to ring four bells.' We go outside: it is starting to rain. 'It'll wash away the fog,' says the captain. Turning to me, 'Sorry you've had your journey for nothing, he says. 'I'll let you know when we arrange another practice.' I do not reply. No doubt he reads my thoughts. I 'plod my weary way ' home and arrive wet and dispirited.

A $\log$ is burning in the grate and the kettle is singing. Yes! I think I was rather mad to go out; shall know better another time.

CALLINGS TO FIVE AND SIX BELL

PEALS
Dear Sir,-May I register a small protest against the growing tendency of some conductors to report five or six bell peals in a particular method without indicating the number of callings?

Although, undoubtedly, each and every peal. however humble, possesses its own individual merit, there is a considerable difference between, say, peals of Grandsire or Stedman Doubles called one or two different ways and those with ten or fifteen callings respectively, and your readers are entitled to know precisely what is being reported.-Yours faithfully.

A LETTER FROM ONE REAL LEARNER TO ANOTHER

My dear Charles,
It is good to have an opportunity to compare notes with another learner, though you are obviously far more advanced than I, talking familiarly of Stedman Caters while I' learn to hunt the treble!

I should be sorry to think that I have been exceptionally fortunate in the genial welcome 1 received to ringing. Indeed, that can scarcely be so, for I can count a dozen towers into which I have wandered, in my own neighbourhood and on holiday, on Sunday or on a practice night. In every one I was received in the friendliest way; if they had no learners of their own something was specially put on suited to my humble attainments. I can only recollect one occasion when I was not positively invited to come again.

These, mind you, were all the ordinary sort of tower with no particular pretensions. In my own district, I knew from the beginning where not to visit, for my very first lesson on a tied bell included a diatribe against the snobbish bands whose interest in ringing is entirely selfish, who never teach, but recruit from the most promising pupils of the humbler towers. Feeling runs high about that, I can tell you: Not that they are blamed for seeking talent to maintain their own high standard, but it does seem mean to give nothing to compensate for carrying off the pick of the young entry. One is led to understand that this misdemeanour. which causes such ill-feeling, is somehow associated with an addiction to peal-ringing, which really does seem to be a virulent and catching disease!
I should like to tell you a little more about my experiences in my home tower, which has a thoroughly competent if modest band, containing several real old hands, who have long outgrown the fascination of peal-ringing, and are satisfied with a special occasion now and again. Every single member of that band has tried to help me in one way or another, with advice, with demonstrations, with help through a new exercise, and so on: and I am deeply grateful for their kindly interest and sustained encouragement.

I, too, was early promoted to Sunday ringing. but in my case it was a special privilege, a mere few rounds at first, designed to steady my shaky performance by ringing with the full band. As I progressed I was allowed to do more, and quite soon was expected to be present throughout service ringing, observing when not performing.
Now comes a subject in which my experience does agree with yours. As far as managing a bell, and ringing, say, call changes, I think I was reasonably well taught. The weakness of the system-or lack of it-showed up with the attempt to embark on method ringing. It reminds me of Mr. Squeers of Dotheboys Hall (I quote from memory), 'W-I-N win, D-E-R der, W-I-N-D-E-R, winder-now go and clean it,' except that it is certainly unjust to imply that they don't know their job, only that they simply have no idea how to teach. To begin with, as you so rightly point out, they use the traditional expressions of ringing jargon as if they were current English familiar to all, taking. turning, striking on, after, over, while confusion becomes worse confounded as the wretched novice, who hasn't been clearly instructed anyway, whangs his bell wildly to and fro, knowing that all is lost for this time, and longing for the inevitable command, "Get into rounds.: And when they all shout something different! -not, in my case, that the advice is not perfectly correct, but it is expressed in so many ways by the circle of voices.
Of course, it's all traditional, like the learning of any other ancient craft, and one must make allowance for that: but what a deal of time could be saved if the learner really understood what he is trying to do, how he should attempt to do it, and. very important, what will be expected of him next, so that he can go away and study the matter with pencil and paper at home.

Ah. well! Our whinings won't alter things, so we bettar be thankful for all the goodwill we mect. but also for books, pencil and paper, and the abiliiy to use them and our own wits Yours sincerely,

TOPIC FOR THE MONTH - IX.

Sabotage or Succour?

Ithis had been written in Victorian times it might also have had a sub-title such as, - Or-Sulks, Selfishness or Sinking of Differences?' But enough of this alliterative sibilance ! It will have suggested, no doubt, the theme of this month's topic-a matter of vital interest to every conscientious member of the Exercise-man-power wastage.

Not everyone, of course, realises the responsibility involved in inheritance-especially inheritance of the traditions and practice of a natonal art, such as ringing. What may be fairly claimed as an interest, generally, of patriotic citizens, becomes also the duty of everyone who elects to join the brotherhood of the Exercise-a duty to maintain those traditions and to advance that art: an ancient art, but with modern developments, nevertheless.

A CONTINUING RESPONSIBILITY

Having once stepped into the ranks of ringers and begun to learn something of what is involved, the initiate should understand the nature of the responsibility assumed. Surely, it is one that, in all ordinary circumstances, he should consider as lifelong? But is he helped towards this realisation in every case?

In the first place, he should understand that the main object is the perfection of ringing for Divine Service-even if it be purely rounds and call-changes. As this is a Christian office the recruit will be already, no doubt, a church-goer. So that any service ringing he performs wlil entail no extra commitment, beyond an earlicr start for his normal church attendance. And presumably he will continue this throughout his days? For perfection in this privileged service, practice is essential: but what hardship is an hour or so a week out of his leisure, especially when that hour becomes one of recreation both mental and physical? And more pertinent does this query become when it is realised that such recreation is attainable from the earliest to the most advanced years.

But the more important thing to be realised is the continuing responsibility, devolving alike on learner and instructor.

PUPIL AND TEACHER ALIKE

From the very outset the learner should be led to realise that he is entering a field of privileged activity; one that requires a high degree of concentration and of perseverance; one that is never completely apprehended in all its phases: for there is always something more to be learnt. But more especially the pupil should appreciate that it requires considerable effort and patience on the part of his instructor, particularly in the earlier stages; and that time thus devoted to the pupil is something that he should, in practice, regard as his monopoly. In other words, an instructor has only a limited amount of time to devote to training, and the first-stage pupil virtually monopolises it.
Obviously, then, he assames a responsibility to continue assiduously with the study and practice of the art-a relatively small acknowledgment of and recompense for the instructor's care and devotion. Again it may be asked, are pupils generally led to this recognition?
But the instructor, too, as we have said, has his responsibility. Having admitted a pupil and begun to devote some of his instructional time to that learner, his duty is to see that his pupil's participation is progressively ordered. and that his interest and satisfaction are steadily maintained. Generally speaking. have instructors this vision? And is it brought to fruition in planned schemes of instruction?

The answers to the three foregoing questions, perhaps. may be merged in the one word 'wastage.' The appalling degree of wastage from the ranks of ringers is little short of tragic; not merely from the simple and undeniable standpoint of what ultimately proves to have been a pure waste of time; but more particularly. as in many instances, from the standpoint of absolute breakdown in the ringing service.

For such breakdown, however, the blame must be shared, equally with backsliding pupils and half-hearted instructors, by the 'drifters,' by the 'break-aways' and by the 'T.T.L.'s,' or tactless tower-leaders. (There is also, of course, a proportion of unavoidable cause.) The effect generally, however, may be expressed by the word not too strong I think- sabotage.'

Careful consideration of this situation leads to rather startling conclusions, especially when viewed in relation to the number of stoney only' and even silent towers. In fact, there are pointers indicating that the wastage throughout the Exercise may be as high, at periods, as 50 per cent. The realisation of what this means in terms of the consequential loss to practical ringing and to its future advancement, seems to justify the strong epithets we have used. Furthermore, the publication of consistently good ringing achievements-albeit by a minority of bands-and especially of peal performances by those bands, tends rather to obscure the extent of the less satisfactory and nil achievements. And peal-ringing is not, of course, the be-all and end-all of ringing.

APPORTIONING THE BLAME

Consider, in turn, the five types of delinquent cited.
First. the backsliding pupil. Why does he drop out? A general cause of defection is said to be the increasing number of present-day counter-attractions. This is not to be denied. But it must be remembered that in spite of those attractions every defaulting pupil has actually made a start: and once he has come in, he should be kept sufficiently interested to stay in. Allowance must be made, of course, for a proportion of 'dabblers' and 'waverers ' who never stick at anything: but for the rest. is it not that another class of delinquent is directly responsible?
Yes. we have referred to the half-hearted instructor. He invariably fails to maintain that vital factor-interest. There is, in short, a total lack of planned progress. He hasn't studied his pupils, either : hasn't got to know them. So he doesn't extend sympathy and tact when they encounter difficulties. Once a beginner feels he is a 'bit of a faiure' and (somewhat shamefacedly, perhaps) retires, it's doubly difficult to get him back. But the right word from the instructor at the crucial moment will generally save the situation. This doesn't mean a tutor should be 'soft' in his handling of the instruction. Discipline, especially in the matter of execution of performance, is always essential. These remarks apply equally to the treatment of improvers and even more-experienced members of the band.
The next type, the 'drifter,' we find usually to be either the 'not-so-keen 'ringer-the uscful though not over-enthusiastic type-or else the type that has many other interests. In either case it seems that, in certain circumstances, little is needed to persuade them to stay away in favour of some other preoccupation. The usual consequence is an atmosphere, either real or imagined in the tower, of their being overlooked or slighted: leading to further deterioration in their attendance, and eventually resulting in their total loss to the tower, and perhaps to the Exercise. Their own fault? Not entirely; and anyway surely a Christian brotherhood is capable of handling such cases, and keeping them within the fold?

THE ' BREAKAWAYS

Now for the 'breakaways.' These are difficult cases. Unfortunately this class includes some of the best ringers as well as those less proficient. Frequently they have strong personalities; sometimes with violent likes and dislikes. They take offence at something. of ten considered by others as trifling, and they break away from the hand. The tragedy is that this sort of thing is more prevalent than would be believed by those who have not investigated it : and that the breakaway is often permanent.
Sometimes worse happens. It develops into a split in the band. This sometimes leads to an exclusive grouping of towers, either as between two or perhaps several, as in a city: for example, as in a famous city of churches, where for long years two such opposing camps were known by the names of common rodents! In all such cases not only is the ringing impaired, hut also such as remains is not discharged in the right and proper atmosphere. Regretfully, these cases are by no means isolated. There is ro field of human activity in which the truth of the precept- 'Union is Strength --is more obvious than in ringing.

THE TACTLESS LEADER

And so to the last of the five types-the 'Tactless Tower Leader.' What a pity it is that the fact is not always appreciated that a good zonductor is not necessarily a good tower captain, and vice versa! Also that. this being so, the band should be 'officered ' accordingly. The prime consideration is that the tower captain should be, essentially, a leader in the general and best sense, one able to take charge and command respect as a leader : one who can control and direct operations, and can do so with tact and understanding. If he is also a good conductor, so much the better: but if not, then, providing he has the named qualities as a leader-the qualities that demand first consideration in the selection of tower captainhe will soon call upon the best the band has in the way of conductors, and, in concert with them (or him), will put on the best ringing, as suited to the capabilities and potentialities of the band.
The principle underlying this policy is well illustrated in the case of 'popular 'towers where visitors are most often welcomed. Frequently the visitors-rightly given the rope-hospitality due to all guests-make up an advanced band. The danger then, if the tower captain is a good conductor only, is of monopolising the ringing time with advanced methods. The inevitable result is disappointment and chagrin of beginners: who, if frequently experiencing these occurrences, lose heart and leave. The trouble about this sort of thing is that in most cases it happens without the more advanced ringers realising it. Two main ways are open to the capable rower leader of overcoming the diffi-culty:-
(a) The first half of the ringing period to be reserved primarily for beginners: but making use of the more advanced ringers to stiffen up the band by taking a rope only as requested by the Leader: and with other advanced ringers standing behind as 'guardian angels' as directed. (The operative words here are those in bold type.)
The second half for the advanced ringers. In these touches, such beginners as can profit from it and are directed by the Leader, should stand alongside the advanced ringers and try to follow the work
OR (b) Alternate items or touches of ringing for beginners and advanced ringers, but strictly in rotation, and with participation as directed. as in (a) above. (This means alternately, and not one for beginners and two or three for advanced ringers!)

THREE INTERESTING OUTINGS

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

Variety-both in scenery and bells-was the keynote of the Leads Parish Church ringers' second outing for the year on September 3rd.

Holmfirth, Yorks, the first call, possesses a church which, from outward appearance, resembles a Nonconformist chapel, and its situation against, or, rather, in a hillside, gives the impression of an attempt to hide or even to bury it.

With houses immediately below as well as immediately above the tower, it was felt advisable to restrict ringing here to half an hour.

Difficulty in locating the next church, Mossley, Lancs, reached after a beautiful ride over the Saddleworth moors. resulted in ringing here being cven more curtailed.

Leaving Lancashire almost as soon as we had entered it, the next stop was at Hydc. St. George's Church bells proved to be the 'high spot ' of the day and provided the best ringing.
Here ringers can be sien in what some nonringers might consider to be their natural environment behind bars-for the grillage which separates the belfry steps from the gallery would not look out of place between the lions' cage and the ring.
Almost a twin peal to Hyde as regards weight, St. Paul's. Stalybridge, provided an original form of entertainment for those not ringing, namely, listening to another 'twin' peal across the valley. The church stands at the summit of a hill and at the chancel end the ground falls away sharply into a deep ravine, on the off-side of which is a large mill. Either the mill or the hillside, or both. throw the sound of the bells back in an echo, and the effect is that of identical peals ringing at the same time but not in unison. From one position below the chancel the echo is louder than the actual bells.
The last tower visited was Saddleworth, Lancs, a nother church on the mountainside. Here the graveyard slopes so sharply that from it one looks down on to the top of the church tower.
Ringers from Friezland were waiting to join us, together with Mr. Jonathan Pilling, who is in his 92 nd year.

Undeterred by the steep hill and the steps to the belfry. Mr. Pilling came up ostensibly-so he said-to ring with the ladies-and he was able to ring with six of them at once-but he stayed to ring in a course of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and the faultless manner in which he rang his bell made not a few of us hope that, if we live to that age, we may be able to ring as well.

REMEDIAL ACTION

Examples of the ruinous effects of thoughtless, or ill-considered, or selfish actions by some tower captains and band members alike, both in and out of the tower, could be cited in support of the foregoing contentions-several will have come within our experience over the years, unfortunately. And the point that ringing is thus often groisly harmed, sometimes irretrievably, needs no further emphasis, so long as it is genuinely appreciated.
Any attempt at analysis of causation is of little use without remedial action. Is it therefore too much to hope that any trouble or defection in the tower or district may now be reviewed? That in the light of this discussion a genuine attempt by each and all concerned may be made to overcome it? Our main object has been to awaken the sense (where dormant) of need for action: action which will bring real help to cut out defection, wherever it may occur in the Exercise: and thus to provide the practical answer to the relevant ques-tion-'Sabotage or succour?'

NEWARK, NOTTS

Although Chipperfield's Circus visited Newark on September 17th, Midwinter's Circus went north. It was regretted that the Ringmaster could not be present, as he was spending the week-end by the sea.
One car from Newark joined with the Southwell party to ring at Southwell for the wedding of Mr. P. N. White and Miss R. M. Brown. Mr. White was formerly secretary of the Newark district of the Southwell Guild.
They were joined by parties from Sutton-onTrent and Orston to ring at the first tower, St. Oswald. Dunham-on-Trent (5, tenor 8 cwt.). At St. Peter and Paul's, East Drayton (6, tenor 13 cwt.), these fine bells were enjoyed and sounded well to a good course of Cambridge.
Tea was taken at the Royal Oak, Rampton, which can be thoroughly recommended to provide for ringers' needs. This was followed by ringing on the bells of All Saints', Rampton ( 6 , tenor 9 cwt.). Sturton-en-le-Steeple, St. Peter and Paul ( 5 , tenor 11 cwt.), followed, but difficulty was experienced with these now rarely rung bells owing to the ropes being too low.
The last tower was St. Nicholas', Tuxford ( 8 , tenor 11 cwt.). There ringing included many Triples and Major methods before the parties broke up for their various destinations. Thanks are accorded to the incumbents and the ringers who met us, and also to Mr. F. W. Midwinter for organising a grand afternoon.

SOMERTON, SOMERSET

Somerton ringers and friends went east this year, choosing five towers in Wiltshire and one in Hampshire, on September 17th. In the morning, Dinton ( 6 bells, 15 cwt .) provided what was to some the novelty of ringing in church at the crossing of nave and transept, while Wilton's light six ( 8 cwt .) afforded good practice in bell control, and the Wilton ringers outing fund was swelled by several pennies in the box for failures to stand
Lunch was eaten at Salisbury before visiting two really beautiful octaves, St. Martin's, Salisbury ( 15 cwt .), and Downton ( 23 cwt .). After tea at Fordingbridge, Damerham's easy-going six ( 8 cwt .), with plenty of room to ring them, was much enjoyed, and the six at Broadchalke ( 15 cwt.) gave an excellent finish to a successtul day.
The visitors would like to thank the tower captains concerned, especially Mr. C. F. Haines, captain of the Wilton ringers, for his help.
Methods rung included: Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Oxford and Kent Trebla Bob Minor and Plain Bob Minor and Major.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting for September was held at Barrow-on-Humber, ringers being present from Beverley. Hull, Bridlington, Pocklington. Sutton, Patrington, Cottingham, Hessle and York.
On this, the first visit by the Society to Barrow, the ringers were met by the Ringing Master of Holy Trinity Church, Mr. A. W. Crowder, who is the fourth member of his family to hold the office. The bells of this tower have been made into a splendid ring of eight, with a tenor of 16 cwt., and there was a unanimous opinion that the tone and go ' of the bells put them in the highest class. A short service in the church was conducted by the Vicar, and tea was served afterwards in the Vicar's room adjoining the church. At the business meeting, the president, Mr. A. E. Sellers, welcomed the visitors, among whom was Mr. Jack Bray, who received the congratulations of the meeting for the peal record which he with his wife and Mr. George Feirn completed recently.

WEDDINGS

At Crewe

The ringers at Christ Church, Crewe, paid a pretty compliment to Mr. E. J. Holloway (a member of the Crewe band of bellringers), when they rang for the wedding of his elder daughter, Hazel, to Mr. K. W. Warhurst.
The young couple wish to thank the ringers for making a very happy day still more joyous. They feel that the sound of wedding bells, always a happy sound, is made doubly so when one knows they are being rung by friends.
The father of the bride also wishes to add his hearty thanks to all concerned. J. E. H.

At Longhope

Bright sunshine and the joyful pealing of the bells greeted Miss Freda M. Taysom on her arrival at All Saints' Church, Longhope, on Sept. 24th, for her marriage to Mr. Anthony K . Green, of Bridstow. The bride is a ringer at Ross-on-Wye, and many of her fellowringers from Ross and Bridstow were present at the service. These included Miss Olive Taysom (sister) and the Misses Shirley and Josephine Green (sisters of the bridegroom).
The bride wore a dusky-pink costume with black accessories, and a spray of white carnátions pinned to her lapel. Her attendant was. Miss Shirley Green.

The bells were rung before and after the service to rounds, Queens and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. At the reception which followed, the Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild (Mr. J. J. Webb) presented the happy couple with a glass-topped tray from the ringers. Afterwards the ringers returned to the tower. and a congratulatory peal of Minor in four methods was successfully brought round by the following:- J. J. Webb 1, Miss M. Tilbury 2, Miss J. A. Geren 3, P. G. Morgan 4, C. G. Jones $5, \dot{R}$. T. Jones (conductor) 6 .
The honeymoon is being spent at Blandford, Dorset, and Mr. and Mrs. Green will afterwards reside at Ross-on-Wye

At Dover

Two very popular members of the band at St. Marys, Dover, were married on October 1st. They were Mr. Godfrey F. Gray and Miss V. Ailsa Devonshire. The service, which took place before a large congregation at St. Mary's, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Stanley Cooper).
The bride was attended by her two sisters. a niece and nephew, and another ringing colleague. Miss Audrey Banks.
Later a number of guests were entertained. The couple, whose future home will be at River, near Dover, left during the early evening on a touring honeymoon. They were the recipients of a large number of useful presents.

The bells rang the bride in, and immediately following the ceremony a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following: Mrs. H. George treble, E. T. Ellender 2, H. J. Saunders 3, C. George (conductor) 4, J. E. Walker 5, P. Westwood 6, B. J. Luck 7, G. A. Godfrey tenor.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Michrel's Church, St. Albans, built on the site of the Roman temple at Verulaneum. was chosen for the meeting of St. Albans District on August 17th, when the pleasant, light octave was kept going in a wide variety of methods. Those wishing to hear the bells outside were able to indulge in the truly English pastime of 'watching a hole in the road' in the form of an excavation in the adjacent car park. undertaken to find the lay-out of the roads and buildings near the ancient city centre.
Tea was in a nearby cafe. At the business meeting which followed. it was suggested that the next meeting be at Welwyn and Tewin on: October 15th.

MR. HENRY PUTTOCK

Mr. Henry Puttock, an old Blaxhall, Suffolk, ringer, died recently at the age of 83 . He had been an active bell-ringer for 67 years, and when he was younger he was well known among East Anglian bell-ringing companies.

During his lifetime he kept a list of all the churches he visited. His little black note-book, in which he made his first entry in 1888, when he was 16, contained the names of over two hundred churches: also the height of the steeple, the number of bells and the name of the method rung at each church on the occasion of his visit.
He had taken part in a practice ring at Blaxhall Parish Church exactly three weeks before his death.

MR. J. W. F. TROTMAN

It is with deepest regret that we record the passing, on September 25 th, at the early age of 37 years, of Mr. John William Frank Trotman, of Nuneaton.

He was a well-known ringer in the Midlands, although born in Oxfordshire and spending the first 20 years of his life in Suffolk, where he learned to ring. His father, Mr. John Trotman. was also a well-known Suffolk ringer, and Frank followed him in the style he had been taught, to love good striking, no matter what the method. He moved to Coventry in 1939, then to Burbage, near Hinckley, Leicestershire, finally settling in Nuneaton, Warwickshire. He was also an organist and from the age of 11 years he played for services at the village churches of Shottisham and Hasketon, later acting as deputy organist at St. Mary's, Woodbridge.

He rang 92 peals for the Midland Counties Guild, conducting 28, 20 for the Leicester Diocesan Guild, conducting two, and 71 for the Coventry Diocesan Guild (formerly the Warwickshire Guild) of which he conducted 31.

Noteworthy performances included 10,976 Bristol Surprise Major on February 19th, 1949, at Loughborough Foundry Campanile, and 13,024 in the same method at Gilmorton on September 17th, 1949, in 7 hours and 28 minutes. the latter being the longest Surprise peal rung in Leicestershire. He conducted a "John, peal of Grandsire Triples at St. John's Church, Leicester. His last peal was rung at St. Matthew's. Overseale, Derbyshire, on October 25th, 1952, being Cambridge Surprise Major on the occasion of the coming of age of Miss Joan Cotton, daughter of Mr. Joseph W. Cotton.

His passing means a sad loss to the ringers of St. Nicholas' Church, Nuneaton, where he was captain. Illness overtook him in May, 1953. and an operation ended his brilliant ringing career. Our sympathy goes out to his widow and two young children.

The funeral service took place at St . Nicholas', Nuneaton, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon F. S. Herbert), followed by the interment at Burbage. A number of his fellow ringers attended from Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton. Burbage, Hinckley and Overseale, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by Miss M. Beamish, A. H. Beamish, A. Ballard and J. W. Cotton.

A peal to Mr. Trotman's memory and also for Mr. H. Lawrence, verger for 25 years, was rung at Chilvers Coton on September 25th, and at Nuncaton on October 1st.

A YOUTHFUL ENGAGEMENT

IT promised to be a great day in the life of a West of England village when the bells were to be reopened, and the committee resolved to aim high in order to get the best attractions possible for the occasion. One of the problems to be solved was how to obtain a band of good scientific ringers to come and give of their best, for in those Victorian days travel from town to village and back was not so easy as in these days. Who would go into town and fix things up? Where and how could a real good team be obtained? A good deal of discussion took place until a gentleman of means undertook the job, saying he would spare no pains or expense to secure the best scientific band that could put up a real good show.

On his arrival in town he called on a well-known ringer and unfolded the proposed programme, at the same time insisting that the best possible team must be chosen to undertake the ringing in connection with the festivities. The leader listened carefully to the proposals and soon he agreed to select a band who could do method ringing, also play on a set of handbells, but, being anxious to impress his gentleman visitor, he politely asked, 'Which would you prefer, a band of town ringers, a band of county ringers, or a band of College Youths?' After explaining that the latter society was very ancient, that in fact it went back to the year 1637, the gentleman, whose knowledge of ringers and ringing was practically nil, immediately said, 'We must have the best, the College Youths.'

He went back to the village quite elated to know the College Youths were coming to play their part in the day's proceedings, but it really ought to have been explained to him that the town ringers were not only members of the county guild, several of them were College Youths as well, so the leader had no difficulty in his selection of half a dozen of his own band who qualified as College Youths.

Before the great day arrived the posters did not fail to proclaim the special attraction, not only the special ringing on the tower bells but some handbell ringing after tea, and one of the local ringers in answer to questions said the College Youths was a famous London society which rang at St. Paul's Cathedral and other churches in London. He went on to assert that the town scientific ringers were good, the county ones better, but the College Youths must surely beat all the others hollow!

The great day came at last, and when the horse brake drew up near the church a rush was made to see the famous ringers emerge, but what a shock they received when the 'youths' descended one by one, the last two having to be helped out of the conveyance! Most of the ringers had beards and not one of the party looked at all youthful.

Some of the younger people who had gathered round began to express themselves outwardly, and such remarks as 'What a fraud,' 'What a sell,' 'Rotten trick to play on us,' were heard, but a few of the older villagers deemed it best to question the ringers, and as they proceeded to the tower each ringer was asked: 'Are you a College Youth?' The answer, of course, was 'Yes.'

The next encounter was with some of the local ringers, who immediately asked, 'Where are the College Youths?' 'Here,' was the reply, and the leader of the town ringers then explained the situation fully, after which everyone enjoyed a good laugh. In the meanwhile some of the boys who had seen the 'youths' arrive hastened to the scene where preparations for the village tea were going on, and there they broke the news that the 'youths' were bearded men, some old enough to be grandfathers!

The gentleman who engaged the 'youths' quickly made his way to the tower and soon found that instead of some sprightly youths from college he beheld a team of experienced half-pull ringers handling the bells in first-class style. Further explanations followed later, and when the ' youths' left for home they were given many lusty cheers by the assembled villagers.

BELFRY

GOSSIP
Readers will be sorry to hear that, a few weeks ago, Mr. R. James Cook was the victim of a serious accident and is now in Hexham General Hospital. We understand that he has every chance of a complete recovery, but is now faced with long convalescence. It was all the more unfortunate that this should happen just before he was due to finish his National Service.
North Weald, Essex, ringers have an attendance of over 20 at their weekly practices on Tuesdays. They have eight learners. A good sign.

The peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Handsworth, Yorkshire, on September 17th (page 611) was J. E. Burton's four-part, and not Bruerton's.
We regret that the name of the Ringing Master of the Surrey Association was quoted as Mr. Royal Davies. Were it not Roydon, readers will agree that it would have been Maximus Davies.
We learn with regret of the death at Weston Favel. Northants, of Mr. Frank W. Rollings. who was well known to many members in the Midlands, particularly during the years between the two world wars. His funeral took place at Weston Favell on Monday, October 10th.

A farewell handbell peal was rung at Christchurch. New Zealand, on September 16th to Mr. Victor J. C. Wood, who sailed for England on September 24th, after two years of valued help to the Christchurch Cathedral Societv This was the second handbell peal to be rung in New Zealand, the first being a peal of Bob Major at Dunedin, conducted by the late Mr. J. S. Wilde. He bequeathed his handbells to the Christchurch Society, and it was on these bells that the second peal was rung.

CUMBERLANDS FIGHTING APATHY

Appeal to Members for Maximum Support

$\mathbf{M}^{\mathrm{R}}$
R. TOM H. FRANCIS, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, at the Society's annual dinner on Saturday at the Old Bell, Holborn, appealed to members to pull their weight to fight the apathy among members of the Society. Meetings had been poorly attended during the year and the Master declared that he had had a disappointing year. The dinner, however, was most successful.
Supporting the Master and Mrs. Francis on the top table were the Rev. L. M. Charles Edwards, the Rev. Meredith Davies, Mr. C. T Watts (Masler of the Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. W. R. Winterton and Mrs. Davis.
The company included Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hawthorne, Mr. and Mrs. L. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. M. Halsey, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cullum, Mr. and Mrs. Lathbury, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Audsley, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Exton, Mr. and Mrs. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raithby, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Deal, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bevan.

The Rev. G. Blacktop (Vicar of Thames Ditton), Messrs. B. Hitton. C. J. Matthews, P. N. Bond, Brian Luff, R. Ling, A. Thirst, N. Steers, J. W. Dennis, P. Humphries, J. Hawkins, A. House, W. T. Elson, D. Matkin, W. S. Chandler, P. Brown and T. W. White.
Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, the Misses M. Reay, J. Garner. M. Prockson, J. Mattinson, P. Steere, B. Mason and N. Shorter.

After the loyal toast Mr. F. E. Hawthorne proposed the toast of 'The Church.' He emiphasised that the Church was not the building or the parsons but the people who professed to be Christians. They, as ringers, had to be thankful that the Church was not just a building, because if it were they could not practise their art, and bells would certainly not be put up to the glory of God.
If they looked back to the beginning of the present century, when the Societies and Guilds founded themselves on dioceses, they would realise that ringing made quicker progress. That went to prove that if their art was done to the glory of God they were working to the correct end. "We, as members of the Church, should ask for that divine wisdom that will enable us, as humble members of the Church, to propagate the great beauty of godliness, and if we build on those lines ringing will make great strides.'
The Rev. L. M. Charles Edwardes (Vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields) said both he and Mr. Meredith Davies were proud to be vicars of churches that were the headquarters of their Societr.
Acknowledging the reference of the Master that he had been appointed religious adviser to Independent Television Authority, Mr. Charles Edwardes said an actress, after listening to a broadcast on New Year's Eve, was persuaded to come to St. Martin's the next Sundav. She told him that she enjoyed the service, the hymns and the sermon. Then she said, 'A man came round with the plate and I started to open my purse when he said, "Stop, Madam, this is on me." I expect he was one of your ringers!
Verv often Parochial Church Councils made mistakes through not having a practical ringer as a member. He suggested that at their next annual parochial meeting the ringers should attend and nominate one of their members. If thev all voted for him he would be elected.
The Rev. Meredith Davies (Vicar of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch) also replied and expressed appreciation of the ringers' service Sunday by Sunday. A ringing member on the parochial council could help in bringing to the notice of the Council the need of getting recruits. It was essential to train the next generation to carry on their work.

HISTORY WANTED

Mr. J. W. Raithby, of Newark, proposed the toast of The Royal Society of Cumberland Youths.' He said there was not a great deal of written matter about the Society. It was established prior to 1702 under the title of London Scholars and the name was changed to Cumberlands in 1747. Apart from the excellent synopsis in the 1931 Rules of the Society and the references in Trollope's book on the Ancient Society of College Youths he could not find much about the Cumberland Youths. It was a great pity as he felt that what had been done for the College Youths by Trollope should have been done for the Cumberlands. The peal books and the old miniature books of the Society should provide a remendous amount of material. He would also like to see included short biographies of some of the giants of the past-John Cox, George Newsom. George Gross, Shipway, Squire Proctor, Pitstow, Henry Dains, John D. Matthews and many others. He hoped a volunteer would be forthcoming.
He appealed to members to give their utmosi support to their Master and not to be apathetic.
The Master, who was received with enthusiasm, said in regard to the history of the Society, some years ago it was proposed that a new history be written, and it was in the hands of two or three members. They had covered the history to the beginning of the 19th century, but between the beginning of the 19th century and the beginning of the 20th century there was little material to go on.
The Master said he was perturbed about the apathy that existed apart from a few. One had only to look at the quarterly meeting and monthly practices. The meetings had been poorly attended by local people and they only got the faithful few at the practices. It had been a very disappointing year altogether. They had rung five peals. The Erin Cinques was a very good peal, as was also one of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's.
It was very difficult to get young ringers. St. Martin's bells did not go at all well; Shoreditch bells went well but it was difficult to get people to come 10 or 15 miles to a practice.

GIFT OF ROPES

He had, however, one bit of good news. At Shoreditch they had trouble with the ropesthey were always breaking. While they were away on holiday in August Mr. Leonard H. Baber, who was on leave from India, called and went to Shoreditch and left the money for a new set of ropes (applause).

There was one sorrowful duty he had to do. They had lost, to his knowledge, only one member during the year-Mrs. Kitty Matthews. She was one of the most loyal and consistent members during the time he had been ringing in London. She was always there if there was anything, to do and they would miss her greatly. The company stood as a tribute to her memory.
The Master also mentioned that Mr. George Cross was in town, and left a note.

In conclusion the Master said: 'I hope whoever follows me will have a better year to look forward to. I will not grumble too much but there is far too much apathy in the Society, and it is up to most members to pull their weight more.

Mr. F. J. Cullum, in submitting the toast of 'The Visitors,' had a special word of welcome to the Newark contingent, who had come to see their former vicar, the Rev. Charles Edwardes, and to the visitors from Birmingham and Bournemouth.
Mr. Cyril J. Watts, who replied, said it was his privilege to bring a message from the monthly meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths conveying to the Master and all members of the Cumberlands their very best wishes. As everyone knew, there had been friendly rivalry between these two Societies and he felt it should continue. It was for the good of the Exercise that these Societies should endeavour to maintain that rivalry.

In London recently there had been a number of rings of bells restored and still more were likely. It was necessary for their Society and his to do all they could to man those bells. He was very disappointed to hear the remarks of their Master that the Cumberlands were not enjoying very good health. All he could suggest was that every member should back the Master to the full and bring that life to the Society which was lacking. Members of the Ancient Society would be sorry to hear this news because they felt that both these Societies must go forward in strength.

Mr. T. W. White, editor of $\cdot$ The Ringing World,' also replied and suggested that the history of the Society should be published in serial form in 'The Ringing World' and so reduce costs.
Compered by Mr. Stan Brown, an enjoyable entertainment was given by Betty Chapman (songs), Dorothy Brown (piano), Peter Brown (monologues) and Bunny Chapman (comedian).

ARUNDEL CHURCH BELLS

Contenary Peal To Be Attempted

The centenary of the dedication of the bells of St. Nicholas' Church, Arundel, on October 25 th, is to be marked by a peal attempt by members of the Ancient Society of College Youths who are also members of the Sussex County Association. The College Youths rang the first peal on the bells-one of Grandsire Triples- 100 years ago.
The original bells were presented to the Church by Charles, Duke of Norfolk. grandfather of the present Duke, and dedicated on October 25th, 1855. They replaced others of which history has been lost.
In 1940 the bells had to be removed from the tower owing to the ravages of death watch beetle. For ten years the bells lay on the floor of the church, but in 1950 they were retuned and rehung in a modern steel ballbearing frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The bells were originally cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.
The Bishop of Chichester will preach in the church on Sunday, October 30th, to mark the centenary, and it is expected that many Sussex ringers and those beyond the county boundary will attend the service. Ringing will start at 3.30 p.m. There will be a buffet tea at 4.45 and the service is at $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

There were methods rung to suit all ringers who were able to attend the Farnham District's meeting held at St. Peter's, Farnborough, on October 1st. During the afternoon ringing was under the direction of Mr. S. Joyce, and in the evening under Mr. E. J. Wells.
The service was conducted by the Rev. F. B. Hutchinson, with Mr. Moys at the organ.

The ladies of Farnborough tower served an excellent tea in the Jubilee Hall, Farnborough. This was followed by a short business meeting, during which three new members were elected

PEAL RINGING IN STAFFORDSHIRE

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WITH this county, we come to another of those which are full of interest because of the numbers of peals rung, the heights of proficiency reached, and the famous towers involved. Thus. to begin with, only three counties have a greater number of "centenarian " towers and only seven other counties have a tower which has passed the 300 peal mark. New methods and record lengths all have their place in the ringing history of Staffordshire, so that it will be difficult to include all that will interest in the space available.

Perhaps the most famous tower in the county and the one mentioned above as having had more than 300 peals rung at it is St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent (10). It was at the beginning of our period (1881) that the band there was beginning to be noticed and soon afterwards it became the most proficient in the country. For a time they were the only company in the land which could ring Surprise Major, and they broke the silence of many years by peals of Cambridge. Superlative and London. In fact, only one true peal of Cambridge, seven of Superlative and three of London had been previously rung when the band 'conquered ' them all. This was in the period 1884 to 1887. They rang no less than 168 peals at St . Paul's before the end of the century and, although numbers were dropping somewhat, a further 65 before 1914. If this had been kept up, the tower would have reached the 500 mark by this time, but the old band died and its successors never again reached such heights. Thus in the 20 years between the wars only 38 peals were recorded, 5 on the eight before augmentation in 1923 and 33 on the ten. Since the war, numbers have improved slightly and there have been 48 since 1944. The grand total is thus 319. As for record lengths and new methods, suffice it to say that the longest length of London Surprise was held by this tower $(6,720)$ from 1888 to 1896. when it was surpassed by the 11,000 at Drayton. So much for this famous tower.

A BI-CENTENARIAN

As well as having a tri-centenarian, Staffordshire has a bi-centenarian too (and only five other counties can claim that). This tower is Brierley Hill (8), where 222 peals have been rung. These have been spread out fairly evenly over the whole period with a slightly better average per year from 1916 to 1939 than before or since. Thus 126 peals were rung between the wars with 62 from 1888 to 1914 and 34 since 1944. Not only has this been a popular peal ringing tower. but I believe it still holds the record for a long length-10,176 Double Oxford Major, rung in 1909.

We come now to the seven centenarians. The first of these is Walsall (12), where 181 peals have been rung. This is enjoying its greatest popularity at the moment, for it has had far more peals than any other tower in the county since the war-no less than 99. It gradually in creased in numbers of peals per year over the period before 1914 so that in the years just prior to the first war, 15 of the 42 peals rung in the 30 years were accomplished. There was a silence after this war until 1929, but things went very well then, for 40 peals came in the next 10 years. Seventy-five years ago Walsall held the record for the longest length of Grandsire Major (of topical intercst!) with 10,032 . This was surpassed by another Staffordshire tower, as we shall see later.

The other 12 in the county comes next on the list-Wolverhampton with 164 . These have been rung fairly evenly over the years, for 81 came from 1890 to 1914,65 from 1916 to 1937 and 18 in the last 10 years. No doubt the nearness of Birmingham has had something to do with the popularity of twelve-bell ringing in the county.

Fifth and sixth place are held by two eightbell towers-Tipton and Perry Barr. Readers may be surprised to read the first name, for only one peal has been rung there in the past 20 years-in 1944. Actually it was the second most popular tower in the county before 1914 , having 98 peals rung there-a total only beaten by St. Paul's, Burton. For a time it was still popular after the war, for a further 47 peals were rung then, but numbers per year gradually dwindled in the 30 's and finished altogether in the middle of the decade.

Perry Barr has had a more consistent history, for 50 of the 124 peals were rung from 1881 to 1915,59 from 1917 to 1938 and 15 since 1945 (none last year or this so far). We find a similar tale at the next tower-Wednesbury (10), where 115 peals have been logged (including another place where each year of the first war is represented) - 42 from 1887 to 1916, 45 from 1917 to 1939 , and 28 since 1944. Wolverhampton's eight-bell tower (St. Luke's) has a total one less than this- 114 . This tower has not been heard much since 1945-only five times up to 1949 and not since. The remainder of the peals are divided very evenly between the other two periods- 57 prior to 1914 and 52 after 1917.

The last of the centenarians is Willenhall (10). This was an eight-bell tower until just before the last war, but it has come into prominence since augmentation. Sixty-two peals were rung between 1887 and 1938 on the eight, with the usual war years gap, but there have been 50 from 1938 onwards ( 46 since 1945).

FROM TWELVE TO EIGHT BELLS

And now for towers which have passed the 50 mark (there will be no room for the others). The two West Bromwich churches with bells come first. All Saints' (8) has had 82 peals, 61 before 1914,11 between the wars and 10 since, so the carly years of our period were the best here. Christ Church has suffered the fortunately, rare event of a reduction in numbers of bells recently. Its twelve is now eight. Again, the peak period was prior to 1916 , for 69 peals were rung then. There were 11 from 1919 to 1938 and only one (in 1949) since.
Handsworth (8) has also 81 peals with the bulk (60) before 1914-11 from 1920 to 1939 , and 10 from 1945 to 1953. Coseley's 78 are evenly distributed-34. 27 and 17 in the three periods. Only two of Sedgeley's (8) 73 have been rung since 1934 ( 1949 and 1952). Fortytwo were before 1916 and the remainder from 1918 to 1934. Smethwick (8) has not been heard since the war-the 61 peals are divided, 48 from 1898 to 1914 and 131918 to 1938.

Brewood and Wednesbury St. Paul's ( 8 's) both have 60 peals. At the former, 11,32 and 17 , and at the latter 38,6 and 16 in the periods, which indicates how their fortunes have fluctuated. Finally, Rowlev Regis has 53 with several gaps-13 from 1887 to 1892,5 from 1905 to 1912,33 from 1924 to 1934 and one each in 1949 to 1952. This is the tower which 'ousted ' Walsall from its record for Grandsire Major with a 10,272 in 1889 -still the record, I think. No 8's remain to be "conquered,' but Bradley has been silent since 1907 (only two peals there).

Now for the 6's. A few of these have not yet had a peal-Burion All Saints', Eccleshall, Ellastone, Leigh. Mayfield and Sheen. Many of the others have had only one or two, but a few have respectable totals. Bucknall's next 1891 and 1899 (the best period), 13 from 1901 to 1913,14 from 1920 to 1939 and 6 from 1947 to 1954. Rushall has $36-5$ from 1909 to 1914, 22 from 1924 to 1939 , and 9 in the years 1949 to 1953. Kingsley's 30 are similarly spread over the years from 1895, with 9 since 1948. Trysull has 25, all since 1928, whilst 19 of Burslem's 23 came between the wars with only one (in 1949) since. Little Aston has 23, 22 in the years 1950 to 1955 (the other peal in 1936). Pelsall and Shareshill muster 17 each-at the former 15 from 1946 to 1953 (the other two in 1933 and 1938), and at the latter 10 from 1925 to 1939 and 7 from 1950 to 1955. Madeley's 15 include 5 from 1924 to 1937 and 10 in the last eight years.

UNCONQUERED

Nine of the 17 five-bell towers have had one or more peals-all at least one since the end of the last war. Five of them have scored three peals, which is the most. They are Barlaston, Blakenhall Heath, Haughton, Lapley and Rangemore. The eight still to be conquered are Abbots Bromley, Alton, Bradeley, Clifton Campville, Ilam, Mucklestone, High Offley and Standon.

I gather that Tittensor (6) in Mr. Dove's book is a chime and Norbury (5) is really a 4. An eight-bell tower, Shenstone, has had five of its bells removed so now has only three, which makes a second tower in the county to suffer this unusual fate. Twenty-four peals had been rung there, the last in 1937. I hope this reduction in numbers of bells isn't catching!
So much for this very interesting county. Peals include all published up to August 5th, 1955.

NEWS FROM N. STAFFORDSHIRE

St. Peter's, Broughton

Broughton Church, formerly the chapel to Broughton Hall, has no village of its own, but is a joint parish with Croxton some two miles away. Despite its isolation, the ring of eight is regularly rung by an enthusiastic band, some of whom have to travel several miles to reach the church.

On September 11 th a ringers' service was held here, at which ringers themselves officiated. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. D. Morgan. M.A., who rings at the church. Mr. H. Roberts and Mr. A. Talbot read the lessons, and Mrs. M. Smith and Mr. V. Lowe offered special prayers for the occasion. Mr. A. H. Lawton (captain) and Mr. W. Talbot were sidesmen, and members of the choir and congregation sang special hymns. The address was given by the Rev. D. P. Roberts, now Vicar of Whiston, near Prescot, Lancs, an expert ringer and formerly a resident member of the North Staffordshire Association.

Meetings at Eccleshall and Uttoxeter

August is the one month in which there is normally no meeting of the North Staffs Association, but this year an 'open day' was held at Eccleshall on the last Saturday of the month. The bells were rehung some six months ago and are now a fine-going, musical six, rung by an entirely new band being taught change ringing by Mr. V. Pickstock, the tower captain. Despite the fact that there was no service and visitors had to make their own arrangements for tea, a large number of ringers came to this delightful country town to make the meeting a complete success. Ringing took place in a great variety of methods and a course of Woodbine was successfully brought round.

The September meeting of the Association was held at Uttoxeter on the 24th, the day preceding the dedication festival of the church. Some fifty ringers from many parts of the country attended, and particularly welcome were two ringers from Bromley, Kent, and Diss, Norfolk, at present serving with the R.A.F. Ringing ranged from call changes to many Surprise Major methods.

The thanks of those present are extended to the Vicar and curate of the church for the use of the bells and for taking the service, and to the churchwardens for their generous contribution towards the cost of the excellent tea.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

INSTRUCTION IN CHANGE RINGING

Dear Sir, - The following information on evening instruction in bell-ringing may be of help to Mrs. Beamish or others interested.
In autumn. 1954, I was requested to take a class in " Bell-ringing, at Eckington by the Eckington Division of North-East Derbyshire Education Authority. This proposed class had been advertised along with other normal winter classes, and was classified as 'recreational,' like needlework and music. The secretary of Eckington Evening Institutes had already obtained permission for the use of Eckington Parish Church bells (8) from about 7.45-9 after the weekly choir practice. The class was to meet from 7 to 9 p.m. each Wednesday.

On enrolment night about 14 students enrolled. Of these two were interested in handbell tune ringing only, and both were schoolmasters, one of whom had been recommended by the H.M.I. to try handbell ringing as a school activity. The abilities of the other twelve ranged from rounds to plain hunt except for one who had some experience of change ringing. Four had never previously handled a bell.

The class completed the winter session (Sep-tember-March), at the end of which some had learnt to control a bell and others progressed to Bob Doubles and plain courses of Bob Minor.

The first half-hour each Wednesday was devoted to teaching change ringing and Bob Minor, etc.. on handbells at the Evening Institute (the local Secondary Modern School). The class then went down to the Parish Church for tower bell ringing. As a diversion a little tune ringing on handbells was also done at the school.

If there is sufficient demand most education authorities would run a similar course, either as a recreational class or as a youth activity. Usually a minimum of 10 or 12 must be present throughout the session or the class may lapse.

Students are required to pay a fee (7s. 6 d . to 10 s .) unless they are recent school leavers. Some authorities allow students in their first years after school free, others under 18 years of age free. A competent instructor must be available. School children are not allowed to attend (unless leaving school during the current term).

Only those who have paid the course fee or who are exempt may take part in the class.
The Further Education Officer or the Chief Education Officer of the area concerned will supply information on such courses.-Yours, supp.

NORMAN CHADDOCK.
Rotherham, Yorks.

CHILCOMPTON TOWER MEMORIES

Dear Sir.-Twenty years ago last June I was introduced to the Exercise at Chilcompton, Somerset, by Ronald Beck and his band, and my first peal was rung in the following year at Marston Bigott-at that time both were, and I believe that they still are, six-bell towers, but I see that the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead lists them now as being eights. As it is some 16 years since I left Chilcompton, maybe I am wrong, but one thing is certain-Ronald Beck gave me something to think about on that flrst Saturday in June, 1935, when he asked me to come down on the next practice night. I have been thinking about it ever since, and shall continue to do so for a long time yet, I hope. It would be hard indeed to thank him enough for what he and the band gave me, so difficult a pupil.-Yours sincerely.

CHARLES ROUSE.

LEICESTER BELL FOUNDERS

Dear Sir,-It is good to see the researches on the Leicester bell founders made available to a larger public in 'The Ringing World.' I myself was aware of them up to the death of Hugh Watts in 1643, and agree that up to this point there is direct descent of the goodwill of the foundry from the time of Johannes de Stafford.
My objection is to the words, 'their descent directly,' applying from 1650 to about 1717. It is unfortunate that our well-known Leicester historian did not give his latest known dates for the passing of the Watts family and his earliest founding dates for Edward Arnold or Thomas Eayre, sen.
Hugh Watts II. died in 1643, leaving his business to Hugh, his son, but to my knowledge Hugh III. did not work the foundry after 1646 . George Curtis is described as a Leicester founder who exchanged the borough crier's bell in 1644-5 and may have been running the business for Hugh III. George Curtis died in 1650, and when the crier's bell had to be recast in 1655-6 it had to go to Nottingham, giving a strong implication that the Leicester foundry had closed on Curtis' death. The next notice of a Leicester founder that I know of is Thomas Clay in 1711, giving a gap in the Leicester founders of at least 60 years. Edward Arnold succeeded to his uncle's foundry at St Neots in 1761 and does not appear to have moved to Leicester until 1784, which gives another gap of 69 years from Thomas Clay's last known casting. If we assume that the link with the Watts came through Thomas Eayre, sen., of Kettering (who came of a family long established in that town), we have another gap of 60 years and that coupled with another assumption that the letters T. E. on the East Farndon bell cast in 1710 denotes his work.
If Ernest Morris can close any of these gaps he will have rendered bell historians another great service in addition to his other researches. Then perhaps we can start talking about 'tracing descent' and afterwards 'tracing descent directly,' which at the moment I maintain cannot be done with the above-mentioned gaps in our chronology yet to be filled.-Yours sincerely,

GEORGE P. ELPHICK.
Lewes, Sussex.

PEAL RINGING IN SOMERSET

Dear Sir,-With reference to the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's interesting article on 'Peal ringing in Somerset' in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World,' I should like to point out that he has omitted Nailsea from the list of six-bell towers which have attained 'double figures.

There have been 17 peals rung at Nailsea in all-one in 1931 and the remainder since 1944. -Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL HORSEMAN.

BOATRACE DELIGHT

Dear Sir,--How truly did the Venusian poet sav 'Nescit vox missa reverti'! Had your correspondents but resisted the only too wellknown temptation to skio the dull report of the Cambridge University Guild Week, they would have seen that, in fact, the Guild had no intention of claiming the method, whose nickname is Boatrace Delight. and whose proper name seems as yet to be unestablished, as their own. No. Sir, we do not want it; as your exOxonian correspondent points out, the method is not all it should be; and in any case we couldn't ring it.

THATCHED CHURCH ROOFS

Dear Sir,-When I wrote my letter on Sept. 26th, re churches with thatched roofs, I omitted Middleton, about 2 miles away from here.
Middleton-cum-Fordley is the correct name of the parish. At one time each was a separate parish and each with its own church, but unfortunately both the churches were built in the same churchyard and each church had its own parson. Both churches had bells. In 1620 A.D. a complaint was made to the Bishop of Norwich that when scrvice did not begin and end at both churches exactly at the same time, the bells and stecple of one disturbed the congregation of the other. To remedy this inconvenience, the Bishop directed that the same minister should serve them both and officiate in them alternatively (from 'History of Suffolk ').
Fordley Church has gone and no visible signs remain. I can find no record of what happened to the bells. Of Middleton Church it has a square flint tower surmounted by a spire with five bells. Of the weight of tenor this is uncertain, but I should think 8 or 9 cwt . The Rector tells me that the bells have not been rung for many years, as the headstocks are decayed, but chiming is possible.' Repairs are being done to the spire as all the wooden supports are in a very bad state owing to the death-watch beetle and much of the lead is being replaced. The thatch on the roof is in a bad state and will require rethatching in a few years' time. Yours faithfully,
A. R. BRIDGES

Theberton, Sulfolk.
IMMANUEL OR ROSSENDALE SURPRISE
Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Jones' querv (page 603) and Mr. H. Chant's comment (page 6341 the peal referred to was rung at Wendens Ambo. Essex, on November 12th, 1927, by: Walter Mansfield 1, Miss K. Willers 2, Frank E. Haynes 3, William A. Tack 4, Edward H. Finch S, Albert E. Austin (conductor) 6.

In the 1907 collection it had no name, just No. 22, but we always called it Immanuel. The construction is London below the treble and Woodbine above.-Yours faithfully,
A. E. AUSTIN

Wedding at Wyke Regis

Twe members of the Wyke Regis band, Miss D. Hill and Mr. F. Symonds, were married in the presence of a large congregation on October 1st at All Saints' Church, with which both have been connected for several years.
The bells were rung as the happy couple left the vestry for the reception, which was attended by all the ringers. During the afternoon the bells were kept going and in the evening a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Abbotsbury by members of the Salishury Guild after a peal attempt had failed.

NATIONAL GUILD OF POLICE RINGERS

Tributes to Late President

The National Guild of Police Ringers held their annual meeting at Northampton on Saturday, September 17th. A good company of members and their friends were met by the local members, P.C. W. Hammonds and ex-P.C. W. Robinson, at St. Peter's Church shortly after 10.30 a .m.

The bells of St. Peter's, together with those of St. Edmund's were set going by the early arrivals and the fine weather added to the delight of the occasion. Members travelling from London, Manchester, Birmingham and the surrounding counties arrived before mid-day to make the most of the first visit of the Guild to Northampton.

The bells of St. John's, Kingsthorpe, and St. Giles' were available during the early afternoon, and those of All Saints' between five and six p.m. concluded the day's ringing.

The business meeting was held at the Borough Police Headquarters by kind permission of the Chief Constable.

Ex-Superintendent F. R. Williams, of Manchester, a vice-president of the Guild, took the chair and, in paying a tribute to the late Inspector Harold J. Poole, said that by the sudden and untimely death of their president, Harold Poole, the Guild had suffered a tragic blow. He had been instrumental in the formation of the Guild, was its first secretary and later a very popular president. His untiring efforts were well known as a ringer and he was also a very good organiser. He had no doubt made some of the preliminary arrangements for that meeting. Mr. Williams expressed the wish that from that gathering the Guild's heartfelt sympathy would be conveyed to Mrs. Poole and her family in their great loss. The meeting then stood in silence as a tribute to his beloved memory.
The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and the secretary reported that during the year three peals were rung for the Guild-one at Ashby Folville, one at Bedford to commemorate Her Majesty's review of the Police Forces, and one to mark the retirement of their late president from the Leicester City Force.
During the year two Midland practice meetings had been held at Aylestone and Oakham and were well attended. Sixteen new members had joined the Guild, and by the death of exInspector Poole and ex-P.C. J. Sanderson, membership stood at 123 .
The funds of the Guild were satisfactory, ending the year with a balance of $£ 2013 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d .
The secretary concluded his report and thanked the members for their co-operation and attendance.

THE NEW PRESIDENT

The election of a president was next, and P.C. W. Pye, of Manchester, proposed P.C. R. Benson, and ex-Sergeant W. Dowding proposed Inspector J. G. Prior, of the Metropolitan Police. Inspector Prior wished to withdraw owing to his many other commitments.
Sergeant Wilmington then proposed exSuperintendent F.R. Williams should be elected for the ensuing year.
Ex-Chief Inspector Botterill then took the chair and the meeting decided in favour of P.C. R. Benson as the new president of the Guild.
P.C. Benson thanked members for the confidence they had in him and the honour they had bestowed upon him by electing him to the office of president.

The following new members were elected to the Guild:-P.C. G. E. Iliffe (Leicester and Rutland), Special Constable H. J. Sanger (Somerset County), Special Constable W. Parrott (Metropolitan Police), Special Constable
C. J. Watts and Policewoman K. Ager (Manchester).

It was then decided to hold the annual meeting at Manchester.
Inspector Prior then proposed a vote of thanks to the secretary and P.C. Hammonds and ex-P.C. Robinson for the arrangements made for the meeting.
This concluded the business and members made the way to the Church of All Saints.

Dinner had been arranged at the Angel Hotel, where over a hundred members and friends partook of an excellent meal.
The guests included the Chief Constable of Northampton, Ms. D. R. Baker, and Mrs. Baker, the Rev. M. Rowson (Vicar of the Holy Sepulchre), and Mr. G. E. Sismey (churchwarden of All Saints' Church).

After the loyal toast the president introduced the Chief Constable, who welcomed the Guild to Northampton and said he had read 'The Ringer,' by Edgar Wallace, and he claimed to know something of the long pull, but it was his first experience with the National Guild of Police Ringers. He hoped their meeting in Northampton was a happy and successful one and he hoped they would come again.

Mr . Howson suitably responded on behalf of the guests.

Mr. G. E. Sismey remarked that he had always held the Police Service in high esteem; now he had met the Police Guild of Ringers it was unique and should go one higher in his esteem.

Handbell ringing was provided by members and friends of the Guild and the social evening was enjoyed by all the company.

> SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER Quarterly subscribers are reminded that the renewal of their subscriptions is now due. Rates: 3 months 7s., 6 months 13s. 6d., 12 months $£ 16 \mathrm{~s}$. Prompt payment saves clerical work. Remittances to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall.

Weddings Curtail Ringing at Gorleston

For their autumn meeting the Eastern Branch visited Gorleston-on-Sea on October 1st.
A heavy programme of weddings seriously curtailed ringing in the afternoon, so a lastminute rearrangement resulted in the business meeting being held in the ringing chamber, followed by tea in the Church Hall, then the service. Serious ringing was then possible until well into the evening.
Six new members from Catfield were elected to ringing membership. viz., Miss R. Harris. Messrs. G. Hawkes, A. Howes, V. Nichols, R. Nickerson and D. Platford.
The service was conducled by the Vicar of Gorleston, the Rev. E. L. Corbell, the organist being one of the newly-elected members, Mr. G. Hawkes.

An excellent tea was prepared and served by a party of lady church workers under Mrs. E. L. Corbell. A collection taken in appreciation of the ladies' efforts was immediately placed by them to the credit of Gorleston Parish Church Restoration Fund, as was also a profit realised on the tea, and the worthy cause was enhanced by $£ 117 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d .
A collection for the Diocesan Bell Fund realised 16 s . 3 d .

Proceedings closed with votes of thanks to the Rev. and Mrs. Corbell, the lady helpers, the organist and Messrs. Crowe and Bird of the local company.

Ashford District Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Ashford District was held at Ashford Parish Church on October ist. The bells were available from 3 p.m. and were put to good use until 4.30 , when the service was held in the church. This was conducted by Ashford's new Vicar, Canon N. M. G. Sharp, who has come from Birchington in the Canterbury District. In his address he stressed the part which ringers play as an essential component of the structure of church work and worship, and it became evident that we have gained a good friend. A collection taken for the Association's Belfry Repair Fund realised $£ 1$ 12s.

The Vicar and Mrs. Sharp joined the district in a good tea at the Parish Room, which had been prepared and was served by members of the Mothers' Unton. As the Vicar had to leave before the business meeting, Mr. John Willis took the opportunity to thank him. the organist, and the ladies for their share in making the meeting a success.

At the business meeting, the secretary read his report and financial statement for 1954-55. The district had a net increase of 20 new adult members and 14 juniors, and had gained two new towers. The number of peals had decreased, but this was probably due to the extra instructional work taking place. The fortnightly practice meetings in the western section last winter had been a great success and were being repeated this winter. The ringers' service held at evensong at Biddenden on June 26th was an innovation well worth repeating. Bands of junior ringers were being trained at Rolvenden and Cheriton.

He pointed out that, although the first object of the Association was to see that the bells of as many churches as possible were rung well for Sunday services, peal ringing played an important part. It made for good striking and provided a target for the ambitious learner. He thanked the clergy of the churches in the district for their co-operation, and also the editors of 'The Ringing World' and the local Press for their readiness to give space for reports of meetings and other useful publicity.
All the present officers of the district were re-elected. Attention was called to the forthcoming 75th anniversary dinner to be held at Maidstone on October 15th.
Mr. S. G. Waters put forward the suggestion that combined practice meetings be held in other areas of the district similar to those held in the western section, and this met with general approval. Consequently Miss M. Vantom offered to arrange those for the Lydd area. Mr. R. J. Birch for the Hythe area, and Mr. R. J. Carlton for the Ashford area.
Ringing then continued until 9 p.m. in methods up to Spliced Surprise Major. About 50 members were present from 15 towers.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION Northern District

The Northern District met at Ashwell on Saturday, September 24th. The rich music of the heavy six sounded until 4.30, when Father Catterick held a short service which included one of the finest sermons heard in this District. Mrs. Catterick played the organ.
At the business meeting the secretary thanked Fr. Catterick for such a warm welcome and encouragement. The next meeting will be a ioint one between the Biggleswade and Northern Districts and will be held at Clifton; the following meeting will be at Great Offley, The secretary also reminded members about their subscriptions.
After the meeting ringing began again with methods ranging from rounds for the learners to Burnaby Treble Bob, the special method for the day, which had gone under the temporary alias of Burnaby Delight.

A very pleasant day's outing was spent by the Derby Cathedral ringers and visitors, in and around Manchester on September 24th, the main attraction being the very fine ring of twelve at Manchester Town Hall.

The party left Derby by coach at 7.30 a.m. and the first church visited was Norbury (Hazel Grove), where we were made most welcome by Mr. Basil Jones. We were not, however, able to ring straight away as a funeral was still in progress. The very pleasant eight were rung successfully to Stedman, Grandsire and half a course of Yorkshire Surprise.

Less than a quarter of an hour's journey brought us to Stockport, where Mr. C. Bell met us. The bells were found to be rather noisy and difficult to strike.

A little after $12.30 \mathrm{D} . \mathrm{m}$. the party arrived in Manchester and partook of an excellent lunch, served most efficiently-much to the delight of the younger females present-by Italian waiters.

After lunch the party assembled outside the Town Hall, where a 'silent ' course of Grandsire Triples was 'rung' to the great astonishment and bewilderment of passers-by. Owing to the lift being out of order, it was necessary to make the long climb up a great number of steps to the belfry, where Mr. R. Benson met us.

Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung, but an attempt for Stedman Cinques came to grief, probably due to the fact that, not possessing a ring of twelve in our own county, practice is not available. After some rounds, at which one of our younger lady ringers performed remarkably well on the tenor, the back eight were rung successfully to a course of London Surprise. During the ringing Mr. Benson very kindly took some of the party up to the tower to see the belis and the carillon and the bourdon bell (eight tons).
The last tower of the day was Newton-leWillows, where Bristol and Cambridge Surprise, with an attempt for Spliced Surprise Major, were rung. A very enjoyable tea was provided in the School Room by the Darents of one of the ringers.

At 6.30 p.m. the coach left Newton and within four and a quarter hours we were back in Derby. Sincere thanks are offered to Mr . Harold Taylor, who so successfully arranged the outing, and also to those ringers who made us welcome at the various towers. E. A. G. G.

CORSTON, BATH

A tour of South Gloucestershire was selected ty the ringers of All Saints' Church, Corston, Bath, for their annual outing on September 17th. The Rector accompanied the ringers.
The towers visited during the morning were Wickwar, Cromhall and Wotton-under-Edge, all very enjoyable. A pienic lunch had been planned near Frocester Hill but unfortunately the turning to this beauty spot was missed and the party had to be content with a roadside halt.
The afternoon ringing was at Stonehouse, where the bells were found to be heavy going (no doubt this was accentuated by over-indulgence at lunch), Minchinhampton and Chalford, where the party had the opportunity of ringing steel bells.
Tea was had at Cirencester, and afterwards the last and best ringing of the day was at Watermoor.
The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and sincere thanks are due to the clergy who permitted ringing in their towers and to the members of the local bands who welcomed the party

EMMANUEL, PLYMULTH

On September 24th Emmanuel ringers ussembled at the church at 11.30 a.m. to ring for a wedding, and at 1 p.m. left for a half-day tour, being accompanied by wives.

Dartington was arranged for the first tower, but a funeral that afternoon prevented ringing. She Vicar of Diptford was written to, but we arrived at the same time as the Brixham ringers. However, as this was a new tower to the majority, it was decided to wait and eventually everyone had a ring. Ringing consequently had to be curtailed at the next two towers before tea-Stoke Gabriel and Churston Ferrers. The tea was at Dellers Cafe, Paignton, and was much appreciated.

Two eight-bell towers-Paignton and Upton, Torquay-were enjoyed, and excellent touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major were rung. We were joined by two or three old friends, including Mr . Aubrey Bennett, hon. treasurer of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.

Our coach driver then took us the whole length of Torquay, Pteston and Paignton fronts to see the very fine lighting, and this was greatly admired. After a short stop at Tetnes for light refreshments we arrived back in Plymouth at our usual time, just aften 10 p.m.

Ringing was in charge of the captain, Mr. J. P. Sims, and arrangements were made by Mr. H. H. Thomas, hon. secretary. H. T. H.

STEPNEY

Stepney ringers selected Surrey for their annual outing on September 17th. The coach was waiting, the handbells had been procured, in fact they nearly went without the organiser and his family, who arrived late !
However. St. Nicholas', Godstone, was reached with a minute or two to spare and the afternoon started well with Stedman. Grandsire and Plain Bob. We were delighted to ring with the Vicar, who met us, and we hope he enjoyed our ringing and our company.

The next stop was Bletchingley, where we had tea with Ted Bird and George Olliver. This most beautifully-kept church has a link with Stepney. Travelling with the party was the Rev. P. Tidmarsh. whose first curacy was at Stepney. He hails from Bletchingley and is rightly proud of his home church. Here we rang rounds, Bob Triples, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major. The long draught upset one of the young ringers, but the rest had a reallv eniovable time.
A shock awaited us at our last tower, St. John-the-Evangelist, Redhill. The organist had arranged an organ recital just when we were due to ring. Full marks to Mr. Comber of the local band, who got everything put right. We rank Grandsire and Stedman Triples, but somehow never did as well as we could have done.
It was the first outing for most of the band and on the whole they did very well. We are extremely grateful to all who contributed towards its success.
L. J. F.

Awheel With Reading Ringers In South-East England

Organised by the sons of a well-known Read. ing ringing family, a week's tour of Sussex and Kent was held from August 20th. The party of 12 included ringers from Banbury, Penzance, Worcester and a much-travelled member from Chichester.

The objective on the first day was Arundel, with ringing at Chiddingfold and Pulborough en route. Punctures and faulty judging of the mileage resulted in a latè arrival at Arundel.

Sunday's ringing was at Arundel Parish Church, the anti-clockwise ring at Ditchling and Uckfield where, with local ringers, ringing ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprisc. After supper at Blackboys Hostel there was an evening 'snatch' at Buxted.

A peal attempt of London Surprise was planned for Monday at Mayfield but the temperature was high, and with a trip after half an hour the attempt was abandoned. Burwash (a delightful light eight) and Hawkhurst were visited before arriving at Goudhurst Youth Hostel in the old Manor House, Singing on the lawn ended the day except for the removal of scrap iron and holly from some of the sleeping bags.

Another peal attempt was scheduled for Tuesday at Goudhurst but the temperature, and the 'go ' of the bells combined to make half an hour of Stedman enough. It is a pity that these bells do not 'go' well as they have a splendid tone ( $8,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.) Grandsire, fourspliced and Bristol were afterwards rung. The girls were commissioned to provide a picnic lunch, eaten in a field near Frittenden Church. The beautifully-kept ringing chamber at Biddenden was admired, and the other tower visited was Headcorn with its ground-floor ringing chamber.
More 'dens' were visited on Wednesday, the programme including Benenden, Rolvenden, Tenterden (the heaviest ring of the tour, 30 cwt.), Bethersden and finally, after a visit to the youth hostel to 'make ourselves look more civilised. Ashford. For the pleasant hours ringing at Ashford several local ringers and Tom Cullingworth and Geoffrey Pcarson, from Maidstone, participated. The highlight was a good touch of six-spliced.
A compliment was paid to the tourists at the first tower on Thursday-Aldington- by a veteran of the local band, who said he had never heard the bells 'tipping' down like it before.' Hythe, including a visit to the crypt with its rows of skulls, and Folkestone were visited before reaching St. Mary's, Dover. One of the touches here was Bob Major, being called by our Chichester friend who, on being asked to include a few singles because of the way he called them, obliged with ten consecutively! The night was spent at Dover Hostel.
There was no ringing at Sandwich on Friday because the bells were 'clocked' from the centre of the ringing chamber. After the last picnic lunch at Pegwell Bay a visit was paid to St. Lawrence's, Thanet ( $10,18 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Rain had stopped when we left the tower. After 20 minutes ringing at Birchington the twelve at Quex Park were sampled. Unfortunately we did not have a 12 -bell band and we had to be content with ringing rounds before Grandsire and Stedman Caters. A course of London Surprise Major was followed by a fall in peal on the top eight. A 16 -mile cycle ride to Canterbury Youth Hostel ended the day.
Before dispersing on Saturday, ringing took place on the musical eight at Chilham. So ended another tour, to be remembered by the high temperature and fairly hard cycling of the first few days and, of course, the bells and ringing.
Thanks are accorded to incumbents and local ringers for making arrangements. 'We would like you to know that we thoroughly enjoyed our visit, which was the first for several of us, to the South-East.

OBITUARY MR. TOM HAMMOND

An Appreciation of a Liverpool Ringer

The passing of Tom Hammond leaves more than a void in the ranks he was the last of the old band and with him passes an era. Above petty parochialism, he was a ringer of the old Cathedral bells, a ringer of the St . Nicholas' bells and a ringer of the new Cathedral bells.

Tom never missed the ringing of bells, they were his special message. It gave him pleasure and assurance when the bells that he had helped to ring were the means of carrying the Christmas, the Easter and the Harvest message into the hospital wards and to hear how much they were appreciated. We have it that Liverpool Cathedral bells alone took the message of Easter to some of the wards in the nearby Women's Hospital.

Liverpool, let it be remembered, has but one clergyman to more than 5,000 inhabitants.

Tom was of an age when the bellringers rang the bells, and the message they carried travelled with the four winds far and wide. Whether the message was being carried to the thousands who thronged the Pier Head on a sunny Sunday in June, or through the soot and smoke of a Lancashire town on a Saturday afternoon, Tom's interest was in the ringing of church bells. Not for him was the recent proud reference of a local incumbent-that his ringers had raised the parish total by nearly $£ 100$ at their local church fair. Tom's service was not the raising of money.

He was a great man to argue, but in this perhaps his best might well be remembered; he would listen to a contrary point carefully, and I have known him say, 'Perhaps I am wrong,' and a minute later with his opponent still forcing the issue Tom has said, 'I have said I was wrong, I am sorry.' Truly a great man.

The difficulties associated with the ringing of bells in a tower still in the hands of other authorities he understood, and with a quiet humour he circumvented all difficulties. It was not unknown for him to miss some of the ringing by waiting below to escort ringing friends who had failed to turn up. Would that all might be equally understanding !

Tom has gone to meet his Maker, and his old Ringing Master. From their bellringing life and example we might learn that a bellringer's main service is to ring the bells, wherever they may be, to the honour and glory, and to the good of all mankind.
E. L. H.

MR. WILLIAM RIGBY

It is with regret that we record the death on September 23 rd of Mr. William Rigby, of Fern Cottage, Lawton, Cheshire, familiarly known as 'Old Bill,' at the ripe age of 94 years.

He was the oldest member of the Chester Guild and North Staffs Association, having been a member for over 70 years. A report of his peals and his long service to the church and ringing will appear when compiled.

The funeral took place on September 26th, and in the evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, composed by his old friend, the late W. A. Fitchford, was rung with the bells halfmuffled by the following band: Miss Gayner E. Higgins 1, Miss Phyllis J. Holborn (first of Grandsire) 2, Ronald Barlow 3, John Boffey (first quarteri 4, Robert Arrowsmith 5, William Massey 6. Douglas R. Whalley (conductor) 7, Allan Budd (first quarter) 8.

MR. MATTHIAS HOBBS

The death occurred on September 15 th of Mr. Matthias Hobbs at the Kettering General Hospital at the age of 72 .

- Matt ' Hobbs was a ringer at St. Botolph's Church. Barton Segrave. Northants, and was a member of the choir for over 50 years. As a ringer he was well known in Northamptonshire and though he specialised in Doubles methods was a safe ringer on all numbers of bells. A first-class striker, he always enjoyed good ringing.
Prior to the 1914-18 war 'Matt' built up a good five-bell band at Barton Segrave, and in 1909 he conducted a peal of Doubles in 14 methods with an entirely local band. He rang his 100th peal in 1924 and his peal total was in the region of 120 .

Although ill-health prevented him from doing much ringing after the end of the last war his interest in the Barton Segrave band remained, and when he was able he would climb the steps and call a touch.
The funeral service, which was fully choral. was held at Barton Segrave, when the bells were chimed as the cortege proceeded to the church, by five of his old ringing friends. Immediately afterwards a well-struck 240 of Grandsire Doubles was rung by B. P. Morris, C. W. Bird, R. F. Turner, R. Marsh and H. Pettitt.
In the evening other ringing friends joined the local company in mufficd ringing. B. P. M.

ST. MARY'S, WALTHAMSTOW

Following a 'family ' outing in July, the St. Mary s. Walthamstow, ringers decided to hold on September 17 th one of those highly-concentrated tours where, if too many long climbs are included the weak may fall by the wayside and content themselves with studying the architecture of churches visited, turning after dark to the archaic structure of the 'locals.' Organisers of such tours are, therefore, welladvised to keep a close check to ensure that the vital ringer for a course of Cambridge is not pottering around downstairs admiring a 14th century tympanum.
Leaving Woodford at mid-day, with several ringing friends, the first stop was Epping Town, a fine-toned octave, perhaps in need of some attention from the hangers. Keeping to a routine of half an hour's travelling and an equal time for ringing, the pleasant and popular ten at Bishop's Stortford were soon going to Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain and Treble Bob Royal. Next was the highlight of the trip-Dunmow, considered by many (including the writer) the finest cight in Essex. For the first time for many vears on a Walthamstow outing Double Norwich was now rung. and rung well. Little Bob, too, as a novelty. Reluctantly departing to make way for a peal attempt, the next stop was for the light and easy-going eight at Braintree.
Thence to Great Waltham, where a peal band had been busy in the morning. Upon hearing the first octave start up again at 4.30 , heads appeared at windows and small knots of villagers gathered in doorways wearing, one fears, glum and apprehensive expressions at the prospect of another three-hour spell. Fortunately ringing was of a good standard and it was not until the final fall, that a local spokesman approached and village fears were allayed.
Following tea and a well-carned rest at Chelmsford, the first evening stop was at High Ongar, where strangers, fearing the worst from the ugly yellow-brick tower, must be pleasantly surprised at the excellent tone and "go."
From Ongar to Hutton's picturesque little church, its coloured windows glowing among the dark trees. In the trim ringers' 'recess ${ }^{\text {. }}$ under the wooden tower we rang such methods as we knew for five bells, then sped to the final tower, Brentwood, finishing the last change precisely on the appointed minute.
It is encouraging to find that after many years St. Mary's band is able to ring Stedman Caters and Double Norwich with very little outside help. It is hoped soon to achieve completi. independence.
Thanks are due to all those who kindly waited at each tower to greet us, especially at Braintree, where notice was short. A. B.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION  Eastern District at Goole

The autumn meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Goole on September 24th and was attended by over 30 ringers representing 18 towers, when good use was made of the eight bells in the tower. The service was conducted by the Rev. G. B. Greathead, curate, nephew of a former Conis. brough ringer, and he also gave the address and played the organ.

Tea was followed by the business meeting. presided over by the vice-president, Mr. A. E. Sellers. Two new members were elected: Mr and Mrs. A. Simpson, of Nottingham. York was selected as the next place of meeting, subject to the necessary permission being obtained.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and a message of sympathy and good wishes was sent to Mr. C. W. King, of Goole, who has been ill since early in January last. The memhers expressed pleasure at seeing Mrs. J. J. Taylor about again after her illness. The best wishes of the members were extended to Mr . and Miss Harrop, of Howden, who are both joining H.M. Forces. An apology was received from Mr. F. Wilkinson, of Pocklington. A collection for the Association Bell Repair Fund amounted to 16 s . Id .

LINCOLN GUILDS' JOINT MEETING

About fifty ringers and friends attended a joint meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and the Ladies* Guild, Lincolnshire Branch, held at Long Sutton on September 24th.

Ringing commenced at $2.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and a service was held at 4 p.m. with an address by the Rev. Cuthbert Powell. Mr. H. Piggins was the organist. An excellent tea was arranged and this was followed by a business meeting, with the Rev. C. Powell as chairman. After the general meeting had finished the men were duly turned out and the ladies had their meeting. Ringing then continued till about 8.30 p.m. Votes of thanks were expressed to all who had helped. and especially to Mr. Horace Harrison, the tower captain.
The church has a large restoration scheme ahead, and the octagonal spire, which is built of massive timbers covered with lead, is in a poor state, but in contrast the bells are an excellent ring, and the ringers who travelled such long journeys to attend (some over 80 miles) felt that their efforts were well rewarded.

QUARTER PEALS

DO you read the quarter peals? Whether you do or not the Editor will continue to publish them because through them a true picture of the ringer's service to the Church in the form of Sunday ringing is frequently presented. While peals have their value in setting standards of achievement, it is by the quarter peal, invariably rung by the local band, with perhaps one or two visiting ringers, that the abilities of a tower can be assessed. But here again too strong an accent should not be placed on the word 'ability' in the tower. Every new recruit has to make a start and the Sunday quarter, perhaps hunting the treble to one of the standard methods, is often the beginning of greater things to come. While quarter peals in Surprise methods add a leavening to the column, the repetition of the same names at regular monthly intervals carries with it the suggestion that there is a lack of recruits in the tower. The bracketed 'first quarter in the method' is the hallmark of progress, and without a liberal sprinkling of these the outlook for the future is not good.

The flow of quarter peals into 'The Ringing World' office varies according to the Church's calendar. We are now at our heaviest period with the thanksgiving for the harvest and for patronal festivals. This year we have had a bountiful harvest and from all parts of the country we hear of large congregations assembling to give thanks. It is a season of the year when the community welcomes the bells. Frequently one hears the comment that the public at large is unable to distinguish ringing-the good from the bad. Nothing is farther from the truth. Ringing with a rhythm pleases the ear, and as at harvest time the familiar hymns are looked forward to so with ringing. To the lay ear bell music with the tenor behind is comprehensible, although this statement will be vigorously challenged in some quarters. Well-struck Stedman Triples receives far more approval from the public in most parts of the country than the music of Surprise Major methods. As the message of the preacher and the singing of the choir on these occasions should be of a character that is within the compass of the majority of the congregation, so should the ringing. For a harvest festival service no minister or organist would think of introducing as the anthem one of Byrd's five-part motets, however much it would appeal to the individual members of the choir. The simile, we think, is applicable to ringing. Let the music of the bells be clear, unsullied and true.

Apart from quarter peals being a record of service to the Church they are in many respects the social column of 'The Ringing World.' There is a wealth of personal information of births, marriages and deaths. Frequently the first news to reach the Editor is through a.quarter peal. Only the other week he gleaned information about an important appointment to one of our national ringing organisations from the report of a congratulatory quarter peal. A quarter or a peal is invariably the ringer's medium of wishing 'Godspeed' to the young man or girl leaving home for college or National Service. This week the message of the bells accompanied one young man sailing for Cyprus. There always seems to be something topical in the quarter peal column.

Of course, and rightly so, the veterans have their place. To read of the old men of the Exercise in their eighties climbing belfries to ring in birthday quarter peals-and frequently the report is accompanied by the message that Mr. ' X ' rang his bell faultlessly-gives one a sense of pride. While many writers have expounded on the wastage in the Exercise, it cannot be denied that when once the love of bells is established in the heart of a man or woman it is a lifelong companion. This week we give a photograph of the assembly of veterans in London; many had travelled long distances to be present; some had not steadiness of leg and found climbing towers a tax on heart and wind; but they came to ring and to talk over the past.

To those who send in quarter peals the Editor would make this request. Follow the style the quarter peals appear in our columns. Name of town or village, county, date, method, ringers and footnote. This simple style has been operative for many years, but has not been graspedbless you all - by many of our contributors. Because quarter peals appear in alphabetical order in our journal we like each quarter peal to be written on a separate sheet of paper. At times we do not feel too happy with the contributor who endeavours to economise in paper by getting four quarters in different towers on a single sheet by writing on the front and back of the paper. Still more do we object to finding a quarter peal on the back of a peal report. Please keep the two separate. Finally, write as clearly as possible. While the writer might be familiar with the names, compositor, being 100,200 or more miles away, is not. We try to be accurate, but we feel we could be nearer to accuracy with the co-operation of tower secretaries and correspondents. Good luck to all quarter peal ringers and may we see many more 'firsts.'

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Devizes Branch at Trowbridge

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch, held at Trowbridge on October 1st, was attended by 38 members and friends, including visitors from Chippenham, Frome and Swindon.
The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, who gave an inspiring address; tea was served in the Co-op Hall.
The business meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mr. Weeks. The next two meetings were fixed for Bradford and Westbury. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and to all those who made the arrangements. All returned to the belfry where many young ringers enjoyed their first ring on 12 bells. Methods ranged from rounds to Grandsire Cinques.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GULLD

The annual meeting of the Newbury Branch was held on October 8th at Newbury. The service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Mathews, Rector of St. Nicholas', with Mr. Sellick at the organ.

Tea was served to over 50 in the Parish Room. The chairman, the Rev. Mr. Woodfield, welcomed Miss Marie Cross, the Guild librarian. The Ringing Master (Mr, H. Reed) said that the position of Sunday service ringing was not satisfactory while there were six lowers without a regular band Mrs. Cooper resigned the post of secretary and treasurer, and Miss P. Gaunt was elected to the office.

It was decided to hold four meetings a year instead of six, as at present, the next to be held at Thatcham on January 21st. A social committee to organise functions of various kinds for the ringers has been proposed. Ringing continued until 9 p.m.

Mr. C. Gouldsmith has completed 70 years as a ringer at St. Augustine's Church, Broxbourne, Herts.

Mr. Norman J. Smith, of Chichester, is joining the Missions to Seamen in the Port of London.

Copies of the photograph taken at the Veterans' Reunion may be obtained from F . G. Payne, 104, Milton Grove, Stoke Newington, N.16, price 2s. 6d. each.

Congratulations to the Beresford twinsPeter and Dennis-of Lichfield, on ringing their 100 th peal together. We should be pleased to hear of other twins who have passed the century mark together in peals.

There was an anniversary touch about the peal of Grandsire Triples at Sevenoaks on October 8th. Mr. Robert Collins rang the tenor in this peal and one 25 years ago, and Mr. Leonard $\mathbf{P}$. Turley is the son of the conductor of the peal a quarter of a century ago.

The quarter peal rung at North Bradley on October 2nd for harvest festival was also a wedding compliment to Miss Betty Solly, of Margate, on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. J. Russell. Betty learned to ring at North Bradley during the war, when she was evacuated there with her parents. On returning home she joined the band at Birchington.

Visitors to the Guild of GOSSTP Carillonneurs in North America three-day congress at Ottawa included Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes and Mr. Arthur Johnston, son of the late Mr. Cyril Johnston, who was on holiday in Canada from Cambridge University. Over 50 carillonneurs were present and they were the guests to dinner of the Canadian Government at the Chateau Laurier. The Hon. W. Ross MacDonald, leader of the Government, presided.

Following the banquet the carillonneurs gathered on the Chateau terrace for a unique ballet by the Ottawa Classical Ballet Company, directed by Nesta Toumine, and accompanied by Robert Donnell on the Peace Tower carillon.

Renovations to the tower of Worcester Cathedral are sufficiently advanced to permit of ringing next Saturday from 3.30 to $4.35 \mathrm{p.m}$. on the occasion of the Association's annual dinner.

Fastest peal yet rung on tower bells for thr Peterborough Guild was on September 18th, when a peal of Doubles in three methods was accomplished in one hour and 57 minutes at Grafton Underwood, Northants. The weight of the tenor is $7 \frac{1}{6} \mathrm{cwt}$.

Messrs. K. Timbury, R. Head and B. Lake were re-elected captain, vice-captain and secretary of the Pirton, Herts, team at their annual meeting on October 4th. The Vicar (the Rev. G. B. Ince), who presided, congratulated the team on their achievements during the past year.
We regret to report that the chancel of Middleton Church, East Suffolk, was gutted by fire on Friday, October 14th. This was one of the thatched church roofs referred to by Mr. A. R. Bridges in his letter on page 651 . Workmen renovating the church spire discovered the fire.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

The Veterans in London.-Through the initiative of Mr. A. W. Coles these 'Old Timers' assembled in London last month to talk over the past. The average age of those present was 69 years. Our picture was taken after tea in the hall, which had been beautified by the Fan Makers' Company, at the rear of St. Botolph's Church.

SPLICED SURPRISE BY OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Opportunities are rare for a University Society to attempt a peal of Spliced Surprise. It would be a very strong Society which could raise a resident band for such an attempt, and a band including non-resident members seldom meets. The attempt made by the Oxford University Society in Birmingham on October 1st was at an extraordinary meeting of members who had travelled from as far as Epsom and Liverpool. Most of these members walked from New Strect Station to St. Chad's Cathedral Church, where they were surprised, and not a little flattered, to find a former Master of the Cambridge University Guild, Mr. F. E. Haynes, waiting to welcome them. The presence of another friend of the Oxford University Society, Mr. Ralph Edwards, was noted with pleasure, and one wondered whether the critical audience would be augmented by other members of the St. Martin's Guild. In fact, for a few minutes, it was debated whether to include the audience in the band, but the B.R. (W.R.) representative, although ' due here ' at 12.45 p.m., duly made his 'expected time of arrival,' walking from the other station.
The attempt eventually began just before 1.30 p.m., but not before Mr. Edwards had discovered when the ' 65 's' were to come up, or before one of the band had been stung by a wasp. The 'light blue line' of 'Boatrace Delight' could just be discerned on the wall, so the door was bolted securely to prevent any other attempts at sabotage.
The band, which uncluded the present Master of the Society (Mr. W. H. Jackson) and the Master of ten years ago (Dr. J. E. Spice), soon settled down and rang the first peal of Spliced Surprise by a University Society without undue trouble. It is to the credit of the Society that four of the band learned to ring while at Oxford, although their ability to ring Spliced Sur. prise might well be traced to Mr. W. F. Judge.

The thanks of the Society for permission to attempt the peal are tendered to the authorities at St. Chad's Cathedral Church, particularly to Mr. L. Kelly, the Ringing Master.

FAMOUS SUFFOLK TOWER

Prospects of a Ring of Eight

The medixval church at Stoke-by-Nayland, which Constable put into his famous 'Rainbow ${ }^{\text {c }}$ picture, requires $£ 1,600$ in order that ravages of the death watch beetle may be remedied.
After the discovery of the death watch beetle about five months ago, Commander C. J. W. Simpson, leades of the North Greenland expedition of 1952-54, and his sisters offered to give two new bells and pay for their hanging as a memorial to their father, Rear-Admiral C. H. Simpson, and mother.

With the new bells, Stoke-by-Nayland will have one of the heaviest rings of eight in Suffolk, with a tenor of 28 cwt . When the old bell frame is removed and a new steel frame erected, five of the bells will have to be retuned, and the treble. which is cracked, recast. It is hoped to have the bells hack by next June.

NORTH BRADLEY RINGERS LOSE A FRIEND

Canon S. D. M. Davys is leaving North Bradley, Wilshire, after 26 years as Vicar there and is retiring, and a farewell peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted on September 24th. This. unfortunately, came to grief after an hour's ringing, but a quarter peal was successfully accomplished.

Canon Davys was a great friend of the ringers and always stressed the importance of their service to the church. He did a great deal at North Bradley, being responsible for the rehanging of the six bells in 1935 and also for the installation of two trebles in 1950 as a Parish Church thanksgiving for victory in the two world wars.

He will be missed by the ringers, as he gave them a free hand to ring the bells whenever they wished, except when a service was being held

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Crewe Branch at Nantwich

Because the pinnacles of 600 -year-old Nantwich Parish Church are in a dangerous condition, ringing at the meeting of the Crewe Branch on October 1st was curtailed. More than 50 ringers were present representing 13 towers from as far afield as Sittingbourne, Kent. Methods rung included Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. M. B. Southwell), and an address was given by the Rev. F. G. Gentry (Vicar of Christ Church, Crewe).
Afterwards members were entertained to tea in the Parish Hall, where they were welcomed by the Rector. He referred to the recent death of 94 -year-old Mr . William Rigby, a former member of the Guild. The Rector said he had never known Mr. Rigby, but according to his ringing record he must have been a wonderful man.
Mr. D. Smith thanked Nantwich members for their hospitality.

Mr. F. S. Stenson (treasurer), deputising for Mr. Wilfred Kent (secretary, who was unavoidably late), expressed pleasure at the good representation of V.Y.P.s (very young people), who were a 'a grand lot.' He also welcomed a number of veteran ringers.

These included Mr. E. J. (Ted) Rodenhurst, of Hodnet, a former Master of the Shropshire Guild. Mr. J. Griffiths (77), of Gresford, and Mr. William P. Deane (71), of Norton-in-theMoors, Staffordshire, Rinecing Master of the North Staffordshire Association. The visitor from Sittingbourne was Mr. H. Parkes, who is engaged in rehanging bells at Gresford

Afterwards, at the invitation of Mr. Gentry, members travelled to Crewe to ring the Christ Church bells. Others from Wistaston. Holmes Chapel, Acton and Nantwich went to Acton Parish Church where they rang touches in six methods: Grandsire Doubles. Bob Doubles, Plain Bob Minor, Little Bob Minor. Kent Treble Bob Minor and Cambridge

MONMOUTH AND SOUTH WALES TOUR

I) URING the nine days of the tour 33 towers were visited, although this record does not compare with the latest development in Spliced Surprise ringing because all the members of the party did not do all their work in all of the towers, and 12 peals were rung out of 22 attempts. September 3rd to 11 th was a busy 'week, and we were scheduled to ring at various places at morning, noon and night. The happiness and harmony of the tour was, in a very large measure, ensured by the initial assistance given by Mr. D. J. King and by the warm welcome and sincerity we received from everyone with whom we came into contact. The local ringers really made us feel that we were among some good friends.

Bridstow, near Ross-on-Wye, Hereford, was first on the list on our journey to the Westgate Hotel, Newport, headquarters for the week.
Here a peal of Yorkshire was rung without Here a peal of Yorkshire was rung without hesitation, and Maurce Hodgson marked a welcome return to the "peal column.' Another band called at Monmouth, but after 40 minutes relinquished their attempt to score a peal of Rutland. During this period the remaining ringers of the party visited Goodrich to ring on the six bells there but, unfortunately, as the tenor was being pulled up the clapper fell out, so no change ringing took place.

Most of the party had not visited South Wales before so that in addition to an up-todate luxury coach, owned and driven by Albert Lawrence, everything seemed fresh and new. Yet we were in a land of Roman and Ancient British settlements, an area enshrined in history.

IN SOUTH WALES

For our first morning we set out to ring for service at Llandaff Cathedral, where one hour's ringing seemed too short a time on this very pleasant ten. The building itself is still undergoing extensive repairs and one unusual and visible feature is along the external cornice, where carved stone heads of reigning monarchs are spaced at about one yard intervals. We met Mr. F. J. Hannington in Cardiff, for he had kindly arranged our Sunday lunch. Following this we journeyed on to Aberavon, where, in addition to the attraction of a very nice ring of eight, we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. A. J. Pitman, the famous composer of extents of Spliced Surprise, and other brother ringers. Pressing on we arrived at Bridgend, where we rang with the local band for Evensong.
Three peal attempts were programmed for Monday and two were successful. We, in effect, excelled ourselves by ringing a peal of Surprise Minor in 14 methods at Si. Bride's Mafor in the morning and a peal of Grandsire Cinques at Newport Cathedral in the evening. The abortive attempt was made at Cowbridge, where Yorkshire was lost after one and a half hours. During the morning the overflow of the party visited two rings of six, Llantwit Major and St. Athan, in a more or less circular tour of the district. An invitation had been extended for us to join in the monthly Surprise practice at All Saints', Newport, and some were able to accept and enjoy the evening.

Tuesday morning arrived and we were to have only half a day peal ringing. Our first call was at Caldicot, and here an extent of Cambridge was completed. Another band stopped at Chepstow, where a peal of Monmouth was to be attempted but merely a plain course was rung. An administrative error had been made as the band chosen was not suitable, on a peal-ringing tour, to ring these bells with a 19 cmt . tenor to a 5,000 . The white flag was not hoisted, however, as more than half of a quarter peal of six-spliced was rung before the ringers left the tower. In the afternoon and evening we visited two towers where peal attempts were not possible, and enjoyed to the utmost the pleasure of ringing on grand bells. First, at Abergavenny, where a half course of Cambridge Royal and a special touch by C. E. J. of Grandsire Caters will be remembered by some for a long time. Second, at Ebbw Vale, where we joined in the local practice evening and, returning to our hotel in the darkness, we passed by factories and mines seemingly active with floodlights, flares, huge revolving wheels and large conveyor belts.

A BLANK DAY

On the next day we merely enjoyed some long touches, which did not finish in rounds. Yorkshire was lost at Machen after 55 minutes, London was lost at Caerphilly after two hours and ten minutes, a shift course curtailed an attempt for Aldenham at Marshfield, and a broken rope stopped the ringing at Peterstone after two hours and five minutes.

Thursday arrived and, owing to one or two necessary changes in the bands, the programme was not strictly adhered to. But our efforts proved to be more successful. Eight of the party were left in Newport to ring successfully a peal of Yorkshire at All Saints'; the remainder journeyed in the coach to Bedwellty. This place is over 1,000 feet above sea level and a church has stood here since the fifth century. The present church was built in the 11 th century, and St. Sannan, who came from lreland, was said to have met St. David at this spot. Amongst all this historical background, and much more not here recorded, we were pleased to add our small contribution with the first peal of Spliced Surprise. In the afternoon we visited Trevethin, where an extent of Cambridge was brought round.

And now for our pitiful tale-St. John's, Cardiff, was the tower, Cambridge Royal was the method, three hours and ten minutes was the time the attempt lasted, and the bells were in the plain course before the last three Homes. It was a Wrong-doing, but it happened! The few ringers available were kindly invited to join in practice at Whitchurch.

On Friday we set out for Llantrisant and Pontypridd. A peal of Bristol was rung at the former tower, but Lincolnshire was lost after two attempts within 90 minutes at the latter tower. Llantrisant, meaning the Church of the Three Saints, is known to be the place where the first cremation took place, about 60 years ago. A Dr. Price arranged it for himself and when he died the coffin with his body in was placed on some iron bars supported a couple of feet off the ground at the ends by two walls, and then surrounded and encased by wood faggots on to which tar and pitch were poured. The whole lot was then set fire to. Our afternoon peal attempts at Pentre involved the heaviest tenor on the tour, but Rutland provided the music until the bells came into rounds. Whilst this peal was progressing the coach journeyed right to the end of the Rhondda Valley and over the mountain to Aberdare, where a short ring was kindly arranged after a late request.
We began our last full day by visiting another historical place, Caerleon. In the London Museum is a sculptured panel, found on the site of the recently-exposed temple of Mithras, in the City of London, depicting the slaying of the sacred bull. There is an inscription on the pane! which records the donor's name. He was Ulpius Silvanus, a veteran of the Second Augustan Legion, which was stationed, for much of the time while it was in Briton, at Caerleon. Another small contribution to history was also made here when a complete peal of Caerleon. the first in the method, was accomplished. This method is No. 52 in A. J. Corrigan's collection of 370 methods. Llanfrechfra was also visited in the morning, but Yorkshire failed after one hour and forty minutes owing to a rope slipping the wheel. The last two attempts were successful, at Llangibby and Usk, and these completed the peal ringing programme

We returned on the Sunday, and for morning service assisted in the ringing at Lydney, Gloucestershire.

Handbells were used at various times of the week and one peal attempt was made, but no serious effort was evident on this side of our art.

Whilst, naturally, everyone had fresh exneriences in a fresh quarter of this island, we shall be able to recall three incidents in particular. On our journey down, when passing through Ross-on-Wye, the smiling welcome of two policewomen; the taste of a Welsh rarebit : and proof that life is not always consisting of ups and down, as when the lift in the hotel remained stationary between two fioors.
In concluding, we sincerely thank all incum bents for permission to ring on the bells; Messrs. King and Harrington and all local towerkeepers and captains for their assistance in the arrangements; and everyone who met us and did anything that ensured for us the pleasures which we most thoroughly enjoyed.

ONCE A YEAR

Less than two miles from Eye, Suffolk, is the small Parish Church of St. Mary, Braiseworth. The little church is not a hundred years old-a pretty interior and lit by oil lamps.
Undoubtedly, years ago services used to be much more frequent than they are now, for when the 1955 harvest thanksgiving service was held on Sunday evening. September 25 th, it was the first service there since the 1954 barvest thanksgiving.

The one bell hangs in a turret. It is only a swinger - clang, clang, clang-fully exposed to view of persons in the churchyard. Some wire netting has been put round the turret to keep out the birds, but there is a hole in 11 somewhere!

While people were waiting in the churchyard to go into the 1955 service there was a strange noise from above. It sounded like somebody beating a hedge with a broom handle. Looking up, one saw the bell on the move-not much at first, then each swing a little wider. And there seemed to be a good deal of pressure on the pulling side. Sticks snapped. snapped snapped . . then, at last, a dull muffled clang, which must have given the operator much encouragement, for the weight on the rope increased and soon we had a clear ring sounding over the countryside. Sometimes the pull was a bit too much, for there were several bumps, which appeared to be the bell hitting the side of the turret, and then one could see some loose masonry !

Inside it was a little different. The ringer stood at the west end of the nave, bending on to the rope to the sound of squeak, groan, clang: squeak, groan, clang-until the Vicar put on his surplice, the farmonium started up and the bell came to an immediate stop when the rope was released-quiet for another 12 months, perhaps.

Raven, 1890 , gives the inscription on this bell as follows

Cast by John Warner and Sons, London, 1879. 1606, recast 1879 . R. M. Bingley, Rector. W. Allen, C. Schofield, churchwardens. Hung by G. Day and Son, Eye."
(Davy, April 22nd, 1819: ‘John Draper made me $1606 .{ }^{\circ}$ ) C. $\mathbf{R}$

EPSOM, SURREY.-On Sept. 25th, at Christ Church, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Jean A. Howells 1, N. D. J. Webb (first quarter) 2, F. Oakshott (cond.) 3, W. Robinson 4, Cherie Payne 5, D. J. F. Oakshott 6, G. A. Howells 7. D. J. Evans 8. First quarter peal by the local band for over 25 years. Rung for the ordination of the Rev. J. Rose-Casemore.

LETTERS  LINCOLN GUILD PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-I have decided to ask for the withdrawal of the peal sung at Leadenham on July 27 th for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, owing to the low standard of the ringing.

I apologise to the Guild and to 'The Ringing World 'for the submission of the report in the first place.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM.

HANDBELLS WANTED FOR BLIND PEOPLE

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}, \mathrm{I}$ am wondering if any of your readers can help me to obtain a set of handbells, please. There are ten enthusiastic blind handbell ringers in Taunton, but the bells they are using at present are only on loan.

Every effort has been made to get bells, but without success up to now. I shall be grateful for help.

CALLINGS IN FIVE AND SIX BELL PEALS

Dear Sir,-I would like to support Mr. T. R. Butler's letter in your issue of October 7th regarding callings to five and six bell peals.
In fact I would go farther and suggest that it is time a ruling was made that in any five or six bell peal no calling should be repeated.

After all, if a conductor can call the standard ten $120^{\circ}$ s of Grandsire, he should also be able to call sixteen different 240 's. Alternatively, if a band can ring Grandsire Bobs and Singles, it should not present much difficulty to learn Extremes as well, by the use of which 32 different 120's can be obtained.

Under the present state of affairs, there does not seem to be anything to prevent a band learning one 120 by heart, ringing it 42 times in succession and calling that a peal. What a farce!-Yours faithfully,

> J. H. JOYNER.

ACLE - A THATCHED ROOF

Dear Sir, -I can add another church to the list of those with a thatched roof. This is St. Edmund's. Acle, where the nave is thatched. The tower is round at the bottom with an octagonal top and contains a ring of six bells. Whan the bells were restored and augmented in 1933 a special steel frame was built up from the ground inside and independent of the tower so that the latter carries no strain from the bells.

The sixit bell, the treble of the present ring, was given by the then Rector, the Rev. J. E. H.' Williams, and his wife. I heard carlier this year of the former's death at Bournemouth, where he was living in retirement, and I cannot let this occasion pass without putting on record the contribution of Mr. Williams to ringing. I think it is no exaggeration to say that but for his efforts the bells of Acle would not be able to be rung to-day. He took a keen interest in the ringers and he and most of his family did some ringing at various times. I was very pleased to hear from Mr. C. K. Lewis that the eldest son of Mr. Williams still does some ringing in Cheshire.

I myself can now look back on about twenty years as a ringer and in doing so I cannot but express my gratitude to the one who introduced me to ringing, the late Rev. J. E. H. Williams. -Yours sincerely.

DENIS A. BAYLES.

MR. JOHN FOWLER, OF COOKHAM

Mr. John Fowler, of Cookham, whose reminiscences appear in the Cookham Parish Magazine, has a record of 57 years in the choir, as master bellringer and as a church worker.

Concerning his ringing career, he joined the ringers in 1912, and when only 24 was appointed conductor. His first major job was to undertake the preparatory work for the restoration of the bells and the belfry. There was death watch beetle in the tower and the cost of this work was just under $£ 300$. The bell fund began with $£ 711 \mathrm{~s}$. raised by an entertainment. In the course of the work a frame was built to carry two extra bells. These were not provided until 1946. One of the bells bears an inscription commemorating the sacrifice of men of the tower in two world wars. There is only one name for the 1939-45 war, Ronald C. Fowler, John's son, who was killed in September, 1943.
Mr. Fowler has always kept a band together in the tower. To-day there are more ringers than bells- 15 on the regular roll with an average attendance of between 10 and 12 every Sunday morning and evening.
In 1928 Mr. Fowler was elected Ringing Master of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and last July his services to the Guild were recognised by his election as a vice-president.

atcham bells ring again

Travellers to North Wales using the AS road will no doubt remember crossing the Severn between Wellington and Shrewsbury at Atcham. where beyond the older bridge stands the Church of St. Eata but a few feet from the river.

Mainly 12th century, but built on the site of an earlier foundation, the church is believed to be the only one of this dedication. In the tower, which looks over the pleasant Shropshire meadows, there are six bells, four being cast by Rudhall in 1709 and two by Mears in 1829.

Unfortunately they have been heard very infrequently during the last 20 years, but recently they have been rehung by Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough, and were rung for the first time on September 18th by a band of ringers from St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, after suitable prayers by the Vicar, the Rev. F. M. Oliver, at the conclusion of Matins that day. A resident band is being formed with Mr. Mathews, of Berwick Wharf, Atcham, as its captain.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Members representing twelve towers attended the Society's monthly meeting, held at Rothwell on September 24th.
An unfortunate occurrence during the early part of the afternoon delayed ringing for some time. However, before the meeting ended at 9 oclock various touches had been rung in a variety of methods, ranging from Plain Bob to Yorkshire.

Tea had been prepared by the local company and helpers in the Church Hall and was much appreciated. The former Vicar of Rothwell, now living in retirement, was present for tea and welcomed the Society on behalf of the present Vicar.
A short business meeting followed, at which all those responsible for the local arrangements were thanked for their work.
During the evening the Vicar, making his first visit to the tower since his induction, joined the company. He apologised for his absence earlier in the afternoon and said how pleased he was to have a church with such a fine ring of bells.
The next meeting will be held at Chapel Allerton on October 29th.

25th Anniversary at Towcester

The 25th anniversary celebrations of the Towcester and District Branch were held at Towcester on October 8th. Touches were rung in Towcester Church tower during the afternoon, and the Office of the Guild sung in the Church in the evening. The service was conducted by the Rev. D. H. Curtis (Vicar and Rural Dean of Towcester), and the Rev. G. F. Hales (Rector of Green's Norton), a regular ringer in his parish, was the preacher.
The supper was held at the Towcester Conservative Club, with the president of the Branch (the Rev. R. G. Richards. Vicar of Potterspury) in the chair. Mr. B. Morris, Ringing Master of the Guild, proposed the toast of 'The Towcester and District Branch.' and Mr. Mansfield (Green's Norton), in reply, said that the Towcester Branch of Bellringers had been in existence for 65 years. Amalgamation with the Diocesan Guild took place 25 years ago. He gave a short history of local bellringing. The Rev. Guy Marshall, Vicar of Stoke Bruerne, proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' and Sir Reginald Manningham Buller, in acknowledgıng the compliment, spoke of the refreshing and sweetening sound of church bells in the great noise of modern life.

Entertainment was provided by the Lambert brothers (handbells), Mr. and Mrs. Reg Gayton (magic and conjuring), Mr. Monty Saunders and the Rev. J. T. Lewis (vocal items), Mr. Eric Walker and Mrs. Fountaine accompanied on the piano.
The festival committee comprised Rev. D. H. Curtis (chairman), the Rev. G. F. Hales, Messrs. W. A. Yates (secretary), V. Burt, W. J. Garlick, A. Mansfield, G. Mansfield, P. Foster and Mesdames K. Ballard and B. Mansfield.

Among the company of 90 present were Mr. G. F. Roome, secretary of the Northampton Branch, Mr. A. E. R. Walker, secretary of the Culworth Branch, and Mr. R. H. Howson, secretary of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

RETIREMENT OF CANON H. S. STEPHENSON

Throughout his long ministry Canon Stephenson has always been a friend of ringers and it was, therefore, fitting that almost his last function as Rector of Gateshead should be to visit St. Mary's to see the ringers who had come to attempt the peal to mark his retirement, for that same evening he was going off to Ryton, where he will reside, just a few miles from Gateshead. Reference to the peal columns will show that the meeting was not in vain.

In St. Mary's, Gateshead, will be found peal boards that tell the story of Canon Stephenson's ministry as eaoh decade has passed. Perhaps in due course one will appear to record this final stage--his diamond jubilee, which fell on St. Matthew's Day, September 21st.
When Rector of Allendale, Northumberland, Canon Stephenson was instrumental in the installation of the original six in a frame for eight. He moved to Gateshead in 1909 and became Rector in 1914. The announcement of his retirement set Gateshead people wondering what they could do to mark the occasion. for some years ago they had conferred on him the Freedom of the Borough, but eventually the Mayor opened a special fund. An honorary canon of Durham Cathedral, he also became a King's Chaplain, and as one of the senior chaplains he was present at the Coronation of her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.
He has been a staunch supporter of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association throughout the years and he was president from 1950 to 1953. The good wishes of all ringers in the north-east will go with him in his retirement.

Bells for Army Church in Korea

Sapper Peter Minchin, of Swindon, who was a bell.hanger in civilian life, is here seen fastening the bells to the wooden frame. Assisting him is Sapper Derek Hooper, of Mudford, Yeovil (on the right).

Hoisting this 13 cwt. tenor was child's play to Sapper Hooper, compared with some of the bells he has helped to raise in the home country.

MEMORIES OF THE HOMELAND

One of those delightful stories of the ringer in the Services furthering his art was told in 'The Ringing World' of September 16th by the letter written by Sapper Peter Minchin from Korea, telling how a ring of five bells has been installed in the Church of St. Martha, in Korea, which is situated five miles from the 38th Parallel and three miles from the Imjim River.

Through the kind co-operation of "The Illustrated Carpenter and Builder' we are able to present pictures of the two ringers instrumental in the hanging of the bells and the construction of the wooden frame. They will, we are sure, be recognised by many ringing friends.

Peter Minchin, whose home tower is at Swindon, is a bellhanger by trade. His two bellringing colleagues are Cpl . Colin Cade (22), of Weir Farm, Scothern, near Lincoln, and Sapper Derek Hooper (23), of Mudford, near Yeovil.

The bells rank among the lightest in any church, a tenor of about 20 lb ., but they are sufficient to bring to those in distant Korea memories of England and to enable changes of Doubles to be rung. There are already probationers.

When the bells were dedicated on July 31st by the Rev. E. L. Lake, of the Royal Canadian Army Chaplains Corps, there were only four bells in the turret, but since then a gift of another bell has been received from a neighbouring camp. We are waiting to hear from Korea of the first true 120.

The Church of St. Martha, about five miles from the 38th Parallel, is constructed of local materials and built in the traditional Korean style with zwooden structure and mud walls. The bell turret has a ring of five bells.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting at Sunderland

Sunderland, which was the venue of the annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association on September 24th, has the greatest number of bells hung for ringing of any town in the Diocese of Durham. Its bells comprise the ten of St. Andrew's, Roker, and the eights of the Parish Church, St. Igna-tius-the-Martyr and St. Michael's, Bishopswearmouth, and all were available for ringing at various times between $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

The members attended Evensong at Bishopwearmouth which was choral, and included the anthem 'Non Nobis Domine' by the boys of the choir. The service was conducted by the Rector of Bishopwearmouth, the Rev, C. L. P. Bishop, and the address was given by the Rector of Sunderland, Canon R. S. Troop.

Canon Troop took the Association motto, 'Ars Incognito Contemnitur,' as his theme. The man in the street was sometimes nostalgic about bells, but more often the "unknown art was despised.' But ringing required physical fitness, courage. concentration, team work and obedience to the conductor, and all that provided a parable of the Christian life itself, where similar qualities were needed and where, too, ignorance often resulted in its being despised.
Tea was served in Bishopwearmouth Church Hall to a company of 56 , which included representatives from 18 towers, and visitors from Richmond, Ripon and Sutton-on-Trent.

The business meeting followed tea and Mr. W. N. Park took the chair in the absence of the President, who sent a letter of apology and expressed his best wishes for a successful meeting.

The general secretary, Mr. D. A. Bayles, presented his report for 1954-55. He said that the year iust ended seemed somewhat of an anticlimax after the visit of the Central Council the previous year, but consideration given to the question of instruction on ringing might lead to important developments in future years, as might also the suggestion of combined planning of District meetings. The handbook, which would contain most of the subject matter omitted from the abbreviated reports, was just about ready for the printer. Meetings had been well attended throughout the year.

While no restoration had been completed during the year word had just been received that Houghton-le-Spring bells could be rung again following repairs to the tower and it was understood that restoration work was in hand at Embleton. Although the year had ended on August 31 st it would not have been right to omit mention of the retirement of Canon Stephenson as Rector of Gateshead at the end of September. A day of two earlier he had celebrated his diamond jubilce in holy orders and he had been a firm friend of ringers throughout his ministry. The good wishes of all would go with him in his retirement, and the committee had decided that afternoon to express those sentiments in some tangible form.

The honorary treasurer, Mr. F. Ainsley, presented his cash statement showing that the balance in hand had increased during the year from $£ 9015 \mathrm{~s}$. 11 d . to $£ 1175 \mathrm{~s}$., with the corresponding figures for the general fund showing an increase from $£ 693 \mathrm{~s}$. 8d. to $£ 968 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d .

The editorial secretary, Mr. J. Brewster, presented the peal report, which showed that 35 peals had been rung during the year-an increase of four over the previous year's total. All the peals were on tower bells and covered 19 towers. involving 73 ringers, among whom were 10 first pealers. Notable performances among individual ringers were R. Park with 17 and W . N. Park with 15 peals, and in conducting D. A. Bayles headed the list with 11, followed by R. Park with 10 . The methods rung included the first of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods, the first of Spliced Surprise Minor in 19 methods and the first of Pudsey Royal and Aldenham Surprise Major for the Association.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The president was re-elected and the other officers were re-elected en bloc. This list of officers for 1955-56, therefore, reads as follows: President, R. A. Gofton; general secretary, D. A. Bayles; treasurer, F. Ainsley; editorial secretary, J. Brewster; hon. auditor, J. F. Bird; Central Council representatives, $F$. Ainsley and W. N. Park; peal referees, W. J. Davidson, J. E. R. Keen, R. Park and W. N. Park.

The District officers show only one change due to Mr. A. Brunton having left the district, and the list now reads:-Northern: Vicepresident K . Arthur, secretary G. S. Deas; Southern: T. Cooke and E. P. Rock; Eastern: K. Lawson and W. F. Sheraton; Western: S. Thompson and C. T. Lamb.

Votes of thanks were passed to all who had assisted with the meeting and the service--the Rev. C. L. P. Bishop for the service, use of the bells and facilities of Bishopwearmouth: Canon Troop for his address and the use of his bells; the Revs. J. M. How and G. H. Marshall for the use of their bells; the organist. Mr. Hartley, and last, but by no means least, the ladies who had served the tea.
Mr. J. Anderson thanked the officers for the work they had done during the past year, and spoke highly of the part each had played.
It was announced that the committee had arranged the meetings for the coming year as follows: J. W. Parker Commemoration, Sunderland, March 17th, 1956; half-yearly meeting, West Hartlepool, May 12th, 1956; annual meeting, Newcastle Cathedral, October 13th. 1956.

The Rev. D. N. Goldie, of Holy Trinity, Darlington, was elected a clerical member, and four new ringing members were elected-Miss M. Jenrings (South Shields), Miss K. Rickaby (St. Cuthbert's, Darlington) and Messrs. B. Gilligan and R. Ridley (Gosforth).

WEDDING AT ROTHWELL

Two popular members of the band of the Holy Trinity Church, Rothwell, Northants, were married on October 8th. They were Miss Gwendoline Johnson and Mr. Brian Austin. Members of the local band rang both before and after the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Canon G. Turner).
Following a reception at the Tresham Hall, members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild rang a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major in honour of the occasion.
The couple left for a honeymoon as the peal commenced, and on their return will reside in Kettering.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Yardley Parish Church on October 1st. The ancient church has a fine crocketed spire, containing a beautiful modern octave, upon which some good ringing was obtained during the evening.
The Master, Mr. Albert Walker, who presided at the meeting, referred to the loss sustained, not only by the Guild, but by the whole Exercise, by the tragic passing of that great ringer, Harold J. Poole. He was a ringer who possessed great organising ability, was known personally by the majority of ringers in the room, and his loss would be felt in most of the activities in the art of ringing. The members stood in silence as a token of respect. Miss Mary Funnell, of King's Norton, and Mr. T. A. Griffin, of Yardley, were elected ringing members. The tower elections of the following life members were duly ratified:Miss Stella Hughes (Walsall), Miss Elisabeth Grime (Derby), Messrs. Selwyn H. Dearden (Oldham), James Phillips (London, N.W.3) and Richard J. Bowden (Bristol)
The next meeting, being the annual, will be held in the City on January 7th.
The Master referred to the peal recently rung at Southwark Cathedral by members of the Ancient Society of College Youths in celebration of the bi-centenary of the Guild. This fine gesture was much appreciated by the Gulld. and the thanks of the members were extended to their friends of the College Youths.

LICHFIELD CATHEDRAL BAND VISIT LIVERPOOL

At 8 a.m. on September 24th Lichfield Cathe. dral ringers, together with friends from Alrewas. Penkridge and Stafford, set off on their annual outing. A very pleasant run was enjoyed through North Shropshire and Wrexham before a halt was made at St. Mary-the-Virgin's. Pulford, on the main road from Wrexham to Chester. Here an hour's ringing was enjoyed.
Packed lunches were eaten whilst en route for the next tower, which was Neston, where the recently overhauled ring of eight (tenor 14 cwt.) was put to good use. This church seemed to be doing very well for weddings, as there were no less than four booked for that afternoon alone. A course of Double Norwich 'in hand, was also accomplished on the new set of handbells to be found in the belfry. The best ring of eight visited was at St. Saviour's, Oxton. This is a modern church with a central tower. The tenor is $20 t \mathrm{Cwt}$. in E .
The highlight of the day was ringing on the glorious new Taylor 12 of St. Nicholas ${ }^{\prime}$, Liverpool, with its tenor of 40 cwt .3 qr .4 lb . The church itself suffered severe bombing during the last war and the wonderful restoration work and the beautiful harvest festival decorations were much admired.

Ringing for the day officially finished at Liverpool, but after a salad tea in Chester an hour had been allotted for sight-seeing, and on setting off from the restaurant the 'best music of all " could be heard in the distance emanating from the tower of St. Mary-without-theWalls. Most of the ringers eventually found themselves ringing on this good eight.
Methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Cambridge, Yorkshire, Bristol and London Surprise Major, Grandsire Caters, Cambridge Surprise Royal and Grandsire Cinques.
The party would like to express their sincere thanks to all incumbents and ringers who met them and gave them the freedom of their belfries, the ringers at Chester for allowing them to 'barge in,' and by no means least to Mr .
Oliver for arranging another enjoyable outing Oliver for arranging another enjoyable outing

OBITUARY

MR. Charles william king
With deep regret we record the passing on September 29th, at the age of 72 years, of Mr. Charles William King, after a long illness,
He had been a ringer at St. John's Church, Goole, for 53 years and was a life member of the Yorkshire Association, joining in 1902, and was a member of the Selby and District Society of Change Ringers. Although a french polisher by trade for 19 years, he took up a seafaring career in 1914 which he followed until 1954, when he retired because of ill-health. Nevertheless wherever his ship was in port on Sundays he visited his own or other towers to enjoy his ringing.

Because of his seafaring career his peals were limited, numbering 14. He rang in the first peal on the old bells at Snaith Priory Church, as well as in the last peal on the old six and in the first peal on the augmented eight. Mr. King was a very cheery and sociable personality and his passing means a sad loss to the ringers at St. John's Church, Goole. Our sympathy goes out to his widow and family.
The funeral service was held at his home, conducted by Sister M. Hopp, preceding cremation at Lawnswood. A quarter peal (halfmuffled) was rung on October 4th in his memory at Goole Parish Church. L. M. W.

MR. FRANK W. RULLINGS

With deep regret we record the death on October 5th at Weston Favell, Northants, of Mr. Frank W. Rollings, at the age of 68 years. Mr. Rollings took up ringing early in life. He rang a peal at Weston Favell in 1908-the year in which Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich. rehung the bells. This peal and one rung in 1910 for the death of King Edward VII. are recorded in the belfry and will perpetuate Frank Rollings' memory.

Although his main ringing was in his own tower. Mr. Rollings was equally 'at home on six, eight or ten bells. He rang something like 130 peals in a variety of methods in Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Caters and Royal. Several peal boards in Northampton churches and elsewhere can te scen bearing his name.

Mr. Rollings was a member of the old Central Northants Association and of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild at its inception, but of late years he allowed his membership to lapse after the deaths of Thomas Law (for many years tower captain), Mr. A. Richardson and, later, the promising Mr. J. Linnett, who died in his twenties. The loss of these completely broke up the old Weston Favell band and the bells were seldom rung until the present team started from scratch.
A sufferer from thrombosis and failing sight, Frank would lend a hand, showing a willing heart. He did, in fact, ring a number of quarter peals of late, despite his two handicaps, and rang for two weddings (his last acts of ringing) on September 3rd. He was an authority on bee kceping and horticulture, and before retiring was head gardener at the Convalescent Hospital, Weston Favell. He is survived by a widow and a daughter.
On October 10th the funeral service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Douglas Hopkins) was attended by a number of friends including Mr. W. Gamage, Mr. F. Hopper and Mr . P. Amos, representing the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. Mr. Amos, as tower captain, also represented the local ringers.
The deceased was buried near the sound of the bells which he loved and faithfully served for many years. A wreath was sent by the Petertorough Diocesan Guild
In the evening following the funeral a peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung half-muffled, and at the conclusion the Rector went into the belfry and offered memorial prayers of thanksgiving for one who had faithfuly served his Lord and the art of bellringing
At a Guild mecting at Harpole on October 8th Mr. P. Amos touchingly referred to the life and passing of Mr. Rollings, after which all present stood in silence as a tribute to his memory.

A DAY IN THE DERBYNOTTINGHAM AREA

By the calendar, September 24th was the first Saturday in autumn, but for an outing arranged by 'Bill' Stote the clerk of the weather provided summerlike conditions. Meeting at Stapleford (Notts) just before 10 a.m. the mixed band found that thicir visit had been forgotten, for there was no one to meet them. To save time the party then went to the second tower, Stanton-by-Dale (Derbyshire) ( 6, tenor 10 cwt .), where the Rector and Mr. Gobey welcomed them. After a short ring, back again to Stapleford ( $6,7 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{c}}$.), where they were successful this time in finding the incumbent and, after a search, the belfry key. After about $20 \mathrm{~min}-$ utes' ringing the band moved back into Derbyshire to Breaston ( $6,7 t \mathrm{cwt}$.), where there was another delay owing to two cars going to Beeston in error! Car trouble then delayed the party still further.
Being well behind time, only a very short ring was had at Breadsall ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.) and then to Ockbrook ( $6,9 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where the bells rang one bride out of church and then welcomed another. After 20 minutes' ringing at Spondon ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.) the Standard, now repaired, was collected from the garage and the party again redistributed. The next tower was West Hallam, a light eight (tenor $9 \ddagger \mathrm{cwt}$.) with a long draught which proved rather disconcerting to some of the younger members, but the bells were rung to speed another bride on her way after the reception.
Over the border into Notts to Trowell (6, $9 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where some rope adjustment was necessary as the top of the tenor sally was about chest high. Next stop was Wollaton and another delay, for there was again no key; Luckily a way to the belfry was discovered ; and these bells ( $6,6 \mathrm{cwt}$.) proved the highlight of the day and the band were sorry to have to leave them so soon despite the noise in the ringing chamber. By various routes (each driver knew the way) the party arrived at Ruddington ( $8,15 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), where a mecting was concluding, and with the aid of the last remaining members the tourists got a course each of Bob Major and Stedman Triples before lowering the bells in peal at 8.30.
So ended a very happy day (despite various difficulties) and an outing in which ringers from Warwickshire, Nottinghamshire and Somerset took part. Ringing included Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob Minor and Major, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor and Stedman Triples. The band are grateful to all incumbents who allowed the use of their bells, and the local ringers who met the band, and Bill's great efforts in organising such a successful tour are greatly appreciated. E. T. P. F.

St. Albans Abbey Juniors

Six towers were visited by St. Albans Junior Band on October 1st, when a half-day's coach outing was much enjoyed. The first tower was Hertingfordbury (5), followed by St. Andrew's, Hertford, Bengeo, Hunsdon, Widford and Standon.
Almost every church visited had harvest festival decorations, but the finest display was perhaps in the lovely little church at Widford. The very happy outing finished with a rather riotous journey home. Thanks are due to clergy and ringers who met the party at their churches and to those who granted permission for their bells to be rung

AN AFTERNOON OF QUEENS

KINGSTEIGNTON bells are reckoned one of the best eights in Devon from the Croydon foundry, and they sounded very pleasant from their tall grey limestone tower on October 8th when the South Devon Association held its eight-bell festival there. The only pity was that there weren't more than six bands competing, but somehow that is a usual failing in Devon. Perhaps it's because there are so many six-bell towers, and therefore so many six-bell competitions, that an eight-bell band who aspire to several rows of certificates all round their belfry get so used to ringing six that they decide to stick to it. I knew one fine ring of eight where the ringers rang only six from choice, because it saved the invidious and often troublesome business of dropping two of the service band when they entered for a six-bell event. Perhaps they ring the eight again now; I hope so, but they weren't at Kingsteignton.

However, the standard of the teams that did come was all the higher for their small number, and we heard 'The Queen's Peal ' rung handsomely several times during the afternoon. The Queen's Peal, by the way, consists of calling the bells into Queens, 13572468 , and then calling them to the plain changes, each going up to the back in turn, until they are back in Queens again. As it combines ease of calling with pleasant music, it's the usual set peal of eight-bell competitions, and more rung to services than any other as well.

We began with a service-and I think the Devon Association ringers sing more heartily than any others in the kingdom-and then the draw was made outside the porch, the judges being safely hidden away for the afternoon. We started with Berry Pomeroy and Chudleigh, who finished respectively 5 th and 6 th, Chudleigh in particular having a very expensive rise, and neither team quite getting the bells going steadily. Rising eight bells in peal without a false or incomplete round is a great deal more difficult than doing the same on six; the 'pitch '-the height of the swing of each bell as they speak for the first time - is even more important, and without a good pitch, and without packing the bells in so tight that they chime off at first in one downward swoop, a good rise is impossible.

But the next band, Kingsbridge, showed us how to do it; their pitch was splendid, and the bells went up fast and steadily, opening out, as an old ringer once described it to me, 'like a flock of birds flying out of a hedge.' It isn't often you hear that spread-out really well done on eight, but it's an unforgettable sound. Kingsbridge's top ringing was no disgrace to their rise, and they put up a performance which proved to be unbeatable. The judges singled out for special praise the tenor-man, and their astonishment and admiration was all the greater when they heard that he had been knocked down by a car on his way home from work that morning, and came to the coach from hospital with three stitches in his forehead! That was a very special piece of ringing, and earned only 19 faults.

Dartmouth astounded the listeners by beginning with a hopeless jangle and then starting again after a few minutes' silence. When they came down afterwards we heard that they had caught hold of the wrong ropes, and the tenorman, bursting with determination to get a 16 cwt . bell away really smartly, found himself with the treble. The bell must have been almost as surprised as he was! After their false start-for which we were glad they weren't disqualifiedDartmouth put up a good peal, which got them third place.

Upton, who followed them, tried to rush the bells, and the result was a rather unsteady peal, though their top ringing was tuneful enough with the bells going at 31 a minute. Their tenor-man was praised by the judges for keeping his bell so steady and 'square' at the pace.

The local band rang last, and did themselves lasting credit. They are not a band of very long standing and, like Chudleigh, are remarkable (in Devon Association ringing) for having a young lady among them-a young lady, I may add, whose ringing and appearance do each other mutual credit, and are both an asset to the band. Their rise was not perfect, but their changes were the best of the day; I especially noticed the invariable cleanness of their changing. Call-changes may sound very easy to strike, but when the bells are well below the balance it is not so easy to make one single change cleanly as it is to hunt a bell right through; it means pulling the bell up or down for just one blow, and then getting it back exactly at the height it was before the change was made. Many excellent peals of changes are marred by clips at or just after the changes, but this one was not. Twenty-five faults, most of them lost on the rise, is no true indication of the pleasure that this peal gave us.

The judges came out of their hiding-place, and Mr. Miners, the Secretary of the Devon Association, who came, I think, to show the doctors that they can't keep him out of ringing, gave the verdict on behalf of his confederates,
J. J. and H. J. Brewer, father and son, from Alphington. Mr. Miners is no respecter of persons where ringing is concerned; his one desire is for perfect ringing, and no one can doubt it after hearing his shrewd, knowledgeable and always constructive criticism as a competition judge. Like the competitors in the Caucus-race in 'Alice in Wonderland,' they all got prizes, or at least certificates, and Kingsbridge, who have had a most successful year, carried home the Shield to add to their already very impressive collection of trophies.

IRISH ASSOCIATION

When the Eastern District met at St. Mary's, Blessington, Co. Wicklow, on October 8th, there were present a parson, a doctor and an undertaker. The suggested reason, writes our correspondent, is that Blessington bells are about the most difficult in Ireland to handle. The tenor bell 'gives up the ghost' after a few minutes' ringing or at least the ringer does. The trio must have been disappointed at not 'doing any business.' Members always look forward to visiting this church (there were 30 present) and seeing how long the ringer of the tenor can last the pace. Ringing on the six bells included call changes, Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles.

On the following day the ringers of St. John's Augustinian Church, Dublin, visited Wexford to help the recently formed new team ring the 10 bells (tenor 32 cwt.) at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Good progress is reported.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The Kington District held the autumn meeting at Presteigne. Ringing on the eight bells commenced at 3.30 , and the service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. E. G. Benson, himself a ringer. Tea was provided in the nearby Church Hall, prepared by ringers' wives and friends.

At the business meeting the secretary reported three monthly practices since the last meeting had been fairly well attended. Monthly practices were fixed and also the annual meeting to be held at Staunton-on-Arrow on January 7th.

Ringing was carried on till 8.30 in Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major.

BELFRY

 Singers, has in his choir two ringers, apart from himself. When they give a choral recital in a church they endeavour to ring with local ringers either before or after the recital. At Milverton, Somerset, Dr. Neal Smith conducted a quarter peal previous to the recital.Mr. E. T. P. Field has rung in 300 towers in Somerset. He has just over 30 more to visit.

Our correspondent at St. Luke's, Bromley Common, has written telling us of a ' promising youngster' in his tower. He is Mr. G. Kite, who rang in the congratulatory quarter on his 87th birthday.

Mr. Tom Cox, of Middlesbrough, has never entertained the idea of ringing a peal of Minor, but on meeting short at Ormesby he thoroughly enjoyed his first of Minor and gave a beginner a chance of his first peal 'inside.'

During the week's evangelistic mission at Liss, Hants, the local band rang the bells each evening. A quarter peal on the last Sunday evening unfortunately came to grief, but, writes our correspondent, 'the spirit of service to God and His Church was uppermost in the minds of the ringers.'
It is customary to ring the bells of Cardington Parish Church half-muffled for the R 101 memorial service, and this year, the 25 th anniversary of the airship disaster, was no exception. Due to a late start it was not possible to ring a quarter peal as had been intended, and so the composition was shortened to 1,119 changes of Grandsire Triples, and rung by the following band: E. Izzard 1, Miss Joan Fuller 2, Miss Evelyn Steel 3, R. A. Ward 4, R. W. Stephens 5, J. B. Long 6, B. Pattison (conductor) 7, D. Bridges 8.

Mr. Roger O. Fry is proud of the band he has been trainhome tower, on their first peal on the bells since rehanging. With the exception of Miss Audrey Stephens, of Ebbw Vale, who is at a training college at Bath, and Mr. Leslie Taylor, of Corston, they are all members of the Sunday service band.
The peal at Medbourne, Leics, on October 15th, is believed to be the first peal on the bells since their augmentation to six, although there have been at least three previous attempts. After the peal the band were entertained to tea by the Vicar.
The quarter peal of Spliced Surprise Major rung at Leatherhead was rung as a 79th birthday compliment to Mr. Charles Smart, a respected member of the local band. He still regularly cycles to work and rings 'inside to Surprise Royal and Major.
In connection with the 25 th anniversary of the opening of Godalming County Grammar School on October 17th the bells of the Parish Church were rung before and after the service by a band of past and present pupils of the school drawn from Haslemere, Chiddingfold and S. Nicolas', Guildford. The ladies are complimented upon their ringing of this heavy and somewhat tricky octave Hampshire, as the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead has pointed out in one of his most interesting articles, has a number of unconquered five-bell towers. An attempt was made at one of these on October 9 th by a band with a specially imported 'Gunty Waller' (heavy-bell ringer), but after the first quarter he declared that he had done enough hard work for the day, and rushed off to add two more towers to his already gigantic list. However, it is anticipated that another attempt will be made when the cold weather arrives.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

The New Bishop Speaks of the Virtues of Ringing

THE first annual dimers during the epise conacy of the Right Rev. Gerald Enlison, Bishop of Chester, on Octobecr sht, was marked by a record attendance of some 130 persons drawn from practically all parts of the widespread diocese. The capacity of Bolland's was taxed to the utmost but, nevertheless, the caterers provided an excellent meal.

After the loyal toast there was a short interval and then the proceedings began with a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells followed by the toast of 'The Guild' proposed by the Lord Bishop. He said he spoke with great trepidation in the presence of such an assembly, many of whom had rung numbers of peals running into three figures and in various methods, as his only peal was one of Grandsire Doubles. Peals on bells were essentially English and we should glory in this and delight in taking part in something which is part of our national heritage.

The art of ringing required the gifts of the power to take trouble, of concentration, of learning to overcome something which is completely incomprehensible and of self-discipline. One needed to mould self and mind into those of other people. It demanded self-discipline of the mind to overcome mathematical combinations and immense concentration to perform these. All these were taught in the tower.

INTELLECTUAL MORONS

To-day life was rapidly depriving them of chances to practise the arts. Entertainment today was becoming static: just watching or listening instead of practising things for themselves. We are becoming a race of intellectual morons who do not create anything for themselves and, therefore, do not know the need for emotional self-discipline and do not know the inward peace and satisfaction which conquering a thing can bring. Our craft is not only something which should be valued for its high purpose and place in our national life but because it represents something which is best in man's life. It would be a sad day if ever it became a dying art.

We see to-day attempts to recreate the old arts and crafts and how they so often become the province of the long-haired dilettante. Ringing is not a dying art but a flourishing and living art. but there is always the possibility that people will not be prepared to take the necessary trouble and to submit to the discipline needed if the art of ringing is to continue. Ringers have a great contribution to make to the national life by teaching and holding up before young people's eyes in particular, the need for these qualities.'

The Bishop concluded by quoting some lines from Miss Dorothy Sayers' novel, 'The Nine Tailors': 'In this world so many people make noise, why should anyone object to the one noise made to the glory of God?'

A RINGING DEAN

The Master of the Guild, Mr. J. W. Clarke, in his reply, said how delighted they were to have the Lord Bishop and his wife with them, and wished them much happiness in Chester. He (the Lord Bishop) was the fifth president the Guild had had in its lifetime but he was the first ringing president. He had recently been moved to investigate how many ringing clergy there had been at the Cathedral, and the first one he could trace was the Dean of 1733, who was so energetic that he could raise the great bell of the Cathedral by himself. In 1738 the record had it that the tenor was cracked, but whether the Dean had anything to do with it they did not know. The only other Cathedral dignitary who had any connection with ringing was the present Archdeacon of Chester, the Ven. R. V. H. Burne, who once rang a six-score of Doubles and who, in his own words, - took up bellringing and was in turn taken $u_{p}$ by the bell,' whereupon his enthusiasm abated and he turned to water-colour painting as a hobby.
It was 68 years since the Guild was formed and it had never fallen below a high standard because there had always been in the Guild people who were prepared to work and give time to the study of the art and to help other people. All the way through their history there had been someone who had done a great deal of work for the Guild. The present officers all worked hard and in the branches the Guild had enthusiastic officials. With all due modesty, Mr. Clarke went on, the Guild could claim to be, as the Editor of "The Ringing World" put it a few years ago, in the forefront of the Exercise.
The hon. secretary of the Guild, the Rev. J. Kingdon, proposed the toast of "The Ladies and dwelt upon their value, particularly in the tower. To those who disliked climbing spiral staircases he strongly recommended the adoption of the mode of access to the ringing room as at St. Mary-within-the-Walls, Chester, his own church. Two ladders set perpendicularly in a well and at halfway one changes over from one to the other. He felt this was admirable and cited the fact that he had many lady ringers as proof of his statement.

Mrs. C. K. Lewis, in her reply, said that, bike the prima donna of the story, this must positively be her last appearance as a speechmaker and she thanked the proposer for his tributes to the ladies. She was gratified to learn they were so much appreciated, since when a new method or composition was being learned they sometimes felt that they became part of the furniture. They were glad to play their part in the advancement of the Guild and the Exercise, some in the tower, others who with John Milton could say, "They also serve who only stand and wait.'

RISING SPIRITUAL WAVE

The toast of "The Clergy ' was thoughtfully proposed by Mr. C. W. Lawton, who said that he felt that just as in the material world we sutfered booms and slumps so in the realms of spiritual matters. He thought we were at the beginning of a rising wave spiritually, and this was due to the devoted ministry of the clergy during the years of spiritual slump, when so many ears are completely clased to the message. The clergyman seldom saw much return for all his efforts and he was called upon iu give out much nervous energy in the service of his fellow man. A few years ago it was felt that if the environment were put right then all would be well but they were learning that this was not quite the case. In the Guild they had always had priests who had served them well in office-to mention only one or two, the Rev. A. T. Beeston, Canon C. A. Pearson and the present general secretaryand they looked forward to the future optimis. tically.
In his reply, the Vicar of Frodsham, the Rev. G. H. L. Green, a newcomer to the diocese, said that the bells helped the priest in the task of proclaiming to the world the message of the Gospel. He referred to the large number of towers in his native Herefordshire which were separated from the church and said he had come to the conclusion that this was to cnable the ringers to escape without attending the service for which they had rung. Ringers were skilled people but he appealed to them not to let the pursuit of ringing become the end as it could so easily do.

During the evening tunes were rung on handbells by members of Christ Church, Macclesfield, there were vocal items by Mr. N. A. Parry and Mr. H. Thomas, with assistance from the Allman brothers, and change ringing

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Wolstanton ringers are very happy to have with them Miss Phyllis J. Holborn. It is hoped that she will fill the place vacated by Miss Shelagh Collins, who has left the district.

The person responsible for publishing the peal rung at Wolborough on August 18 th apologises to the band for the delay in submitting the report.

London County Association members rang a quarter peal of Stedman Triples at Barkingside as a special compliment to the Rev. A. C. Comer-Stone, M.A., who had just been appointed Honorary Canon of Chelmsford Cathedral.

The bells of St. Mary's, Portsea, will be heard in the 'Faith in the West' programme from the West Regional transmitter, to-night (Friday, October 28 th) at $7.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., featuring 'The History of St. Mary's, Portsea.'

Two of Headington's (Oxford) ringers have been demobilised from the R.A.F.-Gordon Collett and David Simms. Malcolm Stone, another Headington ringer, is still in the A.F., serving in the Middle East.

The Dean of Windsor graciously permitted a quarter peal to be rung on the bells of the Curfew Tower, Windsor Castle, as a farewell to L.-Cpi. Harry Douglas, Royal Horse Guards, on his demobilisation. During the 19 months he has been in Windsor Harry has endeared himself to local ringers. He returns to his own tower, Malin's Lee, Salop.

At Hardingstone, Northants, where he rang his first peal 31 years ago, Mr. P. Amos gave a talk on bells to the Men's Society on October 18th. The address was illustrated by slides loaned by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. Hardingstone is appealing for funds to restore its tower and to recast the second of its five bells, which is cracked.

The quarter peal at Hornchurch on October 9th was very much a farewell, for as it rang out for Matins it carried with it the best wishes of the band to Miss M. Rankin, who is taking up residence at Leicester University, to Miss V. Eaton, who goes to Edinburgh University, and to Mr. D. M. Salisbury, who has entered a training College in London, all of the local band. The band also extended its best wishes to Mr. D. W. Beard, a very great friend, who is taking up an appointment in Gloucester.

CORRECTIONS

In the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Gilmorton on September 28th the treble was rung by Mrs. B. G. Warwick and the second by Brian G. Warwick. The time should read two hours and 36 minutes and not two hours and 49 minutes (see page 659).

In the peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major rung at Welford on September 10 th the second was rung by Peter R. Johnson and the third by Mrs. B. G. Warwick (see page 659).

We regret in the caption to one of the pictures of 'Bells for the Army in Korea' (page 668) the weight of the tenor was wrongly given. It is only about 20 lb .

by members drawn from three branches of the Guild. The final item, before the National Anthem closed the proceedings at 10.45 , was an attempt to ring and walk a course of Grandsire Triples by eight members of the Guild, who have all rung a peal going into five figures. They failed to reach farther than the second lead-head and even that required two attempts. The effect on the audience was remarkable, and the Lord Bishop was heard to say afterwards that he felt like giving them a hand as he felt sure he could have gone into the hunt!

GUILDFORD GUILD DINNER

Visiting Peal Ringers' Responsibility Towards Ropes

GYREETINGS of good wishes for a happy gathering were read from three Guilds (Yorkshire, Kent and Coventry) holding their dinners the same evening, at the Gulldford Diocesan Guild dinner commemorating the name of John S. Goldsmith, at the Lion Hotel, Guildford, on October 15th. The popularity of this dinner increases year by year, thanks to the enthusiasm of the organising committeeMessrs. C. W. Denyer, W. Viggers and Dick Mills (hon. secretary). This year late applications for tickets had to be refused.

The Ven. G. B. Smith, the new Archdeacon of Surrey, presided and he was accompanied by Mrs. Smith. Supporting him was the Master of the Guild (Mr. A. Harman) and Mrs. Harman and, as in previous years, they kindly provided flowers for the table decorations. Mr. Sydney Joyce was the toastmaster.

Mr. F. E. Collins, past master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, was selected to propose 'The memory of John S. Goldsmith and the continued prosperity of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.' He said he knew of John Goldsmith before he had the privilege of meeting him, as when a youngster his ringing master often spoke of Jack Goldsmith. When he met him he found that all the praise he had heard was justly deserved. He was an excellent ringer, a good conductor, a composer and a gentleman - witty and humorous. Many ringers who had these merits had passed on. With Jack Goldsmith they had a continued reminder week by week of his services to ringing. He founded 'The Ringing World ' in 1911 and he maintained the publication despite many difficulties until his death in 1942. Fortunately the paper had lived after him and he sincerely hoped that as long as there were bells and ringers it would continue to be published as a permanent memorial to him.
About 27 years ago the division of the Winchester Diocese took place and those ringers in the Guildford area of the diocese decided to form their own Guild. Jack Goldsmith was one of the pioneers in those early days and there was no doubt that much of the Guildford Guild's success was due to him. Since then the Guild had never looked back and it was up to the young members present to see that it continued to flourish. Young people should realise that 'time marches on 'and the Guild would soon be their responsibility, and by their work and enthusiasm the Guild would continue to flourish for all time.
A touch of Grandsire. Caters was rung by A. H. Pulling. Mrs. Gillian Parsons, Jack R. Worrall, Harry Poyner and T. Mark White.
The toast was formally acknowledged by Mr. C. W. Denyer, a vice-president of the Guild, We are all grateful to the memory of his life. he said.
Mr. A. P. Cannon, proposing the toast of The Church and the Ringing Exercise,' said that evening four other ringing dinners were being held-the Snowdon at Leeds, the Kent County Association, the Coventry Diocesan Guild and the Essex Association. Dr. Hatcher. the secretary of the Kent County Association, had suggested that they should send greetings to each other and it was with pleasure that he acknowledged messages of good wishes from the Snowdon dinner, the Kent County Association and the Coventry Guild. He trusted their dinner secretary would acknowledge them.

Dealing with the first part of the toast, he congratulated their chairman, the new Archdeacon of Surrey, on being the first naval officer to become an archdeacon. The connection of the Services with the Church he experienced when he met the new Vicar of Betchworth. who was his commanding officer when he joined up in 1940. He was always safe in asking for those bells for a peal attempt!
He hoped that when ringers made peal attempts in towers they were visiting they would send a contribution to the local bell rope fund or church expenses. He regarded that as more important than a donation to "The Ringing World 'for a peal or quarter peal.
Some people did not like ringing being referred to as 'the Exercise -but it was an exercise when one got on the back end. He would emphasise, however, that no one could ring the tenor to a peal unless he had seven, five or four other ringers in the peal, and one could not do much on the tenor unless the light bells were rung properly.
Unfortunately for ringing to-day they met too frequent references to the word 'apathy.' If apathy was allowed to come in there was a danger of their ringing deteriorating and already the standard of ringing and peals was lower to-day. The trouble was that there were many ringers who placed ringing second place to other things. Meetings in many areas were not being attended as they should be, and without regular practising their Sunday ringing, which was their duty, would suffer. He would remind young ringers that many of the friendships made in the belfry existed right through life. He would like to see a little more enthusiasm as Mr. Pulling showed 20, 30 and 40 vears ago. He was one of the leading lights of ringing of all time, and they ought to be very proud that he was a resident member of the Guildford Guild.
The Archdeacon, in reply, said when they drank the toast of 'The Church' they thought of the Church of England, the Anglican Communion, and it was a great privilege to belong to that Church. If they read the history of the Church they would realise how wonderfully God had led His family through many vicissitudes.
Strange things had been happening in this diocese with a retired Lieutenant-Commander becoming the Bishop of Lancaster and now a retired Captain had been made an Archdeacon. He thought his brother clergy would say, 'It is a good thing if it did not happen very often.'
The Exercise of ringers reminded him when as an elderly curate he visited a ringer. His church did not have proper bells so this bellringer went to a church over the border. He (the Archdeacon) asked him if they had a good choir. He replied he did not know as he had to go to the 'local ' afterwards as he had taken so much exercise that he needed a rest! The Archdeacon said he thought that was uniqui in these days.
The ringing of bells was very important to the Church because it was through their work that she spoke to the people outside, calling them to God. Their bells conveyed good news and bad, and one of his earliest memories was the ringing of the bells of Cambridge to announce the relief of Mafeking. Those bells expressed all the relief they felt.
The toast of 'The Ladies, was submitted in a humorous and witty manner by Mr. H. A. Cole. Miss Beth Ealand replied and said one of her earliest memories was Farnham bells.

The entertainment was, as usual, of a high standard, those contributing being Miss Bertha Hann (soprano), Mr. Leonard Starling ('cello), Dr. Walter Wright, Mr. Harold Cole and the Farnham District Glce Singers with their topical verse, and Miss Beth Ealand (accompanist)

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Southern District

The October meeting was held at St. Mary's, Barnard Castle. The tower of this 12 th century church was added in the 19 th century; a framed document in the ringing chamber dated 1823 states that the bells, having a total weight of $72 \mathrm{cwt} .2 \mathrm{qr} .8 \mathrm{lb} .$, cost 1 s .3 d . per lb .
The meeting attracted ringers from Middlesbrough, Bishop Auckland, Hurworth-on-Tees, Richmond and Darlington. The Vicar (the Rev. A. B. Webster, B.D.) conducted a short service and spoke of the recent televising of his harvest festival and of the many letters of appreciation he had received from viewers all over Great Britain. The service was accompanied by a young Richmond ringer, Maloəlm Hammond.
At the business meeting it was stated that in future the meetings would be held in the last week of the month to avoid clashes writh other Districts. The next meeting will be held at Holy Trinity Church, Darlington, on Novem-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BOATRACE DELIGHT

Dear Sir,--Although I have no desire to poke my oar into the Oxford v. Cambridge argument about 'Boatrace Delight,' may I point out that if the method is really Morning Exercise, as the correspondence says, then far from being 'unestablished' (as one correspondent implies), both the method and its name are over two centuries old; that the word 'illegal' (as dubbed by another) is tactless terminology and that if " the method is not all that it should be, neither is a great deal of other stuff apparently rung and recognised at the present time!

It was also interesting to note that two correspondents described Rossendale Surprise (Immanuel) as Woodbine and London, an example, may I humbly suggest, of tactful terminology. - Yours sincerely,
H. CHANT.

OLDHAM BELLS

Dear Sir,-Having been stationed in Oldham for a period of four years and a member of the Parish Church ringers during that time, I was most pleased to read R. H. Dove's letter in defence of these bells.

Although perhaps having more than a sneaking regard' for them, I agree wholeheartedly with all that ' R, H: 'writes. All the bells are comfortably audible in the ringing chamber, but I admit that they do require "handling' and cannot be classed as 'learner's ' bells.

1 personally found great satisfaction in having rung a well-struck touch or peal on them because a little added zest and determination is required by all the band. Nos. 1, 2, 4 and 5 are on the top tier with some 85 ft . of rope, Nos. 3, 6. 7,9 and 10 on the middle tier with 8,11 and that beautiful tenor ( 35 cwt .4 lb . official) on the bottom tier.

For extra pleasure go to Oldham and handle your bell like a ringer.-Yours sincerely,

> P. TOCOCK, R.Q.M.S.

PEAL RINGING IN SOMERSET

Dear Sir,-I must apologise for one or two mistakes in my article on Somerset which several correspondents have kindly pointed out to me and which I hasten to correct. Although appearing in their proper category in my records, for some reason I can't quite understand 1 included Chilcompton, Marston Bigott and Carhampton among the eight-bell towers when actually, of course, they are 6's.

Mr. Horseman is also quite correct in mentioning the omission of Nailsea. On my list it appears with 17 peals, and I am sorry that the recent excellent work in that tower was overlooked for some unknown reason. Perhaps it was because I wrote the article somewhat in haste before going on holiday!-Yours sincerely,
K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}, \mathrm{I}$ note that in his excellent series of articles on peal ringing in the various counties, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead credits Bath Abbey with a peal in 1919 in addition to the peals there in 1906, 1947 and 1953.

I believe, though, that while a peal was claimed during 1919. it was later withdrawn by the conductor. There is certainly no mention of it in the Association peal records.-Yours faithfully,

Dear Sir,-A peal of Bob Major was rung on the bells of Stowmarket Church on Tuesday, October 11th, in which Miss Hilda Snowden rang the tenor. It was discussed in the belfry and the suggestion made that she was the first lady to turn the tenor in to a peal. Could you please let us know if this is correct? -Yours faithfully,

WHERE 'THE RINGING WORLD' IS APPRECIATED

Dear Sir, - Being somewhat far removed from the ringing scene of the homeland, but in contact, with the Exercise through 'The Ringing World,' I am able to see the state of things at home in perhaps a different light than my fortunate brethren in the U.K.
To wit: 'Distance makes the heart grow fonder '-and the arrival of 'our journal 'over here causes much excitement and attention for the writer at the time and after. As my mail takes at least eight days to arrive, I am able to digest past editions of "The Ringing World, more than if I were at home; the result is that every article is read and re-read dozens of times until I know them from memory.
Some of my observations as the result of this concentrated readifig are these:-

That the front page articles have become more colourful and interesting and carry more weight; the letters you sometimes receive following them prove this. I also note that more ringers are entering into the field of campanological journalism, and I think this to be a healthy sign for progressive thinking and ringing. Further, this shows that there is an increased number of ringers who are not content to have their own thoughts expressed for them by the few, but are launching out and doing it for themselves and to these I offer my hearty congratulations.
Regarding the latest issues (August and September), I read with enthusiasm the accounts of various tours and outings undertaken by our members and they are very entertaining, but I wonder if in the future they will perhaps try a selection of towers with bad going bells for a change--there are many. I quite agree with an organiser's point of view-that good going bells are a joy to ring-but here surely is a lack of enterprise or are ringers getting soft?Yours very sincerely,

PEAL RINGING IN SHROPSHIRE

Dear Sir--In congratulating the Rev. K. W H . Felstead upon his indefatigable and successful accomplishment of such an enormous amount of invaluable statistical work, may I correct the impression given in his abovementioned article that the first peal in Shropshire was rung at Oswestry in 1731.
The first, one of Grandsire Triples, was, in fact, rung at Ellesmere (my mother tower) on February $4 \mathrm{th}, 1730$, in 3 hours and 5 minutes, and is clearly recorded on a very well-preserved board in the ringing room there. It is not known how the first peal came to be rung in this rather out-of-the-way part of the countyonly some 15 years after the earliest in the country-but all the eight ringers' surnames are well-known local ones and researches by the present Vicar, the Rev. G. S. Lloyd, M.A., and Mr. W. A. Farmer, formerly of Shrewsbury, indicate that they were all local men, one of them being the parish clerk of the time.

The next known peal, also Grandsire, was rung in 1894 and this was followed, 26 years later, by one of Kent Treble Bob Major. There have been, in all, 11 peals, mostly Stedman, and, in living memory, some six unsuccessful attempts only on this ancient Rudhall octave, probably the oldest in the county, Inscriptions on the present bells reveal that three were cast in 1727, four in 1768 and the tenor ( 21 cwt . in E) recast in 1799. They were rehung and quarter-turned by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1894 and again more recently in 1953, their 'go' now being excellent, and these bells still hang in the original old oak frame, now strengthened by Mears, on which the date 1712 is carved. The church-built by the Knights Hospitaller of St. John-was restored and enlarged in 1849, and the spacious, central tower is supported by Norman arches.

A further unusually interesting feature of the ringing history at this tower is that twice during the past generation a local band has taught itself change ringing here. Just after World War I:, led by my father. we taught ourselves, beginning, for some reason, with Stedman and Erin, and each member became a peal ringer and able to conduct at least a quarter peal. Due to a rigid agreement with the then established paid Sunday service call-change band, of which a few of us were also members, a unique and fantastic situation developed and existed for the next ten years or so. Excellent callchanges (without open lead) were rung on Sundays while, for practice on Mondays, equally excellent quarter peals, etc., of Stedman or Erin Triples (with open lead) were tapped off. I do not know whether this ludicrous position has ever obtained elsewhere.
During the past few years, history has repeated itself at this tower and, principally due to the dogged determination and perseverance of the leader, Mr. Arnold Whitehead, whose motto, inspired, I believe, by my late father, has always been 'No call-changes.' local ringers of varied ages have again, off their own bat, mastered the rudiments of change ringing, this time beginning with the more conventional Grandsire and Plain Bob, which are now rung regularly for services, etc. Due to removals, deaths, etc., the 78 -year-old tenor ringer, Mr. W. Higginson, sen., is the only remaining member of the former band. and he still covers Grandsire regularly for the present team. Yours sincerely,
T. R. BUTLER.

STOKE-BY-NAYLAND TENOR

Dear Sir.-The weight of the above bell given on page 665 of 'The Ringing World' is not correct.

LETTERS-Continued

HISTORY BEHIND PEAL NAMES

Dear Sir,-I would first like to thank Mr C. Sharples, of Oswaldtwistle, for his information concerning the original name for Rossendale Surprise. It may save a false claim of first peal in the method, as it has clearly already been pealed as 'Immanuel.'
1 would like to see an article compiled giving the story behind the names in the Minor Collection, for there must be interesting snippets of earlier ringing history behind them. Am I correct in thinking that those that had not been rung to a 720 and given a name when the second edition was prepared were named according to their type after a random selection of castles, abbeys, lakes and towers in certain localities? Several of these are in or around Derbyshire, e.g;, Melandra, Taxal, and I should be interested in ringing lengths of them on towers in the county.
I agree up to a point with Mr. Chant in his criticisms of my previous letter. Over the matter of music in irregular Minor methods I am prepared to believe what he says when 1 have rung some good irregular ones, but still think that one is going to miss the familiar reassuring roll-ups with the tenors, together, and have to put up with more $6-5$ 's, if the bells do not reach the back around the lead end in the natural coursing order (true, of course, with lots of regular methods also).
The conductor will find much interest in the added difficulties of irregular methods, but while not wishing to restrict the quest for new realms, for most of us there would seem to be a largely untouched field in the way of the ones in the Collection, many of the casiest and best of which are rarely practised. I wonder how many 720's of Sandal were rung last year, or what response you would get if you suggested a course of it at an ordinary six-bell meeting where Cambridge could normally be expected.
My plea then is to see more of these methods rung and an extension of the 'Special Method' habit at meetings. A peal attempt in an unfamiliar method is still too often looked upon with suspicion. as a bit of a stunt. Why ring so many peals of Cambridge when there are Kirkstall and Burnaby just as easy and good?
I did not intend to convey in my previous letter that we need only consider ringing methods in Mr. Chant's basic list, such as dropping London out of the programme and ringing the two halves of it as York and Cunecastre in future, but that even if we restricted our quest to the neglected field of the regular methods we should not be sacrificing any of the available types of work; and when the time comes to turn to the irregular for further scope, we shall, except in conducting, still be on familiar ground. In other words. the loss till then of the irregular methods will not be so great as has sometimes been made out.
Finally, I am appalled to find that an anonymous letter under the guise of an exchange between two learners has been used as a platform for yet another attack on that much maligned body of people, the peal ringers. The suggestion is that peal bands steal the cream of other peoples learners and give nothing in return. Surely if they only trained them thus in greater ringing skill it would be a benefit to their home towers-happy is the tower captain (or should be, and proud) who sees his pupil get on farther than he has done himself ! But in any case I find by experience that it is the peal ringer who is the keenest ringer in all respects: Sunday ringing, the training of real beginners, tower maintenance, etc. The stay-athomes seem the most narrow-minded and most prone to cause dissension. When the writer of the letter in question says his band has 'outgrown the fascination of peal ringing, and so rates it as an adolescent pursuit. he is casting an unwarranted slur on some of the best men (I did not say best ringers) in the Exercise, an action which 1 can only put down to what is usually known as 'sour grapes ! He also seems not to realise that the day of the snob band is largely past, and that if he is a trier he will receive help in getting on and the best of fellowship from the vast majority of the peal bands, and catch the enthusiasm which will stand his home tower in good stead.-Yours faithfully,
D. P. JONES.

IMMANUEL OR ROSSENDALE

Dear Sir,-Referring again to Immanuel or Rossendale, at the time the method was put together the late Mr. Isaac Whalley, of Immanuel, Oswaldtwistle, put together Stamford and named it Lancashire. The method is Wells below the treble and Woodbine above.
The authorities changed the name to Stamford; it would have been more appropriate to have named it Lancaster and so put it in line with York, Durham, Wells, London, etc. Yours sincerely, Blackpool.

JOINT MEETING AT CROYDON

It was the turn of the Surrey Association to be hosts for the annual joint meeting of the Surrey Association (Northern District) and the Kent County Association (Lewisham District) on October 8th. The 12 bells of Croydon Parish Church proved an attraction as usual, and from 3 to 4.30 they were kept going under the direction of Mr. F. E. Collins. Their music provided a pleasant background to the noise of the shops and stalls of the busy town below.
At 4.30 evensong, conducted by the curate, was followed by an address by the Vicar, the Ven. C. F. Tonks. Both kindly joined the ringers at tea in the Church Hall. The Vicar stated that he was especially pleased to welcome visitors from Kent. For many years he had lived and worked in East Kent, and part of his heart remained there despite eight years in Surrey. He congratulated the ladies on the excellent tea provided, and the ringers on their good fellowship, which was unequalled in other church organisations.
After tea a wait was necessary whilst another service was held, and handbells were brought out to while away the time. Further towerbell ringing then concluded a most pleasant day.

SALISBURY BRANCH MEETING

The little village of Damerham, in the county of Hampshire but the diocese of Salisbury, was a meeting place on October 15 th for ringers from Southampton and Frome, besides young ladies from Cardiff and Guildford at present at the Salisbury Training College. Twenty-seven were at the service and tea, but, thanks to those who came and went, such heights as Cambridge and London were reached during the afternoon.

The Guild service was taken by the Rev. A. Phillips, an honorary member, who gave an address on the necessity of tone, tune and time, not only in bell-ringing, but in the spiritual life of the ringer
Miss Toni Morgan, of Sarum St. Martin, was elected a ringing member, and the committee's proposal to hold the annual meeting on January 26th at St. Paul's, Salisbury. was confirmed

The secretary reported having sent a telegram of good wishes from the branch to Miss Rosemary Marlow, of Fordingbridge, on her marriage that afternoon.
In the evening ringing continued at the neighbouring village of Martin

HEYDOUR, 1947

The peal board commemorating the long peal of London Surprise rung at Heydour, in Lincolnshire, was dedicated last week
After eight years, memories of that day are disjointed, but those of the red and gold of the creeper on the house which stands close to the church, and the haws in the hedges, still glow. On the other hand, the mundane details of transport to the out-of-the-way hamlet would have been quite forgotten but for the fortuitous finding of an old letter in a schoolgirl hand saying, 'Dad is going to run us to Sleaford to catch a bus for Heydour at 10.30 a.m.' By such methods a collection of wives, friends and ringers from quite long distances began to gather an hour or so after the start of the peal.
Memory or imagination would have supplied the cups of tea which were demanded and provided outside the churchyard gate at the end of the peal, but the same letter tells of the means by which it was done. Mrs. Richardson,' it says, " is sending " the thing "-(her thermos urn)-that she makes it in.

There is a chill even about warm days in October that makes sitting on a tree trunk uncomfortable after any length of time, and those of us who had the success of the peal very much at heart found it doubly so. 1 clearly remember thinking in all seriousness, So this is what an expectant father experiences.'
The sound of Heydour bells is soon lost because of the dip in which the church stands, and an attempt at a brisk walk was almost immediately abandoned for fear that the bells had stopped. We returned to the church and confined our walk to the village school playground, there besieging Harry Withers, the umpire, in his broad black hat and square-toed boots for information and approbation.
In fact those boots, autumn days, overwhelming anxiety and the Master of the Lincoln Guild drinking tea afterwards are for me inextricably mingled with memories of the long peal at Heydour

GOLDEN WEDDING AT  EDGBASTON

On Wednesday, October 12th. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney W. Freemantle, of Edgbaston. Birmingham, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Sidney, as he is affectionately known, has been a parish clerk and beadle at Edgbaston Old Church for the past 47 years, during which time, by his genial manner, he has endeared himself to everybody, and more especially to ringers. Before his marriage, Sidney served for a number of years in the Royal Navy; he eventually had to leave to succeed his father as verger at St. Mark's, Woolston. Southampton, at which church he and Mrs. Freemantle were married. The Vicar of this church was the Rev. Mansfield Owen, and on his appointment as Vicar of Edgbaston he took Sidncy with him. where he has remained ever since.

On the evening of their golden wedding anniversary a peal of Stedman Triples was attempted, but this unfortunately came to grief after three-quarters of an hour's good ringing. However, on the following Sunday, the local ringers decided to show their appreciation by making a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Freemantle of a very nice ' Woodmet ' tray in gold colour, and wishing them many more years of good health and happiness together. to which Sidney suitably replied.
Associated with this presentation was a former Ringing Master, Mr. D. T. Matkin, now. of Bournemouth, and also Edgbaston's latest recruit, Mrs. B. M. W. Dobbie, a prominent Birmingham surgeon, who has taken up ringing and is showing great promise of becoming a practical change ringer.

A DREAM COMES TRUE

And Leeds Gains a New Ring

It's all very well putting bells in, but where are the ringers coming from?' That answer was given me when $I$ informed a ringing acquaintance that I had been instrumental in Leeds gaining a new ring of six bells.

Whether I was right or wrong to do so when there were, as he argued, more bells already than ringers in the city and at least two rings were silent altogether for want of ringers, is now purely an academic question, as on St. Matthew's Day, September 21st, the Lord Bishop of Knaresborough (the Right Rev. John de Candole) dedicated the new light ring of six at St. Matthew's Chapel, Allerton, Leeds.
Designed by a leading architect of his day, Mr. G. F. Bodley, and consecrated in 1900, the church, which occupies a prominent position off the Harrogate road, was described by a contemporary writer as being 'considered to be the best work Mr. Bodley has ever done.,

The imposing tower, now floodlit at night, was completed even before the church itself and can be seen from several miles away.
The earlier church, further down the road towards the city centre, had contained three bells, one by Barwell and two by Taylor. The Barwell bell was erected in the tower of the new church in 1900, and upon the demolition of the old church in 1935 the two Taylor bells rejoined their old companion.

In 1946 all three bells were recast into four with the same aggregate weight, when a lady parishioner presented a tower clock with Cambridge chimes to fulfil the wishes of her late husband. It fell to my lot to present the clock scheme to the Church Council, and while the possibility of a ring of bells seemed very remote I suggested, nevertheless, that as a precautionary measure the four bells should becast to ringing sizes.

The suggestion was followed and the bells became, in effect, a ring of six minus the fourth and fifth but hung 'dead.'
There the matter might have ended but for a chain of circumstances which led to my being able to raise at the annual parochial meeting last year the possibility of adding to the bells. Anticipating that if there were no protests at the prospect of bells in a 'residential' district. then there might perhaps be an objection raised to the proposal to disturb what was a private gift, I took the precaution to ask for the donor's approval beforehand.

Instead of merely acquiescing in the proposal, however, the donor replied that she would like to bear the entire cost as a memorial to her husband, and so what originated as purely idle speculation became reality. The gift was perhaps the more generous since the lady is a Nonconformist.
The question as to where were the ringers coming from no longer became a hypothetical one but a serious problem, but the installation of the bells late in July created the interest, which had earlier been lacking, and recruits volunteered in such numbers that the instructor was overwhelmed and a waiting list became necessary. At the present time there are more than twice as many ringers as bells.
A congregation of over 400 attended the dedication at Evensong on the Patronal Festival, When the bells were heard for the first time.
The customary dedication 'rounds, were rung by a band made up entirely of ladies and girls from the congregation, a remarkable feature being that five of the six ringers only learned to handle a bell in August, and until they pulled off to ring the actual dedication rounds not one of them had experienced 'open ' ringing in the tower, for the bells had even been pulled up with clapper stays on before the service.

Perhaps another remarkable feature was that in spite of these handicaps everyone set her bell on 'Stand' being called, which not infrequently fails to happen with more experienced ringers on such occasions.

Taking for his text the first verse of Psalm 122, ' I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the House of the Lord,' the Bishop referred to the fellowship enjoyed by ringers, the link between the bells and the life of the church and local and national events. He referred also to his recent visit to Borneo and the single bells sending out their message in that semi-heathen land.

After the service the bells were rung by the Leeds Parish Church ringers and a small number of visiting ringers, including Mr. Paul Taylor, representing the bellfounders, and as the congregation left the church 120 Grandsire Doubles was rung by Irvin Slack 1, Jack $\mathbf{F}$. Hodson 2, Paul L. Taylor 3, Margaret S. Rhodes 4, Ronald H. Dove (conductor) 5, Frank Gibbard 6.

The Bishop paid a visit to the ringing chamber and watched the ringing by some of the new ringers from St. Matthew's, including 12 -years-old Margaret Clark, who rang the treble in the opening rounds, and 11-ycars-old Barrie Dove.

The Vicar of Leeds, Canon C. B. Sampson, who was Vicar here when the four bells were installed in 1947 and who read the lessons at the dedication, also visited the belfry.
The bells have been hung in what was previously the clock chamber, the clock being lowered to a new chamber formed by the installation of a new sound-deadening ceiling. which serves also as a rope guide, as the original ringing room was 24 feet in height. Space has been left for two additional bellseither two trebles or a treble and tenor-should these ever be required.
The result is a very pleasant ring of six with a tenor of nearly $7 \frac{7}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$. in B flat, and since the bells hang about 20 feet below the openings in what was the original bell chamber they are very quiet outside-indeed the only complaint which has so far been made is that they are not loud enough, a complaint which is not difficult to remedy.
Ringing is at present confined to call changes but from the very first. Sunday the bells were raised and lowered in peal and have been rung three times a Sunday, there being two morning services.
This is almost certainly the first time within living memory that a new ring has been installed in Leeds in a tower where previously there has been no ringing tradition. It is curious that the parish links up a chain of eight adjoining parishes having bells, including one with the bells hung 'dead,' but had the original designs been completed there might well have been 13 adjacent parishes with bells.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

New Secretary of Sudbury District

A meeting of the Sudbury District of the Suffolk Guild was held at Sudbury on October 15 th. At the business meeting the general secretary asked for nominations for the office of District secretary which had been vacant since the resignation of Mr. L. D. Mills. Miss Rosemary Seabrook, 6, Callis Street, Clare, was duly elected.
Mr. C. W. Pipe thanked Mr. Mills in his absence for the good work he had done during his three years in office and asked members to encourage and support Miss Seabrook in her voluntary work on behalf of the Suffoik Guild.

WEDDINGS

Mr. S. O'C. Holloway - Miss B. K.

Campbell

The wedding of Mr. Sidney $\mathrm{O}^{\circ} \mathrm{C}$. Holloway, a popular member of the St. Martin's Guild and for many years a regular ringer at St. Martin's, and Miss Brenda K. Campbell, of Langley, took place at Holy Trinity Church, Smethwick, on October 12ih. Several members of the St. Martin's Guild, including the Master (Mr. A. Walker) and the Ringing Master (Mr. J . Pinfold), were among the large congregation present.
The service was conducted by the Rev. Charles Crawshaw and the register was signed in full view of the congregation. There were four bridesmaids, and the duties of best man were carried out by a former Ringing Master of the Guild, Mr. G. W. Critchley, who was returning the compliment paid to himself by Sidney at King's Lynn.
While the photographers, both professional and amatcur, were busy, a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells.
After the reception at the New Inns, Hands. worth. the bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon on the Continent.

Mr. H. Matthews - Miss Joan Bussey

Miss Joan Bussey, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bussey, and the only lady member of Gloucester Cathedral band, was married at Hardwicke Church, Glos, to Mr. Hubert Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Matthews, on October 15th. Friends of the bride and bridegroom rang previous to the service, and after the signing of the register the bride and bridegroom and the best man, Mr. Donald Priday, were invited to ring in a touch. As the happy couple left the church they passed through a guard of honour of ringers holding handbells
A reception was held in the schoolroom and was attended by about 50 friends. The honeymoon was spent at Bath.

Mr. M. J. Hayward - Miss R. K. Marlow

On Saturday, October 15 th, the wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Fordingbridge, Hants, between Mr. Michael J. Hayward, of Green Farm, North Gorley, Fordingbridge, and Miss Rosemary K. Marlow, of Bickton, Fordingbridge. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar (the Rev. R. M. Verity), and Mrs. York, a friend of the bride, was the organist.

The local band of ringers, of which the bride is a keen member, rang the bells as the newlywedded couple left the church. Following a reception in St. Mary's Church Hall, the couple left for a honeymoon at Torquay.

Among the many presents were a fireside companion set and a glass jug from the local band
In the evening a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted by Miss B. Hiscock 1, Miss K. Fletcher 2, Miss S. Percey 3, M. J. Best 4. F. L. Harris 5, W. E. Cheater 6, R. N. Marlow (cond.) 7, E. J. Doel 8. Unfortunately the peal came to grief through a broken rope after $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' ringing.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Canterbury District

A large attendance of 94 members and friends attended the annual meeting of the District at Canterbury on Oct. 8th. Ringing was held at St. Dunstan's during the afternoon, followed by the annual service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. L. Lawler, who also gave an address. Some members of the local choir were present, their number being augmented by the singers.
An excellent tea was provided by the local ringers and friends.
For the business meeting, Mr. J. A. Russell occupied the chair. The secretary's report showed a successful year, the paid-up membership being only three less than for the whole year, with some more subscriptions yet to be extracted. Five new members were elected. Ash was chosen for the next quarterly meeting in January, but before then the district is holding a social. Mr. Russell was re-elected chairman (with congratulations on his recent wedding), Mr. B. J. Luck hon. secretary and Mr. W. S. Palin as Ringing Master. Messrs. D. Chatield and S. Walter were elected district representatives after a ballot. The other member nominated was Mr. H. R. French, of Sturry, who will be much missed on the committce after 12 years' service.

An interested visitor to the meeting was Miss H. Helmore, daughter of the late Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, who was general secretary and treasurer of the Association for so many years.
Further ringing was held during the evening, the bells of St. Stephen's and the Cathedral being available.

Maidstone District

Canon Frank Bennett kindly allowed the annual business meeting of the District to be held in Maidstone Vicarage on Octaber 8th. The officers were re-elected as follows: District secretary, R. L. Sills; district representatives, A. Waddington and W. Manser; 'Ringing World representative. Mr. P. Town (vice Miss P. J. Butcher). It was reported that Miss Butcher persuaded six ringers to become postal subscribers and three to buy the journal through newsagents. Buckinghamshire was selected for the district coach tour next July.
Evensong was held in the choir of the Parish Church, conducted by Canon Bennett, during which a good course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells.
Ringing during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Cambridge Surprise Royal, Yorkshire and Superlative Surprise Major and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

It was a lovely autumn afternoon when the Society met at Alrewas on October 8th, and the sound of the bells coming from the tower of the ancient Parish Church added to the attraction of the rural surroundings. It was encouraging so find a good number of young ringers amongst the attendance of 64 .

In every way this meeting was most enjoy-able-a cheerful service with a good address from the Vicar (the Rev. J. Grifiths), a very pleasant ring of eight bells, a really sumptuous tea and a warm welcome from Mr. Wealthy and the members of the local band. It could be said that the success of this meeting was a reffection of the happy spirit which exists amongst the Alrewas ringers. Suitable thanks were expressed to the Vicar, the organist, Mrs. Ball, Mr. Wealthy and his ringers and the lady helpers for their joint efforts.

Ringing was under the direction of Mr. G. Hughes, Ringing Master. The bells of King's Bromley Parish Church were also available in The evening and a good number of ringers took Advantage of this facility.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Stockport, Mottram and Bowdon Branch

A meeting of the branch was held at Fairfield. Buxton. on September 24th, when some 60 members and friends were present. The meeting was a joint one with the Derbyshire Association (Peak District Branch) with whom the Guild enjoy the most cordial relations. The fine ring of eight bells was in good use from early in the afternoon until the usual service in church conducted by the Vicar. In his address the Vicar said that the bells call all to the worship of God: unbelievers, borderline Christians and the faithful.

After the service.tea was served in the Parish Hall by the local ringers' wives and lady ringers and "this was followed by the business meeting. The absence of several well-known faces was commented upon by the secretary and the chairman, Mr. Elkins, welcomed the presence of two octogenarians, Messrs. Alfred Barnes and John Wheadon, both of whom are still actively engaged in ringing. After the meeting the small ringing room was filled to overflowing and touches ranging from rounds for the beginners to Spliced Surprise for the 'experts' were enjoyed until a late hour.

FRAMLAND ASSOCIATION

One of the most loyal supporters of the activities of the Framland Association is its president, Canon C. M. S. Clarke, Rural Dean and Vicar of Melton Mowbray. Canon Clarke was present at the half-yearly meeting at Hose on October 8th, supported by this year's charrman. the Rev. A. G. L. Lancaster, Rector of Waltham-on-the-Wolds, and the Rev. C. D. Stewart Robinson, Vicar of Hose.

The service in church was conducted by Mr. Robinson, the lesson was read by Canon Clarke and the address given by Mr. Lancaster, who had with him in the pulpit an African drum. Mr. Lancaster spoke of the thrill of the approach of Sunday as heralded on the Sabbath eve by the African custom of sounding drums outside the churches. He likened this custom to the use of church bells in this country.

At the business meeting the chairman insisted on giving way to the president, as the president had earlier given way to him in the pulpit. The members were very pleased to see the secretary, Mr. Fred Williams, lately of Eaton and now of Blyth, Nottinghamshire, who had undertaken a 50 -mile journey to be present. Mr. Williams agreed to continue in office until the annual general meeting in May. It was suggested that he might even carry on after that tume if he felt able to do so as a means of retaining interesi in his old locality. Mr. Witliams promised to give the matter due thought hut if he decided to resign in May after all, to give as much notice as possible of his intentions.

An invitation of the Rector of Waltham to the members to attempt a peal there in November to mark the 80 th anniversary of the Association was accepted with enthusiasm.

Mr. Stewart Robinson was most sincerely thanked for his kind reception of the members at Hose, and he expressed his pleasure at being at last the incumbent of a church with bells.

The next meeting is at Melton Mowbray on the second Saturday in May

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

In his address at the service when the North Staffordshire Association held their monthly meeting at St. Margaret's, Wolstanton, the Vicai (the Rev. S. Snell) requested all ringers to continue doing their great service to the Church. Although in face of some adverse public opinion which might incline to call their ringing madness by their isolating themselves in a tower at the end of a rope instead of watching the local football match, he said this madness was translated into a magnificent obsession.

An excellent tea was provided in the schoolroom by ringers' wives and friends, and they and the Vicar were thanked by Mr. A. Dall (vice-chairman). Miss P. J. Holborn was elected a member of the Association.
A very good standard of ringing was maintained under the direction of the Master (Mr. W. P. Deane) during the afternoon and evening.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The quarterly mecting of the Mid-Devon Branch at Paignton on October 15th was well attended. Ringing to suit all tastes in the afternoon was followed by a service in church, conducted by the Rev. G. H. K. Pedley (Vicar), who gave an excellent address.
The much appreciated tea was followed by the business meeting, with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair. The election of two non-resident members prior to starting for a peal was confirmed.

' BELLS UNRINGABLE'

A Norfolk Restoration

THROUGHOUT the country there are many towers whose bells are unringable, or nearly so, and of course they remain unringable until someone takes an interest in them. Such an example is to be found at Shropham, Norfolk, where the tower contains a ring of five rehung in 1901, but which until recently had not been rung for several years.

The Rector of Shropham, fearing great expense, was rather reluctant to allow anyone to do anything in the tower, but eventually he was persuaded to permit a band of voluntary helpers, led by Mr. Charlie Banham, of Caston, and Dr. Jonason, of East Harling, to do some work.

A parishioner had already cleared the bell chamber of sticks, birds' nests and most of the birds-there were a couple left-so work was at once concentrated on the bells and their fittings. Several afternoons and evenings were spent in tightening the oak frame and the headstocks, in cleaning the bearings, and in fitting spare ropes borrowed from East Harling and Caston. This latter job proved rather difficult, for the guides were by no means vertically under each other! Two new stays were also provided. All the difficulties were at last overcome and, apart from a preliminary test, the bells were first rung again for evensong on September 4th.

Details of the bells, obtained from a card in the tower and from L'Estrange's 'Church Bells of Norfolk,' are as follows:-

Treble: $5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. 'Anno Domini 1618.'
Second: 6 cwt . 'John Thornton Sudbury fecit 1717.'
Third: 7 cwt. ' 1618 .'
Fourth: 9 cwt. 'John Thornton Sudbury me fecit 1717.'

Tenor: $11 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. ' 1618 .'
L'Estrange records that the three shields on the crowns of 1,3 and 5 are Norwich City, Brasyer ermine, and A B (Alice and William Brend).

The bells were rehung in new fittings in an oak frame, in which provision was made for a sixth bell, by Mears and Stainbank in 1901.

But what of the future? There is nobody in this small village interested in ringing, otherwise outside help would not have been needed, and there seems nobody who is likely to want to learn to ring. When Caston and East Harling require their spare ropes, Shropham will be with-out-save for four frail specimens absolutely unserviceable. Even if there were youngsters willing to learn they would be put off by the 'go' of the bells, 3 and 5 being particularly bad. Thus it seems likely that once more they will be left untouched until someone rediscovers them in ten, twenty . . . years' time.

The fact remains that the bells are once more ringable, and their restoration, a credit to those who voluntarily undertook it, stands as an example of what can be done where there is an active interest in campanology. Let us take note of what has been done in this remote country village. Let us each one of us go to our nearest tower with its bells unringable and see if a few hours' work can put matters right. We shall be working for a good cause.

JOHN S. BARNES.

THE BELLS OF SAINT ANDREW

The bells of Saint Andrew Ring out for his feast Praise God! cries the great bell Alleluia; the least.
The bells of Saint Andrew
For centuries have been
The tonges of His worship
The pride of Presteignc.
The bells of Saint Andrew
Have rung through the years
The clear peal for laughter
The muffled for tears.
The bride in her glory
They speed to delight, in death! and at curfew They murmur 'good night.'
The bells of Saint Andrew Must never be dumb, To aid them, good people, The Feast bids you come. So give your thank-offering (Each pound, each mite tells) To honour High God: And Saint Andrew his bells.

Last Friday Mr. Daniel Richards, of Great Cheverell, Devizes, Wilts, sailed for New Zealand, having accepted an appointment at Wellington. While at Cambridge he learned to ring with the University Guild and he is hoping to have the opportunity of ringing at Christ Church Cathedral.
One of our regular subscribers who was tardy with the renewal of his subscription imposed a fine of 3 s . on himself for his forgetfulness.
The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Marsden, Yorks, on October 22nd, was rung to celebrate the jubilee of the church (October 12th, 1905-1955). It was the first peal on the bells since augmentation, and the band wish to thank the local company for the privilege of ringing the first peal on the new ten.
News of the safe arrival of the Smith twins was received in the Fenham, Newcastle-on-Tyne, belfry by the prompt despatch of congratulatory messages and floral tokens, which were greatly appreciated. We understand Uncle J. Alan Ainsworth is busy arranging his own form of celebration.
Laţest news concerning Marine E. N. Harrison, a member of the Fenham, Newcastle-onTyne, belfry, is that, in between various peal attempts in the Portsmouth area, he is busy preparing for, and taking part in various ceremonial parades in London, i.e., Trafalgar Day, Armistice Day, etc.
When a peal board was dedicated on October 22nd at Heydour, Lincs, recording the record length of 14.144 London Surprise Major, rung on October 4th, 1947, it was hoped that the peal attempt which followed would be rung by the same band. This was not possible, but J. L. Millhouse and John Freeman took part in both peals.

GOSSIP

At the meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association at Heath. field, the ringers had the pleasure of being handed a bouquet instead of a brick! A gentleman at the nearby village of Little London sent the sum of $£ 1$ to the local hostelry for the ringers' refreshment in appreciation of 'the beautiful sound of the bells.'
Mr. William A. Stote, of Coventry, has now rung in 2,000 different towers each containing a ring of five or more bells.

The surnames of seven of the eight ringers in a quarter peal at Cannock, Staffs, on Octover 22 nd began with the letter ' $B$.' The exception, Mr . A. Armstrong, was being complimented on his 65th birthday.
A band composed of eight visitors to Worcester for the Association's annual dinner and two resident members rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Bromsgrove on October 22nd.
The reproach to members of the Ladie9 ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild for not scoring a peal in 1954 has been removed by West Midland District members' peal at Shirley on October 15th.
Congratulations to Mr. Leslie C. W. Hunter, captain of Shalford (Surrey) band, on his first peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major. 'He rang a very good peal,' was the comment of the conductor.
The peal at Curry Rivel had two bus drivers, Mr. W. F. Slocombe and Mr. R Beale (conductor), in the band. They inquire as to the possibility of a bus crews' peal by either sex.
The peal attempt in honour of the wedding of Mr. Michael E. Brown (Ringing Master) and Miss Proctor, at his own tower, Sapcote, on October 18th, was concluded at the end of the third extent owing to the extremely doubtful condition of the ropes and sallies of the tenor bells.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

THE COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Dinner

AERY plasant evening was spent by the 130 members, guests and friends present at the annual dinner of the Coventry Diocesan Guild on October 15th. The chair was taken by the Rev. D. M. Davies, Rector of Stoke St. Michael's, Coventry.

The toast 'The Church and State' was proposed by Mr. D. A. Carpenter, one of the younger members of the Guild, who said that it was not by coincidence that this toast had appeared on the toast lists of ringers' functions for so many years, since ringers were all members of an organisation whose aims included the support of the Church and State. He drew attention to the debt ringers owed to the Church for their existence as ringers, and to the State for not making off with the bells during the recent war. He pointed out how encouraging it was to have the support of the clergy-particularly the local clergy.

THE CATHEDRAL BELLS

In his response the Provost of Coventry, the Very Rev. R. T. Howard, said how much he appreciated bellringing. This, he said, dated from his first appointment-to Luton-where, on his first Sunday, he had been moved to visit the ringers at their work, and while ascending the belfry steps during ringing for evening service the sound of bells had come to have a completely new meaning for him. He went on to refer to the "Tragedy of Coventry Bells.'
These he hoped to see rehung as ringable bells These he hoped to see rehung as ringable bells some day, since he appreciated the difference between the sound of bells rung to changes and iust chimed in a carillon. Until that day, however, he hoped that ringers hearing the sound of the carillon would understand and still enjoy the fine tone of the bells.

Mr. J. Pinfold, Ringing Master of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, proposed the toast 'The Coventry Diocesan Guild. His first toast 'The Coventry Diocesan Guild. His first duty, he said, was to convey greetings from the St. Martin's Guild. This done, he recalled that the Guild was formed in 1907 to fill a local need. He called for all foundation members present to rise and, besides himself, Mr. William E. Collett, of Warwick, was the only one present.

Mr. Pinfold then drew attention to the fact that the Guild was now in a very flourishing state, as evidenced by the gathering present at the dinner, After pointing out that the ringers' number one priority was Sunday service ringing, he said that ringers should be grateful to the clergy for having so often given permission for peals rung for the ringers' pleasure. He called on all ringers for their full co-operation in seeing to it that the bells were rung for Sunday services.

The toast 'Our Guests' followed and, in proposing this, Mr. R. J. Edden, the Ringing Master, welcomed the visitors by name. These included Mr. and Mrs. L. Walmsley, from Leyland. Lancs, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Ellender, from Hemel Hempstead, Herts, amongst many others from nearer to hand. He read apologies from several absent friends including the Lord Mayor and the Bishop of Coventry, Dr. N. Gorton, who, as patron, would have liked to be present but who was prevented by his daughter's wedding. Mr. Edden went on to read messages of greeting from the Kent County, Yorkshire and Essex Associations.

DINNERS A POINTER TO PROSPERITY

The reply to this toast was made by Mr. F. E. Haynes, of Birmingham, who said that there were no less than five annual dinners taking place that evening. Several times in "The Ringing World' questions had been raised as to the current prosperity of the Exercise and, in his opinion, this large number of dinners provided a favourable answer. The excellent attendance at this dinner was a good indication of local progress. He said that the fact that Coventry possessed no central ring of bells had been to the advantage of Birmingham ringers. They had enjoyed the company of many of the Coventry ringers who might otherwise have stayed at home. But that would not prevent him from saying that he hoped to see a ring of bells in Coventry.
A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, Northern District secretary. In this he thanked the chairman and speakers and Mr. H. Webb, the veteran Coventry ringer, for his diligent and painstaking work in keeping the Guild peal book up to date. This he described as a labour of love, and the book was available as evidence in the dining room. He also thanked the entertainers. These included Mr. and Mrs. Reg Hall with songs at the diano: Delmo, the mystic: Messrs. Albert Barley and Hubert Summers, duets: and members of the Guild. who rang Stedman Cinques and tunes on handbells.

During the afternoon the towers of St. Andrew's, Rugby; St. Nicholas', Kenilworth: St. Michael's, Stoke ; and All Saints', Allesley, were open for ringing.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

We regret to hear as we are going to press of the deaths of Mr. Lionel H. Page, of Titchfield, Hants, and of Mr. Reginald Charles Sharpe, for many years captain of St. Mary's ringers, Newmarket.
There should be a good attendance at the meeting at St. Mary's, Wisbech, on November 12th. as the bells in this tower have not been rung for over 40 years. The bells have been overhauled and augmented to six by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

Readers will congratulate William Mann, of Caston, Norfolk, on being appointed head boy of Thetford Boys' Grammar School. This is the second year in succession that a ringer has held this appointment, for last year's head boy was C. J. Billin. of Wymondham. We wonder who will 'complete the hat-trick'

There is an interval of almost 34 years between the peal of Stedman Triples rung at Hingham, Norfolk, and the only other peal of :Stedman rung for the Norwich Diocesan Association on thesc bells.

The peal at Acle on October 26th was the first by the local band for at least 16 years. Congratulations are due to Mr. Herbert W. Lidbetter and the Misses Lidbetter for their work in training a very young, enthusiastic band of Sunday service ringers.

With the peal of Wye Surprise Major at Loughborough Bell Foundry, Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, completed his 150th peal on these bells. Of these he conducted both the longest and the quickest there, viz: 13,440 Bob Major and Cambridge Minor in 1 hour and 50 minutes. Other peals of note he conducted were the extent of Ilkeston Treble Bob Major 9,160; and Little Bob Major 6,720. Twice he has called 7,008 Bob Major as well as 9,760 with 400 singles and no bobs. He also called peals of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative; 'Real' Superlative; Forward Major and all the standard methods. He rang the tenor to 10,976 Bristol Surprise and took part in the extent of 9,600 Worcester Treble Bob Major.

FOUR GREAT TOWERS OF CHICAGO UNIVERSITY

By JAMES R. LAWSON

AROUND four great towers revolves the life of Chicago University. Mitcheil tower, the towers of the Chicago Theological Seminary, the First Unitarian Church and the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel combine to make this a university of notable towers. All are in Gothic harmony with one another. Though three were built almost simultaneously, each stands independent with its own distinct beauty. All contribute toward making this, architecturally, one of the most impressive universities in the world. Oldest of the four. Mitchell tower, rises above Hutchinson Commons and the Reynolds Club. It was built in 1903 and named after John J. Mitchell, benefactor of the University. Every autumn for the past 50 years its bells have sounded a welcoming peal to new students. During the Orientation week members of the Societas Campanariorum (Society of Bellringers) presented special concerts of English folk music.

MODELLED AFTER OXFORD

Mitchell tower was modelled after Magdalen tower at Oxford. Magdalen tower is somewhat higher than Mitchell ( 127 feet and 3 inches) but except for differing corner pinnacles the copy is almost perfect. Magdalen tower has ten bells and Mitchell tower has exactly ten bells.
The ten bells came from the Whitechapel foundry in London, where 'Big Ben' and some of the largest bells in the world were cast. The 'tenor,' or largest bell, in Mitchell tower has a weight of $2,443 \mathrm{lb}$. and is inscribed: 'A gracious woman retaining honor.' The 'gracious woman was Alice Freeman Palmer, dean of women when the University was young. Directly opposite the entrance to Hutchinson Commons is a plaque designed by Daniel Chester French. which indicates that the ten bells ring as a memorial to Mrs. Palmer.

ONE OF A DOZEN

The Palmer chime is one of approximately a dozen outside England which can be rung by ropes and wheels in the traditional English man ner known as 'change ringing.' At the moment authentic change ringing in Chicago must want until another benefactor presents the ringers with new ropes to replace those rotting after years of disuse.

Before the first world war English change ringing was actually practised in Mitchell tower. On November 21 st, 1908, history was made with the achievement of the first successful extent ; 720 changes of Plain Bob Minor were rung in 26 minutes by a band of eight trained ringers specially imported from England by the University. One of the original ringers, Francis J Rumens, from Leeds, is still living in Chicago and is an honoured friend of the Societas Campanariorum.

To-day the bells are sounded by a method known in England as 'clocking.' New students are invited to climb to the fourth-floor ringing chamber and watch the ringers at their 'clocking.' Also in the ringing chamber the Societas Campanariorum holds weekly practice sessions with English handbells loaned to the ringers by another English change ringer, Ernest Weatherby. The 'clocking ' is performed each Monday through Friday at $12.15,6$ and 10.5 p.m.

RING GRACE PERIOD
Each night at 10 Bruce Cushna walks across University A venue from his Alpha Deh fraternity house 10 play at 10.5 the Alma Mater. This is done in cheerful compliance with a request made by coach Amos Alonzo Stagg, who wanted his football players on their way home to bed by a decent hour. The five-minute grace period was granted so that they might have time for a farewell kiss with their girl friends. Now Bruce rings the Alma Mater for an evening hymn, not as a curfew for amorous football players, but as a bell benediction on the day.

TOPIC FOR THE MONTH - X.

Ringers' Club

毋OME say it's only the tone and 'go' of the bells and the ringers' ability that matter. Is this true?

Well, it isn't difficult to say which you'd rather ring in-a badly-lit, untidy, dirty tower ; or one neat, clean and bright, wherc you can hang up your jacket without dusting the hook and sit down without brushing off the bench, and see the ropes without peering through a gloom or being dazzled by sunbeams. Of course such towers are not in the majority, but there are enough of them to affect ringing adversely; and, come to think of it, there's more to carp at! How much more?

WORK FOR MORE THAN ONE

In days gone by these physical aspects were within the province of the 'steeplekeeper,' who sometimes received a token recognition of his services. Nowadays things are frequently left to the tower captain or leader of the band. who is then too often considered responsible for the condition of the ringing chamber and the bells as well. But is this fair? His job is to organise and lead the band of ringers, to plan the training and to direct the ringing, as sisted by those with special ability in conducting and instructing. To-day, when spare time is all too readily absorbed, and when modern ways of doings things requir closer attention to plarning and detail, this maintenance of the belfry in fully efficient condition is more than one person can cope with. In fact, it seems that the present-day tower band, with some exceptions, of course, needs to regard itself, for the efficient pursuit of its pastime, more like a self-administering club, with its headquarters as the belfry.

CLUB PREMISES AND MAINTENANCE

In such an analogy we may, with all due reverence, regard that part of the Lord's House with which ringers are particularly concerned as the ringers' club premises.

Consider any club activity involving equipment or apparatus housed in a related building. For example-a model yacht club, an amateur dramatic society or a gliding club. Generally, in such organisations, the members give a hand in the maintenance of the quarters and the equipment used. Additionally, the social side is encouraged and developed, even to the extent of admitting 'associate members; i.e., those who, not being "performing' members, join in and render invaluable help with the ancillary activities that are essential to the healthy life of the cluh. Purely social occasions such as outings and dinners and dances all play their part in the club's cohesive progress, in fact these supply the "jam' for the associate members' invaluable work for the club.
From this standpoint we may consider just what, in the belfry, is to be cared for and maintained and how the division of labour for this may be arranged. (Space in this issue is at a premium so the presentation of matter may seem a bit 'telescoped'; but we hope it may nevertheless provoke thought, and action.)

THE SEVERAL JOBS

The maintenance of the fabric of the belfry is. of course, the responsibility of the incumbent; but the tower band may regard as its province the ' conditioning ' of the interior and its contents, in its own interests. By conditioning ${ }^{~}$ is meant the provisioning of voluntary labour and perhaps a small item or two of furnishing: and not, of course, material replacement, which is normally provided out of church funds. The interior comprises three main portions: (a) the bell chamber; (b) the ringing chamber and (c) the stairways thereto; and in each of these portions some or all of the following eight job categories are called for, as indicated: 1 , electrical ( $a, b$ and $c$ ); 2, mechanical ( $a$ and $b$ ); 3 , ropework ( $a$ and $b$ ): 4, cleaning ( $a, b$ and $c$ ) ; 5 , decorating (b) ; 6 , sewing (b); 7 , secretarial ( $b$ and home); 8, direction ( $b$ and home).

In most towers, for efficient' working, a different person should assume responsibility for each job category, thus calling for eight in all. But it should be realised that in ringing, as in other activities, it is not essential to have performing members of the band for these jobs, except the last-named; and this is where the associate members of the band can be invaluable in their aid. But if all jobs can be done bv ringing members, so much the better.
Viewed as indicated above, this is how the work pans out:-

Job 1.-In (a), bulb replacement, making up of wander leads and safety light. In (b), bulb replacement, adjustment of lighting, preferably central and from ceiling. (Extension leads from wall sockets are useful.) Attention to electric. fire where provided. In (c), bulb replacement. Also clectric warning bells, where provided.

Job 2.-In (a), on bells and frame, attention to nuts and bolts. Lubrication of bearings and pulleys. Stay reserves and replacement. In (b), attention to rope guides and repairs to pedestal boxes, etc.

Job 3.-In (a), periodic examination, especially before peals, and taking up, as necessary, for wear, etc. In (b), adjusiments for endlength and for rope heights; and in both (a) and (b), splicing as required. Attention to stretching of new ropes and fitting same.

Job 4.-ln (a), occasionally, and by a male member preferably No. 2. But in (b) and (c) a female member could do the work; (b) requires regular attention, sweeping floor and dusting round, but (c) only occasionally. There dusting round, but (c) only occasionally. There, is also the 'spring-clean' of (b), when walls should be swept down all round.

Job 5.-Much can be done in (b). to make the chamber attractive and give a pleasant atmosphere, inducive to relaxed mental condition for concentrating on the ringing. Walls can be distempered, even if only from a lower level (say seven feet) downwards. A coat of paint on old cupboards and other woodwork makes a wonderful improvement, but care is needed in choosing colours !

Job 6.-This is one for the ladies. Curtains at the windows are essential in some towers, where sunbeams can dazzle. Repairs to ropemats and other articles, where the needle can be used, should be dealt with promptly, for obvious reasons.

Job 7.-The secretarial work can be quite heavy in some towers. It may include:-Correspondence, accounts. treasury, tower library, arrangements for outings, suppers, etc., and Press reports.

Job 8. -This is the king-pin of the jobs, of course, and is for a well-chosen tower leader. He must plan (at home) and direct the instruction and the practice-ringing, calling in the as. sistance of others to help with the conducting and teaching, as necessary.

CLUB' ORGANISATION

And so a tower band may be organised on a 'club' basis, calling itself what it pleases-- Guild has been used successfully. Its president might be the incumbent, the lower leader, the chairman and the secretary (sometimes called the tower correspondent), also acting as treasurer, will be responsible for the "Belfry Fund," out of which the sundry ancillaries mentioned in 1 to 8 above should be provided. He would also organise the social functions. (Many towers have a summer outing and a winter supper, anyway.) Other jobs could be nominated as "offices' and appointments made annually. The incumbent should be approached for an annual 'Ringers' Guild, Sunday, when services would be attended by all members-associates and performing-in full force. Ringers would perhaps read the lessons, and give handbell voluntaries in the nave, in lieu of "anthems." Addresses could be given an the subject of ringing as a service of the Church, and as to the relationship of the Guild to its territorial association and to the Exercise at large. Traince members and associate members would be invited to join the Guild and notice might be given of talks and demonstrations to be presented on the national art of change ringing Collections might be given to the Belfry Fund.

A NEW LOOK

In such an atmosphere the matter of ringing, as viewed by the community, instead of appearing as some remote and mysterious rite (which from that very aspect can become something merely to be tolerated), develops as a vital even intimate, interest; while the ringers themselves are active in an aura of ever-growing keenness and pride of performance-not the least founded on the attractiveness and efficacy of their "club" premises.

Isn't it worth more than a thought?

A GREAT DAY AT SHOTWICK, CHESHIRE

The tiny village of Shotwick stands at the edge of the Dee marshes and in days gone by was famous as the haunt of smugglers. The tower of its ancient church contains a delightful ring of six installed in 1937, when four trebles were added to two of the three seventeenth century bells which had been derelict for many years. The other bell. the smaller of the old three, cast by Scott of Wigan in 1664, now rests in the north aisle, where it keeps company with the three-decker pulpit and the canopied churchwardens' stalls.

The outstanding event of the year at Shotwick is the harvest festival, the main service being held on a Sunday afternoon in October, when folk from far and near flock to the church to fill not only its ancient box-pews, but also the forms, stools and chairs of many varieties which are packed into the narrow aisles and in every conceivable corner.

Ringing for this great occasion is always provided by members of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and the fascinating dance of the ropes holds the attention of the many people who arrive very early to be sure of a seat. Regular visitors note that, although the ringers change from year to year, there is always one whose name is Bob, and curiously enough this fellow seems to be the weak member of the band who has to be spoken to so often. The general opinion is that this awkward person is the one standing at the south-east who must surely be very conscious that the great sandstone weights of the clock dangle so perilously above his head.

This year the congregation was greater than ever, for the Lord Bishop was making his first visit to the church. A well-struck extent of Bob Minor being brought round. the bells were set and the floor space beneath the tower was quickly filled. The church was now closely packed from the altar rails to the west door, and the opening hymn. "Come, ye thankful people, come,' resounded in the timbers of the ancient roof. Later a passage was made-not without difficulty-for the Bishop to proceed to the three-decker from which he preached, and after the concluding hymn the space beneath the tower was eventually cleared and more ringing took place.

It is pleasing to record that the Bishop came down to the belfry with all speed and took a rope in some Grandsire Doubles while those who still remained within the church watched with considerable interest. The Chester Diocesan Guild is very proud of the fact that in the new Bishop of Chester it has its first ringing president and it is hoped that he will be able to visit many towers as he travels about his diocese.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HEAVIEST TENOR IN WALES

Dear Sir,-In reference to the "Monmouth and South Wales Tour,' reported in the issue of 'The Ringing World ' dated October 21st, 1955, the reporter states that at Cardiff (St. John's Church) an attempted peal of Cambridge Royal came to grief after three hours and ten minutes' ringing, and that, with the peal of Rutland Surprise Major at Pentre Parish Church, the heaviest tenor of the tour was rung. This, however, it not the case.

The tenor of the Pentre octave is exceeded in weight by the tenor the ring of ten at St. John-the-Baptist, Cardiff, the heaviest ring in Wales. viz. :-

St. Peter's Church, Pentre: Tenor 26 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb . in E flat.
St. John's Church, Cardiff: Tenor 27 cwt. in D.-Yours truly, Barry, Glam.

WITH TRUMPETS AND SHAWMS

Dear Sir,-In the psalter version of Psalm 98 verse 7 is - With trumpets also and shawms: O shew yourselves joyful before the Lord the King.' On going to St. Mary's Church, Barking, near Needham, Suffolk, for a peal, I noticed a shawm in a glass case. The Rector explained that this was played by one Thomas Emsden in the choir orchestra, before the general introduction of an organ in his church, about the year 1830. I had the pleasure of meeting his granddaughter.
The instrument is curved like a serpent, has a mouthpiece similar to brass band, six holes (three for each hand) conveniently placed for the production of different notes.

The Bible version has cornets in lieu of slawms.

WHY THESE SEVEN VARIATIONS?

Dear Sir,- Dictators, dictators, dictators 'what a world this is getting! I thought we had a war to do away with these people! Not content with exalting their ugly prowess in political circles, in ministerial and local government offices, they cannot even let so simple a thing as ringing alone-as if the decision of the Central Council last Whitsun was not enough to curb their powers and activities !

Good luck to the team who want to ring Bob Triples, Grandsire Royal and all the rest of it-and I say the same to the team who want to ring a peal of Bob Minor, whether it be seven callings or one, or a peal of Grandsire Doubles, whether it be ten callings or onewhat's it to do with anyone else? If there was a competition and a prize at the end, all well and good-but there is not!

Ringing is purely a voluntary thing, and ringers have the perfect right to please themselves what they shall ring. A peal of Bob Minor in one variation (if that is a young band's limit), providing it is decently struck, is far better than some conglomeration of badly struck Surprise Major or Maximus-I've heard some of the latter not worthy of the name of ringing! In any case, why must any young band wait until they can ring seven variations, ten variations, extremes, and all the rest of ft, before they go for a peal, if they wish? I repeat-what's it to do with anyone else?

There's enough 'crying the odds' about shortages of young ringers, everywhere, without anyone trying to dictate or put obstacles in the way of the few who do come forward.
The world has far too many dictators nowadays in every phase of life, and the sooner they are put down and their bureaucratic ideals with them, the better. Ringing is not a Trade Union, and I for one strongly resent anyone trying to introduce or force Trade Union tactics into it !-Yours sincerely,

Weston Favell, Northants. P. AMOS.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR IN EIGHT METHODS

Dear Sir,-In view of the interest taken in Spliced Surprise Major, in which all the bells do all the work in each method, I continued to investigate the possibility of adding something to my last composition, which was in seven methods. I have worked on several, but the only one I have found suitable up to the present is Lincoln, which contains a lot of Pudsey. However, it is a distinct method and I have used it for making up my composition to eight methods as shown in following figures. As pointed out by Mr. L. W. G. Morris in his kind letter of appreciation of my work, there is a limit to the number of methods one can include on this plan.-Yours faithfully,
A. J. PITMAN.

YORKSHIRE ROYAL IN SHROPSHIRE

Dear Sir,-The claim regarding the peal of Yorkshire Royal at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, as the first in the county, is not correct. A peal of Yorkshire Royal was rung at Coalbrookdale on August 21st, 1954, conducted by Wilfred Williams.-Yours faithfully.

Wood Green, N.22. JOHN G. NASH.
Dear Sir,-The first peal of Yorkshire Royal in Shropshire was rung at Coalbrookdale on Saturday, August 21st, 1954.

PEAL APPRECIATED

Dear Sir,-I was one of the ringers who took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Matthew's Church, Buckley, on Saturday, October 22nd.

Many people have since expressed to me their appreciation of the ringing, but none pleased me more than the lady who approached my Vicar and asked who were the ringers on Saturday, as she and her friends had sat and listened to the peal right to the end and they had never heard such lovely music or good ringing, and then she handed him a donation to the Bell Restoration Fund as a mark of appreciation!- Yours fraternally,

DENNIS H. B. MILLWARD.

STOKE-BY-NAYLAND BELLS

Dear Sir,-The announcement that Stoke-byNayland is to have a full octave can only be full of interest to those of us who are critical as to the sound of bells.
This fine tower standing on a hill overlooking the Stow Valley (Harwich can be seen from the top) is idcal for a ring of bells, the acoustics being all that one could wish for.
The tenor is a very good bell by Thomas Mears. 1811, but to my mind fall some bit short of 28 cwt. Allowing for the removal of the cannons and the bellfounders scraping a bit of spare metal in tuning, I should assess the weight at 23 cwt., so they will be a long way from being one of the heaviest eights in Suffolk.

All Saints', Sudbury, was listed at 30 cwt ., but the true weight was discovered as $26 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. Bures (Thomas Mears, 1826) was known to be 23 cwt .11 ib . in B flat, but in 1951 tuning forks and measurements have told us that it is a good 20 cwt . in E. Ringers used to judge the weight of a bell by how it went; bad-going bells gained a little weight every few years.

Those who have not rung at Stoke will be interested to learn that they are hung 123465. with enough timber in the frame to build Nelson's 'Victory.'

The bellfounders have everything in their favour so after June, 1956, Stoke should prove to be a Mecca for ringers - Yours sincerely,

LESLIE D. MILLS

A PEAL AT RICHMOND, SURREY

Dear Sir ,-The account of the quarter peal at Richmond reminds me of a peal I rang there on June 4 th, 1898, under rather trying circumstances. At that time I was frequently at Isleworth for practice, and an attempt for Oxford Bob Triples was discussed, but Freddie Goddard informed us that ringing at Richmond was controlled by a steeplekeeper called * Old Wheelbarrow, who sat on a stool and directed the ringing (call changes, I understood), and that until he was gone no peal would be allowed.
It so happened that this old gentleman passed away, and permission to ring was obtained by F. G. Apparently this did not meet with the approval of the locals, as soon after the peal was commenced the clockwinder turned up, making all the unnecessary noise he possibly could in the clock chamber above; then later a stone was thrown through the window, of course breaking it.

Thanks to a very efficient conductor a very good peal was rung. The band was Thomas Beadle 1, Evered J. Walsom 2, John Basden (conductor) 3, Harry Newnham 4, William Crockford 5, Frederick G. Goddard 6, George A. Ransom 7, William Stanney 8.
W. Crockford is still alive, but has not rung for many years. Excepting myself, I do not know whether any others of the band survive. -Yours truly.

Alresford. Hants.

REDEDICATIONS

EWHURST, SUSSEX

Many ringers from neighbouring towers atsended the rededication of the bells of Ewhurst, Sussex, by the Lord Bishop of Chichester on Saturday, October 22nd. This ring of five bells was last rung on VE-Day, 1945. Much money had to be spent on the roof of the church before the bells could be attended to.

The tenor and treble were cracked and have boen recast at the Whitechapel Foundry. All the bells have had the old crowns removed and replaced with the modern type and clappers and have been hung on ball bearings. The wooden beams supporting the bell frame were found to be badly decayed at the ends, and the masonry, where they joined the walls, broken up. They have been replaced with steel girders firmly fixed into the walls.

The original five bells were cast in 1760 and it is possible they were a recasting of an carlier ring of four bells with a new one added. The bell frame, still retained, is dated 1760.

These five bells had their weights cut in, and wwere inscribed just above the sound-bow wires:

Treble.-Mr. John Richardson, Curate. Lester and Pack, of London, fecit 1760. 5 cwt . 1 qr .7 lb . (diameter $29 \frac{1}{2}$ inches).
Second. -Lester and Pack of London fecit 1760. 6 cwt . 1 qr. 7 lb . (diameter 32 inches). Third. - Lester and Pack of London fecit 1760. 6 cwt .3 qr. 21 lb . (diameter 33 inches).
Fourth.-Edwd. Cox and Jno. Bartlett, Ch. Wardens. 1760. Lester and Pack, London fecit. 7 cwt .2 qr .24 lb . (diameter $34 \frac{1}{2}$ inches).
Tenor.-The Rev. Thos. Nairne, Rector, 1760. Lester and Pack of London fecit. 10 cwt . 12 lb . (diameter 38 inches).
The inseriptions on the recast bells read now: Treble.-Edwd. Wm. Perry and Chas, Jno. Gray. Churchwardens. L et P fecerunt 1760 M et S refecerunt iii Eliz: R. ii (round the lower part of the bell just above the sound-bow wires). And (round the crown of the bell) Sancta Maria o.p.n.
Tenor. - Kenneth Arthur Pearson, Rector. $L$ et $P$. fecerunt 1760 . M et $S$ refecerunt iii Eliz: R. ii (just above the sound-bow wires) and Sancte Jacobe o.p.n. (below the crown).
A tablet on the wall under the tower records that the restored ring was consecrated by George Kennedy Allen Bell, Bishop of Chichester, on October 22nd, 1955.

The verdict of visiting ringers was that the tone and go of the bells were good. Refreshments were served after the service.

QUENIBOROUGH, LEICESTERSHIRE

For 80 years the bells of St. Mary's, Queniborough, Leics, have been silent. Through the initiative of this small parish, which has perhaps the finest spire in Leicestershire, the four old bells have been retuned and a new treble added. These have been rehung in a metal frame, the contract having been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. The tenor is $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.

The dedication service took place on October 27 th , Bishop H. A. Maxwell performing the ceremony. Rounds were rung on the five bells immediately after the dedication as the clergy returned to the chancel, the ringers being representatives of the district committee and the founders.

After the service touches were rung by visitors from seven local towers, and all visiting ringers with Bishop Maxwell were entertained to a buffet supper by the Vicar and churchwardens.

A band of learners has been receiving instruction for some time so that the bells will be rung regularly by a local band. Good luck, Queniborough!

ECCLESTON, CHESHIRE

The rededication of the fine eight at Eccleston, following their rehanging by Messrs. Taylor and Co., took place on Sunday, October 23 rd. The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Stockport, the Rt. Rev. D. H. Saunders Davies, at morning service, and began at the chancel steps when the Bishop called for the Archdeacon's Certificate authorising the work to be carried out. This document having been examined, the Bishop, Rector and wardens proceeded to the west end and ascended to the ringing chamber where suitable prayers were said.

The ropes, suitably tied together with ribbon, were handed to the Bishop by Mr. Samuel Jones, who has been a ringer here since the bells were opened in 1907. The ribbon was released and the bells rung in rounds for a few minutes as the procession returned to the vestry, the ceremony having been relayed to the congregation in the church below by means of loud speakers.

To the singing of the hymn. 'Lifted high within the steeple,' the Bishop, Rector and choir entered by the west door and processed to the chancel. A break was made in the service at the end of the first lesson and the procession re-formed and moved to the undertower where a single rope was suspended from the tower above. This the Bishop handed to the Rector as a token with the injunction, - Receive these bells and take care that they be ever and only used in God's service and for His glory.' The procession returned to the choir during the singing of the Te Deum.

In his sermon the Bishop spoke of the use of bells in the service of the Church and also of the unique English art of change ringing, drawing a parallel between the path of a bell in changes to the path of the individual through life. At the conclusion of the service the bells were again rung as a very large congregation left the church.
The present church at Eccleston was built by the first Duke of Westminster and dedicated on Ascension Day, 1900. Its bells, a very fine ring of eight with a tenor of $26 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in D , are well known to ringers, and to the older members of the Exercise the name of Mr. H. W. Wilde. the eminent composer and conductor who died in 1932, will be associated with them.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Mr. M. Orme Leaving for National

Service

The Northern District met at Great Offley on October 22nd. After a short service, at which Miss Mayes played the organ, the ringers were greeted as they walked through the fog along the road to tea by the strains of Old Man River.'

The chairman for the business meeting was Mr. M. Orme, who is about to leave for National Service. The problem of the lack of Hitchin ringers was discussed, the final decision being that the secretary should write to Mr. Fidler suggesting that monthly special practices should be held in order to help learners and in the hope that interest would be aroused.
Miss Elizabeth Symons, of Norton, was elected a member.

The Rector of Stevenage will be unable to be present on the fourth Saturday in November. so the next meeting has been brought forward to the 19th, with Dr. Gullick as Ringing Master. The special method will be Painswick College Bob.

Ringing in the evening ranged from rounds to Bala Bob. J. S.

THE MAJOR HESSE WEEK-END
The annual gathering at Wrington to honour the memory of Major John H. B. Hesse was held on the fourth Saturday in October, the Saturday nearest the anniversary of his death. Major Hesse was a well-known ringer throughout the country and it was he who was the prime mover in the augmentation of Wringtun hells from six to ten in 1911.

A good peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Wraxall in 2 hours and 56 minutes on the Friday evening, but the peal attempt at Wrington on Saturday afternoon came to grief after just over one hour's ringing.

Tea was afterwards taken at a nearby hotel and Mr. Knight said he had received a letter from Mrs Hesse, who was very sorry she was unable to be present as she was a way from home for three months. Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas and Messrs. Stafford Green, H. Sanger and A. A. Hughes also sent letters of apology for absence After tea Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung on handbells. Those present at tea were the Rector of Wrington, the Rev. B. Lee, Mr and Mrs. H. Knight and Messrs. W. Birming ham, R. Bowden, L. Derrick, J. Dyke, R. Fry, W. Kingcott, C. Lewington. B. Lister and H. Price.

A Week-end in East Devon  A party of six ringers from Long Ashton,

 Clutton, Leicester and Nailsca, with the organiser, Cyril Deem, and other local friends, enjoyed a ringing week-end on August 8th-9th in East Devon. Headquarters was the ringers' hotel,' the King's Arms, East Budleigh.Proceedings got off to a fine start on Saturday, when, after ringing on the light six at Otterton, one of the 'away' team got locked in the tower. This was purely accidental but the gentleman in question thought it was a practical joke and patiently sat down on the steps to wait. While his chauffeur was wondering where he was, and the tower captain was in the process of being whisked off (complete with key) to the next tower, the imprisoned ringer went back to the ringing chamber and furiously chimed the treble, thereby narrowly averting solitary confinement !
Colaton Raleigh's six were next tackled, followed by the beautiful light ring at Harpford ( 7 cwt .4 lb .), where Reverse Canterbury Minor was one of the methods rung. After a welcome cup of coffee Aylcsbeare was visited and then on 10 the Taylor eight at Ottery St. Mary, where good Grandsire and Stedman Triples and a course of Bob Major were rung.
An excellent lunch at Ottery preceded ringing at Feniton, Payhembury (a lovely tenor) and Clyst Hydon, where, while some watched the antics of the local football team, others watched the antics of the tenor man coping with a brand new rope! Plymtree was the last stop before tea and we feel we did not disgrace ourselves at this champion call change tower.

A hasty call at Cullompton and we were able to ring some good Grandsire Caters and passable Stedman Caters on the lovely light ten there (one member's 600th tower). The light eight in the tiny tower at Sowton were next visited and ringing included a lightning touch of Stedman Triples-so fast, in fact, that, as someone said, there wasn't time to go wrong ! Pinhoe and the octave at St. David's, Excter. concluded the day's ringing.
Sunday service ringing was at Sidmouth and East Budlcigh (where all the party attended the harvest festival service) and we had a final pull at Lympstone after lunch which concluded the official operations, although one of the party rang at Heavitree (Exeter) for Evensong, and the Somerset contingent were made very welcome at Ruishton, with its lovely litte six augmented from three a couple of months ago

Nailsea Seek Adventures On Outing

The annual meeting of the Nailsea ringers was on October 1st, when they were joined by friends from Backwell, Long Ashton, Clutton, Langport and Coventry.

None of the towers had been chosen by merit of their tone of 'go,' and Iron Acton, the first visited, was not conspicuous for the latter. The next tower was Wapley (tenor 17 cwt .), where it Was unanimously decided that the five bells were $1,2,3,4$ and 6 of a ring of eight. Erin Minimus with a tenor sounded better than Doubles.
The Vicar met the party at Grittleton and told them that he knew the condition of the ropes was not good. Part of the way through the last touch Mr. Derrick proved too much for the fourth rope, which broke below the sally. so the bells were rung down and the rope spliced before going on to Yatton Keynell, where multiminimus methods were rung on this recently rebung four.
Ringing at Corsham ( $6,23 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), where two local ringers joined in, ended the day's scheduled activities. Some of the conductors had great difficulty here in making themselves heard on account of the noise in the ringing chamber and the bells cast rope easily-the tenor ringers noticed this particularly.
Sincere thanks were expressed to Michael Horseman, the organiser, and to the clergy (who met us at every tower) for the use of therr bells M. E. F.

The Mobile Youths' Tour

We had decided to take advantage of the September 'long week-end to make our excursion into the country, and chose Manchester Cathedral as a suitable marshalling point. Both cars successfully fought their way through Manchester's chaotic traffic to Cheshire's open country, and we reached Bollington at the appointed hour. Here we met Mr. Moss, 64 years a ringer at this church. He still rings regularly and looks good for another 64! The way to the belfry was almost as tortuous as our navigation in Manchester, but after passing through the organ-blowing mechanism we soon had this good-going but rather harsh-toned eight ringing Bob Major.
At Sutton we received a cordial welcome from Mrs. Lowson and thoroughly enjoyed a very pleasant six rung from the ground floor The only real mishap here was the mistaking of this tenor for one later in the day less than half the weight by one of the female members of the party.
After recciving directions from local guides for finding our next tower, Bosley (6), the two cars performed superlative long dodges from one side of the lane to the other in their attempts to turn round. The stone tower at the west end of Bosley's brick church was ascended by a near vertical ladder from a form in the church. The bells proved to be a most unbalanced ring of four old bells and two trebles. The tone of the tenor made Minor sound very odd, so it was here that we made our first ventures in Doubles ringing.
After a meal at Congleton we finally persuaded the sexton to open the tower. If the sexton did not know we were coming 'The Congleton Chronicle' certainly did, for we had hardly rung a course on this excellent-toned but not easy-handled bells when the Press entered. However vague the reporter's views on ringing had been before, they were now quite distinct !

The next call will long be remembered for the fine-toned six at Holmes Chapel, recently put in good order; the delightful multi-bob touch of Bob Minor called by Anne; and the magnificent wood ceiling in the church recently exposed by the removal of plaster covering.

Goostrey ( 6,6 cwt.), our next call, had a tower of hazards. Heads were bumped, dresses were ripped, shins were barked on doors, organblowers and projections, and all this for an odd-going ring which the local ringer told us went better to Doubles.
The two cars then left this all-brick church by entirely different routes, one guided by Ordnance. the other by intuition, and finally arrived on opposite sides of the same famous beauty spot-Lower Peover. Here we preferred to ring with the church door closed, for when it is open, though it is both cooler and lighter, the fifth cannot see the fourth and vice-versa.
The husbands in the party were quite relleved to find their wives' attempts to prove themselves worthy of being the wives of Cheshire yeomen, by the lifting of the church chest lid with one hand, were foiled by the chest being locked. We were then able to get down to serious ringing, rendered difficult by new ropes. We liked this Warner six and considered this delightful half-timbered church deservedly popular.

Thence down the cobbled lane to the main road, the bigger car leaving the smaller in a fine burst of speed. We soon came to Knutsford, another good six, but, for a change, rung anticlockwise. Lower Peover, as a half-timbered church, is long remembered as a fine example of its kind, so also is Nether Alderley, a beautiful stone church in a truly glorious setting This, plus a fine Rudhall six, recently brought up to scratch by a dose of bellhangers' tonic, made a perfect ending to a good day.
Methods--Doubles: Grandsire, Stedman, St. Simon's, St. Martin's, Plain Bob; Minor: Plain Bob, Little Bob, St. Clement's, Single Oxford, Oxford Treble Bob, Kent: Triples: Grandsire Stedman ; Major: Plain Bob. P. J. H. H.

OBITUARY

MR. CLEMENT GLENN
A dear friend, Mr. Clement Glenn, known affectionately as 'Clem,' collapsed and died by the roadside after ringing for service at Bulwell, Notts, on Sunday, October 23 rd.

The news of his sudden death spread very slowly over the country, and few friends saw him laid to rest on Thursday, October 27th. It was a sad end that such a brilliant conductor of odd-bell methods had so few ringers attend his funeral at Horbling, Lines.

A brother and sister-in-law and three friends were present, together with the following ringing friends: Mrs. A. Richardson and Mrs. E. Wayman (Surfleet), Mr. A. Holmes (Edenham), Messrs. J. E. Allen and C Wander (Donington), Messrs. W. E. Allen, G. Carpenter, B. H. Dalton and J. T. Rolt (Billingborough). Mrs. A. Richardson represented the Ladies' Guild, and Mr. J. E. Allen the College Youths.

Two courses of Grandsire Doubles on hand. bells were rung over the open grave by: J. E. Allen $1-2, \mathrm{C}$ Wander 3-4, Mrs. A. Richardson 5-6.

After the interment the tower bells were raised, a 360 of Plain Bob Minor was rung and the bells were lowered by Mrs. J. T. Rolt 1, J. E. Allen 2, Mrs. A. Richardson 3, A. Holmes 4, B. H. Dalton 5, C. Wander (conductor) 6.

Clem's oft-repeated wish 'to lie in Horbling Churchyard with my feet to the Fens' had been fulfilled.
J. E. A.

MR. FRANCIS SHEPPARI) WILSON

Many ringers will be sorry and surprised to know that Mr. Francis S . Wilson, of Lilliput, Parkstone, Dorset, passed away on May 30th. The tardiness of the announcement arises from Mr. Wilson having withdrawn from active ringing for some long time before his death.

Mir. Wilson, in his profession as a bank clesk and manager, had moved around the country quite a bit and had at all times keenly fostered activity in the Exercise at his ' home ' tower for the time heing-Ludlow, Cheltenham, Wincanton and Midhurst were some of them, and there is a photograph of F. S. W. hanging in St. Mary's, Portsea, tower. It is said that whenever he went to ringers' meetings he always carried a gladstone bag full of handbells "just in case." Certainly on one ocasion he 'dropped everything' and picked up his handbells to join an outing party who had stopped for "elevenses. at Wincanton.

In the Bournemouth district he did much to pioneer the double-handed handbell ringing movement, which was started with the imposition of the ban on tower bell ringing in 1940. He took part in all the first odd-bell peals rung on handbells in Bournemouth and, on occasion, generously 'stood' a small celebration after success.

One must be honest in writing of the departed, however; Mr. Wilson's limitation in double-handed ringing (he could only ring the hack pair in odd-bell methods) made him a little 'difficult' in later years. He was so keen that he wanted to be 'in' on everything, and was undoubtedly "hurt' when even-bell methods were chosen for peal attempts and that there was no place for him in the wonderful records put uo by the Bournemouth handbell band in later vears. This undoubtedly led to his withdrawal from the scene and in consequence, give more time to his beloved bowls. Nevertheless his keenness and pioneer work should be remembered with gratitude by the Exercise. An attempt is being made to get possession of his ringing records with a view to compiling a list - of his peals.

MR. WILLIAM KEATES

A ringer of Mere, Wilts, Mr. William Keates died recently at Chichester, at the age of 69. He was the best type of ringer, for although not particularly skilled, he was never late for, or absent from ringing. A good churchman, he was a great supporter of all his church activities, and during his association with his church frequently acted as voluntary verger on weekdays. A record of service such as his-he was a ringer for 50 years-provides a worthy example for emulation.

He was a man of singleness of purpose, and it is related of him that when he was asked to ring the tenor to what proved to be his first peal he asked for time to consider. A few days later he agrecd to make the attempt. It was found out subsequently that, in order to make sure that he could ring the tenor for three hours, he had tied the clapper and rung the bell silent for three hours. Only when he was sure that he would not let the band down did he consent to make the attempt. Would that we were all as conscientious.

The funeral took place at Mere, where many mourners attended, and these included both ringers and members of the British Legian.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

A New Start at Silverdale

Ringing at Silverdale, Staffs, has fluctuated considerably of recent years. Some five years ago the bells were rung by a young band of great promise, but their instruction was intermittent. There were no resident ringers of real experience, the band gradually drifted apart, and ringing, when carried out, was at a low ebb.
Recently a young ringer from Newcastle-under-Lyme, John Beardmore, decided, when his own bells were out of action, to give his time and energy to reviving ringing at Silverdale. He has stayed there and under his guidance and leadership the young band has been re-formed and the bells are once more rung regularly in changes for Sunday services and on practice nights. Tuesday, October 18th, was the datronal festival of the Church of St. Luke, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to ring the first quarter peal since the band was re-formed.
A second attempt was made on October 20th. when 1,320 of Plain Bob Doubles was brought round by the following: G. Beardmore 1, John Ford 2, M. Beswick 3, R. Nicklin 4, J. Beardmore (conductor) 5, S. Robinson 6. All are service ringers at the church.

A BUSY MONTH

ALTHOUGH the great national newspapers cover the country and are read eagerly, yet the various types of local papers, usually published weekly, are read just as eagerly, and what would England be without them? They are in the main good friends of ringers and very willingly publish items of interest to the ringing fraternity. The dedication of a new ring of bells or the reopening of a rehung ring is duly reported in full along with appropriate photographs.

During October there was a spate of bell dedications and the pages of numerous local papers contained detailed reports, publicity which is of great value to the various bell funds. The month opened in grand style, for on Saturday, the 1st, there were celebrations at Belstone and Revelstoke in Devon. The moorland village of Belstone formerly had five bells; now they have been rehung with new fittings in a new cast iron frame, with a tenor of 5 cwt .2 qr .25 lb ., and a treble added to make six. The service of dedication was carried out by the Bishop of Crediton in the presence of a large congregation. Eleven bands of ringers were invited to ring and good use was made of the bells. After the service, tea was provided in the Village Hall. Sports were held in an adjoining field, followed by a dance and social.

Away down at Revelstoke, Preb. C. C. Cox was officiating at the reopening of the ring of eight there. These bells have a tenor weighing about 16 cwt.; they have been quarter turned, provided with new clappers and ball bearings. After the service a double ringing competition was held; the first was for the eight-bell bands and the second for the six-bell bands. As can be expected, some good ringing was heard. In Noss Mayo the critics of the ringing gathered in the Swan, where full advantage was taken of the licence extension that had been obtained for this special occasion, whilst in the Schoolroom a social and dance carried on until past midnight. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. had carried out the work at both churches and Mr. John P. Fidler represented them.

A fortnight later we find Mr. Fidler again in the West Country at Kilmington, Devon, where Messrs. John Taylor and Co. had completed the restoration of the six bells. This work involved the recasting of the 4th and 5th bells, the quarter turning and tuning of the other four bells, restoring the old timber bell-frame and the provision of new headstocks, wheels and ball bearings. Again the Bishop of Crediton officiated and the church was packed to capacity. Immediately the service was over the numerous invited bands took charge of the bells and rang. at their allotted times. The tenor bell here weighs 10 cwt . 1 qr .4 lb . Those who were not ringing partook of tea in the Village Hall.

A week later, October 22nd, was the occasion of exceptional celebrations at Preston Candover, in Hampshire, and the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth had very good reason for jubilation, for his new ring of six, with a tenor of 3 cwt .3 qr. 14 lb ., was dedicated. Mr. P. L. Taylor and Mr. Arthur Fidler were present from Loughborough along with numerous ringers from the surrounding district. On Saturday, August 20th, Mr. Brinkworth had the rare and unique experience of ringing a quarter peal on his bells before they left Loughborough. The new bell frame was built over a pit, so that when the bells were hung in it it was possible to ring them; quite a number of visiting ringers had the pleasure of ringing them during the time they stood in the erecting shop.

The Bishop of Crediton had another engagement on October 29th, when he visited Witheridge, Devon, for the dedication of the restored ring of eight bells. For years these bells have had an unenviable reputation, but that is a thing of the past. The old beetle-ridden timbers have been removed from the tower, the bells have been rehung in a massive cast iron frame complete with new fittings, and new floors have been installed to replace the old decayed ones that had done service for very many years. The tenor bell weighs 23 cwt .3 qr .6 lb . and can now be rung with greater ease than was once the case. Many bands of ringers from North Devon visited Witheridge and were well rewarded for their journey. Amongst the visitors was Mr. Paul L. Taylor along with Mr. John Oldham.

It so happened that the Preston Candover and Witheridge bell frames were constructed side by side in the erecting shop at Loughborough and presented an interesting contrast. The Preston Candover frame occupied an area of 7 ft . 6 in . square, whilst its neighbour occupied an area something like 19 ft . $\times 21 \mathrm{ft}$.; in fact, it seemed as though the Preston Candover bells could be placed in the Witheridge tenor pit.

The month closed with the dedication of the bells of Wisbech St. Mary. Where there were five, now there are six and the tenor is 10 cwt .2 qr. 25 lb ., and a very nice ring they are. The office of dedication took place during the morning service on Sunday, the 30th, and the ceremony was performed by the Lord Bishop of Ely. There was a large congregation, but owing to the time of the service very few visiting ringers appeared. Mr. John P. Fidler, however, was able to be present to represent the founders. During the period the work on the bells was under way a new band of ringers was trained and they rang remarkably well on this special occasion.

Mr. Arthur Lewis, tower captain at Caldicote, Mon, was highly delighted with the peal rung for his 94th birthday, especially as a birthday peal had been attempted for the last five years without success. The peal enabled the tenor ringer, James L. Fitzgerald ('Jimmy '), of Newport, Mon, to make a resturn to peal ringing after an absence of four years.
Mrs. Dorothy T, Gardiner is leaving Burton-on-Trent for Dorset in the New Year. A popular member, she will be greatly missed.

The quarter peal at Ancaster, Lincs, on October 31st was rung as a compliment to Peter Hill, who was leaving for the Merchant Navy the next day.

By ringing the third to a peal of Stedman Triples at Wraxall on October 21st, Mr. John M. Stallard, of Bristol, has rung peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.
Congratulations to Michael Crowder, of Barrow-on-Humber, who rang his first peal of Stedman Triples on the eve of his 13th birthday. Well done, Michael! We look forward to continued progress.
The five young people who scored their first quarter peal at Egham on October 9th are members of the present Sunday service band. The ringer of the third is aged 12 years, and the ringers of the second and sixth are both aged 14 years.
The band which rang the golden wedding quarter peal at Silverton, Devon, for Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Dymond would like to associate with this tribute the name of Mr. W. E. Richards, a member of the local band. He was unfortunately prevented from taking part by a broken leg sustained in a motor accident, and is at present in hospital at Weston-super-Mare.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Many friends of Mr. Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association were sorry to hear that he had to enter the Bristol Royal Infirmary recently to undergo medical treatment. Latest reports state that he is improving and hopes to be about again soon.

Mr. R. H. Stickley has left England for Zaria, Northern Nigeria. He was until recently in South Africa and did good work with St. Mary's, Woodstock.

Mr. G. Seth, now 68, rang his first quarter of Minor at Spaldwick, Hunts, on October 29th. He had, many years ago, rung peals of Doubles, but never higher.

Mr. A. Mauran, who had only rung once in the past 20 years, volunteered to ring the 41 cwt . tenor at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, when the band met short for a quarter peal on October 29 th. His action was much appreciated.
The young Haistead ringer, 12-years-old Geoffrey Steed, who has had barely three months tuition, rang his first quarter peal at Stisted, Essex, on October 18th. The Vicar, commenting on the performance, said, 'He must have ringing in his "blood." , Geoffrey is a relative of the Snowden family !
The peal at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, recorded elsewhere in this issue, provided an opportunity for several of those taking part to achieve a 'first' in one way or another. For the conductor's son, Alan P. Cave, and for Robert Piron it was their first peal on 12 bells, and it was also Piron's firsst peal of Stedman. For Stewart Bailey and Stephen Parry it was their first peal of Stedman Cinques, and the first of Stedman Cinques on a working bell for John Grove.

JASPER SNOWDON COMMEMORATION DINNER

THE 23rd Jasper Snowdon Commemoration Dinner was held at the Guildford Hotel, Leeds, on October 15th. It is several years since this function was held in Leeds, and a post-war record attendance of 130 was a most encouraging feature which contributed much towards making the dinner a great success.
The president of the Yorkshire Association, the Ven. C. O. Ellison, Archdeacon of Leeds, presided, supported by the Lord Mayor of Leeds (Alderman Sir James Croysdale) and Lady Croysdale, the Vicar of Leeds (the Rev. Canon C. B. Sampson) and Mrs. Sampson, Mr.
E. C. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Park, E. C. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Park,
Mr. and Mrs. W. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith and Messrs. L. W. G. Morris and A. E. Sellars.

An excellent meal was served after which the president gave the loyal toast.
The Lord Mayor of Leeds then submitted the toast 'The Church and State.' Some weeks before the dinner, he said, he had been presented with a copy of the Association's 1954 annual report and he confessed to being somewhat puzzled by the figures representing the number of peals rung at various churches and the number of peals rung by individual members of these churches. He was even more perplexed upon finding that 46 peals had been rung at St. Michael's, Headingley, and that Percy Johnson had taken part in 295 of them ! He thought that perhaps this could be explained by some kind of ' transfer system,' in which case it would appear that several churches must have long since been relegated to the Third Division! In a more serious venn he thought that no State could be truly happy unless there was an active Church working in that State.
In his response the Vicar of Leeds spoke of his early work in various parishes around Leeds and of the close unity which still existed between the Church and the State in the city, He also recalled his days as Vicar of Maidstone, when he had close connections with the Kent County Association.

Canon Sampson thought that members of the Yorkshire Association were most fortunate in that their organisation was framed in such a way as to avoid the restrictions imposed by diocesan boundaries. He knew of no other church organisation which enjoyed this liberty and thought that a certain amount of relaxation in this direction might assist in establishing an even closer unity in the Church as a whole.

PERHAPS THE GREATEST AUTHORITY

The company gave a great welcome to Mr. E. C. Shepherd when he rose to propose the main toast To the memory of the late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past officers of the Yorkshire Association. He expressed the opinion that Jasper Snowdon was great in three ways-as an historian, as a teacher and as founder of the Yorkshire Association. He was perhaps the greatest authority on change ringing and although he died at the early age of 41, his books were still regarded as standard works on the subject. It is, moreover, evident that many of the more recent books on the art have been modelled on the lines of Snowdon's works. The excellent revision work portrayed in later editions of Snowdon's books had been carried out by his brother, William, the second president of the Association, in a true spirit of unselfishness.

Mr. Shepherd thought that the attributes of the past officers could still be found in the present officers and should stand the Associztion in good stead for many years to come. Following the toast a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells was rung by Messrs. W. Barton, W. F. Moreton, L. W. G. Morris, P. J. Johnson and J. Ambler, and this was felt to be a fitting response to the memory of Jasper Snowdon.
The toast of ' The Visitors and Kindred Ringing Societies' was then proposed by Mr. W. Barton. Mr. Barton was in some doubt as to who the visitors actually were, for, as he explained, many of those usually regarded as visitors were out-county members of the Association. The answer would no doubt be provided by those who remained seated during the drinking of the toast.
Four other ringing dinners, he said, were being held on that day-those of the Kent County Association, the Coventry Diocesan Guild, the Essex Association and the Guildford Diocesan Guild. The Yorkshire Association was pleased to partake in an exchange of greetings between these various gatherings, with good wishes for a happy evening and prosperity in the future.
Continuing in lighter vein, Mr. Barton recounted several amusing anecdotes, much to the delight of those assembled. He also remarked that he thought the Editorial Committee of 'The Ringing World ' were in some way responsible for the decline in peal ringing by their decision to curtail footnotes, which meant that ringers now had to think of a legitimate reason for ringing a peal!
Mr. W. N. Park, in proposing 'The Continued Prosperity of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers,' took his theme from the letters Y O R K. The prosperity of all ringing associations depended largely on four things-Youth, Organisation, Realism and Keenness. The first of these was very much in evidence in the assembled company, and efficient organisation was a well-known characteristic of the Yorkshire Association. If due regard was paid to the remaining two qualities the continued prosperity of the Association was assured.
The last toast of the evening, 'The Charrman,' was given by Mr. L. W. G. Morris, who said that in the 80 years of its existence the Association had had only four presidents. He hoped that this position would remain unaltered when the century mark was reached.
The president, in reply, said that unfortunately he could not guarantee anything quite so far ahead as the next 20 years. He concluded by thanking those of the organising committee who had worked so hard to ensure the success of the dinner.
Entertainment during the evening was provided by a quartet from Pudsey comprising Miss Maureen Shearsmith (soprano), Miss Mary Shearsmith (alto), Mr. A. E. Marsh (tenor) and Mr. G. Benfield (bass), accompanied at the piano by Mrs. A. E. Marsh. A gentleman known as the 'Jack of Clubs' also entertained with card tricks.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

To ring for a Royal visit is a privilege unusually rare for many ringers; the London County Association recently had the honour of ringing twice in one week for the Royal Family in different parts of London.
On October 19th, the Queen, accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret, attended the service of dedication of the recently restored Lambeth Palace Chapel, which was destroyed during the war. Besides the Royal Family, seventy bishops were present at the service.
The bells of St. Mary's, Lambeth, which stands in the palace grounds, were rung under the direction of the Master. Mr. T. H. Taffender, as the Queen arrived. An excellent touch of Stedman Triples pealed across the river and the Queen herself remarked how beautiful the bells sounded.
On the following Sunday, H.R.H. Princess Margaret visited Poplar to open a new social welfare centre. To mark this occasion ringing took place at All Saints' Church as the Princess passed through the crowded streets. The General Master, with his Northern District counterpart, Mr. C. A. Hughes, and other members of the district, rang several well-struck touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Visitors to the College Youths' dinner going to St. George's, Camberwell, should take No. 36 bus from Paddington or No. 12 from Westminster to Camberwell Town Hall. Take first left beyond bus stop into Havil Street, and then turn left into Wells Way.

The peal of St. Simon's Doubles rung at Courteenhall is believed to be the second only peal in the method ever rung-the first being just prior to the last war, in Bedfordshire, conducted by the late Donald L. Cockings. Apropos, does anyone know of a church dedicated to St. Simon?
A quarter peal rung at East Budleigh, Devon, on October 30th, was rather a family affair Sid Skinner, captain of the ringers, and Michael Board have each become the father of a fine son, so at least a quarter peal was justified as well as being as near the patronal festival of All Saints as possible. Grandfather of the band, Wally Palmer, was on the treble, Uncle Norman Skinner rang his first quarter in two methods on the second, while Father Sidney conducted from third. Great-uncle (now growing a beard) Cyril Savage rang the fourth, Father Michae the fifth, and the tenor man was Grandfather Harry Luxton, Michael's father-in-law, well known in call change circles. We hope the two sons will eventually become members of the local band.

PEAL RINGING IN SUFFOLK

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WHEN I wrote the article about peal ringing in Kent, I suggested that Suffolk might be a very close rival for the total number of peals rung in the county since 1881. I said this because Suffolk had more "centenarian" towers than any other county and because half of them had passed the 200 peal mark-far more than any other county also. However, now that I can total them up, I find that, rather surprisingly, the company comes a long way behind Kent and that at least one other county can beat Suffolk's total also (and I haven't examined several yet). Thus I have recorded nearly 6,700 peals in Kent and nearly 5,600 in Lancashire, whereas Suffolk's total is just over 4,800 . This means that, although there are these 12 centenarians where large numbers of peals have been rung ( 2,366 , I make it), an unusual amount of ringing has gone on at them and other towers have been comparatively neglected. It can be seen that exactly half the peals in the county have been rung at these 12 towers-a very high proportion. In Kent, the centenarians (and these include the two 500 peal towers) account for about one-third of the peals and in Lancashire about onc-quarter. It will be interesting to see whether Surrey, Sussex and Warwickshire come anywhere near Suffolk's total. There would seem to be a definite chance.

BAILEY BROTHERS

And now for the details. There are three towers round about the 300 mark. Although only 9 peals have been rung there since the last war, Leiston (8) leads the way with 301 since 1884. Of course this is largely due to the efforts of the famous Bailey brothers between the two wars, when 162 peals were rung at the tower between 1919 and 1939. Prior to 1914, 130 peals were published from the first peal on the bells on December 26th, 1884, by the St. Mary-le-Tower company, Ipswich. Thus 301 must represent a true idea of the number of peals ever rung here. Amongst these have been the first peals ever of Dublin Surprise, Edinburgh Surprise, Rochester Surprise and Suffolk Surprise. The record length of Double Norwich Major ( 8,064 ) was held for a few years from 1885, and in 1909 an 11,000 of this method was rung (although this number had been surpassed rung (1892). So this tower has many claims to fame even though it is not heard much of now.
The famous St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich (12), comes a close second with 297 peals. I have been able to compare my total with Mr. heen able to compare my total with Mr.
Charles Sedgleys figures and we agree exactly. These actually have been rung since 1878 , and 1 am very grateful to this famous ringer for his interest. The average per year is again greatest between the two wars, for 127 were rung then, compared with 140 in 36 years before 1914 and 30 since 1945. We find various records here. For inslance. the first peals of Cambridge Surprise, New Cambridge Surprise, Superlative Surprise and Yorkshire Surprise Maximus were rung at St. Mary-le-Tower, the first in 1908 and the last three between 1927 and 1929 .
The third tower is Debenham (8), which has recorded 289 peals in the period. More than half of these ( 148 ) came before 1914, then there were 92 from 1919 to 1939 and there have been 49 since 1944. Although 7 peals were rung there last year, there have been none this year so far as I write. The 16,608 of Oxford Treble Bob Major rung here in 1892 held the record for 35 years until it was beaten at Heptonstall in 1927.
Now we come to three more towers with more than 200 peals. They are Framsden with 250, Helmingham (227) and Henley (206). All are eight-bell towers. As will be expected, all have had very consistent ringing activities. At the former. 92 were rung from 1888 to 1916 .
111 from 1920 to 1938 (the best period), and there have been 47 since 1945 (again, none this year after 7 last). At Helmingham, we find 79 prior to 1914, 117 between the wars and 31 since 1944 (a very similar history to Framsden, and none, so far, this year). Henley's best period was before 1914, when 122 peals were rung in 17 years from 1899. There were 61 from 1918 to 1938 and 23 from 1947 to 1954. Strangely enough, only at Leiston of the above six towers has a peal been rung this year so far.

THE 100-200 GROUP

There is a big gap before we meet the first of the six towers with totals between 100 and 200 . It is Ipswich, St. Margaret's (8), where 156 peals have been rung. Its popularity has waned somewhat since the last war, for only 18 peals have been rung since 1944, whereas there were 65 from 1899 to 1914 and 73 from 1917 to 1939. Then follows Lavenham (8) with 144 (I) am not entering the controversy over the tenor of this ring, never having had the pleasure of hearing it:!). At this tower also we find fewer peals since 1945 , for only 13 of the total have come since then. Fifty-six were rung from 1881 to 1914 and 75 from 1917 to 1938. Next on the list comes a tower about which the county may well be proud-the only six-bell tower in the country to have had more than 100 peals-Thornham Magna with 136 . There would have Thornham Magna with 136. There would have been getting on for 200 peals here had its early rate been kept up, for 83 peals were rung from 1898 to 1914. It did very well between the wars, when 51 more were logged, but since then we only find 2 , in 1946 and '1948. All will hope for a revival of interest here, unless it is that the bells go badly now. Stowmarket (8) has 130 peals spread very evenly over the whole period, with a slightly better average now than formerly ( 36 since 1946). Framlingham (8) has 119. There is a big drop here in recent times-only 4 since the war from 1946 to 1949. Of the 78 rung between 1892 and 1914 , 32 were rung in the years 1910 to 1914. The last centenarian is the first of the ten-bell towers to be mentioned-Grundisburgh, with 111. It is now easily the most popular 10 -bell tower in the county, having had 40 peals since augmentation after the war. Only one or two towers have had more peals than this in this period. As an eight-bell tower, 12 peals were rung from 1891 to 1904, then there was a silence until 1920, after which 59 peals were rung before 1939.
As for the remaining ten-bell towers, none of them have reached the 50 mark yet. Stonham Aspal is the nearest with 43. These are evenly spread out from 1884. The first peal come across in that year suggested that only one previous peal had been rung in the tower-in 1768 . Bury St. Edmunds Cathedral has 40 , at fairly, regular intervals from 1887 . Similarly Beccles 32, commencing in 1897. Mildenhall has 16 7 since augmentation in 1947, and Stradbroke 14, 8 since augmentation three years ago. Four of the remaining six were rung between 1882 ond 1911, after which there was a gap until 1947. Thus three of the six 10 -bell towers have only been such since the last war.
A six-bell tower is nearest to becoming a centenarian-Wickham Skeith with 93. Like Thornham, it would have had a big total if the early efforts had been kept up, for 81 were rung from 1893 to 1914. There was a big drop then, and only 11 came from 1921 to 1939 , whilst a single peal this year has broken the silence since. The tower is stiH second to Thornham amongst six-bell towers in the whole country, its nearest rivals being Lamberhurst country, is nearest rivals being (92 peals) and Hanley Castle ( come to a batch of eight-bell towers. Kelsale has 92, 75 before 1914: Worlingworth 82 ( 32 before 1914. 48 from 1919 to 1930 and silence since 1936); Ufford 78 ( 30 since the war);

Lowestoft 73 ( 63 from the first peal in 1920 to 1939) Coddenham 71 (all spread out from 1881 to 1939, none since). Two six-bell towers follow-Wrentham 69 (46 from 1919 to 1936 and silence since), and Blaxhall 67 (45 from 1901 to 1914, but 8 since 1947).
The other towers with more than 50 are Fressingfield (8), 64 , which have come at regular intervals since 1881: Palgrave (8), 61 ( 39 from 1908 to 1914 and only 2 since the war); Hasketon (6) has had its 60 peals spread out evenly over the years from 1901 (none since 1953); Wissett (6) has 59,32 before 1914 and only 3 since 1938; Sproughton (6) has 55 peals with no real gaps since 1884. Woodbridge's (8) 53 commenced in 1884, but there was a gap from 1913 to 1935 with 11 since the war Finally Burgh (6) has 52 , 31 from 1944 to 1952 , but onty one since, so something has happened here.

VIRGIN TERRITORY

Every eight-bell tower has had one or more peals, with Boxford claiming the record for silence-its only peal was in 1896. Ten of the 100 or so six-bell towers still are virgin territory. They are Bildeston, Cockfield, Edwardstone. Gazeley, Hitcham, Kersey, Lawshall, Mendham, Nowton and Troston. Suffolk has more five-bell towers than any other county well over 90 . Most of these remain to be conquered, for only 40 have had peals.
To mention, finally, other six- and five-bell towers. Apart from the seven six-bell ones mentioned above we have Ashbocking with 42 peals since 1904; Wenhaston with 37 , starting 1895 and only two since the war; Finborough Magna 33; Rickinghall Superior 30; Barking and Saxmundham 26; Bedfield and Monewden 25; Otley and Pettistree 23; Chediston 22 and Bramford 20. Three five-bell towers have reached double figures, which is very good for this type. Both Bramfield and Rumburgh have 11 - in both cases 10 before 1914 and the last in the mid-1920's, whilst Little Glemham 10 had 7 before 1914 and the last in 1937. Huntingfield and Little Waldingfield have 9 -none since the war. Then come Great Livermere with 7 and Cretingham and Marlesford with 6. At Cretingham, all the peals were rung from 1883 to 1892 , but even this long silence can be beaten amongst the conquered towers by Gislingham (6), whose only peal was rung in 1889. So much for this very interesting county.
Peal totals include all published to October 14th.

WEDDING

Mr. M. C. Brown-Miss K. M. Proctor

The wedding took place at St. Peter's Church, Claybrooke, Leicstershire, on October 15th, of two well-known Hinckley District members. The bridegroom was Mr. Michael E. Brown only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown, of Harecroft Farm, Sapcote, and the bride was Miss Kathleen M. Proctor, youngest daughter of Mrs, Proctor and the late Mr. E. Proctor, of College Street, Ullesthorpe. The ceremony was fully choral, the officiating clergy being the Rev. A. H. Procter, V.C., Vicar of Claybrooke, and the Rev. C. G. Powell, Rector of Sapcote.
The beautiful bells of Claybrooke were ringing Grandsire Triples as the bride entered the church escorted by her brother, Mr. Ernest Proctor, who subsequently gave her away, and the surpliced choir led the bridal procession.
The bride was attired in taffeta overlaid with white embroidered nylon, and she carried a hymn book, the gift of the Vicar of Claybrooke, and a posy of lilies of the valley and carnations. Her short embroidered veil was held in place with a headdress of orange blossom. She was attended by her niece, Miss J. Proctor, who was in orchid nylon over lilac taffeta and matching headdress. Mr. L. Smith, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man.
As the bride left the church she was presented with many lucky tokens, including silver bells from the bellringers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THIRD PROGRAMME STUFF

Dear Sir, - Whilst reading the article on quarter peals on the front page of 'The Ringing World,' October 21st, I was reminded of a very amusing experience I had about four or five years ago.
In the second paragraph you mention the fact that often we get some comments from people who know little or nothing of ringing, which shows that they discern something different in the types of ringing they hear.
On this occasion the bells of Manchester Cathedral had been allowed to John Worth and his great band to attempt the first peal of Rochester Surprise Royal, and on the day I was given the job of looking after the band. It was a very warm day in August, and after the band had got on the way I went to try and get a drink at the Mitre Hotel close by. The landlord was in a chatty frame of mind and started off with 'What's coming off up there?' I explained that a peal was in progress. His reply was, 'I don't care much about it. It's not a bit like what you ring on Sunday. I was stumped by this because by this time the band had settled down and the ringing was good to listen to, so I explained that this was one of our most talented bands attempting something which had never been done before. I don't care if its Sir John Barbirolli with the Halle Band,' he said. 'Thee get up there and tell them to cut out the Third Programme stuff and get back to the Light.
However, after some further discussion I got him interested and found that what he liked was the Grandsire Caters which we usually rang for service. I asked him if he would like to see the bells whilst the ringing was going on, and he replied he would like nothing better, so I took him up the tower, and as we looked in I don't know who was most intoxicated by the sound and rhythm, he or I. On the way down I found the band had left the ringing chamber door open and it was here I nearly had trouble, because he badly wanted to get in to talk with the ringers. I just let him peep in and the sight which met his gaze was, as he put it, 'Gosh, amazing.
Ralph Edwards on the 9th and the late J. C. E. Simpson, who was conducting on the tenor, were as near undressed as it was possible to be. I pointed out John Worth and told my visitor what would happen if he interrupted. 'Aye,' he said, 'I reckon he could be a handful." "And yon little 'un could be a monkey, ['ve no doubt.' This was Ted Jenkins on the treble. How Ted laughed when I told him about it just recently!
I was glad when I got the landlord downstairs. A few months later he moved to the Midlands. and I often wonder if he ever paid Albert Walker a visit at St. Martin's. I am sure he would be a good listener.-Yours, etc.,
R. L.

ST. COLUMB DOUBLES' OR ST. COLUMBA ?

Dear Sir.-I have searched in vain through two very authoritative books on the saints to find mention of a Saint Columb.
Saint Columba of Iona. the missionary to Scotland (to whom the church at Collingtree, Northants. is dedicated), and Saint Columba, virgin and martyr, of Cornwall, are both quoted, but no such saint as 'Columb.'

In view of this, should not the Doubles method so known be correctly renamed St. Columba?

Any future peals I have anything to do with, either wholly or including this method, will be named Columba.-Yours sincerely,

Weston Favell, Northants.

P. AMOS.
P.S.-Neither book makes mention of a Saint Miles 'either. St. Michael, yes! P. A.

PEALS AT BRERETON

Dear Sir,-The peal at Brereton on October 22 nd is probably only the third on the bells, which were a ring of five in 1738. (Maybe the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead can let us know of any other peals.) The last one was in 1937 for the third centenary of the College Youths.
Three of the beils are dated 1634, one 1727 and the tenor 1738. In 1905 the bells were rehung in an oak frame, with a space for a 6th bell, and the 1727 bell was recast. The circle is left-handed and the bells are rung from the ground at the west end of the centre aisle. On Sundays the congregation pass through the circle.
An attempt to ring a peal here failed on Easter Sunday, 1954, but a quarter peal was successful in February last. It is perhaps interesting to some to note that this contained 16 different 240 's and 10 different extents.
To our friends in London, who took part in the unsuccessful attempt in 1954, we would say we enjoyed the hospitality of the Bear's Head afterwards.-Yours sincerely,
B. J. ONGLEY.

QUARTER PEALS

Dear Sir,-Of course we read the quarter peals. What interesting stories one can weave around the paragraphs, and how pleasant to read of the activities of ringers who visited us during the holiday months; also to learn what is happening at towers we visited during our holidays. So much more enjoyable reading than the occasional spate of letters you are obliged to publish, where someone is getting a sly dig' at someone else over some petty incident or diverse opinions.
Trusting you will be able to include All the quarter peals.-Yours faithfully,

ERNEST TREAGUS.

HEAVIEST TENUK IN WALES

Dear Sir,-I am sorry to disillusion Mr. P. J. Roberts, but Cardiff tenor weighs 26 cwt. 4 lb ., that is 3 qr .14 lb . lighter than Pentre tenor, which was correctly reported as being the 'heaviest tenor rung on the Monmouth and South Wales Tour.' The weight published in the 'Ringers' Guide' is the official weight supplied by the founders-Taylors

A DEVON GOLDEN WEDDING

On November 1st at Woodbury, Devon, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the bells at the Parish Church in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stokes
The band consisted of B. J. Glanvill (first quarter) 1, R. Perry 2, T. Gooding (first of Triples) 3, C. Deem (cond.) 4, L. K. Dawe 5, J. L. Glanvill 6, J. Briggs (first of Triples) 7 , . Gooding 8.
Members of the family were entertained to a luncheon party at a local hotel by their son and daughter-in-law (who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry).
For many years Mr. Stokes carried on the bell-hanging business of H. Stokes and Son started by his father, and was himself, until a few years ago, a member of the Woodbury band of ringers.
Mr. and Mrs. Stokes have both taken a keen interest in the religious and social life of the village. From the age of 11 and for a number of years Mr. Stokes was organist at Woodbury Church. At present he is one of the churchwardens, a position he has held for a considerable time.

OUTSIDE IMPRESSIONS

Clear early morning, the stillness of the countryside or suburban streets waking to send out stately trickles of dignity, or the old church tower sentimentally shrouded with ivy, these had always been the associations church bells brought to my mind.
Imagine then, campanologists, the shock and confusion when, invited to watch a bell-ringing practice, I set my foot inside the belfry.
No signs of antiquity, but big brass plates enumerating peals and changes, people and methods, no stillness and serenity, but brightly coloured sallies bouncing up and down from the ceiling and subterranean groans from the ringers.
'Like to see the bells?' said one. 'Yes, c-c-certainly,' I replied boldly.
Climbing round and round interminably and finally through a trap door, we reached the bellchamber. They began to ring rounds. Next to me was a large monster, which at regular intervals opened its gaping jaws at me and sent a deafening clang and sharp pain into my ear.
' Big, isn't it?' I said. My guide proceeded to tell me its exact weight, the date of its hanging and, bending into its very mouth, to point out its mechanics. 'Blimey,' I thought.
Returning to the less noisy if no saner atmosphere of the belfry, I sat down to clear my head and listen intelligently to the ringing, but my mind was distracted by the scene before me; arms of every description, brown, brawny, pink, flabby, white and frail, all pulling with equal certainty ; bobs, bellows of encouragement and chastisement, the latter directed against one who was apparently a novice. I immediately felt sorry for him, but I was told that a good ringer needs rigorous discipline.

I must make a mental effort-after all, this Is music.' Listening intently, I picked out snatches of old tunes, an inverted scale or two and one or two symphonic endings, but generally it was like looking for a broad melody in a Bartok concerto., 'Honegger or Hindemith at their most chaotic,' I thought. 'Yorkshire Surprise Major,' muttered my friend, ' one of the most musical methods there is.' I was humbled, my pride in my appreciation of music was pricked.

I sat down, gloomy, jumbled, unable to discern anything but the deadening regular blow of the tenor.

Mathematics, that's the answer! The Greeks recognised the connection between music and mathematics.' Whereupon I proceeded to try to analyse the ringing, observing each ringer in turn to see in what order they rang, studying graphs. No, if mathematics was the key it was all too advanced for me. These ringers understood it though; they were initiated into the mystery: I was not.

Bewildered and comprehending only enough to make the rest incomprehensible, I left the belfry determined not to try and understand any more, but to enjoy the beauties of church bells with all their former associations.

ROTHERHAM PARISH CHURCH BELLS

By NORMAN CHADDOCK

F
1 ROM whatever direction the visitor to Rotherham makes his approach, the most outstanding landmark (except perhaps the huge new twin cooling towers of the Prince of Wales Power Station) is the fine, perpendicular Parish Church of Al Saints, whose crocketed spire rises to some 170 feet above the centre of Rotherham. The church, built of red sandstone, now blackened by industrial smoke, stands on high ground in a commanding posttion in the centre of the town.

To reach the church from the railway station the visitor would probably cross the River Don by the new Chantry Bridge, beside which, preserved as it was in 1483, is the old bridge on which stands the Chapel of Our Lady, one of the four remaining examples in this country of chapels built on bridges. This chapel has suffered many vicissitudes since the Dissolution, when it was desecrated and since when it has been put to a variety of uses. For a time it was used as a jail and the bridge became known as Jail Bridge. Later it was used as a tobacconist's shop, but in 1924 it was restored and rededicated, and services are held there twice a week.

On reaching the church and perhaps first inspecting the beautiful interior, which, though in the centre of an industrial town, remains quiet and cool, the visiting ringer has some difficulty in finding access to the central tower. Entry is by a small door at the base of the outside of the north side of the church. Through this door is a passage under the floor of the church leading to a short iron ladder which gives access via a kind of chimney to a normal spiral staircase. Three years ago these steps were so deeply worn as to make ascent difficult, but since then they have been restored. Nevertheless, we are a little breathless on reaching the ringing chamber where we note the excellent condition of the bells, frame and fittings. Resuming our climb we are soon able to step out on top of the tower and scramble round the outside of the base of the handsome well-proportioned steeple.

On a fine Sunday morning, when the atmosphere over the broad Don valley is free from domestic and industrial smoke, an impressive view is obtained. To the north-west lies Kimberworth Church, with its chime of eight tubular - bells,' and Greasborough Church, in which recorded bell apparatus was recently installed. North-west stands Rawmarsh Church, with its light Taylor octave. About half a mile away, amidst rows of houses, rises the rather blunt spire of St. Stephen's Church, Eastwoud, built less than a century ago, recently threatened with closure, but now revitalised by the zeal of its new Vicar and his loyal helpers. As we look we can hear the sound of its eight bells, cast by Warners, ringing for $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. service.

About a mile to the south-west beyond the junction of the River Don and the River Rother can be seen the 14 chimneys of the United Steel Company's Templeborough Works which produce one-eighth of Britain's steel and which are to be greatly extended at a cost of over five million pounds. The works are sited inside the Rotherham Borough, near the site of the ancient Roman town of Morbium, from which many Roman remains have been preserved.

From our viewpoint, the whole town and valley is laid out below us. Since 937 A.D. there has been a church on this site and Saxon remains are to be found in the northwest pier. Later the Normans built a massive church of red rock, to which came the knights of the eight manors of the parish, their ladies, ervants and serfs and their wives, each dressed according to their degree.
The present church, little larger than the Norman one, was completed in the 15 th century. The tower was built in 1409 on the foundations of the old Norman piers, which determined its size.

PEAL BOARDS AND PERSONALITIES

Descending to the spacious and comfortable ringing chamber, we note the handy circle of ten ropes with space for two more should the vacant pits above be filled on some future occasion. The next thing that catches our eye is the handsome series of peal boards recording important peals since 1812, and another old peal board on which is recorded a half-peal rung in 1752. This consisted of 720 each College Trebles, Oxford Trebles and College Pleasure, and 360 Crown Bob, the latter being produced by ringing a lead of each of the first three methods, repeated to produce a 360 ; perhaps one of the earliest attempts at spliced ringing. About this time, Samuel Walker (father of the iron trade), who came to Rotherham in 1746, was busy making the first iron bridge and iron cannon. His firm made Southwark Bridge at a cost of $£ 800,000$, and also made the iron plates for one of the first iron ships-the Great Western.
A study of the peal boards introduces us to some of the ringing personalities connected with Rotherham Parish Church. For instance, there is Mr. James Taylor, whose peal ringing activities extended over more than 40 years from 1821 onwards. It appears that two men were required to ring the tenor to a peal at this time but Mr. Taylor rang it single-handed. He lived from 1798 to 1879 and was presented with a silver medal on completing 50 years as a ringer, and rang over 70 peals. In 1823 he rang the ninth to 7,199 Grandsire Caters, then a record length for the county of York. Other peals rung at Rotherham during his lifetime were 5,120 Union Treble Bob Major in 1812, and the first peal of Stedman Triples in Yorkshire, in January, 1844.
For centuries the ringers have been requisitioned to celebrate events of national and local importance. In 1704 the great bell was fractured and there are numerous charges in the churchwardens' accounts, in all $£ 50$ 12s. $11 \frac{1}{t} \mathrm{~d}$., for a new great bell, which seems to have been a bibulous affair-: Ale when we discoursed about hanging ye bell '; 'taking down ye bell '; 'when writings was sealed ', agreeing to carry ye bell '; 'at loading ye bell '; at hanging ye bell': "first time ye great bell was rung'; every meeting and movement seems to have required the assistance of what we will suppose to be "jolly old ale and good.'

GREAT BELL FRACTURED

At a meeting of the inhabitants of Rotherham on August 31st, 1820, it was unanimously resolved: (1) That from the fracture of the great bell, the worn out state of the others, and as the cost of putting up one bell was nearly as much as that for hanging a whole peal, and to ensure concord in sound, the purchase of an entire new peal of bells be recommended to the Parishioners.

- (2) That since the churchwardens have appropriated have appropriated ochial Funds to procure a new bell, the remainder of the ex $x_{-}$ pense be defrayed by public subscription among the Parishioners or by donations from gentlemen having pro-perty in the Parish.'

The injury to the tenor bell, referred to above, was that the clapper knocked out a piece of metal, and for the ringing of the bell the clapper had to be shortened. This bell was believed to have been cast by Hilton at Wath in 1752, and to have been a very bad bell.
In an address appealing for funds for new bells appears the following:-

Though the precise period when bells were first made use of for calling Christians to public worship be not ascertained-yet their Utility and Advantage is generally felt and acknowledged and there is a propriety if not a necessity to include their repair in the "Annual Estimate of the Churchwardens," and in contemplating them among the FAB. RIC of the Church." At periods of Rejoicing and in those of deep distress the Bells communicate the public feeling. When the Mighty fall and the Great are laid low, when the country mourns over a Departed Hero, dull is the note and solemn the sound. When the shouts of Victory, won by the sons of Freedom are wafted to our shores-the Merry Peal proclaims the Epochs of our Freedom, and the Glorious Events of our History are held in commemoration by the Musical Num. bers of our beHs.'
So favourable was this appeal that sufficient money was quickly forthcoming for a new ring of ten bells, and on February 19th, 1821, a farewell peal to the old bells was rung in 3 hours and 20 minutes. It consisted of 5,040 changes of Bob Major, conducted from the tenor by the noted James Taylor.
The new ring of ten bells was cast by Mr. Mears and was a maiden ring being cast in perfect tune, no tuning being required after casting. The gross cost of their installation was £1,241, and the net cost after deducting value of old bells at 12 pence per pound ( 96 cwt .) was $£ 701$. Their weights varied from 74 cwt. to the tenor in C sharp weighing 32 cwt .

THE OPENING RINGING

At a meeting of the Church Bell Committee on April 19th. 1821, the following resolutions were passed for regulating the proccedings on the opening of the new ring of ten bells. 'First, Rotherham ringers were to start ringing at 7 a.m. on the following Easter Monday and cease before Divine Service that day.

Twelve-bell ringers to have priority and to ballot for entrance to ring first.

Next, 10 -bell ringers to have the same conditions.
Next, 8 -bell ringers to have the same conditions.
No set of ringers 10 ring more than 5,040 changes on the first day.

Any set of ringers getting out before they have rung ten minutes to be allowed one more start. The bells not to be rung after 9 p.m.

The opening continued over Tuesday and during the two days the town was thronged with visitors from all parts, the 'Sheffield Iris, a weekly newspaper, commenting on the great number of visitors which the opening attracted

The first peal on the ten bells (Grandsire Caters) was rung on December 20th, 1821, in 3 hours and 20 minutes. James Taylor rang the ninth.

These bells served until 1924, when repairs to the bell frame and tower became necessary. The old ten bells were recast and rehung on ball bearings in a steel frame by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The cost was borne by the family of Robert Dyson, M.P., an eminent churchman. The old inscriptions were preserved with the following ad-dition:-

- This peal was recast in 1924 in memory of Robert Dyson.
The late Robert Dyson was associated with Messrs. Owen and Dyson's, of Rotherham, famous for the manufacture of wagon wheels for railways all over the world.

The new ring of ten bells, opened on March 18th, 1925, is a fine melodious ring, and ringing conditions in the belfry are ideal. The weights of the bells range from $6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. (treble) to $34 \frac{1}{1}$ cWt. in C sharp (tenor) and the total weight is 138 cwt. The first peal rung on these bells was 5.148 Grandsire Caters on December 29 th, 1925, and since then many peals have been rung on them.

The bells are well appreciated by the townspeople and figure prominently in the civic life of the town. the most recent occasion being the visit of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. to the lown last year.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS South-West Branch

Forty representatives supported a quarterly meeting of the South-West Branch held at Emmanuel, Plymouth, on October 22nd. The Vicar (the Rev. J. D. Wakeling, M.C., M.A.), himself a ringer, came into the belfry and at 4.15 p.m. dedicated a peal board commemorating a peal of Grandsire Triples rung to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the bells. The Guild form of service followed in church conducted by the Vicar, the lesson being read by Preb. E. V. Cox, president of the Guild Mr. F. W. Gilbert was the organist.

Following a sumptuous tea, served in the Church Hall by the wives of the local ringers, the business meeting was held. Mr. H. H. Thomas presided supported by the Vicar, Messrs. G. H. Myers and F. C. Smale, vicepresidents of the Guild, and members from Kelly, Plympton St. Maurice, Plymouth St. Andrew's and Emmanuel, and friends from the Mid-Devon Branch as well as one of two unattached members.

It was resolved to seek permission to hold the annual branch meeting at Reveistoke on January 2lst. Two new members were elected from Plympton St. Maurice-lan Peacock and Maurice Roberts.

The president, the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox, took his departure immediately after tea, but before leaving presented Miss Elisabeth Lyndon, of the Emmanuel band, with a consolation gift in lieu of a Guild certificate he had been entrusted to bring to present at the meeting. He promised to post it on to the branch secretary as soon as possible.

Ringing on Emmanuel bells during the afternoon and evening was of a high standard and ranged from rounds to Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob. T. G. M.

DEDICATION

PRESTON CANDOVER

It was a very happy congregation that assembled at the church of Preston Candover, Hants, on Octaber 22nd for the dedication of the six bells of this tower. In the words of the Rector (the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth), the prophecy has been fulfilled; "by the ingenuity and craftsmanship of Messrs. John Taylor and Co. we have now not only one of the swectesttoned, but also the lightest ring in Hampshire (tenor 3 cwt 3 qr .27 lb. ).

The original bells consisted of two cast in 1863 and three in 1885 (when the present church was built), and these were augmented two years ago when the Rector and churchwardens of Overton and Laverstoke presented a 1624 tenor bell from the Chapel of Ease in Laverstoke Park, which was then being closed. The bells have been recast and rehung in an iron frame and on ball-bearings.

The dedication was carried out by the Bishop of Winchester (Dr. A. T. P. Williams), who is president of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. He was assisted in the service Diocesan Guild. He was assisted in the service by the Dean of Winchester (Dr. E. G. Selwyn), the Rural Dean of Alresford (the Rev. E. W. Selwyn), the Rector (the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth) and the Rev. K. C. Davis (Greywell) both the last two are enthusiastic ringers.

Dr. Williams, in his sermon, said they had many causes for rejoicing on this occasion. Onc was the generosity of those who had made the work of restoring the bells possible. Another was the skill and wisdom, based on long and deep experience and loving care, of those who had actually done the work. Another was their thankfulness that once again the bells would ring out as in the past.

- It is one, and only one, of the reasons for the power of the sound of the bells over our hearts,' he said, "that it links us with the generations past, and it recalls the long continuity of the Church of God in our country., Referring to the fact that the sound of the bells at times reminded them of joy, at other times of the seriousness of life, Dr. Williams said: 'All down the centuries, as long as there have been church bells, we can be sure that these same emotions and thoughts have dwelt in the hearts of thase who have lived in our cities and villages.
After the service the local ringers-Messrs. E. Long (captain), G. Thorne (vice-captain), A. Padwick, J. Nipress and T. Budden-with Mr. Arthur Fidler rang the opening rounds, and this was followed by a touch of Grandsire, when the ropes were handed over to Mr. Dick' Smith, Master of the Winchester District.

During the day the fund for the recasting and rehanging the bells bencfited by some $£ 8510$ s. - $£ 44$ from the collection, $£ 3610$ s. from donations and $£ 5$ from the tea. This brought the total of the fund to just over $£ 600$, and about a further $£ 300$ is required.

AN ARUNDEL CENTENARY

When, 100 years ago, the bells of Arundel Parish Church were dedicated, the donor, the Duke of Norfolk, paid to bring a band of the Ancient Society of College Youths down to ring the first peal on the bells-Grandsire Triples, conducted by George Stockham. To commemorate the centenary seven College Youths from Sussex and one from Surrey rang a peal in the same method on October 25th. It was, writes a local correspondent, a splendid exhibition of ringing, the striking being perfect.

On the Sunday following, the Bishop of Chichester preached at a special service attended by the Mayor and Corporation. The large congregation included about 50 ringers. During the service Itchingfield ringers rang on handtells 'Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring' and 'Crimond.' The excellent arrangements made by the Arundei ringers were much appreciated

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN
The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Yatton on October 15th and was attended by over 40 ringers representing at least 19 different towers.
The Association service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. A. Beechey, and after an excellent tea (the famous Yatton jam buns being well to the fore) he took the chair at the business meeting. Two new members were elected from Yatton and 14 from Butcombe and Nempnett Thrubwell (which two towers have now become affiliated). It was decided that subject to permission being given, the November practice mesting should be held at Nempnett Thrubwell, and the annual at Wrington on the first Saturday in December. There being no other business, Mr. G. Yeo proposed votes of thanks to the Vicar, the organist and his assistant, the ladies who provided the tea and the people who had made all the local arrangements.
Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Major and was under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Knight.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The venue of the autumn meeting of the South Norfolk Branch was at Garboldisham on October 22 nd, when ringers attended from many towers in Norfolk and Suffolk. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Lacey Webb, and the lesson read by Dr. Paul Jonason.

After tea at the Fox Hotel the meeting took place with Dr. Paul Jonason presiding, supported by the president (the Rev. H. G. Li]lingston), the Rev. Lacey Webb, Mr. A. G. Harrison (branch secretary), Miss Betty Syrett, Messrs. H. Moss and F. Phillippo (members of the committee).

New members elected were the Rev. Lacey Webb, honorary member, Miss Jill Creasey (East Harling) and Mr. A. Pledger (Shipden), ringing members. A long discussion took place on the posibility of hanging the bells 'dead' in some towers in the Branch during restorations, and it was decided to get in touch with the incumbents at once through the committee.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. Lacey Webb, also to Mr. Eric Bennett for arranging for the meeting. The bells of BloNorton Parish Church were also rung during the evening.

RINGING AT CREWE FOR THE ROYAL VISIT

Christ Church ringers also rang the bells to welcome the Queen and Duke on the occasion of their visit to Crewe despite the omission by the B.B.C. announcer in the 1 o'clock and 6 o clock news on November 2nd. (The announcers said the Queen was received at Nantwich by ringing the bells of the ancient Parish Church, 600 years old.)

The Crewe ringers rang before the arrival of the Royal Party, and again after the welcome and presentation-as they were leaving the town. They were augmented by two visiting ringers. whose assistance was much appreciated-Mr. Bernard J. Ongley (Goostrey), employed by Rolls Royce Factory, and Mr. Peter Beverley (Dunham Massey), a student at the Cheshire Agricultural College, Reaseheath. The Crewe ringers were Messrs. W. T. Holding, C. Thomas, S. Leyland, H. G. Edge, J. E. Holloway, W Frank Stenson and G. A. Packer and R. D. Langford (conductors).

Appropriately enough, 'Queen's' was intros duced into the ringing, which included some good Grandsire Triples. W. F.S.

OBITUARY

MR. CLEMENT GLENN
The sudden death of Mr. Clement Glenn on October 23 rd last, at the age of 72 , has removed a sound and brilliant ringer from our midst. Born at Rotherham, he joined the Royal Navy in 1914 and served throughout the Great War, and as a Naval Reservist was recalled to the colours in 1939 and discharged again in 1947 with the rank of First Lieutenant. Between the two wars he lived in France, yet despite this long break from ringing he had rung the formidable total of 63.1 peals, of which he had conducted 501.
An immaculate striker, with a very critical ear, Clem had a preference for odd-bell methods, Stedman being his great love. He rang no fewer than 156 peals of Siedman, conducting 128. He was equally at home with a pair of handbells and rang 236 pcals on handbells, conducting 211. He had few equals at Stedman and Grandsire and probably no superior. His stock peal of Grandsire Triples was Holt's Original, which he often called.

His interest was not confined to the practical side of ringing. A Central Council representative for the Southwell Guild, and peal secretary, a former Nottingham District secretary and one time general secretary of the Xorkshire Association illustrates his versatility. He was a College Youth for upwards of 40 years.

A man of character and strength and of in. finite charm, he was strong willed and in the knowledge of his strength and ability often tended to ride roughshod over lesser mortals in order to attain his objective. It is such men as he who are born to lead. He would not stand idly by and watch a ringer mishandling his bell or making a fool of himself. He would tell the offender quietly of his error and demonstrate the correct method.

Rules were made to be obeyed, no matter who was the transgressor. Consequently, Clem did not enjoy widespread popularity. Nevertheless, none doubted his massive integrity, his earnest endeavour to raise the standard of ringing, his meticulous accuracy and organising ability.

His wish to be buried at Horbling, remote in the Lincolnshire Fens, prevented his many friends and colleagues in the Southwell Guild from attending his funeral.

It is fitting that this brief and inadequate appreciation should end with one of Clement Glenn's favourite texts, so illustrative of his character: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.'-Ecclesiastes ix., 10. .

An Appreciation

By the sudden death of Clement Glenn there passes from our midst a brilliant exponent, and one of the celebrities of the Exercise. He was undoubtedly a ringer par excellence and a conductor of the highest integrity. Although known to me in name only since a youngster, may I, as a humble servant of the ringing fraternity, say with deep regret, "Farewell, Clem.

JOHN G. NASH.
Wood Green, N. 22.

MR. R. C. SHARPE

With deep regret we record the recent death, at the age of 74, of Mr. Reginald Charles Sharpe, for many years captain of St. Mary's ringers. Newmarket. In recent years he had been in ill-health and unable to ring.

In his younger days be was a keen and active ringer and visited many towers around Newmarket. For a time be acted as secretary for the Mildenhall District of the Suffolk Guild. He was regular in his attendance for Sunday service ringing and was an excellent striker. Opportunities for peal ringing were few, but as far as can be ascertained he had taken part in eight tower bell peals (Doubles 2, Minor 5 , Bob Major 1) and five handbell peals (Boh (Major 2, Bob Royal 3).

The funeral service took place at St. Mary's Church, Newmarket, on October 12th. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells in church at the conclusion of the service by some of his old ringing associates: $R$. Heath $1-2$, A. E. Austin 3-4, A. E. Moore 5-6 A. W. Rolfe 7-8. In the evening St. Mary's bells were rung half-muffled and concluded with a 720 of Bob Minor by S. Howlett 1, R. Heath 2, S. Ward 3, A. E. Austin (conductor) 4, T. Varney 5, S. Brown 6.

MR. F. S. WILSON An Appreciation

With regard to the peals rung by Mr. F. S. Wilson, probably the one which gave him most pleasure was the peal by bank officers rung at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, on March Ind, 1935, which was rung as a compliment for his 60th birthday. The peal was Plain Bob Major, and was conducted by Alan Pink, who was then attached to the Westminster Bank, Eton.

We shall always remember the witty remark made by the Editor of 'The Ringing World' concerning this peal, but space will not permit a reprint in this issue. Of the ringers who took part in this peal only three now remain on active service' with the bank.
Mr. Wilson retired in 1936, and had been for ten years manager of Lloyds Bank, Wincanton. Beside bell-ringing Mr. Wilson was keenly interested in bowls and chess. He had also been a prominent Freemason and obtained the high rank of Provincial Grand Warden.

He died shortly after his 80th birthday.
Thame.
H. BADGER.

IT is interesting to reflect how the surname, which appears in its origins to have been an adjunct of the Christian name, has, in the increasing complexity of our social structure, come to be used to indicate a man's standing in the world of achievement. And it is to be noted how the thing comes round in full circle. The office boy is called by his surname until such time as sufficient boys beneath him justify the Mr. attached to his name. When, if ever, he attains to heights of fame it is most probable that the world will know him by his surname only. Constable needs no John, Beethoven needs no Ludvic, Shakespeare needs no William; and yet doubtless it was as John, Ludvic and William that their fingers were rapped for their childish waywardness. The matter is seen in an even more curious light when we contemplate the use of the Christian name for a surname, as with Mendelssohn, and the application to a man of a name he never possessed, as with Palestrina or Wellington. Here. surely, is the hallmark of classic security.

The ringing exercise has its own roll of fame, and has, therefore, its surname notabilities. Stedman, Annable, Shipway, Thurstans-these names spring to mind with classic ease, and to them, and many more, must be added that of Snowdon.
Snowdon's claims to fame are based on three outstanding achievements: his work as founder of the Yorkshire Association, his historical researches, and his work as a teacher. We may read how, in his early years, the bells gradually insinuated themselves into his fibre, bringing some mysterious call that he found he could not ignore, although his mind was set on other things. From the beginnings at Ilkley and the gatherings of the little band of enthusiasts at Birstall, there came the inception of this band of ringing brethren which has grown into the mighty organisation we now know as the Yorkshire Association.

All progress in civilisation is based on, and indeed dependent on, the storing of records and the tabulation of knowledge. Snowdon was quick to see that the life and progress of the ringing exercise, too, rested upon a knowledge of past history and a careful recording of present activity. From a firm conviction of the value of these things came his careful and painstaking searchings and weighing of evidence, and the outcome was a series of remarkable historical essays that still stand unrivalled, and unchallenged in any significant particular.
As a teacher Snowdon approached very closely to his pupils and their problems. Never at any time did he pretend that the road to change ringing was an easy one. Hi; introduction to the art was planned as a simple examination of principles and an application of those principles in a series of graded exercises. In this respect "Ropesight" has much in common with Stedman's "Campanalogia," for both books are eminently practical, both demand study and mental effort, and both base their teaching on the fundamentals of change ringing. In both books, too, the use of mental imagery is a remarkable feature. Snowdon exhorts the beginner to stand in the corner of a room and to imagine that the other three corners are the bell ropes he has to find for his hunting up or down. Stedman, in a remarkable passage, likens the mental impact of bell sounds to the striking of bullets in a row on a wall. In both these instances we see something of the genius of the born teacher, that power the gifted tutor has of creating in the mind of the pupil a mental image of either a concrete or abstract conception.

The more one examines the threefold activities of Snowdon the more firmly one finds him secure in the gallery of the immortals. He is the abiding contradiction of those who would despise the days gone by; as a teacher he remains unsurpassed; and he heads a long line of illustrious Yorkshiremen, who, inspired by his work and memory, have been sturdy warriors for their rights, jealous of the accuracy of their records, and highly distinguished in both the science and art of ringing.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Rochester District Meet at the Cathedral

Approximately 65 members and friends attended the annual District meeting held at Rochester Cathedral on October 22nd. Friends from the Lewisham and Maidstone Districts were made very welcome.
The service in the choir of the Cathedral was attended by the ringers and the choir sang the 'Bell Anthem,' 'Rejoice in the Lord Alway" (Purcell). After the service tea was taken in Ye Olde City Restaurant, and among the guest 5 were the Dean of Rochester, the sacrist and also the assistant organist, Mr. J. A. Levetl.
The Dean (the Very Rev. T. Crick) took the chair at the business meeting and gave the company a bearty welcome to Rochester. Apologies for absence were received from the Ringing Master (Mr. S. Rayfield), Mr. F. M. Mitchell and Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher. Mr. T: Beaumont moved the adoption of the secretary's report. This was seconded by Mrs. Minchell and carried.
Ten new members were elected, all from Bobbing, and were proposed by Mr. B. W. May, seconded by Mr. G. Kenward. The District secretary and two representatives were re-elected, the only alteration being the District Ringing Master, who is now Mr. W. A. J. Knight.
Votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. S. Rayfield by Mr. F. Cheal for his work donc during the year, and also by Mr. T. Beaumont to the Dean for allowing the use of the bells and for presiding at the meeting; also to the sacrist and organist for their part at the service. The Dean brielly replied.
The Cathedral bells and also those at Frindsbury were again available after the meeting.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

First Meeting Since New Ring
The recently dedicated ring of six bells at St. Matthew's Church, Allerton, Leeds, to which reference has recently been made in these columns, was chosen for the October meeting of the Leeds and District Society, held, as usual, on the last Saturday of the month.
Many members and friends, including a number of visitors from Derbyshire and Lancashire, took this early opportunity of trying out this new and only ring of six within the city boundary. A ring well hung, pleasing to the ear and in a tower worthy of bells, seemed to be the considered opinion of all present.
Fourteen local towers were represented and throughout the afternoon and early evening the large ringing chamber was constantly full. Ringing took place in a variety of methods including Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent, Cambridge, Primrose and Londan, Single and Double Oxford, Double Court and Oswald, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, together with rounds and plain hunting practice for the newly-formed local band.
Tea was provided in the Church Hall nearby, at which the Vicar, who had already paid a visit to the tower during the afternoon, welcomed the company once again and said he looked forwand to future meetings of the Society being held at Chapel Allerton.
At the short business meeting 13 new members ( 10 from the local company) were elected. The vote of thanks on this occasion was proposed by Mr. I. Slack, who expressed the hope that this newly formed band would be helped and encouraged by the more experienced members present.
Ringing continued until shortly after 8.30 p.m. The next meeting will be held at Ossett on November 26th.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

N.W. Branch at Petrockstowe

On November 5th members and friends of the N.W. Branch met at Petrockstowe for their annual meeting. The president of the Guild, the Rev. Prebendary E. V. Cox, made the long journey from Axminster to be present.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W, H. Smale), assisted by the Rev. W. E. Whight, who preached. Tea was provided by lady friends of the church headed by Miss E. M. Risdon.
The president presided at the business meeting, when Mr. J. W. Sangwin, secretary, presented his report for the year. He referred to the excellent meeting at Holsworthy in August and stated that the balance in hand for 1954 was $£ 7$. In the election of officers, Mr. F. C. Smale became the new Branch chairman; Mr. J. W. Sangwin secretary; Mr. C. Sangwin Ringing Master. Messrs. R. Collacott, R. G. Pierce and W. H. R. Smale, representatives to the Guild Committee, were re-elected. One new member, Mr. E. Ford, was elected. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Bridgerule and the August meeting at Holsworthy
The president proposed an omnibus vote of thanks to the ladies who provided such an excellent tea, the Rector for the use of the bells and the service, the Rev. W. E. Wright for his thoughtful address, and the local band who had contributed to a happy meeting.
Rounds and well-struck touches in all the standard methods were brought round during the afternoon and evening.

This is a week of ringing history. Mr. A. J. Pitman's peal in seven Spliced Surprise Major BELFRY methods has been rung by the Chester Diocesan Guild band, conducted by Mr. C. K. Lewis, and the new record peal of 109 methods 'in hand, has been conducted by Mr. W. Eric Critchley, at Doncaster. Congratulations to both bands.

The recent peals at Brampford Speke and Brereton were, in both cases, the first in the towers for 18 years, writes the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead.

It was Preb. E. V. Cox who officiated 'at the dedication at Revelstoke, and not Canon C. C. Cox, as reported on page 705. The error is regretted.
Another milestone in peal ringing has been reached by Mrs. Poole, taking part in a peal of London Surprise Major in Leicester on November 2nd. She received the heartiest congratulations of the band on achieving her 550 th peal.
The ringer of the tenor in the recent quarter peal at East Grinstead was Police Constable David Evans Wood, who was shot in the leg by a gunman in Mayfair on October 11th. It was his first quarter peal.
Visiting St. Mary's Church, Bilton, the churen at which Canon H. T. Ellacombe spent 60 years as Vicar, the Bristol University Society discovered the answer to the age-old question, 'Where do flies go in the winter?' The ringing chamber was almost black with flies-dead flies-when the Society left.
The bells of St. Mary's, Portsea, will be featured in 'The Faith in the West' programme from the West Regional transmitter OI Friday, November 25 th, at 7.45 p.m. The ringing will include recordings of London Surpnse Major, Double Norwich, Stedman Triples and 'lowering in peal.'

Two members of the Community rang their first quarter peal on the middle octave of the bells of Buckfast Abbey on November 5th. Great credit is due to them for the way in which they rang as they only commenced to learn change ringing earlier this year, and their opportunities for practice are limited. The remainder of the band are indebted to the Abbey authorities for their very kind hospitality after the quarter peal. Mr. J. E. Lilley, who has been in charge of the instruction arrangements, was recently presented with a book ('The Church Bells of Britain') by the Lord Abbot of Buckfast.
The president of the North Staffordshire Association (the Ven. Percy Harthill) is, we regret to learn, seriously ill in the North Staffordshire Royal Infirmary.

Kettering Grammar School Society of Church Bell Ringers has a membership of 30 . The Society rang its first quarter at Dingley, Northants, on October 28 th.
After a ringing career of over 40 years, during which he has rung many peals, Mr. H. S. Humphrey, of New Romney, has rung his first quarter of Doubles.
The many friends of Horace V. Robinson, a vice-president of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, Ringing Master of the Wotton-underEdge Branch and tower captain of Wickwar, will be sorry to hear that he is in Glouceste? Royal Infirmary, and is very far from well.

With the election of three learners, St. Mary's, Walton-on-Thames, have now a band of 14 ringers. Officers elected at the annual mecting on November 4th were: Mr. P. Alderton (captain). Mr. G. Bennett (secretary) and Mr. R. Lathbury (steeplekeeper). The new Vicat (the Rev. D. Grieg) attended the mecting, and Mr. F. E. Collins, of Croydon, was also present.

KENT COUNTY'S 75th ANNIVERSARY DINNER

TUHIS is the 75th Anniversary Year of the Kent County Association, and its celebration will probably seem more conspicuous in retrospect than it so far has appeared. The Golden Jubilee was marked in fine style in faroff pre-war days, but the Diamond Jubilee slipped by unobserved during the sccond war, and after that it tends to be problematical when next to have a special birthday. The Easter Monday affair at Maidstone was an attempt at celebration, with recapitulation of the events of the first general meeting in 1880-a service at All Saints' Church, then a repast at the Star Hotel-but when it was suggested at the A.G.M. that a dinner should be organised in the autumn, everyone was strongly in favour except perhaps the General Secreary whose business it was to set all the wheels in motion and keep them going. Arrangements were on a district basis to ensure the fullest county representation, and by overwhelming committee majority it was decided to return to Maidstone on Saturday, October 15 th, the venue once more the Queen's Hall of the Royal Star

It was a company of over 150 that gathered for the occasion under the able and dignified chairmanship of Mr. John Willis. The long, high table of 25 , and the nine sprigs, presented a wonderful sight as we entered, and at each place was an attractive menu card. a product of the printing craft of Mr. Alec Waddington, of Egerton. The meal itself was all that could be expected or desired, and long before the coffee stage there was an atmosphere of real enjoyment. The Chairman himself was infected all right as he took wine with the Founder of the Dinner (alias the General Secretary) and his lady.

ARCHBISHOP'S GREETINGS

Glasses having been raised in loyalty and affection to Her Majesty the Queen, the Chairman spoke of those who could not be present. Foremost among the names were those of the President. the Archbishop of Canterbury, and Mrs. Fisher, tut the letter from the Archbishop's Secretary ended in a note of great expectancy: ‘.. if you arrange an event like this next year he would hope to be able to join you in his capacity as President.' A letter was also read from Mr. F. M. Mitchell, the general treasurer, still convalescent after a severe illness, which said: 'As I have been an officer for more than half the life of the Association -40 years-you will understand how much I should have liked to be present.' Health reasons also prevented Mr. G. H. Spice. our late secretary, from taking part, and his brother, Mr. P. J. Spice, too, was at the very last minute 'a very disappointed absentec.' Apologies were also received from the Lord Bishop of Rochester and Mrs. Chevasse, Lord Cornwallis, Lord Lieutenant of Kent, and Lady Cornwallis, Sir Stephen Tallents, the Dean of Rochester and Mrs. Crick, the Masters of the College Youths and Royal Cumberlands, Messrs. R. A. Constant, E. Barnett, F. J. Cullum and J. Dafters.

Details were given of a draw in aid of the Association's Benevolent Fund, with some wonderful prizes given by various members, including an autographed copy of Mr. Ernest Morris' latest book 'Towers and Bells of Britain.' and a year's postal subscription to - The Ringing World.' with a certificate to the hundreds of years this extraordinary but lovely art had been practised.

EIGHTY-EIGHT-YEAR-OLD MR. E. RUCK, the only surviving founder-member of the Kent County Association, with (standing) Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. John Willis and Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher.
[Picture by kind permission of 'The Kent Messenger.
He was very happy to see so many young people coming into the profession-many of whom he could see as he gazed around the ring. He hoped that they would still continue $t 0$ come in, and that more and more young pcople would be captured by the art of bell ringing so that it would be assured in the English way of life and the English way of worship.

The new towns in urban areas which were springing up were all very fine, but no new bell towers were being built on the churches, as it was impossible to spend the money at the present time. It was up to the members and to the clergy, too, to see that bell towers were not neglected, and that at some future time when resources were adequate it would be possible to build new towers and provide bells. People who lived in the new houses and their children should not be ignorant of the great English tradition of bell ringing
The experiment was being tricd of mixing speeches and entertainment. and at this point Mr. Geoffrey Waters recited two poems of Albert Lanceficld, of Willesborough, well known to many for his book of poems about his journeyings to and from New Zealand. The first was called 'The Call of the Bells;: the second, also in serious vein. was called ' Adsum.' and was beautifully interpreted.
We could have wished for no one better to propose the toast of "The Kent County Association ' than Mr. Edwin H. Lewis who had motored all the way from Scotland. He told how he came to live in Kent, in the old Vicarage at Brasted, and then spoke of the great traditions and history of the Association, contrasting the small beginnings with its present strength, and noting how assiduously the Association had fulfilled its aims. There was one thing he did regret, and this was the decline in the number of honorary members. It was not their subscriptions that were so important. but their interest.

Tennick, Vicar of East Farleigh, and Rev. F. W. Philips, Rector of Harrietsham, and Mrs. Philips. He went on to remark how sometimes members of the clergy felt it expedient to remind ringers of their responsibilities as members of the congregation; he in his turn would gently emphasise the importance in their Visitations of Archdeacons satisfying themselves that the tower and belfry were in good order.

NEW TOWNS WITHOUT BELLS

The Archdeacon, in reply, said that the first time he came in touch with change ringing was as a small boy at Epping. Just as the red ball of the sun was slowly sinking in a purple mist he heard the church belis ringing. It was one of the most beautiful memories he had as a small boy. After a period in London his next contact with bell ringing was very much closer : his next-door neighbour was old Ted Bamett, who further instructed him concerning the art; he never learned anything but his admiration was very much deepened and he developed a love of just hearing church bells ringing.

The art of change ringing was quite probably unique to England for that was the only blace where they would meet it and where for

THE SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE

In his response Dr. E. S. John Hatcher, the general secretary, began by acknowledging the debt to all those in the past who had done so much to build up the Association to its present reputation in the Exercise. He told how the previous Sunday he had visited Mr. G. H. Spice in hospital at Chatham, and afterwards Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell at their home in Gravesend in order that they should know at first hand all about the anniversary occasion. He fully appreciated the great honour of following in such distinguished footsteps as Canon Helmore, Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Spice, and said that the Association should go forward in a spirit of adventure, in particular in realising the problems of younger ringers.

Dr. Hatcher referred to the importance of loyalty which was epitomised in the records of those who had been members continuously for over 50 years. The company then drank to the health of the 'old-stagers.' over 30 of them, especially those actually present, headed by Mr. E. S. Ruck ("Old Ted') the only remaining Foundation Member, and including also Mr. S. Walter, of Wickhambreaux. Mr. W. C. Gosling, of Boxley, Mr. Louis Head, of Maidstone, Mr.

F. S. Macey, of Sutton Valence, and Mr. George Wood, of Queenborough. Together with the chairman, Mr. Lewis and the secretary, they were escorted to the dais, their glasses filled, 'For they are jolly good fellows' sung, three rousing cheers given, and to 'cap' this ceremony Mr. Ruck and Mr. Wood (' Old Ted and 'Old George ') responded, to the delight of all.

The next item was likewise greatly appre-ciated-superb tune-ringing on handbells, four in hand, by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Luck and Mr. and Mrs. Dick French, of Canterbury, their repertoire including "The Bells of St. Mary's,' Vicar of Bray,' 'Drink to me only " and Bless this House
The lights dimmed, and the sound of bells could be heard. A bicycle appeared; it was Ron coming to wait for Eth, still at ringing practice. We eavesdropped on their meeting, and the difficulties of making Ron understand ringing parlance can be imagined. Ron was played by Miss Mary Tapley, and Eth by Mr. Geoffrey Waters, and suitable apologies were made to Frank Muir and Dennis Norden. For this dramatic episode a touch of Stedman Triples had been tape-recorded in the afternoon at West Malling, Mr. Lewis conducting. This was one of four towers open for ringing, the others being Aylesford, Bearsted, Boxley and All Saints, Maidstone. The tape-recorder was operated by Mr. R. L. Sills, of Wrotham, who then played a recording of Wrotham bells (one sent to the United States), as well as playing back a little of the tune-ringing on handbells, to the excitement of the band, who had never heard themselves before.

BIRTHDAY WISHES

The final toast, 'The Exercise and Kindred Societies," was proposed by Mr. Arthur S. Richards, of West Wickham, who referred to the great number of ringing guilds and associations. and of the importance of the Central Council. In coupling with the toast the names of Mr. E. A. Barnett, secretary of the Central Council, and Miss Mary Tapley, of the Ladies' Guild, he wished the former 'Many happy returns of his birthday,' and promised the latter a very warm welcome should she ever find herself in the Lewisham District.

Responding, Mr. Barnett said that Mr Richards had forgotten to mention that he, too. was celebrating his birthday, and reciprocated birthday wishes, and went on to say how glad he was to renew his acquaintance with the Archdeacon, whom he had known as a curate. Miss Tapley spoke in charming vein, and referred to the exchange of greetings between Kent and the four other Guilds dining that evening. the Coventry Diocesan, the Essex, the Guildford Diocesan and the Yorkshire. She also spoke of the Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society and welcomed its president, Mr. G. I. F. Thomson.
To conclude this wonderful evening, the draw was made for the prizes by 12 -year-old Miss Jean Barnett, who was enjoying her first public dinner. There is no time or space to dwell on the appropriateness of some of the winners, except to say that the copies of Beginners Grandsire ' found their way into interesting hands.

It was all over, this anniversary celebration. Looking back I think we almost surprised ourselves. Certainly important words had been said, none more than those of the Archdeacon of Tonbridge about the new churches in the new housing areas. It was the first evening dinner by the County Association as a whole, and here a word of appreciation should be expressed to the Maidstone District, who in the last two years has had its own Dinner and Dance at this time, and who so willingly surrendered its own function for the greater occasion. And will there be another K.C.A. dinner? It looks as if the Archbishop thinks there should be. We shall see. E. S. J. H

NEW HANDBELL RECORD

With the handbell peal in 109 methods of Spliced Minor, rung at Doncaster on November 3rd, a new record has been established which, as a feat, is probably the outstanding performance ever recorded by the Exercise. This supplants the record of Mr. George Feirn and his band of 106 methods to a peal ' in hand 'rung on August 8th.
The band consisted of Howard Scott 1-2, Wilfrid F. Moreton (conductor) 3-4, W. Eric Critchley 5-6. To accomplish this remarkable achievement the band had many more practices than the 33 of the Lincolnshire band. It is almost three years since they rang their first peal together (Bob Minor) and at that time they had no intention of making records.
The peal included a new extent by Mr. C. K . Lewis in 16 Alliance and three Little methods, which is rung for the first time.
The details are appended:-

Adwick, Normanton and Scawthorpe Alliance are Allestey, Calverleigh and Wrentham Alliance respectively, but with 6ths instead of 2 nds at the treble's lead

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

After the peal at Hellingly, reported in this issue, the band were hospitably entertained to tea by Mrs. G. Beeney.
The many friends of Mr. Frank E. Pervin, of Coventry, will be sorry to hear that he is in Gulson Hospital (Cleaver Ward), Coventry, and at the moment is making very slow progress towards recovery. He would be pleased to hear from friends.
On completion of the quarter peal at Ruishton, in Somerset, it was found to be the 21st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stevens. Congratulations to their two daugiters, Pamela and Jean, on successfully taking part in this quarter of Cambridge Surprise Minor at their first attempt.
Mr. Vernon Green won the admiration of the band who rang the first peal on Horspath, Oxon, bells on October 29th, for his handling of the third bell. During the tenth 120 of the first attempt the bell had to be put back into its bearings. The second attempt was, however, successful.
The six bells at Cranford, Northants, bave for some time been rung regularly for Sunday services after years of chiming. This is largely due to Mr. Charles Newell, the local captain. who taught the band. Three of his pupils had the pleasure of ringing a peal on their own bells on October 22nd. Their ages are 13, 16 and 17 respectively.

The peal rung at Rugeley, Staffs, on October 15th, was rung by an all-R.A.F. band; a quarter peal was also rung at this tower in 11 Doubles methods. All the ringers except one had just started their service career at Hednesford Camp. and they would like to thank Mr. J. Joyner, captain of Rugeley tower, for putting the bells at their disposal so kindly; his welcome was an enormous asset.
When the London Society of Organists visited Twickenham recently, the afternoon was devoted to a recital by the English Church Music Singers, and in the evening Dr. D. J. Neal Smith, the conductor of the Singers, gave a talk on the science and art of change ringing. The visitors, at the conclusion of the lecture. went to the tower for a demonstration of ringing. when several touches were brought round.
Most ringers during their career have rung for the induction of a new incumbent, but it was a unique pleasure for Mr. F. S. Macey, of Sutton Valence, Kent, a trustee of the Kent County Association, when on Wednesday, November 2nd, he assisted the local ringers at the Church of St. Denys, Eaton, Leicester, in ringing for the induction of his son-in-law, the Rev. G. Stanley Derrington Turner, as Vicar of the parish.

WEDDING

Mr. Patrick I. Chapman - Miss M. J. Morris

On Saturday, October 29th, the marriage took place at Kettering Parish Church of Patrick I. Chapman and Margaret Joan Morris. The recently-rehung bells were rung for half an hour before the service, and afterwards the band rang Grandsire Caters and 'fired' the ten bells.
The service, which was attended by the choir, was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. G. R. Roberts, and the Rev. Peter Baxter, a friend of the bride and bridegroom. The Rector was celebrant at the Nuptial Mass which followed the marriage ceremony.
Many ringing friends from various parts of the country were present at the reception which followed, and in the afternoon a good peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at Kettering, in which Mr. Charles W. Bird, one of the veterans of the famous Kettering band, participated.
The honeymoon was spent in London, and it is understood that several belfries were littered with confetti. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will reside at 8, Ash Road, Kettering.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NAMING OF MINOR METHODS

Dear Sir,-Perhaps I can supply some of the information for which Mr. D. P. Janes asks in connection with the naming of Minor methods.

At the Council meeting in 1921 the Analysis Committee asked for authority to name methods in the 1907 Collection of Regular Methods which were then unnamed. This was given, and the committee published their proposals in 'The Ringing World ' of May 26th, 1922. Plain methods were to be named after lakes, Treble Bob after flowers, while fourths and thirds Place Delight were to be abbeys and castles respectively. The committee also drew attention to the confusion which then existed over some of the named methods.

As a result, they were instructed to investigate the matter thoroughly, and on March 30th, 1923, they published a further report with a revised list of names for all regular Minor methods, which was strongly criticised at the Council meeting by the Rev. H. Law James on the grounds that the Analysis Committee had taken upon itself to alter names given by the Methods Committee when the 1907 Collection was issued. The discussion was eventually adjourned until the following year, when a Nomenclature Committee was appointed to review existing names and to suggest a suitable system of nomenclature for the future. (See 'Ringing World' for June 28th and July 4th, 1924.)

The committee's long and controversial report (June 26th, 1925) contained six recommendations, among them that all even-bell methods should fall into three main divisions--Plain, Treble Bob and Surprise- and that all the - floral' methods should be renamed. Once again, discussion was adjourned until the following year, the report not being adopted.

In 1926 the committee put forward 13 resolutions, which it was agreed to take as an amended version of the 1925 report. Mr. J. A. Trollope then moved an amendment to the effect that the Council decline to interfere with the right of a band to name a method, which was carried after more long discussion 'Ringing World,' June 4th and June 11th, 1926, and as a result the report of the committee fell. Mr. Trollope's amendment was one of the items reaffirmed at this year's Council meeting.
The Editor, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who right from the start had strongly opposed floral names, was extremely critical of the Council's action in jettisoning the report in what he called ' a pious resolution,' adding that nomenclature reform was as far off as ever. The committee were none too well treated, as in 1947 they were, on the motion of Mr. J. S. Pritchett, 'thanked for their services and not reappointed.' It was then decided that the names question should be left to the Methods Committee to settle, as the Minor Collection was to be re-issued.

The Methods Committee published their proposals on May 1 lth, 1928, and at the subsequent Council meeting Mr. Goldsmith secured the adoption of revised names for all the floral methods, except 'Primrose,' and for one or two other methods. 'Abbey' and 'Castle' were dropped from the Delight methods, and as Mr. Sharples has said, exception was taken to 'Immanuel,' which was later changed to 'Rossendale.' The rest of the names were accepted.
That, as briefly as I can give it, is the story.Yours faithfully.
E. A. BARNETT.

GOOSTREY RINGERS FIND NO HAZARDS
Dear Sir,-Ringing tours are very popular nowadays and we read many accounts of days, and weeks spent happily tower snatching.' However, we read on page 701 of 'The Ringing World ' that the party who visited our lucal tower were not very happy about what they found, in fact they complain of many hazards.

In view of these public criticisms we would like to point out that we manage to ring the bells quite easily to Minor or Doubles for sesvice, practice and peals. Of the 17 peals rung here 12 have been of Minor.

Whilst we agree that the bells are odd-struck and not of good quality they will certainly go. As to the statement, 'heads bumped, dresses ripped, shins barked, etc.,' we say they ought to have arrived on time and treated the beliry as part of the church.

Small country parishes have many money problems (we are faced with $£ 130$ per year to help our school and over $£ 80$ for the diocesan quota, to mention but two), so it is very doubtful if we shall get our bells recast. How much do these visitors give to put right the things they are so ready to criticise?

Many visitors have been welcomed to our tower and will continue to be welcome. The local band includes ladies and they haven't managed to hurt themselves yet.

In conclusion I would like to point out that the listening public judge by the striking, nol whether it is Minor or Doubles, and on this occasion they were not very pleased with what they heard. It is not much good attempting change ringing until you can ring rounds pro-perly.-Yours sincerely,

B. J. ONGLEY.

THANK YOU, MR. PITMAN

Dear Sir,-I have much pleasure in once again congratulating Mr. A. J. Pitman on his latest great achievement in adding yet another method to his recently published composition of Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods, wherein all the bells do all the work of each method, now making eight. Having regard to the strict limitations and vast liability to falseness involved the problems are immense, and the thanks of the Exercise are due to such men for enriching it with such monumental and progressive works.
In my submission, Mr. Pitman need make no apology for introducing Lincoln-a method containing leads and places made wrong with attendant backward hunting-rendering it a much more difficult method than Pudsey, whose 'content ' is no more in evidence in Lincoln than it is in Dorchester.-Yours truly,

L. W. G. MORRIS.

Bradford, Yorks

Note.-The publication of the compositiou of eight Surprise Major methods is opportune, with the recording of the peal in seven Surprise Major methods. The question that is uppermost is whether this great composer has now set the Exercise a task beyond human ability-Ed.

FINEDON PEAL WITHDRAWN

Uear Sir,-A length of 5,008 changes of Bob Major rung at Finedon, Northants, on September 29th, 1954, and included as Peal No. 1,216 in the Peterborcugh Guild report for that year, is false. The figures ascribed to George Hughes were received from a normally reliable source and I omitted to check them. Will the band and the Guild peal secretary please accept my apologies?-Yours faithfully,
G. E. WATSON

FIVE AND SIX-BELL PEAL CALLINGS
Dear Sir,-For some inexplicable reason one or two of your correspondents appear to have misunderstood the import of my letter regarding the above-mentioned subject.
If Mr. Amos and those he champions wish to ring the same six-score 42 times in order to complete a peal, as, of course, the Central Council Decisions permit, I would be the last to discountenance their efforts.

But let them at least be frank about the matter, and have the courage and courtesy to publish exact details of what they have rung, instead of allowing members of the Exercise, by inference, to rate the performance with those in a far superior category.-Yours sincerely,
T. R. BUTLER.

A NEW SLANT ON BELLKINGING

Dear Sir,-Our activities at All Souls' Church are the subject of a feature in a recent edition of the 'Halifax Courier.' The cutting states:-

- The art of keeping out of the way of 29 cwt. of swinging metal, while at the sams time perching high on a rafter in a dark lott comes easily to a campanalogist. That s where a head for heights comes in handy.
This product of a young journalist's fertile imagination should serve as a warning to those who have dealings with the Press. I was approached with a request for an interview less than 24 hours before the publication of the article, and I was reluctant to consent because I was fully aware of the pitfalls attendant upan the hurried production of such an article. My assent was conditional upon the submission to me of the copy for 'vetting,' but unfortunately this condition was not honoured by the newspaper and I was too busy in the morning to take any action.
It is obvious that mistakes of this nature can only be avoided by the fullest insistence on collaboration being mutual and an adequacy of time for preparation.-Yours sincerely,

VERNON BOTTOMLEY.

'BLESS YOU ALL'

Dear Sir,-1 arrived home very late on a Saturday night and wasn't too well pleased. I had travelled some 60 miles or so for a peal and all I got was a quarter. A man hadn't turned up and had sent no excuse.
I was reading my 'Ringing World' as it was propped up against the sauce bottle at the supper table when I caught sight of the Editor's words in connection with quarters. He said, 'Bless you all.' I thought, now who have I heard use that phrase, and in a similar way? The answer was not long in coming-Vic Oliver about 9 p.m., on a Saturday. Was the same artiste in your mind, Mr. Editor, when you wrote that? I wonder !-Yours, etc.,

A CORRESPONDENT.

Regret I had no thoughts about Vic Oliver at the time. There was just a big pile of quarters in front of me and I thought of all the enthusiasm that went into ringing. It is indeed a blessing that there is so much vitality. --Ed.

CONGRATULATIONS-A FORERUNNER?

Dear Sir,-It is with great pleasure that 1 read in 'The Ringing World' of the successful ringing of the peal of Bob Major by a ladies ${ }^{\text { }}$ band at Shirley, Birmingham.
I tender to them my sincere congratulations and hope that it may be the forerunner of continued activity for the Ladies' Guild.-Yours sincerely,

Leicester.

A SHROPSHIRE EXCURSION

A ROYAL OCCASION AT STAFFORD

Some ringers on an outing were discussing, as ringers sometimes do, the merits of various bells. A Shropshire lad, now resident in Bucks, had much to say regarding the bells of his former county, so it was decided to organise a week-end trip to taste the pleasures of some of them.
Friday, September 23rd, the day chosen, dawned with heavy rain and leaden skies, but it failed to damp the spirits of the lassies and lads of Berks and Bucks as they, almost literally, set sail. An elderly car led the way, it was followed by what a car-hire merchant had optimistically described as a shooting-brake, but known to the occupants as the 'Rocket.'

Some handbell ringing was indulged in on the way to St. John-the-Baptist's, Bedwardine, Worcester. The striking was quite good here and was followed by lunch at Ludlow. The bells were so good that the allotted time sped by.

At Church Stretton, our next tower, valuable time was spent hunting for keys, procured in time for all to have a short touch before tea,

Much Wenlock bells and the welcome of several local ringers gave us great pleasure. On then to Berrington, where we rang for a special service before going to Atcham. Here the newlyrestored light ring of six was well exercised. The last tower for Friday was Condover. Many matches were struck and pews stumbled over before light was available in the belfry. Methods rung during the day included Bristol, Cambridge, London, Double Norwich and Stedman

A happy evening at the Britannia Hotel, our headquarters, rounded off the day. The comipany retired ostensibly to sleep. Buses, running later than they do in the villages of Bucks, disturbed the slumbers of some. Clock chimes not synchronised were listened to by another. Others objected to cattle galloping by at at early hour. All arose in good time for a busy day on Saturday.

Clive, a heavy six (tenor 25 cwt .), was first on the list. Hodnet, where a super course of Superlative charmed the ears of ringers and listeners alike, was the second tower. The next place will be remembered by some for its rather cramped belfry, for others the noteworthy feature was some very poor quality liquid refreshment obtained in the local inn of Norton-in-Hales. Market Drayton, where Clive is said to have climbed the tower, pleased the entire company. The bells are easy to strike and good to listen to. Luncheon followed the ringing here.

The afternoon saw us visiting the towers of Cheswardine, Newport, Shifnal and Madeley. Our attempt to ring up in peal would have lost us many marks in a competition and gave us food for thought. The actual ringing was fairly good, as were most of the lowering in peal efforts.

A substantial tea at Iron-Bridge restored energy before visiting Coalbrookdale. A very fine ten' was the general opinion of these bells. Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were included in the ringing.

A magnificent sunset added to the pleasure of the journey back to Shrewsbury, where we had an hour's ringing on the beautiful twelve at St . Chad's. Rounds on the twelve, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Cambridge on the back eight, made a good finish to ringing activities for the dar

Back at the hotel the handbells were used for some tunes. Some of the company who were not ringing attempted to explain to some 1 terested people just what there was in this bellringing lark. Their efforts were not crowned with success! One thing pleased a young, ringer from Marlow-he found someone with a waist-line greater than his own.

Before going to St. Chad's on Sunday morning the beautiful gardens were visited and the horticultural expert was kept busy naming plants. At St. Chad's we joined with the local company to ring for the harvest festival before saying farewcll to Shropshire and its ringers. The pathfinders falled to find the right way out of the town, but a kindly ringer on a motor-cycle put us on the straight and narrow path again.

A meal at Kidderminster broke the journey to Dodderhill, Worcs, where we rang for the children's harvest service on eight very good bells. Banbury, the last tower of the tour, was reached in very good time, and tea was taken before joining the loral company for service ringing, which included Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Cambridge Major Handbell ringing on the journey included a very unorthodox course of London Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Triples and Bob Minor.

We would like to record our thanks to the $111-$ cumbents, the local ringers who met us and those who planned the outing. Their combined efforts resulted in one of the happiest week-ends ever spent in ringing by all the party. W. L.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Kent Branch Progress

The last two mectings of the Branch for the yea, 1955 were held at Rochester and Tunbridge Wells.

The meeting at Rochester Cathedral on August 27 th attracted visitors from 20 towers, including one ringer from St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney, Australia. Canon McKeane made special arrangements for Evensong to be held in the choir and for two hymns to be sung, as this is not customary when the choir is on holiday. Thirty-six ringers sat down to tea at the Gordon Hotel, and afterwards Miss Doris Colgate proposed a vote of thangs to the Dean and Chapter, Canon McKeane and the organist, and to Mr. Beaumort for the arrangements for the meeting and tea, before the gentlemen returned to the belfry.

Taking the chair, Mrs. Mitchell, vice-president, expressed her appreciation of Miss Jill Haffenden in her work as secretary of the Branch during the first year. It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Tunbridge Wells on October 29th. Mrs. Mitchell gave a short report of events at the annual general meeting at Guildford. Before the ladies joined the gentlemen Miss Haffenden thanked Mrs. Mitchell for the great help she had given during the past year.

The meeting at Tunbridge Wells was held at St. Peter's Church on October 29th. 1 he Rev. C. Ward conducted the service and gave the address. About 30 people sat down to tea at John's Place in Calverley Road. Mrs, Mit chell thanked the Vicar and the organist, and Mr. A. C. Wellington for meeting ringers at the church. and Mr. B. Collison for making all arrangemex. During the meeting it was decided to hold the annual general meeting of the Branch at St. John's, Erith, on January 21 st, 1956, unless the Lewisham District were meeting on that day in which case it was hoped that they would consent to a joint meeting at the tower of their choice.

KETTERING BELLS

The bells of Kettering Parish Church have been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs, John Taylor with new pulley bearings and clapper bearings. The rededication was performed by the Rector of Kettering (the Rev. H. G. L. Roberts) on October 8th. All the bells are now audible and the 'go' is all that can be desired.
The bells were last rehung in 1890, by Taylors, and after 65 years of very regular use, were not the best running of bells. It is hoped that the large number of young ringers now attached to the tower will be encouraged to continue the long tradition of good ringing in Kettering from the very birth of change ringing.

Wednesday, November 2nd, was a Royal occasion for Stafford, with the visit of Queen Elizabeth II, and His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh to grace a reception given in their honour in the County Buildings.

Arrangements had been made to ring a peal on the bells of the Church of St. Mary, and $1 t$ was a disappointment when the Town Clerk. acting on the authority of the Mayor and the Lord Lieutenant, gave instructions that the bells were not to be rung for the time that Her Majesty would be in the County Buildings owing to their proximity to the church and the possibility of an interference with the proceed ines.

The ringers, as they wended their way iv the belfry, passed through streets already thronging with people and knew they were unlikely to see the Qucen as their duty was to ring a loyal welcome as the Royal entourage drove from the station to the County Buildings Unexpectedly Miss Scery, a member of the Uttoxeter band, came to the belfry and gallantly did a Stafford ringer "stand down" so that she could take part in a quarter peal of Stedman Triples. Thus a link with past history was made:-

The last reigning monarch to visit Stafford was King Edward VII., on November 23rd, 1907. Apparently at that time the local ringers were leamers, for it is recorded in the annals of St. Mary's ringers that a team of ringers was hired from Uttoxeter to ring St. Mary's bells, as the local ringers were not sufficiently efficient.

Following the ringing of the 1,260 Stednust Triples, Miss Seery was relicved by the 'gallant gentleman , and was able to dash off to see the Queen. A touch of Grandsire Triples was then rung, thus filling in the time until the Roval party entered the County Buildings, Ringing then ceased for an hour, commencing again with Grandsire Triples at 10.15 D.m. and continuing until 11 p.m. The ringing throughout the day was worthy of the great occasion. The belfry door was locked to the cheering of the crowd gathered at the station entrance as the Royal party entrained. The ringers only regret is that in fulfilling their loyal duty they were not able to see Her Majesty.

GUNPOWDER PLOT LEG OF PORK SUPPER

For 350 years Harlington, Middlesex, ringers, have had their 'leg of pork' supper, the feast this year being held at the Orion Cafe, Cranford, on November 5th.

The ancient toast to "The Unknown Donor was proposed by Mr. C. A. Portsmouth, who reminded the assembly of a legacy left by a woman contemporary of Guy Fawkes providing for a half-acre of land to be sold, and the money invested to supply the bellringers of Harlington with a leg of pork for ringing morning and evening each November 5th in thankfulness for the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot.

To-day 'the old leg of pork half-acre, as the land became known, forms part of London airport.

The Rector (the Rev. A. T. Morgan) presided over a company of 20 . Visitors included Mr. W. H. Coles and Mr. C. Ashpool. The toast of 'The Bellringers' was proposed by Mr. P. H. Wedlock and replied to by Mr. L. Grice (captain of the ringers). The Church Officers' was proposed by Mr. L. Sudal and acknowledged by Mr. A. E. Boulter (churchwarden). who kindly provided churchwarden pipes and tobacco for the company. The entertainment, provided by the Rev. H. Turner, Mr. P. H. Wedlock and Mr. F. C. ## OBITUARY

MR. L. H. PAGE

Born in Titchfield in 1881, he took to bellringing in 1900, in the village Church of St. Peter.
Prior to the 1914-18 war he was responsible for the local band, which rang its first 720 in 1909. By the outbreak of the first world war, due to his efforts, there were no less than 14 ringers in the local company capable of ringing Cambridge Surprise Minor for Sunday service. So keen was Mr. Page in those early days that he was reputed to have taught 75 per cent. of the village boys to handle a bell.

After his war service in the Royal Engineers he settled in Ealing, where he did much to stimulate a local band at St. Mary's. His efforts were well rewarded when the local band rang their first peal, Grandsire Triples, conducted by one of his own recruits, Mr. Frederick W. Goodfellow.

Some five years later he left Ealing for South-end-on-Sea and joined the band at St. Mary's, Prittlewell. It was here he rang his only peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal, conducted by the late William Pye. After a very enjoyable five years at Prittlewell a shortage of work forced him to return home to Titchfield, where he lived until his death.

During his ringing career he rang about 150 peals, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Royal. His first peal was rung at Curdridge, in 1909, conducted by the late George Williams.
In 1946 he was incapacitated from ringing owing to great difficulty in walking and a few years later he was further handicapped by partly losing the use of his right hand due to a slight stroke.

Mr. Page leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters.

The funeral service took place at St. Peter's, Titchfield, on November 1st, conducted by the Rev. N. A. Miller. In the evening the bells were rung half-mufiled by the local band, supported by members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

MR. SAM COE

One of the few county cricketers who were ringers died on November Sth in the person of Mr. Sam Coe, who was aged 82. He did his ringing at Old Shilton, near Leicester.
As a cricketer he played for Leicestershire from 1896 to 1923, scoring over 17,000 runs, and held the highest individual score for the county- 252 against Northamptonshire in 1914. After retiring from first-class cricket he became the county club scorer.

A TRIP TO BOURNEMOUTH

The usual eight members of the Worcestershire Association (which included the Association Ringing Master and the Ringing Master of the St. Martin's Guild) made their annual trip to view the 'belles' of Bournemouth during the week-end of November Sth.

The party arrived at headquarters in Fisherman's Avenue just before midnight on the Friday. The first item on the agenda was to hold an impromptu meeting of the Salisbury Guild, at which ccrtain new members were elected, as the attempt for a peal next day was to be made under the auspices of that Guild. The legal adviser to the band was asked whether he thought a meeting held under such circumstances was legal and binding, but the only reply they could get was that it would cost them 5s. As to whether he meant for the advice or the sub. scription is not known-yet!

All enjoyed very much the items provided during the week-end, including the gammon steaks at Swindon, the trip to Kingston and the very nice bells there on which a peal of Spliced Surprise Major was rung, also the very pleasant scrvice ringing at St. Peter's and St. John's, not forgetting the kindness of 'the old man himself' and his good lady, Mrs. Price.

The return trip was made via the New Forest. and ultimately a stop at Dorchester Abbey to ring for Evensang brought to an end a very pleasant outing.

A TOWCESTER ASSOCIATION ANNIVERSARY

To mark the 50th anniversary of the first peal for the old Towcester Association at Wicken, an attempt was made by the Wicken band to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples on November Sth. This, unfortunately, came to grief. A quarter peal of Stednian Triples was, however, rung by F. C. Case 1, G. W. Holland 2, B. E. Saunders 3, H. Ridgway 4, W. A. Yates 5, T. E. Roberts 6, G. E. Green (conductor) 7, H. Cashmore 8. The grandfather of the seventh ringer and the father of the tenor ringer took part in the original peal

MUFFLERS : RINGING MATS : BARRIER ROPES : FLAG LINES : ETC.

The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

ART PLUS SCIENCE

SHIPWAY, in his preface to the 'Campanalogia,' after pointing out the doubtful sanction of the description 'recreation' or 'amusement' to some pursuits from which men derive pleasure but which 'have a direct tendency to corrupt and deprave the mind,' goes on to say, 'Laudable, therefore, is the attempt of him who endeavours to direct the attention of men to an amusement, innocent in its nature, and productive of the highest advantages, as well to the mind as to the body-THE ART OF RINGING.'

The whole aim of his work is, of course, to promote interest in changeringing, and he has nothing to say about that form of ringing which, in so many towers, is confined to callchanges and is practised without any inclination to probe beyond it.
It would be wrong to suggest that callchangers do not get a certain joy and satisfaction out of handling their bells, and from their competitions. As they aim at faultless striking and rhythmical raising and falling in peal they know, undoubtedly, the thrills which belong to such. But, from the changeringer's point of view, they do not get beyond the realm of monotony--the same change many times repeated; the same routine set of changes Sunday by Sunday. That sort of thing, good as it may be within its narrow limits, is, we claim as would Shipway, but the fringe of the art of ringing and cannot be held to include more than a very small taste of the 'advantages' of ringing as a recreation, or of the possibilities involved in it both as an art and a science. For those, therefore, who are content only to paddle, as it were, in the backwater the joys and skill of navigating the wider, deeper and open river must be lost to them. And ringing, whether as an amusement, or as a contribution of service to the Church, holds something far more fascinating than callchangers dream of; making an ever increasing claim upon the mind and offering a continually enlarging fellowship.

Among changeringers all that will be freely conceded: but if the uninitiated are to be enlightened, or the callchangers are to be converted to the acceptance of the fact, it may benefit changeringers to have a few reflections on hand for augmenting their persuasive powers, and even their demonstrations.

Take, for one thing, the cultivation of the team spirit with the fellowship arising from it. That is common both to changeringers and callchangers. Neither, obviously, can get on without it. But it must be more than merely local. While every band is dependent upon it, with changeringers it extends far beyond the home tower and becomes the means of ensuring a welcome amongst other groups of ringers; also into any tower. Thus opportunity is found for a widening of experience, especially through Association meetings where ringers mix up in touches with those from other towers. The system prevalent in some callchange regions of each band at meetings ringing only as local bands-thus excluding any visiting ringer who may be present-certainly shuts the door to expansion of knowledge and tends rather to lower the level of brotherhood than to encourage it.

Is the difference between the two modes of ringing always to be held irreconcilable? The main difficulty at present is, of course, to convince the callchangers that scientific half-pull ringing is an advance on their method, opening up a new field of interest and experience-parallel, one might say, to the growth from childhood into maturity. At least, surely, it is reasonable to ask for an open-minded recognition, on the part of callchange ringers, of the scope and virtues of scientific ringing even quite apart from any desire to experiment in it. That might pave the way for the breaking down of the prejudices which do exist.

The writer would not wish to give the impression that callchanges are to be despised. By no means. So many, like himself, began their ringing under those conditions and gained much pleasure from it. It proved to be but a stepping stone to higher education in the art and had its value accordingly. So it may be still.

Another consideration to be stressed in arguing for the 'advantages' of changeringing is that, based upon the cultivation of ropesight, one's powers of observation are developed and, as familiarity with this or that particular method grows, the working of the other bells in relation to one's own can be followed and checked. This, obviously, is essential for any ringer who aims at even the simplest conducting. And the practice of such observation is bound to heighten the interest of a ringer whether he aspires to conducting or not.

Again, scientific ringing is a most useful medium for widening and strengthening the faculty of memory. And the more intricate the method the greater is the test on the memory if accurate ringing and accurate conducting are to be achieved and sustained. It does provide a training which can prove effective not only in the tower but in all spheres of work which make demands upon mental exactness, retentiveness and endurance.

Further, changeringing holds the door open to such a wide range of accomplishment that no one need be at a loss in the effort to satisfy his or her ambitious instincts. Here 'nothing succeeds like success.' And one achievement after another adds fuel to the fire of ambition for reaching still greater heights of prowess. All to the good, if a ringer's own enthusiasm and progress carries others along too and offers them every opportunity. But the warning note must be given against that particular form of pride which is not free from selfishness.

Trite as much of all this may seem, it is written in the hope that some of the barriers which now exist between the call-change adherents and half-pull ringers may be broken down; and that the real art and science of ringing may penetrate, surely if but slowly, into the fastnesses where at present it is taboo.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS

The annual meeting of the Society was held at The Ship, Talbot Court, City, when the retiring Master, Mr. Cyril G. J. Watts, presided over the transaction of ordinary business. This included an interim report of the Committee appointed to bring the Rules up to date. That concluded, the Master said how much he had enjoyed his period of office, and thanked the other officers for the support they had given him.

He then vacated the chair and the meeting proceeded to elect the officers for the ensuing vear. Mr. J. F. Smallwood was voted to the chair to conduct this part of the proceedings, and the new officers elected were: Master, Mr. John S. Mason: secretary, Mr. A. B, Peck; treasurer, Mr. A. A. Hughes; senior steward, Mr. Selwyn H. Dearden; junior steward, Mr. Philip A. Chalk: trustees, Mr. E. G. Fenn and Mr. J. F. Smallwood.
The new Master was then conducted to the chair by Mr. J. F. Smallwood, who congratulated him on his election, and wished him a successful year. He said Mr. Mason was liked and respected by all and he felt sure their affairs would be quite safe in his capable hands.
The new Master congratulated the retiring Master on a very fine year's work, and said he would do everything possible to justify the confidence the Society had placed in him bv electing him as its Master.
A fine start was made by the election of nine new members, mostly from the West Country.
Prior to the meeting, ringing took place at St. Dunstan's, Stepney.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Twenty-seven members and friends attended the quarterly meeting of the Bicester Deanery Branch at Souldern on November 12th. The Rev. Hugh Benson conducted the service and preached the sermon.
The branch president (the Rev. A. F. Gatehouse) presided at the business meeting which followed an excellent tea provided by Mrs. H. Benson and her helpers. The next meeting was arranged for Middleton Stoney in January. The Guild Librarian mentioned the renewal of the appeal to the Parochial Church Councils for an annual donation of $2 /$ per bell to the Guild's Bell Restoration Fund. This appeal has enabled the Guild to increase its grants to parishes who have to raise a substantial sum from, perhaps, a parish with a small number of inhabitants.
The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Benson and the ladies who provided the tea.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The November meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, on November 5th. This light ring of light had not been rung for some time owing to the shortage of ringers. There was no service as the new vicar was not yet in residence.

Tea was served in Church House; the only pity was that more ringers did not turn up to do justice to the ladies' effort. Visitors included ringers from Bristol and Coventry. Methods rung ranged from rounds to Cambridge.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham's Woman Master

Members from Bexley, Bromley, Crayford, Chelsfield, Chislehurst, Dartford, Erith, Farningham, Greenwich, Hayes, Eltham, Lewisham, St. Mary Cray and West Wickham and visitors from Hughenden, Milton Regis and Melton Mowbray attended the annual meeting held at St. Mary Cray on Saturday, October 29th.

Ringing during the afternoon was directed by Mr. J. Cannell, of West Wickham. The service was held in the ancient Parish Church. The Vicar, the Rev. W. F. Willoughby, who officiated, extended a warm welcome to the members to St. Mary Cray. Mr. E. Stopes was the organist, and the lesson was read by Mr. E. Barnett, of Crayford.

A company of 62 was present at tea,
At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. A. S. Richards, three new members were elected. A report of the past year's work was adopted. Mr. A. G. Hill (Erith) and Messrs A. S. Richards (West Wickharn) and J. Dafters (Lewisham) were re-appointed District secretary and District representatives respectively. Miss M. R. Andrews (Bexley) was appointed as Ringing Master-this appointment was an innovation for Miss Andrews thus became the first woman to hold office in the District.
St. Mary's, Lewisham, was chosen as the place for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, January 28th, and it was decided to continue the series of combined meetings with the Northern District of the Surrey Association.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, organist, the caterers and St. Mary's ringers and to Mr. W. J. Cannell were acclaimed, as was the reply by Mr. F. G. Wheller, the mainspring of the day's pleasantnesses. The chairman warmly welcomed the visitors, especially Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Corby. Further ringing followed.

At the recent meeting of the Northern Division of the Sussex County Association, at Harthield, a non-ringing visitor from Cornwal asked if he might be allowed in the ringing chamber 'just to watch.' He was, of course, made welcome and spent a very interested half-hour. On his departure he expressed surprise at the number of lady ringers, commented on the socrability of everybody and asked the secretary to accept ten shillings towards the funds !
The bells of Holywood, Northern Ireland, Parish Church will be broadcast on Christmas morning.
Mr. John T. Dunwoody writes assuring us that St. Columb did exist. He is an Irish saint and Londonderry Cathedral is dedicated to him.

Miss Audrey Gladwell has started her peal ringing career with flying colours with Stedman Cinques at Reading. Previously her longest touch had been three courses.

Mr. W. A. Kitchenside has found a new cure for a cold. When he arrived at Brede to conduct a peal of Minor he had an aching back and the worst cold of his life. On the way home he found that the cold had practically disappeared.
Members of the R.A.F. stationed at Hednesford who rang the peal of Minor at Rugeley (see page 724) would like to express their thanks to Mr. Toyner, captain of the Rugeley tower, for placing the bells at their disposal. His welcome was a very great asset.

Stanwick, Northants, ringers are working hard for a new treble to make a ring of six. They have raised over $£ 100$ towards $£ 200$. Any ringers wishing to help us in this happy work are asked to send their gifts to Mr. E. A. Knight, Longwood, Stanwick, Northants.

Following quickly in the wake of Chester Guild's A. J. Pitman's peal of seven of ringing Mr. Major methods comes a similar performance by Mr. W. Eric Critchley's Yorkshire band. What about it, Kent?

Mr. John E. Cook has now achieved his ambition of turning in Grantham tenor to a peal.

The quarter peal at Ashcott on October 24th was the first of Surprise as conductor for R Short. and not the first of Surprise.
Mr. Evander Littlewood celebrated his 82 nd birthday by ringing a quarter peal at Asfordby. Leics, on November 10th. He sets a splendid example by being always in his place on a Sunday and never missing a District meeting of the Guild.
It was unfortunate that the band who met at St. Andrew's, Derby, for the memorial peal to Mr. Albert H. Ward were one short This orevented the second bell, the gift of Mr. Ward in 1923, when the bells were augmented, being rung. His ringing service and his gift are. however, remembered with gratitude.
With regret we learn of the death of Mr. Thomas Goodchild, of Maidenhead, on November 11 th, aged 79 years. For 30 years he rang at St. Michael's, Bray, and then moved to Maidenhead, where he rang for 40 years at All Saints', Boyne Hill. An obituary will appear in our next issue.
The peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major rung at Netherseale on November 12th was arranged by Mr. Clement Glenn and Mr. J. William Cotton iwo days previous to the former's death. In the circumstances it was an in memoriam peal to Mr. Glenn. It was also Mr. W. F. Woodward's first peal of Double Norwich ' inside.

ESTABLISHED

318th ANNUAL DINNER OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS

WITH traditional dignity the Master (Mr. Cyril G. J. Watts), escorted by the stew ards (Mr. John S. Mason and Mr. Selwyn H. Dearden), made his entry at the 318th Anniversary Dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths at the Bridge House Restaurant, Lon don Bridge, on November 12 th. The popularity of this great reunion was manifest on every hand-strong contingents from the provinces were present and it was a happy gathering that responded to the various toasts with Mr. Albert A. Hughes, the treasurer of the Society, as toastmaster.

During the meal the Master took wine with the Past Masters present, those he did Sunday service ringing with, and the grand old men of the College Youths, those with 50-60 years membership. These were: Richard Stannard, 65 years; E. T. Elson, 64 ; Isaac Emery, 64 the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, 58 ; G. N. Price, 58 ; Ernest G. Fenn, 57; Henry Hodgetts, 54; A. B. Peck, 54; George Cottis, 54; A. A Hughes, 53.

After the loyal toast the Master proposed the toast of 'The Church,' with which he coupled the name of the Provost of Southwark (the Very Rev. H. E. Ashdown). He said that for some time past much had been written in -The Ringing World' about their duties and responsibilities towards the Church but he would suggest that they had still a long way to go before they could achieve the result they desired - good Sunday ringing in all towers with bells in a ringable condition. It was to wards that object, he suggested, that members of the Society were best able to help, as they came from all parts of the British Isles.

To the criticism that the Church authorities were not interested in ringers and ringing, the Master suggested where indifference existed they could meet it by interesting themselves in church activities other than those connected with bells. He commended to them the advice of the Rev. Charles Edwardes, Vicar of St Martin-in-the-Fields, in which he urged ringers to have their own representatives on parochial church councils. He felt that not only would a better understanding exist but that recruitment to the Exercise would be stimulated

The Provost of Southwark, in reply, said that one of the headaches of the Church to-day was that of stones, mortar and timber, and he thought he was right in saying that just over half the churches in the country were older than 1,500 years, so they would understand the colossal task before them. If the tower tell down there would not be much for the ringers to do.

THE WOBBLING CANDELABRA

- I am thankful that despite the efforts of Hitler and others we are very fortunate with our tower at Southwark. We are very gratetul to the College Youths for their ringing in an emergency, and we are fairly sure with the very worst you can do (as regards ringing) the tower will stand. I have watched the candelabra wobbling beneath the tower but I am still assured by my architect that all is well.

1 am also responsible for another tower, which has no bells and is not attached to a building for public worship. It is still attached to an ecclesiastical authority and I want about $£ 8,000$ to prop it up. I feel certain that you are all sorry to see St. Thomas', Southwark, in such a position, but I would be very pleased to see someone come along and take it down. If anyone can suggest how it can be repaired and used, please send me a postcard.

A pleasing ceremony followed, during which Mr. Harry Miles, of Carbis Bay, presented a new gavel to the Society, the work of Robin Nance, of St. Ives, to replace one that was broken two years ago. He was thanked by the Master for his kind gift.

MR. CYRIL G. J. WATTS

One of the newest members of the Society, Mr. R. S. Anderson, of Stoke-on-Trent, proposed the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths. He recalled that the College Youths were founded in 1637 and was the oldest ringing society with a continuous history. The list of members was an impressive one as it included men in all walks in life. Ringing was democratic; irrespective of a man's position when once he took a rope he was but a humble member of the band. Englishmen were inclined to make light of thefr capabilittes and achievements and this was an occasion when they could say, 'Let us now praise famous men." He suggested that they were the ordinary Sunday service ringers who attended Sunday by Sunday and taught the young week by week on practice night. These men were the backbone of the Exercise; they regarded this as their duty to the church and they were satisfied to see their work well done. He coupled with the toast the name of Mr. A. B. Peck, who had served the Society faithfully and well as secretary for over 18 years.

THE YEAR REVIEWED

Mr. Peck, who received a warm ovation on rising to reply, read apologies from the Bishop of Southwark, Mr. E. H. Lewis, Mr. G. Symonds (Ipswich), Mr. L. Head (Maidstone), Mr. W. H. Theobald (Salisbury, who was ill with phlebitis), and the Fenn brothers (who were both ill).
There were not many peals rung during the year, the total being 13 , and these included Stedman Cinques at Southwark for the golden jubilee of the Southwark Diocese. A peal of Stedman Cinques was also rung at Southwark for the 200th anniversary of the formation of St. Martin's Guild. On October 23rd a peal was rung at Arundel to mark the centenary of the bells, when the Duke of Norlolk engaged a band of College Youths to come from London to ring the first peal on the bells

During the year they had held 49 meetings in London and one country meeting in Bristol, where they were very well received. They also had a nice meeting at Heston. He gave a special welcome to the three generations of the Howell family, from Barking, who were present that evening. They were honoured by a toast. The company stood while the following who had passed over during the year, were remembered: Frederick W. Townsend (Poole), Henry H. Flower (Sandown), Reginald P. Crump (Wood Green), Frank Warrington (St. Ives), Mrs. Reeves (Bradfield), James C. Adams (Walthamstow), William H. Passmore (London), Harold J. Poole (Leicester), Thomas W Hammond (Liverpool), Clement Glenn (Nottingham), Francis S. Wilson (Wincanton), Albert H. Ward (Derby) and T. H. Townsend (Great Staughton, Hunts).

New members elected during the year were: Messrs. W. A. Collins, D. Sutcliffe, C. Harwood, R. Castledine and D. Jewell (Baldock), J. H. Fielden (Halifax), G. W. Pipe (Grundisburgh), W. L. Robinson (Sheffield), C. W. Jose (Truro), A. H. Eplett (Newquay), B. A. Tomlinson (Blackburn), G. Thrush (Heston), W. A Riddington (Peacehaven), B. C. Ashford (Stour: bridge), G. F. The toast of "Kindred Ringing Societies and Visitors. was proposed by a past master of the Society, Mr. J. Frank Smallwood. He said he was very intrigued by the appeal of the Provost of Southwark on behalf of the tower of St. Thomas'. He suggested that he should write to Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who told him that he had 150 bells, some of which he did not know what to do with. He advocated that they should get together and from them make a ring of 12 and get the College Youths to open the bells.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE ANCIEN1

 SOCIETYThe word 'kindred' was a nice word and indicated families and relationship, for they were surely all one family. Most of them were not only College Youths but members of kindred Societies, and he might say how pleased they were to see such a strong contingent present from the West Country. The claim of the College Youths was to be a parent Society and all the kindred Societies had sprung from it, and they were very pleased that the old Society had some influence in the management of those Societies and in setting them a standard to follow

If he might presume to offer some advice he would ask the kindred Societies to encourage the youngsters. These youngsters would take over the burden-let them see that they had a good start. He believed the younger generation would make a big contribution to ringing. He noticed what a simple thing Surprise ringing was to them, and when he was a youngster Surprise 'frightened me to death.' They had the value of modern education and this was one of the dividends.

They often saw the words "giants of the Exercise." In his opinion they were not the men who had rung 1,000 or 1,500 peals, but those who rang Sunday by Sunday and came regularly to practices to help the young, although the latter's ringing might be a torture to them.

In London they were very grateful for the facilities at Southwark. They hoped for good things from Cripplegate and they looked forward with joy to the time there would be ringing there each Sunday. They had a new ring of eight at St. Olave's, another eight at Bow Road and the ten at Greenwich. In the offing there was something being done at St. Clement's and Bow

Mr. T. H. Francis, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, acknowledged the toast. He referred to the way ringing societies were at loggerheads 200 years ago and the happy relationship that now existed. As Mr. Anderson said, ringing was a true democracy, and the Ancient Society followed that example by encouraging everyone to attend their practices.

- A BRIGHT JEWEL

The toast of 'The Ringing World ' was proposed by Mr. A. York-Bramble, who said if the founder of 'The Ringing World,' Mr. John Sparkes Goldsmith, was alive to-day he would not be disappointed in the journal. He thought they could regard 'The Ringing World' as a bright jewel in the crown of journalism. In this respect they should remember not only the Editor but the contributors of articles, letters and reports. They could not please everyone and at times one heard harsh criticism from beginners, who said the pages of The Ringing World' were devoted to peal reports. The answer was to make themselves proficient. He thought the consistent publication of peal reports was very stimulating, for it was by the deals that the standard of ringing was maintained.

Mr. York-Bramble also thanked those generous donors who had saved the paper from bankruptcy. He asked each of those present to go home and get a new subscriber for 'The Ringing World, the official journal of the Exercise.
The Editor acknowledged the toast.

THE FRAGRANT MEMORY

The toast of The Fragrant Memory of Masters of 100,200 and 300 Years Ago' was proposed by Mr. A. A. Hughes from notes supolied by Mr. E. A. Young, who found it difficult to be present as he was now over 90 years of ace. These were George Coney, 1655; William Veck, 1755; and William Lobb, 1855.
George Coney joined the Society in 1652, during the Mastership of Robert Roan, distinguished as being one of the earliest of their composers. Coney rapidly passed to the chair and was so successful that he was re-elected two years later.
William Veck joined the Society in 1739 during the Mastership of Francis Tudman, a very old member, who had to wait some 30 years before he was elected to the chair. Veck, in the year of his joining the Society, rang a peal of Bob Major at Fulham, when he rang the fifth with Annable. It was conducted by Stephen Picard.
William Lobb joined the Society in the late 1840's, when probably in middle age, for he was one of the early members of the St. James' Society (of which he was Master in 1838). He rang peals with men who had rung with some of their members now living.

THE LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Revival of Annual Dinner

A FTER a lapse of many years the annual dinner of the London Counties Association was reinstated on October 22nd. The spirit of the functions of years ago was fully retained by a policy of short but adequate specches and a first-class entertainment. The completely successful evening was presided over by the Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender, with Mr. H. W. Rogers as toastmaster. The Church was represented by the Revs. D. A. Vile (Vicar of St. George's, Camberwell) and E. H. Grimston (Vicar of All Saints', Isleworth). Mr. E. A. Barnett, accompanied by Mrs. Barnett and Miss Barnett. represented the Central Council and Mr. T. J. Lock the Middlesex Association.
The loyal toast was proposed from the chair.

MR. E. A. YOUNG'S PRESENTATION

Onc of the most regrettable apologies for absence was from the Association's old and highly respected friend. Mr. E. A. Young, now in his 91st year and not quite well enough to venture out for the evening; Mr. Young was, however, represented by his' young 'friend Mr. 'Ike' Emery. On behalf of Mr. Young, Mr. Emery presented to the Association the original certificate, appropriately framed. This certificate was drawn and lettered by Mr. Young some 45 years ago, and a reproduction and full description of it appears in the Association's History and Rule Book; a large size reproduction is also issued to each new member. One of the main features of the certificate is a view over London, and to obtain accurate details of this Mr. Young ascended to the top of Tower Bridge.

The Master replied to the presentation with a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Young for his kind action
Other apologies were from Mr. C. Watts, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths; Mr. T. H. Francis, Master of the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths; Mr. J. E. L. Cockey, Winnipeg; Dr. Kate Branson, Edinburgh.
'The Church' was proposed by Mr. J. H. Lott, and the Rev. D. A. Vile replied with a very sincere speech. not unmixed with humour. The Rev. E. H. Grimston also responded with warm appreciation.

The toast of 'Kindred Societies' was submitted by Mr. A. D. Barker, who reminded the company, together with other pertinent remarks, that the foundations of the London County Association were laid by the joint efforts of members of the College Youths and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Mr. T. J. Lock replied, both speakers leaving the assembled company in no doubt of the warm regard of fellow societies.
' The London County Association ' was then proposed by Mr. E. A. Barnett, and this was answered very suitably by the Master.

THE ENTERTAINMENT

A very adequate programme of entertainment was arranged by the committee. A male voice choir, under the direction of Mr. Glyn Harry, gave an excellent performance of some wellchosen classical and popular picces. A course of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung on handbells by Mrs. E. A. Barnett, and Messrs. W. G. Wilson. E. A. Barnett and T. J. Lock. An extensive selection of tunes on handbells was given by Mrs. C. M. Meyer, Miss V. Dupre. Miss J. Mead. Mr. C. M. Meyer, Mr. J. H. Lott and Mr. F. P. Mead. The scoring of the numbers, in which no fewer than 37 bells were used, was by Mr. C. M. Mcycr, and the performance was a masterpiece of precision.

Mention must also be made of a performance on handbells by the versatile father and son, Messis. J. and L. W. Bullock, who gave a very spirited rendering of popular tunes.
Thanks are due to the committee, consisting of Messrs. J. H. Lott, C. M. Meyer and F. P. Mead, who organised the whole function. In conclusion, the assembly were urged to note two important dates in 1956-the first Saturday in January for ringing, business and nomination meeting at St. George's and St. Giles', Camberwell ; and the first Saturday in February for the Annual General Meeting at Southwark Cathedral

Stanwick Has a New Peal Board

Ringers from 11 towers came to Stanwick Church, Northants, on November 5th for the dedication of a peal board recording three peals-two firsts by Frank W. Nutt in 1932 , and Edward A. Knight in 1946 and 1947. The Rector, the Rev. D. A. W. Brown, took the Guild service, and the collection, amounting to £1 2s., went to Stanwick Bell Fund.
Tea was afterwards served in St. Laurence's School. The Branch president thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and the ladies for a nice tea.
Stanwick ringers are hoping to have a new treble to make a ring of six.

LETTERS

5,024 YORKSHIRE SURPRISE MAJOR
Dear Sir, -I have been informed that the composition of 5,024 Yorkshire Surprise Major, published in 'The Ringing World ' on November 11th, 1955, is not original. I understand it should be ascribed to Mr. Nolan Golden, to whom I tender my apologies. The composition, which first appeared in 'The Ringing World ' of December 15th, 1950, was rung at Terrington St. Clement on September 2nd, 1950.-Yours faithfully,
D. KNOX.

Dunstable, Beds.

ST. SIMON'S DOUBLES

Dear Sir,-The claim is put forward from some quarters that the first 5,040 in the above method was rung in Bedfordshire just prior to the last war. My own peal book contains the following:-
Meriden, Warwickshire. The Warwickshire Guild. On Tuesday, June 5th, 1928. In two hours and thirty-nine minutes. At the Church of St. Lawrence. A peal of St. Simon's Doubles, 5.040 changes. Forty-two extents. Tenor 7 cwt. Alfred E. Bacon treble, Joseph E. Sykes 2, Charles G. Bates 3, William A. Stote 4, James H. Raper tenor. Conducted by James H. Raper.

Although it must have been the first in the method by all the band and for the Guild, no claim of any sort was made. But it must have preceded the Bedfordshire peal by eleven years.

WILLIAM A. STOTE.
Coundon.

GRUNDISBURGH

Dear Sir,-With regard to two points in your issue of November 11th:-
(a) Mr. Felstead writes of Grundisburgh as an eight-bell tower from 1891 to 1904, but unless my memory plays me false it was a sixbell tower at least unti! 1896 .
(b) It may interest Mr. Amos to know that 'Mike' as a contraction of 'Michael' was familiar to a previous gencration in Dorset. 'Michaelmas' was called 'Mikemas.'- Yours sincerely,
F. LL. EDWARDS.

SAINTS

Dear Sir,-Re your inquiry about St. Simon. Of the apostles, St. Simon and St. Jude have no individual dedications, but are nine times commemorated together in English churches. We have an example here in Leicestershire at Earl Shilton. whose grand ring of eight is one of the best kept belfries in this Diocese. I do not think Mr. Percy Amos need be unduly perturbed by the name St. Columb. St. Columba of Iona was baptised as Colum, at Douglas, to which later was aded 'cille' (of the church) and his name is spelt variously as Colum, Colm, Columbkill and Columcille.

Of St. Miles. This probably refers to Miles Gerard (called Blessed and a Martyr), who was horn at Wigan and became a schoolmaster; afterwards studied for the priesthood at Reims and was ordained in 1583. He was martyred for his priesthood at Rochester, 1590. Beatified in 1929.-Yours truly,

ERNEST MORRIS.

YORKSHIRE ROYAL IN SHROPSHIRE

Dear Sir,-I thank Messrs. J. C. Nash and W. Williams for their letters correcting the footnote which I was responsible for adding to the peal of Yorkshire Royal at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, and I apologise to Mr. Williams and his band for the accidental oversight.Yours faithfully,
F. HECTOR BENNETT.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Ashford District and Combined Practices

A fine, warm day favoured the meeting of the Ashford District at Willesborough on Nov. 12th. All the local arrangements had been made by Mr. R. J. Carlton, the tower secretary, and the bells were available from 2.30 . The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. J. E. Bowman). At the organ was Mr. W. P. Garner, and the lesson was read by another ringer, Mr. R. J. Carlton. The Rector has a soft spot in his heart for ringers, and the theme of his address of welcome was 'Faithfulness,' which he applied to ringers in general, and to his own in particular. The collection was given to the Association's Belfry Repair Fund.

An excellent tea, attended by about 45 mem bers and friends, was provided at the old schools by the Willesborough ringers and their friends, with Mrs. Smith, the mother of onc of the ringers, at the head of the catering.

The Rector presided at the business meeting when one new member was elected, and the election of a non-resident life member was confirmed.

The District Secretary referred to the popularity of the combined practice meetings which have started a second season in the Western area under Mr. S. G. Waters, and reports were given by the members who were organising similar meetings in the other three sub-district areas-Mr. R. J. Carlton the Mid-area, Mr. H. Birch the Eastern coastal area and Miss M. Vantom the Lydd area. These reports indicated that, although some bands felt they had nothing to gain from such meetings. on th: whole the scheme was well received, and that very shortly combined practice meetings would be covering the whole district. The business meeting concluded with a vote of thanks by Mr. T. Cullingworth, the Ringing Master, to all who had contributed to the arrangements at Willesborough.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On November 12th the Eastern District held a meeting at Cheshunt. By a coincidence proceedings started with ringing for a wedding. A short service was held at 4.30 p.m.
Tea was followed by a busincss meeting, at which Mr. A. J. House was elected to the chair. Mr. R Durrant (Cheshunt) was elected a probationer member and 12 new ringing members werc elected from Great Hormead.

The next District meeting, at Sawhridgeworth, on December 10 th, will be a joint meeting with the Essex Association. The District annual general meeting will be at Hertford on January 11th.
It was disappointing to find so few ringers present, but it is hoped that members will make an extra-special effort in future.

FATHER OF THE IRON TRADE

Dear Sir,-Apropos the article on 'Rotherham Church Bells,' by Norman Chaddock, I venture to point out that the "Father of the Iron Trade, was surely Wilkinson, of Coalbrookdale, Salop.

Wilkinson and Darby, of the 'Dale,' built both the first iron ship and the first iron bridge, which can still be scen at Coalbrookdale.

There was a foundry at the 'Dale' a hundred years before the birth of Samuel Walker. - Sincerely yours,
E. J. ROWE.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The 500th anniversary of the dedication of All Saints' Church, Wyke Regis, was commemorated only a few days previously, so it was appropriate for the autumn meeting of the Dorchester Branch to take place there on November 5 th. It also provided a send-off to a happy couple who were leaving the church following their wedding.
The eight bells were rung until 4 p.m., when the Rector (the Rev. F. E. Pratt) conducted the Guild scrvice and gave an interesting address.
Tea was served in the hall by ladies of the church, and the business meeting which followed was under the chairmanship of the Rector, who kindly deputised for Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, Branch chairman, who was unable to attend owing to illness.

The chairman expressed his regret at Canon Markby's absence and also mentioned that Wyke Regis ringers were sorry to lose the services of Mr. Frank Stevens, who had reeently removed to Devizes.
Mr. Pratt spoke feelingly on the loss the Branch had sustained by the death of one of its associate members, Mrs. Hill, wife of Mr. Eric Hill, and mother of Mrs. Doreen Symonds, both ringers at Wyke Regis.

New members admitted were Mr. F. C. Morris, of Charminster, and Mr. A. J. Boyd, a scholar of Milton Abbey School, whose home is at Cufley, Herts.

Branch practices were arranged for November 19th, at Upwey; December 3rd, St. Peter's, Dorchester; December 17th, Charminster; January 7th, Wyke Regis; and the annual meeting at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on January 21st.
Mrs. Godley proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and all his helpers for the grand. welcome they had given to the ringers and for the magnificent tea provided.

Ringing continued until 9 p.m. under the direction of Mr. F. Precey, Ringing Master, and his deputies, Messrs. F. Stedman and H. Ford, methods rung including Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Douuble Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major. J. H. H.

CHRIST CHURCH, ISLE OF DOGS

On the feast of All Saints, November 1 st, a service of thanksgiving was held for the restoration of the Parish Church of Cubitt Town. The church was brilliantly lighted, throwing its restored beauty into excellent relief and revealing several new features of the building. From the design of Mr. Alan Lindsay the sanctuary has been redecorated.
The stained glass east windows, which were completely shattered when the building was damaged by enemy action in 1941, have been replaced by prints, depicting the customary Biblical scenes in a most original manner. A great deal of the credit for this beautiful building must go to the Vicar, the Rev. D. H. Peter Priest, who has never ceased in his cfforts for restoration. The sermon was preached by the Bishod of Stepney, the Right Rev. Joost de Blank, to a packed church.
Christ Church, Cubitt Town, is of particular interest to ringers, since it was there that the first peal by an all-ladies' band was rung. The splendid board which commemorates this. unique part of ringing history, and which was donated by the ringers of Great Britain, is preserved in excellent condition in the belfry.

Before the service, members of the Northern District of the London County Association rang 1.260 Stedman Triples. Although the bells have naturally suffered owing to lack of use, it is hoped that they will soon be rung regularly, both for service and practice.

Band: L. W. Bullock 1, T. H. Taffender 2, J. A. Hales 3, L. Battley 4, J. Hales 5 , J. Barrance 6, E. D. Smith (conductor) 7, J. McPhail 8.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

170 Attend Annual Dinner

FORTUNATE in being able to obtain the use of the beautiful Guildhall, Worcester, the accommodation of which is hardly likely ever to be fully extended, the 18th Annual Dinner of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, held on October 23rd, attracted a large gathering of 170 members and friends. Visitors came from Reading, Bristol, Gloucester, Cheltenham, Claverley, Southampton, Bromyard and Coalville.
Presiding, in his usual inimitable and genial manner was the President and Dean of Worcester, the Very Rev. W. E. Beck, and he was supported by Mrs. Beck, the Right Rev. Bishop C. E. Stuart, the Rev, L. J. Birch (chaplain) and Mrs. Birch, the Rev. A. Webb (Cleeve Prior), Mr. C. Skidmore (Master) and Mrs. Skidmore, Mr. J. D. Johnson (general secretary) and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. J. R. Newman (vicepresident) and Mrs. Newman, Mr. W. B. Cartwright (vice-president) and Mrs. Cartwright. Apologies were received from Mr. and Mrs. W. Holm, Mr. R. G. Morris and Mr. H. Shuck.

After the loyal toast the chairman said he wished to deviate from the official toast list. Ringers, he said, gave voluntary help and maintained a time-honoured tradition in the life of the Church. 'We have not got to take the ringers for granted and II do appreciate your services. You do literally occupy the highest places of our churches.' Bell ringing required a high degree of skill, obedience and close cooperation with one another. That was the secret of rhythm and harmony, without which the bells of world peace could not be rung. With that, he wished to propose a toast-that to their general secretary.
Mr. J. D. Johnson briefly replied.
In proposing 'Church and State,' Mr. J. Hall said a feature of this country was the stability and close cohesion between Church and State. He had been reading Dr. Jessop's ' History of the Church,' and drew comparisons between the conditions of the 12 th century and the present day.
The Rev. A. Webb, Vicar of Cleeve Prior, in reply, said it was preferable that Church and State should be the subjects of a joint toast rather than too much undeserved criticism and -harpooning.' Their service to the Church as ringers was also a service to the State, and he appealed for more young ringers to come forward and take up the art-the more Christians in the Church, the better for the State. He told the company his own contribution to ringing was two peals, one quarter peal. two broken stays, one rope and one clapper.

RANKED AMONG THE BEST

The toast of 'The Worcestershire Association, was entrusted to the Master, Mr. C. Skidmore. They had not, he said, a history of 200 or 300 years, but the Association had always been well served by its officers, and in personnel and ability it ranked among the best in the country. He appealed to the young ringers to take an active interest in the business of the Association and stressed the desirability of more local bands ringing peals on their own. But. while they were important. the ringing of peals was not their first aim-the main reason for bells in the belfries was to ring on Sundays -to the glory of God' and to warn people of the approaching hour of worship. As long as the belfries are manned for services, peals are a secondary consideration, and the Association would continue to thrive.
In reply. Mr. D. Bcacham said that although resident just outside the county boundary, he was very proud of his membership. Much of the strength of the Association lay in the efficiency of its officers, but they could get nowhere without the co-operation of the members. It was gratifying to see so many young people present that evening - a sign of enthusiasm-but there should be no complacency. The time would come for the older members to hand on the torch and they should be continually on the lookout for new blood, acting as missionaries and bringing others into the fold. Following the chairman's tribute to the 'belles of the belfry, he said, 'Women are showing the men that they do not have the monopoly and are proving that they can pull their weight.'
The toast of 'Kindred Associations and Visitors' was submitted by Mrs. E. D. Wilson. She gave a special welcome to Mrs. Beck, wife of the president, who was present for the first time, and hoped the Dean would explain to her the ringing terms used that evening. In welcoming visitors they were only returning a compliment, for wherever she and her husband travelled about the country they made a habit of looking in at the local tower for Sunday service or practice ringing, and were met with every courtesy and kindness. The great interest of herself and husband was with young people and the encouragement of these to "this magic circle of ringers.'

THE CORDIALITY OF WORCESTERSHIRE

Replying, Mr. A. Diserens, of Reading, said that it was his first attendance at that dinner, but it would not be his last. There was an atmosphere of cordiality in Worcestershire which would be found nowhere else. As the father of a band of ringers, he felt he could speak with experience of youth, and he was very pleased with the way youth was being welcomed and the amount cone for National Servicemen while stationed in the area. Youth called to youth, and with youngsters getting on, they themselves would bring along others. Peals were rung by a comparatively small handful, but he commended them to 'watch the quarter peals.' More quarter peals for services could lead to peals and create enthusiasm.

The toast list concluded with the health of the chairman, proposed by the Rev. L. J. Birch.

A full and varied musical programme completed an enjoyable evening. An innovation by the combined Leigh and Stonebridge handbell bands, playing tunes in unison on two rings of 12, came over with great effect in the large hall; songs by Miss Patricia Lewis and Mr. Geoffrey Hemming were well received and appreciated: and variety provided by the Beoley male-voice quartette. There was a monologue by Miss E. Clarke, a course of Stedman Triples by Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas, Miss V. Barnes and Mr. J. D. Johnson, and, to add the final spice, the inimitable Percy Sanger kept the company in roars of laughter for considerable periods with his country yokel anecdotes. As M.C.. Mr. D. H. Watson competently kept the programme in hand, and Miss E. Clarke was accompanist.

THE LADIES' GUILD Sussex Division

On November 12 th a meeting of the Sussex Division was held at St. Mary's, Hailsham, a lovely old church at which the traditional curfew is still rung at eight o'clock each evening.
During the early months of the year a ringing platform was installed, which is a great improvement; the bells are heard more easily and there is not nearly as much rope to look after, An organ has been built, and to enter the belfry one must walk through part of the organ, up the spiral staircase and a few straight but very narrow steps. Most people have to go up sideways!! In the centre of the belfry is the organ blower, which serves as a table on which a very kind member of the local band had placed a vase of autumn foliage. This, unfortunately, was moved to the top of the cupboard, by request, to enable the shorter ringers to see across the belfry.
During the afternoon and evening at least 35 ringers attended, including 15 ladies, the best attendance so far. The only all-ladies' ringing was a course of Grandsire Triples 'in hand, rung during tea break.

After tea a short business meeting was held at which six new members were elected.

The next meeting, the annual, will be at Southover, Lewes (10), on January 14th.

OBITUARY

CANON T. J. ROWLANDS

Canon Thomas John Rowlands, M.A., B.D., Rector of Llandudno, passed away, aged 70 years, on October 26th, after a short illness of three weeks. He was a vice-president of the North Wales Association, and always warmly welcomed the Association when they met in Llandudno. His buoyant and lively nature and general appearance of good health belied an inner exhaustion which had been sapping his vitality for some months and which finally took its toll of him.

On July 9th, 1955, a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung at Holy Trinity tower to celebrate his 21 st anniversary as Rector of the parisn. They were 21 years of faithful and active ministry, and he was taken in the midst of his work, looking forward, among other things, to the completion of the Church of Our Saviour, and to the dedication of new gifts at Holy Trinity, St. George's and St. Andrew's Churches.

His passing will be keenly felt not only in Ilandudno and the other parishes which he served, but also by many regular visitors who worshipped at Holy Trinity and at the open-atr services at St. Tudno on the Great Orme, where he was always at his best and happiest. It is those, however, who knew and loved him as a parish priest, a personal friend, a spiritual guide and wise counsellor who will miss him most.

The funeral service took place at Holy Trinity, Llandudno, on Saturday, October 29th, and the bells were rung muffied as the long procession of choir, clergy and bearers left the .church

PILTON CHURCH BELLS

Donations should be sent to the Vicar, the Rev. M. St. L. HurstBannister, The Vicarage, Pilton, Shepton Mallet, Somerset.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS

LAST week we published the report of the 318 th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Year by year these fixed dates in the ringers' calendar occur, but repetition provides no weariness. Each of the great dinners of the 'craft,' to use the word of a recent Master of the Ancient Society, have their own characteristics. Of the College Youths it could be said that they approach in style the model of one of the City Companies. Despite the warmth of friendliness, there is a decorum about the proceedings. The entry of the Master accompanied by his stewards is more than the formal reception of the chairman that is accorded at most dinners.
One characteristic, not exclusive to the College Youths, is the respect-it almost reaches veneration-to those with long membership. The list of those present with over 50 and 60 years' membership who attend the function does not get less with advancing years. Mr. Alexander Young's innovation of some years back of honouring the 'Fragrant Memory of the Masters of 300, 200 and 100 years ago' provides one of these links with the past; there is a touch of solemnity as these men are honoured. Some of the former Masters have been men of distinction in state or commerce, but the vast majority are just ordinary men, with little known about them. Perhaps 'ordinary men' is not the right phrase, because by the very virtue of their election they were men who gained the respect and confidence of ringers of their day and generation; to the outer world ' ordinary,' but to their own intimate circle men who held the esteem of their fellows.

The experience of passing through such a chair is no light honour; the memory remains constant and these past Masters in a sense, although the College Youths have a democratic constitution, are the guardians of the Mastership. It is a sobering thought for any Master that if the Society and ringing remain as to-day their names will be read out 100, 200 and 300 years hence with perhaps an epitome of their lives. The Society should indeed appoint its historian to compile such details so that generations to come should know something of their forbears.

While the Masters in the main have come from the Metropolis and its environs, this is in no sense an exclusive prerogative. The provinces have made their contribution. An essential qualification for the Master is that he should attend the meetings of the Society and not be merely the figurehead at the annual dinner. With a programme of over 40 meetings a year held with one or two exceptions in London, the opportunity of the highest honour in this Society is outside the scope of most provincial members. But the College Youths have a far greater membership outside London, as is also the case with the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Of the 53 members who joined the Society last year, only four lived within the ambit of Greater London.

The question might well be asked, Why do ringers as far afield as Cornwall, Wales, Lancashire and even in distant British Columbia desire to join this venerable Society, or the Cumberlands? The practical privileges of membership are, in the main, denied them. Perhaps once in a while the country meeting of the Society will be held in their locality or they might possibly arrange for a peal of the Society to be rung in their neighbourhood, or again they can undertake the journey to London to be present at one of the anniversary dinners. It is, however, in the intangible benefits of membership that the urge to join is forthcoming. Probably the first is tradition, the consciousness of membership of a Society of continuous existence from the days of Charles I. This sense of heritage with the past wells a feeling of pride in the heart of man. But the tradition is not one of mere continuity. The College Youths pride themselves on a standard of achievement. This does not mean that every member is a perfect ringer, although a standard of performance is one of the qualifications for membership. (Whisper it not, but there are bad strikers in every ringing society, although some might have more than others.) Generally speaking, however, the Society maintains a high standard in its ringing based on the fact that the attraction to membership comes from men who are keen ringers, love bells and, above all, the fellowship of their fellow-ringers. 'Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.' These men look to the origin of organised ringing and thus become College Youths. Take any year and read the list of those who have passed over; they are invariably ringers honoured and revered who in their respective localities have given leadership in their own towers and enhanced the prestige of church bell-ringing. Their example is one to emulate and the honour of kindred association is indeed great.

Recent visitors to Cape Town have been Roy Hubbard from St. Mary's, Chartham, Kent, now serving in the M.V. 'Trevince,' who presented the tower with a fine new stay; and Roy Towler from Basutoland, formerly of All Hallows', Ordsall, Retford (one time secretary of the North Notts Association), who was a lay member representing Basutoland at the recent Synod. His vivacious company was much enjoyed, and Woodstock ringers were delighted to gain a quarter peal with him.
The 1,000 th peal for the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was rung at Heavitree on November 19th.
The many friends of Mr. W. J. Prescott, of Bath, will be pleased to hear that he is now back in harness again after several weeks of illness.
Brethren who took part in the Masonic peal at Mells would like to thank W. Bro. and Mrs. Nash for their very kind hospitality extended to them after the peal.
Seven members of Southampton -University Society, conducted by a member of Birmingham University Society, rang a peal at Netley Abbey on November 16th. The Southampton University Society have now visions of their first peal.

How pleasant to hear those little-used Rayne bells going once again on November 19th, to a peal which marked Peter Wood's entry into National Service. And still more pleasing to know that they were being rung by some of the Essex Northern Division 'forgotten men.'

The Misses Diana G. Ward and Joan M. Wilcockson, of Stanmore, write telling us of their happy holiday in South Wales, and through our columns would like to thank Miss Jean Powell, of Bedwellty, and others who made them so welcome.

GOSSIP

Mr. Denis J. Woodhams, of Tooting, sails for Australia on the 'Orcades' on January 4th. He has been appointed geologist to the Snowy Mountains Hydro-electric Authority at Cooma New South Wales, and expects to be away from this country for two or three years.

By ringing in the peal of Minor at Whetstone on November 12th, 13 -year-old Roland Cook, of Asfordby, Leics, has now taken part in peals of Doubles, Minor, Triples and Major

In the peal at Rugeley on October 15th (page 724) it was Roger Chicken who rang his first peal in three methods and first of Minor inside,' and not James B. Morley.
Miss Elizabeth Cooper (15) impressed the Beddington band on the way she rang her first quarter-Grandsire Caters. It was a fine start to her ringing career.

The correct report of the peal at Stanwell Middlesex, on November Sth should read M. Hatchett 1, Monica Howard 2, F. T. Blagrove 3-4, W. Birmingham 5, P. Lawrence 6, and not as Dublished.

Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins, at less than two months short of his 86th birthday, has rung a peal of Plain Bob Major at Oxford. Can he clain to be the oldest tower bell peal ringer?

We are pleased to report improvement in the condition of Mr. Frank E. Pervin in the Cleaver Ward, Gulson Hospital, Coventry. Mr. Pervin wishes to thank those many friends who have so kindly written him letters of sympathy and encouragement.

Congratulations to the Kent band, conducted by Mr. Mark S. Lancefield, who rang the peal of 5,280 Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods at Tonbridge on Nov. 20th. This is the third band to ring this peal. It is time Middlesex ringers pulled something out of the bag.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

PEAL RINGING IN SURREY

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WITH Surrey we come to another county where large numbers of peals have been rung (almost as many as Suffolk since 1881, despite the fact that more were rung in the earlier days of the period than now). Many of the famous London churches are in this county, which partly explains why, in many churches, we find a greater popularity 70 years ago than now. This is not true of the tower with the most peals-Beddington (10). There has been very consistent ringing here, and its 307 peals have come regularly through the years. Except for the war years, only in 1885. 1901 and 1909 has no peal been recorded, which is a great record. Even Loughborough Bell Foundry has threc silent years in its history-1910, 1918 and 1919whilst Crayford has two and Erith four. Onc-hundred-and-fourteen peals were rung from the first on the bells in 1877 to 1914; 129 came between the wars, and there have been 64 since 1943. Thus the average per year is greatest between the wars when probably the greatest achievements of 10 -bell ringing in the history of the art were accomplished there under Mr. C. H. Kippin. But space forbids enlarging on the matter
Holy Trinity, Guildford (8). comes very close to Beddington, for it has just reached the 300 mark, as was mentioned recently in this paper. Two previous peals had been rung before the first published in the ringing press (in 1899), and they were in 1780 and 1813. From 1899 to 1914. 56 were rung; from 1919 to 1939,133, and from 1943 to 1955, 109 (the average is dropping recently, for whereas 18 peals were rung in 1947, only one has been rung so far this year). Here we find Mr. A. H. Pulling the leading light at the heyday of this tower, which was also one of the leading centres in the country for advanced 8 -bell ringing.

At Ashtead (8). which is nearing the 300 mark with 286, we find a much greater popularity 50 years ago than now. It was first in the county before the first World War, for no less than 187 of the peais had been rung by 1914. For 15 years after the war the average was nearly as high-87 peals coming up to 1933. Then we find a sudden cessation. for only two more peals were rung before the second war, both in 1938. We nowadays come across an occasional peal, for ten have been rung since 1945. These three towers are a long way ahead of their nearest rivals. for none of the remainder have yet reached the 200 mark.
It will, no doubt, surprise many readers to find that the fourth tower in the county is St. John's, Waterloo Roaid (8), with 185 peals. One-hundred-and-cighty-threc were rung between 1882 and 1914 ( 65 from 1910 to 1914), which is nearly as many as at Ashicad in that period. The only two peals since 1914 were both rung in 1922. Now that the bells have been restored one hopes to find the tower in the peal lists again.

THE Two twelves

Since one of the two 12 -bell towers comes next in the list. we can conveniently mention them both now. Southwark Cathedral has 183 peals since 1881. Four came from 1881 to 1885, then there was a gap to 1903 , when 20 peals followed before 1914. The tower was very popular between the wars for 114 peals were recorded then and it has retained that popularity since. for 45 have been rung in the past ten years. This tower is noted for a great - tragedy. ${ }^{\text {' In }}$ 1923. 12.675 changes of Stedman Cinques were rung there-a great achievement considering the weight of the tenor, etc. This was found to be false some ten years later. But that does not lessen the accomplishment of those who took part-it was one of the most magnifieent efforts in ringing history. The other 12-bell tower is St. John the Baptist, Croydon. This has only been a 12 -bell tower for 20 years -before that it had cight bells. On the eight, 36 peals were rung between 1886 and 1912, and a further 13 from 1923 to 1927 (the last peal on, the eight was false!). Then came a ten years silence, at the end of which came the augmentation to 12. Nine peals were rung from 1937 to 1939, and there have been 14 since 1946.

Surrey has a large number of 10 -bell towers - 11 in all. Three of theso had eight bells at the beginning of the period and one was destroyed in the war (St. John's. Horsleydown. where only two peals had been rung since 1881 -in 1884 and 1885, so they had been silent for 50 years when disaster came). Two of the towers are 'centenarians,' both having 105 peals to record, strangely enough. They are St. Nicolas', Guildford, and Reigate. Both had their best periods prior to 1914 and show a similar decline. At Guildford, we find 69 peals between 1881 and 1914, 30 from 1919 to 1939 and six since the war. Reigate's decline is more marked, for 75 of the total were rung from 1883 to 1914, 29 from 1919 to 1937 and only one since the war-in 1945.
Leatherhead's 94 are spread fairly evenly over the past 75 years- 41 from 1881 to 1914 , 44 from 1919 to 1939 and nine from 1944 to 1954. Epsom, St. Martin, had eight bells until 1920. On these. 32 peals were rung prior to 1914 , and there were two more in 1919. It became more popular with its ten bells, and 55 peals were rung from 1921 to 1932. Then came silence for some reason or other. and there have only been four since the war. Haslemere was also an 8 -bell tower until 25 years ago. Fourteen peals had been rung from 1901 in 1913 and 17 from 1918 to 1927. It. too, became more popular after augmentation, and 39 peals came from the years 1928 to 1940 . Since the war there has only been one peal-i2 years ago in 1943. Kingston-on-Thames is enjoying its best period now. Of the 70 peals, 31 came bcfore 1914. 12 between the wars, and there have been 27 since 1945 (none this year so far, howcver). Camberwell has 42 spread fairly cvenly over the years, but with rather more in the carly period (five since the war-the last, seven years ago). Croydon, St. Pcter, has 39. Thirteen on the eight from 1887 to 1906, five on the ten in 1913 and 1914. 15 between the wars and 6 since. The last 10 -bell tower is Bermondsey. Only one peal has been rung since 1913 -in 1923. The remaining 21 all came from 1881 to 1913.

EIGHT-BELL TOWERS

We return now to the 8 -bell towers. There are three more, not already mentioned, which have reached the century (making ten centenarians in the county in all). They are Epsom. Christ Church, with 139 ( 60 from 1890 to 1914. 53 from 1916 to 1939 and 26 since 1945 -hut none since 1952). Mitcham. St. Peter and St. Paul (which was burnt down during the war). had registered 127. with more in the 1881 to 1914 period, on the averagc. than after- 95 as compared with 32 . The last 100 -pealer is Battersea. which has just reached that total in the period (but it should be remembered that most of the towers in this county. being so near London, have many older peals). Nincty of the 100 were rung from 1882 to 1914. and there were six from 1921 to 1936. Thus there there were six from 1921 to 1936. Thus there have been four since 1949. Next comes Southwark. St. George., with 96 (41 before 1914, 53 to 1939 and two in 1948 and 1951).
Ewell's 95 have come regularly since 1892 (32. 44 and 19 in the three periods respectively.) Chiddingfold and Putncy both have 91. At the former for the three periods we have 58, 22 former for the three periods we have 58, 22 and 11. and at the latter 79, 9 and 3 respectively. So Putney was far more popular 50 years ago. It is 24 years since a peal was recorded at Carshalton. Nevertheless it comes next in order with 86 peals 72 before 1914 . Hersham has 81 (35, 26 and 20 commencing in 1901). Horley has 77 ( 46,29 and only iwo since the war, in 1950). Lambeth, St. Mary, has 75 ( 35,14 and 26 since the war). Banstead and Farnham have 74. Both have been fairly consistent all the time. Walworth has 68 ; 65 from 1882 to 1906, and the remaining three in 1925 and 1926. Camberwell, St. George, has likewise nearly all the peals before 1914-62 of the 67. The others were in 1923, 1934, 1937, 1951 and 1952. There are no other 8 -bell towers with more than 50 peals, and that seems to be a convenient place to 'draw the line ' in this county.
No 6-bell tower has been mentioned yet and none have totals more than the above 8 -, 10 and 12 -bell towers. Actually, 6 -bell ringing has never been very popular in the county, it would appear. That is rather echoed by the fact that there are relatively few such towers in the county-almost the smallest proportion of any county with a similar number of towers. Limpsfield Chart has most peals- 62 ( 9 from 1905 to 1914, 43 from 1922 to 1938 and 10 from 1945 to 1954). Forty-five of Capel's 50 were rung before 1914 ( 18 in the years 1886 to 1890 , when it was the most popular tower of the Winchester Diocesan Guild). Four of the remainder have come in the last three years, so there was only one from 1913 to 1952 (in 1928). Buckland is the only other tower with more than 40 . It has 45 -only three since the war, in 1952 and 1953. Burstow (26), Seale (23) and Charlwood (22) complete the towers with more than 20 peals. All 8 - and 6 -bell towers have had peals, but several have been silent for a very long time. The recent peal at Wimbledon broke a silence of 69 years!
There are only six 5 -bell towers mentioned in Dove's book. Four of these have had peals. They are Hascombe (7). Ockham (6), and Old Coulsdon and Merton ( 3 each). All have been rung since the war, except one each at Ockham and Old Coulsdon. Chipstead and Tandridge are the only ones unconquered, but I believe the former is now out of the running, the bells being hung 'dead.' If that is so, I don't suppose it will be long before Surrey becomes the first county to have all its possible towers conquered! Or does Lecicestershire claina that? Peals include all published to Octoher 28th, 1955.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

' In extolment of a wedding.' was the footnote to a quarter peal reccived this week
The first meeting for many years of the Ladies' Guild in Gloucestershire will take place at Wotton-under-Edge on December 10th. Hopes are entertained that the lady ringers of the county will respond to this Western District quarterly meeting. Gentlemen are cordially invited.
The three generations represented at the College Youths' dinncr were the Hurrells, of Eltham. Kent. and not the Howells, of Barking. as stated in the report on page 745. They were Jim, Frederick J. and Geoffrey J. Hurrell. Recently the three took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Eltham, this being Gcoffrey's first peal 'inside.
Owing to certain romantic developnrents which are rapidly flourishing. an all-bachelor band rang a peal at Cold Higham on November 12th. During the peal a power cut occurred and the fourth 720 was rung in almost darkness. The expression on the faces of the band when the light came back was a sight to be remembered. It is hoped that the spinsters of the Towcester Branch will respond with a quarter peal.

MR. LIONEL H. PAGE

 AN APPRECIATIONMay 1. as one of his former pupils, express gravitude for the work of Lionel Page. whose death has just been reported in your columns. 1 speak particularly of the period when he was attached . O St. Mary's, Ealing. So keen was he, and he had the knack of imparting his enthusiasm to others, that within a little over 12 months he had, with the help of Jimmic Hunnisett, taught a band who were able to ring a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples.
He was an excellent instructor, who emphasised the importance of good handling and good striking. St. Mary's bells in those days were very odd-struck. and the wooden frame used to 'walk round the tower,' which also swayed considerably. In spite of these obstacles, the ringers he taught to ring those bells did strike them (although I say it!). It was usual to attempt quarter peals as often as possible (we used to mecr at 10 and 5.30 every Sunday), and I think we managed 38 in one year.
Lionel Page encouraged us to go about to other towers with him. but not hefore he was satisfied that we could handle and strike our bells properly. As a result, we were welcomed uherever we went. and the sound principles that had been instilled in us quickly bore fruit. Whatever success I have had in ringing, I know to be due to the excellent start II was fortunate enough to have. Oddly enough-or is it odd if one is grateful to and mindful of one's instructors? - I find the grealest pleasure in teaching recruits, and the greatest thrill when one's efforts are rewarded by adding one more to the ringing fraternity.
So let us hand on the work Lionel Page and his like have done. Let us pause a moment from our personal ambitions and remember Lionel Page. Are we setting as good an example to those less experienced; and. above all, what are we doing to secure the future of the Exercise?
And so. on behalf of his very many pupils. may 1 say thank you, Lionel Page, for all the patience and skill you lavished on us in our early struggle. I think you made real ringers of us.

FRED W. GOODFELLOW
Iver Heath.

MR. ALEC RUSBY

The death has taken place at his home at Cawthorne, Yorks, of Mr. Alec Rusby, at the age of 48. after a long illness.

A conscientious ringer for many years at All Saints', Cawthorne. Alec was always keen on upholding the local traditions of ringing, and would strongly resist any attempt to break or modify any special ringing. He was a likeable character. making friends easily as was shown by his London experiences: on a visit to the cup final some years ago he presented himself outside St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday morning and asked a policeman where the ringers ascended the belfry. Unabashed by the reply. 'You won't he allowed up there.' Alec joined the ringers. was welcomed by Herbert Langdon. Jack Phillips and Co.. and quickly made to feel at home. On subsequent visits he always called at St. Paul's, and although a 'Minor' ringer the found much in common with the College Youths.
Contest ringing was his special favourite, and he was a member of the Cawthorne team for many years in local competitions and kept the party enlivened on these occasions. He rang in four peals of Minor, and although he had no use for paper work he could stand in for over 30 Treble Bob Minor methods.

At the funcral the bells. which were halfmuffled, were rung by ringers from Cawthorne, Barnsley and Silkstone. A quarter peal was also rung after the service.

MR. W. H. L. BUCKINGHAM

The funeral service took place at St. Albans Abbey on Wednesday, November 23 rd , for Mr. Walter Harry Lee Buckingham, aged 89, who died the week previous at the home of his son at Wilmslow, Cheshire
Mr. Buckingham was born in St. Albans in 1866, and was elected a member of the newlyformed Cathedral Society of Change Ringers in September, 1884, under the late Mr. N. N. Hills. He joined the Hertford County Association at its inception and attended the first meeting in January, 1885. His election as a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths was also in 1885.

His first peal was rung at St. Albans Abbey on August 29th, 1885, and from that date he took part in a great number of peals. His first peal on handbells was rung in January, 1887, at the Goose and Gridiron, London. In the following March he was a member of the famous band that rang Holt's Original 'strictly silent' on handbells. Mr. J. C. Mitchell, another of the 'St. Albans boys,' also took part in this peal, and is now the only living member of the band.
On the resignation in 1894 of Mr . G. W. Cartmel. through reasons of ill-health, Mr. Buckingham was asked to take over the conductorship of the Cathedral Society, which he did until he left St. Albans to live at Bushey in 1896, but continued to conduct peals all over the county, many of which he composed. In 1903 he moved to Goodmayes, Essex, and did not return to St. Albans again until 1918.

He was a member of many societies and associations throughout the country, and although he kept no records. his peal total must have been at least 500 . His last peal for the Hertford County Association was in 1933 at St. Peter's, St. Albans, where he had assisted the late Mr. E. P. Debenham in 1887 to form a changeringing society out of the call-change band, and later rang many peals with them, as the peal boards testify.
His longest peal was the 12,096 of Double Norwich, at Maidenhead in 1892, a record length occupying 7 hours 10 minutes. Mr. Buckingham also took a prominent part in Masonic affairs, and held high rank in several Lodges, including the Provincial Grand Lodge of Hertfordshire and the Grand Lodge of England and Wales. He took part in several Masonic peals, notably the first Masonic Stedman Cinques at Chelmsford in 1926. and the first Masonic Surprise peal at Crayford in 1927. His passing severs another link with the old days when belfry reform came in and 'clean sweeps had to be made in many towers. Amongst those who were able to pay their last respects to his memory on November 23 rd were Messrs. E. R. Mitchell. H. Hodgetts, W. Ayre, H. Goodenough, W. J. Arnold. F. Beeson, G. W. Debenham and H. V. Frost.

A half-muffied course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells as the cortege left the Abbey, and in the evening half-muffled quarter peals were rung at the Abbey and St. Peter's.

MR. WILLIAM THOMPSON

A ringer at Pirbright Parish Church, Surrey, for over 60 years, Mr. William Thompson died on November 20th, aged 89 years. At the funeral service on November 23rd the bells were rung half-muffied, and the whole pull and stand rung by Messrs. A. C. Hazelden. F. Cherryman, S. Petter, E. Sherwood. Miss Eileen Turner and Mr. J. Avenell.

MR. W. J. NUDDS

The death occurred on Monday, October 31st at Edgware, of William J. Nudds, at the age of 86 or 87 . Unfortunately his wife was in hospital, and information was not available in timefor any of his friends to attend the funeral.
Older members of the Exercise will remember him as one of the band that W. Pye made so famous. The highlights of his career were the long peals of Stedman Caters at Loughborough about 1906. and at about the same time four Surprise peals in one day, rung in three different counties.

For several years he rang at St. John's, Stanmore, for morning service and at St. Margarct's, Westminster. for evensong. After ringing at St. Margaret's on the Sunday before the Coronation he fell on some stairs and damaged his ankle. Since then his visits to the tower had been few-the last at Stanmore in the summer of 1954 -and for the last few months before his death he was confined to his house.
He had rung 501 peals: great efforts were made for him to complete 500 before his 80 th birthday, but it was not to be; it was only reached a year or two later. His last peal was with the over-80s at Camberwell two years ago.
The bells at St. John's were muffied and a memorial quarter peal attempted unsuccessfully on the following Thursday.

MR. THOMAS GOODCHILD

We regret to report the death of Mr. T. Goodchild, who passed away at his home in Maidenhead on Friday, November 11th, after a long illness. He was 79 years of age.
Mr. Goodchild was born in Bray in 1876 and learnt to ring at St. Michael's. Bray, in 1884, where he rang for 30 years. He later moved to Maidenhead, and until his illness two years ago rang at All Saints', Boyne. Hill, where he was a regular and loyal rinyer for 40 years.
He kept no record of his peals. but it is thought he took part in about 50 peals in methods up to and including London. He was a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.
The funeral service was held at All Saints, Boyne Hill, on November 16th, attended by his widow and family, and several ringers. The bells were rung half-muffied before and after the service by visitors and local ringers.

MR. CLEM GLENN  AN APPRECIATION

Mr. Clem Glenn, who passed away recently, did much of his early ringing in Rotherham, and in the parish church peal records are many of the peals he rang in, over 50 years ago, including peals in most of the standard methods on 8 and 10 , both on tower- and on handbells. He usually was the conductor. One performance recorded is a peal of Grandsire Triples on handbells by a band of average age 19 years, conducted by Mr. Glenn.

He was much respected in Rotherham District for his views on what constituted good striking and good bell music. and his practical application of these ideas in the belfry, also for his courteous and firm manner and the hard work he did for the cause of Sunday service ringing. On November 6th the following ringers showed their respect by ringing, on the halfmuffled bells of All Saints Parish Church, Rotherham, 1,008 Plain Bob Major:-
Fat Maxwell 1. Betty Wardill 2, Margaret Mills 3, H. Woodall 4, P. Knights 5, F. Fisher 6, T. C. Ryder 7, N. Chaddock (conductor) 8.
N. C.

EWELME, OXON,-1.340 Doubles (St. Martin's, St. Simon's, Grandsire and Plain Bob): W. Fulker 1. F. Godden 2, J. Godman 3, R. Tuckwell 4. F. Absolom (cond.) 5. Mr. Winfield 6. Rung halfmuffied for the passing of Mr. E. S. Calcut!, an old ringer

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COLLECTION OF DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,-May I congratulate the Methods Committee on the completeness of their Doubles collection. Unfortunately they have four of the names wrong. The method they give as Antelope, and its reverse and new variations, was rung and named Imperial before the Methods Committee named it Antelope.

Not only did we ring it as Imperial, but the use of the name Antelope can only lead to confusion, there being already too many examples of two methods having the same name, due to ' modernising.' Will the Methods Committee please acknowledge that in the twin-hunt methods section methods 7.8,9 and 10 should read Imperial instead of Antelope.

Some of the compositions are also incomplete in the following groups:-

Groups C, D, E, F also have 12 one-part extents given by BPPPBBPPPBPP, and 12 onepart extents given by BPBPBBPPPBBP, and Groups J, K. L. M have 12 one-part extents given by PBPBPPBBBPPB, where $P$ is plain lead and B is bob lead.

Let us hope the Minor and Triples collections will be at least as complete as the Doubles collection.-Yours sincerely,

Stanwell.
F. T. BLAGROVE.

LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL BELLS

Dear Sir.-Having recently had the very great pleasure of ringing on the mighty bells of Liverpool Cathedral, I feel certain that Mr. R. H. Dove, when he wrote about Lancashire's 'twelves,' could not have heard this grand ring, considered by many to be the best, not only in Lancashire, but the whole world.

The fact that immediate local acoustics render changeringing on them somewhat unreadable --at least to the untrained ear--does not detract one whit from their beautiful organ-like tones and, fine as St. Nicholas' bells are, there is no doubt that local residents and visitors from far and wide do not place them in the same grade.

Lucky Liverpool ringers to be the proud possessors of these two magnificent rings !Yours faithfully,
' OLD BILL.'

SHIRLEY, WARWICKSHIRE

Dear Sir.-I should like to join with Mrs. Staniforth in congratulating the ladies who rang the peal of Major at Shirley, especially the stalwarts at the "heavy end.' It is to be hoped that we shall shortly see the first peal of Surprise by the ladies of this district.

I must, I feel, take this opportunity to draw attention to the incorrect locating of Shirley, an error due, perhaps, to the convenient but entirely misleading convention used by the posta! officials. Shirley is not, and never was, in the city of Birmingham. Shirley is one of the five towns that go to make up the extensive borough of Solihull. The correct designation is Shirley. Warwickshire.-Yours faithfully.

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.
Solihull. Warwickshire.

A GRAND PEAL

Dear Sir.-I should like to thank all the band who rang that grand peal of Cambridge Royal at Grantrem on October 22nd. I have heard a lot of praise from ringers and others. It was a treat to listen and hear these grand bells, and one ringer remarked. 'Only the best is good enough for them.'-Yours, ctc.,

Grantham.
TOM HALL.

FIRST PEAL OF ST. SIMON'S, 1732
Dear Sir,-With regard to the peal of St. Simon's rung at Courteenhall, I believe there has been at least one peal in the method since the last war, but I should like to point out that the Society of College Youths rang a peal of St. Simon's Triples on the front eight at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, in 1732. Presumably this was the first peal in the method.

Doubles ringers might be interested in the following four regular methods (Cranbourne first rung at Clewer on Sept. 4th, the other three at Stanwell on Oct. 8th).

PEALS OF ST. SIMON'S

Dear Sir --On behalf of the band who rang the 106 Minor methods 'in hand.' I wish to extend to Mr. Wilfrid Moreton and his band our sincere congratulations on their attaining the record number of 109 Minor methods, also "in hand."
The most methods that can be included in seven different extents at present is 112 . I understand that the Yorkshire band are to attempt this in the near future. We wish them luck.-Yours sincerely.

BEDFORDSHIRE YOUNG RINGERS

Although a somewhat smaller band than onz previous tours (being unavoidably depleted in number through illness, work, etc.), the seven members of the Bedfordshire Young Ringers who met on the weekend of October 29-30th nevertheless spent a most enjoyable time in Oxford.

Abandoning their usual mode of transport-bicycles-the journey to Oxford was by train. The first bells to be sampled were the light eight of St. Ebbe's. Here and at St. Aldate's (6) the visitors were pleased to enlist the services of two rirging veterans-Mr. Willis, Oxford, and Mr. Emery, Bromley-in touches of Plain Bob, Stedman. Cambridge, Kent, Double Court, ctc.
After lunch the first touch-Cambridge--was at St. Cross' (6), followed by Plain Bob, which unfortunately came to grief only a lead short of a quarter peal. Later, in the evening, at All Saints' (8). Mr. W. Judge kindly stood in and conducted another quarter attempt, this time Stedman Triples, which also very disappointirgly came to a rather untimely ending - 'swaps being the culprit on both occasions.

On Sunday morning the party joined the local ringers in touches of Plain Bob. Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and attended the service at the Church of St. Giles. In the afternoon we were met by Mr. P. Walker and with him visited the towers of St. Mary Magdalene's (6) and St. Thomas' (6), and the bells, especially of the latter, were, in spite of a friendly difference of opinion as to the pace at which they should be rung, eagerly kept going to touches of Oxford and Kent T.B., Cambridge, etc. (London would not go.) All too soon it was time to leave the spires and bells of Oxford behind and return to our various home towns and villages.

LATE NEWS

Mr. A. J. Pitman's composition of eight spliced Surprise methods was rung on November 25 th by the Chester Diocesan Guild at Macclesfield.

MEETING AT BUCKFAST ABBEY

Buckfast Abbey again proved a popular venue for the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild of Ringers' by-meeting on November 19th. The large belfry was soon filled with visitors, and ringing was provided to suit all tastes, including rounds on the twelve and a well-struck touch of Grandsire Caters, conducted by Mr. J. E. Lilley.

After tea at the Kings Arms Assembly Room, one new member from Townstal and three new members from All Saints', Babbacombe, were elected. A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast for the use of the Abbey bells. Ringing took place at Buckfastlcigh and Dean Prior parish churches in the evening.

DEDICATION

FELMERSHAM, BEDFORDSHIRE
After an absence of about 15 months, the old heavy five at Felmersham have been retuned and rehung. while at the same time three trebles have been added. The dedication service was conducted by the Bishop of Bedford, the Rt. Rev. A. C. MacInnes, on October 11th. The opening rounds were rung by the surviving members of the old local band, logether with one or two 'foreigners.'
Immediately after the service the bells were rung to Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major, and the 'go and tone were all that could be desired. The tenor weighs about $20 \frac{1}{c w t}$.. and the work was. carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank -

TOPIC FOR THE MONTH - XI.

Retrospect and Prospect

IN this closing month of the year we may, perhaps with some advantage, look back over the previous ten 'Topics,' and consider them in relation to the ringing of the future.

When, towards the end of last year, the idea of this monthly series for 1955 was put forward, official acceptance was given too late for its introduction in the first issue of tho paper for the month of January; but in the 11 articles now published it has been found possible to include most of the intended subject matter. This material, miscellancously propositional, factual and provocative, was intended to stimulate thought, discussion and possibly action. How far it may have succeeded remains to be seen; but at least it seems to have created interest; though not always have its points been interpreted in the intended light.

For example, Topic I-' Peals, Public Opinion and Progress' (Feb. 4th), was interpreted by some as a plea for the substitution of shorter peals. On the contrary it advocated, of course. the retention of full-length peal attempts where no local objection exists; but it suggested the addition of shorter length peals for attempts where full-length peals could not-for various reasons-be attempted; and this was for the specific object of gaining those advantages (including improvement) in ringing practice, which only the longer touches can provide. Further. the cultivation and not the alienation of public sympathy in this matter was advocated. Closer consideration of these ideas may yet be forced upon us, through the increasing influence of an organisation for the abatement of public noise. - Forewarned is forearmed!"

In Topic II- Blue Book and Register' (March 4th), was introduced a subject directly related to the previous one of peals-in fact. the scheduling of each and every method that should find official favour for peal attempts, listed in classification : also how performances in such methods should be centrally registered. For the former a 'Blue Book' was proposed in form of sections, with block-number allocations for the methods in each class. the entries being coded and brief. occupying one line per method and including the approved 'extensions. stages. For the 'Register' a Central Council Officer was suggested-the 'Registrar,' who would compile the currently-initiated volume as reports come in, and 'back' volumes from sundry records, preferably by reference, through kind permission of the Rev. K. Felstead, to his monumental research in peal records. Serial numbering annually with a year-prefix symbol would solve the present $\mathbf{v}$. past numbering problem.

Following this concept came, in Topic III. ${ }^{-}$Instruction Manual '(April 1st). This developed the idea that instruction must be wellfounded to train ringers for service ringing and up to peal standards. A complete synopsis of a suggested course of instruction was given. The support for this idea. particularly from towers in 'remote' areas, indicates probable future necessity for the detailed compilation of such a work.

On May 6th, with the Central Council meeting upon us, we acknowledged, in Topic IV. 'Ringers' Parliament.' the good work put into the revision of the Central Council's 'Decisions': but stressed two things: the need for careful 'territorial' consideration of the revisions, prior to the Council meeting; and sympathetic consideration for the sponsors of the work But the need was indicated also for the further consideration of some of the forms of dicta, as set out. One example, of several quoted, was that regarding the naming of "unrecognised' extensions. And only a fortnight ago in these columns we find a peal in one of these. blatantly announced by a name which.
unqualified, is not to be 'recognised '-' London Surprise Royal '-thus emphasising our point. We also indicated the need for inclusion of dicta on principles of method structure. The extraordinary cart-before-the-horse situation of this neglected branch of ringing science in relation to that of composition (which, of course, logically springs from it, but of which the principles have already been fairly well laid down), should clearly have been remedied, long since. Sooner or later these matters must be clarified. Topic V-'Taking it Seriously' (June 3rd), was. in part, a review of the previous Topics. leading to the point that each of us. as a ringer, has the personal responsibility to assume an objective ; as. for example, the furtherance of recruiting. Seven various ways and means of tackling the problem were suggested: and there seems little doubt that the future of the Exercise depends upon our 'taking it seriously.
In Topic VI-' Strike It!' (July 1st), we came back to this very practical aspect of ringing, and drew a parallel with performance on other musical instruments-but with a difference! Both employ tempo variation; but this was shown to be far casier for a musician in an orchestra, with a conductor to control and indicate the simulfaneously-varied tempo for all the players, than for a ringer in a band where the three tempos are not respectively varied simultanecusly for all performers (in fact, all three tempos are used at once, of course), and yet where precision striking limits are as close as, or closer than one quarter of a second! Much more attention, in fact, was shown to be necessary to car-training in the earliest stages of ringing instruction.

184. KINGSHILL DRIVE, KENTON, HARROW - MIDDLESEX

On August 5 th, by which time the recentlyaccepted revision of the C.C. 'Decisions ' had become known, our Topic VII-' Comes the Dawn?'-ventured to express the hope that the - spirit of widened outlook and broadened toleration of what may be rung with official blessing ' would have an invigorating effect upon the Exercise. It went on to develop the point briefly indicated as at the close of Topic IV above, and enlarged on the subject of the 'Specification ' of methods. It was shown that figures-no matter whether set out in the form of a 'lead' of rows, or of places made in the successive row-intervals of a lead-can never define a method family. The utmost they can do is to identify the particular form of the method applicable to that particular stage only. The modern way of a 'specification,' however, defines completely the method for any or all of its applicable stages. Specifications for extant methods can be deduced; but new methods will doubtless cventually all be designed to given specifications, and so published.

> CHRISTMAS GREETINGS
> A page will be reserved in our issue of December 23 rd for Christmas greetings to ringing friends. The last date for receiving same is Friday, December 16 th. Price $3 / 6$ for 42 words; above 42 words 1d. per word.

The Mecting ' was the VIIIth Topic (Sept. 2nd), and was intended to help those without much experience who were being newly-elected to office. The general arrangements for a meeting were first detailed, both preliminary and sessional. Since the successful administration of any society is partly dependent upon a sound constitution, a note was given on the compiling of rules. The procedure in session as viewed from the chair was then detailed: and lastly the order of agenda items was explained at some length, and the vital importance of adhering to this order for the efficient discharge of business was stressed. Economy of time and effort, with resultant efficiency, was the keynote.

The arresting title of "Sabotage or Succour?" for Topic IX (Oct. 7th) introduced the vital question of pupil- and ringer-wastage. It stressed the learner's responsibilities to his tutor and 10 the rest of the band, and reciprocally, and discussed the five types of delinquent in this "drift from the ranks. Remedial action was indicated and the need for future care in this field was emphasised.

And so, from a well-run meeting, through well-maintained membership of a band, we came naturally enough in our last Topic-X. 'Ringers' Club' (Nov. 4th)-to the organisation, within the band. of work essential to the maintenance of the 'quarters' of the 'club's' activities. In modern times. with so many distractions and time-stealers, the need for slick organisation and administration is obvious. With emphasis on the need for each member to undertake his or her share of some aspect of belfry maintenance or of administration of the band's activitics, we tried to show the helpful effect of congenial environment on the tone and degree of achic vement

In each of the Topics, then, an effort has been made to introduce a subject in which there is $a$ 'future'-a future which demands nothing less than our best attention. Perhaps, as the Christmas scason approaches, we may feel that there is no more opportune occasion in which to wish one another well in our efforts to promote good ringing: and to hope for happy peals in 1956. ## SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

Good Material to Carry on the Tradition

The fourth annual dinner of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford took place at the Stork Hotel, Walsall, on November 12 th . Accommodation was limited to 102 and all available tickets had been quickly disposed of.
The Archdeacon of Stafford (Venerable W. A. Parker) was in the chair, and he was supported by Mrs. Parker, Rev. W. S. Bethway, Vicar of Wombourn and Rural Dean of Trysull, and Mrs. Bethway, Rev. G. A. H. Rainbow, Vicar of Claverley, and Mrs. Rainbow, and Rev. F. Insull, Vicar of Bentley. Other visitors included Mr. C. Skidmore, Ringing Master of the Worcestershire Association, and Mrs. Skidmore, Mr. A. Glazzard (Hartlebury), Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett, Mr. H. Henshaw and Miss F. Scaman, together with ringers and their wives from Worcestershire and Shropshire. Apologics were received from Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary) and Mr. and Mrs. F. Colclough.
Following a very good meal, the chairman proposed the loyal toast. In his iemarks, Ven. W. A. Parker said what great pleasure it gave him and Mrs. Parker to attend this annual function. He was particularly gratified to notice the large proportion of young people present.
Mr. J. Bennett, brother of Mr. F. Bennett, lay secretary, proposing the toast of 'Church and State,' reminded his listeners that 200 years ago people in this country could be fined $1 /$. for not attending church at least once a month. Events of recent weeks had emphasised the close relationship between Church and State
Replying to this toast, Rev. W. S. Bethway said there were those who strongly favoured disestablishment. He was addressing himself especially to the younger members when saying there was no point in altering old traditions just for the sake of a change.
Proposing the toast of 'The Society; Mr. C. Skidmore said the members could be justly proud of their Association, It had been built up through the efforts of good, sound men in the past. For the present the affairs of the Society were in the hands of competent officials and, went on Mr. Skidmore, looking at the number of youthful faces present that evening there should be plenty of good material to carry on the traditions of the Society in the future. Mr. Skidmore made special reference to Mr. Herbert Knight, who had been associated with the Society for 60 years and who was present at the dinner that night, and Mr. John Roden, who represented the up-and-coming generation of young ringers.
In reply, Mr. John Roden, of Penn, said he was proud to be a member of the Society. He thanked Mr. Skidmore for his kind references and said he was sure the younger members would not let the Socicty down.

Proposing the toast of 'The Visitors,' Mr. Dennis Holden made a witty little speech (this after assuring the secretary that he was no speaker).

Replying, Mr. Jack Courtman, of Claverley, said he was sure all the visitors present had had a most enjoyable evening. He was always impressed with the good fellowship which existed amongst ringers.
This concluded the speeches, and Mr. Fred Bennett thanked the Archdeacon for taking the chair in his own inimitable manner, and the artistes for so kindly giving their services.
Entertainment was provided by the Tamworth Parish Church handbell ringers, under Mr. G. Peers, Mr. B. G. Key (aito), Mr. C. W. Kirtland (baritonc) and Mrs. Marion Key at the piano. An additional item was a few handbell tunes, rung by Messrs. B. C. Ashford, A Boxley and A. Glazzard, of the Worcestershire Association. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Messrs. David Barr 1-2, E. E. Speake 3-4. A. D. Collins 5-6, and D. Knowles 7-8.
During the afternoon the bells of Walsall Parish Church had been available for those attending the annual dinner.

OPEN DAY AT LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL

The Annual Open Ringing Day at Liverpool Cathedral attracted upwards of 80 ringers from all parts of the country; Lancashire and Cheshire were well represented. The President of the Lancashire Association paid an all-tooshort visit to the belfry in the company of the Vice-Dean of Liverpool, and the Very Rev. D. P. Roberts, a very old friend of Liverpool and District bell-ringers. Owing to fog and illness, bands from Ellesmere and Bolton were unable to attend.
Ringing ranged from rounds on the front eight (tenor 24 cwt .) to Bob Major on the back eight (tenor 82 cwt .). Bell-ringers from far and wide tried their skill on this most excellent ring of bells, a ring which is matched to perfection, every bell striking true and every bell setting fair, back and hand. There may be other rings of bells in the country in which every bell is true to ring and set, in which case this singlehanded throughout heaviest ring might be seriously challenged for pride of place.

It is hoped this Annual Ringing Day will be even better attended next year, hy which time it is hoped the tower will be completely handed over to the Church authorities.

Mr. J. Marsh brought a band from Aughton and asked to meet any other ringers who had rung on the bells of the old Cathedral in Church Street. Eventually one other stalwart was found to keep him company.

On future occasions, ringing would be much improved if bell-ringers came in bands rather :han as individuals.
E. L. H.

"The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmth, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

PEALS OF DOUBLES

THE painstaking researches of the Reverend K. H. W. Felstead regarding statistics of peals claimed to have been rung in the various counties cause ringers to look more carefully into the matter. When facts are assembled and re-presented they take on a different aspect. Thus we learn, as far as Somerset is concerned, that six peals have been rung on the heavy six at Queen Camel. Of five of these peals there can be no reasonable doubt, having due regard to the time taken, and of the bands which rang them. But of the sixth there is grave doubt. In the peal book of the Association concerned, it is recorded that six men rang a peal of Doubles on the bells in the year 1908 in the time of two hours and forty-eight minutes. It is perfectly obvious to the many ringers who know the bells, and still more so to those ringers who knew at least some of the band, that either the full number of changes was not rung, or that the time taken was grossly underestimated. Whether there was much comment at the time in the district is not now known. But then so much gets by without challenge. Some twenty years ago, the report of a multi-method peal of Minor asserted that a 720 of Little Bob was included in it. No comment on the matter appeared in ' The Ringing World,' but no doubt much was said outside, particularly to the conductor.

It is not uncommon for reports of very fast peals to be published. Usually they are peals of Grandsire Doubles, and generally they are rung by bands having no great knowledge or peal ringing experience. They cause adverse comment among knowledgeable ringers who are convinced that the performances as claimed are not valid. One instance can be recorded, however. The report of a peal of Grandsire Doubles was published and many ringers were quite sure that the facts could not have been as claimed. These doubts came to the ear of the conductor, whose first peal as conductor it was. A man of integrity, he was almost prepared to withdraw his claim to having rung the peal, but he did a very wise thing. He invited an observer to listen to, and to time a quarter peal, rung by the same band. The observer had the pleasure to record that the quarter peal was rung correctly, and in a time which was almost exactly one quarter of the time claimed for the peal. The band made no attempt to hurry things but rang at the natural pace of the bells, and the observer was able to report accordingly, and so silence the critics.

There was one error in the report-the tenor's weight was later found to be some 3 cwt . lighter than it was popularly supposed to be. It would be well if conductors of peals which are ultra fast, and which cause adverse comment, would repeat their alleged performance, or a part of it, after having given due notice to do so. Those ringers who have rung a peal in 160 minutes, and those, fewer in number, who have rung a peal in 150 minutes, and knowing how fast they had to ring, certainly open their eyes at reports of peals rung in 140 minutes or thereabouts.

How can such claims arise? Too often the time of the start and finish of a peal is only casually observed, not that that matters very much as a rule, but greater care should be taken when it appears that a fantastically fast peal is going to be rung. It is not particularly easy to call a peal of Doubles, accurately and in full. There are so many things which may happen. Nearly half a century ago, a young man started to call his first peal as conductor. The bells were steel bells, and because of their relatively large size for their weight, the wheels were unduly large, and the draught was no short one. The ropes were excellent ones as far as durability was concerned, but in wet weather they became almost unmanageably stiff, and it was wet for the occasion. The conductor's tutor and mentor, in spite of the rain, walked about the fields and lanes, heeding every blow. Some five six-scores from home the third and fourth ropes became entangled owing to one of the ringers missing his sally, and the conductor stopped the ringing. When the band met the observer, he asked what had happened. On being told, he commented in his inimitably dry way: 'It would have been love's labour lost, anyway, because you rang your 12 six-scores of Plain Bob all right, and so you did the first ten of your Grandsire, but when you came to the ninth six-score of your second ten, you called it B.S.B.S. instead of B.S.B.B.S.B. Not only that, as the bells came round at a single, you presumed that you had reached the end of the thirty-second six-score, and forthwith embarked on what you thought were the last ten.' The moral of this is plain. Had the weather been dry, and had the mentor been at home ill in bed, the report of the ringing would have been published as a peal probably, for there was no doubt that the band would have rung the last six-scores properly, unless, of course, the conductor had made a further mistake. And six young men would have been convinced that they had rung a peal. Doubtless there are others who imagine, quite wrongly, that they have rung in a peal. So it behoves all conductors of peals of Doubles to make as sure as it is possible that they and their band are not under a misapprehension. It is quite certain that the would-be conductor of the ringing of nearly fifty years ago did make certain, as far as it was humanly possible, that any future peals of Doubles that he might conduct were absolutely complete.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Surfleet, with its famous leaning tower and lightest ring of 12 bells, attracted about 40 members. friends and visitors to a mecting of the Elloc Deaneries Branch on November 19th. Ringing commenced at $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. A service, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. C. Leeke, was followed by tea in the Fraser Room; an excellent meal produced by Mrs. A. Richardson and helpers.

The Vicar acted as chairman over a short business meeting, at which the secretary (Mr. J. Allen) informed the members that he found it impossible to carry on his post after this year, and asked that nominations should be put forward for a successor to be elected at the next meeting, uhich would be the annual at Spalding. No other business was put forward, so with a vote of thank's to all concerned in the arranging of this meeting from Mr. J. Ames, the closure was applied.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

The quarterly meeting of the Monmouth Branch was successfully held at Bassaleg on Novembel 19th. Ringing on these six steel bells, cast in Sheffield. was ably conducted by the Branch Master, Mr. J. Alsop. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Bartle Jenkins, who heartily welcomed the Branch to Bassaleg.

An enjoyable tea followed in the church hall, prepared by the Bassaleg ringers and their wives. Mr. Arthur Hoare expressed the thanks of the gathering. At the business meeting new members were elected from Caldicot and Bassaleg. Ebbw Vale was chosen as the place of the Branch annual meeting in January. J. S. E.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD  Guildford District Secretary's Resignation

Nearly 60 ringers attended a meeting at Guildford on Nov. 26th in response to a circular to 'revitalise. the district. The meeting was also for nominations for district officers. and these were received as follows: Ringing Master, Mr. F. A. Munday; hon. secretaries (joint), Miss Monica Collins and Miss Ann Cox; hon. auditor, Mr. Horsman. Mr. R. Kenward, who had been secretary of the district for the past seven years, announced that he would probably be leaving Guildford shortly and could not accept nomination. He was thanked for his services by Mr. T. W. White, who presided.
Various suggestions were made for stimulating district meetings and helping backward towers with their practices and it was decided to place the item on the agenda for the annual meeting.
The chairman read a letter from Canon R. G. Clitherow, calling attention to the Diocesan Mission from April 15 th to 22 nd, and asking for ringers to make a special effort to ring the bells in their churches before the weeknight services.
A willingness to co-operate was expressed, but actual details could not be examined until parish programmes were available. It was suggested that where a shortage of ringers occurred help from neighbouring towers might be arranged.

Ringing took place during the afternoon at Holy Trinity Cathedral and St. Mary's, and in the evening at Stoke-next-Guildford and St. Nicolas'.

BELLRINGERS' SUNDAY AT WOLVERCOTE

The fourth annual Bellringers' Sunday was held at St. Peter's, Wolvercote, near Oxford, on November 15 th, and ringers' relations and their friends from 11 towers attended a specially arranged evening service. The address was given by the Rev. G. Savage, and the collection was in aid of the bell repair fund.
After the service a most successful social was held in the church hall. Refreshments were served and the visitors and ringers were entertained by well-known tunes on handbells by the Iffley ringers. Lady members of the Eynsham Choir. conducted by Miss D. Castell, sang several carols, and after a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells by city and university ringers, a very enjoyable evening concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne' and the National Anthem.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A pleasant meeting of members of the Northern District was held at St. Nicholas', Stevenage, on Nov. 19 th . In spite of the typical November weather there was a good attendance. During the service the Vicar welcomed the visitors.
Mr. K. Timbury was chairman at the business meeting held in the tower. Messrs. S. Lake and $\mathbf{R}$. Luxor were elected ringing members: Mr. B. Blaydon and Mrs. R. King-Salter (of Oldham) were elected non-resident life members. The annual district meeting will be held at Hitchin on Jan. 21st : the annual general meeting will be held in the Eastern District.
Corrections were made to the annual report, then ringing started again, with methods ranging from rounds to the special method. Painswick College Bob.

A half-muffled peal of Grandsire Doubles, attempted by the University of Bristol BELARE after an hour's ringing. The peal was to have been in memory of the late Clement Glenn, who was an honorary member and one of the founders of the Society.

All reports and correspondence for insertion in 'The Ringing World' should be addressed to the Editor.

We regret to hear of the passing of an old Kent stalwart, Mr. William J. Walker, of Rainham, aged 87 years.

As an 83 rd birthday compliment to Mr . Herbert Knight a peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, on Dec. 3rd. Mr. Knight rang the third.

Readers will miss Mr. Tom Cullingworth's name from our peal columns for a few weeks. He was riding his auto-cycle recently when he ran into the back of a lorry and fractured his arm.

We regret to learn that Mr. C. Mayne, of Harrow, is seriously ill in hospital with coronary thrombosis. At present he cannot see visitors but letters would be welcome. His address is Bushey Gencral Hospital, Windmill Lane, Bushey Heath, Herts.
In reporting a failure to call his first peal en cight bells at Wadhurst, Mr. C. A. Bassett recounts that the attempt was to have marked his wedding anniversary on Nov. 17th, his birthday on Nov. 24th and that of his wife and Albert Relfe on Nov. 27th. News of the attempt spread locally, and a press photographer and reporter saw the start. Alas, when the report and pictures appeared in the press the following day, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bassett were able to read about their silver wedding anniversary! As they had been married only 21 years the report has caused much leg-pulling.

BELFRY GOSSIP

After the peal at Merriott Somerset, the ringers were met by the Vicar and congratulated on the peal and were given refreshments in the Vicarage.

Congratulations to the Willesborough twinsRosemary and Rita Gower-on ringing their first peal of Minor. It was regretted that Mr. Ted Ruck, the tower captain, was not present to share in their success.

St. Helen's, Sandal, Wakefield, band have a promising number of young ringers who on Nov. 27th rang a 720. They are Miss J. Wray (16) 1, G. Maynard (19) 2, Miss J. Goodwin (16) 3, C. Morris (17) 4, J. Cutt (conductor, 20) 5, P. Petch (20) 6.
Welcome, Durham University, to the list of peal ringing university societies. The Society rang its first peal at West Hartlepool on Nov. 26th. Seven of the participants are at King's College, Newcastle, and the ringer of the fifth is at Hatfield College, Durham. Enthusiasm abounds at Durham, however, despite their small representation, as Robin Worsdell has about a score of learners at various stages all 'coming on nicely.' He has even managed to extract a monetary grant for the students' representatives council.

The tenth bell of St. Mary Magdalene's, Taunton, which is 15 cwt ., has been removed to the Whitechapel Foundry for recasting. This bell, which bears the inscription "purchased and placed in this tower of St. Mary Magdalene, Taunton, by voluntary subscriptions, 1840. Henry Badcock, John Turtie and Robert Henry, churchwardens, has been cracked. According to local press reports the bells cannot be rung because they are unsafe, being too high in the tower. It is estimated it will cost about $£ 3,000$ to have the bells of the only ring of 12 in Somerset hung lower.

PEAL RINGING IN SUSSEX

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

$T$HE three counties beginning with Su have all been prolific peal ringing counties and we now come to the last of them-Sussex. This is the only county which can claim three towers which have passed the 300 mark in peals. There is also one in the mid-200's and four other centenarians, so there is plenty to talk about here.

The leading tower is St. Peter's, Brighton, where 329 peals have been rung since 1881. As is usually the case with towers with large peal totals, they have been spread evenly over the whole period. As an 8 -bell tower, 173 peals were rung from 1882 to 1914. There was just time to ring the first two peals on the 10 bells before the 1914-18 war put an end to activities for the time being. The 20 years after the war saw 128 peals rung. but since 1945 the average per year has dropped, for only 26 have come since 1945 (none this year so far). Sixty years ago, the Brighton band was about the foremost in the country, with Mr. George Williams one of the leading lights. Mr. G. Baker, the famous composer, is one of the last survivors of that band, and it is a pleasure to see his occasional comment on various matters in 'The Ringing World.
At Warnham (8), the peak period was at the end of the last century, for no less than 145 peals were rung from 1886 to 1899 (about 11 a year average). A further 36 were rung from 1900 to 1914 (a considerable drop). Between the wars there was increased interest again, and we find 102 peals rung in those 20 years. There have been 34 since 1946 (a slight diminution of activity again with none this year so far). Thus the total is 317.

Close behind Warnham comes Crawley (8) with 313 . There were 137 in the pre-1914 period here and 146 between the wars, which means a greater average per year. There have been 30 since 1945. All three towers have records for first peals in new methods and long lengths. Thus Warnham still holds the record for Canterbury Pleasure Major, with 13,440 changes in 1889, whilst Crawley held the Superlative Surprise Major record from 1894 to 1910 with a 9,312.

TWO NOTED TENS

We now come to the tower which has passed the 200 -peal mark. It is another of the three 10 -bell towers in the county (there are no 12 's) -Lewes. Here we find more peals rung early on than since, for 140 were rung from 1883 to 1914 as compared with 94 from 1919 to 1939 and 13 in the last ten years. The third 10 -bell tower is a centenarian. so all three have been very popular. It is Brighton, St. Nicholas', where again we find greater activity 50 years ago than since. Out of the 137 peals, 96 were rung from 1883 to 1914 with exactly one-third that number between the wars. The remaining nine have come since 1945-a further diminution.

Having dealt with all the 10 -bell towers, we return to the 8 's. Apart from the two already mentioned as having more than 300 peals, there are three which have passed the 100 mark. First is Steyning. This was a 6 -bell tower at first, and very popular too for that type of tower in those days, for 30 peals were rung in four years from 1886 to 1889 . One more was rung in 1890 before augmentation and then came 81 peals up to 1903. Peal activity was already dwindling, for only 25 peals came from the next ten years. After the war, the average was one a year, and it has remained at that since 1945 for there have only been 9 since 1946. The total is 165 . Heene shows a similar history of :lessening activity which is even more prosnounced than at Steyning. Of the 155 peals, 131 were rung from 1883 to 1914 ( 39 in the four years from 1910 to 1914). There were only 17 from 1919 to 1936 and seven from 1947. Lastly comes Eastbourne, Christ Church, with yet again its glories in the past. Seventy-eight of the 108 peals came from the years 1888 to 1914. as compared with 22 from 1919 to 1939 and eight from 1946 to 1951 (none since).

EIGHT-BELL TOWERS

Salehurst (8) is nearest to the 100 mark, and here we find the greatest activity (for a change) in the middle period. Only five of the 92 peals had been rung by the time of the first war, but 75 came afterwards. There have been 12 since 1943 (none this year yet). Cuckfield (8) and Rotherfield (8) each have 79. The number of peals in the three usual periods at the former is the reverse of the latter. At Cuckfield we find 38 before 1914, 20 between the wars and 21 since 1945 At Rotherfield, 20 before 1914, 21 between the wars and 38 since 1946, which is the most in any tower in the county for the post-war period, so it is doing well at the moment. Cuckfield's peals actually started much earlier than Rotherfield's. Arundel and Henfield (both 8 's) each have 70 peals. The lean period in both was between the wars and the heyday early on. Sixty-one peals were rung at Arundel before 1914 and only two between the wars (in 1933 and 1937). There has been a revival of late and seven peals have been rung in the last four years.

Henfield had 51 from 1887 to 1914, seven from 1918 to 1935 and 12 from 1945 to 1951 (so there is a slump again of late). Hurstpierpoint (8) has only had two peals in the last 24 years, both in 1948 . There were 38 from 1881 to 1914 and 26 from 1919 to 1931. So peal activities came to rather a sudden end 24 years ago. The total is 66 . Billingshurst and Buxted both have 65 . Both are 8 -bell towers again and both have had the peals fairly regularly through the years, which is rather different from the general trend in the county. Both also started in the $1880^{\circ}$ s.
They are followed by Withyham (8) which is enjoying its best period now. Only six of the 61 had been rung before 1914, then there were 30 from 1919 to 1937, and there have been 25 in the last ten years. St. Mary's, Eastbourne (8), and Shoreham (8) each have 60. At the former, there were 37 peals from 1884 to 1913,13 after the first war to 1939 and ten in the last eight years. At the latter the numbers are 25,23 and 12 for the same periods. Fifty-eight peals have been rung at Horsham, including the first peal ever of Oxford Bob Triples in 1882. From that year up to 1914, 32 peals were rung, then there were 16 from 1921 to 1935, and there have been ten since 1946. That completes all the 8 -bell towers with more than 50 peals. All have been 'conquered' and only five have not had a peal since the war. Two of these are at BrightonSt. Paul's, where the last of the 32 peals was rung in 1912, and The Good Shepherd, where only two peals have been rung-in 1927 and 1929. The others are Upper Beeding. Bolney and St. Clement's, Hastings.

SIX-BELL TOWERS

No 6-bell tower has as many peals as those above mentioned. We find the most at the amazing tower of Angmering. I mentioned this in the very first article I wrote on the subject. No less than 46 peals were rung in the years 1888 to 1891. and then came peal silence for 59 years when four more were rung from 1950 to 1954. Thus it has now reached 50 peals, but it took 63 years to get there from the 46 mark. Worth comes second with 38 peals. The first was in 1887, and only West Tarring had a peal as early as that year in 'The Bell News.'

There were 11 before 1914, 12 from 1926 to 1939 and 15 since the war.
West Tarring and West Grinstead both have 31. Both are doing well at the moment with 14 peals since the war. Warbleton has 26 , exactly half since 1946 , Shipley 24,13 since the war, and Midhurst 20 , but 19 of these were rung from 1888 to 1905 , the twentieth being in 1952. That is all the towers with 20 or more peals. All the towers have been 'conquered,' but seven have only one peal to record and three of these were rung long ago. Thus Chailey's only peal was in 1898. Harting's in 1903 and Rodmell's in 1909. The last tower to have its first peal appears to be Rudgwick-in 1952.

Of the ten 5 -bell towers, seven have had peals and most have been rung since the war ( 18 out of a total of 29). Hammerwood has most-nine (seven since the war), then follow Bodiam and Twineham with six each. Amberley has four (tho first three from 1893 to 1895), Itchingfield two and Ewhurst and Hooe one each. Still to be 'conquered ' are Pagham and Ripe; so, like Surrey, it may not be long before this county can claim peals on all its towers with serviceable rings. Peal totals include all published up to October 28th, 1955.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

Ringers from a wide area attended the November meeting which was held at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Darlington, with its six light, lively bells. The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Donald Goldie; the theme of his address was based upon knowledge, anonymity and teamwork, and drew the likeness of these features of ringing and the work for God and the Church. Peter Rock officiated at the organ and the lesson was read by F. W. Cooke.
About 40 members. friends and guests sat down to a wonderful tea, provided by the ringers' wives. Thanks were expressed to the ladies for the tea by the Vicar. Brian Harris thanked the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells.
Ringing took place to 8.30 p.m.. consisting of Grandsire, Stedman Doubles. Boh Minor, St. Clement's, Oxford Bob, several Surprise methods. including spliced methods.
A band of ladies rang a 120 of Bob Minor, which must be the first in the district by an allladies band.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The November meeting was held at Ossett on Nov. 26th. Bells were rung up soon after 3 p.m. and good use was made of the ringing time until tea was served in the local schools, when some 25 members enjoyed a meat tea.

The business meeting was held in one of the classrooms. Owing to the illness of the secretary, the duties were carried out by Mr. Lofthouse, and Mr. Strangeway was pressed into service as chairman. The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens. local company and ladies was ably proposed by Mr. 1. Slack, who said the Society's biennial visit to Ossett was one of the best meetings. This was seconded by Mr. Hogg. Mr. Fred Bennett replied and promised to pass on the thanks to the persons concerned. Enquiries were made regarding the secretary's illness and also of the recovery of the Ringing Master (Mr. L. Drake). The acting secretary spoke of the slow but steady improvement of Mr. L. Fisher after his very severe accident while working Members were present from Armley. Bradford, Drighlington, Horbury, Keighley, Leeds Parish Church. Pudsey, Chapel Allerton. Rothwell and Waketicld.

The next meeting is due to be held at Wakefield on Jan. 28th.

DEVON'S FIRST THOUSAND PEALS

- It is suggested that if the Guild, as seems likely, rings its 1,000 th peal in 1955, a special effort might be made to mark the occasion. So ended the 1954 Report of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers' peal secretary, Mr. A. L. Bennett: and when early in October, 1955, it seemed that it was time to start arranging something, the general secretary had the bright idea that it would be very appropriate if the 1.000 th peal could be rung by a band of officers, one from each of the Guild's eight branches. The secretary of his own branch nobly consented to stand aside if necessary, the other seven were duly warned to be available at very short notice, and the Vicar of Heavitree most kindly consented to place his tower at the Guild's disposal.

The reasons for choosing Heavitree were that it is very central, more peals have been rung there than in any other tower in the county, and the bells are far-famed for their glorious tone. There was no doubt as to who should do the calling. With his 117 peals for the Guild, of which he has conducted 50, Mr. Tom Myers leads the field. with the rest a long way behind and provided that the striking comes up to the standard he demands, a lost peal with him in charge is a very rare event.
These preparations having been made, a careful count was kept of Guild peals as they were rung. and advance news of future attempts sought from all likely sources. At the beginning of November it was apparent that zero hour was rapidly approaching, but the organiser received something of a shock on College Youths Dinner morning, when partaking of muchnecded refreshment in good company at Beddington. There, staring at him from the pages of a borrowed 'Ringing World,' was the report of a peal of which he had no knowledge (although much later he dimly remembered having been offered a rope in it!). He assumed that the peal secretary, with whom he had been in close touch all along, hadn't heard of it either, and when on his return to Devon he received news of two more recent successes, which brought his tally up to 999 . he immediately sent out calls for action stations fon November 19th.

Difficulties soon presented themselves. The Mid-Devon Branch had a most important meeting at Buckfast Abbey on the appointed day at which all their officers were in duty bound to attend : the only available officer of the N.W. Branch was away for ten days, and two more peal attempts were under way during the week. The organiser of one of these, Mr. Sidney Skinner. most unselfishly agreed to cancel his effort: the other failed to materialise. However. on the due date a band composed of six Branch Secretaries, one Branch Ringing Master, and the General Secretary assembled at Heavitree. and a good peal was rung: incidentally, the first officers' peal for the Guild.

Mr. Tom Myers had chosen Holt's Ten-part, not merely because it is a great favourite of his, but because in all probability it was the composition called by Col. C. A. W. Troyte for the Guild's first peal. at Huntsham on Feb. 2nd, 1875.

The band would like to associate with the peal the names of Messrs. A. L. Bennett and J. W. Sangwin (the secretaries of the branches not represented), and to thank ihe Rev. E. Royle for granting the use of Heavitrae bells, as well as that grand old stalwart Mr. C. G. Glass, for having everything ready and for meeting them afterwards.

MILVERTON, SOMERSET.-On Nov, 14th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: J, Cowley 1. A. Chilcott 2. Miss F. Hartley 3. W. Nurcombe 4, F. Caseley (cond.) 5. I. Hill 6. First quarter for 1,2 and 3. Rung for the Duke of Cornwall's seventh birthday.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Midland District at Derby
The Midland District of the Ladies' Guild held a most enjoyable meeting on Nov. 19th at Derby Cathedral, where a very warm welcome was received. The ten bells were made good use of and were rung during the afternoon and evening to a variety of methods.

Whilst in the belfry, photographs were taken of a group of lady ringers, representing several counties of the Midland District: one of these photographs appeared in "The Derbyshire Advertiser' dated Nov. 25th.
As always, an important feature of the meeting was the service. This was conducted by the Succentor, who welcomed the Ladies' Guild to the Cathedral, stating that it was the first bellringers' service at which he had officiated, and asiked to be forgiven and corrected for any errors he might make regarding campanological terms! However, this was not necessary and he acquitted himself very well.

A delightful tea, very much appreciated by everyone on such a typical November day, was served in the nearby Diocesan House by the local ladies.

Miss Thompson, vice-president, expressed thanks to all concerned. especially to Mr. Harold Taylor, for making the local arrangements, adding that it was a double pleasure to visii Derby Cathedral, as they had been invited to go there. Since it was the last meeting of the year, Miss Thompson thanked the gentlemen for supporting the meetings throughout the year, and said that she hoped they would continue to do so during 1956.

At the business meeting, apologies were received from seven members. Mrs. M. J. Corby was elected an honorary member and Miss J. Brown a ringing member.

It is hoped to hold the next meeting, the annual, at Nottingham in February.
J. M. S.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The autumn meeting of the Saxmundham District was held at two towers, Kelsale and Saxmundham, on Nov. 5th.

The attendance was low but some good friends were welcomed from Stonham Aspal and Ufford. It was regretted that a service could not be held owing to previous engagements of the rectors.

Ringing commenced at Kelsale in the afternoon, and Saxmundham in the evening, when many methods were rung. An adjournment was taken for tea, and a short business meeting held. when Leiston was chosen as the place of next meeting on Feb. 11th.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

About 30 members attended the November meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society at Patrington. The Society's chaplain. the Rev. G. Storer of Hutton Cranswick, conducted the service.

At the business meeting the president. Mr. A. E. Sellers, asked members to stand in remembrance of Mr. Clement Glenn, whose tragic death took place on October 23 rd, after ringing for evening service at Bulwell, Notts. Mr. Glenn was a great loss to their Society. His death at the age of 72 had remaved from the ringing world a sound and brilliant ringer. He was well known among the members and ringers of the East Riding, having resided in Hull and district for a number of years as a naval reservist, holding the rank of first lieutenant.

After the meeting ringing was resumed until 8 p.m.. under the supervision of Mr. $\mathbf{L}$. Rodmell. Ringing Master.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD  Stockport Branch

The last meeting of the year was held at Hyde on Nov. 26th, when some 70 members and friends were present. Ringing was enjoyed from early in the afternoon on the fine ring of eight bells, ranging from rounds for the beginners to Surprise Major for the more advanced.

The usual service was conducted by the Vicar of Holy Trinity, Gee Cross, who gave a very interesting address, basing his remarks on the custom of the Jewish high priest who entered the Holy of Holies once a year and then only after careful cleansing and preparation. He drew a parallel between this and the Christian need at Advent for self-examination and rededication at the beginning of a new Christian year.

Tea was served in the nearby schools when, in spite of the fact that there was about a third more present than had sent names. an excellent meal was enjoyed, ably served by the local ladies.

At the business meeting the venues and dates of 1956 meetings were suggested as follows: Annual mecting, Stockport (St. George), Jan 28th; meetings on Apr. 28th, Bowdon; June 23rd, Taxal; July 21st, Mobberley: Sept. 29th, New Mills, and Nov. 24th, Bredbury. Final arrangements and dates were left to the secretary's discretion. A committee was appointed to arrange a social early in the New Year in conjunction with the Macclesfield Branch. The following new members were elected: J. A. Booth (Hyde), R. Smith (Bowdon), M. C. Heap and I. Shaw (Mottram), G. Massey and D. Hough (Dunham Massey), and the belfry elections of D. Taylor, T. Taylor, G. McKay and P. Border were confirmed.

Mention was made that the Bishop of Chester had visited the ringing room when on a visit to Bowdon, and had taken part in a touch of Grandsire Doubles. The branch extended its congratulations to the band which had the previous night rung a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in eight methods, in which all the bells do all the work of all the methods.
A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of Holy Trinity, who had left a function in his own parish to take the service, because Hyde (St. George) is at present awaiting the induction of a new vicar, to the wardens, the local ringers, the organist and the ladies.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the large number of young ringers present; at least a third of those present were under 18 years of age.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

At the Northern District quarterly meeting on Nov, 26th there was a large attendance. Under the guidance of Mr. F. E. Collins, Ringing Master. the eight bells of St. Giles', Ashtead, were rung from rounds to Kent Treble Bob.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. Douglas, followed by tea, laid on by Mr. J. Symonds and the ladies, for 53 ringers from 14 towers.

At the nomination meeting the following were nominated: Ringing Master, Mr. F. E. Collins; secretary. Mr. W. Parrott ; treasurer, Mr. H. M Pitstow. M.B.E. ; auditor. Mr. Layton; com mittee, Messrs. A. J. Adams, J. Mudd, G. Peters, A. J. Weise, E. Young; "The Ringing World,' representative, Mr. A. J. Weise.

Further nominations can be sent in to the secretary (Mr. W. Parrott) by Dec. 3ist. The annual district meeting will be held at Beddington on Jan. 28th.

The business meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to Mr. J. T. Symonds for arranging the meet'ng. Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

KINGWESTON BELLS

Dear Sir,-Below 1 attach a cutting from 'The Daily Sketch' of Nov. 22nd which has been sent to me by a ringing friend.

Ding-dong
The peaceful countryside indeed! We get bellringers pulling their hearts out until after $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. They even play popular tunes like "Put another nickel in.'-A. F. S., Kingweston, Somerset.

Tin Pan Alley on the old church bell? Bit of a clanger, that.
As a member of two bands which have visited Kingweston recently I have written a letter of protest. with I hope adequate force, to the cditor of 'The Daily Sketch,' which I trust he will have the decency to publish.-Yours sincerely.
E. T. PAUL FIELD.

Long Sutton, Somerset.

GRUNDISBURGH

Dear Sir,-The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards is correct. The old five bells were augmented to six in 1831, eight in 1897 and ten in 1946. Two peals of Minor were rung in 1891 and 1896 respectively, and 11 of Major between 1897 and 1904.

The bells are now available for peals to any band who care to apply and are rung twice each Sunday and Thursday evening.

FATHER OF THE IRON TRADE

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{Mr}$. Rowe is correct in saying Wilkinson (1728-1808), of Coalbrookdale, built the first iron bridge and the first iron barge.

Whilst 'Iron-mad' Wilkinson, as he was called. was known as the father of the South Staffordshire iron trade,' Samuel Walker, of Rotherham, one of Wilkinson's contemporaries, has also in Yorkshire been called 'father of the iron trade.'

Undoubtedly Wilkinson's name figures more prominently in history, particularly as the maker of cylinders for Watt's new steam engine. Wilkinson so loved iron that in his office he kept an iron coffin in which he hoped to be buried.

Iron was smelted in many places, including Rotherham, centuries before the birth of either Wilkinson or Walker, but it was during and following their lifetime that the great expansion in iron smelting took place ( 17.000 tons in 1740 to four million tons in 1860).

Walkers. of Rotherham, were the only firm considered able to make the new Southwark Bridge, which had two arches spanning 210 feet and one 240 feet, and a bridge appears as part of Rotherham's coat-of-arms.

Whilst Rotherham has, since Walker's time, continued to expand its production of iron and steel. the iron works of Coalbrookdale have become less productive than formerly.

Thanking Mr. Rowe for his interest in this subject.-Sincerely yours,

> NORMAN CHADDOCK.

Rotherham, Yorkshire.

ST. SIMON'S DOUBLES

Dear Sir,-As one of the band who rang 5,040 St. Simon's Doubles at Oakley, Beds, on Oct 28th. 1937. and which (to quote Mr. Stote's letter) has been "claimed in some quarters as the first in the method,' I would like to say that no such claim has ever been put forward by any of those who took part in the abovementioned peal.

The Bedfordshire Association's annual report for 1937 states that it was the first in the method by the band and in the county. The conductor was not the late D. L. Cockings (though he fixed it up).-Yours faithfully.
C. H. HARDING.

Blunham Beds.

METHODS WANTED

Dear Sir,-Could someone please supply the figures of the following methods: Erith Little Bob, Little Canterbury, Little Albion T.B., Dartford L.B., Northfleet L.B. and Ninian Doubles, rung by the Swainswick, Somerset, band in their Coronation peal of June 3rd, 1953. -Yours sincerely, Stanwell.

FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

SS. SIMON AND JUDE

Dear Sir,-Further to Mr. Morris' reply about churches dedicated to St. Simon, there is a St. Simon's Church in Southsea, and there is also a St. Jude's Church (in the neighbouring parish).

St. Jude's has a musical octave of tubular bells. As to St. Simon's-some 20 years ago the Vicar of Portsea received an irate letter about the bells on Wednesdays in the early evening. Knowing this was not the practice night at St. Mary's, one of the staff listened for these 'bells' and got on a bicycle to track them down, to find the sound blaring from very small louvres in the roof of St. Simon's Church. before their mid-week service! They had apparently recently installed a bell-record apparatus. There is no tower at St . Simon's, and whether the 'bells, still ring there I do not know.-Yours faithfully,
Y. L. ELOIE.

Salisbury.

EARDISLAND DELIGHT

Dear Sir,-The method recently rung as Basingstoke -Delight Major was first rung to a peal as Eardisland Delight on Dec. 26th, 1953, at Eardisland, Herefordshire.-Yours sincerely, WILFRID F. MORETON.

LITTLE BOB MAJOR IN WALES
Dear Sir,-Has there ever been a peal of Little Bob Major rung in Wales, and when and where?-Yours faithfully,

Llandudno.

JOHN ROBERTS, N.W.A.

MILE FOR MIKE

Dear Sir,-I see that my attempt to write in bed has resulted in one letter being mistaken. The old Dorset contraction for Michael was not ' Mike,' but MILE: Michaelmas was known as Milemas.
Mr. Morris' theory about St. Miles is most interesting.-Yours sincerely,

> F. Ll. EDWARDS.

Charing Cross Hospital, W.C. 2 .

Dear Sir,-The name Miles is a contraction of Michacl. The Church of St. Michael, Coslany, Norwich, is more generally known as St. Miles'.-Yours faithfully,

DAVID CUBITT

CHICAGO BELLS

Dear Sir.-I was very interested in the article by James R. Lawson regarding Chicago bells in your iscue of November 4th. I would, however. like to make a correction as the home town of my brother, Mr. F. J. Rumens. was London-not Leeds as stated in the article. Both he and myself commenced ringing at St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, in the early years of this century.-Yours truly,
H. RUMENS.

EWELL'S NINTH OUTING

This year's outing of the Ewell (Surrey) ringers was perhaps even more of a success than any of the previous eight, for the schedule. which allowed ample time for ringing at seven towers, was rigidly adhered to without any obvious. haste.

Fifty-six people made up the party, 24 of whom were ringers, at all stages of advancement, which accounted for the considerable variation in the quality of the ringing.

At precisely $8.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. our two coaches drew up at Apsley End, Hertfordshire, to find Mr. A. V. Good waiting outside his church in the sunshine. An hour later we arrived at Hemel Hempstead, two miles distant, where Mr. Gates had the bells ready. It was here that something went wrong with the hearing of the tenor ( $19 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt.) ringer in the touch of Stedman Triples, for he let the bell down amongst the others and didn't know it! At these first two towers we had the benefit of Mr. Walter Ayre's welcome presence and advice.

Leaving with reluctance, we skirted Whipsnade Park on our way to the ancient church of St. Giles at Totternhoe, Beds, where Mr. Scott had kindly made preparations for our arrival. We were complimented on our ringing here by a villager standing near the farm outside.

Travelling along the old Icknield Way to Dunstable we had a meal and then made our Way to the impressive Priory Church of St. Peter, a short distance from Watling Street, where cross two of the oldest roads in England. Before ascending, we noticed one of the several - charities ' with which Dunstable, like our own parish, is endowed-the manifestation in perpetuity of good Christian folk's concern for the welfare of others. This was Jane Cart's bread,' 15 loaves in a glass case for that number of widows. Who Jane was, whether the widows call for it each week or whether it is distributed and what arrangements were made during the rationing period, we had no time to discover.
The eight bells here afforded great pleasure to us, but not, I fear, to Mr. Sharman, who had to leave before we put our best men in. Judging by the peal boards. he is used to better stuff!

St. Mary's, Woburn, is a large, modern church, built by the 8 th Duke of Bedford, standing in spacious grounds just outside the park gates. Mr. Harris and his band are justly proud of their eight at Woburn, the heaviest of our trip, with 24 cw . tenor: we found them excellent in every way.

Our next 20 miles was specially planned for the beauty of its scenery. Entering the park, with deer grazing on either side, we presently had to slow down to let an emu pass, and eventually, by narrow and winding ways, came to Barton-le-Cley.
The church is 600 years old. We were enchanted with its treasures. The oak roof is supported by 12 eagles carved in wood, each resting on the head of a man in Tudor garb. The eagles in turn support figures of the 12 apostles, and over all ten angels look down. The ringing gallery is open and affords a splendid view of the church interior. Some of us were delighted to see Mr . Kendall, a former ringer at Epsom. who had travelled over from Luton to meet old friends.

St. Nicholas'. Stevenage, was the final tower of the day. Dusk was falling as we entered the church for evensong. kindly arranged for us by the Rector, the Rev. E. W. B. Cordingly. Repairs unfortunately prevented the use of the organ, but Mr. Miller, our own travelling organist, played just as effectively at the grand piano. Ringing, from the ground floor, continued until about 8.30 p.m.. when we said goodbye to Mr. Lawrence and left for home.
We are greatly indebted to the incumbents and steeple-keepers. whose co-operation made the outing so enjoyable. J. E. B.

MEMORIALS DEDICATED  TO MR. ERNEST HERBERT

The dedication took place on November 26th at the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Woburn. Beds, of a ring of 12 handbells presented to the church in memory of Ernest Herbert, the last surviving son of Charles Herbert, the founder and first secretary of the Bedfordshire Association of Change Ringers.
The service of dedication, in the ringing chamber, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. T. N. Gunner. It was preceded by Evensong at which the choir consisted almost entirely of local ringers.

After the dedication a silence was observed in remembrance of Mr. Herbert, and then three of the local ringers rang the hymn "Abide With Me.

The inscription engraved on the tenor reads: - In memory of William Ernest Herbert, a Ringer here for 67 ycars, a member of the Beds Assn. for 65 years, also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths for 53 years. These bells were presented by Mrs. Herbert, his wife, Nov., 1955.'
Those present included Miss Evelyn Steel (president of the Association) and Mr. Douglas Harris (now 80), who is tower captain and, with Mr. Herbert, was in the band that rang the only peal of Maximus to be rung for the Bedfordshire Association. This took place at Mr. C. Herbert's residence in 1903 and was rung 'in hand.'

Before and after the service the tower bells were rung by ringers from as far afield at Hatfield, Hove (Sussex) and Harrow Weald, as well as by the local band.

TO MR. BARNEY PATMORE

On Sunday, November 20th, at St. Nicholas' .Church, Great Munden, Herts, in ${ }^{\circ}$ the presence of his widow and about 20 or more friends, a tablet was unveiled and dedicated to the memory of Barney Patmore by the Rector, the Rev. C. E. Howlett, M.A.

The tablet, subscribed for by a number of ringing friends, is in the ringing chamber and is of brass on an oak surround and is inscribed:-

- In Memory of ## Barney Patmore

Died Feb, 26th, 1955
Over 50 years a ringer of this Parish.
In a short but sincere service the Rector spoke of Barney's willing service to all with whom he came in contact. For over 20 years he was verger at Great Munden and was always ready to help in the work of the church.

Barney was a life member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and a member of Hertford College Youths. He took part in over 50 peals, his first being in 1908. At Benington on July 5th, 1933, he rang the seventh in the record peal of 18,144 Bob Major.

During the first world war numbers of Service men stationed in the district were welcomed and encouraged by Barney, and he will - long be remembered by other younger ringers to whom he gave a helping hand. M. S.

A SOMERSET

'TOWER GRAB'

You couldn't call it an outing; it was a tower grabbers' orgy. It all began when a certain Mr. Paul Field decided that there were a few rings of tells in Somerset that needed 'shaking up a bit.' It followed, therefore, that on the cold, grey morning of November 19th we met at 9.30 outside the first tower for the day; Ilchester, a ring of five with a 12 cwt. tenor.

We were rather a mixed gathering; two of us from Cornwall, a certain 2,000 -tower man from Coventry, three from Bridgwater and, of course, our organiser, E. T. P. F. The bells were soon up and going well to a variety of Doubles methods. All too soon, however, they had to be rung down and a move made to the next tower at Chilton Cantelo. The five bells were much enjoyed, in spite of the fact that a couple of well-known ringers nearly departed this life owing to the rope of the second's habit of slipping wheel.
The next call was at Mudford, a fine heavy five (tenor 19 cwt .) Next came our first six of the day, at Marston Magna; and the 13 cwt . tenor, although a rather sluggish bell, was soon being expertly turned in to Cambridge and Kent.
At West Camel we found a delightful recently restored ring of five (tenor 14 cwt .), and these bells were put to good use with a variety of Doubles methods. By this time the sun had reached its zenith, and it was decided to call a halt for lunch. Two of our number found their way to the 'Mildmay Arms' at Queen Camel. and were quietly sitting in the bar equipped with a pork pie and pint each, when the landlord leaned over the bar and said: • Be you goin' to the football match?' 'No!!' 'Well, you be ringers then; I always know that if a stranger comes in here he is either going to football or else he is a ringer.

In due course, with lunch over, we sallied forth to the 'piece de resistance' of the daythe fine six of Queen Camel. The musical qualities of these bells has to be heard to be appreciated, and Plain Bob, Cambridge and Stedman went well on them.
From Queen Camel, through country lanes to Barton St. David (five bells, tenor 10 cwt .), and a curious octagonal tower with a 'leper squint. through to the sanctuary. The bells, however, are worthy of praise. and Winchendon Place and St. Nicholas' Doubles were successfully brought rcund. At Kingweston we received a warm welcome from the local tower master, and everyone enjoyed ringing on the five pleasant bells (tenor 18 cwt .) which are housed in a rather small but lofty steeple overlooking glorious parkland.
At Kingsdon we came to our third six for the day. Unfortunately we were unable to stop as long as we would have liked owing to a delay in starting The 24 cwt . tenor does not go as well as she should, but the tone of these bells, housed in a massive tower, was much appreciated by all.
Leaving Kingsdon. our convoy of three cars, with the addition of a motor-cycle, ridden by two friends from Langport who had joined us at Queen Camel, procecded through the gathering dusk to Somerton, where we were welcomed by the vicar and some of the local ringers. The tower houses a very fine six with a 20 cwt . tenor. The rising of all tenors was by this time delegated to one poor fellow who was almost on his last legs, but who managed successfully to turn it in to a touch of Plain Bob. This was another ring whose musical qualities were heartily acclaimed, and we hope to find the two empty pits filled by new trebles in the not-too-distant future.
The bells of Long Sutton must surely be one of the grandest fives in the county, and are housed in a fine lofty tower which is worthy of a ring of ten. During the ringing Mr. President, who we suspect was still seeking consolation in a foaming tankard. slipped over to the 'local' for a quick one. When he returned, he informed us that the local lads, were favourably impressed with our 'scientific' ringing. The tenor here is 17 cwt .
The five bells at Pitney (isnor 7 cwt .) go very well but are spoilt by the fact that the tenors are very much off key. However, everyone enjoyed some 'Appendicitis' Doubles on them.
The last tower for the day was Muchelney, another good five with a 19 cwt . tenor, which, in spite of the fact that we had been told otherwise, went 'like a ton of bricks.' Perhaps we were feeling too weary by then to put enough effort into our ringing. Indeed, a few of our number were glad of a diversion in the shape of an ancient barrel organ installed in the church.
After leaving Muchelney, the band split up until the following morning. when certain of our numbers met to help ring for matins at Langport (six bells. tenor 17 cwt .), and in the afternoon successfully to bring round a quarter peal of Cambridge Minor on the delightful little six at Ash-in-Martock ( $6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor).
So ended another most enjoyable ringing weekend, and our sincere thanks are due to Paul for arranging the tour, and to the incumbents and local tower masters for so kindly allowing us the use of their bells.

MR. A. W. GROVES

The death occurred peacefully on Nov. 30th of Mr. A. W. Groves, of Heene, Worthing. He was a prominent ringer in Sussex from 1895 to 1939, during which time he was secretary of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association for 22 years, and set a record of not being absent from any meeting while in office.
He had rung about 330 peals; the outstanding one was Stedman Cinques 'in hand' at Henfield, conducted by C. Tyler, the only 12 -bell peal yet rung for the Sussex County Association.

He learnt his ringing under C . Tyler aț Henfield, and when he moved to Worthing in early 1900 he became a leading member at St . Botolph's, Heene.
He rang peals in all the standard methods and conducted several, mainly Stedman, his favourite method. He represented the Division on the Central Council.
The funeral service on Dec. 3rd was attended by his two sons and daughter, the Master of the Susccx County Association (Mr. S. E. Armstrong), Messsr. H. Stalham, W. Hari, A. Bond (Brighton), L. Stilwell (Central Council), E. Rapley (Horsham) and R. Wood (Heene).
A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside.

MR. HARRY LEWIS

The death occurred on Nov. 23rd of Mr . Harry Lewis, of Cirencester, at the age of 71 . after a long and painful illness. He was well known in his younger days and was a member of the Cirencester ringers. He rang 38 peals before ill-health prevented him from peal ringing, but continued to ring for services until the last few years, when he was forced to give up.
A quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Holy Trinity Church, Watermoor, on Nov. 29th, with the clappers half-muffled as a last tribute to his memory, by Peter J. Lewis 1 , T. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 2, W G. Cook 3, V. R. Williams 4, H. L. Cooke 5. T. J. Lewis, jun. 6, W. H. Hayward 7, W. Wrigley 8.

MR. W. J. NUDDS

Mr. E. J. Leversuch has now received the record of the peals of the late Mr. W. J. Nudds and desires to make the following corrections to the report of his work that appeared in our last issue.
He was born in 1868 at Banham, Norfolk, and had therefore passed his 87th birthday in May of this year. The long peal at Loughborough was rung not in 1906 as stated, but on April 12th, 1909; it was 18,027 Stedman Caters. It was on Easter Monday, 1914, that the four Surprise peals. Bristol, London, Cambridge and Superlative, were rung in one day in Surrey (2), Middlesex (1), Berks (1). A full list of his 500 peals was published in 'The Ringing World' on Jan. 5th, 1951, page 13, from which the following noteworthy performances have been extracted :-
Three peals of Stedman Cinques within 24 hours, Quex Park, 1905; two peals of Stedman Cinques and one of Kent T.B. Maximus within 24 hours, also at Quex Park, 1904; rung all the bells of Southwark Cathedral to peals of Stedman Cinques ; at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, on Dec. 26th, 1923, 10,440 Cambridge Surprise Royal.
The over-80's peal was rung at Deptford, not Camberwell.

A SOMERSET OUTING TO WORCESTERSHIRE

An ambitious outing for the time of year was undertaken on Nov. 12 th by Yatton ringers, ringing friends from other Somerset towers, and relatives.

Four of the party left Bridgwater at 6 a.m. and with others at Worle (Weston-super-Mare) joined the coach, which then proceeded to Yatton for the main party and official start at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. We were still without the organiser, Mr. G. Prescott, but by means of Mr. L. Pullin, of Clevedon, and his car, we finally banded together at a brief stop at Tewkesbury

The first tower was Upton-on-Severn (8), where a meeting was being held in the afternoon to mark the 250th anniversary of the back five bells. A line on the church gatepost showed the flood level of a couple of years ago. Next came the eight at St. John-in-Bedwardine, Worcester, where we were met by Worcester friends who accompanied us to the next two towers.

After half an hour's break for refreshments we left for Dodderhill, a fine eight, tenor $18 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., and claimed to be perfect in "go." The cruciform church was badly damaged in the Civil War, being only partly rebuilt; this included the tower, from the top of which some took advantage of the first real break in the fog, which had persisted, to have a good view of the surrounding countryside.
As the tower of All Saints', Worcester, was still receiving attention, we visited the light ten of North Claines, which had been booked as a stand-by.

Back in the city an excellent meal was enjoyed at the Deansway Restaurant, and thus fortified we headed for the last tower, at Evesham. The huge 'Bell Tower,' unique in that it stands in two parishes and churchyards, loomed forebodingly out of the fog, but soon the lights were shining out and the grand 12 were heard. Here wo met Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas.
With a different Ringing Master in each tower various methods were attempted, finishing with rounds, Queens, Grandsire and Stedman Cinques at Evesham.
A tired but somewhat hilarious party then started south for the long journey home, thankful that despite the fog we had kept only about five minutes behind schedule, thus helping those who had opened their towers to us, and to whom we are indebted.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD  Test Ringing in Mid-Comwall

The autumn meeting of the Mid-Cornwall Branch was held at St. Stephen-in-Brannel on Nov. 26th, when 60 members gathered for the usual test ringing for certificates.
The church has a fine tower, which can be seen for many miles, amid the great pyramids of the white clay hills. The bells are a fine octave augmented by John Taylor about 1910, and are a treat to ring and to listen to from outside the tower.
This tower has strong connections with change-ringing in Cornwall. Several peals have been rung on the bells, including a pcal of London Surprise Major in 1934, which was the last peal conducted by the late William Pye.

The Rector, Canon F. F. Gilbert, is a ringer, and he has worked for many years to biing the ringers of this part of Cornwall into a brotherhood of workers for the Church, and finally into the Truro Diocesan Guild.

Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock with four sets ringing rounds on six bells and one band ringing eight bells.

The band, which rang for the service, were joined by Mr. Alan Carveth, president of the Guild, and Mr. Brian Parkyn, of Truro Cathedral. Canon Gilbert conducted the service, assisted by Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella, secretary of the Guild, and an impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. J. R. Jose, who for four years was the branch secretary before going to Perran-ar-Worthal.
After the service an excellent tea awaited in the Church Room, prepared by the local ringers' wives and helpers. The Rector acted as chairman for the short business meeting which followed, and soon the test ringing was again in full swing.
This time a touch of 34 changes on six bells was heard, with some very good striking. Four bands rang in this test and one band raised the six, rang the changes and lowered the bells.

For test No. 4. two bands took part. The first raised the eight, rang 54 changes and falled the bells. The second set in this test gave the best ringing of the day, an excellent rise in peal, 54 changes with only three faults and a glorious fall. It was a grand finale to the Festival, and a wonderful feast of bell music must have been heard in the village, where this band rings Sunday by Sunday and on feast days.
After more refreshments in the Church Hall, the results of the tests were given by Mr. A. Carveth, as follows:-
Test No. 1: St. Erme A, St. Erme B. 1st Class; St. Ewe. St. Erme C, 2nd Class: St. Gorran, 3rd Class.
Test No. 2: St. Mewan, 1st Class; St. Ewe, 2nd Class ; St. Gorran, St. Erme, 3rd Class

Test No. 3: St. Mewan, 1st Class.
Test No. 4: St. Stephen A, 1st Class; St. Stephen B. 2nd Class.
The thanks of the ringers were expressed to the judges. Messrs. A. Carveth and B. Parkyn, and to Messrs. H. Lander and J. T. Creela for organising the test ringing.
This concluded a Festival which was marked by a spirit of good fellowship and team work in the land of the Cornish saints.

AN ORDINARY PEAL

THAT'S what it looks like in the peal columns; an ordinary peal of Plain Bob Major: Pritchard's, at that. And by Tuesday the organiser was satisfied with the arrangements; permission had been obtained, and a band got together and told when to be where. But at the practice on Wednesday evening one man said he had discovered a subsequent engagement-so some scraping and scrounging and a bit of bullying was done to procure a substitute. Then on Friday the substitute fell by the wayside, and some frantic long shots were made, resulting in the final making up of the band as it appears in the peal report.

Everyone arrived at the village church safely and in good time. 'Right, let's get them up!' The organiser starts raising the treble; no sound. Higher and higher, another man assists in checking it; 'No, it must be lashed. Where's the tower key kept?' (This was a ground-floor belfry.) 'Oh, yes'-from one who has often been there before - it's in the safe in the vestry, and the Vicar has the key of the safe.' The Vicar is routed out, and soon the safe is open, and the keys in it are scrutinised. 'Old chest in the vestry-chest in the tower-west door-I'm sorry, it isn't here. Try Mr. So-and-so; he lives somewhere in West Road. Turn left at cemetery and keep straight on.'

One of the band's car-owners is pressed into service, and off goes the organiser in search of the key. West Road is found, and Mr. So-and-so's house is pointed out. The organiser knocks. 'Mr. So-and-so?' 'Oh'-from, presumably, Mrs. So-and-so- ' he's out ploughing just now.' 'Have you the key of the tower?'- explaining the circumstances. 'Oh no, he doesn't have the key now; it's at Mr. Such-and-such's in Tower Close; turn right here and right again at the water-tower; third house up the drive.'

Mr. Such-and-such's house is located, and the door opened by Mrs. Such-and-such. The organiser's request is met with: 'Oh no, he doesn't keep the key here; it's in the church, under the first pew on the right!' The organiser refrains from saying what he thinks, and is driven back to the church, stopping only to let a herd of cows pass. He looks under the first pew on the right; no sign of the key. Soon all the band are looking under all the pews. The organiser looks without hope once more under the first pew on the right, and suddenly there is the key (it was certainly not there before, but has appeared by magic). So he climbs up to the bells. Indeed, the treble is lashed; and to 'make assurance doubly sure ' the lashing rope is wound three times round the waist of the bell and six times round the canons. After ten minutes or so it is untied, and the treble is again raised, this time making the noise expected of it.

Now the second bell; a grinding noise, which gets worse as it goes higher, until it stops about half-way, and is hastily lowered. 'Ah, yes,' from those who know the idiosyncrasies of this bell, 'the clock-hammer must be in the way.' An experiment with the hammer wires shows that this is not so; and one of the more mechanicallyminded members goes up and watches while the bell is again raised half-way and lowered. For those waiting below there is a long pause; then the rope begins to ascend; it is nearly through the guide-'Stop!'- a full-throated roar from seven anxious watchers. After a time it is reported that one of the strands of the rope has broken and become unwound, thus causing the stoppage.

At long last it is spliced; and some two hours after the peal was due to begin, the bells are raised, ropes adjusted, and the long-awaited call of 'Go, Bob Major,' is made.
There was more trouble to come; the conductor did his best to sabotage the peal half-way through by waking up too late and calling a bob instead of a single; but fortunately others of the band were wider awake than he, and this hazard was overcome without much trouble. During the second half more disturbance arrived, in the shape of a man who wanted to stoke the boiler. To do this it was apparently necessary for him to switch on all the lights in the church, so that the ringers were confused by a multitude of shadows; and to reach the switches, he had to squeeze past the treble ringer, nearly knocking him over in the process. Not content with this, he carefully shut the tower door, which had been left open to improve the audibility of the bells. 'Leave the door open!', from the tenor ringer. 'All right,' said he, walking away. 'Yes, but it's closed!', from the conductor. Fortunately he came back and re-opened it, and the peal proceeded calmly. After this, the only occurrence was the reextinguishing of the lights some time later on, once again imperilling the balance of the treble ringer.

And so at last the ordinary peal came round, a peal of which one can at the very least say: 'I've heard plenty worse;' and silence once more descended on the village, where it appears that it is the caretaker's avowed intention to keep the Vicar ignorant of the whereabouts of the keys.

Brian G. Warwick .. $\quad .{ }^{2} \quad 1-2 \mid$ John A. Acres ... .. 506

Composed by E. J. Lindley.
A birthday compliment to John A. Acres.

On November 29 h , at a gathering of past and present -ingers of St. Mary's Ehurch. Richmond, Yorks, Mr. George Holmes was presented with a model bell, suitably inscribed, on completing 50 years as a ringer at St. Mary's Churih. Earlier in the evening, Mr. Holmes conducted a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles, in which the most recent learner, Judith Rodber, scored her first quarter. On November 19th, a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung as a compliment to Mr. Holmes.

Christ Church, Swindon, bells will be heard on the air in the Home Service on New Year's evening at 7.45 . They will probably be ringing Stedm in Caters.
Commenting on recent peals, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead writes: The peal at Fenny Stratford was actually the first since 1919 (there have bean five in all). The peal at Great Mongeham was the first of Surprise on the bells and that at Chalfont St. Giles the first since 1934.

In honour of the 90th birthday of Jean Sibelius a carillon concert was given by Mr. James R. Lawson on the Rockefeller Memorial Carillon, Chicago University, on December 4th. The programme included 'Valse Triste,' 'The Swan of Tuonela,' 'Romance in D Flat ' and - The Bells of Berghall Church, Finlandia.'

Three generations of the Warrilow family ring at St. Mary's, Stafford. Grandfather Warrilow saw his grandson ring for his majority, prior to accepting an appointment at Glasgow, where he hopes to ring at St. Mary's Cathedral, when able. Mr. R. J. Warrilow, his father, is head ringer.

The peal at Stradbroke for 'the Bor Dairvud's' birthday was rung to Grandsire by special request. The company was equally divided between the Norwich and Suffolk Guilds, and pleasure was expressed at sceing Jim Bennett back to peal-ringing after his recent accident. Needless to say, the birthday was adequately celebrated, thanks to Dairvud's hospitality, and the participants clung to 'Ivy Lodge' for an unusually long time.The young band at Marple, Cheshire, have achieved their first quarter. The bells are not easy to handle on account of the long draught. Keenness and perseverance have won through, and they are now practising Bob Minor.

Mr. H. Hatto, now 83, who rang in a quarter peal at Henley-on-Thames on November 26th, is the only survivor of the band that rang the peal of Caversham Surprise at Caversham. He is still a very active ringer.
An eminent official of the Hertfordshire County Association, who has just acquired a new car, had cause to regret its conspicuous colouring when he and two ringing companions were stopped by the police late at night. The car fitted the description of one in which the authorities were interested, and it was some time before the trio (perhaps identified, as one of the front-seat passengers later surmised, as 'the strong-arm men in the front and the brain in the back') were allowed to go on. It is not known how much of the wireless conversation which passed between the police car and headquarters turned on the suspicious fact that the boot of the car, unlocked upon request, was full of bellropes !

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual meeting of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch was held at Honiton Clyst on Dec. 3 rd. About 40 members, and ringers from other branches, were present. The Branch was very pleased to welcome the president, Preb. E. V. Cox, and the general secretary, Mr. E. J. Taylor.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. V. Christie, the chairman of the Branch. Tea was provided by the local ringers' wives and was much appreciated by all.
At the meeting which followed, all Branch officers were re-elected and the president presented four certificates.
It was decided to start an instruction fund, and a sub-committee was appointed to look into this.

Terry Collins, who is nearly 15, had the pleasure of calling his father's first peal at South Marston, Wilts. Terry's keenness suggests a bright ringing future.

For the time being practices are being discontinued at St. Peter's Church, Stoke-onTrent.
Mr. Cyril A. Burgess, who has been for 20 years a member of the Burnham, Bucks, tower, is leaving for Strood, Kent.
Middlesex Association have provided something of a novelty by the first tower bell peal with two ringers mastering four bells between them. It was the first peal by officers of the South and West District.
The 'British Railways Magazine' for December has an attractive cover picture of a team of railwaymen-ringers in action at St. Peter's Church, Boughton Monchelsea, near Maidstone, Kent. This is a ground-floor ring of six with a tenor of 15 cwt .
The performance of the eligible bachelors at Cold Higham, Northants, has prompted planning of a peal of Stedman Cinques to be attempted early in the new year. A letter from Bath asks for any interested and eligible to forward their names and addresses and also previous experience.
On December 25th, at $9.20 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. in the Home Service, Christmas greetings will be broadcast from the belfries of Liverpool Cathedral: St. Mary-the-Virgin, Painswick, Gloucestershire ; SS. Philip and James, Holywood, Co. Down; Great St. Mary's Church, Cambridge : St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow; Llandaff Cathedral, and the Priory and Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul. Leominster. ## BELFRY GOSSIP

The band that rang the wedding peal at Mayfield, Sussex, on December 3rd, would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kitchenside for so kindly entertaining them to tea after the peal.
Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport, Mon, celebrated his 90th birthday on December 5th.
Mr. Jim Bennett, of Grundisburgh, sailed on the S.S. 'Orontes' on Tuesday for Australis. This is the first stage of his trip completely round the world. He hopes to be back in England early next March.
It was a ' special occasion ' for Miss Jo Roper on November 26th. She not only rang her first peal but also celebrated the first anniversary of her first lesson in handling a bell and, a day in advance, her birthday.
The Oxford University Society's mixed Doubles attempt on the 'unconquered' heavy five at Charlton-on-Otmoor was brought to an untimely, though possibly unique. conclusion when, after two hours, the tenor man, P. R. S., diverted the attention of the band by turning somersaults over his rope at handstroke and disappearing upwards into the darkness upsidedown. Charlton bells still remain "unconquered.'
His many friends in the London area and the Essex Association will wish ' Dick ' Stannard a very speedy recovery from an accident sustained while returning from ringing at St. Margaret's, Westminster. Dick damaged his ankle, but after treatment at hospital he was taken home suffering from shock. One of the veterans of the Exercise, he has a rota as follows: Barking and Leytonstone for Matins, and Westminster and Hornchurch for Evensong. He is doing well, but he will be out of ringing till after Christmas.

PEAL RINGING IN WARWICKSHIRE

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WE come now to another very interesting county as far as ringing is concerned, with Warwickshire. This county, of course, includes the famous ringing centre of Birmingham. Having made a list of peals rung at the different towers in the county, the most obvious thing was the way in which the peal ringing had been concentrated on the Birmingham towers, and also the relatively few peals on the 6- and 5bell rings. The only place where we find a large number of peals outside the Birmingham vicinity is at Nuncaton, as will be mentioned below. There is. of course, extremely great activity in Birmingham at the moment-perhaps the greatest in its history, which is saying something. Thus, at the four Birmingham churches of the Cathedral (St. Philip's), St. Martin's, Bishop Ryder's and the Roman Catholic Cathedral, no less than 454 peals have been rung since the war and the grand total of peals in the county since 1881 is only 2,421 . Well over half the total number have been rung in Birmingham and we also find that 12 towers have recorded more than two-thirds of all the peals rung, thus showing, once again, the concentration of peal activity on a few places. This will no doubt continue whilst the bells are available for peals so easily, apparently (e.g., already 26 peals this year at the Cathedral, up to the end of October!). Now to turn to the towers individually.
The most famous tower in the county is the one with the largest number of peals- St . Martin's, Birmingham. Here we find 321 peals rung and published in 'Bell News' and 'The Ringing World from 1881, including 246 peals of Stedman Cinques. Over the past 50 years, the name of Mr. Albert Waiker will be especially associated with this great achievement, together with his amazing record of more 12 -bell peals than anyone else has ever accomplished - a feat which. I think. is never likely to be surpassed. Of course. peals were rung at St. Martin's before this, and I have located a further 33 unpublished ones before 1881. The peal of Stedman Cinques rung during the ' 12 bell week' on September 23rd, 1924, said it was the 200th on the bells. Counting the 33 just mentioned. I agree exactly with that, so that it wo uld seem we can say that 354 peals have been rung in all in this tower. To return to the popularity of Stedman Cinques here, we find that between 1910 and 1920, every peal was of Stedman Cinques 41 in all (and at least one every year of the first war. so here is yet another tower with that record). Long lengths have been rung here too, and the 11,111 of Stedman Cinques rung in 1901 remained the record until 1946 (the 12,675 at Southwark Cathedral having been found false) when it was beaten by the 12,663 at Oxford Cathedral.

BIRMINGHAM CATHEDRAL

Another 12-bell tower is second on the listBirmingham Cathedral. More peals have been rung on these bells since the war than on any other church bells in the country (there have been more at Loughborough Bell Foundry)no less than 207 since 1944! The tower only became a 12 -bell lower in 1949, but there have been 184 peals rung there since-an average of about 26 a year
There were 34 in 1952, but it is possible that will be beaten this year since at time of writing there are still two months to go! Only 23 peals were rung from 1883 to 1903, and then there was a silence until 1937 when one peal was rung, repeated the following year. Thus there had only been 25 peals before 1944. Although Nuneaton will beat the next tower for peals rung since 1881, it is convenient to take it now since it is the last of the three 12 -bell towers-

Aston. This was also a 10 -bell tower until recent times, but its heyday was more in the past than row. Of the 151 peals 115 were rung before 1914, followed by another nine up to 1923. There was a silence then until augmentation in 1936, and then five peals were rung before the second world war commenced. There have been 22 since 1944. If we counted peals rung before 1881, we should find this tower had almost as many as St. Martin's, for I have located 80 peals prior to that year (more, I think, than in any other tower). Thus its total will really be in the mid-300's. But that is a subject for later times when this series of articles is finished. It is one of the most famous towers of olden days.
The third in order of peals is actually Nuneaton (8) with 208 in the period from 1881. These have been spread out fairly evenly over the years with 80 between 1886 and 1914, 82 from 1918 to 1939 and 46 since 1944 . Two more Birmingham churches follow - Bishop Ryder's Church ( 8 ), where 145 peals have been

TRIBUTE TO BELL-RINGERS

I often wonder whether we all appreciate as fully as we ought the services rendered to the Church by the bellringers. They tend to be taken rather for granted. They are always on duty. Though they do not, in one sense, work silently it is true in general to say that the noise of their bells is the only way by which they draw attention to their labours.
I was prompted to think about the country's bell-ringers when I read of a Broxbourne (Herts) bell-ringer who, having begun as a campanologist at the age of fourteen, has now retired at the age of eighty-four. His faiher and grandfather were bell-ringers and his only son will carry on the tradition-four generations of bell-ringers.
This case is probably not unique. The ringing of the bells is a craft and an interest which does commonly seem to pass from father to son. It is a grand thing that it should be so, for the sound of church bells, apart from being an agelong and vital feature of our national life. is a constant reminder of man's duty to God and is also, in itself, an act of worship. What more perfect way can there be of making a joyful noise unto the Lord?
From 'The Church Times.'
rung, and the Roman Catholic Cathedral (8), which can claim 126 peals. At the former, it is the post-war period which is the best, for 101 peals have been rung since 1944. Before this, only an occasional peal was recorded, for from 1884 to 1912, only 19 were rung, and there were 25 between the wars. At the latter, the ' lean' period was between 1919 and 1939, for only 12 peals were rung then. There had been 60 before 1914 and there have been 54 since 1943.

There are still two more centenarians Erdington, St. Barnabas' (8), and ChilversCoton (10). Erdington has had 123 peals. principally in the 1918-1939 period (83). I did not record the first until 1904, after which 30 peals came before 1915. There have only been nine since 1945-a marked diminution. Chilvers-

Coton is a recent 10 -bell tower, having become so in 1947. The first here in the period was in 1908, so it has been quite consistent since then with 14 peals to 1913,35 from 1919 to 1939 and 16 on the eight from 1945 to 1947. There have been 46 more since then, so it is proving the most popular 10 -bell tower in the county. There are four other 10 -bell towers to mention, three with very few peals. The most is Solihuli (61), having had 26,25 and 10 peals respectively in the usual three periods. Stratford-onAvon is arother recent ten. On the eight, only seven peals had been rung, in 1889, 1904-7 (3), 1946-7 (3). There have been 14 since augmentation in 1949, so it is doing better also nowtotal 21. Warwick, St. Mary's, has 11 -seven from 1888 to 1910 and the others in 1920, 1922, 1944 and this year. Finally, the only peal I came across on the now 'defunct bells of St. Michael's Coventry, was in 1883, and was later found to be false!

' UNCONQUERED ' TOWERS

We return now to the remaining 8 -bell towers which have had more than 50 peals. The Roman Catholic Church at Erdington has had 92 peals, the majority (53) before 1914 . There were 20 from 1917 to 1929 and then a silence of 20 years. Tl ere have been 19 in the last six years, so things are better again. Allesley has 81. As a 6 -bell tower, 40 were rung from 1909 to 1939 with another five from 1943 to 1946. There have been 36 since 1947 on the eight. Knowle and Shirley have both 80 . The former has not been heard since 1937. There had been 53 peals prior to 1914 and the remainder after the war. Shirley has changed in steps from a 5 to 8 in our period. One peal was rung on the five in 1923. Three peals were rung on the six from 1931 to 1939, followed by 18 from 1943 to 1947. It is very popular as an eight. for there have been 58 peals since 1947. Then we come to St. Michael's, Stoke (Coventry), with 57. There were 18 from 1904 to 1914, 25 from 1918 to 1934 and 14 from 1947. I gather these bells are atmost unringable now. Edgbaston is doing well of late, 26 of the 51 peals have come since 1944 : there were 21 from 1932 to 1939 . Before that it was a 6 -bell tower with four peals from 1900 to 1902. Finally. Sutton Coldfield has 50 - 26 from 1884 to 1915 . six from 1919 to 1929 and 18 since 1947. There are three 'unconquered ' 8 -bell towers' (rather surprising for such an ancient centre of ringing-Alcester, Leamington R.C. Church and Ullenhall. Of the others, Warwick, All Saints'. Emscote, has been silent the longest-the last of its two peals being rung in 1905.
There is not a great deal to be said about the 6 -bell towers, as indicated above. Only five have reached double figures! They are Exhall (25-22 from 1920 to 1939). Packwood and Shilton (18-the former 17 since 1951 and the latter 12 from 1925 to 1938). Grendon 15every few years since 1910) and Wolvey (1311 from 1922 to 1937 and one since then in 1950), Ten of the 40 where peals have been rung have had only one peal, and there are six 'virgin' towers-Arley. Brailes. Chadshunt, Coughton, Butlers Marston and Snitterfield. Claverdon has the longest silence-its only peal having been rung in 1909. Only 15 of the 34 5 -bell towers have had peals, seven of them a single one. The only one with more than three is Keresley which has the good total of 13 , ten from 1945 to 1948 (none since). Corley, Kingsbury and Rugby (the 5 -bell ring) each have three, all rung since the wà. The 2's are Astley, Burton Hastings, Bishop's Itchington and Meriden. Actually, out of the 2.421 peals in the county, unly 182 have been rung on the 6 -bell towers and 37 on the 5-bell ones. Thus there is clear indication of the popularity of the churches with the larger numbers of bells in this case. Peal totals include those published up to November 4th, 1955.

The Third Gopher Dinner - An Unknown Newark Worthy

The third annual Gopher Dinner of the Newark Parish Church Ringers' Society was held at the Rutland Arms Hotel, Newark, on November 18 th. After a very fine meal, enjoyed by a company of 54 , the loyal toast was proposed by the president, the Rev. J. H. D. Grinter. Vicar of Newark.

The toast of 'The Society of Newark Parish Church Ringers,' coupled with the legendary name of Gopher, was then proposed by Mr. W. A. Muddell, J.P., who said that since being invited to propose the main toast he had searched through the 'History of Newark,' but was very sorry to say that. for all his endeavours. Gopher still remained a legend.

He had discovered many interesting things, including a South African rodent called a gopher which could run as fast backward as forward, and suggested that this would be a very useful asset for hunting up and down.

One could, however, still imagine Gopher with his perspiring horse lost in a November fog. listening for the ringing of Newark Parish Church bells which guided him back to his home. his thankfulness for his safe return and his leaving of a legacy for the bells to be rung in his memory. Mr. Muddell also thanked the Newark ringers for keeping up such a legend. whinh would be lost for ever were it not for their yearly ringing for Gopher.

He found in the "History of the Newark Parish Church' that many years ago the ringers sank low and associated with the lowest form of parish life. Although he would not say where they sank to, he suggested that the money reputed to be left for the ringers would be a very useful asset in that place, and that would account for the missing legacy.

Following his speech. Mr. Muddell asked the company to rise with him and drink the toast of The Society of Newark Parish Church Ringers.' coupled with the name of the Master, Mr. J. W. Raithby.

Mr. Raithby in reply said that since the last Gopher Dinner the ringers had blended together much better, and the ringing had improved in both method and striking. Sunday service ringing had been kept up and Stedman and Grandsire Caters were becoming commonplace.

Mr. F. W. Vernon, in proposing the health of the president, said the Rev. J. H. D. Grinter had only been Vicar of Newark since April and was the third president in three years. He welcomed him on behalf of the ringers.

In reply, the president thanked all who had made him welcome since his induction as Vicar of Newark. and especially those who had invited him to such a fine meal. He thanked the ringers for their Sunday service ringing and also for ringing for special occasions when requested. and said he was pleased to see so many young faces, which was a sure sign of a healthy company.

The secretary. Mr. F. W. Midwinter proposed the toast of "The Visitors." He said that he hoped the Gopher Dinner would not be reported in 'The Ringing World' as "Midwinter's Circus Entertains." First of all he welcomed Mr. J. F. Milner and his handbell team, from Southwell. who were to entertain the company later in the evening. Following this, he welcomed the visitors who came from Bulwell, Daybrook, Nottingham. North Muskham. Southwell, Sutton-on-Trent, Whatton and Wollaton.

Mr. J. D. Clarke, from Whatton, replied 10 the toast. saying that quite a few of the visitors had not heard of Gopher before the invitation to the dinner had arrived, but he was sure that the name of Gopher would not easily be forgotten. He thanked the Society on behalf of all the visitors for the kind invitation to attend.

The toasts completed, the company were entertained by Mr. J. F. Milner and his handbell team to some fine tune and change ringing. Mr. Milner also brought with him his tape recorder, on which he had recorded their practising of carols for Christmas services, Also recorded was a touch of Grandsire Triples and what might be called Stedman Doubles. The evening finished with a walking course of Grandsire Triples, followed by a walking course of Grandsire Doubles by an all-ladies' band.

The company included the president, the Rev J. H. D. Grinier, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raithby, Mr. and Mrs. C. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Exton, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Midwinter, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Muddell. Mr. and Mrs. A. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Messrs. R. V. Appleby, P. Ball, S. Barley, B. Buswell, W. Chandler, C. H. Chapman, A. E. Chilton, C. J. Copp, E. Elson, F. Daykin, G. E. Foster, M. Gartside, P. Giles, T. Goodwin, T. Greasley, A. Hoodless, F. G. Hooper, J. F. ## OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK J. TILLETT

The passing of Mr. Frederick J. Tillett on December 7 th, in his 89 th year, is a great loss, not only to St. Mary-le-Tower's, Ipswich, Suffolk, but also to Norfolk and Essex.

Fred was a tower of strength, both physical and practical. On Whit Tuesday, 1892, he rang the tenor at Debenham to the then record length, 16,608 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, in 10 hours and 32 minutes, 10,304 Bob Major at Leiston on January 10th, 1887, and 10,000 at Woodbridge. He was usually on the tenor. On October 19th, 1889, he rang the tenor at St. Martin-in-the-Fields to Kent Treble Bob Maximus, this being the first peal with the belfry lit by electric light.

He rang in the first peals of Maximus of the following methods: Superlative, New Cambridge, Yorkshire, Pudsey and York His peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association number 115, and 99 for the Suffolk Guild.

In ringing handbells his rhythm was a pleasure to hear; a well-known London ringer on a visit to Ipswich remarked that he had never heard the two tenors rung with such precision. His son, J. F. Tillett (Ben), has taken his place as steeplckeeper at the Tower Church: there are also three daughters, 22 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Fred was gifted with ready wit ; on an outing he was heard to remark: 'Boy, if you wake up to-morrow morning and find your pocket full of money you won't know you have had an outing.' On being asked to do a small job to one of the bells, he replied: 'I shall have to consult the secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Steeplekeepers.'

John Frederick Tillett, to give him his correct name, served with one engineering firm in Ipswich for $62 \frac{1}{2}$ years.

NORWICH ASSOCIATION

Western Branch

Thirty-eight ringers representing 14 towers attended the last quarterly meeting of the year, which was held at Caston on November 26th. The bells, which were available from 2.30 , were soon ringing in methods suited to the varying capabilities of those present. The service was conducted by the Rector of Caston, assisted by the Association's president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston).

Mr. Chas. Banham and his band of ringers then escorted the party to the church farm. where a gorgeous tea had been prepared. During the business meeting the Branch chairman, supported by the general secretary and the president, thanked Canon King for the use of the bells and for conducting the service; also the Caston ringers, for providing the tea all free and for the warm welcome.

The annual meeting will be held (pending permission) at Swaftham (8) on February 25 th.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

The annual meeting of the Cirencester Branch was held at Cirencester on December 3rd, 22 members attending. Watermoor bells were available from 2.30 p.m., with the Parish Church bells after the meeting. The Rev. Mr. Hewett conducted the service, with Mr. H. Falkner at the organ.

At the business meeting which followed tea the members stood in silence to the memory of the Rev. D. Williams, Mr. C. T. Bayliss and Mr . H. Lewis. Branch officers elected were: Mr. W. A. Godwin, chairman: Mr. R. E. W. Wenban, secretary; and Mr. E. H. Jefferies, Branch representative. A rota of meetings for 1956 was adopted, with Fairford for the next annual. The chairman passed a vote of thanks to all those who had made the meeting a success.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE WRITING ON THE WALL
Dear Sir,--The writing is on the wall, but it is to be feared that the majority of ringers cannot or will not see it. The recent questions in the 'House' re the noise effect on the nerves of the populace of our towns is, I think, the beginning of the end unless we all do something now. Make no mistake, ringing in town towers could be curtailed overnight and we would only have ourselves to blame.
In how many towers has any effort been made to introduce sound control? Fulham, Upper Clapton and most recently Christ Church. Ealing, have demonstrated that the sound can be muted almost to inaudibility for practice, etc., and yet the full beauty can be heard on Sundays.
Alas! the noise thunders out in the vicinity of the majority of our towers. I can name at least one tower in North London where the tower has been closed due to excessive com-plain!s-WHICH WERE JUSTIFIED.

A few years ago a tower in London was rebuilt and a new ring installed, and yet despite the fact that there are flats alongside higher than the tower, huge open louvres were built. The noise outside is beyond description. How long is the public going to put up with this?

One further example is Southwark Cathedral. It is well known that there have been protests from Guy's Hospital, and yet regularly peals are rung, many of which do not end before 10 p.m.. and I have heard these bells ringing at 10.20 p.m.

In many of our towers the practice develops into a frightful cacophony of noise, yet in one tower this frightful noise goes on to 9.20 on occasions; striking is unknown.

At the recent dinner of the Ancient Society, mention was made of ringing in 100 years' time. If there is to be any future at all for the Exercise, some effort to consider the public will have to be made; the days of privilege are past and we must not think that as servants of the Chur:h we are safe from attack.-Yours, etc.,
E. J. R.

VETERANS RINGING AT IPSWICH

Dear Sir,-Congratulations to Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins on ringing a peal in his 86th year. Belfry Gossip of Dec. 2nd asks if he can claim to be the oldest tower bell peal ringer, but does not mention the word living.

Mr. R. H. Brundle rang a peal of Kent T.B. Maximus on December 27th, 1937, in his 87th year, also the fifth to Cambridge Surprise Maximus on October 15th, 1938, in his 88th year. At the other end of the scale, Mrs. Marriott. née Phyllis E. Tillett, rang a peal of Grandsire Cinques. Stedman Cinques and Oxford T.B. Maximus at the age of 14 years.
All the above peals took place in St. Mary-le-Tower Church. Ipswich.-Yours. etc.
G. E. SYMONDS.

THE PEAL AT RICHMOND

Dear Sir,-A few weeks ago I met Mr. T. Beadle, jun., at Twickenham, and he recalled memories of a peal rung there some years previously. To what appeared in " The Ringing World' he has since written: 'If Freddie Goddard hold got hold of him (the verger) that night. there would have been murder.'
It is interesting to recall the names of the men mentioned. I have some happy memories of the hours spent with some of the bandpoor old George Ransom. as safe a man that ever rang a bell: the conductor, Jack Basden; his old friend Jo. Tabor and little Jimmy Walsom.-Yours faithfuily,

GEORGE H. HEAD.

THE LATE MR. W. J. NUDD

Dear Sir,-With reference to the obituary notice of the late W. J. Nudd, we have in our ringing room a large photograph of the team who rang in the record peal of 18,027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough on Easter Monday, April 12th, 1909. The late Mr. Nudd rang the eighth, and the late Mr. Gabriel Lindoff rang the ninth.-Yours sincerely, Dublin. St. Patrick's Cathedral Society.

LITTLE BOB MAJOR IN WALES

Dear Sir, -In answer to Mr. Roberts, of Llandudno, a peal of Little Bob Major was rung at St. Illtyd's Church, Bridgend, on August 22nd, 1928. It was composed and conducted by Mr. A. J. Pitman and was the first deal of Little Bob Major rung in Wales.Yours faithfully,
W. T. PETTY.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY NEWS LETTER

Dear Sir,-I must first apologise to the members at last year's annual dinner for the delay in acting on instructions received after discussion with respect to the news letter.
The intention is to produce periodically a circular giving news of the 'resident ' and 'nolonger resident' members.

I would like to draw attention to my notice in this issue and would be grateful if anv reader who knows of a member who, for any reason, is unlikely to see the notice, would either draw his or her attention to it, or send me a postcard with the member's name and address.-Yours faithfully,

ST. MARY'S, PENZANCE

Dear Sir,-I have recently been lent a copy of 'Clavis Campanalogia,' which was first published in 1788, and I note that Penzance is shown as having ten bells. Was this an error or did St. Mary's at that time have ten bells? If the latter, what happened to the other two bells? Perhaps some of your readers can inform me.-Yours sincerely,
E. T. P. FIELD.

Long Sutton, Somerset.

MAXIMUM AND MINIMUM

Dear Sir,-I wonder if any readers of the 'R.W.' can tell me what is the maximum number of calls in a true 720 of Bob Minor; also what is the minimum number with $5-6$ the right way, in both cases.-Yours faithfully,
Sleaford. C. T. H. BRADLEY.

RINGING IN HIS 91st YEAR

Dear Sir.-In Belfry Gossip recently someone asked if Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins, of Oxford, can claim to be the oldest tower bell peal ringer. Not quite, for Mr. Frank W. Sinkins rang the third through a peal of Grandsire Triples at Burnham, Bucks, in 3 hours 13 minutes on August 21st, 1951, when he was 86 years 7 months. It was stated then that he was the second oldest man to ring a peal. Mr. Sinkins, who now lives at Streatham, S.W, will be 91 on January 30th. He still climbs the steps to St. Leonard's ringing chamber and takes part in the ringing. He hopes to ring on Christmas Day and to ring a quarter peal when he reaches 91.

We at St. Leonard's sincerely hope this ambition may bo achieved.-Yours faithfully.
S. HOWARD.

TIBENHAM BELLS

Dear $\operatorname{Sir}$,-It is 25 years since a peal was rung on Tibenham bells, and it has been considered almost impossible to ring a peal on them owing to the tenor 'going' badly. After trying for two or three years, we at last obtained permission to attempt a peal.

An afternoon was spent among the bells by three of the band, cleaning out bearings and carrying out minor repairs, and then with two borrowed ropes everything was ready. The result was a good peal of Plain Bob Minor, with much credit and many thanks due to the tenor man These bells are well known for their fine tone and are considered by many to be the best six in the county. We hope in future they may be heard more often.-Yours faithfully,

CEDRIC F. W. PHILLIPPO.

Bunwell, Norwich.

FOOTNOTES

Dear Sir,-Those who decry lengthy and unnecessary footnotes will, I am sure, have spotted the most outstanding space-wasting 'afterthought' for many months. I refer to the recent peal, allegedly rung to mark the opening of the Vienna State Opera! That the band as a whole could have agreed to such an occasion being associated with this peal is, I think, very unlikely; but I feel certain this sort of thing could be avoided if, in future, an acknowledged responsible member of the band is elected to send the peal for publication.
To couple God's house and its rejoicings with a programme of operas is, to put it very mildly, in extreme bad taste, and I sincerely feel that this classic example of space-wasting points quite clearly to the necessity for a drastic reduction of footnotes.-Yours faithfully,

MICHAEL G. MORTON.
Erdington, Birmingham.

ST. SIMON'S & ST. JUDE'S IN LONDON

Dear Sir,-I think Mr. Ernest Morris might be interested to know that we have, in the Diocese of London, churches dedicated individually to both St. Simon and St. Jude. Including those that are now redundant and those that were bombed, there were four churches in the Diocese dedicated to St. Simon and six to St. Jude.-Yours faithfully,
B. K. LUNN.

KINGWESTUN BELLS

Dear Sir,-Further to my letter re the above, published in 'The Ringing World ' of December 9th, I enclose herewith what the 'Daily Sketch' printed of my protest :-

- BELLS AT NIGHT

I see that a reader in Kingweston, Somerset, protests about the ringing of church bells at night. In this age of noise some people apparently find it necessary to complain about the one loud sound which is made to the glory of God.-E. T. Paul Field, Long Sutton, Somerset.'
My letter, as submitted, contained a protest at the letter from 'A.F. S.' and also at the editor's flippant footnote. It also denied that bells were rung at 'night' or that ringers played popular tunes on bells. What the editor felt disposed to publish appears somewhat weak, 1 fear, when removed from the main context. E am glad, however, to report, that what of my letter was published was sufficient to bring appreciative thanks from a lady at Kingweston. - Yours sincerely,
E. T. PAUl FIELD.

Long Sutton, Somerset.

TOWER HUNTING IN DEVON

And Some Reflections on Bell Founders

DEVON is a big county, having two. 12 -bell towers, four tens (two blitzed), 88 eights (three blitzed) and over 250 sixes, besides 30 or so 5 -bell towers, and most of these have been visited by our party of change-ringers in the past years. The extent of the travelling must be imagined rather than realised. Messrs. A. W. Searle and G. H. Myers have done the lot, while Messrs. T. G. Myers and F. C. Smale are down to single figures. The same may be said of Rey. Preb. E. V. Cox. All this has meant long journeys and a wealth of experience. We have travelled the moorland stretches of Exmoor and Dartmoor, with all the varied scenes of valleys and woodland slopes, stretches of heath and gorse and frowning tors. We have visited villages in sheltered vales. villages on hills where tall towers outstand like sentinels

During the past wonderful summer we have done the outskirts of the county to the south. north and east. On May 4th we visited Wolborough (8) (16 cwt.), Staverton (22), Harberton (15), Diptford (13), Ermington (15), Holbeton (15) and Cornwood (10), all in the South Hams.

On May 25 th we journeyed to Romansleigh (12), Mariansleigh (7), E. Buckland (71 2 ), Filleigh (7), Charles (7) and Marwood (16).
July 12th took us to Lynton (10), through the July 12 th took us to Lynton (10), through the oone country to Brendon (4) ( 9 cwt.), WithvDoone colntry to Brendon (4) (9 cwt.), Withvpool (12). Winsford (16). Dulverton (8) (15), Washford Pyne (7) and Calverleigh (7). Of these, Withypool, Winsford and Dulverton are in Scmerset.
On Aug. 10th we visited Rockwell Green (11) -in Somerset : Clayhidon (11, 2, 27), Churchstanton (111 $)$, Yarcombe (5) (16 cwt), Hawkchurch (12), Uplyme (12) and Lyme Regis (8) ( 3 cwt.) - in Dorset.
The trip on Aug. 31st took us to Whitstone (12), Upton Pyne (11), Brampford Spcke ( $5 \frac{1}{2}$ ), Silverton (8) ( 17 cwt ), Rewe (9), Stoke Canon (12), Clyst St. George ( $10 \frac{1}{3}$ ) and Colaton Raleigh (12).

THE BEST SIX IN DEVON

We finished on Sept. 28th with Tavy St. Peter (10), Meavy (9). Sheepstor (9). Shaugh Prior (15, 1. 2). W. Bickleigh (9, 3. 27). Egg Buckland (9), Stoke Damerel (16) and Brixton (13). Much may be written about each of these trips and the series of most interesting rings of bells, all sixes except where noted. The rings at Shaugh Prior, Clyst St. George and Churchstanton attracted attention for tonal qualities. The question of the best six in Devon has often arisen, and opinions of our party are divided between Colyton. Shaugh Prior and North Molton on the heavy side, and Bishops Nympton and Clyst St. George on the light side. The heavy five at Molland. in F minor, attracted much interest. What is the translation of the inscription on the second bell, gif to Sancta maradrono"? The inscription on the treble, 'Hi jacet Magister Johannes Cooke,' printed backwards on the bell with date 1562 . is unique. A church with tower of interest to us all was Whitstone, where Mr. Charles Pearson probably rang Grandsire Doubles. A sire Doubles as a first peal. Mr. Pearson lived with his brother, who was the Rector of Whetstone. Mr. Pearson's book on 'The Church Bells of Devon' revcals considerable research into bell history, and his chapter on bellfounders is of particular interest to ringers and all who are curious on bell history.

Mr. G. H. Myers once remarked, at Holcombe Rogus during a previous series of trips: -This is the best ring of bells we have rung today.' On looking up the record we found that the treble was modern, the second medix-val, the third Kingston, 1825; fourth Pennington, 1636; fifth Bilbie, 1703; tenor Wroth, 1691. This seemed remarkable, having regard to the quality of the six. The question arises, 'Who were these founders?' Many of our party have ascended a tower to see an ancient bell, and quite a number of mediæval bells still do service. Some bells in N. Devon have the stamps r.g., others have r.n. The latter appears to be the initials of Robert Norton, of Exeter, while r.g. is an enigma. Read the following, which occurs on Luppitt tenor, 'Nosmesregoremib,' backwards: then we get ' Bi me Roger Semson.' This sort of puzzle inscription was common at that time. Roger Semson is considered to be the founder of Talaton tenor, circa 1492. He flourished in Queen Mary's reign.
The successor of Roger Norton at Exeter was John Byrdan. It may be that the Exeter firm used the cryptic stamps r.n. and i.t. with black lettering until John and Thomas Byrdan assumed control in the carly 17 th century. John Byrdan cast the present Cathedral fourth in 1616. The Byrdans' foundry probably passed to the Penningtons and the Cathedral fifth was cast by I. Pennington in 1658 . Their foundry mark was T.P. and used from 1618 to 1763. Another firm of Pennington, which may have been of the same family, worked from Lezant and then Stoke Clymsland in Cornwall. In Ellacombe's list of Devon bells 480 bells came from the Cornish firm, and in the number were many rings of five and six. The Exeter firm cast 174 bells mainly as single bells. The Cornish firm seems to have carried the foundry to the towers, and tradition has it that the Parkham six were cast in the churchyard in 1778. The maiden ring still does service. The Exeter Penningtons cast many good bells, but in the Cathedral records there is a note that the - Doom bell ' (or Cathedral eighth) ' recently cast by Mr. Pennington be new cast by Mr. Thomas Perdue.' The Perdue bell is dated 1693. The name of T. Perdue also occurs on the sixth (1676), ninth (Cobthornc) (1676) and the eleventh (Stafford) (1676). The Doom bell is the eighth.
The name of T. Pennington occurs on the extra sixth (1630). Most of the bells cast by both firms of Pennington appear to have been on the lighter side, and as we know many are good. With heavy bells like those in the Cathedral the Exeter firm did not give satisfaction. The Perdue firm worked from Salishury. Bristol and Taunton, and cast 25 bells in the county. The Perdues eventually removed to Winchester.
Another famed firm who cast bells for the Cathedral was that of Evans. of Chepstow. The firm cast the present seventh (Fox) (1729) and the tenth (Oldham) (1729). The Grandison was also cast by them in 1729. She has been recast by Taylors (1902).
It is interesting to note several other founders, more or less local, worked in Devon during the 17 th and 18 th centuries. These are Stadler. of Chulmleigh (1693-1770). Cockley. of Totnes (1681-1701), Gooding, of Plymouth (1717-1750), T. Wroth (1691-1774). Wroth cast 64 bells in the county, among them being the old six at Okehampton (1750) in the churchyard. Kingston warked from Bridgwater.
After the Penningtons, the most popular firm was that of Bilbie, of Cullompton (1715-1818). They cast more than 300 bells, and the name of Bilbie occurs on bells time after time nearly all over the county. Mainly their work is to be found in East Devon. It is said that William Pannells took over the firm of Bilbie and that his son removed to Exeter and set up a foundry which came to an end in 1855.
During the years 1825-1835, John and William Taylor, of Oxford. worked their foundry at Buckland Brewer, N. Devon, and cast many rings in the area. In 1840 the great Taylor foundry was established at Loughborough. In the parish church at Buckland Brewer there is a brass to the memory of John Taylor.

Rudhalls, of Gloucester, cast fine sixes for Pilton (1712) and Totnes (1722). Many of these remain and the Pilton tenor is one of the finest bells in the county. An interesting item is that William Hambling, a Blackawton blacksmith took over the Pennington firm of Lezant and worked in the South Hams (1823-1845). We have met with Hambling's bells on our trips

When it is remembered that in 1888 there were only two rings of ten bells, 39 of eight and 165 of six, the work by the modern firms Taylors. Mears and Stainbank, Gillett and Johnston, as well as John Warners. can be appreciated. Warners cast good eights for Emmanuel, Plymouth, and Withycombe Raleigh, and some sixes. The other firms need no comment because their work, past and present is so well known

MR. ELLACOMBE'S WORK
It is clear that there is much more in bell hunting than striking good touches. Mr. Ellacombe, the historic bell hunter, climbed every tower in the county except one, and he left behind him a monument in his record of the bells of Devon. We have hunted for the simple joy of ringing good touches and the joy of the countryside and churches: the pleasurc of attempting to analyse the tonal qualities of the best old bells and comparing them with the more resonant modern and scientifically tuned bells. There is joy in listening to a touch of Stedman on the Cathedral ten, the Heavitree or Tiverton or Holsworthy eights, or be it said the fine St. Andrew's ten, the Totnes or South Molton eights. Which is the best? Mayhe the experts can tell us.
But there is more than this: during our trips we have received kindly welcome from the clergy. Some have rung with us: some have arranged tea for us: some have entertained us. Local ringers were always interested and appreclative. We simply had to strike well. A remarkable fact is that in ninety-nine per cent. of cases the belfry was treated as part of the church and with care, kept like parlours in some cases, often with certificates of merit in striking hanging on the walls. Many call-change ringers read 'The Ringing World.' Seldom was a tower refused-one due to a tower falling (Dunkeswell): another a weak tower: one with bells considered to be dangerous, where we ventured and found the ring went quite well. Yes, it has been worth while and we value the appreciation expressed by local people of our striking. One thing is certain: each member of our parties has happy memories of days amongst the splendid bells of Devon. And I think Preb. E.V. Cox Revs. J. H. B. Andrews and W. H. Smale, Messrs. A. W. Searle. Myers (G. H.. T. G.. Fred and Bill), M. Aikins, W. Burrows, W. H. R. Smale, Ryall. Truman (A. and R.). with Mrs. Hood, Mrs. Johnston and Miss Boyle will readily subscribe to this sentiment.

OBITUARY

MR. OSWALD JAMES HUNT
When Mr. Oswald James Hunt passed away on November 21st, 1955, at Allesley, Coventry, at the age of 69, the Exercise lost an old friend and a very faithful member.
Jim had suffered from prolonged illness over the last 20 years but despite frequent spells in hospital his spirit remained unbroken. He would turn up, when able, with that regularity and punctuality all too frequently missing nowadays. His attendance at Sunday service ringing appears the more remarkable when it is remembered that for many years Jim attended All Saints', Allesley, Coventry, to ring for Matins and then took a two miles bus ride to join in the worship at St. John's, Coventry, where he was a chorister and server.
His peal ringing days began on July 8th, 1911, with a peal of Grandsire Triples at Wootton Basseft, Wilts. He was never a tenor man; he rang the fourth in this peal and never rang so near the back end again! But his peal ringing flourished, and 1912 found him amongst the band at St. Michael's, Stoke, Coventry, at which tower he scored his greatest number of peals-26. Amongst this band Jim was a willing helper in scoring peals in many methods new to the area, and in his peal records, too, appear the names of many now famous men. His last peal in the neighbourhood of Coventry was on May 4th, 1931, and shortly afterwards his work took him to the Stockport-Manchester area.

It was about this time, on August 20th, 1032, that Jim took part in what was then (and probably still is) a unique peal. This was a peal of Grandsire Triples at Christ Church, Epson, rung by a band of altar servers for the Guild of Servants of the Sanctuary.

This peal was followed by seven rung for the Lancashire Association between May, 1933, and June, 1937, when he rang his last peal, one of Double Norwich, at Miles Platting. This brought his peal total to 74, all on tower bells and rung on sixth, seventh and eighth bells.

Soon afterwards Jim was compelled by illhealth to retire and he returned to Coventry where he joined the Allesley band again. Though he rang no more peals he occasionally stood in a quarter, but preferred to stand aside if others could be found. His presence as an accomplished eight-bell ringer strengthened the band when the bells were augmented from six to eight in 1946. He lent every encouragement he could to the band, and to the Exercise, and remained cheerful and enthusiastic despite great physical discomfort. We, his ringing companions, remain grateful for his meinory.

The funeral took place at Comley Cemetery on November 24th, and many local ringers were present to pay their last tribute. Handbells were rung in salute

To his memory 1,280 Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung at Allesley. Coventry, by C. Aylett 1, H. G. Summers 2, R. Winter 3, P. Stone 4, $F$. $W$. Perrens (conductor) 5, $G$. Gardner 6, J. L. Hayward 7, W. A. Stote 8.

HIS PEAL RECORD

His peals were rung in 23 different towers for seven Guilds or Associations and consisted of the following:-

Stedman Triples 19, Grandsire Triples 8, Bob Major 6, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 9 , London Surprise Major 5, Superlative Surprise Major 4, Bristol Surprise Major 4, Cambridge Surprise Major 4, Duffield Major 1, Erin Triples 1 .
Bob Minor 5, Cambridge Surprise Minor 4, London Surprise Minor 3, seven methods Minor 2, seven Surprise Minor 1, five methods Minor 1, three methods Minor 1 .
Total: 74.

MR. HARRY CLARKE

The Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Guild has suffered a great loss in the death on December 4th of Mr. H. Clarke, one of its oldest members He was 88 years of age and had made a remarkable recovery from an operation for appendicitis in February, enjoying the summer months walking near his home, but his health failed quite suddenly a week or two ago.
He rang at Kingsthorpe Church for upwards of 50 years, and although not being able to ring of late, was always keenly interested in ringing affairs, and often appeared among his friends in the belfry. Several peals were to his credit, but he was better known for his faithful attendance for Sunday service ringing and at Branch meetings.
His death breaks the last link with the wellknown Kingsthorpe ringers, the late Messis. Parker and Dunkley, as the three were staunch ringing friends for upwards of half a century. Four ringers acted as bearers for his funeral, and a quarter peal was rung half-muffled in the evening.

MR. JAMES DUNSTER

It is with deep regret we record the sudden death of Mr. James Dunster, of Sowton, at the age of 74. He was a gardener on the Bishops' Court Estate, Sowton, Devon, for the last 42 years. His employer had passed away the previous evening, and after paying his condolences he collapsed and died.
Mr. Dunster was a regular Sunday service ringer and for many years captain of the local band. and a member of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers for over 30 years.

The funeral service on November 29th was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. V. Christie (chairman, Aylesbeare Deanery Branch) and was attended by ringers from Sowton and Honiton Clyst. Immediately after the funeral a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled by the following: G. E. Retter (conductor) 1, W. Seldon 2, W. Panter 3, E. E. Retter 4, A. G. Betts 5, H. G. Willmington 6, A. Gooding 7, W. Reeks 8.

MR. W. J. WALKER

Many ringers of the Kent County Association and old ringing friends in different parts of the country will learn with regret of the passing of Mr. William John Walker after a short illness, at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, Rochester, on November 30th.

Mr. William J. Walker, butter known to the ringing fraternity as 'Old Bill,' was born at Lynsted, Kent, on December 22nd, 1867. Here he chimed the bells for Sunday services before starting to learn to ring in 1890. A vear later he was married at Lynsted, then he moved to Sittingbourne, where he rang his first quarter. peal, followed by his first peal of Grandsire Triples, rung on March 4th, 1893, on the tenor. By this time he was already a mensber of the Kent County Association and the Borden and Upchurch band of ringers.
On account of his lifelong work in the brickfields he moved to the Rainham district some 61 years ago. Besides remaining very active he worked hard right up to two years ago, when he began to fail; he gave up ringing three vears ago.
All his life he was a very active ringer, being a member of the Rainham, Upchurch, Newington, Hartlip, Borden and Sittingbourne bands, also from about 1904 to 1938 he was a member of the Rochester Cathedral band. Every Sunday morning, wet or fine, for 34 years he rode on his bicycle from Upchurch to Rochester Cathedral.
Wherever there was a District meeting, peal attempt or a weekday practice in the surrounding countryside, William Walker, after finishing his day's work, would be there ready to ring on the back end.

During his long ringing career he had rung 317 peals-all for the Kent County Association. Many were first peals upon the bells. He loved to speak of the peal of Plain Bob Major, rung in 1905 at Rochester Cathedral, the first ever rung on the bells, conducted by the late W. Haigh, and rung for the 100th anniversary of Nelson's victory at Trafalgar. Of the famous ringers he rang with only a few remain to-dayMr. W. Wilkins, Mr. Ted Rack, Mr. Alfred Pulling and Mr. George Gilbert, the last-named one of the hundreds he had helped to learn. Besides being a ringer he was a very devoted churchman, attending service after ringing.
For years he had been a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths; it was one of his life's regrets that he never rang a peal for the Cumberlands, or with his daughter, Miss Emily B. P. Walker, although they had rung several quarter peals together. The last peal he rang was at Gillingham on Saturday, October $27 \mathrm{th}, 1945$, being Kent Treble Bob Major, conducted by Mr. William Knight.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral service took place at St. Mary's Church, Upchurch, on December 5 th and was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Clark, Vicar of Upchurch, and the Rev. J. Clifford, Vicar of Rainham, who paid a tribute to the fine example of service Mr. Walker had rendered as a churchman and bellringer for over 60 years And now he rests, along with his wife and only son, bencath the tower in which he had rung.

The chief family mourners were his four daughters, Mrs. G. Ellis, Miss K. C. Walker, Miss E. B. P. Walker and Mrs. D. Calaway. Among the ringers who paid their last respects were Mr. Charles E. J. Norris (Chatham and Rochester Cathedral), Mrs. F. M. Mitchell (Milton-next-Gravesend, who also represented Mr. F. M. Mitchell), Mr. C. S. Jarrett (secretary of the Rochester District), Mrs. J. Barton (Borden), Mr. E. C. Bishop and Mr. C. Grandsen (Upchurch), and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Naylor, Mr. Tom Dennis. Mr. William Hollands, Mr. John Hale and Mr. F. J. Cheal (St. Margaret's, Rainham).

There were many floral tributes, including those from the Kent County Association ; Rainham Parish Church Council; Ringers of St. Mary's, Upehurch; St. Mary's, Newington; and a floral bell from St. Margaret's Ringers, Rainham.

The bells of St. Margaret's, Rainham, were rung half-muffled all day on Sunday, and it is with regret a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples, rung in 3 hours and 15 minutes, could not be counted on Saturday. The bells of St. Mary's, Upchurch, were rung after the funeral and a peal of Minor was rung in the evening.

Many are the miles he rode,
Many are the years he rang,
Many are the tales he told,
Many are the friends he had.
F. J. C.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

The first dinner of ringers in the Ilchester Deanery on December 2nd at the White Hart Hotel, Martock, proved to be most successful. The Rev. L. E. Walsh. Vicar of Martock, presided, and in commending the innovation to the company of 49 members and friends present. hoped it would continue each year.
After dinner, two entertainers, games and community singing added to the enjoyment of the gathering, and proceedings finished at 11.30 p.m. with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

CHRISTMAS

WE'LL be at home for Christmas rings more truly than any of the other popular ideas associated with this day. Most of the other popular Christmas ideas are not specifically Christian, and you can share them without being a Christian, even as you could share the yule $\log$, feasting, light and fun in England, centuries before Christ. The association of home with a midwinter festival is obvious: the worse the weather the greater the attraction of the home lights beckoning the traveller through the snowy forest. But the association of home with the Christian Christmas is something deeper and more subtle.
'Home' is a strange paradox. Something to be got away from, as the lust of travel grips the adventurer and entices him away to strange lands and new experiences. And yet, something without which travel and adventure seem pointless, for as Odysseus saw centuries ago, a journey however long, as soon as it begins, becomes a journey towards home, gathering on the way experiences with which to enrich the return, tales to tell the family, riches to share around. Does this give us some idea of the true meaning of Christmas?

What is the real Christmas? The central event of world history. All before it is B.C., all after it is A.D. The event which altered all things. An interference, utter and complete, with history's course. An explosion so great that the pieces from it will never cease to scatter. An event which set up in mankind a tension compared with which the tension of home versus adventure is as nothing. An event which so affects all things, that the ringing of bells in east and west, in changes, carillons, unmusical clashes, or in any other way, to the strangely mingled elation and irritation of hundreds of millions, seems an obvious by-product of it.

Christmas: the event to which all history looked forward. For all history is concerned with the perfecting of mankind. The crown of creation, evolving by long, slow stages from something primitive, yet evolving to what? The grander man, the crown of creation, became, the greater were his possibilities for evil. History is one long record of man's powers for evil growing greater. History, as the Old Testament views it, is a record of man driving himself out of Eden, murdering his brother, drowning deservedly in a flood, continuing in evil, lust, hatred, reducing his religion to a cult of evil sacrifice. Then at last a new breath of fresh air sweeps in. The Prophets expect a change. Others long for it also. Then at last, into history, the record of evil man longing for something better and unable to produce it on his own, there breaks the vision of perfection. Man as he should and can be. Man, perfect in desire, in power, in achievement, in humility; the Light in the darkness.

The moment this happens, there comes into all life a tension far greater than ever before. The goodness in man feels overwhelmingly attracted to it. In the presence of the Christ Child man feels at home; his arduous journey towards satisfaction accomplished, his best desires satisfied, his ambitions given a worthwhile exercise. Yet the badness in man feels repelled by it; he cannot stand this perfection; he must escape from it, destroy it, do anything to counteract this banishment of his freedom. This tension begins the first Christmas night and it must go on so long as the world lasts. Shepherds and wise men come, attracted to ennoble their gifts and their wisdom here in man's true home. Ambitious Herods will stop at nothing to try and banish the idea. So from Christ's birth the rest of His earthly life-story becomes inevitable. Disciples long to give Him their whole lives. Others, for every varied reason that man's evil nature can devise, must expel Him from life. Where Herod the Great failed, Caiaphas got Him in the end-so men thought.

But it was not so. Man's conquest paled before Christ's conquest of death with life, of evil by goodness. So the tension of Christmas has not vanished into history, like that between King and Parliament three hundred years ago. It continues and must for ever continue on earth. It is intimate within us all today. Christ repels many, all the more strongly because His deepest nature attracts them. Why do our fellow workers in factories, etc., rag us off when they find we go to church and ring, whilst if we took up some other unusual activity, like collecting spiders, they would not bother to do so? Because the tension of perfection, attracting all men home, yet challenging them to break away and be free, is as real today as ever. 'What have we to do with Thee, Jesus . . . art Thou come to torment us before the time? ' cried the evil spirits. Christ's Spirit spreads in every land, conquering evil, leading men to do great things, yet stirring enmity everywhere. We, every one, feel His power in both directions. We feel forced to admire, to come to Him in worship and reflect Him in service, yet we often feel a strange resentment expressing itself in irrelevant ways which are interesting to analyse. The Rev. X. produces a different dislike from that which Mr. X. produces. We find it harder to say the Confession than to sing 'Fight the good fight.' Church bells irritate in a quite different way from any other public sound. The only way to resolve the Christmas tension in ourselves is so to learn to share the life of the Christ Child, His love, His humility, His powerless power, that our adventurous love of the world and of freedom is swallowed up in the joy of being at home with the Power which is love and which longs for us all even as we truly long for Him.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The last monthly meeting of the year was held at Rawmarsh on December 3rd when, unfortunately, the attendance was below average for the district. The bells were rung up soon after 3 p.m. and good use was made of the ringing time until 5 p.m., when tea was served in the church hall.
A short business meeting was held, at which the chair was taken by Mr. N. Chaddock. Apologies for absence were received from the president (Mr. H. O. Chaddock) and the Ringing Master (Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert).

The ringers then returned to the tower, where ringing continued in a variety of methods from Plain Bob to Surprise Major, until 9 p.m.
The next meeting is due to be held at Ecclesfield on January 7h.

GOOD WISHES DESPITE PEAL FAILURES

The wedding took place at All Saints' Church, Walsoken, on December 3rd between Mr. M. R. Reed and Miss J. E. Colson, both of Wisbech.

To commemorate this event, six friends of the bridegroom. who is also a bellringer, attempted a peal at St. Leonard's Church. Leverington, but this came to an untimely end owing to the clapper parting company with the tenor bell! The same ringers met again on Dec. 10th at St. Wendreda's Church, March, and again attempted a peal, which after 2 hrs. 50 mins. was stopped, this time owing to bells being in the wrong order at the final part of the last extent.

Despite the fact that no congratulatory peal was forthcoming, the participating bellringers heartily send their best wishes for the future to Mr. and Mrs. Reed.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Mayoral Visit to Rochdale Branch
St. Luke's, Heywood, was the venue for the Rochdale Branch annual meeting and party on December 3rd. The bells were available from 2 o'clock but ringing did not really commence until half-past. Although the weather was bright the attendance in the afternoon was disappointing. A short service was conducted by the Rector, and the curate gave a very good address.

A very good tea followed, and not mentioning any names, some members really shine at this part of the proceedings!

The business meeting was presided over by the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. Ivan Kay. Two new members were elected, both of Rochdale Parish Church, and the Branch secretary (Mr. F. Pritchard) was re-elected for the next two years.

A whist drive was held in one room, and the large schoolroom now gradually filled and dancing was enjoyed until 11 p.m. The Mayor and Mayoress of Heywood visited the gathering and stayed to listen to the Moorside (Oldham) handbell ringers' two performances of tuneringing.

The party was a great success and the Heywood ringers are to be congratulated for the arrangements, especially Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Mills and Mr. Alan Crabtree.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

The annual meeting of the Chow Deanery Branch，which was well attended，was held at Wrington on December 3rd．Ringing was en－ joyed on the ten bells until the service，con－ ducted by the Rector，Rev．Bernard Lee．After the usual magnificent＇Wrington tea＇（perhaps this had something to do with the attendance！） the business meeting was held．and as the Rector was unable to stay to the meeting，due to a service，Mr．Roger Fry proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and for conducting the service．Mr．Knight then asked all to stand in silence for a moment as Mr．George Fisher．of Congresbury，had passed away since the last mceting．

Arising out of the minutes was the subiect of badges，and Mr．Fry was able to inform the meeting that a new die had been made and badges would shortly be available at the price of three shillings．The Branch officers were re－ elected en bloc－Mr．H．W．Knight，chairman and Ringing Master；Mr．P．G．Yeo，secretary and representative on the general committee： Messrs．L．Derrick and L．Pullin，deputy Ring－ ing Masters．Mr．Michael Horseman was elected to the additional office of reporter to＇The Ringing World．＇
There being no new members，the next item was places of meetings，and it was decided that if permission was forthcoming the quarterly meeting should be held at Portishead in April， with practice meetings at Barrow Gurney（Jan．）， Nailsea（Fcb．）and Dundry（March）．The Cor－ porate Communion will be held at Wraxall on the fourth Sunday in April．
Yotes of thanks to Mrs．Knight and her helpers，for providing tea，to the organist，for his services，and Mr．Knight and Mr．Yeo，for their untiring efforts on behalf of the Branch． concluded the meeting，and ringing then con－ tinued in a variety of methods up to Cambridge Royal．

DIAMOND WEDDING OF VETERAN READING RINGER

Many of the older generation of ringers in Berkshire will recall the name of Ambrose Osborne，of Reading，who is now 83 years of age．

Mr．and Mrs．Osborne will，D．V．，celebrate their diamond wedding on Boxing Day，when we are sure all ringing friends will join in hearty congratulations to them．

Mr．Osborne commenced ringing at the latter part of the last century at St．Mary＇s，Reading， and it was here he rang his first peal（Grand－ sire），and called his first peal on the same bells He joined the Oxford Guild in 1902.

He afterwards turned his attention to St． Laurence＇s with its ring of ten．Here he rang his first peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Royal；in the latter the late Rev．F．E Robinson rang his first peal of Royal．He later returned to St．Mary＇s and taught a new band to ring Grandsire and Stedman．

Finally，he attached himself to St．Giles＇，with its fine ring of eight，where for 44 years he served as ringing foreman，when he had to give up ringing a few years ago．It was here he called the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob to be rung in Reading．

In all，he rang over 200 peals，mostly of his favourite method－Stedman，many of which were rung with the late Rev．F．E．Robinson．
Mr．Osborne is now confined to the house with rheumatoid arthritis，and misses his ring－ ing very much．
If any of the older or new，generation would care to send a word of cheer，the address is 17，Dorothy Street，Reading．

For 31 years captain and steeplekeeper of St. Mary's Church, Mr. W. B. Aldridge has left Woolwich and is now living at 24, Ruxley Close, North Clay, Kent. His departure is keenly felt by Woolwich ringers. His successor as captain and stceplekeecper is Mr. A. Grove, sen., a nephew of the late Mr. W. G. Grove, who conducted peals at Woolwich 65 years ago, and son of the late Mr. F. Grove, who was also a ringer at St. Mary's until he died in 1922.

Congratulations to Miss June Knight, of Bulkington, for the splendid way she rang at Chilvers Coton in the memorial peal for the late Bishop of Coventry, Dr. N. V. Gorton. It was her first attempt for a 10 -bell peal.

As a welcome to the Rev. C. R. Brown, on accepting the benefice of Warficld, Berks, a peal was rung on the bells on December 10 th. At the conclusion the new Vicar visited the tower and congratulated the band. He afterwards entertained them to tea.

Harbury, near Leamington Spa, bells were rung half-muffled on the day of the burial of the Bishop of Coventry. It is hoped to rehang these bells and add a treble in the near future, for which $£ 1,400$ is needed. 'Plain Bob ' writes if any ringers or friends like to help the Rector would be pleased to receive any gift, large or small.

Lt.-Comdr. Instructor R. G. Cross called his son, Paul's, first quarter at Radley on December 4th. There were two other firsts in this quarter of Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles-Sonia Allen, aged 12, and Daphne Pollard (12). The girls, with the rest of the band, are in the church choir, and on Sunday afternoons play recorders for Sunday School as there is no organist for this service.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Meeting one short for quarter peal of Major on December 9th, at Horbury, Yorks, Mr. H. Rowley, the 87 -year-old captain, stood down but conducted from a chair.

Mr. James R. Lawson, of Chicago. has published three compositions for carillons by Clifford Ball (Bournville), one by John Gordon (Sydney, Australia) and two by Selwyn Baker (Wellington, New Zealand).

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead writes that there have been three previous peals at North Curry, Somerset-in 1898, 1913 and 1922. All were Grandsire Triples. 'I find two previous peals of Little Bob Major in Wales-at Bridgend on August 22nd, 1928, and at Caerphilly on July 28th, 1951 There was also a peal of Tiverton Little Bob Major at Buckley on October 18th, 1947.'

Before the Cheshire band was successful in Mr. Pitman's peal in eight spliced methods with each bell doing all the work of each method, an attempt was made at Willesden by the Middlesex ringers the night before. The band had settled down well, but after a little more than an hour a miscall by the conductor put paid to the attempt. It will probably be in January that the next attempt will be made.
Miss Lucy Allen, who conducted the 19 th quarter by the present band at Brampton, Hunts, on November 23rd (1,320 Plain Bob). has been warmly congratulated on her first peal as conductor. R. F. B. writes: "The calls were made ver ; confidently at the right moment, and it was evident that she was quite at ease. The time is rapidly approaching when, in the case of Lucy, the pupil will out-teach the teacher. Given the opportunity, I see a great future for her in the ringing world.'

UMPIRES FOR SPLICED PEALS ADVOCATED

Dear Sir,-Anything on ringing matters from the pen of Mr. J. T. Dyke is always worthy of consideration, and he has done a service to the Exercise in drawing attention to the risk of inadvertent errors on the part of conductors of peals of Grandsire Doubles.
I am prompted by his article to attempt again to draw the attention of the Exercise to a similar and possibly even greater risk in another department of ringing activity, namely, Spliced Surprise Major in many methods, or for that matter, multi-method Minor peals.
It is the easiest thing in the world to call the bobs correctly, but to call the method or combination of methods wrongly without ever realising that one has done so. I submit, therefore, that such peals should only be rung in the presence of an umpire in the belfry who will check the methods as called.

Compositions in up to eight methods with all the work for every bell have now been rung. The conductors concerned in these peals are men of the highest integrity and ability. I know and have rung with all of them and am quite certain they could be depended upon to the last degree, but there is the grave risk of a genuine and undetected mistake, and in my view serious consideration to the matter by the Exercise is overdue.
There is a story told-I know it well in outline but am not certain of the exact detailsof the late William Pye, when calling the peal. I think in 12 methods, at Willesden. He realised he had called London instead of Rutland, or vice-versa, but decided to continue to the end of the peal in the hope that the alteration would not affect the truth of the composition. For tunately, the alteration made no difference, but one hesitates to think what might have happened had the conductor been a less able or a less honest man, if the error had affected the truth of the composition.
I am not without experience of calling compositions of the kind mentioned, but I would greatly appreciate expressions of opinion from other conductors of this type of peal. To make the point that anyone of sufficient ability could 'cook' any peal is no answer. 'Cooks' of that type are worthy only of contempt. I am writing not of their activities but of errors made in genuine innocence.-Yours faithfully,

Melton Mowbray.

ST. SIMON'S TRIPLES

Dear Sir--On looking through the peals recorded at St. Helen's, Darley Dale, Derbyshire, we find that a peal of St. Simon's Triples was rung here on Wednesday, August 6th, 1913. The Midland Counties' report of that year shows that the performance was by an all-local band, viz.: John Siddall (jun.) 1, William Taylor 2, Henry Gregory 3, Thomas White 4, James L. Wright 5, Edwin Blackwell 6, Alfred C. Wright 7, John W. Derbyshire 8.
The peal was composed by Arthur Knights and conducted by A. C. Wright. and was the first in the method for the M.C.A., as also were two other peals rung the same year by an identical band-St. Clement's Triples and Little Bob Major.
Incidentally, St. Helen's was the leading tower for the M.C.A. that year, with ten peals. SS. Peter and Paul's. Aston, Birmingham, and St. Mary and All Saints', Chesterfield, coming joint seconds with seven peals.-Yours. etc.,
H. F. TAYLOR

Dear Sir,-The collection of Doubles methods contains all the regular single-hunt three or four lead methods, and for the sake of completeness, the following are all the worthwhile irregular single-hunt three or four lead methods which conform to the individual plaincourse requirement, 'no method shall be the bob lead of another single-hunt method.'

Methods marked A have a Grandsire single above the treble for a bob.
Methods marked B have a fourths place bob at the lead end.
Methods marked C have a Grandsire extreme above the treble for a bob.
There are only six worthwhile single-hunt two-lead methods, as follows: Reading Bob. Wexham Place, Ascot Bob, London V Bob. Lampton Place and Osterley Bob which are R. Union, R. St. Faith, R. St. Julian, St. Augustine, St. George and R. St Sebastian respectively, with no places at the lead end. The first three have 3rds for a bob above the treble, when treble is coming down in 21 , and 345 for a single. The last three have 3rds for a bob below the treble. when treble is coming down in 54, and 123 for a single. There are 12 extents as in Cranbourne Imperial.

As this gives Doubles ringers a complete list of all the 100 different individual plain course single-hunt methods, might I suggest that in future, variations on these methods (i.e., the use of a different bob) retain their distinguishing names, but add to their title the classification 'Pleasure,' i.e., April Day Pleasure, Cassington Pleasure, Rushall Pleasure, etc.; and ihat peals of Doubles be analysed according to the number of different individual plain courses they contain? The Methods Committee surgest that the different bobs could be used, bu: that the variations should use the name of the plain course, i.e., publish a peal as 'a peal of Plain Bob, 12 different callings.' I sugge it that it would be better to publish it as a peal of Plain Bob, Norfolk Pleasure and Old Tleasure,' and claim it as a peal in one methot.-Yours sincerely,

Stanwell.

LITTLE BOB METHODS

Dear Sir,-If Mr. Blagrove refers to "The Ringing World, journals of March fich, 1925, and March 17th. 1933, he will find $t^{\prime}$ a figures of Dartford and Northfleet Little Bc's respectively.
I do not think the figures of Erith Lette Bob were published when the first peal was rung, but the method is the same as Dartford except that in Erith the 3-4 places are reversed.-Yours truly,
E. BARNETT.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Visitors from Aldbourne. Bristol, Cheltenham, Devizes and Gloucester attended the annual meeting of the Swindon Branch on Dicember 10th, and a hearty welcome was extended to Mr. Frank Skidmore, General Secretary of the Association.
The Vicar (Rev. Canon F. W. Thomas) welcomed the ringers to Christ Church and conducted the service. He also paid tribute to Mr. Charlie Gardner, who had completed 60 years $^{\circ}$ service as a member of the local band.
The company was entertained to tea by the Christ Church ringers, and at the business meeting all the retiring officers were re-elected. The branch secretary reported that membership was being maintained and there had been an increase in the number of peals rung in the Branch compared with the previous year.
It was proposed that meetings be held at St. Mark's, Swindon, Stratton St. Margaret and Wroughton during the next three months. Ringing was resumed after the meeting and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mrs. E. M. Mitchell. of Gravesend, was taught to ring in 1909 by Mr. Osborne, of Reading, whose diamond wedding on Boxing Day is mentioned in this issue.
The Librarian of the Central Council acknowledges with grateful thanks the gift of a MS. by James R. Lawson. Carillonneur of the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel at the University of Chicago, entitled. 'Carillon Bibliogranhies.' It contains a complete bibliography of published music for carillons by contemporary carillonneurs. Thirty-three compositions are listed: 29 of these are written for four-octave carillons, three for three-octave carillons and one for a two-octave carillon.
To honour the 90 th birthday of Mr. J. W. Jones on December 5th. six membe's of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan A sociation met at Llanfrechfa on December 10th for an attempt for a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor. Unfortunately, the rope of the fifth slipped wheel in the first 720 and it was not possible to go for a peal. However, a 720 of Cambridge Minor was rung on six of the remaining bells by the Rev. I. J. Richards 1, D. G. Clarke 2, Miss J. S. Evans 3, D. King

PEAL RINGING IN WILTSHIRE

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

$\mathbf{A}^{\mathrm{A}}$FTER some six counties with either large numbers of bells or large number of peals to talk about, we come to one which is 'average ' in both-Wiltshire. Only one tower has reached the century of peals mark, and it did so nearly 45 years ago--Salisbury, St. Martin's (8). Before the lirst war, this was the chief centre of ringing in the county-in fact only four other towers had reached double figures in peals by 1914-Trowbridge, Christ Church, Swindon, Colerne and Wootton Bassett (only the Swindon tower had passed the 20 mark.) Thus the 105 peals rung at St. Martin's from 1887 to 1912 far surpasses all the others. Since then, however, only 14 peals have been rung there-nine between the wars and five since 1946, so things have changed very considerably here.
Second on the list is the only 12 -bell tower in the county-Trowbridge. From 1886 to 1922 18 of the 90 peals were, rung. Then, in 1923, came the first peal on ten bells in the county, followed by 37 more by 1936 when the augmentation to 12 took place. There were seven on the 12 before the war and there have been 27 in the past ten years. Christ Church, Swindon, follows with 82 peals. It was the second most popular 8 -bell tower before 1914 and had had 41 peals from 1884 . Nine more came from the four years after the first war, and then the trebles were added. From 1925 to 193718 peals were rung on the ten and there have been 14 since 1945. Except for North Bradley, these last two towers have had as many or more peals since the last war than any other Wiltshire tower. Christ Church is the only 10 -hell tower in the county.
Apart from the above three churches, there are no others which have passed the 50 mark. Melksham (8) is nearest with 46-eight from 1896 to 1914. 25 from 1925 to 1935 and 13 since 1945. There are two in tho $30^{\circ}$ s (already mentioned in passing). They are Wootton Bassett (8) with 38 and North Bradley with 37. Exactly half of the former's peals were rung from 1891 to 1914 and 14 more from 1921 to 1932. The remaining five came in 1935, 1939, 1950, 195! and 1955. Only one peal had been rung at North Bradley prior to 1914 -in 1913. It then had to wait until 1930 for the next and then seven more were rung up to 1938. It was still a 6 -bell tower when 17 peals came from the years 1945 to 1949. and as an eight, 11 peals were rung from 1950 to 1954 (none this year so far).
In the 20 's are, first. Christ Church. Bradford-on-Avon (8), with 29 . The first peal was in 1924, and there were 20 in all up to 1939 including a 10,032 Bob Major in 1927. There have been nine since the war. Colerne (8) has 28-exactly half from 1888 to 1916. eight from 1924 to 1931 and six from 1950 to 1954. Then follows Devizes, St. John's (8), with 26 -six before 1914, six since 1947 and the remainder from 1919 to 1937. Warminster (8) has 24, the first in 1881. There was a big gap then until 1919 when 16 peals came in the next 16 years. There have been seven since 1947. Both Stratton, St. Margaret's (8), and Bradford-onAvon, Holy Trinity (8) have 23. At the former 14 have been rung since the war so it is doing well now. The tower had six bells un to about 1930 and only three peals were rung before that, in 1914, 1921 and 1924. The remaining peals were rung in the $30^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$ after augmentation. At the latter, we find a peal every two or three years since 1891 . Bishops Cannings has 20 peals-14 from 1920 to 1935 and the remainder in 1890, 1901, 1914, and three from 1944 to 1947. That completes the towers with 20 or more peals in the 8 -bell rings. The only 8 -bell tower still to be 'conquered" is Malmesburyrecently an eight. 1 believe.

TWENTY-NINE 6-BELL TOWERS WITHOUT A PEAL

There are still 29 of the 856 -bell towers which have not had a peal, so there is plenty of scope for tower grabbers here! Of the 56 which have, Hilperton has the most with 20-four from 1909 to 1913 (it was amongst the first 6-bell towers to have a peal), seven between the wars and nine since, so it is enjoying its best period now. Fourteen of Rodbourne-Cheney's 19 have been rung since 1945. The other five came from 1934 to 1938. Thirteen peals have been rung at Blunsdon and Holt. At the former, five were rung from 1920 to 1932 and eight since 1947. At the latter, there were peals in 1909 and 1913. eight from 1926 to 1936 and in 1945, 1946 and 1949. Southbroom has 12 -the first in 1913 and another in 1914, with five from 1930 to 1932 and five from 1944 to 1947 . The only other towers to reach double figures are Britford and Keevil with ten each. At the former nine have been rung since the war (the other was in 1920), whilst at the latter there were threc from 1910 to 1914, five from 1923 to 1930 and odd ones in 1947 and 1948.
Only seven of the 475 -bell towers have had a peal yet and only one of these has had more than one-Chilton Foliat, with two, in 1933 and 1947. The others, with the dates of their peals, are All Cannings (1931), Chirton (1934), Cricklade (1950), Ogbourne St. George (1953), Shalbourne (1953) and Yatesbury (1949).
So much for Wiltshire. A total of 974 peals has been rung in the county since 1881-the peal at Warminster being the first I came across. Totals include all published up to November 4th, 1955.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Many members and friends attended the winter meeting of the West Midland District, which was held at St. Mary's, Mandsworth, on December 3rd. At times there was hardly standing room in the belfry. The newly-cast bells were ringing continuously in the afternoon and evening, at times by bands of ladies.
Evensong was said in the church by the Rector, the Rev. J. C. H. Tompkins, who. before the service, welcomed the Guild to his church.
A sumptuous tea was provided in the church hall by local lady ringers. The Vicar was unable to attend, but Miss Evelyn Fletcher. while thanking the local ringers, asked that thanks should be conveyed to the Rector. It was pleasing to note that the gentlemen were outnumbered at tea.
With the mellow sound of Double Norwich ringing in our ears, a business meeting was held. Four apologies were received, and four new members were elected. Members hoped that the next meeting would be held jointly with the Hereford District on the first Saturday in March

FREDERICK J. TILLETT - 1867-1955 AN APPRECLATION
With the passing of Fred Tillett on December 7th in his 89th year, East Anglia loses a great ringing personality. To the present generation he was but a name, but his contemporaries knew him as an outstanding tenor ringer. He was built for the job, a tall, upright, powerful man: to see him ring a heavy bell was a lesson in good striking coupled with economy of effort.

Perhaps his greatest performance was ringing the 20 cwt . tenor at Debenham to the 16,608 of Oxford T.B. Major, away back in 1892; but he also rang the tenors at Woodbridge, Leiston and Ufford to other long peals. He did not travel far; there were not the facilities in his day that we have, but he had rung the tenors at Cornhill. St. Martin-in-the-Fields. Norwich, Chelmsford and Fulham to peals. He rang St. Mary-le-Tower tenor to over 50 peals. including the first ever of New Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire and Pudsey S. Maximus, and also to Cambridge and York S.. Double Norwich C.B. Oxford and Kent T.B.. Plain Bob, Dufficld and Forward Maximus.

He was, too, a notable handbell ringer, with a lovely sense of rhythm, and had rung peals of Oxford and Kent T.B. and Plain Bob. Maximus, Royal and Major, Grandsire Cinques, Caters and Triples, Stedman Caters and Double Norwich C.B. Major. The full record of his peals is not available, but I find he rang about 70 peals of Maximus

He gave up active ringing for a few years in middle life and took up pigeon racing, and in this connection during the first world war, although iin a reserved occupation, and well over military age, he 'wangled' himself over to France in charge of a pigeon locker. He was ever a roamer but returned to his first love after the war to take part in many more peals. He was possessed of a lively wit, and a gift of repartee which could be devastating. His sense of humour was keen. as the following shows. We used to fill up an odd five minutes at St. Mary-lc-Tower with three leads of Treble 12, which he would call. On one occasion he said 'Go. Kent.' and we on the front rang Oxford. Of course, he spotted it. but he had an answer to that. for the next time we rang it he said 'Go. Treble Bob. and ring what you like!'
He came of a long line of ringers: his great grandfather's name appears on a peal board in St. Mary-lc-Tower belfry in 1811, and his grandfather and father were ringers, as are also his son and grand-daughter. which gives six genera-tions-a fact of which he was very proud.
He was laid to rest on December 12th in Ipswich cemetery. Amongst those present were several old ringing associates, and handbells were rung at the graveside by E. Evans. C. J. Sedgley, G. E. Symonds and G. W. Pipe. May he sleep well.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. V. DAVIS
We regret to record the sudden death on Dec. 15 th of Mrs. Grace M. Davis, wife of Mr. Arthur V. Davis, of 116, Alma Road, Bournemouth. Mrs. Davis, who was 54 , shared her husband's deep interest in the welfare of St. Peter's Church, Bournemouth, and was held in affection by a wide circle of ringing and other friends. Mr. Davis shares his bereavement with his son and daughter.
The funeral service was held at St. Peter's Church, Bournemouth, last Tuesday.

MR. ARTHUR S. GILLOTT

It is with deep regret that we record the death, on December 7th, of Mr. Arthur S. Gillott. He was 77 years of age.

For many years ringer, secretary and master of the Guild of St. George, Camberwell, Mr. Gillott as a younger man was an ardent cyclist, and it was his regular practice to attend Communion at St. George's, ride into the country, ring at a church, and be back in the evening for ringilg at his own church.

About four years ago he handed over his belfry work to the 'younger generation,' but he was still interested in the welfare of the tower, and only four months ago he ascended the vertical ladder to the bells to see how repairs were going on.
On December 11th, 1260 Grandsire Triples were rung half-muffied (tenor open) to his memory by E. R. Iveson 1, L. V. Roberts 2 , Miss V. M. Westray 3, B. P. Danbury 4, E. G. Webb 5, W. D. Grainger 6, F. R. L. Blewer (cond.) 7, W. W. Shorter 8.

MR. O. J. HUNT

- Mr. Louis A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett, writes: With deep regret I read of the passing of Oswald James Hunt. As Ringing Master at Wootton Bassett, I instructed him as a choirboy. Like many others, he was rather slow in picking up change ringing-in fact, this was a joke between us.
1 was always pleased to read of his progress in ringing matters as it paid me for all the trouble I took with him. He always sent me a card at Christmas. which I was looking for when I received my 'Ringing World.' May he rest in peace for he was one of the truest servants of the Church.

PEAL RINGING IN 1954

FINAL figures of peals rung in 1954 are to hand with the publication of the peals analysis tables. There was a steady decline in the total for 1954 compared with recent years; handbell peals again flopped, reaching only 123 as against 154 in 1953. The year 1949 saw 382 handbell peals recorded, and since then the decline has been continuous. At Bristol, the Peals Analysis Committee deplored 'the fading away of this branch of our art.' There has not been the expected improvement during the current year.

The following table gives the general trend of peals on tqwer bells, which is the lowest since 1948; the decrease continues, and it is unlikely that the 2,000 mark will be reached in 1955.

|  | Totals: | 2,283 | 2,412 | 2,396 | 2,632 | 2,361 |

There was a drop in 12 -bell peals from 82 to 67 . St. Martin's Guild had only 12 against 24 last year, followed by Leicester with 11. Surprise Maximus, however, increased from 23 to 32, and in this respect Leicester cut new ground with five methods rung for the first time.

Very little change was noted in ten-bell ringing, the total being 188 against 193. These were shared between 39 Guilds and Associations as against 36 last year. More peals of Surprise Royal were scored-76 against 60 in 1953. Cambridge with 35 and Yorkshire with 19 were both advances on the previous year. The leading Associations for ten-bell ringing were Suffolk 17, Leicester 16, Chester 11 and St. Martin's 10. Two peals of Plain Bob Caters were somewhat of a novelty.

Major ringing was more prolific than in the past two years, with 922 peals against 887 and 906 . The increase was in Surprise methods with a total of 578 against 455. Cambridge again headed the list as the most popular method with 111 (last year 115), followed by Yorkshire 94
(90), London 50 (51), Superlative 44 (35), Bristol 34 (31) and Lincolnshire 18. Spliced Surprise numbered 25 against 35. Chester Diocesan Guild had four new Imperial methods and Shropshire one. Will the excitement of these methods appeal to Surprise ringers? Chester feel that the departure is worth while.

Peals of Triples showed a marked drop of 67. Grandsire $\mathrm{T}_{\text {it }}$ 'ples totalled only 132 compared with 183 and 209 in th $\mathrm{NE} \div$ preceding years, and Stedman 115 against 108. Leicevc hat 24 peals of Stedman-mostly Dexter's Varian Plain Bob Triples had four peals.
While paals of Minor and Doubles totalled 842 this is less than in recent years, the 1,000 mark being exceeded in 1951. There were 622 peals of Minor (647) and 220 of Doubles ( 272 the previous year). Spectacular ventures were made in multi-method Minor peals, 45 being reached, by the Chester Diocesan, the Leicester Diocesan and the Yorkshire Association; and in the realm of Doubles 45 methods were reached by the Middlesex Association. Single method peals are still, in the main, generally favoured, with 259 of Minor and 128 of Doubles. The leading Associations for this class of ringing were Essex 65 peals (71), Lincoln 53 (65), Bath and Wells 48 (33), Kent 47 (54) and Ely 43 (40).

For the sixth year in succession the Leicester Diocesan Guild had most peals to their credit with 197 (196 in 1953). The order of the other leading Guilds or Associations is as follows: 2 Kent 146 (130), 3 Suffolk 127 (111), 4 Essex 123 (131), 5 Lincoln 106 (116), 6 Yorkshire 96 (86), 7 Lancashire 95 (135), 8 St. Martin's 92 (102), 9 Oxford Diocesan 88 (126), 10 Chester 86 (103), 11 Bath and Wells 71 (56). 12 Norwich 71 (84), 13 Sussex 66 (51), 14 Winchester and Portsmouth 65 (66), 15 Ely 64 (51). The progress of the Suffolk Guild from seventh to third position is promising; perhaps the young ringers of this county will restore East Anglia's former glory of being in the forefront of the Exercise.

Handbell peal ringing makes sorry reading with only 123 peals. Only one 12 -bell peal was rung. While there were ten peals from Leicester, including Stedman Cinques, Kent T.B. Royal and Cambridge Surprise Major, there was not a single peal from Birmingham. Winchester and Portsmouth, however. kept the art alive with 17 peals. We hope the fact that 27 peals of Minor in one method (mostly Plain Bob) is an indication that a new generation of handbell ringers has made a start. If these people can blossom out into Major ringing then there might be some hope. The Universities, however, still practise the art with 17 peals.

Mr. Walter Ayre and his committee deserve the thanks of all peal ringers for the enormous amount of work these tables entail. They do enable the Exercise to watch the trend of peal ringing.

New General Secretary To The Suffolk Guild

A well-attended general meeting of the Suffolk Guild took place at Woodbridge on December 17 th, when the fine ring of bells was rung to methods up to Spliced Surprise. The service was held at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the Rector. Canon A. W. Sarson, whose address was based on 'Whatever thou doeth, do it with all thy might.'

Forty-three were served with tea in pleasant surroundings, and at the business meeting the chair was taken by the Rev. E. C. Charlsworth. curate of St. Mary's, supported by Mr. C. E. Fisher (vice-president). Mr. C. J. Sedgley (Ringing Master), the minutes secretary and general secretary. Ten new members were elected.

The general secretary (Mr. Cecil W. Pipe) said he-took office in 1945 and wished to retire at the end of the year. He felt very sure a change would be good for the Guild and thanked all those who had supported him, especially past and present district secretaries.

The Guild was in a healthy financial position with assets at over $£ 200$. Twenty-seven restorations had taken place since the war, but much more was needed to be done. A lot of work was entailed which required the support of all members if the office of general secretary was to be successfully run. and he appealed to all present to support the general secretary elect by early payment of subscriptions, attendance at meetings and services, and definitely notification when tea was required
In the committee's choice of Mr. John W. Blythe as future general secretary, they had a popular young conductor who was recently married to a charming young lady ringer, and he hoped his term of office would be a happy one. He concluded by asking all ringers to be at their ropes Christmas Eve and morning, and New Year's Eve-occasions when the public really loved to hear the bells-and finally, he wished them all a happy Christmas

Mr. Pipe's resignation was accepted, and there being no other nominations Mr. John W. Blythe was unanimously elected general secretary and treasurer. with effect às from January Ist next.

Mr . Blythe thanked the members for their confidence in him, and with support he would do his best on behalf of the Guild.

Mr. C. E. Fisher and Mr. C. J. Sedgley thanked Mr. Pipe for his work, and the usual votes of thanks to the Rector and organist and Mr. Stanley Woodard were made.

The address of Mr. John W. Blythe is 18 . Barnaby Green, Southwold, Suffolk.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

On December 10 th , a quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at Pembroke. The bells were available to the ringers at 2 p.m., and members came from Tenby, Carmarthen, Burry Port, Llanelly, and were well supported by the Pembroke ringers.

A service was held at which the Vicar, the Rev. D. Reece, kindly officiated, the lesson beirg reaj by Mr. R. E. Davies, of Burry Port. The members were afterwards entertained to a very nice tea at the Church Hall, where everyone enjoyed themselves on a cold but lovely day.

The Vicar presided at the usual business meeting, and a very hearty address of welcome was extended to members by Mr. Humphries, of Pembroke. He expressed his appreciation of the work done by Mr. Phil Rogers and members of the Guild in helping the St. Mary's ringers to become good ringers.

The usual touch on the handbells was given by the Llanelly boys and girls, ringing tunes and carols.

The place of the next quarterly meeting will be Llandilo. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised the sum of $£ 111 \mathrm{~s}$. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar by the Master (Mr. Ed. J. Thomas, of Carmarthen).

The ringers then returned to the tower to wind up yet another good meeting, and the climax came with a well-struck 720 of Grandsire Doubles, which was rung to celebrate the marriage of Captain Ivor Ramsden, son of Mrs. Basil Ramsden, of Cosheston Hall, Pembroke, which took place in London on this day.

Ringing has been suspended at Darfield Church, near Barnsley, owing to mining operations under the church. stained-glass windows have bee are being stored at Sheffield. Owing to an abundance of water in the workings the task of removing the coal may be delayed, and there are little prospects of ringing being resumed next year.

After the induction service of the new Vicar of Chelford, Cheshire, the Lord Bishop of Chester came in the tower and took a rope to 120 of Grandsire Doubles.

In connection with the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal at Bedford, the conductor wishes to express his thanks to Mr. C. E. Jeffries for standing out after meeting short for Stedman Caters.

We thank the readers who have sent copies of the British Railways Magazine for December with its cover picture depicting ringing by railwaymen at Boughton Monchelsea, Kent. It is about time that railwaymen rang another peal!

Four members of the Middlesex AssociationMessrs. F. W. Brinklow, A. Cutler, A. J. House and J. T. Lock -have rung peals of Surprise Major with names beginning with each letter of the alphabet. To complete the 26 we have the first peal of Xavier Surprise Major.

For 22 years Mr. Cyril A. Burgess has given very loyal service to Burnham, Bucks, tower. Previous to his departure for Kent he was presented with a case of fish eaters by the Vicar, on behalf of his fellow ringers. A safe ringer and conductor, Cyril takes with him a total of 63 peals, 44 of which have been rung at Burnham. As G. G. writes. 'Burnham's loss will be Kent's gain.'

With a handbell peal at Hinckley, Leics, Mr. Edgar Vallance has completed his 100 peals. This has taken him 45 years. His first peal was rung at Stoke Golding on December 5th. 1910, under the conductorship of the well-known Leicestershire ringer, Mr. E. H. Stoneley.

Mr. Jack Bray, the secretary of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, rang his 600th peal on Dec. 17th. It was a handbell peal of 5.068 Spliced Kent Treble Bob and Kent Little Court Royal.

PEAL RINGING IN WORCESTERSHIRE

By The Rev. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

WORCESTERSHIRE was amongst the earliest counties to take up the art of change ringing and the county has always been prominent in the peal lists. Thus there are six towers which have passed the century of peals mark since 1881, which means that it is well up the list of counties in this respect (ten have more and the remaining 28 less). Of the six, three are 10 -bell towers and one is a 12 -bell tower, so ringing on the higher number has been popular.
We find the most at Dudley (10) where 180 peals have been rung, commencing in 1886. They have been spread out fairly evenly through the years (and all the years of the first world war are represented). Thus there were 79 peals from 1886 to 1916, and 77 from 1917 to 1940. Of these 156 peals, no less than 116 were of Grandsire Caters (the remaining 40 comprise 16 of Royal-mainly Bob and Kent; seven of Caters-Stedman and Bob; five of Major and 12 of Triples-ten Grandsire). There certainly was a liking for Grandsire before 1940! It is not so apparent now, for only two of the 24 post-war peals have been of Grandsire Caters and there has been a much greater variety, the most being of Stedman Caters (7).
Second comes Kidderminster (12). The heyday of this tower was before the first war when it had eight bells. Of the 163 peals, 118 were rung then, commencing in 1882 . It was the most popular peal-ringing tower in the county in that period. Thirteen more peals were rung from 1918 to 1926, and then there was silence until augmentation to 12 in the middle 1930's. Twenty-two peals were then rung before the war stopped further attempts, and there have been ten since 1943, so there is not very much peal activity here nowadays.

An 8 -bell tower comes third-Netherton, with 150 . The best yearly averages are being accomplished in this post-war period, for 49 have been rung since 1945 -the most in any tower in the county (although closely followed by Madresfield). There were 59 from 1888 to 1915 and 42 between the wars, so it has had a consistent peal history. Then comes Selly Oak (8). Like Kidderminster, we must look to the pre-1914 period for the most peals. A total of 108 was rung from 1887 to 1915-nearly as many as Kidderminster. There was only an average of one a year from 1918 to 1939 ( 21 peals) and there have been 16 from 1944 to 1954.
The remaining two centenarians are both $10-$ bell towers and both have 112 peals to their credit. Bromsgrove had 58 of the peals from 1881 to 1914,38 from 1920 to 1936 and 16 in the last ten years. King's Norton was an 8 -bell tower at first, and 76 peals were rung from 1884 to 1915, followed by six from 1917 to 1926. After the addition of the trebles, 21 peals were rung from 1928 to 1939 and there have been nine since 1945. Thus the heyday here seems to be prior to 1914.
HALESOWEN ALSO A CENTENARIAN
Although I have only ' logged' 99 peals at Halesowen (8) since 1881, the tower is really a centenarian, for I have come across two other peals prior to the period under review. Of the 99, 44 were rung from 1887 to 1914, 42 from 1919 to 1938 and 13 since 1944 (none this year yet). Claines (10) has had a relatively short ringing history for its number of peals ( 93 ). No peal had been rung there when its six bells became eight in 1927, but there followed 47 peals from 1927 to 1939, making it the most popular tower of that period. Further augmentation came in 1940 , but the first peal could not be rung until 1943 because of the ban on ringing. Since then there have been 46 peals, but the number is dwindling, for the tower has not yet appeared in the peal lists this year and it only was mentioned twice last year. We hope it will soon reach the 100 mark.
It is unusual to find a 6 -bell tower so high up in the peal list, but that is the case in Worcestershire, for Hanley Castle has had 90 peals-equalled only by three other 6 -bell towers in the whole country. Of these, 79 were rung from 1919 to 1938-more than any other tower in those 20 years, but it has dropped off since the war, only six being rung from 1944 to 1952. The remaining five came from 1888 to 1913. It was the first 6 -bell tower in the county to have a peal, I think. Clent's (8) 82 peals have been spread evenly over the years from 1889-39, 30 and 13 in the usual three periods respectively.
Tenth on the list comes another of the three 12 -bell towers-Evesham. This tower is enjoying its best time now, for 36 of the 73 peals have been rung since the war. It is, of course, one of the most recent 12 's, having been augmented in 1952. On the ten bells, 16 peals were rung from 1889 to 1916 and a further 21 from 1918 to 1937. Fifteen more were rung in the years 1944 to 1949 and there have thus been 21 peals on the 12 since 1952.
Whilst talking about a 12-bell tower, we might as well mention the remaining one-Worcester Cathedral. Here only 20 peals have been rung at an interval of every few years (four since the war). Similarly, there is just one 10 bell tower not yet mentioned-it is Worcester, All Saints', where 53 peals have been rung. Its yearly average is best at the moment for $& 1$ of the peals have come since 1944. There were five from 1887 to 1889, an odd one in 1915 and then 26 from 1918 to 1937.

HINTON-ON-THE-GREEN NOW POPULAR

In order of peal totals, Upton-on-Severn (8) follows Evesham with 70 peals. The first peal was in 1902 and eight were rung to 1915. Since 1919 it has averaged two a year - 43 in the 21 years from 1919 to 1939 and 19 since 1944. Two 8 -bell towers have 69. They are Hagley, whose best time was in the last century, and Hinton-on-the-Green. At the former. 34 peals were rung from 1885 to 1900 , followed by eight from 1902 to 1913. 21 from 1922 to 1939 and six from 1944 to 1952 . At the latter, three peals had been rung in 1902 and 1920 (two) before it became an 8 -bell tower in 1930. Since then, there have been 22 peals from 1931 to 1939 and 44 peals since 1943, so it is very popular now. Hanbury (8) also did well after the last war, although it has dropped off recently. Of the 68 peals, 35 were rung from 1944 to 1952 (none since).
The remaining 33 are almost equally divided between the two earlier periods commencing in 1885. Another 6 -bell tower comes nextWollaston. The 67 peals have come quite regularly through the years from 1889. There hasn't been one since 1953. Oldbury (8) has 64. Fifty of these were rung before the first war. so it isn't heard much of now, but there have been six since 1945. Three towers have 56 peals-Great Hampton (8), Stourbridge, St. Mary's (8), and Madresfield (6). The first was a 6 -bell tower until six years ago. There had been 19 peals from 1903 to 1914. 16 from 1920 to 1936 and two in 1945 and 1946. There have been 19 since augmentation in 1949. At Stourbridge, the peals have come regularly since 1894. but at Madresficld, no less than 48 of the peals were rung from 1919 to 1939 and there haven't been any since.

The only other tower which has passed the 50 mark and not already mentioned is Badsey (8). There has been a peal every year or so since 1898. with the usual war gaps. Nearing 50 are Hallow (49), Worcester, St. John (48), and Worcester, St. Helen's and Hartlebury (45). All are 8-bell towers. All the 8 -bell towers have had peals-the longest silent of them is Moseley whose two peals were rung in 1904 and 1905.
A few more 6 -bell towers deserve mention. Ripple has 32 peals and is going well. All but the first (in 1912) have been rung since 1923. Bredon with Norton has 28, 17 between 1947 and 1953. Areley Kings has $27-11$ from 1892 to 1913 and 14 from 1950 to 1953. Wychbold has 26 ( 12 between the wars and 12 since 1944) and Suckley 25 (five, eleven and nine in the three periods, commencing in 1904). Others over 20 are Kempsey (22) and Martley (20). Six or seven 6-bell towers remain to be 'conquered.' They are Abberley, Astley, Elmley Lovett, Fladbury, Inkberrow and Worcester, St. Martin's, with possibly one of the two Droitwich 6-bell towers. (I have 12 peals there and have not been certain to which towers they have applied-the dedications of the churches seem to be different to those given in Crockford some-times-I should be grateful for clarification by a local ringer.)
There- are only nine 5 -bell towers in the county. Three of these have had peals (none since the war). They are Berrow (two, in 1932 and 1938), Bredon (one in 1917) and Broadwas (one in 1919). Still to be 'conquered' are, therefore, Birlingham, Evenlode, Grafton Flyford, Church Honeybourne, Pebworth and Severn Stoke. Peals are inclusive of those published up to December 9th, 1955.

THREE GUILDS MEET AT NEATH

History was made at Cadoxton (Neath) on December 3 rd, when over 50 ringers from three Guilds held a joint meeting and rang the very musical 'six ' at St. Cattwg's Church. Sponsors of the meeting were the Llandaff Branch of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association. Southern District of Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild and the $\mathbf{S}$. Wales District of the Ladies' Guild.
The Ladies' Guild held their meeting before the service. The president was unable to attend and Mrs. Coles was voted to the chair. The next meeting will be held at Aberavon. While this meeting was in progress the bells were being rung to warious methods before the service which commenced at 4.30 p.m.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. Ishmael), and the address, on the relationship between the bells and the church, was given by the Curate (the Rev. G. L. Nicholas).
A very enjoyable tea followed and a vote of thanks was accorded the ladies on the excellent arrangements made.
At the business meeting, with the Vicar presiding, the Swansea and Brecon Guild agenda was taken first. All officers were re-elected and were thanked for their service during the year. The district secretary was asked to arrange a joint meeting with the St. David's Guild next March, and failing this, it was agreed to go to Baglan. Mr. Roderick, on behalf of all members, expressed their appreciation of Mr. Jack Pitman's recent composition of Spliced Surprise methods.
The agenda of the Llandaff Branch meeting followed. It was decided to visit Coity for the next meeting in the New Year.
Progress, it was noted, was being well maintained throughout the diocese. Penarth and Cowbridge were mentioned in the report.
The chairman remarked that he was pleased to see so many young people at the meeting.

Several new members were enrolled. and Mr. D. J. Lewis proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding at the meeting, to the organist, and to all those who helped to make the meeting a success.
Further ringing took place at Cadoxton and at Neath, but many ringers had to leave early, as they had a long way to go.

ST. MARGARET'S WOLSTANTON

By E. H. EDGE

THE Parish Church of St. Margaret. surrounded by its village and common, known as the Marsh, stands high up on one of the north-south ridges which fall away from the Pennines to the Shropshire border in the west. From the tower one has magnificent viewsrising moorland to the east beyond Hanley and Burslem, lesser hills to the west and south. In the distance, some 40 miles away, can be seen the conical outline of the Wrekin.

The church is believed to have been founded in Saxon times by onc Wolstan, whose descendant and a native of the parish was later Bishop of Worcester in the early 11th century. The church certainly had its resident priest in 1086, and the manor held by Algar. Earl of Mercia, and son of Leofric and Lady Godiva, was of sufficient importance to be mentioned in the Domesday Book. The church was enlarged in the 13th century, whence dated the lancet windows in the chancel, since removed, and the nave arcade. The tower is of this period but contains Saxon work.
' It was G-SB-W
That brought me to my end
Dear Parents mourne not for me, For God will stand my friend. With half a pint of Poyson
He came to visit me.
Write this on my grave
That all that read it may see.'
This latter must be one of the few accusations of murder in such direct form.
Some unique pottery tombstones of the 18th century are now in the south porch. others from the church having found their way to Liverpool Museum.
The fabric deteriorated in the course of time and the church was rebuilt on its old foundations in 1859 when the roof was restored to its original pitch and the stonework of the nave arcade redressed. The "poppy-head' bench ends were installed in 1859 when the threedecker pulpit, west gallery and original font was removed. The tower was, not touched at the rebuilding except that the spire, rising some $65-70$ feet above the tower, itself 78 feet high. had its top section carried up to its original

WOLSTANTON ST. MARGARETS
before the erection of the lych gate in 1951

A fire is believed to have destroyed part of the building in the 16 th century and a new roof of low pitch and a clerestory were constructed in 1623. The churchyard contains some interesting tombstones, one reading:-

Heare lyth the body of Randull Bristall Broad Glasse Maker, who died the second of April in the year of our Lord God 1668.

Here lieth the body of Sarah Smith, daughter of Samuel and Martha Smith of Bradwell Park who departed this life Nov: 29, 1763 , in the 21 st year of her age-taper, and a parapet and corner pinnacles replaced the medizval castellations. The tower abuts the north side of the north aisle, an unusual feature in a church of such age, although the bell tower of Astbury, just over the Cheshire border, occupies a similar position. The tower arch into the church was opened at the rebuilding and the lower chamber now forms the vestry.
The entrance to the tower is by a low door in the north face and the ringing chamber is reached by a spiral staircase. The walls of the chamber, some three feet thick, are wainscoted below, the upper portion being in the natural red-sandstone. A large peal-board bears witness to the efforts of earlier bands, and a board dated 1816 carries the familiar doggercl rules: If to ring you do come here,
You must ring well with hand and ear :
And if a bell you over-throw,
Twopence you pay before you go;
And if you ring with spur or hat,
Fourpence is due, take care of that:
And if you either swear or curse.
Sixpence is due, pull out your purse
So if our rules you do consent
Then take a bell and be content.
The floor above contains the clock mechanism and above that is the bell-chamber, open to the spire. Here in a modern iron frame hangs the ring of eight bells (tenor 15 cwt .1 qr .2 lb . in F):

1. The Gift of Chas. Challinor Esq.. of Basford Hall, 1884.
2. Abr. Rudhall cast us all 1714.
3. Richard Marlow, William Hall. Ch.W. A-R 1714.
4. Jeffrey Williams A.M. Minister A-R 1714.
5. George Blaxton, R. of Berwick in Elmet 1714.
6. Richard Astbury of this town, Blacksmith gave me in 1623 and recast 1714.
7. John Lord Gower. Kath; Lady Dowager Gower. 1714.
8. The gift of the Wolstanton Change Ringing Society, Easter 1884. W Miller. S. Spencer (conductor). L. Miller. S. J. Wootton, G. Hodgkins.
The middle six bellis cast in 1714 were brought from Trentham Church (now towerless) in 1767 at 9d. per pound in exchange for one large bell at like terms. The bells were augmented in 1884 and 'The Bell News' recorded that the - fund has been aided by proceeds from handbell entertainments and other legitimate sources. The cost of augmentation was $£ 333$, of which the ringers themselves gave $£ 143$; five of the ringers agreed to forgo their ringing fees for some seven years to help raise this money, and their names are inscribed on the tenor together with the motto of the St Margaret's Society, 'Perseverance will ensure success.'

THIRTY-FOUR RINGERS IN 1875
The records of the St. Margaret's Society date back to 1875 , the oldest extant minutes having only been discovered and restored to the tower this year.

The Society was strong in numbers and ability in 1875 and much of the business meeting time was spent in revising the rules which dated from an earlier period. A firm discipline was maintained and one of the rules for approval at the first recorded meeting reads as follows:-

Rule 6. That the secretary shall draw out a list for each month showing what ringers are set down for duty on the different Sundays in the month and post the same in the belfry one clear week before the beginning of the month and that any member finding it inconvenient to attend on the day for which he is appointed, shall give one clear week's notice to the secretary or find an efficient substitute.'
On being voted members of the Society, rinzers had to sign their agrecment, and 34 names are appended to the first set of rules.
Then. as now. the ringers received moneys from the Church, and until the last war augmented them by Christmas collections. These were systematic and a list of householders of. the village was drawn up for this purpose. Judging by the very few who failed to subscribe, the bells were much appreciated or the ringers extremely persuasive.
From the payments, as today, fines were deducted for lateness or absence and one of the privileges for good attendance was inclusion in a 'short list' for special ringing occasions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

' THE WRITING ON THE WALE,

Dear Sir,-And our 'E. J. R.' seems to be doing plenty of it-wants rubbing off ; so rub it off. What a propagandist! Christmas is here and old Scrooge is out again. What a gloomy thought and prospect for Christmas.

What is E. J. R. doing towards rubbing the writing off the wall? He seems to be rubbing it in . not off. One would imagine from the way he writes. he is, or would like to, go round spreading this pernicious doctrine.

I take the trouble wherever I go-and I get about pretty well-to ask the people in the near vicinity of the bells what they think of the ringing and the noise, especially on practice nights. Only on one occasion have I had any real complaint, and that was about our own bells, and also about the church, parson, and everything and everybody connected with the church. That explains the outlook of the two complainants who are hammering at home all Sunday: both their parents love the church and bells.

Some time ago I wrote in 'The Ringing World a defence of ringing, and as Paul Field rightly mentions, our chief reason for ringing is. or should be, to the glory of God, which is a quite sufficient reason, and defence, if either is necessary.
Why, anyway, should we have to justify and defend our ringing? The 150,000 football patrons at Hampden Park do not have to justify their 'Hampden Roar,' or the 75.000 rugger patrons at Twickenham their 'Twickenham Shout.

If the popular press publish protests about ringing. that is no reason why ringers should do so. I also said in my letter of defence. provided we observed the ordinary decencies of conduct and customs. and try to give of our best, even on practice nights, we need not be too apologetic. It is a very strange thing, that people who do not know the first thing about ringing know when it is good.
Speaking of privilege, it is the public's privilege to hear the bells as well as ours to ring them.
A happy New Year, E. J. R., and happy ringing.-Yours, etc.
W. FRANK STENSON.

FOOTNOTES TO PEALS

Dear Sir-Mr. Morton has committed the cardinal error of rushing into print without first ascertaining the facts. Far from being an afterthought, the footnote states the reason for which the peal to which he alludes was rung (by special request, incidentally), it being thought appropriate that a great occasion in the annals of an Austrian art should be greeted by one exclusively British. 'Art knows no bounds.' Mr. Morton's remarks about coupling the House of God with an opera programme lack significance, as the bells of St. Stephen's Cathedral. Vienna, were rung for the formal opening of the Opera House. referred to in Austria as 'our Coronation.'

If Mr. Morton considers there is a necessity for a reduction of footnotes I trust we shall be seeing objections from him to those recording peals and quarter peals rung 'by eligible bachelors.' "for the birthday of the ringer of the third's mother,' for a 'winter fair,' and in connection with a function of a secular society, in this month's issues of 'The Ringing World,' not to mention those performances which perennially appear for welcomes, farewells, births and national (State) occasions, if he has noticed them.-Yours faithfully.

CLIFFORD A. BARRON.

ST. MARY'S, PENZANCE

Dear Sir ,-The information given in "Clavis Campanalogia ' regarding a previous ring of ten bells at Penzance is undoubtedly wrong. I remember noting this some years ago. The whole of Penzance used to be in the parish of Madron. with a Chapel of Ease in Penzance, built in 1789. A print of this Chapel shows that it had a small tower and spire, but certainly not big enough for a ring of ten. I believe there was one bell. This church was pulled down and the present St. Mary's erected in 1834. In 1865 Taylors put in a ring of cight with a tenor of 20 cwt . These were completely recast and restored in 1929 with the result of the present very fine ring with a tenor of 23 cwt . 3 qr. 23 lb .

There are now two other churches in Penzance. St. Paul's was built in 1843. It has no plan for a tower. The fine church of St. John, built in 1881, was planned to have an imposing tower with spire over the west porch with, no doubt. the ringing chamber over the entrance porch. A spiral staircase goes up in one corner to roof level and is capped with a small wooden erection' which houses one bell. It seems most improbable that this will ever be completed now. -Yours faithfully,
A. S. ROBERTS
(Rural Dean of Penwith).
St. Ives, Cornwall.

OXFORD BOB TRIPLES

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ regret to have to correct Mr . Felstead, but the peal of Oxford Bob Triples rung at Horsham in 1882 was apparently not the first in the method. A peal board in the belfry of Benenden, Kent. records a peal in the method on March 7th. 1821. Also this board does not claim it to be the first ever, so we still do not know definitely when the first ever was rung.
Mr. Malcolm S. Cloke also made this correction in 'The Ringing World ' a few years ago, but apparently it has escaped Mr. Felstead's eye or memory.-Yours sincerely,

A. H. KEMP.

Hawkhurst, Kent.

PEAL RINGING IN WARWICKSHIRE

Dear Sir,-In the course of his article published on December 16 th , my friend, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, writes in connection with St. Michael's Stoke (Coventry): 'I gather these bells are almost unringable now.' I am pleased to state that Mr. Felstead has been misinformed for on September 25th last I had the pleasure of ringing on these delightful, easy-going bells. -Yours sincerely,

> E. T. PAUL FIELD.

Long Sutton. Somerset.

GUESTS AND ETIQUETTE

Dear Sir,-According to the article "An Ordinary Peal ' in your recent issue. it would appear that the ringers were the guests of the church concerned.
It is generally considered ill-mannered to criticise one's host's domestic arrangements. and worse than ill-mannered to publicise one's criticism.-Yours sincerely,

ALAN PAYNE.

Over, Cambs.

PEALS AT BRERETON

Dear Sir,-With reference 10 Mr . B. J. Ongley's letter re peals at Brereton, I have only come across the three peals he mentions-in 1926, 1937 and 1955.-Yours sincerely.
K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

BACHELORS AND STEDMAN CINQUES

Dear Sir,-I note in the Belfry Gossip that, following a recent peal of Major, rung by a band composed entirely of bachelors, somebody has written from this ancient city, suggesting a peal of Stedman Cinques by a similar band.
In view of the alarming increase in the number of young women ringers in our midst today, I hope that the members of this peal band, if successful, will not later have cause to regret this advertisement of their blessed status.Yours, etc.,
R. O. FRY

Joint Meeting at Sawbridgeworth

There was a good attendarce at Sawbridgeworth on December 10th for the joint meeting between Herts Eastern District and Essex NorthWestern District. when the eight bells (tenor 25 cwt.) were rung in the afternoon and evening. A service was held in the church at $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and tea followed at $5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

After tea, greetings were exchanged between officers of the two Associations, and a plain course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells.

Ringing was then resumed in the tower. Methods rung during the meeting ranged frond Plain Bob Doubles for the learners to Superlative Surprise Major. Other methods included Grandsire. Stedman, Plain and Little Bob and Kent TreDle Bob.

There was one official practice a week, but it is apparent that practices took place on other evenings in the week since abserices from these did not carry any penalty. Business meetings of the Society were held almost every week.
Under the rota system full 'peals ' of 720 changes of Minor were rung every Sunday by the appointed band. 'Date' touches were also popular and rung each Easter for many years. Thus on Easter Sunday, 1878, were

438 Court Bob
720 Kent Treble Bob
720 Oxford Treble Bob.
1.878 changes in 1 hour and 7 minutes.' In 1892 that number of Grandsire Triples was rung and in the following year 1.893 !

OBITUARY

mr. Alfred w. heath

The death occurred on December 15th of Mr. Alfred W. Heath (affectionately known to most ringers as ' Bill'), of Cardiff. A native of Somerset, he learnt to ring at Bridstow in Hereford. He came to Cardiff and joined the city's Fire Service, of which he was a member until his retirement a few years ago.
For over 50 years he was a member of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, and was also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and National Police Guild. He was a regular ringer at St. John's, Cardif., until the last two years when he was forced to give up last ring owing to ill-health

Mr. Heath had rung a fair number of peals. but his duties while in the Fire Service limited his opportunity for peals. Hc will be greatly missed by his colleagues at St. John's and neighbouring towers.
F. J. H.

Mr. O. J. Hunt's Last Peal

Dear Sir.-Reading the obituary of Oswald J . Hunt. and mention of his last peal in 1937, brought to memory a very fine peal-a peal as near to perfection as one could wish for-not a misblow or a word spoken, from start to finish. Conducted by the late T. B. Worsley, the band consisted of O. J. Hunt, J. Fearnley, A. J. Brown. C. Gudgeon, T. B. Worsley, D. Vincent. C. K. Lewis and N. Heaps.

This is the kind of memory we in North Cheshire and South Lancashire have of Oswald J . Hunt. He was a fine ringer and always good company. We regret his bad health did not allow him to do more peal ringing.-Yours. etc.,

ALAN J. BROWN.

AN EAST ANGLIAN ATTEMPT

An eagerly-awaited event was successfully fulfilled on December 10th. when eight members of the Hertford County Association travelled in three cars to Elveden, Suffolk, for a peal attempt.
Prior to the commencement of the attempt we were kindly shown over Elveden Hall, which proved very interesting. We then proceeded to the memorial tower of SS. Andrew and Peter and rang an excellent peal of Bristol.
Following the peal we were admirably entertained to an excellent dinner, which was much appreciated by all. The iourney home was somewhat eventful as the third car unfortunately took the wrong road and had to take a roundabout route, which included a stop by the police to enquire whether we had any turkeys on board!
However, the day was successfully concluded and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Thanks are extended to the organiser and his ' contacts ' at Elveden for the grand reception.

Total mileage was 160 .

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

When the Melton District of the Leicester Guild met at Eaton on November 26th, they had the pleasure of meeting the new Vicar, the Rev, S. G. Turner, and Mrs. Turner. The Vicar's wife is the daughter of Mr. F. S. Macey, of Sutton Valence. Kent, and ringers in the district hope that Mr. Macey will be a frequent visitor to Eaton Vicarage. He was present when Mr. Turner was inducted, and took part in the ringing at Eaton.
The Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild comprises 17 towers, of which all but three are sixes and fives. Melton is the only town covered. and the members feel proud to be able to achieve an attendance of 70 at their district dinner on December 3rd.

MELBOURNE RINGERS' ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of St. Paul's Cathedral Society of Changeringers, Melbourne, Australia, was held on August 31st in the tower. The Very Rev. Dr. S. Barton Babbage, Dean of Melbourne. presided, and 20 members were present. The Dean opened the meeting with prayers, and Mr. J. Roper welcomed him.
Dr. Babbage thanked Mr. Roper for his words of welcome, and on behalf of the Chapter thanked the Society for its work.

After the treasurer's report and balance sheet were accepted, the election of new members took place; those accepted were the Misses F. Eggleton, M. Kemp, D. Scarlett, E. Scarlett, F. Sheppard and Mr. K. Lindsay

In his report, the captain, Mr. J. Roper (who had been acting as captain since carly July, after the departure of Mr. P. Gray to England), stated that since the last annual meeting, the Society had lost four members, viz. : Miss Valerie Willard, Miss B. Beeson and Mr. and Mrs. P. Gray, all having returned to their rrative land, England. Their departure had left a gap in the Society, which would not be easy to fill. Although the Society had lost four members, the membership was still substantial, there being a number of enthusiastic learners; however, there was still a need for an increase in membership.
$\mathrm{Mr}_{\text {. }}$ Roper concluded his report by saying that if the Society is to maintain its standard of ringing, the forthcoming year would be one of perseverance and teamwork, and he hoped that each member would attend practice nights and Sunday service ringing regularly.

In the absence of the steeplekeeper, the secretary read the steeplekeeper's report, and stated that, except for a rope breaking on a number of occasions, the bells were in good order.

The Rev. H. H. Gurvan proposed and Miss B. Sheppard seconded that the Society record its appreciation to Miss V. Willard and Miss B. Beeson for their work with the Society.

The election of officers for 1955-56 resulted as follows: Captain, J. Roper; vice-captain, B. Sheppard; secretary, K. Minchinton; treasurer, N. Wilson; steeplekeeper, A. Bennett; assistant steeplekeepers, T. Bennett and D. Cornish; librarian, J. Willis; auditor, Rev. H. H. Gurvan.

It was decided that a peal board recording the peal of Plain Bob Major rung on Sunday, April 17th, 1955, be printed and framed.
A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. J. Willis for his work in compiling the 'History of the Society.' Mr. J. Roper thanked the Dean for presiding, and at the conclusion of business supper was served.

THE 1956 OLYMPIC GAMES

Melbourne is very proud to have been chosen tol play host to the world at the 1956 Olympic Games. It will be a very big event in the life of this city, and all Australia is working to make it a huge success.
The team from St. Paul's Cathedral are also keen to organise special ringing, and we would be pleased to hear from any ringers who will be coming over from. England for the Games.
Our present team is not strong enough for peal ringing, and although we will have ringers from other states over for the occasion, it would also be a great help to us to have visiting ringers from overseas.
If ringers are coming over for the Games, which we are confident will be the best ever held since their inauguration, would they please let us know as soon as possible, stating where they are likely to be staying and the extent of their ringing ability.
The address is: Hon. Secretary, St. Paul's Cathedral Bellringers, St. Paul's Cathedral, Flinders Street, Melbourne, Australia.
